Castro Calls Rally of 500,000 to Back Killing

Bloomfield Girl Reigns

She's State's Junior Miss

A 17-year-old Pontiac Central High School senior smiled as she danced into the hearts of the judges last night, but the tears fell freely and she trembled when she heard she was selected Michigan's first Junior Miss.

MICHIGAN'S JUNIOR MISS—Selected as tops in personality, beauty and talent last night and winner of the first Michigan's Junior Miss Pageant was Shirley Gail Hutchison, 17, of 2086 Lakewood Lane, Bloomfield Township. The Pontiac Central High School senior, chosen over 11 other contestants, now will compete in America's Junior Miss Pageant in Mobile, Ala., in March. The Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored the state contest.

Winner of the statewide contest was Shirley Gail Hutchison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Hutchison of 2086 Lakewood Lane, Bloomfield Township. She won the title over 11 other contestants judged on personality, beauty and talent.

Shirley gracefully toe-danced to Tchaikovsky's "Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairies." Then she quickly changed costume, personality and mood for her own tap dancing interpretation of the "Charleston."

Runner-up in the contest was Toni Sharon Bogue, a senior at Niles (Mich.) High School. Barbara Parker of 2908 Midvale St., Avondale Township, an Avondale High School senior, walked off with the third place trophy.

Judging of the contest, sponsored by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, took place at Rotunda Inn in West Bloomfield Township.

Shirley, who has been dancing for 12 of her 17 years, is now looking forward to her first plane flight in March. One of the prizes she won was a plane trip to Mobile, Ala. and all accommodations for the March 3-7 America's Junior Miss Pageant which she will now enter.

There, the Pontiac Motor Division will provide her with a 1959 Pontiac to drive during the five-day miniature Miss America contest sponsored by the national Jaycees.

A brown-eyed, brunette Shirley is a teacher at the Love School of Music & Dance in Pontiac on Saturdays and Mondays after school. This year she will work in summer stock in New London, N.H.

But Shirley's ultimate goal after a dancing career is "to get married to a man like my father."

Shirley received a dress by Peggy's Women's Apparel, a sweater from the Lion Store, a certificate to have her portrait taken by Has-kill Studios and one for a pair of shoes from Georges-Newports, a matching necklace, bracelet and earring set from Connolly's Jewelers, plus a trophy and spray of flowers from the Jaycees.

Ike and Mikoyan Discuss Views Nearly 2 Hours

Soviet Visitor Cites 'Useful Exchange' of Ideas After Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Anastas I. Mikoyan discussed U.S.-Soviet differences for an hour and 45 minutes today and Mikoyan said they agreed they had a "useful exchange of views."

The Soviet deputy premier delivered a personal message from Premier Nikita Khrushchev wishing Eisenhower good health and "success on the road to better relations between our two countries."

"The President thanked me and asked me to convey similar warm greetings to our prime minister," Mikoyan reported.

Secretary of State Dulles and other officials participated in the conference which began at 9 a.m. in Eisenhower's office.

Mikoyan, wearing his usual outdoor dress of dark gray overcoat and blue plaid scarf, walked into a room where reporters hastily gathered after the conference.

It had been generally expected that the meeting with Eisenhower would last at least two full hours since about 50 per cent of the time was devoted to translations between the Russian and English languages.

Mikoyan began by saying he supposed the newsmen had a "shower of questions" ready. But, he said, he would not be able to answer them because as all could see "I have my coat on all ready and am not prepared to hold a press conference."

"I can say we held an exchange of views on many matters of mutual interest. We did not conduct negotiations but tried to find the positions of our countries on many matters," Mikoyan said.

"This was not a negotiation but a useful exchange of views. At the end, the President, the Secretary of State and we all came to the conclusion that the exchange was useful."

After the brief statement, Mikoyan broke off the session with reporters saying in English: "Thank you and good by." Eisenhower and Mikoyan presumably discussed the problems of Berlin, a divided Germany and disarmament.

Mikoyan arrived at the White House about two minutes before his 9 a.m. appointment time. He was met by Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpastor, White House staff secretary. Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov and interpreter Oleg Troyanovsky accompanied Mikoyan.

IKE INSPECTS ATOMIC DEVICE—President Eisenhower inspects a small atomic device for production of electricity—a development hailed as a major achievement by Atomic Energy Commission officials. With the president are Maj. Gen. Donald J. Keirn, center, the AEC's chief of aircraft reactors, and AEC Chairman John A. McCone.

Midget Atomic Battery Is Revolutionary Device

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government has come up with a trifling little gadget that may revolutionize the power industry.

It is a five-pound device roughly resembling an old-fashioned flatiron. Its descendants could make obsolete all the cumbersome and costly plants now supplying the power needs of man.

This gadget, called SNAP III, was announced by the Atomic Energy Commission yesterday by way of the White House. It is a device for converting heat energy directly into electrical energy.

It doesn't bother with steam, turbines, generators, or any rotating machinery whatsoever.

Col. Jack Armstrong, deputy chief of the AEC's aircraft reactor division, today predicted such batteryless power might also be used in the future to:

Provide juice for instruments in large, unmanned satellites for long periods of time; furnish shelter heat and power for communications and weather instruments in remote areas like the Arctic and Antarctic; provide new types of navigational aid for air and sea traffic; and allow use of radio-controlled beacons which might forecast the development of hurricanes.

The device employs radioactive polonium 210 as a heat source and chemicals which convert the heat into electricity without any moving parts.

The AEC calls it SNAP III—short for system for nuclear auxiliary power.

The development at present consists of a five-pound device, 4 1/4 inches in diameter and 5 1/2 inches high—somewhat resembling a flatiron.

He said the men were identified as milkmen when customers recognized some persons in the group.

The milkmen refused to speak to store employees, answering all questions with a "no comment."

Borst said the police were not called because there was no need for them.

"They were perfectly within their rights," he commented. "Lots of our customers are milkmen."

51 Feared Dead in Airliner Crash

Find Only 1; Argentine Plane Plunges Into Sea Just Before Landing

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—An Argentine airliner with 52 persons aboard crashed into the Atlantic Ocean Friday night off the seaside resort of Mar del Plata. Only one survivor was found.

Almost four hours after the vacation flight crashed a man was found alive on the beach, his clothes burned or ripped off. All others on the twin-engine plane apparently perished. Only three bodies were recovered in predawn darkness.

Searchers who were hampered by stormy waters said many of those in the plane presumably were trapped inside and drowned.

The airliner was on a special summertime vacation flight from Buenos Aires to Mar del Plata, 240 miles to the south, and then to Bahia Blanca, another 260 miles west.

It was coming in for a landing at Mar del Plata in windy and rainy weather when it smashed into the ocean about 150 yards from shore.

One eyewitness said he heard the plane's engines fall just before the crash.

A caretaker at a resort park said the plane apparently developed trouble as it came down for a landing, tried to regain altitude and then plunged into the sea. He said he heard a terrific explosion.

Tsermengas Guilty; His Wife Collapses

Demitrios "Jimmy" Tsermengas' expectant wife collapsed and was rushed to the hospital yesterday minutes after a Circuit Court jury convicted him of second-degree murder.

Tsermengas, a 40-year-old ex-convict from Texas, was on his way back to the Oakland County jail when his wife, Constance, seven-months pregnant with their fourth child, was overcome with grief.

Six men and six women jurors had just found Tsermengas guilty as charged of killing George Kean, a Texas hoodlum, after deliberating one hour and 47 minutes. He could receive anywhere from one year to life in prison when Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty passes sentence Jan. 26.

A Pontiac Fire Department inhalator squad was called to the courtroom when friends of Mrs. Tsermengas yelled for help. She was carried from the courthouse on a stretcher and taken to Pontiac General Hospital where she later was released.

'Human Ice Cube' Uses 'Antifreeze'

SAULT STE. MARIE (UPI)—A "human ice cube," who doctors said was kept alive for 12 hours in zero weather because of a heavy concentration of alcohol in his blood, fought today to recover.

Dr. William F. Mertaugh said it was a nip and tuck battle between life and death for 55-year-old William Korbi whose body temperature had been down to a few degrees above freezing.

Korbi was frozen "stiff as a board" when he was found along a road on Drummond Island in Upper Michigan early yesterday.

Mertaugh said alcohol was so concentrated in Korbi's blood stream it literally acted as antifreeze and prevented the blood from icing and bursting the blood vessels.

Korbi was en route to a friend's house on the island when he stopped to rest along the road. Two surveyors, John Hewett of Sault Ste. Marie and Leroy Adams of Detroit, rushed him to War Memorial Hospital.

Mertaugh said the temperature at his ankles was 39 degrees and in the toes probably was at the freezing point.

Mertaugh theorized that after sitting down in the snow, Korbi kept taking drinks from two bottles of liquor until his arms became so frozen he couldn't raise the bottle.

The two nearly empty bottles were found beside him. He was conscious when found, but unable to move.

It would take several days, perhaps as long as two weeks, to determine whether it would be necessary to amputate any arms or legs, the doctor said.

Absolutely Not! Say Veterans

Refuse to Support Plan to Use Trust Fund in State's Financial Crisis

LANSING (AP)—A flat no. That was the answer of spokesmen for organized veterans when Gov. Williams bid for support of his plan to bail the state out of its tightening cash emergency.

Afterwards, Williams told newsmen the state might "hit the wall" financially as early as mid-February, but that he was unable to predict the time with exactness and it could be later.

"This evil day keeps staring us in the face," he sighed last night.

Williams received the word about 6 p.m. from veterans leaders in the executive office where they had returned after an hours' conference earlier in the day and then retiring for a private huddle.

"We unanimously agree that no tampering, changes or alterations affecting the 50 million dollar veterans trust fund are acceptable to the organized veterans," said a typewritten statement handed to him.

Nicholas R. Firis, state commander of the Marine Corps League, acted in behalf of himself and commanders of seven other major veterans organizations.

In brief, the Governor's plan is to lend the bulk of securities in the veterans fund to hard-up state universities which would mortgage them with banks to raise operating cash.

Firis explained that he and the other leaders were under state convention mandates and could give no other answer. Williams said he understood, but asked them to think more about it as "citizens."

Later, during a dinner hour discussion on the state's plight with newsmen, Williams said he might launch some sort of campaign to further impress on the public the gravity of the situation.

Distribution of informative leaflets and television appearances were possibilities, he said.

The Governor recently appealed to large industrial and business taxpayers to send in their remittances ahead of spring deadlines.

Above all else, he said, the state will strive to keep current on pay-rolls, welfare payments and constitutional commitments, such as debt service and rebate of shared state taxes to local governments.

He insisted he saw no alternative to utilizing, although not liquidating, the vets' trust fund.

Cuban Leader Raps U. S. for 'Gunboat' Role

Mass Meeting Set Up to Demand Return of 'War Criminals'

From Our News Wires

HAVANA—Fidel Castro has called for a 500,000-man mass meeting Wednesday to "reject foreign intervention" and demand that the United States return "Batista war criminals" and their money.

In a bitterly anti-American speech last night, Castro accused the United States of resorting to the "defamation" and "gunboat diplomacy" against his regime because it includes no one "they can buy or bribe."

He called on his supporters to stage "the most gigantic concentration of our nation has ever seen" outside the Cuban "white house" Wednesday.

Castro's attack on the United States was a reaction to congressional criticism of the wholesale executions of supporters of ousted ex-President Fulgencio Batista now going on throughout Cuba.

He called on unions, civic organizations, students, commerce and industry to "assemble massively before the presidential palace in a demonstration for justice and demand that the United States return the war criminals and the millions of dollars they took with them."

In Washington, American officials said today the United States may have to return escaped supporters of ousted dictator Batista to Cuba to stand trial if the new rebel government accused them of serious crime such as murder.

But these officials said that under the U. S.-Cuban extradition treaty this country would not have to send back persons cited only for political offenses.

450 TO DIE
Castro estimates that 450 persons will die before the current wave of executions ends in Cuba.

Already 250 persons have been reported shot on charges of crimes against the people during the dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista. Cuban prisons recently held an estimated 5,000 to 6,000 more for trial on similar charges, but some have been released and others given jail terms.

Castro gave his estimate to a crowd of about 10,000 in front of the presidential palace Friday night.

The Cuban people generally have applauded the trials and executions. Police broke up 200 persons in front of a police station Friday demonstrating for lynching of one suspect.

He Wants Paper to Ask His Son to Come Home

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A father with worry in his voice called the Knoxville Journal Friday night and asked if he could "run a piece in the paper about my boy."

"He ran away from home Thursday and we haven't heard from him since," he explained. "I want him to please come home."

Asked his son's age, the father replied, "he's 37."

Fire Routs Families Into 13 Below Cold

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Frozen hose lines hampered firemen in battling a spectacular fire in a downtown business block here today.

The blaze, which broke out at 2 a.m., routed four families into 13 below zero weather.

The fire apparently started in the basement of a clothing store in the Barrish block on Sault Ste. Marie's main Ashmun street.

Flames spread rapidly through the wooden building and shot through the roof.

The city's entire fire fighting force and all available reserves were called out.

The building owner, Max Barrish, estimated the loss at $125,000.

'That Gold's Mine,' Says Gas Attendant

CORSICANA, Tex. (UPI)—Secret Service agents from Dallas were expected here today to ask a 38-year-old service station attendant, father of eight children, about the $2,408,000 in gold bricks he says he found and hid.

But the owner, if he has it, appeared in no hurry to give it up.

U. S. Attorney William Steger said yesterday he asked the agents to question D. E. Jones, and "make a demand upon him for the gold, if he has it, in behalf of the federal government."

Jones, who works from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. in a service station to support his family, said he found 86 bars of gold last May 17, in a berry patch east of Alto, Tex.

Jones said his eye was attracted by something that looked like a jar sticking out of the ground. He dug it up, and it was a gold bar, weighing about 50 pounds.

His interest aroused, he dug further and found 85 bars more. He said he borrowed a truck to haul the gold away.

Jones wouldn't say where he stored it — although he denied burying it — but stated that he held on to it for a year in the belief that after that time no one could question his right to it.

However, Steger said an ordinary citizen is not allowed by law to possess more gold than the fillings in his teeth, certain coins and jewelry.

He added that the law provides for a fine of twice the value of the metal, should Jones refuse to hand it over to the government. The estimated value of 86 bars of gold, weighing 50 pounds each, is $2,408,000.

They'll Help Youngsters Mark 50th Anniversary

MOUNT PLEASANT, Utah (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Peter Peterson, who celebrated their 80th wedding anniversary last month, will help the youngsters celebrate Tuesday.

Their oldest son and his wife, the A. L. Petersons will observe their golden anniversary.

Jones declined to tell reporters where he had cached it, but "I never said I buried it, like some places in the newspapers said," he stated.

"I have it in a safe place." Smiling at suggestions the gold might have been placed in the berry patch by Cuban revolutionaries who intended to buy guns with it, Jones said "that gold was there a long time."

'PECULIAR FRAGMENTS'

"I know that particular area had not been disturbed in 50 years. I talked with other persons who were pretty old and they told me they don't think that area has been disturbed for around 100 years," he said.

There were "peculiar looking fragments" among the bars, he added, which might have been decayed wood or cowhide.

Jones said he was assured by the owner of the property where he found the treasure that he would make no challenge for ownership. Anything Jones gives him, the property owner was reported to have said would be like "getting candy from heaven."

Jones' feelings about the treasure were summed up in his remark that "if anybody tries to take it, I am going to act like the alligator when the pond dried up."

He maintained, however, he intended to help the government "in every way."

Castro Calls Mass to Back Executions

Newspapers in Brazil, Peru, Ecuador, Argentina and Costa Rica have called for a halt to the bloodshed. The Uruguayan representative to the United Nations appealed to Provisional President Manuel Urrutia to stop the killings.

Other Latin-American delegates at the U.N. reportedly are planning a similar appeal. U.S. Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) suggested in Washington that Castro invite U.N. observers to check the trial and execution methods.

PAY ADVANCE TAXES

Some U.S. and Cuban businessmen and industrialists are paying advance taxes to help the revolutionary government, the New York Times reported.

A dispatch from Havana said a treasury official estimated about three million dollars had been paid in advance in recent days.

The Cuban government named Havana lawyer Ernesto Dilibao as Cuban ambassador to the United States.

It was reported in Washington that career diplomat Philip A. Bonsal, presently U.S. ambassador to Bolivia, will be the new American envoy to Cuba.

Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith resigned as U.S. ambassador to Cuba last week. The revolutionary regime had charged he had favored the Batista regime.

'Sorry I Shot Them,' Sandahl Tells Authorities

A former Waterford Township youth charged with the murder of a California mental institution in November, was charged with murder in the death of his parents, Ewald L. Sandahl, 32, and his wife, Elizabeth Mae, 35.

The parents were shot with a .22 caliber pistol Monday. Sandahl remained in the house, sleeping on a cot four feet from his father's body.

The killings were not discovered until he was involved in an accident Wednesday evening. Highway authorities checking on the accident went to the home and discovered the bodies.

His music teacher said David was a good player but not of professional ability.

The youth said his father wanted him either to get a job or practice eight hours a day. The father told him he worked eight hours a day and there was no reason why he shouldn't also.

Young Sandahl quit school in the second year of high school, and had been admitted to a mental institution for treatment of schizophrenia (split personality) while the family lived in Davenport, Ia., police said.

The family, which lived at 6411 Harriet St., moved to California in April, and David spent a month in the DeWitt Sanitarium, Auburn, Calif.

He was released with the recommendation that outside treatment be continued if possible.

His father worked for the Aero-Jet General Corp.

The transfers are effective Feb. 1.

The storm which struck near the eastern shore of Lake Michigan was caused by cold air which was warmed as it crossed the lake and chilled when it reached the South Bend area. Normally, the Weather Bureau said, the chill would have developed at the shoreline but strong winds carried the air inland.

The freak snowstorm spread across areas in Michigan and Indiana for 65 miles from the southeastern corner of Lake Michigan.

Winds of 20 or more m.p.h. whipped the heavy snowfall in the South Bend area into huge drifts. However, maintenance crews worked throughout the night, clearing most of the main roads.

He is currently ambassador to Bolivia. Earl E. T. Smith recently resigned as envoy to Cuba.

Tsermegas Guilty; His Wife Collapses

foreman Maynard Siebert of Royal Oak announced the verdict.

Siebert later told newsmen the jury took five ballots to arrive at the decision. A unanimous opinion is necessary for conviction.

The foreman further said that jurors were long deliberating because some questioned Tsermegas' intent in the December 1957 slaying of Kean in a Commerce Township home.

Jurors could have acquitted him or found him guilty of a lesser charge of manslaughter, which carries a maximum sentence of 15 years in prison.

ON STAND 5 HOURS

Tsermegas had spent five hours on the stand in his own defense Wednesday and Thursday, claiming throughout his testimony he meant no harm when he tried to strike Kean over the head with a pistol after he became unruly following a drinking spree.

Tsermegas, whose background includes three years of college in addition to his criminal record, claimed the pistol went off accidentally.

Jerome K. Barry Jr., assistant prosecutor, closed his case yesterday, charging Tsermegas and two other Texas hoodlums plotted to kill Kean, 32, because they feared he might upset the gang's plans for a robbery in Sault Ste. Marie.

This four-man "band of badman bandits," as Barry described them, stopped off at the cottage of Donald E. Chandler, whom Tsermegas had met in prison, in search of uniforms and a rifle to use in the planned robbery.

Chandler was not connected with the killing other than being an eyewitness.

The bizarre slaying came to light last September when Michigan State Police and Texas Rangers uncovered Kean's body buried in a makeshift grave outside Alpena.

A tip received by the Rangers led them to the spot.

ESCAPE PROSECUTION

So far the other two men, Lowell E. McComb and Thomas D. Smith, have escaped prosecution in the killing. Smith is being held in Texas on another charge and McComb is fighting extradition back here.

In a lengthy closing argument, Tsermegas' attorney, Clarence L. Smith, attempted to show that Tsermegas could not have saved two Collinsville, Ill., policemen, whom the gang had kidnapped on the flight to Michigan, from certain death by Kean, and the very next day be the murderer of Kean.

After the verdict, Smith refused Tsermegas' request to address Judge Doty. Smith refused to tell reporters what Tsermegas wanted to say.

The Day in Birmingham

Cold Snap 'Just Fine' With Recreation Board

BIRMINGHAM — The return of the snappy cold yesterday came as manna from heaven to the recreation board and recreation director Robert Girardin and also offered a big boost to the Eton Park skating rink.

The rink budget is running low and appeared that an appeal to city commissioners for more money would be necessary.

Recreation chairman John O'Gorman, said that the rink is operating on a day-to-day basis. Last weekend spring-like weather put a heavy load on the freezing mechanism to keep the ice in usable condition.

Temperatures like today will make it possible to operate the rink within the budget until the March 1 closing date.

Today's prediction from the National Weather Bureau of below average temperatures for the next 30 days is "just fine," Girardin said.

The American Association for the United Nations will hold its annual meeting in the Birmingham Community House Monday at 8 p.m. Meyer Barash, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology at Wayne State University, will speak on "Barriers to World Communications."

Allie Greer Service for Allie Greer, 75, of 351 Ferndale Ave., will be held 1 p.m. Monday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Greer died yesterday at his home following a long illness.

Ike and Mikoyan Exchange Views

The President got a half-hour briefing from Secretary of State Dulles. Dulles arrived at the White House as scores of uniformed policemen were deployed in the streets as a security precaution.

A dozen or so pickets paraded a block away from the White House as the conference went on inside the executive mansion.

The pickets said they were just plain American citizens who had gotten in touch with each other and decided to make a protest.

"We condemn our patriots; we dine our enemies," one sign read, apparently in reference to many dinners given for Mikoyan.

"No red carpets for Reds," read another placard.

A squad of motorcycle policemen accompanied Mikoyan and his party on their short drive from the Soviet Embassy to the White House.

For Mikoyan the meeting was the climax of the spectacular tour which has taken him around the United States making public and private speeches, selling the Soviet peace line, and pleading for trade and better relations.

Slips Up on Insurance

ZEELAND (UPI)—Ottawa County Agricultural Agent Richard Machiele said Friday he slipped and fell, injuring his shoulder, when he got out of the bath tub to answer the telephone. When he finally got to the phone, Machiele said, it turned out to be someone who wanted to sell him a home accident insurance policy.

Develop Polio 'Belt Breather'

New Device Enables
Patient to Sit Up, Use
Wheel Chair

NEW YORK (AP) — A new breathing device which polio patients can wear beneath their clothing was demonstrated at Mt. Sinai Hospital Friday. It enables them to move about freely in wheelchairs.

The device consists of a lightweight gray belt, about 18 inches wide, which encircles the patient's abdomen. It is attached to a battery and a blower under the seat of the wheelchair.

Dr. Avrom Y. Sweet, medical director of the hospital's Jack Martin respirator center, said the unit, costing $1,000, gives greater mobility to patients able to sit up and improves their morale.

He showed an old respirator which covers most of the patient's chest. Its battery and blower unit rest on a platform instead of being attached to the wheelchair.

He said the new "belt breather" is in use in about 15 "March of Dime" centers throughout the country.

It was demonstrated at Mt. Sinai by Mrs. Joan Tackett, of Fords, N.J., who has been a patient at Mt. Sinai for six weeks. She is the mother of two children.

Claims Extortion Try Was 'Just a Joke'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A man who officials charged tried to extort $100,000 from movie executive Sol Siegel says it's "just a joke."

Herbert Strauch, 34, a commissary worker, told U.S. Commissioner Theodore Hocke Friday he wouldn't harm anybody or take money from them.

FBI men arrested Strauch Thursday. They said he was talking at the time on the telephone to Siegel, production chief of MGM Studio, about arrangements for paying the money. Agents said the lives of Siegel and his wife, Ruth, were threatened in an extortion note.

Strauch was freed on $10,000 bail pending a hearing Feb. 6.

Know It's Coming—but When?

Search Clues to Next Quake

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Earthquake experts again are checking the blood pressure of California's San Andreas fault.

They know something is going to snap. They don't know when—or whether the results will be as calamitous as they were in 1906 when a San Andreas quake destroyed San Francisco.

It could happen tomorrow, or five, or 25 years, from now.

The San Andreas fault, a rift in the earth's crust running north-westward half the length of California from the Mexican border into the Pacific, has been spawning earthquakes for uncounted thousands of years.

Vast blocks of the crust are crawling in different directions on either side of the fault. Theories differ as to why this happens. But the experts agree that these slow drifting movements, averaging about two inches a year now, create strains that kick off quakes.

Measurement of these movements provides diagnostic if not prognostic clues. With them, scientists can tell when the "blood pressure" is building up dangerously even if they cannot forecast when the stroke will come.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey has been taking blood pressure readings along the San Andreas fault for half a century. In recent decades it has been systematically checking and re-checking specific areas to measure the rate of crustal movements on either side of the fault.

A party of 17 men under Lt. Jack E. Guth is now re-examining sections of the fault, last surveyed in 1938 and 1949, south of Maricopa and north of Taft. A similar survey will be conducted next year.

UAW Delegates of 33
Locals Approve Terms
for 37,000 Workers

CHICAGO (AP) — A new three-year contract which would end a two-month strike of 37,000 International Harvester Co. employees is up for ratification this weekend by the rank and file of 33 United Auto Worker locals.

The UAW Harvester Council, made up of delegates from 33 locals at 15 harvester plants and 10 depots and warehouses, approved the proposed contract Friday night after a stormy seven-hour session. The unofficial vote was 14,891 votes for the proposal and 12,562 against.

After the session, Duane Greathouse, UAW international vice president and head of the union's Harvester department, and William J. Reilly, manager of labor relations for Harvester, signed the new pact. The strike began Nov. 13.

Fifteen organizers from nine Southern states met here Friday with Miller to map the campaign. Sears officials here had no comment.

From The PRESS BOX

Michigan Tech was the only state winner in college basketball last night beating Detroit Tech 68-64 while Southern Illinois was stripping Eastern Michigan 87-77. Eastern Illinois whipped Central Michigan 57-50. Bradley came from behind to wallop Toledo 92-73 and Texas A&M mangled Texas 73-29 on the national scene. Texas coach Marsh Hughes joined the "hung in effigy" list following the latter game.

Billy Welu of Texas has taken the lead in the All-Star bowling tourney at Buffalo. Lou Campi is 2nd and Lansing's Joe Joseph 3rd. Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids continues to pace the women.

Police had to separate fans and players when a brawl broke out in a hockey game at Ann Arbor last night. North Dakota won 6-1 over Michigan. The game, with 5:18 left was called out after the near riot. Paul Coppo pulled a hat trick leading Michigan Tech over Minnesota 5-3.

Big, Little, All Kinds of Dogs PKC Entries Compete for The Press Trophy

With more than 60 varieties and breeds of dogs registered for the winter show of Pontiac Kennel Club, all day Sunday, area fanciers and those who just like dogs, have a wide range of interest in the event. Show takes place at Pontiac Retail Store, 63 Mt. Clemens St.

When entries closed Jan. 6, 489 animals were registered.

Bulman Skaters in Title Round

Bulman's Hardware moved into the final round of the Class B City Junior hockey tournament Friday night with a 5-0 whitewashing of Pontiac Northern B at North side Park.

Jim Paschke and Jon Shaw each fired two goals and Don MacLean scored once as Bulman's blanked the "B" squad.

Pontiac Northern A and the Mountain View Rangers were eliminated from the double knockout tourney in yesterday's other Class B games. Jim's Hardware skated to a 4-1 victory over the "A" team and the Rangers were nosed out by the Thunderbirds, 4-3.

They come from many sections of Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin and other areas. A large entry is listed from southeastern Michigan, with many from Oakland County, despite the fact no dogs are registered by PKC members.

Trophies, ribbons and cash awards go to winners, topped by the coveted Pontiac Press best-in-show award. Presentation of the handsome award will be made immediately after judging by Dr. A. A. Mitten of Rockhall, Md. Champions of six variety groups will provide the competition for best-in-show honors. Group judging is set for 4 p.m.

The show is an unbench, all-breed affair, and is licensed under American Kennel Club regulations. Doors open at 9 a.m., when judging begins, and close at 9 p.m.

Had 10 Great Years Directing Ann Arbor High

New Aide and Boss Elliott Old Teammates; Chalmers Leaves Army

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Two pals and former teammates will head up the University of Michigan's football strategy of the future.

Henry (Hank) Fonde, teammate of new head coach Chalmers (Bump) Elliott on the 1947 Michigan Rose Bowl champions, was named Wolverine backfield coach yesterday.

One of the state's most successful prep coaches, Fonde, 35, was taken from Ann Arbor High School where in 10 years he had compiled a brilliant record.

Obviously, Michigan hopes for much success from the Elliott-Fonde combination to balance off lean recent seasons.

"He (Fonde) has got so used to a winning way that we hope he will carry it over with him," said a Michigan spokesman.

At Ann Arbor High, Fonde's teams won nine 6-A League championships including four perfect seasons and three others without defeat. The teams won 69 games, lost six and tied four.

The university gave Fonde a one-year appointment in the formal capacity of instructor in physical education and assistant football coach.

Elsewhere, Gordon Chalmers, 47, swimming coach and assistant athletic director at the U. S. Military Academy, Friday was appointed athletic director at Iowa State College.

City Mat Teams Divide

The city high school wrestling teams divided matches held yesterday.

Pontiac Northern overcame deficits of 10-2 and 16-7 to down Royal Oak Dondero 24-18 at home matching a Central win over the same school last week.

Pontiac Central bowed to powerful Lansing Sexton 38-6 at Lansing. Sam Wescombe and Duke Relyea scored the only PCH points on decisions.

Rams, St. Mary Score Easy Wins

Eaglets Wing to 6th Straight League Victory

Stop St. James 64-36; St. Frederick Defeats Crusaders 52-40

By H. GUY MOATS
 St. Frederick from Pontiac, and Orchard Lake St. Mary cagers Friday night climbed on the scoring wagon and rolled along to resounding victories in Suburban Catholic League competition.

The Rams entertained visiting St. Clement with a display of balanced team scoring, compiling a 52-40 victory, their 5th against a single defeat. Ten of the 11 players who got in the tilt contributed to the count.

While the Pontiac club was collecting its win, St. Mary was having an easy time recording its 6th straight league victory, 64-36, over Ferndale St. James.

The Eaglets' scoring twins, Chet Wlodkowski and Glenn Haas enjoyed their 2nd consecutive "big night," accounting for exactly the total of the entire Ferndale crew (36 points). Chet dumped in 19, Glenn 17. Eight of nine Eaglets figured in the scoring. Tim Mulcaster's 10 led the losers.

Two fast baskets by Haas set the Eaglets off to a 7-point first period edge at 13-6. They went on to boost each previous period, 15-17, and 19 in the finale.

After setting up a 24-10 halftime count over the Crusaders, St. Frederick coach Gene Wright tossed in his entire bench which continued to score well. Tom Derocher set the Rams' scoring pace with 11, but game honors went to sturdy Ron VanHulle of Crusaders, with 14. Ron flipped in six goals in the final period to pull his team within seven points of the Rams.

Steve Pocs bagged a pair of foul shots. Joe Keller and Pocs each added a basket to regain the long lead as time ran out.

Mike Reed in his first start as a varsity member, dunked three baskets, handled himself well.

Crusaders gave Rams a lesson in handling offensive rebounds getting 33 to 8 for their hosts. Rams were better with defensive rebounds, 27 to 14.

In one other SCL game RO St. Mary edged St. Rita 49-43, led by Bill Crawford with 16 points. Larry Bucic had 11 for losers.

Pat McLaughlin and Jack Moores each hit 16 points to pace Shrine to a 77-43 win over Lourdes, and AA St. Thomas defeated Farmington OLS 65-46.

2nd Segregation Episode Occurs

NBA in Mixup Again

CHARLESTOWN, W. Va. (UP)—The National Basketball Assn. found itself involved in another segregation episode today following the refusal of Elgin Baylor, Minneapolis' rookie scoring ace, to suit up for a game here with Cincinnati last night.

Baylor, apparently miffed when he and two Negro teammates were refused permission to stay in a hotel at which the rest of the team had reservations, didn't appear in uniform although he was on the bench during the pre-game warm-up. Cincinnati won the game 95-91.

Neither the former Seattle All-American or Coach John Kundla would comment on the reason why the Lakers' top scorer was on the sidelines.

To questions, Kundla replied: "Ask him." Baylor responded with "ask the coach."

When Minneapolis checked in at the hotel, Kundla protested upon learning that Baylor and Minneapolis' two other Negro players, Alex Boo Ellis and Ed Fleming, had reservations elsewhere. The Minneapolis coach then moved the entire team to the hotel where the Negro players were to be quartered. Ellis and Fleming both played.

William S. Bolden, manager of the Charleston Civic Center, said he advised Kundla last month that the Negro players would not be quartered in the same hotel available to the other Lakers.

The American Business Club, which sponsored the game seen by 2,356, indicated it might protest Baylor's action to NBA President Maurice Podoloff.

In other NBA games last night, St. Louis snapped a five-game Syracuse winning streak 102-89 as the Hawks stretched their own streak to five and Philadelphia tripped up high riding Boston, 105-98. Bob Pettit scored 30 for St. Louis and Woody Sauldsberry 31 for Philly.

They will again be in use Saturday and Sunday and there was a possibility the beginners' tow on the north slope will be ready Saturday. However, it will be in use Sunday, Arthur Kollin, secretary, said today. Ski school will also meet both days.

"We were surprised last week-end when all skiers among the 60 using the area were from family groups," Kollin said.

There is no rental equipment at the area, but a snack bar is available.

Current officers include John Irwin of Farmington, president and head of the ski school at the area. Dr. Edwin Hammer of Grosse Pte. is vice president.

Vikings Edge Chief Tankers

Up against a sharp Flint Northern swim team yesterday, Pontiac Central High's club dropped a close Valley Conference meet at Flint, 51-45. Chiefs missed verdict on every close race, but managed five firsts nevertheless. Wins included Bruce Norvell's breaststroke win, to keep his unbroken string of victories intact.

Adhesives Rescue Man Stuck With Repair Jobs

With the right adhesive, used properly, the handy man can make joints stronger than the original material and can repair nearly anything.

If you are new at the use of adhesives, tell your hardware or building supply dealer what you intend to mend. He'll be able to recommend the most suitable stickum for your use.

Read the manufacturer's in-more to sticking things together than spreading adhesive and waiting for it to dry.

Directions may vary, but the following points are generally true for all gluing:

PREPARE SURFACES

Clean, scrape and sand. Get rid of old binder. Make certain that joints fit before applying a new adhesive.

Spread material evenly. Use a brush. Apply to both surfaces.

Some glues should be allowed to stand and become tacky before joining. This is especially true of wood glues.

Join the surfaces carefully. If excess adhesive oozes out, wipe up quickly before it sets. Some glues stain, require extra care. Clamp joints properly. The way you clamp them is the way they will dry. Clamps should be tight and be kept that way for the proper amount of time required for the adhesive to set.

Don't disturb the joint until it is set. Use a warm, dry room in which to work. The right temperature is important when working with glue, especially.

Unless the instructions tell you otherwise, figure on working in a room where the temperature is at least 70 degrees Fahrenheit. There are many special clamps for gluing.

C-clamps are versatile, will work for gluing as well as other jobs. They're good, basic clamps to have in the home shop. Scraps of wood under the jaws of the clamps will protect work surfaces.

Special clamps include the hand screw clamp, bar clamp, bench clamp, edge clamp and many more. The hand screw, with its parallel wooden jaws, is the most common, the one you are most likely to invest in if you do much furniture work.

If you don't have a clamp, improvise. A loop of clothesline.

Protect Your Plane

When a plane is not in use, the blade should be retracted inside the mouth to protect it from possible damage. And always place a plane on its side, even when it is to be used again in a moment.

You May Soon See His Carpet Sweeper

CHICAGO (UPI) — Carpet sweepers soon may wear "his" and "hers" labels, if one appliance manufacturer has his way. "Men aren't inherently messy," Robert S. Wagner said. "They just hate to get up, rummage in the closet for a vacuum cleaner, and spend 15 minutes trying to figure the thing out."

Wagner, president of the E. R. Wagner Manufacturing Co. of Milwaukee, is offering new midsize carpet sweepers that can be used to decorate a fireplace or living room corner.

When you're patching a crack in a plaster wall, you'll get a better bond if you wet the crack thoroughly. One of the best ways to do this is with an ordinary water pistol. Simply shoot water at the crack from close range. You'll get penetration that no brush or sponge can match.

WHAT THE WOMEN WANT — This eight-room contemporary home was designed to the specifications of 80 delegates from all parts of the United States who attended the Women's Conference on Housing in Washington, D. C. It has three bedrooms, 2½ baths.

FLOOR PLAN — Wide foyer and hobbies, play or study area in the sleeping wing are two of the attractive features of X-41. The design includes a luxurious master bedroom, large living and dining rooms, a wide kitchen and dinette area, and a generous wood-paneled family room or den. The basement plan, not shown, includes an optional lower level recreation area and a maid's room.

Women Call the Tune for Their Ideal House

By DAVID L. BOWEN

Eighty women from all sections of the United States traveled to Washington recently to tell the nation's home builders what they wanted in a house.

Here is a home designed to their specifications.

It has eight rooms, 2½ baths, a glamorized center hall, both a balconied denette and a formal dining room, a fireplace, a centrally located work or hobby area plus a family room off by itself at one end of the house.

The plan, X-41 in the House of the Week series, is a composite built on the main preferences expressed by delegates attending the Women's Conference on Housing, sponsored by the National Assn. of Home Builders and the United Industry Committee for Housing. This, incidentally, was one of two women's conferences on housing at Washington last fall.

One of the moderators at the three-day conference was Herman H. York, prize-winning architect and frequent designer of House of the Week plans. As a participant in the discussions, he was in an ideal position to get a detailed picture of the elements delegates believed should be included in a modern home.

Here's how he put them together:

ENTERTAINMENT AREA

The living room is in the front of the house, with direct access from a domed ceiling entrance foyer. This foyer, incidentally, connects with a flagstoned rear foyer two steps lower to make a "center hall" connection so that children can come in the back door and go out the front without crossing a single room.

The living room has a bowed multiple-pane window, instead of the conventional picture window — which found no approval at the conference. It also has a fireplace, a luxury feature high on the delegates' desired list.

The dining room has a "semi-separate" location, a compromise between the totally separate and the "L" shaped arrangement which appeared equally popular among the women.

INFORMAL LIVING

A special feature of X-41 is a room in the sleeping section set aside for study, quiet hobbies, sewing or similar activities. Architect York has further increased its multiple use by making provision for a hideaway bed and a folding partition, so that when needed it can serve as a guest sleeping room.

In addition to this relaxation or work room, a large family room or den is located beyond the dining room. This room is intended for noisier family activities and connects through sliding glass doors with the huge terrace which runs most of the length of the house at the rear. The plans allow for yet another private family area as an optional arrangement in the basement.

Women at the conference insisted that kitchens should be large enough to provide an eating space for informal meals. Most of the delegates also wanted kitchen cabinets out of sight from the living and dining rooms.

The kitchen in X-41 not only answers these demands but also gives control of the rear yard play area. Among other desirable features: A built-in cutting board, a planning desk, a broom closet (often overlooked nowadays).

The three bedrooms are isolated from the noise areas. All have two closets, and both of the two in the master bedroom are "walk-ins." The master bedroom has a private full bath, and sliding glass doors lead to a balcony terrace overlooking the rear yard.

The main bath is "split" with a sliding door, a practical and desirable arrangement when two bedrooms are served by the same bath.

On exteriors, women attending the housing conference expressed desire for a house which, whether traditional or modern, retained the warmth of domestic architecture. They like wood which shows its grain, or brick which "looks like it belongs on a house and not a gas station."

Architect York had this in mind in fashioning a contemporary exterior with a fresh, clean appearance. Its "hominess" was achieved by limiting the exterior materials to brick, wood shingles and flush boards.

The garage is generously oversized to provide for garden tool storage and work bench. A large cellar off the optional lower recreation room gives ample room for additional storage.

The habitable area of the house is 2,193 square feet, not including the family room which contains 284 square feet. The garage covers 453 square feet and another 1,042 square feet of space adaptable for finishing is enclosed by the basement.

The over-all length is 81 feet, the depth 45 feet. Minimum lot width recommended is 115 feet.

The square foot area of the house is higher than average, but necessary to make room for features delegates desired.

Architect York reports the women at the conference were frank to admit that there were many things they wanted which they could not afford. That doesn't mean they'll never enjoy them; it just means they won't get them as soon.

Over 80 per cent of all homes now under construction are estimated to contain ceiling insulation. In 1940, only one home in four was built with such protection.
