International Night Marketplace is Friday

This year's International Night Marketplace takes place on Friday, March 24, from 4:00-7:00 p.m., in the Banquet Rooms of the Oakland Center. It is free and open to the OU community.

There will be music provided by WXOU, dancing, a fashion show, displays by the multicultural student organizations, an OU prize wheel, and a drawing at the end of this event for international gifts.

There will be food from around the world featuring Chinese, European, Indian, Mexican and Middle Eastern food stations, as well as an international dessert bar featuring a crepe station.

"I encourage everyone to stop by," said Jean Ann Miller, director, The Center for Student Activities and Leadership Development. "This event will offer something for everyone and a chance to appreciate a wide range of cultures through fashion, food and more."

International Night Marketplace is sponsored by the Center for Student Activities, Oakland University Student Congress Diversity & Inclus Committee, and Chartwells.
