

Settle Woes Through U.N., Eisenhower Dares Nikita

ADDRESSES U. N. — President Eisenhower begins his speech to the U. N. General Assembly today in which he hurled a pointed challenge to the Soviet Union to join in immediate disarmament.

Asks They Help End Cold War

Tito Appeals to Neutrals

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia called on the noncommitted countries in the United Nations to play a greater role in ending the cold war.

Demanding peaceful coexistence in a world threatened by big power conflict, the Yugoslav chief of state said "we are attaching particular importance to the contribution that the so-called non-committed countries can make towards the betterment of international relations and as to the great role that the United Nations can and should play in this respect."

Speaking immediately after President Eisenhower, Tito announced that his country gave full and complete support to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's disarmament program unfolded a year ago in the U.N. General Assembly.

Tito also was the first to raise the question of Red China's admission to the United Nations.

Early in his lengthy statement he said he hoped that the U.N. would recognize Red China's right to a seat in the U.N.

In other statements he attacked what he called the revival of militarism in West Germany and called for an end to the five-year war in Algeria.

The Yugoslav chief, wearing a dark blue suit with a square-shaped white handkerchief in his breast pocket, told the assembly he had come to the U.N. for the first time "to contribute as much as possible to the ending of world tensions and to express our belief that the fifth hour has struck to embark on a new constructive course in international relations."

A huge ring flashed brilliantly on Tito's finger as he turned the pages of his speech. Khrushchev listened closely. When Tito mentioned the Congo, Khrushchev turned to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and smiled.

Pontiac Club to Campaign

Boys to Get Out Voters

The oft-discussed "young look" of this year's presidential campaign goes beyond youthful candidates.

Getting into the campaign today are 1,300 boys—members of the Pontiac Boys' Club.

None of them can vote, but the junior-grade, non-partisan politicians are planning a major campaign of their own.

Their object will be to get out the vote.

Many are already sporting buttons with slogans such as "I Can't but you can—Vote for the Party of Your Choice" and "We Are Pinning Our Future on You."

Crescy B. Larson, Boys' Club director, said the youths would seek maximum registration, discussion of issues, and voting throughout the community.

"Many of the methods stem from long-time political practices," Larson said. "Most are their own—and ingenious."

"Here, if it needed, is proof that our nation's youth can and will do an outstanding job, given proper example and opportunity," Larson added.

Being conducted as part of the community service and citizenship training programs at the Pontiac Boys' Club, the get-out-the-vote campaign is being sponsored by the Program Services and Public Information departments of the Boys' Clubs of America.

Most of the 500 Boys' Clubs and their 600,000 members will take an active part in the campaign.

Locally, club members will cooperate with groups such as the Oakland County APT-CIO Council and the League of Women Voters in passing-out literature urging citizens to register and vote.

Some will address school classes urging their friends to make sure their parents are registered. Next week the older boys will urge Pontiac voters to register by running a sound truck on city streets.

Others will form "ballot brigades" and help out at nonpartisan political discussions.

Which is not to say the boys won't get into the issues.

At the club, Larson said, there will be quiz-type programs about politics.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Hexter left in the middle of the Tito speech to attend a luncheon Eisenhower is giving for heads of 18 Latin-American countries.

Tito's speech was just two minutes under an hour. Tito received 13 seconds of applause when he took the rostrum.

Before the session began, Tito and Khrushchev met face to face for the first time in the assembly. They chatted and marched to their seats in the assembly. Tito sat directly behind Khrushchev in a rear row as Eisenhower spoke.

Khrushchev complained to Tito about his being confined to Manhattan.

"SMALL TERRITORY"

Speaking in Russian, Khrushchev said: "I have a small territory, so I have to come out in the corridors to take a walk."

The meeting in the corridors may have been a coincidence, but the general impression was that it had been prearranged.

Khrushchev and Tito met face to face for the first time. The two, professed enemies on grounds of Communist ideology, smiled, chatted.

Proposes U.N. Pledge to Let Africans Choose Own Way of Life

NEW YORK (UPI)—Highlights of President Eisenhower's speech at the United Nations today:

On the African question:

Eisenhower proposed that a pledge by all countries represented at the assembly respect the African peoples' right "to choose their own way of life and to determine for themselves the course they wish to follow."

"To refrain from intervening in the new nations' internal affairs—by subversion, force, propaganda or any other means."

"That the United Nations should be prepared to help the African countries maintain their security without wasteful and dangerous competition in armaments."

Eisenhower said "we should all support the United Nations response to emergency needs in the Republic of the Congo which the secretary general has shown such skill in organizing."

Challenges Him to Immediate Talks on N-Ban

Speech Outlines Plan for Inspection by the International Body

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — President Eisenhower today flung a formidable challenge at Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev: To work primarily through the United Nations in attacking the world's most dangerous problems and thus "build a structure of a true world community."

The President dared the U.S.S.R. to join in an immediate resumption of disarmament talks, with the aim of scrapping all nuclear weapons while U.N. inspection makes sure that outer space will not be used for war.

Representatives of 86 member nations of the U.N., in a historic General Assembly session, listened soberly as the President, in a firm and confident voice, pronounced U.S. intentions. He challenged Khrushchev, who listened intently with earphones.

To work for peaceful change in a swiftly changing world, with the U.N. in the guiding role:

To guarantee that outer space will not be used for mass destruction; To avoid claiming sovereignty over celestial bodies. The U.S.S.R. has already planted a Soviet flag by rock on the moon;

To resume immediately the efforts to reach agreements on arms control;

To launch a food-for-peace program throughout the world; and

To give substantial help to the emerging new nations of Africa.

LISTEN TO EISENHOWER — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko listen intently to President Eisenhower's address to the U. N. General Assembly this morning. In his speech the President challenged Russia to immediate arms ban talks.

President Gets K's Attention

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Throughout President Eisenhower's 41-minute address Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev listened with the utmost attention. He blinked rapidly, but at times seemed frozen into motionlessness, lips pressed together, hands folded in his lap.

When the President mentioned the incident of the U.S. RB4 plane which Washington says was shot down by the Soviets over international waters, Khrushchev lifted his head and gazed at the speaker speculatively.

When Eisenhower finished his speech, the delegates applauded briefly, remaining in their seats. Khrushchev and the Communist block refrained from applauding.

The President left by a door behind the podium immediately upon completion of his address.

Yugoslavia's Communist President Tito came to the stage to make his speech. He had just had his first meeting of this session with Khrushchev, who professed to look upon him as a heretic Communist.

Eisenhower's Address Puts Nikita on the Spot

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Eisenhower's unqualified endorsement today of the United Nations and its secretary general, Dag Hammarskjöld, in meat and drink for the Afro-Asian nations but poison for Nikita Khrushchev.

Further, the President deliberately played down the big cold war issues with which the Afro-Asians want no part. The President's proposal for a five-point aid program for the emerging African nations to be carried out by the United Nations, coupled with his moderate approach, put Khrushchev on the spot.

The President left it to the Soviet leader whether he also will follow the line of reason or seek further to inflame the world situation with bitter attacks against the United States.

Khrushchev himself so far has given little hint of the line he will take.

In his doctored appearance after his arrival in New York and in his belated appearance at the Soviet's U.N. headquarters on Park Avenue he has in general followed the line that:

He is for disarmament. He is against war. He is for the United Nations.

He also has implied that all the things he is for, the United States and its Allies are against.

Therefore, while the Russian leader scarcely can quarrel publicly with the aims of the President's aid program, there are other points which he may attack or deride.

These would include the President's proposal that standby plans be made for a U.N. emergency force which would act in troubled areas, and the President's offer to supply means of transport.

After the formalities, House and Senate Republicans and Democrats caucused separately. All eyes were on the GOP Senate huddle which held a potential veto power.

The Democratic governor, after a second bipartisan huddle with legislative leaders Wednesday night, called for prompt "reasonable first steps" to bring new or improved medical services to the neediest of an estimated 600,000 Michigan men and women over 65.

Ultimately, he said in a special message to the lawmakers, 400,000 of them should be brought under some form of health program.

Sen. Carlton H. Morris of Kalamazoo, a spokesman for conservative Republicans, said "nobody knows what this thing is all about."

Pontiac Trail Plane Crash Kills 2 Men

Two 30-year-old area residents died in the flames of a burning plane yesterday after it crashed on the shoulder of Pontiac Trail near New Hudson Airport.

Killed were Frederick J. Treganowan of 11338 McCabe Road, Brighton, and Arthur M. Walker of 53510 Grand River Road, New Hudson.

Walker, the pilot, had obtained his license only two weeks ago, according to the operator of the airport, Lloyd Beaudin of 87781 Pontiac Trail, New Hudson.

The plane was rented from the airport.

Beaudin told Brighton state police that the two men were still alive after the plane crashed. He attempted to save them, but flames from the burning plane held him back, he said.

News Flashes

NEW YORK (AP) — The city police commissioner asked the State Department today to protest to the Soviet Union against "outrageous behavior" by the top Russian security officer here. He charged that Gen. Nikolai Zharov assaulted two policemen Tuesday.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Nine of 17 Alcatraz convicts who have languished in isolation since a all-down strike ended Sept. 14 were found with their Achilles tendons superficially slashed last night.

HELD IN RIFLE INCIDENT — An Hungarian alien, Julius Maar, 56, of New York City, is held in a Manhattan police station today after he had been seized carrying an unloaded rifle within a short distance of President Eisenhower's passing motorcade. Patrolman Thomas Casey, who grabbed the man, displays the rifle. The suspect said he was only taking the weapon to a gunsmith to have the stock lengthened. Police are inclined to believe his story. However, he will be charged with failing as an alien to have a permit for his rifle.

Area Dem Hints Political Firing

Johnson Feels He Lost His Job at Chrysler Due to Party Choice

An unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Oakland County's congressional seat has hinted that he was discharged from his labor relations post with Chrysler Corp. because of his political activity.

But Ralph T. Johnson's former boss, Gervid Atkinson, manager of corporate labor relations, denied this. He said Johnson, 37, of 1231 Woodvale St., Oak Park, was dismissed because his work was "not up to par."

Johnson, now employed with the Michigan Corporation & Securities Commission in Detroit, had claimed earlier that he was asked to get out of politics three weeks before the Aug. 3 primary by Atkinson and Thomas W. Miner, his immediate superior.

"He was never asked to resign or get out of politics," Miner said.

Johnson was dismissed a week ago as a labor negotiator, a post he had held the last four of his nine years with Chrysler.

Although he admitted that his employers did not suggest he was working for the wrong party, Johnson said "it is no personal feeling it would have been different had I been a Republican candidate."

"We're not concerned with politics at Chrysler," Atkinson said.

Johnson simply wasn't doing a good job and we felt he would be more likely to improve if he did not divide his time between political activity and the job."

"He worked under four different supervisors and each one turned in reports of unsatisfactory work on him. He perhaps was just in the wrong line of work," Atkinson said.

Delay President's Car to Avoid Soviet Parade

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower's motorcade through the city for the United Nations was delayed eight minutes today — so there would be no possible conflict with another motorcade carrying Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

chev occasionally made comment to Gromyko. Khrushchev himself is said to have some sort of "dramatic new proposal" to make.

The hall was jammed with diplomats and correspondents from all over the world. There was no space for the public; which is barred from U.N. grounds for security reasons. Among the assembly listeners were a dozen heads of government.

In effect, the assembly had become a sort of forum at the summit — though not quite the summit conference of all U.N. nations which Khrushchev had sought.

There are no plans for Eisenhower and Khrushchev to meet although the Soviet leader may confer eventually with Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, who is expected next week.

newly developing African countries to shape their long-term modernization program.

BOOST EDUCATION — An all-out effort should be made by the United Nations to help African countries launch such educational activities as they may wish to undertake.

On Asia, Latin America and the Middle East:

The United Nations "should carry forward and intensify our program of assistance for the economic and social development of Asia, the Middle East and Latin America."

On other space:

The United Nations "should agree that celestial bodies are not subject to national appropriation by any claims of sovereignty and that the nations of the world should not engage in warlike activities on these bodies."

On disarmament:

"Negotiations can and should be resumed on disarmament."

The United States is prepared to submit to any international inspection, provided only that it is effective and truly reciprocal."

On nuclear weapons:

Eisenhower proposed that the nations "pursue a series of steps to develop a system for terminating, under verification procedures, all production of fissionable materials for weapons purposes."

The terminations would take effect as soon as the agreed inspection system has been installed and is operating effectively, while progress in other disarmament fields is also being sought.

United States officials "are willing to meet immediately with representatives of other countries for a preliminary exchange of views on these proposals."

Lassiter Judge Delays Hearing on Quitting Case

Wayne County Circuit Judge Joseph C. Rashid yesterday postponed until Monday a hearing on the case of Mrs. Lillian Lassiter, who is suing her husband for desertion.

The case was brought by Mrs. Lassiter's attorney, Joseph W. Loo, who was appearing in another case at the time.

Attorneys for the pair have argued that Judge Rashid displayed prejudice against three men now serving life terms for the actual murder trial of Mrs. Lassiter's husband, Parvin (Bill) Lassiter, April 6, 1959.

The Beverly Hills widow and Watson, Lassiter's former business partner, are accused of arranging the killing.

Pickets Protest Louisiana Law in Ike's Presence

NEW YORK (UPI) — Six Negroes in multi-colored robes picketed outside the Waldorf-Astoria during President Eisenhower's arrival today protesting a Louisiana law cutting off relief payments to illegitimate children.

One bore a sign saying "The where is the food for 23,000 starving black children in Louisiana?"

The group, four men, one woman and one child, said they were on the Committee for President New.

The Day in Birmingham

1,781 Various Meetings Offered in School Year

BIRMINGHAM—Residents here, yearning for something to do in spare time, had an opportunity to attend at least 10 meetings every day of the 1959-60 school year, according to figures released today by the Birmingham Public Schools.

During the past school year 1,781 meetings were held in Birmingham schools after 6 p.m. (Noted Asst. Supt. Norman Wolfe, who compiled the information.

The selection ranged from a seventh grade dance to a discussion of great books in an adult education class and from a committee meeting to a mass meeting to discuss a community issue.

He estimated that the total attendance of students and adults using the schools after hours was a minimum 30,000.

The meetings, Wolfe said, were scheduled on a basis of 541 building permits requested by various groups. Of the total, 1,553 meetings representing 412 requests were scheduled free of charge according to the Board of Education policy.

Paid permits totaled 84 and produced $4,588 in fees.

The Recreation Department originated 44 requests. He said fees normally charged in this instance represent a part of the Board of Education's contribution to the department's budget.

Leading the buildings in number of scheduled meetings was Seasholm High School with 231, followed by Pembroke School with 132 and Pierce School with 131.

"Judging by the requests received so far, we should establish a new record this year," Wolfe said.

Mrs. George W. Ford Service for Mrs. George (Ida) W. Ford, 96, of 4295 W. Maple Road, will be 3 p.m. Saturday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Acadia Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Ford died yesterday in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, after an illness of several months.

And Do Those People Attack!

Kennedy Clan's Really an Army

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — To paraphrase an old saw about the poor, the Lord must love the Kennedys, because he made so many of them. Not only are 13 Kennedys running on the Democratic ticket in Massachusetts—to cash in on the distinguished name of presidential candidate John F. Kennedy—but a dozen members of his own family are running their legs off to help elect Jack.

Bemused women at hundreds of coffee klatches across the country seem to have trouble keeping the Kennedy women straight in their minds. This is understandable.

For instance, the reason Pat Kennedy Lawford, who lives in California, flew down from New York to attend a Washington benefit was the other day was because Ethel Kennedy, who was supposed to be the guest of honor, was campaigning in Chicago, since Eunice Kennedy Shriver, who lives in Chicago and was scheduled to be there, was campaigning in Ohio, instead. Get it? Ethel, the wife of Jack's campaign manager Bobby Kennedy, was standing in a receiving line in Chicago when an 80-year-old woman gripped her hand, and cooed: "My dear, I haven't seen you since you gave that Embassy lawn party in London before the war. I can't remember which of your sons were there, but I do remember Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose."

Recalling the incident later, Ethel, who is 81 but looks 50, chuckled: "I was so dumbfounded at being taken for Jack's mother that I couldn't speak. Maybe it's just as well, and I think it does no harm to let them get me mixed up."

These sisters and sisters-in-law of the hard-hitting Massachusetts senator are truly gallant gals, to work as hard as they do for this family project.

Ethel, who has seven children under nine years of age, and Joan, who married young Teddy Kennedy and has a new baby, spent four days of last week campaigning in Chicago. Joan is now tramping the grass-roots of California with her husband, and Ethel, who had to fly to New York one day this week, returns there Sunday for a full week of stumping in the Empire State.

As Ethel explained it: "We're supposed to be one week on and one week off, but we seldom get that much time off."

What they are doing may sound glamorous to a few stay-at-homes, but exhausts the rest of us just to think about. Consider, for instance, this typical day for the multimillionaire ladies last week:

Joan and Ethel (who were staying at Eunice's home while she was working (his) across at 8:30 a.m., and arrived at the first of four coffee klatches at 10 a.m.

They stood for nearly two hours shaking hands before moving on to the second party at noon.

After two more hours of standing—with a personal smile on their aching faces—they snatched a half-hour for lunch and reached the next coffee-hour at 2:30 p.m. The last one of the day was held at 4:30 p.m., in still another stranger's home in Chicago.

They then returned to the car and rode for nearly two hours "at between 70 and 80 miles an hour," Ethel said, to Rockford, Ill., and a Kennedy-for-president reception here, needless to say, they stood and shook hands for another hour or so.

Pat, wife of movie actor Peter Lawford, has meanwhile been touring the bookings with fast-traveling brother Jack, while their mother has been campaigning in the Bronx and environs.

Brother Robert has been addressing domes of closed-door sessions around the country, to enlist top level support for Jack's presidential drive, at the same time that brother Ted has been concentrating his efforts on the Far West.

The only way to earn a reputation in this amazing family was to stand pregnancy, or become too controversial. The candidate's father, former Ambassador to Britain Joseph P. Kennedy, is so liberally being kept out of the campaign because of his well-known views, which so many humans are diametrically opposed to those of his famous son's.

Jack's wife Jackie, and his sister Jean Kennedy Smith were excluded from the campaign to increase the tribal numbers. Jackie will mainly be out for the duration, but Jean produced a bouncing baby boy 10 days ago.

If I know the Kennedy clan, they'll have Jean back on the stump well before election day. Lolling around the house when votes can be won does not come naturally to this frenetic political dynasty.

Kennedy Names Campaign Plane

WITH KENNEDY IN TENNESSEE (P-M), John F. Kennedy's private plane has a name now—Carolins, after his 8½-year old daughter.

The plane, a two-engine Convair owned by the family of the Democratic presidential nominee, sported the name on its nose for the first time Wednesday as Kennedy started a 10-day campaign tour of 14 states.

The plane hereafter has been known informally as simply "the mother ship," the No. 1 aircraft of the Kennedy aerial entourage.

Will More Americans Vote This November?

Federal authorities estimate that there will be 107 million American citizens of voting age when election day rolls around. For obvious reasons, all of these won't be eligible or even registered.

Four years ago, there were approximately 102 million potential Americans who could cast a ballot.

Only 62 million did. The rest stayed home.

With greater interest in the current election and a ding-dong battle in progress, we should do appreciably better in 1960. There are many, many countries around the globe where 100 million citizens would form a ground swell to reach the polls.

Here, too many are indifferent. They merely yawn.

The possibility of a stiff penalty for a failure to vote has often been discussed in this country. A financial assessment is one consideration and disenfranchisement for a period of years is another.

If a U. S. citizen were told he couldn't vote for five years as a penalty for his current failure, it might dispel some of the lethargy and produce gratifying results at the polls.

Project HOPE Is Doing Excellent Job

When most trends are toward more government sponsored programs, it is encouraging to note that American industry, organized labor and the general public joined forces to launch the SS HOPE.

HOPE is sending a fully staffed and equipped medical training center to Southeast Asia. Carrying a permanent staff of physicians, nurses and technicians, and with a rotating group of additional doctors flying out to the ship on four-month tours, the Project will take many of the modern medical techniques devised in the U. S.

Primary emphasis will be placed on teaching local medical people so they can diagnose and treat their patients more effectively, and can pass on newly acquired knowledge to others. The hospital ship will visit those countries to which it has been invited and the host country will be expected to take on a good deal of the responsibility.

The $3.5 million needed to equip the ship for the first year is raised through donations from individuals, groups, and corporations. Under the leadership of Ernest R. Breech, Director of the Finance Committee of Ford Motor Co., more than 50 top business leaders across the country are seeking support for HOPE in their respective industries.

Organized labor has brought its backing to the Project as well. George Meany, President of AFL-CIO, accepted an appointment to the HOPE board a few months ago and has strongly urged union members to support the Project.

Korea and Japan Agree on Resuming Relations

The new government of South Korea is well aware of the desirability of trade with Japan and is taking measures to correct the Rhee policy of isolationism. In Seoul, foreign ministers of both countries have reached an accord.

Dr. Rhee never forgave the Japanese for their 35-year occupation of Korea and for the 13 years he was in power he succeeded in keeping the countries apart. No Japanese was allowed to visit South Korea. Japan's publications and movies were barred and trade finally cut off.

Last year Rhee threatened war when Japan allowed reparations to Communist North Korea of Korean nationals in Japan who desired to go there. A 80 mile limit off South Korea was decreed for Japanese fishermen.

Wiser Korean leaders know that trade with Japan is vital and that cooperation in the free world defense strengthens mutual security. The American taxpayer, who keeps South Korea going, also is cheered by the new Korean attitude.

"Nice View You Have Here, Sam"

David Lawrence Asks:

How Do Candidates Stand on War?

WASHINGTON—There is really only one underlying issue in the presidential campaign, and neither candidate seems to have come to grips with it yet. It's whether the United States is going to get in a war that will make necessary tremendous sacrifices of life.

Judging by the speeches and essays that emanate from certain quarters, the United States has "lost prestige" throughout the world. Everything is said to be the fault of the Eisenhower administration—whether it's the antics of Lumumba, or the erratic behavior of Khrushchev, or the crude maneuvering of Nasser or the crude outbursts of Castro, to say nothing of the student riots in Japan.

The charge is made that, if a Democratic administration had been in power in Washington, none of this present-day trouble would have happened, or else, if there is a change of administration now, such episodes would not occur again. But how are they going to be prevented?

Those in Congress, for instance, who argue that American "prestige" has never sunk lower, or those who write the Democratic platform at Los Angeles and add the same thing, must have some idea of how that "lost prestige" is going to be recovered.

The usual argument made is that "bold and imaginative ideas" will do the job. But Castro isn't interested in rhetoric, except when he is exhibiting his own brand for hours on Haynes television.

EDUCATION LAGS Another point is made that the United States hasn't spent enough money for education and for more classrooms, and that more funds should be allocated for social programs.

The Communists, of course, have a regulated economy and it is their duty to educate and train, then they ought to make it clear to the American people.

From every side the chorus of critics cries out that the President is responsible for every advance made by the Communists in Africa, Asia and Latin America.

Even if this were true—which nobody who really examines the facts would concede—what is being proposed to send our "prestige" upward again?

Is the United States to order an army of its own into Cuba to deal with Castro? Is that the way to "win friends and influence people" in Latin America?

The Eisenhower administration lately has proposed to lend or spend around $500 million in Latin America, and there's a plan to spend another such sum in Africa.

"BUYING GOOD WILL"

Yet the critics say this is "buying good will." They go so far as to say that America should give the money in the U.N. or in some other international organization to distribute, so it will not have the onus of being known as American money.

This isn't likely to be a very convincing argument to the average taxpayer in America, but if that's what is to be done, it is desirable to let the American people know whether that is being planned by Sen. Kennedy if he wins.

What the voter really wants to know now is by what magic device America is going to beat Khrushchev and his gang without emphasizing the "military sector" or actually going to war to force the Communists out of the areas they have invaded—from Laos to the Middle East, and from Central Africa to Cuba and other Latin American countries.

To plunge the United States into war to recover "lost prestige" is unthinkable.

Yet, rightly or wrongly, the impression is being given that some military force will be employed to put the Communists in their place if Kennedy is elected.

President Eisenhower's formula has been patience and restraint, and it would be easier to make gains by that process if some political party spokesman would stop giving aid and comfort to the common enemy.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Our Ultra-Refined Diet Means a Calcium Lack

Steele's Textbook of Physiology, published many years ago, said that in youth the proportion of animal and mineral matter in the human body is nearly half and half, while in advanced age, the mineral is greatly in excess.

This was a mistake. Howells' textbook of Physiology published about 24 years ago, said "there is some evidence that the amount of calcium in the tissues increases with age. This is certainly true of the bones, which become more brittle in advanced life, and is stated also for the arteries"—there you have a fine example of what's wrong with medical literature.

That "is stated" trick is characteristic—a sneaky way to propagate an idea or suggestion without either assuming responsibility for it, or telling who made the statement.

Then "medical science" is not scientific, and medical literature confused.

Most of the three pounds of calcium in the body of a healthy adult is in the bones and teeth. The bones and teeth serve as a kind of storehouse of calcium, upon which the other tissues draw when, for any reason, the daily intake of calcium is inadequate to meet the requirements of function, work, play and growth.

That most of us get insufficient calcium from our ultra-refined diet is now well recognized. That everyone needs enough vitamin D daily to insure absorption and utilization of calcium is well known, at least to physiologists, nutritionists and biological chemists.

But both medical and dental practitioners, for the most part, still regard the bones and teeth as unalterable in composition and having no metabolism, so no constant chemical change, such as other tissues or organs have.

This nineteenth century notion explains why so many dentists still utter such childish maxims as: "A clean tooth never decays."

It explains, too, why so many physicians still tell credulous people that "too much" they never specify how much that would be calcium may make the bones brittle, the arteries hard and the joints stiff.

As Sherman and other authorities have shown, the ordinary American diet is more deficient in calcium than in any other element. As a result says Ross— "The Patient Part Fifth," adults experience a steady long—continued loss of calcium through the years. This does not become superficially manifest because the great calcium stores in the bones constantly make up for the calcium losses in the blood and tissues.

As a result of this constant depletion, the bones become poor in calcium and more fragile.

When the bones (and, I believe, the teeth) become very poor in calcium, softer, lighter, more fragile, the condition is called osteoporosis. "Osteoporosis of the aged," says Ross, "may be the result of a dietary fault and not an inevitable accompaniment of aging."

"It is difficult if not impossible," says Brady, "to get enough calcium to keep you in good physical condition unless you consume a minimum of 1½ pints, three glasses, of whole milk, skim milk or buttermilk every day. In one way or another, get sufficient vitamin D to insure assimilation and utilization of the calcium in milk."

Signed letters and more than one page or 100 words letter pertaining to health and life, and so on, are accepted, and treatment, with no charge, is given. This is a free service. Send your letter to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Wives Can Help Curb Impotency

Alfred's demand for twin beds is a smoke screen. He hopes to divert his wife's attention from his secret fear of impotence.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE Case F-476: Alfred W., aged 43, is an insurance executive.

"Dr. Crane, he has been the most wonderful husband," his wife informed me. "But a few weeks ago he suddenly told me he didn't love me any more."

"He says he is infatuated with a 22-year-old stenographer at the office."

"I started when he was telling my parents over the weekend about a month ago. Alfred took this girl home and told her how he loved her."

"He never even kissed her! But ever since then he has been going around in a fog."

"He doesn't seem to know what he does want. I was angry and hurt and offered him a divorce. He refused."

"Now he says I am ashamed of him, so he stays away from home, though he has been most active there. Last night he suggested that we get twin beds. Should I do so, Dr. Crane?"

SMOKE SCREENS Alfred is a menopausal male. He has been married for 20 years, and his sexual ardor is not as great now as it was the first year of marriage.

That is not unusual, for the edge of our appetite may be slightly dulled as we grow older. But, like most other men, Alfred begins to grow panicky. He is afraid of premature old age. For several years he has vaguely been conscious of this reduction in his ardor toward his wife.

Soon after marriage, husband and wife become pleasantly addicted to an affectionate plan that is often and very different from that of a fond brother and sister.

Only when they visit a romantic movie occasionally do they again resurrect the additional ardor that changes them back into a "sweetheart" couple.

IF SKULLS WERE GLASS If the skull were only made of glass and a man's thoughts were so transparent to his wife, she could avoid most of the quarrels and pitfalls of marriage.

But all the wife sees may be a few symptoms of a deep seated conflict. Her husband's mind is a psychological detective, there is a reason, and learns how to get to the core of the trouble, she also will create valuable time.

But it may drop to a 1:1 ratio after 40. This reduction is so obvious it frightens the average male.

In order to prevent this disastrous result, the intelligent wife must consciously change from her husband's passive role and gradually become more aggressive.

She must also deliberately cultivate seductive traits. She must use more cosmetics and perfume, dress in more colorful and colorful

In Agreement With Court to Hold Hospitals Liable

It was with great interest that I learned from reading The Pontiac Press that the Michigan Supreme Court set aside the ancient rule of law that has allowed charitable nonprofit organizations and hospitals immunity in damage suits based on the negligence of employees.

Under the former ruling, patients in charitable, nonprofit hospitals could be permanently injured, or suffer death, and have no legal recourse against the offending hospital and its agents.

The former ruling was against all logic and justice.

I have, for a long time, urged members of the State Legislature to enact a law which would abolish the immunity rule, believing that if this were done, a ceiling could be placed on the total amount of the judgment that could be rendered. By the Supreme Court decision a judgment can be as large as proper amount.

Some persons believe that donations to hospitals will suffer and the costs to the patient of hospital care will increase as a result of this decision. I believe this is hollow reasoning. Donations can still be made for special purposes so that they would not be subject to the judgment and the cost of insurance is not so prohibitive that it should be reflected in increased hospital bills to the patients.

Certainly, the advantages far outweigh the disadvantages and the public good would seem to be served.

It is amusing, yet sad to watch Norman Vincent Peale squirm under the power of his own negative thinking about the coming election. I feel certain that he will be a lot happier concentrating on sweet and innocuous thoughts and avoiding the controversial.

What brings us to the thought that many Protestant clergy are indulging in a disgraceful orgy of bigotry without realizing in their innocence that hangs over follow orders. They are using their pulpits to make his innocence. Their objection to a Catholic president, they say, is based on their fear that Catholic priests will tell their parishioners how to vote and the church will exert undue influence in our country.

Is this not a case where we Protestant clergy need to practice what we preach?

Only when they visit a romantic movie occasionally do they again resurrect the additional ardor that changes them back into a "sweetheart" couple.

IF SKULLS WERE GLASS If the skull were only made of glass and a man's thoughts were so transparent to his wife, she could avoid most of the quarrels and pitfalls of marriage.

But all the wife sees may be a few symptoms of a deep seated conflict. Her husband's mind is a psychological detective, there is a reason, and learns how to get to the core of the trouble, she also will create valuable time.

But it may drop to a 1:1 ratio after 40. This reduction is so obvious it frightens the average male.

In order to prevent this disastrous result, the intelligent wife must consciously change from her husband's passive role and gradually become more aggressive.

"Nice View You Have Here, Sam"

David Lawrence Asks:

How Do Candidates Stand on War?

WASHINGTON—There is really only one underlying issue in the presidential campaign, and neither candidate seems to have come to grips with it yet. It's whether the United States is going to get in a war that will make necessary tremendous sacrifices of life.

Judging by the speeches and essays that emanate from certain quarters, the United States has "lost prestige" throughout the world. Everything is said to be the fault of the Eisenhower administration—whether it's the antics of Lumumba, or the erratic behavior of Khrushchev, or the crude maneuvering of Nasser or the crude outbursts of Castro, to say nothing of the student riots in Japan.

The charge is made that, if a Democratic administration had been in power in Washington, none of this present-day trouble would have happened, or else, if there is a change of administration now, such episodes would not occur again. But how are they going to be prevented?

Those in Congress, for instance, who argue that American "prestige" has never sunk lower, or those who write the Democratic platform at Los Angeles and add the same thing, must have some idea of how that "lost prestige" is going to be recovered.

The usual argument made is that "bold and imaginative ideas" will do the job. But Castro isn't interested in rhetoric, except when he is exhibiting his own brand for hours on Haynes television.

EDUCATION LAGS Another point is made that the United States hasn't spent enough money for education and for more classrooms, and that more funds should be allocated for social programs.

The Communists, of course, have a regulated economy and it is their duty to educate and train, then they ought to make it clear to the American people.

From every side the chorus of critics cries out that the President is responsible for every advance made by the Communists in Africa, Asia and Latin America.

Even if this were true—which nobody who really examines the facts would concede—what is being proposed to send our "prestige" upward again?

Is the United States to order an army of its own into Cuba to deal with Castro? Is that the way to "win friends and influence people" in Latin America?

The Eisenhower administration lately has proposed to lend or spend around $500 million in Latin America, and there's a plan to spend another such sum in Africa.

"BUYING GOOD WILL"

Yet the critics say this is "buying good will." They go so far as to say that America should give the money in the U.N. or in some other international organization to distribute, so it will not have the onus of being known as American money.

This isn't likely to be a very convincing argument to the average taxpayer in America, but if that's what is to be done, it is desirable to let the American people know whether that is being planned by Sen. Kennedy if he wins.

What the voter really wants to know now is by what magic device America is going to beat Khrushchev and his gang without emphasizing the "military sector" or actually going to war to force the Communists out of the areas they

Urges Legal Backing for All Osteopaths

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The President of the American Osteopathic Association said Monday that professional relationships with medical doctors are improving quickly but that the nation needs a law that would open hospital doors to all.

Dr. J. Harvey of Midland said at the 61st convention of the Kansas Osteopathic Association that osteopathic and medical physicians practice side by side in many hospitals, especially tax-supported ones.

Osteopaths practice together with medical doctors at 59 hospitals in Kansas, including the University of Kansas Medical Center here. They also can study at the medical center.

A 1957 Kansas law gave osteopaths equal status on a healing arts board and provides the same examinations and licenses as given to medical doctors. Dr. I. E. Nick-rell of Smith Center explained.

Dr. Nickrell was a member of the Kansas Legislature 14 years.

to her.

Those who know Mrs. Eisenhower say she sometimes buys a frock for under $10. Her propensity for buying costume jewelry in five-and-dime stores is well known.

Of course, the First Lady has some very expensive gowns. She has heavy social obligations as hostess to visiting royalty and heads of state.

Next Tuesday, for example, she will entertain at a state dinner for Crown Prince Akihito and Princess Michiko of Japan.

The First Lady likes hats, bright colors and dark stockings. No one at the White House, however, cared to inject Mrs. Eisenhower into a political quarrel by estimating how much she spends a year on clothes.

Wants Guinea, Ghana Troops Out
Mobutu Threatens Action Against 'Internal Meddling'

LEOPOLDVILLE, THE Congo (AP)—Congo strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu has put forth a veiled threat to take action unless the U. N. command withdraws troops of Ghana and Guinea.

The youthful military ruler charged these African troops, who have been protecting deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba, with meddling in Congo internal affairs.

Mobutu warned that if the Ghanaian and Guinean troops are not pulled out of the Congo "it will become a problem for our general staff." He did not elaborate.

Ghana has about 2,500 troops in the U. N. task force, Guinea about 600.

Ghanaian President Kwame Nkrumah said on arrival in New York Wednesday night for the U. N. General Assembly that he had not heard of Mobutu's demand. Nkrumah emphasized that he still regarded Lumumba as the legitimate premier of the Congo.

Mobutu who proclaimed a form of military rule a week ago, has been frustrated by Guinea and Ghanaian forces from taking Lumumba into custody.

U. N. officials apparently feel they would be open to Communist charges of partisanship if they allowed Lumumba to be turned over to Mobutu.

When Mobutu announced he was "neutralizing" the politicians, Lumumba ran for cover and was believed to have been given refuge by the Guinea diplomatic mission.

MOBUTU IN CHARGE

Emerging from his hideout last weekend, Lumumba moved back into his old official residence behind a shield of Ghana troops and began issuing orders.

But Mobutu appeared in command, supported by the bulk of the Congolese army.

Lumumba was believed to have given up his attempt to get New York to present his case to the U. N. General Assembly. A U. S. Embassy spokesman said Lumumba aides inquired three days ago about getting visas. They were told to submit their passports to the embassy but have not done so.

While Leopoldville was quiet outside of the political maneuvering, a skirmish between U. N. troops and African tribesmen was reported in southern Kasai Province. The U. N. command said no U. N. soldiers were hurt but the tribesmen suffered casualties before fleeing.

Vienna Famous for Exquisite Art in Its Glassware

VIENNA (UPI) — This central European capital has acquired world reputation for its happy-go-lucky life, its music and waltzes, its beautiful women—but also for its glass.

World famous glass firms, dating back for more than a century, have produced exquisite glass products here.

The Hapsburg emperors, Balkan kings and masters of the American aristocracy once were the chief customers.

Diplomats, Arabian oil magnates and Western industrialists today purchase the products of the famous glass firms, all of them situated on the swank thoroughfares of downtown Vienna.

The fashion and style of glassware may have changed with the times, but the first glass craftsmanship has remained a "must" for Vienna glassware.

The firms proudly refuse to deal with mass products; they specialize in individual glassware. Their creations are works of art and produced only once—and for one customer only.

The Nile River basin in Egypt produces a bale of cotton per acre. In the U. S. about 25 acres are required to produce a bale of the same size and gross weight.

BEN TIN TIN TRAINER DIES—Lee Duncan, 67, who found a puppy in a World War I trench and made it Rin Tin Tin, an American institution, died Wednesday at his ranch in Riverside, Calif. Rebuff Cubans on Plan to Chastise Physicians

BERLIN (AP)—A Cuban Medical Association Wednesday headed by Health Minister Jose Ventura Machado walked out of the assembly of the World Medical Association in the Congo.

Stranger Borrows Car to Get to Train Station

DARTON, Conn.—Mrs. Mary Goodyear got a strange phone call. A man told her he had to get to the train station in Stamford, so he had borrowed her car.

Police went to the station and found the auto undamaged.

As the man said, the car was nowhere to be found—so police assumed he caught his train.

Greeting Could Shatter Friendship and Window

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI)—Someone sent a note to George Russo which said: "Couldn't stop to say hello, so greetings anyway."

The note was enclosed in a milk bottle which was thrown at Russo's house, shattering a $175 picture window.

Should we have let ourselves be killed?" asked Dr. C. L. Kettelant of the Belgian Medical Federation.

The Cubans proposed that the assembly condemn Belgian physicians who "abandoned their patients" in the Congo during the July disturbances.

Many of the physicians at the 14th general assembly joined in heckling the Cubans. The resolution was rejected by all except Cuba.

The Cubans walked out amid murmurs from other delegates annoyed at the introduction of political issues. No Soviet bloc countries were represented.

Boland's a Fighting Irishman

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U. P.)

A strong-willed Irishman has been selected as the ringmaster of the difficult session of the U.N. General Assembly that is ahead. He has had plenty of experience cracking the whip.

Frederick A. Boland, a portly, ruddy-faced and thoroughly professional diplomat whose quick smile conceals a biting tongue, was expected to be elected president of the assembly at its opening. He has steadily rounded up votes during four years as Ireland's ambassador here demonstrating that Ireland takes orders from no one.

Boland first came to prominence at the United Nations two years ago as chairman of the assembly's Trusteeship Committee—an especially argumentative group that was the main U.N. forum for debate on Africa.

That experience won Boland friends and votes in Africa, one of the major topics of the 1960 assembly session and a prime target of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's campaign here this year.

Running the committee also gave Boland hard experience in checking boisterous U.N. meetings.

THEY TOOK THE LINE

With Boland as chairman, the Trusteeship Committee ran on schedule, or close to it, for the first time in years.

FREDERICK A. BOLAND

When African speakers began long-winded speeches, he threatened to call a night meeting. The committee quickly got back to business.

Every few days he was extremely sharp in calling to order one of the colonial countries like Britain or France. Then it he wanted to keep representatives of their former colonies in order, no one could call him unfair.

Born in Dublin on Nov. 11, 1904, Boland attended Trinity College, a Dublin school known as a breeding ground for Irish revolutionaries. After graduating from law school, he won a fellowship in the United States and attended Harvard and the Universities of Chicago and North Carolina.

In the summer of 1927, he bought a jalopy and visited almost every state in the Union, camping out at night.

Start Work on Bridge at Sault Ste. Marie

SAULT STE. MARIE (U. P.)—Construction work began on the proposed Sault Ste. Marie International Bridge Tuesday.

The first of the contractors for the span, the Massman Construction Co. of Kansas City, Mo., arrived early this week and set to work on a $2 million foundation and substructure contract for the American side of the bridge.

R. D. Bleich, job supervisor for Massman, said the contractor would be hiring some 70 to 80 local skilled and unskilled laborers for the project.

Ground breaking ceremonies were held Friday on both sides of the St. Marys River.

Florida is a major cattle state as well as being a top producer of fruits and vegetables.

FBI Probes 'Violence' at Steel Union Confab

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—An FBI investigation is reported under way today into conventional session violence between factions vying for control of the millions-member United Steelworkers Union.

One faction complained to the Labor Department in Washington that "a reign of terror" at the convention made even elementary Democratic processes impossible.

It said it received a reply Wednesday night the matter had been referred to the Justice Department for an FBI probe.

This faction, headed by Donald C. Rarick, McKeesport, Pa., contender for the top union post held by President David J. McDonald, blamed two clandestine heating incidents on McDonald "goons."

But McDonald, calling Rarick "an absolute confounded liar," said he was deliberately playing "two-bit politics" to provoke trouble and attract attention.

'CONVENTION STACKED'
Rarick claimed his "organization for membership rights" is seeking to restore democracy to the union and he said the convention is stacked with union payroll men loyal to McDonald.

Rarick was himself beaten Wednesday in a fracas near the Atlantic City convention hall as a man identified as George Elliott, a Bessemer, Ala., union staff representative, got a bloodied nose.

Scores of delegates to the convention pushed and shoved around the participants. Many were floored before, order was restored.

In a similar incident, a Rarick supporter was beaten at the convention hall Monday. Both sides blamed the other for starting the trouble and there seemed no way to ascertain which was right.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, whose department enforces the union member democracy guarantees of the Landrum-Griffin law, under which it is possible to void convention proceedings found to be illegal, was waiting to deliver a speech when Wednesday's fighting broke out.

Mitchell said later he couldn't tell whose fault it was, but "it's very unfortunate in a Democratic union such as this that acts of violence take place."

Rarick, who claimed the violence was aimed at discouraging him from opposing McDonald in union elections next February, announced he is going to make the race anyway. Rarick said Joseph Murray, Pittsburgh, a union staff employee and adopted son of the late Steelworkers Union founder Philip Murray, will be his running-mate as a candidate for union vice-president, a post now held by Howard Hague. Rarick endorsed incumbent secretary-treasurer I. W. Abel for re-election.

The United States produces more than three-fourths of the cow hides required each year by the domestic leather and leather trade industries.

Officers said they heard someone running down the alley when they apprehended Durnen. The accomplice, Putnam, got away but was picked up later when Durnen implicated him and Cooper in his statement, police said.

Cooper was arrested as he left a bar last night in Waterford Township. According to troopers, Durnen admitted breaking into the Coleman Service Station at 3255 W. Walton Blvd., and the Walton Dairy Bar, 225 W. Walton Blvd., last night.

Stolen was $80 from the gas station and $10 from the dairy bar. Waterford Township and Pontiac police are also questioning the trio. Durnen will probably be arraigned in Waterford Township Justice Court today, troopers said.

Jelke Golden Girl Dead; Dope Overdose Suspected

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Homecide Lt. Brock Porter said today he thinks the "Golden Girl" of the sensational cult-girl trial of elro heir Mickey Jelke was killed by an overdose of morphine, but tests are being run on about 200 kinds of poison.

The nude body of Diane Marie Graham, 25, was found Wednesday in her plush apartment. She had been dead for several hours when police arrived. They had been called by W. T. Hill, an attorney, who in turn had been called by Dr. William Westwood McClellan.

McClellan, 67, admitted he had been in Mrs. Graham's apartment since Monday.

Homocidal Capt. Weldon Waycott said McClellan "told us almost nothing."

"He said he had not been out of bed since Monday, and had no recollection of anything that took place," Waycott said.

Porter said a preliminary autopsy was completed last night and showed that Mrs. Graham's body contained a "substantial amount of alcohol and more than three milligrams of morphine."

A blood-stained syringe was found in McClellan's professional bag.

Floyd McDonald, police chemist, said that three milligrams isn't too unusual for addicts.

McClellan was taken before
District Judge Myron Lee Wednesday afternoon and released on a writ of habeas corpus. He was put under a $5,000 material witness bond, and ordered to appear in court Friday for a hearing on the writ.

Mrs. Graham, who had said she divorced her husband Robert, had been living in Houston for about two years. During the Jelke vic-trial in New York five years ago, she made headlines as Diane Harris, the "Golden Girl," even as she was killed.

MRS. DIANE GRAHAM
though she never testified at Jelke's trial.

On Aug. 20, 1956, the Texas board of Medical Examiners ruled that McClellan was "addicted to demerol," and suspended his license. McClellan went to district court and had the license restored, and was upheld by the Texas
Supreme Court on Feb. 13, 1958.

More School Monies
Called For by Bartlett

MACKINAC ISLAND (UP) — Lynn
M. Bartlett, state school chief, called today for a sizable boost in state spending on public grade and high schools.
Bartlett specified no amount in a talk prepared for the 31st annual conference of the Michigan Association of School Administrators.
"I feel we must now do all we can to effect a readjustment in state aid to meeting the increased operating costs incurred during the last two years," said the two-term state superintendent of public instruction.

Oxford Schools Get OK for $120,000 Loan

OXFORD — A $120,000 loan against anticipated state aid has been approved for the Oxford Area Community School System by the State Department of Public Instruction.

The money will be used for school operation, according to Roger Ober, assistant superintendent of the Oxford School District.

"The funds are needed now since school taxes are not collected in the district until January," he explained.

Reservoir Springs Leak;
No Flood, No Shortage
CUSHING, Okla. (UPI) — Cushing's 40-year-old reservoir sprang a leak, spilling about 50,000 gallons of water a day on a hill at the city's west side.

City engineer A. C. Lock Jr. assured residents there was no danger of flooding, and thanks to a new standby storage unit, no need to worry about a water shortage.
Half the world's shoes are made

Kelly Has 10,000 Girls
NEW YORK (UPI) — Over 10,000 college girls with office skills will find jobs this summer through the Kelly Girl Service, Inc., which calls itself the largest supplier of female help to American industry.

Kennedy Hopes U.S. to Take On Program of Educating Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy called Wednesday for a pledge that, regardless of which party wins the presidency, the United States will launch a program to educate African leaders.

The Democratic presidential candidate, in his capacity as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on Africa, said the present meeting of leaders of the emerging African nations at the United Nations should be the occasion for starting an American program of "education for African freedom."

"If Africa's need is to be met without further loss of valuable time," Kennedy said in a statement, "the State Department must be instructed to inform the African leaders now assembling in New York of this understanding and invite them to join in presenting to us a statement of their most pressing needs and overall requirements."

The Africans are about 2,400 miles from New York City and lie about 1,200 miles from Gibraltar.

Coors Was Shot, Discarded, $500,000 Ransom Asked by special delivery to the Coors home in the Rocky Mountain foothills. It was mailed on Feb. 9, and was delivered only a few hours after Coors was abducted.

It instructed the family to pay $200,000 in $20 bills and $300,000 in other currency—all in old bills, not in consecutive order. The kidnappers promised to release him within 48 hours of receipt of the money.

The note instructed the family to place a classified ad for a tractor in a local newspaper when the money was ready. A telephone call was to have advised the kidnappers on the move.

The FBI said just that the negotiations never were completed.

An electronic brain has helped U.S. Public Health Service engineers to pinpoint natural springs that pour up to 15 trillions of gallons a year into the Arkansas and Red rivers.

FACES LIFE IN JAIL FOR SON — Handcuffed Rolando R. Lopez sits beside his wife Josephine in Los Angeles Wednesday at the funeral of his stepson Joseph F. Cordova, 5, with two detectives standing guard. Refused permission to attend the funeral, he had walked away from a prison work gang. He was caught, but given permission to attend. Lopez, who had been serving only a year to life for robbing a bowling alley, now could draw a life sentence for escape. He said he would take whatever was coming to him — and then go out and prove he can be a good citizen.

Think Up Ghoulish Questions

Campaign Grind Gets to Press

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—A gallow type of humor invariably grips the traveling press corps after several days of sleepless nights aboard a campaign special.

Every presidential candidate since time immemorial has had a so-called "basic" speech, which he delivers in slightly changing form throughout the campaign. He may window-dress it with proposals for farm or labor reform, but the body of the talk remains the same.

Consequently, ghoulish news-men spend their life time between stops, dreaming up innocent-sounding press conference questions that if ever asked, would not only puncture the tired refrains, but also break the hearts of the overworked candidates.

On the Nixon trek, the accompanying press unanimously decided that the best cliché to lift for our questions would be: "What is your exact program for 'peace without surrender'?" How do you propose that we "extend freedom throughout the world" and please tell us how to "work to strengthen our moral fiber."

Some of us took turns reciting well remembered repartees from the "basic" speech of Thomas E.

Dewey, which we heard delivered at a thousand different whistle stops during the fall of 1948. Among the phrases that linger longest were "your sons and my sons," in connection with preventing wars, and "sweep with a new broom" to clean up "the mess in Washington."

Traveling reporters also coined a slogan for the Nixon campaign: "We never waste an hour in sleep."

At a press conference in Minneapolis, when we were so whipped after a series of 18 to 21-hour days that we were virtually sleepwalking, this correspondent asked the vice president:

"Do you feel that there must be a better way than you and Sen. Kennedy have devised to run for the presidency?"

Some of the last luster and sparkle returned to candidate Nixon's dark brown eyes as he chuckled: "I'm sure he would agree with me that there ought to be, but I doubt if there will be."

He missed a moment and then continued: "Our problem is that I don't know of any other way to get candidates known to the people, and their views communicated; so he and I will have to suffer through it, and return to talk until we are hoarse. TV just doesn't take the place of personal contact."

With a wry grin he added: "There ought to be a law against it, but I wouldn't vote for such a law if it were offered."

That evening at an overflow rally, Nixon used the question in order to tell a joke on himself. He said that after an unusually hectic day in which he had attended a national security council session at the White House, presided over the Senate and met with a foreign delegation, he ran into a policeman he knew as he was leaving the capital.

He poured out his woes to the cop, ending with: "and now I have exactly 6 minutes to rush home, shower, shave, get into white-tie and tails, and be back to the White House for a dinner honoring President Charles de Gaulle."

Pausing for effect, Nixon then muttered: "Mister, I wish I had your problems."

U. of I. Faculty Protest Overruled by Trustees in Sex Opinion Case

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—University of Illinois trustees have overruled unanimously a faculty protest against the dismissal of a professor who publicly condoned premarital sexual relations.

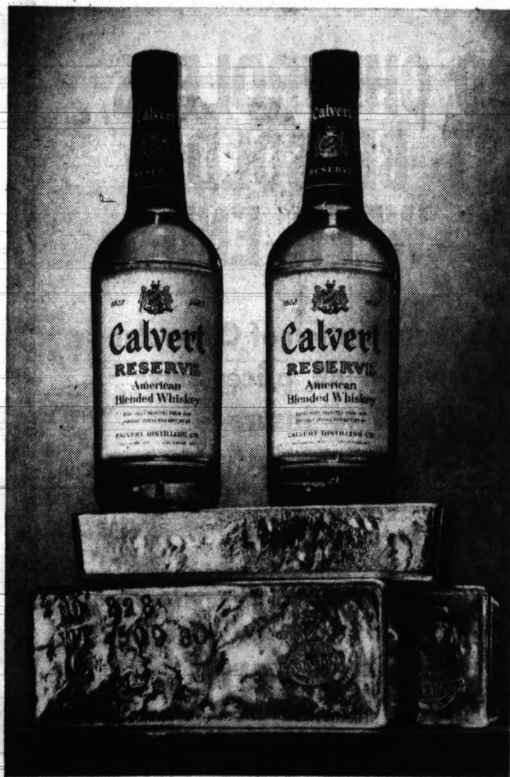

The trustees' action Wednesday upheld the dismissal of Leo F. Koch, assistant professor of biology. Koch wrote in a letter published in the student newspaper: "A mutually satisfactory sexual experience would eliminate the need for many hours of frustrating petting and lead to much happier and longer-lasting marriages among our younger men and women."

"This public statement was a grave breach of academic responsibility," said President David D. Henry.

More than 200 faculty members signed a petition protesting what they called the University's mishandling of the case.

Koch, 44, lives near the campus with his wife and three children. He said "no one has offered me a job. I know there are plenty of teaching jobs around but the sex case apparently has influenced everyone against me."

Which of these two whiskies is insured for One Million Dollars?

Answer:

The whiskey in the bottle on the left. It is drawn from the limited stock of Calvert Reserve's precious "Standard of Excellence." This limited stock, insured by a world famous insurance company for one million dollars, is never sold.

The Calvert Reserve on the right, and every bottle you buy, must match this "Standard of Excellence" for superb flavor, aroma and smoothness.

Excellence like this is attained by combining as many as 35 great straight whiskies with rare grain neutral spirits. The reason: All straight whiskies vary from distillation to distillation. They are never the same.

Thanks to this priceless "Standard of Excellence" you are assured that Calvert Reserve's magnificent taste and character never vary from bottle to bottle. That's why your first sip will say...

U. of M. Economist Has 6-Point Plan to Spur Business Pickup

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—A six-point program to spur growth of Michigan's economy was proposed by a University of Michigan economist here Wednesday.

Appearing before the 24th annual convention of the Michigan Municipal League, economist William Haber urged "substantial reduction" of business taxes and the development of a balanced tax program free from partisan approaches.

Haber said the business tax reduction is essential to reducing current unemployment, and furnishing a needed $60,000 new jobs by 1970.

A long-term balanced tax program, he said, would provide the solution to problems that cannot be answered by either state sales taxes or city income taxes.

He termed both of these measures "piecemeal and inadequate."

The rest of Haber's program included:

Support of a federal reinsurance for unemployment benefits by leaders in government, business and labor.

More emphasis on planned economic growth on local levels, to attract industries and businesses.

A state supported industrial bank to help new industries.

Development of industrial parks on a wider scale.

Formation of a state council of economic advisors to serve the governor and the legislature in a nonpartisan role.

Wounded Man Leads Police to Loot

BATTLE CREEK (U)—A buried horde of more than $5,000 in burglary loot has been dug up from a hidden place by a critically wounded young man.

The loot was unearthed Wednesday in Battle Creek's Irving Park by state police armed with metal detectors and shovels.

The officers followed a map drawn by them by George Myers, 35, of Battle Creek.

Myers was shot Aug. 29 in a gun battle with state police near Clarkston. He and Richard Davenport, also 31 and of Battle Creek, had been stopped by troopers on suspicion.

Myers was shot twice in the chest when he drew a pistol as officers questioned him. He is in critical condition at Grand Rapids' Blodgett Memorial Hospital.

Davenport, who pleaded guilty last week to a breaking and entering charge, is in the Ionia County Jail.

Could Do Without These Remarks

Bulgers Enjoy Listening? Fat Chance!

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks on a diet get tired of hearing: "Haven't you been putting on a little weight lately?" "Hi, fatty."

"And then you pour in half a cup of sugar, add the whipped cream and—"

"Actually in your case it's probably not so much fat as it is a matter of posture. Why don't you just try pulling in your stomach? You say it already is pulled in. Oh!"

"On you it looks good."

"Goodness, how I envy you, Mr. Healthy!"

"My cousin goes to a Hindu who tells him that losing weight is simple—if you just tune your mind to the infinite. Then you forget all about hunger pangs."

"You mean that's all the calories you're allowed for a whole day? Why in the old days you used to spill more than that on your necktie during lunch."

BOY, OH BOY

"Have you tried the lemon juice and aspirin diet? I hear it's wonderful. You can eat all the aspirin you want."

"Talk to him about baseball. I'm sure he's a star. He's got a feeling of added comfort."

"Have another carrot. Oh, go on, take two."

"My friend ate nothing but grapefruit juice and marmalade. And in less than three weeks he dropped two whole pounds."

"So what if you are a little overweight? I find my weight is no handicap. He was bedfast the last 25 years, but on the other hand—"

"Poor skinny me! I have to stand twice in the same place to make a shadow."

Won't Discharge Sailor for Sticking to Rules

WASHINGTON (U)—Secretary of the Navy William B. Franke Wednesday overruled Navy medical examiners and ordered the rule book sailor, Lt. John M. Thompson, returned to full active duty.

A physical evaluation board in San Francisco had held that Thompson was "unfit for duty in his rank" because of his insistence upon following regulations to the letter as finance officer of the San Francisco Dispensary.

The board decided last May that Thompson was suffering from a mild form of paranoia when he refused to sign reports that would have legalized minor irregularities at the dispensary.

Thompson said he had refused to certify a time card for an employee who had been given permission by an officer to referee a football game.

Thompson's wife, Lt. Cmdr. Vera Thompson of the Nurses Corps, testified at the hearing that her husband was "exacting and thorough in all things he does."

DOESN'T WAIT

The board recommended Thompson's removal from active duty and that he be retired for physical disability.

Secretary Franke set aside the recommendation without waiting for a normal review findings here. In announcing his decision, he said that Thompson had been given a full and fair hearing by the board but that "the impartiality of the proceedings might be questioned" because of the close relationship between the medical activities involved in Thompson's charges of irregularities at the dispensary and the Navy's action in placing the officer in the Oakland Naval Hospital and convening the physical evaluation board.

Franke also said that a thorough investigation of Thompson's charges had turned up "trivial irregularities" that have since been corrected.

Franke directed that Thompson be given duty at another naval hospital, and that Mrs. Thompson be reassigned to her husband's new duty station if she desired.

Hoffa's Union Seeks Farmers

Unionist Says He Will Start With Midwestern Fruit, Vegetable Men

CHICAGO (U)—Teamster Boss James R. Hoffa says his union is going to start recruiting Midwest farm workers.

He said workers who operate machines on large farms offer a sizable potential membership.

"I'm going to issue some charters for this area," Hoffa told a newspaper.

Teamsters first will aim organizing efforts at fruit and vegetable growers, he said.

Hoffa said he spent several hours explaining to farmers the advantages of joining a union. He added several small farm owners said they'd like to join a union which could represent them on farm matters.

Teamster leaders from a dozen Midwestern states are meeting with Hoffa to discuss organizing campaigns and political strategy in the current campaign.

Roads Opened to Traffic in Three State Counties

LANSING (UPI)—New and reconstructed highways in Calhoun and Baraga-Houghton counties were to be opened to traffic this week, the State Highway Department said Wednesday.

A 1.4-mile section of what will become the Interstate business loop into Battle Creek in Calhoun County was to be put into use.

In Baraga-Houghton counties, an 8.4-mile section of reconstructed M-28 between Sidaw and Covington was opened to traffic Wednesday.

Still Another Waterman Goes to Yale—Naturally

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Yale University wasn't at all surprised to learn that Reuben M. Waterman Jr. of Detroit had enrolled as a freshman.

He represents the seventh consecutive generation of the Waterman family to attend Yale. It all started in 1758 with the enrollment of David Waterman, Reuben's great-great-great-great-grandfather.

Radiation in U.S. No Health Hazard

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Public Health Service says its latest studies show that the levels of radioactivity in air, water and milk do not constitute a health hazard.

The service reported on measurements of strontium 90 and other radioactivity substances for March and April in its just issued monthly technical publication "Radiological Health Data."

The report covered samplings from 19 new milk monitoring stations. All the stations reported radioactive contents well below the safety level of 33 micromicrocuries per liter or kilogram for water, milk and foods.

Executive, 57, Enjoys Going to University

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Robert L. Cherry, 57-year-old former executive vice president of the Charlotte, N.C., branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, Va., is a freshman at the University of North Carolina.

He has moved his wife and two children—aged 12 and 9 years—into a Chapel Hill apartment and begun the university's orientation program. He wants an A. B. degree, probably with a major in history.

Cherry said when he graduated from high school in Richmond, 40 years ago, circumstances were such that he went to work. He resigned his bank post a year ago and took his family to Europe.

Beyond college, Cherry said he had no definite plans. "It is enough to enjoy college. After I get my degree, then I will think of that."

MEA to Decide Soon Whether to Move

LANSING (UPI)—The Michigan Education Association will decide at least by Nov. 12 whether to move its headquarters from Lansing to Battle Creek, officials said Wednesday.

"They've got a recommendation from the executive committee, but we're not saying where the site is," a spokesman said.

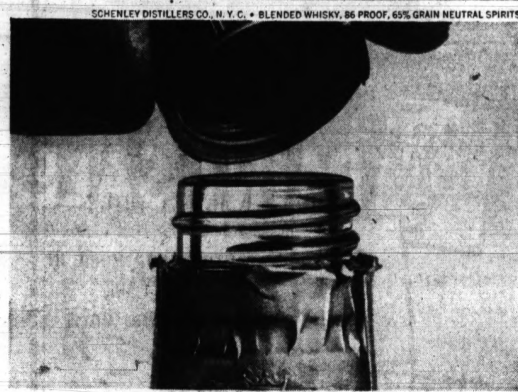

A million-dollar building to house the organization has been planned but the MEA board of directors delayed a decision on where to build it until it was determined whether the facility would be exempt from city property taxes.

A site in East Lansing was under consideration but the City Council there indicated it was not in favor of granting a tax exemption.

The board of directors discussed the possibility of building on a site at St. Mary's Lake, near Battle Creek. The MEA owns property there which was deeded from the W. K. Kellogg foundation, and more land could be acquired for token payment.

Kennedy-Nixon Swap Points

HOWDY, FOLKS! — Sen. John Kennedy waves to a crowd of Tennesseans who turned out to hear him speak at Nashville Wednesday. Standing almost in the shadow of the State Capitol Building (background), erected in the days of Andrew Jackson, the Democratic presidential candidate declared his wholehearted support of the Tennessee Valley Authority and its program of flood control and power dams.

Dick Claims Dem Rival Naive. Lacks Experience

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon's attacks on his Democratic presidential rival sharpened today with the charge that Sen. John F. Kennedy unknowingly espouses a course inviting "surrender" or even war.

That summed up the final count-down on his effort to get this campaign missile off the ground in a day of speeches—and a news conference—which had newsmen puzzled about how hard he was hitting at his target.

The Republican nominee flies today to St. Joseph, Mo., for a speech at 10:30 (Eastern Standard Time) before flying on to Springfield, Ill., at Sullivan (4:15 p.m.) and Rockford (5:30 p.m.). At Fort Wayne, Ind., Wednesday the vice president said that, in dealing with a man like Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, when you make a concession without getting one, "you work toward the cause of surrender."

This was in connection with Kennedy's remark that President Eisenhower might have voiced regrets to Khrushchev over the U-2 spy plane incident in an effort to save last spring's Paris summit conference from collapse.

ROAD TO WAR
Nixon amplified his case later at Louisville by adding: "When you're dealing with a dictator you must never make concessions without getting something in return because that is not the road to peace. It is the road to surrender, or even to war."

Nixon backed away from the full implications of these speeches at a subsequent news conference in Springfield, Mo.

Asked if he meant to imply that Kennedy "is espousing a surrender policy for the Soviet Union," Nixon replied: "Absolutely not."

NOMES DEEP IN POLITICS — Six bottles share a pan of milk at Vice President Richard Nixon's home. They are two weeks old. One of them may go to a Flint girl, Linda McGrain, who wrote a letter to the Nixons asking for one.

Jack Offers Program for Farm Cash Parity

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy today outlined a 6-point farm program of "work and sacrifice and discipline" — a program he said is aimed at "bringing good incomes and a decent standard of living to all our farmers."

In the first major agricultural speech of his presidential campaign, the Democratic nominee pledged as the keynote of his plan the securing of full parity of income for farmers.

He defined that as income which gives average producers a return on their invested capital, labor and management equal to that which similar or comparable resources carried in non-farm employment.

Kennedy's long awaited program dealing with one of the major issues of the campaign was set forth in a speech prepared for the National Plowing Contest. His Republican rival, Vice President Richard M. Nixon is scheduled to discuss his farm program here Friday.

Speaking of his plan, Kennedy declared: "It makes no vague promises that can be interpreted different ways. It makes no promise that I cannot or that the public interest would not permit. It gives you no assurance that you can have high incomes and unlimited production, and no co-locks without regard to the taxpayers."

Kennedy set forth this program:

1. Full parity of income for farmers.

In discussing this point, Kennedy made no mention of the Democratic party's platform pledge to seek a return to 90 percent of parity for basic commodities.

2. Achievement of parity of income primarily through supply management of crops—what Kennedy described as "adjustment of supply to demand at parity income prices."

3. Use of the farmers' excessive productive capacity to feed the hungry and under-nourished here and abroad.

4. Use of a sound system of soil conservation administered the local levels by local farmers. 5. Modernization of the government's specialized farm agencies "to meet the farm revolution—by revitalizing our agricultural credit agencies so that farmers can get the credit they need and at interest rates they can afford to modernize and expand."

6. Initiation of a special program for low production farmers.

Kennedy's farm speech was the featured highlight of his scheduled aerial sweep today into five states — Iowa, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Wyoming—in quest of their total of 25 electoral votes.

Incorrect Storage of Food Affects Quality

We have been reading about the research findings of the United States Department of Agriculture which show that frozen foods lose some of their quality when stored for a long time at temperatures above zero degrees.

These questions immediately come to mind: Does my frozen food compartment in my refrigerator maintain zero degrees temperature?

A reader asks: Does the ice cube compartment of a smaller refrigerator maintain zero degrees? Is it safe to store frozen foods in the ice cube compartment?

We hope these simple statements answer all three questions. If you have a refrigerator, freezer combination that has a separate door for the freezer section, it probably keeps the frozen food at zero degrees or below. However, those refrigerators with only an ice cube space should not be expected to have a temperature of zero degrees, but zero is not needed to make ice cubes.

But if my refrigerator makes ice cubes it must also be cold enough in the ice cube space for long-time frozen food storage, you say.

It is not unusual to store frozen foods in the ice cube compartment of the refrigerator, however, for the problem is not so much the

Hint of Hawaii Is Found in Fruited Rolls

Hawaii rolls, and Mom answers with PINEAPPLE-ORANGE ROLLS — island-inspired beauties made from Brown 'n Serve butter-flake rolls. Form 3 pockets by partially pulling apart the roll sections.

Fill each pocket with a mixture of well-drained crushed pineapple sweetened with brown sugar and combined with a little softened butter and chopped candied ginger for a treasure. Place in a greased pan and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for about 10 minutes, or until browned.

Hearty luncheon soup: add chunks of canned salmon to tomato bisque.

Scallops Good in a Salad

High on the National Fisheries Institute's plentiful list this month are sea scallops—a no-waste food, previously endowed with protein, minerals and other nutrients we need for good health. And, of course, recent studies have shown that eating fish and shellfish will bring down the level of cholesterol in the body. Catches of scallops have been so abundant the past few months that about three million pounds are now ready for millions of main dishes, salads, soups and cocktails.

One of the most delightful ways of using scallops at this time of year is in this Scallops-Walnut Salad.

Scallops-Walnut Salad

2 pint scallops
1 slice lemon
1 cup sliced celery
1 cup minced onion
1 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon Worcestershire
2 drops Tabasco

Cook scallops in salted water to cover, with 1 slice lemon added, 10 minutes. Drain and cool. Toss with celery and onions. Combine mayonnaise with remaining ingredients. At serving time, combine scallops with enough dressing to moisten; pass remaining dressing.

Makes four servings.

Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 15 minutes. Let stand in pan for 1 minute after removing from oven. Then invert pan and remove rolls, fruit mixture up.

Patty Shells Within Every Cook's Reach

Patty shells freshly baked from expertly prepared pastry are the answer to every homemaker's dream. Now homemakers can keep on hand a supply of frozen patty shell pastry and be prepared for glamorous entertaining any hour of the day or any day of the week.

In about 30 minutes from freezer to table you can produce these delectable containers which will enhance individual servings of any food, hot or cold, from scrambled eggs to ice cream. For Sunday brunch on the terrace or midweek suppers for two, patty shells transform a meal into an event.

A company famous for high quality products is now marketing these patty shells packed six to a box, frozen, and prepared for the oven.

The patty shells were developed from the French recipe for the "pastry of one thousand leaves." They consist of over one thousand these-thin layers of uncooked pastry that expand to several times their height on contact with the oven's heat, turning golden and unbelievably fragile in the baking. Frozen patty shells may be baked early and re-crisped at serving time.

GOURMET SAVORY SAUCES

Many favorite foods taste better and look more attractive in patty shells. With the addition of an unusual savory sauce, everyday foods can be turned into gourmet delights. The completed dish served in patty shells appears to be elaborate yet these sauces are not difficult or complicated. All one needs is the skill of making a basic white sauce. Then the sauce may be varied according to the following suggestions.

Basic Sauce

2 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup hot milk, beef or chicken stock

In top of double boiler melt butter over low heat. Remove from heat and stir in flour, salt and pepper. Add hot liquid, return to heat and cook, stirring, until sauce is thick. Cook over simmering water, covered, for 10 minutes.

Cream Sauce

Make Basic Sauce with milk. When cooked, stir in 1/2 cup heavy cream.

Mornay Cream Sauce

Add to Cream Sauce 2 tablespoons each grated Swiss and Parmesan cheese. Cook, stirring, until cheese is melted.

Sauce Royale

Add to Cream Sauce 1 egg yolk beaten with 3 tablespoons of the hot cream sauce.

Sherry Cream Sauce

Make Basic Sauce with chicken stock. When cooked stir in 1/2 cup heavy cream and 1 to 2 tablespoons cooking sherry to taste.

Newburg Sauce

Make Basic Sauce with milk. When cooked, stir in 1/2 teaspoon paprika, dash cayenne, 2 egg yolks lightly beaten with 1/4 cup cream and 2 tablespoons sherry.

Rolling Crumbs

When a recipe calls for bread cracker crumbs, for breading chops or other meat, place dry bread or crackers in a plastic bag and crush with your rolling pin.

Blend Bananas Into Fruit Shake

Have you tried the old soda fountain favorites using smooth, creamy bananas? If not we suggest you initiate an old favorite for an in-between-meal refresher that is loaded with vitamins and minerals. Take 1 cup cold milk and 1 ripe banana. Peel the banana and mash with fork. Shake or beat with milk until smooth and creamy. Serve immediately. Makes 1 serving.

For the fruit shake use 1 mashed ripe banana and 1 cup cold fruit juice (Remember, the colder your fruit juice, the better your shake.) Combine banana and fruit juice in shaker, blender or electric mixer.

Mix until smooth and creamy. Makes 1 serving. For variety, try orange, cranberry, apple or pineapple juice.

Just See What Bananas Contribute to Your Diet

Just heed what a banana brings to your diet—with only 88 calories. First, a well-rounded supply of A, B1, B2, C, niacin and essential minerals. A banana contains high food energy and high appetite satisfaction—that feeling known as satiety.

This fruit is low in sodium and fat and has no cholesterol content. And lately, the banana contains "pectin," a substance that is so important for good digestion.

Bit of Celery Put in Spinach

A simple addition does wonders in toning down tangy spinach!

Spinach With Celery

1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Pepper

Boil spinach and celery in water with salt, until vegetables are tender—about 5 minutes. Drain lightly; mix in butter and pepper to taste. Makes 4 servings.

Serve Worcestershire sauce with but not cooked green cabbage; it will add zip!

September's the Month to Freeze Broiler Fryers

September is a good time to buy broiler fryers for future meals, suggests maximum storage life of parts the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawler. Marketings of broilers are expected to be 5 to 8 per cent larger than those of September, 1959. Since September is usually the first post-summer month when consumption of broilers declines, prices are expected to stay at reasonable levels to move the broilers being marketed.

If you buy poultry wrapped in plastic film or in tray packs and wish to freeze it for future meals, remove these and wrap in moisture-vapor-resistant material before freezing. Take your choice of suitable wrappings including heavy weight aluminum foil made especially for the freezer; cellophane-coated or polyethylene-coated freezer paper; and polyethylene plastic. Wax-coated freezer paper is all right for short storage periods, but ordinary waxed paper and light weight aluminum foils are not sufficiently moisture-vapor-resistant to be used in the freezer. Freeze poultry quickly at zero degrees or below. Agricultural

Toast Bacon Jambiches Over Outdoor Grill

Here's a collector's item for jambich fans who cook out — a BACON AND APRICOT JAMBICH. Especially good for breakfast, it's an enriched bread sandwich filled with apricot preserves or jam. The sandwiches are placed in a long-handled, hinged wire broiler or toaster, topped with 2 half slices of bacon, and browned on both sides. Bacon side last, over hot zero degrees or below. Agricultural the children are Terry, aged 1; James, 6; Virgil, 12; and Jane, 8. Wonder if the egg has two yolks.

DESSERT FONDUE — The dip and dunkers combination occasionally comes up in a brand new form — but there's no disguising the flavors. Mixed, mashed, baked or boiled pears are sweet and distinctive, and wonderful with cheese. The fun is not all in the dunking.

Dunk Cold Pear in Hot Fondue

The age-old cheese and pear combination occasionally comes up in a brand new form — but there's no disguising the flavors. Mixed, mashed, baked or boiled pears are sweet and distinctive, and wonderful with cheese. The fun is not all in the dunking.

Dessert Fondue With Fresh Pears
4 fresh Bartlett pears
1 cup dry white wine (sauvignon blanc)
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon butter (optional)
Salt, natural ground or Swiss cheese, grated
Dash of nut

Chill the pears for several hours. Heat wine to boiling point (but do not let it boil). Blend cornstarch with kirsch or cold water and set aside. Add the cheese to the wine and stir constantly with wooden spoon. When the cheese is creamy and barely simmering, add the pears, one at a time, and stir until they are coated. Then, using a slotted spoon, lift the pears and drain them. Serve hot or warm. Serves 6 to 8.

Spaghetti Valhalla

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Sprinkle 2 cups grated sharp cheese over hot drained spaghetti. Bake 10 to 15 minutes. On top, place alternately 1 pound of pork sausage (or boiled 40¢ of chuck roasts, a few half pounds), then browned and 12 small per person and cook in (fatty) sauce. Season with salt and pepper. Pour 1/2 cup water over top. Bake 35 minutes. 6 servings.

Small Eggs Best to Buy; Autumn Fruits Increase

Making this week's food shopping list? Then let's make a mental note of the food supplies available suggests the Marketing Information Agent Mrs. Josephine Lawler. These should help with your decision-making.

First, let's look at meat which takes 25 to 30 cents of every dollar you spend for food. Slightly larger meat supplies describes this week's offering. And as a result you'll notice retailers list various cuts of beef and lamb, smoked ham, fryers, and turkeys as meat features.

Of course you'll add plenty of vegetables and fruits... and suppose. Add cold water to the wine and stir constantly with wooden spoon. When the cheese is creamy and barely simmering, add the pears, one at a time, and stir until they are coated. Then, using a slotted spoon, lift the pears and drain them. Serve hot or warm. Serves 6 to 8.

The supply of small size eggs definitely makes them the best buy. If you consider cost per pound, the small size eggs are now 8 to 13 cents less per pound than the large size. Large size and medium size eggs are about the same price on a per pound basis.

Beef supplies are increasing and fall prices report wholehog prices on top, place alternately 1 pound of pork sausage (or boiled 40¢ of chuck roasts, a few half pounds), then browned and 12 small per person and cook in (fatty) sauce. Season with salt and pepper. Pour 1/2 cup water over top. Bake 35 minutes. 6 servings.

You can expect still larger beef supplies in October, and a larger proportion of the cattle will then be grass fed.

Smoked pork such as ham, bacon and frankfurters is now getting the emphasis in many meat departments. Smoked pork can be stored for longer periods than fresh pork. This, plus the fact that both pork and beef supplies are larger than a month ago help explain present pork prices.

The outlook is for plenty of broiler fryers according to reports from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Fryer prices are about as they have been for the last month. At 29 to 43 cents per pound that is 23 to 33 cents per serving. Turkey at 49 cents a pound is 25 cents per serving if the bird weighs less than 14 pounds or about 20 cents per serving if it weighs over 14 pounds.

LESS COLOR

Wonder where the color went? Hot weather can be blamed for lack of red color on apples and some grapes. But remember, color is only skin deep! The goodness of the fruit has not been changed. Growers report that recent cool weather is having a line effect on apples, and that you can soon expect better red color.

You'll find an increasing array of apples. These are mostly Greening McIntosh, Winesap, Wolf River and Cortland. Around Michigan and Red Delicious are out of state. The Jonathan harvest is scheduled to begin September 31 in southwestern Michigan; the Red Delicious September 28. Growers have agreed that on these dates, these varieties will be mature enough for picking.

"Old Jack Frost" is lurking around... so peach and tomato canners take notice. Michigan Concord grapes may be found in small supply and western Tokay grapes are in fairly heavy supply. Peaches are still in moderate supply.

Vegetables for the list? Potatoes, squash, dry onion, and carrots are in good supply. Sweet corn supplies are decreasing. The supplies of cauliflower are increasing.

Even Dieters Eat It

Ta-da, fact. Every diet needs some sugar. And every dieter needs it, too. That's why the slim-lins and slim-janes eat candy as they ease that craving for starch-rich foods with low-calorie sweets.

'Juliet' Khrushchev Performs—Without Romeo

By Lewis Gulick
NEW YORK (AP)—New York fanned for its show business, had a new attraction today — a one-man performance played from a balcony.
The schedule for the new show was highly uncertain. It came on twice Wednesday, once in mid-afternoon and again in the early evening. Each time it lasted about three quarters of an hour.
Even the U.S. security men goggled in surprise when a shirt-sleeved Nikita Khrushchev first ambled onto the second-floor balcony jutting out from the mansion housing the Soviet delegation to the United Nations.
Khrushchev announced from the balcony he would go to the U.N. General Assembly meeting today, when President Eisenhower and others speak there, and Friday, when he himself addresses the group.
"WHO'S SPEAKING?"
But he left listeners in suspense as to whether he would actually be on hand for Eisenhower's speech. He professed not to know who the speakers would be.
At one point, the show jolted the usually impassive Soviet foreign minister, Andrei A. Gromyko. "Down with Gromyko," Khrushchev intoned. Then he made plain it was all in fun.
Will the two captured fliers of the RB77 reconnaissance bomber shot down by the Soviets July 1 be tried as spies? "That's up to the prosecutors and investigators to decide."
What does he think of the two U. S. code specialists who recently defected to the Soviet Union? "I know them only in the way you know them," through their Moscow press conference. "But if they come to us they are very intelligent fellows."
When will the Soviets shoot a man into space? "Have patience. We will tell you."
Is there much difference between Khrushchev and Chinese Premier Mao Tse-tung on Communist ideology? "Ask Mao Tse-tung. I didn't talk to him about it. I don't think so."
DISARMAMENT? SURE
Is Khrushchev ready to follow through on his call for complete disarmament? "I can immediately, as chairman of the council of ministers, sign an agreement to destroy all arms."

Does this mean acceptance of controls? "Why should there be any control if there is no need for any?"
Who does Khrushchev prefer to see win the World Series, the New York Yankees, or the Pittsburgh Pirates? "I'm rooting for those who'll win."
Gromyko was the startled target of a Khrushchev joke when he returned in early evening from a French reception nearby.
"Good evening," Khrushchev shouted down at Gromyko as he emerged from a limousine. "Down with Gromyko."
But Gromyko soon appeared on the balcony, then joined his boss who announced, "We're going to eat supper."
DERIDES RECKERS
Khrushchev spoke derisively of hecklers and picketers, kept a block or more away by police. He needed no words at all to show what he thought of a reported attempt to assassinate him. He just gestured — with a right hand uppercut punch.
U. S. guards said afterwards that they had heard rumors of anti-Khrushchev plots but no actual attempt had been tracked down.
First practical lawnmower was invented in 1868.
First ironworks in North America was in Massachusetts.
Gold was discovered in Montana in 1891.

AUDIENCE WATCHES ACT — Nikita Khrushchev is shown in the premiere of his two-performance balcony scene outside the Russian U. N. headquarters. Police kept the audience from enthusiastic demonstrations of their reactions.

WONDERFUL
Hoffman House

"WHEREFORE?" — "Freedom, freedom, wherefore art thou, O freedom?" might well have been the cry of Russia's Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, the Red star, Wednesday. He held a surprise (and theatrical) press conference from the second-floor balcony of the Soviet U. N. headquarters, complaining that he was "under house arrest." In the bottom picture, he is supported in his second act by Mikhail Menshikov (left), Soviet ambassador to the United States, and Andrei Gromyko, Soviet foreign minister.

W. Bloomfield Twp. Gets Planning Commission

Group Slated to Replace Zoning Board October 1

By JIM LONG

WEST-BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A township planning commission was officially created here last night with the appointment of nine members. The new commission will become active Oct. 1.

At that time the present zoning board will be dissolved, and its duties, plus additional powers, will be taken over by the planning commission.

Voters have approved the establishment of a planning commission in the Aug. 2 election. The proposal was received favorably by 1,077 to 343 vote.

The delay in establishing the zoning board immediately was requested by board members, who explained that they had unfinished business before them and would like to complete it before leaving their posts.

The zoning board had sought a 30-day delay in dissolving. But the Township Board noted that since several members of the planning commission were zoning board members, the new commission could easily take over the old responsibilities.

The commission members were all chosen "as objectively as possible," according to Supervisor John C. Rehard in making the recommendations to the township board. "There were no personalities involved in selecting their posts."

Rehard said that questionnaires had been sent to all persons who expressed an interest in serving on the commission.

The questionnaires, he said, asked in which particular field of interest each would like to serve, how much time could be afforded, and if they were property owners. "To a high degree the geographical location of the persons involved entered into the selections," Rehard explained.

He said that the new members will represent all parts of the township.

LIST OF MEMBERS

The new members of the planning commission, their terms of office, and their fields of zoning interest are:

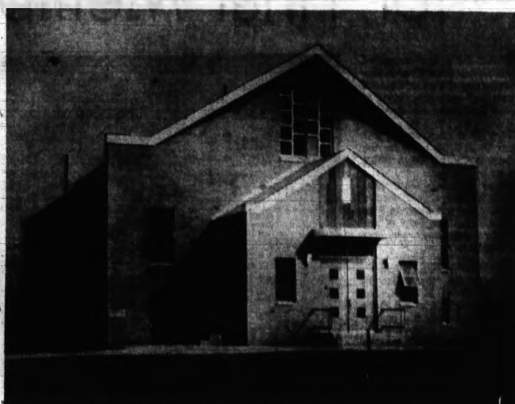

One-year terms: Henry Moses of 4751 Cove Road, a design engineer; industry: Christian Powell of 7618 Barnaby Road, an attorney; recreation; and Milton Howard of 638 Northford Road, an attorney; public health.

Two-year terms: John Hays of 3441 Lafayette Drive, zoning board member; industry: Richard Barker of 3503 Oak Ter., zoning board member; transportation; and Mrs. Donald Connor of 4150 Pontiac Trail, education.

Three-year terms: Claude Whitmore of 2136 Walnut Lake Drive, Commerce; Leo DeConick of 5751 W. Maple Road, agriculture; both are members of the zoning board; and John Warren, township board member, government.

The planning commission will elect among themselves a chairman, vice chairman and secretary. The chairman will automatically become a member of the township board of appeals.

Rehard said he will call the new commission together early next month and explain their duties as set up in a 1959 law providing for township planning commissions.

WIXOM'S ONLY CHURCH. — First Baptist Church of Wixom will dedicate its $100,000 building Sunday at 3 p. m. The church, which has served the community 122 years, is the only one within the city limits. The new building is on Wixom Road, just south of West Maple Road. It is almost directly across the street from where the original church was founded.

Wixom Baptist Church to Be Dedicated Sunday

WIXOM — The First Baptist Church, the city's only church, will dedicate new quarters here Sunday, launching a week of evangelism.

Joyce Marzion Marries

Nuptial Vows Exchanged

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — Joyce Marzion Saturday morning at St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Rochester, exchanged nuptial vows with Terrence J. Marzion.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Platter of 4714 Greenview St., Utica.

For her wedding the bride selected a gown of Schiffl lace featuring a scalloped bateau neckline and short-length sleeves. The bouquet was designed in a ringed effect over pleated organza with a chanel train.

A crown of seed pearls held her finger tips in place. She carried a bouquet of white orchids surrounded with button chrysanthemums and cascades of stephanotis and greenery.

Maid of honor was Shirley Marzion, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Diane Platter, sister of the bridegroom, Sherry Wood of Rochester, and Marjorie Johnson of Lake Orion.

Serving as best man was Richard Bozynski of Utica. Seating the guests were James J. Marzion and Larry Howo and Douglas Conger, both of Rochester.

Connie Campbell, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Ring bearer was Gregory Slamm, nephew and God-child of the bride.

The American Legion Hall, Utica, was the setting for a wedding breakfast following the ceremony and a dinner dance that evening.

After a wedding trip through the Smoky Mountains, the young couple will reside at 2514 Main St., Rochester.

A political science major at MSU, Marzion plans to study international law when he graduates — with a special emphasis on Africa, of course.

He said his trip to Africa, which was financed by Rochester area organizations, helped him "gain a better insight into the people there while working on a worthwhile project."

Sen. Philip Hart to Talk of Ground Breaking in Royal Oak Twp.

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — An $80,000 public works project which is part of an extensive urban renewal project here, will be started following ground-breaking ceremonies Monday.

Sen. Philip A. Hart will be principal speaker at a 10 a. m. ceremony, marking the beginning of storm sewer construction in the township.

The celebration will be held at Cloverdale and Woodside avenues. Representatives from all branches of government also will attend.

Demolition of temporary wartime housing projects has been under way here for a month. The acquisition of substantial properties for demolition begins Sept. 30.

A program of property rehabilitation also has been started here as part of the urban renewal project.

When the storm sewers are constructed, other phases of the public works program will be inaugurated.

Streets will be paved and sidewalks will be built in the township, which now is served mainly by gravel roads. A program of beautification is scheduled as the final phase.

Trees and greenery will be planted and neighborhood playgrounds will be laid out.

Orion GOP Club to Open Headquarters

LAKE ORION — State Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township, will attend dedication ceremonies of the new Orion Republican Club headquarters here at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

Also on hand for the opening will be Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irwin who is seeking reelection Nov. 8.

The headquarters, a mobile trailer unit located at 724 and Nanticoke Street, will be used as a center from which to contact citizens in order to "get out the vote," according to Ernest Crawford, Orion Republican Club chairman.

It will serve Orion, Oxford, Addison and Oakland townships, he said. The headquarters will be open from noon to 8 p. m. daily except Sunday.

The two-fold event is open to all residents of the area. Those attending will bring their own table service and a dish to pass.

LAKE ORION — The wedding of Delores Jean Cox and Clayton M. Snelling Jr. was solemnized at St. Mary's-in-the-Hills Episcopal Church Saturday evening.

Rev. Wilbur Schutze officiated at the candlelight service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Theobald of 3380 Sashaw Road, Brandon Township. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clayton M. Snelling of 388 Walton Road, Orion Township.

Serving as best man was Carl Cox, brother of the bride. An older brother, Thomas W. Cox Jr., of Orionville, Richard Swain of Clarkston and Gerald Tucker of Farmington were ushers.

Farmington Gets City Manager

John Dinan Served at Oak Park; He Replaces Earl Scherffius

FARMINGTON — John D. Dinan, assistant city manager of Oak Park, has been named city manager here, it was announced today.

Dinan replaced Earl Scherffius, who resigned late in August because of ill health.

Dinan, a graduate of Lawrence Institute of Technology, has served as an engineer and assistant manager in Oak Park for nine years.

Married and the father of five children, Dinan, who lives at 2358 Berkeley St., Oak Park, said a lack of opportunity for advancement was the reason for leaving his post.

He will officially take over his duties in Farmington Oct. 3.

During most of his time as assistant manager, Dinan worked under Harold V. Schone.

After Schone resigned, Dinan was acting manager six months until the appointment of Virgil Knowles.

Dinan was in charge of personnel administration at Oak Park and served as a liaison between the city manager and parliament heads.

He set up special assessment districts and handled all bond issues in the rapidly growing city.

Dinan was among 22 persons who applied for the city manager's position.

Don't Judge Africa by Isolated Violence, He Urges

Area Student Finds Nigeria Friendly

ROCHESTER — All of Africa can not be judged by the bloody political revolutions now taking place in a few countries, says a young college student recently returned here from Nigeria.

"Africa is not the dark continent that some people imagine it to be," said Daniel Skeen, a 21-year-old senior at Michigan State University.

Skeen of 114 E. University Drive took part this summer in a two-month good-will tour known as Operation Crossroads Africa.

Skeen said the major cities in Nigeria are modern, bustling cities and that the natives in the interior are "shy and inquisitive but very friendly."

About 180 students took part in the tour which was originated in 1956 by a Presbyterian minister from New York.

The students were split up into 14 "work groups" and each was given a special project to work on in different African countries.

Skeen's group built a village market place in Eha Mufu in Eastern Nigeria.

Mrs. Clark J. Adams (left) of West Walton Boulevard arrives at Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall's tea Wednesday with area representatives Mrs. Martin F. Rummel and Mrs. E. M. Estes, both of Birmingham. The affair marked the final fall effort for this season's membership drive of the popular lecture series.

Town Hall Gathers Forces for Final Membership Drive

Poised for a final concerted membership drive 25 area representatives of Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall were entertained at a tea Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Paul Kern opened her Long Point Drive home for the affair, hosted by Town Hall's board of directors.

Those attending heard final plans for the 1960-61 lecture series which will bring to Pontiac a versatile group of nationally prominent platform personalities.

MONTOYA FIRST

Opening the season Oct. 19 will be Carlos Montoya, flamenco guitarist, who will share the spotlight with his dancer wife.

Others in the Wednesday series which will convene at 10:30 a.m. at the Oakland Theatre are Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines, writer and homespun philosopher Harry Golden, fashion commentator Maggie Daly and pianist Cili Wang.

Mrs. Clyde Dearing reported to the representatives on plans for the celebrity luncheons which follow Town Hall.

The opening luncheon, according to Mrs. Dearing, is set for Pine Lake Country Club. The remaining four will be served at Devon Gables.

Town Hall, in its second season, has brought noted speakers to Pontiac.

In addition, the nonprofit organization has contributed to the Pontiac Symphony and underwrote the appearance last winter of the Canadian Players from Stratford, Ont. in "The Taming of the Shrew."

Plans are under way for a return of the Shakespearean group in "Julius Caesar."

Membership to the Town Hall Series is by subscription only. Open to anyone in the community, the subscription series is available through Mrs. Cecil McCallum of Cherokee Road.

Area representatives are equipped to answer all queries regarding membership.

The board of directors of Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall entertained area representatives and equipped them with information to answer queries of prospective members. At the tea table (from left) are Mrs. Donald B. Hogue of Franklin, Mrs. G. E. Bowles of Green Lake, Mrs. Howard Bond of Farmington and Mrs. Lyman G. Hedden of Green Lake. Hostess for the afternoon was Mrs. Paul Kern of Long Point Drive.

Dear Abby Says: Let Joe Help You

Tell the Truth; Lying Is a Weakness, Too

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I started having my dates pick me up at my grandmother's and I'd spend the night there because I was (and still am) ashamed of my father. He is always drunk. I am 19 and am very serious about a young man I'll call Joe. I told Joe I live with my grandparents, but I can't keep lying to him forever.

ABBY: I know it's wrong to hide your parents from your friends, but I can't bring myself to let Joe meet my father in his normal stone-drunk condition. What should I do?

ASHAMED: Tell Joe

your father is an alcoholic who hasn't the strength to help himself. If you think he is, he won't think less of you for your father's weakness. "Lying" is a weakness, too, you know.

DEAR ABBY: Why must the American public pay for a business owner's payroll? If restaurant owners, cab companies and beauty shop owners don't make enough profit to pay a decent living wage, I wish they would raise their prices a little, so their employees wouldn't have to stand there with their hands out.

I tip for the same reason everyone else does. Because I know it's expected and I'm ashamed not to.

"NO GUTS"

the dust on anyone, what is so wrong with it?

DEAR DEAD: There is nothing actually "wrong" with it—but it looks bad. Sorry, but that's the way the mop flops.

DEAR ABBY: I bought my kids some electric trains. The kids don't bother with them much any more but I go down to the cellar after work and play with them and enjoy myself. Lately my wife has been locking me in the cellar when I'm down there with the trains.

If friends drop by, she tells them I am not home. I told her I would break down the door if she kept this up. She says the catch must slip when the door is closed, but I've tested it and it can't happen. What should I do?

DEAR SPIKE: Take the trains upstairs and set them up on the dining room table, or the living room floor, or anywhere that's handy. Pretty soon your wife will beg you to take the outfit back down to the basement. I'll bet the "catch won't slip" after that.

ONE, TOO

If Your Conversation
Bores Him, Well...

By RUTH MILLET

If your husband won't talk to you it could be because your conversation bores him. That's likely to be the reason if:

You can't tell anything without going into great details and are in the habit of repeating con-

You never ask yourself if your husband will be interested in what you are going to tell him before you start talking—just expecting him to be interested in what interests you.

You love to pass on all the neighborhood gossip and no bit is too trivial for you to find fascinat-

You enjoy picking your acquaintances and friends to pieces, trying to figure out their motives, criticizing their behavior, predicting what is going to happen to them.

It takes you a long, long time to get to the point of a story so that you ramble on and on and then lose track of what you started

Heavy Eye Make-Up . . . Purple Lipstick . . .

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert
Youth Research Co.

Sugar and spice and everything nice, that's what teenagers used to be made of.

Not now. . . .
These days they come with heavy eye make-up, purple lipstick, corduroy sneakers. And they speak a language all their own, daddy, our latest survey shows.

We asked our panelists recently what was new in the teen world. The answer: plenty.

PONY TAIL, VANISHES
For instance the pony tail has been replaced by careful hair styling and dyeing.

Girls in Flushing, N. Y., are concentrating on swept up hairdos, reports Judith Murov, 16, of that community, while in Detroit, Elaine Specter, 15, says bubble hair styles are the rage. She also reported heavy use of eye make-up.

Lipstick runs the colors of the rainbow.

It's purple in Griffin, Ga., says 17-year-old Shirley Truitt.

White is the fashion in Knoxville, Tenn., says Copley Vickers, 17.

MORE SUITS, TIES

Take the boys. Doris Conklin, 17, of Englewood, N. J., observes boys "are dressing with greater care, more suits, ties and clean shoes."

And they speak a language all their own, daddy, our latest survey shows.

ford, Conn., reports boys' shoes are constantly shined."

Charles Gerrell, 17, of Jackson, Tenn., says boys there are "wearing loud colored pants with un-matching shirts."

Boys, reports Connie Goessling, 15, of Bel Nor, Md., are also sporting "desert boots, big sweaters, sweat socks, and flat tops (hair-cuts)."

Dads are digging into the attic for their old racoon coats which are the thing in Detroit, says Elmer Kamm, 16, reports fur is even being used to wrap around rings as decoration in his home town of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Girls are short all over the land and sweaters are as baggy as possible which makes dad's sweater drawer a choice target for his teenage daughter, reports Jane Bethell, 14, of White Plains, N. Y.

And pinned on the sweaters are the latest in jewelry, circle pins. Girls are wearing them in Grand Haven, Mich., reports Claudia Knoll, 16, in Kenmore, N. Y. (John Richardson, 16) and South Bend, Ind. (Bruce Bailing, 17).

BOYS GLITTER, TOO

Martin Yodowitz, 17, of Englewood, N. J., says boys there "like to wear strange carved wooden beads or leather cords necklace like around their necks."

In South Bend, the sloppy look alternates with high fashions on a regular schedule.

"Thursday is dress down day for boys with sweat-shirts, sneakers, etc.," says Peggy Wilkie, 17. "Friday is dress up day, suits."

To be really up to date, Mary Morrison, 16, of Knoxville, Tenn., says girls should wear short skirts and top it with a "vest called a bishop."

The old look still isn't outdated, however.

Kathleen Daniels, 18, of St. Paul, Minn., finds girls still are wearing sweaters and the teeners' trade mark, bobby socks.

English is far from a dead language, according to the slang being born in the nation's high school corridors.

An angered, amazed, startled, or pleased teenager is apt to cry "Zot!", says Jennie Marie Evans, 17, of Griffin, Ga. "It's an all purpose exclamation."

The nation's youth doesn't shake hands, they "slip such other the grip," says Ronald Fournier, 16, of Hartford.

KNOW ANY FREES?
If you are a "freep," you're a "cross between a freak and a creep," says Sue Jones, 15, of Clark Summit, Pa.

When things are generally topsy-turvy, "it's May day in the loony bin," observes Larry Kosowsky, 18, of Brooklyn.

At such times you should say "koot it," says Ellen Berkowitz, 17, of Miami Beach, Fla. That means to take it easy.

You don't invite some one over to your house. They come to your house, says Joyce Lada, 17, of Hartford.

Pad is a beatnik term picked up by teen-agers, as is fuzz, which is what youngsters call police in Webster Groves, Mo., says Jerry Allen, 15.

What's a scave? That's someone who is a character, reports Jerry Lynn James, 18, of Jackson, Tenn.

If a teenager wishes you "good luck," he or she usually means just the opposite, says Celia Ferner, 17, of Sioux City, Iowa.

Coris Conklin, 17, of Englewood, isn't too sure about the teeners' lingo.

"I don't know of any new expressions," she said, "but quite a few more people are cursing and everyone seems to accept this without qualms."

Little Things Mean a Lot

Fight Extra Pounds Daily

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If you increase the amount you eat by just a little bit and cut down on physical activity just a little bit, given time, this will add up to a gain in weight — given enough time, in a big gain.

Even if you continue eating as you have in the past and decrease your physical activity, you will gain. Your gain will not be as rapid as in the first instance, however.

Few people gain suddenly and dramatically or change their eating habits suddenly, and few folks change overnight from very active persons to very sedentary ones, except in case of illness.

USUALLY MORE SUBTLE
The weight-gaining process is usually much more subtle and gradual than that.

For this reason we can fight mounting pounds in small ways.

As a lifetime habit, we are accustomed to being transported that we overlook many small opportunities for walking.

We can walk when going on some errands instead of jumping into the car. We can walk up a couple flights of stairs instead of taking an elevator.

We can get off a bus or subway, or leave the car eight blocks from work and walk the rest of the way to the office and back.

As a usual habit we can drink skim milk instead of whole milk. We can use low-calorie dressings. We can broil or bake instead of fry our foods.

We can form the habit of not eating between meals and passing up second helpings, of eating fresh fruit instead of rich desserts. All of these seemingly small changes will add up to a big total, given time.

According to Dr. Herbert Pollock of New York University's post-graduate school of medicine, there is a difference of nine calories an hour for each square meter of body surface between sitting quietly and standing quietly.

If you are a lot overweight, then adopt a strenuous but well-planned reducing diet and lose some pounds. However, in order to keep your ideal weight, you will have to form lifetime habits such as I have outlined.

Special occasions still are permitted. The day-by-day habit is the important thing!

Ving GM Sees Tough NHL Race

Adams Expects Hawks to Give Montreal Race

Father Time Figured to Be Catching Up With Canadiens

(This story was written especially for the Associated Press by Jack Adams, general manager of the Detroit Red Wings Hockey Club.)

By JACK ADAMS

General Manager, Red Wings
DETROIT (AP)—In looking over the National Hockey League for 1960-61, we ought to have one of the best races we've ever had.
It's a nicely balanced lineup of teams with Montreal, naturally, being the team to beat.

Our intra-league draft, now five years old, is beginning to equalize the talent supply among the six teams. Montreal, for instance, has lost several good young players in the draft, and although the Canadians will still be a tough team, these losses might start to show.
On the other hand, in the other end of the draft, New York, last year's cellar team, has been able to pick up a couple of players.

Montreal's main enemy this season will be "Father Time" because old age is catching up with key men. Look at it this way: Doug Harvey is 38, Tom Johnson 37, Jacques Plante 36 and Bernie Goulet, Jean Beliveau and Dickie Moore each 35.
Their "ace in the hole" is a Frenchman in the goal—Plante, who for my money is the best goaltender in the game today. If they can get another year out of the veterans and good years from the younger players, such as Ralph Backstrom, Phil Goyette and Henri Richard, then Montreal will again be hard to stop. But if not, watch for a wide-open race for that top position.

The only team with an outside chance to beat Montreal is the Chicago Black Hawks. Last year when the Hawks became the most improved team in the league, they suffered through a terrible start but finished strong. They got terrific performance from several players, namely Bobby Hull, Pierre Plante, Glen Hall, Bill Hay and Murray Bailor.

After Montreal and Chicago, the other four clubs, including Detroit, are bunched in a scramble for the remaining two playoff spots. This is why the race should be such a good one, because any of these four teams, given a few breaks, could develop into the surprise team of the year.

Toronto is an unknown quantity.
It is a team which, like Montreal, its partner in the playoff finals last year, has an age problem.
Nine of last season's regulars are over 30.

Boston, a club that fell from second to fifth place in the last two seasons, is rebuilding.

Hoopie Picks Elliott Brothers to Triumph

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Seer Without Peer
Egad, gentle readers! Batten down the hatches!

'Twill be a wild and woolly weekend on the gridiron as most of the national powerhouse thunder into action.

Everywhere one looks there are struggles in the making on Sept. 24.

A touch of spice is added to the Big Ten race with the Elliott's, Pete and Bump, being the first brothers to coach simultaneously in the Western Conference. I predict an auspicious start for both as Pete's Illini thrash Indiana and Bump's Michigan stalwarts down invading Oregon.

In other contests of special note,
Notre Dame will smother California, and Oklahoma, still smarting from her humiliating '1959 joust with Northwestern, will exact sweet revenge in a wild scoring engagement. The Hoopie System makes it Oklahoma 32, Northwestern 22.

Hotly contested intra-state struggles will see Florida State upset Florida and North Carolina prevailing over North Carolina State.

MSU Must Prove Self Against Pitt

Young U of D 11 Faces 'Cyclone'

DETROIT (UPI) — Coach Jim Miller will put his young but promising football team to the test tomorrow night when the University of Detroit opens its season by confronting powerful Iowa State in a game that is expected to be one of the toughest opponents on their schedule.

The cyclones opened their season last weekend by trouncing Drake, 46-0, and although such a one-sided triumph over Detroit is practically out of the question, Iowa State is a solid favorite.

Miller's team is fairly strong in the backfield, especially at quarterback—where senior Bob Lusky will direct the straight T-formation offense—and right halfback—where co-captain Jim Post will handle most of the running chores.

The Titan line suffers from inexperience. Outside of guard and co-captain Tony Asher, the starting line has had limited playing experience.

Iowa State is one of the few schools that still operates from a single wing offense and Miller has man has replaced All-American week against Drake, the sophomore picked up 132 yards in 26 carries.

The last time the two teams met was in 1931 when Detroit took a 20-0 decision.

SVC TITANS — University of Detroit will have several top names from the Saginaw Valley when it opens its season Friday night at home against strong Iowa State. Assistant line coach Jim Leary talks to five sophomores who played their prep football in Saginaw Valley ranks. Most promising is (51) Jerry Gross, former Bay City All-Stater. Others are Mike Dardas (76) 225 pound tackle from Bay City, Jim Fox (21) from Saginaw, Bob Landra (75) from Saginaw and Ron Read (65) from Flint.

Crozier Is Chosen Top Two-Year Old

NEW YORK (AP) — Fred W. Hooper's Crozier is the nation's No. 1 two-year old horse now that injuries have sidelined two of the ranking contenders for division honors.

That was the opinion expressed today by four of the country's leading race secretaries. They picked the Florida-owned Crozier, winner of the Prairie State and the Washington Park Futurity at Arlington Park, with the knowledge that the highly regarded Hall To Reason is through with racing and that Pappa's All will not be seen in competition until the Santa Anita meeting opening late in December.

Hall To Reason has been retired to stud as the result of a fractured sesamoid after winning close to $400,000, Pappa's All, best of the juveniles on the West Coast, was sidelined for the year after injuring himself in a stall at Arlington Park.

Hurons Open State Small College Card This Week

By United Press International

Eastern Michigan gets the jump on other small colleges in Michigan this week by playing at Youngstown tonight while the rest of the schools around the state are booked for Saturday action.

The Hurons will be seeking their first victory. They lost their season opener to Albion last week.

Saturday's card is highlighted by Western Michigan's Mid-American conference opener at Miami (Ohio) and upstart Northern Michigan at Marquette.

Other games include hope at Ohio Northern, Bluffton at Alma, Findlay at Adrian, Michigan Tech at Bemidji State, Ferris Institute at Illinois (Chicago Division), Kalamazoo at Augustana and Missouri Valley against Hillsdale at Flint.

The Western-Miami game is the only conference game on the schedule. The Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Association doesn't swing into league action until next weekend.

Western, a perennial occupant of the second division in the rugged mac, indicated last week that it may be ready to bid for higher things this season.

The Broncos romped to a 31-0 victory over Central Michigan and unveiled a potent running attack as well as a stout defense. Miami, however, will offer a much stiffer challenge to the Western team.

Northern moved into the ranks of the contending powers last week by stunning highly-touted Hillsdale, 26-6, and a convincing win over Central this Saturday will enhance the Wildcat prospects for an undefeated season.

MIAA teams enjoyed a successful opening last week against non-league foes. The only loser in the conference was powerful Hillsdale, a favorite in the 1960 championship race. Adrian battled defiance to a 6-6 tie while the other five MIAA teams were victorious.

Saturday Game Gets National TV Audience

Spartans Billed Among Top Ten in Country in Pre-Season

EAST LANSING (U) — Michigan State hasn't played a football game yet this year but already ranks sixth in the nation in the Associated Press poll.

This is a team that had a 5-4 overall record last season and dropped out of sight in the national ratings toward the end of the year.

The Spartans also are the AP pick over Pittsburgh in their opener Saturday. And some foresighted schedule-maker made this game at Pittsburgh the television "game of the week."

These advance honors don't come on that 5-4 record—although Michigan State was second best in the Big Ten to Wisconsin on a 4-2 conference record. Wisconsin was humiliated 44-8 by Washington in the Rose Bowl.

The word was "gone around fast" that coach Duffy Daugherty's seventh year as head coach could be a lucky one. This is based mostly on the sophomore talent, considered the best in the Big Ten, and the expected improvement from last year.

Daugherty has a coaches' philosophy on ratings. He doesn't like to be ranked too high early in the season—it makes him a mark for everyone to shoot at. But when his team is going good he wants the recognition.

As the Spartans move up on their opening date with Pittsburgh, the team shapes up this way:

Strong in halfbacks and even stronger at fullback.

Quarterback is the vital question mark. Tommy Wilson, the senior from Lapeer, is established as starting quarterback. But he only hit 12 of 25 passes last season in an underdog role, had 163 yards in total offense and didn't score a single point.

Larry Landermit, the second choice, was similarly scoreless and had a net of only 23 yards.

The squad has not yet to throw away. In the line, the big sophomores are counted on to plug the holes left by graduation.

On paper, it looks like one of Daugherty's better teams.

The squad will run through its last practice on home grounds this afternoon, then report to Spartan Stadium for a pep rally. Duffy will introduce the players to the student body against a background of band music and yells led by the cheer leaders.

Sword Dancer Will Defend Race Crown
NEW YORK (AP)—Sword Dancer, the Brookmeade Stable colt who won the $100,000-added Woodward Stakes at Aqueduct last fall to clinch horse of the year honors, will defend the title Saturday in the same 1 1/4 mile race. The colt had not been expected to start.

Yankees Within 5 Games of Flag

By The Associated Press
The New York Yankees are within five victories of clinching the American League pennant with nine games to play—thanks to a little power, a lot of pitching and enough luck to break the bank in Las Vegas.

Since taking charge with that four-game, weekend sweep over Baltimore, the Yankees have rolled up 12 runs in two games and have won both—but only two of the runs, both homers by Mickey Mantle, were earned.

The Yankees, as would any club, will take 'em any way they can get 'em at this stage of the race, and they took a 10-3 victory over Washington Wednesday with the help of nine unearned runs on four sensitive errors.

It was the sixth straight victory for the Yanks, and their 10th in the third, beating the Orioles 4-1 behind the Delacorte's three-hit pitching in the only other AL games scheduled.

Any combination of New York victories and White Sox defeats totalling five clinches a 10th flag for the Yankees' Casey Stengel, who would be John McGraw as the major's all-time top pennant winner. The magic number is four over the Orioles, who trail by five with seven to play.

Mantle's 37th home run, in the fourth inning, was the Yankees' first hit off loser Pete Ramos (11-16) of the Nats, who left when New York scored seven runs, all unearned, in the fifth. Dale Long's single got the inning rolling, and his three-run single capped it as 11 Yanks went to bat.

Whitely Ford (11-3) was the winner, after giving up a solo home run by Earl Battey and trailing 3-0. It was the seventh consecutive time the southpaw veteran, fitted for a pinch-hitter in the fifth, has failed to limit. Duke Madsen mopped up with a two-out relief job, giving the Yankees bullpen a string of 12 2-3 shutout innings.

The White Sox, who may be shooting for nothing more than a runner-up spot that would keep intact Manager Al Lopez' record of never finishing worse than second, beat the A's Bud Daley (15-15) with two-run homers by Minnie Miñoso and Jim Landis. Herb Score (5-10) was the winner, with 3 1-3 innings of two-hit, shutout relief from Russ Kemmerer after home shortstop Al Simmons' double in the sixth.

Delock (9-8), a 33-year-old right-hander whose only other three-hitter in the majors came five years ago against Chicago, allowed the Orioles nothing but singles, struck out seven and walked one. Baltimore scored in the first inning on right-flier Lu Clinton's three-base muff of Gene Stephens' leadoff fly ball and Dave Phillips' hit. An error, Clinton's double and a two-run two-bagger by Carroll Hardy beat Baltimore's Jerry Steve Barber (10-7) in the fifth inning.

Nevada Bookies Favor Yankees With Odds 5-7

RENO (AP)—Nevada's legal bookmakers Wednesday made the New York Yankees 5-7 favorites to win the World Series and the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-3 underdogs.

Herman Byers of the Reno Turf Club, who makes the odds for Las Vegas as well as Reno, ignored the possibility of any other team winning in the American or National Leagues.

Odds on the first game are 10-11 and take your choice.

Braves Beat Redlegs, 3-1

Bucs Play 2 With Cubs

By The Associated Press
The Pittsburgh Pirates, who have been winning their two at a time, got a chance to eliminate the Milwaukee Braves and reduce their magic number over St. Louis to two today in a bid for their first National League pennant since 1927.

They play a doubleheader with the Chicago Cubs in the day's only major league action. The Bucs have won four in a row, sweeping twobills from Cincinnati and Philadelphia.

Pittsburgh reduced the clinching combination to four although the Yankees lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers knocked off the second place Cardinals 6-3 in 13 innings. Any combination of Pittsburgh victories and St. Louis defeats totaling four looks it for the Bucs.

The number is two over the third place Braves, who delayed the inevitable as Warren Spahn won his 21st with a 3-1 decision over Cincinnati in the only other NL game scheduled.

The Pirates, who lead by 1 1/2 games, have nine games left, the Cards 10 and Milwaukee eight.

Spahn (21-9), who pitched his first no-hitter in his last start, gave up seven hits in this one, but did not walk a man. He struck out four. It was his 28th career victory and his fourth in a row. The Reds' run—the only earned run—came in the fifth inning on two singles, an error and Eddie Kaso's fly-out grounder.

The White Sox, who may be shooting for nothing more than a runner-up spot that would keep intact Manager Al Lopez' record of never finishing worse than second, beat the A's Bud Daley (15-15) with two-run homers by Minnie Miñoso and Jim Landis. Herb Score (5-10) was the winner, with 3 1-3 innings of two-hit, shutout relief from Russ Kemmerer after home shortstop Al Simmons' double in the sixth.

Delock (9-8), a 33-year-old right-hander whose only other three-hitter in the majors came five years ago against Chicago, allowed the Orioles nothing but singles, struck out seven and walked one. Baltimore scored in the first inning on right-flier Lu Clinton's three-base muff of Gene Stephens' leadoff fly ball and Dave Phillips' hit. An error, Clinton's double and a two-run two-bagger by Carroll Hardy beat Baltimore's Jerry Steve Barber (10-7) in the fifth inning.

Betty Jameson Likes Hometown Golf Course

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Hometown favorite Betty Jameson toured the Breckinridge Park course in 13 strokes Wednesday to post the best score in a pro-amateur event preceding the $6,500 San Antonio Civitan open golf tourney.

Miss Jameson, whose golf game has been ailing this year, finished two strokes above the 36-35-71 par for the 6,400-yard course.

Louise Soggs of Cincinnati, Gloria Armstrong of Oakland, Calif., Mary Lena Fawcett of Thorpville, Ga., and Marilyn Smith of Wichita, Kan., finished one stroke behind.

Marv Jensen, Fulmer's manager, said he agreed with a proposal by the Massachusetts Bowling Association to hurry a title bout between Fulmer and Pender of Brookline, Mass., who owns that fragment of the 150-pound crown not claimed by Fulmer.

In Boston, Chairman Herman Greenberg of the Massachusetts Bowling Association suggested that a Pender-Fulmer title bout would bring Massachusetts back into the fold of the NBA.

Davisburg Golf Club's 10th annual Invitational Best Ball golf tournament will be played over an 18-hole route Saturday.

Twenty-four two-man teams are currently entered and a total of 40 teams is expected by tee-off time, course manager George Ferguson has announced.

Defending champions are Jim Selzer and Val Blech of Flat. Selzer formerly won the Michigan Public championship and Blech once reached the quarter-finals of the National Public Links tourney.

Among the Pontiac entries are Jim Bradford and Jim Haggerty.

Powers' Father Heads to See K 'What Good Would It Do?' Asks Premier, Who May Avoid Him

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wherever Nikita Khrushchev goes he receives press for help.

Anxious relatives press forward for a few words with the Soviet premier.

They seek his aid in cutting through Russian red tape and adding a sister or brother or daughter to come to this country from an Iron Curtain nation.

Khrushchev already has promised one woman he will see that her daughter comes to the United States and he is expected to receive other requests for assistance during his visit here.

Shoe repairman Oliver Powers of Pound, Va., whose son was sentenced to 10 years confinement in Russia as the pilot of the U2 plane shot down over Soviet territory, plans to fly to New York today in an attempt to ask Khrushchev for clemency for the pilot.

The premier gave no indication he would see Powers who tried without success to talk an audience with Khrushchev in Moscow during Francis Powers' trial last month.

"What good would it do?" Khrushchev replied when reporters asked him if he would see Powers during the Soviet boss' balcony press conference Wednesday.

Khrushchev was asked if the U2 pilot might be released before his prison term is completed.

"The trial is just over," Khrushchev said. "It's too early to speak about that."

5,000 Facing Chrysler Layoff

Pennsy Railroad Strike Settlement Puts Output Ahead of Schedule

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. says it will lay off 5,000 workers and cut production of 1961 models because of the recently settled Pennsylvania Railroad strike.

Chrysler new models have been in production since the week ended Aug. 6, but don't go on sale until Sept. 29 or later.

The 12-day railroad strike ended Sept. 12.

The company said Wednesday "the production buildup required for the new model introduction period was accelerated in anticipation of more severely adverse effects than actually developed as a result of the Pennsylvania strike."

Chrysler said it had turned out 104,000 new models through last Friday and its dealers now had a "proper supply."

Most of the layoffs were expected to be in the Detroit area.

Speeder, Deer Escape as Patrol Car Crashes

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI) — A highway patrol car chasing a speeder swerved to avoid a deer and crashed into a tree here recently.

The two officers suffered minor injuries. The speeder — and the deer — escaped.

Police Catch Burglar

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — Police had no trouble finding the burglar who had climbed a tree, jumped to the roof of the home of Mrs. Millie B. Schroth, pried open a second-floor window and ransacked the place.

There was on Mrs. Schroth's sun porch, drowsing peacefully, a crowbar and pliers by his side.

Weary Red China Faces Early Winter

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China, already facing a food shortage because of floods, drought and insect plagues, has been warned to prepare for an early winter.

The Peking official newspaper, People's Daily, said urgent warnings are going out to the provinces to take precautions for preventing frost damage to crops. An early winter "might create a great calamity," the newspaper said.

Gun-in-Camera Ruse Is Pretty Old, Mr. K

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Movie folk nodded their heads knowingly Wednesday when photographers' cameras were searched for hidden guns before Premier Khrushchev's arrival at United Nations headquarters.

They'd seen it all in a 30-year-old movie. Speculation ran high that the Secret Service search was motivated by a movie, "Foreign Correspondent," directed by Alfred Hitchcock and starring Joel McCrea, Laraine Day and George Sanders.

In the picture, produced by Walter Wanger, an assassin, posing as a news photographer, took a pot shot at a Dutch diplomat. He killed the man, but it turned out to be a double for the real Dutchman.

"Foreign Correspondent" was a hit at the box office and with reviewers, and considered a sensational plot at the time when world tensions ran as high as they do now.

Hitchcock, whose suspense stories come close to reality, was in the news two weeks ago when a confessed murderer said he had seen the director's latest film, "Psycho," "just before committing the crime."

Hitchcock is in New York en route to Europe and unavailable for comment.

A spokesman for the rotund director said, "Mr. Hitchcock probably would just shrug his shoulders and smile over Secret Service attempts to prevent a situation he dreamed up 20 years ago."

Follows 2-Party System — on 2 Tickets for Veep

ARLINGTON, Va. (UPI) — Bryan M. Miller, an Arlington businessman, is managing the difficult task of running for vice president on two separate tickets.

And the 60-year-old owner of a welding supply company in this Washington, D.C., suburb may take on a third candidacy.

In Washington State, Miller is running with retired Brig. Gen. Albert B. Curtis ("a fighting Marine") as the vice presidential nominee of the Constitution party.

In Michigan he's filling the second spot on the Tax Cut party ticket headed by Lar (America First) Daly.

Miller said he also might be on the States Rights ticket in Florida. But a group called the National States Rights party in that state already has named two other candidates.

"STRONG IN TEXAS" Of his two definite nominations, Miller talks most about the Constitution party. He said it is eight years old and strong in Texas.

Washington State was picked for a try, he said, "because of support there."

Miller doesn't think there's any conflict in being on two tickets with different running mates because "both parties are identical."

In fact the Tax Cut backers attended the Constitution party convention last April in Indianapolis, he said.

The Constitution party is avowedly conservative. Its platform calls for United States withdrawal from the United Nations, an end of foreign economic aid, and the restoration of "the right of individuals to own precious metals" and repeal of the federal income tax and retirement of the national debt.

Lodge Urges: Shoot Defectors

Johnson Blasts GOP 'Neglect of Farmers' in Nebraska

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Republican vice-presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge says the GOP's neglect of farmers is the reason why so many have defected to the Soviet Union.

"Both are traitors and if we could get hold of them we ought to shoot them," Lodge said, referring to William Martin and Berron F. Mitchell.

The pair, employed by the super-secret National Security Agency to break Soviet codes, showed up at a Moscow news conference this month and announced they had gone over to the Russians.

Lodge, who campaigned through Wisconsin Wednesday, flies to South Bend, Ind., today to speak at the University of Notre Dame.

The former United Nations ambassador spent most of his time in Wisconsin traveling through metropolitan areas where he was received warmly.

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — Democratic vice-presidential candidate Lyndon B. Johnson carried his charges of GOP farmer neglect into the Cornhusker State today for his "warmest welcome" of the campaign.

The Texas senator was to speak at a chamber of commerce luncheon at noon and then journey to Lincoln to address a University of Nebraska convocation.

Johnson told the crowd of more than 200 persons who waited for over two hours in chilly weather that he was happy to see dedicated and determined people who will put Sen. John F. Kennedy, D-Mass., in the White House.

Price Drop Continues for Broiler Chickens

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Department economists predicted today that broiler chicken prices would continue to drop for the rest of 1960.

The experts forecast that turkey prices would remain close to the early-September level for the next few months.

Prices for broilers this summer were above the level of a year ago. But demand for broilers generally drops off as the summer ends, and prices have begun to slip.

Another factor in the price drop is the number of broilers growing on the nation's farms at about five per cent above a year ago.

An expected decline in turkey production would help maintain turkey prices during the next few months. Also keeping up the prices is the government's program of buying frozen, ready-to-cook turkeys for the school lunch program.

Farmer Pinned Under Bulldozer Blade 3 Hours

GRAND RAVEN (UPI)—A farmer who was pinned under his bulldozer and spent three harrowing hours pinned beneath the still-running machine's quivering blade was reported in fair condition today.

Edward Buchneck, 46, of near-by Robinson Township, was thrown from the machine Wednesday while leveling land near his Dase River farm.

Buchneck was pinned in between a tree stump and the moving bulldozer blade from 1 to 3 p.m.

Buchneck was taken by ambulance to the hospital. He was expected to return home at his usual time. The youth shut off the bulldozer engine and freed his father.

Gets Divorce, Old Name

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa (UPI) — Movie actress Jean Seberg has been granted a divorce from her husband, French movie director Francois Truffaut.

District Judge M. C. Farber granted the uncontested divorce here Wednesday and also granted Miss Seberg restoration of her maiden name.

The action ended the two-year marriage of the small-town girl, who became a movie star almost overnight.

Over Parking Ticket

ENDICOTT, N. Y. (UPI)—John M. Yardman, a lieutenant on the local police force who has never been in the Bronx, which is almost 200 miles from Endicott, recently received a letter from Bronx police warning he'd be arrested if he didn't pay a $5 parking ticket.

The ticket was issued Aug. 16, 1958, when the local police log showed that Yardman was on duty here.

Gives Market a Nice Cushion

Short Sellers Smart Before This Break

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks sold short on the New York Stock Exchange by those looking for a drop in prices were at the highest volume just before Monday's break of any time since March 1959.

This could give the market a nice cushion now. Those who sell short are potential buyers.

A 12 per cent jump in short interest volume since mid-August also may be cited as a sign that some traders were expecting a break then at any time in 18 months. As such it's an indication of trading psychology, but one that has to be kept in perspective.

For one thing, a big gain among stocks clearly sold in expectation of declining prices was in a few issues, most of them recently subject to big price bulges.

And for another, the increased volume of stocks sold short is still but a tiny part of the number of stocks outstanding. The New York Stock Exchange says the Sept. 15 total of 3,634,971 shares amounted to about 0.1 per cent of all stocks listed on the big board. Traders sell short for the same reason that traders buy stock—hoping to make money—even if their market views are opposed. Insofar as the stocks sold short are included in those taking a rumble Monday, the short sellers have made money—if that's any consolation to dark market clouds.

A short sale works this way. The trader borrows stock from some holder and sells it at the going price. He must buy the stock later on the open market to replace the shares he has borrowed.

If the price has gone down in the meantime he makes money. If it has gone up and sooner or later he is forced to buy back at the higher price he has lost money.

That's why brokers warn that short selling isn't for persons with unsteady nerves or shaky bank accounts. It can be a quick road to loss or insolvency. And even when the deal is lucky, the suspense can cause ulcers.

He who buys stocks outright, on the other hand, may be able to outlast minor market moves until he can sell at a profit. He doesn't have to take a loss until he decides to. The short seller sometimes has to take a loss whether he is ready to or not. Lenders won't wait.

On Sept. 15 there were short positions in 558 of the 1,928 issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange. In 154 stocks the short interest amounted to 5,000 or more shares or had shown a change since mid-August of 2,000 or more shares.

The change since mid-August wasn't all to the bearish side. A sizable number of issues showed fewer shares sold short than in the previous month. Traders either had changed their minds about the chances of price drops in these stocks, or had taken what profit they could on previous short sales.

And while the stock market is setting out a new floor for prices, the bulls will take comfort from the fact that holders of the increased total of shares sold short will help provide a market. When prices drop enough for their liking they'll buy and replace the borrowed shares.

Also on the prowl will be bargain hunters. They reason that in any big drop in prices some shares are bound to be bid down more than warranted. Thus the selling minded won't have it all their way.

Expect Surplus to Keep Growing

Predict Corn to Build Up Through 1961 Feeding Period, Starting Oct. 1

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Agriculture Department economist predicted today that surpluses of corn and other feed grains would continue to grow in the year ahead.

The surplus went up in the new-ending 1960-61 feeding season for the eighth year in a row despite changes in government farm programs and reductions in support prices.

Department experts said the buildup probably would continue through the 1960-61 feeding season, the 12-month period which begins Oct. 1.

The Agriculture Department reported that it lost about $75 million on farm price support operations in the 1960 fiscal year that ended June 30.

This was about $6 million less than the loss in the previous fiscal year.

The department reported that on June 30, it had about $2.5 billion tied up in the support program. This included about $1.3 billion in outstanding price support loans and about $1.2 billion in surplus commodities owned by the government.

Expect Michigan Motel Industry to Jump Steadily

FLINT (U)—The trend toward new luxury motels of 100 units or more is the most spectacular development in the Michigan motel industry.

But the growth of medium-sized motels is steadily rising each year, reported George H. Selbridge, president of the Michigan Motel and Resort Association.

Selbridge said new motel and resort construction in Michigan last year approached the $40 million mark. He said planned new construction is expected to reach a quarter of a billion dollars total in the state during the next five years.

The association will hold its fourth annual convention here Friday at the Durant Hotel.

Asked why the convention was being held at a hotel instead of a motel, an association spokesman said there wasn't a motel in the Flint area with banquet and play room space to accommodate the some 120 to 200 delegates expected.

Prices Mixed in Slow Trade

NEW YORK (U) — Slow trading and mixed prices prevailed in the stock market early this afternoon.

Pivotal issues showed small changes, most of them well within a point either way.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks of 1959 was unchanged at $21.98 with the industrial at $21.98, the rails up .10 and the utilities up .10.

The Jewish religious holidays dampened trading. At the same time, Wednesday's sharp rally brought the list close to a formidable upside barrier, analysts said.

U. S. MINING REBUSTION Chrysler's plan to layoff 5,000 employees because of high inventories of unladen cars was a gloomy economic note.

The proceedings at the United Nations also reflected a gloomy note. Delegates showed an immediate reaction to President Eisenhower's challenge to the Soviet Union to join in immediate disarmament talks.

Absent-mindedness was changed to a bit lower. Automobiles, drugs, rubbers and oil drifted off. Selected gains among utilities, rails and various other groups supported the average.

Chrysler and other leading auto stocks took fractional losses. Steels backed down. James & Laughlin dropping more than a point, U. S. Steel close to a point.

Thickets of about unchanged despite published news that it had been allocated about $17 million for maintenance of work on wilderness music studies.

Smith-Corona Merchant was off a fraction on word of declining earnings despite record sales.

Hunting Ritters in Kentucky

Police here turned their search for the missing William B. Ritter, Jr., to Kentucky today after a woman motorist said she thought she had given the hitchhiking West Bloomfield Township couple and their two children a ride.

William B. Ritter, 45, and his wife, Edith, 44, of 2861 Midway Road, are suspected of a $250,000 swindle involving a Royal Oak nursing home. Two warrants have been sworn out against them.

Mrs. William Murphy of Bradenbury, Ky., called a Detroit newspaper late last night and said she had given a family she believed to be the Ritters a ride into Bradenbury, a city 40 miles south of Louisville. Here, Mrs. Murphy said, she thought a meal for the four persons.

She said they told her they were headed for Dallas.

Prosecutor George F. Taylor said he "doubted very much" that the Ritters family, but had State Police Detective Charles Leaf send photographs of the family to Kentucky state police.

The fact that their last grab was $4,800 indicates to him they weren't broke to the point they would have to be hitchhiking, Taylor said.
