

Pontiac Div. Leads First Auto Sales Spurt of Year

DETROIT (AP) — There is glee among U.S. auto makers today for the first time in months.

Spring is here and in the first 10 days of April dealer sales topped those of the same period a year earlier.

It was the first time this year in which sales surpassed those of the comparable 10 days of 1966 — the second-best year in the industry's history.

Pontiac Motor Division sales during the period increased 17 per cent over last year.

"Our dealers tell us that the warmer

weather in most sections of the country has been a definite stimulant," said Thomas L. King, divisional general sales manager.

Pontiac figures show 26,159 sales during the period compared to 22,333 last year.

Reporting an 8 per cent gain in the April 1-10 period, American Motors Vice President Thomas A. Coupe said, "This is a firm indication that the spring selling market has opened up."

This feeling was echoed by others in the industry, which is viewed by many as a bellwether of the nation's economy.

Dealers sales in this month's opening 10 days totaled 207,357, compared with 199,660 in the previous April 1-10 period.

The gain was only 7,697 cars, but it represented 1967's first breakthrough.

January's sales were 17.5 per cent off the same 1966 month, February's down 23.8 per cent and March's 21.5 per cent lower.

Brothers From City on FBI Wanted List

Gordon and Charles Ervin, bandit brothers from Pontiac convicted together of armed robbery in 1954, have been named simultaneously to the FBI's list of 10 most wanted criminals.

The two, who escaped from Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson in October 1965, are considered extremely dangerous. The FBI said they are probably armed.

They were described as model prisoners before they cut their way through a trusty compound fence and escaped.

The Ervins were sentenced to 50-to-60 years in prison at a trial in Washtenaw County highlighted by an escape bid.

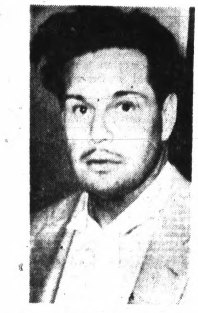

They broke out of a court detention room and crawled onto a ledge before being recaptured. Gordon was wounded by a policeman's bullet and Charles was injured in a 40-foot leap.

Their next appearance for trial was made on stretchers and they shouted threats at both the presiding judge and prosecutor when carried into the courtroom.

Both the judge, James R. Breakey Jr., and then former prosecuting attorney, Edmond F. Devine, were placed under police guard when the Ervins escaped in 1965.

The brothers, who studied courses ranging from human relations and public speaking to navigation and piano while in prison, are described as having "superior intelligence" by the FBI.

O'Brian Faces Murder Charge

A first-degree murder warrant was issued today against Donald O'Brian of Pontiac, an Ionia State Hospital escapee, in the rape-slaying of 10-year-old Rona Cypher of Grand Ledge.

O'Brian's arraignment was set for this afternoon in Grand Ledge before Justice of the Peace Louis Wirbel.

Grand Ledge Police Chief William Eveleth said O'Brian, 40, signed a written statement telling of the sex slaying of the child, after undergoing a lie detector test at the East Lansing State Police post.

He said O'Brian, committed to Ionia State Hospital as a criminal sexual psychopath in 1954, told him things about the killing only the slayer would have known.

Rona's body was found April 1 in the Grand River about a mile from her grandparents' home. Police said she had been knocked unconscious, raped and strangled.

O'Brian was first linked to the murder by Donald Ringler, 32, who escaped with O'Brian and two other patients March 26. All are back in custody.

Ringler, who gave himself up at his mother's home in Sturgis April 6, told police he and O'Brian traveled together until they parted in Grand Ledge the morning before the Cypher killing.

O'Brian was arrested Saturday in Odessa, Tex., and was returned to Michigan Tuesday after waiving extradition proceedings.

He was held last night at the Ionia County jail pending Circuit Court arraignment — tentatively set tomorrow — on a charge that he escaped confinement as a criminal psychopath.

O'Brian was committed to Ionia from Pontiac in December of 1954 after being charged with the rape-murder of a 55-year-old Pontiac woman. He was also linked to several other assaults on women, including the rape of a 16-year-old girl.

LBJ: Hemisphere in 'Urgent Decade'

this "a decade of urgency" for the hemisphere.

In his first formal speech at the 19-nation meeting, Johnson called for 10 years of intensive efforts on a broad front to speed the social and economic development of the Americas.

"I speak to you as a ready partner in that effort," he said.

Actually, Johnson's formal remarks were less attention-getting and significant than those he delivered yesterday at a private session with his summit colleagues.

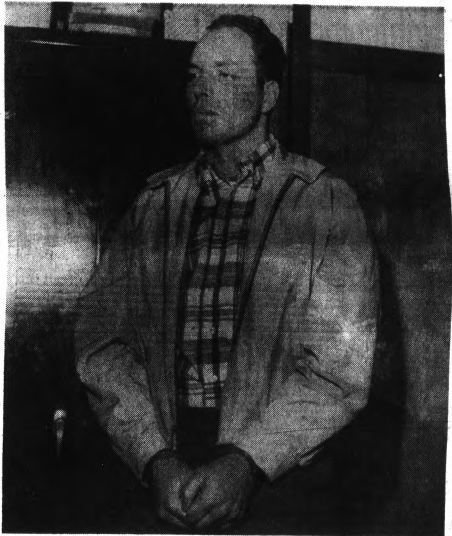

His earlier, informal statement had the look of a dramatic bid to still the clamor for more direct aid to Latin American nations.

KEY AREAS CITED

In his formal speech, the U.S. chief executive ticked off areas in which he said the United States was ready and eager to help to support a proposed Latin American common market, to help build big projects cutting across national boundaries (highways are an example), explore tariff advantages for all developing countries, to help modernize agriculture, and to promote better health and education.

"I pledge to you today," he said, "that I will do all I can, in my time of leadership, to help you meet these challenges."

Johnson's speech and his promises seemed to inject new life into a meeting that had been marked by backstage bickering among foreign ministers in the presummit negotiations.

School Board Approves Record Budget

Pontiac's public schools will need $15.7 million in operating funds for the 1967-68 school year, the Board of Education estimated last night. This is $2 million more than the current budget of $13.7 million.

The record budget was unanimously approved by the school board and will now be submitted to the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board to determine the schools' share of county taxes.

Preliminary budget estimates of $14.8 million were reviewed by the board March 1 but the inclusion of $673,259 for staff studies and salary increases has since increased the tentative total.

Salary negotiations are currently being held with all school employee groups, Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer explained.

He said the school board will adopt its final budget in June after the tax allocation has been made and other factors affecting school income from local taxes and from the state have been determined.

Related Stories, Pages C-3, C-7

INCREASE

Major reasons for the $2 million increase in the adopted budget over the current allocations are an anticipated increase of 481 pupils and additional instructional expenses totaling over $1.3 million.

"School district income for 1967-68 has been estimated in the preliminary budget at $14,085,225," Whitmer said. "The income estimate provides that all proceeds from the 8.75 mill extra voted levy will be used for operating expense."

"Since the allocation board takes no cognizance of voted millage, a millage in excess of 20 mills will represent the allocated millage required to meet this budget."

Head Start Plan to Federal OEO

Resumption of Pontiac's Head Start program after a year's absence may come this summer if the Federal Office of Economic Opportunity approves the local program budget of $230,000.

A proposed preschool program for 420 deprived children in primarily Negro areas of the city is being submitted for federal approval and funds of $181,000, Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer reported to the Pontiac Board of Education last night.

A deadlock between the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity and the school board kept the Head Start program for 350 preschoolers from resuming last September.

Whitmer said he is confident the federal funds will arrive by the summer for the eight-week program.

Twenty-eight teachers, 28 teacher aides and 16 community aides are proposed to work with the children for half a day and their parents for the other half of the day.

Centers for the program will be Webster and Bethune schools on the West Side and Frost and Herrington on the East Side, Whitmer said.

Nhu Daughter Dies

PARIS (AP) — Miss Ngo Dinh Le Thut, 22, daughter of Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, former first lady of South Vietnam, was fatally injured yesterday when her car and two trucks collided, authorities reported.

Sick Adenauer Weakening

BONN, Germany (AP) — Konrad Adenauer, seriously ill with flu and bronchitis, was weakening today.

A bulletin from the home of the 91-year-old former chancellor of West Germany said: "The organism's powers of resistance are declining. Heart and circulatory functions are weaker. His personal physician and doctors of Bonn University under the direction of Prof. Adolf Heymer are continuing to care for the patient."

Heymer, head of the university hospital, left Adenauer's house late this morning through the back entrance, shaking his head to newsmen's requests for information.

One visitor today was Konrad Adenauer, the ex-chancellor's eldest son, who is an executive of a coal firm in Cologne. He and his wife looked concerned but would not speak to reporters.

Doctors kept vigil all through the night at the aged statesman's home, in Rhondorf, overlooking the Rhine River.

ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY

Karl Ackermann, chief press officer of Adenauer's Christian Democratic party, announced yesterday that Adenauer was stricken with flu complicated by bronchitis that put a "strain on the whole organism."

Members of the Adenauer family appeared at the white gabled house, including a son, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Paul Adenauer.

Korean Border Cash Biggest Since '53

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—About 100 North and South Korean soldiers exchanged fire for two hours before dawn today in the biggest border clash since the 1953 Korean armistice. At least three North Koreans and one South Korean were killed.

It was the third clash in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea in two weeks. At least 12 Koreans have been killed, 11 of them from the North.

The South Korean government charged the Communists with trying to cause unrest to affect the South Korean presidential election May 3.

The United Nations command said the gunfire today started when a 12-man South Korean patrol spotted three North Korean intruders about 425 yards south of the armistice line dividing the demilitarized zone.

MET BY REINFORCEMENTS

It said that when the patrol attacked the intruders, it was fired on by a reinforced North Korean platoon of 40 to 60 men.

Two South Korean officers and 34 enlisted men moved up to help the outnumbered patrol, the command said, and the South Koreans began firing artillery — the first reported use of artillery since the armistice.

Besides the one South Korean killed, three others were wounded, the U.N. command reported.

The South Korean army said the Communists left behind three bodies when they withdrew north of the demilitarized zone. The clash occurred about 70 miles northeast of Seoul near the iron triangle of Korean war days.

INVESTIGATION CALLED

The U.N. command called for the joint observer team to conduct an on-the-spot investigation of the incident later today and demanded a meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission Friday to protest the Communist actions.

Apparently no U.S. soldiers were involved in today's clash.

U.S. 2nd Division soldiers and North Koreans clashed in the demilitarized zone April 5. The U.N. command, which is headed by a U.S. general, said four North Koreans were killed. North Korea claimed five of its civil policemen were killed.

South Korean officials said four North Korean intruders were killed Monday in the demilitarized zone, but the North Koreans denied any of their men were involved.

Library Week Panel Talk to Focus on Job Potential

BIRMINGHAM — Job potential in the library field will be spotlighted during National Library Week, April 16-22, at Baldwin Public Library, 351 Martin, with a panel discussion, "Kaleidoscope on Libraries," Wednesday.

The panel discussion, which will start at 10 a.m., will feature outstanding area librarians.

They will be Mrs. Barbara Gordon, science librarian at Oakland University Library; Elizabeth Smith, head of the library at Campbell-Ewald Co.; and Mrs. Donald McMillen, librarian at Baldwin Elementary School, Pontiac.

Chairman of the panel will be Jeanne Lloyd, director of Baldwin Public Library.

Preceding the program, an informal coffee period will be held at 9:30 a.m. A tour of the library will be conducted at 11 a.m. following the discussion.

"In view of the current shortage of librarians, as well as the increasing number of women interested in careers, it is hoped that this meeting will attract many women," said Miss Lloyd.

Registrations are still being taken for some classes in the spring session which begins Monday at the Bloomfield Art Association.

A number of courses are being offered including drawing and painting, oil, acrylic and watercolor, figure drawing and painting, portraiture, lithography, sculpture, pottery, weaving, metalcraft and jewelry.

Further details may be obtained by calling the art center at 1516 S. Cranbrook.

Continuation of Truck Riff Jolts Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Most of the nation's truck fleet rolled across the highways today after the end of a three-day lockout, but 56,000 Chicago drivers and dock workers remained off the job and turned back trucks from other points.

As a result of the nationwide lockout, tons of merchandise remained stacked up at loading docks and warehouses. Spokesmen estimated thousands of plant workers would remain idle the rest of the week before operations return to normal and depleted supplies are replenished.

The auto industry, unable to get parts, still had some 24,000 workers laid off.

Chicago was hardest hit, however, with thousands of factory workers idle and food shortages threatened if the local work stoppage continues.

NO AGREEMENT

Chicago's 4,700 trucking firms, their drivers and dock workers were not parties to the tentative agreement reached Wednesday in Washington between the Teamsters Union and long-haul truckers.

A federal mediator scheduled a new negotiating session in Chicago today in an effort to end the work stoppage.

Trucking Employers Inc. estimated 250,000 Teamsters members were idled by the nationwide lockout it ordered Sunday in retaliation for scattered drivers' strike against some members of the organization.

Despite Court Opinion

County Districters to Go On

BY JOE MULLEN

Despite this week's Michigan Supreme Court opinion that dampened prospects of county redistricting, Oakland County's Reapportionment Committee will proceed with its work.

The decision to continue efforts to complete a reapportionment plan by the May 15 deadline was made in conjunction with a public hearing last night at the county courthouse.

Some 35 persons attended the hearings and more than half of them were county, city, township or village officials.

Noting that the five-member reapportionment committee presently is concentrating on a 27-district plan, two members of the County Board of Supervisors urged the committee to consider 35 districts. Legislation specifies a range of 25 to 35 districts for Oakland County.

Earle Grisdale, supervisor from Clawson, suggested 35 districts because he said the maximum would allow better representation.

FROM NORTVILLE

Sydney Friel, supervisor from Northville, called for the highest number of districts to avoid the loss of identity of small communities in the lower apportionment.

In answering the requests for higher districting, John D. Murphy, chairman of the reapportionment committee, said fewer districts mean less crossing of community boundaries.

William L. Mainland, a supervisor from Milford Township, noted that the State of Wisconsin has undertaken redistricting at the maximum range allowed and the plan is considered successful.

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson, a reapportionment committee member, told the gathering that the committee had made no final commitment on a plan and suggested that anyone could submit a proposal.

COURT TOPIC

Bronson also commented on the opinion of the State Supreme Court that the new law requiring one-man, one-vote reapportionment of boards of supervisors violates the constitution because the constitutional provision that boards of supervisors have one member from each township is valid.

He said the opinion was of an advisory nature and not the same as an opinion rendered in litigation.

The U.S. Supreme Court is expected soon to rule on a constitutional challenge to the law by districting case in New York State that would establish a national guideline.

Murphy called a meeting of his committee for 3 p.m. Monday following the public hearing.

DONALD N. FREY MATTHEW S. MCLAUGHLIN

Top-Level Promotions Go to Two Area Execs at Ford

The appointment of Donald N. Frey of Bloomfield Township to a new position of vice president for product development for the Ford Motor Co. was announced today by Henry Ford II, chairman of the board.

Succeeding Frey as general manager of the Ford Division is Matthew S. McLaughlin, also of Bloomfield Township. He was also elected a vice president of the company.

Frey's new post was created to provide greater integration and coordination of the company's vehicle planning and development activities, according to Ford.

Vice president and general manager of the Ford Division since January 1965, Frey of 1952 Waddington will report to Lee A. Iacocca, vice president of the car and truck group.

Frey joined the company in 1951 as manager of the metallurgical department in the scientific laboratory, became a senior director of the laboratory four years later, and in 1957 was named director of the Engineering Research Office.

A native of St. Louis, Mo., McLaughlin, 49, of 1382 Juniper had been assistant general manager of the Ford Division since January 1962.

He joined Ford in its sales organization at Chester, Pa., in 1946, later becoming assistant district sales manager there.

He was appointed general sales manager of the Ford Division in January 1960 and remained in that post until being appointed assistant general manager.

3 City Plants Back to Normal

Daily operations were back to normal at Pontiac's three major automotive plants today as the nation's truckers resumed delivery of needed parts throughout the country.

GMC Truck & Coach Division, forced to lay off some 5,000 workers by the combined strike-lockout, reported resumption of full-scale truck assembly work.

Suspects Cleared in Detroit Shooting

DETROIT (AP) — At least a dozen men were cleared of suspicion Wednesday in the wounding of 13-year-old Paula Ross.

Miss Elissa Lenardon, 18, a Wayne State University coed, looked at the men at police headquarters and said they were not the one who attempted to accost her.

Police are working on the theory that the man who fired a bullet through Miss Lenardon's purse Monday was the same man who shot Miss Ross in the neck that day.

Tightening of Draft Laws Urged by Retired General

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retired four-star Gen. Mark W. Clark, charging "an element of treason" in attempts by some youths to avoid the draft, urged the existing Selective Service System tightened.

Talking of mounting numbers of youths seeking deferment as conscientious objectors, Clark told a Senate panel Wednesday: "Now you have a new breed of cat running around."

"A lot of people just don't want to fight or go to war," Clark, who headed U.S. military operations for part of the Korean war, told the Senate Armed Services Committee he opposes a presidential advisory commission's proposal for a new draft law. He said it could involve "fraud or favoritism."

FAVORS

He strongly favors drafting 18- and 20-year-olds first, and continuing college deferments but only if the college students were put in the draft pool when evaded.

Clark said throwing college graduates into the draft pool would ensure the "professional student who stays in college six to eight years to avoid the draft."

COMPLAINED

He complained that little was being done to prosecute the growing number of draft-card burners. He urged swift, severe punishment for such offenders.

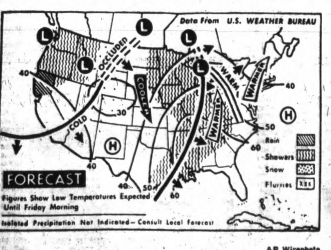

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, ranking Republican committee member, asked Clark what was being done about cases of possible draft evasion.

Executions Are Becoming Rare in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 400 men wait today in the death row of state prisons, condemned to die for a crime.

Among them is Lester E. Morford II in Nevada, scheduled to die April 19 for slaying a bridegroom. Among them was Aaron Mitchell executed in California Wednesday for killing a policeman.

The number of executions in the United States has declined steadily in recent years. There was only one last year, in Oklahoma. Mitchell was the first this year.

The big majority of states have carried out no executions for years.

Many condemned men have gotten new chances because of recent court decisions prescribing new rules on the rights of criminals. Some governors have commuted sentences to life, and some have followed an undeclared moratorium on death by execution.

Lenore Talks of Family Goals

"The manner in which we treat each other in our family life largely determines the life of success we can achieve in striving for a life of happiness and harmony," Mrs. George Romney said at a Family Service of Oakland County dinner last night.

Michigan's first lady discussed goals for family living before some 200 persons at Devon Gables. She pointed out family life is both a challenge and opportunity for Michigan families.

Officers for the coming year were elected at the 17th annual meeting. Grant Howell, Royal Oak, replaced Dr. John N. Dorsey, Jr., of 1171 Yosemite, Birmingham, as president of the agency.

Mrs. Romney said a constructive well-functioning relationship between a man and his wife is a vital part of family happiness. She explained that the strength of this relationship—or lack of it—will be transmitted to the children and influential in forming their sense of values.

"Children will be what we are. They get their values by the way we live," she emphasized.

TODAY'S VALUES

Mrs. Romney discussed to day's changing values, pointing to mention that many people no longer believed that faithfulness in marriage was important.

"I'm sure I'm old-fashioned," she candidly added, saying she felt faithfulness was important.

"I've talked to delinquent children and they all tell me, 'You adults haven't given us goals and ideas. You've let us down — and then you tell us to save the world,'" she said.

House OKs Save-the-Trees Resolution

LANSING (AP) — The House about 70 trees along a 1.6-mile stretch of M53 south of Almont — in Spencer's district.

The resolution said the department's policy of removing trees within 20 feet of a road way "should be tempered with the preservation of trees wherever possible."

The resolution, sponsored by Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, was chiefly aimed at saving

The resolution said, department statistics showed there had been no serious auto wrecks on that section of M53 since 1963.

TAX RESOLUTION

Another resolution, introduced Wednesday by 11 House Democrats and referred to committee, would put the Legislature on record as urging Congress to increase from $600 to $1,200 the federal income tax exemption per dependent.

The resolution noted the $600 figure was established in 1939, and that costs and taxes have risen considerably since then.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — U.S. District Judge William E. Steckler sentenced George Lee Williams, 30, of Birmingham, Ala., to 2½ years in prison Wednesday for stealing a Greyhound bus from the terminal in his home town last January and driving it 510 miles to visit a lady friend at Camby, Ind.

'66 Record Year in State Road Toll

EAST LANSING (AP) — Traffic accidents set records of 2,296 killed and 156,694 injured in Michigan last year, State Police said in a final tabulation Wednesday.

The former records were 2,175 killed in 1937 and 155,258 injured in 1965.

Fatalities were up 160, or 7 per cent, over the 1,236 in 1965, with injuries up 1,436, or one per cent, over the 1965 record.

Last year was the fifth in a row that deaths increased. It was the eighth consecutive rise for injuries.

The 302,890 accidents reported, was down 7,718, or 2.5 per cent, from the high of 310,598 in 1965 of lost jobs. He designed and built the lock and docks at Aberdeen, Scotland, and the Cavour Canal in Italy.

Cherry Growers Vote on Market Plan

LANSING (AP) — Ballots have been mailed to Michigan's 3,694 cherry producers for a vote on a proposed cherry marketing program.

The ballots, mailed by the State Agriculture Department, must be returned with a postmark date no later than April 24 to be counted in the vote.

At a hearing in Lansing March 17, most testimony from cherry growers favored the proposed program.

In the vote, growers must also fill in blanks showing the tonnage of red tart and sweet cherries produced by the grower in the past three years.

To be adopted, the proposal needs a favorable vote from two-thirds of the growers representing 51 per cent of the total tonnage, or a favorable vote from 51 per cent of the growers representing two-thirds of the total tonnage.

The proposed program calls for gathering of more marketing information, greater emphasis on research for new cherry uses and more promotion and advertising of Michigan cherries.

The assessment to growers would be increased from $2 to $3 a ton.

A Michigan Cherry Marketing Commission would replace the present Michigan Cherry Commission.

Michigan, the top cherry producer of the nation, grows more than half of the total national red tart cherry crop each season.

Ecorse Says No

ECORSE (AP)—By a vote of 758-475, Ecorse voters have rejected a charter amendment that would have provided pension increases for retired policemen and firemen. The proposed rate would have guaranteed minimum pensions of $270 a month. Some retired policemen and firemen now receive as little as $95 a month.

Southern California a Drifter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For years, people have been migrating to Los Angeles, and now a western edge of North America is moving northwestward at a rate of about two inches a year.

"This is the reason, or one of the reasons," Crowell continued, "that we have earthquakes. Earthquakes are the periodic adjustments of this grand movement of the continental margin."

What Snow And Sleet Couldn't Do!

David Lawrence Says:

Reds' Aid to North Viet Ignored

WASHINGTON — The biggest mistake made in conducting international affairs is the tendency to ignore realistic facts and "overlook the obvious."

A sociated Press and United Press International d i s patches from Washington have just LAWRENCE informed the country that the Soviet Union and Red China have agreed to an agreement to assure the steady flow of Soviet war materials to North Vietnam.

Even after this news became known, State Department officials were urging Congress to pass measures to improve trade relations with Communist-bloc countries in Eastern Europe.

Yet the government's own intelligence sources abroad have reported that "some sort of tripartite understanding" has been reached between Hanoi, Peking and Moscow.

Whatever their ideological differences, they now have come to the conclusion that they must stand together against the United States.

The North Vietnamese have been getting small arms and light equipment from China for some time, but they depend on Russia for such items as MIG jet fighters and anti-aircraft missiles.

Most of these supplies are going by sea, but some of the more important items connected with missile operations are being shipped overland.

According to international law, every nation may trade with either side in a war but takes the risk of having its trade interrupted and war supplies seized and confiscated as contraband.

The United States has taken no steps to halt Russian vessels or the ships of any of the other countries which are steadily moving in and out of the port of Haiphong.

Certainly the bulk of Soviet support which is going by sea — particularly all the oil as well as decks of military trucks — could be prevented from being landed at Haiphong. Also, supply lines north of Hanoi could be bombed.

One point being raised by opponents of a blockade is that no actual state of war has been declared by Congress.

Mrs. Mary Spragg of 68 Poplar; 60th birthday.

John Chester McTavish of 939 Boston; 81th birthday.

Wingline Furniture Store of Holly; 100th anniversary.

But there are many precedents in international law for the interception of arms and munitions without any declaration of war.

The Vietnam casualties are continuing to mount. Military men privately are expressing concern that they should be expected to win a war without being given the right to employ essential military tactics—namely, to bomb all supply lines of the enemy and intercept at sea any shipments of war materials.

What is puzzling is that the Congress of the United States has not taken cognizance of the Soviet and Red Chinese activities in supplying war materials to the Hanoi government.

There are many members who feel that a resolution condemning the action would be a warning to both Red China and the Soviet Union.

It would tell them that all the conventional weapons and tactics of war would be employed to stop assaults against the American Army and allied troops as they seek to protect the territorial integrity of the Republic of South Vietnam.

Voice of the People:

'Finances Are Needed for Necessities of City'

In answer to his letter asking for a positive program from the City of Pontiac, I ask Mr. Douglas where he has been that he doesn't know of the many necessities of this City.

Mr. Douglas was recently elected president of Oakland County AFL-CIO Council by a few delegates from the unions of this area. He is always most interested in the firefighter's union, of which he is president. He states, "Before a vote is taken on any tax proposal, the City of Pontiac must present a positive program to the citizens of Pontiac." I hope union leaders of our City will soon quit playing their local union politics and get down to the serious problems that face our City.

In 1964, 1965 and 1966 the City employees received the largest pay raises in history but we still had picket lines around City Hall because some of the so-called leaders didn't get everything they demanded. Mr. Douglas will always support shorter work weeks with more pay for the employees, but never openly come out for a tax increase to pay for these raises and services. I am a member of the labor movement and understand its problems. I also know that it costs tax dollars to pay our City employees.

I hope the rank and file members of the union who helped elect this present City Commission over the objections of Mr. Douglas and some of his so-called labor leaders of Oakland County know it takes extra finance to raise the wage rate of City employees equal to surrounding areas. This only gives the citizens of Pontiac the protection and services they deserve as taxpayers.

I ask Pontiac to give any coming vote for increasing City finance its greatest consideration. This commission will always, as in the past, have a positive and constructive program.

Supervisors 'Re-Run' Hamlin Election

Surprises frequently occur in the election of public officials, but none appeared in the election of DELOS

HAMLIN

HAMLIN to a 12th consecutive term as chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors. It would have only been a surprise if he had NOT been re-elected.

Prior to HAMLIN's "long-run," hold on the office, no chairman had ever filled it for more than two consecutive years. That his colleagues seem inclined to make him chairman "in perpetuity" is not only a tribute to his outstanding ability but evidence of the sagacity of the board.

School Libraries, Books Lack Is Bad Reading

More than 34,270 schools in America, attended by 9.6 million students, have no school libraries. In those which do have libraries, there is only one librarian for every 1,606 students.

Less than 15 per cent of all two-year college libraries meet the 20,000 volume minimum standard recommended by the American Library Association. Less than 30 per cent of all four-year colleges have 50,000 volumes.

Per capita expenditures for public libraries is $2.

These facts provide a somewhat somber background for the 10th anniversary of the National Library Week Program, April 16-22. Since the NLW's inception in 1957, public support for libraries in terms of Federal aid has increased from $2 million to about $500 million in 1966-67.

Prospects Bright for English Channel Tunnel

Indications are that it will finally get under the ground—the long-debated English Channel tunnel, that is.

Originally proposed nearly a century ago, the "Channel," as the British refer to it, that would connect France and Britain, has been on and off again like a woman selecting a hat.

Three years ago, however, President DE GAULLE and Queen ELIZABETH II agreed in principle on the undertaking, and a year later a tentative plan for financing the $450-million project was initiated.

Under the plan, private underwriters have until Saturday to submit proposals to the French and British governments for

Compulsion Needed to Unite World

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — If tomorrow a nuclear war bathed every continent in bombs, the survivors would probably clamor for a one-world government as the best hope of ending the war.

They would not have dreamed of such a solution, or permitted it, before the bombs made it seem a necessity for survival. Without compulsion, mankind isn't likely soon to end the barriers between nations.

Since nationalism is only an extension of tribalism, and man is still primitive, he can't, without compulsion, stop thinking in tribal terms. The transition from "me first" to "me too" is a long way off.

No wonder then that neither President Johnson nor any of the Latin-American presidents at the summit meeting in Punta del Este, Uruguay, is apt to come up with a solution for the special interests of them all.

The Latin Americans went into this meeting with feuds, disputes over borders, and insistence on trade preferences in the common market the United States wants them to create by the 1980's.

"The disputes, differences and antagonisms of the Latin Americans are even more true of the new African nations which are far less advanced and experienced than the Latin Americans who, themselves, are behind the times.

Also IN TURMOIL.

But neither the United States nor the rest of the world can afford to look down its nose at the Latin Americans or Africans, since they have been in turmoil since their beginning, and they have been at it longer.

Johnson would like the Latin Americans to agree on a common market to make trade easier for the benefit of them all. But each is primarily interested in its own problems and benefits.

This isn't peculiar to the Latin Americans. There has been no bed of roses in Europe's Common Market where that extreme nationalist, French President Charles de Gaulle, kept the British out.

If World War II hadn't almost destroyed them, it's doubtful the West Europeans would have shown for generations as much, although limited, cooperation as they have since the war.

A NECESSITY

Survival there, of course, was the compelling necessity.

And the United States, despite all its help for them, can hardly claim unselfishness in its solicitude for the people of Latin America.

A peaceful, prosperous Latin America is extremely important to the United States in a couple of vital ways.

First, it's a great benefit to America's national security, for if the area is prosperous, a Communist intrusion is less likely; and, second, a prosperous Latin America is a good trade outlet for U. S. products.

Navy Bombardment Restricted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy bombardment of North Vietnam's coast is restricted by orders from Washington to the lower half of the country, Pentagon sources said today.

U.S. ships engaged in shore bombardment authorized Feb. 27 are prohibited from shelling Communist targets north of the 20th Parallel, sources said.

This keeps naval fire at least 60 miles from North Vietnam's key port of Haiphong, major point of entry for Soviet and Communist Chinese shipments of war goods.

Other administration restrictions prevent Air Force and Navy planes from bombing MIG fields, zones circling Hanoi and Haiphong, and a buffer area along the North Vietnam-China border.

Although the Joint Chiefs of Staff recommended it months ago, the administration has resisted pressure to knock out or blockade Haiphong, fearing such a move might bring greater participation in the war by the Soviet Union or Red China.

Unable to seal off Haiphong, the chiefs urged last November greater use of Navy power to help curb the sea and coastal flow of supplies to Communist troops in South Vietnam.

The Navy launched patrols last fall to cut off supply-laden barges and junks.

In February the Navy was authorized to bombard the coast and mine southern waterways in North Vietnam. Marine and Army artillery were permitted to fire across the so-called demilitarized zone.

In the past 45 days the Navy cruiser Canberra and as many as five destroyers at once have roamed up and down about 250 miles of North Vietnam coast line above the demilitarized zone. Usually they work in pairs.

Navy spokesmen say the 7th Fleet vessels effectively have blasted scores of Communist supply craft, barges, ferries, radar sites, radio towers, highway choke points, storage areas, transshipment facilities, surface-to-air missile batteries, and Communist shore defenses.

Spokesmen say the bombardment has all but stopped the southward movement of war material down the coast.

The Pentagon declined to say how extensive the bombardment is, but sources place the volume at more than 1,000 rounds a day.

Military communiques show the Navy has launched barrages within about five miles of the 20th Parallel.

Enemy gun batteries have fired on U.S. ships on several occasions.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Eugene A. Cernan, taking diving instructions Wednesday, got a reminder in the Navy pool of his space-walking troubles last June. His mask fogged up.

Cernan's promenade in space during a Gemini 9 flight had to be cut short because perspiration put a blinding fog across the visor of his space helmet.

The same thing happened Wednesday during training of the astronauts as they are getting familiarized with functioning under water.

Royal Family's Art Status Lifted by Prince Charles

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Eighteen-year-old Prince Charles is subduing the persistent comment that Britain's royal family is uninterested in the arts.

It was seldom bruited about publicly, but often — usually in arty, arty circles — one heard such acid remarks as:

"Music? Why, my dear, the queen's favorite music is Housewives Choice."

Housewives Choice is a morning radio feature of British Broadcasting Corp.

"Painting? Why, my dear, they're no more interested in serious painting than I am in comic strips."

"Literature? Why, my dear chap, everyone knows their interest goes no deeper than James Bond."

STOPS TALK

Now Prince Charles' talents have stopped some of this talk. In public within the last few months he has sung, acted, played the trumpet and knocked off a bit of Mozart and Schumann and Benjamin Britten on the viola. A music master says he possesses perfect pitch.

Prince Charles started slowly, first by mastering the drums, the bagpipe and then the electric guitar, even to the point of performing with a pop group at the palace.

Then at Gordonstoun School in Scotland he played Macbeth, sang in a performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Pirates of Penzance," became accomplished on the viola and said that he is fascinated by Shakespeare.

As to the rumors that the royal family is uninterested in culture — persons who know them well dismiss the rumors as wild exaggerations, but admit there may be a germ of truth in the gossip.

INHERITED COLLECTION

The queen inherited one of the greatest art collections and can talk with interest and considerable knowledge about old masters.

But, aside from her family and her job her main interest is in horses. Prince Philip's mind is scientific and mechanical.

When it comes to the theater, the royal ladies are most often seen at comedies and farces.

Friends of Charles say his interest in the arts is developing at a rapid rate and predict that by the time he gets to Cambridge this autumn he will be a culture vulture.

King's Viet War Opposition Stirs Fears of Rights Leaders

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King's outspoken opposition to the Vietnam war has raised fears of stiffening white reaction among civil rights leaders, but few think it will have an appreciable effect on local rights issues, an Associated Press survey indicates.

The conclusion was drawn from interviews with Negro and white officials in cities around the nation.

"We hear it and we don't," said the Rev. P. H. Lewis, a Negro leader in Selma, Ala., where King staged a massive voting rights drive in 1965. "I don't think it will have any great effect. I don't think it will hurt us."

But in San Francisco, Percy Steele, a Negro and executive director of the Bay Area Urban League, said: "It's a mistake to put the two issues together. It kind of fragments the whole focus of the civil rights movement."

"WEAKENS BOTH" Steele said King's stand weakens the civil rights movement and will hurt the war effort.

The interviews reflected a close division of favorable and unfavorable reactions to King's position opposing U.S. involvement in Vietnam. Several persons said King's statements offered an excuse for white resistance to the civil rights movement.

"I think we are going to find some reaction now regardless of what position Dr. King or others take on the war or other issues," said Atlanta's vice mayor, Sam Massell. He said white Americans are finding it more difficult to cope with issues of open housing and improved job opportunities for Negroes.

"It would be this way whether or not there was a peace movement. People will use it as an excuse," Massell said.

King, replying to criticism, said Wednesday in Los Angeles he had not advocated a fusion of the civil rights and peace movements. He said a myth to that effect had developed and said it was a nonexistent issue.

Defining his position on the war, King said: "I feel this war in Vietnam is damaging to the soul of our nation. It is hurting the civil rights movement more than my taking a stand on the war. I do not believe our nation can be a moral leader of justice, equality and democracy if it is trapped in the role of a self-appointed world policeman."

King had drawn criticism from Whitney M. Young Jr., head of the National Urban League; the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; and others. The two issues should remain separate, said Young, the NAACP board of directors and Ralph J. Bunche, an undersecretary for political affairs at the United Nations.

King said his personal experience with Negroes "in all walks of life convinces me that there is deep and widespread disenchantment with the war in Vietnam."

Among those taking a different view was Bayard Rustin, who organized the 1963 civil rights march in Washington. In an article in "War-Peace Report, An Opinion Magazine," published prior to King's speech April 4 opposing the war, Rustin said supporters of the civil rights movement had not bargained for a campaign on behalf of the peace move. Support of civil rights, he wrote, "does not include an alliance with the peace movement."

"NO ONRUSH"

Rustin said, "There is not going to be a tremendous onrush of Negroes into the peace movement" because of more immediate domestic problems. Mississippi's NAACP leader, Charles Evers, said the issues raised by King's position "won't affect us one way or the other." Evers, who said he opposed the war but would serve again if called to military duty, said he could understand King's feelings.

"Whites are looking for an excuse, anyway," Evers said. "They are going to 'backlash' anyway."

The Rev. Samuel Williams, an Atlanta Negro leader, said he expected King's role in opposing the war as unjust and wrong would aggravate white resistance and reaction but produce no appreciable effect on local issues.

Defining his position on the war, King said: "I feel this war

Marsh, who said he has not worked in the civil rights movement through an organization, said, "I do think it is conceivable that his (King's) remarks could hurt the civil rights movement — but it would be tragic if they did."

Texas City Reflects on 1947 Holocaust

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP) — workers. In addition, 3,000 per- An orange-black puff of smoke, sons were injured. Two-thirds of bellowed from the Grandcamp, the city's buildings and homes a French ship laden with Amer- were destroyed, with damage estimated at $32 million.

Twenty years later the Texas City disaster remains the worst industrial tragedy in American history.

The initial explosion blew the Grandcamp in every direction, setting off chain-reaction explo- sions in oil refinery tanks around the city.

Monsanto workers were trapped in the plant's blazing chemicals and white-hot twist- ing network of pipes.

Two small planes which were hovering over the ship for an aerial view of the strangely beautiful orange-black fire be- came victims. The wings of one simply folded; the other was blown to bits and all four per- ished.

At least 561 persons were killed, including 227 Monsanto sons aboard perished.

A 15-foot tidal wave created by the blast forced a huge barge onto the shore, and tugs scur- ried back to Galveston across the bay.

Boy Scouts manned emer- gency shelters. School gymnasiums became morgues and lists of chylk-scrawled names on black- boards were monitored by mourning women, as in a Greek sea tragedy.

Every 15 minutes for days to come, Army and Navy planes flew in blood plasma. Nearly as often, another oil-covered body was fished from port waters.

Striking telephone workers left picket lines to repair the switchboard system and then stay for shifts on end to connect emergency calls.

Women and children were evacuated from the broken city as rumors spread that the High Flyer was about to blow. More than a thousand men stayed to help in the rescue.

STUCK — Smoke blackens the sky over the burning Monsanto chemical plant in the holocaust which claimed 561 lives in Texas City, Tex., April 16, 1947. The explosion of the nitrate-laden French ship Grandchamp touched off the tragedy that destroyed two-thirds of the city, causing damage estimated at $32 million.

Navy, AF Boosting Quotas of Women

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Newfeatures

WASHINGTON — The Navy is the first of the military serv- ices to act on President Johnson's order that more women be given a chance to don uniforms to free more men for fighting jobs.

The force of women officers and enlisted Waves is being in- creased by 20 per cent. They will relieve men in such noncombat assignments as supply, medical and finance.

The Air Force also is falling in line by raising its quota of WAF officers from 750 to 850 and enlisted women from 5,000 to 6,000. Meanwhile, a study is being made of whether to raise it more.

Its big problem, says the Air Force, is that so many of its women get married and leave the service. It has taken about 2,000 new enlistments a year to keep 5,000 women on the rolls.

To try and cut down the turnover, the Air Force is making three changes:

- WAF's married to servicemen will not be discharged if they can be stationed with their husbands.
- A WAF may be assigned to any installation in the United States.
- Six career fields are being added for women—photo interpretation, supply services, intelligence operations, data process, legal and investigations.

ASKING FOR VOLUNTEERS

Also the Air Force is asking for WAF volunteers with ad- ministrative and stenographic skills to go to Vietnam.

The Army is still trying to figure out how it can use more women in uniform.

President Johnson issued his order, he said, when he found women are willing to volunteer in far greater numbers than the services would accept.

'CHARRED RECTANGLE'

The waterfront was a charred rectangle one mile long and a half mile wide.

Within 24 hours, a stark an- nouncement from Monsanto president, Bill Rand, penetrated the smoke and blood-filled haze of rescuers.

"We will rebuild," Rand said. "Those days were almost un- bearable," recalls Emmet F. Lowry, a construction firm magnate who now is mayor.

"At every turn, you realized friends and relatives had been killed. With reports coming in by the hundreds, it was almost beyond comprehension," he said.

"But when the Monsanto pres- ident made his statement, and you realized how much he had lost, it set everybody to change their attitudes, to think about cleaning up and getting the city back on its feet again."

Only two industries, molasses and burlap bag firms, did not rebuild. Two years later Mon- santo replaced its ruined $20- million plant with a $26-million one.

The cause of the fire on the Grandcamp has never been pin- pointed, despite 14 years of in- legal maneuvering, including suits by the U.S. and French governments against each other. One judge said it must have been simultaneous combustion from a unique combination of factors which scientists have never been able to reproduce in laboratories.

Patriotic Charlie Rates Highest Marks as Soldier

By TOM TIEDE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. CU CHI, Vietnam—(NEA) — American soldiers have traditionally held their opponents in contempt. In bygone wars the habit was to belittle both the courage and capabilities of the men on the other side.

Germans were Krauts. Japanese were yellow-bellies. And North Koreans were gooks. But this time around it's different. Here the GIs have tagged the adversary almost sentimentally. They call him Charlie. And they are the first to admit his worth as a soldier is abundant.

NOBLE REPRESENTATIVE Take Alpha Company's Charlie as example.

He was a scraggly little imp who looked as if he hadn't eaten in days. But he had it in him, that one. And, rightly or wrongly, he represented his peculiar patriotism in the noblest of manner.

Alpha Company, part of the 25th Division, ran into Charlie during a sweep-and-clear operation in the heart of a nearby rain forest.

He was captured in a small hamlet. He was the only young man in the area and he had no identification. There was little doubt as to his loyalties and he was bound and questioned immediately.

PRISONER SILENT "Where is your unit?" Charlie said nothing. "Are you alone here?" Still silence.

"Are we near your unit?" The prisoner was mum.

ACTS SOPHISTICATED When it became clear he was not going to talk, the questioning stopped.

And while Alpha Company mapped out its next move, Charlie sat in fixed posture, acting as sophisticated as possible for a bushy-headed peasant dressed in slopchy pajamas.

The GIs' situation was not uncommon. One VC probably meant the presence of others.

The question was were the others still lurking around? Or had they beat it for friendlier pastures?

The surrounding terrain gave a possible hint. The hamlet was flanked by a large clearing. After of the clearing the jungle grew thick as green bricks.

The U.S. direction of assault was towards that jungle and thus the possibility was well-defined the VC may have bailed a trap.

With that in mind, Alpha Company decided to play it as safely as possible. The men pulled Charlie to his feet, turned him around, pointed him towards the jungle and prodded him in the back.

"You lead!" they said.

Charlie did as he was told. Without changing expressions he walked to the front of the lead element, took a 100-foot advantage and walked off towards the jungle, back straight, head up.

KNOW THE GAME The soldiers left plenty of air between themselves and him. He was strictly a test tube.

It was by no means a cruel arrangement, though. Charlie knew the game and if there were any danger he had only to stop and point it out.

He didn't, however. He just walked. Across the clearing. And into the woods.

SPRINGS TRAP Then he sprung the trap. The explosion lifted Charlie right off his feet and dropped him in a heap on the earth.

The Americans took cover and when it was apparent no fight was beginning, two GIs crawled up and pulled Charlie back out of the forest.

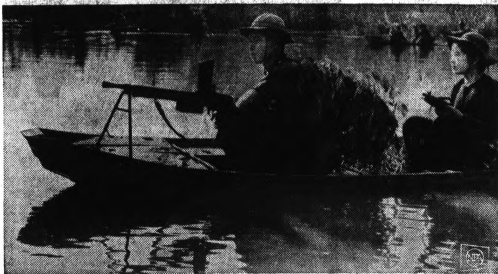

He had several holes in his arm and his legs were pockmarked with hundreds of fragments. He appeared to have more blood outside of his body than in.

Two medics treated him instantly. He accepted passively. He was groggy but awake.

Somebody asked him if he TAKE TO THE WATER — Members of the Vietcong go into action via the water route. American soldiers find that the guerillas are good soldiers with a real sense of purpose.

"Then why didn't you tell me that?" he asked. The GIs already knew why. Charlie was a soldier. And, enemy or no, a good one.

The question bore no fruit. The prisoner predictably failed to answer. He didn't have to. The GIs already knew why.

Salesmen Use Video Tape to Aid Pitch

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — to talk themselves right out of Dalaba's associate, Graham Cole, is credibility.

The computer salesman was watching a video tape of his Associates. San Francisco man- representation to the head of a agent psychologists and con- large European company, when suddenly he slapped his forehead and cried:

"Oh, my God! Did I do THAT?"

What he had just seen and heard was the buyer trying to interrupt his brilliant sales pitch and the salesman himself saying, "Be quiet. I haven't finished yet."

The video tape playback is a part of a new technique for training salesmen by letting them see and hear their own mistakes.

"Many of the older salesmen are horrified to find out that they are talking themselves into sales and then going on CERTAIN TIME "There is a time in most sales presentations when the sale is made and the customer shows it," Dalaba says.

"A good salesman recognizes this signal and shuts up. But often, even a good salesman is apt to get carried away by his own pitch and fail to see that he is boring the prospect and hurting his cause."

"Of course, it is usually easier for an outsider — a third party — to recognize the signal. And, in this case, the video tape acts like a third party."

Another aspect, according to

"Since he never scratched himself at any other time, he wouldn't believe it when it was mentioned to him. He thought his fellow salesmen were just hoaxing him."

"But one look at the video tape and he knew it was no hoax. So he was in a position to break the bad habit."

Dalaba, who received his Ph.D. in psychology from the University of California in Berkeley, also believes in stressing group involvement and role-playing sales training programs.

Allen, East Gunn Road, both Avon Township, cochairmen of the show. Mate Should Tell Colleague He Has Covered for Last Time

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This problem isn't exactly mine. It's my husband's. He is a doctor. One of his colleagues has taken to playing "around" quite a lot, and his wife has started to check up on him.

She calls my husband and asks if her husband was "assisting" him — or taking his calls last night. So far my husband has covered for him, but he just isn't used to lying, and so he gets nervous, flustered and upset.

When he's upset, I get upset, so please tell me if I should call up this woman and tell her to quit calling and questioning my husband?

UPSET NOW
DEAR UPSET: Don't call the wife. But tell your husband to advise his philandering colleague to find himself another patsy because he's "covered" for him for the last time.

DEAR ABBY: A widow in our town who is getting on in years is becoming a real problem. She is a gossip and has no real friends.

As soon as she hears that someone is sick — even people she hardly knows — she "calls" on them. She does this in the name of mercy and kindness, but she really visits them because she has nowhere else to go, and she can visit the sick without an invitation.

She never brings a book or a flower, but she eats all the refreshments in sight and stays and stays until mealtime hoping to be invited for supper.

We hate to hurt her feelings, "because she's probably not" all there," but something must be done about this obnoxious pest. But what?

NO NAME, PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: Someone should tell her that she should not visit without telephoning first. And if she phones she could be told that the patient is not receiving visitors at that time. If she appears at the door without warning, she could be given the same treatment — courteously, of course, but firmly. Only in this manner can she be discouraged.

DEAR ABBY: I do not want to be a meddling mother-in-law, but how can I impress upon my new daughter-in-law that it is important for her to acknowledge her wedding gifts within a reasonable length of time?

ABBY, she is a darling girl, and I don't want to hurt her, but I have hinted so many times I hate to mention it again. Many of my friends have asked me if she ever received their gifts?

Please tell me how to get her to write her thank-you notes. We are quite well known in this town and it is getting embarrassing.

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: You'd be doing your daughter-in-law a kindness to tell her in plain language that people have been asking you if she has received their gifts. Tell her if she needs any "help" in writing her thank-you notes, you are available. Short of writing them for her, there is nothing more you can do.

Mrs. John Plassey presented her prize winning wildlife colored slides and gave a brief talk on each.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Reno Hermes and Mrs. Robert Brown. Mrs. Charles H. Frick was a guest.

Piano Duo Highlights Musicale Program

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

The annual Men's Night Concert of Pontiac Tuesday Musicals was presented Tuesday at Central Methodist Church.

The varied program featured duo - pianists Christine Gaensbauer and Helen Schmitz; Melvyn Hardiman, tenor; and the Rose Marie Floyd Ballet Ensemble.

"Fantasia on a Musical Clock Work," a demanding and technical piece, gave the Gaensbauer-Schmitz combination an opportunity to explore the classic ensemble writing of Mozart, which they did with finesse, clarity and a fine feeling for phrasing and interpretation.

The accomplished pianists continued with "L'Embarcadere Pour Cythere" and Sonata by the contemporary composer, Poulenc.

The first is a charming waltz-like bit of fluff, which maintained the airy mood of the composition with delicacy and suavity.

The sonata, full of atonal harmonies and colorful discords, has, nevertheless, a tongue-in-cheek, serio-comic mood which was played with delightful aplomb, carefully interpreted with just the right degree of humor.

This type of playing is difficult to establish in a two-piano work, yet both pianists maintained the mood with a singleness of purpose and togetherness which was a delight to hear.

Their part of the program concluded with arrangements of "Deep Purple" and "Blue Moon."

TENOR, HARDIMAN

Mr. Hardiman's contribution to the program ranged from Baroque to opera to the Negro Spiritual.

He has a clear, controlled tenor voice, with even tone and a fine uninhibited port register, which is a delight to hear.

His "Sound an Alarm" from Judas Macabeus by Handel, was forthright and declaratory, but did not have the precision and flexibility which the oratorio style demands.

He was much more at ease with Puccini's "Your Little Hands Are Cold" from "La Boheme," and his pure tenor voice soared with the lyric phrases, producing an exciting and impressive performance.

Two Negro Spirituals, "Deep River" and "Ride on, King Jesus," were sung with simplicity and pathos, with the underlying background of excellent breath control, fine diction and immaculate phrasing.

Mr. Hardiman's accompaniments were played by Edith Robatham with unobtrusiveness and understanding support.

The evening's festivities were introduced by Mrs. John Radenbaugh, program chairman.

The 1967 Dora Dawson Scholarship award was presented to Michael Reeds, cornetist, by Mrs. Victor Lindquist, scholarship chairman. She also presented a full scholarship to the Meadow Brook School of Music. It was accepted by John Denney, Assistant Dean of Music, for a qualified recipient to be chosen later.

First Home Out-Grown

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Deciding their rented duplex is a bit small for an expanding family, Luci Johnson Nugent and her husband, Patrick, plan to move soon to an expensive French provincial home they bought from an attorney to await the arrival of their first child.

The home was reported to be worth $70,000, but a White House spokesman said it was "substantially less than that."

The pink brick house is located at 2707 Macken Drive on the far west side of Austin in an area of winding streets, abundant low cedars and post oaks.

An open house party Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Sunnyvale Chapel will honor Mr. and Mrs. Scott Kelley of Ruth Street on their 50th wedding anniversary. Wed April 12, 1917 in Cass City, the pair has three children, Mrs. Bernard Brown, Ross Kelley of Allen Park and Dale Kelley of Kingston. They have 13 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Suggestion for a Trade May Be Used

FLINT (UPI) — Marilyn Jean Kelley, vice president of the State Board of Education, has suggested that the Michigan League of Women Voters (MLWV) make a trade with Gov. George Romney — active support for tax reform in exchange for more money for education.

Miss Kelley, speaking before the Flint League Tuesday night, said the MLWV should make increased support for schools the primary item at their state convention.

She noted that Romney recently revised estimates upwards by $53 million on the net amount of his tax reform program would yield.

"You might tell the governor, 'we'll work for fiscal reform if you provide adequately for education,'" Miss Kelley said.

"If this additional money were pledged to education, I would urge you all to fight to the fullest for fiscal reform," she said.

Disparagement Is Tipoff to Real Fears

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Over at my mother's house the other day, one of her neighbors came in and started right in to brag about the brilliance of her 7-year-old grandson. They, turning to me, she said, "He's so bright that he's difficult. How glad you should be that your children are just average!"

Because I let this crack go, my mother says I was wrong. She says I should have defended my two youngsters, who are not dumb, believe me. As we both read your column, we want to know who was right . . .

ANSWER: Goodness, you'd think my name was Mrs. Solomon!

Look here, you two. I never know who's right and who's wrong. That's a whole area of moral omniscience I leave to other people. All I know is what I feel about things. And what I feel about seeking to illuminate people who disparage us is that it's a waste of time.

So, if some poor soul felt obliged to tell me how much more valuable was her child (or grandchild) than my child, all I'd say would be, "What gratification he must be to you!" And I would not be speaking sarcastically.

Because people (and again this is not knowledge of right and wrong but a matter of my feeling) who disparage others in order to enhance their self-importance cannot help it. They truly can't help it. So this woman did not measure her grandson's brightness against that of your children out of meanness but out of inexorable necessity.

Such people's eagerness to preten themselves at our expense is always a dead giveaway, exposure of the fact that they constantly live on the terrifying edge of expected humiliation.

So, in terms of my feeling about them, it's not just a waste of time to protest that our children (or grandchildren) are as bright as theirs. It is also to me unkind—and, in its own way, kicking a person when he's like grabbing the coins out of the cup presented to you by a blind down.

To me it would be pretty much beggar.

During "A Conference on the House" at Oakland University Wednesday, panel members discussed what their homes meant to them. They represented the phases of a woman's life in which the home takes on new meanings from being a career girl to being widowed. From the left are Colleen O'Brien, Mrs. Daniel F. Travis, Mrs. Karl Kiefer, Mrs. Gavin Meadowcroft, Mrs. Howard Liverance and Mrs. Raymond F. Giffels.

Susie Lecklider (left) and Julie Meadowcroft were representatives of the "first real home of her own" in a woman's life—a doll's house. The girls continued playing with the house and furnishings long after their part in the program was over.

Title Winner, 'Full of Pep' Homemaker

JACKSON (AP) — Mrs. Michigan of 1967 is slim and vivacious and packs a lot of energy in her 117 pounds, 5-foot-6½ inches.

Brown-haired Mrs. Marshall J. Hungerford, 30, mother of three sons, holds the title and will be a contender for Mrs. America honors at San Diego, Calif., May 4-14.

A charm school worker part-time, Mrs. Hungerford was named Mrs. Michigan by a panel of judges on the strength of her accomplishments as a mother and homemaker, plus her personality and other attributes.

The excitement of possibly being chosen Mrs. Michigan weighed more heavily upon her husband than herself.

The Hungerfords had to wait about two weeks to learn the decision after Mrs. Hungerford had been chosen one of the three finalists.

"He said if we didn't learn soon he'd have a case of ulcers," Mrs. Hungerford laughed.

Hubby is secretary of the Hungerford Construction Co., established by his father. The Hungerford children are Jeffrey, 4; Gregory, 5; and Alan, 7.

Conference Explores Meaning

Home, Woman's Domain

By BEA SWORDS

Every woman has a place to keep. It doesn't matter if she is a career girl, a housewife by profession or a working mother.

A woman's home in relation to what it can do for the people who live there was explored in depth Wednesday during a day-long discussion at Oakland University.

Bruno Leon, Dean of the University of Detroit School of Architecture revealed some of the structural facts that women don't think too much about.

For instance, did you know that a planter or a statue can be a barrier between people, while a bench or a table is a bridge?

Remember that at your next club luncheon. Just how much attention do you pay to the person on the other side of the centerpiece.

Leon had had news for the suburbs. His feeling is that many of us are exploited by buildings that lack imagination and creativity.

He told us our desire to live in look-alike housing and our efforts to conform make us a "Crabgrass Cult."

After William J. Davy, a kitchen planner, told us our space from refrigerator to sink to range shouldn't exceed 21 feet, or be less than 14 feet, you can bet a lot of us went home and measured our floor plans.

When he pointed out that every woman needs a dishwasher, a silent cheer went up.

Bengt Swenson, A.I.D., a designer for Skania House Designers Associates, Inc., warned us not to buy impulsively.

Keep in mind that your bedroom set will be replaced perhaps once in the average lifetime. A dining room set you will buy only one or two times. Living room sets have a shorter life span.

BURNED HOUSE THEORY
Swenson brought chuckles when he said he suggested his clients start with the "Burned House Theory."

In other words, where would you start if the house burned? He chided us gently because we women are great gadget and ornament buyers.

He instructed us to buy with relevance—to buy things with meaning to us and to check for life expectancy.

His Welcome Is Too Warm

WEST CHESTER, Iowa (AP) — Women of the Methodist Church, seeking to give a warm welcome to the Rev. Gordon Packard, new pastor, gave him a hot one instead.

Coffee and rolls were served at the reception for him and his family — or at least the brew served from the 35-cup pot was supposed to be coffee.

However, it turned out the drink had been made from chili powder which had been used in a chili supper at the church the previous night. The leftover powder had been put into a coffee can.

Still Favors Profession Over Others

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Nursing has changed a great deal since she entered the profession, observed Lucia Shirley as she retired after 35 years as operating room supervisor at Baptist Hospital.

"When I first started," she recalled, "we worked 10 or 12 hours a day, six days a week. Nurses had to do more of the work — like changing dressings. The residents do that now. If I had it to do over," she added, "I would still want to be a nurse. I like to do things for people."

Julie London Is Lobbyist Extraordinaire

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—
There are many ways to influence a U.S. senator.
One way is to have Julie London sing the theme song of the Mickey Mouse Club.

Advocates of legislation to amend the U.S. copyright laws tried that method Tuesday and it appeared to be extremely effective.

I'll analyze this latest lobbying technique in a moment, but first, a little background music.

A Senate Judiciary subcommittee currently is holding hearings on a measure that would enable singers, musicians and such nondescript performers as Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen to collect fees from radio stations when their records are played on the air.

COMPOSERS BENEFIT

At present, only composers benefit from canned music broadcasts.

This arrangement embraces the principle that writing a song is creatively whereas singing a song is merely interpretation.

Several recording stars, including Mitch Miller, Red Foley and Guy Lombardo, appeared before the subcommittee to argue that performers also are creative.

They all made persuasive witnesses, but it obviously was Miss London who scored the telling points.

WHAT A TECHNIQUE

She brought with her two recordings of the Mickey Mouse Club song — one as sung by the Mickey Mouse Club and the other as sung by Miss London.

If you have ever heard Miss London sing — or better, if you have ever seen Miss London sing — you are aware that her technique is not so much to sing a song as to seduce it.

From the standpoint of pure sound, her voice is little more than an asthmatic wheeze. But when it becomes entwined with a set of lyrics, interesting things happen — chemically if not musically.

In countless television commercials, Miss London has even given an aura of romance to flip-top cigarette boxes. And she has done the same for the Mickey Mouse Club theme.

DREAMY LOVE SONG

Her recording treats this mindless ditty as a dreamy love

song delivered at a "take your time, handsome, I've got all night" tempo.

The effect is startling, to say the least.

I kept an eye on the members of the subcommittee as they listened to the record. They all had a bemused look, as though they might be thinking of running away and joining the Mouseketeers.

This is not necessarily a receding practice of which the late Walt Disney might have approved. But it proved that singers can be as creative as composers. If not more so.

Food purchases per person have dropped from 1,593 pounds a year average in 1913 to 1,443 pounds now.

S. Viet Pacification Teams Vying With VC for Control

PHU HUU, Vietnam (AP) — they can catch one of the team Pham Ba Thu doesn't look like a killer, a political activist and talented propagandist. With his crinkled, shy smile and a hat several sizes too big, he seems boyishly naive and slightly ridiculous.

Only the .45 automatic worn with casual assurance on his hip separates him from the other black-clad peasants of this central Vietnamese village where Thu and other members of a government pacification team operate.

For the Vietcong underground in this village, Thu is a deadly enemy. Unless they can kill or drive the team out, some member of the team probably will root them out one day.

There will be no high noon shoot-out between the 59-man government team and the Communists on the dusty sun-cadre hope they will give away others of the Communist infrastructure that ruled here until the government men arrived two months ago.

The Vietcong team is organized about like the government this year. After eight years of one that Thu served as assistant grander projects that ended in team leader and political officer, many American advisers. Because the governments consider the present goal men are fairly well armed and realistic. There are 10 million careful, the village Vietcong living in the countryside, nearly are relatively helpless unless half under Vietcong control.

Vietcong Get Message in Psychological Way

SAIGON (AP) — The Air Force has related how Lt. Col. Joseph McClure, 38, of Melbourne, Fla., used his heavily armed C47 Dragon ship for a kind of psychological warfare recently when the Vietcong attacked an American unit.

The action was at night, three miles southwest of Bong Son.

Capt. Donald Lewis, 34, of Bancroft, Mich., the navigator, took the radio call and replied "Roger, we're on our way."

The plane crewmen could see tracers crisscross in the night as the Americans exchanged small arms and automatic weapons fire with the Vietcong.

"We want some psy-war (psychological warfare) help," the Army ground controller radioed.

"Psy-war? You've got the wrong outfit," McClure answered. "We've got guns, not leaflets or a speaker."

"Roger, but they are in heavy contact," a forward air controller replied. "Charlie's (Vietcong) right in with them."

"They want you to fire into the hill about 1,600 feet east of their position and let Charlie know you're here and they think he might break off the attack," the air controller explained.

The C47 crew first dropped flares to illuminate the hillside then turned on the three side-mounted, gatling-type guns that fire 6,000 rounds a minute to earn the airplane the title of Puff the Magic Dragon.

After several passes, the ground controller radioed: "Charlie has broken off. Guess it worked. Could you stay overhead and give us some illumination?"

Insurance in force and life insurance sales through mid-year 1966 have increased at approximately 9 per cent and 10 per cent respectively.

Junior Editors Quiz on FLORIDA KEYS

QUESTION: How were the Florida Keys formed?

ANSWER: A coral reef results when the tiny living animals called coral polyps create formations in the sea by the joining of billions of the hard limestone coverings in which they live.

Such reefs can only exist in water 65 degrees or warmer, and there must be an ocean current which provides them with the extremely minute sea creatures on which they feed.

These conditions are present at the lower tip of Florida. The Gulf stream, carrying food supplies, sweeps across the tip. In these warm waters, coral reefs formed, leading in a chain to the southwest, as shown in our map. The islands of this chain are called keys from the Spanish word cay, meaning small island.

But a special tree was also responsible for these little islets, especially those called the lower keys. This is the mangrove tree. Mangrove seeds, blown by the wind, settle in a coral reef and a tree grows, sending out branching shoots which trap mud and silt.

In time, more trees grow in this mud. Gradually, from a process such as this, the Florida Keys were originally formed.

Weather Satellites Guide U.S. Bombers

SAIGON (AP) — American bombers are being guided to targets in North Vietnam by daily photographs received from U.S. weather satellites, the Air Force announced today.

It said the sweeping photos of all Southeast Asia have become one of the most valuable guides to U.S. bombing. And the North Vietnamese could be receiving them, too, and using them for air defense planning.

The weather photos from the Essa and Nimbus satellites — both orbiting more than 600 miles up — are monitored by Air Force weather stations in Saigon and Udorn, Thailand.

So vital are the pictures that wet prints are frequently rushed to the U.S. air commander in Vietnam, Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, while strikes are already headed north.

PLANES DIVERTED

By spotting breaks in the clouds, Momyer can divert planes to areas that are unexpectedly clear. With satellite photos sometimes taken just minutes before, he has a grasp of the weather situation impossible to obtain by conventional forecasting.

The electronic satellite photos are received by standard television techniques somewhat refined to give more detail. The standard U.S. screen, for example, has 500 lines per inch while satellite pictures are 800 lines per inch.

The man who runs the Saigon weather post, Col. Edwin Carmell of Rantoul, Ill., says: "Our people, who are experts, can tell vast amount of detail needed by pilots. The two satellites now orbiting usually furnish two photos daily of Southeast Asia.

He said they can generally get cloud ceilings, separate rain clouds from others and obtain a

2 Detroiters Accused of Wiretapping

DETROIT (UPI) — The first two persons arrested under a state law forbidding wiretapping except by police were free on bond today awaiting examination on the charge.

Mrs. Beverly Dombrowski, 29, and John E. Gates, 38, were charged with tapping the phone of Mrs. Dombrowski's boyfriend, Jack Abess. Mrs. Dombrowski is a divorcee.

Gates was hired by Mrs. Dombrowski to tap Abess' phone to "investigate the extracurricular activities of her boyfriend," police said.

Detective Inspector James Bannon said Gates became frightened after listening to a tape recording of a conversation and came to police.

Bannon refused to divulge the contents of the tape but said Gates' "fears were not unfounded."

Mrs. Dombrowski and Gates stood mute when arraigned yesterday before Recorder's Court Judge Donald S. Leonard.

They were released on personal bond to await examination May 11.

Violinist Fled China in Tug

NEW YORK (AP) — Chinese sources say that Ma Su-tung, a cultural leader and violinist, fled his Communist China homeland last January in a small tugboat later found abandoned near Hong Kong.

The musician, whose escape was revealed Wednesday after he and his family were granted asylum in the United States, refused to comment on the report from his refuge at his brother's Manhattan apartment.

The Hong Kong sources with Nationalist Chinese contacts said today Ma was one of 12 escapees aboard the Communist tug and added they believed his son, Julian, 20, was with his father.

Ma's wife and their daughter

Celia, 23, were understood to have taken a different route to freedom, according to sources which refused to be quoted by name or position.

103 DAYS IN HIDEOUT

Ma told newsmen Wednesday he fled after spending "103 days in a dreadful hideout for devils and demons" and undergoing "what is too painful to describe" at the hands of young Red Guard terrorists.

"There is no hope for people like me in China," said the 54-year-old musician.

He refused to talk about how he escaped, saying the safety of how many persons in Red China would be jeopardized. The Chinese sources said Ma and his son waited in hiding in Hong Kong until the wife and daughter got out.

The sources were deliberately vague about the women's escape and refused to say whether they sought U.S. asylum through U.S. Consulate officials in Hong Kong or made their way to Taipei and asked for asylum there.

FOUND ABANDONED

"The tug, painted with Communist Chinese slogans, was towed into Hong Kong harbor last Jan. 19 after it was found abandoned off Lan Tao Island.

First word of Ma's defection came from Washington where State Department press officer Carl Barthel announced the escape and the granting of Ma's request for asylum.

He referred reporters to Ma himself for further details. The family received news in the apartment of his brother, Ma Si-hon, who came to the United States in 1948.

Ma told of concentration camps where he underwent "thought reform" and of the indignities which the Red Guard students and revolutionary teachers inflicted on his mind and body.

"I was treated very badly and abused," he said in a tired voice. "I feared for my life and more than that. Right now I am unable to perform because my health has been ruined by several months of hard labor."

Plot Suspect Arraigned on Armed Robbery Count

A Livonia man was ordered to stand trial on a charge of armed robbery.

Jules V. Sorna, 25, is accused of holding up Paul and Vic's Market, 2874 Grand River, Farmington Township, and then conspiring with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John V. Sorna of Livonia, to have a witness killed.

The three were ordered to stand trial in the alleged murder-for-hire plot when they were arraigned Monday before Circuit Judge Farrell E. Roberts.

No trial date was set then or yesterday when Sorna appeared before Circuit Judge Philip Pratt.

Authorities say that the Sornas plotted to have Mrs. Victoria Gogates of Detroit killed before she could testify in the armed robbery case.

REPORT OFFER

According to Farmington Township police, the Sornas offered a man $700 to do the kill-yesterday at his arraignment in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Sorna is being held in the Oakland County Jail in lieu of $50,000 bond. His parents are free on bond.

Classical Societies to Convene at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP)—Some 4,000 persons are expected to attend a joint convention of the Michigan Classical Conference and the Junior Classical League Saturday at Michigan State University.

Members of the organizations believe that the influence of Greece and Rome live on in every phase of our modern culture.

Highlighting the day's activities will be the Detroit Cantata Society's production of Henry Purcell's opera, "Dido and Aeneas," composed in 1689.

DEFECTOR IN NEW YORK — Ma Su-tung (right), 54, one of Red China's outstanding violinists and composers, tells newsmen in New York yesterday that he fled his homeland to escape confinement in a "dreadful hideout for devils and demons." He also said he feared for his life in the sweeping terrorism of the Red Guards. His brother, Ma Si-hon (left), assists at the interview. Ma Su-tung fled Red China last January and has been living secretly in New York with his family.

Air Quality Act Tougher

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — The administration's Air Quality Act of 1967 seems certain to leave the United States Senate with a lot more teeth and muscle than it had on arrival.

Amendments to the Air Quality Act, proposed by Sen. Jennings Randolph, chairman of the Public Works Committee, illustrate a growing senatorial attitude that the administrator's bill is not vigorous enough.

Under the amendments polluters could be fined $1,000 a day, and sent to jail for a year. Enforcement procedures would be quickened. Federal air standards would apply if a state took no action.

A Federal Air Quality Administrator headed by an Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare would administer the Act.

Soft Whiskey doesn't need it.

It doesn't need a big fruit salad to make it go down nice and easy because Soft Whiskey goes down that way to begin with. Right from the bottle.

So you can imagine how good it tastes with the optional extras.

What's the secret?

Well, for one thing, we do some of our distilling in small batches instead of giant ones.

And for another, we're not going to say another word. (After all, it took us years to come up with our very own Soft Whiskey. Let someone else work that hard on theirs.)

What's important to you though is what's in that bottle: a full 86 proof whiskey that's easy to take.

So next time you make a whiskey sour or an old fashioned, make it with Soft Whiskey. And save some of the fruit for breakfast.

2 More Districts for Wayne County Nixed

State Rejects Community College Setup

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Education Wednesday rejected a proposal by the Wayne County Intermediate School Board to create two more community college dis- tricts in Wayne County.

The board voted to set aside the proposal for 120 days. Meanwhile, board members declared intentions of work- ing with the Wayne school dis- trict and the State Board for Community and Junior College plus members of the Legislature to seek a solution to the prob- lem.

The community college board had recommended rejection of the two-district proposal. A single additional district, the community college board said, would be more economical and would make better use of avail- able educational resources in the county.

There are three community college districts in Wayne County — Henry Ford Community Col- lege at Dearborn, Schoolcraft Community College at Livonia and Highland Park Junior Col- lege.

Education board member Dr. Charles Morton of Detroit said against "a general trend toward a broader base for governmental

Board member Thomas Bren- nan of Detroit said if two dis- tricts were created "it would be impossible to weld them togeth- er."

Brennan said Detroit has not come up with any solutions to the problem.

"This is unfortunate and should not continue," Brennan said. The board rejected, by a 6-2 vote, a proposal by member Le- roy Augenstein of Holt that a go- ahead be given to creation of a southern Wayne County Com- munity college district.

The two-district proposal called for a southern and northern dis- trict in the undivided portion of the county.

The Wayne County Intermedi- ate Board, Augenstein said, then the proposal for two districts is should help Detroit set up a community college.

COMBAT: THE CIVIL WAR. the introduction, but the main fabric of the book is the I-was-there tales.

This is the sixth work in a series designed to recreate America's wars in the words and emotions of the men who fought them. The preceding volumes dealt with the two world wars.

"Combat: The Civil War" is not a one-volume history of the war between North and South. There are battles, particularly those beyond the Mississippi and on the high seas, which go unmentioned in the 564 pages.

There is little political history here. This is a chronicle by and of fighting men, men who take the reader with them inside the ironclad hulls of Monitor and Merrimack, into the battle smoke of Chancellorsville and Chickamauga, into the Shenandoah Valley with Stonewall Jackson.

Modern historians—Bruce Catton, Henry Steele Commager, Samuel Eliot Morrison—are for insiders, this is a fascinating commentary and Catton wrote of history developed.

MANHATTAN PROJECT. By Stephane Groueff. Little, Brown, $6.95.

What this book amounts to is a prodigiously detailed account of the scientific, engineering and industrial marvels that went into the development of the atomic bomb.

There have been many books on the subject, from various viewpoints.

What Groueff has done is to search out all the dramatic moments in which theorists, technologists, manufacturers, designers, production expeditors and just ordinary mechanics contributed (blindly, in most cases) to a crash program during the three years from 1942 to 1945.

The book may be too detailed to catch the casual reader. But for insiders, this is a fascinating story of how a strange chapter of history developed.

Patrols Biggest Danger to U. S. Infantryman

SAIGON (AP) — An American infantryman in Vietnam is more likely to be killed or wounded on patrol than in a big battle. In two out of three cases, shell fragments rather than bullets will inflict the wounds.

Even in the big engagements, most allied casualties are taken in the first sudden minutes of action.

The enemy strikes when he figures he has the advantage, waits what he can from the initial confusion of battle, then fades off as superior American firepower is brought to bear.

The wounds a U.S. soldier receives in Vietnam are remarkably similar in percentage and type to those of World War II and the Korean War.

CASUALTY SURVEYS

These conclusions have been reached in casualty surveys conducted by the U.S. Marine Corps and the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division. They are borne out by estimated percentages in some other U.S. outfits in Vietnam.

About 65 per cent of American casualties are inflicted on small unit patrols, ranging in size from a 12-man squad to a 30-man platoon, the surveys determined.

In the central highlands the sharpened bamboo punji stake, described by one analyst as "the guerrilla land mine," caused 21.7 per cent of the wounds of the 5,218 cavalymen wounded in action from September, 1965, to January, 1967.

In populated regions along the coast, south of the demilitarized zone, Communist copies of the U.S. Claymore mine are increasing.

SPW PELLETS

About 5 per cent of all battle casualties among Americans in Vietnam are estimated to be from these mines, which can be aimed to spew thousands of pellets.

lets in the direction of advancing troops.

The Vietcong make their Claymores in back yard blacksmith shops.

Land mines, booby traps and firing devices detonated by hidden enemy troops account for 16 per cent of all U.S. Marine injuries. Weapons in these categories killed 203 Marines and wounded 2,174 in 1966.

Other American units figure they suffer 10 to 15 per cent of all casualties from mines and booby traps, particularly infantry attached to armored columns. Communist War Zones D and C, in an arc north and northwest of Saigon, are laced with mines used against armored vehicles and trucks.

LOWER IN PERCENTAGE

Mine casualties in Vietnam are lower in percentage than in World War II or Korea, according to the 1st Cavalry Division's survey.

In those wars, lower-extremity wounds generally caused by mines totaled 38 per cent but in Vietnam the figure is 21.7. More mines were planted by the Chinese in Korea and by the Germans and Japanese in World War II than have been used by the Vietcong.

However, the Vietcong make up for a shortage of mines with the punji stakes. When casualties from these are added to mine casualties, the total percentage is 39.6.

Bullets cause 27.2 per cent of the casualties. Wounds inflicted by bullets in World War II and Korea were 26.2 per cent.

NONHOSTILE CASUALTIES

Casualties from nonhostile causes are lower in Vietnam than in other wars, according to military doctors, because of the low incidence of psychiatric and the elaborate hygienic measures taken with reported among the troops since they arrived in September, 1965. Nine have died.

However, malaria has inflicted remainder have returned to a heavy toll on the cavalry duty after treatment.

A total of 4,000 cases have been returned to duty in 72 hours and 75 per cent in 60 days. Ten per cent were sent to the United States for treatment.

Of troops wounded in action with the cavalry, 15 per cent returned to duty in 72 hours and 75 per cent in 60 days. Ten per cent were sent to the United States for treatment.

Civilians Buy Rejected Drugs

By Science Service

WASHINGTON—The Defense Department, which spends $125 million a year on drugs, turns down more than half the products offered it. A staggering 54 per cent, it says, are not good enough for the troops.

But drugs on the military's reject list may well find their way into civilian homes.

Manufacturers who bid for military contracts must submit to rigorous inspections and tests. Forty-four per cent of the bidders are sent home to clean house before they can join the competition. Companies whose plants are in order have to submit a sample of their wares.

Insects, fragments of insects, subpotency, impurity and even mislabeling of samples are some of the reasons officials at the Defense Personnel Support Center in Philadelphia say "no" to drug-makers — even though they may have made the lowest bid. The rejects take their business elsewhere — legally selling to less-informed civilians.

Capt. Solomon C. Pflug of DPSC says military "specifications often exceed commercial requirements simply because commercial standards are not sufficient."

$3-Million Auto Raceway OK'd

BELLEVILLE (AP) — Proposed construction of a $3 million auto raceway near Belleville has the approval of the Van Buren Township Board of Supervisors despite citizens' disapproval in a mail advisory vote.

The board voted 4-1 Tuesday to permit Michigan Motor Speedway, Inc., to build a "Daytona type" raceway. The board took the position the mail vote was not binding. The proposal lost by about 180 votes in the 2,300 of the mail ballot.

Preschooler Program Eyed

Preschool public training for all Pontiac School District children would cost a maximum of $3.3 million for construction of facilities and $1.8 million for the first year of operation, according to a report last night.

The feasibility study was made by the Pontiac Board of Education upon the request of the Pontiac School District Citizens' Study Committee on Human Relations.

A total of 4,261 three- and four-year-old children would be eligible for the program this September, according to school census figures, Asst. Supt. William J. Lacy said. A maximum staff of 225 persons would be required.

"A child should receive instruction for approximately 2½ hours per day for five days per week in groups of 15," the report recommends.

Board members James Howlett said money could be saved if a child attended the nursery less than five days a week.

LOWER COSTS EYED

Lacy also noted costs would be lower since not all of those eligible could possibly attend the school.

"We have a problem getting money for grades K through 12," board member Russell Brown said, "how can we get the money for preschool?"

The report will be forwarded to John T. Rogers, chairman of human relations committee.

Mothers Cite Conditions at Bagley School

Representatives of a group of mothers who protested alleged problems at the Bagley Elementary School on the south side of Pontiac are expected to meet with school officials today.

About two dozen mothers presented petitions to the board of education last night, claiming violence at the school and a lack of male teachers.

They criticized the board for not renewing the contract next year of one of the school's two male teachers.

Many of the children come from broken homes and need a male image, they said.

Also stressed by the worried mothers were reports of many after-school fights, breaking of windows and throwing of chairs by pupils.

The petitions said boys in special education classes carried knives to school.

Board President Monroe M. Osun arranged for representatives of the mothers to meet with Supt. Dr. Dana Whitmer and his staff today to discuss the alleged problems.

Five-Year Capital Improvement Plan Endorsed

Financing of an extensive school construction and rehabilitation program in the next five years will "raise some difficult questions and decisions," Pontiac School Supt. Dr. Dana Whitmer told the board of education last night.

Whitmer's planning guide for the city's public schools was nevertheless endorsed by school board members.

The superintendent's "extensive capital improvement program" provides for:

- Construction of a new $750,000 elementary school on the Lincoln Junior High School site by August 1968.

- Possible construction of a $3-million human resources center in the late 1960s or early 1970s.

- Yearly construction of a new addition to elementary schools as the needs arise.

- Rehabilitation projects at Eastern, Jefferson-Whitmer, Lincoln and possibly Pontiac Central High School with additions to Madison and Kennedy Junior highs.

- Completion of a new $9-million East Side Junior and senior high school by September 1969.

- A decision in July whether to build a new school to replace Pontiac Central at a new location by September, 1970, or expand and renovate the current building.

Whitmer anticipates that the new elementary school at the Lincoln site, Human Resources Center and maybe some elementary additions and rehabilitations would exhaust the school system's 2 per cent limited bonding authority.

WILL BE AUTHORIZED

"It is estimated that $3.7 million of bonding authority will be available on July 1, 1967," he said.

A bond issue election, possibly this November, would have to be used to finance the new East Side high school and expansion of Central High, the superintendent said.

A second bond issue would have to be held in 1968 or 1969 to pay for construction costs for other new elementary facilities, part of the human resources center and rehabilitation projects.

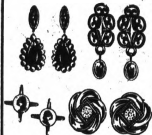

Concerning operating millage requirements, Whitmer said:

"It seems probable that the school district will need additional operating millage for the 1968-69 school year. The millage would have to be voted in late 1967 or early 1968 to be available for 1968-69."

"The impact of operating millage needs on the bond levy proposals raises some difficult questions and decisions."

Cutter Slated to Be Linked to Town's Sewage System

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Guard to find other ways of disposing of the Sundew's wastes. Some noted that the Sundew often discharged its wastes just a few feet from the city's sewage treatment plant.

And the crew on board the Sundew probably will receive a better welcome from the residents of Charlevoix, Mich., the next time the ship pulls into port.

For some time, swimmers, fishermen and fresh air enthusiasts have looked with scorn upon the ship — for each time it docked, it dumped the raw sewage of its 50-man crew into the waters of Charlevoix Harbor on Lake Michigan.

HART'S HELP ASKED

Last summer, when algae began to turn the waters of connecting Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix to a brilliant green, the mayor of Charlevoix and residents in the area asked Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., if he could persuade the Coast Guard to find other ways of disposing of the Sundew's wastes. Some noted that the Sundew often discharged its wastes just a few feet from the city's sewage treatment plant.

Hart contacted the Coast Guard about the matter and advised officials that if more money were needed to correct the situation, please let him know, as the Coast Guard authorization bill was coming up soon. The Coast Guard's reply, recently received, was favorable.

Soviet Military Gets Tough Politically

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet armed forces have shown their strength in Kremlin politics by fighting off an apparent attempt to give the job of defense minister to a civilian.

At the same time, the military command passed over its aging marshals and promoted two younger men who should be more attuned to today's problems.

The changes came as a result of the death March 31 of the Soviet defense minister for the past decade, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, 68. The Soviet government Wednesday named his first deputy, Marshal Andrei A. Grechko, 55, to succeed him and appointed two soldiers in their mid-50s as first deputies.

Malinovsky was and Grechko is a loyal member of the Communist party, which gives all the orders in the Soviet Union. The point apparently at issue was whether the military faction within the party leadership would keep its status or whether another of the many factions would trim its strength.

For several months some Communist sources had said the next defense minister would be a civilian.

When Malinovsky died, these reports became stronger, with Dmitry F. Ustinov most prominently named.

Ustinov, a former first deputy premier, is a member of the party high command who was minister for the armaments industry from 1941 to 1957 and apparently still directs arms production.

MORE FORCEFUL

There have been many signs in the 2 1/2 years since Nikita Khrushchev was ousted with military approval that the marshals had become a more forceful element in Kremlin decisions. Naming a civilian defense minister would have pushed them away from power within the Communist party's secret councils.

According to unconfirmed reports, the head of the Soviet Communist party and the top Kremlin leader, Leonid I. Brezhnev, told military leaders at the meeting after Malinovsky's funeral that Ustinov was the man.

The soldiers objected, these reports said.

An unexplained eight-day delay followed that meeting before Grechko was named.

Some observers suggested the delay could only mean a power struggle over the defense minister's post.

Grechko's two new first deputies are Ivan I. Yakubovsky, 54, who was promoted from general to marshal, and Sergei L. Sokolov, 55, promoted from colonel general to general of the army.

Space Confab Looks in Another Direction

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — In the year when an astronaut was able to walk in space more than 100 miles, the free-diving aquanaut was able to descend only 325 feet below the surface of the ocean.

This was pointed out at the fourth annual Space Congress here last week that devoted more time than ever to the "inner space" or the seas while still concentrating on the "outer space" of the astronauts.

Capt. George F. Bond, a medical officer for the Navy's space diving project, said in a paper presented at an oceanographic session that the reasons are obvious for the difference in man's ability to venture into space and the ocean.

First, he noted that at a depth of 33 feet a diver will encounter more pressure differential resulting from the weight of water than an astronaut would encounter in a vacuum on the moon.

Second, he said an astronaut can be virtually guaranteed protection from the bends, an ailment caused by formation of nitrogen bubbles in the blood during decompression. An aquanaut has virtually no protection against the disorder when subjected to decreasing pressures as he rises to the surface.

INADEQUATE FUNDS

And finally, Bond said the great difference in money spent for space flight and undersea work results in far greater hazards for divers than astronauts.

Despite the differences, Bond said both the astronaut and the aquanaut face many common problems "which one day may spark the drive for combined research into the areas of both inner and outer space."

For example, he said, both the astronaut and the swimmer are almost equally weightless in their own areas of "space." Both must have reliable breathing equipment and both face many other problems.

Bond said the ocean environment, like space, is "clearly hostile."

ADVERSE EFFECTS

He listed the adverse effects undersea exploration can have on aquanauts and said "it is probable that equipment malfunction incident to this exposure may be of equal importance."

"Generally speaking, the man-in-the-sea program has a history of unhappy experiences, with respect to immersed items of hardware," Bond said in the paper.

He pointed out that much of the equipment used by undersea workers was originally designed for reliability at sea level in dry air.

"When such hardware components are now exposed to an environment which is chemically corrosive, highly pressurized, 800 times denser than air and populated by marine life with fouling and other destructive characteristics, severe engineering problems must be anticipated."

PESSIMISTIC LAW

Judging from recent experience, Bond said a law can be postulated saying: "Virtually all equipment placed in the ocean will become fouled, lost or sea-sick."

Rose Houston went to say goodbye to her daughter in Glasgow and wound up visiting her son in Montreal. The Scottish grandmother had gone to wish her daughter bon voyage on the luxury liner Empress of England. She failed to hear the call for visitors to go ashore.

Yesterday she stepped quietly off the ship when it arrived in Montreal and went off to visit her son who lives here.

Immigration authorities said the unwilling stowaway probably would be given tourist status to enable her to make the best of her unexpected trip.

Marriage Proposal Over the Airwaves

Ray Hall proposed marriage yesterday and Harriet Cameron accepted it live and unrehearsed on the radio in Falmouth, Mass.

"We had talked about it before the program, but she didn't know when I was going to propose, and I didn't know what I was going to say," said Hall, 54, a broadcaster who has a daily interview show on station WOCB in West Yarmouth.

The couple have known each other for three years. They'll be married July 30.

Rockefeller Newlyweds Touring Japan

Rockefeller is a Democratic member of the West Virginia Legislature and a nephew of the governors of New York and Arkansas. His bride is the daughter of Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill.

Twiggy Has Her Short Locks Shortened

British Mod model Twiggy has had her hair trimmed in New York. It turned out to be quite a production.

The haircut was the first for her already short locks since she arrived in the United States March 20. The hairdresser was flown from London for the occasion.

The 17-year-old Twiggy sat patiently yesterday, smiling and turning at the request of photographers — and occasionally blowing a hair from her eyes.

She was accompanied by her manager, Justin De Villeneuve, 27, whose locks are slightly longer than Twiggy's. He confessed to newsmen he uses the same hairdresser, "but I go after hours."

U.S. Steel Again Employs Selectivity on Price Hikes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The steel industry used to pound through price boosts with a sledge hammer. Now it does it with light taps.

U.S. Steel Corp. did some taping Wednesday, marking up prices on odd-sized structural steel sections and sheet pilings.

The increase covers only a small part of the company's output and will bring in an estimated $4.5 million a year.

The government has not commented on the action.

NATION'S BIGGEST

U.S. Steel is the nation's biggest steelmaker. Its influence on prices is considerable.

If past patterns prevail, other producers will raise their prices if U.S. Steel can make the hike stick in the marketplace.

So far, none has indicated it would.

It was the second steel price hike this year. Increases were posted on some tubular products in January.

MILD BOOST

Wednesday's boost was mild compared to the across-the-board increases which was the general practice for years.

This was last tried in 1962 when it was last tried in 1962.

and, for the first time, it didn't

The late President John F. Kennedy applied pressure to stop it, calling the increase inflationary, and some companies stood pat on old prices. Between the two, the boost was killed.

Since then, price increases have been selective affairs, touching only one or a small number of products at a time.

EVENTUAL INCLUSION

Two waves of selective hikes in 1963 eventually included an estimated 70 per cent of all steel shipments.

The industry has been breaking production records the past few years, but steel executives complain that profits aren't keeping pace.

Steel magazine, an industry publication, says profits amounted to 5.36 per cent of sales in 1965, but slipped to 5.89 per cent in 1966.

U.S. Steel said its latest increase, effective Saturday, covers items accounting for about one-tenth of 1 per cent of its sales, adding that it boosted the average price on the two product lines by $2.49 a ton, or less than 2 per cent.

FILE IT ON — Mrs. Nancy Sanchez, Russell Street, supervises as Lisa Clark, Robin Dale Street, a 7th grader at Washington

Junior High School, prepares Tostada. On the table are Enchilladas and Arroz (rice).

Two Hours Enough for Coffeecake

After the children have left for school and the preliminary chores are done, a homemaker's thoughts turn to that magic hour known as the "Kaffeekaisch."

And nothing provides a better excuse for a mid-morning break than a mouth-watering, warm-from-the-oven coffeecake.

APRICOT-PRUNE COFFECAKE, richly laden with dried fruits and topped with streusel, is as easy to make as it is to eat. Two hours are all you need to complete preparation of the simple, beaten yeast batter.

And, since the recipe makes two cakes, it is doubly convenient — you simply store or freeze one for another day.

Don't forget the special bonus provided by using enriched flour in your baking.

Thanks to the enrichment process, now more than 25 years old, you are able to contribute the three essential B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, plus the mineral, iron — all necessary for the maintenance of daily good health.

APRICOT-PRUNE COFFECAKE

1 package yeast
¼ cup warm water
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cardamom
1 cup milk, scalded
¾ cups sifted enriched self-rising flour (about)
2 eggs
½ teaspoon orange flavoring
1 cup dried prunes, pitted
1 cup dried pitted apricots
Soften yeast in water. Measure oil, sugar, salt, and cardamom into large mixing bowl. Stir in milk until sugar dissolves. Cool to lukewarm.

Stir in about 1½ cups flour and beat until smooth, about 1 minute with electric mixer or 150 strokes by hand. Beat in yeast, eggs and orange flavoring. Stir in enough more flour to make a stiff batter.

Beat until batter is smooth and elastic, about 1 minute with electric mixer or 150 strokes by hand.

Cover and let rise in warm place (80-85 degrees) until light and bubbly, about 1 hour. Stir down.

Turn one-half of batter into 2 greased pans. Sprinkle with dried fruit. Add remaining batter and cover with streusel topping.

Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled, about 30 minutes. Bake in preheated 375 degree oven, 20-30 minutes, or until golden brown.

APRICOT-PRUNE COFFECAKE — Morning will seem brighter if you serve this delicious, freshly baked coffeecake. Making it is only a matter of a couple of hours. Dried fruit and streusel topping make it really special.

Streusel Topping
¼ cup sifted enriched self-rising flour
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup softened butter
½ teaspoon orange rind
Combine all ingredients, mixing well.

Trick Youngsters With Wee Cubes

When children refuse to eat potatoes, try this. Peel boiled potatoes, add butter and salt and cut them into small cubes. Spear each cube with a toothpick and serve with meat or other vegetables.

Place a couple on their plate to start with. They will like the novelty of the idea so much that they will ask for more.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor
Interest in and liking for foreign food is percolating down to the teen-age set.
Although we often think they exist solely on a diet of hamburgers, french fries, pizza and milk shakes, there is evidence that this is not the case.
One Pontiac school teacher is doing her best to help this

Fry Oysters Tuck Into a Loaf of Bread

An oyster loaf known as "Peace-Maker" is part of the folklore of the tradition-rich culture of New Orleans.

It seems that late-homing spouses of the French Quarter never considered candy or flowers to soothe the tempers of irate wives... they would buy La Mediatrice. This was a long French bread, scooped out, buttered and toasted, then filled with crisply fried oysters.

Apparently these hot delicious oyster loaves served their purpose since they became known as "Peace-Makers."

PEACE MAKER (OYSTER LOAF)

1 cup fine cracker crumbs
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
Dash each: pepper, mace
1 pint shucked oysters
2 eggs
2 tablespoons oyster liquid or water
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
14-inch loaf Italian bread
¼ cup butter, melted
Solid all-vegetable shortening for deep frying
Blend cracker crumbs, baking powder, salt, pepper and mace. Coat oysters in seasoned crumbs. Dip in egg beaten with oyster liquid and horseradish, then roll in seasoned crumbs again.

Cut a slice from top of bread and scoop out crumbs from inside of loaf. Brush top slice and inside of loaf with butter and heat in 375 degree (moderate) oven 5 to 8 minutes.

Meanwhile, fry oysters in shortening, heated to 365 degrees, until golden. Drain on paper towels. Fill bread with fried oysters. Serve with lemon wedges, if desired. Makes six servings.

Glazed Parsnips

Serve parsnips with a mustard glaze. Place 8 boiled fresh parsnips, each cut into 8 wedges, in a greased casserole. Dot with 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons of brown sugar mixed with ½ teaspoon of powdered mustard.

Bake in preheated 400-degree oven 20 minutes, or until glazed and browned. Makes 4 servings.

situation — as are two charming members of the Mexican colony in the city.

Jean Rosenthal who teaches home economics at Washington Junior High School lived overseas for three years. She and her husband became fond of foreign food and she wants to encourage this liking in her pupils.

She became acquainted with Mrs. Nancy Sanchez and Mrs. Ruben Flores in an adult education course.

Both belong to the Auxiliary of the Aztec Athletic Club. In fact, Mrs. Flores is president.

These women like to demonstrate Mexican cooking. Last week, they spent the morning with Mrs. Rosenthal and her pupils.

The students had done some food preparation the day before — simple, but time-consuming chores like shredding lettuce and cutting up tomatoes.

The two women came in and prepared three or four native dishes.

When the photographer and

I arrived late in the morning, the girls were ready to sample everything. We think luncheon profits suffered that day, from the looks of their plates.

Mrs. Sanchez and Mrs. Flores told the girls how both Aztec and French influences have given Mexican cooking a special flair.

It is aromatic cookery and says, Mrs. Sanchez, "Neighbors often come to my house to ask what I am cooking; the smell is so pleasing."

NATIVE UTENSIL

Using their molcajete which is a mortar and pestle, the cooks ground their spices and garlic together, then added tomatoes to make a puree.

Not everyone can make her own tortillas, those flat cornmeal discs. But there are several stores in Pontiac that sell them.

Here are the recipes that the women made for the girls. They are willing to give similar demonstrations for club groups.

TOSTADAS

Ingredients include: Tortillas; boiled pinto beans which have been fried to a consistency of mashed potatoes; tossed salad of lettuce, tomatoes, celery, green peppers, and carrots, with lemon juice and oil dressing and oregano leaves tossed together lightly; finely shredded cheese of your choice.

In a deep fryer, fry the tortillas until crispy. Drain them on paper toweling. Keep them warm, and prepare to assemble.

ENCHILADAS

Ingredients include: corn tortillas; cheese; chili powder; onions; hamburger (optional); salt to taste; garlic and whole canned tomatoes which have been ground; lard or shortening.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Brown hamburger and onions, drain excess fat. Add tomatoes, water, salt and simmer this mixture. While hamburger mixture is simmering, prepare the sauce.

Sauce: Use 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons lard, and 2 tablespoons chili powder. Make a gravy-like sauce, adding water as necessary. Simmer.

Chop onions, and then grate the cheese.

Dip tortillas in hot lard (about 2 tablespoons) or just heat in oven. Place cheese and onions in tortillas and roll, place in foil lined baking pan.

Fill the pan with a single layer, then sprinkle hamburger mixture over, along with the cheese and the sauce. Continue alternating until all is used up.

Cover with foil and bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or until cheese is melted.

ARROZ (Rice)

Brown a portion of rice in enough shortening to cover the rice by an extra one-half inch.

Saute green peppers and onions in the meantime.

Use tomato sauce to which has been added, Cumin powder and garlic to taste. Add to the rice, 1 bay leaf, salt, some frozen peas to garnish. Bring to a boil.

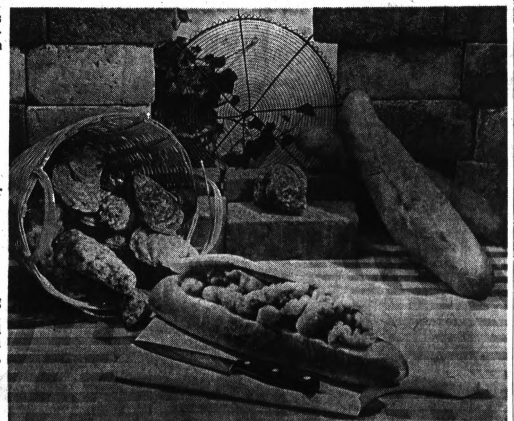

Cover, let simmer until done. Remove bay leaf before serving.

Butter Is Spiced for Cooked Spinach

Cooked spinach will never be the same after you try this.

Spiced Spinach

1 pound spinach
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
½ teaspoon coriander
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 clove garlic
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Wash spinach, hold the bunch together and cut off roots. Put in saucepan and cook 4-5 minutes in moisture from leaves. Add all the listed ingredients to the melted butter. Pour over wilted spinach. Makes 4 servings.

AMBROSIAL TART — Don't let its rich looks fool you. This fruit tart made with a sugar substitute can be included in diets where calories count. Orange juice, pineapple and bananas go into the filling.

Made With Sucaryl

Trim Calories in Tart

Desserts made with calorie-free sweetening are being included on modern, calorie-controlled menus.

These sweet and slimming desserts are important to weight-watchers because they give the sense of well-being and satisfaction that comes from having had a well-rounded meal. Even luscious pies can be enjoyed now and again, if the fillings are sweetened without sugar. A minor miracle in calorie trimming has been accomplished in a sucaryl-sweetened Ambrosial Tart.

AMBROSIAL TART (Calorie-Trimmed)

Crumb Crust:

16 small graham crackers, crushed

3 tablespoons melted butter

Filling:

2 tablespoons cornstarch

¼ teaspoon salt

2 tablespoons liquid sucaryl

1 cup orange juice

1 8½-ounce can sucaryl-sweetened pineapple chunks

2 eggs, slightly beaten

1 banana, thinly sliced

¼ cup coconut

Combine all ingredients for crust; press firmly into a 9-inch pieplate or tart pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 10 minutes; chill several hours.

In a saucepan, combine cornstarch, salt, sucaryl and orange juice. Drain pineapple; set fruit aside.

Measure liquid and add enough water to make 1 cup. Add to saucepan with the beaten eggs. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to the boil and thickens.

Remove from heat and chill well; then fold in the pineapple chunks, sliced banana and coconut. Spoon into crust and chill until ready to serve.

PALM SPRINGS FRUIT SALAD — It's colorful; it's delicious; it's easy to prepare. This handsome fruit salad is served with a sour cream dressing that has just a hint of spice in it.

Sour Cream and Orange

Serve Fruits With Tangy Dressing

Fruit salad, always a colorful dish, takes on the added importance of elegant styling when served this tidy new way. Popular California orange carthwheels always gleam an invitation.

Here they are played up by fresh grapefruit-stuffed dates, further enhanced by an original orange dressing that tastes fresh as tomorrow.

Gastronomes who prefer a light salad will bless you for this one, and of course everyone will welcome that nutritious fresh citrus. Palm Springs Fruit Salad can be the main part of a light meal or complement almost any entree you choose to serve with it.

So handsome and inviting, you could even increase the quantity and arrange the fruits in the same attractive pattern on a big platter for a buffet party. When you do, remember to double that delightful Orange-Cinnamon dressing recipe.

PALM SPRINGS FRUIT SALAD
4 medium to large California oranges, peeled
12 large dates, pitted
2 grapefruit, peeled, sectioned, seeded

1 large banana
2 red apples, unpeeled
Juice from 1 lemon
Salad greens
Slice peeled oranges into 1/4 inch carthwheels. Cut open dates; stuff each with one grapefruit section. Slice peeled banana in half lengthwise and crosswise.

Core apples; cut each into 8 wedges. Immediately after cutting, dip banana and apples into lemon juice to avoid discoloration. Arrange fruit in an attractive manner on crisp salad greens.

For each serving, allow cartwheel slices from one orange, three grapefruit-stuffed dates, one banana slice and three apple wedges. Top with Orange Cinnamon Dressing. Serve chilled. Makes 4 servings.

Orange-Cinnamon Dressing
1 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon honey
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
1 to 2 tablespoons fresh orange juice
Combine first four ingredients; mix well. Blend in orange juice, the amount depending upon desired consistency; chill. Makes about 1 cup.

'A COWBOY'S FAVORITE' — When the house rings with cowboy and Indian yells, carry the theme right to the table. A young son and his pals will be delighted with "A Cowboy's Favorite."

Give Young Cowboy an Egg Steed

A Cowboy's Favorite is a simple luncheon plate that will delight a young boy and his pals. The ingredients are a hard-cooked egg made to look like a horse; an ice cream cone for the saddle. Use the stem of a green onion and slit it to look like a tail. Press the tail into the large end of the egg.

An eye and ears can be made with bits of carrot but are not necessary. A small strip of carrot curl around the center of the egg for the saddle.

Indian tepee: An ice cream cone filled with ice cream or potato salad turned upside down on the plate. Put a couple of short paper straws in the point. Slim carrot sticks are arranged to look like a fire outside the tepee. A small hamburger for the cowboy's saddle bag. Roll up a paper napkin and tie with coarse string for the cowboy's bedroll.

Use Contrasts

Let the lunch-box meal include contrasts in flavors and textures. To make the meal more appetizing, let it contain something moist to offset the dry food, tart foods to offset the sweet and both crisp and soft foods.

Secret of Baked Beans Is Time

The hunt for low-cost, nourishing foods goes on. And looks like it will keep going on for quite some time. So budget-conscious shoppers will be alert to the Plentiful Foods List issued monthly by the United States Department of Agriculture.

One of the best buys in protein food right now is dry beans because record high production has pushed wholesale prices way down. This includes almost all kinds of edible beans but surely one of the most popular and versatile varieties are the small navy or pea beans.

In an era of time-saving convenience cooking, a big casserole of homemade baked beans, Boston style, can be a real treat. As with many seemingly "old fashioned" recipes, this one is deceptive. The cooking times are undeniably long — but the amount of active preparation time required is on a par with many "convenience" products.

For example, soaking the beans overnight sounds tedious but it takes about 2 minutes to put the dry beans in a pan and cover them with cold water. The beans do the rest by themselves. It might take another 5 minutes the next day to drain them and simmer for half an hour.

Mixing the flavorful sauce ingredients and placing the beans in a casserole could take 10 minutes. And then, once again, the beans cook slowly and deliciously by themselves for the required several hours.

Although the baked bean casserole could be the highlight of the meal, this dish requires the proper accompaniments: Baked ham, warmed Boston brown bread from a can, and sparkling cold beer from a can or bottle. A traditional American meal — homemade — for approximately 20 minutes of active preparation time!

Boston Baked Beans
1 pound pea or navy beans
Water
1/2 pound salt pork, cut in chunks
1 medium onion, chopped
3/4 cup dark molasses
1 (12-oz.) can or bottle beer
3/4 cup light brown sugar
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Place beans in a large kettle and cover with cold water; let soak overnight.
Next day, drain beans; cover with 2 quarts fresh water. Bring to a boil, cover and simmer 30 minutes; drain.

Place beans in a 3-qt. casserole. Fold in salt pork and onions. Combine molasses, beer, brown sugar, mustard, salt and pepper. Pour over beans and mix well.

Cover and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for about 6 hours. Stir once every hour so beans cook evenly. If beans seem dry, add more water during cooking period. Yield: 8 servings.

BOSTON BAKED BEANS — Beer in a glass and beer in the beans helps turn plentiful, economical navy beans into a favored American meal. Required accompaniments could all come from a can — ham, Boston brown bread and beer or ale.

Try this for an emergency: Drain 1 eight ounce can button mushrooms. Pour over them to cover, 1 bottle Italian or French dressing (not the red kind).

Let stand in refrigerator for at least half hour — longer is better of course; or you can make your own vinegar and oil French dressing. Drain and serve with picks for cocktails. Mighty good.

GUERRILLA'S WIFE TAGGED — Wearing a tag around her neck, a Vietnamese woman is tied up by a U.S. Marine after her capture in a coastal fishing village near Hoi An. A South Vietnamese undercover agent identified her as the wife of a known guerrilla.

State Senate Approves Crime Committee

LANSING (AP) — The Senate stepped into the crime study field Wednesday, approving after an hour's debate a resolution establishing a six-member committee to seek ways to reduce Michigan's crime rate.

The Senate committee would be authorized to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths and examine books and records of persons, associations or corporations involved in matters being investigated.

It could hire a staff and request information and aid from any state departments and agencies.

Under Senate rules the crime study panel would be named by a committee composed of the majority and minority party leaders and floor leaders, plus four other senators appointed by the majority caucus.

DEBATE ON AMENDMENT

The debate was on a proposed amendment that would have required that half the crime study committee members be attorneys and their supporters, county prosecutors.

Judiciary Committee Chairman Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw, proposed the amendment, which said three of the members of the new committee must be named from his committee, which consists of five lawyers.

Despite spirited defense by judiciary members are former attorneys and their supporters, the amendment was killed 22-8 on a roll call vote.

Richardson had argued that the inclusion of attorneys would readily provide legal advice during the committee's studies. He noted that three of the earth.

Magellan did not actually sail around the world. He was killed on the island of Macian, near Cebu, in the Philippines. One of his ships did accomplish the feat of circumnavigating the earth.

Burtons With Joan Crosby, NEA Entertainment Editor

'Circus Life' of Burtons Appears to Be All Fun

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PARIS — E'en So and Oh Fie, a pair of Pekes belonging to Elizabeth Taylor Burton, were romping on the red-carpeted floor with Dr. Faustus, a visiting black poodle.

Scattered white throw rugs, with long hair that matched the white Peke, were on the large dressing room floor in the Studio Saint-Maurice.

Whenever the white Peke landed on the rug, she disappeared.

"She gets stepped on a lot," Elizabeth said.

Richard Burton, between scenes of MGM's "The Comedians," based on Graham Greene's novel, and Elizabeth, made up next wearing a pink and white lounging robe, were "at home" to me.

FOCAL POINT

They were relaxing in her dressing room ("It's more comfortable than Richard's," she said) and were, as usual, the focal point for everybody.

"Three-ring circus" is the phrase most used to describe life in their orbit.

It is a circus, but, unlike a circus which has a tawdry and sometimes sad behind-the-scenes aspect, the Burtons' circus appears to be all fun.

The people who work with them have been associated with one or the other for many years and several films. There is an easy informality.

RELAXED MANNER

"They're great," a crewman said. "They are relaxed and don't demand that we treat them like stars."

"Of course, we do."

Someone else connected with the production said, "It's such fun being around them because it doesn't really occur to them that everyone doesn't live the way they do. Actually, when you're with them, you do."

The Burtons, in their relaxed moments, talk of many of the same things. We all do: cars, new furniture and new hats. Only in their case, they are Rolls-Royces and priceless antiques. The hat is to be made of sable skins about to arrive on a plane from Italy.

TEASE EACH OTHER

Their marriage, now 3 years old, appears to be a good one.

They tease each other. Richard plays on Elizabeth's jealousy. He says things like, "Let's settle this question before we have our nightly argument."

She is so feminine and deprecious that she'd be able to hold the interest of a man like Richard even if she weren't so beautiful.

When he is with her, he pretends indignation a lot. His conversation is sprinkled with "Oh, Elizabeths" spoken in the tone of a mid-Victorian maiden aunt. But his tone is belied by his obvious amusement.

HE TURNS GREEN

"Whenever I really want to outrage Richard," she said, "I become offensively American and say things like, 'Look here, buster.' He turns pea green around the gills."

"Deep down I'm a fantastically puritanical man and she knows it," Richard said.

"When we're with very posh people, she comes out with some things that make every eye in the room cross. And I have to say things like, 'I'm frightfully sorry, but my wife doesn't speak English too well.'"

Elizabeth spoke English very directly, however, when she announced that next season she will be appearing on Broadway.

Casino Fee to Bahamian Investigated

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — A $1-million fee is listed on casino books for Sir Stafford Sands, a lawyer and former minister of tourism and finance. A commission investigating gambling in this British colony wants to know what he was doing to earn it.

Sir Stafford is expected to accept an invitation to testify after he returns Saturday from Spain. He is reported recovering from a lung ailment.

Sands, 54, one of the leaders of the United Bahamian party, is still a member of Parliament. He lost his ministry when the Negro-dominated Progressive Liberal party won control of the government in February.

Keith Gonsalves, president of Bahamas Amusements Ltd., which operates the three gambling casinos, told the commission Sands was paid $500,000 in April, 1964, and was promised $500,000 a year for 10 years.

Asked why Sands was paid $500,000, Gonsalves said, "It was an omnibus fee for obtaining an exemption certificate (casino license) from the government."

Search for Gold in Texas Is Spurred by Legends

CANYON, Tex. (UPI) — The Arch Hunsley ranch at Canyon, West Texas State University, has developed into a suburban housing project, a university football field and a modern expressway.

But the dusty, broken land, with many rocks and few trees, still nurtures the legends of the sheepherders who lost 1,000, $20 gold pieces and the missing Spanish conquistadores with a large pot of gold nuggets.

"A newspaper retold those old stories recently and dozens, perhaps hundreds, of persons came looking for gold," Hunsley said.

"As far as I know, nobody found anything. We let anybody who wants come and look. They use geiger counters, which dust, witching sticks and I don't know what all."

Canyon and the Hunsley ranch lie along Palo Duro Canyon in the Texas Panhandle.

Hunsley bought up several small pieces of land in 1943 and formed his ranch. Later he began hearing legends of the two fortunes. Many persons believed they were on his ranch.

"I think there were, originally some grounds for it," he said. "I don't know whether anybody found the gold during the years or not."

Recently Canyon grew out to the edge of the Hunsley ranch and a housing development and superhighway now take up one corner of the old cattle land. According to the story, an outlaw named Sostene Archaveque, heard of the Casner's sheep and property, but did not know of their gold.

Sostene took a Mexican boy and rode out to the camp.

He shot and killed the brothers, then put the boy on his horse and sent him to round up the Casner's sheep. But the boy returned to Old Tascosa, taking Sostene's horse, and told of the Casner murders.

When Sostene realized he had been abandoned, he walked the 40 miles to Tascosa.

Nicholas Martinez, an old comanchero who had befriended the Casners, attacked Sostene as he entered town and stabbed him to death.

The $20,000 in gold pieces has not been found.

The most specific directions to the lost gold, in recent years, belonged to three elderly men from El Reno, Okla.

They had a crude, hand-drawn map, that an old convict in the Oklahoma State Prison gave them. The convict claimed to be a relative of the Casners.

Hunsley said the three men picked out several likely spots and dug for three weeks through dry ground and large rocks under a hot, summer sun.

Finally, they quit and left, weary and heartick.

Backlash by Squares Is Felt in London

LONDON (AP) — You can change the words of the song: "England Swings Like a Pendulum Do." It doesn't swing like it used to.

A year ago the word spread that in a decade dominated by youth London had burst into bloom. It swung, it was the scene.

Well, the pendulum has started swinging back. It had to come. Extremes breed extremes, and last year was pretty extreme.

The birds — girls — are just as pretty, the restaurants and the food they serve seem to get better. The general air of permissiveness that encourages nonconformity has cooled only slightly. London is still for

ONE SIGN

But some of the floss is being knocked out of the candy-floss society. There's a square backlash.

One sign is that the "Top of the Pops" record sales charts look more like "the stop of the pops." This spring, for the first time in years, the top 10 selling records consisted of nine ballads and one pop disc — "Penny Lane — Strawberry Fields" by the Beatles.

Even the Beatles put up a poor performance against the noise but have nothing else to track record. It spent only one week in the No. 1 spot, then dropped to No. 4 and then No. 9.

The Rolling Stones, whose music was considered the most "in" last spring, are in trouble. Critics attack them for a lack of progress. On their recent European tour angry teen-agers were arrested for throwing firecrackers and rioting during their shows.

In the world of pop music, fringe operators, small-time promoters and indifferent performers are disappearing.

Rik Gunnell, manager of singer George Fame and several other pop stars and groups, says: "The nonentities are being completely squeezed out as are the bands which make a noise but have nothing else to offer. Tours by groups are pre-arranged, but the major attractions are unaffected."

Only S. Viets Show Higher War Casualties for Week

SAIGON (AP) — The number of American and Communist casualties dropped last week, reflecting another period of small, scattered clashes in the Vietnam war. But South Vietnamese casualties increased, largely as a result of attacks on small units or outposts.

The U.S. military command reported today that 177 Americans were killed in action, 1,345 were wounded and three were missing or captured. In the previous week, 194 Americans had been killed and 1,679 were wounded.

Vietnamese military headquarters reported that government casualties totaled 284 killed and 89 missing, compared with 311 killed and 38 missing a week earlier. The Vietnamese do not report the number of their wounded.

The estimated total of enemy killed in the week that ended last Saturday was 1,478, a sharp drop from the 2,449 reported for the week before.

PREVIOUS WEEK

Casualties among other allied forces were put at 16 killed and 73 wounded. In the previous week, 18 were killed and 67 wounded.

Oscar Epilogue: Where Were Winners?

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Academy aftermath —

"I think it's a shame all those winners didn't show up," said the boss's secretary the morning after the Academy Awards. "They shouldn't let them have the Oscars if they don't have the courtesy to come to the affair."

THOMAS

Her suggestion sounds a bit extreme, but it reflects the disappointment of other television viewers who were denied the reactions of three of the four acting winners. Only Walter Matthau, supporting winner for "The Fortune Cookie," was present. Elizabeth Taylor, best actress for "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?," had been expected until last Friday when she canceled.

Did she really intend to come? Said one cynic: "She announced she would appear so the voters wouldn't think she was snubbing the academy." Others suspected she canceled when it appeared the awards wouldn't be televised because of the actors' strike against the networks.

Such snide reports are denied by Miss Taylor's publicity man. He said she and husband, Richard Burton, fear air travel and dislike separations. "They swore when they married that their personal lives would take precedence over professional matters," said the publicist. "Elizabeth finally decided not to come when she saw how much her leaving worried Richard. He hadn't slept for two nights."

The Burtons are making "The Comedians" in Nice, France. What about the other winners — Paul Scofield of "A Man for All Seasons" and Sandy Dennis of "The Mirror Crack'd?"

He is beginning work on "Macbeth" at Stratford-on-Avon, and she is filming "Sweet November" in New York. Both surely could have obtained a couple days' release from their assignments. But both are retiring, even timid personalities, and they chose not to face the hurly-burly at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium.

"This is one year," commented my wife, "when the presenters were the show, not the winners."

Her own favorite moment came when Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers glided on-stage looking as if they had just stepped out of "Swing Time" or "Top Hat." It was a magical moment when he twirled her around in response to the warm applause.

Also heartwarming was the appearance of Patricia Neal walking on-stage with sure steps and speaking out with the same throaty voice.

Reagan Party-Unity Efforts Aid Kuchel Reelection Bid

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) pose. An aide said the governor craves in November and reduce liberal," said Assemblyman "They are political piranhas who feast upon their own, and whose appetites are satiated only by defeat of those Republicans with whom they disagree."

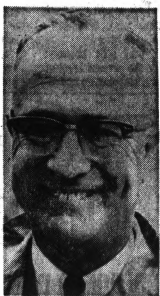

U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, is firmly convinced "a bitter primary will help the Democratic votes, is getting unexpected help toward reelection because GOP Gov. Ronald Reagan wants to preserve party unity in California."

Thus the governor hopes to head a favorite-son delegation to the 1968 Republican National Convention.

Some of Reagan's top political advisers have stepped in to tone down a potential party-splitting primary fight in June next year. It shapes up between Kuchel, the Senate's assistant GOP leader, and Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction.

Rafferty, who holds a nonpartisan state job, is backed by Republican conservatives who say Kuchel is too liberal.

Reagan has adopted a neutral

MAX RAFFERTY

"come up for reelection at the right time. Since we're working hard to keep the party together, he's the beneficiary of that."

Rafferty, however, has made it clear that he will run against Kuchel next year if he is assured of enough campaign contributions.

Kuchel's supporters bristled. They also were embittered over action of a conservative volunteer group, the California Republican Assembly, which criticized Kuchel and called for a candidate who will further Republican goals.

"These people who want to dump Tom Kuchel from his Senate seat are the same spoilers who wrecked Dick Nixon's campaign for governor of California in 1962 because he was 'too

THOMAS KUCHEL

William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Reagan had sought unsuccessfully to cool down the CRA, telling the grass-roots workers he didn't mind their challenging Kuchel as long as they didn't rip the party apart with a violent attack.

His aides were privately unhappy at Rafferty's speech and at the CRA's anti-Kuchel action. They already have asked the wealthy Southern California conservatives who originally financed Reagan's governorship campaign not to support Rafferty's candidacy.

Illinois Faces A-Facility Loss

AEC Chairman Cites Lack of Housing Law

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — Members of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) warned Illinois lawmakers yesterday that the state might lose the giant atom smelter scheduled to be built at Weston, Ill., if it fails to pass a fair housing law.

AEC Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg told Gov. Otto Kerner and the lawmakers at a meeting in the governor's office that construction of the facility in Illinois could hinge on "open housing."

Congress, which must authorize the project, could demand that it be located elsewhere "if an effective open housing law is not passed in this session" of the Legislature, Seaborg said.

The AEC chairman said allegations of housing discrimination in the Western area and the lack of "open housing" legislation would be debated when the AEC authorization bills go to Congress within the next two weeks.

"The Joint Committee on Atomic Energy and the AEC recently have received new demands that an alternative site be named if Illinois does not enact an effective open occupancy law, or the communities pass effective ordinances," he said.

The Illinois site was selected last year after the AEC narrowed the bids to locations in six states, including Michigan.

Man Is Mute on Tax Charge

BA YCITY (AP) — Saginaw businessman Edward Bear Jr. stood mute in federal court Tuesday to charges of evading $300,000 in income taxes over a six-year period.

He was freed in $1,000 bond with a trial date to be set.

Bear, 58, and Edward Klemach, 68, reported recuperating from illness in Florida, are charged with evasion of taxes in individual returns and in partnership returns for the General Roofing and Contracting Co. of Saginaw.

Both have made restitution, but assistant U.S. Dist. Atty. Robert E. Hameel said this would have no effect on criminal charges against the men.

Her Contact With Police Is on Daily Basis

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A Cincinnati woman was being questioned yesterday by a court attorney for possible jury duty.

"Have you ever come in contact with any police?" he asked.

"Yes," she replied.

"In what way?"

"I've been married to one for 34 years."

The woman, Helen Stone, is the wife of patrolman Ralph Stone. She was excused from the jury.

Proposed federal income and Social Security tax hikes have met with opposition from a number of residents in the 18th Congressional District, according to U.S. Rep. William S. Broomfield.

The objections were raised in responses to a questionnaire sent out by the Republican congressman from Royal Oak.

Only in the area of fighting crime did the residents support an increase in federal spending.

More than 10,000 replies — or about 10 per cent of the households in Broomfield's district — were received calling for cuts in agriculture, air transport subsidies, urban renewal, anti-poverty programs and public welfare.

Broomfield said that many of the responses include personal notes elaborating on issues in the questionnaire, most of them calling for cuts in "non-essential" government programs.

SURTAX PROPOSAL

The President's proposal for a 6 per cent surtax to be paid by individuals and firms in addition to the regular income tax for two years was rejected by more than 3-1.

The administration's proposal for Social Security tax increases to finance a 20 per cent boost in benefits was turned down by a 2-1 margin.

Reaction was split between maintaining the present level of spending and stepping up spending for air and water pollution control.

Catholics recently polled stated that about 75 per cent of them would continue to observe one day of abstinence from meat per week, and 80 per cent of these would continue to observe Friday.

'Fat Cats' at Las Vegas, 'Mice' Play Azalea Open

From Our Wire Services
While the fat cats of the golf tour are away at Las Vegas, the mice will play in the $35,000 Azalea Open golf tournament starting today.

The big money winners evidently can't be bothered with the loose change of a $5,000 first prize. But the lesser known players on the circuit love it.

It gives them a fine crack at a first prize — and perhaps bigger things in the future.

After all, Arnold Palmer was just known as a promising former amateur champion when he won here in 1957.

Last year, Bert Yancey won. He led the Masters the first three rounds last week and wound up third. Yancey won't be back to defend his Azalea championship.

CHAMPIONS BEGIN
The greens were never greener, thanks to rain the day before, and the rough was tough enough as the 15th annual Tournament of Champions, in Las Vegas got under way today.

Palmer, the defending champion who would like to make it three in a row, two-time winner Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper and Gay Brewer headed a cast of 26 professionals who qualified for the tournament by having won a PGA-sanctioned event in the past year.

Tourney in Flint
Badminton Play Starts

FLINT (UPI) — Fourth-seeded Dorothy O'Neill of Norwich, Conn., was eliminated by unranked Diane Moore of Long Beach, Calif., during the opening round of the U.S. Open Amateur Badminton Championships Wednesday.

The four-day tournament opened Wednesday and will conclude Saturday.

More than 175 entries from 75 American cities and six foreign nations are competing.

Miss Moore eliminated Miss O'Neill with scores of 11-6 and 11-8. World champion Judy Harral, coach for LaSalle College man of London, England, defeated Marty Triffin, of Westminster, Calif., 11-2 and 11-4 to move into the quarterfinals.

Jim Poole, of New Orleans, second-seeded in the men's singles, dropped Gar Aleksoff of Ann Arbor, Mich., 15-0, 15-0, to move into the quarterfinals.

Relay Teams Increase
LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Thirteen more teams, including Texas, Grambling, La., and Prairie View of Texas Wednesday entered the 42nd annual Kansas Relays April 20-22, bringing the total to 31 with several more expected.

The setting is the rolling, 6,625-yard, par-35-57 Stardust Golf Course, which is a new experience for the visiting professionals. In previous years, the Desert Inn Country Club was the scene.

As usual, the weather may be a factor in the pros' drive for the $20,000 top money, and windy weather was forecast for the afternoon.

PLAYERS MOTIVATED
But don't feel sorry for the Azalea. The players here are, as they say, "motivated." And the fans, who annually make the tournament a sell-out, may be watching the stars of the future.

Most of the entrants here have been practicing for several days. Most were not invited to the Masters and some who were cut. So there has been plenty of practice time on the par 72 Cape Fear Country club course.

Al Bessellink, a former Azalea champion, is the favorite along with North Carolinian Randy Glover. Rancey would have been the heavy favorite had he appeared.

Bessellink won in 1964. That was his first tour title since 1957 and, along with Dick Hart, the 1965 champion, he is the only former winner in the field.

Spring Contest Ends 'M' Football Practice

ANN ARBOR — Michigan's last fall was one of the pleasant surprises of the drill. Sipp has shown speed and surprising drive after playing a season as a tight end on the first string.

AMONG STANDOUTS

Among other standouts have been Victor Vidner at quarterback; Ray Phillips, tackle; Ernie Sharpe and Ron Johnson at halfbacks and Dick Williams, defensive tackle, all lettermen.

Another surprise among veterans has been the showing of Jon Hefelinger, reserve end from Battle Creek, and Jim Berline, Niles, O., at split-end.

Newcomers who have attracted attention of the coaches thus far include such players as Jim Mandich, a rugged 215-pound end from Solon, O.; Cecil Pryor, linebacker from Corpus Christi, Texas; halfbacks John Gah-Craw, Montclair, N.J.; Phil Seymour, end, Berkley and Frank Titus, full back, Cleveland, O.

Williams Again AAU Champion

State Wrestler Retains Prowess

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Rudy Williams of the Michigan Wrestling Club has lost a little weight but none of his prowess since he captured the 1966 Amateur Athletic Union national title in 91.5-pound wrestling.

Williams, now wrestling in the 171.5-pound class, outpointed Ed DeWitt of the Multnomah Athletic Club, Portland, Ore., 3-1 Wednesday.

Then he outpointed Bruce Glenn of the U.S. Navy 2-1 to win the national championship in the lighter division.

Burly Larry Kristoff of Chicago goes in pursuit of a rare quadruple wrestling honor to day.

Heavyweight Kristoff, represented the Mayor Daley Club, eased to a second consecutive championship in the Greco-Roman division Wednesday night and will be defending his freestyle title in that class competition starting Friday.

Upwards of 300 wrestlers, including a contingent from Japan, will seek titles in the three days of free-style wrestling.

Kristoff wrestled twice in Greco-Roman competition Wednesday and took less than a minute to dispose of each opponent. He pinned Tim Kopitar of San Francisco in 41 seconds, then pinned Daley teammate Bob Billberg in 49 seconds.

Wayne Baughman, former University of Oklahoma ace now in the Air Force, won the 191.5-pound title and was named the Greco-Roman meets' outstanding wrestler.

SIXTH TITLE

It was Baughman's sixth AAU championship. Enroute to the title, he posted a decision over Russ Camilleri of San Francisco, last year's 171.5-pound champ and a nine-time AAU titlist.

The Hazewinkel twins from St. Cloud, Minn., State College, collected one champion trophy and a second place. Dave took top honors in the 114.5-pound division. Jim, the 1966 champ at 121.5, was runner-up in that class to Tomino Michio of the New York Athletic Club.

Other Greco-Roman winners were Charles Coffee of Minnesota, 138.5; Ben Northrup, San Francisco, 154; and Gary Stensland, Multnomah AC, Portland, Ore., 213.5.

5 Newcomers on Ryder Cup

U. S. Squad Selected
by PGA Head

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — An American Ryder Cup team featuring five newcomers to the international competition will meet their British opponents at Houston Oct. 20-22.

The American side, announced here Wednesday by President Max Elbin of the PGA of America, will include, in order of their point tally over a two-year period: Billy Casper 829.09; Arnold Palmer 687.46; Gay Brewer 659.97; Doug Sanders 483.02; Gene Littler 417.29; Julius Boros 381.44; Bobby Nichols 381.32; Al Geiberger 353.13; Gardner Dickinson Jr. 344.34 and Johnny Pott 308.59.

Brewer, recent winner of the 1967 Masters championship, and reigning PGA champion Geiberger have never played in the Ryder matches, nor have Sanders, Nichols and Dickinson.

Three of the American players—Casper, Palmer and Littler—represented the United States in the last three biennial matches.

U. S. 'Native' Not to Play for St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pat McBride, one of the few natives to be selected for a berth on one of the new professional soccer teams, says he won't play for the St. Louis Stars of the National Professional Soccer League.

McBride had made the same announcement earlier after a flareup with coach Rudi Gutendorf. Later he said he would apologize to Gutendorf and was expected to rejoin the team.

"I know I said some bad things to Gutendorf," the former St. Louis prep and college soccer star said, "and I'm sorry and will apologize for those remarks. But I don't feel that I could play for him."

The Stars open their season Sunday in Chicago against the Chicago Spurs.

Illini Working 'to Show-em' on Gridiron

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The University of Illinois, emerging from the gloom of its slush fund scandal, opened spring football practices with a "we're going-to-show-em" attitude.

Enthusiasm and hustle keyed the start of 20 days of drills Wednesday.

A huge turnout of 97 players was greeted by new head Coach Jim Valek, who replaced Pete Elliott, forced to resign in the illegal recruiting scandal that jarred the university for four months.

TWO HOURS

Valek was more of an observer during the opening rehearsals, acquainting himself with the players while his assistants unleashed the horde on through two hours of loosening-up maneuvers.

Among the aides was 33-year-old Ellis Rainsberger, former Kansas State star lineman. He was named an assistant Wednesday after serving last season as head football coach at Southern Illinois University. He replaced Bill Taylor, longtime Elliott lieutenant, who resigned Tuesday. The rest of Elliott's assistants will remain.

Tough Competition Seen for Women's AAU Swim

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Tight competition in several of the 15 events in the Women's National AAU Indoor Swimming Meet starting today indicates there may be a heavy turnover in the list of champions.

Defending champions are on hand in all except two events, but they face some talented competition in the field of 291 mermaids who qualified for the nationals.

One rated a strong choice for a title and a trip to the Pan-American Games at Winnipeg is Claudia Kolb, 17, of the Santa Clara, Calif., Swim Club.

Big Ten to Begin Play; Gophers Picked to Rule

By the Associated Press

The Big Ten launches its 72nd conference baseball season Friday, playing an expanded 18-game schedule in which Minnesota is favored to dethrone Ohio State.

The Buckeyes, seeking a third straight title, are lacking their first battery of pitcher Steve Arlin, who signed a pro contract, a catcher Chuck Brinkman, now graduated.

Minnesota, runnerup last season with an 11-12 record against Ohio State's rain-trimmed mark of only 6-0, has the Big Ten's best tuneup record in winning 15 of 19 games this spring.

BUCKS THREAT

Also threatening Ohio State's title defense are Michigan (11-1), rapidly-improving Northwestern and Michigan State.

Two changes mark the conference format. Besides increasing the schedule from 15 to 18 games, the league athletic directors also ruled in December that tie games no longer will be counted in determining percentages for the championship.

The opening conference weekend round, including double headers both days:

Friday — Michigan at Indiana and Michigan State at Ohio State.

Saturday — Michigan State at Indiana and Michigan at Ohio State.

The rest of the league starts conference play the following weekend.

Amateur Runner Wasn't Fleeing

BOSTON (AP) — "Grab that man," shouted a woman who had just witnessed a finance company holdup. Police officers collared the "suspect" as he ran down the street.

The fellow won back his release promptly, however, after convincing the officers that he was an amateur runner practicing for next spring's Boston Marathon.

Soviet Union Table Netters Defeat U.S.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The United States men's and women's teams were beaten Wednesday by the Soviet Union and Japan, respectively, in the World Table Tennis Championships.

The Soviet Union beat the Americans 5-0. The Japanese girls scored a shutout 5-0. Erwin Klein of Los Angeles lost to Sarkis Sarkisjan of the Soviet Union 21-6, 21-15.

Robert Guskoff of New York went down before Anatoli Amelin 21-14, 21-18. Daniel Pecora of Chicago fell before Stanislav Gomozkov 21-19, 21-16. Amelin then beat Klein 21-9, 21-10 and Sarkisjan whipped Pecora 21-18, 21-4.

Brooke Williams of Santa Barbara, Calif., lost to Noriko Yamanaka of Japan in the Women's competition 21-1, 21-5. Connie Sweeris of Grand Rapids, Mich., lost to Nozko Fukazu 21-7, 21-8.

In doubles, Leah Neuberger of New York and Williams fell before Yamanaka and Fukazu 21-7, 21-8.

Dawson Tops AFL Passers for Career

Quarterback Len Dawson, who guided the Kansas City Chiefs to the American Football League championship last season, has taken over the No. 1 spot from George Blanda in the league's lifetime passing statistics.

Dawson grabbed the top spot with his outstanding performance during the 1966 season, pulling into first place in three of the six categories on which the lifetime standings are based.

The 31 year old former Purdue standout has the highest completion percentage among the leaders, 561; the highest average gain per pass, 7.99, and the lowest interception percentage, .048.

Blanda, recently acquired from Houston by the Oakland Raiders, dropped into a tie for second place with Tom Flores, recently traded by the Raiders to the Buffalo Bills.

TALENTED RIGHT ARM—The arm that Mike Raftery used to hurl touchdown passes and field goals with earlier this school year, now will be tossing fast balls and curves for the baseball squad. He had a .61 mound record last spring, and was a .324 hitting shortstop when not on the mound.

Attendance Record for Prep Tourney

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's of $632,640. This was $74,251 more than the previous record, also set last year.

Entertaining and participating schools already have received $267,895. Forsythe said about another $75,000 probably would be distributed to these schools later.

The High School Athletic Association retained $286,776 for its operating budget.

There were 751 high schools competing in the 1967 tourney. This was a drop of two from last year, the cut due to school consolidations.

Radio and television broadcast fees for the games brought in $11,591 this year, $937 more than last year.

Forsythe reported Michigan's annual tournament currently ranks fourth in the nation in attendance and gate receipts, behind Indiana, Illinois and Ohio—first, second and third in that order, Minnesota is fifth.

Indiana, famed for its frenzied basketball fans, attracts more than 1.5 million spectators to its annual tourney.

For once we had perfect weather," commented Charles Forsythe, state high school athletic director. "Not a single game had to be postponed."

In past years, late snow storms have forced games to be postponed or have cut heavily into attendance.

Avon's Bye Yields Post

Expansion Catches Up to Coach

Expansion has caught up to long-time Avondale coach Dick Bye.

The problem is not with his waistline, rather in the duties the 41-year-old Northern Michigan graduate also has as an athletic director.

Bye, who lives at 2959 Hartline in Rochester, has resigned as Avondale football coach in order to continue as the school's athletic director — perhaps soon on a full-time basis. He still is teaching industrial arts classes.

"We've added cross country, golf and wrestling to our program in recent years," Bye noted in announcing the change. Additionally, a new high school has been bonded in the district.

The demands for arranging team schedules, eligibility lists, uniforms and equipment both for practice and games, plus the extensive planning involved in moving the sports program to the new school will place a heavy workload on the director's desk.

1951 START

Bye's decision temporarily ends, at least, a coaching career that began in 1951 at Brimley. He was football, basketball and track coach for the Class D school that year.

He moved to Richmond in 1952 and had the football and baseball teams, winning St. Clair League titles before coming to Avondale in 1955 as basketball, cross country and track coach.

on IOC Agenda

Olympics Meeting
Set for Tehran

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The International Olympic Committee officially announced today it will hold its 65th session in Tehran, Iran, May 5-9, with the thorny problem of South Africa high on the agenda.

The session will be preceded by a May 3-4 meeting of representatives of the National Olympic committees with the executive board of the IOC.

Also on the agenda are the presentation of reports from the organizing committees of the Winter Olympics at Grenoble, France, and the summer games at Mexico City in 1968.

South Africa is seeking to have the ban lifted against its participation in the Olympics because of the country's apartheid policies in sports. But new government regulations now permit multi-racial teams.

Patriots Get Receiver

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Patriots of the American Football League announced Wednesday the signing of Leroy Mitchell of Texas Southern as a receiver and defensive end. He was Boston's 11th draft choice.

AMONG TOP TEN—Waterford Township's John Bennett, a Michigan State sophomore, has established himself as one of the leading collegiate bowlers in the nation by finishing eighth over-all in the national championships at Miami Beach. The 19-year-old lane artist finished fifth in the singles and was third in the doubles.

Opening lead—♥ K

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

Any time you give your partner a chance to make a mistake he may make one. It pays to play in such manner that he won't go wrong. South won the opening heart lead with his ace, played his ace of diamonds and led a low one to dummy's king. East dropped a club.

South continued by leading dummy's jack of clubs. East played low. If he had covered with the queen, South would have had no further problems.

West won with the ace and cashed his queen of diamonds. East discarded another club. Then West played queen and another heart.

South ruffed. At this point South had lost three tricks and still had potential losers in not make the hand by normal play but he found a way to give East a problem. South led his six of spades. West played the three and dummy's nine was taken by East's queen.

East had to lead away from his king of spades or queen of clubs and East went wrong. He led a club. South played the nine and made his contract.

West pointed out that his play of the three of spades showed three cards in the suit and that East should have been smart enough to lead back a spade.

There was merit in West's contention but West could have saved his partner had he led the ten of spades instead of queen-small of hearts.

This would have cost a trick if South held king-small in spades but in that case South would have led a spade from dummy instead of the actual club.

Tempest Over Gold Exposes an Old Issue

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — The present tempest over the role of monetary gold will at least expose a subject so full of cobwebs it must be aired.

The controversy, one of a succession, arises over suggestions from private American bankers that this country, whose supply of gold is being depleted, might refuse to exchange any more gold for dollars.

The Pentagon said, however, "The German government has indicated that it intends to fulfill its commitment."

The Defense Department refused to provide an official figure on the amount of U.S. gold which still must be committed to meet its obligation.

AMOUNT CLASSIFIED

This information is classified as "German request," a Pentagon spokesman said. Normally, military security is the major consideration in classifying information. Defense officials acknowledged there is security in withholding the West German purchase figures.

West German slowdown in meeting the commitment has been a cause of past friction.

Sources said the actions already taken by the West German government came to a bit more than $1 billion and include not only purchases of goods and services but also buying of U.S. Treasury securities and repayment of debts.

WASHINGTON (AP) — About a year before the Jan. 27 Apollo spacecraft fire that killed three astronauts, a top space official had determined there were widespread deficiencies in work of the contractor that built the vehicle.

The information, not contained in an Apollo accident report, was board's final report Sunday emerged Wednesday in testimony before a congressional investigating subcommittee.

But what agency officials were asked for the so-called Phillips report, they said they would have to think the request over.

A member of the panel, Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., immediately charged that leaders of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) were trying to hide behind executive privilege.

The Commerce Department reported Wednesday night the smallest rise in six years in Gross National Product—the value of all goods and services produced in the economy.

And even that $5-billion advance above the fourth quarter of 1966 was absorbed by price increases, the department said, leaving the first quarter GNP at $74.3 billion.

Government economists anticipated some slight real growth, but said the figures confirmed generally their earlier predictions.

BRIGHT SPOTS

They said the figures included bright spots in the economy, including consumer spending despite sluggish automobile sales and the biggest inventory adjustment in history in dollar volume.

They declined, however, to make any exact predictions on the economy.

President Johnson's request for a 6 percent surtax on most income taxes is based on the economy's projection of an economic expansion during the second half of the year.

The plan has already run through in Congress because of sluggishness in the economy which has been somewhat depressed by the government experts' predictions.

EXACTLY IN ORDER

But one expert said Wednesday night that "the horses are coming in exactly in the order we thought they would."

A heavy accumulation in inventories and slack consumer spending early in the year worried the administration but record retail sales in March pushed consumer spending up a whopping $8.1 billion at an annual rate during the first three months of the year.

Photo Bug Volunteered for Last Raid

SAIGON (AP) — It was about a month ago that Spec. 4 Douglas Holland, 23, of Anita, Iowa, returned to Vietnam from rest and recreation leave in Tokyo with an elaborate outfit of photo equipment.

Holland had spent six months as an infantryman with the 173d Airborne Brigade. Then he was switched to the brigade information office because of his talent for writing and photography.

His new cameras would see him through his final weeks in Vietnam. Then he would go home.

SOLDIER'S VIEW

He was trying to arrange a lecture tour of Iowa high schools. He said he wanted to give the students "a soldier's view of Vietnam."

Last Sunday, with just 21 days left to go in Vietnam, Holland asked to go on one last combat assault with the troops.

A routine company operation was scheduled in War Zone C northwest of Saigon and perhaps, while covering it for the Army, he would get some pictures to illustrate his lectures. But as the helicopters skimmed into the landing zone it was obvious this would not be a routine assault.

Vietcong were in the tree lines and had planted mines in the clearing.

Before the Americans could spring from the helicopters and find cover, many had been cut down by bullets and mine fragments.

Holland, described by a buddy with the 173d as "great under fire," darted low taking pictures.

Before long 20 dead and wounded troopers sprawled in the clearing, Holland knew many of them.

He put down his cameras and went to work helping the medics.

In the confusion, a bullet struck him in the neck. He died on the spot.

Oxford Eyes Incorporation, Urban Renewal

OXFORD — Big changes may be brewing here. The Village Council has asked Manager Robert Smalley to investigate incorporation as a city.

Smalley said the first step would be the organization of a citizen study committee to delve into the process.

Also on the horizon, but at least seven years away, is urban renewal of the central business district.

Smalley reported to the council on a visit paid here recently by Housing and Urban Development authorities from Chicago.

The village manager said he was informed that the village would most likely be eligible for federal assistance.

An enlargement of the original plan which called for a $1,135,000 redevelopment of the four-block business district was advised, Smalley said. The area suggested for inclusion lies east of the New York Central Railroad tracks.

COMPLETION DATE
Smalley said he was told it would be August 1970, before the village could submit the first part of its urban renewal application and that it would be December of that year before any of the involved land could be purchased for renewal.

The earliest completion date he was told would be in 1974.

Council members reelected Irvin Unger president, Homer Hight president pro tem, and Mrs. Doris Corey, clerk-treasurer.

Rezoning applications for all but residential projects will now require submission of a site plan to the planning commission as a result of council action.

Area News

Offices Filled in Lake Orion

LAKE ORION — The village has several new appointive officers as a result of its new charter and the elections last month.

President Wallace Crane has appointed Fred Cole president pro tem and Mrs. Mildred Edwards clerk pro tem. Robert Parent was retained as village attorney.

Committees were set up with the following people named to chairmanships: water, Dora Galloway; streets and alleys, Robert Stokes; cemetery, Mrs. Edwards; parks and recreation, Fred Cole; ways and means, Arlie Reed.

Others were: ordinances and police, Lawrence Giddings; building, Giddings; police chief, Neil Leonard; fire chief, Ivor Caylor; building inspector, Lawrence Marlin; youth center board, Cole.

Appointed to the board of review were James Norton, Albert Rhodes and Dr. Richard McNeil. Reed was named council representative to the planning commission replacing William O'Brien who became an ex-officio member. Reappointed were Nicholas Trinen and Rhodes.

Former councilmen Robert Huxwell, Stewart Drahner and O'Brien were named to a citizens' advisory committee. Charter commissioners were re-named for a revision of village ordinances.

Romeo Police Post Unfilled

ROMEO — The council has reappointed most village officials to their old jobs, but the vacancy created by the resignation last December of Police Chief Lyle Jewell remains unfilled.

Dr. Donald Rossman of Romeo was the only new appointee. He assumes the duties of village health officer. Martin Durham was elected president pro tem.

Meanwhile, Sgt. Charles Meeker remains as acting head of the village police department until President Merlin J. Kerr makes a new appointment.

The council accepted a $19,000 bid from Lind Asphalt Co. for resurfacing of areas on South Rawies, Blaine Court and Brook Drive.

Enforcement of the curfew for young people was asked. Those 14 and younger are expected to be off the streets by 10 p.m. on week nights and 11 p.m. week-ends. Young people up to 18 are permitted an extra hour.

By All-Male Oxford Twp. Board

Budget Contemplated

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — The first all-male Township Board to convene here in 27 years last night contemplated a proposed budget of $96,000, up $12,000 from last year.

Supervisor Lee Valentine said increased projected expenditures allowed $10,000 for the civic center building program, $5,000 for preliminary engineering on a township sewer system, $7,000 for the new planning commission and zoning board, and additional money for increased clerical and janitorial help.

The park fund, financed by a .75 mill voted some 12 years ago in the township, also reflected a projected increase from $11,000 to $15,000.

Valentine noted that the budget is top-heavy on expenditure. He has only $31,400 chartered for income next year.

The board voted to pay off some $25,000 of $70,000 in bonds levied last fall for the paving of streets in the Davis-Tan Lake area. The special assessment fund for the project has increased at a rate greater than anticipated.

Due however to a lack of matching road funds, the board reported it was unable to take action on the proposed paving of Pontiac Road from Drahner to the Oxford High School. The board had received a $45,000 estimate on the job from the County Road Commission.

The question of what to do about unauthorized junking of old cars and dumping of junk in the township was debated by the board.

The township currently leases rights to dump in the Pontiac Orion dump on Kern Road, but there are no provisions there for the acceptance of old cars.

Controversy has been stirred by the use of property on Coats and Sanders Road for dumping.

$280,000 Deficit Faced by Romeo School Board

ROMEO — At the present time, the Romeo School Board faces a $280,000 deficit in its 1967-68 school budget.

Schools Supt. T. C. Filippula said figures were preliminary. They are based on the same amount of state aid as received this year and on the same salaries paid to teachers though the district is now in negotiations with its staff. Provision must also be made to hire 18 additional teachers, the superintendent said.

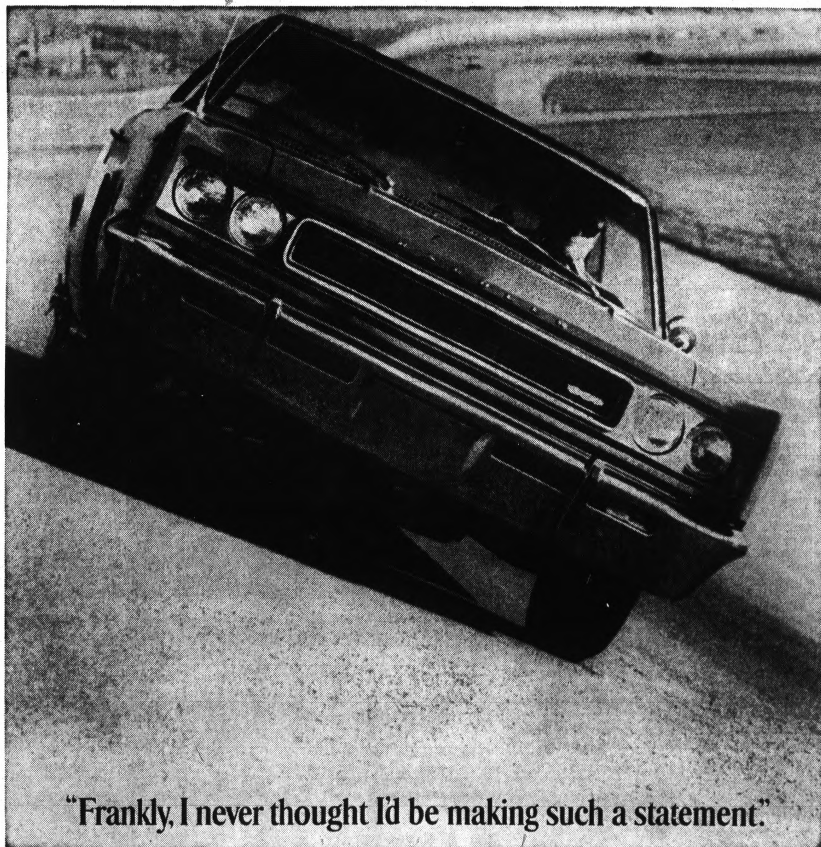

The total estimated budget for the new year stands at $1,800,000, and Filippula said it obviously would have to be reworked.

The district last night sold $560,000 in bonds at an average interest rate of 3.887 per cent for the completion of the Indian Hills Elementary School. Bids on the addition to the new school are to be taken May 8. Filippula said plans are to have the addition in use by February of next year.

Meantime, the administration was authorized to rent eight classrooms for next year until the addition should be completed. A summer academic improvement program financed by $20,240 of federal funds was approved.

"There isn't a better intermediate size car sold in the United States than the 1967 Rebel" says Tom McCahill, automobile expert for Mechanix Illustrated.

"Frankly, I never thought I'd be making such a statement."

Tom McCahill evaluates the automobile industry for Mechanix Illustrated. Recently, he took out an SST hardtop equipped with a 343 cu. in. Typhoon V-8 for an exhaustive series of road tests. How did our Excitement Machine perform?

"In roadability and performance, it would top most of the newer specialty cars. There's absolutely no plowing and little body roll. The whole feel of the car, when going over ruts or across dirt roads, is excellent."

What about comfort?

"It's extremely comfortable and relaxing to drive. In straight-line driving the SST is as comfortable as the Jett-O specials."

How about Rebel's new four-link rear suspension?

"Of all the new sporty-type cars, as they come from the showroom, Rebel has by far the best and safest suspension of the whole kit and caboodle."

And the looks?

"As sharp in appearance as a thousand-dollar bill. And from a cost angle, Rebel's not overpriced."

This is your kind of excitement, created by American Motors. A company that has created an entire line of six-passenger Excitement Machines that give you more excitement for the money.

See your American Motors/Rambler Dealer. He'll convince you the 1967 Rebel is the best intermediate built in the country today. Then do what Tom McCahill did. Take a test-drive.

Suit Filed Against Retail Clerks Union

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—A $60,000 suit has been filed in Berrien County Circuit Court against the Retail Clerks International Association, AFL-CIO. The complainant, Hilltop Foods, seeks damages in connection with picketing activities by the union last week.

The suit alleges pickets threw nails in the supermarket driveway which punctured a number of tires on customers' cars.

The union is attempting to gain bargaining rights for store employees and the Hilltop had obtained a restraining order prohibiting the pickets from blocking the drive, throwing nails on the pavement or harassing the customers.

Groucho, on Grumble to NY, Grouches Away at Wilson

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Groucho Marx, brother Zeppo and wife Eden swung into New York to build up his book "Letters From Groucho" which has already sold 40,000 copies, and the Groucho Marx Film Festival, and was, I'm glad to say, his usual abusive self.

"Thanks for putting me in your book," I said. "Where you in there?" he said. "I should have copied it more carefully."

"Anyway, I'm going to Hollywood," I mentioned. "Good, I'm glad you're leaving town," he said. "Oh, I'll be back soon. You won't be able to escape me," I said. "I never have been able to!" he said.

Groucho went to the Copacabana where he heckled his good friend Edie Adams and comedian Bob Melvin. Groucho told Melvin: "You're the classiest guy I've seen since Ben Bernie—and I'll tell him that." Melvin replied, "Don't rush on my account."

Edie told Groucho: "You and I have something in common. We both smoke cigars."

Jack Benny brought his "1110 Stradivarius—one of the few Stradivarius violins made in Japan," he said—to the Lambs Gambol tribute to Ed Sullivan at the Plaza. Ed took the usual ribbing. Peter Lind Hayes, the toastmaster, said, "I'm not going to do anything tonight, if Ed Sullivan can get away with it 19 years, I can do it one night."

Jack Waldron and Harry Hersfield mentioned that "It's been said that Ed Sullivan's the finest newspaperman in America and tonight we're honoring the man who said 'Ed Sullivan.' Also: 'I won't say Ed pays badly, but where I was on his show, I cashed my pay check at the newsstand.'"

Pontiac Div. Leads First Auto Sales Spurt of Year

DETROIT (AP)—There is glee among U.S. auto makers today for the first time in months.

Spring is here and in the first 10 days of April dealer sales topped those of the same period a year earlier.

It was the first time this year in which sales surpassed those of the comparable 10 days of 1966—the second-best year in the industry's history.

Pontiac Motor Division sales during the period increased 17 per cent over last year.

"Our dealers tell us that the warmer

weather in most sections of the country has been a definite stimulant," said Thomas L. King, divisional general sales manager.

Pontiac figures show 26,159 sales during the period compared to 22,333 last year.

Reporting an 8 per cent gain in the April 1-10 period, American Motors Vice President Thomas A. Coupe said, "This is a firm indication that the spring selling market has opened up."

This feeling was echoed by others in the industry, which is viewed by many as a bellwether of the nation's economy.

The gain was only 7,997 cars, but it represented 1967's first breakthrough.

January's sales were 17.5 per cent off the same 1966 month, February's down 23.4 per cent and March's 21.5 per cent lower.

President Says Hemisphere in 'Urgent' Decade

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—President Johnson called for the Latin colleagues at the summit today to make this "a decade of urgency" for the hemisphere.

In his first formal speech at the 19-nation meeting, Johnson called for 10 years of intensive efforts on a broad front to speed the social and economic development of the Americas.

"I speak to you as a ready partner in that effort," he said.

Actually, Johnson's formal remarks were less attention-getting and significant than those he delivered yesterday at a private session with his summit colleagues.

His earlier, informal statement had taken on a dramatic life in the clamor for more direct aid to Latin American nations.

KEY AREAS CITED

In his formal speech, the U.S. chief executive picked off areas in which he said the United States was ready and eager to help to support a proposed Latin American common market, to help build big projects cutting across national boundaries (highways are an example), explore tariff advantages for all developing countries, to help modernize agriculture, and to promote better health and education.

"I pledge to you today," he said, "that I will do all I can, in my time of leadership, to help you meet these challenges."

Johnson's speech and his promises seemed to inject new life into a meeting that had been marked by backstage bickering among foreign ministers in the pre-summit negotiations.

A high source said the presidents were in agreement that establishment of a common market should be completed by 1965 with automatic tariff cuts leading to it.

TRIO IN ACCORD

Another source said Chile, Colombia and Venezuela were in accord on formation of a subregional market within the Latin American free trade area.

Rain Is Predicted for Tonight, Friday

Pontiac area residents are likely to be walking in the rain today and tomorrow.

The weatherman kept his promise of showers today. He is predicting more rain and possibly thundershowers tonight and tomorrow.

Temperatures are expected to climb high in the 80s today and into the 90s tomorrow. The low will be a mild 52 to 57 tonight.

Partly cloudy and mild is the outlook for Saturday.

Morning winds east to southeast at 5 to 15 miles per hour will become southerly at 10 to 20 miles tonight.

Thirty-nine was the low thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury recorded 48 at 1 p.m.

KONRAD ADENAUER

Sick Adenauer Is Weakening

BONN, Germany (U)—Konrad Adenauer, seriously ill with flu and bronchitis, was weakening today.

A bulletin from the home of the 91-year-old former chancellor of West Germany said: "The organism's powers of resistance are declining. Heart and circulatory functions are weaker. His personal physician and doctors of Bonn University under the direction of Prof. Adolf Heymer are continuing to care for the patient."

Heymer, head of the university hospital, left Adenauer's house late this morning through the back entrance, shaking his head to newsmen's requests for information.

One visitor today was Konrad Adenauer, the ex-chancellor's eldest son, who is an executive of a coal firm in Cologne. He and his wife looked concerned but would not speak to reporters.

Doctors kept vigil all through the night at the aged statesman's home in Rheindorf, overlooking the Rhine River.

ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY

Karl Ackermann, chief press officer of Adenauer's Christian Democratic party, announced yesterday that Adenauer was stricken with flu complicated by bronchitis that put a "strain on the whole organism."

Member of the Adenauer family appeared at the white gabled house, including a son, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Paul Adenauer.

Plant Operations Normal in Pontiac

Daily operations were back to normal at Pontiac's three major automotive plants today as the nation's truckers resumed delivery of needed parts throughout the country.

GMC Truck & Coach Division, forced to lay off some 5,000 workers by the combined strike-lockout, reported resumption of full-scale truck assembly work.

GMC officials had called back 1,500 employees yesterday shortly after tentative contract agreement was reached between the Teamsters Union and trucking employers, Inc.

Fisher Body plant and Pontiac Motor Division—neither of which felt the pinch of a parts stoppage—reported no hitches as operations continued at both plants.

Ford Motor Co. rescinded a layoff of 1,200 workers at its Wayne trucking plant and called back thousands of other employees in five states.

Chrysler said 2,500 men at its Warren truck plant, and 650 at St. Louis, Mo., all laid off since noon Tuesday, would work today. These were Chrysler's only layoffs.

Warrant Against O'Brian Will Be Asked in Slaying

A murder warrant will be sought against escaped mental patient Donald O'Brian of Pontiac, according to Grand Ledge Police Chief William Eveleth, who yesterday said O'Brian told him of strangling a Grand Ledge girl.

Eveleth said O'Brian, 40, signed a written statement telling of the sex slaying of Rona Cypher, 10, after undergoing a lie detector test at the East Lansing State Police post.

He said O'Brian, committed to Ionia

State Hospital as a criminal sexual psychopath in 1954, told him things about the Grand Ledge killing only the slayer would have known.

Rona's body was found April 1 in the Grand River about a mile from her grandparents' home. Police said she had been knocked unconscious, raped and strangled.

O'Brian was first linked to the murder by Donald Ringler, 32, who escaped with O'Brian and two other patients March 26. All are back in custody.

'PARTED IN GRAND LEDGE'

Ringler, who gave himself up at his mother's home in Sturgis April 8, told police he and O'Brian traveled together until they parted in Grand Ledge the morning before the Cypher killing.

O'Brian was arrested Saturday in Odessa, Tex., and was returned to Michigan Tuesday after waiving extradition proceedings.

He was held last night at the Ionia County jail pending Circuit Court arraignment—tentatively set tomorrow—on a charge that he escaped confinement as a criminal psychopath.

O'Brian was committed to Ionia from Pontiac in December of 1954 after being charged with the rape-murder of a 55-year-old Pontiac woman. He was also linked to several other assaults on women, including the rape of a 16-year-old girl.

Record Budget for City Schools

Pontiac's public schools will need $15.7 million in operating funds for the 1967-68 school year, the Board of Education estimated last night. This is $2 million more than the current budget of $13.7 million.

The record budget was unanimously approved by the school board and will now be submitted to the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board to determine the schools' share of county taxes.

Preliminary budget estimates of $14.8 million were reviewed by the board March 1 but the inclusion of $673,259 for staff studies and salary increases has since increased the tentative total.

Salary negotiations are currently being held with all school employee groups, Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer explained.

He said the school board will adopt its final budget in June after the tax allocation has been made and other factors affecting school income from local taxes and from the state have been determined.

INCREASE

Major reasons for the $2 million increase in the adopted budget over the current allocations are an anticipated increase of 481 pupils and additional instructional expenses totaling over $1.3 million.

"School district income for 1967-68 has been estimated in the preliminary budget at $14,085,225," Whitmer said. "The income estimate provides that all proceeds from the 8.75 mill extra voted levy will be used for operating expense."

"Since the allocation board takes no cognizance of voted millage, a millage in excess of 20 mills will represent the allocated millage required to meet this budget."

Head Start Project Awaits U.S. Okay

Resumption of Pontiac's Head Start program after a year's absence may come this summer if the federal Office of Economic Opportunity approves the local program budget of $230,000.

A proposed preschool program for 420 deprived children in primarily Negro areas of the city is being submitted for federal approval and funds of $181,000, Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer reported to the Pontiac Board of Education last night.

A deadlock between the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity and the school board kept the Head Start program for 320 preschoolers from resuming last September.

Whitmer said he is confident the federal funds will arrive by the summer for the eight-week program.

Twenty-eight teachers, 28 teacher aides and 16 community aides are proposed to work with the children for half a day and their parents for the other half of the day.

Bandit Brothers From Pontiac on FBI's 10 Most Wanted List

Gordon and Charles Ervin, bandit brothers from Pontiac convicted together of armed robbery in 1954, have been named simultaneously to the FBI's list of 10 most wanted criminals.

The two, who escaped from Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson in October 1965, are considered extremely dangerous. The FBI said they are probably armed.

They were described as model prisoners before they cut their way through a trusty compound fence and escaped.

The Ervins were sentenced to 50-to-60 years in prison at a trial in Washtenaw County highlighted by an escape bid. They broke out of a court detention room, crawled onto a ledge before being recaptured. Gordon was wounded by a policeman's bullet and Charles was injured in a 40-foot leap.

Their next appearance for trial was made on stretchers and they shouted threats at both the presiding judge and prosecutor when carried into the courtroom.

Both the judge, James R. Breakey Jr., and then former prosecuting attorney, Edmond F. Devine, were placed under police guard when the Ervins escaped in 1965.

The brothers, who studied courses ranging from human relations and public speaking to navigation and piano while in prison, are described as having "superior intelligence" by the FBI.

GOP Is Facing a Strange Foe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Republicans trying to kill the administration's controversial rent supplement program are facing an unfamiliar foe—leaders of the home building and financing industry.

Normally allied with GOP causes, the bankers, builders and real estate boards have become friends of the program that House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford has called "a radical, revolutionary gimmick."

With a hostile House Appropriations Committee about to consider a request for $40 million to keep it moving, the program needs all the friends it can get.

Last year a $20-million appropriation was approved by four votes in the House and one in the Senate.

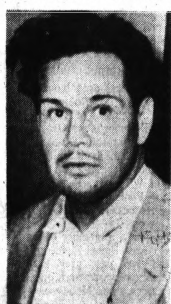

Since then Republicans have gained substantially, particularly in the House. Many GOP members predict they will bring the program to a halt.

If they succeed, they will be chopping off a program that is just beginning to roll.

The idea of the program is to make clean, decent housing available for low-income families without the institutional aspect or stigma of public housing by having the government help pay the rent.

It also permits tenants to stay on as their income rises, even if they no longer need any federal supplement.

Public housing tenants face eviction if their income goes above specified levels—often leading to falsification of income reporting, a stifling of initiative to improve one's income, and a housing hardship when the still relatively poor family must move.

Korean Border Clash Biggest Since '53

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—About 100 North and South Korean soldiers exchanged fire for two hours before dawn today in the biggest border clash since the 1953 Korean armistice. At least three North Koreans and one South Korean were killed.

It was the third clash in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea in two weeks. At least 12 Koreans have been killed, 11 of them from the North.

The South Korean government charged the Communists with trying to cause unrest to affect the South Korean presidential election May 3.

The United Nations command said the fighting today started when a 12-man South Korean patrol spotted about 425 yards south of the armistice line dividing the demilitarized zone.

MET BY REINFORCEMENTS
It said that when the patrol attacked the intruders, it was fired on by a reinforced North Korean platoon of 40 to 60 men. Two South Korean soldiers and 34 enlisted men moved up to help the outnumbered patrol, the command said, and the South Koreans began firing an artillery — the first reported use of artillery since the armistice.

Besides the one South Korean killed, three others were wounded, the U.N. command reported.

The South Korean army said the Communists left behind three bodies when they withdrew north of the demilitarized zone. The clash occurred about 70 miles northeast of Seoul near the iron triangle of Korean war days.

INVESTIGATION CALLED
The U.N. command called for the joint observer team to conduct an on-the-spot investigation of the incident later today and demanded a meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission Friday to protest the Korean actions.

Apparently no U.S. soldiers were involved in today's clash. U.S. 2nd Division soldiers and North Koreans clashed in the demilitarized zone April 5. The U.N. command, which is headed by a U.S. general, said four North Koreans were killed. North Koreans claimed five of its civil policemen were killed.

South Korean officials said four North Korean intruders were killed Monday in the demilitarized zone, but the North Koreans denied any of their men were involved.

Despite Court Opinion

County Districters to Go On

By JOE MULLEN
Despite this week's Michigan Supreme Court opinion that dampened prospects of county redistricting, Oakland County's Reapportionment Committee will proceed with its work.

The decision to continue its efforts to complete a reapportionment plan by the May 15 deadline was made in conjunction with a public hearing last night at the county courthouse.

Some 35 persons attended the hearings and more than half of them were county, city, township or village officials.

Noting that the five-member reapportionment committee presently is concentrating on a 27-district plan, two members of the County Board of Supervisors urged the committee to consider 35 districts. Legislation specifies a range of 25 to 35 districts for Oakland County.

Earle Grisdeale, supervisor from Clawson, suggested 35 districts because he said the maximum would allow better representation.

FROM NORTHVILLE
Sydney Friel, supervisor from Northville, called for the highest number of districts to avoid the loss of identity of small communities in the lower apportionment.

In answering the requests for higher districting, John D. Murphy, chairman of the reapportionment committee, said fewer districts mean less crossing of community boundaries. William L. Mainland, a supervisor from Milford Township, noted that the State of Wisconsin has undertaken redistricting at the maximum range allowed and the plan is considered successful.

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson, a reapportionment committee member, told the gathering that the committee had made no final commitment on a plan and suggested that anyone could submit a proposal.

COURT TOPIC

Bronson also commented on the opinion of the State Supreme Court that the new law requiring one-man, one-vote reapportionment of boards of supervisors violates the constitutional provision that boards of supervisors have one member from each township is valid.

He said the opinion was of an advisory nature and not the same as an opinion rendered in litigation.

The U.S. Supreme Court is expected soon to rule on a county districting case in New York State that would establish a national guideline.

Tightening of Draft Laws Urged by Retired General

WASHINGTON (AP)—Retired four-star Gen. Mark W. Clark, charging "an element of treason" in attempts by some youths to avoid the draft, urged the existing Selective Service System tightened.

Talking of mounting numbers of youths seeking deferment on conscientious objectors, Clark told a Senate panel Wednesday: "Now you have a new breed of cat running around."

"A lot of people just don't want to fight or go to war," Clark, who headed U.S. military operations for part of the Korean war, told the Senate Armed Services Committee he opposes a presidential advisory commission proposal for a lottery draft. He said it could involve "fraud or favoritism."

FAVORS
He strongly favors drafting 19- and 20-year-olds first, and continuing college deferments but only if the college students were put in the draft pool when evaded.

They reached 24 years or were graduated.

The committee's hearings into the existing draft law, which expires June 30, continue today with critics of the compulsory draft scheduled to appear.

Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, a member of the committee, pledged a fight for a reduction in length of mandatory service from 24 to 18 months.

Clark said throwing college graduates into the draft pool would snare the "professional student who stays in college six to eight years to avoid the draft."

COMPLAINED
He complained that little was being done to prosecute the growing number of draft-card burners. He urged swift, severe punishment for such offenders.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, ranking Republican committee member, asked Clark what was being done about cases of possible draft evasion.

Executions Are Becoming Rare in U.S.

See Story, Page B-12

Moritt II in Nevada, scheduled to die April 19 for slaying a bridegroom. Among them was Aaron Mitchell executed in California Wednesday for killing a policeman.

The number of executions in the United States has declined steadily in recent years. There was only one last year, in Oklahoma. Mitchell was the first this year.

The big majority of states have carried out no executions in recent years. Many condemned men have gotten new chances because of recent court decisions prescribing new rules on the rights of criminals. Some governors have commuted sentences to life, and some have followed an unbroken moratorium on death by execution.

"It's the House would be well-advised to wait until the department has completed its investigation," said Poff, secretary of the House Republican Conference.

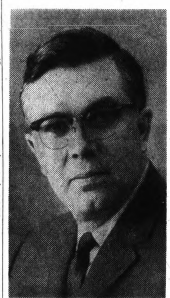

Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the GOP Conference, said he thought the House would pass Powell if its members are assured the Justice Department plans to act.

"The manner in which we treat each other in our family life largely determines the degree of success we can achieve in striving for a life of happiness and harmony," Mrs. George Romney said at a Family Service of Oakland County dinner last night.

Michigan's first lady discussed goals for family living before some 200 persons at Devon Gables. She pointed out family life is both a challenge and opportunity for Michigan families.

Officers for the coming year were elected at the 17th annual meeting. Grant Howell, Royal Oak, replaced Dr. John N. Dorsey Jr. of 1171 Y-semile, Birmingham, as president of the agency.

Mrs. Romney said a constructive well-functioning relationship between a man and his wife is

Top-Level Promotions Go to Two Area Execs at Ford

The appointment of Donald N. Frey of Bloomfield Township to new position of vice president for product development for the Ford Motor Co. was announced today by Henry Ford II, chairman of the board.

Succeeding Frey as general manager of the Ford Division is Matthew S. McLaughlin. He also was elected a vice president of the company.

Frey's new post was created to provide greater integration and coordination of the company's vehicle planning and development activities, according to Ford.

Vice president and general manager of the Ford Division since January 1965, Frey of 1052 Waddington will report to Lee A. Iacocca, vice president of the car and truck group.

Frey joined the company in 1951 as manager of the metallurgical department in the scientific laboratory, became assistant director of the laboratory four years later, and in 1957 was named director of the Engineering Research Office.

MISSOURI NATIVE
A native of St. Louis, Mo., Frey, 44, is a graduate of Detroit's Redford High School and holds bachelor's and doctor's degrees in metallurgical engineering from the University of Michigan.

McLaughlin, 49, of 1362 Juniper had been assistant general manager of the Ford Division since January 1962.

He joined Ford in its sales organization at Chester, Pa., in 1946, later becoming assistant district sales manager there.

He was appointed general sales manager of the Ford Division in January 1960 and remained in that post until becoming assistant general manager.

DETROIT (AP)—At least a dozen men were cleared of suspicion Wednesday in the wounding of 13-year-old Paula Ross.

Miss Elissa Lenard, 18, a Wayne State University coed, looked at the men at police headquarters and said they were not the one who attempted to accor.

Police are working on the theory that the man who fired a bullet through Miss Lenard's purse Monday was the same man who shot Miss Ross in the neck that day.

Other officers elected at the meeting included Alex Seskin of Huntington Woods, vice president; and Stanley Badelt of 331 Roanoke, Bloomfield Township, secretary.

Also Mrs. J. Paul Smith of Bloomfield Hills, Raymond L. Wixom, Rev. Emil Korts of Pontiac and Arthur R. Cox of Rochester.

The agency, a member of the Pontiac Area United Fund, also honored two past presidents. Appreciation awards were given to Dr. Dorsey and McIntyre.

James Norton of 371 Charles, Rochester, was also honored for service to the community.

Library Week Panel Talk to Focus on Job Potential

BIRMINGHAM — Job potential in the library field will be spotlighted during National Library Week, April 16-22, at Baldwin Public Library, 351 Martin, with a panel discussion, Kaleidoscope on Libraries, Wednesday.

The panel discussion, which will start at 10 a.m., will feature outstanding area librarians. They will be Mrs. Barbara Gordon, science librarian at Oakland University Library; Elizabeth Smith, head of the library at Campbell-Ewald Co.; and Mrs. Donald McMillen, librarian at Baldwin Elementary School, Pontiac.

Chairman of the panel will be Jeanne Lloyd, director of Baldwin Public Library.

Preceding the program, an informal coffee period will be held at 9:30 a.m. A tour of the library will be conducted at 11 a.m. following the discussion. "In view of the current shortage of librarians, as well as the increasing number of women interested in careers, it is hoped that this meeting will attract many women," said Miss Lloyd.

Registrations are still being taken for some classes in the spring session which begins Monday at the Bloomfield Art Association.

A number of courses are being offered including drawing and painting, oil, acrylic and watercolor, figure drawing and painting, portraiture, lithography, sculpture, pottery, weaving, metalcraft and jewelry.

Further details may be obtained by calling the art center at 1516 S. Cranbrook.

Prior to his appointment, Belaney headed the P.A.U.F. Speaker's Bureau for three consecutive years and has served as a solicitor in both the Advance Gifts and Commercial Division aspects of the drive.

Belaney is a member of the U.F.-supported Michigan Child's Aid Society Board of Directors and a past director of the Oakland County American Red Cross chapter and the Pontiac Area Urban League boards.

A native of Ohio and graduate of Ohio State University, Belaney, 40, spent 10 years in radio broadcasting prior to joining the GMTCC Credit Union staff in 1959.

ACTIVITIES
Belaney is a past president of the Pontiac Area Federal Credit Union, director of the Cooperative Editorial Association and is engaged in numerous workshops, seminars and management conferences around the country as a speaker.

Belaney, who lives at 93 Chipewake, is married and the father of two children.

Continuation of Truck Rift Jolts Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Most of the nation's truck fleet rolled across the highways today after the end of a three-day lockout, but 56,000 Chicago drivers and dock workers remained off the job and turned back trucks from other points.

As a result of the nationwide lockout, tons of merchandise remained stacked up at loading docks and warehouses. Spokesmen estimated thousands of plant workers would remain idle the rest of the week before operations return to normal and depleted supplies are replenished.

The auto industry, unable to get parts, still had some 24,000 workers laid off.

Chicago was hardest hit, however, with thousands of factory workers idle and food shortages threatened if the local work stoppage continues.

NO AGREEMENT
Chicago's 4,700 trucking firms, their drivers and dock workers were not parties to the tentative agreement reached Wednesday in Washington between the Teamsters Union and long-haul truckers.

A federal mediator scheduled a new negotiating session in Chicago today in an effort to end the work stoppage.

Trucking Employers Inc. estimated 250,000 Teamsters members were idled by the nationwide lockout it ordered Sunday in retaliation for scattered drivers' strike against some members of the organization.

Julie London Is Lobbyist Extraordinaire

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—
There are many ways to influence a U.S. senator.
One way is to have Julie London sing the theme song of the Mickey Mouse Club.
Advocates of legislation to amend the U.S. copyright laws tried that method Tuesday and it appeared to be extremely effective.

I'll analyze this latest lobbying technique in a moment, but first, a little background music.
A Senate Judiciary subcommittee currently is holding hearings on a measure that would enable singers, musicians and such nondescript performers as Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen to collect fees from radio stations when their records are played on the air.

WEST measure that would enable singers, musicians and such nondescript performers as Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen to collect fees from radio stations when their records are played on the air.
COMPOSERS BENEFIT
At present, only composers benefit from canned music broadcasts.
This arrangement embraces the principle that writing a song is creativity whereas singing a song is merely interpretation.
Several recording stars, including Mitch Miller, Red Foley and Guy Lombardo, appeared before the subcommittee to argue that performers also are creative.

They all made persuasive witnesses, but it obviously was Miss London who scored the telling points.

WHAT A TECHNIQUE!
She brought with her two recordings of the Mickey Mouse Club song — one as sung by the Mickey Mouse Club and the other as sung by Miss London.

If you have ever heard Miss London sing — or better, if you have ever seen Miss London sing — you are aware that her technique is not so much to sing a song as to seduce it.

From the standpoint of pure sound, her voice is little more than an asthmatic wheeze. But when it becomes entwined with a set of lyrics, interesting things happen — chemically if not musically.

In countless television commercials, Miss London has even given an aura of romance to flip-top cigarette boxes. And she has done the same for the Mickey Mouse Club theme.

DREAMY LOVE SONG
Her recording treats this mindless ditty as a dreamy love

song delivered at a "take your time, handsome, I've got all night" tempo.
The effect is startling, to say the least.

I kept an eye on the members of the subcommittee as they listened to the record. They all had a bemused look, as though they might be thinking of running away and joining the Mouseketeers.

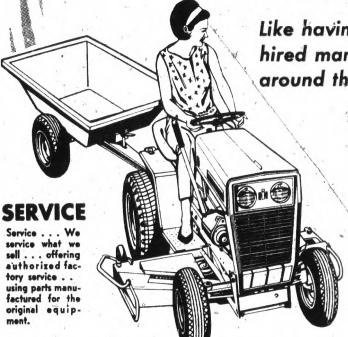

This is not necessarily a cringing practice of which the late Walt Disney might have approved. But it proved that singers can be as creative as composers. If not more so.

TALENTED RIGHT ARM — The arm that Mike Rafferty used to hurl touchdown passes and field goals with earlier this school year, now will be tossing fast balls and curves for the baseball squad. He had a 6-1 mound record last spring, and was a .324 hitting shortstop when not on the mound.

Groves May Surprise

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh in a series of articles discussing the coaches' preseason forecasts for their high school baseball leagues. Today the Northwest Suburban league.

Detroit Thurston may not get its "Pillar" of strength from previous diamond campaigns, but the Eagles still are rated No. 1 among the preseason forecasts of the Northwest Suburban AA coaches.

The summer ball programs that provide talent for Thurston and Livonia Franklin make them the top candidates for diamond success.

Birmingham Groves, meanwhile, could surprise either the Patriots or the Eagles if some of the younger Falcons produce help for the six returning regulars.

North Farmington lacks experience on the mound. Oak Park and Wayne John Glenn need talent in additional quantities to do more than cause isolated concern among the contenders.

2 PITCHERS
Groves' fortunes will probably revolve around the hill work of pitchers Mike Rafferty and Rob Spitznagel. Both had winning records on last year's B-6 Falcon edition.

The two hurlers will alternate on the mound and between the keystone positions. First baseman Gary Wallace, a solid hitter, is the only other returning infielder. Transfer Kevin Fitzpatrick could fill the catching vacancy.

North Farmington's Tom Wallis only has one pitcher with varsity ability, Dan Lichtman who was 2-3 last season. Junior Mike McCoy moves up from the reserve squad.

A veteran, good-hitting infielder brightens the Raiders' prospects.

Attendance Record for Prep Tourney

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's state high school basketball tournament set new records in attendance and gate receipts this year, the State High School Athletic Association reported today.

Attendance at all tournament games was 775,819, up 34,116 from the previous high set last year. This included all district, regional, quarterfinal, semifinal and final games.

"For once we had perfect weather," commented Charles Forsythe, state high school athletic director. "Not a single game had to be postponed."

In past years, late snow storms have forced games to be postponed or have cut heavily into attendance.

Gate receipts hit a new high of $632,640, this was $74,251 more than the previous record, also set last year.

Entertaining and participating schools already have received $267,895. Forsythe said about another $75,000 probably would be distributed to these schools later.

The High School Athletic Association retained $266,776 for its operating budget.

There were 751 high schools competing in the 1967 tourney. This was a drop of two from last year, the cut due to school consolidations.

Radio and television broadcast fees for the games brought in $11,591 this year, $937 more than last year.

Forsythe reported Michigan's annual tournament currently ranks fourth in the nation in attendance and gate receipts, behind Indiana, Illinois and Ohio.

Minnesota is fifth. Indiana, famed for its frenzied basketball fans, attracts more than 1.5 million spectators to its annual tourney.

Thurston lost ace pitcher Vic Pillar to graduation but has several key hitters back from last year's championship varsity team.

League play will not begin until April 24.
