Senator: LBJ to Duck Real Tax Needs Until After '68

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken says he has been told President Johnson's war-related tax increase proposal "isn't half of what they will need. They are going to try to put off asking for the rest of it until after the election" next year.

The Vermont Republican said in an interview if the administration doesn't "listen to reason pretty soon" on Vietnam, "it will have written one of the worst chapters in American history or, indeed, in world history."

Aiken said his constituents are protesting the 10 per cent surtax on income taxes asked by Johnson Thursday to help finance mounting war costs.

The senator, second-ranking Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and a persistent war policy critic, said he had been "reliably informed" that the requested tax hike was less than half of what is needed.

★ ★ ★

He said he agrees with the assessment yesterday by Democratic leader Mike Mansfield that the administration is planning a further escalation of the war.

'BIGGER FAILURE'

"The only solution they have to offer," said Aiken, "seems to be a bigger failure because the failures we have had aren't big enough."

He said one failure was the recent visit to Vietnam of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Clark Clifford as emissaries of Johnson.

"That was a complete farce," he declared. "They announced before they went that they were going out there to enlist more support from our allies.

"But, before they arrived, our allies had a meeting and decided they weren't going to give us any more troops.

'NOT THE REASON'

"So now they come back and say that wasn't what they went for at all."

Mansfield told the Senate yesterday it appeared there was going to be a further escalation of the fighting "with the costs in lives and money being borne preponderately by us."

He said many things pointed to a longer war and less pointed to peace, including Johnson's decision to send 45,000 more men and the battleship New Jersey to the combat zone and what he described as apparently unsuccessful efforts to persuade U.S. allies to contribute more troops.

★ ★ ★

Mansfield declaring "the enemy can match and outmatch us on further escalation," called for U.S. initiative to put the war before the United Nations Security Council, a stop of the bombing of North Vietnam and construction of a defensive barrier between North and South Vietnam.

BACKS SUGGESTION

Aiken backed these suggestions.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., told the Senate he hoped the President would try for a U.N. settlement.

★ ★ ★

Aiken said: "Everything the administration has done so far has been a failure. Any other policy would be an improvement except dropping the atomic bomb and that would be the biggest failure of all."

$1-Billion Riot Fund Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Abraham A. Ribicoff and Charles H. Percy proposed today a $1-billion riot-prevention fund and wide flexibility for the President in spending it.

The senators said the bill would require no new appropriations or additional spending. It would authorize the President to transfer up to two per cent of budgeted, nondefense spending into a neighborhood emergency fund.

Percy, R-Ill., and Ribicoff, D-Conn., said the President then could make grants to states, communities and nonprofit organizations for local efforts aimed at easing urban tensions and promoting orderly community growth.

The fund would differ from existing urban-aid programs, the senators said, in giving the President the ability to act quickly and with flexibility in response to local initiatives.

Emphasis would be put, said Ribicoff and Percy, on the concerted use of private industry and capital, civic groups and existing federal, state and local government programs.

SENATE RIOT PROBE

Meanwhile Senate riot investigators appeared divided over the course of their probe, which has centered thus far on policemen, racial agitation and the federal antipoverty program.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., says testimony developed to date by the Senate Judiciary Committee's hearings convinces him there's a need to see whether government money supports "organizations that are responsible, directly or indirectly, for these riots."

But Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., are pressing for a broadened investigation to cover social and economic factors they contend lie behind urban rioting.

Leonard F. Kowalewski, president of New Jersey's 2,000-member Fraternal Order of Police, insisted that people connected with the antipoverty program in Newark were involved in racial demonstrations which created the climate for five days of deadly rioting.

ANTIPOVERTY AGENCY

He spent well over three hours on the witness stand, repeatedly naming the United Community Corp., Newark's antipoverty agency, as a source of racial unrest.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., the man in charge of guiding antipoverty legislation through the Senate, demanded after yesterday's hearing that Director Sargeant Shriver of the Office of Economic Opportunity be given a chance to rebut the charges.

UAW Slaps at GM, Slates Strike Vote

DETROIT (UPI) — The United Auto Workers today blasted a General Motors Corp. contract demand as an attempted "steal" and urged its 400,000 GM workers to give the union authority to strike.

The strike vote, to be held the week starting Aug. 20, was the first scheduled during this year's negotiations for a new three-year contract covering 674,800 workers, at GM, Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp.

Present contracts with the "Big Three" expire Sept. 6 and the UAW always takes strike votes midway in the negotiations so the union's executive committee can declare a strike if no settlement is reached.

Leonard Woodrock, UAW vice president and chairman of its GM bargaining team, called the strike vote in a letter to local union leaders in which he lambasted GM for its demand that the cost-of-living escalator clause in present contracts be watered down.

GM asked the UAW to give it credit in the new contract for the 18 cents per hour workers have received in cost of living raises during the present three-year pact.

"Here General Motors demands that UAM members pay back the 18 cents per hour earned as cost of living protection," Woodcock said. " . . . Not content with this steal, GM goes on to demand that future cost of living amounts shall be discounted from the 1967 settlement.

★ ★ ★ ★

"I can only conclude that living as they do in the rarified atmosphere of their stratospheric profits, General Motors executives have lost all sense of reality.

" . . . All local unions have been notified to take strike votes during the week of Aug. 20. Only by rallying our ranks can we bring General Motors executives back to the world of reality."

Shelby Police, Fire Levy OK'd

Shelby Township residents yesterday added $324,000 to township coffers.

Three millage issues designed to beef up the police and fire departments and to provide a pension plan for department members were approved by margins of 2-1 and 4-3.

A 2.5-mill issue expected to raise $183,000 for the police department passed by a vote of 1,455 to 807. Its passage means $130,000 budgeted for the department will be freed for the township general fund.

A $900,000 bond issue to be paid at the rate of 1.5 mills a year passed 1,248 to 953. The issue is expected to raise $109,000 a year for the construction of four new fire stations and the purchase of equipment.

The vote was 1,368 to 863 for a pension plan to be paid .5 mills by the township and 5 per cent of salaries by police and firemen.

NEED REALIZED

Shelby Township Supervisor Kirby Holmes, beset by financial problems since taking office, said, "The people realized the need and they came through like champions."

Last month, the township was reported running into red ink and facing a possible "payless payday" for some of its employes.

The emergency did not rise but several current bills reportedly went unpaid until the receipt of state revenue.

A total of 2,257 votes were cast.

Policeman Said Killed by Fellow Officer in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Police say a 41-year-old veteran Detroit patrolman was shot and killed last night by a fellow officer after their private cars were involved in an accident.

★ ★ ★

Killed was Patrolman John Bryant, who was off-duty and wearing civilian clothes.

Police said he was shot by Patrolman James Montgomery, 23, after Montgomery saw a gun in Bryant's hand. Montgomery also was in plain clothes.

It began, officers said, when Bryant and Montgomery's cars collided.

★ ★ ★

They said Montgomery chased Bryant, forcing the older officer's car over to the curb.

'NOTICED A GUN'

Montgomery, who officers said identified himself as a policeman, walked up to Bryant's car. Police said he noticed a gun in Bryant's hand and shot him.

★ ★ ★

It was not clear whether Bryant attempted to identify himself as a policeman, officers said.

The officers had been assigned to different precincts.

Viet Chief Wants More Troops

SAIGON (AP) — Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu said today more allied soldiers are needed in South Vietnam to win the war. He indicated he believes the 45,000 to 50,000 additional U.S. troops President Johnson intends to send by next June will not be enough.

★ ★ ★

"We have to accept that," Thieu said. "But if we have more it's better.

"We still need more troops. We have not enough troops to clear all the Vietcong bases at the same time . . . to occupy the whole South Vietnamese territory and to stay long enough with the people in the villages to provide them with enough security to support our pacification program.

"If we have more troops we can shorten the war."

★ ★ ★

Thieu said that the present allied troop strength of 1.2 million was enough to prevent any major attacks by the Communists, "but we should realize that the Vietcong still have the capability to disturb us. We need a big amount of troops to be everywhere and to do many jobs at the same time."

LOSE GAINS

If troop strength is not increased, he said, "we will lose again what we have captured from the Vietcong."

Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky met with newsmen for the first time as candidates in the Sept. 3 national election, in which Thieu seeks the presidency with Ky as his running mate.

Crime Fighter's Killing Probed

Georgia Blast Tied to Car, Liquor Traffickers

JEFFERSON, Ga. (AP) — Investigators dug into car theft operations and illegal liquor traffic today in hunt for the assassin whose dynamite bomb snuffed out the rackets-fighting career of a state prosecutor.

The booby-trap killing of Solicitor Gn. Floyd G. Hoard, who had led a crime cleanup drive, shocked community leaders into marshaling their own citizens war on organized crime in this Northeast Georgia area where car stealing and bootlegging flourish.

Hoard, 40, father of four, died Monday morning when he turned the ignition switch of his car and detonated six to 12 sticks of dynamite wired under the hood. He was on his way to present evidence to a grand jury prior to criminal court next week.

"If it was intended as a threat, I'm going to double my efforts," said Judge Mark Donahoo of Superior Court, elected as a reform candidate with Hoard nearly three years ago. "We have got to try to eliminate these brutalities, these hoodlum tactics."

Authorities and townspeople agreed that Hoard's crusading crime fight had left a multitude of enemies. Joe Hoard said he had urged his younger brother to take precautions against a car booby trap last May—after Floyd Hoard brought up the subject.

"He came to me, brought it up and said this thing might happen," the brother said. But Floyd Hoard did not follow through on the advice to place strips of tape on the hood and doors of his car.

The bomb murder was similar to a dynamite explosion that injured Martin Page, an auto salvage operator at Greenville, S.C., more than a year ago.

Pair Held in Death of State Girl

JACKSON (UPI)—A man and a woman were held today in connection with the death of a teen-age girl whose decomposed body was found in a trash-littered rural area.

Meantime detectives in Ypsilanti sought the killer of another girl whose nude body, the hands and feet missing, was found in a similar area.

Medical authorities ran tests on the decomposed body today to determine whether it was that of Mary Fleszar, 19, an Eastern Michigan University coed who vanished during an evening stroll July 9.

State Police said investigators had not linked the discovery of the body near here Sunday and that of the other girl who was found two miles north of Ypsilanti yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Both bodies were badly decomposed and neither was positively identified. But State Trooper William Jelier said clothing on the body found five miles north of Jackson closely matched that worn by Roxanne Sandbrook, 13, when she vanished from her Lansing neighborhood July 17.

NO COMMENT

Lansing Police Chief Derold W. Husby refused today to comment on the case. But State Police Cpl. Richard Vansipe said a man, 25, and a woman, 29, were being held as suspects in the slaying of the Sandbrook girl.

He declined to name them but said they were from Lansing and "apparently knew the little girl."

Two farm boys, Mark A. Lucas and Russell Crisovan, both 15, found the body near Ypsilanti Monday while plowing on the farm of Crisovan's father.

★ ★ ★

Straw sandals found near the body matched the description of those worn by Miss Fleszar when she left her Ypsilanti apartment July 9 for an evening stroll, leaving her purse, car and personal belongings behind. She has not been seen since.

SPRAWLED FACE DOWN

Ypsilanti police said the body was sprawled face down, the hands and feet missing.

Police described the area as a "lovers lane."

The other body was found late Sunday about 50 feet east of a gravel road five miles north of Jackson, Jelier said, by "a couple out looking for oddly shaped bottles." He said the semiwooded area was littered with refuse.

MOTHER CHARGED WITH MURDER — Mrs. Mary Connolly (center), 43, is in custody of a police matron and a state trooper at Ayer (Mass.) District Court yesterday where she was charged with four counts of first degree murder in the deaths of her four children. She was held without bail and committed to Gardner State Hospital for observation. The children were identified as Branda, 16; Gregory, 11; Gary, 7; and Thomas, 3, found shot in their Dunstable, Mass., home.

6 Citizens Act to Stop Fluoride

County Circuit Court to Hear Suit Monday

A temporary injunction will be sought Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court to halt the addition of fluoride to the water supplied to the City of Pontiac by Detroit.

The show-cause hearing was scheduled before Clark J. Adams after six Pontiac residents filed suit opposing the introduction of the chemical into the water last week.

Named defendants in the suit are the City of Detroit, the City of Pontiac, and the Detroit Board of Water Commissioners.

The complainants are Barbour Williams, Freda C. and Harley E. Woody, Neva G. Stewart, Anna R. Dover and Maude Lamoreaux.

★ ★ ★

Their attorney, John T. Rogers, said their rights have been infringed.

CITY ORDINANCE

"They voted against fluoride years ago, and there is still a city ordinance in effect that prohibits the addition of fluoride in water in Pontiac," said Rogers.

The ordinance was adopted in April 1955 when Pontiac used its own supply of water.

In 1961, however, Pontiac entered into an agreement to purchase water from Detroit, which, according to Rogers, has a clause pertaining to the addition of chemicals that conflicts with the 1955 ordinance.

City to Hear Zoning Bid for Apartments

City commissioners tonight will hear a proposal for rezoning 533 acres at Walton and Perry for construction of a $20-million apartment complex.

★ ★ ★

Dr. John Ylvisaker, a well-known developer, has requested that the land be rezoned to R-3 and C-1 for construction of some 1,000 apartment units and small shopping facilities.

The City Planning Commission has recommended approval of the rezoning petition.

Also to be considered is a rezoning request which would allow apartment units to be constructed on a 15-acre site between Madison and Perry and west of Arlene.

★ ★ ★

A request from developer Charles Langs to add 10 acres to a 40-acre site being developed for rent-supplement housing on Kennett next to the Alcott Elementary School will be considered.

★ ★ ★

Commission approval is required in order to meet governmental conditions of the federally sponsored rent-supplement program.

The Commission will also:

- Review bids for sale of $1,800,000 worth of sewer revenue bonds.
- Receive a petition signed by property owners on Durant and Inglewood objecting to storage of junked cars in a lot at Pershing and Durant.
- Consider taking bids on new aeration equipment for the city's sewage treatment plants.
- Receive a report from the Haskins and Sells management consulting firm which will recommend guidelines for updating the city's accounting and data processing systems.
- Receive a report from the Board of Review.

Parking Along Maple Will Return to Normal

BIRMINGHAM — Parking along Maple in the downtown business district should be back to normal in about two weeks, city commissioners were told last night.

Ring road construction projects probably will be completed by that time, according to City Engineer William Killeen, ending the parking ban on the south side of the major thoroughfare.

The progress report was coupled with a short discussion on the results of study made in June on the effects of a complete prohibition of parking.

The month-long test, May 19-June 17, revealed that business along Maple suffered severe financial losses when parking was removed.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning recommended in a report to the commission July 23 that parking not be permanently removed from Maple.

REPORT WITHHELD

The commission, however, did not officially air the report until last night.

In his report, Kenning said that traffic did move easier and that there was a lessening of congestion, but the parking ban did not offset the negative impact of the change.

"The center of the community became a moving automotive throughway and not a leisurely pedestrian-oriented shopping center," Kenning's report said.

★ ★ ★

Following the test ban, parking had to be temporarily removed to allow for construction projects in the downtown area.

NUMEROUS DISCUSSIONS

The removal of parking along Maple had been discussed a number of times by commissioners, but until the test was made, nothing had ever been done about it.

"It certainly cleared the air of any doubts," said Commissioner William Saunders.

Commissioner David Breck said that a personal survey of stores during the parking ban showed patronage was far below normal, and in some cases, there was a complete absence of customers.

In other business, the commission accepted the resignation of Donald W. Degen from the planning commission.

Degen, 1602 E. Maple, said in a letter that increased personal and business commitments prompted his resignation.

Cong Defector Sees War End

SAIGON (AP) — A Communist defector introduced by the South Vietnamese government as a lieutenant colonel said today the allies will win the war, perhaps in two or three years.

"The last victory will belong to the government and the allies," Huynh Cu told a news conference.

Though intelligence estimates of enemy strength within South Vietnam have remained for weeks at about 296,000, Cu said it is difficult these days for the Vietcong to recruit new men.

Speaking through a Vietnamese army English-language interpreter, Cu said one district he was familiar with in the northern province of Quang Ngai had a quota of 100 recruits in the first three months of this year, but only three were found.

"Most of the young men had left the district," he said. "The rest did not like the Communists, or they said they were sick and in bad physical condition."

Clark Details Steps to Get Riot Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration—acting on the heels of a sharp dispute between the President and Michigan Gov. George Romney—has formalized its procedure for sending federal troops to a riot zone.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, in letters sent to all 50 governors, outlined steps they must take to obtain U.S. military help to quell a riot.

★ ★ ★

The requirements closely parallel those followed by the administration in sending troops last month to the Detroit riot. That procedure was criticized by Romney—a potential Republican candidate for president next year—as politically inspired.

★ ★ ★

Johnson and Clark have denied politics entered into the administration's consideration of Romney's request for troops. Clark has said Romney didn't actually ask for troops until eight hours after the governor said he did.

Clark outlined this three-step procedure states should follow for getting federal troops:

- Determination that serious domestic violence exists.
- Determination that local and state police and National Guardsmen cannot handle the disturbance.
- A request by the governor or legislature to the President for federal troops.

Troy Man Held in Romania After Traffic Fatality

VIENNA (AP) — The U.S. embassy in Bucharest reported today that Romanian authorities are holding George Diak of 851 Marengo, Troy, in connection with a fatal road accident.

A spokesman said the embassy was informed that Diak, 49, was arrested July 27 after he was involved in an accident in which a Romanian man was killed and a woman was injured.

★ ★ ★

The accident occurred near the town of Caransebes, in western Romania, Romanian police said.

The embassy has asked for permission for a member of its staff to visit Diak at the Caransebes jail.

Riot Probe Unit Solicits Ideas

LANSING (AP) — A joint House-Senate "super" committee, which will try to coordinate and keep politics out of investigations of recent Michigan riots, has called for ideas from lawmakers and local officials.

The Legislative Coordinating Committee on Civil Disturbances, holding its first organizational meeting Monday, decided to solicit ideas as to what areas need investigating and how it should be done.

All existing House and Senate committees apparently would "sit tight" until the coordinating committee assigns areas of investigation, committee leaders indicated.

In addition, leaders of the 10-member committee said they will contact Michigan's U.S. senators regarding Gov. George Romney's request that Detroit be designated a federal disaster area.

They will ask Republican Robert Griffin and Democrat Philip Hart how much federal aid can be obtained, how much is needed and how the committee can help in efforts to seek federal help.

Kelley Ruling Asked on New Tuition Plan

State Rep. William P. Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, has dumped the legal question of the controversial Michigan State-Oakland University tuition plan into the hands of Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

Hampton, a lawyer in Pontiac, requested yesterday in a letter that Kelley rule on four questions concerning the ability-to-pay plan as soon as possible "inasmuch as the MSU board plans to put this new plan into effect this September."

The MSU Board of Trustees, which also governs OU, last month passed a tuition plan where Michigan undergraduates would be charged a yearly tuition equal to 3 per cent of their parents' gross income if they make between $11,800 and $16,700.

Below an income of $11,800, students would pay $354 a year and above $16,700, a maximum of $501 yearly.

"We realize the urgency of this matter and we're working on it with all deliberate speed," Kelley said. Hampton said today he was informed that Kelley would try to have a ruling in 10 days.

Meanwhile, Michigan State and Oakland University are working out costly plans for the administration of the complicated plan, not knowing whether they will be in vain.

Hampton, the House majority floor leader, asked the attorney general whether:

- The plan violates "any Michigan or federal constitutional provisions."
- Parents can legally refuse to disclose their income.
- Disclosure of income can be a requirement for admission.
- The Legislature can pass a law prohibiting sliding scale tuitions.

'NOT ENOUGH TIME'

"My main argument is that I don't believe enough time was spent looking into the merits of the program," Hampton said today.

"If the plan is ruled legal in all respects, I may introduce a statute—after some thought — after January to prohibit such a method of raising tuition at state universities."

Hampton's request follows last Thursday's House passage of a resolution calling on the MSU trustees to scrap the ability-to-pay plan, which was called "discriminatory, unworkable and undoubtedly constitutionally questionable."

★ ★ ★

MSU trustees who approved the plan, 5 Democrats to 3 Republicans, remain firm in their decision but now have the threat of cuts in MSU and OU's budget next year if they don't revert back to the flat scale system.

"Another of my arguments is that a lot of students in this area around Oakland University work to raise their own tuition," Hampton explained.

"It is unfair that these self-supporting students will have to pay more than others just because their parents make over a certain amount."

More Arrests Likely in Two Negro Killings

DETROIT (AP)—Officials say more arrests are likely in the case of two white Detroit policemen charged with murdering two Negro teen-agers in a motel at the peak of the city's riot.

Prosecutor William Cahalan of Wayne County said he expects more warrants to be issued in connection with the shotgun killings, "but not murder warrants." He indicated conspiracy charges might be filed against some of those present when the shootings occurred.

The policemen, Detroit patrolmen Ronald August, 28, and Robert Paille, 32, pleaded innocent at their arraignments yesterday. They were jailed without bond.

August is accused of killing Aubrey Pollard, 19. Paille is charged with killing Fred Temple, 18.

★ ★ ★

A third Negro, Carl Cooper, 17, also was found killed by blasts from a 12-gauge shotgun in the motel.

But Calahan said he lacked evidence for or against claims that Cooper may have been shot by a uniformed man.

3 Women Off on Year's Trek

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Three young European women are taking the long way back to their native lands—a 45,000-mile land and sea journey into 18 countries.

"We want to prove a point, that women are capable of accomplishing any feat of endurance performed by man," said one of them, Alexandra Youngson, 23, of Dundee, Scotland.

★ ★ ★

Inspired by Britain's Sir Francis Chichester, who sailed the globe alone in his sloop Gipsy Moth IV, the young women have nicknamed the station wagon they bought for the trip "Gipsy Rover."

Miss Youngson and Isobel Turner, 22, of Kilmarnock, Scotland, have been working as governesses in New England and New York. Joining them is Marianna Kruger, 22, a mechanical draftsman from Schweinfurt, Germany.

LETTER OF CREDIT

They left Newport Saturday with international auto licenses and registrations and a $6,000 letter of credit. Driving in six-hour shifts, the trio expects to clock about 5,000 hours behind the wheel before the Gipsy Rover arrives in Glasgow next summer.

They are forsaking the curlers, creams and ointments used by most women.

"We needed all available space for gasoline and water cans, sleeping bags, cooking supplies, first aid kits and mosquito nets," said Miss Youngson. Isobel and I will share one suitcase during the whole trip, with another small bag of finer things for our ocean voyage."

They will sleep in the Gipsy Rover on a specially constructed folding bed. "We plan to pull into driveways along the way and ask people to let us spend the night in their yards," Miss Turner said.

Their itinerary is plotted through Pennsylvania's Amish country, across the Corn Belt, over the Rockies and Sierras to San Francisco, then through Grand Canyon to El Paso, Tex.

"We've tried to stay away from major highways so we can see America from a more personal viewpoint," Miss Turner said.

★ ★ ★

They plan to head through Mexico, over the Pan American Highway to Panama, then cross to Colombia by freighter because much of the highway from Panama to Colombia is unfinished.

Following the highway down the west coast of the continent, the girls will cross the Andes Mountains and plan to be in Buenos Aires by Dec. 19, when they are booked on an ocean liner that will carry them and their auto to Cape Town, South Africa.

GETS SEASICK

Miss Kruger, who suffers from seasickness, will cross by air and meet them after the holidays.

FEMININE ROVERS — A trio of girls from Europe load a station wagon nicknamed "Gipsy Rover" in Newport, R.I., with gear for 45,000-mile land and sea journey. The girls embarking on a tour of North and South America, Africa and Europe are (left to right) Marianna Kruger, 22, Schweinfurt, Germany; Alexandra Youngson, 23, Dundee, Scotland; and Isobel Turner, 22, Kilmarnock, Scotland.

C'MON SUN — These three clowns and aerialist Lois St. Varian hope a good day will prevail when the Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus rolls into town Friday for 2 and 8 p.m. performances at Pontiac Mall. It really won't matter, though, as the shows will be staged under a large tent with seating for more than 4,500 spectators. The circus is sponsored by the Drayton Plains Lions Club.

On Donelson Park Project

Fall Rebidding Seen

A group of residents from Donelson Park Subdivision were told last night that a proposed sanitary sewer project for their area will probably be rebid this fall.

Bids for the project initially were opened June 5 and later rejected because the low proposal was significantly higher than the construction estimate of $134,537.

Sewers are planned for parts of Marion, Elizabeth Lake, Voorheis, Chadwick and Colrain.

The residents are anxious for the project to proceed and, consequently, made the request to be heard at last night's meeting.

A representative from Johnson and Anderson, Inc., township consulting engineers, told them the project could be under construction within 30 days after bids are received.

FOUR RESPONSES

When bidding took place in June, only four contractors responded, whereas 10 or 12 proposals normally could be expected, according to engineers.

In other business last night, the board approved the preliminary land plan for Lakeland Estates No. 2 Subdivision.

News of Waterford

The proposed development is located on the east side of Dixie Highway, north of Walton Boulevard, according to township officials.

★ ★ ★

Also last night, a lot split was approved for a piece of property on the northwest corner of Airport Road and M59.

Approved subject to final inspections by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission and township police and fire departments was a club license and dance permit for VFW Post 1008 at 1690 Airport.

★ ★ ★

In other business, first notice was read on a request for transfer of ownership of a 1967 SDM-licensed business at 6500 Hatchery from L. Clare Kramp to Charles F. and Marjorie Martin and Lee R. and L. Marlene Stark.

Report Shows Fires Fewer

Total for Month, Year Down; Damage Is Up

Fires in Waterford Township last month tailed off considerably from the July 1966 total, according to a monthly report accepted by the Township Board last night.

The report showed that township firemen battled 34 fires last month, 36 in June and 75 the preceding July.

Number of fires after seven months this year was 253, compared with 346 for the same period last year.

Direct fire damage, however, stood at $141,133 through July this year against $101,565 for the same period of 1966.

★ ★ ★

Last month, fire damage totaled $32,680, compared with $20,410 in June and $5,190 the previous July.

BUILDING FIRES

Twelve of last month's fires occurred in buildings, the report indicated. Ten originated in motor vehicles, seven were of the brush and grass variety and four others were classified as miscellaneous.

★ ★ ★

The department answered 19 other alarms last month, including nine rescue and emergency runs, increasing the total number of alarms to 53.

★ ★ ★

Through July this year, township fire fighters answered 402 alarms, compared with 514 for the same period last year.

'Outstanding Work' by Police Is Cited

Waterford Township Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson, on behalf of the Township Board, last night presented a plaque to Police Chief William Stokes for the "outstanding job" done by the police department in the recent Pontiac disturbances.

Inscribed on the plaque were the words:

"Whereas, rioting, looting and civil disorder erupted in the City of Detroit on July 23, 1967, and

"Whereas, such civil disorder spread to the Pontiac and Waterford area on July 24, 1967, and

"Whereas, such rioting, looting and civil disorder presented serious threat to the lives and property of the citizens of Waterford Township, and

★ ★ ★

"Whereas, the Waterford Police Department was faced with the hazardous and extremely difficult task of protecting our citizens and their property;

Now, therefore, it is hereby proclaimed, on this seventh day of August 1967, by resolution of the Township Board, that there be and hereby is extended to the Police Department of Waterford, the sincere appreciation and gratitude of the Township Board, its officials and the people of Waterford, for the police department's dedication to duty, the long and difficult hours of service on their part expended and the efficient and professional manner in which they, as policemen, above and beyond the call of normal duty, protected the lives and fortunes of the people of Waterford."

Stokes, afterwards, expressed gratitude to the Township Board and citizens for their help the week of July 23.

"With the support we got from the Township Board and the authority they gave us, we were able to fulfill our enforcement of riot control duty."

He said the citizens cooperated in that "they adhered to the curfew and made our job much easier."

Some citizens and business places also assisted by donating food and preparing meals for policemen, said Stokes.

New Slope Added At Pine Knob Ski Area

Farmington Mulling Steps to Avoid Water Rate Hike

FARMINGTON — The City Council may consider building a water reservoir and pumping station in an effort to avoid a 25 per cent rate hike, it was learned at the council meeting last night.

This would amount to a $4.80 increase per year to the average individual user.

The City of Detroit Water System is requesting the 25 per cent increase as a surcharge for the city's use of water during peak periods, explained City Manager John Dinan.

The peak periods are early morning and evening in summer, he said.

* * *

Farmington built a 1.25-million-gallon reservoir some time ago to avoid a possible surcharge. The Detroit Water Board does not now accept this reservoir to offset peak period use.

ENGINEERS' REVIEW

The council plans to have engineers Pate, Hirn and Bogue, Detroit, review the case to consider how Farmington could avoid the surcharge. The council also plans meetings with the engineers and the Detroit Water Board.

Construction of additional ground level storage and a pumping station is an initial suggestion for alleviating or eliminating the surcharge. These improvements will require a water revenue bond.

The Detroit Board of Water Commissioners has also demanded that Farmington, as well as other cities, impose a 15 per cent rate increase.

* * *

This decision came out July 31 and is to be effective Nov. 1, 1967. The council does not dispute this rate increase.

LAKE HURON PROJECT

This lesser increase would amount to an additional $2.40 per year to the average customer. It is to help finance the Detroit system's $117,000,000 Lake Huron project, to be completed in three years.

The council did approve of another water-related rate increase, though. As a result, the water connection tape fee charge will go up.

There had been no increase in this fee since May, 1961. The city recently completed a study showing it costs an average $168 to install a water system connection.

* * *

The city has been charging within a $140 to $165 limit. The new rates range from $175 to $265.

EFFECT NOT IMMEDIATE

The increase will not effect existing homes until November 1968.

In other business, the city will be taking a poll of property owners on Brookdale between Grand River and 9 Mile. The results should tell whether or not the residents want their street paved.

The council decided this poll was needed when some of the property owners opposed the paving, reversing an earlier opinion.

Some property owners expressed a desire for the concrete paving.

* * *

At the second public hearing last night, residents said they changed their minds. Earlier they had signed another petition expressing opposition.

"The big reason for this switch of opinion is realization of the costs of the paving," said one property owner.

The special assessment price is estimated at $12 per foot.

* * *

In other action, the council approved a general commercial rezoning for Joseph H. Winebrener, owner of Glendale Auto Supply, 31036 E. Grand River.

ADJACENT TO TRANSFORMER

The parcel is on the west side of Orchard Lake Road and adjacent to a Detroit Edison transformer.

Winebrener plans to establish an auto parts business on the site.

The council also approved about $1,000 in overtime pay for the public safety department's work during the recent civil disturbances.

* * *

This $5 per hour overtime replaces any compensatory time off. "About 200 hours is too many to pay back as hours off," said Police Chief Bob Deadman.

New Pine Knob Ski Run Near Completion

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Ski enthusiasts at Pine Knob Ski Area this winter will find that bulldozers over the summer have pushed one of the resort's smaller slopes into one of the longest and highest runs in southeastern Michigan.

Work is now nearing completion on the project which, when completed early this fall, will provide a run of approximately 2,800 feet and a vertical drop of nearly 300 feet, according to the resort's manager, Ollie Vavrous.

The longest of the resort's nine slopes previously had extended about 1,800 feet.

Vavrous said the new hill has been built so far to a height of about 270 feet. The remainder of the work, he said, will consist of leveling off the hill at its peak as well as building slightly more length and vertical drop into the slope. It is already as high as any of the resort's existing slopes.

Approximately 66,000 tons of soil, mostly sand, have been used to build the slope, according to Vavrous. Work on the project was begun early in January.

CRITICISM MADE

Operators of the resort came under criticism last week by some adjacent property owners.

They claimed at the hearing for a proposed township-wide zoning ordinance that soil washing down from the hill and noise of machinery had become a nuisance.

Township officials pointed out at the hearing that operations of the sports center were controlled by state and county agencies as to use of land and water.

* * *

Reno Ministrelli, president of Pine Knob, said his facility lives up to all requirements of the state and county authorities. Improvements at the site, he said, "will be of benefit to the entire community."

RUNOFF WATER

Vavrous noted that the slopes have been positioned so that water runoff collects in fixed spots. To do otherwise, he said would endanger slopes and the foundation of the ski lodge as well as be an enfringement on the right of the resort's neighbors.

Only once, he said, has runoff flooded the collecting pool and spilled across Pine Knob Road onto a neighbor's property.

This happened about a month ago following a heavy cloudburst, he said.

Rochester District Buys 71 Acres for High School

ROCHESTER — An option on 71 acres of land at the northwest corner of Tienken and Adams roads has been exercised, the board of education was told last night.

Charted as the site of the district's projected second senior high school, the land was purchased at a cost of $234,000.

Plans call for completion of the school by September 1969. Funds for its construction were included in a $7.3-million bond issue approved by voters a year ago.

The school is planned to accommodate 1,000 students, including ninth graders.

* * *

The construction work on the new Long Meadow Elementary School is proceeding on schedule, the board was told. The Nov. 1 opening date seems assured.

KINDERGARTENERS TRANSFERRED

In order to accommodate kindergarten students until its opening, the board last night approved a plan whereby Long Meadow youngsters would attend classes at St. John Lutheran School, Rochester.

* * *

The remaining grades due to attend Long Meadow will double with Meadow Brook School students at the latter site, according to plans work out by the board.

A personnel report revealed a shortage of elementary school teachers in the district.

Fire-Fighting School Is Friday, Saturday at Selfridge Air Base

Macomb County Firemen's Association in cooperation with the Greater Detroit Safety Council will conduct its second annual regional fire school Friday and Saturday at Selfridge Air Force Base.

Classes will include petroleum fire safety, aircraft crash rescue, operation of rescue equipment, the care, maintenance, operation and relay of pumpers, and officers' training.

Fred Beck, 30360 S. River, Mt. Clemens, asks that advance registrations be returned to him as quickly as possible. Other registrations will be accepted from 8 to 9 a.m. on the days of the program.

Classes are slated to begin at 9:30 a.m. and last until 4:30 p.m. on both days.

Firemen are asked to bring their protective equipment.

Natural History Day Camp Set at Seven Ponds

DRYDEN — Seven Ponds Nature Center near here, a project of the Michigan Audubon Society, will conduct a second session of a Natural History Field School day camp Aug. 14-16 for boys and girls 10-14 years old.

Activities each day will include a "Listen and Learn" time in the center building, an adventure walk along the nature trail, group projects, individual projects, and a "Let's Do and See What Happens" time.

Parents are invited to attend a night session Aug. 17. Hours of the school are from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. daily. Reservations may be made by writing the Center at 3854 Crawford, Dryden before Aug. 10.

Art 'n' Apples Festival Issues Call for Artists

ROCHESTER—Area artists interested in having their works appear during the second Rochester Art 'n' Apples Festival Sept. 14-17 have been urged to apply for entry blanks.

The blanks may be obtained by writing the festival, P.O. Box 328, Rochester.

Three categories are available for display.

The Michigan Artists' Market and Judged Show will feature works selected by Guy Palazzola, professor of art in the University of Michigan College of Architecture and Design. Mrs. William Keinath and Mrs. John Toski are cochairmen.

* * *

Three judges will select the exhibits for the Sunday Painters show, a category for nonprofessional painters. The judges are Louis Rossetti, director of architecture at Giffels & Rossetti, Inc., Detroit; Carl S. Angevine, a Detroit newspaper artist; and Joseph T. Franz, retired vice president of the Lou R. Maxon Advertising Agency, Detroit.

FESTIAL CHAIRMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Jarvis are festival chairmen in charge of the Sunday Painters exhibit.

* * *

A new division, the Art 'n' Apples Artists Market, will accept any painting presented for possible sale. The market is sponsored by the Rochester Branch, American Association of University Women. Mrs. Kurt Stubenvoll and Mrs. Robert Skrivseth are cochairmen.

Garage Sale Aug. 19

ROCHESTER—The second annual garage sale sponsored by the Rochester Jaycee Auxiliary will take place from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Aug. 19 at 431 Oak.

Proceeds of the sale are earmarked for community service projects such as Pontiac State Hospital and the auxiliary-sponsored story hour at Woodward Memorial Library.

Troy Seeks Costs on Sewer Project

TROY — The City Commission last night voted to rescind a resolution passed earlier this summer providing for installation of a sanitary sewer on Colebrook from Rochester Road to Ellenboro.

The commission, at the urging of the Oakland County Health Department, voted to direct the city manager to prepare plans and cost estimates on both Colebrook and Trombley streets between Rochester and Ellenboro.

The health department survey showed that nine out of 21 homes on Trombley had sewage problems and eight out of 24 homes on Colebrook had sewage problems.

In other action last night, the commission approved an agreement previously negotiated between the city and Local 574 of the International Union of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes. The union membership ratified the contract July 15.

* * *

Also approved was a plan to widen Big Beaver Road at the entrance to the Civic Center for a cost of $9,025.

Almont Discontinues Nonresident Services

ALMONT — The Village Council has voted to discontinue its practice of accepting water and sewer customers from outside the village limits.

* * *

As Village Manager Eugene King explained it, "the practice in the past has allowed the construction of a number of small lines into the township. No good purpose can be served by this haphazard situation. If people want village services, they can petition for annexation."

Land Option Taken for New High School

The Avondale Board of Education last night took an option on 35 acres of land at Auburn and York at a total cost of $105,000.

The deal hinges on a zoning change — the purpose being the use of the site for construction of a new senior high school.

The board had earlier voted to build its voted high school on the Avondale Junior High School site, and Schools Supt. John Dickey was instructed to contact the state for the purpose of purchasing land abutting on I-75 adjacent to the site.

A drop in the asking price of the York-Auburn property triggered the new move, according to Asst. Supt. William Saville.

* * *

He said the attempt would still be made to get additional land at the junior high school site for its "future potential."

In other business Lawrence Sharer who recently resigned as administrative assistant was named as principal of Elmwood Elementary School. Herbert Pinner, former principal at Elmwood, was named to the same post at Stiles Elementary School. He replaced William Brooke who recently became the new administrative assistant.

The board accepted the resignation of Leonard Passint, social studies teacher at the Avondale Senior High School. He has been named to the staff at Northern Michigan University, Marquette.

Spur Plans to Head Off Trouble

Avon Men Aim for Citizen Riot Squad

By JEAN SAILE

AVON TOWNSHIP—You could almost smell the sagebrush.

The buckskin ponies may have been replaced by steel folding chairs, but the idea was right out of a Western.

* * *

The alarm came from the recent civil disturbances in Pontiac and riots in Detroit.

IMPRESSED BY DANGER

To hear the 13 men at last night's committee meeting was to get the idea that Avon Township is under imminent danger of attack.

This, despite the protestations of Sheriff Frank Irons, called in as adviser, who felt any danger involved would center on the big city areas.

The sheriff:

- Allowed at one point that a curfew would probably be more effective than an armed citizens' group.
- Cautioned for the need of applicant screening and training.

* * *

- Had his advice largely ignored in the rush to "defense."
- Wound up promising as much help as he could give, but put no strings on what that help would be or when it would be available.

* * *

Meanwhile the subdivision representatives went on with plans for a 1,000-man went on with plans for a 1,000-man force, available on call, uniformed and helmeted and equipped with "shotguns, deer rifles and radios."

NAME FOR GROUP

A name came out of the meeting—Public Safety Corps. One representative said, "Good, because it's about as far removed from the connotation of vigilantes as possible."

That was a word that was largely avoided last night.

The committee went on to vote that Trustee Willam McCullough recommend to the Township Board that a director of public safety be named to head the group.

* * *

"This group would not be necessarily just for riot control," said Township Supervisor Cyril Miller, sparkplug for the organization. "We would use you boys to control vandalism in the township. We could move you from subdivision to subdivision as needed," he said.

WORD OF CAUTION

There was some caution expressed by a retired Michigan State policeman who said that a citizen has a right to defend only his own property, and he didn't know if the group could be moved around the township.

Miller seemed to feel he could get around the issue by deputizing key men.

"It's different here in Avon," he said. "We have a higher level of individual intelligence and skills than in many other areas."

"I tell you," said Miller, "the response to this has been enthusiastic."

POTENTIAL OF CORPS

"I can see the possibility of many such corps in the cities and townships, capable of joining forces when needed," he added.

The plan is due for public presentation at a meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in the Township Hall.

As one unenthusiastic bystander put it —"A few years ago it was Civil Defense. About 40 men showed up. When they found out they needed training, 20 dropped out. Of those, 13 finished training and today we've got three members."

* * *

The rub against training was apparent at last night's meeting.

"You're not going to be able to get enough men willing to take a year's training," said one. "But there are lots available — World War II men — who would carry a gun if they were needed," he assured.

Big Red Barrages Near DMZ Slowed

DONG HA, Vietnam (AP) — U.S. Marines below the demilitarized zone underwent some of the fiercest enemy barrages of the war through the first week of July.

North Vietnamese artillerymen, firing from sturdy, well camouflaged bunkers, lobbed across 3,581 shells. The Leatherneck post at Con Thien was the target of 804 in a single day, July 6.

The shells ranged up to six-inch, 108-pounders from 150mm weapons mounted on tanklike tracks for mobility.

The artillery remains a dangerous threat, but Marines feel American countermeasures—the return fire of U.S. guns, ground sweeps and intensified air strikes—have at least taken the edge off the enemy cannoneer's game.

NO COMPARISON

The number of shells has dropped to about 70 a day.

"There is no comparison between now and when they really started, said the Marine commander, Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman Jr.

Red antiaircraft guns make the aerial operations hazardous. At least seven planes have been lost.

★ ★ ★

All told, Marines report destruction or damage to 66 antiaircraft positions and 19 artillery positions in southern territory and nine antiaircraft and six artillery positions across the border.

NO ESTIMATE

There is no estimate of the damage to guns. Some of the positions may have been empty at the time they were blasted.

It is along the demilitarized zone that the Marines have been committed to meeting and killing North Vietnamese regulars. It is at the zone the figurative line has been drawn.

★ ★ ★

"If we don't stop them at Gio Linh and Con Thien, where do we go?" Cushman said. "The next place is Cam Lo and Dong Ha. Then we get casualties there.

"We end up at Hai Van pass (five miles north of Da Nang) and we have lost two provinces for sure—along with inordinate casualties."

★ ★ ★

In holding the line since Operation Hastings blocked a Red invasion in July 1966, the Marines have claimed 6,639 North Vietnamese dead. Leatherneck casualties have been 1,163 men killed, one quarter of their dead in the war, and 6,891 wounded.

★ ★ ★

Before Hastings, the zone went virtually unnoticed. The closest Marine battalion was at Phu Bai, 50 miles south.

★ ★ ★

With Hastings and Operation Prairie, Aug. 3, 1966 to Jan. 31, 1967, the Marines came and stayed along the zone, killing 2,182 and scotching a North Vietnamese plan to take over Quang Tri Province, northernmost in South Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Since March, the beginning of the dry season, the fighting has been more vicious and frequent and, with the exception of Khe Sanh near the Laotian border, concentrated around Con Thien.

WHOLE BATTALIONS

Lately the Marines have been moving in strength, whole battalions stiffened by tanks. One battalion walked into a North Vietnamese ambush July 29, losing 23 dead and 191 wounded. The North Vietnamese have at least five regiments within a day's walk of the battle ground.

★ ★ ★

Heavy casualties have sometimes been taken when companies have been cut off.

★ ★ ★

"Sometimes the company just isn't strong enough," Cushman said. "You can get in a lot of trouble in a hurry in that vegetation."

★ ★ ★

But he suggested that if the Marines holed up in strongpoints, attacks by the infiltrating enemy on road and air traffic and the bases themselves would inflict more casualties than at present.

"We have an active defense," the Leatherneck commander said.

"We try to find him before he gets dug in and gets set. We put air and artillery on him, rather than Marines, whenever we can.

"Nevertheless, Marines have to go out and find him or we're just sitting in the dark."

Hope to Clear Water

Swedes to Pump Lake

By Science Service

Even if current efforts to stop pollution of American lakes and streams score eventual success, the effects of years of accumulation of human waste will not wear off quickly.

One of the principal problems is that the layers of rich garbage now on the lake bottoms will continue to release nutrients into the water for many years, supporting noxious algae growths such as have already appeared over hundreds of square miles of Lake Erie.

★ ★ ★

A group of Swedish scientists plan to try to pump 70 years worth of this nutrient-rich mud from the bottom of Lake Trummen near Vaxjo. They expect to sell the mud fertilizer to recover some of the cost of collecting it.

If their plan succeeds in clearing the waters of the lake, it might well be applied in the myriad American lakes still suffering from decades of use as garbage and sewage dumps.

Howard Flint

This area truly loses a lovable citizen in the death of HOWARD FLINT. A pioneer in the ink business and one of the motivating powers in his profession throughout his lifetime, this kindly and soft-spoken soul endeared himself to many.

The Howard Flint Ink Company remains in strong hands but the guiding genius that set up the organization during its formative years will be missed — just as he will by scores of warm friends in everyday life.

Vice President Assails Violence, Its Causes

In an emotional speech before the National Association of Counties Convention in Detroit last week, Vice President HUBERT HUMPHREY lashed out at civil violence and the conditions which breed it. While he said little, if anything, we haven't heard before from the administration, the vice president made several points.

HUMPHREY

First, was his overriding emphasis that violence will not be tolerated and law and order must be restored by "whatever legal means it takes to do it." Along these lines he bitterly attacked the more radical, militant groups as "those who would turn Americans against each other."

★ ★ ★

Secondly, he asserted that "Americans must root out the conditions which have led to the slum and the life of physical and spiritual poverty within it."

Finally, he urged communities to take advantage of present programs designed to rid us of these slums and aid the ghetto dweller.

It is ironic that he was talking in a city which has taken advantage of such federal programs and cried for more; which has had what was considered a model civil rights program; and which has just been ripped wide open by the worst riot in our nation's history.

★ ★ ★

No one has all the answers to the civil rights and poverty problems, but we agree that violence isn't going to solve anything. The vice president's message tends to make us more acutely aware of the danger posed by extremist groups on both sides of the socio-economic fence.

It also indicates that the trend in "urban renewal" may be turning from commercial to residential. For, in Detroit's case, the riot didn't come from commercial blight. It was born in the despair of the ghetto—urban, residential blight.

People Seen the Nation's Biggest Problem

Demographers — professional people counters — are happy about the Nation's steadily declining birth rate, which this year will reach a record low.

But, characteristically, they unhappily warn that it's too early to celebrate our escape from becoming a totally urbanized, congested Nation.

We are continuing to grow in numbers. Somewhere around January 1, 1968, U.S. population will reach 200 million. Even taking into account the falling birth rate, one estimate is that at the turn of the century it will be 340 million.

One reason for the present birth decline, according to David Goldberg, University of Michigan sociologist, is the numerical disproportion between marriageable young women and marriageable young men.

Most women marry between 18 and 21, and they generally marry men between 21 and 24. But since 1956, there have been fewer men than women looking for them.

But this imbalance will disappear as the boys born in the baby boom 10 to 20 years ago become available. In fact, the imbalance will be reversed in the 1980s and we may well see an upsurge in the birth rate.

Another factor giving the demographers pause is the preference expressed by American women in various polls for a family of slightly more than three children.

If American women really do average 3.5 children from now to the end of the century, instead of the present 2.5, U.S. population would double to 400 million.

"Nearly all parents," says an authority, "ridicule the idea that having one additional child could contribute to a national problem. Yet this is one of the facts of life."

Woes Piling Up as LBJ Eyes '68

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Troubles are piling up on President Johnson the closer he comes to the 1968 election, now only 15 months away. He is a political master, but he is headed for his toughest workout.

MARLOW

Some but not all of his troubles: the war in Vietnam, the city riots, his request last week to Congress to raise individual and corporate taxes. Before election day he will probably have more troubles. Two of the best things that could happen to him—an end to the war and an unconvincing Republican opponent—are only dreams now.

As for the riots: there may be more this year and worse ones in 1968.

The Washington Post poking around in Congress, found uneasy spirits, particularly among Democrats, some of whom felt Johnson is hurting, and a belief that these are the most troubled times in this country ever.

Perhaps the only break Johnson has had so far, getting ready for 1968, is that the Republicans haven't yet come up with a towering presidential prospect who dominates the public imagination.

HIS OWN HANDS

So, as of now, Johnson's political fate is in his own hands.

Vietnam, with no solution visible, was bad enough. It split American thinking. Everything about the war is intangible except him. As President he is the symbol of American involvement.

Therefore, he has become the target for the opponents' blame. Then the riots mushroomed. He can't be blamed for them directly but he is the symbol of American law and order and some of the public concern will be dumped on him.

★ ★ ★

Worst of all, from a political standpoint, is the fact the cost of the war forced him to ask for a tax increase which will affect nearly everybody, if Congress approves, and therefore create new antagonisms toward him.

DEADLY OPPONENT

Perhaps his most deadly political opponent — and maybe consciously — is Ho Chi Minh, Communist boss of North Vietnam who has been at war 21 years, first against French and now against the United States.

As leader of a pretty primitive society, it might have seemed reasonable to think he would have caved in when this country decided to make a real war of it and particularly when it began bombing the North.

He had one thing working for him, and he made the most of it. This was his realization the United States would want to confine the war to the South rather than invading the North and thus risking war with Red China.

★ ★ ★

His reasoning after that seems clear: Since there was already dissension in America over the war, if the North kept fighting, the pressures at home, and even the election's political necessities, might induce Johnson to seek a truce.

EASY WAY OUT

To help make the United States get tired fighting such a standstill war, he increased his forces as the United States poured in more men. But so far Johnson has shown no inclination to seek an easy way out.

The increased bombings in recent days may indicate the opposite. What Johnson may be seeking before election is not a truce but a victory.

Capital Letter:

VP Boasts Fine Youth Program

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—Vice President Humphrey exuberantly reports that over a million needy 16 - to - 20 - year - olds who have never before held jobs are employed this summer in private industry.

Ruth Montgomery

In addition, another 250,000 are in training programs sponsored by federal, state and local governments.

Humphrey has reason to feel pride in his accomplishment. As chairman of the President's Council on Youth Opportunities, he has personally manned the telephones and hit the sawdust trail to pry opportunities for youth out of mayors and industrial tycoons alike.

In this third year of the program, teen-age unemployment has been reduced for the first time, while adult unemployment has risen, and very little federal money has gone into it.

Hubert Horatio Humphrey has the kind of enthusiasm that is highly contageous. Take camping, for instance. The vice president discovered that a quarter of all camp beds went unused last summer, and he wasn't about to let it happen again.

★ ★ ★

By talking virtually nonstop on radio, telephone and TV, he cajoled enough sponsors to send hundreds of thousands of underprivileged kids to camp this summer.

MADE AVAILABLE

He also sweet-talked the head of the National Guard into changing rules and regulations so that National Guard armories throughout the country were made available for community recreation programs when not in use for guard training.

Private industry was persuaded to sponsor and equip thousands of playgrounds, some of them on city streets blocked off to traffic.

Every major league baseball team said goodby to empty bleacher seats. Thousands of free tickets are given away each week to underprivileged youngsters who had never before seen a pro bat one out of the ball park.

★ ★ ★

"I've worked thousands of hours on this youth program, and I'm as happy as a peapod," Humphrey bubbles.

GOOD FOR KIDS

"It may not be preventing riots, but it's doing a lot of good for the kids. And it's strictly nonpolitical. Two of the most outstanding jobs in this field have been performed by Mayor Lindsay (GOP) in New York and Mayor Daley (Democrat) in Chicago. There's no politics in this."

Among the accomplishments ticked off by Humphrey throughout America are these:

In Arkansas, GOP Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller worked with Humphrey's group to send 1,300 Negro and white children to outings at Camp Robinson.

★ ★ ★

Seven hundred youngsters have enjoyed the barracks, mess halls and recreation areas of Camp Richie in Maryland.

Film distributors and theater owners in New York have been showing first-run movies in ghetto streets, parks and school yards free of charge; also furnishing high-powered lighting for street dances.

Camp Roosevelt, the oldest Boy Scout camp in the nation, was about to close. When Humphrey heard about it, he quickly helped raise money to keep it open, and dispatched 1,700 District of Columbia boys who not only enjoyed their first camping outing, but rehabilitated the camp and joined the Scout movement.

In Chicago, city firemen donated their off-hours to convert an abandoned Navy warehouse into a gymnasium, where they conduct physical fitness and recreational classes for 7,000 youths a day.

Bob Considine Says:

Former Baseball Writer Recalls A's 'Gentle Giant'

NEW YORK — Al Horwits, who wrote baseball in Philadelphia for years before he discovered that Hollywood would pay him a lot more to do less, was high up among those who mourned the passing of Jimmie Foxx.

CONSIDINE

"The obits called him 'Jimmy'," Al said in Shor's the other night. "His name was 'Jimmie.' That's the way he signed it from the time he came up to the Philadelphia Athletics.

"He was 18, a clean-cut kid with pink cheeks and brute strength. He was out of Sudlersville, on the eastern shore of Maryland. Old Home Run Baker had found him and taught him everything he knew about the game.

"He was the first ball player most of us could remember who cut the sleeves of his uniform just below the shoulder and exposed his muscles. After Mickey Cochrane saw the picture 'King Kong' he gave Foxx the nickname of 'Ingagi.' The rest of the A's called him 'Beast.' He was the gentlest of them all.

★ ★ ★

"If anybody ever had to break Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs in a season, it should have been Foxx.

PUT UP SCREEN

"He hit 58 in 1932. That year at Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, they put a screen from top to bottom on the right field pavilion. Jimmie hit the screen six times that season and had to settle for singles or doubles. When Babe hit 60, a lot of them at St. Louis, the screen didn't exist.

"It makes you weep when you compare Foxx's salaries with those of players today who couldn't carry his bat.

"Jimmie played for Connie Mack when Sunday baseball was outlawed in Pennsylvania and the A's couldn't afford to pay the money other teams were paying.

★ ★ ★

"Then, of course, Connie could cry some of his players out of their demands, and Jimmie was the softest touch of all for the old man.

HE WAS STRUGGLING

"When Al Simmons, Lefty Grove and Mickey Cochrane were tough enough and good enough to be getting around $30,000, Foxx was struggling to make $18,000."

Jimmie made a little more money when Mack sold him off to the Red Sox in the course of the most spectacular bust-up of a great ball club in the history of the game. But he managed to spend a lot more than he made.

"He never had an impediment in his reach when it came to buying a round of drinks," Horwits remembers.

★ ★ ★

Jimmie wound up on the dole, died without a dime.

★ ★ ★

Death came to this homespun and cheerful man — who could walk through a brick wall — in a most incongruous way. He choked to death on a bite of meat.

Voice of the People:

'Wage and Price Ceiling Would Cut Living Costs'

The politicians are wondering why the rioting. I think one good reason is the cost of living. Why is it so high? Also, take a look at the outrageous demands of the unions. It is one continual wage-price spiral. This has been going on since the end of WWII. They are forcing prices so high that those who do not make big wages have a hard time making ends meet.

★ ★ ★

Our politicians are always backing the union. All they seem to care about is the votes they can gain to stay in office. They no longer think of what is best for our country. When prices go high, they levy more taxes. Those of us on a small income are losing in every way.

★ ★ ★

One way to combat this would be to roll back wages and prices. Pass laws to curb the unions, then taxes could be lowered. Those on small incomes could hold their heads up again and wouldn't need these pork-barrel programs. No one wants ceilings on wages and prices but something must be done.

Comments Continue on Recent Disturbances

I blame two people for the riots in and about Detroit. Mayor Cavanagh was not close enough to his people and had no idea of unrest and was not prepared due to inefficient administration and his political ideas. Romney was seeking nomination for the Republican presidency and has been absent from the State and his duties. Neither man was doing his job properly and both were seeking higher levels in politics. We need a governor for Michigan, not someone using this office for a higher political position.

R. E. GRIMMETT
274 W. COLUMBIA

Two phrases that came out of the mess in Detroit make me sick: "It was only a handful," and "those were the have-nots." Thousands of people looting, rioting, throwing fire bombs, sniping and killing are not a "handful." People hauling this loot away in Cadillacs and Imperials are not "have-nots."

FRANK A. NANCE
611 CRESCENT LAKE RD.

It is a sad mistake of many white citizens to define the recent riots and racial strife as a black Nationalist or Communist movement organized to undermine the government of the United States. To harbor such a view is to profess ignorance to the wants and expectations of a race that has existed in this country for over 200 years.

★ ★ ★

It is true a more militant type Negro is arising but this is not due to any conspiracy or plot, but rather to the unfulfilled and unresourceful promises made to the Negro, weak legislation such as the civil rights bill that has proven not worth the paper it was written on, and the ever present wall of bigotry and petty prejudice that would attempt to separate the Negro from America's mainstream and first class citizenship.

★ ★ ★

This country belongs just as much to the Negro Americans as it does to the many other races that make up this nation.

CLARENCE E. PHILLIPS
277 OSMUN

The tragic situation that Michigan found itself in recently was viewed by the whole world. This demonstrated a failure to maintain law and order. We seem willing to compound the tragedy by letting politics further confuse the honest, hard-working, law-abiding citizen by asking for probes, investigations and posing more questions. We do not need more questions and probes. These are the political tools to hide the fact that you do not know the answer, are avoiding a decision, or want publicity.

★ ★ ★

The law and its enforcement make the difference between our citizens living in an orderly, secure manner or living in a jungle. We who represent the people know our people are sick of worrying about friends and loved ones every time they leave the house at night. The laws and enforcement of them must be strengthened, not watered down. The courts must share in this responsibility.

No group in this county has the right to bargain with the State or community with demands, the alternative being riot and murder. This cannot be tolerated. We must understand that the almighty dollar is not the answer to all our problems. State and Federal governments do not owe every citizen a cradle-to-grave sleighride. The working citizen cannot bear the taxes it takes to do this. Our citizens deserve more than fear and sleepless nights. We who serve must provide this. The responsibility is ours.

LOREN D. ANDERSON
STATE REP., 61st DISTRICT

Why must people be so ignorant over the cause of outbreaks of lawnessness which have affected nearly every segment of our once-great country? Sin always brings disorder. All haters of God who have refused to obey His laws will appear before Christ and give an account of their deeds done upon this earth. Since we have people who are "experts" at fighting the enemy (in this case decency and order), I propose that we ship them to Vietnam to fight for our country.

'Screaming Ambulances Jeopardize Many'

I read in the Voice of the People about the jeopardy of loved ones that are being rushed to a hospital in a screaming ambulance. How about the jeopardy of the 200 loved ones the motion-mad ambulance produces? This means most of the cars they pass. Doctors agree not one in 10,000 is placed in jeopardy by arriving at the hospital 120 seconds later. Let's fight and protect the majority.

Capital Youths Unleashed on Slum Eyesores

WASHINGTON (AP) — The weed-grown alley was so littered with glass that trucks wouldn't drive through until a green-clad crew of Negro teenagers whirled through Monday.

When they were finished, another of Washington's slum eyesores had fallen to Pride, Inc., and the troops of "Catfish" Mayfield.

★ ★ ★

It was the same in 10 of the worst trash-littered poverty areas in the nation's capital.

Block after block was picked clean by crews of youths 14 to 18 who are receiving $56 a week in the new program.

Rufus "Catfish" Mayfield—at 20 a veteran of 27 months in a reformatory for auto theft and a militant in Washington's huge Negro population—had the idea for Pride, Inc. He knocked on federal doors until the Labor Department freed $300,000 for it.

GOT ROLLING

That was last week. With an absolute minimum of paper work and little need to spread the word among the work-hungry youngsters, the program got rolling Monday. "Catfish" is chairman of the board, his salary undisclosed.

There has been some congressional criticism of giving Mayfield so much money to administer. But most civic and business leaders in Washington—a city whose population is 63 per cent Negro—have adopted a wait-and-see attitude.

★ ★ ★

"This is not a riot-prevention group, this is a pride-building program," said Marion Barry, another of Washington's militants, who is working with "Catfish."

Some 850 youths and another 150 supervisors are involved in the program, which is scheduled to last one month. Barry hopes it will prove so successful that funds can be extended year-round to give work to school dropouts.

'BEST IDEA EVER'

While a team of 14 was sweeping and shoveling through the alley between 6th and 7th Streets, a 67-year-old retired policeman, George Young, watched approvingly.

"This is the best idea you ever had," he said to one of the Pride officials. "Lots of them will go home and feel like they got something inside."

Clive Dalton, the patrolman on the beat, commented: "They're going to improve it, that's for sure. And it keeps them occupied and they won't get into mischief, not the way these kids have been working all day."

Theodore Masszonia, a 14-year-old, leaned on his broom and said: "So many people had 100 jobs and 2,000 people applying for them. I don't know how many jobs I applied for and they told me no more were available and then this came along."

Alice Townsend, in her 60s, was so pleased with the way Pride, Inc., cleaned a vacant lot next to her house that she told officials she would be glad to serve cold drinks to any of the boys. With the weather in the 80s, her offer was accepted.

"We had a lot of kids that wanted to work. All you had to do is get the program," said Mayfield. "The Negro needs to be organized and run his own show. I want to find something for everybody. I'm out to help every black man because the black man has got to help himself."

Abner Double day is credited with laying out the first true baseball diamond in 1839.

THE OLD HEAVE-HO — These teen-agers send trash flying as they clean up a Washington, D.C., alley under a $300,000 federally sponsored program called Pride, Inc. The teen-age troops, each receiving $56 a week, began yesterday to clean up slum eyesores.

Firemen Seek Protection in Riot Areas

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—State fire officials met with state representatives yesterday to map ways to protect firemen fighting blazes in riot - torn cities.

"We don't want to be armed," Royal Taylor, a Beloit fire department officer and president of the Wisconsin Professional Fire Fighters Association, said.

"We were hired to fight fires, but we didn't know that when we were manning the hose that somebody was going to be shooting at us," he said.

The association and the Wisconsin Paid Fire Fighters Legislative Association met in Gov. Warren Knowles' conference room and heard state technicians discuss problems that arose in Detroit, Milwaukee and other riot-scared cities.

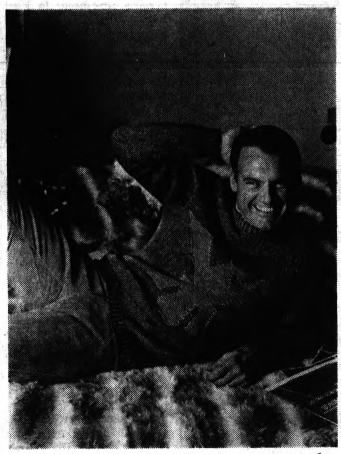
Sweater Team Promises Victory in Leisure Hour Playboy Game

The lively new personality developed by men's sweaters for Fall '67 is best illustrated by this striking all-American wool cardigan, styled by Jantzen, with raised zig-zag stripes creating a hefty dimensional texture. Double rows of miniature zig-zags frame the V-necked front and edge the sleeves and hem.



The exhilarating spirit of the winter outdoor life is captured in this husky wool pullover by Robert Lewis that flashes a giant knit-in skua bird motif across its chest. Rich-textured, flexible, all-American knitted wool gives lively definition to the bulky tweedy knit, and to the lines of the split saddle shoulders and ribbed crew neck.

Guests Rarely Reciprocate on Invitation

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Have invitations to homes for an evening of chatter declined? I'll admit that I do not entertain as frequently as I should. However, when we do have a couple in for an evening, I always have a delectable snack.

Folks who visit our home seem to have an enjoyable evening and always thank us enthusiastically. But rarely do they reciprocate. Are young couples getting lazy or just too involved with family life? Would you please comment? — Mrs. E. M.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. E. M. : Customs vary in different communities, but, in general, an evening at a friend's home is just as popular as it ever was.

Young couples with small children may find it difficult and expensive to do much entertaining, but it should be possible for anyone to have friends in for coffee and dessert or an after-dinner drink without much effort.

You cannot very well ask yourselves outright to your friends' homes, but you may be able to prompt an invitation by a hint or two. "We'd just love to see your garden" or "I hear you've done over your kitchen, may we come by and see it sometime?" or whatever is applicable.

★ ★ ★

BOARDER

Dear Mrs. Post: Would you be so kind as to answer the following question as soon as possible since I have a current problem.

If a man boards in a private home and guests of the owner drop in and stay for meals, should the boarder excuse himself saying he has something to do after the meal is over, or should he stay around and at least listen to, if not join in, the conversation? — Herman S.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mr. S.: Even a family that takes in boarders is entitled to see their friends by themselves. They may wish to discuss matters which do not concern the boarder, or might be private.

So unless he is especially invited to stay, the boarder should excuse himself after the meal is over.

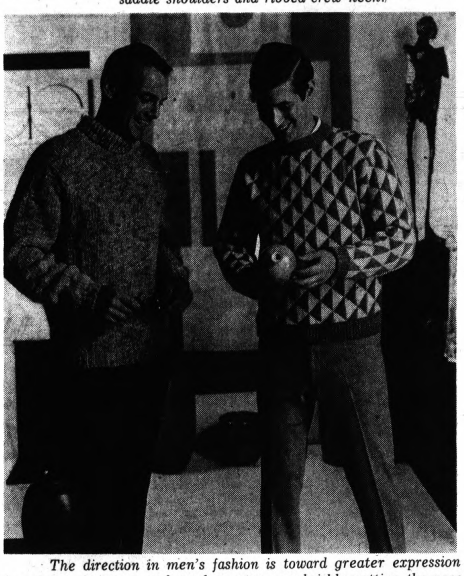
Brookside Unit Hosted by Mrs. Clifford Dick

Brookside branch of Woman's National Farm and Garden Association (WNFGA) met at the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. Clifford Dick recently.

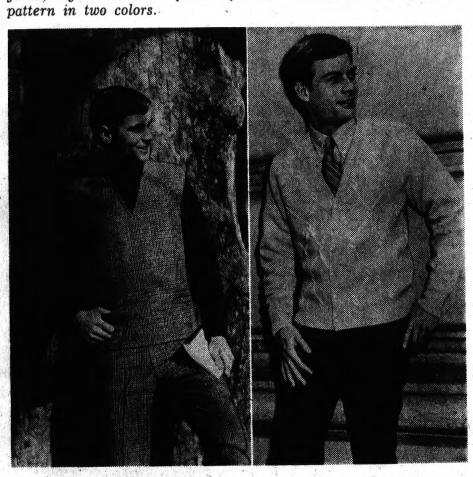
Cohostesses were Mrs. J. J. Turner and Mrs. J. R. Slavsky. Mrs. Anthony Calbi of Olean, N. Y. was a guest.

Mrs. Parker Rockwell, national treasurer of WNFGA, spoke on the activities of the organization in the state and nationally.

Plans were discussed for the forthcoming men's night, to be held in September.



The direction in men's fashion is toward greater expression in color and pattern and wool sweaters are briskly setting the pace with their new zesty personalities. Puritan demonstrates how classic styles take on an entirely different look via texture, design motif and color in these two alert pullovers in all-American wool: left—the favorite turtled style, in a rich tweedy knit of thick-and-thin yarns; right—the crew pullover, in a distinctive double-diamond pattern in two colors.



Menswear fashions have caught on to the theme of coordination in a big way for Fall '67, with the wool sweater as the focal point. Jantzen creates a layered effect with this all-American knitted wool pullover styled with a V'd front of woven wool plaid, matchmated with plaid slacks.

This classic wool cardigan is traditional only in its basic styling —sculptured cables on a reverse knit, plus a whole roster of striking colors, give it an entirely new personality, with that special signature of quality. Made in lively all-American wool by Bernhard Altmann, winner of the 1967 Woolknit Design Award.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Just Think How Lucky You Are, Folks--- She Could Have Penchant for Opera

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please come to our rescue as soon as possible! The terrific heat, which requires that we keep our windows open, plus our "problem," makes things unbearable.

ABBY

A very lovely, cultured, retired lady in our neighborhood "practices" the piano every morning, afternoon, and evening. She owns a fine grand piano whose tone carries great distances.

Although she practices most of the day, she never seems to improve. We know every note of every piece she practices, and have even come to know when to expect the wrong notes.

★ ★ ★

We can't ask her not to play so loudly, or to keep her windows closed, or she would be offended. And we can't close ours. The newsboy who delivers our paper, delivers the same paper to her, so she must read your column. Please publish this. She is too nice to hurt, but we are suffering.

SILENT SUFFERERS

DEAR SUFFERERS: You have my sympathy. But have you ever considered how lucky you are that this lady doesn't study voice, with a penchant for opera?

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: We were four girls and two boys brought up in a Jewish home, so we never had ham, bacon, or pork in our house. Now that we are all grown and married, none of us has preserved the dietary custom, but our parents do.

I must admit, mama and papa are very broad-minded about our liberal attitude.

My oldest sister has a beautiful home, and when she has mama and papa over she serves them a dairy dinner, but she always puts a big pork roast on the table for everyone else.

Mama and papa have never said anything, but I know they are hurt.

I once told my sister I thought she was out of line to put pork on the table with mama and papa there, and she said, "I'm no hypocrite. We have pork in this house, and they know it, so why hide it? Besides, in MY home I'll serve whatever I like."

I still think my sister is wrong. Or am I?

THE YOUNGEST

DEAR YOUNGEST: Your sister is not only wrong, she's childish, disrespectful, and mean. She's trying to show contempt for the old traditions and at the same time let mama and papa know that she's her own boss now and can do as she pleases. But she doesn't have to hit them over the head with a pork roast to make her point.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 30 years. I am 52 and believe me, Abby, there is nothing wrong with me. I'm refined, educated, and nice looking. People tell me I look like 40. I go to the gym and keep myself fit.

I don't want to sound like a bragger, but I could take a job as a topless waitress if I wanted to.

Enough about me. My problem is my husband. He wants a divorce. He says he doesn't have anybody, else, he just wants to be free. I think he's lying, but I can't catch him. We have grown children who think he is crazy. They don't want me to give him a divorce.

I am ashamed to say this, but I still care for him and can't throw 30 years of marriage out the window. Am I wrong to refuse to give him a divorce?

HANGING ON

DEAR HANGING: No.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the kid who wouldn't do one or two little errands without asking, "What's there in it for me?" sure got my Irish up.

If any of my kids ever gave me an answer like that when I asked them to go empty the trash, the next morning when they came down for breakfast there would be a menu staring them in the face, with the price of everything on it.

And there would be a little charge of 50 cents a night for room, too.

That would be the end of the question, "What's there in it for me?"

Fete Bride-Elect at Several Galas

Recent showers honoring Jill Anderson, Aug. 19 bride-elect, were given in three area homes.

Mrs. Gary Blaylock and Donna Rofe entertained at the East Iroquois Road home of the Donald Rofes.

Mrs. Roy Pearce of Wenonah Drive was assisted by the honoree's aunts, Mrs. Lester Krumwiede and Mrs. Paul Burk for a shower in the Pearce home.

★ ★ ★

Michele Morrow, maid of honor for the upcoming ceremony, entertained in her home on Sylvan Lake.

Miss Anderson will marry Robert G. Crane, son of the Robert E. Cranes of East Boulevard South. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Anderson of Wenonah Drive.

Gary Lee Polley Vows Exchanged on Saturday

MRS. GARY L. POLLEY

Gowned in cameo ivory peau de soie with Alencon lace, Sally Jo Hearn became Mrs. Gary Lee Polley Saturday.

Lace trimmed the bodice and Watteau train of her bridal gown and lace petals held her illusion veil for the evening ceremony in First Baptist Church.

BOUQUET

A cascade of Stephanotis formed the bridal bouquet.

Honor attendant for the daughter of the Leslie Hearns of Baybrook Drive, was her sister, Mrs. Dwain Sidewell.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jo Carle and Theresa Rolfe.

Jackie Kalso was flower girl with Derrick Miller, the bridegroom's nephew, as ring bearer.

* * *

Sonny Miller performed best man duties for his brother-in-law. Ushers were the bridegroom's brother Leon, David Ramsey and Ricki Miller.

Following a reception in the church parlors, the couple left for Niagara Falls and the eastern states.

'Water Wigs' Hit Poolsides

A practical conversation piece at poolside or seaside is a "water wig" that looks like hair — if you want parrot green, bright orange, or brassy blond locks.

This amusing head-gear — which includes a George Washington style in emerald green and a Beatle set in overlapping layers of bright greens, purples, and blues — protects real hair from both sun and water.

After every sun and swim session, each of these Dynel wigs should be "laundered" in soap or detergent suds to remove sand, salt or stale water.

After rinsing and combing, it will dry in a jiffy.

Aren't you glad it's almost ready. To go and get. The wear-with-all for back-to-school. To college. To anywhere. Just a few more days when we open the new

P. W. Stines Take Vows Recently

The father of the bridegroom officiated Saturday afternoon at rites in which Betsy Carnall became the bride of Peter W. Stine of East Lansing.

★ ★ ★

The new Mrs. Stine was formerly a teacher at Washington Junior High School.

★ ★ ★

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Carnall of Bluffton, Ind. The bridegroom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Earle J. Stine of University Park, Iowa.

★ ★ ★

For the ceremony in the First Methodist Church in Bluffton, the bride chose a gown of white organza over taffeta, appliqued with Alencon lace and accented with seed pearls.

CROWN

She wore an elbow-length veil of French illusion, secured by a double-tiered crystal and pearl crown. The bridal bouquet was of gardenias, Stephanotis and ivy.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Rex Athan of South Whitley, Ind. and Dr. Earle Stine Jr. of Ida Grove, Iowa, were honor attendants.

★ ★ ★

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Arthur Chantler of Pontiac and Mrs. Ned Carnall of Bluffton.

★ ★ ★

The usher corps was made up of Gordon Bingham of Chicago, Lyell Rader of Wilmore, Ky., Ned Carnell, Carleton Campbell of Cuba, N.Y., John Best of Midland, and Capt. Tom Gabrielson of New Albany, Ind.

★ ★ ★

The newlyweds received guests in the Masonic Temple, Bluffton, after which they departed for a honeymoon in Canada.

The couple will reside in East Lansing while he pursues studies for a doctoral degree.

Tax Push to Focus on Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government witnesses are expected to use the potential size of the budget deficit—up to $29 billion—as their main argument in urging congressional approval of higher income taxes.

This blueprint emerged today as Treasury and budget experts drafted testimony for next Monday's opening hearing by the House Ways and Means Committee on President Johnson's plan for a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate taxes.

★ ★ ★

Henry H. Fowler, secretary of the Treasury, is the first scheduled witness.

Other arguments—higher Vietnam war costs, the danger of inflation and high interest rates—also are expected to be cited in administration testimony.

POTENTIAL DEFICIT

But the top argument will center on the potential deficit, sources said.

One top official said he expects a round of speeches and fireworks against the President's plan but once these are over Congress will have no reasonable choice except to raise taxes.

★ ★ ★

He said it's impossible to cut spending enough to make a tax increase unnecessary, as some Republicans are contending.

In proposing a 10 per cent surcharge, Johnson fixed the size of the deficit for the current fiscal year at between $14 and $18 billion depending on the size of spending cuts.

CONTINGENCIES

This figure, however, includes the $6.3 billion in revenue expected from the surcharge proposed for individual income taxes beginning Oct. 1 and for corporation taxes retroactive to July 1.

Other contingencies could raise the potential deficit as high as $29 billion, Johnson has said.

A deficit that size would be the fourth highest in history, exceeded only by three years during World War II when the deficit went as high as $57.4 billion. Even a deficit from $14 billion to $18 billion would be the sixth largest on record. Only the five World War II deficits were larger.

One argument used by the President in his tax message of last week, however, is expected to get only passing mention by administration witnesses.

ADDED TAXES

Johnson said if Americans still paid taxes at the rates in effect when he became President they would be paying this year more than $23 billion in additional taxes.

"Now your government is asking for a return of substantially less than half of those tax cuts, that I recommended and the Congress overwhelmingly passed in the last three years," Johnson said.

★ ★ ★

Administration economists said this $23 billion figure is based on 1964 income tax cuts and the 1965 excise tax cuts adjusted for current income levels. It doesn't include the $5-billion increase in Social Security taxes which went into effect Jan. 1, 1966, and the $1 billion increase of last Jan. 1. Most of this increase, however, had been written into law before Johnson became President.

The 1964 income tax cut was designed to stimulate the economy and boost incomes, also generating new revenue. The Vietnam war also has stimulated the economy—to such a pace that the Federal Reserve Board last year was forced to tighten credit in an effort to contain inflation.

★ ★ ★

One source said few people realize the extent of the tax cuts of recent years because their incomes are now bigger and they are paying taxes at a higher rate.

Federal Civilian Employes Due to Top 3 Million Mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rising number of federal civilian employes probably will pass 3 million this month despite cost-cutting orders issued by President Johnson.

Executive branch employment totaled 2,980,156 in June, according to the Congressional Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures.

That represents a rise of nearly 500,000 employes since Johnson took office in November 1963, and is the highest on record except for during and just after World War II.

Some of the June rise was seasonal and temporary. The joint committee noted about half the 74,911 increase over May resulted from temporary summer jobs under the President's Youth Opportunity program. There also were seasonal hiring rises at the Interior, Agriculture and Post Office departments.

LITTLE POSSIBILITY

Administration officials conceded privately there is little possibility of any significant job cutback even though Johnson has announced efforts to curtail spending by as much as $4 billion under the "cut, tax and borrow" program he sent Congress last week.

The outlook is for rising employment, officials said, because only a relatively small portion of federal spending is "controllable" by the administration and because Johnson will not cut antipoverty programs, controllable or not.

★ ★ ★

Summer jobs for slum dwellers, youth activities, work-training programs and other efforts to alleviate poverty are viewed officially as top-priority measures this summer because of racial tensions in the cities.

"It's a political impossibility to cut the antipoverty programs," one source explained. "Mayors and governors want more, not less, federal spending on measures that may prevent riots, looting and burning."

CIVILIAN PAYROLL

The civilian payroll topped $20 billion in the fiscal year ended June 30. The congressional joint committee reported that civilian agency wages and salaries totaled $11.8 billion while the Defense Department paid out $8.6 billion to its civilian workers, for a total of $20.4 billion.

The fiscal year-end total of 2,980,156 civilian jobs compared with 3,816,310 at the peak of the World War II effort; 2,600,612 at the Korean War peak in 1952; and 2,398,705 in 1960, last year of the Eisenhower administration.

The current cost-cutting drive actually was set in motion at an unannounced White House meeting June 10. Johnson asked heads of the dozen or so biggest-spending civilian agencies to develop cost-cutting plans for use if slashes of as much as 15 per cent in their controllable programs became necessary. The formal request was made later in a Budget Bureau memorandum to the officials who attended.

Some officials were skeptical from the outset that sizable savings could be found. Johnson specifically excluded antipoverty programs from trimming. Even if these were included, however, all the "relatively controllable" civilian programs combined represent only about $12 billion, Johnson has estimated, out of total outlays he said may reach $143.5 billion. Interest, veterans' pensions, contract commitments, relief grants, and most other nondefense outlays are beyond executive control.

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon is seeking cuts also, but major defense savings are not expected in a period of military escalation.

Johnson, who took pride in announcing federal payroll cutbacks during his early months in office, therefore apparently faces the prospect of still further growth in the federal establishment both in terms of civilian manpower and payroll dollars.

Percy Housing Bill Is Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Association of Real Estate Boards and the National Association of Home Builders Monday criticized the bill of Sen. Charles Percy, R - Ill., designed to bring home ownership to low-income families.

However, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, also sending a witness before the Senate Housing Subcommittee, endorsed "the basic concepts" in Percy's bill.

Silas Albert, Grand Rapids, Mich., appearing for the real estate group, said it found "two major flaws" in Percy's measure:

1. "It would generally benefit the family of moderate income rather than the family of low income where the major need exists."

2. "It calls for a federal subsidy with little federal supervision."

PRIVATE FOUNDATION

Leon Weiner, Wilmington, Del., president of the National Association of Home Builders, said his organization has "serious concern" with the provision of the bill "which proposes use of a private national home ownership foundation empowered to issue billions of dollars of treasury-backed certificates."

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

There is an easy way for South to get to three no-trump with today's hand. He just opens with one no-trump and his partner raises him. South has the points for a no-trump opening but it is usually poor tactics to open one no-trump with a 5-4-2-2 distribution.

JACOBY

North can get there just about as easily after the club opening and the spade over-call if he bids one no-trump but North will have a lot of worries against a spade opening. With North as declarer spades are only stopped once. A spade lead up to South as declarer produces two spade stoppers.

In any event North's raise to two clubs is superior to a one no-trump call. After East bids two diamonds, South can still bid two no-trump and hope for a diamond lead or for something in spades in the North hand but two hearts is his correct bid.

West's three-diamond bid keeps pressure on North. His two-club bid was a good one and he feels justified in bidding again and certainly can afford to bid four clubs but North had wanted to bid no-trump at his first time and North knows that nine tricks are enough for game at no-trump while 11 are needed in clubs.

★ ★ ★

North can have his cake and eat it, too, if he uses a delayed cue bid so North bids three spades.

This bid can't be interpreted as a slam try. North only bid two clubs at his first chance to act.

It must tell South that North is willing to play at four clubs but if South can stop diamonds, North thinks that three no-trump is the right place to play the hand.

South is delighted to bid three no-trump and has no trouble collecting his nine tricks.

3 British Films Cracking U.S. Musical Monopoly

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

LONDON — The English film industry is tuning up for competition in the musical film, which traditionally has been a Hollywood monopoly.

America's preminence in the musical is being threatened by three major projects which will test whether England can match Hollywood's skill in this art form. The first was "Half a Sixpence," starring Tommy Steele and a British cast and directed by an American, George Sidney — "Anchors Aweigh," "Pepe."

THOMAS

"Half a Sixpence" ran into problems that extended the schedule to six months. But Paramount is high on its chances and has planned a road-show release.

Two new musical projects recently have started shooting in studios outside London. One is Columbia's "Oliver" based on the London and Broadway hit taken from Dickens' "Oliver Twist."

★ ★ ★

CURIOUS CHOICE

"Oliver" is being directed at Shepperton Studio by Carol Reed. He is a curious choice for a musucal, having specialized in dramas — "The Third Man," "The Fallen Idol."

"But I did direct a few musicals starring Jessie Matthews before the war," he said. Except for minor musicals starring Miss Matthews and Anna Neagle, England has produced few tune-films over the years.

Reed wa asked why.

★ ★ ★

"It has been largely a matter of economics," he explained.

VERY EXPENSIVE

"Muscals are very expensive to make. They require large staffs, long rehearsals and pre-recording sessions before the picture begins. We simply couldn't afford to lavish the money."

American money has solved that problem. Columbia will spend an estimated $14 million "Oliver" which stars Ron Moody, Shani Wallis, Harry Secombe and Hug Grifith.

"Chitty Chitty Bang Bang" is budgeted for $28 million, and United Artists appears hopeful that it will be another "Mary Poppins." The new film also boasts the services of Dick Van Dyke as star and the Sherman brothers as songwriters.

★ ★ ★

"We're aiming for 'Sound of Music' business," declared producer Cubby Broccoli, the American who coproduced the James Bond films. "If we can make that kind of money, we stand to make 51 per cent of our investment back."

REBATED COSTS

Producers of British-made films are rebated part of their costs from a fund supported by theater admission taxes. Broccoli said the government and the unions allowed him to hire American musical personnel above the usual quota.

"The authorities wanted a breakthrough for the musical film in England, and so they gave us certain concessions," the producer reported.

Romney Visit?

IONIA (AP) — Gov. George Romney is expected to visit the Ionia County Free Fair Wednesday as part of Governors Day. The 52nd annual fair officially opened Monday with a mile-long parade from downtown Ionia to the fairgrounds.

GM Dealer Loses Round in Court Fight

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Oscar Gregory Chevrolet, Inc., Paramount, Calif., yesterday lost the first round in a court fight to prevent General Motors Corp. from canceling its dealer's franchise.

★ ★ ★

Superior Judge Ralph H. Nutter refused to issue a preliminary injunction to force GM to deliver 1968 autos to the agency.

A hearing will be held later this month in Kansaw City, Mo., before retired U.S. Supreme Court Justice Charles whittaker, who is the "umpire" in disputes between GM and its dealers.

Gregory filed suit July 20, claiming his agency received notice of dealership cancellation last May 25.

★ ★ ★

He claimed the cancellation was based on "flimsy and false" accusations.

'WITHOUT APPROVAL'

The suit claimed that GM's decision was made on grounds Gregory had agreed to sell the dealership to the Ralph Williams Management Corp. without GM approval.

Gregory claimed he had given Williams only an option to buy which could be exercised with GM approval.

Williams was to be a consultant, Gregory claimed.

★ ★ ★

The Chevrolet dealer contended he was forced to seek help from Williams because of GM policies from 1962-67.

It was alleged that GM raised Gregory's sales quota of trucks and cars from 500 to 1,540 yearly.

British Isle Weighs Taking Case to U.N.

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man (AP) — The 1,000-year-old Parliament of this tiny holiday island in the Irish Sea met today to decide whether to go to the United Nations with charges of colonial oppression against the British government.

As citizens of "an independent sovereign country under the British crown," the Isle of Man's 50,000 residents are free to decide their own internal affairs, but Britain looks after their foreign affairs.

★ ★ ★

The British brought Manx resentment to a boil by insisting that Radio Carolina North, a favorite pirate radio station anchored off the island, must shut down by Aug. 15 in accordance with British legislation banning all radio pirates which beam commercial plugs and pop records into the United Kingdom.

★ ★ ★

Manxmen want to keep Radio Carolina North because it sends complimentary comments about the island's holiday attractions to northwest England and southwest Scotland, sources of the tourists who keep the Manx economy rolling.

SANDY BEACHES

Thousands of fun-seeking British tourists whiled away the day on sandy beaches and in sea-food cafes on the island known for its motorcycle races and tailless Manx cats as the Tynwald, the 24-member legislature, convened.

Before the Tynwald was a motion accusing Britain of attempting "to extinguish the rights of a self-governing democracy" and calling on the United Nations to investigate.

"I strongly deny that this will make our island a laughing stock," one legislator told a newsman. "We've made ourselves a laughing stock already."

Roy Macdonald, sponsor of the parliamentary motion, defended his resolution.

'FORM OF AGGRESSION'

"To charge them with being virtual aggressors against the Isle of Man may seem strong," he said. "But it is a form of aggression to impose your policies on a self-governing democracy against its wishes.

★ ★ ★

"Remember what Winston Churchill said—if a nation cannot stand up for its rights and freedom it deserves to be stamped out. This isn't just about radio stations. The real principle is our freedom."

★ ★ ★

Macdonald, a former wing commander in the Royal Air Force, is chairman of the Tynwald's broadcasting commission.

★ ★ ★

"Manxmen don't like dictators, least of all dictating governments," said lawyer Howard Simcocks, another leader of the protest movement. "This island is being repressed by a colonial power."

★ ★ ★

Among the dissenters was Edward Callister, one of two Laborite members of the Tynwald's lower house.

★ ★ ★

"We belong to the British family," he said, "and we rely on Britain for our very lifeblood, the visitors. If these wild boys get their way it could be the end of the Isle of Man as a nation."

The largest vault doors ever designed for a commercial bank will be installed by the First National Bank of Chicago in its new building. The 25-inch-thick doors will each weigh more than 80 tons.

Club to Request Housing Grant

DETROIT (AP) — The Cotillion Club, a Detroit organization of Negro business and professional men, said Monday it will apply for a federal grant to construct a 200-unit low-income housing complex in the Twelfth Street riot area.

★ ★ ★

The club also proposes a shopping plaza, recreational facilities and a park for the area. Included in the shopping plaza would be a health clinic, several governmental social service agencies and stores.

New Guard Tactics Urged

LANSING (UPI) — Maj. Gen. Cecil L. Simmons, commanding general of the 46ths Infantry Division of the Michigan National Guard, has recommended to Guard officials in Washington that National Guardsmen use new tactics in stopping riots where there is sniper fire.

Simmons, who directed Michigan National Guardsmen against Detroit rioters, said Guardsmen were not prepared to meet the heavy sniper fire encountered during the nation's worst riot in Detroit two weeks ago.

"The snipers used the type of tactics used in Vietnam — hit now and run," he said.

"New tactics will be developed to protect against this type of operation from succeeding," he said.

The recommendation, Simmons said, is being made this week to the National Guard Bureau in Washington.

Hopefully the recommendation will be followed and included in future training of National Guard units throughout the country, Simmons said.

Twenty-Seven Scenic Lakes Dot The Rolling Countryside Of White Lake Township

White Lake Township Is a 'Four Seasons Playground'

PICTORIAL STORY
By JOE CRAWFORD

A growth boom of sonic proportions is forecast for White Lake Township, currently heralded as "the Four Seasons Playground."

★ ★ ★

The billing comes naturally for a community that can boast of 27 lakes and two state recreation areas, as well as a pair of public beaches, golf courses, riding stables and several popular ski areas.

"We have just about anything a person would want in the way of outdoor recreation," said Township Supervisor James Reid.

Much of the township's vacationland character derives from a pair of parks operated by the Michigan Department of Conservation.

Highland State Recreation Area includes 5,406 acres of wooded land, fields, marshes, lakes and streams, of which about a third is located in White Lake Township. The remaining acreage lies to the west in Highland Township.

RECREATIONAL FACILITIES

The Teeple Lake section, on the park's eastern border, offers facilities for boating, swimming, picnicking, camping, horseback riding and skiing.

The park wildlife sanctuary is a haven for an abundance of wild animals and birds.

On the eastern edge of the township is located Pontiac Lake State Recreation Area, a 3,604-acre park providing seven lakes for a profusion of summer and winter sports.

★ ★ ★

Outstanding as the township's recreational assets are, they are not the only factors leading Reid to believe that a bright future is in store for the community.

FREEWAY CONSTRUCTION

Construction work, he said, is expected to begin in 1972 on the I-275 freeway, which will run through the relatively undeveloped western half of the township.

"The freeway will make a tremendous difference," he said. "We're growing now but when this new highway comes the explosion will be deafening."

The township is centrally located in the metropolitan area, he noted, and, with the freeway, will be within easy reach of most large population and employment centers in southeastern Michigan.

To this point in time, growth in the township has come slowly. Population has risen from a 1940 figure of 1,643 to an estimated 12,500 at present.

POPULATION CLUSTERED

Most of the population is centered around a cluster of lakes in the southeastern portion of the township, leaving the remainder of the 36-square-mile area still sparsely settled and predominantly rural in character.

The freeway, he said, is certain to make access easier and open up the unused acreage to an expanding area population.

"We're far from being fully developed," the supervisor said. "We have a tremendous amount of first class land — some of the most scenic in the county—that has yet to be built upon."

"Our major boom is still to come. Today and ten years from now the township will be two different places."

ZONING MULLED

With an eye to this expected expansion, the township board recently approved a new zoning ordinance and map to insure that the growth will be orderly.

The new plan provides zoning for everything from light industry and agriculture to single family residential and suburban estates.

This latter category sets two-acre lots for homes having at least 1,600 square feet of living area. "We feel we have areas that could be developed this way," Reid said.

★ ★ ★

"We have something for anybody who wants to settle."

The bulk of the township's recent growth has resulted from expansion of several initially small subdivisions in the southeast sector.

Union Lake village, an unincorporated community in the southeast that White Lake shares with Waterford, West Bloomfield and Commerce townships, provides for most shopping needs of area residents.

Sewers have not yet come to the township although the engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson, Inc., is presently drawing up preliminary plans for the project.

★ ★ ★

Advance planning is also slated to begin soon for a township water system. Presently only Twin Lakes subdivision adjacent to Tull Lakes and Hillview Village Apartments on Williams Lake Road are served by community water systems.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS

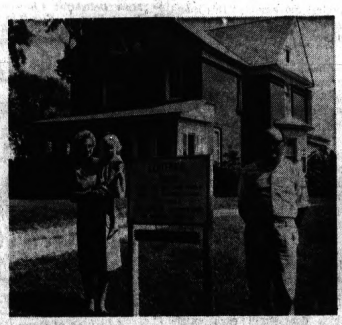
The township is served by the school districts of Waterford, Huron Valley, Clarkston, Holly and Walled Lake. Three schools are located within the township and a fourth is under construction. All are elementary schools.

Taxes in the township are relatively low. Residents pay a one-mill township property tax. Total assessed valuation of the township stands at $23,815,625.

It is a figure that the township has come by gradually and one that is sure to be expanded upon in the years ahead.

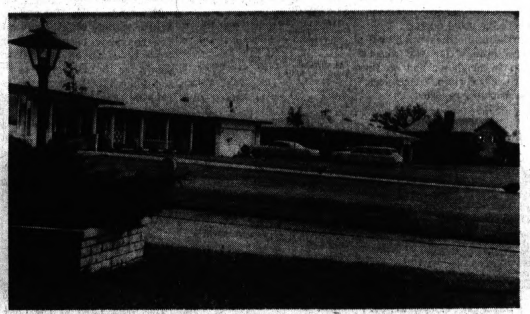
"We know growth is on the way," Reid said. "And we have a lot to offer."

SPORTSMAN'S HAVEN — Pontiac Lake State Recreation Area, a 3,604-acre park in the eastern half of the township, is a haven for summer and winter sports enthusiasts, as well as a familiar spot for those who enjoy quiet walks through scenic natural settings. Among the park's more popular attractions are a third of a mile of beach, a riding stable, a ski slope, and sites for fishing, hunting and camping. Pontiac Lake (above) is the largest of the park's seven lakes.



HISTORIC FAMILY — Mr. and Mrs. Clare Voorheis of 6700 Brendel operate a centennial farm on land that was settled originally by Clare's great-grandfather, Sebring, in 1836. The house above was built in 1902 by Carl Voorheis, Clare's father. The 167-acre layout is used for dairy farming, and for raising hay, oats, corn and wheat. Mrs. Voorheis is holding her granddaughter, Leslie Voorheis.

WHITE LAKE — The lake after which the township was named lies on the township's western border and is shared with Highland Township. The shores of the lake served as a campground for Indians in the early part of the 19th century. County history books record that even in Civil War days the lake was frequented during the summer by excursion and picnic parties.



Tull Lake Area Homes Indicate The Trend Toward Suburban Living

JAMES L. REID
Supervisor

SKI PLAYGROUND — Pontiac Lake is a favorite area for such water activities as skiing, swimming and boating. Public boat launching ramps provide easy access to the lake. The lake is located in Pontiac Lake State Recreation Area, seven miles west of Pontiac near the intersection of M59 and Williams Lake Road.

Schmidt Vows Better Performances by Embarrassed Lions

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Alex Karras a dirty football player?

That's what some people are now saying after watching Karras take a kick at Denver's Cookie Gilchrist when the big fullback was down with the ball near the goal line.

Karras was ejected and missed almost three periods of the game Saturday night.

It was the debut of the Golden Greek as defensive captain, a job which his present coach Joe Schmidt held for many years and handled with dignity.

Karras lost his temper and his poise in the kicking incident. He also without doubt lost the respect of many fans who expected that his captainey would make him a better leader.

What provoked him to do this?

Karras isn't offering any excuses. There is none. There's nothing to condone such an act, and if he was a dirty player he'd offer with glee excuses to have people convinced.

Karras is remorseful. He shakes his head in disgust at himself.

NO DEFENSE OF INCIDENT

Coach Schmidt wasn't defending Karras' action but expressed an opinion. "Any thing said or done about it is not a public issue. Alex is not a dirty player," said Schmidt.

★ ★ ★

A couple years back, a long time veteran Mike Sandusky of the Baltimore Colts' championship teams, once publicly commented "that people think a small defensive lineman like Karras has to be dirty to be tough. On the contrary, Karras is too tough to be dirty."

★ ★ ★

A teammate of Alex's didn't intend to offer an explanation yesterday to the incident, but in passing mentioned that Gilchrist several times found occasion to shove his fingers through the face mask of players in a pileup.

"How do you judge who's doing the dirty work, when you don't see it?"

George Blanda of the Bears nearly decapitated Jim Salesbury of the Lions during the Chicago ruckus in 1956; Ed Meadows was called the hatchet man when he broke Bobby Layne's leg in Chicago; Monte Stickles wrinkled Bruce Maher's ribs last year in San Francisco with his foot.

These and many other such incidents have happened through the years. They're shameful. The players involved, however, have never been known to deliberately repeat the act or to maim another player.

★ ★ ★

Pro football is tough, and it's no different than any sport when tempers flare.

What action the club takes in penalty of such an incident may never be known, but it might become obvious as the season goes along how captain Karras handles his job.

'NOT DIRTY' — Alex Karras, ejected from the game last Saturday night in Denver for kicking Cookie Gilchrist, has been called "dirty" by fans. Karras was silent over the incident. Coach Joe Schmidt said the matter was between the club and Karras and said, "Karras is not a dirty player."

Making Myth Come True

Senators Apply Pressure in AL

By The Associated Press

Oh, Joe Hardy, if only you could see your Washington Senators now.

Hardy, the mythical hero who led the Senators to an American League pennant in a best-selling book a few years back, would've popped his buttons with pride over Gil Hodges' club today.

The Senators got a three-hitter from Phil Ortega Monday night and blanked Minnesota 5-0 for their third straight victory and ninth in the last 12 games. It left them at the magic .500 mark — a plateau seldom reached by the perennial also-rans.

Washington has soared into sixth place in the standings, just seven games off Chicago's first place pace. They've won 21 of the last 29 games and if this keeps up, it could mean a congressional investigation.

In the only other American League games played Monday, Baltimore's Gene Brabender blanked Cleveland 4-0 on a four-hitter and California ripped New York 8-4, scoring seven runs in the eighth inning.

Ken McMullen smashed his 13th home run of the season and Paul Casanova drove in two runs with a first inning double as the Senators jumped into an early lead.

Ortega, running his record to 9-5, retired the first 13 batters he faced before Bob Allison's drive fell off Hank Allen's glove for a fifth inning double.

NOT BOTHERED

But it didn't ruffle the big right-hander. He allowed just two other singles and was in control all the way.

Ortega struck out seven and ended a personal seven-game losing streak against the Twins, who slipped to third place, three games back of the idle White Sox.

Brabender, recalled by Baltimore from Rochester on July 21, was just as strong. He pitched hitless ball until the sixth inning and finished with a four-hitter against the Indians.

Brabender struck out 12 — a season high for the pitching-poor Orioles—and got brilliant fielding support from Paul Blair, Baltimore's center fielder.

Blair, who drove in one of the four Oriole runs with a sacrifice fly, ran far to his left for Vic Davalillo's first inning liner and then crashed into the fence grabbing Duke Sims' fly ball in the seventh.

★ ★ ★

Sam Bowens' two-run homer capped a four-run seventh inning that won it for the Orioles.

The Angels exploded for seven runs in the eighth inning on six singles, a walk and an error, wiping out a 4-1 New York lead.

Four straight singles by Jose Cardenal, Don Mincher, Jim Fregosi and Bobby Knoop, following a leadoff walk by pinch hitter Bob Taylor tied the score.

Then Rick Reichardt and Bubba Morton each drove in a pair of runs with the fifth and sixth hits of the inning for California.

★ ★ ★

Mickey Mantle smashed his 20th home run of the year for the Yankees, who tumbled back into the American League cellar.

New NFL Coach Has No Alibis for AFL Upset

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Like the little idol with hands over its mouth, eyes and ears, head coach Joe Schmidt of the Detroit Lions wasn't ready to see evil, speak evil or hear evil after Saturday's football exhibition in Denver.

Schmidt, who was given a baptism of fire in his debut at head coach when the Lions lost a 13-7 game to the lowly Denver Broncos, offered no alibis and asked no sympathy from fans or writers who barraged him with questions yesterday.

★ ★ ★

"Sure we expected to win and it was a jolt to our NFL pride to lose, but back in 1958 we had to swallow our pride when we were whipped by the College All-Stars. Now this could make us a better ball club."

Was it possible the Lions were overconfident against a team like Denver?

"Sure there was probably over confidence and when we realized they weren't going to lay down it was too late. We started pressing and making more mistakes," Schmidt answered.

The Lions spent the entire morning Monday going over the game film and pointing out every mistake to offensive and defensive players.

★ ★ ★

Numerous plays and penalties were screened closely and although Schmidt discussed many of them in lieu of questions he noted that "any good team plays over what may be considered bad calls or bad plays."

THREE INCIDENTS

All officials in the game were AFL officials and there were three specific incidents which were questioned.

The first was a pass caught by Tommy Watkins which was ruled out of bounds, thus nullifying a 23-yard gain.

The play took place just below the press box and in front of the TV cameras, and everyone agreed that Watkins was at least four feet inside the line when he caught the ball.

Another play in question was what the Lions thought was a fumble by Denver quarterback Scotty Glacken. Defensive end Larry Hand took the ball on the first bounce when it squirted out of Glacken's hand and headed for the goal line but was called back.

"The official claimed he (Glacken) was throwing when he got hit. Even the movies will bear me out. He was bringing the ball down and was on the run when Jerry (Rush) hit him. I took it on the first botnce even before any whistle," said Hand.

★ ★ ★

Wayne Walker explained the questioned Denver touchdown. "Cookie (Gilchrist) lost the ball before he reached the goal line. The Denver guard squirmed over with it in the pileup," he said.

"Let's not 'if' and 'but' about it. We lost. When I lose I get ornery, but I'm not a quitter. We've got a olt more stuff to put into our offense but we've got to get our basics down pat before we can do that," Schmidt said.

"If I do a bad job everyone can criticize me, but I've always played this

Podres Selected to Hurl Nightcap Against Chicago

DETROIT (AP) — Mayo Smith sounds like a Wall Street broker discussing the stock market when he talks about Detroit's chances against the league-leading Chicago White Sox.

He speaks with what is known in financial circles as a tone of "cautious optimism."

★ ★ ★

"Maybe we can win at least three," the Detroit baseball manager said today as the Tigers prepared to meet Chicago in a four-game series.

"It's very improbable that you can win four in a row," he added.

The series, opening tonight with a twinight doubleheader, marks Detroit's last chance to fight the White Sox for the penant on Tigers home grounds.

And Tiger Stadium seats are within easier reach of Detroit's sluggers than the seats at Comiskey Park in Chicago.

The Tigers go into the series tied with Minnesota for third place, three games behind the White Sox and a half game behind second-place Boston.

A sweep of the series would give the Tigers at least a tie for first.

SAME LINEUP

Smith said the lineup would remain unchanged for the Chicago series. Denny McClain takes the mound for the Tigers in the first game, hoping to pick up his 14th victory against 12 losses. He faces formidable Joe Horlen 13-3.

Johnny Podres will put his 3-1 record on the line in the nightcap against Gary Peters (12-6).

The Tigers are back at full strength for the crucial series. Al Kaline has begun to show his old form again after being sidelined for a month by a broken bone in his hand. Willy Horton's injured foot is bothering him again, but he should be able to play.

Pitcher Mickey Lolich has rejoined the team after a stay with the National Guard that was extended by the Detroit riot. He hasn't pitched in two weeks and probably will not start before the weekend.

WHERE'S THE BALL? — Charlie Smith, third-baseman of the New York Yankees, seems to have a throw put away in his glove (top photo), but it got away allowing California Angel John Werhas to reach the bag safely. The Angels won the game, 8-4. Umpire Nestor Chylak calls the play.

Consulting Firm Sues Bubba Smith

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Washington, D.C., firm specializing in managing finances for celebrities has charged in Federal Court that Bubba Smith did not pay a commission on an estimated $200,000 he received for signing with the Baltimore Colts.

The firm, Celebrities Investment Management Co., alleged in U.S. District Court Monday that Smith violated provisions of a three-year contract.

Smith was given 20 days to show cause why a $200,000 lien against his assets should not be granted by a federal judge.

Testimony from Joseph Tubiolo said Smith, a 6-foot-7½, 280-pound tacke who played at Michigan State, agreed to make the firm his sole agent for negotiations for 10 per cent.

The suit alleges that Smith was represented by others at his signing with the National Football League team last June 1.

Smith, whose seldom used first name is Charles, was seen with an agent from Pro Sports, Inc. at the signing. The firm also issued a news release at the time saying it represented the big tackle.

WDGA Medal Honors Won by Mrs. Hume

Medal honors in the qualifying of the Women's District Golf Association championship being played at Pine Lake were won by Mrs. John Hume who fired a 78 yesterday.

Mrs. Hume finished five strokes ahead of Mrs. Robert Gamble of Lochmoor and Mrs. Charles Fox of Farmington who fired 83's.

Mrs. Hume had two birdies in her round.

Mississippi State Quintet Hit With Two-Year League Ban

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP) — The Mississippi State University basketball team was placed on a two-year probation Monday by the Southeastern Conference which found the school guilty of recruiting violations.

Under the probation, the Maroons will be ineligible for the SEC championship during the next two seasons and will be barred from taking part in any playoff or postseason tournament.

The SEC executive committee issued a statement after a meeting here. The committee found "there was gross negligence and laxity on the part" of Head Coach Joe Dan Gold and assistant Jack Berkshire.

The commitee said Mississippi State violated three SEC recruiting provisions between May and August, 1966, in dealing with two prospective athletes, Robert J. Black of Corning, Ark., and Allan Pruett of Rector, Ark.

Both youths later signed with the Maroons.

The first violation occurred May 7, 1966. The committee found that Black and Pruett took part in a practice session at Mississippi State gymnasium with Maroon coaches present.

The second violation charged that the university failed to spell out terms of a grant-in-aid offered Black. By-laws of the SEC require such contracts spell out the "amount, duration, conditions and terms" of the award.

★ ★ ★

The third violation occurred Aug. 5, 1966, when Mississippi State furnished transportation for Pruett and Black to fly from Columbus, Miss., to Little Rock, Ark., to practice for an all-star game, the committee said.

SEC rules prohibit schools from conducting any practice session for athletes to show their abilities, and allow a college to pay only round-trip transportation costs between the student's home and the campus.

Former Spartan Star Harold Lucas Given Release by Steelers

LATROBE, Pa. (AP) — Former Michigan State All-America football star, Harold Lucas was cut from the roster of the Pittsburgh Steelers Monday along with five other players.

★ ★ ★

A year ago, Lucas the No. 2 draft choice of the St. Louis Cardinals, walked away from the club's training camp and a contract reportedly close to $300,000. He had signed a five-year, no-cut pact, but they were five one-year contracts.

Two months ago the 6-foot-2 Lucas announced he had been working out, had slimmed down to 278 and wanted to give pro football another try.

"I had a lot of problems then," he said. "I've got them straightened out."

He was placed on waivers by the Cards and picked up by the Steelers, who offered no explanation for trimming him from the roster Monday.

Pontiac Agency Handles Tickets for Lion Games

Pontiac will be one of five outstate ticket agencies to handle Detroit Lions' season and individual game tickets, according to general manager Russ Thomas.

Besides Pontiac, ticket agencies will be set up in Lansing, Flint, Saginaw and Jackson.

In Pontiac, Osmun's Men's Store downtown office will be the agency. Osmun's also is an outlet for Detroit Tigers' tickets.

Commencing today, Osmun's will have tickets available for next Monday's exhibition game with the Buffalo Bills and for the exhibition contest with the Baltimore Colts on Aug. 26.

There are still some season tickets available and they can be ordered through the agencies.

Cubs' Hopes Sink With Sun

By the Associated Press

The hopes of Chicago fans that their team would end its losing streak went up with a Cub ninth inning rally. Then, they went down again—with the sun.

The Cubs lost their seventh straight game, 6-3 to Pittsburgh, in the first game of a double-header Monday at Wrigley Field —where the only light available is the natural kind.

* * *

And they were losing the second game 3-1 when they rallied for a tie in the bottom of the ninth inning. But neither team could score again, and the game was called because of darkness after 14 innings.

The individual records count, but the game will have to be replayed—as part of a double-header Wednesday.

In the only other scheduled National League games, both at night, Ron Hunt's single sparked Los Angeles past first-place St. Louis 6-4 and Philadelphia trounced San Francisco 8-0.

Pittsburgh's Dennis Ribant had a no-hitter through seven innings at Chicago, but Ron Santo broke it up with his 23rd homer leading off the eighth.

RALLY FOR TIE

The Cubs then chased Ribant when John Stephenson and Ernie Banks opened the ninth with singles. Don Kessinger advanced the runners with a sacrifice off reliever Al McBean, and Lee Thomas brought in a run with a groundout.

Juan Pizarro then took over for McBean, and Billy Williams greeted him with a single on a 3-2 pitch, tying the game.

The Pirates used the ninth-inning rally to win the first game.

Chuck Hartenstein had held the Pirates at bay since taking over for Bob Shaw in the second inning, and the Cubs led 3-2 going into the ninth.

* * *

The relief pitcher then started Chicago's downfall by committing a throwing error on Maury Wills' slow roller. Roberto Clemente tied the game by singling with men on first and second, and Manny Mota put the Pirates ahead with a sacrifice fly off Rob Gardner, who replaced Hartenstein.

Donn Clendenon clinched it with a two-run homer.

With the game tied 3-3, two out and men on first and second in the ninth, Hunt singled in one run. Another scored when center fielder Curt Flood bobbled the ball, and Hunt raced home when second baseman Phil Gagliano threw the relay past third.

BUCKEYE BARGAINS — A couple of Buckeyes have solidified jobs with the Pontiac Firebirds, hoping they will have the Lions or some big league team giving them the eye. Jon L. Izer (53), a linebacker, and Dale Fry (3), a fullback, hail from the football hotbed of Mansfield, Ohio. They will be in starting roles when the Firebirds meet the Ypsilanti Vikings Saturday evening in the benefit game at Rochester High field.

See the new Jaguar 420 Sports Sedan

When you drive this new sedan, you'll discover just how much of a sports car it really is.

The 420 is powered by a 4.2 litre engine, just like our XK-E. It has disc brakes on all four wheels, dual braking systems and all-around independent suspension.

Other features include Varamatic power steering, a new automatic transmission, an alternator, a padded dash, padded package shelf and the same luxurious interior appointments that all Jaguars have.

Politicians Help F-Birds Recruit

Politics played a role in helping the Pontiac Firebirds latch onto a couple of outstanding grid prospects from the state of Ohio.

The "Buckeye Bargains," Dale Fry, a fullback, and Jon Izer, a linebacker, hail from the football hotbed area of Mansfield, Ohio.

The way the story goes in short, an Ohio legislator told a Michigan local representative about the two and the local solon in turn passed the word on to the Firebirds.

* * *

Through the efforts of a couple politicians, the two football players arrived on the Firebirds' scene a couple weeks ago and after Sunday's intra-squad scrimmage at the Wisner Stadium practice field, head coach Tom Tracy is happy for the political influence in getting the two players.

Izer is a 245-pounder who has football, baseball, wrestling and track to show for his varsity high school years and as an added conditioner he works with weights.

"He's a tough Buckeye and was outstanding on defense in the scrimmage," said Tracy, who has workouts scheduled each evening this week in preparation for the Ypsilanti Vikings whom the Firebirds will face Saturday night in Rochester.

It will be a benefit exhibition game sponsored by the Rochester Rotary Club for the Crittendon Hospital fund.

Fry, a 235-pound fullback, picked up 11 athletic awards at Clear Fork High School near Mansfield.

"He's got good power and speed for his size," said Tracy.

NO OPPORTUNITY

Just at the age of 20, Fry had no opportunity to attend college, having had to get a job. He worked in construction as a mason.

Tracy was pleased over-all with the Sunday scrimmage but admitted there were a couple weak spots in line positions.

Facing a team which he coached last year in Ypsilanti, Tracy said, "I know how tough they are, They've got probably the biggest linemen in the league."

Tracy will be facing an old teammate Jug Girard who is now head coach of the Ypsilanti team.

* * *

Tickets for the contest are available at Community National Bank offices, Griff's Grill, Osmun's downtown, the Firebirds' downtown office and at Detroit Edison offices in Oxford and Lake Orion, plus numerous business establishments in Rochester.

Two Aces Fired at Area Courses

Bill Hamilton used a 7-iron to ace the No. 7 hole, 147 yards, at Davisburg Golf Club over the weekend. Playing with members of his family, he fired a 38 for the nine.

* * *

The 140-yard No. 8 hole at Kensington Park was aced yesterday by Tom McKay of Milford who used a 7-iron.

Muskegon Hires Columbus Aide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Frank Gallagher, general manager of the Columbus Checkers of the International Hockey League, resigned Monday night.

Gallagher, who was chosen to head the Checkers when they came into the IHL last June, has accepted the position of the administrative coordinator with the Muskegon Mohawks of the same league.

Gloria Dei Gains Playoff Advantage

Underdog Gloria Dei Lutheran's softball forces have renewed faith today in their bid for the Pontiac men's Church League title after surprising First Baptist, 3-0, last night at Oakland Park.

* * *

Gene Steensma limited the regular season leaders to five hits and had batting support from Marshall Bishop who rapped three singles to account for two runs.

After Dave Carlson's throw from center field cut down a potential Baptist run at the plate in the fourth inning, the Lutherans notched two markers in the fifth and one in the sixth.

* * *

The second game in the best-of-three championship series will be 6 p.m. Thursday at Jaycee Park.

"We've worked this team hard, the coaches have worked hard, and there's been a good attitude in camp. We'll even work them harder and regardless of our pride or how anyone feels, we won't have any quitters on this club."

U.S. Cup Hopes Bright

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) —The United States Wightman Cup hopes runneth over while the Davis Cup has sprung a leak.

The opposite fortunes of this country's male and female tennis players were brought to the fore Monday as Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., and Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., captured the Eastern Grass Court Championships.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. King, a two-time Wimbledon champion at 23 and the top woman player in the world, will lead the United States against Great Britain at Cleveland this weekend in the best-of-seven Wightman Cup matches.

She wasn't at her best Monday, but rallied to beat upset-minded Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif., 4-6, 6-2, 6-2. It was her third Eastern crown in four years.

Riessen's victory was a slap at Davis Cup Captain George MacCall, who dropped him from the touring cup squad last week.

The U.S. was eliminated from further 1967 Davis Cup competition some weeks back by Ecuador and Riessen and Graebner dropped the doubles, a key point in the 3-2 defeat. They lost the doubles here, too, bowing to Australia's Bill Bowrey and Owen Davidson, 6-4, 9-7.

Mrs. King, who won the singles, doubles and mixed doubles at Wimbledon, once again teamed with pint-sized Rosemary Casals of San Francisco and defeated Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis and Mrs. Donna Floyd Fales of New York City, 6-3, 13-15, 6-4, in the Eastern finals.

Strong Bat 'Saves' Debut as Pitcher

Vern Cork of Central Methodist Church fortunately brought his bat along when he made his pitching debut last night in the Waterford Township Men's Church Softball League.

Cork guided the Methodists to an 11-10 opening round playoff victory over Memorial Baptist in the lower division of the double-elemination tournament.

Donelson Baptist dumped Stingham United Missionary, 12-7, and Lakeland United Presbyterian was a 7-0 forfeit winner over Ascension Lutheran in other lower division results.

The upper bracket action saw Crescent Lake RLDS top St. Paul Methodist, 7-2, St. Stephen's Lutheran drop Christ Lutheran, 5-2, and Waterford OLL whip Mandon Lake Community, 16-6.

Regular season leader Union Lake Baptist and Elizabeth Lake Church of Christ had opening round byes.

★ ★ ★

In the Central Methodist-Memorial Baptist game, Cork struck out eight but was touched for 13 hits. However, he cracked two homers and a triple to drive in six runs, then rapped a double and scored the winning run in the last of the seventh.

Four-Shot Lead in Girls Golf

Jan Webber Pacing U. S. Meet With 72

LA HABRA, Calif. (AP) — Pretty Jan Webber of Fresno, Calif., shot a one-under-par 36-36—72 Monday to take a four-shot lead after the first round of the 36-hole qualifying test for the 19th USGA Girls Junior Golf Championship.

The second qualifying round was set for Tuesday. The 32 low scorers will start in match play after that round.

Miss Webber, who celebrated her 17th birthday last month, fashioned five birdies on putts of 5-20 feet to offset her four bogies on the par-37-36—73, 5,888-yard Hacienda Golf Club course.

Tied for second place with three-over-par 76s were Kaye Beard, of Campbellsville, Ky., and a niece of pro golf star Frank Beard, Marianne Cox, of Santa Ana, Calif., and Kathy Gaughan of Eugene, Ore.

But Gains Pride

Junior 9 Misses Title

It took all season but the Optimist-I Widget American team of the city recreation department's junior baseball program finally can hold its head high in defeat.

Burdened with a 1-9 record during the regular season and whipped 16-4 in its first playoff game by once-beaten Yellow Cab, the Optimists rebounded to eliminate two foes and meet the cab nine again in the title round.

Revenge wasn't to be theirs, but the Optimists nonetheless made the superior Yellow Cab squad earn its title in a 9-6 struggle Monday morning at Jaycee Park.

The only other contest played among yesterday's showers was suspended in the eighth inning with the Auburn Heights Boys' Club Pioneers holding a 4-0 lead over Lakeland.

Yellow Cab overcame 2-0 and 6-3 deficits in ending the Optimists hopes. Winning pitcher Ken Foster teamed with Jack Cole to whiff 11 hitters, and Cole cracked a key bases loaded hit to clear the sacks in a six-run fourth inning.

★ ★ ★

Lakeland and the Pioneers struggled through seven scoreless innings before the Boys' Club unit erupted for four runs just before the game was halted. It was resumed this morning.

Playoff Title Tilt Slated

Spencer Floor Covering meets Day's Sanitary tonight at the Drayton Plains softball diamond for the Waterford Township Men's League playoff title in the upper division.

Spencer's advanced into the final from the losers' bracket with a 3-1 victory last night over Midget Bar. In a second game, Buckner Finance pulled out a nine-inning, 8-7 conquest of the Waterford Merchants.

★ ★ ★

Buckner's now will play McAnnally Auto Sales Thursday for the lower division playoff trophy. All Pontiac games were rained out Monday but the drawing was held for the Slow Pitch upper division playoffs.

In Spencer's win, "F a t" Keith tossed a two-hitter and struck out five. He was hurt only by Jan Hirn's solo homer after the winners had developed a 3-0 lead.

Jerry Hesse and Doug Hall sandwiched singles around a sacrifice and two errors on the play to plate two runs, then Fred Milliron homered with none on.

Buckner's scored five times in the first (without the aid of a hit), then upped its lead to 5-1 before the Merchants posted two runs in the third, fourth and fifth innings for a 7-6 lead.

But Jerry Carlton delivered an inside-the-park home run leading off the seventh to tie it for Buckner's. He then led off the ninth by reaching base on an error. With two out, Bob Davis' third single plated the decisive marker.

The Pontiac drawings have defending champion MGM Cleaners-Shalea Lounge meeting the Pontiac Press at 7 p.m., and the Auburn Heights Sportsmen playing Artco at 8:30 p.m. in a Beaudette Park twinbill tomorrow.

End Window Problems

Convert Old-Fashioned, Drafty, Hard-To-Wash House Windows Easily and Economically With New Nu-Sash

Unique new replacement windows give home modern appearance, saves work, yearly maintenance, stops heat loss

Repairing old troublesome, rotted and rattling windows has always been a problem to homeowners and property owners who want to modernize. However, a handsome unique aluminum replacement window now provides a simple and economical solution.

This revolutionary product — Nu-Sash® — is a window specifically designed to replace old outdated deteriorated windows. The cost — including installations — is nearly 40% less than other methods of renovating or remodeling old windows.

With Nu-Sash, there is no costly remodeling of inside walls; no messy or dirty construction work. Old windows are removed and expert installation men install Nu-Sash in a matter of hours without touching inside plaster or disturbing the present woodwork around windows.

Nu-Sash is designed to replace all types of windows: double-hung, double or triple units, casements, inswinging French type, or sliding windows. Even picture windows are easily replaced. Over the past year, thousands of homeowners, apartment owners, owners of factory and commercial buildings, and schools have applauded Nu-Sash installations.

Nu-Sash has been tested under rigid laboratory conditions. Results show the window superior to recommended standards set up by FHA for new construction requirements.

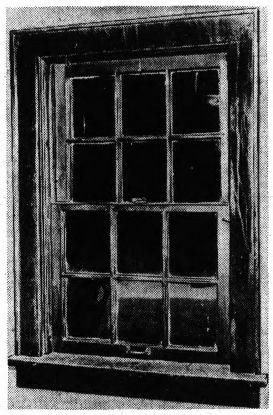
Savings in heat and air conditioning bills alone pay for a Nu-Sash conversion. However, the real advantages and savings of new Nu-Sash windows are greatly realized when the outstanding features are tested and compared against ordinary windows.

Nu-Sash features greatly reduce overall maintenance costs and extra work necessary with property upkeep. Yet the extra comfort, eye-appeal, and the convenience of workable windows are added features that make Nu-Sash a sound and profitable investment.

The Nu-Sash window has appeared in newspapers and publications all around the country. The window recently appeared in recent issues of Better Homes & Gardens magazines.

As an important and permanent addition to the home or building, Nu-Sash qualify for low interest home improvement loans. Modest monthly payments are available.

For additional free literature, price samples, details and drawings, and names and addresses of Nu-Sash installations in the area are available by a phone request or by mailing the coupon.



Before
Old window is unsightly, hard to wash, rattles, lets in drafts and dirt, has rotted sills and frames.

After
New Nu-Sash windows slide easily, have double locks, seal tight and fit snug, takes 30 years age off home appearance.

Before
Washing old windows on shaky step ladders is dangerous and makes twice as much work.

After
This Nu-Sash window tilts-in for cleaning, cuts washing time in half, makes work safe.

Session Shortened 90 Minutes

Stock Mart Generally Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market maintained a generally higher trend in active trading early Tuesday afternoon.

The Dow Jones industrial average was up 3.23 at 923.60.

Although the stock exchanges are closing 90 minutes earlier so that the clerical staffs or brokerage houses can catch up with a mountain of paper work, there was no great rush to make up for the shortened session.

Some had feared that abbreviated market sessions would be self-defeating because of the huge demand for stock which has boosted volume to record levels.

Steels and autos were mostly higher and the margin of losers over gainers was more than 100 in the over-all list.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 341.9 with industrials up 1.4, rails off .9 and utilities up .1.

Essex Wire tacked on a point after opening on a delayed block of 71,300 shares, unchanged at 48. The stock slumped 8 points Monday on news that merger talks with Chicago & North Western had been terminated.

Steels were mostly higher on industry hint of general price increases to offset dropping profit margins. Bethlehem and U.S. Steel were up about a point each.

Prices were mostly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Associated Oil & Gas was active and up a fraction.

McCulloch Oil opened on 17,000 shares, up 2¼ at 28¼.

With Landing Gear Stuck, Jet Skids In Safely in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — An American Airlines jet carrying 35 persons, its front landing gear stuck in a closed position, set down on its wing wheels today and skidded to a safe stop.

The plane, Flight 418 from Syracuse, N.Y., had been due to land at Newark, N.J., at 7:53 a.m., but was diverted to Kennedy International Airport because of that airport's longer runways.

★ ★ ★

It swept back and forth over the field, clearly visible from the ground.

It set down at 9:01 a.m., bringing a collective sigh of relief from the scores of emergency personnel who had rushed to the airport.

EMERGENCY VEHICLES

The emergency vehicles, including ambulances and fire engines, were strung out along the runway as the twin-engine, British-made BAC111 touched down gracefully on the wing wheels, rolled for several hundred yards and finally came to rest on the wing wheels and nose.

★ ★ ★

Authorities and newsmen in the main complex of airport buildings could see the drama, but weren't able to get to the passengers and crew immediately.

Several emergency vehicles had been rushed to the airport.

Output of 67s Cut to a Trickle

DETROIT (AP) — Production of 1967 model cars was cut to virtually a trickle last week as most of the nation's automakers tooled up for the switch to 1968 models.

By the end of the week, Ward's Automotive Reports said, all but two car lines—Ford's Mustang and Cougar—were phased out for the 1967 model run. Cougar production will end this week and Mustang next week.

★ ★ ★

All of the Chrysler assembly plants have started building 1968 models. American Motors scheduled Monday as the starting date for output of its new American and Javelin models.

General Motors Corp. will begin production of the Buick Riviera and the Oldsmobile Toronado Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Peak production of the new models is not expected to be reached until after Aug. 21 when all the GM assembly plants will be back in operation.

BOW OF BUTTE — An inspector checks the bow of the U.S. Navy ammunition ship Butte at General Dynamics' Quincy, Mass., shipyard today in preparation for the vessel's christening tomorrow. The sponsor will be Mrs. William Proxmire, wife of the U.S. senator from Wisconsin. The Butte, named after the Montana city, is 564 feet long and displaces about 18,000 tons.

Rat-Control Bill Advocates Clash With Capitol Police

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group from New York's Harlem, invading the House galleries to protest noisily for a federal rat control proposal, clashed with Capitol police.

At least six persons were injured in the disturbance Monday, which erupted shortly after the House adjourned a routine session.

The group entered the public galleries and—as a few remaining House members fled the floor—began shouting protests against House action last month in killing the administration's antirat bill.

★ ★ ★

But police stepped in quickly and broke up the chanting, clapping demonstration by the predominantly Negro group amid screams, curses and flying fists.

There were reports that at least four New Yorkers and two policemen suffered minor injuries during the incident, which lasted less than an hour.

Eight of the estimated 95 demonstrators were arrested, charged with disorderly conduct and released after posting $10 bond.

"Rats cause riots," the group chanted while sitting in the gallery. "We don't need a riot bill. We need a rat bill."

The House earlier passed a bill—now in the Senate—that would make it a federal crime to cross a state line with the intention of inciting a riot.

Police said one demonstrator carried a large rat in a cage.

Jesse Gray, Harlem rent strike leader who was among those arrested, said after posting bond that the group came here to "demand passage of the rat bill but in turn our heads were beaten in and we were run out of Congress."

DELEGATION REMAINS

Most of the demonstrators returned to their New York homes by special bus but a delegation was left behind to pursue the rat bill situation.

Rep. Frank J. Brasco, D-N.Y., said he would try to arrange a meeting so the protestors could address their complaints about the situation to other members of Congress.

★ ★ ★

"It certainly is a worthwhile piece of legislation," Brasco said. "Unfortunately things like this sometimes harden positions but I notice some of my colleagues have been explaining their positions so maybe they have been getting some flack."

CRACKED JOKES

The House, after a raucous debate that found many members cracking jokes about the measure, refused to consider the rat bill, which would have supplied $40 million over two years. It may come up later, possibly as part of a housing package now under review in the Senate. The bill also was introduced again in the House by Rep. Theodore R. Kupferman, R-N.Y.

Skilled Trades Picket UAW

Some 200 skilled workers yesterday picketed UAW Local 653 of Pontiac Motor Division in opposition of the guaranteed annual income proposed by union president Walter Reuther.

Members of the skilled trades want the union to negotiate a separate plan for them.

According to Willima Erickson, president of the Oakland Chapter of the International Society of Skilled Trades, the wage gap between production workers and skilled tradesmen have been narrowed to the point where there is no incentive to become a skilled worker.

Erickson said the tradesmen soon plan to take their fight to the International Regional Office of the UAW in the Community National Bank Building, and later to Solidarity House, the UAW headquarters, in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Petitions containing the signatures of 1,200 skilled tradesmen were presented to Wayne Anable, president of Local 653, objecting the guaranteed income.

NEW FIGHTING GEAR — Bill Newell, a reservist in the Green Berets from Philadelphia, tries on new equipment which the Defense Personnel Support Center in Philadelphia is supplying the nation's fighting men. Bill laces up the new lightweight combat boot, which has a steel inner sole to thwart booby trap spikes like those the Vietcong put out in jungle trails. He's wearing the new nylon fatigue uniform and hat, topped with an insect protective net. Also shown is the new nylon poncho pad, which doubles as a sleeping bag and blanket, and the 'fish net' used to carry all types of gear.

Grade School Is Vandalized in Waterford

Vandals broke into Donelson School, 1200 W. Huron, Waterford Township, last night or early today, and caused an undetermined amount of damage.

Township police said windows were broken, oil and soap spilled on floors and walls and books, equipment and papers strewn on floors.

Nothing was reported stolen, according to police.

Entry was gained by removing a kitchen window.

THE FAMILY OF D. O. LEONARD wish to extend their sincere appreciation for the messages and expressions of sympathy during their recent bereavement. Special thinks to our friends for their many acts of kindness.

WE WISH TO THANK OUR MANY friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness and sympathy shown during the recent bereavement of our son, Army Spec. 4 Bernie Tate killed in Vietnam July 12th, 1967. A very special thanks to the Columbia Ave. Baptist Church and to the Pastor Rev. E. Clay Polk. Mr. and Mrs. Menard M. Tate and family.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ROSE Willson Linbaugh, who passed away August 8, 1963.
You are not forgotten Rosie dear,
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life memory lasts,
We will remember you.
Your loving smile and gentle face,
No one can fill your place.
Sadly missed by your family, and mother Beatrice Pearson, and brother Albert.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF GERTrude Mortimore, who passed away August 8, 1964.
Through suffering, she breathed not a murmur,
For the Comforter stood by her side,
And whispered, fear not I am with thee,
With me shalt thou ever abide.
On the river, a pale boatman hastened,
She heard the soft dip of his oar,
Then from earth and sorrow He bore her,
Across to that beautiful shore.
Sadly missed by son Robert and family and son Bill and wife.

Florida Dem Hits Buildup of Viet War

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — U.S. Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., said Monday the Vietnam war "is no longer worth the heavy burden in money and lives."

★ ★ ★

Pepper told a Miami Beach news conference he has informed the White House he no longer supports any escalation of the war.

★ ★ ★

"There doesn't seem to be any end in sight," Pepper said. "We should inform our allies that if they cannot make a contribution to the war effort we will start pulling out. We got into this war perhaps mistakenly and we must get out honorably."

★ ★ ★

He said he does not favor a total withdrawal but said military operations in Vietnam should be reduced to a "holding operation."

★ ★ ★

"I have loyally supported the war and I will continue to," Pepper said. "But it is no longer worth the heavy burden in money and lives."

Registrar Resigns

Giacalone Again Cited for Contempt

DETROIT (AP)— A new contempt citation has been filed against reputed Detroit mafia leader Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone.

Wayne County grand juror George E. Bowles filed the petition Monday, saying Giacalone refused to answer questions when he appeared before the grand jury.

The petition said that Giacalone did not invoke any privilege against self - incrimination when refusing to answer questions. A show cause hearing has been set for next Monday before Circuit Judge Horace Gilmore.

Filipino Bandit Killed by Police

MANILA (UPI) — Police yesterday killed bandit Eddie Quion, 32, as he and his band were looting a rural village.

Quion, who had a $1,250 price on his head, had been accused of 10 murders, the theft of 23 water buffalo and stealing three motorcycles.

Citizens' Choice: Fair Girlie Show or Higher Taxes?

GREENUP, Ky. (AP) — A group of citizens protesting a bump-and-grind show at the annual county fair have been warned of an imminent tax hike if the hootchy-kootchy is canceled in 1967.

The City Council met Monday and left it up to the volunteer fire department whether to keep the show. The department runs the fair each year.

★ ★ ★

But a council spokesman said the firemen would lose about $1,200 if it cancels the girlie show—by far the fair's most popular event.

The $1,200 buys fire-fighting equipment each year, he said, and a tax would have to be substituted for the profitable dance.

Smaller colleges and teachers colleges have more restrictions on smoking of cigarettes than larger colleges.

Junior Editors Quiz on WRITING PENS

QUESTION: How did pens come to be used?

* * *

ANSWER: Pens became needed when men found it important to make records more quickly than by carving stone or making punch marks in clay.

Ink, made of such materials as lamp black and charcoal, and paper pressed from the leaves of the papyrus plant, had been developed by the ancient Egyptians. For pens, they used hollow reeds.

You can make one; cut it from a bullrush as in top pictures and trim the end as shown. The hollow in the reed holds the ink. The slit in the point makes it flexible. Our artist actually made such a reed pen to write the heavy letters at upper right.

Pens of similar type made from feather quills were the next development, followed by steel nibs which could be put in handles. These have the same structure as the reed pen—a place to hold the ink; a slit (and an opening) to make the tip flexible.

The fountain pen was a big departure because a large amount of ink could be contained in the pen handle.

The ballpoint pen is entirely different from the rest. The tiny ball revolving in its tip is in contact with the ink supply. It becomes coated, and as it revolves on the paper it leaves a trail which becomes the ink line.

'Negroes Still Lag in Job, School Opportunities'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two federal commissions say Negroes continue to lag far behind whites in job and education opportunities. And the staff director for one says recent Negro riots could be one outgrowth.

In reporting the failure of most Southern and border states to desegregation their public schools—13 years after the Supreme Court ruled segregation unconstitutional — the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights called Monday for laws to push adherence to the high court ruling.

* * *

That recommendation coincided with issuance of a separate Equal Employment Opportunity Commission report showing Negroes and Spanish-Americans have failed to obtain job parity with whites.

Not only do the minorities have larger unemployment rates, said the employment commission, but those Negroes and Spanish-Americans who hold jobs tend to be concentrated in the worst-paying work.

CIVIL ACTION

The civil rights commission called for legislation that would permit any Negro child or his parents to bring civil action for damages against people who harass or intimidate them in connection with school enrollment.

In the 10 years after the Supreme Court's 1954 desegregation decision, the commission said, the proportion of Negroes attending previously all-white schools in the 17 Southern and border states increased about 1 per cent a year—to a total of 11 per cent by 1964-65.

* * *

It branded a failure the Health, Education and Welfare Department's acceptance of state-backed "freedom of choice" plans, which let the student select the school he wants to attend.

Few white children have enrolled in predominantly Negro schools, the panel said, while intimidation has served to hold down the number of Negro enrollees in mostly white schools.

'DISRESPECT FOR LAW'

At a news conference in connection with the report, civil rights commission staff director William L. Taylor said Monday he feels failure to achieve desegregation "has some influence on the fact that there is disrespect for law evidenced in rioting and disturbances in our cities."

Taylor said that while "it does not receive as much publicity as in previous years, violence against Negroes continues to be a deterrent to school desegregation."

* * *

He said a commission investigative staff found cases of actual and threatened threats—involving Negroes who attempted to attend predominantly white schools.

Among Southern states, Alabama has shown the smallest rate of desegregation—only 2 per cent of Negro students attend schools where Negroes comprise less than 95 per cent of the student body.

TEXAS LEADS

Using the same yardstick, Texas is the Southern desegregation leader with 34 per cent.

Among border states, Kentucky schools lead with 88 per cent integration. Missouri's 26 per cent is the lowest.

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, working with data from firms employing 100 workers or more or holding federal contracts, found that even those Negroes and Spanish-Americans who do get white-collar jobs usually wind up in the lowest-paying categories.

It provided these employment figures on some major U.S. metropolitan areas: Atlanta—Negroes represent 25 per cent of the population, 15 per cent of the employed; Chicago—14 per cent of the population, 13.5 per cent of the employed; New Orleans—30.7 per cent of population, 20 per cent of employed; New York—11.5 per cent of the population, 10 per cent of the employed; Washington—25 per cent of the population, 22 per cent of the employed.

DISCUSSES RIGHTS REPORT—William L. Taylor, staff director of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, at a news conference yesterday discusses a 262-page report submitted to President Johnson and Congress by the commission. Howard A. Glickstein, the group's general counsel, is at left. The commission said the pace of school desegregation in Southern and border states has been too slow and proposed strengthened laws to speed the process.

Church 'Defection' Aired

MONTREAT, N.C. (AP) — Differences between generations and classes are sharper than racial barriers, a church researcher said Monday night in trying to explain the defection of many young adults from churches.

* * *

Lyle E. Schaller, director of the regional church planning office in Cleveland, told the National Ministers Conference that research indicates "we're just not reaching the group that's having children—the young adults."

He said there has been an average 30 per cent drop in child baptism in most churches while the nation's birth rate has dropped 13 per cent.

MAKE OVER PAGES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken says he has been told President Johnson's war-related tax increase proposal "isn't half of what they will need. They are going to try to put off asking for the rest of it until after the election" next year.

The Vermont Republican said in an interview if the administration doesn't "listen to reason pretty soon" on Vietnam, "it will have written one of the worst chapters in American history or, indeed, in world history."

Aiken said his constituents are protesting the 10 per cent surtax on income taxes asked by Johnson Thursday to help finance mounting war costs.

The senator, second-ranking Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and a persistent war policy critic, said he had been "reliably informed" that the requested tax hike was less than half of what is needed.

★ ★ ★

He said he agrees with the assessment yesterday by Democratic leader Mike Mansfield that the administration is planning a further escalation of the war.

'BIGGER FAILURE'

"The only solution they have to offer," said Aiken, "seems to be a bigger failure because the failures we have had aren't big enough."

He said one failure was the recent visit to Vietnam of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Clark Clifford as emissaries of Johnson.

"That was a complete farce," he declared. "They announced before they went that they were going out there to enlist more support from our allies.

"But, before they arrived, our allies had a meeting and decided they weren't going to give us any more troops.

'NOT THE REASON'

"So now they come back and say that wasn't what they went for at all."

Mansfield told the Senate yesterday it appeared there was going to be a further escalation of the fighting "with the costs in lives and money being borne preponderately by us."

He said many things pointed to a longer war and less pointed to peace, including Johnson's decision to send 45,000 more men and the battleship New Jersey to the combat zone and what he described as apparently unsuccessful efforts to persuade U.S. allies to contribute more troops.

★ ★ ★

Mansfield declaring "the enemy can match and outmatch us on further escalation," called for U.S. initiative to put the war before the United Nations Security Council, a stop of the bombing of North Vietnam and construction of a defensive barrier between North and South Vietnam.

BACKS SUGGESTION

Aiken backed these suggestions.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., told the Senate he hoped the President would try for a U.N. settlement.

★ ★ ★

Aiken said: "Everything the administration has done so far has been a failure. Any other policy would be an improvement except dropping the atomic bomb and that would be the biggest failure of all."

BOMB-SHATTERED CAR INSPECTED — Authorities in Georgia inspect the bomb-shattered auto of 40-year-old Floyd Hoard, solicitor general of Jackson County, Ga. Hoard was killed yesterday morning by a dynamite explosion after he turned on the ignition of his car parked in the yard of his Jefferson, Ga., home. The slaying has been linked to an auto theft operation. (See story, page A-2).

2 Senators Propose $1-Billion Riot Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Abraham A. Ribicoff and Charles H. Percy proposed today a $1 billion riot-prevention fund and wide flexibility in the President in spending it.

The senators said the bill would require no new appropriations or additional spending. It would authorize the President to transfer up to two per cent of budgeted, nondefense spending into a neighborhood emergency fund.

Percy, R-Ill., and Ribicoff, D-Conn., said the President then could make grants to states, communities and nonprofit organizations for local efforts aimed at easing urban tensions and promoting orderly community growth.

The fund would differ from existing urban-aid programs, the senators said, in giving the President the ability to act quickly and with flexibility in response to local initiatives.

Emphasis would be put, said Ribicoff and Percy, on the concerted use of private industry and capital, civic groups and existing federal, state and local government programs.

SENATE RIOT PROBE

Meanwhile Senate riot investigators appeared divided over the course of their probe, which has centered thus far on policemen, racial agitation and the federal antipoverty program.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., says testimony developed to date by the Senate Judiciary Committee's hearings convinces him there's a need to see whether government money supports "organizations that are responsible, directly or indirectly, for these riots."

But Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., are pressing for a broadened investigation to cover social and economic factors they contend lie behind urban rioting.

Leonard F. Kowalewski, president of New Jersey's 2,000-member Fraternal Order of Police, insisted that people connected with the antipoverty program in Newark were involved in racial demonstrations which created the climate for five days of deadly rioting.

ANTIPOVERTY AGENCY

He spent well over three hours on the witness stand, repeatedly naming the United Community Corp., Newark's antipoverty agency, as a source of racial unrest.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., the man in charge of guiding antipoverty legislation through the Senate, demanded after yesterday's hearing that Director Sargeant Shriver of the Office of Economic Opportunity be given a chance to rebut the charges.

More Arrests Likely in Killing of Two Negroes

DETROIT (AP) — Officials say more arrests are likely in the case of two white Detroit policemen charged with murdering two Negro teen-agers in a motel at the peak of the city's riot.

Prosecutor William Cahalan of Wayne County said he expects more warrants to be issued in connection with the shotgun killings, "but not murder warrants." He indicated conspiracy charges might be filed against some of those present when the shootings occurred.

The policemen, Detroit Patrolmen Ronald August, 28, and Robert Paille, 32, pleaded innocent at their arraignments yesterday. They were jailed without bond.

August is accused of killing Aubrey Pollard, 19. Paille, 32 is charged with killing Fred Temple, 18.

★ ★ ★

A third Negro, Carl Cooper, 17, also was found killed by blasts from a 12-gauge shotgun in the motel.

INSUFFICIENT EVIDENCE

But Cahalan said he lacked evidence for or against claims that Cooper may have been shot by a uniformed man.

In other developments yesterday growing out of the riots:

The National Guard issued a statement defending its actions in the machine gun death of a 4-year-old Negro girl.

The county prosecutor's office charged two Negro youths with murder in the shooting death of a white Detroit patrolman.

Detroit fireman John Ashby, 24, who died of injuries sustained while fighting a blaze during the riots, was buried with honors.

Shelby Voters OK Fire, Police Millage

Shelby Township residents yesterday added $324,000 to township coffers.

Three millage issues designed to beef up the police departments and to provide a pension plan for department members were approved by margins of 2-1 and 4-3.

A 2.5-mill issue expected to raise $183,000 for the police department passed by a vote of 1,455 to 807. Its passage means $130,000 budgeted for the department will be freed for the township general fund.

A $900,000 bond issue to be paid at the rate of 1.5 mills a year passed 1,248 to 953. The issue is expected to raise $109,000 a year for the construction of four new fire stations and the purchase of equipment.

★ ★ ★

The vote was 1,368 to 863 for a pension plan to be paid .5 mills by the township and 5 per cent of salaries by police and firemen.

NEED REALIZED

Shelby Township Supervisor Kirby Holmes, beset by financial problems since taking office, said, "The people realized the need and they came through like champions."

Last month, the township was reported running into red ink and facing a possible "payless payday" for some of its employes.

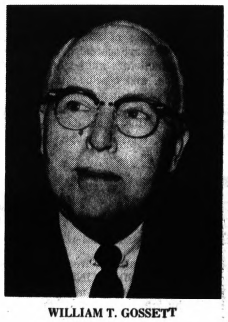
The need did not arise but several current bills reportedly went unpaid until the receipt of state revenue.

A total of 2,257 votes were cast.



WILLIAM T. GOSSETT

Area Man to Head U.S. Lawyer Group

Bloomfield Hills attorney William T. Gossett yesterday was named president-elect of the American Bar Association at the group's 90th annual meeting in Honolulu.

Gossett, 62, of 420 Goodhue had been nominated for the national post last winter.

A former vice president and legal counsel for the Ford Motor Co., Gossett will begin serving his one-year term as president of the American Bar in August 1968.

Ford Follows GM's Lead in Opposing Profit Sharing

DETROIT (AP) — Profit sharing, a major item in the United Auto Workers Union's contract demands, has run up against a wall of opposition.

Ford Motor Co. yesterday dusted off an old answer to the UAW demand: "No."

Ford followed the lead of General Motors, which last month voiced strong opposition to the profit sharing plan.

The union yesterday presented a position paper on the demand. In the paper, the reaction of former Ford Board Chairman Ernest R. Breech to a 1958 profit sharing proposal was quoted extensively.

★ ★ ★

Breech called the proposal "a complicated kill-the-profits plan that, in our opinion, strikes at the very roots of the economic system that has made and kept America strong.

EXTENSIVE POWER

"It is a plan which demands the power . . to negotiate dividends for stockholders, compensation for management and prices for consumers."

Ford's chief negotiator, Sidney F. McKenna said, "I would be most surprised if our reaction today would be any different."

Nelson Samp, UAW administrative assistant in the Ford Department, said the firm has never "shown any disposition to deprive executives of their profit sharing program on the grounds that it is subversive."

★ ★ ★

Samp said Ford makes profit sharing payments to assembly line workers in Venezuela and Mexico, where such payments are required by law. He said the company position "is not consistent, to say the least."

OTHER PACT TALKS

Negotiators at General Motors reported no progress yesterday, and sessions at the Chrysler Corp. were recessed until tomorrow.

'Policeman Kills Fellow Officer'

DETROIT (AP) — Police say a 41-year-old veteran Detroit patrolman was shot and killed last night by a fellow officer after their private cars were involved in an accident.

Killed was Patrolman John Bryant, who was off-duty and wearing civilian clothes.

Police said he was shot by Patrolman James Montgomery, 23, after Montgomery saw a gun in Bryant's hand. Montgomery also was in plain clothes.

It began, officers said, when Bryant and Montgomery's cars collided.

They said Montgomery chased Bryant, forcing the older officer's car over to the curb.

'NOTICED A GUN'

Montgomery, who officers said identified himself as a policeman, walked up to Bryant's car. Police said he noticed a gun in Bryant's hand and shot him.

It was not clear whether Bryant attempted to identify himself as a policeman, officers said.

The officers had been assigned to different precincts.

Refinery Blast Leaves 10 Hurt

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — A powerful explosion erupted at the Cities Service Co. refinery here early today, shattering plate-glass windows in surrounding business districts and injuring 10 persons. Four workmen were reported missing.

Flames covered a block area at the sprawling complex on the West bank of the Calcasieu River in extreme southwestern Louisiana.

★ ★ ★

Officials said the blast apparently was sparked by a ruptured butane line which spilled into an oil tower furnace.

The blast occurred at 4:45 a.m., sending residents in the impact area swarming from their homes in nightclothes.

Crime Fighter's Killing Probed

Georgia Blast Tied to Car, Liquor Traffickers

JEFFERSON, Ga. (AP) — Investigators dug into car theft operations and illegal liquor traffic today in a hunt for the assassin whose dynamite bomb snuffed out the rackets-fighting career of a state prosecutor.

The booby-trap killing of Solicitor Gn. Floyd G. Hoard, who had led a crime cleanup drive, shocked community leaders into marshaling their own citizens war on organized crime in this Northeast Georgia area where car stealing and bootlegging flourish.

★ ★ ★

Hoard, 40, father of four, died Monday morning when he turned the ignition switch of his car and detonated six to 12 sticks of dynamite wired under the hood. He was on his way to present evidence to a grand jury prior to criminal court next week.

"If it was intended as a threat, I'm going to double my efforts," said Judge Mark Donahoo of Superior Court, elected as a reform candidate with Hoard nearly three years ago. "We have got to try to eliminate these brutalities, these hoodlum tactics."

Authorities and townspeople agreed that Hoard's crusading crime fight had left a multitude of enemies. Joe Hoard said he had urged his younger brother to take precautions against a car booby trap last May—after Floyd Hoard brought up the subject.

"He came to me, brought it up and said this thing might happen," the brother said. But Floyd Hoard did not follow through on the advice to place strips of tape on the hood and doors of his car.

The bomb murder was similar to a dynamite explosion that injured Martin Page, an auto salvage operator at Greenville, S.C., more than a year ago.

Red Attack on Camp Repelled

SAIGON (AP) — American Green Berets and South Vietnamese irregulars believed outnumbered 4 to 1 counted 116 enemy dead today after repelling a North Vietnamese mortar and ground attack on a U.S. Special Forces camp near the Cambodian border.

Casualties among the 500 defenders and their families at Tong Le Chou were termed moderate, meaning they were hit hard. It was not known if any of the dozen or so American advisers were casualties.

★ ★ ★

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the 165th North Vietnamese Regiment, believed to number some 2,000 men, attacked the camp 54 miles northwest of Saigon early Monday and fighting raged for many hours.

The South Vietnamese reported they captured 35 hand weapons, three 50-caliber machines guns and one heavy machine gun.

AIRWAR

In the air war, 167 missions were flown against North Vietnam Monday, including an attack on the repeatedly hit Loi Dong storage area four miles northwest of the port of Haiphong. But bad weather limited most of the attacks to the southern Pahhandle.

Another F4C Phantom jet was brought down by ground fire in the Panhandle, and both crewmen were missing. It was the 638th U.S. combat plane reported lost over North Vietnam and the 38th in the past month.

Heavy automatic weapons fire by the Vietcong brought down five helicopters near Saigon Monday. One crashed and burned, but the other four were able to limp away from the ambush and were reported repairable.

Brig. Gen. John F. Freund was wounded in the lower right leg when he ordered his own chopper down to rescue troops from one of the downed copters. The 49-year-old commander of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade was directing an assault by U.S. and South Vietnamese troops seven miles north of the capital.

Freund, a native of New York City whose family now lives in Vienna, Va., was taken to the Army's 3rd Field Hospital in Saigon and was expected to be laid up two or three weeks.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in South Vietnam, presented Freund with his first Purple Heart in 27 years of Army service. Freund and his aide, a lieutenant, were the only ones wounded as their helicopter tried to pick up two U.S. soldiers. Ground troops later made the rescue.

Freund said the step-up in guerrilla attacks close to Saigon apparently is aimed at disrupting the Sept. 3 presidential election.

MOTHER CHARGED WITH MURDER — Mrs. Mary Connolly (center), 43, is in custody of a police matron and a state trooper at Ayer (Mass.) District Court yesterday where she was charged with four counts of first degree murder in the deaths of her four children. She was held without bail and committed to Gardner State Hospital for observation. The children were identified as Branda, 16; Gregory, 11; Gary, 7; and Thomas, 3, found shot in their Dunstable, Mass., home.

6 Citizens Act to Stop Fluoride

County Circuit Court to Hear Suit Monday

A temporary injunction will be sought Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court to halt the addition of fluoride to the water supplied to the City of Pontiac by Detroit.

The show-cause hearing was scheduled before Clark J. Adams after six Pontiac residents filed suit opposing the introduction of the chemical into the water last week.

Named defendants in the suit are the City of Detroit, the City of Pontiac, and the Detroit Board of Water Commissioners.

The complainants are Barbour Williams, Freda C. and Harley E. Woody, Neva G. Stewart, Anna R. Dover and Maude Lamoreaux.

★ ★ ★

Their attorney, John T. Rogers, said their rights have been infringed.

CITY ORDINANCE

"They voted against fluoride years ago, and there is still a city ordinance in effect that prohibits the addition of fluoride in water in Pontiac," said Rogers.

The ordinance was adopted in April 1955 when Pontiac used its own supply of water.

In 1961, however, Pontiac entered into an agreement to purchase water from Detroit, which, according to Rogers, has a clause pertaining to the addition of chemicals that conflicts with the 1955 ordinance.

Parking Along Maple Will Return to Normal

BIRMINGHAM — Parking along Maple in the downtown business district should be back to normal in about two weeks, city commissioners were told last night.

Ring road construction projects probably will be completed by that time, according to City Engineer William Killeen, ending the parking ban on the south side of the major thoroughfare.

The progress report was coupled with a short discussion on the results of study made in June on the effects of a complete prohibition of parking.

The month-long test, May 19-June 17, revealed that business along Maple suffered severe financial losses when parking was removed.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning recommended in a report to the commission July 23 that parking not be permanently removed from Maple.

REPORT WITHHELD

The commission, however, did not officially air the report until last night.

In his report, Kenning said that traffic did move easier and that there was a lessening of congestion, but the parking ban did not offset the negative impact of the change.

"The center of the community became a moving automotive throughway and not a leisurely pedestrian-oriented shopping center," Kenning's report said.

★ ★ ★

Following the test ban, parking had to be temporarily removed to allow for construction project in the downtown area.

NUMEROUS DISCUSSIONS

The removal of parking along Maple had been discussed a number of times by commissioners, but until the test was made, nothing had ever been done about it.

"It certainly cleared the air of any doubts," said Commissioner William Saunders.

Commissioner David Breck said that a personal survey of stores during the parking ban showed patronage was far below normal, and in some cases, there was a complete absence of customers.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the commission accepted the resignation of Donald W. Degen from the planning commission.

'OTHER COMMITMENTS'

Degen, 1602 E. Maple, said in a letter that increased personal and business commitments prompted his resignation.

City to Hear Zoning Bid for Apartments

City commissioners tonight will hear a proposal for rezoning 533 acres at Walton and Perry for construction of a $20-million apartment complex.

Dr. John Ylvisaker, a well-known developer, has requested that the land be rezoned to R-3 and C-1 for construction of some 1,000 apartment units and small shopping facilities.

The City Planning Commission has recommended approval of the rezoning petition.

★ ★

Also to be considered is a rezoning request which would allow apartment units to be constructed on a 15-acre site between Madison and Perry and west of Arlene.

★ ★ ★

A request from developer Charles Langs to add 10 acres to a 40-acre site being developed for rent-supplement housing on Kennett next to the Alcott Elementary School will be considered.

Commission approval is required in order to meet governmental conditions of the federally sponsored rent-supplement program.

The Commission will also:

- Review bids for sale of $1,800,000 worth of sewer revenue bonds.
- Receive a petition signed by property owners on Durant and Inglewood objecting to storage of junked cars in a lot at Pershing and Durant.
- Consider taking bids on new aeration equipment for the city's sewage treatment plants.
- Receive a report from the Haskins and Sells management consulting firm which will recommend guidelines for updating the city's accounting and data processing systems.
- Receive a report from the Board of Review.

Clark Details Steps to Get Riot Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration—acting on the heels of a sharp dispute between the President and Michigan Gov. George Romney—has formalized its procedure for sending federal troops to a riot zone.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, in letters sent to all 50 governors, outlined steps they must take to obtain U.S. military help to quell a riot.

★ ★ ★

The requirements closely parallel those followed by the administration in sending troops last month to the Detroit riot. That procedure was criticized by Romney—a potential Republican candidate for president next year—as politically inspired.

★ ★ ★

Johnson and Clark have denied politics entered into the administration's consideration of Romney's request for troops. Clark has said Romney didn't actually ask for troops until eight hours after the governor said he did.

Clark outlined this three-step procedure states should follow for getting federal troops:

- Determination that serious domestic violence exists.
- Determination that local and state police and National Guardsmen cannot handle the disturbance.
- A request by the governor or legislature to the President for federal troops.

Cong Defector Sees War End

SAIGON (AP) — A Communist defector introduced by the South Vietnamese government as a lieutenant colonel said today the allies will win the war, perhaps in two or three years.

"The last victory will belong to the government and the allies," Huynh Cu told a news conference.

Though intelligence estimates of enemy strength within South Vietnam have remained for weeks at about 296,000, Cu said it is difficult these days for the Vietcong to recruit new men.

Speaking through a Vietnamese army English-language interpreter, Cu said one district he was familiar with in the northern province of Quang Ngai had a quota of 100 recruits in the first three months of this year, but only three were found.

"Most of the young men had left the district," he said. "The rest did not like the Communists, or they said they were sick and in bad physical condition."

Body Believed Missing Girl

JACKSON (UPI) — The decomposed body of a teen-age girl found by bottle collectors in a trash-littered rural area has been tentatively identified as that of a Lansing girl missing since July 17.

State Trooper William Jelier said the cause of death had not been determined, but the victim apparently met with foul play.

Jelier said the victim's clothing closely matched that worn by Roxanne Sandbrook, 13, when she vanished during a neighborhood walk near her Lansing home July 17.

The body was found late Sunday about 50 feet east of a gravel road five miles north of here, Jelier said, by "a couple out looking for oddly shaped bottles." He said the semi-wooded area was littered with refuse.

★ ★ ★

An autopsy failed to determine the cause of death, Jelier said. The body was taken to Lansing for dental Xrays and other tests.

Oakland Park Carnival Site

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department tomorrow will conduct the annual Fund Day Carnival for children at Oakland Park.

Playground personnel from each of the department's playgrounds will be on hand to direct activities.

Twenty events, including a number of games of skill and some of chance, are scheduled.

The day's activities will begin at 10:30 a.m. and conclude at 4 p.m. "The children are being asked to bring their lunches so they can njoy the whole day" Richard Cain, recreation supervisor, siad.

Kelley Ruling Asked on New Tuition Plan

State Rep. William P. Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, has dumped the legal question of the controversial Michigan State-Oakland University tuition plan into the hands of Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

Hampton, a lawyer in Pontiac, requested yesterday in a letter that Kelley rule on four questions concerning the ability-to-pay plan as soon as possible "inasmuch as the MSU board plans to put this new plan into effect this September."

The MSU Board of Trustees, which also governs OU, last month passed a tuition plan where Michigan undergraduates would be charged a yearly tuition equal to 3 per cent of their parents' gross income if they make between $11,800 and $16,700.

Below an income of $11,800, students would pay $354 a year and above $16,700, a maximum of $501 yearly.

★ ★ ★

"We realize the urgency of this matter and we're working on it with all deliberate speed," Kelley said. Hampton said today he was informed that Kelley would try to have a ruling in 10 days.

Meanwhile, Michigan State and Oakland University are working out costly plans for the administration of the complicated plan, not knowing whether they will be in vain.

Hampton, the House majority floor leader, asked the attorney general whether:

- The plan violates "any Michigan or federal constitutional provisions."
- Parents can legally refuse to disclose their income.
- Disclosure of income can be a requirement for admission.
- The Legislature can pass a law prohibiting sliding scale tuitions.

'NOT ENOUGH TIME'

"My main argument is that I don't believe enough time was spent looking into the merits of the program," Hampton said today.

"If the plan is ruled legal in all respects, I may introduce a statute—after some thought — after January to prohibit such a method of raising tuition at state universities."

Hampton's request follows last Thursday's House passage of a resolution calling on the MSU trustees to scrap the ability-to-pay plan, which was called "discriminatory, unworkable and undoubtedly constitutionally questionable."

★ ★ ★

MSU trustees who approved the plan, 5 Democrats to 3 Republicans, remain firm in their decision but now have the threat of cuts in MSU and OU's budget next year if they don't revert back to the flat scale system.

"Another of my arguments is that a lot of students in this area around Oakland University work to raise their own tuition," Hampton explained.

"It is unfair that these self-supporting students will have to pay more than others just because theier parents make over a certain amount."

Few Watch Orbiter Relay Lunar Photos

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Once every five seconds a picture of the backside of the moon flashed on television monitor screens at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

Although some of the pictures were of an area never before photographed, only half a dozen persons watched.

★ ★ ★

The moon was getting to be "old hat."

That was the scene Monday as Lunar Orbiter 5, last of a successful series of photographic robots, televised frames it snapped Sunday as it started a 14-day orbital mission around the moon.

EARLIER PICTURES

Relay of pictures from earlier orbiters drew crowds of up to 300 newsmen and off-duty technicians.

There was nothing wrong with the pictures — they were probably the best yet taken by any spacecraft in the $200 million program. The new photographs will aid lunar mappers and help find potential astronaut landing sites which soft-landing surveyors examine at close range.

Lake Huron Ship Rescues Pair

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — A lakes freighter Monday rescued a father and a son on a 19-foot cruiser drifting in choppy Lake Huron.

The freighter Leon Fraizier came across the cruiser carrying Neil Bruder and his 12-year-old son Stephen when the craft, its engine out of commission, drifted into a shipping lane 18 miles east of Mackinac Island.

Troy Man Held in Romania After Traffic Fatality

VIENNA (AP) — The U.S. embassy in Bucharest reported today that Romanian authorities are holding George Diak of 851 Marengo, Troy, in connection with a fatal road accident.

A spokesman said the embassy was informed that Diak, 49, was arrested July 27 after he was involved in an accident in which a Romanian man was killed and a woman was injured.

★ ★ ★

The accident occurred near the town of Caransebes, in western Romania, Romanian police said.

The embassy has asked for permission for a member of its staff to visit Diak at the Caransebes jail.

Plan a 4-Continent Drive

3 Women Off on Year's Trek

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Three young European women are taking the long way back to their native lands—a 45,000-mile land and sea journey into 18 countries.

"We want to prove a point, that women are capable of accomplishing any feat of endurance performed by man," said one of them, Alexandra Youngson, 23, of Dundee, Scotland.

★ ★ ★

Inspired by Britain's Sir Francis Chichester, who sailed the globe alone in his sloop Gipsy Moth IV, the young women have nicknamed the station wagon they bought for the journey the "Gipsy Rover."

Miss Youngson and Isobel Turner, 22, of Kilmarnock, Scotland, have been working as governesses in New England and New York. Joining them is Marianna Kruger, 22, a mechanical draftsman from Schweinfurt, Germany.

LETTER OF CREDIT

They left Newport Saturday with international auto licenses and registrations and a $6,000 letter of credit. Driving in six-hour shifts, the trio expects to clock about 5,000 hours behind the wheel before the Gipsy Rover arrives in Glasgow next summer.

They are forsaking the curlers, creams and ointments used by most women.

★ ★ ★

"We needed all available space for gasoline and water cans, sleeping bags, cooking supplies, first aid kits and mosquito nets," said Miss Youngson. "Isabel and I will share one suitcase during the whole trip, with another small bag of finer things for our ocean voyage."

They will sleep in the Gipsy Rover on a specially constructed folding bed. "We plan to pull into driveways along the way and ask people to let us spend the night in their yards," Miss Turner said.

Their itinerary is plotted through Pennsylvania's Amish country, across the Corn Belt, over the Rockies and Sierras to San Francisco, then through Grand Canyon to El Paso, Tex.

"We've tried to stay away from major highways so we can see America from a more personal viewpoint," Miss Turner said.

★ ★ ★

They plan to head through Mexico, over the Pan American Highway to Panama, then cross to Colombia by freighter because much of the highway from Panama to Colombia is unfinished.

Following the highway down the west coast of the continent, the girls will cross the Andes Mountains and plan to be in Buenos Aires by Dec.-19, when they are booked on an ocean liner that will carry them and their auto to Cape Town, South Africa.

GETS SEASICK

Miss Kruger, who suffers from seasickness, will cross by air and meet them after the holidays.

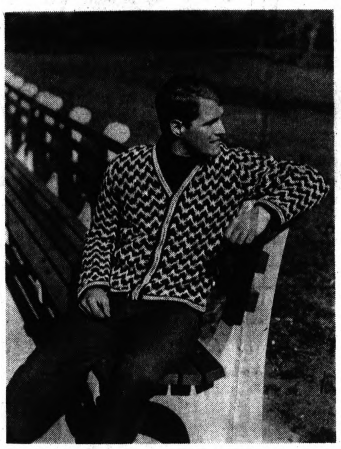
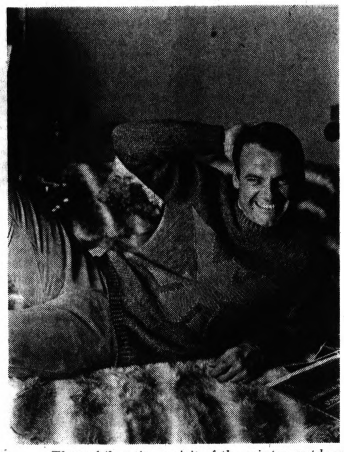
NATIONAL WEATHER—Scattered showers and thundershowers are forecast tonight in the southern Plateau region, the upper Mississippi Valley, the upper Great Lakes, southern New England and southern Florida. It will be cooler in the lower Lakes region and the northern Plains.

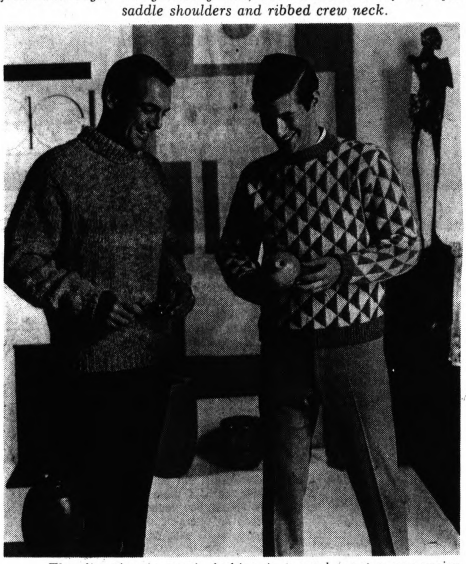
Sweater Team Promises Victory in Leisure Hour Playboy Game



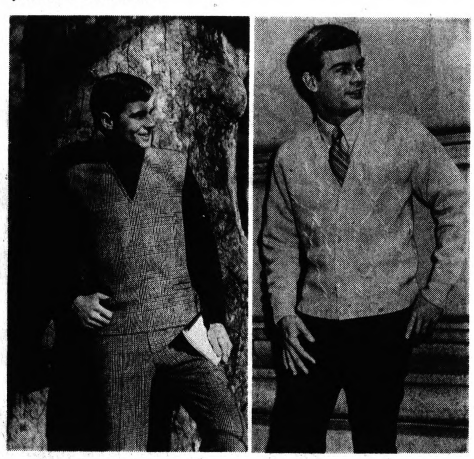
The lively new personality developed by men's sweaters for Fall '67 is best illustrated by this striking all-American wool cardigan, styled by Jantzen, with raised zig-zag stripes creating a hefty dimensional texture. Double rows of miniature zig-zags frame the V-necked front and edge the sleeves and hem.



The exhilarating spirit of the winter outdoor life is captured in this husky wool pullover by Robert Lewis that flashes a giant knit-in skua bird motif across its chest. Rich-textured, flexible, all-American knitted wool gives lively definition to the bulky tweedy knit, and to the lines of the split saddle shoulders and ribbed crew neck.



The direction in men's fashion is toward greater expression in color and pattern and wool sweaters are briskly setting the pace with their new zesty personalities. Puritan demonstrates how classic styles take on an entirely different look via texture, design motif and color in these two alert pullovers in all-American wool: left—the favorite turtled style, in a rich tweedy knit of thick-and-thin yarns; right—the crew pullover, in a distinctive double-diamond pattern in two colors.



Menswear fashions have caught on to the theme of coordination in a big way for Fall '67, with the wool sweater as the focal point. Jantzen creates a layered effect with this all-American knitted wool pullover styled with a V'd front of woven wool plaid, matchmated with plaid slacks.

This classic wool cardigan is traditional only in its basic styling —sculptured cables on a reverse knit, plus a whole roster of striking colors, give it an entirely new personality, with that special signature of quality. Made in lively all-American wool by Bernhard Altmann, winner of the 1967 Woolknit Design Award.

Guests Rarely Reciprocate on Invitation

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Have invitations to homes for an evening of chatter declined? I'll admit that I do not entertain as frequently as I should. However, when we do have a couple in for an evening, I always have a delectable snack.

Folks who visit our home seem to have an enjoyable evening and always thank us enthusiastically. But rarely do they reciprocate. Are young couples getting lazy or just too involved with family life? Would you please comment? — Mrs. E. M.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. E. M. : Customs vary in different communities, but, in general, an evening at a friend's home is just as popular as it ever was.

Young couples with small children may find it difficult and expensive to do much entertaining, but it should be possible for anyone to have friends in for coffee and dessert or an after-dinner drink without much effort.

You cannot very well ask yourselves outright to your friends' homes, but you may be able to prompt an invitation by a hint or two. "We'd just love to see your garden" or "I hear you've done over your kitchen, may we come by and see it sometime?", or whatever is applicable.

BOARDER

Dear Mrs. Post: Would you be so kind as to answer the following question as soon as possible since I have a current problem.

If a man boards in a private home and guests of the owner drop in and stay for meals, should the boarder excuse himself saying he has something to do after the meal is over, or should he stay around and at least listen to, if not join in, the conversation? — Herman S.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mr. S.: Even a family that takes in boarders is entitled to see their friends by themselves. They may wish to discuss matters which do not concern the boarder, or might be private.

So unless he is especially invited to stay, the boarder should excuse himself after the meal is over.

Brookside Unit Hosted by Mrs. Clifford Dick

Brookside branch of Woman's National Farm and Garden Association (WNFGA) met at the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. Clifford Dick recently.

Cohostesses were Mrs. J. J. Turner and Mrs. J. R. Slavsky. Mrs. Anthony Calbi of Olean, N. Y. was a guest.

Mrs. Parker Rockwell, national treasurer of WNFGA, spoke on the activities of the organization in the state and nationally.

Plans were discussed for the forthcoming men's night, to be held in September.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Just Think How Lucky You Are, Folks--- She Could Have Penchant for Opera

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please come to our rescue as soon as possible! The terrific heat, which requires that we keep our windows open, plus our "problem," makes things unbearable.

ABBY

A very lovely, cultured, retired lady in our neighborhood "practices" the piano every morning, afternoon, and evening. She owns a fine grand piano whose tone carries great distances.

Although she practices most of the day, she never seems to improve. We know every note of every piece she practices, and have even come to know when to expect the wrong notes.

★ ★ ★

We can't ask her not to play so loudly, or to keep her windows closed, or she would be offended. And we can't close ours. The newsboy who delivers our paper, delivers the same paper to her, so she must read your column. Please publish this. She is too nice to hurt, but we are suffering.

SILENT SUFFERERS

DEAR SUFFERERS: You have my sympathy. But have you ever considered how lucky you are that this lady doesn't study voice, with a penchant for opera?

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: We were four girls and two boys brought up in a Jewish home, so we never had ham, bacon, or pork in our house. Now that we are all grown and married, none of us has preserved the dietary custom, but our parents do.

I must admit, mama and papa are very broad-minded about our liberal attitude.

My oldest sister has a beautiful home, and when she has mama and papa over she serves them a dairy dinner, but she always puts a big pork roast on the table for everyone else.

Mama and papa have never said anything, but I know they are hurt.

I once told my sister I thought she was out of line to put pork on the table with mama and papa there, and she said, "I'm no hypocrite. We have pork in this house, and they know it, so why hide it? Besides, in MY home I'll serve whatever I like."

I still think my sister is wrong. Or am I?

THE YOUNGEST

DEAR YOUNGEST: Your sister is not only wrong, she's childish, disrespectful, and mean. She's trying to show contempt for the old traditions and at the same time let mama and papa know that she's her own boss now and can do as she pleases. But she doesn't have to hit them over the head with a pork roast to make her point.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 30 years. I am 52 and believe me, Abby, there is nothing wrong with me. I'm refined, educated, and nice looking. People tell me I look like 40. I go to the gym and keep myself fit.

I don't want to sound like a bragger, but I could take a job as a topless waitress if I wanted to.

Enough about me. My problem is my husband. He wants a divorce. He says he doesn't have anybody, else, he just wants to be free. I think he's lying, but I can't catch him. We have grown children who think he is crazy. They don't want me to give him a divorce.

I am ashamed to say this, but I still care for him and can't throw 30 years of marriage out the window. Am I wrong to refuse to give him a divorce?

HANGING ON

DEAR HANGING: No.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the kid who wouldn't do one or two little errands without asking, "What's there in it for me?" sure got my Irish up.

If any of my kids ever gave me an answer like that when I asked them to go empty the trash, the next morning when they came down for breakfast there would be a menu staring them in the face, with the price of everything on it.

And there would be a little charge of 50 cents a night for room, too.

That would be the end of the question, "What's there in it for me?"

Oldsters to Meet

The Pontiac Area Council of Senior Citizens will hold its regular meeting Friday at 2 p.m. in the Community Services Building.

Fete Bride-Elect at Several Galas

Recent showers honoring Jill Anderson, Aug. 19 bride-elect, were given in three area homes.

Mrs. Gary Blaylock and Donna Rofe entertained at the East Iroquois Road home of the Donald Rofes.

Mrs. Roy Pearce of Wenonah Drive was assisted by the honoree's aunts, Mrs. Lester Krumwiede and Mrs. Paul Burk for a shower in the Pearce home.

★ ★ ★

Michele Morrow, maid of honor for the upcoming ceremony, entertained in her home on Sylvan Lake.

Miss Anderson will marry Robert G. Crane, son of the Robert E. Cranes of East Boulevard South. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Anderson of Wenonah Drive.

Opening lead—♦ 4

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

There is an easy way for South to get to three no-trump with today's hand. He just opens with one no-trump and his partner raises him. South has the points for a no-trump opening but it is usually poor tactics to open one no-trump with a 5-4-2-2 distribution.

JACOBY

North can get there just about as easily after the club opening and the spade over-call if he bids one no-trump but North will have a lot of worries against a spade opening. With North as declarer spades are only stopped once. A spade lead up to South as declarer produces two spade stoppers.

In any event North's raise to two clubs is superior to a one no-trump call. After East bids two diamonds, South can still bid two no-trump and hope for a diamond lead or for something in spades in the North hand but two hearts is his correct bid.

West's three-diamond bid keeps pressure on North. His two-club bid was a good one and he feels justified in bidding again and certainly can afford to bid four clubs but North had wanted to bid no-trump at his first time and North knows that nine tricks are enough for game at no-trump while 11 are needed in clubs.

★ ★ ★

North can have his cake and eat it, too, if he uses a delayed cue bid so North bids three spades.

This bid can't be interpreted as a slam try. North only bid two clubs at his first chance to act.

It must tell South that North is willing to play at four clubs but if South can stop diamonds, North thinks that three no-trump is the right place to play the hand.

South is delighted to bid three no-trump and has no trouble collecting his nine tricks.

Astrological Forecast

BY SYDNEY OMARR

For Wednesday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Accent today on marriage, partnerships, ability to relate to world around you. Your attitude is of utmost importance. Be sure mind is open to creative ideas, suggestions.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Some of the bills come in — don't panic. You gained much from recent experiences. But there is a price to pay. Meet obligations with good will, humor. Then you gain in stature.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): You can perfect techniques. Look within for answers. Day keynotes love, affection, willingness to give of yourself. Children could play paramount role. Be ready for change.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Day when your innate abilities come to fore. Includes talent for keeping home and family together. Many lean upon you. This will pass. Demonstrate and give strength.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Information received enables you to give material aid to close friend, relative. Be perceptive. Analyze reasons — find out why. Can be productive day if you permit it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Overcome tendency toward apathy. Make effort to obtain fresh point of view. Then you actually gain in financial sense. Day spotlights possessions. Take stock.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Cycle high. Circumstances turn in your favor. Be at right place at right time. Take special care with personal appearance. You might be called upon to make surprise speech.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Be daring enough to shake off secret doubts, fears. Recognize limitations, but don't accept defeat. Get backing of group, club, association. Some of your efforts are due for recognition.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Fine evening for dining out, being with congenial persons. Avoid one who is gloomy. Fasten in your mind the idea of success. Your goal is within reach—so reach.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Some who advise you actually want to have a vicarious experience. Realize and perceive this—act accordingly. Today you succeed if self-reliant. Be independent without being domineering.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Strengthen philosophic position. Means be positive within. Dispel self-doubt. Read, write, study—add to your over-all knowledge. Cement relations with family members.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - Mar. 20): Some of your beliefs could cost money. Know this and be sure of basic procedures. Eliminate guess work. Go directly to authoritative source. Read your paper for special hints. Information.

★ ★ ★

IF TOMORROW IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you attract people to you with their ills, problems. Would make fine teacher, are attracted to medicine. As an actor or theatrical personality you could make a lasting mark. You soon get an opportunity to spread your wings in form of travel—and romance.

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for LIBRA, SCORPIO. Special word to VIRGO: your outlook depends upon amount of inner confidence. You can get everything you need—if you believe in yourself.

Gubernatorial Runoff Likely

Mississippi Primary Today

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Observers expect no candidate for governor to receive a majority of the votes in today's Democratic primary, forcing the top two vote-getters into a runoff on Aug. 29.

The winner then still must face Republican Rubel Phillips.

★ ★ ★

The three leading candidates are considered to be former Gov. Ross Barnett, Rep. John Bell Williams and State Treasurer William Winter.

They, along with four other candidates, have traded slaps on the stump in a campaign fought harder with personal attacks than with issues.

ENDORSED SEGREGATION

While candidates have endorsed segregation, the question of race has been muted. Swelling Negro voter registration has reached an estimated 185,000, but the possibility of a bloc vote remains undefined.

Negro leaders contend that there has been no organization toward that end. Rather, the emphasis has been on election of Negroes to local officers.

Two other gubernatorial candidates, rated as dark horses after strenuous campaigning, are Jackson Dist. Atty. William Waller, 44, and Hattiesburg broadcaster Jimmy Swan.

★ ★ ★

CAMPAIGN THEMES

Swan has been the only candidate to make segregation the theme of his campaign, along with anticommunism and attacks on the federal government and federal judiciary.
