Eden Arrives for High-Level Talks With Ike

Prime Minister Acclaims President for Rejecting Russian Peace Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—British Prime Minister Eden came to Washington today for strategy talks with President Eisenhower on combatting communism in Asia and the Middle East. They also will seek a formula for peace in Palestine in three days of conferences.

Eden landed at National Airport at 11:15 a.m. aboard the presidential plane Columbine III in London-like weather.

The President's plane picked him up in New York where the Prime Minister arrived this morning aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth.

Secretary of State Dulles headed a delegation on hand at the airport to greet Eden.

There was a U.S. Army honor guard, carrying the American and British flags side by side, and riflemen stood at attention in a giant rectangle about the plane.

There had been a steady rain all morning.

There was no band and there were no guns on hand to do formal honors. A British Embassy spokesman said when Eden was last here, as foreign minister, in 1954 there were no salutes fired and no band for Prime Minister Churchill with whom he came at that time.

The spokesman said that Eden had sent word he would like the same arrival arrangements as those made for Churchill.

At a news conference, before debarking from the Queen Elizabeth, Eden termed "admirable" the President's reply to Soviet Premier Bulganin's proposal for a 20-year peace pact.

Bulganin's move was regarded here as a propaganda effort and an attempt to steal a march on the Eden-Eisenhower conferences even before they began.

Eisenhower rejected the proposal in a conciliatory letter and on Saturday made both communications public.

Ghoul May Have Robbed Bodies in Jersey Killings

PARSIPPANY-TROY HILLS, N.J. (INS) — Authorities investigated today the possibility of a thief robbed the dead after William Bauer killed six members of his family, and then himself, in a New Jersey shotgun rampage.

The bodies were discovered Saturday. The coroner fixed the time of the shooting between 4 and 5 p.m. Friday.

It was found on the front seat of the Bauer car in the purse of Bauer's wife, Florence Alice, 36.

Police said the money apparently was an advance payment for two weeks care of Bauer's mother, Mrs. Emma Bauer, 84, at the Beverwick Nursing Home at Parsippany.

Bauer, 48, a New York state inspector of road material, reportedly planned to place his mother in the home while he and his wife and their children, Elizabeth Jean, 5, and Peter David, 20 months, went on an auto vacation to Florida.

Another theory advanced was that Bauer—his mind cracking under a strain—had schemed the killing for weeks and withdrew only the $150 for his mother's nursing home care to allay his wife's suspicions.

Teetotaler and a church trustee, Bauer reportedly suffered a nervous breakdown while attending Cornell University.

Exit Door Fails; 200 More Hurt as Melee Ensues

Baltimore Church Diners Battle Friends to Escape Burning Building

BALTIMORE (AP) — At least 10 women perished in a mad dash for the exits and nine other persons were reported missing last night after fire touched off panic in a hall jammed with a church crowd of about 1,000.

More than 200 were injured in the frantic clawing, shoving and trampling which erupted as the swiftly spreading flames consumed Arundel Park Auditorium on the south edge of Baltimore.

Red Cross officials reported 18 were admitted to nine hospitals and 111 were released after treatment. Firemen said about 100 others were treated at the scene.

Survivors said one minute they were sipping beer, munching food and listening to an orchestra play "Tea for Two" at the St. Rose of Lima Catholic Church oyster roast.

DOOR NEVER OPENED

As the fire swooshed along the wooden rafters and roof of the one - story cinder-block building, hundreds broke for two large doors in the front and rear.

Finding this escape barred, scores made for nearby windows.

Al Barthelme, former professional basketball coach of the old Baltimore Bullets and one of the survivors, described the scene at one window as "real panic."

PRETTY BRUTAL

"With everybody trying to get out of that window, it was pretty brutal," he said.

"Some were being pulled back by others as they started through. Some were even throwing out of the windows friends they didn't think could make it any other way."

Traffic Snarled, Roads Blocked in Record Drop

Forecast Mercury Dip to 12 Degrees Tonight on Heels of Storm

Southern Michigan dug itself out of the worst snow of the winter this morning, with main roads blocked by slush up to six inches deep and periodic minor accidents adding to the confusion.

Major Oakland County trouble occurred on Telegraph Road north of Maple, where jackknifed semi-trailers repeatedly blocked the northbound lanes from shoulder to center island, and on the Dixie Highway's Waterford Hill.

By 10:15, State police reported all roads passable. City officials, who had salt crews on the streets soon after the snowfall started at 3:30 a.m., reported main streets cleared at 10 a.m. and said their crews were moving into residential areas.

The snow was credited to a "vigorous" low pressure area centered over southeastern Ohio. The Washington Weather Bureau today issued a storm warning to interior New York and New England, saying the eastward-moving storm would bring three to six inches of snow, with possible sleet, freezing rain and thundersterms.

Very cold air is predicted to follow the storm late today, with local temperatures dropping to 12 degrees tonight and rising to a possible 24 tomorrow. Continued snow flurries also are expected.

FENDERS SUFFER

Fenders were the major casualties in scores of local accidents, with signposts and trees also suffering damage.

But weather conditions were blamed today for at least 14 of 17 weekend traffic deaths in Michigan, and two women died in falls on ice in Grand Rapids.

The freezing rain Saturday which melted rapidly off local roads still remains in some areas

Lease Building Site in Center

Supervisors OK Deed of Portion to Oakland Society for Crippled

Tentative plans for new headquarters for the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children moved a step forward today with the approval of a 30-year lease on property in the new County Service Center on Telegraph road.

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors passed on the lease, for the sum of $1 on a 300x300 foot site.

Plans for the building have not been decided, but a meeting of the board of directors of the society will be called soon, it was announced.

Elizabeth Kirkby, executive secretary of the society, said the building would be financed entirely through private donations, and no Easter Seal money would be used in its construction.

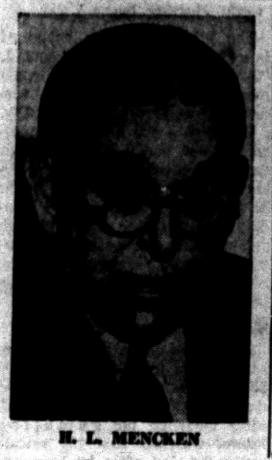

It was hoped to include a large physio - therapy department, a soundproof room for speech clinic, classrooms for the training of handicapped children and a large room for recreational activities for handicapped teenagers and adults in the proposed building.

Some building materials and about $2,000 in cash already have been donated toward the proposed structure, Mrs. Kirkby said. When completed the society will move there from its present crowded quarters at 152 W. Lawrence St.

Noted Author and Scholar Dies Quietly in Sleep at 75

BALTIMORE (INS)—Henry L. Mencken, who used a caustic pen to pierce shams and deflate heroes, died quietly in his sleep Sunday morning at his Baltimore home.

The 75-year-old newspaperman, editor, scholar and author, known far and wide as the "Sage of Baltimore," had been ill since 1948 when he suffered a stroke. Two years later, he was stricken with a near-fatal heart attack.

H. L. MENCKEN

Nevertheless, only two days before he died, Mencken announced he was planning publication of a new book, to be called "Minority Report." He told newsmen its contents caused him to look forward with pleasure to "being denounced again."

He was the recognized leader of the "de-bunking" school in the 1920's, when he reached the peak of his fame. In 1924, he joined George Jean Nathan in founding the American Mercury, which he edited for several years.

Previously, he was editor of "The Smart Set," where in 1921 he wrote his own epitaph of 25 words: "If, after I depart this vale, you ever remember me and have thought to please my ghost, forgive some sinner and wink your eye at some homely girl."

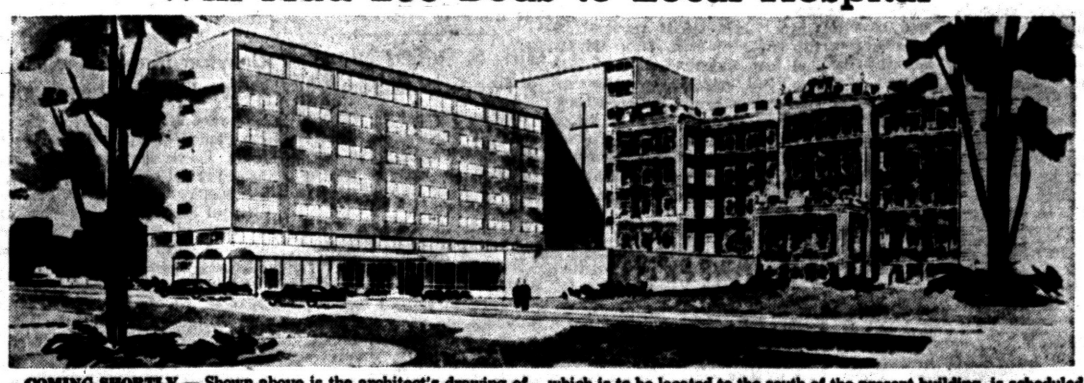

He found particular delight in shattering the nation's ideal picture of political heroes. He described Woodrow Wilson as "the self-bamboozled Presbyterian, the right thinker, the great moral statesman, the perfect model of a Christian cad."

He voted for Warren Harding, attended his inauguration, and returned to Baltimore to write: "No other such complete and dreadful nitwit is to be found in the pages of American history."

Another favorite target was Herbert Hoover, whom he labeled "Lord Hoover." To Mencken, Franklin D. Roosevelt was "a snake doctor," a "medicine man," whose speeches were "full of hooey."

Funeral arrangements were incomplete but Mencken's brother, August, said they would be private.

Will Add 200 Beds to Local Hospital

COMING SHORTLY — Shown above is the architect's drawing of the $6,000,000 addition to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital which will add 200 beds to its present 310-bed capacity. Construction on the wing, which is to be located to the south of the present building, is scheduled to begin in early spring according to Sister Mary William, hospital administrator.

Plan Hospital Expansion in Spring

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital announced today that construction of the $6,000,000 expansion program aimed at adding 200 beds to its present 310-bed capacity is expected to begin in early spring.

Funds to finance the program will be sought through a public subscription drive, according to Sister Mary William, hospital administrator.

To date, $246,000 has been donated to the campaign including a $196,000 gift from the Ford Foundation last December.

Final plans for the fund raising campaign and announcement of the kick off banquet will be made soon, the Sister said.

The proposed six-floor addition will be a brick, fire-resistant, reinforced concrete frame building with air conditioning and acoustical treatment to meet modern requirements.

Sister Mary William expects work to be completed on the addition by December of 1957. She said it will enable the hospital to handle approximately 45 per cent more patients than it presently cares for.

The original estimate of $4,000,000 has been increased to six million to include all furnishings for the new wing, the administrator said.

The addition will be located to the south of the main building and separate from the nurses residence to allow for future development of that facility.

The ground floor will include a portion of the administrative offices and an enlarged clinic located off the main lobby for emergency cases and in-patients. This is considered a prime asset of the addition because it makes it unnecessary for incoming patients to climb stairs or use the elevators.

Also included on the ground floor will be the X-ray department, clinical laboratories and a kitchen and dining rooms to serve a 500 bed facility.

The remainder of the administrative department will be situated on the first floor along with larger operating rooms, the pharmacy, a new chapel and a dining room for the Sisters of Mercy.

The second floor will be devoted to a new maternity section with five delivery rooms and increased bassinet facilities.

The third floor will be divided into five nursing units of about 25 beds each making more private rooms available to patients.

Medical patients will be quartered on the fourth floor housing 130 beds while the fifth floor with 68 beds will be for pediatrics to include a play room.

The sixth and final level will house four new lecture rooms, equipment storage space and quarters for the chaplain.

Newspaper in New York Urges Ike to Run Again

"Mr. Eisenhower has said that he wished the American people, who voted so decisively to make him President, could decide for him whether he should offer himself as President for another four years.

"Every test of public opinion shows that the nation, with both eyes open to the problem of his health, wants Mr. Eisenhower to continue in the White House.

"The Gallup poll of Dec. 18, before the President was as well as he is today, showed the country voting 3 to 2 —higher than in 1952—in favor of the President. The Gallup poll of Dec. 25 found three out of four Americans giving Mr. Eisenhower a decisive vote of confidence, 75 per cent approving his handling of the Presidency—a higher percentage than before his illness.

"No President, no private individual can know for a certainty that he will survive the rigors of his labors for any given period. We are convinced that Mr. Eisenhower will and should accept renomination only if he is satisfied, within his own good conscience, that he is equal to the task after measuring his recovery at full pace.

"Mr. Eisenhower has frequently remarked that he does not look upon himself as an indispensable man—or an indispensable President. He is right. He isn't. We wish that others in the past had been as clear and as humble.

"Because the hour is grave and the promise of a peaceful atomic era is so nearly within our grasp—we, Mr. President, feel it our solemn responsibility to avow our hope and prayer that nothing short of the most commanding reasons will keep you from accepting the call of this nation and free men everywhere."

India-Burma Border Rumbles With Unrest

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Naga Hills area along the Indian-Burmese border has been declared a "disturbed area" by the state government of Assam.

Declaration of the emergency appeared to confirm, at least in part, reports that the area has become the scene of the most serious civil uprising since India won its independence.

Travelers say the Naga tribesmen—former headhunters—are agitating for an independent state and have been battling with the Assam Rifles, a well-trained frontier force organized by the British.

Casualties on both sides were reported in the hundreds. Official government announcements have reported a relatively small number of persons killed and wounded.

U.S. Economic Problems Topic of Local Address

By MARY ANGLEMIER
Church Editor

"Over a period of years, it doesn't matter who was in the White House, although the personality of the President bears weight at the time of a particular problem," said Dr. Otto Nathan to an audience of 300 persons in Temple Beth Jacob Saturday night.

Internationally known economist, teacher, author and lecturer, Dr. Nathan spoke on "The Economic Headaches of the Eisenhower Administration."

"The development of economics," stated the speaker, "leads to conflict and tension. Tariff is an important and controversial issue.

"The garment industry claims it can't afford to lower prices. In order to pay salaries, taxes and make some profit, blouses have to retail at around $2. What should be done?"

Dr. Nathan stated taxes were a big "headache;" that a revision is long overdue on the excise tax which he termed "unjust."

The problem of monopoly is still another "headache," the speaker told his listeners. If businesses merge, the government must see that small business is not squeezed out.

Dr. Nathan said he believed most of the headaches of the administrations were no one's fault; the development of our country brings new problems such as national defense, highways, public utilities, education and agriculture. "It is the age in which we live," he said.

The lecturer made the statement that of all the economic laws passed, the employment Act of 1946 was the most important.

Dr. Nathan spoke on the second in the series of cultural programs sponsored by the Jewish Welfare Federation and Council.

On Feb. 25, Herschel Bernardi, actor and star of "The World of Sholom Aleichem," will be presented.

Bare Handouts of Brink's Booty

Attorney Says Portions Went to 3 Politicians, Law Officers, Gamblers

BOSTON (INS) — A fantastic chapter of the $1,218,211 Brink's cash robbery was unveiled today and allegedly involved two or three politicians, a law enforcement officer and a dozen gamblers in the disposition of the loot.

They were reported to have gotten their hands on generous chunks of the money, according to disclosures made to District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne.

Sources close to the investigation said the money was passed out for past favors, to win friends and, in the case of the gamblers, to get the money into circulation through an underworld clearing house.

The information was contained in a statement signed by Joseph J. "Specs" O'Keefe as well as statements taken from witnesses, who formerly were reluctant to testify.

Byrne said one informant related that Joe Venuti, 45, of Everett, had been given $100,000 for safekeeping against the day it might be needed for defense of the bandits. Venuti, owner of a nightclub and a stable of race horses, committed suicide four days after the roundup of the alleged Brink's bandits.

BIG LOSSES

Authorities quoted the witness as saying that Venuti, who cleared $100,000 from his nightclub, had dipped into the gang's $100,000 after incurring big gambling losses. Officials said his suicide came the day after he borrowed $30 to pay a week's rent for his hotel room.

The $100,000 reportedly given Venuti was believed to have been part of the shares of O'Keefe and Stanley Gusciora, who is confined to Western Pennsylvania Penitentiary in Pittsburgh.

India Observes 8th Anniversary of Gandhi's Death

NEW DELHI (INS)—India observed the eighth anniversary today of the death of Mohandas Gandhi, the "father of the Nation."

The observances began this morning with prayers at the sacred Jumna River, where Gandhi's body was cremated after his assassination.

The 78-year-old spiritual leader of India was slain Jan. 30, 1948, as he walked in a garden. A Hindu nationalist fired three shots in Gandhi's chest and stomach.

Agence France Presse reported that the principal demonstration in honor of Gandhi's memory was a mass spinning session in which President Rajendra Prasad and Premier Jawaharlal Nehru took part.

Prasad spends an hour each day spinning, AFP reported, and he and his family dress only in clothes spun by him.

Grand Rapids Man Faces UAW Censure

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A Grand Rapids tool and die worker has been charged with conduct unbecoming a union member for joining the Michigan information committee. The committee was formed two months ago to fight integration of state and private unemployment benefit plans.

George Bronner, 48, an employe of General Motors' Fisher Body stamping plant No. 1 and committee vice chairman and executive board committee, said yesterday he must face trial on the charges before a United Auto Workers' board.

He could be suspended but not expelled from the UAW if found guilty. Suspension could result in loss of union benefits but not of his job.

Bronner said he opposed the layoff pay plan recently negotiated by the UAW with the auto industry because "I have come to the conclusion it has socialistic implications." He said supplemental pay plans deprived the worker of the full economic benefits to which he is entitled.

DETROIT (AP) — Polo enthusiast John F. Ivory is selling his 40-acre polo field in northwest Detroit but plans to buy a new site for his polo team.

The present field, at Lahser and Eight Mile Rds., was purchased for $500,000 by the Market Realty Co. of Detroit.

Ivory, Detroit moving company owner, plans to locate north of Birmingham and near Pontiac. He also has checked on property in Belleville and the Middlebelt-Ford Rds. area.

An option in the purchase agreement permits the Ivory team to use the present field for this year's polo schedule which ends in October.

Lions to Talk Wednesday on Buying Briggs

DETROIT (AP)—The possibility of purchasing Briggs Stadium will be discussed by directors of the Detroit Lions at a monthly meeting Wednesday, Edwin J. Anderson, president of the National Pro Football League club reported.

The Lions now rent the Stadium for their home football games. If they purchased it from the Briggs heirs, they would in turn rent it to the baseball club.

No price tag has been put on the stadium but it is reportedly valued at $2,000,000.

Continue Probe of Twin Shooting

Sexton Fired Without Apparent Reason, Says One of 2 Victims

A second wounded man's story told Saturday jibes "quite closely" with that of another man also shot early Friday by an off-duty Pontiac Police patrolman, Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Robert D. Long said today.

Robert Stephens confirmed Archie McCowen's statement that the pair were shot "without apparent reason" by Officer James B. Sexton as the three sat drinking and talking near the Lincoln Junior High School, Long explained.

Stephens, 30, of 206 State St., remained in fair condition in Pontiac General Hospital today. McCowen, 24, of 180 Norton St., was released from the hospital Saturday.

Sexton, 29, of 686 E. Tennyson, is held for investigation of assault with intent to commit murder. He may be formally charged later today, said Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

A comparison of fingerprints will confirm today whether Sexton had a drunk and disorderly conviction before being placed on the force in March 1953.

Former police captains, Vance L. Hanger and Edward H. Shigley, said Saturday it was known when Sexton was hired that he had a record, but Police Chief Herbert W. Straley said he does not recall knowing of the offense at the time.

GM Is Labeled 'Economic State'

O'Mahoney Insists Laws Making Factory Share Losses Be Enacted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said today the General Motors Corp. has become a "private economic state" with gross revenues a third as large as those of all the farms and ranches in America.

O'Mahoney proposed in a speech prepared for the National Automobile eDalers Assn. (NADA) that Congress lay down the rules for conduct of business relations between auto manufacturers and distributors.

Asserting tthe inventory of unsold cars is greater now than at the same period in either 1954 or 1955, O'Mahoney said such manufacturers as General Motors now take none of the risks of over-production and dealers take all the losses.

He called for establishment of industry councils which would make allotments of new cars to dealers by mutual consent between the manufacturers and distributors.

The industry, seeing "the handwriting on the wall," apparently is ready to adjust terms of its dealer franchises, O'Mahoney said. But he contended the voluntary changes should be supplemented by laws, including "a provision to the effect that in times of high inventory and difficult sales the factory bear a part of the loss resulting from over-production."

Intelligence Chief Shot to Death by Assassins on Seoul Street

SEOUL (AP) — Maj. Gen. Kim Chang Yong, Communist-fighting chief of the South Korean Counter-intelligence Corps, was shot to death today by assassins who ambushed him on the streets of Seoul.

The tough, 37-year-old general was struck down by a gunman who fled after pumping three pistol bullets into him.

The government, military and police officials immediately pushed a citywide search for the gunman and an accomplice who drove the getaway jeep.

President Syngman Rhee personally rushed to CIC headquarters in Seoul to direct the hunt. Earlier he had visited the hospital but Kim, a close adviser, had been pronounced dead on arrival.

SMASHED PLOT

Kim had directed the roundup of suspected collaborators with the Communists in the 1950 Red occupation of Seoul in the early days of the Korean War. Since the armistice he had been in charge of probing Communist infiltration.

Last October he broke a plot to assassinate Rhee. Eight men were arrested.

Officials indicated they had some idea of the assassins' identity. But they would not say whether they believed the killers to be Communist agents, political foes or men connected with Rhee assassination attempt.

The Day in Birmingham

City Woman Appointed to Post by Governor

BIRMINGHAM — Mrs. Dorothy Reason's appointment by Governor Williams to the post of Assistant County Agent was announced this past weekend. Mrs. Reason, whose husband, Walter J., is a dentist, and who lives at 515 Aspen, will be working with juvenile court cases.

Active for the past two years in investigating of Wayne, Macomb, Oakland and Lapeer families for placing of foster children in homes, she has been with the Children's Aid Society in Detroit.

"My new job will save me those three hours of transportation to and from work each day," she says, explaining that her husband, who has been in the David Whitney Building for many years, is moving his offices in a new clinic building to be completed March 1 on 14 Mile Rd. near Woodward.

Her work will be through Judge Arthur E. Moore, mainly in checking on families where neglect charges are pointed, and turning in reports to the court on whether the children should be removed from the home.

The mother of four children, Mrs. Reason has a son and daughter at Michigan State University. She began her social work with the Children's Aid post, though her college training was in languages. She attended Southern Seminary in Virginia, Simmons and Emerson Colleges and took her master's at Radcliffe, all in Boston. They have lived in their early American home here since coming from Detroit 12 years ago.

Charles K. Latham Jr. is bringing suit against the city because of zoning at Southfield and Lincoln near his home.

City Commissioners may approve tonight annexation of seven parcels of land from Troy which must also be approved by the city of Troy. It would take Birmingham limits to the railroad line just north of Derby Road.

Residents along Derby Road will have Birmingham water if another resolution is passed tonight. Troy City Manager Norman Barnard cites Troy approval of a request by Birmingham Development Co., stipulating that property owners will arrange with Birmingham Board of Education for the paving of Derby.

A multi-level structure on the site of Parking Lot No. 3-A in the block north of Hamilton between Ferndale and Park according to the City Manager's request of City Commission tonight "can well be left to the future" with a five or probably a ten year wait.

Incorporation of an alley between the parking lot and Hamilton frontage lots will be considered possible with resolutions being passed.

Property acquisition for the parking lot will be discussed with a request for a go-ahead on negotiations preliminary to the Feb. 14 necessity hearing. A report on the Hamilton-Hunter lot is also being given commissioners tonight.

The bid for Springdale Park fencing may be accepted with the contract possibly in the $5,000 bracket.

Mayor Albert E. Cobo will speak at the Men's Club of St. James Episcopal Church tonight at 7 o'clock in the church's undercroft.

KANSAS HIT HARD

Western Kansas was buried under 10 inches of snow today, and the storm's eastward path also whitened Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Oklahoma and eastern Kansas.

Colorado and Idaho reported the heaviest falls of the season over the weekend.

South and east of the snow belt, showers and thundershowers pelted Kentucky, Teinnessee, Arkansas and Northern Louisiana.

Weather bureau officials explain the storm was caused by a cold air mass, moving south, which collided with a mass of warm moist air moving north from the Gulf.

Temperatures dropped an average of 20 degrees in the wake of the storm in northern Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and western Kansas.

Lowest Pontiac temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 21 degrees. At 2 p.m., temperature was 26 degrees.

Trademark Leads to Suspect's Arrest

A jeweler's trademark scratched on the back of a repaired watch led to the arrest yesterday of a Detroiter who has confessed holding up a Royal Oak gas station Jan. 21.

Police say Gordon E. Carpenter, 21, has admitted being one of the two bandits who attacked attendant Alfred Bileti, 19, after Bileti attempted to disarm them.

While one of the thieves was giving Bileti a 60-stitch wound on the head with a wrench, he or his companion dropped the watch in the struggle, police say. The watch was traced to Carpenter.

She was released after treatment in Pontiac General Hospital.

Today Marks the 74th Anniversary of the Birth of Franklin D. Roosevelt

WASHINGTON (INS) — Today marks the 74th anniversary of the birth of Franklin Delano Roosevelt whose 12 years and six weeks as president left a lasting mark on the United States and the world.

Roosevelt took the oath of office as 32nd president at a time when the nation faced an unprecedented economic crisis. He was re-elected while the flight against the depression was still in process.

He sought an unprecedented third term while war was raging in Europe, then expressing hope that the U. S. could stay clear of actual fighting. But he threw full American support behind Great Britian and France and against the Axis powers and was re-elected to a fourth term as the wartime leader.

POLITICAL STORMS

This was at Yalta, where he met with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Soviet dictator Josef Stalin. The meeting was designed to speed up the end of World War II, but out of it Stalin emerged with claims for vast territory which he put under Communist rule.

Yet, many contend the late president acted primarily in the interest of saving American lives. The first atom bomb had not yet been tested and whether it would be ready for use in World War II was not then known.

Roosevelt's entire period in office was marked with political storms. But each time he went before the voters, he emerged victorious.

PUSHED 'NEW DEAL'

The first president to use the radio as mass communication media for talks to the American people, Roosevelt pushed for the "New Deal," which made the federal government more powerful than ever before.

As one of his first acts, he spurred action to repeal the 18th Amendment—prohibition—in addition to proposing a breathtaking series of laws to meet the economic crisis of the 1930's.

He sought unsuccessfully in 1937 to "pack" the Supreme Court, by increasing its size and providing for mandatory retirement of older justices.

It was Roosevelt who launched the atomic age by authorizing the Manhattan Project in World War II.

The day of his birth is marked as the climax of the annual "March of Dimes" drive, a memorial to Roosevelt's own fight with polio, which had left him partially paralyzed. Out of the extensive research which developed, in large part from "March of Dimes" contributions, only last year the Salk vaccine was announced — a discovery that can well wipe out the dread disease.

There are more than 900,000 species of animal life known at present, including 675,000 insects.

Dentists Minimize Fluoride Toothpastes

CHICAGO (INS) — The American Dental Association reported today there is no adequate evidence that any fluoride dentifrice is effective in preventing tooth decay.

Dr. Harold Hillenbrand of Chicago, secretary of the association, said the evidence of the effectiveness of fluoride toothpastes is "quite limited" in contrast to overwhelming evidence of the benefits of fluoridation of drinking water.

Dr. Hillenbrand said it would be a "misconception" if the public were led to believe that fluoride dentifrices are adequate substitutes for controlled fluoridation of municipal water supplies.

Dog-Tired Mailmen Given Police Escort

TRENTON, N. J. (INS)—Starting today, all mail carriers who are brave enough to foray into the Parkway Village section of nearby Ewington — known to postmen as "no man's land"—will have the protective company of police escort.

The drastic measure was taken by community fathers who were faced with a dwindling supply of postmen and a mounting supply of complaints because of a three-week epidemic of dog-attacks on letter carriers.

Twenty mailmen have been incapacitated so far and five men have asked for transfers but owners reportedly still will not restrain their pets.

As an added safety measure, the 350 families in the community were told mail deliveries would cease if the animals were not removed from the streets.

Traitor Awaits Terms of Parole

A Silenced Tokyo Rose Hopes to Be Permitted Domicile in the U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—Tokyo Rose, welcomed home from prison by her family, reports to the U. S. courthouse in Chicago today to learn the terms of her parole from the federal reformatory at Alderson, W. Va. She served 6½ years of a 10-year term for treason.

Tokyo Rose — Mrs. Iva Ikuko Toguri D'Aquino — whose low-voiced talk of pretty girls and home over Radio Tokyo tantalized GIs in the Pacific in World War II—went into hiding from reporters after her arrival in Chicago yesterday.

A brother, Fred Toguri, said she didn't want to talk to newsmen before her appearance at the courthouse because "she doesn't want to do anything to jeopardize her parole."

Mrs. D'Aquino, who was born in Los Angeles, was served with deportation papers when she was released from prison Saturday.

Mrs. D'Aquino feels she has "served her punishment" and that she wants to remain in America and be an American citizen.

She drove from West Virginia with her father Jun Toguri, the brother and a sister. The family moved to Chicago after all persons of Japanese ancestry were relocated from the West Coast in World War II.

Mrs. D'Aquino's husband Philip, a Portuguese, is working for a newspaper in Tokyo.

Abortion Trial Opens in Philly

Couple Faces Charges of Contributing to Death of Food Chain Heiress

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A bartender and his beautician wife go on trial today on charges they performed the illegal operation that killed a young heiress two months after her story-book elopment with a motorcycle policeman.

Defendants in the case that has attracted nationwide attention are Milton Schwartz, 49, and his wife, Rosalie, 42. Boh have been free in $5,000 bail since their Sept. 12 arrest.

The Schwartzes specifically are accused of abortion, abortion causing death and conspiracy in connection with the death of Mrs. Doris Jean Silver Ostreicher, 22-year-old heiress to an east coast food chain fortune. They face a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a $6,000 fine.

CAUSE OF DEATH

The red-haired beauty died in the Schwartzes' north Philadelphia apartment on the night of Aug. 24, three days before her 23rd birthday and exactly two months from the day she had eloped to Georgia with Earl M. Ostreicher, Miami, Fla., policeman after a whirlwind, four-weeks romance.

The cause of her death, established by the medical examiner after an autopsy was performed, was an unsuccessful abortion. The girl's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Silver, is also charged with abortion, abortion causing death and conspiracy. Her father, vice president Herman Silver of the huge Food Fair supermarket chain, has not been implicated in the case.

Mrs. Silver is not scheduled to go on trial at this time.

The mother said Doris left her policeman-husband in Miami Beach because he had mistreated her, and asked her father to start divorce proceedings. Ostreicher called these assertions "ridiculous."

Your library is a treasure house of fun and knowledge. It can help you in your school work or provide you with pleasure in your spare time.

Whether you live in the city or country there is a free library nearby. In some outlying areas books are carried to readers by bookmobiles or even on horseback.

First meet your librarian. She will fill out a library card so you can take home books from the circulation department. Reference books, however, must remain in the library.

The quickest way to find your book is in the card index file. There is at least one card for every book in the library. The cards are listed alphabetically by authors, titles and subjects. This means you must know your alphabet to find the books you want.

Pilot Abandoning Attempt for Record Non-Stop Flight

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — Airline veteran, Capt. William J. Judd completed a solo transatlantic hop today but radioed he was abandoning his attempt to set a nonstop New York-to-Cairo distance record in his light plane.

Judd, a Trans World Airways veteran, flew over the southern coast of Ireland this morning and headed for Rome in his 230-horsepower, single-engine Cessna-180.

He had reported earlier that he expected to reach Rome about 6:30 p.m. and that he would decide then whether to land for refueling or push on to Cairo.

Judd, 40, has flown the Atlantic 120 times as a pilot for TWA. He took off at 8:31 a.m. yesterday from White Plains, N.Y., in a freezing drizzle and said he would shoot for Cairo if he had 50 gallons of fuel remaining when he reached Rome.

Judd hoped to better the nonstop record for light planes set in 1949 when the late William Odom flew 4,957.24 miles from Honolulu to Teterboro, N.J. The New York-Cairo flight totals 5,643 miles.

Judd took along on the trip two roast beef sandwiches, milk, a bag of oranges and apples, raisins and malted milk tablets.

His plane was "overloaded" by 2,000 pounds of extra gasoline, an airport official said, which would cut his normal 155 m.p.h. cruising speed to about 130 m.p.h.

A native of New Haven, Kan., Judd has lived in Cairo five years with his wife and two sons. He said he wanted the plane in Cairo and decided to fly it there because it was "easier" than having it shipped.

His wife Colette, a former TWA hostess, left for Paris Saturday aboard a commercial flight. Their two sons were in Paris and were expected to accompany Mrs. Judd to Cairo by airliner.

Judd flew from New York to Cairo in 1954 in a similar small plane, making three stops en route.

Safe Driving Courses Investment in Safety

Doubling the number of Pontiac High School students who can take driving instructions is a wise safety step forward.

The addition of two more instructors who will begin their work with the second semester, means that a total of 336 students can be enrolled in these classes. Besides 30 hours of classroom work, they will get six hours each of actual driving in cars provided by the Pontiac Retail Store.

Increase in the number of driving instructors to four is more than a wise safety move, however. It recognizes the fact that after February, 1957, under a new State law anyone under 18 must have passed this course to get a driver's license.

Records show that graduates of driver training courses have 50 per cent fewer accidents than others in the same age group. This makes the cost of instructors' salaries and of operating training cars an essential investment in greater highway safety.

No community of Pontiac's size can afford to be without such facilities.

Aid to Medical Schools Proposed by Eisenhower

In a special health message to Congress, President Eisenhower has urged the lawmakers to provide $250,000,000 for a five year program of aid to the Nation's medical schools.

This much needed aid would be made available on a matching basis. Besides medical schools, institutions eligible for assistance would include schools of osteopathy, public health, dentistry and other research centers.

Another sensible feature of the message is the $126,525,000 asked for basic research. This money would be made available for further study by the National Institutes of Health of such problems as cancer, heart and mental diseases, arthritis and other unconquered human ailments. These funds would be distributed in grants to medical schools, hospitals and private laboratories.

Notably absent from the message is the controversial reinsurance proposal previously advanced by the President and given a chilly reception by Congress. Mr. Eisenhower reports, however, that private insurance companies may progress more rapidly in extending insurance coverage by pooling their risks. He added that if this plan doesn't work out, he will resubmit the reinsurance program.

The President is wholly justified in asking Congress "to give continued support to the quest for better health." As he rightly points out the proper role of the Federal Government is that of a partner who provides assistance without interference in personal, local or state responsibilities.

Congress owes it to the country to give this message prompt attention.

British Woes Economic

Things aren't going well for Sir Anthony Eden and his Conservative Government in Britain.

Even Tory newspapers are critical of the Prime Minister's latest speech on homefront difficulties. They seem to feel that he wasn't tough enough in dealing with problems of inflation, imbalance of trade and overemployment.

From this distance it looks as if prosperity is the big trouble. There simply aren't enough goods, jobs, money and exports to keep things going at the present rate. Sir Anthony not only had recognized this but has shown definite intentions of doing something about it.

In Eden's opinion, virtually nothing is impossible for Britain "if once our balance of payments could be put right and our reserves built up to a reasonable figure."

To understand the government's problem, it is necessary to know what kind of an economy Britain has. Its people must produce the right goods at competitive prices and sell enough of them abroad to pay for food and raw materials they must import. In addition, they must maintain the value of the pound, a high standard of living and create a military defense outranked only by the United States and Russia.

All signs indicate the need of such remedies as deflation, credit restrictions, less consumer goods and a reduction in government expenditures. Those who know Eden best have no doubt of his willingness to apply these remedies.

The Man About Town

After Oil; Got Salt

May Bring New Industry to Field in This Area

February: Weatherwise, usually too long—and a day longer this year.

The Pontiac area in the not too distant future may be a salt producing section on a large scale. Our nearest attempt at striking oil or gas has found neither in paying quantities, but an enormous strata of salt and brine was struck. After over two years of drilling on the Williams Farm, 12 miles northwest of Pontiac, the Top-O-Michigan Development Company has given up work for the winter. According to a depth of 6,488 feet was reached. The salt strata goes down from the 2,250-foot level, and is 300 feet thick. The supply is practically without limit, and might furnish all the salt needed for icy pavements and dusty roads in our county for generations to come. Salt wells in Tuscola County long have furnished all of this material needed there.

On the national average, women now live six years longer than their husbands and are about three years younger, making a nine-year difference in the life expectancy of average couples. Thirteen per cent of our women are widows and only four per cent of our men are widowers.

When Pontiac City Manager

Walter K. Willman

was informed that a voting machine was set up in the City Commission chambers for a demonstration, he said, "well, that's the closest the city has ever been to one yet!"

Other attempts at drilling for oil in this part of the state are not meeting with success. Wells on the properties near South Lyon have been abandoned after going down for around 5,000 feet.

Canned laughter has become so evident and notorious on TV programs that who equips many stations for it, says he's ashamed of it. On many programs the "applause" you hear is run off a phonograph record.

Thomas Valentine,

The current issue of that magazine that is supposed to be an authority on what its name indicates, is its centennial number. It compares the life of the woman of 100 years ago with that of today's woman. But it is not the "collector's item" that its publishers claim it to be. For instance, it says the bride of a century ago cooked on a coal stove. It really was a wood stove, coal being in little use for that purpose at that time. The magazine also refers to Buffalo Bill and Jesse James as "fictional characters."

"Mademoiselle,"

I like that slogan of the

in plugging for the state's ski resorts: "For the young—AND young at heart."

"It's a Road—It Just H asn't Been Used Much"

David Lawrence Says:

Today's International Peace Overtures Are Reminiscent of World War II Prelude

WASHINGTON — These are dangerous times in the world. The news dispatches read strangely like those that appeared just a few months before World War II broke out.

There are the same sinister moves by aggressor governments. There is the same reckless partisanship inside the national legislatures of the democracies thus encouraging the aggressor government to think that peace-at-any-price is the underlying policy of all political parties in America, France and Britain.

There is the same duplicity behind the scenes as the aggressor builds up armament while piously proclaiming peaceful motives. There is the same cry that the democracies are unprepared militarily and that they are sacrificing guns for butter even as the plaintive call comes for more air power to match the enemy's growing strength.

Perhaps the foregoing will strike a note of reminiscence to Sir Anthony Eden, England's prime minister, who today confers here with President Eisenhower. For the famous British diplomat played a conspicuous role in the pre-war years and saw the gathering storm from the inside of the Chamberlain government before he resigned dramatically as foreign secretary in February 1938.

EDEN SHOULD KNOW

Few men have had such intimate experience with the chicanery of totalitarianism, particularly Russian maneuvers and tricks, as Anthony Eden. Few in parliamentary life know so well how foreign policy can be made a football of politics to the detriment of a nation.

Many Americans probably have forgotten that as late as six months before the war broke out Prime Minister Chamberlain proposed a draft law be passed and was met by the bitter opposition of Clement Attlee and the Socialist Labor Party.

All this has a familiar ring — political parties seeking partisan advantage by playing on the emotions of an uninformed citizenry. Here was Chamberlain, on the "brink of war," struggling to make a show of firmness to Hitler only to be frustrated by a party in opposition strong enough to threaten defeat at an election perhaps on a peace-at-any-price basis if the minister didn't accede.

TOO MUCH BICKERING

Today there is a divided government in the United States. One party controls Congress and the other party controls the White House. Democrats in Congress keep up constant sniping which must encourage the shrewd Kremlin men to believe this is the time for them to muddy the waters. Hitler used the same strategy with his peace offers just before each act of aggression. In fact, he proposed and Chamberlain signed in 1938 a statement saying the two nations had agreed "never to go to war with each other."

The latest effort of Democrats is to put the Eisenhower administration in an embarrassing position because it has rejected the same kind of offer — a treaty proposed by Bulganin to eliminate war between Russia and America. Some Democratic spokesmen are saying they were "not consulted on details" of Ike's answer, while other Democrats say they don't like "the way it was handled."

What does it all mean? What can be done about it? Public opinion which transcends petty politics can command the answer. Hitler understood only one language just as do the Kremlin dictators. That's military force plus economic force. Hitler was allowed almost until the outbreak of war in September 1939, to trade freely and get supplies for his armament machine from every country.

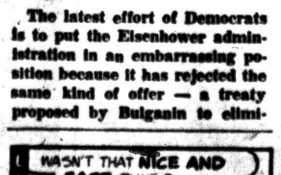

The sooner the free world begins to sacrifice pounds, francs and dollars of trade and cuts off vital raw materials from the enemy and the sooner the military power of the United States and its allies is built up at whatever cost is required, the sooner will there be a feeling of real security that a world war can be prevented.

For the assumption that the Kremlin would not dare to start a world war is as spurious as the assumption so often made early in 1939 that Hitler wouldn't dare take on both Britain and France. It was Molotov who chose to carry on a two-faced negotiation first with London and then Berlin which resulted in the Nazi-Communist alliance. Today the same Molotov sits behind Bulganin.

These are perilous times especially since this is an atomic age, when political bickering and procrastination can be fatal.

It is to be hoped conferences between Eden and Eisenhower will help to strengthen allied solidarity and bring forth a fearless definition of America's objectives. This definition was sadly lacking in 1939. A clear definition of policy for the United States today is again being befuddled by selfish politics.

Relief for Bad Sacroiliac Recounted by Columnist

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Dr. Joel E. Goldthwait described relaxation of strain of the sacroiliac joints in 1907.

That was the first I heard of relaxation, sprain, strain, dislocation, displacement or even the slightest motion in the sacroiliac joints.

I was taught in medical school that no movement in these joints was possible, except in a woman about to bear a child.

The sacroiliac joints are the junctions, one on either side, of the sacrum or base of the spine with the ilium or wing of the innominate (hip, pelvic) bone on either side.

Prior to Goldthwait's elucidation of sacroiliac strain most victims were content to take a lot of fool medicine for lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism, use lively liniments, apply porous plasters or go to Tepid Springs to have the acid, waste matter or poison boiled out of their systems.

QUICK RELIEF

I believe osteopathic physicians were manipulating what they called subluxation of the sacroiliac or slipped innominate (hip or pelvic bone) and, what's more, giving many patients quick relief long before Dr. Goldthwait published his paper on sacroiliac strain.

Sometimes, said Dr. Goldthwait, the iliac bone has become slightly displaced, slipping forward.

Replacement must be tried by hyperextension of the spine—the patient lies face down with chest and shoulders on one table, thighs and legs on another.

This allows the body to sag or hang, tending to pull the sacrum forward on ilium.

I'm merely telling you what Dr. Goldthwait said. Please don't ask me to explain it.

I must accord the osteopaths credit for their recognition of motion in the sacroiliac and their skill in relieving or correcting the trouble.

BIT OF ADVICE

Here's a bit of simple advice for the protection of all sacroiliacs: Never bend your back to lift anything off the floor or ground.

Squat down, keeping your back erect, and use your thighs to lift with.

Let me suggest that if you do strain your sacroiliac, manipulation by an osteopath may be your best bet.

Signed letters, not more than one page of 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Doctor's Threat of Mental Institution Frightens Neurotic Asthma Sufferer

Della has asthma. Her new doctor recommends hypnosis, which often helps. But he scared her by bluntly saying she'd end in a mental sanitarium if she didn't follow his advice. "You're a neurotic," he diagnosed her, which is true. But that's pretty good insurance against ever going insane. Scrapbook this case and its follow-up tomorrow.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Q-361: Della M., aged 32, is the mother of two girls. She works at the same plant where her husband is employed.

"Dr. Crane, I am scared almost to death," she exclaimed as soon as she entered my office.

"Ever since I was a child, I have had asthma. But they have not found anything specific to which I am allergic.

"Recently I visited a new doctor, who told me my trouble was largely due to nerves. He said I was about to blow my top, and if I didn't see a psychiatrist, I'd end up in a sanitarium.

"Well, I've been much worse ever since then, for it terrifies me to think I might lose my mind. He urged me to undergo hypnosis, too, as a part of my cure. Does that make sense?"

HYPNOSIS IN MEDICINE

Yes, hypnosis is becoming more popular in the field of medicine. In 1955, the British Medical Association urged that all medical students in England be given a special course in hypnosis.

It is true that many ailments are what we now call psychosomatic and thus greatly influenced by our emotional condition.

But a neurotic patient can be greatly reassured by remembering the axiom of psychiatry that "Once a neurotic; never a psychotic!"

That means that a neurotic, jittery type of person is pretty sure of avoiding insanity.

A neurosis is thus a safety valve by which a human being obtains relief from tension that otherwise might lead to total mental collapse.

Asthmatic patients feel as if they are being strangled for lack of oxygen, so they prefer open collars and no belts, corsets or girdles.

MIDNIGHT ASTHMA

Della had also complained of waking at 4 a. m., gasping for air, though the outside temperature was cooler at that time. Why?

Well, she was a heavy cigaret smoker, which in itself causes extra irritation of the lung tissue, even to the extent of causing cancer.

With irritation, moreover, comes a greater secretion of fluid. You readers thus know that when you peel an onion, your eyes will fill with tears.

Well, a similar increase in secretions occurs over the surface of the smoker's lungs, as well as in the windpipe and bronchial tubes. That helps explain the heavy coughing of smokers.

But this thicker layer of secretion naturally makes it more difficult for oxygen to slip across the lung membrane and into the blood vessels.

"Yes, Dr. Crane," you may assent, "but why doesn't Della then gasp for air when she goes to bed at 11 p. m. instead of 4 a. m.?"

DEHYDRATION ASTHMA

During the night we exhale almost a pint of liquid in our breath and also lose water via imperceptible sweating. This dehydrates us.

So the "wet" lung from tobacco irritation undergoes a change. Its moisture covering becomes thicker and stickier, like glue or well boiled molasses.

So oxygen can't get through as rapidly as otherwise, which is one reason why asthmatics may be O. K. at bed time, yet awaken gasping for air in the middle of the night.

Worry, too, precipitates attacks, for worry speeds up the heart and thus increases the oxygen consumption much as heavy exercise does.

A calm, peaceful mind not only reduces likelihood of asthmatic attacks but also of epileptic seizures. See tomorrow's follow-up.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Move Made to Liberalize Life Insurance Protection

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

A six-year campaign by this column to induce the American life insurance companies to take a new look at age 60, in light of recent medical progress, has at long last brought tangible results.

Six years ago this column contended that antibiotics and other tools of preventive medicine rendered obsolete the fine print clause in every man's life insurance policy to the effect that disability protection ceases at age 60.

The late James A. Fulton, president of Home Life Insurance Company, replied: "Logically, you present a perfectly valid argument. Practically, we wouldn't dare follow your reasoning." His explanation was that men near retirement might try to beat the gun by claiming disability.

True or false, this evaluation of human nature would apply less to mere waiver of premium on old policies by a sick policyholder than to weekly disability cash benefits.

Frankly, it didn't make sense to argue that a man would quit a good job merely to get excused from his life insurance premium. Waiver of premium means in effect that a sick person gets a premium receipt from the company without making a payment.

PIONEERING FIRM

This modified idea of extending the age for waiving the premium in the event of disability has been accepted in a pioneering way by Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. It will voluntarily modify old contracts to accomplish this recommendation to keep in tempo with the new concepts of age.

Louis W. Dawson, president of Mutual, reports:

"We believe we can safely give some benefits in the years between 60 and 65, if we limit the time for which benefits will be paid. Hence, our waiver of premium in new policies will provide that, if total disability occurs between age 60 and 65, premiums will be waived during disability to age 65, or for two years if longer.

"This same liberalization will also be extended to all outstanding policies that contain a January 1932, or later waiver provision, if the disability occurred after Jan. 1, 1956. Premium rates for such policies will remain unchanged.

"In new issues the premium for the waiver provision will be payable up to age 65, and will therefore be different from present premiums.

"We continue to feel it would not be sound to grant the waiver privilege beyond age 65, or to waive premiums for life on disability commencing after age 60, because many premature retirements might then be charged to disability."

SALUTE MERITED

I salute Dawson and his associates for courage and a sense of public service in overcoming red tape in order to accomplish this humane improvement, which no doubt in time will be followed by the life insurance industry as a whole.

* * *

Personally, I regard this desirable move merely as an entering wedge to a more realistic appraisal by life insurance people of the fundamental fact that the average life expectancy of the American people has been significantly lengthened.

At the beginning of this century, life expectancy for a newly born baby was 47 years. By 1920, the expectancy was 52 years; by 1948, it was 69 years.

Smiles

It's too bad that all the people worth their salt can't throw it on the slippery sidewalks.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

And of his fullness have all we received and grace for grace.—John 1:16.

* * *

New Leukemia Fighter Found in Blood Makeup

By RENNIE TAYLOR
A. P. Science Reporter

CARMEL, Calif. (AP)—Blood contains some mysterious component which has prevented hemorrhage in leukemia and in some cases has arrested the dread disease itself, a Los Angeles cancer researcher reported.

The unidentified substance stopped hemorrhage in 14 out of 16 patients who were slowly bleeding from many places because of leukemia, Dr. Howard R. Bierman told the Western Society for Clinical Research.

* * *

Repeated treatments apparently stopped the disease in five patients, Dr. Bierman said, but he did not refer to these as cures. They were termed "remissions" — a medical term which usually describes the disappearance of the disease symptoms. The work was done at the City of Hope, a benevolent institution supported by private donations.

CANCER-LIKE

Leukemia is a cancer-like disease of the white blood cells. It is one of the worst forms of malignancy because it affects the entire circulatory system.

Remissions have been achieved before by transfusing enormous quantities of blood into the patient and also by treatments with chemicals. However, these procedures are as yet none too encouraging, Dr. Bierman said.

This suggests, Dr. Bierman told newsmen, that there is a tiny something in the blood which is the real antileukemia factor. His objective is to discover this factor and separate it.

So far he has narrowed down the hunt to a fraction called the buffy coat — a mixture of white cells and platelets, which are little particles essential to clotting, the body's natural protection agains hemorrhage.

* * *

The next step is to break these down. Dr. Bierman believes that if a real antileukemic substance is found it might eventually be synthesized or obtained from beef blood.

Town Helping Two Orphaned in Train Wreck

LA MESA, Calif. (INS)—A community with a heart has taken over for two parents who were killed in last week's Santa Fe train wreck in Los Angeles.

Residents of La Mesa, little town 10 miles east of San Diego, are raising a fund for the financial support of Tommy Ferguson, 6, and his sister, Cindy, 3½.

Tommy was injured in the wreck and is still in the hospital. His sister was only shaken up. But their parents, Tom and Lila Ferguson, were among the 30 persons who lost their lives in the disaster.

But the old folks do not have enough money to see the children through high school and college.

So the townspeople have undertaken to see to that. The American Legion, the 20-30 Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce started the ball rolling with a $250 contribution. Since then the money has been pouring in and every effort is being made to raise a fund of several thousand dollars.

There are more than 200,000 service stations in the U.S., 95 per cent of them owned or operated by independent local dealers.

50 Gotham Taxi Cabs to Have Air Conditioning

NEW YORK (INS)—New York taxi-cab riders are in for a cool and comfortable summer this year —if they are sharp of eye and fleet of foot.

A fleet of fifty cabs and some privately - owned taxis will be equipped with "air conditioning."

However, the police department hack bureau will not allow such cabs to be marked as "air conditioned," claiming it would mean unfair competition.

The only way for sweltering cab-catchers to get relief will be to spot the special equipment on the cab, and flag it down before someone else does.

Trash Disposal Answer Simple

City Has Collection; Others May Contact Private Collector

With the influx of new residents to the city of Walled Lake and surrounding townships, what to do with garbage and rubbish has become a problem for many.

For those who live within the city limits, the answer is simple, say township officials. All garbage and trash are picked up either Tuesday or Wednesday of each week, depending upon the area in which the city resident lives.

Residents must be sure that the disposable material is in the proper type of container and available for collection. City taxes provide for this service and Gus McCreedy has the contract for the city.

Those who reside in nearby townships have a more complicated problem. Usually the simplest solution is to contact one of the private collectors who operate in the area making regular weekly pickups. For a modest sum, according to officials, garbage and trash are regularly removed and can't accumulate to become a nuisance.

The individual who prefers to make his own disposal can bury his garbage or burn it.

There is no dump where garbage can be taken for the simple reason that unless garbage is properly disposed of it can constitute a menace to health, they added.

Tin cans and other non-burnable trash may be taken to the dump at the Walker gravel pit on South Hill road three miles west of Wixom. This dump is the only known one in the vicinity of Walled Lake.

State Trooper, Scoutmaster

Rotarians Announce New Leaders of Group in Romeo

ROMEO — State Trooper Joseph Sorelle of the Romeo post has been named scoutmaster of Troop 87 with former scoutmaster James Stein appointed to act as his assistant.

Culminating months of work local Rotarians announced the new leaders but added that before reorganization of the Romeo troop can be completed a regular meeting place must be found. A number of churches have been contacted as well as local schools, but Dr. David J. Rees, Rotary Boy Scout committeeman said, "All of these facilities are in constant demand by their own organizations." Investigation of other locations continues, the committeeman added.

Present plans call for a February meeting of scouts and their parents when the problems of reorganization will be presented.

The local troop has been inactive since June, 1955, when Stein resigned because of press of other duties.

Clinton Valley Council officials, Rotarians under the chairmanship of Richard Manahan and cubmaster Harold Hayes are still trying to provide a scouting program for 75 to 100 boys.

Set Tentative March Date for Bond Issue Election

By MARTHA LEWIS
Ortonville Correspondent

ORTONVILLE—Plans for a new high school and a four room elementary building have been announced to the Brandon Township Schools PTA here.

The high school would consist of 21 classrooms, in addition to the present gymnasium. It would include home economics department, industrial arts, science, commercial and music departments.

The high school would be built on the 53-acre site of the Brandon Schools, next to the gymnasium.

Supt. E. J. Hungerford announced today that the cost of the two buildings will be $650,000 and a tentative date for a bond issue election will be sometime in March.

Plans for the buildings have been drawn by Neal B. Smith of Royal Oak. John W. Thomas of Flint is the school attorney.

OFFERS 7 ACRES

A site of seven acres for the elementary building was offered by Michael Chernick, Detroit realtor, and the Board of Education accepted the property. It is located west of Kearsley Creek and north of East Glass road approximately ½ mile south of here.

Cost of the high school building, according to Hungerford, would be $450,000. This would not include necessary equipment for the laboratory, office equipment, or school room furniture. This equipment is valued at $68,000; improvement of site and lighting of athletic field, $20,000; four room elementary building, $80,000.

Cost to the taxpayers for the new buildings would be $8 per $1,000 on property valuation according to state equalization valuation. Cost of the present bond issue voted in 1954 is $6 per $1,000, making a total cost of $14 per $1,000 of property valuation.

School costs for building and operating will be $25 per $1,000 of property valuation.

Length of the bond issues would extend over a period of 30 years. On the money available there will be $350,000 of bonds that will be "callable," according to Supt. Hungerford. "This would lessen the amount of interest," he said.

BUILT IN 1912

The present Brandon Township High School was built in 1912, with four rooms added in 1917.

Size of the rooms in the building are 25x25 feet. The science laboratory was built and equipped in 1924 for 17 pupils. Now there are five high school classes with a total of 145 pupils using the equipment. The present library and science laboratory are not approved by the University of Michigan.

The state fire marshal did not approve the lighting and safety of building as it now stands. Also, the Oakland County Health Department stated that rest room facilities, ventilation and lighting do not meet the proper standards.

A citizens committee studied the classroom shortage and agreed with the Board of Education that the proposed buildings are necessary.

Auca Indians Least Known

Tribe Which Recently Slew Five Americans Missionaries Puzzling

WASHINGTON—Ecuador's Auca Indians, who killed five United States missionaries early this year, remain among the least known tribes on the face of the earth.

Roaming the unexplored forests of the "Oriente," the back country of eastern Ecuador beyond the Andes along headwaters of the Amazon, these people take their very name from a word meaning "rebellious" or "enemy."

The Aucas number perhaps 2,000 in all. The males are stout and affect long hair. In the ovenlike climate they pursue their warring and hunting, smeared eerily with bright clays, and wearing little else. In ceremonial dances, they add feather headdresses and thread and feather armlets.

Many of them stretch their ear lokes to grotesque lengths, sometimes to the shoulders. Such adornment is shared by the women only after marriage. Feathers projecting at 45-degree angles are inserted through punctured holes in the nose. Monkey teeth dangle from lips. The men are monogamous, although chiefs may take two wives, one authority asserts.

All attempts to civilize the Aucas have been fiercely resisted. They even shun the other Indian jungle tribes, who hold them in extreme fear. The scant impressions made by white men in the Ecuadorean Oriente since Spanish explorations in the 16th century have left the Aucas unaffected by any form of civilization.

In the Oriente, inhabited by many Indians, the Jivaros (Jibaros) are probably the largest tribe. They reside in the southeastern jungles along the Pastaza, ..omangoza, Santiago, Zamora, Upano and Morona Rivers.

Actual river dragging operations were under way when Trooper Brooks ,following Gary's tracks like he would those of a rabbit, found the lad some two miles from him home, safe, but cold and crying.

Japanese Leaders Back Anti-Communist Drive

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's two top leaders today pledged cooperation with the United States and the anti-Communist world, a drive against communism at home and efforts to roll back some of the changes wrought by defeat and occupation.

In almost identical words in policy speeches to the Diet, Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama and Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu said friendship with the United States would be a keynote of national policy as Japan gropes toward a more dominant role in world affairs.

Both asked a continued buildup of Japan's growing military forces, keyed to eventual withdrawal of American troops.

Ford said yesterday the reactor, similar to the one the AEC demonstrated last summer at Geneva, would be installed in the center court of the Ford rotunda in suburban Dearborn.

The company said it plans a public presentation of "peaceful uses of the atom" under direction of Andrew A. Kucher, director of the Ford scientific laboratory.

The live reactor, the company said, will be operated as part of a demonstration designed "to acquaint the public with atomic energy and the enormous potentials it holds for the present and future peacetime applications in industry, agriculture medicine, power and many other fields."

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

ON BIG TASK — Rear Adm. George M. Dufek, commander of flotilla moving men and supplies of U. S. exepedition to South Pole, watches operations from USS Arneb.

First irrigation project of size was started by the Mormons in 1847 when they diverted water from a stream to their fields near what is now Salt Lake City.

Traffic Engineer Seeking to Cut Congestion

The city's newest department, traffic engineering under the direction of Theodore M. Vanderstempel, made noticeable gains during 1955 towards alleviating traffic congestion in the city.

Actual traffic surveys of 98 intersections were taken for the first time by the department in 12-hour periods from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Analysis of these surveys showed the heaviest vehicular movement to be at Huron-Telegraph where 31,851 vehicles were counted.

The Saginaw and Huron intersection proved to be second heaviest traveled junction where 11,576 vehicles were recorded.

Pedestrian traffic checks in downtown Pontiac were made for 15 minute periods of the 12 hour checks at 48 intersections and showed 143,736 pedestrians counted.

Heaviest pedestrian movement was noted at Saginaw and Lawrence streets.

As the result of these traffic counts, six streets have been converted to one-way operation. In some cases, left hand turns have been abolished and right hand turns were re-established.

Another accomplishment of the department in 1955 was to standardize the distance between on-street parking meters to 23 feet, necessitating 481 meters to be relocated.

This was done to facilitate easier backing into parking stalls and thus shorten the time that traffic is halted behind a car which is being parked.

To make it easier to turn at intersections, parking along the curb was cut back to 50 feet from the building line. To accomplish this, the department ordered the relocations of jitney and taxi stands as well as two newstands.

The department plans to re-time many traffic signals to 90 seconds in 1956, to accommodate a larger number of vehicles. Most of the downtown lights are presently timed at 60 seconds.

Complete studies of railroad crossings were made during the past year and the results were made known last week when the Michigan Public Service Commission ordered Grand Trunk Railroad to install safety gates at the Saginaw-Wilson crossing.

TV Set Electrocutes Four-Year-Old Boy

Gary Putnam was viewing a program with his mother Mrs. Arnold Putnam and his half-sister.

"One minute he was sitting there and when I looked again he was lying on the floor," the weeping mother related.

Authorities said the boy simultaneously touched the metal chassis of the television set and a nearby radiator. A short circuit in the set sent current through his body.

More Scientists Plan Proposed

TV Executive Sarnoff Urges Teachers' Pool to Boost Total

WASHINGTON (INS)—Gen. David Sarnoff has proposed that industry set up a pool of teachers from its ranks to assure the nation of enough scientists, engineers, and technicians in the future.

The RCA board chairman said such a "national educational reserve" was needed to win the race with Russia in crucial technical know-how.

Sarnoff made the novel suggestion in a speech accepting the James Forrestal award of the National Security Industrial Assn.

He pointed out that the Russians are graduating twice as many trained engineers as the U. S. and that this nation has serious shortages of trained men and women.

BOLD DECISIONS

He commented that "bold, prompt and definite" decisions are necessary to meet the threat of Soviet developments in the field of nuclear weapons and guided missiles.

Sarnoff advocated this program: "I propose the establishment of a 'national education reserve' comprising qualified teachers in mathematics, physics, chemistry, engineering and related subjects, to be drawn from the technological ranks of industry.

"I have in mind the release—and with full pay for at least a year—of a reasonable number of assignments in their local schools.

"This unique reserve could also mobilize those who have reached retirement age but whose knowledge and experience would make them inspiring teachers. In addition, it could include qualified people willing to volunteer their services to teach in night schools without givng up their industry jobs."

Firm Launches Research Into Car Horn Sounds

The Packard-Clipper division of Studebaker - Packard Corporation has announced the establishment of a special engineering section to study automobile horn sounds and conduct research for the development of new horn sounds.

The company said it had conducted a survey among prominent psychologists, and that the results of the survey indicated that the majority of today's drivers respond to the sounding of an automotive horn as if being "arbitrarily demanded to do something, rather than being politely asked in the interests of driving safety."

Work Horse Blows Top, Kills Elk and Proceeds

STOCKHOLM (INS) — A work horse, annoyed enough by the load of timber it was hauling, blew its top when an elk refused to get out of its way on a country road in Sweden.

The horse broke the elk's spine with its front legs and then dragged the heavy timber sleigh across the elk's body.

Dog, Cat to Pay Inheritance Tax on $2,500 Will

BOSTON (INS)—The tax situation in Massachusetts has really gone to the dogs—to a dog and a cat, that is.

Camilla, a cocker spaniel, and Annie, a Maltese cat, due to inherit $2500 under the will of their late owner, Miss Mary E. B. Smith of Waltham, are due to become the state's newest taxpayers.

Each will have to pay a tax of 6 per cent on $1,200 as the state department of corporations and taxation places animals in the class D "all others" category for inheritance tax purposes.

John Dane Jr., state tax commissioner, said today that if Camilla and Annie, "have any objections, I would prefer to discuss the matter with them rather than their attorney."

Under the will of middle aged Miss Smith, the animals are to get $40 a month for food. They are to be cared for by Bertha Thomas, of Waltham, until it becomes inconvenient. Then they are to be turned over to Mrs. Katheryn Grenier, of Watertown.

170 Ships, 20,000 Sailors Slated by West Germany

BONN (INS) — The new West German navy will consist of 21 squadrons totaling 170 ships and 20,000 men and will be ready for action in about four years time.

Today's issue of the West German official information bulletin contained the facts about the federal republic's future navy.

Military Jet Record: 4350 Miles; 8:31 Hrs.

ALBANY, Ga. (INS) — A record time for cross-continental flight has been made by two F-84F jets on a 4,350 mile round trip coast to coast nonstop flight in 8 hours and 31 minutes.

The Strategic Air Command, to which the planes are assigned, announced the record time yesterday.

The planes flew from Turner Air Force Base at Albany, Ga., to Los Angeles and back by way of Savannah, Ga.

SAC officials said the planes refueled in flight several times. They averaged 509 m.p.h. on the return, 1,893 miles, in 3 hours 34 minutes, helped by tailwinds.

Solons OK Nomination for U. S. Health Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee has approved President Eisenhower's nomination of Herold C. Hunt, of Massachusetts, to be undersecretary of health, education and welfare.

Also approved were:

John Edward Mulroney of Iowa to be a judge of the Tax Court of the United States.

S. Power Warren of Denver to be assayer of the Mint of the United States at Denver.

Fined for Elk Killing

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Lee Arnold and Donald L. Johnson of Northville said they thought they were shooting at a deer when they killed an elk while hunting in Cheboygan County last November. The judge told them, in effect, to take a better look next time in fining each $150.

Dance Club Gathers at Orchard Lake Saturday

Pontiac Press Photos

When the photographer strolled by he found Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fay dancing to a popular waltz. They were among those attending the midwinter dance held by the Canterbury Club.

Treatment of Friend Criticized

Repairman Hurt by Failure to Receive Introduction

By EMILY POST

A reader tells me: "The husband of a friend does television repairing as a side job. The other evening he was at our house repairing our television set when some friends came to visit me. I did not introduce him to these friends simply because I thought an introduction was unnecessary as he was not there on a social call.

"However, his wife called me the next day and said that her husband was very much hurt because I did not introduce him to my friends and told her that he thought I was ashamed of him.

"Was an introduction necessary under the circumstances? I would very much appreciate your opinion on this matter."

Answer: I'm sorry to have to say that your behavior was very unkind. Had he been a stranger entering your house to do a job, you would certainly not have introduced him.

But as a friend you should definitely have introduced him, saying, "This is Mr. Smith, a friend of ours, who is fixing our set."

There are four pages in today's Women's Section

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong for a young girl to go to see a man friend, who is sick, at his house? His parents will, of course, be there but I have been told that, even so, it would not be the proper thing to do. Your opinion will be appreciated."

Answer: If you know this family, it would be quite all right to telephone his mother and ask if John is well enough to see you and if she says "yes," you ask when will be the best time for you to come.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it is proper to give a stork shower after the arrival of a baby? I was planning on giving such a shower for a friend of mine but the baby arrived earlier than expected and I am not sure whether I should go ahead with my plans."

Answer: Certainly you may give the shower. In fact, in my opinion, the baby's presence would add greatly to the picture.

Sisterhood to Celebrate Anniversary

County Groups to Observe 87th Birthday Feb. 4

The Oakland County Cooperative Group of PEO Sisterhood will celebrate the 87th birthday anniversary of its founding Saturday. The occasion will be a 12:30 p.m. luncheon at the Birmingham Community House.

Dr. Chester A. McPheeters, minister of the Metropolitan Methodist Church in Detroit, will be guest speaker.

This last summer Dr. and Mrs. McPheeters toured the Middle East and visited the Holy Land. He will use as his theme, "What is Happening in the Middle East?"

PEO has grown from an organization started by seven girls attending Iowa Wesleyan College in 1869, to an organization of 100,000 women. Their primary objectives are cultural and educational.

In Michigan there are more than 80 chapters, 13 of which are in Oakland County.

An educational loan fund and international peace scholarships are supported by them. They also own Cottey College, a junior college in Nevada, Mo.

Tribute to the founders will be given by Mrs. Ralph Moore and Mrs. Wallis Dolan, Chapter CG in Birmingham. Mrs. Boyd Couchman, Chapter AV, Pleasant Ridge, is chairman of Oakland County Cooperative.

Mrs. John O. Maynard, Chapter BQ, Birmingham, will be chairman of the day. Mrs. H. G. Wood, Mrs. Seth B. Slawson and Mrs. Harvey Bushnell of Chapter AX, Birmingham, are in charge of table decorations. Mrs. J. R. Cowin, Chapter AQ, Ferndale is handling reservations for the affair.

MacDowell Chorus to Sing

The MacDowell Male Chorus of Pontiac will be hosts to male choruses from Detroit, Flint, Lansing, Port Huron, Wyandotte, Ann Arbor and Midland Feb. 11th. A treat is in store for those attending this concert, which will be held in the Pontiac High School Boy's Gymnasium at 8:15 p.m.

Also appearing will be the Pontiac High School Boys' Glee Club under the direction of George H. Putnam, director of vocal music for the Pontiac High School.

Over 350 men are expected from the various clubs. Part of the program will consist of solo numbers by the individual clubs and part will be numbers sung by the massed group.

Among the clubs participating in this concert will be the Detroit Schoolmen's Chorus, the Ann Arbor Lyra Male Chorus, the Flint A.C. Spark Plug Male Chorus and the Lansing Orpheus Club.

Other clubs that are joining in are the Chevrolet-Flint Male Chorus, the Flint-Norton Male Chorus, the Dow Male Chorus of Midland, the Wyandotte Orpheus Club, the Port Huron Schubert Club and the Detroit Chevrolet Glee Club.

Rafters will shake when 350 men raise their voices in song.

The massed numbers and individual club solos will include spirituals, religious, popular and sea chanties. In fact every type of musical literature will be performed.

A similar "sing" was held here several years ago and was well received by an enthusiastic audience.

Tickets may be purchased from members of the MacDowell Male Chorus and the Pontiac Exchange Club.

Piano Sharps Turning Brown in New Styles

CHICAGO (INS) — Do black sharps on the keyboard of a brown-toned piano jar your color sense?

If so, you can now have sharps done in brown set off by new blue-white key coverings, thanks to stylists at one piano firm.

Their styles vary from Chippendale, Regency, Queen Anne, French Provincial and Early American to streamlined modern. One modern design even has wrought iron legs.

Pianos come in a lot of finishes nowadays, too. These include walnut, limed oak, fruitwood, maple, blond mahogany, cherry and a silver-grained black wood.

One of the firm's pianos is so small it can fit in a trailer. This model comes in colors, including blue and red.

Mrs. Robert Baker Entertains League

Big Flashy Jewelry to Feature '56 Wear

The vogue in costume jewelry for this Spring and Summer will be giant, eye-catching ornaments.

Some necklaces will circle the throat with as many as eight and nine strands, the magazine says. Earrings, the largest in years, will have such shapes as bells and pyramids. Jumbo brooches and giant-sized buttons in the form of sunbursts and sea shells also are being produced.

The main reason for the swing to giant jewelry is the simplicity of coming Spring and Summer clothes. Apparel is scheduled to be plain with soft, one-color shades. The splash of jewelry should focus attention, and offer contrast to the clothes.

Couple Married in Detroit Rite

BIRMINGHAM—Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. G. Copeland of Hupp Cross road, announce the marriage of their daughter, Cynthia Resoner, and Jerrain O. Van Tuyl Nov. 5 in Detroit. Mr. Van Tuyl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Van Tuyl of Detroit.

The couple is living in Lansing where Jerry is a student in the Business Administration School at Michigan State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Marvin of Royal Oak announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Lee, to Ronald Allan Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Goff of Mount Clemens street. No date has been set for the wedding.

Residents, Guests Fill City

Miami Set for Motorama

By ETHEL TOMBRINK

MIAMI—The Lipton Cup race Saturday, and the Miami to Nassau Race tomorrow means that sailing talk predominated over the weekend.

But now all thoughts are on Friday's opening of General Motors Motorama when several hundred invited guests will preview the '56 show. After that, the Dinner Key auditorium in the Coconut Grove will be jammed with residents and visitors from all over south Florida to view the latest in automobiles.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clark will drive down from their vacation spot in Lauderdale-By-The-Sea for Friday's preview. They arrived in South Florida the middle of this month and expect to stay 'til the last of February.

They're busy now with time tables and travel folders preparing for a jaunt through the Caribbean. The Clarks will leave next week (the 10th or so) for a 10-day tour of Havana, Cuba, Port au Prince, Haiti, Kingston, Jamaica and other spots in the islands south of us.

They haven't taken in the races at Hialeah yet, but expect to someday this week. They have, however, driven across the state to Clearwater to visit relatives.

Up in Carol City, a new development just northwest of Miami, Mr. and Mrs. James 'Doc' Hurlbut are entertaining several members of his family — his sister and her daughter-in-law and daughter, and a brother and his wife and four grandchildren. The visitors have just arrived and the group will probably spend a lot of time on the beach.

The Hurlbuts moved into their new home in the Carol City area a year ago and have been busy planting shrubs and trees and getting the house in order. Mrs. Hurlbut is a member of the Opa-Locka Business and Professional Women's Club.

Since arriving early in January, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Fraumann have passed the time renewing friendships with Miamians they've met in past trips. They're expecting friends from Wabash, Ind. down soon.

First Lady Wears Same Dress Often

Admirers of Mrs. Eisenhower's gay good taste in clothes are amused these days to see how often she is seen and photographed in the dress she christened "Mamie's Folly" when she bought it three years ago.

In vivid violet taffeta, with a high-bosomed tucked bodice, scoop neck, and full skirt with a pleated hipline, the dress, by Mollie Parnis, Mrs. Eisenhower's favorite designer, was one of those irresistible things to the First Lady, but she was "absolutely sure she'd never wear it," she told Miss Parnis.

Well, she wore it first at the Prsident's first birthday party in the White House, and she has worn it steadily since on gala occasions. Most recently Mamie's Folly was the choice of Mrs. Eisenhower for the great Salute to Eisenhower dinner.

Allemanders Dance in Drayton School

Balenciaga OKs Label for U.S. Use

Vogue Hat Designs Sparking Interest in Best Shops

Balenciaga, who has been the focus for fashion excitement for many years, creates a new kind of fashion excitement in his latest move.

He has accorded to an American hat firm the exclusive right to use the Balenciaga label in the reproduction of his original designs in hats.

The silhouettes are sleek and unobstructed, completely right for the clothes and the type beloved by the soignee American woman.

The models have been interpreted in fabrics which make many of the hats timely for immediate wear, including imported black cire satin, pure silks, as well as paillasson and exotic straws.

Balenciaga plans to send to America a series of his original designs every month in the year, so that a constant flow of new ideas will be available to the press and stores throughout the country. A member of the American firm will go to Paris at the time the two big collections are being designed, to consult with M. Balenciaga.

A colorful refrigerator dish or plastic recipe file box will hold stale bread and other leftovers on your counter shelf til serving time—for the birds.

Temptations Beset Home Worker

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I always thought I'd like to have a home project and make some extra money," Elinor told me sadly, "but now I realize I haven't got what it takes.

* * *

"I don't mean brains, I'm smart enough to pass; I don't mean energy, I've a lot of that; and I don't mean interest, I love sewing and we need extra money.

"But what I haven't got, and what a lot of women haven't got, is will power."

She looked at me sadly, as though hoping I might comfort her or maybe even give her a shot of some miracle drug which would give her plenty of will power.

We talked it over for a while. It was a typical story. Elinor had always worked hard, first in an office and then after she married.

She worked very hard, keeping the house and taking care of two babies. And now that the babies had grown and entered grade school, she wanted to sew at home and make some extra income.

GOT ORDERS

"I'm good at it," she told me, "and I got quite a few orders from the first ad I put in our local paper. I offered to do alterations at home, expertly and reasonably.

"But I fell down badly on actually doing the work. I disappointed the first two customers by not being able to deliver the finished goods when I had promised. I should have been able to, but things kept happening.

"I've about come to the conclusion," she continued, "that I'd better get a part-time job in our big dress shop, doing alterations, or maybe in a department store.

"Perhaps I should work for another seamstress. Then, if I have to arrive at a certain time, and work on their premises certain hours, I'll get the work done.

"But it would be so much more pleasant to do it at home!"

Elinor has a problem typical of many young mothers. As I told her, she blames herself too much.

It is awfully hard to work at home, because the interruptions distract you and the temptations are enormous.

When a seam is going badly, it's so easy to put it down and do some job that's crying to be done in the house, like cleaning the kitchen floor.

It's easy to kid yourself that it really has to be done. Then, next thing you know, the sewing is forgotten for the day.

Elinor is going to get her job outside the home, because she knows she can't do it at home. If you're thinking of a home business, check first to see how good you are at resisting temptation!

Americans Buy Toys at Enormous Rate

Three hundred million American-made toys, games and puzzles were bought this Christmas, say the Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A., Inc. Two-thirds of these were presents for children in the immediate family.

Some 16 per cent, or more than 46,000,000 toys were bought for children outside the immediate family such as nieces, nephews, cousins, etc.

Grandma and Grandpa bought about ten per cent of the total toys sold—30,000,000 toys.

Bigger Lamps in Demand

NEW YORK (INS)—Lamps, says one expert, are getting bigger than ever—"Particularly those intended for bedrooms, dining rooms and bathrooms."

Isadore Rosenblatt, president of a light fixture concern, adds:

"These days it's not uncommon to have someone ask for a four-foot-long light for the bathroom. In previous years, no one would have dreamed of a four-foot light over a medicine cabinet."

Rosenblatt also claims that the ceiling fixture is coming into its own, after years of neglect.

"If you're having a party," he says, "and you want everyone to be well-lit, then spotlight type lights are no help—they'll only illuminate five or six people. A ceiling fixture will light everyone.

"Besides, people are becoming more aware of the health aspect of ceiling lights. Insufficient light often can cause eyestrain."

Rosenblatt adds that style trends in lighting are going traditional because people want to mix modern with conventional in their decor. He says that his firm has found the greatest call for period lights comes in the colonial category.

He claims every color is popular these days, but black and brass, or just brass, still dominate the field.

Pink has invaded the kitchen. But it's also quite the thing in lingerie. Once, only white was acceptable. But now, pale pink's very much in fashion.

Toss Some Bouquets in Beau's Direction

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: We've been going together for two years (we're both 14)—and he's always saying that I don't like him. It isn't true at all—so it always starts an argument.

"We have broken up about four times, but always manage to get together again. He's always accusing me of liking another boy. What can I do with him?"

Answer: When was the last time you tossed him a well-aimed bouquet? When did you tell him right out loud and in so many words that you liked the way he looked, the tone of his voice, the things he said and thought? When did you last puff all up with pride over something he did, so he could enjoy the performance?

Compliment-passing isn't an activity strictly reserved for the males of the race. Lots of girls think so, I'm sure.

They expect to be told nice things by the boys they go with. They thrive on the sweet things that are said to and about them. But don't for a minute think that boys don't like to hear words of praise, too.

Obviously, your boy friend is looking for reassurance that you do like him. He needles you constantly, just asking for it. He forces you to protest your devotion.

And because you're being pressed, you acknowledge it resentfully and reluctantly. This does little to ease his mind. It just causes arguments.

I'd say that the way to insure peace between you would be to give him peace without his asking for it. That means the abrupt end of taking him coolly for granted. It ends the little game of taking outspoken admiration without giving back same.

And it starts a new routine of patting him on the back every time you see him. Speaking out your pleasure in knowing him and being with him, without being prompted.

Such a routine will do much to persuade him that you are really interested in him. That you couldn't possibly say such nice things to him and about him without meaning it. And that you couldn't mean it about him and entertain any real interest in anyone else at the same time.

But should he tease you by naming some particular boy, full-scale denial won't alibi you as much as little remarks will. Toss comments carelessly into the conversation, aimed at letting him know that the other boy isn't 100 per cent with you.

And you don't have to wait to be asked for them, either. Offer some pointed remarks about his feet of clay quite on your own. Your boy friend will begin to realize he has nothing to worry about in that direction.

When it's so obvious that a boy has a big question on his mind, it's smart of a girl to give him the answer before she's asked.

'Horse Tails,' Buttons of Fur, Crystal Drops

Created by Hair-Dresser Carita Alexandre, this "horsey hairdo" is catching on rapidly. The hair is brushed back and up for the horse-tail style. But instead of being on one skein, it's divided into two or three, one underneath the other. Each part is tressed into a pig-tail and fastened with a ribbon to a loop. Thus a girl may show two or three pig-tail loops from the top down to the back of the head.

Winnipeg, capital of Manitoba, claims Canada's largest bonspiel, or curling meet. The sport curling is somewhat like bowling.

British Women to Look Gayer

LONDON (INS)—British women will have a gay face this winter.

Make-up experts have perfected some 40 different colors in eye-shadow and there has never been such a wide range of colors to choose from in foundation, powder, lipstick, rouge, mascara and nail lacquer.

And the original way of using eye-shadow to match your eyes is as dead as the dodo.

Experts warn, however, eye-shadow will add brightness to your face and sparkle to your eyes. It should be applied sparingly during the day and more generously in the evening.

Parisian Cottons Run Color Gamut

Made for the snowy mountains or the sunny South, the latest French cotton garments come in such gay shades as coral, salmon, strawberry, shocking pink, lemon, turquoise and blonde tobacco.

For ski-blouses water - proofed cotton poplin this year is popular with the French sports girls. The "classic" French skiing outfit here is composed of streamlined black or dark colored trousers and a turtle-necked sweater and worn out doors with a gaily colored or white poplin overblouse. This top is often cut with a hood which has a face-framing Eskimo fur trim as the 1956 fashion note.

Jacques Heim proposes a lemon colored cotton skiing jacket bloused into a low waist-band. Pierre Cardin shows an overshirt in a striking shocking pink. Hermes has come up with a half-and-half skiing top of which the back half is black and the front half almond green. It is worn with black trousers.

Lanvin-Castillo designed tobacco colored poplin ski-trousers worn with a black poplin wind-breaker. The jacket is cut in one with a hood framing the face with a band of brown and black wolf-fur in Eskimo style.

ALL-IN-ONE

For after-ski wear a fancy, trousered all-in-one outfit is made by Heim of turquoise blue satin cotton. Its cut is functional but its trimming is not. The outfit is trimmed with a cuffed patch-pocket right on the . . "derriere."

If you prefer the sun to the snow a double-purpose cotton duster will be the thing for the early season. Cardin has designed a tailored one in a bright coral waterproof cotton satin. You can wear it now down south as a duster and later in the city as a raincoat. It also will stand in as an evening coat over a summer dress later in the year.

A very stylish yet simple looking cotton house-dress has been designed by Henry a la Pensee. It is of pale strawberry colored cotton style with a high collarless neck and three-quarter, wide sleeves. The special note is brought in by a wide elastic waist-band with and white horizontal stripes.

Another cotton outfit for around the house is right in the modish Oriental style. It is a housecoat of quilted, salmon colored cotton with the hem slit up on both sides and a Mandarin stand-up collar.

Beware of 'Social Adjustment' Fad

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. L.'s 12-year-old Miriam attends a school which recently tested its students' "social adjustment." The test, polling their opinions of each other, showed that only two youngsters found Miriam likeable enough to want permanent friendship with her.

Apparently, this fact has shocked the school. Regarding it as too sinister to report to Miriam, it has confided it to her mother. Mrs. L., in a very anxious letter, confides it to me asking, "What can I do to improve the child's social adjustment?"

In these situations, we do battle with our own passion to be found "likeable" by Miriam's teachers.

It is our craving for their approval as a blameless parent that makes Miriam's popularity failure so depressing. At least, I must suggest this probability.

* * *

The chance is, our anxious wish that Miriam make a better impression on her fellow classmates is just our own need to make a better one on her teachers—our fellow adults.

UNREALISTIC WISH

It is an unrealistic wish. For the reality is that we are fortunate to make five true friends in the course of our lifetime. At the age of 12, Miriam has made two. That's doing very well indeed, regardless of her showing on the applause-meter of this "social adjustment" test.

Her mother's problem is not improving other people's opinions of herself and Miriam—but developing better independence of them.

This "social adjustment" craze is very hard on parents. For underlying it is the poisonous and subtle suggestion that our value can only be measured by other people's admiration of us.

Thus, the "social adjustment" craze has made inoffensiveness into a supreme moral value. Its infantile reverence for external approval has had great influence on parents.

If we don't wake up to its effect upon us, its stress on conformity can reduce us all to children.

If teachers wish to make psychological diagnoses of children, it seems to me that they should quit teaching and enter psychology.

For if ever there was a field of knowledge in which smattering of it could drive everybody crazy, it is the field of psychology—and amateurs' half-baked, half-understood, carelessly organized theories of social adjustment.

Sliced Nuts Add Glamor to Casserole

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Recipes that you try and try again, each time adding a new touch, are the fascinating kind. They become truly your own creations. Such a recipe is Mrs. Howard McIntyre's Chicken Almondine. We are definitely going to try it for our next buffet supper party.

Though she has no children of her own, Mrs. McIntyre is deeply interested in young people and works weekly with a church youth group. She is a member of the Tuesday Musicale Chorus. Other of her interests include sewing and cooking.

CHICKEN ALMONDINE

By Mrs. Howard McIntyre

1 stewing hen, weighing 5 pounds
1 pound fresh mushrooms
1 pint thin cream
½ cup sherry wine (optional)
1 cup blanched almonds
4 slices bread, preferably whole wheat
Butter or margarine
6 tablespoons flour

Cook chicken until tender. Add celery tops, 1 sliced carrot, 1 teaspoon rosemary and 1 tablespoon salt to cooking water. Remove meat from bones. Strain broth and set aside.

Make a thin cream sauce with 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, flour, cream and 1 quart chicken broth. Saute mushrooms in butter. Blanch and halve almonds and saute in butter.

Cut slices of bread in very small cubes and saute in butter. Butter a large casserole. Place a layer of chicken on the bottom, cover with a layer of sauce and mushrooms, then a layer of sauteed bread cubes. Repeat until casserole is filled. Pour almonds over top.

Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees. This may be served over rice to make it go farther. But in itself, it is a complete dish. Serves 8.

The flapper's slouch is back again, achieved through a rounded shoulder line and dropped belt. This three piece ensemble by Monte-Sano and Pruzan, is done in yellow and black English knit tweed.

Harem, Grecian Looks Featured for Springtime

NEW YORK (INS)—Two New York fashion houses have indicated that fashionable women this spring will look like harem favorites in the daytime and Grecian statues at night.

Athony Blotta is sponsoring the harem look with slim new harem skirts which give a new effect to the basic sheath dress. The dresses remain slim on top, bloom out in the skirt, and are finished at the hemline with wide bands to contain the easy blousing.

Blotta also likes a new top for the sheath—a little caped jacket which he calls the "cupola." This has a triple cape tier, and is done over slim dresses in two tones of one color — like pink with raspberry.

The "Grecian column" exponent is Gothe, designer for David Gottlieb, a firm that specializes in swanky evening clothes. Drifting chiffon in both floor and day-length dresses is draped in classic Grecian style.

The gowns, of white, gray or pale green chiffon, have draped bodices and occasionally a floating panel over one shoulder.

Beauty Tips to Remember

Here's a small collection of beauty tricks that can help us all:

Keep the color, size and style sticker from the new stocking envelopes so that later purchases can be matched for economy.

Store the fiber, washing or dry cleaning instruction tags from new garments in a location convenient to the laundry hamper.

Belts should hang on the closet door near the clothes so that selection can be made without the difficulty of unrolling them from the drawer.

Garments that are folded upon removal from an automatic dryer rather than being jumbled in a cart and then folded later can often be used without ironing.

Morning light is clear and make-up should be correspondingly light and clear.

BECAUSE HAIRCUT

Marine Discoveries Credited to Hirohito

The biologist is Emperor Hirohito, and Prof. Genki Eguchi of Tohoku University said his imperial highness has discovered three species of coral, hitherto unknown in Japanese waters.

The professor said the emperor sent him the specimens he had gathered three years ago and he finally has identified them as belonging to the genera stenohalia, erina and alopora.

Report Finding of Virus Killer

Use Radioactive Cobalt in Revolutionary Tests for Polio Vaccine

CARMEL, Calif. (INS)—A West Coast scientist has reported a revolutionary new method to inactivate viruses through the use of radioactive rays which could pave the way to perfectly safe Salk anti-polio vaccine.

Dr. Russell T. Jordan, chairman of the department of microbiology at the City of Hope Medical Center and of the University of California at Los Angeles, outlined the new method to the annual meeting of the western section of the American Federation for Clinical Research in Carmel.

Dr. Jordan accomplishes the feat of inactivating polio and other types of viruses through the use of radioactive cobalt.

The method, he said, renders the viruses completely "dead," thus removing all possibility of the vaccine causing polio.

Dr. Jordan said by placing the viruses near the radioactive cobalt he can produce enough material for 50,000 inoculations within 24 hours.

Scientists at the meeting hailed Dr. Jordan's accomplishment as a definite improvement over the present chemical means employed to inactive polio virus in the Salk vaccine.

That method consists of immersing the viruses in a series of formaldehyde baths. Many experts feel that too often the formaldehyde methods fails to inactivate the viruses to the safe point.

Dr. Jordan said he hopes that subsequent experiments with his new method may produce safe vaccines for many other types of infections caused by viruses.

Long Island Train Gets Traffic Ticket

BABYLON, N. Y. (INS)—Woes never seem to cease for the Long Island Railroad. Now it's traffic tickets.

Engineer W. L. Davis, of Massapequa Park, N. Y., stopped his train at the Babylon Station. The railroad has been adding cars recently, and the rear half of the last car blocked Crall avenue, a main street in Babylon.

Mayor Gilbert C. Hanse and police Chief James B. Nolan handed engineer Davis a traffic summons for blocking the thoroughfare. They also ordered Conductor G. H. Rennerberg of Massapequa to appear with Davis before a police justice on Feb. 7.

More Farm Statistics

WASHINGTON (INS) — About 95 per cent of cash income from farming is received by about 55 per cent of the farmers, says a new report of the Twentieth Century Fund. The New York Research and Educational Foundation also notes that, as of 1950, 57 to 58 per cent of the country's farms were operated by full-time farmers; about 15 per cent by part-owners, and 27 per cent by tenants.

Area Expansion Rate to Reach Record Heights

RING IN THE NEW — A new era in Pontiac Press efforts to improve service to readers and customers was signaled Saturday with the cut-over of its manual dial system to dial PBX. Above, Edward J. Novak (pointing), district manager for the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., explains the intricate wiring system to Horace F. Brodie, Press executive vice president and advertising director. The system enables staff members to dial each other directly and to make outside calls without going through the operator, thus freeing her for attention to incoming calls.

His Nod Could Shape History

This Doctor Named White..

DR. PAUL DUDLEY WHITE — Visitor's chair big and soft.

BOSTON — A country doctor's son, whose loves include whales, trees and bicycles, may have the final say on whether President Eisenhower seeks another term.

The key man in Mr. Eisenhower's mid-February decision is Dr. Paul Dudley White of Boston, foremost heart expert in the nation.

He is a man so wrapped up in his work that he's spending the first week of February off the California and Mexican coasts—trying to listen to the heart beat of a harpooned whale.

He is an expert so well-known in his field that fellow members of the American Heart Association, which he helped found, call him "Dr. Heart."

It was this thin, graying man who was summoned last Sept. 24 when President Eisenhower was stricken with a heart attack at Denver. It will be this same man, who once thought of being a tree surgeon, who will give the President the checkup for the progress report that probably will be a key factor when the President decides whether to run again.

Who is this man White?

For one thing he's a lover of the simple life; a man who uses skim milk on his cereal but adds plenty of sugar. "I like salt, too," he says.

Dr. White is 69 now, but he can still remember back when he rode with his physician father in a buggy as the doctor made his rounds.

He admits those rides through country lanes near Boston helped him decide his life's work. But he still remembers his boyhood love of trees. Big ones line the short lane that leads to his yellow clapboard, 12-room house off Marsh Street in Belmont, and he cares for them all himself.

He also once thought of being a missionary—"partly because mother was interested in church missions."

But over the years—at Roxbury Latin School and later at Harvard College, he turned more and more to medicine.

When he received his degree he went to intern at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston. "I thought then," he says, "that I would go into pediatrics."

Chance made him turn to heart work. A patient at the hospital gave money for purchasing what—in 1913—was the newest machine in treating heart cases. It was called an electrocardiograph, and White was sent to England to buy one and study its use under Dr. Thomas Lewis.

Perhaps one reason Dr. White agreed to give up his pediatrics for heart work was the fact that his 12-year-old sister had died of rheumatic heart disease.

He became head of Massachusetts General Hospital Children's Heart Clinic and Adult Heart Clinic. He became a teacher at Harvard.

White married a Smith College graduate — Ina Reid of Boston who had done social work. Like the doctor, she loves to bicycle and take long walks. They have two children—16-year-old schoolboy Alexander and 20-year-old Penelope, the wife of an air force Lieutenant, Robert Neck.

He found time along the way to serve in the British Expeditionary Force of World War I—and three years with the American Army. In World War II he was a government expert on heart ailments, and later went with medical missions to Greece, Italy and India.

He has been honored by France and Free Czechoslovakia, was made president of the American Medical Association in 1941, and is known throughout the world as an author, teacher, researcher and specialist. His book, "Heart Disease," first published in 1931, is now going into a fifth edition.

You walk into his sunny office and find him looking at his favorite plants. The floor has a heavy Oriental rug; the visitor's chair is big and soft.

As he goes about the business of examining, he's sure to find a "common ground" with his latest patient.

He loves motion pictures—has reel after reel at home taken when he worked abroad. He has a "sweet tooth"—but thinks those past 30 should beware of fatty foods. He collects ancient medical books—some dating back to the 1400's. He'll tell you of his grandchild—Cynthia—or talk of the future of heart research.

As he talks, you notice an odd thing about this doctor. He is the nation's greatest expert on heart disease. He talks of his work with the enthusiasm of a student fresh out of college. And yet his language is simple, direct, non-technical. No medical gobbledygook for the laymen. This man can compare your heart ailment with—say—a clogged pipe.

"Dr. Heart" will use those simple, direct terms to tell the President of the United States what he should—or should not—do.

Decade to See Increase of 73 Per Cent in County

Large numbers of out-county residents will continue to find Oakland County an ideal place to live during the next five years, according to the Detroit Metropolitan Planning Commission.

Growth predictions by the Commission indicate that the Oakland area is in for almost as much influx during the next five years as it experienced in the rapidly-swelling period of 1950-55.

When the figures are all in in 1960, the planning experts think Oakland county will have 73 per cent more noses to count than it did in 1950.

What areas can expect this continuing rise in population? — Principally the ones which are already growing fastest.

When the 143,000 additional residents arrange themselves between now and 1956, most of them will live along two distinct lines of development out from Detroit.

These lines are through the Southfield, Bloomfield and Waterford township areas, northwest of Detroit, and also through the Troy and Avon Township area out Rochester Road, north of Detroit.

BLOOMFIELD THIRD

Bloomfield Township ranks third, with 8,600, followed by Farmington Township, 7,800; West Bloomfield Township 3,900; Avon Township, 2,900; and Commerce Township, 2,800.

Royal Oak tops the speculative list of population-gainers among the cities, with 14,000. Pontiac will pick up 8,000, the planners believe, and Troy will add 7,000.

A 5,400 jump is in the cards for Birmingham, according to the report, and Farmington will add 2,700 within its limits.

These figures are arrived at by study of residential building permits, home electric meters, vital statistics, labor force data, school census data, and market surveys.

GAINS TO CONTINUE

In general, smaller gains are anticipated for the next five years, the Commission states. Factors leading to this belief, according to the surveyers, are that perhaps much of the backlog of housing demand, piled up during the depression and World War II, has been reduced.

Other factors are the low birth rates in the 1930's, which means less marriageable people coming of age during this five-year period. Other limiting factors are brakes put on residential construction by recurrences of water shortages.

The Commission emphasized that the estimated figures are "working figures" and subject to revision for individual places.

"Sharp changes in economic conditions of the country as a whole would undoubtedly have their effect upon residential construction in the Detroit area," the report said.

INDUSTRY COULD HELP

The building of a major manufacturing plant can speed up the supplying of water facilities, and boost the growth of a particular area.

But by the same token, the failure of announced development plans to materialize will mean a slower growth than that estimated, it continued.

Brandon, 400; Groveland, 290; Highland, 850; Holly, 180; Independence, 1,900; Lyon, 580; Milford, 580; Novi, 2,250; Oakland, 530; Orion, 1,700; Oxford, 400; Pontiac 1,800; Rose, 280; Royal Oak, 100; Springfield, 650; and White Lake, 2,100.

Cities and villages and their predicted expansion are: Bloomfield Hills, 850; Holly, 650; Keego Harbor, 450; Lake Orion, 500; Leonard, 80; Milfrod, 370; Orchard Lake, 320; Ortonville, 150; Oxford, 50; South Lyon, 430; Sylvan Lake, 780; Walled Lake, 500; and Wolverine Lake, 620.

Warns Against Postal Scheme

Official Says Swindlers Send Unordered Parcels to Kin of Deceased

A warning of increased activity by swindlers who send unordered C.O.D. parcels addressed to recently deceased persons was issued this week by Acting Postmaster Leslie H. Dean Sr.

The articles — often inexpensive bibles, religious articles—are sent at exorbitant prices, because the operators of the racket know the bereaved family usually will accept them, believing they were ordered by the deceased.

"The operators of this ghoulish racket scan obituary notices, publications containing death notices and the like to find the names and addresses of deceased persons," Dean explained. "They then mail the item C.O.D., for a big price."

In some recent operations, some of the unordered merchandise is being sent by railway Express, rather than through the mails. However, the C.O.D. payments to senders are sent through the mails, and this places the matter under the jurisdiction of the Post Office Department, Dean explained.

The increase in the operation of this particular racket has been indicated in recent reports by postal inspectors, Dean said. He urged citizens to report any information on the racket that may come to their attention to their postmasters.

All instances in which the U. S. mail is in any way involved, will be promptly investigated by postal inspectors, he added.

Soviet Industry Behind in Goals

Latest Statistics Show Quota Failure Reported in 13 Major Phases

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet industry fell short of many specific goals last year, the Central Statistics Department says, despite overfulfillment of the state plan for the year as a whole.

Fourteen separate ministries were listed in a department announcement as failing to meet production plans for certain items.

The statement added, however, that over-all production was 103 per cent of the plan and 12 per cent above the output in 1954.

PERCENTAGE TERMS

On the agricultural front, the department said total land under cultivation increased 72 million acres over 1954 and grain acreage was up 13 per cent. Production of both grain and livestock increased, the report added.

Some enterprises producing food and items of light industry, especially local and cooperative enterprises, produced items of unsatisfactory quality," the department reported. But it added that the output of consumer goods increased and their quality and assortment improved.

Ministries listed for failure to fulfill the plan for individual items included: ferrous metals, nonferrous metals, coal industries, chemical industries, electrotechnical industries, heavy industry construction, transport machinery construction, tractor and agricultural machinery construction materials industry, lumber industries, machine and instrument construction, paper and woodpulp industries and fish industries.

Duke of Kent's 'Big Kiss' for Deb Rocks Britishers

That was enough to convince Mayfair today that the 21-year-old Duke of Kent was smitten.

"The big kiss" attracted almost as much attention in London newspapers as the impending Eden-Eisenhower meeting in Washington.

HEADS GROUP — Dr. Harlan Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, has recently been reappointed chairman of Michigan Week's Cultural Activities Board, according to top officials of the annual observance. The board will hold its initial meeting tomorrow morning at the University's Administration Building. Concurrent meetings will also be conducted by chairmen of the music, architecture, fine arts, community theaters, literature and folklore committees.

Cameramen were on hand to record the warm embarce the young duke gave Jane Speffield, 18-year-old daughter of a rich businessman.

Traveling in a third-class train compartment, the duke arrived yesterday at the Klosters in Switzerland for a two-week ski holiday, on leave from his regiment. Within 10 seconds after the train pulled into the station, he was kissing Jane.

Jane told British newsmen that she was "furious" about the pictures "and I know the duke will be furious."

Jane hurriedly explained: "Look, we're just good friends. There's nothing in it at all—no romance."

The duke and Jane and 30 other young Mayfair socialities are on a holiday party in Switzerland — staying at an inexpensive hotel where the young nobleman, first cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, doesn't even have running water in his room.

Jane's mother, who said "by coincidence" she happened to be at Klosters though staying at another hotel, was asked whether she was furious about the pictures.

"Of course not," she replied.

A year ago, while on another ski holiday in Switzerland, the duke was photographed cuddling with the hostess at a ski club party.

Welded Track Joints Lessen Railway Wear

CLEVELAND — The greatest wear and deterioration of rolling railroad stock and equipment are centered upon the track joints, of which there are 270 to a mile.

To overcome this problem and lengthen rail life, the welding of joints to make a super 78-foot rail, or even one of over 1,000 feet, has been developed.

LABOR OF LOVE—Mrs. Matsui Takemura of Chino Town, Japan, carries heavy boulders in a flood control project to keep her son, Olympic Star Shinkichi, in college. Once the wife of Chino Town's wealthiest businessman, Mrs. Takemura laid aside pride after her husband's death and became a laborer to support her family of six. Her son, a student at Nippon University, is currently competing in the Winter Olympic Games at Cortina D'Ampezzo, Italy.

JA Firms Transfer Quarters to Plant

Members of Pontiac area Junior Achievement Groups will be working in a new home starting today—the second floor of Pontiac Motor Division's Plant 4 at the corner of Baldwin Ave. and Howard St.

Moved out of old quarters on Mill street in order to make room for some new medical facilities, the groups of Pontiac High School students were without a place to work until the Pontiac Motor Division offered to let them use the Plant 4 space which had previously been used in years past for government work.

All youngsters attending Junior Achievement meetings either in the afternoons or evenings may go to the main entrance of the building on Baldwin Ave.

PALS AND PRIZE — At the age of 20 months William Edward Loar already has a story that he can tell his grandchildren someday. The Ft. Scott, Kan., youngster is pictured as he gives a loving hug to "Whiskers" after the pet received a medal and citation for saving the boy's life when he was 16 months old. Four months ago the dog roused William's mother and led her to a pond where the boy was floating face down. Artificial respiration and a pulmotor later revived him.

Knowledge Helps in Tax Returns

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is the first in an authoritative series designed to aid the taxpayer with individual income tax forms and the various procedures involved in filing a return. Information was furnished by the Internal Revenue Service of the U.S. Treasury Dept.

The first step in learning about eligibility and rights under the law is to know whether you are required to file a return, what incomes are exempt from payment and the kinds of forms available.

1. Every citizen or resident of the United States whether an adult or minor who had $600 or more of gross income ($1200 if 65 years of age or older) must file an income tax return. Also, those who receive under $600 should file a return, in order to get a refund of taxes withheld from wages.

2. The income tax return must be received by the Internal Revenue Service no later than April 16, 1956. It should be mailed to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Detroit 31, Mich. Checks and money orders may be made out to the Internal Revenue Service.

The following income is to be reported:

1. Wages, salary, bonuses, and commissions.
2. Tips and gratuities for services rendered.
3. Dividends and other earnings from investments.
4. Pensions and annuities.
5. Rents and royalties.
6. Profits from business or profession.
7. Contest prizes and gambling winnings.
8. In general, all income unless specifically exempt.

The following types of income are exempt and do not have to be reported:

1. Federal and state, social security benefits.
2. Gifts, inheritances, bequests.
3. Workman's compensation, insurance, and damages for bodily injury or sickness.
4. Interest on state and municipal bonds.
5. Life insurance proceeds upon death.
6. Government payments and benefits made to veterans and their families except non-disability retirement pay and interest on terminal leave bonds.

There are two types of income tax returns:

1. The 1040A, which is called the wage earner's return and is the size of a card 3¼ by 7¼ inches. This form may be used only by people who have total income of under $5,000 all of which is from wages on which taxes have been withheld and not more than $100 of other income from wages, interest or dividends.

2. All other taxpayers must use Form 1040 which is a 4-page return, approximately 8 by 11 inches in size. Actually, anyone may use Form 1040; however, 1040A is limited to the special group mentioned above.

MANILA (AP) — Immigration officials ordered detention today of three Chinese students, explaining it this way: In 1947 the students were admitted to the Philippines to enter first-year high school, without any grade school credits, and had been in the same class nine years "without any apparent progress in their studies."

Hal Boyle Says:

Modern Executives Seek Employe Loyalty

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—Many an old-time industrial leader thought he did a workman a favor by keeping him on the payroll.

This breed of boss is rapidly vanishing from the American scene. He is being replaced by executives who recognize that employe loyalty is a keystone in any successful business if it is to endure.

Atkinson, whose weak eyes forced him to give up his dream of becoming a professional baseball player, took a $4 a week job at 15 with the Joseph Dixon Crucible Co. here. Now at 57 he heads the firm, one of the nation's largest manufacturers of pencils, crucibles and industrial graphite paints.

During his steady rise from office boy to president, Atkinson, who comes from a long line of Methodist ministers, developed a conviction that the Golden Rule was as important in industry as it was in religious life.

PRACTICE GOLDEN RULE

"Business is people," he said. "The dignity of the individual worker is important. But applying the Golden Rule isn't merely good business. It's the only way to live."

Atkinson takes it almost as a personal blow when any one of his 1,000-odd employes quit, and few do.

"One of the greatest loss factors borne by industry today is traceable to a high rate in personnel turnover," he said. "A management which does not realize that will not succeed."

But how can a management avoid losing its skilled employes and escape the expense of training new ones?

Atkinson feels it should pay wages "as high as the business will stand," schedule the work so as to avoid layoffs, install profit-sharing programs and pension, medical aid and insurance plans.

"But above all — and I know the value of a buck," he continued, "there is much more to keeping people than just the amount you pay them or the extra benefits they get. They have to be recognized, to feel that they themselves are essential to the success of the business.

"Before we go outside to bring someone in to fill an important post, we look over everyone on the payroll to see if we can't find one who can be advanced within the organization.

"We encourage our people to study and prepare for a better job. We sometimes even pay their tuition."

INCENTIVE PLAN PAYS OFF

The incentive program seems to have paid off. The 129-year-old firm has never had a strike. When outside interests threatened to get financial control of the company several years ago the employes bought stock themselves and prevented it.

"About 40 per cent of the employes now own stock," Atkinson said. "We think that's a good thing, but we don't campaign for it."

Atkinson feels opportunity has never been greater in industry, that it has never been easier to get good business training. But it worries him that many young men today prefer the security of a safe job with seniority to the risks, challenges and rewards of management.

"They ought to knock that spirit out of their heads," he said. "It isn't the American idea merely to look for something safe and easy.

"Business isn't work. It's a baseball game. Maybe we ought to find another word for hard work.

"Nothing you're really interested in is work. What is happiness anyway? When you become so interested in your job you are unconscious of the passing of time, you are truly happy."

Priest Finds $8,637 in Confessional Booth

CLEVELAND (AP)—It was only money, but whoever put it there must have had a reason.

Mostly in bills of small denomination, it counted up to $8,637. It was wrapped in an old newspaper, dated last Veterans' Day.

The Rev. Anthony V. Mechler found it on the bench of the confessional booth at St. Boniface's Roman Catholic church. He took it to the police.

GIs Will Not Be Paid for Free Plane Rides

WASHINGTON (INS) — Henceforth, servicemen who get free rides on military planes won't be paid for the privilege.

Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa), has stated the Defense Department is paying thousands of servicemen six cents a mile for travel on official business and is then furnishing them free rides on military planes.

The congressmen said the Defense Department has promised to halt this practice and he estimated the government would save 49 and one-half million dollars a year.

Vet Helps Judge Find Owner of Mongrel

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A mongrel dog, subject of a court suit, couldn't decide who its owner was so the judge put it up to a veterinarian.

The vet found the animal was 2 years old as Mrs. James Lancaster claimed her pet Tippy was. Magistrate Thomas J. Gabbert then ruled in her favor.

Mrs. Sarahlee Rapoport had brought the suit against Mrs. Lancaster, her neighbor, claiming the pet was her dog Lassie. Gabbert earlier had let both women call the dog but it turned a friendly nose toward him and wagged its tail.

Ex-GI Mails Package to Rectify His Mistake

FORT LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (INS)—An ex-serviceman has used the mails to rectify a "mistake."

A package, addressed to the supply officer at Fort Leonard Wood, contained three sheets, one pillow case and a note which stated, "Brought home by mistake. Former GI."

There was no name on the package but it was mailed from a Chicago suburb and required 52 cents postage.

The post quartermaster said he will have the pieces laundred and put to use.

'Jes'--Molotov Favoring Esperanto as International Language

LONDON (AP)—Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who made "nyet" a household word, soon may be proclaiming "ne" — or even possibly "jes" — in world conferences.

Molotov has turned up as the latest bigwig supporter of Esperanto, the international language which boomed with the prewar League of Nations and declined with World War II.

Molotov recently cabled greetings in Esperanto — and English— to the Japanese "People's Council for Restoration of Peace with Soviet Russia and Communist China" and thus lent Russia's unofficial support to its use.

John Leslie, secretary of the British Esperanto Society, finds the language is catching on fast again, with a lot of its support coming from behind the Iron Curtain.

He said in an interview that in Hungary, Esperanto is taught in a number of schools.

The Council of Europe also is considering a pilot scheme to teach Esperanto in five different countries.

Leslie said the British movement has noted a steady increase in world interest over the last several places as far apart as Piping and Poland and British class correspond regularly with groups in Siberia and Japan.

But Molotov's use of the language has given Esperanto its biggest boost in years.

"We had no idea Mr. Molotov was an Esperanto advocate," said Leslie. "The Russians, of course, have produced some fine Esperanto magazines and it is taught in a number of classes throughout the Soviet Union.

"But this is the first time Esperanto has been used in any important international communication."

Leslie said there is an international council with 14 Esperanto circles in Hungary, and another big group in Poland. The Communist World Federation of Youth in Budapest has approved Esperanto as one of the official languages for next year's Moscow Festival.

RUSSIANS INVENTED IT

Soviet enthusiasm for Esperanto may be explained by the fact that it was invented by a Russian, Dr. L. L. Zamenhof, who adopted the name "Dr. Esperanto" in 1887. The language he contrived is based as far as possible on words common to European languages, but sounds peculiar to any one language are eliminated.

Its grammar is so simple that its proponents say it can be grasped in half an hour.

Banker and Son Shot to Death

Illinois Attorney Terms Tragedy as Apparent Murder and Suicide

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—A prominent Rockford banker and his 26-year-old son were found shot to death yesterday.

State's Atty. Robert R. Canfield termed it "an apparent murder and suicide" but declined to comment further.

The bodies of George H. Arnold, 59, vice president of the Illinois National Bank & Trust Co. for 23 years, and his son Robert were found by the elder Arnold's wife Rose. They were four feet apart in the two-car garage of the family house—a showplace near the Rockford Country Club.

George Arnold had been shot once in the right temple. The son had been shot three times—once in the back of the head, once behind the right ear and once above the right ear.

A .22-caliber revolver was found at the feet of the banker.

A note which police believe was written by the son and addressed to his mother was found in a pocket of the father's trousers. It read:

"Dear Mom, I'm sorry for what happened, Bob."

Police declined to speculate on the meaning of the note.

Solon Urges Law to Prevent Wives Washing Dishes

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—A do-it-yourself session in the kitchen has convinced Rep. T. James Tumulty (D-NJ) that there ought to be a law compelling housewives to use paper dishes.

The 325-pound lawmaker found out the hard way that the little woman has no picnic.

It was all done for charity—to give Mrs. Ford a chance to collect funds for the March of Dimes Mothers March on Polio. She won his services at a recent drawing among 1,000 women.

Suggests Reflectors for Railroad Cars

WASHINGTON (AP)—For safety's sake, Rep. Ford (R-Mich) proposed today that railroads be required to put reflectors on the sides of all cars.

Stating 9 per cent of railroad crossing accidents occur when automobiles or trucks run into the sides of trains, Ford added in a statement:

"Of these 71 per cent happened atnight . . . reflectorized or luminous material on the sides of rialroad cars would make them easier to see and should bring a reduction in car-train accidents."

He said the Interstate Commerce Commission favors the proposal. The ICC would be authorized to impose a $100 penalty for violation of the proposed law.

Stymied Bandit Changes Mind, Drinks Coffee

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—"Line up against the wall, this is a stick-up," ordered a would-be badman at May and D. A.'s Cafe last night.

He repeated the demand three times, but wasn't getting anywhere.

Mrs. Mattie Smith, 73, a customer, finally threatened to sic her dog on the man. A woman at the counter picked up a coffee mug to defend herself.

"I guess I've changed my mind," the bandit said. "Just give me a cup of cofee."

Waitress Lucille Kizer said the man drank the coffee and two glasses of water before leaving.

"He didn't pay for the coffee," she said. "I didn't ask him."

Bob Considine Says:

After New Airliner--Only Rockets Remain

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (INS)—Here in one of the main homes of the Douglas Aircraft Co., Inc., a company that is getting ready to fill $800,000,000 worth of orders for a plane that is not yet in existence nor will be for a year or so to come—the DC8.

The DC8, when built, will be a 550 m.p.h 4-jet airliner able to fly across the United States or the Atlantic without an extra gulp of gas. It and Boeing's 707 apparently represent the last word in air travel that now can be foreseen by the industry's well-paid dreamers. Beyond this slightly sub-sonic ship lies only improbable conveyance by rocket.

The 707 has been flown across the country in a few hours. The DC8, which has attracted even more buyers, is still only a beautiful carpentry job.

But from its huge but stylish plywood frame will come a metal plane with a body about three times stronger than the DC7, windows that have three thicknesses of glass, new-type doors built to retain cabin pressures at 40,000 feet, windshields of 4-inch glass and hundreds of other improvements over the best of the modern propeller planes.

Each DC8 will cost about $5,000,000. The standard airliner just before Pearl Harbor was attacked was the DC3, which cost about $90,000. A single DC8 will cost twice as much as a modern streamlined train. But each will transport from 200 to 300 passengers across the country or the Atlantic every day, so the operator will not have to wait exceedingly long to get back his money.

JET AGE PROMISES

The age of the big jet promises to revolutionize flying in many ways. The futility of flying from New York to Chicago in less than two hours and then needing more time than that to get your baggage off the plane and get to your Loop hotel is a knotty problem that is wrinkling many a brow among airline brass. Super-swift transcontinental flights bring up the problem of when to launch them—morning, noon, night.

Food serving must be speeded up, too, in the jet age, if food is to be served at all. There is the problem of noise, too, and whether it will be safe for a jet of these dimensions to pull away from the ramp on its own blast-furnace power.

The DC8 and Boeing 707 have been designed to stay around for years without radical change. The future new models will be new mainly in the engines, which promise to retain generally the shape of the J57, the 10,000 pound thrust job which Pratt and Whitney will build for these two jets.

The J75 will come along in time, with maybe 15,000 pounds thrust, and there will be engines beyond that, of course. The airframe and accommodations could very well remain the same for 10 or 20 years after the basic type gets in operation.

SHOWN AT 95 PCT

A Douglas engineer tells me that the DC8 will be demonstrated at 95 per cent of the speed of sound at 35,000 feet but for normal operations will fly at 88 per cent of sound's speed. There is no desire to break through the sound barrier, nor is the plane designed that way for all its swept-wing streamlining. The DC8 will take off and land within five miles per hour of the speeds now required of a DC6 or DC7.

The DC8, as well as the 707, will be 2-class planes in the hands of most foreign operators. They'll have one door for the first class passengers and another for tourist; one type of food and drink for the former, another for the latter.

Several countries, however, have asked Douglas engineers to deliver DC8s with only one door, so that tourist passengers will not "lose face" by being seen entering or leaving a lesser door.

Douglas' $600,000,000 backlog on the DC8, and $600,000,000 worth of orders for DC7s of various grades seem like tremendous orders, are full reason for the 77,000 employes who make more than a million dollars a week. But actually, these huge commercial orders represent only one-tenth of Douglas' sales. The 90 per cent is military.

Texas Kidnap Trial Scheduled for Today

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Pauline Marie Schulze, 30, of Houston, Tex., is scheduled to go on trial here today charged with taking a 23-minute old baby from a hospital crib last March 19.

Defense attorney Percy Foreman of Houston reportedly may seek a change of venue, however, because of the widespread publicity given the case here.

The baby, Carolyn Sue Wharton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton of Beaumont, was taken from the Baptist Hospital nursery and was found in Mrs. Schulze's Houston home the next day. It was restored unharmed to its parents.

The trial was originally set for Oct. 4, then postponed until Jan. 9. Earlier this month attorneys agreed on the Jan. 30 date.

Communists Oust Ex-Hungarian Boss

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Austrian radio says Imre Nagy, former premier of Hungary who tried to give his people more consumer goods, has been expelled from party membership.

Nagy, a party worker since 1917, became premier in 1953 and was replaced last April 18 by Andras Hegedus after abandonment of his economic policy calling for a slower pace of industrialization and more consumer goods and agricultural products.

The radio broadcast said Nagy's ouster appeared to have eliminated the last opposition in the party to Matyas Rakosi, Hungarian Red boss.

DEATH COMES TO LITTLE NEWSPAPERMAN—Robert Decker was a happy little boy as he turned out copy for the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital paper, the "Boston Rocket," from his bed there seven weeks ago. He wrote: "Only 17 more days to Christmas—Santa will be here soon." It was his last Christmas. He died Wednesday in his Jamaica Plains home, a victim of cirrhosis of the liver. Bobby, whose heroes were American generals and newspapermen, was 9.

Battle of the Beards

Englishmen Challenging Sault Sainte Marie Men

HAYWARDS HEATH, England (INS) — Britons and Americans, showering devotion and nutrition on their "beavers" are brushing up for a "1956 battle of the beards."

For more than a century the all-England beard championship has been held each year for charity at the Dolphin Fair at Haywards Heath, Sussex County.

This year the Haywards Heath Round Table Club, organizers of the championship, has reached across the sea to challenge the men of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to produce beards of championship quality.

The men of Michigan, who have accepted the challenge, are preparing for an all-out battle.

The finest beard at the fair wins a $28 prize. There are minor prizes for bushiness and style.

Britons, of course, always have won. But this year things may be different.

Reports filtering through from Michigan assert that many beards of formidable length and luxuriance already have sprouted from the faces of Sault Ste. Marie he-men.

This has led to repeated appeals from British organizers directed toward patriotic Englishmen, urging bigger and better beard production.

Flynn's Alimony OK

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Alimony matters between actor Errol Flynn and his ex-wife Lily Damita are all settled, Flynn says. The actor did not give figures and Miss Damita's attorneys weren't available for comment but Flynn had been reported several years in arrears on support payments running $18,000 a year.

Baltimore Bogs in Trolley Strike

Buses Also Halted as 2,000 Drivers, Others Hit for Wage Boost

BALTIMORE (AP)—For the second time in five years Baltimore is without bus or trolley service. Some 2,000 drivers and maintenance workers struck at midnight.

There seemed no promise of early agreement on a new contract. Representatives of the Baltimore Transit Co. and the Transport Workers Union left a meeting at City Hall last night saying claims of the other were unjustified.

The union was asking 25 cents an hour more for its members, whose base pay was $1.90 under the contract, which expired Saturday. It also asked for improvements in working conditions and better pensions.

The company called in a former judge to do its negotiating last week after rejecting union proposals to arbitrate. It never made a public counteroffer.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro urged both sides to put off the strike.

Double shifts of police were on duty in this city of nearly a million people during the morning rush hour to cope with heavy traffic. Emergency signs lifting parking restrictions on many of the downtown streets were posted.

The Public Service Commission authorized a few suburban bus lines making limited runs into the city to pick up passengers along the way. It also gave taxis permission to take as many riders as possible without obtaining consent of those already aboard as required normally.

The Baltimore Transit Co. has been a center of controversy of late. There has arisen rather strong recommendation that it be taken over by the city. Riders have complained about the service.

It is controlled by National City Lines, which also owns 37 transit companies and is affiliated with three others.

Consumers in the U.S. in 1955 ate four more pounds of meat per capita than they consumed in 1954.

The Mississippi river and its tributaries combined give a water system that exceeds a total length of 12,000 miles, believed to be the world's longest, even greater than the Amazon.

Mollet Will Ask OK for Cabinet

Report French Socialist Will Be Endorsed as Premier by Assembly

PARIS (AP) Socialist Premier-designate Guy Mollet asks the National Assembly tomorrow to approve his government team of 13 Cabinet ministers and 22 undersecretaries.

Some observers predicted Mollet would be confirmed in office by nearly 400 of the chamber's 596 deputies. A major factor was believed to be his appointment of Radical party leader, as deputy ex-Premier Pierre Mendes-France, premier without a departmental portfolio, rather than to the Foreign Ministry he wanted.

This was counted on to bring Mollet votes from the Catholic MRP (Popular Republican Movement), which is still bitter against Mendes-France for his refusal to push the ill-fated European army plan while he was in office.

TREK TO ALGERIA

If approved by the deputies as expected, Mollet plans to be off soon to Algeria for a try at halting the guerrilla revolt there.

He also plans to install 79-year-old Gen. Georges Catroux as resident Cabinet minister for Algeria.

Previously Algerian affairs have been administered by the Interior Ministry because legally the North African territory is considered an integral part of France. Creation of a special department for Algeria could foreshadow a measure of independence for the area plagued by nationalist strife.

French forces, meanwhile, pushed their campaign against the Algerian guerrillas. Officials reported 50 rebels slain and 50 captured over the weekend. French losses were put at four killed and a dozen wounded.

French troops also fought the biggest battle of their four-month campaign against rebellious Riff tribesmen in the mountains of eastern Morocco. The French reported more than 40 rebels and 18 Foreign Legionnaires were killed in the hand-to-hand engagement Saturday six miles south of the Spanish Moroccan border.

AEC Expanding Program for Peacetime H-Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission reported today a big expansion of its research program aimed at eventually harnessing the deadly hydrogen bomb for peaceful development of power.

But "many years" will be required before the problem can be solved, it added in its semiannual report.

AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss announced the long-range research program, named "Project Sherwood," at the Geneva international atomic conference last year. But, said the report, the project "is considered a very long-range effort."

The research is being conducted at AEC laboratories operated by the University of California at Los Alamos, N. M., and Livermore, Calif.; and at Princeton University. Smaller projects also are carried on at the AEC's Oak Ridge, Tenn., plant and at New York University.

The Los Alamos and Princeton programs, said the commission, began in 1951 as experiments to try out ideas for controlling thermonuclear reactions at temperatures comparable to those existing in the sun. Such temperatures had been produced on earth only in the flashing instant of an atomic bomb burst.

"The possibility of tapping this source of energy," the report said, "has long been intriguing to scientists. Some of the problems to be overcome, however, are extremely difficult."

The AEC had encouraging news about the common atomic fission reactor. It said the program for developing industrial, naval and aircraft plants made "significant progress" during the last six months of last year.

The report said the atomic aircraft engine program was accelerated during the last six months. Construction of test facilities at the Idaho have been completed and 'some test work commenced," the commission reported, without detailing this latter work.

Kubitschek Takes Oath Tomorrow; Announces Broad Program

By JULIUS GOLDEN

Vice President Nixon heads a 14-member U. S. delegation among the scores of foreign dignitaries arriving for the ceremony.

The new chief executive has outlined a broad program for his five-year term. He says he will seek to advance his nation's economy by developing industry, electric power and transportation and by building new highways.

To attract foreign interest and investments, Kubitschek made a 20-day trip to the United States and European countries this month. He returned last week.

Kubitschek, who supported himself in medical school by working nights as a telegraph operator, was elected president last October. Soon afterward a political crisis developed and the army took over the government to prevent, it said, a coup designed to prevent Kubitschek from being inaugurated. Congress voted a state of siege to forestall Kubitschek's political foes.

The new President was born in the small mountain city of Diamantina, in Minas Gerais state. He practiced as a country doctor and later joined the Minas Gerais militia as a captain in the medical corps.

His political career began in 1933 when he served as secretary to the state governor. He then was elected a federal deputy.

Becoming more active in the Social Democratic party, he was elected governor of Minas Gerais in 1950. He embarked on a development program which attracted the attention of all Brazil.

From The PRESS BOX — Old Friends Now Biggest Cage Rivals

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Two long-time buddies, Forddy Anderson of Michigan State and Bob Calihan of U of D, will lay aside their friendship for a couple of hours Wednesday night when their respective basketball teams meet on the Titan court.

Their association as shipmates, teammates, roommates goes way back to 1941. Their coaching rivalry goes back to 1949 and an interesting tale it has been.

During the 1941-42 season Anderson and Calihan became close friends as members of the fabulous Great Lakes quintet which chalked up an amazing record of 32 wins and only four losses.

This record was against every major college in the midwest and the only foes to turn the trick were Ohio State, Michigan State, Notre Dame and Creighton and these were in return games.

"Cal" was the team's high scorer that year with 305 points and his roommate Forddy followed close behind with 280.

Three years later upon discharge they embarked into coaching careers and in 1948 they were back on the same court but this time on opposite benches.

Anderson was piloting one of the great cage powers of the decade. He took the reins at Bradley University for the 1948-49 season and in his first year guided the Braves to a mark of 28 wins and seven losses, including a split of four games in the NIT.

Calihan's first fling in college ranks was equally successful. His Titans of 1949-50 won 20 of 26 for the best record in school's history.

Meet as Rival Coaches

This was the year both coaches were destined to meet as rivals in the Missouri Valley conference.

Bradley romped U of D at Peoria in the first game and the Braves came to Detroit for the return game with a 15-2 record as the nation's number one basketball team.

"I should hate you," Forddy told Calihan after the game, because the Titans knocked Bradley off its perch with a 67-54 victory.

Anderson got even the next season by beating Calihan twice. In 1951-52, Bradley zoomed to the top of the polls once again with 17 straight wins, including a 69-65 win over Detroit on the Titan court.

At Peoria late in the season the experts called the rematch the upset of the year. The Titans, with a mediocre 6-8 record, again blasted Bradley out of top spot 75-70.

It was Bradley's first defeat in 31 games on its home court and in its new fieldhouse.

"You beat me at my own game," Forddy told Calihan. In the first game Bradley held the ball for the last four minutes of the game to win. In this game U of D pulled the same stunt to protect a 3 point lead, holding the ball for nearly five minutes.

Forddy Moves to MSU

Last year Anderson made his debut at Michigan State with a resounding 97-72 win over Marquette, a team which basketball fans will remember went on to win 22 straight.

The following week Anderson and Calihan were at it again, using every strategy they knew against each other at East Lansing.

The basketball series between MSU and U of D went way back to 1913, but in 26 years the Titans were unable to win at East Lansing.

Pontiac's own Guy Sparrow played the greatest game of his career, taking off 20 rebounds and putting in 30 points to lead the Titans' 84-78 victory.

"Cal, you Z&$&$#(," said Forddy, 'I'm gonna let you have it good one of these times." "Now Forrest, is that a way to talk to an old friend?" Calihan returned, "aren't you happy you weren't the top team in the country."

So the battle of wits will go on again Wednesday with a pair of foxes trying to "outfox" each other, as best of friends and biggest of rivals.

City Ice Carnival Delayed

The 1956 Pontiac Ice Carnival has unexpectedly developed into a two-weekend affair after unfavorable weather conditions descended on the city Sunday.

The city-wide carnival, co-sponsored by the North Side Community Club and the Parks and Recreation Department, completed its Saturday schedule but Sunday's program had to be postponed until next Sunday because of poor ice.

Weather permitting of course.

Yesterday's list of delayed events included a show by the Pontiac Ice Skating Club, all finals in racing and figure skating, and the coronation of the carnival queen.

No entries were received in four categories—the 20-lap Silver Skates Derby, the 5-lap race for girls 15 years of age and over, and the 1-lap race for boys and girls under 7.

All qualifying events were held Saturday. Qualifiers for this Sunday's finals follow:

Skaters in Shape

Marvel at Soviet Speed

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—The Russians' fabulous speed-skating success in the Olympics has everyone here wondering how they do it.

"It's no big secret," Michail Semenov, Russia's representative to the International Skating Union, said today. "Training is the essential thing and that certainly isn't fantastic.

"This is a year-round job and it includes not only calisthenics but dry skating in summer."

Dry skating, as practiced in Europe, means going through the motions of ice skating on a gymnasium floor in the off season, sometimes with elastic bands attached to the ankles to exercise the leg muscles.

"I've been skating for years," said one American veteran, "and I'm on my way out. But when I trained back home the younger fellows dropped out after a day or two. They couldn't keep up.

"Then too," another old - timer added, "we've got jobs. We train when we can. It would be different if the government subsidized athletes."

Montreal Still Ahead in NHL by 12 Points

Detroit Tangles With Canadiens Thursday Again at Home

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings' drive to get into the National Hockey League title race was held in check last night by the hard-fighting Montreal Canadiens.

The Habitants, after Saturday's 6-1 victory over the Boston Bruins, maintained their 12-point lead over the 2nd place Wings with a 1-1 tie. Detroit was idle Saturday.

The Wings had great chances to take the lead but couldn't do a thing against the hard checking Canadiens. Montreal was shorthanded five times in the middle frame.

Beliveau scored his 29th goal of the season on a power play. The shot was set up by Bernie Geoffrion whose clever stick handling put the giant center in position to flip in a 5-footer from the side of the net.

Gordie Howe was stopped for the 2nd straight game in his bid for his 300th goal of his NHL career. Maurice (Rocket) Richard, who needs two for 450, also drew a blank.

Although it was a tense, fiercely fought game there were comparatively few fireworks. The only fights came with six seconds left when Howe and Bert Olmstead tangled. They drew only minor penalties for that but then were nailed with misconduct for not leaving the ice immediately.

The teams play again in Detroit Thursday and then cap their crucial set Saturday in Montreal.

Soviets Running Away With Games

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—Willowy Tenley Albright made things a little brighter for the American rooting section today by taking an early lead in the women's figure skating championships of the winter Olympics and a Norwegian lumberjack-farmer sped through a heavy snowfall for his country's first victory.

The attractive, 20-year-old blonde from Newton Center, Mass., took a substantial lead after the first figure of the compulsory phase of the competition with 16-year-old Carol Heiss of Ozone Parke, N. Y., right behind her. The women skated two more figures today and close out that phase of the competition with two more tomorrow. The free, or exhibition skating, half of the championship will be skated on the basis of points, which is one factor in determining the winner, Miss Albright had a total of 169.5 points followed by Miss Heiss, with 162.9.

There are at least seven more events coming up in which the Soviets could haul down gold medals—and even score a sweep in some cases.

They've already scored 60 points to 20 for Austria on the basis of 10 for first place, 5 for second, 4 for third and so on down the line. They still could win the 1,500 and 10,000-meter speed-skating, the 15 and 50-kilometer cross-country skiing, the 400-kilometer relay, the women's 15-kilometer relay and cross-country skiing.

Norway's victory—her first gold medal of the games—was scored by Hallgeir Brenden, a 1952 winner, in the 15-kilometer cross country ski race. The handsome, 27-year-old athletic idol of Norway staged a front running race through the snow-covered Campezzo valley to cover the nine miles and 560 yards in 49 minutes, 39 seconds.

The race made shorter this year.

Snow fell throughout the gruelling event and that's something Brenden appears to like. He won in 1952 under similar conditions.

It was an ice-breaking triumph for Norway, usually a formidable power in these games. The Norwegians won seven gold medals in 1952 and captured the unofficial team championship.

Uncle Sam's two entries finished back as expected. Andrew Miller, a 24-year-old soldier from McCall, Idaho, was 41st in 56:08 and Larry Damon, 22-year-old collegian from Burlington, Vt., was 51st with 57:18.

Yard at a Time!

'Doc' Spears' Son Bob Beating Polio

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP)—His father always told young Bob Spears: "Until the final whistle blows; you always have a chance."

Bob's father is Dr. Clarence W. (Doc) Spears, a Ypsilanti physician, a former star guard on the Dartmouth football team and later coach at Dartmouth, West Virginia, Minnesota, Toledo and Maryland.

Bob was himself a star fullback at Yale, captained the 1951 team and led it to victory over Harvard with 200 yards gained the hard way—a few at a time up the middle.

Bob, now 26, turned down professional football although he was drafted by the Chicago Bears, to put his industrial engineering degree to work as a salesman for a steel corporation in nearby Detroit.

Less than six months ago Bob was tackled by polio. He was paralyzed from the waist down. His legs were useless.

Today he is walking again. He's back at his job as a salesman and is about to get married. He says he remembered his father's advice, before that 1951 Harvard game: "Play a tough game, a few yards at a time."

Within 12 hours after polio struck last August Bob was completely paralyzed below the waist. But Bob had just begun to fight and stoutly declared: 'If I can make one toe wiggle, I'll walk again. He strained until sweat bathed him to cover polio's first yard—wiggle a toe.

Finally he made it. A feeble flicker of one toe on his left foot. With that yard gained, Bob announced: "I'll be back on my feet in time to see Yale beat Harvard in November." He was, although on crutches.

On Jan. 1 he dropped the brace off his right leg and went back to work—selling. He drives his car and calls on customers as before.

"You can't win 'em all" Bob says, "but you never know what you can do if you just try to gain a few yards at a time."

Flint Bowler Takes Top Spot in State Test

PORT HURON—Louise Malin of Flint, with a sensational actual 223-238-172—633, jumped to the top of the singles standings in the 30th Michigan State Women's Bowling tournament over the weekend with a 732 that includes a 99-pin handicap for the three games.

Louise and her Flint teammates, however, were delayed by icy roads and did not arrive in time to compete in either doubles, team or all events bowling.

Her 238 topped her previous high of 232 in four years of bowling.

The tournament, now just past its 3rd week, runs into June.

Bear Stalling Tactics Said 'Good Strategy'

SAN FRANCISCO, (INS) — Controversy still raged hot and heavy today over the stalling tactics California used in a desperate — but unsuccessful — effort Saturday night to keep the University of San Francisco from winning its historic 40th victory.

But the two men most concerned — the coaches of California's Bears and the USF Don basketball teams — were in full agreement that the strategy was sound.

California, figuring itself up against the better team but trailing by only five points with 16 minutes to go, pulled two stalls—the first of a minute and 50 seconds and the last an agonizing eight minutes. The latter stall lasted until six minutes from the end of the contest in the men's gymnasium in Berkeley.

Phil Woolpart, coach of the Dons who made basketball history by ringing up two score straight victories, called the stalling stategy of Bear coach Pete Newell "real smart." He explained:

"From a technical standpoint, it is obvious Pete played it real smart. At first, I couldn't exactly figure it when he put on the stall when five behind.

"But later, when I got to analyzing, I could see he did the only thing possible under the circumstances."

Newell defended his strategy along the same lines, saying:

"If (center) Bob Washington could have hit that shot he took when we broke up the stall, we'd have been only three down. One more and maybe a free throw to go with it and it would have been a battle royal.

"We lost and that's that."

Hockey Tourney Goes to Limit

Once-beaten Union Lake extended the championship finals of the Junior Hockey Tournament to the limit Saturday afternoon at the North Side Ice Rink by trouncing previously undefeated Nestor's All-Stars, 6-2.

Saturday's contest was held as part of the city Ice Carnival. The deciding game of the double-elimination tourney, sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Department, will be played next Saturday morning at 9 o'clock on the North Side ice.

Holding a 2-1 lead entering the 2nd period, Union Lake's puckster broke the game wide open by drilling four goals past goalie Bill Schnapp, Gary Emery accounting for two.

Ralph Cook and Norm Dierkes slammed in the 1st period scores and Nestor's Tom Bryce got back one. Then Don Aird and Dave Butters teamed with Emery to riddle the cage in the 2nd stanza and wrap things up.

Three State Pros in Money at Coast Event

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP)—Three Michigan golfers finished in the money in the $5,000 Imperial Valley Open tournament which Paul O'Leary won Sunday with an 11-under par total of 271.

Bob Gadja, of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., finished in a tie for 8th with 279 and won $215. Eldon Briggs, of Lansing, Mich., finished in a three-way tie for 9th with 281 and won $160. Gene Bone of Pontiac shot a 282, good for a tie for 10th and got $110.

Successful in road ventures at Purdue and Indiana before taking a nearly two-week layoff for midterm examinations, the Illinoi plan to make Minnesota their 11th straight victim.

One other conference game finds 4th-place Purdue (4-3) at Northwestern (0-5). Notre Dame is at Indiana in a non-conference skirmish.

Illinois ran its string to 10 straight and 11 triumphs in 12 games by spanking DePaul, 80-66 Saturday night. The 5th-ranked Illini were praised highly by DePaul coach Ray Meyer who saw his team take a 2nd half lead but fold completely as Illinois put on a blazing rally.

While Illinois was emphasizing team work, Michigan State clipped Ohio State, 94-91, in a battle of scoring stars and Minnesota swamped Northwestern Saturday afternoon, 83-67, in a nationally televised contest.

Robin Freeman pumped in 46 points for Ohio State, one short of a Big Ten record set by Don Schlundt of Indiana in 1954 and duplicated by the Hoosier star in 1955. Still it wasn't enough. Julius McCoy, Spartan ace, came through with 40 points, and got a bit more help from his teammates than did Freeman.

The Buckeyes scored 60 points in the 1st half and were held to 31 in the 2nd session.

One Stroke Victory

Demaret Takes Thunderbird With 269

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—The wandering golfers, their annual winter invasion of California ended, headed today for the $15,000 Phoenix Open with jaunty Jimmy Demaret leading the procession as the latest tournament winner.

Jimmy, who has trimmed down his competitive appearances considerably, walked away with the $2,000 top money in the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational, the second time he has won the event.

Demaret came from behind to defeat Cary Middlecoff with a last-round 69 and a 72-hole score of 269. Middlecoff had a par 71 and a total of 270.

He caught Middlecoff on the 14th green and passed him on the 15th, banging out a pair of birdies that proved too much for Middlecoff.

Middlecoff had a one-stroke lead over Demaret as they headed into the final nine holes.

After word came back from the Demaret threesome, Middlecoff proceeded to blow a stroke to par on the 16th. But with two holes to go and two birdies in demand for a tie, Middlecoff gave the gallery a thrill and Jimmy a chill. His approach to the 17th almost went for an eagle. But the ball went past the pin 3 feet and Cary dropped it for one of the necessary birdies, but Middlecoff's birdie try on the 18th was unsuccessful.

Gene Littler, who all but shot himself out of the tournament with a second-round 76, came back with a rush and his last-round 66 went for 277, third-place and $750.

Tied for fourth were Julius Boros and Gardner Dickinson Jr. Boros took a 73 and Dickinson a 70 for 278.

Others to move up were Mike Souchak, with a 68; Tommy Bolt, 69; Arnold Palmer, 67, and Fred Hawkins, 70, all tied at 279.

Walter Burkemo of Franklin Hills, Mich., finished in a tie for 11th place in the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational golf tournament and picked up $275 in prize money Sunday.

Burkemo had a total of 280 strokes.

Monroe Team Grabs State Tourney Lead

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Bowlers from Monroe and Detroit rewrote the standings in the 15th annual Michigan Knights of Columbus Bowling Tournament over the weekend.

In the 5-man event, Allore & Holcomb Funeral Home of Monroe went into 1st place with a handicap added series of 2975. Louis Brancheau led with games of 222-205-199 for 626. His squad posted 2474 actual and had 501 handicap.

Detroit Newport Standard Service posted 2968 for 2nd place and Battle Creek Baum Insurance 2956 for 3rd.

Bring Up Slugging Outfielder

Three Farmhands Figure in Senators' 1956 Plan

(This is the 11th of a series of articles dealing with Major League rookie prospects, written by Associated Press baseball expert Joe Reichler. Today he scans the Washington Senators.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP)—They laughed when Washington traded away veterans Mickey Vernon, Bob Porterfield, Johnny Schmitz and Tom Umphlett to Boston for five young players, none of whom had ever broken into a regular major league lineup.

The final laugh may be enjoyed by the Senators' president, Calvin Griffith, and Manager Chuck Dressen. Especially if any of the three Red Sox farmhands, who came in the deal, make the grade with the Nats. Based on their minor league records, and benefited by their tender age, it would not create too much of a stir if all three won berths with Washington.

The most impressive record was turned in by Neil Chrisley, a 22-year-old outfielder, who batted .320 at Nashville in 120 games to rank third in the Southern Assn. The young flychaser flashed power at the plate with 37 doubles, 21 homers and 81 runs batted in, and demonstrated a strong throwing arm, too. Although he missed more than 35 games, Chrisley ranked first among the outfielders with 23 assists and five double plays.

The other two — right-handed pitchers Truman Clevenger and Al Curtis—toiled with Louisville last year. Clevenger, 23, was 9-13 but showed lots of promise. Curtis, 25, was 12-8 after a slow start. He carries a reputation as a warm weather pitcher and rarely impresses in the spring. The others in the deal are outfielder Karl Olson and pitcher Dick Brodowski. They spent last season with the Red Sox but saw little action.

The Senators think a lot of Connie Grob, a 23-year-old right-hander who had an 11-9 record at Mobile and walked only 59 in 182 innings. They must like him a great deal because he was their first pick in last November's draft. Four other new pitchers have been advanced from the farms. Vibert Clarke, a tall, slender Negro left-hander, was brought up last fall after posting a 16-12 record with Charlotte. They were impressed by his 23 complete games in 32 starts.

Three infielders, one outfielder and one catcher complete the rookie list. All have been up before. Jim Lemon, the big, free-swinging outfielder is back after a .278 season at Chattanooga. He clouted 24 home runs and drove in 109 runs but he couldn't overcome his strikout bugaboo, as attested by his 126 whiffs. Julio Becquer, who will vie with Roy Sievers for the regular first base job, hit a respectable .291 at San Diego. Catcher Steve Korcheck was .283 at Chattanooga and .242 in Charlotte.

There doesn't seem to be too much help for the infield, which was one of the Nats' chief weakness last year. Second baseman Leroy Dietzel, back for the third time—or is it the fourth—was only .264 at Richmond and .236 at Charlotte. Third baseman Tony Roig was even lower at Charlotte and other points.

Girls Swoon

Austrian Is Ski Darling

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—Toni Sailer, a handsome six-footer from Austria, is the darling of the Olympic world today.

Back home they call him "The Kid." But he didn't look like a kid yesterday when he won the giant slalom by 6 seconds—an event that usually is decided by tenths of a second.

His fantastic clocking of 3:00.1 was the same as a runner reeling off a 4-minue me and he was mobbed by spectators, most of them girls.

"He's fantastic, just fantastic," sighed 17-year-old Penelope Pitou of Laconia, N. H., a member of the American Alpine skiing team. His mates say the glare of the spotlight will not affect Toni.

"He'll stay a good-hearted fellow who keeps his feet, and his skis, on the ground," said one teammate who was trying to open a path through a group of admirers.

Hollywood Headlines:

Burt Lancaster Inks New Two Film Wallis Contract

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — When I told Burt Lancaster that he was a glutton for work after he signed a two-picture deal with Hal Wallis he said, "I have to support my five children. The milkman is getting round-shouldered from carrying all the milk that comes to our house every day."

Burt says, "My contract with Hal keeps me right here in Hollywood and I am going to the studio like an ordinary workman."

"The Ten Commandments" team, Anne Baxter and Charlton Heston, will be reunited in "The Maverick," again at Paramount.

Rudy Mate is the director and, of course, the deal was made by Russell Birdwell, Anne's partner and the man she is expected to marry as soon as he is free.

Now comes word from Ava that she will make a brief trip to Hollywood in April for the premiere of "Bhowani Junction."

Ava will just miss Frank Sinatra, who either will have left, or will be soon leaving for Spain to make "The Pride and the Passion."

Good for my girl friend, Rosalind Russell! Roz absolutely refuses to permit her name to be dropped into the "supporting actress" category for the express purpose of being nominated for an Oscar for her superb performance in "Picnic."

Says Rosalind, "I have been a star for many years. For me to drop into a different category for the purpose of being nominated for an Academy Award is unthinkable."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD

The premiere of "Helen of Troy," despite the downpour of rain, brought out practically everyone who received an invitation. The theater was crowded. Everything went according to schedule, except the red carpet and the Trojan guard in front of the theater.

Liz Taylor's stay at St. John's Hospital was much longer than she expected. It's a recurrent back ailment.

The guests practically swam to the Beverly Hills Club to the baby shower Mrs. Norman Taurog gave for Mrs. Jerry Lewis. All the decorations were in pink for a girl, which is what Patti and Jerry expect. Among those who braved the elements were Mrs. Louis B. Mayer, Mrs. Robert Cummings, Mrs. Robert Young, Mrs. Ronnie Reagan, Mrs. Clarence Brown and Mrs. Johnny Green.

Richard Egan takes over as toastmaster at the alumni dinner at the University of San Francisco Wednesday. His brother, Father Willis Egan, is an instructor there.

Riot Hits Bombay Again

BOMBAY (INS) — Indian police wounded two persons and arrested 15 others during a riot last night in the strife-torn city of Bombay. It was the first major incident since the city returned to near normal a week ago. The police opened fire when the rioters stoned them.

UP FOR AIR — Shapely Esther Williams, Hollywood's most famous mermaid, has come out of the water to play her first straight dramatic role in "The Gentle Web." Esther, who plays a schoolteacher in the film, says she now wants to play only dramatic roles and stay dry. "Sure, I'll swim again," she admits. "But only for dramatic reasons."

FBI Charges 3 With Robbery

Former U.S. Treasurer Gray's Husband Tabs Dead Man as Bandit

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—The FBI has filed robbery charges against three men, including Billy Gene Ross, who was fatally wounded in the home of Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark Gray, former U. S. treasurer.

Ross, 28, Louid D. Young Jr., 25, and Joe Herbert Hoskins, 26, all ex-convicts of Dallas, Tex., were charged yesterday with robbery of the Richland (Kan.) State Bank Jan. 2.

Last Saturday Andrew Gray, husband of Mrs. Gray and a public relations consultant, shot Ross after he broke into their home at Richland. The Grays were awakened by the barking of their dog. After Ross was woundedn he fired several wild shots from his gun and fled. His body was found about two blocks away.

Gray identified him as one of three men who had taken part in the Jan. 2 robbery. The three men entered the Gray home, held Gray captive and forced Mrs. Gray to accompany one of them to the bank and grocery store she operates. She was forced to open the vaults and the men left with about $2,000.

Del Mann Picked as Top Director by Screen Guild

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Director Delbert Mann, who came out of television to direct "Marty," tonight won the accolade of the Screen Directors Guild for the best directed picture of 1955, thus establishing him as almost a sure winner of the Academy Award.

Runners-up were directors John Sturges for "Bad Day at Black Rock," Elia Kazan for "East of Eden," Joshua Logan for "Picnic" and John Ford and Mervyn Leroy for "Mr. Roberts."

"Marty," a favorite for the best picture of 1955 in the Academy Awards, recently won the coveted New York Film Critics' Award.

Ike'll Get Clobbered If He Runs — Truman

By EARL WILSON

KANSAS CITY—Nobody can say happy Harry S. Truman isn't acting "Democratic" these days. He even thinks Ike'll get clobbered if he runs.

I'm no political expert—and I'm going to ignore those cries of "You said it, Buster!"—but I cover Personalities. Truman's a champion, so I flew here hoping to see him.

★ ★ ★ ★

"I believe the Democrats can win the 1956 Presidential election no matter whom the Republicans run" was one quote he said I could use.

No names were mentioned—but you just know Who's "Whom." He feels farmers and labor had their "change"—and don't like it.

Truman's been voicing his opinion about Ike's chances here. I asked to see him. The healthy-looking, ebullient, smiling ex-President, at his desk on his 11th floor office of the Federal Reserve Bank Building, seemed to be about the happiest man in America. In a background chat, he left me like vodka — breathless.

HARRY

A picture of Gov. Averell Harriman and Mrs. Harriman was prominent in the outer office—but Truman wasn't talking candidates. A small radio on the window ledge led me to inquire whether he listens to Margaret's "Weekday" program. He doesn't get time, but he spoke with pride of her success. "The Boss"—Bess Truman — who'd been in bed with a cold for a week—is a devoted listener.

Truman, who'll be 72 on May 8, enjoyed a couple of reminiscences, including his recollection of his first Presidential press conference when the correspondents ground cigarets into an expensive rug, causing him to move them to another conference spot. He was just protecting government property.

He showed me some things—books given him by Winston Churchill, autographed "From Winston to Harry," and also a picture of him being sworn in as President. "There's the proof," he laughed.

As we were leaving, I asked if I might use as a direct quotation something he'd said about President Eisenhower's health.

Truman had said, "I don't really know anything about Ike's health. He has access to all the best specialists in the world to help him make up his mind. I'm not a medical specialist, I'm not a specialist in anything but politics."

"Sure," Truman said with another broad grin, "you can print that, I think everybody knows it anyway."

Claims Supreme Court Was 'Brainwashed'

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss) has charged that the Supreme Court was "brainwashed and indoctrinated" by powerful left wing groups in writing its school segregation decision.

The Mississippi Democrat, a leading foe of integration, declared yesterday that these groups "are in control of both major parties and the government of the United States."

Williams Chides Stevenson Again

Forward-Looking Plank Lacked by Adlai, Says State Governor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams says Adlai Stevenson "would make a good (presidential) candidate" if he supported a "forward-looking program."

"I don't think he has yet," Michigan's Democratic chief executive added.

Williams made the comments yesterday on BAC's "College Press Conference" television program. He said that few Democratic contenders have yet "really opened up" on the kind of program he would like to see the party support.

Williams said he thought Stevenson's statements recently had been "something less than hard-hitting."

Asked his opinion of the President's reply to Soviet Premier Bulganin's proposal of a U.S.-Russian "friendship" pact, Williams said he thought "American diplomacy has been caught napping again."

He said many neutral countries are not "as sophisticated as we are" about Russian propaganda moves. He said he feared that in these countries many will consider Eisenhower's reply a "buick brush-off."

Speaking of the segregation issue in the South, Williams said: "I think the southern Democrats may find if they don't straighten this thing out, they may lose the North."

"Under no circumstances," he said, "would I provide for federal aid . . . where it would go to segregated schools."

The two tangled hotly on federal aid for education, Craig insisting Indiana needs none and Williams asserting:

Federal Jobs Decrease 18,470 Since November

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal civilian payroll totaled 2,343,688 in December, a decline of 18,470 jobs as compared with November, the Senate-House Committee on nonessential Federal Spending reported today.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va), committee chairman, said this was the fourth consecutive monthly decrease in U. S. employment and brought the net decline for the first six months of fiscal 1956 to 40,600. The fiscal year began last July 1.

First regular shipment of milk by rail was in 1841, from Orange county, New York, to New York City.

Solon to Give Up Probe of Foreign Junket Expenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Burleson (D-Tex) of the House Administration Committee says he is "about to give up" trying to get a detailed accounting of how much money traveling House members spent abroad last summer.

Some 200 or more Congress members made official trips abroad with funds provided by Congress and the State Department. In addition, many were provided with military air transportation.

Burleson told a newsman yesterday only a few House committees have filed expense accounts covering activities outside the country last year. Burleson's committee had requested such reports by today.

* * *

Although the State and Defense departments are preparing reports on their costs in connection with congressional junkets, Burleson said, "I just don't feel optimistic about the chances of ever getting the complete story."

Report Israel Seeks Big 3 Defense Help

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) — Israel was reported today seeking firm defense commitments from the big three Western powers and immediate arms to bolster her defenses against the Arab states.

Diplomatic informants at the U.N. said Israel is pressing the United States, Britain and France to put teeth into their 1950 tripartite agreement on guaranteeing peace in the Middle East and to take concrete steps to ease Israeli fears of an Arab attack.

Wheat Sells Off at Small Losses

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat sold off for small losses on the Board of Trade today in the wake of heavy weekend snows in parts of the winter wheat area.

Soybeans started out firm but gave up a part of their gains in subsequent dealings. Buying in beans again was associated with strength in soybean oil futures, but enthusiasm was tempered by easiness in soybean meal futures.

Feed grains had a slightly easier undertone at the start but tended to firm as trading progressed. Dealings were moderately active.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅛ to ⅜ lower, March $2.09¾; corn ⅛ to ½ higher; March $1.29; oats ⅜ lower to ⅛ higher, March 64⅝; rye unchanged to ¼ higher, March $1.22¾; soybeans ¼ to 1½ higher, March $2.08, and lard 5 to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $11.90.

Flint Gas Blast Injures Couple

Levels 5-Room Home as Crews Try to Trace Perilous Leakage

FLINT (AP) — A gas explosion destroyed a five-room, single story frame home here today, injuring the two occupants.

Sam Ally, 60, and his wife, Ella, 50, who suffered severe burns, were rescued from the flaming wreckage by three men employed by a firm across the street.

Three homes in the area on Dort highway at Dakota were evacuated and gas service cut off in the entire block while Consumers Power Co. crews sought to trace the gas leak.

Deputy Fire Marshal B. J. Marks said Ally, a cement contractor, may have set off the explosion in the gas filled house by lighting a cigarette.

Ally, who was partly dressed, and his wife, who was in bed, were blown to the rear of the house.

Tom Cavaness, 33, Theodore Stanley, 30, and Frank E. McDowell, 38, who were working at the Anderson Tank Co. across the street Hearing the blast, they ran to the scene and found the couple lying on a partition that had fallen across the blazing wreckage.

Some Stocks Show Strength

The best showing was made by steels, coppers, oils and aircrafts, while railroads were dotted with fractional losses and the motors were barely steady.

Gains ran to around 2 points while losses usually were no greater than a point.

Trading wasn't especially brisk and hit a pace around two million shares for the day. That compares with 1,950,000 shares traded in Friday's slightly lower market.

Steels have been leaders both ways in many recent markets. Today they were higher from the start. The industry has been raising prices gradually, an dthere was a lot of discussion in Wall street about higher prices yet to come. Earnings of many major steel companies never have been higher than they are right now.

Ford Motor was steady in the over the counter market at 64½, bid and 64¾ asked. The stock has been bid at its issues price of 64½ for three days.

PROUD MOTHER — "Lady Gassner," a police dog belonging to Alfred Gassner, of the Camp Oakland Boys' Ranch near Oxford, gave birth to 14 pups Jan. 17. In a note to Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, Camp Superintendent William Matus said, "Because the father has deserted these children, I would appreciate knowing whether we are entitled to Aid to Dependent Children. The children have been named 'One through Fourteen'."

Blinding Whiteout Halts Antarctica Expedition

LITTLE AMERICA V, Antarctica (AP)—America trailblazers have been pinned down for two days by a blinding whiteout a little more than halfway on their journey deep into Marie Byrd Land.

The seven-man team last reported its position as about 330 miles southeast of Little America V, Operation Deepfreeze's main base on the Ross ice shelf.

The whiteout, an antarctic phenomenon in which the horizon and snow terrain are lost in a white-blue light refraction, also grounded a plane flown out from the base to do reconniassance work for the ground party.

The Snowcats, which like the Weasel are heated and enclosed, are towing nine sleds loaded with rations and equipment. Their assigned goal is a point where an International Geophysical Year base is to be constructed for use by American scientists.

MARK DISTANCE

The trial party has been planting red flags every fifth of a mile and is storing fuel every 50 miles for use on the return trip.

Riding in the lead vehicle is the boss man of the party —"Pemican Pack" Bursey, a colorful barrel-chested lieutenant commander from Grand Rapids, Mich. He has made two previous expeditions to the antarctic with Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd.

Mercury to Display 'Turnpike Cruiser'

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co.'s Mercury Division is putting its XM-turnpike cruiser on the road—in a glass-sided trailer showcase.

Mercury engineers and stylists say the experimental car was designed for the nation's new turnpike system. It is being shown at auto shows throughout the country. It boasts maximum visibility and low silhouette.

The special trailer carrying the car has picture windows on each side measuring 20 feet by six feet six inches. The windows can be lowered and the car can be turned cross-wise within the trailer by a turntable. Aluminum walkways and railings have been installed on each side of the trailer so visitors can get a close hand view of the vehicle.

News in Brief

Pleading guilty to reckless driving, 23-year-old Jerome Williams of Flint was fined $100 with $25 costs and sentenced to jail for five days Saturday by Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Leib.

Pleading guilty to driving under the influence of liquor, Woodrow R. Cunningham, 28, of 12 Thorpe St., was fined $100 or 30 days in jail by Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan today.

Lincoln Junior High School, 131 Hillside Dr., was reported broken into Saturday night, but apparently nothing was stolen, Pontiac Police said.

A breakin at Davisburg Elementary School Saturday night netted thieves $30 from the school's office, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said today.

Capture One Boy, Seek Another After Breakin

One juvenile boy was arrested and another is being sought by police investigating a warehouse breakin Saturday afternoon.

The youth was caught at the scene after he and his partner allegedly ransacked the basement of the building at 117 Turk St.

The pair also broke into a house-trailer at the same address, police said. Apparently nothing was stolen in either breakin, they said.

Mad Man Muntz, Bride Sailing for Europe, Stay

DETROIT (AP)—Patricia Stevens, 38, charm school owner, and Earl (Mad Man) Muntz, 41, who got his nickname as a West Coast used car dealer, were en route to Europe on a honeymoon today.

They were married, both for the second time, in Detroit Saturday night at the home of Miss Stevens' brother, Patrick. Muntz said they had been "romantically inclined on and off for about eight years."

Muntz, who now lives in Chicago, turned from used cars to television and sports car manufacture, and gave his blue-eyed cherry blonde bride a gleaming white Continental Mark II in which they left Detroit for New York to board the Queen Elizabeth tomorrow for a six weeks European honeymoon.

Miss Stevens owns model agencies and charm schools in 30 cities and was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Aurilia Stevens-Muntz' son, James Earl, 16, stood up with him.

Centennial Corp. Dissolved by Town

NORTH BRANCH—The North Branch Centennial Corporation, formed last spring for the legal protection of the committee handling the business matters of the centennial, was dissolved at a recent meeting of the corporation. Balance of the funds has been transferred to a trust fund, to be used for future community projects.

The Board of Trustees, elected to handle these funds, are: Robert Chase, Raymond Ball, Fred Fitch, Walter Taylor and Walter Schnepp.

The board will advertise and call a meeting, prior to the expedition of such funds. It was declared that anyone who had made donations, may have money returned by contacting Maynard LeGrow by Feb. 15. Balance of money will remain in the Improvement Fund.

Outdoor Club Is Looted of Bacon in Breakin

Thieves who broke into the Birmingham Gun Club, on Richardson road, Commerce Township, Saturday night, walked off with an undetermined amount of bacon from the club's kitchen, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said today.

The robbers apparently also broke into the club's tool shed, but manager W. E. Bertolet of Detroit says he doesn't yet know if anything was taken.

Hardware Burglarized

Two rifles, three hunting knives and $5 were reported stolen from a hardware store at 900 Joslyn Rd., broken into Friday night, Pontiac Police said.

Ike, Eden Prepare for Washington Powwow

(What hot problems confront Ike and Eden? Will the Dixon-Yates controversy explode anew? Will Gov. G. Mennen Williams aim new barbs at Adlai Stevenson? A Washington newsman suggests stories to watch for dramatic developments this week.)

By JAMES LEE

WASHINGTON (INS) — The tension that always accompanies big international pow-wows is evident in Washington this week.

British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, who has briefly turned his back on a mountain of difficulties at home, arrives today for let's-talk-turkey conferences with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The free world's two top leaders will tackle such pressing problems as these:

The Israeli-Arab controversy, with its ominous trickle of blood and the ever-present fear that the Middle East conflict could burst suddenly into full-scale war.

The possibilities of slapping some kind of control of nuclear weapons tests.

New Soviet "peace" moves, which have complicated the situation as the two big men of the west seek a firmly unified approach to the undiminishing menace of global Communism.

Eden has made many visits to the U. S., but this is the first time he has come in the role of prime minister, a job he took over from the doughty Sir Winston Churchill last April.

Not much has been heard about Dixon-Yates lately, but that celebrated controversy pops back into the news this week.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. has been invited to testify before the Senate Judiciary Committee on a disputatious bill calling for special counsel to defend the government in litigation over its cancellation of the Dixon-Yates contract.

The Dixon-Yates syndicate is seeking repayment of $3,534,738 spent in preparing to build a power plant at West Memphis, Ark., to replace energy diverted from a Tennessee Valley Authority installation.

The contract was terminated in an acrid atmosphere of political disharmony, with the government claiming "conflict of interests" and Dixon-Yates proclaiming innocence.

Brownell has named 3 Justice Department lawyers, all described as "holdover Democrats," to defend the U. S.

A showdown vote may come in the Senate this week on the bill to free 5,000 natural gas producers from the rigid price regulations imposed by the Federal Power Commission.

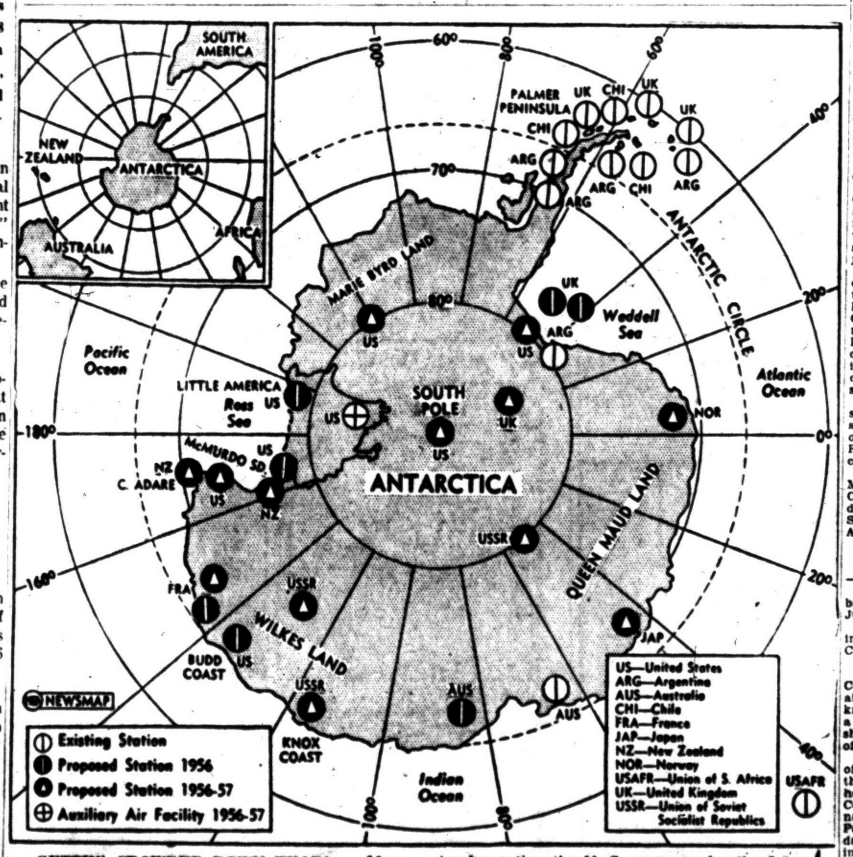

Democrats have been arguing against each other on the proposed legislation for days and days.

Barring some last-minute developments, the exempiton measure probably will pass by a margin of three or four votes.

Jail 3 for Contributing to Delinquency of Minors

Charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors, three South Oakland County men pleaded guilty Saturday before Royal Oak Township Justice Delbert W. Hunt.

Smith Bush, 24, of Royal Oak Township, and George Gatewood, 26, and James Billingsley, 33, both of Ferndale, all began 30-day sentences in Oakland County Jail after failing to pay fines of $75 with $25 costs.

GETTIN' CROWDED DOWN THAR! — Map shows location of Antarctic stations being established by the U. S. Navy's "Operation Deepfreeze" and similar expeditions from seven other nations, working at top speed through the brief Antarctic summer. Central U. S. station will be at the South Pole itself, in history's first attempt to establish one and maintain it throughout the winter.

"Operation Deepfreeze" has the double goal of implementing the U. S. program for the International Geophysical Year 1957-58 and carrying forward the exploration and mapping started by earlier expeditions.

This year is the first time man has set foot on the Pole since the 1911-12 Amundsen and Scott expeditions. The U. S. expedition is the largest, with 1,805 men and seven ships. Russia's advance party of 216 men landed on Knox Coast Jan. 6, to build the first of three bases.

4 Productions on NBC Agenda

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—NBC wants John Barrymore Jr. and Margaret O'Brien for a 3-day "Romeo and Juliet" Feb. 27-8-9 on Matinee Theater...

Then, March 5, "Caesar and Cleopatra" will star Claire Bloom and Sir Cedric Hardwicke on Producers' Showcase...

To extend the NBC kulture klatch, Lilli Palmer and Maurice Evans will appear March 18 in "Taming of the Shrew" on Hallmark Playhouse...

Plus, of course, the 3-hour "Richard III" movie March 11 on NBC-TV...

While Sol Hurok's fantastic collection of cultural music fills the NBC air this evening, the Firestone Hour, far more faithful to fine melody than any other telecast, will present Elaine Malbin and Robert Merrill via ABC-TV—superb stuff as usual...

NOT CONSULTED

Jackie Gleason's announcement that he probably would interview Perry Como when Jackie fills in for his close friend E. R. Murrow on "Person-to-Person" didn't take into consideration that Perry might not wish to appear...

In the interesting battle for ratings, the new Pulse January survey has Como fifth in the top 10; "The Honeymooners" out of contention (unlucky 13th)...

Since NBC Chairman Pat Weaver dreamed it up, he's now in Hollywood trying to perk up the Comedy Hour personally...

'LOST HORIZONS'

Neat "Weekday" notion — it'll dramatize "Lost Horizons" in six NBC radio installments (10:15 a.m.) starting Feb. 6. One of the great adventure fantasies of all time...

Our gripes—Mail is full of complaints about the cavalier treatment George Washington got on the Phil Silvers' show; but it was meant in pure fun, however it struck the living rooms, Phil swears on his best cherry tree...

Vice President Nixon's Lincoln Day address will get the all-network radio-TV treatment one day later during the Republican dinner Feb. 13.

The man closest to Ike's heart, Dr. Paul Dudley White, the President's heart specialist, will be heard on ABC-radio's "New Sounds for You" Tuesday night.

Victor Borge's TV spectaculars will pay the unmelancholy Dane $100,000 apiece...He'll do two... plus two guest shots at $25,000 each...

'Subtle Irritation Scheme'

Gleason Fights CBS Plan to Crowd Out 'Stage Show'

NEW YORK (AP) — Neither the CBS network nor its chubby TV comedian Jackie Gleason is in any laughing mood about talk of pending shifts in the CBS Saturday night schedule.

Gleason accused network executives of being the apparent source for "many inaccurate statements" about the situation. At a news conference Saturday he called the reports "manufactured irritation" and added, "I think it's underhanded."

CBS indicated a complete rebuttal would be issued today.

Shortly after the Gleason news conference a CBS spokesman commented briefly, saying the network had issued "no statements . . . on a change of time spots for programs."

The hassle developed from reports that CBS wanted to shift Gleason's filmed program, The Honeymooners, from 8:30 p.m., EST, back to 8 to provide stronger competition for NBC's popular Perry Como Show. This would crowd out Stage Show, a Gleason-produced program featuring the Dorsey brothers, which now appears on the CBS 8 p.m. spot immediately before Gleason's own show.

Gleason said erroneous reports had been put out that the sponsor of Stage Show was dissatisfied and that Gleason was asking a million and a half dollars to agree to drop it.

"It's apparently a subtle scheme of irritation probably aimed at trying to discourage me from keeping Stage Show on the air," Gleason said. "If it's originating at CBS they're making a sad mistake."

Gleason said he asked CBS officials to refute the reports. They have not done so, he continued, and "all indications" are that CBS originated the statements.

Reports that he wanted a million and a half dollars for agreeing to the change are "ridiculous" Gleason said, but he would demand $400,000 for the change.

* * *

He said that unless CBS came up with proposals for keeping the two Gleason shows adjoining or for compensating the cast of Stage Show for the whole season, there would be no change.

14-Year-Old Boy to Get New Try at $100,000 Quiz

NEW YORK (AP) — George L. Wright III, 14, will get another chance at the $100,000 jackpot on the "Big Surprise" NBC TV quiz show next Saturday night.

George missed the final section of a six-part question last Saturday when he failed to name the author of the song "Betty Coed," written by Rudy Vallee and Paul Fogarty.

Yesterday the show's producer Steve Carlin, announced that George will get another chance this week because "Betty Coed" had been incorrectly identified in the question as a song of the 1920s, whereas it was actually published in 1930. Carlin said George will be asked another question on songs of the 1920s. If he misses, he still will get $25,000 of winnings thus far.

Knowland Bars Name From Poll

Ike Now Unopposed in Preference Contest in New Hampshire

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP)—Three supporters of Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said today he encouraged them to enter a delegate's slate favorable to him in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary March 13.

The three spoke out in separate interviews after the Senate minority leader told a news conference he will not allow his name to be entered in the preference poll section of the two-pronged ballot.

The net effect of the political maneuvering appeared to leave this picture:

Both winners of the 1952 Granite State Primary—President Eisenhower and Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn)—will be unopposed in this year's preference poll. Both will have opposition in the delegate contests.

The President's organized supporters in New Hampshire will have to fight a pro-Knowland delegate slate for the state's 14 votes at the Republican National Convention.

Kefauver is the only Democrat in the preference poll. But supporters of Adlai Stevenson said they will enter a delegate slate before the Feb. 11 filing deadline in a bid to capture the state's eight Democratic votes.

When a reporter asked Knowland if he would do anything to encourage a slate of delegates to file in his behalf, he replied:

"Well, as I understand it, I have no control over that situation."

He was referring to a New Hampshire law which allows a delegate candidate to run "favorable" to a presidential aspirant even without the aspirant's consent.

Honest Car Thief

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP)—Donald Finlayson was quickly released after his arrest on charges of stealing a car. He went to pick up a friend's auto and found two machines of the same make and color at the parking place. His keys fitted both cars and he took the wrong one.

Joe Adonis Expelled From Rome by Police

ROME (INS) — Racketeer Joe Adonis will be transferred forcibly by Rome police today to his native town of Avellino with a warning not to return to Rome without official authorization.

Adonis was found by police in a house on the outskirts of Rome, where he spent the last six days as the guest of American friends who were identified as medical student Philip Jasper and wife.

Mrs. Effie Ulrich of Coldwater said the age-enfeebled dog she acquired as a bouncy pup would be destroyed by a vetinarian.

Wedding Is Held Despite Bride's Appendectomy

NEW YORK (AP)—Eunice Tillman and Irwin Klempner had planned to be married last night and they were despite an emergency appendectomy for the bride.

The ceremony was shifted from Brooklyn's Temple Sinai to Eunice's hospital room. Instead of a large party of wedding guests, only the couple's parents, the maid of honor and the best man were there.

Eunice had been taken to the operating room only seven hours before she was supposed to be at her wedding.

Rabbi Henry Epstein, who performed the ceremony, said the couple, each 28, had complied with a Jewish law against postponing "a marriage to which guests have been invited and food has been prepared."

There are no railroads in Afghanistan, which has a population exceeding 12,000,000.
