

ONE COLOR GOP Governors Seen Drifting From Romney, Nixon

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (AP) — An indicated drift among Western Republican governors away from the two current top contenders pointed in the direction today of a wide-open scramble for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

By all of the recognizable but not always dependable signs, Gov. George Romney of Michigan and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 nominee, are losing ground to two men who say they are not candidates.

The flight of party conservatives from Nixon toward Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, shown at last week's meeting of the Young Republicans in Omaha, was acknowledged by Gov. David M. Cargo of New Mexico as a phenomenon that is becoming widespread.

Cargo, a Michigan native and close friend of Romney, has every reason for promoting Romney's candidacy. He had been expected to come up with a statement at a Jackson, Wyo., meeting later this week seeking to put a majority of the GOP governors behind Romney.

Instead, Cargos is talking in terms of heading an uncommitted New Mexico delegation to next year's nominating convention. He was expansive in his praise of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

'MOST LIKELY'

After a survey, Cargos said 16 of the 25 Republican state executives privately think Rockefeller is the best qualified against President Johnson.

If this represents sentiment among the GOP executives, and if Romney should falter in the primaries, Rockefeller might represent a replacement despite his protestations that he will never seek the nomination again.

These primaries are looming larger in the calculations of the governors. They are wary of going out on any political limb for a candidate who might fail to make a creditable showing with the voters.

Although Cargos said he thinks the 18

GOP governors he counts as moderates ought to get together on a candidate by next November, there was a great deal of doubt this would happen because of the primaries.

Reagan's name will be on the ballot in free-for-all contests in such states as Nebraska, Oregon and possibly Wisconsin. The feeling is that Romney will have to win the first test in New Hampshire to keep his flag flying.

LBJ, Kosygin Fail to Settle Any Major Issues

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin have failed to resolve any of their differences over such major world issues as Vietnam and the Middle East, but they intend to keep in direct contact on these and other problems they debated in their Glassboro summit conference.

The conference ended last night after the two men had spent almost 10 hours together in two days at the small New Jersey town south of Philadelphia. Both told a cheering rain-soaked crowd of their desire to promote peace in the world.

Kosygin returned to New York in a helicopter provided by the President and held a news conference at the United Nations. There he abandoned the smiling countenance displayed at Glassboro and reverted to familiar Soviet attacks on Israel in the Middle East and the United States in Vietnam.

Johnson returned to Washington and said in a broadcast statement that "no agreement is readily in sight on the Middle Eastern crisis, and our well known differences over Vietnam continue."

But he added:

"I believe it is fair to say that these days at Hollybush have made the world a little less dangerous."

Kosygin left the United States for Cuba today.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, both now in New York, were left with the hard task of trying to negotiate some concrete accords out of what Johnson called "the spirit of Hollybush." They are expected to begin a series of talks in a day or so.

Hollybush is the name of the home of President Thomas E. Robinson of Glassboro State College where Johnson and Kosygin met on Friday and yesterday.

He will be the first high-ranking Soviet official to visit the Caribbean regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro since Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan traveled there in 1962.

Before taking off, Kosygin held an impromptu news conference at Kennedy Airport during which he indicated, as he had Sunday, that President Johnson might not be welcome to visit the Soviet Union at present.

'SHOULD RELIEVE TENSIONS'

Asked if he had invited Johnson to Moscow, Kosygin said: "First of all, I think we should have a relieving of tensions in the world."

Kosygin are shown with members of their families outside Hollybush yesterday before beginning their second meeting on the Glassboro State College campus. State Dems' Debt Is Put at $97,000

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Democratic party is more than $97,000 in the red, party Treasurer Stuart Hertzberg told the State Central Committee yesterday at Michigan State University.

The party debt totaled as much as $130,000 earlier this year, Hertzberg said, adding that only 27 of the State Central Committee's 76 members have paid this year's party dues.

The State Central Committee also heard from U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., on his recent trip to Vietnam and heard a prediction from State House Minority Leader William Ryan of Detroit that House leaders are "within a short stone's throw of agreement on a fiscal reform program."

"We can carry a deficit like this as long as we can keep the money rolling," Hertzberg said of the Democrats' financial situation.

He said the party has been carrying similar deficits for the past year and a half.

Hertzberg said proceeds from the Democrats' Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner in Detroit earlier this year cut the deficit from nearly $130,000.

"The problems are being solved through channels right now," he said, but refused to elaborate.

Youth Drowns in Area Lake

An 18-year-old Detroit boy, at an outing at which 21 youths were arrested on charges of violating alcoholic beverage laws, drowned yesterday in a Commerce Township lake, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said Frank T. Zatorski was swimming from a raft in Lower Straits Lake at the Lower Straits Resort Club, 9140 Richardson, about 5 p.m. when he apparently tired and was unable to stay above water.

Traffic Accidents Kill 2 in Area

Two persons — a 13-month-old tot and a Troy girl — were killed in traffic mishaps over the weekend.

A West Bloomfield Township man, backing a truck out of his driveway accidentally ran over and killed his 13-month-old daughter Saturday afternoon, according to police.

Christine Amato, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Amato of 2795 Comfort, was pronounced dead at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, three hours after the 3:30 p.m. accident police said.

A Troy girl was killed and seven persons injured in a two-car crash in Bloomfield Township at 10:30 p.m., Saturday.

Dead is Cheryl Roddy, 20, of 3043 Kingsley, Troy. She was a passenger in a car driven by John Dirnbauer, 20, 2840 Amberly, Bloomfield Township.

His car collided with a car driven by Daniel Manguen, 18, of Berkeley. The accident occurred at Woodward and Big Beaver.

His body was recovered in eight feet of water some 10 feet from the raft, investigators said.

Deputies said Zatorski was at the lake with the other youths whose seven cars contained large amounts of wine, liquor and beer.

Two Detroit-area adults, Michael Chibowias and Norman Kosciolowski, were charged with furnishing alcoholic beverages to minors, according to officers.

The 19 others, all minors, were taken into custody on charges of illegally being in possession of the beverages, they said.

CAMP DEARBORN

A Taylor Township youth, John Cybert, 15, drowned in Camp Dearborn Lake, Milford Township, about 11 a.m. Saturday, deputies said.

Cybert was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital some 30 minutes later.

Time Will Tell Value of Talks

GLASSBORO, N.J. (AP) — President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin marched up to the summit and down again without shifting their postures on issues deeply dividing the world's greatest powers.

This was not unexpected. But was the exercise worthwhile?

From the U.S. standpoint, the answer is probably a qualified yes. A more definite verdict can only come with time.

On the plus side is the face-to-face familiarity with the other man and his views that each leader gained in the 10 hours of talks, much of this in private sessions with only interpreters present. The two had never met before.

DIPLOMATIC CONTACTS

The summit push to keep diplomatic contacts alive between Washington and Moscow, it is reasoned, can eventually lead toward solutions of some of the deeply imbedded difficulties between them.

President Johnson and Premier Kosygin apparently made clear to each other and to a concerned world that they recognize the awesome responsibilities of the superpowers in avoiding a nuclear holocaust.

through a pullback of Israeli troops and that the road to peace in Vietnam lies through withdrawal of the Americans.

U.S. AGGRESSION

Kosygin's tough line on Vietnam struck particularly hard, because he listed what he termed an end to U.S. aggression there as the No. 1 step needed to improve U.S.-Soviet relations.

And instead of saying Johnson would be welcome in the Soviet Union or at least keeping noncommittal on this point, Kosygin, who visited Niagara Falls as a U.S. guest Saturday, in effect barred the President from a Russian visit until he changes his Vietnam policy.

Carnival Rides: Survey Points Up Risks

By HUDSON WILLSE

Carnival ride mishaps seemingly are few and far between. Nonetheless, when such accidents do occur they often spell death or serious injury.

Fun-seekers are riding at their own risk even in communities where structural inspections of amusement rides are required, based on a survey of ordinances in area communities.

The ride that failed two years ago in Taylor Township, killing two persons, had been inspected and approved by engineers.

Most area communities, including Pontiac and Waterford Township, do not require mechanical inspection of rides.

Waterford Township revised its amusement park and carnival ordinance in 1965 to include inspection of rides, but repealed this provision last year.

Township officials discovered that qualified engineers were reluctant to make such inspections because of the excessive degree of risk involved due to the unlimited number of possibilities of failure.

One engineer said the only way a proper inspection could be accomplished would be to check all internal and external parts right down to each cotter pin.

He said that some parts would have to be X-rayed.

The engineer stated it would be virtually impossible to find a qualified man to inspect rides. Even if one could be obtained, the cost would be too much for the carnival operator to bear, he noted.

SURVEY OF 6 COMMUNITIES

E. R. Lawson, Waterford Township's

director of inspections, surveyed six communities last year to find out their regulations governing amusement rides.

None of the six required mechanical inspection of rides.

At that time, Southfield and Oak Park did not allow carnivals to operate within their jurisdictions.

Following the tragedy, Taylor Township banned carnivals at least until effective state legislation is enacted.

NO REQUIREMENT

Dearborn, Troy and Nankin Township (now Westland) allowed carnivals, but didn't require structural inspection of rides.

Most communities which allow carnivals, however, require electrical inspections prior to the issuance of an operating license.

But Kosygin, in stern words at his U.N. news conference last night, quickly stripped away any euphoria that may have sprung from the length of his two-stage parley with the President.

Fresh from the Glassboro, N. J., meeting Kosygin said publicly a sizable chunk of what he told Johnson privately in the Hollybush library — that the route to Middle East peace lies

Only in the disarmament field, long a feature of U.S.-Soviet statements when agreement is sparse on other issues, was there some ring of optimism from on high.

Rusk and Gromyko are now expected to move somewhat faster in the lengthy effort for a Washington-Moscow draft of a treaty to curb the spread of nuclear weapons. They want to put agreed wording before the 17-nation Disarmament Conference soon.

U.S. and Soviet diplomats will still have plenty of problems to work on after that.

Sun Banishes Chilly Weather

Cool weather did not tarry long in the Pontiac area as thermometers warmed into the high 70s this afternoon.

Tonight will be cloudy and not quite so cool with temperatures in the high 50s or low 60s.

Tomorrow will continue the cloudy and warmer trend with a chance of showers or thundershowers in the afternoon or evening. Temperatures will range in the 80s.

Wednesday promises to follow the same line with warm, humid weather punctuated by showers or thundershowers.

Low mercury reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 54. By 2 p.m. sunshine warmed the thermometer to 78.

Debate on Mideast Continues in U.N.

State Police at Pontiac Arrest Jackson Escapees

State police from the Pontiac post last night arrested two escapees from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson when the Jackson taxicab in which they were riding was spotted on I-75 near Holly.

The escapees were arrested by troopers Kenneth Duskey and Philip Cowdrey and were taken back to the prison this morning where they face charges of escape, kidnapping and breaking and entering.

Police said William T. Mills, 23, of Flint and Howard P. Holloway, 35, of Pontiac escaped Saturday night from the Dalton Farm at the prison.

Last night at 7:30 they allegedly ordered cabdriver J. C. Hutton to drive them to Ann Arbor but, according to Hutton, the escapees refused to get out at Ann Arbor.

"They put a gun on me and told me they were escapees and said to take them wherever they told me," Hutton later told police. Aware that Mills' father lived in Flint and Holloway's wife in Pontiac, police were watching down the nearby roads for the cab.

S. Viets, S. Koreans Report Killing 148 Reds

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers and South Korean marines bore the brunt of ground fighting in Vietnam Sunday and reported killing 148 Communist soldiers.

Only light and sporadic contact was reported by U. S. units conducting 21 major ground sweeps.

U. S. headquarters reported 153 American air missions over North Vietnam Sunday, almost all against supply routes. As they have for almost a month, American pilots avoided the Hanoi-Haiphong region. The official reason given was bad weather.

South Vietnamese paratroopers scored the biggest success of the day in the 17th Parallel division below the 17th Parallel dividing Vietnam. On a search-and-destroy operation the paratroopers jumped a major enemy force and reported they killed 105.

ENEMY COMPANY

Supported by armored personnel carriers and air strikes, the airborne battalion of about 500 men overpowered what was evidently an enemy company or more. The South Vietnamese said they captured 19 weapons, including seven mortars and machine guns, and suffered only "light casualties."

A South Korean patrol ran into a guerrilla band in coastal Phu Yen Province and killed 43 while suffering no casualties, according to Korean headquarters. The fight lasted 2½ hours. Then the guerrillas fled.

U. S. headquarters reported an unusual rescue Sunday when a big twin-rotor Chinook helicopter flew into Dinh Tuong Province about 40 miles south of Saigon to save a group of infantrymen trapped inside an armored personnel carrier.

The 13-ton vehicle had been blown up and overturned by a mine. The big chopper raised the vehicle so medics could get out the wounded. It was not known how many casualties there were.

Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade reported scattered contact in the central highlands area where Communist forces chopped up a paratrooper company last Thursday. Night bivouacs of the 173rd were harassed by grenade-throwing enemy but no major fights developed.

U. S. headquarters said late reports showed 106 North Vietnamese regulars died in the battle in which 80 U. S. paratroopers were killed and 130 wounded.

The paratroopers also uncovered an arms cache containing 28 assorted weapons, perhaps left behind by Communist troops slipping out of the area after last Thursday's fight.

Military headquarters reported bombing weather over North Vietnam was generally good everywhere but in the Red River valley and the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

Navy and Air Force pilots ranged over the panhandle area stretching south from Hanoi, the 17th Parallel, mostly hitting roads, rails and truck and barge convoys.

Air Force and Navy communications were limited largely to such items as a series of secondary explosions along the Mu Gia pass, a major supply route to the south, and five big fires at a fuel dump near the city of Dong Hoi on Route 1 leading south.

Navy destroyers operated off the coast near Dong Hoi, shelling cargo barges on the coastal waterway. The Navy said seven barges were sunk by five-inch gunfire from a destroyer.

11 Teens End 'Vacation' at Chippewa Reservation

MOUNT PLEASANT (UPI) — Eleven Columbia City, Ind., teen-agers have completed spending their vacation by helping the Chippewa Indians in the Mount Pleasant area.

The tired 11 youngsters undertook a variety of chores on the Chippewa reservation grounds including:

Painting the Chippewa Methodist Church, washing the inside, varnishing the church pews, treating the church windows with a stained-glass effect, cleaning the grounds, putting up posts as guard rails around the grounds and clearing up debris.

The youths are members of the Trinity Methodist Church of Columbia City, Ind., which the Rev. Harold Oeschle is pastor.

They financed the costs of their own trip and started back for home yesterday.

The boys unloaded a train carload of fertilizer, operated an employment service for odd jobs and undertook other events which raised $1,000 for the trip.

Storms Rage Over Europe; 32 Are Dead

LONDON (UPI) — Driving rain and tornadoes left a swath of death and destruction across Europe today. At least 32 persons were killed in the weekend storms.

A rescue team in the Yorkshire Dales of North England today resumed its search for the bodies of six men feared drowned in an underground cave. The men were exploring the cave when a sudden downpour swelled the river that ran through the cave.

Torrential rains hit the Wimbledon Tennis Courts yesterday, washing out nine of the 16 courts for today's opening play of the Wimbledon Tournament.

Tornadoes skipped across France Saturday and Belgium yesterday, killing a total of 10 persons. Eight others were killed in Holland and 60 houses destroyed by tornadoes.

Winds of up to 120 miles an hour blew across the Douai area of Belgium, destroying 200 houses, killing three persons and injuring 100 others. Seven persons died in storms in the northern French village of Pommerehne, and 40 others were injured.

County Beats Out Syndicate in Purchase of Groveland Township Recreation Area

By ED BLUNDEN
GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — "The county has gained a real diamond," said Kenneth L. Van Natta, director of parks and recreation.
He was describing the $490,000 purchase of Paradise Beach, a 155-acre parcel in Groveland Township, just off Dixie at Grange Hall.
The purchase came just in time to prevent a syndicate from buying the land for possible private development which by next January and more thereafter.

The original purpose for seeking the levy was to make sure county residents had adequate parks for the future, especially in light of the rapid development taking place, Van Natta explained.

Other communities nearer to Detroit developed and only supplementary work little recreation area inside their boundaries, he said.

FIRST USE OF FUNDS

The Paradise Beach park is the first purchase of the county using the new funds.

Other parks are expected to be added to give a full range of recreational activities for the present and future residents of the county, Van Natta said.

The acquisition is mainly construed to be a trailer park for weekend tourists. This is the main use being employed at present.

The facility has a large space for trailer parking with a 30-acre Stewart Lake.

LITTLE WORK

Boating and beach facilities are fully developed and only supplementary work is expected to be needed.

The lake is spring fed, very clear water with a sandy bottom and shore line. It has small islands and inlets along its western border, pleasant for non-powered boating.

The windmill on an island in the middle of the lake as a landmark.

The beach will continue to operate as at present with charges made on a per-car, per-person basis.

LOWER FEE

If the county gains state or federal matching funds, the gate charge will be the same for all.

But if the county keeps it a separate enterprise, residents will be allowed to use the park at a lower fee than non-county residents, according to Van Natta.

The decision by county officials on this is still pending.

probably would have excluded public use.

The land was owned by Dr. Lamar K. Mathews, who operated it as a private venture along with a clinic.

Van Natta pointed out Dr. Mathews is 76 years old and wanted to rid himself of the obligation.

OFFERED TO STATE

He at first offered the property to the state but did not get a sale, Van Natta said.

Dr. Mathews was considering selling the land to a syndicate for about the same price the county paid.

"But he wanted his park to be used by the public," Van Natta said.

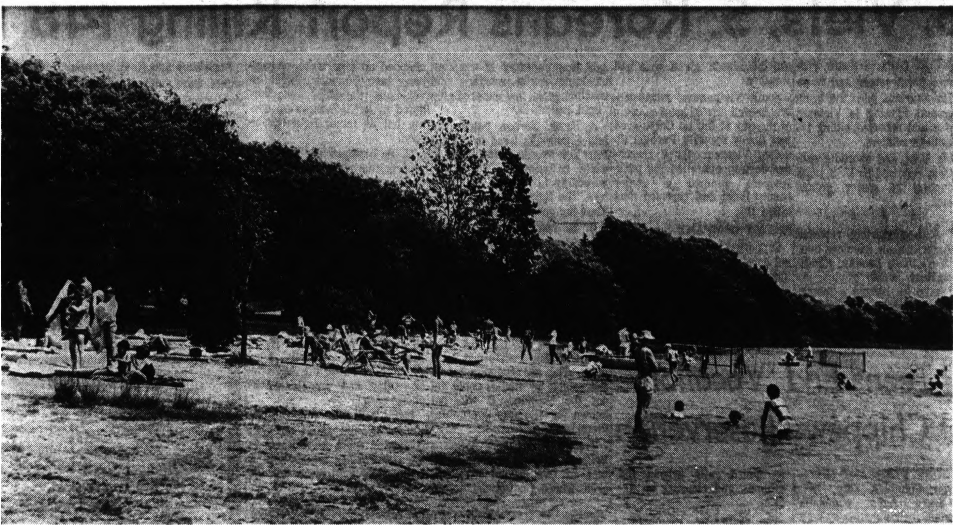

THE DEAL

The deal is not yet finalized. A $50,000 option has been paid and the county will have to pay the entire amount one year after March 1, 1968.

TAX LEVY

The money for the park was voted in a quarter mill tax levy for park purposes last November.

This levy is expected to bring $640,000

School Opening to Be Delayed by Budget Cuts

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—Cutbacks in the school district's 1967-68 operating budget will mean a delay of one year in the opening of a new junior high school, Schools Supt. Gerald V. Harrison said today.

This move, saving approximately $300,000 in personnel costs, was approved in view of a record $714,000 deficit in the preliminary budget which was submitted last February.

The revised budget, still some $225,000 "out of balance" according to Harrison, will be considered for adoption by the Board of Education tonight following a public hearing.

"Part of the decision concerning the new junior high school," Harrison explained, "was brought about by the delay of construction of the school due to two labor strikes."

"Since it appeared very unlikely that the school would be completed in time for the beginning of the new school year in September anyway, we decided to cut costs by delaying its opening until next year," he said.

NOVEMBER TARGET

Construction on the new Power Junior High School, located on Gill Road between Eight and Nine Mile Roads, is now proceeding on schedule towards a Nov. 15 completion date, Harrison added.

Although the building will be available for partial use before then, Harrison noted, it will probably not be needed.

"Our present three junior high schools, we believe, can carry the load, unless there should be great increases in school population over the summer," the superintendent said.

In that event, he noted, there may be "some difficulty" without additional accommodations.

Harrison also pointed out that there was a cut of some $125,000 in the budget's capital expenditures. This was the second largest budget made.

Despite the huge cuts, the proposed budget will still be approximately $800,000 greater than last year's.

3 School Positions Filled in Brandon By Shelby Twp. Board

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — The board of education has made three appointments to administrative posts.

Harvey B. Fletcher, 33, was named assistant principal of Brandon High. He has been a teacher and attendance officer for the district for 10 years.

He is a graduate of Northern Michigan University and is seeking a master's degree at Michigan State. He is married and has five children.

Palmer C. Swanson, 38, was appointed principal of the Belle Ann Elementary. He is also a graduate of Northern Michigan and holds a master's in school administration from the University of Michigan.

Swanson served in the Clarkston and Pontiac schools for 11 years. He is married and the father of three.

NEW PRINCIPALS

Robert D. Harvey, 33, will be new principal of the Howard T. Burt Elementary. He is a graduate of Western Michigan with a bachelor's degree and holds a master's from MSU.

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — The township Board will meet at 4 p.m. today to take final action on Township Supervisor Kirby Holmes' proposed 1967-68 budget.

The board completed its evaluation of the budget Saturday morning when it met to consider those portions of it dealing with the police, water and fire departments.

The rest of the budget had been reviewed at a meeting on the previous Saturday.

Holmes said the changes the board made Saturday were minor and did not push the budget out of line.

No changes were made in the $197,000 budget for the fire department and only minor changes were made in the water department budget.

SEPARATE ACCOUNTS

Both the water and fire department budgets are carried as separate accounts, apart from the general fund budget.

Holmes' $131,020 proposed expenditure for the police department was reduced by only $2,400. The money was cut from a proposed $4,900 for vehicle purchases.

A $2,000 allocation for the new parks and recreation department, which was not acted upon at the first budget meeting, was not cut at Saturday's meeting.

Holmes said, that as the budget now stands it balances at approximately $354,000.

EXPENDITURES DOWN

"Expenditures are down about twelve per cent from the current budget," he said. "It's quite an austerity budget."

The current budget sets expenditures and revenues at $402,000.

The supervisor said he was satisfied with the budget and recommended to the board that it take final action on it at Saturday's meeting.

The board decided, however, to put off the final vote until today.

Forecast for 5 Lakes States

Tart Cherry Crop to Be Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department yesterday estimated that the year's production of tart cherries in the five Great Lakes states will be 12 per cent below last year's short crop and 56 per cent less than the five-year average.

The expected poor crop was blamed on adverse weather conditions since the first of the year in all five states—New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin.

The department forecast was for 68,000 tons. The total forecast for the United States is 89,750 tons, down 11 per cent from 1966 and 54 per cent below average.

In the western states, tart cherry production was forecast at 11,950 tons as of June 1, down 3 per cent from last year but 9 per cent above average.

New York is the only Great Lakes state which is expected to produce more cherries than a year ago.

The forecast is for 19,000 tons, more than triple last year's short crop but still 24 per cent less than average.

Expected production for other Great Lakes states:

- Michigan, 42,000 tons, down 24 per cent from last year and 62 per cent below average.
- Wisconsin, 7,000 tons, the same as in 1966 but only one half as large as average.
- Ohio, 400 tons, less than one-half last year's small crop and about 1/4th of average.
- Pennsylvania, 400 tons, the smallest crop on record.

Victim Seen June 12

UTICA (UPI) — Police investigating the slaying of a Madison Heights woman said today they believe she was last seen alive June 12.

The date was nearly one week before the body of Mrs. Ann Collins, 19, was found in Stony Creek Park. A man arrested in Nashville, Tenn., meanwhile, was cleared in the case. Police said an investigation indicated that Leon Logan, 38, was not connected with the slaying.

Lake Orion Will Consider Budget

LAKE ORION — Village Manager John F. Reineck's proposed 1967-68 budget will be considered by the Village Council at its regular meeting tonight.

The budget sets expenditures and anticipated revenues at $198,106. Reineck said comparisons between last year's budget and the proposed one cannot be made at this time because the budget is different in format from the previous year's.

The manager has requested that an audit be made during July for the fiscal year ending July 30, 1967 in order to determine if any surplus remains from last year's budget.

A public hearing on the proposed budget has been recommended for July 10 by Reineck.

Also on tonight's agenda is a proposal to resurface West Flint Street. A status report will be presented from the Oakland County Department of Public Works on the Lake Orion Sewage Disposal system.

The council will also consider the adoption of the American Standard Safety and the proposed Mechanical Refrigeration for the village. The village does not at present have a code.

The meeting has been set for 7:30 p.m. at the village hall.

New Film Challenge

India Director Looks to U.S.

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD—Can a masterful film maker translate his genius to a language that is not his own?

The feat was accomplished with spectacular success by Italy's Michelangelo Antonioni in his first English-language film, "Blow-up." Less successful Franco's Francois Truffaut, whose "Fahrenheit 451" failed to move the critics. Nor have the English-made films of Roman Polanski drawn the plaudits of those he made in Poland.

Other foreign directors such as Sweden's Ingmar Bergman and Italy's Federico Fellini have so far resisted the offers to aim at the bigger, English-speaking market. But Satyajit Ray, most famous film maker of India, plans to accept the challenge.

Ray has been visiting Hollywood to make plans for "The Alien," which he will make for Columbia Pictures. Until now, all of his movies have been filmed in the Bengali language, primarily for the Indian audience.

WITH VIRTUOSOS

The appeal of his films has extended beyond his country's borders, attracting international attention to Indian films for the first time. His trilogy of the life of a village boy—"Pather Panchali," "Aparajito" and "The World of Apu"—made him a winner of film festivals. After 14 movies he seeks a new challenge. "In most of my films I have been working with nonactors," he remarked. "Now I want to see what it is like to work with virtuoso performers."

Ray and Producer Michael Wilson figure they have their virtuoso in Peter Sellers, who has agreed to appear in "The Alien" on the basis of Ray's reputation; the actor didn't even need to see the script. Now Ray and Wilson are seeking an American actor for the other major role. They would like Steve McQueen or Marlon Brando, but then, what film maker wouldn't?

Ray is a surprisingly tall man of 46 years, with luxuriant black hair and large, sad eyes. He speaks in flawless, British-accented English and seems happy when he is talking about films. He was a founder of the Calcutta Film Society and moonlighted from an advertising job to film "Pather Panchali."

PROJECT SHELVED

"I was shooting it during parts of three years," he said. "At one time the whole project was shelved for eight months because I couldn't find any more money. Finally the government took over financing of the film as a cultural venture." The wary Indian didn't quit his advertising job until after "Pather Panchali" had been released and begun to attract attention.

Ray continues to work in Calcutta, which he describes as "the center for modest films, usually based on novels and short stories and rooted in the indigenous outside the country's environment of India." He speaks rather scornfully of the product of Bombay, which is "100 per cent commercial, with big budgets and color."

Said he: "Bombay has its own make-believe world."

The world of Satyajit Ray instead reflects the soul and heart of India, and that accounts for the fact that he is the only Indian film maker to be recognized outside the country's borders.

It Seems to Me . . .

Kosygin's Mask of Amity Hides Soviet's Evil Designs

Don't let one or two friendly waves and peaceful mouthings change your mental picture of the head Reds, or Mr. Kosygin in particular.

Although he wouldn't go to Washington or New York to talk with President Johnson, he did condescend to meet elsewhere. Early reports indicate no change in the Soviet line on the Middle East, or Vietnam, or anything else.

If anything, there was some value in a face-to-face confrontation. Even if issues are not resolved, it often helps to get acquainted with the "opposite number" when you can. Johnson knows this, as the astute politician that he is.

I left Russia recently with the definite impression the Russian people hate nobody. But their leaders labor overtime to encourage, nurture and court the opposite. The bosses themselves hate us all.

They're simply impossible. In them, we find decency departed. They represent trouble, hatred and war. What a pack of scoundrels!

Face-Lifting for Stamps . . .

Allah be praised. They're going to "do something" about that "likeness" (the term is purely complimentary) of GEORGE WASHINGTON on the five cent stamps.

When this monstrosity first came out, a nation was stunned and aghast. "The Father of his Country" looked like something that had been dismissed from a torture chamber through compassion. The stamp pictured him as a stern, uncompromising individual who could love nobody — and especially his country.

The Department has finally awakened to the self-evident truth that 190 odd million residents comprehended the lot it appeared.

Now they're "gonna fix it." So they say. And to think: JOHNSON hated that picture of himself which really wasn't a bad likeness. But G. W. couldn't speak.

Most Weighty Problem . . .

Whatever problems President Johnson faces, one outweighs all the rest as far as he is concerned. That's Vietnam. This comes first.

As you listen to the populace today, it's increasingly apparent that if Vietnam continues in full blast when the Democratic convention meets, one thing is pretty certain.

LBJ's goose is cooked. His number will be up.

Voters of both parties, all sexes and all ages are demanding a change in the status quo over there. If this war continues when the Democratic poo-bahs assemble, Mr. Johnson will have to step gracefully aside and designate a Democratic heir-apparent. He might even get BOBBY KENNEDY, willy nilly.

The top boy will be done. And he knows it himself.

Anything Goes In Mails . . .

The vile, filthy literature that creeps through our mails in an increasing volume is a disgrace to the decency of any nation anywhere.

Some of our Supreme Court's far-out rulings on "freedom of speech" have apparently lowered the bars until now nothing is taboo. You're offered nude pictures and nude movies that are really NUDE. There isn't the saving grace of a wisp of a veil or the wave of a protecting hand. And they're in color.

Current offerings come from Canada, also. WARREN's Supreme Court doesn't hold any sway over there but they've been emboldened by the decadence below the border.

For shame — North America.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Many areas on this continent were privately skeptical as to just how Expo 67 would draw, coming as it did on the heels of New York's World Fair. But the crowds have exceeded expectations. . . . Overheard: "I know you're neutral, but whose side are you on." . . . A U.S. city with a population just short of a million had a veteran law enforcer say: "If I could lock up 700 people tonight, it would eliminate 90 per cent of the crime tomorrow." J. EDGAR HOOVER calls them "career criminals."

Trusted scouts advise me Pam Trudgen deserves mention as one of the area's attractive young ladies. . . . Once most State Universities were amply financed. Today scores of them are in serious trouble.

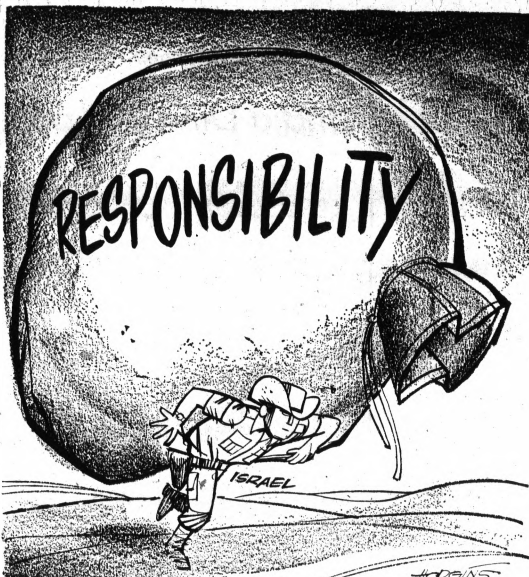

PAM

Within another month, 725 American women will be in Vietnam in uniform. . . . Overheard: "Beware of the chap who reminds you that you can't take it with you. He's probably trying to take yours with him."

Apparently Washington leads the Nation in crime per square mile, per inhabitant and in percentage of increase. How can Congress let their city become the cesspool of America?

A recent survey shows that only 4 per cent of movie goers are impressed by the name of the director. About 30 per cent go to see the star and the rest just go. . . . Moscow is making renewed efforts to discredit SVETLANA ALLILUYEVA, so many young Russians have approved of her action and show like symptoms. . . . Overheard: "The average father of today wears out a pair of shoes while the rest of the family wears out a set of tires." . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: The C's—Pontiac's BILL TIPTON; the J's—the faltering Tiggers. —HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

David Lawrence Says:

Kosygin Visit Ignored in Russia

WASHINGTON—On a white sheet stretched across the front of a family home about two blocks from the scene of the "summit meeting" in Glassboro there were sprayed in red paint a few words that reflected the thoughts of hundreds of millions of people in this and other lands: "May God direct their way to peace."

Premier Kosygin and President Johnson were inspired in their meetings to try to find a basis for a LAWRENCE better understanding between the two major powers in the world today.

Unfortunately, at the Glassboro meetings, Soviet Premier Kosygin was by no means his own master.

He could be friendly as an individual, and he was. But what he might agree to depend on what the climate in the Kremlin — the Communist party committee — had told him in advance. This involves a slow-moving process.

It takes the Moscow bureaucracy many hours and sometimes days to decide what shall be allowed to be said in the press and on the air. The premier's friendly remarks at Glassboro after the first conference as he acknowledged the applause of the onlookers, and later as he talked enthusiastically at Niagara Falls, got no mention in the Soviet newspapers or radio.

ALSO IGNORED

The fact that there was a second conference arranged was also ignored. The order was to play down both meetings with President Johnson because this might offend the Arabs or look like a retreat from the premier's speech at the U.N. General Assembly charging that America had participated in the Israeli-Arab war.

Even assuming that the American president and the Soviet premier understood each other's point of view thoroughly and sought to pursue a constructive course together, there is today, as always, starting both governments in the face in Vietnam the obstructiveness of the Red China regime.

As for the Middle East, the Soviets have a very important decision to make now.

Verbal Orchids

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brooks of 121 Star; 60th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Clark of Rochester; 55th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Selden of Sylvan Lake; 54th wedding anniversary. Mrs. W. H. Parks of Novi; 85th birthday.

Shall they keep on supplying arms for the Arabs and set the stage for another war? Can they expect the United States to remain aloof and refrain from furnishing arms to Israel if the Soviets actively support a buildup of Arab preparations for another war?

Unless these questions are answered with a program of restraint, all the pontifical statements about a desire for world peace will prove meaningless.

The Glassboro meeting, however, did provide a ray of sunshine. The friendly personal comments on both sides sent throughout the United States a wave of hopefulness.

If only the two leaders could sit down together and work out a practical plan — this was the heartfelt wish of the people of America.

Capital Letter:

Dem Loyalists in South Trying to Keep LBJ Away

By RUTH MONTGOMERY WASHINGTON — As tactfully as possible, some southern Democratic loyalists are imploring the White House to keep President Johnson, Vice President Humphrey, and all members of the Cabinet out of five Dixie states for a year before the '68 elections.

These strategists argue that the administration's only hope of carrying Georgia, Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina is to leave the campaign to their local state leaders.

Former Gov. Carl Sanders is the man they have picked to run the Johnson-Humphrey campaign in Georgia, which cannot safely be left to his successor, Lester Maddox, who won on a white supremacy platform.

In Alabama, where former Gov. George Wallace installed his wife in the statehouse while he actively campaigns for the presidency, the Johnson reelection campaign would be headed by Sen. John Sparkman.

Moderate Govs. Robert McNair and John J. McKeithen would carry the administration baton in South Carolina and Louisiana respectively. In Mississippi, Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr., would be by-passed in favor of cohorts of former Gov. James P. Coleman, who is now a federal judge.

TACTICS 'NECESSARY'

One of the key southern strategists said these tactics are necessary because of the strong antifederal feeling and resentment against the administration's "guidelines" imposed on schools and hospitals.

He said Dixie is deeply aroused by what it regards as Johnson's "big brother is watching you" philosophy, and added: "Many southerners even resent Lester Bird Johnson's beautification drive, complaining that we have no right to expend big sums of money on beauty at a time when we are beset by war abroad and rioting on the home front."

Until Republicans can pick their nominee, it is impossible to predict how much of the anti-Johnson vote in the traditionally Democratic South will be siphoned off by the GOP. But Dixie Democrats are admittedly worried about the third-party appeal of George Wallace.

Having already carried his campaign into the North, he is thus far giving a rather shrewd performance. For instance, during his recent "Meet the Press" appearance he denied having received political contributions from H. L. Hunt, the arch conservative Texas multimillionaire, for his presidential race.

When a panelist persisted in asking the source of his campaign financing, he smilingly replied in so many words: "From people who watch TV programs like this, and feel that I'm being unfairly picked on."

Loophole

The Washington Star

When Congress enacted by overwhelming majorities the Laboratory Animal Welfare Act last year, the public might well have concluded that dealers supplying dogs and cats for the research market had finally been brought under federal control.

Theft of pets and cruelty to these animals supposedly were ended.

But Congress moves in mysterious ways.

Although the Senate provided $900,000 to carry out provisions of the bill during fiscal 1967, hidden hostility to this measure became apparent in the House subcommittee on agricultural appropriations.

House members quietly cut the total in conference to $500,000.

The result was a major crippling of the new law. There was no money to finance inspection of the animal dealers by the Agriculture Department before licenses were issued.

So the department was obliged, incredible as it sounds, to let dealers certify

Another Reader Views Change in Time

Is there any place in the world, other than Michigan, where highly paid politicians have nothing else to do but upset the laws of the State, as well as most of the entire population? The time change provides another hour every day for our Governor to promote Romney for President and raise our taxes, and we surely don't need either.

'Citizens Should Become Active in Politics'

Today, politics is everybody's business — especially young America's business. Politics can no longer be left to the old-time back room-type politician because government controls almost everything we do and don't do. What one Washington bureaucrat decides about the storage of wheat affects the price of bread in 50 states.

Anyone concerned about the future of this Nation should properly become more active in politics. He must stand up, speak out, take sides. Good government is the end product of good citizenship and good citizenship is reflected when one becomes acquainted with the issues and transmits his responsible thinking to his elected representatives.

Your special feature which listed our State and Federal officials along with their proper mailing addresses encourages such grassroots participation. We commend you heartily. Keep up your good work.

Question and Answer

Considering Romney's background of his family going to Mexico to avoid prosecution for polygamy, could they still remain citizens when they wouldn't comply with U.S. laws? As a Waterford high school student, I'm interested in how this fits with what represents a legal candidate for President of the United States.

REPLY

The 1952 Immigration and Nationality Act lists among citizens at birth those who are born outside the U.S. and its possessions of parents who are citizens and one of whom has had residence in the U.S. or one of its possessions prior to the birth. This includes Romney and his office believes he is qualified for the Presidency as a "natural born citizen." So far as we know, his grandparents' citizenship was never revoked, and there is now a Supreme Court ruling which says that while pre-requisites of citizenship can be denied, citizenship itself cannot be taken away for any reason and is lost only through conscious renunciation by the person who holds it.

Cassius Clay

Midland Daily News

We're not about to depreciate Cassius Clay. We think he still can kick Sonny Liston.

But we aren't so sure that he can lick the United States government.

Although Clay was found guilty of refusing induction into the U.S. Army in a jury trial at Houston, he plans to appeal.

The big issue seems to be whether he's an honest-to-goodness minister or whether he's just trying to hide behind Black Muslim robes.

He claims (as Muhammad Ali) that he preaches 90 per cent of the time and boxes only 10 per cent. On that basis, he (or his managers) warrants a tax exemption from the draft.

So that would narrow down the legal issue to whether a Black Muslim is a minister or not, within the meaning of the Selective Service law.

And that's something we have neither the power nor the inclination to decide. We do know that Cassius Clay is a disgrace to his race and to his fellow Americans.

For a comparison, we have to go back to Joe Louis who (in our opinion) was the greatest ring fighter this country has ever produced. Joe also looked mighty fine in that sergeant's uniform.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids
And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N. Y. (Special): A scientific research institute has discovered a medication which has the ability in most cases — to actually shrink hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from the itching, burning and pain. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated hemorrhoids.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so.

Fires Hit 2 Indiana Hotels

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Two hotels were struck by fire within three days. Officials believe both fires, and possibly an earlier one in a third hotel, were deliberately set.

A two-alarm fire last night in the Washington Hotel was confined to the top floor of the 16-story structure. Occupants of the predominantly residential hotel fled safely. The Washington is 1½ blocks from the Claypool Hotel which was extensively damaged by an early morning fire Friday.

Fire Chief John O'Leary said both fires apparently began in an upstairs storage closet. He native but a liberal Republican.

Big Difference

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—The University of Georgia says a survey shows its average 1966 male graduate was 23 years old, single a lifetime resident of Georgia and a liberal Democrat, while the average female in that class was a year younger, also single, also a Georgia native but a liberal Republican.

Luci and Patrick Ready to Leave Hospital for Home

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent and her infant son leave Seton Hospital for home today after the President's grandson, six days old, gets a final checkup from his doctors.

Departure from the hospital was scheduled for early afternoon. Photographers were told they could take pictures of the baby today.

Luci and her husband Patrick J. Nugent have everything ready for the homecoming of their new baby.

They hired a Swiss-born nurse, Mary Geller of Washington, D.C. who took care of Luci when she was a baby.

Miss Geller, a naturalized citizen who has been in this country 30 years, arrived in Austin Friday.

A White House spokesman said Miss Geller is expected to stay with the President's grandson for several weeks or a month.

It was a quiet Sunday at the hospital for Luci, with Pat her only visitor. This was quite a change of pace from the excitement of Saturday when the President, between summit talks with Soviet Premier Alexei M. Kosygin, paid a call on his grandson.

Best Explanation—the Truth

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My sister has a son (I'll call him Joey) who was born out of wedlock. He is six years old. About four months ago my sister married a man who refuses to take Joey into his home, but he pays for his support. Joey now lives with our parents and he can't understand why his mommy "visits" him at Granny's but she won't take him "home" with her.

ABBY

My sister hasn't told Joey anything. I feel he should be told something. But what? I think I have a right to ask this question because my mother is in poor health, and now my sister wants me to promise that I will look after Joey in case something happens to our mother.

I am 24, have been self-supporting since I was 16, and plan to be married soon. Please withhold my name.

NAMELESS: Dear NAMELESS: Joey should be legally adopted by someone who wants him. Ideally you, since you appear to be the only one who is sufficiently concerned about what the boy thinks.

Under the circumstances, the only explanation would be the truth. No one can be forced to raise a child he doesn't want. And if he could, I'd pity the poor child.

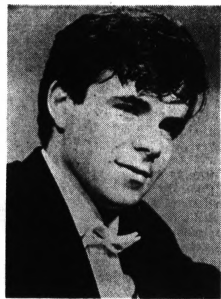

CONFIDENTIAL TO C.H.L.: "When a man is in trouble he soon finds out who his friends are. They're the ones to GO to them." (Borrowed from Bob Cobb.)

As a prelude to the official Festival season, the New York Pro Musica under John White's direction will give the first of two special concerts in the Pavilion Tuesday at 8:30 p.m.

The program will be made up of music of Northern France and Flanders c. 1400-1600.

The 10-member group is currently in residence on the Oakland campus conducting an institute for medieval, renaissance, and early baroque music as part of the Meadow Brook School of Music program.

Tickets are available at the Festival office at Oakland, at Hudson's and Grinnell's.

Check Various Models, Types of Stoves

By MARY FEELEY

Is it your turn to buy a new kitchen range? Fortunately, it's not a purchase the average woman has to make very often. But the years can put you a bit behind in your range vocabulary and make you feel at a disadvantage in a showroom full of glittering models (the porcelain kind).

Somebody may ask you if you want the set-in or the drop-in, or are you mostly concerned with the slide-out features, the stay-up units, the tilt-down broil and the tilt-up bake.

Then a mention of Infinite Heat Control will probably follow. And won't you be ashamed to admit that you've never tried your hand at Programmed Cooking.

It's a wonderful world, the new kitchen. No matter how fancy the verbiage nor sophisticated the avocado hue, the modern range, gas or electric, is designed to do a workmanlike job.

There's enough variety in prices and models to give any shopper what she wants most. In particular, easy cleaning—with removable teflon-coated oven wall panels and deep ovens you can reach all the way into. Plus storage drawers entirely removable so the floor underneath the range can be cleaned, too.

The price range from $250 to $300 affords good shopping. Of course, if you want deluxe features, such as the built-ins or the two-oven jobs, or the eye-level oven, you can expect to pay more.

Speaking of the eye-level models, a home economist who talks daily to women of all ages remarked: "Women don't want to stoop these days. Not just the older generation. Even the young women don't want to bend down. They're often looking for eye-level ovens and side-by-side refrigerators, too."

If you're replacing an old range, be sure to check on new model sizes. They may vary in width in the price range and type you want. And maybe your kitchen won't allow another inch.

Sizes and shapes of ovens vary, too. Even if the oven is adequate for baking, if its capacity is smaller than what you are used to, you'll have to cut down on the number and size of dishes for oven meals.

There's much discussion these days of the built-in range versus the free-standing. And popular approval of the set-in or drop-in range which fits trimly between two counter tops to give a streamlined effect. This is not the permanent fixture the wall-type built-in is.

The case for the built-in range includes these arguments: looks modern and not "kitcheny"; oven and surface burners can be installed separately, in different parts of the kitchen if desired; there's no stooping to inspect food in the oven.

Advocates of the free-standing range point out it's less expensive; can have features the built-ins don't have; more variety in sizes and shapes; easy to move and replace; isn't a part of the house.

If you're newly married and shopping for your first range, look for the indications of quality—which are not always determined by the price tag.

A steady, solid feel, with welded body.

Acid-resistant porcelain inside and out.

Underwriter seal of approval, the National Electrical Manufacturers' Association seal, and Rating 0 for insulation. If it's an electric range. Gold Star seal if a gas range.

Try the oven door to be sure it doesn't drop when opened, and fits securely when closed.

Note if controls are easy to see, reach, and turn or push. And if they're located so neither you nor they will be burned.

See if gas ranges have automatic ignition for surface and oven.

Soda Versatile Space Saver

Each year more and more families are shedding tiresome routine by trading in the comforts of home for a camp-out in a state or national park.

It's an inexpensive way of spending your two weeks with pay compared to the routine resort-type vacation.

It introduces youngsters to the mysteries and beauties of nature, and leaves them with memories they'll probably cherish forever.

It also renews your appreciation of modern conveniences when you finally return home.

Camping does, however, call for more advance planning than most other vacations. You need a lot of gear, and yet the more you take the more there is to keep track of. And space of course is limited.

PLAN FIRST

A family pow-wow ahead of time to determine what is essential, what can be done without, and what items can pinch-hit for others may bring to light some resourceful, space-saving tips.

A good-sized coffee pot, for example, even if only two of you drink coffee, can take the place of a saucepan for cooking vegetables or heating extra water.

Take a metal basin instead of the popular plastic type, and you can put it directly on the fire and heat water for the family's ablutions, for laundering and dishwashing.

Another space-saving pinch-hitter is baking soda. Used in combination with bar soap, it performs all the functions of a detergent for dish and clothes washing.

Used dry as a scourer, it takes over the duties of an abrasive cleanser on hard-to-clean cooking utensils.

SWEETENS TOO

Nuts to Youth Kick---I'm Grown Up

By BETTY CANARY
Everyone's been picking on poor little Twiggy (the perfect 36-12-12). And I have been doing it, too. Really, I think all women should welcome her to the scene.
She is undoubtedly the one who is at last pushing us from the Age of Idiocy ("Why can't I look like I'm 14 years old?") into the Age of Reason ("The reason is that I'm grown-up").

WHAT'S UP FRONT
Or, as one scholar in the advertising field puts it, "It's what's up front that counts."
Seriously, the one thing Twiggy has is that she is young. And, when you're young, this is an accomplishment.
I believe American women are finished with the youth cult and have latched on to what being young actually means. Personally, I would rather be young like Greer Garson or Joan Crawford, wouldn't you?
Most of the women I know are young, although some are much older in years than I am. They don't even care that for years they have been the butt of jokes about eye cream and curlers.
They have merely kept their skin clean and smoothed on hand lotion and gone on to thinking and doing.

A smooth skin and noncrepey eyelids are built-in equipment for teenagers. But I am wondering how these kids are going to look when they get to be their mothers' age.
Maybe if they would start washing NOW they might keep their complexions for THEN.
NUTS!
Anyway, I am sick of hearing how more than half the population is under 25 and I say nuts to those little kids with their cheeks of satin.
The same goes for baby doll dresses (I am a mama doll myself) and Mary Jane shoes. Which brings up a question. What is more ludicrous than a size 8B Mary Jane slipper?
I think my friend Rene summed it up beautifully. She said "I've looked into the mirror and realized that I must be growing sehle."

"I used to scuff around in mother's high heels, wearing dresses that dragged on the ground, and now here I was, dressing up like my daughter in nursery school!"
I think most of us have recognized the same. I'm not playing dress up any more. I'm onto the Grown-up Game.

Polly's Pointers

Do Planning Ahead

DEAR POLLY — I agree with my boycotting sisters that food prices are too high. May I offer a Pointer that will help in lowering your present food bills?

First, compare the newspaper ads and relate to distance from your home for gas mileage. Second, make out menus for meals for one FULL week. It is easier to visualize leftover possibilities on paper. Check the recipes and be sure all ingredients needed are on hand or on the list of things to be bought. This saves extra, costly, time-consuming trips to the store as well as money spent buying duplicates of things you are not sure about.

Third, always have a full "spare" meal on hand for emergencies. My grocery bill is $22 a week for a family of six (excluding milk), so I think that proves this method works. —MARILYN

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — We have a yard full of pine cones. Perhaps someone can tell me how to prepare them so they will burn with color in the fireplace. I would like to know what chemicals are used and how. Many thanks for the column and its hundreds of useful hints.—MRS. A. O. B.

DEAR POLLY—My mother washes 25 shirts every week and I always follow her method when doing my own shirt laundering. Turn the shirts inside out and put in the washer with several bath towels and the usual soap.

You will be amazed how this cleans the necklines and cuffs without extra scrubbing of these most soiled parts before putting them in the washing machine.

Paper napkin holders are very good for keeping packages of gravy and soup mixes, chili seasoning and other envelopes where they can be easily found on the kitchen shelf.—CORETA.

DEAR POLLY — I am answering Barb who has coffee stains on her new cotton tablecloth. Pour boiling water through the stain from a height of two to three feet after stretching fabric tightly over the top of the bowl into which the water will fall. If this does not remove the stain (Polly's note: A grease spot may remain if cream has been used in the coffee) bleach with hydrogen peroxide and rinse.—KATHRYN

Killer at the Seashore

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This is the season to beware. Your government recommends that you "beware of the killer at the seashore this summer."

This particular killer is not a shark or a poisonous jellyfish or anything living. It is the rip current, an insidious, powerful ocean action which can exhaust the strongest of swimmers—unless they know how to survive it.

The warning against the rip current, plus advice on how to defeat it, was issued by the Commerce Department's Environmental Service Services Administration (ESSA).

Every year, according to ESSA, persons unfamiliar with rip currents drown, victims of "weariness and panic" because they did not know how "easy it is to swim out of one."

STRONG CURRENT

The rip is a strong, narrow current flowing out to sea from the shore. It is part of a circulation pattern in which water brought in shore by waves and currents is carried back to sea. It is common to long, gently sloping sand beaches.

Usually rip currents are visible to the eye. They run perpendicular to the shore. Sometimes they are marked by small choppy waves.

They also may reveal themselves, if suspended sediment is present, as a long brownish band of dark water; or they may cause a gap in the line of breakers in the surf zone.

A rip current may travel at two or even three miles an hour, but it seldom is more than 10 or 20 feet wide. And once outside the surf zone it quickly dies.

MAY PANIC

A bather caught in a rip current and finding himself being carried out to sea may panic and try to escape it by swimming as hard as he can toward shore.

For many this has been a fatal mistake. Since the current is so narrow, a swimmer caught in it could quickly free himself simply by striking out in a direction parallel to the beach.

"An alternative," said ESSA, "is to relax and let the current carry you seaward through the surf zone and into the 'rip head' where the current slows down."

Japan now ranks third in steel production, behind the U. S. and the Soviet Union, having edged past West Germany last year for the No. 3 position.

Series Explores Warren Report and Its Critics

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The defendant is a book. So is the prosecutor. On trial is the Warren Commission Report, indicted by men whose own books find it guilty. Guilty of haste. Guilty of bias. Guilty of a cover-up. But neither critic or commission is the jury. The public is. It, ultimately, will find where it thinks truth lies. But ignore considering its verdict, the public must ask for the facts. All the facts. Has it heard them? All of them?)

By BERNARD GAVZER

SID MOODY
AP NEWS FEATURES WRITERS

The one slain has not died. Doubt will not let him. Doubt asks: "How did you fall? By whose hand?" Doubt has heard an answer—"Lee Harvey Oswald did it"—from doctors, lawyers, government, from police, friends, foe. But doubt does not believe. Not quite.

Doubt knows the stature of the seven son-of-men of the Warren Commission, the breadth of their investigation, the depth of their report. But doubt is not assured. Not quite.

Doubt has heard of the rifle, the shells, the fingerprints, the handwriting, the blueprints, the people who said they saw. But doubt is not assured. Not quite.

Why is this so?

OTHER SEEKERS
Because doubt was denied the certainty of a trial. Because not all is known. Because not all is answered and may never be. And because there have been other seekers than the commission. They have seen what the commission did not see: different shots from different places; plots where the commission saw chance; doubt where the commission saw fact.

Are these seekers scoundrels, as Texas Gov. John B. Connally has called them? Or are they impassioned skeptics, refusing to take "it is most likely," for an answer? Are they creators of doubt? Or are they creatures of it? It is not always clear.

But if the Warren report is now doubted by many, it is because of the books written by these few seekers. If their number is small, their impact is not. The very existence of a printed page has an aura of authenticity above and beyond what it states. As the critics' books are increasingly read, they are increasingly believed. It is far easier to read one book from a shelf by a single critic than a whole shelf of books by a commission. So doubt takes root. The shelf lies fallow.

One could protest the whole argument is macabre—ghoulish. John F. Kennedy is gone. Talk won't bring him home. But this was a president. The people he led have a right—nay, an obligation—to know what struck him down, and why. It was not just a death in the hearts of the nation. It was murder at the heart of the national structure. Assassination unsolved is assassination at large, possibly free to strike again, certainly free to poison and corrode by suspicion, mistrust, fear.

NOT CURIOUSITY

So it is not mere curiosity, not just to add a footnote to history, to ask who killed Kennedy. To preserve the absolutely vital trust of the people in their leaders and institutions, the question must be answered. And stay answered.

The quest may be long. It is still asked: Who killed Lincoln? John Wilkes Booth is not the answer to all seekers. Nor is Lee Harvey Oswald, Lincoln, however, is for the archivist. The wound from Dallas is still red. It is tender to questions of who, or why. It may ever be.

Or, perhaps, the wound may have been saved all along. Perhaps the first investigation need be the last.

Or, perhaps, the pain of doubt may throw the less if one were to ask the doubters of their proof, ask of the seekers: What have you found, what news can you bring us?

GRAVE CHARGES
The critics of the Warren Commission Report have made grave charges. They have made uncertainty. They have made money.

Have they made a case? Have they proved that the most extensive murder investigation in the nation's history, directed by some of its foremost citizens, was wrong, dead wrong? Was the commission guilty of haste, of bias, of a cover-up and Lee Harvey Oswald innocent of murder? Do events such as those recently in New Orleans indicate justice has not been done?

Polls suggest increasing numbers of people think so. Book after carefully footnoted book say so. The Warren Report was once on the best-seller lists. Now Mark Lane's "Rush to Judgment" is. Which has spoken truth? The critics say they have. And the commission has stood mute.

BLINDED BY FEAR

Mark Lane has said: "As long as we rely for information upon men blinded by the fear of what they might see, the president of the Warren Commission Report will continue to imperil the life of the law and dishonor those who wrote it little more than those who praise it."

And the commission has stood mute. Leo Sauvage, in "The Oswald Affair," has said: "It is logically untenable, legally inadmissible and morally inadmissible to declare Lee Harvey Oswald the assassin of President Kennedy."

And the commission has stood mute. Edward Jay Epstein, in "Inquest," has said: "The conclusions of the Warren report must be viewed as expressions of political truth."

And the commission has stood mute.

FIRST, LAST
It lasted its first words, published in 27 volumes in the fall of 1964, to be its last. It has disbanded.

The public, in the jury box, may wonder at the commission's work. But it must also ask after the critics. Is it true where the commission's is not? Are the critics innocent of the guilt they charge the commission of distortion, selective selection of convenient fact, editing of truth?

Mark Lane wrote that the commission "cited evidence of context, ignored and reshaped evidence—and which is worse—oversimplified evidence."

Did he? Lane and the other critics have produced little in the way of new evidence. What they have done is use what the commission provides in its 26 volumes of testimony and exhibits—but to different conclusions. The critics' case rests on the same bedrock as the commission's—the Warren report.

USED OR ABUSED?
How have the critics used, or abused, it?

On page 199 of the hard-cover edition of "Rush to Judgment," Lane mentions an Illinois ballistic expert, Joseph D. Nicol. Nicol testified before the commission on Oswald's pistol. He said the shells found at the scene of the slaying of officer J. D. Tippitt and bullets recovered from Tippitt's body.

Lane says Nicol "appeared less than certain" the shells came from Oswald's gun. There is a footnote in the passage referring to Volume III of the hearings, Page 511. Few readers have the volumes much less the time to check Lane's thousands of citations. A pity.

On Page 511, Volume III Nicol is asked by commission counsel Melvin Eisenberg if he was "certain in your own mind of the identification" of the shells. Nicol replied: "Yes; the marks on the firing pin particularly were very definitive. Apparently this firing pin had been subjected to some rather severe abuse, and there were numerous small and large striations which could be matched up very easily."

Yet Lane says Joseph D. Nicol appeared "less than certain."

GOOD SHOT

In his book Epstein questions the commission's conclusion that Oswald was a good shot. He mentions the shot at Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker which missed. He mentions the testimony of the law and dishonor those who wrote it little more than those who praise it.

Did the critics, not the commission, "cite evidence out of context, ignore and reshape evidence?"

They did. They have said in judgment of the Warren Commission and cited it wanting. But they are not judges. They have been prosecutors, making a case. Where fact has served, they have used it. Where it has not, they have not.

If they have read all the evidence, they have not quoted it all. They have taken evidence from testimony, to launch speculation. But they have not taken all the evidence.

They have said "perhaps" and "it seems" and "it is likely." But they must say more. They must say here is the evidence. And as yet, such evidence has not been forthcoming.

'LITTLE CREDECE'

Lane devotes several pages to the testimony of a former Dallas patrolman, Napoleon J. SAME EVIDENCE

The irony of the Warren report is that it is based on the police headquarters just before evidence as the books that he shot Oswald. Lane takes it in the 26 volumes of testimony and exhibits and additional matter in the National Archives the results of its investigation. And this is the heart of the critics' case. Their witnesses were the commission's. Their evidence was the commission's. But, again, not all of it.

A doctor said Kennedy was a puff of smoke from the front. A man saw a puff of smoke from the front of the motorcade. The man, and others who saw smoke, were commission witnesses. The doctor, and others who thought Kennedy's throat wound was one of entrance, were commission witnesses. And they appear for the critics.

But not always in the critics' books does one read of the people who saw a rifle in the window of the Texas School Book Depository. Not always does one read the doctors' testimony that their first interpretation of Kennedy's wounds was not their final one.

The commission presented all the evidence it could find. The critics did not. As a group they have found the commission wrong on almost anything but the fact of assassination itself.

DISPUTES DEATH

One critic, George C. Thompson, doesn't even agree on that. He claims five persons were killed that day in Dallas. One of them was John F. Kennedy who Thompson says is alive and last winter attended Truman Capote's famous marked ball.

Space does not permit a footnote analysis of the critical books, although this was done with several of them in preparing this report. (The notes made on Mark Lane's book alone run to 50,000 words.)

The intention, rather, is to focus on several key issues in contention and compare what the commission volumes said with what the critics said. Such comparison is often illuminating. Such a comparison may not convince the two-thirds of those questioned in a recent poll who said they doubted the commission's conclusions.

But, at the least, it may serve to have asked of the critics what they have asked of the commission—the facts. All of them.

NOT ALWAYS RIGHT

Surely, one can fault the commission. Why didn't it call its witnesses, investigate more deeply in that area? When there was doubt, too often the commission spoke, needlessly, in more positive language than the facts allowed. Maybe it should have behaved more as a court than a commission.

Maybe it would have been better for Oswald to have been represented posthumously by counsel. Maybe the commission did have an eye on the political clock in turning in its report while some investigation was still under way. Maybe. Maybe.

Without question the commission was not infallible. But it has too long been the target of critics who have not received the same scrutiny they gave the Warren report. This does credit to no one.

But recently books have begun to appear attacking the FBI was wrong?

critics, one by Charles Roberts of Newsweek magazine and another by Richard Warren Lewis, a magazine writer, and Lawrence Schiller, a photo journalist.

STAFF LAWYER

And while the commission, albeit disbanded, has not spoken as an organization in its defense, many of its staff lawyers are now willing to do so. The writers interviewed 11 of the commission's 15 senior counsel.

They spoke of the contradicting eyewitnesses: those who thought the shot came from the Texas School Book Depository and those who didn't, those who didn't agree on what Tippitt's slayer was wearing or what he looked like.

"I've had a lot of trial experience," said one of the key members of the commission staff. "I know witnesses don't agree. If you have testimony that has uniformity, you have to look out for perjury."

The staff lawyers talked of some of the puzzling testimony that may never be resolved: the gunsmith who said he fixed a gun for some one named Oswald, the men who saw some one who looked like Oswald at a firing range, the persons who saw Oswald driving a car (the commission decided he couldn't), the woman in Dallas Capote's famous marked ball.

But, at the least, it may serve to have asked of the critics what they have asked of the commission—the facts. All of them.

NOT ALWAYS RIGHT

Surely, one can fault the commission. Why didn't it call its witnesses, investigate more deeply in that area? When there was doubt, too often the commission spoke, needlessly, in more positive language than the facts allowed. Maybe it should have behaved more as a court than a commission.

Maybe it would have been better for Oswald to have been represented posthumously by counsel. Maybe the commission did have an eye on the political clock in turning in its report while some investigation was still under way. Maybe. Maybe.

Without question the commission was not infallible. But it has too long been the target of critics who have not received the same scrutiny they gave the Warren report. This does credit to no one.

But recently books have begun to appear attacking the FBI was wrong?

A senior counsel discussed the wisdom of having used an adversary system in the investigation, with a prosecution against and a defense for Oswald. "It would have been most unequal; the government all on one side. The report would have sounded like a brief for the prosecution."

PART-TIME CONSULTANTS

"His statement that the lawyers worked as part-time consultants is a lie. I made my residence in Washington, D.C., particularly from January to July 1964, was allowed to come to my home in Long Beach, Calif., once a month, and I did. Epstein quotes me 39 times and I didn't talk to that man for over half an hour and that was in a New York hotel lobby."

Nine of the 10 staff members quoted by Epstein that these writers interviewed charge him with misstatements. Several of them wrote letters of protest to his professor for whom he wrote what became "Inquest" as a master's thesis. The professor replied to one that "experience has shown that all too often when a person is shown his own words on paper he is inclined to state that he did not make those remarks."

Experience showed this in Epstein's case, anyway.

Lieberer talked of finger-and-palm prints.

Oswald's palm print found on the rifle had little probative value, said Lane. "Especially since local and federal police officials who is used in inaccurate statements... were along with Oswald and the weapon." The implication seems obvious.

DEVILISHLY CLEVER

"Well," said Lieberer, "we had to consider that in view of the performance of the Dallas Police Department, God rest their souls, were they so devilishly clever that they could locate Oswald's print and planted it on the rifle and then taken it off again, or that they could have handed the rifle to Oswald to get the print? Of course, that would involve the judgment of Oswald, and do you think any one could have gotten Oswald to touch that rifle with a 10-foot pole? Of course not."

(Lane also suggests it is "curious" that a Dallas police officer found a print on the rifle and "lifted" it off the weapon and that an FBI expert was unable to find any trace of the print on the gun several days later. The reader might also find it curious that Lane does not mention that subsequent FBI photographs of the lifted print showed minute gaps. They exactly matched lines and pits in the metal of the rifle from which the print was taken.)

Another staff member talked of Lane's book.

"He attempts to discredit the commission on hundreds of counts and to suggest an enormous level of incompetence or dishonesty as to make his entire argument ridiculous. Had someone set out to design a commission of the incompetence Lane attributes to it, I doubt very seriously that it could ever have been done. Had he focused upon some weaknesses of the commission or the report, he might have had an area of argument."

Jet Recorders Found in Crash Fatal to 34

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (UPI)—International plane went down Federal investigators in Washington, seeking a cause for the Mohawk jetliner crash which killed 34 persons, were to listen today to the cockpit voice recorder.

Both the voice recorder and the flight recorder were found Saturday embedded in the ground near the cockpit wreckage of the British-made BAC111 which crashed on Barney's Mountain Friday.

Several witnesses reported that the tail section of the plane tore loose before it crashed in flames 13 minutes after takeoff from Elmira, N.Y. en route to Washington, D.C.

An inspector at the scene said yesterday that no evidence of sabotage had been uncovered.

However, Robert Peach, president of Mohawk Airlines, reiterated his claims that "There continues to exist strong evidence of sabotage."

Only one other fatal BAC111 crash has occurred in this country. That was last Aug. 6 near Falls City, Neb., when a Braniff

There were reports then that the tail section of that plane had torn loose before the crash.

Peach also strongly criticized a statement by Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., calling for the grounding of all BAC111 planes pending an investigation.

He called Stratton "an irresponsible political opportunist" and said he was not qualified to judge a highly technical matter such as this.

IN GOOD SHAPE

The voice recorder was reported in "relatively good condition" when it was found.

It provides a report on all voices or noises in the cockpit, an investigator said.

The flight recorder, on metal tape, provides information on the speed, altitude, heading and other details which enable investigators to determine all maneuvers until the time of impact, he said.

Parents Are Key to Preschool Training

(EDITOR'S NOTE — All parents want their children to succeed in school. This is the first in a series of articles that provide positive suggestions for home training that will improve a child's chances for classroom success.)

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University Southern California

It's much easier for you to tie shoelaces, put away toys and hang up clothes than to teach a child to do these things.

If the youngster is to make the progress he should, however, he must learn to do things for himself and to be responsible.

Children who have been overprotected and overdirected lack the training provided by small experiences.

For example, reading should be an active process. The child must TRY to understand as he reads.

A child who has had too little opportunity for independent activities in his preschool life lacks personal drive and often learns to read in a mechanical fashion without understanding what he reads.

PARENTS ARE KEY

In many ways the home training a child receives affects his success in school.

Parents are the key people in this training.

A good home start will send a child off to school ready to learn.

It is in the home that he learns to accept himself as a being being taught and given in worthwhile, successful teachable individual.

This can happen only through his being taught and given individual attention before he enters the classroom.

Mothers are the logical teachers for skills like buttoning clothes and tying shoes. They can give the child the needed assurance that he can learn to do these things with practice.

They can help him feel successful. They can encourage him to keep trying from the first faltering steps until he can walk gracefully along a line on the floor. They can encourage him in developing the use of his hands in manipulating toys, feeding himself and working with crayons, paints and pencils.

But what they may not realize it that if he fails to gain enough skill in this area—if he holds the crayon and pencil awkwardly in his fist, or grips them too tightly, or bears down on the paper too heavily—he will have difficulty with his school work as he enters the first grade.

Without this skill he will not learn to write easily and well and this in turn will affect his learning to read and spell.

The skills and attitudes necessary for school success are so interdependent that it is difficult for a child to develop in school the skills and attitudes that he should have acquired before he reached school.

Without them he falls farther and farther behind. For example, major language skills needed for reading are acquired mostly in pre-kindergarten years. They can be gained only through practice.

In the classroom the child is only one of many with little chance to get individual help and practice.

Mothers can provide this practice and at the same time help the child gain proper attitudes toward learning.

(Tomorrow's Article will discuss "Learn-to-Read Easily.")

GOP to Gather in Jackson to Celebrate Party's Birth

JACKSON (AP) — With Gov. George Romney a prime contender for the Republican party's presidential nomination, Michigan GOP members gather in Jackson July 8 to celebrate the party's birth.

Romney will be represented at the gathering by Lt. Gov. William Milliken.

Other top Michigan Republicans also are scheduled for appearances at the fete, including Sen. Robert P. Griffin and Reps. Guy Vanderjagt, Marvin Esch and Charles Chamberlain.

Iowa's Rep. Fred Schwegel, an expert on matters related to President Abraham Lincoln, will make the main speech Saturday afternoon.

GOP BIRTH

The GOP—for Grand Old Party—was born amid such burning issues as slavery.

In Michigan, Jackson is traditionally regarded as the cradle of the Republican party, but Wisconsin sometimes disputes the claim.

The label "Republican" was used as early as 1825 when it was adopted by political groups headed by Henry Clay and John Quincy Adams.

But the Republicans of the early 1800s had no direct connection with the party that developed in the middle of that century.

WISCONSIN CONFAB

At Ripon, Wis., 53 men met on March 20, 1854, to declare themselves Republicans and to protest passage of a bill that allowed elections to determine whether slavery would be legal in the new territories of Kansas and Nebraska.

That same year, on July 6, a state convention was held at Jackson to found a Republican party for Michigan, and this organization nominated the first Republican candidates for office.

It wasn't until later that year that Wisconsin held a Republican convention, and half a dozen other states joined the parade.

The national GOP convention two years later drew delegates from all northern states and also from Delaware, Kentucky, Maryland and Virginia.

GOP PRESIDENT

John C. Fremont, the first GOP candidate for president, lost to James Buchanan, but four years later, Lincoln swept the election to become the first Republican president.

"Our judges believe that the juvenile court should never become a criminal court," Judge Coleman added.

Care Is Urged in Youth Court Trial Controls

GAYLORD (AP) — Michigan's Probate and Juvenile Court Judges have urged the U.S. Supreme Court to exercise caution in clamping restrictions on criminal trial procedures in youth courts.

The note was issued Saturday in the form of a resolution from the Michigan Association of Probate and Juvenile Judges (MAPJJ) meeting in Gaylord.

It was the MAPJJ's official response to a recent Supreme Court decision that granted juveniles the same constitutional protections afforded to adults. These include the defendant's rights to counsel, to remain silent, to be informed of the charges against him, to cross-examine his accusers and to examine witnesses in his own behalf.

NO DISPUTE

"We have no quarrel with the decision as it was handed down," said Judge Mary Coleman of Battle Creek, president of the association's Juvenile Affairs Committee.

But "in the long run, this could tend to make incorrigibles even more incorrigible," she said.

"Our judges believe that the juvenile court should never become a criminal court," Judge Coleman added.

U.S. 'Prohis' to Meet in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) — The Prohibition party, "America's oldest third party," will get the jump on Democrats and Republicans this week when its national convention becomes the first to nominate candidates for the 1968 election.

The Prohis, as they choose to call themselves for short, will gather to nominate a presidential and vice presidential candidate, a full year ahead of the major parties.

One of the smallest of the prohibitionists were able to draw only 689 of the more than three million votes cast in Michigan in the 1964 presidential election and less than 27,000 nationally.

The 100 or more convention delegates will begin their two-day convention Wednesday at the Northwest Detroit YMCA.

E. Harold Munn Sr., associate dean of Hillsdale College, the standard-bearer for the party in 1964, is considered the most likely choice again in 1968.

Benjamin C. Bubar Jr., a former Maine state legislator and now superintendent of the Christian Civic League in Maine, and Charles W. Burpo, a radio evangelist in Mesa, Ariz., are considered likely choices for the nomination for vice president.

Getting on the ballot is the most pressing problem facing the Prohibition party this year as it has been in the past several national elections.

Dr. D.D. Gibbons, a retired Kalamazoo chiropractor who serves as the party's national executive chairman, has hopes the Prohis will be able to make gains in 1968 despite recent setbacks in the courts.

"The party has been unsuccessful in securing a hearing before the U.S. Supreme Court on the constitutionality" of Michigan's election law, Gibbons said.

LEGAL STEPS

He said George Wallace, former governor of Alabama who may run as a third-party candidate, will "take legal steps to contest such stringent election laws in a number of states."

"If Wallace succeeds, it also will open the door for the Prohibitionists to get back on the ballot in all the states," Gibbons said.

Formed Sept. 1, 1869, the Prohibition party had its greatest moment of glory with the passage of the 18th Amendment in 1919, declaring prohibition of alcohol to be the law of the land.

INSTALLMENT No. 13

WHAT WAS HAPPENED? Next thing, there I was on my high horse, galloping right off to disaster.

"I wouldn't worry about it," I said. "Your doctor wasn't quite the disaster he thought he'd be."

Anne squeezed my hand hard. "That's where you're wrong. Hubert can be very dangerous. There are some people—friends of his who settled here from North Africa—who are fanatically devoted to him. They haven't changed in their ways since that whole sickening business in Algeria. You know what that means, don't you?"

"I'm not sure. Are you trying to tell me that a respectable citizen like Morillon, a professional man at that, has a gang of cutthroats at his beck and call?"

"I'm telling you to be careful of him. Of everyone else here, for that matter. When I made a fool of myself last night I put them all on guard against us. It'll be harder than ever now to make a move they don't know about."

"Then we'll rise to the challenge," I said, humoring her. "I'll get the plane tickets through someone else so that I won't have to go near a ticket office. And my ex-fight manager lives in New York. I'll call him on an outside phone during the week and have him lease a house for us under the name of Dulac. Or an apartment if that's quicker. I can cable him whatever money he needs for it."

"Yes, the money," Anne fumbled through the purse on her bedside table. "Ten thousand francs," Anne said. "With enough to be enough."

"Keep it all anyway. You never know what extras might have to be paid for."

It was pleasurable to stuff that bulky wallet into my pocket. It made the still unreal promise of the future very real now. But there remained some dark clouds overhead that troubled me.

"Anne," I said, "about Dr. Morillon—"

"Yes?"

"Tell me the truth. Did he have anything to do with Sidney Scott's death?"

"And all because of a few glasses of wine," I said.

NEXT day, when I went down to the kitchen I learned that I had desecrated an idol. I was sure when I walked into the kitchen the news of my fracas with Dr. Hubert Morillon had already circulated through the gathering there, and I expected the swollen, purpling welt on my cheek to draw sympathy.

Instead, I found everyone there banded against me in cold hostility. It seems that I had been given the unusual honor of dining with the family and then had proceeded to disgrace myself.

I was still wondering about it when I went upstairs. I knocked on Anne de Villemont's door, and when she called for me to come in I found her in bed looking wretchedly at the tray of food Djilana was offering her.

"I've come to report on Paul's progress, madame," I said, "but if you're not well—"

"No, I'm well enough for that," she waved Djilana out and waited until the door had closed behind her. Then she said bitterly, "Yes, I know. I made a fine mess of things last night, didn't I?"

"Forget last night. How do you feel now?"

"Ashamed of myself. Look at your face. That was my fault."

"Stop it. I'm here to give aid and comfort, but if you're going to carry on like this—"

"I won't."

"And all because of a few glasses of wine," I said.

Prospector's PICNIC

When it's time for an outdoor wingding, prospects are perfect with a Prospector's Picnic. There's gold in that picnic basket with Golden Chicken Nuggets, refreshing iced tea and all the happy fixings.

Chicken nuggets are a glorious new way with chicken. The chicken breasts are boned and cut into chunks about 1 1/2 inches square. There are few bones to remove, and the boning procedure is simpler than you would believe; once you do the first few, you will zip right along and bone six or eight chicken breasts in very little time.

Boneless chicken breasts yield chunks incomparable for juiciness and delicacy of flavor. They're great finger food and take readily to the picnic basket or outdoor grill.

Golden Chicken Nuggets are a snap to make, bake to a wonderful golden color in about 10 minutes. Simply dip in melted butter, roll in crumbs sprinkled with Ac'cent, and bake on foil-lined sheets. The nuggets are crisp outside, juicy within — well-nigh perfect picnic fare. (But nuggets are versatile — serve them with potatoes and a green vegetable for a fine luncheon or dinner main course.)

Should you enjoy cooking at the site, fire up some Bonanza-Bobs. The chunks are threaded on skewers alternately with green pepper and onions and brushed with tangy seasoned butter.

For the picnic Golden Chicken Nuggets serve as appetizers; if you choose, dip them into a Chili Dunk made of chili sauce and horseradish and nibble away while the kabobs are cooking.

Quick to Cook — Juicy, Too

The National Broiler Council reminds you that, for best results, do not overcook the meat of boneless chicken breasts; it retains the maximum juiciness when cooked just to a turn as directed.

It's a good idea to tote the chicken wrapped in insulated bags in the cooler. You can bring the makings for the kabobs, or make up the skewered units at home and tote them ready for the fire. We've cooked the Bonanza-Bobs over an improvised grill made of a gold miner's pan, but your own portable grill or campfire will do just fine.

Ac'cent wakes up all the delicate natural flavor of the chicken, so important in this quick-cooking method. It's indispensable, too, in the Gold Rush Potato Salad because it enhances the mellow taste of the potatoes and combines it harmoniously with the other salad ingredients.

Iced tea joins the party; because of its refreshing, thirst-quenching nature it's the perfect picnic drink. And because it's non-filling, you can sip all you want with the nuggets while you wait for the kabobs.

An easy way to tote the tea to your picnic is to make a strong tea concentrate at home and carry it along in a quart-size refrigerator jar. Take an insulated jug of ice cubes, too; then, if there's running water available at your picnic spot, all you have to do is pour a little concentrate in a glass, add ice cubes and fill up with cold water. Or tote a jar of instant tea and do the same on-the-spot preparation.

If you prefer, a Klondike Kooler also adds zing to the picnic menu. It combines the tea with orange juice, honey and mint — a most delicious, refreshing combination.

And there you have the directions for a Prospector's Picnic which strikes it rich in wonderful outdoor fare.

GOLDEN CHICKEN NUGGETS

- 4 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts
- 1/2 cup unseasoned fine dry bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 teaspoons Ac'cent
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon dried leaf thyme
- 1 teaspoon dried leaf basil
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted

Bone chicken breasts; remove skin. Cut each breast half into 6 to 8 nuggets, about 1 1/2 inches square. Combine bread crumbs, cheese, Ac'cent, salt and herbs. Dip chicken nuggets in melted butter, then in crumb mixture. Place in single layer on foil-lined baking sheets. Bake in 400° F. oven 10 minutes. Chill until picnic time.

YIELD: 4 to 5 dozen nuggets.

BONANZA-BOBS

- 4 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts
- 4 green peppers, cut in pieces
- 2 cans (1 pound each) onions, well drained
- 2 teaspoons Ac'cent
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 1 tablespoon dried leaf tarragon
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Bone chicken breasts; remove skin. Cut each breast half into 6 to 8 chunks, about 1 1/2 inches square. Alternate chunks on 8 skewers with green pepper and onions. Sprinkle with Ac'cent and salt. Combine melted butter, tarragon and lemon juice. Brush over kabobs; grill 3 inches from heat for 5 minutes. Turn and grill 5 minutes longer, brushing occasionally with butter mixture.

YIELD: 8 servings.

TOTE-ALONG TEA

Pour one quart boiling water over 2/3 measuring cup loose

tea. Cover. Let stand 5 minutes. Stir and strain into a quart container. (Use within 4 hours.) When ready to serve, pour about 2-1/2 tablespoons of tea concentrate into a glass, add ice and cold water. Or pour concentrate into 3 quarts cold water and when ready to serve pour into ice-filled glasses.

YIELD: 20 servings.

GOLD RUSH POTATO SALAD

- 3 pounds potatoes
- 6 scallions, sliced
- 2 cups chopped celery
- 2 teaspoons Ac'cent
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- Cherry tomatoes

Cook potatoes in skins until tender. Peel and dice. Add scallions and celery; sprinkle with Ac'cent, salt, pepper and parsley, toss lightly. Mix together mayonnaise, mustard and vinegar; add to potato mixture. Mix lightly with a fork, being careful not to break potatoes; chill. Serve garnished with halved cherry tomatoes.

YIELD: About 12 servings.

KLONDIKE KOOLER

- 1 quart boiling water
- 1/3 cup loose tea or 12-14 teabags
- 1 quart cold water
- 2 cups orange juice
- 1/2 cup honey
- 8 to 10 sprigs of mint, bruised

Bring 1 quart of water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat and while water is still bubbling, add the tea. Stir to immerse leaves. Cover and let stand for 5 minutes. Stir again and strain into a pitcher or container holding 1 quart of cold water. Cool at room temperature. Add orange juice, honey and mint. Pour into insulated gallon jug and add two trays of ice cubes.

YIELD: 12 to 14 servings.

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

Oswald: "The almost universal use of the 4-3-2-1 point count means that many hands will be bid just the same way by a couple of students who have taken just one or two lessons as by the greatest two players in the world."

Jim: "South has a standard 16 point no-trump. Expert North will count his 22 points; shake his head a couple of times and then bid the grand slam."

Beginner North may miscount, otherwise he will get to 22 also, add that to 16 to produce 38 and also bid the grand slam, because he would have learned that 37 is the magic number for a grand slam."

Oswald: "Expert South will look over the dummy and see that there are only 12 top tricks and that he will have to do something about the queen of clubs if he wants to make his grand slam.

"Then expert South will proceed to run off four hearts, four diamonds and two spades in order to get some idea of where the queen of clubs will be found. He will be able to discard one club from each hand in the process."

Jim: "At this point all expert South's worries will be over. He will have seen West show out on the second lead of each suit and can count East for 10 red cards. When East follows to the second spade he will have counted 12 of his cards. He will know that East cannot have more than one club so he will cash his king of clubs and finesse against West's queen for the 13th trick."

Oswald: "This hand experts would call a laydown because when they get around to the crucial play they have transformed a probability into a certainty."

Jim: "Beginner South might go down. Maybe his two lessons did not include one on finessing. Thus he would wind up by playing the ace and king of

Red China Warns Britain

'Hong Kong in Perilous State'

HONG KONG (UPI) — Communist China today warned Britain that "the Hong Kong situation has developed into a dangerous state" and blamed

London for the worsening relations.

Radio Peking broadcast a protest note it said was handed to the British charge in Peking. The Communists for two months have been attempting to humble authorities in the British crown colony.

The broadcast said the note referred to the new rioting that erupted Friday and reiterated the list of Chinese demands it earlier put to the British.

"The Chinese government asks the British government to immediately instruct the Hong Kong British authorities to accept honestly all just demands put forward by our patriotic compatriots in Hong Kong," the note said.

The note labeled British police action as "fanatic provocations and Fascist atrocities" in the crown colony.

FATAL SHOOTING
Friday's riots were touched off by a fatal shooting of a leftist union member by police during an attack on two detectives.

Ex-Delegate Lauds U.N. Effectiveness

DETROIT (AP) — A former member of the United States delegation to the United Nations says the effectiveness of that organization in dealing with the Middle East Crisis has been underrated.

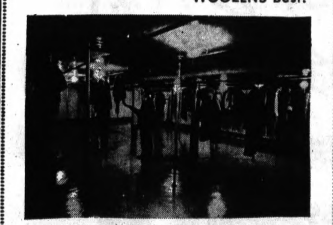

Philip M. Klutznick, who served with the late Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, said Sunday Israeli forces could have swept through Damascus, Cairo and Lebanon if the United Nations had not negotiated a cease-fire.

"The Israeli forces were ready, and nothing stood between them and a complete and overwhelming territorial movement through the area," Klutznick said.

Klutznick addressed a session of the B'nai B'rith District 6 convention in Detroit.

Small Audience Is Not Setback

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — President Donald Gunn of the St. Louis Board of Aldermen attracted only nine listeners to the first of six street-corner discussions on urban problems sponsored by a St. Louis church.

"It's not quantity that counts, it's quality," Gunn cracked.

"Just don't throw tomatoes."

Girls Get Warning on Marital Quest

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you are a 19- or 20-year-old girl concerned about your chances for marriage—you may be justified in worrying.

The Population Reference Bureau says 800,000 of you had better depart from tradition in husband-hunting or you may not make a catch.

The problem is that there are 3.6 million girls in those age brackets but only 2.8 million 21- and 22-year-old men, the traditional targets of the younger girls.

Suggestions for overcoming the marriage gap? Try someone your own age or considerably older, wait a few years and see what happens, or find a career you'll really like—permanently.

Last of Nine Commission Reports Issued

Crime Panel Sees Riots as a 'Cry for Help'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President's crime commission warns that Negro riots of recent years are a "cry for help" which must be ignored.

"The ghetto itself, with all the shameful economic, social, political and psychological deprivation it causes, must be done away with once and for all," the commission said. "The riots have let America know that this is what must be done."

"Now America must do it." The statement on rioting, released Saturday, was one of several key conclusions reached by the commission in the last of nine reports on crime which it has issued during a two-year, $2-million study.

BACKS CRIME BILL

The commission's executive director, James Vorenberg, said, "A large part of the commission's work will have gone to waste" if Congress doesn't pass President Johnson's crime bill. That measure, now in the House, would provide $50 million in the first year for grants to cities and states for improving crime control.

The commission made an urgent plea for the establishment of a national criminal justice statistics center to help authorities know the nature of the problem they are fighting.

"Without the kind of information that can only be obtained through such a center, the country is doomed to continue its fight against crime without really knowing its enemy," the commission said.

The group said the nation can "expect increasing amounts of reported crime for the next several years."

NEW TOOLS NEEDED

In light of this, said the commission chairman, Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, new and more effective measures of crime prevention and control are urgently needed.

Katzenbach, a former attorney general, said the crime problem is increasing because a larger percentage of the population is in the high-risk age for crime involvement—the teens to early 20s; there is a greater concentration of population in the cities, where crime rates are highest; increased affluence provides increased opportunities for crime; and segregated minority groups feel a growing sense of deprivation and frustration.

One other reason for the increase in reported crime is a steadily improving system of reporting lawbreaking, Katzenbach said.

In its study of Negro area riots, the commission said, it found "many Negroes believe that if only the white community realized what the ghetto was like and how its residents felt, the ghetto would not be permitted to exist."

DEEPER PROBLEM

The commission said "doing such things as punishing police misconduct, providing decent housing and schooling, ending job discrimination and so forth are essential, but the problem goes deeper than that." The group then urged that such areas be wiped out.

The commission said its proposed national crime statistics center would go further than gathering figures on arrests and reported crimes.

The center would seek to develop a measure of the scope of organized crime, real knowledge about what happens to those released from prison and reliable information about juvenile delinquency.

The statistics would be gathered from federal, state and local governments. The commission said much of this type of information is now given on a voluntary basis and is sometimes withheld or misleading because law enforcement agencies feel their records would compare unfavorably with those of others.

Meredith Continuing Mississippi March

BATESVILLE, Miss. (UPI) — James Meredith has called his hike through the Mississippi farm country a "march against fear." Fear won the first round. "Hey, son," Meredith called to an 8-year-old Negro boy at Sardis yesterday. "If you were 16, you could walk with me."

"Nah, not me," replied the boy. "I don't want to risk it. There's people in the bushes around here and they'll kill you."

Meredith was wounded by a white sniper emerging from roadside bushes near Hernando, Miss., during a "freedom march" last year. He was beginning the third day of a resumption of that interrupted march today.

He expected to step off about 9 a.m. EDT.

34th BIRTHDAY

The slender Negro has marched 34 miles since he started Saturday morning at Hernando. He ended a 19-mile jaunt yesterday, his 34th birthday, with his arrival in Batesville to the tune of "nigger, nigger, black as coal," sung by seven white teen-agers.

Bruce Mitchell, 17, wearing glass frames without lenses and plunking a guitar, led the group. The singing apparently was in jest, because Mitchell later asked for—and got—Meredith's autograph.

Accompanied by about a dozen marchers, including several whites, Meredith passed groups of silent white spectators in Batesville. About 25 cars, loaded with whites, were parked at an intersection. "Go home, who needs you?" was printed on the side of one car.

A woman motorist, Mrs. Lucy Hollinger, told newsmen, "In my opinion it will start a bloody war."

Meredith later drove back to Sardis to spend last night with friends.

Probably Forgot the Zip Code

ECLES, England (UPI) — "Well it was good fun at least," said Mayor George Nolan as he stood in the middle of scattered letters and debris which littered the town's airfield.

Ecles had tried to launch 450 letters in five rockets to celebrate the airfield's 75th anniversary. Four of the five rockets exploded shortly after they were launched.

Two Syrians Executed for High Treason

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Two Syrian army officers were executed by a firing squad in Damascus at dawn today for plotting to overthrow Syria's Socialist government, Radio Damascus reported.

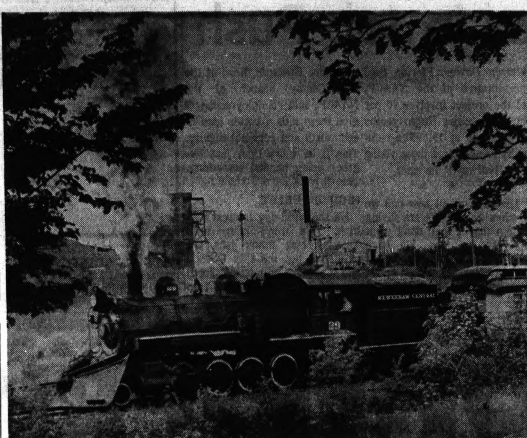

The broadcast said Maj. Salim Hatoun and Maj. Badr Jumaa had been convicted of high treason Sunday by a special military court. It said they confessed they returned to the country at the height of the Arab-Israeli war to topple the regime on behalf of the U.S., British and West German intelligence services.

Hatoun, a member of Syria's Moslem Druze minority, led an unsuccessful plot to overthrow the government last September. He escaped to neighboring Jordan.

Reports to Beirut said Hatoun returned to Syria voluntarily to fight against Israel after the government announced an amnesty for political offenders.

DISSENT SECT

He formerly commanded the Syrian army's commando units. His brother, Anis Hatoun, reportedly is an officer in the Druze unit serving with the Israeli army. The Druzes are a dissident Moslem sect living in southern Syria and Lebanon.

TRAIN EXCURSIONS REACTIVATED

— Steam locomotive No. 29, a smoke-belching monster of 1907 vintage, puffs past Centennial No. 2 copper mine just east of Calumet. The former Copper Range Railroad locomotive will be used this summer to carry passengers in the reactivated Keweenaw Central Railway excursions which were popular from 1907 until 1917. The equipment was purchased by four midwestern railroad buffs who will start the runs from Calumet to Lake Linden about July 1.

'Oswald Had Enough Time'

CBS Probes JFK Death Shots

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System said Sunday its investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy found that Lee Harvey Oswald had enough time to fire three shots at the auto carrying Kennedy.

Many critics of the 26-volume Warren Commission report have contended that the rifle used by Oswald was not capable of being fired three times in 5.6 seconds — the time commission tests indicated was used in firing the shots.

Other critics have pointed to the amateur film taken by Abraham Zapruder on Nov. 22, 1963, in Dallas, which also puts the time angle in doubt. CBS said in the first of a four-part series on the assassination that it concluded "a Mannlicher-Carcano rifle can be fired as accurately and rapidly — and probably more — as the commission believed."

FILM SPEED

Also, CBS said, the film shot by Zapruder "was quite possibly running slower than the commission thought." Blurs on three of the film frames indicate "something startled Mr. Zapruder," CBS said. It said evidence showed "a rifle shot is what startled him."

CBS News' analysis of Zapruder's film "suggests strongly that the first shot was fired at frame 186" while "the commission said only that the first shot to hit came between frames 210 and 225."

A slow camera, CBS said, "most likely meant that the 7.65 man may have had additional time to get off three shots" in probably seven to eight seconds instead of 5.6 seconds.

"The first shot was fired from the Dallas Texas School Depository sooner than the Warren Commission said," CBS news men concluded.

CBS TESTS

CBS said that in its experiments from a 36-foot tower, the same height as the sixth-floor window of the School Book Depository, one of its 11 volunteer marksmen made three hits in 5.2 seconds. CBS said another got one hit from three shots in 4.1 seconds — all with Mannlicher-Carcano rifles.

CBS said its investigation supported Warren Commission findings that Oswald owned a rifle, took one to the depository building, and Oswald was in the building on the sixth floor when the three shots were fired.

Walter Cronkite, who narrated

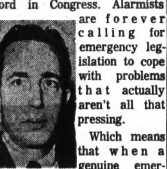

the program, said the network's second and third telecasts would cover conspiracy theories.

"We drew a distinction between Oswald as a killer and Oswald as the killer," Cronkite said.

Stand Up? Sit Down? It's a Real Emergency

By DICK WEST

United Press International WASHINGTON — "Emergency" is a rather overworked word in Congress. Alarmists are forever calling for emergency legislation to cope with problems that actually aren't all that pressing.

WEST

Which means that when a genuine emergency arises, Congress may have some trouble recognizing it.

Such, however, is not the case with an emergency bill to legalize stand-up drinking at the National Press Club bar.

I recently attended a House subcommittee hearing on this measure and I must say the lawmakers appeared to have been gripped by a proper sense of urgency. They approved the bill a short time later.

For 33 years, Press Club President L. David Leroy told the subcommittee, it was assumed that a 1934 law banning stand-up drinking in Washington applied only to public taverns.

WRONG IMPRESSION

Therefore, he said, standees at the Press Club bar had been drinking under the impression that they were legitimately perpendicular. (see footnote.)

Then a week or so ago the District of Columbia commissioners held that sit-down drinking was mandatory for private clubs as well as public watering places.

Hence the need for emergency legislation to restore the status quo.

The proposed new law would, of course, apply to other private clubs, but in their cases no emergency exists.

WORLD PROBLEMS

The emergency stems from the fact that the Press Club bar is the place where all of the world's problems are solved.

Indeed, it is not uncommon for the same problems to be solved three or four times in the course of a single evening.

Unfortunately, the solutions are not always adopted by the U.S. government and the other nations concerned. But enough of them do come to pass to keep the world in some semblance of working order.

Now suppose that two-footed drinking were to be permanently banned at the Press Club.

WOULD SHRINK

The supply of solutions to world problems would immediately shrink, for sit-down drinking is not conducive to problem solving.

As a rule of thumb it can be said that in barroom problem-solving one foot on the rail is worth three backbones on the barstools.

The nation and the world can ill afford to lose this resource. Action! Now!

(Footnote: This does not necessarily mean the same members have been standing at the bar for 33 years. A few may have been there 33 years, but most take occasional coffee breaks.)

Bad Luck Appears Ended for the New Miss Michigan

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Toni Jo Abbenante awoke to a whole new world today.

Her run of bad luck appeared broken and how else could life look but rosy to a pretty, Auburn-haired 19-year-old who has just won the title of Miss Michigan?

The Grand Rapids girl won the title in Muskegon Saturday night. Her official life started today, posing for formal portraits.

"I was so excited I burst into tears," Miss Abbenante said Saturday night after she received the crown from Nancy Ackert, Miss Michigan of 1966.

MANY PROBLEMS

Toni had her problems during the Miss Michigan pageant. Two days after she was selected Miss Michigan Junior College a float on which she was riding caught fire. She was unhurt, however.

Then, Friday, she fell from the stage during a rehearsal.

Dr. Raymond Huldin, pageant physician, said she bruised her right arm, hip and leg.

Friday she learned she could not get television clearance to use an excerpt from George Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan" for her dramatic reading in the talent contest.

STUDIES NEW PIECE

With only hours to go, she started working on a piece by Grace Atkinson of White Lake a dramatic reading entitled, "Then You'll Remember Me."

Oh, yes, she wore No. 13 in the pageant.

Brown-eyed Toni daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Abbenante of Grand Rapids, won the swim-competition Friday. She now prepares for the Miss American pageant in Atlantic City, N.J., September 9. She was a student at Grand Rapids J.C.

As Miss Michigan, Toni wins not only the right to represent the Wolverine State in Atlantic City, but the bulk of $11,000 worth of prizes from Michigan firms and individuals.

First runner-up in the pageant was Mary Louise Paxton, 20, of Traverse City, Miss Michigan winter sports.

Second runner-up is Linda Jane Hale, 19, of Boyne City, Miss Boyne.

Next was Linda Kaye Christie, 18, of Alpena, Miss Alpena. The fourth and last runner-up was Nancy Suzanne Raisanen, 18, of East Detroit, Miss East Detroit.

Unique Features at Atlanta Hotel

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A new 23-story hotel on Peachtree Street is built around an inner courtyard lobby with a ceiling more than 30 floors high. A rooftop restaurant with a revolving floor allows guests to view the entire city during one revolution.

John Portman, architect for the Regency Hyatt House, said the basic idea of the structure was to create something unique for Atlanta.

There are more than 4.3 million vehicles in use which are 15 years or older — almost half of them trucks.

Then, Friday, she fell from the stage during a rehearsal.

Dr. Raymond Huldin, pageant physician, said she bruised her right arm, hip and leg.

Junior Editors Quiz on PENGUINS

QUESTION: How can penguins hatch eggs in very cold countries?

ANSWER: Penguins live in the cold stormy regions in or near the Antarctic. They cannot fly with their wings, but use them as paddles for swimming under water, enabling them to catch minute sea creatures and fish.

Some scientists think that the penguins' ancestors really did fly. Then the Antarctic regions turned very cold and the penguins had to find food under the sea — so the wings turned into paddles.

Regardless of how it happened, the modern penguin is a well-adjusted, content bird. He has an abundant food supply, and his layer of thick blubber as well as his oily feathers insulate him from the cold.

In the larger picture (1) we show how the emperor penguins — the only ones to live on the icy Antarctic continent the year round — solve their egg-hatching problem. They hold the single egg on top of the feet, with a layer of skin and feathers covering it in front.

Other penguins (2), which raise their young in less icy places, often make crude nests and lay two eggs. Penguin parents usually take turns in the hatching.

Florida Negroes in Job Push

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Employers in this southwest Florida city was besieged today by groups of Negroes with the plea — "hire us."

It was the opening step in "Operation Cool Summer," a pilot program of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The men behind it believe the project can end race riots.

It is based on the formula: Jobs mean money, money equals better living conditions, and that clips the fuse of any racial powder keg.

When the jobs are found in this city of 25,000, project officials will begin training Negroes to qualify for them.

JOB TRAINING

The training includes a film on employer-employee relations, what employers expect, and how to help management reduce costs. Applicants will be put through mock interviews and hear lectures on personal appearance and hygiene.

Marvin Davies, Florida field representative of the NAACP, said the project involves 90 per cent of the city's Negro youths over the age of 16. "The community should meet these young people halfway," he said.

"They talk about how bad we are when we riot. We are saying to them that if they don't want high wages, give us jobs. We have made strides in civil rights, but available, but the City Council and County Commission see too many Negroes are on street corners because they have no interest and that's a real step forward."

Isadore Edwards, head of the Lee County branch of the NAACP, said "Employment will give these kids a better idea of self worth and personal dignity. They'll be more than just Negroes being handed something. They'll work hard, I know it."

HIGH INTEREST

He said first-day interest was high. "We won't know until Tuesday how many jobs are available, but the City Council and County Commission see too many Negroes are on street corners because they have no interest and that's a real step forward."

Clogged Canal Costing Egypt $5 Million Weekly

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The continued blocking of the Suez Canal is costing Egypt an estimated $5 million a week in sorely needed revenues.

This could cut down on Egyptian revenues since big supertankers no longer would have to pay enormous fees for transiting the canal, and Israel would be the gainer.

THE SPINE IS ONLY THE STARTING PLACE

The nerves in your body that control every function, every organ and every muscle originate in your spine. When the bones of the spine slip out of alignment, the spinal nerves are pinched thus reducing the flow of nervous energy to some part of the body. If this "pinching" is not corrected, that organ or muscle suffers and may become diseased or painful.

That is why we say "The Spine is Only the Starting Place" for GOOD HEALTH AND FREEDOM FROM DISEASE!

Stock Mart Makes Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced early today in active trading. Gains outnumbered losers by about 2 to 1.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average rose about a point. The overall list did better than the average. Many specific stocks showed strength but most of these were not in the averages.

Brokers said a better economic and international atmosphere accompanied the rise. Xerox gained 3 1/2 points, advanced by about 2 points were by Control Data and Raytheon.

Treasury Waits for Debt Okay

Senate Near Deadline on Lifting of Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like the bill-laden husband waiting for the finance committee to give him a loan, the Treasury waits this week for the Senate to say it is okay to run the national debt higher.

The Senate faces a midnight Friday deadline for action if it is to keep the debt from suddenly being far higher than allowed by law. Favorable action with time to spare is expected, however.

4-Party Talks Eyed on State Tax Reform

LANSING (AP) — House Democrats involved in last-ditch tax reform negotiations with Gov. George Romney and House Republicans — planned another try today at bringing Senate party leaders into the talks.

"We're going to try again for four-party negotiations," Rep. William Ryan, House minority leader, told the Democratic State Central Committee Sunday.

"We are within a short stone's throw of agreement on a program," he said. "But this doesn't mean the Senate is going to agree with our House program."

Ryan said that with the current fiscal year ending June 30, time is too short to pass a House tax reform program, then attempt to reach a compromise between that and the one already passed by the Senate.

BARGAINING SESSIONS

Marathon bargaining sessions took place Thursday and Friday in Romney's office. They were to continue today.

Democrats from the House asked that Senate leaders also be included in the conferences. Republicans, however, vetoed the request, saying the next fiscal reform action must be taken by the House alone.

"Within the next seven days, fiscal reform within the state will be achieved," Ryan predicted.

"We have a plan we think will pass. There might be some maneuvering by Republicans, but I don't think they will be able to pass a totally Republican fiscal reform program."

NEW HOPE

Negotiating sessions sparked more hope for a reform program.

Both chambers plan action on space program authorization. The Senate Space Committee took the administration's $5.1 billion request by $249 million. The House Space Committee recommended a $107-million increase.

Frank A. Veraldi has been appointed executive engineer of advance emissions for Ford Motor Co.'s engine and foundry division. In the newly created post, Veraldi will be responsible for the design and development of the engine and foundry division.

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I am 25 years old and have an insurance policy about to be paid off. I have adequate insurance with this policy and I would like to get started in stocks. I am considering buying Borden Company, Cleveland Electric, Continental Insurance, Owens-Illinois Glass and Standard Oil of California. What is your opinion of this portfolio for someone in my position?" D. B.

A) You have put together a conservative list of excellent quality, but whether these stocks are best suited for you is an altogether different question. There is such a thing as being too conservative when you are young and I'm going to suggest three changes which, in my opinion, will put you in a stronger position without materially lessening your security.

Cleveland Electric, like most utilities, is affected by power conditions which appear to be hardening. I would postpone purchase of this stock and substitute Foxboro, and electronic and industrial controls issue. Standard Oil of California is quite heavily involved in the Middle East and I would prefer Union Oil of California, which has had a stronger growth rate. Owens-Illinois is facing a profit squeeze and lower earnings. In its place I suggest American Home Products.

Q) "I recently bought the stock of a Canadian company. I'm told that I'm subject to a special tax. Can you explain this?" B. D.

A) If you bought a Canadian stock in Canada and paid for it with American dollars, you are subject to an interest equalization tax. This is a penalty imposed on foreign dollar investments which is intended to equalize the balance of payments problem. The tax amounts to 15 per cent of the purchase price and must be paid within a specified time to the Internal Revenue Service. They will provide you with the necessary form.

Successful Investing

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — A bull market has been under way in the price of seats on the New York Stock Exchange and some other markets as brokers compete for the big commissions that result from heavy trading.

Last January a Big Board broker sold a membership for $220,000. The CUNIFF latest sale, May 31, was at a price of $370,000, an increase in less than six months of $150,000 and the highest price since Aug. 7, 1950.

On the American Stock Exchange, the nation's second largest, the price of a seat is now up to $165,000. On the Pacific Coast Exchange a seat sold recently for $40,000. Contrast these prices with the $17,000 for a seat on one of an insignificant membership, changed hands in 1942.

The market for seats is, in some instances, a lot more bullish than the market for stocks. While there is some upward pressure on stocks, the pressure on seats has exceeded most forecasts of a few months ago.

BROKERAGE HOUSES

Most of these purchases are being made by brokerage houses which deal with the public and need more men on the floor to handle the rising volume, which so far this year is about 1.2 billion shares versus about 1.02 billion a year ago.

Several hundred seats are held by other types of brokers, including 39 who deal only for their own accounts and about 360 specialists who concentrate in certain stocks and deal only with their brokers.

So, as prices and volume rise, so does competition for the 1,366 seats on the Big Board.

Without a seat—that is, a man on the floor—a brokerage firm would find it difficult if not impossible to transact its customers' orders. A growing brokerage firm, therefore, needs more seats. Either that or give up some business.

$7,500 INITIATION

For this privilege of having a seat, the broker pays a $7,500 initiation fee to the exchange, plus annual dues of $1,500 and 1 per cent of the net commission on all his sales.

In return, he is given the opportunity to pound the hardwood floor from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., buying and selling and earning commissions.

There is no place to sit down because the chairs were pulled out years ago. A seat, is a figure of speech; it offers no comfort to the human figure.

Before being allowed to make his purchase, the seat customer must prove he is 21 and a citizen, must have a clean business record, two sponsors who already hold seats, letters of recommendation and of course the bundle of cash.

Strong Stance for Viet Talks '3 Years Off'

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnam's Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu said today his country would not be ready for peace negotiations for at least three years.

"Some say the Vietnamese people and the Americans are tired of the war and that we should stop the war and negotiate right away," the lieutenant general said in an interview. "I am for negotiations but not at any price."

"I am for negotiations that will give us a victory. And I will take three years before we can do that."

Thieu, a three-star army general who is one of the leading candidates for the presidency, also warned that if the election is rigged the Communists will win the war politically in two or three years.

He charged that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, his chief rival for the presidency, has censored local newspaper reports of his speeches and interviews, putting him at a disadvantage.

U.S. SUPPORT

Thieu said the Vietnamese people mistakenly believed that Ky had the support of the United States in his bid for the presidency.

"I think the United States will not interfere in the election in any way," he said.

Walled Lake 9 Takes American Legion Lead

Lusty hitting and sharp pitching carried Walled Lake to a doubleheader sweep of Milford yesterday and into first place in the District 18 American Legion baseball race.

The twin victories raised Walled Lake's record to 6-1, leaving the team a half game ahead of Clarkston (6-2) and Southfield (6-2).

Walled Lake took the first game, 14-3, and came back to claim the second on a four-hitter by Lanny West, 5-0. Greg and Steve Fogle paced the winners with two hits apiece in the opener, and Greg collected a double and Steve a home run to spark the attack in the nightcap.

Clarkston split with Troy (3-5) taking the nightcap, 7-2, after losing the opener, 7-5. Southfield took a pair from Waterford (5-4), 3-0 and 5-3, while Farmington (4-5) rapped Berkley two more runs came across in (1-7) twice, 5-3 and 9-7.

Dan Fife fanned 12 to earn Clarkston a split in the twin-bill with Troy. Teammate Jerry Ostrum numbered a home run among his three hits in the Clarkston offense. A six-run second inning helped Troy to victory in the opener.

THREE-HITTER

Greg Main tossed a three-hitter and struck out eight in taming Waterford in the opener, and Steve Steinman held Waterford in check in the nightcap. Steve Golt picked up three hits in the two games for Waterford.

Mike Thompson picked up the pitching win for Farmington in the opening game, and Tom Webster sparked a come-from-behind in the second game to help post a sweep. Down 7-0, Farmington stormed back to tie the game on a grand-slam home (5-4), 3-0 and 5-3, while Farmington (4-5) rapped Berkley two more runs came across in (1-7) twice, 5-3 and 9-7.

Luck Lifts Angels; Cubs Grooding

Bad Hop Helps California, 4-3

Baltimore, Boston Post Triumphs

By The Associated Press

Rick Reichardt will remember his first grand slam homer as the one that didn't reach the seats.

The Kansas City Athletics will write it off as just another bad hop.

But California's George Brunet will count it as one of the few good bounces he's had all year.

Reichardt's initial bases-loaded homer in the majors—an inside-the-park shot that caromed crazily past right fielder Mike Hershberger in the first inning—carried Brunet and the Angels past the A's 4-3 Sunday.

The victory was only the fourth in 15 decisions for Brunet, a hard-looked-out pitcher who recently lost nine in a row while the Angels scored a total of 18 runs for him.

In other American League games, Minnesota topped the first place Chicago White Sox 3-1. Baltimore drubbed Washington 8-3, the New York Yankees shaded Detroit 3-2 and Boston whipped Cleveland 8-3.

BEATS OUT HIT

Jim Fregosi beat out an infield hit with two out in the first inning and KC starter John "Blue Moon" Odom walked Don Mincher and Jimmie Hall, filling the bases, before Reichardt's skip off the right field fence drove away from Hershberger.

Reichardt, a speedster despite his 215-pound bulk, caught Fregosi, Mincher and Hall across the plate for his ninth home of the season.

Baltimore's Robinson boys, Frank and Brooks, stroked three hits apiece and scored five runs between them as the Orioles buried Washington under a 15-hit barrage.

Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer and bases-empty blasts by Joe Foy and Bob Tillman—who had three hits apiece—powered the Red Sox' attack.

Chicago Posts Twinbill Sweep

Bruins Now 4 Games Behind Leading Cards

By The Associated Press

"Can Joey Niekro pitch?" yelled Randy Hundley.

"Yes, he can," belowed Ron Santo.

Ernie Banks hit? shouted Dick Radatz.

"Yes, he can," answered Banks. "Let's play another one."

It went on and on. The surprising third-place Chicago Cubs were acting like a bunch of kids, having a ball after sweeping a doubleheader from Houston 4-1 and 8-0 Sunday.

It wasn't at all like a team that has not finished in first division since 1946.

The Cubs have blown their balloon so far, they've moved within four games of first place in the National League after front-running St. Louis lost a twinbill to Philadelphia 6-4 and 10-4.

Chicago also pulled within 1 1/2 games of second place in Cincinnati as Pittsburgh beat the Reds 5-4.

Clete Boyer of Atlanta has been having a good time, too. His hot bat boosted the Braves to a 4-2 victory over the New York Mets.

In the other National League game, Los Angeles defeated San Francisco 2-1 on Len Gabrielson's run-scoring pinch hit single in the ninth inning.

HEADS FOR SIDELINES — St. Louis Cardinals' outfielder Roger Maris is in pain after being hit on the right elbow in the third inning of a game Saturday against Philadelphia. Another blow to the league-leading Cardinals came in the same inning when catcher Tim McCarver suffered a finger injury when struck by a foul ball. Both were sidelined indefinitely. Heading toward Maris is manager Red Schoendienst.

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP) — Clearing the checkered flags with a comfortable half-lap lead after 200 miles over 87 laps Sunday, Mark Donohue, a 29-year-old automotive engineer from Stony Brook, N.Y., won the 20th annual Watkins Glen Sports Car Grand Prix.

Donohue, a pre-race favorite, now has a big lead in the Sports Car Club of America's U.S. Road Racing Championship with a total of 40 points, and has eliminated all but Lohar Mostenbacher, of Beverly Hills.

Trophy Likes L.A. Clubs

Los Angeles — (NEA) — The Cy Young Memorial Award for baseball's top pitcher has been strictly a Los Angeles affair the last five years.

Since 1962, the trophy was won by Sandy Koufax of the National League Dodgers, three times; Don Drysdale of the Dodgers ('62); and Dean Chance of the Angels ('64).

National League hurlers have captured the award seven of 11 times since Don Newcombe of the Brooklyn Dodgers took the first one in 1956.

FLYING TOWARD FINISH LINE — Big Dee with Canadian rider Tom Gayford straining out of the saddle rails over the final six-foot hurdle and toward the finish line for their third clean run through the North American Open Jumper Classic course Saturday night at the Bloomfield Open Hunt in the Detroit Horse Show. Big Dee and another Ontario jumper, Beefeater, were the only two horses to make three perfect runs, but a .573 timing to .58 on the final run gave Beefeater the coveted first prize.

Local Riders to Hold Vivid BOH Triumphs

The 37th annual Detroit Horse Show is now history and the memory will be vivid for certain participants from differing standpoints.

Debbie Willson of Bloomfield will remember a fast dividend on a big purchase.

Katie Monahan of Bloomfield Hills will savor repeat triumphs in two multi-phased events.

Amanda Bedford of Metamora will cherish her sportsmanship trophy.

Sam Register of Paris, Ken, will enjoy the early benefits of a recent decision.

Gail Ross of Ontario will rue an even later decision.

The youthful Canadian woman had three outstanding rides on her parents' jumper The Hood in the premier event, The North American Open Jumper Class, Saturday night but lost the first prize on the final jump.

Knowing she had to have a clean run in less than 57.3 seconds, Miss Ross guided The Hood expertly on the final ride only to bring the black gelding around short for the final six-foot hurdle.

It cleared the fence except for the trailing hoofs which knocked down the top rail. The ride was under 52 seconds, but the knockdown cost the entry four faults and left the Hood in third place.

CLOSE VERDICT

Miss Ross gained a $300 prize check, while the $600 first prize went to Terrance Millar, another Ontario, on Beefeater. A third Canadian, Tom Gayford on Big Dee, took the $400 second prize — trailing the winner by only seven-tenths of a second.

Miss Monahan captured both the Tally-Ho Club Combined Events and BOH High-Score trophies for all-round excellence in equitation events for the second time.

Miss Willson bought Madison's Run Thursday morning and the horse was the show's green working hunter champion Saturday.

Cougar Coach Enjoys Success

Detroit Trips Dallas, 1-0, Before 4,911

DETROIT (AP) — John Colrain apparently sits well on the bench. The player-coach of the Detroit Cougars, who has sidelined himself for the rest of the United Soccer Association season, was quite pleased with the Cougars' 1-0 victory Sunday over the Dallas Tornadoes.

"After all we beat the team that beat Glasgow Celtic, winner of the European Cup," said Colrain.

Tommy Morrow, who wasn't even on the Detroit's original traveling squad, provided the margin of victory when he drilled in a 10-yard shot at 7:40 of the second half.

A crowd of 4,911 watched the action at University of Detroit Stadium.

OTHER GAMES

In other USA action, Eastern Division leader Cleveland was handed its first loss, bowing to New York 2-1; Chicago whipped Houston 4-2 and the rest of games ended in ties. Vancouver and Toronto 2-2; Boston and Los Angeles 1-1; and Washington and San Francisco 0-0.

In the National League Oakland downed Atlanta 2-0 and Chicago beat Philadelphia by the same score.

Detroit Champion in Skeet Shooting

FORTVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Howard Confer of Detroit won the over-all title in Sunday's windup of the sixth annual Mid-America Open Skeet Championships.

Confer broke 396 of 400 targets in the three-day, four-event meet.

Only defending class champion to retain his title was Ted Hannaford, Warren, Mich., who won the senior over-all title with 388 X 400 and cracked 100 straight for the 12-gauge crown.

Wins Cleveland Open

Dry Spell Ends for Dickinson

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — It was a long five-year drought, but Gardner Dickinson finished the first place money $20,700 was worth waiting for.

"It was a very satisfying victory," the slightly built, 135-pound Florida pro noted after he breezed home in event par 70 Sunday to win the Cleveland Open golf championship. He finished nine-under for the 72 holes with a 271.

It was the first tour title since 1962 for the steady Dickinson who has become a familiar

THE PLOT. By Irving Wallace. Simon & Schuster. $6.95.

The scene is Paris. The time a few years in the future. In the background is a summit meeting of the principal chiefs of state, including Red China.

But the chiefs of state are only minor actors in this melodrama, with its tangled skein of coincidences and confrontations.

Four people are drawn to Paris at the time of the summit because each one believes he or she can locate someone able to solve a personal crisis.

This is an enormous novel, 828 pages. Its chief weakness is its windiness, its interminable descriptions and backgrounds, its unimportant by play, and the way it repetitiously underlines everything.

But then Wallace's "The Prize" and "The Man" were that way too, and were very popular. So this complex omnibus of sex, suspense and melodrama may be too.

THE PHEASANT - LINED VEST OF CHARLIE FREEMAN. By John D. Spooner. Little, Brown $5.95.

Comedy in the brokerage business? Well, that's as good a place as any other for thumb-on-the-nose, 1 m g e-shattering nonsense.

This Charlie Freeman is a Harvard boy. His Old Man gets him into a job with which he isn't exactly enthralled. He is a trainee with one of those big, very big, Wall Street concerns.

Good ole Charlie starts out in a predilectionless way to learn what a bunch of thieves and con-men — or he thinks — the brokers are. To Charlie's jaundiced eye the whole trainee program is about as pointless as college was.

This novel, not being burdened with any particular message, is a pleasantly clever bit of flim-pancey.

THE DIFFICULTY OF BEING. By Jean Cocteau. Coward-McCann. $4.50.

As a mercurial and ubiquitous figure on France's cultural scene a generation or two ago, Cocteau acquired an international reputation as a fashionable wit and literary fust-pot, roughly equivalent to several American figures of the "in" group of the 1930s.

What we have here is a book of short essays that we should shortly after World War II when he was in his 50s.

A few of these essays offer fragmentary glimpses of some famous people of recent times.

Many of the essays, on such topics as youth, death, pain (his own), customs, beauty and writing are simply brief, staccato fragments in the Montaigne tradition, somewhat warty.

For some readers, only vaguely familiar with the gabbly old boy's yesterday career, many of the allusions will be baffling and dated. It might have helped if there had been a few pages containing a short chronological synopsis of biographical and literary data.

BREED OF GIANTS. By Joyce Kilmer. Viking. $4.75.

Miss Stranger's first novel, "The Running Foxes," was a lively and well-written story of English fox hunting.

Now, in her second, she turns her attention to the breeding of Shire horses. These are heavy draft animals no longer in much demand, but a few breeders have kept the Shires going for the sake of tradition.

Miss Stranger is very good at catching the essence of character, whether she is dealing with earthy farmers attending a fair or gathered in a local pub, or with tame and wild animals. She writes with smooth precision and a careful eye for detail, and her prose has a lyrical ring.

KING'S EX. By Marilyn Harris. Doubleday. $4.50.

A new writer's introduction to the public usually is followed by a novel, which often is followed by a collection of short stories that have been stashed away in a cupboard, awaiting fruition.

In this case the process has been reversed. This is a collection of short stories, good enough to stand on their own and offering the promise that when a novel comes along, it should be interesting.

There are a dozen tales in this book. The main thing they have in common is that they capture critical moments when thoughts and emotions crystallize to create a time-stopping interval.

In subject matter, these stories deal usually with scholars, writers and clerics amid New England scenes.

A WORLD HISTORY. By William H. McNeill. Oxford U. Press. $9.75.

Prof. McNeill is author of "The Rise of the West," a splendid account of the forces that shaped Western civilization, which won a National Book Award last year. In the present one-volume world history, he employs the same concepts and approaches and covers even ground in less space.

McNeill sees history in terms of the equilibrium — and disturbances therein — of four main centers of civilization: the Indus Valley, Europe, Near East and China. These were powerful through variable influences on each other.

Both as an interpretation and as a synthesis, McNeill's world history is a noteworthy contribution to the literature.

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF PRESIDENT JOHNSON. By Jim Bishop. Random. $5.95.

Bishop's "day" books have been highly popular. He did one the day of Lincoln's death, the day of Christ's birth, and then came down to contemporary life with one about a day in President Kennedy's life.

His book about President Johnson follows the format of a supposedly typical 24 hours. It is a curious combination of detailed minutiae and the author's interpretations of his subject's personality.

In its very nature as a "day" report, this book can be only a sketch rather than a full portrait. What it really amounts to is a canny observer's subjective response to a complex personality in a highly complex situation. It reads well, and has some personal things to say in a gossipy way.

Sagittarius Rising, by Cecil Lewis (Stackpole $4.95). One of the classics of early combat flying, now republished as part of a series of "Great Novels and Memoirs of World War I" which began with the works of Siegfried Sassoon.

"Sagittarius," originally published in 1936, covers Lewis' wartime career and the time he spent in the early 1920s in flying, training fliers for the Chinese Republic (in the days before anyone had heard of Chiang Kai-shek, let alone Mao Tse-tung).

Even at this far removed from World War I, "Sagittarius Rising" remains a vivid and touching account of a terrible time. Lewis deserves the accolade he received from Bernard Shaw, who hailed him as "a thinker, a master of words and a bit of a poet."

Couple Wins Fight With Caterpillars

NORTH WINDHAM, Maine (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Rogers won a week-long battle with inch-long caterpillars recently after they had stripped every leaf from two tall poplars, then coated the Rogers' home.

"They were matted thick, all heaving up and down," Mrs. Rogers said. "It was awful."

The black-and-white satin moth larvae moved in great carapels across the ground from the trees to the house. Only a few got past family barricades into the dwelling before an exterminator attacked the caterpillars with poison.

The piano, introduced about 1750, succeeded such instruments as the dulcimer and clavichord.

General Dies in England

LONDON (AP) — The death of Gen. Sir Alan Bourne, a founder of the British command, was announced today. He died Saturday at Torquay. He was 81.

Gen. Bourne was the first director of British combined operations. He formed the "independent striking units" after the 1940 Dunkerque evacuation.

He joined the Royal Marines in 1899, saw action in World War I and was promoted to general in 1942.

Bystander Killed in Detroit Gunfight

DETROIT (AP) — Twenty-five-year-old Robert Luter was shot and killed as he was caught in a crossfire of a gunfight in a Detroit bar early Sunday, police reported.

Luter was dead on arrival at Detroit General Hospital of a gunshot wound to the chest.

Police said the shooting occurred when Bar Manager Richard Neal, 28, and Thurman Harris, 32, argued because Harris was sitting on a pool table. They said both men drew pistols and started shooting at each other. A shot struck Luter, a bar patron, according to police.

OSAKA, Japan (UPI) — The Japan Federation of Bar Associations yesterday announced it received $7,771 in aid from an American organization it said is financed by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

Chairman Iwakichi Wajima of the Osaka Bar Association said the money from the Asian Foundation was used to publish reports on Bar Association seminars. He said the aid was being cut off.

Earl Just Missed Hamilton, but Not Young Earl's Songs

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Everywhere I went, they said, "You just missed him — he was just here . . . too bad you just missed him!"

Who did I miss?
 "You just missed George Hamilton . . . he was here with Lynda Bird and all those Secret Service people . . . they were so nice and loved the buffet . . . you know, the Spanish buffet . . . the first thing George asked for was the sangria . . . yeah, that red wine with the fruit in it . . . and then they left together . . . with the Secret Service people . . . one of them went upstairs with her to the very door of the ladies' room . . . yeah, where you been all this time?"

"I been to the Garden. You know, to the Cavalcade of Stars. To introduce some acts that were raising money for Israel."

"Yeah, yeah. Too bad you missed him."

"Listen," I suddenly said, a new voice in the wilderness, "what about Onassis?"

"You just missed him!" The people at the Pireaus My Love restaurant on W. 57th St. were genuinely sorry that I had missed Onassis and Johnny Meyer and their companions slurping down the retzina wine and enjoying the sweets, baklava, though I met the plumpish chap who wrote "Never on Sunday." Manos Hadjidakis.

He had eyes the size of olives with the same color in them and it was all wonderful and gay and I hated to go home because he was puffing little white explosions of smoke from a cigarette and you had to be glad you were in New York. And you would bet that even Korymbos would have to say he was glad to be here too bad he probably never would.

That's about it. I missed it everywhere I went because I was going to hear my boy sing over at Madison Square Garden for the first time in his life at that benefit, and that was quite an experience, too, and you know something? — I didn't miss him!

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Failures seem to be divided into two classes — those who thought and never did, and those who did and never thought."

EARL'S PEARLS: Give a kid a dime nowadays, and he'll run out and get a nickel's worth of candy.
 Speaking of automation, even Dean Martin could be replaced eventually by a machine — well-oiled, of course. . . . That's earl, brother.

Avert Summer Riots With Biracial Effort

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG, JR.
Executive Director
National Urban League

Summer need not be a period of emptiness. It need not be a time of violence and racial tensions.

YOUNG communication is becoming more difficult.

This is a very serious situation and it's going to take the best efforts of people of good will of both races to solve.

The first step has to be communication. The white majority must make the effort to understand that the frustrations in the ghetto run deep and the serious problems of the urban poor have to be solved. They must be as strong in their condemnation of the exploitation of the ghetto which results in riots, as they are of the riots themselves.

And Negro citizens will have to strive to control those among them who think violence can cure social ills. It can't. Violence only begets more violence, and the innocent are the ones who are usually hurt.

There are some crash programs under way in various ghettos—summer job programs, temporary recreational facilities and others—which some cities have set up to try to keep this summer "cool." But temporary measures don't solve anything.

FLURRY OF INTEREST

When ghetto-dwellers see a sudden flurry of interest in June and see indifference to their fate return in September, they understand that the reason for this interest is merely to keep the boiling point low.

Racial problems have to get year-round attention, and the vast potential of the disadvantaged must be put to use.

Governmental action to end poverty and discrimination has to be joined by private and individual efforts.

Business will have to change its hiring practices which made Negroes the last ones hired and the first fired.

STILL IN DARK

Some companies have set admirable records in hiring minority group citizens, but others haven't gotten the message yet. Unions will have to shape up on this front too. Citizens groups will have to get behind efforts to improve slum schools and end segregated housing.

Every institution and individual will have to contribute his bit to solving the problem.

But that's long-range. What about now, this summer?

Well, if we have to do things piecemeal, every city must put everything it's got into the ghetto.

SUBSTANTIAL EFFORTS

Public services have to be improved, jobs created, and some substantial efforts made to visibly improve life in the ghetto.

Perhaps the most important means of reducing tensions is for the police to act toward ghetto residents the way they act toward people in the richest part of town—with respect.

Every major racial riot in recent years began with some police action which was ill-timed and ill-advised.

In well-to-do suburbs the policeman is looked upon as the nice man who helps children across streets. In the ghetto he is too often known as the man who is too quick with an insult and who relies too often on the power of his billy-club or pistol.

ILLEGAL ACTIVITIES

A minority of policemen harm honest officers by extorting money and getting rake-offs from illegal activities.

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (U) — An indicated drift among Western Republican governors away from the two current top contenders pointed in the direction today of a wide-open scramble for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

By all of the recognizable but not always dependable signs, Gov. George Romney of Michigan and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 nominee, are losing ground to two men who say they are not candidates.

The flight of party conservatives from Nixon toward Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, shown at last week's meeting of the Young Republicans in Omaha, was acknowledged by Gov. David M. Cargo of New Mexico as a phenomenon that is becoming widespread.

Cargo, a Michigan native and close friend of Romney, has every reason for promoting Romney's candidacy. He had been expected to come up with a statement at a Jackson, Wyo., meeting later this week seeking to put a majority of the GOP governors behind Romney.

Instead, Cargo is talking in terms of heading an uncommitted New Mexico delegation to next year's nominating convention. He was expansive in his praise of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

'MOST LIKELY'

After a survey, Cargo said 16 of the 25 Republican state executives privately think Rockefeller is the best qualified against President Johnson.

If this represents sentiment among the GOP executives, and if Romney should falter in the primaries, Rockefeller might represent a replacement despite his protestations that he will never seek the nomination again.

These primaries are looming larger in the calculations of the governors. They are wary of going out on any political limb for a candidate who might fail to make a credible showing with the voters.

Although Cargo said he thinks the 18

GOP governors he counts as moderates ought to get together on a candidate by next November, there was a great deal of doubt this would happen because of the primaries.

Reagan's name will be on the ballot in free-for-all contests in such states as Nebraska, Oregon and possibly Wisconsin. The feeling is that Romney will have to win the first test in New Hampshire to keep his flag flying.

Summit Fails to Ease Major Issues

State Dems' Debt Is Put at $97,000

EAST LANSING (U) — The Democratic party is more than $97,000 in the red, party Treasurer Stuart Hertzberg told the State Central Committee yesterday at Michigan State University.

The part debt totaled as much as $130,000 earlier this year, Hertzberg said, adding that only 27 of the State Central Committee's 76 members have paid this year's party dues.

The State Central Committee also heard from U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., on his recent trip to Vietnam and heard a prediction from State House Minority Leader William Ryan of Detroit that House leaders are "within a short stone's throw of agreement on a fiscal reform program."

"We can carry a deficit like this as long as we can keep the money rolling," Hertzberg said of the Democrats' financial situation.

He said the party has been carrying similar deficits for the past year and a half.

Hertzberg said proceeds from the Democrats' Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner in Detroit earlier this year cut the deficit from nearly $130,000.

"The problems are being solved through channels right now," he said, but refused to elaborate.

Traffic Mishaps Kill Two in Area

Two persons — a 13-month-old tot and a Troy girl — were killed in traffic mishaps over the weekend.

A West Bloomfield Township man, backing a truck out of his driveway, accidentally ran over and killed his 13-month-old daughter Saturday afternoon, according to police.

Christine Amato, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Amato of 2785 Comfort, was pronounced dead at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, three hours after the 3:30 p.m. accident police said.

A Troy girl was killed and seven persons injured in a two-car crash in Bloomfield Township at 10:30 p.m., Saturday.

Dead is Cheryl Roddy, 20, of 3043 Kingsley, Troy. She was a passenger in a car driven by John Dirmbauer, 20, also of 3043 Kingsley, Troy.

His car collided with a car driven by Daniel Manguen, 18, of Berkley. The accident occurred at Woodward and Big Beaver.

Youth Drowns in Area Lake

An 18-year-old Detroit boy, at an outing at which 21 youths were arrested on charges of violating alcoholic beverage laws, drowned yesterday in a Commerce Township lake, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said Frank T. Zatorski was swimming from a raft in Lower Straits Lake at the Lower Strait Resort Club, 9140 Richardson, about 5 p.m. when he apparently tired and was unable to stay above water.

His body was recovered in eight feet of water some 10 feet from the raft, investigators said.

Deputies said Zatorski was at the lake with the other youths whose seven cars contained large amounts of wine, liquor and beer.

Two Detroit-area adults, Michael Cichowas and Norman Kosciolski, were charged with furnishing alcoholic beverages to minors, according to officers.

The 19 others, all minors, were taken into custody on charges of illegally being in possession of the beverages, they said.

CAMP DEARBORN

A Taylor Township youth, John Cybert, 15, drowned in Camp Dearborn Lake, Milford Township, about 11 a.m. Saturday, deputies said.

Cybert was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital some 30 minutes later.

Kosygin Shows Old Toughness at News Parley

NEW YORK (U) — President Johnson and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin have failed to resolve any of their differences over such major world issues as Vietnam and the Middle East, but they intend to keep in direct contact on these and other problems they debated in their Glassboro summit conference.

The conference ended last night after the two men had spent almost 10 hours together in two days at the small New Jersey town south of Philadelphia. Both told a cheering rain-drenched crowd of their desire to promote peace in the world.

Kosygin returned to New York in a helicopter provided by the President and held a news conference at the United Nations. There he abandoned the smiling countenance displayed at Glassboro and reverted to familiar Soviet attacks on Israel in the Middle East and the United States in Vietnam.

Johnson returned to Washington and said in a broadcast statement that "no agreement is readily in sight on the Middle Eastern crisis, and our well known differences over Vietnam continue."

But he added: "I believe it is fair to say that these days at Hollyhush have made the world a little less dangerous."

Kosygin was scheduled to leave New York about noon today, returning to Moscow to report in detail to his Kremlin colleagues on his talks with Johnson. He indicated at the news conference he might visit some other countries on the way but did not say which ones.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, both now in New York, were left with the hard task of trying to negotiate some concrete accord out of what Johnson called "the spirit of Hollyhush." They are expected to begin a series of talks in a day or so.

Hollyhush is the name of the home of President Thomas E. Robinson of Glassboro State College where Johnson and Kosygin met on Friday and yesterday.

Flash

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors today authorized special election to be held Jan. 15, 1968 on the question of incorporating Avon Township as a home-rule city to be called the City of Avon.

Cool Snap Leaves the Area Quickly

Cool weather did not tarry long in the Pontiac area as thermometers warmed into the high 70s this afternoon.

Tonight will be cloudy and not quite so cool with temperatures in the high 50s or low 60s.

Tomorrow will continue the cloudy and warmer trend with a chance of showers or thundershowers in the afternoon or evening. Temperatures will run in the 80s.

Wednesday promises to follow the same line with warm, humid weather punctuated by showers or thundershowers.

Low mercury reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 54. By 1 p.m. sunshine warmed the thermometer to 78.

PRECIPITATION
Measurable precipitation probabilities in per cent: today, near zero; tonight, 10; and tomorrow, 30.

Time Will Tell Value of Talks

GLASSBORO, N.J. (U) — President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin marched up to the summit and down again without shifting their postures on issues deeply dividing the world's greatest powers.

This was not unexpected. But was the exercise worthwhile?

From the U.S. standpoint, the answer is probably a qualified yes. A more definite verdict can only come with time.

On the plus side is the face-to-face familiarity with the other man and his views that each leader gained in the 10 hours of talks, much of this in private sessions with only interpreters present. The two had never met before.

DIPLOMATIC CONTACTS

The summit push to keep diplomatic contacts alive between Washington and Moscow, it is reasoned, can eventually lead toward solutions of some of the deeply imbedded difficulties between them.

President Johnson and Premier Kosygin apparently made clear to each other and to a concerned world that they recognize the awesome responsibilities of the superpowers in avoiding a nuclear holocaust.

But Kosygin, in his stern words at his U.N. news conference last night, quickly stripped away any euphoria that may have sprung from the length of his two-stage parley with the President.

Fresh from the Glasboro, N.J., meeting Kosygin said publicly a sizable chunk of what he told Johnson privately in the Hollyhush library — that the route to Middle East peace lies through a pullback of Israeli troops and that the road to peace in Vietnam lies through withdrawal of the Americans.

U.S. AGGRESSION

Kosygin's tough line on Vietnam struck particularly hard, because he listed what he termed an end to U.S. aggression there as the No. 1 step needed to improve U.S.-Soviet relations.

And instead of saying Johnson would be welcome in the Soviet Union or at least keeping non-committal on this point, Kosygin, who visited Niagara Falls as a U.S. guest Saturday, in effect barred the President from a Russian visit until he changes his Vietnam policy.

Only in the disarmament field, long a feature of U.S.-Soviet statements when agreement is sparse on other issues, was there some ring of optimism from on high.

Rusk and Gromyko are now expected to move somewhat faster in the lengthy effort for a Washington-Moscow draft of a treaty to curb the spread of nuclear weapons. They want to put agreed wording before the 17-nation Disarmament Conference soon.

U.S. and Soviet diplomats will still have plenty of problems to work on after that.

Carnival Rides: Survey Points Up Risks

By HUDSON WILLSE

Carnival ride mishaps seemingly are few and far between. Nonetheless, when such accidents do occur they often spell death or serious injury.

Fun-seekers are riding at their own risk even in communities where structural inspections of amusement rides are required, based on a survey of ordinances in area communities.

The ride that failed two years ago in Taylor Township, killing two persons, had been inspected and approved by engineers.

Most area communities, including Pontiac and Waterford Township, do not require mechanical inspection of rides.

Waterford Township revised its amusement park and carnival ordinance in 1965 to include inspection of rides, but repealed this provision last year.

Township officials discovered that qualified engineers were reluctant to make such inspections because of the excessive degree of risk involved due to the unlimited number of possibilities of failure.

One engineer said the only way a proper inspection could be accomplished would be to check all internal and external parts right down to each cotter pin.

He said that some parts would have to be X-rayed.

The engineer stated it would be virtually impossible to find a qualified man to inspect rides. Even if one could be obtained, the cost would be too much for the carnival operator to bear, he noted.

SURVEY OF 6 COMMUNITIES

E. R. Lawson, Waterford Township's

director of inspections, surveyed six communities last year to find out their regulations governing amusement rides.

None of the six required mechanical inspection of rides.

At that time, Southfield and Oak Park did not allow carnivals to operate within their jurisdictions.

Following the tragedy, Taylor Township banned carnivals at least until effective state legislation is enacted.

NO REQUIREMENT

Dearborn, Troy and Nankin Township (now Westland) allowed carnivals, but didn't require structural inspection of rides.

Most communities which allow carnivals, however, require electrical inspections prior to the issuance of an operating license.

Debate on Mideast Continues in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin prepared to leave the United States today as the U.N. General Assembly debate on the Middle East ground on.

Albania, Communist China's voice at the United Nations, was expected to attack Kosygin for his summit talks with President Johnson. Foreign Minister Nesti Nasi speaks at the assembly's morning session. King Hussein of Jordan speaks in the afternoon.

Kosygin planned to leave Kennedy Airport about noon. It was not known what stops he would make on his way back to Moscow, but his plane crew asked the airport for flight information on both Havana and Gander, Nfld.

In an interview filmed in Amman and televised from New York Sunday, King Hussein of Jordan termed the war a disaster, said Israel scored with its intelligence and air force, and declared that the Arabs made many mistakes — "There wasn't enough coordination, there wasn't enough planning." He called for a uniform Arab position.

VAGUE ON TALKS

Hussein said there is no chance for peace while Arab territory is occupied. He was vague on whether the Arabs would negotiate with Israel. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba

Eban, in another television interview, predicted that the Arabs would negotiate if Israel maintained the occupation because "they can only change that situation by securing our agreement."

In a statement issued Sunday night, Eban denied Kosygin's renewed charge of Israeli aggression and complained that at the news conference, he "failed to say a single word in favor of peace between Arab states and Israel or in favor of abandonment of belligerent practices in the Middle East."

In Jerusalem, Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol told his Cabinet Israeli insists upon negotiations with its Arab neighbors as the "only solution to the present crisis in the Middle East." A communique said he "pointed out with satisfaction that a demand for peace was voiced increasingly by international public opinion."

SOVIET AID

Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny returned to Moscow after three days in Cairo. Informants said he promised Soviet military aid to rebel Egypt's armed forces but insisted that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser accept Soviet military and economic advisers who would give the Kremlin a voice in the rebuilding process.

Nasser previously had refused to accept Soviet advisers. Marshal Mervat V. Zakharov, Soviet chief of staff, remained in Cairo after Podgorny left, adding to speculation that a question of Soviet advisers was involved.

As he had on the way to Cairo, Podgorny stopped on his way home to see President Tito of Yugoslavia. Diplomats in Belgrade said Soviet leaders could heavily on Tito's influence to secure a more realistic approach by Arab leaders to the problems resulting from the war.

Carnival Ride Risks Are Cited

Carnival operators generally are heavily insured. Still some communities, like Waterford Township and Pontiac, require them to carry a certain amount.

In Waterford Township the required public liability insurance amounts to a minimum of $300,000 per injury and $500,000 per incident.

Pontiac requires the applicant to carry minimum insurance of $50,000 per person and $100,000 per accident.

The safety of amusement rides is very much dependent on the know-how and conscientiousness of the concessionaire.

State Police on Pontiac Arrest Jackson Escapees

State police from the Pontiac post last night arrested two escapees from Southern Michigan prisons at Jackson when the Jackson taxicab in which they were riding was spotted on I-75 near Holly.

The escapees were arrested by troopers Kenneth Dwyer and Philip Cowdrey and were taken back to the prison this morning where they face charges of escape, kidnapping and breaking and entering.

Police said William T. Mills, 23, of Flint and Howard P. Holloway, 35, of Fenton escaped Saturday night from the Dalton Farm at the prison.

Last night at 7:30 they allegedly ordered cabdriver J. C. Hinton to drive them to Ann Arbor but, according to Hinton, the escapees refused to get out at Ann Arbor.

"They put a gun on me and told me they were escapees and said to take them wherever they told me," Hinton later told police.

In Flint and Holloway's wife in Fenton, police were watching the nearby roads for the cab. The arrest was made at 10:30 p.m.

One Hurt as 33 Flee Jetliner After Crash

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A United Air Lines jet prop plane with 33 persons aboard crashed and caught fire today as it approached Grand Rapids, Mich. The plane, a Viscount, was UAL Flight 684 from Detroit. The 30 passengers and crew of 3 escaped from the burning craft by sliding down chutes attached to exits. One woman, Mrs. William L. Taggart Jr., of Grand Rapids, was injured as she left the plane. The fire in the baggage bin was quickly extinguished by the airport fire department.

3 Sites Eyed for City Social Security Office

Members of the General Services Administration (GSA) visiting Pontiac last week chose three tentative locations for a new downtown Social Security office building.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said the federal representatives surveyed the city for the better part of the week, in attempts to find a suitable location.

Warren said one site is favored over the others, but the GSA representatives were not sure how closely the recommendations would be followed by the space management division of GSA.

All three locations are in the downtown area, Warren said.

The agency had been seeking a site of not less than 37,500 square feet for construction of a 12,500 square-foot one-story building.

The city manager said the building, if constructed, would be about the size of a supermarket. He said the agency had indicated there would be parking for 55 cars.

Death Claims Ex-Club Head

The immediate past president of the Pontiac Exchange Club, Ragnarwald Ulfeth, died yesterday in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak. He was 56.

Ulfeth, of 1920 Harvard, Berkeley, was a former employee of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and was a member of the Michigan Bar Association, Delta Theta Phi law fraternity and Hidden Valley Elks Lodge. He was a graduate of the Detroit College of Law.

Service will be 1 p.m. tomorrow at the St. Olaf Evangelical Lutheran Church, Detroit. Burial will be in Roseland Park Cemetery, Royal Oak. His body is at the Haley Funeral Home, Southfield.

Pontiac Youth Is 'Critical' in Shooting; Man Is Held

An 18-year-old Pontiac youth with the car, according to police, because of his serious condition.

Turton's mother, Mrs. Arce Coons, was visiting at Placencia's house when the shooting occurred, police said.

Placencia, who police say shot John Turton of 644 Fairfax, was arraigned Saturday by Waterford Justice Patrick Daly and is held in the Oakland County Jail on $25,000 bond.

Daly scheduled an examination on the charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

Turton was shot as he raised the hood of his mother's car parked outside Placencia's home.

The youth has been unable to explain why he was tampering with the car, according to police.

Plane Losses Cited by Top Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some top U.S. officials are beginning to think the air war against North Vietnam is yielding diminishing gains while toughening ground defenses are raising the price in U.S. warplanes.

Certain of them believe it might be a good idea to limit the bombing essentially to the supply routes running south through the narrow neck of North Vietnam and to cut down strikes against heavily defended industrial-type targets in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas.

But other authorities argue that to do so would result in swelling the volume of supplies and equipment to Communist forces in South Vietnam.

Those holding this general view say the Communists have been employing many more aircraft guns in the 150-mile-long North Vietnamese panhandle, and that concentrating PARTY BOOZE — Cartons of beer, wine and liquor, confiscated by Oakland County sheriff's deputies at an outing at a Commerce Township lake yesterday at which a Detroit brood, crowd the sheriff's department safety division office. Deputies said 19 Detroit-area youths were arrested for illegally possessing alcoholic beverages and two adults were charged with furnishing minors with alcohol. Warrants are being sought against all 21, who are free on bond.

Red Chinese Stresses Internal Growth

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet policy of putting domestic growth ahead of world revolution was laid down Sunday in a series of theses approved for the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution Nov. 7.

The statement tied Soviet thinking of today to that of the early years when the Politburo under Stalin rejected Leon Trotsky's demand that world revolution come first. Trotsky was expelled from the party in November 1927 and exiled in 1928.

The 25,000-word document, spread over 4 1/2 pages of all Soviet newspapers, also declared that the balance of power in the world is shifting in the Communists' favor. It called for peaceful coexistence and competition with the West but also for support of so-called national liberation movements.

"The domination of imperialism on the world scene is ending," it said. "The might of the Soviet Union and the Socialist countries creates a real counterbalance to the aggressive forces of imperialism and is a major factor in the struggle for the prevention of a new world war and the maintenance of peace."

Down U.S. Jet

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Air Force F4C plane was downed by Red Chinese aircraft in the South China Sea early today after apparently straying into Chinese air space in the vicinity of Hainan Island, the Department of Defense announced.

"The announcement attributed the overthrow to apparent failure of the American plane's navigational and communications equipment."

The plane crashed at sea about 30 miles south of Hainan, the Pentagon said, and the two pilots were rescued.

"The initial reports indicate they have not suffered serious injury," it added.

PLANE'S FLIGHT

The report said the American plane was on a flight from Clark Field in the Philippines to Da Nang, South Vietnam.

American officials have been following a policy of quick announcement of any such incident to head off Communist propaganda.

FELT LIKE BLOWOUT

"In a moment we started down the runway. It felt as though the forward tire blew, and I told my wife, 'There goes the tire,' when all of a sudden the nose dipped down, and the tail went into the air," Taggart told newsmen.

"The plane came to a halt, and the pilot called for everyone to leave as rapidly as possible to the rear."

RUSHED TO HOSPITAL

"I followed my wife to the rear. I don't know how many feet down the chute, with the tail high in the air. My wife was one of the first off."

Mrs. Taggart was injured as she left the plane.

"I don't know whether she jumped, or whether there were not enough men holding the chute," Taggart said.

Mrs. Taggart was rushed by ambulance to a hospital where she was reported suffering from facial cuts and possible side and neck injuries.

Begin Voyage

TOKYO (UPI) — Three students at the Tokyo Merchant Service University yesterday began a 15,775-mile, seven-month Pacific voyage in a 4 1/2-ton yacht.

Junzo Noguchi, 23, Kiyoshi Kawagata, 24, and Keiichi Saito, 23, said they will visit graduation theses on their trip to Hawaii, Tahiti and Samoa.

Roseville Study Backs 11 Mile Route for I-696

ROSEVILLE (UPI) — The best route for the controversial I-696 freeway through Macomb County is the one proposed originally by the Michigan Highway Department, according to a report submitted by a citizens study committee.

The seven-member committee, appointed seven months ago by Roseville Mayor William McDonald, filed a report Saturday agreeing with the highway department's plan to build the freeway along 11 mile Road.

Construction of the freeway in Macomb County has been blocked for months by Roseville officials, who have opposed the 11 mile route.

McDonald said yesterday he plans to meet with the City Council to discuss the committee report.

Cairo Airport Closed Again

CAIRO (AP) — Cairo's International Airport was closed to commercial flights this morning amid considerable activity of Egyptian jet fighter planes over the outskirts of the capital.

The closure went into effect at 5:30 a.m., shortly after a delegation from Communist Czechoslovakia arrived. Civil aviation sources said international airlines were advised of the closure only an hour before it went into force.

Birmingham Area News

Parking Fee Hike Requested

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission will study recommendations that parking meter city buy some new meters.

The proposal is being made by City Manager R. S. Kenning. It requests that the fee be raised to five cents per half-hour.

This is aimed at alleviating congestion in high-use areas. It will also have the effect of increasing revenue to finance additional parking facilities, Kenning points out.

J. H. Purkiss Jr., city finance director, also recommends the step with exclusion of some areas on Woodward.

Purkiss points out, "Higher rates will encourage those parking for longer periods to use other meters."

Red Chinese

His recommendation includes repeated demand that the city buy some new meters.

The city advertised for 450 meters and has received a price of $50.40 each or $23,860 total. Purkiss advises the purchase to prevent loss in revenue and "adverse public relations" by malfunction of the 29-year-old meters.

He points out the old meters can't be reset to handle both nickels and dimes.

The Birmingham - Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce will submit a report on the traffic problem that asks for restraint in parking meter fee increases.

The report also concerns the recent 30-day parking ban on Maple. The Chamber states it has taken a poll on the adverse effects on the ban on business in the entire downtown area.

Another communication to be studied is a letter concerning airplanes passing over the city.

The letter states "the noise and general racket of planes flying apparently directly over our homes seems to be increasing and not diminishing."

The planes are apparently from Ben Airfield in Troy, the letter states. The resident asks the commission to do something to "lessen the almost constant bombardment of air traffic."

Soviet Policy Statement

These theses included the standard attacks on the United States as the aggressor in Vietnam and on China as the divider of world communism. The attacks on the United States were relatively restrained, however, perhaps in deference to the summit talks between President Johnson and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

On the Middle East, the theses said: "The Soviet people fully support the just struggle of the Arab peoples against Israeli aggression, against Israel's imperialist benefactors."

In rejecting the old Trotsky demand for expansionism, now the cry of Peking, the statement said:

"The great task of the Soviet people is the building of communism and this at the same time is its main international cause."

"Trotsky tried to deprive the party and the people of the perspective of successful construction of socialism in the U.S.S.R. They denied its significance for world revolutionary movement."

"Covered by leftist ultra-revolutionary phrases, Trotskyites tried to force an adventurist course which would have doomed construction of socialism in our country to defeat and which was built on instigation of revolutions in other countries."

S. Viets, S. Koreans Report Killing 148 Reds

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers and South Korean marines bore the brunt of ground fighting in Vietnam Sunday and reported killing 148 Communist soldiers.

Only light and sporadic contact was reported by U. S. units conducting 21 major ground sweeps.

U. S. headquarters reported 153 American air missions over North Vietnam Sunday, almost all against supply routes. As they have for almost a month, American pilots avoided the Hanoi-Haiphong region. The official reason given was bad weather. South Vietnamese paratroopers scored the biggest success of the day in the 1st Corps area just below the 17th Parallel dividing Vietnam. On a search-and-destroy operation the paratroopers jumped a major enemy force and reported they killed 105.

ENEMY COMPANY

Supported by armored personnel carriers and air strikes, the airborne battalion of about 500 men overpowered what was evidently an enemy company or more, The South Vietnamese said they captured 19 weapons, including seven mortars and machine guns, and suffered only "light casualties."

A South Korean patrol ran into a guerrilla band in coastal Phu Yen Province and killed 43 while suffering no casualties, according to Korean headquarters. The fight lasted 2½ hours. Then the guerrillas fled.

U. S. headquarters reported an unusual rescue Sunday when a big twin-rotor Chinook helicopter flew into Dinh Tuong Province about 40 miles southwest of Saigon to save a group of infantrymen trapped inside an armored personnel carrier.

The 13-ton vehicle had been blown up and overturned by a mine. The big chopper raised the vehicle so medics could get out the wounded. It was not known how many casualties there were.

Troops of the 173rd Airborne Brigade reported scattered contact in the central highlands area where Communist forces chopped up a paratrooper company last Thursday. Night bivouacs of the 173rd were harassed by grenade-throwing enemy but no major fights developed.

U. S. headquarters said late reports showed 106 North Vietnamese regulars died in the battle in which 80 U. S. paratroopers were killed and 130 wounded.

The paratroopers also uncovered an arms cache containing 28 assorted weapons, perhaps left behind by Communist troops slipping out of the area after last Thursday's fight.

Military headquarters reported bombing weather over North Vietnam was generally good everywhere but in the Red River valley and the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

Navy and Air Force pilots ranged over the panhandle area stretching south from Hanoi to the 17th Parallel, mostly hitting roads, rails and truck and barge convoys.

Air Force and Navy communications were limited largely to such items as a series of secondary explosions along the Mu Gia pass, a major supply route to the south, and five big fires at a fuel dump near the city of Dong Hoi on Route 1 leading south. Navy destroyers operated off the coast near Dong Hoi, shelling cargo barges on the coastal waterway. The Navy said seven barges were sunk by five-inch gunfire from a destroyer.

11 Teens End 'Vacation' at Chippewa Reservation

MOUNT PLEASANT (UPI) — Eleven Columbia City, Ind., teen-agers have completed spending their vacation by helping the Chippewa Indians in the Mount Pleasant area.

The tired 11 youngsters undertook a variety of chores on the Chippewa reservation grounds including:

Painting the Chippewa Methodist Church, washing the inside, varnishing the church pews, treating the

as guard rails around the grounds and clearing up debris.

The youths are members of the Trinity Methodist Church of Columbia City, of which the Rev. Harold Oeschle is pastor.

They financed the costs of their own trip and started back for home yesterday.

The boys unloaded a train carload of fertilizer, operated an employment service for odd jobs and undertook other events which raised $1,000 for the trip.

Storms Rage Over Europe; 32 Are Dead

LONDON (UPI) — Driving rain and tornadoes left a swath of death and destruction across Europe today. At least 32 persons were killed in the weekend storms.

A rescue team in the Yorkshire Dales of North England today resumed its search for the bodies of six men feared drowned in an underground cave. The men were exploring the cave when a sudden downpour swelled the river that ran through the cave.

Torrential rains hit the Wimbledon Tennis Courts yesterday, washing out nine of the 16 courts for today's opening play of the Wimbledon Tournament.

Tornadoes skipped across France Saturday and Belgium yesterday, killing a total of 10 persons. Eight others were killed in Holland, and 69 houses destroyed by tornadoes.

Winds of up to 120 miles an hour blew across the Douai area of Belgium, destroying 200 houses, killing three persons and injuring 100 others. Seven persons died in storms in the northern French village of Pommeru, and 40 others were injured. church windows with a stained-glass effect, cleaning the grounds, putting up posts

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N. Y. (Special): A scientific research institute has discovered a medication which has the ability in most cases — to actually shrink hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from the itching, burning and pain. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated hemorrhoids.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so.

And it was all accomplished without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H — an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! In addition to actually shrinking piles and relieving the painful distress — Preparation H lubricates, makes bowel movements less painful and soothes the irritated tissues. It also helps prevent further infection.

Preparation H comes in ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.

Two Syrians Executed for High Treason

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Two Syrian army officers were executed by a firing squad in Damascus at dawn today for plotting to overthrow Syria's Socialist government, Radio Damascus reported.

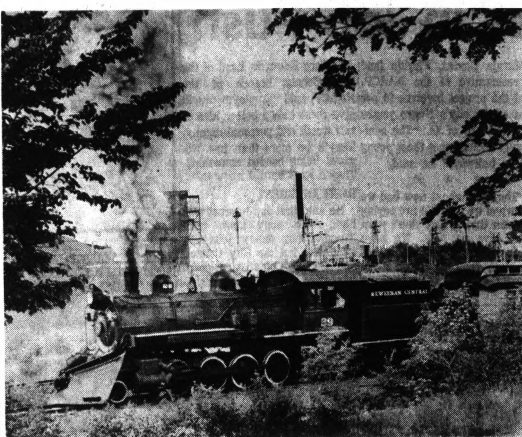

The broadcast said Maj. Salim Hatoun and Maj. Badr Jumaa had been convicted of high treason Sunday by a special military court. It said they confessed they returned to the country at the height of the Arab-Israeli war to topple the regime on behalf of the U.S., British and West German intelligence services.

Hatoun, a member of Syria's Moslem Druze minority, led an unsuccessful plot to overthrow the government last September. He escaped to neighboring Jordan.

Reports to Beirut said Hatoun returned to Syria voluntarily to fight against Israel after the government announced an amnesty for political offenders.

DISSIDENT SECT

He formerly commanded the Syrian army's commando units. His brother, Anis Hatoun, reportedly is an officer in the Druze unit serving with the Israeli army. The Druzes are a dissident Moslem sect living in southern Syria and Lebanon.

'Oswald Had Enough Time'

CBS Probes JFK Death Shots

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System said Sunday its investigation of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy found that Lee Harvey Oswald had enough time to fire three shots at the auto carrying Kennedy.

Many critics of the 26-volume Warren Commission report have contended that the rifle used by Oswald was not capable of being fired three times in 5.6 seconds — the time commission tests indicated was used in firing the shots.

Other critics have pointed to the amateur film taken by Abraham Zapruder on Nov. 22, 1963, in Dallas, which also puts the time angle in doubt.

CBS said in the first of a four-part series on the assassination that it concluded "a Mannlicher-Carcano rifle can be fired as accurately and rapidly — and probably more — as the commission believed."

FILM SPEED

Also, CBS said, the film shot by Zapruder "was quite possibly running slower than the commission thought." Blurs on three of the film frames indicate "something startled Mr. Zapruder," CBS said. It said evidence showed "a rifle shot was what startled him."

CBS News' analysis of Zapruder's film "suggests strongly that the first shot was fired at frame 186" while "the commission said only that the first shot hit came between frames 210 and 225."

A slow camera, CBS said, "most likely meant that the rifleman may have had additional time to get off three shots" in probably seven to eight seconds instead of 5.6 seconds.

"The first shot was fired from the Dallas Texas School Depository sooner than the Warren Commission said," CBS news-men concluded.

CBS TESTS

CBS said that in its experiments from a 60-foot tower, the same height as the sixth-floor window of the School Book Depository, one of its 11 volunteer marksmen made three hits in 5.2 seconds. CBS said another got one hit from three shots in 4.1 seconds — all with Mannlicher-Carcano rifles.

CBS said its investigation supported Warren Commission findings that Oswald owned a rifle, took one to the depository building, and Oswald was in the building on the sixth floor when the three shots were fired.

Walter Cronkite, who narrated

the program, said the network's second and third telecasts would cover conspiracy theories.

"We drew a distinction between Oswald as a killer and Oswald as the killer," Cronkite

By DICK WEST

United Press International WASHINGTON — "Emergency" is a rather overworked word in Congress. Alarmists are forever calling for emergency legislation to cope with problems that actually aren't all that pressing.

Which means Congress may have some trouble recognizing it.

Such, however, is not the case with an emergency bill to legalize stand-up drinking at the National Press Club bar.

I recently attended a House subcommittee hearing on this measure and I must say the lawgivers appeared to have been gripped by a proper sense of urgency. They approved the bill a short time later.

For 33 years, Press Club President L. David Leroy told the subcommittee, it was assumed that a 1934 law banning stand-up drinking in Washington applied only to public taverns.

WRONG IMPRESSION

Therefore, he said, standees at the Press Club bar had been drinking under the impression that they were legitimately perpendicular. (see footnote.)

Then a week or so ago the District of Columbia commissioners held that sit-down drinking was mandatory for private clubs as well as public watering places.

Hence the need for emergency legislation to restore the status quo.

The proposed new law would, of course, apply to other private clubs, but in their cases no emergency exists.

WORLD PROBLEMS

The emergency stems from the fact that the Press Club bar is the place where all of the world's problems are solved.

Indeed, it is not uncommon for the same problems to be solved three or four times in the course of a single evening.

Unfortunately, the solutions are not always adopted by the U.S. government and the other nations concerned. But enough of them do come to pass to keep the world in some semblance of working order.

WOULD SHRINK

The supply of solutions to world problems would immediately shrink, for sit-down drinking is not conducive to problem solving.

As a rule of thumb it can be said that in barroom problem-solving one foot on the rail is worth three backbones on the barstools.

The nation and the world can ill afford to lose this resource. Action! Now!

Bad Luck Appears Ended for the New Miss Michigan

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Toni Jo Abbenante awoke to a whole new world today.

Her run of bad luck appeared broken and how else could life look but rosy to a pretty, auburn-haired 19-year-old who has just won the title of Miss Michigan?

The Grand Rapids girl won the title in Muskegon Saturday night. Her official life started today, posing for formal portraits.

"It was so exciting I burst into tears," Miss Abbenante said Saturday night after she received the crown from Nancy Ackert, Miss Michigan of 1966.

MANY PROBLEMS

Toni had her problems during the Miss Michigan pageant. Two days after she was selected Miss Michigan Junior College a float on which she was riding caught fire. She was unhurt, however.

Then, Friday, she fell from the stage during a rehearsal.

Dr. Raymond Huldin, pageant physician, said she bruised her right arm, hip and leg.

Friday she learned she could not get television clearance to use an excerpt from George Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan" for her dramatic reading in the talent contest.
