'Deer Slayer' Aiming for 53rd Annual Kill

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

With the hunting season upon us, thoughts turn to the business of deer slaying and portraiture of top flight devotees of the pursuit.

In the absence of records to the contrary, this researcher points to 84-year-old D. H. Wilkinson of Orion Township as the champ buck shot since James Fenimore Cooper turned up "The Deerslayer."

Two UF Units Exceed Quotas

Commercial Division Groups Top Goals

Two more units of the commercial division announced going over their quotas today in the Pontiac Area United Fund campaign, according to Jack Brannack, division chairman.

Brannack said that the education section, under the chairmanship of Dr. Donald Tatroe, Waterford Township school superintendent, raised a total of $35,555.93 or 121 per cent of its goal.

"This is by far the best percentage increase of any unit in the commercial division to date," Brannack said. "It has given real impetus to the drive, and we owe a debt of thanks for the wonderful job they (the solicitation teams) have done this year."

The other commercial division unit to exceed its goal is the small firms group, under the chairmanship of George Stout, vice president of General Printing Co.

To date, this group has raised a total of $9,018.59 or 104 per cent of quota with a considerable amount yet to come in, according to Stout.

94 AREA SCHOOLS

The education unit includes a total of 94 area schools in addition to Oakland University.

The small firms unit is responsible for the solicitation of all firms in the area with 10 or less employees.

All commercial division solicitors have been urged to complete their assignments as soon as possible, Brannack said.

The division hopes to have all work done by Wednesday.

To date the division has collected $185,638.06 or 82 per cent of its goal.

TOKYO (AP)—Radio Peking said Monday an unmanned American high altitude reconnaissance aircraft was shot down over south central China Nov. 15.

The broadcast gave no further details. Monitors of Chinese Communist broadcasts here noted that it was the first time that Peking claimed downing a pilotless high altitude plane.

2 Elected to Russia's Presidium

Congo Rebels Set Execution of Missionary

MOSCOW, (U)—Two new members have been elected to the all-powerful Presidium of the Soviet Communist Party Central Committee, from which Nikita Khrushchev was removed last month, officials sources said tonight.

The two new members of the party organ were Pyotr Shelest, previously a candidate member of the Presidium, and Alexander Sholepin, a fast-rising young Central Committee secretary.

The reports said Frol R. Kozlov, sidelined since last year because of illness, had been dropped from the group.

Another Central Committee secretary, Pyotr Demichev, was said to have been moved up to the rank of candidate member of the Presidium.

The changes were made at a secret plenary meeting of the party's Central Committee, the body that removed Khrushchev from power on Oct. 14. N. O. official announcement of the meeting was immediately made.

POLYKOV DROPPED

The approximately 175 members of the Central Committee "with some possibly missing from a rainy, foggy Moscow" also decided to drop Vasily I. Polykov from the Secretariat, nerve center of the Communist party apparatus.

The first secretary is now Leonid Brezhnev, key successor to Khrushchev. He presides over the Presidium, whose membership through the new changes is now 11 full members.

Shelest, 56, is first secretary of the Ukrainian Communist party. A Communist party member since 1929, he rose steadily in Ukrainian party ranks since 1954.

He is closely identified with presidium member Nikolai Podgorny, whom he replaced as Ukrainian party boss last year.

Sholepin, 46, is a former first secretary of the Soviet Young Communist League (Komsomol).

Generally considered to be a Khrushchev protegee, Sholepin has frequently been mentioned by western observers as one of the most prominent members of the younger generation of top party leaders.

Official sources said the secret meeting also decided on the cancellation of Khrushchev's overhaul of the party organization two years ago. There was no confirmation of this.

The former premier had split party committees into parallel apparatuses to specialize in agriculture and industry.

To date the division has caused widespread dissatisfaction among the party rank and file.

Another Radio Stanleyville message heard by a central government listing post last night said Carlson had been sentenced to death by a military tribunal of the "Popular Liberation Army."

The broadcast referred to Carlson as "the American spy Maj. Carlson."

A broadcast today claimed he had fought against the rebels.

U.S. Embassy officials in Leopoldville have denied that Carlson, 36, was in the armed forces.

They said Carlson belonged to the Protestant mission Evangelique de L'Ubangi which has its headquarters at the Covenant World Mission in Chicago.

They said Carlson's only military experience was a two-year hitch in the Navy between 1946 and 1948.

Details of Carlson's military service were passed to an International Red Cross team in Burundi which made contact with the rebel leaders.

Carlson was captured by the rebels on Sept. 21 at Yakoma, north of Stanleyville on the Congo's border with the Central African Republic.

Another Radio Stanleyville message heard by a central government listing post last night said Carlson had been sentenced to death by a military tribunal of the "Popular Liberation Army."

Big Weekend Response

College Fund Grows

The weekend brought more enthusiastic response to the current drive to raise funds to purchase a site for the proposed osteopathic college in Pontiac, bringing the total contributed to date to $324,103.

With location of the multimillion dollar college here hinging on purchase of the site at Opydke and Auburn through local contributors, the weekend donations now leave just a little more than $50,000 left of the $375,000 to be raised.

A number of prospective contributors have asked for pledge forms but have not returned them to the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce where pledges and contributions are being accepted, according to Max Adams, manager of the chamber.

Contributions, which are tax deductible, must be received before Jan. 5, in order to complete the deal, according to Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., who is heading the drive.

Two Fisher brothers, Edward F. and William A., are the largest individual contributors to date, with contributions of $7,500 each for a total of $15,000.

Another large contributor not previously listed is WKC with a contribution of $5,000.

COMPLETE LIST

The complete list to date of citizens and firms, who have contributed can be found on Page 2.

Youth Hurt, Man Killed in 2 Hunting Accidents

GOP Heads for Clash Over Burch

A Lake Orion youth is in St. Joseph's Hospital with critical injuries and a Wolverine Lake man is dead as the result of two separate hunting accidents during the weekend.

Frank Raymond, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Raymond, 520 S. Broadway, was shot in the head with a .410 shotgun Saturday afternoon while he and a companion were hunting ducks at a site near Indianwood and M24 in Orion Township.

Glen Kolongoski, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kolongoski, 381 N. Shore, told sheriff's deputies the Republican National Committee pushed bickering Republicans today toward a showdown over control of their party machinery.

Burch said yesterday he will fight back if anyone tries to oust him.

Among others, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York made it clear they will use all the influence they have to force a change in leadership of the national committee.

Goldwater said on his return last night from a Jamaican vacation after his defeat by President Johnson that the party should honor Burch's "contract."

Goldwater picked Burch for the chairmanship after his own nomination at the San Francisco convention and the committee in turn elected the Phoenix, Ariz. lawyer.

JANUARY MEETING

Burch has scheduled a January meeting of the national committee at which he has said he would stand or fall on a vote of confidence.

An Associated Press survey showed that the comparatively few national committee members willing to express an opinion were about evenly divided on whether the chairman should step aside because of his part in the election campaign.

Many members of the committee said something must be done to rebuild the party, but not many were specific about what form this should take.

Veteran politicians had expected Burch to save his $30,000 a year job by some conciliatory statement that he would serve all party factions as a non-policy making director.

BARRY PATTERN

This would have followed the pattern of Goldwater's statement that the Republican course in the next four years will be carved out by GOP members of the Senate and House under the leadership of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

Burch, accompanying Goldwater on his return, said that as chairman he would be "mechanic and technician, not a creator of policy."

But, he added, he had been elected to serve it out and if anybody thought to oust him, he would fight back.

Goldwater backed up this statement with the observation that Burch was under contract to the party.

Craft Vanished in Snow Storm Before Landing

Helicopters Flown Into Rugged Terrain to Pull Bodies From Debris

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U)—Wreckage of an airplane that hit a mountain peak in a storm last night was found this morning. Sheriff's deputies said all 28 persons aboard were dead.

The propjet Bonanza Airlines plane vanished during a snowstorm just before it was due to land on a flight from Phoenix.

Searchers spotted the wreckage shortly after dawn.

Helicopters flew to the scene and began flying bodies to a lower level.

The scene is about 16 miles southwest of Las Vegas near the railroad community of Arden.

RUGGED TERRAIN

The terrain is so rugged that Jeeps could not reach the crash site.

Searchers were directed to the area by a motorist who told officers he saw the plane skimming the ground last night in a whirl of snow eight miles south of the city.

The witness said the plane had one wheel down, as if it were trying to land.

3 MINUTES

The Fairchild F27, Bonanza Airlines' Flight 114 from Phoenix, Ariz., was three minutes from a landing at McCarran Field when it vanished from the radar screen at 8:27 p.m.

The plane was heading northeast, dropping down into the mountain-rimmed Las Vegas valley for an instrument landing.

Sheriff's officers said Bob Baker, a Las Vegas man, told them: "I was driving on Highway 91 between 8 and 8:30 p.m. when I saw a Bonanza plane, 70 to 100 feet off the ground, heading southeast. There were no landing lights on. One landing gear was down."

Baker's location was about where the plane was last sighted on radar but his sighting gave the plane a different direction: south instead of north.

GATHERED ON ROAD

Sheriff's Jeeps and squad cars gathered for the search on Highway 91 — the road between Los Angeles and Las Vegas — near the roadwidening settlement of Arden, where Baker said he had seen the plane.

4 Hunters Die in State Crash

BEAVERTON, Ore. — A plane carrying a party of four Indiana deer hunters crashed on takeoff night from a private landing strip near this central Michigan community.

All four were killed and the plane burned after it failed to clear the top of a tree.

Authorities identified the victims as the pilot, Harold F. Cornwell, 34, and Kenneth L. Neale, 32, both engineers at General Motors; Daleo R. Badio Division in Kokomo, Ind.; Cornwell's 18-year-old son, Stephen, and Robert Mills, 27, Marion, Ind.

State Police said the carcass of a deer was in the four-seat Piper Tri-Pacer.

The officers speculated the single-engine plane may have been overloaded, or that fog may have obscured the pilot's vision.

Germany Eying China Contacts

BERLIN (AP) — West Germany wants to renew official contacts with Red China in the spring, a top official of the Bonn government reports. An exchange of trade missions could result, but the chief goal is political.

Talks between the two governments would not take place until Chancellor Ludwig Erhard explained his position to President Johnson, the official said.

Sharp Quakes Jolt California

Brief Series Shakes Nine-County Section

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A series of earthquakes rumbled along a nine-county area along California's central coast Sunday night, centered in the sparsely populated Santa Cruz Mountains about 90 miles south of San Francisco.

A University of California seismologist said the heaviest shock registered between 5 and 5.5 on the Richter scale, which placed the destructive 1906 San Francisco earthquake at 8.25.

In the Santa Cruz mountain village of Corralitos, about three miles south of the earthquake's center, grocer John Couter reported it as a "real sharp jolt."

He said the shock knocked merchandise off the store shelves and littered the floor with broken glass.

Neighbors reported dishes falling out of cabinets and mirrors cracked, but no structural damage.

The shocks in San Francisco were the city's worst since a 1957 tremor with a Richter magnitude of 5.5 injured 31 persons and caused several million dollars damage.

Sunday night's shocks were brief, lasting but about four seconds.

Santa Cruz, 15 miles west of the quake's center, reported broken dishes and overturned lamps.

TWO JOLTS
San Jose, 20 miles north of the epicenter, had two jolts that knocked dishes off shelves.

The shocks also were felt at King City, about 150 miles south of San Francisco, where a telephone operator at the police station said the cement station house "swayed and I swayed with it."

"Now that the American elections are over, we can move ahead in our dealings with Red China," he added.

West Germany and Red China signed a one-year trade agreement in 1957, but it was not renewed. German and Chinese officials held preliminary talks earlier this year. The Chinese Communists said then they were willing to sign a new trade agreement with West Germany providing for an exchange of trade missions and including a clause stating that West Berlin is considered economically and politically part of West Germany.

TRADE PACTS

West Germany already has trade agreements containing such a clause with the Communist governments of Poland, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria. This has undermined the Soviet and East German position of that Germany is divided into three separate units.

Some West German officials have said an exchange of trade missions between Bonn and Peking would have little trade significance but would be politically important.

These officials felt it would be an overture to France that would not get Bonn into much trouble with the United States. France established diplomatic relations with Peking last summer and reportedly has been pressuring West Germany to follow suit.

More important for the Bonn government, however, exchange of trade missions was seen as a step to deepen the split between Red China and East Germany.

The East Germans have repeatedly accused Peking of ignoring their interests.

The East Germans said last fall that China had cut its trade with East Germany drastically and caused "irreparable" damage to the already shaky East German economy.

Israel Foreign Minister in Hospital for Checkup

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — Foreign Minister Golda Meir entered the hospital today at Petach Tikvah, near Tel Aviv, for observation after becoming ill during a speech at Tel Aviv last night.

She interrupted her speech, saying she felt unwell and would continue later, but decided to go home.

NO INJURIES — Thirty-seven cars of a 100-car Louisville and Nashville freight train derailed at Murfreesboro, Tenn., yesterday. About 100 yards of steel rails were twisted and ripped up. No injuries were reported. A crewman said he believed a burned-out car on the Chattanooga-to-Nashville train caused the mishap, the fifth in the Murfreesboro vicinity in the last several years.

No Serious Injuries

Blizzards Strand Motorists in Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A snow storm that blitzed the Rocky Mountains yesterday brought blizzards to northern Arizona and a spilled wintry weather across normally mild central and southern deserts.

Motorists were stranded, hunters marooned and 13 persons reported missing as the late afternoon blizzard struck the Kingman area in Arizona's northwest corner. All the missing later were found safe.

Arizona 52, the main route from Phoenix to Las Vegas, Nev., was closed by the high way patrol after at least 100 cars were stranded about 15 miles south of Kingman.

The Arizona Highway Patrol also shut off U.S. 66 to the east, and the Mojave County sheriff's office dispatched its Jeep posse into snow-swept desert mountains south of Kingman in search for the lost, who were mostly hunters. All were found by late last night.

Sheriff Floyd Cisney said he'd never seen a heavier storm so early in the year.

FOUR INCHES

Deputy Pearl Misak said, "There was about four inches of snow on the ground and the wind piled up drifts as high as two feet on both U.S. 66 and State Route 52."

Most of the cars were stranded motorists poured in to private homes.

No serious injuries were reported there, but a Prescott school teacher, Mae White, 20, was killed when her car skidded off snowy Arizona 66 about 30 miles south of Prescott.

The main highway from Phoenix to Flagstaff, 140 miles to the north, was closed for more than six hours before the patrol got some 30 cars rolling early today.

The patrol summoned all its heavy equipment and called on private wreckers to help pull cars back on the road. Chains were necessary on nearly all northern Arizona routes today. Flagstaff reported nine inches of snow and Prescott eight.

Snows and chilling rains spread across central and southern Arizona, with snow mantling higher mountains and leaving a four-inch cover to surprise residents of Ajo, near the Mexican border.

In southwestern Colorado, U.S. 60 over Wolf Creek Pass was reopened today after a three-foot snowfall closed the route yesterday.

The season's first snow was falling heavily as the search was launched. Soon after the P77 disappeared, McCarran field was closed to traffic.

Another Bonanza plane, Flight 104, landed north of the city at Nellis Air Force Base.

Six to eight inches of snow covered the open desert country near Ajo, and higher drifts stalled many rescue-party cars.

The highway and the railroad run through the bottom of the 4,500-foot-high valley, which is within sight of the neon glow of the Las Vegas strip to the north.

Ford Studies Its Next Move

Parts Shortage May Mean Full Shutdown

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. studied its next move today in a parts-shortage situation which it says could lead to a systemwide shutdown of its 90 plants by the end of the week.

Approximately 50,000 of Ford's 160,000 employees remained idle in strikes or layoffs at factories across the country as negotiations continued with the United Auto Workers Union.

Included were 16,700 workers affected by local plant strikes which were reduced to five over the weekend.

Ford, blaming a car-parts shortage on lack of manufacturing plants, laid off 34,000 men last week. At that time a string of local plant strikes was idling 24,100 workers.

EXPOSED HOPE

Both company and union expressed hope that all the strikes could be settled before a scheduled meeting between management and the UAW's national bargaining committee Thursday.

The union ordered its national Ford committee to Detroit to assist in negotiations after top-level talks had produced no agreement.

Local agreements at the plant level supplement the national agreement between Ford and the UAW, which was reached Sept. 18. The present local strikes began Nov. 6.

Two weekend settlements, at the Sheffield, Ala., aluminum foundry and the Chicago Heights, Ill., stamping plant, left five disputes remaining in the interlocking nationwide plant system of the country's second largest automobile producer.

FURTHER LAYOFFS

Ford said the two settlements would not necessarily forestall further layoffs.

The unsettled disputes were at two car and truck-assembly plants in Wayne, Mich., parts plants at Ypsilanti and in Michigan's Sterling Township, and the Buffalo, N.Y., stamping plant.

The three, described as vital, employ a total of 13,700 men.

A management spokesman, asked if such a limited number of idle plants and workers could affect Ford's entire operation, replied: "Basically, yes."

The Sterling Township chassis plant makes car axles and drive shafts, and the Ypsilanti plant a series of key car parts, including generators and alternators, heaters, shock absorbers and starting motors.

Troy to Discuss Retirement Plan for City Workers

TROY — Discussion of a retirement program for city employees is on the agenda for the city's special City Commission meeting.

A survey last spring indicated that the employees favored a retirement plan.

Also on the agenda is a public hearing on an amendment to the essential services portion to the zoning ordinance.

Further the commission is expected to make a decision whether to confirm the assessment roll for a special assessment district set up in connection with the 14 Mile Road improvement project.

Rocket Problems Force Delays

Cape Kennedy Launch Schedule Scrambled

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's satellite program has been slowed seriously by problems with a new third stage on the once-reliable Delta rocket.

Three Delta launchings scheduled in October and November apparently will be delayed until 1965. They are the third weather satellite, an orbiting explorer and an Explorer radiation-sensing payload.

These delays in turn will cause postponement of follow-on Delta shots. Only two launchings are available for the rocket, the workhorse booster for medium-size satellites. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Goddard Space Flight Center is trying to solve the third stage problem. It also is looking for a possible substitute motor.

SOLID FUEL — The third stage, called the 258, is 59 inches tall, weighs 578 pounds and burns solid fuel.

It has been used four times on Delta rockets and not once has it performed as intended. However, three of the satellites achieved orbit, and two — the Syncom 3 communications payload and the first Interplanetary Monitoring Platform — IMP-1 — are operating as planned.

An Explorer ionospheric study satellite failed to orbit and IMP-2 achieved such a low orbit that most of its instruments are not providing useful data.

A space agency spokesman said engineers believe the 258 is "tipping-off" and "coning." Tipping-off is a term to describe a slight jar when the 258 separates from the second stage, knocking it off line. Coning means that it travels in spiral fashion instead of on a straight line. The demanding missions assigned to the Delta rocket may have extended the stage beyond its capability.

IMP-2, for example, was to have shot into an orbit with a high point of 161,000 miles. It reached only 69,000 miles. The 258 has performed satisfactorily on four occasions however when it has been a segment of a smaller Scout satellite rocket, whose assignments call for low orbits which are relatively easy to achieve.

When the Delta program started in 1960, the first shot failed. Then the rocket ran up an unprecedented string of 22 straight satellite launchings successes. The string ended last March 19 when the 258 failed to propel the Explorer-10 into a sphere satellite-into orbit.

On April 14, the Delta program suffered an even harder blow. A less powerful 258 was being checked at Cape Kennedy when it ignited accidentally, burning 11 men, three fatally.

All Delta shots were halted for four months during an investigation which determined that igniters in the motor were set off by static electricity. The 258 was grounded and the 258 substituted for all future launchings.

Now the 258 is acting up and NASA's scientific firing schedule is scrambled.

Dry Forests Continue to Burn in East

CHICAGO (AP) — Forest fires continued to ravish woodlands in the desperately dry eastern half of the nation today, adding to the already staggering cost of the record-shattering autumn drought.

Rainfall dampened portions of the Midwest Sunday, but the light downfall wasn't enough to make up for weeks and months of no rain.

Communities renewed their effort to gain federal emergency relief funds, farmers hauled water to livestock, city officials planned alternate water supplies and farmers watched their winter crop wilt.

But in the Northwest, snow was piled three feet deep in spots and temperatures plummeted below zero.

HIGHWAY CLOSED

Officials closed U.S. 160 over Wolf Creek Pass in southwestern Colorado and Independence Pass in the central portion as snow piled up three feet deep. Ten inches of snow fell in Aspen.

In Wyoming, light snow continued to fall and highways were reported slick and dangerous.

The temperature dropped to 25 below zero in West Yellowstone, Montana's traditional icebox. It was 4 below in Butte.

SNOW FALLS

Snow fell in the mountains of western New Mexico, and Zuni reported a 4-inch fall. Northern Arizona and the mountains of southern Arizona were hit by snowfalls.

The Midwest drought abated somewhat after a day of substantial rainfalls. The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted a sharp temperature decrease as a cold front moved toward the heart of the nation.

Considerable street flooding was reported in northeastern Kansas after a 4-inch rainfall and varying amounts of rain damped an area from central Illinois to the Texas Panhandle.

Temperatures in the eastern United States remained unseasonably warm. The range went from the below 25 in West Yellowstone to 90 in Presidio, Tex.

Records were set in Louisiana, Tennessee, Arkansas and Texas the mercury lifted into the 80s and 90s.

Officials, Children, Dogs Greet LBJ at Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, back in the White House for the first time since his big election victory, got a back yard welcome Sunday night from Cabinet members, staff aides, children and dogs.

A crowd of several hundred, headed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, gathered at the south portico to greet the President and Mrs. Johnson as they arrived by helicopter on the final leg of a trip from their ranch home in Texas.

FIRST GREETERS

Rusk and other Cabinet members and their families were the first to greet the Johnsons, setting up an informal receiving line alongside the helicopter ramp.

The others, most of them White House employees, some in work clothes, then formed a narrow aisle through which the Johnsons walked into the executive mansion, handshaking all the way.

The President apparently had no advance word of the very informal affair.

Someone handed him the leashes of his two beagles, Him and Her, soon after he alighted, and he kept the dogs in tow on the trek to the house.

WHITE COLLIE

Even Blanco, the first fam-ly's white collie, who has a reputation as a loner, joined in the welcome.

Johnson hadn't been home long when he made a quick trip by car to the State Department to drop in on a farewell party for Dr. Walter W. Heller, who has resigned as chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, to return to a professorship at the University of Minnesota.

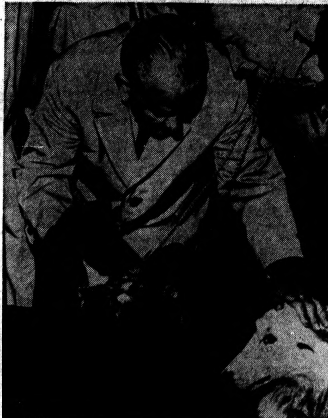

The President had only one announced-in-advance appointment today, to participate in the noontime swearing in of Arthur M. Okun as a member of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Okun fills a vacancy left by the resignation of Heller. Johnson elevated Gardner Ackley, a council member, to the chairmanship.

TANNED, RESTED

Johnson's two-week stay at his ranch home left him tanned, rested and in fine humor.

Burglar Bags Man's Savings

BUFFALO, N.Y. — Mohamed Ben Ali had hoped to retire this year after 40 years of selling hot chestnuts, peanuts and popcorn from his pushcart.

Saturday night burglars stole what he called his life savings of $24,000.

The money included $10,000 in coins, stuffed into peanut bags and hidden in shopping bags.

"I saved and saved and saved — all for a burglar," said the 68-year-old vendor. "I'm just a man without a life. I feel like the blood has run out of me."

Ben Ali, who lives alone, has been a widower nearly 20 years. He left his native Morocco as a teen-ager.

After losing money in the 1929 stock market crash he began to store his cash in paper bags.

Indian Killed in Negro Club

LILLINGTON, N.C. (UPI) — An Indian was stabbed to death early yesterday in a melee that broke out when he tried to integrate a Negro night spot.

The victim was James Carl Dunn, 27, of Angier, N.C. Authorities said he was stabbed when he and his wife, Dovie, and another Indian couple, refused to leave a combination tavern - pool room two miles from here.

Corner Bill Warren called the stabbing a "purely racial matter." It was the first reported racial violence between Indians and Negroes in Harnett County.

Dunn, a farm laborer, was a member of the Lumbee tribe, which two years ago integrated an all-white high school. Members of the tribe have since been admitted to Harnett County without violence.

Mrs. Leola Johnson, Negro operator of a tourist court, was being held in jail in connection with the slaying, but deputies said the man who stabbed Dunn twice during the melee had not been identified.

Sheriff Wade Stewart rounded up suspects for possible identification by Mrs. Dunn and the two other Indians, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Barnes, but said that none of the three remembered seeing who stabbed Dunn.

To Restore Ford's Theater

WASHINGTON (AP) — The old Ford's Theater building is to be closed on Nov. 30 so that work may start on restoring the interior to its appearance the night of April 14, 1865, when President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated.

Work will take about two years, said Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall. Congress has voted $2,730,000 for the restoration.

The building now houses the Lincoln Museum and has little to indicate that it was once a theater. During restoration the museum items will be placed in storage but later will be on display in the theater basement.

1 Casualty in CD Test — the Director's Wife

LAWRENCEVILLE, Illinois (UPI) — Only one casualty was reported when 34 civil defense officials emerged yesterday from a 26-hour stint in a fallout shelter.

Mrs. Byrard Bridgett, wife of the director of the test, suffered a migraine headache when the temperature climbed to 85 degrees in the shelter.

Soviet Starling Shot

VIANA DO CASTELO, Portugal (UPI) — A Soviet starling was shot down over this Portuguese city yesterday. The identification tag read: "R022% — Moscow."

It Seems to Me . . .

Law Enforcement Agencies Deserve Everyone's Support

This newspaper stands staunchly behind our police officers, the sheriff's force, the State police and law enforcing agencies everywhere. They deserve all-out support. And sometimes they need it.

There was a time when the word of a policeman, a teacher, a fireman or anyone in duly constituted authority was received without question.

It should be now.

Without law and order, any nation is headed for anarchy and there's no other possible result. Occasionally today, we see a sporadic inclination to "take sides" against the law. Part of it is a misguided idea of "showing off" and part probably stems from an inexplicable protest against all authority, however constituted. This is a by-product of the lawlessness of the past few years.

There can be no progress anywhere without law observance. This is too fundamental to justify debate. And yet, occasionally, we see groups aligning themselves against the police—or the militia—or the teachers in the halls and on the playgrounds.

Authority begins at home.

That's the focal point.

If the parents are deficient here—or "too busy"—the child is the unwitting victim. Sooner or later he or she runs head-on into vested authority that is in complete command and control and which properly brooks no interference or temporizing.

It must be this way.

There isn't any other.

Thus, fathers and mothers who are too forgiving or who are steadily imposed upon at home without protest or correction are paving the way for serious trouble down the road. The home, the school and the church must lead the way for the sake of oncoming generations. There's too much general deficiency right now.

The ancient adage of "spare the rod and spoil the child" has special applications today in many unhappy sectors. Probably the great bulk of the United States is peaceful, law-abiding and law respecting; but the small and sometimes militant minority gives a bad name to innocent people. And this dangerous segment is sometimes copied in a mistaken spirit of bravado. As a matter of pure logic and fact, altogether too many law enforcing peoples are too forgiving and too patient. It's an unhappy "sign of the times."

Also, these same public upholders must have the support of the parents where juveniles are concerned. It's their legal and moral right. Often there's an unconscious inclination on the part of parents to "uphold their own kin."

This may be instinctive.

But it's wrong.

Everyone must help drive home the paramount lesson of recognizing constituted authority. We must stand with the law and the officer. The child and the adult that are wrong, mustn't be coddled or upheld. This applies to all.

Traffic Jam . . .

So you think traffic's heavy? Well, it isn't. At least it isn't, compared to what projected totals show directly ahead. Today there are around 75 million cars, trucks and buses busily plugging the American highways.

By 1970, it will be 100 million.

The Hillsdale Daily News says this would put 13 lines of cars completely around the earth or represent a solid jam of 250 cars abreast every pesky foot of the journey from New York City to Miami.

So-o-o-o-o, enjoy the comfort of "the open road" as you find it today, for tomorrow you may be in a jam.

HOWARD KEATING's proposed 40,000 citizen-community on the former WILL SCRIPPS property is one of the most startling announcements in the building history of this area.

Now a West German architect conjures a single building to house 25,000 people in 8,000 apartments—all under one roof. Nestled neatly underneath would be a garage with a capacity of 4,000 cars and while this wouldn't accommodate all the boys and girls upstairs, it would keep a whole heap of 'em off the public parking lots.

And, oh, yes. This building would be 356 stories high (4,100 feet)—or more than three times the height of the Empire State building. If you aren't breathless already, cogitate upon two additional factors: It would take eight years to build and cost half a billion dollars.

And in Conclusion . . .

To Unity In The Brotherly Family Of Communist Countries!"

David Lawrence Says:

Powell Views Reflect Trend

WASHINGTON—Representative Adam Clayton Powell, Democrat, chairman of the House Committee on Education and Labor, stayed away from his district in New York City during the entire campaign except for a few Sundays but was elected anyhow by an overwhelming vote.

His prolonged absence from LAWRENCE's district is due to a desire to avoid the service of certain legal papers, as he has been ordered by a state court to pay $46,500 in damages to a woman who won a libel suit against the congressman.

But the voters in the Harlem district, which is predominantly Negro, gave Powell this time a larger plurality than he has obtained in any of his 10 previous elections to Congress. Powell issued a lengthy statement the other day about the meaning of the national election. It got scant attention. Yet it reflects a significant trend in American politics today. He said:

"President Johnson called me yesterday afternoon at 4:15 from Texas to congratulate me on winning reelection and I, of course, extended warmest congratulations on his tremendous victory.

"The President told me I was the first congressman he called and said he had never forgotten that I was the first representative to endorse him for the presidency back in March of 1959."

Powell revealed that he had campaigned more than 12,000 miles for the Johnson-Humphrey ticket at his own expense and, during the last three weeks of the campaign, spoke in Los Angeles, Chicago, Cleveland, San Francisco, Detroit, Philadelphia and New York City. He added: "The highly touted and much reported 'white backlash' failed to materialize. . . . Developed a new 'lash'—the 'black slash'."

"This was the standing together, side by side, of hundreds of thousands of Negro voters all over America, many of whom voted for the first time, to reject Goldwater racism."

93 PER CENT

"While the President won 61 per cent of the national popular vote, Negro voters gave him 93 per cent of their national vote."

"In one Negro ward in Chicago, for example, Goldwater received 2 per cent of the vote. In my own congressional district, Goldwater received only 7 per cent of the vote."

"As Negroes become increasingly successful in American politics, their intelligent use of the power of political offices to secure more patronage, more jobs and a larger share of the political spoils—just as every minority group in this country has done—will obviate the need for much of the civil rights activity per se."

"I have always been and will continue to be an advocate of peaceful, nonviolent demonstrations wherever and whenever their employment can focus attention on the monstrous racial injustices that continue to plague Negroes."

MORE NEGROES

"But this country desperately needs more Negro congressmen, more Negro judges, more Negro state legislators, more Negro city councilmen, more Negro state attorneys general, more Negro heads of state and city departments, more Negro lieutenant governors, more Negro cabinet members, and we hope in the not too distant future, more Negro United States senators."

"These political goals are only achieved in two ways: by registering more Negro voters and educating Negroes to support qualified and outstanding Negro representatives who can deliver for their constituencies."

It is a foregone conclusion that Powell will be chosen again by the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives to be chairman of the all-important committee which is in charge

Bob Considine Says:

Bobby Won No Friends Among Polish Officialdom

WARSAW—Bobby Kennedy, New York's new senator, could have been elected even easier if the people of Warsaw could have voted for him, as he suggested kiddingly during his visit here last summer.

BUT he wouldn't have gotten the vote of two groups CONSIDINE unwittingly offended from the start—Polish Communist officials and the staff of the U.S. Embassy.

Bobby stopped traffic wherever he went and usually responded by mounting the hood of his car and addressing the crowds.

There were grumblings among the embassy staff about the way some members of the Kennedy party were ordering them about. But the top Poles held their silence until a reception for Bobby at the residence of U.S. Ambassador John Moors Cabot.

The Poles assembled in the residence gar d en precisely at the hour marked on the invitation. No Bobby.

COMMITMENT IN STREET

Forty-five minutes later, there was a commotion in the street side of the walled garden. Bobby had arrived.

About 500 Poles filled the street.

Bobby got back up on the hood and made a speech.

He said that there had always been and always would be a close rapport between the American and the Polish people; that his brother could not have been elected president without the support of Polish Americans.

SHOW OF HANDS

He wanted a show of hands as to the number of those present who had relatives living in America.

The responses from the crowd partly drowned out the small diplomatic talk just over the wall.

At last Bobby and his suite entered, an even hour late. In the ensuing chill, Deputy Foreign Minister Josef Winiewicz, former Polish ambassador to Washington, said:

"Perhaps Mr. Kennedy will now mount a table and address the Polish officials who have been waiting here for him."

Bobby gave him a look, decided not to respond, and the ladies present fluttered and buzzed the party to life again.

Comments on Education Submitted by a Student

In defense of Taxpaying Grandmother and Grandfather, Taxpaying Mother should look into what is being taught. As a college student I am subjected to the opinions and thinking of my professors. Before the election the professors criticized and down-graded one of the parties and its candidates.

Children are subjected to slanted and biased teaching from kindergarten through high school, depending upon the teacher. It is a form of thinking most of us don't want our children to learn.

Parents must take an interest in how these young minds are being formed. Don't ignore the warnings of "inexperienced" older folks—maybe they can see more clearly what is wrong with the coming generation.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ten, or more nations were expected to boost annual pledges to the U.N. special fund and technical assistance programs today. They cannot fill the gap left by U.S. refusal to pledge anything until its dispute with the Soviet Union over peace-keeping finances is settled.

The United States usually pays 40 per cent of the costs of the development programs. Today it was to tell this year's pledging conference it would not promise a cent until the peace-keeping dispute is settled.

France, which also owes peace-keeping dues, is expected to announce an increase of $505,000 over the $1,122,066 it pledged last year for the special fund, and to repeat its $1,852,555 pledge for the technical assistance program.

Venezuela was expected to raise its pledge to the special fund from $380,000 to $520,000, Brazil from about $100,000 to $400,000, Indonesia from $60,000 to $225,000, Spain for $50,000 to $250,000, Greece from $50,000 to $235,000, and Colombia from $40,000 to $125,000. Denmark, Norway and Switzerland, among others, were looked to for increased pledges.

But the U.S. decision to hold back its expected contribution of some $60 million would make it impossible for the two enterprises to meet their $150-million target for 1965.

Evidence Is Found of Atlantic Chasm

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — The first direct evidence confirming existence of the "Hatteras submarine canyon" was reported by Duke University scientists Sunday.

Dr. Robert Menzies, director of the university's oceanography program, said sonar soundings from the university research ship Eastward indicated the chasm in the Atlantic Ocean floor of Cape Hatteras is several hundred feet deep and may be several hundred miles long.

The canyon has been an object of speculation for more than 20 years.

The United States announced its stand 10 days ago to bolster its demand that the Soviet Union lose its vote in the General Assembly unless it pays the assembly assessments for peace-keeping in the Congo and the Middle East.

The U.S. move put pressure on African, Asian and Latin American beneficiaries of U.N. aid to urge the Russians to pay up. It also brought African and Asian charges that the United States was tying political strings to the aid programs.

TIME TOO SHORT

Canada, Italy and Japan tried to get Secretary General U. Thant to postpone the pledging conference but he said time was too short.

The Soviet Union refuses to pay any peace-keeping assessments, contending that they are illegal because the assembly instead of the Security Council levied them. France makes

Wants NATO to Run N-Fleet

Leader: Alliance Must Be in Full Control

PARIS (UPI)—North Atlantic Treaty Organization Secretary General Manlio Brosio said today NATO must have full military and political control over the planned allied Multilateral Nuclear Force (MLF).

"If an MLF is formed, some way will have to be found of incorporating it in the political and military structure of the alliance," he said.

Brosio, addressing the tenth annual conference of more than 200 parliamentarians from 15 NATO member countries, admitted divergence among NATO members over MLF "goes very deep."

"It has come right out into the open and can not be ignored," he warned in an indirect reference to the dispute between the United States and French President Charles de Gaulle over the planned force.

Brosio said he would "pass no judgment" on the dispute. He noted that discussion on setting up MLF so far has been going on outside NATO, although the eight countries taking part all are NATO members.

'SEEMS RIGHT'

"But," he continued, "militarily it would seem right that the force should take its place among the forces of allied command Europe."

"And this may well be the answer. Politically difficult problems may arise over the setup for the political direction of the force."

"And some way will have to be found of safeguarding the position of the North Atlantic Council as the supreme political authority in the alliance, from which all our military and civil forces and our whole organization depend."

Brosio called for "free and frank discussion" of the MLF issue, which has the United States and France at loggerheads.

OTHER POINTS

Brosio made these other main points:

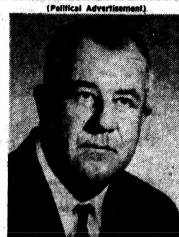

- Russia must come to terms with Communist China since China has become a nuclear power. If Russia succeeds in doing so, "the implications are not likely to be to the advantage of the West."

- The Atlantic alliance is as necessary and valid as it ever was and it must and will go on whether there is a united Europe or not.

- NATO is willing to continue its efforts to prevent open war between Greece and Turkey over Cyprus, but there seems little hope at present of an early solution of the Cyprus problem.

- Creation of a United Europe and an Atlantic community are "wonderful ideals" but far from realization.

Say France Eying Red Ties Just in Case

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

French officials say President Charles de Gaulle is studying the possibility of closer relations with Russia if he reaches a near-break with NATO and the Common Market. But he is playing it close to the vest.

So far most of the over-NEWSOM news have come from Moscow and de Gaulle's reaction has been polite but cool.

As an interim move, de Gaulle can be expected to whump up a campaign in coming weeks for a full round of talks on the American-sponsored Multilateral Nuclear Force (MLF) for NATO.

He opposes the MLF as incompatible with his ideas of a European defense force independent of the United States.

But the real idea of the talks would be to get President Johnson to the conference table.

NUCLEAR BAN: The British Labor government is seeking, along with the United States, to revive plans for an early agreement with Russia for a ban on the spread of nuclear weapons.

Feelers are expected to be put out shortly to Moscow and in the United Nations where overwhelming support for such a ban is anticipated.

Red China and France pose a problem since both are on record seeking a wider agreement which would require long negotiations. One plan is to start with a three-power accord among Russia, the United States and Britain, which others would be invited to join.

PHILIPPINES WORRIES: The Philippines is interested in beefing up its defensive posture in the southern Philippines because it is uncertain about neighboring Indonesia.

Although most administration officials are reluctant, as is being distrustful of Indonesia, the facts are that the Macapagal government has approached the United States for assistance in building up a powerful base on Mindanao island equipped with modern jet fighters.

But the government remains coy.

When asked why the Philippines wanted the base, one top administration official said: "We have no strength there at all. Is it not reasonable if we are going to organize our defenses for us to consider the South?"

CHIANG VS. RED CHINESE: The Nationalist Chinese government is expected to make new efforts to win U.S. support for an attack on the Communist Chinese mainland, according to political observers in Taipei.

The Nationalist authorities will try to convince President Johnson the Peking regime must be destroyed before it is capable of making atomic weapons and threatening the whole non-Communist world.

The U.S. Seventh Fleet, which is keeping the Chinese Communists from attacking Formosa under the Sino-U.S. mutual defense treaty, also is keeping President Chiang Kai-shek's troops from crossing the Formosa Strait.

Chiang is reported as confident as ever that he can defeat the Chinese Communists without touching off a world war.

Guard Sets 3-Week Readiness Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Guard has strong hopes its first-line divisions could be in shape to deploy three weeks after mobilization in an emergency, its chief said today.

This would be less than half the eight-week readiness objective set by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

During the Berlin crisis of 1961-62 it took two Guard divisions five months to get into condition for deployment after being mislaid into federal service.

Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, who heads the Pentagon's National Guard Bureau, told the Associated Press certain reforms put into effect over the past two years are showing promising results.

NEED SUPPORT

The three-week readiness goal of the Guard can be reached "if we are supported properly," Wilson said.

By this he said he meant getting enough money to broaden weekend drills to include all 400,000 Guardsmen. Up to now, Wilson said, he has been able to find funds to give this kind of training to about 150,000 Guardsmen.

Another must, he said, is the modernization and fully equipping of priority Guard units which have been given a key role in the Pentagon's plans which contemplate a 23-division Army force — 16 regular divisions and 6 from the Guard.

The reform on which Wilson placed considerable stress was the substitution of weekend drills in the field for one-night-a-week training in armories.

OLD SYSTEM

"About all you could do with a man under the old system was show him a tank," Wilson said, "but now he can get out and actually train with the tank."

Because of the widening practice of weekend drills, he said, it is becoming possible to undertake battalion-level training in first-line Guard units where company-level training was the best that could be achieved before.

One vital factor in the readiness of high-priority units is the plan to build them up to 100 per cent of their authorized weapons and equipment and to allow them as much as 80 per cent of their full mobilized strength.

Princess' Jewels Stolen From Room

LONDON (AP) — While Crown Princess Margrethe of Denmark danced at a gay house party, burglars slipped into her bedroom and got away with her jewels.

Margrethe, heir to the Danish throne, and a group of young English friends were guests at Castle Ashby, stately home of the 79-year-old Marquess of Northampton, an old friend of the Danish royal family.

Police said the noise of the music and dancing covered the thieves' escape Saturday night.

Some Tragic 'Comity'

The House That 'Jack' Built

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON — Members of Congress are fond of using the word "comity" when discussing relations between the House and Senate.

The first few times I heard the term I thought they were saying "comedy." Which isn't too far from wrong. Comity means "courtesy as between equals." It is a sort of gentlemen's agreement under which one congressional body respects the rights, privileges, perquisites and prerogatives of the other body.

It permits each chamber to run its own affairs without interference, or rude comment, from the other. Ordinarily, it is strictly observed. But this week there was a shocking breach of comity.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, an observant Republican from New Jersey, apparently forgot to avert his eyes as he was passing the House side of the Capitol.

Anyway, he happened to notice that House members were building themselves a fantastic new office building to go with the two office buildings they already have.

LIKE BLABBERMOUTH

Case immediately became like that blabbermouth kid in the old story about the emperor's new clothes. You'll recall that the kid, having discerned that the king was nude, couldn't keep it to himself.

Case, equally guileless, couldn't resist blurt out the truth either. He confided in a press release that the nearly completed project was "one of the largest, and certainly costliest, office buildings in the world."

"Monstrous in size and also, in the view of many, in aspect, the third House office building is a monument to the peculiar way in which Congress handles its internal affairs," he wrote.

"It all started in 1955 with an innocuous appropriation, passed by the House at the request of the Speaker, for $2 million and 'such other sums as may be necessary.' Nine years later, the cost stands at $95 million and the final figure is not yet in.

LITTLE SUCCESS

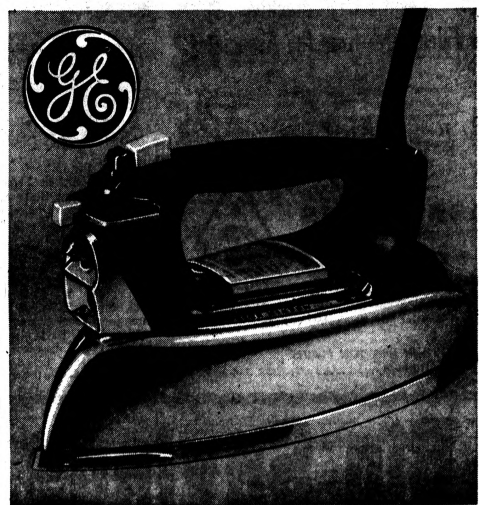

"Meanwhile, members of Congress have been little more successful than the press and public generally in finding out just what has been going on.

Powwow Aids Chicago Indians

CHICAGO (AP) — Indian dances were performed hundreds of years ago in attempts to bring rain, make crops grow and insure success in battle.

Hundreds of American Indians did their ritual dances this weekend for another reason — to raise money for their city-dwelling kinsmen who are new to the white man's ways. About 10,000 Indians live in Chicago.

It may have been incidental, but a two-month Illinois drought was eased somewhat by a day-long rain Sunday.

The Indians were attending the 10th annual Pow-Wow, an annual fund-raising festival sponsored by the nonprofit American Indian Center in Chicago.

IT'S FUN

Many Indians said they would have come even if thousands of palefaces hadn't been watching the show.

"It's fun dancing," said Herbert Dick, 18, a Winnebago who lives near Adams, Wis.

Ken Funmaker, 31, a Winnebago who is a youth group worker at the center, won the dance competition last year. Funmaker, a sturdy 5-foot-11 brave wearing war paint, pointed to the long human-hair braids he wore.

"They belonged to my grandfather," he said.

DOING THINGS

The center's executive director is Bob Rietz, 51, only non-Indian on the board of directors.

"This is a group that is doing things for itself," Rietz said.

David Fox, 29, an Ottawa born in Wilminkong, Ont., had charge of the powwow. Flat broke when he came to Chicago, he now has a good job.

"The center was my salvation," he said. "There's nobody from outside telling us what to do — we learn to work out our own problems, help one another, gain responsibility."

One of the littlest Indians, Eldon St. Clair, 5, who lives near Oklahoma City, wasn't worried about responsibility.

WASN'T WORRIED

When a stranger asked if he liked the big city, Eldon nodded shyly, his huge green-and-white feathered headdress bobbing.

The stranger asked several more questions. Eldon just blushed.

Finally, the stranger asked what tribe Eldon belonged to. Eldon said he thought he was a Cherokee — and joined the dance.

Carrying 90 M.P.H. Winds

New Typhoon Pushing Toward Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) — A new typhoon aimed 90 m.p.h. winds at storm-battered South Viet Nam today.

U. S. Air Force weathermen said Typhoon Kate was located less than 200 miles east of Saigon in the South China Sea on a course headed dead-center for the capital.

It was the third typhoon to plague this Communist-ruled nation in the past three weeks. More than 6,000 Vietnamese were killed and millions left homeless and hungry when Typhoons Iris and Joan laid waste to the lowland provinces of central Viet Nam.

The Vietnamese government closed all Saigon schools in advance of Typhoon Kate's arrival. Fringe winds began hitting the city today. The fury of the storm's power was expected to strike in the early hours tomorrow.

An American military spokesman said the U.S. Air Force has begun moving its jet bomber and fighter aircraft force from Ton Son Nhut Airbase on the outskirts of Saigon to a safer, undisclosed location. Lighter planes were tied down or moved into hangars.

Heavy rains pelted the city today and officials said the typhoon carries with it the threat of severe flooding. Saigon is almost at sea level.

The area around Saigon, in the low-lying Mekong River Delta area, also was considered a likely target for widespread devastation. There is little or no ground for Vietnamese peasants to seek refuge.

The weather threat appeared to have produced a calm in anti-government unrest by Saigon University students. A company of Vietnamese Army troops in combat gear camped during the weekend on the lawn of Gia Long Palace to prevent student demonstrations against the 3-week-old civilian government of Premier Tran Van Huong.

Most students displayed more interest in aiding flood victims in central Viet Nam than staging demonstrations. They had expressed dissatisfaction with Huong's choice of technicians instead of politicians for his cabinet.

Junior Editors Quiz on Stained Glass

QUESTION: How were the stained glass windows in cathedrals made?

ANSWER: Very ancient glass objects usually have colors, because these came from chemical impurities in the sand and other materials used.

Early glass makers learned which chemicals resulted in which colors — such as a trace of cobalt oxide making a brilliant blue.

When, in the Christian era, men began to glorify God by building huge cathedrals, they got the idea of using pieces of glass of different colors in the windows, arranged in a picture so they would both tell some religious story and give a heavenly feeling of beauty when the light streamed through them.

To make such windows, a plan was laid out on a large board and the color areas marked. Then pieces of glass of different colors which matched the sketch were cut and laid down. Glass was scarce and valuable, so they had to piece what they had together, which is why you see lines going across in odd places.

With the pieces all assembled, fine details such as drapery lines would be painted in enamel, and these baked on the glass.

Finally, the pieces were set into lead strips, getting effect of the original design. The black strips overlap the glass on both sides and hold it firmly in place.

FOR YOU TO DO: Our artist has left out some detail so you can color the window and have it clear and brilliant. Use bright contrasting colors to get the feeling of the light coming through.

Still Seeking Art Looted in World War II

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of art treasures looted in Europe during World War II are still being sought throughout the world, the New York Times said today.

The newspaper said its survey showed that hundreds of art scholars, museum directors, private galleries and police agencies are watching for stolen works.

Miss Ardella R. Hall, arts and monuments adviser of the State Department from 1945 to 1962 when the office was disbanded, is quoted as saying:

"The recovery work will continue for many, many years. The department, as well as the National Gallery, the Library of Congress, and the Department of the Army, calls me at least once a week on matters relating to art objects stolen during the war. I also get letters from claimants overseas."

Triple Tragedy Hits 2nd Time

Three More Children Die in Same Family

INDIANA, Pa. (AP) — Triple-death tragedy has struck a western Pennsylvania family for the second time in 10 years. Five-year-old twins and a baby girl of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Treese were found dead Sunday morning in a car parked near the family home in the Indiana County community of Marion Center R. D. 1; apparent victims of auto exhaust fumes.

Three other children in the family were killed by fumes Oct. 23, 1954, when the family lived at Beckers Point, also in Indiana County.

Killed Sunday were twins Karey, a boy, and Kathy and Linda, 15 months.

4 UNCONSCIOUS

Found unconscious in the car were Treese, 42; his wife, Clara, 37; their daughter Donna, 7; and son Richard, 6.

Police said the family returned home from a tavern in nearby Glen Campbell and fell unconscious in the car with the motor running. A neighbor found them.

Mrs. Veda Moore admitting officer of Indiana hospital, said the father and Donna were listed in serious condition and Richard and the mother were in satisfactory condition.

The 1954 victims were Robert, 5, Gloria, 3, and Shirley, 23 months.

DEFECTIVE FLUE

Authorities said the children were killed by fumes from a defective flue on a coal stove in a bedroom.

Her Duty to Explain About Date

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I had a date with a girl to go to the movies. When I arrived I found two of her girlfriends there.

They had dropped in unexpectedly to see her. She greeted me and asked me to come in and sit down.

I thought she would tell her friends that we were going out, but she never said a word and I was forced to sit around all evening listening to their conversation.

Wasn't it up to her to tell them she had a date and ask them to leave? She said it would have been very impolite to do so.

A: Having made a definite appointment with you, it was her duty to explain to her friends when they first came that she had a date and would be going out shortly and asked them if they would like to come in until you arrived.

Q: My husband would like to give his secretary a Christmas present. All of the employees receive a bonus from the company, but he wants to give her a little something extra for the many favors she has done for him.

A: He wants me to buy her a half-donut pair of stockings. (He said she is forever ripping them in the office.) Would such a gift be in good taste?

A: Anything as personal as stockings would not be in good taste from a man to his secretary.

Details concerning the remarriage of a widow and divorce, are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Second Marriage." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Mrs. Orvis Otto Earns Title of Doll Lady

By JEANMARIE ELKINS
"Your friend is your needs answered. . . . And in the sweetness of friendship let there be laughter, and sharing of pleasures. For in the dew of little things the heart finds its morning and is refreshed." (Kahlil Gibran).

Hundreds of children have found a friend in Mrs. Orvis L. Otto of South Shirley Street. Their needs have been answered—in part.

They are residents of the Lapeer State Home and Training School, the Caro State Hospital, and the Fort Custer State Home in Augusta.

DRESSING DOLLS

This is Mrs. Otto's fifth year of dressing dolls. Many of them with other usable toys, have come from relatives, friends or casual acquaintances who have heard of her work.

Mrs. Otto who has boarded 300 children in the course of 40 years is now a boarding mother for Oakland County.

Some of the children she has had for as long as eight and one half years; others stay only a little while.

"It's the little ones that come and go."

ALL AGES INCLUDED

Her children have been of all ages and have included those with brain damage and cerebral palsy and a monger-laid baby.

For these children who required special care, she spent many hours reading. For another, she spent three hours a day giving him physical therapy.

Eventually the state put these children into a home.

From there she "gradually eased into the doll business." This year, the children will receive over 100 dolls and toys. Friends and relatives have helped with the gigantic task of preparing the dolls for their new owners.

From children's toys and dolls Mrs. Otto somehow found herself branching out into making gifts for elderly people.

MUCH TIME SPENT

Many an evening is spent with Mr. Otto putting catches on jewelry or otherwise repairing it while Mrs. Otto gift wraps each item individually.

"It keeps me out of mischief I guess," says the woman who spends the majority of her time helping others.

Many of the items she buys herself, a little at a time. Two extra bars of soap purchased per week add up at the end of a year.

Mrs. Otto is enthusiastic about the needs of the children she serves, though modest about her own contributions. And she's eager to tell about her project.

"If I thought it would do any good, I'd spout off on the courthouse lawn."

De Cormier Singers Enchant Audience

By CLIVE HENERY

Saturday night witnessed the second concert in the Community Arts Series. Featured were the Robert De Cormier Folk Singers out of New York, a group which had previously been the musical backing for Harry Belafonte.

Composer, conductor, arranger De Cormier brings a wealth of musical and theatrical training to his group. The enthusiastic Pontiac audience responded swiftly to the infectious quality of the performance which at no time betrayed the expected strain of having completed 37 concerts in the previous six weeks.

TEAM WORK

Above all this is a team event in both ensemble and solo items.

Simple yet effective choreography enhanced by the enviable rhythm of the instruments—James Garrett, was loath to put down his bass even at the end of the show—at no time obscured the melodious sweep of the singers.

Each performer is a trained musician, or hadn't you guessed?

One was struck by the educational value of the program. The vivid pageantry of the first half, suitably titled "This Land is Your Land," traced the growth of American song from the "lining out" of William Billings, through the golden era of the Negro Spiritual, strikingly portrayed with an uncanny sense of poignancy.

Soldiers at war would sing too. "Wasn't That a Time?" takes us from Valley Forge, via Gettysburg, to World War II, and still leaves us wondering.

AROUND THE WORLD

After intermission enlivened by a false fire alarm, which strangely enough drove people back to their seats, the fuses were set for a quick round-the-world trip in 10 singing stopovers.

In Germany we heard Brahms and in Slovakia, Bela Bartok.

Cleito Lindo swept us briefly to sunny Mexico and we eventually ended in Central Africa singing a song of thanks for a successful harvest.

MRS. G. C. WILSON

G. C. Wilson, Nola Morris Say Vows

Nola Ann Morris exchanged vows with Seaman G.C. Gerald Clark Wilson, Saturday, in the Joselyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

French lace accented her gown of white silk organza over bridal satin, styled with draped skirt and chapel train. Imported illusion veiling fell from a pearl train. White roses and carnations comprised the bridal bouquet.

ATTENDS TWIN

Mrs. James E. Moore III attended her twin at honor matron. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Morris of Pontiac Lake Road.

Bridesmaids at the ceremony performed by Rev. Raymond Watkins were Janice Wilson, Marsha Rotamel, Diane and Cindy Dodd.

William Nienstedt was best man for the bridegroom, son of the Clara R. Wilsons of Watkins Lake Road. Robert Dodd, Michael Hodges of Detroit, Mark Young and Greg Morris were ushers.

The couple left for a southern honeymoon after a reception in Maurice's. He is presently stationed in Hawaii.

Says College Senior

'He Didn't Drop Me'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and a college senior. I could have had many dates last year but a boy on campus monopolized all my time and ruined my chances with everyone else.

At the end of the semester I told him I wasn't sure I cared enough about him to continue dating him in the fall.

I said we shouldn't see each other over the summer, but should think it over and talk about it again when school resumed.

He said he loved me and always would but he'd abide by my wishes.

When we returned to school he immediately started dating another girl. I called him and told him I wanted to talk to him. (I was going to tell him I DID love him.)

When he came to see me, he brought the other girl along. I knew then that it was all over between us.

Now everyone is saying that HE dropped ME for HER.

This is hurting my reputation and I think it's his place to tell our friends that I dropped HIM. What do you think?

NOT DROPPED

DEAR NOT: All right, so you were freed. But don't expect him to put an ad in the paper.

Your pride may be bruised but your reputation won't suffer.

DEAR ABBY: Six months ago I took a course in "scientific massaging" and I passed the examination without any trouble.

I massage as a sideline to earn extra money. I enjoy massaging because it brings relaxation to many. I massage then, women and even children.

I carry my own table and go to their homes by appointment. My problem is my wife. She does not want me massaging ladies. I say that my wife is like a doctor's and there is no reason why I shouldn't massage ladies.

What is your opinion?

MASSEUR

DEAR MASSEUR: Your wife apparently fears that your lady clients may be getting a treat instead of a treatment.

Such fears could be caused by her own feelings of inadequacy. Keep assuring her that she has absolutely nothing to worry about.

(P.S. The little woman is jealous—but don't rub it in.)

DEAR ABBY: That lady who wrote about the "Open House" shower, where an ad was placed in the newspaper and anyone who wanted to come was welcome, was a picker compared to someone in my husband's family.

Listen to this: One of the girls had to get married, so all her aunts got together and gave her a combination BRIDAL and BABY shower! Practical, I suppose, but wasn't that the absolute limit?

OWOSSO, MICHIGAN
DEAR OWOSSO: I'd say they exceeded the limit. Speed and otherwise.

CONFIDENTIAL TO POSTAL EMPLOYEE: All my mail is opened for me with the aid of an electric letter-opener, and the envelopes are discarded.

When I read unsigned letters, unless some reference to the city is made, I have no way of knowing from where the letter has come.

Problems? Write to ABBY, in care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press for Abby's booklet, "How To Write Letters For All Occasions."

Parents Meet to Hear About Guidance Clinic

Parents of the Temple Beth Jacob Nursery School gathered for the first meeting of the school year, Thursday, in the Temple on Elizabeth Lake Road.

Robert Wolgast, program director of the Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic discussed the work of the clinic and cited several case histories.

Hostesses for the coffee hour were Mrs. Harold Blumenthal and Mrs. Benjamin Ravitz. Mrs. Herman Stenback attended the one-day conference of the teacher's auxiliary of the Greater Detroit Cooperative Nursery School Council Friday in Detroit.

Type of Casket, Extras Up Funeral Costs

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: Can you tell me why there should be such a difference in funeral costs, when the two funerals in my family were very similar? My father died some months ago, about six weeks after my mother's death.

His funeral was to be no less dignified nor fitting than my mother's—but the cost was $800, while that of my mother was $150.

The reason I am writing you is because my brother and sisters have offered to share the expenses, and I'm simply at a loss as to how to explain why there is such a difference. The services were identical, though handled by different homes.

H.E.P., Hempstead, N.Y.

Dear H.E.P.: The type of casket and the "extras" which are provided—the latter some of which without the stated wishes of the family—can run the costs of a funeral up to whatever certain funeral homes figure the traffic will bear.

"Package prices," wherein no itemized costs are given, have proven a financial burden to many families.

There's so much emotion involved at the time funeral plans are discussed, details are overlooked—or assumed to be included in an overall cost—and estimates hardly register with the grieving family.

It's to prevent unjustified charges that a new law has been passed in New York State, on the recommendation of Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz.

This law, which went into effect July 1 of this year—after your parents' deaths, I assume—requires funeral directors to eliminate the "unit pricing" practice and furnish an itemized list of the service and merchandise they will provide—in advance.

RIGHT TO SPECIFY

According to the attorney general's office, other states are interested in observing the results of this New York State law.

But it does seem high time that a family should have a right to specify just what services and how many are wanted, based on ability to pay as well as personal wishes—and not have to pay for "extras" that are arbitrarily added on.

Dear Miss Feeley: My husband and I don't agree on how much money it should cost to run our home. He is now giving me $70 a week, and I run short each week. With the following itemized monthly expenses, will you tell me what I need weekly to cover them:

Life insurance, $16.65; car payment, $18; phone bill (including business calls), $20; gas and electric, $15; fuel, $25; department store charge for clothing, $45; car maintenance, $20; water bill, $4; church, $2.

Besides these basic monthly payments, I'm expected to pay all food, doctor, dental, drug, cleaning bills, plus eyeglasses for both children (ages 10 and 11).

My husband's salary for 1963 was $9,500.

My oldest boy is about to start with braces and the dentist said it is quite expensive. E.F.Q., Hicksville, N.Y.

Dear E.F.Q.: You need a raise. In order to pay the excludes business calls), $20; gas and electric, $15; fuel, $25; department store charge for clothing, $45; car maintenance, $20; water bill, $4; church, $2.

Besides these basic monthly payments, I'm expected to pay all food, doctor, dental, drug, cleaning bills, plus eyeglasses for both children (ages 10 and 11).

My husband's salary for 1963 was $9,500.

My oldest boy is about to start with braces and the dentist said it is quite expensive. E.F.Q., Hicksville, N.Y.

Dear E.F.Q.: You need a raise. In order to pay the expenses you've listed, you should have $33.64 a week. But on top of those you have to add:

Food, $22; household operating costs, $5; addition to clothing allowance, $5; increase in medical allotment, $5. Total, $50.

So you really need $83.64 to see you through the week; $70 just isn't realistic.

As for those braces—that can run into money, and you and your husband should try to figure some way to handle it without trying to take it out of the household funds.

(You can write Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions of vital interest will be answered in her column.)

In Successful Marriage

Questions Sex Emphasis

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE U-421: Beth B., aged 38, is an indignant wife.

"Dr. Crane," she protested during the forum at her Women's Club, "I don't read your column much of the time."

"For I don't need your advice!"

"My husband is devoted to me and I'd have you know that our marriage is based on spiritual values, not on sex!"

"In fact, sex is a sordid aspect of marriage, anyway, for real marriage can exist on an ethereal plane of poetry and music and art and other spiritual values."

"So why do you place so much emphasis on sex?"

The most indignant critics of this clinical column in practical psychology, are usually the ones who need it most.

Beth's remark that she doesn't require the advice herein, is thus "whistling in the dark."

She just HOPES she doesn't need it!

And she is trying to sell herself on the idea that idealism, poetry and art can safeguard her home.

AFRAID OF FACTS

Subconsciously, however, she knows she is wrong but she is afraid to face the facts.

And here are the raw facts: Her husband has a paramour ensconced in a Chicago apartment.

So the reason he can sit placidly at home and enjoy Beth's sorties in the realm of poetry, music and art, is the fact the paramour has already satisfied his erotic hungers.

Beth has suspected his unfaithfulness but she is panicky lest her suspicions be correct. Scared almost to death, she figuratively imitates the little boy who whistles bravely as he passes a cemetery at night.

For Beth's loud protest about the ethereal basis of marriage is sales talk to try to convince herself.

Actually, you wives have little to fear if you will simply face the facts and then wage an early or midnight attack.

Fight fire with fire! Change your hair style; adopt new perfume; invest in diaphanous negligees. And become seductively more aggressive in your boudoir.

PREFER OWN WIFE

For wayward husbands generally admit they prefer to have an affair with their own wife!

But when they try to resurrect some of the thrilling emotions that have been in cold storage for 10 to 20 years, what does the average wife say?

"Oh, Henry, act your age!" Or, she may murmur, "I'm too tired!"

Rebuffed in this manner a few times, such a husband may develop a platonic attitude toward his wife.

Even though he realizes he really loves her more than any other woman, and he admires her virtues as a mother and a superlative cook, he still wants some erotic excitement out of life.

For men retain a strong hunger both for gastric calories and the erotic variety.

Admiration for his wife's maternal virtues still will not let him forego his meals or his desire for ardent episodes. Wives, get hep!

So send for my booklet "How to Prevent Platonic Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover mailing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.) (Copyright by The Pontiac Press, Inc.)

Women Talk by Kae from Birmingham

TEXTURE ROSE are fast becoming accepted fashion and I have seen them used to perfection. Some girls go for a little bit wild on anything that seems to be the rage, but the proper time to be well-dressed, in texture rose is in colors black, brown or gray with sport and the heavily draped for evening — colorful lace silk for evening wear with cocktail or formal wear. Youth can fortunately get away with a lot, like colors in red, green etc. and we must admit, they are real cute in anything. They are warm, comfortable and economical! Daily or pair.

Try Washing Clothespins

Clothespins need an occasional sudsy bath, and a thorough rinse to keep clothespin marks from appearing upon your fresh laundry.

Also, after they have been used to pin freshly-dyed articles to the line, give them a quick treatment with chlorine bleach in the rinse water to remove any dye that might have clung to them.

Laundry Hampers Quite Versatile

Decorative plastic laundry hampers — in rectangular or round shapes — can double as chests, benches, and comfortable stools.

These versatile bathroom accessories should be washed often, inside and out, with hot soap or detergent suds.

Polly's Pointers

Take Stopper on Trip

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — When traveling with children remember to pack a flat rubber sink stopper so you will be able to bathe the youngsters in a stall shower if no bathtub is available.

Fill the shower trough with several inches of water and then turn off the overhead spray which often frightens children.

—MRS. L. N.

DEAR POLLY — Twenty-six years of housekeeping have taught me a great way to save time and preserve my manicure.

Every time I have a skillet or pan with "burned-on grease," I put it in a plastic bag with an ammonia soaked paper towel.

Close the bag tightly and leave the pan in the bag overnight. Presto, the next day all that hard grease washes off with the greatest of ease.

I place the soaked towel on the bottom of the bag, turn the pan upside down on top of the towel and leave it that way. Thank heaven for the many sizes in plastic bags. — MRS. G. H.

DEAR POLLY — Statistics show that an average patient's stay in the hospital is now slightly more than half the time it was in 1936.

Eight out of 10 visitors interfere with the hospital routine and tire the patient to the point of hindering his recovery.

Doctors offer these suggestions on helpful hospital etiquette.

Don't take it for granted that you are automatically welcome. Telephone first to determine whether or not visiting is permitted. The new booklet, Polly's Pointers, would be a desirable yet inexpensive gift.

Remember your friend or relative is weak and easily exhausted. A 15-minute stay is ample and 10 minutes are even better if other visitors have preceded you.

Do not talk about yourself as the patient could not care less. Give your friend a lift by bringing cheerful news of friends and coworkers.

If the patient wants to talk politics or some other controversial subject, join in but do not argue.

Hold your voice down. Never betray alarm over the patient's condition but always take it for granted that improvement is being shown.

When your allotted time is up, LEAVE. Do not stay 10 more minutes after having said goodbye.

The thoughtful visitor says, "It has been good seeing you and I know you will be out soon. Good luck." Get out while the patient is still reluctant to see you go.

This is important advice — I now, for I am a registered nurse. —CAROLYN.

You'll find a wide selection of Polly Cramer's favorite homemaking hints in her new, 32-page booklet. To order your copy, send your name, address and 50 cents to: Polly's Pointers, care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Way of Washing

Delicate organdies resist wrinkling best when washed in warm water, though children's cotton organdies will take very hot water washing if heavy soil requires it.

New spray starches are excellent for putting the ginger back into organdies of man-made fibers should they become a bit limp.

The engagement of Ellen-Jo Vander Hagen to Donald Lee Schram, son of the Cecil Schrams of Holly, is announced by her mother, Mrs. Josephine Vander Hagen of Detroit. The July bride-elect is attending Wayne State University.

Plum Trees Blossoming

TULSA, Okla. (U) — Two years ago when Mrs. Frank O. Larson needed some native, low-growing trees to do away with any modern landscaping look around her authentic Connecticut salt box house, she knew exactly where to look.

She transplanted wild plum trees from a friend's farm near Collinsville, Okla.

This year the whole neighborhood was fragrant with the blossoming trees, and now her pantry is stocked with wild plum jelly.

Knitting Tips

Tension is very important when knitting. Tag ends of yarn should never be left on the wrong side.

Instead, they should be woven neatly into the work where they won't show. Try splicing your yarn instead of tying knots.

Thieves Collect Coins

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Rubin, 24 of Detroit told police Sunday that thieves broke into his home and made off with $17,000 in rare coins and bills and $1,000 in cash. He said the collection included American and foreign coins from denominations of one cent to a $1 and 30 rare one dollar bills.

Soft-Hearted Bandit

TONBRIDGE, England (UPI) — Before departing with thousands of feet of expensive, hard-to-get copper wire, a thief gent-

See Hectic Final Week for Council

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The current session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council entered its final week today with word from Pope Paul VI that important church doctrines must be issued before the session ends.

It promised to be the most hectic week for the 2,000 council fathers since they started this third session Sept. 14.

The cardinals, archbishops, bishops and patriarchs may have to meet in the afternoons as well as the mornings to get documents ready for the ceremonial closing Saturday.

It seemed virtually certain that Pope Paul would be able to issue two council schemata as full church decrees next Saturday.

NEW PATH

One blazes a new path for Roman Catholic relations with other Christians. The other establishes the principle that all bishops share collectively with the Pope in governing the church.

Final voting on the first schema, titled "De Decernendo" — On Unity — was completed last Saturday, leaving only the formality of a vote in public meeting before promulgation.

For the other schema, "De Ecclesia" — On the Church — final voting on a series of minor changes will take place Tuesday and Wednesday.

These two schemata are of outstanding significance to the Christian world. Christian unity is a major goal of the Ecumenical Council. Pope Paul has termed the issue of shared papal-episcopal power the council's weightiest task.

VERY IMPORTANT

The pontiff was obviously alluding to the two schemata when he told the crowd in St. Peter's Square Sunday that, "In this week, God willing, we must conclude discussions very important on themes and arguments, and there must be promulgated doctrines important to Christian life."

Among the unfinished items left for the next session will be the document on the church in the modern world, dealing with problems ranging from birth control to nuclear arms.

Seventy-five per cent of the carriers of the genes causing muscular dystrophy in children, can be identified in new enzyme tests.

Troy Educators Reexamining School Role

TROY — Educators here are taking a long, hard look at the future of Troy School District's schools and the philosophy behind their nature and use.

The reexamination of the district's goals was spurred by a late October visit to Flint by Schools Supt. Dr. Rex B. Smith, citizens committee member Mrs. John Vagnetti, elementary principal Mrs. Jeannette Allen and board members Donald Richards and Gordon Sparks.

The group attended the ninth annual Statewide Community Education Workshop, which focused on the Flint Community School concept in action.

On his return to Troy, Supt. Smith wrote a detailed report to the board on the visit, which proposed a course of action for Troy schools which would implement the community school concept here.

In explaining the community school idea, Smith said that it involves a choice in favor of making modifications in schools in order to make them the center for community activities of various kinds.

OFFERS SERVICES

The community school offers its services and facilities to an entire community, rather than to the limited population of children.

Basic to the concept is the belief that, inasmuch as the schools belong to the people, they should be used by the people as much as possible, whenever possible, day or night, all year around."

Another key factor is the location of the schools, so that they serve as "natural, accessible neighborhood centers for democratic action."

Dr. Smith's report says that "every man, woman and child should live a short walk in distance from a public school."

FINANCIAL HELP
Flint Community Schools have been using the community school concept for 29 years, with the financial help of the Mott Foundation.

In addition, says Dr. Smith, "the people of Flint have voted tax millages to continue new and experimental programs several times since the Flint Board of Education adopted the community school idea in 1935."

The report compares the current status and plans of the Troy School District with the key ideas embodied in the community school concept.

In order to implement this approach, according to the superintendent's report, each school should be equipped with the following:

- A community room of classroom size, equipped with a small kitchen unit, for use by any community groups at any time, for any purpose.

- A large gymnasium, 2½ to 5 times the size of the usual elementary school all-purpose room, equipped with locker and shower rooms as well as lavatories with access from the playground.

- An auditorium, seating 300-500 with stage, workshop and storage area.

- A lighted playground area near the gymnasium of basketball court size.

- A public library branch, the size of a regular classroom, available to students during school hours and to everyone after school and evenings.

Although Troy is a long way behind Flint in terms of having all these things, Dr. Smith pointed out that a number of facilities of the type needed already exist and that others are presently being planned.

The board has already taken some steps toward exploration of the community school concept since Dr. Smith made his report.

In line with his proposed course of action, the board has announced that it will make no attempt to obtain another school bond issue election until June.

It has also authorized Dr. Smith to arrange for an expedition to Flint Community Schools by Troy School Board members, principals, teachers, PTA members, city commissioners and other citizens.

OBSERVE PROGRAM

Dr. Smith is presently contacting persons who might be interested in making such a trip to observe the Flint program, and expects to take two busloads there.

There may be other trips in the future if enough interest is shown.

Dr. Smith also suggested in his report that the board "adopt or reject a long-range policy of developing our schools to become truly community schools."

If the board decides in favor of adopting such a policy, the superintendent proposes seeking help from the Mott Foundation "to get started in earnest."

PILOT PROGRAMS

In the meantime, he proposes pilot programs in walk-in schools such as Morse, Big Beaver, Poppleton and Niles elementary schools.

This would involve concentration of effort on immediate curriculum improvement, providing a community school director at the high school and four more at the walk-in elementary schools.

Dr. Smith cites some of the benefits of the community school concept as helping teenagers by combating juvenile delinquency and senior citizens by helping to make their lives more active and interesting.

Curriculum changes would provide adult education for self-improvement and job-retraining.

He points out that "many school districts become familiar with the Flint plan when it's already too late to do many of these things."

"We have most of our building ahead of us, and if the community is receptive to the idea, plans for new buildings can be modified a bit to include these things," he added.

The board will meet tomorrow evening in a special study session to discuss the Flint plan and Dr. Smith's proposals.

In summing up his view of the community school concept, Dr. Smith said "the philosophy and spirit of the community school concept is a contagious sort of feeling."

"If the board members will dare to expose themselves to that spirit along with a few of our staff and our citizens, I'm sure it will change the course of events in Troy."

Bruce Twp. Woman

New Romeo Postmaster

ROMEO — A Bruce Township woman, prominent in village and school district affairs for many years, has assumed the duties of acting Romeo postmaster.

Mrs. Dorothy Van Camp of 7170 Lasser succeeds Almon Schoch who recently retired after 40 years' service at the post office in Romeo.

A former schoolteacher, Mrs. Van Camp currently is president of the Romeo Senior Junior High Parents Club and a member of the Rochester chapter of the United Nations Association of the United States.

She is a charter member of the Macomb County Interracial Association, a member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church and has served as a volunteer in local Cub and Boy Scout organizations for many years.

Mrs. Van Camp's family includes two sons, Robert a sophomore at Romeo High School, and John, who is training for the Peace Corps at Oregon State College.

SCHOOLS ATTENDED
John is a graduate of Romeo High and Oakland University.

Reflecting on his years with the post office, Mrs. Van Camp's predecessor said he started work Nov. 1, 1924, as a postal clerk in Romeo after serving four years in Oxford. At that time there were four rural carriers, two clerks one substitute and the postmaster — and no village delivery.

Now there are 14 postal employees at the local post office which has been at two other locations, besides the present one, during Schoch's tenure.

In 1924 it was on South Main Street, then on North Main in 1937 and finally moved into its new building in 1958.

Schoch was appointed assistant postmaster in 1942 and on Aug. 1, 1954, became acting postmaster, his permanent appointment being confirmed three weeks later.

He is a member of the First Methodist Church, having served as treasurer for 30 years, also belongs to the Romeo Rotary Club and is a life member of Oakwood Lodge No. 100, F&AM.

He also belongs to the National and State Associations of Postmasters and served two years as county chairman.

Anticipating a tour of the Western states next summer, Schoch also expects to find more time now to spend with his grandchildren.

His son, Charles, principal at Meadow Brook School, Rochester, has two sons and a daughter, and his daughter, Mrs. Harold Nyberg of Jackson has two sons.

Yule Card Drive Aids Association

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children (MAEDC) will be the beneficiary of a Christmas card campaign under way here.

The drive is sponsored by the Orion Area Jaycee Auxiliary, and all proceeds from the sale of cards will go to the association.

A single design, created by a boy receiving treatment for emotional problems, is used for the cards.

Card sale chairman Mrs. William G. Greene said posters bearing a copy of the card are on display throughout the township.

Any Jaycee Auxiliary member can be contacted by those who wish to obtain cards.

MAEDC
Mrs. Greene has also urged public support of the MAEDC's objectives in aiding the state's emotionally disturbed children.

School Club Slates Social

ORCHARD LAKE — The Moms and Dads Club of St. Mary's High School will hold its annual fall social Wednesday.

The event is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the P.N.A. Hall, Council 122, at 10211 Conant, Hamtramck.

Those wishing further information can contact Mr. or Mrs. John Sosnowski, 3145 Frederick, Detroit.

Recount Due on Write-Ins in Bruce Township Race

BRUCE TOWNSHIP — A recount of write-in votes for a justice of the peace post filled in the Nov. 3 election is due later this month.

The runner-up for the vacant post, which was won by Macomb County Probate Judge-elect Francis A. Castellucci, has demanded the recount. He is local attorney Edward A. Jacob, who tallied 10 votes to Castellucci's 15.

In his petition for a recount, Jacob stated that some 35 voters had told him they had cast ballots for him. He said that he had "reason to believe that because of mistakes and/or errors on the part of the election committee in charge of counting the votes, that some of the votes were not counted."

There were several other write-in votes cast for justice of the peace and other township positions, none of them, however, totaling more than three.

Jacob also claimed that the "use of derivatives of the name of the petitioner or alleged illegible writing of the name" were involved in the count.

VOTE TALLIES

Castellucci received six write-in votes in Precinct 2 and nine in Precinct 1. Jacob's tally was two write-ins in Precinct 2 and eight in Precinct 1.

Jacob has petitioned for a recount in Precinct 1 only.

The recount will be handled by the county board of canvassers at a cost of $5 to the petitioner for the one precinct. If the results are changed, the money is refunded.

The cost to the township is estimated at about $150. According to state election directives, the name of a write-in candidate must be spelled so there is no question as to his identity.

Arson Said Responsible for Blaze

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP—

An arsonist yesterday set a fire that leveled an unoccupied, condemned farmhouse at 31 Mile and Mound roads. The Romeo Fire Department responded to an alarm turned in by a passing motorist shortly after midnight, and found the two-story structure enveloped in flames when it arrived on the scene.

Assistant fire chief John Polz said that the firemen were successful in preventing the spread of the blaze to two nearby barns but that the fire was too well advanced to save the house.

Arson was pinpointed as the cause of the fire when two flare pots taken from a nearby construction site were found in the house.

The building was owned by Ray Malow of 4940 Van Dyke, Shelby Township. Also destroyed by the fire was an adjacent garage.

Romeo State Police are investigating the blaze.

Adult Leaders Are Needed for Great Books Program

Adult leaders are needed for the Junior Great Books Program, now in progress in several schools throughout the area.

Registrations are being accepted for the next leadership training course which is scheduled to begin in January. Friday is the deadline for enrolling.

Between 150 and 200 Oakland County adults are expected to participate in the program, receiving instruction from professional staff members of the Great Books Foundation, Chicago.

They will meet once a week for eight two-hour sessions. Meeting places will be determined by the size of the enrollments in various communities.

The Junior Great Books Program is made up of groups of 15 students in the same grade level—fifth through 12th grades—who meet around a conference table for 90 minutes each month to discuss the books they have read at home.

Mrs. James Worley of Royal Oak is coordinator of the Great Books Program.

She noted that most of the leaders are mothers and fathers, as well as teachers, librarians and other interested adults.

Further information can be obtained from her or, in this area, from Mrs. Asher Tilchin, 5901 St. James, West Bloomfield Township.

The 62 Junior Great Books discussion groups now meeting in the area are in the Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, West Bloomfield, West Lake, Farmington, Southfield and Oak Park school districts.

Gives Out With Tones, Instead of Water

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Drowning is the fourth highest cause of accidental death in America — and four out of five who drown are male.

For generations, musicians have held that the quality of wood in a musical instrument affects its tone, but a scientist at the University of Southern California claims that a clarinet made from a section of plastic garden hose produced just as good music.

People fib most about their age, the number of times they go to church, and how often they brush their teeth.

Old-fashioned homicide: Despite all the lethal weapons available to killers, one out of every eight murders in the world is still done with the bare hands.

PUTS FEATS IN

Quotable notables: "A bore is a fellow who opens his mouth and puts his feats in it" — Henry Ford.

A British doctor found that many men who came to him for treatment for heartburn simply were wearing their belts too tight. When they switched to suspenders, the symptoms disappeared.

Manhattan odds: Some two tons of soot fall each day on every square mile of New York City. Most stars have unlisted phones. Rudy Vallee is one of the few whose number is in the directory. A rooming house in the Broadway theatre-cal district posts a "Standing Room Only" sign when there are no rooms available.

Can you name two presidents who entered the White House as bachelors? They were James Buchanan and Grover Cleveland. Cleveland married a few months after his inauguration.

DON'T WASH EGGS

Hint to housewives: Don't wash eggs before you store them in the refrigerator. Water destroys the protective film that helps keep out air and odors.

Researchers at Rutgers University have found that the more educated you are, the more likely you are to drink. Over half those with grammar school educations drink, but the figure rises to 79 per cent for high school graduates, and above that for those who went to college.

Mother, have you ever noticed the wan smile on the face of a supermarket manager when you come into his store with a child? That's because it costs the average supermarket $3,700 a year to replace equipment and merchandise damaged by youngsters.

Folklore: Eating pudding and milk will make your hair curly. You will live longer if you sleep with your head to the north. To keep from catching contagious diseases, wear a tarred string around your neck. If you read all the gravestone epitaphs in a cemetery, it will cause you to lose your memory.

It was Judith Anderson who observed, "There is nothing enduring in life for a woman except what she builds in a man's heart."

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — With a severed jugular vein, windpipe and neck arteries, Ghent Brewer was given less than a 50-50 chance by a doctor to live.

Brewer, 34, beat the odds, partly through first-aid measures applied by policeman Paul Perdue and an off-duty fireman, N. A. Henderson.

The paving contractor, who went home Sunday, was injured Oct. 30 when his pickup truck hit a tree and overturned.

Brewer's head and neck went through the windshield.

BLOCK AWAY

Perdue, on duty a block away, rushed to Brewer's aid and applied pressure to the neck wound.

Henderson saw the accident from his home and ran to help.

In a three-hour operation at the hospital, it took 50 clamps to stop the flow of blood. Surgeons placed 250 stitches around Brewer's neck.

View U. S. Plans for Modernizing NATO

BONN (UPI) — U. S. Undersecretary of State George W. Ball conferred with West German leaders today on American plans for modernizing the Atlantic alliance.

Ball sought assurances from Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder that the Bonn government still plans to join the U.S.-proposed multilateral nuclear navy for NATO.

The State Department troubleshooter met separately with Erhard and Schröder. He was joined by U.S. Ambassador George McGhee.

The talks occurred against a backdrop of a meeting here of the ministerial council of the Western European Union. It was concerned with bringing Western Europe's political and defense coordination up to date.

Ball's sessions with Erhard and Schröder followed by 24 hours similar talks between the Bonn government and British Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker.

WINS PLEDGE

Gordon Walker won a pledge yesterday from Schröder that he would go to London on Dec. 11 to discuss British alternatives for the NATO force.

Ball's mission was ordered by President Johnson to shore up the Atlantic alliance and counteract French opposition to the NATO force.

French President Charles de Gaulle has decried the plan as a perpetuation of American domination of European defense. He advocates national nuclear defenses for the continent.

The multilateral force (MLF) envisages the equipping of 25 surface vessels with nuclear weapons. The ships would be manned by crews from NATO nations and sail under the NATO flag.

The French have brought pressure on West Germany not to sign any MLF agreement.

LBJ's New Aide Called 'a Natural'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Gardner Ackley, new chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, "is a natural" for the job, his former mentor and colleague says.

"He is both a former student and colleague of mine and I know him as an intellectually disciplined economist, thorough in his research and not given to heroics in economic proposals," said William Haber, dean of the University of Michigan College of Literature, Science and the Arts.

Ackley was appointed to the post Saturday by President Johnson. He succeeds Walter W. Heller who resigned to return to his professorship at the University of Minnesota.

Ackley, on leave from the U of M Economics Department, has been a council member since August 1962. To fill the vacancy on the three-man council, Johnson appointed Arthur M. Okun, 35, a council staff member who did much of the analysis leading to the 1962 administration decision to recommend a tax cut.

Haber said Ackley "has had solid experience in government administration, in important positions requiring fiscal responsibility."

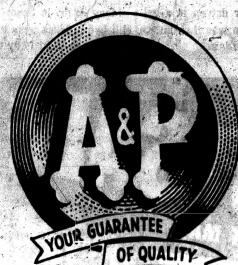

"He has the highest respect for his economic philosophy and theory," Haber points out. "He is at the same time conservative and there is little danger that his advice will contain fiscal hazards."

Malawi, the new African nation, means land of flaming waters. Its name describes how rays of sunlight glance off Lake Nyasa. Malawi was the former British protectorate of Nyasaland.

Story of Booth Killer

Lincoln Tragedy Had Its Ruby

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI)—He shot and killed the assassin who shot the president. He was arrested. His sanity became a question. Jack Ruby? No, his name was Boston Corbett, and now he is lost in the mists of time, a footnote to history. No one knows whatever became of him.

Jack Ruby sits in Dallas County Jail, appealing a death sentence for slaying Lee Harvey Oswald, the assassin of President Kennedy.

Boston Corbett, a religious fanatic, shot and killed John Wilkes Booth, the assassin of Abraham Lincoln, and got away with it.

Like Ruby a century later, his act prevented the country from bringing Booth to trial—though Booth's alleged accomplices were tried and convicted.

MYSTERY OF WEST

Corbett became a mystery of the West.

He was born in England in 1832, baptized Thomas, and was brought to this country in 1839.

As a young man, he heard a street corner evangelist in Boston and "became a new man." He adopted the name of the city as his given name.

"The mad hatter" and "the glory-to-God man," he was known as. He wore his red hair long and he had a beard, in imitation of pictures of Christ.

with their infant daughter. Records show Corbett in his early years mutilated himself as a religious penance.

He joined the Union Army and was captured by the rebels.

He spent 10 months in the notorious Andersonville, S.C. prison camp. Released, he stayed in the Union Army as a sharpshooting cavalryman.

He was in a detachment sent out to find John Wilkes Booth after Lincoln was in Ford's Theater in Washington, April 14, 1865.

SURROUNDED BARN

Corbett was in the unit that surrounded a barn near Port Royal, Va., where Booth and Davey Harold, a companion, had holed up.

Herold surrendered. He was hanged later with Mrs. Mary Surraitt, George A. Atzerott and Lewis Payne.

Booth either could not or would not surrender. His ankle had been injured in his leap from the presidential box at the theater. The barn was set on fire.

A shot rang out, and Booth was dead. Corbett proudly acknowledged that he had pulled the trigger, firing through a crack in the barn wall.

EXPRESS ORDERS

There had been express orders Booth was to be taken alive. Corbett was arrested.

In Dallas, Dist. Atty. Henry Wade refused to accept Jack Ruby as an avenging hero. But in 1865, Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton said:

"The rebel is dead, the patriot (Corbett) lives and has saved the country expense, continued excitement and trouble. Discharge the patriot."

Sgt. Corbett was given $1,653.48 as his share of the $25,000 reward for the dead-or-alive capture of the assassin.

DOWNHILL RIDE

From that day, Corbett's life was a downhill ride to insanity.

In 1878 he went to Cloud County, Kan., where he homesteaded 80 acres.

The gun-toting avenger was given a wide berth by his neighbors but it "wasn't wide enough."

He became involved in a shooting scrape and resisted arrest. When finally brought to trial, he pulled his guns in the courtroom and walked out.

POLITICAL PLUM

A politician rescued Corbett and in 1887 he became doorman in the Kansas Legislature—a political plum often passed out to Union soldiers in those days.

On Feb. 15, 1887, Corbett became enraged at the horseplay of the young page boys in the house chamber.

One had sat down in the speaker's seat and was mocking the normal procedure of business.

When the page intoned, "The Rev. so-and-so will now give the benediction," Corbett blew up.

SACRILEGE

He yanked his pistols, shouting that it was sacrilege.

Legislators, pages and spectators made wild dashes for doors, windows and the undersides of desks. A marshal got the drop on Corbett and took him in.

The next day a probate court presided over by Charles Curtis, who later became vice president of the U.S., ruled Corbett insane and committed him to the Topeka State Hospital.

But on May 28, 1888, Corbett escaped. He stole a horse and fled.

A few days later he showed up in Neodesha, Kan., at the home of Richard Thatcher, a school principal who soldiered with Corbett during the war.

He stayed with Thatcher two days and then left on a train, saying he was headed for Mexico.

That day Sgt. Boston Corbett vanished from the face of the earth. He never turned up again in his real identity.

What became of him, nobody knows.

Hopes Soar for Broad Tariff Cuts

GENEVA (UPI)—American hopes for sweeping tariff cuts and a big increase in free world trade soared today.

The passing of today's deadline for members of the European Common Market to submit lists of industrial goods they do not want subjected to tariff reductions represented a vital step in the so-called "Kennedy round" of trade talks.

A marathon session in Brussels during the weekend among Common Market negotiators produced agreement on the exceptions list. It took 22 hours of steady talks to achieve the breakthrough.

Dutch-born Theodorius Hijzen, a top European tariff expert, headed to Geneva from Brussels to deliver the 80-page report to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). It is sponsoring the Kennedy round. More than 60 nations are members of GATT.

Failure to have met today's deadline would have delayed the GATT talks for a third, and possibly fatal, time. Billions of dollars in potential trade are at stake.

PROPOSED CUTS

The late President John F. Kennedy, acting with congressional authority under the Trade Expansion Act, proposed tariff cuts of up to 50 per cent by the United States and other free world nations as a trade impetus. President Johnson has carried through with the plan.

Disagreement among Common Market countries as to which goods they wished to exempt from tariff cuts delayed the GATT talks here on the Kennedy proposal.

The secret exceptions list worked out in Brussels is believed to include such items as paper pulp, aluminum, chemicals, machine tools, textiles and automobiles.

France is known to oppose any cuts in tariffs on these items, fearing that imports from the United States would undercut its economy.

The United States also has an exceptions list. It is reported to include about 7 per cent of U.S. imports from Japan and members of the European Free Trade Association, which includes Britain and the Scandinavian countries, have also drawn up lists.

U. S.-Born Bishop Dies

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—The Rev. Varnava Natchich, 50, a native of Gary, Ind., who became vicar bishop of the Serbian Orthodox church, died Thursday. For the past 17 years he had been under virtual house arrest at a monastery near Belgrade, following troubles with the Communist regime.

Wage Settlement Sought to Avert Rail Walkout

CHICAGO (AP) — Representatives of six shop unions and the nation's railroads are scheduled to meet with federal mediators today in an effort to avert a strike of 160,000 rail workers that could shut down 90 per cent of the nation's rail lines.

A walkout by the AFL-CIO shop craft workers has been set for 6 a.m. Nov. 23.

J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, and Michael Fox, spokesman for the shop unions, will attempt to reach agreement over wages in a 17-month-old dispute.

The unions began issuing instructions to the shop workers over the weekend, and strike notices were mailed.

SHOP UNIONS

The six shop unions are among 11 nonoperating unions involved in the wage talks. The other five unions have set no strike action, but reportedly would respect the picket lines of the shop men. The 11 unions involve a total of more than 400,000 railroad employees.

The shop craft unions have rejected the recommendation of a presidential emergency board for wage increases of 37 cents per hour over three years, contending they were too small.

Present hourly pay in the 11 nonoperating unions averages $2.58 and $2.63 in the six shop crafts, union officials said. Raises of about 40 cents hourly have been demanded.

A 30-day strike ban under provision of the Railway Labor Act expires at midnight Thursday, three days before the shop crafts have scheduled a strike.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has said he does not expect a rail strike and does not expect any White House intervention.

The talks were recessed in Washington Friday by Francis A. O'Neill Jr. of the National Mediation Board.

The unions involved represent the 160,000 workers who repair and maintain railroad equipment. They are the International Association of Machinists, the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, the Sheet Metal Workers International Association, the International Brotherhood of Electricians, the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen and the International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers.

OTHER UNIONS

The other five unions involved in the wage dispute, also AFL-CIO affiliates, are the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen and the Hotel and Restaurant Employees International Association.

The first five men elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1936 were Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Horace Wagner, Walter Johnson and Christy Mathewson.

Says K Ouster Surprise to Presidium

WASHINGTON (AP) — John A. McConne, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, says the fall of Soviet Premier Khrushchev surprised the Soviet Presidium as well as the CIA and rest of the world.

The reason, he said, is that Khrushchev's enemies did not themselves believe they had strength to remove him until they assembled in Moscow Oct. 14.

McConne discussed the Soviet situation in a talk before Catholic University's upcoming banquet — the first speech he has made since becoming CIA director three years ago.

He said the Chinese-Soviet schism is "almost beyond hope of settlement."

In addition, McConne said the new Soviet regime has two other major problems.

One is that the Eastern European satellite nations are "flooding over the wall" at the West's assistance, the other is that the Russian people are pressing for a more comfortable life with the result that the struggle for priorities is "violent and uncompromising."

WASHINGTON (AP) — McGeorge Bundy, President Johnson's special assistant on national security affairs, says he doubts that France ever would withdraw from the North Atlantic alliance.

France, he said, has demonstrated repeatedly it means to stay in the alliance which still is successfully protecting Western Europe. But Bundy added, even if any nation should withdraw from the alliance, he believes ways would be found to protect the interests and security of other members.

Bundy, interviewed on the television program, was asked why a more meaningful dialogue hasn't been established with Paris to work out differences between the two former allies. He said his conclusion is that "the difficulty doesn't lie in Washington" and that the Johnson administration would be ready to sustain its part of an open dialogue.

New Discovery Now Makes It Possible to Shrink And Heal Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Stops Itch—Relieves Pain In Minutes

New York, N. Y. (Special): A world-famous institute has discovered a new substance which has the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. The sufferer first notices almost unbelievable relief in minutes from itching, burning and pain. Then this substance speeds up healing of the injured tissues all while it quickly reduces painful swelling.

Tests conducted under a doctor's observations proved this so — even in cases of 10 to 20 years' standing. The secret is the new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — now offered in both ointment or suppository form called Preparation H®. In addition to actually shrinking piles — Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements less painful. It helps to prevent infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).

Only Preparation H contains this magic new substance which quickly helps heal injured cells back to normal and stimulates regrowth of healthy tissue again. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories (easier to use away from home). Available at all drug counters.

Town Aids Child Dying of Leukemia

DERBY, Ind. (AP) — It was a festival with bingo games, bowls of hot chili and plates of homemade pie. But there was no laughter.

"Everyone's here," said the Rev. Richard Lyons, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, as he glanced over a crowd of 400 — four times the population of this Ohio River hamlet near the Kentucky border.

There was an artificial tree — with dollar bills for leaves, 500 of them contributed Sunday to help defray expenses for 3½-year-old Yvonne O'Bryant, who is dying of leukemia.

"We have more friends than I ever knew about," said the child's mother, Charles O'Bryant, "I don't know how to say thanks."

BIG SUCCESS

Mrs. Luke Kellems, chairman of the festival, said, "We couldn't have hoped for a bigger success."

Father Lyons said, "This town doesn't have much money — I've been told it's about the second lowest area in per capita income in the state."

There is no cost for treatment given to blonde, blue-eyed Yvonne at the government-owned National Health Institute in Bethesda, Md., where the child is being cared for by doctors doing research on the blood cancer.

O'Bryant, however, must pay for frequent trips to the hospital, where the child must spend a week of each month for what doctors say will be the final year of her life.

GIVES THANKS
As O'Bryant thanked those who attended, Yvonne wiggled in his arms, tugged at his collar and buried her head between his neck and shoulder.

The O'Bryants have three other daughters — Barbara Ann, 10; Patricia, 8; and Mary Margaret, 5.

"They know Yvonne's sick — but they just don't know how sick," said the father.

"She's supposed to be in what the doctors call 'remission,'" O'Bryant said. "That means she's between the effects (stages) of leukemia and she's supposed to act normal, and we're supposed to treat her normally. It doesn't always work that way."

HAIR FALLING OUT
The child's once thick and glossy hair is falling out as a result of the experimental drugs being used to prolong her life.

"The drugs cause funny things," said O'Bryant.

"Yvonne was always sweet and laughing all the time, now she's temperamental. But those drugs are keeping her alive, that's what is important — time. Time maybe to find something that will save her."

Doctors to Get Health Projects for Peace Corps
NEW YORK (AP) — R. Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps, says the corps is starting a program to send hundreds of doctors abroad on health projects.

Shriver said yesterday that 100 doctors worked overseas as volunteers or on assignment from the U.S. Public Health Service last year.

"We must double that number next year," he said. "And we need to go on from there to at least 500 Peace Corps doctors."

Speaking at a special academic convention in his honor at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine at Yeshiva University, Shriver said, "Just as the Peace Corps has sent thousands of teachers overseas to help developing nations achieve universal school education, so now we must help them make universal health education a reality."

Masked to prevent windburn, helmeted cyclist adjusts timing on his motorcycle before entering club rally.

Wearing his father's helmet and goggles, youngster braces himself against wind while riding on the cycle gas tank.

More Americans are getting the wind in their faces than ever before. Cycling is fast-growing pastime.

Motorcycle racer hugs his vehicle to cut down wind resistance on track straightaway. Steel plate on shoe protects drag foot on turns.

The BIKE BOOM

Dad drives his sons to the park for a ballgame on a cycle-bath-tub-tour. Although three passengers will fit, cycle is basically a one-man vehicle.

If there appear to be more motorcycles and motorscooters on the streets and highways these days, it's no illusion. More Americans are riding on two wheels today than ever before and their number is growing.

The rate of growth in the sunny south and southwest is of course greater than in those states with long cold winters. But weather hasn't put much of a crimp in the trend. The two-wheelers have long been popular in Europe—even as all-weather vehicles—and it isn't uncommon to see a young man zipping along the city streets on a scooter with his party-dressed date sitting sidesaddle on the buddy seat.

This scene is also appearing in the United States. The increase in the number of motorcyclists has brought about a change in their image from the "wild ones" to the "mild ones." Most of the Americans who have taken up cycling in the past few years are interested more in economy and fun than in beating traffic lights and street racing.

The machines have also changed. The majority of the new vehicles are smaller, lighter, easier to handle and less expensive.

Racing, of course, still goes on, but most of it is conducted by clubs sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association. The racing elite compete in track races and hillclimbs, graduating from back country trails to national track events with large purses for the winners.

The new breed of cycling enthusiast limits his racing to amateur off-street rallies if he takes up racing at all. In Indiana, where the number of cycle owners has increased by 8,000 in the past five years, rallies are staged by clubs on Sunday afternoons when weather permits. These photographs were made in the Indianapolis area at a club-sponsored meet.

Domed, jacketed amateur racer revs his machine on starting line of an Indianapolis race course. Tinted mask, helmet and leather clothing offer protection from debris on spills.

Buddy seat passenger rides sidesaddle while holding handle in place with free hand. Girls are adopting European riding style.

This Week's PICTURE SHOW by AP Staff Photographer Bob Daugherty

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman says "the only thing barring Douglas MacArthur from the White House was Douglas MacArthur himself."

He says Gen. MacArthur, who died last April at 84, was aiming for the presidency, but "he didn't fool anybody and least of all did he fool me."

Truman's comments came in the second of a series of taped television programs scheduled to be shown over 50 stations across the nation this week. The copyright text was released Sunday by Screen Gems, Inc.

Truman fired MacArthur as Far East commander during the Korean War in a dispute over policy.

ACCEPTED BY GOP

He said that at that time MacArthur's view "had become accepted Republican policy."

"I was sure of that," he said, "I was sure that's what MacArthur was aiming for. He was trying to get himself in good with one of the big parties of the government of the United States, so that he could be president of the United States."

"He didn't fool anybody," Truman added.

Douglas MacArthur, had he stuck to his military duties, might well have been an occupant of the White House. The only thing barring Douglas MacArthur from the White House was Douglas MacArthur himself."

Truman also recalled an incident involving MacArthur and the late Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, captured by the Japanese after the fall of Corregidor. The account varies from one given by MacArthur in his memoirs.

Truman said that after Japan surrendered he sent a plane for the captured officers. "Gen. Wainwright, of course, felt that he ought to stop by and see his former commanding general in Japan," he said.

STOPPED BY

"He stopped by to see him, and Gen. MacArthur was at luncheon. MacArthur, instead of asking him to sit down and have lunch, said, 'General, I told you I'd see you at three o'clock. I'll see you at that time.'"

"Well, sometime later I sent for Gen. Wainwright and I gave him the Congressional Medal of Honor. The old man stood there with tears running down his eyes, and he said, 'Mr. President, I didn't think you would do this for me. I thought you would have me court-martialed.'"

"I said, 'you're not the one I want to court-martial.'"

MacArthur wrote in his memoirs that he had directed that Wainwright be brought to Japan for the surrender ceremonies on the battleship Missouri.

"I was just sitting down to dinner when my aide brought me the word that they had arrived. I rose and started for the lobby, but before I could reach it, the door swung open and there was Wainwright."

SHOCKED ME

"He made an effort to smile as I took him in my arms. But when he tried to talk his voice wouldn't come. For three years he had imagined himself in disgrace for having surrendered Corregidor. He believed he would never again be given an active command. This shocked me."

"Why Jim, I said, 'your old corps is yours when you want it.'"

Chemical Plan of K Assailed

Russian Economist Demands Revision

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet economist today demanded drastic revision of former Premier Khrushchev's crash program to build up Russia's chemical industry.

N. Fyodorov criticized Khrushchev's ambitious project in an article published by Pravda, the Soviet Communist party paper.

"Decisions adopted earlier should be soberly and objectively clarified and, proceeding from the realistic possibilities of our state, excessive strains on material, labor and financial resources should be eliminated and normal conditions created for economic construction," he wrote.

Khrushchev pushed through a seven-year program last year calling for investment of $46 billion in the chemical industry and construction of 200 chemical plants by 1970.

EARMARKED FUNDS

About one-fourth of the investment funds were earmarked for production of fertilizer to increase agricultural output.

Fyodorov said economic planners should work out an "optional tempo of chemicalization and the most rational and effective use of resources allocated for this purpose."

Khrushchev had predicted that Soviet production of chemical fertilizers would be raised from 20 million tons annually in 1963 to 70-80 million tons by 1970. This, he said, would meet the nation's requirements.

He also predicted the chemical industry's production of consumer goods would match that of the United States in some areas.

CHEMICAL PRODUCTION

Fyodorov, however, said "requirements for chemical production in branches of the national economy will not be completely satisfied" by 1970. A new set of priorities must be drawn up for the allocation of chemical products, he said.

Preference should be given to those branches of industry "which will most quickly give the country a return on the invested resources," he added.

This criterion appeared almost certain to work against consumer goods industries.

No Disaster for Years, Then Dora Lashed Out

WAYCROSS, Ga. (AP) — When A.A. Karkle of the Red Cross asked Fred Hambright to become disaster chairman for the organization he assured Hambright he wouldn't have much to do as there hadn't been a disaster here for a quarter of a century.

That was just one week before Hurricane Dora hit this area.

Browns Clinch Lions From Western Division Title Chase, 37-21

Beach Intercepts Two, Scores With 65-Yarder

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Post-Ex Press

CLEVELAND — The Detroit Lions have not only lost their claws but they don't even have a purr of a chance left in the NFL Western Division title chase.

Led by pro football's finest fullback, Jimmy Brown, the all-time great field goal specialist, Lou Groza and by Pontiac's Walter Beach, sophomore defensive back, the Cleveland Browns played four alert quarters of football to defeat the Lions, 37 to 21.

Brown, as Jim Taylor of Green Bay did last week, rolled up 147 yards and two touchdowns against the once-vanquished Lions' defense and he received help from Groza's three field goals, a touchdown pass by Frank Ryan and a spectacular 65 yard TD on an interception return by Beach.

The Lions, who haven't been able to put together four consistent quarters, with possible exception of the Rams' game two weeks ago, scored all 21 points in the first half to lead 21-0 and then failed to muster a serious drive in the second half.

Milt Plum, nursing a bruised shoulder and swollen elbow, hadn't been able to throw a pass all week in practice until Friday when he tried throwing short.

SHORT PASSES
Yesterday in the first half he used the short pass to advantage in connecting on 11 of 16 for 215 yards and three touchdowns.

But in the second half he hit on only four of 11 for 27 yards as his protection crumbled and desperation long attempts proved futile.

The Browns went all the way after the opening kickoff, 22 yards in 10 plays with Brown going over the six. It was his first touchdown ever in regular season against the Lions and the 102nd of his NFL career, three short of the record held by Don Hutson Groza made it 7-0.

On their first play from scrimmage the Lions were penalized back to their own eight for an illegal receiver downfield. But on the next play, with the Browns planning "the blitz" (sending the safety and linebacker in on Plum), the Lions' quarterback flipped over the middle to Danny Lewis on the 15, and Lewis went all the way for the touchdown, a 22-yarder. Wayne Walker made it 17-0. It was only 50 seconds after the Browns' TD.

Ryan was hit hard by Roger Brown and Alex Karras and after forcing a punt the Lions took over on the Browns' 43.

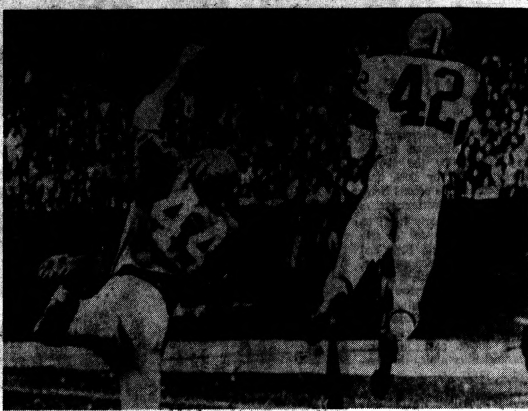

Operating from the double wing and helped by one key roughing penalty, on one former Bay City Central and MSU griddle Bob Kanicki, the Lions got to the four, and from here Plum threw to Jim Gibbons who made a diving catch for the touchdown. It was 14-7 with the F.A.T.

MUFF CHANCE
Just as the period ended the Lions had the chance to pad the score when Sam Williams hit Ryan and Karras grabbed the fumble in mid-air on the Detroit 40.

Six plays moved the ball to the Cleveland 44 and from there the Lions elected to punt on fourth down, with the ball going into the end zone.

Seven plays moved to the Detroit 31, Groza booted a 38-yard field goal to make it 14-10.

FUTILE AND FANCY — Paul Warfield (42) Cleveland Browns' rookie flanker makes a flying finger tip catch of an 8-yard pass from Frank Ryan for a touchdown as Detroit's Dick LeBeau makes a futile attempt to stop the play. The Lions lost to the Browns, 37-21 yesterday, before 83,064 fans in Cleveland.

In only five plays, helped by a 30 pass play to Gail Cogdill, Plum hit Terry Barr who got by Beach for a 39-yard touchdown play and it was 21-17 as Walker converted with 31 seconds left.

A 30-yard puntback of the kickoff by Walt Roberts, a 15-yard run and lateral play from Brown to Ryan, and a 10-yard pass to Brown put the ball on the Detroit 41. Groza then booted a 47-yard field goal to make it 21-20 and no time left on the clock.

After short passes and several Brown bursts, Ryan hit rookie Paul Warfield with an eight-yard touchdown pass and the Browns had a 27-21 lead as Groza converted midway in the third period.

With 2:35 left in the game, Plum went for a long pass to Cogdill but Beach intercepted at the Cleveland 43 and four plays later Groza put the game away with a 35-yarder making it 34-21.

Sonny Gibbs came into the game with 27 seconds left. He completed a three-yard pass to Gibbons and then threw long to Cogdill. Beach, however, intercepted again at the 35 and with some fancy sidestepping from Plum, left sideline, and to the right sideline, and to the goal line, he went 65 yards.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The New York Giants severely denied the title chances of the St. Louis Cardinals on Don Chandler's fourth period field goal that provided a 10-10 tie Sunday in a National Football League game bogged down by rain and mud.

Chandler, who had a field goal attempt from the 18 blocked earlier in the final period, made his second attempt from the 21 with about six minutes remaining.

Both teams had final chances to grab the victory, but the Giants blocked Jim Bakken's field goal attempt from their own 48 and Pat Fisher of the Cardinals intercepted Y. A. Tittle's long pass on the St. Louis two in the last minute.

Piston Coach Has 1st Loss

Los Angeles Lakers Win 111-105

DETROIT (UP) — Player-coach Dave DeBusschere of the Detroit Pistons experienced a new feeling Sunday night — coaching a losing team.

The Pistons suffered their first defeat under DeBusschere's regime when the Los Angeles Lakers overcame a 10-point deficit to take a 111-105 victory before 4,021 disappointed fans.

It was the first loss in three starts for Detroit since DeBusschere replaced Charley Wolf as the club's 10th coach in 14 starts.

The loss also dropped the Pistons into last place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division. The San Francisco Warriors downed the Cincinnati Royals, 122-106, in the other NBA game to move one-half game ahead of Detroit.

DALLAS (AP) — King Hill led Philadelphia on a 90-yard touchdown drive with only minutes to go today and his 38-yard pass to Pete Retzlaff brought a 17-14 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

But Hill had other ideas. His running and passing drove the Eagles on the long surge that wound up with the winning touchdown with only 2:09 left.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Alex Hawkins caught the winning touchdown pass in the last quarter for the Baltimore Colts as they avenged their only National Football League loss to the Minnesota Vikings with a 17-14 victory Sunday.

The Colts were trailing 14-10 with six minutes to play when Hawkins, captain of the kicking and receiving teams, made a diving end zone catch of a 26-yard pass from quarterback John Unitas. Hawkins was helping fill in at end for the injured Raymond Berry.

ONLY LOSS
Minnesota, which handed the Colts their only defeat 34-24 in the opening game, threatened to repeat when Tommy Mason ran 21 yards for a touchdown early in the last period.

The Colt offense, which had been averaging nearly 35 points a game, got on the scoreboard first at the start of the second half on a 35-yard field goal by Lou Michaels.

Unitas and Lenny Moore then slipped through the Viking line on an explosive touchdown play covering 74 yards.

Moore took the pass in the clear from Unitas and galloped 46 yards to the end zone for his 15th touchdown of the season and like his scoring streak to a record 15 straight games.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Chicago Bears, who had been unable to beat anybody since they whipped Los Angeles five games back, whacked the Rams 34-24 Sunday thanks to a bevy of ex-Rams.

Performing before 61,115, largest of the National Football League regular season in Memorial Coliseum, quarterback Rudy Bukich, John Arnett and Joe Marconi — all former Rams — made life miserable for their ex-teammates.

The Bears scored 13 points in the third quarter on two field goals by Roger Leclerc and a touchdown strike by Bukich, all the result of three Ram fumbles.

Bukich, who started and went all the way for the first time, threw three touchdown passes, one apiece to Marconi, Mike Ditka and little Johnny Morris.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Miami's All-America George Mira scrambled through his debut as a starting pro quarterback Sunday, marshalling the San Francisco 49ers to a 24-14 upset over the Green Bay Packers.

Trailing 7-0, the 49ers drew impetus from a 49-yard field goal by Tommy Davis and a 70-yard touchdown punt return by Kermit Alexander en route to their third victory of the season.

DRAWS CHEERS
Mira replaced veteran John Brodie. He drew cheers from the crowd of 38,483 in Kezar Stadium with his performance despite fumbling four times.

Two of the fumbles were recovered by the Packers.

Bart Starr hit a 44-yard touchdown pass to Max McGee to get Green Bay under way but then was knocked cold in the second quarter and could not return to action.

They're Janitors in School System

New York Financial Wizards Clean Up

By FRANCIS STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — New York long has been known as a city of big financial operators. But hardly anyone would have expected to find a flock of them sweeping out the little red schoolhouse.

Thus there were gasps of amazement here and elsewhere when it came to light that city school custodians were among the highest paid people in the nation.

A number were found to be making more than governors, mayors of large cities, college presidents and even school superintendents.

One wound up with $53,000 for a year's work — $3,000 more than New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

$25,000-PLUS
Another made $46,130. By comparison, School Supt. Calvin A. Gross gets $45,000 a year. Of the city's 870 custodians, some 68 were in the $25,000-plus bracket.

How did this situation come about?
Long ago the ruling elders of the school system concluded that it would be better to farm out the janitorial job than to set up a large organization within the system to do it.

BECAME CONTRACTORS
As a result, custodians became contractors. As individuals they contracted to maintain and keep the schools clean. The money they received was based on the size of the school.

Out of the jump sum they were to hire whatever help was necessary and pay for all equipment and materials to do the job.

Whatever was left over was their own pay.
About a year ago the system came under official scrutiny as the result of newspaper stories on custodians' income.

Probes were undertaken by a newly installed school administration and by Herman T. Stuchman, special commissioner of investigation for Gov. Rockefeller. Public hearings were held by Stuchman.

A school official testified that the custodians were getting "two to five times more than what is being paid in private industry." He added that in personal inspections he found many schools weren't being kept clean.

There was other testimony that some custodians apparently were cutting down on service in order to increase their "net retainer."

Speaking in defense of the custodians was Henry G. Mundi, president of Local 801 of the International Union of Operating Engineers. The local represents most of the custodians, who, in most cases, must pass civil service tests.

FULL VALUE
Mundi, unpaid as president of the local but a school custodian himself whose last publicly reported pay for a year was $31,500, maintained that there had been no wrongdoing by custodians and that "the taxpayers have gotten their full value."

Late last month the union and school administration agreed on new terms.

Buck Dies on Lawn

Front Door Deer Service

HIALEAH, Fla. (P) — The E. L. Westbrook family had venison today — delivered to their door.

The 125-pound buck with five-inch antler points apparently wandered miles from its Everglades habitat after it was wounded. Carolyn, 10, and Alan Hasker, 6, found the deer lying on their lawn yesterday.

"It was dead, Mr. Charles Hasker said she didn't want it. 'I've never had deer,' she said. 'I wouldn't know what to do with it.'"

"We've cooked a piece of hindquarters now," she said. Police called the Westbrook garage to make the pickup.

QUICK ORDER
Mrs. Westbrook knew what to do. In quick order, the deer was skinned, dressed and iced.

"We're cooking a piece of hindquarters now," she said. Mrs. Westbrook's husband and three sons weren't home to enjoy the meat.

They were in the Everglades — hunting deer.

Jack Bailey and 'Queen'

2-Week Job Lasted 19 Years

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — When Jack Bailey took the job on June 20, 1945, he was told it would last two weeks.

Three weeks ago it ended. "It feels kind of funny to be unemployed," says the dapper Bailey, emcee of "Queen for a Day" for two decades, "the last time I was on it on television."

"But good things have happened, too. I never realized I had so many friends."

ABC dropped "Queen for a Day" from its afternoon schedule, and its owners have filed suit for damages, charging deliberate sabotage of the veteran program. Now there are plans to enthrone "Queen" in syndication to independent stations, starting after the first of the year.

NC — WAITING
But Bailey is not waiting around. His first job on the outside is a comedy role on CBS' "Mister Ed" for old friend Arthur Lubin, who directed a film version of "Queen for a Day." "They told me to report at 9 in the morning. I said I'd be there at midnight the night before," Bailey said. "The old ham is rising back to the surface."

"When I was going to Drake University, I played in a band for 875 a week and did a cut act, like Ish Kabibble. One night Ralph Bellamy and his wife danced by and he liked my act. The next thing I knew, I was delivering telegrams in plays at his Des Moines Theater for $30 a week. So you know the ham had to be pretty strong."

The town came to California during radio's golden age and became announcer for "Ozzie and Harriet," "Duffy's Tavern" and numerous other shows, as well as emcee of a daytime, "Meet the Missus." Then "Queen for a Day" came to town.

SHIFTED WEST
It had started two months before in New York, then shifted to Hollywood temporarily, in search of a new emcee. Bailey was given a two-week trial. During the first show he was perturbed because the director disappeared.

The director returned afterward to explain: "I was trying to find the producer so I could tell him he'd be crazy not to sign you up for life."

Bailey estimates he has handed out $13 million worth of gifts down through the years to women seeking their heart's desire. Four Queens are still in distant parts of the world on trips won on the show.

His interest never paled. "I don't want to sound maudlin," said Bailey, "but I do have a genuine interest in people. Each season I looked forward to the new contestants who would be on the show."

WHIPPING GIRL
"Queen" was long a favorite whipping girl of the critics, who claimed it dealt in human agonies.

"But the knocks came mostly from those who didn't see our show," Bailey declared. "We never had bad sisters; when we saw one coming we headed her off. I tried to play everything for laughs."

"Naturally there was bound to be some emotion shown by the winners. But if a queen started to cry, I'd back her toward the throne and warn her I was clean out of tissue so she'd have to bear up."

Body Found With Arm, Head Cut Off

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman's tattooed torso, along with her head and right arm, were found Sunday in a Bronx lot, presenting police with their third such mutilated death in less than a month.

Medical examiner Dr. Charles H. Hochman said death was caused by manual strangulation. He said the woman had been dead about a week but that the body had been in the weed-choked lot for more than two days.

The head and limb apparently had been sawed off, Hochman said.

The remains had tattoos on both shoulders, the left breast and the arm and thumb. The woman apparently was of Latin-American background, 25 to 30 years old, about 5-feet-2 and about 130 pounds.

HEADLESS
On Oct. 21, the headless torso and severed limbs of a woman were found in two tenement buildings on Manhattan's West Side. She was identified as Jocelyn Carr, 32, of Manhattan. Last Friday the nude and dismembered body of a blonde washed ashore on Jones Beach, Long Island.

Both legs had been severed below the knees and the right arm taken off at the elbow as if by a propeller. The remainder of the body bore extensive fractures. She had not been identified.

Actress Succumbs
TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — Actress Kate Manx, 32, who appeared in recent years on television, died Sunday. Doctors attributed her death to an overdose of sleeping pills.

Earl Gets Lowdown on Sex From One of Opposite Sex

BY EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Shirley Eaton, the girl with the gold-painted body, smiled at me across the top of a glass of gin and said, "I don't want to be a sex symbol — or anything stupid like that!"

"My gracious!" I said back. "You mean sex symbols are stupid? Marilyn Monroe, Jayne Mansfield, Carroll Baker . . .?"

"Not Marilyn," she replied lightly, "she had much more. I mean perfectly terrible symbols like Anita Ekberg and Jayne Mansfield. They're laughed at. Anita Ekberg's even worse than Jayne Mansfield. She has a hard brittle face — and I don't think she's conspicuously talented."

Miss Eaton, a shapely, 26-year-old British ash blonde, has been getting a sex-symbol build-up since they covered her body with gold cosmetic for the James Bond picture, "Goldfinger."

What about Carroll Baker?"

"If that's going to be the new American sex symbol, I feel sorry for the American woman," Miss Eaton flung back.

"I'll be terribly popular with American movie stars for talking like this," she laughed. "But it's true. Carroll Baker won't make it as a sex symbol and she'll lose what she had before."

"She wears a low dress and a big fur, but she's like a little housewife."

"You don't need furs to be sexy. I'm sexy when I'm dirty and scruffy. I have an earthy quality."

"What about Ursula Andress?" I inquired. Miss "Undress," as they call her, has also been getting a big buildup.

"I think she's delicious — except she's no actress," Miss Eaton answered. "She's attractively untalented but it doesn't annoy you."

"Who do you like?"

"When you take it as a whole, the most gorgeous hunk of woman for talent, beauty and personality—Sophia Loren!"

D. H. Wilkinson Primed For Deer Meet

'Deer Slayer' Aiming for 53rd Annual Kill

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

With the hunting season upon us, thoughts turn to the business of deer slaying and portraiture of top-flight devotees of the pursuit.

In the absence of records to the contrary, this researcher points to 84-year-old D. H. Wilkinson of Orion Township as the champ buck shot since James Fenimore Cooper turned up "The Deerslayer."

But shucks, you really can't put the deeds of deer-slaying of Coop's marksman on the record books, because he was strictly from fiction.

Comparing him with our local Deadeye Dick would be like putting Frank Merriwell into the same box score with Whitey Ford.

With yesterday's sunrise ushering in deer season, D. H. Heldenbrand (the "D" is for David, not Deer-slayer) is on his 55th consecutive quest of venison on the hoof.

On but two of 54 safaris has the pride of Pontiac drawn blanks. In 1956, none of the deer he saw were good sights. One of his hard and fast rules is never to draw a head unless he is sure of winning the prize.

"I never shoot until I can see the white of their eyes — or maybe their tails," says Deerslayer II.

How about that other futility foray when all he racked up was a death of deer?

Congo Rebels Set Execution of Missionary

American Charged With Being a Spy;
Due to Die Today

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Dr. Paul Carlson, an American medical missionary who refused to abandon his Congolese patients behind rebel lines, is to be executed in Stanleyville today, a Rebel broadcast announced.

The rebels charged Carlson, 36, was a major in the U.S. armed forces.

Another Radio Stanleyville message heard by a central government listing post last night said Carlson had been sentenced to death by a military tribunal of the "Popular Liberation Army."

The broadcast referred to Carlson as "the American spy Maj. Carlson."

A broadcast today claimed he had fought against the rebels.

PROTESTANT MISSION

U.S. Embassy officials in Leopoldville have denied that Carlson, 36, was in the armed forces.

They said Carlson belonged to the Protestant mission Evangelique de L'Ubangi which has its headquarters at the Covenant World Mission in Chicago.

They said Carlson's only military experience was a two-year hitch in the Navy between 1946 and 1948.

Details of Carlson's military service were passed to an International Red Cross team in Burundi, which made contact with the rebel leaders.

TREATS SICK

Carlson was captured by the rebels on Sept. 21 at Yakoma, north of Stanleyville on the Congo's border with the Central African Republic.

He had radiated earlier that he intended to stay behind to treat sick and wounded.

Christophe Ghenye, self-proclaimed president of the Communist-backed "Congolese Peoples' Republic" in Stanleyville, announced last month that Carlson was being held in the rebel capital, awaiting trial.

Carlson's execution is the first of a white foreigner to be ordered by rebel leaders, though a number of Belgian soldiers have been killed by rebel soldiers.

MURDERED

Thousands of Congolese have been murdered.

Central government troops who recaptured Kindu, capital of Maniema Province, found the foot of a monument to the late Patrice Lumumba, the Congo's extremist first premier blackened and cracked by rebel soldiers had burned hundreds of Congolese alive.

Messages filtering out of Stanleyville say batches of Congolese are killed there each day at the foot of a monument to Lumumba.

94 AREA SCHOOLS

The education unit includes a total of 94 area schools in addition to Oakland University.

The small firms unit is responsible for the solicitation of all firms in the area with 10 or less employees.

All commercial division solicitors have been urged to complete their assignments as soon as possible, Brannack said.

The division hopes to have all work done by Wednesday.

To date, this group has raised a total of $8,018.59 or 104 per cent of quota with a considerable amount yet to come in, according to Slott.

News Flash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court handed to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court today the job of seeing that the state's legislature adopts a reapportionment law meeting the federal "one-man-one-vote" standard.

Other nominees are: Harry H. Whitlow, Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital administrator; Alvin B. Steinman of Steinman's; Alger V. Connor of Fisher Body plant; Raymond Smith of S. S. Kresge Co.; William Anderson, president of the Pontiac Board of Education; Thomas P. Bateman, local realtor; Dr. George A. Harkless; and G. E. McNeive, GMC Truck and Coach.

Blizzards Hit in N. Arizona

Highways Clogged,
Stranding Motorists

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A snowstorm that blitzed The Rocky Mountains yesterday brought blizzards to northern Arizona and spilled wintry weather across normally mild central and southern deserts.

Motorists were stranded, hunters marooned and 13 persons reported missing as the late afternoon blizzard struck the Kingman area in Arizona's northwest corner. All the missing later were found safe.

Arizona 92, the main route from Phoenix to Las Vegas, Nev., was closed by the high-way patrol after at least 10 cars were stranded about 15 miles south of Kingman.

The Arizona Highway Patrol also shut off U.S. 66 to the east, and the Mohave County sheriff's office dispatched its Jeep posse into snow-swept desert mountains south of Kingman in search of the lost, who were mostly hunters. All were found by late last night.

Sheriff Floyd Cline said he'd never seen a heavier storm so early in the year.

FOUR INCHES

Deputy Pearl Misak said, "There was about four inches of snow on the ground and the wind piled up drifts as high as two feet on both U.S. 66 and State Route 93."

Motorists filled up as the stranded motorists poured in to private homes.

No serious injuries were reported there, but a Prescott school teacher, Callie Mae White, 26, was killed when her car skidded off snowy Arizona 89 about 30 miles south of Prescott.

The main highway from Phoenix to Flagstaff, 140 miles to the north, was closed for more than six hours before the patrol got some 50 cars rolling early today.

The patrol summoned all its heavy equipment and called on private wreckers to help pull cars back on the road. Chains were necessary on nearly all northern Arizona routes today.

Flagstaff reported nine inches of snow and Prescott eight.

Snows and chilling rains spread across central and southern Arizona, with snow mauling higher mountains and leaving a four-inch cover to surprise residents of Ajo, near the Mexican border.

Big Weekend Response

College Fund Grows

The weekend brought more enthusiastic response to the current drive to raise funds to purchase a site for the proposed osteopathic college in Pontiac, bringing the total contributed to date to $324,103.

With location of the multimillion dollar college here hinging on purchase of the site at Opdyke and Auburn through local contributors, the weekend donations now leave just a little more than $50,000 left of the $75,000 to be raised.

A number of prospective contributors have asked for pledge forms but have not returned them to the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce where pledges and contributions are being accepted, according to Max Adams, manager of the chamber.

Contributions, which are tax deductible, must be received before Jan. 5, in order to complete the deal, according to Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., who is heading the drive.

Two Fisher brothers, Edward F. and William A., are the largest individual contributors to date, with contributions of $7,500 each for a total of $15,000.

Another large contributor not previously listed is WKC with a contribution of $5,000.

Passenger Toll Is Not Known in First Reports

Debris Scattered on Nevada Mountaintop; Motorist Aids Search

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Wreckage of a prop-jet airliner with 28 persons aboard was sighted early today on a mountain peak about 16 miles southwest of here, sheriff's search units reported.

First reports said the wreckage was scattered on a peak eight miles south of the community of Arden. It was not immediately known if there were any survivors of the crash last night in a desert snow storm.

Sheriff's units reported spotting the twin-engine plane about 7 a.m., after searching through the night in the desert area near Arden.

Searchers were directed to the area by a motorist who told officers he saw the plane skimming the ground last night in a whirl of snow eight miles south of the city.

The witness said the plane had one wheel down, as if it were trying to land.

3 MINUTES

The Fairchild F27, Bonanza Airline's Flight 114 from Phoenix, Ariz., was three minutes from a landing at McCarran Field when it vanished from the radar screen at 8:27 p.m.

The plane was heading northeast, dropping down into the mountain-rimmed Las Vegas valley for an instrument landing.

Sheriff's officers said Bob Baker, a Las Vegas man, told them: "I was driving on Highway 91 between 8 and 8:30 p.m. when I saw a Bonanza plane, 70 to 100 feet off the ground, heading southeast. There were no landing lights on. One landing gear was down."

Baker's location was about where the plane was last sighted on radar but his sighting gave the plane a different direction: south instead of north.

GATHERED ON ROAD

Sheriff's Deeps and squad cars gathered on Highway 91 — the road between Los Angeles and Las Vegas — near the railroad-station settlement of Arden, where Baker said he had seen the plane.

4 Hunters Die in State Crash

BEAVERTON (AP)—A plane carrying a party of four Indiana deer hunters crashed on takeoff last night from a private landing strip near this central Michigan community.

All four were killed and the plane burned after it failed to clear the top of a tree.

Authorities identified the victims as the pilot, Harold F. Cornwell, 34, and Kenneth L. Nealis, 33, both engineers at General Motors' Delco Radio Division in Kokomo, Ind.; Cornwell's 10-year-old son, Stephen, and Robert Mills, 37, Marion, Ind.

State Police said the carcass of a deer was in the four-seat Piper Tri-Pacer.

The officers speculated the single-engine plane may have been overloaded, or that fog may have obscured the pilot's vision.

Youth Hurt, Man Killed in 2 Hunting Accidents

A Lake Orion youth is in St. Joseph's Hospital with critical injuries and a Wolverine Lake man is dead as the result of two separate hunting accidents during the weekend.

Frank Raymond, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Raymond, 520 S. Broadway, was shot in the head with a .410 shotgun Saturday afternoon while he and a companion were hunting ducks at a site near Indianwood and M24 in Orion Township.

Glen Kolongoski, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kolongoski, 381 N. Shore, told sheriff's deputies the Raymond boy came into his line of fire as he was shooting at a duck.

Chester A. Wisniewski, 32, 764 Wolverine, was killed yesterday in Gladwin County when a bullet from an unknown hunter struck him in the stomach, State Police said.

The stray shot first hit the arm of Arvid B. Johnson, 36, of 2399 Ethel, Wolverine Lake before striking Wisniewski. Johnson was hospitalized with an elbow wound.

In addition, two area men died of heart attacks in the first two days of the deer-hunting season.

Dead are William A. Hubble, 32, 1455 W. Saratoga, Ferndale; and Floyd V. Light, 56, of 3181 Seebaldt, Waterford Township.

Pontiac Weather Is Back to Normal

Yesterday's rain washed away an extended Indian summer in the Pontiac area this fall and ushered in cooler weather.

Temperatures for the next five days will drop to near the normal high of 45 and low of 32.

It will be cooler Tuesday and then warmer toward the end of the week.

The villainous precipitation measured only one half inch. Showers about Thursday are predicted to bring two to three tenths of an inch more.

The low mercury reading before 8 this morning was 57. By 1 p.m. it had risen to 61.

MEET IN BONN — British Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker (left) talks with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in Bonn yesterday at the start of an exchange of visits for the discussion of problems facing NATO. Gordon Walker later met with West German counterpart in an attempt to find a compromise on a new nuclear force for the Atlantic alliance. (See story, Page A-7).

Germany Eying China Contacts

BERLIN (AP) — West Germany wants to renew official contacts with Red China in the spring, a top official of the Bonn government reports. An exchange of trade missions could result, but the chief goal is political.

Talks between the two governments would not take place until Chancellor Ludwig Erhard explained his position to President Johnson, the official said.

"Now that the American elections are over, we can move ahead in our dealings with Red China," he added.

West Germany and Red China signed a one-year trade agreement in 1957, but it was not renewed. German and Chinese officials held preliminary talks earlier this year. The Chinese Communists said then they were willing to sign a new trade agreement with Bonn in exchange of trade missions and including a clause stating that West Berlin is considered economically and politically part of West Germany.

Sharp Quakes Jolt California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A series of earthquakes rumbled along a nine-county area along California's central coast Sunday night, centered in the sparsely populated Santa Cruz Mountains about 90 miles south of San Francisco.

A University of California seismologist said the heaviest quake registered between 5 and 5.5 on the Richter scale which placed the destructive 1906 San Francisco earthquake at 8.25.

In the Santa Cruz mountain village of Corralitos, about three miles south of the earthquake's center, grocer John Cruz reported it as a "real sharp jolt."

He said the shock knocked merchandise off the store shelves and littered the floor with broken glass.

Neighbors reported dishes falling out of cabinets and mirrors cracked, but no structural damage.

The shocks in San Francisco were the city's worst since a 1957 tremor with a Richter magnitude of 5.5 injured 31 persons and caused several million dollars damage.

Sunday night's shocks were brief, lasting but about four seconds.

Santa Cruz, 15 miles west of the quake's center, reported broken dishes and overturned lamps.

TWO JOLTS

San Jose, 20 miles north of the quake's center, had two jolts that knocked dishes off shelves.

The shock was also felt at King City, about 150 miles south of San Francisco, where a telephone operator at the police station said the cement station house "swayed, and I swayed with it."

NO INJURIES — Thirty-seven cars of a 100-car Louisville & Nashville freight train derailed at Murfreesboro, Tenn., yesterday. About 100 yards of steel rails were twisted and ripped up. No injuries were reported. A crewman said he believed a burned-out part on the Chattanooga-to-Nashville train caused the mishap, the fifth in the Murfreesboro vicinity in the last several years.

Local Strikes Cut to 5

Ford Eyes Next Move in Parts Shortage

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. studied its next move today in a parts-shortage situation which it says could lead to a systemwide shutdown of its 90 plants by the end of the week.

Approximately 50,000 of Ford's 160,000 employees remained idle in strikes or layoffs at factories across the country as negotiations continued with the United Auto Workers Union.

Included were 16,700 workers affected by local plant strikes which were reduced to five over the weekend.

Ford, blaming a car-parts shortage from key manufacturing plants, laid off 34,000 men last week. At that time a string of local plant strikes was idling 24,100 workers.

Both company and union expressed hope that all the strikes could be settled before a scheduled meeting between management and the UAW's national bargaining committee Thursday.

The union ordered its national Ford committee to Detroit to assist in negotiations after top-level talks had produced no agreements.

Local agreements at the plant level supplement the national agreement between Ford and the UAW, which was reached Sept. 18. The present local strikes began Nov. 6.

Two weekend settlements, at the Sheffield, Ala., aluminum foundry and the Chicago Heights, Ill., stamping plant, left five disputes remaining in the interlocking nationwide plant system of the country's second largest automobile producer.

Ford said the two settlements would not necessarily forestall further layoffs.

The unsettled disputes were over two car and truck-assembly plants in Wayne, Mich., parts plants at Ypsilanti and in Michigan's Sterling Township, and the Buffalo, N.Y., stamping plant.

The latter three, described as "highly complex," employ a total of 13,700 men.

A management spokesman, asked if such a limited number of idle plants and workers could affect Ford's entire operation, replied: "Basically, yes."

The Sterling Township chassis plant makes car axles and drive shafts, and the Ypsilanti plant a series of key car parts, including generators and alternators, heaters, shock absorbers and steering motors. Buffalo stamps out roof panels and car doors and other parts. The Buffalo plant is said to provide fully a quarter of Ford's stamping production.

Troy to Discuss Retirement Plan for City Workers

TROY — Discussion of a retirement program for city employees is on the agenda for tonight's special City Commission meeting.

A survey last spring indicated that the employees favored a retirement plan.

Also on the agenda is a public hearing on an amendment to the essential services portion to the zoning ordinance.

Further the commission is expected to make a decision whether to confer the essential services portion to the zoning ordinance.

Dr. Markus Baath, the laboratory head, said the explosion area was thought to be in the Semipalatinsk area in the Soviet Union, about 2,400 miles east of here.

Deer Slayer Aims for 53rd Annual Kill

Our young opportunist hustled to the nearby camp for a muzzle-loader, returned and shot the deer. The odor arose from the fact that at the time of the slaying the slayer had no hunting license.

But the lack was speedily supplied with backwoods astuteness. While buddies dressed out the deer, Master Wilkinson went to the post office for an ex post facto hunting license — cost then, 50 cents.

Dave has done all his hunting in a 160-acre tract near Curran, 180 miles from Pontiac as the crow flies — unless the crow got tangled up with a little Old Crow and zipped and zagg'd a bit.

Dave said his first hunt at 18 when he wasn't even hunting — and, confidentially, there was a bit of gamey aroma about it.

He was working in a lumber mill at Millersburg, when a deer, sex unknown, made an unannounced appearance. Not only that, but it showed every indication of joining the party.

Bloomfield Hills Board Will Hear Salary Report

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Board of education members tomorrow night will find out how the salaries of Bloomfield Hills teachers compare to those in similar districts throughout the country.

They also will learn how a committee of educators and citizens feels the pay scale should compare.

The findings and recommendations resulting from three months of study will be presented by the board's teacher salary study committee.

The report will be the first step in formulation of a millage proposal by the board.

Members of the committee were appointed in July to begin the comprehensive study.

Heading the group is board trustee Max Miller. Others serving on the committee represent the PTO, school administration, teachers and other interested citizens.

Committee member Dr. George Sewell, assisted by Tom Brogan and Philip Bartlett, will make the presentation at the 8 p.m. meeting in the board of education office.

BEVERLY HILLS — A portrait of the late Malcolm W. Ferguson, former principal of Beverly Elementary School, will be given to the school by the PTA tonight.

James Lewis, past president of the Beverly PTA, will make the presentation during the 7 p.m. meeting of the group.

The portrait will be hung in the school as a memorial to Mr. Ferguson, who was principal from 1941 until his death in 1962.

Also on tonight's program will be School Supt. Dr. John B. Smith, whose topic will be "Team Teaching."

The meeting will be held in the multipurpose room of the school, 18305 Beverly.

"Laughter in the Adult Literary Field" will be the topic of the second lecture in the 1964-65 season of Franklin Forums.

Mrs. Helen Williams of Rochester, who has conducted workshops in family reading, will be the speaker at the 1:15 p.m. program Wednesday at the Franklin Community Church.

Mrs. Williams is a former instructor at Wayne State University and guest lecturer at the University of Chicago.

Those not having season tickets to the series sponsored by the Friends of the Franklin Library can pay for their admission at the door.

OFF ON GRAND TRUNK

Taking off in the morning on the Grand Trunk, his party transferred to the Michigan Central at Owosso for Oscoda, where they spent the night. Next morning, it was the Detroit and Mackinac Line, which eventually chugged them to destination at end of second day.

"This catch-a-catch-can train-tripping made the Slow Train Through Arkansas look like the Twentieth Century Limited," the veteran reminisced.

For the past few days, he has been impatiently awaiting blast-off on his 1964 expedition — as bright-eyed and bushy-tailed as the game he stalks.

(NEWS FLASH) — Word has just been received that D.H.W. brought down his 1964 deer yesterday. Sort of getting a head start, wouldn't you say?

Teachers' Strike Expected to End in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Louisville teachers were expected to return to city schools today ending a strike which had hampered operations for eight school days.

The Louisville Federation of Teachers, which led the walk-out, said it would strengthen its bid to become the teachers' bargaining agent and to boost its membership.

The teachers held the classrooms after voters turned down a referendum that would have increased teachers' pay through a tax raise.

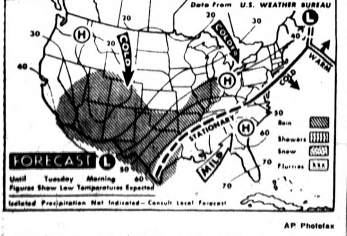

The teachers walked out in support of a demand for an annual pay raise of $1,500 — five times that which they would have received under the Nov. 3 referendum.

Narrow Majority Causes Strain

Tight Rein Irks Laborite Rank and File

LONDON (AP) — The Labor party is putting a tight check-rein on its members in the House of Commons, and some complain they are being treated like schoolboys.

Stringent attendance rules laid down by chief whip Edward Short — a former teacher and high school principal — may increase pressure from the rank and file for the leadership to gamble on a new election that might produce a larger majority and easier working hours.

One sweetener for MPs forced to spend much of their time in Parliament is the prospect of higher pay. Prime Minister Harold Wilson was expected to announce government plans for a raise today.

Under Short's rules to protect Labor's five-vote margin against Conservative calls for a snap vote, every Labor MP must be in the House by 3:30 p.m. and remain until the House adjourns, usually about 11 p.m. This is hard on those who must earn another salary, as many do.

The rules do not apply as strictly to members who also are ministers in the government, thereby giving rise to some complaints from the rank and file.

Short has installed a quota system that allows members about one day off a week, which they obtain by pairing with a Tory member who also wants to stay away.

Last week Short had some nervous hours when a group of Scottish Laborites were grounded by fog in Glasgow. They made it back just in time for the first major vote of the session, on steel nationalization, which Labor won by six votes.

British MPs earn $4,900 a year, one of the lowest parliamentary salaries in the Western world. They get no free postage, secretarial help or government office space.

Before the October elections, the two major parties agreed to a study of legislative pay by an independent commission. Its results are expected to give MPs a raise to $6,400 a year, about what a doctor in general practice makes in England. Cabinet ministers, who make upwards of $16,000, also are due for raises.

Since the Labor government has just raised income and gasoline taxes and called for national sacrifice to narrow the trade gap, the pay raises may not go down well with the average voter.

Take Stopper on Trip

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — When traveling with children remember to pack a flat rubber sink stopper so you will be able to bathe the youngsters in a stall shower if no bathtub is available.

Fill the shower trough with several inches of water and then turn off the overhead spray which often frightens children.

—MRS. L. N. DEAR POLLY — Twenty-six years of housekeeping have taught me a great way to save time and preserve my manicure.

Every time I have a skillet or pan with "burned-on grease," I put it in a plastic bag with an ammonia-soaked paper towel. Close the bag tightly and leave the pan in the bag overnight. Presto, the next day all that hard grease washes off with the greatest of ease.

I place the soaked towel on the bottom of the bag, turn the pan upside down on top of the towel and leave it that way. Thank heaven for the many sizes in plastic bags. — MRS. G. H.

DEAR POLLY — Statistics show that an average patient's stay in the hospital is now slightly more than half the time it was in 1958.

Eight out of 10 visitors interfere with the hospital routine and tire the patient to the point of hindering his recovery.

Doctors offer these suggestions on helpful hospital etiquette.

Don't take it for granted that you are automatically welcome. Telephone first to determine whether or not visiting is permitted. The new booklet, Polly's Pointers, would be a desirable yet inexpensive gift.

Remember your friend or relative is weak and easily exhausted. A 15-minute stay is ample and 10 minutes are even better if other visitors have preceded you.

Do not talk about yourself as the patient could not care less. Give your friend a lift by bringing cheerful news of friends and coworkers.

If the patient wants to talk politics or some other controversial subject, join in but do not argue.

Hold your voice down. Never betray alarm over the patient's condition but always take it for granted that improvement is being shown.

When your allotted time is up, LEAVE. Do not stay 10 more minutes after having said goodbye.

The thoughtful visitor says, "It has been good seeing you and I know you will be out soon. Good luck." Get out while the patient is still reluctant to see you go.

This is important advice — I know, for I am a registered nurse.—CAROLYN.

You'll find a wide selection of Polly Cramer's favorite homemaking hints in her new, 32-page booklet. To order your copy, send your name, address and 50 cents to: Polly's Pointers, care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Way of Washing

Delicate organdies resist wrinkling best when washed in warm water, though children's cotton organdies will take very hot water washing if heavy soil requires it.

New spray starches are excellent for putting the ginger back into organdies of man-made fibers should they become a bit limp.

The engagement of Ellen-Jo Vander Hagen to Donald Lee Schram, son of the Cecil Schrams of Holly, is announced by her mother, Mrs. Josephine Vander Hagen of Detroit. The July bride-elect is attending Wayne State University.

Plum Trees
Blossoming

TULSA, Okla., (AP) — Two years ago when Mrs. Frank O. Larson needed some native, low-growing trees to do away with any modern landscaping look around her authentic Connecticut salt box house, she knew exactly where to look.

She transplanted wild plum trees from a friend's farm near Collinsville, Okla.

This year the whole neighborhood was fragrant with the blossoming trees, and now her pantry is stocked with wild plum jelly.

Knitting Tips

Tension is very important when knitting. Tag ends of yarn should never be left on the wrong side.

Instead, they should be woven neatly into the work where they won't show. Try splicing your yarn instead of tying knots.

Thieves Collect Coins

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Rubin, 24, of Detroit told police Sunday that thieves broke into his home and made off with $17,000 in rare coins and bills and $1,000 in cash. He said the collection included American and foreign coins from denominations of one cent to a $1 and 30 rare one dollar bills.

Soft-Hearted Bandit

TONBRIDGE, England (UPI) — Before departing with thousands of feet of expensive, hard-to-get copper wire, a thief gent-

See Hectic Final Week for Council

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The current session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council entered its final week today with word from Pope Paul VI that important church doctrines must be issued before the session ends.

It promised to be the most hectic week for the 2,000 council fathers since they started this third session Sept. 14.

The cardinals, archbishops, bishops and patriarchs may have to meet in the afternoons as well as the mornings to get documents ready for the ceremonial closing Saturday.

It seemed virtually certain that Pope Paul would be able to issue two council schemata as full church decrees next Saturday.

NEW PATH — One blazes a new path for Roman Catholic relations with other Christians. The other establishes the principle that all bishops share collectively with the Pope in governing the church.

Final voting on the first schema, titled "De Oecumenismo" — On Unity — was completed last Saturday, leaving only the formality of a vote in public meeting before promulgation.

For the other schema, "De Ecclesia" — On the Church — final voting on a series of minor changes will take place Tuesday and Wednesday.

These two schemata are of outstanding significance to the Christian world. Christian unity is a major goal of the Ecumenical Council. Pope Paul has termed the issue of shared papal-episcopal power the council's weightiest task.

VERY IMPORTANT — The pontiff was obviously alluding to the two schemata when he told the crowd in St. Peter's Square Sunday that, "In this week, God willing, we must conclude discussions very important on themes and arguments, and there must be promulgated doctrines important to Christian life."

Among the unfinished items left for the next session will be the document on the church in the modern world, dealing with problems ranging from birth control to nuclear arms.

Seventy-five per cent of the carriers of the genes causing muscular dystrophy in children, can be identified in new enzyme tests.

Town Aids Child Dying of Leukemia

DERBY, Ind. (AP) — It was a festival with bingo games, bowls of hot chili and plates of homemade pie. But there was no laughter.

"Everyone's here," said the Rev. Richard Lyons, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, as he glanced over a crowd of 400 — four times the population of this Ohio River hamlet near the Kentucky border.

There was an artificial tree — with dollar bills for leaves, 500 of them contributed Sunday to help defray expenses for 3½-year-old Yvonne O'Bryant, who is dying of leukemia.

"We have more friends than I ever knew about," said the child's father, Charles O. Bryant, "I don't know how to say thanks."

BIG SUCCESS

Mrs. Luke Kellems, chairman of the festival, said, "We couldn't have hoped for a bigger success."

Lyons said, "This town doesn't have much money — I've been told it's about the second lowest area in per capita income in the state."

OPEN MONDAY AND FRIDAY NIGHTS UNTIL 9 P.M.

There is no cost for treatment given to blonde, blue-eyed Yvonne at the government-owned National Health Institute in Bethesda, Md., where the child is being cared for by doctors doing research on the blood cancer.

O'Bryant, however, must pay for frequent trips to the hospital, where the child must spend a week of each month for what doctors say will be the final year of her life.

GIVES THANKS

As O'Bryant thanked those who attended, Yvonne giggled in his arms, tugged at his collar and buried her head between his neck and shoulder.

The O'Bryants have three other daughters — Barbara Ann, 10; Patricia, 8, and Mary Margaret, 5.

"They know Yvonne is sick — but they just don't know how sick," said the father.

"She's supposed to be in what the doctors call 'remission,'" O'Bryant said. "That means she's between the effects (stages) of leukemia and she's supposed to act normal, and we're supposed to treat her normally. It doesn't always work that way."

HAIR FALLING OUT

The child's once thick and glossy hair is falling out as a result of the experimental drugs being used to prolong her life.

"The drugs cause funny things," said O'Bryant.

"Yvonne was always sweet and laughing all the time, now she's temperamental. But those drugs are keeping her alive, that's what is important — time. Time maybe to find something that will save her."

Doctors to Get Health Projects for Peace Corps

NEW YORK (AP) — R. Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps, says the corps is starting a program to send hundreds of doctors abroad on health projects.

Shriver said yesterday that 100 doctors worked overseas as volunteers or on assignment from the U.S. Public Health Service last year.

"We must double that number next year," he said. "And we need to go on from there to at least 500 Peace Corps doctors."

Speaking at a special academic convention in his honor at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine at Yeshiva University, Shriver said, "Just as the Peace Corps has sent thousands of teachers overseas to help developing nations achieve universal school education, so now we must help them make universal health education a reality."

MacArthur Was His Own Worst Enemy in Politics---Truman

Chemical Plan of K Assailed

for the presidency, but "he didn't fool anybody and least of all did he fool me."

Truman's comments came in the second of a series of taped television programs scheduled to be shown over 50 stations across the nation this week. The copyright text was released Sunday by Screen Gems, Inc. Truman fired MacArthur as Far East commander during the Korean War in a dispute over policy.

ACCEPTED BY GOP He said that at that time MacArthur's view "had become accepted Republican policy."

trying to get himself in good with one of the big parties of the government of the United States, so that he could be president of the United States.

Truman added: "Douglas MacArthur, had he stuck to his military duties, might well have been an occupant of the White House. The only thing barring Douglas MacArthur from the White House was Douglas MacArthur himself."

Truman also recalled an incident involving MacArthur, and the late Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, captured by the Japanese after the fall of Corregidor. The account varies from one given by MacArthur in his memoirs.

Truman said that after Japan surrendered he sent a plane for the captured officers. "Gen. Wainwright, of course, felt that he ought to stop by and see his former commanding general in Japan," he said.

STOPPED BY "He stopped by to see him, and Gen. MacArthur, instead of asking him to sit down and have lunch, said, 'General, I told you I'd see you at that time.'"

"Well, sometime later I sent for Gen. Wainwright and I gave him the Congressional Medal of Honor. The old man stood there with tears running down his eyes, and he said, 'Mr. President, I didn't think you would do this for me. I thought you would have me court-martialed.'"

"I said, 'you're not the one I want to court-martial.'"

MacArthur wrote in his memoirs that he had directed that Wainwright be brought to Japan for the surrender ceremonies on the battleship Missouri.

"I was just sitting down to dinner when my aide brought me the word that they had arrived. I rose and started for the lobby, but before I could reach it, the door swung open and there was Wainwright."

he had imagined himself in disgrace for having surrendered Corregidor. He believed he would never again be given an active command. "This shocked me."

"Why Jim," I said, "your old corps is yours when you want it."

After the meeting in Japan a photograph showing the two embracing was widely published. In 1948 Wainwright signed a letter to the Republican National Convention urging MacArthur's nomination.

In 1951 he called Gen. S. Lee, Grant and MacArthur "probably the greatest soldiers this country ever produced."

WAYCROSS, Ga. (AP) — When A.A. Karle of the Red Cross asked Fred Hambricht to become disaster chairman for the organization he assured Hambricht he wouldn't have much to do as there hadn't been a disaster here for a quarter of a century.

That was just one week before Hurricane Dora hit this area.

Browns Clinch Lions From Western Division Title Chase, 37-21

Beach Intercepts Two, Scores With 65-Yarder

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

CLEVELAND — The Detroit Lions have not only lost their claws but they don't even have a purr of a chance left in the NFL Western Division title chase.

Led by pro football's finest fullback, Jimmy Brown; the all-time great field goal specialist, Lou Groza and by Pontiac's Walter Beach, sophomore defensive back, the Cleveland Browns played four alert quarters of football to defeat the Lions, 37 to 21.

Brown, as Jim Taylor of Green Bay did last week, rolled up 147 yards and two touchdowns against the once-vaunted Lions' defense and he received help from Groza's three field goals,

made a diving catch for the touchdown. It was 147 with the PAT.

MUFF CHANCE — Just as the period ended the Lions had the chance to pad the score when Sam Williams hit Ryan and Karras grabbed the fumble in mid-air on the Detroit 40.

Six plays moved the ball to the Cleveland 44 and from here the Lions elected to punt on fourth down, with the ball going into the end zone.

Seven plays later to the Detroit 31, Groza booted a 38-yard field goal to make it 14-0.

At the 10 minute warning on their own four-yard line, Tom Watkins hit the line on a draw play. He fumbled and Paul Wiggins recovered on the three. Brown went the three yards and it was 17-14 with Groza's point at 1:29 left in the half.

In only five plays, helped by a 30 pass play to Gail Coghill, Plum hit Terry Barr who got by Beach for a 39-yard touchdown and it was 21-17 as Walker converted with 31 seconds left.

A 30-yard runback of the kick-off by Walt Roberts, a 15-yard run and lateral play from Brown to Ryan, and a 10-yard pass to Brown put the ball on the Detroit 41. Groza then booted a 47-yard field goal to make it 21-20 and no time left on the clock.

After about a dozen and several Brown bursts, Ryan hit rookie Paul Warfield with an eighty yard touchdown pass and the Browns had a 27-21 lead as Groza converted midway in the third period.

With 3:35 left in the game, Plum went for a long pass to Coghill but Beach intercepted at the Cleveland 43 and three plays later Groza put the game away with a 36-yarder making it 30-21.

Sonny Gibbs came into the game with 27 seconds left. He completed a three-yard pass to Gibbs and then threw long to Coghill. Beach, however, intercepted again at the 35 and with some fancy sidestepping from the left sideline across to the right sideline and to the goal line, he went 65 yards.

Operating from the double wing and helped by two key roughing penalties, one on former Bay City Central and MSU grizzer Bob Kanicki, the Lions got to the four, and from here Plum threw to Jim Gibbons who scored on the Browns' 43.

Six Cards Boggled Down

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The New York Giants severely dented the title chances of the St. Louis Cardinals on Don Chandler's fourth period field goal that provided a 10-10 tie Sunday in a National Football League game bogged down by rain and mud.

Chandler, who had a field goal attempt from the 18 blocked earlier in the final period, made his second attempt from the 21 with about six minutes remaining.

Both teams had final chances to grab the victory, but the Giants blocked Jim Bakken's field goal attempt from their own 48 and Pat Fisher of the Cardinals intercepted Y. A. Tittle's long pass on the St. Louis two in the last minute.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Washington's Redskins, riding on the arm of Sonny Jurgensen, thrashed the Pittsburgh Steelers 30-0.

Jurgensen hit on two 80-yard touchdowns and another score in dealing the Steelers their fifth straight loss and the seventh of the year, the worst season record since 1965.

Jurgensen's two touchdowns gave him 19 for the year, high in the league. He connected on the long tosses to Angelo Coia and Charley Taylor, both in the second quarter.

Taylor scored the Redskins' first touchdown in the first quarter on a three-yard burst over right tackle after a 63-yard drive in eight plays.

DALLAS (AP) — King Hill led Philadelphia on a 96-yard dash down drive with only minutes to go today and his 38-yard pass to Pete Retzlaff brought a 17-14 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

The Cowboys had taken the lead 14-0 early in the fourth with the defense furnishing three opportunities to score.

But Hill had other ideas. His running and passing drove the Eagles on the long surge that wound up with the winning touchdown with only 2:09 left.

A crowd of 55,972, largest ever for a NFL game in Dallas, saw Philadelphia take over third place in the Eastern Conference, knocking Dallas down to fourth.

Baltimore Wins 9th; 49ers Upset Packers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Alex Hawkins caught the winning touchdown pass in the last quarter for the Baltimore Colts as they avenged their only National Football League loss to the Minnesota Vikings with a 17-14 victory Sunday.

The Colts were trailing 14-10 with six minutes to play when Hawkins, captain of the kicking and receiving teams, made a diving end zone catch of a 26-yard pass from quarterback John Unitas. Hawkins was helping fill in at end for the injured Raymond Berry.

ONLY LOSS — Minnesota, which handed the Colts their only defeat 34-24 in the opening game, threatened to repeat when Tommy Mason ran 21 yards for a touchdown early in the last period.

The Colts offense, which had been averaging nearly 35 points a game, got on the scoreboard first at the start of the second half on a 35-yard field goal by Lou Michaels.

Unitas and Lenny Moore then slipped through the Viking line on an explosive touchdown play covering 74 yards.

Moore took the pass in the clear from Unitas and galloped 45 yards to the end zone for his 15th touchdown of the season and his scoring streak to a record 15 straight games.

The Bears scored 13 points in the third quarter on two field goals by Roger Leclerc and a touchdown strike by Bukich, all the result of three Ram fumbles.

Bukich, who started and went all the way for the first time, threw three touchdown passes, one apiece to Marconi, Mike Ditka and little Johnny Morris.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Miami's All-America George Mira scrambled through his debut as a starting pro quarterback Sunday, marshalling the San Francisco 49ers to a 24-14 upset over the Green Bay Packers.

Trailing 7-0, the 49ers drew impetus from a 49-yard field goal by Tommy Davis and a 70-yard touchdown punt return by Kermit Alexander en route to their third victory of the season.

DRAWS CHEERS — Mira replaced veteran John Brodie. He drew cheers from the crowd of 38,483 in Kezar Stadium with his performance despite fumbling four times. Two of the fumbles were recovered by the Packers.

BART STARR hit a 44-yard touchdown pass to Max McGee to get Green Bay under way but then was knocked cold in the second quarter and could not return to action.

Notre Dame Great Says Beaten Duffy

EAST LANSING (AP) — The term "greatest" was a favorite expression of both coaches following the thumping Notre Dame, 34-7, victory over Michigan State Saturday.

"It was one of the greatest victories I've ever had," declared Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian.

"One of the greatest teams I've ever played," praised MSU Coach Duffy Daugherty.

Pontiac Cagers Lose Opener

Nationals Make Discovery in NABL

GRAND RAPIDS — The Pontiac Nationals learned in their North American Basketball League opener that there is no substitute for conditioning.

In their professional basketball debut, the Nationals played with pre-season time favorite Grand Rapids for three quarters before winning in a last period deluge and losing, 112-88.

More than 3,000 fans (2,974 paid) watched the host Tigers open the NABL campaign by overcoming an 11-point Pontiac lead in the second quarter.

In the first of two offensive slumps, the Nationals saw a 34-23 lead early in the second quarter turn into a 51-48 halftime deficit.

The tacklers again out-muscled and outlasted the visiting Nationals early in the fourth quarter.

A big third period scoring spree by Pontiac's Willie Merriweather put the Nationals into three one-point leads after intermission. He hit 14 of the first 16 points tallied by the blue clad Nationals.

They trailed, 80-76, entering the last stanza, cut it to two points, and then saw Grand Rapids run an 85-81 lead into a 100-81 margin.

The Tackers' superior conditioning — they had twice as many pre-season workouts — enabled them to crash the boards and then fastbreak away from their tired visitors.

Grand Rapids had a backboard advantage of 61-47 and a field goal attempt edge of 129 (50 good) to 122 (43). Many of the winners' points came on easy lays.

Pontiac did make an impression on the Grand Rapids fans, officials and players. In Charlie North they had the game's outstanding player.

The 6-3, husky forward led all scorers with 22 points on eight of 18 attempts and six-for-six at the foul line. He also topped the rebounders with 19.

The 6-6 Merriweather finished with 21 points and 6-16 Dick Dzik came off the bench to can seven field goals, making Al Cobb's 14. John Hammett added 10.

Pontiac also suffered a loss when 6-6 forward John Morgan injured a knee late in the game and was forced to quit for the night. It is doubtful he'll be available for next Saturday's encounter at Muskegon.

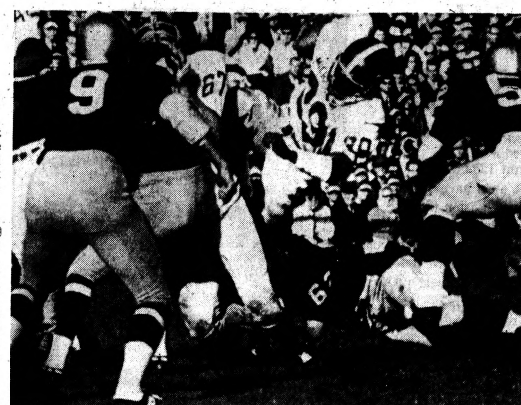

GAME STAR — Although the Pontiac Nationals lost their season opener Saturday night at Grand Rapids, they had the game's top individual player in Charlie North who scored 22 points and pulled in 19 rebounds.

U-M Tops Iowa 34-20; Eyes Roses

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan hasn't won a Big Ten football championship since 1850 but the Wolverines get their big chance this Saturday against Ohio State, a team with four titles to its credit during Michigan's dry spell.

If the Wolverines can keep their awesome offense rolling against Ohio State's tough defense, Michigan will represent the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. If not, it'll mean still another crown for Woody Hayes and the Buckeyes.

Michigan remained in the running with a blasting 34-20 victory at Iowa Saturday while Ohio State handcuffed Northwestern 10-0. Purdue dropped out of the race by suffering a 14-7 defeat at Minnesota. Illinois crushed Wisconsin 29-0, Oregon defeated Indiana 29-21 and Notre Dame made Michigan State its third Big Ten victim, 34-7.

Red Wings Cling to First Place

DETROIT forward Eddie Joyal suffered a bruised right shoulder when he slid into the backboard after a futile goal attempt.

It was unknown how serious the injury was and if he'll miss any action. Center and captain Alex Devecchio missed his second straight game due to a broken jaw.

Montreal moved within one point of the Wings by tying the Boston Bruins, 2-2.

State Colleges Suffer Defeats

By The Associated Press

Teams of the Wolverine state captured only one of five games non-state rivals in Saturday action on the small college football front.

Powerful Hillsdale completed a 7-2-1 independent competition record by mopping up Central Michigan 26-7 in the Dalers' finale.

Western Michigan went all the way to Provo, Utah, to take a 43-8 drubbing from Brigham Young. Olivet bowed to Western Kentucky 44-20.

Of the 10 other games Marietta of Ohio noled out Wayne State 7-3, Anderson Ind. won from Alma 26-14, Ashland Ohio defeated Eastern Michigan 13-7, and Bluffton Ohio outdid Grand Rapids JC 20-6.

Sophomore quarterback Carroll Williams, making only his second start, threw three touchdowns and led Xavier of Ohio to a 38-7 football victory over the Detroit Titans Saturday night.

Many Responsible for Student's Failure

By LESLIE J. NASON, E.D.

The failure of children in school often catches parents by surprise. Their first thought is often "Who's to blame?" There is little question where to place the blame when serious learning problems are encountered as soon as a child enters school. The school hasn't had a chance so the final points to the home.

DR. NASON

However, with changes at home and cooperation at school the child's behavior patterns can be improved. During the kindergarten year, kindergarten teachers and parents working together can bring about sufficient change to assure a successful entry into the first grade.

Prompt change is vital to the child's future success in school since first grade starts basic work in reading and arithmetic.

Actually the kindergarten teachers are often so successful as substitute mothers that a child's lack of self-control and self-discipline are not obvious; in fact, some children are carried all through the elementary school by their teachers.

The start of junior high school then becomes a traumatic experience. Suddenly a child must adjust to several teachers who are interested primarily in subject matter and who expect their pupils to have acquired a fair amount of self-confidence and self-discipline, along with proficiency in reading, writing and arithmetic.

Here then the lack of home training is really faced for the first time. To make matters worse, the pupil has had an added six years in which his wrong attitudes have become fixed habits — to say nothing of the established behavior patterns in the home which, for best results, should have been different all through the last twelve years.

It is necessary at this stage to get the whole matter out into the open so that parent and pupil understand the problem and accept the challenge.

As the problem is allowed to drift further into the teens the difficulty of solution shows startling increases.

At the very time the teen-ager is struggling for independence and self-determination the parent comes face to face with the necessity of imposing suddenly more strict controls, or in the opposite situation, suddenly loosening the reins.

Self-control and self-discipline that should have been attained by this age are not things that can be acquired overnight.

Outside counseling is usually necessary and is effective provided all concerned face up to the situation. If the student resists, it is often helpful to place the problem squarely in his lap.

The counselor may say "Your parents have tried to do what they can for you. The school has tried. Both have failed. Obviously if there is going to be any improvement, you are going to have to do it."

Nevertheless, someone must help the student blotter his shaky study techniques and his habits. He may need guidance in catching up on neglected fundamentals. This should be provided by someone outside the family.

While the Italian team won the World Bridge Olympiad, it was not a bed of roses all the way. No one went through the preliminary rounds undefeated and the Swedish team beat them six victory points to one.

Agressive bidding paid off. The bidding in the accompanying box took place when Sven Berglund of Sweden sat South. He started out mildly enough with his two diamond response, but after his partner reversed to 2 spades, then gave a diamond preference, Sven was ready to go the roof.

He checked for aces with four no-trump and when North showed two aces, Sven went right to the diamond grand slam.

It was not the sort of grand slam you want to be in for the rest of your life. Sven did not want to be there when he saw the dummy, but he proceeded to bring it home.

Rebels Using Chinese Ammo

Discovery Is Made at Congo Hideout

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo — Chinese Communist machine gun ammunition has been discovered in a rebel hideout in the eastern Congo.

A white mercenary non-commissioned officer reported to today that he had pulled out eight or 10 cases of Chinese 30-caliber ammunition from a Congolese hut about 25 miles north of the mercenary base at Kindu Saturday morning.

"There were Chinese markings on the boxes," he said.

The ammunition was brought back to Kindu, where the mercenaries are preparing for their final thrust against Stanleyville, capital of the rebel "Congolese people's republic" about 250 air miles to the north.

Although intelligence sources repeatedly had affirmed that Peking was backing the 11-month-old rebellion in the Congo, there had been no tangible proof.

BEEN SEEN

Rebel leaders had been seen several times in the past in the neighboring kingdom of Burundi and the Congo (Brazzaville) Republic, the sources said. But they added Chinese aid so far had been confined to money to finance subversion and training in guerrilla tactics.

Last week, however, reports reaching Leopoldville said a Soviet-built Tu-16 transport plane landed at Arua, a Ugandan town close to the rebel-controlled northern Congolese border.

The reports said the plane was unmarked and was flown by a white crew, believed to be Algerian. Three truck loads of boxes resembling ammunition crates were unloaded and the trucks immediately headed for rebel territory.

The reports said the plane was believed to have come from Tanganyika, where shipments of Chinese weapons and ammunition have arrived recently.

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Uncle Sam and John Bull are taking opposite directions on the tax trail.

For the British consumer and bond-clipper the plan to raise some sales taxes and levies on higher bracket incomes will be unlikely.

But for many American shoppers there are promises of tax cuts on a number of items at the stores. And Dawson for many American business firms there's also hope of more cash in the tills from still further relaxation of tax rules.

The British are raising taxes because sudden prosperity has sent both consumers and industries on buying sprees and thrown government fiscal affairs, especially in foreign trade payments, out of kilter.

Excise levies Washington is talking of abolishing excise levies on a host of goods taxed at the retail sales level and cuts on some taxed at the point of production.

The idea is to increase sales by making goods cheaper to the consumer, and thus to give the economy another nudge up.

Eliminating some excise taxes and cutting others, and allowing business firms to take speedier depreciation allowances for tax purposes, are the plans at the top of the list for the incoming Congress. Still further lowering of income tax rates may come later.

Whether it all works out the way the planners expect, many Americans will feel themselves lucky when their tax bills go down. And the administration seems confident that Congress will like that and vote the tax changes.

The American proposals might save consumers anywhere from $550 million to somewhat less than $2 billion a year, and save businesses some $200 million to $300 million in calculating corporate taxes.

The British schemes might cost $588 million a year through cuts in their already highly prosperous level.

higher corporate and personal income tax rates and stiffer levies on such things as gasoline.

The American tax cut proposals stem from rising treasury receipts as both individual and corporate incomes increase. So Uncle Sam feels wealthier and more generous.

The excise taxes are dubbed nuisances by both shoppers and merchants and were originally levied in wartime to solve revenue emergencies.

Now the government is more interested in seeing the economy expand than in taxing consumers. The federal income tax cut earlier this year has stimulated buying to a still undetermined extent and encouraged business to expand.

The hope is that all this will push the economic growth rate high enough to provide the new jobs needed to trim the stubbornly high total of unemployment and to counter the loss of old jobs through automation and technical advances.

More money The idea that, if government spending is reduced, it takes out through taxes, the stimulant eventually will more than offset the Treasury deficits that result during the process.

Connolly Tells South to Adjust Says Rights Act Means Changes Inevitable

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Gov. John B. Connolly of Texas said today that Southern leaders must "adjust to inevitable change" wrought by the Civil Rights Act and redoubtable efforts "to establish reasonable relationships among men."

In a speech prepared for delivery at the 61st annual convention of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association, Connolly said the act is law, and that any president bound by his constitutional oath "is going to enforce the law."

"We could make no greater error than to devote our resources to a course leading up to a blind alley, to the neglect of work in behalf of growth and development so essential to the South," he added.

The greatest enemy of states rights is the person who uses that doctrine as a shield against sensible progress.

There are, however, Treasury notes and bonds with a variety of maturities in the next 30 years available for investment. If we take the longer limit of your possible investment period, we come up with May, 1965. You can buy U.S. Treasury 4 1/2 percent notes due May 15, 1965 to yield 3.67 per cent. These are readily marketable, and I recommend them for your purpose.

They're Janitors in School System

New York Financial Wizards Clean Up

By FRANCIS STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — New York long has been known as a city of big financial operators. But hardly anyone would have expected to find a flock of them sweeping out the little red schoolhouse.

There were gasps of amazement here and elsewhere when it came to light that city school custodians were among the highest paid people in the nation.

A number were found to be making more than governors, mayors of large cities, college presidents and even school superintendents.

One wound up with $53,000 for a year's work, $3,000 more than New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Another made $46,130. By comparison, School Super. Calvin A. Gross gets $45,000 a year.

Of the city's 870 custodians, some 68 were in the $25,000-plus bracket.

How did this situation come about?

Long ago the ruling elders of the school system concluded that it would be better to farm out the janitorial job than to set up a large organization within the system to do it.

BECAME CONTRACTORS
As a result, custodians became contractors. As individuals they contracted to maintain and keep the schools clean. The money they received was based on the size of the school.

Out of the lump sum they were to hire whatever help was necessary and pay for all equipment and materials to do the job.

Whatever was left over was their own pay.

About a year ago the system came under official scrutiny as the result of newspaper stories on custodians' income.

Probes were undertaken by a newly installed school administration and by Herman T. Stichman, special commissioner of investigation for Gov. Rockefeller. Public hearings were held by Stichman.

A school official testified that the custodians were getting "two to five times more than what is being paid in private industry." He added that in personal inspections he found many schools weren't being kept clean.

There was other testimony that some custodians apparently were cutting down on service in order to increase their "net retainers."

Speaking in defense of the custodians was Harry G. Mundt, president of Local 891 of the International Union of Operating Engineers. The local represents most of the custodians, who, in most cases, must pass civil service tests.

Mundt, unpaid as president of the local but a school custodian himself whose last publicly reported pay for a year was $31,500, maintained that there had been no wrongdoing by custodians and that "the taxpayers have gotten their full value."

Late last month the union and school administration agreed on new terms.

It provided that no custodian will keep more than $26,000 a year. Under a new formula based on school size, only five or six will receive this much.

The bulk will get between $13,000 and $15,000 a year. In some cases the figure will drop as low as about $8,500.

Body Found With Arm, Head Cut Off

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman's tattooed torso, along with her head and right arm, were found Sunday in a Bronx lot — presenting police with their third such mutilation death in less than a month.

Medical examiner Dr. Charles H. Hochman said the death was caused by manual strangulation. He said the woman had been dead about a week but that the body had been in the weed-choked lot not more than two days.

The head and limb apparently had been sawed off, Hochman said.

The remains had tattoos on both shoulders, the left breast and the arm and thumb. The woman apparently was of Latin-American background, 25 to 30 years old, about 5-foot-2 and about 130 pounds.

On Oct. 21, the headless torso and severed limbs of a woman were found in two tenement buildings on Manhattan's West Side. She was identified as Jocelyn Carr, 32, of Manhattan.

Last Friday the nude and dismembered body of a blonde washed ashore on Jones Beach, Long Island.

Both legs had been severed below the knees and the right arm taken off at the elbow as if by a propeller. The remainder of the body bore extensive fractures. She has not been identified.
