The king and queen were selected from a field of 20 candidates for the coveted crowns in competition that lasted throughout the afternoon and early evening.

All contestants were interviewed individually by three judges who scored them on their personal appearance, personality, over-all 4-H records and club and community activities.

Both Carolyn and Richard cinched their titles with the brief speeches they gave in front of the grandstand last night after the field had been narrowed to three boys and three girls.

She had gone to state show four times and been in district judging three times. She is a member of the Oak Hill 4-H Club.

President Offers to Help Settle Metropolitan Strike

From Our News Wires

DALLAS, Tex. — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg disclosed today that President Kennedy is concerned about cancellation of the Metropolitan Opera's 1961-62 season and has offered his help to settle a contract dispute with the American Federation of Musicians.

Goldberg said that after talking to the President, he telephoned both Met General Manager Rudolph Bing and the head of the American Federation of Musicians' Local 802 and told them about the President's concern.

"He (Kennedy) said we (the government) were concerned," Goldberg said. "He offered to be helpful in any way. We ought to have a Met season this year.

"It is significant that we have a President who is concerned with the cultural activities of our country."

Goldberg said he hopes the musicians and Bing will get together and the Labor Department will help in any way it can to bring them together.

In New York, the union's president insisted that issues still can be settled. He deplored the Met decision to cancel the 1961-62 season because of the wrangle.

The union chief, Al Manuti, said negotiators would be glad to meet with the management at any time in an effort to iron out differences.

"We would like to assure the public that they will have a 1961-62 opera season," he said.

★ ★ ★

He assailed the management, saying it had "developed a pattern of conducting its negotiations with the union's representatives practically at the point of a gun."

Mayor Pleads for Stepped-Up Use of Airline

Mayor Philip E. Rowston got a head start last night in a state-sparked campaign to keep new North Central Airline franchises in Michigan.

Rowston urged Pontiac area persons to use the airline's facilities at Pontiac Municipal Airport whenever possible in the coming months.

"In the crucial period ahead we must use the facilities or lose the franchise," the mayor pointed out at the City Commission meeting.

The Civil Aeronautics Board says Pontiac must board an average of five passengers a day between June of this year and next June in order to keep the franchise. Current patronage is about 10 passengers a month below this minimum level.

Next Wednesday, Rowston will attend a meeting in Lansing at which the Department of Aeronautics will try to find ways to increase patronage at the various cities that were awarded new short-haul air service on a tryout basis in December.

U.S., Allies Will Propose Berlin Meeting to Russia

PARIS (AP)—The United States and its top Western allies are planning to advance a proposal within the next few weeks for a meeting with the Soviet Union on Berlin and Germany — if the Russians fail to propose one first.

Highly placed Western informants today gave an outline of diplomatic maneuvers on the Berlin crisis. American, British, French and West German foreign ministers discussed the moves during the weekend.

That was followed by a briefing for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The timing of a call for negotiations on Berlin is a delicate matter involving tactical advantages.

The decision has been coupled with plans for a Western military build-up to confront Soviet threats.

The Western diplomatic move probably will be launched after the West German elections on Sept. 17 and after Western firmness has been made evident.

★ ★ ★

Other factors in the timing are the October Communist party congress in Moscow and the U.N. General Assembly session opening in September.

LONDON (AP — Soviet Premier Khrushchev affirmed tonight he is still determined to sign a peace treaty with East Germany but said he did not think it will start a war.

U.S. in Favor of Latin Aid

Gives Its Blessing to $20-Billion Request by Five Nations

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP) —The United States, happy with the progress of the Inter-American economic conference, gave its blessing today to an ambitious appeal by Latin nations for a 10-year inflow of at least $20 billion from U.S. and other foreign sources.

The U.S. delegation to the Alliance for Progress assembly bowed gracefully to Latin sensitivity and even helped revise two planks in the momentous declaration of Punta del Este.

The planks had aroused strong opposition among sovereign-minded Latin-American statesmen.

One would set up a public information machine. The other would establish a commission of "seven wise men" as an advisory and coordinating body for national development programs.

The $20-billion proposal, introduced at a night session was accompanied by an appeal to all governments to get their programs ready within 18 months. This made clear the sponsors

Coffee Plant Blast Injures 5 in Illinois

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP) — Police said an explosion blew out the side of a boiler building on the grounds of a big coffee plant today, injuring at least five persons.

All available ambulances were sent to the scene.

The blast rocked the Nescafe Division of the Nestle Co. at 21st Street and Adams.

Police said the explosion occurred in a two-story brick building housing a boiler room on the ground floor and a dryer room upstairs.

Proxmire Ends Lengthy Protest

To Vote on Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate agreed today to vote at 3 p.m. (Pontiac time) on the nomination of Lawrence J. O'Connor Jr. to the Federal Power Commission, an appointment which drew a marathon protest from Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

Proxmire ended a 32-hour and 45-minute around-the-clock assault on the nomination at 11:05 a.m. but he regained the floor again at 11:32, and held it till 12:10 for discussion of O'Connor's financial holdings.

The Wisconsin senator had contended that O'Connor, who has been serving as oil import administrator, would not fairly represent consumers on the FPC because of his long association with and holdings in the gas industry.

Proxmire said O'Connor already has a conflict of interest as federal oil import administrator, because he has financial interests in 29 companies which import oil, "including 17 of the biggest importers and two of the three biggest."

He said that as administrator, O'Connor determines quotas and allotments of oil the companies may import.

"I don't know how you could have a more complete and dramatic conflict of interest," he said.

★ ★ ★

Chairmen Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee told Proxmire that O'Connor's financial holdings had been screened by an Intradepartmental Committee of the FPC.

Jet Carrying 72 Passengers, 9-Man Crew

Kennedy Informed of Theft; Craft Due in Havana by 2:30

— A hijacked Pan American DC8 jet with 81 persons aboard landed safely in Havana at 2:35 p.m. (Pontiac time), the airline reported today.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government spokesman said today the Air Force high command has been alerted to the latest hijacking of a U.S. plane and "it is probable they may act according to some prearranged plan." What this plan involves, the spokesman did not say.

NEW YORK (AP) — A Pan American World Airways jet plane was hijacked and diverted toward Cuba today, the airline reported here. The plane was en route from Mexico City to Guatemala City at the time.

A Pan American spokesman estimated that the plane should reach Havana by 2:30 P.M. (Pontiac time). It was a DC8 jet with 72 passengers and a crew of 9.

In Washington, President Kennedy was informed of the incident by the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA).

The FAA said the plane was Flight 501 and was en route from Mexico City to Guatemala, but that the last report from the pilot, around 1:30 p.m. was that he was over Yucatan on Mexico's east coast, which would be on the way to Cuba.

It was the fourth hijacking of an American passenger aircraft in three months, the second this month.

Two Americans took over a Continental Airlines plane in El Paso, Tex., saying they intended to fly it to Cuba. However, they were overpowered after nine hours.

Previously, a National Airlines plane and an Eastern Air Lines prop-jet were seized by aerial hijackers and flown to Cuba.

The Eastern Electra still is held there, although its passengers and crew were released.

Federal permission to arm commercial aircraft personnel was granted in the wake of the El Paso hijacking. However, it was not learned immediately whether the Pan American jet was armed.

The Pan American ship left Houston at 9 a.m. and landed at Mexico City. It took off from the latter at 11:37 p.m. for Guatemala City.

"It was hijacked," an airlines spokesman said.

The spokesman said the plane was valued at from $5,500,000 to $6,000,000.

Nikita Threatens the West With 'Bigger' Bomb

Says Russia Will Make It, Unless Things Get Better

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev, welcoming cosmonaut Gherman Titov in the Kremlin, told the West today that Russia can make a bigger bomb than ever and will unless prospects for peace improve.

* * *

Among the prospects he wanted to see was a peace treaty with Germany and universal disarmament, but on terms that the West has rejected.

It was one of the most belligerent speeches the Soviet premier has made in recent months. Yet he interrupted every series of warnings with the statement that "We don't want war."

The reception in the Kremlin climaxed a day of welcome to Titov on his return to Moscow.

FORMALLY DECORATED

The 26-year-old flier was formally decorated with beribboned medals for hero of the Soviet Union and the order of Lenin.

Earlier in the day, Titov had taken his welcome in Red Square, kissed Khrushchev and other high officials and himself warned that if "the enemies of peace unleash another war, the Soviet Union has the wherewithal to crush the aggressor.

The whole atmosphere of the Kremlin reception changed with the speech by Khrushchev and his mention of a bigger bomb.

* * *

Diplomats huddled in corners to translate the words among themselves.

Khrushchev started out amiably enough with comments about Titov's flight into space and the hope that disarmament would permit devoting more money to science and to help for underprivileged nations.

Then the premier began to loosen up.

"For peace, we need a peace treaty with Germany," he said.

'WE WILL SIGN'

"No threats will intimidate us and we will sign a peace treaty with Germany. We believe there will be no war after this. Only lunatics think of war after a peace treaty.

"There are some lunatics and this fact cannot be excluded. We are not threatening anybody but if anyone attacks us we will consider it as an act of suicide. We will destroy him by counter blows.

"This is not a threat, it is reality. We have spent money on rockets and bombs and they are not for cutting sausages.

"We will use them only if we are attacked. These are means of defense and if anybody attacks us we will spend them."

U.S. 'Blesses' Aid for Latin Nations

wanted each nation to do its own planning.

The United States studiously ignored a two-hour harangue Tuesday night by Cuba's economic czar, Ernesto Guevara. A delegation spokesman said the vitriolic assault on the Kennedy program would not be "dignified with a response."

The United States was disturbed by the idea that Guevara may have embarrassed the government of Venezuela, which is engaged in an aggressive program of economic and social reform. It was considered that Venezuela was one of the many targets of the Cuban attack.

* * *

Guevara quoted from what he said were secret U.S. Embassy documents purporting to show that President Romulo Betancourt's government was about to be taxed by "U.S. imperialism." Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba considers Betancourt one of his principal enemies and Guevara's aim seemed to be to sow distrust of the Venezuelan government among the country's people.

As for Guevara's charge that the United States plotted to kill Raul Castro, Fidel's brother, July 26, was brushed off here as nonsense.

* * *

When Guevara finished Tuesday night, several Cuban exiles in the audience screamed "assassin" at him.

Two leaped on the stage shouting. Fists swung as security guards hauled the demonstrators from the packed chamber. Order was restored in a few moments.

The $20-billion resolution was submitted by Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Mexico and Peru—although Guevara claimed Fidel Castro's Cuba was really responsible for it by scaring the United States into acting for Latin America.

START ON COMBINATION

Eventually to be called "The Act of Punta del Este," the program looks toward a swift start on a combination of U.S. and foreign and Latin American self-help to sure economic ills and fend off the threat of communism.

Minor obstacles already are being removed.

Among these is the opposition aroused by the two items which the United States now is willing to revise drastically or even eliminate altogether.

One of these is the proposal to set up public information machinery.

* * *

Guevara denounced this as a screen for "regimentation of thought," but even democratic-minded leaders viewed the proposal with considerable reservation.

The United States has no objection to dropping the second proposal for an advisory commission.

The Day in Birmingham

Retail Merchants Group in C. of C. Plans Board

BIRMINGHAM — A nominating committee of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce is preparing a slate of candidates for a board of directors for the organization's retail merchants division.

* * *

Members of the nominating committee named by Chamber President Henry F. Johnson are Foster Toothacker, Harvey Kresge and Donald Cummings.

* * *

According to Chamber of Commerce Secretary Charles Mortenson the retail merchants division will not be a separate organization but will continue to operate under the parent group.

However, it will be the first board of directors for the retail merchants division. In the past the division has operated as a committee.

Once the board of directors is selected it will meet to name its own officers.

No date for an election has been scheduled, said Mortenson. Ballots will be mailed to retailers in the near future.

City commissioners have scheduled Aug. 28 for a public hearing on a request for paving the alley from Hunter east to the water tank property immediately south of Ridgedale Street.

The request came from the Birmingham real estate firm of Weir, Minanni and Baydoc, Inc., who plan to erect a building on Hunter between Ridgedale and Maple Road.

Plans call for the construction of a 31-by-33 foot building.

The alley paving would provide easy access to a parking lot at the rear of the proposed building.

Cost of the project, if decided by the commission to be a necessity, would be assessed property owners benefiting from the improvement.

Signs are being erected today along Quarton Road from Woodward Avenue to Lahser Road which will lower the speed limit there to 45 miles per hour, according to the Birmingham Police Department.

* * *

Police said the new speed law will be enforced after all signs are constructed on Quarton Road. The former maximum speed there was 65 miles per hour in the daytime and 55 miles per hour at night.

Group Okays Defense Cash

$3 Billion - Plus Voted by Committee Because of Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House compromise committee today approved virtually all of the $3 billion-plus in extra defense funds asked by President Kennedy to stiffen military forces because of the Berlin crisis.

* * *

At the same time congressional advocates of manned bomber power retained most of the Senate increases aimed at keeping production lines open for the present heavy long range bombers and spurring development of a B70 future jet bomber as a complete weapons system.

Only one Kennedy request, $207,500,000 to carry out civil defense activities recently shifted to the Defense Department, remained in dispute.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., leader of the Senate conferees, said they insisted on retaining this fund.

Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., head of the House negotiators, said he would seek a separate House vote on this item.

* * *

The compromise bill, excluding the civil defense funds, would provide about $46½ billion to carry on Defense Department activities in the fiscal year which began July 1.

House spokesmen won Senate acceptance of a 2 per cent cutback in an across-the-board military procurement of aircraft, missiles, ships and other items.

Fluorescent lighting and air-conditioning complement the interior of the unusual trailer-branch. Full banking facilities will be available with the exception of safety deposit boxes.

The new branch will operate on regular banking hours, according to a Community National Bank spokesman.

Surprise Salute Given Auto Vet

John E. Linabury Gets Tribute by City on His 83rd Birthday

In the first decade of this century, a young engineer named John E. Linabury was tinkering with the two-cylinder gasoline engines of the time.

He put two of them together and, came up with the four-cylinder engine that powered the first Oakland automobile in 1908.

Last night, after receiving a surprise salute from the city on his 83rd birthday, Linabury recalled a jest he made recently when the four-cylinder Tempest was developed by Pontiac Motor Division as the latest successor to the original Oakland.

"I put two engines together but what they did was split an eight-cylinder engine in half. I told them my development was progress but their's was just retrogression," said the spry, silver-haired octogenarian.

The City Commission took time out last night to honor Linabury for his contributions to Pontiac, both as an engineer with General Motors Corp. and a member of the planning commission the past 10 years.

MEMBERS PRESENT

Fellow members of the planning commission were on hand for the special tribute.

Linabury, 81 E. Iroquois Road, retired from General Motors in 1947 as a specialist in the operation and equipping of foundries.

During his long career in industry he helped guide the construction of foundries for Pontiac Motor Division, Cadillac and Buick.

Earlier in life, he engineered the first sliding gear shift for the Oakland.

Linabury is one of the few Pontiac natives of his years who can say that both his parents were born in Pontiac. The family name has been prominent in the city since the first half of the 19th Century.

Among his many other civic interests, Linabury is active in the Oakland County Historical Society.

Sylvan Lake Council Will Be Brought Up to Date on Parking Rift

* * *

City Atty. Tom T. Reese will report on the progress of a pending injunction to prevent the club from using two lots as parking areas for boat trailers.

The lots are owned by the boat club but are in an area zoned residential. Residents object to their use for parking space, which they say is a violation of the city's zoning ordinance.

* * *

Reese will also report on the requirements that must be met by the club in order to get a liquor license and the means which may be taken by the city to deny such a license.

At the July meeting, Councilman Edwin F. Clark introduced a resolution requesting the State Liquor Commission to deny renewal of the boat club's liquor license. The resolution was tabled for study.

Hearings will be held on three easements the city wished to vacate and City Manager Earle Knapp will report on requests of residents that the city vacate a fourth easement between Woodland and Sherwood Forest subdivisions.

A resolution requiring contractors to get permits from the city before block topping driveways is also expected to be introduced tonight.

During Exercise Swift Strike

Giant Airlift Supplies Mock Attack

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—The Air Force conducted a gigantic airlift today to supply the 82nd Airborne Division, seeking to drive a theoretical enemy from a small invaded foreign country during Exercise Swift Strike.

* * *

Heavy cargo planes thundered into the Darlington County, S.C., airport on an intensive schedule which called for 31 planes to land, unload and take off again every 30 minutes.

The Army reported that the 82nd continued to expand an airhead it established Tuesday, maneuvering against a provisional battlegroup of 1,500 men from Ft. Jackson, S.C., acting as part of the enemy force.

A majority of the cargo and fighter support aircraft were manned by Air Reservists and Air National Guardsmen, many of whom already have been alerted for possible recall to active duty in the tense Berlin situation.

That, plus close observation of the quick-striking abilities of the Strategic Army Corps (STRAC), made the exercise doubly important.

The job of the Air Force was to furnish air cover and bring supplies to the 82nd Airborne Division which dropped 4,418 men and their equipment near Camden, S.C., Monday in what ranking officers called a near-perfect operation.

The exercise is being held in an eight-county area of North Carolina and South Carolina eastward from this military reservation.

The 82nd, one of three crack STRAC divisions is acting as a United States force sent to a theoretical small foreign country which has been invaded by unfriendly forces.

5,000 MORE

The 101st Airborne Division, another STRAC unit, is expected to drop about 5,000 paratroopers Thursday in an effort to repel the 82nd.

Today's schedule called for C119s, C123s and C130s to make 310 air landings at Darlington.

Air Force planes flew 153 sorties Tuesday and 36 reconnaissance missions. To support today's action, 250 fighter sorties and 36 reconnaissance missions were planned, depending upon the requirements of the 82nd's field commanders. The fighters include four supersonic F105s, considered the world's most versatile one-man fighter-bombers.

WITH STRINGS ATTACHED — Shroud lines whip off the parachutes of troopers from the 82nd Airborne Division as the men step from their troop carrier plane in Operation Swift Strike at Camden, S. C., during maneuvers in the largest U.S. military operation since World War II. Planes carrying the paratroopers were manned by Reservists from the 512th Troop Carrier Wing.

Area Had Only 3 Sunless Days in Month

Old Sol Smiled His Widest During July

July's joy was the sun.

Old Sol beamed down on Pontiac area residents on all but three of July's 31 days.

The three sunless days were July 13 and 14 which were cloudy, and July 22 which was both rainy and cloudy.

There were three days though when sunshine had to share part billing with partly cloudy skies.

There were a few days with showers and thunderstorms. But, on these, sunbathers managed to have their day in the sun. They'd just up and leave the beaches when the skies opened up.

* * *

The month's worst moment as far as the weather was concerned came on Sunday, July 23—after a sunny start. Severe thunderstorms and high winds blew down trees and power lines throughout the area.

There was a tornado alert for six hours.

MERCURY DROPS

Winds up to 58 m.p.h. were recorded. From a high of 90, the mercury fell to 67 as the rain and winds lashed the area.

Major highways were clogged with motorists returning home in the afternoon after their outings were washed out. And phone service was disrupted in some areas for a while.

The month's weekends were pleasant. Four out of five were sunny. Only the weekend of July 22-23rd was marred by rain and clouds.

* * *

In downtown Pontiac, there were more than 2 inches of rain during July with 2.6 inches recorded.

This was slightly below the 2.91 inches which the Weather Bureau calls normal for July.

RAINY BIRD

The largest amount of rainfall in a 24-hour period occurred July 23 when 1.2 inches fell during the short but severe storm.

The hottest day of the month was the first. It was 92.

The month's low came on July 4th—a cool 48.

The average temperature for July was a pleasant 72.5 degrees.

The average high was 83.2 degrees, the average low 62.6.

There were four days with highs in the 90s, 18 days in the 80s, and nine days in the 70s.

Conquers Tetanus in Month-Long Fight

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — University of Michigan medical center officials said today that Jack Burns, 13, of Monroe, has won his month-long battle with tetanus.

The boy was stricken with tetanus — commonly called "lockjaw" — June 29 after he had driven a splinter in his foot seven days earlier. Doctors said it was the most severe case of the now-rare disease ever treated at the center.

Burns' body was twisted with painful muscle spasms for five weeks. Doctors said his last spasm occurred Aug. 2, but the youth must remain in the hospital a while longer to build back strength.

Wild Herd Being Killed Off

Seeks to Save Elephants

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — A retired surgeon is trying to save the remnants of a rampaging herd of wild elephants before irate planters shoot them.

The beasts, driven to destructive fury by the inroads of civilization which cut off their jungle retreat, have been uprooting coconut trees and trampling down acres of crops.

Only 14 survive from the original herd of about 87. Planters shot most of the others in an effort to preserve their coconut groves and rice paddies.

"The rest will probably be killed unless we can get them to sanctuary," said Dr. Richard L. Spittel, head of a committee trying to raise funds to save the elephants.

ELABORATE PLAN

Spittel's committee has conceived an elaborate plan to drive the elephants to Wilpattu National Park 17 miles from their jungle retreat by the Dederu River, 50 miles north of Colombo.

* * *

Spittel hopes to launch the drive in a few days so he can get the herd to Wilpattu in a few days before the monsoon season sets in. But he estimates the project will cost more than $4,000 and so far the committee has only raised about $500.

Hundreds of volunteers and Red Cross workers equipped with firecrackers and walkie-talkie radios will take part in the roundup.

Bubble Gum Addict Marks 107th Birthday

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A woman who says she's 107 years old admits she's a bubble gum addict.

On her birthday Tuesday, Judy Petty said "I chew about 100 pieces a month." A year ago bubble gum took her last tooth but she won't swear off.

Mrs. Petty says she has visited a doctor only once and that was eight years ago. She says she can recall vivid memories of the Civil War when she was a young girl in Ocilla, Ga.

As late as 1912 most movies consisted of only one or two reel films.

Ford Tells Its Workers Pay Rate Over Average

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. told its 165,000 employes today their average pay last year was 71 cents an hour higher than the average for all employes of the manufacturing industry.

★ ★ ★

Ford, acting in the midst of new labor contract negotiations in the car industry, distributed to its workers a booklet titled "Facts on the Line" which emphasized management responsibilities.

The United Auto Workers Union currently is negotiating new contracts with Ford and other car makers. Present contracts expire Aug. 31.

The UAW's International executive board is to be asked Sunday to authorize strike votes at General Motors and Chrysler. There has been no similar action at Ford.

★

By coincidence, the UAW today began a billboard campaign aimed at swaying public opinion to its side in the negotiations. Bonuses paid to Ford officials and Ford's profits were singled out for mention.

One UAW billboard advertisement said in a newspaper-type headline "23.6 million in bonuses paid to Ford officials." "Ford 1960 profits $763 million," the ad also said. UAW Ford locals are paying for the billboards.

Ford, in distributing its booklet, made no reference to the contract negotiations.

The 12-page illustrated booklet also mentioned competition and the requirement on management to keep pace and necessity for profits which it said "make it possible to pay wages and salaries."

"In recent years competition for the customer's dollars has increased tremendously," Ford said, adding:

"The battle for our share of sales dollars will be even tougher in the coming years as competition at home and abroad grows.

"If we are not kept competitive, the result could be fewer jobs, fewer paychecks for Ford employes."

"Above all, management must be free to make decisions—decisions on which the job security of all employes may depend," the booklet also said.

A chart in the booklet indicated a relationship between sales of Ford products and Ford's amount of employment.

The bulk of Ford's 165,000 employes is represented by the auto union.

★ ★ ★

On wages, the booklet said that in 1960 the manufacturing industry average pay was $2.29 cents an hour while the Ford average was $3.

★ ★ ★

The UAW-industry contract talks are nearing the crucial stage. The industry has served notice it won't agree to new contracts that would be inflationary or cause higher car prices.

Wisner Stadium Should Have Up-to-Date Lighting Facilities

Wisner Stadium needs modern lights.

This isn't a new or startling pronouncement as local authorities have been aware of it for years. When the fine, big athletic field was opened, the towers were in keeping with general outdoor lighting of that moment.

But times change.

Methods have improved vastly and competing teams and visiting officials unhesitatingly pronounce the local setup about as feeble as any they encounter. Unhappily, this is true. The Lions players, coaches and officials were warm in their praise of the fans and the field, but all of them were dubious over a real top performance in the semi-twilight that always prevails at Wisner.

We need new lights badly.

★ ★ ★

Several plans can help. Modern, up-to-date fixtures will cost around $30,000. Primarily, this is an obligation and function of the School Board, and the bulk of the money will have to come from this source.

★ ★ ★

But there may be assistance from other places. Right now the City Commission has been asked to light the Wisner baseball diamond. The current football lights could be sold to the City by the School Board and the funds used for the new lighting plant. Also, the Jaycees were planning to donate some of their income from the Lions' game toward new lights at Wisner as they all recognized the need. Perhaps they will do this in 1962.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's own athletic teams and visitors have long been aware of our deficiency. Pontiac teams always play their home games at night under this handicap. The whole matter has even become a bit embarrassing as we lag so far behind other stadia.

★ ★ ★

Wisner field is really a civic proposition. Many events are held there that do not necessarily pertain to the schools. Thus, there would be plenty of justification for the City to help the School Board, beyond the actual purchase of the current lighting system for the baseball diamond.

This is the time to start.

Planning takes weeks and construction even longer. The Lions have pinpointed a civic need of which we've been acutely aware for some time. This City is in a strong financial position. So is the School Board. The Jaycees can help some. A bond issue's possible and through all these sources a normal, modern lighting system should evolve.

Our County's Biggest Get Together Occasion

Now in progress on its permanent grounds out Perry Street is the annual event when our rural, village and city folks get together — and think more of each other.

It is the Oakland County 4-H Club Fair, largest such fair in Michigan.

This is when the urban people learn the difference between a Plymouth Rock and a Poland China.

It is when the rural folks get better acquainted with the folks they're feeding.

Most such county fairs are held in temporary quarters. Oakland County's 4-H Fair has the finest set of permanent buildings devoted to such a purpose in our entire State.

At the Fair, about 1,500 of the County's young people have a chance to strut their stuff.

They're outstanding examples of our best citizens, and are waiting to entertain you. The admission is free and parking charge nominal.

David Lawrence Says:

K Slyly Asks for West to Surrender

IN EUROPE — All that Nikita Khrushchev wants is the surrender of the West on the Berlin issue without war. This, he is confident, would do away with the "war psychosis," and he frankly declares that the further development of communism would thus be assured, not only in East Germany but in the satellite countries as well, which, he confesses, might otherwise succumb to Western influence.

LAWRENCE

A reading of the full text of the speech of the Soviet premier on Monday night reveals a bold demand for surrender, couched in argumentative but seemingly conciliatory language. Parts of the speech could well have been uttered by President Kennedy or by any other Western statesman. For example, Khrushchev says:

"Life demands that statesmen should not only say reasonable things but also should not permit themselves in politics to cross the line when the voice of reason fails silent and a blind and dangerous game with the destinies of peoples and states begins. . . ."

"Let us honestly meet at a round table conference. Let us not create a war psychosis. Let us clear the atmosphere. Let us rely on reason and not on the power of thermonuclear weapons."

★ ★ ★

But such passages were interwoven with denunciations of the alleged war passions of the West, and with boasts that the Soviets can destroy not only the United States, but Western Europe, with thermonuclear weapons. Khrushchev blandly reverses himself again and again, and, instead of using the voice of reason, employs the voice of the bully as he says:

"If the Western powers persist in their refusal to sign a German peace treaty, we shall have to settle this problem without them. It goes without saying that in that case the German Democratic Republic (East Germany) would attain full sovereignty and, therefore, the question of the use of communications with West Berlin running across its territory would have to be decided by agreement with the GDR (East German) government.

"As to the agreements between the Soviet Union and the Western powers on the question of access to West Berlin concluded during the occupation period, they will become null and void. It would seem that all this is natural and quite fair and should not evoke objections or discontent on anyone's part."

This is as plain-spoken a demand for surrender by the West as could be written. Then, as a kind of face-saver for the West, the Soviet ruler promises that, as a matter of practice, East German authorities will be kind and cooperative, and that the Soviets "do not intend to intrude upon any lawful interests of the Western powers." Khrushchev urges that the Communist regime in East Germany be trusted, and adds:

"Barring of access to West Berlin, blockade of West Berlin is entirely out of the question. All this is only a figment of imagination of those who want to incandescse the atmosphere in order to prepare war."

The whole speech is an attempt to put the blame on the West through "mobilization" of Western military forces, as Khrushchev describes it. By contrast, he wishes the world to know that— at least, for the time being—Russia isn't increasing her armament or preparations for war.

But is there any real clue in the speech to what could happen in the all-important "negotiation" that the Soviet premier says he wants? Hopes, however mistaken they may prove to be, are based on this suggestion in the speech:

"We propose that it should be stipulated in the peace treaty that the free city of West Berlin shall be granted the freedom of communication with the outside world. We agree to the establishment of any most effective guarantees of the independent development and the security of the free city of West Berlin."

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

I could wish to be present with you now and to change my tone, for I am perplexed about you.—Galatians 4:20.

★ ★ ★

Beware of doubt—faith is the subtle chain
Which binds us to the infinite; the voice
Of a deep life within, that will remain
Until we crowd it thence.
—Mrs. E. Oakes Smith.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

British Have Efficient Emergency Medical Setup

I cannot, of course, enter into the present political controversy that is being waged between the supporters of our "free enterprise" system of medical care and those who advocate what is called "socialized medicine."

★ ★ ★

However, I should like to direct your attention to a report of the International Business Machine World Trade Corp. on the system they have installed in London for round-the-clock emergency medical service.

Here are the details:

Physicians under contract to the National Health Service of the United Kingdom are required to be on duty at all times of the day or night, seven days a week. Should one take a day off or a vacation, he is required to provide a substitute to care for his patients.

And, as the service is presently constituted, the subscribing doctor turns his territory over to qualified substitutes who cover in eight hour shifts.

Under the IBM system with an "accounting assist from punched cards," when the patient phones his off-duty or vacationing doctor, the call is automatically switched to service headquarters and, from headquarters, by radio, to duty doctors strategically located through the greater London area.

Each stand-in doctor drives a service car, equipped with a radio-telephone receiver. And, when the emergency call is relayed to the stand-in doctor, he is required to speed to the scene of the call.

The accounting chores created by this service are handled by a punch card system that performs its task in "only about five service bureau hours each month." And the stand-in doctor receives credit for his emergency calls at rates fixed by the National Health Service.

The IBM World Trade Corp. report coincides with the statement that "no successful has the emergency call service been in London that plans are being made to extend it to Birmingham and other English cities."

I know of nothing in the traditional American "free enterprise" system to prevent the establishment of a similar emergency medical service. Indeed, many small groups of physicians and medical societies provide for patient-care under similar conditions.

But I know of none so completely equipped and highly organized as the British system that enlists the services of some 1,500 qualified physicians.

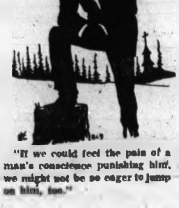
The Country Parson



"If we could feel the pain of a man's conscience punishing him, we might not be so eager to jump on him, too."

Voice of the People:

'Only by Free Enterprise Can Man Better Himself'

Canada's new socialist party says the only cure for the country's difficulties is a "controlled economy," with jobs for everybody. They say this is better than free enterprise, in which it is, " 'Every man for himself,' said the elephant as he danced among the chickens."

★ ★ ★

How did the Big Man, or "elephant," become what he is? He started as a Little Man and rose by hard work and ingenuity. Do you know another economic system where this can happen?

Under what other system could Henry Ford have built his idea into an empire providing thousands of jobs? Where else could a boy like Sam Gompers create the AFL? Where but under Free Enterprise can a man use all his natural talents to better himself?

★ ★ ★

Theoretically, socialism provides work for everybody but at the price of freedom. Name one socialist country where a man can advance without first selling his soul to the party. Socialism is a drug, an opiate for people who are content with crumbs; who want the government to look after them because they are too stupid, too timid, or too lazy to look after themselves.

★ ★ ★

How does Ivan in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics like a controlled economy without automobiles or televisions or freezers? If government control is best, why has mismanagement in Red China resulted in nationwide famine? Why do over a thousand people a day flee from East Germany's controlled regime?

★ ★ ★

The Canadian New Democratic Party says they are fed up with quibbling over degrees of leftism and rightism. I say we are fed up with people failing to see what is happening in the world today. Can't adult human beings see the lesson of socialism until they have been ensnared?

'Let's Do Same, and Voluntarily'

England has hoisted her taxes, tightened credit and stopped all pay increases. This is necessary to stabilize her economy and we should adopt a program exactly like that in our country and do it voluntarily. Otherwise we will be forced into it and we will have to add a lot of other restrictions in addition.

'Taxpayers Should Cheer Newburgh'

Newburgh deserves the cheers of all taxpayers across the country who want a square break for the dollars that are wrested away. Newburgh intends to spend where spending is needed and not where spending is merely requested.

Ex-Army Man Chides the Navy

Why in the world didn't that Navy helicopter simply "stand still" and hold the capsule until a ship came by? I can't believe Navy helicopters are so feeble and old fashioned they don't have radios.

Lifting it clear up to the aircraft was wholly unnecessary. The Navy made itself a laughing stock before the whole world with that silly and stupid exhibition.

Ex-Army

The Almanac

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 9, the 221st day of the year with 144 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mars, Saturn and Jupiter.

On this day in history: In 1593, the so-called "father of angling," Isaak Walton, was born.

In 1831, the first train in the United States to be drawn by a steam locomotive made a run between Albany and Schenectady, N.Y.

In 1902, the Prince of Wales, son of Queen Victoria, was crowned King Edward VII of Great Britain.

In 1945, the second atom bomb was dropped on Japan. More than half of Nagasaki was destroyed. Almost 40,000 of the city's 250,000 population were killed and 20,000 were injured.

A thought for today: Isaak Walton said, "Good company and good discourse are the very sinews of virtue."

Smiles

Several golfers' lockers in a country club were robbed, an indication that somebody was thirsty.

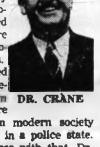
Case Records of a Psychologist:

Salesmen Symbol of Our System

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE J-463: B. A. Yenkin, of Columbus, Ohio, sat beside me recently during an airplane trip.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I just finished addressing the salesmen of our firm.



DR. CRANE

"And I told them that it costs an average of $50 for each call they make on prospects. So I urged them to use care in selecting potential prospects.

"I concluded my address by reminding them that salesmen are the first men in modern society to be eliminated in a police state.

"Don't you agree with that, Dr. Crane?"

SALES SPARKPLUGS

Yes, I certainly do, for salesmen are the typical symbol of our Republic with its great "free enterprise" system.

★ ★ ★

In British Socialism and Russian Communism, the salesmen disappear, for free competition between manufacturers and retailers is then stifled.

Instead, the government then ORDERS everybody around and tells citizens what to buy, plus how much and at what price.

It may even use the ration card in peace times.

Stagnation follows a dearth of salesmanship. A creative nation is a direct tribute to advertising and selling.

The U.S.A. is the greatest advertising and sales nation on earth, which is one notable reason why we are still the envy for all other peoples!

But big central government and the zooming number of employes on the tax payers back, is threatening even our own "free enterprise" system.

★ ★ ★

More and more millions of Americans are now living on federal or state salaries and Social Security.

BUSINESS IGNORANCE

Alas, even educated Americans are woefully ignorant of private business costs.

They think the "gross" income of a grocer or gas station operator can be taken home to be spent as the owner wishes.

Not only do we need to train our grade schoolers in the marked difference between "net" vs. "gross," but we need to inform our voters accordingly.

For example, a Minnesota editor recently greeted M. H. Williams, Sales Manager of the newspaper syndicate that handles my feature, with this remark:

"How many millions of dollars has Dr. Crane salted away in his pockets from the dimes our readers have sent to him for his booklets and letters of advice?"

Actually, one of our leading insurance companies has shown that the average personal letter the usual firm sends out, costs $2. This $2 includes secretarial salary, overhead, and the executive's time.

Maybe a lot of you readers figure it costs only a 4 cent stamp when you write your newspaper or anybody else for advice.

★ ★ ★

But that's because your spare time is not being paid for.

Nowadays, you might be interested in these practical cost data:

An envelope costs over 1 cent. A sheet of letterhead stationary runs 2 cents. If an advertising brochure is enclosed, it runs 5 to 7 cents. The postage stamp is 4 cents. Secretary and stenographic costs run about 70 cents PER LETTER!

That doesn't include the executive's time or other overhead, as heat, taxes, etc. The overhead runs about 49 cents per letter.

Since I donate my time to the mail service, our cost per personal

Outside Offers Amazing

U. of M. Feeling Raid on Faculty

(Editor's Note: Large universities continue to feel the pinch of raids by business and industry on their faculty staffs. In this, the second of a three-part series, AP Ann Arbor correspondent Richard Pyle describes an added threat to blue-ribbon faculties of large schools—the efforts of small colleges to lure away key men to boost their own academic standards.)

By RICHARD PYLE

ANN ARBOR (AP)—In years past, when the little colleges out in the cornfields went looking for top-notch additions to their faculties, they cast only envious glances toward the University of Michigan.

With limited budgets, little prestige and no big plans for the future, there was little they could offer a U. of M. man to leave his post.

* * *

But times have changed. Higher education everywhere is booming. There are more students. The national yearly average of increase in college appropriations is 20 per cent. Salaries for professors are up 5 to 7 per cent across the United States each year.

And the University of Michigan, beset since 1957 with budget restrictions brought on by the state's financial crisis, is battling to hold onto its blue-ribbon faculty.

The cornfield colleges—and the bigger ones as well—are making offers of employment that Marvin L. Niehuss, U. of M. vice president, terms "truly amazing."

* * *

He is disturbed by the fact that small schools which once could have given no thought to attempting to hire a U. of M. man are now not only trying—but in some cases succeeding.

* * *

Alameda State College in California offered $13,000 to a U. of M. faculty member who was making $7,000. They got him.

Niehuss' black notebook is filled with records of offers, some accepted, some spurned, made to U. of M. faculty members by other schools and by private industry.

* * *

The toughest bidders are the nation's top schools—among them Harvard, Yale, Chicago, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the University of California.

TRENDS UNUSUAL

Behind them come what Roger Heyns, dean of the U. of M. college of literature, science and the arts, called "the second tier"—schools like Johns Hopkins, Rochester, Stanford, Duke and "the entire California system."

Niehuss, with whom the struggle against faculty raids is a personal thing, detects some unusual trends in the bidding.

Among them, he says, is a tendency by schools to make offers which emphasize research activities while soft pedaling teaching duties.

"Curiously," he said, "this comes at a time when there will be more students enrolling than ever before, and the demand for classroom instruction will be greater."

* * *

"This is a condition which the University of Michigan—which traditionally has expected its faculty to be teachers—is neither prepared nor inclined to meet.

* * *

Another oddity of the battle is the fact that U. of M. has been more successful in fighting off private industry than other schools, despite the lures that are offered.

"Some of the offers from industry and private foundations are unbelievable," said Niehuss. "Offers that would double a man's salary—or more than double it—are not uncommon."

MANY STAY

Example: A U. of M. man earning $13,500 was offered a job in industry at $30,000 a year to start, three months off and a guarantee of 20 per cent of his time free the rest of the year.

"Most men find such offers hard to believe at first," said Niehuss, "and they are very enthusiastic. But then they sit down and figure out their income tax bracket, and measure their current status in the academic field against the prospects."

Like the man in the example above, many of them stay at U. of M.

WHAT'S THE FUSS? — Miss Bon Bon Bass, 25, leans under some heavy netting to put her head inside the car of Richard (Rick) Flynn to pose with King Kado, a 16-month-old lion, at a parking lot near Pennsylvania Station in New York City Tuesday. The lion had been placed in the back seat of the car by Flynn, a lion tamer, while he went to lunch with Miss Bass and her mother. When he returned, a crowd of approximately 300 New Yorkers had gathered to gawk at the animal.

Blase New Yorkers Gawk at Lion Deep in Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard (Rick) Flynn was mightily surprised to find a mob of gawkers, a covey of anxious cops and an SPCA wagon gathered around his car. Why, the only attraction was a full-grown lion in the back seat.

Flynn, a lion tamer, couldn't see much unusual about that and he seemed to think only New Yorkers would take such a thing seriously.

Returning from lunch, he found the crowd in a parking lot around his vehicle and said: "We do this everywhere we go and generally we have to fight around the car to get into it because people stick their arms through the open window and pet him."

The 16-month-old lion, named King Kado, is as "docile as any human being," Flynn contended.

William Sheppard, an attendant at the lot opposite Pennsylvania Station, had not taken that relaxed attitude when he came upon the lion.

★ ★ ★

He hollered for the cops and they responded and called for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The cops also held back about 300 spectators to make sure there would be no cruelty to humans.

APPEARED IN ACT

At that time Flynn came back from lunch, which he had shared with Miss Bon Bon Bass, 25, of the Bronx, and her mother. Miss Bass once appeared with Flynn in his act, putting her head in the lion's mouth.

Flynn, whose home is in Overland, Mo., was trying to talk her into rejoining the act.

Mrs. Leo Bass, the mother, had cut herself on the car door as they left, and the traces of blood did nothing to quiet the anxiety of the police before Flynn explained.

The upshot of it all was that the police issued three summonses —two to Flynn and one to the parking lot owner, although he had not known he was playing host to a lion.

USED TO HEAT

An SPCA agent said the inside of the car was very hot, but Flynn said King Kado was used to such temperatures — "He was brought up that way."

And King Kado? Well, he had slept until all those humans started yelling around.

When he woke up he drank a little water and seemed undisturbed at being the center of attraction.

He was purring softly as Flynn drove off to an unspecified place in New Jersey, Flynn said they were appearing at Cumberland, Md., starting Aug. 14.

'U.S. Products Will Increase'

Goldberg Predicts Our National Business to Hit $535 Billion

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg predicts the nation's income from goods and services—called the gross national product — will reach $535 billion in the final quarter of 1961.

He estimated it at about $515 billion now and $500 billion when the Kennedy administration took over in January.

★ ★ ★

"What this means is that we have had a substantial amount of recovery from the recession," he said.

He estimated the country needs a gross national product of $585 to $600 billion a year to avoid an intolerable level of unemployment.

Goldberg made the comments to newsmen as he waited to address the international convention of the United Association of Plumbers and Pipefitters.

★ ★ ★

In his speech to the convention —on his 53rd birthday—he reported the nation's missile and space programs lost only 200 man-days in July because of labor disputes.

More than a million man-days were worked in those programs in the month, he said.

The language in Brittany resembles Welsh and Welsh tourists can make themselves understood in this section of France. Some of the older generation do not speak French.

New Citizens, Others Urged to Register for Vote

Newly naturalized citizens and young unregistered voters in the Pontiac area are being urged by Secretary of State James M. Hare to register at their local city or township clerk's office soon.

★

The deadline for registration to vote in the Sept. 12 election of constitutional convention candidates is 8 p.m. next Monday, Aug. 14.

★ ★ ★

Hare also reminded young voters that they should register if they will be 21 on or before Sept. 13. An attorney general's ruling gives the young man or woman reaching 21 on the "day after election" an opportunity to vote in next month's constitutional convention delegate election.

Arraignment Today for Two Hijackers

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Leon Bearden and his 16-year-old son Cody go before U.S. District Judge E. M. Thomason today to be arraigned on charges of trying to hijack a $5-million airliner so they could sell it to Fidel Castro.

★ ★ ★

Judge Thomason is expected to set the date for their trial within a few weeks.

★ ★ ★

"With pop's record, they'll burn him," Cody remarked.

Bearden, 38, has a 20-year police record and was on parole from a robbery conviction when he and his son hijacked a Continental 707 jet airliner with 73 persons on it last Thursday and tried to force the pilot to fly to Cuba.

Wishes Range From the Important to the Foolish

Everybody Has a Portfolio of Unfinished Business

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Everybody has unfinished business in his life. It consists of all the things he'd like to do or get—but somehow, for one reason or another, never does.

BOYLE

Some of the things may seem quite important and unachieved, may leave a visible scar. Others are only foolish wistful daydreams — vagrant yearnings, zany impulses, small vanities unexpressed. Their defeat impels us to no regret beyond a wry sigh and the philosophical observation, "Well, that's life for you."

* * *

Each man builds up his own file of unfinished business—his private portfolio of the wished-for but unattained—as he goes along from childhood through adulthood, and if he keeps his zest for living the file gets bigger and bigger.

SCALE THE HEIGHTS

For example, somewhere along the way I've wanted to do such things as:

Climb the Empire State Building and the Statue of Liberty.

Eat a second garlic-buttered snail. The first one seemed awfully filling at the time.

Show Brigitte Bardot the Taj Mahal by moonlight.

Learn to drive an automobile.

* * *

Swim across the Mississippi River, and travel down it on an old-fashioned steamboat.

Understand electricity, and be able to explain it to others.

Attend an informal dinner party at the White House.

Tie a bow tie just once that didn't look as if it had been assembled by a man with 10 thumbs and the palsy.

FIND CURES

Find cures for the common cold and the uncommon hangover.

Talk to Socrates, Voltaire and Emily Dickinson at a spiritualist's seance.

Meet a movie or television star who was humble—and never bragged about it.

Bend the bank at Monte Carlo. I don't want to break it—just bend it to my needs.

* * *

Grow a beard, without winding up looking like a beatnik.

Grow a mustache without looking like a 19th century bartender, or John L. Sullivan gone to pot.

Learn to carry a tune, any tune, any tune in the whole wide world.

Become proficient in one other language besides English and pig Latin.

SOMETHING NEW

Find a really satisfying new food that would taste like strawberries, ice cream, corn on the cob, mashed potatoes and gravy—and wouldn't have a calorie in a carload.

Have a miraculous checking account that could never be overdrawn.

Grow your new upper front teeth. If they're going to sprout anywhere else, the dentist can have them—I don't want 'em.

* * *

Own a house by the sea with three bedrooms and 97 bathrooms—one more than any wife can fill with dripping stockings hung up to dry.

Find a potion that would make short, balding, middle-aged fat men absolutely irresistible to all women under 40. I wouldn't market it; I'd keep it all for my own use.

PERFECT GAME

Go bowling and get one perfect game.

Walk through a forest and be able to name every tree, flower, weed, animal and bird I saw.

Write one phrase or line of poetry that would sing in the heart of man forever.

Wake up each morning feeling like a child setting out for its first day in kindergarten.

What's in your own portfolio of unfinished business?

Cost of Living Sends Italian Prisoners Home

ROME (AP) — Scores of prisoners walked out of jail Tuesday because of Italy's rising cost of living.

Heretofore prisoners who could not pay fines had to serve them out in jail at a rate of 400 lire (64 cents) a day. Effective today such prison time is counted off at a rate of 5,000 lire ($8) a day.

"Everything costs more these days," an official explained. "Time is a lot more valuable than it used to be."

"the world agrees on 'Gilbey's, please!'"

Army Reports Major Radar Breakthrough

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A generating unit described as a major breakthrough in radar was announced by the Army Tuesday.

The new generator will enable radar to pinpoint targets with 10 times the precision now available in comparable equipment, the Advanced Research Projects Agency said here.

The generator, developed by Alco Products Co., Auburn, N. Y., and Westinghouse, will be used this summer to observe intercontinental ballistic missiles firings over the Pacific as targets for the Nike Zeus antimissile missile.

Ocean Liner Hits Whale at Full Speed in Atlantic

STAVANGER, Norway (AP) — The Norwegian - America Line luxury liner Oslofiord hit a whale while sailing the Atlantic at full speed from New York to Norway Aug. 2, Capt. Bjoernulf Egeland reported today.

The 543 passengers had just been served dinner, when the ship shuddered. People ran on deck. A seaman reported blood flowed in the wake of liner.

"I have sailed since 1938, and nothing like this ever happened to me before," the captain said. "Whales usually keep their distance. That whale must have been sick."

PIN-WORMS
A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they disselve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small, easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults.

Union Failed to Get Peek in '46

Closed GM Books Old Issue

By ROBERT IRVIN
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT—History is repeating itself in the 1961 auto contract negotiations.

The United Auto Workers, as it did 16 years ago, once again is squaring off with General Motors over whether the union has a right to look at the company's books.

AP Photofax

HOLD IT, SISTER — These two dapper creatures have a problem when it comes to sauntering up to a hot dog stand and ordering a couple with everything. But they keep their feathers unruffled and, winking at the etiquette books, down them in one gulp. Linda Gooch, who runs this refreshment booth at the Shakespearian Festival Park, obliges famous swans of Stratford, Ont.

What it all boils down to is this: The UAW wants secret data on costs, prices and profits to determine how much GM can afford to increase wages without increasing its prices.

The union said GM brought up the issue of inflation in the negotiations and thus the UAW is entitled to a look at GM's records to prove its demands are not inflationary.

* * *

GM denied it raised the issue of inflation, and, moreover, insisted that its prices and profits are not for negotiation at the bargaining table because the UAW has the right to bargain on wages and benefits.

So, to get the data, the UAW threatened to file unfair labor practice charges against GM with the National Labor Relations Board.

It did the same thing 16 years ago. On Nov. 7, 1945, the UAW spurned a GM wage increase offer if the increase would serve to raise car prices. Then, the next day the union filed charges with the NLRB.

The UAW claimed it was entitled to look at GM's books to prove the auto firm could afford to meet the union's demands without passing the wage increase onto consumers in the form of higher prices.

* * *

But two weeks after filing the charges — and two months before the NLRB hearing began — the UAW went on strike against GM. The walkout by 175,000 workers at 102 GM plants lasted 119 days—the longest major strike in auto history.

* * *

Three weeks after the strike started, President Truman named a fact-finding board to investigate the dispute and make recommendations. GM took part in the hearing—until the fact-finders demanded a look at the company's books. Then GM withdrew, objecting to the inquiry into the "ability to pay" issue.

In June 1946 two months after the strike was settled, the NLRB dismissed the union's request for a look into GM's books. But, it was reported the case was dismissed with prejudice and this means the union can't bring up the same charges again.

Thus, if the UAW renews the legal action this year, GM might fight back by citing the 1946 NLRB decision.

As for the union's motives: The UAW insists the information could mean the difference between a strike and peaceful settlement this year.

"We need the information to know how far to press our case," UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock said. "We know there is a line beyond which they will take a strike."

The GM books will show where that line is, Woodcock said.

TWO MINUTES APART — NOT TWINS — Michelle Lynn Shaffer, 4 pounds, 3 ounces, in the incubator, is just two minutes older than Michael Lee, 6 pound, 11 ounces—but they are not twins. Mrs. Leonard Shaffer, watching over her two babies here, is a medical rarity. The attending pediatrician said the infants were conceived at different times and were not from the same egg. Michelle is an 8-month baby while Michael is full term. Doctors say this occurance is rarer than quads and the odds against quads are anywhere from 608,503-1 to 1,000,000-1.

Says Eichmann Image Is Clear

Israeli Describes Nazi as Man With Lust to Kill Jews

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann's "true form and image" as a man with a lust to kill Jews is clear beyond doubt from testimony in his 16-week trial, Israel Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner declared today.

* * *

Hausner, continuing his summation of the prosecution's case against the chief of the Gestapo's Jewish affairs section, charged Eichmann even appealed against orders from Hitler's headquarters to let up in the relentless slaughter toward the end of World War II.

The lust to send Jews to their deaths, even though he was not ordered to do so at the time, offers us a picture of the true Eichmann," Hausner said. "His true form and image rises before us beyond a shadow of doubt in the testimony from witnesses and from accessories still alive which has been presented here."

* * *

LISTEN GRAVELY

The three judges trying Eichmann as a criminal accomplice in the Nazi massacre of an estimated six million Jews listened gravely as the prosecutor slashed at Eichmann's plea that he was only a minor official in the SS apparatus.

* * *

Hausner cited captured Nazi documents showing that requests for Jewish skulls and skeletons for the Nazi racial research institute at Strasbourg were sent directly to Eichmann.

* * *

Presiding Judge Moshe Landau announced that the court would recess for the afternoon and that Hausner would complete his summation Thursday morning.

Forest Fire in Michigan Started Red Cross on Way

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Eighty years ago this month, the thick woods of Upper Michigan became a crackling inferno.

* * *

For 10 days, the normally crisp, glistening air of that magnificent vacation-land seethed scarlet. Hundreds of men surged into the area to put out the flames, and 125 of them died.

Countless others were hurt and diseased and would slowly be snuffed out, along with the embers, in nature's own time.

On the 11th day, suddenly, it rained.

The crisis was passed, but the emergency remained. Statistics were as unavailable as homes in Upper Michigan in 1881 after the big forest fire, but the country soon learned that "thousands of people" would face the oncoming winter without shelter, food, medicines, clothing or cattle.

In a small town in upstate New York, in a community named Dansville, a lady named Clara Barton had only four months earlier organized a modest organization called, picturesquely, "the Red Cross."

The Michigan disaster was its first great chance to do a job.

With the help of people all over the U.S., the Red Cross did it.

Since then, there have been 37 disaster relief operations in this country which, individually, have called for Red Cross assistance totaling one million dollars or more.

RELEASE COSTS

On the eve of its 80th anniversary, those disasters—their nature, location, time and cost—have just been released.

They tell a fascinating story of the violence of nature—where and in what form it strikes most devastatingly and frequently in our land.

The order of nature's crueler inventions runs like this:

Floods are the most frequent, costly disturbances of the national natural peace. In 89 years, there have been more than 15 floods which have cost more than $90 million to t he Red Cross in aid. By far the most expensive of these occurred in a year when dollars meant dollars—$35,044,000 for the Ohio-Mississippi valley flood of Sept. 21, 1938.

Hurricanes are next in frequency and havoc. Nine hurricanes—about equally divided between the southern states and New England—have cost nearly $43 million.

Tornadoes are the third major category for chaos. There have been six of such proportions that they cost well over one million dollars apiece; the most disastrous a tornado in March, 1925, which swept clean a path through Illinois, Indiana and Missouri.

* * *

Total tornado assistance from the Red Cross for these "big ones" was $9,186,000.

23-MILLION BLAZE

Since the Michigan fire which started it all, only one forest fire in the U.S. has cost Red Cross contributors more than a million: the New England forest fires of October 1947—$2,357,000.

(Other "great disasters" that have happened only once in these eight decades include one earthquake (San Francisco, 1906, $3,068,000); the Texas City explosion (1947, $1,176,000) and one case of grasshopper and drought relief (Midwest, 1931, $9,367,000).

The remarkable advances in scientific warning systems have helped cut down the once-shocking, still-depleting cost in lives and dollars of hurricanes.

Tornado conditions are also being spotted and, inevitably, their devastation may be eased. But the floods proceed relentlessly in almost every section of the country.

2 New Weigh Stations

LANSING (AP) — Two new truck weighing stations will be opened about Sept. 1 on 196 in Ionia County, according to the State Highway Department. They will replace the present weigh station at the intersection of old U.S. 16 and M66.

If this be the result of "nature weeping," as the poets would have it, then the fall on tears is terrifying.

May Face Charges in Oil Interests Sale

LANSING (AP) — Three promoters today faced possible criminal action by the state in the sale of oil well interests in Western Michigan.

Raymond F. Clevenger, state corporation and securities commissioner, Tuesday ordered the men to stop the sales, which he said totaled more than $500,000.

He referred the cases to the attorney general's office for possible prosecution.

Clevenger identified the three as John D. S. Hanson of Plymouth, B. J. Vander Wall of Grand Rapids and Lester Shimmel of Grand Rapids and Gull Lake. Each operates independently, he said.

The commissioner said none of the three was licensed as a securities dealer in Michigan and neither Vander Wall or Hanson qualified the oil well interests for sale with the state. Both are violations of the Blue Sky Law.

Youngster Tells Congressman How to Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—A letter from a New Jersey youngster to Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen Jr., R-N.J., read:

"Dear Congressmen (sic), I think that teachers should not hit a child under any airsumstanses (sic)."

In his answer today, Frelinghuysen said — obviously with tongue-in-cheek—that if Congress passed a subsidy for increasing teachers' pay it would undoubtedly look into teachers' disciplinary methods, including spanking.

But in the meantime, he told the youngster, "I am sure that good behavior on your part will eliminate the necessity for your teacher to resort to any such extreme methods."

The congressman declined to reveal the lad's name.

Expected to Resume Disarmament Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States and Russia are expected to resume preliminary disarmament negotiations Sept. 5, probably in New York, officials said today.

* * *

The Kennedy administration also was reported giving "serious consideration" to sending negotiator Arthur H. Dean back to Geneva in a few weeks for another try at budging the stalled nuclear test ban talks.

The New York talks would be between White House disarmament adviser John J. McCloy and Russia's Valerian A. Zorin who met in Washington in June and in Moscow in July.

The adder, Britain's only poisonous snake, is said to be multiplying fast. There are an estimated 150,000 of them in England. They usually won't bite unless cornered.

Queen Serves Royal Slice of Cheesecake

LONDON (UPI)—Britons today got a rare glimpse of the shapely royal leg in a photograph showing Queen Elizabeth stepping ashore from the royal barge in Carrickfergus, Northern Ireland.

The photograph, with the queen's leg exposed above the knee, was published in most national newspapers. It showed Elizabeth smiling and unruffled.

The incident occurred when officials forgot the wharf was 18-inches too high for the royal barge which carried Elizabeth from the yacht Britannia.

The pretty monarch flustered an official by asking: "Can you give me a pull?"

At that moment, cameras clicked and a little slice of royal cheesecake went into British history.

News: Republican Wins Southern Vote

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — Charles E. Boineau, 37, a trucking firm executive, has shattered a nearly century-old tradition by winning election on the Republican ticket to South Carolina's General Assembly.

When Boineau takes his seat with the Richland County delegation next January, he will be the first Republican in the legislature since Reconstruction days. He will be out-numbered by Democrats in the General Assembly by 169-1.

On the basis of unofficial returns, Boineau got 7,333 votes to 5,940 for Democrat Joe Berry Jr., who had the support of South Carolina's Democratic party organization.

City School Board to See Public Relations Study

A seven-page study of the Pontiac School District's public relations program and recommendations for the 1961-62 program will be presented to the Pontiac Board of Education tomorrow night.

The report is one of several on the agenda of the board's August meeting slated for 7:30 in the central administration building, 40 Patterson St.

Other business will include a recommendation for use of special education facilities and an oral report by Asst. Supt. Dr. Otto C. Hufziger on this year's rehabilitation and construction programs.

The public relations program expected to be outlined by Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent, will outline the 1960-61 program, consider needs for 1961-62 and make recommendations for public relations activities in the coming year.

The special education memorandum concerns an agreement between the local board and the Oakland County Board of Education on establishment and use of facilities for special education.

Board members will also discuss the possibility of lighting tennis courts at Crofoot School.

Whitmer will report orally on the distribution of board agendas, plans for the study of a differentiated salary for administrators and disposal of a $200 gift recently forwarded to the board.

Oral reports on the forthcoming preschool workshop for teachers and the status of sick leave of selected personnel are scheduled by Dr. Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent.

Pregnancy Fails to Slow Down Meg's Social Life

LONDON (UPI)—Princess Margaret, who is expecting her first baby in the fall, was at a Paris party hosted by entertainer Sammy Davis Jr., until the wee hours of the morning today — "proving once again the stork is not affecting her social life.

The 30-year-old princess has kept up a whirlwind pace of theater visits, special events and parties ever since it was announced May 25th that she was pregnant.

Today was no exception. With her baby due in about three months the princess did not get home until well past 2 a.m., after attending the party thrown by Davis in the Pigalle nightclub.

Stiffly Beaten Egg White Will Stretch Cream

When you have an egg white leftover, you can use it to stretch whipped cream. Beat the egg white with a pinch of cream of tartar until foamy, then gradually beat in one-quarter cup of finely granulated sugar; continue beating until very stiff.

* * *

Fold in a teaspoon of vanilla and one-half cup of cream that has been whipped. Serve with fresh berries or fruit cobblers.

Between Old and New

Crabs known as "soft shell" are sometimes considered a species all their own, but actually they're any crabs caught just after they have shed their hard shells and before they've formed new ones. It takes a crab only half a day to shed a shell and grow a new one, so it's in that twelve-hour period that the "soft shell" crabs must be captured and cooked.

To prevent discoloration, thaw frozen fruits in their packages.

Slice Bread Lengthwise to Fill With Ham, Cheese

Take along smoky Deviled Ham Bread Rings next time you have a picnic. They can be prepared easily by opening a thin loaf of French bread (cut almost through lengthwise, being careful not to split the back).

Remove most of inside and spread with butter, then fill with combination of spicy deviled ham and smoky cheese. Press loaf together, wrap in wax paper and chill, then slice when ready to eat.

Avocado Salad Holder

Halve four ripe avocados, removing pits and scoop out pulp, saving shells. Mix with one 7-ounce can tuna, ¼ cup mayonnaise, ¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and ½ teaspoon salt. Spoon into avocado shells. Garnish with orange sections and pimiento. Serve with saltine crackers. Makes 4 servings.

Corn is considered America's most valuable crop.

CHERRY RELISH — Michigan cherries are ripe, just ready for you to capture their goodness in jams, jellies and relishes like the one pictured. This is spiced with cinnamon, cloves and allspice. It will taste wonderful next winter with meat and poultry.

Spiced Cherry Relish Made with Michigan Fruit

It was Robert Herrick, a fruit monger of old England, who some three hundred years ago, sang of his wares like this:

"Cherry ripe, ripe, ripe, I cry
Full and fair ones —
come and buy!"

And you may be sure that homemakers of that time took advantage of those delicious ripe cherries . . . and undoubtedly made cherry preserves of some sort. We can be quite sure of that because it was in England that the jam and jelly business was first established many, many years ago.

Today's homemakers are more fortunate than the English ladies —the commercial fruit pectins make jam and jelly-making a positive cinch! Once the fruit is prepared, the actual cooking is a mere one-minute boil, with the result that the fresh fruit flavor is kept . . . and, of course, there is no "boiling away" of fruits and juices.

* * *

So—make the most of the cherry season . . . and make yourself a handsome row of Cherry Relish!

CHERRY RELISH
(Using sour cherries)

3 cups prepared fruit (about 2½ lbs. ripe sour cherries)
4 cups (1¾ lbs.) sugar
1 box (1¾ oz.) powdered fruit pectin

First, prepare the fruit! Stem and pit about 2½ pounds fully ripe sour cherries. Chop very fine or grind. Add ¼ cup vinegar and 1 teaspoon each cinamon, cloves, and allspice, or any desired combination of spices. Measure 3 cups into a large saucepan.

Then make the relish. Measure sugar and set aside. Add fruit pectin to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar.

Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Cover at once with ⅛ inch hot paraffin. Makes about 7 medium glasses.

Make Your Own Tartar Sauce

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

"Will you please publish a recipe for a half-pint of good Tartar Sauce?" a reader pleads.

Here it is, all ready for folk who are bringing home their catch from lake, stream and surf. Tartar Sauce is such a perfect accompaniment to fish and seafood that every good cook should know how to prepare it.

This recipe has a real lure. Because Tartar Sauce is made by adding special seasonings to mayonnaise, you learn how to prepare two dishes at one time.

Tartar Sauce

1 egg yolk
½ teaspoon salt
1¼ teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons fresh cider vinegar and lemon juice
1 cup corn oil
Extra seasonings

In a small deep bowl beat until blended the egg yolk, salt, sugar, mustard, paprika and vinegar. Add ½ cup of the oil. 1 tablespoon at a time in a fine stream, and as you do so beat with high speed of electric mixer or vigorously with rotary hand beater. If any oil is visible on surface after each addition, beat until blended.

Add lemon juice; continue adding remaining ¼ cup oil in previous fashion. Stir in extra seasonings: ¼ cup finely chopped sweet pickle, 2 teaspoons minced parsley, 2 small scallions (minced with green top included) and ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Makes ½ pint sauce.

NOTE: Recipe may be doubled, using same method of mixing. For mayonnaise, omit extra seasonings and store in tightly covered jar in refrigerator.

Baked Alaska Will Wow the Guests

Peaches, of course, are a wonderful treat to eat out-of-hand whenever you want a sweet, juicy pick-up. But if you'd like to go for a bit of fancy perch preparation, try this recipe for Peachy Baked Alaska:

Cover a wooden cutting board or cookie sheet with wax paper or brown wrapping paper. Place serving-size squares of sponge, pound, or layer cake on paper. Spoon peach slices on top of each piece, and add a small scoop of ice cream if desired.

Completely encircle each serving with meringue (allow 1 egg white, 2 tablespoons of sugar, and a dash of salt, per serving.) Bake in a 450 degree oven until golden brown, about 5 minutes. Slide from the paper to serving plates and garnish with peach slices or whatever berries may be in season.

Types of Pork Chops

There are four different types of pork chops on the market, states the American Meat Institute. The center-cut rib and the center-cut loin chops are the two most popular cuts, while the shoulder rib and chop and the one from the loin end are economy cuts that are just as good tasting. Any of these cuts can be used in a recipe calling for pork chops.

Waffle Ways

To prevent waffles from sticking to the grids, add two tablespoons fat to each cup of prepared mix, says Georgianne Baker, home management specialist at Michigan State University.

Broiled Shrimp Will Be Spicy

Casual, informal eating is at a peak these lazy, late-summer days. Picnic, patio, porch, and dining-room tables are gay with checkered tablecloths, woven mats and baskets, wooden salad bowls and utensils — and, light appetite-appealing foods. Rosy shrimp is the ideal food for so many summer menus—cold in molded salads or tossed on top of mixed greens, chopped in sandwich spreads, grilled on skewers, or marinated in a tangy lemon sauce and then broiled as described below.

* * *

There's an added reason for serving shrimp this summer. The Shrimp Association of the Americas reports that there are six million more pounds available now then at this time last year.

Broiled Marinated Shrimp

1 pound shrimp, fresh or frozen, or 1 (6-ounce or 10-ounce) package peeled and deveined shrimp
Juice two lemons
⅓ cup salad oil
Salt and pepper
Dash Worcestershire sauce
Dash Tobasco
¾ cup fine dry bread crumbs

Shell and devein shrimp, if necessary, but do not cook. Combine lemon juice, salad oil, seasonings, and sauces. Marinate shrimp in mixture four to five hours. Roll in cracker crumbs and broil 5 minutes on other side, or until shrimp turns pink. Makes 2 or 3 servings.

Folding a colorful jam or jelly into whipped cream, is an easy way to make a sweet, pastel topping for an ordinary dessert.

Chicken Is Easy to Buy, to Fix and to Eat

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

When you read this, we shall be traveling in Canada on our way to a camping vacation on Prince Edward Island and then down into Maine. We hope to pick up some interesting food news en route and shall send it back for the next 2 weeks.

One of the items we tucked into our nice new light weight aluminum camp refrigerator was fried chicken. Well, really it was fried; it's baked chicken that's as crisp and tender as fried chicken. After it had cooled, we froze it, wrapped carefully for traveling.

This recipe has become popular with cooks who are trying to cut down on the fat they use.

Corn Crisped Chicken

3 broiler-fryers, cut in serving pieces.
1½ cups corn flake crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Aluminum foil
¾ cup evaporated milk

Combine corn flake crumbs with MSG, salt and pepper. Line shallow baking pan with aluminum foil. Dip chicken pieces in evaporated milk, then roll immediately in seasoned crumbs. Place chicken pieces, skin side up, in foil-lined pan; do not crowd. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1 hour, or until tender. Do not turn. Makes 8 servings.

* * *

Another recipe for oven-fried chicken bakes the chicken on a bread, apple and almond stuffing.

Curried Chicken Casserole

1 chicken, cup up for frying
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅓ cup butter or margarine
4 cups soft bread cubes
4 cups unpared chopped apple
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1 to 2 teaspoons curry powder
2 tablespoons water
½ cup blanched, slivered almonds

Dip chicken pieces into mixture of flour and 1 teaspoon salt. Melt butter in a shallow baking pan in a hot oven (400 degrees F.). Remove baking pan from oven. As pieces of floured chicken are placed in pan, turn to coat with butter. Bake skin side down in a single layer in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 30 minutes.

To make the curried apple stuffing, combine bread cubes, apple, onion, celery, 1 teaspoon salt, ginger, and curry powder. Sprinkle with water and mix lightly. Remove chicken from pan. Stir stuffing into batter in pan. Top stuffing with chicken turned skin side up in a single layer. Sprinkle almonds over top. Bake another 30 minutes or until chicken is tender.

There's no point in telling the king of the outdoor grill how to broil chicken. He already has his techniques perfected. But we venture to suggest a couple of new sauces to serve with that perfectly broiled chicken. Both are fruit sauces, made more interesting with vinegar and dry white wine.

Broiled Cranberry Chicken

1 can (1 pound) whole cranberry sauce
¾ cup condensed consommé, undiluted
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon dry white wine

Combine all ingredients; bring to a boil; simmer until clear and thickened. Serve over broiled chicken. Makes approximately 1½ cups or enough sauce for 8-10 servings of chicken.

Peachy Chicken Sauce

1 can (1 pound) peaches
¾ cup tomato ketchup
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon dry white wine (optional)
½ teaspoon salt

Mash fruit with fork in juice. Combine with remaining ingredients in saucepan; simmer until clear and thickened. Serve over broiled chicken. Makes approximately 1½ cups or enough sauce for 5-6 servings of chicken.

Take It Easy

Use barbecue sauce on meat with a light hand, say home economists at Michigan State University. It is difficult to improve the rich, natural flavor of meat, and a highly-seasoned sauce often masks this flavor. A little butter and salt and pepper added just before serving may be all that is needed. A cut clove of garlic can be rubbed on the meat before it is broiled.

Rice Layers Stretch Out Vegetables

The versatility of rice makes it perfect for a multitude of delicious, appetite-stimulating dishes, which is one reason why the U.S. Departmtnt of Agriculture includes rice among the foods for donation to the needy. As a cereal, a vegetable, a casserole or combination dish item, rice has limitless menu appeal.

Baked Rice and Vegetables, for example, will delight the entire family. Try this recipe, which calls for 2 cups of cooked rice, 1 cup cooked green peas or lima beans, 1 cup cooked carrots or whole kernel corn, 1 to 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1¼ cups milk, 4 slices bacon.

Place alternate layers of rice and vegetables in greased baking dish, sprinkle each layer with salt and pepper.

Add milk and lay slices of bacon on top.

Bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) 30 to 40-minutes or until bacon is well done.

This recipe will make 6 servings.

Vinegar Sauce Gives Potatoes New Taste

Sweet and Sour Fried Potatoes taste extra good when cooked and eaten outdoors. Here's a good recipe for the camper.

In ½ cup butter, saute ½ cup chopped onion, ½ cup chopped green pepper. Add 3 pounds potatoes which are pre-cooked and sliced; sprinkle with 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon black pepper. Brown potatoes slowly, turning occasionally. When browned, add ¼ cup vinegar mixed with 1 tablespoon water, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon dry mustard. Serve warm to 6.

Takes Only $100 to Be Millionaire Bolivian Style

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — How would you like to be a Bolivian millionaire?

All it takes is 100 U.S. dollars.

Bolivia's monetary unit is the boliviano. Only a few years ago the par value of the boliviano was 190 to one U.S. dollar. But inflation—one of the worst cases in the world — set in, for reasons best explained by economists, and today it takes 12,000 bolivianos to buy $1.

So for $100 you can buy 1,200,000 bolivianos. Presto, you're a millionaire—Bolivian style.

You can go around here with your pockets bulging with money —and not have enough to take your girl to dinner. If you paid cash for an automobile, it would take a truck to carry it. And to count it, would take lots of time.

NATIONAL FULCRUM — Dennis Kleiboeker, 12, relaxes in one of his father's fields and nonchalantly holds a stake that marks the exact population center of the nation, according to the 1960 census. His dad Fred Kleiboeker, far from being impressed with the honor, is concerned about tourists crossing his fields to stand on the spot.

September Should Offset Low August Car Production

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — Passenger car production this month may reach its lowest August ebb in 13 years.

Production schedules call for the assembly of only 180,000 cars. This would compare with 305,514 last year and 180,447 in August 1958.

This is the way the month shapes up by companies: General Motors 72,600 cars compared with 70,296 in August 1958; Ford Motor Co. 87,500 compared with 85,946; Chrysler 9,600 compared with 21,026; American Motors 4,300 compared with 3,062 and Studebaker-Packard 6,000 compared with 117.

A major difference between the two years should occur next month. In September 1958, the industry built only 130,000 cars whereas this year the September goal is roughly 480,000.

* * *

August production, except at Ford, will be primarily 1962 models. Only Chevrolet, other than the Ford lines, stretched 1961 model output past Aug. 1.

Only 32,825 passenger cars were built last week and Ford built 30,025 of them.

Studebaker-Packard began 1962 production today after being down since the last week in June. Various other makes will resume activity next week.

Ward's reports, in its latest forecast, pegs total production for the year at 5,600,000. This compares with 6,696,108 a year ago and would duplicate almost exactly the 1959 total.

* * *

The industry still is hedging all of its advance forecasts with the words "if labor peace prevails."

The United Auto Workers Union contracts expire at Ford, General Motors and Chrysler at midnight, Aug. 31, and at American Motors one week later.

In past years there have been sporadic local shutdowns at the time national contracts expired, pending settlement of individual plant grievances.

Such stoppages could put a crimp into September production plans, although Detroit, at the moment, is betting against a full-scale strike against any of the companies.

The school, on Elizabeth Lake Road, is nonprofit and nonsectarian in enrollment. Licensed by the Michigan State Board of Education through the Department of Social Welfare, the school is a member of the Greater Detroit Cooperative Nursery School Association and the Co-operative Nursery School Association for the State of Michigan.

Mrs. Herman Stenbuck is the teacher, and Mrs. Muirlene Grant, assistant teacher.

The school, for three and four-year-old youngsters is in session from 9 to 11:30 a.m. five days a week. The nursery for three-year-olds is Tuesday and Thursday. Four-year-olds attend Monday, Wednesday and Friday. In the cooperative nursery school plan a mother is present to serve as an assistant teacher.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Melvin Eller is the school's director. A Penn State University graduate, she earned her master's degree at Wayne State University and spent a year in graduate work at the Merrill Palmer Institute.

The school's officers for 1961-62 are Mrs. Bernard Horowitz, chairman; Mrs. Martin Kabcenell, vice chairman; Mrs. Eugene Sikorski, recording secretary; Mrs. Wendell Doolin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Manfred Isaacson, treasurer; Mrs. Morton Jacobs, assistant treasurer; and Mrs. Jack Paul, enrollment chairman.

The sand table inevitably serves as a magnet to 3 and 4-year-olds at a nursery school. At play at Temple Beth Jacob's nursery school during orientation Tuesday were (from left) Ross Mandell of Baybrook Drive, Drayton Plains; Sharon Sue Friedman of Kuhn Street; and Peter Reed of Osceola Drive.

Pied Piper of the story hour is nursery school teacher Mrs. Herman Stenbuck of Owego Drive. If He's Happy, Why Worry? Asks Abby

Mind Your Own Business

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I can't mention any names, but I would like your opinion of the following situation: A well-to-do, recently retired man complained that he didn't appreciate sitting home alone five afternoons a week while his wife went out and played cards. She told him she loved playing cards, and refused to give it up. He asked her how much she could win in a good day. She told him about $10. So now he pays her $10 a day for every day she stays home with him.

ABBY

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: A man who has to "pay" his wife to stay home with him is in pretty sad shape. But if she is satisfied, and he is happy, why don't we keep our noses out of their business?

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman, 42, and am expecting my 10th child. The trouble is that my eldest is expecting her second child. And, Abby, the whole town is talking. They are saying I don't want to get old, and that the only reason I am pregnant is because my daughter is. This is not true. My husband and I love children, and have always wanted a big family. People say that now that we are grandparents we should leave the business of increasing the population to the younger generation. We are able to support our children. What should I tell my jealous friends?

PREGNANT GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: What makes you think you have to tell them anything? A married woman needs no "excuse" for having a baby.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a thick head of hair of which he is very proud. But he refuses to shampoo it more than once every six months. He uses a lot of hair oil, and claims that water will make his hair fall out. We have quarreled about this frequently, and I can't get anywhere with him. Our pillow cases are stained, and his head smells of rancid oil. Can you help me convince him that he should wash his hair more often?

TIRED OF ARGUING

DEAR TIRED: A grown man should know that if he wants to keep his hair, he has to keep it clean. If he is too stubborn to take your word for it, urge him to ask his barber.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO TOM: Young men with mathematical minds usually like figures.

★ ★ ★

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, c-o The Pontiac Press.

No Need for Thanks From You

Q: My husband's employer gave him two tickets to a concert which he could not use. This was a real treat to me and I had a wonderful evening. My husband thinks I should write a note of thanks to his employer for having given us the tickets. I will be glad to do so if you think it is necessary.

A: Taking it for granted that your husband thanked him when he was handed the tickets, that is all that is necessary. If he had sent them to you with a note then you would write and thank him. Of course, if you have occasion to talk to him on the telephone, you would certainly tell him how much you enjoyed the concert.

Q: I am going to be married shortly and we are having a follow-up photographer who will take candid pictures of the entire wedding — from the time the bride leaves her house until we leave on our wedding trip. These will be made up into an album. I would like to know who pays for these pictures. I have been told by the bride's mother that these pictures are my expense since the album will be ours. Is this true?

A: If you suggested this album, you should pay for it; but if it was your fiancee's idea and her parents approved of it, they should pay for it.

Couple Repeats Vows in Pontiac Ceremony

Sharon Jean Smith and Jerry D. Cholet were wed at All Saints Episcopal Church Saturday in the presence of some 150 relatives and friends. Officiating before an altar of white gladioli and mums was Rev. Alexander Stewart.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith of Riviera Street and Vern Cholet of Portage Street. The bridegroom's mother is the late Mrs. Canalee Cholet.

The bride wore a gown of nylon tulle with a modified Sabrina neckline trimmed in French lace and sequins, a fitted bodice long tapered sleeves, and featuring a bouffant skirt edged in lace with lace stern in back ending in a chapel sweep train. Her bouquet was of white gladioli, feather carnations and roses.

* * *

Attending as bridesmaids were Melodye and Sandra Smith, sisters of the bride. Each wore yellow nylon chiffon over yellow satin dresses with matching headpiece and shoes. They carried yellow gladioli and lilies-of-the-valley. Sherryl Evan's maid of honor dress was like the bridesmaids, but of pale aqua shade. Pink gladioli and lilies-of-the-valley comprised her flowers.

The bridegroom's best man was Jim Arterburn and ushers were brothers Bob and Jack, all of Pontiac.

For the reception in the bride's parents' home immediately following the ceremony, Mrs. Smith chose a pale blue lace sheath and matching accessories.

Before leaving for a month long honeymoon in California, the bride changed to a black and white arnel dress with white shoes and hat and a corsage of white tea roses. Upon returning the newlyweds plan to live in Waterford.

MRS. JERRY D. CHOLET

Wear Correct Make-Up With Orange Shade

Once again orange is one of the most important fashion colors for the season. According to a beauty authority redheads as well as blondes, brunettes, and brownettes will be able to wear this excitingly fresh color in all of its tints and shades if they choose the correct colors of foundation make-up and lipstick.

* * *

Do not choose a foundation make-up with yellow tones or you may look jaundiced in orange. Instead, wear a shade that contains a small amount of rose, such as a beige-rose tone. This will give a look of warmth to your complexion. In selecting orange lipsticks, try the pastel shades of candy orange and brandy orange.

* * *

These pastel lipstick colors are especially complementary to summer fashions, and they also bring out the full beauty of sun-tanned complexions.

Formosa's population of 8,600,000 is almost as great as that of Australia, a continent that is about 200 times greater in its area.

Woman Is Honored at Stork Shower

Mrs. James Patterson of Salmer Street was honored at a stork shower given by Mrs. Darryl Bruestle of Birmingham.

Guests at the Thursday affair were Mrs. Patterson's mother Mrs. Guy J. Reed, Doris, Janet and Irene Reed, Mrs. William Bourassa, Mrs. George W. Newlin and Beverly Barkeley.

Others present were Mrs. Stanley Campbell, Mrs. Walter L. Jackson, Mrs. Edgar Gillies, Mrs. Frances DeHart, Mrs. George Googasian, Barbara Dombeck and Mrs. Wayne Lundy.

New Hair Cut Ideal in Summer

(NEA) — The one time each day when women envy men is the moment of the nightly hair-setting. It frequently is an annoyance to have to reach for those rollers again.

This is particularly true in summer and on vacation. Somehow, winter lends itself to long and leisurely beauty sessions. Summer does not. You'd like to spend much more of your time relaxing or having fun. And having fun doesn't mean sticking lots of little metal clips over your head at artistic intervals.

* * *

But things really hit rock bottom at the seaside. Either your hair goes limp or becomes a halo of fuzz. No amount of setting seems to keep it looking pretty.

FOLLOW TREND

Knowing this, a good many American hair stylists have developed a technique of cutting that eliminates the need for nightly hair settings. Rather than coax the hair into an artificial shape, these stylists carefully follow the hair trend as they cut.

The curly cap is for hair with a wave or a tendency to wave. The pixie cut is for hair that's absolutely straight. You might not want to go along with either in winter, but in summer they're ideal.

* * *

Such a hair styling becomes worth its weight in gold at shampoo time. Hair must be shampooed much more often in summer thanks to humid heat, dips in sea or pool and perspiration. But now, you can shampoo it, comb it into place and appear in public while it's still damp!

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"Just thought your readers would like to know how I salvaged a maternity top of white pique.

"I made an embroidered cotton swimming suit of white polished cotton with blue flowers. With scraps left over, I made a collar and cuffs on my white maternity jacket.

"This coordinated the swim ensemble and it has been a real sensation. What a feeling of satisfaction, to make something out of nothing."

Mrs. Bonnie B.

* * *

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"I have trouble with bias bindings on sleeveless and collarless dresses and blouses. They never seem to fit just right, what do I do wrong?"

Mrs. G. A.

Dear Mrs. G.A.:

In a few brief words, the most helpful hint I can give you is this:

When applying bias to an outer curve, you must ease it on so it won't pull too tight.

When applying bias to an inner curve, you must stretch the bias so as to avoid excess.

* * *

"Dear Eunice:

"When I sew with long or stay stitching, what causes the material to pucker up?"

Mrs. A. L. G.

Dear Mrs. A. L. G.:

In the first place, stay-stitching should be done with the average length machine stitch, about 10 to 12 stitches per inch. It is natural that the fabric will pull up a little more when stitching on a single layer than a double layer. Perhaps you need the tension adjusted on your machine.

* * *

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"I have trouble with my dresses tearing across under the arms in both front and back where the little cap sleeves are cut in one with the waist. Do you have a solution for this? I enjoy your sewing helps so much, it's the first thing I look for in the paper."

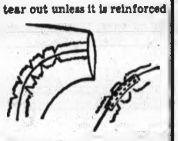
Mrs. N. R.

Dear Mrs. N. R.:

This type of dress will usually tear out unless it is reinforced or has a gusset. If you take these extra precautions, you should have fairly good luck.

1. Stitch the seam-line at the underarm curve TWICE.

2. CLIP the curved area straight in to the stitching line. These clips should be about ½-inch apart at the most.



3. Press this part of your seam open on the edge of your board. If clipped properly, this seam should lay flat.

4. Now baste a strip of hem tape over the clipped seam for about 3 inches at the curved area.

5. From the right side of your garment, machine stitch about ¼-inch from each side of seamline.

* * *

If you would like to have my new leaflet of instructions for making spaghetti straps and rope belts, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 4 to Eunice Farmer, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Know Your Own Boat

EAST LANSING — A good skipper and a cooperative crew contributes to safe boating. Many people have just discovered the thrill of boating, but there is much to be learned to make it safe, says Mrs. Lennah Backus, family life specialist at Michigan State University.

HEED WEATHER

Before a motor turns over or a boat sets sail, there are some safety and courtesy rules of the water to be learned. On large bodies of water there are weather reports to be heeded and small craft warnings to be recognized. Long trips on the Great Lakes make it necessary to read charts and to navigate for accurate position.

* * *

Knowledge of his own boat and of the water is the work of a good skipper. But the family crew can accept some responsibilities. Children can learn why a boat must be kept clean and polished, and they will enjoy helping to keep it shipshape. When they have some jobs to do, they find it easier to observe such rules as sitting quietly without rocking and keeping hands and feet out of the water.

Just as on a large ship, on a boat one person should be in charge, and his orders should be obeyed.

These Middle Years Can Be Happiest

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"I think I'll skip my next birthday. It's the fatal one. I'll be 40," I recently heard a woman say.

She meant it, too.

She was dreading the birthday women associate with middle age — the birthday that makes them face up to the face that they have left the young years behind them and are beginning the middle years.

But why should any American woman today dread being middle-aged? With a little bit of luck, middle age can be the happiest time of a woman's life.

By the time she is middle-aged, a woman's hardest years are over, the years when her husband is struggling to get a start, when money is scarce, when small children demand most of her time and attention, when she is growing up to her responsibilities as a wife, mother and member of a community.

By the time she is middle-aged, a woman has her children well on the way to independence. She has established a way of living that suits her family. She has made a place for herself in her world.

Having put her family first for years, she can begin to think in terms of what she wants out of life—and set about getting it.

A woman should have learned by middle age what things are important and what things aren't worth worrying about. She should have passed enough tests to feel confidence in herself.

By the time a husband and wife have reached middle age they should have a sound and solid marriage together and the firm belief that they can depend on each other.

So what is there for a woman to dread in middle age if the young years have not been wasted or misused? For a woman, if the 30s were good there is no reason to fear the 40s.

Salinger Huddling With Network Chiefs

JFK Wants Comfortable TV Addresses

BY ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House:

Aides of President Kennedy are taking steps to prevent any more brow-mopping discomfort for him in his future radio-television addresses to the nation.

* * *

Press secretary Pierre Salinger has consulted with network officials as a starter toward improving conditions for the Chief Executive's telecasts from his office.

The last time, two weeks ago, Kennedy perspired so much under the stage lights that he applied a handkerchief to his brow.

Some of his stumbling over a few lines of his speech on Berlin and defense may have resulted from the uncomfortable conditions.

Kennedy's office is air-conditioned, but the system was turned down to avoid a hum which could have been heard behind him.

* * *

The President's office is a spacious one, but even so it can become cluttered with all of the television cameras, lights, cables, and technicians, plus newsreel cameras, news photographers, a "pool" of reporters, and guests.

Network officials maintained in their discussion with Salinger that a larger than usual number of guests may have been the reason for the July 25 telecast causing more discomfort than previous ones in the President's office.

There were reports in broadcasting circles that Kennedy also had complained of conditions at his only other radio-TV speech from the office, the one in June reporting on his Vienna talks with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

* * *

Kennedy, according to those reports, was so disturbed that he decided to originate future such addresses from the State Department auditorium where he holds his news conferences.

* * *

But Salinger said he was unaware of any intention of this sort by the President.

IN FINE SPIRITS

Uncomfortable though he may have been during his telecast on Berlin, Kennedy was in fine spirits after completing his half-hour message to the nation.

* * *

From one associate comes the report that Kennedy strolled from his office to the Cabinet room next door, where a broadcaster was revising his script for a follow-up newscast.

The radio newsman, so it is said, was in deep concentration when a hand reached down from behind and picked up the typewritten pages.

* * *

Turning around irritatedly, the newscaster reached to get the sheets back, then recoiled and for want of anything else to say, he protested:

"Mr. President, that's my script!"

* * *

"I'd just like to see it," Kennedy was said to have answered. "I let you see mine, didn't I?"

Wayne Shuts Doors to New Students

DETROIT (UPI)—The doors of Wayne State University were closed to new students today for the first time in history.

Wayne State officials reported the school has filled its quota of 6,800 freshmen and transfer students for the fall term. Associate Dean Henry Pixley said all other applicants are being placed on a waiting list for the spring 1962 semester.

Wayne's quota was set after the state legislature cut $200,000 from the school's operating budget for the 1961-62 school year. It represents a 20 per cent reduction in new students from last year.

Pixley estimated that 1,000 applicants for the fall semester will be turned away by the time classes begin Sept. 25.

Worthless Shelters Peddled by Con Men

CHICAGO (UPI) — Unscrupulous salesmen have taken advantage of the fear of war over Berlin to peddle worthless fallout shelters.

Maj. Gen. J. L. Homer, Illinois CD director, said reports of such sales were received from various parts of the nation.

Opportunists also were selling drugs billed as effective against radiation, Homer said. Examination of the drugs showed they were worthless, he said.

Joint U.S.-South Korean Exercise Set Thursday

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — About 2,000 troops of the U. S. 7th Infantry Division will land at Pohang on South Korea's Southeastern coast Thursday in a joint U. S.-South Korean test of the division's combat readiness.

* * *

The amphibious exercise, labeled "Operation Sharp Edge," got under way Sunday when tanks and troops boarded ships of the U. S. 7th Fleet.

* * *

The landing, originally set for Monday, was delayed because of bad weather. The South Korean Air Force will provide cover for the operation.

TO FIGHT SUIT — Multimillionaire Howard Hughes plans to battle a $115-million suit filed against him by his own company, Trans World Airlines. Brought by a group in control of the airline, the suit alleges Hughes is trying to make TWA a captive market for other Hughes firms. Although he owns 78 per cent of TWA stock, Hughes does not control the company in accord with an agreement with creditors of the airline.

Should Not Stall on Court Rulings

Solicitor General Calls for Quick Acceptance of High Decisions

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Solicitor General Archibald Cox today called for an end to stalling tactics by those who disagree with U. S. Supreme Court decisions.

Without mentioning Southern foes of the court's antisegregation decisions, or any other group, the Kennedy administration official told members of the American Bar Association:

* * *

"The rule of law depends on voluntary acceptance.

"Those who disagree—or stall-off by obvious evasion—the decisions of the court, are endangering the rule of law scarcely less than those who invite mob violence; and this is true, I think, whether the decisions be flouted by private citizens or public officials.

* * *

"Similarly, one must mark the line between criticism of decisions and attacks upon the integrity of the justices and the processes of constitutional adjudication. To disregard this line, however fine it sometimes seems, and thereby to attack the rule of law is a gross disservice to the nation."

* * *

Cox's job as solicitor general is to represent the executive branch of government before the Supreme Court. He was a speaker at a session of the American Judicature Society, being held in connection with the 84th annual convention of the ABA.

* * *

ABA members heard Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark urge lawyers Tuesday to help business firms set up a program of "preventative medicine" to halt violations of the antitrust laws.

* * *

Otherwise, Clark said, more businessmen are likely to go to jail, as did some high officials of electrical firms earlier this year.

Invites Top Republicans to 'Strictly Social' Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clifford Folger, money raiser for Richard M. Nixon in the 1960 presidential campaign, has invited top Republicans to dinner at his Washington home Aug. 16.

* * *

Folger dispelled reports that some high level strategy might be in the making, describing the forthcoming affair as a "strictly social" one.

Thousands Jam Exhibits at 4-H Fair Opening

Oakland Township Youth Awarded Holstein Cow

Opening day at the Oakland County 4-H Fair yesterday saw thousands of visitors drawn to the annual show.

Crowds jammed all the agricultural and animal exhibits from early morning to late evening during which time livestock was paraded, a 4-H king and queen selected and the winner of the freckle contest named.

A special feature of the opening day program was the presentation of a Holstein cow to the outstanding 4-H member by Pontiac Press columnist Joe Haas.

John Wilson, 14, of Oakland Township received the registered Holstein for his achievements in 4-H work during the past year.

John, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson of 25 Kline Road, was named top junior showman of the Oakland County Black and White Show July 29 with his entry of a 2-year-old milking heifer. He also placed seventh in the state show last week.

The award was initiated this year for the first time by Haas in memory of his late wife Winifred who had a special interest in 4-H activities.

The first heifer calf produced by the Holstein will be awarded to the youngster selected as the outstanding 4-Her next year.

Thus the award will be perpetuated indefinitely.

PLEASANT WEATHER

Warm weather and clear skies all day long were credited for the opening day success of the five-day program which ends Saturday at the fairgrounds, Perry Street, south of Walton boulevard.

The fair is a climax to a year's work for more than 1,500 Oakland County boys and girls who are members of the nationwide 4-H organization.

The first events to be judged yesterday were for state show in vegetables and horticulture, a special vegetable exhibit and the Sears special vegetable display.

State show winners in vegetables were:

Beginners — Ann Whims of Avon Township, JoAnn Cudnohufsky of Orion Township, Billy Deckard of Pontiac, Peggy West of Independence Township, James Michelson of Avon Township, Dinan Mirkson of Orion Township, David Spandos of Brandon Township and Pamela Mirkson of Orion Township.

Juniors — Cleo Caverly of Independence Township, Susan Wilson of Oakland Township, Roger Heath of Pontiac, Jack Middleton of Oakland Township and Don Boyd of Highland Township.

Seniors — Richard Foster of Independence Township, Jeffrey Trost of Troy and Tim Phillips of Avon Township.

NAMED WINNER

Dave Graham of West Bloomfield Township was named the state show winner in horticulture.

Awarded first place in the special vegetable exhibit was the East Orion 4-H Club, followed by the Ro Hi Club and the Avon Explorers.

The East Orion club also took the first Sears special award for vegetables. The Avon Explorers was named runner-up.

Two 17-year-olds were named king and queen of the 4-H Fair. They are Richard E. Foster of 970 Baldwin Road, Orion Township, and Carolyn Ruggles of 8142 Reese Road, Independence Township.

Greg R. Carline, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carline of 630 Second St., Pontiac, won the freckles contest.

Fair Barbecue to Help Defray 4-H Trip Cost

Visitors to the Oakland County 4-H Fair tomorrow can have a taste treat as well as help a worthy cause.

A chicken barbecue will be served all day to help defray expenses of the Oklahoma exchange trip made in July by 30 county 4-H members and seven leaders.

Mrs. Alfred W. Smithling of West Bloomfield Township is general chairman of the project sponsored by the county 4-H Council.

Chief cook will be Mrs. S. P. Halsey of Springfield Township, assisted by adults and teen-agers who went on the western trip.

Halves of barbecued chicken will be served with the other foods, soft drinks and coffee available on the fairgrounds on Perry Street, just south of Walton Boulevard.

Farm Program Called Big Step

Secretary Freeman Says Act Most Constructive in Many Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman regards the new farm law as "a significant step toward a healthier farm economy."

He said it would raise farm income and save money for taxpayers.

Freeman told a news conference Tuesday the Agricultural Act of 1961 is the "most constructive and promising farm legislation in many years." He said it was a recognition of the basic concept of supply-management advocated by the Kennedy administration.

An example of supply-management is the controlled production of feed grains—with wheat to be added to the program next year—through acreage reduction by farmers in return for government payments to farmers.

President Kennedy in signing the bill into law said it is "a major step toward a sound agricultural economy and a better life for farmers in this country."

Freeman said that with farm legislation for this year out of the way, the Agriculture Department already is working on plans for next year. He said there is need for permanent wheat and feed grain programs, and that studies are under way concerning legislation on cotton, dairying, sugar, cooperatives and strategic reserves.

ROBERT MERRELL

Disco Pianist to Be Soloist at Utica High

UTICA — A 33-year-old concert pianist will be guest soloist in a special program scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow by the instrumental department of Utica Community High School.

Robert Merrell of 7750 Metz St., Disco, will be the featured soloist. He has appeared on several radio shows and recently performed in the "Dinner and Dolls" show held at the Masonic Auditorium in Detroit.

Merrell, who is employed by the Utica branch of the National Bank of Detroit, will play three selections, including Polonaise and Fantasie Impromptu by Chopin and Bumble Boogie by Fina.

Tomorrow's program, one of a series sponsored by the high school instrumental department, is open to the public.

Police Nab Fugitives in Oakland Chase

ROYAL OAK (UPI) — Police held three men for investigation today following a high-speed chase through three Oakland County communities.

Six shots were fired by officers during the chase through Beverly Hills, Royal Oak and Madison Heights. It ended when the suspects' car swerved to avoid hitting a police car and landed in a ditch.

Held for investigation of burglary were William Fetterhoff, 17, of 26766 Brush St.; Robert Gusell, 17, of 27343 Brettonwoods St. and Donald Wentworth, 21, of 977 W. University St., all of Madison Heights. Police said a cash register, taken from a gas station in Southfield, was dumped from their car during the pursuit.

Lake Orion OKs Buying Truck; Eyes Surfacing

LAKE ORION — The Village Council has approved the purchase of a new half-ton pickup truck and voted to advertise for bids on a Washington Street blacktopping project.

The pickup truck was bought for $1,600 from Al Hanoute, Inc., a local dealership, for the village's maintenance department.

* * *

Washington Street will be black topped from the end of the present pavement to the village limits. No action was taken on a bonding program which would finance the resurfacing of several other streets in Lake Orion, according to Village Clerk Mrs. Mary Parkinson.

The larger black-topping project, which is estimated to cost some $60,000, is under study by the council.

Homeowners Get Issue Tabled

Orion Twp. Delays Action on Controversial Rezoning

ORION TOWNSHIP — Action on a controversial request to rezone 92 acres of land near Indianwood Road will be delayed until Sept. 19, it was decided last night by the Orion Township Board.

The Northwest Orion Homeowners Association, a group which has been strongly opposed to the rezoning, asked the board to table action on its decision since many of the association members are out of town this month.

Residents of the area engaged in a heated dispute on the issue at a June 19 meeting of the Orion Township Zoning Board.

Of the total 92 acres near Arco Inc., at 3020 Indianwood Road, 82 acres now are zoned for business while 10 acres are classified residential.

* * *

The Lake Orion Area Industrial Development Corp. is seeking to have the acreage zoned for industrial purposes in order to draw new businesses into the area.

The Township Board of Trustees scheduled the meeting for Sept. 19 since the state constitution convention election conflicts with its regular Sept. 12 meeting date.

Bird's Wolf Whistle Gets Man in Trouble

DETROIT (UPI)—The seven minah birds that Benjamin Blum keeps in his seat cover sales store not only talk, they whistle, too.

* * *

One of the birds wolf-whistled as a young woman passed by. She promptly called the police.

* * *

Blum's son Stanley, 29, alone in the store, managed to convince officers that he was not the culprit when he finally induced a couple of the minahs to whistle. He agreed to move the cages away from the door.

Expected to Award School Project Bids

UTICA — Construction bids for the first phase of a $3.96-million expansion project in the Utica Community School District are expected to be awarded here Monday night.

School Supt. Fred M. Atkinson said the bids on a 20-room elementary school and another elementary school half that size, will be opened at a special board of education meeting at 8 p.m. Friday at Utica High School.

The bids then will be referred to the district's financial and architectural experts for study.

Atkinson said the bids will be awarded at the regular board meeting at 8 p.m. Monday if possible.

The larger school building will be located in the Maywood Subdivision while the starter unit is to be built in the Plumbrook subdivision. Both are to be completed and ready for occupancy in September of 1962.

The construction project was made possible when voters in the school district approved the $3.96-million bond issue in a special election Dec. 5.

Also included in the board of education's plans are another full-sized elementary school, a second starter unit elementary school and a new junior high school.

A construction bid for an addition to the school district's bus garage also will be opened at the Friday night meeting. This project will be financed through the general fund.

Seek $10,000 to Build Boys Club Building in Auburn Heights

AUBURN HEIGHTS — The first project in a campaign to raise $10,000 for construction of a new headquarters for the Auburn Heights Boys Club will get under way here tomorrow.

The initial fund-raising event will be a four-day summer festival which the Auburn Heights Lions Club plans to make an annual project in its goal to finance a boys club building.

Chairman S. H. Niedjelski said the festival, which will be held at Crooks and Auburn Roads, will open at 6 p.m. Thursday and Friday and at 1 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

An exhibition tent, a refreshment tent, food stands and a carnival of rides and games will be located on the festival grounds.

* * *

Home furnishings, new automobiles and special equipment will be on view in the exhibition tent. The 49 Lions Club members and their wives will stock the food stands.

Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m. will be children's day when all youngsters will be able to enjoy the rides at reduced rates. A new bicycle also will be given away on Saturday.

The boys club presently meets in temporary quarters at the Auburn Heights Community Hall.

Lions Club member H. C. Newingham is in charge of the boys club.

Invite Residents to Try for Parts in Production

CLARKSTON — Residents have been invited to participate in trying out for the Clarkston Village Players new production, "Light Up the Sky," at 8 p.m. tomorrow and Friday at the Community Center.

* * *

Director John Witherup has stressed that the play will not be limited to members of the players group. He said anyone interested in trying out will be welcome.

The play calls for four women and four men in the major parts, with several minor characters in smaller roles. It deals with a group of stage people putting on a play, and the plot portrays what goes on off-stage.

The characters include a temperamental actress and her down-to-earth mother, a dramatic director and a well-heeled financial backer with the Midas touch, among others.

* * *

Forest Blaze Nears 3 Towns

2-Month-Old Blaze in Newfoundland Forces Many Residents to Flee

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP) — A two-month-old forest fire blazed less than five miles from three Bonavista Bay communities today. Residents fled by helicopter and boat.

Firefighters in smoke masks fought to keep the flames from Musgrave Harbor, Boating Cove and Ragged Harbor on the east coast bay 90 miles north of St. John's.

★ ★ ★

A slight shift in wind could bring the fire roaring into the communities just a few miles apart. With no rain in sight there was no immediate prospect of help from the weather.

Invalids among the 2,000 threatened residents were flown by Canadian air force helicopters Tuesday to Gander 30 miles away. Women and children boarded coastal steamers for Fogo Island off the coast.

A fourth community on the edge of the fire, Carmanville, also was threatened but residents there were not leaving yet.

The fire started June 12 and spread over a 400-square-mile area of fir and spruce pulpwood. A section of the community of Hare Bay already has been destroyed.

★ ★ ★

Premier J. R. Smallwood flew over the area and called the fire "just about the most horrible thing that has ever happened to Newfoundland."

Blinding smoke blanketing Gander north of Bonavista Bay interfered with trans-Canada Airline flights. Motorists inched along Gander's smoke-filled streets.

"It's an absolutely impossible situation," said one official. "Stopping or checking the fires is just about hopeless."

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The United Nations command Tuesday formally dedicated a new 50,000-watt radio station aimed at beaming broadcasts far behind the Bamboo Curtain from the tiny island of Kanghwa, 42 miles northwest of here.

The station plans 18½ hours of broadcasts daily in Chinese, Korean and English, said a U.S. Army spokesman for the command.

9 Bus Survivors Back in U.S. With Memories

NEW YORK (AP) — Nine survivors of the bus tragedy in Switzerland last week are back in this country with vivid memories of their brush with death.

Several credited an air pocket with saving them when their tour bus plunged from a rain-drenched road into the icy waters of Lake Lucerne.

"When I came to in the bus there was about a foot of air space," said Pauline Hudson of Altoona, Pa. "A girl rolled down a window and I got out."

Mrs. Hudson wept in speaking of her friend, Julia Schultz, also of Altoona. She was one of 16 American tourists who apparently died in the lake's icy waters. Only eight bodies have been recovered.

Tigers Chalk Up 'Dream' Victory, 3-0

Sharp Hurling, Timely Hitting Highlight Win

Bunning Blanks Chisox on Four Knocks; Wood, Cash Star at Bat

CHICAGO (AP)—Put together flawless pitching and sharp, timely hitting and you have what any baseball manager would call his dream team.

* * *

So if Detroit Tigers manager Bob Scheffing seems to have a faraway look in his eyes for the rest of the season, it's understandable.

He will be thinking of the Tigers who whipped the Chicago White Sox 3-0 last night. The score may not be spectacular, but the playing was.

Right - hander Jim Bunning pitched the shutout. It was his 13th victory against eight defeats.

Norm Cash's 28th home run and five hits in five times at bat by Jake Wood spearheaded the Detroit hitting attack.

* * *

Bunning has won eight of his last 10 decisions while pitching his sixth complete game in the same span. He gave up four hits and never was in difficulty once Cash staked him to a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning with an upper deck homer.

KEY DOUBLES

Leadoff doubles by Chico Fernandez in the seventh and Al Kaline in the eighth blossomed into Detroit's other runs with Wood and Cash taking turns singling the runners home.

The victory enabled the Tigers to remain three games behind the American League leading New York Yankees, who edged Los Angeles, 6-4, in 10 innings.

Bunning didn't allow a hit until Jim Landis singled in the fourth with one out. Chicago's second hit didn't come until the sixth when Louis Aparicio tripled with two out. Bunning retired Floyd Robinson on a fly to center, ending the only serious threat to his shutout.

Both Landis and Aparicio stretched their hitting streaks to 10 games while Wood extended his to seven games.

* * *

Wood opened the game with a double to right centerfield. He was thrown out at third when Bubba Morton hit an infield grounder.

The sharp-eyed second baseman got Detroit's next hit in the third inning when he bunted to the left of the mound and beat the throw to first. In the fifth he singled to left for his third straight hit.

Cash, meanwhile, had slammed the ball into the right field upper deck in the fourth inning.

Wood's fourth safety was a seventh-inning single to center that scored Chico Fernandez, who had doubled.

ANOTHER RUN

The Tigers scored again in the eighth on a double by Kaline and an infield out by Rocky Colavito that sent Kaline to third, and a single by Cash.

* * *

Wood rounded out his five-for-five performance with a single in the ninth but was thrown out attempting to steal second.

* * *

Frank Lary will be bidding for his 16th victory against six losses in tonight's contest. Hal McLish, with a 7-10 record, will pitch for Chicago.

Yogi Out to Prove He Is Not Yanks' Forgotten Man

By The Associated Press

All the talk is about Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle these days, but you'd almost think Yogi Berra, the talkative catcher who now finds himself all alone in left field, is trying to muscle in on the conversation.

* * *

After winning Monday night's game with a home run, the squat swatter brought New York from behind with a tying home run Tuesday night and the Yankees beat the Los Angeles Angels 5-4 in 10 innings, preserving their three-game lead in the American League race with their sixth straight victory.

* * *

It was the only homer of the game as Mantle and Maris were shut out once more in their pursuit of Babe Ruth's 19-7 record of 60. Maris singled home the winning run, but he hasn't hit a home run in five games and now is only 13 games ahead of Ruth's pace with 41 in 111 games. Mantle, who has belted 43, is 16 games ahead after failing to connect in his last two games.

* * *

Third-place Baltimore split a twi-night pair with Kansas City, beating the A's 7-0 on the three-hit pitching of Steve Barber in the first game, then losing 6-5 to Cleveland defeated Washington 6-5 in 10 innings, and the Minnesota Twins, after losing eight in a row, beat Boston 6-5.

The Yankees, now 7-0 vs. the Angels at Yankee Stadium, managed just four hits off Eli Grba and losing reliever Art Fowler (5-5) before Tony Kubek opened the 10th with a double and came across on Maris' single. New York collected two hits in the first inning, one a two-run double by Elston Howard, but didn't get another until Berra unloaded his 15th home run in the sixth inning. Luis Arroyo (10-3) was the winner, striking out five in his three ⅔ innings. The little lefty hadn't won 10 in one season since 1955, when he was a rookie with the St. Louis Cardinals.

* * *

Barber gave up nothing but singles while running up a 7-0 career record against Kansas City. It was his sixth shutout of the year, tops in the majors, and his third over the A's. Bob Shaw (7-10) was the loser as Jackie Brandt and Hank Foiles each drove in two runs in a 13-hit barrage.

Kansas City then beat Baltimore for only the second time in 13 tries when Haywood Sullivan hit a two-out, three-run homer in the nightcap ninth off reliever Hoyt Wilhelm (8-7). The A's also ended Skinny Brown's shutout streak at 36 innings with a three-run fifth. Norm Bass (6-7) was the winner although giving up three home runs—two by Brandt and Jim Gentile's 32nd.

* * *

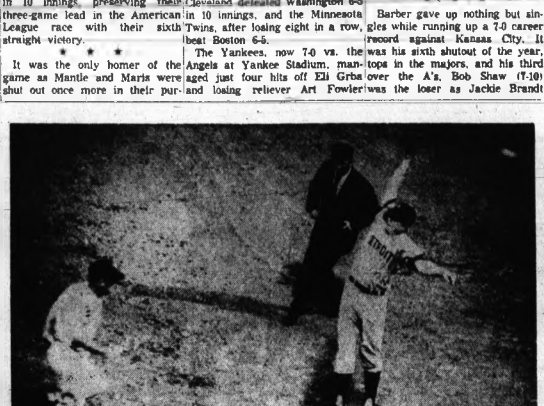
Cleveland came from behind with a four-run eighth triggered by Chuck Essegian's home run and scored the tie-breaking run in the 10th on catcher Gene Green's second passed ball of the inning. Wynn Hawkins (6-8) was the winner and Dave Sisler (2-6) the loser, both in relief.

* * *

Camilo Pascual (9-12) struck out 10, allowed just six hits and drove in three runs for the Twins against Bill Monbouquette (8-11). Homers scored Boston's runs—a solo by Don Buddin and an inside-the-park shot that gave Gary Geiger his first major league grand slam.

* * *

Barber (7-5) was relieved by Dick Donovan in the ninth after Vic Power opened with a single and Jim Gentile walked. Donovan got Jim Pisoni to ground into a double play, Power scoring, and then retired Marty Keough on a fly to end the game.



STRETCH FAILS — Chicago's Nelson Fox heads toward first base as the baseman Reno Bertoia of the Tigers sails over Norm Cash's outstretched glove. This play took place during the third inning at Comiskey Park.

Area Diver Captures Olympic Gold Medal

(Special to the Pontiac Press)

HELSINKI, Finland—Don Morris, 18-year-old former Birmingham High School diving star whose trip to Finland for IX Deaf Olympic games this week was made possible by community support, led the U.S. sweep of the men's springboard diving event.

* * *

Morris took the event with 143.77 points to earn one of nine gold medals taken by U.S. athletes.

Morris received an invitation to participate in the Deaf Olympics early this spring. The big barrier was the $1,350 which had to be submitted with his entry by July 1st.

After a Press Box story which appeared in The Press relating Don's desire to represent his community in the games, several groups and organizations in the Birmingham area started fund-raising projects.

"Car wash projects, bake sales, selling of 4th of July flares, high school club donations and community donations and assistance by the Walnut Lake area people, made the trip a reality for Don," said his mother Mrs. Robert Morris.

* * *

Included on the U.S. team were four other Michigan athletes, among them Bobby Thompson, 24-year old Commerce Lake a member of the basketball team.

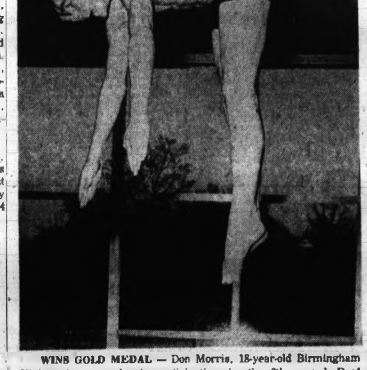
In the Olympic competition, U.S. trailed Russia and Germany in overall events. U.S. took a gold medal in discus with Bob Ripic of Endicott, N. Y. heaving it 136 feet, 2¼ inches. Paul Adams adds another medal with a 400-meter run in 66.4.

Soviet wrestlers alone picked up five gold medals.

Following Morris in the diving event was Bob Dillman of Sioux Falls, S. D. and Art Parks, Jr., Nancy Mahoney of Rochester, N. Y. added a gold medal by winning the women's 100-meter backstroke in 1:31.5.

* * *

The games continue through Thursday. The U.S. basketball team is expected to score a gold medal after crushing Belgium, 111-33 in its third showing.



WINS GOLD MEDAL — Don Morris, 18-year-old Birmingham High swimmer, who is participating in the 9th annual Deaf Olympiad in Helsinki, captured a gold medal yesterday for the U.S. in the fancy diving event. Morris, deaf since birth, finished second in the Michigan State High swimming meet last winter.

EAST LANSING (AP)—Top seeded Arthur Ashe, 17, of St. Louis, Mo., stood to lose in the International Junior Tennis Tournament today if he failed to show up on the Michigan State University campus.

Ashe, national interscholastic champion and national junior title holder, was defeated yesterday in the Eastern Grass Court Tournament at East Orange, N.J. He was scheduled to return to the MSU campus yesterday to compete in the tournament sponsored by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce. He enrolled here Sunday, then left for the East Coast.

* * *

The tournament, billed as the world's largest junior competition, will end Saturday with the naming of the U.S. junior Davis Cup team.

Top-seeded players breezed through the first day's competition.

Jane Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif., top-seeded in the girls' 15-and-under class, downed Brenda Draper of Suffolk, Va., 6-1, 6-1, and Barbara Barney of Wauwatosa, Wis., 6-1, 6-0.

Bill Harris of West Palm Beach, Fla., seeded No. 1 in the boys' 15-and-under class drew a first round bye, and defeated Bobby Rogers of Laurel, Miss., 6-1, 6-4 in afternoon play.

County Tourney Continues Play in 2 Divisions

'60 Champ Tom Belton Not Present to Defend Singles' Crown

With two champions decided, in the novice and junior divisions, the Oakland County Open Tennis Tournament continues this weekend with action in the men's singles and doubles.

The first round of each division will begin early Saturday morning with action taking place at Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern courts.

Entries must register by Thursday evening by submitting entry at PCH courts or by contacting the Pontiac Recreation Department at City Hall.

Both the junior and novice divisions had surprising results with 17-year-old Vikki Gilbert of Oak Park defeating 17-year-old Byron Temple of Pontiac to win the novice class and 12-year-old Field Watson of Rochester defeating 15-year-old Dale Andrews of Pontiac.

* * *

The men's singles title will be up for grabs with defending champion Tom Belton out of the picture. Belton defeated Leon Hibbs in the finals last year, but since then he has moved out of the area, leaving the crown up for grabs.

Former 3-time champion Ralph Alles, an upset victim in the first round last year, may return to try to regain the title.

The winning doubles combination of Bob Neff and Dave Dahn as yet have not entered. Neff and Dahn, the teacher-student duo from Southfield High School, won the doubles crown by defeating Belton and Bruno Kearns in five sets which took more than 2½ hours last season.

Winners and runnersup of the tournament all receive trophies. The tourney is being co-sponsored by the Pontiac Press and Pontiac Recreation Department.

Chasing Yanks Is Disheartening

We'll Never Quit, Scheffing Vows

CHICAGO (AP) — The Detroit Tigers are finding their pennant battle with the New York Yankees a little disheartening but Manager Bob Scheffing vows "we'll never quit."

They knocked off the Chicago White Sox 3-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Jim Bunning Tuesday night but remained three games behind the New York Yankees who made it six straight with a 5-4 victory over Los Angeles in 10 innings.

Detroit now has won six of its last eight games and in the process has lost ground to the Yankees.

* * *

"We're going to keep on winning," said Scheffing, "and if they falter, don't worry, we'll be right on their necks."

Scheffing isn't saying so but he feels that his Tigers are going to have to beat the Yankees themselves.

"We've beaten 'em six out of 11 games," said Scheffing "and we still have seven to play against them. Those games could tell the story."

Bunning's performance was a real boost to the Tigers in that Scheffing did not have to go to his weakened bullpen.

"I won't have any bullpen worries if we get that kind of pitching," said Scheffing. "The bullpen has been a problem for us all season but when we lost Terry Fox it really hurt us."

* * *

Fox has been out for about a month because of a sore elbow. Up to that time he had saved seven games for the Tigers and won three others, all in relief.

Bunning, currently one of the league's hottest pitchers, is thriving on hot weather, ordinarily a pitcher's No. 1 nemesis.

* * *

"Don't say it's hot weather," said the sweating right-hander after his brilliant performance against the Sox. "Just say it was a warm-and I love it. It seems I never really get started until it gets hot."

The record bears out Bunning's contention. He recorded his 13th victory in 21 decisions Tuesday night. He has won eight of his last 10 decisions and pitched six complete games in his last eight starts.

* * *

Notorious for yielding home runs, Bunning has not given up a homer in his last three games and his been nicked for 15 this season in the 192 innings he has toiled.

Ruth Star Has One Arm

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Larry Shafer has a 2-2 pitching record, is batting .294 and has been named to the Babe Ruth All-Star baseball team for his age group.

When he isn't pitching, the 14-year-old youngster plays in the outfield for his North Topeka team.

What's unusual about that?

Larry has only half a left arm. He was born with no arm below the left elbow.

He bats right-handed using the left arm to help steady the bat until he is ready to swing.

* * *

In the outfield, he catches the ball with the glove on his right hand, tosses the ball into the air, sticks his glove under his left arm, catches the ball as it comes back down and throws.

He obviously does all right—he recently caught a line drive in left field and doubled a runner off second base with a perfect throw.

And says his coach, Bob Nelswender, "he's got more fire than you can shake a stick at. He really wants to play."

Pro Eagles Emphasize Better Running Attack

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Coach Nick Skorich of the Philadelphia Eagles, who plans to place more emphasis on the club's running game this year, plans to alternate five backs at left halfback and fullback.

* * *

Skorich announced Tuesday that he would use Billy Barnes, Ted Dean, Clarence Peaks, Tim Brown and Theron Saap alternately in an effort to make the most of their speed and drive.

Stuart Hopes Either Maris or Mantle Breaks Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dick Stuart, who clouted 66 home runs in the minors, is rooting for either Mickey Mantle or Roger Maris to break Babe Ruth's major league record of 60.

"I'd like to see one of them do it," said the strapping first baseman of the National League's Pittsburgh Pirates.

Stuart, however, wants the two New York Yankees' sluggers to know that the closer they get to Ruth's fabulous slugging mark, the greater the pressure is going to be.

* * *

"At least," he remembered, "that's the way it was with me."

Back in 1956, Stuart, than a strong-armed 23-year-old, clouted 66 home runs for Pittsburgh's Lincoln farm team in the Western League. At the time there was national attention focused on the feat although few realized Dick Stuart was shooting for another record—and missed.

He had a chance to break organized baseball's all-time homer high of 72, set by a forgotten Joe Bauman in the Class C Texas-New Mexico League years before.

"I hit 60 homers in my first 100 games," Stuart recalled after Tuesday night's doubleheader between the Phillies and the Pirates at Connie Mack Stadium. "And I had 41 games more in which to get 13 more and a new all-time mark.

"I hit six," he said with an expansive grin. "And I don't know how I managed that many.

"The pressure was so great. I was swinging for a home run every time I went to bat—and I couldn't hit a ball out of this clubhouse," he said. "Of course, I was pretty young then—and Mantle and Maris are matured men and experienced hitters now."

Lions Defense Tough? Browns Will Be Good Test

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Is the Lions' defense as good as the record of the last eight games of 1960 indicates when they allowed only 93 points?

One of the best teams in pro football to give this defense a test is Cleveland and the Browns will challenge the Lions in this regard Friday night at Tiger Stadium in the opener of the exhibition season.

★ ★ ★

The Browns can offer the test through the air and on the ground with the leading player in the NFL in each department. Milt Plum won the forward passing championship in his 4th season as QB. He was first in per cent completed with 60.4; in average gain with 9.19 yards and in per cent of interceptions, 2.0. He was third in completions with 151, in touchdown passes with 21 and in yards gained with 2,297.

Only five of his passes were intercepted, all in the last two games.

On the ground, the Browns' also claim pro football's ball-carrying champion. For the first time in the 41-year-old history of the NFL, one player has won the crown four straight years. That was Brown.

In rolling up 1,257 yards in 215 attempts for a 5.8 average, the big fullback brought his four-year total to 5,055 yards. In seven games he gained 100 yards or more.

★ ★ ★

The Lions will try to counter offensively with their own 1-2 running punch. Nick Pietrosante and Danny Lewis.

Pietrosante vaulted from 16th place in 1959 to 4th place last year with 872 for an average of 5.4 yards in 161 attempts. He had over 100 yards in three games.

Lewis finally came into his own last year after a slow start. He was 13th in overall rushing yardage and with Pietrosante they combined for 1,310 yards.

Probable starter at quarterback for the Lions Friday will be Earl Morrall. "Whoever starts Friday will not start the following game," said coach George Wilson, who indicated he planned on using his alternate system of quarterbacks during the exhibition season.

The Lions were given a reprieve yesterday by cancellation of the planned morning scrimmage.

"We don't want to burn ourselves out," he said, "we made our comeback late last season and that was because of our superior conditioning."

No more scrimmages are planned but twice daily drills will continue.

Game time Friday night is 8:00 p.m. and not 8:15 p.m. as in previous years.

Telegrams Sent by NAACP to 19 NFL Players

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Two National Football League clubs sought an answer Tuesday for an NAACP leader who had asked Negro members of the teams not to play in an exhibition game here Saturday night.

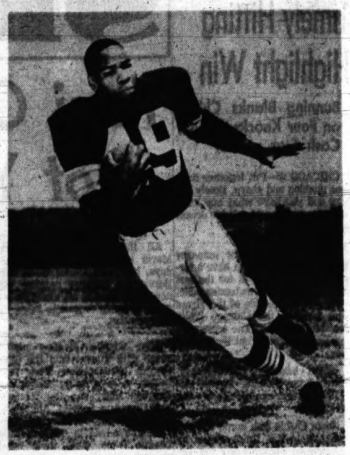
★ ★ ★

In telegrams sent to 19 players —seven Baltimore Colts and 12 Pittsburgh Steelers—the Rev. R. R. Wilkerson of Roanoke said the players should refuse to compete in Victory Stadium because seats were being sold on a segregated basis.

Wilkerson is president of the Roanoke chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Two Gold Medals

HELSINKI (AP)—Paul Adams won the 400-meter event and Thomas Ripic took the discus to give the United States two gold medals in Tuesday's track and field competition in the World Deaf Olympics.



HALF OF BIG PUNCH — Half of the Cleveland Browns' big 1-2 punch is halfback Bobby Mitchell whom the Detroit Lions will have to stop Friday night when they open the exhibition season at Tiger Stadium. Mitchell and fullback Jimmy Brown combined for 1763 yards last season.

Dodgers Now Lead Cincinnati by One

By The Associated Press

That two-team scrap for the National League pennant erupted into a wild and wooly battle from coast-to-coast Tuesday night as moving from West to East:

The Los Angeles Dodgers finally caught up with Lew Burdette and whipped the Milwaukee Braves 7-3 for a one-game lead;

Third-place San Francisco beat the Chicago Cubs 8-1 in a beanball duel between Jack Sanford and Don Cardwell;

The St. Louis Cardinals outslugged second-place Cincinnati 6-5;

And Pittsburgh's fallen idols and Philadelphia's last place Phils went at it in an all-out brawl in the second game of the Pirates' 10-2 and 3-2 twi-night doubleheader sweep.

* * *

The Dodgers, who had lost nine in a row to Burdette in the Los Angeles Coliseum, twice blew leads before finally beating the big right-hander with a two-run sixth inning. They did it when Junior Gilliam walked, went to third on Duke Snider's single and scored as catcher Joe Torre dropped a throw at the plate—after Gilliam stepped on his ankle. Snider, who drove in two runs, one with a homer, then came across with the clinching run on a single by Frank Howard. Burdette (13-8) hadn't lost at Los Angeles in more than three years.

Dick Farrell (7-5) was the winner in relief after starter Sandy Koufax gave up a home run by Frank Thomas and left when the Braves took a 3-2 lead on Joe Adcock's two-run single in the sixth.

The Reds and Cards jolted each other with three home runs, but the Red Birds wound up with the edge on a ninth-inning belt by Ken Boyer, his 17th of the year and second of the night off loser Bob Purkey (13-6).

Purkey, Vada Pinson and pinch-hitter Jerry Lynch homered for the Reds, with Lynch's fifth pinch shot of the year (one shy of the record) tying it 5-5 in the top of the ninth against winning reliever Lindy McDaniel (8-5). Bill White paired with Boyer for solo home runs in the third inning, after each had knocked in a run with a single in the first.

* * *

A two-run single by Willie Mays put it away for the Giants in the first inning. Then Cardwell (9-10) and Sanford (7-6) went to work. Cardwell dropped Sanford with a second inning pitch and plunked Orlando Cepeda in the back in the third. Sanford got rid of Cardwell in the sixth, nicking him on the back of the neck with a pitch that put the Cub right-hander out of the game. He wasn't injured seriously.

Sanford then tagged a two-run homer off reliever Don Elston in the sixth and finished with a five-hitter.

* * *

The Bucs and Phils got into it in the City of Brotherly Love as the Pirates handed the Phillies a 12th straight defeat and their 17th defeat in 18 games—which should be enough to get anybody riled.

Tom Sturdivant won his first NL decision although giving up seven hits, one a home run by Gonzalez. Chris Short (4-8) was the loser.

The Bucs banged out 13 hits in the opener. Smoky Burgess was 5-for-5, driving in four runs with four singles and a sixth-inning home run that settled it against Art Mahaffey (7-18), who now has lost nine in a row. Harvey Haddix (8-5) was the winner.

The brawl broke out Tuesday night during the sixth inning of a twi-night doubleheader when catcher Hal Smith of the Pirates put an extra hard tag on Phillies' outfielder Tony Gonzalez who tried to score from second on a single by Clay Dalrymple.

* * *

Smith fell on Gonzalez and both players came up with fists swinging. Then players, managers and coaches from both teams piled onto the field and at least seven different fights erupted.

But Mauch and Murtaugh were the only ones injured and no one seemed to know who did the damage. They, along with police finally broke up the free-for-all which lasted nearly 10 minutes.

Umpire Frank Dascoli ordered three policemen stationed at each dugout from the sixth inning until the end of the game to prevent a further outbreak.

After the game, which the Pirates won 3-2 after taking the opener 10-2, a veteran sports writer remarked to Murtaugh in the dressing room that it was the best fight he ever saw.

* * *

"I wouldn't know," said Murtaugh. "I was on the bottom of the pile and didn't see a thing."

Smith admitted making a second tag on Gonzalez and added:

"I'll do it every time . . . (to) anybody who comes in with their spikes at my face. I'll give any base runner the plate but when they start playing that way I'm going to do something about it. I've got a wife and three kids to support."

Mauch and Gonzalez said Smith had it "all wrong."

"What was the kid (Gonzalez) supposed to do?" asked Mauch.

Smith had made a great play on the throw from right-fielder Roberto Clemente but he was six to seven feet up the line. It appeared that Gonzalez had to slide to reach the plate.

* * *

After the melee was broken up Mauch argued with plate umpire Frank Secory that Smith should be ejected from the game. Mauch announced the game was being played under protest because Smith was allowed to stay in the contest but later in the dressing room the Phillies, manager said he was withdrawing his protest.

Secory explained after the game that he didn't think Smith's action warranted ejection.

Dascoli said: "I'm an umpire, not a fight referee. If they want to fight, let them fight . . ."

As for the lineup of fights which could be observed, it went something like this:

* * *

Don Hoak of Pittsburgh vs. Pancho Herrera; Don Leppert vs. Lee Walls of the Phils; Elmer Valo of Philly vs. anyone in sight; Frank Sullivan vs. Pirate coach Ron Northey

City Baseball Playoff Opens

Jets and Merchants Play Tonight in 1st Round of Class A

It will be pitching versus power tonight when the Joy Boy Jets and Pontiac Merchants square off at 8:00 at Jaycee Park's lighted field in the first leg of the Class A baseball playoff championship.

* * *

The Jets have three top hurlers in Larry Demrick, John York and Andy Billesdon, and the city league's leading hitter in Gene Cox who has a .488 average.

The Merchants will counter Al Barkley, Stu Dell and John Lauadam, all batting over .275. The teams tied for the regular season crown.

The loser will meet CIO Local 594 in a best-of-three series with the winner meeting the victor of tonight's contest for the crown.

Auburn Heights Boys' Club and Waterford Firefighters advanced in Class D playoffs. The Firefighters topped Pontiac Central, 3-2, as Ernie Miller hurled a six-hitter.

* * *

Boys' Club rolled over Our Lady of Refuge, 9-2. The win was highlighted by Bill Chapa's home run.

In Class F, St. Benedict topped Pontiac Boys' Club, 4-1, and Roger Hayward allowed two hits as Auburn Heights Boys' Club clipped Hudson Hornets, 7-1.

Key Softball Games in Waterford Loops

Two important softball games are scheduled in Waterford Leagues tonight.

Lakeland Pharmacy takes on A & W at 8:30 with the National League championship at stake. The drug team leads A & W by half a game.

* * *

Stroh's and regular season champion Spencer Floor Covering open American League playoffs at 7:00. Bob Ferree hurled a two-hitter and drove in the winning run with a double as Stroh's topped Spencer 2-1 last night in nine innings to close the regular season.

* * *

Ray Heaton singled home the winning run in the fifth for A & W in a 4-3 win over Pontiac Rockcote.

Playoffs Near Climax

4 City Softball Titles to Be Settled Tonight

Four City League softball championships go on the line tonight in International and Continental playoff games at Beaudette and Northside parks.

Motorcar Transport and Dixie Bar collide on the Northside field at 7 o'clock for the International loop's upper bracket crown while Auburn Bar and Boys Club tangle in the 8:30 nightcap for the lower bracket title.

Big Bear Construction clashes with Sarko Investment at 7 p.m. on the Beaudette diamond for the Continental circuit's upper bracket title, followed by an 8:30 game between Stadium Inn and the Northend Rockets for lower bracket honors.

If second games are required in any division of the double elimination event, dates and sites will be announced by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

Motorcar advanced to the finals Tuesday evening with a 7-2 conquest of 300 Lounge at Northside. The winners were outhit, 5-4, but they took full advantage of nine walks. Jim Smith was the winning pitcher.

* * *

Auburn Bar quelled a 7th-inning rally to hose out Langdon's Boat Livery, 9-8. The losers scored once in the top of the 7th, but left three runners stranded.

Auburn tallied eight times in the 1st stanza, then hung on doggedly for the victory. Doug Fitzgerald socked a three-run homer for Langdon's in the 1st frame.

Four runs in the 2nd propelled Big Bear to a 7-1 win over St. Joseph Hospital. Each team made six hits with Eugene Lund getting credit for the triumph.

The 10-run rule was invoked after four innings at Beaudette where the Rockets drubbed St. Paul Lutheran, 12-2. Northend hurler Clayton Campbell allowed St. Paul batters only three hits and one of them was a solo homer in the 3rd by Bud Sabourin.

* * *

The Rockets collected 13 safeties off two Lutheran hurlers, three by Tim Bowen.

Likes Silver Lake's 8th

Tony Brisbois, 49 Vinewood, Pontiac, scored the 2nd hole-in-one of his golfing career yesterday when he knocked a 6-iron shot into the cup on the 120-yard 8th hole at Silver Lake Golf Club. Witnessing the ace were Wayne Lucas of Waterford and John R. Bee of Chicago. Brisbois carded a 42.

20-Year-Old Lefthander Surprise of Tournament

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. (AP) — Jim Shaffer, a crew-cut 20-year-old left-hander from St. Petersburg, Fla., today was the stand-out unranked unknown in the third round of the Eastern Grass Court Championships. He was also unimpressed.

* * *

"Under the conditions, I wouldn't call this my best win," Shaffer said, referring to his 6-1, 6-4 elimination of second-seeded Bob Mark of Australia in Tuesday's matches.

* * *

Mark, favoring a sore right leg, was unable to play up to his world-ranking form, although he battled Shaffer in the second set. Mark had suffered a crippling cramp that forced him to default in Sunday's Southampton final.

Women's Trans-Miss Meet in 2nd Round

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Sandra Spuzich, who Tuesday upset medalist Sherry Wheeler, Glasgow, Ky., was scheduled to meet Clifford Ann Creed, Alexandria, La., today in the second round of the Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament.

* * *

Miss Creed advanced with a 7 and 6 decision over Mrs. George Calderwood, Eugene, Ore. Miss Spuzich, a 24-year-old elementary school physical education teacher from Indianapolis, Ind., eliminated Miss Wheeler, 1 up. The medalist, whose 36-35—71 Monday had tied the Eugene Country Club women's record, lost the match by missing three putts of two feet or less.

Big Pike Takes Division Lead in Press Fish Derby

Drayton Woods Angler Caught Fish on Sucker

Deer Lake Is Location Where 13-Lb. Northern Was Brought to Net

Deer Lake has long been known to harbor large pike, but the lake on the edge of Clarkston has never produced a winner in The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby.

★ ★ ★

Unless someone enters a larger pike before the Sept. 13 deadline, the 13-pound 14-ounce northern taken by Jack Vizgatis will earn the Drayton Woods angler a $50 Savings bond.

The lake was once a good producer of pike ranging from 10 to 15 pounds, in recent years the northerns have been better than average, but many "hammerhandles" were being caught. Cemetery Lake across the road, and connected with Deer by a channel, has always had huskerclass pike.

The 1956 pike division winner was caught in Cemetery.

★ ★ ★

Vizgatis was still fishing with Fred Roughton when he caught his prize. They were anchored on the drop-off just outside the public swimming beach, according to Vizgatis, and using suckers for bait.

★ ★ ★

"It took me about 20 minutes to land him," said Vizgatis. "The only way he could have gotten away was by chewing the line and running around a snag. He had the sucker in his stomach when Fred netted him."

The 17-inch fish was taken in the morning last Wednesday. The next day the two anglers returned to the same spot.

"I hooked another one, but he broke the same line I caught the big pike on," said Vizgatis.

An 11-pound one-ounce pike caught July 9 in Oxbow Lake by Dick Cassidy, who lives on the lake, was the division leader until Vizgatis made his entry.

★ ★ ★

Other leaders in the contest remain the same.

Dennis Shearer, 15, Union Lake, has the top entry for the 10 bond in the black bass division with a 6-pound 4-ounce largemouth caught in Union Lake.

John Adams, Clarkston, took a 3¼-pound rainbow opening day in Schoolhouse Lake and this fish is still on top. Frank Denais, Pontiac, is leading the bluegill class with a one-pound two-ouncer taken from Lake Angelus. Rainbow and bluegill winners will each receive $25 bonds.

★ ★ ★

The fish must be caught in Oakland County waters, other than lakes and streams closed for private or commercial uses, by county anglers. The entries must be brought to the Press sports department for weighing.

LEADS PIKE DIVISION — Jack Vizgatis, Drayton Plains, holds the 13-pound 14-ounce northern pike he caught last week in Deer Lake near Clarkston. The fish is the heaviest entered in The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby's pike division. Vizgatis caught the pike on a sucker.

Are Walkers Considered Among 'Outdoorsmen?'

LANSING — Are the men and women who hunt and fish in Michigan wilderness the state's only "outdoorsmen?"

Or do those who merely walk and look qualify for the title?

If pure enjoyment of the open air is any criteria, the members of the International Walkers Association of America surely qualify as true connoisseurs of scenic beauty, forest primeval, sparkling waters and other attributes of the water wonderland.

Furthermore, the walkers are prepared to demonstrate their desire to merely walk through and look at Michigan outdoors—without taking fish or game out of it—by a 100-mile march to Mackinaw late this month.

The walkers have invited hardy persons with no plans for Aug. 27 to Sept. 2 to join them in the trek from Boyne City to Mackinaw City.

Announced intention of the walk is to "enjoy walking through and really seeing some of Michigan's most beautiful 'water wonderland.'" But the aim is really more far reaching than that.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Gladfelter, East Lansing, co-presidents of the IWAA, say their desire to promote health and peace of mind through walking ties in with the work of the President's committee on physical fitness.

Also, as Mrs. Gladfelter put it, "we want to do what we can to correct the widespread misconception that walkers are 'clowns.'"

Some people, it's true, find humor in the hip-swinging stride of the heel-and-toe method of walking used in walking races. Proponents of this style, many of them pleasure walkers as well, will be on hand at the end of the Boyne-to-Mackinaw trek for races to be staged on Labor Day at the Mackinac bridge.

Incidentally, anyone who wants to cross the big bridge free can do so — walking — on Labor Day.

But the outdoors aspect of the IWAA walking trip will be on the march through some of Michigan's most scenic country, the northwestern area of the Lower Peninsula, in the week preceding Labor Day.

The walk is divided into stages designed to take one day and laid out along highly scenic routes, including some alternates.

The first day's walk is scheduled to be from Boyne City to Charlevoix; the second day calls for a walk to Petoskey; the third day to Nub's Nob Alpine Ski Hamlet via Harbor Springs; the fourth day to Lamkin Lodge on Lake Michigan; then a walk along the beach to Cross Village, and the fifth day will take the walkers to Mackinaw City.

Longest leg of the trip will be the 20 miles from Cross Village to Mackinaw City, and the shortest, the eight miles along the beach between Lamkin Lodge and Cross Village.

Each of the other hikes will be 17 or 18 miles.

Pontiac Dogs Win at Livonia Show

Pontiac dogs and their handlers turned in victories Sunday in the Canineette Obedience Show in Livonia.

Bert Mosher directed his Brittany spaniel to first place in Open A with a score of 198½ out of 200. Pauline Logsden and her wire-haired terrier won Novice B with 198.

Reg Armstrong and his German shorthair placed third in Novice B with 195½. Charles Barnes was second in Graduate Novice with a golden retriever at 198.

The match winner was Neil Newman of Lansing with a German shepherd and a near-perfect 199½ points. All Pontiac entries were instructed in Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club classes or were club members.

Major Decline in Duck Flights Latest Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The third straight year of drought on the prairies resulted today in bad news for duck hunters.

The Interior Department forecast major declines in duck flights in the Mississippi and Central Flyways and moderate decreases in duck flights in the Pacific and Atlantic Flyways.

Michigan is in the Mississippi Flyway.

The department said the mid-summer survey of waterfowl production showed a serious mid-continent waterfowl situation had been caused by major droughts in the southern portions of the three prairie provinces in Canada and in the Dakotas.

Because most of the birds from this area go to the Central and Mississippi Flyways, the department said the effect is being felt more in these flyways than in the two coastal areas.

The forecasts were compiled on the basis of surveys just completed by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife in central and northern Canada and upon information collected by its personnel and cooperators in duck nesting areas in the states and other parts of Canada.

Ask Fish License Increase

Conservation Changes Go Before Commission

Proposed legislative changes in Michigan's hunting and fishing regulations will come up for action during the Conservation Commission's meeting Thursday and Friday at the Higgins Lake conservation school.

A three-point change in fishing license fees and repeal of the state's $200,000-a-year bounty system are among major legislative proposals scheduled for consideration.

Listed among the Conservation Department's new recommendations is a proposal which would permit fishing for brown trout during an extended fall season and special winter season in waters where rainbow trout may be taken. Department fisheries biologists report brown trout can stand increased fishing pressure.

The commission is expected to approve the same deer hunting regulations and seasons as last year. The exception will be limiting the taking of "any deer" to two or three areas where farmers have requested the special regulation because of excessive crop damage.

Additional protection is sought for muskellunge and northern pike because of the increasingly-important role these game fish promise to play in helping control panfish populations.

Department officials are recommending that the resident fishing license fee be upgraded from $2 to $3. They are also asking for an extension of the fishing license requirement to cover Great Lakes fishermen and women anglers over 17 years of age.

It is estimated the changes would allow the department to increase the conservation officer force, game and fish management and research, capital outlay improvements, land acquisition, and educational activities, all of which have been pared down sharply under the austerity program.

Drawing from studies in Michigan and throughout the country which show bounty payments to be a waste of the sportsmen's money, the department is asking the commission to again support legislation which would scrap the bounty system.

★ ★ ★

In the liberal vein, the department is recommending that the open season on walleyes, muskellunge, and northern pike in Potagannissing Bay be changed to conform with the one covering inland waters which extends from the last Saturday of April to March 15. This would allow fishermen to take advantage of spring pike runs in the bay.

★ ★ ★

Another legislative change is proposed which would permit fishermen to spear northern pike in Huron Bay during March.

Many of the proposals up for commission action next week were included in the so-called omnibus bill which failed to make the grade during this year's legislative session.

Fishing Equipment Changes Being Made

DETROIT (AP) — What's new in fishing gear this summer?

Well, nothing as startling as fiberglass rods or spinning—a couple of developments which have revolutionized the fishing gear industry since World War II — but at least two Michigan firms have a lot of new equipment coming.

★ ★ ★

Shakespeare Co. of Kalamazoo, a giant in the field, plans a complete line of single action fly reels, a new series of free-spool casting reels the firm hopes will lure some spinning addicts, and a line of big-game fish reels.

The firm also has a new drag principle for use on its reels.

James Heddon's Sons of Dowagiac, a major manufacturer of rods and lures, has announced two new reels, one casting and one spinning. The reels mark reentry into the field for Heddon.

John Sides, in charge of rods and lines for Shakespeare, reported that as far as trends go, the demand for ultra light spinning rods has fallen off about 20 per cent while demand for ultra-light equipment in fly-fishing is growing.

BUSINESS OFF

Sides said the bait-casting rod business fell off badly when spinning came in, but thinks a lot of fishermen using bait-casting reels are putting them on the longer, two-piece spin-casting rods.

Sides said the firm's sales now run about 40 per cent spinning rods, 20 per cent bait casting and 20 per cent fly casting. He said more than 50 per cent of the reels sold are push-button spinning reels.

"Fly rod sales have nearly doubled in the past three years after going downhill for a time," Sides said. "I think this shows a greater interest in the refinements of fishing.

★ ★ ★

"When spinning came in right after the war it got a lot of new fishermen out. It didn't take much skill or practice. Now, I think a lot of those fishermen are turning to things that take more skill."

★ ★ ★

Dale Harrington, in charge of development engineering, showed one of the new casting reels. "It's built for monofilament and we think it will be a big seller."

Harrington also showed a couple of big deep-sea-type reels which Shakespeare is developing.

"Right now we only make one single action fly reel, concentrating on automatic fly reels, because that's what most people seem to want, but we're working on a line of top quality single action reels. We think there'll be a market for them."

With an estimated 30 million licensed fishermen in the country, there's a lot of market, but it's still a tough one. Shakespeare markets 214 different rods to meet various tastes and types of fishing.

IMPORTS HURT

Japanese imports have cut heavily into the lower priced lines, but Tom Bubin, Shakespeare's advertising manager, says his firm has felt little impact. "For one thing," he pointed out, "the average price of our rod sales is $14 to $15 and our reels average $12. This puts us pretty well out of the Japanese competition."

Heddon's new casting reel has what it calls a total free spool—meaning that when a lure is cast, nothing in the reel moves but the spool. This eliminates all the inertia of gears, handle and level wind.

The Dowagiac firm's new spin-casting reel will have what the firm calls an audio-thumber. A spokesman said Heddon researchers decided that a fisherman's ears play a big part in accurate casting so they designed a reel that lets the fisherman hear the degree of feathering he is applying to each cast.

★ ★ ★

The firm claims better accuracy. Both reels are being made in Sweden.

Championship Shoot on Williams Range

Michigan's annual Shotgun Championship will be Saturday and Sunday on the Williams Gun Sight Company ranges near Davison.

There will be tournament competition to determine, "Who is the best all-around man with a shotgun." Each shooter competes in trap, skeet and the bird field—25 targets on each layout.

★ ★ ★

The bird field presents the most difficult target competition. Here's where the men are separated from the boys as the shooters respond to the guide when he calls out instructions. There are sixty concealed traps and realistic pointing dogs to simulate actual upland bird shooting.

Shooters are expected from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Canada.

Those shooters who wish to participate should contact the tournament chairman, Dale Williams of the Williams Gun Sight Company, Davison.

New Federal Spending Could Spark Boom

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Soviet Premier Khrushchev's threats and Soviet space triumphs have had their effects on both the stock and bond markets. Stock prices have risen and bond prices have dropped.

* * *

U.S. moves to meet the Berlin crisis are setting off a new wave of government spending. And traders conclude that this, on top of a business recovery already under way, could mean at least a moderate boom.

From there the thinking goes by easy steps: A boom will aid many companies and make their stocks more valuable. It might lead to more inflation, making stocks a good hedge, and making bonds with their fixed returns less attractive.

MORE BONDS AVAILABLE

Also with the government going in for deficit financing, there'll be more bonds available to the market—so yields will have to be higher if bonds are to sell.

And if business booms, more corporations may be offering securities to finance expanding activities, or borrowing more from the banks. So interest rates will rise. This will depress prices of outstanding bonds, with lower fixed rates.

It's true that in the last week or 10 days stock prices have risen and some bond prices took a tumble.

* * *

But a few cool voices are being raised to warn against jumping too fast to conclusions about either the momentum of the present business recovery or the extent of the stimulus of more defense spending on the economy in general.

Economists of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York note that productive capacity greatly exceeds total demand. So there is still quite a way to go before there will be any great pressure on business to abandon its current policy of hand-to-mouth inventories. Nor is industry at the moment under pressure to expand facilities. All but the most specialized defense demands can be supplied by existing resources.

By the same token, the bank experts contend, there is yet to develop any real pressure for increased prices on most goods and materials, now in abundant supply.

TIMETABLE SET BACK

The recovery itself, according to these economists, hasn't carried through at the strong pace set late in the spring. The usual summer slowdown has cooled off some of the earlier predictions and set back the timetable for the big upturn that a majority of business executives have been expecting.

But stock and bond traders have been looking at it a bit differently than the bankers.

Bond dealers hold that business seems sure to improve—with increased government spending adding to the certainty. This they say will lead, as usual, to a rise in interest rates.

Yields are already rising. On some U.S. government bonds they are now the highest in more than a year. About a dozen issues are now yielding 4 per cent or better. That is, the prices of these fixed-income securities have dropped sharply, so that they can now be bought at prices that yield 4 per cent.

A prospective increased Treasury deficit, as the government spends to meet the Berlin crisis, is given as the immediate cause. Added to this is the longer-range prospect that business will be borrowing more, too as activity expands. And more demand for funds, traders say, can only mean higher rates.

Little Change Shown on Board of Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — Dealings were moderate and mixed in grain futures today and early prices on the board of trade showed little change.

★ ★ ★

Brokers said the market continued to be guided largely by weather and crop developments, particularly in corn and soybeans which were a little easier during the first several minutes.

★ ★ ★

There were a few small gains in wheat and oats. Commercial demand for wheat again was slow, but dealers said a firm undertone in wheat discouraged any move either toward selling it short or cashing profits.

State Board Approves Primary Election of Candidates

LANSING (UPI) — The Board of State Canvassers Tuesday certified 86 candidates for constitutional convention delegate in districts which comprise more than one county.

★ ★ ★

Candidates for seats from Districts included wholly within one county are approved by County Boards of Canvassers.

The action of the state board gave the final stamp of approval to the results of the July 25 primary election. Delegates will be chosen Sept. 12 in a general election.

The only item of business other than the routine certification of nominees by the state board Tuesday was approval of Harold Swarthout, Portland, as Democratic candidate in the 25th Senatorial District even though he received only eight write-in votes.

Swarthout already had the nomination in the Ionia representative district because he was unopposed on the Democratic slate.

★ ★ ★

Technically, Swarthout has a choice of running in either the 25th Senatorial District, where he would oppose former Republican State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, or in the Ionia representative, where his GOP opponent would be Stanley Powell, former state legislator and longtime lobbyist for the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Teamster Indicted on Tax Invasion

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Lower, former president of Teamsters Local 376 who had a part in the union's controversial Sun Valley retirement project, was indicted by a federal grand jury Tuesday on two counts of income tax evasion.

Lower was charged in one count with making false statements on his personal tax return for 1955. The other involved an alleged false return for local 376.

Bond was set at $10,000 by federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman.

News in Brief

Gerald McLeod, 1448 Merry Road, Waterford Township, reported to police that sometime yesterday a $300 aluminum boat was stolen from the back yard of his home.

The theft of $186 from the Riker Building offices of Clinical Laboratory was reported to Pontiac police yesterday.

Barbara Fellows, 34, of 512 E. Montcalm St., and Jacqueline Knickerbocker, 22, of 3406 Pasadena St., Orion Township reported to Pontiac police yesterday their billfolds containing a total of $13 stolen from 39 Oakland Ave.

Business Notes

Mart Features Mixed Pattern

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market had to struggle just to maintain a mixed pattern early this afternoon.

Changes by key issues were small, running from fractions to a point or so. Trading continued to move at only a moderate pace.

Montgomery Ward, which usually is a slow trader, was exceedingly active and better than 3 points higher. Rumors flew along Wall Street of possible overseas developments and it was noted that the firm has been busy rehabilitating stores, closing nonprofitable units and opening new ones.

The large number of small trades in the mail order firm were quick to catch the eye of board room tape watchers.

Rival Sears Roebuck lost ground and Woolworth also eased.

★ ★ ★

Elsewhere the picture was highly irregular, both by groups and individual issues. Aircraft-missile and chemical shares turned lower and rails strengthened after early weakness. Rubber, airline and drug shares clung to early advances for the most part.

United Aircraft and Douglas were down around a point and General Dynamic's brief recovery was halted as the issue slipped lower.

Dow-Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 1.43 at 718.79. Considering last week's advance in the popular averages, a pause for consolidation was in the cards. Some thought a downward test of the 700 level in the Dow averages was indicated.

Du Pont was off more than 2 among chemicals, widening its early decline, while Eastman Kodak and Union Carbide were down fractionally.

American Stock Exchange prices were higher in quiet trading, although nearly all gains were held to fractions.

Drop Charges Against 2 in Alleged Loan Fraud

Charges against two men are being dropped in the alleged plot to defraud a Ferndale loan office of $100,000, Oakland County Senior Asst. Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr. said today.

No longer charged are Jordan Raider, 24, of Detroit and Frank Bezmos, 43, of 12925 Wales St., Huntington Woods, who will be named as co-conspirators in the case against six other men, according to Barry.

Raider and Bezmos, both of whom had been arraigned in Justice court on three-count charges, will be used as witnesses for the prosecution, said Barry.

Three other alleged members of a ring that is charged with bilking the General Public Loan Co. office at 22848 Woodward Ave. out of at least $100,000 last year, are scheduled to face examinations before West Bloomfield Township Justice of the Peace Elmer C. Dieterle Aug. 29.

★ ★ ★

Robert Levine, 27, of Detroit, Peter Lazaros, 27, of 3410 Dalesford Road, Troy, and Ivan Batten, 46, of 29460 Fall River Road, Southfield, are charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses and conspiracy to avoid paying the state sales tax.

Their arrests followed six month's investigation by State Police Detective Charles Leaf.

Still being sought on similar charges are Gino Ronchetto, 33, of Garden City; William Tees, 35, of Detroit; and Anton Postic of Highland Park.

★ ★ ★

According to Barry, Ronchetto and Levine, former branch employes, were approving "bad risk" credit applications submitted by the others charged and getting a kickback.

Customers would sign the applications for loans to buy household appliances, Barry said. And the loans would be approved for much more than the articles were worth.

Ring members pocketed the difference, said Barry. In other instances they used forged names on the loan requests, he said.

The ring had set up three now-defunct retail stores where the purchases were made in Royal Oak, Madison Heights and Ferndale, according to Deteetive Leaf.

Murray D. Van Wagoner on Planning Commission

Bloomfield Township resident and former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner was one of 17 persons named today to the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

★ ★ ★

Van Wagoner of 3890 Oakland Drive, was among four Oakland County men who received appointments to the commission. He was the only area man appointed by Gov. John B. Swainson to represent the public at large.

★ ★ ★

Other new commission members are Arno L. Hulet, chairman pro tem of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, and George Cutlis of Franklin Village.

★ ★ ★

J. Robert F. Swanson, chairman of the Oakland County Planning Commission, was reappointed to another term expiring June 26, 1964.

★ ★ ★

Also expiring on that date is the term of Catlin, 32663 Franklin Road. Hulet, 2355 Franklin Road, will serve a term ending June 26, 1962.

Their appointments were based on nominations of governing bodies whose representation is required by law.

The 72-member commission, which serves Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties, is assigned the task of guiding the physical development of the metropolitan area.

AF Successful With New Atlas

Model Launched 5,000 Miles at Speeds Up to 15,000 M.P.H.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —The Air Force unveiled its deadly new Atlas F missile Tuesday night and achieved a spectacular success with the weapon, which will be capable of sending a nuclear warhead 6,300 miles in 30 minutes.

The "quick-firing" Atlas F is the final model in the development of this country's first operational ballistic missile. The 82.5-foot tall rocket is destined for underground silos at strategic locations in the United States.

Tuesday night's Atlas reached speeds of 15,000 miles an hour on its 5,000-mile trip down the Atlantic test range.

The first test firing was a check-out of instrumentation and guidance but operational models will give Atlas storable fuel capability for the first time.

The refinement gives the war rocket a much shorter countdown than operational Atlases now in use at bases in the United States and Europe.

The new Atlas had been delayed in its firing schedule for one day until trouble could be found and corrected in the gyroscopic guidance layout.

Support Price on 1962 Wheat Suggested at $2

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman today set the support price on 1962-crop wheat at $2 a bushel, providing farmers approve marketing quotas in the August referendum on the new wheat stabilization program.

The support price reflects 84.4 per cent of the August 1961 parity price of wheat. It compares with the 1961 support price of $1.79 a bushel, which reflects 78 per cent of parity.

The new wheat stabilization program is provided for in the farm act which President Kennedy signed Tuesday.

Various phases of research cost American business and industry at least $3 billion an average year.

Delay Appointments to Hospital Board

Appointment of three persons to the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees was put off another week by the City Commission last night.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Philip E. Rowston scheduled a special half-hour session of the commission before Tuesday's regular meeting to discuss nominees.

The move suggests that some new faces may be on the board by the next four years.

The four-year terms of Rev. Theodore R. Allebach, Cecil J. Cosgrove and Isaac Smoot expired in June. Election of the board's 1961-62 officers has been held up until the commission acts on appointments.

★ ★ ★

A public hearing on assessment rolls covering financing of the proton Street $27,500 sanitary sewer on Clara, Fuller and Peacock streets was scheduled for Tuesday next week.

Other hearings scheduled for then include proposals for four other neighborhood improvements.

COST ESTIMATES

Cost estimates for curbs and gutters on Foster Street, Howard to Forest, include $6,679 in special assessments and $1,220 from the city; for a sanitary sewer on Division Street, $1,579 in special assessments and $2,139 from the city; for sidewalks on both sides of Omar Street, Gage to Harper, $2,351 in special assessments and $6,387 from the city; for lowering the sidewalk in front of four lots on the south side of Mechanic Street, between Paddock and Rosalawn, $400 in special assessments and $1,048 from the city.

Six persons complained of street flooding in a pre-and-con hearing which ended in the city deciding to proceed with plans for curbs and gutters on Hillside Drive, Burt to City Line.

There were no public comments during another hearing on plans for curbs and gutters on Elm Street, Paddock to Jessie.

Commissioners gave routine approval to an arrangement between Michigan Aviation Co. at Pontiac Municipal Airport and the Small Business Administration for a $84,000 federal loan to finance hangar expansion.

★ ★ ★

Assessment rolls were confirmed for payment to finance recently completed blacktopping of nine neighborhood streets.

Included are East Beverly Avenue, Fuller to Arlene; Clifford Street, Auburn to Osmun; South Jessie Street, Prospect to Raeburn; Mansfield Avenue, Fuller to Arlene; Melrose Avenue, Mt. Clemens to Perry; Raeburn Street, Sanford to the Baxter Street alley; Russell Street, Auburn to Osmun; Seward Street, Auburn to Osmun; and Tennyson Avenue, Fuller to Arlene.

TO START AGAIN

Development of the two-block Featherstone Gardens subdivision in Northeast Pontiac will apparently get under way again.

Commissioners approved an arrangement for Ann Arbor Construction Co. to pave streets in the area, where development stalled a year ago after sewers were put in.

James N. Carlisle, city engineer, predicted sidewalks would go in this fall and the plat would be submitted to the City Commission for acceptance as a subdivision. The improvements are being paid for by the developer.

Permission was also given to the developer of Buena Vista Heights subdivision in Northwest Pontiac to have curbs and gutters installed at no cost to the city.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry called the administration's attention to recent flooding after storms on Lull Street and Earlmoore Boulevard and an oily condition on Bagley Street.

Final approval was given to recently completed expansion of the City Beverage Co.'s warehouse at 117 Turk St. Approval is in connection with the company's wholesale beer and wine license.

Approve Bond Issue for Pontiac School

A $1-million bond issue, part of which will be used for Jefferson Junior High School expansion, has been approved by the Municipal Finance Commission in Lansing.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac School District's bond issue was delayed last week for further study. It will finance school construction during the 1961-62 school year.

The maximum interest rate for the bonds was set at 6 per cent.

★ ★ ★

The commission also approved $872,000 in tax anticipation notes to pay for the operation of Southfield public schools. This was $78,000 under the amount requested.

Will Open Bids on New Wing of Courthouse

Bids for construction of the $1.3-million west administrative wing for the new courthouse will be received tomorrow at 2 p.m. in the County Board of Supervisors' room at the county office building.

★ ★ ★

The bids will be opened at a joint meeting of the County Ways and Means Committee, special county building and the buildings and grounds committees.

★ ★ ★

The new wing will house the county offices presently quartered in the County Office Building. Plans for the three-story, 283-by-54-foot building have already been approved.

State Asking City to Annex Strip at Service Center

City Commissioners have asked the city administration to study a new annexation proposal.

This one comes from State Highway Department planners who want the city to annex the right-of-way to Telegraph Road from Pontiac Lake Road to the Grand Trunk Railroad viaduct in the Oakland County Service Center.

Three years ago the city annexed the eastern half of the center on the east side of Telegraph. But Telegraph itself is still in Waterford Township.

State planners say it would be convenient for them if the highway, now designated U.S. 10, were in Pontiac. It wouldn't cost the city anything, they point out, since maintenance of trunklines is paid for fully by the state.

The planning commission called the annexation proposal to the attention of the City Commission last night and the commission, in turn, asked for an administrative study of the idea.

Actor, Actress Take Out Wedding License in N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Brooke Hayward Thomas and actor Dennis Lee Hopper have taken out a marriage license. They didn't say when and where the wedding would be held.

Miss Thomas, 24, a daughter of the late Margaret Sullavan and Leland Hayward, and Hopper, 25, got the license Tuesday. Miss Thomas was divorced in Mexico last summer from Michael M. Thomas.

Church Wants to Salvage Bricks From Demolishers

The very bricks of their church are dear to a congregation where pennies count.

Explaining this to the City Commission last night, representatives of the Newman AME Church, 14 Auburn Ave., made an eloquent plea for permission to salvage building materials when their place of worship is torn down in the urban renewal project.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Philip E. Rowston promised full cooperation within the framework of federal regulations and demolition contracts.

"We'll do everything we can to help," said Rowston.

Trustees of the church and their pastor, Rev. J. Allen Parker, said destruction of the building comes after a decade of sacrifice by the "little people" in the 500-member congregation to provide funds to put the edifice in its present finished state.

The congregation did not fight acquisition of the site for urban renewal, but agreed to sell for $81,000 with the hope that a new church can be started elsewhere in Pontiac, observed the Rev. Mr. Parker.

★ ★ ★

"If we were allowed to salvage the building materials the financial burden wouldn't be so hard on us when we start up again," he explained.

"In another sense, the very bricks and steel and masonry have a symbolic value to a congregation that put its heart and soul into them. For this reason, we want to keep these materials and use them in our new church."

It'll be next year at least before the church is leveled and the demolition contract won't be coming up for sometime, according to Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager and urban renewal coordinator.

Before then, the city will explore various means of saving the building materials for the congregation, he said.

Castro Regulating Holdings of Pesos

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government will return a maximum of only 10,000 pesos each to most Cubans who turned in larger sums during the currency exchange he ordered over the weekend.

* * *

The prime minister announced in a TV address Tuesday night that cash turned in above that amount has been confiscated because it was hoarded in violation of a law limited in May.

* * *

Castro said an exception is being made for old persons and cripples who would be allowed to draw up to 20,000 pesos.

The Cuban government values the peso officially at $1, its value before Castro revolutionized the economic system. It is worth about 20 cents on free money markets abroad.

REGULATES PESO

The government last weekend suddenly closed Cuba's borders to all travelers and ordered all Cubans to exchange their pesos for a new currency issue. Heads of families were allowed to exchange 200 pesos at the time. The balance of their old money was deposited in special accounts.

Castro said 1,000 pesos now may be withdrawn immediately and the balance of the accounts may be withdrawn — up to the 10,000-peso maximum—at the rate of 100 pesos a month. The aged and cripple may draw 300 pesos a month.

Castro estimated that 3,000 persons deposited more than 10,000 pesos each. It was believed many others who had amassed large sums of cash did not declare it for fear of legal action.

* * *

Castro said the limits on deposits and withdrawals applied only to money turned in during the weekend currency exchange. All bank deposits made before the money exchange will be handled normally, he said.

* * *

Castro accused the United States of smuggling huge sums of the old currency into the country's black market to disturb the value of the peso and finance subversion against him.

* * *

Castro estimated that as a result of the currency exchange, 400 million pesos in old currency outside Cuba was made worthless. Most of this, he claimed, was held by wealthy Cuban exiles in the United States.

2 Bound Over to Circuit Court

Pair Is Charged With Arson in Farmhouse Fire in Addison Twp.

Two men charged with arson in Addison Township were bound over to Circuit Court following an examination in Justice Court yesterday.

Marvin B. Lee, 25, of 2345 Texter Road in the township and James L. Spencer, 20, of 1485 Main St., Lakeville, remained free on bond today.

They are scheduled to appear in Circuit Court Aug. 28 to answer charges resulting from a fire that destroyed Lee's farm home at the Texter Road address July 26.

Spencer, an employe of Lee's, is accused of setting the fire at Lee's request while the family was vacationing in the South.

In a statement to the Oakland County Prosecutor, Spencer said Lee offered to pay him $600 to burn down the eight-room farmhouse so that he could collect the insurance.

Spencer was employed as a milkman by Lee who operates a dairy business.

Commissioners Asked to Clear Public 'Eyesores'

Three public "eyesores" were the subject of concern at the City Commission table last night.

Commissioner John A. Dugan asked the administration to try to clean up two of them and Commissioner Wesley J. Wood said the city should go to court, if necessary to eliminate the third.

Dugan submitted a neighborhood petition with about 40 signatures calling for the elimination of an unoccupied shack at the southwest corner of Jocelyn Avenue and Third Street as an "eyesore" and a "hazard to children."

He also wanted the administration to exert pressure to have a swampy area at Tennyson and Arlene avenues filled in.

* * *

The administration will have to negotiate with private property owners in both cases.

Wood was concerned with a deteriorated home at 124 N. Jessie St., condemned by the city and unoccupied. He said the city should file suit to have it torn down as a public nuisance.

Report Rival Sides Building Up in Laos

GENEVA (UPI)—The International Control Commission on Laos reported Tuesday that rival factions in the Southeast Asian kingdom are building up their military strength and fighting may break out again unless a firm cease-fire agreement is reached.

The report from the commission — made up of Canada, India and Poland — was submitted to the 14-nation conference on Laos which is trying to form a draft declaration of neutrality for the kingdom.

It was the first report from the ICC in a month and was dated July 28.

The commission said it still is not able to carry out "any active supervision" of the cease fire in Laos.

Rules Committee Orders Inquiry Into Jet Noises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Rules Committee today ordered a congressional inquiry into problems posed by jet aircraft noise.

The study will be made by the House Commerce Committee.

* * *

The rules group recommended the study to the House after a number of members protested that expanding jet operations are harassing residents and impairing property values near big airports.

Latest to appear before the committee today were Reps. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-N.Y., and Richard E. Lankford, D-Md.

* * *

Addabbo said the noise problem at New York's Idlewild Airport was investigated in 1958 when flights totaled 150 daily.

Now, he said, the daily flight total is up to 380, with two-thirds of them jets, but that "nothing has been done."

Human eyes can see a candle light 14 miles away on a clear night.

Southerner Hot Over Lawyers' Segregation Idea

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A committee report urging, in effect, that Southern states give up the fight to preserve racial segregation drew hot criticism today from a Southerner at the 84th annual convention of the American Bar Association.

* * *

Attorney Ben R. Miller of Baton Rouge, La., warned that such reports may cost the ABA members. He protested that the committee was out of order in commenting on matters still before courts, and stressed that it was only a committee report, not a position of the ABA.

* * *

In a talk to the ABA governing body, the House of Delegates, he said: "If this overzealousness continues and we in the South are forced from a position of moderation to choosing one extreme or the other, the results will be disastrous for the ABA."

East German Refugee Flow Swells Despite Frantic Police Efforts

BERLIN (AP)—A total of 1,926 refugees from East Germany flooded into West Berlin's overcrowded reception center the last 24 hours despite strenuous efforts by the East German police to dam the flow. Hundreds of persons were turned back by increased patrols.

* * *

The figure announced late today was nearly 200 more than for the previous 24 hours, and compared with 1,110 for last Wednesday.

* * *

The flow gained impetus from Premier Khrushchev's speech of Monday indicating Soviet firmness on the Berlin problem. Many of the refugees fear that their chance to flee from the Communist regime soon will be cut off altogether.

* * *

The exodus of refugees at the rate of almost 2,000 a day is the heaviest since the abortive East German revolt eight years ago.

Rationing of the autumn crop of potatoes was announced in East Germany today. At the same time officials there reported that production of consumer goods such as shoes and refrigerators had fallen short of the goals in the first six months of this year.

An East Berlin official said the regime may order sterner measures against East Berliners who work in the West sector of the city.

Orders Extradition for $6,000 Theft

LANSING (AP) — Gov. John B. Swainson today ordered the extradition of Raymond Nowicki, 44, of Detroit, who is wanted in Wisconsin to stand trial for the $6,000 holdup of a Milwaukee discount store.

Nowicki, a brake mechanic, was arrested in Detroit a few days after the June 18 holdup by two masked men at the More-Way discount store.

Milwaukee police said Nowicki and Thomas F. Martinovich, also of Detroit, flew back to Detroit by commercial airliner after the theft.

Martinovich, 28, was arrested as he alighted from the plane at Wilcox Run Airport. He is awaiting trial.

Rains Set Off Floods in Northwest Iowa

WASHTA, Iowa (AP) — Torrential rains poured from a stalled thunderstorm and set off flash floods over a small area of Northwest Iowa Tuesday night.

Two Washta men were missing and believed to have drowned after flood waters swept away their car at the height of the 10-inch deluge.

They were Wilson Zarr, 43, and his son Archie, 20.

The heavy thunderstorm sat over the little Sioux River area south and east of this community, better known in Iowa for a 47-degree below zero reading in the winter of 1912.

Scattered sections of Illinois Central railroad track over a 4-mile stretch south of here were washed out. The tracks were part of a branch line from Cherokee to Anthon.

Two county road bridges were destroyed by flood waters and several others were badly damaged.

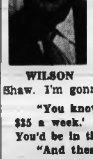
He'll Spoof Adjusters, Doctors on TV Show

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Alan King, "the Angry Young Comedian," goes on TV soon to blast those things we Americans hold dear — insurance adjusters, friendly loan companies, rude children (the neighbors') and "specialists."



WILSON

"I've got a beauty on the American Medical Association," Alan confided, discussing the "Alan King Show" to be done on CBS.

"You go to see a Dr. Jones when you've got something in your right eye. He says, 'Oh, you go to Dr. Smith. He specializes in things in right eyes. I only treat left eyes.'"

King and ace writers Coleman Jacoby and Arnie Rosen are dramatizing the beefs against everything that he's done so well in night clubs, theaters and at banquets.

"Most kids on TV talk like George Bernard Shaw. I'm gonna holler at my kids!" King warns.

"You know these ads — 'How I retired in Florida on $25 a week.' You ever tried to live in Florida on that? You'd be in the Everglades.

"And these 'fire or theft' insurance policies. The adjuster says 'It's got to be fire and theft.' You got to be robbed while your house is on fire."

Pretty Denise Lors'll play Alan's wife in the Sept. 18 show — sort of a pilot film which'll actually be an introduction to a series if all goes well.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Pedestrians claim that's Kim Novak strolling Broadway in cotton dress and curlers . . . Tony Franciosa and Judy Balaban will visit Princess Grace in Monte Carlo (Judy was a bridesmaid) . . . Buddy Hackett will quit Hollywood for Palisades, N.J., where he has a veritable mansion, Sept. 1 — but he has numerous picture jobs coming up, including one in Italy . . . Fred Coe wants Liz Montgomery to co-star with husband Gig Young in "The Spiral Staircase" on TV — the first time they'd be acting together since the've been married.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Zany Comedian-Magician Doc Marcus was at a party when a waiter passed the knishes. Doc opened up one knish and — presto — pulled out a $20 bill. The waiter hurried off with the tray — and opened all the knishes looking for $20 bills.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "I have just two weeks to live," a fellow told Sam Pascal in Chicago, "because at the end of that time, my wife will be back from her vacation" . . . That's earl, brother.

Teeth Needed for Job Rights

May Ask Congress to Strengthen Reservists Re-Employment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration is considering asking Congress to strengthen the job re-employment rights of men called to military service because of the Berlin crisis.

No changes are considered necessary, however, in the law protecting men against loss of their homes if they are called to active duty.

The defense and labor departments have urged that two potential loopholes against loss of jobs be plugged at this session of Congress.

One proposal would extend beyond four years the re-employment rights covered by present law.

Officials point out that many reservists have used up three years or more of their re-employment rights.

If called up for an additional year, they would have no protection for their jobs.

The second loophole applied to men called up who had failed to ask formal leaves of absence from their jobs.

Officials felt that might be a serious problem especially for those called up for induction but later found to be unqualified for military service.

They have asked that the requirement for inductees to ask leaves of absence be waived.

Capsized Boat Turns Out to Be Low-Riding Sub

HONOLULU (AP) — The Coast Guard fared forth to rescue the Navy but found it wasn't needed.

Two telephone callers reported to Coast Guard search and rescue headquarters that a boat had capsized off Waikiki Beach and eight sailors were in the water.

It turned out to be a Pearl Harbor-based submarine, low in the water, with sailors standing on deck.

Kremlin Klaws Turning Toward Africa in 1962

By K. C. THALER

PARIS (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, confident of victory, already is looking beyond Berlin to the next target of Russian power politics—Africa.

The year 1962, it is understood, has been earmarked as "African Year" in the Kremlin's global strategy.

Khrushchev is expected to visit a number of African states to set the stage for a wider and systematic campaign of infiltration. The Soviet leader earlier this week accepted an invitation to visit Tunisia.

He has been collecting invitations from a considerable number of African nations over recent months. They range from the United Arab Republic, to Guinea and Ghana.

Africa has attracted Moscow's growing attention ever since the Kremlin gained a foothold by its arms deal with Egypt some four years ago. Russia has since moved deeper into the continent with every means of political and economic penetration. But she wants still more.

The Soviets suffered a severe setback last year when they were pushed out of the embattled Congo where Khrushchev had hoped to set up Russia's headquarters for operations throughout the African continent.

There have been other setbacks. African nations displayed marked coolness to Soviet attempts to use them in support of Moscow's plans to undermine the authority of the United Nations.

USE SLY TRICKS

But, by and large, Soviet penetration in Africa has been considerable.

The Soviets have used the technique of economic aid and assistance as one of their major instruments of infiltration.

With the money came Soviet technicians and so-called "experts" and "advisers." They have been "looking around" quietly, with a purpose.

Moscow has been quick in backing its aid to Africans with military supplies and equipment of a varied kind—rifles, tanks and even jet planes.

Earlier this year Khrushchev sent Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev on an African tour, to "show the Soviet flag" and to pave the ground for his own visit—and for bigger things to come next year.

Avoiding Prot Unhealthy Sign, Says Teacher

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Secondary school and college students who go to great lengths to avoid a teacher they may not like need clinical help, a University of Michigan assistant professor of education said Tuesday.

Finley Carpenter said the students should gradually acquire the skill of learning under teachers they don't particularly like.

"For children in kindergarten and the lower grades it is right that the teacher's personality should not clash with the learner," Carpenter said, "we can't expect strong frustration tolerance in the very young.

"But sooner or later each student must learn how to continue his education under less than ideal circumstances."

4-H Fair King and Queen Chosen From Field of 20

Richard K. Foster and Carolyn Ruggles, both 17, began their reigns last night as King and Queen of the 1961 Oakland County 4-H Fair.

Another winner was 10-year-old Greg R. Carline of Pontiac, who was picked as this year's freckle champion. He received a $50 savings bond from The Pontiac Press.

It was the third time the red-haired fifth grader had entered the contest. Greg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carline of 630 Second St.

The king and queen were selected from a field of 20 candidates for the coveted crowns in competition that lasted throughout the afternoon and early evening.

All contestants were interviewed individually by three judges who scored them on their personal appearance, personality, over-all 4-H records and club and community activities.

Both Carolyn and Richard cinched their titles with the brief speeches they gave on the grandstand in the evening after the field had been narrowed to three boys and three girls.

She has gone to state show four times and been in district judging three times. She is a member of the Oak Hill 4-H Club.

HAS TOP RECORD

Richard also has an impressive record in 4-H work climaxed this year when he was named District All Achievement Award winner. He also won the William H. Danforth Leadership Training Scholarship to Camp Miniwanca this year.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Foster of 970 Baldwin Road, Orion Township, Richard has been in 4-H for eight years. He is a member of the East Orion Club.

He has a total of 37 project years with his projects ranging from electrical to beef and including public speaking. He had the reserve grand champion dairy cow for three years at the Oakland County 4-H Fair.

Ships Collide in Dense Fog on Lake Michigan

No Injuries Reported, Neither Vessel Said in Danger of Sinking

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — A foreign freighter and a lumber carrier collided in dense fog in Northern Lake Michigan early today but the Coast Guard reported neither vessel was reported in danger of sinking.

The collision occurred about 5 miles northeast of Gull Island — near the point where the freighter Carl D. Bradley broke up during a storm in November 1958 and sank with a loss of more than 30 lives.

The Greek freighter Zermatt collided with the lumber carrier Mackinaw Island. There were no injuries reported.

★ ★ ★

The Zermatt suffered no damage and was proceeding eastward toward the Straits of Mackinac.

But the Mackinaw Island suffered stern and bow damage and her plates were buckled.

The 96-foot lumber carrier, which hauls logs from Coburn Island to Escanaba, carried a crew of three. Capt. Richard Lyons, Willard Tischer, 47, and Charles Kiebel, about 20, all from Charlevoix.

★ ★ ★

The vessel's owner, Ernie Manthei of Petoskey said the Mackinaw Island was equipped with radar and directional finders for safe operation in fog or darkness.

The Coast Guard sent three airplanes and two boats to the collision scene. The freighter Block also was at the scene standing by the crippled Mackinaw Island.

The Coast Guard said its aircraft had made contact with the Mackinaw Island but that fog was hampering rescue operations.

★ ★ ★

The Zermatt's captain, Andreas Petinakis, told UPI by telephone from his ship that the Mackinaw Island had rammed into his vessel on the starboard side.

He said he stopped, asked if the lumber carrier needed help, and proceeded on his way when he got a negative answer.

Petinakis and the 493-foot Zermatt were involved in another incident recently when the captain delayed his entrance into the harbor at Holland on grounds he thought the harbor entrance was too narrow. He put in only after getting help from two tugs.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Pleads for Stepped-Up Use of Airline

Mayor Philip E. Rowston got a head start last night in a state-sparked campaign to keep new North Central Airline franchises in Michigan.

Rowston urged Pontiac area persons to use the airline's facilities at Pontiac Municipal Airport whenever possible in the coming months.

"In the crucial period ahead we must use the facilities or lose the franchise," the mayor pointed out at the City Commission meeting.

The Civil Aeronautics Board says Pontiac must board an average of five passengers a day between June of this year and next June in order to keep the franchise. Current patronage is about 10 passengers a month below this minimum level.

Next Wednesday, Rowston will attend a meeting in Lansing at which the Department of Aeronautics will try to find ways to increase patronage at the various cities that were awarded new short-haul air service on a tryout basis in December.

Morse Moves In to Halt Oilman

Backs Proxmire's Fight Against Nomination of Texas Man to FPC

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., ended a marathon protest in the Senate against the nomination of Lawrence J. O'Connor Jr. to the Federal Power Commission at 11:05 a.m. (Pontiac time) today.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., picked up one of the Senate's long-talk champions, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., as an ally today after Proxmire had kept the chamber in all-night session with a speech against the nomination of a Texas oilman to the Federal Power Commission.

At 9 a.m. (Pontiac time), some two hours after Morse had joined in the battle, the Senate had been in session 24 hours.

Morse, spelling Proxmire as a lonesome speaker, quickly promised the Senate would not get around today to a vote on the nomination of Lawrence J. O'Connor for the FPC post.

Morse said Proxmire had awakened the nation to "the rottenness" of the nomination made by President Kennedy, and thundered in the nearly empty chamber: "The President of the United States ought to withdraw this nomination forthwith."

With Morse in the contest, the picture underwent a dramatic change. Only a few minutes earlier Proxmire said he was nearing the end of his long speech and did not intend to prevent a vote on O'Connor's nomination later in the day. But after Morse was recruited, he said he was prepared to carry on the fight.

HUSTLED FROM CONFERENCE — A bodyguard of Cuba's Ernesto (Che) Guavara is forced out of the Inter-American Economic and Social Conference at Punta del Este, Uruguay, Tuesday for brawling with anti-Castro demonstrators who disrupted Guavara's address to the conference.

5 Major Nations Issue Request From Uruguay

Urge Benefactors to Ready Plans Within Next 18 Months

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP) — Five major Latin American nations called on the United States and other foreign aid sources to funnel $20 billion over the next 10 years into President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program.

They urged the continent's governments to get their long-range development programs ready in the next 18 months.

The $20-billion resolution was introduced after a night session of the Inter-American Economic and Social Conference at which Cuban economic chief Ernesto Guevara lambasted Kennedy and accused the United States of plotting to assassinate Prime Minister Fidel Castro's brother Raul.

When Guevara finished speaking, several Cuban exiles in the audience screamed "assassin" at him and two leaped on the stage shouting.

Fists swung as security guards hauled the demonstrators from the packed chamber.

POINTS OF DIFFERENCE

The $20-billion resolution was submitted by Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Mexico and Peru. It differed from U. S. proposals on two major points.

★ ★ ★

First, the resolution watered down the U. S. proposal for a powerful committee of "seven wise men" to coordinate economic planning for Latin America. The five nations made clear they intend to plan their own economic programs and substituted a proposal for an inter-American planning staff with advisory powers only.

★ ★ ★

The five also junked the disputed American scheme for an elaborate information and cultural campaign to publicize the economic and social reforms that are the aims of Kennedy's program.

U.S. IN AGREEMENT

An Argentine delegate said privately the United States was "largely in agreement" with the resolution, which is expected to form the backbone of a joint declaration to be signed at the close of the conference.

The resolution declares that Latin America's economic ills require "a supply of capital from all external sources during the coming 10 years of at which should be in public funds."

This was the figure Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon mentioned in his address to the conference. Dillon stressed, however, that the size of the aid would depend largely on whether the Latin-American countries take

Will Ask Soviets to Meet on Berlin

PARIS — The United States and its top Western allies are planning to advance a proposal within the next few weeks for a meeting with the Soviet Union on Berlin and Germany — if the Russians fail to propose one first.

Highly placed Western informants today gave an outline of diplomatic maneuvers on the Berlin crisis.

American, British, French and West German foreign ministers discussed the moves during the weekend.

That was followed by a briefing for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The timing of a call for negotiations on Berlin is a delicate matter involving tactical advantages.

The decision has been coupled with plans for a Western military build-up to confront Soviet threats.

The Western diplomatic move probably will be launched after the West German elections on Sept. 17 and after Western firmness has been made evident.

★ ★ ★

Other factors in the timing are the October Communist party congress in Moscow and the U.N. General Assembly session opening in September.

Rusk already has given the NATO Council an outline of the diplomatic plans.

WARNS ALLIES

He reportedly has warned America's European allies that a major crisis over Berlin is inevitable if Russia presses hard against vital Western interests there.

Rusk was said to have left the impression among Western diplomats with whom he conferred here during the last week that he considers the present Berlin crisis graver than any in the past because Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may believe the strategic situation has swung in his favor.

Rusk flew to Rome this afternoon after rallying America's European partners to the firm defense of Berlin.

His last job before taking off was to preside over a meeting at the U.S. embassy of 30 U.S. ambassadors to European countries on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

Bicycle Trip Ends in Tragedy

Lake Orion Athlete Is Killed, Friend Injured South of Lapeer

A long-distance bicycle trip ended in tragedy last night when a Lake Orion athletic star was killed and another boy seriously injured by a hit-and-run driver on South Lapeer Road south of Lapeer.

★ ★ ★

Dead was Jackie R. McCoy, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrin McCoy of 56 S. Bellevue Road, Lake Orion.

Reported in fair condition today at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital was William C. Toll, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Toll of 551 Pingrove Road, Orion Township.

The boys were riding their bicycles south on South Lapeer Road (M-24) in Metamora Township on the last leg of a round trip between Lake Orion and Mackinaw City when they were struck by a car.

★ ★ ★

McCoy was dead at the scene when Lapeer County Sheriff's deputies arrived at about 9:15 p.m. Toll was rushed to Lapeer County General Hospital and later transferred to Pontiac Osteopathic. The Toll boy incurred several fractured bones and severe lacera

MAN BEING HELD

Being held at the Lapeer County Jail on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident is Aleck D. Hutchinson, 49, of 80 Maple Grove Road.

Deputies said the accident occurred just north of Brocker Road.

Hutchinson was apprehended about 15 minutes later at Lapeer Road near Brauer Road where his car was stalled.

Hutchinson was to make a statement today to Lapeer County Prosecutor Michael Dionise.

★ ★ ★

McCoy was a track and football star at Lake Orion Community High School. He was graduated from high school in June and had been offered scholarships to Michigan State University Oakland and General Motors Tech in Flint.

McCoy's body is at Allen's Funeral Home, Lake Orion. Surviving beside his parents are a sister Patricia at home, and his grandparents, Mrs. Dewey Powers of Dante, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCoy of Trammel, Va.

Fidel Regulates Peso Holdings

He Confiscates Anything Over 10,000 Turned in by Cubans, as Ordered

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government will return a maximum of only 10,000 pesos each to most Cubans who turned in larger sums during the currency exchange he ordered over the week-end.

★ ★ ★

The prime minister announced in a TV address Tuesday night that cash turned in above that amount has been confiscated because it was hoarded in violation of a law issued in May.

★ ★ ★

Castro said an exception is being made for old persons and cripples who would be allowed to draw up to 20,000 pesos.

The Cuban government values the peso officially at $1, its value before Castro revolutionized the economic system. It is worth about 20 cents on free money markets abroad.

REGULATES PESO

The government last weekend suddenly closed Cuba's borders to all travelers and ordered all Cubans to exchange their pesos for a new currency issue. Heads of families were allowed to exchange 200 pesos at the time. The balance of their old money was deposited in special accounts.

Castro said 1,000 pesos now may be withdrawn immediately and the balance of the accounts may be withdrawn — up to the 10,000-peso maximum—at the rate of 100 pesos a month. The aged and cripple may draw 300 pesos a month.

★ ★ ★

Castro estimated that 3,000 persons deposited more than 10,000 pesos each. It was believed many others who had amassed large sums of cash did not declare it for fear of legal action.

★ ★ ★

Castro said the limits on deposits and withdrawals applied only to money turned in during the weekend currency exchange

Khrushchev Showers Hugs and Kisses on Titov

Moon Trip Not Far Off, He Tells Massive Crowd

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, between bear hugs and kisses showered on Maj. Gherman Titov at a huge Moscow welcome for the spaceman, said today, "The time is not far off when we will have manned flights to the moon and other planets."

And such are communism's achievements, he told tens of thousands of cheering Muscovites in Red Square, that "sooner or later the whole world will follow our path to communism."

Titov, who spoke before Khrushchev, said his multiorbital flight around the world in space and its return to an exact pre-arranged landing spot proved that cosmonauts now can "land spaceship-satellites at any place on earth."

Khrushchev, however, stressed that "our powerful rockets, which are not matched anywhere in the world, are used for peaceful purposes."

"The data obtained by our cosmonauts," he said, "will become the common property of all scientists of all countries, and all mankind."

* * *

Socialism, Khrushchev told the crowd, was "the launching pad of the Soviet Union."

Titov's flight reflected the might of Soviet industry and science, and the Soviet desire for peace and friendship in the world, he said.

NO ATOM BOMBS

"Vostok II did not carry atom bombs," he said, "but peaceful instruments."

After announcing that Titov had been awarded the medals of hero of the Soviet Union and "flier-cosmonaut of the Soviet Union," Khrushchev turned to Titov and pioneer spaceman Yuri Gagarin standing beside him and said:

"Now there are two of you. But you will not remain two for long. The family of cosmonauts will grow and grow and become stronger."

As Khrushchev finished speaking, a band broke into the Soviet national anthem and the formal demonstration ended. But, the informal demonstration was just beginning.

* * *

Titov and Gagarin stood side by side on the Lenin - Stalin mausoleum platform, waving and grinning as the thousands of cheering Russians marched past, waving party slogans and carrying pictures of Titov. From time to time, Khrushchev stepped between the two spacemen and hugged them—"as his own sons," Tass said.

* * *

From Red Square, Gagarin, Titov, Khrushchev and their wives were to go to the Kremlin, where a gala reception — much like the one for Gagarin four months ago—was to be held in the majestic St. George's Hall.

With New Atlas

Model Launched 5,000 Miles at Speeds Up to 15,000 M.P.H.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The Air Force unveiled its deadly new Atlas F missile Tuesday night and achieved a spectacular success with the weapon, which will be capable of sending a nuclear warhead 6,300 miles in 30 minutes.

* * *

The "quick-firing" Atlas F is the final model in the development of this country's first operational ballistic missile. The 82.5-foot tall rocket is destined for underground silos at strategic locations in the United States.

Tuesday night's Atlas reached speeds of 15,000 miles an hour on its 5,000-mile trip down the Atlantic test range.

The first test firing was a checkout of instrumentation and guidance but operational models will give Atlas storable fuel capability for the first time.

The refinement gives the war rocket a much shorter countdown than operational Atlases now in use at bases in the United States and Europe.

* * *

JOHN E. LINABURY

Surprise Salute Given Auto Vet

John E. Linabury Gets Tribute by City on His 83rd Birthday

In the first decade of this century, a young engineer named John E. Linabury was tinkering with the two-cylinder gasoline engines of the time.

He put two of them together and came up with the four-cylinder engine that powered the first Oakland automobile in 1908.

Last night, after receiving a surprise salute from the city on his 83rd birthday, Linabury recalled a jest he made recently when the four-cylinder Tempest was developed by Pontiac Motor Division as the latest successor to the original Oakland.

"I put two engines together but what they did was split an eight-cylinder engine in half. I told them my development was progress but their's was just retrogression!" said the spry, silver-haired octogenarian.

The City Commission took time out last night to honor Linabury for his contributions to Pontiac, both as an engineer with General Motors Corp. and a member of the planning commission the past 10 years.

MEMBERS PRESENT

Fellow members of the planning commission were on hand for the special tribute.

Linabury, 81 E. Iroquois Road, retired from General Motors in 1947 as a specialist in the operation and equipping of foundries.

During his long career in industry he helped guide the construction of foundries for Pontiac Motor Division, Cadillac and Buick.

Earlier in life, he engineered the first sliding gear shift for the Oakland.

Linabury is one of the few Pontiac natives of his years who can say that both his parents were born in Pontiac. The family name has been prominent in the city since the first half of the 19th Century.

Among his many other civic interests, Linabury is active in the Oakland County Historical Society.

Cuba Sends U. S. Note on Detained Airplanes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Cuban government has sent a 500-word note about detained airplanes to Washington via the Swiss government.

The Swiss informed the State Department that the note had been received at their embassy in Havana and was being forwarded to this country.

The United States has been demanding since July 24 the return of an Eastern Air Lines Electra hijacked to Cuba. The note was the first Cuban reply to the U.S. demands.

Trailer Bank Branch to Open Tomorrow

One of the world's most unusual house trailers will open at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Oakland County Service Center.

Converted for use as a bank, the 50-by-10-foot trailer will house Community National Bank's 12th branch office.

The trailer will be temporary quarters until a permanent building is constructed in a year or two. It will be located at 330 E. County Center Drive, directly across from the new county courthouse building.

The bank's assistant cashier, L. Jay Clark, has been named manager of the new branch. Clark, of 4563 Kempf St., Drayton Plains, has been with the bank for seven years.

* * *

The branch will house four tellers and a lounge and will be located next to a large parking area. Its aluminum siding exterior is combined with a smart birch panneled interior.

Fluorescent lighting and air-conditioning complement the interior of the unusual trailer-branch. Full banking facilities will be available with the exception of safety deposit boxes.

* * *

The new branch will operate on regular banking hours, according to a Community National Bank spokesman.

DETROIT (UPI)—An explosion in a foam rubber plant today touched off a five-alarm fire in midtown Detroit.

An estimated 150 persons fled to safety from the three-story brick building and nearby buildings. More than 170 firemen and 30 pieces of equipment were at the scene.

There were no reported injuries.

The factory is the Stephenson & Lawler Co., 1810 E. Milwaukee. Don Braley, president of the firm, said most of his 12 employes were on a coffee break when the blast occurred about 9:15 a.m.

The register of deeds office and photostat department opened its doors amid new surroundings after a weekend of moving.

The new quarters are on the ground floor of the new building. Some 20 employes — even the veterans — began "finding their way around" again today.

Another 1,000 Flee E. Berlin

Refugees Say Rumors Hint Escape Routes to Be Closed Soon

BERLIN (UPI) — Another 1,000 East Germans — spurred by fear that the border will be closed next month — slipped through a tight Communist ring around Berlin today and fled to freedom.

* * *

The latest exodus of refugees raised to approximately 144,000 the number of East Germans who have fled this year. The figure was about 1,000 more than the total for all of 1960 — and there are almost five more months to go this year.

The refugees said rumors were sweeping the Soviet zone that little time was left to escape. They reported that everywhere in Communist East Germany people were saying "the West Berlin escape route will be closed in September."

Whether the Communists actually planned to plug the West Berlin hole in the Iron Curtain before a peace treaty with the Soviet Union is signed could not be determined.

* * *

But East Germans feared the Communists may cut off their escape route and the rush to get out increased.

Although Communist controls have tightened considerably, today's refugees raised the month's total to about 12,000.

Entire companies of Communist police were thrown in the campaign to stop the flow of refugees. Police in civilian clothes rode the highways to the city in private automobiles.

* * *

West Berlin officials estimated that for every refugee that got through, another was turned back.

Workers in East Germany are faced with production speedups designed to bolster the economy and stem the rising flow of refugees.

U.S. Opposes Special Session Over Bizerte

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) —The United States Tuesday night announced its opposition to a special General Assembly session on the Bizerte conflict between France and Tunisia, but it appeared the meeting would be held anyway.

Venezuela and Argentina both added their signatures to a petition for a meeting, bringing the total to 49. Only one more is needed for the required 50.

Adlai Stevenson, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, told Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold the United States was afraid a general assembly session might "imperil" efforts to bring Tunisia and France to settle their dispute themselves.

The Day in Birmingham

Retail Merchants Group in C. of C. Plans Board

BIRMINGHAM — A nominating committee of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce is preparing a slate of candidates for a board of directors for the organization's retail merchants division.

* * *

Members of the nominating committee named by Chamber President Henry F. Johnson are Foster Toothacker, Harvey Kresge and Donald Cummings.

According to Chamber of Commerce Secretary Charles Mortenson the retail merchants division will not be a separate organization but will continue to operate under the parent group.

However, it will be the first board of directors for the retail merchants division. In the past the division has operated as a committee.

Once the board of directors is selected it will meet to name its own officers.

No date for an election has been scheduled, said Mortenson. Ballots will be mailed to retailers in the near future.

City commissioners have scheduled Aug. 28 for a public hearing on a request for paving the alley from Hunter east to the water tank property immediately south of Ridgedale Street.

The request came from the Birmingham real estate firm of Weir, Manuel and Snyder, Inc., who plan to erect a building on Hunter between Ridgedale and Maple Road.

Plans call for the construction of a 31-by-33 foot building.

The alley paving would provide easy access to a parking lot at the rear of the proposed building.

Cost of the project, if decided by the commission to be a necessity, would be assessed property owners benefiting from the improvement.

Signs are being erected today along Quarton Road from Woodward Avenue to Lahser Road which will lower the speed limit there to 45 miles per hour, according to the Birmingham Police Department.

* * *

Police said the new speed law will be enforced after all signs are constructed on Quarton Road. The former maximum speed there was 65 miles per hour in the daytime and 55 miles per hour at night.

Major Latin Nations Call for $20 Billion

the "necessary internal measures" to insure rapid economic growth and development.

SCORNS ALLIANCES

Guevara, his open-necked khaki uniform shirt in sharp contrast with the conservative garb of the other delegates, heaped scorn on the Alliance for Progress program.

He claimed the Kennedy plan would never have been conceived if it had not been for the Cuban revolution. "A little push," he said, and the United States would ante up the $30 billion in aid Castro called for two years ago.

"A new stage is beginning in the relations of peoples of America under the sign of Cuba as a symbol of the conference," Guevara declared, "and this conference has the stamp of Cuba, like it or not."

* * *

He denounced the conference as a political maneuver against Cuba and against "the example Cuba is setting for all Latin-America."

"I dissent in the name of Cuba from almost all the affirmations thus far made here," he declared.

He claimed plotters from the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo planned to ambush Raul Castro July 26 during the Santiago celebration of Castro's revolutionary anniversary.

* * *

If this failed, he said, the plotters planned to dynamite the grandstand from which Raul spoke. Then, he said, "North American mortars" would lob shells into the U.S. base to provide the pretext for a U.S. attack on Cuba. But he said the plot was foiled.

* * *

Dillon listened impassively to Guevara's tirade, his only visible reaction a denying shake of his head. Robert F. Woodward, U.S. undersecretary of state for Latin American affairs, denounced the speech as a "pack of lies."

Many Latin-American delegates privately expressed indignation at Guevara's speech.

Fidel Now Regulates Hoarding of Pesos

All bank deposits made before the money exchange will be handled normally, he said.

* * *

Castro accused the United States of smuggling huge sums of the old currency into the country's black market to disturb the value of the peso and finance subversion against him.

* * *

Castro estimated that as a result of the currency exchange, 400 million pesos in old currency outside Cuba was made worthless. Most of this, he claimed, was held by wealthy Cuban exiles in the United States.

AF Aiding 'Swift Strike'

Planes Roaring for 'Chute Exercise

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (UPI) — Heavy cargo planes thundered regularly into the Darlington, S. C., airport today in a gigantic supply operation of joint Army-Air Force Exercise Swift Strike.

A majority of the cargo and fighter support aircraft were manned by Air Reservists and Air National Guardsmen, many of whom already have been alerted for possible recall for active duty in the tense Berlin situation.

That, plus close observation of the quick-striking abilities of the Strategic Army Corps (STRAC), made the exercise doubly important.

WITH STRINGS ATTACHED — Shroud lines whip out the parachutes of troopers from the 82nd Airborne Division as the men step from their troop carrier plane in Operation Swift Strike at Camden, S. C., during maneuvers in the largest U.S. military operation since World War II. Planes carrying the paratroopers were manned by Reservists from the 512th Troop Carrier Wing.

The job of the Air Force was to furnish air cover and bring supplies to the 82nd Airborne Division which dropped 4,418 men and their equipment near Camden, S.C., Monday in what ranking officers called a near-perfect operation.

* * *

The exercise is being held in an eight-county area of North Carolina and South Carolina eastward from this military reservation.

* * *

The 82nd, one of three crack STRAC divisions, is acting as a United States force sent to a theoretical small foreign country which has been invaded by unfriendly forces.

5,000 MORE

The 101st Airborne Division, another STRAC unit, is expected to drop about 5,000 paratroopers Thursday in an effort to repel the 82nd.

Today's schedule called for C119s, C123s and C130s to make 310 air landings at Darlington.

* * *

Air Force planes flew 153 sorties Tuesday and 26 reconnaissance missions. To support today's action, 250 fighter sorties and 26 reconnaissance missions were planned, depending upon the requirements of the 82nd's field commanders. The fighters include four supersonic F105s, considered the world's most versatile one-man fighter-bombers.

* * *

Maj. Gen. Maurice A. Preston, commanding general of the 19th Air Force, praised Air Reservists and Air National Guardsmen for doing "their work in a proficient and highly professional manner."

Lt. Gen. Paul Adams, commanding the 3rd Army, at Ft. McPherson, Ga., said the operation thus far has progressed "very handsomely."

News: Republican Wins Southern Vote

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — Charles E. Boineau, 37, a trucking firm executive, has shattered a nearly century-old tradition by winning election on the Republican ticket to South Carolina's General Assembly.

When Boineau takes his seat with the Richland County delegation next January, he will be the first Republican in the legislature since Reconstruction days. He will be out-numbered by Democrats in the General Assembly by 169-1.

On the basis of unofficial returns, Boineau got 7,333 votes to 5,940 for Democrat Joe Berry Jr., who had the support of South Carolina's Democratic party organization.

City School Board to See Public Relations Study

A seven-page study of the Pontiac School District's public relations program and recommendations for the 1961-62 program will be presented to the Pontiac Board of Education tomorrow night.

The report is one of several on the agenda of the board's August meeting slated for 7:30 in the central administration building, 40 Patterson St.

Other business will include a recommendation for use of special education facilities and an oral report by Asst. Supt. Dr. Otto C. Hufsiger on this year's rehabilitation and construction program.

The public relations program expected to be outlined by Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent, will outline the 1960-61 program, consider needs for 1961-62 and make recommendations for public relations activities in the coming year.

The special education memorandum concerns an agreement between the local board and the Oakland County Board of Education on establishment and use of facilities for special education.

Board members will also discuss the possibility of lighting tennis courts at Crofoot School.

Whitmer will report orally on the distribution of board agendas.

Takes Only $100 to Be Millionaire Bolivian Style

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — How would you like to be a Bolivian millionaire?

All it takes is 100 U.S. dollars.

Bolivia's monetary unit is the boliviano. Only a few years ago the par value of the boliviano was 150 to one U.S. dollar. But inflation—one of the worst cases in the world — set in, for reasons best explained by economists, and today it takes 12,000 bolivianos to buy $1.

So for $100 you can buy 1,200,000 bolivianos. Presto, you're a millionaire—Bolivian style.

You can go around here with your pockets bulging with money—and not have enough to take your girl to dinner. If you paid cash for an automobile, it would take a truck to carry it. And to count it, would take lots of time.

September Should Offset Low August Car Production

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — Passenger car production this month may reach its lowest August ebb in 13 years.

Production schedules call for the assembly of only 180,000 cars. This would compare with 305,514 last year and 380,447 in August 1958.

This is the way the month shapes up by companies: General Motors 72,000 cars compared with 70,296 in August 1958; Ford Motor Co. 87,500 compared with 85,948; Chrysler 9,800 compared with 21,026; American Motors 4,300 compared with 3,062 and Studebaker-Packard 6,000 compared with 117.

A major difference between the two years should occur next month. In September 1958, the industry built only 130,000 cars whereas this year the September goal is roughly 480,000.

* * *

August production, except at Ford, will be primarily 1962 models. Only Chevrolet, other than the Ford lines, stretched 1961 model output past Aug. 1.

Only 32,825 passenger cars were built last week and Ford built 30,025 of them.

Studebaker-Packard began 1962 production today after being down since the last week in June. Various other makes will resume activity next week.

Ward's reports, in its latest forecast, begs total production for the year at 5,600,000. This compares with 6,696,108 a year ago and would duplicate almost exactly the 1959 total.

* * *

The industry still is hedging all of its advance forecasts with the words "if labor peace prevails."

The United Auto Workers Union contracts expire at Ford, General Motors and Chrysler at midnight, Aug. 31, and at American Motors one week later.

In past years there have been sporadic local shutdowns at the time national contracts expired, pending settlement of individual plant grievances.

Such stoppages could put a crimp into September production plans, although Detroit, at the moment, is betting against a full-scale strike against any of the companies.

Salinger Huddling With Network Chiefs

JFK Wants Comfortable TV Addresses

BY ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House:

Aides of President Kennedy are taking steps to prevent any more brow-mopping discomfort for him in his future radio-television addresses to the nation.

* * *

Press secretary Pierre Salinger has consulted with network officials as a starter toward improving conditions for the Chief Executive's telecasts from his office.

The last time, two weeks ago, Kennedy perspired so much under the stage lights that he applied a handkerchief to his brow.

Some of his stumbling over a few lines of his speech on Berlin and defense may have resulted from the uncomfortable conditions.

Kennedy's office is air-conditioned, but the system was turned down to avoid a hum which could have been heard behind him.

* * *

The President's office is a spacious one, but even so it can become cluttered with all of the television cameras, lights, cables, and technicians, plus newsreel cameras, news photographers, a "pool" of reporters, and guests.

Network officials maintained in their discussion with Salinger that a larger than usual number of guests may have been the reason for the July 25 telecast causing more discomfort than previous ones in the President's office.

There were reports in broadcasting circles that Kennedy also had complained of conditions at his only other radio-TV speech from the office, the one in June reporting on his Vienna talks with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

* * *

Kennedy, according to those reports, was so disturbed that he decided to originate future such addresses from the State Department auditorium where he holds his news conferences.

* * *

But Salinger said he was unaware of any intention of this sort by the President.

IN FINE SPIRTS

Uncomfortable though he may have been during his telecast on Berlin, Kennedy was in fine spirits after completing his half-hour message to the nation.

* * *

From one associate comes the report that Kennedy strolled from his office to the Cabinet room next door, where a broadcaster was revising his script for a follow-up newscast.

The radio newsman, so it is said, was in deep concentration when a hand reached down from behind and picked up the typewritten pages.

* * *

Turning around irritatedly, the newscaster reached to get the sheets back, then recoiled and for want of anything else to say, he protested:

"Mr. President, that's my script!"

* * *

"I'd just like to see it," Kennedy was said to have answered. "I let you see mine, didn't I?"

Wayne Shuts Doors to New Students

DETROIT (UPI)—The doors of Wayne State University were closed to new students today for the first time in history.

Wayne State officials reported the school has filled its quota of 8,800 freshmen and transfer students for the fall term. Associate Dean Henry Pixley said all other applicants are being placed on a waiting list for the spring 1962 semester.

Wayne's quota was set after the state legislature cut $200,000 from the school's operating budget for the 1961-62 school year. It represents a 20 per cent reduction in new students from last year.

Pixley estimated that 1,000 applicants for the fall semester will be turned away by the time classes begin Sept. 25.

Worthless Shelters Peddled by Con Men

CHICAGO (UPI) — Unscrupulous salesmen have taken advantage of the fear of war over Berlin to peddle worthless fallout shelters.

Maj. Gen. J. L. Homer, Illinois CD director, said reports of such sales were received from various parts of the nation.

Opportunists also were selling drugs billed as effective against radiation, Homer said. Examination of the drugs showed they were worthless, he said.

Joint U.S.-South Korean Exercise Set Thursday

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — About 2,000 troops of the U. S. 7th Infantry Division will land at Pohang on South Korea's Southeastern coast Thursday in a joint U. S.-South Korean test of the division's combat readiness.

* * *

The amphibious exercise, labeled "Operation Sharp Edge," got under way Sunday when tanks and troops boarded ships of the U. S. 7th Fleet.

* * *

The landing, originally set for Monday, was delayed because of bad weather. The South Korean Air Force will provide cover for the operation.

Latest Trend in TV Is to Bats in Belfry

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wondering what the latest TV trend is? Are there bats in your belfry? Despite the seeming irrelevancy of these two questions, they belong together like summer and reruns.

My colleagues in the society of TV trend-spotters have issued an interim report which places bats in the belfry and TV's new trend under one slightly cobwebby roof. The trend, we find, is to haunted houses.

Our reruns are in a haunted hut rut.

Thursday, for example, NBC-TV's "Great Ghost Tales" supplies us with "Summer Rental," described as a drama about a couple who go ahead and rent a house even after being told it's haunted.

Soon after moving in, the man and woman are terrorized as grisly events that happened once before appear to be happening again. (That's the story of summertime TV, but let's not get into that.)

Does "Summer Rental" sound vaguely familiar? Go back four weeks to "Mystery Theater" and look up "Danger Tomorrow." In that one, a couple moved into a musty old house and promptly found themselves confronted by flashbacks.

NAME OLD STORY

Next Wednesday, the "Mystery Theater" series unveils "House of Mystery." One guess. As the story line put it, "prospective buyers find a house at a bargain and learn of the ghost in its past."

Last month, "Thriller" on NBC-TV presented a rerun, "The Hungry Glass." The story was about a young couple who bought a haunted house on the "rocky coast of Maine." Once inside, to quote from the story sheet, "mysterious but connected accidents befall them."

If you missed "The Hungry Glass" on July 11 or Jan. 3, try "Paradise Mansion," which "Thriller" repeats on Aug. 22. It's about some demented owners of an estate who imprison a schoolteacher in their haunted house.

★ ★ ★

"The Purple Room," another "Thriller" episode, first shown last October and repeated June 20, was about a young man who could inherit a haunted house if he managed to sleep in it for just one night.

Tuesday night, one of the three one-acters seen again in "Thriller's" production of "Trio for Terror" involved a haunted castle. But we're not counting haunted castles in this trend. Just plain old haunted houses.

Sen. Fulbright Popular Despite Gab Protest

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said today Republicans would be wasting their time if they tried to defeat Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., next year.

Republicans and some Democrats have been putting political heat on Fulbright, the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations they contend influenced a Pentagon directive "muzzling" generals and admirals on foreign policy matters.

★ ★ ★

Fulbright protested to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara about military sponsorship of public forums featuring what the senator called "radical right wing speakers."

★ ★ ★

Asked if he thought an attempt was being made in the criticisms of him to provide ammunition for a prospective 1962 senatorial opponent, Fulbright said he attributes no such motive to Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., his chief Democratic critic.

"But I hear reports that the Republicans may have some idea of trying to duplicate in Arkansas what they did in Texas," Fulbright said.

Sen. John G. Tower, a Republican, won a special election to fill the seat vacated by Lyndon B. Johnson when he became vice president.

Goldwater, who heads the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee and who helped Tower in Texas, scoffed at the idea that Republicans are gunning for Fulbright. Goldwater has joined in the criticism of the Pentagon directive.

"Why should we want to beat Fulbright?" he asked. "We'd just get another Democrat. We don't have anything against Bill and we certainly haven't got any chance to elect a Republican to the Senate in Arkansas."

Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., also critical of the Defense Department directive, said there is no politics in it as far as he is concerned.

"All I'm interested in is getting a change in this order, so that our military men can speak out about the menace of communism at home," he said.

However, GOP National Chairman William E. Miller said Republicans are going to keep on talking about the Fulbright meme because they don't think it is popular with the people to cut off discussions by service personnel of the threat of Communist infiltration.

Fraud at Banks Charged to Five

Institutions at Onaway, Kingston, Cheboygan Are Involved

BAY CITY (AP)—Five persons will be arraigned in Federal Court here Monday on charges of defrauding three Michigan banks, says Asst. Dist. Atty. A. G. Lippert Jr.

The five were indicted by a federal grand jury on July 31, Lippert said Tuesday. But the indictments were suppressed until the FBI had arrested all the principals, two of whom had left the state.

Charged with defrauding the Kingston State Bank of $69,912 through overdrafts in 1959 and 1960 are Duane E. Gettel, 34, former executive vice president of the Kingston Bank, and Wilmont J. Riley, 44, president of the now defunct Mariette-Kingston Enterprises, a trailer manufacturing firm.

Three indictments were returned in two other separate cases.

Franklin Kellogg, 36, a former employe of the Cheboygan State Savings Bank, and Kellogg's brother-in-law Harold E. Judd, president of the J. M. Steel Co. of Cheboygan, were charged with collusion in making unauthorized loans to avoid collection of interest.

Helen M. Precour, 24, former employe of the Onaway State Bank and now of Leslie, is charged with embezzling $3,517 from the Onaway bank between Feb. 4, 1959 and Aug. 19, 1960.

Riley was arrested in Jersey Shore, Pa., where he was working. Lippert said, and Kellogg was arrested at Santa Ana, Calif.

Gettel posted bond in Bay City while Judd and Miss Precour were bonded in Grand Rapids District Court. All five met $1,000 bonds.

Not the Sweetest Newsmen This Side of Heaven

NEW YORK (UPI)—Band leader Guy Lombardo says "opinionated" weather forecasts by radio and TV commentators are hurting resort business and he wants the Federal Communications Commission to investigate.

★ ★ ★

Lombardo, who produces the outdoor "Paradise Island" show at Jones Beach on Long Island, said today he took his complaint against "calamity howling" to FCC Chairman Newton H. Minow because of weather broadcasts last week.

He has not yet received a reply to the telegram he sent Minow.

★ ★ ★

The band leader said some New York commentators "predicted a horrible weekend" last Saturday and Sunday, and it did not even rain.

"The Weather Bureau didn't say it was going to be a horrible weekend," he noted.

N.J. Probers of Relief Rolls Report Big Pay

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Investigators of New Jersey's relief program for dependent children have discovered a family with 23 children—13 of them illegitimate.

★ ★ ★

Total payments to the Essex County family, which included $93 of Social Security, were $969 a month.

★ ★ ★

State Sen. Anthony J. Grossi, head of the legislative committee that has been making the investigation, said Tuesday he felt sure changes in the administration of relief would be proposed.

★ ★ ★

He told a news conference that it was too soon to determine the nature of the recommendations.

Reds Claim Pastor Victim of Bonn Plot

BERLIN (AP)—The East German Communists suggested today that Pastor Martin Niemoeller, seriously injured when he drove his car into a tree in Denmark, was the victim of a "cunningly disguised assassination attempt" by enemies in the West German government.

★ ★ ★

Referring to political differences the famous Lutheran clergyman had with West German authorities, the East German radio said of the accident Monday night strengthened suspicion that enemies in Bonn had tried to kill him.

★ ★ ★

Niemoeller is an outspoken opponent of German rearmament and heads the German Peace Society, the country's largest and most influential pacifist organization.

★ ★ ★

Niemoeller failed to make a turn while driving Monday night and crashed into a tree, killing his wife and housekeeper. Danish police said because they found neither skid marks nor signs he had applied his brakes, they thought he became ill just before the crash.

Quarrel Over Fence; Neighbor Shot Dead

DETROIT (AP)—A home owner in suburban St. Clair Shores was shot dead Tuesday night in what was described as the culmination of a long quarrel with his next-door neighbor over their property line.

Stephen Stamatakis, 39, was dead on arrival at a Mount Clemens hospital.

Milton R. Burkard, 33, was held for investigation of murder.

St. Clair Shores police said Burkard put up stakes and string with tags attached along the disputed property line Tuesday. Stamatakis' wife Lauren pulled them down, officers said.

This, according to police, caused an argument between the two men that ended when Burkard got his deer rifle and opened fire.

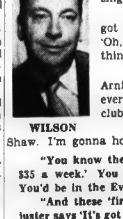
He'll Spoof Adjusters, Doctors on TV Show

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Alan King, "the Angry Young Comedian," goes on TV soon to blast those things we Americans hold dear — insurance adjusters, friendly loan companies, rude children (the neighbors') and "specialists."



WILSON

"I've got a beauty on the American Medical Association," Alan confided, discussing the "Alan King Show" to be done on CBS.

"You go to see a Dr. Jones when you've got something in your right eye. He says, 'Oh, you go to Dr. Smith. He specializes in things in right eyes. I only treat left eyes.'"

King and ace writers Coleman Jacoby and Arnie Rosen are dramatizing the beefs against everything that he's done so well in night clubs, theaters and at banquets.

"Most kids on TV talk like George Bernard Shaw. I'm gonna holler at my kids!" King warns.

"You know these ads — 'How I retired in Florida on $35 a week.' You ever tried to live in Florida on that? You'd be in the Everglades.

"And these 'fire or theft' insurance policies. The adjuster says 'It's got to be fire and theft.' You got to be robbed while your house is on fire."

Pretty Denise Lors'll play Alan's wife in the Sept. 18 show — sort of a pilot film which'll actually be an introduction to a series if all goes well.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Pedestrians claim that's Kim Novak strolling Broadway in cotton dress and curlers . . . Tony Franciosa and Judy Balaban will visit Princess Grace in Monte Carlo" (Judy was a bridesmaid) . . . Buddy Hackett will quit Hollywood for Palisades, N.J., where he has a veritable mansion, Sept. 1 — but he has numerous picture jobs coming up, including one in Italy . . . Fred Coe wants Liz Montgomery to co-star with husband Gig Young in "The Spiral Staircase" on TV — the first time they'd be acting together since the've been married.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Zany Comedian-Magician Doc Marcus was at a party when a waiter passed the knishes. Doc opened up one knish and — presto — pulled out a $20 bill. The waiter hurried off with the tray — and opened all the knishes looking for $20 bills.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "I have just two weeks to live," a fellow told Sam Pascal in Chicago, "because at the end of that time, my wife will be back from her vacation" . . . That's earl, brother.

Ironrite to Change Name to Dielectric Products

RAYMOND, Maine (AP — Ironrite, Inc., of Mount Clemens, Mich., plans to assume the name of a subsidiary which it has liquidated.

Stockholders will meet here Aug. 15 to act on a proposal that the company change its name to Dielectric Products Engineering Co.

In a proxy statement the firm said the electronic activities of the liquidated subsidiary "have become an increasingly important portion of the entire business activities" of Ironrite.

The firm expects to continue using the name "Ironrite" on ironers and accessories it manufactures, directors said.
