MESC Office Says 69,300 Holding Jobs

Work Expected to Hold at Current Levels Up to Mid-January

Area employment reached a new high for the year in mid-November when 69,300 persons were employed, the Pontiac office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission reported today.

At the same time, the number of jobseekers was reduced sharply to the year's lowest level — 3,200, or 3.9 per cent of the total labor force.

Despite the recent gains, employment still remains about 2,600 below the November, 1953 level.

Employment is expected to remain at "approximately current levels" until mid-January, said James H. Dudley, branch manager.

"Anticipated gains in motor vehicle plants will be offset by losses in primary metals (Wilson Foundry)," Dudley said.

"Non - manufacturing will increase during December for the usual Christmas season and diminish after the holidays. Some further small employment losses will occur in outdoor types of work."

All of the October to November employment rise took place in manufacturing industries. Factories boosted staffs by 2,400 and auto makers upped pay rosters by 2,100.

Non - electrical machinery industries and metal fabricators added 100 workers each, while non-durable goods producers took on 200 additional employes.

The only loss in manufacturing was in primary metals, which was down 100 workers, due to the Wilson Foundry shut-down, Dudley said.

In non-manufacturing industries, curtailment of outdoor work cut construction employment by 100 and service employment another 100.

Temporary expansion for the Christmas shopping season raised employment in retail outlets by 200.

The 3,200 unemployed in mid-November compared to 5,200 unemployed in October and 10,500 in September, when local automotive plants were down.

"According to employer reports, the reduction in unemployment should continue over the next two months," Dudley said.

Unemployment insurance activities dropped sharply during November as employment increased.

During the month, the Pontiac branch office issued 5,169 state and veterans unemployment insurance checks valued at $252,617. These figures compared with 11,005 checks valued at $548,140 in October and 10,827 checks totaling $478,965 in September.

Big 3 to Consult on Soviet Reply

Will Answer Red Note Warning of Buildup in Communist Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France will consult soon on a reply to Russia's latest note warning of a buildup in Communist military power to counter the proposed rearmament of West Germany.

Washington officials feel the note does not really foreshadow a new Red military buildup, but that it has some propaganda purposes.

The note, given to the three Western Powers in Moscow last night, said "The Soviet Union and other peace-loving countries will carry out all necessary measures to step up their armaments and to safeguard their security."

It also said that making West Germany a partner in the Western European defense system and a member of the North Atlantic Alliance would render the unification of Germany impossible.

Phone Call to Scotland

TRANSATLANTIC TALK—Mrs. Jane Hamsher, Pontiac Salvation Army worker, has been busy for weeks now making Christmas a little happier for hundreds of this community's needy. This morning, via transatlantic telephone, Mrs. Hamsher talked with her sister, Mrs. Nettie Carmichael of Bishopmill Elgin, Scotland, whom she has not seen since leaving her home to come to America 44 years ago at the age of 13. Arrangements for the call were made by the Pontiac Press. Attempt was made to enable Mrs. Hamsher speak with her mother who is seriously ill, but the mother's illness made it impossible for her to be moved to a telephone.

State Police Backing City's S-D Day Petition Drive

Commanding the Pontiac Post, Sgt. Melvin Will said, "Michigan State Police are one hundred per cent in support of Pontiac's drive for an "Army of 10,000."

He added that the local post is experiencing "personal pride that the petition campaign," backing the President's unprecedented proclamation, "is taking place in our post's area."

In the first three days of the drive, headed by Chairman Clyle R. Haskill, over 6,000 persons signed the petition, pledging utmost care on S-D Day which is aimed at curbing all traffic accidents for at least 24 hours.

Haskill, who said that many of the petitions so far are unreported, added that 145 Pontiac merchants and downtown stores have copies of the petitions for patrons to sign.

Twenty-four industrial plants and 85 clergymen also voiced support

Aching Back Forces Snead From Tourney

MIAMI (UP)—Aging Sam Snead, a favorite to capture the Miami Open for the 6th time, withdrew today because of back trouble before he teed off in the 2nd round.

Snead showed up at the Miami Springs Course and reported that he injured his back on the 14th hole yesterday while shooting a three under par 67 to gain a three-way tie for 2nd place.

Snow Blankets Upper Midwest

Belt of Wintry Weather Reaches Appalachians; Rain Drenches East

(From Our Wire Services)

A blanket of snow stretched from the upper Midwest to the northern Appalachians today, turning highways into treacherous death traps in many areas.

Scores of traffic accidents, many of them fatal were reported in the Midwest and safety experts warned many highways were still dangerous.

Elsewhere in the nation, rain pounded the Middle Atlantic coast and southern New England, reaching .33 inches at Boston, Mass.

More rain hit all the way from southern California and Arizona to the Canadian border. Southern California downpours included a half inch at Los Angeles, where it caused traffic jams, and at Point Arguello, Santa Maria, Fresno and Point Piedras Blancas.

Temperatures rose five to 10 degrees in New England, but dropped just as much in the Ohio Valley and in parts of the Gulf states.

Postmaster Gives Tips for Speedy Christmas Mail

WASHINGTON (AP)—With only 15 more days to Christmas, Postmaster General Summerfield today offered this check list for getting the fastest results from the mailman:

1. Mail early.
2. Use postal zone numbers on cards, letters and packages.
3. Print both the address and the return address, including zone number on every item.

4. Tie Christmas cards in separate bundles for mailing marked "local" and "out-of-town." Printed slips with these labels are obtainable from postmen and post offices.

5. Place all packages in secure, well-padded cartons, and wrap them in well-bound strong paper.

6. Put in each parcel, inside the wrapping, a slip with both address and return address so that if the outside wrapping becomes undone, the package will not be lost.

When packages are sealed, but offered at parcel post rates, they must be labeled "may be opened for inspection."

U.N. POW Vote Expected Today

45 Member Countries Probably Will Back Up U.S.-Allied Demand

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U. N. Assembly pushed for a vote today on demands by the United States and its 15 Korean War Allies that Red China yield up 11 American airmen held as spies.

Weary delegates prepared to resume debate on the resolution after two meetings yesterday, the second lasting until nearly midnight.

Hopeful of clearing up the item before the Assembly goes into its final scheduled week, they planned to remain in session until they reach a ballot on the 16-power resolution condemning imprisonment of the men and calling on Secretary General Dag Hammerskjold to work for their release.

Delegates anticipated the resolution would encounter opposition only from the five-nation Soviet bloc, which has fought it bitterly. A scattering of Arab-Asian states were expected to abstain.

Observers believed the rsolution could have mustered 55 favorable votes if it had not included condemnation of Red China. This caused apprehension among Arab-Asian nations with little desire to go on record denouncing Peiping.

Paris Treaty Given First German Okay

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany's upper House of Parliament gave a preliminary vote of approval today to the Paris treaties granting sovereignty to the Bonn government and providing for its rearmament. But the Bundesrat refused to "Europeanize" the Saar.

The treaties now go to the Bundestag, the lower House, for action before coming back to the upper chamber for a final vote.

Both houses are expected to take final action on the pacts in January.

Dr. Sam Makes Three Denials of Slaying Wife

Tells of Being Struck by Intruder When He Tried to Aid Marilyn

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard three times denied from the witness stand today the July 4 murder of his pregnant wife Marilyn.

The 30-year-old osteopath was first asked about a Cleveland police accusation of murder, made shortly after Marilyn's death.

"Was there any basis of truth in the accusation made?" asked defense attorney William J. Corrigan.

"No, sir," replied Dr. Sheppard. A few minutes later Corrigan again asked: "The accusation was false?"

"Yes, sir," replied Dr. Sheppard.

"And it is false?"

"That's right," Dr. Sheppard said.

The defendant's denial followed his dramatic account of how an intruder struck him down from behind outside his wife's bedroom when he awoke on a downstairs couch and went to help her. He told ow he regained consciousness on the floor, and entered the murder bedroom to see the beaten and bloody body of Marilyn.

Groping for words before the hushed courtroom he described his wife as in "very bad condition . . . badly beaten." Then he told of pursuing a shadowy figure from te house to the beach and getting knocked out again in a fight.

The state has contended during the eight-week trial that Dr. Sheppard killed his wife because of a quarrel over his affairs with other women, and that there was no intruder involved in the crime.

The accusations which Dr. Sheppard denied today were made to him directly on the same day his wife was slain.

Indictments Follow Phenix City Slaying

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP)—A prosecuting attorney and a former sheriff's deputy who rose to power during the racketeering heyday in Phenix City have been indicted as the killers of the man whose crusade against vice had won the approval of Alabama voters.

Circuit Solicitor Arch Ferrell and former Chief Deputy Sheriff Albert Fuller were held without bond on first - degree murder charges for the slaying June 18 of Atty. Gen.-nominee A. L. Patterson.

A third unidentified defendant was indicted with Ferrell and Fuller yesterday by the same grand jury which had smashed the vice empire that reigned here for many years.

River Shannon Inundates 4,500 Farms in Ireland

DUBLIN, Ireland (UP)—The River Shannon flooded 4,500 farms in the midlands of Ireland today, and the government said the floods had reached the critical stage there.

Floodwaters were receding in Dublin, which suffered one of its greatest disasters yesterday, but authorities said 5,000 persons still were homeless. The water reached depths of five and six feet in the city.

Heavy rains which brought the rivers Liffey and Tolka to new levels in Dublin ended at nightfall, but more rain, sleet and snow were predicted today.

The River Shannon was still rising, however, and government authorities reported 4,500 farms flooded in the area south of Lough Ree and "numerous" houses swept away.

Telephone lines to the stricken area were out and the government gave Gen. Collins Powell, commanding officer of the western command, a "free hand" to organize relief.

Athlone, a town of nearly 10,000 on the Shannon south of Lough Ree and 70 miles west of Dublin, was spared, but the river broadened into a 2-mile wide lake below the city for a distance of 10 miles.

Trains in the hard-hit Athlone area were running on skeleton schedules as the flood waters spread while soldiers and workmen labored to open all lines leading from Dublin.

Soldiers and Red Cross volunteers rescued 14 families in the Clonown area of Athlone and the ruins of nearby Adamson castle became a refuge for many homeless persons.

One of these was Michael Curley who said, "I took refuge here in 1924 but this time was far worse."

Roads Are Clear After Snowfall

Icy Conditions Cause Nine Traffic Accidents in County

Work-bound motorists this morning found main roads reasonably skid-proof thanks to an all-night salting operation by Oakland County Road Commission crews.

Yesterday's one-inch snowfall stopped late last night in time for trucks to spread the chloride - sand - salt mixture on most main arteries by 7 a.m., according to Road Superintendent Oscar Loomis.

Some slippery spots were reported on side roads this morning. But, barring more snow, road workers expected to cover them by early afternoon.

Clouds and snow flurries were predicted for this area today, with a high of 32 to 35. Tonight is forecast as partly cloudy with a low near 20.

Four injury and five property damage accidents were handled by sheriff's deputies, Pontiac and state police. None of the four persons hurt were injured seriously.

Minor traffic tie-ups occurred this morning on U.S. 10 at Waterford Hill and on Rochester

U.S. Charges 17 With Fraud in Getting Loans

Drayton Plains, Berkley and Wixom Residents Named in Probe

DETROIT (INS) — Seventeen persons were indicted by a Federal Grand Jury in Detroit today on charges they received fraudulent FHA home improvement loans through which the borrowers received fat kickbacks.

Six of the 17 are listed as Oakland County residents.

Nine former officers and salesmen of the Home Service and Construction Co., and eight persons accused of getting rebates ranging from $370 to $2,150 were named in the indictments.

The eight persons were charged with getting the rebates through connivance with the company.

Six separate indictments were returned, all charging conspiracy between the company and its officers and salesmen and the borrowers.

Earlier this year more than 100 persons were indicted on the same loan fraud charges.

Orrin C. Jones, assistant U.S. attorney, said officers or salesmen for the company indicted included Billie R. Henderson, 37, of Berkley, and Jacob Leneschmidt, 51, of Drayton Plains.

Jones identified borrowers indicted as including Lloyd Nicolay, 43, and his wife, Dorothy, and Clement C. Stratman, 48, and wife, Dorothy, all of Wixom.

Jones said the company deliberately overstated amounts of money the borrowers needed for home improvement, then refunded to the borrowers by check or cash the difference between cost of the improvements and total amounts of the loans.

Others indicted, according to Jones, are:

Company personnel: Boyd Campbell, 39, of Detroit; Dennis G. Lowes, 27, of Detroit; Frank M. Golab, 39, of Lincoln Park, Andrew Fador, 29, of Holyoke, Mass.; Thayer L. Byerly, 31, of Indianapolis, Ind.; William F. Flatt, 40, of Detroit and 36-year-old Charles B. Burgess, of Windsor, Ont.

Other borrowers indicted include: Orville Deittrick, 27, of Roseville; Thomas Hickey, 33, of Wyandotte; Edwin Ehrke, 33, of Mt. Clemens; and 37-year-old Armand Rehnaert, of Detroit.

Union to Draft Demands Jan. 12

Twin Conferences in Detroit Scheduled by GM, Ford UAW-CIO

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Final 1955 demands on General Motors and Ford will be drawn at twin conferences scheduled in Detroit Jan. 12 by the CIO United Auto Workers Union.

The conferences will draw plant worker representatives from Ford and GM plants throughout the country. They are scheduled to run three days.

CIO President Walter P. Reuther, who also is president of the UAW, has announced that a guaranteed annual wage is the UAW's No. 1 goal. Auto industry spokesmen have denounced it as unworkable.

The UAW's Ford contract expires June 1. The GM contract expires May 29.

The auto union has announced it expects to raise a 25 million dollar strike fund to back up its demands. The CIO convention adopted a resolution pledging its support to all CIO unions seeking a guaranteed annual wage.

Besides the guaranteed annual wage, the twin Detroit conferences in January are scheduled to map demands on Ford and GM regarding pensions, working conditions and insurance.

Meanwhile, the CIO convention headed into final sessions today after asking Congress to investigate the impact of push-button factory production on the nation's economy.

AP Writer Picks Year's 10 Best Stories

Recession and Recovery, Stocks and Proxies, Cars Hold Business Spotlight

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—It's open season for "the big 10"—the 10 best movies of the year, the 10 dames who spend the most (of their husband's money) on clothes. And so, here's a nomination — just one man's opinion — for the 10 top business events of 1954:

1. The recession. Its course was watched anxiously by both businessmen and their employes from the first worrisome months of the year through the somewhat tentative leveling off at midyear and its apparent death early in the fall.

2. The bull market. The year-long climb of stock prices, and particularly their spectacular post-election spurt onto new high ground since the 1929 debacle fascinated most readers. By year's end bullish sentiment had brought the public into the market and made stock prices table conversation again after years of relative indifference by the average citizen.

3. Battles for proxies. Robert R. Young's successful wresting of the New York Central from what he called "Wall Street banker domination" was watched from one end of the country to the other. Patrick B. McGinnis won the New Haven in a somewhat similar proxy battle. And at yearend Louis E. Wolfson was slugging it out with Chairman Sewell Avery for control of Montgomery Ward.

4. The Detroit story. The auto companies are out with new high-style models for a race that may settle the question of how many, and who, will survive. Early in the year a knockdown and drag-out fight between Ford and General Motors for sales leadership sent Chrysler reeling and sent the little independents scurrying to the shelter of mergers.

5. Coffee. Rarely has the American housewife got so mad as last June when—with the cost of the brew already more than doubled since the war—Brazil hiked the price once more. Imports of coffee dropped off drastically in the summer. Brazil had to back-water, and prices fell here—but not very far.

6. Farm prices. The government lowered dairy supports. Butter prices dropped, and sales went up. The battle over farm price supports in general threatens to break out again in the new Congress. The role of the middleman in food prices is also due for an airing.

7. Taxes. Business profits stayed high this year largely because of the death of the excess profits tax. The drop in individual income withholding taxes boosted consumer purchasing power.

8. The building boom. Homes, office buildings, stores sprang up at a rate that confounded the experts and worried anyone given to fretting about the growing mountain of public and private debt.

9. Mergers. The greatest rush in years to make big ones out of little ones had the business world whirling, the stock market gyrating, and the U.S. Justice Department restudying the antitrust laws. Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown's proposed marriage, and a series of mergers in the languishing textile world caught most attention, along with the auto get-togethers.

10. Antitrust suits. When a federal judge the other day threw out the suit against Du Pont, General Motors and U.S. Rubber, many businessmen thought it might lead to an agonizing reappraisal in Washington of both the law and the Justice Department's attitude toward the issue of bigness in business.

Evergreen Sewer Group Seeks Engineering Studies

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — Out of yesterday's meeting of the Evergreen Interceptor Sewer Advisory committee came a resolution to negotiate for engineering studies of the proposed $2,740,000 project.

City Manager Donald C. Egbert said a contract with the firm of Hubbell, Roth and Clark should be presented for approval at a December 17 meeting of the advisory committee.

Also in time for the meetings, preliminary discussion will be held to appoint legal and financial consultants for the project, started after the Michigan Water Resources Commission ordered pollution abatement of the Rouge River by Dec. 31.

The state commission ordered Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, the City of Lathrup Village, and Southfield and Bloomfield Townships to appear at a January meeting to show why they should not be held in default of this order.

Although not cited, Troy Township is in on the proposed project.

William Roeser, Southfield supervisor, told representatives that a millage increase to provide necessary funds would again be put to township voters at a special election to be held in conjunction with the general primary on Feb. 21.

The increase, defeated in the November election, would pay for 62 per cent of the total construction cost.

of the program yesterday, said Haskill.

GMC Truck and Coach Div. reported at least 1,000 signatures yesterday when it opened the drive in its plants. The petitions are available for the employes to sign throughout the huge plant. Pontiac Motor and Fisher Body divisions, said Haskill, will report their totals probably at the first of next week.

Also to report complete signatures of their employes is the Pontiac City Lines. Edward Coonfield, a member of the S-D Day Committee and on the Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee, reported that all of Pontiac's trucking firms are cooperating in the campaign.

Pontiac residents are urged to sign the petition when asked by one of the many volunteers. The main enlistment station is manned by Pontiac Police and firemen on the southeast corner of Saginaw and Huron Sts.

Haskill said that all totals by those holding petitions should be reported Monday at FEderal 4-0553. The petitions should be turned over to Haskill by Tuesday, he added, so the long and impressive scroll will reach the President by S-D Day on Wednesday, Dec. 15.

Nash-Hudson Forces Linked

American Motors Head Says Merger Complete Ahead of Schedule

DETROIT (AP)—George Romney, president of American Motors Corp. says Nash-Kelvinator Corp. and Hudson Motor Car Co. will be in combined production this month—from six to eight months ahead of schedule.

The two firms joined to form American Motors Corp. last May 1. At that time it was expected to take from a year to 14 months to iron out the consolidation of the two companies' product programs and manufacturing operations.

Romney said in a statement that American Motors has used only $9,156,026 of an $11,000,000 reserve to make the integration of product lines. The unused balance has been returned to earned surplus.

Romney said the corporation showed a net loss of $11,071,237 for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1954 which, he said, reflected abnormal costs resulting from the merger program. Both the loss from operations and charges to the merger reserve were cushioned approximately 50 per cent by recovery of federal income taxes paid by Nash-Kelvinator in previous years, Romney said.

Romney said the corporation's annual report will be mailed to shareholders sometime after Jan. 1. It will show, he said, current assets of American Motors and consolidated subsidiaries totaling $169,841,320 and current liabilities of $87,756,815 at the close of the fiscal year. The difference representing net working capital is $82,084,505. Cash amounts to $45,402,788. Bank loans stand at $29,200,000 compared with $69,600,000 at the date of merger, leaving $43,800,000 as the unused portion of the corporation's bank credit.

Detroit Traffic Toll 213

Fourth Husband Also Got Arsenic

Jovial Grandmother's List of Victims Mounts; Expect More Reports

TULSA, Okla. (INS)—The body of Frank Harrelson, husband that Nannie Doss claims she "really loved," contained arsenic just as did three other mates the widow admits poisoning.

Officers at Anniston, Ala., reported to Tulsa police, who are holding Nannie for the murder of her fifth husband, that a "large quantity" of arsenic was found in Harrelson's body, exhumed at Jacksonville, Ala.

The round-faced grandmother admits she spiked her second mate's "rotgut whisky" with rat poison in 1945 "to teach him a lesson" when he came home drunk.

Authorities also disclosed yesterday that an examination of the body of Mrs. Sarah Lanning, third mother-in-law of the 49-year-old Tulsa widow, showed no arsenic poisoning.

The bodies of Nannie's sister, Mrs. Dovie Weaver, and a grandson, Robert Lee Higgins, also were exhumed at Jacksonville and a toxicologist's report on their deaths was expected today.

In addition to the murder charge in Tulsa for killing Samuel L. Doss last Oct. 10, the widow faces three other murder counts for the deaths of husband No. 4, Richard L. Morton Sr., of Emporia, Kans., and No. 3, Arlie J. Lanning of Lexington, N.C., and her mother, Mrs. Louisa Hazel, also of Lexington.

Two Are Arraigned on Robbery Charge

Two men, who earlier this week announced to police their intention of robbing an Avon tavern and later were nabbed in the act, were arraigned today before Avon Township Justice Luther C. Green on attempted robbery counts.

William McCord, 33, of 2219 Ellery, who admitted phoning Pontiac Police his intention of holding up the Avon Inn, demanded examination which Green set for Dec. 14.

Harold Kinser, 37, also arrested at the tavern, waived examination and is scheduled to appear in Oakland County Circuit Court for arraignment Dec. 20.

Kinser told police he lived at the Pontiac Hotel, but a check of the hotel's records by officials there revealed that Kinser was never a resident.

Both men, unable to furnish $5,000 bond, are being held in Oakland County Jail.

San Gabriel Coed, 19, Chosen Rose Queen

The green-eyed honey blonde from San Gabriel, Calif., was named queen from among 1,800 of the college's coeds yesterday following a lengthy judging contest which started during the fall.

She will be crowned at a Tournament of Roses coronation ball Dec. 28 and will reign over the annual rose festival and football game between the University of Southern California and Ohio State on New Year's Day.

The queen is five-feet, five-inches tall and weighs 120 pounds. She is studying to be an elementary school teacher and intends to go to UCLA for the balance of her college career.

Car Skids Sideways; Flint Woman Injured

Mrs. Marie Holt, 49, of Flint, was hospitalized with injuries suffered yesterday when her auto skidded sideways into another car on U.S. 10 in Groveland Township.

A housewife, Mrs. Holt is listed in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital with a possible concussion, spine and knee bruises and a fractured finger.

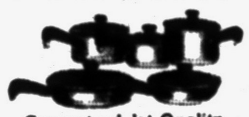

Maxwell F. Taylor, 37, of 3970 Seeden, Drayton Plains, the other motorist, said he could not avoid Mrs. Holt's auto.

You Can't Be Hep Unless You Mambo

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Whether you live in Manhattan, Mexico City, San Francisco or Sydney, Australia, you're not hep unless you mambo.

That was the word today from 400 dance instructors attending a meeting here.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Christen reported that in Sydney, Australia, mambo is replacing the "quick step" and "slow fox" that rated tops last year.

In Mexico City, said Bob Covington, a quickened version of the mambo is pushing the rhumba into second place.

Judge's Condition Good

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Kent County Circuit Judge Dale Souter was reported in good condition Thursday at Blodgett Memorial Hospital. Judge Souter entered the hospital Saturday for surgery.

Receives Promotion

DETROIT (AP) — Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit, Thursday announced the promotion of Dr. Loren M. Long, 40 to director of chemical research for the drug firm. Long had been assistant director under Dr. George Rieveschel Jr., who recently was named an assistant to company president, Harry J. Joynd.

Cuba produced eight million tons of sugar in 1952, but in 1953 production was limited by the government to 5,700,000 tons, and to 5,400,000 tons in 1954.

Export Business High

DETROIT (AP) — Federal Mogul Corp., parts manufacturer, said Thursday its export business during the first 10 months of 1954 was the highest in the firm's history. The company also declared a 50-cent dividend per share and an extra dividend of 25 cents per share payable to stockholders of record Nov. 26, 1954.

Bob Considine Says:

90-Minute Show on TV to Open New Press Club

NEW YORK (INS)—At long, long last, the largest city in the country and maybe even the world has a press club. I've been in press clubs from the biggest, the National in Washington, D. C., to the liveliest, the one in Tokyo.

But as of this Monday night New York will have its first real, home-owned, bona fide, mortgage free, genuine meeting place for old and indigent and young and indignant newsmen and news-hens of all media.

Had an interesting form letter about the Overseas Press Club's Memorial Press Center, as we call it, the other day in Cleveland. It was from the president of the organization and read:

"Dear Bob:

"As one of our members, I trust you will do your utmost to let your public, such at it is, know that on this coming Monday night NBC's Producers' Showcase will present 'Dateline' to key the official dedication ceremonies of the Press Center at 35 East 39th, N.Y.C.

"The host of stars on the TV color and black-and-white show (which runs from 8 p.m. until 9:30 EST.) will include Bob Hope, Sid Caesar, Eddie Fisher, Martha Raye, Marian Anderson, Perry Como, Peggy Lee and Lord knows who (whom) else.

"Bob Sherwood has written a fine sketch about Ernie Pyle; Dick Rodgers is conducting the orchestra in a medley of his great music from "Victory at Sea." Carl Sandburg has composed and will deliver a tribute to war correspondents and foreign correspondents.

"There will be a take-off on 'Meet the Press' and other established TV favorites with such 'actors' as Lawrence Spivak, H. V. Kaltenborn, Lowell Thomas, Hal Boyle, Cecil Brown, Inez Robb, Elsa Maxwell, Ben Grauer, Larry Le Suer, Bruno Shaw, Tex and Jinx McCrary, etc. John Daly, the best, will officiate. Milton Caniff, greatest friend of the U. S. Air Force since the brothers Wright, will do one of his incomparable 'Steve Canyon' Sunday pages. Ed Murrow and Fleur Cowles are moving mountains to make it a memorable event.

"Alan Handley, NBC staff producer-director noted for his creative talents on such programs as 'The Dinah Shore Show' and 'Light's Diamond Jubilee,' will come from Hollywood to New York to direct 'Dateline.' Fred Coe, tops, will produce, and Jack Rayel is executive producer.

"The Press Center will be a living memorial to, among others, Ernie Pyle, Jack Singer, Webb Miller, Royal Arch Gunnison, Melville Jacoby, Byron Darnton, Raymond Clapper, David Lardner, Stanley Gung, Bob Bellaire, John Cashman, Dixie Tight, H. R. Knickerbocker, Nat A. Barrows, George L. Moorad, Burton Heath, Bertram D. Hulen, Ray Richards, C. D. Rosecrans Jr., Ken Inouye, Frank Emery and Bob Capa. More than 80 fine men and women were killed in World War II, Korea and elsewhere in recent years, keeping alive the flame of a free and informed press, radio and the like.

"The Overseas Press Club of America emerged from a round-table gabfest held at the Hotel Algonquin in New York City on April 2, 1939. There were 20 correspondents present. Wythe Williams was elected president. The first treasurer went over the hill with the club's modest bank account.

"Since Mr. Williams, the club has had such presidents as Lucian S. Kirtland, Louis P. Locher, Eugene Lyons, J. Clifford Stark, Lowell Thomas, W. W. Chaplin, John Daly, Burnet Hershey and Frank Kelley. And there are few well known recorders of shot and shell and international politics who are not members. The members and a lot of kind companies, etc., have contributed enough to buy, remodel and refurbish a $250,000 clubhouse, which will have no financial worries for a long time, if ever, thanks also to the sponsors of our dedication show on NBC, the Ford people and RCA.

"It's a beautiful place, thanks to William Pahlmann, A. I. D., prominent and brilliant designer and former light colonel in the country's flying machine brigade. We now have 1,027 members to fill it, and a host of working committees, including one which has helped free imprisoned newsmen and rapped the knuckles of dictators who try to crush the institution of a free press.

"The Memorial Press Center was long overdue, but you'll note on first sight that it was well worth waiting for. Stop in. Try to talk up the Monday night TV show. It should be great. Regards.

"Bob Considine, President."

Growers Ask Research

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The 84th annual meeting of the Michigan State Horticultural Society Wednesday adopted a resolution calling for the expansion of food technology research at Michigan State College. Fruit growers attending the meeting said similar programs at the University of California have resulted in increased strawberry production in California.

Human Rights Day

Today is a significant anniversary for the free world.

Just six years ago, December 10, 1948, in Paris, the General Assembly of the United Nations formally adopted the Declaration of Human Rights. There were no dissenting votes but eight Nations abstained from voting, five of them from the Soviet bloc, on the ground that the declaration failed to condemn Fascism.

This document is historic because it lists the rights to which all people everywhere should be entitled. Among them are those contained in our own immortal Bill of Rights. Others are freedom of thought, education, equal pay for equal work, economic security and an adequate standard of living.

The Declaration is not a treaty subject to enforcement, but simply a statement of ideals for which to strive. A separate treaty embodying these ideals has been drafted. It hasn't been signed by the United States because of fear in some quarters that it might interfere with our freedom of action in domestic affairs.

Nonetheless the Declaration has the wholehearted endorsement of President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles. The President said of the document:

"For the people of the United States as well as for people everywhere, the United Nations' Universal Declaration of Human Rights is a beacon in the steady march towards achieving human rights and fundamental freedoms for all."

Unfair to Immigrants

Several prominent New Yorkers are justifiably disturbed by what has happened as a result of the Federal immigration department's abandonment of Ellis Island.

Among them are the well known author, Pearl Buck, and New York's Republican Congressman J. K. Javits. As complaints make clear, the immigration department's move has forced authorities to detain in some new facility aliens awaiting admittance to the country and others marked for deportation.

The facility chosen is Westchester County's jail at Eastview. These aliens are housed in conditions described as disgraceful. Not only is the food reported bad, the mattresses dirty and fresh air and recreation lacking, but the detainees are held among common criminals.

In protesting the treatment of these aliens Rep. Javits wrote in part:

"To detain them in premises which are a penal institution is disruptive alike of our social concept of the purposes of a prison and of the Nation's majesty in receiving aliens."

Attorney General Brownell is urged by the New York Times to carry out the directive of Section 242 of the McCarran Act. This requires him to provide "appropriate places of detention" for aliens.

Movie Attendance Up

Although only figures for the first half year have just become available, one of the second quarter's noteworthy economic developments is the sharp increase in movie attendance.

During the first three months admissions in the Nation averaged 35,100,000 weekly. For the April-June quarter the average jumped to 47,200,000. This was a gain of 3,300,000 over the average for the second quarter of 1953. But it is only a little more than half the average of 90,000,000 a week established in the industry's record year of 1946.

There seems to be no agreement so far as to the reasons for increased attendance at the country's movie houses. Leaders of the industry attribute it to the cut in the Federal admissions tax from 20 to 10 per cent and the elimination of the levy on tickets costing less than 50 cents.

It also is possible that wider use of deep perception films may have played a part in the comeback. A casual examination of newspaper movie columns, however, suggest that improved quality of Hollywood productions may be a potent factor.

Yule Lighting Contest

If Pontiac's renown for the beauty of its Yuletide home lighting isn't increased this year, it won't be the fault of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Once again the Jaycees are offering prizes of a $25 savings bond for the best display in each of four districts, with a grand prize for the overall winner.

Co-chairmen in charge of the contest are Ben Sweeney and Lawrence Shelton. Entries on blanks provided for the purpose will be received through December 18 at the Jaycee office, 34 E. Pike St.

We hope this year's list of contestants will set a new high record and that the displays will be more beautiful than ever. In the past, contestants have achieved such ingenious and artistic effects that they have attracted a steady stream of sightseers for many miles around.

Remember the December 18 deadline.

The Man About Town

Her 105th Birthday

Celebrated Soon by This County's Oldest Person

Battle of the sexes: One that never will be settled—there's too much fraternizing with the enemy.

Mrs. Eliza Beaumont Taylor,

celebrates her one hundred and fifth birthday next week at her home in Highland. Born near there on Dec. 12, 1849, she has spent her entire life in this county. Her memory is keen, and she distinctly recollects happenings of Civil War days. She keeps abreast of the times and cast her vote in last month's election. Usually in good health, her many friends will be sorry to learn that this week she came down with a cold and other complications that, in her own words, "knocks me out." Mrs. Taylor lives with her daughter, who enjoys the happy and rare distinction of having her mother still with her when she herself is 85 years of age.

MRS. TAYLOR

The players themselves, most of whom ride to chase the ball and do their chukking on Oakland County fields, have voted as the man who has done the most to promote polo in Michigan. A big dinner in his honor was given at a Detroit hotel recently, among those present being

Roy Pulver,

Pontiac's top enthusiast in the game.

Now seven years old, that precocious who only identifies herself as living on West Iroquois Road, comes through with her annual Santa Claus letter. Now "growing up," she doesn't want toys any more.

of Keego Harbor. She takes two egg whites, one-eighth teaspoon cream of tartar and the same amount of salt. Then beat up good and stiff, adding one-quarter cup of sugar while stirring. It then is ready to spread easily on the tree's branches.

Howard White Commends All Helpers in the Recent Muscular Dystrophy Drive

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

I wish to take this opportunity to thank each and every one who has contributed so generously to the worthy cause for the "Muscular Dystrophy" drive we have just had in Pontiac.

I wish to thank the Chamber of Commerce; Chief of Police Herbert Straley; City Manager Walter Willman; and Fire Chief John Schroeder for their splendid cooperation. Also all of the Pontiac firemen and letter carriers who canvassed for this drive and donated their time freely that some child may have a better chance to live a normal life.

At this time there is no known cure for this dreadful disease and the money will be used for research and to help all who are now stricken with this disease.

Pontiac certainly has a big heart.

Parade Was Magnificent, Says Frank Slaybaugh

The whole affair was an example of civic cooperation at its best. All the churches and schools that participated obviously did a lot of work on their floats and they certainly depicted in grand style the true meaning of Christmas from both the religious as well as the children's standpoint.

I am sure no other city of our size will have anything comparable to this parade.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Tooting Own Horn Perfectly All Right, but Don't Grow Too Interested in Past

Every one of you readers knows a man or woman just like Douglas in today's case. Here is an educated man who steers the conversation so that he can always bring out ego inflating episodes from his past.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case M-389: Douglas D. is a bachelor friend of mine who was a member of the first class I taught in psychology at Northwestern. He drops in for a visit occasionally.

He has been a college professor himself in several eastern and southern universities, but later decided he wished to be a physician, so he finished his medical course.

If there is a stranger in my office when Douglas arrives, he invariably brings the conversation around so that he can say:

"Yes, I remember when I was in the army in France, and we were hearing the roar of the German guns, etc., etc. . . ."

After he finishes this story he says:

"That reminds me of the time when I was teaching at Pennsylvania, or was it when I was located at Georgia, etc., etc. . . ."

Finally he brings out his third stereotyped cue:

"You know, Doctor, when I was taking physiology in my medical course, the professor said he had read about a few cases of persons who could control the pilomotor fibers in the skin, but he never believed the reports. So I showed him I could make the hairs on my arm stand up whenever I wished."

I cite this case today to show several fundamental points in social psychology. Douglas and I are good friends, and he will probably read this with a start some day, for I am sure he doesn't know that I have tabulated his little conversational mannerisms.

In fact, I can almost predict to the second when he is going to begin with each of the above conversational cues. These three topics are simply the means by which he tries to inject into conversation some of his selling points, or bids for distinction.

At the present time, he feels a little embarrassed because he has regressed from the state of a college professor to the level of a recent medical student. His ego is a bit deflated. That is the reason why he hastens to let us know that he was a university professor at this and that college.

He harks back to his army days, of course, to let us know that he is a member of the American Legion; that he also served abroad durhg World War II. Being somewhat reduced in his present self-esteem, he tries valiantly to show that he is not just a failure but is a successful man with many and varied experiences behind him.

This tendency of Douglas' is normal and very desirable. We should try to put our best foot forward and let our public know that we are competent persons.

I mention it today not in any critical sense, but to show that we must use caution and try to be as versatile as possible in the way we toot our own horn. Douglas has repeated his little three-point opening speech so often that his friends have it memorized.

When he mentions his physiology professor, that is my cue to ask Douglas for a demonstration, and he gladly obliges. He can actually make the goose pimples come and go at will.

The hairs on his arm will stand erect and then flatten themselves as he desires. It is really a very interesting scientific demonstration. So he uses it wherever he goes. It is his main parlor attraction; his chief social accomplishment.

But Douglas is growing too interested in the past. He must take care lest he become so pleased with the experiences and accomplishments of yesterday that he forgets about the future? We become old when we are content to live in the days of yesteryear.

People should be planning and talking of tomorrow; not of yesterday. Youth and zest for living are synonymous with forward thinking, not with backward dreaming.

Aunt Het

I feel sorry for Tom's boy. Without a car he can't get a girl, and he can't support a wife if he's keepin' up a car.

David Lawrence Says:

President Has a Chance to Unite Party and Nation

This is the $64 question in American politics today. It is not less important because the Democratic party faces an equally serious cleavage over the civil rights issue.

The Republican Party is torn with a factionalism based on issues which are really not at all insurmountable. This factionalism is intensified by a fundamentally mistaken point of view among some of the President's closest advisers who seem to think the way to political progress is to keep the Republican factions fighting each other.

In many respects President Eisenhower is a political paradox. He has proved himself to be an aggressive partisan inside the Republican party but no partisan at all in fighting the Democratic party.

Many of the supporters of the President use rather loose terms in describing the factions of the Republican Party. They refer nowadays to the "right wing" and the "hard core of the right wing." Does this mean that the opposite faction hereafter can be properly described as the "left wing" or the "hard core of the left wing"? Such terms will not enhance the prestige of the Republican Party or bring unity to its ranks.

Another example of the careless use of terms occurred in the last two weeks when Senator Knowland of California, majority leader, made a statement urging that a naval blockade might be used to compel the release of the 11 airmen held captive by the Red Chinese. The idea was worth exploring — or at least discussing in a land of free speech. It was advantageous to let the Red Chinese know that members of Congress here were at least thinking of these things.

Without looking up Mr. Knowland's voting record, which has been 87 per cent in favor of the Eisenhower legislative proposals — one of the best in Congress — there was published in a large eastern newspaper an editorial coining the word 'Knowlandism". In a few days there were editorials in other newspapers which removed the quotation marks and characterized the Knowland point of view as an "ism", or as a "right wing" pronouncement. Yet, if anybody deserves the title of "progressive moderate," as Mr. Eisenhower phrases it, Senator Knowland does.

When a few days afterward the California senator lined up against the censure resolution, it was promptly asserted by some Eisenhower supporters in the press that "Knowlandism" and "McCarthyism" were the same thing. Conversely, one look at the roll-call for censure will reveal, however the name of Senator Watkins, whose isolationist point of view would hardly entitle him to be classified as a left winger or internationalist just because he fought the Wisconsin senator.

Such tactics are not going to help Mr. Eisenhower restore harmony in his party and he, of course, isn't responsible for the mistakes being made by his overzealous supporters. For, if Senator Knowland, who represents the second most populous state in the union, is to be deprived of the right to express the viewpoint of his constituents on public questions unless he conforms to a pattern, then indeed an era of intolerance has arrived on the American scene—far more serious than the Wisconsin senator's tactics in handling witnesses in congressional committees.

The late Senator Taft publicly differed on foreign policy with the Eisenhower administration in May, 1953, but nobody called it "Taftism" and there was no demand from the White House coterie that he resign as majority leader. If the White House is to insist on a rubber-stamp Congress and is to choose the majority leader of the Senate, then the system here will tend to acquire the "yes-man" conformity which Hitler introduced and Stalin perfected in handling a national legislature.

It is easy enough to proclaim that Senator McCarthy is down and out politically, but history shows that the same thing happened to Senator LaFollette, who was deserted by almost everybody in 1917—particularly by the Republican Party in his own state, and by the Legislature of Wisconsin which passed resolutions demanding his expulsion from the Senate.

But he was re-elected two years later, and five years afterwards he was rolling up 5,000,000 votes for president on a third party ticket. John W. Davis, Democrat, otherwise would have won. As it was the winner—Calvin Coolidge—obtained the electoral votes but failed to get a majority in each of 11 states west of the Mississippi.

What is important today politically is not the language or manner or tactless behavior of Senator McCarthy but the two issues he has raised. These are trade with Red China and with Soviet Russia and failure of the administration thus far to secure the release of Americans held prisoner by the Communist Chinese in violation of the Korean armistice.

Not much unity or bi-partisan cooperation will be accomplished on the political front if the President or his advisers assume that only McCarthy has been interested in such issues. President Eisenhower on the other hand, by taking a really effective position on these grave problems, has a chance not only to unite the Republican party but the country as well. The real key to harmony doesn't lie in accepting peace at any price or pacifism as a national policy.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(International News Service)

Senator McClellan capered us on the educational sprowl to the dictionary. He said he saw no reason for homonomy in future investigations.

The senator shoots from the Democratic side of the riffle range. We suspected it was a post-mortem dig at the Republican ordeals by television.

In Webster's cook book it says homonomy means relation in essence or substance. The senator got it off neatly and acted like he was used to it.

We diagnosed it as meaning the next Congress will not bring politics into politics.

If you think so five will get you ten. And ten will get you investigated by the income tax squad.

The only difference in the next set of congressional investigations is whose ox is being oxidized.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Therefore, brethren, we were comforted over you in all our affliction and distress by your faith.—I Thess. 3:7.

No cloud can overshadow a true Christian but his faith will discern a rainbow in it.—Bishop Horne.

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

The increasing frequency of queries about the amount of cholesterol a person gets from this or that food indicates that the trick specialists are catering this season to customers who have learned from Aunt Polly or Kitty Korner magazine that cholesterol may be deposited in the arteries unless . . .

Now, some readers are aware that I appreciate the value of nice soft arteries. In fact I have been taking medicine for the past twenty years to keep mine that way—a good dose of somersaults before breakfast every morning.

Drs. Moon and Rheinhart of the Medical School, U. C., concluded from five years of study of arteries of persons ranging in age from infancy to 90 years, some of whom had died of heart disease, some from accident, that cholesterol is deposited in the artery wall as a consequence of disease, not as the cause of it.

At about the same time Dr. Gofman, working in another laboratory of the same university insisted that what he called cholesterol molecules form in the artery walls at the onset of hardening of the arteries.

This difference of the experts or authorities reminds me of the controversy over the significance of calcium deposits in or calcification of arteries and joints.

The old timers noticed calcium deposits or calcification of arteries or joints of indivuduals who had for years had hardened arteries or rheumatiz and, being ignorant of pathogy, jumped to the conclusion that the calcium caused the arteriosclerosis or the rheumatiz.

From the newer knowledge of pathology and of nutrition acquired in the last 40 years, we know today, first that most Americans do not get enough calcium from their food to maintain good nutrition and good health, and, second, that when calcium is deposited in an artery wall or in the tissues of the joints it is in consequence of the pathological process in tissues which we know as degeneration.

Degeneration occurs when the body can no longer produce new cells to replace the cells that wear out and die by millions every day. In place of new cells which function in place of the worn-out or dead cells, the body can now only patch up the degenerated tissues or organs with inert fibrous (scar) tissue or a kind of plaster of Paris—calcification.

Next time your trick specialist or "clinic" racketeer tries to frighten you about "calcium deposits' causing hardening of the arteries—oh, well, of course you dare not challenge him, but in case your "leading" quack ever does hand you that line the great Dr. Osler's teaching ought to comfort you. In his famous Practice Osler said:

"Calcification of the arterial wall follows" "fatty degeneration and sclerosis."

And we may be sure no quick-buck "specialist' has shown that Osler was wrong about it.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Many Gift Ideas for Single Girls

Christmas Shopping Not Difficult for Ones Filling Hope Chests

Are there any names on your Christmas list of bachelor girls who live alone or girls who are filling their hope chests? If the answer is in the affirmative, your gift-finding worries are small.

For the young girl filling a hope chest, for instance, your choice of appropriate gifts would seem to be almost endless. There are hundreds of items, large and small, that she'll need in her future home. And receiving some of them now will probably bring more pleasure than a gift for her person alone.

One good choice is a bedspread, which she'll use and treasure for years. But before you go out to buy one, be sure to check with her parents or friends to learn her favorite color and whether she already has one. Ditto for similar presents.

The young prospective bride always has definite plans regarding her future home's decor. You'll have to meet their requirements or the gift will prove a dud and later must be exchanged.

A popular present always is a set of cooking utensils. Several leading firms, such as Farberware, Ekco and Wear-Ever, now offers low-cost "starter sets." These contain all pots and pans needed for everyday meal preparation, and later may be expanded by adding matching pieces.

Other favorites of hope chest fillers are sheets, pillow cases, towels, linens, bureau scarves, table cloths, trousseau clothing and similar items.

But don't think for a second that the item must be so small that it fits inside the hope chest. Also ssure to be welcomed are such things as small appliances, canister sets and candlestick holders.

The bachelor girl who doesn't live home may be filling a hope chest also. But whether she is or isn't, the fact that she lives alone or with friends suggests some specializing needs which adapt themselves well to Christmas presents.

For one thing, she has to cook —and because she holds a business job, she does so as fast as she can. If your budget will stretch that far, one of the portable cooking appliances will speed her chore considerably.

A good example is the deep fat fryer, which cooks everything from soups to roasts and does it extremely quick. In the infrared rotisserie broiler, an entire meal can be cooked at once. Other suitable gifts are portable mixers and sandwich grills, irons and popup toasters.

Since the bachelor girl usually works, she has to maintain a neat appearance. A hair dryer or massager is sure to be used many times. A new electric shaver especially made for women will remove unsightly leg hair.

Once you've started thinking, the list of suitable presents will lengthen to fill many pages. High on the roll-call of favorites, of course, are items to brighten her living quarters.

Sees Demand for Ike in 1956

Sen. Millikin Believes GOP Is Unshaken by McCarthy's Attack

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Millikin (R-Colo) said today there already is an "irresistible demand" among Republicans for President Eisenhower to become a candidate again in 1956.

Millikin, who heads the Conference of All GOP Senators, discounted in an interview any major split in the party because of the attack by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) on the President—a view generally shared by other Republicans and by some Democrats.

"I don't expect any split in the Republican party and neither do I expect any third party movement," Millikin said. "There already is an irresistible demand that the President be a candidate for another term and I don't think he can be beaten if he runs."

GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said yesterday a personal survey of Republican sentiment has convinced him that, as a result of the McCarthy criticism, "the President will find even greater unity and support among Republican members of both the Senate and House during the next two years."

Sen. Flanders (R-VT), who wrote the original censure resolution, said that increased support for Eisenhower among members of his own party "would seem to me to be a normal result of the kind of attack the junior senator from Wisconsin made."

Freed Canadian Back

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Squadron leader A. R. MacKenzie, 34, released after two years in a Red Chinese prison, arrived here by plane from Tokyo yesterday and was met by his blonde wife Joyce. They planned to fly today to Montreal, where their four children are waiting at home.

Soviet Church Appeals

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian Orthodox Church appealed today in the government newspaper Izvestia for Christians of the world to support Soviet proposals for a European security system. The appeal criticized Western plans to rearm West Germany.

Show Business

Noel Coward Uses Life as Theater – Has Been Toast of 2 Continents

By EDDIE CANTOR

Since his fifth Christmas, when his mother gave him a toy theater, show business has been part of him. But Noel Coward doesn't just make the theater his life, he makes life his theater—and how well he knows them both.

He can write a drama, a comedy, a revue, a musical comedy. He can write lyrics and music, he sings, he dances, he can act. For more than a quarter of a century, he has been the toast of two continents.

I saw his musical play, "Bitter Sweet," six times. I think one of the most beautiful songs ever written is "I'll See You Again." During World War II Noel Coward sang this song, and others he has written, for our allied troops, giving more than 500 performances. Quite a guy.

His witty dialogue is not confined just to his plays. He is an amusing companion. Many years ago one of his first comedies, which had been a smash hit in London, was produced in New York. But the big city would have none of it.

A week after the opening, Beatrice Lillie cabled him from London, "How is it going?" Coward cabled back two words—"It's gone."

In 1913, when Noel was engaged, with several other children, to play with the Liverpool Repertory Company, he met a jolly curly-haired youngster with whom he fell in love instantly. Her name—Gertrude Lawrence.

On the night of the late Gertrude Lawrence's opening in the Broadway hit, "The King and I," Coward called Western Union and dictated a gag telegram to her, signed it General Douglas MacArthur. The Western Union operator said, "I'm sorry, sir, but you're not allowed to sign a telegram with someone else's name."

Said Coward, "Very well. Just sign it Noel Coward." "Oh, no," objected Western Union, "that's just as bad." "But I am Noel Coward," he answered. "Well," said Western Union, "in that case you can sign it General Douglas MacArthur."

Child Guidance Clinic Conducting Classes

The Board of Directors for the Pontiac Child Guidance Clinic this week started the first of a series of educational classes which deal with child guidance mental health concepts.

This week Miss Esther Middlewood, director of mental health education for the State Department of Mental Health in Lansing, initiated the series with a talk and film entitled, "It's a Big Problem."

Mrs. Edwin V. Clark, chairman of the local board's education committee, with the help of Mrs. Lawrence S. Martz, developed the program with the aid of Dr. F. Milton Hathaway, director of the clinic board.

Christmas Duty for All---Not One Overlooked Child

By MARGARET LATROBE

What does Christmas mean?

You and I know it means a great deal more than getting presents, but just the same we don't mind seeing our names on a few pretty boxes under the tree.

To children, of course, it means lots of gifts from Santa Claus. When good little boys and good little girls write to him, he will surely bring their heart's desire. But will he? Who is Santa Claus, anyway?

Soon the bells will ring on the town square. Lights and music proclaim the glad business of Christmas before huge city stores. And outside, dressed in the red suits, the white beards, are men who for a season, for a sum, pretend to be what children think really are.

But in all this number, can there be a Santa Claus who would leave a stocking empty? What of the little fellows on the snowy street who hate this kindly old Saint Nick? They are the ones the store Santa dreads to meet.

One says, shyly — "Santy — you didn't come last year. Mommy was sick. Daddy was gone. We thought you'd be there with our toys, but you forgot us . . ."

Does anyone remember that old newspaper illustration called "The Empty Stocking?" It showed a little girl sobbing on her bed in a bleak room on Christmas morning. Her stocking, hanging by the bed, was empty. The same bells rang outside. Everyone else was happy. They had remembered their own. Their own had remembered them. A very happy Christmas it was.

Dear Santy, some of us haven't enjoyed Christmas for a long time. Its essence, yes, but the thought of one empty stocking makes it a sad day even while certain eyes are starry at home, while the air is full of delighted disbelief—"Mommy, he came, he really came. We saw him and the reindeers!"

For those who would still like to believe, Santa, could you give us just one thing? The promise that every little boy gets a dump truck, every little girl gets a doll, that no child wakens to find an empty stocking.

But who is Santa? Children know he is a spirit who loves each of them, who will surely remember each one the same. But we know Santa is just ourselves. It is we who must fill the empty stockings.

Mart Yule Lights On

CHICAGO (AP) — Lights were turned on last night on one of the nation's biggest Christmas cards on the Merchandise Mart, the world's larest commercial building. Nearly 7,000 light bulbs have been used to form three giant bells, each six stories high, two huge Christmas trees, each 15 stories tall, and a long three-story star.

Life in Moscow Troubled by Tenement Family Feuds

MOSCOW (AP) — The newspaper Evening Moscow has come out for peaceful coexistence—among families sharing kitchens and baths in Moscow tenements.

"Scandal fanciers and brawl sportsmen" battle with their neighbors over such things as a scratched bathtub or the keeping of pet doves in communal kitchens, Evening Moscow says. Shared plumbing and cooking facilities are normal in Moscow life.

The paper gives several examples of the fights; beginning with one between members of the Boulva and Ivanov families who lived in apartment No. 8 at Lo Svetkhov Alley.

"Once a member of the Boulva family scratched the enamel of the bathtub while taking a bath. The Ivanov family took it as a personal insult. The housewife Ivanova made a sarcastic remark. Boulva also answered sarcastically. All had ripened for a municipal flat scandal of the medium serious type.

"But what has happened? From the small scratch arose a big fight and on the scene appears the (government) mediator to examine not a small scratch on the bathtub, but a deep scratch on the face of one of the battlers.

"They were using mops and saucepans — very popular battle tools in communal life.

"Then the heads of the families took over in the battlefield from the housewives. They passed refined phrases back and forth and swung at each other with their brief cases."

How the fight came out is not related.

Pontiac PTA Council Urges Fluoridation of Water

'HOME ON THE RANGE'—The family of Norman Cheal gathered around the piano to encourage the 8-year-old daughter, Barbara Jeanne, as she played this tune. Others in the picture are Mr. and Mrs. Cheal and Mary Elizabeth, 1-year-old; Alice Marian, 3, and Richard Lewis, 7.

Sends Letters to Commission

Health Committee Says Treatment Cuts Tooth Decay 65 Per Cent

The Health Committee of the Pontiac PTA Council is sending letters to each city commissioner urging fluoridation of the local water supply as a teeth-protection measure.

The idea was previously dropped after some consideration by commissioners in 1951.

There is no record of fluoride - treated drinking water ever failing to bring a substantial reduction in tooth decay, according to Mrs. George Wyman, PTA Health Committee chairman, whose group has kept close watch of results obtained by other cities using fluorides.

"Dental decay in children can be decreased by about 65 per cent," she stated.

MRS. WYMAN

As the concentration is pushed over the one-to-one - million level, reduction of decay remains at 65 per cent.

Another benefit which, Mrs. Wyman states, is sometimes overlooked, is the greater degree of retention of natural teeth by persons who have used fluoridated water since birth.

"Use of fluoride - bearing water during the first eight years of life (the teeth-forming period) materially benefits teeth throughout life," the PTA worker said.

Life-long fluoride users in the 40-plus age group lose only about a third as many natural teeth as non-fluoride users, Mrs. Wyman said.

An engineering study has set cost of installing the necessary equipment in Pontiac at about $19,000, with a yearly operation cost of around $22,000.

"This would make the fluoridation cost per person per year between 20 to 25 cents," she stated. "Surely this is cheap dental insurance. The cost of a single filling will pay for the fluoride for one person for about 25 years.

"Every delay deprives our children of a substantial health benefit which may be obtained at negligible cost."

Practically all water contains fluorides in varying amounts. There is ono difference between water natually containing fluorides and water to which they have been added, according to the Michigan Department of Health.

The process has been thoroughly tested, Mrs. Wyman points out. She cites a statement by Dr. Fred Wertheimer, chief of the Michigan Department of Public Health Dentistry, who said, "No other public health measure has undergone such extensive . . . research . . . before being recommended for public use.

The process is endorsed by the United States Public Health Service, The American Dental Assn. and many other organizations.

Six-year olds in Grand Rapids who have been drinking fluoridated water since birth have 67 per cent less tooth decay than children the same age in areas where water has no fluoride, said Mrs. Wyman.

Probably one of the most widespread diseases afflicting mankind, dental decay is found in over 95 per cent of the populace, the PTA chairman points out.

The addition of colorless, odorless and tasteless fluoride to drinking water provides a mass method for the partial control of decay, she stated. "It produces results at the lowest cost of any method to date.

"On the basis of this public health problem and for protection of our children, we, the PTA Council, urge adoption of the recommendation by the Pontiac City Commission."

Other members of Mrs. Wyman's committee are Mrs. Paul Brown, Mrs. William Thomas, Mrs. William Wright, Mrs. Donald North and Miss Josephine Seeley.

What Religion Means to Our Family

Norman Cheals Express Their Faith and Serve God by Working in Church

By LULA B. OGDEN

Living, growing and working together is the philosophy of the Norman Cheal family of 4200 Roseberry in Drayton Plains. They have lived in their attractive home for 2½ years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cheal were born in Pontiac, but Mrs. Cheal's parents moved back to their home at Manistee when she was a child.

The couple met while attending Michigan State College where they graduated in 1941 — Norman in chemical engineering and Dorothy in home economics.

They have been members of a church since 1925 and 1930, respectively, and are at present both connected with First Congregational Church.

The Cheals, who are proud of the fact that they worked their way through college, recall with a great deal of pleasure their connections with the People's Church at East Lansing.

They especially enjoyed the Friday and Sunday night activities.

The year 1941 is memorable for, besides graduation, they were married that year and at Christmastime, Cheal went into service.

Mrs. Cheal traveled with him until he went overseas. She then returned to East Lansing to work at the college in the Home Economics and Research Departments.

When Cheal, who was a combat engineer, was discharged after 4½ years in the Philippines and Japan, the family moved to Pontiac.

A past member of the Pastoral Committee, Youth Board and Boy Scout Committee, Cheal is now a member of the Board of Trustees and is especially interested in the church building program.

Mrs. Cheal is a former vice president of the Women's Association and is a member of the Mary Lyon Group.

"Religion for us is a personal thing. We feel that God is always with us and that we can turn to Him for guidance and help at any time. Although it is often very difficult, we try to accept God's will," Cheal stated.

"We marvel at all His creations and the beauty of our earth.

"Through associations with other Christians in the church, we feel we can best help fullfil God's plan for all men."

Wilson Hints Higher Arms Budget in '55

CHICAGO (AP)—Secretry of Defense Wilson said last night military spending in 1954 was reduced almost three billion dollars but because of the need for new weapons the estimated 1955 budget of $29,600,000,000 may be raised to 34 billions.

He told the Illinois Manufacturers Assn. more and more military spending would go toward planes that will fly faster and higher and carry heavier loads.

But, he said, armed might alone won't solve world problems and the United States must understand the importance of getting along with other free peoples.

Dauntless Officer Stalks Dangerous Quarry in Grass

SEBREE, Ky. (AP) — A crowd awaited Police Chief J. Z. Shelton when he answered Mrs. Lolo Conner's call to "come quick with your gun — there's a copperhead at my place."

Confidently assuring the bystanders he wouldn't miss, the chief crawled silently through the weeds toward the snake. Shelton aimed his shotgun carefully, fired, then waited a moment to see if the snake moved. It didn't.

He picked up his "kill" to display it to the crowd.

GM Girls Club Dresses Dolls for Needy at Christmas

This week the usually reserved and formal lobby of the Pontiac Motor Division administration building on Oakland avenue wears a youthful, Christmasy air.

There, flanked by photo murals of assembly line operations and a gold-enameled 1955 Pontiac club coupe, stand row upon row of dolls dressed in every imaginable color and type of costume.

An approximately equal number of baby dolls were costumed in everything from hand-knitted sweaters to elaborate party dresses.

The display, and the clothing for the dolls, is the work of the Pontiac General Motors Girls Club, which includes female employes of all three GM divisions here.

Each year the girls clothe about 200 dolls, which are then given as Christmas gifts to make the holiday season a bit brighter for little girls who otherwise might be missed by Santa.

Club members started making the doll clothes in September.

Among this year's recipients of dolls will be girls at the Oakland County Childrens Home on Telegraph road. Boys at the institution will get miniature models of 1955 Pontiac cars, also supplied by the GM girls.

A group of dolls is also going to grils suffering from muscular dystrophy at the Whittier School, and the club will have gifts for the boys there, too.

Veterans hospitalized at the VA Hospital in Dearborn will receive dolls to give their daughters on Christmas. The GM Girls Club is also sending ten dozen miniature Pontiacs for sons of the ex-servicemen.

In other Christmas activities, the organization will give toys and candy to children at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, and candy and individual gifts to children at the Pontiac State Hospital.

Mrs. Harry Dernberger, president of the club, said that the dolls would be judged and prizes awarded to the girls who made the clothing for the winning entries. Until they are distributed, the dolls will be on display in the administration building lobby.

Storage Space Scarce for Clerk's Documents

Lack of space to store legal records has forced Oakland County Clerk Lynn D. Allen to utilize the naturalization room in the courthouse for divorce case files.

"The room is not fireproof, but I have no other place to put them,' he explained. Allen said he may also have to store chancery and law case records in the room before long.

Brief Steel Strike Ends

ZUG ISLAND (INS)—Operations were bac kto normal at the Great Lakes tSeel Company's Zug Island plant today following the end of a wildcat strike that started yesterday on the midnight shift.

Local Groups to Sponsor Children's Home Parties

Looking in on the holiday scene at Oakland County Children's Home finds a gay and busy atmosphere from Dec. 11 through Jan. 2.

Parties or special events are scheduled nearly every day, most occasions being sponsored by different organizations, service groups or sororities.

William J. Moulton, Children's Home director, said that people, this year, have been generous as always, calling to take children into their home for the holiday, or at least to "borrow" them for Christmas dinner.

Party season opens Dec. 11, when Alpha Alpha chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha takes 24 children, ages 5 to 12, to a party at the Y, where there will be games, gifts and refreshments. Chairman is Mrs. L. L. Schiesler, and Mrs. George Oliver is sorority sponsor.

Dec. 14, an eleventh grade home room group from Birmingham High School will give a party at the school for a dozen tots ranging from three-and-a-half to 10 years. Helen Caldwell is their chairman.

Royal Oak American Legion opens its hall to 20 children, ages 11 to 15, on Dec. 15, for a luncheon and Christmas program.

The Women's League of St. Andrew Episcopal Church, Clawson will have a party for 12 girls 5 to 12 years old on Dec. 16. This will be at the home of Mrs. W. E. Segolund, chairman for the event.

Dec. 17, one of the busiest days on the party schedule, starts off with a luncheon for 25 children from 7 to 15 to be given at the Waldron Hotel by Pontiac Exchange Club. There will be entertainment and gifts after lunch.

The same evening, in one of the biggest events of the year, the General Motors Foremen's Club "brings a party" to all the children right there at the home at 2050 North Telegraph.

The children will enjoy movies, refreshments and gifts for all. W. H. Nicholson is chairman for the GM event.

Also, the 17th is the date tentatively set for a party for 10 youngsters from 11 to 13 at Emmanuel Baptist Church, to be sponsored by a young people's group there.

The Moose Lodge will give a party for ten kiddies between ages of 8 and 12, Dec. 18, at the lodge, with entertainment and gifts. On the same date the Stabafa Club, under the chairmanship of Betsy Bradley will take eight tots, 3 to 8, to the home of Sharon Holland on West Iroquois road.

Two mothers will help in giving the party, where there'll be games, gifts and refreshments.

A group of five teenagers have also invited one Children's Home teenager, on the 18th, to the home of Mrs. Harold Armstrong, 4900 Pontiac Lake Rd, for a party and gifts, which the girls will buy from their allowances.

The Rema Club will have a party out at the home Dec. 20 — bringing all the entertainment, refreshment and gifts. They put on a big party for the kiddies last year too, and included every child in the home.

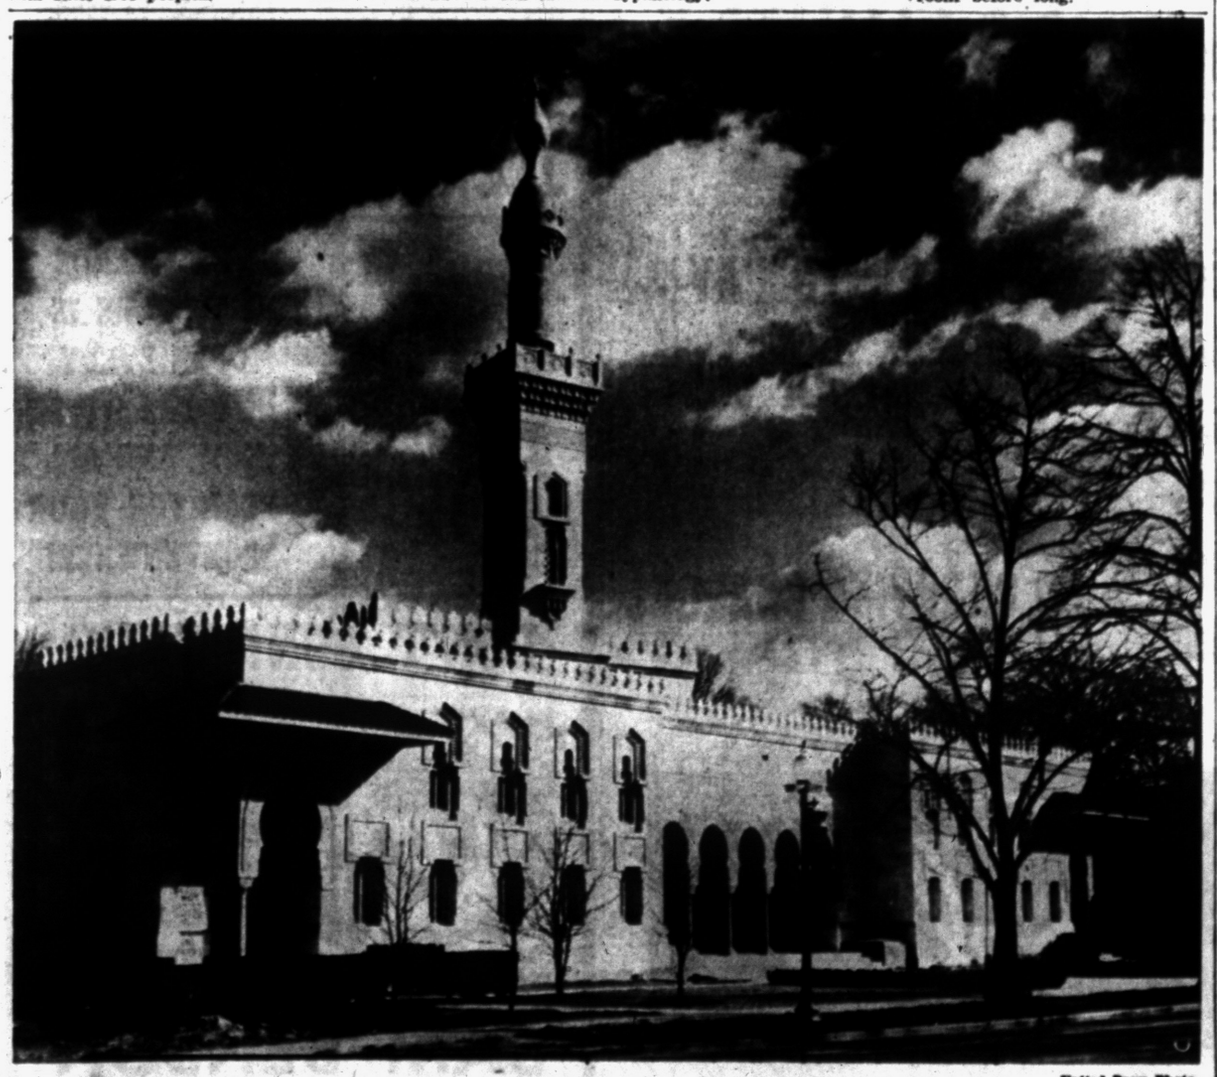

The Business Club, a Birmingham High School group, will give a party the 20th, for all the cottage children (children all ages, who live in cottages on the Children's Home grounds.) Shirley Sharpe is chairman for this party.

The night before Christmas, there will be a movie party for all the children at the home. Mrs. Odell Moden is chairman arranging this event to be given by a number of guilds from southern-area city churches.

The only unhappy note in the whole Christmas story for children under Juvenile court jurisdiction was sounded today in a phone call from court workers.

It seems that, athough children actually living in the home will attend parties and receive gifts, many tots under court jurisdiction but living in their own homes, perhaps with one parent, or being boarded out, are left out of the picture.

They will have a good Christmas dinner where they stay, but many will be without gifts. So far this season, gifts and contributions for these particular children have not been forthcoming as in other years, spokesmen said. Court staff workers asked that persons wishing to contribute gifts to this cause contact James R. Hunt, Juvenile Court director, at FE 3-7151.

FIRST AND ONLY—Now nearing completion in Washington, D. C. is America's first and only Mohammedan Mosque. The towerlike minaret, from which the crier traditionally calls worshippers to prayer, faces toward Mecca while rest of the building parallels the street.

WHERE ARE THE REINDEER? — This small American boy, dressed in Wild West clothes, looks unhappily at Santa Claus, who disappointed the lad by arriving via helicopter instead of by reindeer. However, hundreds of other children in Frankfurt, Germany, were happy to see Santa, actually a member of the U. S. 4th Division, who handed out gifts.

Mrs. Williams Speaking at Luncheon for Women

DETROIT (UP) — Mrs. G. Mennen Williams, wife of Michigan's governor, will be principal speaker tomorrow at a luncheon honoring three Democratic women elected to public office in the Nov. 2 election.

The honor guests include Congresswoman Martha Griffiths, State Senator Cora Brown and State Representative Charline White.

Chapter 5 — — 'Suspect'

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

Vacant Cabin Turns Out to Be Ready for Occupants

THE STORY: There seems to be a concerted effort to keep Private Detective Jim Dunn from reaching a summer cottage in which he will pose as a caretaker while doing some investigating work for Mrs. Kit Carlson. The Carlson family, very wealthy, is a matriarchy governed by the senior Mrs. Carlson. Mrs. Oswald. There are several other women in the group, all identified by the first names of their husbands.

The station wagon crossed a bridge over a noisy mountain stream and reached the level ground at the shore of Puma Lake. Diagonally across that smooth water, lights gleamed from "Carlson's Castle," separated on the shoreline from The Spires by the sheer walls of the high cliff known as Lion's Head. But here, perpendicular dark fingers thrust up to shut out the plentiful stars.

Jim coasted to a stop on a turnaround beside the house, turned off the motor.

"End of the line," Jim said. He turned off the headlights. Heavy darkness leaped at them from the rocky lurking places, and the sound of dashing water seemed louder and closer. Jim felt Nancy's fingers on his arm as he was already reaching for the switch. The headlights were welcome.

The house they showed was a long, rambling place, with bark peeling from the outside slabs. Before them a double garage showed doors sagging on bent and broken hinges.

There were two paths from the turnaround. One led around the house toward steps leading to a wide veranda. The other went directly toward a slab-covered door at ground level. Jim was out of the car, holding the door for Nancy, when she whispered in his ear. "Listen, Jim."

They stood motionless, straining to separate the noise of water from other night sounds. A high gust of wind whined in and out of rock crevices. The heavy, ground-level door of The Spires swung open a few inches.

Jim heard it then. A strange clanking, an evenly spaced clink-clank, clink-clank, which stopped abruptly as he swung his flashlight toward the small opening.

He walked forward cautiously, gun in one hand and light in the other. He sensed rather than heard Nancy following.

It was a full basement, a huge room, cut up by pillars of heavy logs resting on cement blocks. High pillars, a good nine feet, extending up to the huge logs which were the supports of the main house. A furnace, a neatly stacked pile of wood, a high pile of springs and mattresses, odds and ends of furniture, and a steep boarded-in stairway cut up the light of the flash, made weird and dancing shadows.

Somewhere above them, a door slammed.

Nancy grabbed him. "What do you think that was, Jim?"

"Someone leaving, I hope. We'll make sure we're alone down here."

A shadow-to-shadow search reassured them.

At the basement's far end, near the rockwork of the huge chimney which told of a mammoth fireplace above, a wooden platform, six feet by three, was suspended halfway up to the recessed opening in the ceiling by heavy ropes. The light of the flash showed large pulleys in this recess, which obviously made a combination bench and storage bin on the floor above. A small winch was securely fastened to a supporting pillar, with several turns of rope wound on the drum.

He moved the crank, turned it around. The platform elevator moved upward slowly and the pawl came out of the toothed wheel with a clink, settled into the next place with a clank.

"That's the noise, Jim," Nancy said. "Someone hauling up wood? A welcoming gesture?"

Dunn held the light steady on the three pieces of wood on the platform. They were ready for dissolution. "Looks to me as if those pieces of wood have been around for years," Jim said. "I don't think it was our comfort the person who was raising that elevator had in mind."

He found the switchbox back near the door through which they had entered. The turning of the master switch put on half the lights in the house. The stairway door, unlocked, opened on a small, modern butler's pantry. Swinging doors opened into a well-stocked kitchen and into a beam-ceilinged dining room. In contrast to the basement, everything upstairs had been thoroughly and recently cleaned.

They moved silently on through the wide arch into an even larger living room.

They made a quick search of the five bedrooms, three of which were ready for occupancy.

"Our client," Nancy pointed out, "didn't know the beds would be made up, or she wouldn't have had us bring along that load of new bedding."

They went to the front door, found it locked.

"First door we've found locked so far," Jim said. He unlocked and opened the door. A light was burning on the broad veranda, and it shone clearly on a carved sign, The Spires.

He slammed the front door with relief. "Right place," he said. "Look, Nancy, why don't we help ourselves to something to eat? I'll go down and get our bags, and then we'll pick a room. We'll unload the jeep tomorrow and hunt around for the caretaker's cabin."

Ohio Woman Killed After Lodge Ritual

TOLEDO (INS) — A 36-year-old woman, who had just been installed as star point of the Stella Chapter of Eastern Star, was stabbed in the throat as she tried to enter her car in a parking lot behind the Masonic Temple in Toledo last midnight.

Police rushed Mrs. Virginia M. Thayer to Mercy Hospital where she died shortly afterward. Hospital officials said Mrs. Thayer's windpipe was pierced by an unknown weapon and she suffered a cut on her left hand.

It is believed that Mrs. Thayer may have been the victim of a molester, purse thief or may have surprised someone who had entered her car while she was attending installing ceremonies.

U.S. Envoy Accepts Hemingway Award

STOCKHOLM (INS) — The Nobel prize for literature, awarded to Ernest Hemingway, was accepted in Stockholm today by U.S. Ambassador John Cabot on behalf of the famed American novelist.

Agence France Presse said the award, consiting of a certificate and a check for $30,000, was presented by King Gustave. Reasons of health prevented Hemingway from traveling to Sweden to accept the award in person.

Nixons Almost Hold Up Party at White House

WASHINGTON (UP) — Vice President and Mrs. Nixon almost held up the works at a fancy White House reception last night for the government's top lawyers and judges.

The Nixons had car trouble. Their chauffeur, because of a mix-up in time signals, didn't show up with the vice president's limousine and Nixon had to call a cab at the last minute.

The White House was informed and President and Mrs. Eisenhower went ahead with the reception with the vice president and Mrs. Nixon temporarily absent. But the Nixons arrived 10 minutes later.

The White House was decked out with Christmas poinsettias for the party, and Mrs. Eisenhower carried out the yuletide theme with a brilliant red tulle, full-skirted gown flected with rhinestones.

Mrs. Eisenhower was in a gay mood. When she and the President left the receiving line after shaking 970 hands, she threw a quick invitation to "come upstairs" to two friends she spotted in the crowd.

Guests at the reception included the supreme court justices, top-ranking officials of the Justice Department, including Attorney General Herbert Brownell, and executives of many of the government's independent agencies.

Parochials Observe the Marian Year; PHS Rallies for First of Home Game

Events marking the end of the Marian year have taken most of St. Mike's and St. Fred's time this week, and Pontiac High is deep in plans for social and sports events, say our correspondents, Vicky, Marlene and Marcee.

Pontiac High

PHS students are preparing for the forthcoming Yule season, while at the same time are going all out tonight to boost the basketball team as they play their first home game.

Juniors are finishing up last minute details of their prom "Karousel Kapers," slated for tomorrow night.

Students witnessed the annual Faculty-Varsity basketball game today. Proceeds go to the Varsity Club. All boys who have earned their letter in some sport are eligible to play.

PHS Radio Workshop is presenting a program, "Runyon Jones," Thursday at Eastern Junior High School. The program is about a young boy and his dog, and how the boy tries to get his dog back

VICKI

The Linnean Society of Pontiac High will publish the Michigan Junior Academy of Science, Arts and Letters Dec. 17, Bruce Serwin, December News Letter editor, announced. The News Letter will go to Jr. Academy of Science member clubs, containing news from clubs throughout the state.

Monday marks the day the annual Christmas issue of the Latin paper, Epistolae Scholae, will be published. Co-editors are Paul Hagle and Lee Patterson, assisted by the various junior high school editors, Nancy Wood, Washington; Darlene Joyce and Judy Humphreys, Eastern; Dick Singleton, Melvin White and John Usler, Lincoln.

Dick Moats and Dennis Gibson are publicity agents and typists are Judy Smith, Judy Humphries and Darlene Joyce.

The cover, which promises to be an outstanding one, was drawn by John Larson, and submitted by Freeman Watkins, Marylee Mogg and Mary Samson.

Price of the paper will be five cents and up, all proceeds going toward various charitable organizations. Iama Hook is faculty adviser.

Rankings for the PHS fencing club as of Dec. 8 were announced recently, with our correspondent, Vicky Micu, number one, Wanda McMullin, Dick Dexter and Arthur Scholz, were second and tied for third, respectively.

Future Nurses Club is planning to see a film Wednesday on Florence Nightingale, while the Boosters Club completed plans for decorating the gym for tonight's game.

The Retailing and Office Club are making posters for their candidate for state vice presidency, Joan McLean. Thursday the Debaters went to Flint for their third Saginaw Valley Debate against Northern.

St. Frederick

The town was in an uproar this week, as seniors walked the streets in caps and gowns. Seniors were seen talking with motions to show off their long flowing sleeves and walked with a slight toss of the head

In fact, the uproar was so great that our new Pontiac radio station, WPON, called and asked for an explanation. Larry Decker and Ken Atwood obligingly reported at the station for an interview.

Since Carolyn Robichaud came to school last week wearing bifocals she has received no end of teasing.

In English, this is the way she was introduced: "Our next speaker will be an officer of the class of '55. She is a real all-round girl with a sweet personality, who will talk on 'How Not to Fall Down Stairs When Wearing Newly Acquired Bifocals'."

This wasn't the topic, but it got a laugh.

MARLENE

Sister Mary Avila, a dramatic teacher from Marygrove College, visited St. Fred's this week to give the seniors some good advice on speech and actions, which will be very helpful in their coming senior play.

The juniors are out to make money and they're proving it. For First Fridays, they're selling donuts, any kind from cinnamon to jelly rolls, and from what we hear, they're selling fast.

The talk of the school this week turned to basketball. A season pass to all varsity, junior varsity, girls' and grade school games was offered to students.

Reports this week stated that the long hours of rehearsal were well worth it for the way the Christmas play is coming into shape. The big attraction of the play will be the choral club which will give all tableaux life and feeling.

The second graders were busy cutting Santas and reindeer these days from paper. One little boy laid down his scissors and pulled a long curl on the little girl in front of him. "Cut it out," cried the girl. At this order the boy picked up the scissors and cut it out. What? His Santa Claus, of course.

St. Michael

Spiritually speaking, Michaelites were kept on their toes this week as they all made the novena in honor of the Immaculate Conception. The solemn closing of this devotion was Wednesday at the Holy Hour which was climaxed by the crowning of the Virgin Mary's statue by Joyce Dropps.

Last Friday evening, Michaelites do-si-doed to square dance music at Morey's Barn, where the CYO held its weekly party. Everyone had a wonderful time.

Fashions and fads copped the spotlight on the north side this week, as Ron Elmy sported the "very latest" — a haircut like that worn by Marlon Brando in "Desiree." After viewing the somewhat unusual style, a senior piped up with "I wonder where he parked his motorcycle?"

MARCEE

The "M-J's" Junior club came to school Tuesday all garbed alike, in orange shirt-blouses and grey skirts. "Very chic," thinks this reporter.

With basketball practice for both boys and girls going on, and Christmas play practice, the hall has been very busy lately. Every afternoon you can expect to find coach Bob Mineweaser's team on the court 'til 6 p. m. and Thursdays and Sundays, Milly Robak's cagers come in for their sessions.

Seniors were industriously studying plays this week, trying to decide on their annual senior endeavor.

The high school was very glad to hear the announcement that, starting Dec. 15, half-day sessions, ending at noon, would be held to accommodate students who have part-time Christmas jobs.

MARIAN YEAR—Shown crowning the Blessed Virgin Wednesday in a ceremony closing the Marian Year is Joan McMahon of 261 Judson St., a St. Frederick's High School student.

Detroit Police Probe Gun Death of Boy, 12

DETROIT (UP)—Authorities today investigated the death of Francis Defer, 12, who was shot fatally while playing with a pistol at the home of a friend.

Police said the youth was visiting a neighbor, 11-yearlold Stewart Mason, last night. The Mason boy said Defer walked into a bedroom while he was drying dishes.

He told police he heard a shot and found Defer on the bed with a chest wound.

He was dead on arrival at Redford Receiving Hospital.

More than 1,714,283 pieces of correspondence were handled by the Army's military personnel records center at St. Louis, Mo., during the last 12 months.

JUNIOR EDITORS

COLETTE, THE FLOWER GIRL

In the flower markets of Paris, the Junior Editors meet Colette, a little flower girl who helps her parents tend their stall of colorful blossoms. The flower stands on the sidewalks of Paris are a familiar sight during spring and summer. Many of the flower merchants, like Colette's parents, grow their own flowers at home.

You can color Colette's bonnet a bright blue if you like, her shawl red, and her dress gray with a black sateen apron over it to keep the dress clean. Her stockings are red and her shoes, or sabots, are yellow. Collette wears these wooden shoes because the ground is nearly always wet around the flower stands.

The watering can is green, the tall flower jars are brown. The flowers can be all sorts of bright colors with green leaves.

Paste entire picture on smooth brown wrapping paper, then cut out the two figures carefully and paste together at the head and as far down as the waist.

Birthday Card Want Ad Tells of Mate's Love

ST. LOUIS (UP) — "I loved it—I've never enjoyed anything as much in my life," said Mrs. Charlotte Lucido about her birthday present.

It wasn't a diamond, a fur coat or an expensive automobile.

It was a want ad in the Post-Dispatch last Sunday, placed among a list of special notices telling of broken homes and shattered dreams.

It told, instead, a story of love.

"I am responsible for all debts and obligations of my wife," the want ad read, "both present and future, and am more than happy to be the provider for a woman who has borne me six lovely children and, with an overabundance of love and care, has made the past 21 years of loving kindness the nicest years of my life.

"On this, the eve of our 21st wedding anniversary, I wish to publicly express my gratitude. (signed) Philip C. Lucido."

Girls Join YMCA to Use Co-Ed Pool

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UP)—Eyebrows might go up when a girl mentions she's a member of the Industrial Young Men's Christian Assn. here, but it's all proper.

In fact, executive secretary Howard Moreland says, about 60 per cent of the membership is female.

"It's the swimming pool," he says. "That's what does it. We have the only indoor swimming pool for co-ed groups in the city."

Koreans to Get Raise

SEOUL (UP)—The U.N. Command announced today a 75 per cent wage increase for all employes of U.S. forces in Korea, except in the Seoul area, where higher wages are now being paid. Seoul employes will receive a 55 per cent boost.

FABRIC "ASSEMBLY" LINE—Sewing naturally plays an important part in finishing the interior of your car. On this assembly line each machine sews but one part and the seat covering is passed on to the next machine. Shown are Jessie Rowston, 8010 Marshalsea, Union Lake (foreground) and Marjorie Fields, 84 S. East Blvd.

TOKYO (INS) — Japan's new prime minister, Ichiro Hatoyama, formed his cabinet today, setting up a government pledged to continued close ties with the United States but with an eye on expanding trade relations with the Communists.

Hatoyama, an old line Conservative who was once barred from public life by the Allied occupation because of fascist sympathies, was scheduled to be invested later in the day by Emperor Hirohito.

Among the eighteen new cabinet members were eleven men who like the prime minister were once "purged" by the occupation.

Foremost among these was Mamoru Shigemitsu, who served a six year term for war crimes because of his activities as Japan's World War II foreign minister. Shigemitsu was named deputy prime minister and foreign minister in the new cabinet.

Old Newspapers Used in Making Containers

SOUTH PORTLAND, Me. (UP) —A machine that turns used newspapers into high-value containers has been developed here by a firm specializing in research on molded pulp products.

Mechanical Perfection Is Not Enough

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE

Remember when the value of an automobile was determined primarily by its mechanical ability? When comfort and beauty weren't so important—just as long as you got to your destination without mechanical failures.

Today's cars still demand only the best mechanical devices. They also must have attractive styling and interiors.

Manufacturers recognize that appearance is among the most important factors in the customer's decision in buying a car today.

And because women have become increasingly active in the selection of the new family automobile, cars have been designed and fashioned with far greater emphasis than ever before on those things that appeal to women—colors, fabrics, comfort and convenience.

The interior of cars today are rich, spacious and luxurious, and the fabrics stand out as the most colorful item.

These fabrics reflect fashion, and designers offer such a variety of trim that it is possible to offer a customized car for everyone's taste. And these miracle fabrics are soil and stain resistant.

To learn more about these fabrics, we paid a visit to Fisher Body Division of General Motors Corporation where bodies for the Pontiac car are made and assembled.

We toured the Trim Fabrication department with superintendent Kenneth A. Schluchter. Here the fabric is first brought to the floor and is readied for cutting.

This is an immense department, requiring 225,000 square feet for its operations and occupying the entire second floor of the plant on Baldwin avenue. There are approximately 1,000 workers, 650 of them women.

At the start cloth is piled 125 layers high on tables 120 feet long. Workers place a paper stencil over the pile of fabric, powdering the stencil to outline the markings. The fabric is cut by machines, 125 thicknesses at a time.

After the fabric is cut it is taken to the assembly line where each operator has a specific sewing job. Each machine, unlike the home sewing apparatus, is built for one operation only.

The rear seat cushion line employs eight girls. You see them beginning with a single piece of cloth, each sewing and joining seams with skill and speed, and then passing the material on to the next.

This line is typical of the assembly lines which make the balance of the interior for the car. The operators work with equal deftness whether it is with leather, gabardine, sharkskin, nylon, synthetic leather or any of the special fabrics.

The department's assistant superintendent, Ray Slaughter, suggested we take a look at the Textile Distribution Center which is a veritable paradise for those interested in fashion. A special nylon fabric has a metallic weave throughout.

Here, row upon row, you find beautiful fabrics in an array of color, and as yet uncut. It goes without saying that this is a tremendous storage room when you find that 19,400 yards of cloth and leather are cut daily.

Not only does this department serve Pontiac Division of Fisher Body, but it fabricates and ships all interior trim to seven other Pontiac assembly plants throughout the country.

We learned here the importance of shading. It is necessary when sewing two pieces of the same color cloth together that they be an exact match in shade. To insure this, they pre-shade the rolls of cloth, marking and segregating them for later use.

This is not an easy thing to do when there may be as many as 28 shades of the same color found in a single load of fabric as it comes from the textile mills.

The cutting of genuine leather was particularly interesting. Whole cowhides, dyed in many colors, arrive at the plant and then are hand cut with care and precision.

These hides must be carefully inspected before cutting, after which the cutter arranges the patterns skillfully in order to get maximum use of the material. It requires one and one-half hides to upholster each car.

We watched Ralph Menzer cut these hides and saw how very little is wasted. Even the smallest amount of scrap is salvaged. Small pieces are used to make the buttons which decorate the cushions.

Springs are built and assembled according to a schedule for the many styles of the Chieftain and the Star Chief models. At the end of this line the completed cover is placed over the cushion and back, which then is ready to be placed in the body which is being conveyed down an adjacent line.

An overhead crane picks up the seat and places it in the car—an amazing thing to watch because the operation is handled as carefully as if it were done by human hands.

Colors flourish down this line with combinations of red and gray, green and gray, black and red, two-tone blue, winter white and turquoise blue, sequoia green and valley green and many others.

And most important, Mr. Schluchter told us, is that colors are not repeated from year to year. Each year completely new colors are introduced in both paint and trim.

Church Buys School

COLDWATER (AP)—St. Charles Catholic Church has purchased the old Longfellow School property for expansion of its facilities. The Rev. George A. Higgins, pastor said the church plans to build a Central High School on the site.

Practical Joke Proves Costly for 2 Women

TOLEDO, O. (UP)—It cost two local women $1,500 to frighten a companion with a lifelike rubber lizard.

Mrs. Mary Lewis testified in common pleas court that when she got into a car with two companions to accompany them to church, one of the women put the lizard on her lap and the other called her attention to it.

Mrs. Lewis said she was frightened and threw herself backward so violently that she broke a bone in her back. A jury agreed the women conspired to frighten Mrs. Lewis and awarded her $1,500 in damages.

Memory Pays Off

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—A good memory paid off for both the government and Frank G. Medeiros, veteran of 31 years service as an Army civilian employe. Medeiros remember an old water line in time to save the government $31,480 on a new project. He received a $275 cash award.

Grand Champions Bring Top Prices at Detroit's Livestock Show Auction

The auction climaxed the gala 1954 show starring the prize exhibits of 450 boys and girls from Michigan farms.

The 12-year-old Newport girl's exhibit brought her $922.50. Sally's lamb weighed approximately 90 pounds.

Hamady Bros. Markets of Flint was the successful bidder. Hamady Bros. also was top bidder on the grand champion steer and hog.

John Spezia, 14, of Leonard, was paid $5,304, at $5.10 a pound for his 1,040-pound grand champion Black Angus steer. Last year's champion sold at $4.50 a pound, then a record. On the open market John would have received 29 cents a pound.

The grand champion swine shown by Frances McCalla, 19, of Whitemore Lake, brought $3.10 a pound. The old record was $1.50 which her brother Darold got last year. Miss McCalla would have received 19 cents on the market. Her champion weighed 240 pounds.

Wrigley's Supermarkets of Detroit, paying premium prices, purchased all the reserve champions.

Joe Elser, 15, of Litchfield, received $2.10 a pound for his lamb; Roger Fosmoen, 15, of Almont, got 50 cents a pound for his swine, and Kenneth Rush, 13, of Romeo, $1.25 for his steer.

The youthful exhibitors of other animals received prices averaging 15 cents above market quotations.

Widening M-24 to Oxford Nixed

Fund Shortage Named as Reason by Ziegler for Denying Request

LANSING (UP)—State Highway Commisisoner Charles M. Ziegler said today his department doesn't have the money to extend scheduled improvements on M-24 to "Slaughter Hill" near Oxford.

Eight persons have been killed on the hill in the last six months, and Oxford civic officials complained that proposed widening of the highway will stop six miles short of the hill, "the most dangerous portion of the entire highway."

Ziegler said improvements at Slaughter Hill "would be nice if we had the money."

The department plans to widen M-24 to four lanes from Pontiac to Lake Orion. "It would cost an extra $500,000 to add another six miles," Ziegler said.

He suggested more state police protection as the answer to the death trap.

Five people died Sunday on the hill as two cars collided and three others slammed into the wreckage.

Nine children were left parentless by the blazing smashup, which boosted the total deaths on the hill in the past 18 months to 19 persons.

Citizens Group Asks Tax Study

Urge Reconsideration of Move to Use State Equalized Valuations

LANSING (UP) — The Oakland County Citizens Organizing Committee has urged Louis M. Nims of the State Tax Commission to "reconsider" his opinion that state equalized valuations must be used in assessing all local property taxes.

Frank Nievelt, chairman of the committee, sent Nims a letter saying Nims' statement that the commission will operate under the "assumption" that state equalized valuations must be used as a result of a recent Supreme Court decision" is an arbitrary, unjustified interpretation."

"We therefore appeal to you to more fully study the court decision and reconsider your opinion relative to assessing all local property taxes which may be a 25 to 50 per cent tax increase for all property owners. Please advise," Nievelt said.

Rain, Snow Fall on State but Some Areas Go Dry

More rain and snow falls on the state of Michigan than on two-thirds of the rest of the United States. Yet, areas of this state are headed for, or are already in, a desperate water shortage.

This water problem is but one of the topics coming up for discussion and possible solution at the Michigan Natural Resources Conference in Lansing, Jan. 11 and 12, 1955.

"It is not only possible, but probable, that this state could have regions of water shortages," contends Norman F. Billings, member of the Michigan Resources Commission and chairman of the water section of the meeting.

The water section will also consider a way the state could inventory its water supply. Billings points out that water scientists kmow very little about our underground water supply. But they do know that in may areas the water table is dropping lower from increased use.

"One way of obtaining records of the ground water reservoirs is to require well drillers to report their findings to the state. Realizing the importance of drillers in the water picture, the conference discussions may lead to a suggestion to license drillers in order to have an immediate report on the findings," Billings emphasized.

Increased stream gauging and rain gauging will also be considered.

Some neighboring states are finding ways to put water back into the soil. The process is called "recharging."

Billings claims that recharging is likely in some areas of Michigan in the near future. He considers recharging at this point better than waiting until too late.

Water shortages have hit, or will hit first, near the major population centers of southern Michigan. Billings explains that in a water shortage, there is no change in the average supply likely. But instead, increased use will cause a heavier drain on the existing supply.

The trouble comes when use exceeds the supply. This is caused by increasing domestic use and irrigation. Domestic use, for example, has more than doubled in the past 35 years.

Several major southern Michigan cities have had water shortages, while the farming areas, though not as drastically hit as our Ohio neighbors, who have seen their irrigation units pump the existing supply dry.

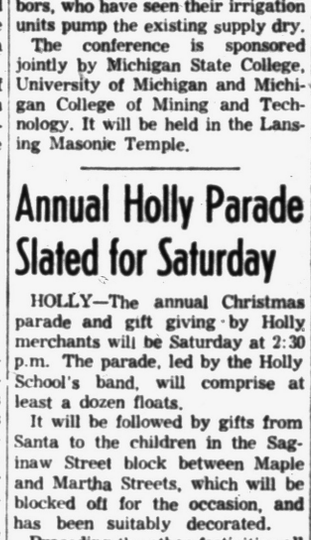

The conference is sponsored jointly by Michigan State College, University of Michigan and Michigan College of Mining and Technology. It will be held in the Lansing Masonic Temple.

Compulsory Social Security Set for Most Farmers

WASHINGTON (INS)—For the first time, whether he likes it or not, every farm operator who has a net income of $400 or more a year must take part in the social security program.

The new coverage voted by the Republican-controlled 83rd Congress takes effect Jan. 1 and informed opinion in Washington is that the upcoming Democratic Congress wil make little or no change in it.

Actually, no payments of the new social security tax on farmers will be due until 1956 but those who will be covered are advised to apply for their social security cards now and to begin keeping the necessary records.

About the only persons not covered are farm owners who have someone else working their lands on a lease or rental basis.

Any farmer who is self-employed must pay a three per cent tax on his earnings up to $4,200 a year. Those who become eligible for coverage on Jan. 1 will be considered insured after they have worked under the system for 18 months.

When an operator dies, or retires after reaching age 65, payments are made from social security funds to his survivars, his dependents or to himself.

Persons doing farm work for others, in other words hired workers, have been covered by the law for nearly three years. But they now get old age and survivors insurance protection if they earn as much as $100 cash wages a year from any one farmer.

The social security tax contribution for farm workers is two percent each on the employe and the employer and the maximum income on which it must be paid is again $4,200.

In general, a farm worker or operator earning about $20 a month will receive about $78 a month when he retires at 65. If his wife is also 65 or over at his retirement they will get about $118 a month.

Any person farming on shares may be considered either a self-employed person or a farm worker, depending on the type of agreement under which he farms. Because the tax rates vary, it would be well for any person in doubt to get that point cleared up right now.

Where a farm operator's total yearly income is $1,800 or less he has the choice of paying the social security tax on his actual net income or half of the total income, whichever is to his best advantage.

If the total income is over $1,800 he must report his actual net earnings, but if that amount is less than $900 he has the choice of paying the tax either on the net income or $900.

Social security cards, each bearing an account number, may be had without cost on application to the nearest social security office.

Where a farm employer withholds the tax from hired workers he must send these sums, along with his own contributions, to the Director of Internal Revenue. He must also furnish the director with a record showing the total wages and social security number of each employe.

Legion Official Sees Benefits Undermined

BALTIMORE (AP) — Nicholas Lynch Jr., American Legion national field service director, charged here yesterday that a "subtle flank attack" is being made on the "entire structure of veterans benefits."

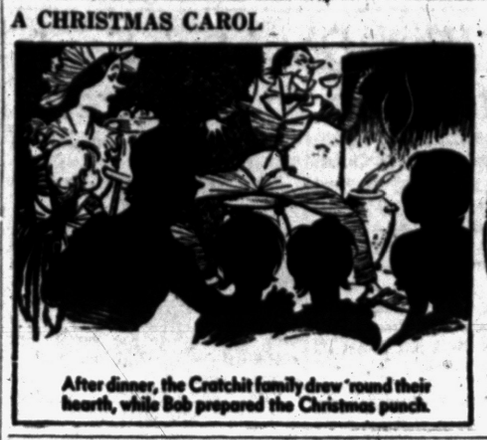

Speaking at the Legion Auxiliary Rehabilitation Conference, Lynch said that the flank attack has been carried out through a reduction of budget allowances for veterans benefits. He said the cuts have forced personnel layoffs and a reduction in available beds in Veterans Administration hospitals.

Also, he charged, many veterans "forego treatment rather than go through the fog and mess of red tape" under present conditions.

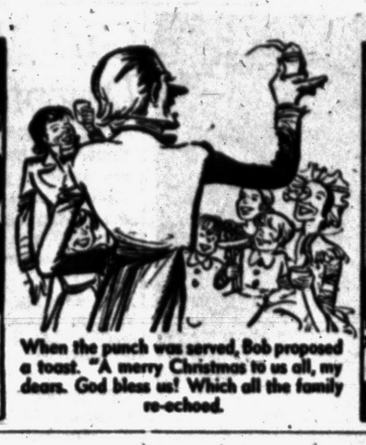

The average annual mileage per passenger automobile in the United States decreases with the age of the vehicle and also shrinks as the population of a city increases.

"God bless us everyone!" said Tiny Tim, the last of all.

Ties Still Good Christmas Gifts

Select Colors, Styles With Care to Match Wearer's Personality

The way the story was reported here, a men's store in one large city came up with a novel Christmas plan for saving its customers' eyesight.

With every gift-tie bought by a woman, it gave away dark-lensed glasses.

It really was only a joke, of course, designed to enliven sales, but it serves to point up a point. So much fun is poked every year at color-wild, eye-stinging Christmas ties that some shoppers now shy away from the item for fear that they'll show bad taste.

In actual fact, however, the trick to selecting handsome ties is simple as simple can be, and few other gifts you can give are so sure to be needed and liked.

The trick is to know the man's wardrobe tastes, his hobbies and personality. A guy who is always conservative, for instance, may not go for gay, bold patterns, while an extrovert tends to prefer them.

Learn the color of his favorite suit. If it's blue and he wears white shirts, the choice of colors is almost limitless. But supposing his shirts are also blue, or popular pinks and grays? Then, you should choose a tie that suggests these colors in dots, stripes or figures—or a solid like gray or maroon.

The brown suit calls for beiges and greens, the gray suit for charcoal, blue, red or black, with patterns in soft-spoken hues. Another popular combination is black and pink—charcoal suits with pink shirts. The ties should repeat the same colors.

For a gift that is extra-special, cater to hobbies or interests. If the man is a bowler, for instance, a tie with a tenpin motif is sure to be down his alley. Other popular motifs are skiing, tennis, baseball, fishing, hunting, boating, horses and chess.

Or have the gift individualized by getting a tie with embroidered initials—preferably below the tie's center. This indicates you gave

But don't go forgetting your sales slips.

Bonus Deadline Set

World War II veteran claimants for the Michigan State bonus have until Dec. 30, 1954 to file application. Those who did not file in time to meet the original May 31 deadline are now urged to do so, according to Harold Brady, home service chairman for Oakland County Chapter of American Red Cross.

OH YES, AND TWO TRAINS — Christmas comes but once a year and Raymond Peltyman, 6, is taking advantage of the situation by giving Santa his list of toy needs for the coming year. Raymond was one of many young patients St. Nick visited at New York's Hospital for Special Surgery.

Ex-Detroit Woman Held on Red Charge

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation has arrested Olga Zenchuk at Sarasota, Fla., on a bench warrant issued in Detroit which charges she made false statements in a non-Communist affidavit, Charles E. Weeks, special agent in charge, announced.

Weeks said yesterday the 41-year-old woman, a native of Canada but a naturalized citizen of this country, swore in the affidavit she was not a member of the Communist party.

She was indicted and the bench warrant issued immediately. The indictment charged she made the "false, fictitious and fraudulent" statement while she was financial secretary for Local 69, United Professional Workers of America, in Detroit. She worked there from 1943 to 1951.

More than 170 million pounds of shrimp — more than one pound per person, were sold in the U. S. during 1953.

Girl Who Doubted Santa Devotes Life to Children

NEW YORK (UP)—Virginia readily admits that her wish this Christmas season is not a very novel on

It is a wish for peace, and it comes from the heart of a gentle lady of 65 who occupies a yuletide niche as secure as Santa's himself.

Indeed it was Virginia—now Mrs. Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas, grandmother—who helped put Santa on the map, so to speak.

From the depths of girlish bewilderment, Virginia wrote a letter 57 years ago to the editor of the old New York Sun.

"Please tell me," she pleaded, "is there a Santa Claus?"

The editor, with wisdom no child of 8 would dare question, gave an immortal reply:

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. . ."

Again this year, as for several generations now, editors, among others, will search for words to reassure their young readers of the spirit of Christmas. And again they will turn to the words that sustained young Virginia half a century ago.

"He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist. . ."

Again this year, as for half a century, the charming woman who has devoted her life to children, emerges briefly into the Christmas glow.

Her plans call for another holiday with her daughter Mrs. Robert H. Temple and six grandchildren at North Chatham, near Albany, N.Y.

"This may notd soun unusual," she said today, "but my wish for us all this Christmas is that Christmases of the future will be as happy as the past, that this new talk of war means nothing, and that peace will be something we all know."

Before she can go off to her family, Mrs. Douglas must wind up holiday activities at Public School 31 on Manhattan's lower East Side. She has been its principal since 1935 and hopes to continue until she reaches the mandatory retirement age of 70.

Pius Reported Eating Better

Pontiff Spends Restful Night as Doctor Notes Continued Improvement

VATICAN CITY (UP)—Pope Pius XII's personal physician said today his "improvement continues" and that the ailing pontiff is able to take increasing quantities of food.

After spending his 12th consecutive night at the Popes bedside, Dr. Ricardo Galeazzi-Lisi reported the Pope spent a "fairly restful night."

For the time being, he said, treatment of the Pope will continue to concentrate on trying to increase his feeding and building up his strength.

This morning he ate one egg and had a few spoons of milk and strained vegetables.

It was evident in the Vatican that the feeling of tension and fear for the pontiff was lessening, although he still is seriously ill.

An official medical bulletin yesterday from Dr. Galeazzi-Lisi and three specialists who examined the Pope yesterday afternoon pronounced him in improving condition. The Pope himself read the bulletin but made no changes in it.

Brain Hemmorrhage Is Blamed in Death

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Actress Gladys George, 50, died of a brain hermorrhage, an autopsy revealed.

The veteran of stage and movies was found on the floor of her apartment Wednesday and died soon after at a hospital.

Her physician suggested the death might have been caused by barbiturates. The autopsy was held yesterday.

A neighbor who found Miss George said she was moaning, "I fell. Oh, my head hurts so much."

Lindbergh Wrong Again, Says De Seversky

Bing Crosby Goes to Court

Trial of $1 Million Suit Against Crooner Starts in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The trial of a $1,051,400 auto-injury damage suit against Bing Crosby has started in superior court and he says it's the first time he's played a role of litigant.

The crooner was present yesterday as selection of a jury began. In contrast which his usual casual sports clothes, he wore a conservative gray business suit.

Fireman Frank F. Verdugo, 33; his wife, Lucy, 29; and her brother, Eulalio Perea, 29, brought the suit after a collision betwen Crosby's sports car and Verdugo's sedan.

The fireman and his passengers were injured in the collision at 5:30 a.m. on Oct. 11 last year.

Verdugo alleges Crosby's faculties were impaired "by reason of being without a resonable amount of sleep for an unreasonably long period of time," asserts the crooner had been drinking, and charges he was driving "with utter disregard for the life and safety of others."

After the accident Crosby told police he had just taken actress Mona Freeman home after they had attended a party at the home of producer William Goertz. He denied accusations of negligence, said the accident was unavoidable, and asserted that Verdugo himself was weary from lack of sleep and had been drinking.

Rags to Riches Tale Ends in Death at 97

CHICAGO (UP)—William A. Wieboldt, an immigrant boy who rose from a store clerk to become a multimillionaire merchant and gave millions of his profits to philanthropic causes, died last night.

Wieboldt, 97, entered a hospital in suburban Evanston a month ago with a cardiac condition.

Wieboldt, who came to the United States at the age of 14 from his native Germany, opened his first small general store in Chicago in 1883. Today there are six big Wieboldt department stores in Chicago and suburban Oak Park and Evanston.

Pontiac Detective Is in Line for Two Bravery Citations

Pontiac Police Det. James H. LaPonsie has won the praise of a city and his fellow officers for disarming a would-be bandit who held a .25 caliber pistol on him during the attempted holdup of the Avon Inn Tuesday night.

LaPonsie, in fact, is in line for two citations for bravery.

Capt. Clark M. Wheaton, chief of detectives, said he is making a recommendation, to cite LaPonsie for "extraordinary action beyond the call of duty," and last night the Police Officer's Assn. unanimously decided to make a similar recommendation.

DET. JAMES LaPONSIE

Described by his superiors and family as the modest and "silent type," LaPonsie wrested the weapon from William McCord, 33, of 2219 Ellery, after having been threatened, "Don't come closer."

But LaPonsie continued his bold walk toward McCord, only exclaiming: "I want to talk to you, Mac. The gun out of McCord's hands, LaPonsie immediately handcuffed the man while sheriff's deputies apprehended McCord's pal, Harold Kinser, 37, of the Pontiac Hotel.

Oakland County Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell and Undersheriff Donald O. Menzies also added their praises for the policeman's deed.

Both said they will make an official report to the Pontiac Police Dept., relating the scene blow-by-blow as described by Deputies Ross Miller and Steve Hawlick who accompanied LaPonsie.

LaPonsie's wife, Eleanor who is expecting her fourth child, said today that "Jim returned home that night and didn't even mention what took place. He appeared very calm as usual. When I asked him what had happened, he only said, 'I'll tell you about it some other time.'"

Mrs. LaPonsie said she didn't learn of her husband's action until she read the story in the Press.

"I'm so proud of him. He's always taken his work very seriously. He's really wonderful and so easy to get along with. Although he's modest and serious, Jim is quite gay and keeps us very happy."

Fellow officers, however, weren't too surprised. Most of LaPonsie's superiors and other officers said he always has displayed courage in the face of danger.

Capt. Wheaton notes that LaPonsie's outstanding trait is his doggedness on a case and a "won't quit" attitude.

Other officers at the scene said that LaPonsie's deed probably prevented the armed man or his companion from being shot by one of the other 10 officers in the tavern. He may even have saved the life of one of the tavern's 15 patrons.

Promoted to detective recently, LaPonsie would only comment:

"It must have been luck. I was only doing what is expected of me as a policeman."

Quest for Yule Greens Ends in Tragic Death

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Eleven-year-old Donald Morris took a knife and headed for a nearby woods yesterday to cut pine cones and boughs for a Christmas wreath.

A few minutes later his mother saw him stagger back into the house and collapse on the floor, clutching at a red stain which was spreading over his shirt front. He died in People's Hospital.

Police said the boy apparently stumbled and fell on the knife, driving it into his upper abdomen.

Experts on Mirth Analyze Benefits and Mysteries of Humor's Basis

Beauty Plan Is Revealed by Complexion Specialist

The woman who said she couldn't sell a "free lunch ticket" today has several thousand customers a year and has completed 20 years as a Merle Norman complexion specialist.

Mrs. Eva Wethington (Mrs. Robert, of Clarkston), opened her new studio at 12 W. Huron this week carrying on the work she feels is every woman's business—beauty.

WETHINGTON

"Natural beauty is our chief commodity," says Mrs. Wethington who was formerly located at 405 Pontiac State Bank Building.

After 20 years as a devotee to the "Merle Norman Look," Mrs. Wethington is more enthusiastic than ever about the things she has been able to accomplish in her work.

In 1934 she founded the first Merle Norman studio in Pontiac and the same year opened the original studio in Flint. Her first introduction to this beauty method came after suffering 13 years from a severe case of acne. According to Mrs. Wethington, a doctor's wife suggested her first trip to a Norman studio and she was so happy with the results, she decided to learn the business herself.

Gracious, brown-eyed and also a wearer of the "Look," she says it is achieved with just plain common sense.

"First we believe in a three-point beauty program—cleansing, stimulation and protection. Naturalness in makeup brings out the lovely points all women have if they know how to put the right emphasis on their best features," she explained.

In her pink background studio with its colonial accents, Mrs. Wethington, formerly a Flint school teacher, has a staff of six full-time assistants and two part-time. Her studio serves as a training center for other Merle Norman apprentices in this area.

Merle Norman, now an international beauty business, has studios in 1,500 spots around the globe. A noted beauty authority who started out to be a doctor and accidentally stumbled into the cosmetic business when her special preparations healed and covered severe burns, Miss Norman at 60 plus years of age practices what she preaches and looks about 40.

"Her theory is that blood is the only thing which can build and feed muscles and tissues. She doesn't believe in skin tonics that are supposed to perform miracles," said Mrs. Wethington.

Cream Pie Quick, Easy Dessert

Mrs. Leon Putman Spreads Berries on Instant Filling

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

If you've ever needed a dessert at the last minute, you'll appreciate this recipe of Mrs. Leon Putman's. Her Strawberry Cream Pie is an original recipe; use it as given here, or vary the fruit topping with peaches or raspberries.

As long as we've known Mrs. Putman she has been active in PTA and church work. She is a past president of Central PTA. With her husband she belongs to the Couples club of her church and alone, to the Plymouth group. She is also a Deaconess.

STRAWBERRY CREAM PIE
By Mrs. Leon Putman

1 baked pie shell (this may be a crumb crust)
1 recipe instant vanilla pudding
1 package frozen strawberries
¼ cup sugar

Prepare pudding and pour into baked crust. Chill. Drain some of the juice from the berries and add sugar to them. Just before serving spread berries over the pie. Garnish with whipped cream if desired.

Minimize Hipline

If your hips are just a touch too wide, get out the tape measure and find the widest point. Never, but never, let your suit jacket end at that point. It would only emphasize that which you wish concealed.

Seek Double Duty

She didn't have a toaster so she ironed her bread to a lovely warm brown. An odd approach, but investigate your appliances for legitimate second uses and get all the value you can out of your investment.

Guests Stay On - - - and On

Don't Ask Them to Go

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me as follows: "My problem is how to get people to leave when a party is over. I mean when certain hours are specified on an invitation, such as from 3 to 6 or 7 to 9, I have found that invariably several of the guests linger on long after the stated hours.

"I am pleased that they are enjoying themselves enough not to want to leave, but their staying on often causes me inconvenience. Is there a tactful way to tell guests 'the party is over; go home.' "

I am sorry, but you as hostess cannot possibly ask your guests to leave. The only thing you can do is to ask a most intimate friend to make the move for you.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please settle the following argument as to whether a woman in business should use her given name. That is, should she call herself Mrs. Mary Jones, or Mrs. John Jones?

If she was known as Miss Mary Smith in business before her marriage she would probably continue using that name. Otherwise she usually calls herself Mrs. Mary Jones which is entirely permissible in the business world.

Dear Mrs. Post: We had a table setting contest last week at our club and my table was disqualified because I placed the napkin at the left of the dinner plate.

The judges said that this was incorrect and that the napkin should have been put on the dinner plate. This surprised me very much as I have always placed the napkin at the left of the plate and thought that this was the correct place for it. Have I been wrong about this?

According to correct formal table service, the napkin is placed on the dinner plate. But if you set your table with the first course on the plates (such as a fruit cocktail) then the napkin cannot be put on the plate and should be put at the left.

Don't Let Snow Cause Injuries

By HUBBARD COBB

It seems that if you invite a friend over for dinner and a large hunk of ice or snow slips off the roof and hits him or her on the head, he or she can sue you for any injury done to either. What's more, chances are that you will end up paying unless you are insured, in which case the insurance company has to pay. In any event, you have lost a friend.

As we've said before, the main reason for large amounts of snow and ice collecting along the eaves of a roof is that the gutters are not properly hung and are preventing the snow from falling off the roof in small amounts. You can often fix this by adjusting the gutters so that the outside edge is below the lowest point of the roof.

In many homes the eaves of the roof extend a good many inches beyond the walls and this exposed portion of the roof is always pretty cold.

Snow on the upper portion will become soft and start to slip down but when it hits the cold area it turns into ice and remains there until it become so heavy it breaks apart and falls to the ground.

This not only hurts anyone who happens to be passing by but is also tough on any plants, bushes or shrubs that may be about.

The best remedy for this condition is to string a heating cable along the eave of the roof. This type of cable can be plugged into an ordinary electric outlet and will provide sufficient heat to prevent ice forming along the eaves.

Heating cables of this type are also fine for preventing exposed pipes from freezing. You can get them at almost any hardware or electrical store.

Try Chicken Now

Sounds strange for winter, but chicken salad is a good meal now. Stewing chickens are inexpensive. Combine it with a good hot soup and hot rolls for a luncheon.

But How Do You Cause It?

Experts Say Laughter Is Healthy

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

A popular home magazine not long ago devoted an entire issue to articles on how to do everything from winterizing the house to trimming the poodle. The only didn't issue step-by-step instructhing piece in the entire publication that tions was one prescribing laughter for what ails you.

A good, full-throated laugh, the experts on mirth proclaimed, purifies the blood, clears cobwebs from the brain, restores balance to the body, improves digestion and spirits. Only there wasn't a word about how to make yourself and others perform this invigorating act.

I suppose that's not to be wondered at since laughter is the most mysterious and hard-to-anticipate experience human beings can have. A given person doesn't even invariably respond in the same way to the same stimulus. The dictionary says that to laugh is "to make that convulsive or chuckling noise which sudden merriment excites —the inarticulate expression of sudden mirth peculiar to man." But how to cause it, that's the problem. And if you don't believe it IS a problem, just look in some time upon a humorist and his writers in conference.

I remember stumbling upon such a gathering by accident once long ago when I went to interview Colonel Stoopnagle. A sourer looking bunch I never saw anywhere and it was only when even such an unimportant audience as a woman reporter hove into view that the group suddenly burgeoned into quips and repartee. I decided then and there that the manufacture of mirth must be a grueling and unhappy job, even though a well-paid one.

Charles Lamb, the essayist, confessed, "Anything awful makes me laugh. I once misbehaved at a funeral . . ." Lots of us have had the embarrassing experience of starting to laugh in church and not being able to stop. I remember once getting hysterical as I watched an intruder dog creeping closer and closer to the pulpit and the minister who was preaching impassionedly.

Another time it was a bug crawling up the back of a woman in front of me that sent me off. Then there was the ever reliable hymn book full of song titles that a boy or girl could alter a bit for his mischievous purposes (like Gladly the Cross-Eyed Bear).

Harry Hershfield, who has made a study of humor and is a toast master of such renown that one year he presided at 236 dinners, tells me that there are only three genuine categories of humor.

"First come men - and - women jokes," he amplified, "including everything having to do with love and racial ideosyncracies. Finally jokes include public office, national and marital affairs. The political there are the financial jokes. But of course the classes overlap. Thus at a dinner of financiers, you may start with money, but move on to love and Pat-and-Mike."

Richard Armour, poet and humorist, insists that "the basis of all humor is incongruity."

"The job of the humorist," he continued, "is to take two pieces of incongruity and rub them together to produce humor." Then he rattled off a gruesome example that came to him when he read that a frozen food locker was the safest place to be during an A-bomb attack: "Move over, ham and quartered cow, my (Geiger) counter says the time is now. I'll lay me down and go to sleep and if I die at least I'll keep."

Pink—Swank Color for Men of Fashion

PALM BEACH, Fla. (INS)—Pink used to be the fashionable color for female infants—now it's swank shade for mature males.

Pink de resistance is everywhere in Palm Beach this week . . . in jazzy sports jackets of Palm Beach cloth . . . in trim, creased slacks for casual wear . . . in vests, under apple green jackets, for cocktailing. . . .

And it's not worn by sissies, but by socialites!

La Coquille, the plush knockabout club for millionaires in a loafing mood, tossed a three-day party for society and their comparatively shabby friends from the press, and it gave everyone a chance to show what he and she consider most fashionable this resort season.

Christmas Cards Lend Charm Throughout Home

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Here cards against garlands of greenery outline an archway. The makings for garlands can be twigs trimmed from your own evergreen trees, or bought from a florist or a Christmas tree lot. Wire one twig to another with strong flexible wire. Start by winding the wire around one 4- to 6-inch evergreen branch. Wire the next shorter twig against this one, then wind down its length and back again to the center branch. Attach other twigs and let one of them after another become the center branch to continue the length of the garland. Greenery garlands are easier to make than they look to be, and learning to make them adds quite a handy skill to your bag of tricks.

For the shooting star mantel decoration, buy gummed metallic paper stars in a variety of sizes up to the largest size available. Find the center of each star on its back, then draw on the back a line from the center to each point. A stylus can be used as well as a pencil because the purpose is to indent lines so straight folds can be made. Fold on these lines and the stars become three-dimensional. Moisten the glue on the backs of the tips of two stars and put them together back-to-back, and add a wire stem for those which shoot out of the greenery. Attach single stars to the mirror with their moistened gummed tips.

Somewhere in the house there is a beautiful container for evergreen that might not have been thought of for Christmas decorating before. It may be a handsome white tureen like this one, which takes red bows on its handles. Fill the container with an interesting variety of kinds of evergreen and berries rather than a single kind of two, and it will outshine much more elaborate and glittery decorations.

For the front door this year, a sassy snow ball face to say Merry Christmas to everyone who passes. This one is a styrofoam ball which has black button eyes and a nose, yarn hair, ear muffs, and a bright scarf. It tops a child's show shovel in red and white.

Show Child He's Loved in Spite of His Mistake

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Within the past month, Aleck E. has lied twice.

Neither lie has been the acceptable kind that claims to have slain lions, talked with Pinocchio's Blue Fairy or the little man who lives in the stomach.

Aleck's lies have both denied real actions he performed in the real world. The first denied the eating of a cookie whose chocolate still smudged his mouth. The second denied the spilling of milk at a recent Sunday dinner with his grandparents.

Then, over the puddle dripping to the floor, Aleck cried to his mother across the table, "See what you did, Mommy? Look what you did!"

As his grandma took a very dim view of this falsification, Mrs. E. wants to know how evil it was and what to do with another like it.

Well, had Mrs. E. always beamed upon Aleck when he spilled milk, we could confidently expect him to claim responsibility for all subsequent spills with eagerness and abandon. Naturally, she has not beamed. And by her startled recoil from Aleck's first spill upon the tablecloth, she gave him to understand that it was unbecoming action.

No matter how patient she was, he would have understood this. And he would decide to give the unbecoming action away to someone whose beauty could glorify it. He would say, "You spilled my milk, Mommy."

However, the time is coming when we shall want Aleck to be able to say, "I'm sorry I spilled my milk, Mother."

How do we prepare him to do it? How do we teach him to take responsibility for action he knows we disapprove?

We give him what he was seeking when he made his mother responsible for his spill. We give him the assurance that though his spill, is disapproved, he himself is an approved and desirable person. When he spills next time, we say, "Don't be afraid when you spill, Aleck. I love you whether you spill or whether you don't."

As this is made clear, he will lose his need to disconnect himself from undesirable action. He will be able to claim it for his, knowing that it cannot affect his desirability.

Have I made it clear that Aleck paid his mother a huge compliment by telling her that she'd spilled his milk? He did. He thinks her so perfectly wonderful that she can beautify even the spilling of milk.

Meals on Holiday Can Be Livened by Using Sauces

Roast Beef Noel

Select a 3 to 4-rib roast of prime beef. Rub it with coarse salt. Crush some black peppercorns and press 3 to 4 teaspoons of them into meat. Roast in 300 degree oven without basting.

When done, sprinkle with 1½ tablespoons of rosemary leaves and press them into the fat with a fork. Place roast on hot platter, surround with rings of broiled tomatoes and puree of spinach. Just before serving, warm 4 ounces of French cognac in a saucepan and pour it over the roast. Ignite the cognac with a match and serve while aflame.

Tomato Sauce for Fowl

Place 3 ripe tomatoes in a saucepan with 1 sliced carrot, 1 sliced onion, a teaspoon of butter and some parsley. Salt and pepper heavily. Add 1 strip chopped raw bacon, plus 4 ounces dry vermouth. Cook covered for one hour on a medium flame. Stir often.

Then sprinkle tomatoes with flour. Add ½ cup clear meat broth. Cook for ten minutes more. Strain. Bring to boil again. Add 1 teaspoon butter when serving.

Hot Pudding Sauce

Put 2 cups dry white wine, 4 egg yolks and 2 whole eggs, 1 teaspoon lemon juice and 3 tablespoons granulated sugar in top of double boiler and heat, over a low flame, until it boils. Remove quickly from fire to prevent curdling.

Lift the Furniture

If you want to try your room another way, go ahead. But do lift instead of pushing heavy pieces of furniture across rug areas. Pushing castors or legs across any floor covering will damage the fibers.

PETUNIA!

In planning meals
I fret and mull....
Rice? It's nice,
But rather dull

Then, substitute canned onion soup for the water when you cook it, Petunia! It gives the rice a beautiful golden color and a subtle new flavor.

Jean Goldkette Seeks to Help Others

Celebrated Musician Is Man With Great Purpose

By ABBIE K. KUCSERA

A man with a mission paused in this city Wednesday, delving deeply into his treasured gift of melody to share it with his lucky listeners for a little while, and was gone.

However, Jean Goldkette, internationally celebrated musician, here for two scholarship benefit concerts sponsored by the Pontiac-American Association of University Women, left behind him — inspiration.

The artist — father of swing — and organizer in the late 20's of the famous Jean Goldkette Victor Recording Orchestra, all his life has had the great urge to help all struggling creative artists to find themselves and to succeed in life.

It was this great urge which took the gifted man from Hollywood where two major studios have "The Jean Goldkette Story," under consideration for filming in the near future.

Goldkette is on a 30-city concert tour, which he expects will take him until spring, when he will return to Hollywood.

Until then, his concerts are helping to develop a large number of scholarships for the National Artists Foundation, a national non-profit, talent finding and development organization of which he is founder and president.

The great French-American, outstanding personality in the annals of modern American music, has triumphed both in Europe and America as a concert pianist.

JEAN GOLDKETTE

In that band were such now-famous names as Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Russ Morgan, Bix Beiderbecke, Eddie Lang, Glenn Gray, Victor Young (now musical director for Paramount), Johnny Green, (M-G-M musical director) and Charlie Wolcott now musical director for Walt Disney).

For a man of such accomplishment and success, Jean Goldkette is an extremely humble and unaffected man. His manner is a concerned and friendly one.

Following his afternoon concert for the youngsters at the high school, a small group of youthful admirers crept around the wings backstage to question in a whisper "Do you suppose we could have HIS autograph?"

The artist beckoned them to his side at the backstage piano and greeted them all, one by one.

He asked their names, whether they took music lessons and their favorite numbers. He took a sincere and unhurried interest in all, signing each program with a friendly message and his name.

Jean Goldkette, when interviewed by the Press reporter, seemed only to have one purpose in mind, that of helping other artists, as yet undiscovered. Cigar in hand, he stressed over and over his desire to help others.

The movie which will be made on "The Jean Goldkette Story" will help others too. For in it, Goldkette said it is planned that there will be some celebrities, but that mostly, they expect to find and introduce new talent in the picture.

The artist told the reporter, too, that one thing which had given him great satisfaction was the establishment of "McKinney's Cotton Pickers," first all-colored band in the country, led by Don Redman.

Shirt Boards Should Not Be Thrown Away

ATLANTA (INS) — Thrift-conscious laundrymen say don't throw away those shirt-boards.

Those rectangular pieces of cardboard used by laundries to protect shirts from the time they are pressed until they are worn have a whole tub-ful of home uses.

One use is as a cutting board when slicing or peeling fruits and vegetables. The board makes a good cutting surface, absorbs juices lost in cutting and makes a sturdy wrapping when folded around the peelings for disposal.

Then, too, shirt-boards are stiff enough to serve as a dust pan sometime. If you're building or remodeling, save them to pick up wood shavings, plaster, dirt or mud tracked in.

Use the boards as splatter boards under paint cans, or as a straight edge in painting. Hold them over the glass when painting window trimming.

The shirt-board comes into its own when the children are cooped up on rainy days. They're perfect, point out the launderers, for coloring, making puzzles, building house, castles, barns or other models.

Make Time Count

It's so easy to get the house cleaned when baby's asleep. But then, you can't understand why you're so bushed at night. The answer is, when baby's sleeping, you nap, too. He's safe and needs no watching. While he plays quietly in the crib or carriage, do the housework, calm in the knowledge that you can hear him if he cries.

Before you start wondering what toys to give little Johnny for Christmas, be sure you are giving him the most important thing: love, a sense of belonging, a feeling of independence and recognition for his achievements.

Mary, Queen of Scots

Early Death Ends Turbulent Life

By POWELL GULICK
INS. Photographer

MARY, QUEEN of SCOTS

In the palace at Linlithgow, Scotland, there was born on December 7, 1542, Mary, the third child of James V and his wife, Mary, of Lorraine. Seven days later, her father, who at the time of the little one's birth, lay sick in the palace at Falkland, died.

So, on September 9, 1543, the nine-month old infant was crowned at Sterling Castle.

When she was little more than five, she was betrothed to the heir to the French throne, and set sail for that country. There, under the tutelage of the infamous Catherine de Medici, she was prepared for the marriage to the heir.

When she was little more than fifteen, the marriage took place at Notre Dame Cathedral.

At a tournament, Henry II, her father-in-law was killed by Count Montgomery, so Francis and Mary became King and Queen of France.

She was now at the height of her European grandeur; for she was Queen of France; Queen of Scotland and heir presumptive to the throne of England vacated by the death of Mary Tudor.

However, the sudden death of her husband clouded her prospects. Her zealous attachment to the Roman Catholic Church, which was rejected by a great many of her subjects, was the one great obstacle to her success.

Because Queen Elizabeth of England refused to grant her permission to pass through that country, she was compelled to make the long sea voyage from France to Scotland, where she assumed the government of a country long distinguished for its rebellious turbulence.

In spite of the hostility toward him exhibited by Queen Elizabeth, Mary married her twenty-year-old cousin, Henry Stuart, Lord Darnley, with whom she was enamored.

Darnley was weak, capricious and obstinate and extremely jealous of David Rizzio, her secretary and inseparable companion. During one of his jealous frenzies, Darnley entered the Queen's dining-room where she was dining with Rizzio, and had him murdered.

As a result of this crime, Darnley was compelled to flee. After the birth of her son, James, Mary having found a new favorite in the Earl of Bothwell, decided to rid herself of her husband after she had discovered he had plotted her overthrow.

While he was ill, she had him removed to a small detached house which was blown up by gun-powder. Suspicion naturally rested on her and her favorite. She not only screened Bothwell at the trial but outraged public decency by marrying him.

She was imprisoned, and sent to an island in Loch Leven. From there, with the aid of an eighteen year old boy, she escaped and threw herself on the mercy of her cousin, Queen Elizabeth, who refused to extend this mercy because "Mary was stained with the crime of murder."

She was confined for years in Bolton Castle, then in 1586, accused of a conspiracy to depose Elizabeth, she was tried, convicted and beheaded.

Diamonds are wrapped around strands of cultured pearls as casually as ribbon in this matched set of earrings, necklace and bracelet from Texas. They won a citation in a recent fashion showing in Dallas. The strands of diamonds combine round brilliants with baguettes and actually look "soft" enough to twist.

Hal Boyle Says:

Trying to Slay Audience Worse Than Fighting Bull

NEW YORK (AP)—It is a difficult thing for a man in a ring to sword a maddened bull to death.

But, senor, it is even more difficult on the nerves for this same man to slay an American night club audience with no weapon but his baritone voice.

Manuel Capetillo swears this is so. Manuel, who is one of Mexico's top matadors, now has a new career. When the bulls are out of season, he belts out Mexican ditties on the night club circuit.

Although he has been a big hit in his first New York appearance in the Hotel Pierre, Manuel says he still finds it easier work to face a bull than a cafe society audience.

"The nerves I get fighting the bulls, they are different from the nerves I get when I am singing," he explained.

"When I fight a bull I am not singing. I may feel sick three days before a bull fight—and three days after—but I don't have the nerves when I am actually facing the bull."

Manuel is an extraordinarily talented man. He is a charro (Mexican blue-blooded cowboy), a bullfighter, a movie actor, and a vocalist. In his own land he is a kind of combined Joe DiMaggio, Roy Rogers and Perry Como.

Yet Capetillo, who has killed 400 bulls and been badly gored five times in the ring, is still only 28. He is slender, 6 feet 2—an unusual height for a bullfighter—dark-eyed and handsome.

He makes up to $10,000 a bullfight. It is an industry in which the upkeep is greater than the initial expense. His costumes cost him up to $15,000 a season. The heavy, gold-braided matadors outfit he wears in his night club routine weighs about 20 pounds and cost him more than $7,000.

Capetillo says he has been fighting bulls and singing as long as he can remember. He is largely a self-taught matador and started learning the tricks of the trade as a boy of 5 waving capes at calves on his father's ranch.

"I never took a professional bullfighting lesson—or singing lesson—in my life," he said. He became a matador at 22, hopes to stay in the field until he is 35, or even 40, if his nerves hold out.

"I want to sing and fight the bulls as long as I can," he said simply. "It is my life.

"It is not the legs that go first, as it is with a baseball player. A matador begins to go to pieces when he no longer can control his nervous system. Somehow the bull seems able to sense this."

Despite the terrible thigh scars left on his body by the five bulls who outpointed him, Manuel says he has no particular fear once he enters the ring.

"For a moment, when you first see the bull, you have a feeling like a martyr—and wonder why you are there," he explained. Then the action starts, and there is no time for feelings.

"I do not eat the day of a fight, and it is very good to have a quick glass of cognac to settle the stomach before entering the ring," Manuel added.

The bull doesn't get any cognac. He is not supposed to be nervous. After the fight, Manuel is voraciously hungry. He and his retinue like big steaks, sometimes provided by his late opponent in the ring.

It is the same way with Manuel just before he goes out to the spotlight on a supper club floor.

"A couple of small glasses of wine are very good to settle the stomach," he said.

The only other thing that makes Manuel nervous is girls. He is a bachelor.

"And I intend to stay this way all my life," he said frankly. "I am afraid that if I married, I might some day look across a table into the eyes of another girl I liked better—and get up and follow her. This would not do. I will stay as I am."

Quints Bow Out on '55 Calendar

Sisters Making Final Appearance With Next Year's Editions

ST. PAUL (INS)—The Dionne Quintuplets, for many years one of America's favorite calendar art subjects, will make their last appearance on calendars in 1955.

The last protrait of the famous girls painted by Anfrew Loomis before the sudden death of Emilie is appearing on 1955 calendars now being distributed.

The Quints began to appear on walls of homes and offices in 1935. For many years thereafter they were more popular than most of the calendar pictures used by American publishers who have turned out an estimated 125 million calendars for next year. About half are produced by Brown & Bigelow of St. Paul.

In addition to the Dionnes, popular subjects for 1955 by the Minnesota publishers include the official Boy Scout calendar by Norman Rockwell, now in its 30th year; the go to church series; the wildfowl series painted by Dick Bishop; the national 4-H calendar, and a new introduction—a how-to-do-it calendar. This carries information on use of tools and plans for repair and maintenance of the home.

Of course, cheesecake art is not overlooked, though B & B executives rarely bring up this subject voluntarily. Pierson Atkinson, vice president in charge of calendars, looks pained when the subject is introduced.

He prefers to note that calendars are "helping to bring about an appreciation of fine arts" by such painters as Rockwell, Bishop and Maxfield Parrish.

The total U.S. calendar production is not used entirely in this country. The overseas demand is best illustrated by the fact that the St. Paul firm has one salesman who covers the mountains of Venezuela on a pack mule and another who travels exclusively between Hong Kong and India.

Thoughtful Bridegroom

TOKYO (AP)—Police arrested Masao Yaji, 24, on the eve of his wedding and recovered 89 stolen articles, including electric kitchen gadgets, women's clothes, a mahjong set and timber to build a home. Yaji said he wanted his bride to have nice things.

It requires 28,000 to 670,000 gallons of water (depending on the amount of recirculation) to make a ton of synthetic rubber.

Must Sell Cadillac to Pay Off Cafe Debt

A contractor had an attachment writ on the automobile, a 1953 model, and Judge Snell ordered it sold at sheriff's auction unless it is sold for payment of the debt.

Offers Suggestions for Driving on Ice

MADISON, Wis. (INS)—A University of Wisconsin expert, who has been driving on ice for ten years in the service of science, offered some tips today on how to keep winter days accident-free.

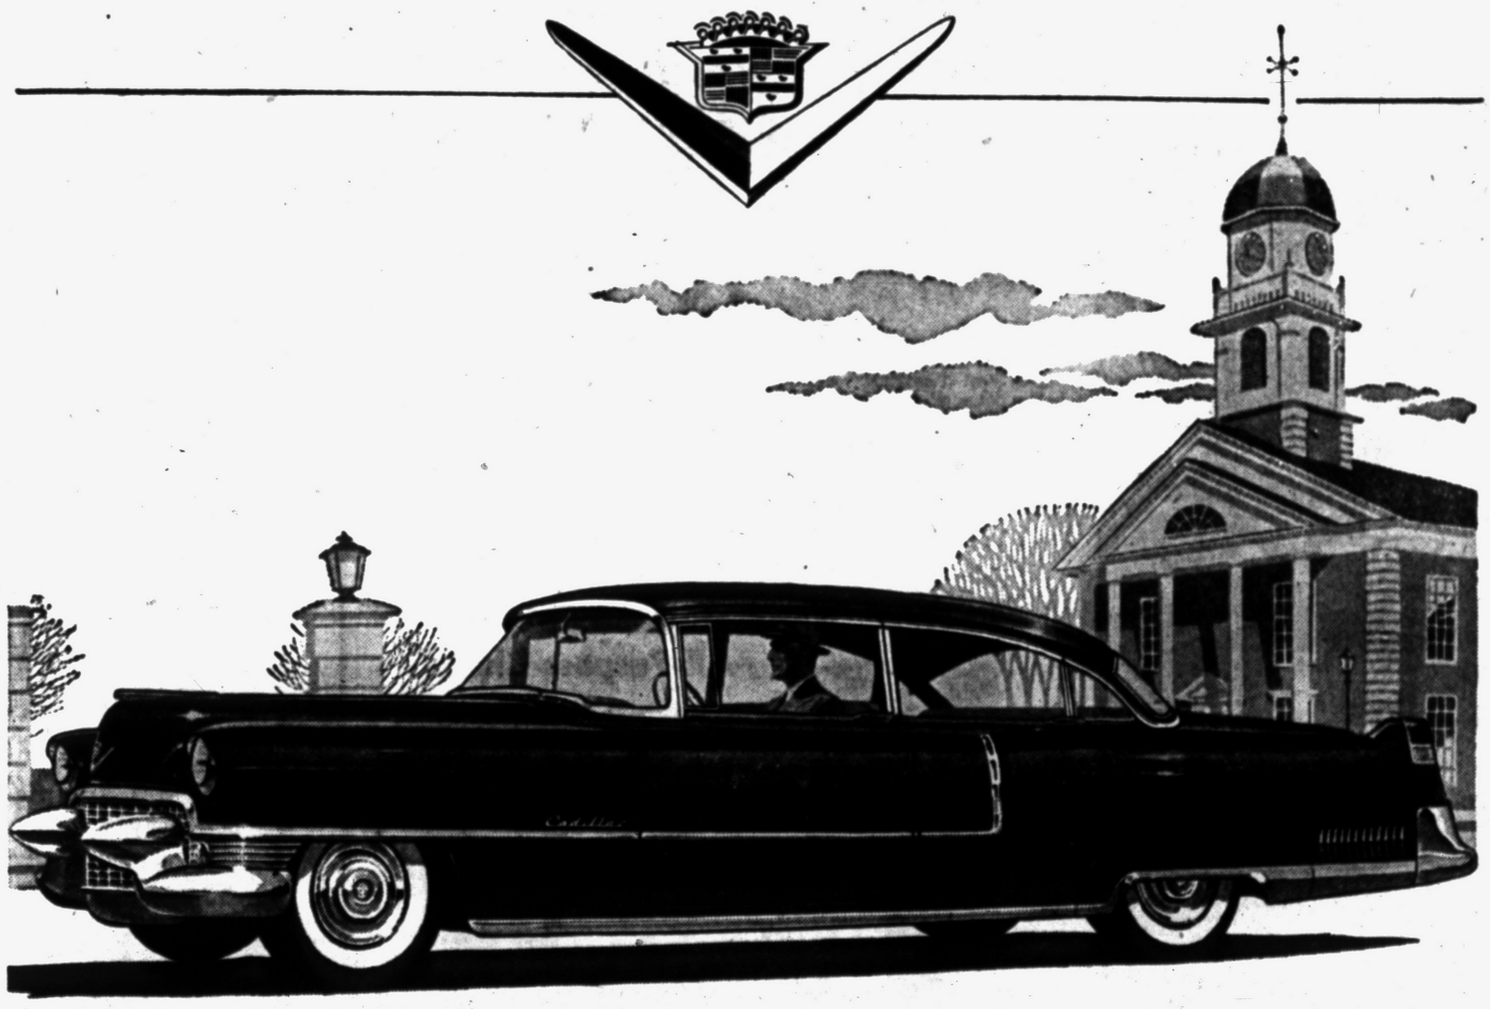

His advice was aimed particularly at making a success of national Safe Driving Day, Dec. 15.

Prof. Archie H. Easton, a mechanical engineer who heads motor vehicle research in the university's engineering experiment station, said these two rules were the most important for safe winter driving:

1. Whenever you take your car out on the road in the winter, "get the feel" of the highway before you go too far and too fast.
2. Once you "get the feel" of the road, accept completely the responsibilities of winter driving which that "feel" has given to you.

Cadillac

The Hour Every Motorist Owes to Himself!

The happy man you see in this picture is bringing himself up to date.

Cadillac has written a whole new chapter for the book defining motor car performance, and he's taking an hour to find out what it says.

And it says plenty—of very great importance.

First of all, it tells you what it's like to have command of a 250-horsepower engine that's as smooth as velvet, and so quick and eager that you have to educate your driving toe all over again.

It tells you what it's like to have virtually every trace of unevenness in the highway completely eliminated before it is even noticeable to driver or to passengers.

And it tells you what it's like to relax amidst upholstery fabrics that are found nowhere else, save in the 1955 Cadillac—not even in the finest clubs or hotels.

All this is to say, of course, that Cadillac has made another tremendous advance in design and engineering—so great, in fact, that only a drive and a personal inspection can let you realize its significance.

And, naturally, in addition to all that is new—there is yet greater emphasis on all the long-existing Cadillac virtues:

—the endurance that enables a Cadillac owner to keep his car just as long as he elects to do so . . . and with complete confidence in its dependability—

—the amazing economy of operation and upkeep which causes many owners to maintain that it is the most economical car on the American highway—

—the great personal satisfaction that comes from owning a car which is recognized, wherever highways lead, as the Standard of the World.

We cordially invite you to come in—today—to see and drive this wonderful, wonderful car.

There are eight models—in four different series—including the sensational Eldorado.

There is one to please you—exactly. And we think you'll be surprised and delighted at how little it costs, in comparison with lesser cars.

SANTA AND THE MARS KING

By Lucrece Hudgins Beale

AP Newsfeatures

SYNOPSIS: Tom arrives in Santa Land but the little folk, not knowing who he is, hide from him and set a trap to capture him. . . .

TROUBLE IN SANTA LAND

The Santa folk lifted their captive from the hole where they had trapped him. They pinched him and poked him with sticks and they marched him before them down the street.

When they reached Santa's little white cottage they banged on the door.

"Come see! Come see!"

The door opened and Santa Claus came out.

"Well, well," cried Santa. "Let me see it!"

They jerked the bag from the captive's head and there stood poor Tom. He was angry as could be.

Santa stared in astonishment. "Are you a flying saucer?"

"No, I am not! I am a boy. My name is Tom. How could anyone think me a flying saucer?"

Santa sat down on his steps and laughed and laughed. "You certainly don't look like a saucer to me. But why are you here? Where did you come from?"

Then Tom told Santa about the flying saucer which had been seen in his town and about his great wish to see one for himself. He told how the elf statue had taken him to the witches' and how he had flown on a witch's broom and been chased by a flying saucer.

Finally he said, "Have you ever seen a flying saucer?"

All the elves and fairies sighed and nodded their heads. Santa was no longer laughing. "Yes," he said, "we have seen many and if we cannot stop them I am afraid there will be no Christmas this year."

"No Christmas? Why not?"

"Because the reindeer have been frightened by the saucers and refuse to fly. One night I was exercising them when suddenly a light came flashing out from behind the moon.

"The deer shied away but the light danced circles around us. We could not escape it. Finally it disappeared. The poor reindeer flew back to the stables and have not come out since."

"Come see!" cried the elves.

They took Tom down to the stables. Santa's eight reindeer stood in their stalls. Their heads drooped and their eyes were filled with fear and shame. They did not look at all like the proud graceful creatures Tom had always imagined them.

"Now you see why the elves wanted to trap a flying saucer," said Santa. "Truly I do not know what we shall do if the deer will not fly on Christmas eve."

"I will help you!" cried Tom. "I bet I can catch a flying saucer!"

The elves gathered round. "What will you do? We have dug traps all over the land and the only thing we ever caught was you."

"Why not put traps in the sky?" suggested Tom. "That's where the saucers are."

"How would we dig a hole in the sky?"

"We don't have to dig a hole. We'll build a trap with balloons."

The little folk were delighted. They raced to the balloon shop and began blowing up balloons. There were barrels and barrels of them packed for Christmas delivery but, as Santa said, what was the use of saving them for Christmas if there wasn't going to be any Christmas?

The elves and fairies sat at their work benches and blew and blew and blew.

Meanwhile Santa and Tom went to the old string shop and began to weave a gigantic fish net in which they hoped to catch a saucer.

(Tomorrow: Tom Goes Away)

Nov. 2 Balloting Broke 1950's Midterm Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—More voters turned out Nov. 2 than in any previous midterm election in history.

Official tabulations from 41 states and unofficial totals from the seven others showed yesterday that 44,083,112 voters went to the polls last month. This was 1,621,030 more than in 1950, the previous high for a nonpresidential election.

Navy Sets Plan for Family Shift

33 Atlantic Fleet Ships Being Moved to Pacific Cause Big Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has come up with a double-barreled program to meet the problem of transferring hundreds of families among the 8,000 crewmen of 33 ships being shifted from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

It announced today that:

1. Where feasible, officers and enlisted men may swap jobs between the two fleets.

2. Mass transportation of families will be offered in special trains, with arrangements to provide temporary housing and other facilities after arrival on the West Coast. This was dubbed "Operation Welfare."

The transfer plan for families is voluntary, with departure of most planned for Jan. 15. They will be carried to the West Coast by special trains equipped with medical attendants, feeding facilities for small children, games and movies. Special cars will be used to bring families from the Boston-Newport, R.I., area to join a train at Chicago. That train is to originate at Norfolk, Va.

Arriving on the West Coast, families will be met by naval personnel and representatives of Navy wives clubs. They will be moved into temporary housing.

Census Bureau Finally Receives 'Censure' Letter

WASHINGTON (AP) — What happens to a letter addressed to "the Department of Censure" in Washington?

The office of Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) said the post office routed one such epistle with an Arkansas postmark to Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the special committee that recommended censure of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.). Watkins' office sent it to Fulbright, an author of censure charges against McCarthy.

The letter said: "I need a birth certificate. I was born in 1886 or 1888. I don't know which."

Investigate Attack on Hatcher Home

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Police have disclosed they are investigating an attack on the campus home of Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan.

They said a brick with a note attached was tossed through a window in the presidential mansion early Wednesday.

Police withheld a report of the incident until yesterday.

Detective John Walters said contents of the note will not be disclosed at present "purely for investigatory reasons. There is no sense in giving the whole case away," he said.

The broken window was discovered at 8:30 a.m. The crash apparently had been muffled by draperies and the family was not awakened by the noise.

Magnified Sun Burns Holes in Stenog's Coats

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretaries on Capitol Hill are more cautious today about where they put their coats.

They found that sunlight pouring through windows and passing through a glass ice-water dispenser was burning holes in their garments on a coat-rack. The toll for their new-found scientific knowledge —three damaged coats and one damaged sweater.

Bob Hope Buys 'Beau James,' Will Be Star

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—I've often wondered why somebody didn't buy Gene Fowler's book "Beau James," the interesting biography of the most colorful mayor New York ever had.

Now it's been sold to Bob Hope, who will play the popular Jimmy Walker. There's a lot more to the story than just the sale of the book.

Bob has formed an independent company called Scribe productions, with Jack Rose and Melville Shavelson as his partners. These two were with him on his latest picture, "The Seven Little Foys," and they'll write, direct and produce. There is no confirmation whether Bob will release through Paramount or not, but I do know "Beau James" will be a musical with Jimmy Walker's own song, "Will You Love Me in December as You Did in May," featured.

Two young artists of the second generation — and I mean Gary Crosby and Jack Linkletter, have been carrying on a very business-like correspondence about which their respective old men—Bing and Art—know nothing.

The boys are currently ironing out such little matters as the time and salary, and when the deal is completed, they may inform their illustrious parents of the deal they've made.

Out at Huntington Park, far from the maddening crowds, "East of Eden" was previewed. I'd like to say right out loud that Warners have themselves a new young star in James Dean, the New York actor who came here especially for this picture.

Elia Kazan, who was given a contract for another picture as soon as "East of Eden" was previewed, has done even a better job than he usually does. The John Steinbeck story was powerful to begin with, and it's made an equally powerful motion picture. I loved the book and only wish there was another novel out now as good.

It's a fine day for Judy Collins, talented soprano, who has just been told that she is the winner in the contest for a singer in the Jimmy McHugh act at the Sands in Las Vegas starting Dec. 15.

Jack Entratter auditioned 100 girls—so it's quite an honor for Judy to be chosen to appear on the bill with headliners Danny Thomas and Jimmy McHugh, not to forget Chuck Nelson, the regular singer at the Sands.

The program celebrates the second anniversary of the Sands, and everyone who has heard Judy—Entratter, McHugh and Syd Kuller, the stage manager, believes the program will be a brilliant start for her professional career.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Gummo Marx will be a grandfather in April. His son, Bob, and his wife are expecting their first baby. Gummo is one of the famed Marx brothers.

Faith Domergue and Spencer Martin, the newest twosome in town, at the Mocambo.

Gene Nelson gets credit on the screen for the choreography in "So This Is Paris." He's following in the footsteps of Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly, and U-I must think he's pretty good.

Fairly Clear Case

DENVER (AP)—Mrs. Alice Johnson was granted an interlocutory divorce yesterday from Edward F. Johnson, of Matawan, N. J., on grounds of desertion. She said her husband left her 47 years ago.

Tucson May Be Oldest Community in Nation

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—An anthropologist said evidence uncovered yesterday indicates a "possibility" Tucson is the oldest continuously occupied community in the nation.

Dr. Emil Haury, director of the Arizona State Museum, based his statement on preliminary examination of pottery found on the floor of a pit hut struck by excavators in downtown Tucson. It indicated Tucson may have been occupied as early as 900 A. D., he said.

2 Bank Bandits Face Quiz Here

Pistol Used in Holdup Stolen From Pontiac Home Nov. 25

Two men who robbed the Newport State Bank in Ecorse Wednesday will be questioned Monday by Pontiac Police who learned the pair used a gun stolen during a breakin of a Pontiac home Nov.

Detective Olin E. Hoffman said he was notified by the Detroit police holdup squads this morning that the weapon was checked through Michigan State Police files and found to be the .22 caliber target pistol taken from the home of Arthur McClellan.

Capt. Clark M. Wheaton, chief of detectives, said the two men also would be questioned in connection with a series of 21 house breakins which netted burglars several hundred dollars over the past three weeks.

Police said the two men escaped from Newport, six miles south of Flat Rock in Monroe County, after locking three bank employes in the vault.

Ecorse police, alerted by radio, intercepted the getaway car near Detroit. They said the money, estimated at between $2,000 and $3,000 was still in the car.

3 Autos, 2 Drivers in Unusual Crash

An unusual three-car accident at Silver Bell road and M24 yesterday injured one motorist when one driver turned left in the path of another, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies. Both autos were badly damaged.

Arthur Cartwright, 46, of Inkster, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for chest injuries and four broken ribs.

Deputy Ross Miller said Cartwright was towing one car and turned into a service station in front of a car driven by Howard F. Brown, 39, of Highland Park.

Miller said both Cartwright's and Miller's cars were almost totally wrecked.

Map Crackdown on Gambling

Would Use U.S. Stamp as Evidence in State Cases

EAST LANSING (AP)—Possession of a federal gambling stamp would be allowable as evidence of violation of state gambling laws, under a proposal endorsed by a legislative committee representing Michigan law enforcement agencies.

The group, meeting yesterday at State Police headquarters, included representatives of the State Association of Circuit Judges, sheriffs, prosecuting attorneys, chiefs of police, the attorney general's office and state police.

Persons engaged in gambling are required to apply for federal wagering stamps or licenses. The occupation is not a violation of federal laws but is contrary to state gambling laws.

The group was told that similar laws have been enacted in Alabama and Florida and have been upheld by the courts. The group will ask the next legislative session to pass a Michigan law to help curb professional gambling.

Other legislation proposed by the committee would:

Permit a motorist to plead guilty on a summons for a violation, instead of waiting for the procedure or a warrant and legalize settlement of a fine by mail.

Require motorists to obey yield right-of-way signs which are not now covered in the motor vehicle code.

Revise the code to include as a second offense in the revocation of a driver's license any violation in which conviction was under a city ordnance.

Revise the car muffler law to make increased noise or smoke a punishable violation.

Seek New Way to Open Mine as Divers Fail

However, company general manager A. S. Kromer said the failure by divers to open a valve which would permit drainage of the shaft "will in no way interfere with ultimate de-watering of the shaft."

Kromer said the problem would now be attacked in "another manner."

Road Plan Hit by Broomfield

Senator-Elect Fears Williams Will Make Issue 'Political Football'

ROYAL OAK (UP)—William S. Broomfield, Oakland County Republican who has been speaker pro tem of the Michigan House and was elected to the state Senate in November, said today he fears Gov. G. Mennen Williams is planning to turn Michigan's highway program into a "political football."

"The governor's recent awakening to the highway needs of the people of Michigan is one of the most sudden reforms ever made by a man in high political office," Broomfield said.

"Michigan is pockmarked from one end to the other with the graves of highway victims who would be alive today were it not for the six cruel years of opposition by Williams to Republican-highway improvements."

Broomfield said the state has an interim committee working which will give the 1955 Legislature a program "for immediate action which will serve the needs of all Michigan motorists on a long range constructive program and yet protect their welfare as taxpayers."

"These able, highly-qualified highway advisers are working on a solution that will make some actual sens. Williams' so-called highway plan is the kind of thing that results from many long hours of barn-dancing, baby kissing and dreams of green bow ties in the White House," Broomfield said.

Sees Radar Replacing Seeing-Eye Dogs, Canes

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Dr. Thomas A. Benham, a blind assistant professor of physics at Haverford, says within two years America's blind may be depending on portable radar sets instead of dogs and canes.

Writing in the publication of the American Institute of Physics, Dr. Benham said he and Dr. Clifford M. Wichter, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, are working on an improved model of such a set, seeking to eliminate defects of earlier types.

Ivy Colleges Bind Together

Round-Robin Schedules Planned for 6 Minor Sports

NEW YORK (AP) — The eight Ivy League colleges were bound closer Friday in an athletic policy that will provide round-robin competition in half a dozen new sports beginning with the 1955-56 season.

New leagues were formed in soccer, fencing, lacrosse, golf, squash, and wrestling, although all eight schools do not have teams in each sport.

In the future the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League and the Pentagonal Hockey League will be called the Ivy Leagues. The only sports in which all eight schools now have teams are football and basketball.

The Ivy Football League begins round-robin operation with the 1956 season. It was prescribed in an agreement of the presidents of Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Dartmouth, Brown, Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvania in 1954.

Washington 5's Win

Washington Junior High's 7th and 8th grade basketball teams won their opening games yesterday against Lake Orion squads. Seventh-graders won their game, 44-4, while the 8th-graders took a 37-12 victory.

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—A familiar combination — Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay—teamed up last night to give the Detroit Red Wings a 3-2 victory over the New York Rangers.

Things haven't been going too well for the Red Wings this season, and much of their trouble has stemmed from the disappointing showings of Howe and Lindsay.

Neither has been flashing a "take charge" brand of hockey which characterized their play in former years.

But the spark returned for a brief moment last night, but in that moment a drab 2-2 tie was turned into a pulsating victory.

With less than two minutes to play, Howe fired a desperate shot at the New York cage. Lindsay, an opportunist if there ever was one, barely got his stick on the puck and tipped it into the cage. The crowd of 8,395, although the smallest at Olympia this season, let loose with a thunderous roar.

Then, with seven minutes left, Wally Hergesheimer scored one of the strangest goals seen on Olympia ice in many a season. The ranger forward skated in on the Detroit net but was written out of the play. The puck, a lazy old thing, dribbled toward the net—much like in a slow motion movie.

That looked good enough for a 2-2 tie, but then Lindsay and Howe went into their old time scoring antics.

Top Bowling Teams Here This Weekend

Bowling fans are promised some of the hottest kegling competitions of the season Sunday at 7 p.m. at the Huron Bowl. At that time state champion 5-man team, Detroit Pfeiffers and challengers E&B meet in the first block of a 5-team elimination series.

4 More for North

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Ivy Williamson, who will coach the North squad in the Shrine Charity football game in the Orange Bowl Christm as night, today added four more players to his squad, bringing the total to nine.

Latest to joi nthe North squad are Bert Zagers, halfback, and Fred Rody, guard, from Michigan State and Tom Gastall and Sam Pino of Boston University.

AAU Sponsors Cage Tourney

Midland Affair Is First Since 1947; Dates Not Determined

DETROIT (AP)—Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) plans a Michigan basketball tournament at Midland in February.

It would be the first AAU tournament in Michigan since 1947, when charges of professionalism were made against some of the participants.

Charles Pink, state AAU president, said "there no longer is a tendency for large corporations to sponsor teams and I am sure we can keep it under control."

Pink said the Midland tournament likely would be held the last two weeks in February and that it would be kept small, with only 12 to 18 teams competing.

"If it is successful," he said, "we hope to return to state-wide competition next year."

The Michigan winner will meet the Illinois winner in a zone playoff March 12 in Illinois. Zone winner will compete in the National AAU Tournament at Denver, March 21.

Pink said Dave Russell, director of the Midland Community Center, had been appointed Michigan tournament chairman.

Wayne '5' Comes From Behind to Trip MSNC

YPSILANTI (AP)—Wayne University overcame a 14 point halftime deficit last night to fight a nip and tuck last minute basketball game and defeat Michigan Normal, 65-64.

The defeat was a heartbreaker for the Hurons who led until the last minute and a half of play. The crushing blow came when guard Charlie Teaberry scored what could have been the winning basket—a split second after the game ended.

Pontiac High's basketball team will seek its 1st cage victory over Flint Northern since 1951 tonight, when the Vikings come here to open the Saginaw Valley Conference season.

Chiefs handed Northern two losses during the 1950-51 campaign, but since Carl Stelter took over the Vikings in 1951-52 they have beaten Pontiac six straight times.

Northern has won, or shared, the SVC crown in each of the three years that Stelter has been head coach at the Flint school. Last year, his club went to the state finals before losing to Muskegon Heights, 43-41—its 4th loss in 21 starts.

Pontiac, only team in the circuit which didn't lose a single starter from last year, is regarded as one of the top choices to end Northern's domination this season.

Visitors will hold height advantage tonight. Led by 6-foot 5-inch junior center Clarence Elliott, the Vikings average slightly better than 6-2 per man. Pontiac averages a shade over 6-1.

The two teams displayed identical shooting accuracy in winning their opening games last week. Northern downed Port Huron, 58-53, and Pontiac beat Royal Oak, 49-40, with each team hitting on 19 of 61 shots. From the free throw line, Pontiac had 11 points in 19 tries while Northern made 20 of 34 chances.

Tonight's varsity game will be preceded by a jayvee contest at 6:30 p.m.

OCSC Turkey Shoot Takes Place Sunday

Annual Oakland County Sportsmen's Club Christmas Turkey Shoot will be held Sunday, Dec. 12, at D. R. Wilson Sportsmen's Park, Waterford.

Public is invited, with shooting activity getting underway by 9:30 a.m.

There will be events for rifle and shotgun. A handicap system will be in effect to benefit all novice shooters. Small and big bore rifle events will center around the 100 yard rifle range, while skeet and trap fields will handle the shotgun shooters.

Top marksman will receive turkeys, ducks, and chickens.

DuQuesne and Fordham Meet in Pitt Tourney

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Duquesne University, defending champion of the Steel Bowl, is the target of Fordham tonight as the annual basketball tourney opens at the Pitt Field House.

Duquesne, which looked only fair in winning its opening game against Carnegie Tech 72-52, meets Fordham in the first game of the doubleheader (7:30 p.m. EST). The second encounter puts Pitt against George Washington.

The winners will meet Saturday night for the championship with the losers clashing in a consolation game.

Bannister Plans to Retire From Track Career

Man Who Broke Legend of 4-Minute Mile Too Busy to Train

LONDON (AP) — Roger Bannister, one of the two men who have run the mile under four minutes, has stepped off the cinder track at the peak of his great athletic career.

So 1954 nears an end with a vast void looming in the track and field world.

It was a year that saw Bannister, then Landy, crack the four-minute mile barrier. Then in a memorable race at Vancouver, Canada, Bannister vanquished his Australian rival in a race in which both were clocked under four minutes.

Bannister first lowered the mile mark to 3:59.4 at Oxford, England, May 6. A little over a month later in Finland Landy dropped the record to 3:58. At Vancouver, in the British Empire Games, Bannister won in 3:58.8 with Landy second in 3:59.6.

Bannister, who'll be 26 next March, hinted quite clearly after his European 1500-meter championship victory at Bern in August that he had run his last race.

Boros Fires 66 to Assume Lead in Miami Open

Injured Hand Fails to Handicap Game; Chick Harbert Has 68

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Julius Boros, a husky young man who has better luck with golf clubs than shotguns and fishing gear, led a field of 161 into today's 2nd round of the Miami Open golf tournament.

The 35-year-old professional from Mid Pines, N. C., paced yesterday's opening round with a 4-under-par 66, one stroke under favorite Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., and Joe Brown of West Des Moines, Iowa.

An accident last week with a shotgun almost prevented Boros, winner of the U. S. Open in 1952, from competing in the $10,000 tourney at the par 35-35—70 Miami Springs course.

The weapon discharged prematurely and the recoil caused a nasty cut at the base of his right thum. Boros had the four stitches removed yesterday morning, taped the wound and shot his way into the lead. He wasn't troubled by the hand—or by the right leg he broke in July when he fell over some tree roots while fishing.

After today's round, the field will be trimmed to the 60 low pros and ties, plus the 10 low amateurs, for the final 36 holes over the 6,620-yard course.

Boros, who has won only one tournament since 1952, picked up all four of his strokes on the front nine with booming drives and accurate approach shots, carding a 31.

Snead, who makes his winter home in Miami, had a chance to overtake Boros on the back nine. He lost out, however, when putts refused to fall on two holes and he trapped his tee shot at the 18th, finishing in a tie for 2nd.

Deadlocked for 5th with 68s were Dave Douglas of Grossingers, N. Y.; Bo Winninger of Oklahoma City; Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich.; Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill.; Tommy Bolt of Houston, and Ed Griffiths of Flossmoor, Ill.

Compton Wins Award

Leonard Compton of Pontiac, a sophomore at Olivet, has been awarded a certificate for participation in football on this year's Olivet College team. Also honored with a lettered blanket was Ed Bryant of Farmington, who was named on the all-MIAA honor team.

'Red' Sanders Named College 'Coach of Year'

UCLA Mentor Winner by Small Margin Over Woody Hayes

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry (Red) Sanders of unbeaten UCLA, Pacific Coast Conference football champions, was named coach of the Year" today in the annual poll of the New York World-Telegram and Sun and the Scripps-Howard Newspapers.

The former Vanderbilt quarterback, who has coached for 26 years, received 173 first-place votes out of 58 ballots cast by members of the American Football Coaches Assn.

Sanders is the 20th coach to be named by the association, and he received 39 more votes than Woody Hayes, whose unbeaten Ohio State team won the Big Ten championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl to meet Southern California. UCLA played in the Rose Bowl last Jan. 1 and is ineligible to repeat.

A single-wing master, Sanders has been a head coach since 1940, his first year at Vanderbilt. He went to UCLA in 1949, and his overall record as head coach is 79 victories, 34 defeats and 3 ties. His UCLA record for six years is 43-12-1 and the past season is his first unbeaten one as the Uclans won 10 straight games.

Sanders' 1953 team lost only two games, to Stanford in a 21-20 upset, and to Michigan State, which won the Rose Bowl game 28-20.

Ameche Humble, and Proud as Heisman Winner

Ameche, the four-year fullback whose 3,212 career rushing yardage is a new NCAA record, was presented the award as the outstanding college player of 1954 at the Downtown Athletic Club last night.

"I'm both proud and humble in accepting the trophy," Ameche said. "Proud because I know it could as easily have gone to several others."

State Deer Policy Remains Unchanged

LANSIN G — Any change in state conservation department policies toward deer management seems highly unlikely after the commission's post-mortem on the 1954 deer season yesterday.

Meeting in an informal session, commissioners were generally agreed that the season was a good one after all, despite accusations by some sportsmen that the deer herd was much smaller than in previous years.

Harry D. Ruhl, chief of the department's game division, gave a rundown of the deer kill and explained the drop in the number of hunters this year.

Sports Could Be Worse, Says 'M' Professor

DETROIT (AP)—Ralph W. Aigler, who is retiring after 38 years as the University of Michigan's faculty representative to the Big 10 says conditions in college sports "could be a lot worse" than they are.

"I am not naive enough to think that everything is fine in college sports. I know that it isn't—but it isn't as bad as the general public thinks. Maybe it is worse than it should be—but it could be a lot worse than it is."

Referring to the subsidization of some college athletes Aigler said:

"Recruiting in itself is not dangerous. A lot of students are "recruited' by all schools, even Yale and Harvard.

"But when a school starts paying athletes, there is the trouble. "They must be students first, representatives of their school in the true sense."

Lions Given Three-Point Edge for Tilt With Bears

By HARRY WISMER

(Copyright 1954) (International News Service)

The National Football League heads for the last roundup this weekend, with only the postponed Cleveland-Detroit game and the world pro championship battle remaining after Sunday's contests.

Cleveland Browns will wrap up the Eastern Conference title with a solid 4-touchdown victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers, who beat the Browns in their 1st meeting but have lost 5 of their last 6 starts.

The Detroit Lions must protect their personnel for the big games coming up with Cleveland, now that they have clinched the West-Bears by three points.

New York Giants still are toying with the idea of gaining a tie with Cleveland but Philadelphia has a 10-point edge riding in its favor and will clinch 2nd place.

Green Bay looks as if it will drop another decision on its current California road trip, with the infuriated Rams adding a 14-point loss to that inflicted on the Packers by the 49ers last week.

And in the nation's capital the Chicago Cardinals battle the Redskins for last place. Cards will escape the cellar by three.

Survey of ND Men Shows

Sports Aided Ex-Irish Athletes Obtain Jobs

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A survey of Notre Dame's monogram men has disclosed that 2-3 of the athletes believe their participation in sports helped them get their first job.

The results of the survey—covering former Irish athletes dating back to the turn of the century—were discussed Thursday night by the Rev. Edmund P. Joyce at a banquet honoring the 1954 Notre Dame football team. Father Joyce is executive vice president of the university.

In his address, Father Joyce criticized the caricature humor of some cartoonists in which a college football player "is sometimes portrayed as a cross between a Neanderthal man and a full-blooded gorilla."

"There is little resemblance in such a caricature to the live article itself," Father Joyce said. "The average college football player is apt to be far more serious about his education than many of his classmates."

Father Joyce lauded the inaugural coaching season of 26-year-old Terry Brennan. The priest said Brennan dispelled all worries about the results of giving "a boy a man's job" by leading the Irish to nine triumphs against one loss.

Father Joyce said that answers to a questionnaire sent to Notre Dame athletes disclosed they earned an average annual income of $9,755.

* * *

Fifty six per cent of those questioned have jobs in the executive class and 38 per cent are in the professions, the survey showed.

Controls Still Necessary

Poll of Sportswriters, Broadcasters Indicate Swing Toward Big 10 TV Plan

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP) — A swing toward the Big Ten plan for regional control of college football television, or toward some sort of loosening of the NCAA national controls, was indicated today by sports writers and broadcasters replying to The Associated Press post-season questionnaire.

* * *

But the cold figures don't show any nation-wide agreement as to what sort of change should be made.

Out of more than 100 replies to the questionnaire, 41 favored a switch to regional controls of some sort and only 22 unreservedly backed the NCAA game-a-week program. The other experts offered a wide variety of suggestions and opinions, ranging from unrestricted television to no football TV at all.

All but 11 agreed, however, that controls were necessary. Ten proposed wide open televising of games, at least for an experimental season to see what would happen, and one said it is up to the courts to decide whether control can be exercised legally.

Strongest support for the Big Ten plan came from the Big Ten area, about three of four votes favoring regional control coming from newspapers and radio and TV stations in the Midwest. The East and South gave the present NCAA program most of its backing.

As in previous years, the objectors to the NCAA program argued that fans want to see the games that are interesting and important to them. And proponents of the regional plan claimed that usually means the big games in their areas. Others simply asked for a more flexible programming system because some of the weekly games, chosen before the start of the season, turned out to be notably uninteresting to a large number of spectators.

* * *

Assorted proposals along this line included waiting until two or three weeks before each TV Saturday to decide which game was to be put on the air, listing two or three possible games for each week and then making a late selection, letting the fans vote on which game they wanted to see, removing all TV restrictions on sellout games and regional telecasts with "blackouts" in the immediate area of the games.

Big Ten Loop Is Expected to Officially Align Itself With West Coast Group Against NCAA's TV Plan

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

DETROIT (AP) — The Big Ten today is expected to certify a firm stand for regional football television, thus aligning itself with the Pacific Coast Conference in a strong bloc against the NCAA's restricted national policy in effect the last four years.

The PCC, closely knitted with the Big Ten through the Rose Bowl pact and general athletic policies, this week officially came out for regional football TV.

The Big Ten last March announced its plan, which provided for a team to appear on television twice regionally, once at home and once away or once nationally, whichever it preferred.

This regional setup, however, carried little weight with the NCA, whose members, in a mail referendum voted 184 to 26 to continue its limited nationally controlled program through 1954.

The conference's strongest step toward opposing this was to instruct its members to vote against the NCAA plan.

At that time there was some feeling the Big Ten might defy the NCAA and put on its own regional program. This feeling may still persist—especially since the Pacific Coast action on the matter — if the NCAA does not change its present policy.

The issue is expected to come to a head in New York Jan. 5-7, when the NCAA TV committee maps a 1955 television plan for presentation at the organization's annual convention.

In the meantime, the Big Ten drew up a schedule of nationally televised basketball games to be carried by CBS on Saturday afternoons. Basketball television unlike football TV is under no restrictions from the NCAA.

Berra Winner in Most Valuable Voting

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra, still expressing surprise at being named the American League's Most Valuable Player, said today he's willing to play the outfield for the New York Yankees in 1955.

* * *

"I'll play anywhere they want me," said Yogi, "third base, catcher, outfield. Just say the word. But I wouldn't mind the outfield a bit if this boy Howard comes along."

* * *

"This boy Howard" is Elston Howard, regarded as one of the hottest Yankee rookie prospects in years. Normally an outfielder the young Negro spent the past year at Toronto learning to be a catcher.

"I know Bill (Dickey) will work hard with him," Yogi said. "Bill taught me an awful lot when I came up and he probably can do the same for Howard. The only time I've seen Howard was at spring training last year and I know he's a hard worker. He don't grumble and he's willing to try. That's important."

* * *

Berra, the MVP in 1951, is the first repeater for the honor since Ted Williams won in 1946 and 1949. He polled 230 points in the balloting by 24 members of the Baseball Writers Assn. from the eight American League cities.

Yogi says he's within a pound or two of his playing weight of 190 pounds and has kept fit with lots of golf. He was in the locker room of his favorite country club in nearby New Jersey when he learned of his MVP selection.

"I'm really surprised and real happy," he said. "I knew they were talking about me but I knew Cleveland had some real good men."

Yogi won't be able to use the honor in contract bargaining. He's already signed for 1955 for a reported $45,000.

* * *

As for the Yankees on the whole, Yogi says he expects they will put up a strong pennant battle next season.

Cross-Country, Grid Awards Made; Chips' Kelly Is Speaker

Members of Pontiac High's fall sports teams were honored last night at the school's annual winter banquet. One-hundred 45 athletes, coaches and guests—the largest attendance in many years—were on hand for the affair.

Toastmaster Ed Graybiel was introduced by PHS Prinicpal John Thors Jr. and Graybiel presented the guest speaker, Kenneth A. (Bill) Kelly.

Kelly, former Saginaw Arthur Hill High coach now head football coach at Central Michigan College, outlined the factors contributing to a winning football team.

Pointing out that Pontiac High is the largest school in the Saginaw Valley Congerence, Kelly said that there is no reason why Pontiac cannot become a consistently strong contender in all sports.

Other guests at the dinner included Board of Education President Glenn Griffin and board members Dr. Walter L. Godsell, and Ferd Thiefels, superintendant of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, Assistant Supt. J. Cecil Cox and board purchasing agent Stan Levely.

Letter awards were presented to the football varsity players by Graybiel, to the football jayvee players by Ed Heikkinen, Saginaw Valley champion cross country runners by Wally Schloerke and cheer leaders by Georginna Schulz.

Harridge Lauds McGowan, AL's Veteran Umpire

The crusty little Irishman with flamboyant strike-calling gestures had spent 30 years in the American League. His bosses were first to heap tribute on his career.

"One of the all-time greats of his profession," said Will Harridge, American League president.

"The greatest I've seen," commented Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators.

Burial will be in Wilmington, but funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Battle for Tennis Talent Looms on Pro Circuit

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—A giant tug of war between rival professional tennis promoters Jack Kramer and John Brennan was seen shaping up today for the services of many of the sport's leading amateurs.

Lacking one dominant figure with gate appeal to carry a new tour both apparently are interested in a plan for a world-wide road show, which would be a sort of a Harlem Globetrotters of tennis courts with eight or so playing tournaments in capitals of the world.

Brennan, who is promoting the Frank Sedgman-Pancho Gonzales tour in Australia, apparently tipped his own hand when he warned Kramer, coming to Australia with a valise of greenbacks to lure top Davis Cup stars of both Australia and American.

It developed today, that Brennan has been making his own overtures. He contacted the U.S.'s Tony Trabert and set a conference for late this month in Sydney.

And Lew Hoad's father, Alan Hoad, disclosed in Sydney that his son has been offered approximately $25,000 but said the offer didn't come from Kramer.

Talk of big money stirred the interest of the young amateurs from both countries although few observers felt they could not be influenced under present conditions. 1

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Two of the nation's top junior college football teams, Hinds of Mississippi and El Camino of California, meet tomorrow in the ninth annual Junior Rose Bowl Game.

Upwards of 50,000 fans are expected to see the contest, which shapes up as a duel between El Camino's dangerous passing attack and the running tactics of the Mississippi Eagles.

Bradley, Penn State Find Sledding Rough

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

Bradley and Penn State, a couple of powers in the NCAA basketball tournaments last spring, are finding the sledding pretty rough as the young 1954-55 college basketball season progresses and their backers hope it's just a bit of early jitters.

In a slim program on the college courts Thursday night, North Carolina State belted Penn State 99-77, while Texas Christian outlasted Bradley 85-83. It was the third defeat in three games for Bradley, finalist in the NCAA tournament last spring. This also marked the first time since 1936 that Bradley dropped its first three games of the season.

Penn State, which went to the Eastern Division NCAA finals last year, and defeated Southern California for third place in the National finals, was outclassed by N. C. State in their game at Raleigh.

The Wolfpack, led by two towering centers Cliff Dwyer and Ronnie Shavlik, rolled up a 53-36 halftime lead and was never in trouble. Shavlik plunked in 35 points and Dwyer contributed 21, while guard Vic Molodet got 20 in the massacre. Jess Arnelle, the Penn State star and captain, got 20.

At Peoria, Ill., Texas Christian made it 3-for-4, but almost blew a big lead in the final 17 minutes. At that point TCU led 53-36, but Bradley put on a terrific rally as Lee Utt, Fred Dickman and Harry Hansen combined for 12 points while TCU was limited to a free throw.

In New York Madison Square Garden opened its 21st season of college basketball, and the Seton Hall Pirates rallied in the final seven minutes to defeat Western Kentucky 98-85 after St. Joseph's of Philadelphia downed Manhattan College 78-68 in the opener.

Sophomore Dick Gaines sparked Seton Hall, which made up an 8-point deficit to tie the score at 76-76 with five minutes left. Gaines, who finished with 23 points, put Seton Hall ahead on a driving lay-up, and the Pirates quickly made it a rout. Billy Lynch's southpaw jump shots led St. Joseph's assault as the 6-6 center scored 21 points.

North Carolina led all the way to defeat South Carolina 88-67 in an Atlantic Coast Conference game, while William and Mary rocked Hampden-Sydney 108-76 and Furman rolled over Newberry 98-56.

Schwartz, Wilhelm and John Keller Contribute 34 Points

St. Michael's Shamrocks opeped their Suburban Catholic League basketball season last night at Ferndale, taking an easy 58-28 triumph over St. James.

Miles' 58-point total was the highest score posted by a St. Michael team since January, 1952.

Coach Bob Mineweaser's tall experienced crew jumped into a lead in the 1st two minutes of play and never trailed thereafter. They led 10-5 at the end of the 1st quarter and 26-7 at halftime.

Forwards Joe Wilhelm and John Keller and center Bud Schwartz controlled both boards throughout the game and piled up a combined total of 34 points. Schwartz led scoring with 12 points, while the two forwards had 11 apiece.

St. Frederick travels to Hazel Park tonight to open its schedule against St. Rita. In other SCL games tonight, Orchard Lake St. Mary is at Highland Park St. Benedict and Royal Oak St. Mary is at Center Line St. Clement.

Norris Says 'Fix' Story Is Plot on IBC

Millionaire Has Given Matter to Lawyers, Galento Blasts Thomas

NEW YORK (UP) — James D. Norris, Jr., president of the International Boxing Club, said yesterday that charges he "fixed" two fights several years ago were a "character assassination plot designed to destroy boxing and the International Boxing Club."

Norris was referring to a copyrighted story written for Sports Illustrated magazine by former heavyweight boxer Harry Thomas, in which Thomas said Norris helped to fix the bouts he lost by knockouts to Max Schmeling at Madison Square Garden, Dec. 13, 1937, and to Tony Galento in Philadelphia, Nov. 14, 1938.

Norris called the accusations "libelous and defamatory statements" and added, "I have turned the matter over to my lawyers."

The IBC president, who issued one statement denying the charges Wednesday night shortly after the charges became known, issued another late yesterday after having "time to examine the magazine piece."

In the article, Thomas wrote that he was offered $6,000 to lose to Schmeling, which he did on a technical knockout in the eighth round. He wrote he was offered $6,000 to lose to Galento, which he did on a technical knockout in the third round.

He said he never received the full amounts promised him.

Thomas involved three other men in the "deal," but all three now are dead. They were Nate Lewis, manager of Thomas; Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling and Galento; and Mike Jacobs, former promoter who was no relation to Joe.

In Orange, N. J., Galento asserted, "Thomas never took no dive for me. He was just a fourth-rate bum who was scared to death of me when he got into the ring. Nobody would ever have to fix a bum like that so I could win. He was one of the worst bums I ever fought."

Andrews Eyes Upset Tonight

Martinez Is Favored for Welterweight Bout in Garden

NEW YORK (UP) — Al Andrews scoffed at the 2-1 odds favoring Vince Martinez and predicted he would break the welterweight contender's victory streak in Madison Square Garden tonight.

NBC will broadcast and telecast the 10-rounder at 10 p.m., EST.

"His style is made for me," said Andrews, 23. "The way to beat Martinez is to keep the pressure on him and throw punches. He likes to lay back and call his shots."

Martinez's long-range style of fighting has carried him to 12 straight victories, a 39-3 record, and a No. 5 ranking among the welterweight contenders. The Paterson, N. J., picture puncher has won seven this year, four by knockouts.

Parents Consider Children By-Products of Civilization

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS)—"The trouble with adults," said my young man who'll become a teenager at the end of this month, "is they just won't—"

He paused, shrugged and said, "Oh, never mind. Skip it."

"Come on," I urged. "Spill it. It's a free country."

"For adults," he said, a world of resignation in his tone. "If kids ever used all the free speech they're supposed to have—Oh, brother!"

"Use some," I prompted. "What's eating you right now, anyway?"

"It was the bus," he said, "coming home from the dentist. It got me sick the way they wouldn't move over. But if kids sprawled around over seats like that, and an adult had to stand, knowing there'd be plenty of room if they'd just move over—Oh, brother!"

This was an ancient gripe of his, and I must say I'm usually on his side about the way grownups treat children in most public vehicles of transportation. But as I started to murmur soothing agreement, he used some more of his constitutional privilege of free speech.

"They act," he went on with dramatic emphasis, "as if kids were the by-products of civilization."

And he was off. With the incredible vocabulary so many 12s and 13s display these days, he began a diatribe on the dozen ways adults reduce the status of children each and every day of their lives.

"In stores," he said, "suppose a boy my age is waiting to get waited on. The salesgirl finally gets finished with her customer and I just catch her eye. But an adult barges right up, acts as if I wasn't even there—and the salesgirl pulls a switch right to the adult. If I speak up and say I was next, they think I wasn't brought up right."

I'd seen that sort of thing often in busy stores, I told him, and I sure hoped I'd never been guilty of such behavior myself.

Graciously he absolved me, but went racing on to further crimes. "If parents are reading," he said, "and the kids want to turn on radio or TV, the kids have to ask the parents first if it would disturb their reading. But—"

"True," I said hastily. "I never thought of that. If you boys are reading, hereafter I'll always ask permission first."

"And the car," he said. "If one of your friends is coming along with us anywhere, we kids get heaved in the back, without even discussing first where various people would prefer to sit."

"A little palaver first," he told me quickly, "would con the kids into thinking they were being consulted and given a choice."

He informed me of a recent survey he'd read about in which about 500 boys and girls between 6 and 14 listed their main gripes against their parents. Bad temper on the part of Pa or Ma outranked everything else, and the runner-up was being so illogical about discipline, the kid never knew what would get by and what wouldn't—from day to day or parent to parent.

"Most troubles there are," he stated flatly, "come out of the way parents secretly feel about children. Plenty of teachers feel that too—you can tell which ones do, the cranky types that think we're all put there just to try their souls and give them ulcers."

"What way parents secretly feel about their children?"

Oh, Brother!

Vessels Sunk in 1781 Reported Still Intact

FT. EUSTIS, Va. (AP)—Lord Cornwallis' fleet, scuttled or sunk in the Battle of Yorktown in 1781, isn't lost. Mike Moran says the ships are preserved in the mud at the bottom of the York River—and he knows the location of every ship.

Chief Warrant Officer Eugene F. (Mike) Moran should know. He is chief of the diving section at Ft. Eustis and has spent more time under the waters of the York than most people have on the surface. He has been responsible for training the army's divers for eight years.

This Is What Happens to Those Unpaid Bills

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Policemen checking on who dumped a pile of garbage on the roadside came up with a prize clue — a letter to Luther Lairson, 96 Thompson road. He was fined $25.

The letter was an overdue bill from a garbage collector—for less than the amount of the fine.

Grains Sluggish in Quiet Trade

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (AP) —Grains presented a ragged appearance in quiet dealings on the Board of Trade today. Small gains and losses were posted in all pits with the losses outnumbering the gains.

The market lacked any news incentive, although it was confirmed that export interests had purchased 625,000 bushels of soybeans at Chicago in the past couple of days for shipment to Gulf of Mexico ports. This apparently was discounted in yesterday's price advance.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅛ to ⅜ lower, December $2.26⅞; corn ¼ to ½ lower, December $1.54⅛; oats ¼ to ½ higher, December 82⅝; rye ⅜ to ½ lower, December $1.20⅜; soybeans 1 cent lower to ½ higher, January $2.81¾ and lard unchanged to 8 cents a hundred pounds higher, December $14.00.

Bleyer Company Has Third Hit

Three Ex-Godfreyites Do Very Well Alone in Person, Radio, TV

NEW YORK (AP)—The Chordettes of radio and television are riding a crest of popularity in another field — phonograph records.

The Chordettes, once a fixture on the Arthur Godfrey programs, are leading most record popularity polls with their "Mr. Sandman." It has sold close to 800,000 copies in 12 weeks and seems to be a good bet for the charmed one million mark.

Another ex-Godfreyite, Archie Bleyer, who left the Godfrey shows in the same blowup that brought Julius La Rosa's exit, figures in the story. Bleyer, married to Janet Ertel of the Chordettes, picked the tune as a likely one for his Cadenc Records and assigned the girls to do it.

It was the third major hit record for Bleyer's fledgling company. One was La Rosa's "Eh Cumpari" that sold more than a million, and Cadence's more recent 'Hernando's Hideaway."

"Mr. Sandman" is the biggest record hit yet for the Chordettes but they have been keeping fully and profitably occupied with TV, radio and personal appearances.

Of the present Chordettes, Miss Ertel and Carol Bushman are original members of the quartet organized back in Sheboygan, Wis., as the result of an impromptu sonfest. Their big break came when they won on Godfrey's Talent Scouts, after which they were regulars on his shows for 3½ years.

They started singing on the Robert Q. Lewis radio show while still with Godfrey and now are regulars both on Lewis' Saturday morning radio program and his Monday afternoon TV show on CBS.

Since the Godfrey days, Virginia Osborn and Dorothy Schwartz of the original group have dropped out and Lynn Evans and Margie Needham complete the present team. But they retain the same "barbershop quartet" style which Miss Ertel credits with first bringing them to public attention.

Two Are Injured in Freak Mishap Caused by Fire

Ernest T. Dagostini, 33, of 21144 Greenfield, Oak Park, driver of the truck, was unaware that his wheel was even missing until he stopped at a gas station shortly after the accident, according to Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy Melvin Glover.

The tire left Dagostini's eastbound truck and bounced into a car driven west on Auburn avenue by Floyd L. Schwerin, 18, of 3786 First, Auburn Heights.

Mrs. Donna T. Karakas, 51, of 3251 Rochester Rd., Rochester, following the truck, slammed on her brakes and her auto was struck from behind by another driven by Robert Mason, 18, of 646 Homestead Dr.

Mason was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for lip injuries and Mrs. Karakas' mother-in-law, Mrs. Rose Karakas, 73, was released after examination of an injured right leg and foot.

Franchot Tone Escorts Gloria to El Morocco

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski and Franchot Tone caused a flutter when they arrived at El Morocco (after dining at Gilmore's)—till 'twas realized they're acting together in "Time of Your Life" at City Center Jan. 19.

They danced and had a spot of champagne, and Tone said they've now started reading the script of the show. Miss Vanderbilt, who'll be making her New York debut, plays a nurse, who bears the name of "Elsie Mandelspiegel." She'll receive, as will the rest of the cast, about $85 a week.

★ ★ ★ ★

'Twas so cold along Stripty-Second St. that doormen at some of the girlie joints warmed themselves at heaters—then ran out and shouted their spiels shiveringly. One yelled, "Right this way to get warm. Our show's so hot we had to turn off two stripteasers."

★ ★ ★ ★

An ice-skating gent doesn't know that the little boy he bumped into at a public rink, and gave a knot on the head, was Winthrop Rockefeller Jr. . . . Turkish bellyrina Nejla Ates is being promoted in "Fanny." Will have lines to say as well as show.

★ ★ ★ ★

Linda Christian's back in Hollywood—but she's pleased with the result of her N. Y. visit. She didn't "resume her career" as she'd planned, but she did have half a dozen guys sending her flowers and presents every day. She returned the gifts.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Gary Cooper, who made $800,000 last year, is devoting several days to promoting "Vera Cruz," his new picture.

Eddie Fisher told a friend, "Don't be surprised if I get married during the holidays" . . . Jackie Gleason, who had a death scene on "Studio One," dashedd offstage and asked Bullets Durgom, "Tell me—how did I die?" . . . Blonde Betty Ray, who looks like Marilyn Monroe, has the MM measurements, too.

Arthur Godfrey's changing the name of his horse (which hasn't won in a year) from "Lord Willin' " to "Lord Help Us" . . . Pat Benoit (she plays "Mrs. Peepers") is expecting; she's due to have one on the show, too.

BETTY RAY

★ ★ ★ ★

Ricardo Montalban makes his B'way bow in Gant Gaither's "Seventh Heaven" . . . Sammy Davis Jr.'s planning a cafe routine around his recent accident . . . The Happy Jesters of the Italian Village in San Francisco, who stole the show at the "Desiree" premiere, were signed for the Comedy Hour Sunday.

The Dorsey Bros. will start their own recording company . . . Elaine Stewart says of her date, Dr. Herman Platt, "One of these days we'll just up and get married" . . . Miss America's signed for a dramatic role on a Philco TV'er.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A TV rating outfit (claims Cab Calloway) phones 10,000 men to ask, "Who are you listening to right now?" And 83% of them answered, "My Wife."

HERB SHRINER TELLS OF THE surgeon in his home town who was arrested for drunken driving: "They let him go, though. He was already an hour late for an operation." That's earl, brother.

Crew Escapes Harm in Navy Plane Crash

Ten others escaped unhurt. The 10-million-dollar craft, described by the Navy as a WV2 type on a radar test flight, was reported a total loss.

The Navy said the plane struck a rough spot, skidded and flipped over on its back but the occupants climbed out before the fire had a chance to spread.

Alabama Meteor Is New Plaything at Smithsonian

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Smithsonian Institution has a fascinating new plaything — a something from outer space — but only for a short while.

The Smithsonian received for "study only" the small black stone that made a several-million-mile trip to punch a hole in the roof of the home of Mrs. Hewlett Hodges in Sylacauga, Ala., and then for good measure, smacked her in the hip.

Scientists at the museum said there wasn't much they could find out about the meteorite by just looking at it and they wished they could take a few chips for chemical and spectrographic testing. The Hodges' family, however, claims ownership.

They hoped to find enough money to try to buy th erock from Mrs. Hodges. As it is now they will have to give it back to her pretty soon — probably sometime after she gets out of the hospital.

Lake Orion Woman Hurt When Car Overturns

Mrs. Robert Bell, 52, of 455 Bellevue, Lake Orion, was treated by a private doctor for face cuts and possible head injuries which she received yesterday when the car in which she was riding overturned on M24 north of the Clarkston-Orion road.

Harold Young, 29, of 677 Lakeview, Lake Orion, driver of the car in which Mrs. Bell was riding told Oakland County sheriff's deputies that he lost control of the car on slippery pavement and skidded over an embankment. He was not injured, deputies said.

Drug Rushed to Baby

REED CITY (AP) — State Police Thursday rushed a supply of a new medical preparation, Alveaire, to Reed City General Hospital to help doctors treating an infant suffering a critical nose and throat infection. The baby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baso of Hersey, was responding to treatment, hospital attendants said.

Fan of Lone Ranger Held in Mom's Death

DETROIT (UP)—Thirteen-year-old Robert Peter Romano, Romulus, was in the custody of juvenile authorities today after "accidentally" shooting his mother while watching the Lone Ranger on television.

Police quoted neighbors as saying the youth had previously threatened his mother and had recently shot her with an air rifle, injuring her eye.

Held for Bad Checks

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Leo Sefert, of no known address, was held Thursday for investigation of bad check charges. Police said Sefert passed a bogus check for $39.69 at a food store. He was arrested as he attempted to pass another check at the same store police said.

Detroit Youth Kills Father With Shotgun

DETROIT (INS) — A 17-year-old Detroit boy shot and killed his father last night with a 16-gauge shotgun during an argument in their home.

The youth, Sonny Lee Fenwick, told police his father, Lee, 48, came home cursing drunk and berated him several minutes before the two struggled over the gun.

The lanky youth showed no emotion as he told his story to Detroit Police. He said his father was a heavy drinker and that they would argue when the man was drunk. The young man told police:

"He said I was no good and didn't do anything. I knew I was pulling the trigger. I was ready to do it."

Waitress Inherits $100,000 From Her Grandfather

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Only a week ago Mrs. Geraldine Helde was a waitress.

Today she says she has inherited $100,000. She has brought a new automobile and made reservations for a visit to Honolulu.

Mrs. Helde said she had known for some time that she would receive part of the estate of her grandfather William Kopes, a New York manufacturer, who died two years ago.

"But I had no idea it would amount to so much," she said when informed yesterday that the estate had been settled.

She came here from Cleveland aftr moving there fro mAllentown, Pa., where her husband Wyn and their two children were killed in a traffic accident earlier this year.

2 Dem Senators Praise Distribution of Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP)— Two Democratic senators who have blasted Secretary of Defense Wilson's procurement policies praised his new order against "undue concentration of contracts."

"If this new policy is effectively executed," said Sen. Jackson of Washington, "it will be a most significant contribution to our strength and security."

Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee recalled Thursday he had criticized "the danger of depending upon one suplier" when General Motors was awarded a contract for medium tanks last year and said: "The policy was later reversed by the Army and I am glad that Mr. Wison has now gone the full distance."

More than 2,200,000 military personnel have taken United States States Armed Forces Institute courses since the beginning of the program in 1942.

Filmland Dreams Vanish as Police Nab Fake Scout

FRANKFURT (INS) — A noble name that had the flavor of dignity and an eye-catching advertisement recently had 20 attractive German girls picturing themselves as the new movie stars of Germany.

But when Dusseldorf police arrested 26-year-old "movie producer" Einhard Behr von Behrenstein, the 200 cuties aged 19 to 25 saw their illusions of a movie career disappear into thin air.

They had in fact fallen easy prey to the clever racket of Einhard Behr of Dusseldorf whose title "Baron von Behrenstein" was as phony as his "Behrenstein movie company."

Besides the 10 dollar "way-to-stardom" fee, Behr also demanded 5 dollars per month from each girl for "talent coaching."

In addition Behr made the girls pose for pictures for which they had to wear just a little more than Eve in Paradise.

He also shot test films "to see if the girls were photogenic."

They were absolutely thrilled when the phony baron whispered into their ears, "You are just the type we need.—I'll make a star out of you."

So sweet sounded his words that the girls even gave him their last penny in return for a contract signed by a non-existing Professor Dr. Heine, financier of the "Behrenstein company."

Each contract contained a "clause" stating that the work was strictly confidential and that anyone leaking information to the outside world "will be jailed for two years."

Behr also handed his prospective customers a fancy-looking passport complete with photograph and hired a staff of assistant producers, cameramen, scriptwriters etc.

The hoax finally came to light when a suspicious blonde trailed Behr to his room one evening and through the basement window saw him make his bed on a dirty mattress on the floor.

She reported the "producer" to the Dusseldorf CID who arrested Behr, confiscated all photos and test films and correspondence.

SEC Continues Power Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorneys battling the Dixon-Yates private power contract indicated today today were prepared to hammer away indefinitely in an effort to get at origins of the controversial project.

Edgar H. Dixon, president of Middle South Utilities and a major figure in the contract with the Atomic Energy Commission, was called back for a second day of cross-examination in hearings before the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The SEC is considering a Dixon-Yates application for approval of plans to finance the project, which calls for feeding private power into the Tennessee Valley Authority area.

Granted wide latitude in their cross-examination, opponents of the project have sought — thus far unsuccessfully — to obtain documentary evidence of preliminary negotiations and financing arrangements. They hoped this data would support their charge of interested private utilities in violation of the Utility Holding Company Act.

Says Hawaii, Alaska May Become States

WASHINGTON (INS) — Rep. Clair Engle (D-Calif), who will head the House Interior Committee in the next Congress, said today "chances are good" for Hawaii and Alaska to win statehood within the next two years.

Engle said he personally will introduce a bill for Hawaiian statehood. He also explained he is certain Alaskan Delegate E. L. Bartlette will seize the eaerliest opportunity to renew the statehood fight for his territory.

The chairman-to-be said he believes Hawaii's chances of winning statehood are better than Alaska's because both houses approved Hawaiian statehood in the 83rd Congress. The Hawaiian move died, however, when Alaska was attached to the Hawaiian statehood bill by the Senate.

Hawaiian Snow Makes Visiting Solon Homesick

HONOLULU (INS)—Rep. E. Y. Berry (R-SD) studying drought conditions in the Hawaiian Islands with a junketing congressional committee, ran into rain and then a snowstorm.
