No Surprises Produced by Light Turnout

12 Nominees Picked for September Election by Only 49,200 in County

The name and labor-backed candidates came out on top yesterday as a mere sprinkling of eligible Oakland County voters selected 12 nominees for the September constitutional convention election.

There were no startling surprises among the six Republican and six Democratic nominees in the six legislative districts.

The turnout of 49,200 voters throughout the county — 14 per cent of the qualified 334,455 voters — indicated there's little concern for the convention which will overhaul the state's 1908 constitution — at least at this stage of the proceedings.

Returns from the 46 townships and cities in the county showed a total of 31 zeros for individual candidates.

Winners were:

District 1 — Republican Richard D. Kuhn and Democrat John S. Coleman.

District 2 — Republican Raymond L. King and Democrat Leslie H. Hudson.

District 4 — Republican Richard C. Van Dusen and Democrat Thomas G. Kavanagh.

District 6 — Republican Dale Edwards and Democrat Lee Walker.

Tilchin, a Detroit attorney from West Bloomfield Township, was unopposed, but his name on the primary ballot pulled in 1,284 votes in the usually Republican district.

Missing from yesterday's ballots were the names of George W. Romney and William A. O'Brien, who were unopposed in the 12th Senatorial District for their party's nomination. They will do battle, as will the other 12, in the Sept. 12 general election.

That election will determine the seven delegates Oakland County will have when Secretary of State James M. Hare gavels the state constitutional convention to order on Oct. 3 in Lansing.

While most state election officials hit the voter turnout nearly on the head, County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. was overly optimistic.

He figured about 80,000 voters would visit the primary polls.

He said the lackluster primary cost the county $30,000 in pre-election and election day expenses, or about 60 cents a voter.

All returns, Murphy said, re-

News Flash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Securities and Exchange Commission today accused former Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy of making misleading statements in connection with the sale of stock in a Colorado oil concern.

Waterford Approves Two Issues

Waterford Township voters in yesterday's special election approved a civil service program for policemen and a retirement system for police and firemen but refused to make tax money available for the latter.

A shade more than 15 per cent of the township's registered voters cast ballots on four local issues and in the primary election for Con-Con candidates.

Proposition 1—to place township policemen under civil service commission jurisdiction—passed 2,100 to 1,164.

Passage of Proposition 2 permits creation of a retirement program, a pension board and payroll deductions for a pension fund for police and firemen. The vote was 1,995 to 1,240.

But the voters turned thumbs down on Propositions 3 and 4 which would have raised their taxes for the township's contribution to the pension fund.

With a yes vote of 1,379 against 1,804 no's, they refused a maximum tax limitation increase of half a mill toward the fund.

Proposition 4, a supplement to number 3, would have allowed the township to levy the tax. It was defeated 1,764 to 1,219. Only resident township property owners could vote on this proposition.

Primary results favored pitting John S. Coleman, Democrat, and Richard D. Kuhn, Republican, against each other as District 1 Con-Con candidates in the Sept. 12 finals. The Waterford choices were confirmed by the district as a whole.

Kuhn polled 414 GOP votes and Coleman 673 in the township.

Of a total 22,000 registered voters in the township, 3,466 cast their ballots in yesterday's election.

NOTE SCHOOL ISSUE

While Waterford voters favored a pension plan for their police and firemen they don't want to pay any part of it, realizing that a school bond issue is certain to be on a ballot in the fall, one observer noted.

The bond issue would seek more taxes for additional school construction, the need for which is created by a continuously expanding population.

It is doubtful that any pension fund will be set up by the township board without tax support.

It would have cost the township an estimated $22,000 annually. This sum could have been raised through less than a half-mill levy, probably by just one-fourth of a

Tomorrow May See Scattered Thunderstorms

There's a chance of scattered thundershowers tomorrow afternoon, the weatherman says.

Skies will be clear tonight and the low will be about 65.

For the next five days temperatures will average 1 to 2 degrees below the normal high of 84 and normal low of 63. Friday and Sunday will be somewhat cooler but the mercury will start climbing again Monday.

Precipitation will total two to four tenths of an inch in scattered thundershowers Thursday or Friday.

Also Requests Authority to Call Many Reserves

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Kennedy asked Congress today for authority to call up as many as 250,000 ready reserves and to extend the draft terms, enlistments and all other military duty by 12 months.

Congress pledged swift approval — possibly by Tuesday—of the presidential requests for a quick build-up of the nation's armed might to meet the threat of war.

At the same time, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara disclosed that the Army will boost draft calls and officer procurement to "at least 20,000" in September.

The actions came swiftly after Kennedy's grim report to the people Tuesday night on the Berlin crisis, his stark picture of possible war and what he intended to do in hopes of stopping Russia short of shooting.

These steps were taken:

—Congress was asked to give Kennedy authority to call to the colors as many as 250,000 reservists, including National Guard units, for a year of active duty.

—Kennedy sought authority until July 1 to hold any officer or enlisted man on active duty for extra periods of up to 12 months.

—The President sought permission to extend the training period of reserve units.

—The President requested an additional $3.5 billion to pay for the military build-up which will add 217,000 more men to the regular U.S. fighting forces.

—McNamara announced that the administration plans to strengthen U.S. forces in Europe—by bringing units of the 7th Army to their full authorized strength and by sending ad-

Hudson Victor in Con-Con Vote

Former Representative Top Vote Getter Among 6 Dem Candidates

Former State Representative Leslie H. Hudson made a successful political comeback in yesterday's constitutional convention primary in Pontiac.

The 1958 Democratic congressional candidate and city hardware store owner proved the top vote getter with 856 among six Democratic con-con candidates. He'll match votes with Republican Raymond L. King, a Pontiac attorney, on Sept. 12.

Only 12 per cent of the city's 37,563 registered voters took time out to vote yesterday.

Democratic voters numbered 2,772 and Republicans 1,574 for a total of 4,346.

King, a 31-year-old former staff assistant with the Republican county committee, pleased Republican party leaders by amassing 1,157 votes, to win the GOP nomination in the traditionally Democratic city.

King, of 1095 Dudley Ave., nearly tripled the 417 votes his challenger, Robert C. Smith, 43, of 14 Williams St., a Waterford Township school teacher, received.

But the focus of attention was on the harder fought Democratic nomination encounter where Hudson, 39, of 361 Gallogly Road, survived a six-way battle and won with 256 votes more than his closest competitor, George A. Googasian, a young attorney-to-be and son-in-law of State Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac. Googasian received 600.

Law, who worked nearly as hard as his relative candidate, campaigning at factory gates and downtown, replaced Hudson as the city's representative in Lansing in 1958 when Hudson sought a trip to Washington as a congressman. He's been nearly inactive politically since his defeat.

Hudson won without AFL-CIO endorsement as the union's county council dodged endorsing any of the six Democratic city candidates believing them "about equal."

Kennedy Delivers Berlin Speech

Will Call 20,000 in September Draft

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

WASHINGTON — The draft call for September will go up to 20,000 men, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today. The July call was 8,000.

McNamara did not amplify that statement in testimony prepared for the Senate Armed Services Committee. It was considered likely, however, that the higher figure would be maintained until the armed forces have increased their size.

McNamara also disclosed that the administration plans to strengthen U.S. forces in Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department today boosted its August draft call to 13,000, an increase of 5,000 over the number previously ordered for Army service next month.

by bringing units of the Seventh Army to fully authorized strength and by sending, "if the situation warrants it," additional support units.

His outline of the administration's new $3.5 billion money request was included in an unclassified summary prepared for presentation to the Senate committee.

He was to provide additional classified data behind closed doors.

McNamara said the Navy will reactivate additional troop transports, retain transports which were to have been phased out of service and bolster antisubmarine forces by retaining certain ships on active duty.

As announced by the President, Air Force striking power would be strengthened by retaining some B47 medium bomber wings which were to have been dropped and by accelerating the time when half the B47s and B52 heavy bombers will be ready to go with 15 minutes' warning.

McNamara told Congress:

"What we are seeking to achieve, and achieve quickly, is a peak readiness of our military establishment to respond promptly and with appropriate forces, and in adequate strength, to any kind of armed Communist aggression anywhere in the world; and to maintain that posture until we can see more clearly what lies ahead.

"Because we cannot foresee with certainty how events may develop over the coming months, we cannot say at this time whether the strength increases we now propose will necessarily be permanent."

West Endorses, East Raps Kennedy's Staunch Stand

BERLIN (AP) — World reaction to President Kennedy's speech on the Berlin crisis divided on cold war lines today.

West Germans were delighted at his firm stand. Other West Europeans and their friends abroad warmly endorsed the President's pronouncement, with its prospects for improvement in the military posture of the United States and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Soviet news agency Tass said in a Washington summary that Kennedy had seized on "the so-called threat to West Berlin, allegedly coming from the Soviet Union," as an excuse to justify the arms race.

The first significant reaction from the neutralist sphere came in New Delhi, where a senior Indian Foreign Ministry official called Kennedy's appeal for increased defense spending extremely unfortunate.

Two persons intimately concerned were West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt. Both were enthusiastic.

Adenauer declared in Bonn he was "happy that the United States has resolutely taken over the leadership of the West."

Brandt issued a statement saying it was a moving speech.

The British government, though involved in belt-tightening measures intended to include its armed forces, announced full support of Kennedy's stand and warned the Soviet Union against any move that would inflame the situation further.

WORKERS READ OF SPEECH—West Berlin construction workers take a break today to read reports of President Kennedy's speech on the crisis there. The newspaper headline reads "Kennedy: Be Prepared to Fight for West Berlin."

Will Try Traffic Pacer to Cut Red-Light Stops

WARREN—Beginning next week along 4 miles of Mound Road from 11-Mile to 15-Mile roads, motorists will be advised by lighted speed signs how fast or slow to pace themselves to arrive at the next traffic signal while it is green.

A new Traffic Pacer—a traffic control system developed by General Motors Research Laboratories in cooperation with the Macomb County Road Commission—will be operating.

The purpose of this prototype installation is to improve traffic flow over suburban and city streets with multiple intersections (as contrasted with limited access roads).

This is done with a series of illuminated speed advisory signals hanging over the center of the pavement.

These are numerals 20 inches high resembling football or baseball scoreboard numbers.

A motorist entering the 4-mile system at either end or from any intersection in between needs only to obey these speed signals which vary from 25 to 45 miles per hour. They inform him how fast he must go to make the next green traffic signal.

For a two-year period the system will be operated by Macomb County Road Commission.

During the first 12 weeks men from the Michigan State Highway Department will make traffic counts along the 4-mile route.

Their surveys will determine what trip time savings motorists can make and what improvement can be made in Mound Road's "intersection capacity"—the number of vehicles that can go through an intersection during each green cycle of a traffic light.

The Traffic Pacer is designed to increase this capacity by as much as 20 per cent.

WILL COMPARE SYSTEM

County traffic engineers intend to evaluate the Traffic Pacer's efficiency in comparison with a conventional progressive traffic control system, now in use on many city and suburban streets, and a noninterconnected system which is presently used along Mound Road.

Main difference between the Traffic Pacer and a conventional progressive traffic control system is that the Traffic Pacer keeps the motorist continually informed how fast or slow he must go to avoid red signals.

In a progressive system the motorist knows only that the traffic signals are set at a fixed speed, but if he gets out of step he has no idea how much he must vary his speed to make the next green signal.

In introducing the Traffic Pacer, engineers warned it isn't a panacea. Failure to obey the speed advisory signs will clog traffic lanes just as a slow driver on an expressway impedes traffic flow for miles.

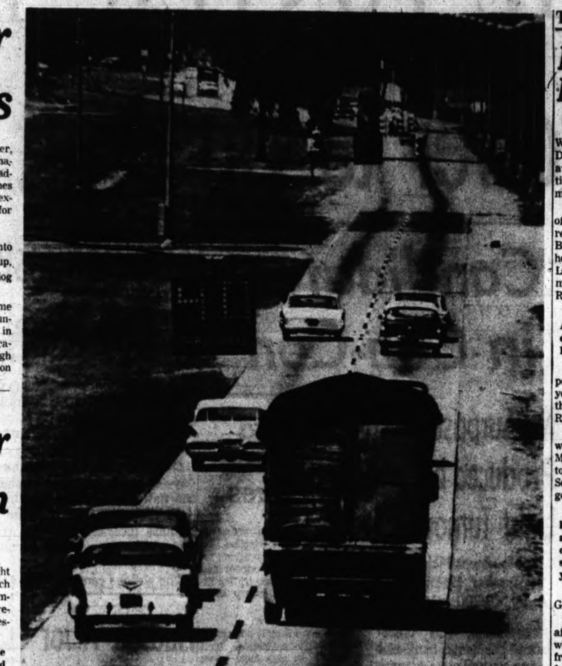
Or an overflow of traffic onto Mound Road will cause a tie-up, just as too many calls will clog telephone circuits.

The system is modeled to some extent on so-called "traffic funnels" now used extensively in Germany to improve both road capacity and traffic safety through elimination of most intersection stops.



FIRST U.S. TRAFFIC PACER — Motorists along 4 miles of Mound Road in Warren are advised what speed to drive to make the next green traffic signal. Overhead are variable speed signs in a Traffic Pacer system developed by General Motors Research Laboratories and Macomb County Road Commission. By helping drivers miss red traffic lights, the system is designed to move vehicles in an uninterrupted run without excessive stops at intersections. (Speed signals in this telephoto near GM Technical Center are 921 feet apart.)

ditional support units if the situation warrants.

—The defense secretary said that in addition to reinforcing forces in Europe, the increase in Army manpower of some 133,000 announced by Kennedy Tuesday night would be used to make three strategic reserve force divisions in the United States combat ready. This would bring the total combat ready force in this country to six divisions.

—Kennedy requested an extra $207.6 million for civil defense in case the present situation erupts into a nuclear war.

—The House and Senate were asked to give Kennedy permission to step up procurement of planes, missiles and ships.

$958 MILLION MORE

Congress previously had passed a bill authorizing total procurement of about $12 billion in these three items.

Today's proposal would authorize additional procurement of $958,570,000.

Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee and Sen. Richard B. Russell, Senate Armed Services chairman, introduced the President's legislation and promised quick action.

Under present law, Kennedy has authority to call up 1,000,000 ready reservists to active duty but only after he declares a national emergency.

He did not declare an emergency, however. Instead, he asked Congress to provide him authority through special legislation.

The President also asked Congress for authority to boost the number of men on active military duty above the numbers for which he requested the extra funds.

There would be no limit to the additional men the President could mobilize or the money he would spend for that purpose under the requested authority.

A Budget Bureau spokesman said the authority was sought so the President would be free to enlarge the armed forces still more after Congress adjourns for the year.

The impact of Kennedy's warning that the United States might have to fight for Berlin was such that congressional leaders promised to rush enactment of his preparedness program by next Tuesday.

The requested budget increase to add 217,000 men to the armed forces and equip them for nonnuclear fighting was contained in a relatively brief and formal amendment to the Defense Department budget.

It was submitted in writing by the President.

Then Kennedy sent to Congress the suggested draft of a joint resolution authorizing him to order units and members of the ready reserve to active duty.

250,000 IS LIMIT

No more than 250,000 members of the ready reserve would be on active duty other than for training at any one time and without their consent.

The President, in gearing the nation to meet a worldwide Communist threat, announced Tuesday night that draft calls also would be doubled and tripled in coming months.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger reported that public reaction to Kennedy's somber speech was "unprecedented" in the six months of this administration.

Salinger said close to 1,000 telegrams reached the White House in the first 12 hours after the President's speech and they were overwhelmingly in favor of the President's stand.

The funds asked by the President would swell the total military budget to $47,506,113,000—the second highest in peacetime history.

The extra $3.5 billion requested today would be used for additional manpower and weapons to increase the non-nuclear military might of U.S. ground, sea and air forces plus a speedup of civil defense in case nuclear war begins.

Skies were mostly fair across the major part of the nation today, with some chance of relief from the nearly week-long spell of hot and humid weather in sections of the East.

But more warm and humid weather was indicated in most of the Southeast and showers were in prospect during the afternoon and evening in broad areas.

One belt of thunderstorms extended from eastern South Dakota into southwest Nebraska. Wind gusts of 81 m. p. h. lashed Huron, S. D., and reached 41 m. p. h. at Pierre, S. D. A thunderstorm hit Tucson, Ariz.

Temperatures were pleasant in the 60s in the Great Lakes region and northern New England, with readings in the 50s in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Readings were generally in the 70s in other areas from the Rockies eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Showers are expected tonight in the Northern and Central Plains and in portions of the Tennessee Valley and the South Atlantic states. It will be cooler in New England, and the Northern Plateau and Northern Plains and warmer in Southern Plains, mid and lower Mississippi Valley and portions of South Atlantic states.

Stage Is Set for Showdown in Con-Con's 'Sham' Battle

DETROIT (AP) — The stage was set today for a showdown struggle over delegate seats to Michigan's first constitutional convention in 53 years — but for many candidates it may be a sham battle.

Only about 15 per cent — or less than 600,000 — of the state's four million registered voters turned out at the polls in Tuesday's primary to nominate 288 candidates for the Sept. 12 general election.

In many predominantly Republican or Democratic districts, the nomination was believed tantamount to election. Past performances indicate that in only a dozen or so counties throughout the state are the parties evenly matched enough to provide doubtful contests.

There were no major upsets in the primary, and most big-name candidates either were unopposed or won handily. These included:

George Romney, president of American Motors Corp.; John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University; former Republican Congressman Alvin Bentley; GOP National Committeeman John B. Martin; Stanley Davis, mayor of Grand Rapids, and Democratic National committeewoman Mildred Jeffrey.

Voters turned thumbs down on Dr. Eugene C. Keyes, former lieutenant governor indicted last week for an alleged conspiracy to violate the state election laws.

But they nominated Anthony J. Wilkowski, 68, a former Democratic state senator who served more than two years in prison for fraud in an election vote recount and later was twice refused a seat by the Senate after his election.

EX-SOLONS LOSE

Another former state senator, Edward Hutchinson of Fennville, won the GOP nomination in his district, while two other former state senators lost. They were Lewis Christman of Ann Arbor, and Donald J. Gilbert of Saginaw.

Former State Treasurer D. Hale Brake won easily, as did Roscoe Bonisteel Sr., a former University of Michigan regent and onetime president of the Michigan Bar. Both are Republicans.

Political fireworks are planned by both major parties in an effort to spur interest — and produce a few upsets — in the general election Sept. 12 when voters will decide who they want to occupy the 144 delegate desks at the convention opening on Oct. 3.

State leaders maintained a strict official neutrality among the primary candidates although several local groups endorsed a party slate.

But the party chieftains have been busy preparing ammunition to fire in the next six weeks with top officials planning to criss-cross the state on speech-making tours.

News Media Wants Con-Con Open to Public

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan newspaper, radio and television organizations begin today seeking delegate support to have all meetings of the October constitutional convention open to the public.

A coordinating committee representing seven groups in the journalistic profession mapped the program at a meeting in Detroit. Dale Stafford, editor-publisher of the Greenville Daily News and President of the Michigan Press Association, is chairman.

"The convention will write the basic law for Michigan for the foreseeable future," Stafford said, "providing, of course, their work is approved by the people.

"We are not seeking any special privileges for newspaper or broadcast reporters but we are convinced that conducting all discussions in both committee meetings and plenary sessions out in the open is the best way to completely inform the people of Michigan on this complicated subject. Newspapers and broadcasters will perform their function by reporting these discussions and actions to the public."

mill, or, 25 cents per $1,000 taxable property.

In approving the civil service issue, voters have provided township policemen with the same job security given to firemen in a similar vote last spring.

TO SET UP EXAMS

A three-man commission, probably the same one serving the firemen, will set up examinations for applicants to the force, and promotion examinations. It will have the power to review cases involving discipline or firing.

Under State Legislature Act 78, the commission has the right to rescind firings or disciplinary actions following its review of the facts presented by both sides.

Of a total 1,300 Democratic votes cast in the primary, 31-year-old Coleman, a government and economics teacher, received more than half. His closest competitor, Robert J. Cook garnered 323 votes and William J. Dean Jr., 304.

Kuhn, a 31-year-old Pontiac attorney and automatic car wash owner, far outdistanced a field of 12 GOP primary candidates. This was his seventh nomination for public office.

Following is a rundown on the other GOP candidates:

Fred L. Morningstar, 317; Lewis R. Miller, 301; James H. Bersche, 197; Sidney C. Jones, 142; Charles S. Toy, 80; Rell A. Ambrose, 64; O. F. Foster, 54; LeRoy Dean, 40; Leona M. Hutchings, 27; Dennis Clark, 26; and Charles F. Shaw, 19.

All of the above vote tallies are unofficial until they have been canvassed within the next few days.

2nd-Lowest Bidder to Get Capitol Job

LANSING (AP) — The repair job on the 80-some-year-old State Capitol dome will be awarded to the second lowest bidder, the State Administrative Board decided today.

The Board, in a special meeting, backed a recommendation of the State building committee that it pass up the low $39,640 bid of Dalman Casemeier of Holland, in favor of the bid of the Kish Industries, Inc., of Lansing — almost $7,000 higher.

A. N. Languis, state building division director, said he recommended the Lansing firm's greater experiemended the $46,405 bid because of ence, the type of paint that would be used and the time element.

Trailing Hudson and Googasian, 25, of 105 E. Iroquois Road, was Carl W. O'Brien, a former employe of a Birmingham tractor firm, 596 votes; Dick M. Kirby, a four-county business agent for a building and construction trades union, 401; Mrs. Gladys Neldrett, state educational leader, 226; and T. Boice Purdy, Michigan Bell Telephone Co. employe and attorney, 93.

College Official Is Dead

Brig. Gen. Richardson Receives Medal From AF

BIRMINGHAM—Brig. Gen. John W. Richardson of 612 Bennington Drive, Bloomfield Hills, has been awarded an Air Force commendation medal for "exceptionally meritorious service."

Presentation of the award, one of two given by the Air Force recently at Selfridge Air Force Base, was made at a dinner honoring Brig. Gen. Cecil P. Lessig, newly assigned commander of the Fifth Air Force Reserve Region.

Richardson, a member of the Air Force reserves, is presently deputy commander of the Fifth Region.

He was honored for his services performed during the last five years in various assignments with the Tenth Air Force and Fifth Region.

The second commendation medal went to Col. Downs E. Ingram of McElhatten, Pa., special assistant to Gen. Lessig. Ingram will leave Selfridge AFB Friday for a Pentagon assignment.

Col. Ingram "distinguished himself by meritorious service as chief staff and subsequently, commander, Fifth Air Force Reserve Region" during the past year.

The medals were presented by General Lessig.

The Fifth Region administers the affairs of all Air Force Reservists who reside in the 13-state area from Michigan to Wyoming and from Canada to Missouri.

Headmaster W. Rodman Snelling of the Detroit Country Day School in Beverly Hills announced today that the entire returns from the recent two-day fair at the school would be devoted to increasing library facilities at the school.

New books in all areas will be available when the school opens for its fall term Sept. 13.

Mrs. Oscar Hubbell

A private service for Mrs. Oscar (Antoinette S.) Hubbell, 80, of 3118 Kernway Drive, Bloomfield Township, was to be held 2 p.m. today at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home with cremation at the White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Mrs. Hubbell died yesterday following a long illness.

She was an area resident five years, coming from Lincoln, Neb.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Mrs. Elmer Bailey of Bloomfield Hills; a son, Harry of Chicago; two sisters and a grandson.

'Name' Candidates Win Con-Con Races

main unofficial until the County Board of Canvassers examines them beginning today. The job is expected to be completed by tomorrow, the county clerk estimated.

Kuhn, a 31-year-old attorney in Pontiac and automatic car wash owner, today was celebrating his nomination after seven tries for public office. The Waterford Township Republican, who never has been elected but who has been nominated before, came out on top of a wild 12-person scramble for the 1st District GOP nomination.

COLEMAN HIS OPPONENT

Coleman, 31, a Waterford Township school teacher and township trustee, will seek to keep Kuhn's losing record intact in September.

Coleman was a candidate for state representative for the district last fall.

(See accompanying boxes for complete returns for all candidates from the six districts.)

Coleman ended up with 1,014 votes to Kuhn's winning 822.

Woolfenden, a former president of the State Bar of Michigan and former mayor and now city commissioner of Bloomfield Hills, proved to be the top vote getter in the countywide primary with 6,037 votes.

Lack of interest in the primary is illustrated by the turnout of only 32 Wixom voters of 746 registered, the 73 of 552 in Northville, the 74 of 1,075 in Lyon Township and the 89 of 632 in Rose Township.

Woolfenden, 54, of Bloomfield Hills, bettered the 3,487 votes of his nearest competitor, Mrs. Jean Kerr Ketchum, former president of the state League of Women Voters, in one of the hottest contests in the county. Woolfenden never was behind.

Interest in this six-way district nomination race shows in the 12,834 voters, the largest number in any of the six districts.

In the largest single vote for any one candidate from any area, Bloomfield Township cemented Woolfenden's nomination by giving the Detroit lawyer 2,058 votes.

Mrs. Ketchum, a Birmingham housewife who had campaign forces similar to a big election, even trailed Woolfenden in her own city of Birmingham. Here Woolfenden gathered 1,702 and Mrs. Ketchum 1,619.

HEED ENDORSEMENTS

Democratic voters in the county apparently paid heed to endorsements by the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council when they voted in all but one of the union-endorsed candidates in the six districts.

The exception was in District 1 where Robert J. Cook received the nod of the union. He followed Coleman with 610 votes.

A Birmingham attorney, Kavanagh, 43, of Beverly Hills, will challenge another "top name" in Van Dusen, former state representative from the 3rd District and 1956 nominee for state attorney general.

Van Dusen turned out to be the second highest vote getter countywide with 4,600 votes to Kavanagh's 1,556. Kavanagh was opposed by eight Democrats, while Van Dusen had to get by J. William Roberts, a former Oak Park police officer and partner in a restaurant corporation.

Van Dusen is also an attorney practicing in Detroit.

Elliott, Republican county chairman, won his first election test. He is a realtor in Royal Oak and lives in Pleasant Ridge.

He'll face Cohn, an attorney from Royal Oak.

Walker is a Madison Heights builder and Edward a partner in a transportation consultant firm and regional campaign director in Ferndale for the November 1960 election.

Hit by Father's Car, Waterford Girl Dies

A year-old Waterford Township girl died at Pontiac General Hospital Tuesday afternoon from injuries suffered an hour earlier when she was struck by a car driven by her father on the driveway of their home.

Chari Lou Carline of 6449 Graham St. was playing on the driveway when her father Robert, 41, backed out, said Waterford Township police.

Her two sisters and two brothers were in the car at the time.

Carline told Lt. Frank Randolph and Patrolman Richard E. Beckman that he thought Chari was in the house.

He said he stopped the car when he heard her cry. The accident occurred at about 4:15.

Surviving besides her parents are sisters and brothers, Beverly Ann, Sandra Lee, Lynn, Judy Ann, Toni, Richard, Keith, Bruce and Arthur, all at home.

Prayers will be offered at 11 a.m. Thursday at All Saints Episcopal Church. Burial will be in the Oxbow Lake Cemetery. Arrangements are by the Pursley Funeral Home.

Paul Richards to Leave Orioles for Houston in '62

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Richards will resign as manager of the Baltimore Orioles of the American League at the end of this season to become the general manager of the new Houston club of the National League, the Associated Press learned today.

According to informants, Richards will receive a five-year contract at an annual $60,000 salary. The deal, in the works for several weeks, was finalized last Monday during the Hall of Fame celebration at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Baltimore and the Los Angeles Dodgers were the teams in the annual baseball game there.

Kennedy's Speech Applauded Around World by Peacemakers

President JOHN F. KENNEDY has spoken very clearly on the Berlin situation.

No doubts remain as to our program or our intentions. The sanctity of West Berlin will be observed by the Russians, or else ....

This Nation will not be pushed around one whit by braggarts or swaggering bullies and the head Reds qualify precisely and exactly in both divisions.

President Kennedy's stand has been applauded vigorously in his own country and around the world. Russia and her captives are silent but the neutral nations who believe in peace, honor and decency are vociferous in their approval of the U.S. position.

It may cost the citizens of this country $3.5 billion to implement the proposals, but the taxpayers nod in complete agreement. If that's what it takes to quell an incipient world war, then that's what we'll pay.

And if it costs another war, we're prepared for that, too. Probably no one wants to go to war and that includes the bloody butchers who hang out in the Kremlin.

At the same time, Khrushchev must be taught that he can't throw his weight around and wave his sword with the world bowing meekly before him. If he has inched too far out on a precarious and uncertain limb, that's his funeral now. He can squirm back any way he pleases, or else ....

The President made another point that's important for the Commies to bear in mind. He declares that the United States won't be driven out of Berlin in one fell swoop or even gradually. This second serves notice on mr. k that he need not look down the road with the secret hope that although his bluff has been called now, he can worm his way back into control with a program of attrition in the future. That's out, too.

The President proposes to beef up our "expeditionary forces" and there's no secret about his intentions. He stated bluntly that he chose between "humiliation and all-out nuclear action." We might suggest to mr. k that if he doesn't comprehend, that means all-out war with everything we possess.

He suggested a free vote in Berlin or all of Germany. This newspaper is certain that the Russians will never go for that as they know now what the results would be. They might seize upon it as a face-saving device and they're that hard up for a skirt behind which to hide.

All the cards are on the table. There's no more bluffing.

President Kennedy has called the Commies and the next move is strictly — yes, strictly — up to them.

Do they want peace? We do over here. But if they want war, we're ready to step right out in the international alley and roll up our sleeves.

In fact, they're up already.

Time of Golden Grain Is Currently With Us

One of the most beautiful landscape vistas is the ripening wheat.

It now is in that stage in the Pontiac area, and beckons you.

The golden billows as it responds to the wind are almost unforgettable. But you must go down the side roads to find the best showings.

Our great development is driving back the wheat and other farm crops.

No bumper yields in wheat are expected in our area this year.

Wheat had a hard winter, lacking snow coverage and the proper moisture.

In many ways our spring weather and rainfall did not help very much. But what's there is putting on a good show, and the breezes are cooperating.

There's something about such a spectacle that harks back to the times that were.

The hum of the combine is imminent, so get out and sooth your nerves while the display is on.

The Man About Town

Oakland Has Most

Greatest Mileage and Most Separations on Freeway

Dangerous: When the girl asks his mother for recipes.

The new 75 Michigan super freeway has a larger mileage in Oakland County than in any other of the 14 counties which it traverses in its 280 miles between Detroit and the Straits of Mackinac.

Without a grade crossing or traffic light in that entire distance, it also will have more grade separations, bridges, viaducts and cloverleaves in Oakland County than in any other county.

Skirting Pontiac on the east, it now is well under construction in this vicinity, and will be finished here next year, but will not be completed for its entire length until a couple of years later.

I have it direct from men under State Highway Commissioner

John C. Mackie

I like the sentiments expressed by the new president of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club,

There are so many "weeks" that most of us don't pay any attention to them. But this is and our farmers are advised that the statistics show that the farm tractor is a worse killer than the automobile. In proportion to the number in use, it causes more deaths than autos or trucks. Don't be careless with it.

Touch up those freckles, my young folks. They can be worth $50 to you in this column's Freckle Contest at the Oakland County 4-H Club Fair, Aug. 8 to 12.

Wondering why a pair of blue jays were making such a noisy fuss in his garden,

Oswald Lambton

of Rochester investigated, and killed a two-foot rattlesnake with eight rattles.

On the afternoon of July 4

Walt Waverley

wrote his name and address and "Please answer" on a piece of paper which he put in a tightly corked bottle and tossed it into Cass Lake near his home, at a point near where the Clinton River leaves it. Now he gets a note from

JFK Sought Psychological Effect

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was clear in President Kennedy's address to the nation Tuesday night that he sought a psychological effect. But it wasn't clear what practical effect can there be in increasing the armed forces by only 217,000 men.

At least he indicated the United States may have reached a turning point.

For years now this country has simply been reacting to Russian actions, dancing when the Russians called the tune. Judging from Kennedy's talk, the United States will now start showing some initiative in dealing with the Soviets.

But his address, tough as it was in warning the Russians they can't take Berlin without a fight, still left the door wide open for a conference with them to settle the dispute peacefully.

At one point Kennedy even indicated the West might be willing to make concessions—but not major ones—to avoid conflict. Just how far he is willing to go with concessions—or being tough — is for the future.

THREE TARGETS

But there could be no doubt he had three targets and three psychological aims:

1. The American people—to prepare them perhaps for rougher things to come by telling them the administration intends to take a firm stand on Berlin, even if it means a military showdown with Russia.

2. The Russians—to let them know, if they think the allies lack the will to fight and that threats can scare and split them, that they have war on their hands if they push too hard.

3. The allies—to stiffen their backbone, by putting the United States firmly beside them, and at the same time needle them, even embarrass them, into doing more for their own defense by increasing their own military preparations.

QUESTION REMAINS

With all this said, the question remains:

Are the Russians going to be impressed by Kennedy's announcement he is adding 217,000 men to the armed forces — particularly when he didn't say he's sending them to Europe where the Russians far outnumber the allies in ground forces?

If they are impressed, it will probably be more by Kennedy's expressed determination not to be pushed out of Berlin, leaving it up to them to guess what kind of force the United States would use to stop them.

In any showdown it is unlikely Kennedy would try to stop the Soviets with ground troops.

Two years ago—which was the last time the Russians threatened Berlin—President Eisenhower rejected arguments of his critics that the United States should make a big ground-force buildup in Europe to chill Russia's blood.

He said March 11, 1959 that such a build-up was unnecessary because "we are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe." This could be interpreted as meaning that if war came it would have to be a nuclear one.

Just a few months after that Kennedy—on Dec. 9, 1959, while he was still a senator—was asked if the United States was in a position to fight any kind of war for Berlin except a nuclear one. He said no.

It's possible he has changed his mind, for he said Tuesday night, "We intend to have a wider choice than humiliation or all-out nuclear action."

But if he knows how the Allies, tremendously outnumbered on the ground, could hope to stop the Russians short of nuclear war he didn't explain that.

He may have meant that by taking the tough line he followed he hopes to convince the Russians he means business and that the way to avoid a nuclear war is not to start any kind of war.

The Country Parson

"The worst part about our mistakes is that we are more eager to justify them than correct them."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Six-Mile Walk Each Day Good for Businessmen

A careful estimation of the condition of the cardiovascular renal (heart-artery-kidney) system is an outstanding obligation of the physician to every individual of the arteriosclarotic age (30 years old or older) who seeks medical advice, regardless of the apparent nature of the illness.

DR. BRADY

I quote this verbatim from a medical book to indicate that unexpected happenings or disasters which seem to strike out of a clear sky may actually be the more or less characteristic manifestations of heart-artery trouble.

These may have escaped recognition because the physician consulted earlier did not make a careful estimation of the condition of the heart-kidney-artery system or the patient rejected such examination as unnecessary when he or she just wanted something for gastric disturbance, indigestion or a cough which hangs on.

I have the cardiovascular renal system and cardiovascular degeneration (CVD) or heart and artery troubles of insidious or gradual onset in mind when I advise business, profession and white collar people to take six miles of oxygen on the hoof every day.

This or even only a mile or two twice a day, say walking to and from the office, store, job or school instead of riding, gives real, natural relaxation, instead of the dull, stupid state produced by alcohol or other narcotic.

One who resorts to cocktails or highballs for make-believe "relaxation" at the end of a trying day only adds to the strain on his cardiovascular renal system and hastens the development of cardiovascular degeneration.

Unless you are sure you know better than I do what is good for your health and longevity, it can do you no harm to read my monograph: "CVD," for which send me in care of The Pontiac Press 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If you consider this a little steep, then please try this experiment and see: Instead of stopping at the cocktail lounge or tavern for one or two quick ones, keep the money in your sock and take a brisk walk of a mile or two.

If you don't feel better, I'll refund the full price of the paper.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Says Exhibitors Discontent With Detroit's Cobo Hall

I read that labor rates are causing trouble again in Cobo Hall, "but they are sure they have it fixed." They had better fix it for I just attended a convention at McCormick Place in Chicago and everything runs like clockwork.

The rates are fair, the exhibitors are satisfied and pleased and the hall is rented for most of the next 14 months. Exhibitors return because they like it and in Detroit they depart with the silent or open resolve never to come back.

They're killing the Detroit deal by greed.

Mill Wants to Use Postage Meter Plate

Postal authorities asked Spindale Mills, Inc., to request the six firms using the postage meter slogan, "This is a republic not a democracy. Let's keep it that way" to stop. Three agreed and three refused.

"As far as we're concerned, that's the end of it," the postmaster general added.

If our affiliate mill (Cherokee Textile Mills of Sevierville, Tenn.) on the west side of the Smoky Mountains can use the postage meter plate with this truthful slogan, why can't this mill on the east side?

A statement of historic fact is as true on one side of the mountain as on the other. Surely the firm making the plate does not favor "segregation" of patriots, by denying to good Americans on the east side of the mountain that precious freedom of speech that is permitted on the west side.

We request a plate bearing the identical slogan and we hope no hidden, leftwing character with the Daily Worker will prevent the filling of this order.

'Main Weakness Is at Short Stop'

I have read some letters in The Press saying Bruton should be benched for Maxwell or Morton, but the main weakness isn't there but at short stop. Fernandez can't cut it and McAuliffe is proving to be sort of a morning glory. Now with Boros gone they may have to use both and the left side of the infield will really be in a bad way. Maxwell, Morton and Bruton have become a secondary problem.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Take Full Advantage of Education

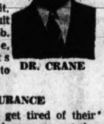
By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE J-451: Pearl P., aged 16, is ready for the senior year of high school.

"But I am tired of school," she grumbled.

"All I have ever known since I was 5 years of age has been school-school-school!

"I am sick of it, so I want to quit and get a job. But, Dr. Crane, my parents insisted I talk to you first."



DR. CRANE

HUSBAND INSURANCE

Most students get tired of their many years in classrooms; yet the smart ones don't quit.

Girls, beware, for men with good jobs don't like to pick wives who are uneducated.

Business employers also take the same attitude.

"The state furnishes you free schooling through high school," they explain, "and that is the equivalent of $400 per year in college tuition.

"If you thus don't take full advantage of it, then we figure you are either stupid or lacking in ambition. And employers don't want either of those two types of workers."

Dr. Paul C. Glick, of our Census Bureau, showed that a high school diploma is worth an average of $49,000 because of the higher future earnings it gives its owner.

And each year of college adds $25,000 more to that $49,000, so girls and boys should look far ahead.

Nowadays, girls expect a husband who can hold a good job and bring home an adequate pay check regularly.

Men without high school, plus some college training, usually have trouble supporting a wife, not to mention children.

And the modern young man wants a girl who can operate a home on a budget, speak in public, serve as bookkeeper and compute his income tax for him.

Cooking, rearing babies scientifically and "fronting" in public for her husband are just "extras."

How do you girls expect to hold your own in modern society if you don't get a high school diploma?

When you are later asked to preside at a church women's meeting or make a report at the PTA where your future children will attend, are you going to welch on those social obligations of modern wives and mothers?

BUSINESS COLLEGE

So I finally persuaded Pearl to finish high school and win a year's diploma from a Business College.

In one year at the latter college she took courses in business law, applied psychology, accounting, business English, plus typing and shorthand.

Business colleges also maintain a placement service for their graduates so Pearl was steered into a good secretarial position the day after her graduation.

There she was a cultured, efficient worker whose poise permitted her to fraternize with the college educated salesmen who called on her boss.

One of the latter fell in love with Pearl and they were married two years after her graduation from business college.

He came from a college family in New England who would have vetoed Pearl if she had not had a year at college.

Science at Work

Find Desert Water Over 20,000 Years Old

By The Associated Press

Ancient waters, death among the mammoths, and bug wars are in the science news:

OLD WATER

Water in some deep wells in the Saudi Arabian desert appears to range from 20,000 to nearly 25,000 years old, three U.S. Geological Survey scientists report.

They measured the age of water through its content of radioactive carbon-14, which is formed in the atmosphere by cosmic rays, and then drifts to earth or falls in rainwater.

The deep well water may have fallen as rain during the Wisconsin glacial period when there were heavy rains, said Leland Thatcher, Meyer Rubin and Glen F. Brown. They analyzed samples of water collected by the Arabian American Oil Co.

BUG WAR

To fight insect pests, use bug-eating bugs, urges Carl B. Huffacker of the University of California.

He doesn't think man has done enough to enlist predatory bugs as allies in fighting pests, and thinks they can do a good job.

In a current project Huffacker is trying to find a natural enemy to control scale insects in olive trees, and says a very effective predatory insect has been imported from Persia. A related insect, from Spain, didn't work out too well, he adds.

As successes in bug-to-bug war, Huffacker cites the importation of Australian beetles to control a weed in Northern California rangelands, and the spread of milky white disease among Japanese beetles infesting eastern states.

DEMISE OF THE MAMMOTHS

There's a wide belief that glaciers sweeping down from the north suddenly wiped out 50,000 wooly mammoths roaming the Siberian tundras 10,000 to 30,000 years ago.

But William R. Farrand of Columbia University's Lamont Geological Observatory, finds evidence against this theory.

He agrees the mammoths did die suddenly, as evidenced by food found in their teeth and stomachs, but thinks they were probably asphyxiated when they drowned in lakes or bogs, or were trapped by mudflows or cave-ins of river banks.

Only 39 remains of mammoths have been found, and this number is about what could be expected from accidential burial, he says. The fact most of the remains were decayed or mutilated by predators before freezing indicates the mammoths didn't perish suddenly in glaciers.

MOTH DEFENSES

To keep the species alive, Emperor moths of Barro Colorado Island in the Canal Zone have developed camouflage systems and a kind of chemical defense against enemies.

In camouflage, some species when resting resemble dead leaves or bits of bark. Others use eyespot patterns on their wings which make them look bigger than they are, and make them look like enemies of small birds which normally feed on the moths, reports Dr. A. D. Blest of University College, London.

Still others have developed a nauseous taste or odor to keep from becoming meals for birds. Some types of moths are actually poisonous.

The book, which turned up in the library's rare book section, was donated to the library in 1873.

Liz Sees Husband Upstaged

Clan Makes Fish of Fisher

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Elizabeth Taylor, on her first night out since plastic surgery a week ago, watched husband Eddie Fisher do his night club act Tuesday night—despite the interference of the Frank Sinatra crowd.

Liz was in a ringside seat. A bandage covered the operation to remove a tracheotomy scar incurred during her double pneumonia illness earlier this year.

DEFINITELY THERE

There also was much of Hollywood society and definitely there was the boisterous Sinatra bunch —Sinatra, Dean Martin, Peter Lawford, Sammy Davis Jr., Joey Bishop, Shirley Maclaine, etc.

Fisher got off to a nervous start, forgetting lines to three songs.

Fisher recovered his aplomb and later began to sing "That Face," directly to Liz. Martin commented: "If I were you, I wouldn't be working. I'd be home with her."

After more heckling, Sinatra, Martin, Davis and Bishop charged onstage, liquor glasses in hand. They took over, doing imitations, limericks, racial jokes and songs —while Fisher sat on the bandstand, somewhat forlornly.

JONES BEACH, N.Y. (AP) — Lightning knocked out Tuesday night's performance of Guy Lombardo's "Paradise Island" at the Marine Theater in this Long Island resort area.

But Civil Defense Has Made Gains

Home Front Is Not Ready for War

(Editor's Note—What progress have accumulated from U.S. civil defense programs to date? In this third of four articles, Sterling F. Green examines the value of previous efforts.)

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials agree the home front would not be ready—despite a considerable measure of civil defense preparedness — if World War III would come this year.

The modestly financed and largely voluntary effort of the past decade has left these assets:

A warning system officially "excellent." From the Arctic outposts a warning can be flashed to more than 400 state and city central warning points in 15 seconds. The relay to 5,000 more local points averages seven minutes. The time is being shortened.

The nationwide wire network for transmission of alerts, orders and information is being backstopped by a radio network for use if the wires are knocked out.

Forty federal agencies, some state governments, and many major corporations have set up secret emergency headquarters remote from target areas and equipped for survival and communication.

Major banks and insurance companies tuck away microfilm copies of their records in blast-proof underground depositories. The Federal Reserve Board has provided for ready-to-use caches of currency.

The annual "Operation Alert" exercises have schooled key federal officials in running the government from ridden "relocation sites," under hypothetical conditions intended to duplicate the chaos that would follow an attack.

Civilian take-cover and evacuation drills have had good success in many areas, less satisfactory results in others.

A stockpile of survival items exists but is inadequate. Besides medical and engineering supplies it includes 1,400 emergency hospital setups, distributed in every state and territory.

METALS ADEQUATE

A $7-billion stockpile of strategic metals and materials is adequate for at least three years of war. Its existence helps to diminish the fear of panic buying and hoarding, the sure-fire ingredients of inflation.

Some 2,250 executives from industry, labor, education and other fields make up a "National Defense Executive Reserve." All have had at least six months experience in the government. All have had at least six months experience in the government. All are pledged to drop their civilian jobs and take over the formation and operation of emergency wartime agencies when and if the call comes.

Twenty-nine states have provided legally — or have begun legislation to do so—the means for designating successors in case state officials are killed, and for running their governments outside the capitals.

Five states—Hawaii, Delaware, Georgia, Virginia and Maryland —have emergency relocation centers — hideaway statehouses. Nebraska has just voted for a blast-proof, $380,000 center. The federal government is to pay half the cost.

These would not be only for civil defense use, but for state government activities.

An office of civil and defense mobilization spokesman said: "It is our idea to avoid martial law, to keep constitutional government operating at every level even under the impact of atomic assault."

Unhappily, civil defense officials admit they do not know how many cities, counties and areas lack a functioning civil defense organization, and how many of those set up in the Korean crisis may have lapsed into inactivity.

A pilotless helicopter has been designed. It could be substituted for a crane or a ferry or could carry fire-fighting equipment.

Kill 1, Catch 1 in Bank Holdup

Leaves Letter of Intent in $15,515 Robbery of NYC Bank

NEW YORK (AP)—"We may wind up in jail for a long time. We may get killed. But we'll get the money."

These were the closing lines in a letter that Richard James, 25, wrote—but never mailed—to his mother prior to a dramatic, bullet-punctuated $15,515 robbery of a West 23rd Street bank Tuesday.

James was captured. His partner, Lawrence Williams, 26, died in a gun battle with police across from crowded Pennsylvania Station only moments after the robbery.

Police found the letter in James' room, along with detailed maps and plans for subsequent holdups of two other West Side banks.

USE TAXICAB

The two bandits, used a taxicab for what apparently was their first journey into bankrobbing. James remained outside the Broadway Savings Bank while Williams, armed with a sawed-off shotgun and a 45-caliber pistol, went in.

In a loud voice, Williams commanded a teller to fill a bag with money. Then he threw a smoke bomb to obscure his movements.

The bank's assistant secretary, Walter Engkjer, 52, was shot in the leg when he grabbed a gun and rushed at Williams as the robber fled outside and joined his companion in the cab.

Police cornered the bandits at Eighth Ave. and 33rd St., across from the rail terminal.

James burst into the street with his hands up and surrendered. Williams came out shooting, and died in a hail of bullets.

Police recovered all but $4,756 of the money.

East Berlin Unrest Troubling to K

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A new element is entering the Berlin crisis.

It suggests new trouble for Nikita Khrushchev, and grave decisions by the Western allies as well.

It is the human element, which must give nightmares to dictators but to which every world leader must give consideration.

As the flow of East German refugees through West Berlin continued and reached an unprecedented high of 23,000 in the last month, weekend headlines reported East Germans moved at a pitch unequalled since the 1953 revolt.

For 16 years East Germans have had only to look across the barbed wire and the minefields dividing East and West to see the contrast between oppression and freedom, misery and growing plenty.

Under the ordinary, extraordinary circumstances of the cold war, Khrushchev might have expected his latest ultimatum against Berlin to follow a reasonably prescribed course.

This would involve the customary threats, followed by a stern allied reaction, to be followed in turn by a conference of foreign ministers and possibly by another summit.

In this course of events, he might also expect another of the small, nibbling successes which effectively have advanced Communist frontiers in Europe and Asia.

East German resistance to communism has ranged from the passive resistance of the forcibly collectivized farmers to the flight of more than three million others whose desperation drove them to abandon belongings and loved ones.

WORKERS THREATEN

In between was the revolt of the East Berlin construction workers which spread through East Germany in 1953. This week the construction workers were threatening again.

In a letter whose authenticity the West Berlin newspaper Kurier said was assured, they warned Khrushchev:

". . .Remove your hand from the free part of our city. Have no illusions. We will never allow it if you dare to try to take over West Berlin one of these days."

These were not the only evidences of disaffection.

An account in the West Berlin Telegraf said 400 of 500 factory workers in Torgau walked out of a Communist rally after hooting Red speakers.

All 12 workers in a Griefswald cable factory fled to West Berlin with their families.

Paradoxically, as food and material shortages have increased with the outflow of refugees, East German authorities have not dared to cut off escape routes. To do so would be to admit the failure of their regime.

A large part of Khrushchev's success in keeping the Western allies off balance has been the flexibility of his foreign policy. That flexibility already has been impaired by his quarrel with the Red Chinese, and might be reduced further in case of a desperation move either by the East German regime or the German workers.

A blood bath in East Germany certainly would force new allied decisions and might bring about a totally unexpected solution of the Berlin problem.

Bay City Wins Appeal in Damage Suit Case

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—The city of Bay City, Mich. Tuesday won its appeal from a $9,500 damage judgment returned against it in a suit filed by the Herlihy Mid-Continent Co. of Chicago.

The U.S. Court of Appeals, 6th Circuit, reversed the judgment, returned in U.S. District Court in Detroit. It directed U.S. District Judge Frank H. Picard to return a finding in favor of the city.

The Herlihy firm sued in district court for $10,000 damages it claimed it suffered during the time it was constructing a Veterans' Memorial Bridge in Bay City.

The firm claimed the city had agreed to furnish water for the construction but that on the night of Jan. 16, 1957 the city turned off the water, causing a pipe line to freeze.

The city claimed it was not liable because city employes, who shut off the water to allow flooding of parks for ice skating, were performing a governmental function.

A turbine generator, said to be the world's largest, is being installed on the Mississippi River. It is big enough to supply 500,000 homes.

DESCRIBE HIJACKING — Copilot John Yandell (left) and pilot W. E. Buchanan of the hijacked Eastern Air Lines plane describe the incident after returning from Havana to Miami with 32 passengers.

'. . . I Looked Down the Barrel of the Biggest Gun I've Seen'

(Editor's Note: Capt. William E. Buchanan, 46, of Miami, a 15- year veteran with Eastern Air Lines, was the pilot of the Eastern passenger plane hijacked Monday and flown to Havana. He told this story of the hijacking upon his return to Miami.)

By WILLIAM E. BUCHANAN
(As Told to UPI)

MIAMI—I turned around and looked down the barrel of the biggest gun I've ever seen in my life.

It happened shortly after we took off for Tampa.

Our take-off was normal. After we got to 13,000 feet, Miss Jones (Stewardess Joan Jones) brought us coffee, but forgot the cream. She went back to get the cream.

As soon as she closed the door, this guy opened it, stepped inside, pulled a pistol, and said, 'Turn this plane around.'

He spoke with a Spanish accent. He told (copilot John) Yandell to turn the radios off and to take off our headsets.

HE KNEW COURSE

I asked him what turn we should make and he said 210 degrees. He knew exactly what heading to turn to. He said he wanted to go to Cuba.

"Why don't you take a regular flight?" I said. "Because they won't let me take the plane," he said. "Are you a Cuban?" I said. "No, I'm an American citizen," he said.

I was scared of the Cuban air force, afraid we'd get shot up if we didn't make the right approach to Havana. I told him this and he let me make some corrections in course.

About that time a Pan American buzzed us and the guy with the gun got shook up. He jabbed Yandell a couple of times with the barrel of the pistol.

He was upset over the backwash from the jet. It shook us around a little bit. He told me, "You better stop that or you won't shake it."

I told this guy we had to get in radio contact with Havana or they would shoot us out of the sky. He let us open radio contact and Yandell took over. He (Yandell) dialed the emergency frequency, got Key West, and requested the Havana radio frequencies.

He told Key West that we were being forced at gunpoint to fly to Havana. The guy with the gun couldn't hear this—he didn't have a headset on.

We had trouble getting Havana on the radio, but we finally did and started out landing without being intercepted by their air force.

While we were coming down I could see trucks all over the airfield. There were hundreds of troops lining each side of our runway.

The militia took us to customs and we were questioned there for a little while. They wanted me to fly the airplane somewhere else —I don't know where—But I declined. They never said directly they were going to keep the aircraft.

French, Algerians OK New Approach

LUGRIN, France (UPI) — The outlook for the French-Algerian peace talks brightened today as the two sides agreed to try a new approach.

The Algerian nationalists accepted a French proposal that five committees be formed to tackle major issues more or less simultaneously, and in detail.

The French argued that only this way could the talks be saved from the collapse which overtook the first round after three weeks of "high-sounding speech-making."

Rebel acceptance took the French by surprise. It was the first agreement registered since the two sides first met at Evian-Les-Bains in May.

Critical Home Shortage Is Indicated in Prague

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — The Communist administration in the Czechoslovak capital of Prague has failed to solve a critical housing shortage, Czechoslovak press reports indicate.

The Prague newspaper Svobodne Slove said that more than 50,000 applications for apartments are on file.

Last year only 4,326 new apartments were completed, and this year the city plans to increase construction by only 1,170 units, the paper said.

Fidel's 26th of July Drive Observes 8th Anniversary

(Editor's Note: Today is the eighth anniversary of the founding of the 26th of July revolutionary movement which swept Fidel Castro to power in Cuba. In the following dispatch, UPI's Latin American news editor who was in Cuba at the time reports the background of the movement, and its military and political development.)

By FRANCIS L. McCARTHY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fidel Castro's 26th of July Movement observes its eighth anniversary today. It may be its last as a prime Latin American Nationalist spearhead.

The Black and Red party standard, inevitably accompanied by the bearded visage of its founder-leader, has been displaced by the blood-red banner of the hammer and sickle.

Once a powerhouse in Cuban national life, the 26th of July Movement now is subordinate to Cuba's popular Socialist (Communist) party because all political groups have been "collectivized" in what the government terms its "integrated revolutionary organizations."

"Integration" of the 26th of July Movement was a major triumph for the Cuban Communists who have long sought to downgrade the Castro group as a major impediment to Communist development in Cuba.

The 26th of July Movement got its name originally from the date in 1953 when Castro led a handful of followers in a brave but foolhardy armed attack on Cuban army GHQ in Santiago.

MOTLEY START

At the start, the movement comprised a motley assortment of professional revolutionaries, adventurers, liberals, idealists, parlor-pinks and a smattering of card-carrying Communists.

The "comrades" took it over in the closing months of Castro's Sierra Maestra campaign.

The movement was ostensibly nonpolitical when it was founded. However, after Castro's seizure of power, all patronage was cleared through it.

One of Castro's first acts was to force all other revolutionary organizations into the 26th of July.

This was to reserve exclusively for the organization he founded an eventual role in Cuban history which otherwise would have been shared by the three or four political groups which also fought the dictatorial Batista regime.

The Castro maneuver benefitted the Cuban Communists in that it enabled them to concentrate their organizing fire on one political "catch-all" rather than having to combat a handful of potentially dangerous splinter groups.

The action also paved the way for Communist assumption in Cuba of the role of power behind the throne.

STRENGTH LEGENDARY

The military strength of the 26th of July Movement was more legendary than real.

Actually, some of the most difficult fighting against Batista was carried out by a non-Castro student organization, the "Second National Escambray Front," in Central Cuba.

The Escambray troops formed the bulk of the "occupation army" which took over Havana when Batista fled on New Year's Eve of 1958. Castro's forces entered the capital eight days later.

The Castro movement in its early days was likened politically to ex-Argentine Dictator Juan D. Peron's "Descamisados" (shirtless ones) party.

After 1959, however, the 26th of July became a continental publicity vehicle for Castro's aspirations to be known as the continent's second Simon Bolivar, or hemisphere liberator.

Bearded troopers in the soon-familiar green fatigues were flown to all part of Latin America to glorify the leader and his revolution.

The "image" was never sold, however, for "Castroism" too soon became a synonym for Communism.

Although the 26th of July Movement has perhaps seen its best days, politically speaking, the music it has inspired will long endure.

The "March of the Revolution," the so-called national hymn written about it, may outlast the organization itself.

Many a foot—pro-Castro and anti-Castro—has beat an excited tap to its Afro-Cuban rhumba rhythm.

Ex-Mental Patient Kills Wife, Himself

SAN PABLO, Calif. (AP)—Albert L. Bays, 38, chased his estranged wife into a service station Tuesday, cornered her against the grease rack, killed her with four pistol shots and then killed himself with a single shot into the head.

Police identified the dead woman as Mildred Bays, 27, of nearby Richmond. They said Bays was a former patient in an Arizona mental hospital.

Pakistan's school enrollment is expected to total 4,200,000 by 1965 compared with three million now.

Driver Demands Exam in Death of City Girl, 6

Accused of negligent homicide in the death of a 6-year-old Pontiac girl, a Waterford Township driver yesterday demanded examination before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

Michael M. Knaack, 20, of 3037 Old Orchard Drive, Waterford Township, was released on $50 bond pending the pretrial hearing Aug. 2.

His car struck and killed the child, Pamela Moden, 162 Lincoln Ave., on Elizabeth Lake Road Tuesday afternoon when the girl stepped into rush-hour traffic on her way to watch a baseball game on the Pontiac State Hospital grounds.

Authorities charged that Knaack was distracted by the same ballgame and not paying enough attention to the road.

Dilemma Posed by Stolen Plane

U.S. Ponders Steps to Retrieve It From Cuba —Hijacker Disappears

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A big American airliner twinkled at Havana today like a contraband feather in Fidel Castro's holiday cap—while its passengers philosophically resumed trips interrupted by a hijacking over Florida.

In Washington, government officials pondered what steps to take for getting the Eastern Air Lines $3.5-million prop-jet Electra back from Cuba. It was impounded there in reprisal for seizure of Cuban aircraft in the United States.

The FBI at Miami identified the hijacker as Jose Marin, 35, a 16-year resident of the United States and prepared charges against him which included airplane theft, kidnaping of pilot W. E. Buchanan and assault of Buchanan with a deadly weapon —a pistol.

LED OFF BY CUBANS

Marin was out of reach of U.S. authorities. The last seen of him, Cuban soldiers who disarmed him were leading him away from the hijacked airliner at Havana's Jose Marti Airport. He reportedly told the Cubans he was bringing them an American plane in return for Cuban aircraft seized in the United States to satisfy a tourism advertising bill run up by a Cuban government agency.

In New York, the FBI and police set up security measures at airports to foil a purported Cuban plot for grabbing more American airliners. Police were informed by the FBI that a pro-Castro group met Sunday night at the Casa Cuba Club in New York and planned to sneak hijackers aboard airliners at New York and Tampa.

The prop-jet's 32 passengers and five crew members were happy to be home without being delayed by Castro's 26th of July extravaganza.

WHITE

He will resign Aug. 31 to take over his new administrative position. White is secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Chapter of the National School Public Relations Association.

Boy in Hospital After Running Into Car's Path

A 5-year-old Orion Township boy was struck down by a passing car when he darted into the street in front of his home yesterday.

The condition of Gerald Lee Coyle of 625 W. Clarkston Road was listed as satisfactory today at Pontiac General Hospital. He has a possible head injury.

The driver of the car, Charles E. Pokorny, 50, of 1210 W. Clarkston Road, told sheriff's deputies the boy ran out directly in front of the car, which couldn't stop in time. Pokorny was not held.

Join Gas Firms in Hiking Prices

Sun, Mobil Latest to Join Parade; Standard Official Defends Boost

Several major gasoline companies today followed the lead of independents and Standard Oil Co. in raising their prices to consumers in the Pontiac area.

Both Sun Oil Co. and Mobil Oil Co. put price hikes in effect this morning. At the same time, a Standard official defended the company's move to restore gasoline prices "to near normal" in the Detroit area.

Late Tuesday, Sunoco announced it was raising its tankwagon price to dealers 6.5 cents a gallon. This would put the dealer's price at 15.9 cents a gallon plus about 10 cents tax per gallon.

Today, Mobil announced a 5.8 cent per gallon hike in tankwagon prices to its dealers. Dealers will now pay about 15.2 cents for regular and 18.7 cents a gallon for premium grade.

The move will put Mobil's price to consumers at an average of 31.9 cents a gallon for regular.

In defending his company's move, Milo Hector, regional manager for Standard, said that Standard's wholesale price to dealers for "top quality gasoline" dropped to 9.4 cents per gallon "during the recent cut-throat price war."

In his statement, Hector said the 9.4-cent per gallon price was 2.6 cents lower than the 12 cents per gallon price "for unbranded gasoline" in Chicago over the same period.

Hector also said that Standard's current price is nine-tenths of a cent a gallon less than it was at this time last year, and 1.4 cents a gallon less than it was in 1955.

Cuba Hailed, U.S. Hit by Communist China

TOKYO (AP) — Red China today hailed the eighth anniversary of the Cuban revolution, combining its praise for the Fidel Castro regime with a bitter attack on the United States.

An editorial in the official Peiping People's Daily said the Cuban revolution set "a brilliant example for the world's oppressed nations and peoples."

The editorial, reported by the New China News Agency, accused the United States of preparing "new military ventures." It charged that troops are being recruited in the United States, Puerto Rico, Guatemala, Nicaragua and El Salvador for action against Cuba.

National Guard Asks Protection by Employers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Guard Association has asked employers to protect the careers and job rights of guardsmen called to active duty in the Berlin crisis.

Maj. Gen. William H. Harrison Jr., association president, said in a statement Tuesday night that the Guard would respond to President Kennedy's summons with the same spirit and dedication it has displayed in every crisis from the Revolution to Korea.

But he said "this disruption in their personal lives, the third in a lifetime for some — can work great hardships on many."

Therefore, he said, employers should guarantee to give the guardsmen their jobs back when they return to civilian life.

$7.5-Million Plant Planned for Trenton

TRENTON (UPI)—The Vulcan Mold and Iron Co. announced today it will build a $7.5-million ingot mold manufacturing plant employing 325 people in this Detroit suburb.

The plant is expected to begin operations late next summer.

Ingot molds are used in the manufacture of steel.

Vulcan, headquartered in Latrobe, Pa., said:

"We selected the Trenton site because Michigan is now one of the recognized major steel producing areas in the country. We intend to supply the industry in the Detroit area with quality ingot molds."

The plant will go up on a 35-acre site. The main building will be 1,200 feet by 125 feet.

The letter "e" occurs most frequently in the English language. The least frequent is "q."

Swainson Wants State Agencies to Aid Con-Con

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. Swainson asked the heads of all state agencies Tuesday to extend a helping hand to make the forthcoming constitutional convention a success.

Pointing out that the convention delegates will be unlimited in the scope of their review of the basic state law, Swainson declared:

"It is my firm desire that every effort be made by the executive branch of Michigan state government to provide whatever aid and assistance may be requested by the delegates in carrying out their tremendously important official responsibilities."

Swainson said that each state agency should begin now to gather the kind of basic, factual information regarding its functions which would be useful and helpful to the delegates in their deliberations.

He also directed the agencies to assist the preparatory commission headed by Howard Stoddard, president of the Michigan National Bank, when so requested.

Name New Director

LANSING (UPI) — W. H. Dorfner, a General Motors executive, has been named a director of the Michigan Industrial Ambassador Corps, which is seeking out prospects for new industries. Doerfner is general manager of the Saginaw Steering Gear Division of General Motors.

Bowles in Africa to Meet With U.S. Diplomats

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI) — U. S. Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles arrived Tuesday night to meet with U. S. diplomats in Africa.

Bowles follows G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, who met with officials from 29 U.S. embassies and consulates this week.

Bowles said the United States has made "many errors in Africa over the past 15 years."

"We have learned that it is possible to help others in the wrong way," he said. "Much money has been wasted due to our errors."

Local Lass Leading Cycling Group Around U.S.

By MARJORIE EICHER
Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press

Anyone for cycling? Hundreds of young people all over the nation are, according to the American Youth Hostels. Young Americans are not the softies they are often painted. Numerous small groups are seeing the beauties of America this summer under their own power. Some of them are ambitious enough to cross the continent!

One such group paused in Pontiac recently. Dubbed TC-2 by the national headquarters (one of six transcontinental tours), the ten 16 and 17-year olds are under the competent leadership of Ann Schachern of Miami Road. Twenty-three-year-old Ann toured Europe by bike last summer with her sister Ellen. Her enthusiasm for this type of adventuring led her to apply for leadership of a hostel-ing group this summer.

In addition to her obvious qualifications—a responsible but unruffled attitude toward teen-agers, bubbling health and unlimited patience, Ann is a registered nurse. An intensive week-long AYH leadership course at the Bantam Lake, Conn. AYH Hostel and her experiences of last summer prepared her for an adventure that in 50 days will take the group from New York City through Yellowstone to Seattle, down the West Coast to Los Angeles. From California they will proceed to the Grand Canyon National Park and New Mexico. Then on to St. Louis, Washington, D.C. and back to New York.

All of this, of course is not cycled. Time and road conditions would not permit that. The long stretches from Chicago, for example to Yellowstone and from Santa Fe to St. Louis are made by train.

But "shank's mare"—or in this case, "shank's motor" accounts for hundreds of miles, some of it rather rugged.

Most strenuous day, perhaps was last week in Yellowstone National Park. One 17-mile stretch was virtually up for 15 miles, according to Ann. On this day they crossed the Continental Divide twice, camping at West Thumb, Wyo., that evening.

They carry no tents. The gear must necessarily be light. Riding English-style bicycles equipped with saddlebags they carry sleeping bags, mess kits, ponchos and easily washed and fast-drying clothing changes.

Tours are set up so that no more than two friends travel together, encouraging new relationships. Ann's group has two sets of girls who were friends before they set off. The rest who met initially two days before departure will test their abilities to live together under a variety of conditions, and will undoubtedly loathe or love one another at trip's end.

SIMPLE CHORE TECHNIQUE

Stopping en route at hostels, where there are bunk rooms and kitchen facilities or at "Y's" (and sometimes even in church basements) the group has a simple but effective chore technique. In pairs they take turns cooking for three consecutive meals. The cooks plan, shop, cook and serve the meals. The following day's cooks comprise the clean-up committee.

Setting out on the Fourth of July weekend, they spent five days preconditioning in the hilly Pennsylvania Dutch country around Lancaster. At this point, their leader's stamina outlasted theirs, but she was "in condition" due to her week of training in Connecticut.

The writer spent a day with them at a charming old converted barn which is the hostel near Saline. They are a bright inquisitive group—"full of vim and vinegar," according to Ann. Danny Haber, Sheila Rothgart and Leslie Teicholz had each spent the previous summer at Shaker Village, a work camp in the east where they worked vigorously in the mornings at forestry, conservation and reclamation. Their afternoons included creative crafts and recreation. Hosteling represents the next step in their adventures.

It's not all muscle and chow on a hostel tour. Culture is in equal balance. While in the Detroit area they "did" Greenfield Village. At Saline, I took them on a tour of the University of Michigan campus. At this point they were already planning the museum tours they would make in Chicago.

Right about now they are cycling down the picturesque Monterey Peninsula in California. Three more weeks remain of their spectacular summer. Each father's bank account is $600 slimmer due to this adventure, but no amount of money could buy the excitement, adventure, grind and growing up that these teen-agers have experienced.

Pontiac Press Photos

Teen-age boys traditionally have hollow legs and teen-age boy hostelers are hollow clear through! Well-fed at the Miami Road home of Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Schachern were these five members of a transcontinental bicycle tour of the American Youth Hostels. From left are Daniel Haber of West Englewood, N.J.; Arnold Paperno of Long Meadow, Mass.; Steve Altman of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Robert Eisenberg of Scarsdale, N. Y.; and Kevin Darrow of Union, N. J.

Hostel leader Ann Schachern of Miami Road (at left) brought her group to her parent's yard for a picnic. Already brown and conditioned, they were bubbling with anticipation of doing the west under their own power. Hostelers (from left) with Ann are Jeanette Dryer of Teaneck, N. Van Cliburn Will Play in State

INTERLOCHEN (UPI)—Van Cliburn, who won world acclaim for his performance in a Moscow piano playing competition, will appear before a standing-room-only crowd Saturday at the National Music Camp.

Cliburn is at the camp this week for rehearsals with the teen-age symphony orchestra which will accompany him in the benefit performance.

Frank McKowen, Interlochen concert manager, said today all reserved and general admission tickets have already been sold. Standing-room tickets will be sold at $2 each on a first-come, first-served basis Saturday, he said.

McKowen said he anticipates the largest single-event of the camp for the Cliburn concert.

Cliburn will perform the Tschaikovsky B Flat Minor Concerto; the orchestra accompanying him will number 180 pieces, combining select members of National High School Symphony Orchestra and the National High School Philharmonic Orchestra under the baton of Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, camp founder and president.

Pontiac area members of the orchestra are Jean Huttula and David Eicher.

The concert will be given in the open air Kresge Assembly Hall and funds derived will be used for piano scholarships for camp students.

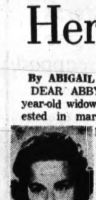
Marry Her Anyway, Says Abby

Her Age Doesn't Matter

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 63-year-old widower who is interested in marrying a lovely little gray-haired widow.



She has a sparkling personality and seems to be made to order for me. Her children are married and so are mine.

She never ABBY has mentioned her age. She appears to be about 55 or 56, but friends who have known her longer than I tell me she is every day of 60.

Do you think it would be out of line for me to ask her how old she is?

GRAY MUSTACHE

DEAR GRAY: Don't ask her. But if she tells you, add five years and marry her anyway.

DEAR ABBY: I am a man of 44 and I am married to a woman of 38. We have been married two years and we agreed when we were married that we would wait a while before having a family. Well, I think we have waited long enough, but my wife keeps stalling. I feel it will be unfair to the children to have parents that are too old to be companions to them. Am I wrong or is she?

EDDIE

DEAR EDDIE: You are right and if you want "originals" you had better hurry before the factory goes out of business.

DEAR ABBY: My husband died, leaving me with two little girls. I remarried. The parents of my first husband are still the grandparents of my children. The parents of my second husband also call themselves the "grandparents" of my children. When the "real" grandparents come to visit us, I don't know how to introduce them to my friends. They are no longer my "in-laws," but they ARE my children's grandparents. How do I introduce them without too much explanation?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Introduce them as, "Mother and Dad So and So — my late husband's parents — Susie's and Mary's grandparents.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CALIFORNIA: Yes, in your part of the country the children grow taller. And the marriages shorter.

May Invite This Guest a 2nd Time

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Is it proper to ask a man to come to dinner or to cocktails a second time without having been invited to something by him? The man in question is someone I met at a cocktail party at a friend's house. A short time later I invited him to a supper party at my mother's house.

He sent flowers the next day with a thank-you note. Another time I asked him to come in for cocktails, which he accepted. He has not, however, invited me to anything.

I would like to see him again and wondered if he would think me forward if I asked him to something again, or must I wait until he has returned my invitations before doing so?

A: This young man probably has no facilities for returning the parties you have invited him to, and as he has sent you flowers and a thank-you note, you may invite him again without danger of seeming forward.

Q: I had dinner with a friend the other evening in a restaurant. Many of the dishes on the menu were in French.

As I have no knowledge of this language I was skeptical about trying any of them and so I ordered one of the few dishes that was listed in English, which I didn't particularly care for but I at least knew what it was.

When faced with a situation of this kind, is it proper to ask the waiter to explain what the different items are?

A: It is entirely proper to ask the waiter to explain just what the items on the menu consist of.

Q: My husband and I are going on a Caribbean cruise soon. This will be our first trip of this kind and I am a little puzzled as to the correct clothes for my husband. Is a white dinner jacket customary in the evening on such a cruise?

A: A white dinner jacket is customary in the evening for the men on a tropical cruise.

Pair Exchanges Vows in Presbyterian Rite

MRS. WILLIAM E. RANEY JR.

Candlelight vows of Janice Lynn Roberts and William E. Raney Jr. were pledged before Rev. Theodore R. Allebach Friday evening in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Ward Roberts of Nelson Street and the Earl Raneys of Commerce Lake.

The bride wore a hand-finished dress of shell pink cotton batiste styled with off-shoulder neckline and bell skirt. The all-over fine pintucking was combined with lace. A short veil was attached to a bell-shaped hat of white organdy.

White carnations and pink sweetheart roses comprised the bride's bouquet.

Attending the couple at the double-ring ceremony were Mrs. Richard Kern, matron of honor and Robert Clemmons, best man.

Cut Out the Yakity-Yak

What Happened to Word 'No'?

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Sometimes it seems to me that the more parents explain and reason with their children, the less their children understand.

I heard the mother of a 3-year-old try to explain to him why he couldn't have a candy bar and when she got through he was still whining for it.

The mother was patient and reasonable. She explained how eating a candy bar would spoil his lunch and how good his nice lunch would be if he didn't ruin it.

She put in a "darling" here and there to make sure her little boy knew that she loved him — even though she couldn't let him have the candy bar.

Such persuasion you never heard. And it got her exactly nowhere. Junior was still whining for candy and refusing to listen to reason when the two left the store.

Back in the days when parents told small children "No" and let it go at that, life was simpler for parents—and children, too.

Then junior didn't have to listen to so much yakity-yak about why he couldn't do or have what his heart desired. He didn't have to try to understand all the reasons for the things he couldn't do.

He didn't even have to wear himself out wheedling, begging and trying to get his way. He only had to consider one word, a word he had been taught to understand, the word "No."

But mothers today so hate to say "No" that even though they have to say it frequently, as mothers always have, they make a big deal out of it.

They explain, they apologize, they offer substitutes, they reason and sometimes they even plead. When all they really have to say is that one little word, "No"— a word that any child can be easily taught to understand and even to accept.

Big boys can learn, too. See Ruth Millett's booklet, "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, c/o The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Wants Dating Outlawed Below Age 15

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the nation's top marriage counselors has appealed to American parents to reverse the "dangerous and unhealthy" trend toward dating in the early teens by outlawing dating by children under 15.

Dr. David R. Mace, executive director of the American Association of Marriage Counselors, writes in the current McCall's Magazine that the development of a libertine generation may well be the deciding factor in our defeat by the "puritan" generation of young Russian Communists.

"It seemed to me as I compared the two cultures last year (on a visit to Russia), that America was saying to its youth, 'have fun!'—while the Russians were saying to their youth, 'Be disciplined!'"

Mace said the "unique" American custom of teen-age dating is probably the reason that the American divorce rate is four times that of comparable western countries.

LISTS BAD EFFECTS

He listed these damaging side effects of dating in elementary, junior high and even high school age groups:

—Dating imposes a social tyranny. If you don't have a date for the dance you don't go at all. This creates anxiety and forces insecure boys and girls into going steady simply to ensure social opportunities.

—Dating fosters a subtle form of mutual exploitation whereby a boy tries to exploit the girl sexually and the girl exploits the boy financially. This does not develop healthy comradeship and can produce predatory males and spoiled females.

—Dating gives young people a taste for variety and chance. If a boy runs into difficulty in his relationship with a girl, he just drops her and finds another. This carries over into marriage and is the reason for the divorce habit.

—Dating among youngsters who are not wage-earners is ludicrous and sinfully expensive and gives boys and girls a distorted attitude toward money, which is supplied by their parents.

'SEX MORE PROMINENT'

"The sexual element has moved more and more into prominence," said Mace. "Anyone who imagines that immature teen-agers can be out together in pairs, in the complete privacy that automobiles afford, in a culture that is saturated with sexual suggestion, and not indulge in sexual experimentation is just not being realistic."

Mace said the results are apparent in the rising rate of pregnancy among teen-age girls, hasty teen marriages and the rocketing incidence of venereal disease in the 10-to-15 age group. He said as bad as the situation is, he believes it will get worse.

"The pattern is changing in two ways," he said. "First, the dating age is being forced down precipitately. Second, the sexual element in dating is being dangerously intensified."

The trend further complicates the relationship of American parents to their children because the parents, while condoning early dating, "are really worried to death about what their teen-agers are doing. At the same time teenagers are distracted between the pressures of their contemporaries and the pressures of the parents to keep out of trouble.

"With all these negative effects clearly evident, I believe we have no time to waste," said Mace. "We must reverse this trend . . . by establishing an age below which dating is outlawed by universal social custom. The most logical and defensible age to start with is 15."

Meat, Tomato and Onion Wrapped Up in Bacon

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Pork tenderloin is no longer the luxury meat it used to be. Because it has no bone, there is no waste and you can determine exactly how much to buy. Mrs. James McCracken has a different way of preparing tenderloin.

Knitting, golfing and gardening are Mrs. McCracken's hobbies.

BAKED PORK TENDERLOIN
By Mrs. James McCracken

Pork tenderloin
Bacon
Tomatoes
Onions
Salt and pepper
Cream (optional)

For each serving, take 2 strips of bacon and lay one crossways over the other. Place a pork tenderloin pattie in the center. Season with salt and pepper. Add a thick slice of both tomato and onion. Fold the bacon over all and secure with a toothpick. Place in pan and bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.

If desired, brown this first, then place in baking dish and pour cream over meat before baking.

These patties may be prepared in the morning and baked just before serving. You might even try them on the otudoor grill, wrapped in aluminum foil.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

"Usually I have to lengthen the top of a dress pattern and they fit fine, but when I lengthen a one-piece dress pattern, I get folds in the skirt between the waist and hips in the back.

"I have a friend that has the same trouble and we can't figure out why this is happening. How do you get rid of the folds once the dress is made." Mrs. D. N.

Dear Mrs. D.N.:

It sounds like you need the extra length in the front but not in the back. This usually is because of a large bust. You must separate the pattern above the waistline and add the extra you need in the front only. Either make an underarm dart opposite the fullest part of the bust, if there is not dart, or make the dart larger if there is one. This will make the side seams the same length.

To find your exact waist measurement on a dress without a waistline seam, tie a string tightly around the waist. Place a pin at each of the darts and side seams. This is the exact spot where your darts must be the widest, and the side seams should nip in at this point. These places must also be clipped after stitching to avoid a pulled look.

To remedy the problem after the garment has been finished, rip the side seams open from the lower edge to just above the waistline.

Again tie the string around your waistline to find the exact place the dress should be nipped in. You will notice that the original waistline has now dropped down toward the hips. The only problem here is that there may not be enough room for the hips, this would mean that this kind of an alteration would not work.

The only other solution to changing a garment already made is to take up the additional length at the neckline, which is a rather involved alteration.

"Dear Eunice,

"When a pattern calls for the midriff of the dress to be cut on the straight of the material, is it all right to cut it on the bias if it would be more attractive because of a checked material?"

Mrs. L.S.B.

Dear Mrs. L.S.B.:

I think the midriff should definitely be cut on the bias in a plaid or check fabric for the effect. The midriff will hold it's shape much better if you will underline it with a soft, firm fabric. This should be cut on the straight grain.

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"Why, after very carefully hemming skirts, are there slight puckers or waves that one cannot entirely press out? I do not draw the thread tightly." Mrs. L. S. Mc.

Dear Mrs. L. E. Mc.

You are pulling the hem tape too tight as you stitch it to your fabric, this is not caused from your hand stitching. Ease the hem tape on a little as you machine stitch.

If you are planning to wash your dress, the hem tape should be preshrunk. Always wet the tape and iron it dry before applying.

Easy Patterns Made for Use by Handicapped

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — A pattern company has come to the aid of handicapped women who want clothing that permits them to do their housework more efficiently.

Bernice Tharp, extension clothing specialist of Pennsylvania State University, says the company has designed two patterns for clothing which permits ease in putting on and taking off.

One of the new patterns is for a step-in dress. The dress has a three-quarter length button-front opening and a bloused bodice with a bias back and tucks at the waistline and front shoulder.

The underarm will stretch because it is bias cut for generous fullness. The short sleeves have a set-on upper section, and the skirt is moderately full with deep patch pockets.

A blouse and skirt pattern features a flared wrap-around skirt with tucks or soft pleats at the waistline. It can close in front or back with hooks and eyes or with a nylon tape enclosure.

MRS. DALE K. COLE

Betty Marie Grebe of Detroit exchanged nuptial vows with Dale K. Cole of Bay Street in a double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. Hans G. Dumpys Saturday evening in Hope Evangelical Lutheran Church, Detroit.

The Henry Grebes of Detroit and the Kenneth Coles of Homewood, Ill. received guests with the newlyweds in the church hall.

White silk organza for the bride featured a fitted bodice of Alencon lace and pleated side panels on the full skirt which swept into a chapel train. Bouffant shoulder-length veiling was held by a tiara of pearls and aurora borealis crystals.

The bride carried pink and white carnations surrounding a white orchid.

HEADPIECE OF GRAPES

Her attendants, in identical bell-shaped dresses of pink orchid nylon organza, carried baskets of pink geraniums and purple grapes.

Flower girl JoAnn Miller of Flint, wore floor-length embossed pink orchid nylon organza.

Roy D. Cole of Milwaukee, Wis., was best man for his brother. Kenneth Zemke of Lake Orion and William Vanderzee ushered.

Harried Despite Planning?

Add Some Order to Life

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

No matter how well we try to plan, there always will be some days which push us past happy activity and into hurry and strain. Crises will arise and unexpected obligations will sneak up on us.

Have you ever stopped to analyze these wearing days which wring us dry of energy? Usually, when we give thought to this, we find that a little more preventive planning or more organization in our life would have made a difference. Sometimes we find that we are simply trying to do too much, that we are spreading our energy and our time too thin.

If you hope to remain youthful, it is essential that you avoid as many of these days as possible. You simply cannot live in a state of perpetual rush without showing it around your eyes and mouth. You also probably will acquire a harried, drawn expression and sooner or later you are likely to become chronically tired.

LIVE IN CONFUSION

Many women live almost constantly in the middle of confusion. In order to avoid such wear and tear, we must learn to choose between the things we would like to do, rather than trying to do everything. We simply cannot allow ourselves to be pushed by various demands into more activities and responsibilities than we can handle with grace and health.

This sort of hectic existence leads to early aging and is reflected not only in our appearance but in our disposition. We owe it not only to ourselves but to our family to get some measure of order into our lives.

It is not so much how hard we work as the complexity and the rush which "gets us." Even social life which is fun is wearing if you do so much of it that it leads to hurry. Studies have shown that the average society woman uses more energy than a woman with a full time job.

Deep breathing is a wonderful medicine for times of stress and strain. Have you tried it lately? Few folks even take time to breathe properly. The majority use only the upper portion of their lungs for their habitual intake of oxygen.

Suds Silk Safely

Despite the fact that money is no object to most mothers whose little girls wear fashions by Helen Lee, their dresses are all safe in suds.

This noted designer, who creates enchanting 1961 designs for debutantes of the 1970 season, is obviously practical. Miss Lee states that "Every dress I design is washable, even the silk ones."

MRS. ROBERT J. ENSWORTH JR.

A B.S. Degree in elementary education from Eastern Michigan University has been earned by Mrs. Robert J. Ensworth Jr. (Linda Schellenberg) of Starr Avenue. Before graduating Mrs. Ensworth taught for two years at Waterford's Schoolcraft School and for one semester in Augusta, Ga. She will teach second grade at Bond School, Farmington, this fall. Mrs. Ensworth's parents are Mrs. George H. Schellenberg of Maplewood Avenue, Sylvan Lake, and the late Mr. Schellenberg.

Talent Show Will Benefit School Fund

A talent program to benefit the fund for the proposed Seventh-Day Adventist Church school will be presented at McCarroll School on Glenwood Avenue Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Local children and adults will appear in the public program at which a free will offering will be taken.

Boys and girls choruses, solo instrumental and vocal selections and a reading by Donald W. Weaver of Old Orchard Drive are included in the program.

Also featured will be Kenneth R. Campbell, director of musical education at Brahms Conservatory of Music on Oakland Avenue as guest artist. Mr. Campbell has organized a new musical group in the city.

A duet by Glenna R. Wilson and Sandra L. Saville and saxophone solo by Glen B. Shaver of Dryden will be heard.

The new building which will be erected on a 15-acre site on Pontiac Lake Road will alleviate oversubscribed classroom conditions at the present Seventh-Day Adventist School, The Pontiac Junior Academy located on East Howard Street.

Try It Out First

Before you buy a new lamp shade, try it over a lighted lamp. Home economists at Michigan State University say you should not be able to see the light bulb or the lamp reflector through the shade when the lamp is lighted.

Fiberglas Breaks

Fiberglas is a fine fiber made of glass. Home economists at Michigan State University say these fibers are brittle and require gentle handling. Twisting or constant abrasion may cause the fibers to break.

Will Live in Florida

Patricia Hileman is Wed

The Lewis Hilemans were hosts at a reception in their home on Middle Belt Road following the marriage of their daughter Patricia Lois to Larry D. Green Saturday evening in the First Congregational Church.

Rev. Malcolm Burton performed the ceremony before an altar banked with white gladioli and chrysanthemums in the presence of some 125 guests.

Panels of Alecon lace accented the floor-length bridal gown of white brushed taffeta styled with banque waistline and back fullness held by an inverted pleat.

Fingertip veiling of silk illusion held by a pearl-frosted lace Juliet cap and a cascade of white sweetheart roses completed the bride's ensemble.

Sharon Hileman attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing aqua nylon with matching headpiece. She carried white carnations.

Charles R. Green stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of the Charles F. Greens of Middle Belt Road. Richard DeBolt and Darryl Breeze ushered.

Beginning the honeymoon to Tampa, Fla., where the couple will live, the new Mrs. Green was wearing a yellow floral print frock styled with Empire waistline.

Mrs. Hileman wore pink silk organza over taffeta for the wedding and reception. The mother of the bridegroom appeared in nile green lace over taffeta. Each wore a shoulder corsage of white button chrysanthemums.

MRS. LARRY D. GREEN

Spend Some Time Getting in a Jam

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Why we use the phrase, "getting in a jam" to mean trouble is more than we can figure out; jam is good. In this article we'll hope our readers stay out of the wrong kind of jams and get into the right kind.

You're probably all through making strawberry jam. Now's the time to use other fruits.

How about gooseberries? Combined with red currants, they make an excellent jam.

Gooseberry-Red Currant Jam

4 cups gooseberries and red currants
3½ cups sugar
½ 8-ounce bottle liquid pectin

Use one pound of raspberries and the same amount of gooseberries. Was and crush throughly. Measure sugar and berries into large saucepan and mix well. Bring to a full boil and stir constantly while cooking.

Remove from heat; stir in pectin. Stir and skim for 5 minutes, then pour into sterilized glasses and pour paraffin over top while still hot. Makes 11 6-oz glasses.

Raspberries are ripe and will make a jam second in taste only to strawberry. This is a delicate jam which may take its own time in setting.

Red Raspberry Jam

7 cups sugar
5½ cups prepared raspberries
1 box fruit pectin
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
Red food color

Measure and set aside sugar. Wash, rinse and drain fully ripe berries. Then put through sieve to remove seed. Measure up to large (at least 6 qt.) kettle. Add pectin, lemon juice, salt, also a few drops of red food color to take care of fading of natural color later on. Bring mixture to hard boil.

Stir in sugar; bring to fast rolling boil. Boil 1 minute. Quickly skim off foam. Pour hot jam to within ⅛ inch of top of half-pint fruit jars; seal at once with home canning caps.

Some freestone peaches are coming to market. Perhaps you would like to get your peach preserves out of the way early. Later on there will be so many fruits and vegetables to prepare for canning or freezing that you may omit peaches.

Peach preserves are delicious on toast and make a super sundae sauce.

Peach Preserves

4½ cups sliced peaches (about 2 lbs. ripe peaches)
5 cups (3¼ lbs.) sugar
1 box (2¾ oz.) powdered fruit pectin
1 cup water

Peel and pit about 2 pounds fully ripe peaches. Slice thin. Measure 4½ cups. Place alternate layers of peaches and sugar in a large saucepan. Let stand at room temperature 4 to 6 hours.

Then place fruit mixture over high heat. Bring to full rolling boil and boil hard 3 minutes, stirring carefully. Remove from heat. Mix powdered fruit pectin and water in a small saucepan. Bring to a boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Add to the hot fruit and mix well. Quickly skim off foam with metal spoon.

Ladle boiling hot jam into jars, filling to ⅛ inch of top. Put lid of two-piece metal cap on each jar as it is filled. When all jars are filled, screw bands tight.

If fruit floats to top, let jars stand about 30 minutes and then shake gently to redistribute fruit through syrup. (Or if paraffin is to be used, stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes, to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Fill jars to within ⅛ inch of top and cover at once with ⅛ inch hot paraffin. When cool, cover jars loosely.) Makes about 6 ½-pint jars.

We'll give you other jam and jelly recipes in the fall.

Easy Salads Are Most Appetizing

A salad that will go anywhere is French Tomato Salad. Make a dressing of cream cheese, Roquefort cheese and mayonnaise. Place sliced chilled canned tomato aspic on crisp salad greens. Top with cheese mixture. Garnish with sprigs of parsley. Serve with lemon wedges.

Another time remember Sweet Fruit Salad. Prepare a tasty dressing of clear French dressing and honey, adding grated orange rind and orange juice to taste. Place chilled canned purple plums and figs on crisp greens. Pass the sweet dressing.

A and C in Peaches

A half cup of sliced raw peaches furnishes about 15 per cent of the Vitamin A and 10 per cent of the Vitamin C of the daily requirements for an adult.

Green Pepper Quarters Baked Italian Style

Peter Piper would have a field day in South Florida this time of year.

From over 15,000 green acres he could pick peppers till the cows come home. Peck upon peck upon peck, Peter could pick more than 122 million pounds — an early estimate, thought now to be extremely conservative.

During Florida's $14 million sweet pepper harvest, modern day pickers put Peter Piper in the shade. They pick by the bushel—instead of the peck, more peppers than the Mother Goose character ever dreamed of, and race with one another to fill the crates the fastest.

Before you can say Jack Robinson a basket is brimming. A worker comes and snatches it away, replacing it with an empty. Soon there is a truckload and a driver jogs over the sandy trails toward the market.

Here the peppers are auctioned to the highest bidder, hauled to the packing house for a scrubbing and dispatched by rail, truck, air and boat to the far corners of North America.

Almost all the peppers on the market now come from South Florida where growers say unusually good weather has produced an abundant harvest.

To the housewife this should mean bargain pepper prices.

To most homemakers this vitamin-A-B-C rich vegetable is indispensable to good cooking. Thanks to Florida's sunny climate peppers are available in cold weather as well as warm.

Low-caloried, high-flavored pepper perks oup soups and salads, makes a tasty in-between-meal snack that won't spoil your supper or put on pounds, and has come into its own as a main dish, especially when stuffed or baked in peanut oil with garlic, as in the recipe below:

Baked Florida Peppers

Quarter the peppers (one large to each person) and parboil for a minute in salty water. Drain (but save the stock for soups) and lay face-down in a shallow casserole. Now squeeze the juice of a Persian lime over them, salt, pepper and paprika them and pour on enough peanut oil to cover the bottom of the pan. Place slivers of garlic here and there (to your family's taste) garnish with quarters of ripe tomatoes and bake in a quick oven, about 450 degrees.

* * *

When they are tender and slightly browned, douse them well in the juice, sprinkle generously with Parmesian cheese and a little oregano and serve, HOT. Pass the juice like gravy.

Red Raspberries Have Short Season

"It's the berries." Fragile, delicately flavored raspberries won't last long, reminds the Marketing Information Agent. The Michigan raspberry season will be almost finished by the end of this week.

Choose raspberries that are firm and plump, that are bright and full colored. Ripe raspberries are hollow for the hulls stay on the bush when the berries are picked.

Because raspberries are so fragile and lose their flavor quickly, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer suggests that you buy just the amount you plan to use within the day. Roll them from the basket onto a tray or cookie sheet and refrigerate. Gently wash and drain just before using. Do not let them soak.

Ask for Taylor or Latham varieties if you are freezing red raspberries. Look for Cumberland or Logan if you are freezing black raspberries. Avoid overripe berries and those harvested after rains or during hot weather as they turn dark.

Three suggestions for freezing raspberries are: pack them dry without sugar; cover with a 40 percent cooled syrup made with 3 cups of sugar to 4 cups of water; or mix one cup of sugar with 6 cups of fruit. Keep at zero degrees F.

Raspberry Refrigerator Cake

2 tablespoons (2 envelopes) unflavored gelatin
6 egg yolks, slightly beaten
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup sugar
½ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons lemon rind
12 marshmallows
6 egg whites
¾ cup white corn syrup
1 small angel food cake
2 small crushing raspberries
½ pint whipping cream

Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine yolks with sugar, juice and rind. Cook over hot water, but do not boil, until mixture coats spoon. Remove from heat and add gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Add marshmallows while mixture is still hot. Then add raspberries.

Beat egg whites until stiff and gradually add syrup while beating. Gradually fold into above mixture and mix well. Grease a large tube pan and line it with ½ inch slices of angel cake. Fill with raspberry mixture. Chill until set. For garnish, pipe with whipped cream around base and add whole berries.

Ever Put Bananas in Jam or Relish?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Spring matrimony jam is an unusual Irish delicacy. Here's a recipe for it adapted by the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association from "Feasting Galore."

Peel and cut 12 bananas into small pieces. Wash, peel and section 6 sweet oranges and 4 lemons. Squeeze membrane from oranges and lemons to extract remaining juice. You should have about 14 cups of fruit with juice.

Place it in 4 quart saucepan with 2 cups of sugar, stir until sugar melts and boil rapidly for 20 minutes. Pour into sterilized jars. Seal. Makes about 7 half-pints. Cut sugar measurement to 1½ cups and follow same procedure to make a relish to accompany meats. This makes about 8 half-pints.

Camp Fire Chili Beans

Round up the gang for a good old fashioned cookout. And, be sure to include Camp Fire Chili Beans on the menu. Combine a can of chili con carne without beans with a can of baked beans; season to taste with dry mustard. Serve it right from the fire or over hamburgers or hot dogs.

Teen-agers should stay away from "crash diets" because these regimes usually deprive bodies of badly needed nutrients.

Touch of Curry Makes Chicken Sort of Special

It's true . . . you can't beat meals cooked outdoors! For there's nothing more inviting to the eye or more tempting to the appetite than food being cooked over charcoal.

Young, tender chicken . . . whole, split, or parts . . . takes to this method of cooking so readily. As good as it is, grilled chicken is made more tempting when basted during cooking with a well-seasoned sauce.

While many outdoor chefs treasure their barbecue recipes and keep them a secret, you'll be pleased and proud to share your recipe for Curry Barbecue Sauce for chicken. It's secret is canned condensed cream of chicken soup. And oh! how it glorifies the grilled chicken. You'll feature it at many of your outdoor . . . and indoor . . . summer suppers.

Complete your barbecue with a big tossed green salad and for dessert . . . fill ice-surrounded pineapple shells with chunks of pineapple and strawberries.

Curry Barbecue Sauce

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
1 tablespoon salad oil
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon curry powder
1 small clove garlic, minced

Combine all ingredients. Heat; simmer about 10 minutes; stir now and then. Makes about 1 cup sauce.

Chicken (Outdoors): Prepare sauce. Place 2 pounds chicken parts on grill about 6 inches above glowing coals. Cook 40 to 60 minutes, basting with sauce and turning every 5 minutes. Add a little water to sauce, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Chicken (Broiler): Prepare sauce. Place 2 pounds chicken parts on broiler rack; brush with sauce. Broil, about 6 inches from heat, 40 minutes or until done, brushing with sauce and turning every 5 mintes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Dilled Peach Halves

Trout, or any fish plate, takes on a special air when dilled. broiled fresh peach halves are served. Brush peeled fresh halves lightly with melted butter. Broil 10 minutes. Sprinkle with dried dill. Serve piping hot.

Gullible Shoppers Fall for Hoax

TRUMANSBURG, N. Y. — Recently customers at a Trumansburg supermarket found a startling new product on the shelves. Selling for eighty-five cents were thirty-five quart bottles labelled: "Instand Water — just add hot coffee." Most people thought the deal was all wet, but one out of every fifty bought a quart. One woman even called later to ask what kind of coffee grocer James Crimmins recommended using with it.

Not surprisingly, the instant water was all a big hoax. Mr. Crimmins just wanted to prove that some people "would buy anything if it was presented to them right." However, he also proved that you can't fool all the people all the time. Thirty unsold bottles of instant water went down the drain. (And the five gullible purchasers got their money back!)

Creamy Egg Scramble

Happy is the groom whose wife makes Super Scrambled Eggs: Add ⅓ cup evaporated milk, ½ teaspoon salt and dash of pepper to 3 eggs; beat until light and fluffy. Melt sufficient butter in skillet to cover bottom. Pour in egg mixture, cover and cook over low heat 3 minutes; stir lightly, add 1½ ounces cream cheese, cubed. Cover and cook 3 minutes longer.

McCloy, Nikita Confer in Russia

Diplomats Hope That Invitation by Premier Means Thaw on Arms

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev met on the balmy shores of the Black Sea today with John J. McCloy, President Kennedy's top disarmament expert.

There was no concrete indication that a breakthrough in the deadlocked Soviet-American disarmament talks was imminent, but diplomats saw hopeful signs in the fact that Khrushchev invited McCloy to visit him.

McCloy flew Tuesday night to Piteunde, Khrushchev's sun-drenched vacation resort.

Ostensibly, it would be treated as repayment of Kennedy's courtesy in receiving Soviet disarmament negotiator Valerian A. Zorin last month.

But Western diplomats expected that Khrushchev's talks with McCloy would not be a mere exchange of pleasantries.

They foresaw, instead, serious conversations which might prove a turning point in the disarmament picture. They also considered it likely that Khrushchev would cover Berlin and other world problems.

McCloy thus would be able to give Kennedy the fullest direct expression of Khrushchev's thinking since the President and premier met at the summit in Vienna June 3-4.

This may be the West's first hint of Khrushchev's reaction to the three Western notes on Berlin. The Kremlin has not replied to them yet.

BRANCH LIBRARY OPENS—With a feminine touch added to a display of travel books, the new East Side Branch Library was opened yesterday by Mrs. Barbara Morton (above), branch librarian. Moved from East Pike and Sanford streets to rented quarters in a shopping area at 656 Auburn Avenue, the branch hours continue to be 1-6 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays. The city wanted the branch further out on the east side of town now that the main library has moved east of downtown to the Civic Center.

Two Killed in Crash in Romulus Township

DETROIT (UPI)—A Wyandotte woman and a Romulus Township man were killed and two persons were injured critically Tuesday in a two-car collision in Romulus Township.

Dead are Mrs. Dorothy M. Lago, 48, and Innocence C. Schmitz, 39.

Police said Schmitz was riding in a car driven by Burger Moffitt of Flat Rock when it apparently ran a stop sign and struck a car driven by Mrs. Lago's husband, Elmer, 40.

Both Moffitt and Lago were reported in critical condition at a Detroit hospital.

CD Ordinance Passed

MONROE (UPI) — The City Commission has passed an ordinance saying anyone who doesn't take shelter during a civil defense emergency or drill can be fined up to $100 and imprisoned for up to 90 days.

Eden in House of Lords

LONDON (UPI) — The Earl of Avon—formerly Sir Anthony Eden—took his seat in the House of Lords Tuesday for the first time since his elevation to the peerage was announced July 5. The earl was prime minister from April 1955, to January 1957.

Trainmen Lose an Old Friend—She's Dead at 90

GRAND HAVEN (UPI)—Mrs. John Mulder, 90, who waved every day for 65 years as the Chesapeake & Ohio Muskegon-Chicago passenger train passed her house, died Tuesday.

Mrs. Mulder, a widow, was surprised on her birthday March 17 when the morning train stopped beside her house.

The train crew lined up in front of the house, gave her flowers and a kiss.

She was stricken in the afternoon and died two hours later of a heart attack, doctors at Municipal Hospital said.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. James Van Wessem, widow of a former Grand Haven mayor.

Family Is Rescued After Yawl Explodes

DETOUR (UPI)—An Indiana family was rescued unharmed from a life raft minutes after its chartered yawl exploded and burned in northern Lake Huron Tuesday.

E. F. Wolter, 46, his wife Mary and son William of Fort Wayne were picked up by the cruiser "Aris," owned by Dr. Darwin Jurss of Milwaukee, while the ore freighter Homer D. Williams stood by.

Wolter said he was approaching Harbor Island off Detour and started the auxiliary engine to take the 40-foot sailboat into port. He said gasoline fumes in the bilges must have been set off by a spark.

Wolter said he had no chance to fight the fire on the vessel, chartered in Cheboygan Friday. He and his family escaped on a cork raft.

Youth Injured Fatally as Pickup Truck Upsets

HOWELL (UPI) — Aaron Erwin, 15, of Cohoctah was injured fatally Tuesday night when a pickup truck rolled over in Cohoctah Township.

The Livingston County sheriff's office said the youth was riding in the back of the pickup when it overturned. He died in a Howell hospital.

Senate Committee Okays Space Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Appropriations Committee voted Tuesday to give President Kennedy all of the extra $549 million he asked to speed the space program and put a man on the moon within a decade.

The space funds were part of a $9,150,506,000 money bill approved by the committee to finance a number of independent federal agencies for the current fiscal year.

The extra space funds brought the budget for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to a record $1,749,000,000.

Space chief James Webb has said a U.S. astronaut has a good chance of beating Russia to the moon under the accelerated program.

2 Inmates, 2 Guards Hurt in Institution Riot

CHESHIRE, Conn. (AP)—Nearly 200 inmates at the Cheshire State Reformatory rioted for four hours Tuesday night.

Officials said the screaming, window-smashing rampage probably was set off by the heat and food.

Two inmates and two guards were slightly injured before the ruckus was quelled by 150 state policemen.

Oil Production Down 6 Million Barrels in '60

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Crude oil production declined 6 million barrels in 1960 to about 2.6 billion barrels.

Natural gas liquids rose some 17 million barrels to 2.9 billion barrels.

Union Begins to Spell Out Specifics in New Contract Negotiations

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Union today begins spelling out its new contract demands to American Motors Corp.

As it did with the auto industry's big three, the UAW was expected to ask AMC to put its 25,000 factory workers on salaries, find ways of reducing working time without loss of pay, and "modernize" the present wage formula.

AMC-UAW talks have been in recess on the national level since July 7 while the two sides started negotiating local plant agreements. The present AMC-UAW contract expires Sept. 6, a week after the big three pacts.

Negotiations at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, which began last month, continued today with discussions of contract matters outside the bread and butter issue of wages.

Chrysler and the UAW Tuesday clashed over the firm's treatment of hourly-rated production workers.

Chrysler Vice President John Leary said employes are getting "excellent wages." The 1958-60 payroll totaled almost $2 billion, he said and added that Chrysler factory workers now draw $2.75 an hour, 45 cents above employes in other industries.

But the UAW said the company "grossly exaggerated the income of Chrysler workers in order to strengthen its bargaining position. This sort of thing doesn't help solve the problems of our members."

Plan to Integrate Katanga Forces With Congo Fails

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—The Congolese press agency reported today that the plan to integrate the troops of Katanga Province with the central government's army has collapsed.

The agency said the Katanga Provincial Parliament renounced an agreement to merge the forces. Katanga President Moise Tshombe had made the agreement with central government Gen. Joseph Mobutu.

As a result, the agency said, the small group of officers which Mobutu had sent to Elizabethville to begin the integration had been withdrawn.

This was the latest in a series of steps in which Katanga has drawn further away from the Leopoldville regime since Tshombe was released from prison and returned to Elizabethville.

Freighter Runs Aground

Wife Testifies Today in Killing of Husband

MUSKEGON (UPI)—Mrs. Josephine Markucki, 53, was called to testify today in the preliminary examination of two men in the July 5 slaying of her husband Michael, 67.

Arthur C. Hartman, 29, and Gaylor L. Stanton, 35, are charged with murder in the death of Markucki, a retired Muskegon watchmaker.

The examination began July 10 but had been adjourned while Mrs. Markucki was hospitalized with injuries suffered during a beating inflicted during the robbery attempt at her home.

Mrs. Markucki has identified Hartman as the man who beat her and shot her husband after they refused to tell where they kept their money.

Jackie to Mark 32nd Birthday at Hyannis Port

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jacqueline Kennedy will observe her 32nd birthday on Friday but the White House has no information on any special plans to celebrate the occasion.

The president is expected to be in Hyannis Port, Mass., to spend the weekend with his family, which is summering there.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters Tuesday he didn't know of any special birthday plans—and didn't intend to inquire about any.

Apache Indians May Get Fortune From Iron Ore

CIBECUE, Ariz. (UPI) — The Apache Indians, once the scourge of gold and silver prospectors, stand to reap a potential fortune in a new mineral rush — iron ore.

Ore prospectors currently are concentrating their attention on the White Mountain Apache Indian Reservation where the Bureau of Mines estimates the existence of 10 million tons of ore.

The Apaches, says the American Iron and Steel Institute, were paid $42,100 for prospecting rights and, if the strike pans out, they will receive a dollar an acre per year rental plus 15 to 20 cents a ton for ore shipped.

Feasibility of extracting the ore depends upon its quantity and quality to defray expenses in getting it out of the wilderness and into the blast furnaces.

Couple, 4 Children Die

LA CHATRE, France (AP) — A French couple and their four children were burned to death Tuesday when their car crashed into a roadside memorial to 19th century novelist George Sand.

On the memorial are the words "Here starts the Black Valley."

Tin Can's Indispensable to Today's Life

Ever go fishing with live bait wriggling in what used to be a tomato can? Did you spend idle minutes smoothing the wrinkles out of tinfoil so it would fit into a tin box that had once held cigarettes? Did you ever hold a telephone conversation with a pal using two empty tin cans attached by a length of string? Ever cut out biscuits with the top of a baking powder can? Or save hair pins in an old pastilles can or love letters in a sentimentally decorated tin box that originally held candy?

You didn't? What were you doing all those years when everybody else was inventing endless ways to reuse tin cans?

Probably the first time somebody improvised a second use for a tin can was when a prospector out in California used one to send samples of his gold back to Boston in 1849. At that time, the can had been part of our culture for only a short time.

Our "tin can civilization," as one author described it, began in 1825 when a food packer named Thomas Kensett was granted a patent for preserving foods in "vessels of tin." Food packers were the first to make commercial use of the rigid, unbreakable container which the English referred to as a "canister" and we shortened to "can." But it didn't take long for other industries to adopt the can to their uses, for it was a perfect packaging device.

There are now more than 2,500 different items packaged in cans. According to the Can Manufacturers Institute, our rate of consumption of canned products is something like 115 million units per day per year. Obviously, we can't and don't wish to reuse that many cans. But you'd be surprised how many of them get cleaned out and kept in further service around the house, farm, workshop or school long after their original contents have been used.

Many a coffee tin gets washed, painted and used as a pot for flowers. An empty talcum powder can remains one of the most successful toys ever devised for babies. And creative housewives still bake puddings and bread in empty tin cans. Many a workshop hobbyist stores materials for future projects in cans. And the dearest sight to a cat (other than a mouse) is still an old salmon can.

Around the world the can offers continuing service to man. Very often its manufacture is a part of his own local economy. More than 46 countries produce these containers and have their own canning industries in various stages of development. For some areas where the standard of living is set at basic levels, the empty can plays a more direct role in his life.

AUCTION HELD

In one remote district of Pakistan, empty cans were put up for auction to raise money to drill a well. Without the water from this well children in the area could not use powdered milk. The empty cans had originally held food sent there by CARE, one of the many organizations recognizing the value of canned products in aiding the needy throughout the world.

Cans are frequently used as a monetary medium of exchange. A family from the United States cruising around some of the remote islands in the Carribean recently found that natives would gladly supply them with a fresh chicken in exchange for four empty soup cans. Citrus fruits and meat could also be obtained by giving away a few empty cans. The islanders took them and beat, hammered and cut them into lamps, furniture and even dinner service sets.

People in other lands such as Korea, Bangkok and Leopoldville make cooking utensils, chimneys, roof patches, toys, tools, wheels and a variety of other necessities and a variety of other necessities from cans. GIs in enemy prison camps have made tools, kitchen implements, clocks, musical instruments, and even pipelines for fresh air in escape tunnels from their own inventiveness and some empty cans.

The tin can is disposable. That's one of its virtues. But often man finds tie is loathe to part with such a sturdy, faithful friend.

Nectarines, Peaches Take Your Choice

Did you know that peaches can grow on nectarine trees, and vice versa?

The trees, leaves and seeds of peaches and nectarines are look-alikes and have — for thousands of years — been a puzzlement to the botanist. One year a peach tree may produce nectarines or a fruit that is halfway between the two. Then later, it may change back to peaches. The nectarine is essentially a fuzzless peach, a bit smaller and firmer, with its own rich and distinct flavor. You can interchange peaches and nectarines, in any recipe.

Most peaches which come to market have lost their little downy jackets in the de-fuzzing machines of modern packing sheds. Swift rotating brushes whisk off the fuzz which is then vacuumed away. That's why you hardly have to peel a peach before that first juicy mouthful.

Well, It's Different!

Deutsch Cheeseburger makes a dandy summer meal-in-a-minute. Butter 1 thick slice pumpernickel; fork on a generous portion of canned sauerkraut; top with a slice of salami, Swiss cheese, salami, and Cheddar cheese. Heat under broiler to slightly melt the cheese. Garnish with a slice of apple and green pepper skewered on a pick to make a relish kabob. Serve with well chilled milk.

Ham on the Rotisserie Gets Fruit Basting

Boned, rolled hams, compact and cylindrical in shape, are just right for preparation with a rotisserie. They run from 9 to 12 pounds in weight and this solid meat provides ample servings for 25, if served all at once.

This type of ham is "fully cooked", that term which means they are safe to eat as they come, but are much better in flavor and texture if given further cooking.

The flavor of ham prepared in a rotisserie — either the portable or the rotisserie attachment which is provided with many modern ranges, is delicious and different. And it can be further enhanced by the use of a zesty sauce brushed on frequently during the cooking.

To eliminate clean-up problems with all types of rotisseries, a lining of aluminum foil underneath and up around the sides of the interior, will catch spatters. And this foil may be used to hold cooked vegetables and fruit garnishes for heating and browning during the latter part of the cooking time.

ROTISSERIE COOKED HAM

Remove the wrap from a boned and rolled ham and run the spit through the center. Secure the ham in position with the prongs at either end, fastening it in position firmly. Place a sheet of heavy duty aluminum foil in the drip tray of the rotisserie or oven letting it extend up to cover the back. Place additional sheets of foil on the sides. Turn up the edges of the foil at the bottom to hold dripping juices.

Consult the recipe booklet provided with the table top rotisserie oven; if you use a range rotisserie, your range booklet. Set the temperature control as directed for use of the rotisserie. Place the spit with the meat in position, turn on the heat and start the spit revolving.

A whole boned rolled ham will take approximately 2½ hours; a half ham, 1½ hours. A meat thermometer inserted in the ham should read 150 degrees when done.

Arrange cooked sweet potatoes and canned fruit such as pineapple slices and apricots under the ham 30 minutes before the cooking is finished. Brush the ham about every 20 minutes with the following sauce and also the fruit and potatoes.

Ham Basting Sauce

¾ cup apricot or pineapple juice
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon mixed dried herbs

Combine all ingredients and heat just enough to melt the brown sugar.

Spanish Peanuts Used to Make Nut Clusters

Chocolate Peanut Clusters are wholesome and delicious. They're so simple to make that even a beginner cook can turn them out quickly. The small peanuts, known as the Spanish variety, are ideal for this candy treat; but if you have nuts left over from last night's party, they too can be put to good use.

Here's the how-to: Melt 8 squares or ½ pound chocolate in top of double broiler; add 1½ cups salted (brush off some of the salt) red skin Spanish peanuts, stirring until peanuts are well coated. Drop by teaspoons onto waxed paper and put in refrigerator until firm. Makes 2½ dozen clusters. The tops may be decorated with chocolate-shot or decorating sugar.

Chicken and Egg Salad Is Good Summer Entree

From the Georgia Poultry Times, a weekly newspaper for the poultry industry, we clipped the following recipe. The introductory paragraph is self-explanatory.

We thought Pontiac area readers would like this interesting chicken and egg salad.

"Mrs. Jesse A. Jackson, last year's Poultry Products Cooking Contest winner, has made several appearances over the state in behalf of the industry. A highly personable ambassador of Georgia produced poultry, she is a graduate of North Georgia College at Dahlonega. Gardening, canning and sewing for her three children consume much of her time, however she does manage to sneak in a bit of bridge and reading. Her recipe of 'Chicken Salad and Moulded Egg Ring' has caught on with many homemakers throughout the state. Here is the 1960 winner:

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
½ cup boiling water
1½ cups mayonnaise
4 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon white pepper
4 drops tabasco
1 teaspoon grated onion
½ green pepper (chopped)
½ cup chopped parsley
12 hard cooked eggs
Your favorite chicken salad recipe

"Soften gelatin in cold water, dissolve in boiling water, cool. Add mayonnaise, lemon juice, salt, pepper, tabasco, onion, green pepper, parsley and 10 hardcooked eggs chopped. Cover bottom of mold with 1 inch layer of mixture, slice 2 eggs, arrange around side of mold and chill until firm. Add remaining mixture and chill until firm.

"Unmold—fill center with chicken salad. Garnish with whole almonds and tomato wedges.

Chicken Salad

2 cups diced cooked chicken (breast of a baking hen)
½ cup diced celery
¼ cup dill pickle
¼ cup sweet pickle
1 small apple, peeled and diced
⅓ cup salad dressing

"Combine all ingredients in bowl, toss lightly with forks. Put into center of egg mold."

Lending Bill Controversial

Says Plan Provides Safeguard for Making Installment Purchases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conflicting testimony was heard Tuesday by a Senate banking subcommittee which is considering a proposal designed to require disclosure of finance charges and true annual interest on consumer purchases.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., a witness, said the proposal would provide a long-overdue safeguard for persons making purchases on the installment plan.

Hart said:

"What legitimate objection can possibly be made to telling the buyer in plain language and understandable figures exactly what he is paying for credit?

". . . the consumer has a right to the clear, easy-to-understand information essential to a rational choice in the market place. And the businessman seeking his patronage has a corresponding obligation to provide it. There should be no reward for obfuscation."

Duncan Holthausen of Union City, N.J., and Dr. Theodore N. Beckman of Ohio State University opposed the proposal on behalf of the National Retail Merchants Association.

The bill, introduced by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., would require the lender to spell out the cost of financing and the simple annual rate of interest on the unpaid balance.

Bronx Burglar Bungles Hot House Heist

NEW YORK (AP)—The 90-degree heat and the humidity were too much for a Bronx burglar Tuesday night.

The burglar first paused for a few cooling drinks as he was ransacking an apartment, police said.

The heat was still stifling, so he took off his clothes.

He assembled his loot and started to leave. But the heat, or drinks had made him so drowsy he lay down to rest a bit.

A neighbor got wise that an intruder was in the apartment. A policeman was summoned, and he found the burglar still resting.

The burglar had gotten his own clothes mixed up with the bundle of loot. So, to save time, the cop threw a woman's housecoat over his nude prisoner and took him to a station house. The man, identified as Frank Russo, 37, an elevator operator, was charged with burglary.

The tomb of Mausolus, king of Caria in Asia Minor, was built about 325 B.C. The tomb was later broken by an earthquake. The word "mausoleum" derives from the ancient king's name.

U.S. Communications Breakdown Blamed

How Did Castro Take Over Cuba?

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Today is Fidel Castro's own peculiar Cuban Fourth of July and a reminder that the citizens of the United States still are awaiting an answer to an important question. The Question:

"How did that fellow Castro grab Cuba in the first place?"

The answer is important. It is important because the question suggests a chilling possibility of more trouble to come.

Part of the answer to this question is pretty well authenticated by now although not officially confirmed.

The available information seems to prove that this fellow Castro grabbed Cuba in the first place because of a breakdown in communications right here in Washington.

To pin point: the breakdown seems to have been in the Department of State.

This was during the Eisenhower administration. The Federal Bureau of Investigation and, perhaps, the Central Intelligence Agency knew Castro's record.

Intelligence reports on his Communist associations and sympathies were prepared for the president and the secretary of state long before the Beard seized Havana.

NO ROBIN HOOD

Castro was no Cuban Robin Hood, fighting from his mountain strong point to liberate the Cuban common man. On the contrary.

Fidel Castro was one of communism's secret weapons. Much could be said against Fulgencio Batista whom Castro deposed.

But it could be said for Batista that he was not the deadly enemy of the United States nor was he in cahoots with Nikita Khrushchev.

That should have been enough to prevent the United States from any hasty policy action which would help boost friend Batista out of Cuba and help to boost enemy Castro into power.

It would have been enough, no doubt, if the president of the United States and the secretary of state had been well informed.

That is just about the least that Americans might expect from a president and a secretary of state, to be well informed.

NOT WELL INFORMED

Neither was well informed, however, because the intelligence reports on Castro apparently never reached them.

Somewhere between the FBI where the report on Castro's record was written and the offices of the president and the secretary there was a breakdown in communications.

The responsible executives did not know of the Castro reports.

The chilling possibility of more trouble to come is obvious.

If it could happen that way once, why not twice? And, especially, why not twice if neither the Eisenhower nor the succeeding Kennedy administration has shown any public interest in the first breakdown.

Donates Auburn Road Site for Rochester's Hospital

A tract of land on the north side of Auburn Road, west of John R, has been donated as the site for the Rochester Unit of Crittenton General Hospital, Ormond S. Wessels, president of the hospital's board of trustees, announced today.

The gift was presented by Howard L. McGregor Jr., president of National Twist Drill and Tool Co. and vice president of the Crittenton General Hospital board.

"We are most grateful," said Wessels, "for being the recipient of this generous gift."

"This is a definite move that will insure the erection of the new 200-bed Rochester Unit that will serve the present hospital bed deficit area in Western Macomb and Eastern Oakland counties," asserted the hospital board president.

He added that the proposed hospital unit was planned in consultation with the Greater Detroit Hospital Council and has its full approval as part of the master plan.

OUTSIDE FUND AREA

Wessels also pointed out that the facility will be outside the area covered by the Metropolitan Building Fund.

A sign designating the site of the proposed Rochester Unit will be erected in the near future, according to D. E. Sibery, Crittenton General Hospital administrator.

Although the exact size of the parcel has not yet been announced, hospital officials say that it will be "plenty big enough for our needs."

They also report being enthusiastic about the natural beauty of the tract, which they say would "take years to acquire at a substantial cost." There is a stand of stately trees in front of the proposed hospital location.

"The site," Sibery said, "has been approved by the Michigan State Department of Health and we expect to move with dispatch on our architectural plans in conjunction with Smith, Hinchman and Grylls Associates of Detroit, who have been retained as our architects."

Another major step forward toward construction is the American City Bureau's establishment of its hospital campaign headquarters at 134 University Drive, where preliminary work is under way.

It is estimated that it will take six to eight months to complete the fund drive, a year to develop the architect's plans and a year to build and equip the facility.

INTENSIVE STUDY

The decision to build a branch hospital in the Rochester - Utica area was made by the Crittenton Hospital Board after an intensive study was made by Geer Associates, Bloomfield Hills.

Also instrumental in locating a hospital near Rochester was a group of Rochester area business and professional people who began working on the project more than three years ago.

The tie-in of the Rochester group, known as Bertha Van Hoosen Inc., with the Detroit hospital followed a series of meetings last year.

According to the original plans, the Rochester Unit will be expandable to 450 beds by 1970 and serve the municipalities of Rochester, Utica and Troy plus Oakland, Avon, Shelby and Sterling townships.

In announcing his gift, McGregor said, "When the Crittenton General Hospital Board of Trustees, of which I am a member, decided to build a branch hospital to serve the hospital bed deficit near here, I felt no better choice could have been made than to locate in the Rochester-Utica area."

McGregor stressed the need that exists in Western Macomb and Western Oakland counties for adequate hospital facilities in keeping with the advances made in surgical techniques and medical procedures.

According to the Geer Report, the site is close to "fast-growing Shelby and Sterling townships, and with Avon Township, which has had a 50-99 per cent increase in household growth from 1950 to 1959."

McGregor said:

"Because of the need for adequate hospital facilities, which will become critical within a few years, and because of my deep personal interest in our community, I am happy to present this site."

He said it is his conviction that this effort will receive the wholehearted support of the citizens of the area which the hospital is planned to serve.

Grand Jury Indicts 12 in Bookmaking Ring

DETROIT (AP) — Indictments against 12 persons arrested in a crackdown on a Detroit-area bookmaking ring June 29 were returned yesterday by a federal grand jury.

Walter M. White of 908 N. Wilson St., Royal Oak, alleged leader of the horse race betting operation, was indicted on three counts.

U.S. Attorney Lawrence Gubow said the ring was taking in an estimated $600,000 a year. He said Internal Revenue Service agents watched the operation for more than two months.

Those indicted included White's wife Irma.

Blaze Destroys Farm House

Fire Strikes at Home in Addison as Family Is Away on Vacation

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a two-story farm house between Lakeville and Leonard early today while the family that lived there was away on vacation.

The eight-room frame home at 2345 Texter Road was engulfed in flames when the Addison Township Fire Department reached the scene shortly after 6 a.m.

Only a portion of the south wall was left standing when firemen arrived, according to Asst. Fire Chief Robert McCallum.

The fire department was unable to save the home but managed to keep flames from igniting a 275-gallon gas tank and a fuel tank of the same size which were about 50 feet behind the burning building.

TANKS WARM

McCallum said the tanks were warm from the heat of the blaze and they were wetted down as a precautionary measure.

There were no other nearby buildings. A large barn which had been located on the property was burned to the ground in an electrical storm a few years ago, McCallum reported.

The owner of the home, Marvin Lee, his wife and four children have been vacationing in Virginia since Saturday, according to witnesses.

A farmer who lives about one-half mile from the Lee home, Herman Wiegold Jr. of 650 Frick Road, was the first to notice the blaze.

The burned farm house is located about three-quarters of a mile east of Rochester Road between Mack and Frick Roads.

AWAKENED BY DOGS

Wigold said he was awakened by dogs barking about 5:45 a.m. He stepped out on his porch, noticed smoke coming from the direction of Texter Road and drove over to the Lee home.

Weigold said flames already had burned through the roof, but he hurried to a neighboring home and called firemen.

Fire Chief Edward Porter said a complete report on the fire was not available this morning, but he estimated damage to be at least $6,500.

Weigold said the home was old but recently had been remodeled. The township fire department was to investigate the blaze more thoroughly later today.

Dentist Resigns Romeo School Board Position

ROMEO — Dr. Ralph G. Renwick, 40, who has served three terms as president and four as treasurer of the Romeo Board of Education has resigned from board membership effective Aug. 18.

He and his family are moving to Reese, near Bay City, where the doctor plans to set up dental practice before school opens in September.

Dr. Renwick has served two 3-year terms on the board and is in the second year of a third 3-year term now.

Only last month did he decline to run for office on the board, making it the first time he has not been an officer since he was first elected eight years ago.

No successor has yet been named to serve in Dr. Renwick's place until the next regular school election in June 1962. A member will be elected to fill out the final year of his unexpired term at that time.

Sterling Approves Planning Unit

Library Levy OK'd, One Nixed

Opposite stands on the needs of two township libraries were taken yesterday by voters in Farmington and West Bloomfield.

In other area balloting on local propositions Sterling Township voters approved the establishment of a planning commission.

A request for additional millage to operate the Farmington District Library was overwhelmingly accepted, while a similar proposal in West Bloomfield Township was decisively rejected.

Farmington voters approved a request for a half-mill, 1,307 to 439, and voters in West Bloomfield turned down a proposal for one mill, 1,005 to 662.

The 50-cent library tax will be levied in Farmington for four years.

CURRENT ASSESSMENT

Currently, Farmington taxpayers are assessed 30 cents for each $1,000 of assessed valuation to provide funds to operate the 2½-year-old library. Funds from the special tax expire this year, however.

Had the West Bloomfield proposal for funds been approved, the library could have become an independent operation, relieving the township from supporting it with allocations from the county.

The one mill would have provided approximately $50,000 annually for the operation of the library, nearly the same amount requested this year from the township by the library board.

The proposal was submitted to voters, however, when it was learned that the township could not meet the request of the library board.

Supervisor John C. Rehard said that the library will receive funds from the township to continue operations but on a proportionate basis with other departments.

The township's financial problems result from meeting its required payments on the Farmington Interceptor Sewer.

Optimistic plans for building construction that would have provided funds for sewer payments through tap-in fees have never fully materialized in the township.

The request to establish a planning commission in Sterling Township was approved by better than a 2-to-1 margin, 376 yes to 165 no.

Passage of the local issue, which had the unanimous support of the Sterling Township Board, will allow a commission of five to nine members to be set up in order to supervise development of a master plan for the township.

Sterling Township now joins several area communities, including neighboring Shelby Township, which have planning commissions.

NEWS OF THE AREA

School Expansion Vote Set for Oct. 16 in Romeo

ROMEO — The Romeo Board of Education last night set Oct. 16 as the date for a vote on a $650,000 bond issue to cover the cost of adding 20 rooms in the district.

The expansion program would include major additions to the junior and senior high schools and the South and Washington grade schools. Remodeling projects also are planned for the North Grade School.

This is the second time in less than a year that the Romeo Community School District electorate has been asked to approve a bond issue for more facilities. A $700,000 issue was defeated Feb. 3.

According to present plans, an arts and crafts room, drafting room, guidance counseling office, audio-visual room and three classrooms will be added to the high school.

ESTIMATE COST

The cost is estimated at $151,200.

Six classrooms plus a large science room, boiler room and lavatory will be added to the junior high school at a cost of $170,300.

Recently revised was the building program to be undertaken at the Washington Elementary School.

The previous election had called for acquisition of a site and construction of a new elementary school between Romeo and Washington.

Now, in order to get voter approval of the much-needed expansion program, the idea of a new school has been abandoned and the construction and remodeling projects at the Washington School augmented to provide for anticipated higher enrollment in that area.

A multipurpose room and five classrooms would be built on the west end of the school. So would a boiler room and kitchen. Also the disposal system would be improved if the bond issue passes.

Alterations planned for that school involve the remodeling of the present corridor so that facilities can be provided for a library, speech room, health clinic and an audio-visual storage room.

This is the top project to be covered by the bond issue and would cost an estimated $194,300.

Two more classrooms would be constructed on the west end of the South Grade School which also is slated to have the special education room to be moved out of the North Grade School to provide space for the remodeling projects there.

The addition at the South School would cost about $35,400.

Special education rooms would be added at the junior and senior high schools and at the Washington Elementary School. They cost $14,400 each and are paid for by the county.

The space left vacant by moving out the special education room at the North Grade School would be remodeled for use as the principal's office and storage rooms.

Then the principal's present office would be converted into a faculty room. Cost of this project is $11,700.

Any money left after the building program would be used to acquire land for site purposes.

The expansion program is due for completion by the opening of school in September, 1963. Eberle M. Smith Associates, Inc., Detroit, are the architects.

The board plans to meet Aug. 17 to make the formal resolutions for the bond issue and to decide what millage will be asked to support the program.

Rochester Studies Legality

May Tax Nonvillage Land

ROCHESTER — Officials here are studying the legality of assessing taxes on property outside the village limits which is served by Rochester's sewer and water facilities.

If the Village Council adopts the policy, outside users of these facilities would pay taxes to Rochester and Avon Township in addition to higher fees for sewer and water services.

Village Manager Paul York recommended that the procedure be studied following a request for the facilities by developers of a proposed bowling alley in Avon Township.

York said the method, a new development in setting rates for outside users of municipal services, is now being practiced in Ann Arbor and Jackson.

The village manager explained that the higher rates charged for extending services to areas outside municipal limits creates a more favorable attitude toward annexation by owners of the property.

The proposed 32-lane bowling alley on Tienken Road near the North Hill Shopping Plaza will be developed by Jay and Ted Koprince, operators of the Motor Inn Recreation at 18 S. Perry St., Pontiac.

The council has approved levying the regular village tax rate on the property plus a fee 50 per cent higher than that charged for sewer and water service inside Rochester.

However, the council directed York and Village Attorney Arthur Cox to study ordinances which may conflict with this procedure before contacts are signed with the bowling alley developers.

EXCEPTION TO POLICY

The council previously had adopted a policy of refusing all outside requests for sewer and water tap-ins because of the increased demand on the systems in recent years.

Councilmen made it clear that they are not yet ready to rescind their earlier policy by stating in their approval that the outside contract is for the bowling alley only.

In other action, contracts totaling $14,692 have been approved for asphalt paving and for installation of curbs and sidewalks in the village.

The 1961 asphalt paving contract went to the Peake Asphalt Paving Co. of Utica, the same company that is resurfacing Rochester Road (M150) from the Clinton River Bridge in Avon Township to the northern village limits.

The sidewalk construction bid was awarded to the Tomasine Construction Co. of Utica for $4,280. The firms were low bidders on the projects.

2 Persons Hurt in Area Crash

Cars Collide South of Lapeer; Nurse, Man Hospitalized

LAPEER—Two persons, one of them a nurse from Lake Orion, were injured today in a head-on collision between two cars on M24 about 5 miles south of here.

In fair condition today at Lapeer County General Hospital was Clifford Deierlein about 40, of 3853 Bronson Lake Road, Oregon Township.

Mrs. Fred F. (June I) Hannan, 44, of 495 Crescent St., Lake Orion, was reported in satisfactory condition at the hospital, where she is employed as a registered nurse.

Mrs. Hannan told Lapeer County Sheriff's officers that she was on her way to work and attempted to pass a northbound truck on M24 just before the accident happened.

Mrs. Hannan, who also was driving north, said the truck driver signaled for her to pass. She pulled into the southbound lane, saw a car approaching in the opposite direction and swerved off the road.

However, both Mrs. Hannan's car and the one being driven south by Deierlein pulled onto the shoulder of the west side of the road where they crashed.

Police said the weather was foggy when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Hannan said the lights on Deierlein's car were not turned on. The Lapeer County Sheriff's Department is investigating the mishap.

2nd-Highest Peace Deficit Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's proposed military build-up is almost certain to produce the second largest peacetime budget deficit in the nation's history.

The President's economic advisers have told him the deficit will not, of itself, generate a new wave of inflation. But they have also warned him that a flurry of scare buying — hoarding by consumers and businessmen — could ignite the fires of inflation.

In his address to the nation last night on the Berlin crisis Kennedy said the deficit for the current year would be over $5 billion. Presidential advisers said that $6 billion would be a reasonable working estimate.

They added, however, that an exceptionally strong business boom could provide enough tax revenue to hold red ink spending for fiscal 1962 under $5 billion.

Congressional tax experts have indicated that, with the additional defense spending, the deficit could exceed $7 billion. Prior to last night's speech the official forecast was for a deficit of $3.7 billion.

On the basis of advice that the extra military spending would not in itself be inflationary, the President decided against asking Congress to raise taxes now.

He pledged, however, that he would request a tax boost if one is necessary to balance the budget in fiscal 1963, which will begin next July 1. The 1963 budget, when it goes to Congress in January, "will be strictly in balance," Kennedy promised.

Budget Director David E. Bell, the three-man Council of Economic Advisers and Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon were reported to have agreed that the existence of idle men and factories would make it possible for the economy to absorb extra military spending without inflation.

ARGUED FOR TAX HIKE

Dillon, however, was understood to have argued initially for a tax increase on grounds of fiscal responsibility. The administration already has come under fire for planning a budget deficit to coincide with a period of business expansion.

Kennedy urged Congress to hold the deficit down by acting on his earlier requests to close tax loopholes and end "the luxury of our current post office deficit." Higher postal rates sought by the administration since early this year would bring in $741 million a year and make the post office self-financing.

The President reminded the nation that the 1962 deficit would be "far smaller" than the record peacetime $12.4 billion red-ink gap in 1959, the result of the 1958 recession.

Several peacetime budgets have wound up more than $4 billion in the red but none as much as $5 billion. Officials also questioned whether, in view of the Berlin emergency, the present spending program could be labeled a "peacetime" budget.

Armed Forces Increases May Be Only Beginning

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's call to the colors for thousands of Americans may be only the first step toward mobilization to meet the worldwide Communist threat.

Kennedy indicated as much in moving to boost the nation's armed forces by 217,000 men, to mass heavier conventional firepower, and to array more ships and planes to ferry U.S. fighting men to any area.

"In the days and months ahead," he told the nation Tuesday night, "I shall not hesitate to ask for additional measures from the Congress, or exercise any of the executive powers I possess to meet this threat to the peace.

"Everything essential to the security of freedom will be done; and if that should require more men, taxes, controls or other new powers, I shall not hesitate to request them."

MORE TO BE DRAFTED

Kennedy called for a boost of 217,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen by doubling or tripling draft calls which recently have been running at 6,000 to 8,000 a month, and by mustering some reserve and National Guard units.

Counting earlier requests for 25,000 more men, this would swell the total of U.S. men-at-arms to 2,735,000.

If he feels the need, Kennedy could draw heavily on 400,000 National Guardsmen and 1,700,000 Army ready reservists as well as thousands more Marine, Air Force, and Navy reserves.

More than two weeks ago, Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared he was canceling announced plans to slash the Soviet armed forces which now stand at about 3.6 million men. He said he was increasing arms outlays this year by about $3 billion.

To maintain strategic U.S. bombing strength, the President announced he was setting aside, at least for now, plans to retire the aging six-jet B47s. There are about 1,000 of these 600-plus-mile-an-hour bombers in this country's long-range striking force.

BIGGEST SINCE WW II

To do all this, Kennedy sought a $3,247,000,000 boost in this year's defense budget. Counting previous requests, this would bring to $6 billion the additions he has asked for preparedness since taking office. It would bring the military budget to $47.5 billion — the biggest by far since World War II.

Of the latest increase, about $1.8 billion would be used to buy nonnuclear arms and equipment.

Under Kennedy's plan, the Army would go up from 875,000 to 1 million, the Air Force from 825,000 to 888,000, and the Navy from 625,000 to 657,000.

Kennedy previously asked Congress to boost the Marines from 175,000 to 190,000. The corps has earmarked these added Leathernecks to fill out its three divisions and to form the nucleus for a fourth.

The additional 125,000 army troops would be used to fill out present Army divisions, and to make more men available for prompt shipment to threatened areas.

The Army now numbers 14 regular divisions—five in Germany, two in Korea, one in Hawaii and six in the United States.

To bring about a relatively quick beef-up in vital airlift and sealift capability, Kennedy looked to the Air National Guard and the mothball fleet of reserve ships.

Iraq to Court-Martial Three British Soldiers

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Three British soldiers captured inside Iraq near the Kuwait border Sunday will be tried by an Iraqi court-martial, Baghdad radio said today.

There was no indication what the charges would be.

The three Britons were on patrol in an armored car along the poorly marked frontier. They were the first reported captures by either side since Iraq claimed Kuwait and Britain sent troops to protect the little sheikdom.

to Influence Jobs Much'

PRINCETON, N. J. (UPI) — Contrary to popular belief, personal problems seem to have less impact on job attitudes than expected.

In a study conducted by Opinion Research Corp., attitudes of a group of 1,943 employes were analyzed.

It was found that job attitudes among persons with many personal problems appeared to differ little from attitudes of those with few problems.

His Speech at a Glance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's speech on defense of Berlin at a glance:

WHY — Berlin is the proving ground of Western courage, vital to the faith of the free world.

HOW — Congress will be asked for another $3.2 billion to pay for increasing the Army by 125,000 men, the Air Force by 63,000 men and the Navy by 29,000. Draft calls will be doubled and tripled; equipment headed for mothballs will be reactivated; a number of air transport reserve and Air National Guard tactical squadrons will go on active duty.

TAXES — Taxes won't be raised now, but will be later if necessary.

NEGOTIATIONS—"We shall always be prepared to discuss international problems with any and all nations that are willing to talk — and listen — with reason."

Asks Boost Be Given Civil Defense Effort

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy called Tuesday night for a vastly expanded program of civil defense to protect Americans from nuclear attack.

In his speech calling for a build-up of the nation's military forces, Kennedy asked Congress to increase civil defense appropriations by $207 million.

"We owe that kind of insurance to our families—and to our country," he said.

BEFORE APPEARANCE—President Kennedy mops his brow as he goes on camera in his White House office Tuesday night for a serious talk to the nation on the Berlin crisis.

JFK Ignores Lights to Put Over Message

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tiny beads of perspiration dotted the forehead, the back of the neck and the hands of President Kennedy Tuesday night as he delivered his radio-TV speech to the nation.

Kennedy seemed oblivious to this. Under the glare of camera floodlights, he concentrated on getting across to his unseen audience the sternest message of his short tenure in the White House.

For more than a half hour, the chief executive, 44, was the picture of intensity. His manner was as somber as his words telling of possible atomic war over Berlin and his plans to avert such a war.

SPOKE FROM OFFICE

Kennedy spoke from his oval office in the executive mansion, behind his carved wood desk on a swivel chair slightly raised for better camera focus. He wore a dark blue pinstripe suit, a blue tinted shirt and dark blue tie with green and red dots. He wore no make-up over a late-in-the-day shadow of a beard.

Glancing at a large-type text on a lectern, Kennedy spoke fairly rapidly without extra heavy emphasis until the end. Then he gravely added a "personal word" not in the original text.

Slowly, he told his fellow Americans:

"When I ran for the presidency of the United States I knew that this country faced serious challenges, but I could not realize nor could any man realize who does not bear the burdens of this office, how heavy and constant would be those burdens.

"In meeting my responsibilities in these coming months as president, I need your good will and your support—and above all, your prayers."

DID NOT SMILE

Kennedy's hands touched the papers of his text restlessly, perhaps a bit nervously, as he spoke.

The President did not smile once either during his speech or as he strode from his office afterwards.

The 350 extra words at the end, plus the 3,000 in the text as distributed in advance, carried Kennedy 1 minute and 50 seconds beyond the limit originally set for his nationwide broadcast.

About 50 newsmen, cameramen and aides crowded into the presidential office. Among them was a representative of the Soviet news agency Tass, who watched impassively.

Cabinet Holding Its Meetings Minus JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Cabinet is holding meetings without President Kennedy who considers most formal Cabinet sessions a waste of time.

With Kennedy's approval, it was learned Tuesday, the Cabinet officers are meeting every second Wednesday at a different department. The Aug. 2 meeting will be at the Pentagon, and at the Treasury two weeks later.

Kennedy consults Cabinet members as individuals more than many recent presidents. But he prefers to call together only those directly concerned with the problem under discussion.

W. Reich to Indemnify Jewish People in Italy

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany has agreed to pay Jewish communities of Italy 4.5 million marks ($1,125,000) for losses suffered during the Nazi occupation of Italy, the foreign office announced Tuesday. The losses included a valuable Hebrew library and about 100 pounds of gold.

A new method of demolishing obsolete buildings uses a jet of powdered metal burning in oxygen to cut through almost any material.

Reds Fear Trouble in E. Germany

BERLIN (UPI) — Fear that war may break out over Berlin is beginning to grip East Germany and is causing a new groundswell of anticommunism.

The East German Communist regime has acknowledged the fear exists. It is trying to counteract it but appears to be having little success.

The daily flow of refugees to West Berlin is one proof of the unrest caused in East Germany by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's threat to sign a peace treaty that will end western rights in Berlin.

Many of the refugees want to be on the western side of the Iron Curtain if trouble breaks out.

A close examination of the Communist press discloses that East Germans are openly expressing fear of war and are blaming the Communists for creating the situation.

The newspaper "Volkszeitung" in Leipzig, East Germany, said in an editorial:

"You are at a loss of words when, for example, as in the party organization in the factory in Trebsen the view is expressed that there will be a war if a peace treaty is signed with the German Democratic Republic."

AP Photofax

This map locates the major points of interest in West Berlin. Refugees are streaming through rail and road entries into West Berlin, many going to the major refugee center at Marienfelde (2). Tempelhof airport (3) is where a big share of Berlin's air traffic is handled, with the autobahn (4) the major road running to West Germany and its capital, Bonn.

The editorial said that such "enemy ideas" were being treated with indifference by party members, union leaders and government officials.

ARMY DOUBTFUL

The East German army, too, has its doubts about Soviet policy.

One Red newspaper said a Cpl. Buettner asked at a soldiers' forum, "Will not a peace treaty with the GDR increase tension and the danger of war?"

Willy Hofman, in a letter to the official Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland, said he thought it was more important to remain at peace than get a peace treaty.

The Communists print these questions and letters in order to refute them. But the answers run on two main themes, neither of which appears to have dissipated the fears.

One is that it is not a peace treaty but the absence of one that will lead to war.

Why? Because "revenge-seeking" West Germans will try to change West Germany's borders by force if they are not fixed in a treaty.

Such an argument has little impact on people already fed up with Communist jargon and dialectics.

The other Communist argument is that there will be no war because the mighty Red army is committed to prevent any breakthrough to Berlin by the West, and the Western Allies would not dare oppose it. This argument does more to increase war fever than dissipate it.

Italian Team Is Conqueror of Mt. McKinley

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—An Italian team headed by Riccardo Cassin is credited with conquering 20,320-foot Mt. McKinley, North America's tallest peak, by way of the sheer south face.

Bradford Washburn, director of the Boston Museum of Science and an authority on Mt. McKinley, called the climb "the greatest achievement in American mountaineering history."

The story was told by Gian Canali, who was flown to Anchorage Monday night for treatment of his severely frostbitten feet. He was brought out by bush pilot Don Sheldon of Talkeetna, from an ice field at the 10,000-foot level.

Cassin, 53, is a member of the Lecco chapter of the Italian Alpine Club. Others in the party were Romano Perego, Luigi Alippi, Annibale Zucchi and Luigi Arroldi.

The group encountered high wind, snow and subzero temperatures, and during the month of the ascent there were only five suitable climbing days, Canali said.

Actors Honor Eddie Cantor — He Can't Attend

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Stage and screen friends of Eddie Cantor paid tribute Tuesday night to the comedian's 50 years in show business.

But one guest couldn't make it—Cantor.

His wife, Ida, said the veteran showman was confined to his home with a virus infection.

The "Eddie Cantor Golden Jubilee Salute," staged at the Ambassador Hotel, was arranged by singer Eddie Fisher and a committee of industrialists and show business figures that included Jack Benny and George Jessel.

Chairman Barry Mirkin, a Beverly Hills financier, handed Mrs. Cantor a check for $100,000 for her husband's favorite philanthropy.

The money will go to the Surprise Lake Camp at Cold Springs, N.Y., which Cantor attended as a boy from New York's East Side.

If Automakers Will Cooperate

Steelmen See Better Days Ahead

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—Steelmen see better days ahead—especially if the automakers will cooperate.

The mills had looked for a sizable increase in output next month. But with Detroit, one of its biggest customers, hesitant about placing new orders, the steel industry now looks for its sharp upturn after Labor Day.

This is of more moment than just the outlook for the two industries themselves. The whole economy is affected when these two rise or fall.

The auto industry is uncertain about its course because of the labor negotiations now building up to a climax, and because of some doubt about the spending plans of consumers.

General nervousness about how affairs are going both in Washington and overseas as well as in the stock market is making it hard to tell how eager the public will be to buy a new car this fall.

OUTPUTS UP

The steelmen are stressing, however, that both output and earnings picked up in the April-June quarter after a dreary first three months. And they say orders for August are still coming in at a rate that will send steel output above the current unofficial operating rate of about 65 per cent of capacity.

But earnings for the first half of the year ran well behind those in the like period of 1960. Price cutting in some specialized steel products has disturbed the industry at a time when it would very much like to raise prices instead. They face a scheduled rise in labor costs in the fall.

The trade weekly, Iron Age, reports that some Midwest steel mills are now turning out more tonnage than they are shipping. It says at least part of this buildup in mill inventories is deliberate.

Some producers plan to provide nearly immediately delivery to meet the expected fall rise in demand, thus giving them a selling point over competitors. And some have chosen to keep output relatively level this month in spite of the summer order slowdown both as a customer relations and labor relations move.

SOME OVER-BOUGHT

The publication also says that some automakers overbought during the early part of the summer and now find themselves with a greater tonnage than usual when going into the changeover period.

Steelmen are looking for better orders from some of their other chief customers.

Increased government spending plans are expected to boost the steel needs of the construction industry. While private housing starts have remained fairly steady, public housing programs are increasing. More defense orders also should mean more business for the steelmakers.

The industry also has been moving ahead with its drive to hold a big share of the metal market in face of stiff competition from aluminum and copper and increasingly from plastics.

Earnings prospects are based on all of these things. But another factor on which the industry is counting heavily to offset rising labor costs is its advance in operating techniques and in equipment.

Modern steel mills turn out much more tonnage than the older ones did. Costs have been cut so that the breakeven level is much lower now than a few years back. Even when producing at 50 per cent of capacity a number of companies have shown a net profit.

Any sizable increase in sales, therefore, should bring a much larger rise in profits. That's what the companies are counting on this fall.

Disease Drops in Pontiac, Rises Slightly in County

A general decrease in new cases of communicable diseases was reported in Pontiac last week, while the number of cases increased slightly in Oakland County, according to the Pontiac and Oakland County Health departments.

The only new cases reported in Pontiac were two cases of whooping cough. None were reported the week before.

There were 19 new cases of mumps reported in the county last week and five the preceding week.

That was the largest increase for any communicable disease, according to county health officials. They explain that communicable disease reports show a sharp decline during summer months each year.

For example, during the last weeks of May, chicken pox was running as high as 150 to 200 new cases reported each week.

Last week there were only seven new cases reported in the county and none in Pontiac. There are two reasons for the drastic decline, say health officials, and both are the direct result of schools being closed for the summer.

Most of the reports of new cases come from public schools. These cease during summer vacation, so many cases occurring during summer months go unreported.

Secondly, the number of cases declines sharply because children are not in direct contact in large numbers on a day-to-day basis.

Health officials say that if a youngster hasn't come down with mumps, measles, chicken pox or a similar childhood disease yet this year, he probably won't until next winter when the disease rate annually begins to surge upward.

The following is a list of new cases of communicable diseases reported to the County Health Department during the past two weeks.

Chicken pox	7	3
Measles	9	8
Mumps	19	5

Air Hijackers Tough to Stop

Planes Can Do Little to Stop Sky Pirates; FBI Quiet on Measures

ATLANTA (UPI) — Airlines flying Southeast can do little to prevent aerial hijacking such as Monday's theft of an Eastern Air Lines plane.

The Federal Aviation Agency said today the FBI concedes there is a Cuban plot to force American commercial aircraft to fly to Cuba. But FBI officials refused to disclose what steps were being taken to prevent such hijackings.

A spokesman for a major airline serving southwide points admitted that if a pilot were ordered at gunpoint to fly to Cuba he would have no choice but follow the gunman's orders.

A representative from another major air carrier, who asked not to be identified, said his line has recently made it a practice to lock the door between the pilot's cabin and the passenger compartment.

However, the FAA has no regulation requiring that doors be locked while in flight, although unauthorized persons are banned from the cockpit.

An FAA spokesman said the agency could invoke a locked-door rule if it became necessary.

C.O.D. Mail Fees Will Rise 10 Cents Next Month

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Virtually all c.o.d. mail fees will go up 10 cents on Aug. 1 to help cut down the postal deficit, according to Postmaster General J. Edward Day.

President Kennedy's plea for higher postal rates on first-class letters, airmail and other mail has been shelved by Congress.

He wanted the rates boosted to help wipe out some of the $900 million annual postal deficit.

Day said Tuesday he did not need congressional approval to raise fees for c.o.d. packages.

Remember Big Steve Bilko? Tigers Do

Huge 1st Sacker Helps Score 5-4 Win for Angels

Eddie Yost's Single Scores Winning Tally Against Detroit

From Our Wire Services

Remember that Detroit Tiger castoff, Steve Bilko?

The Tigers do and they may have a bad memory should last night's game at Los Angeles prove to be a decisive one in the battle for the American League pennant.

The Angels scored two runs in the final half of the 9th with two outs for a 5-4 victory over the Tigers.

Some critics were saying Bilko would last with Los Angeles just about long enough for the proverbial cup of coffee.

Both they and the Tigers apparently were wrong.

It's late July already, and Bilko not only is still around, he's batting a solid .312 and is a member of the American League's top 10 hitters.

In 74 games he has collected 63 hits, 14 of them home runs, and driven in 42 runs. He is manager Bill Rigney's regular at first base.

Rigney says he's satisfied with Bilko's defensive play at first. He used the huge fellow for a spell in right field, where stout Steve charged fly balls more like a wounded buffalo than a Willie Mays.

Still, he got the job done and now he's getting it done at first.

Bilko himself was concerned this spring when he faced two tougher first base candidates, Ted Kluszewski and Julio Becquer.

But the Angels let Becquer loose and platooned Bilko and Kluszewski.

This strategy, Bilko says today, helped because he has never been a good hitter in the spring. So, the club now reasons, when time came for Bilko to take over as a regular, he was ready.

Detroit had fought from behind — picking up three runs on Billy Bruton's 10th home run of the season — to take a 4-3 lead in its half of the ninth.

Bruton's blast into the right field bleachers followed singles by Charlie Maxwell and Jake Wood.

Then, with one out in the Angels' half of the ninth, Earl Averill walked and Joe Koppe singled off reliever Phil Regan.

Hank Aguirre replaced Regan and struck out pinchhitter Del Rice but Ed Sadowski brought in the tying run with a single and Ed Yost knocked in the winning run with another single.

The Angeles jumped off to an early 3-1 lead on back to back home runs in the second inning by ex-Tigers Bilko and George Thomas and sacrifice fly by Averal in the fourth.

Norm Cash scored the Tigers' first run in the fourth when he was hit by a pitched ball, moved to second on an error and came in on a single by Dick McAuliffe.

This was the Angels' 18th victory in 26 games since June 26 and their 22nd triumph in 35 games since June 16.

Ryne Duren, who retired the final Detroit batter in the ninth, picked up the victory — his fourth against one loss. The loser was Regan, who followed starter Don Mossi and Pepe Montejo. Montejo was brought up yesterday from the Tigers' Denver farm club.

Regan's record now is nine victories and six losses.

The Tigers will start Frank Lary (13-5) tonight against either Eli Grba (5-10) or Ron Moeller (4-5).

The Tigers will be home Friday for a three-game series with the Minnesota Twins.

Even Skeptics Give Maris Chance for Ruth's Record

By The Associated Press

Roger Maris' four homer spectacular has even convinced the skeptics that Babe Ruth's 34-year old home run record of 60 in a season is in grave danger.

The 26-year-old Yankee outfielder blasted two in each game of the Yanks' 5-1 and 12-0 trouncings of the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night that sent the New Yorkers soaring into first place, a half game ahead of Detroit. The Tigers were beaten 5-4 in the ninth by the Angels' two-run counterrally at Los Angeles.

Maris drove in eight runs—three in the first game and five in the second—and now leads the majors in homers with 40 and runs batted in with 96. He is two homers in front of Mickey Mantle, who hit his 38th in the first game.

This friendly rivalry between the teammates, who share an apartment in New York, is making life easier these days for manager Ralph Houk.

Maris became the second slugger to reach the 40 mark in July and he did it in the Yanks' 96th game including one tie contest. Jimmy Foxx did it first in 1932 and he also belted No. 40 in the Philadelphia Athletics' 96th game. Foxx fell two short of Ruth's record with 58.

The crewcut Yankee now is 24 games ahead of Ruth's record pace in 1927. The Bambino clouted his 40th in the Yanks' 120th game.

How about the battle with Mantle?

'Boy, I just want him to keep hitting 'em too," said Maris after his grand performance. "The way he's going they've got to pitch to me first."

In the other American League games, the Baltimore Orioles beat the Boston Red Sox 5-1 on Steve Barber's four-hitter and vaulted to third place over Cleveland; the Kansas City A's nipped the Indians 3-2 with three runs in the eighth as Wayne Causey came home with the winning run on two wild pitches by reliever Bill Allen, and the Washington Senators won over the Minnesota Twins 2-1 on Dick Donovan's five-hitter.

Maris and Mantle were joined in the home run cannonading by light-hitting Clete Boyer and Elston Howard. Boyer whacked two in the second game and drove in four runs. Howard, the top Yankee hitter at .363, also homered in the second game.

Behind that bombardment Whitey Ford (18-2) and Bill Stafford (9-4) coasted to victory. Ford had to quit in the seventh because of a headache and the heat. He was leading 4-0 at the time and Luis Arroyo cleaned up as usual. Stafford, out with a sore arm since July 13, shackled the White Sox with six hits.

The Tigers almost held onto first place when they took the spotlight hours later in Los Angeles. A three-run homer by Bill Bruton in the top of the ninth gave them a 4-3 edge. Then the pesky Angels fought back with two runs, capped by ex-Tiger Eddie Yost's game-winning single with two out. Earlier in the game another pair of ex-Tigers, Steve Bilko and George Thomas hit back-to-back homers for an early LA lead.

Dykes' Job Is Reported in Jeopardy With Tribe

NEW YORK (UPI)—Despite repeated assurances that his job is not in jeopardy, Jimmy Dykes will be let out as manager of the Cleveland Indians within the next few days, it was learned on excellent authority today.

Dykes probably will be succeeded by 34-year-old Mel McGaha, who is now a coach with Cleveland and will be given his first opportunity to manage a major league club.

As recently as June 16, Dykes had the Indians in first place and was being hailed in many quarters as a prime candidate for manager of the year honors in the American League.

But the tribe's fortunes suddenly fell off, and what with attendance at Cleveland's home games being poor all year, the Indians' front office has decided it is high time for a change.

The Indians currently are in fourth place, 11 games off the pace and the losers in 13 of their last 21 games.

During the team's last swing through the east, general manager Gabe Paul was questioned about Dykes' future and pointed out that he had no thought of making a change "at this time."

The 64-year-old Dykes has managed six major league clubs during his career but has never won a pennant. He has piloted the Chicago White Sox, the Philadelphia Athletics, the Baltimore Orioles, Detroit Tigers and Indians in the American league and the Cincinnati Reds in the National.

He was named Cleveland manager last Aug. 3 during a unique "managerial swap" in which he was let go at Detroit and took over the Indians in place of Joe Gordon, who promptly was named manager of the Tigers.

At the time he took over the Indians last summer, there was a general understanding that it would be only for the balance of the 1960 season. Dykes, however, also demanded a contract for the 1961 season from Frank Lane, who was then general manager of the Indians, and finally received it.

This will mark the second time that Paul will have the job of notifying Dykes he is through. Paul also fired Dykes as manager of the Reds three years ago.

HOT AFTER RECORD — New York Yankee Roger Maris (right), who hit four home runs in a double triumph over the White Sox Tuesday, smiles in the dressing room along with pitcher Bill Stafford who pitched a 12-0 shutout in the second game. Maris has hit 40 homers and is 24 games ahead of Babe Ruth's pace.

Maris Wears Big Grin for Obvious Reasons

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Maris wore the biggest grin today of any of the New York Yankees.

The reason? As if you didn't already know.

Maris, the guy who hopes to break the late Babe Ruth's all-time home run record, slammed four in the Yankees' 5-1 and 12-0 victories over the Chicago White Sox last night.

The blows brought Maris' season's output to 40 and left him only 21 shy of shattering the great Bambino's mark.

Peppered with questions after his brilliant power display, Maris answered each one while he relaxed in the Yankee clubhouse.

Will the pitchers stop giving the Yanks' two biggest bombers anything good to hit at?

"No," Maris said without hesitation. "People don't realize it, but the guys ahead of me—Bobby Richardson and Tony Kubek—are red-hot right now and seem to be on base all of the time. They can't walk us because after Mickey comes Elston Howard, and look what he's hitting (.363)."

Did Maris know Jimmy Foxx had reached No. 40 on July 23, 1932, the year he hit 58?

"No, I didn't," the surprised Maris replied.

Did hitting four homers last night produce Roger's greatest baseball thrill?

"I never had a good doubleheader, even in the minors, until this one," the beaming Maris returned. "I don't know why."

What about the runs-batted-in race?

"Well, how many have Jim (Gentile of Baltimore) and Cash (of Detroit) got?" Roger said, asking a question of his own.

"I think this puts me past them."

He was right. Maris has 96, Cash 91 and Gentile 90.

And then for the question on everyone's lips:

Are you going to break Ruth's record?

The reply was simple and to the point:

"I'm going to just keep banging away."

Drake Loses Detroit Grid Star on Grades

"We are extremely sorry to lose Harper and Batten," Coach Bus Mertes said. "They will be tough to replace. We hope they can return to school as soon as their scholastic problems clear up."

Forty-Niners Ask Waivers on Pace Because of Knee

MORAGA, Calif. (UPI) — Former Michigan star Jim Pace, jinxed by a bad knee which twice has undergone surgery, was placed on waivers Tuesday by the San Francisco Forty Niners at his own request.

Pace injured his knee at training camp in 1959 while running downfield for a pass and had not played football since.

The ex-Wolverine halfback, most valuable player in the Big Ten for the 1957 season, was told by Forty-Niner physicians that the knee was "serviceable for ordinary activity but should not be exposed to the risk of further injury in football."

If Pace, the Forty-Niners, number one draft choice in 1958, is not claimed by midnight tonight he becomes a free agent.

Some Trim, Some to Be Trimmed

Lions Arrive at Cranbrook

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Thanks to the handball courts at the University of Detroit fieldhouse, there were some trim Lions, the professional football type and not those as found at the nearby zoo in Royal Oak, who started arriving at quiet Cranbrook yesterday.

The pretty surroundings at the boys' school on Lone Pine road will stay quiet for another two days and then the bone-creaking will start on Friday.

Many of the players residing in the Detroit area stayed in trim shape by playing handball at the U. of D. courts. The scales today however turned witness on a few players who weren't among the handballers.

Roger Brown, with a listed playing weight of 295 pounds, pushed the scales well over the 300 mark, somewhere in the vicinity of 320 pounds.

Willie McClung, who resides here in Pontiac, also had a 20-pound weight trimming chore to get down to about 250 pounds.

The ship-shape player among the veterans in the 47-man squad which reported probably was fullback Nick Pietrosante, who weighs more but looks lighter than the 220 pounds he had last year.

The Lions had their picture session with press photographers scheduled for today before they picked up any black and blue marks which may mar their faces.

Tomorrow the players, directors, writers will enjoy their annual preseason golf outing at Meadowbrook, and Friday the rubbing linament will be the popular smell in the training room after the first workout.

A single session on Saturday and a double workout on Sunday will be the schedule for the first weekend in camp.

The exhibition season and the regular season schedule are early this year because of the addition of the two new teams in the league which adds two more games to the card.

The first pre-season outing is August 11th at Tiger Stadium against the Cleveland Browns. After five exhibition games, the Lions head for Milwaukee for the season opener Sept. 17th against Green Bay, the Western Division champions.

The climax of the training camp will be the last big dress rehearsal which will be played under actual game conditions at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium.

The Community National Bank and the Pontiac Jaycees are sponsoring the scrimmage for the benefit of Jaycee youth activities. Tickets are selling at a fast pace for $1 at several locations in the area.

They can be purchased at The Press, Community National Bank, Osmuns, Griffs, Triple X, Oliver Buick, Good Housekeeping, Rogers Sporting Goods, National Cash Register and Reeves Service Station on Telegraph in Birmingham.

Six months earlier he was wounded in the right leg with the same weapon, while practicing a fast draw.

3 Old Dodgers Get New Cheers

By The Associated Press

A trio of Dodgers from old Brooklyn heard the cheers of the Flatbush faithful once more and responded like a prima donna to the cry of "encore."

Gil Hodges slammed a three-run homer, Johnny Roseboro belted a two-run triple and Sandy Koufax, a Brooklyn native, pitched a six-hitter and fanned 10 in sparking the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 7-2 victory over the forlorn Phillies at Philadelphia Tuesday night.

The triumph moved the pressing Dodgers to within one game of the leading Cincinnati Reds in the National League. The Reds fell before Lew Burdette's brilliant two-hitter in the Braves' 2-0 win at Milwaukee.

San Francisco's third-place Giants advanced to 7½ games of the Reds by battering five Pirate pitchers for 22 hits in a 16-7 rout at Pittsburgh. The St. Louis Cardinals, off winging on Ken Boyer's grand slam homer in the first inning, nipped the Cubs at Chicago, 6-5.

The crowd of 10,391 at Philadelphia included the die-hards from Brooklyn who usually make the 90-mile trip to root for their heroes no matter if they wear Los Angeles on their uniforms.

A Brooklynite hollered "Come on Gilly, belt one!" when Hodges, 37, strode to the plate in the first inning with Tommy Davis and Frank Howard on base. Gilly whacked the ball into the upper deck in left field just like he used to do at Ebbets Field.

Roseboro's triple, scoring Daryl Spencer and Charlie Neal in the fourth, cemented the victory. Rosey came in on a triple by Maury Wills who also had a double and single.

Burdette, back in his old form, yielded an infield hit to Chico Cardenas in the fourth and a sliced double by Don Blasingame in the seventh. He cooled off Frank Robinson who went blank after hitting in 19 consecutive games, an NL high for the season. Hank Aaron gave Burdette (12-6) the run he needed by poling his 24th homer, a 420-foot blast in the fourth off starter and loser Ken Hunt (9-7). Burdette drove in the other run himself.

Harvey Kuenn and Matty Alou each got four hits and drove in four runs apiece in the massive San Francisco attack against the fading Pirates. The Giants broke the game wide open with seven runs in the eighth and four more in the ninth. Reliever Stu Miller (8-3) was the winner and Pittsburgh starter Joe Gibbon (6-5) the loser.

Boyer's homer gave the Cards four runs and Charley James' homer another but it was an unearned run that brought St. Louis its victory. That came across in the sixth on catcher Dick Bartell's throwing error, one of four Chicago miscues. Ray Sadecki (8-5) was the winner and rookie Jackie Curtis (6-5) the loser.

National Stars Add 3 Players

Often-Injured Banks Named for 2nd Game at Fenway Park

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Injury-plagued Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, passed up in the voting by his fellow players, joined the National League All-Star squad for the seventh straight season today — a last minute pick by manager Danny Murtaugh.

Banks, the 30-year-old power-hitting shortstop with the Cubs, has not played in a regular game since July 15 because of eye trouble following another layoff earlier this season because of a knee injury.

However, since Murtaugh was allowed three more selections for the second All-Star game at Fenway Park in Boston next week, he picked Banks, catcher Ed Bailey of the San Francisco Giants and pitcher Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers to round out the squad to 28 players. The N.L. won the first All-Star game at San Francisco, July 11, 5-4 in 10 innings.

"Ernie Banks belongs on the All-Star team," said Murtaugh in Pittsburgh. "He's a great performer who has been handicapped by injuries but is deserving of the honor."

NFL Makes TV Appeal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Football League Tuesday asked the U. S. District Court to suspend until Dec. 31, a ruling of last Friday invalidating the league's two-year television contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Top-Seeded Aussie Reaches 3rd Round

HAVERSFORD, Pa. (AP) — Bob Mark, the top-seeded foreign entry from Australia, reached the third round of the 62nd Pennsylvaia Lawn Tennis Championship Tuesday by fighting off three match points at 6-7 in the third set to defeat Mike Green, Philadelphia, 6-4, 5-7, 13-11.

The sixth-seeded American, Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., yielded in the second round to the left-handed John Sharp of Australia, 6-8, 6-4, 6-2.

The top seeded American, Chuck McKinley, St. Ann., Mo., and Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif., also gained the third round. McKinley overpowered two opponents, Lee Fentriss, New Orleans, 6-3, 6-1 and Roger Werksman, Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-2. Ralston was hard pressed to get by Ray Senkowski, Hamtramck, Mich., 6-4, 7-5.

Redleg Reliefers Strong 1-2 Combo

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds have little to worry about when Jim Brosnan or Bill Henry is called in from the bullpen. They comprise the best one-two relief combination in major league baseball.

Brosnan, a right-hander, and Henry, a southpaw, have been largely responsible for 31 of the Reds' 59 victories (53 per cent).

Brosnan has won five games and saved 14 while Henry has been credited with only one triumph, but has saved 11.

Brosnan leads the National League in games saved, figures compiled by The Associated Press through Monday's games showed today. Larry Sherry of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Elroy Face of Pittsburgh are next with 13 saves followed by Henry. Stu Miller of San Francisco and Don Elston of Chicago have saved eight apiece.

Luis Arroyo, the little New York Yankee lefty, heads the American League with 16 saves. Then come Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore, 12 and Mike Fornieles of Boston and Dave Sisler, Washington, 9 each.

Terry Fox of Detroit has the best earned run average among the big league relievers, 1.66. Arroyo is at 1.85 followed by Turk Lown, Chicago White Sox 1.99, Don McMahon, Milwaukee 2.03 and Wilhelm, 2.17. Brosnan's ERA is 3.24 and Henry's 3.55. The figures include Monday's games.

Frank Funk of Cleveland has won 10 games, the most among the bullpen specialists. He has also lost the most, eight. Arroyo has a 7-3 record, Wilhelm 7-5, Lown 6-3 and Fox 3-1.

Wilhelm has been the most active reliever, working 83 innings while Face and Arroyo have pitched in the most games, 38. Face has given up only three bases on balls in 59 innings.

Veteran Art Fowler of the Los Angeles Angels has won five games and saved eight although he did not report to the new American League club until May 27.

Games saved were credited to relievers who finished games won by their clubs and for which they did not receive a victory.

Homers Mark Contests

Home runs by John Lucadam and Al Berkeley sparked Pontiac Merchants to a 5-3 Class A-B baseball win over CIO Local 594 last night at Jaycee Park.

Don's Used Cars clipped Don Nicholie 6-4 in the twilight encounter at Wisner.

Lucadam and Berkeley blasted back-to-back homers to start a three-run first inning for the Merchants. Both went on to collect two hits as did Chuck Johnson and John Shanks.

Terry Hoy, who took over for starter Marv Caswell in the fourth inning was the winning pitcher. They limited CIO to five hits, one a triple by Clay Williams.

Joe Hatchett blasted a two-run homer for Don Nicholie in a losing cause.

It took a four-run sixth by Don's Cars to pull the game out. Both go-ahead runs scored on errors. Gene Reisinger, who moved from the outfield to the mound in the fifth, picked up the win.

Lakeland Gets Tie for National Lead

Lakeland Pharmacy moved into a tie for first place with Hobby Painting by beating that team 9-2 last night in Waterford National Softball League play.

Algie Black hurled a one-hitter for the winners. Lakeland was aided by eight Hobby errors.

In the second game, Big Jim's won its fifth straight, 13-2, over A & W as Max Jarrett turned in a four-hitter. The loss kept A & W from tying for first.

Lefthander Shoots 73 to Lead All Southpaws

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Ed Ellis, of Asheboro, N.C. led the field by one stroke in the National Association of Left-Handed Golfers Amateur Tournament going into today's second round.

He shot a two under par 73 to lead the championship division of about 170 players from 39 states, Canada and the District of Columbia.

Hornung Hurt in Drills

WEST DE PERE, Wis. (AP)—Spirits plummeted momentarily in the Green Bay Packer training camp Tuesday when halfback Paul Hornung was injured in the first scrimmage of the National Football League training season.

Hornung, highest scorer in NFL history, received a bruised knee after faking into the line and falling under a savage pileup. He had to be helped off the field. However, the Packer team physician, after a quick examination, said Hornung would of all right in "a day or two."

DALLAS (AP)—The Luis Rodriguez-Curtis Cokes welterweight 10-round fight scheduled for Thursday night here was put off until Aug. 3 by promoter Ralph Hall Tuesday.

Rodriguez, the No. 1 contender for the championship held by Emile Griffith, was on the plane that was hijacked and flown to Cuba. He returned with the other passengers to Miami Tuesday but said he did not feel up to going through with the fight this week.

Palmer Eager to Add '61 PGA Title

CHICAGO (AP)—Arnold Palmer, determined to complete the cycle reserved only for the greats of golf, begins Thursday his bid for his fourth major title within 16 months in the PGA championship at picturesque Olympia Fields.

The bronzed, strong boy from Latrobe, Pa.—fresh and eager after winning the British Open 10 days ago—needs only the PGA title to put the fourth and final jewel in the crown of golf he's worn the last two years.

The 1960 Masters and U.S. Open champion, Palmer heads a field of 169 pros who will play 18 holes daily from Thursday through Sunday over the lush-up, picture-green Olympia Fields North course. It was the site of the National PGA tournament the last time in 1925, when Walter Hagen won his third of a record five PGA titles.

All the top names of the game with the exception of Ben Hogan will be challenging the 31-year-old Palmer, including defending champion Jay Hebert; Masters champion Gary Player of South Africa; three-time champion Sam Snead; U.S. Open king Gene Littler, and most anyone else you'd care to name in the who's who of golf.

But, as usual, most of the preliminary attention goes to personable Arnie—especially after the brilliant play that took him through incredibly bad weather conditions to the British Open title.

A go-for-broke golfer who tries—and usually manages—to overpower even the most cantankerous courses, Palmer has had six full rounds and countless practice sessions to get re-accustomed to the larger American ball.

"I'm having much less trough this time," Arnold said Tuesday night after firing a practice 68, two-under-par for the 6,722-yard, par 35-35—70 course.

"Last year after I came back from my first British Open I just couldn't get the feel of it for several weeks," he said. "I had only a few days to get ready for the PGA then, and my putting and chipping suffered.

"This time, I made certain I had more time to get ready. I think I am."

Of those revealing practice scores after Tuesday's warmups, only Player had a better round. The jazz-loving South African, who beat Palmer by a single stroke in the Masters this spring, shot a 66 with four birdies and an eagle 2 at the 375-yard 15th hole, where he holed a 9-iron approach from about 125-yards away.

Hebert and former Masters champion Claude Harmon matched Palmer's 68.

"This is about as well as I can play," Player said. "I was playing just as well at the Open but I wasn't putting at all. Now my putting has picked up, and I feel just wonderful."

U.S. Track Team Shuffled

Boston Does 'Hop'

WARSAW (AP)—Now that he has taken on all comers in the broad jump, Ralph Boston suddenly has found himself pressed into emergency service as a hop, step and jumper.

The world record holder (27-1¾) from Tennessee State will be the No. 2 U.S. jumper against Poland Saturday and Sunday, and he already is thinking big.

"Boy," he said today, "would I like to catch that world record holder against the wall and beat him."

Boston was thinking about Jozef Schmidt of Poland, who holds the world hop, step and jump mark of 55 feet, 10¼ inches. This is a big event behind the Iron Curtain and around Poland they can't understand why more Americans don't go in for it.

Boston will replace Bill Sharpe, who was sent home to Philadelphia Monday because of a bad leg. Ira Davis has the best jump ever by an American, 53-10, which he made at the Olympics in Rome last year.

"I never have competed in the hop, step and jump seriously," said Boston. "In fact, I think the last time I tried it was back in the states when I saw a prize list that awarded nice luggage to the winners. So I won a suitcase.

"But I'll go at it to win this time. I don't know how far I can go, but I'm certain I should be able to do a lot better than, say, 50 feet."

Schmidt, who has had a recent appendectomy, as of late has been getting beaten regularly by his teammate, Ryszard Malcherczyk, who has a 53-11¼ to his credit.

If Schmidt doesn't improve, Boston may have to worry more about Malcherczyk.

"I don't mind competing in both the hop, step and jump and the broad jump," said the angular Boston. "It was a tough break that Sharpe got hurt, so if I can step in and get some points, I'm happy to do it.

"There's really not an awful lot of difference between the broad jump and the hop, step and jump. I think there is more pressure on your legs in the spring in the hop, step and jump, but not much else except a lot of practice."

Ken Floerke is the No. 1 American jumper now that Sharpe is out, but he, too, has had a bad ankle and didn't figure to make a dent in the Poles' monopoly.

Meanwhile, Coach Jumbo Jim Elliott had Dave Edstrom, who is scheduled to replace the injured John Pfomm in the javelin throw, out on the practice field for over an hour working on his form.

Fromm is a doubtful starter because of an injured side. Dyrol Burleson, No. 1 operative in the 1,500 meters, also is on the doubtful list and it will be another day or two before Elliott knows if he can start. He has a bad leg.

Junior Sailors From 21 Clubs in ILYA Series

Junior sailors, boys and girls 13-18 years of age, representing 21 boating clubs gather at Put-in-Bay, Ohio, Saturday, July 29, for the Inter-Lake Yachting Association's sixth annual Junior Race Week.

The 84 youngsters will compete for the I-LYA junior sailing championship and the privilege of representing the area in the series for the North American crown represented by the coveted Sears cup.

Competition at Junior Race Week is restricted to four-man crews of boys and girls, all winners of elimination bouts in their home ports. The winner of the I-LYA title series which also serves as the quarter finals for the Sears cup races, will be awarded the William H. Miller perpetual bowl.

In addition, he or she will receive from the William H. Miller Foundation of Pittsburgh, Pa., a $500 scholarship.

Using 16-foot, all-plastic Rebel class sloops loaned for the series by their owners, the youngsters will sail a round robin until all but one crew are eliminated.

Wednesday of junior race week, the winning Inter-Lake Crew will be joined by the champions from the Detroit River, Inland Lakes, Lake Michigan and Ohio Inter-Club Yachting Associations.

The five crews will engage in another round robin for the Wakefield trophy — the semi-finals for the Sears cup series.

Thistle class sloops provided through the courtesy of Douglass & McLeod, Inc., of Fairport, Ohio, will be used for the semi-finals.

State Park Swamped by Camping Tourists

MEARS, Mich. (UPI) — The growing popularity of Silver Lake state park will soon force the undertaking of an expansion program, park authorities have announced.

The 25-acre park hard by some of Western Michigan's colorful sand dunes in Oceana County has been filled to capacity almost daily since mid-June.

Camp attendants said campers have been turned away every weekend because of a dearth of tenting sites. The camp currently has 99 camp sites on its regular grounds and it is making use of 22 more on property running parallel to the park that is separated by a county highway from the park proper.

Wild Turkeys in County

HEADED FOR WOODS—Arthur Strandell of Auburn Heights looks at three young wild turkeys in the pen behind his home. Strandell has 56 birds and plans to release them this fall in Northern Michigan. He hatched the turkeys from eggs obtained in Pennsylvania.

Wild Turkeys
By DON VOGEL
Pontiac Press Outdoor Writer

Michigan's wild turkey population will receive a boost from an unexpected source this fall.

Arnold Strandell, a worker at the Yellow Cab plant, is raising gobblers in his back yard. He plans to release the birds in about two months in Lake and Oceola Counties in northern Lower Michigan.

The turkeys, now four weeks old, were hatched from eggs obtained in Pennsylvania and are of the same strain as those birds released in Western and Northern Michigan by the State Conservation Department.

As near as can be learned, Strandell is the only private citizen raising wild turkeys in Michigan. One or two sportsmen's clubs are attempting to rear the birds.

Anyone passing the Strandell home at 3123 Auburn Road, Avon Township, would never realize any fowl, let alone turkeys, were around. Strandell has the brooder house and pen neatly camouflaged with green cornstalks.

The pen, 50 feet long and 20 wide, takes up most of the backyard. It is covered with chicken wire to keep these shy birds from joining other wild game in Oakland County.

NOT FIRST CHOICE

Why did Strandell pick turkeys to raise instead of pheasants or quail?

"I've always been interested in hunting and fishing," he said, "and I've always wanted to try my hand at raising some wild game. Pheasants were my first choice.

"Then I started reading about turkey hunting in other states and I talked with a couple of fellows who used to live in Pennsylvania. They hunted turkeys and were always talking about it.

"I started thinking about how nice it would be to shoot a turkey — I've never hunted them — in Michigan. Even if I couldn't shoot one it would be nice to see an occasional turkey while trout fishing near Cadillac where I have a cabin."

Last spring Strandell headed for Pennsylvania with a list of wild turkey farms obtained from the Michigan Conservation Department. His initial plan was to purchase pullets.

"The farmer I talked with in the Alleghenies talked me out of pullets and into buying eggs. He convinced me that hatching and raising the birds in Michigan would be better than transferring young birds here."

Strandell purchased 105 eggs. On delivery they were taken to a private hatchery at Attica, where 95 birds cracked their shells. Poor health, sickness and injuries have reduced the flock to 56.

"I figure about 50 should pull through," said Strandell.

INTEREST HIGH

The State Conservation Department has been kept posted on the turkeys' progress. Department officials in the Cadillac area "really liked the idea" of planting the birds in their territory, according to Strandell.

The young turkeys can fly up on a roost and atop a feeding house in the pen. They show their wild breeding by scurrying for cover the moment a dog barks or any unusual noise is heard. And this is causing Strandell some concern.

"I'm afraid that when they get larger, a good scare will stampede them. They will be larger and some could get trampled."

He is feeding the birds regular domestic turkey mash. Peas sown earlier along the fences are being eaten as fast as they pod.

Transporting the birds to their new home this fall is one problem he hasn't completely solved.

"A friend of mine has a station wagon and so do I," he pointed out, "so I guess we can take a couple of crates each. It would probably be better if we released the birds in different locations at different times in groups of about seven."

That way, he said, if six or seven die in one bunch for some reason or another, a similar group will be elsewhere to carry on.

"And if it looks like this flock will get through the winter, I just might try again next year."

Court Rules Favorably in P-R Funds Dispute

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

State game research and habitat development programs are due for a $610,000 shot in the arm as the result of a long-awaited decision by a U.S. district court in Washington, D.C.

The court ordered the federal Interior Department to release some $1.36 million in Pittman-Robinson funds to Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Colorado because of a faulty method of computing eligibility.

Unless an appeal court upsets the decision, Michigan will collect. State conservation officials said there has been no indication the U.S. Department of Interior would appeal.

Since 1959 the Interior Department has disbursed the funds on the basis of the number of license holders in each state.

The Michigan department said the federal court ruling upheld the states' contention that the funds should be returned on the basis of the number of licenses issued, regardless of how many people buy more than one license.

For 21 years before 1959, the money was distributed for use in game management and wildlife restoration programs on a per-license basis.

But the new interpretation counted each hunter as only one license holder regardless of whether he bought more than one license.

The funds are derived from an 11 per cent federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition. The money must be spent for land acquisition and development and game research.

Dr. S. C. Whitlock, assistant state game chief, said the decision, if it stands, will enable the state's game land development program to proceed at a normal rate. Land acquisition for game areas had been sharply reduced pending outcome of the 16-month court fight.

Committee Approves Shorelines Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate interior committee has approved a bill to promote federal and state preservation of three Michigan shoreline areas for public recreational use.

The Secretary of the Interior would be authorized to determine what actions should be taken to preserve the Pictured Rocks, Grand Sable Dunes and the Sleeping Bear Dunes shoreline areas.

The secretary would be directed to make recommendations based on his studies within two years. He would be authorized to spend up to $400,000 in carrying out studies on these and 13 other shoreline areas.

The bill also would authorize appropriation of $250 million in matching funds to assist states in preserving shoreline recreational areas.

The Secretary of Agriculture would be given up to $400,000 to study areas within national forests, bordering upon oceans, lakes or rivers which would be appropriate for development as shoreline recreational spots.

BLUEBERRY TIME—This youngster is sampling the "fruits of labor" while the young girl looks on. They have been picking blueberries in Northern Michigan woods. Although the "huckleberry" crop isn't up to expectations this year, enough berries can be found to fill dessert spots on dinner tables.

Stream Pollution Felled Michigan's Many Grayling

By United Press International

A historical lesson in the evils of stream pollution should make Michigan fishermen sit up and take notice.

It concerns the grayling, the extinct Michigan game fish of nearly legendary beauty and fighting ability, which though gone is far from forgotten.

A comprehensive essay on the Michigan grayling, written in 1880 by Martin Metcalf and published in a recent issue of the Michigan Historical Commission publication, "Michigan History," cites pollution from sawmills as a chief cause of grayling dying out.

Efforts to re-introduce grayling—a Montana species slightly different than the original Michigan fish—have produced hopeful results.

Conservation Department fish experts are watching the grayling experiment on Manganese Lake, Keweenaw County, in hopes that Montana grayling planted there will flourish.

Early results of the experiment were disheartening, but the experts are looking toward a fall check on the grayling in hopes that it will indicate natural spawning has produced at least some adult fish.

Included in Metcalf's essay was a lengthy discussion of the difficulty of hatchery-rearing of grayling.

It seems grayling fry fall easy prey to trout, and are delicate for other reasons, including general weaknesses which can cause death from a number of misadventures.

Metcalf, in fact, predicted the extinction of the Michigan grayling.

He noted that each of the grayling rivers he visited in the course of long research into habits of the fish, and how it could be saved from passing into oblivion, was filled with sawmill dust.

While the rust, probably less dangerous actually than much of the chemical waste and sewage later dumped into streams and rivers, was not cited as the only cause of the grayling's demise, it helped.

Forestry Exposition Opens

MIO (UPI) — The second annual Great Lakes forestry exposition opened today at Sportsmen's Park on the banks of the famed Au Sable River here.

One of the highlights of the two-day show this year will be the dedication of what is believed to be the largest white cedar tree in Michigan.

The giant which measures 12-feet 9½-inches around stands on Consumers Power Co. land on the banks of the river about three miles from here.

A path has been cleared to the tree for the dedication ceremonies and a special aluminum "big tree" sign will be erected to commorate the occasion. The forest giant is estimated to be 400 years old.

The forestry exposition is designed to call attention to the colorful lumbering past of Michigan and to the thriving forest industries of the present.

Among the attractions will be sawing and chopping contests, log birling, skidding demonstrations and contests, a water pageant, the crowning of a queen and numerous conservation demonstrations and exhibits.

A giant chicken barbecue will highlight the festivities on Thursday night.

Henry J. "Hank" Peters, international birling champion from Nova Scotia will be on hand to defend his reputation against Michigan birlers.

Deny Paris Hatchery About to Be Closed

PARIS, Mich. (UPI) — A State Conservation Department spokesman has denied there is any truth to published reports the 81-year-old Paris fish hatchery is to be closed.

Max Hunt of Roscommon, regional fishery supervisor, said the reports, which have stirred censure votes of the Conservation Department by both the Big Rapids Chamber of Commerce and Mecosta County Board, "are entirely unfounded."

Hunt said, "We are planning a cutback in hatchery production and a cutback in personnel, but we are not going to close the Paris hatchery."

Martiny Lake Case Goes On

Continuance Is Ordered in Water Level Fight With State

BIG RAPIDS (UPI) — Circuit Judge Harold Van Domelen ordered a court fight over the level of Martiny Lake continued until the September term.

The continuance was granted Monday to give the plaintiffs, property owners on the lake, time to ask the Mecosta County Board of Supervisors to petition the court for a determination of a level of the lake waters. The county board is granted the right to petition under the Federal Inland Lakes Law.

The suit concerns the property owners' fight to keep the State Conservation Department from drawing down the later level every fourth year. The Conservation Department has said the drawdown is necessary to provide a better passover area for wild fowl. The property owners contend the drawdown would effect real estate values and destroy fishing.

The plaintiffs have already obtained a temporary injunction, which they are seeking to have made permanent.

Earlier the Conservation Commission filed a motion asking the petition for the permanent injunction be dismissed.

The temporary injunction has been in force since April.

Judge Van Domelen said his continuance would shorten the litigation period and save legal expense. The temporary injunction will remain in force pending the September hearing.

Detroit River Islands Bill Goes to President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed and sent to the White House a bill naming Grassy and Mammy Juda Islands in the Detroit River a national wildlife refuge.

A Senate committee report accompanying the bill said the islands are "exceedingly significant in the continental management of waterfowl," and harbor large numbers of diving ducks such as redheads, canvasbacks, greater scaups and black ducks.

Annual PKC Outdoor Dog Show Aug. 19

Conflict of Dates Hits Irish Setter Handlers for Unbenched Event

The Pontiac Kennel Club's annual outdoor show will be Aug. 19 at the Waterford Township High School athletic field.

All but one popular breed will be represented in the sanctioned show, according to PKC president Edmund Kraft. There is no class listed for Irish Setters. The Irish Setter specialty show is on the same date.

Judging the six variety groups will be Robert Waters, North Surrey, British Columbia, sporting, non-sporting and terriers; Mrs. Edith Nash Hellerman, Severn, Md., hound and toy; James W. Trullinger, Long Island, N.Y., working; Mrs. Hellerman will judge best-in-show.

R. M. Kibler, Westerville, Ohio, and Mrs. Leona Sykes Sharpley will judge in breeds. The obedience judge will be Rudolph W. Buchmann, Pontiac, and Earl M. Williams, Detroit.

The Pontiac Press will award the best-in-show trophy.

Four junior showmanship divisions have been set. They are novice for boys and girls 8-12 years old and for those 13-16. The graduate novice is for boys and girls 8-10 who have won in junior showmanship. The open class is for older children who hold wins in junior competition.

The judge for this event will be announced the day of the show.

Obedience classes will be novice A and B, open A and B and utility.

The Bow Dog Show Organization is handling arrangements for the PKC show, as it does for most sanctioned shows in Michigan. The deadline for entering is Aug. 8.

This will be an unbenched show, meaning that the dogs can be removed from the grounds as soon as they are eliminated from competition.

Scented Animals Legal Game All Year

More 'Eau de Skunk'

LANSING (AP) — You're not mistaken if you think the unmistakable odor of "Eau de Skunk" is wafting through car windows on country drives more often these days than in years past.

Michigan's skunk population is on the increase. That's why the State Conservation Commission decided at its last meeting, somewhat reluctantly, to declare year-around hunting and trapping seasons on skunks.

Previously, they were legal game only from Oct. 20 to Jan. 31 in Southern Michigan and from Oct. 1 to Jan. 31 elsewhere in the state.

The decline of the skunk as fur coat material is the chief reason for the population increase. Beaver, muskrat and other fur-bearers formerly popular with milady are being similarly snubbed.

Once upon a time — about 20 years ago—trappers could pick up between $2 and $3 for a good-sized skunk pelt, the blacker the better. Now they're practically worthless and trappers don't bother with them anymore.

In 1940 and 1941, more than 166,000 skunks were taken in Michigan, about half by trappers. In the last two years, the total trapper take came to less than 4,000.

An increase in the number of rabid skunks is another reason that conservation authorities took steps to reduce the population. Before last year, the State Health Department reported only three to six cases of rabies in skunks in a year.

This year there were 29 confirmed cases in the first six months. Skunks are particularly susceptible to the disease.

In this connection, the commission declared it illegal to possess live skunks taken from the wild, except by special permits issued by the state conservation director to schools, zoos and for other like purposes.

"If this doesn't take care of the rabies situation, it's quite possible that a ban against importation of de-odorized skunks from other states will be put into effect," said F. W. Stuewer, game biologist for the State Conservation Department.

The Conservation Department is about to distribute pamphlets telling property owners how to get rid of increasing numbers of "nuisance" skunks that kill poultry or other stock, damage property or merely stink up the place.

A live-trap covered with burlap often works, but then, of course, there's the problem of disposing of the skunk before he gets excited and cuts loose with a blast of scent. Drowning in a weighted sack, shooting and steel traps are other suggested devices.

Conservation authorities hastened to make it clear that they're not out to rid the state of skunks. The idea is, simply, to keep them under control.

"Most skunks are good skunks," Stuewer declared. "They go their own harmless way and don't bother people. If anything, they do man a good turn by eating mice and harmful insects, including beetles, grasshoppers and all sorts of grubs."

STAY CLEAR

The first rule to steer clear of br'er skunk is to avoid attracting him. Cottage owners should'nt throw the garbage out without burying it or disposing of it in some other way. Skunks that stake out homesteads under buildings can usually be driven out with barricades to their crawl spaces, repellents such as a bright electric light or moth balls or crystals.

There's always the problem of what to do when "attacked."

Stuewer suggests, of all things, a bath in tomato juice.

"We hear it works," he said.

Agrees With Ben Hogan, Putting Is Game All Itself

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was Ben Hogan, if memory serves, who made hundreds of desolate duffers nod their heads philosophically when he said that putting had no legitimate place in the game of golf. Putting is another sport altogether, involving not coordination and physical prowess, but luck and sudden death; rather like—if there were such a thing—Russian croquet.

Being a fairly consistent three-putter, I couldn't agree more. In fact, I feel so strongly that putting is an unfair hazard in an otherwise logical sport that I will accept (in fact, insist upon) "gimmes" at three club-lengths.

That it, I felt this way before getting hold of a little book called "Secrets of Accurate Putting and Chipping" by a new York golf pro named Phil Galvano.

Now that I'm in on the secret, there is absolutely no problem with my game, except the drives, fairway shots and approaches.

It seems that the first thing most of us golfers do wrong when we get on the green is to attempt to line up a putt with both eyes.

This leads to trouble because each eye has a different concept of exactly where the pin is.

The key to accuracy then is to discover which is your "master eye" ("The master eye," says Galvano, "gives the accurate alignment for all acts in which proper direction is needed.") and use only this one clever cornea to direct your ball to the cup.

FIND 'MASTER EYE'

To find which is your "master eye" do this: Select an object in a room, something fairly small about 15 feet away from you. With both your eyes open, point at the object with your right forefinger. Now close one eye and then the other, and you'll notice your finger jumping. The eye that lines up the finger closest to the target is your "master eye."

Do not be discouraged about the other eye and consider it completely worthless. Nature didn't create anything for nothing. The other eye, the one which wandered off target, is your "depth eye." It is good for long, long putts where you really haven't much hope of dropping the ball, apparently.

At any rate, the teacher says, "When striving for direction, favor your master eye. When distance is paramount, favor your depth eye."

All this is vital to another step in perfect putting: When you are lining up a putt, blink a few times. Then focus on a few spots between the ball and the hole. In this way, your brain receives more mental pictures and your vision becomes clearer.

This may look curious to your opponent, but it's a curiously successful technique. At least, it seems so to me.

I haven't tried it on the course yet, but on the living room rug I'm a blinking wizard.

Counting Ballots by Lamplight Finally at End

POMEROY, Ohio (UPI) — Poll workers in a Meigs County precinct will remember the 1960 presidential election as the last one in which they had to count votes by kerosene lamp.

For as long as anyone could remember, an abandoned one-room school house was the voting place because of its central location.

It had been used only twice a year, as a polling place, since 1936.

Now, a new township hall several miles to the north will be used.

One who doesn't mind leaving the electric light-less school building is Mrs. Orville Rhodes, presiding judge. It was her job to get the old building cleaned up for use at each election.

NEST EGG — Two boys in Wilderswil, Switzerland, handle with ease what appear to be boulders. They're wasp nests, paperlight, and—more important—empty.

Plan Division Reunion

DETROIT (UPI) — The 9th Infantry Division Association will hold its 16th annual three-day reunion here starting Thursday. Several hundred members from Michigan and neighboring states are expected to attend. Guest of honor will be Maj. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, former division commander and current superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

Water Keeps Kennedy Cool in World Crises

By ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With problems of life or death immensity crashing all around him, President Kennedy has decided that the best way to keep a cool head is to relax—and he is regularly reserving time for it.

The midnight oil still burns in Kennedy's office or study while decisions are made on the tension-producing Berlin crisis or other dilemmas and the way to meet them.

But to more of an extent than during his first few months in office, the President has been taking time out for soothing relaxation.

On just about a daily basis, Kennedy has been using the indoor swimming pool at the White House for brief spells in the afternoon. This goes beyond pleasure, adding up to continuing therapy for his back, which he strained two and a half months ago.

He recovered after two weeks on crutches in June, but the swimming is understood still to be of some help.

There have been reports that Kennedy also has gone for unannounced cruises on the Potomac River some evenings on the 92-foot presidential yacht, Honey Fitz.

There has not been any White House confirmation of these reports—but the vessel is available along with a smaller yacht, the Patrick J., and Kennedy loves to go boating.

His affinity for water cruises is amply evident as another sign of Kennedy's determination to take it easy for refreshing interludes from time to time when international and domestic problems impose their weight upon him.

For four consecutive weekends the President has flown to his summer home at Hyannis Port, Mass., for two-day reunions with his wife, children, and other relatives summering there.

As is the case on such trips, the President remains in touch with the White House at all times through ultramodern communications facilities on his plane, at his home, and on his family's 52-foot cabin cruiser, Marlin.

CONFER AWAY FROM IT ALL

But there still is a tonic in several hours as away from it all as a President can get in those circumstances, and the Marlin is his vehicle for it.

When Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara held urgent discussions with Kennedy at Cape Cod several weeks ago, they met aboard the Marlin, in Nantucket Sound.

And, during a weekend devoted for the most part to work on Kennedy's radio-TV call for national measures to meet the Soviet threat on Berlin, the President kept the time open for two cruises on the Sound with his family.

NO VACATION YET

To the extent possible, Kennedy will continue this routine, heading on Friday evenings to Cape Cod, flying back on Mondays.

There still has not been any word about any extended vacation plans for the President, the indications still being that as long as Congress is in session he will restrict his time off to weekends.

And Hyannis Port still seems to be first in the running as the site for any vacation the President may take this fall—though reports still crop up that he may also go to Newport, R.I.

Price of Farm Land Soars Inside of Decade

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Since 1950 the average price of farm land has increased 67 per cent in the United States, a survey by Texas A&M College shows.

Total farm net income during the same period has shown a decline of 18 per cent, according to the survey.

Grain Futures Weak Following Firm Start

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market turned weak today after a generally firm start on the board of trade and within a few minutes losses had run to a cent or more a bushel in wheat and soybeans. Other grains eased mostly small fractions.

Brokers said the pressure in wheat and soybeans appeared to be mainly profit-taking although it may have included a little more hedging in wheat.

Dealers said commercial demand had slackened somewhat, particularly from export interests. Flour mills were understood to be limiting their purchases only to immediate requirements.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was sharply higher early this afternoon in response to President Kennedy's proposal for $3.45 billion in new military and home defense spending. Trading was active.

Key stocks held gains of fractions to a point or more but the general level was somewhat below its best of the morning.

The market got off to a lively start with aircraft - missiles, steels, motors and electronics strong. Several of the defense issues opened on sizable blocks.

It was the heaviest slate of trading in weeks as the ticker tape ran as much as three minutes behind transactions for a total delay period of 46 minutes.

First-hour volume of 950,000 shares compared with only 500,000 for Tuesday's first 60 minutes.

Some gains were trimmed or erased as the session wore on and traders took profits on the advance which began Tuesday in anticipation of Kennedy's speech to the nation Tuesday night and his proposals to Congress today.

Fairchild Camera advanced more than 3. Hazeltine added a couple of points.

Dag Looks Over Tense Bizerte

Confers With Envoys; France Charges Tunisia Has Started Build-Up

TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI)—United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold went to battle-scarred Bizerte on a first-hand inspection tour shortly after France charged the Tunisians had started a buildup of forces in Bizerte's Casbah.

With chances fading for a negotiated settlement of the Bizerte crisis, Hammerskjold drove to the tense city following separate conferences in Tunis this morning with the U.S. and British ambassadors.

The black limousine carrying the U. N. flag and escorted by four motorcycle policemen was applauded by Tunisians as Hammarskjold swept out of the capital along the Tunis-Bizerte highway.

It was not immediately known if Hammarskjold planned to talk with French military authorities who control all of Bizerte except the Casbah.

He was, however, expected to confer in Tunis with President Habib Bourguiba at least once more before his departure, tentatively set for Thursday.

French government charges of a Tunisian build-up in the Casbah coincided with a Paris announcement that President Charles de Gaulle sent a message to the French commander in Bizerte today expressing "entire satisfaction" with the way French forces took over Bizerte.

De Gaulle's message lauded the French commander "for the firmness, the coolness and the skill that you proved at Bizerte in fulfilling our mission against the aggression against the base."

AF Reservist Says Outfit Is Ready if Called

DETROIT (AP) — "We're ready when called. That's what we're in this type of program for."

That was the comment today from Col. Gary F. King, deputy commander of a 2,000-man Michigan reserve unit that might be among the first called to active duty under President Kennedy's stepped up defense program.

King's unit is the 403rd Troop Carrier Wing, based at Selfridge Air Force Base. Its planes are C119 flying boxcars and its flying personnel spends two days a month in the air, in addition to regular one-day training with the ground personnel.

The 403rd is Michigan's only transport reserve unit.

The Michigan Air National Guard's 127th Wing is a tactical reconnaissance unit based at Detroit and Battle Creek.

It took about an hour to extinguish the fire. Firemen estimated damage to the one-story wood frame structure at $3,000 and to the contents, at $1,000.

Origin of the blaze was undetermined.

Fidel Will Share Speaking Honors With Gagarin

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro and Soviet spaceman Maj. Yuri Gagarin share the speaking honors today at a giant rally commemorating the start of the revolution that catapulted Castro to power.

The rally is the high point of week-long celebrations honoring Castro's 26th of July revolutionary movement. Gagarin heads a host of guests from the Communist countries.

It was eight years ago today that Castro led a band of rebel youths in an attack on the Moncada army barracks in Santiago. About 100 men were killed in the assault.

Castro himself was captured but later set free. Castro considers the date the start of the revolutionary movement which eventually ousted ex-Dictator Fulgencio Batista on Jan. 1, 1959.

House Unit OKs Bill to Create Youth Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Education and Labor Committee today approved a bill calling for a 12,000-member youth conservation corps, double the size the administration had requested.

The provision was a key part of a $366-million bill designed to provide job opportunities for youths between 16 and 21.

It was approved 18 to 13 on a straight party vote with Democrats in the majority.

The three-year program would be established on a pilot basis to see how it works. In addition to a youth corps it calls for on-the-job training and training in public service.

A motion to enlarge the youth corps to 150,000—the size approved by a Senate committee, was defeated by voice vote.

GOP Leaders Seek Red China Censure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders decided today to seek passage of an anti-Red China resolution before the Senate takes up President Kennedy's $4,326,500,000 foreign aid bill.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the Senate GOP leader, chief sponsor of the proposal, said its support is so overwhelming its passage "shouldn't require but a few hours."

It would put Congress on record for (1) continued support of the Nationalist Chinese government as the representative of the Chinese people in the U.N. (2) Continued opposition to Red China's admission to that body and (3) President Kennedy's position in not according Red China diplomatic recognition.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Justice Department brought a suit in Federal District Court here today to end what it called racial segregation practices at Dannelly field, the Montgomery municipal airport.

Embezzlement Laid to Mills Twp. Official

LANSING (AP)—State Auditor General Otis M. Smith said today a warrant for embezzlement has been authorized against Ralph Alderton, treasurer of Mills Township in Ogemaw County.

An audit of township books showed a deficit of $4,196, Smith said in a report to Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams.

The state audit was made after 25 per cent of the township's registered voters requested it, he said.

Smith said the shortage was in tax collections between March 1957 and July 1961.

Truck Owners Reminded to File Use Tax Return

The district director of internal revenue, R. I. Nixon, today emphasized that all truck owners subject to the highway vehicle use tax must file tax returns on form 2290.

The normal due date for this return is Aug. 31, but the law provides that returns may become due on other dates, depending upon the dates taxable trucks are acquired and first used.

Even though the highway vehicle use tax has been in effect since 1956, it is especially important for truck owners this year because of the Federal Highway Act of 1961, recently passed by Congress, Nixon said.

This new act provides for an increased tax rate from $1.50 to $3.00 per 1,000 pounds and also for a new installment method for payment of the tax.

Generally, the tax applies to vehicles with a gross weight in excess of 26,000 pounds, or unloaded weight of varying amounts, if the vehicles are used on public thoroughfares.

The hearing was set following protests against Grand Trunk's proposed 15 per cent rate hike which was to take effect Aug. 1.

The commission ordered a delay in the starting date until Sept. 14 unless another order results from the two-day hearing, Berkowitz said.

Says Loan to Britain May Be Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said today another U.S. loan to the British may be necessary to help them overcome economic difficulties and meet their military commitments.

The suggestion brought an immediate protest from Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., that "those in the most danger today are putting forth the least effort."

Javits touched off the discussion at the start of today's Senate session by observing that President Kennedy's call for a defense build-up coincided with word that the British are reducing their expenditures.

Javits said Britain needs financial help now and declared this would be a cheap form of help give if she will maintain her military commitments.

Four Persons Burned to Death

Homicide Charged in Ferndale Crash

A 45-year-old Hazel Park man has been charged with negligent homicide in the death of four persons in a three-car accident in Ferndale Sunday.

The Oakland County Prosecutor's Office authorized the warrant against Arthur McKenzie of 1628 E. Hayes St. late yesterday after taking statements from witnesses for two days.

McKenzie, who is in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, with burns and bruises, allegedly attempted to make a U-turn on Eight Mile Road, a maneuver reported to be the cause of the crash that killed four persons.

Included among the victims was his nephew Ronald McKenzie, 24, a passenger in his car.

Others killed in the accident were Detroit policeman William E. Stewart, 29, his wife Sharon, 22, and their son Scott, 3.

Several witnesses to the collision said McKenzie, traveling east on Eight Mile Road, started to make a U-turn when he collided with the Stewart car, traveling in the opposite direction.

Another witness told Asst. Prosecutor Robert Templin that McKenzie had applied his brakes and slid on the wet pavement into the path of the Stewart car.

McKenzie said Stewart's small foreign car crossed the center line and smashed into his vehicle.

The impact of the collision carried the two cars into a third vehicle driven by Edward Zack, 26, of Detroit. All three cars burst into flames.

The senior McKenzie, Zack and his three passengers all escaped serious injury. The Stewart family and McKenzie's nephew were trapped in the blazing wreckage.

The prosecutor's office said McKenzie's examination will be set when he is released from the hospital.

Keyes Loses Bid for Con-Con Seat —Raps Judges

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Eugene C. Keyes wasn't nominated as a candidate for constitutional convention delegate Tuesday and he said his indictment Friday on a charge of conspiracy to violate state election laws didn't help his campaign.

The Dearborn political veteran ran third in the Democratic primary in the 21st Senatorial District. Mrs. Iris M. Becker won the nomination.

Dr. Keyes called the indictment "a smear tactic to embarrass me" in the con-con election.

"I feel badly that these so-called Christian judges, who live by political intrigue, would bring this charge fewer than 80 hours before the election," he said.

Mail in Favor of Tough Stand

Congressional Offices Say Public Response to Berlin Light

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A spot check of congressional offices showed today that mail being received on the Berlin issue overwhelmingly favors a "tough" policy on Berlin but is running surprisingly light.

Even congressional leaders, who draw more foreign policy mail than other members, reported they received only an average of 10 to 15 letters a day, and this rate had slacked off during the past week or two.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who draws mail from all parts of the country, got a fairly heavy volume immediately after his recent Senate speeches on Berlin, but it is now running rather light.

The tone of the mail, Mansfield's office said, was fairly evenly balanced between those who would "not back down" and those wanting a negotiated solution to the Berlin problem.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has been getting an average of 10 to 15 letters a day on Berlin. His office said most of the writers felt the United States should "hold firm at any cost."

Senate Democratic whip Hubert Humphrey's mail on Berlin was heavy immediately after his return from a trip to Germany — and subsequent press conference — two weeks ago, but has been tapering off in the past few days. His aides reported the mail was "very definitely tough."

Shinto Funeral Ceremony for Japanese Princess

TOKYO (AP)—A Shinto funeral service was held today for Mrs. Morihiro Higashikuni, eldest daughter of Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako.

Mrs. Higashikuni, 35, the former Princess Teru, died Sunday after a long illness.

The emperor and empress broke with tradition to attend the funeral service. The body will be cremated and the ashes placed in the Higashikuni family tomb. The former princess is survived by her husband and five children.

'Barabbas' Likes Work Abroad

Quinn Role Needs Real Acting

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

ROME — Anthony Quinn had to come to Rome for the role of his lifetime.

He is playing the title role in the Dino DeLaurentiis production of "Barabbas," a $10-million production. It's all Tony's.

THOMAS

"I appear in every scene; so far I've been working four months and had half a day off," he said. "The picture is really an actor's dream; two and a half hours of an intensive character study."

Tony plays the legendary criminal who was pardoned when Jesus was condemned. The part carries him from wantonness to faith, complete with gladiator fights and mass crucifixions. For a finale, DeLaurentiis will burn Rome.

HURT SHOULDER

The actor was playing a prison scene with St. Peter (Dean Jagger) when I visited the studio on the banks of the Tiber. After a doctor treated his shoulder, banged in a movie fight, Quinn sawed on a steak and talked about Hollywood vs. European film thinking.

He admitted that he probably would never have gotten such a role in Hollywood, where he rose from extra ranks to win two Oscars (as supporting actor in "Viva Zapata" and "Lust for Life").

"In Hollywood, they still think in terms of 'box office stars,'" said Quinn. "That kind of thinking is outmoded.

"I like the European system better. Dino had his choice of two so-called box office stars as well as me. He turned them down because he thought I could do a better job of acting with this part."

NO BACK FENCE

Quinn is not anti-Hollywood. But he reasoned: "Hollywood isn't a place any more.

"When you're competing with films like 'Ben-Hur,' 'Bridge on the River Kwai' and 'Guns of Navarone,' you can't just build sets on the back lot. Where could we have built a Colosseum in Hollywood? We used a real one. Believe me, it gives an actor a charge to be working in an area that is 2,000 years old."

I mentioned that his father-in-law, Cecil B. DeMille, did all right portraying ancient times on Hollywood sets.

"But that was another era of film making," Quinn said. "And he didn't try it with Moses."

Quinn's next assignments will take him to New York, where he now makes his home. He is joining forces with David Susskind to film "Requiem for a Heavyweight" and "Lonely Boy."

Charges Canadians Snubbed for Pilotage

PORT HURON (AP) — An official of the Canadian Great Lakes Pilots Association claims the pilotage district recently opened in Port Huron has been hiring only American pilots.

Capt. Norman Johnston, secretary of the Canadian group, charged Tuesday that not a single Canadian pilot has been assigned to the area since the Port Huron district opened.

A district spokesman denied the charge.

Johnston charged that at least two Sarnia, Ont., pilots have been denied employment under a regulation jointly put into effect May 1 by the American and Canadian governments.

TV Learns a Lesson From Space Boner

NEW YORK (UPI) — When an American astronaut orbits the earth, probably next year, TV cameras will be left waiting at the empty launching pad for about 80 minutes.

Question: How will TV fill time between lift-off and touch-down?

Answer: Factually, without electronic deception.

In short, the industry has learned a lesson from last Friday's suborbital flight by Capt. Virgil Grissom. Many NBC-TV and CBS-TV viewers believed, at the time, that they were seeing part of a stirring astronaut-to astronaut radio conversation between Grissom and Alan Shepard.

When they learned, belatedly, that they had actually seen a prerecorded rehearsal scene from the Project Mercury control room, they felt cheated. ABC-TV avoided this pitfall by spurning the Shepard tape.

While the offending networks offered explanations for "the great Cape Canaveral tape jape caper," they also recognized the serious nature of their offense.

To see for myself what a remorseful network executive looks like, I visited the calm, cool and carpeted office of Richard Salant, president of the CBS news division, Tuesday.

Salant, a father of five children who bears a resemblance to "Dennis the Menace's patient, good-humored dad, called Friday's gaffe "inexcusable."

"It won't happen again," he said. "We're all shamefaced about it. We know we can't juxtapose fact and fiction. The news division deals with reality, not fiction."

What happens with the orbital flight? Will TV try to hold the attention of its viewers with controversial "show biz" gimmicks? Salant indicated TV will be content to follow the capsule's progress by means of arrows or dots on a globe. "If there's any confusion then," he said, "it will be because some viewers think they're watching a test pattern."

Wants, Has Claim Settled Before He Passes Away

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—"I would like very much," wrote William E. Ashby, 95, to the Polk County Board of Supervisors "to get this claim settled if possible before I pass away."

The board voted to settle the $2,536 claim for $1. An unidentified county official then paid the dollar.

Ashby owed the county $6,138 for treatment of his late wife, Bessie, at a state mental hospital. He had paid $3,602.

Mama Judy Blubbered for Daughter's Debut

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Judy Garland's daughter Liza, 15, made her dancing debut in "Wish You Were Here" at the Melody Tent, Hyannis Port, Mass., the other night—and mama Judy blubbered like a baby.

WILSON

"Remember how tiny she was when she was christened?" Judy sniffled to Kay Thompson, Liza's godmother.

Judy told about her tearful outburst at a party in her honor on the Carnegie Hall stage given by Capitol Records.

"How old were you when you started professionally?" Norman Rosemont, the personal manager, asked her.

"I," said Judy, "was one."

Jack Benny opened smashingly at Harrah's, Lake Tahoe, and worked with a little girl, Toni Marcus, 12, who played the violin with him. "Are you going to play like me?" Jack asked her. "No," she said, "but I used to."

CAROL

A psychiatrist asked Georgie Kaye whether he had trouble making decisions. Georgie answered, "Well, yes and no" . . . Home-run belter Roger Maris had a low tipping average at the Stage Barber Shop last season, usually leaving only 50c. Barber Frank Garzaniti happily reports that Maris' tipping average is now up to $1 in the barber league which is the same as .400 in the American league.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Carol Lawrence burst a blood vessel in her leg while dancing in a G.E. special in Hollywood but is o.k. though she was handicapped cooking lasagna at a Joe Pasternak dinner: "Have you ever tried cooking for 18 while sitting in one chair holding your foot on another chair?" . . . Jack Carter and bride Paula Stewart are lazing on the French Riviera . . . I loved this: Kai Yamato of "Orchids of Hawaii" told me that so many thousands of choice Hawaiian orchids are shipped to N.Y. for Easter and Mother's Day, that Hawaiians, wanting some, have to order them from New York.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "People go on vacations to forget things," says Corbett Monica, "and when they open their bags, they find out they did."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A 'misquotation' is something a person is sorry he said after he sees it in print"—Bill Doudna.

"Feminine tact," says Roseland's Lous Brecker, "is a woman's ability on a dance floor to make a man think he's leading" . . . That's earl, brother.

London Stock Prices Fall in Wake of Economy Push

LONDON (AP)—Prices fell at the opening of the London Stock Exchange today in the wake of the government's emergency economic program to make Britain solvent and support the pound.

Brokers marked almost the entire stock list down in anticipation of a selling wave.

The program handed Parliament Tuesday by Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd produced a strengthening of the pound this morning in the foreign exchange market.

In terms of the U.S. dollar the pound rose to $2.79, its highest level since June 27.

Similar improvements also were registered in relation to Continental currencies.

PRICES RISE

Unhappy Britons dug deeper into their pocketbooks or thought twice about buying as prices rose on a wide variety of consumer goods.

"I think it's perfectly bloody," said one businesswoman interviewed on a nationwide television program.

"There is a great future ahead for the horse," grumbled an automobile dealer.

The stiff new measures announced by Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd brought sharp criticism from several newspapers including one that normally supports government's policies.

It also brought outraged cries from people in all walks of life, from business executives to road sweepers.

The House of Commons today begins a two-day debate on the austerity program which is sure to include long and heated Labor party criticism and derisive reminders of the Conservatives' 1959 campaign slogan: "You never had it so good." There was no sign of a Conservative revolt, and the government's majority of more than 100 votes will approve the program at the end of the debate.

Frightens Crowd at N.Y. Airport

Deputies Capture Man Who Demands to Fly Before Killing Himself

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Investigators here were convinced today that Saino Zazzara, 22, had no anti-American motives but certainly had a mad desire to fly when he terrorized an airport crowd at gunpoint in a suicidal mood.

Zazzara, who told investigators his wife had threatened divorce, aimed a loaded pistol at the pilot of an otherwise empty Mohawk airliner Tuesday night and demanded to fly the plane.

Sheriff's men conquered him, however, and he was taken to a hospital for mental observation.

150 HIDE

About 150 persons crouched behind hiding places after Zazzara, flashing his gun, ran through the waiting room to the plane, shoving aside waiting passengers.

The sheriff's department dismissed an early suspicion that Zazzara, who works on his father's bakery in Ithaca, N.Y., had intended to hijack the commercial airliner for Fidel Castro's forces in Cuba.

In Albany, the Federal Bureau of Investigation would say only that it was investigating for possible violation of federal law. An FBI agent interviewed Zazzara.

Zazzara, father of a 2-year-old daughter, told sheriff's men he had flown a light plane for a few hours and wanted to try a big plane before killing himself because his wife was leaving him.

At her parents' home near Ithaca, Zazzara's 20-year-old wife told reporters she had "no idea" why her husband had acted thus. She said she had been living with him.

Many Americans Will Have to Pay Cost of Freedom

WASHINGTON (AP)—The price of freedom will have to be paid by many Americans, President Kennedy said Tuesday night in his talk to the nation.

After calling for a military manpower build-up and increased defense spending, he said: "I am well aware of the fact that many American families will bear the burden of these requests. Studies or careers will be interrupted; husbands and sons will be called away; incomes will be reduced.

"But these are burdens which must be borne if freedom is to be defended. Americans have willingly borne them before—and they will not flinch from the task now."

Detroiter Is Appointed State Legion Adjutant

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The appointment of Thomas A. Kouri of Detroit, an Army veteran of World War II, as adjutant of the Michigan Department of the American Legion, was announced Tuesday.

He succeeds Lisle Alexander of Plymouth who retired at the closing meeting here Sunday of the Legion's 43rd annual state convention.

Alexander served 19 years as adjutant.

Mamie Gives Furnishings to Goodwill Industries

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower Tuesday turned over many of the furnishings in her late mother's home to Goodwill Industries.

The former First Lady is sorting out family belongings with her sister, Mrs. G. Gordon Moore of Washington, D.C.

Their mother, Elivera Doud, died last fall.

No decision has been announced whether to sell the East Denver house in which Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower were married.

CAPTIVATING NEW IDEA — One of many Sanford Wallack has included in Basic-Witz's "Bouwitz" collection is the home filing cabinet, an invaluable addition to the office-at-home. And it's not just a mere utilitarian piece. Here opened to disclose its 20-drawer metal cabinet and metal indexed file box, it is based on a one-drawer table from the same group. Of butternut banded in pecan in a spice finish, the base also is available in surf blue. Side chair is one of three styles from the 87-piece assemblage.

Monkeys Jump in Popularity

Monkeys are popular as pets. While not so numerous as cats and dogs, they are always in demand, according to Hunt's Pet Shop. At the present time the shop has one chimpanzee, a squirrel monkey, a woolly monkey, a ringtail and three spider monkeys. The latter are small yellow monkeys.

Last week there were no dogs in Hunt's; they were sold out. Half a dozen gray and white kittens represented the feline world. There were 3 rabbits, one parrot and a macaw (both silent) and two lively minah birds.

Flat on his back, dead to the world in peaceful slumber, was a plump little raccoon. When spoken to, he opened his eyes lazily, then went back to sleep. Coons, say pet authorities, make excellent pets. This one even had a harness on.

But if you would be in the real swing of things, you will choose a monkey for your next pet.

Child's Tub, Wagon Work at Barbecue

Keep your chores for the barbecue as easy as you can.

To simplify transporting dishes indoors—and preventing the overhelpful assistants from traipsing in and out of the kitchen haphazardly stacking dishes all over the place — fill a pail or tub (a plastic baby bathtub is perfect) with hot soap or detergent suds and set it near the table along with wastebasket or can.

After eating, scrape excess food into can, slip dishes into the suds-filled tub for a presoaking that will make it easier to wash them later. The tub can be put in the children's wagon for easy hauling indoors.

Penney's Now Offers Two Charge Accounts

B. R. Eastridge, manager of the J. C. Penny Company, has announced that the store will now offer credit facilities to customers. This new service was started July 17 at both the Miracle Mile store and the one in downtown Pontiac.

The Penney credit plan will make available to customers the newest type of charge account in both Penney's charge account and the Time Payment Plan.

The Penney's charge account is a 30-day charge account which makes it possible for a customer to pay an account in full within 30 days of billing date without a service. This plan also provides an option for customers who wish to spread payments over a longer period.

Each month a bill is received the customer can pay it in full, without service charge, or pay a designated amount and extend the balance over a longer period. Minimum amounts vary from one-fourth to one-sixth of the total bill.

The Penney Time Payment Account is designed for higher-priced apparel with a unit price of at least $49 and for home furnishings items with a minimum unit price of $29. For this account the minimum payment will be $5 per month and the account may extend to a maximum of 18 months.

Eastridge emphasized that the credit plan will in no way change the Company's long-standing, low markup policy for customers who wish to continue to make their purchases on a cash-and-carry basis.

Penney's first started their credit operations in 1958 with 24 stores after 56 years of operating on a strictly cash-and-carry basis. In 1959 169 more stores were added to the group. By the end of 1962 all of the nearly 1,700 Penney stores throughout the country are slated to offer charge accounts.

Basket Dish Holders Need Good Scrubbing

Those basket frames used to carry heat - proof serving dishes from oven to table should be washed after the meal.

The method is to scrub the basket with a vegetable brush dipped into thick soap or detergent suds. Then hold it briefly under running water, shake off the excess, and hang it to dry.

Price Index Will Change Reference and Items

The price index is about to undergo some major, although not fundamental, changes in the hands of Arnold E. Chase, chief of the prices and cost-of-living division of the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. Next January, the consumer price index, along with hundreds of other significant Government indices, will shift to a new reference period for comparison. Your prices of January, 1962, will be related to those you paid in the three years of 1957, '58 and '59. Currently, consumer prices are compared with those prevailing in 1947-49.

NEW ITEMS

Then, in January, 1964, the index will shift to a new "market basket" of items. Today's index, based on hundreds of consumer items, represents the buying habits of 1950, when the last government survey was made. New products unheard of a decade ago are now routine purchases for the average family. The index must keep up with the times.

While inflation is a daily fact of life in this generation, it has failed to outpace the rise in "real" spendable income for most Americans. Much of the misunderstanding about the style in which we live arises, according to Chase, from a confusion of prices and levels of living.

"A family's income goes up, and it moves from a city apartment into a home in the country," Chase says. "Instead of a week at the seashore, it spends two. Instead of a used car, it owns a new one — and perhaps a boat. The man of the house complains that his cost of living has risen. Indeed, it has, but not nearly so much as his level of living."

Philosophers may argue whether these new standards bring a better life. At least, they bring a different life, involving the use of more goods and services by more people. But the consumer price index records very little of this. It merely records the prices paid by city workers in the low-and middle-income brackets. This it will continue to do.

Window Shades Take on Bright New Look

When the summer sun streams in at the windows, shades are often necessary to soften the glare and protect colors in furniture and rugs.

Have you seen the new candy-striped window shades with pink, yellow, green or blue stripes on white? All the colors of the rainbow appear in plain colored shades. White, silky-looking embroidery on white shades adds a luxurious and feminine look to bedroom or bath.

Geranium red is one of the most striking colors in an Oriental-looking shade fabric that is most attractive with the light coming through. Try shades of alternating colors at side-by-side windows in a solarium or bay window. A nice treatment in a sleek modern room and one that will eliminate need for curtains in summer.

Colored Plastic Doors

A popular idea among home handymen is installation of translucent plastic panels as sliding doors for kitchen cabinets.

The corrugated panels present a wide variety of colors that offer a finishing texture that provides a relief from the flatness of wood or metal cabinet doors.

Knit Sport Shirts Go in Best Circles

When sport shirts first came into popularity in the mid-forties, they were designed primarily for strenuous activities, such as tennis, golf and fishing. However, today most sport shirts are made for the spectator sportsman who lounges in front of the TV set, crowds the stadiums, or just enjoys the utter comfort of a boat.

Typical of this new spectator sport shirt is a neat plaid variation by Arrow from its Cum Laude Collection. Designed as an overshirt for extra coolness and comfort, it features a button-down collar and adjustable side tabs. Made of 100 per cent Sanforized cotton, it is available in color combinations of red, black, and white or blue, olive, and white.

Fancy Fly Swatters Need a Sudsing

Imaginative fly swatters — usually the least glamorous of household gadgets — now come fitted with over-size plastic flowers which conceal the business end.

These summertime essentials — with pink rose, yellow sunflower, or blue anemone motifs — can be kept sanitary by washing in hot suds and rinses after every victim is dispatched.

Shrink, Press All Ribbon Before Sewing It On

Because some ribbon may shrink up to three inches per yard, it's best to pre - shrink ribbon yardage before using it in any kind of needlework.

Wash in soap or detergent suds, rinse, let drip-dry, and press it flat before it is stitched to the fabric. Then it will not pucker the item it trims when laundered.

Accessory for Mower Saves Toes

An accessory kit for rotary lawnmowers to guard home gardeners against personal injury and provide new trimming speed and efficiency has been introduced by Protectorol, Inc., of Rochester, New York.

The Protectorol kit, which includes two hardwood rollers each 13½ inches in length, can be easily fitted to the front and back of rotary mowers regardless of size. They differ from the familiar rollers on reel mowers in that they do not touch the ground until the side wheel or wheels dip into a depression such as a flower bed trench.

"The new product has several major advantages," according to Joseph Benz, vice president of the firm and inventor of Protectorol.

"As far as safety is concerned, insurance statistics show that approximately 50,000 persons lose toes in rotary lawnmower accidents each year. The Protectorol rollers, properly set ¾-inches off the ground, guard against such personal injuries by carrying the mower and blade clear of the feet. And on the lawn this same feature enables the mower to hurdle high spots and bridge the lows, thus assuring a straight, even cut.

"In addition, Protectorol sharply cuts down the time needed for the overage home gardener, who does not have an expensive edger, to trim or hand edge his lawn. The rollers begin to work when one of both side wheels drop off the edge of the lawn or curb. They hold the roller in a virtually level position, assuring a neat cut to the extreme edge without scalping.

"Actually," said Benz, "the best way to trim is deliberately to drop both side wheels into the trench along the garden. Trimming then becomes just as easy as mowing on level lawn."

Another major advantage cited by Benz is that Protectorol guards against broken blades or bent crankshafts by giving advance warning of obstructions higher than ¾-inch. In addition, the attachment's ability to act as a bumper protects against cracks in mower aluminum castings by helping to disperse the shock of a collision.

To the home gardener, Benz pointed out, this feature eliminates much of the apprehension that hampers mowing efficiency.

The rollers can be easily attached to the skirt or flat deck of virtually any hand rotary mower. Brackets and lock nuts are provided with the roller attachments along with complete instructions on how to fit them to the mower.

Protectorol will be available first through lawn and garden equipment service dealers and then through hardware, lawn and garden supply outlets.

Further information is available from Protectorol, Inc., 13 Parkview Terrace, Rochester 17, New York.

Barbecue Cooks Don't Rough It Nowadays

Barbecue equipment becomes more elaborate each year. Once, the outdoor cook was satisfied to build a fire on the ground and place a grill over it. Now he has waist-high grills with electrically turned spits, electric units to ignite the charcoal and all sorts of accessories.

Charcoal is kept in a long tubular container that pivots on a stand. Tip it down, fill the top which is scuttle shaped and let it swing back into an upright position.

If you still have a simple grill, you can choose a number of ways to get the charcoal lighted easily. Liquid charcoal starter, cigar-shaped solid sticks, or a round of metal that looks like part of a stovepipe will do the trick.

There are separate containers for steak, chicken, hot dogs, hamburgers, frozen vegetables and large roasts. There are cups to hold the barbecue sauce and shakers of water to put out flaming coals. There are long handled salt and pepper shakers and heavy mits to take off the food.

But nothing has changed or modernized the old fashioned blue enamel coffee pot that makes about 14 cups of "boiled" coffee (it's ambrosia when made right) or the ice cream freezer you turn by hand. Not only is the ice cream superb, but what you lick off the dasher tastes even better. Modern conveniences cannot improve on some items.

Lamp Shade Changes Room

Sprightly new lamp shades offer an inexpensive solution to a problem that concerns many homemakers at this time of year — how to add bright, summery accents without overhauling an entire decorative scheme.

The new shade designs not only provide a cheerful "spring wardrobe" for lamp bases, but also cast an airy glow that enlivens the over-all atmosphere of a room. Generally, the latest models are translucent. Whatever materials they are made of — silk, nylon, plastic, rayon, paper, straw or burlap — they are treated to filter and spread the light rather than focus it sharply on one spot.

Orlon, nylon, and silk shantung, currently important in the fashion world, are also seen in new lamp shades. These materials are stretched over wire frames in clean-cut tailored shapes. One collection of nylon shades for boudoir lamps features pastel colors and nylon lace trimming.

Fishnet — either real or stimulated — is a popular motif. Actual fishnet may be impregnated between two layers of plastic or spread over fiberglass for textural interest. Net patterns printed on fiberglass achieve a similar effect. Also mesh-like and airy are paper parchment shades over-laid with a second layer of cut-out paper.

Ideal for casual interiors and summer cottages are colorful drapery fabrics, especially chintzes and other Early American and Provincial prints, which are usually mounted on white paper parchment to reflect a great deal of light. Some come in straight drum contours, while others are gaily ruffled, reminiscent of the days when women made lamp shades from skirts and petticoats.

CONCEALED ASSETS — Offer solution to storage in this compact unit that takes but 90 inches of floor space. Its components are from a new 87-piece correlated line that manufacturer Basic-Witz calls "Bonwitz." Designer Sanford Wallack imbued butternut and pecan woods with a strictly American contemporary personality for the collection, giving it a "young look" of buoyancy with spicetoned finish and thin lines. Here, drawer and cabinet units are based on a triple platform. Wall supports make the hanging easy for a drawer unit (in mustard, a color alternate), stereo speaker cabinet, shelves and cabinet unit with door.

Color in Bath Is Modern, Stylish

For a fresh look in your bathroom, plan a color scheme that is interchangeable. If colors are carefully coordinated, you can change the appearance of the room by simply changing towels and rug.

Begin with the largest design area, such as a shower curtain, or a fixed tone such as the tiles and work your color scheme around these basic shades. If the curtain combines two or three colors, let these hues create the basis for an everchanging decor.

Select towels and rugs that coordinate with the tones in the curtain. Vary your choice, however. Have one set in a vibrant tone, another in pastel.

The floor is a very important color area, and the new types of bathroom rugs, such as the pouffs made of Creslan acrylic fiber and modacrylic fiber, come in a wide variety of colors so that you can change your color scheme often. They're luxurious in appearance and feel and come in sizes and shapes to fit any room. And best of all, they take to the washing machine with the alacrity of a towel.

If the dominant color of your bathroom can't be changed, don't be intimidated. Take advantage of the situation, for inusual color combinations are big news this year. Be bold in using color, the results will be different and rewarding.

Settle for Nothing Less Than Best Equipment

Good equipment can also trim time from work at the summer cottage. Making do with a worn-out sponge mop, a battered broom or a tattered dust cloth just doesn't make sense to me when you can equip yourself with good ones for very little money.

A budget version sponge mop, for example is light, white plastic and does a thorough job of whisking away tracked-in water, sand, or drippings from melting ice cream cones.

Local Man Becomes Shoe Store Manager

A Pontiac resident for the past 14 years, Homer C. Aaron was appointed manager of Beck's Shoe store early in July. Becks is a national chain of 180 stores.

Aaron was a driver for the Pontiac City Bus Lines for a number of years, selling shoes on the side. For the past 2 years he has worked in the shoe department of the Lion Store. Aaron says he has been selling shoes for approximately 20 years.

With his wife he lives at 135 S. Edith Street. The Aarons came to Pontiac from Kentucky.

New Rag Dolls Have Voices

The cuddly warmth of a rag doll has been combined for the first time with the companionship of conversation in three new talking dolls now available nationally from Mattel, Inc., toymaker of Hawthorne, Calif.

The new dolls — which contain a speaking mechanism similar to the one in the company's popular "Chatty Cathy" — are in the images of the three stars of Mattel's top daytime rated "Matty's Funday Funnies" on ABC Television — Matty Mattel, Sister Belle, and Casper the Friendly Ghost.

Each of the dolls speaks 11 different sentences at the pull of a ring-on-a-string, and each has its own distinctive vocabulary and vocal personality.

The dolls have soft bodies, with hi-impact "tiff-to-break" plastic heads in which their voice units are protectively sealed.

Matty, the talking boy, is an orange-wigged, freckle-faced scamp dressed in a removable striped T-shirt and jeans. His chenille crew-cut is topped by a felt crown with removable elastic band and his shoes are sewn to the body.

Sister Belle is a blue-eyed blonde charmer with a pony-tail hair-do of yellow yarn. She is dressed in a removable striped pinafore, and her blouse and shoes are sewn to the body.

Casper, the talking ghost, is completely dressed in white Terrycloth with an attached hood of the same material. His voice, recorded through an echo-chamber effect, is appropriately ghostly as he voices such ghost-like sayings as "I'm a friendly ghost — I like youooo — My name is Casper — and — Can I stay with you?"

PORTABLE DISHWASHER — "Read me a story, Mommy," says the little lady on her way to bed. And thanks to her Mother's Day gift, a portable dishwasher, this busy homemaker can now take the time to enjoy those precious bedtime moments with her daughter. With the hours of free time provided by a dishwasher, such as this top-loading KintchenAaid portable, Mom is out of the kitchen and ready for a pleasant evening almost as soon as dinner is over.

Cooks Rush to Buy Coated Frying Pans

New York housewives are swarming into stores to buy the new greaseless cooking utensils. They are coated with a special substance which makes it possible to fry or braise without using cooking fats or oils. Many are imports.

What's the secret?

The inside cooking surface of these new pans is coated with a fluorocarbon resin which prevents food from sticking. Club Aluminum Products Company of LaGrange Park, Ill., a leading American utensil manufacturer, has just introduced a line of these greaseless cooking utensils including skillets, a griddle and saucepan. They are coated with DuPont's "Teflon".

DuPont says "Teflon" had been used for many years as a non-stick coating for bread, candy and milk processing equipment. In 1950, the Food and Drug Administration approved "Teflon".

Marjorie Christiansen, director of home economics for Club Aluminum Products Company, comments:

"We have concluded that cooking in "Teflon" coated utensils does not in any way contaminate or change properties of foods cooked and that there is no more danger in the use of such utensils than in any others.

"Since it is a surface coating and not an integral part of the vessel, excessive heat should not be used. We recommend a limit of 450 degrees, as no higher temperatures are necessary to frying or other surface cooking."

She explained that "Teflon" coated utensils do not become discolored from the mineral content of water or vegetables. Since foods do not stick to the surface, these pans are easier to clean.

All these greaseless cooking utensils have to be treated carefully. Sold with them is a wooden spatula which should always be used. Metal spoons or knives can scratch the coated surface.

It's hard to say if these greaseless pans are just a fad or if they represent a new trend in utensils. People who worry about weight and diet appear to be the most enthusiastic purchasers of these pans.

It now appears that most utensil makers will soon add some kind of coated greaseless pans to their lines.

Protect Maple Tops With Oil Treatment

Here's how to bring out the natural wood beauty and assure long life of the maple cutting board tops now available for free-standing and convertible portable home dishwashers:

Before using, remove surface dust by wiping with a dry cloth. Saturate a clean cloth with mineral oil or linseed oil and polish wood surfaces, allowing overnight absorption, home economists recommend.

Repeat the oil treatment the following day and allow to stand four to six hours before removing excess with soft, dry cloth. The top then is ready for use. Repeat the process every six to eight months.

To remove stubborn stains, let dampened scouring powder remain in contact with the wood for three to five hours. Then wipe away spot or stain with damp cloth.

A skylight can be insurance for a cheerful kitchen, especially in a small room where wall space is at a premium.

Makeshift Bath Brush Useful When Traveling

A long-handled back brush is a wonderful bathing accessory at home, but inconvenient to carry while traveling. For a handy substitute, wrap a hotel washcloth or small towel around your hair brush and fasten it with an elastic, a safety pin, or a hair clip.

Work up a rich lather of soapsuds on the makeshift backscrubber, and use it to reach and scrub hard-to-get-at areas. Afterwards, just rinse the suds from the brush which will dry quickly.

Electric Ranges Last With Care

EAST LANSING — Modern electric ranges are designed and built to give years of satisfying service, says Georgianne Baker, home management specialist at Michigan State University.

To manage an electric range efficiently, Miss Baker suggests the surface units be used on "high" heat as little as possible. This saves some current and prevents burning of food. Pan size should match surface unit size, with both having about the same diameter.

Utensil size should be related to the amount of food to be cooked. A flat-bottom, straight-sided cooking utensil gives maximum contact and heat transfer. Avoid using heavy utensils not designed for household cooking and do not place empty utensils on a hot unit. Rotate use of front and rear units so all will get equal wear.

In cleaning, follow the simple directions from the manufacturer. For example, allow the heating coils to burn themselves clean. Using a harsh cleaner makes an extra job for the homemaker and it may damage the coils.

The design of new electric thermostatically-controlled surface units has been greatly improved. Temperatures are now more accurately controlled. Miss Baker suggests trials with the suggested temperatures for cooking various foods.

Roof Is Like Frosting

Asphalt shingles come in a wide range of colors that add distinction to a house and help correct design defects. Houses that are too tall appear lower with a dark roof and small houses can be made to appear larger by using lighter shades of roofing.

Seeks $3.5 Billion More for Defense

Con-Con Primary Is Won by Names

The name and labor-backed candidates came out on top yesterday as a mere sprinkling of eligible Oakland County voters selected 12 nominees for the September constitutional convention election.

There were no startling surprises among the six Republican and six Democratic nominees in the six legislative districts.

The turnout of 49,300 voters throughout the county — 14 per cent of the qualified 334,455 voters — indicated there's little concern for the convention which will overhaul the state's 1908 constitution at least at this stage of the proceedings.

Returns from the 46 townships and cities in the county showed a total of 31 zeros for individual candidates.

District 1 — Republican Richard D. Kuhn and Democrat John S. Coleman.

District 2 — Republican Raymond L. King and Democrat Leslie H. Hudson.

District 3 — Republican Henry L. Woolfenden and Democrat Asher N. Tilchin.

District 4 — Republican Richard C. Van Dusen and Democrat Thomas G. Kavanagh.

District 5 — Republican Arthur G. Elliott Jr. and Democrat Avern Cohn.

District 6 — Republican Dale Edwards and Democrat Lee Walker.

Tilchin, a Detroit attorney from West Bloomfield Township, was unopposed, but his name on the primary ballot polled in 1,284 votes in the usually Republican district.

Missing from yesterday's ballots were the names of George W. Romney and William A. O'Brien, who were unopposed for their party's nomination. They will do battle, as will the other 12 in the Sept. 12 general election.

Statewide Results, Pg. 2

That election will determine the seven delegates Oakland County will have when Secretary of State James M. Hare gavels the state constitutional convention to order on Oct. 3 in Lansing.

While most state election officials hit the voter turnout nearly on the head, County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. was overly optimistic.

He figured about 80,000 voters would visit the primary polls.

He said the lackluster primary cost the county $30,000 in pre-election and election day expenses, or about 60 cents a voter.

All returns, Murphy said, remain unofficial until the County Board of Canvassers examines them beginning today. The job is expected to be completed by tomorrow, the county clerk estimated.

Kuhn, a 31-year-old attorney in Pontiac and automatic car wash owner, today was celebrating his nomination after seven tries for public office. The Waterford Township Republican, who never has been elected but who has been nominated before, came out on top of a wild 12-person scramble for the 1st District GOP nomination.

COLEMAN HIS OPPONENT

Coleman, 31, a Waterford Township school teacher and township trustee, will seek to keep Kuhn's losing record intact in September.

Coleman was a candidate for state representative for the district last fall.

(See accompanying boxes for complete returns for all candidates from the six districts.)

Coleman ended up with 1,014 votes to Kuhn's winning 822.

Woolfenden, a former president of the State Bar of Michigan and former mayor and now city commissioner of Bloomfield Hills, proved to be the top vote getter in the countywide primary with 6,037 votes.

Lack of interest in the primary is illustrated by the turnout of only 32 Wixom voters of 746 registered, the 73 of 552 in Northville, the 74 of 1,075 in Lyon Township and the 89 of 632 in Rose Township.

Hudson Top Choice of Con-Con Dems

Former State Representative Leslie H. Hudson made a successful political comeback in yesterday's constitutional convention primary in Pontiac.

The 1958 Democratic congressional candidate and city hardware store owner proved the top vote getter with 856 among six Democratic con-con candidates. He'll match votes with Republican Raymond L. King, a Pontiac attorney, on Sept. 12.

Only 12 per cent of the city's 37,563 registered voters took time out to vote yesterday.

Democratic voters numbered 2,772 and Republicans' 1,574 for a total of 4,346.

King, a 31-year-old former staff assistant with the Republican county committee, pleased Republican party leaders by amassing 1,157 votes, to win the GOP nomination in the traditionally Democratic city.

King, of 1095 Dudley Ave., nearly tripled the 417 votes his challenger, Robert C. Smith, 43, of 14 Williams St., a Waterford Township school teacher, received.

But the focus of attention was on the harder fought Democratic nomination encounter where Hudson, 39, of 361 Gallogly Road, survived a six-way battle and won with 256 votes more than his closest competitor, George A. Googasian, a young attorney-to-be and son-in-law of State Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac. Googasian received 600.

Law, who worked nearly as hard as his relative candidate, campaigning at factory gates and downtown, replaced Hudson as the city's representative in Lansing in 1958 when Hudson sought a trip to Washington as a congressman. He's been nearly inactive politically since his defeat.

Hudson won without AFL-CIO endorsement as the union's county council dodged endorsing any of the six Democratic city candidates believing them "about equal."

Trailing Hudson and Googasian, 25, of 105 E. Iroquois Road, was Carl W. O'Brien, a former employe of a Birmingham tractor firm, 596 votes; Dick M. Kirby, a four-county business agent for a building and construction trades union, 401; Mrs. Gladys Neldrett, state educational leader, 226; and T. Boice Purdy, Michigan Bell Telephone Co. employe and attorney, 93.

REFUGEES READ SPEECH — East German Refugees are engrossed in newspaper reports of President Kennedy's Berlin address as they wait in line at a West Berlin processing center. West Berlin morning papers carried long excerpts from the speech in late editions. Kennedy is shown below as he delivered the message.

West Endorses JFK's Stand

Soviets Say U. S. Using Berlin Issue to Justify Arms Race

BERLIN (AP)—World reaction to President Kennedy's speech on the Berlin crisis divided on cold war lines today.

West Germans were delighted at his firm stand. Other West Europeans and their friends abroad warmly endorsed the President's pronouncement, with its prospects for improvement in the military posture of the United States and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Soviet news agency Tass said in a Washington summary that Kennedy had seized on "the so-called threat to West Berlin, allegedly coming from the Soviet Union," as an excuse to justify the arms race.

The first significant reaction from the neutralist sphere came in New Delhi, where a senior Indian Foreign Ministry official called Kennedy's appeal for increased defense spending extremely unfortunate.

Two persons intimately concerned were West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt. Both were enthusiastic.

Adenauer declared in Bonn he was "happy that the United States has resolutely taken over the leadership of the West."

Brandt issued a statement saying it was a moving speech.

"As mayor of Berlin," he said, "I want to thank the President of the United States for the determination he displayed to protect the rights of the Allies and the citizens of the part of this city that does not belong to Soviet-held territory."

The British government, though involved in belt-tightening measures intended to include its armed forces, announced full support of Kennedy's stand and warned the Soviet Union against any move that would inflame the situation further.

It added that Britain, like the United States, is willing to negotiate if the Soviet Union is ready to talk on a reasonable basis.

Waterford OKs 2 Issues, Refuses Money for One

Waterford Township voters in yesterday's primary election approved a civil service program for policemen and a retirement system for police and firemen but refused to make tax money available for the latter.

A shade more than 15 per cent of the township's registered voters cast ballots on four local issues and for the Con-Con candidates.

Proposition 1—to place township policemen under civil service commission jurisdiction — passed 2,100 to 1,164.

Passage of Proposition 2 permits creation of a retirement program, a pension board and payroll deductions for a pension fund for police and firemen. The vote was 1,995 to 1,240.

But the voters turned thumbs down on Propositions 3 and 4 which would have raised their taxes for the township's contribution to the pension fund.

With a yes vote of 1,379 against 1,804 no's, they refused a maximum tax limitation increase of half a mill towards the fund.

Proposition 4, a supplement to number 3, would have allowed the township to levy the tax. It was defeated 1,764 to 1,219. Only resident township property owners could vote on this proposition.

President Asks for Funds to Support Hike in Forces

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy asked Congress today for $3.5 billion in new defense funds to reinforce the nation's military might in preparation for a showdown with the Soviet Union over Berlin.

Following up a declaration Tuesday night that the United States will defend Berlin with force if the Russians try to drive out the Western powers, Kennedy sent a message to Congress today asking funds for a 217,000-man increase in the nation's regular armed forces.

He followed that up with a request that Congress authorize him to call up reserve forces and to extend enlistments and tours of duty for military personnel, including the National Guard.

Specifically he asked authority to call up not more than 250,000 members of the ready reserve—either as units or as individuals—for up to 12 months active duty.

He also asked authority to extend for 12 months enlistments, active duty, obligated service or other military status of any member of the armed services or the National Guard that expire before July 1 next year.

He already had announced that he was ordering draft calls "doubled and tripled" so that as many as 24,000 young men a month may soon be going into uniform. The July call was for 8,000 men.

To raise the permanent level of the nation's conventional warfare forces, Kennedy asked Congress to add $3,454,600,000 to appropriations for the Defense Department.

This would bring the total asked for the Defense Department military operations for the present fiscal year up to $47,506,113,000.

Kennedy said Tuesday night he does not plan to ask for new taxes now but declared he would propose tax increases if necessary later.

The appropriations Kennedy asked include $207 million for a stepped-up civil defense program handled by the Defense Department. Of this, he said about $140 million would be spent

GOP Senators Pledge Backing

Will Help to Expedite Enlarged Defense Bill, Leaders Reveal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leaders announced after a party policy meeting today they will cooperate to expedite passage of President Kennedy's enlarged defense money bill.

"I think the timetable is to have it on the President's desk by next Tuesday night," Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., Senate GOP minority leader, told reporters.

"This is an emergency situation," Dirksen said, "and I think there will be no difficulty for the President's requests."

Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., chairman of the Policy Committee, agreed with Dirksen and said Kennedy spoke frankly and forthrightly to the American people and the world as well last night.

He said Kennedy's talk was "firm" and "I believe and I hope it is now clear to our enemies as well as to friends the strong position we have taken."

"We have made it clear we mean to carry out our commitments," Dirksen added. "There is going to be no fooling."

Congressional leaders of both parties praised Kennedy's blunt warning to Russia by words and deeds that America will fight for Berlin if necessary.

SOLID SUPPORT

Republicans and Democrats signaled solid support for Kennedy's request for $3,454,000,000 in new defense spending. There was no publicly dissenting voice to his program of boosting military strength by 217,000 men.

There even was Republican backing for a $207-million breakground fund for building civilian defense fallout shelters. In the past, Congress has snubbed such requests.

Dirksen said he has concluded "we have reached the stage where we must do something about this. We cannot permit the Russians to use this avenue of possible blackmail."

Sen Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the assistant majority leader of the Senate, said he thought everything Kennedy asked for last night will be provided by Congress by the end of this week or the first of next.

He told newsmen he felt this would be one way Congress would demonstrate its support of the President. Humphrey also predicted that Congress will adjourn by Sept. 10.

Many who applauded Kennedy's firm stand on Berlin said they hoped the extra defense outlays could be offset by postponing some of Kennedy's domestic programs.

There was a general sigh of relief in Congress that Kennedy was not asking for any immediate increase in taxes.

Will Try Traffic Pacer to Cut Red-Light Stops

WARREN—Beginning next week along 4 miles of Mound Road from 11-Mile to 15-Mile roads, motorists will be advised by lighted speed signs how fast or slow to pace themselves to arrive at the next traffic signal while it is green.

A new Traffic Pacer—a traffic control system developed by General Motors Research Laboratories in cooperation with the Macomb County Road Commission—will be operating.

The purpose of this prototype installation is to improve traffic flow over suburban and city streets with multiple intersections (as contrasted with limited access roads).

This is done with a series of illuminated speed advisory signals hanging over the center of the pavement.

These are numerals 20 inches high resembling football or baseball scoreboard numbers.

A motorist entering the 4-mile system at either end or from any intersection in between needs only to obey these speed signals which vary from 25 to 45 miles per hour. They inform him how fast he must go to make the next green traffic signal.

For a two-year period the system will be operated by Macomb County Road Commission.

During the first 12 weeks men from the Michigan State Highway Department will make traffic counts along the 4-mile route.

Their surveys will determine what trip time savings motorists can make and what improvement can be made in Mound Road's "intersection capacity"—the number of vehicles that can go through an intersection during each green cycle of a traffic light.

The Traffic Pacer is designed to increase this capacity by as much as 20 per cent.

WILL COMPARE SYSTEM

County traffic engineers intend to evaluate the Traffic Pacer's efficiency in comparison with a conventional progressive traffic control system, now in use on many city and suburban streets, and a noninterconnected system which is presently used along Mound Road.

Main difference between the Traffic Pacer and a conventional progressive traffic control system is that the Traffic Pacer keeps the motorist continually informed how fast or slow he must go to avoid red signals.

In a progressive system the motorist knows only that the traffic signals are set at a fixed speed, but if he gets out of step he has no idea how much he must vary his speed to make the next green signal.

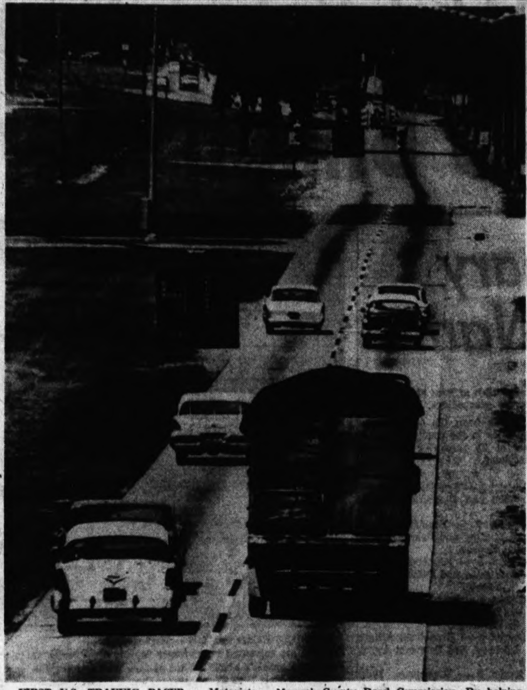
In introducing the Traffic Pacer, engineers warned it isn't a panacea. Failure to obey the speed advisory signs will clog traffic lanes just as a slow driver on an expressway impedes traffic flow for miles.

Or an overflow of traffic onto Mound Road will cause a tie-up, just as too many calls will clog telephone circuits.

The system is modeled to some extent on so-called "traffic funnels" now used extensively in Germany to improve both road capacity and traffic safety through elimination of most intersection stops.



FIRST U.S. TRAFFIC PACER — Motorists along 4 miles of Mound Road in Warren are advised what speed to drive to make the next green traffic signal. Overhead are variable speed signs in a Traffic Pacer system developed by General Motors Research Laboratories and Macomb County Road Commission. By helping drivers miss red traffic lights, the system is designed to move vehicles in an uninterrupted run without excessive stops at intersections. (Speed signals in this telephoto near GM Technical Center are 921 feet apart.)

JFK Asks Hike in Defense Funds

during the current fiscal year which ends next June 30.

Likewise, he estimated that $2,740,000,000 of the $3,247,000,000 he asked for the military forces would be spent in the current year. Government spending regularly lags behind appropriations.

$5-BILLION DEFICIT

Kennedy said the total expenditures on defense for this fiscal year are now estimated at a little more than $46.5 billion. The increases will mean a deficit of around $5 billion by the time the fiscal year ends next June 30.

In a no surrender speech Tuesday night on the Berlin crisis and the worldwide Communist threat, the President laid out his six-point program of military preparation and told the nation in grim words intended also for Soviet Premier Khrushchev:

"We do not want to fight — but we have fought before."

He pledged to take the initiative in seeking a peaceful solution through negotiation with the Soviet Union but ruled out any solution which would yield West Berlin to Communist demands.

"We seek peace," he said, "but we shall not surrender."

Kennedy made clear that the military reinforcements he wants are not to meet the Berlin crisis alone but have been designed through long weeks of planning to give the United States a permanent boost in strength "to meet a worldwide threat, on a basis which stretches far beyond the present Berlin crisis."

He called on the NATO allies to step up their own military preparation toward the 30-division goal which NATO set several years ago for combat-ready defense forces in Western Europe.

While he did not mention specific figures he said that nothing less than fulfillment of the agreed level of strength will suffice. He indicated that the United States is ready to put greater resources into Europe's defenses.

CALLS FOR SACRIFICE

The President told the nation his six-point program will require sacrifice, courage and perseverance.

Kennedy said the measures will not immediately require any increase in taxes though they mean an officially estimated budget deficit of more than $5 billion. But he declared bluntly that if tax increases are needed to achieve a balanced budget next January, "These increased taxes will be requested."

Kennedy said he had heard the argument that West Berlin, surrounded by Soviet troops and close to Soviet supply lines, was "militarily untenable."

"So was Bastogne. So, in fact, was Stalingrad. Any dangerous spot is tenable if brave men will make it so," Kennedy said.

The President delivered his speech seated behind his desk in his White House office. His manner was intense and somber throughout. He never smiled.

Because of added personal remarks at the end, which he spoke with extra emphasis, he ran nearly two minutes overtime on his half-hour talk.

Water requires more heat to warm it and more cold to cool it than any other common substance, according to thermal measurements.

But more warm and humid weather was indicated in most of the Southeast and showers were in prospect during the afternoon and evening in broad areas.

One belt of thunderstorms extended from eastern South Dakota into southwest Nebraska. Wind gusts of 81 m. p. h. lashed Huron, S. D., and reached 41 m. p. h. at Pierre, S. D. A thunderstorm hit Tucson, Ariz.

Temperatures were pleasant in the 60s in the Great Lakes region and northern New England, with readings in the 50s in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Readings were generally in the 70s in other areas from the Rockies eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

Fidel Will Share Speaking Honors With Gagarin

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro and Soviet spaceman Maj. Yuri Gagarin share the speaking honors today at a giant rally commemorating the start of the revolution that catapulted Castro to power.

The rally is the high point of week-long celebrations honoring Castro's 26th of July revolutionary movement. Gagarin heads a host of guests from the Communist countries.

It was eight years ago today that Castro led a band of rebel youths in an attack on the Moncada army barracks in Santiago. About 100 men were killed in the assault.

Stage Is Set for Showdown in Con-Con's 'Sham' Battle

DETROIT (AP) — The stage was set today for a showdown struggle over delegate seats to Michigan's first constitutional convention in 53 years — but for many candidates it may be a sham battle.

Only about 15 per cent — or less than 600,000 — of the state's four million registered voters turned out at the polls in Tuesday's primary to nominate 288 candidates for the Sept. 12 general election.

In many predominantly Republican or Democratic districts, the nomination was believed tantamount to election. Past performances indicate that in only a dozen or so counties throughout the state are the parties evenly matched enough to provide doubtful contests

There were no major upsets in the primary, and most big-name candidates either were unopposed or won handily. These included: George Romney, president of American Motors Corp.; John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University; former Republican Congressman Alvin Bentley; GOP National Committeeman John B. Martin; Stanley Davis, mayor of Grand Rapids, and Democratic National Committee-woman Mildred Jeffrey.

Voters turned thumbs down on Dr. Eugene C. Keyes, former lieutenant governor indicted last week for an alleged conspiracy to violate the state election laws.

But they nominated Anthony J. Wilkowski, 68, a former Democratic state senator who served more than two years in prison for fraud in an election vote recount and later was twice refused a seat by the Senate after his election.

EX-SOLONS LOSE

Another former state senator, Edward Hutchinson of Fennville, won the GOP nomination in his district, while two other former state senators lost. They were Lewis Christman of Ann Arbor, and Donald J. Gilbert of Saginaw.

Former State Treasurer D. Hale Brake won easily, as did Roscoe Bonisteel Sr., a former University of Michigan regent and onetime president of the Michigan Bar. Both are Republicans.

Political fireworks are planned by both major parties in an effort to spur interest — and produce a few upsets — in the general election Sept. 12 when voters will decide who they want to occupy the 144 delegate desks at the convention opening on Oct. 3.

State leaders maintained a strict official neutrality among the primary candidates although several local groups endorsed a party slate.

But the party chieftains have been busy preparing ammunition to fire in the next six weeks with top officials planning to criss-cross the state on speech-making tours.

Waterford OKs 2 Issues

Con-Con candidates in the Sept. 12 finals. The Waterford choices were confirmed by the district as a whole.

Kuhn polled 414 GOP votes and Coleman 673.

Of a total 22,000 registered voters in the township, 3,466 cast their ballots in yesterday's election.

NOTE SCHOOL ISSUE

While Waterford voters favored a pension plan for their police and firemen they don't want to pay any part of it, realizing that a school bond issue is certain to be on a ballot in the fall, one observer noted.

The bond issue would seek more taxes for additional school construction, the need for which is created by a continuously expanding population.

It is doubtful that any pension fund will be set up by the township board without tax support.

It would have cost the township an estimated $22,000 annually. This sum could have been raised through less than a half-mill levy, probably by just one-fourth of a mill, or, 25 cents per $1,000 taxable property.

In approving the civil service issue, voters have provided township policemen with the same job security given to firemen in a similar vote last spring.

TO SET UP EXAMS

A three-man commission, probably the same one serving the firemen, will set up examinations for applicants to the force, and promotion examinations. It will have the power to review cases involving discipline or firing.

Under State Legislature Act 78, the commission has the right to rescind firings or disciplinary actions following its review of the facts presented by both sides.

Of a total 1,300 Democratic votes cast in the primary, 31-year-old Coleman, a government and economics teacher, received more than half. His closest competitor, Robert J. Cook garnered 323 votes and William J. Dean Jr., 304.

Kuhn, a 31-year-old Pontiac attorney and automatic car wash owner, far outdistanced a field of 12 GOP primary candidates. This was his seventh nomination for public office.

Following is a rundown on the other GOP candidates:

Col. Ingram "distinquished himself by meritorious service as chief staff and subsequently, commander, Fifth Air Force Reserve Region" during the past year.

'Name' Candidates Win Con-Con Races

Hills, bettered the 3,487 votes of his nearest competitor, Mrs. Jean Kerr Ketchum, former president of the state League of Women Voters, in one of the hottest contests in the county. Woolfenden never was behind.

Interest in this six-way district nomination race shows in the 12,834 voters, the largest number in any of the six districts.

In the largest single vote for any one candidate from any area, Bloomfield Township cemented Woolfenden's nomination by giving the Detroit lawyer 2,058 votes.

Mrs. Ketchum, a Birmingham housewife who had campaign forces similar to a big election; even trailed Woolfenden in her own city of Birmingham. Here Woolfenden gathered 1,702 and Mrs. Ketchum 1,619.

HEED ENDORSEMENTS

Democratic voters in the county apparently paid heed to endorsements by the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council when they voted in all but one of the union-endorsed candidates in the six districts.

The exception was in District 1 where Robert J. Cook received the nod of the union. He followed Coleman with 610 votes.

A Birmingham attorney, Kavanagh, 43, of Beverly Hills, will challenge another "top name" in Van Dusen, former state representative from the 3rd District and 1956 nominee for state attorney general.

Van Dusen turned out to be the second highest vote getter countywide with 4,600 votes to Kavanagh's 1,556. Kavanagh was opposed by eight Democrats, while Van Dusen had to get by J. William Roberts, a former Oak Park police officer and partner in a restaurant corporation.

Van Dusen is also an attorney practicing in Detroit.

Elliott, Republican county chairman, won his first election test. He is a realtor in Royal Oak and lives in Pleasant Ridge.

He'll face Cohn, an attorney from Royal Oak.

"Details of the fantastic plot revealed by American and Panamanian officials in New York and Washington were confirmed today by Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.), member of the House Appropriations Committee and a subcommittee handling defense appropriations," the newspaper said.

He said he stopped the car when he heard her cry. The accident occurred at about 4:15.

News Media Wants Con-Con Open to Public

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan newspaper, radio and television organizations begin today seeking delegate support to have all meeting of the October constitutional convention open to the public.

A coordinating committee representing seven groups in the journalistic profession mapped the program at a meeting in Detroit. Dale Stafford, editor-publisher of the Greenville Daily News and President of the Michigan Press Association, is chairman.

"The convention will write the basic law for Michigan for the foreseeable future," Stafford said, "providing, of course, their work is approved by the people.

"We are not seeking any special privileges for newspaper or broadcast reporters but we are convinced that conducting all discussions in both committee meetings and plenary sessions out in the open is the best way to completely inform the people of Michigan on this complicated subject. Newspapers and broadcasters will perform their function by reporting these discussions and actions to the public."

Kennedy's Speech Applauded Around World by Peacemakers

President JOHN F. KENNEDY has spoken very clearly on the Berlin situation.

No doubts remain as to our program or our intentions. The sanctity of West Berlin will be observed by the Russians, or else ....

This Nation will not be pushed around one whit by braggarts or swaggering bullies and the head Reds qualify precisely and exactly in both divisions.

President Kennedy's stand has been applauded vigorously in his own country and around the world. Russia and her captives are silent but the neutral nations who believe in peace, honor and decency are vociferous in their approval of the U.S. position.

It may cost the citizens of this country $3.5 billion to implement the proposals, but the taxpayers nod in complete agreement. If that's what it takes to quell an incipient world war, then that's what we'll pay.

And if it costs another war, we're prepared for that, too. Probably no one wants to go to war and that includes the bloody butchers who hang out in the Kremlin.

At the same time, Khrushchev must be taught that he can't throw his weight around and wave his sword with the world bowing meekly before him. If he has inched too far out on a precarious and uncertain limb, that's his funeral now. He can squirm back any way he pleases, or else ....

The President made another point that's important for the Commies to bear in mind. He declares that the United States won't be driven out of Berlin in one fell swoop or even gradually. This second serves notice on mr. k that he need not look down the road with the secret hope that although his bluff has been called now, he can worm his way back into control with a program of attrition in the future. That's out, too.

The President proposes to beef up our "expeditionary forces" and there's no secret about his intentions. He stated bluntly that he chose between "humiliation and all-out nuclear action." We might suggest to mr. k that if he doesn't comprehend, that means all-out war with everything we possess.

He suggested a free vote in Berlin or all of Germany. This newspaper is certain that the Russians will never go for that as they know now what the results would be. They might seize upon it as a face-saving device and they're that hard up for a skirt behind which to hide.

All the cards are on the table. There's no more bluffing.

President Kennedy has called the Commies and the next move is strictly — yes, strictly — up to them.

Do they want peace? We do over here. But if they want war, we're ready to step right out in the international alley and roll up our sleeves.

In fact, they're up already.

Time of Golden Grain Is Currently With Us

One of the most beautiful landscape vistas is the ripening wheat.

It now is in that stage in the Pontiac area, and beckons you.

The golden billows as it responds to the wind are almost unforgettable. But you must go down the side roads to find the best showings.

Our great development is driving back the wheat and other farm crops.

No bumper yields in wheat are expected in our area this year.

Wheat had a hard winter, lacking snow coverage and the proper moisture.

In many ways our spring weather and rainfall did not help very much. But what's there is putting on a good show, and the breezes are cooperating.

There's something about such a spectacle that harks back to the times that were.

The hum of the combine is imminent, so get out and sooth your nerves while the display is on.

The Man About Town

Oakland Has Most

Greatest Mileage and Most Separations on Freeway

Dangerous: When the girl asks his mother for recipes.

The new 75 Michigan super freeway has a larger mileage in Oakland County than in any other of the 14 counties which it traverses in its 280 miles between Detroit and the Straits of Mackinac.

Without a grade crossing or traffic light in that entire distance, it also will have more grade separations, bridges, viaducts and cloverleaves in Oakland County than in any other county.

Skirting Pontiac on the east, it now is well under construction in this vicinity, and will be finished here next year, but will not be completed for its entire length until a couple of years later.

I have it direct from men under State Highway Commissioner

that Michigan is maintaining its lead in having more of these super freeways under construction than any other state in the nation.

I like the sentiments expressed by the new president of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club,

Most of us will agree with that loyal baseball fan,

There are so many "weeks" that most of us don't pay any attention to them. But this is

National Farm Safety Week,

and our farmers are advised that the statistics show that the farm tractor is a worse killer than the automobile. In proportion to the number in use, it causes more deaths than autos or trucks. Don't be careless with it.

Touch up those freckles, my young folks. They can be worth $50 to you in this column's Freckle Contest at the Oakland County 4-H Club Fair, Aug. 8 to 12.

Wondering why a pair of blue jays were making such a noisy fuss in his garden,

Oswald Lambton

of Rochester investigated, and killed a two-foot rattlesnake with eight rattles.

On the afternoon of July 4

Walt Waverley

wrote his name and address and "Please answer" on a piece of paper which he put in a tightly corked bottle and tossed it into Cass Lake near his home, at a point near where the Clinton River leaves it. Now he gets a note from of Mt. Clemens, who retrieved it from the river there on July 19, and suggests a foursome at a Tiger game. Suggestion adopted.

JFK Sought Psychological Effect

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was clear in President Kennedy's address to the nation Tuesday night that he sought a psychological effect. But it wasn't clear what practical effect can there be in increasing the armed forces by only 217,000 men.

At least he indicated the United States may have reached a turning point.

For years now this country has simply been reacting to Russian actions, dancing when the Russians called the tune. Judging from Kennedy's talk, the United States will now start showing some initiative in dealing with the Soviets.

But his address, tough as it was in warning the Russians they can't take Berlin without a fight, still left the door wide open for a conference with them to settle the dispute peacefully.

At one point Kennedy even indicated the West might be willing to make concessions—but not major ones—to avoid conflict. Just how far he is willing to go with concessions—or being tough — is for the future.

THREE TARGETS

But there could be no doubt he had three targets and three psychological aims:

1. The American people—to prepare them perhaps for rougher things to come by telling them the administration intends to take a firm stand on Berlin, even if it means a military showdown with Russia.

2. The Russians—to let them know, if they think the allies lack the will to fight and that threats can scare and split them, that they have war on their hands if they push too hard.

3. The allies—to stiffen their backbone, by putting the United States firmly beside them, and at the same time needle them, even embarrass them, into doing more for their own defense by increasing their own military preparations.

QUESTION REMAINS

With all this said, the question remains:

Are the Russians going to be impressed by Kennedy's announcement he is adding 217,000 men to the armed forces — particularly when he didn't say he's sending them to Europe where the Russians far outnumber the allies in ground forces?

If they are impressed, it will probably be more by Kennedy's expressed determination not to be pushed out of Berlin, leaving it up to them to guess what kind of force the United States would use to stop them.

In any showdown it is unlikely Kennedy would try to stop the Soviets with ground troops.

Two years ago—which was the last time the Russians threatened Berlin—President Eisenhower rejected arguments of his critics that the United States should make a big ground-force buildup in Europe to chill Russia's blood.

He said March 11, 1959 that such a build-up was unnecessary because "we are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe." This could be interpreted as meaning that if war came it would have to be a nuclear one.

Just a few months after that Kennedy—on Dec. 9, 1959, while he was still a senator—was asked if the United States was in a position to fight any kind of war for Berlin except a nuclear one. He said no.

It's possible he has changed his mind, for he said Tuesday night, "We intend to have a wider choice than humiliation or all-out nuclear action."

But if he knows how the Allies, tremendously outnumbered on the ground, could hope to stop the Russians short of nuclear war he didn't explain that.

He may have meant that by taking the tough line he followed he hopes to convince the Russians he means business and that the way to avoid a nuclear war is not to start any kind of war.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Six-Mile Walk Each Day Good for Businessmen

A careful estimation of the condition of the cardiovascular renal (heart-artery-kidney) system is an outstanding obligation of the physician to every individual of the arteriosclarotic age (30 years old or older) who seeks medical advice, regardless of the apparent nature of the illness.

I quote this verbatim from a medical book to indicate that unexpected happenings or disasters which seem to strike out of a clear sky may actually be the more or less characteristic manifestations of heart-artery trouble.

These may have escaped recognition because the physician consulted earlier did not make a careful estimation of the condition of the heart-kidney-artery system or the patient rejected such examination as unnecessary when he or she just wanted something for gastric disturbance, indigestion or a cough which hangs on.

I have the cardiovascular renal system and cardiovascular degeneration (CVD) or heart and artery troubles of insidious or gradual onset in mind when I advise business, profession and white collar people to take six miles of oxygen on the hoof every day.

This or even only a mile or two twice a day, say walking to and from the office, store, job or school instead of riding, gives real, natural relaxation, instead of the dull, stupid state produced by alcohol or other narcotic.

One who resorts to cocktails or highballs for make-believe "relaxation" at the end of a trying day only adds to the strain on his cardiovascular renal system and hastens the development of cardiovascular degeneration.

Unless you are sure you know better than I do what is good for your health and longevity, it can do you no harm to read my monograph: "CVD," for which send me in care of The Pontiac Press 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If you consider this a little steep, then please try this experiment and see: Instead of stopping at the cocktail lounge or tavern for one or two quick ones, keep the money in your sock and take a brisk walk of a mile or two.

If you don't feel better, I'll refund the full price of the paper.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Mill Wants to Use Postage Meter Plate

Postal authorities asked Spindale Mills, Inc., to request the six firms using the postage meter slogan, "This is a republic not a democracy. Let's keep it that way" to stop. Three agreed and three refused.

"As far as we're concerned, that's the end of it," the postmaster general added.

If our affiliate mill (Cherokee Textile Mills of Sevierville, Tenn.) on the west side of the Smoky Mountains can use the postage meter plate with this truthful slogan, why can't this mill on the east side?

A statement of historic fact is as true on one side of the mountain as on the other. Surely the firm making the plate does not favor "segregation" of patriots, by denying to good Americans on the east side of the mountain that precious freedom of speech that is permitted on the west side.

'Main Weakness Is at Short Stop'

I have read some letters in The Press saying Bruton should be benched for Maxwell or Morton, but the main weakness isn't there but at short stop. Fernandez can't cut it and McAuliffe is proving to be sort of a morning glory. Now with Boros gone they may have to use both and the left side of the infield will really be in a bad way. Maxwell, Morton and Bruton have become a secondary problem.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Take Full Advantage of Education

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE J-451: Pearl P., aged 16, is ready for the senior year of high school.

"But I am tired of school," she grumbled.

DR. CRANE

"All I have ever known since I was 5 years of age has been school-school-school!

"I am sick of it, so I want to quit and get a job. But, Dr. Crane, my parents insisted I talk to you first."

HUSBAND INSURANCE

Most students get tired of their many years in classrooms, yet the smart ones don't quit.

Girls, beware, for men with good jobs don't like to pick wives who are uneducated.

Business employers also take the same attitude.

"The state furnishes you free schooling through high school," they explain, "and that is the equivalent of $400 per year in college tuition.

"If you thus don't take full advantage of it, then we figure you are either stupid or lacking in ambition. And employers don't want either of those two types of workers."

Dr. Paul C. Glick, of our Census Bureau, showed that a high school diploma is worth an average of $49,000 because of the higher future earnings it gives its owner.

And each year of college adds $25,000 more to that $49,000, so girls and boys should look far ahead.

Nowadays, girls expect a husband who can hold a good job and bring home an adequate pay check regularly.

Men without high school, plus some college training, usually have trouble supporting a wife, not to mention children.

And the modern young man wants a girl who can operate a home on a budget, speak in public, serve as bookkeeper and compute his income tax for him.

Cooking, rearing babies scientifically and "fronting" in public for her husband are just "extras."

How do you girls expect to hold your own in modern society if you don't get a high school diploma?

When you are later asked to preside at a church women's meeting or make a report at the PTA where your future children will attend, are you going to welch on those social obligations of modern wives and mothers?

BUSINESS COLLEGE

So I finally persuaded Pearl to finish high school and win a year's diploma from a Business College.

In one year at the latter college she took courses in business law, applied psychology, accounting, business English, plus typing and shorthand.

Business colleges also maintain a placement service for their graduates so Pearl was steered into a good secretarial position the day after her graduation.

There she was a cultured, efficient worker whose poise permitted her to fraternize with the college educated salesmen who called on her boss.

One of the latter fell in love with Pearl and they were married two years after her graduation from business college.

He came from a college family in New England who would have vetoed Pearl if she had not had a year at college.

Before you buy a new lamp shade, try it over a lighted lamp. Home economists at Michigan State University say you should not be able to see the light bulb or the lamp reflector through the shade when the lamp is lighted.

Fiberglas Breaks

Fiberglas is a fine fiber made of glass. Home economists at Michigan State University say these fibers are brittle and require gentle handling. Twisting or constant abrasion may cause the fibers to break.

Will Live in Florida

Patricia Hileman is Wed

MRS. LARRY D. GREEN

The Lewis Hilemans were hosts at a reception in their home on Middle Belt Road following the marriage of their daughter Patricia Lois to Larry D. Green Saturday evening in the First Congregational Church.

Rev. Malcolm Burton performed the ceremony before an altar banked with white gladioli and chrysanthemums in the presence of some 125 guests.

Fanels of Alecon lace accented the floor-length bridal gown of white brushed taffeta styled with basque waistline and back fullness held by an inverted pleat.

Fingertip veiling of silk illusion held by a pearl-frosted lace Juliet cap and a cascade of white sweetheart roses completed the bride's ensemble.

Sharon Hileman attended her sister as maid of honor, wearing aqua nylon with matching headpiece. She carried white carnations.

Charles R. Green stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of the Charles F. Greens of Middle Belt Road. Richard DeBolt and Darryl Bresee ushered.

Beginning the honeymoon to Tampa, Fla., where the couple will live, the new Mrs. Green was wearing a yellow floral print frock styled with Empire waistline.

Mrs. Hileman wore pink silk organza over taffeta for the wedding and reception. The mother of the bridegroom appeared in nile green lace over taffeta. Each wore a shoulder corsage of white button chrysanthemums.

McCloy, Nikita Confer in Russia

Diplomats Hope That Invitation by Premier Means Thaw on Arms

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev met on the balmy shores of the Black Sea today with John J. McCloy, President Kennedy's top disarmament expert.

There was no concrete indication that a breakthrough in the deadlocked Soviet-American disarmament talks was imminent, but diplomats saw hopeful signs in the fact that Khrushchev invited McCloy to visit him.

McCloy flew Tuesday night to Pitsunde, Khrushchev's sun-drenched vacation resort.

Ostensibly, it would be treated as repayment of Kennedy's courtesy in receiving Soviet disarmament negotiator Valerian A. Zorin last month.

But Western diplomats expected that Khrushchev's talks with McCloy would not be a mere exchange of pleasantries.

They foresaw, instead, serious conversations which might prove a turning point in the disarmament picture. They also considered it likely that Khrushchev would cover Berlin and other world problems.

★ ★ ★ ★

McCloy thus would be able to give Kennedy the fullest direct expression of Khrushchev's thinking since the President and premier met at the summit in Vienna June 3-4.

This may be the West's first hint of Khrushchev's reaction to the three Western notes on Berlin. The Kremlin has not replied to them yet.

BRANCH LIBRARY OPENS—With a feminine touch added to a display of travel books, the new East Side Branch Library was opened yesterday by Mrs. Barbara Morton (above), branch librarian. Moved from East Pike and Sanford streets to rented quarters in a shopping area at 656 Auburn Avenue, the branch hours continue to be 1-6 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays. The city wanted the branch further out on the east side of town now that the main library has moved east of downtown to the Civic Center.

Both Moffitt and Lago were reported in critical condition at a Detroit hospital.

AMC to Hear UAW Demands

Union Begins to Spell Out Specifics in New Contract Negotiations

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Union today begins spelling out its new contract demands to American Motors Corp.

As it did with the auto industry's big three, the UAW was expected to ask AMC to put its 25,000 factory workers on salaries, find ways of reducing working time without loss of pay, and "modernize" the present wage formula.

AMC-UAW talks have been in recess on the national level since July 7 while the two sides started negotiating local plant agreements. The present AMC-UAW contract expires Sept. 6, a week after the big three pacts.

Negotiations at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, which began last month, continued today with discussions of contract matters outside the bread and butter issue of wages.

Chrysler and the UAW Tuesday clashed over the firm's treatment of hourly-rated production workers.

Chrysler Vice President John Leary said employes are getting "excellent wages." The 1958-60 payroll totaled almost $2 billion, he said and added that Chrysler factory workers now draw $2.75 an hour, 45 cents above employes in other industries.

But the UAW said the company "grossly exaggerated the income of Chrysler workers in order to strengthen its bargaining position. This sort of thing doesn't help solve the problems of our members."

Plan to Integrate Katanga Forces With Congo Fails

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—The Congolese press agency reported today that the plan to integrate the troops of Katanga Province with the central government's army has collapsed.

The agency said the Katanga Provincial Parliament renounced an agreement to merge the forces, Katanga President Moise Tshombe had made the agreement with central government Gen. Joseph Mobutu.

As a result, the agency said, the small group of officers which Mobutu had sent to Elizabethville to begin the integration had been withdrawn.

This was the latest in a series of steps in which Katanga has drawn further away from the Leopoldville regime since Tshombe was released from prison and returned to Elizabethville.

Wife Testifies Today in Killing of Husband

MUSKEGON (UPI)—Mrs. Josephine Markucki, 53, was called to testify today in the preliminary examination of two men in the July 5 slaying of her husband Michael, 67.

Arthur C. Hartman, 29, and Gaylor L. Stanton, 35, are charged with murder in the death of Markucki, a retired Muskegon watchmaker.

The examination began July 10 but had been adjourned while Mrs. Markucki was hospitalized with injuries suffered during a beating inflicted during the robbery attempt at her home.

Mrs. Markucki has identified Hartman as the man who beat her and shot her husband after they refused to tell where they kept their money.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jacqueline Kennedy will observe her 32nd birthday on Friday but the White House has no information on any special plans to celebrate the occasion.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters Tuesday he didn't know of any special birthday plans—and didn't intend to inquire about any.

Apache Indians May Get Fortune From Iron Ore

CIBECUE, Ariz. (UPI) — The Apache Indians, once the scourge of gold and silver prospectors, stand to reap a potential fortune in a new mineral rush — iron ore.

Ore prospectors currently are concentrating their attention on the White Mountain Apache Indian Reservation where the Bureau of Mines estimates the existence of 10 million tons of ore.

The Apaches, says the American Iron and Steel Institute, were paid $42,100 for prospecting rights and, if the strike pans out, they will receive a dollar an acre per year rental plus 15 to 20 cents a ton for ore shipped.

Feasibility of extracting the ore depends upon its quantity and quality to defray expenses in getting it out of the wilderness and into the blast furnaces.

The train crew lined up in front of the house, gave her flowers and a kiss.

She was stricken in the afternoon and died two hours later of a heart attack, doctors at Municipal Hospital said.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. James Van Wessem, widow of a former Grand Haven mayor.

Family Is Rescued After Yawl Explodes

DETOUR (UPI)—An Indiana family was rescued unharmed from a life raft minutes after its chartered yawl exploded and burned in northern Lake Huron Tuesday.

E. F. Wolter, 46, his wife Mary and son William of Fort Wayne were picked up by the cruiser "Aris," owned by Dr. Darwin Jurss of Milwaukee, while the ore freighter Homer D. Williams stood by.

Wolter said he was approaching Harbor Island off Detour and started the auxiliary engine to take the 40-foot sailboat into port. He said gasoline fumes in the bilges must have been set off by a spark.

Wolter said he had no chance to fight the fire on the vessel, chartered in Cheboygan Friday. He and his family escaped on a cork raft.

Senate Committee Okays Space Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Appropriations Committee voted Tuesday to give President Kennedy all of the extra $549 million he asked to speed the space program and put a man on the moon within a decade.

The space funds were part of a $9,150,506,000 money bill approved by the committee to finance a number of independent federal agencies for the current fiscal year.

The extra space funds brought the budget for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to a record $1,749,000,000.

Space chief James Webb has said a U.S. astronaut has a good chance of beating Russia to the moon under the accelerated program.

3 Old Dodgers Get New Cheers

By The Associated Press

A trio of Dodgers from old Brooklyn heard the cheers of the Flatbush faithful once more and responded like a prima donna to the cry of "encore."

Gil Hodges slammed a three-run homer, Johnny Roseboro belted a two-run triple and Sandy Koufax, a Brooklyn native, pitched a six-hitter and fanned 10 in sparking the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 7-2 victory over the forlorn Phillies at Philadelphia Tuesday night.

The triumph moved the pressing Dodgers to within one game of the leading Cincinnati Reds in the National League. The Reds fell before Lew Burdette's brilliant two-hitter in the Braves' 2-0 win at Milwaukee.

San Francisco's third-place Giants advanced to 7½ games of the Reds by battering five Pirate pitchers for 22 hits in a 16-7 rout at Pittsburgh. The St. Louis Cardinals, off winging on Ken Boyer's grand slam homer in the first inning, nipped the Cubs at Chicago, 6-5.

The crowd of 10,391 at Philadelphia included the die-hards from Brooklyn who usually make the 90-mile trip to root for their heroes no matter if they wear Los Angeles on their uniforms.

A Brooklynite hollered "Come on Gilly, belt one!" when Hodges, 37, strode to the plate in the first inning with Tommy Davis and Frank Howard on base. Gilly whacked the ball into the upper deck in left field just like he used to do at Ebbets Field.

Roseboro's triple, scoring Daryl Spencer and Charlie Neal in the fourth, cemented the victory. Rosey came in on a triple by Maury Wills who also had a double and single.

Burdette, back in his old form, yielded an infield hit to Chico Cardenas in the fourth and a sliced double by Don Blasingame in the seventh. He cooled off Frank Robinson who went blank after hitting in 19 consecutive games, an NL high for the season. Hank Aaron gave Burdette (12-6) the run he needed by poling his 24th homer, a 420-foot blast in the fourth off starter and loser Ken Hunt (9-7). Burdette drove in the other run himself.

Harvey Kuenn and Matty Alou each got four hits and drove in four runs apiece in the massive San Francisco attack against the fading Pirates. The Giants broke the game wide open with seven runs in the eighth and four more in the ninth. Reliever Stu Miller (8-3) was the winner and Pittsburgh starter Joe Gibbon (6-5) the loser.

Boyer's homer gave the Cards four runs and Charley James' homer another but it was an unearned run that brought St. Louis its victory. That came across in the sixth on catcher Dick Bartell's throwing error, one of four Chicago miscues. Ray Sadecki (8-5) was the winner and rookie Jackie Curtis (6-5) the loser.

National Stars Add 3 Players

Often - Injured Banks Named for 2nd Game at Fenway Park

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Injury-plagued Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, passed up in the voting by his fellow players, joined the National League All-Star squad for the seventh straight season today — a last minute pick by manager Danny Murtaugh.

Banks, the 30-year-old power-hitting shortstop with the Cubs, has not played in a regular game since July 15 because of eye trouble following another layoff earlier this season because of a knee injury.

However, since Murtaugh was allowed three more selections for the second All-Star game at Fenway Park in Boston next week, he picked Banks, catcher Ed Bailey of the San Francisco Giants and pitcher Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers to round out the squad to 28 players. The N.L. won the first All-Star game at San Francisco, July 11, 5-4 in 10 innings.

"Ernie Banks belongs on the All-Star team," said Murtaugh in Pittsburgh. "He's a great performer who has been handicapped by injuries but is deserving of the honor."

Top-Seeded Aussie Reaches 3rd Round

HAVERSFORD, Pa. (AP) — Bob Mark, the top-seeded foreign entry from Australia, reached the third round of the 62nd Pennsylvaia Lawn Tennis Championship Tuesday by fighting off three match points at 6-7 in the third set to defeat Mike Green, Philadelphia, 6-4, 5-7, 13-11.

The sixth-seeded American, Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., yielded in the second round to the left-handed John Sharp of Australia, 6-8, 6-4, 6-2.

The top seeded American, Chuck McKinley, St. Ann., Mo., and Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif., also gained the third round. McKinley overpowered two opponents, Lee Fentriss, New Orleans, 6-3, 6-1 and Roger Werksman, Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-2. Ralston was hard pressed to get by Ray Senkowski, Hamtramck, Mich., 6-4, 7-5.

Redleg Reliefers Strong 1-2 Combo

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds have little to worry about when Jim Brosnan or Bill Henry is called in from the bullpen. They comprise the best one-two relief combination in major league baseball.

Brosnan, a right-hander, and Henry, a southpaw, have been largely responsible for 31 of the Reds' 59 victories (53 per cent).

Brosnan has won five games and saved 14 while Henry has been credited with only one triumph, but has saved 11.

Brosnan leads the National League in games saved, figures compiled by The Associated Press through Monday's games showed today. Larry Sherry of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Elroy Face of Pittsburgh are next with 13 saves followed by Henry. Stu Miller of San Francisco and Don Elston of Chicago have saved eight apiece.

Luis Arroyo, the little New York Yankee lefty, heads the American League with 16 saves. Then come Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore, 12 and Mike Fornieles of Boston and Dave Sisler, Washington, 9 each.

Terry Fox of Detroit has the best earned run average among the big league relievers, 1.66. Arroyo is at 1.85 followed by Turk Lown, Chicago White Sox 1.99, Don McMahon, Milwaukee 2.03 and Wilhelm, 2.17. Brosnan's ERA is 3.24 and Henry's 3.55. The figures include Monday's games.

Frank Funk of Cleveland has won 10 games, the most among the bullpen specialists. He has also lost the most, eight. Arroyo has a 7-3 record, Wilhelm 7-5, Lown 6-3 and Fox 3-1.

Wilhelm has been the most active reliever, working 83 innings while Face and Arroyo have pitched in the most games, 38. Face has given up only three bases on balls in 59 innings.

Veteran Art Fowler of the Los Angeles Angels has won five games and saved eight although he did not report to the new American League club until May 27.

Games saved were credited to relievers who finished games won by their clubs and for which they did not receive a victory.

Homers Mark Contests

Home runs by John Lucadam and Al Berkeley sparked Pontiac Merchants to a 5-3 Class A-B baseball win over CIO Local 594 last night at Jaycee Park.

Don's Used Cars clipped Don Nicholie 6-4 in the twilight encounter at Wisner.

Lucadam and Berkeley blasted back-to-back homers to start a three-run first inning for the Merchants. Both went on to collect two hits as did Chuck Johnson and John Shanks.

Terry Hoy, who took over for starter Marv Caswell in the fourth inning was the winning pitcher. They limited CIO to five hits, one a triple by Clay Williams.

Joe Hatchett blasted a two-run homer for Don Nicholie in a losing cause.

It took a four-run sixth by Don's Cars to pull the game out. Both go-ahead runs scored on errors. Gene Reisinger, who moved from the outfield to the mound in the fifth, picked up the win.

Lakeland Gets Tie for National Lead

Lakeland Pharmacy moved into a tie for first place with Hobby Painting by beating that team 9-2 last night in Waterford National Softball League play.

Algie Black hurled a one-hitter for the winners. Lakeland was aided by eight Hobby errors.

In the second game, Big Jim's won its fifth straight, 13-2, over A & W as Max Jarrett turned in a four-hitter. The loss kept A & W from tying for first.

Lefthander Shoots 73 to Lead All Southpaws

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Ed Ellis, of Asheboro, N.C. led the field by one stroke in the National Association of Left-Handed Golfers Amateur Tournament going into today's second round.

He shot a two under par 73 to lead the championship division of about 170 players from 39 states, Canada and the District of Columbia.

Hornung Hurt in Drills

WEST DE PERE, Wis. (AP)—Spirits plummeted momentarily in the Green Bay Packer training camp Tuesday when halfback Paul Hornung was injured in the first scrimmage of the National Football League training season.

Hornung, highest scorer in NFL history, received a bruised knee after faking into the line and falling under a savage pileup. He had to be helped off the field. However, the Packer team physician, after a quick examination, said Hornung would of all right in "a day or two."

Schedule Bout Put Off

DALLAS (AP)—The Luis Rodriguez-Curtis Cokes welterweight 10-round fight scheduled for Thursday night here was put off until Aug. 3 by promoter Ralph Hall Tuesday.

Rodriguez, the No. 1 contender for the championship held by Emile Griffith, was on the plane that was hijacked and flown to Cuba. He returned with the other passengers to Miami Tuesday but said he did not feel up to going through with the fight this week.

HEADED FOR WOODS—Arthur Strandell of Auburn Heights looks at three young wild turkeys in the pen behind his home. Strandell has 56 birds and plans to release them this fall in Northern Michigan. He hatched the turkeys from eggs obtained in Pennsylvania.

But They Will Only Stay Until This Fall

Wild Turkeys in County

Wild Turkeys
By DON VOGEL
Pontiac Press Outdoor Writer

Michigan's wild turkey population will receive a boost from an unexpected source this fall.

Arnold Strandell, a worker at the Yellow Cab plant, is raising gobblers in his back yard. He plans to release the birds in about two months in Lake and Oceola Counties in northern Lower Michigan.

The turkeys, now four weeks old, were hatched from eggs obtained in Pennsylvania and are of the same strain as those birds released in Western and Northern Michigan by the State Conservation Department.

As near as can be learned, Strandell is the only private citizen raising wild turkeys in Michigan. One or two sportsmen's clubs are attempting to rear the birds.

Anyone passing the Strandell home at 3123 Auburn Road, Avon Township, would never realize any fowl, let alone turkeys, were around. Strandell has the brooder house and pen neatly camouflaged with green cornstalks.

The pen, 50 feet long and 20 wide, takes up most of the backyard. It is covered with chicken wire to keep these shy birds from joining other wild game in Oakland County.

NOT FIRST CHOICE

Why did Strandell pick turkeys to raise instead of pheasants or quail?

"I've always been interested in hunting and fishing," he said, "and I've always wanted to try my hand at raising some wild game. Pheasants were my first choice.

"Then I started reading about turkey hunting in other states and I talked with a couple of fellows who used to live in Pennsylvania. They hunted turkeys and were always talking about it.

"I started thinking about how nice it would be to shoot a turkey — I've never hunted them — in Michigan. Even if I couldn't shoot one it would be nice to see an occasional turkey while trout fishing near Cadillac where I have a cabin."

Last spring Strandell headed for Pennsylvania with a list of wild turkey farms obtained from the Michigan Conservation Department. His initial plan was to purchase pullets.

"The farmer I talked with in the Alleghenies talked me out of pullets and into buying eggs. He convinced me that hatching and raising the birds in Michigan would be better than transferring young birds here."

Strandell purchased 105 eggs. On delivery they were taken to a private hatchery at Attica, where 95 birds cracked their shells. Poor health, sickness and injuries have reduced the flock to 56.

"I figure about 50 should pull through," said Strandell.

INTEREST HIGH

The State Conservation Department has been kept posted on the turkeys' progress. Department officials in the Cadillac area "really liked the idea" of planting the birds in their territory, according to Strandell.

The young turkeys can fly up on a roost and atop a feeding house in the pen. They show their wild breeding by scurrying for cover the moment a dog barks or any unusual noise is heard. And this is causing Strandell some concern.

"I'm afraid that when they get larger, a good scare will stampede them. They will be larger and some could get trampled."

He is feeding the birds regular domestic turkey mash. Peas sown earlier along the fences are being eaten as fast as they pod.

Transporting the birds to their new home this fall is one problem he hasn't completely solved.

"A friend of mine has a station wagon and so do I," he pointed out, "so I guess we can take a couple of crates each. It would probably be better if we released the birds in different locations at different times in groups of about seven."

That way, he said, if six or seven die in one bunch for some reason or another, a similar group will be elsewhere to carry on.

"And if it looks like this flock will get through the winter, I just might try again next year."

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

State game research and habitat development programs are due for a $610,000 shot in the arm as the result of a long-awaited decision by a U.S. district court in Washington, D.C.

The court ordered the federal Interior Department to release some $1.36 million in Pittman-Robinson funds to Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Colorado because of a faulty method of computing eligibility.

Unless an appeal court upsets the decision, Michigan will collect. State conservation officials said there has been no indication the U.S. Department of Interior would appeal.

Since 1959 the Interior Department has disbursed the funds on the basis of the number of license holders in each state.

The Michigan department said the federal court ruling upheld the states' contention that the funds should be returned on the basis of the number of licenses issued, regardless of how many people buy more than one license.

For 21 years before 1959, the money was distributed for use in game management and wildlife restoration programs on a per-license basis.

But the new interpretation counted each hunter as only one license holder regardless of whether he bought more than one license.

The funds are derived from an 11 per cent federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition. The money must be spent for land acquisition and development and game research.

Dr. S. C. Whitlock, assistant state game chief, said the decision, if it stands, will enable the state's game land development program to proceed at a normal rate. Land acquisition for game areas had been sharply reduced pending outcome of the 16-month court fight.

Committee Approves Shorelines Measure

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate interior committee has approved a bill to promote federal and state preservation of three Michigan shoreline areas for public recreational use.

The Secretary of the Interior would be authorized to determine what actions should be taken to preserve the Pictured Rocks, Grand Sable Dunes and the Sleeping Bear Dunes shoreline areas.

The secretary would be directed to make recommendations based on his studies within two years. He would be authorized to spend up to $400,000 in carrying out studies on these and 13 other shoreline areas.

The bill also would authorize appropriation of $250 million in matching funds to assist states in preserving shoreline recreational areas.

The Secretary of Agriculture would be given up to $400,000 to study areas within national forests bordering upon oceans, lakes or rivers which would be appropriate for development as shoreline recreational spots.

BLUEBERRY TIME—This youngster is sampling the "fruits of labor" while the young girl looks on. They have been picking blueberries in Northern Michigan woods. Although the "huckleberry" crop isn't up to expectations this year, enough berries can be found to fill dessert spots on dinner tables.

Stream Pollution Felled Michigan's Many Grayling

By United Press International

A historical lesson in the evils of stream pollution should make Michigan fishermen sit up and take notice.

It concerns the grayling, the extinct Michigan game fish of nearly legendary beauty and fighting ability, which though gone is far from forgotten.

A comprehensive essay on the Michigan grayling, written in 1880 by Martin Metcalf and published in a recent issue of the Michigan Historical Commission publication, "Michigan History," cites pollution from sawmills as a chief cause of grayling dying out.

Efforts to re-introduce grayling—a Montana species slightly different than the original Michigan fish—have produced hopeful results.

Conservation Department fish experts are watching the grayling experiment on Manganese Lake, Keweenaw County, in hopes that Montana grayling planted there will flourish.

Early results of the experiment were disheartening, but the experts are looking toward a fall check on the grayling in hopes that it will indicate natural spawning has produced at least some adult fish.

Included in Metcalf's essay was a lengthy discussion of the difficulty of hatchery-rearing of grayling.

It seems grayling fry fall easy prey to trout, and are delicate for other reasons, including general weaknesses which can cause death from a number of misadventures.

Metcalf, in fact, predicted the extinction of the Michigan grayling.

He noted that each of the grayling rivers he visited in the course of long research into habits of the fish and how it could be saved from passing into oblivion, was filled with sawmill dust.

While the rust, probably less dangerous actually than much of the chemical waste and sewage later dumped into streams and rivers, was not cited as the only cause of the grayling's demise, it helped.

Forestry Exposition Opens

MIO (UPI) — The second annual Great Lakes forestry exposition opened today at Sportsmen's Park on the banks of the famed Au Sable River here.

One of the highlights of the two-day show this year will be the dedication of what is believed to be the largest white cedar tree in Michigan.

The giant which measures 12 feet 9½ inches around stands on Consumers Power Co. land on the banks of the river about three miles from here.

A path has been cleared to the tree for the dedication ceremonies and a special aluminum "big tree" sign will be erected to commorate the occasion. The forest giant is estimated to be 400 years old.

The forestry exposition is designed to call attention to the colorful lumbering past of Michigan and to the thriving forest industries of the present.

Among the attractions will be sawing and chopping contests, log birling, skidding demonstrations and contests, a water pageant, the crowning of a queen and numerous conservation demonstrations and exhibits.

A giant chicken barbecue will highlight the festivities on Thursday night.

Henry J. "Hank" Peters, international birling champion from Nova Scotia will be on hand to defend his reputation against Michigan birlers.

Martiny Lake Case Goes On

Continuance Is Ordered in Water Level Fight With State

BIG RAPIDS (UPI) — Circuit Judge Harold Van Domelen ordered a court fight over the level of Martiny Lake continued until the September term.

The continuance was granted Monday to give the plaintiffs, property owners on the lake, time to ask the Mecosta County Board of Supervisors to petition the court for a determination of a level of the lake waters. The county board is granted the right to petition under the Federal Inland Lakes Law.

The suit concerns the property owners' fight to keep the State Conservation Department from drawing down the later level every fourth year. The Conservation Department has said the drawdown is necessary to provide a better passover area for wild fowl. The property owners contend the drawdown would effect real estate values and destroy fishing.

The plaintiffs have already obtained a temporary injunction, which they are seeking to have made permanent.

Earlier the Conservation Commission filed a motion asking the petition for the permanent injunction be dismissed.

The temporary injunction has been in force since April.

Judge Van Domelen said his continuance would shorten the litigation period and save legal expense. The temporary injunction will remain in force pending the September hearing.

Florence Schmidt Wins Genesee Title

Florence Schmidt of Birmingham won the women's division of the third annual Vehicle City Open Skeet Shoot Sunday at the Genesee Sportsmen's Club.

She broke 98 of 100 clay birds in gaining the title.

Jack Pattyn of Detroit broke 125 straight to claim the men's championship. He broke the last 25 in a shoot-off with Ted Hannaford of Warren.

Deny Paris Hatchery About to Be Closed

PARIS, Mich. (UPI) — A State Conservation Department spokesman has denied there is any truth to published reports the 81-year-old Paris fish hatchery is to be closed.

Max Hunt of Roscommon, regional fishery supervisor, said the reports, which have stirred censure votes of the Conservation Department by both the Big Rapids Chamber of Commerce and Mecosta County Board, "are entirely unfounded."

Hunt said, "We are planning a cutback in hatchery production and a cutback in personnel, but we are not going to close the Paris hatchery."

Detroit River Islands Bill Goes to President

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate has passed and sent to the White House a bill naming Grassy and Mammy Juda Islands in the Detroit River a national wildlife refuge.

A Senate committee report accompanying the bill said the islands are "exceedingly significant in the continental management of waterfowl," and harbor large numbers of diving ducks such as redheads, canvasbacks, greater scaups and black ducks.

Annual PKC Outdoor Dog Show Aug. 19

Conflict of Dates Hits Irish Setter Handlers for Unbenched Event

The Pontiac Kennel Club's annual outdoor show will be Aug. 19 at the Waterford Township High School athletic field.

All but one popular breed will be represented in the sanctioned show, according to PKC president Edmund Kraft. There is no class listed for Irish Setters. The Irish Setter specialty show is on the same date.

Judging the six variety groups will be Robert Waters, North Surrey, British Columbia, sporting, non-sporting and terriers; Mrs. Edith Nash Hellerman, Severn, Md., hound and toy; James W. Trullinger, Long Island, N.Y., working; Mrs. Hellerman will judge best-in-show.

R. M. Kibler, Westerville, Ohio, and Mrs. Leona Sykes Sharpley will judge in breeds. The obedience judge will be Rudolph W. Buchmann, Fontiac, and Earl M. Williams, Detroit.

The Pontiac Press will award the best-in-show trophy.

Four junior showmanship divisions have been set. They are novice for boys and girls 8-12 years old and for those 13-16. The graduate novice is for boys and girls 8-10 who have won in junior showmanship. The open class is for older children who hold wins in junior competition.

The judge for this event will be announced the day of the show.

Obedience classes will be novice A and B, open A and B and utility.

The Bow Dog Show Organization is handling arrangements for the PKC show, as it does for most sanctioned shows in Michigan. The deadline for entering is Aug. 8.

This will be an unbenched show, meaning that the dogs can be removed from the grounds as soon as they are eliminated from competition.

Scented Animals Legal Game All Year

More 'Eau de Skunk'

LANSING (UP) — You're not mistaken if you think the unmistakable odor of "Eau de Skunk" is wafting through car windows on country drives more often these days than in years past.

Michigan's skunk population is on the increase. That's why the State Conservation Commission decided at its last meeting, somewhat reluctantly, to declare year-around hunting and trapping seasons on skunks.

Previously, they were legal game only from Oct. 20 to Jan. 31 in Southern Michigan and from Oct. 1 to Jan. 31 elsewhere in the state.

The decline of the skunk as fur coat material is the chief reason for the population increase. Beaver, muskrat and other fur-bearers formerly popular with mildly are being similarly snubbed.

Once upon a time — about 20 years ago—trappers could pick up between $2 and $3 for a good-sized skunk pelt, the blacker the better. Now they're practically worthless and trappers don't bother with them anymore.

In 1940 and 1941, more than 165,000 skunks were taken in Michigan, about half by trappers. In the last two years, the total trapper take came to less than 4,000.

An increase in the number of rabid skunks is another reason that conservation authorities took steps to reduce the population. Before last year, the State Health Department reported only three to six cases of rabies in skunks in a year.

This year there were 29 confirmed cases in the first six months. Skunks are particularly susceptible to the disease.

In this connection, the commission declared it illegal to possess live skunks taken from the wild, except by special permits issued by the state conservation director to schools, zoos and for other like purposes.

"If this doesn't take care of the rabies situation, it's quite possible that a ban against importation of de-odorized skunks from other states will be put into effect," said F. W. Stuewer, game biologist for the State Conservation Department.

The Conservation Department is about to distribute pamphlets telling property owners how to get rid of increasing numbers of "nuisance" skunks that kill poultry or other stock, damage property or merely stink up the place.

A live-trap covered with burlap often works, but then, of course, there's the problem of disposing of the skunk before he gets excited and cuts loose with a blast of scent. Drowning in a weighted sack, shooting and steel traps are other suggested devices.

Conservation authorities hastened to make it clear that they're not out to rid the state of skunks. The idea is, simply, to keep them under control.

"Most skunks are good skunks," Stuewer declared. "They go their own harmless way and don't bother people. If anything, they do man a good turn by eating mice and harmful insects, including beetles, grasshoppers and all sorts of grubs."

STAY CLEAR

The first rule to steer clear of br'er skunk is to avoid attracting him. Cottage owners should'nt throw the garbage out without burying it or disposing of it in some other way. Skunks that stake out homesteads under buildings can usually be driven out with barricades to their crawl spaces, repellents such as a bright electric light or moth balls or crystals.

There's always the problem of what to do when "attacked."

Stuewer suggests, of all things, a bath in tomato juice.

"We hear it works," he said.

Grain Futures Weak Following Firm Start

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market turned weak today after a generally firm start on the board of trade and within a few minutes losses had run to a cent or more a bushel in wheat and soybeans. Other grains eased mostly small fractions.

Brokers said the pressure in wheat and soybeans appeared to be mainly profit-taking although it may have included a little more hedging in wheat.

Dealers said commercial demand had slackened somewhat, particularly from export interests. Flour mills were understood to be limiting their purchases only to immediate requirements.

Mart Responds to JFK's Plans

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market bounded ahead sharply in brisk trading early today as it responded to President Kennedy's proposals for an increase of more than $3.4 billion in preparedness expenditures.

Aircraft-missiles, steels, motors and electronics were in the forefront.

Gains of fractions to 2 points were the general rule among most key stocks.

The list was carrying through Tuesday's late rally in anticipation of Kennedy's address but doing so with much more emphasis. The ticker tape ran late as the trading pace was the heaviest in weeks.

Aircraft-missile issues were traded on sizable blocks at the opening. Gains of around a point or better were made by Boeing, North American Aviation, Douglas Aircraft and United Aircraft.

Electronics, victim of profit taking for weeks, recovered sharply. Texas Instruments picked up a half dozen points. Up around 2 points were Litton Industries and Avnet Electronics.

Dag Looks Over Tense Bizerte

Confers With Envoys; France Charges Tunisia Has Started Build-Up

TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI)—United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold went to battle-scarred Bizerte on a first-hand inspection tour shortly after France charged the Tunisians had started a buildup of forces in Bizerte's Casbah.

With chances fading for a negotiated settlement of the Bizerte crisis, Hammerskjold drove to the tense city following separate conferences in Tunis this morning with the U.S. and British ambassadors.

The black limousine carrying the U. N. flag and escorted by four motorcycle policemen was applauded by Tunisians as Hammarskjold swept out of the capital along the Tunis-Bizerte highway.

It was not immediately known if Hammarskjold planned to talk with French military authorities who control all of Bizerte except the Casbah.

He was, however, expected to confer in Tunis with President Habib Bourguiba at least once more before his departure, tentatively set for Thursday.

French government charges of a Tunisian build-up in the Casbah coincided with a Paris announcement that President Charles de Gaulle sent a message to the French commander in Bizerte today expressing "entire satisfaction" with the way French forces took over Bizerte.

De Gaulle's message lauded the French commander "for the firmness, the coolness and the skill that you proved at Bizerte in fulfilling our mission against the aggression against the base."

BOMBER INTO TRANSPORT — Scale model of a supersonic transport gives a peek at what may be coming up in the air travel field in the next few years. The aircraft, proposed by General Dynamics engineers, would use the delta wing design of the twice-the-speed-of-sound B58 Hustler bomber, but would have a larger and longer fuselage for passengers. The plane would not be a commercial transport but a pioneer test vehicle for the supersonic airliner to come.

Four Persons Burned to Death

Homicide Charged in Ferndale Crash

A 45-year-old Hazel Park man has been charged with negligent homicide in the dath of four persons in a three-car accident in Ferndale Sunday.

The Oakland County Prosecutor's Office authorized the warrant against Arthur McKenzie of 1628 E. Hayes St. late yesterday after taking statements from witnesses for two days.

McKenzie, who is in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, with burns and bruises, allegedly attempted to make a U-turn on Eight Mile Road, a maneuver reported to be the cause of the crash that killed four persons.

Included among the victims was his nephew Ronald McKenzie, 24, a passenger in his car.

Others killed in the accident were Detroit policeman William E. Stewart, 29, his wife Sharon, 22, and their son Scott, 3.

Several witnesses to the collision said McKenzie, traveling east on Eight Mile Road, started to make a U-turn when he collided with the Stewart car, traveling in the opposite direction.

Another witness told Asst. Prosecutor Robert Templin that McKenzie had applied his brakes and slid on the wet pavement into the path of the Stewart car.

McKenzie said Stewart's small foreign car crossed the center line and smashed into his vehicle.

The impact of the collision carried the two cars into a third vehicle driven by Edward Zack, 26, of Detroit. All three cars burst into flames.

The senior McKenzie, Zack and his three passengers all escaped serious injury. The Stewart family and McKenzie's nephew were trapped in the blazing wreckage.

The prosecutor's office said McKenzie's examination will be set when he is released from the hospital.

Keyes Loses Bid for Con-Con Seat —Raps Judges

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Eugene C. Keyes wasn't nominated as a candidate for constitutional convention delegate Tuesday and he said his indictment Friday on a charge of conspiracy to violate state election laws didn't help his campaign.

The Dearborn political veteran ran third in the Democratic primary in the 21st Senatorial District. Mrs. Iris M. Becker won the nomination.

Dr. Keyes called the indictment "a smear tactic to embarrass me" in the con-con election.

"I feel badly that these so-called Christian judges, who live by political intrigue, would bring this charge fewer than 80 hours before the election," he said.

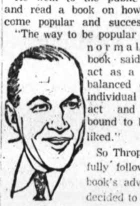
Good Ol' Thrope Was More Normal Than Normal

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Once upon a time there was a man who set out to be popular and well-liked.

His name was Mortimer Witherspoon Thrope.

He went to the public library and read a book on how to become popular and successful.



BOYLE

"The way to be popular is to be normal," the book said. "Just act as a normal, balanced civilized individual should act and you're bound to be well-liked."

So Thrope faithfully followed the book's advice. He decided to become the most normal individual in his community.

CHOSE CAREFULLY

Mortimer married a girl who was neither homely nor pretty—just average.

They had three children, all of whom got medium grades in school.

Mortimer bought a standard-sized house with a standard-sized mortgage in a standard neighborhood.

He drove a medium-sized car—neither too dull nor too flashy—and traded it in on a new one every three years.

He joined the Elks, the PTA, and the American Legion. He was goaded to serve on committees but always declined to run for office in any of these organizations. "Oh, there must be someone else better qualified," he said, modestly.

Although he actually preferred a pipe, Mortimer switched to cigarettes and smoked the most popular brand.

He was never the first in his neighborhood to change to a new brand of mouthwash, nor yet the last to cast an old brand aside.

He learned to dance, but not very well.

CAREFUL READER

He subscribed to a book club, but carefully avoided reading any of the selections—unless they hit the best seller list.

Mortimer always—or almost always—got up to give his seat to an old lady on the bus, particularly if anyone from his neighborhood was on the bus, too.

He always arrived on the job punctually at 9 a.m., and left promptly at 5:30. "I get paid for doing a full day's work—and I like to give it to them," he said.

When the boss told a joke in a conference, Mortimer was the second employe to start chuckling and the next to the last to quit laughing.

He avoided office gossip. "Everybody has his good points and his bad points," he liked to say.

He avoided heated political arguments also. "I vote for the man, not the party," he said.

When more than half the people in his office caught a cold, Mortimer caught one, too. If less than half did, he remained healthy. If more than half went on a new diet fad, so did Mortimer. Otherwise, he ate as usual.

ONLY ONE MARTINI

At lunch he would often join the gang in one martini, but never two.

In months with four Sundays, he went to church on two of the days and played golf on the others. If the month had five Sundays, he flipped a coin.

At cocktail parties Mortimer got high but never loaded, and never bragged about himself.

"Tell me about yourself — you must have had an interesting life," he urged those he met.

ALL FOR NOTHING

After 15 years of exemplary living, Mortimer suddenly awoke to the fact that instead of being widely popular, he was being avoided, even by old acquaintances. They seemed uneasy in his presence.

So Mortimer hired a public relations man to find out why. This individual made a secret survey of Mortimer's neighborhood and office and came back with his report.

"They think you're too good to be true, Mr. Thrope. They don't trust you. They think you must be hiding something."

Moral: If you want to be popular, be different. Everyone suspects anyone who acts too normal.

Truck Owners Reminded to File Use Tax Return

The district director of internal revenue, R. I. Nixon, today emphasized that all truck owners subject to the highway vehicle use tax must file tax returns on form 2290.

The normal due date for this return is Aug. 31, but the law provides that returns may become due on other dates, depending upon the dates taxable trucks are acquired and first used.

Even though the highway vehicle use tax has been in effect since 1956, it is especially important for truck owners this year because of the Federal Highway Act of 1961, recently passed by Congress, Nixon said.

This new act provides for an increased tax rate from $1.50 to $3.00 per 1,000 pounds and also for a new installment method for payment of the tax.

Generally, the tax applies to vehicles with a gross weight in excess of 26,000 pounds, or unloaded weight of varying amounts, if the vehicles are used on public thoroughfares.

NO SECRET WEAPON—What looks like the longest cannon barrel in the world is really the Navy's new conical shocktube. Located at the U.S. Naval Ordnance Laboratory in Silver Spring, Md., it's 180 feet long with a diameter of 6 inches at one end and 30 inches at the other. A 5-pound explosive set off at the small end can simulate the blast-waves produced by six World War II blockbusters. The tube is the forerunner of a 2,000-foot shocktube which will simulate the blast of an atomic bomb. Standing by the tube is naval lab physicist William S. Filler, who conceived and developed the device.
