Nation Solving School Problems

IN LOUISVILLE — Integration has been accomplished in Louisville, Ky., as this picture of a Louisville elementary school shows.

BUT IN BIRMINGHAM, ALA. — Rebellion flares as a small group of Woodlawn High School students stage a bitter and noisy demonstration over reports that Negro children planned to seek admission.

Firm in Detroit Gets Contract for Post Office

Expect New Building to Be Completed Early Next Spring

A Detroit construction company has submitted the winning bid to build Pontiac's first main post office, it was announced today by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Construction of the new building, expected to be completed by early spring, will begin immediately, according to Abraham Nusholtz, partner in the A & A Construction Co., 2024 National Bank Building, Detroit.

Nusholtz said he "expected to close the deal to purchase the land from Huron Plaza, Inc., of Royal Oak by September 15." Preparations for the building would immediately follow this transaction, he added.

He received a telegram from the post office department at 9:15 this morning relating the news. The Detroit firm had outbid four other companies from Chicago, Milwaukee and Detroit.

The cost of the building has not been disclosed.

Nusholtz described the building as being in excess of 30,000 square feet. It will be a single story building with part basement and will feature the modern open-counter design.

The postal department has been negotiating with bidders since July 31.

The Post Office Dept. will sign over its option on the property to the builder and will lease the property back for 20 years, with renewal options up to 30 years more.

Probers Eying Union in Pontiac

Affairs of Local 614 Could Figure in New Quiz of Hoffa-Kennedy

Affairs of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 may figure in a new quiz of James R. Hoffa by Senate rackets committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy.

Kennedy, who took over the Detroit area investigation of the Teamsters union official on his own for a week, returned to Washington today saying his personal investigation was "very worthwhile."

Pontiac Local 614, which has been under a trusteeship ordered by Hoffa three years ago, was "touched upon" in the investigation, it was reported.

Leaders of an insurgent group seeking to end the trusteeship remained mum today when asked if they had furnished information about alleged mismanagement to Kennedy.

"We can't talk because we're sitting on a powder-keg," was the comment of one of the group that in June picketed the local 614 hall in protest against Hoffa.

Kennedy, who reportedly took in Grand Rapids and Flint as well as Pontiac and Detroit, said he has new evidence on which the committee is to question Hoffa—possibly before the Teamsters convention opens Sept. 30.

Hoffa is favored for election as new Teamsters president. His rivals for the $50,000-a-year job put in their bid yesterday before the Policy Committee of the Western Conference of Teamsters, hoping to gain support against Hoffa, the odds-on favorite to succeed Dave Beck.

Wilson Just Not Sure

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, asked whether the U.S. leads Russia in the intercontinental ballistic missile race, said: "I don't think I really know for sure."

Police Arrest Bombing Suspects

Pontiac Begins '58 Changeover

Halt 1957 Production; New Models Slated Early in October

Pontiac Motor Division has begun its progressive changeover for the 1958 model, S. E. Knudsen, Pontiac general manager, announced today.

"Several plants are already in the process of their changeover as the assembly plant completes its 1957 production today," Knudsen said.

"We have planned our changeover in an orderly manner so that it will affect the smallest number of employes at any one time. Pontiac's employment is 13,000, and maximum layoff at any one time will be 6,200 employes.

"The engine, foundry, axle, plating and sheet metal plants will be the first to complete our changeover and start production in order to build up a flow of parts for the Pontiac plant as well as the seven plants across the country.

"Pontiac's assembly plant will commence production of the 1958 model early in October," Knudsen said.

Los Angeles Still Tries

NEW YORK (INS) — Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson, hearing that financier Nelson Rockefeller was trying to keep the Dodgers in New York said: "I haven't given up trying to bring the team to Los Angeles but I'm not sure anymore."

U. N. Building Tour a Close Second

'My Fair Lady' Tops With Press Tourists

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

NEW YORK CITY—There's no question about what has proved to be the stellar attraction of this year's Pontiac Press theater special. Without a doubt, Rex Harrison as Professor Henry Higgins in "My Fair Lady" gets the cake.

But vying sharply for second place was Tuesday's educational tour through the historic United Nations Building overlooking the East River. "I was simply spellbound to see what we read about so often," remarked Mrs. Robert C. Callow, of 3495 W. Long Lake Rd., Orchard Lake.

Topping off our U.N. tour, during which the General Assembly was heard discussing the Hungarian situation, was a luncheon in the delegates' dining room.

This followed trips through the Security Council, Trusteeship Council, and the more famous General Assembly.

Some of the visitors purchased post cards to be mailed from the building with the special U.N. stamps. The souvenir counters also were popular points of interest.

By no means forgotten are the plaudits heaped upon "Tunnel of Love," "A Visit to a Small Planet" and "The Bells Are Ringing." The entire contingent of

GOP to Fete Oldest Voter

Highlight of a Novi Republican Club rally slated for next Tuesday will be the honoring of the oldest voter in the township, who happens to be a Democrat.

A host of Oakland County Republican officials will be on hand for the 7:30 p.m. gathering at the Novi Pizzeria, 44475 Grand River, when Mrs. Adella Richardson, of 26245 Novi Rd., is presented with a plaque. Mrs. Richardson is 101.

Republican Club head, Robert K. Anderson, said club members knew she was the oldest voter when they planned the presentation, and her party affiliation didn't sway them.

Slated to appear are U. S. Representative William S. Broomfield, State Senator L. Harvey Lodge, Oakland County Republican Chairman Arthur Elliott, Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, Chief Assistant Prosecutor George Taylor, Sheriff Frank Irons, Register of Deeds Dan Murphy, and Clerk Lynn Allen.

Hits Confidential on 'Dirty' Money

Prosecutor Tells Jury 'Filthy Scandal' Made Millions for Magazine

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Confidential magazine dragged celebrities "through the filthy mire of gossip" for the sole purpose of making money, the prosecutor has told the jury in the criminal libel trial of the scandal publication.

Dep. Dist. Atty. William L. Ritzi said yesterday this proved to be a multimillion-dollar business.

He said publisher Robert Harrison of Confidential and "its lesser sister in sin, Whisper, "had not one bit of concern whose name was blackened."

He said Harrison made a profit of $300,000 an issue on Confidential and boosted its circulation to nearly four million copies.

Ritzi concentrated his argument to the jury on linking Confidential and Whisper with Fred and Marjorie Meade who, he said, were sent to Hollywood by Harrison as his agents.

Mrs. Meade and her husband are defendants. She is Harrison's niece.

The prosecutor called Hollywood Research, Inc., which was set up by the Meades, a "smut station" and a "sewer" to channel scandalous information to the magazines.

Freighter Rams, Sinks Dredge

Coos Bay Disaster Kills 3

COOS BAY, Ore. (AP)—A huge Army dredge sank in Coos Bay channel last night minutes after it was rammed by a Norwegian freighter. Three members of the dredge crew died, another was missing and six were injured.

There was no casualty aboard the freighter, the 375-foot Thorshall, which was outbound for San Francisco with a crew of 35.

The dredge, the 268-foot Rossell, sank to the bottom of the shallow channel within five minutes. The prow of the freighter knifed into its port side, breaking open two of its three watertight bulkheads.

Only hours before, the dredge crew had been presented with a plaque for two years of accident-free operation.

BOAT SWAMPED

They rushed to the deck and some began climbing the rigging and masts as eight-foot swells broke over the deck. Three life boats were launched but one was swamped minutes after it hit the water. A fourth boat was battered to pieces by huge waves as the crew attempted to float it.

★ ★ ★

Ernest Hartl, chief engineer of the Rossell, said the waves were responsible for the death of Harry Petersen, 60, a machinist from San Francisco. He was thrown

Hopes to Prove Troops Averted Racial Violence

Governor of Arkansas to Appear Sept. 20 in School Integration Suit

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus, soon to have his "day in court," was marshaling evidence today to convince the U.S. government that racial violence would have exploded in Little Rock if he had not barred Negroes from enrolling in a high school here.

"It will be all forms of evidence, documentary and through witnesses," the governor told newsmen.

Faubus quietly accepted a summons yesterday to appear Sept. 20 before U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald N. Davies, whose actions he has described as "arbitrary and high-handed."

At issue is the federal government's petition for a preliminary injunction, restraining Faubus from interfering with the integration of Central High School. Armed guards have been on duty there, turning away Negroes, for a week.

A spokesman for Gov. Faubus today said the governor became ill during the night.

Another spokesman at the mansion said, "He's not sick at all—just tired and not feeling well. He'll be all right in a day or two."

★ ★ ★

The governor says he still feels he did the right thing, and that to maintain order in Little Rock it was necessary to ring the school with National Guardsmen.

The guards will remain on duty at the school but in smaller numbers, he told newsmen.

"The rules are the same," he said, meaning that Negroes would not be permitted to enter.

"Tension has lessened somewhat in that area," he said when asked why the guard had been reduced.

★ ★ ★

That checked with observations of reporters who stood watching at Central High School and at North Little Rock High School in a neighboring community across the Arkansas River.

APPEARED QUIET

Only a handful of people gathered near the two schools and both cities appeared completely quiet except for a rock-throwing incident last night between Negro and white boys in North Little Rock. No one was injured, police said.

★ ★ ★

The North Little Rock school board denied a petition by the parents of seven Negro students to enroll them in the high school. The board decided last week to postpone integration indefinitely.

"The Negro students are in worse danger of physical harm now than when we postponed integration," Robert R. Means, a board member, told four Negro clergymen representing the parents of the seven.

At a news conference, Faubus read a telegram from 8 to 10 Little Rock aldermen requesting that he leave the National Guard at Central High School indefinitely and commending his action in ordering them there. The governor said the other two were absent from the City Council meeting.

The big question today is: With relative quiet prevailing, will the Negroes make further attempts to enroll at Central High School?

Faubus said he believes it likely that the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People is "calling the turn" on the actions of the Negro students.

DELAY ADVISED

Nashville Police Arrest Kasper Three Times

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Northern segregationist John Kasper was arrested early today, the third time in 12 hours, as angry Nashville police cracked down on mounting violence following school integration here.

★ ★ ★

Sessions Judge Mitchell Van Zicarelli denied Kasper bond in the third arrest, on a charge of inciting to riot which Constable Floyd Peek said was based on a speech the New Jersey-born agitator delivered at the state capitol Sunday night. He was arrested at the home of friends.

Background Story Page 15

Twice before since 1 p.m. yesterday, Kasper had been arrested —on disorderly conduct and vagrancy charges and for parking in a restricted zone. He made bond totaling $2,500 on those charges. Hearing is set at 2 p.m. today.

The police crackdown on demonstrators, an effort to restore order at the newly integrated schools, forced jeering segregationists to meet ontside the city.

"I have a feeling that maybe we have passed the crisis," said Asst. School Supt. W. H. Oliver as he faced the third day of first-grade integration, ordered by U.S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller.

In the wake of an early morning dynamite blast which wrecked one of the seven integrated elementary schools yesterday, there were these rapid-fire developments:

1. Fifty city policemen, in cruisers and on motorcycles, moved onto the state capitol square 15 minutes before a Kasper-called rally was to begin last night. The square was promptly cleared and one officer said simply, "There will be no meeting." The rally moved outside the city with Kasper nowhere in sight. There were no incidents.

2. State troopers were posted at the governor's home after a reported threat on the life of Gov. Frank Clement. Clement incurred segregationists' ire last year when he sent National Guardsmen to restore order at Clinton, 200 miles to the east, after high school integration there touched off rioting. Clement, who said he personally knew of no threats against him, has declined comment on the Nashville situation.

Six white men faced preliminary hearing today in connection with the dynamiting of Hattie Cotton Grammar School. The six were arrested yesterday, and police said 50 feet of wire of the same type used to detonate the blast was found in the home of one of the men.

Rewards in the case had reached $6,000—$5,000 by Clement and $1,000 by the Nashville Banner.

Miss Margaret Acree, principal at the shattered school since its opening in 1950, said damage to the half-million-dollar structure probably will not exceed $150,000. This is less severe than was at first indicated. One Negro first-grader was among 390 students enrolling at the school Monday.

Attendance nosedived yesterday to 15 or 20 per cent of normal at five of the other six integrated schools.

Only at Clemons school, where one Negro enrolled yesterday without incident, was attendance normal.

The crowds were kept at least a block away from the six racially mixed schools as flareups between white and Negro adults continued for the second day.

A dummy representing a Negro man was hung in effigy in downtown Nashville last night. A sign pinned on the dummy read, "Nigger This Could Be You."

KASPER ARRESTED THIRD TIME — Northern segregationist John Kasper (dark suit) is led from elevator in Nashville, Tenn., after his third arrest in Nashville in 12 hours. The latest arrest by Constable Floyd Peek (standing left) is on a charge of inciting to riot, based on a speech he made in Nashville Sunday night. 'My Fair Lady' Tops With Press Tourists

154 will see Ethel Merman and Fernando Lamas in "Happy Hunting" this afternoon.

But the comment of one feminine member of the journey sums up perfectly what all feel about Broadway's biggest — "My Fair Lady." "If we didn't do or see anything else this would make up for it," she said as she left the Mark Hellinger Theater.

The musical, which began what looks like a record run in 1955, has no rival, even taking into consideration "Oklahoma" and "South Pacific."

It took the breath out of the playgoers. Some are seeking additional seats to see the magnificent production by Moss Hart again before we leave. Sidewalk scalpers didn't stand a chance in having members of the party relinquish their ducats. A cab driver told us some choice seats are worth as high as $100 a pair.

Record sales are expected to shoot sky high so that the adventurers will retain vivid memories of the show.

"My Fair Lady" is a takeoff on George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion." Harrison, as the English phonetics professor, pulls a "gutter snipe" (charming Julie Andrews) out of the slums and converts her to his fair lady.

TRAVELERS BRAVE RAIN

The music, costumes and settings — not forgetting the superb acting — were all the critics say, and more.

Before the curtains went up for the second night at the theater, the travelers braved a light sprinkle (which after the theater turned to a downpour) to see more of the sights.

A handful rode the elevator to the towering top of the Empire State Building. A few made the rounds of Central Park in horse and carriage.

For Mrs. Frank G. Syron, of 4335 Elizabeth Lake Rd., it was a birthday in the Big City, complete with the announcement in a special "John Riley Edition" of a New York "paper."

And the celebrities that pop up often here haven't let the Press playgoers down. It is a question who had the spotlight at the Booth Theater, Cyril Ritchard in the "Planet" production of Bob Hope.

The lights and confusion of Times Square were given a thorough going over by some on the way back to the Paramount Hotel from last night's theater visit. For those who have not viewed this spectacular sight, it is a blinding blur of flashing lights from theater marquees to giant advertising signs.

The torrents of water pouring over the soft drink sign have some wondering what makes it tick.

Today, the third day in Gotham town, includes the matinee performance of "Happy Hunting" plus one of the four other hits in the evening. In the morning it was Jan Murray starring in television's 'Treasure Hunt.'

FASCINATING EXPERIENCE

The trip around the mammoth U.N. Building, which from the outside looks like a window washer's nightmare, was a fascinating experience for the vast majority of the 154 excursionists who visited there. Several ladies were making plans to return to hear the General Assembly, which the group got a fleeting glimpse at yesterday.

Our 25-year-old Chilean guide, Mrs. Edith de Sudy, held the attention of all as Pontiac's delegation made the rounds. In one of the three meeting chambers we had a recorded taste of the interpretations in five different languages possible three seconds after a delegate speaks from the floor.

The varied functions of the U.N. were explained by the multi-lingual guides assigned to our tour. Our busy visitors found time to raise many questions.

Last night a segment of the Press party proved they would starve if they had to rely on chop sticks as eating utensils. The place was Miyako's.

Typical Japanese dishes included tenpura (fried shrimps), sukiyaki (a very tasty beef dish with rice) and naturally, tea. The Press' John A. Riley, a service veteran of nine months in Japan, stayed with the "sticks" while others resorted to forks.

About the same time, police said, a chicken coop and two buildings owned by Mrs. Grace McKinley, mother of a Negro first-grader enrolled at Fehr school, were set afire.

Four white drivers reported their automobiles were stoned by a group of Negro children in a racially mixed neighborhood.

has advised them not to make any further attempts until after Sept.

Faubus looked like a vastly relieved man when he confronted reporters in another general news conference yesterday.

Had he been in contact with the White House?

"If there had been any such contacts, I could not discuss it here," he said.

Would he appear personally before Judge Davies or send a representative?

"I can't give you my answer to that yet," he said.

OTHER EFFORTS?

Apart from the legal machinery now grinding toward a decision in the highly inflamed struggle over integration, were other efforts under way to reach a solution?

Faubus referred to the proposal by Gov. Foster Furcolo of Massachusetts to set up a panel composed of the governors of five states to study the problem and make recommendations. He said he understood Furcolo had communicated with Gov. William Stratton of Illinois, chairman of the Governors' Conference, about naming the panel members.

"Further than that," he continued, "I am not at liberty to say. I don't mean to infer that something else is going on."

Rumors are current in Little Rock that a "deal" has been arranged between Faubus and the federal government. In that connection, newsmen asked the governor why he quickly accepted the summons to appear in court.

BELIEVES IN LAW

"No one wants to be a process dodger," he replied. "I believe in the courts. I believe in the law of the land. What would be the purpose of my dodging around trying to avoid service?"

★ ★ ★

He said he knew in advance that he would come under criticism for ordering guardsmen to the high school.

"I could have played it safe and waited until violence occurred and then called out the Guard," he said. "But I felt that wouldn't have been living up to my responsibility to maintain peace and order in the community."

He declined to answer the question: "Do you favor integration?"

Miriani Victor in Detroit Race

Steamrollers Over Ten Foes in Primary to Win Nomination for Mayor

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit's Common Council President Louis C. Miriani steamrolled over ten opponents yesterday in the city's primary election and won the nomination for mayor by the largest margin since 1923.

★ ★ ★

Limping into the second nomination for the November run-off was John J. Beck, a deputy Wayne County clerk and former legislator who is a brother to Mary V. Beck, leader in the race for Common Council.

All eight Council members seeking re-election were among the first nine of the 18 nominees.

Breaking into the "golden nine" was Rep. Ed Carey, UAW-CIO international representative and floor leader in Lansing for Gov. G. Mennen Williams. He finished in seventh place. Carey also led political veterans Blanche Parent Wise and Charles N. Youngblood.

City Clerk Thomas D. Leadbetter won re-nomination for a seventh term by a three to one majority, despite efforts by the UAW-CIO to knock him out of first place in the four-man contest. The union had backed Rep. Edward E. Jeffries.

Former congressman and plumber, Harold F. Youngblood was nominated against City Treasurer Charles N. Williams in a much closer contest. However, Williams, now serving his third term, had more votes than the total received by all five of his opponents.

★ ★ ★

The proposed $30 million bond issue for storm sewers was approved two to one, with the day-long rains yesterday serving to remind voters of flooded basements, streets and blocked sewers.

Election officials said an unexciting campaign, the unrelenting rainfall and general indifference cut the total vote to 196,140 — only 22.1 per cent of Detroit's 886,987 eligible voters.

This low turnout record was second only to 1935 when only 17 per cent of the registered voters went to the polls.

Miriani had 77.3 per cent of the ballots cast for all mayoralty candidates. The vote for Miriani, now 57, was one tremendous step toward the office he has been headed for since first elected to Common Council 10 years ago.

In making his bid for the $25,000-a-year job he was backed by the Wayne County CIO and the AFL, as well as many civic organizations.

The Day in Birmingham

Commissioners Receive Refuse Disposal Contract

BIRMINGHAM — Commissioners have received proposed contract from the South Oakland County Garbage and Rubbish authority due to expire July 1, 1983.

The authority has outlined several changes which they consider important to the refuse disposal. Under the proposed regulation they would place grass clippings in the same category as rocks and ashes and would have them in the same containers.

They explained that the grass clippings themselves contain enough moisture to provide incinerator difficulties when added to the fact that they are placed at the curb in open containers and are rained on, the burning problem is multiplied many times.

To the authority's suggestion that covered containers are required, commissioners drew back. It was stated that they feel Birmingham has enough restrictions right now. Further demands along this line, they predict, would meet strong opposition from residents.

Present rates for disposal are $4.80 per ton for incinerated refuse with $3.00 per ton for material used in land-fill projects.

The Johnson Service company has been awarded the contract for the installation of the thermostatic control system at Baldwin Public Library. The contract price for complete installation is $4,675.

Robert Kenning, assistant city manager, said the present control system was installed about 30 years ago and was offering serious maintenance problems. In addition to the money saved through lack of repairs it is also anticipated that there will be a marked savings in fuel.

Robert Girardin, recreation director, said today that construction of the archery range would probably be completed this weekend. Ranges will be up to 50 yards. Persons interested in the formation of an archery club are asked to contact the recreation department at the City Hall.

The Senior Men's club, sponsored jointly by the Community House and the Recreation department, has gotten underway grams. Highligating Friday's session will be a sound movie reviewing the history of "American Engineering."

Mrs. Jack La Belle, 217 Westwood, will be hostess for the first fall meeting of alumnae of Alpha Xi Delta sorority in the Oakland County area. Buffet dinner will begin at 7 p.m. All interested members are asked to call Mrs. La Belle, MI 6-0160 for reservations.

The first PTA meeting of the year, at the Hickory Grove School, will be held at 8 tomorrow evening. President Delmar Hetherington will conduct a short business session to explain the year's budget to parents.

Nathan Hargett will tell of the new program at the school this year, with its innovation of art, music and physical education made possible by Hickory Grove's annexation to the Bloomfield Hills school district.

The teaching staff will be introduced to the assembly, after which everyone will join in a coffee hour. Included among those families to be welcomed at this meeting are those of sixth graders at Vaughan School which is part of Hickory Grove this year due to overcrowding in their own school.

Serving with Mr. Hetherington as officers for the 1957-58 school year are: Mrs. Lyle Hope, vice president; Mrs. Maynard Raye, secretary; Frank Oosterhof, treasurer, and Dr. Eugene Nalepa, father vice president. Others are Mrs. Leslie Draker, teacher vice president; Mrs. Warren C. Stout, historian, and Mrs. Charles Hupp, parliamentarian.

FREDERICK G. LAMBERT

Frederick G. Lambert, 86, died at his home, 1705 East 14 Mile Rd. yesterday after a long illness. He was a retired farmer.

The former Lambert farm has since been subdivided for both residential and commercial use. He was a member of the Church of the Redeemer.

Besides his wife, the former Lena Remole of Royal Oak, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ernest W. Kurth of Birmingham and two sons, Philip C. of Capac and George F. of Grand Haven, and a sister, Mrs. Anna Miller of Highland Park.

Service will be at 1 p.m. Friday from the Manley-Bailey Funeral home with burial in Greenwood cemetery.

Lions Give Steelers 2 Rookies in Trade

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions today traded two rookie players to the Pittsburgh Steelers where former Lion coach Buddy Parker now is in command.

The Lions sent Parker quarterback Jack Kemp and defensive tackle Dave Liddick in exchange for two Pittsburgh draft choices for the 1958 season.

Kemp is a 6-2, 200-pounder from Occidental College in California. He was the Lions' 17th draft choice this season and became expendable when the Lions obtained quarterback Tobin Rote from the Green Bay Packers.

Pontiac City Affairs

Commission Approves Three Sewer Contracts

The contracts were for trunklines in the long-awaited Perry Park Subdivision storm sewer system and for the West Huron sanitary relief sewer, to alleviate usage in the vicinity of Pontiac General Hospital.

The Perry Park contracts were for $193,814 with a Detroit contractor, George Odien, and for $131,141 with the Greenfield Construction Co. of Livonia.

The total $324,955 cost is being split roughly between the city and the drainage district, with property owners paying a flat two cents a square foot rate. This figures out to be $98.80 for an average 40-foot lot.

It was pointed out to residents at a public hearing last night that the trunklines by themselves will do little to alleviate flooding in the area. Not until lateral lines are placed thoughout the subdivision will flood waters be generally collected and removed through the trunklines.

MUST COME FIRST

However, it is necessary to build the trunklines first, Commissioner John A. Dugan pointed out.

He hoped that lateral lines could be financed soon, perhaps next year, at no extra cost in a package deal that includes curb and gutter work.

The Perry Park project is one of the largest attempted by the city. It will serve an area bounded roughly by Mount Clemens street, Perry street, the Belt Line Railroad and Perry Mount Park Cemetery. The area already has sanitary drains.

The West Huron contract was signed with the Baseline Construction Co. of Livonia for $109,410. The sewer will run generally from Orchard Lake avenue to Huron street in the hospital area.

Public hearings were held on eight street and sewer improvements and next Tuesday was set as the date for five more hearings.

Assessment rolls on three street improvemens were approved.

down a hatch by one. The body was recovered.

The other victims were Ong Tipp, a Chinese mess man, also of San Francisco, and George Quinton survived the crash but died apparently of a heart seizure after he had been brought to shore.

The missing man was identified as Andrew H. Ferguson, Portland, Ore.

Fifteen of the Rossell crew were snatched from the rigging and masts of the sunken vessel by a helicopter, piloted by Wesley C. LeMatta, of Portland. He had been hired to fly Col. Jackson Graham, chief of the Portland District Army Corp of Engineers, on an aerial inspection of the corps' projects in the area.

★ ★ ★

HOVERING ABOVE

Graham, who directed the entire rescue operation, was hovering above the stricken ship within 10 minutes after it sank. He and LaMatta lowered a sling to the riggings and masts and carried survivors to the nearby shore, making several trips. Some of the survivors made the short trip to shore hanging onto a rope by their hands, an eyewitness reported.

★ ★ ★

Those who escaped in boats were picked up by Coast Guard vessels and other boats.

None Hurt in Plant Blast

DETROIT (AP) — A small fire and a big explosion blew an oxygen tank and an acetylene tank through the roof of a factory Tuesday. No one was hurt although the blast smashed hundreds of small windows in the Atwater Equipment Industries plant. Workmen said a leak in an oxygen hose started the fire.

Know the Weather

BY E. H. SIMS

What is the normal path of warm fronts across the United States? Do you live in an area which is a "main highway" for the centers of these bad weather systems?

Unlike cold fronts, warm systems have an upward direction, or northerly push, as they cross the United States from west to east. Some come in front northern California and up as far as Washington. Those coming in to the north usually cross with a southerly tendency until they reach the Chicago area and then slant upward and pass over New England.

Those coming in over California slant downward toward the Gulf and then turn northward, often moving up the east coast. Others, which never cross into the United States, come out of the Caribbean and move up the east coast.

Then there are the lows which cross in on the west coast, moving northeast. They may cross into the country from New Mexico to Oregon, and usually pass out of the country along its northern borders, between eastern Montana and New England. The main route of these lows is the Great Lakes region.

The southeastern states, generally speaking, and except for coastal areas, are off the beaten track of these systems.

Integration Status Across Nation

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (INS) — Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus has accepted a summons for a federal court test Sept. 20 of State vs. Federal power over integration of Little Rock's Central High School but has declared his National Guard troops will continue to bar Negro students from the all-white institution.

★ ★ ★

NEWPORT, R. I. — President Eisenhower continues to keep close watch over the integration controversy in Little Rock and other southern cities while adopting an attitude of "patience."

★ ★ ★

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has decried the integration problem as "not helpful to the influence of the United States abroad."

★ ★ ★

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Federal District Judge Albert V. Bryan is scheduled to hear an appeal today from an attorney for seven Negro children directing the Arlington County school board to admit the pupils to all-white schools in an issue over state-ordered school integration in Virginia. If the students are ordered admitted, Arlington County will be in the same position as that of Little Rock before Gov. Faubus ringed Central High School with the state militia to keep out Negro students.

WASHINGTON — Justice department sources stated that the FBI found no substantial indication of possible violence if Little Rock's Central High School had admitted Negroes as scheduled.

★ ★ ★

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Nashville officials predict today is the turning point in the battle to peacefully integrate first grade classes in public schools. One of seven grammar schools where 19 Negroes were registered in previously all-white schools Monday was bombed and virtually destroyed Tuesday to climax a series of violent incidents. Meanwhile, northern segregationist John Kasper was arrested early today for the third time in 12 hours and charged with inciting to riot.

★ ★ ★

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Uneasy peace prevails at Birmingham where the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth, beaten when he tried to enroll several Negroes in schools Monday, said there would be "no more attempts" at this time to integrate Negro children in all-white schools.

★ ★ ★

DALLAS, Tex. — The Dallas school board plans to appeal the integration order calling for desegregation in public schools next February.

U.S. Sets Bitter Battle of Words

Russia to Be Opponent in Coming U.N. Fight Over Syria's Future

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is bracing for a bitter word battle with Russia in the United Nations over the fate of Syria.

Secretary of State Dulles will fly to New York Sunday to discuss with this country's U.N. delegation his role in the opening days of the General Assembly, which meets Tuesday.

Dulles told a news conference yesterday that he believes the Syrian situation will be worked out without war in the Middle East although he said, "There are elements there which we cannot control and which could precipitate serious trouble."

Dulles and other American officials fear that the apparently growing Soviet domination of Syria may pose a threat to the security of Syria's neighbors. But in his talk with reporters, Dulles emphasized his hope that it may be worked out peacefully.

United States policy so far has been primarily to try to seal off Soviet influence in Syria to prevent it from spreading into neighboring countries. That is the objective behind the decision to speed up arms deliveries to Turkey, Iraq, Lebanon and Jordan.

The arms deliveries, however, are beginning to bring expressions of concern from Israel. Ambassador Abba Eban conferred with Asst. Secretary of State William Rountree yesterday and will meet with Dulles tomorrow.

Eban was reported to be seeking some new declaration of United States policy of retaliation against any Middle East aggressor. He also was understood to be urging that the United States make some dramatic gesture of a nonmilitary nature, possibly a big new proposal for dealing with economic and social problems in the Arab Middle East.

In his news conference Dulles took the line that although the Syrian situation is troublesome and potentially dangerous, it is the kind of trouble with which the world must live. He said he does not "feel discouraged about peace merely because it is from time to time jeopardized."

Dulles' discussion yesterday apparently does not mean that he has necessarily changed his basic estimate of the dangers. It may simply mean that for a number of reasons he thinks a different public emphasis is necessary.

Teenage Couple Deported to Canada

PORT HURON (AP) — An intended elopement that led to crime has sent two Canadian teenagers home with orders to stay out of the United States for at least 15 years.

The 15 years is the maximum of 3 to 15 year prison sentences given yesterday to David White, 19, and Blanche Guile, 17, both of Preston, Ont., for breaking and entering.

Circuit Judge Edward T. Kane ordered White and Miss Guile deported. He suspended the prison sentences on condition they do not re-enter this country for 15 years. If they do, they go to prison.

White and Miss Guile, picked up Aug. 23 near St. Clair after allegedly breaking and entering half a dozen cottages, said they came to the United States to get married because their parents in Canada objected and they were unable to get a license. Police said they broke into cottages to get food and clothing.

A team owned by Al Foster of Elkhart, Ind., pulled the same weight 21 feet 3 inches to place second. A team owned by Fowler Brothers of Montgomery was third with a pull of 19 feet 10 inches.

Moxham Castle Soon May Be Large Hotel

The stone building is flanked by white oaks, velvety lawns and a pool. It has 30 rooms, 14 fireplaces and large furnaces which devour a ton of coal daily.

A local syndicate hopes to capitalize on its Old World beauty by converting the paneled rooms into de luxe suites, and building a motel on the 10-acre site.

It was originally built in 1895 at Lorain, Ohio, by A. J. Moxham. When the owner became general manager of the Sydney steel plant, Mrs. Moxham was sad at the thought of leaving the castle behind.

Moxham had the castle transported here and rebuilt. It cost $350,000—even in those days—to dismantle, ship and rebuild the structure.

Burn Small Residence of Negro at North Pole

NORTH POLE, Alaska (AP) — A small residence into which a Negro family moved recently was burned here Saturday night and charges were made at a City Council meeting that the fire was set deliberately because of the family's race.

Mayor Con Miller told the Council the fire, wich practically destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Green, apparently was a case of arson. The Greens are the first Negroes ever to live in this small community.

The school accommodates 32 students per class for a course duration of three weeks. Airmen have been assigned from Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and U.S. Air Force bases in Canada.

Governor's Silence on Arkansas Hit

LANSING (AP) — House Speaker George M. Van Peursem (R-Zeeland) says Gov. Williams ought to lend a hand in ending the racial segregation ruckus in Arkansas.

Van Peursem, ranking Republican in state politics, yesterday described the governor's failure to speak out on the issue as "astonishing."

"As one of those mentioned as a possible presidential candidate for his party ,the governor could use his personal influence with Governor Faubus (of Arkansas) for equal justice," he said, adding:

"Certainly the governor of Michigan should not callously ignore the un-American sight of a fellow Democrat ringing a school with bayonets to deny equal educational opportunity to Negro children."

Van Peursem called on Williams to exert his influence as head of the Democrat Party's Committee on Nationalities and Minorities to settle the dispute.

Van Peursem said he would analyze and re-evaluate all state laws concerning civil rights with a view toward possible revision and strengthening.

CAI Building Has Full Schedule

Plan 15 Fall, Winter Activities

Forecasting a heavy schedule for public recreation in Waterford Township, is the announcement that fifteen different activities have been planned for the fall and winter season, by the recreation department.

Activities beginning in September and October are dog obedience training, at 8 p.m. September 11. On Sept. 21, at 10 a.m. ballet studio will begin operation, along with Saturday morning fun.

SUCCESSFUL SUMMER

"More than four thousand different people directly participate in one or more of the seven summer activities," Belton said. Both the quality and quantity of each program was strengthened this year and it is hoped each future year will show the same growth," Belton added.

The remaining activities for the winter will be men's and junior basketball leagues, archery lessons, and ladies exercising classes.

A recreation booklet listing additional information relative to fall and winter activities will be distributed through the schools next week, Belton said.

"Each year, the township recreation department is expanding programs for children as well as adults, and programs are planned to provide group participation in popular leisure time activities at little or no costs," Belton concluded.

Coed in Lab Gets $96,000 Question

PLEASANTON, Calif. (AP) — An 18-year-old New Jersey college sophomore answered the $96,000 question here last night and moved a step closer to a possible $256,000.

Joyce Myron, a student at Drexel Institute in Philadelphia and a contestant on the CBS show "The $64,000 Question," donned special coveralls and shoes at the General Electric Co.'s Vallecitos Atomic Laboratory here to correctly answer the question worth $96,000.

Master of ceremonies Hal March asked the question in a New York studio and Miss Myron answered from the laboratory by remote control. She can keep going until she reaches the $256,000 maximum.

Triple Trouble Facing Teacher in Jersey School

LYNDHURST, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Helen Lenon, a teacher, has triple trouble this term. There are two sets of triplets in her first-grade class.

If Mrs. Lenon addresses the wrong girl, none of them answers. On the other hand, when she addresses the right one, all three answer.

The case of the Krone triplets is a little different but no less exasperating to the harassed teacher. Brother Steven is easy to distinguish from Lois and Phyllis, but he insists on being the press agent for the trio.

Steven answers all questions. He says the girls like school fine and want to be cowboys when they grow up.

He even tries to help the teacher by pointing out which sister is which.

Resignations Shake Thailand's Regime

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The pro-Western government of Premier P. Pibulsonggram was shaken today by the loss of 46 supporters in the National Assembly.

Marshal Sarit Thanarit, commander in chief of the army and long a powerful supporter of the Premier, led the resignations of the 46 military members from the administration party yesterday.

This influential bloc appeared ready to join the opposition, which favors closer ties with Red China and withdrawal from the U.S.-sponsored Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

While the Premier appears to retain a 158-128 majority, the defections are bound to increase the influence of the opposition.

Trouble began when Pibulsonggram ordered Cabinet ministers to drop their private business interests or resign. Sarit, a director of a number of businesses, resigned as defense minister Aug. 21.

Dock Proposal Gets Opposition

Landowners in Tawas Have Injunction; Claim Damage to Boating

TAWAS CITY (AP) — A proposal by the National Gypsum Co. to build docks out into Tawas Bay was opposed by the State Attorney General's office at a public hearing yesterday.

Landowners in the vicinity have obtained a temporary injunction and seek to have the construction forbidden, claiming it would hurt boating and recreation activities and lower property values in the area.

Olds claimed that present construction plans by the company are a complete change from the proposal approved by the last legislative session.

The legislature gave the conservation director authority to turn over submerged lands in the bay to the company.

Olds referred to a 1900 opinion by the then attorney general which declared the state had no power to convey title of submerged lands to a private owner.

He cited the 1953 Submerged Lands Act approved by Congress as upholding the right of the states to submerged lands within their borders.

The state, Olds said in summing up, owns the Great Lakes lands within its borders as the proprietor of the land itself and as trustee for uses involving the public welfare.

Acquit Army Sergeant on Mistreating Charges

FT. CARSON, Colo. (AP)—The second of eight Army enlisted men charged with mistreating basic trainees was acquitted by a special court-martial yesterday.

Sgt. Jack Riley, 27, of Brunswick, Ga., was cleared of charges that he withheld trainees' mail, called an 11 p. m. formation while drunk, and punished two trainees for refusing to buy company stationery.

Two more enlisted men have yet to stand trial on similar charges. Four others have been convicted.

Fake Detective Swindles Grocer Out of Real $418

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The man said he was a detective named Wright and he was looking for counterfeit bills.

Bar Owner Ernest A. Rose looked at the man's police identification card and said he didn't have any funny money.

Wright said his superiors down at headquarters wanted to see Rose's paper money so would he please bundle it up and come along.

Rose put $418 in a box and called a cab. After shooing out his last customer, he went outside to meet Wright—but all he saw was the departing taxi and his departing $418.

★ ★

When Rose hurried to University Station yesterday to report these strange doings, he talked to a Detective Wright — Detective Robert Wright, whose identification card was real.

Waterford Woman Hurt in 3-Car Collision

A woman was injured yesterday, at 3 p.m., in a three-car collision on Telegraph Rd. at W. Huron St.

A car driven by Harvey D. White, 70, of 3335 Lexington Pl. and a moving van driven by William E. Brinkley, 41, of Morristown, Tenn. collided. White's car bounced into another auto driven by Hazel A. Scott, 43, of 3060 Lexington.

Injured was Frances Fernandes, 60, of 9712 Elizabeth Lake Rd., Waterford Township, a passenger in White's car. She was taken by Pontiac Fire Dept. ambulance to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and treated for possible rib fracture and laceration of the right arm and released.

They're Watching –and Being Watched

The safety patrol boys are back on their jobs.

They've been coached and warned about the importance of their tasks —which also are major good citizenship builders in themselves.

They seem to realize and appreciate that they have a position of trust and responsibility. It brings out what's in them.

They were selected because it was felt that they could do it, also perhaps because such a trust would instill a greater self-confidence in themselves.

Other pupils learn to put a confidence in them, often so great that they neglect to observe the necessary precautions on their own account.

Hence, the job of the safety patrol boy is an ultra important one. Perhaps few of them when grown to manhood will have one more important.

However, a few cannot forget their boyish pranks, or rise above the juvenile horse play of their fellow schoolmates, and hence are somewhat neglectful of their patrol duties. They don't like to be razzed.

These few are reminded (and this also goes to their parents) that nobody lives in a human fish bowl of greater visibility than does the patrol boy. Every driver that passes his way is watching him. His shortcomings are seen.

Many of these drivers are people who are looking for the good and the remiss in our young folks. They judge the patrol boys.

A typical example is that of a Pontiac industrialist who a few years ago came in Oakland Avenue and drove past the Wisner school each morning.

He became impressed with the good work of a patrol boy on duty there. He watched other boys on similar jobs. This one lad seemed outstanding.

Morning after morning he could single out this particular boy.

He then sought him out and found that he was one of a family of humble means, with no resources to send their children further than the local schools.

That boy is now in college, his higher education financed by that industrialist. And he's assured of a top job with him when he graduates.

Yes, the safety patrol boys are watching—and being watched.

Africa's Development Vital to the Free World

The new importance of Africa is emphasized by the fact that the State Department now has a Bureau of African Affairs.

As a source of raw materials, the African continent is a tremendous storehouse of vital strategic value to the free world. At the same time, like many other undeveloped areas, it is in social and political ferment.

This country is establishing new diplomatic outposts in such places as Somaliland, the Ivory Coast and Uganda. The U.S. Information Agency will spend 10 per cent more in Africa this fiscal year despite the cut in its appropriations.

Private developers have discovered oil in North Africa and the Congo, now a major source of copper and uranium, is beginning to yield manganese and other valuable minerals. French Guinea and Ghana are being surveyed for economic quantities of bauxite. Everywhere exploring crews are working to discover new sources of useful metals.

Africa is perhaps the richest political and economic prize in the world today. It would be a disaster if its 220 million natives fell under Communist influence. Happily our Government is acting vigorously to help them gain political and economic stability and thereby defeat Communist efforts at encroachment.

Top Notch Industrialist Has Golf Score Like One

The other day at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club,

E. R. Breech,

Chairman of the Board of the Ford Motor Company, played golf with two old friends who happen to be among the nation's best known professionals — Craig Wood and Claude Harmon.

On the first nine, the pros had a 34 and a 35, while industrialist Breech notched a 37 and had both pros goggle eyed.

The law of averages caught up somewhat with the simon pure athlete on the second nine and he came back in 43 which still netted him a respectable 80.

How many men in the world with positions comparable to Breech's in importance can turn in an 80 on the golf course? (Frankly, how many positions in the world are equal to Breech's, anyway?)

And to make it more amazing, the Ford boss doesn't play a lot.

In response to several inquiries, the most urgent of which comes from

of Sylvan Lake, our annual football contest will be announced Friday, with $300 in U.S. Saving Bonds as the prize. Mr. Fulcomer says he came within one game of winning last year, and thinks he has a real "system" this time.

Winning blue ribbons for so many years on his 1903 Ford in old car contests that he has lost all count,

Robert C. Beattie

comes inside information on who will win that Pot-O-Gold. The letter says: "Tell those judges to take heart. For, faith and begorra, 'tis I that's winning as shure, having called the good fairies and lepruchons to help. Shure it's the Irish will win."

"Nothing can beat the old fashioned Bartlett pear," phones

of Waterford, "either for size or quality." And the sample which she afterward delivered weighed three-quarters of a pound—and was so juicy you almost need a life preserver.

What this area now needs more than anything else, according to

Henry Hornstein,

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ostendorf

A Bird in Hand —

Courts Ignoring Rights of States

WASHINGTON — Are we witnessing the beginning of the end of state government in America, and the emergence of a supreme dictatorship over the states by the Federal government in Washington?

LAWRENCE

Does the silence of so many of the governors of the several states about the events of the last 10 days mean that they have already been cowed into submissiveness as their sovereign rights are taken from them by an edict from Washington?

CALLS TROOPS

One governor — in Arkansas — calls out the troops to prevent bloodshed, and immediately the Federal government undertakes to pass judgment upon his motives and his right to maintain order in a sovereign state.

Another governor—in Tennessee—says he must wait until an overt act occurs before he can call out the state troops. Now a school building has been blown up in Nashville. Might not vigilant action in advance have prevented such a tragedy?

If the governor of Arkansas now withdraws the troops and lives are lost, will the Federal government accept the responsibility for impairing the obligation of a state to maintain order within its own borders?

ACTION ARBITRARY

These are questions which have been generated by the arbitrary action of a single Federal official in Little Rock who has taken it upon himself to serve as judge, prosecutor and jury to inquire into the motives and efficiency of the governor of the state of Arkansas.

The Department of Justice in Washington, at the direction of and with the approval of the President, has helped to prepare an injunction which conceivably can prevent the governor of Arkansas from performing the duties of his office.

This means that the representative or republican system of government in one of the sovereign states would be suspended by the order of a Federal judge.

DEFIES CONSTITUTION

Never before in American history has the Constitution been so flagrantly defied and disregarded by the executive. Article IV says: "The United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union a republican form of government."

When the words "United States" are used in the Constitution, it means the executive branch of the Federal government.

When the words "republican form of government" are used, it means that the people of Arkansas have the right to self-government —to expect the help when asked, and not the hindrance, of Federal authorities in the course of the operations of the state government.

The issue raised in the Arkansas case is whether the governor, in calling out the state militia to prevent bloodshed, is acting in good faith. But even assuming that his judgment is open to question, where does a Federal judge get the right to try a state governor in a Federal court for malfeasance —for failure to do his duty?

There are lots of people who say offhand that, when there is a conflict between state authority and "Federal law," the power of the government at Washington must prevail. But there is no "Federal law" involved here. No law has been passed by Congress on the subject of "integration."

Actually, the Federal court order banning "segregation" has been respected in at least three localities in Arkansas, with the cooperation of the governor himself. So he insists that the issue is not "integration," but the preservation of order.

If these complex questions related to "integration" can be handled by court order and without legislation by Congress, then it makes many observers here wonder why Congress felt it necessary last month to pass a law to assure voting rights to Negroes, instead of letting the Federal courts issue injunctions against local officials of the states who interfered with the registration of Negro voters.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Alpine People Live to 100, Healthy the Natural Way

The Loetschental Valley in Switzerland is high in the Alps and relatively inaccessible. The population of the valley is around 2,200. The summer is short, but long enough to provide a crop of grass, greens and vegetables. The people live on milk, cheese, butter, whole grains, eggs and meat.

DR. BRADY

This Swiss valley, while supporting a rich and prosperous population, has never had a doctor or dentist. There has been no need for either. The expected life period is around in the 80's and 90's. Deficiency diseases as we know them simply do not exist.

These observations on Loetschental Valley were made by Dr. Quigley in his text, "The National Malnutrition." I repeat it because it sounds almost like a fantasy—a Shangri-la.

Yet we too, here in prosperous America, could be living under similar conditions if we would only realize that we have dietary as well as monetary needs to fulfill.

Modern milling has robbed food, such as flour, of most of its valuable ingredients. The sweetness of fruits was acceptable and valuable to our ancestors, but chemistry concentrated the sweetness and cheapened it so that sugar became a universal food.

VITAL QUESTION

Thus the question today is — what elements do the people of Loetschental Valley obtain which are lacking from our modern-day diet, and where can they be found?

The complete question of dietary supplementation is discussed and set forth in a free pamphlet entitled "Wheat to Eat." For a copy, send stamped, self-addressed envelope. After following the rules set forth, you too may someday enjoy at least some of the benefits which people of Loetschental Valley enjoy.

Dr. Quigley found that the diet of growing boys and girls in the Loetschental Valley consisted largely of whole rye bread and summer-made cheese, eaten with fresh milk of goats or cows. They had meat about once a week. The average mineral and vitamin intake from this diet would far exceed that of average American child.

On this diet the boys and girls had teeth that would make the teeth of the average American boy or girl look poor indeed. It was necessary to examine three persons to find one defective temporary or permanent tooth — the children examined were from 7 to 16 years of age.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Postmaster Asks Parents to Help Prevent Accidents

Parents, please help us. Today at noon, Sept. 6, for the second time this year, the Pontiac Post Office employes spent anxious moments of deep worry and concern, waiting to hear the Pontiac General Hospital emergency ward say, "The little child will be all right." We feel that only an act of God has saved these children from injury and the parents untold anguish.

Our carriers driving trucks count the children as they approach them and count them again when they pull away. And so, parents, please help us. Do not allow your children to pick up the mail until the red, white and blue truck has passed. The carrier makes over 500 stops daily, so please help him to help you. He loves your children, too.

In this case the child ran to the mailbox to get the mail just as the driver was pulling away. She slid under the rear wheel and her leg was run over and not seriously hurt. The driver was unaware of this until stopped by a neighbor farther down the street.

'Made Changes Before Leaving'

After reading the article Friday about the Hamilton Study of Pontiac General and the changes recommended by it, I wondered if many people knew that all the "top hospital officials" except Mr. Flath, the new director, have been there for some time. They were all hired by Miss Paul at the recommendation of the Hamilton Study and two of them have been at the hospital for a year now, the other two both worked at their present jobs when she was fired. These changes have not been made since Miss Paul was asked to leave, as the hospital board would like people to think.

Why doesn't the board give credit where it's due? Our hospital will go forward and become one of the best, but a little credit should go to the former director, who obviously tried to carry out recommendations, but wasn't allowed to stay even until the end of the trial period that was recommended by the Study, for which the board paid $5,707. How long a trial period does the board get?

Wondering

'Why Are Roads So Bad Here?'

My dad scraped roads in the horse and buggy days, and they were smooth roads. Today in our modern days the side roads in Oakland County are worse than riding in the ditches. Ten miles an hour is the fastest you can go unless you want to pay the garage man $3 and more an hour to repair your car.

What's the trouble? Not enough taxes? Too many coffee breaks, cigarette breaks and card games? I wish a committee would investigate.

Says Faubus Does What People Want

What many people overlook in the Little Rock school situation is that Gov. Faubus is doing just what the people of Arkansas want, not what the Supreme Court wants. The United States government is supposed to be government by the people, for the people and so on. So why not put th controversy to a vote of the people. If this were done, there would be no question what the majority of citizens want.

Three Answer About Manners

Women are really "better behaved" than men in public, but a few are very emotional and they give us all a name we don't deserve. These few should wake up and learn self control.

Min and Lin

Women are really more rude to sales people than men. Any salesgirl who has a busy job will bear me out. Men aren't as haughty and condescending.

20 Years Selling

Men have much worse manners in public. They talk louder, more often and leer at passing women if they want to. Women don't flirt openly and brazenly like men. Let's give women their full due. They're better mannered and better behaved and have finer sensibilities.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Don't Let Auto Wreck Marriage

Dr. Haddock's idea merits nationwide attention. For automobiles wreck thousands of happy homes every year stating the 40,000 death rate in 1956 is not as effective a deterrent as personalized warnings like those cities below. So . . . with your parting kiss, repeat Dr. Haddock's prescription!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-387: Ardella aged about 44, is the dynamic wife of Dr. Sam H. Haddock, popular pediatrician at Anderson, South Carolina. She is a former nurse who still bubbles over with energy and enthusiasm for living, although she has three grown children.

DR. CRANE

"Whenever she starts out for Atlanta in the car," her husband informed us at the dinner table recently, "I warn her about careful driving.

"But I personalize my advice, for I say: "Ardella, if you don't want me to have a second wife, then keep your eyes on that speedometer."

"She laughs but I think it exerts a desirable effect. At least, I hope so," and he grinned across the table at Ardella.

AUTOS WRECK MARRIAGES

Dr. Haddock's clever suggestion deserves widespread imitation. All of us husbands should duplicate it.

For the family car wrecks thousands of happy marriages every year: In 1956, for example, over 40,000 people were killed on the public highways of America. Thousands of them were married folks:

And more than 1,000,000 others were injured, some so seriously that they are permanent cripples and unable to hold a job.

Dr. Haddock's good psychology in personalizing the hazards of automobile driving thus merits nationwide attention.

In a somewhat similar vein, some of our states erect white crosses at the roadside to indicate the number of persons who have been killed at such spots in auto wrecks.

And those white crosses tend to make people think. At least, for the next few moments the drivers may slow down or be more watchful.

But even the white crosses are not as personalized as the thought that one's mate may be left a widow or widower, to remarry possibly in the next year as a result of our careless driving.

WHY AUTO WRECKS OCCUR

Our National Safety Council has often warned us that as high as 90 per cent of auto wrecks occur because of defects in the "nut" at the steering wheel, instead of poor brakes, defective headlights or other mechanical flaws under the hood:

★ ★ ★

Many radio announcers and disc jockeys insert warnings to auto drivers. I'd suggest that they occasionally vary their verbal advice.

Instead, let the sound effects man produce the screeching of brakes and the crash of an auto collision.

Then the announcer could come in and tersely report the death toll. He wouldn't need say anything further.

We also need to remind auto drivers of specific dangerous situations which they will confront every day. This is the "case method" in education.

When five or six passenger cars are held up behnd a slow truck, we need to ask:

"Are you a thoughtless kid who tries to pass the entire line, or are you the safe driver who waits for

★ ★ ★

Auto designers should also add more warning devices that flash red lights on the dashboard and that also sound alarm bells when we exceed certain speeds, for modern cars are now so noiseless it is possible to be doing 70 or 80 miles per hour without realiizing that fact.

And NEVER drink even one bottle of beer if you are taking the wheel of a motor car, for liquor makes you euphoric (greater chance-taker).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send pamphlets.

Ghost Town Bought by Firm

Paper Company Buys Fayette at Auction Held by Internal Revenue

ESCANABA (AP) — The ghost town of Fayette on the Garden Peninsula in Delta County was sold today to the Escanaba Paper Co., at an auction conducted by the Internal Revenue Service.

The paper company said it will offer the 95-acre area to the Michigan Department of Conservation in exchange for forest land. The Conservation Department has long sought the land for a state park.

The property was owned by Miss Gladys Edwards of Detroit and Ottawa. It was auctioned to satisfy in part a debt of $182,000 owed by Miss Edwards in income tax, the revenue service said.

The paper company bid $11,000 for the property. Total cost will be $30,879, including payment of a first mortgage and back real estate taxes.

The only other bidder was Mrs. J. R. Williams of Eaton, Ohio who offered $10,600.

J. D. Stephansky of Lansing, assistant chief of the land division of the Conservation Department, said the conservation commission has given informal approval to the proposed exchange of land with the Escanaba Paper Co.

The Conservation Department has placed Fayette high on its proposed park sites. It had recommended purchase by the sate legislature.

Miss Edwards has one year to redeem the property by payment of the bid price plus 20 per cent interest.

Decide to Drop Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Composer-arranger Les Baxter and his wife, Patricia, have decided to kiss and make up. She filed a divorce suit in nearby Santa Monica, but the couple announced later it had been withdrawn. Baxter, 35, and his 26-year-old wife were married here in 1951.

Admiral, Chiang Meet

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Adm. Felix B. Stump, U. S. commander in the Pacific, had a talk today with President Chiang Kai-shek, the second since his arrival Tuesday. Nothing was disclosed as to what took place. The talks presumably related to cooperation under the mutual defense treaty.

No Danger From A-Reactors

AEC Assures Mayors

NEW YORK (INS) — The Atomic Energy Commission assured the nation's mayors today that Americans will not be "harmed or endangered in any way" by atomic power reactors.

Harold S. Vance, a member of the AEC, said the chief danger from operation of atomic reactors comes from the radioactive by-products, such as plutonium.

But he said "so long as the by-products of fission remain enclosed in the clad fuel elements, or even inside the reactor . . . it is obvious that there can be no danger to the public."

★ ★ ★

Vance described to the U. S. Conference of Mayors the three layers of construction of a reactor, and said the only way radioactive particles could escape would be for a breach to develop in each of the three shells.

He added: "It is theoretically possible that breaching could occur . . . (but it is) so remote as to be for all practical purposes non-existent."

Vance also assured the mayors that reactors used for the production of power "are so constituted that they cannot under any circumstances produce a bomb-like explosion."

★ ★ ★

He said there is a possibility of "chemical explosion" but this is taken into account in calculating the necessary resistance factors for the reactor, just as in a high-pressure steam boiler.

★ ★ ★

The AEC member pointed out that the commission has operated reactors for a total of more than 100 reactor years without a single fatality or even injury to operating personnel or the public "on account of the escape of fission by-products outside of reactor containments."

Pleads Innocent to Manslaughter

Harold Frye, 35, of 1483 W. Julia St., was arraigned by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams on a manslaughter charge. Frye was continued free under $300 bond until trial.

He is charged with driving his car on the wrong side of the street in a July 15 head-on collision which took the life of the other driver, Mrs. Richard D. Schultz, 28, of 9510 Portage Trail. Five other passengers with Mrs. Schultz were injured.

Prosecution of the charge against Frye was delayed until his recovery from chest and head injuries suffered in the accident.

Assorted Crew to Tour World

Film Producer Wants to See Earth Through Many Eyes

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If it takes all kinds of people to make a world, it should take all kinds to tell about one.

★ ★ ★

This reasoning has led film producer Stuart V. Jewell to plan one of the season's more off-beat hops around Mother Earth.

He's getting ready to circle the planet with a salesman, an engineer, a doctor, a musician, an architect, a sportsman and possibly representatives of other occupations.

Why?

"When a man goes traveling," Jewell says, "he thinks in terms of his own interest. A doctor looks at people and thinks of their health. An architect looks at buildings."

So Jewell is going to take them along to get their specialized observations for a new television travel series.

"We will look at the world through their eyes," he said in an interview yesterday.

Jewell says he'll make a series of 26 half-hour television shows in color. For several years he has been making travel and nature films, working as an independent contractor. "I shot over half of Walt Disney's 'Secrets of Life' and a considerable amount of the 'Living Desert' film," he said.

Jewell, 40, and his partner Clyde (Sandy) Young, 32, are now searching for the various occupational representatives they will take along as fellow adventurers in a converted World War II Catalina amphibian plane.

Each one chosen will be required to pay $7,000 to help cover the expenses of making the TV series and the 60-day trip around the world. Jewell said this will make them investors in the project, and entitled to share whatever profits may develop.

They hope to leave on the expedition in about two months.

Jewell said places where they will make episodes include India, Singapore, Indonesia, Australia, Hawaii, Paris, Rome, Borneo and Egypt.

Keeps Remarks Brief

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The program for a big meeting of farmers here listed Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-NC) for "brief remarks." When his turn came Scott said: "I'm probably more happy to see you here today than you are to see me." Then he sat down.

Doesn't Kiss His Wife

DALLAS (AP)—Manoucher Shoja, a bridegroom of three weeks, didn't kiss his new wife yesterday when he greeted her for the first time in five months. But it wasn't for lack of affection. Kissing, said Shojai, a native of Tehran, Iran, is not a Moslem custom. Shojai and his bride were married by proxy.

Hearing Set Tonight on Waterford Zoning

There will be a hearing at the Waterford Township hall at 7:30 tonight regarding the rezoning of two more parcels of township land, from residential to commercial.

The township zoning board has recommended rezoning approximately five acres on the north side of Watkins Lake road at the intersection of Scott Lake road. This plot is across from the LaSalle Park subdivision.

The second recommendation is 200 feet on Walton Blvd., and 150 in depth on Clintonville road, across from the Waterford Township Board of Education office.

Residents may voice their approval or disapproval before the board.

Daily Worker Reports Red Ranks Declining

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Communist party is in decline, the editor of the Daily Worker said today.

In an article prepared for today's edition of the party paper, editor John Gates said the recent resignation of foreign editor Joseph Clark was "another sign of the continued decline."

Gates said the party lost 45 per cent of its members in the past year. Clark had said the membership has declined by at least 7,000 from the 17,000 members reported last year.

Gates' article nominally is a reply to Clark's resignation statement in yesterday's Worker. Clark quit the party after 28 years.

★ ★ ★

Gates said Clark resigned because he felt he could no longer serve the cause of socialism effectively in the party and on the Worker.

Tito-Gomulka Talks Started

Hold First Conference in Nearly a Decade; Expect Closer Ties

By BORIS BOSKOVIC

BELGRADE (AP)—President Tito today open their first political talks in nearly a decade.

Discussions between Tito and Communist boss Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland — the two chief advocates of an independent brand of communism — are expected to result in closer ties between their countries.

The long-heralded meeting between Tito and Gomulka got off to an amicable start yesterday.

Tito pledged his support of Poland's western frontier on a line incorporating part of Eastern Germany. This was one prime objective of the Polish leaders' visit.

Tito spoke at a luncheon shortly after Gomulka, Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz and other Polish officers arrived.

"Starting from the right of the Polish people, as well as the Security of Europe and the interests of peace in this part of the world, we consider the Polish German frontier on Oder-Neisse the only and lasting solution," Tito declared.

The line of the Oder and Neisse rivers was set up by the Soviet Union as the Polish-German border after World War II. The Western powers and West Germany consider the boundary only temporary.

While closer economic and political ties between the two countries are expected to result from the talks, Yugoslav quarters foresee no formal treaty of mutual assistance.

Poland ended relations with Yugoslavia after the Tito government was expelled from the Cominform in 1948. Gomulka, who opposed the expulsion, afterward was imprisoned as a Titoist for several years.

Fear Conflict of Syria, Israel

Experts Discount War Between Soviet Friend and Arab Neighbors

CAIRO (AP) — Veteran observers here believe the Syrian-Israeli frontier is the area to watch in the current Middle East crisis.

They discount the possibility of armed conflict between Syria and its Arab neighbors, although they say bad feeling may continue for some time. But there are genuine fears that pressures are building up which may bring some kind of armed clash between Syria and Israel.

They made these points:

1. Shipment of Soviet arms into Syria almost certainly will create uneasiness in Israel, particularly if new arms are concentrated in the tense Lake Huleh region near the Israeli border. There are fears Israel may be lured ito throwing a punch in a preventive war aimed at knocking out the Soviet-made equipment before the Syrians can prepare for an attack.

2. The Syrians themselves probably would like to see Arab interest again focused on the Israeli frontier. Nothing would restore the shattered Arab front more quickly than a new crisis with Israel. Despite their family disputes, all Arab states still tend to close ranks when the Palestine question is raised. Some Arabs lately have complained the United States is exaggerating developments in Syria to divert Arab attention from Israel.

3. The Syrian-Israeli frontier has been the most sensitive of all Israeli-Arab fronts in the past few months. Quarrels over the Lake Huleh demilitarized zone, Israeli fishing rights in the Sea of Galilee and Israeli diversion of River Jordan waters still are unsettled and could touch off a conflict at any time.

4. From Israel's viewpoint, Syria is the most vulnerable Arab state at the moment. Jordan and Lebanon now are receiving help from the United States and Egypt is sitting behind a cordon of U.N. troops.

Of all the prvate cars owned in the U.S., 73 per cent are used for traveling to jobs, conducting business or doing the daily farm chores.

Rock-Throwing Fatal

Queen Must Use U.S. Plane; New Turbojet Untested

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II will have to use an U. S.-made airliner for her trip to the United States and Canada next month. Britain's new turbojet liner won't be ready in time.

★ ★ ★

Indignant London newspapers gave that word to the British public today. They reported any lingering hope that the Queen might be able to fly in Britain's own new Britannia 312 had been dashed by an announcement from the British Oversea Airways Corp.

★ ★ ★

The first 312 is being delivered today, six months behind schedule. This leaves so little time for necessary pioneering commercial flights that there is no longer any thought of using the plane for the Queen's transatlantic flight.

Mention of Little Rock Stops Musical Show

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Singer Fran Warren stopped a show last night when she mentioned Little Rock.

Playing Nellie Forbush in a Long Island summer stock presentation of "South Pacific," Miss Warren followed the script when she was asked where she was from.

"Little Rock," she replied—just as Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II wrote it.

The audience booed so long at mention of the city where a school integration dispute is raging that the show was temporarily stymied.

Luxury Era in U.S.—Yet More Need Help

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — In this "chrome-dipped age," when people are working more for the luxuries of life than for its necessities, a curious phenomenon is taking place.

"Curious," said Gen. Charles Brandon Booth, the senior Samaritan of "Volunteers of America." "Last year the United States hit one of its greatest peaks of prosperity, and that was the year when we volunteers hit a new peak in giving aid.

"Two and a half million people received our help, and that's the greatest number in 61 years."

It's not because the "volunteers" have grown so big and plump and wealthy that they now give more physical and psychological boosts to the underprivileged, either. General Booth smiles wistfully at the thought.

"It's because when people are in the money, they lose consciousness of the altruistic values they held when life was not so easy. When you have money, you think in terms of making more.

"Last year there were 33 million women in the U.S. working outside their homes," says Booth. "If they were working for the essentials, I'd say great—very admirable. But these women were working for the luxuries, to make their homes 'better.'"

It was an altogether false premise. Adults with more material luxuries often breed families with more spiritual poverty.

This is one mammoth reason why untended, delinquent, runaway youths and a growing number of prisoners and their families are calling on the "Volunteers of America," which was founded in 1896 by General Booth's parents, Maud and Ballington, to give "spiritual and material aid to those in need, regardless of race, creed or color."

"I've been giving speeches before every imaginable type audience since I was 18, and that's 51 years," the general went on, "and just lately I've realized there are two types of audiences which are almost exactly alike. The one is a high school student assembly, kids 14 to 18; and the other is an audience of prisoners, all ages, in jail.

"These are the only two groups of humanity I know of that you don't have to tell where they are, and what they're facing—they know. Both are looking toward their graduation, with awe and a sort of fear for the world outside. I give exactly the same speech sometimes to prisoners and students, and it's amazing.

"Their reactions are almost identical, even to where they laugh and what makes them solemn."

The rest of humanity, already swirling about in this confusion called modern living, are mostly too busy conforming to the 1957 format—make more money, spend more money, and hurry up about it—to think as philosophically as kids and convicts.

That's why Booth's organization (the All-American version of the Salvation Army) is so devout about helping students and ex-prisoners get a firm start before the rest of the world is too much with them.

"All men," he says, "are born with a spark of divinity, and it never completely gets snuffed out. But human elements can certainly bury it under a load of immaterial material values!"

Stockpile Excess in Europe

ATHENS (INS) — Europe may soon become a storage bin for some of America's whopping $7 billion worth of farm surpluses.

Congressman Victor L. Anfuso (D) of Brooklyn, N. Y., is currently visiting the NATO countries and investigating this possibility that would relieve Uncle Sam of part of his billion dollars a year storage bill.

In an interview, Anfuso said Greece had agreed to this project in principle and that details would be ironed out by American Aid officials on the spot.

So far, American farm surpluses have been distributed to foreign countries under Public Law 480. This law specifies that the receiving government can sell the goods to wholesalers provided the money thus obtained was used for development projects that would benefit the people.

"I'm only a gentleman farmer from Brooklyn with a flower-pot on my window-sill," Anfuso said, "but I'm a firm believer in price supports. Surpluses are a weapon for peace."

The Congressman pointed out that a European country with healthy stockpiles of essential commodities would feel more secure and able to meet any sudden emergency from natural disasters to an ultimate war.

"Continued price supports would ensure a steady income for the American farmer, the surpluses would increase the security of America's allies and the fact that they would be stored by the allies would relieve the American taxpayer of the tremendous storage bill he has to foot every year," Anfuso said.

★ ★ ★

Greece's dry atmosphere makes it ideal for the storage of wheat and edible grains while butter and cheese could be stored in Northern European countries with better facilities and colder climates.

When Antibodies Don't Work
Influenza Epidemic Follows

(This is the last of three articles explaining the causes, the dangers and the treatment of Asian flu.)

By JOSEPH R. MARSHALL
INS Staff Writer

About 20 years before the American Revolution, an epidemic of "American influenza" swept Europe, and an observer in Scotland wrote:

"It was the most universal epidemic I ever saw; and I am persuaded that more people were seized with it than escaped; but it was not at all mortal here."

That description may also apply to the expected spread of Asian influenza in the U.S.A. later this year.

An estimated 17 to 34 million Americans may be toppled into sick beds by the disease that scholars of Florence, Italy, named "influenza" because they thought it came from the "influence" of an unhappy conjunction of the stars.

Their error was understandable. For influenza is caused by viruses and even today biologists are not sure whether viruses are living or non-living.

What they do know is that viruses are infectious agents many times smaller than bacteria and visible only through a powerful electron microscope.

Viruses are of many shapes — rods, spheres, cubes, tadpole — and they are the supreme parasites, able to multiply only inside the cells of the living host. That's you.

Science also is not certain how a virus is transmitted from one person to another, although it is believed it enters the body through the respiratory and/or alimentary tracts.

HOW VIRUS WORKS

The virus invades a living cell and uses the energy and material inside the cell to multiply. The new virus particles move out and attach themselves to other cells and the process is repeated.

These antibodies can work only on virus before they get inside cells in your body.

If antibodies already are present in the individual, or develop fast enough, the virus never gets started. If they develop too slowly, different kinds of virus may cause injury, paralysis or even death.

Vaccines contain properly treated, or killed, virus that engender production of antibodies without themselves causing injury in the body. Thus when the real, untreated virus comes along, it is destroyed by sufficient antibodies.

Then what's the problem with the influenza virus?

Smallpox and polio virus, although perhaps more damaging to the individual, don't change from generation to generation. Thus the antibodies you produced against yesterday's treated virus work against tomorrow's "live" virus.

A VIRUS DIFFERENT

But influenza virus is a changling, often mutating. There are three main groups of influenza virus, A, B and C. The B and C types show little or no tendency to change through mutation.

But the A virus apparently mutates comparatively often, sometimes becoming so different from its main-stream virus that old vaccines and antibodies won't stop it.

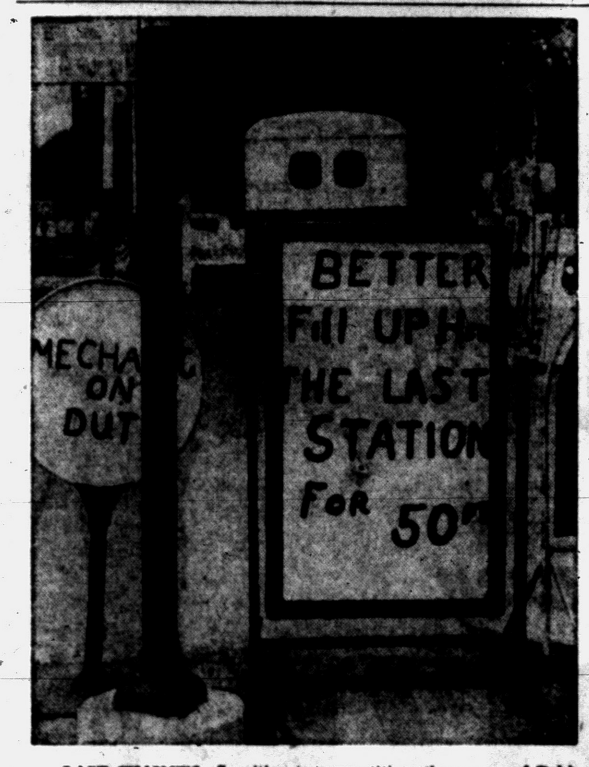

Then you may have an influenza epidemic.

Surgeon-General Leroy E. Burney estimates the vaccine is about 70 per cent effective. A leading medical authority gave this timetable of effectiveness of the vaccine:

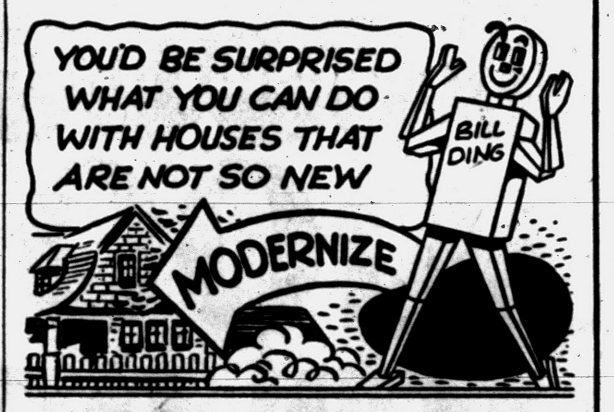

Protection starts to go up a week after the inoculation. The vaccine is most effective in about two weeks. It stays at peak effectiveness for about a month or six weeks. Then the effectiveness declines gradually. The vaccine may protect persons anywhere from two to 12 months from an infection by influenza virus.

Those persons unprotected are in danger most from the germs that may follow the influenza virus. And the seriousness of the fall epidemic may be determined by just how badly the flu virus inflames the lungs, and opens the way to secondary infections.

Hal Boyle Says:

Secretaries Admit They Fib for Bosses

NEW YORK (AP) — Should the ideal secretary be willing to fib for her boss?

"Oh, yes—if they're simply little white lies," said Miss Sheila Ward of Montreal, who is ideal in several ways. "You have to do that to get him off the hook.

★ ★ ★

"But a secretary should never tell one to her boss—that wouldn't be good teamwork — and he shouldn't tell her any. How can she help him if he doesn't tell her the truth?"

Miss Ward, who is 34, blonde, pretty and blue-eyed, last July won an international contest for secretaries sponsored by the Executive Furniture Guild.

She holds a degree in advertising and merchandising from McGill University. She has been a corporal in the Royal Canadian Air Force. She can sing, play the piano and violin. She likes skiing, tennis, and swimming. She is an inventive cook. She can speak and write English and French and can also get along in Norwegian, Danish, German, Italian and Spanish. She can write speeches.

What perhaps makes her even more unusual as a secretary is that she can also type fast and spell well.

"My only trouble," she confessed, "is with the 'ie' words—such as chief, friend and fiend."

Here are a few tips she has for girls who aspire to be ideal secretaries:

"2. Take as much as possible of your boss's work load off his shoulders. You should be able to handle 50 per cent of his routine correspondence without taking dictation.

"3. Stay on good terms with the people you work with.

"4. Leave your personal troubles and grievances at home. Don't bring them to the office."

Miss Ward, who likes to lunch at her desk, says the biggest mistake most secretaries make is that "they are clock watchers and think too often of their paychecks.

"They do exactly what they are paid to do and nothing more," she said.

"I'm afraid also that too many of them abuse the coffee break. A girl goes to the washroom and spends 15 minutes getting herself all rigged up. Then she sits for 30 minutes in the cafeteria, and goes back to the washroom and takes another 15 minutes to repair her face.

What about the mistake made most often by bosses?

"They go away without telling their secretaries where they can be reached," said Sheila. "Some also fail to show proper office courtesy, or neglect to praise a girl for a job well-done. But I have no such problems myself. I have a very nice man to work for."

Miss Ward, who had to be cleared by two government security agencies because of her firm's defense contracts, believes women in business can hold secrets better than men.

"At cocktail parties women can always think of something to talk about besides their work," she said, and added smiling:

"We also don't feel we have to talk big to feel important. Men sometimes do."

Catholics Add 989,834

NEW YORK — There are now 34,563,851 Roman Catholics in the United States, Alaska, and Hawaii, an increase of 989,834 in one year, according to the "Official Catholic Directory for 1957," published by P. J. Kennedy and Sons, New York. It lists four U.S. cardinals, 33 archbishops, and 180 bishops.

Belgian Prince Operated On

Ex-King Leopold Sees Rare Heart Surgery at Boston Center

The 15-year-old boy's father, ex-King Leopold who abdicated in 1951, and mother, Princess Liliane De Rethy, were at the hospital throughout the five-hour-long surgery.

The operation — to excise a constricted part of the main artery carrying blood from the heart — was performed by Dr. Robert E. Gross, who invented the technique. Dr. Gross has performed more than 500 such operations successfully.

The prince was taken to the center Monday afternoon by his parents. Leopold did not remain. The princess did. She spent the night in a room adjoining the one occupied by the boy.

The ailment from which the prince suffered produces high blood pressure in the upper part of the body and low blood pressure in the lower part of the body.

After excision of the narrowed part of the aorta, the ends are sewn together. A hospital spokesman said after the operation patients "live full and normal lives and are not physically handicapped in any way."

The spokesman also said the prince's good physical condition is expected to obviate any complications from the operation.

Eye Ocean Floor Crack as Cause of Tidal Waves

WASHINGTON (INS) — The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey has discovered a 250 to 400-mile long crack in the Pacific Ocean floor believed to be a spawning ground for tidal waves that hit Japan, Hawaii and other Pacific areas.

★ ★ ★

Pinpointing of the giant crack, known technically as a trough, might enable the survey's scientists to detect tidal waves early enough to alert the areas usually hit by these rushing walls of water.

The Hawaiian Islands were battered earlier this year by such a wave, believed to be caused by sudden shifts along the ocean floor.

Rear Adm. H. Arnold Karo, director of the survey, said the crack was located in the Gulf of Alaska some 500 to 700 feet below the sea floor. The ocean varies in depth between 9,000 and 13,000 feet in that area. He estimated the crack was two or three miles wide.

Karo said the crack was discovered by survey ships crossing and making electronic echo-sounding in the gulf.

Make Poor Choice When Picking Foe

LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — Two Laconia teenagers will be a bit more choosy when they pick a fight in the future.

The battered pair appeared in juvenile court — one with a closed eye and swollen cheek — for starting a fight with a Massachusetts boy at an outdoor movie.

U. of D. to Offer Full TV Course

Fr. Steiner Predicts Use 'From Kindergarten On' in Next Five Years

DETROIT (INS) — The Very Rev. Celestine J. Steiner, S. J., President of the University of Detroit, predicts educational television will be used "from kindergarten to college" by 1962.

He spoke yesterday after the first pilot run of the new U. of D. television credit course program over channel 56. He said the university is the first college in the country to offer a complete five subject course and called it "a new horizon" in education.

Fr. Steiner declared TV courses would basically mean lectures "where the student merely listens to a teacher. In this case a million or more persons could "sit in' on a single lecture."

He said use of television is the main solution to the lack of classrooms and qualified teachers.

Fr. Steiner predicted a future with a second television set in every home, which will be used exclusively for educational purposes.

He said the medium has made a radical change in the thinking of educators, who "always assumed the only place education could take place was in a classroom.

"Now with television the campus has been extended to anywhere."

Between 150 and 200 students were expected to sign up for the first semester freshman course to be televised. A control group will be used to evaluate results of the program.

The course includes history, psychology, Spanish, theology and English rhetoric and composition. Students could purchase UHF-VHF TV sets or converters due to a special tuition rate.

Bob Considine Says:

'Po' White Trash' Forms Mob at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (INS) — It is sickening and disheartening to watch the little crowd of town loafers, slattern housewives, old pappy characters and soiled children too young for school which gathers each morning in front of Little Rock Central High.

The decent, well-scrubbed industrious people of the city are nowhere to be seen. They are at their jobs and professions. A tour through any other section of Little Rock presents only the routine sights and sounds of a thriving, middle-sized American town, this one pleasingly dominated by a fine state capitol with a bright gold tip on its white dome.

There is no problem with these people that they are sure cannot be cured " . . . if they just leave us be." You hear that said on all sides. It means, "If the troops would go back to their civilian jobs, if the reporters and photographers would go home, and if Central High was allowed to settle things as other integrated schools in the state have settled things."

INTEGRATION NOT EASY

Integration is not an easy task here. But the misgivings that many are tormented by are not as strong as their deep respect for the law. And so the desegregation of Arkansas' seats of learning continues, and at a faster clip than almost anywhere in the south and along the border states.

★ ★ ★

But the work hasn't broken through to the tight knots of what we used to call po' white trash which assemble at Central High as regularly as if they were attending school. The national guardsmen assigned by the governor to guard against "violence" by turning back the handful of negroes eligible and willing to attend the school, plainly feel it is the better part of valor to "go along" with the characters in the mob. They will hustle away anybody the crowd, in its grazing search for a victim, decides deserves particular abuse. They will not hustle away the trouble-makers within the crowd. "We've got to live with these people after you've gone," a guard said with a shrug today.

TAKES COURAGE

It takes genuine courage for the better elements in the half-comical, half-terrifying crowd to speak up. The other day a young mother who was plainly an intellectual cut above the viper-tongued sisters in attendance made her voice heard above the mumbling and said, to nobody in particular, "I'm as much against integration as anybody else, but this is a legal matter. This is law. Every person should have his rights under the law." She was heckled to tears.

"I don't hate niggers," she wailed in the course of trying to make a point, and she must have by then felt as if she were attempting to swim up Niagara Falls.

"Well, I do!" boomed in a man who loomed over her like a falling building. He was pleased and flattered by the burst of applause he received, and gave off a broken roquefort cheese smile.

The women are worse. They say the things the drab men don't care to say out loud, and they say them with a brazen brassiness, pulling the crowd around them like a protecting cloak. "Are you one of them Rooshian Jews" a rumpled brunet with a dishes-still-in-the-sink look, laughingly asked Dr. Benjamin Fine of the New York Times the other day. It must have been the biggest laugh the crowd had had since their TV sets were repossessed.

"Go home niggah," a huge, middle-aged woman yelled at Alvin Naal, Amsterdam, N. Y., news reporter. "Go back north where you belong." Naal said flatly, "But I'm from Nashville." This sounded pretty sinister to the national guard. They hitched up their guns and escorted the reporter out of the neighborhood.

"Doesn't that sort of thing come under the heading of inciting violence?" a reporter asked Lt. Col. Marion Johnson, the well known local authority on newspaper ethics. Col. Johnson gave it some brooding thought and then explained, "I will not make a statement on that."

The crowd buzzed on, straining to laugh, waiting for something to happen, fearful it would and troubled it wouldn't. The harpies wandered about, seeking some one else to abuse, proud of their power to insult and their gift for making others gloat.

Wild Oil Well Erupts Again Near Hillsdale

HILLSDALE (AP) — A wild oil well that forced evacuation of residents in the nearby Mosherville area when it first blew its top Friday erupted briefly again today.

Trouble shooters brought in when the gusher first blew were able to bring the second eruption quickly under control.

"The well is in a precarious state of balance and it could swing either way," said J. L. Gentry, oil well trouble shooter from Jackson. "There is a great hazard at the present time.

Gentry said oil workers will have to remove the casing to get final control of the well. Workers spread a fire resistant foam over the area to lessen the danger of an explosion when motors were started to pull out the drill point.

Exhaust pipes from equipment engines were extended under water to hold down the danger of a blast. Special mud was forced down the casing and through the pipe break to bring the new gusher in hand.

THEN THE CHANCES ARE THAT YOU HAVE CERUMEN

CERUMEN is the condition brought on by excessive exudation of wax in the ear canal. (Cerumen) can make you hard-of-hearing in two ways: by clogging the canal and keeping sound from ear drums; by coating the vibration-carrying canal linings. This deep-down wax, in addition to making you hard-of-hearing, can cause buzzing, ringing, head noises.

PROVE YOU AREN'T GOING DEAF! Remove those hardened wax accumulations deep in your ear canal with WAX-OUT. London Paper Says Margaret to Marry Soon

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Sketch said today a before-April wedding is in the making for Princess Margaret and socialite Billy Wallace.

The tabloid's report, which was not published in any other London newspaper, went into details on the wedding rumor.

It said close friends of the couple "think the marriage will take place before the princess goes on her West Indies tour next April."

"The wedding would take place at Westminster Abbey," the Sketch went on, "and would be a full state occasion. The princess may be given away by Prince Philip, with Prince Charles as a page and Princess Anne as a bridesmaid."

Wallace, stepson of American author-editor Herbert S. Agar, for years has served as a frequent escort for Margaret. He is 30. Margaret is 27.

Quake in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A light earthquake was felt at 10:04 p.m. last night in the city's Sunset district. No damage was reported. Police said the temblor drew less phone calls than a jet plane's sonic boom felt here last week.

Short Work Week Called Unemployment Answer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The shorter work week is the answer to unemployment, the president of the International Woodworkers of America said.

President Al F. Hartung, opening the annual union convention, called for the AFL-CIO to take "the lead to bring about a short work week by whatever method is necessary. We must not wait until millions more become unemployed."

His union has been hit by unemployment because of a lumber market slump.

Develop New Steel to Resist Air Friction

NEW YORK (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. said it had developed a stainless steel to resist air friction heat.

The new steel, called PH 15-7 MO, will enable planes and missles to fly in air friction heat of 1,000 degrees, hitting speeds of 2,720 miles an hour or four times the speed of sound, Armco said.

(The unofficial speed record holder, the experimental X2 rocket plane, encountered heat of 700 degrees at 2,260 miles an hour. As planes fly faster, heat from air friction robs aircraft materials of their strength).

The PH in PH 15-7 MO stands for precipitation hardening while the rest of the identification means 15 per cent chromium, 7 per cent nickel and a small percentage of molybdenum.

The new steel is made in conventional electric furnaces and rolled on continuous strip mills.

200 Demonstrate After Suspect Confesses to Sex Slaying

LONDON (AP) — Two hundred screaming women battled police today in an effort to seize a scarfaced little factory worker charged with the sex slaying of a 4-year-old girl.

"Turn it over" and "Let's get him out," the women shouted as Derrick Edwardson was driven in a van from a heavily guarded Magistrates' Court on the outskirts of London to a cell in Bixton Prison.

Some dashed past the police cordon and beat with their fists on the sides of the police van where Edwardson lay huddled under a blanket. The women stood shouting and booing as the vehicle drove off.

At a four-minute hearing, Detective Supt. Harold Marshall testified that the slight, 31-year-old Edwardson had confessed to killing little Edwina Taylor.

The crime has inflamed passions in London to a degree almost unparalleled in recent years. She was the 38th child slain in Britain this year and the seventh victim of a sex killer.

Edwina disappeared among lunch-hour crowds outside her home in South London, on Aug. 31. Her battered body was found lying face down in the cellar of Edwardson's house nearby.

After eluding detection for five days, Edwardson walked into a North London police station last night and gave himself up.

County Schools Report Increases in Fall Enrollment

Figures Reveal Rise Is Varied

OXFORD

School enrollment figures for 1957 show the usual gradual increase over the previous year according to Superintendent R. A. Ambrose.

Oxford Area Community Schools registered 1,664 students this week. Grades 7-12 showed a 10 per cent increase with 667 students.

The Lakeville starting time has had to be advanced from 9:00 to 8:30 to meet transportation problems.

AVON

Mrs. Irma Mutter, new principal at Stiles school, reports a total registration of 357 students. The kindergarten has an enrollment of 74, who are attending half day sessions. The next high is 52 in the third and 45 in the fifth grades.

Mrs. Mutter, a sixth grade teacher from Elwood school is replacing Peter Loncharte who is now teaching in Avondale Junior High school.

George Shackelford, principal at Elmwood school, reports an enrollment of 432 students, and expects a total of 450. Mrs. Effa Perks is a new first grade teacher replacing Mrs. Thelma Lucas who is now a teacher in special education.

The lunch program started Monday with Mrs. Florence Broadway and Mrs. Mary Barcome in charge.

Mrs. Doris Pugslet, principal of Stone school, reports an attendance of 185 full time students. Mrs. Violet Gates of Romeo is the new first grade teacher replacing Mrs. Virginia Owen who has been transferred to special education.

CLARKSTON

Clarkston Community Schools showed a substantial increase in enrollment at the close of Friday's session. According to Robert Klingman, assistant superintendent, 2,101 enrolled in the four elementary schools in the district, with a 5 per cent increase expected by the end of the month.

Last year the enrollment for the elementary schools was 1,875 pupils. There are 1050 pupils enrolled in the high school, an increase over last year's enrollment of 906. This includes grades seven through 12.

IMLAY CITY

Enrollment in the Imlay City Community Schools as of Monday shows a 12 per cent increase over the same time last year or a total of 1,181 students.

In the five rural schools there are 144 pupils distributed as follows: White, 32; Sandhill, 28; Black's Corners, 30; Bower, 31; and Erity, 20.

Attending school in town are 949 students in grades kindergarten to 12, an increase of 62 more than last year at this time.

All grades have two sections except kindergarten which has three and the seventh grade, one.

ROCHESTER

The enrollment for the Rochester Community schools, after the second day, is 3,839, representing an increase of 310 students since last June.

Kindergarten classes this year have 437 students and the senior class totals 152 members. The junior class has also increased proportionately with a total of 789, according to Supt. of Schools Donald S. Baldwin.

NORTH BRANCH

The peak enrollment of the North Branch area schools was reached this year with the record-breaking total of 1244 students, as of yesterday.

Total enrollment in the elementary grades, kindergarten through sixth is 752; high school seventh through 12, is 492. New students entering kindergarten this year total 110.

September Rains Help State Crops

LANSING (AP)—September rains have put crops in good condition through most sections of Michigan, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said today.

In all but a few areas, moisture supplies are adequate, the agency said, and farmers now are preparing their land for fall grains in most of the Lower Peninsula.

Farmers growing corn for grain are mainly concerned over the first frost of the season, the report said. About three-fifths of the crop is in the hard dough or dent stage, but several weeks of frost-free weather are needed to bring most of the crop to maturity.

Kasper Still Stirs Up Racial Strife Despite 2 Contempt Convictions

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — John Kasper, arrested for fomenting school integration trouble here just as he was at Clinton a year ago, appears undaunted by two federal contempt convictions — both for stirring up previous racial strife.

His tactics are the same—only the names have been changed to fit the situation. He greeted a front-page editorial in the Nashville Banner that he be run out of town with a characteristic "yellow journalism." He refused any further comment on anything.

He still preaches disregard of constituted authority, hate for "nigras" (never Negroes), hate for Jews (never capitalized in his inflammatory handbills), and contempt for newspapers in general.

Despite his contention that he advocates what he calls "peaceful" resistance to racial integration, a recent handbill distributed by the Tennessee White Citizens Council—whose office is Kasper's hip pocket—declares: "When they put the niggers in school with your kids in September, load your shotgun to defend your wife and home—be prepared for the worst race riots, hangings, anything."

In justice to him, however, it should be noted that he has never been at the actual scene when the violence started. He may have agitated those who became violent — at least, he's always been around to see that the accused made bond—but he has been on the other side of town, out of state, or just out of pocket during the actual violence.

During the big weekend of violence which followed admission of 12 Negroes to Clinton High School, 200 miles east of here, last fall, Kasper was in jail at Knoxville.

U.S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor sentenced him to a year in prison for fomenting that violence, anyhow, on grounds Kasper had violated his permanent injunction against interfering with Clinton High integration. Taylor had ordered Clinton High to integrate, just as Federal Dist. Judge William E. Miller has ordered Nashville first grades to be integrated.

Kasper, 27-year-old Columbia University graduate, again was convicted of violating Taylor's injunction last July, when an all-white jury in Knoxville found him and six Clinton residents guilty of stirring up trouble which arose in November and December. He has appealed the year's sentence to the U.S. Supreme Court, which he has denounced as communistic for banning school segregation in May 1954.

He and the other six are awaiting sentence in the July convictions.

The Tennessee career of the New Jersey-born "rabble rouser"—his own term for himself—began Aug. 25, 1956, two days before Clinton High School was to begin its first year of integrated operation.

It was on that day, a Saturday, that Kasper arrived in Clinton, and started on a house-to-house, door-knocking campaign to arouse sentiment against the integration order. He never before had been in Tennessee prior to his arrival. Clinton—which has an insignificant proportion of Negroes among its 4,000 population—had appeared to be taking the impending race mixing in stride.

He testified later that he slept that first night in his car, which he drove here from Washington, D.C., where he ran a bookstore and consorted with Ezra Pound, racist poet who is confined to a federal mental institution.

The second night, however, he had found a home with a rural family in Clinton, and the third night—a Monday—he held forth on the Anderson County Courthouse square in Clinton with his first anti-integration harangue.

A state charge of inciting to riot was dismissed for lack of evidence. That only made him more confident, and the next night his audience was even larger, his anti-integration speech even bolder. On Wednesday, U.S. marshals served a temporary order to restrain him from interfering with peaceful integration of Clinton High. He was tried before Taylor on Friday and adjudged in criminal contempt of court. That was when he was sentenced to a year in prison.

Thus, he was in jail in Knoxville when rioting broke out that Friday night on the Clinton town square. Subsequently, he was tried in a state court at Clinton on charges of sedition and inciting the riots. But largely on the strength of his lawyer's argument that he could not be responsible when he was not there, he was acquitted.

Meanwhile, Judge Taylor made his injunction permanent and Kasper was rearrested in February on grounds he conspired with the other six—arrested in December—in renewed violence which temporarily closed Clinton High last Dec. 4—at a time when Kasper was out of town. The payoff came at the July trial in Knoxville, when Kasper again was convicted, along with the others, of criminal contempt.

Free on bond while awaiting the outcome of a motion for a new trial, Kasper came to Nashville in August. He attracted, with his now - familiar anti - integration speeches, crowds which at first did not number more than 50 persons. On one occasion, at least, a Negro rhythm band a few blocks away outdrew him.

But, as the hour drew nearer for integration to begin here, his crowds increased, and after 15 Negroes registered for integrated first-grade classes Aug. 27, as many as 150 showed up. He seemed to hold them—as he had his followers in Clinton—spellbound.

While he was in Nashville, significantly, Clinton High began its second year of integrated operation quietly. Eight Negroes enrolled without incident or outward protect.

Nashville now was his headquarters. And, characteristically, Nashville was the scene of his latest arrests.

Actress Kim Novak Returning to Work

That is, she's going to work again.

Miss Novak said yesterday that she decided to go ahead and make "Amongst the Dead" for Paramount for the picture by Columbia, but announced after the loan that she would not report for work. The reason, she said, was that there had been undue delay in the progress of discussions about adjustment of her contract with Columbia.

★ ★ ★

In announcing her change of mind, she said: "After due consideration I have concluded that any contract differences between Columbia and me should not affect Paramount. . . ."

Seeks to Have Clay on Civil Rights Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Smathers (D-Fla) suggested today that President Eisenhower appoint Gen. Lucius D. Clay to the new Civil Rights Commission to represent the Southern viewpoint.

Clay, a native Georgian, is chairman of the board of the Continental Can Co. and a close personal friend and adviser of Eisenhower. Clay served as commander in chief of U.S. forces in Europe and military governor of the American zone in Germany in the postwar period.

Smathers, who heads the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, said in an interview he hopes the South will be represented on the six-man, bipartisan commission to be named under the new civil rights law.

It Might Help Save Their Communities

Once Mighty Plains Indians Planning to Work on Race Relations Program

NEW YORK (AP) — The once-mighty plains Indians, now among the most economically depressed people in the United States, are going to work on a race relations program.

They feel it might help save their communities.

The program, literally named We Shake Hands, is being carried out by the recently formed Midwestern Intertribal Council.

Sponsored by the Assn. on American Indian Affairs, the program is described in the association's current newsletter—a field report by Miss La Verne Madigan executive director, on an intensive study in the plains area.

For the first 10 months the program will concentrate on the areas bordering the reservations where neighborly relations are most greatly needed. Teams from the universities of South Dakota and Nebraska will be sent into the field to measure the effect.

Activities will include establishing branches of League of Women Voters in reservation counties, setting up speakers bureaus, promoting understanding and responsibility in youth groups, establishing a tribal employment officer and assessing and preparing classroom study material about Indians.

★ ★ ★

The Association hopes the We Shake Hands program not only will give Indians and non-Indians a sense of being fellow citizens, but will also give the Indian communities the local non-Indian allies they need in their struggle to survive.

★ ★ ★

The situation is desperate, says the report, which cites among those causing or condoning the breakdown of the Indian communities:

1. The organized cattle interests of the Dakotas and Nebraska, "who are powerful in state and federal politics and candidly covet Indian lands."

2. Some high officials in the Interior Department and its Bureau of Indian Affairs "which will undertake in the Dakotas and Nebraska only programs that assume the communities are as good as dead and should be deserted by the young."

3. Congress, "to the extent it doesn't control the Bureau" by stating the official U. S. policy should be helping tribal communities survive.

The newsletter charges that the Interior Department opposes a point four program for Indians on the grounds its Bureau of Indian Affairs is carrying out a vigorous community development program on the reservation.

A point four program would give technical assistance to raise the Indian communities to the level of health and well being existing among other U. S. communities, the association report says.

The attack upon the Indian communities is beginning to unify the tribal leaders, says the association report. It concludes optimistically: "Although these. . . . programs have scarcely begun, already the Indian leaders. . . are finding they need not stand alone."

Rough Paddling on 5,500-Mile Canoe Trip

GRAND MARAIS (AP) — Four men on a 5,500-mile canoe trip from Denver, Colo., to Old Town, Maine, are running a month behind schedule because of rough weather on the Great Lakes.

The four, traveling in two 16-foot canvas - over - wood canoes, stopped at this town on the shores of Lake Superior for a rest Sunday night.

They are Earl Rickers, 29, of Berkley Calif.; Gerald Hewey, 27, of Cape Elizabeth, Maine; Ed Vestal, 29, and Bengt Soderstrom, 32, both of Aspen, Colo.

In their tour over the South Platte, Missouri, Mississippi and St. Croix Rivers to Lake Superior and on through Lake Huron and the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Rivers, they had hoped to reach Maine by Oct. 18.

The U. S. Coast Guard said weather has cleared over Lake Superior and that the canoeists now hope to reach the Soo by Thursday.

Hurricane Carrie Holding Steady

Storm Indicates Some Weakening; Not Much Change Expected Soon

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Carrie held close to its position, 1,825 miles east-southeast of Miami, today and the U. S. Weather Bureau said the storm showed signs of weakening.

The Weather Bureau's advisory issued at 5 a. m., EST said the weakening was expected to be "temporary" and little over-all change was expected in size or intensity during the following 12 hours.

Future movement of the storm was uncertain, the Weather Bureau said, but Carrie was expected to move toward a northwesterly direction at about five miles an hour.

That would be a slight change in direction from that set for the storm last night.

Forecaster H. W. Davis said if the hurricane completed a turn to the north it would find several hundreds of miles of open water and "that would be the end of it." He emphasized it still was too early to determine the storm's ultimate course.

The latest advisory fixed the central position of the season's third hurricane at Latitude 20.5 north and Longitude 52.4 West. It was stationary, the forecast said.

Ships were warned that Carrie remained a severe hurricane although there was no immediate threat to land.

Highest winds were estimated at 110 miles an hour around the center and gales extended out to 120 miles in the northern semicircle and 75 miles in the southern semicircle.

New Legislation Eases Immigration Restrictions

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower arranged to sign into law today a bill easing many restrictions in the immigration laws. The measure falls short of what he asked.

It is the last of a big batch of mesures sent to Eisenhower's desk in the waning days of the congressional session which ended Aug. 30.

The bill represents a compromise which Senate and House leaders said was the most Congress would approve this year. They spoke of possible efforts to get more far-reaching changes next year.

Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass), whose name the bill bears, had predicted it would lower barriers to admit between 60,000 and 70,000 immigrants, including 20,000 Italians and 4,000 Greeks now excluded. He said he would strive for more changes later.

★ ★ ★

The bill's main provisions would:

1. Revive 18,656 nonquota immigration visas which remained unused and which expired last Dec. 31 with the 1953 Refugee Relief Act.

2. Allow unlimited numbers of adopted orphans up to age 14 to enter the country on a nonquota basis, and waive the present two years residence requirement before they can become citizens.

3. Grant permanent resident to more than 15,000 resident aliens now subject to deportation for having misrepresented their birthplaces when they entered the United States after World War II in the hope of escaping forced repatriation to homelands behind the Iron Curtain.

4. Wipe out the "mortgages" on immigration quotas after World War II when aliens were admitted under the Displaced Persons Act on their numbers charged against their homelands' future immigration quotas.

5. Remove barriers to the immigration of illegitimate children or stepchildren of citizens.

6. Authorize the attorney general to grant permanent residence to highly skilled aliens now in the country on temporary visas, who before July 1 had sought adjustment of their status.

It also would authorize the State and Justice departments to let foreign visitors come into the country without being fingerprinted if their countries provide similar privileges to Americans.

Life Sentence Given for Woman's Murder

DECATUR, Ga. (AP)—A former policeman was sentenced last night to life imprisonment after being convicted of murder in his sweetheart's slaying.

A Superior Court jury returned the verdict against Leslie Eugene Johnson, 29, but recommended mercy. Judge H. O. Hubert Jr. pronounced sentence.

The prosecution had sought the death penalty against Johnson for the June 6 pistol slaying of Mary Helen Lee, 27. Johnson told the jury he couldn't explain why he shot Miss Lee.

Two River Runners Fail in Try to Conquer Gorge

QUESTA, N.M. (AP) — Slowed by treacherous rapids and narrow brushes with death, two Arizona river runners plan to give up their attempts to whip the Rio Grande gorge short of their goal.

Jim Lindsey, 32, and Lou Bettis, 29, Phoenix, Ariz., now plan to leave the rushing river to Arroyo Hondo bridge, 15 miles upstream from the Taos Junction bridge which was the original goal of a 60-mile jaunt down the rapids where five past river runners have died.

The two engineers started into the gorge Sunday eight miles north of the New Mexico state line. They planned to make 20 miles a day. Yesterday they made only five.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Jones of Questa followed the river runners' progress from a pickup truck running along the prairieland at the lip of the gorge. Jones climbed into the gorge to talk with the men when they stopped for the night.

Jones said Lindsey was knocked from the raft yesterday and pulled by the current under a rock. "He managed to claw his way out, but they were both wet clear through," he said.

★ ★ ★

The men are straddling a narrow plywood plank buoyed by three inner-tubes. As the Jones couple watched from the rim, the raft and the men on it were sometimes pulled completely under water.

★ ★ ★

School Integration Comes to South in Spotty Pattern

ATLANTA (AP)—Like sugar lumps in a spatter of rain, public school segregation in the three years since it was held invalid by the U.S. Supreme Court has been dissolving slowly in a spotty pattern toward the heart states of the Deep South.

There is some indication the action, mostly peaceful but marked by occasional violence, may go even more slowly, the deeper south it penetrates.

But of the 17 states which maintained separate schools for white children and Negroes prior to May 17, 1954, only in the seven citadels of traditional racial separation—Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, South Carolina, Mississippi and Virginia—are all public classroom color barriers still intact today.

And in several of them, the practice is under strong legal attack.

Integration has proceeded inward from the border states. White and Negro pupils now sit in the same classrooms in at least some schools in Arkansas, Delaware, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

But the Southern School News reports in its latest edition that while 738 school districts have begun or accomplished desegregation since 1954, there remain 2,300 "biracial districts still tightly segregated." Southern School News is the publication of the Southern Education Reporting Service, a fact-finding agency created to compile information on developments arising from the Supreme Court decree.

Most of those 2,300 districts are, of course, in the Deep South states, but segregation areas also remain in virtually all of the border states, contributing to the spottiness of the over-all picture.

Each of the three new school terms since the Supreme Court said that separation of children in public schools on the basis of race alone is unconstitutional has brought a flareup of disturbances.

Demonstrations hit areas in West Virginia, Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia in 1954. Last year, Clinton, Tenn., Sturgis and Clay, Ky., and Mansfield, Tex., were the trouble spots.

Little Rock, North Little Rock, Ark., and Nashville, Tenn., are the center of attention now.

But less well known have been demonstrations in such places as San Antonio, Tex., Oklahoma City and Tulsa, Okla., Kansas City and St. Louis, Mo., Louisville, Ky., and Ozark, Ark.

Why does violence flare up over integration in some instances, while desegregation goes along so peacefully in others?

Harold Fleming of the Southern Regional Council, an organization devoted to better racial relations, concedes there is no easy answer. He believes however, some contributing factors can be singled out.

The low ratio of Negro population and the cost of maintaining separate schools undoubtedly were factors in integration steps of some smaller systems, says Fleming.

Community climate and proper preparation he credits with aiding smooth integration in other areas. Under community climate, Fleming lists such things as a history of peaceful race relations, previous integration of ministerial or physicians' group, libraries, buses playgrounds and the like.

St. Louis is cited as an example of preparedness. An extensive program was undertaken there, Fleming said, and integration was accomplished with a minimum of incidents.

Courses Offered by Local Unit of AF Reserve

Maj. John Underwood, commander of the local 9613th Air Reserve Squadron, has announced the launching of a long-term specialized training program for squadron members.

★ ★ ★

The program will offer an administration and management course, as well as one in instructor training. Details will be announced during the squadron meeting at the Pontiac Air Reserve Center Thursday at 8.

Underwood said, "We hope that the many Air Force veterans in this area, who are not affiliated with an active squadron, will join the 9613th and take advantage of this program."

"Practically all airmen can be assured of qualifying for pay status while attending these courses. We extend an invitation to all Air Force veterans to attend tonight's meeting," he added.

Course Offered Pontiac Realtors

U. of M. Extension Plan Provides Opportunity for Additional Training

Pontiac realtors and those who have ambitions to enter the field will have the opportunity to obtain additional information and training through an extension course offered by the University of Michigan.

Registration for the course, to be conducted at Pontiac Senior High School, will be held the first class session Oct. 2 at 7 p.m.

The 34 courses offered in the 25 communities participating throughout the state this fall sets an all-time record for the program, according to Charles H. Sill, program supervisor.

Upon successful completion of eight courses, students are awarded certificates in real estate. Approximately 550 certificates have been granted since the program was inaugurated.

All course instruction is under the supervision of the School of Business Administration and all teachers are appointed by the school. Instructors and lecturers are usually realtors, brokers or lawyers.

The program is sponsored by the Office of Vocational Education, State Department of Public Instruction and is giver with the cooperation of the Michigan Real Estate Assoc. and local real estate boards.

Harris to Be Tried in Trailer Death

Harris was freed until trial under $300 bond continued by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams. The accused man had stood mute to a second-degree murder charge.

Harris is accused of shooting Hicks once in the back as the victim and two companions arrived by car at Harris' trailer in the Glenview Trailer Park, 2300 Shimmons Rd., the night of Aug. 26.

Police have quoted Harris as maintaining he shot in self-defense, believing the three men were going to beat him up because of an old grudge.

Winner to Get $2,500 Prize in Pot-O-Gold

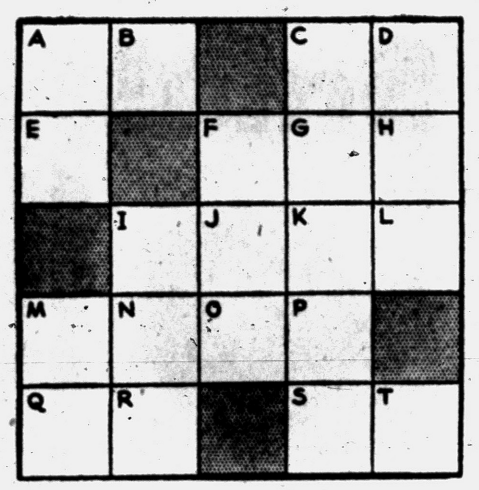

How long can this go on? Another $100 has been added to the Pot-O-Gold coffers, bringing the total to $2,500. With 20,000 entries being mailed weekly, you'd better get busy and give it all you've got. Whoever wins the puzzle now will be well rewarded for his time and efforts.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Junior Editors Quiz on FIREFLIES

ANSWER: Scientists believe the glowing of fireflies is part of an elaborate dating system. They say a boy firefly flashes his light when he sees a girl firefly he'd like to date. If the girl is interested, she flashes back. If not, the boy looks until he finds one who is.

The light comes from a special luminous organ which consists of an outer layer in which the flash is produced and an inner layer which reflects it and thus makes it brighter. A chemical reaction involving luminous bacteria causes the light in the outer layer.

Fireflies are common in most areas of the world. On warm summer nights they may be seen flashing their lights over woodlands and meadows and near lakes and streams.

★ ★ ★

On Soviet Brutality in Hungary

May Appeal to Kremlin

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

In 1953, moon-faced and smiling Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand let it be known that he wouldn't mind capping his diplomatic career with a stint as president of the U.N. General Assembly.

★ ★ ★

When he finally got his crack at the job last fall, a lesser man might have wondered whether it was worth the wait. For the now 66-year-old prince took office just in time to be met by the crises in Hungary and Suez which plunged the multi-nation group into lengthy sessions and considerable wrangling.

ENDS TERM

The prince, who is also Thai foreign minister, will be winding up his term as president of the 11th Assembly Tuesday when the group convenes in a special session to discuss the Soviet repression of Hungary.

But that retirement apparently will be put off again, for yesterday Wan was proposed by the Western Big Three as a special U.N. representative on the Hungarian problem.

His first job would be to go to Moscow and demand of the Kremlin's leaders that they heed the Assembly demands to withdraw their troops from Hungary.

Wan's title is not an honorary one. He is a grandson of the same king of Siam whose life provided the basis for the hit musical and movie, "The King and I."

As a member of the royal family, young Wan had a choice of serving his country as a soldier or a diplomat. He chose the latter and in 1917, after schooling in Paris and at Oxford, began a career that took him to most major world capitals, the League of Nations, and in 1947 to the U.N.

Wan's reputation for even temper and pleasantly firm manner was one reason why he was chosen in 1954 to be one of the three rotating chairmen of the Geneva Conference on Korea. His co-equals were Sir Anthony Eden and V. M. Molotov.

Prince Wan never got around to seeing the rather fanciful version of his royal ancestor's career on Broadway, but the show did make him a center of attraction for visitors to U.N. headquarters.

In the musical, the king is shaven bald. Prince Wan wears his heavy, black, scarcely graying hair slicked down. One lady visitor was bold enough to ask if he wore a wig. Drawing on his diplomatic talents, Wan replied:

"The name I wear is that of my father and grandfather. The hair is my own."

Lease New Post Office for Mount Clemens

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield announced his department has contracted to lease a new and completely modern post office at Mount Clemens, Mich.

The structure, to be ready for occupancy in about one year, will be built and rented by Post Realty Co. of Milwaukee, Wis.

The building will be on South Gratiot Ave., between Cherry and Robertson streets. It will consist of one floor and a mezzanine of fireproof masonry with a modern open-counter interior.

THE PONTIAC PRESS

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1957 PONTIAC, MICHIGAN TWENTY-THREE

Cochairman of 1957 Hi-Fever Follies, Mrs. Forest R. Wood of South Tilden avenue, talks with Mrs. W. Fred Fuller of Cass Lake, of the program committee, and Byron L. Cole of Sylvan Shores drive, who is in charge of program layout.

Committees Mapping Out Plans to Stage '57 High Fever Follies

Shirley Dovre, who is handling entertainment for the Hi-Fever Follies Kick-off Party, which will take place Sept. 25 in the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building, discusses some final arrangements with James Corbett, who is serving on the finance committee; Mrs. Lavon Ryden, music chairman; Ralph Merkovitz, program advertising chairman, and Mrs. John J. Sellman, chairman of the papoose contest.

Coeds Raid Old Trunks

Attics Hold Wealth of 'Latest' Fashions

Don't let it throw you. Just get permission from Ma, Grandma or Aunt Tillie to dig through the attic and cellar trunks. Be sure you have a search warrant because after the owners see some of the buried treasures they may want 'em back.

Everything from old-fashioned daguerrotypes set in plush frames to shawls that once graced a piano have been carted to dormitories by young moderns.

NOT TOO DIFFERENT

You'll find the modern middy blouse is not cut too differently from the one Mom wore in her heyday. Sweaters are of that cut too, worn over pleated skirts.

New glamor-gams resemble leotards. There are bright colored or striped stockings that cover the entire leg, with feet in them to boot. These are worn with shorts. Knee-high socks are still around, though. Tweedy colors are popular in skirts.

Blue jeans have hit the dust. (Smart school girls will pack them away for their daughters to wear 20 years hence.) The daytime look is definitely a baggy picture, but the evening is all dress-up.

FITTED WAISTLINE

Younger teens and short girls still adore the dress with the fitted waistline and full skirt. Dress-up shoes are of Italian inspiration with pointed toe and heel although ballet-type shoes are still worn, particularly popular with tall girls.

★ ★ ★

Everyone is made for costume jewelry, it seems, and the bigger, the better. Heraldic medals are worn on long chains around the neck. Ditto the Maltese cross in bright-colored enamel.

Hair is worn either short or in a pony-tail. Girls who've been wearing it short seem to have switched to the pony-tail, and vice versa. But there are no long, stringy hairdos.

★ ★ ★

You can't tell a permanent wave from a natural curl, these days. There are no more kinky tell-tale strands that give the hair corkscrew curls.

MARCELENE GARDZINSKI

Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Gardzinski of Bloomfield Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Marcelene, to James A. Slattery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Slattery of Hillman. The prospective bridegroom is a student at Michigan College of Mining and Technology. The couple will be wed Nov. 23.

Trabajamas Elect Officers, Plan Banquet

Sharon Daniels was elected president of Trabajamas Club and Jeanne Johnson was named to fill the vice presidential duties. Sherrie Everett is to be corresponding secretary while Priss Runnels is recording secretary and Judy Dunham, treasurer.

Taking the office of chaplain will be Marie Comos; Muriel Upton, publicity; Marge Crowder, historian; Terry Fotino and Sherrie Norman, sergeants-at-arms.

Old Mill Tavern will be the setting for the member-elect banquet to be held this evening. New members-elect are Karen Cordingly, Judi Johnson, Gerry Frady, Judy Wagner, Lynn Thompson, Kay Slater, Joan Humphrey, Kay Swenson, Jovita Benavides and Sandra Stein.

Dr. Rutsky Speaks to Club

Mrs. Ottis Brookshear, vice president of General Motors Truck Girls' Club, introduced Dr. Julius Rutzky, director of clinical laboratory at St. Joseph Hospital, who spoke on improved medication in leukemia treatment.

Comedy to Open Theater Season

Township Players of West Bloomfield will open the season with the comedy "Wake Up, Darling." Rehearsals are in progress for performances scheduled Oct. 17 through 19.

Selected to direct the play was Mrs. Muriel Donegan of Middlebelt road. Other area residents participating in the performance will be Mrs. Phyllis Parlin, Howard DeHaven, Mrs. Dorothy McArthur, Joseph Gallivan, Mrs. JoAnne Radcliffe, Jack Radcliffe, Russell Kock and Mrs. Blanche Apley.

This dress, suitable for daytime into evening wear, is of sheer wool and has a matching jacket with ranch mink collar.

Woman's Club Plans Luncheon

Mrs. C. W. Myers, president of Pontiac Woman's Club, entertained officers of the club at her home on Shimmons road Tuesday. Plans were made for a Monday club luncheon to be held at Cromaine Hall, Waldon Woods. Mrs. Harry Chapman is chairman and Mrs. George Chrissman is in charge of transportation.

Plans were also made for an October tea in the Wisner Home, with former Congressman George A. Dondero scheduled to be the speaker.

Make Time to Develop Interests

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"If I only had the time," people frequently tell me, "I would develop some kind of hobby or talent so that when I'm retired I'll have something to do. But it's impossible to find time right now."

★ ★ ★

And so they go about their busy lives. But when the day finally comes, they have all the time in the world but no interest to fill it with!

It's a little like food, really.

YOU FIND ROOM

Have you ever finished a nice big dinner and thought, I'll never want to eat again, I have no room.

★ ★ ★

Then a friend comes in with some delicious cookies or candy, and you find you have room, all right.

Well, it's the same with time. You haven't got a minute, not any time at all, but let something fascinating come along and you'll find you have plenty of time.

As a matter of fact, it pays sometimes to put the horse of interest before the cart of time.

That's what Lucy did.

"I kept saying I wish I had time," Lucy writes, "and I kept reminding myself that some day the children will be grown — they're in their teens now.

"But try though I would, there wasn't a minute in the day for myself. I analyzed and tried to figure short cuts, but still there was no way to squeeze in even a half-hour.

"Then one day we received an invitation to spend a weekend with friends. The wife had a kiln and some clay, and was making ceramics.

"I had never seen it done before," Lucy continues, "and was absolutely fascinated. She made such lovely things.

"I asked if I could try. My first piece was pretty pathetic, of course, but how fascinating it was! I went home from that weekend a new woman, determined to learn to make ceramics.

"Well, our local adult education program gave a course in it, which I had never known before. And sure enough, I found the time to go to a three-hour class once a week.

"But that was only the beginning. I got a lot of books on the subject and read them all, fascinated.

"I found myself racing through the details of the housework with more efficiency and speed than ever before. The house is just as clean and the food just as good — but it takes half the time!

"Now I'm getting good at ceramics, and it's becoming a full-fledged hobby. But where the time has come from, I honestly couldn't tell you!"

If you "haven't any time," perhaps you'd better try to find an interest first. For help in that direction, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll send you, "Pointers to Finding Your Basic Interest."

MRS. MITCHELL SAVAS

Sunday afternoon Cleo Pantel and Mitchell Savas were married in St. George Greek Orthodox Church. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pantel are the bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Savas are the bridegroom's parents.

Cleo Pantel Says Vows in St. George Ceremony

Palms and fuji chrysanthemums banked the altar of St. George Greek Orthodox Church Sunday afternoon for the wedding of Cleo Pantel and Mitchell Savas. The Rev. Achilles A. Siagris performed the ceremony before 300 witnesses.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pantel of East Pike street, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Savas of Chippewa road.

GOWNED IN SILK

The bride wore a pearl luster silk peau de soie gown blended with Alencon lace. The empire bodice was frosted with sprays of pearls and iridescent paillettes outlining in petal motif the bateau decolletage and bracelet-length sleeves. The extremely full skirt belled from the shaped midriff, spreading into a court train.

Her tiered veil was gathered to a princess cap of jeweled lace and she carried a nosegay arrangement of stephanotis with white and pink roses and ivy.

A cousin of the bride, Mrs. Sam Savas, served as the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Rouni Savas, a sister of the bridegroom, Irene Pantel of Middletown, Ohio, and Sophie Pantel of Detroit.

They were gowned alike in beige peau de soie. They wore crowns with tiny veils of beige illusion and carried arrangements of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums. Debbie Jo Puertas served as her cousin's flower girl.

ATTEND BRIDEGROOM

Zack Athanas was best man and Tom Rafaill of Detroit was the cumpari. Serving as ushers were Sam Gabriel, Alex Savedes of Detroit and Chris Savas of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Savas chose a blue-gray silk organza gown with pearl and rhinestone appliqués, pearl gray accessories and a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

Before leaving on a trip to Cape Cod the new Mrs. Savas changed to a gray suit with black accessories. The couple will live in East Lansing where the bridegroom attends MSU.

It's Smart to Appear in the Black

PARIS (INS) — It's terribly smart—and safe—to be in the black.

★ ★ ★

Don't be afraid to turn out all in black, a black dress, black coat with black fur, black shoes, gloves and a black hat. As long as you wear it with some poise it is stunning and most Parisian for winter.

DIOR 'BLACK LIST'

Dior has several smart outfits on his "black list," sophisticated members in the new waistless style worn even with jet jewelry and a black, plumed hat. The only highlight in this black magic are legs in pale stockings and bright makeup.

★ ★ ★

In case you have a black cocktail or dinner dress with a low-cut neckline try it, for a new look, with jet jewelry. Three or four rows of cut black beads and matching earrings, for example, will give you a new allure.

One of the smartest new furs is black mink. Paris designers use it as trimming on black suits worn with black mink hats.

SUITABLE FABRICS

Shaggy, rough surfaced wool, supple jersey and velvet are more suitable fabrics for a chic all-black look than chiffon, crepe, lace and brocade which gain through colored accessories and luminous jewelry.

★ ★ ★

Ingrid Says Daughter Will Return

Actress Indicates They've Made Up for Keeps

By OLGA CURTIS

PARIS (INS) — A radiant Ingrid Bergman disclosed yesterday that her summer reunion with her 18-year-old daughter, Jenny Ann, had finally healed a bitter six-year breach.

★ ★ ★

"She's coming to see me again next summer," Ingrid announced happily. "She wrote she had a very good time and wants to come back next year."

Ingrid was interviewed as she was preparing for the reopening of her Paris hit play, "Tea and Sympathy."

COMPLETE SUCCESS

This was the first time she indicated that her reconciliation with Jenny Ann was a complete success.

★ ★ ★

At the time, the child told a California divorce court:

"I don't love my mother and I don't ever want to see her again."

For six years, the mother and daughter never met. But Ingrid made it clear they now have reconciled for keeps.

The blonde actress, who was interviewed at her four-room hotel apartment, hinted that another reconciliation may cement her marriage to Rossellini.

His name has been linked for months with Sonali Das Gupta, an Indian model and mother.

MISSES CHILDREN

Ingrid said she longs to get back to her children in Rome but could not return until October because of her play commitment.

★ ★ ★

Asked if Rossellini was returning to Italy from Bombay in October, Miss Bergman smiled: "He may get home before I do."

She refused to comment on Rossellini's reported romance with the Indian woman.

Ingrid said her three small children and a new movie commitment will prevent her from planning a visit to the United States for at least a year.

"I would go to Hollywood if something wonderful comes up," she said. "But I do prefer to work in Europe — my home is here."

★ ★ ★

She confirmed reports she made a film in England for an American movie company. She is co-starring with Cary Grant in Warner Brothers' version of the play, "Kind Sir."

The blue-eyed actress gave only brief answers to most questions because, she explained, "I have to dash to the theater."

SCOFFS AT ROMANCE

She laughed off reports of a romance in the making between Jenny Ann and Franco Rossellini, her husband's 22-year-old nephew who was Jenny Ann's frequent escort during her visit to Europe.

★ ★ ★

"That's all a made-up story," Miss Bergman said. "If you want to know about my daughter's boy friends, ask her."

She was surprised to learn that when Jenny Ann returned to the U.S. her father, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, refused to allow her to speak to newsmen.

★ ★ ★

Miss Bergman said of her ex-husband: "If he didn't want her to talk he must have some reason.

"But she's coming back. She told me so."

Baths Win Battles

More victories for the human race have been won through baths than through battles. More lives have been lost by lack of sanitation and abuse of cleanliness standards than in the wars of centuries.

Even today, disease thrives on ignorance in countries where cleanliness and sanitation are still backward.

Egg Noodles Go High Hat in Casserole

Mrs. Wyman Has Good Alternate to Potatoes With Fish

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Do you occasionally wonder what you can serve in place of potatoes? Mrs. B. J. Wyman serves a noodle pudding as a substitute, especially when she has broiled white fish. We tried this recipe on guests recently and found it well received.

Mrs. Wyman likes to keep up on the doings of her family and enjoys visits from the grandchildren. During the past few years her health has forced her to be less active socially than she would like.

NOODLE PUDDING
By Mrs. B. J. Wyman

1 pound noodles
½ pound creamed cottage cheese
4 eggs beaten
½ pint sour cream
1 cup milk
¼ to ⅓ cup butter or margarine

Cook noodles in boiling salted water for 10 minutes. Drain and rinse with hot water. Mix with the rest of the ingredients. Pour into greased casserole. Bake one hour at 350 degrees or until eggs are set. Serves 6.

Becoming Brother Has Many Advantages

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. P. writes, "I shortly expect a second child. How should I tell our 4-year-old boy? Frankly I've been afraid to tell him. This baby is going to mean a terrible adjustment for him . . ."

The right words will suggest themselves as soon as Mrs. P. knows she's not abusing her little boy by making him a brother — but is doing him the kindest favor.

So let's list the advantages of his coming brotherhood:

1. It will make compliance easier for him.

Someday he'll wish to play with the garden hose. Because his mother has just denied the baby's wish to pull up the zinnias, he'll be better able to take her "No" to his wish for fun with the hose.

Parental restrictions will seem less painful as he discovers they're not special to him but are shared by the second child.

2. It will force him to compromise his wishes.

A brother soon learns that he can sit in the car's front seat going downtown only if he sits in the rear one coming home. Sitting in that rear seat, his wish for the front one compromised, what goes on in him? One of the most important adjustments we have to make — the acceptance of imperfect satisfaction.

GAINS RESPONSIBILITY

3. It will develop his sense of responsibility.

Children in the same family don't tolerate each other's mistakes. Though you are lenient with the son who returns from the store with the wrong-flavored ice cream, his brothers and sisters shriek, "Dopey, can't you do anything right?"

Because they reject babyish behavior in each other so severely, they stimulate the growing-up process in each other.

4. It will encourage him to question our authority.

To mature, all children must find the courage to say "No" to parents. Those with brothers and sisters to support their resistance find it easier to risk our displeasure.

Indeed, studies of the "well-adjusted" children in big families suggest that they get that way from much experience in brother-sister alliances.

Any one of these advantages should be sufficient to enable Mrs. P. to break her news with the liveliest self-satisfaction.

The "inquiring mind" is never satisfied with things as they are. It is always seeking ways to make things better and do things better. It assumes that everything and anything can be improved.

Squaw Dress Steps Out

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The squaw dresses, decorated with rick-rack, metallic banding and braid, are more popular than buttons, bows and ruffles, judging from recent national gatherings of "swing your partners" dancers.

The tiered and tucked skirts of squaw dresses, however, are being revamped to get the prettiest swirl in twirl. From the narrow waistline, skirts graduate to a bouffant 10 or 12 yards at the hemline.

To accentuate the flutter, women wear several petticoats sometimes as many as six—underneath and, usually, the petticoats match the color of the dress.

In adapting the squaw dress to the square dance, women are using varied necklines—scoop, deep Vs, and shirtwaist collars. Most styles, however, have either short or three-quarter-length sleeves.

Latest innovation is zipping the lamb lining out of your sport coat and putting it into a satin trench coat for dressy occasions.

Newcomers Meet

Newcomers Club of Pontiac met for dinner Tuesday evening at Old Mill Tavern. Mrs. Robert Loos and Mrs. Gordon Adams were guests of the group. Prizes were won by Mrs. James Graybiel, Mrs. Joseph Galardi, Mrs. Robert Larson, Mrs. Bernard Woessner and Mrs. Gordon Hayter.

To Attend Funeral

Mrs. Lucile Fitzpatrick of Riverside, Calif., formerly of Pontiac, arrived by plane Monday to attend the funeral of her cousin, William E. Humphrey.

Play Your Cards Wisely in the Game of Courtship

(Editor's Note: Here is the eighth installment in a series of articles condensed from the Dorrance best-seller, "How to Get and Keep a Husband.")

By KATE CONSTANCE

There is nothing wrong with regarding courtship as a sort of game and in playing your cards wisely.

★ ★ ★

As your friendship with a man develops, there are many things you can do to encourage him. Equally, there are actions and habits to avoid if you sincerely want the acquaintance to ripen into marriage.

There are seven main points to remember — as in a bridge hand, your trumps in dealing with men.

1. A man is a hunter and wants to do his own seeking for a mate. He prefers not to be pursued.

2. He has a deep-seated ego for reproduction, which is his vulnerableness to marriage.

3. His natural sexual urge may trip him up into untoward advances. You must know how to deal with his "propositions."

4. He likes to enjoy the benefits of marriage but not eager for its responsibilities.

5. He does not crave marriage when his sexual appetite is satisfied.

6. He envisions his perfect women as half-mate, half-mother, full of love and virtue.

7. He despises the woman who steps down from her higher standards, even for him.

SPECIFIC THINGS

With those principles in mind as general guides in courtship, let's look at some of the specific things that can help or wreck a romance.

★ ★ ★

Telephoning — Allow him to take the initiative in most instances of calling, for a chat or to ask for a date. Only when absolutely necessary should you call him, and never at his place of business except in a real emergency.

Usually the woman who has telephonitis before marriage indulges in it after marriage.

Telephone conversations should be kept short and to the point, even when he is inclined to drag them out. Never reveal very much concerning your romantic feelings over the telephone. Such a conversation, however, can be employed to stimulate curiosity and an aura of excitment.

When He Arrives for the Date — If circumstances permit, arrange for him to enter your home for a few minutes before you leave together for an evening of dining, dancing or other entertainment. This closeup view of your home environment will give him a better understanding of the kind of woman you are.

Be sure to greet him at the door yourself. Maintain an air of composure, even if you are excited. If you are inclined to have romance jitters, try holding a small rough object such as a tiny comb clutched in the palm of your hand so tightly that it hurts. Let him and everyone else present talk.

He might be as nervous as you, so try to achieve an atmosphere of peace and quiet. If time permits, devote a few minutes to seated conversation before starting out.

As for don'ts, remember these:

Don't permit the family to corner him with longwinded conversation or prying questions. A man resents being smothered by a girl's family. Don't giggle, laugh too loudly or talk too much.

Don't start necking or pouring out sugary language. The girl with poise restrains herself and by so doing influences him to restrain himself.

A warm handclasp when he arrives is a special way of exercising charm. Grasp his right hand with your right hand, then lightly drop your left hand over your clasped fingers, as a sort of seal to the touch. This is the clasp of extra-special friends who are discovering a vast new world in their relationship.

Another kind of hand clasp goes with more bouyant moods. When he enters the door extend both your hands and grasp his, swinging them out slightly as you exclaim some phrases of greeting. Thus you reveal a festive frame of mind.

Across the Table — Here is where you can exercise some of your most potent charms. Strive for repose and naturalness. Avoid awkwardness.

If you feel that old date-panic coming on, concentrate hard on your companion until you feel the uneasiness vanish. The worst case of self-consciousness can be overcome by concentrating upon the other person and forgetting yourself.

LOVELY COSTUME

For dining select your wardrobe for loveliness, perhaps displaying your shoulders and arms, but by all means don't wear such a low-cut dress that he will be embarrassed. Give him a chance to look at you and take in your total charm.

Talk only of the things that interest him and let him do most of the talking. Keep your hands off your clothing and hair. If you must adjust them, go to the ladies' room. Don't apply makeup at the table.

Don't flirt with other men across the room, don't order either the most expensive or least expensive items on the menu and don't flop your arms or wave your hands unduly.

When Walking With Him — Make occasion for a walk now and then with your friend. It will provide that magnetic contact contributing to the delights of courtship.

On a stroll a man and woman can be drawn closer together emotionally by their joint feeling that the world is all so big around them and they are so little. The gentle contact that comes during a stroll when you take his arm is a more telling and romantic gesture than the half-embrace of dancing.

Never spoil these walks with a conversation too serious. Don't linger too long at shop windows and bore him with a touch of commercialism.

UNDIVIDED INTEREST

One of the greatest and most subtle compliments you can give a man is your undivided interest while in the presence of other men. Though cordial, treat all other men casually. They really are secondary for the occasion, for your escort has prior claim for the evening. You are enjoying his hospitality, and to give more than incidental attention to other men is gross inconsideration.

With Your Families — Never show a possessive attitude toward him when his mother is around. No matter how understanding she is, she has a right to resent a premature claim on his affections.

A mother might fairly boil at the sight of a girl's emotional grip on her boy. The transition will be made easier for her when the girl becomes a friend of the family as well as a potential member of it.

As for your own family, don't say or do anything that might lead him to think you are hopelessly tied at home.

Many women are single today because they have tied themselves too tightly to their mothers' apron strings. Falsely they claim that their mothers need them when the truth is that they need their mothers to bolster some weakness of their own.

Of course you want him to understand that you are deeply interested in your family. But don't frighten him off with an abnormal attachment. Avoid any indication of a conflicting situation for his future.

Leather Gloves for Fall Now Washable, Ladies!

If you like fine leather gloves—and what woman doesn't—but hold your breath every time you wash them—relax! The time has come to be nonchalant and let them take the plunge—it's guaranteed not to be fatal.

As a matter of fact, red, green, white, black, brown—no matter what the color, nor how delicate the leather, gloves are now unconditionally guaranteed to come out of their sudsy bath with nary a blemish or streak.

The new washbowl skin-divers now carry a guarantee tag unconditionally guaranteeing their washability and color. They are the result of American scientific advances in the tanning of choice glove leathers. All leading manufacturers are now producing these gloves and you'll find an assortment in the new fall colors and distinctive styles at your favorite glove counter.

New colors include pewter gray, nugget gold, holly red, twilight blue, sea moss (a new deep green), sierra (a rich burnt orange), maple sugar, taupe tan and true chestnut brown. Basic colors like black, white and navy are also included.

Highlighting the trend towards new longer-than-short gloves are stylish pull-ons reaching from one to three inches above the wristbone. Designed for wearing with the new shorter sleeves of today's fashion, many of these show chic self-leather trim in the form of button-down tabs at the wrist or across the back, cording applied in geometrical designs or swirls of tiny dressmaker tucks.

Particularly fetching are designs with deep V-shaped, handhemmed vents at the back usually topped with tiny self-leather flattened bows. Others have smartly-shaped cuffs, in self-or contrast-tone, which turn back to achieve a shortie effect and turn down for longer length.

For the woman who still prefers the classically styled glove, devoid of trim or ornamentation, there are smartly cut and tailored shorties, forearm gloves and even formal up-to-the-shoulder lengths to choose from—all of them guaranteed for repeated washings.

Guard Your Posture Day and Night

Everyday Habits Mold Contours

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We mold our contours daily by the physical attitudes we assume. Our lines and contours are drastically influenced by our everyday habits.

If we slump in a chair or over a sewing machine or a desk or an ironing board, we are sure to acquire round shoulders, deep creases in the neck, and fatigue.

If you habitually stand with with your body weight more on one foot than the other, or look down when you walk, or sleep on a big pillow, or carry heavy books under one arm, you are a candidate for a Dowager's Hump and a spinal curvature.

If you "let go" with your abdominal muscles and allow your hips to swing out in back and your knees to tense, you will get a sway back.

★ ★ ★

This kind of posture places a strain on your muscles and ligaments and leads to chornic fatigue. It also ruins your figure. No matter how perfect your weight or the ratio of your measurements, your figure will not be attractive unless your body is well aligned.

SLEEPING POSTURE

We spend about one-third of our time in bed and for this reason our posture while sleeping is important. If you read in bed or sleep with big pillows under your head, you will develop a hump at the back of the neck and lines on the throat.

★ ★ ★

This position while reading also strains the eyes. Why not use a back rest when you read in bed and sleep without a pillow or with a small one?

The muscular effort necessary to hold good posture is a splendid exercise in itself; abdomen in, back straight, neck straight, chin parallel to the floor, hips under, knees and shoulders relaxed, and push toward the ceiling with the TOP of your head.

It is a fine idea to review these tenets in your own mind at the beginning of each day. Then try to remember then many times during the day.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Grace and Charm" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 5 Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Calorie Counting Is Boring; You Can Reduce Without It."

Toy Is Tool to Develop Mind, Body

Dictionaries usually define words concisely and accurately. But they are obsolete and misleading as far as their definition of a toy is concerned.

Messrs. Funk and Wagnalls contend that a toy is "an article constructed for the amusement of children . . . any trifling or amusing object; any bauble or knick-knack; trinket; trifle . . ."

★ ★ ★

These definitions are out of date insists Mel Freud. "Toys," he says, "are not gadgets — but playtools. They are not only tools for play, but perform the even greater service of maintaining the child's eagerness, his ability to learn and develop mentally, physically and socially. Toys are as essential to the welfare of children as books and food."

DEVELOPS CHILD

Professor Emma Sheehy of Columbia University defines a toy as ". . . an object which attracts children and encourages them to play for fun and, as a by-product, develops mind or body."

Alma Williams, assistant professor of elementary education, University of Miami, says, ". . . a tangible object designed to provide amusement, companionship and comfort to the users and serve as a means of expression or a springboard to imaginative or constructive play."

Darrel Barnard, professor of education, New York University, offers this definition: ". . . any article made for purposeful, imaginative, creative, experimental, or pure play purpose."

There is no doubt that Mr. Webster's definition was accurate back in his day, but today's lexicographers ought to look again the next time they pass a toy store.

All lengths shown for evening in Paris, but day-time length shown most, registering in strapless tops and barrel or dome-shaped skirts.

Full-length evening gowns are immensely wide or very slender and outstanding at Dior are the slender draped chiffons. Short youthful formals are in rich velvets, brocades and satins.

Committess were announced as Mrs. Ralph Weir, program; Mrs. Henry Warren, membership; Mrs. Walter Peters, publicity; Mrs. Ford Snyder, hostess and Mrs. Herman Dennis, telephone. Others are Mrs. Jack Nelson and Mrs. Leonard Noren.

Feminine Attitude Baffles This Masculine Reader

Man Wonders What Makes Women Behave the Way They Do

By RUTH MILLETT

"Why is it," asks a man who says he always reads this column during his lunch hour, "that a woman . . .

"Will take at least 15 or 20 minutes to lead up to her reason for making a telephone call to another woman?

Do women actually consider it bad manners to come right to the point when making a telephone call?

"Will claim she hasn't a thing to wear when her closet is full of clothes, yet figure her husband ought to be pleased to wear his three-year-old blue suit and tell her how thoughtful she was to get it cleaned and pressed?

"Never seems to mind having her husband comment on another woman's intelligence — unless the woman also happens to be good looking?

"Always has to change her clothes before she can leave the house?

★ ★ ★

"Hasn't the vaguest idea of what a minute is? When she says, 'I'll only be a minute,' she probably has in mind that she won't be gone longer than an hour.

★ ★ ★

"Is determined that she and her husband will never be the first to arrive anywhere? Since somebody has to be the first to arrive at any party, why is every woman determined it isn't going to be she and her husband?

REDUCING TALK

"Gets such a sense of accomplishment about just talking about reducing? It would seem to a mere man that what counts in dieting is the pounds lost. But women seem to get a noble feeling just from letting everyone know they are on a diet.

"Thinks that marriage gives a woman the right to correct her husband and that when her memory of just how a thing happened doesn't jibe with his, his memory is bound to be at fault?"

Care to try to answer this man's questions, any of you women readers?

'Anyone who says the modern girl is spineless probably hasn't visited the beaches lately.

An unusual collar treatment that is most becoming adds to the distinction of a special design for the slightly shorter woman.

No. 8123 with Patt-O-Rama is in sizes 12½, 14½, 16½, 18½, 20½, 22½, 24½, 26½. Size 14½, 35 bust, 4⅜ yards of 35-inch.

Bride Asks Attendant to Cut Hair

Request Resented by Long-Tressed Future In-Law

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I know it is the bride's privilege to tell her attendants what she would like them to wear, but does she have the right to make suggestions about their personal appearance?

"To be more explicit: I was asked to be a bridesmaid at my future sister-in-law's wedding. She is having three other bridesmaids. I wear my hair rather long as I think it is most becoming that way. The other bridesmaids have short hair.

"The bride has suggested that I have my hair cut for the wedding to match the other bridesmaids. I was quite taken back at this and thought she had a lot of never suggesting it.

"Am I obliged to do this to please the bride, or may I wear my hair the way I like it. Does the bride have the privilege of telling her attendants how she would like them to wear their hair? I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: The bride would be within her right if she asked you to change the way you arrange your hair, but she is going too far in asking you to cut it short.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would appreciate your opinion on dress at funerals in this casual present day. While attending the recent funeral of an aged aunt I was upset to see her granddaughters (young married women) in black linen sleeveless dresses. They wore no gloves.

"It was a very warm day but even so I felt a sleeve was in order, and no matter what the temperature, they certainly could have stood it for such a brief time. Am I wrong in feeling that this was in poor taste?"

Answer: I agree with you that even today sleeves should be worn by members of the family of the deceased.

"Dear Mrs. Post: At a dinner being given me for length of service in this company, I'm sure a toast will be drunk to me. How do I respond? Do I also propose a toast in return and if so, to whom?"

Answer: Under most circumstances you wait until the toast has been drunk and then you merely rise and bow and say thank you and sit down again. You do not propose a toast to someone else.

School Children Need Good Food

School-bound youngsters need good, nourishing breakfasts to stoke up the energy they need for the day. You'll find that a change in the usual menu and flavorful, inviting foods are a big help in getting them to eat. Try these simple but tasty dishes:

Vary cereals by mixing canned apple sauce with the cereal. Cook cereal in apple juice instead of water for extra flavor.

Mothers Elect Slate

Mrs. Arthur Thomas was named president of Pontiac DeMolay Mothers Club when that group met Thursday evening in the Masonic Temple. Vice president is Mrs. Roy Wilton, recording secretary, Mrs. William McClure; chaplain, Mrs. Lloyd Reynolds, and treasurer, Mrs. Duncan McVean.

Bloomfield Hills' coach Don Hoff, a Clarkston resident, and CHS skipper Ed Hintz are having quite a time these days ribbing each other about the coming Wayne-Oakland grid season. "If the going gets bad in the game at Clarkston I can always go home," chuckles Hoff.

Tigers Play Twi-Night Doubleheader

Bunning After 18th Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — With every turn of the clock hand the pressure mounts against young pitcher Jim Bunning of the Detroit Tigers. The hours tonight will be a particular example.

The Tigers' classy righthander is ticketed to pitch the second game of a twi-night doubleheader with the Washington Senators tonight as he shoots for victory No. 18 in his drive for 20 for the season.

Two games are on tap for tonight because last night's series opener here was rained out.

With 17 under his belt now, Bunning needs three more triumphs in the Tigers' remaining 18 games of the season.

He has better than a fair chance, especially since he has been a sharp young man under the lights. Bunning has pitched in 11 night games, winning eight and losing three.

Mgr. Jack Tighe and pitching coach Willis Hudlin are theorists on Bunning's success at night.

Tighe says the cooler weather is an advantage for Bunning. Tighe says the heat of the daytime is harder on Bunning than other pitchers and that he can pace himself better at night.

"All that arm and leg motion that he uses," Hudlin said, "makes it more difficult for the batter to pick up the ball."

Hudlin, a former Cleveland Indian mound ace, also mentioned the effect of the arc lights illumination.

"The batter," said Hudlin, "usually sees only the top half of the ball at night since the illumination all comes from overhead.

★ ★ ★

At this moment their chances of overhauling the Boston Red Sox for third place are scant. At the same time they must keep up a respectable showing to protect fourth place against Cleveland.

In order to equal last year's mark of 82 victories the Tigers have to win 13 of their 18 remaining games.

TIME TO PUTT — President Eisenhower decides to relax at the edge of the 18th green (top) at Newport, R. I. while the other members of his foursome putt away. After a few moments of rest, "Ike" gets up to sink his putt. Despite the pressures of the Near East and in Arkansas, the President was able to get a few hours to relax.

Kocsis Brothers, Gene Woodard, Whiting Survive

Chick Evans Wins 56th Amateur Match; Patton Biggest Casualty

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Four Michigan entries survived but a fifth lost out in second-round matches of the National Amateur golf tournament yesterday.

The loser was Harold Brink of Grand Rapids, who bowed 1 up to Robert Cochran of Normandy, Mo.

Winners were Dick Whiting and Chuck Kocsis of Royal Oak, Sam Kocsis of Lake Orion and Gene Woodard of St. Clair Shores.

Whiting won from Edward Brantly of Signal Mountain, Tenn., 3 and 2; Sam Kocsis defeated Buzzy Basinger of Charlotte, N.C., 1 up; Woodard triumphed over William Cordingley of Edina, Minn., 2 and 1, and Chuck Kocsis eliminated Michael Bonallack of England, 1 up 21 holes.

The Chuck Kocsis-Bonallack match was a scorcher. Both were members of their respective U.S. and British Walker Cup teams.

Sixty-four survivors, led by venerable 67-year-old Chick Evans of Chicago, battle today through two 18-hole rounds that will cut the field to 16 by nightfall.

Although the defeat of Billy Joe Patton was yesterday's biggest upset, the finest thing that happened at the Country Club in Brookline was Evans' 4 and 2 triumph over Lloyd Pitzer of Waukegan, Ill.

Evans, who won the Amateur title in 1916 and 1920, had to take leg exercises on every tee but he went on to win his 56th amateur match—more than any other golfer.

Patton, the devil-may-care golfer from Morganton, N.C., was ousted when Ward Wettlaufer, a baby-faced collegian from Buffalo, N.Y., beat him on the 19th hole of the par 35-37—72, 6,860-yard course.

Patton was not the only one to meet a premature end. Going under with him were former U.S.G.A. champs Ted Bishop ('46) of Weston, Mass., and Jesse Guilford ('21) of Newton, Mass., in addition to Don Essig, the teenaged Publinx champ from Indianapolis, former British Amateur king Robert Sweeny and U.S.G.A. Senior champ Fred Wright.

Rex Baxter, NCAA champ from Amarillo, Tex., sailed into the third round with a soft 7-and-6 victory over Lawrence McCue of Torrington, Conn.

THE POWERHOUSE
By Jimmy Powers

Vacuums are quickly filled in sports. The tremendous turnouts at Roosevelt Raceway, following a fat season at Yonkers plus the lively duel for afternoon patronage at Monmouth and Belmont, with both establishments often duplicating each other's high attendance marks, means fans are not going to sit idly twiddling thumbs if two baseball teams pull out.

It will also be interesting to watch the situation in California where Santa Anita, Hollywood Park and the various trotting ovals are covered on a comprehensive scale. Column after column there is devoted to racing. If or when a major league club arrives, the chances are racing circulation, built up for so long, will not be jettisoned.

In the East, where baseball and racing lived a perilous life of co-existence, baseball was given three to five times the space racing received although baseball attendance shrank steadily to the point where racing, both flats and harness, outdrew it by a wide margin.

STATED FLATLY BASEBALL WAS DYING SPORT

Our friend, Westbrook Pegler, years back, stated flatly baseball was a dying sport and America's national pastime should rightly be tagged horse racing. Well, there are box office totals today to prove Peg right. Apparently, the public never tires of watching those steeds charge down to the finish line and the money seems to hold out.

If the two NL clubs move out and New York becomes a one-club city, racing will get the full treatment in the sports pages here that it now receives in California. Feature stories of all types, interviews with jockeys and their wives, chats with trainers, owners and breeders, a big splash of photographs from the brood farmlands to the daybreak works.

Come to think of it, racing has done remarkably well in New York, bucking heavy play given baseball, spring training yarns, Hot Stove League columns when the teams were not even in competition, year-round coverage of all sorts. Yet there were holiday afternoons when the ball parks were half empty and the racetracks crammed to overflowing. At night it was simply no contest. Except for a hot series here and there, the Polo Grounds and Ebbets Field looked pretty dismal while the trotters and pacers played to SRO crowds at Yonkers or Roosevelt.

Imagine what trouble the fabulous new plant at Westbury would give to any ball club, even if located in a spanking new park in Queens or in Brooklyn!

As the attendance graphs on baseball skids downward, the graph on pro football hereabouts rises sharply. Here again we see sports encroaching on each other, desperately competing for public attention.

Big problem with the champion grid Giants is the necessity to find a replacement for Roosevelt Grier, 285-pound all-league defensive tackle. They obtained Charley Toogood from the Rams to bolster this position. Larry Wesley, a rookie tackle from Florida, has looked promising on defense.

Blanche Martin Has Big Shoes to Fill for MSU

Martin was the only letterman left at the position after graduation cleared out a trio of top performers. But he's the solid choice of coaches as a starter strictly on his own ability.

He has the handicap of moving in to fill a big pair of shoes. Clarence Peaks, termed by coach Duffy Daugherty the greatest all-around player he ever coached, had made the position his own the last three years.

Peaks is running for the pro Philadelphia Eagles now. And to show the talent the Spartans had last year at the position, Dennis Mendyk, second behind Peaks, is with the New York Giants and Vic Zucco, third in the lineup, is playing for the Chicago Bears.

Martin played 150 minutes at the position last year, getting in most of his time after Peaks injured a knee in the Illinois game. He carried 37 times for 134 yards and a 3.6 yard average.

"Even Peaks didn't play as much as Martin did as a sophomore," was his answer. "And I remember that Sonny Grandelius, one of the greatest, also put in more bench time than playing time as a sophomore."

Martin has good speed, can cut a corner well and is being coached into an all-around performer.

Behind him, but not necessarily in that order because of constant reshuffling by coaches, are three other candidates: sophomore Bob Bercich of Summit, Ill., sophomore Dean Look of Lansing and junior Bob Handloser of Detroit.

Look is being groomed as a punter and appears to be coming along the fastest but all are sure to see action.

The squad was forced indoors by rain yesterday morning, the first time this fall, but got in some licks in Jenison Fieldhouse. They were taken outdoors in the afternoon for a longer than usual session of offensive and defensive scrimmage to make up for lost time.

3 Pontiac Players on MPGA Golf Team

State Publinx champion, Mike Andonian (PHS teacher and cross-country coach), and Roy Iceberg, long prominent in state amateur ranks, and low-scoring Paul Bada today were named to the 16-man MPGA team to meet Metropolitan Area private club players in the annual match. Tex (O. V.) Ellison, past MPGA prexy, is honorary captain of the public fee players. John Kurach, who lost to Lloyd Syron of Pontiac, for the state amateur title, is also a member of the MPGA squad.

The MPGA team is seeking its 2nd straight win over the private club team, in the match at Edgewood CC, Sept. 29.

Ervin Stable Takes Second Feature Race

Ervin won by a nose with Timely Story to take the $5,000 Gahagan 2-year-old pace. Market Royal was second and Sparkling King, an entry of the Ervin stable, third.

Orioles Recall Pappas

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles have recalled Milt Pappas, an 18-year-old righthanded pitcher from Detroit. Pappas was sent to Knoxville of the Class A Sally League after appearing briefly with the Orioles early this season.

Girard Bought by Pittsburgh

Earl (Jug) Girard, halfback veteran of nine National Football league seasons, was sold by the Baltimore Colts yesterday to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Girard was bought by the Colts after last season after playing for the Detroit Lions since 1952. Earlier he had been with the Green Bay Packers, who had made him their No. 1 choice in the 1948 draft.

Girard is second player picked up in a week by Buddy Parker his former coach at Detroit. Last week Parker grabbed Bill Bowman when he was released by the Lions.

In the Lions' game, the Pittsburgh punting was poor and Girard may be the reason Parker obtained him.

Robinson Plans Fight in Court After Title Bout

Robinson, here for an exhibition at the Harold Johnson-Wayne Bethea flight last night, said he'll challenge the commission's official contract form for fights.

"I think it's time somebody made the commission show cause that it has a right to compel a fighter to give away his constitional rights to a promoter," Robinson declared.

The champion recently won out in a dispute with the international boxing club over television rights for the Basilio bout. Robinson threatened to call off the bout unless the IBC agreed to his demands.

The IBC, after a meeting with the boxing commission, guaranteed Sugar Ray a minimum of $225,000 from the theater TV arrangements. The agreement also provided a $110,000 guarantee for Basilio.

Filling End Positions at 'M' Task for Coach

He had Ron Kramer and Tom Maentz playing for him at Michigan. There was little doubt they comprised the best end combination in college football. Kramer was an All-America last year and Maentz made the second team in 1955.

Suddenly Patanelli looked around and they had graduated. With them went Charlie Brooks, a second stringer who probably would have been a starter on most teams.

Now Patanelli is forced to fashion a new end tandem. He would be the first to admit the job is difficult. Whoever makes the starting team — and it'll probably be Gary Prahst and Walt Johnson — will be compared with their predecessors.

"My end squad is showing steady improvement," said Patanelli, "but they've been handicapped by a string of injuries."

Prahst, who was groomed last season to fill in at left end on the departure of Kramer, still hasn't scrimmaged this season. A pulled muscle behind his knee has kept him out. No one knows when he can return to action.

Consequently, sophomore Chuck Teuscher replaced him. Teuscher has Kramer's knack of snaring passes at all angles. But his inexperience causes him to lack some of the basic fundamentals.

"Lately he's been coming along," Patanelli said, "His blocking is improving."

But yesterday Teuscher hurt his knee.

Johnson has been working on the first team as Maentz's replacement. Last season, as a third stringer, he was regarded as slow and weak in the pass catching department. But with steady work this fall he seems to have blossomed.

"Johnson looks faster and better," Patanelli said.

His improvement apparently has lessened the possibility that Teuscher will be switched to the right side.

Miteff Knocks Out Holman in 9th Round

It was the 12th straight victory for the Argentine boxer in the U.S., his seventh win by a knockout.

Miteff, weighing 205 pounds, came back strong in the ninth stanza after taking a beating about the head in the previous three rounds of the scheduled 10-rounder.

Taking a Tour Around Midwest Training Camps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

IOWA — Two long workouts featuring secret plays the Hawkeyes hope to surprise their foes with kept the Iowa gridders busy. An effective aerial attack found Randy Duncan and Gene Veit passing to ends Jim Gibbons and Bob Prescott.

MINNESOTA — The Gophers switched their first two backfields in an apparent attempt to keep the reserves in top form. Running behind the No. 1 line were quarterback Dick Larson, halfbacks Dave Lindblom and Bill Chroske and fullback Dick Borstad.

OHIO STATE — Linemen were given a lot of practice on getting down field to cover receivers on punts in a long punting session. Coach Woody Hayes said the team would continue to concentrate offense.

WISCONSIN — Gary Goldenberg, son of Wisconsin fullback Charles of the 1920's, was switched to the same position his father held with the Badgers. Gary was shifted from the line to third string fullback.

NORTHWESTERN — A lack of guards because of injuries forced the Northwestern staff to switch Larry Van Dusen from end to guard. Jack Siatta, the 6th guard to be injured, is sidelined with a bruised arm.

INDIANA — A 35-minute morning scrimmage was followed by punting and passing plays. The Hoosiers drilled long on tailback spinners of their new side-saddle T formation.

PURDUE — Tackle Wayne Farmer, a regular last year, is still suffering from the effects of a back operation and his return might be delayed longer than expected.

NOTRE DAME — The Irish went through live and dummy scrimmages and ran from single wing and split-T formations. Coach Terry Brennan named guard Jim Schaaf and fullback Nick Pietrosante as the team's most improved players.

MARQUETTE — Coach Johnny Druze said a lack of depth will see the shifting of several players to new positions.

DETROIT — The long troubled quarterback position for the Titans may brighten up this year with ex-Marine Bill Dando and sophomore Art Trombley from Bay City showing good passing form at the Brighton training camp.

CENTRAL MICHIGAN — The Chippewas are in the final stages of their workouts for the season opener Saturday night in Saginaw against Bradley with quarterback Herb Kipke and halfback Walt Beach leading a strong offensive unit.

Sooners Ease Hard Work

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Coach Bud Wilkinson said today his Oklahoma Sooners have worked so hard preparing for their football opener Sept. 21 at Pittsburgh they have "become dull." He ordered a letup in the practice schedule.

★ ★ ★

Wilkinson also said he does not believe pressure of being the defending national champion with pre-season raves notices — and a 40-game victory streak still intact —has affected his Sooners.

Oklahoma has toppled every opponent since October, 1953, when Pittsburgh fought the Sooners to a 7-7 draw. For two straight years Oklahoma has won the national championship, and many experts are predicting an unprecedented third consecutive crown.

HOLLY FORWARD WALL — Holly High School is figured to be a strong contender in the Wayne-Oakland League this year and the reason is this veteran line which has weight and experience. The Broncos will go into the season with a new head coach, Elmo Gratsch. Left to right in the line are: End George McDaniel, tackle Ken Leese, guard Carl Schwartz, center Phil Valek, guard John Miller, tackle Phil Tinsman and end Harold Young. This line will average about 192 pounds. Leese and Miller are 205 pounds, Tinsman, McDaniel and Valek go over 195 and Young and Schwartz are near 190.

Dogfight Race Seen in W-O Loop

By CHUCK ABAIR

Defending champion Northville will again be the team to beat and Milford and Holly are the chief contenders. But Clarkston, West Bloomfield and Bloomfield Hills should make it a dog-fight.

That's the consensus of opinion around the Wayne-Oakland League these days as the teams prepare for what should be an interesting race.

Brighton and Clarenceville are not rated contenders but both are expected to field capable starting units and could cause some surprises before the season is very old.

Holdover coaches Ron Schipper at Northville, Ed Hintz at Clarkston and Dick Yeager of Milford have a job on their hands trying to plan ahead with five new coaches certain to come up with some different styles both on offense and defense.

Al Gratsch at Holly, Art Paddy at West Bloomfield, Bob Wolcott at Brighton, promoted assistant Bill Waters at Clarenceville and Hoff are the new coaches ready to spring some surprises.

Talented halfback Dick Biery, glue-fingered end Bill Yahne and giant center Jeff Goodrich head 16 Northville lettermen back from last season's unbeaten team. Lack of experienced reserves is the only weakness.

Holly and Milford, 2nd and 3rd respectively, last year, are also well set for lettermen but may not be able to match the champs' starting eleven. The remaining teams have the problem of no bench strength.

Halfback Amos Bradsher and end Phil Tinsman, both now out with ailments, will carry the burden at Holly. Lanky end George McDaniel, halfback George Coggins and 190-pound line give the Broncos plenty of hope.

Milford has 18 lettermen and three promising newcomers paced by guard Ralph Stowe, 195, playing the game for the 1st time.

Pat Kelley is passing better than ever and we are deeper than in recent years," said a hopeful Yeager today.

Hintz is busy making lineup changes at Clarkston. A practice injury will keep tackle John Levigne out until mid-season and guard John Parks may miss the non-loop opener with a bruised hand.

Current changes have sparkplug Leroy Parks working at end, Kent See at fullback, Bill Noles at end and Dennis Alexander at tackle. Ed calls the current crop of Wolves the "hardest working squad we've had" with Bob Porritt heading the newcomers.

Experimenting is also in order at West Bloomfield with the big move being John Lucadam from quarterback to fullback. Converted end Rolf Gordhammer and hard-running Alan Dubois led the Laker returnees.

Injury troubles are also hindering Bloomfield Hills. John Page, a halfback, is out for the season with swelling joints and others are ailing. Defense has been the most promising part of the Baron workouts with Jim Kearney the top offensive threat.

Most of Brighton's returning veterans are linemen led by 210-pound John Card. Backfield posts are wide open. "Our main aim is to improve on last year's two wins," says Waters of his hopes for Clarenceville. He has a strong line and talented passers John Nelson and Larry Andrews.

The Wayne-Oakland is primarily a Class B league but Brighton, the smallest school, may now be dropped to "C" under new school enrollment regulations.

(Thursday: Oakland B League)

LEADING LAKER — New West Bloomfield grid coach Art Paddy is counting on triple threat John Lucadam to lead the offensive as the Lakers try to move up in the Wayne-Oakland standings this season. The pair are shown discussing the possibility of John shifting to the fullback slot this fall.

The Waterford Township Recreation Department men's horseshoe league entered its 9th week of action this week under the lights at Drayton Plains ball park.

Twenty-three players are competing in singles, with 20 of them taking part in doubles. Pitching is held every Monday night and play ends on Sept. 23.

Harold Stenquist is leading the National division and the league in total points with 54 in six games. George Bishop, the American division leader, is 2nd with 51 points.

Tom Pearsall and Rex Oakley, 1956 doubles winners, are pacing the doubles division again with 30 points. Pearsall, defending singles champion, is in a three-way tie for 3rd place with 49 points.

The winner of each division will pitch a three-out-of-five series for the Waterford Township title.

Leafs' Prexy Seeks National Loop Franchise

TORONTO (INS)—Jack Kent Cooke, president of the Toronto Maple Leafs, says he has applied for a National League franchise for his International League champions.

Cooke said yesterday the application was based on the understanding that the National League would be expanded to include ten teams in 1958 after the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers move to California.

But in Cincinnati, N. L. President Warren Giles said he had never been contacted about the franchise application.

Cooke said plans are under way to increase the capacity of the present Maple Leaf stadium from 18,000 to at least 40,000.

Idle Yanks Boost League Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was that way again last night as the Yankees, rained out in a game with Cleveland, regained a six-game lead when the White Sox took a 7-4 beating at Boston.

Bill Skowron, who pulled a back muscle while working at home yesterday, was on the bench with Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra—the Yankees' three top RBI men—as the champs sloshed through the better part of four frames before the game finally was called with Cleveland leading 2-0.

In the National, Milwaukee's Braves moved closer to a World Series date with the Yankees by defeating Pittsburgh 4-3 while second place St. Louis battled Philadelphia through 14 innings before winning 4-3.

It was the fifth victory in seven games for the Cardinals. But it didn't do much more than prolong the inevitable. As it is, the Braves have "12" for a magic number, as do the Yankees, incidentally.

Any combination of Milwaukee victories and St. Louis defeats totaling 12 gives the Braves their first pennant since 1948. You can use the same formula in figuring the Yankees' third consecutive flag.

Third place Brooklyn skidded eight games behind with a 9-2 thumping from the Chicago Cubs, and Cincinnati defeated the New York Giants 4-1 in the other NL games.

The rest of the AL schedule was washed out, setting up twi-night doubleheaders today. The Yankees have a day-night pair with Cleveland to make up for the rain out.

The Braves were out-hit 12-8, but got the job done with the help of Hank Aaron and Eddie Mathews, who had five hits between them. They paired home runs in the fourth — Aaron's 40th, Mathews' 31st—for a 3-1 lead. Mathews added an RBI single in the seventh that nailed a 15th victory for Lew Burdette. The righthander, 6-0 vs. Pittsburgh, gained his 12th complete game on the fifth try.

Whammy Douglas lost it, giving up the two home runs that gave the Braves 182 for the season—matching their all-time high set in 1955.

★ ★ ★

The Cardinals continued their big try on Ken Boyer's bases-loaded single in the 14th—which dumped Robin Roberts, who has had six seasons of 20 or more victories in his 10-year career, to his first 20-defeat year.

★ ★ ★

Lindy McDaniel, Lloyd Merrit, Billy Muffett and Larry Jackson pitched six shutout relief frames for the Cards after the Phils finally overhauled a 3-0 St. Louis lead and chased starter Sam Jones. McDaniel was the winner for a 14-8 record.

★ ★ ★

Cardinal Stan Musial showed up as a pinchhitter—the two clubs used 40 players—and hit into a forceout, losing a point that left his league leading average at .340. The Giants' Willie Mays, the runner-up, was 0-for-3, losing two points for .332.

Rockefeller's Millions Answer to Bums' Prayer

NEW YORK (INS) — The land can be had, Rockefeller millions are available to help build a new stadium and New York City appeared ready today to win its trans-continental battle with Los Angeles for the 1958 services of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The city found a way yesterday to acquire the land, which is valued at $10,000,000 and which O'Malley said he'd be willing to purchase at a "common sense" figure. O'Malley has told the city he'd build his own stadium.

Meanwhile, Nelson A. Rockefeller, the financier whose family donated the land for the United Nations headquarters, came into the picture and disclosed he had offered to help build a new home for the Bums in Brooklyn.

Rockefeller said he has been trying to acquire a percentage of ownership in the Dodgers to keep the team in New York and that he would try to help expand the National League, if necessary, to keep the city represented in that league.

Johnson Beats Bethea by Unanimous Decision

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — Philadelphia's own Harold Johnson scored a unanimous decision over New York heavyweight Wayne Bethea last night in a 10-round bout at Convention Hall.

There were no knockdowns in the bout for which Bethea weighed 197½ pounds and the No. 1 lightheavyweight contender weighed 181.

Terry OK in Action Again

Wings Sharp in Stiff Drill

SAULT STE. MARIE (UP) — The Detroit Red Wings—including newly returned goalie Terry Sawchuk—looked sharp their first time out in the rough stuff on the rink.

"The only time I had any trouble was getting into position for rebounds," he said.

Besides Howe, the others to get by Sawchuk were Johnny Wilson who may inherit Ted Lindsay's forward spot, and rookie center Guyle Fielder.

Gen. Mgr. Jack Adams hinted he wants to keep as many regular jobs as possible wide open.

Adams said only six of 12 forwards he intends to carry into the start of the new National Hockey League season have clinched jobs. Three would be the Wilson-Howe-Fielder line. He named the other three as Alex Delvecchio, Norm Ullman and Lorne Ferguson. This excludes such top veterans of last year as Metro Prystai, Dutch Reibel, Bill Dineen and Billy McNeil.

2 Key Players Ailing

Injuries Hit St. Mike 11

Knee injuries to a couple of key St. Mike gridders have brought worries to head coach Bob Mineweaser as the Shamrocks prepare for their 1957 season opener here Sept. 22 with Detroit St. Benedictine.

Tackle Lou Palace, a Pontiac Press All-Oakland County Class C pick last year, is the boy who has Mineweaser worried the most.

Palace twisted his knee while stepping in loose dirt and is believed to have torn a cartilage. He has been taking medication for the past three days, but the knee is not responding to treatment.

An examination was set for today and if surgery is necessary, Palace will be out for the year.

Fullback Jim Fox also hurt his knee in practice, but the injury is not as serious as the one incurred by Palace. Fox is expected to be ready for the opening game.

An eligibility problem has also hit the St. Mike camp. Leo VandenBusche, a transfer end from Mt. Clemens St. Mary, may be declared ineligible by the MHSAA.

The rest of the squad is in sound physical condition and the Shamrock coaching staff has stuck to emphasizing fundamentals in practice sessions. There have been no full-scale scrimmages this far.

'M' Ice Squad May Quit Loop

Ex-Wolverine Coach Sees Withdrawal Due to Eligibility Rules

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UP) —The possibility that Michigan may pull out of the Western Intercollegiate Hockey League has been suggested by Vic Heyliger, the Wolverines' coach the past 11 years.

Heyliger, who resigned in June to manage a Colorado Springs supper club, said the 19-year-old rule in the Big Ten conference is the reason Michigan may quit and at the same time pull Minnesota and Michigan State with it.

Those three schools are the Big Ten's only members of the Western Hockey League.

Heyliger said he believes their withdrawal is a distinct possibility unless uniform eligibility rules are set up.

Any harmful effect of the rule adopted two years ago to the Big Ten schools was minimized by Dr. Otis A. Barnes, athletic faculty director of Colorado College, another hockey league member.

He said the other schools also have stringent recruiting rules.

"Any school can pull out of the league as long as it fullfills its commitments for next year," he said.

Yakota Army Base 9 Wins 2 Service Tilts

COCOA, Fla. (UP)—Yakota, Japan won twice yesterday in the Air Force softball tournament and Leroy Johnson sparked Dover Del., to a 12-4 triumph over Eglin, Fla.

Yakota blanked Schilling AFB, Kan., 8-0 in a second game after edging Castle, Calif., 1-0 in a replay of an earlier contest.

Ladd, Alaska defeated Goosebay, Labrador 2-1 and will meet Selfridge, Mich., at 3 p.m. today and Castle meets Biggs, Tex., in two games in losers' brackets.

SEEKS NEW TITLES — Ben Hardesty (above), Pontiac's "adopted" national bait and fly-casting champion, tomorrow heads for Europe (Kiel, Germany) where he will "shoot" for the international title, or titles. Ben is a member of the U. S. team named at recent national championship events, in which he won his newest honors. Team leaves New York last of the week.

Obedience Club Plans Fall Work

To Give Demonstrations Tonight at CAI and at Whitfield Sept. 19

First of two area demonstrations of obedience dog training under direction of the Southern Michigan Obedience Training club is set for tonight at the CAI building in Waterford, at 8 o'clock.

Another session has been arranged for Sept. 19 at 9 p.m. in Daniel Whitfield school, Orchard Lake avenue, just west of Telegraph road. Dogs trained in previous SMOTC classes will take part in these demonstrations. Those attending the demonstrations are advised not to take their dogs.

Public is invited to both demonstrations, which show what can be done to train dogs for useful and pleasant companions.

Look for Record Bow Army

ALL OUTDOORS (INS) — Michigan conservation officials expect the largest army of bowhunters in history to open the deer season Oct. 1.

Based on last year's kill of 2,500 deer by 43,000 bowmen, there are 17 archers to every deer carried home. This is an improvement! Several years ago there were 20 archers to every bagged deer.

Michigan bow and arrow deer-slayers can be proud, however, since they still lead the nation in number of hunters and number of kills.

Massachusetts has the poorest hunter-success ratio. It took 5,000 bowmen in that state to bag only 21 deer. South Carolina has, on past records, the best success ratio — 21 deer for 90 hunters.

Regardless of the 17 to one ratio —compared to about a five to one rifleman success ratio — the number of archery licenses sold each year in Michigan and throughout the nation increases at a fantastic rate.

To find out why, the question "why are you a bowhunter?" was asked members of the Field Archery Association last year. Following are some of the most interesting answers:

"Well I like to be in the woods, and I like to hunt. I never thought a rifle gave the game an even chance."

"Less hunters in the woods to scare the deer. I'm not scared to death some trigger-happy jerk is going to plug me."

"It's safer, and Mother Nature offers me a challenge to pit my wits with her children who live by theirs."

"I get more thrill . . ."

Others said they were bowhunters because: "Of the sporting element — I don't want to get shot again — I'm disgusted with the rifle—bowhunting keeps the pace down — better for us older guys."

It was apparent most bowmen take this method of hunting to, as one said, "get more enjoyment out of it and avoid the keyed-up feeling of the regular rifle season."

FASCINATING STUDY—It's sure fascinating, this study of skin diving, take it from the 37 West Bloomfield Boys clubbers now learning about it from Bill Periard and his staff of instructors (above). Bill, former commercial diver, veteran skin and "lung" diver is the director and he says the youngsters are "wild" over the course. In one photo Periard is showing little Mark Berg, 11, how to adjust his face mask. In the other picture, are the instructors — at top left, George Spitaleri, Mike Webb, who is on his way to the Navy, Butch Bentley and Bob Fuller. Gil Goyette (left) a 3-year diver and Periard in front.

Bear-Hunting in U.P. Opens Fall Shooting

During the special Sept. 1 season (closes Sept. 15) in the U. P., bears may be taken on a small game license and use of dogs is permitted. The same regulations also will apply to the Oct. 1-Nov. 5 statewide firearm bear season.

Bow and arrow hunters may take part in the Oct. 1-Nov. 5 season under an archery deer license, but may not use dogs. Deer are legal targets for archers, of course, during that season.

In addition, bear may be taken under a regular firearm deer hunting license during the Nov. 15-30 deer season throughout the state. Use of dogs is prohibited in hunting bear during deer season.

Several other seasons will open Oct. 1, including the statewide waterfowl hunting season which runs through Dec. 9.

Grouse hunters will be active during an Oct. 1-Nov. 10 season in Zone 1 (Upper Peninsula) and Zone 2 (Lower Peninsula north of highway M-20). In Zone 3 (the Southern Lower Peninsula), grouse season opens Oct. 21 with other small game seasons and closes Nov. 19.

Oct. 1 also marks the opening of squirrel and rabbit hunting seasons in Zones 1 and 2.

Sharptailed grouse and prairie chickens are legal game in the Upper Peninsula only, between Oct. 1 and Nov. 10. There is no open season on these birds in other parts of the state.

Sabin Is Winner of Genesee Shoot

Lloyd Sabin of Flint was the winner and Fred Baucom of Lapeer, a Pontiac Press stereotyper, was runnerup in the recent annual Genesee Sportsmen's club field day.

Sabin was 1st in all-events, high gun, Class B and Lewis class. Baucom was 2nd in these events among a field of some 70 shotgunners. Sabin compiled 48x50, Baucom 47-50.

Number of Shot in Load Fixes Gun's Effectiveness

By JACK PATTERSON

What with the trout season closed and no "for keeps" shooting allowed until Oct. 1 this is one of those vacant spaces in the calendar which is the despair of outdoorsmen and outdoor writers alike. To be sure there is still plenty of fishing for warm water species such as bass, pike and panfish, and muskies are beginning to come to life on Lake St. Clair. But we could use a little more help from the weather if we want to go after such fish and have fun doing it.

PATTERSON

Being a member of the old-timer's guild we can't get very far into September without recalling that we used to be able to do quite a spate of game destroying during that month.

Habits of this kind are hard to shake off, and if we can't be shooting, at least we can be thinking about it.

One thought that pops into mind is the continual difficulty gun editors have trying to straighten out the public on the effectiveness of different shotgun gauges.

For some reason or other people seem to have difficulty grasping the fact that size of the bore has no direct bearing on either pattern or range.

A 20 gauge will "shoot just as far" as a magnum 10, for all practical purposes. The 20's much smaller diameter barrel will not throw a "narrower" pattern than the 10, but one of approximately the same spread at any given range, assuming both guns are bored with the same degree of choke.

If the foregoing is true why do we put the maximum range of a full choke 20 at around 40 yards and a full choke magnum 10 at somewhere around 70?

Doesn't seem reasonable that anyone would willingly choose the extra punishment of the big 10 if the little 20 will reach out for those long shots on geese.

Funny part about it is the 20 will reach out, right out to that 70 yard marker with it's big brother, but you seldom hear a standard 20 recommended for pass shooting for waterfowl.

The answer is simple and is about the only thing one needs to remember about "which gauge for what." The determining factor for comparative useful ranges of shotguns of different gauges, of the same degree of choke, is the amount of shot in the shell each gun shoots. Note we say useful range. Actual range is about the same in all cases. It should be noted here that we aren't discussing shot sizes except to remark that larger shot sizes hold their velocity better than small ones.

Here's an instance that should clear up the whole problem. A goose comes over at 70 yards. We unload a charge of 2's from a full choke 20 at him.

Nothing happens. Nor should it. At 70 yards the charge has developed maybe a 6 or 8 foot spread. There just aren't enough shot in that little 20 husk to cover such an area and make it goose-proof.

Same situation with the magnum 10. The goose comes down, not because the 2's from it were traveling any faster or with more punch than the 2's from the 20. The pattern size was about the same. But there was about twice as many shot in the 10's pattern.

Solunar Tables

Here's the weekly lineup of periods for best fishing in the Pontiac area, as determined by John Alden Knight's solunar tables. Major periods last for an hour to an hour and a half, the minor period somewhat shorter.

Farmer-Hunter Meets Arranged for Area

One of three conferences between farmers and hunters of southern Michigan will be held in the Pontiac area. First will be at Battle Creek Sept. 22. The second will be held at Multi-Lakes on Sept. 23 in the clubhouse at Reed's Lake near Commerce. Session begins at 8 p.m. and all farmers and hunters in the area are invited. Betterment of relations between the groups is the prime object.

Prominent officials of the State Grange, sportsmen leaders and conservation department men will be in attendance.

Perch and Bluegills Offer Good Fishing

Operators of boat liveries on Pine and Square Lake report big bluegills and perch are just about at their peak of activity for the early fall. This condition has produced some lively angling, with one fisherman taking an 18½ inch perch Sunday.

Hardesty Seeks International Casting Honor

Last of the week a hardy band of fishing experts representing the United States will head by air for Hamburg, Germany on the first leg of a trip that winds up in Kiel, Germany. One member of the band is Pontiac's national accuracy casting champion Ben Hardesty, who left today for New York to join the team. It will fly Pan-Am to Hamburg.

Ben said he hoped to aid the U.S. 7-man squad capture the international championship of the casting fraternity. Ben has been a professional casting expert since 1948, and is also a bona-fide angler of equal ability.

Other members of the U.S. team are Ken Fontaine of New Orleans, Myron Gregory of San Francisco, John Tarantino of San Francisco, Robert Budd of Jeffersonville Ind., Dean Aleshin of Kansas City Mo., and John Dieckman of Costa Mesa, Calif. Only Hardesty and Dieckman are pros.

Archery 'Turkey Shoot' Helps Clubhouse Fund

Lake Orion Archery Club will sponsor a turkey shoot on Sept. 22, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the E. L. Pierce residence, 831 Clarkston road.

Participants are asked to have their own bows and arrows, although the club will provide a supply.

Refreshments will be served during the afternoon.

A small entry fee will be charged to defray expenses and add to the club's building fund.

★ ★ ★

Applications for membership and the winter tournaments are being received. It is probable that the archers will have their clubhouse ready before, or shortly after, the tournaments begin.

Burgeoning Activity

Boys 'Go' for Skin Diving

By H. GUY MOATS

One of the fastest growing activities in the rank and file of West Bloomfield's Boys Club is the art of skin diving, and it's associated sport of aqua-lung diving.

During the summer just closing, more than 35 have taken part in instruction groups under direction of veteran Bill Periard, former Navy and commercial diver. All of the study and demonstrations have been held at Pine Lake, where Periard says many of the youngsters are just "wild" about the sport of inspecting the under water wonders and meeting fishy denizens, face to face, in their own medium.

"This program, says Periard," has done an inestimable amout of good in the work with many of the boys, providing an interesting outlet for energies that might otherwise slip into questionable channels."

Boys study the lake's bottom terrain, learn to work in teams. They are taught rescue methods and competence in life-saving. Program is patterned after the Navy frogmen's plan, says Periard, and Navy standards are employed in all cases.

"We hope to have better arrangements, more equipment next summer, and anticipate a big expansion in the program," the director said. He added that other area Boys Clubs would be invited to get into the program.

New Archery Range

Birmingham Recreation department is constructing a new archery range at Eton Park, which will be ready for use on Saturday.

Ranges up to 50 yards will be available. Requirements for use of the ranges are similar to those used on the rifle range.

Persons interested in forming an archery club are invited to contact Birmingham Recreation department, MI 4-1800.

Square Lake Harbors Big 'Mystery Fish'

Skin Diver 'Meets' What He Figures Is Big Sturgeon

Other Oakland county lakes can have their mysterous alligators, or other "monsters," but Square Lake now has a mystery fishy denizen of its own, whose presence was discovered only recently.

The "big one" as Bill Periard, Pine Lake skin and "lung" diver calls it, was spotted by Bill some time ago, while exploring the bottom of the waters off Telegraph Road, near Pontiac's southwest limits.

"It is at least five feet long, has a silvery, appearently scaleless skin, a face adorned by a pair of long "whiskers." Bill is inclined to believe the fish is a husky sturgeon, although he couldn't account for a sturgeon being in Square Lake.

DALLAS (AP) — Ten thousand dollars has come between a once-engaged couple. G. R. Howard of Jackson, Miss., backed out of the wedding, she said.

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Only one girl can producer Al Zugsmith see in William Faulkner's story, "The Unvanquished," and that is Eva Marie Saint. After looking at "Raintree County," another Civil War tale, he immediately put in a bid for Eva Marie.

He also wants Rock Hudson to play opposite Eva Marie, and hopes to get Jimmy Cagney for the father.

Fear U.S. 'Aggression' in Middle East Area

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda said today there are genuine fears abroad that the United States is planning military action in the Middle East.

The story said a hysterical clamor was developing in the United States over developments in Syria as Washington seeks to "mask its aggressive intentions."

Body of Detroiter Found in Closet

SEABROOK, N. J. (AP) — The body of a Detroit housewife was found stuffed in a closet in an unoccupied dormitory on Seabrook Farms yesterday.

Police identified her as Mrs. Roselle Pickett, 39, of 19 Warren St., Detroit. Police said they had not determined the cause of death.

Mrs. Pickett had come from Detroit to pick up her two children she had left with an aunt, Mrs. Emma Pickett, who worked on Seabrook Farms here.

Police said there were no wounds or signs of violence. They were to perform an autopsy last night.

Market Nears 1957 Bottom

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices moved very narrowly in slow early trading today. The trend was generally lower.

Price changes among key issues were mainly fractional.

The opening was fairly active, then turnover slackened. Many pivotal stocks were unchanged.

Goodrich posted a one-point gain. Boeing was off a fraction. International paper fell around a point and General Electric a good fraction. Johns-Manville, Philco, Air Reduction and New York Central were among the losers.

Opening blocks included: Bethlehem Steel unchanged at 43⅝ on 4,000 shares; Baltimore & Ohio off ¼ at 48⅝ on 1,400; and Curtiss-Wright off ⅛ at 36⅜ on 1,500.

Judge Davenport to Fill Ide's Place

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams today appointed Common Pleas Judge Elvin Lamoine Davenport to the Recorder's Court bench in Detroit.

Judge Davenport, 57, was named to fill a vacancy resulting from the death of Recorder's Judge O. Z. Ide.

He was appointed a common pleas judge by Gov. Williams in 1956; is a former assistant prosecutor, and has been a member of the bar for 26 years.

Judge Davenport will be obliged to run this fall to retain his new post until Jan. 1, 1960. In the spring of 1959 he will run for the full 6-year term.

The governor said he has no one in mind yet as a successor to Davenport on the common pleas bench.

Charge Executive With Swindling

A Redford Township executive has been charged with the $7,909 swindle of a Birmingham physician, Dr. Albert P. Ulbrich, 55, of 5670 Sussex Rd.

In a warrant issued yesterday by Detroit Recorder's Judge John A. Ricca, Gordon A. Cathro, 65, of 15964 Winston St., onetime president of the Medical Supply Corp., of Detroit, was charged with selling a bogus contract to the doctor.

According to Detroit Detective Lt. William Stearla, the contract was a fake duplicate of an account he had already discounted to an auto salesman for $7,468.87. Cathro has reportedly admitted obtaining from $50,000 to $75,000 from the organization in the same manner over a three-year period.

He told police that he had gambled most of it away on the horses. Cathro had been president of the firm for six years, prior to last June when an audit showed discrepancies in the books.

Grain Prices in a Tailspin

CHICAGO (AP) — All grains and soybeans plunged sharply lower on the board of trade today, reflecting a government report which forecast the third-largest crop production on record.

Trading on the board was the most active in many weeks as longs moved to liquidate holdings of wheat, corn and soybeans in the wake of the bearish crop report. Buying was mainly on resting order demand and some short covering.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ⅝ to ⅞ lower, Sept. $2.17¾; corn was ⅝ to 1⅜ lower, Sept. $1.23¾; oats were ¼ to ⅝ lower, Sept. 65¼; rye was ⅛ to 1⅛ lower, Sept. $1.33; soy beans were 2⅝ to 3⅛ lower, Sept. $2.36¾; and lard was 10 to 15 cents a hundred pounds lower, Sept. $12.52.

Soviet Warning Aims at Turkey

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A sharp Soviet warning aimed at Turkey and the West added new pressure today to the rising tension in the Middle East.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko accused Turkey of massing troops along the frontier of leftist Syria, thereby serving as a tool of the United States.

Declaring Syria has reliable friends, the Soviet official grimly warned Turkey against any military moves that would plunge it "over the precipice."

Gromyko said in Moscow yesterday that Soviet-Turkish relations have always been good "and the Soviet Union will view with regret any development which would cause them to darken."

They said the Turkish army normally holds maneuvers at this time of year. Any operations near the Syrian border are only routine exercises and have no connection with recent developments in Syria, they added.

They also termed "completely and purely imaginary" a charge by the Soviet army newspaper Red Star that U.S. military units have landed in Turkey to support moves against Syria.

Clarkston Methodists See $50,000 Pledged

At a dinner held at the First Methodist Church, in Clarkston, last night, more than $50,000 was subscribed towards a new church building by some 30 members of the advanced gift committee of the church building fund crusade.

The church has set a minimum goal of $115,000 with the remainder of the fund to be raised in a visitation beginning Sunday under the direction of Rev. Mrs. I. Grant Dunlap, director of the National Board of Methodist Missions, Philadelphia.

Some 160 visitors will be consecrated during the two morning worship services and will meet for dinner at the church at 1 p.m. before beginning their visitation throughout the greater Clarkston area.

Rambler, Metropolitan Outlets

American Motors Asking Big Three Dealers to Sell

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT — American Motors is signing up dealers from among retailers of the auto industry's "Big Three", to sell the Rambler and Metropolitan cars in addition to their own lines.

So far about 125 outlets have been established with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler dealers in areas where American Motors believes it needs more sales representation.

MOVE UNUSUAL

The move, unusual in the auto industry's more recent history, stems from the increasing demand for lower priced, higher economy cars. The dealers concerned are those who can "dual" the Rambler and Metropolitan with vehicles in other price brackets.

To some industry experts the move suggests a trend — a trend toward what they call a "super market merchandising program" for car disstribution. They picture a network of huge retailing establishments where virtually all makes of cars may be available.

Such a merchandising set-up, of course, sounds fantastic, but it has some supporters among the industry analysts.

For American Motors, producing the Rambler in its American factories and importing the Metropolitan from England, the present move undoubtedly means an increase in sales volume. That volume already is up sharply over last year. For the retailers concerned it provides a wider variety of sales possibilities.

Besides the present Rambler line and the Metropolitan, American Motors will have a new smaller wheelbase Rambler in 1958. At 100-inch wheelbase it will be more truly competitive with the foreign - built cars being brought into the U. S. market.

Although it still is one of the most compact, fully - equipped passenger cars on the market, American Motors' present Rambler line gradually has taken on the appearance of many of the larger size cars. Its price range also gets it up into the Ford-Chevrolet-Plymouth area.

Delay Decision on DSR Bonds

State Is Cool to Detroit Financing Plan to Avert Bus Fare Raise

LANSING (AP)—The Detroit Street Railway System may have to raise fares to make up a deficit if a proposed bond refudning is not approved, Mayor Albert E. Cobo told the State Municipal Finance Commission yesterday.

The commission, which had previously rejected a similar proposal, still was cool to the financing plan.

A final decision on a city proposal to float $1,200,000 in refunding bonds to retire existing DSR bonds was postponed for a week.

Meanwhile, commission members said they would seek the opinions of minority members of the Detroit City Council who had opposed the refunding. The council had approved the action by a 5-4 vote.

State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown and Auditor General Frank S. Szymanski objected that while the city is paying about 2½ per cent interest on the present bonds, the interest on the refunding would run up to 3½ per cent.

Cobo interjected that if the proposal had been approved by the commission when it first was asked in May, the interest probably would have been only around 3 per cent.

Buick Presents Prestige Model

To Be Named 'Limited'; Preview Given for 300 Publicity Writers

FLINT (AP) — A new prestige model, to be known as the Limited will be added to the Buick line of cars for 1958.

This was disclosed today by Edward T. Ragsdale, general manager, as Buick displayed its 1958 model cars to 300 representatives of the press, radio, television and trade publications.

The off-the-record preview was part of a week-long program for Buick's field force, suppliers and employes. The 1958 line of cars will go on sale Oct. 25, with styling and engineering details to be announced a few days earlier.

The Limited series will be eight inches longer than any other car in the Buick line.

Ragsdale said the 1958 models will feature completely new styling including a new grille. He said a new triple turbine dynaflow transmission and a new air ride (air suspension) will be available on all models.

The Buick executive said about 125,000 of the 1958 model cars will be built by Buick by the year end. This would bring Buick's output for the calendar year to 450,000 cars. Buick built 535,364 cars last year.

Referring to what he called the stability of the national economy, Ragsdale said:

"Certain fluctuations always will be inevitable. But I doubt if the rug will ever be pulled out from under us completely again. We have too many checks and balances in our economy for that to happen."

Dow Announces Building Plans

Will Erect Large Plant in Bay City to Produce Linear Polyethylene

★ ★ ★

Construction on five separate buildings, covering an area about the size of a square city block, is scheduled to begin within a few weeks. The plant is expected to be completed by October of next year and initially will employ about 75 production workers.

C. B. Branch, manager of Dow's plastic department, said the plant will be supplied with raw materials from Dow central chemical group here and from the Bay Refining Corp., a wholly owned subsidiary at Bay City.

The new facility, using a licensed process, will produce powder and granular materials in natural white and color formations. The production has had extensive pilot plant preparation at Dow's Texas Division for the past two years and marks company plans to make a major effort in the field.

Linear polyethylene is distinguished fro mhigh pressure polyethylene by its greater resistance to heat, chemicals and vapor transmissions and by its increased hardness, toughness and ridigidty.

It is expected to become the first billion - pound a year plastic within a short time, the company said.

Copper Industry in Shaky State

Metal Magnates Meet, Plan to Ask Tariff in Price Dip Crisis

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)— The cost of living goes on rising drearily in many of its phases but to the men who mine and sell copper, lead and zinc inflation today is just a myth.

Prices of the three metals have tumbled sharply from their peak. And the mining industry, meeting today in Salt Lake City, is asking Washington for help in halting the debacle. Output is being cut back, work weeks shortened, mines closed.

Copper's dizzy plunge has taken it from its European high of 55½ cents a pound in March 1956 to its present shaky state where it can be bought in New York for as low as 25 cents a pound and on the London metal exchange for 23 cents. At the start of 1957 the price here was 35 cents.

Demand was growing as America swung into its big boom and business set off its record expansion drive and the government was buying for its defense stockpile. Demand was even higher in western Europe where the industrial boom was riding high.

But supply of copper was cut in 1955 by strikes in the United States, Rhodesia and Chile. In all, work stoppages kept 150,000 tons of the metal from being mined.

The critical shortage and the unprecedented demand sent producer prices climbing—in the U.S. to 46 cents a pound, higher in Europe. This brought out a lot more production in high - cost mines and the opening of new mines.

Late in 1956 world supplies began to climb. Copper fabricators began shipping out less copper in end products than they were taking in and stocks mounted. Manufacturers cut back on orders.

The three big copper producers here—Phelps Dodger, Kennecott and Anaconda—played a delaying action on price cutting. But the custom smelters began steadily lowering their prices. They have been keeping their price at one to two cents a pound lower than the big producers.

With world prices lower than here, American producers and smelters are having a hard time maintaining a price they contend rising operating costs demand.

They will ask Congress for a four to six cent tariff to go into effect when a peril price point of 30 to 32 cents is reached. Prices are well below that now.

Sylvan Lake Is Reported OK

County Sanitation Head Says Test Made by State Refutes Pollution Claim

Sylvan Lake is not polluted, the City Commission was informed last night by Oakland County sanitation director Russell Coltson.

Coltson said in a letter that the Michigan Department of Health had tested water samples from four of the lake's beaches. Coltson interpreted the results as "normal for an inland lake."

The possibility of pollution had been posed last month by a resident of the lake. He said residents were afraid to go in swimming.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said the city's main interest lies in possible contamination of the Clinton River, which flows from the lake into Pontiac.

If the Clinton were being polluted by Sylvan Lake, Willman pointed out, the city might be forced to build a new sewage treatment plant sooner than anticipated.

Frenchmen Find Bakeries Closed

PARIS (AP) — Frenchmen — who look upon bread as a major item in the daily diet—today found most of the nation's bakeries closed. Bakers were out on a 48-hour strike to protest government price controls.

Officials estimated that the strike was about 85 per cent effective.

The government issued a decree authorizing officials to force bakeries to open in cases of necessity. The decree powers were invoked this morning against some large bakeries to maintain supplies to hospitals, schools and other services.

The bakers are demanding an increase in their margin of profit. The government, anxious to keep a lid on prices, has thus far refused to consider it.

Straits Bridge Traffic Starts

First Private Citizen Crosses, Though Span Officially Opens Nov. 1

ST. IGNACE (AP) — Traffic has started crossing the Straits of Mackinac Bridge.

The last piece of steel floor grating across 8,000-plus feet of suspension span was dropped into place by bridgemen yesterday, making it possible for the first time to drive from one of Michigan's peninsulas to the other.

And a Mackinaw City woman claims to be the first private citizen to make a motor crossing.

Mrs. Amelia Cole, a construction company employe, said she made the crossing yesterday. One truckload of workmen did. So did a lumber truck.

The bridge is not scheduled to open until Nov. 1 and officials emphasize it is not yet opened to public traffic.

The two center lanes in the steel grating across the suspension are open, but the two outer lanes, which have a wider mesh and a steel bottom, must still be filled with concrete.

To cross now, one would have to switch concrete lanes on the south approach. Not all paving is finished there.

At the north anchor block into which truck load after truck load of concrete still is going, timbers used from the approach to the block by trucks still are in place but usable. Otherwise paving from the north is finished.

Reduce Coffee Prices

Oakland County to Ask Relief

To Seek Federal Aid on 2 Sewers

Oakland County's Public Works Board has decided to apply for $500,000 federal aid for two big, inter - community sanitary sewer projects.

The county may qualify for the aid since communities in both projects have been cited for river pollution, said Assistant DPW Director R. J. Alexander.

The projects are the proposed $3 million Evergreen and $2.5 million Farmington systems, which the county has assigned the newly-created DPW for completion.

Although neither project is dependent on federal funds for successful financing, Alexander said, with federal money financing would be "much easier, especially for the townships involved," he pointed out.

At the moment, both projects are planned completely on a special assessment basis. If federal money were forthcoming, it would be split evenly between them.

Under a measure passed by Congress this year, Alexander said, the county has until Sept. 15 to submit its application for aid to the Michigan Water Resources Commission in Lansing. If the commission approves, the application then goes for final approval to the U. S. Health Department, which is in charge of alloting the funds.

The law says that approved projects are eligible either for a flat $250,000 apiece or for 30 per cent of the total cost, whichever is less.

DPW Director Harold K. Schone was in Lansing yesterday and today to expedite the application with the commission. The move won approval of the three-man Public Works Board at a special meeting Monday afternoon.

The Farmington system would serve Farmington City, Keego Harbor and parts of West Bloomfield, Farmington and Southfield Township. The Evergreen system is for Bloomfield Hills, Lathrup Village and parts of Birmingham, Troy, Bloomfield Township and Southfield Township.

Bloomfield Hills, Lathrup Village, Birmingham, Bloomfield Township and Southfield Township were cited several years ago by the water commission to halt their pollution of the River Rouge.

The proposed Evergreen system was the outgrowth of that order, but the project faced with financing complications, remained in the planning stage until taken over by the DPW in July.

The DPW has broad powers over bonding and enforcement of special assessment districts to pay for construction. The Farmington and Evergreen projects are the first ones assigned to it.

Romeo Center Advisory Board Names Gaines

Group to Determine on Governing Policies, Building Management

ROMEO—The first step in determining the governing policy and management of the new Community Youth and Civic center was taken last night by the recently-appointed advisory board of 18 members.

This group, representing a cross section of the community, was selected to assist the Community Building authority in operation of the new facility. In its initial session officers were elected and functions of the board tentatively outlined.

Robert W. Gaines, manager of Ford's Michigan Proving Ground, was elected chairman. Local bank president Lawrence M. Kelly, vice chairman, and Mrs. C. L. Davidson, secretary.

Gaines' first official act was to name a house rules committee of five to meet Sept. 17 to consider all phases of management of the center. Committee members include George E. McKeough, Mrs. Jack Frost, Nancy Bartholomew, Kelly and Gaines. They plan to contact directors of nearby youth centers for suggestions.

Work on the building itself is progressing satisfactorily, according to construction superintendent Royal A. Holt. He said the center will be open for limited operations around Nov. 1, and on a full-scale basis shortly before Christmas.

Some $10,000 is still needed to complete the structure, Holt reported. He told of plans for a "March for Youth," patterned after the Mothers' March of Dimes, set for 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 26. The Romeo high school Student Council will sponsor a tag day at school and during a football game soon to help defray building costs, he said.

Proposes Moving of Radio Station

The move would necessitate rezoning thep lot from residential to struction of the $4,000,000 radio and television station, which includes a 1,000 foot television antenna.

Oxford Votes Bond Issue for New Filtration Plant

OXFORD — The Oxford village council last night voted to bond for $75,000 to finance a new filtration plant which would be started in the spring.

No action was taken on the recommendation of the Michigan Dept. of Health that the village provide for chlorination and fluoridation of the water supply.

Albert and Knowles Engineering firm, retained by the village, estimated that such equipment would cost about $2,000 to install.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF LESSIE Bigger who passed away Sept. 11, 1956

Peaceful be thy rest, dear mother,
It is sweet to breathe thy name;
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR Baby, Sherry Lynn Pentiuk, on her 6th birthday, Sept. 11.

No stain was on her little heart,
Sin had not entered there;
And innocence slept sweetly,
On that pale white brow so fair.
She was too pure for this cold earth,
Too beautiful to stay;
And so God's holy angel
Bore our darling away—
The day after she came.
—Marge & Gene, Margo, Randy & Sheila.

Bing and Frank to Team Twice

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Disneyland's seasonal premiere tonight will be a full-length television version of Prokofief's "Peter and the Wolf." Sterling Holloway narrates it. Did you know 32 years ago Sterling sang "Manhattan" in the original "Garrick Gaieties"? Wish he'd do it again on some TV show . . .

Bing Crosby pays off Frank Sinatra for the Voice's guest shot with the Groaner on the Edsel show by filming a guest shot with Sinatra Oct. 3 and 4 . . .

Polly Bergen's big new NBC-TV variety (Saturdays following Como) will have Bill Colleran as producer-director; Bill directed the Hit Parade for seven years . . .

NBC GETS FIGHT

Strange — Helen O'Connell, who sells a song so well, can't sell a sponsor . . . ah, but it happens to the best: Nat Cole and Meet the Press, for instance . . .

NBC is afraid CBS has filmed (or will) an interview with Pope Pius for "Face the Nation," which thereby might get CBS out of the soup for airing so many Iron Curtain propagandists (Tito, Khrushchev, etc.) . . .

NBC's miff involves four episodes already filmed of "Rome of the Popes," plus its long history with "The Catholic Hour" . . .

Here's something to sneeze at: Perry Como and Gisele MacKenzie, good personal and professional pals, would love to exchange guest shots on each other's shows this season but can't—because they're sponsored by rival sniffle tissues . . .

Rod Serling wrote a TV play based on the Emmet Till case which was too hot for TV to handle, switched it to a Mexican theme and that, too, has been refused . . .

ALL IN THE FAMILY

If Ida Lupino and Howard Duff wish to clear anything swiftly with the president of their TV film firm, "Bridget Productions," they just check with daughter Bridget, listed as the firm's president. Bridget's just 5 years old. Owns stock, too.

Erin O'Brien, Steve Allen's exgal singer, stars in an upcoming "Cheyenne" episode with Clint Walker. Erin was deemed too tall to act with Gene Kelly in "Marjorie Morningstar," but Clint's 6-6.

German Professor Flees; Loses Illusions on Reds

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Alfred Kantorowicz, 58-year-old German writer who has been a Communist for 26 years, is the latest figure of prominence to flee to the West.

★ ★ ★

This man who was professor for contemporary German Literature at the Humboldt University in the Soviet sector of Berlin, has applied for asylum as a political refugee and a citizen "in that part of my country which is safeguarded by the Federal Republic."

Kantorowicz has not renounced communism, but what he has to say is interesting in view of the current Soviet and satellite campaign against intellectual freedom of comment after the Hungarian revolution suppressed by Red army tanks.

This German, who has been a member of the Communist Party since 1931, fought in the Spanish Civil War on the Republican side, was a refugee from the Nazis and returned to Soviet-occupied East Germany in 1946, says he fled from the area "in which the terror of Ulbricht reigns."

Walter Ulbricht, the East German Communist Party Secretary, is known as the "German Lenin" and was singled out for praise recently when Soviet Party boss Nikita Khrushchev toured East Germany.

Kantorowicz left behind in his flight all his posts and a library of some 8,000 volumes, including material on which he intended to work the remainder of his scholar's life.

In a statement over "Free Berlin" radio station in West Berlin he said he had "postponed this extreme decision" of flight "year after year in the hope—an ever diminishing one—that the excess of brutality, stupidity, of violence, of lawlessness, the endless flood of lies, the strangulation of intellectual freedom—that all these were merely convulsions of the period of transition, and that out of these horrible labors there might yet be born a new society in which social justice and personal freedom would exist in perfect unison."

He said he had cherished his dream all the years he was a Communist, then adds:

★ ★ ★

"After the events of the last few years, from 17 June 1953 (the East German workers' uprising suppressed by Soviet tanks) until the Hungarian tragedy (likewise crushed by Soviet tanks)—so depressing and nerve-wrecking for so many of us, especially for many old Communists—and after the latest wave of terror unleashed by the thugs of the Ulbricht regime against the intellectuals, in particular,—I have now given up the last hope—nay: I have lost every illusion—that out of such filth a new, a better world might be born."

Joe E. Lewis Opens Fall Drinking Season

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The fall elbow-bending season is on. I waddled over the other morning to see Comedian Joe E. Lewis start his 18th year of public tippling there. Lifting his glass to a man at the ringside, Joe E. said, "Ladies and gentlemen, I would like to toast a great American———"

WILSON

"BOB HARRISON!" shouted Joe E. "Well, Bob, here's mud in your eye."

Mike Todd was there with Liz Taylor and Mike was yawning. Can he be bored with that beautiful creature? Sammy Davis Jr. was attired in his new mustache. Mrs. Horace Dodge 3d (former actress Gregg Sherwood), just in from Europe, told me that she lost her baby abroad. Joe E. stayed on the floor till 2:15 a.m., due to a slight case of scotch.

Main Library in Louisville Gets Negro Workers

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Louisville's main library is getting the first Negro professional workers ever to work in the book division.

The library board of trustees yesterday approved the transfer of Mrs. Ruth Harry to the reference department and Mrs. Barbara Miller to the children's department. The two women, who have been working at branch libraries, fill vacancies caused by resignations.

C. R. Graham, director of the Louisville Free Public Library, said the move should not be considered as a step toward desegregation. He said a Negro was elected to the board of trustees in 1948 and that desegregation actually began around 1950. Negroes have worked in other divisions of the main library and in many branch libraries.

★ ★ ★

"If I want a librarian, I look for a librarian, not a Negro, Jew or Catholic," Graham said. "Race or creed makes no difference."

Holdup Gun for Sale

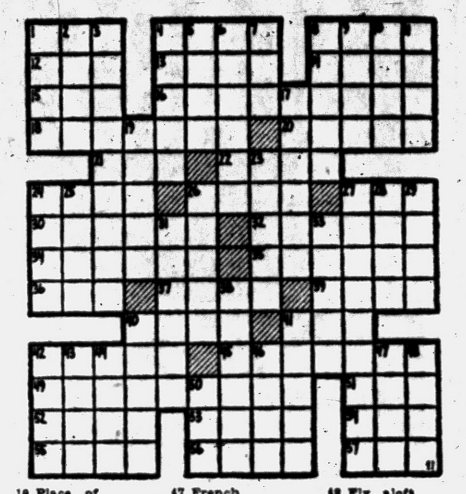

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "How much will you give me for this gun?" Bill Lutz, 30, asked bartender James McGranhan. "I don't need a gun," McGranhan replied. "Well, I need money," Lutz said, "and this is loaded." Officer James Ward appeared, disarmed Lutz and booked him on a charge of attempted robbery.

Produces Deep Sleep

French Scientist Reports New 'Vitamin Sedative'

CHICAGO (INS) — The French scientist who introduced the use of tranquilizer pills has reported on a new type of "vitamin sedative."

Called SCTZ, it is chemically one-half of the formula for vitamin B-1. It puts the patient into a deep sleep with little effect on his body system and has also shown remarkable possibilities for use in psychiatric treatment.

The report was made by Dr. Henri Laborit in Chicago at the opening session of the 22nd Annual Congress of the United States and Canadian section of the International College of Surgeons.

The French scientist, who also is famed for his work on artificial hibernation at the general military hospital, Val de Grace, explained to the 4,000 surgeons attending the meeting that SCTZ is given intravaneously in a two per cent solution.

In the operating room, it would have to be supplemented by some type of pain reliever since it does not produce analgesia (insensibility to pain) or anesthesia (loss of sensation) but only an "isolated loss of consciousness."

The importance of the new compound is that ordinary anesthetics affect heart action, whereas SCTZ used with a pain reliever prepares the patient for an operation with little effect on his circulatory, respiratory or neuromuscular systems.

Dr. Laborit said SCTZ also has been used in psychiatric therapy "with encouraging results in 25 patients" for control of agitation and in conditions requiring calm sleep.

Five persons suffering delirium showed "absolutely remarkable" reactions when treated with the drug, reported Dr. Laborit, "calm sleep occurred in three minutes and lasted eight hours."

Doctors Discuss Asian Flu

Priority Groups Get Vaccine First

Asian influenza vaccine should be administered first to "priority groups" according to the Michigan Health Officers Assn.

Oakland County Health Director Dr. John D. Monroe, a member of the association's board of directors, said the 61 health directors in attendance approved recommendations previously made by the State Department of Health. They are now to be directed to practicing physicians who will be involved in the fight against the anticipated epidemic.

Monroe said the group agreed the flu vaccine, to be effective, would have to be administered 10 to 14 days before exposure.

The group estimated the virus epidemic would attack between 15 to 20 per cent of the population. The scare should be over by February, he added.

PRIORITY

Due to the limited amount of vaccine, the association suggests it be administered first to priority groups. They were:

1. Individuals working in services necessary to care for the sick, maintaining the health of the community, such as nurses.

2. Service personnel who deal with the general public such as policemen, firemen and postal employes.

3. Those persons who in the opinion of the physician constitute a special medical risk.

It felt there was no reason to delay school or frown on public gatherings at the present time and agreed the vast majority of the cases are more favorably treated in the home, according to Monroe.

Besides the predicted flu epidemic, the group discussed problems and recommendations in school health, food born epidemics, tuberculosis control, the need for specific legislation concerning public health, and polio vaccine distribution.

Monroe added the doctors were in agreement that the free administration of the Salk vaccine should no longer be limited to children one to 14 years old and pregnant women. It should be administered without charge to all other age groups under certain financial conditions, he added.
