Oakland County Scores Perfect Safety Record

Pilgrimage Train Wreck Kills 205, Hurts Hundreds

MANDEVILLE, Jamaica (AP) — The smell of death hung heavy over this little Caribbean mountain resort today as burial services were rushed for 205 Jamaicans killed in the wreck of a Roman Catholic excursion train. It was one of the worst disasters in railroad history.

The 12-coach train was packed with nearly 1,500 Roman Catholics returning to Kingston from a religious pilgrimage and holiday outing at Montego Bay, on Jamaica's north coast.

Nine coaches derailed and plunged over a 100-foot embankment near Kendal, five miles from Mandeville.

Torrential rains hampered the search for additional dead.

Nearly 700 persons were reported injured. About 500 crowded the hospitals in Mandeville, at nearby Spalding and in Kingston. Many were put two to a bed.

Doctors and nurses were rushed to the hospitals to work around the clock. A single - engine plane flew in medical supplies.

About 180 persons received emergency treatment but went home. Most of the victims were young people, between 16 and 30.

MACABRE SCENE

Bodies of the dead lay under a huge banyan-like tree behind the Mandeville hospital yard.

Bright lights strung on wires burned throughout the night to aid relatives and friends in the task of identification.

Many of them had ridden five hours by bus to reach Mandeville. Smoke fires burned to cut the smell.

Many bodies, so mangled that identification was impossible, were buried near the wreck yesterday in coffins hurriedly made by boys at a nearby youth training center.

More mass burials of the unidentifiable were planned today. Burial generally takes place as soon as possible after death on this tropical island.

Some 50 bodies were claimed and taken to Kingston.

Acting Gov. John Stow and Chief Minister Norman Manley hurried to the wreck and ordered an immediate investigation, to be headed by the chief justice of the Supreme Court.

Stow called for a national day of mourning Sunday. Movie houses and night clubs in Kingston normally a gay resort center, were closed last night, and grief pervaded the city.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

There was no immediate explanation of the cause of the wreck, although unconfirmed reports said the first coach which jumped the track had faulty wheels which had been inspected earlier on the trip.

Early reports said the train was pulled by two diesels which came uncoupled from the following cars.

Later it was reported the first passenger coach broke away from two freight cars and the locomotive ahead and hit a culvert. Nine of the 12 coaches left the track and crashed down the embankment.

Fire Truck Burns

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP) — Hose Co. No. 4 of the Harrisonburg Fire Department came home from fighting a grass fire more than a little red-faced. Their $15,000 fire truck had burned up in the blaze when it got stuck in a ravine.

Murder Probe Turns to Detroit

Witness Tells of Seeing Atwood in Bars Along Skid Row

Investigation into the death of plant guard Earl E. Atwood shifted to Detroit today.

Waterford Township and Sheriff's Department detectives were to question a witness who reportedly saw Atwood in Detroit's Skid Row area during his four-day disappearance that culminated in his gang - style execution Thursday night.

The body of the 40-year-old gambler was found, shot through the head, in the yard of the Airport Ready Mix and Building Supply Co., 3770 Airport Rd., Friday.

Atwood had evidently trumped up an excuse to take a week off from work, said Captain Millard Pender of the township police.

★ ★ ★

"He had his mother in Indianapolis send a telegram to his boss. It said she was ill and wanted him to come. Atwood got the time off and left Monday morning, but apparently without ever intending to visit his mother," the detective said.

The Detroit witness reportedly saw Atwood twice Wednesday, once in a Michigan avenue Skid Row bar and a second time in a bar nearer the victim's home, 4808 Cabot St.

So far, Pender said, there is no evidence that Atwood spent any more than the last few hours of his four-day disappearance in Oakland County.

Detroit police are cooperating in the case.

Expect More Rain in Area Tonight

Thundershowers which prevailed throughout most of Michigan yesterday brought a five-hour tornado warning for the northern portion of the Lower Peninsula; but the alert expired at 6 p.m. without reported incident.

★ ★ ★

In the Pontiac area showers are expected again tonight with the mercury reaching a low of 56 to 60 degrees.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy with occasional light showers and continued cool, high 66 to 70.

Downtown Pontiac's lowest temperature prior to 8 a.m. was 65. At 2 p.m. the thermometer read 81.

Labor Day Weekend Fatal to 610

Traffic Toll 431, One of Highest Since WW II

Nation's Safety Experts Cite 'Tragic Trend'; 14 Die in Michigan

Traffic	431
Drowning	87
Miscellaneous	92
Total	610

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic accidents killed more persons than the 420 predicted for the Labor Day weekend. The toll appeared heading for one of the biggest for the holiday since World War II.

The heavy highway death rate for the 78-hour period starting at 6 p.m. last Friday and ending at midnight Monday (local time) was termed a "tragic trend" by safety experts.

Delayed reports of accidental deaths were expected to boost the highway toll above last year's Labor Day total of 435.

Michigan counted at least 14 persons dead in traffic accidents on state highways over the three-day Labor Day weekend.

In addition two persons were killed in a plane crash, one man died in a home accident and a 10-months-old boy drowned in a bathtub accident.

The state highway death toll was well below the 26 deaths reported over Labor Day weekend last year.

Intensive road patrols by state, county and local police augmented by National Guard troops, and rainy weather across much of the state were credited with helping keep the traffic death toll down.

Safety experts said it did not appear likely the national traffic toll would reach the death record for a Labor Day of 461 set in 1951.

The second-highest total for the holiday since World War II was 438 in 1955. This year's toll passed the 426 for the four-day Independence Day holiday period and 413 for the four-day Memorial Day holiday period.

OVER-ALL TOLL HIGH

This year's over-all accidental death toll also was one of the highest for a Labor Day weekend in more than 10 years. The record was 658 in 1951. Last year's over-all toll was 596.

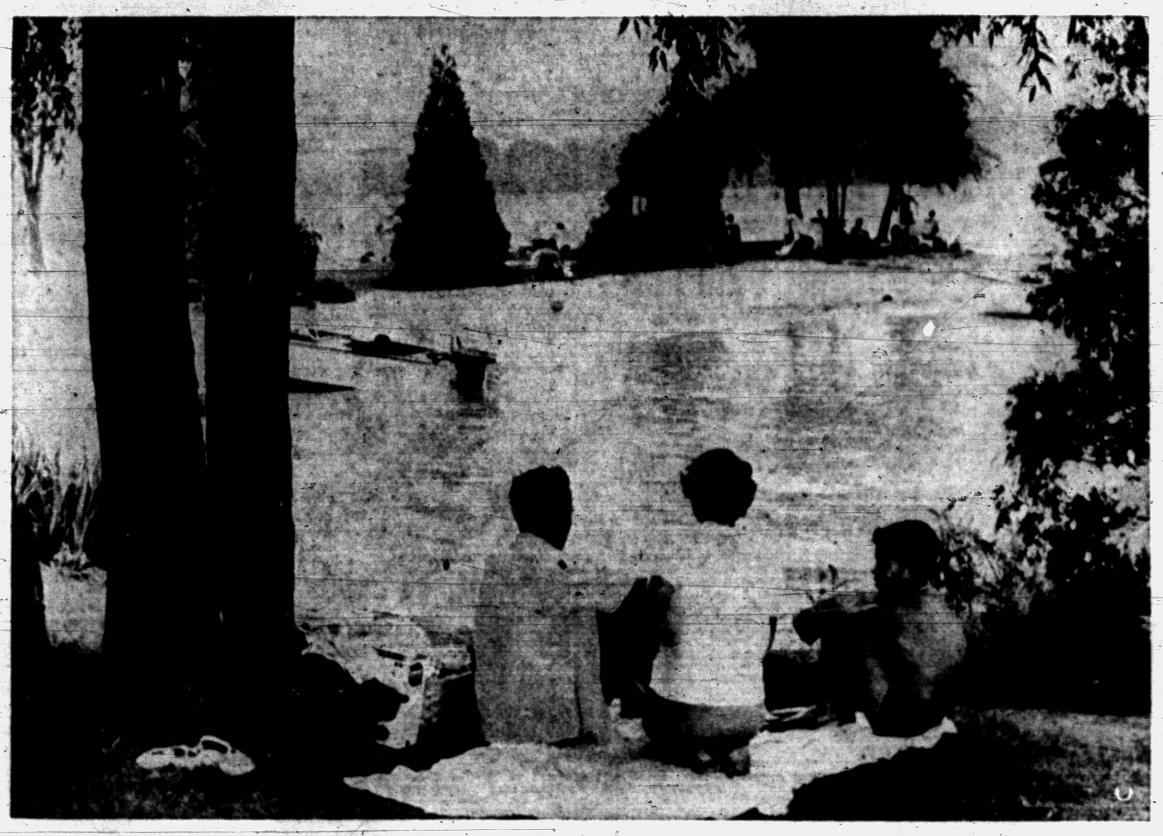

As millions jammed highways in the last holiday weekend of summer, the traffic death rate mounted steadily, showing sharp increases Sunday and yesterday.

The National Safety Council, which had predicted the 420 deaths, also had estimated some 45 million cars would be on the highways during the weekend.

Although there is no recognized normal traffic death toll for a similar three-day weekend period, a test survey by The Associated Press for a recent weekend showed 398 traffic fatalities, 82 drownings and 87 miscellaneous deaths for a total of 567.

Included in the weekend miscellaneous deaths were several persons killed in plane crashes. Many multiple-death highway accidents were reported.

Parks and Lakes Help Thousands Celebrate

FAREWELL TO SUMMER — This family group at Cass Dodge park yesterday marked the unofficial end of the summer with a final picnic. Thousands sought the parks and lakes of Oakland County yesterday before thunderstorms brought cooler weather.

3-Day Holiday With No Deaths in Traffic, Lakes

Sees 3rd Long Weekend Free of Any Highway Fatalities in Area

Continuing its perfect holiday safety record, populous Oakland County passed through the three-day Labor Day weekend without a traffic fatality or drowning.

Similar highway safety records were marked up on Memorial Day and Independence Day weekends earlier this year, with a single drowning clouding the latter.

"Without the splendid cooperation of law enforcement agencies throughout the county, our clean record would have been impossible," said Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons, today.

"Each deputy, state trooper, policeman and all the other law enforcers including National Guardsmen, who made up the weekend force, should be commended for their outstanding teamwork," he added.

Last Friday state troopers and Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies braced themselves for the onslaught of traffic. Personnel at county parks also readied themselves for record crowds.

CROWDS SMALLER

One factor in the successful weekend which all law officials agree was significant, was a smaller crowd of vacationers than was expected.

Park officials reported a noticeable drop in attendance from the crowds of Independence Day and Memorial Day this year. A spokesman at the Pontiac Lake Recreation Area reported nothing more than a normal weekend crowd with plenty of reserve parking space.

Bridge Over Straits Passable in 4 Days

ST. IGNACE (AP)—Michigan's two peninsulas will be joined by a roadway for the first time in history—just four working days from now.

By nightfall Friday workmen hope they'll have it so a car can be driven across the 100-million-dollar Mackinac Bridge, which is scheduled to open Nov. 1.

A. B. Drilling, U. S. Steel's project superintendent, confirmed only four working days are needed to join the suspension span's steel grating floor with the concrete roadway of the approaches.

With certain death below, bridgemen don't work when rain makes the steel slippery or when high winds make balance-keeping exceptionally difficult.

Even if it is possible to drive across by next weekend, you can't. You couldn't get permission and there are guards on either approach.

You puzzle fans are probably breathing easier now that you are allowed one wrong answer without being disqualified. Of course, if someone comes up with a perfect solution, he will naturally have claim to the $2,400 in the pot.

But if no one wins last week's puzzle and if no one has all the answers right for this week's puzzle, anyone with all but one right answer for Pot-O-Gold will be a winner.

This week's puzzle appeared in yesterday's Pontiac Press and will appear again on Wednesday and Friday. You have until Tuesday, Sept. 10 to have your entry postmarked.

And don't forget — a late entry or one mailed in an envelope will be disqualified, even if it's a perfect solution. So don't be left out in the cold by procrastinating. Get busy right now.

Indicates Civil Rights Bill to Be Signed; Cuts in Foreign Aid Blasted

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower scoffed today at Democratic claims that Congress cut his budget by five billion dollars and read off a list of eight important tasks left undone by the vacationing lawmakers.

Eisenhower, at a new conference, also removed any lingering doubt that he would sign the compromise Civil Rights bill by praising it as an expression of the sentiments of the American people.

The President however blasted congressional cuts in foreign aid appropriations as threatening to jeopardize the security of the free world.

At his last news conference before departing Wednesday for a Newport, R.I., vacation, Eisenhower fielded questions ranging from the record of Congress to Russian guided missiles and domestic inflation.

He showed no alarm over the recent Kremlin claim that the Soviet Union has successfully tested an intercontinental ballistics missile.

There is a big difference, the chief executive pointed out, between testing such a weapon and having stocks of missiles armed with atomic warheads ready for use.

The United States, he emphasized, is giving the highest priority to its own program for development of intercontinental-range missiles.

But it will be a long time, the President said, before any country has a supply of such missiles ready for use.

Woman's Greatest Desire—and Challenge

Starting Today: How to Get and Keep a Husband

By KATE CONSTANCE

Like so many women, my life was crushed by war. I became an unwilling recruit in the legions of lonely women, bewildered and frightened and insecure.

★ ★ ★

The problem of aloneness almost overwhelmed me. How often I hesitated after closing my door, wondering if I could endure the chime of the clock echoing through the quiet rooms!

Soon I came to know other manless women and to understand their yearning. Slowly I realized that the solution for our common problem lay largely within ourselves.

We wanted marriage. But too many of us were failing to do what was necessary to find a husband and then to keep him happy.

★ ★ ★

Many single women approach their problem of finding a mate with the wrong attitude. They fail to use their talents for happiness but instead drift into bitter hopelessness, that insidious paralysis of the soul.

★ ★ ★

One rainy evening I opened my door to Miss Z. She plopped disconsolately into a chair, raincoat and all. I was surprised at her dejection, amazed to see this handsome girl who always carried such a bright front, moody almost to tears.

It was her birthday, she said, and when she came home tired from work, she was shaken by the nobody-care-for-me status of her life.

"Why don't you marry," I asked.

"Marry!" she exclaimed. "Whom have I met who could support me, Kate?

"There was that old Mr. Inge 20 years older than I — yes, he could, but he was too fat. And Bob — you wouldn't want me to marry Bob, would you? I make more than he! I think my job has given him a complex, anyway. He hasn't called me in two weeks."

★ ★ ★

"What about that nice man who had a little place in the country and raised oranges and bees? He certainly could have fed you," I reminded her.

Her frown turned into a real laugh. "Oh, no, not that — not that!"

"Well, I retorted, "what are you looking for?"

That was difficult for her to answer.

"I don't know," she replied after a moment. "I really, honestly don't know."

I knew what she was looking for — what far too many American women are looking for in a man.

Now don't shout back at me that

Delay Opening of New School

Kennett Road Building Lacks Sewer, Water Connections

Opening of the new Kennett Road elementary school has been postponed from Thursday, the regular first school day in Pontiac, to at least Monday because of a delay in sewer and water connections.

★ ★ ★

The announcement came today from Dr. Otto Hufziger, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business.

More than 300 children, attending kindergarten through the first grade, will have the unexpected prolonged summer vacation before attending the new school located at 460 W. Kennett Rd.

Lewis M. Wrenn, city engineer, said a second crew would be added today to speed up the completion of the sewer line. Approximately 2,500 feet of pipe is being laid on Kennett road from Fairview avenue to the school, he estimated.

★ ★ ★

"We hope to have the sewer and water facilities ready within 10 working days from today, weather permitting", Wrenn said. He explained that poor ground conditions, especially sand in the first block of the project, delayed completion of the project in time for the scheduled school opening.

Actually, the contract stipulates Nov. 1 as a completion date, according to Wrenn.

★ ★ ★

Hufziger said the classrooms should be ready by Friday and he had been advised by City Manager Walter K. Willman that sewer and water lines leading to the school would not be completed before Monday.

Actress, Golfer Wed Following One Delay

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — The once-canceled wedding of Mrs. Pamela Dudley Curran, 27-year-old actress and former New York debutante, and Robert Sweeny, 46, prominent golfer, banker and World War II flyer, took place here yesterday.

It was the second marriage for both, each of whom has been divorced from former mates—Mrs. Sweeny from Joseph Austin Wade Jr., father of her two children; and Sweeny from the late Joanne Marie Conelley. She died early this summer in Switzerland while awaiting a divorce from Jaime Ortiz-Patino.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What does smoke tell us about the coming weather? Does soot sometimes play the role of weather forecaster?

Both smoke and soot sometimes indicate the nature of approaching weather. Most often they tell of approaching rain or bad weather. Smoke that curls downward from a smokestack indicates unstable weather, probably rain or even a storm.

Soot which falls down a chimney into a fireplace below indicates a falling barometer, and the approach of rain.

★ ★ ★

Smoke that rises steadily, not necessarily vertically, indicates good weather ahead. Vertical smoke columns reveal a lack of wind, or frontal movement; this sign could mean that no weather change is imminent for a day or so in winter, though in summer the value of a vertical smoke column as a weather indicator is highly questionable.

3-Day Holiday Sees No Traffic Fatalities

Cass Lake, a crowd of 12,500 was recorded. This is a sizable drop from the 30,000 persons who jammed the park on July 4th and the crowd of 28,000 on Memorial Day.

Park officials attributed the smaller attendance mainly to rain — and especially the way in which the rain came. The three separate storms acted to thin the crowd out at regular intervals during the afternoon, said officials.

However, one of the storms did give state troopers from the Redford Post a hard time. Shortly after 6 p.m. lightning knocked out a transformer at Eight Mile Rd. and Grand River Ave., said troopers.

Six troopers and two Livonia policemen directed traffic at the major intersection for almost three hours. Traffic and street lights were out of order until 9 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Troopers reported three minor accidents at the intersection during that time, but added that traffic was not abnormally heavy at any other point on U.S.-16.

State troopers at the Pontiac Post reported heavy traffic on U.S.-10 and M59 during the late afternoon and into last night, but said there was no unusually bad congestion.

Although rain acted to slow drivers down, it didn't result in much backing up of traffic, said the troopers. Traffic remained heavy until after midnight in the Pontiac area but was moving steadily.

"The overall traffic situation throughout Oakland County was not much different than any other Sunday," said Sheriff Irons.

Much still is to be done. The outer two lanes of the steel grating on the suspension span still are to be filled in with concrete, and the giant cables are to be wrapped with wire over a heavy red lead coating.

Yards of concrete still are to be poured, too, into the gigantic cable anchorages. And big machinery, including two 75-foot derricks, must be taken off the 47-story towers.

The inner lanes of the suspension span, with narrow grating similar to that found on many bridges, will remain open. But the outer lanes, where a wider grating has a steel bottom, will be filled with concrete.

Stassen Thinks Talks Will End

Feels Russia Prefers U.N. Assembly Forum for Propaganda Blasts

LONDON (INS) — Harold E. Stassen indicated strongly today that the London Disarmament Talks are about to collapse because Russia would prefer to take up the subject at the United Nations level.

Speaking at London airport after returning from weekend consultations in Washington, the chief U. S. delegate to the five-nation U. N. disarmament subcommittee meeting said it has been hinted Russia might prefer the disarmament talks at the U. N. level.

"Our aim," he added, "is for a sound agreement. How it is reached is secondary."

Stassen said he felt Russia's "negative responses" to the western first-step disarmament proposals "are not necessarily the final response although they may be."

Many observers at the London talks have noted recently that the Russians seem determined to end the secret negotiations which the subcommittee has been holding for nearly six months and transfer the topic to the U. N. General Assembly, where they would have a world forum for their propaganda blasts.

This tendency has been particularly noticeable since the Kremlin announcement nine days ago that Russia had successfully tested an intercontinental ballistic missile..

Jurors to Visit Famed Theater

Confidential Trial Moves

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The scene changes in the Confidential trial today. But the big name is the same—Maureen O'Hara.

The trial moves from the dignified courtroom in downtown Los Angeles to the velvet and gilt surroundings of Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood.

It is there that defense witnesses have claimed the red-haired Miss O'Hara staged a love scene with a Latin friend. Confidential's attorney says that incident was the basis for an article titled "When Maureen O'Hara Cuddled in Row 35."

The date of the occasion, originally set in November 1953, was set by a later defense witness as February 1954—after the Irish-born star stated, outside of court, that she was in Europe in November 1953.

The court is moving to the plush Hollywood theater, famed for the stars' footprints in the forecourt, so jurors can take a look at the seats in question.

Confidential, its sister magazine Whisper and the magazines' alleged Hollywood representatives, Fred and Marjorie Meade, were charged with criminal libel and conspiracy to print lewd and obscene matter on the basis of articles including the one on Miss O'Hara.

Assessment Planning in Discussion Tonight

BIRMINGHAM — Standardization of pavement assessment rates will be one of the principal subjects for discussion at tonight's commission meeting.

City engineers, during the past several weeks, have reviewed old systems and made an attempt to project them into future street construction.

In the past there has been no standard by which assessment rates could be levied. It was also pointed out that the shares paid by the city and by the property owners were not consistent.

This very fact has caused confusion and hard feelings on the part of those property owners who learned their assessments were higher than those of other persons living on comparable streets.

G. R. Serenbetz, city engineer, has drawn up a plan which, based on street widths, will allow a more consistent assessment to all.

His plan includes incidents such as the East Maple widening, where part of the construction is replacement and part is new.

It will also consider streets which will be entirely new.

Commissioners working on a rough draft of the plan for the East Maple project received favorable comment from property owners involved.

City officials themselves expressed the opinion that there has long been a need of a definite system of special assessment districts in this field.

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley this morning asked parents to cooperate by taking the initiative in forwarding protection for their children.

"With thousands of youngsters returning to school," Moxley said, "the police department is asking parents to instruct their children to accept no rides, no candy, no toys and to refuse to walk with strangers.

"We do not want to frighten the children, but we do feel that this should be instilled in their minds. It is the only way in which we can protect these youngsters from the sex criminal."

Moxley also asked that residents report immediately any suspicious persons seen loitering near school areas or along heavily traveled school routes.

Crash Follows Speedy Chase

Stolen Car Driven by Detroit Youths Rams 2 Autos in County

Two Detroit juveniles, 15 and 16, driving a stolen car, led state troopers from the Romeo Post on a wild 100-mile-an-hour chase before strking two other cars last night.

The unnamed youths ended their wild escapade when their car collided with two cars just north of 16-Mile road on Rochester road, and then hit a tree. Four persons were injured, none seriously, said troopers.

The chase began when Troopers Paul Earling and James Malczewski saw the stolen car run a light at Rochester and Auburn Rd. in Avon Township. They chased the boys neary five miles at speeds of from 90 to 100 miles an hour, they reported.

Just north of 16-Mile road, the stolen car smashed into the rear of a car driven by Charles Autry, 19, of 505 E. Harry St., Hazel Park. The boys' car bounced from Auty's car, sideswiped one driven by Louis Mitchelfield of 200 Charles St., Rochester, and then hit a tree, said State Police.

Both youths were injured, as were Shirley Keidel, 18, of 3065 Talbot St., Troy, and Pvt. Brooks Henderson of Peru, Ind., who were both in the Autry car. All were treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for cuts and bruises, and released.

The youths have been turned over to Detroit Police. The car belonged to Christel Lindstrom of Detroit, who reported the theft about 10 p.m. State troopers said the car was a total wreck.

Reds May Not Be Ahead on ICBM Struggle

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Six weeks of probing around this country has not been effectively outdistanced by the Russians in the race for the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile.

In an effort to learn just how we stand in missile warfare a team of reporters has assembled all basic information which can be cleared for publication by Defense Department sources.

It is reassuring — if you can be reassured to believe that your side is just as well equipped to wipe out the other fellow as he is to wipe out us.

It reveals, however, certain conflicts of authority and uncertainty in direction which must constitute the No. 1 problem of the incoming Secretary of Defense, Neil McElroy. The Russian announcement last week that they had already tested an intercontinental ballistic missile is certainly not going to lower this priority.

On the basis of what has been learned — and one must remember that this is the most heavily-guarded of military projects—this reporter is convinced that:

It will take the Russians years to acquire missiles they can really use — not merely test one somewhere in the wilds of Siberia.

Our own tests may be just about as impressive. It is likely that our own test firings have extended 2,000 — 3,500 miles. By the same token the Russian "propaganda rocket" of last week may have carried no farther.

RED PROGRESS

Despite the inter-service hassling over who's to build which rocket, our scientists and soldiers have made impressive progress toward the so-called "ultimate weapon." Already it has been necessary to extend the test range from Florida far down over the equator into the South Atlantic.

★ ★ ★

The possibility of creating a system to knock down enemy missiles before they could reach our cities is not — as was believed until recently — impossible. It is now believed possible to build missile killers, keyed to an impenetrable radar warning barrier.

We are therefore making substantial progress toward . . . Getting our own rocket capable of destroying Moscow.

★ ★ ★

. . . And toward a system of defense against whatever it is that Russia has uncorked behind its propaganda smokescreen.

To begin this discussion of tomorrow's galaxy of unmanned aerial weapons, it is first necessary to examine the basic facts of rocketry.

ULTIMATE WEAPON

The Intercontinental Ballistic Missile, the 5,000 mile rocket with thermonuclear warhead, has often been called the "ultimate weapon." It probably will be — until an anti-missile missile shoots it down.

Then will come the counter to the anti-missile missile, and then the defense against that, in the unending see-saw between offense and defense that has prevailed throughout th history of warfare.

The ICBM would deliver a hydrogen bomb equivalent to millions of tons of TNT. It would be able to raze cities like Washington, London and Paris — or Moscow and Peiping. A direct hit wouldn't be necessary.

★ ★ ★

It will travel about four miles a second, fast enough to leave New York and arrive over San Francisco about 12 minutes later. Most of its flight path will be literally "out of this world," far above the earth's atmosphere. It requires no flight crew. Piloting is performed on the ground before launching. It is immune to conventional counter-measures.

These attributes make it an almost-perfect weapon for an aggressor to launch a sneak attack like Pearl Harbor — only multiplied by a factor of thousands or millions.

Development of the ICBM has top priority throughout the U.S. defense establishment, Secretary McElroy will boss. It had equal priority in the Soviet Union.

Detailed information on U. S. and U.S.S.R. progress toward the ICBM is lacking, as would be expected with such "Top Secret" programs. Until last week U. S. authorities had been saying that Soviet attainment of an ICBM by 1960 should not be much more difficult for the Reds than their formidable feat of firing a hydrogen bomb by 1953, less than four years after their first atomic bomb. Russian science and technology are first-rate and would seem to be improving.

★ ★ ★

On the U.S. side, the Air Force is responsible for developing and operating the ICBM. It has taken a dual approach to solving the problem, and is developing both the Atlas and Titan missiles.

NATIONAL EFFORT

The new Secretary of Defense will find that attaining an ICBM "operational capability" will require a national effort equivalent or superior to that expended in achieving the first atomic bomb — on the order of building another Panama Canal. By "operational capability" the Air Force means full production and ability to use — not merely testing of prototypes.

The required effort will be lessened by advances already made toward the Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile (1,500 miles range), many of which can be used in the ICBM.

The Air Force is developing its IRBM and ICBM simultaneously. But Dr. Wernher von Braun, V-2 rocket developer and now Director of Development Operations at the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, Huntsville, Ala., believes it would be simpler to build the IRBM first and then move up to the more difficult ICBM.

★ ★ ★

The Army also feels that continuing high priority must be given to assuring the U. S. an early operational capability in intermediate missiles. The Army points out that even the huge IRBM can be transported by air, along with its servicing equipment. IRBMs could thus be airlifted to the forward bases we have constructed around the periphery of the Soviet Union and launched from there to reach the Soviet heartland.

NEXT: The missile killer.

U. S. Missile Status

Where do we stand in the production of a missile arsenal? Here's a quick look at our status.

IN OPERATION:

Surface-to-surface missiles and their range: The Matado, and The Regulus—guided, 600 miles. The Corporal—guided, 75 miles.

Surface-to-air missiles and range: The Nike—guided, 25 miles: The Terrier—guided, 10 miles.

Air-to-surface: The Petrel—guided.

Air-to-air: The Falcon and The Sparrow—both guided; The Ding-Dong and The Sidewinder—both guided.

IN PRODUCTION:

Surface-to-surface: The Snark—guided, 5,000 miles; The Redstone — ballistic, 200 miles; The Sergeant—guided, 200 miles; The Little John—ballistic, 20 miles.

Surface-to-air (all guided): The Talos—100 miles; The Homarc—200 miles; The Nike-Hercules — 50 miles; The Hawk—10 miles.

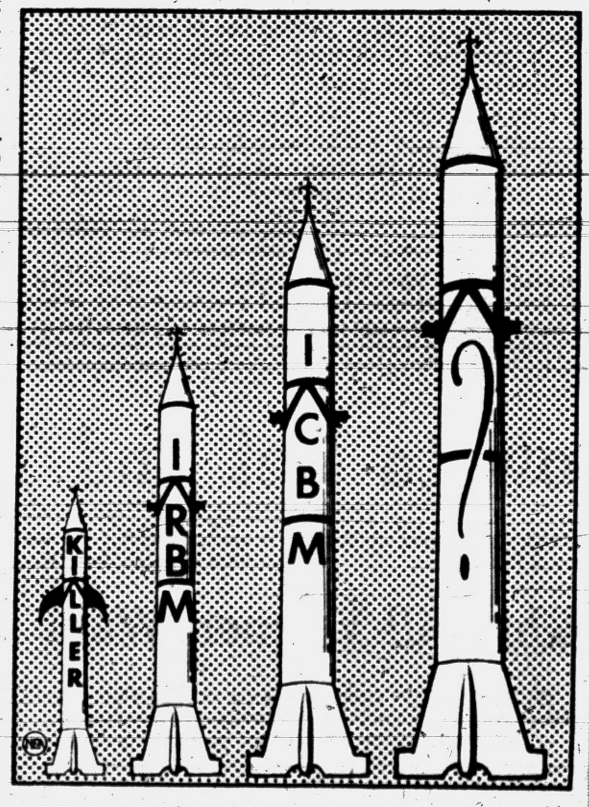

Air-to-surface: The Rascal—guided, 100 miles.

UNDERGOING TESTS:

Surface-to-surface (all ballistic): The Atlas and The Titan—5,000 miles; The Jupiter and The Thor—1,500 miles.

Air-to-surface: The Bullpup—guided.

Air-to-air: New models of the guided Falcon and Sparrow.

Cardinal Spellman Friend to Great, Humble

(This is the second of five articles in which a famed writer describes the full, often dramatic life of Francis Cardinal Spellman, who will observe the 25th anniversary of his consecration as a bishop on Sept. 8.)

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)—When Francis Cardinal Spellman was finished with the fantastic and richly traditional ritual of the 1946 Vatican consistory which made him a prince of the Roman Catholic Church, he received a phone call from his native Whitman, Mass. It was his father, a retired grocer.

"Congratulations, Frank," the father said.

"Thanks," said the son who had just climaxed a spectacular hierocratical rise. "See you Tuesday, dad."

"Good-bye," the father said.

There was great love between these two, but William Spellman was never one to attempt to give his son an inflated opinion of himself.

His Eminence likes to tell the story about the time, as a so-so scholar in the public school system of Whitman, his father took him aside and told him it might be wise to associate with boys smarter than himself. "That should not be difficult," the father added.

Next Saturday at the Yankee Stadium tens of thousands will gather for the 25th anniversary of Spellman's elevation to bishop. In attendance will be Cardinals McIntyre of Los Angeles, Stritch of Chicago, Mooney of Detroit and McGuigan of Toronto.

In addition there will be 94 bishops, the largest concentration of them in the history of an archdiocese formed in 1808. "There will be in the procession before the Mass nearly 2,500 seminarians, religious and diocesan priests and monsignori.

MAN OF THE PEOPLE

But the chances are that about 10 p.m., the man of God who was the star of this glittering religious spectacular may be seen walking past the darkened shops and buildings of Madison Avenue, dressed in a clerical business suit, chatting with the cop on the beat.

Spellman can make the change from high priest of a 2,000-year-old religion to everyday American faster than anyone in a similar position because he sees no contradiction in the roles. Nor can others who have come in contact with the remarkably energetic p r i e s t-patriot-administrator-poet-statesman.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, taking recognition of Spellman's ascension to cardinal, called him, "a man of great capacity and multiple achievements, a warm and lovable human being, endowed with a rich sense of humor and an infinite capacity for friendship. Here we have that rare combination of a scholar who is also an outstanding administrator; a man of piety and devotion who is also a statesman and diplomat."

There have been a host of variations of that theme. The flights of praise still can make him turn the color of his ceremonial cardinal's hat.

It is as if he carries at all times in the fold of his chasuble a copy of the message his saintly mother sent him when he was consecrated bishop a quarter of a century ago by Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli:

"God bless and guide my boy," it read. "Keep him good and humble."

Spellman was one of 32 members of the hierarchy of the church to receive the cardinal's red hat at the 1946 consistory. It was an historic church event. The appointments of Pius XII, who springs from an ancient aristocratic Italian family, for the first time in centuries placed Italian cardinals in a minority.

The grocer's son from New England, who might have remained a baseball-minded parish priest around Boston if fate and personal fitness and friends in the vatican had not ruled otherwise, was upped at the same time as Cardinals Mooney, Stritch and John Glennon of St. Louis. Glennon, 83, died on the way back to his see.

THERE WAS DIFFERENCE

Spellman was no more nor less than the other cardinals of the sacred college. Yet there was a degree of difference to his elevation on Feb. 21, 1946.

★ ★ ★

James A. Farley was in the group of distinguished Americans who accompanied Spellman to Rome by TWA Constellation "Star of Rome." The group occupied a suite of 20 rooms at Rome's famed Grand Hotel. There was a room for the cardinal-delegate's niece, Mary Pegnan, trim in her Wave uniform. There was with him, too, his friend Bishop Thomas Tien of Tsingtao, China, who was to become the first Chinese to wear a cardinal's hat.

The Holy Father, a close friend since 1928, sent three young nephew-princes of the Pacelli family to greet Spellman as his plane landed. After the solemn ceremony itself Pius XII gave Spellman his own broad-brimmed hat in symbolizing the friendship and respect he holds for the American.

It was at the 1946 consistory that the church formally identified atheistic communism as its foremost enemy and the enemy of human life everywhere.

FOUGHT COMMUNISM

The Pope's world-wide broadcast spelled it out plainly enough—in terms of condemning "worship of the state"—but not nearly as plainly as Spellman was to do subsequently. The new American cardinal brought it down to basic English, and since has become one of the world's more articulate crusaders against the evil.

It is not the monopoly of the Roman Catholic Church, this crusade, he always insists. To the Catholic Daughters of America, at Asheville, N. C., he said, "America might face Communist conquest and annihilation if we fail to build and maintain a concerted, united home front against the foul practices of active Communists, Communist sympathizers and apathetic, disloyal Americans."

It was possible, he declared, that "we Americans might ourselves be deprived of our God-given freedoms by some of the very peoples we have received, sheltered and succored within our midst. These are not times for timid men.

★ ★ ★

"It matters not where we live, or what position in life we hold, whether we be rich or poor, Negro or white, Protestant, Jew or Catholic, by our prayers and our works we must stand, strong and united, and live faithful to God, loyal to our country and devoted to our fellowmen."

Junior Editors Quiz on INDIAN FOLKLORE

QUESTION: What do Indians carry in their medicine bags?

ANSWER: Many North American Indians still follow the old tribal custom of carrying a medicine bag to ward off evil spirits that might bring illness or bad luck.

These brightly-painted bags, usually made of animal skin, contain herbs, drugs, small statues carved of wood or bone and charms such as an animal tooth or claw.

Such things are believed by the Indians to be the temporary homes of a supernatural spirit or power which is capable of protecting the bearer against harm.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Many Indian medicine bags are exhibited in museums. Next time you visit one, look at these bags.

Ex-Dictator Hideout Mystery in Colombia

MADRID (AP)—The whereabouts of the deposed dictator of Colombia, Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, was a mystery today. The Spanish National Security Office said it had no information to indicate he had left Spanish territory.

Reports were current in Colombia that Rojas, who fled to Spain after he was ousted from power last May, had arrived in the Dominican Republic and planned to return home. These reports could not be confirmed.

★ ★ ★

Rojas could not be located in Madrid. A friend said he was somewhere in Spain.

The ruling military junta announced in Bogota that it would not tolerate Rojas' return. Leaders of the Liberal and Conservative parties and of the business community backed up the junta.

Freed in Case Like Girard's

Marine Won Acquittal From Court-Martial; Woman Didn't Die

TOKYO (AP)—The U. S. Navy said today a Marine was acquitted by a court-martial last October in a shooting similar to the controversial Girard case. That time, however, the Japanese woman didn't die.

A Japanese woman scrap collector was struck by an empty shell casing fired by the Marine from a rifle grenade launcher Sept. 7. The woman, Mrs. Kinue Negami, 31, recovered.

Army Specialist 3.C. William Girard, is accused of killing a Japanese woman scrap collector, Mrs. Naka Sakai, with a shell casing fired in the same manner.

A spokesman at Navy headquarters in Yokosuka identified the Marine as Pfc. Telesfor J. Trejeque of the 3rd Marine Regiment. The Marine was returned to the United States Jan. 2 and the Navy spokesman here said his U. S. address was not known.

The spokesman said Trujeque was on duty at the time and that the shooting occurred in an area where Trujeque's regiment was staging maneuvers. Notice had been given that the area was closed to outsiders, he added.

Mrs. Negami in February submitted a claim for $84.44 for medical expenses and disability and indicated that additional claims would be made later. The claim was forwarded with a Navy recommendation that it be paid. It now is being held up pending receipt of a final claim figure, the Navy said.

The spokesman added that he had no recollection that Japanese authorities ever asked jurisdiction in the Trujeque case. A Japanese Justice Ministry spokesman said there was no record of a jurisdiction request.

The October court-martial acquitted Trujeque of a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

In the Girard case, Japan demanded and finally got jurisdiction over the American soldier. The second session of his manslaughter trial in a Japanese court is scheduled to be held Friday.

Bob Considine Says:

Vacation Highlights Reveal Talents, Humor

ALLENHURST, N.J. (INS)—The children of the village stay in the green water a bit longer. They linger along the leafy streets. Old feuds dating back as far as July are forgotten. Here and there on the lawns you'll see a golden leaf. Soon they'll be collected in little piles and their unfiltered smoke will hang sweetly over the little town.

The talk on the porches, mainly, is about which day the blow will fall. "We don't go back to school until the fourteenth," a little girl keeps saying. "The kids at St. Rose go back Tuesday. There's a school in New York where they don't go back until the last day of September. I wish I went there."

★ ★ ★

They head back toward school bronzed and in one piece. It wasn't always thus. One year, about now, we had to sweat out a badly gashed leg.

The boy, playing follow-the-leader, had jumped out of a first floor window and landed on the spike of a broken tree, concealed in ragged weeds.

"It's like the shrapnel wounds I used to work on around the Eighth Air Force," Dr. Winder mused as he prepared for the operation that followed.

Forty minutes later the kid was still in the operating room and my wife and I sat in the waiting room at a fine hospital named Fitkin. We were saying our Rosary, silently. A lady, who seemed to come out of the operating room far down the polished hall, walked the length of the shiny, clacking straightaway, her eyes remorselessly fixed on us.

★ ★ ★

She came into the room, stared at us and said, "I understand there's a newspaperman here."

Our hearts stopped, for fear of what awful tidings she'd now bring.

"I am," I said.

And she said, "Fine. I'll buy one."

You never know.

So, for us, it was an easy summer, but the children are a little wiser and a little closer to the world and its heartbreak. Our village lost a wonderful child this year, a great little girl named Mary Ellen Novak. She was one of the dearest, liveliest little girls we've ever known, and as fine an all-around athlete as one could wish to see. She died of myasthenia gravis, something the borough had never heard of.

Now they know, and they know about the Myasthenia Gravis Foundation, Inc., of 2 East 103rd St., N.Y., because of Mary Ellen, whose funeral they solemnly attended at old St. Mary's.

★ ★ ★

One of our kids got interested in golf this year and took lessons from a fine pro named Jim Martucci at the Deal golf club. It was not until late in the year that we learned why. He likes to drive golf carts. It reminded us of the guy who used to order 15 or 20 martinis before dinner each night, just because he liked olives.

ON GOLF PROS

Another child who has a great contempt for golf, but plays it occasionally under duress, said that hereafter he wasn't going to play it until he learned how. "Every good golfer had instruction from a professional," our friend Chris Holmes, a fine golfer, told him. The boy thought that over for a time and then asked, "How about the first pro?"

Classiest performance of the summer, among the children, was turned in by Seton Malone, a strikingly beautiful child from whose face the map of Ireland was drawn. At the "Antics," our annual show, she did an intricate tap dance. Called to the mike by mistress of ceremonies Kay Stafford, to take a bow, Seton first bowed and then whispered, "They played the wrong side of the record." She had rehearsed the other side for weeks, but went ahead anyway.

Highwater mark in honesty, I like to think, was set by a child named Debbie. She finished fifth in the across-the-pool race over Labor Day.

"That wasn't too bad," she said later, in reporting the disaster. "There were about 12 girls in the race."

Hours later she returned and shook her slumbering father. He awoke with a shudder, spilling his drink. She looked at him with her clear blue eyes and said, "There were only five girls, really."

It's time we put our foot down!

40,000 Americans died in traffic accidents last year. Ugly headlines tell the story—carelessness, negligence, evasion of laws. Help stop this senseless killing. Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. It's up to you!

BACK THE ATTACK ON TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Here's how you can help:

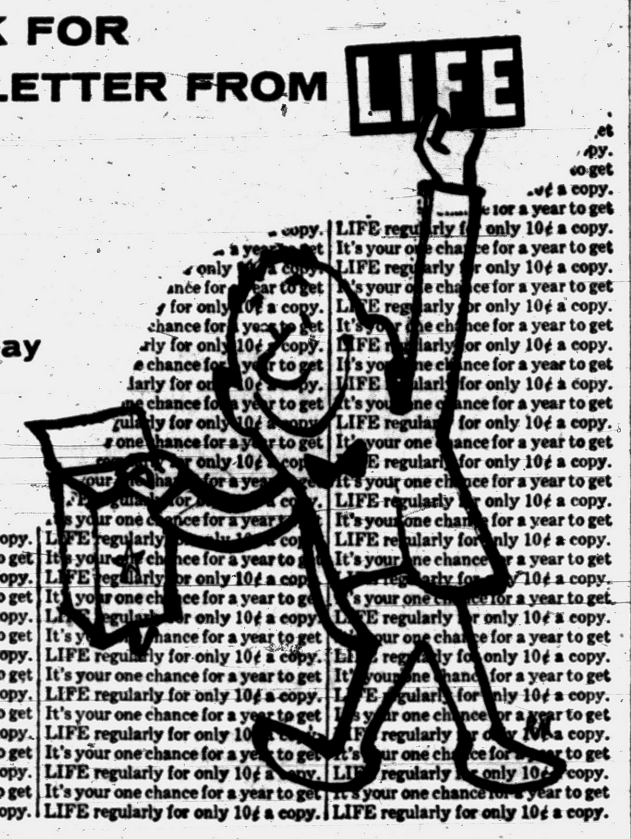

1. Drive safely, courteously yourself. Observe speed limits, warning signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!
2. Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. They work for you, not against you. Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

Germany Now Has Anti-Cartel Laws

After a bitter four year fight, the West German parliament has approved drastic anti-trust legislation.

Before and after World War I, Germany was the classic cartel land and by 1925 there were 2,000 such groups. They ruled a modern feudal empire based on industrial power and dictated to kaisers and chancellors, says the Milwaukee Journal.

★ ★ ★

These groups helped Hitler in his rise to power and he then took over the system and built up his war machinery to devastate Europe. Some of these same industrialists are in the forefront of the present fight in Washington for the return of German war assets.

After World War II the Allies broke up the largest of the economic empires and imposed decentralization decrees in West Germany. There is genuine fear, however, that the traditional economic power pattern will appear again.

★ ★ ★

Chancellor ADENAUER and Dr. LUDWIG ERHARD, minister of economics, are credited with this anti-monopoly legislation. They made the issue a major one and it was fought all the way through by an almost solid front of German industrialists.

For five years Dr. Erhard has been warning against cartels while building up a prosperous economy. He says that cartels with their production limitations, marketing agreements and price controls seriously handicap a country's economy.

Another encouraging move to enforcement of the cartel law is the fact that the European Coal and Steel Community has broken up a number of international cartels which interfered with its operations.

So long as the Christian Democratic Party is in power, Chancellor ADENAUER and Dr. ERHARD will see that the law is enforced. It is to be hoped, therefore, that their party will be returned to power in the September election.

Eisenhower Gets Bill to Protect FBI Files

Congress has passed and sent to the White House a compromise bill to protect FBI files from fishing expeditions by defense lawyers and their clients.

This legislation is necessary due to the many different interpretations of the Supreme Court's decision in the Jencks Case. Lower courts variously interpreted the opinion as meaning the handling of full investigations reports to defense counsel, sometimes in advance of trial.

★ ★ ★

The bill makes it clear that the public intends FBI files to be protected and supports the Supreme Court's opinion that a person facing criminal prosecution has the right to inspect Government files which touch on a witness' testimony against him. It also proposes that requested materials be inspected by a Federal Judge and that he would decide which testimony is pertinent and may be inspected by the defense.

★ ★ ★

In other words, the measure is intended to give defense counsel access to all statements that have anything to do with activities concerning which the witness has testified. Government records would not be available in advance of the testimony of an adverse witness.

The compromise bill is designed to safeguard Government files and to protect the rights of accused persons. As it is along the lines suggested by the Administration, the President is expected to sign the measure without delay.

WONDER what a non-cusser says when he pulls down a window shade and just as he turns his back the darned thing zips up and scares him half out of his wits.

A CRIMINOLOGIST says one reason there's more crime these days is that there are more people. This is still another argument against people.

David Lawrence Says:

Republican Voters Suddenly 'Dead'

WASHINGTON — Why did more Republicans than Democrats stay home on election day in Wisconsin a week ago?

This unanswered question is bothering the politicians of both parties, but they don't admit it in public. They could shape their strategy if they knew the answer. Instead, the easy, glossed-over explanations are publicized.

LAWRENCE

One side sees a repudiation of Eisenhower policies, and the other side merely concedes that a serious division in its ranks prevails.

There is certainly something about the actual figures which has not as yet been satisfactorily explained.

Thus, ten months ago when Senator Wiley, Republican, was re-elected, he got 954,844 votes, while his Democratic opponent polled 586,768.

This time, in an August election — obviously off-season — the Democrats polled only 435,085. This was a drop-off of 151,683 from their own vote ten months ago. Admittedly not as many people go to the polls in August and in an off-year election as when there's a Presidential contest.

A loss of 25.8 per cent, however, might be considered normal as a drop-off. Obviously habits in a summer season aren't much different for Democrats and Republicans.

But if the Republicans had suffered only a 25.8 per cent drop-off, they would, of course, have won the election hands down. They could have even had a drop-off of 50 per cent and still have won with a 42,000 majority.

67.2 PER CENT DROP-OFF

What actually happened, however, was a drop-off of 67.2 per cent from the Republican vote for senator in 1956. Only 313,631 Republicans voted in last week's election out of the 954,844 who voted ten months ago to elect a Republican senator.

If the Democrats too had suffered a 67.2 drop-off, they would have been defeated.

To say that a victory by the Democrats this time in polling 435,085—which is much less than their normal vote—as against 313,631 Republicans—which is far below their normal vote—is a "national trend" is to predict disaster for the Republican Party as a whole.

The conclusion is inescapable that there were national questions which affected the attitude of those who voted in both parties. But there was something else that was not expressed at the polls. It was expressed by those who stayed at home.

DIDN'T CARE ENOUGH

What was their protest? Some editors in Wisconsin think it was the feeling of "a plague on both your houses." Some of the stay-at-home Republicans undoubtedly didn't care enough to vote for either of the so-called "liberals" —the Democrat or the Republican.

Some of the McCarthy followers evidently didn't think there was much point in bothering to go to the polls merely to vote for the third candidate, a relatively unknown figure who announced himself as a McCarthy supporter.

Some Republicans probably didn't think it made any difference if a Democrat were elected because the Democrats now control the Senate anyhow and, besides, another election for the same seat is due in November 1958.

There have been advanced the usual reasons for the protest of the voters—economic questions and resentments inside the party. There is no evidence, however, that Republicans in any large number actually voted Democratic. No prominent leaders announced beforehand any switch in allegiance.

The facts are that 67.2 per cent of the Republican vote of November 1956 for senator—or about 641,000—didn't even show up at the polls at all this time. To say that the "Old Guard" in the Republican Party is "dead" and that "modern Republicanism" is in control may be true in the sense that the "Old Guard" or conservative Republicans are dead set against going to the polls.

Until some attention is paid to the conservative voters other than to denounce them as old-fashioned and obsolete just because they want a balanced budget and less paternalism in government, there isn't going to be a resurrection of many of these "dead" votes.

Looking Back

15 Years Ago

HEAVY BATTLE rages in southern Egypt.

36 FEDERAL employes fired for disloyalty.

20 Years Ago

TALLULAH BANKHEAD marries John Emery.

JAPS BEGIN attack against all China.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Ice-Cold and Ice Water Are Not the Same at All

There's a difference between "ice-cold" and "ice water" — if it's ice-cold it is freezing, whereas "ice water" is merely water cooled by ice — cooled until the ice is melted and the water begins to get warm.

DR. BRADY

If a normal, resting woman drinks a glass of ice water (temperature 50 degrees), the temperature within her stomach becomes approximately normal (98.6 degrees) in 20 minutes . . . . If one drinks more than a single glass of ice water, it will be of course take longer for the stomach to regulate the temperature, hence there will be a corresponding delay in digestion.

★ ★ ★

So said Prof. Philip B. Hawk in his book What We Eat and What Happens to it (Harper & Bros., probably out of print now but available in the public library). Dr. Hawk, who tested everything on volunteer subjects, said that the popular belief that ice water remains in the stomach for a considerable time, chilling the organ and delaying the digestion to a pronounced degree, has no basis in fact.

★ ★ ★

This applies to iced tea, iced coffee, iced lemonade or whatever other ice cold beverage you may prefer. It applies even to "pop", although indulging in pop except on rare occasions — is unhealthful, in my judgment.

As for tea, coffee, chocolate, cocoa and the carbonated drinks, they are all healthful for adults, if used in moderation, but in my opinion harmful to children under sixteen years of age. Healthful beverages for growing children are milk, lemonade, orangeade and other fruit juice or vegetable juice drinks, and on rare occasions ice cream soda or double chocolate malted.

For me? When I'm hot and thirsty, give me plain ice water and plenty of it. And whatever mirthful thoughts I may have, I promise I won't raise an eyebrow if you call for luke warm cambric tea. De gustibus non est disputandum.

Everyone is in favor of babies, but it's questionable taste when an expectant mother continues with her job several months beyond the time she should. Good taste always prevails in everything we do. As the years pass, we are growing more and more lax in this connection. Can't we check the pendulum here or even start it swinging slightly in the other direction? The difference between how and forty years ago is startling.

New Molotov Job Means Demotion for Lesser Red

By JOHN F. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

He was the ambassador to Outer Mongolia in Ulan Bator, some 3,000 miles from the Moscow Foreign Ministry. He was at the bottom of the ladder in the Soviet diplomatic service. But at least he must have felt that he was on the way up.

Then down the ladder, stepping on him, came Vyascheslav Molotov, former Premier, former foreign minister, former close Stalin associate, former aide to Lenin, father of the Bolshevik revolution.

Hence Pisarev is demoted in the side results of Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev's grim humor. He stays on in Ulan Bator as counselor-minister. It will be his job to introduce Molotov — once the shining star of the Kremlin diplomatic service — to the sheepherders and limited Communist aristocracy.

Also, it may be his job to keep an eye on Molotov, although it is unlikely that the 67-year-old veteran Red could escape even if he chose to do so.

Outer Mongolia is about as far from Moscow as an ambassador can serve and still be kept under easy surveillance.

It's a buffer state created by the Kremlin between Soviet Union and China. It has a population of a million nomadic Mongolians whose sheep, yaks, camels and ponies outnumber them about 27 to 1.

The capital of Ulan Bator has about 120,000 population and contains some modern, up-to-date buildings erected in Communist heavy style. There is a theater, but Molotov will miss the famous Bolshoi Theater and other amusement places in Moscow.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Menopause Doesn't Alter Appeal

Beth represents the usual upset state that held true of women in past generations. For Beth is a slave to a false sex notion. It is threatening to wreck her marriage and drive her to a sanitarium. So study this case with double care and then send for the medical booklet named below, which is a non-profit service of this fine newspaper.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-380: Beth G., aged 43, is a very attractive wife.

"But I am ready for a nervous collapse," she protested miserably, and then began to cry.

★ ★ ★

"I have such moody spells much of the time. Then I criticize my husband and grow jealous.

"It tortures me to think he may be having an affair with somebody else. So I accuse him and we quarrel.

"Then I cry half the night. He is getting tired of me, I know, and I can hardly blame him. But I don't know what is wrong. Dr. Crane, am I losing my mind or something?"

MENOPAUSAL COMPLEXES

Beth knows very well what is wrong with her, and so do most of you patients who consult us psychiatrists.

But you beat around the bush and actually try to avoid uncovering the essential facts which are the core of your dilemma.

★ ★ ★

For you fear to face the plain facts. You haven't the nerve to meet your bugaboo.

That's why you skirt all around it and profess audibly that you don't know.

But with a little experienced probing, I got Beth to face her dreaded monster.

"I'm in the menopause," she wailed, "so I know my husband cannot have any physical affection for me henceforth.

"He is kind to me but that is just because he is a gentleman and wants to make it easier for my peace of mind."

FALSE NOTIONS

In medicine and psychology, we doctors find that false notions can cause just as much pain and unhappiness as if the victims had cancer and other real ailments.

That's especially true regarding the menopause. Since the time of Eve, women of all races have mistakenly believed that the womb was a barometer of feminine physical charm.

★ ★ ★

It isn't. The womb is comparatively excess baggage as regards a wife's ability to function as a thrilling and thrillable mate.

But most women have failed to realize that simple fact. For the womb begins to function in the middle teens and ends about the age of 45, which are the years when a woman is most beautiful.

So women of the past imagined the womb was thus a barometer of their charm to the opposite sex.

"Now I'm nothing but a nothing —and not a thing at all!" was the typical attitude of women past 45.

TRUTH MAKES YOU HAPPY

So demolish this age-old bugaboo of the female sex by realizing the following medical facts:

(1) The womb is relatively inert (insensitive).

★ ★ ★

(2) It is not primarily a wifely organ but a maternal structure. Thus, it can surgically be removed (hysterectomy) during the teens or later and your husband will not know the difference as regards your marital function.

(3) Erotic excitement is caused by tactual stimulation of nerve ending on the surface and not by stimulation of the womb.

This sensitivity to tactile stimulation persists as long as you live. It is not related to your age. I've had patients past 90 who still reacted with apparently as much erotic excitement as those of 25 or 45.

So send for the booklet "Menopausal Complexes," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

It will snap you out of the menopausal doldrums in 30 minutes.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Labor to Fight Corruption, Restriction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two AFL-CIO leaders, renewing pledges to clear their unions of corruption, say they will fight any effort to punish the entire labor movement through restrictive new laws.

That determination was expressed in broadcast Labor Day speeches yesterday by AFL-CIO President George Meany and by Al Hayes, president of the Machinists Union and chairman of the AFL-CIO's Ethical Practices Committee.

And in a radio interview, Rep. McCormack (D-Mass), his party's House floor leader, said he favors legislation to protect welfare trust funds "but I will not favor legislation that will be punitive in nature and repressive against labor."

All referred to testimony before a special Senate committee investigating improper labor management practices. That group has charged several union officials with diverting union funds to their own uses and with other malpractices.

★ ★ ★

Meany promised full AFL-CIO cooperation in exposure of any corruption.

"We don't, of course, have police powers," he said. "We cannot subpoena witnesses or bank records. But we can and we will expel from our ranks organizations that are found by public investigatory bodies to be substantially influenced in the conduct of their affairs by corrupt elements or individuals. . . .

"But let me make it crystal clear," he added, "that the AFL-CIO will fight to the last ditch against any attempt by enemies of labor in Congress to capitalize on the investigation for the purpose of fastening further restrictive legislation upon the entire trade union movement."

★ ★ ★

Hayes likewise promised cooperation, saying that although there is some graft and corruption in the labor movement just as in business and industry, the overwhelming majority of officers and members is honest and responsible.

"Not only will we rid ourselves of corruption," Hayes said, "but we will also defeat those who are attempting to use corruption as a club to beat us to death."

McCormack, interviewed on the CBS Capitol Cloakroom program, predicted the next session of Congress will change the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Soviets Oppose Adenauer Rule

Aid Underground Plans of German Communists to Defeat Chancellor

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—The Soviet Union and Germany's Communists are waging a big underground campaign to defeat Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in West Germany's Sept. 15 election.

★ ★ ★

From a special headquarters in Soviet-ruled East Berlin, Red agents, propaganda and funds are pouring across the frontier into West Germany. Former functionaries of the banned Communist party in West Germany are working with the East German agitators.

★ ★ ★

Officials of the German FBI here give this account:

Nikita Khrushchev in his visit to East Germany called on West German voters to oust Adenauer.

The Central Committee of the East German Communist party was informed that the Reds should support all forces opposing Adenauer's bid for a third term.

Masses of propaganda portraying the 81-year-old Chancellor as a warmonger, a new Hitler and a traitor to the German people are being smuggled across the long, loosely guarded Iron Curtain.

★ ★ ★

Fifteen million handbills are being distributed in big cities by West German Communists. They receive 60-199 marks ($14.30 to $24) a month for their work.

These fanatic Reds and members of the outlawed Communist youth organization are also writing letters to 50,000 families in an effort to stir up unrest.

★ ★ ★

Well-trained East German agents are moving into the country to herd West German Reds to the polls on election day. Fourteen were grabbed in one day but many others get through.

Security for You

Age Accurately Revealed by Your Skin

(Ray Henry has asked a group of specialists of the Public Health Service, the government's chief health agency, to tell some of the things being done to keep people healthy and happy when they get old. This is the seventh of a series.)

DR. EUGENE J. VAN SCOTT
Skin Service,
National Cancer Institute

You can probably find out a horse's age by counting his teeth or figure a tree's age by counting the rings in a cross-section of its trunk. And, medical experience has shown that your age is accurately revealed by your skin.

A person's skin changes as he grows older. His skin becomes wrinkled and dry, his hair turns gray, and some men become bald. These are all part of the natural processes that occur with increasing age.

Along with this general aging process, other changes may take place. Small growths or lesions frequently appear on the skin. Research studies on skin lesions have shown that most often these changes are benign, entirely harmless, and definitely not precancerous.

Among the more frequently occurring benign lesions is a soft, colorless, wart-like growth attached to the skin by a thin stalk. These "skin tags" generally appear around the neck and occur particularly in women after middle age.

Another harmless type occurs in both men and women with equal frequency after middle age. Known as "seborrheic warts," these growths are generally confined to the trunk and are raised brown areas varying in size from a pinhead to one-half inch or more in diameter. They appear and feel like brownish candle wax.

Then there is a warty growth that is precancerous. It begins as a dry, scaly patch that may bleed easily and appears particularly after years of prolonged exposure to sunlight and weather.

★ ★ ★

Usually the lesions are found on the face and back of the hands in people with light complexions and blond or red hair, who live in very sunny regions as Southwestern United States.

The people most frequently affected are farmers, sailors, letter carriers and others whose work keeps them out-of-doors. The growths are called "senile kerastoses" and the chances are that, if left untreated, one out of six of the lesions will over a period of years become a skin cancer.

What do these classifications of different types of skin growths mean to you in terms of your aging skin?

They give you reassurance that very few growths on the skin become cancerous.

★ ★ ★

But, if a growth turns out to be skin cancer, medical research studies have shown that this type of cancer is almost 100 per cent curable if caught early and that it is detectable in its earliest stages by a physician in an ordinary office examination. So, it is important to get your doctor's opinion as soon as any unusual condition develops in your skin.

Claim 51-Foot Tree Largest Magnolia

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP) — The United States' largest magnolia tree stands beside a marsh off the Escatawpa River just north of Pascagoula.

Authority for the claim is the American Forestry Assn.

The tree is 51 feet tall, has a crown spread of more than 90 feet and the trunk is 12½ feet around at its largest point. Paul M. Myers, owner of the tree, counted 9,000 blossoms on it one year.

No one knows exactly how old it is but one 90-year-old Pascagoula resident remembers the tree "being just about like it is now" when she was a little girl.

Aged Residents Asked Not to Rest on Tracks

COLUMBUS, O. (INS) — Aged residents of the Franklin County Home, in Columbus, who have been "resting on the railroad, just to pass the time away," have been cautioned by superintendent Ivan Bayles to find other places for their relaxation.

Two of Bayles' charges, aged 65, got in the way of a freight train Friday, as they were taking their customary stroll on the tracks of a nearby railroad. They stopped a moment to rest and talk. Fortunately, the engineer saw them, blew the whistle and brought the engine to a screeching stop.

Information that both men were intoxicated brought a denial from county commissioners, who said that although the two men had bottles of wine with them, they had not taken a drink before the incident.

"The railroad is a part of their life," Bayles said, after giving the inmates a lecture about walking on the railroad. "They are not satisfied unles they're back there watching the trains go by."

Couple Molested, Sailor Captured

ST. GEORGE, Utah (AP) — A posse tracked down James B. Grainger in the arid hills of southwest Utah and the 19-year-old sailor from Phoenix, Ariz., was held in jail today in connection with the molesting of a doctor and his wife who had pulled off U.S. 91 to take a nap.

Mrs. Isidore Matilsky, about 45, of Norwalk, Calif., was shot in the chest. She underwent surgery for removal of the bullet and was reported in good condition.

The all-day manhunt started when Dr. Matilsky drove into St. George at 5 a.m. Monday seeking medical help for his wife.

He said they were awakened by a gunman who demanded their car. When they refused to unlock the doors, the gunman shouted "I'll kill you," and fired into the car. Dr. Matilsky jumped behind the wheel, shielding himself with a pillow, and managed to drive away.

Possemen tracked Grainger to the Santa Clara river. He had become so thirsty and drunk so much water he could barely move. Sheriff Roy Renouf said the sailor told him he was AWOL from the carrier Saratoga.

Church Members Hit Record High

NEW YORK (AP) — America's church and synagogue membership rose to a record total of 103,224,954 in 1956 — slightly more than 3,000,000 over 1955—the National Council of Churches reports.

This figure indicates that 62 out of every 100 Americans of all ages are members of a church or synagogue.

A century ago, 20 of every 100 Americans were members of a church.

The 1956 increase is reported in the Yearbook of American Churches, published by the National Council of Churches and released yesterday. The council is a federation of major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox Church bodies.

★ ★ ★

The figures are a compilation of official reports of religious bodies.

Among the statistics included in the publication were these:

The over-all figures from churches and synagogues showed an increase of 3 per cent for 1956, compared with an estimated population rise of 1.7 per cent.

Sunday school enrollment in 1956 was up 2.5 per cent for a total of about 40 million.

Improved efficiency of power station operations has enabled England to save more than 750,000 tons of coal in the last 12 months.

Royal Dutch Airlines will receive, in September 1959, the first four of 12 four-engined turboprops of the Electra type it has ordered from Lockheed, in California, Rotterdam reports.

How to Get and Keep a Husband

I'm wrong and prejudiced. I'm not. I'm on the woman's side. But I believe that our women should face certain facts about themselves.

A great many are looking for a man with money, first; prestige, second; looks, third; love — well, last and maybe not at all if money comes without love.

Miss Z was looking for a man with money first and maybe love second.

She was paying for her attitude with the same lonely existence that I endured until I found the formula that brought me a happy, successful marriage. They evidently live by the theory that by traveling alone in their own way they can arrive more quickly at their destinations of success and happiness. But their number is an insignificant minority compared to the masses of women who yearn for their natural roles of wife, mother and homemaker.

I was continually harassed and embarrassed by the disadvantages of being without a husband.

Many times the only single woman present, I lingered with my married friends over dinner.

But I was far removed from their conversation — their plans, children, houses and cars. That big significant word "their" identified them as units of society established by family ties and love.

I was just another working girl with an apartment and a job. What did I have in common with their busy, meaningful lives? They wouldn't have hurt me intentionally for anything, but they could not avoid impressing me with the fact that really, after all, I did not belong.

How humiliating to be told when seeking credit at a store, "You have a maximum of $200?" When I had a husband the sky was the limit.

★ ★ ★

Can I ever forget the embarrassment of being turned away at the door of a supper club because we, my friend and I, were two women without a man! Many times for lack of a man I had to miss dances, cruises and other parties.

The hurdle of behavior was the most formidable of all. I discovered that suspicion and criticism are waiting everywhere to cast the shadow of ill repute over the single woman.

One of my friends once said, "The single woman with an apartment is a threat to our moral standards. She is a danger to happy marriage that we must defend ourselves against."

★ ★ ★

The burden of solution rests as much with the married woman as with the single one. For her own well-being, the woman with a husband should do everything in her power not only to hold her man bu to help her single sisters find husbands of their own.

After much thought, personal experience and research into the single woman's problem, I see these unsatisfied desires:

Motherhood.

Sexual completeness and emotional release.

Cooperative companionship.

Acceptance within a social orbit of some kind.

More financial independence.

A feeling of being needed and wanted.

Stability of life pattern.

Those are the things a single woman misses. Now let her reverse her viewpoint and ask herself candidly, "Am I giving anything worthwhile to justify my acceptance?"

★ ★ ★

The woman who wants married happiness must have the capacity to receive it. It is easy to find love; holding it is the difficult task. The woman equipped to handle happiness is far more likely to attract it and keep it. Our abilities and capacities if properly used have a way like magnets of drawing us into compatible associations.

The single woman should strive for the following:

1. A capacity to receive happiness.

2. Balanced by ability to give happiness.

3. Sparked by willingness to give happiness.

These are the three parts to a formula which the single woman can employ to advantage apart from outside conditions and circumstances.

Look upon your loneliness as precious solitude. Use this treasure of time to put into effect a program that will prepare you for marriage.

★ ★ ★

And bring your dreams down to reality! There is no such thing as "ideal" in choosing a mate. When a woman sets up a list of requirements beyond basic compatability she is doomed either to single loneliness or married unhappiness. If she carries in her mind a hard-and-fast idea of what she wants and thinks she deserves in a man, she probably will fail to find him.

If reasonably sure she is marrying a man of good character, stability and industriousness, a woman can divide all her expectations by half. She should be glad if 50 per cent of them materialize.

If more of our women would see the fallacy of holding out for Mr. Just Right — the man with the nice bank balance, movie-star looks, plenty of love-making and social position — and put good character, compatability and industriousness at the top of the requirement list, thousands of our ladies on the sidelines could find happy marriage possible.

(From "How To Get And Keep A Husband," published by Dorrance & Co.)

Tomorrow: Kate Constance describes the attributes in a woman which make her desirable to man, in an installment titled Women Men Prefer — and Marry.

(Copyright 1957, Dorrance & Co., Philadelphia)

Are You Really Ready?

Are you really ready for marriage? Ask yourself these questions and answer completely frankly:

1. Are you reasonably unselfish and considerate, sympathetic and kind?

2. Are you willing to assume responsibility and some work?

3. Are you free of serious complexes, phobias and neuroses?

4. Do you have a deep desire to give happiness, service and love, to give more than you get?

5. Can you inspire a man's highest ambitions and emphasize his better qualities to bring out the best in him?

6. Do you value a man for what he is, not for what he possesses in wealth, good looks and prestige?

7. Are you a good sport, willing to take hard knocks and losses with him?

8. Do you have an enthusiasm for life and the small daily joys of living?

9. Do you have a yearning to establish a home, and not just have a husband to pay your expenses through life?

10. Do you adhere to a high standard of behavior?

★ ★ ★

Score yourself ten points for each "Yes" answer.

A score of 90/100 indicates that you are completely ready for marriage, with good prospects of lasting happiness.

A score of 60/80 indicates grounds for improvement — and make it now rather than waiting until after the ceremony.

If your score is less than 60 you should sit down and take a long, hard look at yourself and your prospects for the future.

Comes the Revolution— but Bond's Still Good

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The city of Grand Rapids found itself the owner of a Czarist Russian government bond when it took over the assets of an old cemetery in 1949.

City officials figured it was worthless. Then Treasurer Simon J. DeBoer heard the U. S. government was liquidating American assets of the pre-revolution Russian regime. DeBoer filed a claim and received $1,000, the face value of the bond. He also hopes to collect $891 interest.

Paris Would Hate Her Dress!

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — My first new dress for fall is black with a very full, wide skirt slightly longer than the length I usually wear. Paris would hate it. But I like it so it's mine.

★ ★ ★

It was the direct result of starring at too many pictures of the new Paris fashions. By February, my dress may be just a quaint fashion curio but I figure I can raise some money on it by selling it to a costume museum. In the meantime, it's all mine and it isn't up to the knees.

LOST ITS BUTTONS

It looks as if Paris has finally lost its buttons. For some years now, we've been getting revivals of the 1920's in some form.

This year, Parisan designers didn't bother with inspiration. They've simply copied fashions of the 1920's line for line, button for button and bow for bow. Skirts are up to the knees.

★ ★ ★

Dresses are straight and shapeless or they have belts somewhere down around the hips. The beaded Charleston dress with rhinestone straps is back in for evening wear.

The fashions of the 1920's were probably the ugliest ever. Women who saved dresses and suits from this period to drag out for the laughs now and then can stop laughing.

They won't need to buy a thing this winter—unless they want to be well dressed.

Which girl has the 1927 fashion? The one on the left. Paris 1957 version on the right is by Carven. It is of gray and white tweed with trim of natural seal fur.

Did you save that coat (left) from 1928? Now's the time to bring it out. Its 1957 twin from the Paris collections (right) is by Jacques Griffs in blue broadcloth with brown beaver collar buttoned low.

Evening gown look-alikes are these two dresses —but that one on the left is from 1928. It's Chinese red lace over red crepe. Today's version on the right is from Paris, by Guy LaRoche.

Several of America's top designers see the new Paris nightmares much as I do. They say:

Roxane of Samuel Winston: "My opinion of most of the new Paris fashion ideas wouldn't look well in print! I do not design in terms of 'trends.' I design clothes that people can wear and in which they can feel happy."

★ ★ ★

Mollie Parnis: "I feel that change is the essence of life and therefore I look with interest upon any real change in fashion. I do not believe that either designers or the public can be forced into unbecoming changes.

"Shorter skirts will be right for some women and wrong for others. I hope that American women have developed enough taste to judge such things for themselves."

★ ★ ★

Pauline Trigere: "Any fashion news is good news but like any other news is often exaggerated at the beginning. I believe American women will continue to look at everything and select what is best for them.

"Incidentally, I hope that my ideas will please the majority."

★ ★ ★

Ceil Chapman: "Fashion is a means of making women prettier or it cannot be fashion. I do not go to Paris and prefer to concentrate on developing my own ideas.

"However, I feel that all designers think more or less in the same terms on any given season. This year, I agree that skirts are a trifle shorter and hiplines rounded. I will never agree with fashion that discards the waistline."

★ ★ ★

Adele Simpson: "Many of the Paris collections launched important ideas and every collection contains beautiful clothes. As a designer, I enjoyed seeing the work of other designers just as a painter enjoys going to an art exhibition. I believe the straight, loose dress will be accepted by young Americans and by chic, slender women. I also believe that short skirts are on the way in for everybody."

★ ★ ★

Suzy Perette: "Paris and New York both introduced exciting and charming new silhouettes for winter. As always, there is a new dress shape for every figure shape. Every woman should try until she finds one of them."

Test Rates Charm of Senior Citizens

By BEULAH STOWE

If you're over 65, can you pass this charm test by answering "No" to all five questions?

★ ★ ★

1. Do you overdo the older person's bent toward reminiscing? Do you get involved in lengthy stories about way back when and keep on talking even when your listeners are not interested?

2. Do you want to be boss? Retired from your own job, do you tell your son how he should run his job? With your own children grown up, do you tell your daughter how to raise her children?

A FAULT-FINDER?

3. Are you a complainer? Do you find fault with the way others treat you? Do you make big protests about small issues?

4. Do you describe your aches and pains, operations and medications as the No. 1 topic of every day?

5. Are you waiting for people to do things for you? Do things yourself. Keep busy. Most retired people agree that work, study, friends and activities are needed to make the after-65 years vital.

Don't waste your best self by falling into any one of these five traps. You're too wise, too experienced, too understanding, too socially mature, at age 65. You have accumulated much of value to give to the world.

COMMUNITY EFFORT

Q—"I am retired on a small pension and live in a community which is trying to do something for the 'senior citizen.' I have been going to the community center at least once a week and taking part in the group singing and the handcraft projects.

"I feel like a fool and a fritterer. Yet, I don't know anything better to do with my time and I like to meet people in a friendly way. What else can I do?" — W.J.M.

★ ★ ★

A—There is nothing wrong with going to a community center for elderly prople. Stop feeling like a fool and enjoy it if you can. The emphasis is often placed on individual recreation—on helping you to help yourself. What you really need to do is help somebody else.

Can you find people at the center who need your friendship? People at your church who need a friend and whom the minister is too busy to call on frequently? Can you find a job to give you a duty in your life?

Can you give away your services to a children's hospital by organizing a talent or magic show once a month? Retired people like you are among the small part of the population which has time to spare.

Wear Correct Slip

Women who wear the wrapped back panel skirt should be very careful about the slip beneath. A taupe wool skirt and a pink slip will attract unfavorable attention. Best bet is to color match slip and skirt.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo O'Brien of Oxbow Lake are the maternal grandparents. Paternal grandmother is Mrs. John R. Ingamells of Williams Lake.

Have Varied Uses

Ovens are far more than ovens these days! Many feature a built-in barbecue unit with an automatic rotisserie which turns meat on a spit throughout the cooking period. The unit, which adjusts to the exact meat size, can be removed for easy suds-scrubbing and a hot rinse at the sink.

Saying "You're wrong," to a person who has made a statement with which you disagree is hardly the way to win friends or sell your own ideas.

June Voss Wed Before 200 Guests

Becomes Bride of Walter Crowson in Candlelight Rite

June Margaret Voss became the bride of Walter Collon Crowson Saturday evening in First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Galen Hershey performed the 7:30 p.m. candlelight service in the presence of approximately 200 guests.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Merle R. Voss of East Hammond Lake drive are parents of the bride. Walter's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crowson of Wellesley drive, Pleasant Ridge.

GOWNED IN SILK

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white tissue silk featuring a princess-style front, full skirt, sweetheart neckline and a two-bow back trim with chapel train. The bodice and short sleeves were of seed pearl and sequin-trimmed lace.

★ ★ ★

A Juliet cap of tissue silk trimmed with seed pearls held her fingertip illusion veil. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings and a strand of pearls, both gifts of the bridegroom. The bridal bouquet was composed of white Fugi chrysanthemums and eucalyptus leaves.

Mrs. Samuel VanBoven of Farmington, the bride's twin sister, was her matron of honor. Another sister, Virginia Voss of New York, served as maid of honor.

Denys Hayes of Saginaw and Laurie Millar of Grosse Pointe Farms, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaid and flower girl, respectively.

GRECIAN DRESSES

Both the maid of honor and bridesmaid were gowned identically in Grecian dresses of emerald green silk chiffon with double front panels of the same color satin and matching headbands. Their bouquets were of white glamellias with gladioli foliage.

A dress of pink organdy trimmed with pink velvet and a matching headband were worn by the flower girl. She carried a basket of petals.

★ ★ ★

Serving as best man was Samuel VanBoven of Farmington and seating the guests were William Adams of Wayne, Byron Cook of Belleville and Edward Schied of Jackson.

For the reception held in the church parlors following the ceremony, Mrs. Voss chose a gown of chiffon and taffeta in a dusty rose shade, a matching hat of velvet with feather trim and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Crowson wore a gown of silk lace over taffeta in slate blue with three-quarter-length sleeves and a full panel back. Her hat was of iridescent sequins and her corsage was a white orchid.

ATTENDS U. of M.

For traveling, the bride changed to a brown and black embossed cotton dress, with matching accessories and corsage of white glamellias.

After a brief honeymoon, the newlyweds will reside in Ann Arbor where the bridegroom is in his senior year in the University of Michigan Dental School, a member of Delta Sigma Delta dental fraternity.

★ ★ ★

He is a graduate of Michigan State University where he was affiliated with Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. June is a graduate of Central Michigan College where she was a member of Pi Kappa Sigma sorority.

Suds Blinds in Tub

The bathtub is the perfect size for sudsing Venetian blinds. Then dry them over a pair of parallel lines outdoors. Use a large, clean wastepaper can—or even the baby's portable bathtub—to carry the wet blinds outdoors. They'll drain into the container en route, leaving no tell-tale drips on floors or rugs.

Art Can Be for Money's Sake, Too!

By ANNE HEYWOOD

It's pretty much taken for granted that you can't make any money from art. Art is art and money is money and never, most people would assure you, the twain shall meet.

But every day I see examples that prove otherwise.

For example, while visiting a friend in the country recently, I saw a beautiful screen. It was in her bedroom, and was used to block off the sewing corner.

But along with being functional, the screen was also one of the loveliest I've ever seen. The design, which was done in silver and black, was an impression of the New York skyline.

★ ★ ★

"I just love it," my friend said.

"You see, I really do miss New York. I was born and brought up there, and, even though I've been away for years, I still get homesick for it.

"That's why Lisa did that scene for me. She specializes in what she calls nostalgia motifs!"

I couldn't meet Lisa—she's quite understandably too busy — but my friend took me around to visit friends of hers who have some of Lisa's screens.

One was decorated with a farm scene, for a child who adores his grandfather's farm and wants it around all winter; another with a meadow in France to cheer a homesick war bride; still another with the sketch of a house the woman had lived in as a child.

"Lisa says," my friend told me, "that everybody has a memory they'd like to keep glowing. She thinks a screen is a wonderful way to do it. She works from a picture or just from a description. She doesn't try to be photographic; she'd rather give the impression of the scene."

I don't know how much money Lisa makes, but I do know that she isn't taking any new orders for a long time, because the demand is so great.

★ ★ ★

And yet, the average person would assure you that art and money do not mix!

★ ★ ★

The secret is to bring a special touch, an unusual flavor to the project as Lisa does. She doesn't do just any old screen, but screens that cure homesickness.

Always, behind a successful art project there's that special touch.

Business Women Need Exercise

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The average woman in business leads a much more sedentary life than the woman in the home. She is less active physically and gets outdoors less. Of course there are some exceptions to this but the average office worker spends most of her time in overheated, close air in the fall, winter and early spring.

★ ★ ★

The woman in the home gets more exercise while attending to her household duties and caring for her children. She also goes outdoors more when she takes the children for their airings and goes to the market.

You cannot separate a beauty routine from a health routine because one must do the same things to achieve either. The woman in business should make every effort to work as much exercise and outdoors activity into her daily life as possible, and this can be done with a little effort.

She also should lose the feeling of being in a "rat race" by learning to work and live within a relaxed mood. Once she gets to the office she may not be able to control this, but before and after hours she can.

GET UP EARLY

While sleep is one of the most important items on the health and beauty routine, it is a mistake to get an extra half-hour in the mornings if it means that you skip breakfast or eat an inadequate one and rush to work. Just 10 minutes of special exercise in the morning and a leisurely breakfast will send you off to meet the world in much better shape.

If you live close enough to your work you would profit tremendously if you would walk to and from your office. If you do not live that close, get off the bus or subway or park your car a mile from work.

In this way you would fall heir to a brisk two-mile walk each day. You may not feel like doing it but the benefits would be terrific.

I sincerely believe that if my business women readers would take to heart the suggestions contained in today's column and the ones I have given them about nutrition, much of their fatigue would disappear along with any complexion and figure problems they may have.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Menus for Career Girls" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 46 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Evening Beauty and Health Routine for Business Girls."

If you live close enough to your work you would profit tremendously if you would walk to and from your office.

Criticized for Rejection of Present

Better Accept Gift Than Hurt Relative, Is Advice

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: At the beginning of the year we let the members of our families know that we would not exchange birthday presents this year. We both have large families and not a month goes by that someone doesn't have a birthday (sometimes there are two in one month.)

"We told them that we couldn't afford it and please not to give us any presents. Everyone complied with our request except one relative on my husband's side. On my birthday she bought me a very lovely present. I told her that she had placed me in a very embarrassing position in view of what we had said. Her reply was that I was silly to feel that way as she could afford it and if I could have afforded it, I would have done the same.

"I refused to accept the present as I did not think it fair. My husband as well as the rest of his family think I was doing wrong not to accept it in the spirit in which it was given, but I think that I was entirely within my rights to return it since she did not respect our wishes. Will you please give your opinion?)

Answer: I am very sorry but I think that after you told her how you felt, you should have accepted the present with thanks. As things are you have hurt her feelings and established a coldness between you that will take time to dissipate.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married and have selected a rather wide wedding ring. I also have a diamond engagement ring which I now wear on my left hand. I'm afraid the two rings worn together will be too much for my rather short fingers.

"Would it be proper to switch my engagement ring to my right hand after I am married and wear the wedding ring alone on my left hand?"

Answer: It will not be improper to wear your engagement ring on your right hand, but why not select a more becoming wedding ring?

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me when it is proper to put Mrs. in front of one's name? When the repairman finished servicing our oil burner, he asked me to sign the required slip. I signed it Mrs. John Smith. Wasn't this proper under the circumstances? My daughter insists that I should have signed it Mary Smith.

Answer: Under that circumstances you describe, you were right in signing Mrs. John Smith.

Kathryn Simenson Says Cookies Go Before They're Cool

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Here's another goodie for the cookie jar. These Butterscotch Squares may be eaten as they come from the pan or frosted with a simple butter frosting.

★ ★ ★

Kathryn Simenson, a fifteen-year-old student at Waterford High School, has been active in 4H Club work only a few months. But her cookies won a blue ribbon. Kathryn likes to play the clarinet and the piano. Other hobbies are swimming and crocheting.

BUTTERSCOTCH BARS
By Kathryn Simenson

¾ cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nuts

Melt butter or margarine. Place in bowl with sugar and mix well. Cool. Add egg and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients and add to first mixture with nuts. Mix thoroughly. Bake in greased 8x8x2 pan for 30 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Cut while partly warm. Makes 12-16 bars.

1920 Fashions Make Comeback

It's back, back, back to the 1920's again via the Paris collection for fall, 1957, according to fashion pictures just in from France.

The unfitted silhouette and shorter skirts, low waistlines and modern versions of the fringed and beaded Charleston, plus the day-length for evening all indicate a strong 1920 influence.

★ ★ ★

Many top Parisian designers show very short skirts (19 inches) while others show a more moderate 16 inches. (The average hem length in this country now is 14-15 inches.)

★ ★ ★

Other French designers showed the loose sheath, a dress that falls straight from the shoulder in a loose line. Alternate is the sheath that's nearly straight with just a suggestion of waistline.

Necklines for these dresses frequently are plain and round and the sleeves are short.

With the lowered waistline, there's a great use of blousing. Dior shows the bloused line at hip top and places belts just below.

Many designers show coats with low closings and big collars, fashions also stemming from the 1920's.

This wool knit costume is comprised of a pullover blouse, a smartly tailored skirt and hip-length jacket. The colors of the skirt and blouse are combined in the meshed pattern of the jacket. The bulky rib knit jacket trim contrasts with the fine gauge knitting of the skirt and blouse. Hidden under the jacket is a smart fob trim suspended from the leather belt. The costume may be purchased locally.

Not Smart to Get Stuck With Stick-in-Mud Beau

Girl Who Goes Steady With Dullard May End Up as Complaining Wife

By RUTH MILLETT

"The worst time in going steady," says the mother of a 16-year-old daughter, "is when a girl gets herself tied up with a boy who never wants to go anywhere or do anything.

"My daughter right now is going steady with a boy who doesn't like to dance or swim and can't be dragged to parties.

"His idea of how to spend an evening is either to go to a movie —when he can afford it — or sit around doing nothing.

"That means that Mary keeps turning down invitations. Her social life has gotten to be more staid than my own. A girl who goes steady can't accept an invitation unless her 'steady' is agreeable.

"I've tried to tell my daughter what a mistake she is making to tie herself down to a stick-in-the-mud who is so jealous she doesn't dare look at another boy.

"But I might as well be talking to thin air for all the good it does. Can't you write something that will show girls that if they insist on going steady, they ought to be smart enough to pick a boy willing to do what they want to do part of the time?"

I could tell my teenage readers that. But I couldn't guarantee it would have any more effect on them than their mothers have when they say the same things.

Perhaps a girl just has to learn by experience that tying herself down to one boy — especially when that boy is possessive and selfish — is just plain shortsighted.

The danger is, of course, that a girl will get so used to the dull companionship of a stick-in-the-mud that she will marry one.

She may end up writing letters to columns like this complaining, "My husband never takes me anywhere."

Stool Aids Washing

One of the most entrancing novelties in the "House of the Future" at California's Disneyland is a bat room with an adjustable washbowl. This can be moved up and down to meet the requirements of junior members of the family.

Until this miracle is commonly available, however, parents can continue to "bring Mahomet to the mountain" by supplying a small step stool to elevate their youngsters to easy reaching distance of the soap and water.

First Grade Is Important One

Child Should Progress at Own Speed

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

Mary has finished the first grade. That is, Mary has spent a year in the first grade classroom but Mary is not very well grounded in the elementary skills which are supposed to be learned in that all-important first year of school.

The big uestion is: should Mary go on to second grade with the hope that she will catch up or should she plan to repeat the first grade?

The first year of school is an extremely important one. The youngster who has not learned the basic skills of reading and number work will very likely have continuing trouble throughout his school career.

It is very seldom that he catches up, it is likely that he will continue to fall further behind and before long come to dislike school and want to drop out.

TOO YOUNG

Mary's sixth birthday had been in early October. She was just barely old enough to be admitted to first grade according to the law.

But Mary was a small youngster and more immature than most of the other first graders.

She never quite knew what was going on in the class. As it turned out it would have been better for Mary if she had not been allowed to enter first grade last year.

Now she is older and more grown up. She is plenty bright. For Mary, the wise choice is to have her repeat first grade. If she does she will get a good grounding in the basic skills.

She will become one of the good readers in her class instead of being in the lowest reading group.

Not only will Mary get a better start on her academic education if she repeats first grade but she will also be a happier better adjusted person all her life.

It's hard on a child to be one of the worst in a group. She gets the feeling she is a failure and that it's not worth trying to be better because it's no use.

WILL FAIL

The truth is if Mary is pushed on to second grade this fall she won't be able to compete with the children who have learned a lot more than she did in the first grade. She will be a failure.

NEW START

On the other hand if she repeats first grade she will feel good because she will be able to do the work. She will want to push ahead and do more and more. She will have the feeling of success.

★ ★ ★

Keeping a child back is often harder for the parents to accept than for the child. Often parents feel that if a child of theirs repeats a grade they must accept the fact that their child is stupid.

With Mary and with many other children this isn't the case at all. Mary is not stupid, she was just too young and immature for first grade last year.

EASY TO REPEAT

First grade is about the easiest of all grades to repeat. The child will have no sense of failure about not going forward with her class unless the parents make a big issue of it.

★ ★ ★

Take a careful look at your youngster. If there are any doubts in your mind about his qualifications for second grade talk it over with the school. Be sure to decide the matter on the basis of the child's welfare, not on your pride.

Eyeglasses Can Be Aid to Beauty

Careful Make-Up, Correct Frames Basic Necessities

Most girls who wear glasses find it difficult to apply eye make-up effectively without pressing their noses to a steamy mirror in order to see what they're doing.

Unless eye make-up is applied correctly, eyeglasses can dull the eyes and cast eye-hiding shadows.

To bring out the sparkle, learn to apply your eye make-up with glasses on. In doing so you won't neglect highlights that you might otherwise not see clearly.

Glasses often make the eyes look smaller, and dark circles under the eyes cast a shadow that heightens this unflattering effect. Try covering the dark circles with a light-toned powder base. After the base is applied, look closely into a mirror and blend it carefully with a cotton swab. Be sure it looks like your own skin and not a too-bright patch of special make-up.

To make the eyes look larger, make-up artists suggest using an eye liner on the upper lid. Start at the center of the eye and draw the line to the outer edge.

Don't use the liner on the bottom lid, for it will create a shadow that will be reflected by your glasses. Eye-shadow should be worn, too. Place a dot of it at the center of the eyelid and blend up and out.

It's easy, too, to learn to apply mascara while wearing glasses. Just use the side of the brush instead of the tip. That way you can slide the brush in front of the eyelashes and see what you are doing. If your eyelashes have a tendency to be sparse, dip a cotton swab in powder and dust it over the lashes before applying mascara. It will give them a thick, full look.

Eyeglass frames should never hide the brows. Short, light strokes with an eyebrow pencil will give the additional emphasis needed.

Speaking of frames, remember that the right type can improve facial contours. Slanting frames can make a square face seem almost oval when the lower edges of the frame are rounded. Frames that are horizontal can lessen the apparent length of a long face. And if you have a heavy jawline or strong chin, upswept frames can give your face a pixy touch.

College-Bound Lads Given Helpful Hints

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — If there is a college boy in the house, he may be pondering the correct wardrobe to take with him when he heads for the campus.

★ ★ ★

If so, perhaps this suggested wardrobe may be of help. It was prepared with the cooperation of the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

AREAS DIFFER

Naturally, there are regional differences — the East goes more for dress-up wear, the Southwest more for denims, and so on—but this is a good basic compilation.

★ ★ ★

Suits—One to four, with oxford gray and Navy blue the preferred colors. Single-breasted three-button Ivy styling is most popular. Material can be worsteds, cheviots, flannels, tweeds.

★ ★ ★

Sports jackets—One to four Ivy-styled, in tweeds, blue flannel or striped blazers, striped shetlands, Indian madras and-or corduroy.

★ ★ ★

Slacks—Three to 10 pair, of polished chinos, gray flannels, whipcords, corduroys and worsteds, mostly of the Ivy type.

★ ★ ★

Topcoats—One or two, in the natural shoulder, single-breasted style, in tweeds, cheviots, gabardines and-or coverts. The zip-in liner is popular in climates where that is helpful.

★ ★ ★

Shirts — Six to 18, mostly white and light color button-down oxfords. Some round collar tabs in patterns and stripes. Plus, of course, a big group of sports shirts—plaids, knits, Ivy-styled. The West Coast goes heavier for sports shirts than elsewhere, at college.

★ ★ ★

Ties — Three to 15, chiefly regimental stripes and dark knits, muted stripes, foulards, challis.

Shoes—Two to six pairs, including a black dress pair that doubles for formal wear, brown oxfords and possibly white bucks, loafers, cordovan bluchers. On the West Coast, a pair of desert boots—chukkas—is almost a must.

★ ★ ★

Socks—Six to 18 pairs, ranging from plain ribbed hose and white athletic socks to argyles and plaids and, if necessary, Bermuda-length types.

★ ★ ★

Underwear—Six to 18 sets of shorts and T-shirts, with the style depending on personal preference.

★ ★ ★

Hats—You can get away with none, but, if desired, you can use narrow-brim styles in both dress and sports hats, a rain hat, caps, pork-pies.

★ ★ ★

Raincoats—One or two, in balmacaan style in a natural color, possibly a reversible gabardine, trench coat or foldable plastic coat.

★ ★ ★

Sweaters—Two to six, including crew-neck shetlands, V-necks with and without sleeves, bulky knits. Chief fibers are cashmere, lamb's wool and synthetics. Cardigans are returning to popularity. Keep the colors bright.

Outerwear jackets—None to three, with the possibility of unlined or fleece-lined poplin windbreakers, corduroy or tweed car coat, hooded melton or Loden cloth suburban coat.

★ ★ ★

Evening wear — None, usually. Most college men prefer to rent them. But, if you can swing it, take along a single-breasted, shawl collar or peak lapel Ivy model in Navy, midnight blue or black. If you do, you'll need a pleated formal shirt and the usual accessories.

★ ★ ★

Fancy vests—None to two. If you use them, stick to tattersal, knitted cardigan sweater vests or corduroy vests.

★ ★ ★

Walk shorts—None to three. Preferred are oxford gray flannels and some polished cottons, mostly solids in color but some stripes and patterns.

And, of course, other accessories — belts, gloves, handkerchiefs, mufflers, jewelry, and, in warmer climates, swim trunks.

You might take along a book or two, because there may be classes.

Big soft collars are the best kind of flattery to the large, angular type figure who should never wear insignicant collars.

The joy of motherhood is what a woman experiences when all the kids are in bed.

O.K. to Mark Walls

Bearing in mind the irresistible impulse of children to draw on walls, the designers of the new Swedish-American liner, Gripsholm, have deliberately installed suds-washable walls in the children's playroom.

Wall-drawing is actually encouraged by providing chalk and crayons so tiny travelers may indulge their artistic yearnings, while attendants stand by to "wipe the slate clean" with a sudsy sponge when fresh wall space is needed.

Modern household soaps and detergents give us more cleanliness with less time and trouble.

Cover It Outdoors

When the rains come, don't lug your outdoor furniture indoors to protect it. Keep a set of washable plastic covers in a box or basket on your porch. They'll protect your furniture from showers and dew — and can be wiped clean with a sudsy sponge.

Flower Accessories for Home Abound

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

You can be really sentimental about your room accessories this year.

Pretty little nosegays, a full-blown rose, a few sprigs of daisies or bachelor buttons and tiny pots of greens — all artificial — were strewn on furniture cabinets, cocktail tables, bedspreads and consoles in a swank showroom during the International Home Furnishing Market in Chicago.

Some of the nosegays were tacked on the wall in random twos and threes over an expensive marble-topped console table.

Most of the flowery touches appeared as is — not in vases or bowls. The plant pots, however, were all painted a uniform off-white.

Soap Sure Formula

Remember that soap and water add up to the finest beauty formula you could find for the skin. So make it a habit to scrub those suds into the pores; to scrub those roughened patches away; and to scrub elbows, shoulders, knees, till the blood goes racing around and brings a pretty glow to the skin.

Soap not only cleanses—it also softens. Nature does a pretty good job when it comes to skin. Just keep it clean and it will glow.

Name Parade Winners

GOVERNOR PLAYS DUAL ROLE — Gov. G. Mennen Williams (top photo) crowns Romeo Peach Queen Carol Hall Sunday night in Memorial Stadium, Romeo, before a crowd of some 2,000 persons. The little girls in the picture were two of 30 area youngsters participating in the coronation ceremony. Earlier, (below) the governor participated in the dedication of Romeo's new Community Youth and Civic Center. Walter F. Sheetz, who donated the land and much of the building material for the center, lays the cornerstone as Williams looks on. Later the governor presented a silver trowel to Sheetz.

Romeo Couple Win Top Honors

30,000 Crowd Streets, Watch Floral Line-Up at Peach Festival

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO — It looked like a family affair — although most spectators were unaware of the coincidence — when the judges announced the first and second place winners in yesterday afternoon's Peach Festival floral parade here.

A Romeo man, in business in Utica, entered the top award-winning float. And his wife, a Girl Scout troop leader, ran him a close second with her group's entry

First place honors were awarded to the Metropolitan Federal Savings and Loan Assn. float entered by the bank's manager, Herbert A. Miller. His wife, Helen, and members of her troop conceived and designed their "Little Black Sambo" entry which placed second.

The Girl Scout float was also runnerup for top honors in the Children's parade in the morning.

Third place winner in the afternoon parade was the Fraser Lions Club float.

For the first time in the 25-year history of the festival a sudden rainstorm sent the some 30,000 spectators who lined Romeo's Main St. scurrying for cover.

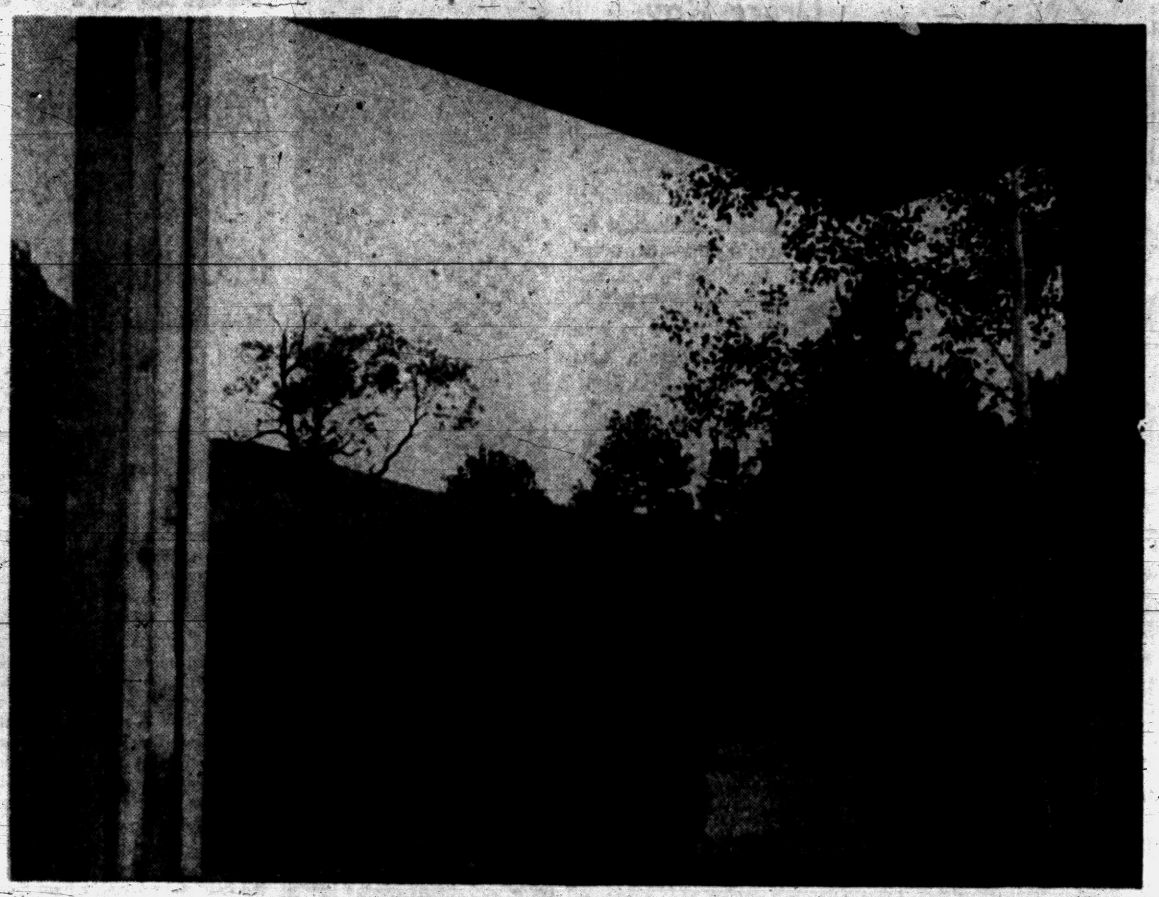

The downpour held off, however, until most of the 30 floats, 10 bands and other marching units had passsed the reviewing stand. Festival officials said it was one of the largest parades in years.

Out-of-town juudges were Mr. and Mrs. John Coppin of Bloomfield Hills and Karl Larsen of Detroit.

The appealing Children's parade, earlier in the day, drew enthusiastic praise for some outstanding entries. First place winner in the large float division was "Captain Kangaroo," entered by Lock's Cleaners.

Small float winner was "A Little Boy's Dream" with Gregory Stone, and top honors in the walking group category went to Patty and Jerry Bates as "Japanese Sandmen." First place winner as a single entry was Davey Winborn as "Peter Pan and His Shadow."

The three-day celebration ended at about 10 p.m. with a fireworks display at the Lions Community Field.

Ski Resort Ready in Late '57

Lakeville and northeast Oakland County residents are looking forward to fun-packed hours of winter sports this winter when the Grampian Mountain Ski Resort opens in December.

The ski run is planned and being built by Joseph Kosik, Pontiac attorney; his brothers, Robert and Rudy, and a brother-in-law, Willis Stoick.

Work is progressing rapidly on the ski-lodge, which is to be 26 by 100 feet long, and will overlook the ski runs.

The lodge will have a snack bar and other services including a warming house, for the convenience of skiers.

Kosik says the quartet plans to buy a snow-making machine and will build six tows. Two of these will be for beginners, one for intermediates and three for advanced skiers.

Located on a high ridge between Lakeville and Drahner roads, at Princess Curve, four miles west of Lakeville, the site commands a beautiful view for miles.

Entrance to the lodge and resort will be off Lakeville road. Convenient parking space is planned.

Progress Hits Village; Old Landmark Is Razed

By EDNA DUNN
Lakeville Correspondent

LAKEVILLE — With the recent tearing down of the old Lakeville School here, one of Addison Township's oldest landmarks, comes the feeling that progress had finally caught up with this small town.

★ ★ ★

The school structure, over 100 years old, became inadequate for the growing enrollment and in 1951, Lakeville built a new, two-room school.

Up until that time the old, one-room building housed kindergarten through eighth grade.

Last year Lakeville School District consolidated with the Oxford Area District, because it had again outgrown its school building.

Now that the old school is gone, which until recently had been used for programs and parties by the students, a large, all-purpose room is being added to the newer school. This room, to be used also as a cafeteria for students, will be ready by February, officials say.

★ ★ ★

On the east side of the present school, two new classrooms also are being added, and will serve to house elementary students, grades one to six, sent in from the Oxford Consolidated area.

Washing Daily Insures Better Ear Health

Getting Johnny to wash behind his ears is something of a family joke. But doctors who treat children's earaches don't think it's so funny.

Washing the ears has a definite health value as well as an esthetic one, physicians say. Daily washing of the outer ear with soapsuds and hygienic cotton swabs before ear trouble erupts often prevents unnecessary complications.

Children's ear disturbances should be treated promptly. Introduction of antibiotics and sulfonomides has made mastoid complications of ear infections less perilous.

Early, intensive treatment usually clears an ear infection without surgery.

In small children, head colds tend to involve the middle ear, pediatricians say, so it is a good idea to elevate the child's head when sniffles start.

Besides earaches, children's ears face another daily hazard as soon as school starts — beads, buttons, seeds and even insects find their way into them.

When a small item like a bead or button gets into a child's ear, remove as quickly as possible to prevent irritation or infection.

Lapeer Bridegroom Sings

300 Attend Lang-Muir Rite

LAPEER — Three hundred guests witnessed the marriage of Sharon Elizabeth Lang to Larry P. Muir on Saturday, at eight o'clock, in the Monroe Street Methodist Church, by the Rev. Raymond R. Lamb.

★ ★ ★

To the strains of the "Wedding March" played by Mrs. Mildred Kruse, the bride appeared at the head of the aisle on the arm of her father as her bridegroom sang "At Dawning."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Lang, 172 Higgins St., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Muir, all of Lapeer.

A ballerina-length bridal gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace over white satin was chosen by the bride. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice with Sabrina neckline studded with iridescent sequins. The long sleeves of the lace ended in points over the hands. A flounce of lace and tulle featured the back and sequins bordered the edge of the skirt.

★ ★ ★

Her only jewelry was a necklace of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom; her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held in place with a coronet embellished with pearls and sequins and her bouquet was of chrysanthemums and stephanotis.

★ ★ ★

Maid of honor was Patricia Lang, sister of the bride, who wore blue nylon chiffon over taffeta of ballerina length. She wore a veil headdress and a necklace of pearls, the gift of the bride, and carried pink rosebuds.

Douglas Muir assisted as best man and during the ceremony, sang "The Lord's Prayer." Seating the guests were Norman Muir, Dryden, uncle of the bridegroom, William Hanson, Keith and Kier Reiltz.

A reception at the Legion Memorial building followed the ceremony. The newlyweds then left for a Canadian honeymoon, where they will visit the Toronto Exhibition.

Tiny Iron Crystals Better Steel, Nylon

CHICAGO — Tiny crystals of a new kind of iron called alpha iron are teaming with copper, nylon, steel, and other materials to make superstrong bearings, long-wearing automobile springs, better electrical conductors, and other products.

The crystals are so small a billion of them occupy less space than a grain of table salt.

The crystals are said to behave not as metals or fillers but as chemicals. When used with copper they are said to give the copper superior electrical conductibility, and in steel the product has a superwearing characteristic. When used in combination with magnetic iron, supermagnetic properties are achieved.

Johnny Pesky, spunky little manager of the Birmingham Barons in the Tiger farm system, is hoping he will get the chance to move into the Briggs Stadium scene next season as an addition to Jack Tighe's coaching staff.

There is word around that Don Lund will move up into the administrative offices with Johnny McHale, and Pesky, with more than 13 years in the majors, is after the necessary time which would make him eligible for the 15-years- of-service pension.

"I only need about a year and a half to make it 15 years and I sure would be grateful for a chance with the Tigers," he said in the hotel suite while visiting press men and Lion coaches during the recent stay in Birmingham.

Pesky was somewhat downcast over the way his team has faltered in the past month. The Barons were leading contenders earlier this season but now it looks like sixth place in the Southern Association is where the team will finish.

"It's tough for minor league managers to hold their positions in the league. Everytime a ball player or two gets going real well, the parent club grabs him and the shuffling starts," he said.

PESKY A "GENTLEMAN"

Pesky also took time out to give one of his league's umpires a needle. "I've been thrown out of more games this year than in my entire major league career," he said.

Three times he was given the heave-ho at Birmingham and the last time, which he says wasn't a "fair shake," it cost him 25 bucks."

It seems that after the umpire called a drive along the line a foul, Pesky came running out of the dugout to protest. With his mouth full of tobacco he was hardly able to enunciate clearly.

When he did open his mouth the tobacco juice came out spraying over the umpire. The ump took out his handkerchief and then gave Pesky the finger toward the shower.

Pesky angrily ran toward the dugout, spit out the wad and came back screaming, "Why throw me out, I didn't say anything yet?"

"You spit on me," said the umpire, "get out." "I wouldn't spit on you, I'm a gentleman, you #&*/#%&X," answered John. The last word was worth $25, even for a gentleman.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Jimmy David, the rugged little defensive back of the Lions, is the self-appointed reveille officer of the team. No one got any shuteye on the plane back from Birmingham . . . rookies Terry Barr and Steve Junker gave coach Aldo Forte fits with their card "magic" on the trip . . . and Joe Schmidt said he "almost felt at home" when the hotel bus went past the steel mills. Joe is from Pittsburgh.

HAPPY NL LEADER — Relaxing after a shower following his team's doubleheader sweep of Chicago yesterday, Milwaukee manager Fred Haney had that confident look about him with his Braves now 8½ games ahead of the National League pack.

Labor Day Proves Just That for Tigers

Bengals Slave Until Nearly 8 to Gain Split

Lary Nips White Sox, 5-4, After Hose Takes Opener, 8-2

DETROIT (AP) — There's no question but what the Detroit Tigers know just what "Labor" Day really means.

Their labor yesterday lasted from 1:30 p.m. until almost 8 p.m. despite a split in the holiday twin bill with the second-place Chicago White Sox, the Tigers lost ground where it hurt most in the American League standings.

Detroit came back for a 5-4 victory in the second game that was held up nearly an hour by rain after bowing 8-2 in the lid-lifter before 28,606 spectators who pushed the Tigers over the two million mark in total attendance—at home and on the road.

Because the Boston Red Sox swept both games of their doubleheader against Washington, Tigers fell four and one-half games behind the third-place Bosox. And because Baltimore beat New York twice, the fifth-place Orioles are only one game behind our Tigers.

Cleveland's doubleheader win over Kansas City lifted the Indians to within one and one-half games of the Bengals.

As for the Tigers—they're just about where they started back in mid-April. Sixty-six wins, 66 losses and an even .500 mark.

Trailing 5-0 in the finale, the White Sox tried desperately to win the contest.

They pecked away at Frank Lary but could not muster enough power to keep the stocky right-hander from his fifth straight triumph. The Sox scored once in the fifth, twice more in the seventh and got a final shot with one run in the ninth.

Al Kaline hit a three-run homer in the fifth inning and Harvey Kuenn and Reno Bertoia added bases-empty blasts later on. The round-trippers came off Dick Donovan, who went into the game with a 15-4 record.

Lary yielded 10 hits but was good enough in the tight situations to get his ninth triumph against 15 defeats.

Tigers never were in contention in the first game. Minnie Minoso cracked a three-run homer to spark a four-run White Sox splurge in the first inning against Duke Maas. The Sox rattled off 11 hits against five Detroit pitchers and Billy Pierce registered his 18th victory.

Detroit left 11 runners stranded in the opener. J. W. Porter, handling the first-game catching chores, had a part in both Tiger scores.

Maxwell collected four hits in seven appearances in the twin bill and Frank Bolling hit safely five times in eight strips. Kuenn, after failing to hit in five at-bats in the opener, was dropped to the seventh spot in the batting order for the nightcap.

Manager Jack Tighe planned to use southpaw Bill Hoeft against Bob (No Hit) Keegan in the windup of the series today.

Braves Prep 'Murderers' Row'

23-Run Spree Buries Cubs

NEW YORK (INS) — The Milwaukee Braves, who have virtually sewn up the National League pennant, may be bringing a modern day version of "Murderers' Row" into the World Series.

They gave a tremendous example of hitting yesterday when they clubbed 26 hits, including two homers, to crush the Chicago Cubs, 23 to 10, in the first game of a doubleheader.

Then, as if to prove that they have just as much pitching power, the Braves blanked the Cubs in the second game, 4 to 0, on Bob Trowbridge's three - hit pitching.

The hitting explosion lifted Milwaukee's league lead to 8½ games. The Braves, who have only 24 games still to play, lead both leagues in homers (173) and in runs scored (677).

The Braves, who fell five short of the league record for runs in on game by a team, started right in on Bob Rush, scoring six times in the first inning. Wes. Covington and Ed Mathews later homered as the Braves scored in every inning but the fifth.

Frank Torre tied a big league mark by scoring six times while Covington and Hank Aaron each drove in six runs.

Cincinnati swept St. Louis, 10 to 5 and 3 to 1, with Frank Robinson's 10th-inning homer winning the second game. The Phils walloped 31 hits to crush Brooklyn, 10 to 4 and 7 to 4, and the Giants bombed Pittsburgh 11 to 5 and 4 to 3, the home run power of Hank Sauer, Willie Mays and Johnny Antonelli.

Orioles beat the New York Yankees, 8 to 7, in 11 innings and then made it a sweep with a 6-to-1 win. The White Sox and Billy Pierce beat Detroit, 8 to 2, but the Sox stayed 4½ games behind the Yanks when Frank Lary and the Tigers won the second, 5 to 4. Boston swept Washington, 7 to 1 and 8 to 7, and Cleveland took two from Kansas City, 8 to 0 and 6 to 3.

Yanks, in losing their first doubleheader in 14 this season, blew a six-run lead in the opener and then were helpless in the second before the eight-hit 14-strikeout performance of Connie Johnson. George Kell had six hits and seven runs batted in for the day.

Frank Sullivan outpitched Bosox nemesis Pedro Ramos in the first Boston triumph and eighth-inning homers by Sam White and Jim Piersall won the second for the Sox.

Cleveland's Mike Garcia pitched a five-hitter to turn in the shutout and reliever Cal McLish homered to win his own game in the second.

With each coach working with a section of boys, MacLeay made use of a bull horn from the eight foot platform in keeping an eye on the 120 boys who turned out for drills Labor Day.

Braves Nearing Pennant Clincher in Calm Manner

CHICAGO (AP) — This was 137 days later.

The same Milwaukee Braves were at Wrigley Field yesterday and had appeared to have clinched the National League pennant by winning a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs.

Last April 16, the Braves had beaten the Cubs 4-1 behind Warren Spahn and that opening day they vowed they wouldn't blow the pennant this season as they had in 1956.

They won two from the Cubs 23-10 and 4-0 yesterday while both St.Louis and Brooklyn lost doubleheaders, giving the Braves an 8½ game lead over the second-place Cardinals.

★ ★ ★

There was no comment, no boisterous talk in the Braves dressing room as there had been on opening day. There was nothing to indicate this team would represent the National League in the world series.

"We have 24 games left to play," said Manager Fred Haney "and I'm pitching Warren Spahn tomorrow."

Red Schoendienst, the man credited with Milwaukee's surge to first place, said "all we have to do is keep winning."

★ ★ ★

And Spahn, who was one of the first to vow the Braves wouldn't blow the pennant last April, said, "We've done nothing yet. We have a lot more games left to play."

★ ★ ★

The entire situation was superficial. The Braves knew they had the flag wrapped up but none would admit it.

WLYA Sailors Enjoy 2 Days of Sail Races

Two days of racing, along with a little rain during the Monday events, kept Watkins Lake Yachting association busy over the Labor Day holiday. Fancy Putter Takes Credit

Gardner Dickinson Jr. Wins Insurance Open Golf Tournament

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Gardner Dickinson Jr. of Panama City, Fla., credits a fancy putter with winning the Insurance City Open for him.

The former construction engineer shot a 70 yesterday for a 72-hole total of 272, 12 under par.

It won the Open and $2,800, bringing his winnings this year to more than $10,000.

He said the blue, modernistic, wide-faced putter was given to him by a spectator at the end of the Milwaukee Open last week.

He edged out big George Bayer of Los Angeles by two strokes. His second place finish was worth $1,900 to Bayer. Jack Burke, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., was third with 275. He earned $1,400.

Bayer shot a 67, four under par, for one of yesterday's best scores.

Bunched behind Burke with 276s were Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex., Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., and Dow Finsterwald, of Jupiter, Fla. They each received $1,100.

Bob Crowley, little-known pro from Weston, Mass., who led for three days, blew himself to a 77 to end up with 277.

'Labor Day' for Spartans

Duffy Works Squad in Heat, Rain

EAST LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State football squad put in a full working day on Labor Day despite the inconveniences of sticky heat in the morning and sudden showers throughout most of the afternoon.

The first regular practice session was devoted mainly to conditioning with coaches running the squad hard to start sweating off any excess summer fat.

As a change from previous years, the start of the afternoon workout was moved up from 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. for the specialists and from 3 to 4 for the remainder of the squad.

Coach Duffy Daugherty explained he wanted to give the players time to rest and recuperate between the morning and afternoon workouts that will be the rule for at least the first weeks of the fall.

The team is not expected to start hitting in the first scrimmage session until around Wednesday.

Coaches started drilling on several new defenses the first day. A good part of the signal drill also was devoted to passing practice.

★ ★ ★

Jim Ninowski, a senior from Detroit, was running the first team and Mike Panitch, junior from Chicago, had second call at quarterback. Larry Bielat of Centerline and Greg Montgomery of East Lansing, both sophomores, were working behind them.

The quarterbacks were passing with fair accuracy for so early in the season, although they were handicapped by a wet ball during most of the afternoon session.

Heat Fails to Halt Pointer Field Trial

Despite excessive warm weather that gave the dogs, and handlers too, a rather rough time, German Shorthaired Pointer club of Michigan held a very satisfactory fun field trial during the weekend at Highland Recreation area.

★ ★ ★

Forty-five dogs ran in the three stakes, including a few Weimaraners which did not, however, get into the winners circle.

Following the trial a corn and hot-dog roast was enjoyed by the 30 members of GSPCM.

★ ★ ★

Some excellent pointing and backing was turned up in the tests in which live birds (40) were used. Birds were caged for the puppy event, won by Carl Johnson's Skeeter. Other winners—derby, Ray McInchak's Deedee; open all-age, Ed Caudle's Caudle's Leader.

Jerry Luedee Rallies for TKO Win in 8th

NEW YORK (AP)—Jerry Luedee's come-from-behind victory over Freddie Mack today earned the New Haven light heavyweight another main event at St. Nicholas Arena.

★ ★

Matchmaker Teddy Brenner said he would book Luedee, 168½, as a reward for his eighth round TKO of Mack, 170, at St. Nicks last night.

Y. yesterday. Hamner beat ball out for a hit that scored teammate Ed Bouchee from third. Phillies won both games.

White Claims M-59 Honors

Johnny White, 26-year-old Hazel Park driver, rolled to victory in the 30-lap feature of Sunday afternoon's midget auto racing show at Pontiac Speedway.

A total of 32 midget cars took part in the eight-event card, which marked the end of racing at the M59 oval for the 1957 season. It was the midgets' 1st appearance here this year and the program was delayed twice by rain.

White's winning time in the main event was 7:12.13. Bill Spear of Warren, Ohio, came home 2nd and Larry McCloskey of Saginaw placed 3rd.

Walt Van Amberg raced his tiny car to victory in the 12-lap semi-final, with Joe Bair finishing 2nd and Pontiac's Russ Jacobson taking 3rd.

Augie Anderson from Indiana won the pursuit race while Bob Zomerhuis of Grand Rapids took the four-car dash. Heat winners were Anderson, Ken Henderson and Jimmy Florian. Spear drove around the quarter-mile asphalt track in :17.13 for the best qualifying time.

Wyandotte 9 Gains State Amateur Title

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Wyandotte, undefeated in six games over the Labor Day weekend, is the new champion of the Michigan Amateur Baseball Assn.

★ ★ ★

Wyandotte served up shutouts to four of the six opponents and gave up only three runs.

Len Trusewucz allowed only two hits yesterday in taking the championship game against River Rouge, 2-0. Grand Rapids was eliminated earlier in a 6-3 semi-final game.

Soldier in Major Upset

Savitt, Althea Net Winners

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (INS) — The battle for quarter-final berths in the national tennis championships began today with 16 American survivors, including U.S. favorites Dick Savitt and Althea Gibson and an "unknown" soldier who scored the tourney's biggest upset.

Army Lt. Clifton Mayne of Fort Monmouth, N.J., whose previous claim to fame was last year's Inter-Service championship, blasted Australia's second-ranking player, Neale Fraser, out of the tournament yesterday before a stunned holiday crowd of 9,000 at Forest Hills.

The 17th-ranking American amateur gained the fourth round with a 6-3, 9-7, 6-4 victory over the fifth-seeded Aussie lefthander as five other seeded men scored third-round victories and seven seeded women marched safely past the second round.

Australian champion Ashley Cooper, second-seeded Savitt of South Orange, N.J., Vic Seixas (4) of Philadelphia, Budge Patty (7) of Los Angeles and Paris and Herb Flam (8) of Beverly Hills all gained the fourth round while third-seeded Sven Davidson completed a second-round match with upset-minded Bill Quillian of Seattle. Quillian had Sweden's top-ranking amateur on the ropes before Davidson pulled it out, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4, 11-13, 6-4.

★ ★ ★

Miss Gibson led the wholesale advance of seeded women with an easy 32-minute victory, 6-0, 6-1, over Elizabeth Lester of Santa Barbara, Calif.

Denmark's unseeded Kurt Nielsen who ousted America's top-ranking Hamilton Richardson, won again to gain a 4th round berth.

In the women's singles, four-time Wimbledon queen Miss Brough defeated Mrs. Louise Brown of Canada, 6-2, 6-0; Shirley Bloomer (4) of England eliminated Pat Stewart of New York, 6-2, 6-4; and Darlene Hard (5) of Montebello, Calif., sidelined Susy Hodgmann of Kalamazoo, Mich. Other winners were: Christine Truman (6) of England, Ann Haydon (7) of England, and Mary Hawton (8) of Australia.

Yankees Feel Double Sting on Labor Day

Kell, Nieman, Goodman and Johnson Help Clip Bombers Twice

BALTIMORE (AP)—It is next to impossible to recall all the baseball trades made by Manager Paul Richards, but one of them made a bid for distinction yesterday.

★ ★ ★

It supplied the Baltimore Orioles with virtually enough talent to hand the New York Yankees their first doubleheader loss out of 14 this season, 8-7 and 6-1.

The trade was made a year ago May by Richards with the club he formerly managed. He gave Chicago outfielder Dave Philley and pitcher Jim Wilson for third baseman George Kell, outfielder Bob Nieman and pitchers Connie Johnson and Mike Fornieles.

This year, he swapped Fornieles to Boston for Billy Goodman and cash.

★ ★ ★

All four — Kell, Nieman, Goodman and Johnson — were standout contributors to the Labor Day downfall of the Yankees. Kell's bat took on new life, banging out six hits in nine chances to drive in half of the Oriole runs in each game. Two of the runs, in the bottom of the ninth, tied the score 7-7 in the first game.

Goodman led off the 11th with a single that turned into the winning run. He also had singled in the ninth and scored.

Nieman chipped in with three hits in the attack.

★ ★ ★

In the second game, Kell and Johnson were more than a match for the Yankees alone although Goodman wasn't idle with two singles. Kell drove in three runs and Johnson held them to one in the ninth while striking out 14.

Johnson's last strikeout to end the game was on pinchhitting Mickey Mantle.

It was the most Yankees batters to strike out this season and gave Johnson a total of 150, second to Early Wynn of Cleveland.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Last year, the NL drew 110,567 and the AL 92,833 for a total of 203,400.

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Mike Klapak swept past a field of favored drivers who fell by the way to win the 500-mile late model stock car race at the Trenton International Speedway yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Klapak hung around ninth place in the early laps that saw heat and mechanical failure take the toll of favorites Sam Hanks, winner of the Indianapolis 500 this year, Johnny Mantz and Ralph Moody.

★ ★ ★

It was the first victory in 12 starts for Klapak, 44. He made four pit stops for fuel and tires and posted an average speed of 81.7 m.p.h. He is from Warren, Ohio.

'M' Ignoring Ratings

First it was the magazine soothsayers who picked the Wolverines for the higher echelon in the Big Ten and national rankings.

Now the alumni have adopted the war cry. They've eagerly reported to Michigan's first few practices, trampling along the sidelines in large groups. They rub their hands with hopeful expectations for the season to come.

"This is our season to go to the Rose Bowl," said one alumnus who is close to the Michigan football scene.

"We'll be the best team in the nation," said another who recalled two periodicals which forecast such an event.

"This is all ridiculous," said coach Bennie Oosterbaan, who admits he doesn't care what the magazines say about his team. "How can anyone say where we'll finish before we've even played one game?"

Oosterbaan is fearful such misplaced confidence will spill over onto the gridiron. He doesn't want his squad hampered by extra pressure.

To offset it, Michigan's first few practice sessions have been rigorous. Oosterbaan has had his players grunting from calisthenics and running.

The workouts have been the toughest in the memory of veteran sideliners.

Although most of the players reported in good physical condition, a few were overweight. It's doubtful if they are now, after the labor day doubleheader under a baking sun.

Oosterbaan put his men through the first three weeks of two-a-day sessions yesterday. Offense was emphasized and there was a considerable amount of passing.

As expected, reserves Bob Ptacek and Stan Noskin were standouts in the airlanes as every back had a chance to throw.

Steelers Get First Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pittsburgh's Steelers finally have a game in the won column in the National Football League standings after turning back the Philadelphia Eagles 17-12 in the only game played Labor Day. For the Eagles it was their fourth setback without a victory.

★ ★ ★

In making their exhibition record 1-2, the Steelers overcame a 0-10 deficit at the end of the first quarter for a 14-10 halftime lead and then added a fourth period field goal by Gary Glick.

★ ★ ★

Games over the weekend saw the San Francisco 49ers defeat the Cleveland Browns 21-17 for their third straight victory Sunday. Saturday the Detroit Lions also won their third straight, defeating Washington 31-14 while the Los Angeles Rams walloped the Chicago Cardinals 63-21.

Thomas Sparks Southfield to Softball Title

ESCANABA (AP) — The hitting and pitching of Dan Thomas brought Southfield from behind in the standings and lifted the Detroit suburban team to the state men's Class A softball championship yesterday.

Southfield nipped Midland 3-2 in the first game of the final round when Thomas socked a two-run double in the seventh inning. Southfield won the second game, knocking Midland out of the double elimination tournament, by a 4-1 score on Thomas' one-hit pitching.

Southfield went into the final round with one defeat.

Veteran Driver Killed

Thompson Wins in South

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP)—A brilliant, steady performance by one of the wild men of stock car racing won the tragedy - marked eighth annual Southern 500 yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Speedy Thompson of Monroe, N.C., driving a Chevrolet, went home with the top take of $13,450 and a new race record of 101.1 m.p.h.

Death rode the track before the estimated crowd of 70,000 when a three-car pileup on the 28th lap of the six-hour grind proved fatal to Bobby Myers, 33, of Winston-Salem, N.C.

★ ★ ★

His death was the first in the eight-year history of the event.

Cotton Owens of Spartanburg, S.C., starting on the pole, finished second for $5,850 in a Pontiac. In third in a Ford was Marvin Panch of Gardena, Calif., for $3,375 of the $53,000 purse.

Panch held his second place in national championship point standings of the sanctioning National Assn. for Stock Car Auto Racing at 7,936 points.

Holding first place in points for a season-end share in a percentage of all race purses of the year was Buck Baker of Charlotte, N.C., who finished fourth, for $1,975 in a Chevrolet. Baker, the 1953 winner here, has 8,320 championship points.

★ ★ ★

Jim Reed of Peekskill, N.Y., was fifth for $1,500 in a Ford.

Myers was killed when Fonty Flock of Atlanta, 1952 winner, went into a spin. Myers piled directly into him and flipped over into the path of Paul Goldsmith of St. Clair Shores, Mich.

It was the second defeat for Fort Wayne in the double elimination tournament. Both losses were to Sinton.

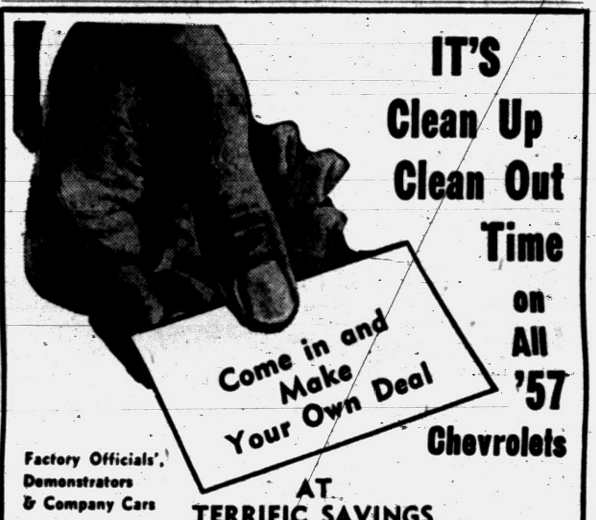

Baltimore Calls Up Dizzy Trout

NEW YORK (INS) — Who's the oldest ball player in the big leagues?

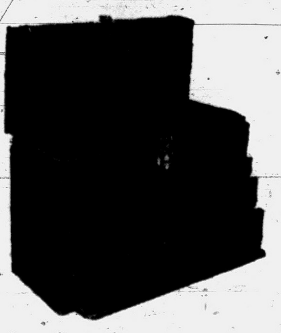

Well, until yesterday, when the Baltimore Orioles brought back Dizzy Trout from retirement, the oldest active player was Walker Cooper, the Cardinals' catcher.

Trout's so ancient that Sal Maglie, the old, old Yankee, might well ask him: How do you throw your curve, poppa?

Japan Again Requests End to Soviet A-Tests

TOKYO (AP)—Japan has called again on the Soviet Union for an immediate suspension of nuclear weapon tests.

The Foreign Ministry announced today that the protest against the tests was made through the Japanese ambassador to Moscow, following a Tass news agency report that Russia exploded a nuclear bomb Aug. 27.

The Japanese also have protested American and British nuclear weapon tests.

Hollywood Headlines

Lauren Bacall Is Grateful for Work to Ease Sorrow

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It was Lauren Bacall's first day at work since the death of Humphrey Bogart, and she was nervous.

"Nervous as I can possibly be," she confessed in her half-kidding, half-serious way, "This is the first time I've started a picture without having Bogey say, 'Good luck, baby.' It's kinda tough, you know."

The whole set knew, and everyone admired her courage. It was her first day on "Our Love" (stand by for a title change any moment), in which she stars with Robert Stack. "It's a real tear-jerker," she reported. "I die in it and get to run the gamut of my emotions—from A to B."

I watched her rehearse her first scene, in which she and Stack meet. She tossed it off with skill, later said she was aided by having worked with director Jean Negulesco in two previous pictures—"A Woman's World" and "How to Marry a Millionaire." Still, she had nerves.

★ ★ ★

"It's been eight months since I did 'Designing Woman,'" she remarked. "Think of all the things that have happened in that time.

"I'm glad to be going back to work. It gives me something to keep myself busy, and I need that desperately. All I've had to do is sit and think. If I hadn't had the children, I would have been in really bad shape."

Her son and her daughter have taken their father's loss well, she said, though young Stephen had a difficult adjustment to make at first. Betty (no one ever calls her Lauren) said she planned to put their Holmby Hills house up for sale as soon as she can find another place nearby. The house is too big and there are too many memories there.

★ ★ ★

Her own formula for the future is more work.

"I'd like to go right into another picture if I can find one," she said. "I think work is a good thing for me.

"If I don't go right to work, I'm going to get out of this town for a while. I'm going to make a habit of going to New York regularly; that's my home and I like the life there.

"You have the theater in New York and lots of things to do. Hollywood is no place for a single woman."

Syrians Follow Usual Routine

Ordinary People Show Little Concern About Red Takeover

DAMASCUS (AP)—The man on the Damascus street is little concerned by developments which have propelled Syria into the world spotlight.

★ ★ ★

It is business as usual in shops, movie houses and cafes while the Syrian press voices the government's charge of an American plot to overthrow the current regime and while the West pictures this country as Soviet dominated.

Syrians have never been what can be called pro-American but there has been no outward display of hostility toward Americans.

The shops are full of American and other Western products. Businessmen say sales have never been better.

★ ★ ★

Soviet bloc influence also is visible. Newsstands and bookstores are filled with Communist magazines and literature in English and Arabic. Billboards advertise new model Russian autos.

Sidewalk peddlers sell cheaply made busts of Egypt's Nasser or ashtrays bearing models of Syrian air force planes — including Migs. You'll also find American comic magazines eagerly bought by Syrian youngsters.

American films still predominate at first-run movie houses.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps most affected by the recent events are U. S. Embassy personnel, who found themselves suddenly cut off socially from Syrians.

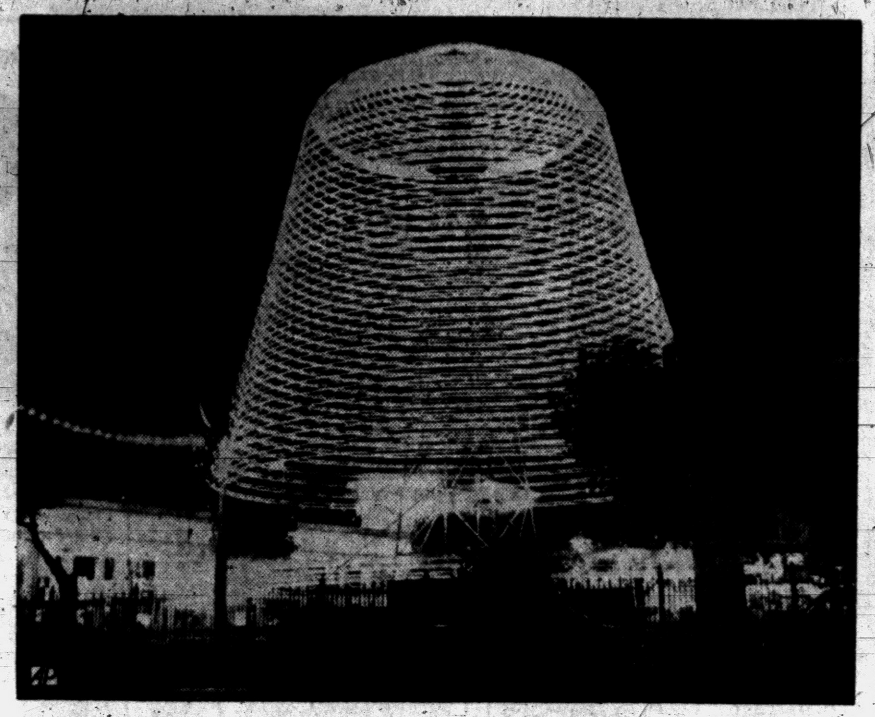

The Syrians, while not hostile toward Americans, apparently did not want to mix with them as friends in the light of current tensions. Syrian acquaintances of Americans still decline invitations to social gatherings which they previously would have accepted.

House Totally Destroyed, Damage Costs for Birds

RACINE, Wis. (AP)—Fire department authorities declared their report of a completely destroyed home with damage of only $10 was absolutely correct.

The "home" was a robin's nest in a neon sign outside a tavern, from which a patron turned in the alarm when a short circuit gave off sparks.

Plans More Evangelistic Work in New York

Graham Goes Home to North Carolina

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Graham has gone back home to North Carolina after his record-setting 3½-month New York crusade, but he will return soon for more evangelistic work in the metropolitan area.

★ ★ ★

He plans to come back to New York Sept. 24 to address a breakfast meeting of New York City clergymen. He will be here again to end a week of evangelism Oct. 27 at the Polo Grounds. The evangelist also plans a few meetings in the vicinity of New York in October.

Graham left here by train after his crusade windup meeting Sunday night in the Times Square area.

★ ★ ★

Gospel hymns echoed through the streets before and after Graham preached from a speakers platform. Thousands of hands waved in the dusk as Graham called for "decisions for Christ."

Traffic was stopped for the early evening meeting, but in the surrounding area, business went on as usual in the theaters, bars and restaurants.

★ ★ ★

Noting that Times Square "is primarily a place of amusement, money making, drinking, eating and merry-making," Graham told the crowd: "Tonight for a few moments it is being turned into a great cathedral as a symbol of the spiritual revival that is now in progress in the United States. Let us tell the whole world tonight that we Americans believe in God."

Graham held his last Madison Square Garden meeting Saturday night with a capacity crowd of 19,200. More than 7,000 more were outside.

★ ★ ★

Disagreement continues over the size of the crowd at the Times Square meeting.

In addressing the meeting, Graham said it had never "been my privilege to speak to 200,000 before."

Chief Inspector Thomas A. Nielson of the Police Department estimated the crowd at 75,000.

Dairy Farmer Wins $104,000 in Video Quiz

NEW YORK (AP)—Dairy farmer Harold Craig, of Granville, N.Y., has upped his TV quiz show winnings to $104,000.

The 26-year-old Craig reached that figure last night on the NBC show Twenty-one.

Craig defeated John Baird, 35, Los Angeles industrial consultant, in their fourth game, 21-11, at $2,000 a point. They had tied in three previous games.

Baird came within one answer of beating Craig in a question on bodies of water. Leading 10-0, Baird was asked to name the African lake considered the chief source of the Nile River and the three countries bordering the lake. The question was an 11-point one.

★ ★ ★

He named Lake Victoria as the source and Kenya and the Belgian Congo. The correct answer was Lake Victoria, Kenya, Tanganyika and Uganda.

Craig returns next Monday night to say whether he will continue in the game.

2 Illinois Pairs Held in Robbery

Booked in Kidnaping, Beating Business Man Formerly of Muskegon

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Two Illinois couples have been booked on suspicion of robbery and kidnaping in the beating and robbery of a former Muskegon, Mich., man.

Police identified the couples yesterday as Mr. and Mrs. Peter Joseph Consentino of Park Ridge, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. William Haag of Chicago.

Paul Albert Beckquist, 53-year-old camera store proprietor who formerly lived in Muskegon, was found Saturday tied to a bed in a locked motel. He had been beaten and robbed.

Hospital officials said his condition remained serious. Police have not been able to question him.

Police Chief William S. Orr said the two couples refused to discuss the case. They were arrested after police became suspicious of their actions as they drove through town. A key to the motel room in which Beckquist was found was in their possession, the chief said.

★ ★ ★

The Consentinos at first identified themselves as Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Walicki of Hickory, Tenn.

Walicki, however, turned up visiting relatives at Jackson, Mich. He said his auto license plates and other identification had been stolen while he and his wife were on their honeymoon last month.

American Imperialism Wins?

Reds Call Gum Protection

BUDAPEST (AP) — Chewing gum, often denounced in Communist countries as a corrupt product of American imperialism, is now being made in Hungary. What is more, it's being touted as a guard against diseases.

Esti Hirlap, Budapest's only evening newspaper, carried this paid notice:

★ ★ ★

"Ninety per cent of cases of infantile paralysis, dysentery and abdominal typhus come through the mouth. An excellent preventive is mouth disinfectant chewing gum. One round piece, packed in aluminum foil and silk paper, costs 2 forints (about 8 cents).

★ ★ ★

"One sheet 18x68 mm. The size of an American stick of gum costs 3 forints (about 13 cents). It can be obtained at all better private tobacco shops and grocers."

Hungary has been having its worst polio epidemic this summer. Asked about the possible effect of gum chewing on the disease, one of Budapest's leading pediatricians replied: "That's just a bad joke. It can't do anything at all."

Moon Usable as Relay Point for Radio, Radar

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Naval scientists reported today that the moon can be used as a radio relay station.

Voice messages as well as radar signals have been successfully transmitted to the moon and echoed back to earth through use of high frequency radar equipment, they said.

The results of six years of experiments were outlined by James H. Trexler and Benjamin S. Yaplee of the Naval Research Laboratory in papers prepared for a meeting of the International Scientific Radio Unions.

★ ★ ★

As early as 1951, they said, their experiments convinced them that although the moon looks rough, it is comparatively smooth to radar waves. They theorized that it might therefore serve as a relay station for radio communication. They said this has since been confirmed.

Busy Boats Become Obsolete Nov. 1

Tourists Bid Goodby to Straits Ferries

MACKINAW CITY (AP)—Dozens of Michigan residents flocked here last weekend to pay their last respect to the little ferries which have carried autos and people across the Straits of Mackinac for years.

The ferries will become obsolete Nov. 1 when the bright, new 100-million dollar Mackinac Bridge is opened to traffic and ties Michigan's Upper and Lower Peninsulas together with a ribbon of steel for the first time.

The Labor Day weekend is the last holiday weekend the ferries lug cars and passengers across the Straits. They did their best to keep up with the flow, but the press of traffic proved too much. There were times when long lines of autos waited patiently at the docks for their turn to cross.

Those who preferred to go across for the last time without their cars paid a quarter for the ride and a worker at the docks said some of them took as many as three trips to bid farewell to the ships.

FORESEE GOOD TIMES

Area residents, both in St. Ignace and Mackinaw City, regarded the flood of cars as a portent of things to come. Most were agreed that when the bridge opens business is going to get better, although it may take a few years.

★ ★ ★

Some of the businessmen think that when the ferries go, their trade will drop because the autos can zip on across without having to wait for the little boats to carry them.

Others feel that the bridge will increase tourist travel—and tourists usually make for good business.

Typical is Mayor Al Phillips of St. Ignace.

"Nobody knows what's going to happen, but we're hoping for the best. Losing the ferry and bridge payrolls around the same time is bound to hurt some. No doubt the bridge will make better merchants of all of us. But we believe the bridge is bound to be an asset—after maybe two years," Phillips said.

The New York City Visitors and Convention Bureau receives thousands of requests for aid. One was from an out-of-town visitor who received a police summons for staying in Central Park past the midnight curfew.

Wall Street Hit by Uncertainty

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed early today after a generally higher opening.

Leading issues showed plus or minus signs ranging from fractions to around a point. Trading was moderately active at the start then became quiet.

★ ★ ★

Wall Street was dominated by a feeling of uncertainty as to the general trend of business and the market after the traditional Labor Day turning point. Traders awaited some clarification.

Meanwhile, current business news was mixed. An upturn was reported in orders for steel, but copper prices continued lower and there were reports of cutbacks and layoffs.

Chemicals, rubbers, nonferrous metals, airlines, some aircrafts and other selected issues made gains. But rails were lower. Steels and motors drifted toward the downside.

U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler and Caterpillar took slight losses. Douglas Aircraft was up more than a point.

Other gainers were United Aircraft, Anaconda, Kennecott, Eastern Air Lines, Royal Dutch, Union Carbide and Texas Co.

Opening blocks included: Westinghouse Electric up ½ at 63¼, on 1,000 shares; Chrysler unchanged at 78 on 2,700; and General Motors off ¼ to 43 on 1,000.

Hospital Vote Plan on Agenda

Ordinance on Second Reading at Commission Meeting Tonight

The City Commission will continue to map plans tonight for the Oct. 28 Pontiac General Hospital bond issue election.

Scheduled for its second reading and adoption will be an ordinance approving the issuance of $950,000 worth of general obligation bonds aimed at providing the money to equip and furnish the $4,000,000 wing.

Commissioners might settle on whether the issuance of the bonds will mean a tax increase. Last Wednesday a stalemate resulted on the question.

A letter from J. A. McDonald, chairman of the Oakland County Department of Social Welfare, will inform the commission what steps the county has taken regarding the county-owned substandard housing units in Pontiac's north side.

The Chamber of Commerce has submitted its appreciation to the city for its participation in the recent 50th anniversary celebration of Pontiac Motor Division.

Other matters on a short seven point agenda include two public works confirmations, and mortgage waiver request regarding construction of a new building at the city airport.

Wheat and Corn Stronger Today

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat and corn moved fractionally higher on the board of trade today, strengthened, at least temporarily, but the belief that a goodly amount of September deliveries have gone into government loans.

Aside from indications that producers had decided to place their grains in Commodity Credit Corp. inventories, there was little news of importance to affect the trade. Spain purchased two cargoes of hard wheat and Colombia was reported to have taken a substantial amount of flour.

Corn advanced fractionally on cash and commission house buying and reports that the United Kingdom had made purchases of the feed grain. Soybeans started the week as much as a cent lower, with trading influenced by ideal weather for the maturing crop.

Near the end of the first hour new style wheat was unchanged to 1¼ higher, Sept. $2.17½, corn was ½ to 1 cent higher, Sept. $1.23, oats were ¼ to ⅜ higher, Sept. 66, rye was ½ to ¾ higher, Sept. $1.30½, soybeans were ½ to 1¼ lower, Sept. $2.38¾, and lard was 12 to 20 cents a hundred pounds lower, Sept. $12.35.

Clawson Woman Hurt Landing Plane

Mrs. Dolores M. Wirt, 28-year-old Clawson woman pilot making her first cross-country solo yesterday, narrowly escaped with her life.

As it was, her plane ran out of gas and she suffered an inch-long cut on her chin as her rented two-seater bounced to a landing in a field at Davison.

Mrs. Wirt rented the plane at Birmingham and flew to Marysville where she landed.

She then started for Lapeer but ran into a storm squall, which took her off-course.

★ ★ ★

She finally sighted Bishop Airport at Flint, but as her gas was almost out and she did not want to endanger residents, she flew out to a farm field where she circled and landed "dead stick," just as her fuel ran out.

The plane's right wing and landing gear suffered minor damagge.

Seek to Better Steel in Labs

12 Research Projects Include Material Use, Improved Methods

NEW YORK — The steel industry in a bid to produce better and more economical steel is seeking tomorrow's answers today in a score of universities, foundations and laboratories throughout the country.

The official publication of American Iron and Steel Institute says the Institute-sponsored General Research Committee is engaged in twelve major research projects with the emphasis on physical chemistry of iron and steelmaking, stream and air pollution abatement and welding.

The publication says the work supplements the research program being carried on by the individual iron and steel companies.

Among other projects the Committee is engaged include helping find more efficient use of available raw materials, perfecting design criteria for stainless steels for structural uses, improving the quality of furnace brick, developing high strength steel bolts for construction and transportation, improving test methods used to evaluate steels for ultrasonic flight and seeking ways to increase the nation's domestic supply of manganese.

The vast research is taking place in such diversified locations as the University of California, Harvard School of Public Health, Pennsylvania State University, the Kettering Institute, National Bureau of Standards, the University of Utah, Battelle Memorial Institute, Cornell, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the Southern Research Institute.

5 Union Officials Hanged in Effigy by Angry Wives

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Thirty wives of union members took advantage of Labor Day to hang five union officials in effigy.

In the past the women have picketed the headquarters of Steamfitters Local 250, AFL-CIO plumbers union, complaining of discrimination in the dispatching of workers to jobs.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday the women appeared with an effigy representing Peter Schoemann, international president of the plumbers union, and strung him up in front of the headquarters. They did the same with effigies of four other officials.

★ ★ ★

The women charged union brass with sending out-of-town friends and political supporters on jobs and keeping their opponents out of work.

Schoemann, whose headquarters are in Indianapolis, Ind., recently put Local 250 under the international's supervision. Union officers here have denied the ladies' allegations.

Routine in Homeland

Japanese War Bride, 26, Delivers Own Baby Safely

WINCHESTER, Mass. (INS)—A Japanese war bride, wife of a Ft. Dix, N. J., sergeant, who delivered her own baby last night, said today such deliveries are routine in her native land.

Mrs. Tomike Hubbard, 26, wife of Sgt. 1.C. James Hubbard, was about to leave for New England sanitarium in Stoneham when she discovered she could not wait. She told her sister-in-law, Mrs. Elsie Ferro, "I'll take care of everything. Just send in the doctor when he comes."

Mrs. Ferro's husband, Christopher, meanwhile, telephoned police, and the physician's emergency call service. Dr. Harry L. Benson responded as did police sergeant John Elliott and patrolman Martell.

When they arrived, they were informed Mrs. Hubbard, with the aid of her sister-in-law, and the latter's mother-in-law, Mrs. Rose Ferro, 67, had delivered a seven pound, 13 ounce daughter.

Mother and daughter were taken in the ambulance to Winchester Hospital, where both were reported in good condition.

Hubbard was reached by telephone at Fort Dix and notified he had a new daughter. The elated father said:

"Just what we wanted. Thanks for the stork assist and I'm taking off for home and the new baby just as soon as I can."

★ ★ ★

The Hubbards have a son, James Jr., 15 months. The couple has been married three years and Mrs. Hubbard has been in the United States for two years.

Pistachio Trees Now in America

Extensive Research Is Developing the Crop in Western States

WASHINGTON—A sultan among trees has moved to the United States, bringing its harem.

It is the pistachio, whose rich, flavorsome kernels are chiefly supplied by the growers of the Near East.

★ ★ ★

Familiar as a nibble, the white or red-shelled pistachio nut is also important as a flavoring and coloring agent in ice cream and other confections, the National Geographic Society says. Pistachio is among the most expensive of nuts.

RESEARCH IN PROGRESS

To decrease dependence on imports and add a crop to the western areas where climatic conditions resemble those of the pistachio's native lands, the United States Department of Agriculture has the tree under extensive study at its plant introductory station at Chico, California.

★ ★ ★

A pistachio tree is unisexual. Research indicates that the best planting ratio is one male to a dozen females. More fruit develops if the male tree stands upwind of the group, allowing fine pollen to be carried by the breeze.

In size, the pistachio resembles a spreading apple tree. It grows about 30 feet high. Like the apple, a pistachio will produce fruit heavily one year, little or none the next.

Trees only four or five years old produce a few nuts, but the pistachio's full crops are not borne until it is about 10 years old. A tree lives and bears many decades.

★ ★ ★

Today the world's largest pistachio crops are grown in Iran, Turkey, Afghanistan, Italy, and Syria, with small amounts produced in India, Pakistan, Lebanon, and Tunisia.

DEMAND EXCEEDS SUPPLY

Recent imports have averaged close to 4,000 tons a year, with merchants asking for more. They declare about five times as many pistachio nuts could be sold.

This demand encourages potential growers in the United States. But problems remain, even where the climate is suitable. Growers will have to develop machinery to handle the harvested nuts, the Agriculture Department says. Otherwise the product may not compete with imports from traditional sources, where labor is cheaper.

Shrimp Boats Blessed in Festive Ceremony

FREEPORT, Tex. (AP) — The Freeport shrimping fleet went back to work today.

Some 300 fishing boats were blessed yesterday by the Rev. Thomas J. Prendergast at the annual "Blessing of the Fleet," an ancient custom still observed in several Texas ports.

An estimated 4,000 persons attended the shrimp boil and fish fry and watched the colorfully decorated work craft compete for prizes for the best decorations.

Taps to Sound in Florida for Confederate Vet, 109

CRESTVIEW, Fla. (AP) — Taps, the soldier's requiem, will sound tomorrow for William A. Lundy, Florida's last Confederate veteran and one of only three in the nation.

Lundy died Sunday night at the age of 109. The news brought expressions of regret and a peppery boast of personal vitality from one other onetime wearer of the Gray—Walter Williams, 114, of Houston, Tex.

★ ★ ★

Williams had a 103-degree fever yesterday but said of Lundy's death "I am sorry to hear it. His family has my sympathy and that of my family."

Then Williams predicted he would be the last survivor of the War Between the States. He vowed he would "still outlive the other one"—John Salling, 111, of Slant, Va.

The last wearer of the Blue, Albert Woolson of Duluth, Minn., a onetime Union Army drummer boy, died in 1956.

★ ★ ★

Lundy will be buried with full military honors. A U.S. Army chaplain will officiate at services at the First Baptist Church here, and an Army honor guard will provide final ceremonies. Burial will be in Laurel Hill, 20 miles north of this west Florida town.

Lundy, born near Troy, Ala., was 16 when he served with the Home Guard at Elba, Ala., during the last days of the war. Until he underwent a gall bladder operation last March he remained active and boasted he coul d still draw a bead on a squirrel with his old shotgun.

He never fully recovered from the effects of his gall bladder illness and died in a hospital where he was taken Sunday night with a high fever.

He is survived by six sons and three daughters.

Homes Become Movie Theaters

New Films Are Shown Via Television Sets in Bartlesville, Okla.

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) — About 300 families today began viewing Hollywood's latest films from local movie theaters via their own home television sets.

★ ★ ★

It was the beginning of a unique experiment that has the movie industry, picture producers and distributors watching closely. The Telemovies—known as TM — also could prove the salvation of toll-TV advocates.

TM is piped into the homes by coaxial cable and is outside the Federal Communication Commission's jurisdiction. The films are from four theaters here owned by Video Independent Theaters, Inc., Oklahoma City.

Video is banking on the success of the venture and has tentative plans to make similar installations in some of its 170 other theaters in the Southwest. It has received permits from several cities.

Bartlesville's population is 28,000. Video President Henry S. Griffing said he hopes to have 2,000 subscribers to the service within a year. At the current charge of $9.50 per month per set, 1,500 customers would permit the company to break even, Griffing said.

Officials of the movie industry have been invited here to observe the operation. Public acceptance of the system could mean a nationwide movement for similar setups. Griffing said movie makers look favorably toward Telemovies as one method of increasing their market, cut by television.

Bartlesville, 60 miles north of Tulsa, receives the three major TV networks and was selected for the test so it could be determined if the fresh movies could provide strong competition with TV.

★ ★ ★

The films, one a day, are continuous from noon until midnight and are received in black and white.

SPEEDSTERS — Air Force supersonic craft at Edwards AFB, Calif., include (from bottom) F-104 Starfighter, F-100 Super Sabre, F-102 Delta Dagger, F-101 Voodoo, F-105 Thunder Chief.

Boardwalk Site of Miss America Parade Tonight

ATLATIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — A group of 51 beauties competing for the title of Miss America 1958 make their first official public appearance tonight in a parade down this resort community's famed boardwalk.

The girls begin actual competition tomorrow night in three categories — swim suit, evening gown and talent. Personality tests will also be given through interviews with judges.

★ ★ ★

The pageant ends Saturday night, when the judges select a successor to Marian Ann McKnight of Manning, S.C., last year's title holder.

★ ★ ★

The girls — representing 45 states, Puerto Rico, Canada, Hawaii, Chicago, Washington, D.C. and New York City—are seeking a jackpot of prizes including $30,000 in scholarships. The only states not represented are Wyoming, Montana and Washington.

While the rest of the nation enjoyed the Labor Day holiday yesterday, the girls got down to register and receiving a kit of badges, ribbons and rules.

Gary to Croon Dad's Old Song

'American Bandstand' Features Kids Dancing to Recordings

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — First two stars signed for the Standard Oil TV spectacular Oct. 13 were great clowns Bert Lahr and Jimmy Durante, who'll work together . . .

Gary Crosby will sing dad Bing's old movie song, "The Road to Morocco," Oct. 6 when the Groaner's soldier son guests on TV with Bob Hope. One line of that song always gave us a giggle: "Just like Webster's dictionary, we're Morocco bound."

Dick Clark, emcee of ABC-TV's "American Bandstand," which has no bands, just recordings, is better than his show which is just another of those teenaged-kids-dancing - in - the-studio plus a guest star mouthing the words while his hit recording whirls . . .

Asked to do a few songs Sept. 17-18 for the American Legion's national convention in Atlantic City, the McGuire sisters demanded $10,000 . . . Will a few better performers with longer patriotic memories work for less?

Rack up the cool and modern new "What's My Line" musical theme as another success for Sascha Burkand, who seems to be giving radio and TV commercials an era of intelligence. . .so commercials get better while programs get worse . . .

PRACTICAL PATRICE

Patrice Munsel has a blithely practical attitude toward her ABC-TV series: "If it's a hit I'll stay on the air for a long time. If not, I'll have another baby." . . .

The top summer replacement shows (says ARB) are Julius La Rosa, Those Whiting Girls, the Web . . .

Everett Sloane will get a vacation from all those executive suite TV roles: The fine character actor will star in "Official Detective," a filmed half-hour series due this fall . . .

Gypsy Rose Lee has the better publicized figure in her family but the far better figure actually belongs to sister June Havoc.

Steve Allen has moved into the bleak old NBC offices of "America After Dark."

THE NEXT PRESLEY

Unique records have the next Presley—Jericho Brown, a singing six-foot-sixer . . .

Connie Bennett, who earned the highest Hollywood film salaries back-when ($30,000 a week), reported to Fox to star in a filmed TV coffee commercial.

Ex-Cabbie From U. S. Huge Success in Brazil

By EARL WILSON

SAO PAULO, Brazil—One of the richest men in Brazil today is ex-cab-driver Jose Tjurs, who'd like to thank a Chicago all-girl orchestra for giving him the courage to quit hacking 25 years ago.

WILSON

★ ★ ★

"The Sam Goldwyn of Brazil" is what they call Jose — a plump, dynamic, middleaged Russian Jew who's building a Rockefeller Center which he, however, has named "the Little Feller Center."

"You're quite a success story," somebody mentioned.

"Yes," he answered modestly. "I guess I'm the modern version of the Alger Hiss stories." He meant, of course, the Horatio Alger stories.

Jose was showing me around his new $10,000,000 shopping center—the first in Brazil—when I asked him how he quit driving a hack.

★ ★ ★

"An all-girls orchestra called 'The Ingenues of New York'—they were from Chicago—came to Buenos Aires in 1932," he remembered.

Their manager was named Edward Sherman and he was married to Mina Smith. I drove them around and became their secretary. Mr. Sherman said to me I should quit driving a taxi. He said I could do more.

"I have looked for him for years just to say thanks, but I can't find him," he lamented.

★ ★ ★

One of the loudest exclaimers of the proposition that Sao Paulo with its modernistic skyscrapers is "the Chicago of Brazil," he's even gone looking in Chicago for his old friends of the taxi days. Claiming that Brazil is an unappreciated land of opportunity, making more millionaires a month than Texas, he says, "Anyway, what is a millionaire but an ordinary man with a lot of money?"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . IN NEW YORK . . .

Linda Christian sold her memoirs for $38,000, but hasn't written 'em yet. (Her newest romance is comic George DeWitt) . . . Ed Wynn says he'll never write or film his bio: "I'm leaving that to Keenan as a legacy" . . . Rosalind Russell, who boasts she's never backed a flop play, has a bundle in the soon-due "Music Man" . . . Finnish beauty Taina Elg gets her first big role in "Les Girls." . . . Now there's a hot water bottle shaped like Jayne Mansfield.

Barney Ross' biography will be condensed by a magazine, under the title, "No Man Stands Alone" . . .

TAINA

EARL'S PEARLS . . . It's useless to hold a man to anything he says while he's in love, drunk or running for office . . . That's earl, brother.

Police Hold Six in Girl's Death

Believe Teenage Gang Intended Auto Ambush Against Rival Group

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police are holding six members of a teenage gang for the death of a girl killed—by mistake, officers believe—in an ambush of an automobile.

Detectives say the members of the Little Quarters gang set the ambush because they thought the Florence gang was out to get them.

★ ★ ★

Sunday night the Little Quarters fired a fusillade of shots at a car they thought was carrying rival gang members, police said. Instead the car contained Emilie Guzman, 18, and some friends — all pals of the boys who laid the ambush.

★ ★ ★

Emilie died with a .22 caliber bullet in the head. Police rounded up six youths from 16 to 22 and booked them on suspicion of murder.

Names of three juveniles were withheld. Others booked were Frank Cordova, 22, Charles M. Gonzales, 20, and Pete Hernandez, 22.

State Fair Honors City's Nye Dairy

Nye Dairy, of 585 Oakland Ave., has received a top honor in the dairy products competition at the 108th annual Michigan State Fair.

Nye Dairy cottage cheese tickled the taste buds of the judges, and received a blue ribbon.

★ ★ ★

Other blue ribbon winners in this division were Dean's Dairy, Berrien Springs; Lansing Dairy, Lansing; McDonald Dairy, Flint; and Twin Pines Dairy, Detroit.

The fair continues through Sunday.

All Kerala Schools Under Hindu Reds

TRIVANDRUM, India (AP)—State-aided private schools in Kerala, which have helped make the state one of India's most literate, face the threat of total control by a local Communist government. The private educators have threatened to close down.

★ ★ ★

Legislation passed yesterday by the Communist-dominated Legislature empowers the state government to take over any of these schools which it considers mismanaged.

The bill, adopted without a recorded vote, also calls for a government panel of teachers from which all school managers must select instructors.

Education Minister Joseph Mundassery, long active in the Communist party, said the bill will become a model for other Indian states. He said the Red state government "intends eventually to take over all primary schools."

Pontiac Officials to Attend State Municipal Parley

Seven commissioners and seven city officials are expected to leave Pontiac tomorrow to attend the 59th annual Michigan Municipal League Convention to be held Sept. 5-7 at Mackinac Island.

Commissioners attending will be Mayor William W. Donaldson, Roy V. Cooley, Phillip E. Rowston, Floyd P. Miles, John A. Dugan, John E. Carry, and Gilbert W. Long.

Officials to attend will be City Manager Walter K. Willman; Ada R. Evans, city clerk; Oscar Eckman, director of finance; W. Raymond Ransom, assessor; Edward C. Bloe, assistant assessor; Homer D. Hoskins, airport manager; and William A. Ewart, city attorney.

Hawaii's 12th Governor Takes Office Today

HONOLULU (AP) — William F. Quinn, Hawaii's 12th governor has taken office, expressing the hope he will be the last appointed territorial governor and affirming statehood would be one of his major objectives.

The 38-year-old Republican was sworn into office yesterday before Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton.

3rd Such Death in New York Since July

Police Find Boy Hanging From Tree in Vacant Lot

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — State police are investigating the death of 11-year-old William Ruff Jr., who was found Sunday hanging by a clothesline from a tree in a brush-covered vacant lot. It was the third such death of a young boy in the state since July.

Coroner J. Gregory Nealon said "from our preliminary observation and examination, we do not think any foul play is involved" in Ruff's death. However, he said he would issue no verdict until state police had investigated thoroughly.

★ ★ ★

The boy died of asphyxiation, Nealon said.

William was the second oldest of six children of Mr. and Mrs. William Ruff, who live just west of the city.

Edward Ruff, who found the boy, said the line was coiled in a double loop around the boy's neck and his knees were touching the ground.

The youngster died approximately 12 hours before he was discovered in the lot about a block from his home, Nealon said.

Gov. Averell Harriman has ordered his acting investigation commissioner, Arthur L. Reuther, to look into the conduct of officials who investigated a similar hanging at nearby Ballston Lake.

Peter Curran, also 11, was found hanging near his home July 20. The death was first declared accidental, but more than a month later, state police arrested Donald C. Smith, 23, also of Ballston Lake, on a first-degree murder charge.

Dist. Atty. Carleton J. King of Saratoga County has said that Smith, in a written statement, told of luring Peter into the wood and committing sodomy, then hanging the boy for fear he would tell.

Another hanging occurred Aug. 26 in Accord, where 14-year-old Ira Slater was found hanging in the family barn. The Ulster County coroner ruled it a suicide but state police decided to continue their investigation of the case.

Slater, who had been scolded earlier, was found hanging with his arms loosely tied at his side.

President Vetoes Bill for GI Home Loans

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower today vetoed a bill which would have continued a low-interest home loan program for veterans in small towns and rural areas.

He said extension of the program of direct government loans would be inflationary and discriminate against veterans having trouble obtaining regular GI home loans because of the tight money picture.

The special program had been in operation since 1950 to make loans available to ex-servicemen in areas where normal GI home loans could not be obtained.

Mr. Eisenhower noted that Congress rejected the administration's request to raise the interest on home loans from four and one-half to five per cent so that more funds would flow into the program from banks and home mortgage firms.

It would be unfair, he said, to give special treatment to the smaller group of veterans which would have been affected by the vetoed bill.

Lighter Seeding Gets Heavy Crop; Nice Surprise!

BAZINE, Kan. (AP)—Julius Maier planted 10 acres of his milo crop before he discovered his drill was set for only one pound of seed to an acre.

He set the drill for a much heavier rate of seeding and finished sowing, intending to correct his mistake on the 10 acres by reseeding, but he didn't get around to it.

Now the 10 acres promise a bumper yield of 40 to 50 bushels an acre, while the rest of the crop is expected to make only 15 bushels.

Maier had no explanation.

Ordinary Woes Stop Henderson

No Space Available on Washington Flights; Syria Survey Extended

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—State Department trouble-shooter Loy Henderson was grounded by the troubles of an ordinary, non-diplomatic traveler today.

With no room available on flights to Washington, his survey of Syria's recent pro-Soviet swing was extended to a 12th day.

★ ★ ★

The deputy undersecretary of state has used the unexpected extension of his tour to continue conversations with Premier Adnan Menderes, whom he saw Sunday night for the fourth time, and U.S. Ambassador Fletcher Warren.

Henderson arrived here Sunday from Beirut eager to report in Washington on his talks with Middle East leaders and U.S. ambassadors.

There was no indication when he would be able to get reservations taking him home without a stopover.

A Moscow broadcast said last night that the Washington envoy had been forced to end his tour because it "aroused public indignation in Egypt, Syria and other Arab countries." Henderson was recalled to prevent further Arab discontent, the broadcast claimed.

Hold Last Rites Today for Prosecutor O'Brien

DETROIT (INS) — Hundreds of mourners were expected to crowd Detroit's Blessed Sacrament Roman Catholic Church today for the final rites of Wayne County Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien, 59.

O'Brien died in Harper Hospital last Friday after a seven-year battle against Leukemia.

No. 2 Post May Be Wedge

GOP Liberals Plan Way to Senate Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — Self-styled Republican liberals have begun a long-range campaign to place one of their members in the line of succession to the Senate's GOP leadership.

★ ★ ★

As a part of this campaign, the all-out Eisenhower group may avoid any fight over the top leadership post when Sen. Knowland of California steps down from that job at the end of his term next year.

Instead, they are seeking to name one of their number as assistant leader, with the eventual hope of moving him into the top post, and the more immediate aim of strengthening their voice in party policies.

Knowland's announcement he would not run again for the Senate apparently has put Sen. Dirksen of Illinois, now assistant leader, in line for top command in 1959.

Dirksen, once a strong supporter of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, more recently has taken pains to do yeoman service for President Eisenhower whenever he can.

★ ★ ★

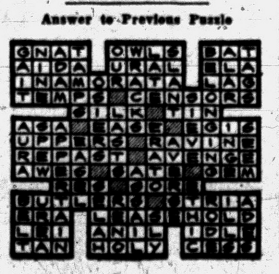

As a result, Eisenhower has made it known he regards Dirksen as a valuable asset among Senate Republicans. With such a view prevailing, the GOP liberals who are not enthusiastic about Dirksen have about come to the conclusion that it would be futile to offer any opposition to him.

Dirksen, of course, probably would have to step aside if either Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) or Sen. Bridges (R-NH) wanted to take over from Knowland. Saltonstall heads the Conference of All GOP Senators. Bridges is chairman of the party's policy committee.

★ ★ ★

Neither Bridges nor Saltonstall has indicated much interest in taking on the daily grind of the floor leadership. In their present positions, they sit in on all White House conferences and are in a position to wield influence among their colleagues.

Minor Mishap Ends in Death

Youth, 19, Shot Dead in Armed Car Clash After Traffic Bump

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Eddie Wiggam, 19, is dead as the result of a clash of armed teen-agers in two speeding cars at nearby Lodi.

Dist. Atty. Irving Corren said Earl Mathews, 16, admitted shooting Wiggam after a minor traffic mishap. He surrendered to police along with his brother Art, 18, shortly after the clash yesterday.

The Mathews brothers told Corren a car driven by Gary Bender, 17, rammed the rear of theirs at a stop light. They said Bender and one of two passengers in his car got out, using vile language, that one took a swing at Art Mathews and then fired a .38 pistol into the air.

Then, the Mathews reported, a chase followed. Finally, Corren said, Mathews fired, hitting the front tire of the Bender car as it passed theirs.

★ ★ ★

When the Bender car stopped, the Mathews said, Wiggam and Dave Cagle, 17, got out and advanced threateningly toward the Mathews car. It was then Earl fired with a sawed-off shotgun, they said. Cagle and Bender were treated for minor injures from the blast.

Corren said no charges had been filed as yet.

Regular Burglaries? Yes, but No Churches

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — Police say Thomas Counts, 48, has admitted burglarizing 22 firms in the past two years, but sturdily denies robbing any churches.

Police Chief Harold Hall said Counts, spotted while trying to enter a doctor's office, was charged with burglary and breaking and entering.

"Only a low-down man would break into a church," said Counts.

12 Liners Dock; Set 1 Day Record

9,300 Travelers Enter New York City; Custom Services Overtaxed

NEW YORK (AP) — About 9,300 transatlantic travelers are disembarking from 12 liners docking here today—a record single-day influx of shipboard passengers in Port of New York history.

With the superliner United States leading the way, the vessels enter into harbor between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. with eight docking in the first hour. There was a severe manpower problem for the customs, immigration and U.S. Public Health inspection services.

★ ★ ★

Seven liners dock in the 13-block Hudson River area bounded by West 44th and West 57th streets.

No case of Asian flu had been reported aboard the 12 vessels, according to Dr. Leo W. Tucker, medical director of the U.S. quarantine station at Rosebank, Staten Island.

Tucker said ships' doctors usually report cases of sickness to the station by at least the day before docking. He said each passenger would be given a brief lookover before leaving a ship unless the ship's doctor has reported the passenger as sick.

★ ★ ★

The Public Health Service had 25 men on hand, with extra men coming from the city's airports.

Harry Edwards, surveyor of customs here, had about 335 officers on duty to examine the 27,000 to 36,000 pieces of luggage expected.

The seven liners docking in the 13-block area are the United States, Queen Mary, Gripsholm, Flandre, Olympic, Mauretania and Independence.

Machine to Turn Corn Into Artificial Rice

MANILA (AP)—A machine to turn corn into artificial rice arrived in Manila today. Government officials hope its output will be acceptable when real rice—a staple of the native diet—is short.

The machine was invented by Robert I. Kauffman, a 37-year-old attorney from Malden, Mass. Government officials said it can be moved about easily on a trailer and can process enough corn to feed 25,000 people a day at a cost of about 5 cents a person.

To Buck 2 Top Republicans

Knowland After Big Stake

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

William Fife Knowland, never one to duck a scrap, apparently is rushing headlong into one in his native California and the stakes are high—the Presidency of the United States.

If the fight materializes, it promises to be a dilly, with Knowland first bucking GOP Gov. Goodwin J. Knight and later Knight's political enemy, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The 49-year-old Senate Republican leader has not made it official. But it would surprise everyone if he didn't run for governor next year and, if successful, for the GOP presidential nomination in 1960.

This grim, dedicated, respected ex-newspaper publisher made clear his presidential ambitions in 1955 when it appeared President Eisenhower might have to forego a second term because of a heart attack.

As his only son, Joe, described the situation at the time: " . . . He was so happy when he was getting ready to run for president that he was bubbling."

LEARNED ROPES EARLY

Knowland learned the political ropes from his father, a Congressman, and was making campaign speeches for the Harding-Coolidge ticket at the age of 12.

"Billy," as his family calls him, obtained an A.B. degree from the University of California in three and a half years, then went to work on his father's Oakland Tribune—all the while pursuing his political career.

In 1932, on his first try for public office, he won the GOP primary and the election for the state assembly at the age of 25—the youngest man in the lower chamber.

A little more than 12 years later, while an army major, he became the youngest member of the U. S. Senate when Chief Justice Earl Warren, then California's governor, appointed him to fill the vacancy created by Hiram Johnson's death.

He quickly made his presence felt and four years after being elected to the seat in 1948 he was ready to challenge for the GOP leadership of the upper house.

He yielded, however, to Sen. Robert A. Taft, but a year later, when stricken with what proved to be his fatal illness, the Ohioan picked the hard-working Knowland as his successor.

★ ★ ★

Knowland is married to the former Helen Herrick. They have two daughters—Estella and Emelyn—in addition to son Joe.

Hotels Filled So Marine Bunks in Police Car

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Even though sleeping accommodations were almost impossible to find here over the Labor Day weekend, Marine Sgt. Donald Moffit could have done better than he did.

Police found him sleeping in one of their patrol cars temporarily parked downtown.

See Record Enrollment for Detroit Schools

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit public schools open their doors tomorrow to an estimated enrollment of 285,000, a new record. The figure is an increase of 7,650 over last year.

Parochial schools resume classes Thursday, with some 165,000 students, or a 6,500 increased, anticipated.
