Diplomats Take Time Out

Soviets Yield a Bit on Nuclear Tests

Dulles Tells NATO of Gains With Reds

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today reported to North Atlantic Treaty Organization members that a little progress has been made in talks with the Soviet Union on suspending nuclear tests.

But, he said, it is premature to be optimistic as to ultimate success because the Soviet views on the nature of control differ sharply from the views of the Western powers.

He said the United States and Great Britain disagree at the Geneva talks with the Soviet plan to impose severe restrictions on the movement of control teams set up to police any test ban.

"Also, they would require that control personnel be made up almost entirely of citizens of countries being controlled," Dulles said.

Dulles told the NATO ministers that neither Britain nor the United States "would find acceptable the present type of controls proposed by the Soviet Union.

'NOT DISCOURAGED'

"Nevertheless we are not discouraged," Dulles added. "The fact that the Soviets have moved toward our position in certain respects gives ground for hope they will move further on the control features."

The ministers accepted Dulles' invitation to hold the 10th anniversary meeting of the 15-nation NATO pact in Washington April 2-4. Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak accepted on behalf of NATO.

Dulles flies tonight to Jamaica where he will rest for a week before returning to Washington.

Busy Dulles Feels Tired —but Has for Years

PARIS (UPI) — A European statesman attending the Paris conference said he asked U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles how he feels.

"Very tired by evening," he quoted Dulles as replying.

Then Dulles added with a grin, "Don't worry. I have felt that way in the evening for the past 30 years."

Quiz Second Witness in Fatal Flint Blaze

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

FLINT — The owner of the Flint dry cleaning shop in which police believed Frank Kierdorf suffered his fatal burns in a bungled arson job testified here this morning he still hears "rumblings" his competitors are displeased about the operation of his dry cleaning establishment.

George W. Latreille, 29, owner and operator of Latreille Dry Cleaners, was the second person to testify in the opening day of the examination of Flint Teamsters business agent Jack D. Thompson, charged with arson in the mysterious burning of the shop Aug. 3.

Some 30 witnesses were subpoenaed to testify, including three nurses and a doctor from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and five members of the Pontiac Police force.

Kierdorf walked in the hospital during the early hours of Aug. 4, horribly burned. He died three days later, refusing even on his death bed to reveal how he received the burns.

Latreille, seemingly nervous on the witness stand, said he had received no threat that his shop, a pickup station, would be destroyed if he did not cease operation.

Although he testified he had not been advised that a competitor directly across the street from his shop was displeased when he opened his pickup station in Burton Township, just outside Flint, he did say he had heard rumors to that effect.

The next witness to testify in the examination being held before Judge Donald R. Freeman in the Flint Municipal Court was Guy Z. Colley, a 35-year-old factory worker.

Colley, whose home is about 300 feet from the Latreille shop, said he was watching television about 10:30 p.m. the night of the fire when he heard what he thought was an accident.

He said he ran out to his front

MSU to Borrow $2½ Millions to Meet Payroll

Board OKs Loan After Learning State Funds Will Be Held Up

LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University's governing board today authorized $2,555,000 in bank borrowing to meet payroll and other expenses coming due later this month.

The State Board of Agriculture, in regular monthly session, acted on the heels of word from the state administration that further state treasury payments to the school probably will be held up until March.

Having already skipped two monthly installments of the MSU 1958-59 appropriation, the state has fallen behind $4,218,000 in its obligations to the East Lansing institution.

Although there was no formal resolution, board members agreed that the 1959 Legislature should be asked to pick up the tab for interest on the forthcoming and any future loans.

It was estimated the item item might come to as much as $200,000, based on an interest rate of three per cent.

President John A. Hannah said a legal question had been raised about the university's borrowing power, but that he thought it would be resolved satisfactorily.

"It looks a little foolish if Podunk School District can borrow in anticipation of state revenues and a state university can't," he said.

Leonard Family of 9 Homeless After Blaze

A Leonard family of nine was homeless today after their two-story frame home burned to the ground between 11 a. m. and 1 p. m.

Firemen from seven departments fought the blaze for two hours at 115 E. Elmwood Rd., the home of the Frank J. Sandor family.

Mrs. Sandor and the two youngest children were in the house when the fire started. She carried them both to safety.

"My little girl Tina Marie hid behind a chair and I almost didn't get her out," Mrs. Sandor said with tears streaming down her face. She carried her and one-year-old Teddy from the house.

Mrs. Sandor said "The wall in the dining room just started to burn."

Firemen estimated the loss at about $6,000 or $7,000.

The father was at work in Rochester at the time of the fire.

Three older boys, Sandy, 15; Skip, 14, and Corky, 13, were attending the Oxford High School, while Tom, 12 and Terry, 11, were at Leonard Elementary School.

Firemen from Dryden, Orion Township, Ortonville, Metamora, Oxford and Addison Township, as well as from the Ford Motor Co. plant north of Romeo, fought the blaze at the six-room house.

Mao News Fails to Cause Stir

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet leaders saw nothing unusual today in Mao Tse-tung's decision to give up the presidency of Communist China to devote his full time to Communist Party affairs.

Moscow radio steered clear of all comment on Mao's decision, carrying only the text of a Peiping news agency report on Red China's epoch-making party meeting.

Western observers said nothing in the nature of communism demands that a Communist party leader also be head of the government. They recalled that unlike Lenin, who headed both the party and the government in the Soviet Union, Josef Stalin was party chief exclusively from the time of Lenin's death to 1939.

He assumed leadership of the government then to guide the country in the war against Germany.

Nikita Khrushchev, the present party leader and premier, also held the party job alone until he took over from Premier Nikolai Bulganin early this year.

There was no thought here that Mao's relinquishing of the Chinese presidency would affect his status in the party hierarchy.

Mao is regarded here as one of the most distinguished if not the most authoritative Marxist theoretician outside the Soviet Union. His theoretical works have been published and widely circulated here.

Press Snooper Digs Up Ideas for Unusual Gifts

By JANET ODELL

Snooping for unusual Christmas gifts has become second nature to us by now. Clerks take one startled look at our notebook and pencil, then say, "Go right ahead—look at anything."

"Anything" may be a pair of cone-shaped salt and pepper shakers made of cherry wood. It may be cat-shaped shakers that cry when you tip them. These come with place mats that have a cat design.

A small gadget useful in any kitchen is a specially shaped cutter to open boxes of frozen fruit. Or, if you can never find the ball of string, treat yourself to a Christmas present of a twine dispenser to hang on the wall.

Children in the upper elementary grades will enjoy using the new Golden Geographic Encyclopedia. Printed in bright colors, it will interest both young and old readers. Another such book is Rachel Carson's "The Sea Around Us" for young readers.

For the teenager who collects room decorations, there are amusing felt figures. Most of them are vegetable people. Other teenagers who are saving money for some dream project will like to save it in a jeweled beehive bank. Three bees on springs hover over the hive.

Editor Injured, Pressman Killed

Farmington Man Dies, Don Lochbiler Hurt in Detroit X-Way Crash

A Farmington Township pressman was killed and Detroit newspaperman was critically injured in a head-on collision on a Detroit expressway shortly before 6 a.m.

Detroit Free Press pressman, Charles M. Wilson Jr., 40, of 28257 Bayberry St., was killed in the crash.

Lochbiler, father of Pontiac Press reporter Pete Lochbiler, is in critical condition in Detroit Receiving Hospital.

According to police, Lochbiler said, "He was coming right at me. There wasn't anything I could do."

Wilson, who left work shortly after 4 a.m., apparently drove down the Howard street exit ramp, according to officers investigating the crash, and began driving the wrong way on the southbound lane.

Police said the two cars telescoped. Officers worked for more than 10 minutes to free Lochbiler from the wreckage.

Deny Proposal to Oust Straley

Eastman Says Action on Police Chief Not Planned at Present

City officials today denied a report that a recommendation urging the ouster of Police Chief Herbert W. Straley is being prepared by Public Safety Director George D. Eastman.

Eastman today said that no such report on the chief had been prepared and that no action on the chief was being contemplated at present.

Willman today said he had not received such a report, and knew nothing about it.

It was reported yesterday that Eastman was considering a proposal to City Manager Walter K. Willman that action be taken to "separate" Straley from the police department.

Along with his recommendation, it was reported, a list of charges was being readied which Willman might use as a basis for specific charges before the Civil Service Commission.

Under the Civil Service Act, the police chief, as well as all personnel, are entitled to a hearing before the Commission.

Eastman had proposed previously that action be taken to "separate" the chief, but was turned down by the city manager.

Instead, Eastman relieved Staley of command responsibility on Nov. 12 and placed the chief on "special assignment" in his office.

Arthur Mooney Being Detained for Questioning

Crash Victim's Mother Says Son Mentioned Beer Through Instructor

A 50-year-old Waterford Township school teacher is being held in Oakland County jail, on a charge of helping buy beer for four youths, one of whom died in a fatal traffic accident Friday night.

The instructor, Arthur Mooney, of 1651 Grandshaw St., is believed to have gone to a grocery store Friday night, and assisted a teenager to buy beer, according to assistant prosecutor Jerry Barry.

John Leslie Fromm, 17, of 35 Riviera St., Waterford Township, was killed early Saturday morning when the car in which he was riding struck a tree in West Bloomfield Township.

He was one of four teenagers in the car. All had been drinking, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

The dead boy's mother, Mrs. James Martin, 35 Riviera St., said today that the boy had gone out earlier in the evening with a girl friend.

"He met his friends, and the girl went home," Mrs. Martin said. Fromm told his girl friend that they were going to get something to drink through a teacher, Mrs. Martin added.

"Before he left with them, he asked for some money, but I wouldn't give it to him. I felt something was wrong."

Mooney was suspended Tuesday and arrested that evening by sheriff's deputies.

"Other charges of a more serious nature are being considered," Irons said.

Waterford school officials refused to comment on the case.

High Level Red Will Visit U.S.

Anastas I. Mikoyan Planning Trip to See Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility of high level Soviet-American policy talks here opened up today with a report that Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan would like to visit Washington early next year.

Mikoyan is in the inner circle of Kremlin leadership close to Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The State Department has declined comment, but the Soviet government was understood to have approached the U.S. embassy in Moscow about arranging the trip.

Mikoyan's immediate purpose would be to visit Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov. It would be his second visit to this country. His first was in 1936 as head of an industrial survey group.

The United States, some informants said, has not yet made a decision. But indications were that it would agree to the suggestion.

President Eisenhower proposed last February that leading Soviet personalities should come to this country and rid themselves by first-hand observation of false conceptions which Eisenhower said they have about the United States.

Presumably if he came here, the 63-year-old Mikoyan would be prepared to discuss a wide range of outstanding disagreements and tensions.

There was speculation the question of top-rung visits between Russian and American leaders may have arisen during an eight-hour talk between Khrushchev and Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn).

Magi, Probers of the Infinite, See Star of Christ

(Down through the centuries one of the most fascinating chapters of the immortal Christmas Story has been the journey of the Magi. But despite its appeal, most of the details of that first pilgrimage to Bethlehem have been lost in antiquity. Here is the first of five articles carefully reconstructing the inspiring story of three men who unwaveringly followed the Star on a journey to Jesus.)

As he had done each evening for months, Melchior climbed the circular stairs of the tower atop Mt. Vaus. He reached the roof, breathing heavily. He spread his maps on the stand and rested his arms there, gazing into the eastern quarter of the heavens.

His colleagues would be there shortly. The time cycle already had entered its penultimate phase, and they awaited a sign of its completion — the supreme "fravashi" foretold of old.

It was a spring dusk in the 31st year of the reign of the Parthian King Phraates IV in Persia (6 B.C.). For the company of Rab-Mag Melchior, nature and careful computations had combined to bring about a state of acute vigilance.

STORY OF THREE KINGS — As imagined by artists of the Middle Ages, the Three Wise Men bore a striking resemblance to noblemen of Europe. This woodcut was carved to illustrate John of Hieldesheim's "Historia Trium Reguum" (The Story of the Three Kings), published in 1484.

They were Magi, the most renowned scholars of the age, members of the imperial order of priests, royal counselors and masters of ancient, recondite sciences that would be lost to the centuries to come.

"Guide us aright, thou living god, Ahura Mazda." Melchior lifted his bearded face as the first glints flecked the sky. "Oh, Thou Creator of Life, primeval Spirit, Thou Wise One, give light to us who seek Thy truth."

EXCITEMENT MOUNTS

For nearly a year, as modern astronomy has since confirmed, a startling sequence of celestial phenomena had unfolded before these mystic sages. By their logic, the occurrences were more than enough to arouse keen suspense.

But in addition, there are specific Biblical and historical intimations that they had even weightier information to alert them at the time Jesus was born, a year subsequently misrepresented in fixing the Gregorian calendar.

All the evidence must have obsessed the elderly Melchior (one of varying names ascribed to him by early church tradition) as he and the other Magian noblemen gathered that night on their high lookout above the clear uplands of Persia.

They wore long, white robes, tied at the waist with silken sashes. Embroidered figures of a crescent moon and the planets adorned the rims of their caps.

As darkness deepened, they spoke quietly but intently of the implications.

"An auspicious night," Melchior ambled about the platform, making sure each observer was at his assigned sector and had measuring dividers and bar. "Would that we could measure as well, my

Driver Jumps From Fiery Cab

Freak Accident Sets Off Blast in Town; $100,000 Damage

WALNUT, Ill. (UPI) — A blazing gasoline truck rolled driverless down a hill last night, touching off an explosion and fire that caused an estimated $100,000 in damage.

Driver Lewis Daniel Newell, 34, suffered head injuries and severe cuts on his right leg when he jumped from the burning cab before the truck's descent.

The freak accident involved a series of explosions along Ill. 92 and fires which leveled a cafe and demolished four autos and a bunkhouse in a service station truck stop owned by Loyal Andersen of Walnut.

Newell and I. C. Wiley, about 40, were convoying two full gasoline carrier trucks from Rochelle, Ill., to Williamsfield, Ill., when they decided to stop for coffee in Walnut.

Wiley, driving the first truck, slowed down to turn and Newell collided with the rear of Wiley's carrier.

Fire broke out in Newell's cab and he ran 200 yards to the cafe for help. Meanwhile, the fire burned through the truck's air brake hose, sending the vehicle down a short hill past Wiley's truck and into a group of parked cars in front of the cafe.

The explosion set fire to the cars and the restaurant, which had been cleared of a dozen customers after Newell's first alarm. Burning gasoline poured from the 6,700-gallon capacity carrier into the lot, the highway and an area behind the station where two other truck drivers were asleep in a bunkhouse. Both of the other drivers got out safely.

The service station itself suffered only minor damage and fire did not reach the pumps or underground tanks.

Architects Awarded Old Post Office Job

A Pontiac architectural firm, Heenan and Puller, Inc., has been awarded the contract to prepare drawings and specifications, plus cost estimates, for remodeling the old Post Office building on E. Huron street.

The announcement was made today by the office of Congressman William S. Broomfield.

The remodeling will be done to provide office facilities for the Department of Agriculture, Department of Treasury, Army, Air Force and Navy recruiting offices; the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Selective Service, Civil Service Commission and the General Service Administration, according to Robert A. Pullar of the local firm.

The post office substation and Marine recruiting office presently are located in the building. They are expected to remain there.

With the opening of Pontiac's new Main Post Office on W. Huron street this summer the Post Office Department is only occupying one fourth of the old building.

The General Services Administration took control of it Oct. 15, according to Robert C. Miller, acting postmaster.

Pullar said the study, specifications and cost estimates should be ready within six weeks.

He and his partner, George A. Heenan, are now conducting a physical inspection of the building, including heating, and roofing.

Pullar said the company was given the job Dec. 10 in Chicago.

Pullar said the building, when completed, would have three floors of offices.

He said it is the intention to be able to let contracts previous to June so that it will be in this fiscal year.

Boy Steals Show by Doing What Comes Naturally

LONDON (AP)—The school play required 7-year-old Teddy Kellegher to go to bed on stage and pretend to be fast asleep.

A host of little angels tiptoed in to the strains of a cradle song and quietly placed presents beside the bed.

Teddy was to wake up and rub his eyes in amazement at the gifts. The music stopped, but Teddy never stirred. He really was asleep.

Finally a teacher hurried across stage to give the young star a determined shake. Teddy sat up. He rubbed his eyes. And then he did what every little boy does on Christmas morning. Ignoring the script, he jubilantly started opening the parcels.

Two men were standing behind the shop, one with a flaming object in his hand, Colley testified.

He said he saw the man throw the object back into the building. "Then I saw the men run away," he said.

Later a car came up from behind the cleaners—real fast — with the light out. "It was a two-toned Chevrolet station wagon, with a green bottom and white top," he testified.

"I saw two men in the car as it passed under a street light," he said.

Eight witnesses testified this morning in the small jam-packed courtroom. There was a strong likelihood of a night session.

Among the witnesses heard today were Charles M. Babieracki, who lives next door to the Frank Kierdorf home.

Under questioning by Genesee County Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke, he told of seeing Frank leave his home shortly after 10:30 p.m. the night of the Aug. 3 in his 1956 Chevrolet station wagon.

He testified Kerdorf returned to his home about 11 p.m. without turning on the lights in the house.

Thompson was arrested shortly after Kierdorf's death but no charges were placed against him because O'Rourke said he didn't have enough evidence to prosecute.

O'Rourke has not disclosed what new evidence he had obtained to warrant the arrest of Thompson a second time last Fiday.

The examination will determine whether O'Rourke has sufficient evidence to bind Thompson over to Circuit Court for trial on the arson charge.

Police have maintained that at least one person accompanied Kierdorf to the dry cleaning establishment on the arson attempt which apparently backfired when flames from a small gas water heater ignited fumes from a flammable liquid Kierdorf was pouring on the floor.

They believe Kierdorf was driven to his home after he was burned and attempts were made to treat his burns.

Thompson, 41, an ex-convict, was described as Kierdorf's best friend. Kierdorf, too, was an ex-convict.

Herman Kierdorf, the victim's uncle, was questioned in the fatal burning but no charges were placed against him in connection with the fire.

However, Herman was convicted on charges of possessing a silencer for a gun and drew a five-year prison sentence. He is appealing the conviction.

MSU Board OKs $2½ Million Loan to borrow to pay January bills, although the relief would be temporary.

In view of the state's tightening money squeeze, State Controller James W. Miller had recommended to Gov. Williams that U. of M., MSU and Wayne State University be cut off from state treasury support until March.

Administrative officials of the schools were notified by telephone before Miller's report to the governor was made public.

President Harlan H. Hatcher said he didn't see how the U. of M. could get by strictly on its own resources supplemented by bank borrowings.

Controller Philip J. May said it appeared MSU could get along, although not without difficulties. Both administrations prepared to brief their governing boards, which have the final say on policy matters.

The state already is $11,200,000 behind in monthly installments of appropriated funds to the three major universities. Under Miller's proposal, the delinquency would grow to 28 millions.

Miller said the suggested move was necessary to enable the state to keep meeting its payroll and to stay current on outlays for welfare and other essential purposes.

NO MONEY IN SIGHT

"We have hit the point where we simply cannot pay all our essential bills," he said. "It isn't a question of delay. There isn't enough money in sight."

He gave no indication that the state, once it built up the big arrearage expected by March, could cut it back down—unless cash was funneled from source not now in sight into the state treasury.

State fiscal experts seemed to agree the only answer was to liquidate all or part of the 50 million dollar veterans trust fund set up in 1946 out of wartime accumulations of revenues.

But, none stepped forward in outright advocacy of the politically touchy solution strenuously opposed by spokesmen for organized veterans.

Said State treasurer Sanford A. Brown:

"How do I know it's the only answer? Maybe the Legislature will start selling off state parks or something. This is somethng for the Legislature to decide."

The state has other huge trust funds, but there was grave doubt whether they could be tapped in the growing emergency which is not expected to reach its tightest pinch until late February.

Williams Vacations; Catches Small Shark

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams caught a shark.

Williams, who is expected to return from a Florida vacation tomorrow, told his office by telephone yesterday he caught "a very small shark" while fishing in a boat off Miami.

The governor said he has been plagued by rainy weather most of the time since starting the vacation Dec. 11.

However, he said he had been able to go swimming twice with his wife, Nancy. It was the first time she was able to do much exercise during the long period of recovery from a muscular ailment brought on by a virus infection which developed two months ago.

New Police Bail Policy Revealed

Persons Arrested for Minor Violations to Be Released

Persons arrested by Pontiac police for minor violations after the municipal courts close will be released immediately in the future upon posting of a cash bond.

The new policy was announced by Public Safety Director George D. Eastman.

A schedule of bond payments was set up by the City Commission Aug. 6.

For noninjury reckless driving, bond is $50; for reckless driving involving injuries, $100; drunk driving, $100; drunk and disorderly, $35; maintaining and operating an illegal liquor or gambling place, $100.

For loitering in an illegal liquor or gambling place, $25; other forms of disorderly conduct, $25, and other city misdemeanor violations, $50.

In the past, such offenders had to spend nights and/or weekends in the Oakland County Jail.

Persons released upon payment of bond must appear in Municipal Court on the next succeeding court day.

No one will be released under the new policy while in a condition of disturbance, either mental or physical, which could result in injury to himself or other persons, Eastman said.

Club Hoping for Goal Selling Yule Trees

The annual Christmas tree sale of the Pontiac Optimist Breakfast Club has entered its final week with members hoping they will reach their goal.

Club members are selling trees at Mazza's Service Station, 253 E. Pike St., and will donate all funds received from the sales to the Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation.

The club hopes to raise $750 toward park facilities for youngsters in the Pontiac area, according to Frank Wilson, chairman of the sale.

Students Ask for Birds as Gifts for Infirmary

BIRMINGHAM — At Birmingham High School, Don Grothe and his sociology class students would very much like to be given the bird. As a matter of fact, they would be delighted to have the bird in a cage.

Two years ago the group began visiting the Oakland County Infirmary as a part of class work. Since that time, the students have adopted a dozen or more "grandparents" among the residents there. This year, with the wholehearted support of hospital officials, they would like to have parakeets or canaries to give as Christmas presents.

"The companionship of the live pets, plus the responsibility of caring for them is something of a highlight in the lives of these men and women," Grothe said this morning.

He said they now need six more birds, and, while they have enough cages, will accept them along with the birds.

Grothe said that school closes tomorrow and he can be reached until then at the Board of Education office, or thereafter at his home, 1417 Warwick Rd., Sylvan Lake.

Several birds and cages have been purchased by the class but more are still needed.

He said they have talked over the possibility of extensive cuts in bus service and the elimination of kindergarten classes as possible ways of cutting expenses.

The employment of substitute teachers during the absence of a regular teacher is being discontinued. Students will put in their time in the library or study halls. School supplies will no longer be available as the current stock runs out.

He said they had also discussed dropping such things as the physical education and athletic program, and the enlargement of classes in their money-saving plans. Johnson stressed that no definite steps had been taken as yet.

Volley Yanuszeski, fire marshal, said the $45,000 building is equipped for operation but has some decorating to be completed before plans for a public open house can be made.

A new pumper has arrived, with a 250-gallon tank and high pressure pumps.

Eugene Johnson, Bloomfield Hills school superintendent, said this morning that board members have explained the school stand to representatives of the Parent-Teacher Organization.

'Heat Wave' Hits State

Mercury Jumps to 30s

By United Press International

Michigan residents accustomed to "mild" winters in mid-December today enjoyed a "heat wave" in comparison to the sub-freezing and sub-zero temperatures of recent days.

Temperatures in the high 20s and low 30s spread throughout much of the Lower Peninsula early yesterday but dropped as much as 15 degrees by evening.

Much of the brief thaw in the state refroze by nightfall. The Automobile Club of Michigan reported roads in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula, including the Thumb area, were slippery and snow covered early today. The rest of the Lower Peninsula was reported clear.

In the Upper Peninsula the auto club reported snow covered and slippery conditions prevailed in the eastern half. Roads in the western half were slippery in spots.

Some snow was forecast for today in the north portion of the Lower Peninsula and snow flurries were predicted for the Upper Peninsula.

High temperatures today were expected to range in the 20s and 30s but a drop was predicted by this afternoon or evening.

Enjoy It 'til They're Tired

Celebrate Yule 2 Weeks

ST. JOHNS, Nfld. (AP) — "Come out to our place for Christmas," said skipper John Chafe to a friend. "Ye have no room to hang 'er down in the city."

Chafe feels sorry for city dwellers, who build spacious living rooms and small kitchens. He says the prime ingredient for a good time is a sizable kitchen—the center of activity in many Newfoundland homes.

Chafe, a veteran of 40 years on fishing boats and in the woods, is like hundreds on the Avalon Peninsula—known for "times" at Christmas.

Celebrations often last two weeks. He explains: "We pull the table from the wall, pile the food and rum on her, and them that can't find a place to sit down can go in the living room."

DOOR IS BUSY

The door opens continually as friends and relatives drop in to sample the skipper's rum and his wife's cooking.

"She'll be a good one this year. I got $45 saved up in an old tin for liquor," says Chafe.

The skipper will take his battered fiddle from the wall and play jigs and reels for hours while the floor groans under dozens of dancing feet.

Between dances, men will tell jokes and stories, often about their experiences on the Grand Banks or in search of seals.

Some visitors will stay for days. Others leave only to return with another bottle, another friend or more food.

Shunck Has Plan to Raise Funds

School Building Setup to Be Discussed Tonight by Waterford Board

Waterford Township Superintendent of Schools William Shunck will make specific recommendations on raising funds for a school building program and to help pay operating costs at tonight's Board of Education meeting.

A plan for a $5 million building program, plus a 5-mill increase for school operation had been offered by Shunck in October for the board's consideration.

At that time, he indicated that a bond issue covering the program could be put into operation without any increase in taxes, provided the assessed property valuation in the school district remained the same.

If the Board of Education approves the recommendations, it is expected the proposed bond issue would be put to a vote of the people in a special election late in February.

Shunck said he will present statistic summaries relative to the financial picture of other schools in Oakland County. He will also discuss the fire safety conditions of schools in the Waterford Township school district.

The Board will consider property offered for sale by a resident in the new Thomas Cooley school area.

West Berlin Avoids Khrushchev's Trap

The election in West Berlin was a personal victory for WILLY BRANDT, the young Socialist Mayor who has become a symbol of resistance to KHRUSHCHEV's proposal that it be made a demilitarized "free" city.

What had been a routine election of Berlin's Senate, actually was turned into a referendum on the Russian proposal by the Communists themselves. East German newspapers had urged West Berliners to vote for a free city by supporting the Communist party.

The Communists got only 1.9 per cent of the popular vote compared to 2.7 per cent in 1954, and not one of the 133 Senate seats. More than 93 per cent of West Berlin voters went to the polls. This smashing victory shows that when free to make their own decisions, the people want no part of Communism.

Writing in "The New Leader" WILLY BRANDT warned that "it is wrong for us to let Communist initiatives bewitch us into staring toward Moscow expectantly waiting to see what pops out of the Kremlin basket. I think we should take some action ourselves and contend with the issues raised so far . . ."

West Berliners, many of them refugees from Red tyranny, contended with the issue. They showed their hatred of Communism and their determination to remain free. The election carries a message to the West to stand firm in resistance to Soviet pleas for a "free city of Berlin."

Sir Winston Isn't Sir Winston at All

There's a mild furor and unseemly to-do in England over a statue of Sir WINSTON CHURCHILL.

★ ★ ★

In the House of Commons, Sir WINSTON represents a small district near London. Patriotic townfolk decided to honor their internationally famous representative and so they "passed the hat" and came up with about $15,000—a right tidy sum for the purpose at hand.

★ ★ ★

A sculptor of more than local repute was summoned and told to do the job. He labored manfully and ultimately produced a "likeness" which merely stunned and shocked the neighbors. Their cries of anguish were heard the length and breadth of the Thames.

"It isn't Sir Winston," they protested.

"That isn't our boy."

Now the committee is in a dither as to the next move. Can they toss the thing in the sea? Can they insist it be re-done? What are their rights —if any.

In the meantime, Sir WINSTON has maintained a discreet silence. The old boy has been in worse jams than this and inched his way out. Probably he'll be saved again.

New Power Plants Strengthening Italy

Work has begun on Italy's first nuclear power plant with completion scheduled for 1961. This step has been long delayed because of political bickering and lack of industrial interest.

Desperately short of domestic energy sources—her coal, natural gas, fuel oil and hydro power supply only 40 per cent of her needs—the demand is constantly rising. It has been estimated that Italy's fuel import requirements for the next few years will be the equivalent of 40 million tons of coal annually, a heavy drain on her foreign currency.

The first 200,000 kilowatt plant is being built near Latina where Allied soldiers fought in World War II. Modeled after England's Calder Hall plant, the first one built for peacetime use of atomic energy, the work is being done by the Nuclear Power Plant Co. of London for an Italian government owned agency.

A second plant with an output of 150,000 kilowatts, is scheduled to go up on another World War II battlefield near the Garigliano River and the contract has been awarded to a subsidiary of this country's General Electric, the International General Electric.

No greater consecration of battlefields could be imagined than that they be used for the betterment of mankind by the joint action of men who had fought there as enemies.

The Man About Town

'Looking Back'

Poems by a Local Teacher Put Recollections in Verse

Winter: What's officially due next Sunday — but ahead of schedule.

Teaching and the inspiration and ability to write poems come quite naturally to

Norah Spencer Walls

of 857 North Perry St. She was born in a schoolhouse in Kentucky, and began teaching when she was 17. Now on the faculty of our Malcolm School, she has a quarter century of teaching experience.

Since early childhood she has written poems, largely on the background of her own life. Many of them have been published in newspapers, magazines and books.

A collection of 140 of them now is being brought out in a volume entitled "Looking Back." They are typical of Mrs. Walls' philosophy, and her feeling toward friends, nature, the seasons, and other features that show an intimate and outstanding awareness of life's experiences.

Engaged most of the time in excavation work.

Emerson Baulman

of Waterford tells me that the ground already is frozen to a depth of nearly two feet, even in solid soil. This is deeper than usually in the case late in the average winter.

A Christmas card drifts in from

Mrs. Harvey Morganside,

now in Buenos Aires, who rubs it in by writing: "Better come down: spring's been great, and summer's only a few days away."

Mr. and Mrs. Jason Pylman

of Keego Harbor has an aversion for Christmas trees. She deserts the home and sleeps in the cold garage rather than associate with it.

According to the almanac, while you're sleeping at an early hour on next Sunday morning comes the winter solstice, which means that winter officially begins. That very observant of Waterford, has found that when this happens on Dec. 21 we have a mild winter to follow. But if it is on Dec. 20 or 22, which often is the case, we can expect a disagreeable winter.

Fishing through the ice on Pontiac Lake, hooked a leather halter, common on our steeds in the horse and buggy days. He did it just as a big plane flew over.

Bert Felsman

"We always read your column before anything else in the paper," kindly phones

Mrs. Alanson Mowrey

of Auburn Heights, who then says that's because it isn't in the same section with the comic strip, "Rivets," which always is grabbed first by the children.

David Lawrence Asks:

School Christmas Breaking Law?

WASHINGTON — Are the public school authorities throughout the United States violating the "law of the land" by permitting Christmas celebrations during school hours?

LAWRENCE

Nine of the highest national organizations of the Jewish church have just issued a statement declaring that observance of religious festivals of any kind in the public schools violates "the traditional American principle of separation of church and state."

But what is the "law of the land," and does the Constitution really forbid all religious teaching in the public schools?

The Supreme Court of the United States took it upon itself in 1948 to say that religious instruction during school hours, with each religion being given equal opportunity to hold its own services in separate sections of the same school buildings, is a violation of the Constitution.

Then the Supreme Court reversed itself in part in 1952 and said it is constitutional to release the children to go to religious classes during school hours provided these are carried on in other than public school buildings.

Under this formula those children who do not want any religious instruction are required to remain in the classrooms. This has been severely criticized as unequal, but it is nevertheless the latest court ruling on the subject.

In New York City, moreover, attempts have been made to introduce into the public schools a joint celebration of Christmas and the Jewish "Festival of Lights," known as "Chanukah," as well as a combined observance of Easter and Passover.

But the statement just issued by the Jewish national organizations deplores any such cooperative services as also a violation of "the conscience of many religious persons, Jews and Christians alike."

The statement recommends that students be permitted to refrain from any participation in religious holiday observances if they so desire.

This brings into the news a topic that has many other controversial aspects as well. The Constitution has only one sentence on the subject. It says: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

When the Supreme Court forbade the use of public school buildings during school hours to permit religious instruction by teachers of different faiths to their own groups, was this a prohibition of "free exercise" of religion?

Father Virgil C. Blum, professor of political science at Marquette University, is the author of a book, just out, entitled "Freedom of Choice in Education."

He has long advocated a certificate and tax-credit plan whereby parents would be given some form of subsidy out of local taxes to enable them to send their children to whatever schools they wish, so as to get whatever religious instruction they prefer.

He declares in his book that "the rights of parents who believe in the Christian or Jewish religion and think that it should be taught to their children in school are as fundamental as any other constitutional rights."

He adds: "Parents who demand for their children an education from which all mention of God has been dehydrated are within their rights under the Constitution.

"But, when government demands that all children conform to this established secular religion of the public schools as a condition for sharing in educational benefits, the children's religious liberty is seriously abridged.

"This alternative of the dilemma is totally unacceptable to parents of every religious belief who desire a God-centered education for their children."

The topic has a new significance nowadays, since the Supreme Court has become the "Supreme School Board" of the nation and decides cases on sociological and psychological factors as they relate to the education of the child in the public schools.

But if the people are to make sure that the problem will be handled as they wish, they will have to seek a constitutional amendment.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Work Off Frustrations With Quota of Exercise

From the way glib comedians talk, the untaught listener may get the impression that stomach or duodenal ulcer is a mark of achievement in business. This smug notion has paralleled the notion that the great responsibilities and strains of big business cause high blood pressure.

DR. BRADY

There is as much foundation for these half-baked ideas as there is for the narcotic addict's plea that his "nerves become so tense" that he lets go and gets plastered or goes on a heroin or barbiturate jag, so to speak.

As Walter B. Cannon demonstrated in his physiology laboratory at Harvard, both the chemical and motor processes of digestion are deranged or arrested by pain, hunger, fear and rage. Prof. Cannon described his scientific study of the effects of the emotions in a fascinating book, "Bodily Changes in Pain, Hunger, Fear and Rage" (Appleton's), now available only at the public library.

Anxiety, worry, envy and jealousy all cause morbid changes in circulation, blood pressure, breathing, digestion—due mainly to the action of excessive quantities of adrenin poured into the blood stream under emotional excitement. Primitively this overflow of adrenin (internal secretion or hormone of the adrenal glands) was natural preparation for the natural reaction to emotion, whether it were fight or run away.

Customs have changed, but the nature of man has not. A man can restrain the impulse to beat the bejabers out of the fellow he envies, fears or hates or to run away and hide, but only at the expense of his health.

The conventional practice of what we variously call tact, diplomacy or politeness when one would really like to bounce one off the jaw, is the sort of thing that causes ulcer.

In the final chapter of his book Cannon said the promotion of great international athletic contests, such as the Olympic games, would do for young men much that is now claimed as peculiar to the values of military discipline.

Now perhaps you will understand what I mean when I say the way to relax after a trying day at the office, plant or school is by taking enough general exercise—brisk walking, gardening, gymnasium work, tumbling, bowling, swimming—to use up some of the energy mobilized by adrenin. After such a workout, your so-called "nerves" won't be "tense."

Physicians who suggest highballs or other narcotics to "relax" people who live by their wits or on the bounty of others are contributing to the delinquency of adults.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan.

'Just Look Around to See Wonderful Things in City'

Now that our City has had a low blow, it's time we rose to our feet, wiped the mud off our face and looked to see how many wonderful things we can be thankful for and happy about in our home town.

In over 20 years, I don't remember our city being so gaily decorated. It's so pleasant to see the community Christmas tree and hear the young voices caroling from the Courthouse lawn. A beautiful concert was given at Pontiac Central, and a week or so ago all the bands of our schools gave a concert. Choral groups of teenagers singing in our bank lobbies give listeners that special lift of spirit.

★ ★ ★

Some of our florists have open houses and invite the public to wander through their growing flowers and holiday arrangements. Members of our various churches are preparing Christmas programs to climax this glorious season.

★ ★ ★

So if we take our eyes off the screaming headlines and give thought to the lovelier things in our city, it will give us the feeling of joy as Christmas approaches and a glowing pride in our citizens who can and do cooperate so well that it makes most of us proud to live in Pontiac.

That cartoon The Press ran on "the office party" is quite silly. Who ever got killed in drunken traffic after an office party? Sunday Closing Fight Continues

People of Pontiac should band together against stores that stay open on Sunday all year long. I won't buy anything from these stores that can't make enough money six days a week.

American Citizen

We, too, would like freedom and not have to spend seven days a week on the job. We don't want to spend Sundays away from our families when people have six days to shop. Surely they can pass it up one day.

Sunday has always been a holy day for most of us, so let's keep it that way. Close stores on Sunday.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Too Many Moves Bad for Children

Billy's case is a real tragedy. But it is duplicated about 10,000 times every month during the school year. Will you parents please try to get your child's point of view and not shock him, emotionally or educationally, as Billy has been wounded? Send for the booklet below to help keep your child up to average in his class!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A—404: Billy B., aged 9, is a shy foster child.

"Dr. Crane, he is failing in school," his worried mother informed me.

"In fact, he didn't pass with his age group last semester and is floundering now.

DR. CRANE

"We wonder if maybe we made a mistake when we adopted him. Could he be feebleminded or something?

"So we'd like to have you give him an I.Q. test just to relieve our minds."

THOUGHTLESS PARENTS

Her husband was a salesman. They had moved four times since Billy had entered kindergarten.

This meant that in Billy's four years of education, he had been entered in four different schools:

Yesterday I mentioned the hazard to a child of jerking him out of one teacher's control and suddenly injecting him into a strange educational atmosphere.

So I warned Billy's mother that she could easily be to blame for his bad scholastic record, even if he had possessed a high I.Q.

But I gave him the I.Q. examination. He came out with an I.Q. of 108, normal is 100, so his failures were not due to low mental horsepower.

SCHOOL INSURANCE

A lot of American parents don't play ball, as it were, with their kids as regards the latter's education.

Billy's mother is a classical example. She was a socialite type of woman concerned with bridge clubs and other society events, so she didn't even remotely understand the psychological fears and worries of Billy.

Step by step, therefore, I showed her how she had failed this boy.

"You and your husband have unwittingly let Billy down," I added. "Oh, it hasn't been intentional, but you have shifted him into too many schools.

"Not only has he been left floundering in arithmetic, but he has been jerked away from one reading book or speller and abruptly been introduced to another.

"Children can't make such sudden changes and comprehend the gaps that are missing in their multiplication tables.

"Besides, a child doesn't always harmonize as well with one teacher as with another. And that's doubly true when a youngster enters a strange room midway of the semester.

★ ★ ★

"Busy, harassed teachers may overlook his needs and he then remains an educational wallflower as well as a social misfit."

HELP YOUR CHILD

If possible, parents should try to "stay put" in the same neighborhood until their children finish grade school.

This isn't always feasible, for a man must follow his work, but when you have two choices, stick to the same spot while your children are getting acclimated to school and their neighborhood pals.

Mrs. Crane and I remained in the same region in Chicago, instead of running out to the suburbs, largely to keep our five children in the same educational atmosphere where they had started as kindergarteners.

You parents should use double precautions to help get your lonely tots acquainted with the new kids in the block if you are finally forced to move.

And send for my booklet "How to Tutor Children at Home," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20c (non-profit). Use it to prevent Billy's problem.

Australia Builds Seaside Colony

Coral Islands, Lagoons of Great Barrier Reef Call Summer Visitors

HAYMAN ISLAND, Australia—Tourists in this land "down under" the Equator, where the seasons are reversed, are now flocking to the Great Barrier Reef for their summer holiday. No matter how many tourists arrive, the reef, a 1250-mile arc of coral islands and calm lagoons, has plenty of room.

Though the charms of this gigantic riviera on the northeast coast of Australia have never been widely sung, the reef has all the amenities of a seaside colony.

Scores of resorts and luxury hotels are being built to provide comfortable living conditions. Typical is the new hostelry on Hayman Island where guests are lodged in cozy bungalows. Rates are low, beginning at $4.00 per day with all meals included.

The coral reef, only now being discovered by world travelers, was explored by Captain James Cook some 200 years ago. He wrote a glowing report on the beauty of the coastline, but described the navigational hazards—a reef tore a hole in the hull of his ship—as "dreadful." Captain Bligh, who also drifted along this coast, was probably in no mood to appreciate nature's grandeur, nor were American troops evacuated from the Philippines to the reef during World War II.

Sophie Blasts Stars Who Don't Show Up

By EARL WILSON

MIAMI and NEW YORK — Sophie Tucker stirred up things in an interview with the Miami News' Herb Kelly, blasting Frank Sinatra and Judy Garland for committing "the moral sin of show business — letting audiences down by not showing up" when they don't feel well. "Real troupers never miss a show, whether sick or sad, come hell or high water," Sophie said, adding: "To them the motto 'the show must go on' is not an ideal phrase, it is a commandment."

"Yeah, but since she had to follow my career in the ring, this poor kid hasn't got a chance," groaned Rocky.

Slayer of 3 Gets Death Sentence

Judge Says Repairman's Crime So Revolting Only One Penalty Possible

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — "Some crimes are so revolting there is only one penalty — the death penalty," said Superior Judge John A. Hewicker.

"I've never heard anything like this case — and I hope I won't again," he added.

Before him stood Harvey Glatman, 31, a Los Angeles television repairman who had confessed luring three young women into remote areas to take photographs, then raping and slowly strangling them.

"The torment and the suffering those girls underwent," said Hewicker, "must have been horrible. I will impose the death penalty as the only poper judgment."

In a tape recorded confession presented at the trial, Glatman said his motive for dating the women was sexual. He said he would not have killed them had they cooperated. He raped them and killed them so they wouldn't tell police.

Glatman's photos of his victims —showing them bound and gagged before death — were entered as evidence and released to newsmen.

Glatman said he persuaded all three victims at gunpoint to be tied up for crime magazine pictures.

He was ordered to die for the murders in San Diego County of Mrs. Shirley Ann Bridgeford, a Sun Valley, Calif., divorcee, and Miss Ruth Mercado, 24, a Los Angeles model. He was not tried for the slaying of Hollywood model Judy Dell, 19. The murder took place in neighboring Riverside County.

Oriental Bowls Should Be Tested for Poison Lead

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Do you have any brightly colored, inexpensive Oriental dishware such as chop suey bowls or other food containers?

★ ★ ★

If so, and if you acquired them within the past two years, maybe you should give them the vinegar test for poison lead, two Berkeley city health officers said today.

★ ★ ★

Some but not all of these dishes give off lead from their color pigments or even from their glazed surfaces when they come into contact with acid food, the health workers said.

This dissolved lead can become a source of poisoning.

They have advised doctors and health workers generally to be on the alert for lead poisoning in cases where the cause of vague intestinal or nerve illness is not apparent.

The warning was given by Dr. Alvin R. Leonard, a city health physician, and Glenn Lynch, department technician, in California Medicine, publication of the California Medical Assn.

JEREMY CHRISTMAS — A Yuletide Story — BY WALT SCOTT

Workmen Find Steps to Capitol Hidden Since 1819

WASHINGTON (UP) — Two steps to the Capitol that had been hidden since 1819, have been uncovered by workmen extending the east front of the building.

The sandstone steps, perfectly preserved, were covered with stone and dirt. They lay at an entrance on the Senate side of the east front portico near the massive granit steps to the central rotunda.

The steps and entrance were used in the early days when the Capitol was only a fraction of its present size.

Within a few feet of the steps, George Washington laid the original cornerstone on Sept. 18, 1793.

★ ★ ★

The cornerstone may be uncovered within a few days. Capitol architect J. George Stewart said he will recommend that the cornerstone remain in place and be marked for permanent display.

★ ★ ★

Discovery of the steps prompted Stewart to order that all excavation beneath the portico be done by hand tools to guard against damage to whatever else may be uncovered.

The box of candy also contained five hacksaw bladse. Perry is back in jail on a charge of smuggling escape material.

Coya Has Lost Fight for Probe

House Committee Votes to Drop Question of Election Defeat

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn) apparetly lost today her battle for a full-scale investigation of her defeat in the November election.

A special House committee which had been taking a preliminary look at the case was reported in unanimous agreement to drop it.

Mrs. Knutson, the only Democrat in Congress to lose to a Republican in last month's election, complained that a malicious conspiracy caused her defeat for reelection.

She sought a full-fledged investigation. The committee conducted a preliminary inquiry at which Mrs. Knutson testified Tuesday. Then Chairman Clifford Davis (D-Tenn) called members into a closed-door session today to discuss whether to extend the investigation.

Republican Odin Langen won.

Steel Demand Gaining Speed

Predict That Big Push in Industry Will Come After First of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Iron Age magazine says the upturn in steel demand is gaining speed and the big push will really take hold after the turn of the year.

The national metalworking weekly pointed to these developments to support its prediction of a continuing betterment of the steel market:

1. Steel users are rebuilding inventories. This buildup is now barely underway. It will develop a full head of steam in the first and second quarters of 1959.

2. Steel order backlogs are mounting. Shipments also are increasing, but incoming orders are such that most mills will enter the new year with healthy order books. One mill reports its backlogs are up 23 per cent over a month ago.

3. Demand for the auto industry is good and improving. Some auto firms already have made plans to step up their supplies over the next three months and have passed the word along to the mills.

4. Demand from stampers and forgers also is improving. Appliance makers are taking in more steel. Demand for tinepipe and oil country casing and tubing could catch fire at any time in the first half of 1959.

5. Consistently optimistic forecasts that 1959 will be a better year economically than 1958 have prompted both big and small steel users to order farther ahead and build up their inventories.

Judge Accommodates

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Maurice McGovern was given a two-to-five-year prison term after the judge was told "he wants to go to prison so he can settle down and learn a trade and get his life straightened out."

To control certain injurious insects, cranberry bogs are periodically flooded.

MSU Granted $15,000 for Study of Hot Dog

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The lowly frankfurter usually occupies a near-the-bottom spot on listings of American food but the U.S. Department of Agriculture thinks enough of it to put more than $15,000 into a Michigan State University study of it.

The USDA recently granted $15,035 to a study by Dr. Lyman J. Bratzler, an MSU professor in animal husbandry. The research doesn't apply only to frankfurters but to other bologna and sausage type products.

The aim of the program is to see just what effects increased amounts of dried milk products have on flavor and color of the hot dog.

Bratzler said federal law limits dried milk content to 3.5 per cent of the product but the government wants to know what happens if more is put in—perhaps as much as 20 per cent.

Of course, Bratzler said, with 20 per cent of a hot dog being milk it couldn't be sold as a meat product. He said the meat industry was interested in the study, the only one of its kind in the country, but he was "strictly disinterested" from the commercial standpoint.

Bratzler, who has been in this kind of business for at least a dozen years, is also looking into possibility of storage of meat by radiation.

The idea is to kill all decay-causing bacteria on meats with radiation, then keep the meat protected so it won't become contaminated. Freezing suspends this action but doesn't deactivate the bacteria permanently.

The meat doesn't become radioactive, Bratzler said. That is radiation doesn't stay with the meat so there would be no problem of the consumer becoming radioactive.

The big problem is in the flavor and appearance of the meat. Meat can be stored indefinitely at room temperatures but may become mushy and has a "distinctly bad" taste.

"We have kept some radiated meat at room temperature for four or five months," he said. "The system is to keep it free from contact with contamination."

The meat becomes dark. Bacon isn't affected taste-wise as much as some other meats and there are "gradations in the bad effect," he said.

★ ★ ★

The objective now is to determine what causes the undesirable flavor and just what chemical changes occur.

He said there is almost no change in the nutritional value of the meat and once the flavor change is fully known, it may be possible to apply a chemical and re-establish the original taste.

He said similar studies were being made on fruits and to rid grains of pests.

"There has been progress in recent years," Bratzler said, "but it seems there's still a long way to go."

Visit State to See Factories

Tourists Like Autos

(This is one of weekly series of articles on Michigan's top 10 tourist attractions as selected by a recent survey of University of Michigan faculty members.)

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Think of Michigan and you think of cars. In Bangkok and Cairo and New York, these most famous of Michigan's products jam the byways.

The auto is the backbone of Michigan industry. And the auto industry rates second in a poll of Unversity of Michigan faculty members as a tourist attraction in the state.

Favorite among the auto plants for sightseers is Ford Motor Co.'s giant Rouge plant at River Rouge. Nearly 200,000 curious visitors walk through it annually.

The Rouge area was scene of the first shipbuilding site in the upper Great Lakes Region, said F. Clever Bald of the University of Michigan's historical collections.

The 70-ton schooner Tracy, one of the two vessels built there, sailed through the Mackinac Straits in 1803. It carried Capt. John Whistler, builder of Fort Dearborn, who commanded the military garrison from Detroit that settled Chicago.

The ancient shipyard was just east of the present Rouge plant, which occupies about 1,200 acres. The yard was given to the University in 1826 and became an early campus. It now is a cemetery.

Ships also have been produced at the Rouge plant, even before cars rolled off Henry Ford's lines. Submarine chasers known as Eagle boats were built at the Rouge in World War I.

1 Out of 5 People in U.S. Will Move This Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—One out of every five persons in the U.S. one year old or over will have changed his place of residence during the year ending Oct. 31, 1958, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

★ ★ ★

It said the "movingest people in the country" are Westerners, 27 per cent of whom pulled up stakes last year. Next came Southerners, followed by residents of the north central states and then those in the northeast.

New U. S. Missile Base in a Hurry to Get Busy

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — There's a "let's get with it" feeling in the air here.

Urgency dominates this once sleepy Spanish ranch turned missile center where a Thor intermediate range missile was fired for the first time Tuesday under combat conditions.

Bulldozers are tearing up the earth where once cowboys and sheep herders of the old Jesu Maria Ranch roamed the ranges.

Only a few years ago, there was nothing on the site which now is being built into a free world defense bastion, 160 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

One of those who saw it before, and now is here under different circumstances, is Warrant Officer James Callan, originally of Van Nuys, Calif. He was one of 16,000 men in the California National Guard's 40th Infantry Division who shortly before Pearl Harbor were moved briefly to the area for beach maneuvers.

"This was just hills then," he says. "Hills and beaches and nothing else. There wasn't a building that I recall."

Now he's back with the Strategic Air Command. Things have changed, and are changing.

The base is a contrast of old and new. Mixed among new structures are buildings used when this was Camp Cooke, a training center during World War II.

Some of the buildings once held German and Italian prisoners of war.

The base is slated eventually to harbor 8,000 personnel. Authorities first must provide housing and other facilities.

Vandenberg's conversion into the first strategic missile base is causing growing pains in neighboring communities. Hotels and motels in nearby Lompoc and Santa Maria are jammed; housing is far too short to meet the demand; rents and prices are up. Some base personnel have to commute many miles daily.

The emphasis here is all on the future, with eyes toward the sky. And the sentiment expressed and displayed on the base since the Thor firing is, "We're on our way."

Incendiary Bullet Set Off California Fire

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif (AP)—A young rifleman has admitted firing an incendiary bullet which touched off California's worst brush fire of the year.

Investigators said Jerry Stewart, 21, was target practicing on his father's ranch near here last Sunday and failed to note one of the bullets was incendiary.

The shell set dry grass ablaze. Stewart said he tried to beat out the fire but it spread quickly in the rolling hills near this historic mission village. No charges have been filed against him.

The fire now has blackened more than 60,000 acres and destroyed 17 cabins and homes. More than 2,000 fire fighters are battling it. They hope to control the blaze sometime Friday.

The fire moved south onto the Camp Pendleton Marine reservation but caused no damage.

Dog Took Last Chance

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Mrs. J. G. McCage's sign-painting brother found out the sign meant what it said. As he was tacking up the sign reading "Keep Out — Bad Dog," he was bitten from behind.

Unemployment figures prove at least one thing — that someone's interested in what you're not doing . . . Middle age is that period when all you can exercise is caution . . . Maybe figures don't lie, but girdles sometimes keep 'em from telling the whole truth. —Earl Wilson.

Electric Items Popular Gifts

Wide Range Includes Everything From Radio to Chafing Dish

Santa's pack is going to have some oddly shaped bulges from radios, TV sets, hi-fi equipment and household appliances. These items are getting more popular each year as Christmas gifts.

Here, according to Montgomery Ferar of the industrial-design firm of Sundberg-Ferar, are some of the newer features to look for in these typs of presents.

RADIOS — Cordless, portable transistor models are not only light, compact and sturdy, but newest models have their own plug-in stands to rest on. These automatically recharge the batteries whenever the set is not in use.

TELEVISION—New slimline sets snuggle against the wall, resemble a framed portrait rather than a chest of drawers. For the first time are truly portable.

HI-FI — Latest stereophonic tape and record players put you right in the same room with the orchestra. Latest wrinkle is a cartridge-playing stereophonic tape machine.

It automatically reverses itself, offers all of the hi-fidelity advantages of a regular tape recorder with none of its inconvenience.

ELECTRIC APPLIANCES—Trend here is mated sets of table-cooking utensils, including fryer, saucepan, griddle, chafing dish and deep-fat fryer. Since they are used separately, these sets of appliances come with but a single cord and thermostatic control dial for economy and convenience.

Intended for dining-room use rather than the kitchen, latest models have been designed to harmonize with a hostess' fine silver. These are square instead of round to provide maximum cooking area. Some of the newer fryers also have glass tops.

MAJOR APPLIANCES—Newest-model electric ranges incorporate electric rotisseries, automatic basters and kabob broilers to put more fun and less work into cooking. You can prepare exotic dishes with comparatively little effort.

"Blown cold" is the latest advance in refrigerators. It eliminates defrosting and provides exactly the right temperature for storing each different kind of food.

For the home that "has everything," why not select one of the new under-the-counter automatic ice-cube makers? This clever device freezes 30 pounds of ice cubes at a time, shucks them into a storage container, ready for instant use.

Gifts of Silver Priced to Fit Every Budget

"My mother has a trick when it comes to presents, especially for Christmas," a friend told me the other day. "She makes a beeline for the silver department and lives there right through her list.

"The $5 to $15 presents she buys run the gamut from teaspoons to tomato servers and from spreaders to letter openers. And no one is an exception. Friends and relatives, male and female, old and young."

The young woman who revealed her mother's secret has a great many friends and very little time, but likes to do things nicely. It wasn't surprising to have her add, "I find this trick of Mother's solves my problems, too.

"I can spend as little or as much as my checkbook allows, yet I know the presents I give are worthwhile and will be appreciated."

No one likes to give presents that are lovely but useless, or pretty but perishable, or right in all other ways, but sore thumbs in a decor they've never seen. Yet how many know the inexpensive but impressive silver trick as a timesaver and decision-maker.

One thing people have to do every day is eat. A family's social life with each other and with friends centers around the table and a mother knows the measure of her hospitality is a festive, well-served dinner.

Sterling silver flatware accents a handsome table and makes good food taste better.

Yet few families have enough place setting pieces in this day of frequent entertaining, often impromptu and casual buffet.

So extra, heavy-duty pieces are always welcome and can be bought to the number and price desired.

For instance, three teaspoons or a knife and fork come to only about $15.

Teen-age girls dreaming of the future are enormously pleased and subtly flattered by additions to their growing silver trousseau. Or . . . a gift certificate in a silver club will start a girl who has not already selected her pattern and encourage her in the silver-saving habit.

And the VIP's on your list — men, naturally — will like any of these, all under $15: cigarette box, match box, ash tray, table lighter, cigar cutter. There is a wide assortment of bar equipment, decanter labels, for instance.

Motorists to Run Cars on Gas From Shale?

DENVER (AP)—There is a possibility that American motorists soon may run their cars on gasoline obtained from rock.

The Denver Research Institute at the University of Denver says a process has been developed which can produce oil from the vast oil shale deposits in the Rocky Mountains at a price competitive with petroleum.

State Plans Memorial to Prominent Citizen

VIROQUA, Wis. (AP) — The State Historical Society is planning a memorial on half an acre of the farm which was the birthplace of Jeremiah M. Rusk, the first U.S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Rusk served as a general in the Civil War and was Wisconsin's 15th governor, holding office from 1882 to 1889. He also was a congressman.

Ship's Bell in Church

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (AP)—A bell found in Elgin County that once belonged to a Great Lakes vessel will ring the call to worship at the Roman Catholic Church in Azua, in Santa Domingo. It was presented to Rev. William McNabb, Canadian missionary stationed in the West Indies islands.

Rhode Island in 1766 enacted laws for the "preservation" of the oyster to keep the coastal oyster beds from being scraped bare.

Frozen Assets Melted

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Stew Stewart had 2,000 snowballs made at an ice plant to give away in a Christmas-in-July sales promotion. But most of the snowballs melted before they could be given away.

Bob Considine Says:

TV Newsmen Miss New York's Papers

NEW YORK — There's a story going the rounds in newspaperless New York that the head of the news and special events department of a big network, learning there had been a murder on Park avenue, rang for his most famous news commentator and barked, "You're assigned to this story. Get cracking. Call the police."

The great commentator looked down at the rug.

"I don't know their number," he said.

A well known TV newsman with an extensive newspaper and wire service background, put it this way:

"The Good Lord certainly has looked fondly on our media since the papers went on strike.

★ ★ ★

"We're just not equipped to get out on the street and cover a story—a big fire or flood or some other catastrophe—or a story that demands a lot of leg work and digging."

The President's new budget is expected to hit the $78 billion mark.

That's another way of saying that during the coming fiscal year we'll spend 5,200 times as much as we spent on the Louisiana Purchase—out of which we carved 14 of the richest states in the union.

Or, to put it another way, well over 10,000 times as much as we paid for Alaska, out of which we have taken nearly a billion in gold alone.

We'll spend as much this year as we would have spent if the United States had been founded at the time of the birth of Christ and had cost some $40,000,000 annually to operate through all those ages.

Peace is expensive. A single segment of peace-guarding, the B52G, for example.

It flies 650 miles per hour and higher than 50,000 feet. It's eight jet engines produce the power of 30 diesel locomotives.

Its gas tanks hold more fuel than three railroad tank cars. It can fly 6,000 miles without refueling, or nonstop halfway around the world on a single air refueling.

It can hold in its bomb bay more destruction than was visited on all lands by all adversaries in World War II, and in addition is now armed with two Hound Dog guided missiles, supersonic jobs, nuclear tipped, which can be flung against a target while the B52 is still hundreds of miles away.

The B52 is 156 feet long, has a wing span longer than the Wrights' first flight. Its tail stands nearly as tall as a 5-story building.

And with all the "luxuries," it costs about $10,000,000.

Peanuts& of course, campared to the $78 billions, or slavery. But dear at that.

The Christmas cards are coming in, like a blizzard, and we're happy to note that Christ is making gains. The Holy Family is staging a bit of a comeback: So is the Manger. Even the Star of Bethlehem, and the Wise Men are getting back in the wondrous act of the Nativity.

This is going to be rough, in time, on Scotty dogs, and pictures of lecherous Santa Clauses chasing nude models across the snow and ice of the North Pole, and kittens woh have unwound a ball of yarn which spells out a greeting.

But there it is.

Father Knows Best!

NORTH MASSAPEQUA, N. Y. (UPI) —Told that his five-year-old son was ineligible for transportation and would have to walk to kindergarten because he lived less than a half-mile from school, John O'Connell got out his tape measure and measured the distance at exactly 2,800 feet — 150 more than the necessary minimum. The youngster now rides in the school bus.

It's pretty hard to remember 'way back to when people wouldn't buy things they couldn't pay for . . . In a small town the houses are farther apart, and a man doesn't have to lower his window when he raises his voice. —Earl Wilson.

Raw Spuds Lose Out

NEW YORK — The average American consumed 22 pounds of canned, frozen, and dehydrated potatoes and potato chips in 1957, twice the amount of such products eaten in 1949 and 10 times the 1940 figure. Sales of the raw product, however, declined from 121 pounds per person in 1940 to 82 pounds in 1957.

Farm Boy Has Chance to Crow—He's Raised 5

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — John Schnellbacher has something to crow about — crows. He's raising five of them in his house.

John, 31, a former New Paltz, N.Y., farm boy, found the birds after mama bird had deserted them. He's been feeding them on milk, bread, hard boiled eggs and chopped meat.

McElroy Believes NATO 'Gives Hope for the Future'

PARIS (UPI) — U.S. Defense Secretary Neil McElroy said yesterday the achievements of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization during the past 10 years "give hope for the future and for further progress."

McElroy was one of several Western defense ministers who spoke at a top-secret NATO council session aimed at revitalizing the alliance's atomic and rocket defenses against the new Communist offensive against Berlin.

The session was devoted mainly to a review of comparative Western and Communist bloc military strength. Details of the reports delivered by the West's military leaders were not made public.

McElroy's remark was the only part of his speech released.

Informed sources said, however, the council heard that the Soviet bloc has more than 6,000,000 men under arms in Europe, including ground forces of 4,500,000.

The sources said NATO believed the existing nuclear deterrent was powerful enough to rule out danger of a war over Berlin, but that Russia would continue to probe the free world's defenses.

The subject of American missile bases in Europe was one of the major topics under discussion, both in the council meeting and in private diplomatic conversations.

Another was a drive to build NATO strength to 30 divisions from the current 23.

The council heard that NATO is just getting under way with a long-term plan for what is described as "phasing in" the most modern nuclear weapons and missiles into its armory of conventional weapons.

An official NATO spokesman said the program is only in its infancy, and that it is too early to express optimism or pessimism on its progress.

The Christian church first celebrated Palm Sunday in the 300s in Jerusalem.

Weather Helps 2,000 Still Fighting 60,000 Acre Blaze

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (UPI) — Favorable weather conditions today came to the aid of 2,000 weary firefighters fighting a gigantic brush fire in southern California.

Firemen said complete control of the blaze which has blackened 60,000 acres including parts of the sprawling Camp Pendleton Marine Corps base, was possible by at least tomorrow if winds and high humidity continue.

The five-day fire caused by a rifleman still remained out of control over more than 50 per cent of its 85-mile perimeter but firemen said most of the uncontrolled line was in deep, uninhabited mountain areas.

Nineteen homes and summer cabins have been destroyed in the blaze which erupted Sunday and roared through the western slopes of the Santa Ana Mountains which run north-south parallel to the coast about 10 miles inland.

There was no present danger to any homes and the fire in an isolated area of Camp Pendleton was almost completely controlled.

Dollar Income Sets Record but Worth Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the dollar income of Americans will set a record in 1958, real income in terms of buying power has declined from 1957 because of inflation.

The Commerce Department said personal income for the full year will exceed 353 billion dollars, up more than five billions from 1957.

More and bigger pay checks throughout the metalworking industries contributed most of a 2½-billion-dollar gain in the annual rate of personal income from October to November.

The increase boosted income to a record annual rate of 360 billion dollars, almost 4 per cent above the recession low point last February.

The report, confirmed that the rate of business recovery has continued to be rapid.

Panama Pushes Rule 12 Miles Out to Sea

PANAMA (AP) — President Ernesto de la Guardia has signed into law a bill extending Panama's territorial waters 12 miles out to sea. The limit had been three miles.

★ ★ ★

The extension completely surrounds the seaward ends of the 10-mile-wide Panama Canal Zone. The United States, under its treaty with Panama, has jurisdiction over canal waters only out to the three-mile limit.

★ ★ ★

The State Department has declined comment on the extension. In the past the United States has refused to recognize any claims to waters more than three miles from shore.

Humor, Pathos to Highlight Friday, Saturday Event

Waterford Group to Stage 2 Plays

A menu of humor and pathos, seasoned to suit the taste of both young and old, is promised with the staging of two one-act plays Friday and Saturday nights by Our Lady's Players of Waterford.

The new theatrical group will present its double-bill production on both nights at 8:15 p.m. in the hall of Our Lady of the Lakes Church on Dixie Highway.

★ ★ ★

The hour-and-15 minute performance will include plenty of side-splitting comedy in Paul McCoy's "Cicero the Great," as well as some serious drama in John Tumpayne's poetic Christmas play, "The Gift of Tenyin."

INVISIBLE DOG

In "Cicero the Great," an astute housewife devises an invisible dog as a scare-tactic to discourage salesmen. The play builds up to a hilarious climax, in which the only one who really emerges victorious is the invisible Cicero.

"The Gift of Tenyin" gives an unusual treatment to the story of the birth of Christ, in a unique Japanese setting.

The play is poetic and poignant in mood, bringing a foreign flavor and a new perspective to the compelling Christmas story.

FAMILY PRODUCTION

"We believe this, our first production, will rekindle the spirit of Christmas in the hearts of our audience, and provoke laughter and good spirits. It's a family production, aimed to please the children as well as the adults, and we hope everyone in the comunity will come," Richard Urban play director, said.

★ ★ ★

"Advance tickets are not necessary, and the very nominal donation asked is only to cover costs of production."

Children Aid Korean Orphan for Christmas

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Having decided not to exchange Christmas gifts again this year, students of Roosevelt Elementary School will contribute instead toward the support of a Korean orphan.

The orphan, Boo Sung Dae, was unofficially adopted by Roosevelt school pupils two years ago through the foster parent plan.

New Cardinals Take Oaths

St. Peter's Basilica Is Jammed as Pope John Installs 20 Princes

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — New princes of the Roman Catholic Church took the cardinal's oath amid the splendor of ancient ceremony today, promising to support Pope John XXIII even "to the point of shedding my blood."

Thousands of faithful massed in the vast Basilica of St. Peter to watch the Pontiff place broad-brimmed and tasselled red hats on the heads of 20 new cardinals as symbols of their office.

Three other new church princes were receiving their red hats from the Catholic chiefs of state of the nations in which they serve.

At one point during today's ceremony, the new church princes prostrated themselves before the altar in the chapel of St. Peronilla and completely covered their bodies with red capes and scarlet hoods while the choir chanted:

"We pray thee, therefore, help thy servants whom though hast redeemed by thy precious blood."

Pope John embraced each new cardinal and called him "brother."

The ceremonies of the public consistory began at 9:30 a.m. when the Pontiff entered the Pontiff entered the basilica in solemn procession, borne shoulder high on a portable throne.

Silver-voiced trumpets blared a fanfare, and the pontifical choir entoned "Tu Es Petrus" — Thou Art Peter — to welcome him.

Farmington Township Included in Proposal

By MARY CELINSKE
Press Correspondent

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—A survey to determine the need for a community college will soon be made by five school districts in Oakland and Wayne counties, it was announced by Louis Schmidt, Clarenceville school superintendent late yesterday.

Clarenceville School District, which includes parts of the City of Livonia and Redford Township as well as a part of Farmington Township, is expected to join with four other districts in a plan to build and operate a community college.

The other four districts are Plymouth, Livonia, South Redford and Redford Union.

Each district has contributed a share to a $5,000 fund to pay for the survey. The survey questions were compiled by the School Service Department of the University of Michigan.

The survey will attempt to determine whether students in the area would use community college facilities instead of commuting 15 to 30 miles to Wayne State University in Detroit or U. of M. in Ann Arbor.

A recent school census indicates that there are 40,832 persons in the five to 19-year-old age group in the districts concerned.

MORE THAN ENOUGH

Total assessed valuation of the entire area is $530,000,000, more than enough to support a community college, according to Schmidt.

He said it costs $450 to $500 annually to educate the average student in Michigan. "In a community college the state would pay $180 per student, half of the remainder would come from local support, and the balance from tuition," Schmidt said.

He added that four types of courses are planned for the proposed community college. One is a transfer course, with credits which it is hoped could be transferred to other colleges.

Another is a terminal course where students would attend classes for several months and alternate with actual on-the-job training in their particular field.

A technical course and business courses would complete the proposed curriculum, Schmidt said.

A super breed of heifer developed by experts at Rutgers is expected to produce more than twice as much milk as the average cow.

Fire Victim Worried About Her Lost Dog

The mother of a Pontiac physician, who was burned with her son during a fire in his home yesterday, today is lying in her Pontiac General Hospital bed worrying about her runaway and fire-frightened dog.

Mrs. Maybelle McCandliss of Grand Rapids, who was visiting her son, Dr. Donald H. McCandliss of 1539 Lakeview St., Sylvan Lake, at the time the fire broke out, phoned The Press from her bed this morning and told this story:

Her dog, a black 1½-year-old female Belgian Schipperke ran out of the smoke filled house yesterday after she had tried to save him and hasn't been seen since. Apparently frightened, the dog ran down Lakeview street.

Mrs. McCandliss said the 9-pound dog, who answers to the name of "Inky," had short hair, no tail and resembles a fox.

Mrs. McCandliss said she would appreciate anyone finding the dog to notify her at the hospital.

Last of 7 Pleads Guilty on Football Pool Charge

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The last of seven University of Michigan students charged with handling football cards has pleaded guilty.

Carl M. Riseman, 21, of Detroit, paid $106.90 in fines and costs for the possession of football pool tickets.

Riseman, then an associate sports editor of the campus Michigan Daily originally had pleaded innocent and was scheduled to stand trial today. Court officials said he came in late Friday and entered his plea.

The other six students—including football fullback Tony Rio and basketball captain Jack Lewis — pleaded guilty last month and received similar fines.

Plan Shopping Center

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

MILFORD—A plan to level an unoccupied hill into a pond at the base of the hill, for construction of a 14-store shopping center, is now pending according to Highland realtor Edward Steele.

He is representing a Detroit development firm and if the company engineer's plans and sketches are ready by Monday night, Steele said he will submit them to the village council for study.

Although council members approved the pond-filling project at the Dec. 8 meeting, they said their approval in no way indicated an intention to rezone the property from heavy industry to commercial.

The steep hill is located along Summit street, just north of the former Ford plant, and the old mill pond, created by Henry Ford some 20 years ago, is at the bottom of the big mound on N. Milford road.

Completion of leveling operations would create approximately 12 acres of contoured land for construction of the proposed shopping center.

FEW TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

With frontage on both Summit street to the west and N. Milford road on the north, shoppers would have very few traffic problems entering and leaving the blacktopped parking area in front of the stores, Steele explained.

At the present time the pond belongs to the new owner of the Ford plant, James Robbins, who has been trying to sell the three mill ponds, dams and acreage surrounding the plant.

Steele has indicated that his client and Robbins had reached an agreement on the property, and it would be only a matter of time before the gigantic task of grading down the hill into the old pond would get under way.

If plans can be completed this weekend, Steele said he will also submit an artist's conception of the proposed center, at the Monday night meeting.

Ask Clarkston Area Voters to OK Library Tax Hike

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—Some 3,200 registered voters in the Clarkston area will be asked to approve an additional one-mill tax increase for a free township library, and a continued five mills for Fire Department operation, at the annual spring election April 6

Whether or not to have two additional trustees on the township board will also be on the spring ballot. A new law requires a decision of a community-population of 3,000 to 5,000 registered voters.

There is a population of more than 10,000 in Independence Township at the present time, according to Treasurer Ira Snader.

The decision made by the township board to place the library proposition on the spring ballot, was parked by the Clarkston Community Women's Club, which had filed necessary petitions Dec. 11.

The group organized, and has kept the present library in operation for the past three years, and in a report submitted by four representatives of the club, more than 4,500 books have been in circulation during the past five months.

SEE $20,000 REVENUE

Snader said that if the tax millage for the library were approved, it would mean a maximum of $20,000 revenue.

However, the women's group indicated that only a part of the millage would be used for operation and new books.

The township board has authorized Fire Chief Donald Beach to immediately file a petition for a continued five-mills for the fire department, as the proposition approved by voters in 1953 expires this year.

3 CANDIDATES FILE

Only three candidates have filed petitions for township offices, according to Snader.

Supervisor Duane Hurstall has petitioned for re-election, as has William H. Stamp for Justice of the Peace.

Deadline for filing petitions for the Feb. 16 primary election has been set for 4 p.m., Dec. 29.

Potter Summoned to White House for Talk Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retiring Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich) confers with President Eisenhower today. The reason for the meeting was unknown.

Potter said he didn't know what it was all about himself.

"I assume it concerns what happened in the Michigan election," he told a newsman.

Potter was beaten by Democrat Philip A. Hart and the Republican senator's political or business future has been a subject of speculation.

Beyond saying that he has several prospects, Potter declined to say what he may do.

Potter said he had not asked for the White House appointment, but declined to say how it came about.

'Cool Customer' Takes $576, Jewelry

Robs Vagabond Cleaners

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — A cool and deliberate bandit held up the Vagabond Cleaners, 8800 W. Eight Mile Rd., early yesterday evening and got away with $576 in cash, and a ring and wristwatch of a total value estimated at $150.

The owner of the store, Morris Bowne of 21660 Ridgedale Rd., Oak Park, told Royal Oak Township police that he and an employe, William Coklow of Detroit, were alone in the store when a man entered brandishing a nickel-plated automatic pistol, and ordered him to hand over the money in the cash register.

After scooping up the money, the bandit demanded Bowne's watch and ring. The intruder then walked lowly out of the store and left in the direction of Mitcheldale street, Bowne said.

The owner of the store was able to give police a good description of the robber, who was about 40 years old.

Bonisteel said he planned to devote more time to his profession as an attorney and to his family.

Bonisteel for the last three years also has been a member of the board of governors of Wayne State University. He said he will continue in that capacity until the conversion of the institution to a state supported university is completed next year.

He is a Republican.

Police said descriptions of the gunmen fitted those of men who have staged other holdups in the Detroit area. Recent holdups include that at the Plymouth Employes Credit Union where the manager, Claude Richards, was shot to death Dec. 3.

Tailor Book of Humor to Make Gift That's Really Personalized

One of the best personalized gifts is one that can't be bought in any store but is easy and fun to make.

It may very well be the life of a party or, on the other hand, you may wish to hand it privately to a friend or a loved one.

It's all very simple: just paste especially selected funny cartoons, clipped from newspapers and magazines, in a blank book. With only a little thought and effort—or as much thought and effort as you please — this will produce a joke book especially tailored for the recipient.

If Pop gets his biggest kick out of jokes about dumb bosses, he'll appreciate a choice collection of same.

If Mom appreciates cartoons touching on the theme that housewives are somewhat put upon, you will find plenty of them if you watch the funny panels consistently.

Equally appropriate themes can be struck for Sue the working girl, Tom the college boy, Ed the girl hater, or any of the rest of your friends and relatives. All have special interests, hobbies, foibles on which you may capitalize.

An especially apt twist is to get together a series of cartoons that brings memories of a couple's life together, from dating days through marriage, child raising and old age.

With Church, Santa's Sleigh

Try Colonial Yule Theme for Holiday Table Setting

Each year the holiday season seems to become more modern, more paced to the gimmick. So an old-fashioned holiday table setting is a refreshing respite.

A large cookie sheet or serving tray forms the base. Snow on the sheet is a layer of fluffy popcorn. A cutout church stands in the background and a bright sleigh in the foreground.

Fill the sleigh with "do not open 'til after dinner" gifts and each guest will take one when leaving the table. Surround the entire centerpiece with pine branches and cones.

CUT TO SIZE — Apartment dwellers like their decorations in miniature. Santa riding on his rocking deer makes attractive table decoration. Brightly wrapped bonbons may be substituted for tree ornaments.

OLD-FASHIONED — sleigh and church of construction paper make nostalgic centerpiece with popcorn snow. Gifts in sleigh are favors for guests.

CHRISTMAS SLEIGH

Supplies needed are heavy red construction paper, plain tape and holly-decorated tape, scissors, pencil and an empty box approximately 5x10 inches and 2 inches high.

Draw two profile outlines of an old-fashioned sleigh on paper and cut out. Tape one outline on each side of the box. Cut a strip of red paper the width of the box as high as the back of the sleigh and tape it to the end of the box, forming the sleigh's back.

* * *

Draw church and steeple outline (approximately 12 inches tall) on heavy white construction paper. Cut out.

Measure to center of base of church and draw line up 4½ inches. Draw a line 3 inches long across top of line, forming a "T." Cut along lines and fold back for doors. The slightly opened doors hold church upright.

Boat Becomes Trailer

CHICAGO — Headed for production is a 13-foot boat that splits into two boats or folds to make a car trailer. It's designed with two hull sections hinged together. When it is used as a trailer a single wheel and spring mounting is affixed to the bottom of the unit. The trailer can double as a sleeping compartment. The boat weighs 225 pounds and can carry 700 pounds of gear when being used as a trailer.

Japanese Use 'Copters

TOKYO — One of Japan's eight large power companies uses helicopters to check lines and isolated facilities and has its own microwave communications system to speed instructions to its many scattered branches and substations. Another company is experimenting with a closed-cycle gas turbine, which uses natural gas to run its generators.

Men Build Short Line

RUCKERSVILLE, Va. (AP)—One of the nation's newest railroads is the "Tootsie RR." A. N. Dulaney and Sam Hagar spent over two years building the locomotive and coal tender. It is powered by a ¾-horse gasoline motor. At present the trackage is just 25 feet, from Dulaney's barber shop to a drive-in restaurant, but they have plans to extend it into a vacant field.

Cobalt Diet Aids Cattle

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Because Florida hay lacks cobalt, attempts to introduce cattle into the state on a large scale met failure at first. The cattle didn't need cobalt for their own bodies, but the microscopic organisms inside their bodies needed the mineral to exist. Without these organisms the cattle couldn't digest their food. After cobalt was put into the cattle feed the problem was solved.

BIG CHANCE FOR LITTLE GIRL — Now mother's helper can really help with Christmas decorations by using self-stick cloth tapes.

For Mother's Helper

Yule Joy Comes Early

The joy of Christmas comes early to the little girl who helps mother decorate the home.

One way a youngster can help without making a mess is to create figures — with mother's guidance — by using self-stick cloth tapes.

This youngster and her mother use sunshine yellow tape to make the angel and her halo almost glow. Brown tape, pinched at intervals, forms the hair. Dark blue collar and gloves provide contrast. The angel is flanked by red candles, each tipped with a flame of yellow tape.

The Christmas tree and snowflake design set to the side were done in tape on a sheet of clear plastic and then mounted on the wall with cloth tape. Waxed paper or other household wrapping materials also can be used as background for the designs.

Hope to Open Strategic Polar Route

British Plan Atomic Cargo Sub

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International

LONDON (UPI) — British engineers are pushing plans for an 80,000-ton atomic-powered cargo submarine to open up a new strategic trade route under the Arctic ice.

The epoch-making cruise of the U.S. Navy submarine Nautilus beneath the North Pole has given the project fresh impetus.

With luck, the British hope to have the first nuclear cargo submarine built by 1962 or 1963.

Plans for the underwater freighter are being drawn by Mitchell Engineering, a combine of some 40 British engineering and construction firms which also is building a nuclear power station at Chapel Cross in Scotland.

The American Machine and Foundry Co. is cooperating with Mitchell Engineering in preparing plans for the atomic reactor which will provide power for the vessel.

Frederick G. Mitchell, chairman of the Mitchell group, said initial tests for the submarine have been "highly successful."

They were carried out by Saunders-Roe, one of Britain's leading nautical and aircraft building firms, in an experimental tank on the Isle of Wight off the south coast of England.

CONTINUE TESTS

Mitchell said the tests are being continued for another 10 months by Saunders-Roe. These experiments, he said, will cover questions of hull design, economic speeds at various depths, comparisons of operating costs with surface vessels and method of handling, docking, loading, discharging and ballasting a nuclear submarine.

★ ★ ★

Mitchell said after reports on these tests are received it will be possible to prepare a design for such a craft and to estimate costs of building and operating the vessel.

He said the actual design will be drawn by Naval architects, although this project is quite independent of similar plans for construction of a nuclear submarine for the British Navy.

If the submarine actually is built, Mitchell said, the hull will be constructed by a shipbuilding firm while Mitchell Engineering and American Machine and Foundry will manufacture the reactors.

COST UNKNOWN

Mitchell said until the preliminary tests are completed it is impossible to predict what the vessel will look like or cost.

He suggested, however, that it might be of about 80,000 tons displacement with a speed of 35 knots.

"Such a vessel," he said, "would be invaluable in bringing iron ore to this country from Hudson Bay, which is closed for six months of the year by ice."

Mitchell said that in addition to hauling cargoes under the polar ice, the submarine might be used for carrying oil from the Middle East to Britain.

Aussies List Airfields

CANBERRA — The Australian Air Pilots Association is compiling a directory of country airfields to provide owners of 700 privately owned aircraft with a service similar to that given motorists by automobile clubs.

Insects Are Boon, Peril

WASHINGTON—Almost all fruits and vegetables depend on insects for fertilization. Insects, however, multiply so fast that if they were not kept in check they would eat all the food. That's why nature has maintain the balance.

Picnic Kit With Cookies Is Gift in Good Taste

ALMOND MERINGUE SANDWICHES

2 egg whites, room temperature
1 cup sugar, sifted
1 teaspoon vinegar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg whites with hand or electric mixer in a 2-quart mixing bowl until stiff enough to form pointed peaks. Add sugar in six portions and beat until blended in after each addition.

Beat in vinegar and vanilla until meringue forms pointed peaks.

Prepare cookie sheet by placing plain brown paper on sheet. Pour meringue mixture into pastry bag fitted with plain round-hole tube.

Press out onto sheet in long strips the size of ladyfingers. (About 2½ or 3 inches long.) Drop slivered almonds on the top of each cookie.

Bake in slow (250-degree) oven for 25 to 30 minutes or until a pale cream color. Remove from paper immediately and place on cookie rack to cool.

When cool, slice through the middle. Spread with cherry jelly or chocolate icing and place back together to make the cookie sandwich.

OK Beginning on New Rocket

NASA Gives Firm Job of Making $200 Million Space Flight Engine

WASHINGTON (AP) — This country's hope of being the first to rocket a man into space took an upward turn Wednesday — at a prospective cost of about 200 million dollars.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration gave a California firm the job of developing a huge engine designed, NASA said, "to deliver far more thrust than any other rocket now in existence."

NASA selected Rocketdyne, a division of North American Aviation, Inc., Canoga Park, Calif., to design and develop an engine with up to 1½ million pounds of thrust.

"Performance flight rating tests of the engine will be based on unmanned vehicle applications," the announcement said, "but it may eventually propel manned satellites and space craft."

Such an engine could launch space payloads weighing several tons. The thrust of rockets already developed by the Soviet Union has not been announced, but they claim to have shot up a 4,850-pound object to a height of 132 miles.

Selection of Rocketdyne to develop a rocket which would propel a heavier object much farther — perhaps to Mars or Venus—came soon after the Air Force successfully fired two Thor ballistic missiles, almost simultaneously, from both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

6 Alabama Officials to Claim Immunity

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Six Alabama officials will argue their immunity Jan. 5 to a U.S. district judge who ordered them to answer Negro charges of discrimination before the U.S. Civil Rights Commission.

A state judge and five voter registrars, who refused to testify at the federal agency's inquiry here last week, had been under federal orders to appear with their registration files before the commission at second hearing Friday.

However, Judge Frank Johnson Jr. agreed Wednesday to give the officials a chance to try to convince the court that as immune judicial officers they have a legal right to defy the agency.

After Johnson postponed until Jan. 9 the deadline for obeying subpoenas for Friday's hearing, a spokesman for the commission in Washington said resumption of its inquiry was postponed pending Johnson's final ruling.

Cutting Fat Foods Could Halt Heart Deaths

Some doctors now estimate that if Americans would cut their intake of fat foods by 25 per cent, the number of hert deaths could be cut in half within 20 years.

At one time, Turks and Arabs reckoned their wealth by the number of fat ladies they kept in their harems.

Did you know that 80 per cent of U. S. drivers aged 60 or more have problems with their vision? Which reminds us of a recent query by Robert Q. Lewis: "Has anyone heard about the flea trainer who became an elephant trainer—because his sight was failing?

An experienced tea plucker can pluck as many as 160 pounds of leaf in a single day.

Although people are marrying younger, they don't necessarily plunge headlong into wedlock. More than 87 per cent of marriages are still preceded by an engagement period, and 62 per cent of the engagement rings are given at Christmas.

One way to avoid fires is to go to church. Last year churches had only 1.05 fires per hundred buildings, compared to 2.65 for colleges and 5.6 for restaurants and taverns.

The French celebrate St. Catherine's Day on Nov. 25, when every young seamstress in Paris goes on a citywide husband hunt.

Remember Typhoid Mary? Now there are 2,500 U. S. typhoid carriers who are insulated or isolated against social contacts, to keep them from creating epidemics.

In Merrie England, in olden times, the greatest holiday delicacy was an elaborate peacock pie.

Contrary to popular opinion, the better adjusted and less neurotic you are, the more easily you can be hypnotized.

Elevator Operator Set Elegant Hospital Tone

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — A delegation of nuns visiting St. Vincent's Hospital here reported "the elevator operator was the nicest man and his uniform was just elegant."

The elevator operator was a local doctor dressed formally who had been called in on an emergency from a party.

Shoes Wear 45 Days

NEW YORK—The average child wears out a pair of shoes in 45 days, and some boys go through them 25 per cent faster than girls. Once grown up, however, it's the other way around. The average American woman buys 3.7 pairs of shoes a year while the average man buys 1.7 pairs.

Woodpecker Switched

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A woodpecker caused a 37-minute electric power failure in a wide area of Denver. Power company officials said the bird stuck its beak into an automatic switch on a main line. The bird was electrocuted.

Woman Postpones Call After Car Rams Office

As she drove up in front of the license bureau, her foot stuck under the rubber floor mat of her car. The car jumped the curb, rammed into the front of the bureau and broke out three plate glass windows.

Mrs. Cook postponed her application for the driver's license.

Do-It-Yourself Outside Candles

Let Fluorescent Tapers Beam Merry Christmas to Welcome Visitors

For lawn or porch decoration, how about two welcome candles that spell "Merry Christmas" on one side and when reversed will greet the visitor with "Happy New Year?"

Make the base of two pieces of 1x12-inch lumber, 11½ inches long. These are glued, with waterproof glue, to produce a double thickness with grain crossed. In the center of each base a smaller inside brace is made of two pieces of 1x6-inch lumber, each 5½ inches long, glued with the grain crossed and nailed or screwed to the base.

The front and back faces are of 1x8-inch lumber, the shorter ones 4 feet long and the longer ones 6 feet long.

Draw four-inch square letters for the two legends in pencil and saw out the letters.

The two unlettered sides of the candles are of 1x6-inch lumber, one serving as a door, and the other as a panel for the attachment of the electrical fixtures. Three 1-inch holes are bored near the top of each of these pieces to permit heat to escape.

Fasten colored fireproof film to the inside of the lettered panels, and fasten the electrical fixtures for fluorescent lighting on the stationary side panel, with the electrical cable entering a hole bored in the bottom of the panel.

Then fasten the lettered panels and the electrical panel to the base and to each other with 6-penny finishing nails and glue. Add the cap, in the center of which a hole ½-inch in diameter is bored ⅝-inch deep.

Students for Priesthood Inspired by Relatives

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Most young Americans studying for the Roman Catholic priesthood have at least one relative who is a priest or otherwise associated directly with the religious life.

This was reported by the Rev. Joseph H. Fichter, S. J., visiting professor of sociology at the University of Notre Dame, who also said that most priests-to-be come from middle-class families and are graduated from hometown high schools before entering the seminary.

Junketing Solons Find Better Roads Needed

SANTA FE (UP) — A group of congressmen learned about the need for better roads on the Navajo Indian Reservation the hard way.

For several days they bumped around over the Indian land. Rep. Joseph M. Montoya (D-NM) said the trip was "a first hand legislative experience in riding through the dust all day. I don't think there could have been a better selling point for improved roads on the reservation."

KITCHEN AUTOMATION — There'll be a hot meal waiting when these tired Christmas shoppers come home. Mother sets automatic timer and temperature control on oven before leaving. Oven will go on automatically, bake or roast correct time and turn off.

Boon for Busy Shopper

Timing Devices Help

Every minute counts during the pre-Christmas rush and the busy homemaker can be thankful for the modern devices that help her get through it all in one piece. Among them are her automatic washer and dryer that take over the laundry job, the telephone for remote-control shopping, efficient cleaning tools, a garbage disposal to shorten steps.

There's one task that can't be skipped or skimped, however, and that's cooking meals for the family day in and day out. Fortunately, there's a device to help you out with that, too, the automatic oven timer on your electric range. This very efficient helper can free you for an afternoon of shopping or other activities.

Simply, an automatic over timer enables you to bake or roast accurately when you are not there.

Once you have set it, before leaving the kitchen or leaving the house, it will turn the oven on at the proper time, cook or roast at a preselected temperature and turn the oven off again when the cooking time has passed.

Timers vary in their method of operation so use according to instruction and pick up extra hours during busy days.

Marine at Waikiki Asks for Vacation in Miami

HONOLULU (UP)—Gerald Adams, a Marine corporal, is stationed just half an hour's drive from Hawaii's leading vacation spot — Waikiki Beach.

Asked in a survey of Marines where he'd like to go for a vacation, the corporal replied: "I'd like to go to Miami, Fla. I've never been there or any other very good vacation spot."

Hayman Island Lies Near Reef

Today's Tourist Joins Darwin in Fascination of Coral Colors, Farms

HAYMAN ISLAND, Australia—Today, the Great Barrier Reef has been charted and marked with lights. Candy-striped cabanas dot the sands, and pleasure boats ply the lagoons. Local flights operate daily from Sydney to Proserpine on the Queensland coast.

Travelers board a bus in Proserpine for a trip through the sugar cane country to the coast, where a launch ferries them to Hayman Island on the inner side of the reef.

Hayman, volcanic and rugged, is one of 600 islands lying 18 miles off the Queensland coast. Here, palatial lodgings and white sands create an atmosphere akin to Waikiki. Sportsmen can rent skin diving equipment or charter boats for game fishing. The waters around the reef are well stocked with mackerel, bonito, snapper and swordfish.

The islands of the reef, extending from the Equator to the Tropic of Capricorn, are scattered in the Pacific at a distance of 15 to 150 miles from the mainland. A favorite excursion for sightseers on Hayman Island is the trip across the water to Day Dream Island with its exotic foliage and green lagoons.

Glass-bottom launches are ideal for viewing the marine vegetation, gaudy shells, fish and coral with all the colors of a Persian carpet. Botanist Charles Darwin was fascinated by the formation of the Great Barrier Reef. Through the millenium, the ocean floor kept dropping, Darwin claimed, and as it dropped millions of coral polyps kept building up toward the sunlight to form cays just below the water's surface. When the tide is low, the coral in all its pastel shades and eerie shapes is visible for miles.

Highlight of a trip to the reef is a cruise among the outer islands. Antarctic whales, 60 feet long, abound in the Queensland waters in the summer months. It is not unusual for a whole school of whales to follow an excursion launch. Blowing jets of spray over the deck, the wheels come close enough to pose for portraits.

125,000 Born Each Day

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—The latest United Nations estimates for world population put the figure at 2.74 billion in mid-1956. The annual increase is now estimated at 45,000,000 people a year or 125,000 a day.

TREE PARTY CALLS FOR NIBBLE-AS-YOU-PLEASE TREATS — Red mosaic pattern of hot serving tray fits season as does hot tomato soup spiced with nutmeg and cinnamon stick muddlers, broiled buttered flat bread.

Christmas Tree, Snacks and Friends Make Party

The fun and excitement of getting the house ready for Christmas can be shared with family and friends in a tree trimming party. The tree itself provides the entertainment and guests can haggle good-naturedly about placement of ornaments.

Make refreshments simple and buffet style to let guests nibble as they decorate. Keep hot foods hot with an electric server and the tree-trimming snacks will be delectable from beginning to the end.

Hot soup, laced with nutmeg and cinnamon bark is cold-weather fare served with flat sesame seed bread broiled with lots of butter.

Other snack suggestions are bite-sized hamburgers or tangy cheese sandwiches. Toasted slices of all-butter pound cake served with hot blueberry syrup and steaming mugs of Viennese coffee (half whipped cream and half of coffee) make another festive treat.

Postmen Enter Protest on New Street Names

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—Local postmen have protested a new street-naming setup. Postmaster L.L. Gholson complained:

"Now we have an East Green Acres, a West Green Acres and a North Green Acres. And we have a North Llano Drive which is south

Divorce Suit 'Cruelty'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Everett C. Hess, charged with bigamy, filed a divorce complaint against two of his three wives. He accused both mates of "excessive, outrageous and cruel treatment." He said the third wife already had filed a divorce suit against him.

Mayor Enters Talks About Paper Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner and three national and city mediation officials meet today to discuss the nine-day-old strike against nine city newspapers.

★ ★ ★

Peace talks broke down completely Wednesday. Groups representing publishers and the striking Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union failed to agree on a resumption of negotiations as they met with federal mediators.

Federal Mediator Herbert L. Haber said: "The meeting has been adjourned subject to our call, insofar as joint meetings are concerned. In the meantime, the Federal Mediation Service will continue to have separate meetings with representatives of both parties."

Presses at the nine papers have been still since shortly after the strike of deliverymen began Dec. 9 over wages and other contract issues.

Cleanup Time? Leave It to Mom!

Christmas cleanup is generally a do-it-yourself job for Mother. Pop and the youngsters, eager to help trim the tree and windows, anxious to supervise the turkey cooking, disappear fast when it comes time to put the house back in shape.

Here are some tips to help with a solo stint. Start by dismantling the tree. Wind lights, as you remove them, around a sturdy piece of cardboard to prevent tangling. Then wrap in tissue paper so that bulbs don't hit against each other and break.

Wrap each decoration carefully in facial tissue. This not only protects them against breakage but against lustre-dimming dust as well.

Now swathe tree, wreaths and all Christmas greens in a laundry-bound sheet and let Dad carry the whole bundle outside.

Decorated windows may have looked festive but they're no fun to clean. To get rid of decals, wet them, gently pull them off and then sponge over the gummy residue with a solution of three tablespoons of sal soda per quart of wafer.

Where soap, which contains a certain amount of fat, was used for decor, the sal soda's alkaline properties emulsify it.

If the soap was applied modestly, a sal soda solution will do, but if youngsters gave it their all and put it on in good solid layers, use the sal soda concentrated, dry, with brush.

FROSTY HOLIDAY — Decorations were fun to put on windows or glass panels. But then comes the cleanup job. Remove push-button snow quickly with a stiff bristled brush and sal soda concentrated, either in solution or dry.

The push-button snow is nearly always squirted on with a heavy hand, so slice off the worst of it with a knife or single-edge razor blade and then go over the area with a wet brush and dry sal soda.

Witness Unconcerned About Court Reporter

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Court reporter Martin Applebaum, trying to record every word in Baltimore County Circuit Court, complained that the witness was mumbling.

"What difference does it make?" asked the witness distinctly. "I'm not talking to you."

Report on Rauwolfia

LONDON — Researchers writing in the British Medical Journal tell of new findings concerning reserpine and other rauwolfia drugs that have been thought to reduce blood pressure by acting on the central nervous system. The new research, they say, indicates that rauwolfia drugs eliminate the hormone norepinephrine, a powerful blood vessel-contracting and pressure-raising hormone, from the walls of blood vessels.

President Selects Agriculture Aide

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower todty named Clarence L. Miller an assistant secretary of agriculture. He now is associate chief of the Commodity Stabilization Service in the Agriculture Department.

The President gave Miller, 46, a Republican, a recess appointment. A formal nomination will go to the Senate when Congress convenes next month.

Miller also is being named a member of the Commodity Credit Corp. board of directors. In that job and as assistant secretary of agriculture, he succeeds Don Paarlberg who resigned recently to become Eisenhower's economic adviser.

Nile Exploration Opens Up Africa

Famous Sons of Britain Lead the Development of Egypt and Sudan

WASHINGTON — In 1862, the English explorer John Speke discovered Lake Victoria in the deep interior of what is now British East Africa. It confirmed his theory that the huge equatorial body of water was the source of the great Nile River.

At the same time, another Englishman, Samuel Baker, was following the Nile's eastern tributaries in Ethiopia. Two years later, northwest of Victoria, he found Lake Albert, a second major link in the upriver system.

The opening up of inner Africa — plus completion of the Suez Canal in 1869 — marked the start of a three-sided relationship between Britain, Egypt, and Sudan that was to guide the Sudan's future course. Along the way, some of Britain's most famous sons played leading roles.

In 1869 Egypt was nominally a part of the Ottoman Empire. The Egyptian Khedive appointed Samuel Baker to pacify and govern its turbulent Equatorial provinces. Baker set up a vigorous administration in the wilds.

He was succeeded by Charles (Chinese) Gordon, already a British hero by virtue of military and civil successes in the Far East. Gordon also put up a strong battle against the forces of division and lawlessness in the Sudan. But he died on dervish spears at Khartoum in 1885 during the Mahdi revolt.

Still another colorful Englishman Lord Kitchener, led the British and Egyptian reoccupation of the Sudan. With him in the final battle of Omdurman in 1898 rode a young subaltern named Winston Churchill.

Great Barrier Reef Colorful at Low Tide

HAYMAN ISLAND, Australia — The best time to view the Great Barrier Reef in all its rainbow colors is at low tide. When the waters recede, tourists have a field day collecting shell and coral souvenirs. Many a collector, however, is disappointed to learn that the coral loses its pastel tint when removed from the living reef.

More and more round-the-world passengers are discovering that the Great Barrier Reef is a pleasant side-trip. A major airline now serves Australian cities from the West Coast via Honolulu and Fiji.

DARK STORES — This is East Berlin during the Yule season. The streets and sidewalks are deserted in this night scene of Stalin-allee, the main thoroughfare of Communist dominated East Berlin. This picture, made at 7:30 p.m., shows neon signs and gaily decorated stores are few, and there is little nighttime activity. West Berlin streets are active, gay and busy in contrast.

West Berliners Strongly Fear War

Want Ultimatum Given to Reds

BERLIN (UPI) — Worried West Berliners today sought a stronger declaration from the West on the future of the city—an Allied ultimatum that further Soviet moves would mean war.

They were pleased with the allied declaration at the NATO Council that Soviet Russia would not risk a nuclear war over Berlin but they wanted something stronger.

Sentiment favoring such a Western ultimatum built up as the first three weeks passed of the six months waiting period the Russians have given the West to quit the city.

A feeling that the Soviets must be told flatly that they will risk a shooting war if they move further to make the Western position untenable here was pointed up by West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt.

★ ★ ★

Brandt told a news conference after returning Tuesday from the NATO talks in Paris that a "horrible disaster" faced Berlin unless the West convinced Russia it really meant business here.

The fear of Berliners was that the "something horrible" can happen if the Soviets are not made fully aware of the Western stand. The Allies have said they would defend Berlin with force; West Berlin wants them to threaten war, as the Soviets have done.

Russia meanwhile showed no sign of backing down on its Nov. 27 demand the Allies get out and leave Berlin an open, demilitarized city. The official Soviet news agency Tass early today reiterated the Red stand.

Since its ultimatum, Russia has gone further. Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev told an East Berlin newspaper last week that any Western attempt to break a Communist blockade would lead to World War III.

The Soviet feeling appeared to be based on fear that West Germany was becoming a key cog in NATO defense. An English-language Moscow broadcast said this morning the NATO statements showed the Western plans to use the Bonn regime as a striking force in their aggressive plans.

The East German Communist news service ADN reiterated the Soviet statements and said the NATO communique affirming its strong stand on Berlin increased the danger of war.

Another warning came from Warsaw where Soviet Vice Premier Anastas Mikoyan warned in a speech that all Communist parties "must be extremely vigilant because of the rebirth of German militarism."

Red China Seen 'Germany of Asia' in 20 Years

HONG KONG (AP)—"With industrialization, I can see (Red) China emerging as the Germany of Asia in 20 years—with 30 million Chinese troops goosestepping determinedly forward."

An Indian population expert, Dr. S. Chandrasekhar, made this prediction today after touring the Communist-ruled mainland for six weeks.

Chandrasekhar said Red China "is like a big zoo."

"Everyone is fed, clothed, and taken care of when they are sick," he said, "but there is no individual freedom, and the intellectual class has been destroyed."

The director of the Indian Institute of Population Studies told a news conference that China's population is growing at an alarming rate. He estimated there are 653 million persons now and predicted the total will hit one billion in 15 years.

Coeducation for Cairo?

CAIRO — The ministry of Education is planning a poll to get the views of students, parents, headmasters, and teachers of preparatory schools on coeducation in the United Arab Republic. Coeducation has been in practice in Egyptian and Syrian universities since their founding, and it is also the rule in elementary schools, but so far preparatory and secondary schools have been separate for boys and girls.

41 North Saginaw Street — Miracle Mile

Sub-Beat Generation Plagues City Santas

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Street corner Santa Clauses are having a rough time of it this year.

When you catch them saying "Ho-ho-ho-ho-ho-ho-ho-ho-ho-ho," it is likely they are not being merely jovial. They are counting to 10, in the accepted St. Nick numerical system—otherwise known as the Claus count-down—before speaking.

* * *

The thing that makes it so tough this year is that the savvy kids of today have gotten big ideas. Inspired by television commercials on the kiddy shows ("Tell Mommy and Daddy to give you a wonderful Gertrude Ederle outdoor swimming pool for Christmas"), they are asking incredible items from anyone they see in a red suit and whiskers.

Which explains why you overhear a curious statement like this, as you pass a Fifth Avenue curbside chimney: "Ho-ho-ho, little lady, wouldn't you really rather have a teddy bear than a mink?"

The rules of Santa Clausing, at least in New York, have been tightened considerably. Because of the unreasonable demands of the sub-beat generation and the junior jet set, the "Volunteers of America" Santas are under orders to "promise nothing" to the kiddies. At the same time they are expected to send children away "hopeful and happy" that their wishes will be fulfilled.

This requires a certain skill at evasion among the chuckle-dispensers on the street corners. And that is a lot to ask of a man who must also ring a bell with sincerity, and turn over his chimney coin collection with honesty.

Among the other rules which good Kris Kringles must follow are these: "Attract attention but don't be conspicuous," "ring the bell but never be a nuisance," "keep your whiskers clean," "don't eat garlic" and "do not engage in arguments or disputes."

Compared with the indoor or department store St. Nicholas, the curbside Claus is decidedly put upon, his only advantage is that, for the outdoor variety, a jovial facial expression comes easier.

"You just set your face in a smile," as one put it, "and it literally freezes there."

Matison is 65, and this is his 10th year beside a papier mache chimney. He's got the best spot in town: The Rockefeller Center post. This way, his customers and conversants are frequently tourists, who are more naive and wide-eyed than the local New York breed.

Matison is an ex-seaman. He's been shipwrecked three times. Many years ago he went to the Bowery and established residence in the Bowery tabernacle. He lives 11 months of the year on odd coin from odd jobs around the chapel.

John never seems to mind the rigors of talking to kids, or of carrying his heavy chimney back to headquarters at night, or of ringing a bell to keep warm. He lives for this job . . .

"It's the only time of the year," he has said, "that is not lonely."

Recent Diggings Free Glacier-Buried Forest

Recent excavations uncovered remnants of a spruce forest beneath several tons of clay soil. The forest was covered when the last glacier pushed across Wisconsin. That was 11,400 years ago.

High School Miler Has an Unorthodox Prayer

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Keith Locke, discussing his record-breaking mile in the state high school track meet, was asked by a fellow church member if he prayed during the race.

Yes, he said, he did: "I said, Lord, you pick 'em up and I'll put 'em down."

India has just inaugurated in New Delhi its new Supreme Court building, which took four years to build and cost $1,784,000.

FOLD OF MATERIAL

Here is a huge family Christmas stocking for you to make and hang by the chimney with care.

A bit of conversational nonsense to decorate your fireplace, it will grow in pleasure and memories as the years pass.

It won't matter if you don't complete the stocking in time for Christmas, because each year you can add other designs that have some special meaning to your family—the baby's first toy; the puppy dog Dad sneaked in on Christmas Eve; Sis's first evening dress. Design your own particular memories and applique.

Then fill the stocking with gay whimsical gifts and wrapped Christmas candies for holiday guests dropping in to wish everyone a happy time.

A Christmas stocking is easy to make. First draw an outline on a piece of newspaper as illustrated, until you get the size and shape stocking you want. Cut out the pattern and trace it on a piece of felt—36 inches by 36 inches.

Law Enforcement Units Battle Death on Wheels

A strong campaign to keep the state's 1958 traffic death toll down during the holidays will be waged by city, county and state law enforcement agencies, Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley said today.

"A recent shock wave of multiple death and 'ran off roadway' crashes has alarmed government and safety officials from the governor's office on down," Straley said.

Increased celebrating and social drinking prevalent at this time of year may be at the root of the recent alarming trend, according to national and state safety officials.

The State Liquor Control Commission reports that only 25 per cent of the liquor is sold in licensed taverns and resorts. The balance is consumed in homes or at private parties.

"We usually enjoy good cooperation from the licensed dealers," the chief said. "But we urgently beg the cooperation of our businesses and industries and the large number of private people who entertain at this time of the year.

"We are especially concerned for the people who rarely drink at other seasons and for the young people."

2 OR 3 DRINKS DANGEROUS

The chief pointed out that it is not necessary to be drunk in order for either a driver or a pedestrian's traffic judgment to be hindered.

"The person who has had only two or three and is feeling great can be a serious danger to himself and others," Straley warned.

The chief urged use of public transportation by people who have been celebrating. "Taxi service for small parties or a chartered bus for larger groups might save a life," he said.

Enforcement agencies of the city, county and state will be on extended duty as the holidays arrive.

Every effort will be made to cope promptly with traffic offenders, Straley said.

Drivers in rural areas were admonished to reduce speed and control their cars better.

Raleigh Gets Museum

RALEIGH, N. C. — The first major art museum to be established with state funds is North Carolina's Museum of Art in Raleigh, which has a two and a half million dollar collection, including the works of Rembrandt, Rubens, Van Dyck, Hals, Nattier and Gainsborough.

6 Police—No Weapons

ANDERSON, Ind. (UP)—The Anderson police department's Badge and Gun Club failed to live up to its name when six off-duty patrolmen came across a snake while strolling on the grounds. One of the cops finally killed the reptile with a stick, after discovering none of them was carrying weapons.

Roquefort-sur-Soulzon, France, annually produces about 26 million pounds of the blue-veined cheese named for the town.

Yule Cards May Hit 2½ Billion for '58

WASHINGTON — Americans are sending more Christmas cards than ever before this season. The volume may reach two-and-a-half billion.

Senders will pay about a quarter billion dollars for the cards and another 80 or 90 million dollars for postage. To meet the seasonal deluge, the Post Office has hired an extra quarter million workers.

On an average, every American will send and receive about 14 cards. Most will cost from a few cents to a dollar. Floral designs are especially popular this year, followed by Santa Claus, candles, winter scenes, and ornaments.

Post Office and business estimates of the staggering Christmas card trade provide clear proof that the card has become a firmly rooted element of the American Christmas, the National Geographic Society says. Compared to kissing under the mistletoe and decking the halls with boughs of holly, however, the exchange of cards at the Yuletide is a recent innovation.

As it is known today, the Christmas card first made its appearance in the 1840's in England. Authorities differ on which of several persons designed the earliest card.

One claimant is a vicar of Newcastle, the Reverend Edward Bradley, who is reputed to have sent lithographed holiday greetings to his friends in 1844.

A young engraver's apprentice named William Egley gets the nod from other historians. His Christmas card was produced in 1842 or 1849, according to the way one reads the date, and is now displayed in the British Museum.

Another candidate is John C. Horsley, a member of the Royal Academy. He was asked by Sir Henry Cole, a close friend of Prince Albert, to design a Yule greeting for friends. The result was a three-paneled card showing members of a family gathered about a large bowl of wine. The card carried the familiar greeting: "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to You."

The card raised a storm among temperance adherents, who objected particularly to the fact that the card showed a child sipping a glass of wine. About a thousand of the cards were produced, probably in 1843.

Regardless of who sent the first, Christmas cards were on sale in London shops by the end of the 1850's and became popular in the next decade. In 1882, a British company paid $35,000 for original paintings to reproduce on cards. The custom meanwhile had spread to America, where it was growing steadily in popularity.

Some of the Victorian cards would now bring laughs. One wished its receiver "A Most Consummate Xmas & an Utterly Utter New Year." Another offered the "Quite Too Precious Compliments of the Season."

Today, selecting and addressing Christmas cards has become an annual ritual in American homes. Numerous businesses also mail messages to their customers. And one politician is reported to have sent no less than 40,000 Christmas cards last year.

The problem of what to do with cards when the season is over has never been completely solved. Some hospital patients make new ones from the old and sell them to raise funds. But the supply of used cards appears far greater than the demand. When a cerebral palsy group in New York let it be known a few years ago that it could use old Christmas cards, more than 1,000,000 deluged its headquarters.

FOR TRAVELER — He will welcome complete set of toiletries slipped under Christmas tree. Leather kit is outfitted by Yardley with after-shaving lotion, hair tonic and cologne. For a favorite miss, there are fragrant quartets such as Bond Street to keep her sweet and lovely.

Offer Graduates Choice

ZIONSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Graduating seniors of Zionsville High School heard both sides of the story when they attended baccalaureate and commencement services. One speaker held forth on "The Value of Ignorance," and the other orated on "The Beginning of Wisdom."

Great Britain is buying more tobacco from the United States. Imports from U. S. in 1957 rose to 168.3 million pounds.

Plans to Crack Sound Barrier

Nun to Fly Navy Jet on 1st Free Day

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sister Mary Aquinas, the flying nun, will try to crack the sound barrier in a Navy jet fighter "as soon as I get a day free."

She has already flown 700 miles an hour as co-pilot of an Air Force T33 jet.

"Right now," the 62-year-old nun told United Press International, "I'm so busy touring the country to help teachers improve their science courses that I haven't been able to get around to it.

"But the Navy in San Francisco has invited me to fly a Cougas. I'm certainly going to do it as soon as I get a day free because I want a whole day to enjoy it."

Sister Aquinas is a tall, solidly built woman whose frank, vigorous manner and commanding voice give her the appearance of a person many years her junior. She exudes youthful exuberance.

EARNED NAME IN WW II

She got the nickname "flying nun" during World War II when the Civil Aeronautics Authority asked her to administer a civilian aviation training program at Catholic University, Washington, D.C.

She was considered qualified because she had majored in science and mathematics at Catholic University, held a master's degree in electronics from the University of Notre Dame and had organized aviation clubs in the 1930s and 1940s.

"Well, naturally, when they asked me to teach a course about aviation, I felt I had to learn how to fly to know what I was talking about," she said.

"So I went out to the municipal airport at Manitowoc, Wis., near my home base, the Roman Catholic diocese in Green Bay, and I learned to fly."

The sister said she takes a lot of good-natured ribbing from her colleagues about traveling "on a wing and a prayer" when she flies.

★ ★ ★

"But you know," she said, "there is a certain holy feeling when you're up there. Even a commercial flier looks at life and death from a different viewpoint.

FEELING OF ETERNITY

"I get a higher-up feeling because I know I'm nearer to heaven and might be dashed to eternity at any moment. But if you believe in God, it gives you a feeling of eternity. You feel that if you're going to die on this trip, you're prepared.

★ ★ ★

Sister Aquinas, a native of Zanesville, Ohio, and a teacher for more than 30 years, said she has taken up flying jets because "I am rewriting parts of my science courses on jet flight and rockets, and, once again, I simply want to know what I'm talking about."

Does she feel there is an ultimate conflict in her blending of science and religion?

"No," she said. "I feel this way about my teaching: In religion, the child learns God in his essence, and in science he learns God in his works. It is part of a whole."

Goldfine's Trial in Study Stage

6 Attorneys of Boston Industrialist Look Over Tax Reports

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — The contempt case of industrialist Bernard Goldfine in connection with a tax investigation of five textile companies he operates continues today in U.S. District Court.

The contempt charge was brought against Goldfine and his secretary Mildred Paperman by U.S. Atty. Anthony Julian, who alleged the pair failed to produce records wanted by the government in the tax probe.

Six Goldfine attorneys spent Wednesday inspecting Internal Revenue Service reports.

Julian opposed surrendering the reports, saying, "They concern a criminal tax investigation and it is vital that the reports not be disclosed at any time."

Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. ruled Julian may withhold portions of the reports deemed secret until the judge has an opportunity to study them at the case's resumption today.

It was disclosed in court that 42 internal revenue agents, including 19 from the service's special Intelligence Division, had been assigned to the Goldfine case.

Santa Claus Marines Help Navajo Indians

EL TORO, Calif. (AP) — The Marines are playing Santa Claus for needy Navajo Indians because they remember what great fighters the Navajo Leathernecks were in World War II and Korea.

Marine transport planes flew 16 tons of food, clothing, medical supplies and Christmas gifts to Winslow, Ariz., Wednesday. They will be trucked to Ganado on the reservation.

The contributions were collected by 1,187 Marines and their families, high school students and Cub Scouts of El Toro Marine Air Station and the area surrounding this Southern California base.

"We are repaying them for the valiant and heroic assistance they gave the Marines in World War II and Korea," said C.W.O. William B. Kohl, chairman of the drive.

Sheriff With Big Heart

ELIZABETH, N. J. (AP) — Mrs. Anita Quarles has been a deputy sheriff for Union County for 20 years, but it hasn't soured her on people. The gray-haired grandmother says, "I have never had a bad person in my custody. People in trouble with the law are no different from you or me . . . they are just unhappy and unfortunate."

'Nuclear Noah' Builds 2 Shelters

Man Near Valley Forge Well Prepared in Case Any Bombs Fall

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UPI) — Just the sound of a mucket shot from the camp site where Washington's patriots withstood the frigid winter of 1776 Paul Pazery stands ready for whatever the atomic age has to offer.

Pazery, whose Valley Forge neighbors call him the "Nuclear Age Noah," has built a complete bomb shelter which he, his wife and four children can use on that day he hopes will never come.

Pazery insists he's an optimist. "It's the people who don't have bomb shelters, those who feel that all will be lost and that there is no survival in an atomic war, who are pessimists," he maintains.

Pazery has worked nearly four years on his "do-it-yourself" shelter, and has spent nearly $4,000, some of which he had to borrow from a bank.

Actually Pazery constructed two shelters. First he made one beneath the cellar of his frame home, with walls, ceilings and floor made of slabs of concrete eight inches thick.

However, with the age of missiles, Pazery figured remote control marksmanship may not be too accurate, and a bomb could hit closer to home, so he dug beneath his rear yard and built a shelter which he says will withstand 500 pounds per square inch.

Stocks of canned foods are packed on shelves, along with jugs of water. Pazery even put in filtering units capable of removing radioactivity from rain-water which he will store if need be. Bunk beds fold up against the concrete walls.

An advertising executive for a chemical firm, Pazery, 48, maintains he has no mechanical aptitude but was driven to learn about construction by the "urgency" of the project. He feels every American family should have a bomb shelter.

Practice Not Perfect

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Rookie policeman Clyde Evans dutifully wrote himself a traffic ticket during police department classes when his instructor told the trainees to practice ticket writing. The ticket somehow reached the traffic bureau and a warrant was issued for Evans' arrest when he failed to appear in court.

Dulles Nixes Stories of Return to Hospital

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today denied Paris newspaper reports that he is expected to re-enter the hospital for an operation.

"There is no basis in fact for (these) speculative stories," said the statement issued by Asst. Secretary Andrew Berding.

The statement added that Dulles has almost completely recovered from the inflammatory condition of the colon for which he was treated at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington before he came to Paris.

Tolerance Didn't Pay

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — It sounded like a noisy party in the upstairs apartment at 1:30 in the morning. Neighbors grumbled but no one called police. When Donald A. Jewett came home he wished they had. Burglars had wrecked the apartment and made off with $1,000 worth of goods including his hi-fi set.

Turkey Has More Protein

Recent studies at Cornell University reveal that turkey yields more lean body-building, high quality protein meat than any other meat producing animal. It is one of the least fatty meats and unusually rich in riboflavin and niacin. To preserve these nutrients and get the most meat after cooking, roast your holiday turkey in low heat — 325 degrees. Allow 22 to 25 minutes per pound.

About one-third of the nation's aliens live in New York state.

Red and Green Cups Hold Meatless Filling

NEW YORK (UPI) — For a meatless main dish in Christmas colors, try potato chip pimientos. Mix well 1½ cups cooked baby lima beans, 1 cup cottage cheese, 1 teaspoon minced onion and ½ teaspoon paprika.

* * * *

Fill 4 whole pimientos and 4 seeded, parboiled whole green peppers with this mixture, arrange in buttered baking dish and top with ½ cup finely crumbled potato chips. Bake in 350-degree oven 20 minutes, or until crumb topping is golden brown.

You can make a salad dressing from undiluted evaporated milk by adding vinegar, sugar, salt and pepper to taste.

No Pre-Cooking Needed

Making a meat pie with left-over roast? Don't precook the frozen peas or mixed vegetables you add. They will cook as the pie bakes and retain their sweet flavor and bright color to make your meat pie all the more attractive. Have the gravy hot and bake them approximately 25 minutes.

Cooks cannot be over-cautioned when it comes to storing frozen foods. Keep such food frozen until ready to use.

Count Sugar as Liquid

A rule to remember in using unflavored gelatine is that one envelope of the gelatine will gel up to two cups of liquid. If sugar is used, it is counted as part of the total liquid because it goes into solution.

Strips of Fruit Cake Are Cheese Frosted

When guests drop in to share your holiday hospitality, offer them glamorous fruit cake appetizers, made the easy way. Start with fruit cake slices from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. Cut slices crosswise into strips about one-inch wide. Spread with softened cream cheese or a fruit flavored cream cheese spread.

Garnish with bits of red and green cherries — a slice of one color cherry in the center, and slices of the other color in the four corners. You'll think of many interesting ways to arrange the cherry bits on the cream cheese to make your tray sparkle with color.

Special Sauerkraut

Season sauerkraut with minced onion, a bay leaf and brown sugar; add frankfurters and small boiled new potatoes. Simmer in a large skillet until savory hot.

Don't Freeze the Freezer

The location of a freezer has much to do with how long both cabinet and mechanism last, say Michigan State University home economists. The ideal place is clean, dry, well-ventilated and cool—but not freezing in winter. In fact it's best if the temperature does not get below 40 degrees unless the particular brand is designed to operate at lower temperatures. And remember, your freezer—including the back of it—deserves regular, thorough cleaning.

Cheese With Apples

Ever tried serving wedges of mild nut-like flavored cheese with a spicy baked apple? It's a delicious combination and since Gouda cheese is the high protein calorie-controlled cheese it is a delicacy even the figure-conscious can enjoy, when apples are moderate in size and sweetened conservatively.

When you are broiling bacon, allow about five inches between it and the source of broiler heat.

Holiday Sweet Breads Are Rich

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Having grown up in the German city of Milwaukee, we always associate special coffee cakes with Christmas. In most of the bakeries in that city you can buy a rich coffee cake called Stollen. Made with lots of butter and eggs, it is full of candied fruit and nuts.

We always make stollen at our house for the holidays. In the past few years we have experimented with other Christmas breads, using recipes from several countries. It is surprising how little they differ.

* * *

Finding some one who likes to bake is always a pleasure. We were delighted when we ran across Mrs. William Freyermuth of Mohawk road. She thinks making bread is great fun, while holiday breads are a real treat. Her young children, Mark and Jane, are getting the right idea early.

Earlier this week we had a chance to sample some of Mrs. Freyermuth's baking. She had two huge coffee cakes all made for us to choose the one we preferred for the picture. Then we got down to sampling them. Deeeee-licious.

For the circular Christmas bread Mrs. Freyermuth uses a Swedish Tea Ring recipe. The filling is what makes it a bit different.

SWEDISH TEA RING
By Mrs. William Freyermuth

Dough:
¾ cup scalded milk
½ cup very ft butter or margarine
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 whole eggs, well beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 package yeast
1 tablespoon sugar
3 cups sifted flour (may need more)

Pour scalded milk over butter, sugar and salt. When completely melted, add well beaten eggs slowly, then vanilla. Stir yeast and the one tablespoon of sugar together with a fork until liquified. When milk mixture is lukewarm, add yeast.

Add flour gradually, beating until dough is smooth and too stiff to mix with a spoon. Turn out on floured board and knead gently 2-3 minutes, adding only enough flour to keep it from sticking. Use as little flour as possible.

Place dough in greased bowl; cover with waxed paper and a towel and let stand in warm place until doubled. Turn out and knead about half a minute. Return to greased bowl and let rise again to doubled size.

* * *

Turn out on floured board and shape into a rectangle, about 12x20. Brush with butter or margarine, spread filling to cover all but one inch on long sides.

* * *

Roll like a jelly roll. Bring ends together and lift gently onto well greased cookie sheet. Have open side down.

With sharp knife or scissors cut almost through roll, spacing cuts about 1½ inches apart and turning each division upward to show filling. Brush with melted butter or margarine and let stand to rise again for about 1 hour.

* * *

Bake in 400-degree oven about 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake 15 minutes or until done. When done, loosen at once from pan and brush with light corn syrup.

* * *

Filling
1 whole egg slightly beaten
1 tablespoon cream
1 cup chopped nuts
½ cup brown sugar
1 cup dates
¼ cup cake or cookie crumbs or more nuts (if filling is too soft)

Combine all ingredients and use to fill above dough.

Holiday Coffee Cake
1 cake yeast
¼ cup warm water
1 rounded tablespoon sugar
1½ cups milk
1½ teaspoons salt
3 cups sifted flour
½ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup melted butter
10 cardomom seeds, crushed
1¼ cups candied fruit and raisins

Dissolve yeast and sugar in water. Pour scalded milk over salt in bowl in which dough is to rise. When yeast mixture is nearly to top of cup, add to scalded milk and stir in 3 cups flour. Mix well. Let rise until double.

Add sugar, melted butter and cardomom seeds, if they are used. Mix well and add ¼ cup more of flour. Mix and turn out on floured board. Knead a little and roll out thin.

Brush with butter or margarine. Sprinkle ¼ cup sugar over dough and add desired raisins and candied fruit. Roll like jelly roll.

Cut down center into two strips, but do not cut through one end. Bring one strip crosswise over other, keeping cut side up. Cross strips several times. Place diagonally on large cookie sheet.

Let rise one hour. Bake in 350-degree oven for 20-25 minutes. Glaze, ice and decorate as desired.

THE FINISHING TOUCH — Mrs. William Freyermuth of Mohawk road puts the finishing touch on a large Christmas coffee cake she made earlier this week. She served it with coffee to afternoon callers. The dough is a basic sweet bread filled with dates and nuts. Candied cherries and whole pecans decorate the icing. If you have a freezer, bake your holiday coffee cakes now and freeze them. Beginners can start with hot roll mix.

Cost Per Serving Varies for Juice

How will you buy orange juice? Fresh, frozen or canned?

When you buy oranges for juice, the thin skinned Florida juice oranges yield the most juice, says the Marketing Information Agent. At 49 cents a dozen, a cup of juice costs around 12 cents; at 39 cents a dozen, a cup is 9 cents.

* * *

If you choose a 46-ounce can of orange juice at 45 cents, then you pay around 8 cents for a cup of juice.

If you buy frozen concentrate at 26 cents for a 6-ounce can, you pay a little more than 8 cents a cup.

How will you buy orange juice? Consider family preferences and the family food allowance, then make your choice.

'S' Wonderful With Meat

You'll be proud to introduce this new and exciting idea, Pineapple-Chutney Relish, to either guests or family at one of your holiday meals.

According to home economist and meat expert Reba Staggs, Pineapple-Chutney Relish makes an excellent meat accompaniment for either beef or ham.

Some readers might be interested to know that the word "chutney" actually refers to a pickle relish made in India. The manufactured or homemade chutneys found in America receive their name from the predominant fruit in the mixture . . . tomato, pear, peach or pineapple chutney.

Pineapple-Chutney Relish
1 can (13 ounces) crushed pineapple
2 tablespoons chopped chutney and syrup
¾ cup seedless raisins
¾ cup chopped green pepper
½ clove garlic, minced
½ teaspoon ground ginger
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
¼ cup blanched almonds, slivered and toasted

Mix all ingredients thoroughly. Chill. Yield: 1½ cups relish.

Chicken Liver Starter

Cut chicken livers in half, dip in flour, then in egg beaten with a little water, and finally in fine fresh bread crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat. Delicious with tomato juice as a dinner starter.

Easy Colorful Tarts Call for Cranberries

Holiday Cranberry Tarts are a refreshing dessert. This recipe makes enough filling for six 3¾-inch baked tart shells.

* * *

Combine 2 cups canned whole cranberry sauce (1-pound can) and ¼ pound diced marshmallows in saucepan. Heat slowly until marshmallows melt, stirring frequently. Cool.

* * *

Breakfast Drink Saves Time, Health

Are you a "breakfast skipper" — settle for a roll and cup of coffee? If so, you are cheating yourself and your employer. This is unnecessary and can be avoided if you simply drink a nourishing breakfast.

There is really no excuse for omitting breakfast or for eating an inadequate breakfast. According to nutritionists, breakfast should account for one-fourth to one-third of the day's food needs. Without a good breakfast, neither child nor adult can do his best at work and play — irritability and nervousness often result.

Like any other meal of the day, breakfast should be planned around a good protein. Eggs are one good answer — tailored by nature to fit the special requirements of breakfast needs.

For those family members who "breakfast" at different times, those who feel rushed, or those who say "I'm not hungry," breakfast preparation should begin the night before. This is a real timesaver for those who only have time to drink their breakfast. Attractive glasses and refrigerator flasks add interest to breakfast.

Orangegg

1 egg
8 ounces (1 cup) fresh orange juice

Beat with rotary beater or mix in blender several seconds or until well blended. If desired, sweeten. Serve chilled. Makes 1 serving.

Variations:

Frozen Orange Juice: Blend 1 egg with 2 ounces (¼ cup) frozen orange juice and 6 ounces (¾ cup) cold water.

Substitute other juices for orange juice. Flavor with sugar, lemon juice, or salt according to juice and individual taste:

Apple Pineapple Sauerkraut
Cranberry Prune Tomato

Eggnog

1 egg or 2 yolks
½ to 1 tablespoon sugar
Few grains salt
1 cup milk
¼ teaspoon vanilla extract, optional

Beat with rotary beater or mix in blender several seconds until well blended. If desired, sweeten. Serve chilled. Makes 1 serving.

Variations

1. Substitute ¼ to ½ cup favorite juice for an equal quantity of milk.

2. Add up to ½ cup fruit — canned, cooked, fresh or frozen (partially thawed). If necessary, remove skins, pits, seeds, etc. before blending with other ingredients. Decrease or increase sugar, add lemon juice, etc. to taste.

Note: If calorie reduction is important and sugar is added to the above recipes, use a non-caloric sweetener.

Pack ice cubes into a large heavy paper bag and store in your freezer — if you have room — against that unexpected company party.

Prefer Olive Oil for French Dressing

The best French dressing is made with Spanish olive oil, mixed only a short time before adding to the salad. Use three times as much olive oil as vinegar, season to your taste with salt, pepper and other condiments.

For variety, add a pinch of curry powder or chili powder, or throw in a few leaves of oregano or basil. If dried herbs are added, they should be rubbed between the fingers until powdered; this releases the fragrant oils that give fresh herb flavor to the dressing.

An olive oil salad dressing should always be mixed the same day it is to be used, preferably within an hour or two of serving. If allowed to stand exposed to air for a week or more the oil in the dressing may take on a rancid flavor.

No Soggy Crusts

Brush the bottom crust of fruit pie with oil or soft fat to prevent it from getting soggy, suggest Michigan State University nutritionists. Thicken juices of frozen fruit, and bake the pie at as high a temperature as the filling will allow.

Yams Are More Orange Than Sweet Potatoes

"Yams" are sweet potatoes states the Marketing Information Agent.

★ ★ ★

If you ask for yams, you'll get sweet potatoes with deep yellow or orange colored flesh that is moist and sweet. If you ask for sweet potatoes you will find they have a dry light yellow flesh.

At this time of year, sweet potatoes have been "cured" or kiln dried to increase their storage life. Prices are slightly higher because of added costs for curing and storage.

CHRISTOLLEN — Christmas stollen takes to Brazil nuts . . . Stollen, the sweet, holiday yeast bread of German origin, presents the riches of Brazil nuts and dried fruits with the added flavor of cardamom. It can be made days ahead of Christmas for holiday breakfasts or for distribution as gifts.

Nuts Add Tropical Touch to Old World Stollen

Stollen coffee cake is another of the food joys appearing at Christmas tables. It will be a special breakfast treat for over-night guests in your holiday household.

Stollen is a sweet yeast bread to which has been added chopped Brazil nuts, candied fruits, raisins and currants. The fruit-nut dough is patted out into an oval shape and then folded the long way to form a crescent. A few more chopped Brazil nuts are used as a filling, and then the fold and edges of the coffee cake are pressed tightly so the bread stays closed during baking.

A packaged yeast dough can be given the variation necessary to make stollen, but you might like to start from the very beginning. A yeast bread is not difficult though beginners usually think so.

Brazil nuts which give their creaminess and flavor to the coffee cake are especially popular. If the nuts are shelled and chopped ahead of use, one saves time on baking day. To make the cracking job simpler, boil the nuts in water a few minutes.

Cover the shelled nuts first with cold water; bring to a boil and boil about 5 minutes. Drain, cover with cold water a minute, then drain and crack. A pound of in-shell Brazil nuts will yield about 1 2-3 cups shelled.

The stollen dough can be baked in one jumbo crescent, or can be divided and two crescents made. They are baked on a cookie sheet.

Christollen

1 cup milk
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground cardamom
1 package dry yeast
¼ cup warm (not hot) water
5½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, divided
1 cup candied fruit
1 cup chopped Brazil nuts, divided
Grated rind of 1 lemon
½ cup raisins
½ cup currants
2 eggs, well beaten
¾ cup soft butter
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup melted butter
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons sugar
Confectioners' sugar

Scald milk; add sugar, salt and cardamom; cool until lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast into water; let stand 5 minutes; stir until yeast is completely dissolved. Stir into lukewarm milk with 1 cup of the flour; beat with rotary beater until smooth. Cover and let rise in a warm place (80 to 85 degrees F.) until doubled in bulk, about 1½ to 2 hours.

Stir in candied fruit, ¾ cup of the Brazil nuts, lemon rind, raisins, currants, eggs, soft butter, nutmeg and 3½ cups flour. Turn dough onto a lightly floured board; knead remaining 1 cup flour into dough until dough is smooth and elastic.

Divide dough into 2 parts. Roll each into an oval, 9x12 inches. Brush each with part of the melted butter; sprinkle each with half of the combined cinnamon and sugar and 2 tablespoons of the Brazil nuts. Make a lengthwise crease down the center of the dough; fold over to within 1 inch of the opposite side; seal edges. Place on greased baking sheets. Brush with remaining butter; cover with waxed paper, then with a towel.

Let rise in a warm place until almost doubled in bulk, about 30 to 45 minutes. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 to 50 minutes or until brown. Cool. Sift confectioners sugar over top or decorate with candied cherries and Brazil nut slices. Yield: 2 stollens.

Not Too Late for Fruit Cake

A fruit cake as traditional as the candied cherries and so modern it needs no baking. Rich and flavorful, this cake introduces an ingredient, brand new to fruit cake mixtures. It is shredded wheat cereal. Rolled into fine crumbs, the shredded wheat is combined with candied fruits, chopped nuts and spices, and then moistened with orange juice and a touch of wine.

Easy to make and delicious to eat, it is a welcomed gift to take with you on a holiday call or to serve at your own home throughout the holiday season.

No Bake Fruit Cake

6 cups spoon-size shredded wheat biscuits
1½ cups pecans
½ cup candied cherries
1½ cups raisins
1¼ cups mixed candied fruits
36 marshmallows
¾ cup orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon allspice
¼ teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup sherry wine

Line an 8½ x 4½ x 2½ loaf pan with waxed paper. Roll shredded wheat biscuits into fine crumbs. (Makes about 2½ cups.) Cut pecans into pieces. Cut cherries in half. Mix the cereal, pecans, cherries, raisins, and mixed fruit together. Cut marshmallows into pieces and put in top of a double rind, cinnamon, allspice, nutmeg and ginger to marshmallows.

Place over boiling water and cook, stirring occasionally, until marshmallows are melted. Remove from heat; add vanilla. Stir melted marshmallow mixture into cereal-fruit mixture and mix well. Stir in sherry. Spoon into prepared pan. Press down firmly with back of tablespoon. Cover with foil or waxed paper and chill for 48 hours before slicing.

Pear Cabbage Slaw

NEW YORK (UPI)—For a different slaw, combine fresh pears and cabbage. Mix 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice with 2 cups finely diced fresh pears. Add 2 cups finely shredded cabbage, 1-3 cup chopped fresh parsley, 2 teaspoons Minced onion, ¾ teaspoon salt and ground black pepper to taste. Toss lightly with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. Serves 6.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Half Ham (Shank End).

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the ham section and contains hind shank bone and part of leg bone exposed on the cut surface. Fat is found interspersed and on outer surface.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. It is roasted (baked) in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) allowing about 22 to 25 minutes per pound. If using a roast meat thermometer, internal temperature should reach 160 degrees F.

Try Filbert Version of Cooky Confection

Cocoa Filbert Balls

1 cup finely crushed vanilla wafer crumbs
1 cup confectioners sugar
2 tablespoons cocoa
½ cup finely chopped filberts
2 tablespoons light or dark corn syrup
¼ cup heavy cream
½ teaspoon vanilla
Finely chopped filberts

Mix together the wafer crumbs, sugar and cocoa. Add the filberts, corn syrup, half the cream and vanilla. Add enough of the remaining cream so mixture is moist to the touch. Roll into balls the size of walnuts; roll in finely chopped filberts.

Store in a tightly covered container for a couple of days before serving; if balls get moist, remove and allow to dry at room temperature before storing again. Makes 2 dozen.

Pamper Your Sweet Tooth

Pontiac Press Home Editor

If you hurry, there is still time to make Christmas candy before the children start their vacation. One of our friends says the only way to make candy is to take the phone off the hook and send the children to Grandma's. Then you can concentrate on fondant and fudge.

★ ★ ★

We all have the recipe for fudge that is made with evaporated milk, marshmallow topping and semi-sweet chocolate. A variation this year is the same recipe with the new caramel chips substituted for the chocolate ones. It's rich.

In an old handwritten cookbook we found this fudge recipe from 1898. It should still be good.

High School Delight

1 cup cream
1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar

"Boil together until it pours from spoon and forms a soft ball in cold water. Then set aside and let cool a little. Beat hard and add ½ cup chopped nuts just before it becomes stiff. Pour on plate and cut in squares."

★ ★ ★

Mocha Peanut Clusters

1 package (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
16 large marshmallows
½ cup butter or margarine
1 tablespoon instant coffee
2 cups salted peanuts

Combine chocolate, marshmallows and butter in top of double boiler. Cook over hot water, stirring occasionally, until melted and smooth. Add instant coffee; mix well. Remove from heat; stir in peanuts. Drop from a teaspoon onto waxed paper. Makes about 3 dozen.

★ ★ ★

You can make your own candy canes by making up a recipe of taffy, flavoring half of it with peppermint and twisting two strips together. In fact, you can use just about any flavor for taffy. If you're brave, you'll let the youngsters help you pull it.

Vanilla Taffy

1¼ cups sugar
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons vinegar
1½ teaspoons butter
½ teaspoon vanilla flavoring

Combine sugar, water, vinegar, and butter and stir over slow heat until sugar is dissolved. Then cook mixture quickly, without stirring, to just between the very hard ball and light crack stages, about 268 to 270 degrees. Add vanilla flavoring.

Pour candy onto an oiled platter and let it cool until it can be dented with your finger. Gather it into a lump and pull it with the finger tips until it is light and porous. Pull any desired flavoring or coloring into the candy.

Roll it into long strips and cut the strips into 1 inch pieces. Place the candy into a tightly covered tin if you want it to become creamy.

This last recipe sounds simple, but we haven't tried it. However, General Foods Kitchens say you can do it.

Chocolate Pretzels

Melt 1 cup chocolate chips over hot water. Spoon into cake decorator and press through tube in form of pretzels. Makes 2½ dozen pretzels.

PLUM PUDDING — One of the oldest of traditional Christmas foods is the plum pudding. Modern homemakers like it because they can make it early and let it season until the big day. Then, reheating is all it needs. Garnish your pudding with candied cherries and whole blanched almonds.

Royalty Fared Not a Bit Better

Plum Pudding, the traditional dessert for Christmas should be resplendent with fruits and nuts, and a touch of holly, if you will, when borne to the festive table. This recipe which has been handed down for generations in families of Virginia, contains a blending of ingredients carefully treasured through the years.

It will keep for weeks in a cool place, needing only to be resteamed. Many people feel that the puddings ripen with this treatment, and are better aged, like good wine. Serve hot and steaming with hard sauce or aflame with brandy and feast royally this Christmastide!

Plum Pudding

1 pound seedless raisins
1 pound currants
¼ cup chopped nut meats
2⅛ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons salt
4 eggs
1 cup sugar, light
2 cups molasses
2 cups buttermilk
1½ cups finely chopped suet
½ cup grape juice
2½ cups fine dry bread crumbs

Clean raisins and currants; combine with nut meats. Dredge with 1 cup flour. Sift remaining flour, baking soda, cloves, allspice, nutmeg, cinnamon and salt. Beat eggs; add sugar, molasses, buttermilk, suet, grape juice and bread crumbs. Add raisin and nut mixture; mix well. Add flour mixture; mix well.

Pour into 2 greased 3 lb. molds. Cover tightly; steam 3 hours. Cool puddings, wrap in heavy waxed paper; store. The puddings keep for weeks in a cool place. Resteam to heat. Each pudding serves 12.

Cheese Pleases, Adds Protein, Zest to Diet

EAST LANSING — "Cheese can please"—and add variety to your cooking.

Michigan State University home economists suggest several tempting ideas about how you can use cheese to give your family's meals a touch of variety.

For instance, the next time you serve soup, try dropping small cubes of cheese into the hot soup just before serving. Your family will love these cheese croutons. Or, for a different breakfast treat, add grated cheese to your scrambled eggs just before they are done.

At your next party, add zest to your hors d'ouevre platter by serving chunks of cheese, apples and pears which you have strung alternately on a toothpick. Remember to dip the apples and pears in either orange or lemon juice to keep them from turning brown.

When packing sandwiches for school lunches, add variety to cheese sandwiches by sprinkling chopped pickles and onions inside. Also try dates, raisins, jams or jellies with different bread and cheese combinations. Your children will love it when you put cubes of cheese in their lunch boxes, and it's an easy way to give them plenty of protein and energy for an afternoon of work and fun.

Mincemeat Put Into New Cake

With all of the wonderful food served for a holiday meal, the custom of dessert with coffee later in the evening is becoming popular. Since a holiday meal wouldn't be complete without including traditional mincemeat, why not serve new and different Mincemeat Peach Crumb Cake?

The two-layer cake, made with canned mincemeat, is filled with a whipped cream-peach mixture. It's handsomely frosted with whipped cream and garnished with canned sliced peaches.

Mincemeat Peach Crumb Cake

4 eggs
1 cup sugar
1½ cups fine dry bread crumbs
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 cup canned mincemeat
⅔ cup sifted confectioners sugar
1 pint whipping cream
1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) sliced peaches

Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored, gradually adding sugar. Mix bread crumbs and soda; stir into eggs. Fold in mincemeat. Pour into two well greased and floured 8-inch layer cake pans. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes. Loosen from pans and remove; cool.

Fold confectioners sugar into whipped cream. Drain peaches; set aside 12 to 16 slices for garnish. Dice remaining peaches and fold in 1 cup of the whipped cream; spread over one layer of cake. Top with other layer.

Frost top and sides with remaining whipped cream. Decorate with reserved peach slices. Twelve to sixteen servings.

Picadillo Beef Dish Served Like Barbecue

For a quick supper dish that the whole family will go for, make Picadillo, a Spanish version of hamburger. In 4 tablespoons of Spanish olive oil, saute 1 medium onion, chopped fine, 1 medium green pepper, diced, and 1 small can of pimientos, drained and diced.

* * *

When onion is tender, add 1 pound chopped beef and stir once or twice with fork until meat is cooked. Serve over hot cooked rice, or between buns as you do barbecued beef. Makes 4 servings.

Cupful of Goodies Is Gracious Gift

A cupful of Christmas goodies is such a gracious way to greet friends at holiday time. Whether you're going to visit them, or having them to your house, or putting presents under a community tree, the Christmas cup that brimmeth over with homemade sweets betokens sweet thoughts and warm affection—and will surely be warmly received.

* * *

Anybody can make these sweets, for they require no special tricks or skills. Indeed these recipes even boast shortcut ways. Semi-sweet chocolate morsels, are the magic ingredient responsible for making these sweets in jig time. That is because this kind of chocolate is processed with some sugar already in it, and this eliminates "extra" preparation for the homemaker.

* * *

Simple opaque glass dinnerware which can be bought in variety stores is transformed into glittery gifts that hold a cupful of holiday goodies. Sequins, felt and metal stars, which are purchased at the same time, are glued into colorful designs. Stones from costume jewelry, buttons or shells could be substituted.

Cocoa Dusted Sugar Balls

1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons light corn syrup
½ cup orange juice
2½ cups (approximately 5 dozen) crushed vanilla wafers
1 cup finely chopped nuts
Instant sweet-milk cocoa

Melt semi-sweet chcoloate morsels over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from heat. Stir in sugar and corn syrup. Gradually blend in orange juice. Add vanilla wafers and nuts; mix well. Chill until firm. Form into 1-inch balls. Roll in cocoa.

Let balls ripen in covered container for several days. Balls will keep 3 to 4 weeks in covered container. Yield: Approximately 4 dozen.

* * *

Semi-Sweet Nutkins

¾ pound vanilla caramels
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon water
¾ cup pecans, coarsely chopped
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
3 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 tablespoon water

Combine caramels, butter, and water in top of double boiler. Place over boiling water. Stir and blend until smooth. Stir in pecans. Remove from heat; keep warm over hot water.

* * *

Combine semi-sweet chocolate morsels, corn syrup and water in top of double boiler. Melt over hot (not boiling) water. Blend until smooth. Remove from heat.

* * *

Drop caramel mixture by teaspoonfuls on greased and confectioners sugar dusted baking sheet. Drop chocolate mixture by half teaspoonfuls on top of caramel drops. Chill till firm. Approximately 1½ pounds.

Ham, Christmas Turkey on Your Shopping List?

This week before Christmas, your shopping list will be determined by food plans for the weekend and the festive Christmas dinner. Pork and poultry will dominate the meat choices, predicts the Marketing Information Agent. Fruits and nuts are in generous supply for the holiday.

Although cold weather is decreasing supplies of some foods coming to market, there are ample choices at reasonable prices. The choice depends on you.

With such cuts as bacon, steaks and chops featured during the first of the week, you can look for other pork cuts to receive emphasis during the latter part of the week. If you are considering ham for Christmas, compare prices of smoked ham with canned ham Mrs. Lawyer suggests. Compare price per serving, convenience in roasting and serving, and difference in flavor before making your choice.

* * *

Canned ham is already cooked and since there is no bone it will serve 4 to 6 portions per pound. This week price varies from about 75 cents to over a dollar a pound depending upon size. The smaller size ham commands the higher price per pound.

IT'S PERISHABLE

Most canned ham is perishable so look for the label that warns you to "REFRIGERATE." Even though canned ham is cooked, everyone will agree that it is safer, and that both flavor and texture are improved by heating it at 325 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes per pound.

Do you want a whole, half or portion of smoked ham? You can expect a few less servings from the portion with the center slices removed.

Will you choose a regular ham with the skin around the shank? Will you buy a ham with the skin and shank removed? Or will you choose one of the semi-boneless hams with the hip and shank bones removed? Perhaps you prefer a boneless rolled ham. Price and number of servings per pound will differ in relation to the amount of processing that has been done.

TURKEY FOR CHRISTMAS

Christmas and turkey are go-togethers. Naturally your choice will depend upon the number you intend to serve, but price-wise the best choice is the big tom. It has more lean meat in proportion to bone than birds of smalled sizes.

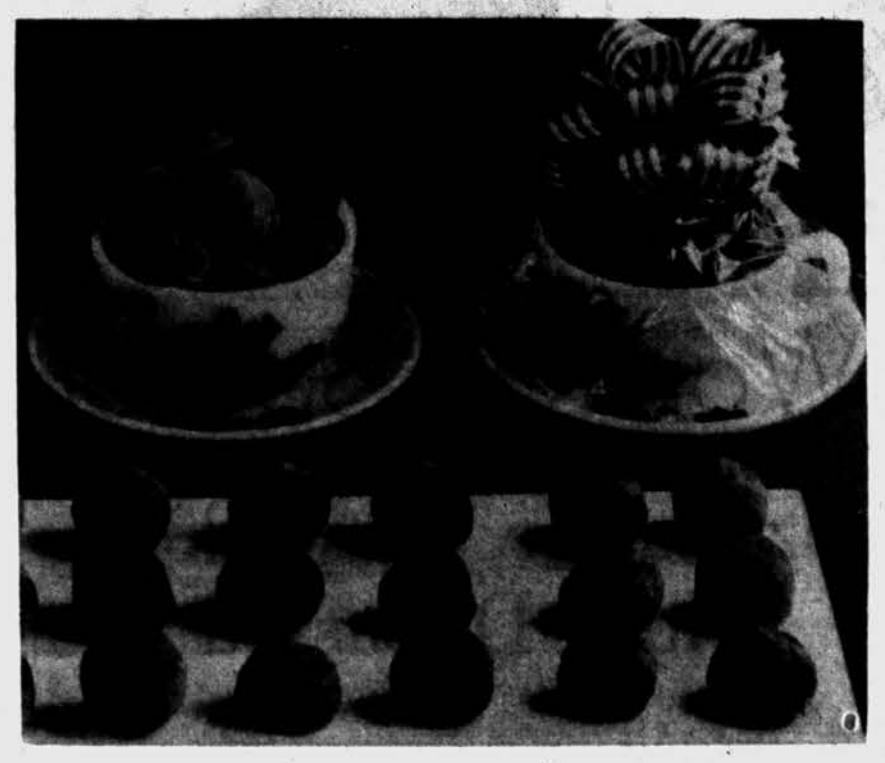

Reserving the ham or turkey ahead is good management. Whole smoked hams will keep up to 10 days in the refrigerator. Canned hams will keep as long as 6 months in the refrigerator if they are unopened. Turkey takes time to thaw in the refrigerator.

Ready-to-stuff frozen turkey weighing 4 to 12 pounds thaw in 1 to 2 days. Those weighing 12 to 20 pounds take 2 to 3 days, and those over 20 pounds take 3 or 4 days. Thaw in the original wrap in the refrigerator for safest results. Stuffed frozen turkeys are never thawed before roasting.

OTHER FOOD CHOICES—Fresh fruit choices are easy with the wide variety of citrus, apples, pears, bananas and others available. Increased supplies of bananas and size 113 navel oranges are very reasonably marked. Northern Spy and McIntosh are Michigan apples in good supply.

Many stores are displaying nuts at lowest prices of the year. If you need more for baking, a half pound of nuts in the shell will usually make a cup shelled.

Canned pumpkin, cranberry sauce, peas, corn, applesauce, peaches and tomato juice are featured for holiday fare. Frozen strawberries, pies and vegetables wear special tags for holiday use.

FLAVORFUL GIFTS—Gaily decorated dime-store cups are all you need to make a gift of old-fashioned sweets as satisfying to the eye as to the taste buds. The lovely confections shown are Cocoa Dusted Sugar Balls and Semi-Sweet Nutkins, both worthy of the prettiest packaging you can fashion. The recipes are easy to make, and so are the decorative wrappings.

Armour Star turkey is broad breasted with more white meat. Makes for easier carving, too, because most tendons are removed. And this bird is not just half cleaned but completely table dressed so it's ready for the oven.

Training Can Start Early

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I have a difference of opinion on the following matter which concerns the proper training of our three-year-old child. When our son has a young playmate in and he (the playmate) wants the toy our son happens to be playing with, my husband thinks he should be taught to give it up — claiming the fact that he is the host.

"I think it is very unfair to our child to expect him to give up his favorite toy out of which he gets great pleasure playing with, to this other child when there are any number of other toys he could just as well enjoy. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this matter."

Answer: Your husband is right; three is not too young an age to begin teaching your child to deny himself pleasure thing that will give pleasure to his guest.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it now proper to leave the cards on wedding gifts when these are displayed? My daughter said it was, but I can't believe it is good taste. Too many people go around just looking to see what the Joneses and Smiths and the Browns gave.

"They seem more interested in knowing this than in looking at the lovely presents. Also I think it rather makes people hesitate to send a present unless it can be something grand."

Answer: Wedding presents are displayed so that those looking at them will know who sent them. When they are so numerous that it is actually impossible to keep repeating who sent each, it is entirely proper to leave the cards on. In other words, when several hundred presents are received and these are displayed at the reception, cards are necessarily left on.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My mother says it's bad manners for a man and girl to walk on the street hand in hand. I don't see why and she doesn't give me any reason."

Answer: It would not be bad manners in the country or on a beach, but on a city street it would show lack of sophistication.

Northern Slates Concert

Pontiac Northern High School's first public student concert will be a program entitled "The Christmas Story," to be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the school's new auditorium.

Enacted in song and story, the concert is the result of combined efforts of the school's vocal and dramatics departments. Melvin Larimer, vocal music department director, says the program will be ". . .a sacred Christmas concert with the purpose of putting Christ back into Christmas."

CHOIR SELECTIONS

Vocal numbers and the groups performing include "The Three Kings," by Healy Willan; "Masters in This Hall," arranged by Shaw-Parker; and "Away in a Manger," Shaw-Parker, by the Northern Choir.

"Susani," arranged by Gordon and "Fum, Fum, Fum," arranged by Tolmage, will be sung by the combined girls' glee clubs.

The "Choral-Belles," a girls' ensemble, will sing "As Lately We Watched," arranged by Florence Martin, and "The Coventry Carol," also by Martin.

"God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," arranged by Michael Dempsey, and "A Babe So Tender," by Manton, will be offered by the combined boys' glee clubs.

A new girls' ensemble, "The Musicales," will sing "The Cradle Song of the Blessed Virgin," by Joseph Barnby, and "The Norsemen."

The boys' ensemble will sing "Bring Torch, Jeanette Isabella," an old French carol.

COMBINED NUMBERS

The combined vocal groups will sing "While Shepherds Watched," "Beside Thy Cradle Here I Stand" and "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light," both by Bach, and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from "The Messiah," by Handel.

★ ★ ★

The audience also will participate in the program by joining the groups in singing familiar Christmas carols.

★ ★ ★

Accompanists will be Lynn Thompson and Linda Libby.

Special attractions of the concert will include use of the new facilities in auditorium spotlighting and display of the choir's new robes, for which proceeds of the concert will be used.

Liz Taylor Was 1958's Most Discussed Star

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It was a year of triumph and tragedy for Elizabeth Taylor. An onrush of events made her Hollywood's most talked-about woman of 1958.

The year started in crushing tragedy for the onetime child star. Her third husband, fabulous showman Mike Todd, fell to a flaming death in his private plane.

After a few weeks of mourning, Luscious Liz returned to MGM to finish "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." She said she had little desire to work again, but she was doing it for Mike. He predicted "Cat" would win her the Oscar she had lost to Joanne Woodward the previous year, when she was up for "Raintree County."

FILM TRIUMPH

"Cat" established Liz as the hottest female star in films. It lingered an amazing two months on top of the box office winners list, and the critics hailed her acting skill.

Free from her MGM contract, she was able to make fabulous deals, such as a half-million dollars and 10 per cent of each box office dollar to do "Two for the Seesaw."

In late summer she found herself again in the headlines, this time in a less sympathetic guise. After a fling with Liz in the East, Eddie Fisher announced a separation from his wife, and Debbie's fans accused Liz of husband-stealing.

★ ★ ★

Liz admitted that the adverse publicity might affect her Oscar chances. At any rate, it appeared to be a tight race among the female contenders.

OSCAR CONTENDERS

Susan Hayward, who left Hollywood to live in Georgia with her husband, Eaton Chalkley, returned to register an electrifying performance as Barbara Graham in "I Want to Live." Jean Simmons demonstrated her maturity with a topnotch job in "Home before Dark."

The girl to watch in the future was pretty young Millie Perkins. A New York photographer's model, she was catapulted to stardom with the leading role in "The Diary of Anne Frank."

Refuse His 'Generous' Offer—Abby

Wolf in Santa's Clothing Will Buy Her a Divorce!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I am a woman who made a mistake and married the wrong man. I lived with him for two years and tried to make a go of it, but it was no use. There is this guy who has been after me for years. He always liked me but I thought he was too old for me. Now I am 23 and he is 44 and he doesn't seem too old for me.

ABBY

He wants to pay for my divorce. He has wanted to marry me for a long time (even before my marriage) but I always thought of him as a brother, not a lover. Should I let him pay for my divorce even though I don't care for him? He says he expects nothing from me in return."

ELLIE

DEAR ELLIE: I hate to spoil your Christmas, Honey, but there ain't no Santa Claus. Refuse his "generous" offer.

"DEAR ABBY: The man who boasts that he buys only one suit a year while his wife had '30 dresses hanging in her closet' caused me to write this. Too many women dress beautifully while their husbands go around in shiny, outdated suits. (Those wide lapels have been 'out' for years, but you still see many so-called successful business men wearing them.)

"I blame the woman. If she weren't so selfish, she'd see to it that her husband dressed as nicely as she did. When I see a beautifully dressed woman with a poorly dressed husband, I don't admire either of them. She shouldn't put everything he makes on her back, and he shouldn't let her."

OUTSPOKEN JOAN

DEAR OUT: And spoken like a sensible woman.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I have a certain relative who gets on my nerves so bad I can hardly stand her. No matter what I say she gives me an argument. For instance, if I say, 'I like Steve Allen,' she says, 'You are crazy. Ed Sullivan is much better.' She will argue with doctors about medicine or with lawyers about law. She even quarrels with the minister about what the Bible means. Nothing is too much for her to tackle. She is an authority on everything. How do you get along with a person like that?"

GIVE UP

DEAR GIVE: The only way to get along with some people is to get along without them. Avoid her.

"DEAR ABBY: My daughter was married recently. Her wedding gown was very beautiful and quite expensive. A close friend is getting married pretty soon and has asked my daughter if she could wear her wedding dress.

"I was shocked at this as I have always felt that a wedding dress is something sacred and one doesn't just borrow a wedding dress. Am I foolish or old-fashioned to feel this way? My daughter says it would be selfish not to let her wear it. The decision is up to my daughter. Do people outside the family borrow wedding gowns?"

NOTHING SACRED

DEAR NOTHING: Close friends have been known to lend their wedding gowns. If your daughter wants to lend it —I see no reason why she shouldn't.

They Please and Amuse

Don't Ignore Ingenious Gadgets

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here I am once more with some ideas to help you shop during these last wild days before that certain day!

Do not forget the world of gadgets! To me many of these are just as miraculous as atomic weapons. You can give a fairly expensive wonder for the kitchen or to help with entertaining, or you can give several which would not come to more than five dollars.

I appreciate these in a special way because I am not a natural shopper and never find them myself. I go into a store to buy what I need and what I went in to get in the first place and rush right out, due partly to lack of time and partly to temperament.

Therefore, when a member of my family or a house guest sends me one of these delightful and useful gadgets I am overjoyed. I usually say, "How long has this been on the market?" and they usually laugh and say, "Oh, about 10 or 15 years." However, every year there are lots of new ones.

Looking for something? Electric knife sharpeners are available and might make nice gifts.

For instance, you can get a small electric ice machine. You simply dial for the kind or shape of ice you want. You can buy an inexpensive grill for steaks, bacon or sandwiches. You can get an egg cooker which cooks your eggs exactly as you like them and shuts itself off.

Electric knife sharpeners are available. So are gadgets which cut bread VERY thin. There are most attractive garden torchlights which light the garden and repel nighttime insects. There are nut choppers, you simply turn the handle.

The following are not gadgets but are useul: Attractive waste baskets for the living room and bedrooms. (Few folks have attractive ones.) Small, decorative boxes or folders of matches are always welcome; so are pretty, small paper napkins. A good-looking thermometer to hang on the porch is another gift idea.

CHEESE BOARDS

There are cheese boards which come with some excellent cheese. An herb chest to hang on the kitchen wall equipped with the various herbs would be welcome. There are hot, expanding buffet trays which keep food warm.

The world of games is chock full of all kinds which are fun. Remember these items when thinking of your game-minded friends or family. The world of sports offers many more suggestions for gifts.

For instance golf, tennins or ski equipment or clothes are good gifts. If your friends have a playroom, there are many games which the entire family will enjoy such as English darts.

If someone you know has insomnia, there are many gadgets which are purported to induce sleep.

I hope that yesterday and today have aided you in your search for the right gift for those you must yet buy for!

Moose Unit Plans Party for Saturday

Final arrangements for a Christmas party, to be held at 1 p.m. Saturday, were made when Women of the Moose, Pontiac Chapter 360, met at the Moose Hall.

The affair will be held at the hall on Mt. Clemens street. A special invitation has been extended to the children.

* * *

Committee reports were approved and sent to Mooseheart at the meeting. Several new candidates were approved for membership in the chapter.

* * *

Announcement was made that Pontiac Chapter will be hostess group for the Mid-Winter Conference to be held Jan. 25. Several other chapters will be invited to help with the ritualistic enrollment on this day.

For Holiday Glow

Make gay holiday candles by melting scraps of candles together and pouring in molds of attractive design. To have a delightful, delicate pine fragrance and have the candles burn longer, add 1 capful of pine scented household cleaner and 1 capful of starch to the melted mixture before pouring in molds.

Oliver Evans invented a flour mill in 1784 in which the grain was unloaded and processed into finished flour without the aid of human hands.

PCH Quartet Sings at Sylvan Christmas Party

A mixed quartet from Pontiac Central High School sang at a Christmas party given by Sylvan Shores Women's Club Wednesday. Mrs. James F. Nye of Sylvan Shores drive opened her home for the event.

Vocalists included Sharon Pike, Dennis Zimmerman, Kiki Sekles and Lynne Hollis.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Willard V. Johnson, Mrs. James Hampton, Mrs. Charles T. Gaffney, Mrs. John Kinzler and Thelma Morgan.

Fashion Hint

The very slim and simple sheath in beige lace, cut with wide shallow neckline, could be the best dress in a wardrobe for the holidays and after, too.

Honeymooning in State

Following a honeymoon to Northern Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. James Raymond Bryson are making their home on Elwood street. The couple was married Friday evening at Avondale Baptist Church.

MRS. JAMES R. BRYSON

Mrs. Bryson, the former Donna Kay Ludwig, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ludwig of West Pike street. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bryson of Franklin, N. C.

The bride's dress featured a Chantilly lace bodice accented with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The bouffant floor-length skirt was of alternating tiers of Chantilly lace and imported tulle.

Carolyn Jean Ludwig was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lucille Ludwig, another of the bride's sisters, and Sharon Hill of Imlay City. Flower girl was Marta Lewis.

* * *

Best man was Richard Ludwig Jr., the bride's brother. Groomsmen were Thomas Potts and Dwight Barnett of Keego Harbor. Ushers included Philip Babcock of Imlay City and William Shelley. The bride's brother, Larry Ludwig was ringbearer.

Polished Buttons

If you give a shirt or blouse as a gift, make it extra nice by putting colorless nail polish over each button and thread. The button won't ever have to be replaced—unless it's broken.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. F. Howard Grady, left, and Mrs. Aaron Fox. Each of the tables was decorated with attractive Yuletide centerpieces.

Fashion Hint

Shoes with straps across the ankle tend to make the legs appear larger, points out an extension specialist in clothing. Shoes in one color and texture make the feet and legs seem more slender.

Bowing to Designers Makes Us Look Fat

By RUTH MILLETT

When Britain's outspoken Lady Norah Docker recently visited New York she made the observation that it seemed American women had grown not only taller but fatter.

We haven't—but thanks to the styles we import from Europe, we certainly look as though we have.

American women teetering along in four-inch, match-thin heels with their dresses barely covering their knees certainly look as though they've suddenly grown a foot.

Put even the thinnest woman in a trapeze dress, one hanging from the shoulders like a tent or one with a belt around the hipline instead of the waistline and you've added 20 pounds to her apparent weight.

And to make us look even more ungainly there are the low cars that we have to fold up to get into, the low chairs and sofas that it is impossible to it in gracefully or get out of easily.

Even our leisure clothes seem designed to bring out the worst of us. No wonder they call them "crazy pants" when they make a tall, thin woman look like a bean pole and a well-rounded woman like a tackle on the varsity team.

We starve to stay thin and spend money like crazy in reducing salons so that we can wear the latest fashions—which add more weight to our appearance than we can diet and exercise off.

Nope, we aren't getting fatter, Lady Docker. We are just the victims of the designers who at the moment seem determined to make us look as though we were.

What Young People Think

Cowardly? Dumb? Not Our Group, Say Teens

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Are many young Americans of draft age cowards when it comes to completing parachute training, or cheaters who play dumb to escape the draft?

Two military officials leveled such accusations not long ago. But representative teenagers whom we interviewed in a cross-country survey rejected the cowardice charges.

The score was 55 per cent to 22 per cent, although an unusually large 23 per cent answered that they dwon't know. And none had ever heard of anyone acting stupid to get out of the draft.

Reading over their answers, nevertheless, one gets the impression that the youngsters are a little uncertain of themselves, and often willing to accept such charges at face value despite what actual evidence may be available to them.

It was an army general, Hamilton H. Howze, who asserted that a dropout percentage of 8.3 at the Fort Bragg Airborne School "is not a good commentary on the caliber of American youth."

Less than 18 per cent of the boys we talked to said they would volunteer for parachute training; 35 per cent said they would not, and 43 per cent said they didn't know what they would do.

But remember, this is peace time. Most didn't seem really afraid — just reluctant to risk their skins when there was no obvious need. In war time, many indicated, they would not hesitate to serve wherever they were needed.

A few dissidents were blunt.

"I don't consider myself a sad commentary on American youth, and I wouldn't parachute jump even in Coney Island!" sniffed 15-year-old Paul Fink of Hoosick, N. Y.

GIRLS BRAVER

The girls, by the way, were braver for the boys than the boys were for themselves. Thirty-five per cent said they would be willing to have their boy friends volunteer for parachute duty; 30 per cent were unwilling and 35 per cent couldn't decide.

Another high military official, Selective Service Chief Lewis B. Hershey, has said that some boys deliberately play dumb to avoid the draft — he cannot understand otherwise why 20 per cent of American boys should be listed as not mentally fit for service.

The teenagers were surprised. Not a single boy or girl had ever heard of an actual case of anyone beating the draft by deliberately flunking the mental ability tests.

"I think any American has more pride and patriotism than to do that," said Dianne Burdick, 17, of Oklahoma City.

"Few people wish to appear so stupid as to be too dumb to be drafted," remarked 18-year-old Howard Helman of Schenectady.

Almost 59 per cent doubted that the official was correct in thinking boys were playing dumb, and yet one-fifth of the group conceded he was probably right. More than 21 per cent had no idea on the question.

Eighty-six per cent declared firmly that playing dumb was not excusable.

"If you're physically fit, you should fight for your country," was the summation by Carol Sowdre of Los Angeles.

DIVIDED ON THIS

The teeners split right down the middle on the question of whether very stupid boys should be excused from military service—45 per cent said they should, 41 per cent felt they should not and 14 per cent were undecided.

"Even the dumbest person can dig ditches," said 18-year-old Ramon Barnes of Portland, Ore. His comment was typical of those who felt dullards could be used for routine jobs, freeing others for important work.

The teeners didn't show great confidence in themselves as compared to their elders. Only half felt that today's boys are as ready for dangerous combat duty as were their fathers and grandfathers.

More than a third felt they were less ready. Fifteen per cent could not decide.

'TOO SHELTERED'

Those who took a dim view of their own toughness, generally agreed with 16-year-old Lanette Walker of Troy, Ala.:

"Today's youth have been sheltered and have led too easy a life."

But 16-year-old Merle Nadlin of Chicago retorted:

"Youth may be a little more cautious than their grandfathers were, but this doesn't mean they are less ready for combat."

★ ★ ★

But many of the teeners indicated a timid, security-loving attitude that dare-devil earlier generations would have scorned.

"With today's values stressing security, men are less ready to risk their lives for a cause," said 15-year-old Freida Koslow of Forest Hills, N. Y.

An 'Extra' at White House State Dinner

Red Envoy 'Lone Wolf' at Feast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov found himself in something of a lone wolf role at Wednesday night's White House state dinner for diplomats, with "no lady allocated for me."

Protocol seemed to be taking a backseat in other ways.

President Eisenhower passed up champagne with his guests from 43 nations to join 44 choir boy entertainers having soft drinks.

* * *

The glitter of the White House in Christmas decor rivaled the bemedaled diplomatic corps.

The White House staged the first of two dinners for the heads of 83 foreign missions. It takes two dinners to accommodate all the top-ranking diplomats and their wives. The second will be tonight.

* * *

Of the 78 guests Wednesday night, there were 10 "extra" men and Ambassador Menshikov was one of tehm.

The usually smiling Russian, looking a little glum, walked alone as the diplomats and ladies went two by two into the East Ballroom for an after-dinner musicale.

When reporters asked why he was alone, he smiled and explained that his wife was home in Moscow and there was "no lady allocated for me."

LEAVES EARLY

He was still alone as the guests went into a late evening buffet. He was among the first guests to leave.

* * *

Eisenhower bypassed the buffet, with its champagne, sandwiches, small cakes and candies, and went downstairs after the musicale. He chatted with 44 youngsters—age 8 to 12—of the Landon School Boys' Choir from nearby Maryland. The boys sang Christmas selections at the musicale.

Mrs. Eisenhower, wearing a red nylon net dress with a full ruffled skirt, stayed about 15 minutes after the President left, chatting with guests.

Her Work Lends Joy to Many

GRANTS PASS, Ore. (UP)—Mary Waters knows what to do with old Christmas cards—she makes them into new ones that are used by thousands of soldiers and sailors.

Last year she provided servicemen with 8,600 cards and envelopes to send to loved ones.

* * *

Her basic material comes to her free in the form of bales of used cards forwarded by people who have heard in one way or another about her work.

For the writing paper from which she cuts out the envelopes, for the glue and for incidentals, she pays about $45 saved from the small pension she receives as the widow of a Spanish American war veteran.

* * *

Each card she treats individually, erasing any writing on it or pasting a cutout figure over the signature. The cards with their envelopes are distributed by the Red Cross to men in hospitals at Portland and elsewhere.

* * *

Mrs. Waters began her self-assigned task during World War II when her son Leon, serving in the Marine Corps, had to go to a hospital at Oakland. She sent him some made over cards to cheer him up.

* * *

Since then she never has turned out fewer than 2,000 cards a year.

* * *

Confined to a wheel chair now with a hip ailment, she still manages to find more time each year for her chore. She lives with her son Delroy, who keeps the log house that was built originally in the woods near Grants Pass by her late husband.

Says Girl Drank Poison on Dare

Fatal Liquor Swallowed After Taunt of 'Chicken,' Father Reports

WEST NEWBURY, Mass. (UPI) — A 17-year-old girl drank a fatal antifreeze mixture for fear of being called "chicken" by other young people attending a party, her father said.

Former Police Chief Buell Curry, in whose home the tragic party was held last Saturday night, said that it was not a drunken brawl.

"It was one of those things that teenagers call a 'chicken incident' in which some of the kids would be called 'chicken' if they didn't take a drink of liquor," Curry said.

The "liquor" which the teenagers found stored in a whisky bottle in the basement of the home turned out to be lethal automobile antifreeze. The youngsters thought it was wine or creme de menthe, police said.

Curry's daughter, Carol, became violently ill Sunday and died Monday night at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston. Three boys who also drank the green liquid remained hospitalized today, one in critical condition and in danger of losing part of his sight.

Marilyn Monroe Loses 2nd Baby in 16 Months

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Marilyn Monroe has lost her second unborn child in 16 months. The miscarriage was confirmed Wednesday night.

The 32-year-old blonde film star was reported recovering at her home here with her husband, playwright Arthur Miller, at her side.

* * *

But Joseph Wolhandler, Miss Monroe's personal press representative, said she is extremely upset. He said doctors determined she had lost her baby early this week, but that they did not set the exact time the miscarriage occured.

Miss Monroe, who married Miller in 1956, was five or six weeks pregnant when she lost her first baby Aug. 1, 1957.

* * *

Wolhandler said she became pregnant again last September while making a movie. Her doctors decided she could continue with the film in what Wolhandler described as a calculated risk. Miss Monroe finished the picture and returned here from Hollywood about two weeks ago.

* * *

Last Sept. 15, she was taken to a Hollywood hospital when she complained of feeling ill. Her illness was described as due to overwork.

* * *

On the advice of her physician, Wolhandler said, Miss Monroe had cut out all social affairs and turned down normal publicity demands such as interviews and photographs.

Insurance Firms Hike Rates on '59 Autos

NEW YORK (UPI) — Property damage insurance rates for owners of 1959 model cars are going up.

* * *

The National Automobile Underwriters Assn. has announced rate boosts on the new models because of their "extensive glass styling."

The higher rates are now in effect in 25 states, Alaska and the District of Columbia. The extra charges will be extended soon to Michigan and other states, the announcement said.

* * *

The increase is $3 a year for full-coverage, comprehensive insurance and $1 for $50-deductible coverage, under which the owner pays for the first $50 of the repair bill and the insurance company the rest.

Man and Wife Thankful for Opposite Reasons

10 to Train in Sweden

STOCKHOLM — "American Trainees to Sweden" is the name of a new program that will give young American businessmen a chance to practice for half a year in Sweden. For the next 10 years 10 American college graduates with at least one year's practical experience will be invited each year to work with leading Swedish companies in their own chosen field.

Christmas Card Outlook Is Brighter Than Ever

No doubt about it, Americans like Christmas cards. That's why folks will buy and mail a record 2½ billion of them this year.

And with all kinds of psychological research into the whys and wherefores of our buying habits, a card manufacturing company studied who bought what kind of Christmas card.

Chances are says American Greetings' researchers, if you're in the upper income group or live in a metropolitan area, you'll prefer slim-shaped cards. Rural buyers, they say, still prefer the conventional, square or oblong shapes.

No matter the kind you are supposed to buy, cards in general will be more colorful, brighter and gayer.

One card designed especially for the younger set, not only reads "Merry Christmas" but also sings it. It is a 78 rpm medley of Christmas carols. And a giant 12-inch by 17-inch card contains a music box for a favorite girl.

Nudging traditional Christmas reds, whites and greens for color favorites will be blue and gold plus buffs and lavenders.

Look for simulated gems used to put sparkle to candle flames and tree ornaments. And stained-glass church windows will appear more realistic through a use of transparent acetate.

And, according to designers, Santa is expected to slide slightly from his 1957 position as most popular subject. Taking his place will be novelty designs featuring holly and reindeer.

Look, also, for an increasing number of studio-type treatments in a light, sophisticated manner such as one showing many Yuletide activities. It reads merely "I'm pooped! Merry Christmas."

Religious cards are increasing in popularity and the use of mosaics, an old-time Italian idea, makes for more striking treatment of Nativity scenes.

Cards sent at this time often double as "thank you" cards. And they also serve to cement relations with persons overlooked in compiling the Christmas card list.

YOUNGSTERS REVEL — Adding an extra fillip to Holiday Greetings is a Christmas card record to play over and over on the phonograph.

Man Favors Bee Sting Over That of Mosquito

MORRISTOWN, N. J. (AP)—Every cloud has a silver lining department:

Indian Chief Deals Only Through Publicity Man

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Bruce Lehrke, seeking some real Indians for a rodeo he planned, heard there were some living at Wisconsin Dells, Wis., and wrote the chief asking how he'd like to pick up some easy wampum.

The chief replied:

"You'll have to contact my publicity man in Milwaukee."

Service With a Smile

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bruce Winick went to police to report angrily that his car had been stolen. They promptly sent out a description of the vehicle:

"Red, four and one-half feet long, five-mile-an-hour speed, called a Thunderbird Junior."

China's Woes Multiply as Reds Try Communes

By EARNEST HOBERECHT

TOKYO (UPI) — There is evidence that Communist China is headed for trouble.

Competent students of Chinese affairs in Manila, Singapore, Bangkok, Taipei, Macao and Hong Kong told me these troubles could even include open revolt—on a scale much larger than anything the Communists obviously are experiencing and putting down with force right now.

Last year Chairman Mao Tse-tung and his comrades felt they had the situation so well under control that they announced a program permitting freedom to express views, to criticize the party and the government.

The result obviously astonished and shocked the Communist dictators. The criticism came and it came in such force that the Red government could not tolerate it. It came from the common man and from the intellectuals.

In China, the people always have had tremendous respect for the scholar. The position of the soldier always has been low.

So when the intellectuals started criticizing the Chinese Communist regime, held in power by the force of arms of the soldiers, the masses were impressed.

Some of the intellectuals who took Chairman Mao at his word and criticized things suddenly found themselves out of jobs and banished to distant places.

When the intellectuals got to the rural areas, they found willing listeners.

Here the intellectuals were able to find supporters among the masses—the peasants—who could lead a real revolt against the Peiping regime.

With their system of spies, the leaders of the Communist government realized something had to be done. It was then, some students of Chinese affairs believe, that Peiping decided on the severest of all control measures — the unprecedented communes.

The communes provide effective control of the population. The voices of the intellectuals no longer can be heard in the villages and the home, for normal family life is wiped out by this latest Chinese Communist instrument.

But in hushing the voices of the intellectuals and in breaking up the families, what have the Communists done? There is a feeling in many really competent quarters that Communist China may have made a fatal mistake.

The communes help to increase production. They strengthen control of the workers. They further the cause of pure communism.

But what else?

Since the communes destroy the family system, each man is more or less on his own. If he is separated from his family and made a mere unit in a machine, his family no longer is a "hostage" and he has nothing to lose if he revolts to throw off his chains.

Since husband and wife are separated and can be alone together perhaps only once every two weeks, the commune system is not likely to be voted the most popular way of life, however much it may appeal to the political bosses of China.

In this connection, it is noteworthy that Communist China's population is increasing at a rate of about 15 million persons per year. Some quarters on the outside are speculating that the love-every-two-weeks policy established within the communes actually may be a birth control technique conceived by Peiping to halt population growth. It is certain that Peiping is concerned about feeding its more than 650 million mouths.

To control and push their millions of commune workers, the Communists are reported to be sending more and more arms to distant areas.

As more and more arms are sent out to control the restless masses, the greater become the chances of these arms falling into the hands of revolutionaries.

Western intelligence sources have reported there is reason to believe the people within Communist China would give considerable support to a Nationalist China landing force, if they thought it had a fair chance of success. This is an interesting and important bit of information, along with the latest unconfirmed reports that Marshal Chu Teh will replace Mao as leader of Communist China.

It all adds up to an increasing flow of evidence that Communist China is not riding down a smooth road. She has her troubles and they are beginning to multiply.

Nagging Tongue Needs Watching, Pope Chides

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII had a word to say today about the wagging tongue, "an organ between nose and chin which sometimes is used disproportionately."

"Hold it," said the 77-year-old pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church in a general audience for about 7,000 persons.

Pope John, again demonstrating his good humor and easy approach walked into the Hall of Benediction, where tourists and pilgrims from various lands awaited him. He was given rousing cheers as he entered.

Two monsignors interpreted in German and English for the pontiff, who now is studying both these languages.

"Another day," the Pope said in Italian, "I may be able to speak to you myself in these languages."

Sparks Bring Fast Aid

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (UPI) —Mrs. Virgil Ashley was so proud of her new gas range that she didn't notice the toaster cord had fallen across the flame. When sparks flew, she called firemen. Sixteen of them answered her call. One of them finally thought of unplugging the toaster.

Former Teacher, eh!

NEW YORK (UPI) — A publisher whose specialty is textbooks has a truck with the word "Pass" printed on the left of its rear bumper and the word "Flunk" on the right.

De Gaulle Awaits Election as Republic's Most Powerful President

(France elects Gen. Charles de Gaulle president on Sunday with the greatest presidential powers in the history of the French Republic. This is the first of two dispatches by a veteran reporter on French affairs providing a closeup study of De Gaulle as he prepares to take formal leadership.)

By ARTHUR HIGBEE

PARIS (UPI) — "All my life I have thought of France in a certain way. This is inspired by sentiment as much as by reason. The emotional side of me tends to imagine France, like the princess in the fairy stories or the madonna in the frescoes, as dedicated to an exalted and exceptional destiny."

So begins volume I of the Memoirs of Gen. Charles de Gaulle. It continues, "Instinctively I have the feeling that Providence has created her either for complete successes or for exemplary misfortunes. If, in spite of this, mediocrity shows in her acts and deeds, it strikes me as an absurd anomaly, to be imputed to the faults of Frenchmen, not to the genius of the land.

"But the positive side of my mind also assures me that France is not really herself unless she is in the front rank; that only vast enterprises are capable of counterbalancing the ferments of disintegration inherent in her people; that our country, as it is, surrounded by the others, as they are, must aim high and hold itself straight, on pain of mortal danger.

"In short, to my mind, France cannot be France without greatness."

This is the testament of De Gaulle. The testament of a man who has done deeds to match his words.

It is a coincidence that the name Charles de Gaulle means Charles of France, recalling to his countrymen Charlemagne, who unified Europe a thousand years ago, and Charles Martel, who drove the Moors from French soil.

It is a happenstance that De Gaulle is tall in stature and aloof in temperament in a country where neither characteristic is especially common.

It is another coincidence that De Gaulle made his appeal to a fallen France to rise and fight again on June 18, 1940 — the 125 anniversary of Waterloo.

But it is De Gaulle's own doing that he was wounded three times in the First World War before capture, from which he tried to escape five times; that he was the lonely prophet of mobile, armored warfare in the Maginot Line - mesmerized France of the 1930's; that he was the only French general and the only member of the French Cabinet to refuse surrender in 1940; that he is that greatest of statesmen; one who voluntarily retired at the pinnacle of his power and was called back years later to rule again.

Charles Andre Joseph Marie de Gaulle was born Nov. 22, 1890, in the Flemish city of Lille which lies in the historic invasion route to and from the low countries.

His family was of Norman stock; and of the "nobility of the sword" which had won honors in warfare.

There was a De Gaulle on the field at Bouvines, when Philippe Augustus defeated the Germans in 1214. There was another who vainly counseled the Crown Prince against surrender to England's King Henry V at Agincourt.

De Gaulle's father, Henri de Gaulle, a reserve officer, had been wounded at Le Bourget during the Prussian siege of Paris in 1870.

De Gaulle's mother was the former Jeanne Maillot, of a family with a strong military tradition, a strain of Scots, (Mac Cartan) and Irish (Fleming) blood and a tendency to grow tall.

De Gaulle says in his memoirs, "My father was a thoughtful, cultivated, traditional man, imbued with the feeling of the dignity of France. He made me aware of her history. My mother had an uncompromising passion for her country, equal to her religious piety. To my three brothers, my sister and myself a certain anxious pride in our country came as second nature."

Long-noised, long-limbed Charles de Gaulle entered the French Military Academy of St. Cyr in August, 1909. Given his choice of regiments upon graduation, he picked the 33rd infantry stationed at Artas in the north.

The commanding officer was Colonel Philippe Petain, later to lead his countrymen to victory at the battle of Verdun in the first World War and to preside over them in disgrace as the chief of the Vichy Government in the Second War.

"My first colonel — Petain — showed me the meaning of the gift and the art of command," De Gaulle has written.

De Gaulle was a first lieutenant at the outset of the First World War, a captain within a year. He was wounded three times; the third came at Verdun in 1916 when he was leading a counterattack. He was bayoneted in the thigh, and captured.

Petain, by now a general, witnessed the action. He said in a citation, "Captain de Gaulle, commanding the company, reputed for his high intellectual and moral valor, rallied his men — at a time when his battalion, under a terrible bombardment, had been decimated and the enemy was closing in from all sides—to a furious assault and a ferocious hand-to-hand combat, the only solution he judged compatible with military honor. He fell in the melee. He is an officer without equal in every way."

In May, 1919, De Gaulle married Yvonne Vendroux, a pretty, cheerful woman who always shunned the limelight.

They had three children — Philippe, now a lieutenant commander in the French Navy; Elizabeth, the wife of an army officer, and Anne, who died as a child.

The same month he was married, De Gaulle was off to Poland for three years under Gen. Maxime Weygand, helping the Poles stave off the Red Army.

In 1921 he returned to France for a quiet spell as professor of history at St. Cyr and as a graduate student at the Ecole de Guerre, France's military staff college.

At that time the French General Staff, having thoroughly learned the conduct of trench warfare, was steeped in the Maginot Line concept of a defensive war.

Toward the end of his studies Captain de Gaulle, commander of the "Boue Army" in maneuvers, put to the test the spearhead-offensive tactics that he was beginning to develop, and routed the "White Army" which was using the tactics of massive defense.

The victory started a furious debate which raged all the way up to the chief of staff—Petain. The Marshal summoned De Gaulle, listened to his arguments, and said, "De Gaulle is right."

But he let the matter drop there—perhaps the first official act of omission that led to the defeat of France in 1940.

On May 15, 1940—the day after the German armies knifed through the Maginot Line and began rolling into France—De Gaulle was given command of the newly-organized 4th Armored Division.

«De Gaulle's Division launched the only successful large-scale French counterattack in that dismal campaign, at Abbeville, on May 28. "Before us, in a pitched battled, the Germans had retired."»

On June 6 De Gaulle was summoned to Paris by the new premier, Paul Reynaud, to become undersecretary of state for national defense, But the battle of France was already lost.

On June 17 Reynaud resigned and Petain was asked to form a government: "That meant certain capitulation. My decision was taken at once. I would leave as soon as morning came."

★ ★ ★

The following day De Gaulle flew from Bordeaux to London in a British aircraft. It would be four years before he would win his way back to France.

Omar Bradley Believes Berlin Crisis Is Bluff

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Retired Army Gen. Omar Bradley says he thinks the Berlin crisis is "another Russian brushfire."

But he says the United States should prepare itself to fight if necessary.

★ ★ ★

Remarking that he no longer has access to military intelligence reports and has no more information on the Berlin situation than the average citizen, he said in an interview: "My guess is that the trouble in Berlin will not lead to war. I don't think the Russians would start a war that way."

★ ★ ★

Christmas Treat—Flint Central (No. 1) at Pontiac Central (No. 5)

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The city of San Francisco, like others on the West Coast, is still a novice when it comes to handling big time athletics.

But this hilly town by the Golden Gate is certainly gaining the reputation of becoming the most belligerent sports' city in the country.

The antics which have taken place in Frisco with the innovation of professional sports would put Brooklyn's long standing reputation to shame.

When Frankie Albert quit, it was the latest of a series of events in athletics which was directed at the fans. Albert said his family was taking abuse at home, school and at the field from radical fans.

Sports figures have left that city after performances calling the fans there "vicious and blood thirsty."

Every time the 49ers have to make a decision on the field, whether to kick or run, the fans try to force the call with roaring chants.

Most TV fans saw and heard this when the Lions played out there. The fans booed consistently when the 49ers decided to kick instead of gamble.

In recent events, jockey Johnny Longden, one of our greatest, was nearly run out of the park because he failed to bring home a winner.

Last summer, two National League umpires were slugged by enraged fans after a Giants' game; one of the Giant coaches was pelted for making a bad call at third base.

This fall, they were hanging coaches all over the place in effigy; students from California and Stanford rioted after a game.

Did someone say, Go West? If you do, better take your shotgun and take the route of the civilized Indian Country.

GOOD BET—Now that Otto Graham has been ruled out of the U. of D. coaching job, a good bet looks like Ed Kluska, former Xavier University football coach. Kluska got the coaching job at Xavier when Father Steiner was president there, and he had a few good years before leaving.

A DAWKINS WELCOME?—Is Cranbrook school planning any kind of honor or festivity for its great All-America product Pete Dawkins? His hometown of Royal Oak is thinking of some welcome.

Dawkins, incidentally, may be in attendance at the Motor City basketball tournament, Dec. 29-30, when the Army Cadets play in Detroit.

Writers Oppose Aussie Ban

British Press Backs Kramer in Net War

LONDON (AP) — Professional promoter Jack Kramer Wednesday found most British sports writers ready to back him in his lawn tennis war with the bosses of the amateur game in Australia.

★ ★ ★

The Australian Lawn Tennis Assn. has banned the American promoter from using courts under its jurisdiction. The Australians want the ban extended to amateur courts all over the world.

★ ★ ★

Basil Reay, secretary of the International Lawn Tennis Federation, said Wednesday: "We can do nothing till we have heard from Australia. Until I get wod from the Australians I cannot express an opinion."

But British sports writers found plenty of time and space to express their opinions.

"This ban on Kramer is crazy," headlined the Daily Sketch. "I take Kramer to win the war," said Peter Wilson in the Daily Mirror. "Kramer ban would make problems," commented the Daily Telegraph. "Kramer ban is foolish," said the Daily Mail.

★ ★ ★

British writers claimed that a complete break between the amateur and professional game would take money out of the amateur sport and make it more difficult for the amateurs to continue.

Top Prep Game in State Favors Indian Quintet

Large Crowd Expected to Watch Two Highly Ranked Teams

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The young basketball season has its first big showdown Friday night when two of the top ranked high school teams in the state, Flint Central (No. 1) and Pontiac Central (No. 5) batle on the PCH court.

Flint Central, defending champion of the rugged Saginaw Valley Conference, has seven lettermen back and the Indians are in the favorites' role for what is considered the top prep attraction in Michigan.

This will be the last game until after the holidays for both teams and the winner can hold the top spot in the Saginaw Valley standings until play resumes January 9th.

A capacity house, possibly bettering the record crowd which jammed PCH gym for the Highland Park game two years ago, is expected for the cage feature. Reserved seat tickets were still available this morning at Osmun's and at the high school.

Remaining general admission seats will go on sale at 6:15 p.m. at PCH windows Friday night.

Coach Joe Dowdy of the Indians is uncertain about one starting position. He plans on using high scoring veteran, Keith Richardson, 6-3 at center along with 6-feet Marcellus Wilson and Dale Lucas, 5-10 at guards.

The forwards will have Mel Thomas, 6-1, at one spot and either J. L. Williamson, 6-0, or Joe Latham, 6-1 at the other position.

Pontiac Central will have four veterans in the starting lineup headed by 5-8 guard Charley Barge. Bill Hayward, 6-2, and John Bandy, 6-3, hold the forward posts.

At center coach Art Van Ryzin may start either Harrison Munson, 6-1, or Bill Pritchett, 6-3. Munson, who came out late because of the football season, is due to have one of his better games and Van Ryzin is hoping it might be tomorrow.

George Fed, who turned his ankle in practice this week, is not expected to be ready for the Chiefs. PCH has Amos Bailey, a 6-1 sophomore, who hit 14 against Catholic Central, ready to go at forward behind Bandy.

Last year, Flint Central, in posting a 9-1 SVC record, won both games from the Chiefs, 52-43 in Flint and 68-61 in Pontiac.

In the game at PCH last season, it was Lucas who spearheaded a 4th quarter rally with three big field goals to spell doom for the Chiefs.

Pontiac Press Photo

STARTER — The other starter for the Chiefs against Flint Central is junior Phil Rabaja, a 5-6 guard. Rabaja, not a high scorer, has been a valuable floor man for PCH.

Colts Will Sell Title Tickets

Baltimore's Allotment Goes on Sale There Monday

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colt allotment of tickets to the National Football League championship game will go on sale Monday, the club announced last night.

★ ★ ★

The game will be played Dec. 28 on the home field of the league's Eastern Conference champion, which will be decided in Sunday's playoff between the Cleveland Browns and New York Giants.

Season ticket holders will get first call on the Colt tickets, with about 12,000 expected to be available if the title game is played in Cleveland and 10,000 if it's played in New York. Any leftovers will go on general sale Tuesday.

The Baltimore team, winner of the Western Conference championship, drew more than 10,000 fans from its hometown when it played the Giants in a regular season game before a sellout Yankee Stadium crowd. The Giants won 24-21.

McLean on Lions' Staff

Scooter Quits Job as Coach of Green Bay

Replaces Red Cochran Who Becomes Eligible for U. of D. Post

DETROIT (UPI)—Coach George Wilson waited a year out finally got Ray (Scooter) McLean, his old roommate with the Chicago Bears, on his Detroit Lions staff.

McLean, who resigned yesterday as head coach of the Green Bay Packers, was signed a few hours later by Wilson as backfield coach. He replaces Red Cochran, who was dropped from the staff after three years.

Wilson said earlier this season he would have hired McLean a year ago if Scooter hadn't agreed to coach the Packers.

The Packers this season were wrecked with injuries and compiled a dismal record of one victory, 10 losses and one tie. McLean resigned during a general reshuffling of the Green Bay organization.

Wilson, an end, and McLean, a halfback, played on four championship teams with Halas U. in the 1940's.

A Lions spokesman said "everybody in football, not only the Lions, respects Scooter's ability as a coach and we consider ourselves lucky to get him."

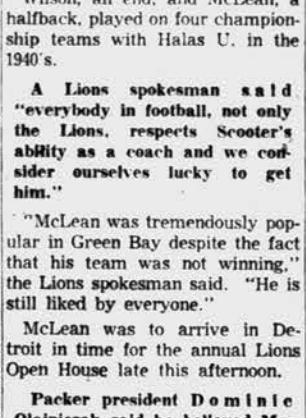

"McLean was tremendously popular in Green Bay despite the fact that his team was not winning," the Lions spokesman said. "He is still liked by everyone."

McLean was to arrive in Detroit in time for the annual Lions Open House late this afternoon.

Packer president Dominic Olejniczak said he believed McLean "did everything in his power to win games for the Packers. Our misfortunes over a period of years will not be placed on the shoulders of McLean."

There has been a move under way to return Earl (Curly) Lambeau to the club he founded in 1919 and piloted to six world titles. Some observers see Lambeau returning as coach, others as general manager.

Cochran, who said his plans for the future were uncertain, immediately became a candidate for the vacant head coaching job at the University of Detroit which fired Wally Fromhart.

Celtics, Big Audience Too Much for Pistons

DETROIT (UPI) — Two things have made the Pistons freeze at home since they moved to Detroit —the Boston Celtics and a large crowd. Before the best turnout of the season, 5,758, the Pistons fell apart and lost 102-95 to Boston last night.

At the free throw line the Pistons were uncanny. They sank 33 of 37 charity tosses. But from the field they sank 10 fewer baskets than the Celtics in losing their 14th game in 16 starts against the Celts in two years.

The inability to get a field goal hit its peak of futility in the first half. Detroit grabbed a 14-9 lead and then went nine minutes and 20 seconds without a basket. Ten free throws and good defensive work saw Detroit trailing only 25-24, however, before George Yardley broke the drought.

Yardley's sparkling performance —he totaled 33 points—kept Detroit in the running in the third period. He made six of the Pistons' nine field goals and at one point put in nine straight markers, twice giving the Pistons leads they were unable to hold.

But even Yardley couldn't hit in the disastrous first six minutes of the final quarter.

Coupled with St. Louis' 136-122 win over New York in the opener of the doubleheader, Detroit dropped four games behind the Hawks in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

The twin bill broke a first-place tie between New York and Boston in the East. Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagen each notched 35 points in leading the Hawks to their finest offensive display of the season.

Hawkeyes Get Drills Moving

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The Hawkeyes of Iowa, anxious to make up for practice time lost at home due to weather conditions, today were sent to work by coach Forest Evashevski as quickly as possible following their welcome by the home city of the Rose Bowl game.

★ ★ ★

"We have to start from scratch," Evashevski said as he herded the Iowa football team to the East Los Angeles Junior College practice field for the first workout.

The Iowans left Iowa City in 11-degree weather and landed yesterday at nearby Burbank with the temperature at 82 degrees.

Evashevski said his players, including end Curt Merz who missed the Notre Dame game because of a knee injury, all were in good physical condition but needed plenty of work.

State Wallops Notre Dame, 74-56

By United Press International

Michigan State today remained among the few unbeaten major college basketball teams in the nation.

The Spartans easily whipped a disappointing Notre Dame team at South Bend, 74-56, last night for their third straight victory.

The loss was the third straight in four starts for the Irish, who were supposed to have one of their better teams this year. Notre Dame has lost to two other Big Ten schools, Wisconsin and Northwestern.

Michigan State, which hosts Nebraska Saturday before heading south for an invitational tournament, was paced by the scoring duo of Bob Anderegg and Johnny Green.

The Spartans jumped to an eight-point lead in the first nine minutes and never were threatened by Notre Dame. Leading 35-27 at the half, Michigan State iced the contest in the first seven minutes following the intermission with a scoring splurge to take a 53-35 lead.

The second period drive was led by Horace Walker, Lance Olson and Green. Anderegg won individual honors for the game with 19 points, while Green netted 17 and Walker 15.

The Toledo Rockets, with five players scoring in double figures, stopped the Broncos in the first half when Western Michigan got only eight goals. Toledo led 54-26 at the intermission.

The Broncos made a strong bid in the second half, scoring 58 points.

In an MIAA game, Alma spurted in the second half to defeat Albion, 74-58. Alma held a narrow 32-31 edge at half time.

Hillsdale put on a fine all-around performance to defeat Eastern Michigan, 65-58.

Tom MacKenzie paced Eastern with 24 points while Bob Sippell was high man for Hillsdale with 12 points.

Olivet broke away to an early lead and put on a strong finish to down Grace College, 80-61.

Tonight, Lawrence Tech is at Adrian, Michigan Tech travels to St. Cloud (Minn.), Alma hosts Calvin, Hope continues its road trip at Ohio Central, and Alpena CC plays at Highland Park JC.

W. Siders in Top Form, Farley Hits 702 at Huron

The West Side Classic had one of its best overall nights of the season this week while the Huron Bowl Classic also had another long list of impressive scores.

A grand total of 45,469 pins were toppled at West Side featuring Huron's win over 11th Frame Bar by 3147 to 3082. There were 10 games over 1000 and four 3000-plus series.

"Skin" Keith paced the individuals with 257 and 255 games in a 685 series. Mike Samardzija hit 672, Ted Sutton 659, Bill Bull 654 and Don Martell 653. Bull rolled 246 just behind Charley Palaian's 247. There were 21 series over 600 and 72 games above 200.

Bull was also one of the top performers at Huron with 259 game and 676 trio.

Lee Farley stole the show there with a 702 for the 16th 700 series in that league this season. His big game was a 266. George Chicovsky totaled 669 highlighted by a 245 single.

First place Humphries divided with Hazelton while Calbi gained on the leaders, paced by Bull.

Former Chief Wins 2 Events for Ohio Team

John Doerr, former Pontiac Central High swimmer, is one of four lettermen on the College of Wooster, Ohio, swimming squad this season, according to Coach John Swigart.

Doerr, who won his varsity letter last season in the shorter free style races, won two firsts places for Wooster when the Scots defeated Baldwin Wallace, last weekend, 55-30 at Berea. Doerr won the 60 and 100 yard free style events.

Doerr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell H. Doerr, 174 Ottawa Dr. and was graduated from Central high in June, 1957. In scholastic athletics he won awards in swimming and tennis.

Prospect Ed Perkins Wins on TV Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eddie Perkins was beaming and Baby Vasquez screaming today in the aftermath of Perkins' second straight victory before the Wednesday TV fight cameras.

Perkins, 21-year-old Chicago lightweight comer, stopped Vasquez on a technical knockout at 2:40 in the seventh round of their lightweight scrap at Capitol Arena last night.

Martin, 5 Others Sign With Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians today announced the signing of six players to 1959 baseball contracts, including recently acquired second baseman Billy Martin.

★ ★ ★

Martin, whom the Indians obtained in a five-player trade with the Detroit Tigers, returned his signed contract to General Manager Frank Lane a few days after receiving it.

★ ★ ★

Other players signed up are pitchers Jack Striker and Morrie Martin, infielders Billy Moran and Randy Jackson, and outfielder Carroll Hardy.

Cleveland now has seven players under contract for the 1959 season. Pitcher Cal McLish agreed to terms three months ago.

Dallas—Don Meredith, a junior at Southern Methodist, set a national collegiate mark for pass completions with 69.6 per cent during the Mustangs' campaign in the 1957 playing season.

Michigan Grid Aces Look to Canadian Ball

That would mean the 1958 Michigan quarterback would follow his 1957 predecessor into the Canadian pro ranks.

Van Pelt has suddenly emerged as a star in Canada. He piloted the Winnipeg Blue Bombers to the Grey cup, the prize for winning the Canadian championship. His 22 points were the most ever scored by an individual in the Grey cup classic.

Ptacek and his favorite pass target and sidekick, Gary Prahst, are being courted by the Hamilton Tiger-Cats in Van Pelt's league. They've already visited the Ontario city. And Hamilton coach Jim Trimble returned the visit last week.

Detroit-Born Charlie Burns Candidate for Calder Trophy

Red Wing Rookie Succeeds

By JACK BERRY
By United Press International

DETROIT—After nearly half a dozen years of nursing "can't miss" rookies up through the farm system, introducing them with a flare of publicity and then seeing them misfire, the Detroit Red Wings have come up with a non-assuming firebrand on ice who was born in Detroit.

He's Charlie Burns who never played a game of pro hockey but is a likely contender for the National Hockey League's Calder Trophy as Rookie of the Year.

Burns came to the eye of Red Wing General Manager Jack Adams, the NHL and all of Canada last year in Oslo, Norway, where he sparked the Whitby Dunlops to the world hockey title over Russia.

Charlie didn't score a goal in Whitby's final 4-2 victory over the Russians but he was named most valuable forward when the seven-country tournament was over.

Burns isn't likely to go down as a great scorer in National League record books, he's not that type of player.

"Charlie is a hustler," said former Red Wing coach Jimmy Skinner who now is director of the Detroit scouting organization. "He gets in there and digs and fights for that puck every second he's on the ice. He gets it out to his forwards and that's his job. No one will push him around."

Burns isn't hard to spot on the ice. He's always in the thick of things and usually where the puck is. And he wears a seven-ounce leather and sponge rubber helmet.

But six years ago last month it looked as though Burns' hockey career was ended at the age of 16.

The black-haired, crew-cut youngster was practicing with the Toronto Marlboros, leading a rush down the ice. He tripped and slid head-first into the boards, suffering a double skull fracture. Two weeks later a blood clot developed and surgeons had to cut into his skull above his right ear to save his life.

Then they inserted a pear-shaped, three-inch metal plate above the ear. Charlie wouldn't give up hockey though and started playing secretly in the Toronto Hockey League. Although born in Detroit, he was raised in Toronto by an aunt and uncle after his mother died when he was six months old.

★ ★ ★

Conn Smythe of the Maple Leafs heard about Burns and he went back to the Marlies and then to Whitby, a Senior A club, playing there two years. Adams put him on the Detroit negotiation list after the victory over Russia and had him examined by Red Wing physicians who pronounced him fit.

The Wings thought they'd send Charlie to their Edmonton farm club for seasoning this year but they forgot all about that after a few practice sessions as Burns won himself a spot.

Hazel Park Matmen Down Farmington

Eight wins, including four pins, gave Hazel Park High's wrestlers a big margin over Farmington for a 32-16 victory Wednesday.

Visiting Farmington captured four wins, half on pins by Frank DePodesta (165 pounds) and Dan Ressler (175 pounds). The latter match lasted only 45 seconds. Other Farmington wins were decisions.

Parkers' pins were by Bob Wellman (133), Bob Ferguson (154), Jim Mitchell (127) on foul, and Bill Black (138).

Top match was Tom Peckham's decision over Parkers' ace Doug Vickers (120 pounds). Vickers was a finalist in the recent Lansing invitational. He was shut out by Peckham.

Other winners for Hazel Park: Jerry Cunningham (95 pounds), John Pantire (103 pounds), Rupert Black (112 pounds), Leroy Phillips (heavyweight). For Farmington: Larry Garber (145 pounds) and Peckham (120 pounds).

Boston—Only once since 1946 have the Boston Red Sox failed to hit the million mark at the turnstiles.

Change Has Proved Profitable

Bowling Star Lubanski Wanted to Be Pitcher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ed Lubanski, a young man who looks like Eddie Lopat but threw the ball much harder, is a glowing example today of the rising status of the sport of bowling.

Ten years ago he was a prized young pitcher in the St. Louis Browns' farm system. Big things were being predicted for him when he won 23 games for Wausau to lead the Wisconsin State League.

But then he decided to quit throwing strikes in favor of rolling them.

Just last week that decision paid off, again, as the 29-year-old A.N.F. star won the world's invitational match game championship. With the title went five thousand iron men.

"I started bowling when I was 12 years old because my father was a good bowler," he recalls. "But he had been a good baseball catcher, too, and his dream was to see me play in the Major Leagues."

★ ★ ★

Lubanski probably could have made it, too. In no time at all his fast ball was causing Pop to holler "uncle." Then, in three seasons in the Browns' system, his fast ball, control and improving curve had him marked as a comer.

"But they don't pay much money in the Minor Leagues and, when I was married, I decided that I'd have to go after better money in a quicker fashion," he grins. "I had worked in bowling establishments as a counter man, etc., and I decided to turn to bowling full time."

He hasn't regretted the decision. At 21 he teamed with 67-year-old Sarge Easter to win the A.B.C. doubles championship. The following year he was a member of the Stroh's team in Detroit which captured the A.B.C. all events. Three times he has been on the All-America bowling team and his average over 12 years of A.B.C. tournament play is a fine 201.

But his biggest victory was last week when he walked off with the world invitational match game marathon, winning easily despite the strain of rolling 100 games in nine days against the best in the world. His formula is, in itself, a tip for the average bowler.

"I used to worry about the other fellows and how close their scores were to mine," he explains. "That's a sure way to tense up, and start pressing, without even realizing it. In this one, I ignored everybody else and simply concentrated on rolling my own game."

The two greatest faults of the average bowler, he feels, are in a faulty approach and failing to have a ball which fits properly.

"Learning a proper pushaway and how to take your steps is number one," he says. "And even if you bowl only once a week you should have your own ball."

When the average bowler practices, Lubanski suggests, he should not keep score.

Wally Hergesheimer Optioned to Buffalo

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran right winger Wally Hergesheimer who was sent from New York to Montreal and back to New York in a National Hockey League shuffle last week, Wednesday was optioned by the Rangers to Buffalo of the American League.

The Rangers' attempts to get waivers on Hergesheimer were blocked last week by the champion Canadiens, who claimed him for the $15,000 waiver price. When Montreal tried to send him to Rochester of the AHL, the Rangers re-claimed him and gave back the $15,000.

Hergesheimer, whom the Rangers brought up from Buffalo early in the season, scored three goals for New York this season.

Rich Pros Get Richer Sunday in Title Fight

Browns and Giants Will Divide Greenbacks in Eastern Playoff

NEW YORK (UPI) — The old saying that the "rich get richer" also holds true for the National Football League.

The Cleveland Browns and New York Giants, the "moneybags" clubs of the Eastern Division, will divide another bundle of greenbacks Sunday when they play off for the division title at Yankee Stadium.

The crowd of about 70,000, plus television and radio fees will assure a bonanza of about a quarter of a million dollars for the owners and players.

In a division playoff game, the two clubs split the met receipts and each player gets an additional one-twelfth of his salary (the teams play 12 regular season games).

This will average about $1,000 per player. The quarterbacks and other stars such as fullback Jim Brown of Cleveland will get more, of course, following the same "rich get richer" pattern. Most of the guards and tackles, who decide the game with their play in the line, probably will get less than $1,000 apiece.

But none of the players will need pep-talks before Sunday's game.

The winners will move into the league championship game against the Baltimore Colts Dec. 28. That's the game in which the players slice up the net receipts.

With the title game to be played in Yankee Stadium or Cleveland's Municipal Stadium, the gross receipts easily could top the record $593,967.50 set by the Browns and Lions at Detroit last year.

That means the individual winners in the championship game may collect about $5,000 and the losers about $3,000. Those fat little game cuts will inspire the players Sunday.

The Cleveland and New York clubs, already fattened by attendances of 78,404 and 63,192 for their 1958 regular season clashes, will be the big financial winners in the playoff game.

Sunday's clash will be the 20th in a banner competitive and financial series between the Giants and Browns since the latter entered the NFL from the All-America Conference in 1950. The two clubs have averaged 48,000 fans per game.

Italian Netters See Little Hope in U.S. Matches

PERTH, Australia (AP) — The captain of the Italian Davis Cup tennis team dolefully conceded today he had "little or no chance" against the U.S. in the interzone final and urged a change in the rules to give European nations a better break.

"If we played the Americans in Italy on clay or on some other hard surface I think we would win," said Giorgi Dal Fiume, a robust, beaded attorney. "But on grass here our cause is hopeless."

The Italians, winners of the European zone, and the Americans, who survived in their area, meet here Friday, Saturday and Sunday in a best of five match series for the right to challenge Australia for the Davis Cup in Brisbane, Dec. 29-31.

Bowling has grown much more rapidly in quantity for number of participants and establishments in recent years than it had in the past around the Pontiac area but many oldtimers will tell you the present high quality of keglers is not new.

"There always has been some good bowlers around Pontiac," said one veteran of the alleys. "There may be more of them now, but we had some real good ones several years ago," added another.

Arch Johnson, a former member of the old Orpheum Recreation house team, cites a city team match in the early 1930s as an example of the type of keglers that were cavorting here then.

The Orpheum team rolled well over 3,300 only to have its opponent top 3,400. Ed Stepelton was another member of the Orpheum unit. The victors included Fred Gardella, John Gilboe, Bill Mills and Jack Olson.

It was a scramble to get to bowl in those days with only two or three small "houses" and later one with 10 alleys.

Now there are a total of 11 either in or just outside Pontiac and many more just a few miles away. All are kept busy as the game just grows and grows among the men, women and now even the children.

Cincinnati Ace Falls Below 40 for 1st Time

Robertson 'Limited' to 39

By The Associated Press

Opponents of the Cincinnati Bearcats, the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, can relax a bit. Fabled Oscar Robertson is human after all.

For the first time in four games this season, Robertson's scoring output went below 40 points. Cincinnati's big "O" netted 39 last night as the undefeated Bearcats thrashed the College of the Pacific 112-66.

Robby, hampered by a jammed finger, played about 36 minutes. He was held to only four points in first 13 minutes but then broke loose for 10 in a row. The 6-5 junior also found time to grab 23 rebounds and contribute 12 assists.

The mobile jump-shooter had collected 41, 45 and 42 points in his three previous outings. Robertson's scoring average now is 41.8. It betters the 35.1 mark he boasted in 1957-58 to take the major college scoring title as a sophomore, when he was selected as All-America.

If Oscar can maintain his average the rest of the campaign, he will break the all-time season record of 41.7, set by Frank Selvy of Furman in 1953-54. Furman's Darrell Floyd ranks second with a 35.9 average in 1954-55. Robertson's mark of last season stands as the third best ever.

Fourth-ranked North Carolina State and North Carolina, No. 10, were the only other members of the top 10 teams to see action last night. N.C. State whipped La-Salle 82-66 for its fifth straight victory and the Tar Heels made it three in a row with a 70-57 lacing of South Carolina in an Atlantic Coast Conference game.

Michigan State (tied for No. 11) Auburn (No. 13) and SMU (No. 20) also won. Undefeated Michigan State downed Notre Dame 74-56 for its third triumph; Auburn captured its 14th straight game over a two-season span by routing Florida State 95-74; and SMU turned back Oklahoma 59-51.

The host Quantico Marines and American University of Washington moved into the finals of the fifth annual Quantico Invitational tournament. Quantico trounced Buffalo 83-63 and American edged Ball State, Ind. 71-69 in semifinal round games last night.

Western Carolina won its own holiday tourney, crushing Catawba 71-46 for its third straight triumph in the round-robin competition. The Catamounts, who now boast a seven-game winning streak, also defeated Rollins and Tampa.

Cincinnati experienced little difficulty with the College of the Pacific and handed the touring West Coast team its fifth setback in six games. The Bearcats led 55-28 at the half. Ralph Davis and Mike Mendenhall backed up Robertson with 22 and 18 points, respectively.

North Carolina took a 34-25 halftime lead over South Carolina and pulled away after the Gamecocks had moved to within four points. York Larese led the Tar Heels with 17 but yielded scoring honors to Ray Pericola, who topped South Carolina with 21.

John Richter collected 29 points and Lou Pucillo found the range for 25 as North Carolina State unleashed a second-half spurt against LaSalle. The teams were tied 30-all at halftime before the Wolfpack built up a commanding margin, mostly on the shooting of Richter and Pucillo.

Pontiac Matmen in Big Tourney

Two dual matches tonight and a big weekend tournament will keep area wrestling teams busy along with the basketballers.

Farmington is at home against Livonia Bentley as is Southfield to meet Redford Union on tonight's schedule.

Pontiac Central, Pontiac Northern and Walled Lake will represent this sector in the annual Southeastern Michigan meet to be held Friday and Saturday at Garden City.

An estimated 40 schools will compete in the tournament which should provide a good indication of the quality of the local teams.

The possibility that contestants from the two Pontiac schools may clash in the event may make it an excellent preview to the big city match next Tuesday.

Tigers Top Fielding Club in AL, Yanks Finish 6th

Topping the league in fielding was Detroit with a .982 percentage. The Tigers finished fifth. The champion New York Yankees finished sixth in fielding with a .978 percentage while tailend Washington tied Baltimore for third in fielding with a .980 average.

The Chicago White Sox, league leaders in fielding in 1956 and 1957, finished second to Detroit with .981. Kansas City finished fifth with a .979 average, Boston was seventh with .976 and Cleveland last with .974.

The Yankees, however, had two individual leaders. Bill Skowron led all first basemen with a .993 average through 118 games and Yogi Berra topped the catchers Yogi had a perfect record through 88 games as he handled 509 putouts and made 41 assists.

Detroit's Frank Bolling came out on top among second basemen. Bolling had a .9849 mark to the .9848 record by Chicago's Nellie Fox. Billy Gardner of Baltimore was third with .9845.

Joe DeMaestri of Kansas City led the shortstops for the second straight season with the identical mark of .980 which made him first in 1957.

Baltimore's Jim Busby, traded to Boston this week, made only one error to lead all regular outfielders with a .995 percentage. Al Kaline of Detroit was second with .994 and Washington slugger Roy Sievers was third with a .991.

Ned Garver of Kansas City topped the pitchers with two errors in 77 chances for a .974 average. Thirty-seven pitchers went through the season without a miscue with Billy O'Dell of Baltimore topping the perfectionists with 44 chances.

The Yankees again led the league in double plays with 182, one less than their 1957 total.

Clarkston in Key Game; Skippers Home

Wolves to Host Big Northville Quintet Friday

Holly vs. W-O Favorite at Brighton; Ortonville and Oxford Tangle

The Oakland B League contest between Clawson and Lake Orion will be played tonight at Clawson. Each team has lost its only loop start.

By CHUCK ABAIR

Some key games which could determine early which way the Wayne - Oakland League is going to go and the first of two big battles between Oxford and Ortonville are headliners on the final big pre-holiday prep basketball schedule Friday night.

★ ★ ★

The important ones in the W-O will have Northville invading Clarkston and Holly at Brighton. Bloomfield Hills visits West Bloomfield and Clarenceville goes to Milford in other action.

Clarkston and Northville have been the league powers the past two years and are going all out to lead the way again even though each was hit hard by graduation.

★ ★ ★

As is the case in tomorrow's other three loop tilts, this will be the only meeting between the teams under the new league setup which has some schools meeting twice and others just once.

★ ★ ★

Clarkston and Holly could go all the way winning these big contests. The Wolves will have the big advantage of playing on their small home surface.

But Northville will have the height edge with 6-9 Jeff Goodrich playing his best ball ever at center. He has 60 points in three games two of them victories. Clarkston is 3-1. Each is 1-0 in the W-O.

Holly has shown strong scoring power in beating Clarkston (non-league) and Milford while losing to Fenton led by George McDaniels with a 22.3 average. Brighton has lacked a consistent point-getter in winning two of three. The Bulldogs are also 1-0 in the league.

Bloomfield, West Bloomfield, Milford and Clarenceville all dropped their openers so they will be pushing hard to avoid a 2nd setback.

There will be probably be more fans turned away at the gate than there are in the stands at Oxford in an expected thriller.

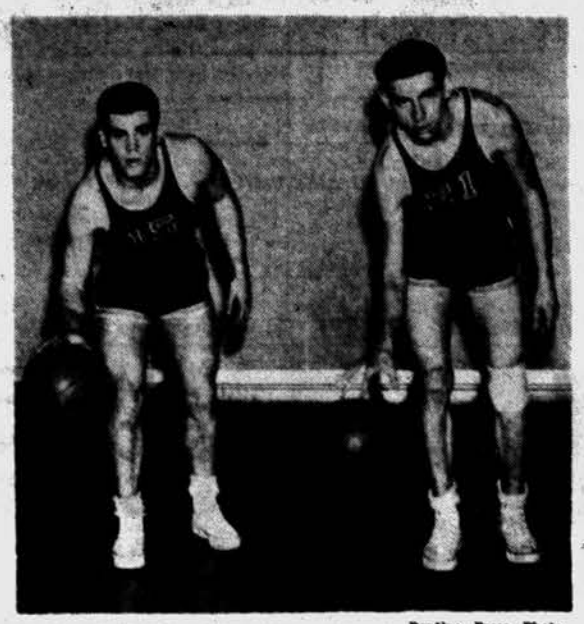

The South Central rivals are evenly matched although Oxford has showed the better scoring power led by Doug Stott.

Ted Gawry's hustling, Wildcats rate the edge on comparative scores against Clarkston but it will mean very little if Ted Follis and Earl Richardson get clicking.

★ ★ ★

The lone Friday Oakland B contest will have defending champion Troy at home to meet Madison. Troy, 3-1, won its lone league start as Madison was bowing.

Rams, Shamrocks Play Friday

Eaglets Win 4th Straight

By H. GUY MOATS

The fast breaking Eaglets at Orchard Lake last night added some more altitude to their hopes towards the Suburban Catholic League basketball title.

Getting off to a 10-point margin before visiting St. Clement had collected a point, Rev. John Rakoczy's speedy St. Mary's club rolled to a 53-34 victory. The win was the fourth straight for unbeaten Eaglets, and their third in league play.

Last night's contest was the only one in SCL. Three games are listed Friday, with St. Frederick at St. Benedict in the loop's "big one." St. Michael goes to St. Rita and St. James will be at RO St. Mary. St. Frederick, St. Benedict and OLSM are the unbeaten clubs.

Captain Chet Wlodkowski was "hot," last night, and set the scoring pace with 10 goals and a pair of free shots for a 22-point total.

Bob Weber was high man for St. Clement, with 14, of which 11 came in the final session.

St. Mary's fast breaks and balanced scoring set up a 27-9 halftime lead.

Eaglets will be idle through the holidays, returning to action on Jan. 9. Rest of the loop resumes, Jan. 6.

Rex's Quintet Loses Another

Rex's Standard continues to take some bad lacings in the Class B City Basketball League. The latest defeat was an 82-51 trouncing by Field's Landscape last night at Pontiac Central.

Jerry Hill meshed 20 points to lead Field's easy victory while Joe Boring made 18 for the winless Standard quintet.

Booth Homes built up a 35-25 halftime lead, then coasted to a 57-54 triumph over Glenn's Motors in the other "B" game. Jim Womack took scoring honors in defeat with 14 points while Jim Poteet and Bernie Stafford each had 11 for Booth.

Gene Gidcumbe's 21 points went for naught as the Boys Club bowed to Jefferson, 52-50, in Class D activity at Lincoln. Ray Smith enjoyed a 34-point spree to feature Central Christian's 53-28 rout of Coca Cola in the other "D" contest.

Farmington Foe for Waterford in I-L Contest

Friday Card Also Lists Southfield at Berkley, Birmingham vs. Parkers

By BILL CORNWELL

There's no place like home, so they say, and the Waterford High School basketball team will find out if the saying is true on Friday night.

The Skippers of Gerry Wallace, still looking for their 1st victory of the 1958-59 season, come home tomorrow evening to open a three-game roost in hopes that their own gymnasium will be a little bit kinder to them.

Farmington High, which has fared only a shade better than Waterford in its hardwood adventures, provides the opposition for the Skippers in their 1st game of the year on their own floor.

Waterford has yet to taste victory in three tries, dropping decisions to Wayne, Southfield and Fordson on foreign courts.

Farmington, which has been at home for two of its three games, defeated Clarenceville for its only win while losing to Livonia Bentley and Walled Lake.

It will be the 2nd Inter-Lakes Conference outing this season for each school and one-third of a full I-L schedule which also sends Southfield to Berkley and Van Dyke to Walled Lake.

The Southfield - Berkley clash matches two Inter-Lakes powers in an early season showdown. Both teams have 1-0 league records with Berkley undefeated in four starts and the Jays listing an overall 2-1 mark.

Walled Lake, unbeaten in three efforts and 1-0 in the I-L circuit, plays host to a dangerous Van Dyke team which gave Berkley fits last Friday on the Berkley floor before bowing, 44-38.

Two Eastern Michigan contests are slated tomorrow, both of them league openers for the schools involved.

The Maples from Birmingham, who have broken even in two attempts, invade Hazel Park, winless in two games. East Detroit and Ferndale, loop co-champions last season, collide at Ferndale in the other circuit scrap.

There is a full Southern Thumb calendar Friday with defending champ Almont entertaining Capac, Armada visiting Brown City and Memphis invading New Haven. Dryden goes to Anchor Bay and Davison welcomes Lapeer for non-conference games.

New Pontiac Northern, idle since its lambasting by Grosse Pointe on Dec. 9, returns to action Saturday night in a game with West Bloomfield at Keego Harbor.

Army Warms Up for Motor City Cage Tourney

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Army, spearheaded by Lee Sager, won its fourth basketball game in five starts Wednesday by downing Amherst 75-56.

Sager, 6-5, from East Orange, N.J., scored 25 points with a nifty assortment of hooks and twisting jump shots. He now has 105 for the season for a 21.0 average.

He also led the Cadets in rebounds with 15.

★ ★ ★

Army, gearing for its upcoming Motor City Tournament engagement in Detroit, got the jump at the start but was unable to build more than a seven-point lead in the first half.

Strikes and Spares

By JOE WILMAN

No one enjoys a poor loser or a poor sport. It's the same in bowling as in other games.

Look at our friend in today's drawing. He's having a bad night, and he's blaming the alleys, — the pins, — and everything else he can think of. Maybe these things are partly to blame, but the fault usually can be placed right on the bowler.

My suggestion, if you're having a bad night, is control your temper. Bad nights hit everyone, even the big names in bowling. They help even up for those nights when we roll way above our average. If a bowler concentrates more on finding out the cause of his bad bowling instead of blaming everything and everyone in sight, he stands a better chance of overcoming his trouble.

So, don't make things miserable for your teammates. Quit blaming everyone else and put the blame where it belongs — on yourself. And then work to correct your mistakes.

Chicago Hawks Tie for Third

Defeat Boston, 5-2; Lindsay Scores Pair to Lead Way

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Black Hawks aren't exactly what you would call a hot team but they found themselves in a tie for fourth place today in the National Hockey League after winning their first game in eight starts. In the other seven they chalked up four ties.

★ ★ ★

The two points picked up by the Hawks in their 5-2 triumph over the third place Boston Bruins in the league's only game last night moved them into a tie with the idle New York Rangers.

Ted Lindsay paced the Hawks with two goals. The first, his third of the season, put the Hawks in front in the first period. Power-play goals by Eddie Litzenberger and Ron Murphy boosted Chicago into a 3-0 lead before the period ended.

Guy Gendron got Boston's two goals in the second period while Chicago's Elmer Vasko was serving a five-minute penalty for cutting Don McKenney's face with his stick durig a scramble in front of the Hawks' cage.

★ ★ ★

Lindsay's second goal of the night and fourth of the season came in the final period after Glen Skov had tallied his first goal of the year to put the Hawks in front 4-2.

All Brawn and No Brains? Not Air Force Team

Of the 44 players on the squad, 29 have higher classroom averages than the 1,100-man cadet wing as a whole. Air Force, tied this season by Iowa's Big Ten champions, plays Texas Christian in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1.

★ ★ ★

Cadet Brock Strom of Ironwood, Mich., team captain and All-America tackle, leads the Falcon gridders with a 90.63 grade average.

The Green Empress

(Copyright 1958) . . . by Elizabeth Cadell

THE STORY: Angus Graham, invalided out of the Navy, is amused at being hired by Sir Claud as a "liaison officer" for the simple job of courier on a superlative luxury bus tour in Europe. He's filling in for his friend, Wax Sealing. The driver is Perdy Brewer. The passenger list sounds impressive — Lord Lorrimer, father of a Navy friend, with his lovely daughter, Angela, Clunes, and his secretary, Lionel Yule, obviously in love with Angela; Mr. Zoller, philanthropist, and his wife; Admiral Peterson and his sister Mrs. Denby-Warre; young Sir Maurice Tarrant, who has an irrepressible manner; Stanton Holt, an American, about 40, who asks to meet Miss Seton, in her late thirties, with warm, humorous, intelligent eyes.

CHAPTER IV

Canada had her beauties, and Angus knew he must learn to love them as he loved this land and the lands across the narrow strip of English Channel. Twenty-eight was young enough to be adaptable.

His search for jobs since he left the Navy had been valuable time wasted, and he must go where the job was—and soon. He had already drawn too much upon his slender capital.

A sound behind him made him turn, and he saw that Angela Clunes was entering his little compartment.

He rose to close the door behind her, and she settled herself in the observation seat and turned to him at once with a direct question.

"You don't remember me — or hardly at all, do you?"

He hesitated.

"It was a long time ago. I—"

NOT TOGETHER

"That's what you think. But you've seen me, off and on, at lots of places—only of course, not in your party. Oliver saw to that."

"I remember you as a seventeen-year-old, but I—"

"I didn't expect any notice from you then, of course. No sub-lieutenant would dream of paying attention to woman under thirty.

"Since then, I've been trying to induce Oliver to bring us together, but he made me see how stinkingly humiliating it would be for any man to look as though he was foisting his sister on his friends. Why weren't you at his wedding?"

"I—"

"—have spent the time since you left the Navy carefully avoiding all Naval contacts. Well, you missed a good wedding. I was the chief bridesmaid and I looked heavenly and I did so wish you'd been there."

★ ★ ★

She turned in her seat to get a better view of him. "Isn't it amazing that you're on this coach?"

"Well—"

"What I actually mean is, wouldn't you call it fate?"

Angus considered.

"No, I wouldn't," he said at last.

"That's because you don't know all the facts. Do you realize that after all these years of trying to meet you face to face, as it were, and not succeeding, I get on a Green Empress and there you are? Now say it isn't fate."

"Couldn't you just call it a happy coincidence?"

"No. My father promised, ages ago, to take me on this trip. I think he thought I'd feel miserable after Oliver got married, but I think he's feeling it more than I am. Don't you think he's looking dejected?"

"He didn't seem to be in good spirits."

MISSES HIM

"You'd think he'd be glad that Oliver had settled down at last, but I think he misses him. He's been looking awfully miserable lately. He—What are you opening that map for?"

"Shouldn't you be taking an interest in the route?"

"You think I don't know where I'm going?"

He laughed.

"I'm on this coach in an official capacity, Miss Clunes, and so—"

"Miss . . . Miss Clunes!" she repeated in a slow, amazed voice. Her glance rested on him, intent and frowning. "You're not suffering from some kind of inverted snobbishness, are you?"

"I hope not."

"Then why address me as Miss Clunes, when you've been my brother's closest friend for years and years? You're going to see a lot of me during this trip, and it's no use starting off by behaving like a sheepherder.

★ ★ ★

"Can't you take your mind off the job for a few minutes and talk to me in a calm, friendly way?"

Angus folded the map and spread his hands to indicate that he was at her disposal.

"That's better." She smiled, and Angus had a startled conviction that a light had come on in the little compartment. "Now we're friends, hm?"

"Of course, but—"

"Wait till I write and tell Oliver. I swore to him that I'd catch up with you one day—and I have." She rose, and stood looking at him with a smile that made his head spin.

He groped his way to the door and opened it for her.

"And you said it wasn't fate!" she said, as she left him.

MUST APPLY BRAKES

Left alone, he sat down and tried to clear his head. He needed a little time. He must, he told himself firmly, sort this thing out and apply the brakes.

How Oliver had managed to . . . But then, brothers were brothers. Did she always move at that pace? Was it his imagination, or had she left something soft and sweet and . . .

With a strong effort, he forced his mind back to his job. What was outside now? Hopfields. He'd read up hopfields last night, just in case. Nobody seemed to want to know anything about hopfields.

A cautious glance in his mirror showed him Angela back in her seat, writing busily. To Oliver, no doubt.

And Oliver would laugh—a rude laugh, for he had been trying, lately, to get things on the old basis, and had not succeeded. And now his sister . . .

Almost to his relief, he saw Mrs. Denby-Warre's angular figure approaching. He opened the door for her, and she lowered herself on to the chair beside him, sitting bold upright and sternly resisting the comfort of the cushions."

"My brother doesn't know in the least where we're going," she said, "and so I came to ask you."

She turned her long, sheep-like face to him expectantly, and he tried hard to remember that he was a courier and that a soft, scented breeze blowing through his glass cage could not possibly knock him off his balance. Pure imagination.

"We'll soon be crossing the Channel," he told his questioner. "Then we shall be—"

"My brother didn't want to come," she confided, "but I persuaded him — at last. I've been trying for years, you know, to get him to come on a little trip with me."

'MAKE HIM FORGET'

"I hope he'll enjoy it."

"I hope so too." She sounded doubtful. "I hope you'll be able to interest him in everything and make him forget his garden."

"He likes his garden?"

"He lives for his garden. When he retired, he went to live in a small house in Somerset, and since then, all he has thought of is those two-and-a-half acres of garden. It shouldn't—should it?—take up a man's whole time?"

"Well, it's hard work and—"

"You were in the Navy, too, weren't you?"

"Yes."

He waited for the inevitable questions, but to his relief, they did not come.

★ ★ ★

"I'm the widow of an admiral, the daughter of an admiral and the sister of an admiral," she told him. "I think that might be some kind of record."

"It's most unusual."

"I would so much have liked to be the mother of an admiral, but I only had daughters."

The noun was spoken with such undisguised disappointment, not to say disparagement, that Angus felt sorry for them.

"Is one permitted to ask questions about one's fellow-passengers? I was wondering who the Zollers were."

"Mr. Zoller's a millionaire, but I'm not quite sure what he does. He's traveling on business at the moment, his wife tells me."

KEEP CONTROL

"I see." She paused, and then spoke hesitatingly. "You won't think that I'm the sort of person who makes complaints, will you, but . . . I wonder if I may ask you to try and keep that young man under control?"

"You mean—?" asked Angus, who knew quite well.

"I mean Sir Maurice Tarrant. Could you ask him not to address my brother as Hornblower?"

Millions Get Hay Fever

CHICAGO — According to one new estimate, about 17,000,000 Americans are, or can be expected in their lifetime to be, sneezing, wheezing, coughing, or itching. Hay fever is the commonest allergic complaint; between seven to eight million have it. Three million have asthma.

Horse Thieves Kill 2 Mares in Florida Field

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—"Watch out for horse thieves!"

This warning was issued today by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Snow, who reported their two mares now are dog food.

Remains of the two horses, valued at $14,000 by the Snows, were found in a field. They had been missing since Sunday.

"I think they were slaughtered as bootleg meat for greyhounds," Mrs. Snow said.

★ ★ ★

"Every year about this time horses are stolen as the dogs move in for the greyhound racing season," Snow added. "They need meat to feed th dogs."

Small Shetland Pony Has City Lad Stumped

BALTIMORE (AP) — The banana wagon was hitched to a small, Shetland pony at Bond and Fleet Streets. The small boy looked and looked, then asked the vender:

"Say, mister. Will that dog bite?"

Boosting National Reunion of All His Kin

Expert on Ike's Family Tree Gives Report

GREENWOOD, Ind. (UPI) — A national reunion of all descendants of Hans Nicholas Iron Cutter (or Eisenhauer), a German settler who came to America in 1741, is being proposed by the genealogist who studied his family tree and found President Eisenhower in the sixth generation.

Mrs. Annie B. Richardson of Greenwood, is the author of a 1,000-page compilation of the "Eisenhower Lineage," described as the only major genealogical study done of the family. Both the White House and Dr. Milton Eisenhauer refer questions about family history to Mrs. Richardson.

She explained there are at least five major reunion associations among descendants of the first Eisenhauer.

Mrs. Richardson, a middle-aged former secretary, said:

"My husband and I attended five Eisenhower reunions this year and everywhere we heard a wish expressed that a national reunion could be held with President Eisenhower as the speaker."

Mrs. Richardson also is a descendant of Hans Nicholas Eisenhauer — as are several thousand other persons. The charts show President Eisenhower is a fourth cousin of Mrs. Richardson's mother, Mrs. Ann Meranda Lynch Taylor, who died in 1941.

The Indiana woman, a former employe of the National Archives in Washington, talked enthusiastically of the projected national reunion, which she thought should be held in June 1959, preferably in Pennsylvania not too far from the 168 acres of land which the first American Eisenhauer settled near Fredericksburg.

She said she will write to the presidents of the five major Eisenhower reunion associations and ask their cooperation in such a family gathering.

"I seem to be the focal person when it comes to family history," Mrs. Richardson said. "I wasn't appointed, I just elected myself for the job. I certainly didn't know how much work I was getting into when I asked to see my grandfather's Civil War pension record."

CIVIL WAR MYSTERY

She explained that had it not been for the mystery of her grandfather's disappearance during the Civil War she might never have become interested in genealogy.

"My grandmother, Catharine Isenhour, married Ira Anderson Lynch in Connersville, Ind., in 1857. One day grandmother went out to see where Ira was and found his axe in a log. He'd gone off to war, to join the 10th Indiana Volunteers.

"He was injured in the battle of Mills Spring, Ky., Jan. 19, 1862, and came home on furlough. He left again and my mother was born after that, but she never saw her father; Ira never came back. My grandmother died in 1891 believing he was killed in the Civil War."

"I became a secretary at the National Archives in May 1940," she related. "The first division in which I worked was pension records. That was the first time. I ever knew just anybody could walk in and ask to see a record like that. I had always wondered about my Grandfather Lynch so I asked to see his record."

LIVED 52 YEARS

The pension data showed that Ira Anderson Lynch survived the Civil War and lived until 1941. The granddaughter discovered her missing relative had wandered extensively in the 52 years since he walked away from his Indiana home and had died and was bured in Richland Center, Wis.

"He must have lived a lonely life," she said. "My only conclusion is that he was badly injured. He had 11 in his family. I suppose that rather than be a burden, he just never came home. He died on my 12th birthday."

After solving the mystery of her grandfather, Mrs. Richardson began to haunt the Library of Congress and the Daughters of the American Revolution library in Washington, collecting more information about her ancestors.

The hunt had been going on for years before she discovered that she and President Eisenhower shared Hans Nicholas as a common ancestor.

Mrs. Richardson's compilation covers 266 years beginning in 1691, the year Hans Nicholas Eisenhauer was born. It covers 11 generations of Eisenhowers in the United States. The material now is to be found in most major libraries of the United States.

ONE COPY TO IKE

One copy was bound into a book and mailed to the President. He sent Mrs. Richardson a letter of thanks mentioning "the enormous amount of work you have done on the subject" and also thanking her for answering queries referred to her by the White House staff about family history.

A newly published German book on the Eisenhower genealogy lists Mrs. Richardson as the "American Eisenhower genealogist." Mrs. Richardson said she wrote to the President and got his permission before she sent the requested material to the German publishers.

Among her discoveries, Mrs. Richardson found that exactly 200 years before Dwight David Eisenhower was inaugurated as 34th president of the U.S. the founder of the family in America was going through a ceremony of his own. On Jan. 20, 1753, a deed for 168 acres of Pennsylvania farmland was recorded in the name of "Hans Nicholas Iron Cutter (or Eisenhauer)."

During a visit there, Mrs. Richardson was delighted to learn that historically-minded residents have discussed buying the farm near Fredericksburg and a log cabin standing on it as a state memorial.

1ST CABIN BURNED

But she explained that the log cabin is not the original Eisenhauer dwelling. She produced an excerpt from the Pennsylvania Gazette of 1756 which said "that by a letter from Fort Henry in Berks county dated August 7th there was advice the Indians were hovering about that neighborhood, some of them being seen almost every day and that they had burnt the house of Nicholas Eisenhhauer."

★ ★ ★

The early newspaper doesn't say, but apparently Hans Nicholas and his four sons and one daughter survived the Indian attacks. The President's great great grandfather was the second oldest son, Peter, while Mrs. Richardson's great-great-great grandfather was the third oldest, Johannes.

Mrs. Richardson noted there are 176 different spellings of the family name, adding:

"The descendants who use the spelling 'Eisenhower' are in the minority. But I filed my bulletins (on the family lineage) under 'Eisenhower' because I believe it is going to be the most famous spelling."

Mayor Stirs Up Hornets' Nest

DETROIT (AP)—It's clear here that Los Angeles' Mayor Morris Poulson asked for it when he took off on big cars as smog makers.

Supporting an original charge by Detroit Mayor Louis Miriani that Poulson was "silly and fantastic" is now a statement from the head anti-smog man of the Automobile Manufacturers Assn.

C. M. Heinen, chairman of the AMA's Vehicle Combustion Products Committee, says that Poulson has spoken "with disregard of the facts."

But, like Miriani, Heinen also sought to be helpful.

The AMA's anti-pollution expert reminded Poulson the auto industry, with Los Angeles itself as an operating center, has tried for five years to solve the problem.

Heinen made clear also that there has been apparent progress. He mentioned devices and methods that are being considered.

The "technical feasibility" of exhaust control has been established, Heinen said, and control devices are being tested and are "near the point of product development."

Mayor Poulson set off the transcontinental discussion — including its reminders from Detroit to himself—by saying he cancelled his Cadillac order in favor of the small-model Rambler because he said the larger car's exhaust was more severe.

"He (Poulson) should know," Heinen said, "that the industry has been working in closest cooperation with Los Angeles County officials who have the responsibility for this problem."

Heinen said scientific theories developed in the Los Angeles area are the basis for this group's work. He also said a full report was made in Washington last month to the National Air Pollution Conference which Mayor Poulson didn't attend.

Another approach, he said, is a special maintenance procedure to be cvarried out separately or in conjunction with devices.

Deaths Elsewhere

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. George Livingstone Robinson, 95, theologian and archaeologist, died Wednesday. He was professor of Hebrew and Old Testament at McCormick Theological Seminary from 1898 to 1939. He was born in New York State.

★ ★ ★

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lora E. Clement, 75, former editor of the Seventh Day Adventist youth magazine, The Youth's Instructor, died Wednesday of injuries suffered when hit by a car Dec. 9. Since 1952 she was with the Review and Herald Publishing Assn., parent publishing house of the Adventist Church.

College Student Dies After Being Shot, Run Over

ST. LOUIS Mo. (AP) — A dying St. Louis University student, shot three times and run over by a car, was found in front of the City Art Museum in Forest Park Wednesday night.

James S. Bullock, 27, was still breathing when passing motorists found his body. He died minutes later without speaking.

Police Sgt. Edward Schaaf said Bullock had been shot twice in the head with a small caliber weapon, apparently a .22, and in the chest with a shotgun. Both legs had been run over by a car.

Police found about $20 in Bullock's pockets.

His bride of six months, Etta, 23, said her husband had left home for night classes about half an hour before the body was found. Bullock was employed at the Union Electric Co.

The cattle disease, brucellosis, is costing American farmers about $30,000,000 a year. Infected dairy herds may give 20 per cent less milk, and infected beef and dairy cattle produce 40 per cent fewer calves.

Chrysler Man Heads Crusade for Freedom

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan's chairman of the 1959 Crusade For Freedom will be Chrysler Corp.'s Charles L. Jacobson, vice president of dealer relations.

Jacobson's appointment was announced today by the Crusade For Freedom's national chairman, Gwilym A. Price, chairman of the board of Westinghouse Electric Corp.

The Crusade For Freedom helps to support Radio Free Europe in broadcasts to Iron Curtain countries. Americans contribute to Radio Free Europe through the Crusade.

Accepting the 1959 state chairmanship, Jacobson said the peoples of Eastern Europe have urgent need for unbiased news and informaton and that Radio Free Europe "fulfills this need effectively and efficiently."

Un-American Activities Group May Be Replaced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities would be abolished under a plan Committee Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) says he will offer in the new session.

Walter said he wants to set up a new committee on internal security and immigration. The larger group would take over the un-American activities unit's job and also immigration matters which now are handled by the House Judiciary Committee.

China to Expand Commune Policy

Will Continue Despite Peasants' Discontent Over Way of Life

TOKYO (AP)—Red China served clear notice today it is going to expand its revolutionary commune policy, despite reported peasant discontent, until every area in the vast nation is brought into the system.

Peiping radio broadcast a resolution of the Central Comittee of the Chinese Communist party which said that it can be "foreseen that in the future Communist society, the people's commune will remain the basic unit of social structure."

The resolution was approved at the same meeting at Wuchang early this month which decided Mao Tze-tung would no longer be the titular head of the Communist Chinese government.

It seemed to set at rest speculation that Mao's retirement might signal an easing of the program, under which families are broken up and the members are organized in communal work camps.

There have been reports that the Kremlin and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev have expressed opposition to the commune system, which is more radical than anything ever undertaken in the Soviet Union.

Peiping radio admitted the Reds have not been able to establish the communes in Tibet, where fresh anti-Communist uprisings reportedly have occurred.

Hollywood Headlines:

1958 Packed With News for U.S. Movie Industry

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — What a year!

Not in the memory of this reporter has there been a year in Hollywood so packed with news events. One big story after another broke during 1958 to keep the news staffs hopping.

1. The Johnny Stompanato stabbing by Cheryl Crane. The death scene in Lana Turner's bedroom was more dramatic than any that could be concocted for a movie. Lana's daughter was cleared in Stompanato's death, but the tragedy is not over.

2. Showman Mike Todd's death in a flaming air crash. It was a stunning blow to his devoted wife Elizabeth Taylor, who was to write an epilogue to the story.

3. The Liz-Eddie-Debbie triangle. Todd's buddy Eddie Fisher consoled the widow. They even went to Grossinger's, the New York resort where Eddie had wed Debbie Reynolds. Result: rift with Debbie amid large headlines.

4. Tyrone Power's sudden death.

5. The Dominican invasion. The gift-giver of 1958 was not a prince of the East, but a general from the South. Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr., son of the Dominican Republic strong man, made news with his gifts of expensive autos to Kim Novak and Zsa Zsa Gabor.

6. The surprise oscars for Joanne Woodward and Miyoshi Umeki.

7. The death of Harry Cohn. The year took a heavy toll in film pioneers—Jesse Lasky, Al Lichtman, Sam Zimbalist, etc. But the most significant loss was Cohn, who had ruled Columbia with an iron hand. His passing marked the close of the big studio era.

8. The rise of the millionaire star. This was no sudden news event, but it was the most significant change within the movie industry. A dozen big stars — Brando, Holden, Wayne, Cooper, Stewart, etc.—seized the balance of power from the big studios and could demand fantastic deals.

9. The death of Richard Skelton. Few events in recent Hollywood times so touched the world as the passing from leukemia of Red Skelton's young son.

Police Chief Allows Tour of Red Vessel

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Capt. Igor Sergeev invited the public to visit his Russian merchant ship today, but only after overcoming vociferous opposition from Police Chief Tom Cahill.

The chief expressed fear that anti-Communist elements here might cause trouble.

"But we are being welcomed so warmly," argued Sergeev after docking the Vityaz Wednesday, "and we want to offer our hospitality in return."

More than 75 per cent of American homes are over 20 years old.

Up to Old Tricks, Britisher Poses as Vice Admiral

Or did it? The FBI says Vice Adm. Alan McKenzie is a phony; that he is Arthur Ward Hunt, a 56-year-old Englishman who was convicted in New York City in 1951 of illegally wearing a uniform. He was deported after serving a prison term.

★ ★ ★

His downfall was caused Wednesday when, inspecting a defense plant, he told officials he had commanded the U.S. submarine fleet and was en route to Washington to take a new command. A skeptic called the FBI.

Alcatraz Men Donate $496 to United Fund

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Bay Area United Crusade Fund has a $496 contribution from a new source.

Paul J. Madigan, warden of Alcatraz federal prison, said the money was donated by 46 of the nation's toughest criminals out of wages earned in the prison laundry and industrial shops.

It was entirely the cons' idea, Madigan added.

Enlarging Port of Galveston

To Use Man-Made Island for Industry

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — A man-made island just off the bustling port of Galveston is about to be turned into one of the largest urban industrial developments in the United States.

The land itself, called Pelican Island, is estimated to be worth more than 75 million dollars. Some 30 million dollars will be poured into the development in the next few years.

Pelican Island is said to be the largest single tract of undeveloped urban industrial land in a major deep water port in the United States. Its possibilities are virtually unlimited.

It has 3½ miles of deep-water channel shorelines plus space for the installation of sites for a major shrimp fleet and docks to handle large quantities of barge traffic. All three shipping facilities are planned for early stages in the development.

The island, triangular in shape, is directly behind the main Galveston island which is protected by a 17-foot seawall. The undeveloped area is itself larger than the developed section of the city of Galveston, which has a population of some 80,000.

Pelican Island averages about 12 feet above water level, or five or six feet higher than the main Galveston island, and engineering analysis of its subsoil has proved it to be substantial enough for heavy industrial construction.

The island was formed over the past 100 years by the action of tides and currents, and progressively enlarged by dredging operations in the three busy ship channels that pass it.

Ownership of the Pelican Island Development Corp. passed recently into the hands of Warren Atkinson, Indianapolis real estate developer, and Walter Troutman, an Atlanta industrialist.

"The possibilities of this land were so fantastic that I couldn't believe nothing had been done to develop it," Atkinson said after he and Troutman took control of the development firm. "This is one of the most challenging developments I've ever run up against."

Troutman, an investor in Atlanta, Miami, Los Angeles and New York real estate and associated in several other industrial developments, said the proposed development combined with present facilities at Galveston will offer a port city unmatched in the United States.

The island is surrounded by the Galveston deep-water channel, the inter-coastal canal and the Texas City and Houston ship channels.

More than 1,200 acres are ready for immediate industrial sites and Atkinson said the other 3,800 acres would be made ready as the need arises.

A 6-million-dollar causeway financed by a public bond issue is ready for use and city water and sewer facilities have been completed. The area also is served by an unlimited source of electricity and natural gas for industrial purposes.

On several occasions since 1900 local movements to actuate development of the island were launched, but they died largely because of the tremendous amount of capital required. In 1950, a group of eastern financiers that included Allen & Co. of New York and Eastabrook & Co. of Boston, became interested in the project.

Merritt Chapman & Scott Corp. of New York controlled the development until all outstanding stock was purchased Oct. 22 by Atkinson and Troutman.

The present owners said their ultimate goal is to more than double the present industrial and shipping facilities of Galveston. Plans call for a private airplane landing strip, a large marine and executives' club, among other things.

Grocery Clerk Hitches Ride, Quite Unsolicited

MADISONVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Bobby Winstead, a grocery store clerk, finished unloading stock from a warehouse truck and sat down inside to rest. The truck's doors slammed shut and it took off.

Winstead finally was able to attract the driver's attention in Springfield, Tenn., after three hours of riding in the rear of the truck.

Honor Recent Martyrs

MIAMI — Soon to be erected on a site overlooking Biscayne Bay here is a bronze monument honoring modern religious martyrs. The sculptor will be Ivan Mestrovic and depicted will be Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, Aloysious Cardinal Stepinac, Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, Archbishop Joseph Beran, Bishop Francis X. Ford, and Bishop Patrick J. Byrne.

Soo Ship Traffic Lowest in Years

Labor Woe, Recession Blamed for Locks' Fall to Pre-1941 Volume

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Traffic in the 1958 shipping season here was the poorest since before World War II, C. A. Aune, superintendent of the Sault canals, said today.

Registered shipping tonnage passing through the one Canadian and four U.S. locks totalled 75,683,000 tons, compared with 110,794,000 tons the year before, Aune said.

He blamed labor troubles and the recession as causes of the decline.

"The nation's economy has been vividly reflected by the cut in iron ore, coal and crude oil being shipped east and west through the Sault canals," he added.

Ore and coal were stockpiled at steel plants. Grain boats were forced to tie up and wait for discharge of their cargo.

★ ★ ★

The construction of the trans-Canada pipeline and its operation from the western provinces to the lakehead caused a drop in eastbound shipments of crude oil.

The woods industries continued to ship large quantities of paper, woodpulp, lumber and logs to eastern markets.

Arctic Forces Battle Time, Ice

Speed Annual Sea Lift of DEW Line Supplies as Summer Ends

FROBISHER BAY, BAFFIN ISLAND, Canada (UPI) — An Arctic task force is fighting time, tides and ice in a grinding battle with the elements that marks the annual sea lift of supplies for America's first line of defense in the Far North — this Distant Early Warning (DEW) Line.

The task force of the Military Sea Transportation Service commanded by Rear Adm. Donald T. Eller, Petersburg, Va., hasn't much time to complete its job. Before next month, the brief Arctic summer will be over and the water passages now open will close again, locked tight by ice.

Adm. Eller, MSTS commander in the Atlantic area, has units of the Atlantic Fleet, special purpose cargo vessels, ice breakers, tankers, commercially operated merchant ships and reconnaissance planes in his force.

The DEW Line is a string of radar stations stretching more than 3,000 miles from northwest Alaska to the east coast of this island. Manned by Americans and Canadians, the line is designed to flash instant warning to North America if a surprise air attack is launched across the polar regions.

Some Grains Score Gains

CHICAGO (AP) — A few small plus signs were scattered through the grain futures list in early transactions today on the board of trade, but the market mostly was easier.

★ ★ ★

Brokers reminded that it is the final day of trading in December contracts, though, and that prices could fluctuate rather broadly at times, especially during the final few minutes.

In those cases, market factors usually have little or no influence, since the prime consideration is whether shorts must cover commitments quickly or longs liquidate.

Pakistan was reported to have bought 1,100,000 bushels of hard wheat overnight, but commercial business otherwise was slow.

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was ⅜ cent a bushel higher to ⅛ lower, December 1.93⅞; corn ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, December old type contract $1.13; oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, December 65¾; rye unchanged to ⅜ lower, December $1.32⅛; soybeans ⅜ higher to ⅛ lower, January $2.16¼.

Walkout at Chrysler Drags Into 17th Day

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler's Dodge Main plant strike, accompanied by new layoffs, dragged into a 17th day today.

The new layoffs, affecting about 900 Detroit and Indiana workers, brought Chrysler's total idleness in the nation to 43,630. This was more than half the company' total normal employment.

Women's Guild Donates $65 to Children's Home

The Women's Guild of All Saints Episcopal Church has donated $65 for Christmas to the Franklin Boulevard Children's Home.

★ ★ ★

The Franklin home is operated as an annex to the Oakland County Children's Home for children, mostly orphans, who have become wards of the county through no fault of their own.

The children will attend a Christmas party Saturday night, Mrs. Seaton said, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Farner, in Clarkston.

Elderly persons who live alone don't sleep as well as those who are married, according to a medical survey.

ITU Tells Locals to Vote by Sunday

DETROIT (AP) — Striking printers at seven of the nine Booth Newspapers, Inc., were told today by their union to vote by Sunday night on whether to accept a new contract and end a walkout that began Nov. 25.

The instructions to hold the secret ballot were issued through the International Typographical Union headquarters at Indianapolis.

An ITU headquarters spokesman said Elmer Brown, ITU president, sent telegrams to the seven ITU units telling them that the contract offer made by Booth had met requirements of the national ITU.

ITU sources said the telegrams were sent to union locals at the Ann Arbor News, Bay City Times, Muskegon Chronicle, Flint Journal, Jackson Citizen Patriot, Saginaw News and Kalamazoo Gazette.

The Grand Rapids Herald and Grand Rapids Press, the other two Booth newspapers, were not included in the new ITU move.

4 Fires Discovered at 3 High Schools

DETROIT (AP) — Four fires were were reported at three Detroit area high schools yesterday and last night. Police said arson might have been the cause of three of the blazes.

Two of the fires caused an estimated $50,000 damage at Detroit Eastern High School last night. One was under the school auditorium and the other in a study hall.

Small blazes at two other schools led to the evacuation of a total of 5,000 students. Neither fire was serious and no one was hurt. One of the blazes was in a locker room.

Detroit Cody High School evacuated its 3,850 students because of a fire in paper behind a radiator. Firemen put out the blaze with hand extinguishers.

Bell Resigns Post as NADA Executive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frederick J. Bell has resigned as executive vice president of the National Automobile Dealers Assn.

★ ★ ★

Bell, a graduate of the Naval Academy in 1924, retired from the Navy as a rear admiral in 1948. He joined the automobile dealers association in 1953.

AT&T Stock Split Proposed

NEW YORK (AP) — Directors of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. recommended Wednesday a three-for-one split of the stock and a 10 per cent increase in the dividend.

Directors recommended that the dividend rate on the new stock, if the split is approved, be $3.30 a share. This would be $9.90 on the old stock.

SHOOTS UP $2

The stock shot up $2 to $204 yesterday on the New York Stock Exchange on the stock-split news. Its 1958 range up to then was $167.62 low and $202 high. The stock has been rising consistently for several months.

Directors said it is expected the additional shares resulting from the split will be distributed about June 1. The first quarterly dividend on the split shares would be made in July.

The board said it recommended the split in the belief it would make the company's shares more attractive to investors and therefore widen the market for AT&T stock.

Directors said it would strengthen the position of the company in competing for large amounts of equity capital that will be needed in the future for expanding telephone service.

★ ★ ★

In each of the last three years, the Bell System has spent more than two billion dollars for new construction. These are the largest outlays of any industrial company in history. The major part has been raised through sale of securities.

Directors said expenditures of this magnitude are expected to continue.

Magi See Christ's Star Burst Into World's Night

brothers, the visions of the inner eye."

PROBED SPIRITUAL LAWS

To these authorities of the remote, mysterious "Zendavesta," most of which later was destroyed, knowledge came not from facts alone, but by finding in them the expression of spiritual laws — by piercing the tangible to learn the truth it signified.

They perceived a grand, divine interlinking of all time and space, from the least particle to the cosmos. Each material appearance was relative, a mere manifestation of a basic substance all harmonized by a common, universal force.

To decipher its majestic messages, they studied the earth, water, the air — and the fiery stars.

Melchior, back at his desk, gave his associates a final reminder. "Take heed, my brothers. The finger of life oft writes in smallest script." Above the Pleiades winked and Aldebaron blazed red on the forehead of the bull.

"Tomorrow, amonth hence, who can know? We have applied our subtlest mathematics, and looked long into the face of the fire. But who is man to read the hour of the Omnipotent? And yet, perchance, tonight!"

By every indication, they had available to them the cryptic, messianic time-data set down by the astounding Jewish seer, Daniel, who five centuries before held powerful sway in the courts of Persian kings.

The Magi, as the land's ancestral savants, had opportunity then to grasp the enigmatic chronology for the coming of the Great One as given by the honored foreigner, Daniel, in his seventh, eighth and twelfth books.

They also could preserve his prophecies of the event; "Behold, one like the Son of Man came with the clouds of heaven . . . and there was given to him . . . glory and . . . everlasting dominion which shall not pass away."

Beyond this, however, other tenuous factors linked the Magi with Israel's hope of a redeemer. Far back in time, Abraham dwelt in Ur of the Chaldees, which modern archeology has located on the Persian gulf.

DISTANT ORIGINS

Origins of the Magi's religion, of which Zoroaster Spitama was only a latter-day reformer, go deep into that same antiquity. Perhaps the famed diviner, Balaam, son of Boer, a gentile like the Magi and also, like them, from the "mountains of the East," delivered his stunning oracle as recounted in Numbers 24:

FORETOLD STAR

"There shall come a star out of Jacob, and a Scepter shall rise out of Israel . . . He that shall have dominion . . ."

So the Magi, endowed with their abstruse time deductions and the intermingled prescience of the past, had reason to watch the heavens. To them each turn of earthly destiny was reflected in nature—a "fravashi" — and they sought to detect it.

Three times in the past 10 months, marvelous displays (as determined by the astronomer Kepler 1,600 years later) had paraded before their gaze. There had been conjunctions of the planets Jupiter and Saturn in the previous spring, autumn and early winter.

It had now been four months since the last spectacle. To the Magi, four was a perfect number, represented in the four basic elements. If a fourth conjunction occurred, they could only conclude, some prodigious meaning.

Melchior's old eyes roved with practiced familiarity among the sidereal landmarks. As Pisces wheeled above the eastern horizon, he trained his attention there. Tidings in the constellation of fishes had the noblest import.

HEAVENS SPEAK!

Shortly, his arm rose and he pointed a shaking finger. "Lo! The heavens speak!" There, against the jeweled blackness, not only the great planets Jupiter and Saturn converged, but Mars, too, joining in a resplendent trigon.

Awed exclamations burst out on the rooftop and some Magians dropped to their knees. Gradually, however, they grew silent, watching the luminous solar embrace. Stillness, deep as the reaches of space, settled over them.

But then, suddenly, as if a door of a pit had opened to the sun, a new light flashed in the eastern firmament. A new star, a stella nova, a flame no astronomer ever proved or postulated, burst into the world's night.

Its brightness washed the earth. Its rays glittered like points of a crown. It opened its sublime might to the tired and groping, and silver-dusted the city below and trimmed the ridges of the mountains of Zagros.

The Magi saw their star "in the east." There in the "land of the Aryans," there where the mystic wisdom of the Orient mingled with a faith older than history, there in the land of the nightingale and the rose, above the high plateau of Persia, a star appeared.

No one knows its nature. No record remains of it in the astral lore of Babylon. Whatever man's instruments or research may disclose has no bearing on that star. For the Magi saw it—with their eyes and in their hearts.

★ ★ ★

"Arise . . . for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee . . ." So Isaiah had written. "And the gentiles shall come to thy light . . . They shall bring gold and incense; and they shall show forth the praises of the Lord."

TOMORROW: The Journey.

Only they and the Jews, in all the pagan world, believed in one supreme deity.

The Magi's faith, too, foresaw a deliverer — "Sosiosh" — who would bestow everlasting, incorruptible life to mankind. Their archives also may well have included many of the Jewish prophecies of a savior.

Business Firms Confront Annual Holiday Headaches

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—With Christmas just a ewek away, business firms have lined up today pro and con on the perennial holiday problems:

Business gifts to customers and suppliers; office parties; how long a holiday to grant.

But it's far from a universal Holiday. Most banks will stay open and so will department stores. And many factories report that the recent increase in new orders makes it necessary for them to produce Friday.

A number of textile mills, however, will take a long holiday with an eye to trimming inventories.

The employes of the federal government and some state governments will have a four-day weekend. Stock exchanges will be closed Friday.

More people are saying bad things about office parties this year—both employes and employers. But the number of firms dropping them seems not to be large. A record number, however, are reported holding them outside the office itself, turning the entertainment — and policing — chores over to professionals.

The practice of business firms giving presents is also under more fire this year, although few companies dropping the practice give the recent recession and its squeeze on earnings as the reason.

Some big companies are telling others they prefer their employes not receive gifts, and some are warning their workers about what they should accept and under what conditions. The practice of giving to charities in the name of friends of the business seems to be growing.

Gifts by business firms last year — including those to their own employes — has been estimated to have cost 288 million dollars. Some experts in the gift field predict a drop this year of around 4 per cent, while others say about 80 per cent of the firms they've surveyed are spending as much this year as last.

Municipal Pay Raised

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — City employes have been voted a 5-cent hourly pay increase and will be offered paid-up insurance by the Mount Pleasant City Commission. City Manager Allan Kronbach said the increase and benfits could approximate $15,000 a year.

Robber of Bank Caught in Hour

South Bend Salesman Also Linked to Previous Holdup in August

EDWARDSBURG (AP) — A South Bend, Ind., salesman robbed a bank here yesterday for a second time only to be captured with his $3,500 loot in his home city less than an hour later.

A series of jinxes, including a snowdrift and the bright pink color of a bank official's car he stole to make his escape, got in his way.

In custody at South Bend is 53-year-old Hugh Barr, named by police and bank officials as the perpetrator not only of yesterday's stickup but also a $5,000 holdup of the same First Commercial Savings Bank here last Aug. 21.

But outside he got stuck in a snowdrift in his own car and made the strategic error of driving off in Harreman's easily recognizable car.

With alarms out, he shortly was spotted driving in the vicinity of Notre Dame University in South Bend and police closed in on him. Edwardsburg is five miles north of the Indiana border.

Harremans identified Barr, married and father of two children, as both yesterday's holdup man and the Aug. 21 robber.

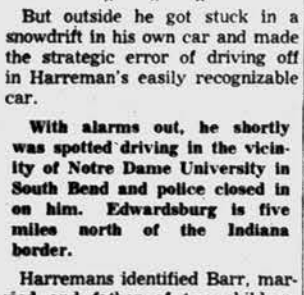

★ ★ ★

The robber entered the bank with a gun and a black satchel or brief case, witnesses said, and ordered employes to "fill it up."

When captured in South Bend, a black satchel filled with money was beside him on the car seat.

Pair Suspended, Jailed

Detroit Waitress Accuses Policemen of Raping Her

DETROIT (AP) — Two Detroit policemen have been suspended and are held for investigation on the complaint of a young woman who told police the patrolmen raped her on her way home from work Monday morning.

Inspector Lloyd M. Praedel said the 22-year-old woman, a night waitress, told him yesterday she was raped by two policemen whom she said lured her into a downtown parking lot after she left work.

Praedel said Patrolmen Michael O'Donnell, 31, and Edwin Cable, 36, were held at police headquarters. The officers have been suspended pending outcome of the investigation. Praedel said both have denied the woman's charges. No formal complaints have been filed against the pair.

Asst. Wayne County Prosecutor Arthur J. Koscinski Jr. said he would take the case to court whether or not the woman signed a formal complaint.

UNSUSPECIFIED CHARGE

He said the two policemen probably would be arraigned later today on an unspecified charge.

The woman took a lie detector test yesterday and Praedel said she passed it. He said the woman did not file a complaint until yesterday because "police did this to me."

O'Donnell and Cable refused lie detector tests yesterday on advice of attorneys. Both were assigned to the department's Accident Prevention Bureau.

O'Donnell is married and has a family. Cable is the father of three children.

Believing she had committed a traffic violation, she followed their car into a parking lot.

ENTER HER CAR

There both men entered her car and attacked her, she said.

The woman arrived home to her husband and two children at 5 a.m. and was questioned by her husband.

But Praedel said she did not tell her husband of the attack until Monday afternoon. Then she called police and the officers were traced by department officials.

Praedel said he assigned an officer to question the woman. When the woman met the officer she had the badge numbers of O'Donnell and Cable and said the two men had been in the restaurant where she worked and had asked her to meet them again.

★ ★ ★

Praedel said O'Donnell and Cable were taken into custody Wednesday morning when they reported for their work shift.

Psychologists Testing Goldfish Color Vision

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Time was when goldfish lived risky lives on college campuses — years ago, students swallowed them.

Today's goldfish may be safer. But they live in danger of a split personality. Psychologists are testing them.

At the University of Michigan, the squirming delicacy is being ssed in color and brightness experiments. The goldfish swim around their tanks with electrodes attached to their abdomens. Their heartbeats are measured on an electro-cardiogram.

"The fact that fish can make brightness and color discriminations is well known," said researcher Jerald Bernstein in a paper presented at the Midwest Wildlife Conference in Columbus, Ohio.

But it wasn't certain if they can tell the difference between these visual variables. To learn the answer, Bernstein provides the goldfish with a stimulus containing both.

"A gray background was placed opposite the test animal's eyes and two stimuli were presented successively to the fish," said Bernstein. "All stimuli were color and papers, laminated in plastic and placed on plastic rods.

"One of the stimuli was designated positive, the goldfish was shocked upon its presentation; the other was neutral, no shock given upon presentation."

Four color stimuli — two red and two green — are used in the experiment. One of each color is darker and one lighter than the gray background. After 10 trials, the shocking mechanism is removed.

"When the animal saw either one of the stimuli his heart rate decelerated," Bernstein said, "but his heart rate decelerated much faster when the positive stimuli was presented."

Experiment in Ionia County

Jointless Paving Process Used on Section of Road

LANSING (AP) — A recently completed section of the Detroit-Muskegon Expressway in Ionia County features Michigan's first use of an experimental paving process: "Jointless," continuously reinforced concrete.

The experiment is reported in the December edition of the "Hylighter," the Highway Department's monthly magazine.

In standard construction, the pavement is laid in 99-foot slabs. Metal dowels are inserted to tie the slabs together. Joints between the slabs are then filled with a rubber-asphalt sealer. The joints are normally necessary to permit expansion and contraction.

In the experimental process, pouring is continuous. Steel reinforcement rods—three times the weight of those used in the standard process—are laid in the pavement to compensate for the absence of joints.

Two advantages are foreseen in the new process:

1. Less seepage of water through joints, thus preventing heaving of the pavement in frost and producing a longer-lasting highway.

2. Elimination of thumps noticed by motorists on many standard pavements.

Engineers expect the new pavement to develop millions of tiny cracks. However, they say these cracks will be so minute they will not weaken the pavement, will hardly be visible and will allow no water seepage.

States Warned About Gas Tax

McKeldin Says Using Revenue Could Mean Road Program Disaster

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin today expressed hope that revenue-hungry states won't start dipping into gasoline tax revenues to balance their general fund budgets.

Such action, he said, "could mean disaster" for highway programs now being carried out by the federal and state governments.

The governor said in a speech prepared for delivery at the dedication of a new state roads commission building that he had read recently of a proposal in New York to increase the gasoline tax and use the extra revenue for nonhighway purposes.

"I sincerely hope that Governor Rockefeller and the New York legislature will see that this does not come to pass," he said.

"New York is our largest state and a leader among the states.

"If New York were now to fly in the face of a well-founded tradition and open the coffers of road-earned revenue for the general purpose of government, I can see other states following the same example — taking the same easy but tremendously dangerous course toward balancing of general fund budgets . . ."

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF LaVerne Cranston, who passed away 1 yr. ago, Dec. 22nd, 1957.
We mourn for him in silence
No eyes can see us weep;
But many a silent tear is shed,
While others are asleep
Sadly missed by daughters and families.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF JACKIE Gotting, who passed away Dec. 18th, 1948.
Her beautiful smile and loving ways.

Cleveland Girl to Wed Prince—if Royalty Nods

NEW YORK (AP)—A Nepalese prince and a pretty Cleveland, Ohio, girl have taken out a marriage license, but the girl's father says wedding plans await the consent of the royal family.

The couple — Prince Basundhara Bir Bikram Shah, 36, brother of the King of Nepal, and Lynn Waldron, 22 — obtained the license Nov. 13.

★ ★ ★

The matter of the Hindu prince obtaining his family's approval was brought up Wednesday night in Cleveland by the young woman's father, George E. Waldron, a brewery company executive. He did not elaborate.

★ ★ ★

He did say that his only child met the prince while she was touring the world. Waldron said the prince had been entertained several times in the family home in suburban Pepper Pike and called him "a very nice young man."

Miss Waldron reportedly is in New York consulting a publisher about a book she wrote on her travels. Neither she nor the prince could be reached for comment.

Manned Space Flight Years Off, Is Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has launched a large-scale project to shoot man into space. But it will be several years, at least, before the age-old am of space flight becomes true.

★ ★ ★

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, gave this news Wednesday night in a speech at a dinner commemorating the first powered flight by the Wright brothers 55 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Jiminy Cricket Will Be Emcee

Cartoon Stars Will Sing New Holiday Song on TV Hour Friday

NEW YORK — In his well-established tradition, Walt Disney will celebrate the Christmas season with a special Yuletide show, "From All of Us to All of You," featuring a cast of Disney's most popular cartoon stars, on "Walt Disney Presents" Friday, Dec. 19 on ABC-TV, from 8 to 9 p.m.

The program also features songs familiar to Disney productions ranging from the long popular "When You Wish Upon a Star" to the Yule program's new title number, "From All of Us to All of You."

The show will be all-animation in technique, except for a brief appearance by Walt himself, whom Tinker Bell, the familiar little sprite from "Peter Pan," will conjure up in equally miniature scale — because "Christmas is bigger than all of us."

Among the highlights of the show will be the presentation by Jiminy of the 'living' Christmas cards he has received from his old friends, including Peter Pan, Bambi, Pinocchio, Cinderella, Lady and Tramp and Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

Christmas Carol Western Style

'Cimarron City' Starring George Montgomery as Scrooge Saturday

NEW YORK — A Western version of Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol" will be seen on "Cimarron Holiday," the Saturday, Dec. 20, episode of "Cimarron City" starring George Montgomery, Audrey Totter and John Smith (NBC-TV network, 9:30-10:30 p.m.).

Making a brief appearance on the show will be Mrs. George Montgomery (Dinah Shore) and the couple's two children Missy, 10 and John D., 4. Guest star on the program will be Tim Hovey.

Hovey will play the town's bad boy Avery Wickham, who is miscast in the town's Christmas performance of the Dickens tale as angelic Tiny Tim.

The ladies of the town dragoon Matt Rockford (Montgomery) to play Scrooge, Lane Temple (Smith) to be Bob Cratchitt, and Beth Purcell (Miss Totter) is Mrs. Cratchitt. Tiny Budinger (Dan Blocker), Jess Williams (George Dunn) and Dody Hamer (Peter Dunn) will represent the ghosts of Christmas Past, Present and Future.

Dinah and the children will be among the townfolk who after the performance, eat cake on stage and sing "Auld Lang Syne."

Device to Gauge Stars

SYDNEY, Australia — The world's first star-measuring instrument of its kind, an intensity interferometer, is being set up at Narrabri, in northern New South Wales, by scientists at Sydney University. The device — consisting of two $40,000 mirrors, each weighing about 5 tons and 20 feet in diameter — is mounted on wheels and moves on rails.

Cotton Types Crossed

BOMBAY—The Cotton Research Center at Surat, near Bombay, reports it has successfully hybridized, for the first time in India, Asiatic varieties of cotton with American types. The new breeding technique formulated by the center has resulted in combining the hardiness of Asiatic cotton with the superior economic qualities of the American varieties.

No Rests in His Music

NEW YORK (UI) — The busy life of a piano player: Back from a five-week tour of South America, Claudio Arrau spent only one full day in his Long Island home before he was off on a 26-concert tour of Europe. He'll get home from that in November, but two days later he'll begin a U.S.-Canada tour.

Nice Ripe Tomatoes

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The window sill is not the best place to ripen tomatoes, according to the Wisconsin "Agriculturist." The sun is fine, but the heat isn't. Temperatures of more than 85 degrees turn tomatoes yellow, not red. Ideal conditions are sunlight, and room temperatures.
