Santa Greets Cortez Kelly, 8, Of 592 Nevada

Visits South Side

Santa Arrives Early

By DIANNE DUROCHER

Spotlighted by a street light, a large man clad in a red flannel suit and hat, black boots and sprouting a long white beard approached 811 Nevada last night. He carried a bulging white sack and his feet crunched as he walked in the freshly fallen snow.

"Ho, ho ho," he said, looking down the street at the rows of houses brightly decorated with Christmas lights.

Inside the house, Rochanda Keel, 4, greeted him with wide-open eyes and thanked him for the stocking filled with candy he gave her.

DOORS OPEN

Doors began opening all along the street and children cried, "Hey Santa, over here."

Santa was actually Arthur Dunlap, supervisor for the southwest unit of the Pontiac Office of Economic Opportunity and a member of the Nevada Street Block Club.

Block club members, headed by president Richard Kelly, contributed funds to buy goodies to dispense to the children and insure them an opportunity to see Santa Claus before Christmas.

Congress Is Facing a Jam-Packed 1970

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first session of the 91st Congress ended yesterday after one of the longest but least productive legislative efforts in recent times.

The Democratic-controlled Congress gave President Nixon only a handful of the major proposals he sent to the Capitol during his first year in office.

Action on about 25 of his most important recommendations was left over for what promises to be a jam-packed 1970 session opening on Jan. 19.

Democratic leaders insisted, however, that one key measure, the massive tax and Social Security bill, was enough to make the 1969 session one to remember.

OTHER KEY BILLS

The lawmakers also cleared a major $4.4-billion housing bill, the most stringent coal mine safety measure ever passed, a draft law revision which permitted Nixon to institute a lottery system, and extensions of the surtax which the administration sought to fight inflation.

Senators easily confirmed Nixon's choice of Judge Warren E. Burger as chief justice of the United States, then handed the President a stiff rebuff by rejecting his nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. for a second opening on the Supreme Court. Nixon indicated he will send a new nomination to the Senate early in 1970.

Not acted on were the President's proposals to deal with problems of crime, spreading drug use, reform of the welfare system, revenue-sharing with the states and cities, reorganization of the postal system, mass transit subsidies, new foreign trade policies, and many others.

There undoubtedly will be political arguments in next year's congressional elections and perhaps in the 1972 national elections as to responsibility for the record of the 1969 Congress.

DID WORK HARD

Democratic leaders insist that Congress did work hard and laid the groundwork for the second session of the 91st.

They charged also that Nixon took three months to revise former President Lyndon B. Johnson's last budget, which delayed appropriations bills, and sent up some of his major recommendations so late there was no possible chance to consider them adequately in 1969.

By far the longest Senate debate of the year came on authorizations for military spending.

Defense Department critics lost the major effort to force a pause in development of the missile defense system. But they contended the protracted look at Pentagon programs did lay the basis for future cutbacks on military outlays.

MAJOR TREATY

Early in the session the Senate overwhelmingly ratified a major treaty — the nuclear nonproliferation pact. In the final analysis, Congress cut the President's requests by more than $7 billion on the fiscal 1970 bills.

However, some of these funds will be spent in future years. Congressional fiscal experts claimed only a $3 billion reduction in actual spending for the current year. It was a good year for Congress in one respect: the 100 Senators and 435 House members got an increase in pay from $30,000 to $42,500 a year.

U.S. Enemies Cloak Payoffs

GI Spies Use Swiss Banks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has evidence that secret Swiss bank accounts have been used to cloak payoffs to American military personnel who supplied U.S. intelligence information to foreign powers.

Defense Department representatives, it was learned, were to testify to that fact at a House Banking Committee hearing Dec. 12 on a bill aimed at halting illegal use of secret foreign bank accounts by U.S. citizens.

The hearing was postponed until next year, but committee members received an advance copy of formal department testimony before the postponement. The testimony said the Defense Department was in "complete accord" with the bank account bill.

A Defense spokesman cited an example of Soviet intelligence officials depositing $25,000 in a secret Swiss account for a U.S. Army sergeant who supplied them with classified information. The sergeant is serving a prison term for espionage, the testimony said.

COOPERATION PROMISED

The Defense Department said Pentagon officials would cooperate fully with the Treasury Department in enforcing the bank-account bill after enactment. They may never get the chance.

As the Defense Department testimony was being drafted, the Nixon administration, led by the Treasury Department, was backing down from support for the bill. It was under pressure from domestic and foreign banking leaders who objected to stringent record-keeping practices in the measure.

The House Banking Committee, chaired by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., held a day of hearings on secret foreign bank accounts late last year. It was disclosed that the accounts are used to cloak hundreds of millions of dollars in tax invasions and frauds every year.

LEGISLATION DRAFTED

Patman's committee began drafting legislation — with the help of the Nixon administration — to curb the practice.

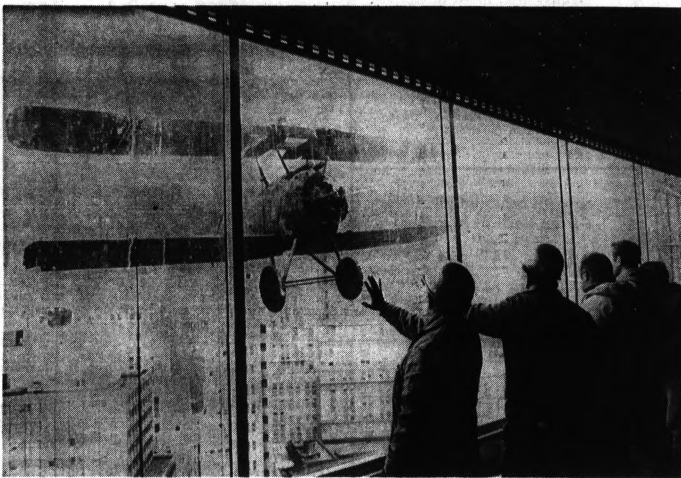

His bill called for tighter record keeping on domestic bank-account transactions, identities of persons dealing with those accounts, and reports by persons transporting U.S. currency abroad and those doing business with foreign financial institutions.

Patman began hearings Dec. 4. Two witnesses were Will Wilson, assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, and Robert M. Morgenthau, U.S. attorney for the southern district of New York, who broke several foreign bank-account fraud cases.

Both testified in favor of the bill, with Wilson stating, "That is correct," when asked if the Justice Department wanted enactment of the bill.

At the same time the State Department was receiving protests from foreign banks and domestic banks with foreign branches, and high-level Treasury Department officials were meeting with representatives of banks in the United States including the Bank of America, Chase Manhattan, First National City and Chemical Bank New York Trust Co. Several days later they returned, with their attorneys, to argue against the bill.

TROUBLE AHEAD?—This old plane, apparently headed for a crash, is in reality the replica of a World War I fighter plane being hoisted to a resting place on top of a New York City building. Construction workers watch the model, weighing three tons and built from scrap metal, as it passes the 25th floor of the building.

Yuletide Forecast: Crisp, Cold, White

Cooperation is what the weatherman calls it as he promises warmer temperatures and fresh snow for Santa's sleigh ride tonight. No fog is expected, so Rudolph may stay at the North Pole to keep the workshop stove going. Tonight's low is expected to range between 15 and 20 degrees.

Tomorrow is to be crisp and cold with the snow diminishing to flurries. High for the day is expected to reach the mid-20s.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are today 20, tonight 30 and tomorrow 10.

Continued cold temperatures and cloudy skies are on Friday's weather agenda.

Lazaros Is Free on Bond of $15,000 in Perjury Case

Underworld informer Peter Lazaros of Troy was free today on $15,000 bond after being charged yesterday with six counts of perjury by the Oakland County Grand Jury.

The 36-year-old Lazaros was released after standing mute to the charges at his arraignment before District Judge Richard Dunn of Dearborn Heights.

The grand jury, initiated last August to investigate allegations by Lazaros that government officials were being bribed by the Mafia, accused Lazaros of lying when he testified Aug. 27 and Aug. 28.

State Police protection which Lazaros has had around the clock since he began telling authorities about the Mafia in October 1968 reportedly has been removed from his home at 2410 Dalesford.

The perjury charges are the second such allegations leveled against Lazaros in the last four months.

A federal grand jury previously charged him with 12 counts of perjury relating to alleged bribes to Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, five Internal Revenue agents and several other persons.

Yesterday's charges issued by Grand Juror Robert J. Colombo, a Recorder's Court judge in Detroit assigned to hear the investigation, claim that Lazaros was lying when he said that he had given $22,000 to Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson in 1968 and another $1,000 to him in 1964.

Bronson is now a judge on the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Allies Begin 3-Day Truce for Christmas

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces began a 24-hour Christmas truce tonight, 17 hours after the start of a three-day cease-fire declared by the Vietcong.

The South Vietnamese military command said it had suspended as many as 60 offensive operations of battalion size or larger throughout the country. Spokesmen said the allies were keeping up local patrols and reconnaissance flights and would fire first if it appeared enemy troops on the move were threatening them.

A U.S. communique said American forces "will maintain an alert posture and will take necessary security precautions to protect friendly forces or installations."

Although air attacks on targets in South Vietnam were suspended for 24 hours, sources said U.S. planes were continuing attacks on North Vietnamese infiltration routes in Eastern Laos.

VC VIOLATION CHARGED
In the hours between the start of enemy and allied ceasefires, a period in which the allied commands said their forces continued operations as usual, the U.S. Command reported one incident which it considered a Vietcong violation of its own cease-fire.

A claymore mine went off, apparently detonated electrically by remote control, killed four American soldiers, and wounded five American troops, two South Vietnamese soldiers and two Vietnamese civilians. The troops were sweeping a road 20 miles northwest of Saigon and three miles from headquarters of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division. Two women suspects were being questioned.

In six hours Tuesday night before the Vietcong ceasefire started, five terrorist attacks were reported, four of them in Saigon. Three persons were killed and 60 wounded.

Allied communique reported only light, scattered action Tuesday. Seventy enemy soldiers were reported killed, most of them by artillery fire. The allied commands reported only one casualty, an American Marine wounded.

Bill on Red Trade OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill instructing the secretary of commerce to review the list of goods which must be approved by special permit for trade with Communist countries has been approved by Congress.

The measure passed both houses in compromise form yesterday just before adjournment. The intent of the measure is to ease restrictions on East-West trade, but leaves most control with the president.

UAW Asks Moratorium on Blues Hikes

LANSING (AP)—A top United Auto Workers Union official asked the state should ban any 5.9 PCT. INCREASE. Blue Cross asks an average increase of 2.4 per cent for its hospitalization plans and 10 per cent more for elderly subscribers.

Douglas Fraser, a member of the UAW's international executive board, urged Gov. William Milliken and State Insurance Commissioner Russell E. Van Hoeser to "immediately" establish a committee to investigate "the problems in the organization and financing of personal health services, and report to the people of this state within six months."

Fraser's plan was presented formally at a commission hearing Tuesday on rate increases.

boards of both is heavily industry-oriented, Fraser said—88 per cent for each.

He asks the state to investigate:

- "To what extent the 'customary' and 'prevailing' approach to payment of physicians fees (has) inflated the cost of physicians services?"

- More economical operation of the two plans through a reduction of duplication.

- Better use of hospital and clinic facilities, possibly by state franchising.

- "Third-party" agencies to pay doctors and hospitals under an incentive-penalty system that would consider budgeting, estimated time and treatment.

"CONTROLS LACKING" "The Blues," said Ted Goldberg, a UAW aide, "apparently are unwilling or unable to introduce the kind of controls and organizational safeguards needed to keep the system from getting completely out of hand."

"We believe it is time to introduce some controls in the medical care system," Goldberg said.

Rep. James N. Callahan, D-Mount Morris said the Legislature included $100,000 this year in the Commerce Department's 1970 budget to conduct such a study. But the money has not been transferred to the insurance commission although authorized by the Legislature three months ago, Callahan said.

Hurth and his deputy, Claude McCann, said Callahan's statement was "substantially" correct.

Blue Shield said, in a prepared statement delivered by Novick, that the fund pays 99.5 per cent of all doctors' claims.

Callahan, who is vice chairman of the Michigan House of Insurance Committee, and the UAW asked for documented details of that figure.

was the night before Christmas
When all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care
In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there,

The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads,
And mamma in her 'kerchief, and I in my cap,
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap,

When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I sprang from the bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash.

The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow,
Gave the lustre of mid-day to objects below,
When, what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh, and eight tiny reindeer,

With a little old driver, so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled, and shouted, and called them by name.

"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixen!
On! Comet, on! Cupid, on! Dunder and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch! to the top of the wall!
Now dash away! dash away! dash away all!"

As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky,
So up to the house-top the coursers they flew,
With the sleigh full of toys, and St. Nicholas too.

And then, in a twinkling, I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head, and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.

He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot.
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.

His eyes how they twinkled! his dimples how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a cherry!
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard of his chin was as white as the snow.

The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath.
He had a broad face and a little round belly,
That shook when he laughed, like a bowlful of jelly.

He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf,
And I laughed when I saw him, in spite of myself,
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head,
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread.

He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk,
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose.

He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight,
MERRY CHRISTMAS to all and to all a good night!

Farmers Will Mail In 1969 Census Forms

Farmers will be requested to fill out and mail back their own census reports this year, according to Don Juchartz of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Previously, census takers called on all farm operators to complete and pick up the report forms. The mail method allows farmers to complete the report at their convenience with the aid of their records.

Several new items are on the 1969 census form. Farmers will be asked to give the age of selected items of equipment, such as pesticides and tons of expendable mixed formula feeds and estimates of the market value of their machinery and equipment.

The 1969 blank forms will be mailed out to farmers in January 1970.

U.S. Mideast Peace Try Is Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two further slaps at U.S. Mid-Nixon administration's try for east policy: Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin delivered to Rogers more criticism than progress. Secretary of State William P. Rogers admitted as much in re-recting main foreign affairs ac-view indicated Moscow's ac-complishments and disappoint-ments of the new administration sponse," said a terse State De-since it took office 11 months ago. A Mideast solution has been high on Nixon priority list from the start.

Progress has been made on various negotiating fronts "with the single exception of the Mid-die East," Rogers told newsmen Tuesday.

pleasure at what they consider American pro-Israeli policy. The issue came up at the Arab summit meeting in Rabat, Morocco, which broke up Tuesday amid quarreling over efforts to set up war measures.

Now the Israelis are particularly upset by recent Washington peace proposals, calling them "appeasement of the Arabs."

Rogers denied the appease-ment charge and defended the U.S. formulas. In essence they call for a solution based on Is-raeal withdrawal from Arab lands conquered in the June 1967 war, and a binding commit-ment by the Arabs to honor Is-raeal's frontiers.

In Washington's view, the po-tential for a big, power war erupting from the Arab-Israeli conflict is so dangerous that it is in the U.S. national interest to search for a solution.

"Although we recognize that we can't be optimistic about the hopes for a negotiated settle-ment," Rogers said, "it seems to us that we have to do every-thing we can to move them for-ward and to see whether it is possible to work out a settle-ment in the interests of all parties concerned."

Chief U.S. delegates of the Big Four powers met in New York for 2 1/2 hours Tuesday to discuss the Mideast situation and said they would meet again next Tuesday.

Scientists to Meet

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — The largest gathering of scientists ever to attend a space agency meeting will take place Jan. 5-8 when 142 sci-entists reveal what they learned during their detailed ex-aminations of the moon rocks brought to earth by Apollo 11. A space agency spokesman called it "the most significant meeting in the 11-year history of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration."

Plane of Gifts Is Still Stalled

Presents for Yank POWs Still Sitting

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Representatives for Texas bil-lionaire H. Ross Perot met to-day with North Vietnamese offi-cial but reported no progress in getting permission to fly two planes to Hanoi to deliver Christmas gifts to an estimated 1,400 U.S. prisoners.

Tom Meurer, Perot's repre-sentative, said he met the Viet-namese official at the North Vietnamese embassy. Meurer was accompanied by two of Per-ot's other representatives and a member of the Red Cross.

Meurer said he expects Perot, who arrived in Bangkok Tues-day, to fly to Vientiane and at-tempt personally to get permis-sion.

The North Vietnamese earlier told Perot to send the gifts to Moscow for delivery through normal postal channels.

Meanwhile, two wives of U.S. fliers captured in the Vietnam war left Vientiane for Bangkok after spending three days trying to obtain information about their husbands from North Viet-namese and other officials.

One of the wives, Dottie Hughes of Santa Fe, N.M., was informed by the North Viet-namese that her husband, Lt. Col. James L. Hughes, is alive and well in a prison camp in Hanoi. The other wife, Mitch Jones of Apple Valley, Calif., was unable to obtain any in-formation about her husband, Maj. Louis Jones.

Spy Sentenced

HAIFA, Israel (UPI) — A district court yesterday sen-tenced Andre Ben Ayar, a 28-year-old Israeli, to 10 years in prison after finding him guilty of spying for Syria. Ben Ayar, who said he was "sorry for the entire affair," gave himself up to the Israeli Embassy in Bonn in 1968.

Meaning of Christmas

Tomorrow is Christmas, its spiritual theme: "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

It is nearly two millennia since the birth of Christ, whose gentle teachings have exerted enduring influence for good and profoundly uplifted the course of civilization.

The centuries have seen Christianity spread over the globe, bringing comfort and tranquility to billions of those suffering physical or mental ills who sought its sublime benediction and subscribed to its tenets.

Cynics might argue that there is little real peace in the world today and that the quality of goodwill is a diminishing one.

The cynics would be wrong. Today the people of most every land are peace-hungry, and amity is slowly becoming a unifying force. This is in striking contrast to the savagery of the continuous wars of the early Christian era and the individual enmity that mocked a spirit of unity.

The mellowing of international and personal relations is sound support of the thesis that one day humanity will indeed find its way to universal peace and brotherhood. And to question that goodwill is an ascendant attribute of man—regardless of race, creed or color—is to doubt the evidence of the senses.

Ironically, where the two ideals prevail, they are so often taken for granted that it is only deflection from them that is seen and decried.

Thus it is that Christmas, with its gaiety, its festivity, its thoughtfulness for others is merely the annual, and visible, manifestation of the precepts and faith that motivate the lives of the many the-year around.

But amid the joyous observance of Christmas, there should be found time for moments of introspection, a realization and an appreciation of our countless blessings; and a re-dedication to the moral and spiritual values for which the Son of God gave His life.

Only then, can the felicity of "Merry Christmas" have sublime as well as material meaning.

Shatterer of Myths Fires More Salvos

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Out in Chicago there is a slightly built fellow named Dr. Anthony Downs, who likes to shatter myths.

Downs works for the Real Estate Research Corp. As senior vice president and treasurer, he seems to spend a great deal of time questioning other people's assumptions.

Once he spoke for a full day to the Kerner commission on civil disorders. One member, Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, calls him "brilliant."

His latest outing was as a panelist on state and urban problems at the winter conference of the Republican governors.

ALL WET

For openers, Downs told these gentlemen that census forecasts of 100 million more Americans by the year 2000 (a kind of midpoint between the bureau's high and low predictions) are all wet.

The real prospect, said Downs, is closer to 42 million more — lower even than the lowest official forecast of 62 million.

He found this judgment on his assertion that U.S. fertility rates have dropped 30 per cent since a peak in 1957. His estimate of population growth for 1969 is 1 per cent, lowest gain rate since 1940.

Downs thinks he can also chop the ground out from John Gardner who is saying a high proportion of America's added millions of people have got to be put in hundreds of altogether new cities. He just says it is not going to happen.

For support he looks to Great Britain, which has had 30 years' experience in building new cities under favoring laws.

SMALL PERCENTAGE
In 1968, says Downs, the British started only 2.5 per cent of new housing in new towns, while 97.5 per cent of the starts were in established places.

Here is one for HUD Secretary George Romney, the ex-manufacturer of automobiles who has been nobly trying to "industrialize" housing production methods in hope of getting faster, cheaper housing.

According to Downs, even if such methods succeed they will not significantly reduce housing costs. His word on this for the governors?

"The two most important costs in housing are land and money, not construction costs. Land will keep rising in cost, and money — which has risen fastest of all recently — will not go down much, if at all."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Pawcett of 18 Porter; golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer R. Hutson, Sr. of 60 Ruth; 53rd wedding anniversary.

Downs ripped off one of the conservatives' favorite security blankets when he blasted what he calls the "self-help solution" myth applied to the poor and the black — the notion that they need to do it get a job and help themselves.

Nearly half of all poor Americans, he says, cannot earn their way out of poverty because they are either old, disabled, young children in households headed by women, or the women caring for such children.

"They can get out of poverty only if we give them money — our money," said Downs.

He also goes after that part of the "self-help" myth which leads many now middle-class Americans to say they made it the hard way, without government aid, and the poor should do the same.

Fact is, adds Downs, that they not only did not make it on their own but are still getting subsidies in the form of aid to the colleges, highways, oil imports, farm products, etc.

Politicking Stops for Christmas

WASHINGTON — It will be Christmas tomorrow, and in some parts of the country snow will glitter on the landscape. In others, it will be weather as usual — but still Christmas.

I continue to believe in Christmas, even here in this sad and confused Washington — and millions share that belief.

However drab our lives have become, there is an elfinence to Christmas that only the faintest souls can ignore, an opening of the heart that only the most inhibited can resist.

Politics stops on Christmas Eve, and in the bright morning, as presents are opened, there is a renewal of that human quality which has brought survival.

"Sing, little children, sing in your gladness," the old carol bid — and it is a glad day.

UNFORGETTABLE
Whatever time may bring me, I will never forget those

Christmas mornings when my two boys were young — or how they burst into the bedroom to wake their parents so that the ritual of giving and receiving could begin.

In those days, there was not too much money in the house, and what the boys gave their mother and father was of their own making — all secretly contrived and carefully hidden until the great morning.

There was no "generation gap" on Christmas, for as love conquers all, Christmas love reaches out over that chasm which we are told separates parent and child in this disturbed era.

This, I am sure, must sound mawkish or sentimental. But here again is one of the virtues of the Christmas season — that men and women can forget their fears of showing emotion, of being glad, of speaking in terms that are prescribed at other times of the year.

SIGN OF WEAKNESS
I have always held that it is a sign of weakness to hold that a show of emotion is weak — but this is a minority view. On Christmas, all who celebrate the day must share it with me.

For Christmas commemorates more than the Nativity. It is that moment when the dying year surrenders to the winter solstice and life is renewed. It is that moment when the heart's fire is rekindled.

In a torn and tortured world, I can still be glad, as Christmas approaches, that I can write these words and that I am fortunate enough to have people read them — people in all parts of the country, of all religions, colors, backgrounds.

I am glad that I can unabashedly say, "God bless us all."

Let this column be brief. And let it end with a Merry Christmas to all. The portals for the New Year may be ominous or dreary — but tomorrow, a light will shine and there will be gladness.

Tells Difficulty Voting in Recent City Election

I just turned 21 and the December 18 election was my first chance to vote. I carefully read about each of the three issues before I went to cast my vote. My votes were split—voting yes on two and no on the other. However, seeing only two levers when I entered the voting booth, I was forced to indicate that I was in favor of all three issues. Two levers are better than one, but when there are three issues, six levers are better and fairer than two.

'Majority of Waterford Voters Knew Facts'

The "no" voters in Waterford Township are a very knowledgeable group. The "yes" voters were so in the minority, it is evident that the majority knows the facts and figures. It is also evident that some do not know what Federally-funded or financed really means, and need to attend another meeting to find out.

I have both hands up for the Mott parents and students who have contributed to the benefit and improvement of their school. This shows where their interest and concern lie. This should be a good example. More benefits would be reaped than all the complaining and the parents would have a more favorable perspective. The children would have more respect and there would be less vandalism in the schools.

'This Is the Season for Commemorations'

We are again at the time of the year when a large part of the world commemorates the birth of the Prince of Peace, who devoted and sacrificed His life for the noble precepts of peace on earth and good will among mankind. Yet 2,000 years later, savage wars are raging with ruthless slaughter of innocent men, women and children.

'Gas Price War Illustrates Valuable Point'

The current gasoline price war illustrates a valuable point about a free capitalist economy. Try as they may, the major gas companies can't keep down the tiny independent who are able to offer the consumer a lower price. The consumer is, and should be, the sole regulator of monopoly in a free economy. I wonder if the government will now evoke its ambiguous anti-trust laws against the small businessman who "conspires" to offer the consumer lower prices.

'Questions Unanswered Before School Vote'

About six weeks before the millage election in Waterford Township, a group of civic-minded women donated their time for a telephone hot line to answer or find answers to questions concerning the Township schools.

About 50 questions were collected and the names of the people who asked them. To the best of my knowledge, no answers were given out to these questions before the millage election. These same people asked us to vote more millage for the school system. I believe the proper term is "they should keep the faith."

Consumer Protection Is Growing Phenomenon in U.S.

CAVEAT EMPTOR!

He Even Designs His Own Cars

Actor Markham Loves Exotic Fast Travel

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Monte Markham is, by vocation, a television actor. By avocation, however, he is a motorcycle enthusiast who loves speed—either in a swamp buggy, sports car or roadster. Between rides, he stars on television's "Mrs. Deeds Goes to Town" series.)

By GENE HANDSAKER
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — As a boy in Florida, Monte Markham skimmed about the Everglades in swamp buggies and airboats, hunting alligators and rattlesnakes. The reptiles brought $1 a foot from tanners. In junior college, performing in a play convinced Monte he wanted to be an actor, a goal he has pursued steadily. He stars this season in ABC-TV's "Mrs. Deeds Goes to Town," a series based on the old Gary Cooper movie. But throughout his acting career — Shakespearean roles, Greek and European classics — a latent love of exotic fast travel has lingered.

So today, Markham owns and drives, just for fun. A low, Markham-designed roadster in which he can do 360-degree turns at 40-50 miles per hour. A dune buggy he designed. A motorcycle on which he soars 30 feet through the air from a ramp.

"What's he think about during those 30 feet? 'That I must land straight.'"

The roadster-spinning is to test the car's structural stability; the motorcycle jumping is practice for weekend riding of rough desert trails. What's the kick in such speedy sports? "Control of the power," says Markham, whose fellow enthusiasts include motorcycle rider Steve McQueen and auto racer Jim Garner. So far, Monte has convinced his TV bosses his violent hobbies won't suddenly land him in traction and their series without a star. Sprains and a few lacerations have been his only injuries.

DANGEROUS TOO Besides, he argues, acting itself can be dangerous. A fellow actor's 46-pound sword once laid Monte's scalp open, requiring six stitches, when Monte failed to raise his shield in time during an Ashland, Ore., Shakespearean festival. Another sword gashed him over one eye.

Markham, 32, tall and boyishly intense, was reared in West Palm Beach near the Joseph P. Kennedy estate. When the Kennedys were in Hyannis during the summers, Monte and his pals would climb the fence and swim in the family's pool.

In high school he was a high diver and earned money and free meals doing clown dives in aquatic shows around Miami. "But once I hit the water from 30 feet and creamed myself," he recalls, "Blacked both eyes and broke my nose. So I gave that up."

Markham had an MGB sports car when he went to the Riverside road race last year and met Max Thumma, now his car builder. Thumma then was an engineer for Dean Jeffries, who designed a "Monkeemobile" for TV's Monkees series and a car used in the "Green Hornet" series.

WHOLE NEW CAR Markham and Thumma set down to plan an engine change for Monte's MGB, to give it more speed, and ended up designing a whole new car. The "Manatee Roadster" has a fiber-glass body and Ford power system on the MGB chassis. It is named for the Florida community, later merged with Bradenton, where Monte was born.

His "Hotspur Buggy" is named for a past favorite role in Shakespeare's "Henry VI." Markham and Thumma have formed Hotspur Automotive to protect patents on Markham's body designs.

Four potential buyers have ordered the dune buggies, but the customers may have to wait. Says Markham: "I'm not in this to create a racing company or a dune buggy corporation. It's purely entertainment, an avocation, fun."

WEEKEND TRAILING He spends weekends "trailing" about the Palmdale desert area with other camper-traveling devotees of motorcycle riding.

His wife Claire rides another motorcycle he owns, and even daughter Keivell, 7, sputters about on a minibike. "It's something a family can do together instead of watching TV all weekend," says Markham.

Warren Man, 32, Severely Burned

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A 32-year-old Warren man in critical condition Tuesday with burns over his entire body after a fire in his home. Harold Gaines was flown from a Warren hospital to the burn center at University Hospital Monday. Authorities said the fire began in the living room sofa.

SATISFIED Murphy contacted Dornot Shea at the Consumer Council and two weeks later, the job was completed to Murphy's satisfaction.

"We didn't threaten the company," Shea said. "We just let them know we knew about the situation. We always give the company the right to remedy the complaint."

If Shea's psychological warfare had not worked and the company had not finished the job, Shea would have had to turn the complaint over to the state attorney general, who would then issue the contractor a subpoena. Shea's office does not have the right to levy fines or issue subpoenas.

The New York City Department of Consumer Affairs, largest in the country, has a staff of 350, including 100 inspectors and a cadre of 80 volunteers. The commissioner, 45-year-old Bess Myerson Grant, a Bronx girl who became Miss America and a television personality, was appointed last March by Mayor Lindsay at a $25,000 salary.

IN HIGH GEAR Ever since, the department has been operating in fourth gear. In a recent week, it received 800 complaints about unfair business practices and got some action on 559.

In the past eight months she has been in office, Mrs. Grant has crusaded against "shamburgers" that are not all beef,veal "cutlets" that are really patties, poor telephone service, parking garages which overcharge and damage cars, frozen "fresh" fish, excessive hospital rates and door-to-door salesmen who peddle black and white TVs as color sets.

A spokesman for Mrs. Grant's office says, "We are finding more and more adulterated meat patties, but it's also clear that many more food stores are labeling their cutlets as cutlets and their patties as patties."

If a butcher in New York City sells hamburgers advertised as 100 per cent pure beef and an inspector finds they are mixed with pork, the Department of Consumer Affairs may fine the butcher up to $100 for the entire violation, or depending on the discretion of the commissioner, for each porky hamburger sold.

AT FEDERAL LEVEL The consumer's advocate on the federal level is Virginia H. Knauer, President Nixon's recently-appointed special assistant on consumer affairs.

Within the proposed White House Office of Consumer Affairs would be a 20-member consumer advisory council appointed by the President, with business, labor and consumer groups asked to recommend appointees.

Mr. Consumer Affairs himself, 35-year-old Ralph Nader, called the administration package "far-reaching in part and deceptive in the remainder."

Nader, whose auto safety crusade a few years ago gained him national prominence, said business representation on the council would be "anomalous indeed."

Bureaus of Nader's Raiders, the Madison Avenue name given to the group of 102 bright young law students who work for Nader each summer, are being assembled in New York and Texas.

Meanwhile, the influence of Naderism, the belief in individuals who challenge institutions, continues to grow.

Cable TV to Challenge Networks

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Cable capacity to bring upwards of 50 channels into the home. The cablecasters—given entire by the Federal Communications Commission to originate programs, sell advertising and form networks—are preparing to challenge the dominance of the three major networks.

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK — Imagine a television set in your living room that could bring you five, six or more national networks, your own computer, your high school football games, your town board meetings, a fire over the street and just about quotations, time and weather anything else on which a camera could focus.

The means are at hand. Cable television has the potential to revolutionize the medium within the next decade through its capacity to bring upwards of 50 channels into the home. The cablecasters—given entire by the Federal Communications Commission to originate programs, sell advertising and form networks—are preparing to challenge the dominance of the three major networks.

CATV, conceived in 1950 as a stopgap measure to bring television to remote areas, now has about four million subscribers. In recent years its major selling point has been its ability to deliver a clear picture and color-perfect registration from all channels, including UHF.

Some experts believe that within five years, 30 million homes, more than one-half of the 58 million television homes in the United States, will be connected.

The coming years are certain to be marked by spectacular growth and continued controversy. The networks and broadcast-ers, fearful of cable television's even in its dormant days, are not going to sit idly by and see their fiefdoms carved up.

IN TWO YEARS The first cable television network is expected to begin existing operations before the end of the year. The first operational cable network, probably regional, could come about in two years. After that any number of networks could come into being.

The FCC is not likely to let CATV drive the networks or the broadcasters out of business. In fact, cable relay will allow them to reach more homes than ever before.

But the multiplicity of channels will fragmentize the audience and the cablecasters will compete for creative products and the advertising dollar.

More important, the number of channels available on the slender coaxial cable will permit a wide range of opinion and cultural tastes.

ROLE IN BIG CITIES "In my opinion, it will play a major role in the big cities in attacking the problems of the ghetto," said William Adler, chairman of the National Cable Television Association, which operates systems in Weston and Charleston, W.Va., and other cities.

For the first time, too, television could become a truly neighborhood medium. Cameras and equipment for program origination can be had for as little as $1,000, although $25,000 is a more realistic figure. Color equipment would begin at $30,000.

At present the monthly fee for cable television averages $5, and the cablecasters say they see no fee increase in prospect as more programs are added. The basic services will be paid out of advertising revenues and by selling to more subscribers.

Car Ferry Heads for Detroit River

LUDINGTON (AP)—The 381-foot car ferry, "The City of Flint," left Ludington Tuesday for Detroit where it will be used by the Norfolk and Western Railroad on the Detroit River between Detroit and Windsor. Norfolk and Western purchased the ferry from the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad at Ludington for a reported $100,000.

The boat, which has been out of service since 1967, was formerly used for runs across Lake Michigan.

$21-Million Tax Suit Filed

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Christiana Securities Co., a Wilmington investment company, filed a suit Tuesday for nearly $21 million against the U.S. government claiming the money was erroneously assessed as income taxes.

The suit includes separate claims for the years 1962 through 1965. The largest portion of which resulted from the government-ordered divestiture of the DuPont Co. of its General Motors Corp. stock, in 1962.

Christiana Securities, in its suit filed in U.S. District Court here, claims the U.S. government erroneously concluded that the fair market value of the shares, on which the amount of taxation was based, was determined by multiplying the number of shares distributed by the average of the highest and lowest share GM prices on the New York Stock Exchange's prices on the date of the stock distribution. 708,500 GM shares from DuPont.

Obstacle Remains in GM Strike at Flint

FLINT (AP)—A dispute over a contract point is apparently the major stumbling block in the way of solution of the strike at General Motors' Fisher Body No. 2 plant in Flint, which entered its fourth month today.

The strike, which has idled 2,300 workers at the Fisher plant and has forced the layoff of 1,600 men at an adjoining Chevrolet assembly plant, began in a dispute over the speed of the production line.

With the beginning of the 1970 model run, GM attempted to increase the speed of the production line from 43½ to 55 cars per hour, and the union objected.

At a meeting Thursday, at the strike broke off Sunday and ended by GM Chairman James Roche and President Edward Cole and by United Auto Workers Union President Walter P. Reuther among others, it was decided to settle the strike on the basis of the "comparison agreement" outlined in 1961 and 1965.

CONSTANT WORK LOAD

The agreement is used to determine work loads in making various models. It is designed to ensure that each man's work load is constant regardless of what type of vehicle he is assembling.

According to GM officials, it was agreed to resume work as soon as possible with the line moving at 48½ cars an hour.

Negotiations aimed at settling the strike broke off Sunday and ended by GM Chairman James Roche and President Edward for 26 months, was reported to be alive and well. "After those kids got the news, there was no stopping them," said their jubilant mother, Mrs. Shirley Odell. "They're back in the old, telling the neighbors their dad's all right, singing their hearts out up and down the block."

Word About Prisoners Is Joy to Many

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It had been 18 months since Air Force 2nd Lt. Michael T. Burns, 25, was shot down over North Vietnam, and his parents in Warsaw, Ind., knew nothing except that he had been seen landing safely. Then his name appeared on the list made public Tuesday by the two women leaders of the anti-war movements just back from North Vietnam. "I couldn't think of anything I'd like better than this," said his father, John B. Burns. "This is the time of year for things like this to happen."

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said all but four of the names had appeared on previous lists of prisoners. He declined to say which four names were new, or reveal the names of five men that North Vietnam reported are dead.

Many of the families on the list said they had not heard from their men previously or had no word in months.

A CRUDE CARD Mrs. Gwen Schweitzer of Lemoore, Calif., wept with relief when she received a crude card from her husband, Navy Cmdr. Robert Schweitzer, 37, who was shot down two years ago with no word since.

The card addressed to her and two sons read: "Dear Gwen, Eric and Carl, Merry Christmas and Happy New Year and Happy Tet. This lovely card is an example of the kindness of the Vietnamese people. May God bless and keep you and grant us all peace in the New Year."

American officials have complained that prisoners are not allowed to receive or send mail and packages but Mrs. Weiss said: "We have every reason to believe that difficulty with respect to the mail will be eased."

She encouraged relatives to send one letter per month and one package every other month weighing less than six pounds; prisoner's name, serial number, Camp for Detention of Pilots Captured in the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, Hanoi, DRVN. The envelope should be marked: Via Moscow.

"The men will be released when the over-all solutions to the war are discussed," she said.

HAPPY TO SETTLE "We really wish we could have brought the men back instead of their mail," Mrs. Weiss added. Lacking their men, most of the families were more than happy to settle for the mail.

"It was the happiest day of our lives... we were stunned with happiness," said Mrs. C. H. Becker of Palo Alto, Calif., after 2½ years of wondering whether her grandson, Henry Hope Fowler, was dead or alive.

Over a traditional Vietnamese repast of beer, tea and tangerines, at a private building in Hanoi, used by the military, Mrs. Weiss said, "We had a very good and very pleasant time together. The men drank beer very happily."

During their conversation the pilots "spoke very highly of the anti-war movement... and very militantly against the war," she said.

Mrs. Weiss displayed three Christmas drawings which she said were drawn by prisoner Gerald Coffee of Sanford, Fla. One had a red bell in the center and said: "Merry Christmas."

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shively of Spokane said they had seen their son in propaganda films and heard from him as recently as August but added, "Letters mean so very much to us. Words can't describe the joy of hearing from our son."

Young Write Holiday Messages to Troops

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — "Dear Vietnam, I am Scott Stewart, Den 1, Pack 116. I hope you are going to get out before Christmas."

Scott Stewart, a Hattiesburg, Miss., Cub Scout, scrawled his message in pencil on a piece of red art paper and sent it to American servicemen in Vietnam. His Christmas card, and thousands of others are sent to soldiers in general, instead of to individuals. They are distributed by the United Service Organization.

Many cards are unsigned and bear only printed greetings. Others express gratitude for the job Americans are doing here.

"My name is Ed Partson, I'm 14 years old," said a card from Albany, Ga. "Guess what? In about three more years I might be jacking your place. But I hope you and your friends are back by then and I hope the whole mess is over. I wish you a very Merry Christmas."

Robert Smith, San Antonio, Tex. wrote: "I wish you didn't have to be in Vietnam but that's the way the ball bounces. I wish you could be here enjoying Christmas Day but you can't. Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

"Thanks for peace and freedom in the U.S.," said Janelle Koch, Fresno, Calif. "Hope you have a white Christmas next year at home and God bless you."

Kathy Murphy, a 10th grader from Columbus, Ga., wrote: "Dear fellow American; I'm writing you this letter not only to wish you a very Merry Christmas but to tell you just how much we appreciate what you are doing for the country. We are all hoping the war would hurry and get over, and with your help and the many others over there we will win and all of you will be able to come home."

A card with a picture of a dove and a peace symbol said: "I would wish you a Merry Christmas but it wouldn't do you any good. They call me a hippie, but as you must know everyone's got their own thing."

and I just happen to be doing mine. In case you are wondering, I'm 16, 5 feet and I live in Brooklyn, N.Y.

AMC Chief on 1970: 9.5 Million Car Sales

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Board Chairman Roy D. Chapin, Jr., has joined the 1970 sales forecast parade with a prediction the auto industry would sell 9.5 million cars including imports to open the new decade.

But he cautioned that the other forecast that if sales fell below that figure the major decline would be in the larger, more expensive categories.

Chapin, head of the smallest of the car manufacturers, was the last auto industry leader to issue his year-end statement, and he was the most optimistic.

The heads of Ford, General Motors and Chrysler generally forecast car sales would be slightly lower than 1969's projected sales of 9.5 million units.

"CONSUMERS WARY" Chapin conceded that consumers were wary, that continued inflation and government fiscal restraints were being felt.

But he pointed to such positive factors as a big increase in the car-buying population in the 18-to-30-year-old range, return to civilian life of up to 200,000 military men, and a substantial volume of 3-to-4-year-old cars now on the road whose owners could be trading in on new models in the coming year.

Chapin also predicted that about 54 per cent of the 1970 sales, or some 5 million cars, would be in the below standard sizes.

There are now less than 90 brewers of beer in the U.S. In 1949 there were 440.

Mexican-Style Christmas Is Observed in Pontiac

A Gift Brings No Happiness to Either One

By JUNE ELERT
 "In Mexico, before the Christmas Eve, people are very happy..."
 "It is very beautiful during the month of December. The streets are lighted with many colored lights. Christmas trees and creches and Santa Klaus decorate the windows. There are lots of toys and the people sing happy songs."

JUNE

It sounds pretty familiar, but recent arrivals from Mexico find Christmas in America a good deal different than in their own land.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvaro Morales of West Fairmont Street will be observing their second Christmas in America this month. Mrs. Morales is a native of Sabinas Hidalgo (about 75 miles north of Monterrey). Mr. Morales calls Mexico City home.

SERIES OF NINE

The Mexican celebration of Christmas begins on Dec. 16 with the first of nine evenings of "las posadas"—a ceremony in which people gather into groups and act out the journey of Mary and Joseph to Bethlehem. They go from house to house, asking for room.

Each night, when they are finally permitted to enter, they carry the figures of Joseph and Mary into the room. On Christmas Eve the Baby Jesus is also carried in and laid in the manger. Leaders of the posada are chosen by a unique custom. Before it begins, the participants eat little pies. In some of the pies, a tiny doll has been baked. Those whose pie contains the doll are designated to head the procession.

After each of the nine ceremonies, the children play the pinata game. The pinata is a papier-mache figure which may be shaped like people, animals, fish or birds.

RELIGION

As in America, the Mexican Christmas is closely associated with religious observances. Everyone goes to church on Christmas Eve. The traditional Christmas feast features turkey, sometimes accompanied by a sauce made of chocolate, chili, sesame seed and spices, plus tamales, chili and fruit pies.

Celebrating ends on Jan. 6, the date upon which it is thought the three wise men saw the Christ Child. Gifts are again exchanged between loved ones as on the December date of His birth.

Three of the Morales children attend the Owen School where Elda, 7, represented Mexico in an international program a few days ago. Their other children are Jose Alvaro, 10, Lidia, 8, and Samuel, 4, who probably doesn't remember quite as much as the others of Christmas in Mexico.

Mrs. Manuel Diaz of Candlelight Lane served as interpreter for me when I talked with Mr. and Mrs. Morales.

By ELIZABETH L. POST
 Of the Emily Post Institute
 Dear Mrs. Post: My mother is seventy-eight, and I guess it is because she likes to do what she can for others, that what I am writing about really made me angry.

She asked me to take her into town to buy a rather expensive gift for a relative, who had been impossible to please. Based on her correspondence with this relative, she thought of something that she would use and enjoy. I wrote the relative, telling how mother was so pleased she had thought of a gift for her, hoping she would understand and appreciate it.

She sent the gift back without even unwrapping it. It isn't that there has been a quarrel between them, either. She calls mother extravagant. I would appreciate your comments on this — M.D.S.

Dear Mrs. S.: Your relative showed incredible lack of understanding and gratitude in returning your mother's gift. The joy of giving should match that of receiving, and the recipient has no right to destroy the donor's pleasure. Such lack of appreciation is just as wrong as a donor who makes no effort to choose a gift that will satisfy the recipient. That, too, brings pleasure to no one.

I hope your mother's relative sees this column — maybe she will show some appreciation the next time someone spends the time and effort on her that you mother did.

FAMILY'S MEANS

Dear Mrs. Post: You recently included a letter in your column from a father worrying about the wedding expenses of three daughters. He wanted the groom's family to share expenses. The solution to the problem is quite simple.

Father tells daughter how much money he can contribute to her wedding. Daughter plans a wedding within that amount, or adds to it for a bigger wedding. No respectable daughter should expect her parents to go into debt for her wedding. In my own case, my father could contribute nothing. My fiancé and I paid for everything and we've never regretted it. — Mrs. R. Galloway

Dear Mrs. Galloway: Many thanks for your letter. You stated the case clearly and concisely. I only wish to add that there are, on occasion, unusual circumstances in which it is quite right for the groom's family to participate, or to give the wedding.

In general, however, your solution is correct and no daughter should expect her family to over-extend itself financially by giving her a more elaborate wedding than they can afford.

Inspirational or Comic Calendars Are Big Business Now

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new calendars are marching on us — flat or fat ones, round ones, slim ones.

Calendars on towels, on desk ornaments, on scrolls: Calendars with green covers, red covers, black and white covers. All-color covers. Calendars on throw pillows.

The calendars with flowers, buildings, landscapes, geometrics and other delights for the eyes are to the right and left of us, the north and the south of us.

It makes perplexing the matter of hoisting "the" calendar to keep as one's very personal one for the new year.

The very best calendars in the $130 million a year industry are the ones you read. Inspirational or comic.

The "comic relief" calendars include Mother Spector's Almanac. Among her housekeeping tips: "Store galoshes in the bathtub." Other advice tells how to boll water and make ice cubes.

Hallmark's "Great Moments in History Calendar" includes, for May, a sketch of Michelangelo falling off the scaffold in the Sistine Chapel. Says one portly monk to another portly monk:

"Not only would wallpaper last longer but it would have been much cheaper."

Other historical, if not hysterical documents among the elephant moments one is encouraged to cogitate on during 1970:

• On May 15 in 1752 Ben Franklin flew a kite, proving lightning is electricity. On May 16 of that year, "Franklin gets higher than a kite."

• On Jan. 7 in some year, Bill Bailey called and said he wouldn't be home.

The comic calendars are among gift ones, representing $15 million of the industry's total sales.

DEAR ABBY: That "UNDERPAID SITTER" sure gave me a laugh. I am a 27-year-old mother who (10 years ago) used to sit for 25 cents an hour, and I did more for my quarter than any sitter I've ever had for 50 cents.

Sitters in our day were expected to entertain the kids, pick up after them, bathe the little ones, and put them all to bed. THEN, do the dishes.

Now all the sitters do is SIT! The kids can pull the place apart and the sitter doesn't lift a finger to straighten it up. And sitters can eat you out of house and home. But what gets me is they won't even bother to carry their own empty bottles, glasses and dishes into the kitchen, let alone wash them. They just leave everything right in the room where they had their refreshments. I think I'd faint if one every cleaned up after herself.

For my part, I wouldn't mind paying 75 cents an hour if I came home to a house that looked as tidy as it did when I left it.

But I think 75 cents an hour for someone who watches TV, talks on the phone and adds $5 to my grocery bill is 50 cents an hour too much.

HAS BEEN SITTER

DEAR ABBY: Don't let me get started on sitters and how "underpaid" they are. Some of the dillies we've had should have paid US!

One quiet little thing who always carried a BIBLE in her purse, thoroughly cleaned out our liquor supply before leaving town.

Another one (a bosomy college freshman) physically ATTACKED my husband while he was driving her home one evening. So surprised was he, he hit a telephone pole and broke his nose. (She said all she wanted was a KISS!) We had a whole series of hungry kids who ate the fridge to the bare walls, but one had the gall to work out of the deep freeze and thaw stuff out in the oven.

But we decided to use only elderly ladies after a neighbor called the fire department to extinguish a fire in our house. Our teen-aged sitter and her friends were having such a gay party they didn't even know the house was on fire!

Thank heavens we don't need sitters anymore.

"FREE AT LAST" IN WOODSIDE
 DEAR ABBY: That letter signed "UNDERPAID SITTER" sure got to me, but I think my experience with a sitter last week took them all. Listen to this: A friend of mine recommended a high school girl to sit. I called her and she asked me if we had a color TV. I told her we had one so she said, "Good. I'll come."

Readers Tell Feelings on Sitters' Pay Scale

She came and I told her that the older girl (10) could bathe herself and put herself to bed, but the younger one (six) might need a little help, so she should see that she brushed her teeth and got into bed by 8 p.m. Both children had had their supper and the kitchen was spotless. I left a sandwich for the sitter and told her to help herself to a soft drink in the fridge.

When we came home at midnight, we found the front door wide open and every light in the house was on. The TV was blaring so loudly we heard it half a block away as we approached our house. We found the sitter sound asleep on the sofa. When I went into the kitchen I found that she had made popcorn and fudge for herself and left the mess for me to clean up.

She had also opened two cans of crab-meat and finished them off. She had drunk three bottles of soft drink and had eaten nearly a quart of ice cream!

I checked on the children and found the little one curled up in a corner of her room asleep with all her clothes (and SHOES) on!

When I paid her the 50 cents an hour we had agreed upon, she said, "The last lady I sat for gave me a dollar tip."

A Shopping Guide for Scrooges

NEW YORK (UPI) — This is the day Scrooges of the land come out of hiding and start their Christmas shopping.

Since sometime around September they have been telling one and all — "Watch out, Christmas, I'm going to celebrate the Fourth of July on Dec. 25th. That's what!"

Every year the Scrooges do this. Then, at the very last minute something snaps in their miserly craniums. No one knows what does it — the look of a child with nose pressed against a toy store window or the tears running down the cheeks of a white-haired woman listening to the Salvation Army brass combo playing "Silent Night."

When the Scrooges snap they realize it's almost too late... just one day to shop. They go on a last-minute shopping binge. If they're lucky they are able to get presents for all they should remember.

Being one of the last minute breed, I pass on the following tips to Scrooges who have seen the Christmas light and other last-minute shoppers.

• Try to make it to the store late in the day, several hours before closing. In most places the stores aren't jammed at that time. Christmas Eve, most other persons are home wrapping gifts they bought many weeks earlier.

• For all the women and men on your list, stick to things that do not require sizes. Ties for the men. Or scarves or even stretch socks — or gloves. You know those "one size fits all" kind. For the women, a gift set of bath powder and cologne fills the bill. Gifts of this type also have the advantage of not being too bulky. A matter for the last-minute shopper to consider—as he will have to carry the Yule goodies home.

• For all the children on the list, candy still makes a good gift, there are tins of Christmas hard candy, nicely decorated for the season. If you wish, put a couple new dollars in an envelope with the gift. After the candy, children seem to love money best.

Good luck!

Symphony Postpones Holiday Performance

New Production Being Rehearsed

The Meadow Brook Theatre's fourth production of the season, "Hedda Gabler," is now in rehearsal for a Jan. 15 opening at Oakland University.

Henrik Ibsen's dramatic masterpiece about a woman whose inner thoughts and desires struggle against her existence is a staggering portrait by the "father of modern drama."

Mikel Lambert will play the title role. Others in the cast include William Needles, Toby Tompkins, Marshall Borden, Elisabeth Orion, Bonnie Hurren and Deborah Ardery.

John Fernald will direct the Meadow Brook production of "Hedda Gabler" which is set to play seven performances at the Detroit Institute of Arts beginning Feb. 5.

Tickets for "Hedda Gabler" and the current comedy, "Pygmalion," may be purchased at Hudson's, and the Meadow Brook Theatre Box Office.

Dental Health

Don't Let Tooth Trouble Spoil Holidays

By DR. HOWARD E. KESSLER
To a few people, the only connection between dentistry and the holiday season is the song, "All I Want For Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth."

However, to the majority of us, the holidays are a joyful time when we want to especially preserve our precious teeth.

Holiday time is party time. Some individuals like to be the life of the party by cracking hard-shell nuts with their teeth. This should never be done. Both natural and artificial teeth can easily be broken in this way. Use a nutcracker instead.

Another holiday dental tip to remember is to refrain from biting your pen while addressing Christmas cards. The pressure of the season seems to make some people do this who would never dream of doing it at any other time of the year.

This holiday habit puts unnecessary wear on the edges of the teeth, and it might even break off a corner. Don't do it. Recently I saw a man who had foolishly broken a tooth while showing off at a party by opening a ring top beer can with his teeth.

With all of the little candies and cakes around the house at holiday time, one is tempted to keep eating and eating. Some of the more sticky, sweet holiday goodies tend to stick to the teeth too readily, and this invites decay. Remember to brush your teeth as soon as possible after each snack.

When wrapping gifts, do not break the ribbon or string with your teeth. The corner edges of many, many teeth have been snapped off by this method. Use a scissors or knife for cutting wrapping materials.

Taking these little warnings and bits of advice seriously may keep a dental accident or decay from spoiling your holiday season.

MRS. FLEES

Scented Hair Is Appealing

Pulse points are the perfect places for perfume — but fragrant hair can be an added area of attraction. Washing your hair with mild baby shampoo will give it a fresh, young scent as well as a clean baby shine.

Then spray your perfume on a brush (cleaned with baby shampoo) and stroke it through your hair. The clean fragrance of baby shampoo won't conflict with your perfume, but will gently allow it to take the lead. And, what could be more appealing than your own special fragrance floating from clean shiny hair?

Party-Time Trick

For a little girl's birthday party, arrange a row of small paper plates on a mantel or sideboard. In each, write one letter of her name in bright color using water paints until you have her name spelled, such as JANE or ANN. Intersperse with greenery.

Velvet, Lace

for a Bride

Joan Lee Fehlberg chose a gown of velvet with lace for her marriage Saturday to Frank James Flees Jr.

The couple greeted guests at a reception in Timberland Hall, Madison Heights following the ceremony in Beautiful Savior Lutheran Church.

Susan L. Shearer and Terry J. Nestrich assisted the couple as honor attendants.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Fehlberg of Ashover Drive, Bloomfield Township.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Flees of Cedar.

Following a honeymoon trip to the Bahama Islands, the newlyweds will reside in Pontiac.

Inhaled Oxygen
Slows Senility

Inhalation oxygen may be a partial answer to treatment of mental and psychological deterioration in the aged, a study made at State University of New York, Buffalo, suggests. The theory behind the treatment is that decreased oxygen supply to the brain causes senility.

Not all elderly people can be treated with oxygen, says Dr. Eleanor Jacobs. Those with cardiac, metabolic or respiratory ailments are ruled out. But in tests with 13 suitable patients, improvement ranged from 35 to 300 per cent.

Santa Claus Is Embodiment of Real and Legendary Men

NEW YORK (UPI) — Are St. Nick and Santa one and the same?

It depends on which Christmas legend you bank on.

St. Nicholas, bishop of a place called Myra in Asia Minor back in the year 300, was known for his generous ways. People started to believe that surprise gifts came from him.

At one point in history, pope in The Netherlands selected St. Nicholas as a patron of children. He was credited with bringing them good things at Christmas.

He's the Christmas spirit in France (Pere Noel), in Italy (La Befana) and in Switzerland (Christkindli). Whatever he's called, in many places of the world, he's the equivalent of Santa Claus.

Dutch settlers in New York dubbed their St. Nick Sinter Klaas. That is believed to have been the beginning of the name Santa Claus, American children's benefactor at Christmas.

Santa's outfit — beard and fur-trimmed red suit — was

Measures Yards

A new optical instrument for duffers gives the exact number of yards from ball to hole, the manufacturer says. This rangefinder takes the guesswork out of judging the distance. The instrument is fully automatic and requires no adjusting or focusing.

Golfer simply looks through rear aperture, lines up flag. The yardage scale indicates the precise distance. Sixteen scientists and technicians were involved in the development of this shirt-pocket range finder.

Popular Choices

Americans will send or receive more than four billion Christmas cards this year. More of these will feature religious themes and the subject of peace than in previous years. But the most popular designs this season are still the traditional ones — Santas, Christmas trees, holly, snow scenes, wreaths, Christmas bells and ornaments.

Cold 'Cures' Have Been With Us Always

Before medical science discovered aspirin as a way of treating the common cold, one of the more popular remedies of the 19th century was homemade slippery elm bark tea.

This was the era of do-it-yourself medication with such fascinating concoctions as Molasses Posset. The recipe, which appeared in a publication at the turn of the century, consisted of mixing hot buttered molasses with powdered white ginger and lemon juice.

The genteel lady editor observed with some indignation that "this preparation is absurdly called a 'stewed quaker' by the common people."

An alternative might be the now-famous flannel dipped in boiling water and turpentine which not only rid Grandpa of his cold but also the hair on his chest.

Some other better known remedies of the day were:

"For a cold in the head, warm and drink lots of fluids. Take aspirin to lessen the discomfort of your cold. If you are running a temperature, the will often break up a cold and cure a sore throat."

Half a pint of strained honey mixed cold with juice of lemon and a tablespoon of sweet oil, is another remedy for a cold."

Actually, according to the Bayer Company, Grandpa wasn't too far off the mark.

Doctors today recommend that when you get a cold, you should stay home in bed. Keep warm and drink lots of fluids. Take aspirin to lessen the discomfort of your cold. If you are running a temperature, the aspirin will help to bring it down.

NATICK, Mass. (AP) — For many months Mrs. Kathy Pollock watched progress being made on the construction of the Leonard Morse Hospital across the street from her home.

One day recently, only a few minutes after a ribbon-cutting ceremony, opened the hospital officially, she was admitted as the first patient and shortly became the mother of a daughter, her fifth child.

Idea for Postcards

DEAR POLLY — When you have lots of post cards or tape a dime inside my daughter's school notebook so pretty to throw away, try she will always have it to make an emergency telephone call.

In the trunk of my car I carry a plastic, zippered pillowcase in which I keep a raincoat, large plastic bag, sweater, etc., to be ready for my child in an emergency.—MARY

I have also used colored construction paper for the base and let it show like a frame around each one. Mine were arranged in sets that related to a certain city or country or trip. Great for summer cottages, too.—MARIA

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — I removed an aluminum-framed window screen to wash the window and bent the screen while trying to push it back in place. How can I get this screen back to its original shape?—Willy

DEAR POLLY — I am answering Lillian who has the thermal blanket with all the fuzz. I enclosed mine in an allergy-proof cover with a zipper. It is entirely enclosed but still gives warmth.

Mixed Origin of Santa Claus

The legend of Santa Claus, his sleigh and enters houses reindeer and his chimney-climbing habits has ancient origins, according to researcher Sally Hopkins of Hallmark Cards. St. Nicholas, a kindly bishop in Asia Minor during the A.D. Hertha, who rode on a reindeer's back. Aged Pilot, Little Prop, Precipitate Panic

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Staff to estimate how soon we'll run writer Jeanne Nelson returned recently from her first Caribbean trip. By now she has recovered her aplomb and can look back at her trepidation about flying with a calmer mind. She still insists it was the best vacation she ever had.)

By JEANNE NELSON
After three hours of sleep, a taste of Trinidad's worst coffee and four aspirin tablets, we stood in line with the others waiting to board what can only be described as "that shaky-looking prop" parked near the runway.

We had already been told by the "regulars" in line that scheduled take-offs for the 20-minute flight to Tobago "didn't always work out that way."

The aspirin hadn't started to work yet, the after-taste of the coffee had and the line was in questionable proportion to the LITTLE flying machine out there.

Somehow the words, "Is this trip really necessary?" kept racing through my mind.

Then, the worst happened! HE appeared!

Now, first off, AND I WANT TO MAKE THIS PERFECTLY CLEAR, flying isn't really my thing anyway.

However, through the years I have developed a highly sensitive method to combat the complete hysteria that threatens to accompany each flight. I study and evaluate the crew.

Nothing about them escapes me. Is the pilot clear-eyed and, above all, big and strong and an ex-Olympic swimmer? (All this in the event we have to make an "unscheduled" landing.) Ever notice the cute young stewardess never uses the word crash?

Next, the copilot and navigator—can they walk a straight line, do they whistle? (A dead upoff they're scared of something today.) Just as a full-size device, I also time the fuel man craft, ignoring his rheumatism. My mind went blank. I have no clear recollection of how I ever got on that plane.

"Jeanne, come on now, open your eyes, you're missing a beautiful sight—all that glorious blue Caribbean water," cooed Barb.

"How deep is it?" I muttered.

"For Pete's sake, you're absolutely impossible. See, it's only been a half hour and already we're coming into the landing pattern—feel it? And, just look at that magnificent mountain over there," she said.

"Mountain—Mountain! Oh, my—do you think HE sees it?" I groaned.

"Just get a grip on yourself, chum. And by the way, what ever happened to that image newspaper reporters are supposed to have about being fearless and living for danger?" she crowed.

"Besides," she smirked, you exaggerate so much and I think you're definitely wrong claiming he's 84, why he's probably not a day over 72."

"Oh yeah," I snarled, "I suppose, Pollyanna, you think those bifocals are just for effect? And, what about the cane? Huh? Huh? Explain that one."

"He's probably got a torn ligament or something," she laughed.

Chose Birth Date

Christmas was celebrated in various dates before Bishop Liberius of Rome, in the year 350, appointed Dec. 25 as Christmas Day. Research by LaVaughn Wangler, curator of the Hallmark Historical Collection, reveals that early Dutch settlers in New York celebrated Christmas on Dec. 6. Even today, many members of the Eastern Orthodox Church observe Jan. 6 as Christmas Day.

94 Years Old

This year marks the 94th anniversary of Christmas cards in the United States. The first American cards were made by a German immigrant, Louis Prang of Roxbury, Mass. in 1875. Thousands of Prang's ornate creations, some using as many as 20 colors, are housed in the Hallmark Historical Collection in Kansas City, Mo.

"Ligament." I screamed, "that's hardening of the arteries if I ever saw it."

"Well it won't be long anyway," she reported, "this is the third approach over the field, and I think he's really got it this time."

BEAUTIFUL.

Even I have to admit, it was a beautiful landing. Except, do most pilots not only use up all their own runway, but cross over and use another as well? Our driver, David Antoine, stood grinning as we deplaned and in his lyrical Tobagan accent said, Good morning ladies, I see Capt. Cash gave you the visitors' special today."

"You mean you could tell who was piloting this plane?" I exclaimed.

"Well, there are only two pilots on this run and the other one, Capt. Mohammad, was sent back to pilot school last week; he's been having trouble keeping the plane level or something," he said.

It was only 9:30 a.m. I had the whole day to worry about the trip back at 6 p.m.

Puritans Banned Yule Observance

Observance of Christmas Day was once banned by law in both England and America. In 1643 the Puritans in England prohibited the celebration of Christmas, even in churches, by act of Parliament, because they felt the celebrations obscured the true meaning of the day.

Colonists in New England followed suit in 1659, passing a law that declared "Anybody found feasting or observing Christmas Day in any way shall pay a fine of five shillings." This law was finally repealed in 1811.

Miss Field Speaks Vows

Joann Marie Field chose a gown of satin with Alencon lace for her marriage Friday to Donald Ross Mendham.

Central United Methodist Church was the setting for the evening exchange of vows and reception.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Field of South Avery Street carried a bouquet of roses and gardenias.

Sister of the bride, Mrs. Randall Mulberger, was matron of honor. Daniel Peterson performed the duties of best man for the bridegroom.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Mendham of Romeo is honeymooning with his bride in Chicago, Ill.

Couple Together for Many Years

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP) — Although separated for eight years early in their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Vargo have had a long life together and recently celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary.

They were married in Yugoslavia and three years later, in 1912, Vargo came to this country. His wife could not follow until after World War I ended, finally arriving in 1920. Vargo is 81 and his wife is 76.

Should You Pay Cash for New Home?

By ANNE TAYLOR
AP News Feature

Dear Miss Taylor: Is it better to pay for a home on a 20-year loan or to buy for cash?

We could buy a $45,000 home for cash at the present time. This would mean selling our present home, of course. We have a 20-year loan (four years old) at 5 1/2 per cent on a $25,000 house we could sell for $40,000. We have three children, 13, 10 and six. Our income is $14,000 a year.

Mrs. W. E. M., Concord, Calif. Dear Mrs. W.E.M.: Let me ask you a question in return: Just how much is to be gained by moving from a $40,000 home to a $45,000 home? It is axiomatic that during inflation you use someone else's money and invest your own. The assumption, of course, is that if inflation continues you will be paying back your loan in cheaper dollars.

Now you have an especially nice loan, a mortgage at 5 1/2 per cent when it is unlikely that you would find anywhere in the country a similar situation at less than 7 1/2 per cent, and possibly more.

Don't forget that your particular mortgage is a real, tangible asset. It is a contract for the use of money at a rate that you simply cannot obtain today — and perhaps won't be able to get for years.

Now, if you buy the $45,000 house I assume that, in your mind, you are obtaining a residence with which you will be much happier than you are with your present home. If this is so, then perhaps you should make the move.

Why pay cash though? The advantage of cash — and I am sure you are aware of this — is that you will not have to pay the high mortgage rates that prevail, and you will avoid interest charges. Sound reasoning.

However, I do not mean to sound pessimistic, but I have an innate disposition to discount all this talk about the end of inflation. I think it will be with us for years to come.

If you pay all cash now, you may be chagrined to learn in the future that you could have paid in dollars worth, say 85 or 90 cents. I do not mean to promote an inflationary "homework" do not require, nor psychology, but I think we should recognize it when it exists.

Dear Miss Taylor: I am a widow in my late 60's. I receive a pension and Social Security benefits, but I am having a difficult time making ends meet. I am considering light, easy, part-time employment.

Recently I received by mail a brochure from a business that promised at-home work. To obtain a job, I was told, I would have to buy the materials needed for the work from the firm itself.

Does this sound reputable? Can you suggest ways of supplementing my income?

Mrs. C. T., Madison, Wisc. Dear Mrs. C.T.: No, it does not sound like a desirable operation. Ignore the brochure. Bonafide firms offering "homework" do not require, nor psychology, but I think we should recognize it when it exists.

Not knowing your skills or preferences, I would suggest you write or call your local Chamber of Commerce or state employment office and describe your requirements. Or you might write to the National Association of Sheltered Workshops, 1522 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C.

Après ski is half the fun if you're dressed for it, says the Men's Fashion Association. This star of the ski lodge is fashion-perfect in a striped pullover worn with brown velvet jeans.

In harmony with every skiing instinct is this "Jayceeman" by Mighty-Mac. Named for, and worn by Jean Claude Killy, this color-splash 100 per cent Antron Jacket features snap-shut collar, zippered concealed side pockets and zippered tab snap sleeves.

Expert skiers pay as much attention to their fashion form as their ski form. This fellow wears the currently popular belted ski jacket in a bright yellow, notes the Men's Fashion Association. It makes a perfect combination with his chocolate brown ski pants.

You might ask, is it a shirt... a pullover? It's both... it's a shirtover, with flared collar, center vent, and a terrific trio of accent stripes.

Mazi robes make sense for a sauna bath after a long day on the slopes, says the Men's Fashion Association. Here's a boldly striped model that's terry cloth lined. The kimono style includes wide bell sleeves and a self-belt.

Care of Pet May Revitalize Elderly Person's Will to Live

NEW YORK (WMNS) — For a lonely, elderly person, a dog can be much more than an affectionate, last-ditch companion. Surprisingly often, says a psychologist, he perks up his owner's health and rekindles his will to live.

Dr. Boris Levinson of Yeshiva University points out that the responsibility of a pet insures that his owner feels needed, just as that wagging tail and eager greeting assures him that he is loved. Since the dog must be walked, his owner gets regular daily exercise. Since the dog must be fed, his owner must pay some attention to stocking the cupboard and may even find his own waning appetite stimulated. Getting out with the dog is also likely to lead to pleasant encounters with other dog-walkers. All in all, it seems that a dog and the lethargy that afflicts so many ailing, retired people cannot co-exist.

For someone too ill to get out, Dr. Levinson suggests a n aquarium since "watching fish nation — and a home — can be very amusing and relaxing."

Our Man on the Slopes

The days of the somber skier are over. Not too long ago the snowy slopes were mainly streaked with black and dark blue outfits worn by both expert skier and novice alike. Aside from the occasional brightly hued stocking hat or knitted face mask, those ski outfits offered little to match the ebullient spirits of the winter sportsmen.

However, this season's men's skiwear, notes the Men's Fashion Association, is proof positive that the "fashion explosion" has reached the ski slopes and the ski lodge. According to Ken O'Keefe, MFA fashion director, "Ski outfits this year will be lighter, livelier and more colorful."

ACCENTS

When dark blues and blacks are worn on the slopes this winter, they will be accent shades to complement the brilliant oranges, yellows, greens and reds as well as the popular skipper blues and electric blues.

While the brightest of those colors are usually used in the windproof, water-repellent ski jackets — it is not unusual to find the new trim-fitting stretch pants in brighter blues, rich browns, forest greens and in medium to light grays.

Eye-catching patterns are added to the bright outfits when the ski coats are doffed and the bulky-knit Scandinavian-type sweaters appear.

While the design of active skiwear is limited to some extent by functional requirements, apré-ski outfits are limited only by the imagination of the wearer.

Those outfits can be classic or contemporary in concept or sometimes combine some of each in the same ensemble. For instance, among the classic "tops" are wool or wool-blend shirts in Scottish tartans, lumberjack plaids or bright solid colors, as well as many colorful turtleneck and mock-turtle pullovers. Standard apré ski slacks range from flannels to tweeds to well-washed denims.

The fashionable look now includes lighter weight versions of patterned ski sweaters, knitted sweater shirts in a wide choice of patterns and solids, and some newly revived velour pullovers with several types of collars.

VELVET JEANS

Among the smartest apré ski slacks are the richly colored velvet jeans. More generously proportioned in keeping with the current trend, velvet jeans duplicate many of the style features of their denim prototypes in their low-waisted cut and patch hip-pockets. Knitted slacks, now in patterns as well as plains, are another fine choice for wear during night time ski lodge get-togethers.

Saunas are on the increase at ski resorts and fashion has belts. Other styles include found its way into the pullovers in long, loose lines restorative Finnish steam room, that almost reach the ankles. The old terry towels are being replaced by full-length cotton robes are fine for use at home robes in colorful prints or long and for travel as well as for kimono styles in bold stripes, wear at the sauna.

No doubt about it — the belted-sleeves have wide, somber look is no longer a part of the men's ski scene.

First-Borns Are More Aggressive, Claims Novelist

Season's Greetings
Imperial Beauty Shop
158 Auburn Ave.

Vance Packard is a last-born child, and not too happy about it. He may have good reasons for his displeasure.

Writing in the December Reader's Digest, the author of "The Hidden Persuaders," "The Sexual Wilderness" and other volumes of social observation, says he's noticed that first-born children seem to stand out in our world. They're more competitive, more responsible, more conscientious than their later-born siblings.

Moreover, says Packard, while first-borns are also shyer and less openly friendly than their younger brothers and sisters, they still predominate. Surprisingly, perhaps, a large and impressive body of scientific evidence backs up Packard's observations.

For example, first-borns appear in Who's Who in greater proportion than their numbers justify.

The five U.S. Presidents at or near the top in virtually every ranking—Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt—were first-borns.

Of the first 23 astronauts to go on U.S. space missions, 21 were either first-born or only children.

And in a recent analysis of 1,618 finalists for National Merit Scholarships, nearly 60 per cent were found to be first-born.

DEVELOPMENT

Yet all this may not really be so amazing after all. For as every parent knows, children are raised differently, thus develop in different ways. And psychologists can often guess, after just a brief interview, which birth-position a child holds in his family!

What are the reasons for the differences? For one, a first-born child, at the time of birth, other children in the family, the "throne" as the only child. He is likely to be a couple's most treasured child—the one that with his parents and be more to regain his old position of preeminent—which could account for the fact that oldest children tend to take on leadership roles later in life more frequently than those born later.

Moreover, notes the article, this child, more is expected of him, and more tension surfer—the trauma of being "de-

It all adds up to a "relax!" signal to parents who worry because one child is markedly different from another.

As Packard says, what's really important is not the differences among children, but that each child grow up with the feeling that "whatever his birth order, he is significant and cherished and accepted warmly, for what he is."

All sorts of new furniture, and furnishings, and demonstrators, and one-of-a-kinds, and decorator gems, and floor samples, and discontinued lines, and odds and ends, and warehouse items go. They go right out of the stores . . . and right into the nicest, prettiest, most colorful, and most comfortable new rooms in town. Such as yours will be, for instance.

There isn't room even on a big page like this to name everything that's on sale during this 2-day clearance. But 2-day clearance sale prices at Towne & Country are worth looking into—even for people who don't need furniture right now. (You can order at the clearance sale price, and we'll store your purchase until you need it, at no charge.) So scan the list, note what you'd like to see, and come in. (And please remember, this is only a partial listing. There are many more bargains where these came from.)

Ceramics Lend Note of Christmas Season

By LINDA CABRAL

If there is one thing Mrs. Ray Johnson can do without, it's the proverbial bull in a china shop.

Her home on Fisher's Drive, Highland is a brewer's paradise. Examples of her ceramic handiwork brighten every room.

Creating unique Christmas decorations is Mrs. Johnson's favorite project. A large creche with numerous animals, the Holy Family and wise men, fills an entire corner of her living room. The off-white glazed pieces are all Mrs. Johnson's work.

A white ceramic Christmas tree with artificial snow adorns an end table and Santa, his sleigh and reindeer can be seen gliding across the Johnson's brick hearth.

Bright paint and glaze reflect miniature Christmas lights placed about the room. "We just want to enjoy our ceramics, we don't want to make it a job," Mrs. Johnson explained. "This is something we can just leave, if we want to; it's not a big project," she continued.

Mrs. Johnson and neighbors meet weekly to work on the ceramics. They purchase the greenware and finish the items as desired.

A close look through the Johnson home reveals a good sampling of Mrs. Johnson's five years of work with ceramics. Lamps, mugs, a lavabo and also finds time to antique furniture and dabble in an abbreviated form of decoupage.

"I hardly even know we have a television set," she laughed, "there is always so much to do."

Christmas trees also glow from colored bulbs placed in the ceramics.

Plant Protein Is Expressed

The day may be coming when all our protein needs can be supplied from the leaves of plants, says an English biochemist.

Through a method devised by Mr. N. W. Pirie, of Rothampten Experimental Station, Hertfordshire, England, a residue of almost pure protein — with all essential amino acids — can be obtained by squeezing leaves in a press. The residue is then converted into a moist, cheese-like block, which can be flavored to taste.

Twelve such presses are now in operation world-wide. Considering rising prices of meat, the idea might be worth noting.

John J. Moreaus Exchange Vows

The John Joseph Moreaus (Gail Frances Schreiner) are honeymooning in Florida following their Friday marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. David H. Landers assisted the couple as honor attendants at the civil ceremony.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mrs. Peter G. Schreiner Jr. of Park Lake Drive, Independence Township, the late Mr. Schreiner and Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Moreaus of East Iroquois Road.

The couple will reside in Pontiac.

Moonglow Gone

NASSAU BAY, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Alan Bean, wife of the lunar landing pilot of Apollo 12, is hoping that her husband now may be able to perform some "earthly duties." She says they have had some leaky faucets in their house for about six months but that her husband was too busy to fix them.

EDIE ADAMS

By JOYCE GABRIEL
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — Edie Adams started out as an opera singer. The setup sounds ideal for musical comedy to star as Daisy Mae in the Broadway production of "L'il Abner." The accent was on comedy when she featured with her late husband, Ernie Kovacs.

Starring in the road company production of "Mame," Edie Adams is combining comedic and singing skills in her performances to packed crowds across the country.

Anyone who remembers the cigar ads featuring Miss Adams knows how elegant and glamorous she looks. But how does she stay that way?

"It's not easy," said Edie, in a deep, husky voice. "Especially when I'm performing in tents where the temperature is about 80 degrees."

"The heat is one reason I use wigs exclusively when I'm performing — my own hair would melt."

Edie, who was named "Best Colored" one year, has capitalized on her hair expertise to go into the beauty salon business — with a twist. She has opened franchise salons across the country, called "Cut 'n' Curl."

"Hair can be such a problem," Miss Adams explains. "Our beauty salons are based on modern living — they're all located in shopping centers, so that a woman can shop and have her hair done in one trip."

The setup sounds ideal for someone like Edie, who is constantly traveling.

"Sometimes I've had to set my hair in the dark," she said. "And I've learned to pack the smallest hairdryer there is."

Miss Adams travels with her mother, her two children, Josh and Mia, and a maid.

"On the road, I have to do some things myself," she commented. "I take care of my hair and my skin, which takes quite a beating with all the stage make-up I wear."

"Actually, stage make-up is the easiest to put on. Regular make-up is more subtle," she commented. "Of course, I still go for the hokey eye thing — you know, spider eyes and all that — but I think the natural look is marvelous."

"I'm a make-up fan, too," she said. "I think it protects the skin. I always wear moisturizer under it — moisturizer is great for the mommies — it protects against dry skin and wrinkles under the eyes."

Our Parties Bar Soapbox Orators

By BETTY CANARY

In the past few weeks several people have asked me how they should go about turning off speech-makers at their dinner parties and I'm at a loss when it comes to telling them how to teach adult guests how to behave.

If we're going along with the assumption that we all consider this a civilized society, then we can safely say that freedom of speech doesn't preclude good manners.

But just what can a person do when a friend of long standing turns political radical with the soup course? Is it enough to say calmly, "Pardon me, dear, but your social involvement is showing?"

Frankly, it is easier to forgive a young offender for at least part of his rudeness can be marked off as the natural ebullience of youth. But even he, though a dedicated placard carrier, should remember that Aunt Helen, whose son died in Korea, finds it most difficult to understand why some young men are now choosing Sweden over military service.

In my house I don't want any reference made to those over 30 as "you people with your sticky inhibitions." You may come in to my house with dirty bare feet, but, if my friend Alice is visiting, you must keep your feet tucked out of sight. I respect her viewpoint as well as yours and, if you don't find, fastidiousness, as they say, is her bag.

As far as I know, my conscience is my own private property and, until the Supreme Court rules otherwise, I'd appreciate keeping it that way. An invitation for cocktails or coffee and dessert does not include the privilege of your searching my psyche. Or pronouncing judgment on my brand of humanity.

And, if you want to recruit others to your cause, I'd suggest you rent a hall or give your pitch on the village green.

My living room is strictly unavailable, so please, leave your soapbox on the front porch before entering.

Personally, I like debating and I find that differing opinions make for stimulating conversations, so do not likely misunderstand what I am asking in the way of good manners.

Nobody is suggesting a person must don a muzzle after hanging up his coat but a little consideration of others isn't too much to expect.

The way the staties are running, the woman in the chair next to yours very likely has an alcoholic husband or brother. The man across the table could easily have a son at the federal hospital in Lexington trying to kick a drug habit. And you're likely to have a prickly audience if you insist upon discussing the virtues of marijuana over alcohol or vice versa.

'90 Outlook: Wear Mask or Die of Air

SCOTTIA, N. Y. (AP) — The way some scientists see it, the choice will be simple. Wear a special breathing mask, or die from pollution.

That's the prospect for life in the Northern Hemisphere by 1990 if the present pollution rate continues, according to scientists at the Atmospheric Sciences Research Center.

Here is their present view of the 1990s:

In 1990, 10,000 people will die in one metropolitan area of the United States, which will be inundated by a cloud of pollution.

In 10 to 15 years from now every man, woman and child in the hemisphere will have to wear a breathing helmet to survive outdoors. Streets, for the most part, will be deserted.

DOMED CITIES

Most animals and much plant life will be killed off.

In 20 years, man will live in domed cities.

Even now, the scientist say, there is no more clean air left in the United States. A six-year search was conducted by members of the research center, which is part of the state university system and is studying pollution under federal grants from the National Science Foundation and the National Institute of Health.

"We have no solution. If we had a solution we wouldn't be fooling around with this stuff," said Alfred Hulstrunk, 46, a biologist who is assistant director of the center near Schenectady in eastern New York State. There are 20 research scientists at the center.

Air pollution, he says, has been increasing at a rate far greater than the air is able to cleanse itself.

6-YEAR SEARCH

The last vestiges of clean air at the center noted in the United States was near Flagstaff, Ariz., but it disappeared six years ago when, Hulstrunk said, air pollution from the California coast reached the northern Arizona city.

"We ran out of clean air, so to speak. For six years we have been looking for some in the remotest parts of the United States."

He defines air pollution as at least 2,000 particles of pollution in a section of air half the size of a sugar cube. Most metropolitan areas today average 15,000 particles.

Their number is growing at the steady rate of 1,500 a year. Hulstrunk says indications are the pollution level will be deadly for humans at 35,000 particles.

APPARENT ANSWER

At the fatal point, Hulstrunk says, the only solution now apparent will be domed cities.

"We can put on a semi-space suit and roam around a deserted and dead country. The people will be inside and all living things outside will be dead. Technology will have taken over completely."

Hulstrunk believes the solution will be found, that somehow, man will prevail. But for the near future, "We can see no improvement. We still see degradation ahead for our entire environment."

Air pollution's killing agent is a microscopic particle of matter that produces a violent reaction in a test tube, Hulstrunk said. When the particles land on a house or a car they eat minuscule holes in their paint. In the concentrated quantities of the next decade and later, when inhaled into a lung, he says, they will cause malignant tumors and kill.

OTHER CHALLENGES

The problems of overcoming air pollution are compounded by attempts to find answers to other seemingly unanswerable challenges to society.

For instance, he said California has allowed the use on an experimental basis of plastic beer containers that can be burned instead of just discarded, a boon to solid waste disposal. Similar research is under way at Syracuse University where scientists are trying to learn how to burn the plastic containers more efficiently.

"Aesthetically you improve your area so that you don't have beer cans along the road but now you are breathing beer cans," Hulstrunk says. He has designed "clean air rooms" and

"Somebody asked me what I do with the filter when it is dirty. I haven't got an answer to that yet. I told him I would shake it out, sending the particles back into the air."

Scientists Tell Ideas on Revising Man

NEW YORK (AP) — Perhaps man should be smaller, so he wouldn't take up so much space on earth. Perhaps he could have chlorophyll under his skin, so he can perform photosynthesis like plants do. Or perhaps he could use an additional heart chamber. These suggestions come from a group of leading scientists who were asked what changes they would make in the human body that might be useful at this point in history.

HOW WYN SOCK SAVED CHRISTMAS

—By Paul Gringle

Dr. Charles H. Townes, Nobel Prize winner and physicist, University of California at Berkeley: "Man should be smaller in size, and have a much longer life cycle than in the past. In the past, man's size needed to be reasonably large so that he could exert the physical force necessary to do work and fight enemies; the application of intelligence and the development of tools has completely changed this."

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, Nobel Prize winner and chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission: He suggests a change that would allow a direct connection between the human brain and a computer so people can learn during their sleep. "If it were possible... we could produce a mankind that would be able to solve all the physical and social problems that the human race faces today."

Dr. Dominic Recalini, London University: "We should take a lesson in self-sufficiency from plants and learn the art of photosynthesis before our greedy teeth pick the planet clean."

Photosynthesis is the process by which green plants convert sunlight into chemical energy such as sugar and protein.

Dr. Adrain Kantrowitz, heart surgeon, Maimonides Medical Center, Brooklyn: Chronic heart failure is a major problem in industrialized nations. "The patient, although alive, has a heart muscle so severely damaged that he is restricted, essentially, to life in bed or, at best, a wheel chair. Modification of the body by incorporation of an auxiliary ventricle—an additional heart chamber—would prevent the development of chronic myocardial insufficiency in some, and ameliorate its course in others."

Accord Reached on Alpine Area

By National Geographic Society WASHINGTON — The physical effects of World War I still litter the Dolomites.

Trenches, cannon emplacements, rusted helmets, and canteens lie scattered about in this breathtaking Alpine range near the old boundary between Italy and Austria.

The region, called Sud (South) Tirol by the Austrians and Trentino-Alto Adige by the Italians, slopes southward from the colorful limestone formations of the Dolomite Mountains.

Following World War I, South Tirol was ceded by Austria to Italy, which also retained the territory after World War II, and gave it an autonomous government.

ISSUE RESOLVED

German-speaking South Tirolese complained that large influx of Italians deprived them of true autonomy.

The issue, which has caused friction between Austria and Italy, recently has been resolved following intensive negotiations between the two countries.

The Dolomites were named for Grate di Dolomieu, an 18th-century French geologist who studied the distinctive calciummagnesium rock formations.

The peculiar chemical composition of the rocks creates peaks suffused or streaked with blue-black, yellow, and red.

"It was like putting the colorful mesas of the southwestern United States on top of an Oregon forest," observed a National Geographic writer. Mountain torrents and long green valleys furrow the rugged 5,200-square-mile area. Wildlife flourishes. The golden eagle nests in high crags; chamois and deer bound through larch and fir; and woodcocks blend with ground cover.

Of the 800,000 South Tirolese, some 60 per cent speak

German. Italian and German are the official languages in the region, but German architecture and customs prevail.

Italy has promoted the industrial development of South Tirol since World War I. The United States on top of an Adige, furnish a abundant hydroelectric power. Chemical industries and aluminum processing have transformed the land into one of the most prosperous areas in Italy. Bolzano, South Tirol's principal city, has grown from a quiet spa into a bustling industrial town. Residents still call their city Bozen, as in the Austrian era.

USO Santas' Goal: A Present for Each GI

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Somewhere in the 1st Corps on Christmas morning a combat soldier will open a brightly wrapped package and smile. He knows may get a laugh, too, from items like a tin of eggplant pate, or a bar of striptease soap—plain white soap stenciled with a picture that washes off in the shower.

This bit of holiday spirit for the area from the rice paddies of Quant Ngai to the dusty hills of the demilitarized zone comes courtesy of the USO's "Christmas in Vietnam" project, and of thousands of Americans who "wanted to do something" for fighting men.

Lucy Caldwell, a dollar-a-year associate director of the China Beach USO near Da Nang, has been unwrapping packages, saving Christmas paper and ribbon and sorting goodies for the troops since November. For every incoming gift, she will write a personal thank-you note.

VOLUNTEER HELP

"We sort the gifts here at China Beach with the help of volunteer soldiers visiting the USO and employees of two other USO's in this area," says Mrs. Caldwell. "Then Vietnamese employees rewrap the gifts and pack five to a plastic bag."

"We hope to have a bag of gifts for each of the 130,000 men in 1st Corps, but of course the troops in the field come first," she added.

More than 20,000 individually wrapped items in the Christmas project Mrs. Caldwell heads—now in its fourth year—already have been tagged, bagged and transported by unit chaplains to the men in the field.

"We just don't know how people find out about us to send packages," says Mrs. Caldwell, widow of former Princeton football coach Charles Caldwell.

WORD IS PASSED

"We started planning four years ago for a gift for every Marine, so the Marines helped with publicity," she said. "I make a few speeches each year, too, but mostly people just pass the word themselves."

In Mrs. Caldwell's hometown, Princeton, N.J., more than 5,000 packages have been wrapped and mailed to Vietnam since June 8. In Statesville, N.C., city employees for the second straight year donated money they would have used for a Christmas party.

From the Fox Chapel District Association near Pittsburgh, Pa., came 12 barrels containing nearly 1,000 pounds of gifts—but not the necessary postage to get them to the war zone.

The group's president had written Mrs. Caldwell the gifts were being sent by truck to San Francisco, Calif., to be mailed through the Fleet Post Office there.

"These drums didn't have any postage," said a note that accompanied the barrels.

Here Are Rules, Tips for Driving on Snow, Ice

By DAVID W. CHUTE

DETROIT (UPI) — This is the time of year in most sections of the United States when winter snow and ice make driving a car not only hazardous, but tortuous and nerve-wracking.

Driving on snow or ice requires a special skill which can be acquired only by doing it. But there are a few rules and tips which can help.

The first cardinal rule is slower driving. A highway posted for 60 miles an hour in dry weather is sheer suicide at that speed on snow or ice.

The second rule is buckle your seat belt. That's a good rule at all times, but especially important in winter because of the increased risk.

A few years ago a man who wrote automotive columns for United Press International was killed in a low-speed skid collision on packed snow with another car when he was thrown out the door of the passenger side. His head hit the icy pavement. He was not wearing a seat belt. The driver was not even injured.

Another rule. Double the distance you would normally leave between your car and the one ahead of you in traffic. A rule-of-thumb distance is one car length for each 10 m.p.h. of speed in normal driving. Make it at least two car-lengths per 10 m.p.h. on snow.

Snow tires are a good asset in driving on loose or packed snow but not much better than regular tires on ice. But studded snow tires are a distinct advantage on ice in average winter temperatures.

Now a few tips on handling the car. Avoid sudden maneuvers such as swerving or hard breaking or acceleration.

PUMP BREAKS GENTLY

If you have to slow down, pump the breaks gently, and try not to let the wheels lock. Rear-wheel locking will tend to throw you into a spin. Front-wheel locking causes you to lose all control of steering.

Pumping the brakes will let you take advantage of the maximum traction of your tires on the pavement, without skidding the wheels. It's the principle behind the recent development of antiskid brake systems in which sensors at each wheel detect when the wheel stops rolling and automatically releases brake pressure even though your foot is tramping the brake pedal.

If you do start to skid on ice or snow, be sure to steer in the direction of the skid. That is, if the rear wheels break away to the left, turn your front wheels to the left.

On ice, you will go into an uncontrollable skid if your rear wheels swerve by as much as 17 degrees from the normal track. That's just a little more than one-third the distance to a right angle position.

CAN MAINTAIN CONTROL. If by alert steering you can keep your rear wheels from reaching that critical 17 degrees, you can maintain control. If it hits that point, steering corrections won't help. You're out of control.

If you are in a skid, do not apply either brakes or accelerator. Get the car straightened out first. Then pump the brakes.

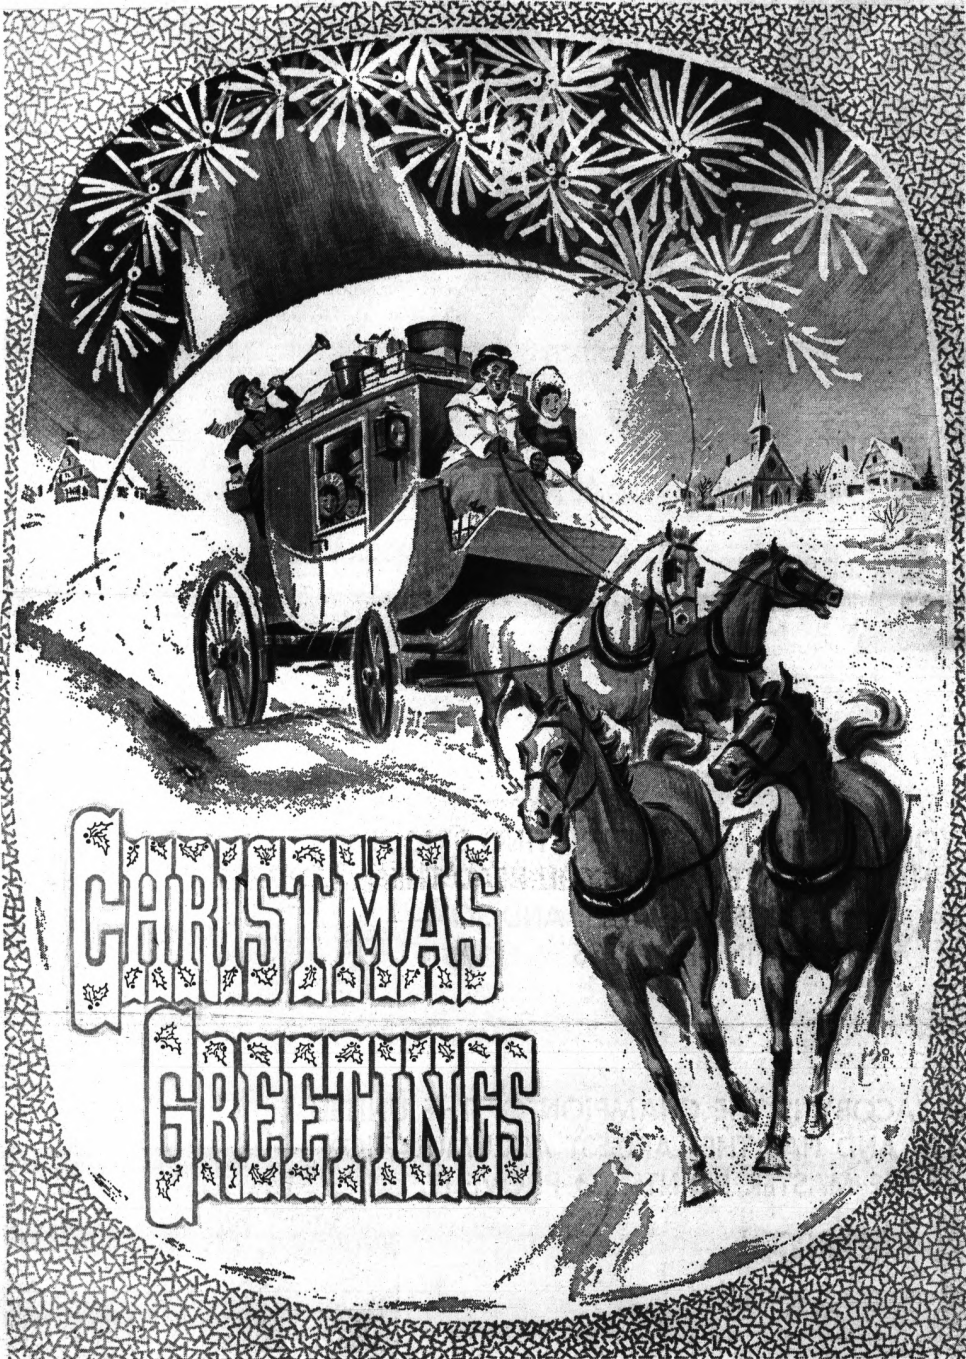

In turning a curve or a corner, go into it slowly and do not step on the accelerator until you

Robber Gets Bank 'Bonus'

DETROIT (AP)—A man who robbed a downtown branch of the Bank of the Commonwealth Monday got $140 more than he asked for.

The robber went up to teller Daisy Jones and handed her a note asking for $200 and threatening to shoot her if she didn't "act natural."

Miss Jones handed him a total of $340, and the man fled.

It's the merry arrival of the holiday season, bringing with it our cheeriest good wishes to all our valued customers. Serving you has been our pleasure and we sincerely thank you for your friendship and trust in us.

Wilson Calls Katie in 'Coco' Unbelievable—Garbo-Twin

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Katharine Hepburn remains the Unbelievable One, today's Garbo.

Joseph Cotton told her how great she was. She replied, "And weren't you surprised?"

Producer Joseph E. Levine had flown in from Mexico, where he was viewing a couple of filmings, arriving at the Mark Hellinger Theater about 8 o'clock, an hour after the "Coco" first-night curtain went up. He exclaimed to me, behind him, "Can you imagine how lucky I was to have produced a picture with this dame?"

Miss Hepburn turned to her brother-in-law backstage later and said, "This is Mr. Levine—he produced that picture—what was the name of it?" she asked Joe.

"Lion In Winter," he said.

At a cost of about $2,000, Miss Hepburn gave a party for the cast at Salvation Two, a discotheque at 30 Central Park South, with super-buffet, open bar, etc., arriving personally at about 12:45 a.m., leaving about 12:48 a.m., apologizing, "I just wanted a glimpse of you in your natural state . . . Hello and farewell."

"Thank You — So glad you came . . . thank you very, very much," Miss Hepburn never stopped saying backstage. She had a small spaghetti party of her own at her apartment whilst the Beautiful People gathered at Earl Blackwell's penthouse in midtown.

Mia Farrow — who was at the theater with Andre Previn — was reported to be expecting twin boys.

(Maureen O'Sullivan skipped "Coco" to attend the wedding of her daughter Prudence Farrow, 20, a computer operator at Harvard, to Albert Bruns, teacher of transcendental meditation. Maureen said she was "very, very happy with her new son-in-law.")

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Kaye Stevens and her ex-husband, apart five years, marked their original ann'y at Chasen's in Hollywood. Kaye says they were the happiest couple in the place — because they're not married . . . Robert Shaw, on the wagon a month while rehearsing "Gantry," fell off celebrating the birth of a son . . . Thelma Carpenter, debuting at the St. Regis Maisonneite, mentioned she's appeared in "Dolly" on Broadway 101 times, "and that's longer than most shows run."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A dress salesman says he's sure that business is picking up: "I'm starting to lose bigger orders."

EARL'S PEARLS: When a man decides to get married, it's sometimes the last big decision he ever gets to make.

Hugh Allen said it prophetically almost 10 years ago: "The next war will be like a fight with your wife — it'll be practically impossible to win it or end it." . . . That's earl, brother.

Dear Santa Claus: Here's Our Christmas Gift List

DEAR SANTA,

Another year and another decade will soon be part of the past. We would like the new decade to bring a new era of athletics for our many friends in the sports world.

The three big names in pro sports of our area for the big portion of nearly two decades have been GORDIE HOWE in hockey, JOE SCHMIDT in football and AL KALINE in baseball. You might add DAVE DEBUSSCHERE to that list for basketball.

But, it's not memories we want for our friends in sports but a few titles, championships and awards to start and finish the new decade.

A big bouquet of roses for BO SCHEMBEHLER and the Wolverines would be appropriate to start the New Year and a similar floral arrangement for Duffy Daugherty and the Spartans at the close of 1970 would give us a rosey sweep for the year.

DEC. 24, 1969

While you're at it bring Buckeye WOODY a windbreaker to keep the chill off him when those Wolverine or Spartan backs go whizzing by.

For Josef Von SCHMIDT, who brought the Lions back to respectability with a 9-4-1 record, how about a 11-3 mark next Fall.

BETTER IDEA

In fact a "better idea" might be to put the stadium at I-75 and M-59 with a letter of commitment from Ford. While you're at it be sure MAURIE SCHUBOT has 65,000 no-post season tickets to sell and has order blanks for an NFL playoff and NFL championship game.

For the fine public relations men in our state, LYALL SMITH of the Lions, HAL MIDDLEWORTH of the Tigers, RON CANTERA of the Red Wings and GEORGE MASKIN of the Pistons, we want special greetings in 110 point type.

Ditto for FRED STABLEY at Michigan State, WILL PERRY at Michigan, WALT DOUGHERTY at U. of D., BILL KRIEFELD at Wayne State and a special commendation for JERE CRAIG at Central Michigan who performed so capably while with us here at The Press.

Perry of course would like a banner head on Michigan's victory New Year's Day.

MORE BEST WISHES

Arrange a lot of sunshine for our friend Charlie Van Winkle IRISH out there in Arizona, and a special toast to Captain MICKI KING for her courage in coming back to win the AAU diving championships after breaking her arm in the 1968 Olympics. Micki would enjoy that toast along with the rest of the "Go Blue" alumni out on the coast.

PERC SECORD and the Pontiac Table Tennis association would like their standings in the paper every week and so would the local recreation basketball leagues.

Another state swimming championship is the wish for JOHN WIECK at Groves High, but MIKE HEICK at Seaholm has the same hope. Let's have a co-championship.

How about leaving some astro-turf or tartan-turf at Wisner Stadium, put a 7,000 seat arena inside Wide Track drive and some number programs at Wisner when Central plays there.

Drop off a peace-pipe for PAUL DELLERBA at PCH, some throat medicine to take care of DICK HALL'S hoarseness after every PCH basketball game, and an itinerary for the trip to Lansing for PCH cage coach RALPH GRUBB.

A second state wrestling title would be appropriate for coach Bill Wilson and the Huskies, and what do you think coach JIM CONLEN at Pontiac Catholic would like? Maybe a win over Northern Saturday, and his parochial league championship.

TRIPS TO STATE

How would this look for the state basketball finals—Pontiac Central in class A and Pontiac Catholic in class C?

FATHER ROCKY at OLSM would like another freshman like MIKE PACIOREK for next season and there would be no stopping the Eagles.

Maybe you can drum up a bono player who can win 30 games as a hobby for MAYO SMITH of the Tigers to go with the organist and guitarist on his pitching staff, and for general manager Jimmy Campbell we would like a red hot deal.

Al Kaline deserves to be the first $100,000 Tiger; Mickey Stanley deserves a regular spot in the lineup and Jim Northrup wants a tub of chewing tobacco and a 300 season.

Mike Luceri of the Lions wants a pro-bowl spot he certainly earned this season, bring Alex Karras a couple more good seasons despite his talk of retirement and have the Lions' hospital squad of BOB KOWALKOWSKI, MEL FARR, GREG LANDRY and NICK EDDY in tip top shape for 1970.

Center ED FLANAGAN and defensive end LARRY HAND would like their own hunting grounds; JOE ROBB would like an encore of the Lions' rout of the Cardinals and his old coach Charley Winner.

Rockne Freitas wants to be the best football pro ever out of Ka-ne-ha-me-ha High in Hawaii and EARL MANN needs to have his toe gold plated.

What more could you bring GORDIE HOWE, but another couple years for hockey's great Methuselah; and for ALEX DELVECCHIO of course everyone knows what he wants—a few goals.

For hockey's biggest fan, Tiny Tim, leave a cupie doll of Gordie Howe and a ukelele without strings.

For the area's top bowling crowd of many years, the 812 of BUD MULHOLLAND, add a 300 game; and for our Pontiac Open Champions MIKE BAYLISS and BILL KIRBY, good spending.

A special token of appreciation to SHIRLEY POINTER and JIM RUTKOWSKI are in order for their outstanding work during the tournament at Firebird and Airway.

Larry Crake needs an audience to tell the story of his hernia operation when he gets back to work at 300 Bowl.

The city recreation department could use some recreation activities to catch up with Waterford's program and if you can, Santa, drop off a decent surfaced tennis court somewhere in the city.

The Pontiac Firebirds need to become brides in 1970 instead of being bridesmaids as they have been three times in the Midwest Football League, and JOHN ABEL, the MFL commissioner needs a PR man to help the league.

BOB MEYER, with a recent 300 game, and Nick Coates who had a 759 actual in the Pontiac Open qualifying and a 298 high game recently, should have special recognition for that red hot timber they've been knocking down in past weeks.

FRIENDS IN GOLF

We ask another great golf year for PETE GREEN and lots of low scores for our many friends on the links, MIKE SOUCHAR, TED KROLL, GENE BONE and for the outstanding pro shop veterans, TOMMY SHANNON, RAY MAGUIRE, WARREN ORLICK, BOB GAJDA, ELMER PRIESKORN, PAUL VAN LOOZEN, MAC McCLURRY and the many others.

To the Skippers, Captains, Corsairs, Raiders, Huskies, Chiefs, Titans, Maples, Knights, Dragons, Falcons, Wildcats, Bronco Vikings, Warriors, Barons, Redskins, Mustangs, Spartans, Eagles, Lakers, Eaglets, Panthers, and all the teams who roam our fields and courts of athletics we wish a very merry Christmas and a highly successful New Year.

We want to make a special note of thanks to HOLLIE LEPLEY and PIN RYAN at the local colleges and university for their fine cooperation and wish them great success in their programs.

To golfers, bowlers, skiers, swimmers, wrestlers, gridders, cagers, tennis players, auto racers, trackmen, baseball players, ice boaters, water skiers, table tennis players, snowmobilers, archers, hunters, fishermen, handball players, paddle ball players, rowers, boxers, poloists, roller skaters, ice skaters, squash players and even Jai Alai, Lacrosse, cricket and curling enthusiasts, we want a most happy holiday and many victories in 1970.

God's Blessing to all our sports fans and readers.

Consistent Chiefs Rip Huskies, 84-70

THE PONTIAC PRESS SPORTS

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1969 D-1

PCH Uses Balance in Win; Northern's Clancy Hits 30

Inconsistency must have taken a Christmas vacation from Pontiac Central High School. And the Chiefs hope it stays that way.

Pontiac Central, plagued by hot-and-cold basketball much of this season, hit a solid 50 per cent of its field-goal tries and completely dominated Pontiac Northern Tuesday night, 84-70.

The easy victory sent the Chiefs to 5-0 on the year while dropping their arch-rival Huskie foes to 3-2. It was Central's 23rd win in the 27-game series.

The outcome of the game was in doubt only briefly at the opening of the second half when the Huskies, using a full-court press and running offensive patterns well, pulled to within seven points and seemed to have the momentum they needed.

But the Chiefs out-scored their smaller but game foes 10-2 over the last two and one-half minutes of the third period and coasted home with the victory to the delight of a packed house of partisan Chief rooters.

Campy Russell, who has hit or exceeded the 30-point mark twice this season, spent most of the first half passing the ball to his teammates and concentrating on the boards. He hit just four points in the first half and finished the night with 21.

LONG SHOTS

His teammate, Terry Ratliff, led the Chiefs' balanced scoring attack with 26 points, all from the floor and most of them long set shots. Ratliff was deadly from outside, hitting 75 percent of his field-goal tries.

Monte Herring added 21 points to the winning Central cause while Bill Glover chipped in with 10.

But the scene-stealer was Dave Clancy, a 6-2 senior forward. His driving lay-ups and strong (six-for-seven) free-throw shooting kept Northern within striking distance several times. He finished the game with 30 points to lead all scorers.

Clancy got double-figures help from Charles Moncrief, who scored 14 points, and Mike Chapman, who wound up with 10.

Coach Dick Hall of the Huskies spent much of the first half urging his players to, "Run some kind of pattern." Northern, which fell behind by 10 points early, shot from outside the light Central defense most of the half and was hitting just 24 per cent.

The Chiefs were so thoroughly dominating the boards in the game's early stages that the Huskies got off more than one shot on a play just once in the first two periods.

DOUBLE COVERAGE

With Russell faking shots and passing the ball off to Herring and Ratliff, the Huskies were at a loss in trying to decide who to cover. When they double-teamed one man, one of the other two would take the shot.

Central rolled up an 18-10 first-period lead and built that to 15 points late in the first half before Chapman's shot at the buzzer pulled the Huskies to within 43-32.

Northern then reeled off a series of driving shots and took advantage of the turnovers its press was forcing to move to within seven points five times in the third period.

But two missed shots by PCH were put back in by Herring and Russell and Herring added another bucket on a turnover by the Huskies to give the host Chiefs a solid 65-50 lead after three periods.

Central hit on 38 of its 76 field-goal attempts while Northern hit a 35.4 per cent (28 of 79). At the foul line, the Huskies hit 70 per cent (14 of 20) while the Chiefs were given just 17 chances and cashed in on eight of them.

Central gave Northern the ball 18 times on turnovers while the Huskies lost possession through errors 15 times.

Russell, the home-court favorite of the Chiefs' fans, drew loud cheers from the crowd with his snappy ball-handling, particularly during the first half when he was not shooting often.

Ten of Russell's points came on rebounds or tip-ins of missed shots by his teammates.

Rams, Vikings Quip in Cold

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL — The Minnesota Vikings and Los Angeles Rams wasted little time in touching off a psychological battle for Saturday's Western Conference playoff in the National Football League.

George Allen, Rams coach, stepped off a chartered jet Tuesday night after the Los Angeles arrival and said:

"A little snow never hurt anybody. And it feels a lot warmer than 11 degrees."

The Rams are in the Twin Cities early to attempt to get used to the weather, which is expected to be in the 20-degree range with a slight change of snow by game time. It was 70 degrees when they left the West Coast.

Minnesota Coach Bud Grant, meanwhile, said Minnesota's preparation "has been animal-like."

Maples Rip Fordson

Birmingham Seaholm came out on top of a battle of the unbeaten Tuesday night, dropping Dearborn Fordson, 67-55.

Seaholm coasted to a 35-20 halftime lead and the closest Fordson could come after that was an eight-point gap early in the final period.

Jim Hagen paced the Maples with 23 points and a solid rebounding game while fellow senior Dan Sovran chipped in with 18 points. Sophomore John Denning turned in his third strong performance of the young season with a 16-point night.

Sieve Burke and Walt Zion paced the losing Fordson attack with 17 and 15 points, respectively, while John Giammarco came in.

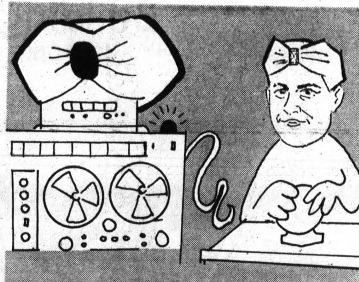

Seaholm used snappy passing to break

Fordson's half-court zone press and convert short jump shots to take the quick lead and hold it.

Seaholm is now 5-0 while Fordson is 1-1.

Ortonville Reaches Tourney Semifinals

Ortonville-Brandon advanced into the semifinals of the Lakeville High School Holiday Tournament Tuesday night with a 60-57 win over Maple Grove St. Michael.

The host Lakeville squad will furnish Brandon's competition in the 7:30 p.m. game Friday. Lakeville sent Ford into the consolation bracket Tuesday, 46-43.

In other first-round action, Elkton-Pigeon-Bayport surprised Midland Dow, 59-55, and Saginaw Carrollton stopped Montrose, 76-63.

Ortonville will play St. Michael Friday at 6 p.m.

Wilson, Saban Picked

HOUSTON (UPI) — George Wilson of the Miami Dolphins and Lou Saban of the Denver Broncos were named Tuesday to coach the East and West teams in the American Football League's All-Star Game in the Astro dome on Jan. 17.

Herk's Hikes All-Star Lead to Four Points

Herk's Auto Supply increased its lead over second-place Autobahn Motors in the Oakland County All-Star traveling classic Monday night at Fairway Lanes.

The top-place squad won all six points in a match with Orchard Lanes and now holds a four-point edge on Autobahn, which took four from Lighthouse Lanes Monday night.

Monroe Moore led Herk's with a 592 series Monday while Pat Sweeney rolled a 222 for the team's top game. The winners rolled games of 926, 903 and 902 for a 2791 series. Bill Crawford rolled a 223 for the losers and Bill Pointer carded a 397 series.

Autobahn lost the first game by six pins, 637-631, before rolling games of 1,067 and 936 to win the final two. Jack Aldred carded the high game and series for Autobahn at 226 and 632. Jim Watson's 218 was the top game for Lighthouse and Terry Van Orman rolled a 555 series to lead the squad.

Al Raffaele of Gniwewk Trophies rolled a 243 and Art Pearson of Hazleton's Lettering a 236 for the top games.

Pearson's 678 was the best series, while Vince Saunders of Redford Trophy Sales was second at 650.

The league averaged 183.8 for the night.

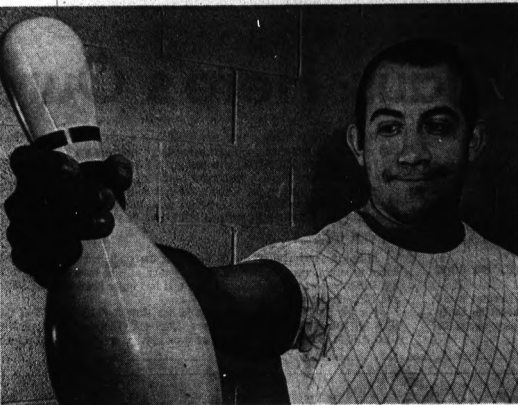

Next Monday, the league goes to North Hill Lanes in Rochester.

Olympic Meet Stated

NEW YORK (UPI) — The second U.S. Olympic indoor track meet will be held Feb. 20 in Madison Square Garden.

STICKY-PIN — Nick Coates glares at the nine-pin which stayed up in the 12th frame and cost him a perfect 300 score at Firebird Lanes. Coates, who already has had one 300 and another 299 in his seven-year bowling career, settled for a 299 game, which helped him to a 685 series in the Firebird Classic league.

Walled Lake Grabs Opener

Ridley Keys Victory in Tourney Overtime

Walled Lake Central will tangle with big Livonia Bentley Friday night in the final round of play in the Northwest Suburban Holiday basketball Tournament.

Mike Ridley keyed Walled Lake Central to an 82-80 overtime victory over Farmington in Monday's first-round action. Ridley, 6-5 senior co-captain, pumped in 30 points and hauled down 24 rebounds to pace the victory.

Farmington was led by Paul White with a sizzling 39 points and Vern Chapman with 14.

The score was deadlocked 75-all at the end of regulation time.

Walled Lake is now 4-0 on the year.

Keglers Roll 2 High Games

Perfect games are a rarity in a road Commission employee any sport and the near-miss is missed qualifying for the Pontiac Open finals.

But two area bowlers not only rolled a 300 and a 299 game in area houses, they did it within two nights of one another.

Bob Meyer carded his perfect 19-strike game at Westside Lanes in the Wednesday 6:30 p.m. league and on Friday Nick Coates followed with a 299 game in the Firebird Lanes Classic League.

Both will receive awards from the American Bowling Congress, Meyer a ring and Coates a mantle clock.

The perfect game was a first-time occurrence for Meyer, who bowls in four leagues each week and averages between 181 and 196 in them.

"After I'd rolled the first eight strikes, I started thinking about the possibility of a perfect game," Meyer said of his bowling rarity.

He had missed one by three pins last year when he rolled 11 strikes in a row and then settled for a seven-count in the 12th frame.

"After I had the 11 Wednesday, I said to myself, 'You had a chance at this and blew it; don't do that again.' The 12th strike was just like most of the others, right in the pocket," the happy kegler recalls.

His third and fourth strikes carried from the Brooklyn side, but all the others were in the 1-3 hole and carried without question, he added.

"One of the things that upset me," the veteran bowler commented, "was that even with my 300 and a 220-plus by Jerry Perna, our team lost the game by one pin."

Meyer finished the night's action with a 681 as he wound up with the perfect game in his third line. The Oakland County

AND THIS THE WINNER OF THE 15TH ANNUAL JIM THORPE TROPHY

USC's '11th Game' Near

Wolverines' Enthusiasm High

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler calls the Rose Bowl game "just like the 11th game of Southern Cal's schedule" each year.

But U-M captain Jim Mandich is thankful there is more than a month break before the Trojans play that 11th game.

"I would say if we played USC one week after the Ohio State game we would have had a hard time reaching the same high emotional level we had then," Mandich said Tuesday.

Michigan arrived in Pasadena last Thursday to prepare for the Rose Bowl encounter New Year's Day against Southern Cal, which is 9-0-1. The Wolverines, 8-2, became the Big Ten representative by way of a 24-12 upset over Ohio State on the final regular game of the season, becoming conference co-champions with the Buckeyes.

"In my opinion, USC is as good a team as Ohio State and I don't think we'll have any problem now on reaching an emotional peak for that game," added the 6-foot-3, 217-pound All-American tight end.

PRIME FACTOR
The Wolverines were at a fever pitch for the Ohio State game and later Schembechler cited that enthusiasm as a prime factor in the victory.

Schembechler, speaking with Mandich in the press lounge of the team's hotel headquarters, said his players still at East Los Angeles Junior College.

U-M had double practice Tuesday, was scheduled for another double session today, then has Christmas off.

A Christmas party is scheduled for each team. Michigan's is set for Christmas night while USC's is for Dec. 28.

In Tuesday's morning practice the Wolves worked on their offensive line and running in the afternoon they concentrated on passing and pass defense.

HILL HOBLED
Middle guard Henry Hill is still suffering from a leg injury and isn't quite 100 per cent. Meanwhile, Schembechler said it is doubtful that stout defensive halfback Barry Pierson, whose right forearm has been in a cast since a scrimmage game in Ann Arbor before the trip, would return any punts in the USC game. He wouldn't say if the cast would prevent him from playing in the defensive Pierson returned a punt 60 yards against Ohio State to set up a Michigan touchdown.

Bo spoke with USC Coach John McKay by way of an amplified telephone Tuesday and said: "This is my first bowl game but you must be getting pretty tired of them by now."

"I'll never get bored with them," responded McKay, whose teams have been the Pacific-Eight Conference's Rose Bowl representative for the past four years. "Each one of them is a great experience."

"Yeah, the Rose Bowl is just like the 11th game of your schedule," Schembechler said. "We try to recruit our players with that idea," McKay replied wryly.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Dick Klipsic and Bob Possendorf scored two goals each as Wisconsin upended Michigan State, 6-3, to take the Big Ten Hockey Tournament championship Tuesday night.

In the consolation game, Michigan took a 4-0 first period lead and breezed to a 6-1 victory over Minnesota.

Gabriel Wins Thorpe Trophy

NEW YORK —(NEA) — Gabriel is a big guy with dark, moody features reflecting his Filipino ancestry. His full name is Roman Gabriel Jr., and he is the most valuable player in the National Football League.

His peers, all the other players on the 16 teams, made it official in voting him the winner of the 15th annual Jim Thorpe Trophy, announced today by Newspaper Enterprise Association and The Pontiac Press.

"I think Gabe has been the difference in this year's Rams team," noted Bart Starr, the quarterback of the Green Bay Packers. "His leadership has been outstanding."

Coming from Starr, this is significant, for the veteran Packer leader was himself the recipient of the same honor in 1965.

QB'S HONOR
Quarterbacks, as a matter of fact, have a natural proclivity for this highest honor in pro football.

Gabriel is the fourth straight signal caller to top the voting of the players. His three immediate predecessors, in succession, were Starr, John Unitas and Earl Morrall of Baltimore.

But for a player such as Gabriel, the emergence as the No. 1 man in his league was not automatic. At 28, he has completed his eighth season with the Los Angeles Rams, and has been the regular quarterback without challenge only the last four.

The unique part of his selection this year is that he was not even picked by the players on their NEA All-Pro team — Sonny Jurgensen was accorded that honor.

On the surface, that should be a contradiction. Actually, it's a tribute to the role Gabriel played in leading the Rams to 12 straight victories in the first 12 weeks of the season. Jurgensen was the flashier performer, the No. 1 passer in the league, with the most completions and the greatest yardage and the greatest touchdowns. Actually, it's a designation to All-Pro status.

But Gabe, as the guys on the Rams call him, was the winner. He gave them the big play when it counted. He was the stalwart who stood up to enemy blitzes and delivered the crucial offense on a team which didn't score in big bunches. He also led the Rams to victory over the Minnesota Vikings in the league.

There is a precedent for the Jurgensen-Gabriel switch-off on year and a surprise spearhead of the Dallas Cowboys' ground game.

Gabriel will receive his trophy at the NEA-CBS All-Star party in Hollywood's Television City on Jan. 15, and the ceremony will be shown nationally on the 1969 NFL All-Pro Team show, Sunday, Jan. 18, 3:30-4:00 p.m. EST, before the Pro Bowl game.

In this year's voting, Jurgensen was second, followed by Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears, who made a remarkable comeback from knee surgery to score in big bunches. He also led the Rams to victory over the Minnesota Vikings in the league.

League Rivals Quip in Cold

The Rams brought along a variety of cold weather equipment including gloves, hand warmers, special shoes and heat blasters. Grant said the Vikings will not wear gloves, but have various shoes for a bad field.

Each club plans to work outdoors this week. The Rams are headquartered at Macalester College in St. Paul. The Vikings are based at the University of Minnesota.

The playing field at Metropolitan Stadium has been covered by an insulated pad and tarpaulin, and is dry underneath.

Both clubs appear to be at almost full strength physically. Linebacker Maxie Baughn is the only Ram doubtful, and he said Tuesday he would be ready to play. Jim Purnell would start if Baughn isn't ready.

Minnesota cornerback Bobby Bryant has missed several games, but he is working in hopes of playing. If not, Ed Sharckman will start.

Both players have sprained knees.

Minnesota ended the regular season with the best record in the NFL, 12-2. Los Angeles was 11-3, including three straight losses starting with a 20-13 setback by the Vikings in Los Angeles.

A crowd of 47,900 is expected for the 2 p.m. (EST) kickoff.

St. Louis remains unbeaten against West Division teams on home ice and now leads Minnesota by 11 points in the division standings.

Center Red Berenson of the Blues suffered an ankle injury in the second period and was taken to a hospital. A Blues' spokesman said X-rays failed to show any bone damage and further tests were scheduled today.

Berenson said he heard "something snap" while he was turning on a play.

Los Angeles will be at Toronto tonight in the only NHL action.

Tim Eccles converted a Phil Goyette pass in the same period and got St. Louis on the scoreboard.

Goyette also assisted on McDonald's third-period goal, his 18th of the year and good for a tie with Bill Goldsworthy of the North Stars for the league goal-scoring lead.

Goyette's two assists pulled him to within three points of Boston's Bobby Orr in the individual scoring standings.

St. Louis remains unbeaten against West Division teams on home ice and now leads Minnesota by 11 points in the division standings.

Center Red Berenson of the Blues suffered an ankle injury in the second period and was taken to a hospital. A Blues' spokesman said X-rays failed to show any bone damage and further tests were scheduled today.

Berenson said he heard "something snap" while he was turning on a play.

Los Angeles will be at Toronto tonight in the only NHL action.

Tim Eccles converted a Phil Goyette pass in the same period and got St. Louis on the scoreboard.

Goyette also assisted on McDonald's third-period goal, his 18th of the year and good for a tie with Bill Goldsworthy of the North Stars for the league goal-scoring lead.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

A government agency has come up with "Seven Commandments of Safety for Hunters" — and they are so well stated that we wanted to pass them along... They should be read by anyone who has a gun... 1. Treat every gun as if it were loaded. 2. NEVER point a gun at anything you don't want to shoot. 3. Be sure the barrel is clear of obstructions. 4. Unload guns when not in use. 5. Never climb a tree or fence, or jump a ditch with a loaded gun. 6. Never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle. 7. Store guns and ammunition in two different places, and out of the reach of children.

Did you know that basketball star Lew Alcindor's real first name is not Lew, but Ferdinand? His real full name is Ferdinand Lewis Alcindor Jr.

Ever wonder why pro football uses the term "taxi squad" for those players cut from the active roster but kept around in reserve? ... Few know that the name was started by the Cleveland Browns years ago when they were owned by Mickey McBride who also owned taxi cabs. ... When Cleveland players were released, McBride gave them jobs driving taxis so they could earn money while waiting to make the team again... Now all teams use the term "taxi squad", and that's how it started.

I bet you didn't know... that we wish you a Merry Christmas and send along the hope that beyond the fun and food, the meaning of the day comes home.

Tight Money Binding Recreation Programs

The tight money situation is beginning to bind recreation and clean water programs around the state.

And the problem could get worse unless bond interest rate drop or the Legislature takes remedial action. The outlook for affirmative movement on either front isn't encouraging.

The Department of Natural Resources has $405 million in bonds for sale, but buyers have shown little interest because state law sets the maximum interest on such paper at six per cent.

TWO PROBLEMS

It has requested from local units of government for $14.3 million from the $100 million recreation bond program approved over a year ago by voters. In addition, the DNR has projects worth $8.9 million pegged to the bond issue ready to start.

The $335 million clean water program, also approved by voters along with the recreation issue, still has $305 in unspent bonds. The DNR managed to sell $30 million last October to finance initial state and local projects.

With potential buyers wanting more interest than the state can pay the Legislature unlikely to raise the ceiling, the new recreation and water pollution abatement projects could halt before they are launched.

The tight money situation also poses another problem.

More general fund monies probably will be needed to meet

DEBT SERVICE

Originally, it was estimated that the annual debt service for the entire $435 million would be about $25 million if the bonds were retired over a 30-year period.

It now appears that this yearly figure may balloon to $40-50 million because of high interest charges and the probability that the bonds will have to be paid off in a much shorter period, perhaps within 15 years or less.

DNR officials had previously hoped to completely fund the clean water and recreation programs with bond monies in the next five years, but this timetable may have to be lengthened because of the adverse developments outlined earlier.

It would take 60 to 90 days to complete the first recreation bond sale if the overriding problem of tight money shows enough improvement to remove the present stalemate.

Director Ralph A. MacMullan said that the outcome could be "nearly catastrophic" if his department doesn't receive funds to administer the workload of the bond program and carry out capital improvements in fisheries, wildlife, parks, and forest-recreation work.

New Board Term Given to Whiteley

Harry H. Whiteley of Rogers City has been reappointed to a four-year term on the Natural Resources Commission by Governor Milliken. The appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

Whiteley, editor and publisher of the Presque Isle County Advance, has been a member of the commission since 1961. He was elected chairman in 1964 and again in 1968. His new term will expire Dec. 31, 1973.

Whiteley's late uncle, also named Harry H. Whiteley, served on the commission from 1927 to 1949.

His 22 years of service combined with his nephew's eight years add up to the fact that there has been a Harry H. Whiteley on the commission during 30 of the 48 years it has existed.

Hunt Seasons Rated by DNR Good to Poor

The Department of Natural Resources round-up of major hunting seasons in 1969 rates deer, woodcock and waterfowl "good," pheasants "fair" and ruffed grouse "poor."

DNR officials called the rabbit season "so-so," but it doesn't end for another three months.

The preliminary total deer kill estimate for this year was 99,000 compared with 101,000 killed last year.

The woodcock kill this year was estimated at between 170,000 and 180,000.

The DNR reported that waterfowl had one of their best years because, "native ducks were quite plentiful and migratory waterfowl moved over Michigan throughout the season."

Goose hunting was especially good this year and a reason for this was a widespread and extended stopover of blue and snow geese.

The pheasant season was about the same as the previous two years, the DNR said, with estimated kills set at 400,000.

EMU Rated 12th

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eastern Michigan is rated 12th among the nation's top 20 small college basketball powers in this week's United Press International poll by a panel of 31 coaches.

The Hurons received 46 points for their 5-1 record. One of those votes was for first place. Kentucky Wesleyan is rated first with 16 first-place votes and 282 points.

One Burden Off Shooters' Shoulders

Congress has relieved the shooter of one burden.

He no longer will have to sign his name, address, etc., when purchasing shotgun and rifle ammunition. However, it will still be necessary to yield the proper information when buying pistol and .22 rimfire ammunition.

And what heads ammunition's best seller list? Those little 22 rimfires.

Conservationists, who hold that users of public resources should pay what the resources are worth, are concerned that the western grazing industry has succeeded in putting its brand on the White House.

They are worried about Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel's move to deter planned increase of grazing fees on lands administered by the Bureau of Land Management.

The new fee would have been the second increment of a 10-step hike. Hickel says he wants to see the report from the Public Land Law Review Commission before approving the second fee hike.

Hunters are raising a stink north and south about the recent deer season.

Eastern Upper Peninsula hunters want their area closed to antlerless deer hunting.

Around Detroit, conservation officers and State Health Department officials are suiting into complaints that deer were allowed to spoil at some packing plants.

It seems a couple of packers took on more deer than they could keep up with and stacked the remainder like cordwood.

One downriver outfit was shut down for three days by the Health Department when conditions in the plant allegedly became unsanitary.

Ex-Movie Glamor Girl Raps Screen Sex, Nudity

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A still-beautiful doll who was a glamor queen of the '40s and '50s—and did her share of cheesecake posing—thinks things have gone too far.

Virginia Mayo says nudity and sex are being presented on the screen today by "a lot of idiots who are not really grown up yet. They're fooling around like kids who write dirty words on a barn."

"She's no prude. In a lot of my films we'd have scenes where I was supposed to be taking a bath. But you didn't see me naked. I'd have things on."

Miss Mayo, born Virginia Jones in St. Louis and trained there in her aunt's dramatic school—had several years of touring in vaudeville and plays before producer Sam Goldwyn saw her in a Broadway show and brought her to Hollywood in 1943.

FILMS STAND UP

In 16 years for Goldwyn and later Warner Bros. she appeared in about 40 movies, but budget westerns, musicals and costume dramas that still stand up well, she is proud to say, of television.

"Only two or three were stinkers." Her latest movie as a free lance was a 1967 Western, "Fort Utah."

In recent years Miss Mayo has returned to her first love, the theater. "That Certain

"Those silly sex subjects are there in her aunt's dramatic

"Barefoot in the Park," etc. Mayo fans who saw her in an eight-week run of "Under the Yum Yum Tree" at the Thunderbird Hotel in Las Vegas, completed last week, noted that the blue-eyed blonde is as warts as she is ever.

"Oh, come on. There's been no choice. 'Gone With the Wind' has been packing them in too, right? I don't think anybody's bage, so why should I put it in my mind?"

"So few really family-type pictures have been made lately, and I think that's foolish. They chase around and get into bed. Can you imagine what Bette Davis would have done if of 'Oh! fer a part like that? We did Calcutta'?" "I don't eat gar-quality stuff."

A Solution to Keep It Dry

What's Cure for Juiced Hair?

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Jacques Siboni, who is identified in a press release as "a famous French hair authority," is alleged to have developed a successful new formula for "hair nutrition."

WEST

What he does is shampoo his clients with fruit and vegetable juices.

"As our body needs good nutrition for growing and good health, so has the hair the same needs for growing healthy," Siboni explained.

He determines what is wrong with the hair by examining a few strands under a microscope. Then he puts the indicated fruit or vegetable in a blender and mixes it with shampoo.

PEA SHAMPOO

For one type of hair trouble, he applied a green pea shampoo. For another, he uses green beans. Other scalp problems call for celery or cabbage.

Well, sir, I have been having a lot of trouble with my hair lately, so I decided to try Siboni's method of treatment.

The trouble began a few years ago when I noticed that my wife was using a beer rinse on her hair. She said the beer gave her hair more "body."

Feeling that my own hair needed more body, I started putting beer on it. The results were most unfortunate.

I apparently used too much beer in the rinse, and my hair passed out. The next morning it was hung over. It was then that I began to suspect the truth—my hair was alcoholic.

HAS TO SWITCH

These switches were soon confirmed. After a few rinses, it became obvious that beer was no longer strong enough to give my hair body. I had to start rinsing it with bourbon.

It would be difficult to describe what a burden it is to have your hair half-smashed, particularly if you have the kind of hair that becomes belligerent when under the influence.

"Lacking a microscope, I examined a few strands under a magnifying glass. It was clearly undernourished, which is often one of the results of alcoholism."

Farmers in West Canada Are Bootlegging Grain

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — Western Canadian wheat farmers, caught in a pinch between high expenses and a surplus in the granaries of the Canadian Wheat Board, have taken to bootlegging their grain across provincial borders.

The wheat board, when it buys, pays $1.80 a bushel. But some feed companies and cattle producers are willing to buy bootleg grain illegally for as little as 85 cents a bushel.

"Sure I'll sell my grain in Alberta," said one Saskatchewan farmer who declined to be identified. "I'll do anything to get money. If I can't sell my wheat, where's my money going to come from?"

'LOOKING FOR CASH'

"There's been a lot of pressure on farmers this year," J. O. Wright, Saskatchewan Wheat Pool secretary, acknowledged. "Farmers are looking for cash."

Wright said that even most feed merchants and cattle producers would like to see the wheat board's price prevail. The president of the Western Stock Growers Association, Dr. Gordon Burton of Claresholm, Alta., agreed. In the long run, he said, lower prices for feed are not going to help the cattle industry because "Everyone is going to try to get into cattle, and we can easily flood the market."

Stan Price, a wheat farmer from Acme, Alta., said he had been offered 85 cents a bushel for grain the wheat board would not buy. He said his average production cost is 80 to 85 cents a bushel.

"It's happening because some farmers need cash and they'll unload their grain at any price," said Paul Babey, president of the Alberta Farmers Union.

SELL BELOW COST

In addition to bootlegging grain in other provinces, some farmers who can't get their local grain elevators to handle their crop sell it at cost or below to farmers in other areas who pass the wheat along to their own local elevators, saying it is their crop.

"The farmer can't sell his wheat legally, but he can't live unless he sells it," Babey said. "So he sells it illegally."

"The only solution," said Wright, "is more wheat sales outside the country so the wheat board can buy the grain farmers can grow."

it's Christmas

Christmas is the Bright Star that welcomes the Prince of Peace. It is the shining eyes of a child, transported by the magic of the Christmas Story. Christmas is a warmly lighted home where kindly thoughts abide in friendly people. It is the look of wonder on a child's face when the glittering Christmas tree twinkles with colored lights. Christmas is a mighty city lighted up... a peaceful village glowing warm against a wintry sky. Christmas is a lighted candle in the window—a gracious welcome to all who pass... the weak, the friendless—the tried, the true. SEASON'S GREETINGS

TO OUR FRIENDS:
As the holiday season approaches our thoughts turn to the true meaning of this happy time.
During the course of the year and in the rush of events, we sometimes overlook the important friendships that are the real basis of all business relationships.
And so it is that we would like to set aside the routine of business and express our sincere hope that your holiday season will be joyous and happy and that the new year will bring good health and prosperity to you and yours.

Arabs in Disarray as Talks Collapse

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Another attempt at Arab unity failed Tuesday night as the fifth Arab summit conference collapsed.

"It seems to me the conference has produced nothing at all," Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser told the Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram. "I believe the conference has not shouldered its responsibilities."

Leaders of 14 Arab states and the Palestine guerrilla movement met for three days to plan a unified strategy against Israel, but broke up in disarray without making any decision. It was their biggest setback since Israel's victory in the 1967 war. The only accomplishment reported was agreement to contribute at least $10 million to the Palestine Liberation Organization, the guerrilla movement. But conference sources said Yasser Arafat, the guerrilla chief, was promised this in private meetings on the fringe of the conference, not as part of the conference itself.

NO COMMUNIQUE

The presidents and kings ended the meeting without issuing a communique, the first time this has happened at an Arab summit.

King Hassan II of Morocco, the conference host, told a news conference that disagreement over whether to pursue a political settlement with Israel was "one of the reasons why we did not want to issue a communique." Other sources said the communiqué was issued because the leaders could not agree on any concrete action.

Nasser demanded men, weapons and more money from other Arab countries to help Egypt in its fight against Israel. He got nowhere. Saudi Arabia and Kuwait refused to increase their support they now give from their oil revenues. Algeria said it needed all its oil money for its own development, and Saudi Arabia's King Faisal threatened at one point to demand an accounting for the millions he has been paying Egypt since the 1967 war.

Libya and Iraq, the other Arab oil nations, also showed no signs of loosening their purse strings for any other governments.

WITH MODERATES

One significant development was that Algerian President Houari Boumedienne lined up with the moderates instead of the "revolutionary camp" in which he was once one of the loudest talkers. He offered to deliver most of his Soviet weapons to the war front but advocated that the Palestine guerrillas carry most of the burden of the war against Israel.

Nasser had warned that a political settlement was no longer possible and that the only solution was to plan for a new war. Libya and Sudan called for immediate preparations for full-scale war against Israel, but Boumedienne ridiculed them with disparaging references to Libya's small army and the large numbers of officers jailed since the military coup Sept. 1.

Syria, Iraq and South Yemen stayed away from the final conference session, because of "doctrinal differences" with some of the other Arab governments, King Hassan said. The president of Yemen stayed away from three sessions following a heated exchange with King Faisal.

PRESENT FOR PASTOR — The congregation of the Flowing Wells Assembly of God Church in Tucson, Ariz., laughs with delight as his Christmas gift to Rev. Virgil L. Jones rolls up the aisle to the pulpit. A red ribbon with bow tied at the top of the car.

Care Facilities Lacking

More Teens on Dope

(EDITOR'S NOTE — New Yorkers were shocked to learn last week of the death of a 12-year-old boy from an overdose of heroin. But it was not an isolated case. Dope addiction among teen-agers is spreading — in the slums and affluent suburbs — at a frightening rate. Here is a report on the situation in the New York City area.)

By TERRI SHAW

NEW YORK (AP) — At the age of 14, Sammy was an expert burglar. He had to be to maintain his $30-a-day heroin habit. Dora, the 15-year-old daughter of a police detective, used to ask her uncle for money to buy clothes, then spend it on heroin.

Sammy and Dora—those are not their real names—are now under treatment for their addiction at the Adolescent Treatment Unit (ATU) in the Bronx. Thousands of other teen-agers addicts are not so lucky.

In city ghettos here and affluent suburbs in the area, from all strata of society, heroin addiction is spreading rapidly among youngsters from 9 to 19, according to people who work with addicts and the youthful drug users themselves.

SPOTLIGHT ON PROBLEM

The problem was spotlighted last week when Walter Vandermere, a 12-year-old elementary school drop out, was found dead of an overdose of heroin in a Harlem tenement bathroom.

Although Walter was the youngest person known to have died from heroin in the city, his case was not an isolated one. Dr. Michael Baden, associate city medical examiner, said at least 214 heroin users under 20 years of age have died here thus far this year.

And, he estimated, there are at least 20,000 teen-agers opiate addicts in New York City. Even more frightening, he said, is the evidence that children are beginning to use heroin at a younger age than ever before. Two brothers—aged 9 and 10—were referred to a drug aid program in Newark, N.J. Baden added that heroin use is now the leading cause of death in the 15 to 35-year-old age group in New York City. Sammy, a slender light-haired boy, said he began using heroin when he ran away from his home to live with his mother in East Harlem.

"When I went into the world myself looking for my mother, I blew my whole life," he said. "My mother was a junkie for 12 years," Sammy added.

He said he lived on welfare and the proceeds of occasional prostitution.

He said older boys on the street first "turned me on" to heroin. Like most young addicts, he began "snorting," or sniffing a few grains of the white powder into his nose.

But with prolonged use, Sammy began to need larger and larger quantities of heroin to get "high."

To finance his habit—which grew to $30 a day—Sammy became adept at all types of "hustling," he said.

"I robbed stores, houses, and snatched pocketbooks," he said. "Anything that had a dollar in it, I took it."

Sometimes he bought "half a load" or 15 "bags" of heroin to sell in school, he said, but found that he needed so much of it for his own use that it was difficult to make a profit.

Police Group in Detroit Is Joining DST Drive

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Police Officers Association (DPOA) will assist the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce in a petition drive for a statewide referendum in behalf of daylight saving time.

The chamber of commerce Wednesday will deliver 1,000 petitions to the DPOA headquarters for circulation.

About 80,000 signatures have been returned in the state, estimates the chamber. Required are 196,953 signatures through-

Rochester Hills Charter Ready

May 4 Vote in Avon Requested by Panel

The nine-member charter commission for the proposed city of Rochester Hills will soon meet with Gov. William Milliken to deliver its completed charter.

The Avon Township commission has formally requested May 4, 1970, for a charter election.

The charter, which is substantially the same as a previously rejected charter, must first be approved by the governor, who will refer it to Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

With the governor's approval, notice of election and publication of the charter will precede. Should the township, which has a population of 23,000 within 34.4 square miles, eventually become a city, it would be the second largest city in area in Oakland County.

Kansas Blaze in Home Kills 7 in Family

PARSONS, Kan. (AP)—Seven members of a Parsons family died early today when a fire, which apparently started in the kitchen set smoke and fumes throughout their two-story house.

Fire swept through most of the downstairs area except for the living room, left untouched with its Christmas tree, decorations and presents. At a hospital where the bodies were taken, spokesmen said the deaths apparently were caused by suffocation, although a coroner's report was still pending.

The names of the victims were being withheld as authorities traced next of kin. Firemen who found the bodies said three children in one room were on the floor. The other victims were in their beds.

News in Brief

A tape recorder valued at $135, a four-piece stainless steel table setting and $13 in change were stolen in a break-in at the apartment of Ray Alberts Sr., 264 N. Saginaw, he reported to Pontiac police yesterday.

Naomi Gage, 57, of 584 Howland last night reported to Pontiac police that a $300 portable color TV was stolen in a break-in of her home.

BEST CHRISTMAS — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Markley of Big Rapids and their new adopted daughter Vickie leave the Catholic Social Services office in Ann Arbor as a family about to celebrate its first—best—Christmas together. The Catholic Social Services office has placed 22 children in 21 families already this month.

People in the News

By the Associated Press
Mrs. Richard M. Nixon was hostess to 400 children of diplomatic families' last night at the last of this year's White House Christmas parties.

The children, aged 4 to 11 and many in colorful national costumes, sang Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite" performed by 40 students of the Washington School of Ballet to music by the Marine Band.

Hughes Ordered to Pay $137 Million to TWA

A federal judge in New York has ordered multimillionaire Howard Hughes to pay $137,611,435 in damages to Trans World Airlines, which he once controlled.

U.S. District Judge Charles M. Metzner upheld the damages award made Sept. 21, 1968, by former Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, who acted as special master in the case. Metzner's ruling is subject to appeal.

TWA management sued Hughes in 1961, contending he mismanaged the airline when he had a controlling interest. Hughes and his Hughes Tool Co. failed to show up for a pretrial deposition, and Brownell was named to decide the amount of damages.

HUGHES — The TWA management claimed that Hughes failed to purchase sufficient jetliners to help the airline make the transition from piston aircraft. Judge Metzner said the judgment, in effect, confirmed the charges. The award was based on triple damages under the antitrust laws.

Hughes sold his TWA stock in 1966 for $566 million.

Agnew to Make Stopover in Vietnam

Informed sources say Vice President Spiro T. Agnew will make a one-day stopover in South Vietnam on his forthcoming Asian tour and may spend New Year's Eve in the war zone.

The sources said they expected Agnew to arrive from Manila next Wednesday and leave for Formosa the following day.

Sen. Long Marries Sen. Ervin's Secretary

Sen. Russell B. Long, 51, D-La., has married Miss Caroline Bason, a secretary in the office of Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C.

The ceremony was performed at Immanuel Presbyterian Church in McLean, Va., yesterday. Long's first wife divorced him on incompatibility grounds in Reno, Nev., last June 2. Friends said Miss Bason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam LONG, M. Bason of Yanceyville, N.Y., came to Washington about 20 years ago.

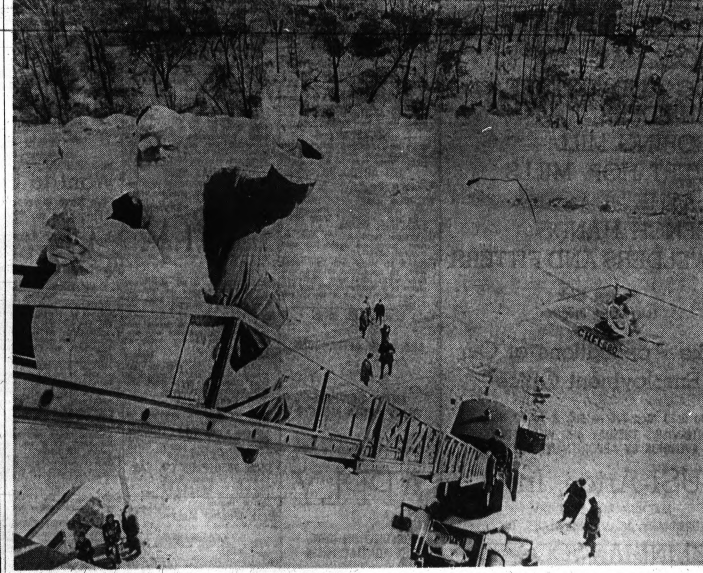

Struck by Car, Boy, 'Critical'

An Independence Township boy is in critical condition after being struck by a car yesterday while riding his bike on Maybee near Frankville.

A spokesman at Pontiac General Hospital said that Jeffrey D. Salenski, 9, of 5303 Winell suffered a fractured skull in the 4:10 p.m. accident. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Salenski.

The driver of the car, Helen R. Harrington, 47, of Flint, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies that she was unable to stop when the youngster crossed in front of her.

Witnesses told authorities the boy was hurled 12 to 15 feet through the air on impact.

Vince Lombardi's His Lament

By KEN HARNETT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The salesman with the whiskey-weary eyes picked with a pink finger at the olive at the bottom of his glass. Now the pain that was gnawing at his heart came pouring out.

"Vince Lombardi," he said, "is ruining my life."

The salesman hunched his frame forward in his bar stool and ordered his third Martini—a double.

"Do you know there's a recession in this country? Well, I do. You should go around with me and see for yourself. Nobody's buying, I'm telling you. Nobody."

WORST YEAR

"You know I've been in this business for 15 years and this is the worst year since I started. The worst."

"Well, what does that have to do with Vince Lombardi?"

"Nothing—nothing at all, except he may cost me my job." Tears were beginning to form in the salesman's eyes. "If only he'd have a losing season everything would be all right. I tell you I pray he has a losing season. I get down on my knees and pray."

FOOTBALL NUT

"And I'm not even a football fan. I don't know a Washington Redskin from a bluebird. But my boss, he's a football nut. To him, Lombardi is the most important man in America, bigger than even Agnew."

"In fact, he's got a picture of Lombardi he keeps on the wall. I swear it's bigger than life. It takes up almost the whole wall. And alongside the picture in big gold letters he's got written Second Effort, you know, Lombardi's motto."

"So for the last three months, my sales have been going down. Some days I can't give the stuff away. So what happens. My boss calls a meeting and he says starting next month, we're going to raise our prices 25 percent."

"I told him he couldn't be serious. But he couldn't be more serious, if he were Lombardi himself. He says everybody has to come in 45 minutes early the next day to see the movie about how Coach Lombardi shows this losing salesman how he can be a winner with second effort."

ONCE A MONTH

"Well, I wouldn't mind except I've already sat through that movie 12 times—once a month for the last year—and I know it by heart. And sure, it's inspirational but I tell you I sure would like to see Lombardi try to sell my customers. I'll give him 15 efforts."

"You don't think I know the stuff he's talking about. How the heck do you think I bought a $35,000 house. I got two cars. My wife wears a mink all winter except when she's in Nassau. You think I don't know how to motivate myself?"

He took one last swig from his glass, then lurched toward the door. He turned round before disappearing into the night and said:

"One losing season—just one. And maybe there won't be any more Lombardi movies."

Police Chase Ends With Auto in Lake

GROSSE POINTE PARK (AP) — A police chase through this Detroit suburb ended Monday night when a 24-year-old man lost control of his car and drove into Lake St. Clair.

The man, Sam Marble, was shaken but not seriously hurt and he waded out to waiting police officers, who took him to Bon Secours Hospital as a prisoner.

Police said they were holding him for investigation.

Wars SAME OVER PAGES Yule Celebration

By the Associated Press

Millions of persons around the world made last-minute preparations today to celebrate Christmas.

Although the message of the birth of Jesus Christ is "Peace on Earth," the wars the world had with it last year remained in Vietnam and Nigeria. The Mideast situation remained unsettled.

Three loud explosions rattled windows today in Bethlehem, the birthplace of Christ. One Israeli official said they could have been caused by supersonic aircraft.

It is the hilltop city's third Christmas under Israeli rule, and in the shade of the Church, of the nativity scores of Israeli security agents mingled with the Christmas pilgrims. One estimate said more than 1,000 troops and police were on duty in the town.

FIGHTING AT LOW LEVEL

In Vietnam, the allied commands and the Viet Cong observed cease-fires. Fighting had been at a low level for several weeks, and after the truce began it dropped off even more.

Radio Hanoi began broadcasting recorded messages from American prisoners of war to their families, as it has done in past years.

Fire in Trailer Claims Elderly Pontiac Woman

An elderly Pontiac woman died early today despite an effort by a neighbor who pulled her from her burning trailer on the city's west side.

Dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital from asphyxiation was Mrs. Edwin Matthews, 75, of 451 S. Telegraph.

Pontiac firemen are still investigating the 1:30 a.m. blaze that caused an estimated $4,000 damage to the trailer and contents.

The neighbor, Richard S. West, 46, of 6 Canal, said that he had to break into the trailer to get to Mrs. Matthews.

ON THE FLOOR

"She was on the living floor near the door," said West. "The fire was near her, and I was just able to get in far enough to get her out."

West said that he discovered the fire after he arrived home and smelled wood burning. "I started checking around and found it was coming from her trailer."

A die maker at Pontiac Motor Division, West said that Mrs. Matthews was retired and living alone in the 25-foot aluminum trailer. He lives five trailers away.

N.J. Prober Asks Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. Atty. Frederick B. Lacey has asked Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell for more lawyers and investigators to probe organized crime in New Jersey.

"The attorney general assured me that I am going to have that manpower we need in New Jersey to do the job we have to do — deal a death blow to organized crime in New Jersey," Lacey said yesterday after meeting with Mitchell.

Christmas in the United States is quieter this year than last. In 1968, the Apollo 8 astronauts were circling the moon, and the crew of the spy ship Pueblo was coming home after 11 months of captivity.

As usual, shoppers jammed the stores to make those down-to-the-wire purchases from stocks that have dwindled steadily since Thanksgiving. Department store officials said revenue was higher than last year, but many attributed the increase to higher prices brought on by inflation rather than additional volume.

Hundreds of thousands flocked to airports, railroad stations and bus terminals, heading home to see relatives and families or taking vacations.

She'll Spend 2nd Yule in Coma

ALTIZER, W. Va. (AP) — The dolls little Deloris Simmons received as gifts last Christmas still hang unused in boxes above her bed.

And unless the pretty, brown-haired 10-year-old takes a sudden and dramatic turn for the better, she is about to spend a second Christmas unaware of her gifts or surroundings.

"If she could only speak to us," her mother, Mrs. Dennis Simmons, says sadly, "it would be our happiest Christmas."

New Mascot Goes to State Hospital

Perky is gone, but another parakeet mascot has taken his place at Pontiac State Hospital.

Perky died Dec. 18 when veterinarians were unable to keep him alive during surgery to remove a tumor in his stomach.

Last Saturday, a reader of The Press delivered a baby parakeet to Mrs. John Bailey's office in the community relations department at PSH.

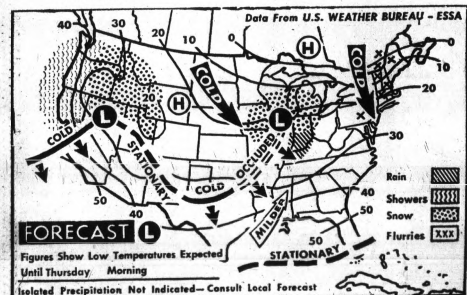

The reader and his wife declined to leave their names. They may be assured, Mrs. Bailey says, that their gift will be greatly appreciated by the office workers, professional staff and patients.

STANDING TALL — Barbie Hanavan, 7, will celebrate the most joyous Christmas of her young life. A victim of a thalidomide birth, Barbie recently returned to her home following eight months in a California hospital where she underwent seven operations to straighten her spine. Hospital officials are extremely gratified by her progress. Townspeople of Aurora, Colo., the Wayne Hanavan family's hometown assisted in meeting medical expenses.

Deloris, an honor student at nearby Arnoldsburg Grade School, was stricken by a form of encephalitis called sleeping sickness on Sept. 26, 1968.

The girl has shown improvement recently. Her mother says:

"She can hold her head up now and look around and she can follow slow-moving objects with her eyes."

"She makes some noise and she's moving her right side a lot better."

"But she cannot speak and we can't tell for sure if she recognized the Christmas tree."

Beneath the tree are ribbon bedecked packages which "have come from people we don't know," Mrs. Simmons says. "Last year's dolls still hang above her bed. I've had the three boxes down where she can see inside them, but I haven't taken them out of the boxes yet."

The Calhoun County Junior Chamber of Commerce has raised more than $6,000 to pay the youngster's hospital bills.

Dr. Alexander Fakadej says little Deloris seems to be getting better, "but I don't make the assumption she'll wake up."

Despite the doctor's pessimism, her parents "keep our vigil at her bedside around the clock and we firmly believe that she will talk and be normal," her mother says.

School Head Board Chief

BIRMINGHAM—Richard A. Schlegel, headmaster of Detroit Country Day School, has been elected president of the board of trustees of that institution.

The move followed

F. Alden Shaw's request to be relieved of his duties as board chairman. Shaw, who was tutor and founder of the school, was named honorary chairman.

Schlegel joined Country Day as assistant headmaster in June 1965 after 12 years in administrative and teaching posts in Eastern preparatory schools and universities. Prior to entering the field of education, Schlegel was assistant to the president of CBS-TV in New York and served in Europe with the political intelligence branch of the U.S. Department of State.

Rodney Craighead of 348 Hawthorne and B. James Theodoroff, 240 Warrington, Bloomfield Hills, have been made executive vice presidents of Detroit Bank and Trust Co. Albert W. Holcomb, 4047 W. Orchard Hill, Bloomfield Township, and Burt R.

Shurly Jr., 316 Lone Pine Court, Bloomfield Hills, have both been advanced to senior vice president.

Craighead, who was formerly officer in charge of the commercial loan department, has been designated head of the bank's commercial loan and international banking, mortgage and time credit departments.

Theodoroff continues as chief trust officer and director of the bank's total trust operations.

Holcomb succeeds Craighead as officer-in-charge of the commercial loan department. He had been a member of the national division staff of this same department.

Shurly continues as head of the national division. He will assume additional responsibility for the marketing operations for commercial loan and account relationships.

Joseph Mack, 1375 Averdovey, has been appointed vice president-marketing of the automotive operations of Lear Siegler Inc.

Mack was vice president of the automotive division sales of Kelsey Hayes Co. for seven years prior to joining the LSI organization.

In his new post, he will be responsible for the marketing activities.

Dear Santa Claus: Here's Our Christmas Gift List

DEC. 24, 1969

DEAR SANTA,

Another year and another decade will soon be part of the past. We would like the new decade to bring a new era of athletics for our many friends in the sports world.

The three big games in pro sports of our area for the big portion of nearly two decades have been GORDIE HOWE in hockey, JOE SCHMIDT in football and AL KALINE in baseball. You might add DAVE DEBUSSCHERE to that list for basketball.

But, it's not memories we want for our friends in sports but a few titles, championships and awards to start and finish the new decade.

A big bouquet of roses for BO SCHEMBECHLER and the Wolverines would be appropriate to start the New Year and a similar floral arrangement for Duffy Daugherty and the Spartans at the close of 1970 would give us a rosey sweep for the year.

While you're at it bring Buckeye WOODY a windbreaker to keep the chill off him when those Wolverine or Spartan backs go whizzing by.

For Josef Von SCHMIDT, who brought the Lions back to respectability with a 9-4-1 record, how about a 11-3 mark next Fall.

BETTER IDEA.

In fact a "better idea" might be to put the stadium at I-75 and M-50 with a letter of commitment from Ford. While you're at it be sure MAURICE SCHUBOT has 65,000 no-post season tickets to sell and has order blanks for an NFL playoff and NFL championship game.

For the fine public relations men in our state, LYALL SMITH of the Lions, HAL MIDDLESWORTH of the Tigers, RON CANTERA of the Red Wings and GEORGE MASKIN of the Pistons, we want special greetings in 110 point type.

MAKE OVER PAGES

Ditto for FRED STABLEY at Michigan, WILL PERRY at Michigan, WALT DOUGHERTY at U. of D., BILL KRIEFFELDT at Wayne State and a special commendation for JERE CRAIG at Central Michigan who performed so capably while with us here at The Press.

Perry of course would like a banner head on Michigan's victory New Year's Day.

MORE BEST WISHES

Arrange a lot of sunshine for our friend Charlie Van Winkle IRISH out there in Arizona, and a special toast to Captain MICKI KING for her courage in coming back to win the AAU diving championships after breaking her arm in the 1968 Olympics. Micki would enjoy that toast along with the rest of the "Go Blue" alumni out on the coast.

PERC SECORD and the Pontiac Table Tennis association would like their standings in the paper every week and so would the local recreation basketball leagues.

Another state swimming championship is the wish for JOHN WIECK at Groves High, but MIKE HEICK at Seaholm has the same hope. Let's have a co-championship.

How about leaving some astro-turf or tartan-turf at Wisner Stadium, put a 7,000 seat arena inside Wide Track drive and some number programs at Wisner when Central plays there.

Drop off a peace-pipe for PAUL DELLERBA at PCH, some throat medicine to take care of DICK HALL'S hoarseness after every PNH basketball game, and a itinerary for the trip to Lansing for PCH cage coach RALPH GRUBB.

A second state wrestling title would be appropriate for coach Bill Wilson and the Huskies, and what do you think coach JIM CONLEN at Pontiac Catholic would like? Maybe a win over Northern Saturday, and his parochial league championship.

TRIPS TO STATE

How would this look for the state basketball finals—Pontiac Central in class A, Orchard Lake St. Mary in class B, and Pontiac Catholic in class C?

FATHER ROCKY at OLSM would like another freshman like MIKE PACIOREK for next season and there would be no stopping the Eagles.

Maybe you can drum up a bono player who can win 30 games as a hobby for MAYO SMITH of the Tigers to go with the organist and guitarist on his pitching staff, and for general manager Jimmy Campbell we would like a red hot deal.

Al Kaline deserves to be the first $100,000 Tiger; Mickey Stanley deserves a regular spot in the lineup and Jim Northrup wants a tub of chewing tobacco and a 300 season.

Mike Luceri of the Lions wants a pro-bowl spot he certainly earned this season, bring Alex Karras a couple more good seasons despite his talk of retirement and have the Lions' hospital squad of BOB KOWALKOWSKI, MEL FARR, GREG LANDRY and NICK EDDY in tip top shape for 1970.

Rockey Freitas wants to be the best football pro ever out of Ka-me-ha-me-ha High in Hawaii and EARL MANN needs to have his toe gold plated.

What more could you bring GORDIE HOWE, but another couple years for hockey's great Methuselah; and for ALEX DELVECCHIO of course everyone knows what he wants—a few goals.

For hockey's biggest fan, Tiny Tim, leave a cupie doll of Gordie Howe and a ukelele without strings.

For the area's top bowling scorer of many years, the 812 of BUD MULHOLLAND, add a 300 game; and for our Pontiac Open Champions MIKE BAYLISS and BILL KIRBY, good spending.

A special token of appreciation to SHIRLEY POINTER and JIM RUTKOWSKI are in order for their outstanding work during the tournament at Firebird and Airway.

Larry Crane needs an audience to tell the story of his hernia operation when he gets back to work at 300 Bowl.

The city recreation department could use some recreation activities to catch up with Waterford's program and if you can, Santa, drop off a decent surfaced tennis court somewhere in the city.

The Pontiac Firebirds need to become brides in 1970 instead of being bridesmaids as they have been three times in the Midwest Football League, and JOHN ABEL, the MFL commissioner needs a PR man to help the league.

BOB MEYER, with a recent 300 game, and Nick Costes who had a 750 actual in the Pontiac Open qualifying and a 288 high game recently, should have special recognition for that red hot timber they've been knocking down in past weeks.

FRIENDS IN GOLF

We ask another great golf year for PETE GREEN and lots of low scores for our many friends on the links, MIKE SOUCHAR, TED KROLL, GENE BONE and for the outstanding pro shop veterans, TOMMY SHANNON, RAY MAGUIRE, WARREN ORLICK, BOB GAJDA, ELMER PRIESKORN, PAUL VAN LOOZEN, MAC MCELIMURRY and the many others.

To the Skippers, Captains, Corsairs, Raiders, Huskies, Chiefs, Titans, Maples, Knights, Dragons, Falcons, Wildcats, Broncos, Vikings, Warriors, Barons, Redskins, Mustangs, Spartans, Eagles, Lakers, Eaglets, Panthers, and all the teams who roam our fields and courts of athletics we wish a very merry Christmas and a highly successful New Year.

We want to make a special note of thanks to HOLLIE LEPPLEY and PIN RYAN at the local colleges and university for their fine cooperation and wish them great success in their programs.

To golfers, bowlers, skiers, swimmers, wrestlers, gridders, cagers, tennis players, auto racers, trackmen, baseball players, ice boaters, water skiers, table tennis players, snowmobilers, archers, hunters, fishermen, handball players, paddle ball players, rowers, boxers, booters, poloists, roller skaters, ice skaters, squash players and even Jai Alai, Lacrosse, cricket and curling enthusiasts, we want a most happy holiday and many victories in 1970.

God's Blessing to all our sports fans and readers.

PCH Uses Balance in Win; Northern's Clancy Hits 30

Inconsistency must have taken a Christmas vacation from Pontiac Central High School. And the Chiefs hope it stays that way.

Pontiac Central, plagued by hot-and-cold basketball much of this season, hit a solid 50 per cent of its field-goal tries and completely dominated Pontiac Northern Tuesday night, 84-70.

The easy victory sent the Chiefs to 5-0 on the year while dropping their arch-rival Huskies low to 3-2. It was Central's 23rd win in the 27-game series.

The outcome of the game was in doubt only briefly at the opening of the second half when the Huskies, using a full-court press and running offensive patterns well, pulled to within seven points and seemed to have the momentum they needed.

But the Chiefs out-scored their smaller but game force 10-2 over the last two and one-half minutes of the third period and coasted home with the victory to the delight of a packed house of partisan Chief rooters.

Campy Russell, who has hit or exceeded the 30-point mark twice this season, spent most of the first half passing the ball to his teammates and concentrating on the boards. He hit just four points in the first half and finished the night with 21.

LONG SHOTS

His teammate, Terry Ratliff, led the Chiefs' balanced scoring attack with 26 points, all from the floor and most of them long set shots. Ratliff was deadly from outside, hitting 75 percent of his field-goal tries.

Monte Herring added 21 points to the winning Central cause, while Bill Glover chipped in with 10.

But the scene-stealer was Dave Clancy, a 6-2 senior forward. His driving lay-ups and strong (six-for-seven) free-throw shooting kept Northern within striking distance several times. He finished the game with 30 points to lead all scorers.

Clancy got double-figures help from Charles Moncrief, who scored 14 points, and Mike Chapman, who wound up with 10.

Coach Dick Hall of the Huskies spent much of the first half urging his players to "Run some kind of pattern." Northern, which fell behind by 10 points early, shot from outside the tight Central defense most of the half and was hitting just 24 per cent.

The Chiefs were so thoroughly dominating the boards in the game's early stages that the Huskies got off more than one shot on a play just once in the first two periods.

DOUBLE COVERAGE

With Russell facing shots and passing the ball off to Herring and Ratliff, the Huskies were at a loss in trying to decide who to cover. When they double-teamed one man, one of the other two would take the shot.

Central rolled up an 18-10 first-period lead and built that to 15 points late in the first half before Chapman's shot at the buzzer pulled the Huskies to within 43-32.

Northern then reeled off a series of driving shots and took advantage of the turnovers its press was forcing to move to within seven points five times in the third period.

But two missed shots by PCH were put back in by Herring and Russell and Herring added another bucket on a turnover by the Huskies to give the host Chiefs a solid 65-50 lead after three periods.

Central hit on 38 of its 76 field-goal attempts while Northern hit a 35.4 per cent (28 of 79). At the foul line, the Huskies hit 70 per cent (14 of 20) while the Chiefs were given just 7 chances and cashed in on eight of them.

Central gave Northern the ball 18 times on turnovers while the Huskies lost possession through errors 15 times.

Russell, the home-court favorite of the Chiefs' fans, drew loud cheers from the crowd with his snappy ball-handling, particularly during the first half when he was not shooting often.

Ten of Russell's points came on rebounds or tip-ins of missed shots by his teammates.

Rams, Vikings Quip in Cold

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings and Los Angeles Rams wasted little time in touching off a psychological battle for Saturday's Western Conference playoff in the National Football League.

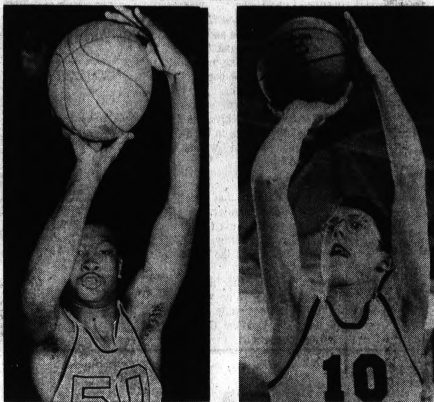

George Allen, Rams coach, stepped off a chartered jet Tuesday night after the Los Angeles arrival and said:

"A little snow never hurt anybody. And it feels a lot warmer than 11 degrees."

The Rams are in the Twin Cities early to attempt to get used to the weather, which is expected to be in the 20-degree range with a slight chance of snow by game time. It was 70 degrees when they left the West Coast.

Minnesota Coach Bud Grant, meanwhile, said Minnesota's preparation "has been animal."

Maples Rip Fordson

Birmingham Seaholm came out on top of a battle of the unbatees Tuesday night, dropping Dearborn Fordson, 67-55.

Seaholm coasted to a 35-30 halftime lead and the closest Fordson could come after that was an eight-point gap early in the final period.

Jim Hagen paced the Maples with 23 points and a solid rebounding game while fellow senior Dan Sovran chipped in with 18 points. Sophomore John Denning turned in his third strong performance of the young season with a 16-point night.

Steve Burke and Wafii Zion paced the losing Fordson attack with 17 and 15 points, respectively, while John Giammarco canned 11.

Seaholm used snappy passing to break

Ortonville Reaches Tourney Semifinals

Ortonville-Brandon advanced into the semifinals of the Lakeville High School Holiday Tournament Tuesday night with a 80-57 win over Maple Grove St. Michael.

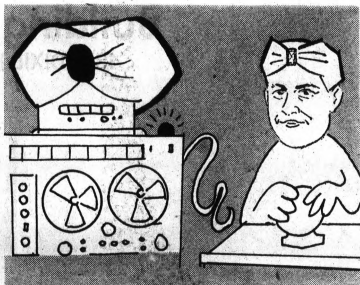

The host Lakeville squad will furnish Brandon's competition in the 7:30 p.m. game Friday. Lakeville sent Oxford into the consolation bracket Tuesday, 46-43.

In other first-round action, Elkton-Pigeon-Bayport surprised Midland Dow, 50-45, and Saginaw Carrollton stopped Montrose, 76-63.

Oxford will play St. Michael Friday at 6 p.m.

Wilson, Saban Picked

HOUSTON (UPI) — George Wilson of the Miami Dolphins and Lou Saban of the Denver Broncos were named Tuesday to coach the East and West teams in the American Football League's All-Star Game in the Astrodome on Jan. 17.

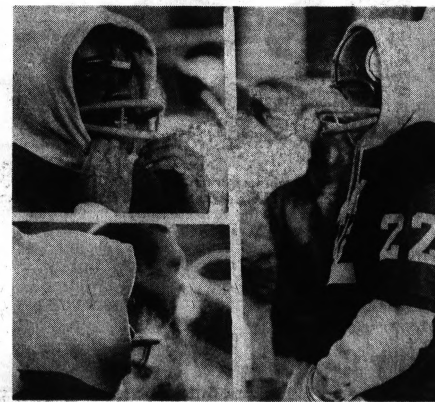

Swami Challenged

Swami Vogel, the 1969 Swami Association champion and chairman of the Grapevine Pickers, has been challenged by Swami Computer in selecting the holiday bowl games.

Swami Computer finished with a season record for college prognostications with a record of 346-118-7, while Swami Vogel had an overall record on the Grapevine of 364-120-19.
