Dwindling Fuel Almost Aborted First Moon Landing

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. reported today they were dangerously low on fuel as they neared the moon and said quick action by ground controllers enabled them to make a safe landing.

"We were very concerned about running low on fuel," Armstrong told a news conference, the first public report on the historic mission.

★ ★ ★

"We had to change the landing point because of the crater and we were quite close to our legal limit on fuel," the commander reported.

Armstrong said if he had been forced to hunt another 15 or 20 seconds for a smooth landing point, the landing attempt would have been aborted.

DESCRIBE DESCENT

Armstrong and Aldrin described their final 50,000-foot descent to the moon on July 20—a hair-raising 12 minutes during which computer alarms flashed and they had to take manual control to avoid crashing in the rock-filled crater.

"I think we pretty well understand what caused these program alarms," Aldrin said. "It was the fact that the computer was in a process of solving the landing problem and at the same time we had the rendezvous radar in a powered-up condition and this tended to add an additional burden to the computer operation."

★ ★ ★

The rendezvous radar was keeping track of Michael Collins, orbiting overhead in the command ship.

"It told us for a brief instant the computer was reaching a point of being overprogrammed or having too many jobs waiting for it to do," Aldrin added. "Unfortunately, it came at a point when we did not want to be trying to solve these particular problems. We wanted to be able to look out the window and identify features so that we could pinpoint the landing."

'POSSIBLE ABORT SITUATION'

"We realized we had a possible abort situation to contend with," Armstrong said. "But our procedure throughout was to always try to keep going as long as we could so we could bypass these types of problems."

Control told the astronauts to stop asking the computer to display landing information. Instead, the ground passed up the information in a series of dramatic "Go's."

"We really have to give the credit to the control center in this case," Armstrong said. "They were really the people who really came through and helped us and said, 'Continue,' which is what we wanted to hear."

But Armstrong alone had to fly away from the menacing crater.

He noted the automatic system was directing Eagle into the crater and possible disaster so he took manual control and flew to a smoother spot half a mile away. That is what almost exhausted the precious fuel.

★ ★ ★

In describing the descent, the three astronauts showed dramtic color photos of the rapidly approaching lunar terrain, with its craters and boulders growing larger by the second.

GM Backing Harambee

By DIANNE DUROCHER

The Pontiac-based facilities of General Motors Corp. are providing interest-free loans to Harambee Inc., officials of the city black development firm announced today.

The loans, to total $1.1 million, will assist Harambee in buying sites for new homes in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

At a press conference at Bethune Elementary School, attended by state and local government officials and community leaders, Harambee President Charles M. Tucker Jr. said the GM loans already have enabled Harambee to purchase several vacant land parcels in Pontiac's southwest section.

Development of the various sites purchased by Harambee is expected to provide some 500 new housing units.

WORK TO BEGIN

Construction is set to begin shortly on three vacant sites, including three acres at Bagley and Diston; four acres at Bagley and Wessen and three acres at Lake and Orton, Tucker said.

Multiple-dwelling units, including town house-type condominiums with from two to four bedrooms, are planned for all three locations.

★ ★ ★

In addition, Harambee has acquired a 12-acre site near the Lakeside Homes complex on Branch near Gillespie and another 12 acres at the end of Lake Street, adjacent to the Bethune Elementary School.

F. James McDonald, a GM vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division and chairman of GM's plant-city committee said, "The pledge by GM operations in Pontiac offers major assistance in the over-all financing of private housing in this area."

PLAN EXPLAINED

He explained that as completed housing units are sold, the loans for the land will be repaid.

"Acquisition of land at reasonable prices is a major economic factor in development of decent housing for many people," he said.

McDonald, who attended the press conference with Martin J. Caserio, a GM vice president and general manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division, and John F. Dudas, manager of the Fisher Body plant, said:

"The success of Harambee's program will depend on the entire community pulling together. This project calls for total cooperation."

Harambee is a Swahili word meaning "let us work together."

★ ★ ★

Begun about 15 months ago, Harambee is a nonprofit organization comprising minority group leaders in the community. The organization initially aims to build and rehabilitate housing in the city's South Side.

ALL BLACK ARCHITECTS

Harambee has retained the services of all the black architectural firms in Michigan, according to Tucker.

"This, to our knowledge, is the first time all the black architectural firms in a state have been drawn together to develop a program of this nature," he added.

★ ★ ★

The establishment of Harambee was due to the joint participation of the Pontiac Housing Committee and the Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority (MDCDA), an organization formed by private citizens to bring about low-income housing through nonprofit sponsors.

Harambee was provided with operational funds from the Archdiocese of Detroit.

"Harambee's plans have been carefully mapped, architectural draw-

Promotion Gimmicks Regulated by FTC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission announced today new regulations designed to ban deceptive practices in games of chance used as sales promotion by the food retailing and gasoline industries.

The regulations, published in the Federal Register, become effective in 60 days.

★ ★ ★

The trade rule was adopted over the objection of Commissioner Philip Elman, who argued that promotional gimmicks should be outlawed entirely.

The FTC action came four months after hearings ended on a proposed rule that would have been even tougher on the promotion business.

As finally approved, the regulation provides that deception in conducting giveaway games constitutes an unfair and deceptive practice and outlines a list of actions that might be considered misleading to consumers.

Among other things, the rule bans any promotions that misrepresent, either directly or indirectly, a customer's chances of winning a prize.

★ ★ ★

It also requires that sponsors disclose clearly and conspicuously the exact number of prizes to be awarded and the odds on winning one.

Companies also would have to disclose the total number of participating retail outlets and the scheduled termination date of the contest.

The FTC said it would consider as deceptive the failure to mix and distribute game winning pieces on a random basis throughout the program and throughout the geographic area covered by the contest.

The FTC omitted a section that was included in its proposed regulation dealing with possible coercion of retail dealers in the gasoline industry.

In so doing, however, the commission said it would respond to dealer complaints, whether in connection with giveaway games or other aspects of retailer relationships with suppliers.

3-Day Forecast: Summer at Its Best

Good old summertime temperatures — not too hot, not too cool — are forecast through Thursday.

The weatherman says tonight will be fair with a low of 60 to 65. Partly cloudy and warm, the high near 84 to 89, is the outlook for tomorrow.

Thursday is expected to be partly cloudy and warm with a chance of thundershowers.

Probabilities of precipitation are 10 per cent today, five per cent tonight and 10 per cent tomorrow.

Fifty-nine was the low temperature before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. By 2 p.m. the mercury had jumped to 85.

Testimony Ends in Extortion Case

By THOMAS TERP

Final testimony has been recorded after six stormy days in the extortion trial of reputed Mafia leader Joseph Barbara Jr. The case was expected to go to the jury shortly after noon today.

Barbara is accused of extorting $4,000 and a diamond ring from Mrs. Peter Lazaros while her husband was in jail in 1968.

★ ★ ★

Attorneys made their final statements to the jury this morning, and the 13-member jury was scheduled to begin deliberations immediately after receiving instructions from Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Yesterday's sixth day of testimony, like the five previous days, was marked by efforts from both the prosecution and the defense to establish credibility of witnesses.

TAPED CONVERSATION

Special Prosecutor Jack Bain introduced a taped telephone conversation between Peter Lazaros and Alex Phillos. Bain said he wanted the jury to hear the conversation "only to show that on Dec. 14, 1968, Lazaros and Phillos were on very friendly terms."

Phillos, a former Lazaros business associate and onetime owner of the Detroit Sausage Co., had testified earlier that he was afraid of Lazaros and that Lazaros and his wife were constantly fighting.

★ ★ ★

His testimony was contrary to earlier testimony from Lazaros and his wife that they had a happy marriage, and presumably was sought by defense attorney Ivan Barris to discredit Mr. and Mrs. Lazaros.

Bain, Barris and Judge Ziem huddled for nearly two hours yesterday before deciding parts of the tape-recorded conversation could be heard by the jury.

MINOR RUCKUS

Earlier Judge Ziem told Bain he could not call three witnesses to the stand to testify. One of the witnesses raised a minor ruckus over the matter.

Albert Spadafore, owner of the Community Super Market, 3286 Auburn, Pontiac Township, was told he could not testify because he had not been properly endorsed as a witness.

★ ★ ★

About an hour after Bain was told he could not call Spadafore to the stand, Spadafore entered the courtroom and confronted Barbara.

Only a handful of observers were in the courtroom to see the 350-pound Barbara jump from his seat when

Pontiac Division Plans Expansion

A major construction program which will increase the size of the final assembly plant to provide additional inspection and production space was announced today by Pontiac Motor Division.

Completion of the program is scheduled for the fall of 1970 to coincide with the introduction of 1971 Pontiacs, according to F. James McDonald, a General Motors vice president and divisional general manager.

Cost of the project was not disclosed.

The 213,000 square foot modernization project will be the first major expansion of the assembly plant since it was built 42 years ago. The project includes:

● A 100,000 square-foot addition at the west end of the present assembly plant

to extend the first and second floors 250 feet further west.

This space will insure that mechanically defect-free cars are sent to the final finish operations in Plant 16. This is due to be completed by October 1970.

● The tire building is being increased 47,000 square feet. This addition will be used primarily for storage of Fiberglass belted tires. Glass belted tires, which will be standard on all 1970 Pontiacs, take up almost twice as much storage space as conventional tires.

● A 32,000 square-foot addition to the material storage area north of the assembly facility.

● An on-line station for simulated road test equipment. With the expansion occupying the area previously used for these tests, it became necessary to develop an alternate method.

The on-line road simulator not only will perform these tests in a more convenient area but will provide a more consistent test, officials said.

● An enclosed conveyor will provide out-of-weather delivery of cars to the final finish area, about 1,200 feet away.

★ ★ ★

In addition to providing a clean car for final finish, the conveyor will stabilize scheduling to Plant 16.

● Four truck wells will be added and rail and truck receiving facilities modernized to meet the increased demand on the present dock facilities.

150 Hurt as Winds Rip Fair

Strong Winds Caused This Wisconsin State Fair Tent To Collapse Yesterday

WEST ALLIS, Wis. (UPI) — It was Children's Day at the Wisconsin State Fair yesterday.

The day's attendance was 101,456. The weather had been ideal — blue skies, sun and a gentle breeze.

★ ★ ★

The breeze suddenly got stronger and stronger. Rain began to fall. People started to run into large tents for shelter.

★ ★ ★

But the wind got stronger yet, "like a tornado," and with giant tearing sounds three large tents collapsed.

150 INJURED

At least 150 persons were injured, trapped under flapping canvas and falling tent poles, or injured by benches tumbled by the wind. All but two of the injured were treated and released. The fair's first aid station also treated an unknown number of persons.

★ ★ ★

Before the storm ripped through this Milwaukee suburb, it had been a typical state fair scene — throngs wandering past agricultural displays, the children gawking at the animals.

Then came the wind.

'TERRIBLE PANIC'

"There was terrible panic. People were trampled all over the place," said an off-duty Milwaukee policeman Lonnie Heibler. He was inside one of the tents.

★ ★ ★

"A huge gust of wind lifted the tent up and tore the top in two. Water gushed inside and the wind hurled park benches through the air," Heibler said.

★ ★ ★

The tent was packed with about 600 fair visitors watching the "Tahiti Nuit Revue." Six of the Polynesian performers were among the injured.

★ ★ ★

Young Suspect Is Released in 5 LA Slayings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police have released the 19-year-old caretaker they held for questioning in the killing of actress Sharon Tate and four other persons.

"There is no reason to suspect him," said Inspector Harold Yarnell as William E. Garretson was released yesterday after two days in custody.

★ ★ ★

The baby-faced youth wouldn't talk with newsmen. But his lawyer, Barry Tarlow, said Garretson was in his room in a guest house of Miss Tate's estate Friday night and Saturday when the five were shot and stabbed to death.

Garretson didn't know anything had happened until police kicked in his door at 9 a.m. Saturday, Tarlow said.

Investigators said they want to question friends of Miss Tate and Garretson.

Officers continued investigating the deaths of a supermarket owner and his wife whose bodies were found Sunday night, their heads hooded like one of the victims in the Saturday killings a few miles away. In both cases bodies were slashed and words were scrawled nearby in what appeared to be the victims' blood.

Despite the similarities, a police spokesman said, the cases apparently are unconnected. The couple, Leno A. LaBianca, 44, and his wife, Rosemary, 44, may have been the victims of a "copycat" killer, officers said.

Those killed with Miss Tate were Abigail Folger, 26, a San Francisco socialite; Voityck Frykowski, 37, a movie associate of Miss Tate's husband, director Roman Polanski; Jay Sebring, 26, an internationally known hairdresser; and Steven Earl Parent, 18, a student from suburban El Monte who police and Garretson's lawyer said was a friend of Garretson.

Tarlow said Garretson had said goodnight to Parent about 11:30 p.m. Friday, then gone to his room, where he listened to his stereo.

Parent was shot at the wheel of his car in the driveway of the $200,000 home.

Reds' Fall Offensive?

Viet War Lull Shattered

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops shattered the long battlefield lull early today, shelling 128 allied towns and bases across Vietnam. The Vietcong and North Vietnamese followed up with ground attacks on 14 allied positions and fought in the streets of two important towns north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command said that all attacks were repulsed and that incomplete figures from the field listed more than 400 enemy dead. U.S. casualties were 51 dead and 345 wounded.

A spokesman for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said: "It's probably the start of their fall campaign . . ."

★ ★ ★

One of the sharpest battles broke out at a U.S. artillery base blocking infiltration routes from Cambodia to Tay Ninh, 65 miles northwest of Saigon. The base was hit with 400 rounds of rockets, mortars and rocket-propelled grenades.

In the hour-long battle 54 North Vietnamese and 9 Americans were killed, field reports said. Thirty-nine Americans were wounded.

The biggest enemy push came in an area near the Cambodian border north of Saigon. There about 2,000 North Vietnamese from two or three divisions attacked a dozen American bases.

★ ★ ★

Enemy commandos also blasted their way into the headquarters of the US. 1st Marine Division in Da Nang and slammed a dozen mortar rounds into a U. S. Navy hospital there.

FAR-FLUNG ATTACKS — This map shows where a new wave of enemy attacks erupted in South Vietnam today.

President Sends Congress Manpower Training Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today proposed giving states and cities much of the authority for running $2.3 billion a year in federal programs to train more than 1 million Americans annually for jobs.

As part of his "New Federalism" concept of sharing state, local and federal power, Nixon sent to Congress a Manpower Training Act to streamline and make more flexible the welter of existing job training programs.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, in a briefing, said that despite Job Corps cuts which angered Congress, Nixon is proposing to add 150,000 Americans to job training rolls at an extra cost of $400 million a year.

★ ★ ★

Most of the additional training would go to welfare recipients if both the manpower bill and Nixon's welfare legislation are enacted. The welfare bill requires most recipients to take job training.

The manpower legislation also would boost job training funds 10 per cent if the nation's unemployment rate rose to 4.5 per cent for three straight months. It is now 3.6 per cent.

★ ★ ★

This, Shultz said, was to quell fears that many Americans might lose their jobs in Nixon's efforts to slow the nation's economy enough to cool inflation.

The bill also provides for a computerized national job bank to match the unemployed with job openings.

It would equalize living allowances for different job training programs, which now vary, to keep the unemployed from shopping around for the best allowance instead of for the most suitable job training.

Welfare recipients would receive, in lieu of the job training allowance, a special incentive of $30 a month in addition to welfare payments.

States and cities would take over much of the authority for planning and spending federal money for manpower programs heretofore largely run from Washington, but the Labor Department would retain over-all responsibility.

★ ★ ★

"The secretary of labor will provide guidelines and national priorities, review and approve annual state plans of service, and evaluate performance of state and area manpower service systems," the legislation says.

"The governors will determine the utilization of manpower program resources, be responsible for state comprehensive manpower plans, assure provisions of manpower services in rural areas and nonmetropolitan areas, and monitor program performance," the proposal says. "The mayors will be responsible for planning and implementing manpower programs in urban areas."

Milliken Vetoes Small Loan Bill; Signs Usury Act

LANSING (UPI)—Gov. William G. Milliken today vetoed a bill which would allow small loan companies to raise their interest rates and expand their lending power, but approved a measure which would remove the interest rate ceiling on home loans.

The measure vetoed would have raised from $1,000 to $3,500 the amount of money a company could loan to one person.

It would have allowed the company to charge up to 30 per cent interest on the first $300 and 18 per cent interest on the remaining amount up to $3,500.

The usury bill, which won Milliken's approval, removes the current 7 per cent interest limit on home loans until Dec. 31, 1970. At that time, the rate limit will return to 7 per cent unless further legislative action is taken.

Sponsors of the legislation said a crisis exists in home building because lending institutions claim they cannot afford to give mortgages at the 7 per cent rate.

The money which once went to small home mortgages is now going to corporate building, which is not limited by the 7 per cent law.

In his veto of the small loan bill, Milliken said the bill has "numerous deficiencies" and is "contrary to consumer interests."

He said the measure lacked "adequate protection" against requiring the borrower to provide credit insurance as a condition for the loan, delinquency charges "may well be excessive," and the borrower might have to maintain "some minimum indebtedness."

Birmingham

Report Shows Comparison of Police Salaries

BIRMINGHAM — City Manager Robert Kenning told the City Commission last night that Birmingham has shown high regard for its police officers with a 43 per cent salary increase over the past four years.

Kenning filed a letter with the commission showing a detailed salary scale comparison with other area police departments in an attempt to clarify conflicting reports about the income level of Birmingham police officers.

★ ★ ★

He said the information would put the commissioners in a better position to answer questions raised by taxpayers.

Kenning noted that in 1964, the maximum salary for a patrolman was $6,525. The current maximum is $9,300. The police bargaining unit is aiming for a $11,750 maximum package in initial contract talks.

LONGEVITY PAYMENT

The city manager said that since 1966, the City Commission has authorized an annual "longevity payment in addition to a policeman's salary for those officers having five or more years of service with the city. The payment varies between $186 and $930 depending upon the years of service.

According to Kenning's findings, the Birmingham department's current maximum of $9,300 compares to a high of $9,800 in Ferndale and a low of $8,290 in Berkley. Salaries compared were those as of Jan. 1, 1969.

Some police departments have since settled new contracts with the Pontiac department recording the high of $10,300, followed by Bloomfield Hills at $10,230.

George Rickey, city personnel director said negotiations will not resume until the State Labor Mediation Board appoints a mediator. The city requested a mediator after four talks produced "no progress."

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Donald E. Petersen of 1659 Spotswood, Bloomfield Township, and Joseph C. Quay, 1770 Rathmoor, have been named to the board of directors of Kingswood School, Cranbrook.

Petersen is executive director of the design center at Ford Motor Co. Quay is executive vice president and acting president of the Plymouth Steel Corp.

3 Perish in Desperate Walk After Car Stalls in Desert

INDEPENDENCE, Calif. (AP) — Two men and a boy stranded in the desert by a car breakdown tried to walk 20 miles to civilization.

Without water and in 120-degree heat, they fell one by one.

★ ★ ★

Searchers found the sun-blackened body of Arnold Dobson, 65, seven miles from the stranded car Sunday. Three miles on lay Harold Mast Jr., 16. Yesterday, the searchers came across the body of the boy's father, Harold Sr., 40. He had lasted 13 miles.

A deputy sheriff said the three had set out for their homes in Irvine and Corona Friday after visiting friends in Bishop, 40 miles north of Independence.

WANDERED UP ROAD

They said they planned to stop in Eureka Valley to look at the famous old El Capitan mine. Instead they wandered up an abandoned road into the barren Saline Valley, where their car stalled.

They set out on foot toward a paved road and a ranch house they had passed.

★ ★ ★

Although the two adults were mining equipment salesmen familiar with desert conditions, they had carried no water.

A mile from the car searchers found a spring-fed oasis in a willow grove. But the two men and the boy walked in the other direction.

Harambee Gets GM Cash Aid

ings are completed, land has been purchased and almost a year-and-a-half of cooperative effort have brought us to the edge of realizing a dream," Tucker said.

"As Harambee begins actual construction, it will be a materialization of efforts to turn a slum area into a new community with housing, commercial and recreational facilities."

★ ★ ★

"Harambee's plans and hopes can only be achieved with the full cooperation of our local governmental and educational units; our state government through the state housing authority and the Federal government through FHA programs — all working in cooperation with private business, industry and labor," Tucker said.

★ ★ ★

He concluded, "We believe that cooperation can be accomplished and we plan to do our part to make the community of Pontiac a better place for all to live."

Barbara Trial Testimony Ends

ANGRY WORDS

A few angry words were exchanged, and a state policeman then escorted Spadafore from the courtroom.

Bain had intended to use Spadafore to testify that Barbara had in fact been to the Lazaros home, 2410 Dalesford, Troy, while Lazaros was in Southern Michigan State Prison at Jackson on a fraud conviction, an informed source said.

★ ★ ★

According to Lazaros, Spadafore was asked to deliver groceries to Mrs. Lazaros while he (Mr. Lazaros) was in jail.

On one of his delivery visits, Spadafore was met at the door by Barbara, who told him to go home, Lazaros claimed.

'TELEPHONED MRS. LAZAROS'

Unable to make the grocery delivery, Spadafore reportedly returned to his supermarket and telephoned Mrs. Lazaros to ask if there were any problems.

Spadafore told newsmen that Mrs. Lazaros was crying on the phone when he called and asked him to forget about the delivery.

Spadafore said that he also was going to testify that his life was threatened the next day by Barbara and another reputed Mafia figure who warned him not to say anything about what he had seen, Lazaros said.

Judge Ziem ruled that the defense should be given advance notice of any prosecution witnesses, and said Spadafore could not testify because proper endorsement had not been made.

Two other witnesses — Peter Lazaros' mother and his 9-year-old son — were also barred from taking the stand.

Mrs. Nicholas Lazaros was not allowed to testify yesterday because she had already been excused by both attorneys, and Lazaros' son, John, was not allowed because he also had not been endorsed as a witness. However, Ziem reversed himself this morning and allowed Mrs. Lazaros to testify.

Meanwhile, special Oakland County one-man grand juror Robert J. Colombo is reportedly delaying his probe into alleged corruption in the county until the Barbara trial is completed.

Peter Lazaros' statements to State Police officials during the past eight months have been instrumental in the calling of the probe, and Lazaros presumably will be a key witness in the investigation.

Colombo does not want to begin talks with Lazaros until the Barbara trial is finished, an informed source has said.

Street Stretch to Close

A three-block section of Voorheis between Orchard Lake and Chippewa will be closed to traffic for three weeks beginning tomorrow due to sewer construction, a City Hall spokesman announced today.

Huge Quake in Pacific

TOKYO (UPI) — An undersea earthquake as powerful as those that hit San Francisco in 1906 and Alaska in 1964 rocked northern Japan and the Kurile Islands early today. It generated 4½-foot tidal waves, but no major damage or injuries were reported.

Possible Solution Is Proposed

Justice Takes Too Long, Burger Says

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, agreed today with Americans who complain that justice takes too long.

He also proposed a possible solution: the immediate training of "skilled managers" to take over problems of administration, leaving judges free to judge.

* * *

In almost every large courthouse in the country, Burger told the American Bar Association's House of Delegates, frustrated and angry citizens called for jury service spend about 80 per cent of their time just waiting.

Witnesses called for a precise day and hour, having left their jobs, also find themselves spending most of their time waiting, the chief justice said.

PUBLIC WON'T BUY

"Many lawyers have come to accept this philosophically and many have simply surrendered to 'The System,'" Burger went on. "The public will not."

As hospitals concluded long ago that they needed a corps of trained administrators, he said, judges need trained people to do for them what they cannot do for themselves.

And yet, he said, except in details, a civil or a criminal trial today is essentially the same as in Daniel Webster's time, a century ago.

* * *

"Frankly, I do not know the answer," Burger added, "but I do know that the patience of the American people with the processes of litigation is wearing thin."

As an immediate start toward a solution, he said a dozen or so court managers and business administrators should be brought together within the next two months to plan a program to train court administrators.

* * *

The planning need not include lawyers and judges, Burger said, but should ultimately draw in universities.

Along the same lines, he supported legislation pending in Congress to provide administrators for the federal courts. And he appealed to "the private sector" to support planned pilot programs to train administrators.

* * *

"The need is now, not at some distant future date," he emphasized.

Teen Charges Pierre Trudeau With Assault

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — An information charging Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau with assault was sworn out Monday night by Richard Bruce Jesmer, 17, of Niagara Falls, Ont.

Jesmer swore out the information before Justice of the Peace Don Stewart at police headquarters in this western Canadian city, alleging he was assaulted last Friday, the night of a demonstration outside a Liberal party dinner.

* * *

Stewart said he scheduled a hearing Friday when he will decide whether to proceed with the charge.

* * *

Some 300 persons gathered outside the Seaforth armories for the demonstration. Trudeau had agreed to address the crowd but did not do so after shouts drowned out a demonstration leader.

SEEKING WORK

Jesmer, a laborer who has been living in Vancouver for the last two months, said he came here to seek work.

* * *

Under Canadian law common assault carries a maximum penalty of two years.

* * *

Stewart told reporters he had no choice but to accept the information and added:

"It means Mr. Trudeau literally has been charged but there has been no process to command his appearance before any court.

* * *

"It means he is definitely charged but no evidence has been heard. This will be heard at 4:15 p.m. Friday, Aug. 15, and then I will either issue a process or not. It is at my discretion."

N.C. Governor Frees 5 Blacks

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Five Negro youths sentenced to 12 years in prison for setting fire to an empty Ku Klux Klan meeting hall received suspended sentences Monday by order of Gov. Bob Scott.

Damage to the hall was estimated at $100.

* * *

The building in Benson was set afire a week after the assassination of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. in April 1968 and after Klansmen brandishing firearms had driven through a Negro section of the eastern North Carolina city.

* * *

The sentences imposed by Superior Court Judge William Bickett had brought strong protests from many individuals and groups across the state. The judge was quoted in June as saying, "I don't mind admitting I might have made a bad judgment, a mistake."

'EXTRA HIGH'

The governor said in a statement released by his office that although he did not "in any respect, condone their actions," he believed the "12-year active sentence was extra high."

Scott noted that all the youths were first offenders.

* * *

The governor commuted the sentences to 12 years suspended for three years "upon condition that the young men remain gainfully employed or continue their education under parole conditions and supervision during the three-year period."

An attorney for the youths said they would be released this afternoon.

City Council Readies Ban on Practice

Sewage Dumping Irks Novi Residents

By T. LARRY ADCOCK
Assistant City Editor-Suburban

NOVI — City Council last night was confronted by nearly 60 angry residents, protesting dumping of raw sewage on open ground by septic tank companies.

Earlier yesterday, several residents of the Dixon Road-12½ Mile Road area complained to police that several sanitation trucks were entering fenced-off areas and dumping raw sewage onto the ground.

The residents won a pledge from Mayor Joseph Crupi that the city attorney would prepare an ordinance outlawing such dumping on open land, for consideration at next Monday's council meeting.

Further, the council unanimously voted to ban all further dumping until the controversy is resolved.

CHAMBER POTS

"The practice of dumping sewage on the ground should have gone out with the Middle Ages when people dumped their chamber pots out the windows," said Ray Garcia, 28250 Dixon.

Policed yesterday issued tickets for illegal dumping to the drivers of the A&H Sanitation Co., 851 N. Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake, and C&C Septic Tank Co., 88 N. Williams Lake, Waterford Township.

* * *

Owner of A&H Sanitation is Ray Harrison, a former Village Council president. Charles Patten of 1175 Wabasso, Walled Lake, owns C&C Septic Tank.

Mayor Crupi told the incensed constituents last night, "This is the first time the council has been aware of something being awry."

HAD BEEN PERMITTED

Crupi said that the dumping had been permitted by the Oakland County Health Department, acting on behalf of Novi during its former village status.

A pharmacist, Garcia said, "I have seen how disease is transmitted. I am worried about the health hazard."

* * *

Donald Orth, Oakland County health officer for the Novi area, admitted under questioning that the sewage possibly could seep into the ground, into a nearby drain area and eventually into the waters of Walled Lake.

"What Novi needs is an ordinance stating that there will be no dumping on the ground within city limits—period," Orth advised.

FEW LAWS GOVERN

Orth complained that he had few laws with which to work in governing sewage dumping by septic tank firms.

"The law I have to work with in your (Novi's) case is a state law that is quite broad. Novi doesn't have a local ordinance that would be more stringent than a state law could," Orth said.

Orth said he had not signed the dump-approval affadavits that were to be carried in three trucks involved. Those trucks, Orth explained, had dumped illegally.

"But the dump site itself meets all the requirements specified by available laws," Orth said. "Septic tank companies look for communities that don't have local ordinances protecting themselves."

Orth said he would pigeonhole further affadavits until City Council acts on the dumping issue.

Miss Marie Wheeler, an attorney, declared, "It would be the height of foolishness and a violation of the state's conservation laws to permit this dumping to continue."

One man pointed out that the problem of where to dump "is a commercial one and not the responsibillity of government. I pay a company to clean my septic tank. I don't care where he dumps it — as long as it isn't in Novi where I pay taxes!"

IN SEWER LINES

Crupi suggested that the city explore the possibility of allowing the septic tank firms to dispose of sewage in the existing city sanitary sewer lines, although City Manager Harold Ackley said this is legally not permissible.

A&H Sanitation owner, Ray Harrison said it "is up to the council to provide us (septic tank firms) with a place to dump sewage."

* * *

Harrison contended that septic tanks must be cleaned, that "someone has to do it" and that a proper dump site should be provided by the public.

Harrison admitted that not all the trucks that had dumped in the Dixon-12½ Mile roads area were servicing Novi septic tanks.

Deed for Sewage Plant Site Goes to Walled Lake, Novi

A deed for a 10-acre site for a sewage disposal plant was given to the cities of Walled Lake and Novi today by Beck-West Associates of Detroit.

Bids will be opened Aug. 18 for construction of the $9.5-million sanitary sewage system planned for Walled Lake and Novi residents around the southern end of the lake.

* * *

The land parcel is near West Road east of Beck in Novi. The area is currently part of a farm occupied by Mrs. Frederick Mandilk.

Beck-West Associates was formed by Chadon Management Inc. of Detroit specifically to buy and develop land. The managing partners include Chadon, President Gergory I. Donovan and Vice President David E. Chapper, who jointly own some 500 acres of land in Novi, and Harold M. Nosan, a house builder.

* * *

If all goes well, the one-year sewer construction project should begin Sept. 1, according to Downey.

Winners in the final horse judging were:

Fitting and showing grand and reserve champions—Cathy Clark of South Lyon and Cindy Reigle of Holly respectively.

Western pleasure class—Cindy Reigle, grand champion; Mary Lou Kohler of South Lyon, reserve champion.

* * *

Trail class—Patricia Zimmerman of Farmington, grand champion; Tim Sudeth of Oxford, reserve champion.

* * *

Centennial Queen Contest Is Launched in Rochester

ROCHESTER — The competition to determine who will reign as the Rochester Centennial Queen has begun.

Last night the 46 girls registered for the queen's contest received instructions on how the queen and the six members of her court will be selected.

* * *

A crowd of more than 100 at the Rochester American Legion hall witnessed the program, which featured music and entertainment as well as the rules outline for the queen's contest.

* * *

Robert Checkaluk and his wife, Carol, herself a former Miss Rochester, are in charge of the centennial queen contest.

TRIP TO NASSAU

Top prize awaiting the centennial queen is a four-day trip for two to Nassau. More than 50 other prizes, including television sets, radios and stereos, wrist watches and gift certificates will be awarded to the queen and members of her court.

* * *

The centennial queen will be crowned on the opening night of the centennial pageant, Sept. 9. She will reign with the members of her court each night of the spectacle week, which ends with the centennial ball Sept. 13 at the Rochester Elks Lodge.

* * *

Each contestant will act as a "sales manager" for tickets to the spectacle, the big fund-raising event for the centennial. The queen will be selected on the basis of how many tickets she sells. "Bonus points" will be awarded to those who sell their tickets the fastest.

* * *

Tickets for the centennial spectacle are $2 each, with a special advance-sale reduction of 50 cents now in effect.

DJ, COMIC COMBO

Entertainment last night was provided by disc jockeys Don Zee and Don Alcorn, comedian Bobby Rogers of Detroit's Half-Pint Lounge and a combo from the Frank James orchestra.

Hostesses were Mrs. Fred Houghten, Mrs. Larry Sheppard, Mrs. William Mitzelfeld, Mrs. William Morgan, Mrs. Jim Reynolds, Mrs. Walter Kowalczk, Mrs. Hudson Hill, Mrs. Richard Jerome, Mrs. Donald Pixley and Mrs. William Keinath.

In Shelby Shooting

Suspect Arrested

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Police yesterday apprehended a man in Troy wanted for the Sunday shooting of a 24-year-old migrant worker in the township.

Police charged Julio Sanchez, 38, of 2425 W. Utica with assault with a deadly weapon. He was arraigned in 42nd District Court yesterday and is being held in Macomb County Jail, Mount Clemens, in lieu of $1,000 bond.

* * *

Sanchez was tracked down by police from three area departments, Macomb County sheriff's deputies and a police tracking dog.

* * *

He was charged with shooting Ramon Rodriguez Sunday evening during a dispute in front of their barracks at a migrant workers camp on West Utica Road.

* * *

Rodriguez is reported to be in good condition at Crittendon Hospital in Avon Township.

* * *

Keego Post Office Is Slated for Funds

KEEGO HARBOR — The post office here has been named recipient of funds for a larger postal facility, effective in 1971, according to A. J. Harris, legislative assistant to U.S. Rep. Jack H. McDonald, R-19th District.

* * *

According to Harris, the Chicago Regional Post Office will recommend that the Keego Habor facility be placed on a national prioroty list, and that funds be granted for an increase in its present area from 2,500 square feet to 6,400 square feet.

* * *

By the time Keego Harbor reaches the top of the list, the present lease (which runs until Sept. 30, 1971) should be fulfilled.

* * *

19th District GOP Sets Old-Fashioned Picnic

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — An old-fashioned Sunday picnic will be offered by the 19th District Republicans Aug. 24 at John F. Ivory Farms, 9990 Cooley Lake.

* * *

Tickets, $2 for adults and 75 cents for children, are available at GOP headquarters, 245 S. Woodward, Birmingham.

Two Pontiac Men Arrested in Ohio

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two Pontiac, Mich., men were arrested yesterday after a Wood County sheriff's deputy said someone fired a shotgun at him.

Deputies identified the two— held on open charges in the Wood County jail—as Harley Tindell, 22, and Wayne Garrett, 24.

* * *

Police said a deputy stopped a car that had been reported stolen at Interstate 75 near Toledo. As the officer walked toward the car, he said, one of the two men in the car fired a shotgun, but the blast missed the deputy.

* * *

Authorities said the car sped away and was found abandoned a mile down the road. Tindell was arrested in a field around 9 a.m. yesterday while the other man was taken into custody in the same area around 12:45 p.m.

By Rochester Council

No Library Action

ROCHESTER — The City Council last night delayed action on the proposed agreement with Avon Township for operating Woodward Memorial Library.

Representatives from the Friends of the Woodward Memorial Library posed four questions to the council which they claimed needed answers before any city-township agreement could be acted on.

The library, built in 1951 with funds from the Eva Woodward Parker estate on township-owned land in the then village of Rochester, has been administered by elected library officials from the township.

The township and city propose to share responsibilities for the operation and maintenance of the library at 210 W. University with the city to assume 23 per cent interest as its share of the burden.

TERMS OF BEQUEST

The Friends of the Library asked if the Eva Woodward Parker library bequest will be sustained under the terms of the proposed agreement. They also asked under what state law the proposed agreement comes.

The Friends of the Library, who want central control and a sound financial-support program for the library, have asked for an opinion from the state attorney general's office regarding the proposed agreement. They maintain the agreement does not act in the best interests of the library.

* * *

Scheduled to appear on the Avon Township Board of Trustees agenda tomorrow night, the library agreement has been under consideration for the past two years.

* * *

The library now serves both the residents of the city and township as well as residents in the school districts of Avondale and Rochester which include portions of Pontiac and Oakland townships. More clearly defined boundaries of service are also being sought by the friends of the Library.

Novi Council Eyes Licensing of Firms

NOVI — Five years ago, village councilmen considered an ordinance that would require commercial enterprises to obtain licenses. The license measure never passed.

Novi City Councilmen dusted off the old village proposal for further study recently, in view of some alarming appearances around town.

Farmington Twp. Civilian Review Board Set

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — A five-member civilian review board, which will investigate complaints against the township police department, was authorized by the Township Board last night.

The new ordinance allows the formation of a "Citizen's Complaint Investigating Committee." Township residents should file full details of any complaint with the township clerk, and a "private," "informal" hearing will be held by the five-member board.

* * *

All parties shall have the right to counsel during the hearing.

Written reports on the investigation and recommended discipline — if any — will be sent to Township Supervisor Curtis Hall and the board of trustees.

BOARD TO HANDLE DISCIPLINE

The Township Board will still handle the actual discipline, according to Hall.

Members of the board, elected for a one-year term, are:

- John I. Bain of 30945 Perry's Crossing. A private attorney, Bain is also special prosecutor assigned to prosecute pending cases from the Pratt-Thorburn grand juries. Bain will be committee chairman.
- Charles Fritz of 28251 Wildwood Trail.
- Harold Larson of 35200 Pleasant Valley, an attorney.
- Robert McConnell of 30106 Valleyside.
- Earl C. Opperthauser of 32216 Baintree. He is an attorney and was a township trustee from 1963-68.

The board choose these five men from a list of 15 persons recommended by board members. A vote narrowing the group to these five was held at a recent special meeting.

The five members were approved unanimously. In a previously defeated amendment, however, Trustee Charles Williams voted to eliminate Opperthauser.

* * *

Williams called Opperthauser a "conservative" who was "closely connected to the prior administration" and a "supporter of law and order." He stressed that he was not questioning the integrity of the man but that he believed citizens would have more confidence in moderates and liberals and people who will "listen to citizens complaints without predetermined judgment in favor of a hard line by police officers."

Several board members disagreed violently. Thomas Nolan claimed that "Opperthauser was an outstanding citizen capable of juoging a case on its merits."

PROCEDURE CLARIFIED

In other business, also concerning the police department, the Township Board approved an amendment to the police code clarifying procedure for aggrieved policemen.

Police department personnel can appeal to the Township Board within 10 days of receiving disciplinary action.

* * *

If an officer files a complaint with the police chief within 10 days the board will grant the policeman a private hearing. Following the hearing, a written decision will be given to the police chief which must be carried out.

Trustee Williams objected to the phrase calling for a "private" hearing. He said that while he personally preferred a private hearing, he believed that the board did not have the right to demand one if the officer involved wanted a public hearing.

As usual, the rest of the board disagreed with Williams, saying that there was nothing to be gained by holding public hearings and only adverse publicity would result.

The amendment to delete the word "private," suggested by Williams, was defeated.

* * *

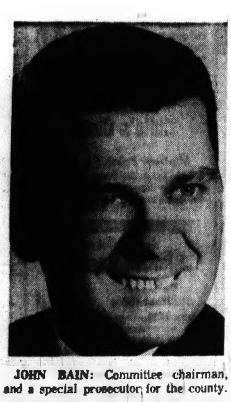
The amendment also allows membership in any police organization to be voluntary. Furthermore, no officers, ranking corporals and above, may join any police organization, although they have the right to form their own bargaining groups.

The passage of a complex ordinance drastically changing zoning regulations in the township was delayed after several citizens present indicated that many residents didn't understand the ordinance.

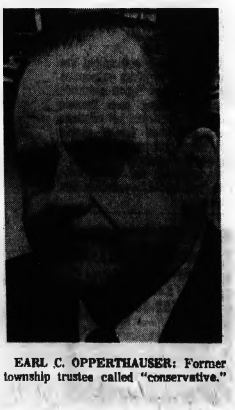
* * *

A special meeting was called for 8 p.m. Sept. 10 in the new Township Hall to explain the ordinance to the public.

The proposed ordinance permits developers to mix multiple dwelling with single-family residents for the first time — with strict numerical limits.



JOHN BAIN: Committee chairman, and a special prosecutor for the county.



EARL C. OPPERTHAUSER: Former township trustee called "conservative."

To Buy or Not to Buy?

Used-Car Pitch: It's Seduction

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — While taking a course in salesmanship a few years ago, a chap named Frank Grey was visited by a rather devilish idea.

It occurred to him that the principles and techniques of selling could, with slight modification, "just as WEST easily be applied" to seduction.

* * *

The ultimate result of these naughty ruminations was the recent publication of a handbook titled "Scoremanship." Or so it says in the blurb prepared by Bantam Books.

I have an ingrown suspicion of book blurbs and I might ordinarily have dismissed this one as the product of an overwrought publicist.

By coincidence, however, it happened to arrive at a time when I was shopping around for a used car.

After observing the principles and techniques of about a half a dozen used-car salesmen, I came to the conclusion they would indeed make great lovers.

* * *

Had Don Juan and Casanova not expired before the advent of the automobile, both probably would have won free trips to Bermuda for leading their districts in used car sales.

To illustrate the point, I have taken a few lines from "Romeo and Juliet" and transferred them to a used car lot:

Customer: How about this 1962 station wagon over here? Is it in pretty good condition?

NE'ER A MATCH

Salesman: "One fairer than my love, the all-seeing sun ne'er saw her match since first the world begun. She hangs upon the cheek of night like a rich jewel. Her beauty makes this value a feasting presence full of light."

Customer: How about the price?

* * *

Salesman: "A beggarly account of empty boxes."

Customer: Actually I was looking for a smaller car. How about that compact over there?

Salesman: "She comes in shape no bigger than an agatestone on the forefinger of an alderman."

SLUGGISH? NAY!

Customer: But those little cars are usually sluggish. Will this one run good?

Salesman: "Like the lightning. Ten times faster glide than the sun's beams."

Customer: What kind of guarantee will you give me?

Salesman: "By yonder blessed moon I swear, that tips with silver all these fruit-tree tops."

Handicapped Driving Well

Special Program for Training at U. of M.

ANN ARBOR — Over 150 amputees and paralytics who learned to operate a car again in a special driver's training program are turning out to be better drivers than "nonhandicapped" persons, according to early reports.

"A man paralyzed from the neck down can be a better driver than one who isn't," says Don Henson, driving instructor of the program, conducted at the University of Michigan Medical Center. "Handicapped people are more aware of their limitations. They don't take as many chances with their automobile."

* * *

The disabled students receive no special treatment from the Washtenaw County Driver's License Bureau. They take the same road test administered to everyone else over the same course.

* * *

Delbert Rice, manager of the license bureau says, "Our criterion for judging them is the same as for any other driver — that is, can they handle the car."

MOST LICENSED

Since the program started in 1967, the majority of students have become licensed drivers, according to Henson, who also teaches at a local high school. Training is based at Parkview Medical, a unit for patients who do not need general hospital care, but who are not yet ready for discharge.

* * *

A handicapped person who has never driven before requires an average of 20 hours of lesson time before he is ready to be licensed, according to Henson. An individual who has had previous driving experience averages only eight to 10 hours of lesson time. Each lesson is 1½ to two hours long.

* * *

"All you need to drive are two limbs, the right equipment, and the will to learn," Henson maintains.

The "right equipment" at Parkview includes a special 1967 Oldsmobile, donated to the program by the manufacturers. An assortment of levers and switches enable people with severely limited arm and hand movements to operate the automobile.

* * *

But having a specially designed car is often not enough; adaptive equipment is needed for the patient himself.

Plow Men Will Compete in Minnesota

PAYNESVILLE, Minn. (AP) —Many visitors will be digging in the dirt rather than the lakeshore sand near here Sunday as champion plow men compete in the 1969 National Invitational Plowing Matches.

Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will be on hand for the festivities, as will Robert W. Carlson, Minnesota's commissioner of Agriculture.

Contestants from New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota will compete in the matches in Kandiyohi County, six miles southwest of this resort town.

Ten acres of the Plowville '69 site will be available to campers attending the plowing matches.

PLOWING METHODS

In addition to the competitive matches, Ned Rheades of Greenville, Ohio, will demonstrate the plowing methods he will use in the World Plowing Meet in Yugoslavia. Rheades won the 1968 national contest held near Hershey, Pa.

There will be something too for those not so interested in how to plow a straight, deep, level furrow in record time.

Home decorating and dairy foods demonstrators will be presented, and local merchants from the town of some 1,800 residents will sponsor a fall style show.

Your Neighbors

Hurondale: a Hobby Place

By BARBARA GRIBBON

White Lake Township is the site of a new subdivision, Hurondale, West of Williams Lake Road and north of Elizabeth Lake Road. Its winding roads and large tree-shaded lots create an attractive setting for the homes. There are large Colonials, ranches and tri levels, with new homes being added every month.

Residents of both Rene and Vanden drives keep busy with landscaping and gardening. Many are involved in community life, both in Pontiac and surrounding townships.

* * *

Hobbies are a major interest with many people here who often get together to share their activities.

THE HARVEY HERNANDEZES

Take, for instance, the family of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hernandez, which moved a year ago from Waterford Township. The Hernandezes, including Tim, 11, Debbie, 8, and Jon, 7, are so enthusiastic about ceramics they've turned their basement into a small shop, complete with large kiln. Over 60 molds line one wall.

Mrs. Hernandez holds informal classes for neighbors and friends who like to learn the fine points of the art.

* * *

"In ceramics," she says, "there's always something new to learn." Dad, a fifth- and sixth-grade teacher at Riverside School in Waterford, even has introduced his students to the fine art of ceramics. It can take the place of their regular art class if the students so choose.

He's become so proficient he now teaches a ceramics class at a Waterford shop. He's busy this summer teaching in Indicom, a computer teaching project at Riverside School.

* * *

Working in the rose garden is another Hernandez hobby. The family has 60 rose bushes in bloom this summer and everyone helps with the garden work. Dad and the youngsters also go rock hunting. The family is active in Trinity Methodist Church.

THE ANDRES KIVILAANS

Mr. and Mrs. Andres Kivilaan, originally from East Lansing, have two children, Andres, 7 and Kristan, 2. He's an industrial engineer at the Ford Motor Co. Wixom test facility.

The Kivilaans enjoy camping trips to upper Michigan and swimming. Mrs. Kivilaan's parents, the Lloyd Taylors, who live two houses up the street, have a large pool so everyone gets together at grandma's for swimming.

* * *

Golf and yard work keep dad busy. Mrs. Kivilaan antiques furniture and even does some wallpapering. She's past president of Iota Nu Chaper of Beta Sigma Phi sorority and is active in the Eastern Star. The Kivilaans belong to the Commerce Methodist Church.

THE LLOYD TAYLORS

The Taylors moved from Union Lake last December. They have two daughters and four grandchildren, all living in the Detroit area.

Taylor is a quality control supervisor in the engineering and experimental department of Pontiac Motor Div. He's active in the Masons while his wife belongs to Eastern Star.

Golf is the Taylors' main hobby. Their backyard is adjacent to the Twin Lakes Golf Club, where they are members. Mrs. Taylor also likes bowling and ceramics. She hopes to take up oil painting this fall. The Taylors belong to the Four Towns Methodist Church.

THE ROBERT VANTINES

The man who owns Twin Lakes Golf Club lives just next door to the Taylors. He's Robert E. Vantine, who moved back to the area a year ago from Toronto. Although he grew up in this area, he has travelled a great deal while in the insurance business. He recently retired, to give full time to managing the golf course.

The golf course was built in 1929 and 9 new holes are being added this year.

Mrs. Vantine, who worked for the Pontiac Press during World War II, is busy preparing for her daughter Susan's wedding this month. In addition to Susan, who will reside in Mexico City, after her marriage, the family includes Marget, a sophomore at Oakland Community College, Melissa, 17 and Betsy, 14. They like to sew, swim, ski and play golf. A most important member of the family is Hilda, a huge St. Bernard who likes nothing better than to frolick with the girls in the snow when they're skiing on the hills behind their house.

THE CHARLES HARTYS

The Waterford area had been the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harty and their daughter Kyle Anne, 3. He's a busy man: a press operator at Pontiac Motor Div., a builder and real estate salesman for Tru-Craft Homes. He's also active in the Masonic Club in Pontiac.

Mrs. Harty enjoys many handicrafts, including flower arranging, decorating and even reupholstering furniture. The family belongs to All Saints Episcopal Church.

THE JAMES CUNNINGHAMS

Highland Estates, also in White Lake Township, is the former address of the James Cunningham family, which moved here three years ago. The children are Patricia, 8 and Gregory, 6.

Cunningham is the manager of Capitol Savings in Pontiac. He's a member of the Pontiac Board of Realtors and the Society of Residential Appraisers.

The family, recently returned from a camping trip in their trailer, plans another to West Virginia later this summer. Mrs. Cunningham has been active in PTA affairs at the Douglas Houghton School, where she is room-mother chairman and a member of the executive board. She will be PTA historian this year. The family belongs to the Waterford Community Church.

THE DAVID NILES'

Mr. and Mrs. David Niles moved from their home on Cooley Lake Road three years ago. They have one child, Tammi, 7 months old.

Niles is a process engineer at Ford Motor Co. Golf and motorcycling are favorites of his. Handy at home, he built a fireplace and completely finished off the family room. The family attends All Saints Episcopal Church.

THE WILLIAM KUKOVICHES

Mr. and Mrs. William Kukovich came from Walled Lake over a year ago. They have a daughter, Lynn, 7. The Kukoviches, originally from Ypsilanti, spent a few years in Germany where he was in the army and then taught school. He's now a high school drafting teacher in the Walled Lake schools.

Playing tennis and watching football are his favorite hobbies. His wife is enjoying making ceramics with her neighbor, Mrs. Hernandez.

Next week: Watkins Hills

Junior Editors Quiz on MOCKINGBIRD

QUESTION: How is it I only see one lone mockingbird through the winter?

* * *

ANSWER: Some birds seem to have little musical sense, others a great deal. The mockingbird is emphatically one of these last. Many persons consider this the finest singer in the bird world.

Some say that if the famous English skylark were imported to America, the mockingbird would outsing him, for he would perfectly imitate the skylark's song and then introduce wonderful extra notes of his own.

This large, graceful bird is a relative of the brown thrasher as well as of the thrush and wren families. One of the finest things about mockingbirds is that they bring their rare gift of song close to people's houses.

Southerners love to hear them sing, as they often do, on some night when the full moon makes the perfect setting for the performance of a feathered opera star.

Our little map shows that the range of the mockingbird (in black) is a southern one; our correspondent is writing from the northern edge of this bird's range. That is why only a few mockers are found there in winter; most prefer the climate a little further to the south.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Peace Poses Problem

It is not premature, even in view of continued North Vietnamese obstinacy at the Paris peace talks, to think about the postwar future of South Vietnam.

Although it has not stated in so many official words, the United States is clearly committed to ending its active military involvement in the war, sooner or later, one way or another. Part of this process has been the pressure brought in the past few months against President NGUYEN VAN THIEU to offer accommodations to the Vietcong and other political elements in a future, freely elected government.

Unfortunately, however, between the Thieu regime on the one extreme and the Communists on the other, there exists a serious vacuum in South Vietnamese politics—and Communists are well-known for their abhorrence of political vacuums. The dismantling of the American military shield may reveal how deep, and dangerous, that vacuum is.

★ ★ ★

For the Saigon government has effectively silenced or isolated all its rivals, including those who are as anti-Communist as they are anti-THIEU.

For the sake of long-range American strategic interests in Southeast Asia, if not for the sake of democracy and the tens of thousands of American soldiers who have given their lives in this war, it is essential that viable and progressive political alternatives to the present regime be encouraged in South Vietnam.

Peace could come sooner than expected. And an unprepared-for peace could be more menacing to South Vietnam than North Vietnam's attempt at a military take-over in 1964.

The Innocent Bystander Again!

State Seeks 'Buried' Taxes

Michigan, like the majority of states, faces the necessity of corralling additional tax dollars to keep pace with the steadily rising costs of government on all levels.

Indications are that the $100-million treasury surplus that Gov. ROMNEY proudly pointed to a few years ago will have shrunk to a skinny $5 million by the time the State's record $1.53-billion 1970 budget has run its course. And it could well dissolve entirely if fiscal experience does not pan out as favorably as now projected.

★ ★ ★

Taxpayers are in a rebellious mood with respect to imposition of new taxes or increases in the rates of existing ones, and would unquestionably strongly oppose a deeper tax bite at this time.

But there would seem to be one source of nontax revenue that should be investigated thoroughly. It is the flow of $1 billion through the coffers of organizations that enjoy tax-exempt status. The mining of a substantial amount of State income therefrom could conceivably preclude foreseen increases in other taxes, at least for the immediate future.

Certainly many such entities — foundations, nonprofit enterprises and private trusts — merit tax-free consideration. But it is likely that there are many others who are illegitimately eluding the tax collector.

The chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee, Harry A. Demaso, R-Battle Creek, has scheduled meetings for tomorrow with many tax-exempt organizations to explore the validity of their status. We fully approve his action. Moreover, we think that the matter is of sufficient concern to the generality of Michigan taxpayers that the committee's findings should be made public.

German Beds Seen Risky

So many people die from falling out of bed in West Germany that one physician is recommending that beds be sold with safety belts, reports Science Review.

★ ★ ★

According to Dr. WOLFANG LITTEK of the Bavarian Chamber of Insurance Companies in Munich, 600 West Germans were killed by falling out of bed last year. No less than 80 per cent of German adults fall out of bed several times a year, a survey revealed, with most fatal falls caused by nightmares or drunkenness.

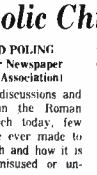
One can foresee difficulties in the doctor's prescription, however, if the lack of success in getting people to wear safety belts in automobiles is any indication. The restless Germans might better profit from the example of the Japanese, who don't have any bed-falling problem.

They just have lower beds.

Catholic Church's Wealth Is Target

By DAVID POLING
(Written for Newspaper Enterprise Association)

"In all the discussions and writings within the Roman Catholic Church today, few references are ever made to its vast wealth and how it is being used, misused or unused.



POLING

"That it is rich enough cannot be denied. In the United States alone it has assets so great that the exact amount is known only to the Holy Spirit — although an estimate of over $25 billion could easily be substantiated."

The sentences you have just read are from Spencer Stopa's article in a recent issue of Christian Herald.

★ ★ ★

This young Catholic seminarian, now completing his studies for the priesthood in the University of Louvain, Belgium, represents what could be a new leadership emerging within the largest Christian body in the world—the Roman Catholic Church.

LISTS PROBLEMS

Correspondent Stopa lists the current problems wracking the Catholic Church and the changes that must come as it gazes toward the 21st century.

Kenneth L. Wilson, editor of Christian Herald, and I met this brilliant young seminarian at the meetings of the World Council of Churches last summer.

We were impressed with his concern and candor, his broad view of the Christian community in Europe and America and his hope that the church of his fathers could tool up for the needs of the children.

MAJOR CONCERN

One of his major concerns is the wealth of the church . .

"One need only be reminded that the holdings of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States include 17,000 churches, 10,000 primary schools, 15,000 secondary schools, 1,000 hospitals, 500 seminaries, 300 colleges and universities, and numerous other buildings and properties . . . The question that must be raised is whether the Roman Catholic Church should be so rich."

Stopa believes that the Roman Catholic Church is going to have to unload many of its holdings, shift gears in regard to the use of manpower and energy, be willing to find another demonstration of power in place of the big cathedral or sprawling parochial system.

★ ★ ★

The church, he says, must not present such a contradictory, two-sided picture to the world.

If it preaches love for the poor, it must not sink millions into its own self-aggrandizement. If it teaches the freedom of the sons of God, it must not punish priests who use this freedom to voice opinions contrary to the equally gratuitous opinions of some bishops or even the Pope.

If it believes in tolerance for all men and all religions, it must not make concordats with governments that have only a nominal freedom of religion for non-Roman Catholics.

It all sounds exciting, different and scary. But then the church shouldn't exist if it ever loses its nerve.

David Lawrence Says:

Judge-Selection Setup Reformed

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has upset a longtime practice whereby senators have, in effect, selected federal judges. While presidents have actually done the nominating, members of the Senate have exercised a predominant influence in picking the prospective appointee.

LAWRENCE

When the judges have come up for confirmation, there has been relatively little discussion about their qualifications. If the nomination of an individual were blocked, the senator who supported him was in a position later to prevent the nominee desired by some other senator from being confirmed.

★ ★ ★

This usually has caused one senator, for the sake of expediency, to affirm the choice of another senator.

So, all in all, the senators have controlled potential nominations.

Now President Nixon has sent word to the American Bar Association, through his deputy attorney general, Richard G. Kleindienst, that hereafter the opinion of the American Bar Association, expressed by one of its committees, would be given precedence. This would mean a virtual veto power.

It is conceded by the administration that the plan might be regarded as an "abdication" of some constitutional functions.

★ ★ ★

But the choice was between the use of political influence to get judges favorable to a certain political party or senator and allowing an objective and disinterested committee of the American Bar Association — with members coming from all parts of the country — to express a dissent if they so desire.

There is nothing to prevent the President from differing with the American Bar Association committee, but the chances are he would not often do this because it would open up the whole subject again to political influence.

GREAT IMPORTANCE

The problem is of great importance to the country because there are at least 120 judges to be appointed in Mr. Nixon's first year in office.

Mr. Nixon feels that the new arrangement should not apply to the appointments to the Supreme Court of the United States, because often there isn't time enough for a thorough examination to be made by outside committees.

★ ★ ★

But there is much to be said nevertheless in favor of advisory opinions from the American Bar Association even, for Supreme Court justices. For now more than ever the American people are concerned with the kind of justices they will have on the highest court.

Nixon Encourages Aides to Fight for Convictions

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Nixon's approach has seemed all the more confusing because he has encouraged the most furious type of debating within his administration and within the White House itself.

He has brought in men he considered to be the best, and held on to men he wanted from the Johnson and Kennedy administrations, whether they were "liberals" or "conservatives."

This has led to the most furious inner circle arguments and infighting over issues.

Nixon is an attorney and believes thoroughly in the adversary (or protagonist) system of law as practiced in U.S. courts. Under this system, each case is acted on separately (considering precedents) and each side battles for what it believes with all its might.

FIGHTING GOING ON

This type of adversary "fighting" is now going on in the White House, the Pentagon, the Department of State, the Small Business Administration, the Department of Commerce, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and in a number of other departments and agencies.

Each side is leaking — or openly stating — its views and its attitudes to the press.

It is known that in the White House the outlook of some advisers is so different from that of other advisers they work with as equals, superiors or assistants, that they quite openly do not trust each other.

Nevertheless, a man of one outlook, when tied up on some task may be represented at key meetings by an assistant whose philosophical views are diametrically opposite from his own. This is known, and approved of, by the President.

Nixon believes this system works in the courts of the United States. He sees no reason why it will not work to advantage in the White House, in the Cabinet and in the relations between his administration and Congress.

Within the White House and the Cabinet, Nixon likes to listen to the arguments, let them boil on, sometimes for a long time. Then he likes to get into a "back room" and sift these things out. And then make a decision.

★ ★ ★

From the standpoint of democracy, this is excellent. But it sometimes makes it very difficult, indeed, to determine where the administration is heading.

The public confusion is all the greater because Nixon, unlike his two predecessors, has not whipped his cabinet and sub-cabinet men into line on what they say publicly. He has not insisted that they speak with one voice. He has allowed them to go their own ways even when they disagree with him, both before and after decisions have been made.

Regular columnist Bob Considine is on vacation. Different columnists will fill this space until he returns.

'Agree With Opinions on Child Support'

I agree with the letters I've read about mothers not getting child support. It isn't fair for the law to neglect these children. Why can't a law be passed from state to state to have the child support taken out of the man's paycheck by his employer and sent to his dependents? They take out taxes, insurance, savings, savings bonds, and even money to buy shares in the company. I would be more than willing to pay my ex-husband's employer for this service. At least I would be paying for some service rather than the usual runaround.

Too often the police in the small villages receive little recognition, or just a lot of criticism for their efforts in keeping crime at a minimum and our villages pleasant places to live. Party Condition Worrying Dems

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Not for a long time have Democratic leaders been so distressed at the general condition of their party as some of them are right now.

BIOSSAT

Symptomatically, the picture is terribly bleak financially. There is that $6-million debt fastened on the Democratic National Committee, and the not widely known but very real poverty of such an important state party organization as New York's.

With the governorship and U.S. Senate races coming up next year, one source says flatly: "The New York party is bankrupt."

★ ★ ★

The Democrats' reform committee on national convention delegate selection has had the shorts on money from its beginnings in January. It seems unlikely to get more hard cash than the $50,000 the National Committee originally allotted it.

Only a very little outside help appears to have been arranged, despite liberal clamor for major reforms.

SEVERE BLOW

As everybody knows, Sen. Edward Kennedy's misfortunes in Massachusetts are regarded as having severely reduced his usefulness as a fund raiser.

Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine and some others have offered to pitch in harder, but they cannot match the Kennedy drawing power.

★ ★ ★

In New York City, always a crucial political showcase, the conservative Democratic nominee for mayor, City Controller Mario Procaccino, is being steadily undercut by liberals in his party who are turning to Mayor John Lindsay on the Liberal party ticket.

★ ★ ★

The divisiveness there and in such other major places as Pennsylvania, Ohio and California puts a gloomy cast on the party's 1970 prospects, even though six juicy GOP governorships are on the line.

★ ★ ★

The Kennedy matter, of course, has added heavily to that gloom. Everywhere, the party seems deficient in "star quality" and there is a lack of driving leadership.

Efforts to produce unity among the factions warring along the ideological spectrum are described by one veteran leader as "mere hand-holding" unlikely to help much.

LITTLE TO CHEER ABOUT

A scan of the regional political map does little to cheer the Democrats.

The migration of Americans toward the South and West, where Republicanism evidently is gaining, promises to diminish basic Democratic strength in presidential elections just ahead.

★ ★ ★

Among the seven U.S. regions, Humphrey won only two — New England and the Middle Atlantic.

These, plus strength in such places as Michigan, Minnesota and Washington state, provide the shrunken core of Democratic political power today.

The "new politics" as New Left liberals define it translates today into very little real political currency. The trend is running away from the noise on the eastern streets and campuses.

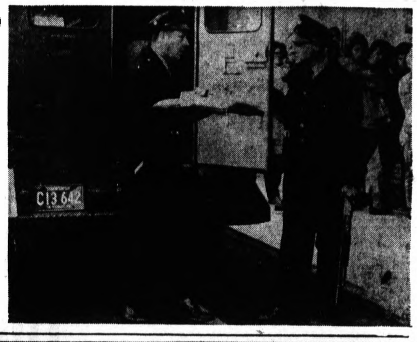
"Lucky Ribbon" Makes Debut at Topps New Pontiac Store!



RIBBON-CUTTING WILL ADD EXCITEMENT TO GALA GRAND OPENING DAY!

Climaxing the grand opening festivities will be the traditional ribbon-cutting ceremonies. Topps Lucky Ribbon will arrive in an armored car and will be presented on a plush cushion. The "Lucky Red Ribbon" was shiny and new some 12 years ago when it opened the first Topps store in Hartford, Connecticut. Now this simple piece of ribbon has been snipped over 66 times by such famous personages as Vice-President Agnew, Jack Benny and the late Jayne Mansfield. The ribbon has been stapled together each time cut and every staple is Topps history.

Burger, Like Predecessor, Is Wary of Press

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Warren E. Burger is turning out to be a carbon copy—in one sense at least—of Earl Warren, the man he succeeded as chief justice.

He's wary of the press and tries to keep a safe distance.

Warren rarely held a news conference in 16 years at the Supreme Court. His aides said "no comment" so often and so predictably that reporters despaired of putting even the most innocuous questions to them.

News Analysis

And so, apparently, it will be with Burger.

The first thing he said in a speech to state chief justices here was that he had been advised by "men experienced in our craft" to "never do more than clear my throat without a prepared text."

MIGHT HAVE

He didn't say whether Warren gave him the advice, though he very well may have.

* * *

Warren's office, strictly creative limits to newsmen, was so secretive that when Emperor Haile Selaisse of Ethiopia visited the court a few years ago the chief justice's secretary declined to say what they were having for lunch.

* * *

Burger, it is becoming clear, will say whatever he has to say to the press in writing. Evidently he feels that is the best way to make sure he isn't misquoted or misunderstood.

Perhaps more important, he apparently won't be saying much to the press. Newsmen haven't been able to get even a "no comment" from his office on whether he intends to continue as a trustee of the Mayo Foundation.

WARY ATTITUDE

The wary attitude extends to some trappings of the news business—cameras and microphones specifically.

Prior to the American Bar Association meeting here, Burger sent word there should be no electronic equipment at the four speeches he would make. He relented eventually, allowing live filming and recording of one of them.

* * *

As an Appeals Court judge, Burger was considered very accessible. It is possible he is still feeling his way in the new job he has held only two months.

Scouts Build Storage Cabin

A clearing in the woods was the first step when Camp Sherwood's counselors-in-training set out to build a storage cabin. The group of 16 to 18-year-old Girl Scouts were grateful for the help of their handyboy, Tim Huemiller, and camp ranger, Merlin Featheringill, when it came to cutting down the trees.

Otherwise they did all the work themselves — cutting the pine trees into 11' logs with a hand saw, notching the ends with hammer and chisel, erecting the walls, log by log, about 80 altogether, cutting the window and door, filling cracks with a mixture of lime and mortar, and roofing and shingling to complete the structure.

All the workers are members of the Northern Oakland County Girl Scouts. They've named the cabin "Blood, Sweat and Tears" though they admit they had a good time building it. Annie LaPontsee of Grand Rapids is the C.I.T. director.

Puzzled Over Correct Names in Situation

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: My most puzzling etiquette question is how to refer to the parents of my late husband. I have a mother-in-law by my present husband. It does not seem proper to call them my ex-in-laws as that seems to denote divorce.

With my late husband's brother and his wife, should I continue to call them my brother and sister-in-law? — Helen Johnson

* * *

Dear Mrs. Johnson: In speaking to relative strangers, you should refer to, or introduce, your "ex" in-laws as "My first husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jones." To friends who knew your first husband, you may say "John's parents," or "John's mother and father."

The same would apply to your "ex" brother-in-law. To strangers you would say "My first husband's brother, Bill Jones . . . etc." and to friends, the name alone would suffice. In their case, you might also use "My ex-brother-in-law," although I prefer the other term.

* * *

You and your children, when speaking directly to their grandparents, naturally continue to call them by whatever names you have always used.

CONGRATULATIONS

Dear Mrs. Post: A new building at a university is to be dedicated and named in honor of the late father of my employer. My employer's mother has been very kind to me. On this occasion, what could I do for both of them (individually or together) to show "congratulations," as they are proud of this honor? — Bess

Dear Bess: Although your employer and his mother indirectly share in the honor, this is not the occasion for a gift. A sincere note, to each of them, telling them how happy you are for them, and how proud to know and work for such fine people, will serve to express your feelings and will be greatly appreciated.

Must Support of Children Bleed Divorced Men Dry?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: So much has been said about "louses" who are late with the support check, I'd like to say a few words about the other side.

My husband was stationed in Alaska when his first wife started running around. By the time he got home it was too late to save his marriage — or his credit rating. When the case came to court, he was a "gentleman" and didn't use the grounds of adultery, so the judge gave his wife custody of their four children, plus support payments that amounted to two-thirds of his salary.

Two days after we were married his wife shipped the kids to us for their "summer vacation." She came to pick them up 26 months later! During that time we had a child of our own and a second one on the way.

Whenever she gets tired of the kids she ships them to us. They are always shoeless, threadbare and starved for a decent meal. Their support money is obviously used for something else.

I believe a divorced man should support his children, but this is ridiculous. What do you say?

THE OTHER SIDE

DEAR OTHER: Hear hear! But take heart. Divorce reforms are in the works.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: There is no law that states a father has a 30-day "grace" period in which to make child support payments. Must the landlord or grocer wait for 30 days?

L. A. LAWYER

DEAR LAWYER: No. But if that is as long as some of them had to wait, they'd be happy.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I had the same problem as "LOVES POPS." Daddy was 80 years old and he also used a magnifying glass to read the newspaper, but he insisted on driving his automobile.

All the people on our street knew what a terrible driver he was, and they'd get out of his way when they saw him coming. If anyone suggested that maybe he should quit driving, he had a fight on his hands.

I wrote to the State Motor Vehicle Department and told them my problem, asking them not to let my father know who tipped them off.

Shortly afterwards Daddy received an official notice to appear for a "re-testing." Of course he failed, and the examining officer who gave him the test said he had never seen a worse driver.

Our family was greatly relieved, and Daddy never knew who turned him in. Please don't use my name. He's still living and plenty sore.

HIS LOVING DAUGHTER

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Recently a lady who signed herself "LOVES POPS" wrote that she was worried about her 82-year-old father whom she felt was too old to drive as he had already had a few minor accidents.

Wanting to find out what "Pops" chances for survival were, I looked up the 1965 statistics of the National Safety Council, and this is what I came up with:

In the age group "75 and over" there were 15 accidents per 100 drivers per year. In the age group "under 20," the figure was 35. In the age group 20-24, it was 34.

As for fatal accidents:

In the age group "75 and over," there were 76 fatal accidents per 100,000 drivers per year. The under-20 drivers were killed at the rate of 89 per 100,000 per year. And the 20-24, at the rate of 101 per year.

One may say, "The older drivers may have fewer accidents, but those who drive too slowly cause others to have accidents." This may be true occasionally, but more accidents are caused by younger drivers who drive too fast.

So tell "Loves Pops" that if she has a son under 25, she should worry more about him and quit worrying about Pops.

SANTE FE M.D.

DEAR ABBY: Every time I hear some ninny say "CONGRATULATIONS" to a girl who has become engaged or married I want to scream.

Don't they know that it is not proper to congratulate the girl—they are supposed to congratulate the MAN, and wish the girl luck?

Please put this in your column, Abby. I'm sure a lot of people could use the information.

PROPER IN TAMPA

DEAR PROPER: True, one congratulates the man and wishes the girl luck. Although in many irstances, it's the girl who deserves the congratulations and the man who needs the luck.

* * *

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056. and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Family Circle Building Toward a Better Future

By JUNE ELERT

"We're in the building business — striving to build better boys and girls for the future."

Mrs. Roosevelt Walker was speaking of herself and her co-workers in the adult Family Circle, an organization of black people dedicated to "building upon the spark of self-respect and decency" that they believe is in everyone.

* * *

The Family Circle has reached out in many directions in its efforts to improve the life and outlook of community residents.

Walker's Workers is an organization of children, from 6 to 16, who meet regularly in the homes of members of the Family Circle to learn crafts, produce saleable items, and, incidentally to absorb skills and understanding that will help them in personal and social contacts. Membership has increased from 7 to 154 in little more than a year and there are 85 children waiting to get into the group.

NOT RESTRICTED

Family Circle membership is not restricted to parents of these children. Any community resident may take part. Dues of $1 per year are asked from members, but those unable to pay don't have to.

I supposed that this money is used to buy the crafts materials, Madeleine Walker laughed and said, "Well, really, we have so few who can pay the $1 that most of the expense comes out of my husband's paycheck. And we use a lot of things like empty bleach bottles and egg cartons, stuff that doesn't cost anything."

*

The Home Mothers is another group that has naturally evolved from the original plan. These are the women who host the children's groups in their homes and supervise the work and behavior. The ideal number in a group is 10 — some of the women handle as many as 17, of all ages.

Then there is the Shower Children's Patio Group. This is a summer-time project designed to give the smaller children a break from the heat. With no swimming facilities nearby, lawn sprinklers are utilized to help the youngsters keep their cool, with lemonade and cookies served in the backyards.

MORE OFFSHOOTS

Teen Brothers and Teen Sisters are two more offshoots of the Family Circle and another group called "Autumn and Spring." This latter is a pairing of a child with a community senior citizen, in whose home the youngster visits regularly in an effort to bridge the gap between the generations.

The latest reach-out of the Circle is termed Vigil Mothers. Numbering 25 volunteers at present, the Mothers are required to give one hour per week to performing the "mother" function in area stores. The idea is to "keep an eye out" for youngsters who are misbehaving in any way. The Vigil Mother approaches such a child and asks his or her name and address and talks to the child in a friendly and straightforward manner, suggesting that the youngster can only harm himself and jeopardize his own future by continuing his unacceptable behavior.

* * *

Mrs. Walker stresses that there are no assignments of women to certain stores. When doing their own shopping, they may wear their badges, identifying them as Vigil Mothers and carry out their duties in the course of daily living.

Store managers in the area who have been asked for their reaction to the plan are enthusiastic.

AN ALTERNATIVE

Following the contact between Vigil Mother and child, Mrs. Walker approaches the child's parents and suggests membership in Walker's Workers as an alternative "something to do" to replace store loitering.

The response of parents, she reports, has been "marvelous." They are pleased and grateful that someone in their own community is interested in their child and willing to guide him into a worthwhile use of his time.

These groups have problems, of course. The biggest difficulty is transportation, the lack of which has caused cancellation of several planned outings. Many of the children's mothers are on ADC and, with several children enrolled in Walker's Workers, are unable to pay even a minimal cost for the use of a bus.

The next greatest problem is money. The limited resources of the participants makes even a far-distant purchase of a bus or meeting-place little more than a dream.

NOT DISCOURAGED

But Mrs. Walker is not discouraged. On the contrary, she and her co-workers are dedicated to the idea that, despite the restrictions of time, money and mobility, improvement in the life-style of many youngsters can be accomplished simply through their contact with people who are sincerely interested in them.

Anyone who would like to assist these children can do so by contributing items which can be used in the crafts classes. Yarn, materials, leather scraps, carpet ends, discarded jewelry, sewing notions, beads, glue, paints, plastic flowers, artists' supplies, etc. would be welcomed.

* * *

Mrs. Albert Burt of Prospect Street may be contacted by anyone having anything to donate. Few of these women have cars, so if pickup is not possible, delivery would be appreciated.

Mrs. Walker is a crafts teacher at Whittier and Bethune Schools. She combines instruction in manners and behavior, grooming and poise in all her classes.

Surprise Parties

Natal Days Celebrated at BOH

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Larry Williams of Bloomfield Hills reached the age life begins at — 40 — last week. His wife, with the connivance of friends, lured him to Bloomfield Open Hunt under false pretenses and sprung a surprise birthday dinner-dance on him Wednesday.

Those same friends picked Larry up at his office in the General Motors Building two days in a row last week, ushered him out to a waiting chauffeur-driven Cadillac and took him out to lunch.

One stop was the London Chop House, the other, Sinbad's. The friends: Tom Bramson, Dan Miller and Dick O'Connor, north end residents, plus Paul John, Tom Aquino, Gris Pyross and J. P. McCarthy, the disc jockey.

McCarthy, by the way, will soon be a neighbor. He and his wife have purchased a home in the Lone Pine Telegraph Roads area.

Tickets are available at Hudson's, Grinnell's, Troy National Bank and at the Meadow Brook Festival box office.

There's big game power in this deceptively soft fur hat. It has a low crown with deep fission on top and gentler side dents. The brim, smartly curled to spring up at the back lies low in front. The color is mind-bending beige with a feather in the self-toned band —a real lion tamer's hat.

Country Squire—made of double rib corduroy, the high curl back brim eases into a gentle slope dipping in front. Center creased with slightly dented sides, it is casual and natty.

One of the new broad brimmed hats, made for sweeping gestures by the man who knows. The brim is four inches across in an elegant warm claret colored velour. A plain black grosgrain ribbon encircles the crown—very Beau Brummel and very high style.

Sharing a bite and headwear—his and hers —Smooth silk-finish fur felts. Rear brim scoop gives them an up-to-date off-the-face look. Bright feather leis enhance each hat brim.

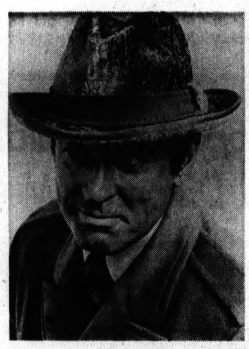
Fashion Lifts News Lid on Hats

Jean Claude Killy, the vibrant Olympic gold medal winner has sponsored a complete line of active ski and apres ski hats for Champ Hats, Inc. This one being worn by Killy is a spruce green, double knit with yellow and white stripes. It comes in many color combinations.

A bold black western with brim swept up at the sides and firmly tethered to the crown. Nothing loose here except the adjustable chin thong. A real soft felted ranger for township and open country, and for shooting the fashionable line.



A broad brimmed very distinguished silky grey caracul hat. The brim dips back and front creating a graceful sweep. Banded in suede with black saddle stitching, this hat leads all the way, balancing and complimenting the Edwardian Look.

It's the greatest hat the west has ever worn and a certain favorite in the fashion field. This one appears in stiff smoke felt with whip lash band and rainbow colored plume. Quite a hatful with gambler's brim, swept up at the sides and lawman's crown, shaped the well known way.

A smooth finished fur felt. A high flange back swings in a graceful arch to dip in front. A self toned band encircles the brim. All hats shown by the Hat Corporation of America.

This deeply furry young raccoon hat is designed by Halston. It feels as good as it looks and is shown with a matching fur collar (also designed by Halston). The combination makes a rich ensemble.

Smoky the Bear in person wears this hat, so if its fame you're after this is it. There is a trace of World War I as well, an expeditionary flavor that's in tune with fashion today. Made of stiff felt, the brim is wide and firm with regulation hat band.

Unisex Is 'Heady' Business

Men's gear for women's wear. That's the merger news for fashion today. First it was pajamas and pant suits and now its right up into hats.

Men's hats are meant to do a job. But Hat Corporation of America knows the secret of good function — good design. And their hats are designed by people like Halston Frowick and Carlton Varney. The result is that rare quality, elegance, the fashion goal of either sex.

This exciting new range of men's hats for women comes in the well known Dobbs, Knox and Cavanagh brands with the added interest of hats from Christian Dior Monsieur.

The whole idea of a hat is enlarged in three compelling ways. First the shape. While simple and head-holding in outline, brims are exciting to handle. Some can be worn up or down; there is a new kick up flange in the back and side dents that can be taken in or out. It's the sort of versatility women love all round.

Though most shapes are simple, this collection includes far-ranging favorites from the Western to the Aussie "Safari" hat.

★ ★ ★

The colors are very exciting with such surprises as emerald, ruby red or light sapphire in a bold tartan tweed. There are two tone hats, jet black hats and hats in a quieter range of greens and golds, soothing colors like pale olive, or gentle honey tones, kind to faces of all ages.

★ ★ ★

There are the fabrics — a never-before range of rough, smooth, brushed or curled felts, all sorts of straws, leather and vinyl. Lots of furs are used too, from synthetic Persian lamb to luxurious sable. The choice is wide enough to satisfy the most demanding man or woman.

This collection is a tribute to men's and women's common sense. The basic shapes fit the head, but can be adjusted to suit the day, the outfit or the mood. Heads will turn for the colors, fabrics and shapes are fun, with the masculine touch quietly there. This adds up to the best of both worlds — hats that look good and hats that wear very well.

Area Women Will Serve

Four area women will serve as officers for the coming year with the Child Research Center League, dedicated to support of the Child Research Center of Michigan, Children's Hospital, Detroit.

★ ★ ★

President, Mrs. Donald Hibbert of Detroit, will be assisted by Mesdames: Donald Davis and John Cvengros, vice presidents, of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills, respectively; Harold Dittrich and John Geske, secretaries, both of Birmingham. Treasurer is Mrs. Harold Ferriss of Detroit.

Expansion of the Center's basic research in pediatrics is a goal of the league.

Teach Learning

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Federal Government has approved an $83,810 teacher training program in Jefferson County junior high schools.

★ ★ ★

The program will reemphasize to the teachers that their role is to teach students how to learn, rather than to disseminate facts.

Army Ranks Opening for a WAC General?

WASHINGTON (AP) The Army may be in the process of selecting its first woman general.

Officers on the Army's distaff side report happily that for the first time the records of Women's Army Corps colonels are being included in the annual review of candidates for brigadier general.

"It doesn't necessarily mean we're going to have one of our own make it this time," Col. Elizabeth P. Hoisington, director of the WACs, told a reporter. "But the nicest thing is that at least they are now giving everybody a chance."

★ ★ ★

A selection board which will draw up the yearly list of recommendations on one-star appointments began meeting Monday. The selection process takes several days.

There are about 11,800 WACs in uniform today, many carrying out secretarial and other administrative chores for the male side of the Army. WACs serve around the world, with some 160 currently assigned in South Vietnam.

Col. Hoisington figures that most of the 12 WAC colonels now in uniform probably will be under consideration for the temporary promotion to general rank. One or more could be elevated, depending on whether their military records stack up with those of male candidates.

FLAG RANK

Congress paved the way for WACs—as well as members of the Air Force WAFs and Navy WAVES—to reach general or flag rank with an elimination of certain restrictions last year. The Air Force and Navy selection boards have not yet had an opportunity to promote a female to the higher rank.

Some WACs expect that Col. Hoisington may have the best chance of the women in her outfit to wear a star.

If she makes general, she won't be the first in her family: her brother is a retired Air Force major general.

★ ★ ★

An Army message went out from the Pentagon several days ago alerting the commands and defense agencies that the Army selection board would be looking at the current WAC crop in this year's review.

Primary consideration will be given to regular Army and WAC colonels, excluding medical officers and chaplains, who enlisted between 1943 and 1947.

Newspaperwoman Gets Lifeless Town Thinking

MANCHESTER (AP) — There's something about small towns that has left Karen A. Kirk less than enthralled.

The recent Michigan State University graduate is editor of the Manchester Weekly. She also is church and society reporter, photographer, advertising director and salesman.

★ ★ ★

She has tried to create some action in Manchester, her hometown, by challenging the accepted standards through the newspaper. She hasn't sparked much overt reaction. Readers haven't even written her letters when she took a position that was less than popular.

"I'm really disappointed that there are no harsh letters to the editor," she complained. "People just think I'm a smart aleck brat."

She'd also like to do investigative work, "but there's little to investigate in Manchester," a small town in Washtenaw County about 20 miles southwest of Ann Arbor.

"People are very careful of what they say now," she said.

"I print lots of quotes and find out that many people are lying to me. Finding out the truth is getting to be harder all the time."

★ ★ ★

The job experience will be a short one — she's getting married Aug. 30 and moving to Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

"There aren't many kids who come back to their hometowns after graduation from college," she said.

STARTED THINKING

"At least I've started them (townfolk) thinking," she added. She complains that no one is doing enough to promote the town. She went to cover an event on the town's main street, but "when I went out to take a picture of everyone milling around, I realized there weren't enough people to even bother taking a picture."

★ ★ ★

"I can't wait until Wednesday nights so I can go to Ann Arbor and really be a kid again and wear short skirts and let my hair down," she said. "The responsibility here makes you feel that you should act sober."

DEAR POLLY — Toddlers learning to use a fork and spoon usually end up with more food on themselves than anywhere else and really mess up those pretty bibs during a meal. I solved this by turning the bib with plasticized side out and the pretty printed terry cloth next to the body.

I even turn the "crumb catcher" inside out. After each meal the bib is easily wiped off with a damp cloth, the life of the bib is lengthened and the colorful side is saved for special occasions. — AMY

DEAR POLLY — I am a newlywed who has found it a very good investment to buy a few inexpensive books, toys and so on to have on hand when my friends with children came to visit. This has saved a lot of wear and tear on my new furniture and fancy accents as the kids love having something to keep them busy. — MRS. D.R.

Euromart Eases Policy to Cushion Devaluation

BRUSSELS (AP) — The European Common Market decided early today to suspend its uniform farm price policy for one year to cushion the effects of the devaluation of the French franc.

The decision was reached by the Common Market's Council of Ministers at a 19-hour session that ended at 5 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Most of the argument was between the Dutch delegation and the other five members over a proposal put forward by the Common Market Commission's farm expert, Sicco Mansholt of Holland.

Mansholt proposed that the uniform farm prices be suspended for the next two harvest seasons while the effect of the French devaluation is screened off by import subsidies and export taexs at the French border equivalent to 11.11 per cent—the amount of the devaluation—for the first harvest year and 5.6 per cent for the second harvest year.

TO BE RAISED

By the end of the 1970-71 harvest year, French farm prices were to be raised by the full amount of the devaluation.

★ ★ ★

The Dutch delegation argued that Mansholt's proposal contained considerable dangers for the future of the Common Market and should be reviewed before the end of this year in the hope of finding a better solution.

★ ★ ★

The French and the delegations from West Germany, Italy, Belgium and Luxembourg were prepared to accept the Mansholt proposal, but the Dutch held out until dawn.

★ ★ ★

The compromise agreement approved the Mansholt plan on some 200 farm products and manufactured foods for the harvest year 1969-70. But it directed the Common Market Commission to draft another plan to protect European farmers from the French devaluation and submit it to the Council of Ministers by Nov. 30. The council agreed to reach a decision by Dec. 31.

★ ★ ★

The council also called on the French government not to stimulate further surplus production by French farmers or further discriminate against farmers of other Common Market countries.

In the 1970s there will be a 46 per cent upswing in the number of women aged 20 to 29.

Former Illinois Congressman Is Dead at 87

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Rep. Barratt O'Hara of Illinois, who was the oldest member of the House until he lost the Democratic primary last year, is dead at age 87. He was the last veteran of the Spanish American War to serve in Congress.

O'Hara of Chicago died Monday at Georgetown University Hospital from lung congestion and heart failure.

★ ★ ★

He became sports editor of The St. Louis Chronicle at 20, then moved to Chicago where he was sports editor of The American and later Sunday editor of The Examiner. At 30, he became the youngest lieutenant governor in Illinois history. He was elected to the House in 1948, lost two years later, but was elected again in 1952 and stayed through the 89th Congress.

Survivors include three sons. Service will be Friday in Chicago.

Fulbright Pressing Demand to See Text of Thai Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright is pressing his demand for the top secret text of a U.S. military agreement with Thailand—and he thinks embarrassment at the Pentagon may pry it loose.

The joint chiefs of staff ordered three military officers to brief the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today on terms of the five-year-old agreement.

★ ★ ★

But Fulbright, the committee chairman, already has declared that an unacceptable substitute for a look at the exact terms of the document, described as a contingency plan.

The Arkansas Democrat said in an interview he hopes the joint chiefs will send along a copy of the document, so the committee can examine it in closed-door session.

'COPYING FLARED'

"They won't let us have it," he said. "The excuse is that somebody will make a copy of it."

Lt. Gen. Richard Spilwell, Brig. Gen. Jacob Glick and Col. Franklin T. Garrett were to brief the Senate panel.

★ ★ ★

Fulbright said Friday the agreement provides "in certain circumstances for the commitment of substantial numbers of American troops to Thailand."

Fulbright charged the agreement goes beyond the terms of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in committing the United States to the defense of Thailand.

NATIONAL DECISION

Sources at the State Department said, however, that the agreement would not be triggered unless the United States made a national decision to intervene in Thailand. That is in keeping with the SEATO agreement.

Fulbright said there is no way he can force the Pentagon to produce the text.

"Our only recourse is to talk about it and perhaps embarrass them into it," he said.

Fulbright said the text might indicate its terms are acceptable. "There may not be much to it," he said.

"This agreement should be made available," said Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield. "If this develops into a pattern, I think it's very dangerous to the policy of this country."

★ ★ ★

Fulbright said the arrangement with Thailand is among topics to be covered when a foreign relations subcommittee holds hearings next month on U.S. bases and commitments abroad.

Subdivision Plea Refused by Waterford

A request to remove sand and gravel and develop a subdivision on Hatchery Road was turned down by the Waterford Township Board at its regular meeting last night.

The board unanimously defeated the measure to change the rezoning of the property on Hatchery Road near Bender because the applicant doesn't have plans ready for the subdivision.

In other business, the board:

- Approved the rezoning of 41 acres on Pontiac Lake Road west of Airport Road and 27 acres on Pontiac Lake Road at Cass Lake Road to permit apartment developments to go up.
- Decided to purchase nearly one acre of land on Silver Lake Road at Oxley for a fire station site on the recommendation of Fire Chief Russell See. Price of the land has not been set.

City Will Get Report Tonight

Matters concerning the Clinton River and sewer problems are scheduled to dominate tonight's City Commission meeting at 8 p.m. at City Hall, East Pike and East Wide Track.

A report by the consultant firm of Jones and Henry will supply two possible items for action.

★ ★ ★

The city may decide to file applications with the State Water Resources Commission for grants to aid in improvement of two projects—the Clinton River in the Mill Pond and Crystal Lake area and the sewage treatment plant.

The report will also point out that the sanitary sewer along Chippewa between Manitou and Menominee has deteriorated and is in need of replacement. Currently a storm drain is being constructed in the area and the sanitary sewer could be improved at the same time.

Agents to Vote on Insurance Pact

DETROIT (UPI) — Approximately 170 agents of John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. will vote Wednesday on a new contract which could end a six-week strike of the company's 7,000 agents across the country. The contract includes a $19.82 package increase, up from $17.31 offered at the time of the walk-out, but below the union's pre-strike demand for $29.93.

5 Bystanders Intervene ---in Behalf of the Thief

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Five men watched a purse thief and the victim's son grapple over the pocketbook yesterday on a crowded sidewalk. They pulled the pair apart, let the thief go and then robbed the son.

Police said Mrs. Anna Piatruska, 64, and her 26-year-old son, Victor, were shopping for a ring when a man walked in the jewelry store, snatched the woman's purse and fled with its $900 contents.

Victor raced after the thief and tackled him about a block away. Police said five spectators pulled the struggling men apart, told the thief to run with the purse, then took Victor's wristwatch and his wallet containing another $100.

Cornea to Girl 3rd Transplant From Boy, 12

DETROIT (AP) — A 16-year-old Dearborn girl has become the third person to benefit from an accident which last week claimed the life of a 12-year-old Macomb Township boy.

★ ★ ★

Susan Green, now recovering after receiving a cornea transplant in her left eye, is the third person into whom parts of David Ryskamp have been placed.

★ ★ ★

Two men last week received the youth's kidneys.

David was killed early last week when he was struck in the head by the wing of a plane landing at his father's private airport near Mount Clemens. He had been cutting grass with a tractor mower before the accident.

WORE THICK GLASSES

Miss Green, her doctor said, had previously been forced to wear thick glasses which were so painful she could only wear them four hours per day. She was almost completely blind the rest of the time.

Her doctor says she has an 85 per cent chance of recovering sight.

Gets College Job

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — Lake Superior State College has named John Matheson, former city editor of the Sault Evening News, as assistant to the chancellor. Matheson will assume his new duties in September. He has been on the faculty at Southern Illinois University since 1965. Besides working on the News, Matheson was on the staff of the Battle Creek Enquirer and News.

Autopsy Bid 'Near' in Ted Kennedy Case

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis was expected to file either today or Wednesday his official request for an autopsy on the body of Miss Mary Jo Kopechne, the young blonde secretary who died in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's July 18 auto accident, reports said.

The reports, both here and in Boston, quoted Dinis as implying that the initial paper work could be handled via registered mail.

"The clerk of court (in Pennsylvania, where Miss Kopechne is buried) will then set a date for a hearing at which we probably will appear and argue," the Boston Globe quoted Dinis as saying.

Dinis and his assistants were reported nearing completion Monday night of their petition seeking the autopsy.

"It will recite what conditions substantiate our need for exhumation and an autopsy," Dinis said.

Miss Kopechne was buried in her hometown of Plymouth, Pa., without an autopsy three days after the accident.

★ ★ ★

The medical examiner who investigated her death said he released the body without an autopsy because the cause of death—declared officially to be accidental drowning—was "obvious."

Dinis already plans an inquest into the case. It begins Sept. 3 in Edgartown District Court on Martha's Vineyard, a resort island off the Cape Cod Coast.

It was on Chappaquiddick Island, adjacent to the Vineyard, that the accident occurred.

FBI Arrests 3 in Gangland Case in East

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents today arrested three men and charged a fourth already in prison in connection with a gangland slaying and racketeering activities, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell announced.

The three were seized in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. At the same time a complaint was filed in Boston against three other men.

★ ★ ★

Arrest in Slaying

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Police in Battle Creek have arrested a man identified as Tyrone Edwards, on an open charge of murder in the fatal wounding of a 24-year-old Battle Creek man Friday night. Edwards is charged in the death of Lonnie Beavers. Officers said Beavers was shot in the head after being chased across town by three men following a quarrel. Beavers was shot as he came out of a store where he had gone for help.

New Pontiac General Head Ready to Conquer Its Woes

By DICK ROBINSON

"I looked, I saw, I liked and I came" is the way Dr. Roger B. Nelson explains why he took the job as head of Pontiac General Hospital.

Nelson, 60, started his $45,000-a-year job yesterday. As the hospital's executive director and consultant, he has visions of conquering its problems.

★ ★ ★

That is, he explains, when he has had time to become acquainted with the hospital's people and operations.

Nelson said he took his look at Pontiac General Hospital after "an emissary from the board" approached him. He had left University Hospital at Ann Arbor for "personal reasons."

WANTS CHANGE

But already Nelson, former No. 2 man at the University of Michigan Hospital, has detected some things he wants changed.

★ ★ ★

First of all, he indicates that he doesn't see how the 400-bed hospital can operate effectively with just one assistant under the head man as the hospital did when Harold B. Euler was in charge.

★ ★ ★

"I feel that one assitant is not adequate if the hospital is to move forward," Nelson commented.

The former senior associate director of University Hospital said he feels at least two men may be necessary to replace PGH's former Associate Director Donald Carros.

EULER FIRED

Euler dismissed Carros from his $19,250-a-year job and then Euler was fired as administrator by the hospital's board of trustees in June. Euler received $26,750.

The board has only said Euler was fired because he had a communications problem with its members.

★ ★ ★

When Nelson was hired, the board changed the title of the person in charge of the hospital from administrator to executive director and consultant.

★ ★ ★

Nelson, well area of the controversy surrounding the hospital, said he would prefer to let the matter drop and start with a clean slate.

HIS DECISION

The new chief indicates that it has been left up to him to determine how many assistants he wants and who they will be.

He feels that his assistants will take care of most of the day-to-day operations of the hospital, allowing him to devote more time to "broadening hospital programs."

★ ★ ★

"Even a 400-bed operation is not a simple operation," he said. "Hospital operations are getting more and more complex as the government comes more and more into the picture."

★ ★ ★

Medical spokesman for the state's first heart transplant operations, Nelson appears to be a man who likes to plan for the future.

'INTERESTING CHALLENGE'

"Planning's an interesting challenge," he said. "But until I develop an administrative staff, I'll be busy with the daily operations of the hospital."

"I liked the challenge here. Pontiac General is a good hospital with a heavy demand on services and need to expand to provide the best services available.

★ ★ ★

"The hospital has an excellent medical staff, but I feel it needs to expand its operation because it has been over capacity."

He says he was responsible for planning the modernization and expansion of the 1,000-bed University Hospital. He workd on plans for five new buildings and modernization of the original building.

PGH EXPANSION

His talents are likely to be immediately utilized on PGH's plans for expansion, already started.

He also appears to be interested in reorganizing institutions for more effective operations.

However, he informed hospital department heads at a meeting yesterday that there would be no immediate changes. "The saying is a 'new broom sweeps clean.' I'm not going to do this."

Dr. Nelson claims that as resident of the Michigan Hospital Association (MHA) and Tri-State Hospital Assembly he made the organizations more effective.

PRIDE IN WORK

He created more positions in the MHA and in the assembly he said he "set the base for broadening educational services activities."

Although Nelson is said to have played a prominent role in state, national and international affairs in the hospital field, he is especially proud of his work at University Hospital.

★ ★ ★

The doctor, who practiced in obstetrics and gynecology, is commuting to the hospital daily from Ann Arbor until he sells his home there and finds one here.

Nelson and his wife, Rosalie, have two children, Roger S., a senior at Eastern Michigan University, and Mrs. Roy Ashmall, a graduate student at the University of Michigan.

No one would ever insult Helen Sobel Smith by calling her a perfect bridge player. She takes plenty of chances and players who take chances can't be right all the time.

On the other hand, Helen is not inclined to play carelessly and when she has a choice between a right play and a wrong play, she will always make the right one.

Helen defended today's hand in an important match in 1937. Her partner's first-hand, three-heart bid was pre-emptive but a strong pre-emptive by most standards. Therefore Helen decided to try three no-trump. This led to the eventual adverse contract of five spades doubled.

Hearts were opened and continued. South ruffed the second heart, led a spade to dummy's king and continued with the nine. Helen covered with her 10 and declarer won with the jack.

* * *

His next play was the king of clubs. Helen took her ace and here is where a careless sort of player would go wrong and play the last heart.

This play would have been fatal since South would ruff, play the jack of clubs, a club to dummy's queen and the last club to ruff in his own hand. This would leave declarer with the ace-eight of spades and two diamonds.

* * *

He would simply cash dummy's ace and king of diamonds and lead another one. Helen would have to ruff and declarer would overruff.

Helen didn't go wrong. She returned a club. After this play it was impossible for declarer to shorten himself enough to develop the trump coup and he had to go down one trick.

MANY ARE METICULOUS in grooming and are particular about what they eat and how food is served. Know this and use the knowledge to advantage. The more service you give today, the more you receive. This advice is general — but is specific when applied to VIRGO.

★

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Be sensible where work, employment prospects are concerned. And be practical about diet, work, recreation. Avoid extremes. Traveling relative may communicate. Be cooperative.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): More pleasure comes into your life. Relief from pressure indicated. There is a change for the better; your creative abilities are displayed. News from young person brings happiness.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You may find it difficult to be practical, but it is necessary. Study details. Don't overlook apparent minor matters. Read between the lines; be aware of fine print.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You are on the go; the day features rhythm of action. Change is the key. You shake off lethargy. Be versatile. Have alternate methods at hand. Communicate with relative.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Accent on money, possession. You can improve home comforts. Genuine needs will be fulfilled. Key is to be selective. Meals don't spend foolishly. You can obtain genuine bargain — if you shop.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Lunar cycle moves up; you are particular about the way you look. Pride in achievement is highlighted. Many are favorably impressed. Take initiative. Get started.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You are given added responsibility behind the scenes. You may desire more public recognition. But, first, there are quiet moves, actions which are necessary. Act accordingly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You have sense of fulfillment. You complete assignment. There are plaudits. But there could also be envy. Realize this and be diplomatic. Avoid attitude of braggadocio.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Spotlight on what you want to achieve. You may be in too much of a hurry. Study ARIES message. You are attempting new technique. Practice makes perfect. Think.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Accent on journey or communication with one at a distance. Fine for writing, submitting manuscripts, Express views. Look to future. Don't brood about past.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Check legal papers. You may have more coming to you than is imagined. Enlarge scope. Avoid the petty. Don't be held back by nonexistent restrictions. Message is clear by tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Do more listening than talking. Patience today proves a valuable virtue. You gain by playing waiting game. Avoid rushing. Adhere to legal requirements.

IF WEDNESDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are embarking upon new adventure. Solidify position. Familiarize yourself with surroundings, methods. Welcome new contacts. Numerous opportunities are attainable.

In 1961 the U.S. Satellite One was orbited into space.

Indians Planning to Create a Scene

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — About 200 Indians will stage a "protest march" through downtown Albuquerque Sept. 10 — if the City Commission approves.

It would not be a genuine protest but a march for a scene in a Warner Brothers-Seven Arts film "Nobody Loves Flapping Eagle." The film makers say they will ask for a permit to close city streets during the demonstration.

Body Recovered

SAGATUCK (AP) — The body of Gregory Graham, 13, of Holland was recovered Monday from Lake Michigan by an Allegan County sheriff's patrol boat about one mile west of the Saugatuck channel. Graham drowned Thursday when he was swept off a pier duging a storm.

LANDMARK COMING DOWN — The 151-year-old Waterford Hotel on Dixie Highway is being demolished and is to be replaced with a gas station. The hotel once was a favorite stop-off for stagecoaches and a popular gathering place.

Waterford Is Losing Hotel, 151-Year-Old Landmark

By DICK ROBINSON

A 151-year-old Waterford Township hotel, — once the object of nationwide attention following a shoot-out there — is being torn down.

The Waterford Hotel at Dixie Highway and Andersonville Road, which closed a few weeks ago, is making way for a Boron Oil Co. gas station.

During its prime, the landmark was a stop-off for stagecoach travelers between Pontiac and Flint. Its tavern was said to be a favorite gathering place.

★ ★ ★

In 1950, the hotel got headlines around the country as the site of where a man went on a shooting spree and then killed himself.

Joseph Runyon is reported to have shot two people at the hotel's bar through a side window with a shotgun, then ran across the street and shot three or four more people at another tavern, an old-timer recalls.

Two people shot at the hotel were seriously injured but recovered, Howard Jewell, an elderly grocery store owner in the neighborhood, recalls.

He said a Marine just stopping off for a drink at the old Ma's and Pa's Place across from the hotel lost his sight after being struck with shotgun pellets.

"He was knocking them off like tenpins," said Jewel, who lives at 5836 Andersonville.

"He even shot the bill out of the hand of a man who was giving it to a cashier."

State police closed in on the gunman and he then shot himself next to the hotel, according to Jewel. "I saw him drawing his last breath."

"It was real exciting times then," said Jewel. "A few months later the Old Mill Tavern across the street was destroyed by a $100,000 fire."

Early township settlers used the hotel as a church, public meeting place, dance hall and courtroom. Much of the original wood, beams, windows and room layout remained until the early 1960s.

Buckshot was still imbedded in a thick glass mirror behind the bar in the early 1960s, giving the hotel a western movie atmosphere.

Louis F. Dorman Jr., former owner of the Old Mill Tavern, once leased the hotel in the 1920s before moving into the Old Mill.

The hotel was sold to former party store owner Rollin Francis in 1960, who planned to restore the hotel to its original condition.

Francis sold the hotel to Richard Puertas of Waterford Township who remodeled it in old stagecoach decor. The Boron Co. took a lease on the property, including a doctor's office next door, from Richard Puertas of Walton Boulevard in Waterford.

Black Chief of Police Hits Rights Panel

DOWAGIAC (AP) — A Negro police chief here has asked Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley to investigate the Michigan Civil Right Commission because the chief claims the commission has "unduly harassed" him.

Chief George Grady called for the investigation after he received a letter from the commission seeking an explanation of a Dowagiac Negro's complaint that he was beaten after his arrest June 25.

★ ★ ★

Grady, a veteran of 15 years in law enforcement work, said the complaint was investigated quickly and a representative of the commission attended that session. The chief said the commission's representative agreed there was no basis for the complaint.

★ ★ ★

"On the basis of this (meeting) and knowing this complaint to be false, I feel that I am being unduly harassed as a police officer," Grady said in his letter.

'UNDUE HARASSMENT'

He added, "I feel that the Civil Rights Commission branch office is creating undue harassment to myself and my 17-member staff. I refuse to file any correspondence in answer to an obvious form letter sent to me with a copy on the above complaint."

★ ★ ★

Grady said that as a police officer for 15 years, "I feel that I have a reputation within the community of having dealt fairly and squarely with anyone I have ever come in contact with."

★ ★ ★

Dowagiac's 17-member police force includes three Negro patrolmen.

'Uninvited' Can View Nixon Apollo 11 Fete

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Apollo 11 astronauts and 1,600 of the nation's elite will dine with President Nixon tomorrow night while millions of uninvited guests watch on television.

The entire event—from h'ors d'oeuvre reception to seven-course dinner—will go on the air.

★ ★ ★

Dignitaries, entertainers and aviation pioneers began arriving today for the festivities. Many are staying at the elegant Century Plaza Hotel where the dinner will be held.

Among those invited to dine with moon voyagers Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins are aviation pioneer Charles Lindbergh, entertainer Jack Benny, singers Don Ho and Gene Autry, and all 50 governors and their wives.

ALL DIGNITARIES

"Everybody coming is a dignitary in his own right," said a White House spokesman.

★ ★ ★

Few have turned down the prized invitations to the fete. So select was the guest list that invited single persons were instructed to come without dates.

"Some friends of mine offered to work as busboys just to get in," said a hotel vice president.

★ ★ ★

The lunar exploration theme will be carried out in centerpieces, candy boxes and a special moon-shaped dessert being prepared by the hotel chef. It's a globe of vanilla ice cream over Kirsch-soaked raisins and coated with a thin meringue to give the impression of a moonscape.

★ ★ ★

The program for the evening has yet to be announced.

NIXON TOAST

The President is expected to toast the astronauts before dinner.

★ ★ ★

"I would imagine the astronauts will then say something," said a White House spokesman, "but it may not be a formal speech."

★ ★ ★

To keep the dinner nonpartisan, Nixon has not asked political figures to speak.

★ ★ ★

What will the elegant evening cost? White House sources aren't telling. But they say funds will come from several government sources, including the State Department, the National Aeronautical and Space Administration and Nixon's own $50,000 White House entertainment allowance.

Earl's Secretary Sounds Off—Topic: Boss (Hers) Brutality

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "Police brutality!" snarled my blonde secretary to one of her girl friends the other day when she didn't know I was overhearing. "They should do something about 'Boss Brutality!'"

WILSON

"I heard that!" I yelled at her. "If there's any kind of brutality around here, it's 'Secretary Brutality.' It's 'Secretary Power.' A boss can't get any work done without pleading. Filing, for example, but forget it! Anyway, just for that you have to write out your beefs about the boss."

"Oh, will I ever be glad to!" she cooed poisonously.

So here is her brilliant piece about boss brutality.

★ ★ ★

"He mumbles. And you have to hear him over the construction work outside.

"He screams something at you while you're talking to somebody on the phone.

"He tells you to sign his name (which he's been doing for years) and roars at you because you're not another Rembrandt.

"He comes back from trips, throws a bushel of papers all over the office, and then bellows 'Where's that fellow What's-His-Name's business card?'

"He makes fun of the way his secretary talks — him with the mush in his mouth.

"The second you go to the ladies' room, he remembers he needs something very urgent, and he times how long you're in there.

"I'm supposed to break up every week when he hands me my check and says 'Here's your weekly insult.' (Ha ha!)

"He always wants his diet drink when there isn't any in the refrigerator . . . when you sharpen 20 pencils he never notices but the day you forget, he notices immediately . . . his notes to be are undecipherable . . . and when he uses one of his secretary's quips in the column he never says it's his secretary (her name happens to be Julie Allen) who said it . . .

★ ★ ★

"But the really brutal thing he does is make sneaky calls from out-of-town just to see if I'm in the office . . . and he always does it when I happen to have slipped out quietly for a few hours to do some shopping . . . I hate a sneak!"

Tomato Event Not Ripening

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio (AP) — Reynoldsburg, birthplace of the tomato, is having a tough time drumming up enthusiasm for its tomato festival, Sept. 16-21.

Although a botanist developed the basic domestic strain of tomatoes here years ago, Reynoldsburg never has been a tomato town.

★ ★ ★

The commercial tomato industry is located in northern parts of the state, and tomato processors have shown little or no interest in Reynoldsburg's festival.

"Frankly, some people couldn't care less whether this is the birthplace of the tomato," said Councilman Gilbert Whalen.

Cherry Pits Giving Fits to Growers in Michigan

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — Want to make some money? Think up a use of cherry pits.

What to do with cherry pits is no laughing matter in this area of northern Michigan — The Cherry Capital of the World — where the annual harvest is now under way.

★ ★ ★

With the crop running into the millions of pounds and the pits making up 15 per cent of each cherry, anyone who can come up with a use for unused cherry pits is bound to be a winner.

"Back in the old days when we used coal to heat up our boilers, we, burned the pits," says Jack Nelson, plant superintendent at Morgan-McCool Inc., which processes about 21 million pounds of the red fruit each year and has to discard about 1,500 tons of pits.

PAY ANYWAY

The problem is that the processors have to pay for the pits when they buy the cherries from the growers. And no one likes to throw away 15 per cent of his investment.

Nelson said fuel costs were cut by 30 per cent when the plant used to burn the pits. But now, with natural gas, he has the added expense of hauling the pits to the dumps.

★ ★

Michigan State University researchers thought they had a solution when they found the pits have a high oil content. But that idea was shot down when it was discovered the oil could be duplicated in a number of cheaper ways.

An idea to grind up the pits and combine them with charcoal for briquets also fizzled because the pits don't add any particular flavor to the smoke. Using the pits whole to make pebble-type sidewalks also didn't work out since the pits have a tendency to sprout.

Sanatorium for Priests to Be Dedicated

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — A sanatorium for the rehabilitation and treatment of alcoholic Catholic priests and brothers, the second in the nation, will be dedicated and formally opened in Rochester Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Called Guest House, the project was founded almost 20 years ago by author, lecturer and recovered alcoholic Austin Ripley. A first project in Chippewa Falls failed for lack of financial support in the early 1950s, but another Guest House, located on a 90-acre site at Lake Orion, Mich., is reported doing well.

★ ★ ★

Since it was founded in 1956, the Lake Orion home has helped almost 500 Catholic priests and brothers recover from alcoholism.

A Cycle Challenge

Man, Gravity Vie

Man pits his machine against the terrain in a motorcycle-crowd exercise on the scramblin' grounds on the east edge of Pontiac.

Located near Opdyke and M59, an area of dirt trails, hills and gullies is a weekend practice area for motorcyclists from as far away as Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The main battle is always against gravity.

Any weekend, machines and riders of varying degrees of power and proficiency can be seen challenging the rugged hills.

IT JUST GREW

The area just sort of grew as a motorcyclists' haven, particularly after the completion of that stretch of the new freeway more than two years ago.

Its main attraction is to lesser-experienced riders (street-riders). Many stunt without the sort of protection — helmets, heavy boots and gloves — used by serious competitors.

★ ★ ★

The site also has become an audience attraction. At times 30 or more cars can be seen collected near the spot.

The site may be doomed as a long-term phenomenon, though. The land, owned by the City of Pontiac and Pontiac School District, is being eyed for a far-more extensive sports activity.

★ ★ ★

It is under serious consideration as the site of a two-stadium complex to house the Detroit Lions and Tigers.

Lions After Meeting With Tigers on Stadium Site

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports EDITOR, Pontiac Press

A decision is at hand for selection of a site for major professional teams of Detroit.

It was learned today that the Detroit Lions have requested a meeting with the Detroit Tigers for the purpose of reaching a decision. If no such meeting or decision is agreed upon, the Lions are ready to commit themselves to a specific site.

President William Clay Ford, of the Lions, who was interviewed on television during the Lions' game in Kansas City over the weekend, agreed with Lamar Hunt, owner of the Chiefs, that a twin stadium plan, such as being built in Kansas City and such as proposed by the Stadium Authority of Pontiac, was a most acceptable plan.

Edwin J. Anderson, vice-president of the Lions, made a tour of stadium site in Kansas City, indicating that the natural bowl contours have already been shaped and that the concrete footings for portions of the $53-million stadium have already been poured.

Completion date has been set for 1972.

Anderson said, "We must come to some decision within the next week or so. We are hoping the Tigers and ourselves will be ready to make a commitment shortly."

Asked about the sites mentioned, Anderson admitted that the Pontiac site is now the front runner.

RECENT STATEMENT

John Fetzer, owner of the Tigers recently issued a statement with the essentials needed for a stadium site and the Pontiac site covers all of the points he listed.

Asked to comment on the recent downtown Detroit feasibility study, Anderson said, "it was very uncomprehensive. It told us nothing."

* * *

Land acquisition, the shortage of parking, the elimination of land area because of the riverfront and traffic congestion during the business hours make downtown site most unfeasible.

* * *

The need for more land, forcing the condemnation of hundreds of homes in the State Fairgrounds, has soured the pro teams on that site.

Anderson admitted that Southfield would be good site, however, opposition, litigation and a possible referendum would cause long delays. Also the fact that private capital, paying the high interest rate, which in turn bring about high-leasing costs, are the factors against the Southfield site.

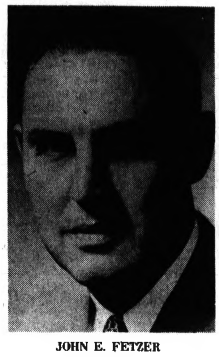
* * *

Asked about the mentioned sites in Taylor Center and Walled Lake, Anderson said, "There has been no concrete proposals from them."

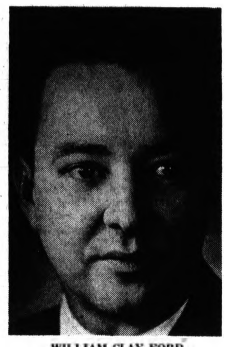
PONTIAC SITE AHEAD

The Pontiac Authority holds most of the aces in its proposal, specifically because:

1. The land is immediately available.
2. The road access at I-75 and M59 is the best.



JOHN E. FETZER



WILLIAM CLAY FORD

Owners to Meet on Stadium

3. There is proposed parking for 27,000 cars.
4. All utilities, including water, sewage and electric are immediately adjacent to the area.
5. Before its completion, the site will have strong access to air and rail transportation.
6. Pontiac has offered a plan and has the bonding capacity.
7. A very important factor is that revenue bonds as purchased from a municipal government are not subject to tax.
8. A municipal form of government can more readily intervene and develop essential plans for roads and throughways with other governmental agencies.

The Pontiac Stadium Authority, in good faith, made its stadium proposals to the Lions and Tigers more than a month ago.

Figures from builders, such as those in Kansas City, show that every week's delay, adds at least $100,000 to costs.

"We have sincerely made our proposal, and we are now waiting for the word from the teams," said Harold Cousins, head of the Pontiac Authority.

* * *

Members of the Pontiac Authority indicated however that too long of a wait could force withdrawing their proposal because of the constantly rising costs.

"It would take 60 to 90 days to turn the first shovel, even after we get a commitment, and that means adding a million and more dollars, and start over-scaling our bonding capabilities."

The Pontiac Authority offered a target date of 1972 for football and spring of 1973 for baseball.

OWN DECISION

Anderson was asked what would be the Lions' move if a mutual agreement with the Tigers failed.

"We would have to make our own decision then," said Anderson.

"Would any group, specifically the Pontiac Authority, make an agreement with just the Lions, if no accord is reached at the meeting of the two teams?", Anderson was asked.

The Pontiac group did say they would make an agreement with the Lions in this case, although they were hoping to negotiate with both teams," he answered.

"What kind of a lease would you agree upon?"

"We would want a 40-year lease," Anderson replied, "with scaled percentages based on attendance."

Anderson strongly offered the opinion "We must decide immediately, within days, of what we are going to do, or lose the proposals to prohibitive costs."

FALLEN ANGEL — California Angel catcher Tom Egan is down and out after being hit with a pitch thrown by Tigers' pitcher Earl Wilson in last night's game in Detroit. Umpire Ron Luciano and pitcher Rudy May huddle over Egan as Detroit catcher Bill Freehan watches. The Angels won the game, 3-1.

Mayo Holds Observations to 3-1 Loss

Dressing Room 'Mum' After Firing of Sain

DETROIT (AP) — Manager Mayo Smith of the Detroit Tigers says: (1) there have been no repercussions as a result of the firing of pitching coach Johnny Sain; and (2) he does not plan to join the Wednesday night fights at Detroit's Lindell A.C.

Smith's observations followed Monday's 3-1 loss to the California Angels which losing pitcher Earl Wilson characterized as "not a bad night" in spite of the seven hits he gave up.

* * *

Sain was fired Sunday after Tigers' General Manager Jim Campbell conferred with the popular pitching coach and confirmed that published reports Sain was unhappy with his relationship with Manager Mayo Smith were true. Sain prefered to describe the action in this manner: "He gave me my release and I can understand his position."

There was general reluctance to discuss the Sain matter in the Tiger dressing room following Monday's loss. In fact there was general reluctance to discuss anything.

DISCUSSION TOPIC

Probably the most discussed topic in the locker room was the fight last Wednesday at the Lindell A.C., a mid-town Detroit tavern.

Last Wednesday, it was disclosed Monday, Minnesota Twins Manager Billy Martin, a light heavyweight, decked heavyweight Dave Boswell in a fist fight outside the tavern. Martin, 5-foot-11 and 170 pounds scored a knockout on his 6-foot-2, 185-pound pitcher with a couple of solid blows to the head as Boswell reeled off a brick wall to which he had been pinned with several jabs to the stomach.

* * *

The confrontation developed from an accusation that Boswell had held back in workouts before the game in Detroit.

The Angels won Monday's game on a two-run homer by catcher Tom Egan in the second inning. In the seventh inning Egan was struck below the left eye by an Earl Wilson fastball.

TOO CLOSE

"I was trying to pitch him tight," said Wilson who allowed seven hits, "but it got away. I didn't mean to hit him, of course."

Egan's injury was not believed serious, said Detroit team physician Dr. Russell Wright.

The loss snapped a five-game winning streak for the Tigers and dropped Wilson's record to 10-8.

Joe Sparma (6-8) or Mike Kilkenny (1-2) is scheduled to pitch tonight for the Tigers against California's Andy Messersmith (10-7).

CALLS IT QUITS — Don Drysdale, long time one of the top pitchers of the LA Dodgers' staff, ponders a question during his announcement yesterday that he is retiring because of a shoulder ailment.

Injury Ends Career of Dodger Hill Ace

LOS ANGELES (AP)g 8 Donald Scott Drysdale says he's in good physical shape — strong legs, good reflexes, timing just as good as ever. Only one thing is bothering him but it's forcing his retirement.

The 6-foot-6 Los Angeles Dodger right-hander said Monday he was quitting baseball because of a painful injury to his right shoulder, an injury diagnosed as a torn "rotary cup . . . what gets your arm in position to throw and creates elasticity."

The injury put the 219-pounder out of action for the first time on April 22, when he went on the disabled list hoping rest would cure the pain.

He returned, pitched well but fitfully and was sidelined again early last month. Back July 27, he pitched three games, then said he didn't want to hurt the team with his inconsistency.

With a 5-4 record, he said "this team has a chance to go all the way. I don't want to jeopardize their chances."

"After a lot of talking and soul-searching, especially in the last four days," Drysdale announced his retirement at a news conference Monday.

TOP DODGER

In 14 seasons with the Dodgers, Big D won more games — 209 — than any other Dodger in history. He also holds club records for most innings pitched, 3,342; most strikeouts, 2,486; and most shutouts, 49.

Last season, one of his most successful, Drysdale hurled six straight shutouts and had a string of 58 2-3 consecutive scoreless innings to set major league records.

* * *

Using a sidewinding style, the huge ace of the Dodgers was known for pitching with all sorts of ailments — shingles, shin splints, broken ribs. He constantly used his arms and legs to stop line drives and was almost always bruised someplace.

In his earlier years, his live fastball and hot temper were his trademarks. But in the last few years, Drysdale assumed a calm attitude and rather than using a blazing fastball, he settled for control.

LEAGUE LEADER

In 1962, the iron man of the Dodger staff led the National League in innings pitched, 314; in games won, 25 against nine defeats; and in strikeouts, 232. He won the Cy Young Award as the outstanding major league pitcher.

Drysdale struck out 200 or more batters in six different seasons. Only once in the last seven seasons did his earned run average go above 3.00. Last year, his season ERA was 2.15. He allowed 201 hits in 239 innings.

* * *

In seven All-Star game appearances, Don pitched 19 innings and had a 1.4 ERA. His seven-game World Series ERA was 2.95. He has a lifetime ERA of 2.92.

After the Dodgers won the 1965 World Series, Drysdale and Sandy Koufax staged their long holdout which ended with Koufax receiving an estimated $120,000 and Drysdale about $105,000. Koufax, plagued by arthritis in his last elbow, retired after the 1966 season.

With Drysdale, the Dodgers have won five National League pennants and three World Series.

Mini Max Unworried by O. J.'s Presence

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — O. J. Simpson pulled on a royal blue red and white Buffalo uniform for the first time today and participated in a two-hour workout with the Bills closely scrutinized by a 5-foot-8, 180-pounder affectionately called Mini Max.

* * *

Mini Max is Max Anderson, the little guy who has neither the size nor the reputation of the Heisman Trophy winner but right now is listed as the club's No. 1 running back—the job the Bills are paying Simpson more than $300,000 to take.

* * *

But that doesn't upset Mini Max.

"I don't think about his salary and I don't worry about him," Anderson said. "Maybe I should, but I haven't been thinking too much about him. I'm no outstanding star and I have a lot of respect for him, but I also feel I have a lot of ability and a lot to offer this team."

LEADING RUSHER

Anderson proved that last year when he stepped in as a rookie out of Arizona State and led the Bills in rushing with 525 yards and a 3.5 average. But he, like everyone else, is fully aware of Simpson's impact.

* * *

That impact became evident Monday when the Bills' ticket offices opened to purchasers for the first time after the announcement of Simpson's signing and were so swamped with calls they couldn't take time out to estimate the number of new ticket holders.

And that impact became evident when Simpson stepped off a plane at the Buffalo airport late in the evening to be mobbed by a screaming, shoving crowd of some 2,000 fans before being whisked away to the Bills' camp under police escort.

With that, Simpson simply settled the issue of uniform No. 32.

Uniform No. 32 became a problem because it has been worn since last season by Buffalo running back Gary McDermott and by Simpson throughout his college career at Southern California.

* * *

Both couldn't wear it here, so something had to give.

O. J. did.

"You become attached to a number, naturally," he said. "But if someone has it, someone has it. It's irrelevant really."

And so McDermott has No. 32.

But then Simpson has $350,000.

White Sox Star Injured During Marine Training

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — Carlos May, rookie Chicago White Sox outfielder, suffered serious injuries to both hands during a training maneuver at the Camp Pendleton Marine base Monday.

* * *

May, 21, a member of the Marine Corps reserve training unit, who arrived from Chicago Saturday, underwent surgery in the Navy hospital here. He lost the first joint of his right thumb, and suffered laceration of the left thumb and minor facial powder burns.

* * *

May was cleaning a mortar tube when the swab he was using jammed a round of ammunition against a firing pin, causing it to fire.

May was on a two-week tour of duty.

* * *

May, younger brother of Lee May of the Cincinnati Reds, has a .281 average with the White sox and leads the club with 62 RBIs and 18 homers.

Lions Obtain Tight End for '70 Draft Choice

The Washington Redskins traded tight end Ken Barefoot to the Detroit Lions Monday for a 1970 draft choice.

Barefoot, second-year man from Virginia Tech was selected in the fifth round in 1967.

He played on all the specialty teams last year and scored a touchdown on a blocked punt against the New York Giants.

Gal's 'Junk Ball' Net Game Helps U.S. Reclaim Trophy

CLEVELAND (AP) — Julie Heldman reached into a trash can Monday and came out with two things — goose bumps and American's 34th Wightman Cup in 41 years.

The 23-year-old, happy-go-lucky New Yorker, who got the U.S. off on the right foot Saturday, used a variety of lobs, drops, and hard drives in beating Great Britain's Winnie Shaw 6-3, 6-4 in their singles match.

* * *

The victory gave the Americans an unbeatable 4-2 edge in the best-of-seven series and brought the cup back to the U.S.

"She calls it the 'junk ball' game," said non-playing U.S. captain Mrs. Betty Pratt. "I call it the garbage game. Julie did anything she could to break up the rhythm of Winnie's hard-shot game."

MISS RICHEY LOSES

The U.S. held a 3-1 advantage going Monday's play, but Virginia Wade kept Britain's hopes alive with a 6-3, 2-6, 6-4 victory over Nancy Richey in the day's singles opener. Both players are rated No. 1 in their respective countries.

Miss Heldman, who didn't play tennis in 1967 because "I didn't dig it so I didn't do it," said after the event's final match, "I just got one flash of goose bumps" when she won the clincher.

She teamed up with Peaches Bartkowicz to win the final doubles 6-4, 6-2 over Miss Wade and Miss Shaw, giving the U.S. a final 5-2 victory.

Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, an 82-year-old Bostonian still well-tuned to tennis, presented the rose-filled cup to Mrs. Pratt at the end of the event.

This year's British team was identical to the one which beat the U.S. 4-3 last year at Wimbledon in England. It was only the seventh time Britain had won the cup since 1923.

Mrs. Angela Barrett, captain of the British team, said: "We won it from her Mrs. Pratt last year. She won it this year. But next year we'll get it back."

U.S. Youth Sets Goals Following Channel Swim

DOVER, England (AP) — John Erikson, a 14-year-old Chicago schoolboy relaxed today after his triumphant swim of the 22-mile wide English Channel and planned more adventures for the future.

"I'll try Lake Michigan next," he said, "and then maybe come back here and make a two-way non-stop bid."

* * *

John, a descedent of the Viking seafarer Leif Erikson, Sunday became the youngest person ever to swim the channel.

His father, Ted, has swam 60-mile wide Lake Michigan and also holds the 30 hours 3 minutes record for the two-way non-stop channel crossing.

* * *

John said he sang pop songs from France to England.

"I never felt tired at all," he said. "I swam at about 50 strokes a minute and I was very comfortable."

"It was a very important factor in my decision to swim the channel," he said. "I'm very glad I did it."

Bonnie Lauer 31st in Golf Qualifying

DALLAS, Tex. — Bonnie Lauer of Berkley was well down the list after yesterday's first qualifying round in the USGA, Women's Amateur Championship at Las Carolinas Country Club.

Miss Lauer is in 31st place after firing a 43-37—80. Cynthia Hill of South Haven holds down the No. 8 spot with a 39-37—76.

Barbara Boddie was the first round leader with a 69.

PICKOFF MISSES — Pitcher Blue Moon Odom of the Oakland Athletics slides back into second base safely after a pickoff attempt from Baltimore pitcher Dave McNally to second baseman Dave Johnson failed to reach its mark. Odom went to third as the ball went into the outfield. The umpire is Lou DiMuro. The A's won the game, 7-4.

Without Injured Monday

A's Trim Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Oakland Athletics have made a good start toward overcoming their seventh serious injury of the season.

Jose Cartabull, replacing the injured Rick Monday in center field, drove in three runs Monday night as the A's beat Baltimore for the first time this season, 7-4.

* * *

Cartabull had driven in only four runs in 119 previous trips before his sacrifice fly tied it 1-1 in the fifth inning and his two-run single put Oakland ahead 4-3 during a six-run seventh inning.

The A's, even with first-place Minnesota in the loss column, moved to within one game of the idle Twins in the battle for the American League's West Division lead.

FEW RBI

"Our pitching has been pretty good," said Oakland Manager Hank Bauer, "and we have been getting men on base. But we need somebody to drive in runs.

"I think quite a few of our guys may be tired—mentally and physically," Bauer said, citing the strain of coming from behind in 11 of their last 14 victories and two doubleheaders in hot, humid weather last week which seemed to sap the players' strength.

The latest come-from-behind victory ended a three-game Oakland losing streak and stopped Baltimore's winning streak at six.

Senators Win Behind Bosman

Pitcher Also Scores Tie-Breaking Run

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dick Bosman hurled a five-hitter and raced home from second with the tie-breaking run on a throwing error by Jackie Hernandez in the eighth inning as the Washington Senators edged Kansas City 2-1 Monday night.

Loser Jim Rooker, 2-10, walked Bosman with one out in the eighth and with two away Hank Allen singled, only the fourth hit off Rooker. Shortstop Hernandez then fired Frank Howard's easy hopper past First, allowing Bosman to score.

* * *

The only damaging blow off Bosman, 8-5, was Pat Kelly's third-inning homer, his fifth of the season.

The Senators tied it in the fifth when Ken McMullen singled, Brant Alyea walked, Del Unser bounced into a force play at second and Tim Cullen hit a sacrifice fly.

WMGA Event Aim of Canadian Golfer

A Canadian with an eye on an American trophy sits three shots off the pace as the second round of the Women Metropolitan Golf Association medal play tournament opened today at Bob O'Link near Novi.

Mrs. Nick Panasiuk of Elmhurst, Ont., twice winner in this event, can claim the M. F. Drunkebrod Trophy with a victory this week in the 54-hole event. The trophy was given to the WMGA by Detroit sportswriters in memory of Drunkenbrod, a former Detroit writer.

In yesterday's opening round, Mrs. Panasiuk put together a 38-43-81, three shots behind pacesetting Mrs. Max Evans of Southfield, also a former winner of this event.

Mrs. Evans had rounds of 40-39-79 thanks to a hot putter which she used only 28 times. She collected four pars on the front along with two pars and a pair of birdies on the back nine.

3-Run Frames Enough for 'D' Triumph

Elmer's Ashland used a pair of three-run innings to take the Pontiac junior Class D National League championship yesterday with a 7-4 verdict over P.P.O.A.

Three hits, three walks and an error pushed Elmer's ahead 3-0 in the first and the winners hiked the lead to 6-0 in the second on two hits, three errors and a couple of walks.

First baseman Tom Ashbaugh picked up three of the winner's six hits. Lonnie Harrold and Joe Heltsky rapped out two safeties each for P.P.O.A.

Corky Lang went the distance for Elmer's, yielding six hits and fanning four.

Cards Hole-in-One

R. H. Cummings Jr. aced the 192-yard No. 11 hole at Bloomfield Hills Country Club Sunday and went on to card a 75. He used a 6-iron for the ace, the first of his career.

'Slam' Blast Paces Pilots Past Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Don Mincher's grand slam homer in the fifth inning broke a 2-2 tie and Diego Segui scattered six hits to give the Seattle Pilots a 8-2 victory over Cleveland Monday night.

Mincher's blast, his 20th homer of the season, came off Stan Williams, who relieved after starter Luis Tiant, 8-14, walked two hitters. Williams hit Tommy Davis with a pitch to load the bases.

* * *

Segui, 9-4, also drove in three runs, one with a bases-loaded walk in the fourth inning and two with a single in the ninth. Gerry McNertney singled in the other Seattle run in the fourth.

Clippers Win in Ninth

A one-out single by shortstop Willie Hollomon sent Gary Fischer scooting across with the winning run as the R. T. Clippers pushed Talbott Lumber Company into the losers bracket of the city Class A baseball playoffs, 4-3.

First baseman Stan Babiuk had tied the game at 3-3 for Talbott with a home run in the top of the eighth setting the stage for the Clippers' rally in the ninth.

COMES HOME

Fischer made it to first on an error, stole second, went to third on a single by Neil Roberts and rode home on Hollomon's blow.

* * *

The hit was one of two for Hollomon who tripled home a pair of runs in the third inning.

Talbott scored single runs in the second, sixth and eighth. The Clippers collected their first marker in the second on an error and Bill Cabill's triple.

Jim Hroner went the distance to pick up the win. He fanned 13, including the first two he faced in the ninth.

Tonight, M. G. Collision takes on Talbott with the loser falling out of the playoffs and the winner moving on to face the loser of tomorrow's Teamsters-Clippers contest.

Smith's Blast Carries Bosox to 5-2 Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Reggie Smith's two-run homer capped a four-run first-inning outburst which carried the Boston Red Sox to a 5-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox Monday night.

Red Sox Mike Andrews opened the game with a single to left and Dalton Jones drew a walk off starter Paul Edmondson, 1-5. Carl Yastrzemski doubled home two runs and Smith followed with his 23rd homer of the season.

Father-Son Combo Wins Golf Crown

Mike Krueger, 12, and his dad, Bill, own the parent-child title at Paint Creek Country Club.

Along with that win, Mike finished second to Bob Offer, 11, in the junior tournament. Mike Montante, 12, was third.

Ben and Mark Tefend were second in the parent-child and Bill and Bob Offer third.

Duece of Ace

W. P. Sommer of Pontiac aced the No. 8 hole, a 166-yarder, at Arrowhead Friday while playing in the G.M. Truck & Coach League. It was the second ace for Sommer who bagged his first in 1966 at Bald Mountain. He carded a 40 for the round.

McCarver's HR Sinks Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (P) — Tim McCarver has clobbered Los Angeles Dodger pitching for a .333 batting average this season but the St. Louis Cardinal catcher feels prouder of a single home run.

McCarver slammed Claude Osteen's first offering to him in the fourth inning Monday night into the right field bullpen for a three-run homer and the Cards won 4-2.

The Dodgers made a run at the Cards in the late innings but fell short in the eighth as Andy Kosco sent center fielder Curt Flood to the wall. In the ninth, Jim Lefebvre hit into a freak double play.

Joe Hoerner gave starter Steve Carlton some ninth inning help to record his 14th save as Carlton posted his 14th victory against six losses.

The Dodgers send Bill Singer 14-7, to the mound tonight against Ray Washburn, 3-7.

RELIEF HELP

Leading 4-2 Monday, Carlton walked ninth inning leadoff batter Bill Sudakis, and Cardinal Manager Red Schnendienst called for help from Hoerner.

Hoerner came on to pitch to Lefebvre, who reached for the first pitch and lined it right back to Hoerner. The ball glanced off Hoerner's bare hand —right at shortstop Dal Maxvill, who stepped on second and completed the double play to first.

* * *

In the eighth inning, Dodger Maury Wills lined a pinch single to center and scored on Manny Mota's triple to deep center. Willie Davis brought home Mota with a single, bringing up Kosco. Flood caught his drive against the wall, under the 400-foot marker.

SMASHING SHOT — Britain's No. 1 ranked player Virginia Wade smashes a shot back at Nancy Richey in yesterday's opening singles round of the 41st Wightman Cup competition in Cleveland. Miss Wade defeated Miss Richey, the No. 1 U. S. player, but the U. S. has won the Cup, 5-2.

'Super Sub' Big Hitter for Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jimmy Stewart had another chance to start Monday night—and he wasn't going to let a bruised foot stop him.

Nicknamed "super sub" by Jim Merritt, Stewart proved to Manager Dave Bristol before Cincinnati's game with Philadelphia that he could play and he drove in the winning run in the eighth inning as the Reds beat Philadelphia 4-3.

* * *

Stewart, who had three hits in five trips to raise his average to .264, hit the foot with a batted ball during pre-game practice.

"I went in and had a half hour of whirlpool and then had it taped," he said. "It felt a lot better."

THREE GAMES

The victory boosted Cincinnati's first place lead to three games over idle Atlanta. It was the Reds' fifth straight and 13th in 15 games.

Merritt, 12-5, went 8⅓ innings before being relieved by Wayne Granger. Merritt scattered eight hits and struck out eight.

* * *

He gave up a two-run homer to Deron Johnson in the fourth and a run-scoring double to Cookie Rojas in the seventh. He had to hurl his way out of jams in the fifth and sixth innings with men in scoring position and less than two outs.

Astros Hold Hex on Mets

Rookie Pitches 3-0 Shutout for Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Rookie Tom Griffin and the Houston Astros continued their mastery of New York Monday night with a 3-0 victory, the Astros' seventh consecutive triumph over the Mets and Griffin's third.

Griffin, 8-5, was relieved after falling behind the leadoff hitter 3-0. Fred Gladding completed a five-hitter, getting J.C. Martin to bounce into a game-ending double play with runners on first and third.

* * *

Griffin, a hard-throwing right-hander, has held the Mets scoreless in 25 innings, allowing just 13 hits and striking out 28. He yielded four hits and fanned nine Monday night.

Houston has won eight of 10 games from New York, the only club to hold an edge over the Mets this season. The loss dropped the Mets into a virtual tie for second in the National League East. They lead St. Louis by two percentage points and both trail Chicago by 7½ games.

National Loop Crown Won by Congregation

One divisional champion was crowned last night and finals were reached in two other sections in Pontiac men's slowpitch playoffs.

Congregation wrapped up the Class A national loop title with a 7-0 victory over Timberlanes and will now move to a two-game knockout series with the Class A American which is still unsettled.

A three-run homer by Earl Richardson and a solo blow by Jack Courtney spurred the Congregation which was outhit, 10-7. Welch checked in with two hits. Chris Christopherson, Jim Fields and Dick Fitzgerald collected two hits each for Timberlanes.

* * *

In Class B, Reliable Transmission ousted Grubb's Kennels, 14-11, to move into the finals against Pontiac Press No. 2.

TOP HITTERS

Lum Edwards, Lloyd Clancy and Ross Wright rapped out three hits apiece and Gary Hayward contributed a solo homer to spark Reliable. Al Hess collected three hits for Grubb's. Reliable and the Press meet this evening at 7 at Beaudette Park.

* * *

In Class B National games, Bob & Ken's trimmed Duckey's, 15-12, and Peterson's Beauty Salon dumped Pontiac Piston, 12-6, to reach the final round. They meet this evening at 7 at Northside.

Terry Saling hammered a pair of three-run homers to put zip in Peterson's attack and teammate Zeeman checked in with four singles. Jerry Webster collected a double and two singles in a losing effort for Piston.

* * *

Bob & Ken's raked Duckey's for 23 hits and broke an 11-11 deadlock with four runs in the top of the eighth inning. Gale Macey's triple, doubles by Bob Ubul, Bill Richardson plus singles by John Nelinbock and Bob Lorenz triggered the rally in the eighth. Nelinbock, Richardson, Lorenz, Macey and Joe McMillen collected three hits apiece.

Ray Blankenship collected a homer, triple and double and drove in three runs for Duckey's.

Sagging Track Fortunes, Discontent Mar Junket

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. track and field team, weakened by illness and injuries and disgruntled over the structure of its sport, faced Britain today in a bid to revive its dropping reputation.

The Americans have not dominated their European tour as some experts predicted.

They lost against Europe at Stuttgart, and they did not have an easy time beating West Germany at Augsburg.

On the eve of the match against Britain, the Americans cabled President Nixon asking for a government investigation into the whole structure of track and field in the United States.

A delegation of seven spokesmen for the team told London newsmen they wanted college equipment made available to all athletes of national standing, and a new system for selecting coaches.

George Frenn, hammer thrower from North Hollywood, Calif., said: "The East Germans are killing us in the field events, and it is going to get worse."

* * *

Two stars missing from the American line-up against Britain are John Carlos, Olympic 200-meters bronze medalist, and Bob Beamon, broad jump star. Both cut short the tour and went home.

For the British, the meet is a prestige event and an important tune-up for the European Games scheduled for Athens next month.

Despite the weakening of the American team, few experts throught the British would win.

Britain's greatest current star, 110-meters hurdler David Hemery, is out of the meet because of a hamstring injury.

Mass of Coed-Slaying Tips, Data Sifted at Crime Center

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A round-faced, congenial sheriff's deputy rises from his metal folding chair beneath a locust tree and stops a car at the gate in the chest-high wire fence. The driver is the sheriff.

The deputy dabs at his clipboard and waves the sheriff on.

The deputy returns to his seat near a large wooden arch surmounted by a tall cross. The scene is a one-time Roman Catholic seminary on the main road between the twin college towns of Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor. It is now the Washtenaw County Crime Center.

* * *

Inside, a team of detectives, other crime experts, clerks and secretaries are wading through a mass of tips, possible pieces of evidence, statements.

* * *

Their job is to find and convict the killer or killers of seven young women.

The search so far has led to the arrest of a handsome young college student on a first-degree murder charge.

'CAN HURT CASE'

He is John Collins, 22, and the county prosecutor says he committed the seventh in the series of sex killings. Beyond that, Prosecutor William Delhey does not go, declaring:

"The linking of Collins to the other slayings can seriously prejudice our case."

At the Crime Center, information is supposed to be released only through one official source.

AP Wirephoto

Former Seminary Houses Murder Investigation Center

But there have been numerous disclosures to newsmen from police involved in the investigation. Attribution is usually to "police sources," or a "high police official."

ACCUSED IN SLAYING

An Eastern Michigan student, Collins was arrested a few days after establishment of the crime center and was accused of strangling Karen Sue Beineman, 18, a Grand Rapids girl who began classes at the Ypsilanti school four weeks before her death. She had wanted to teach children with special problems.

The arrest of Collins inspired a torrent of tips which detectives are methodically running down.

The announcement that a friend of Collins, Andrew J. Manuel Jr., 25, was sought and later arrested on a theft charge brought another barrage of information.

Police say they want to question Manuel, now jailed in Ann Arbor, to see if he has any knowledge which might aid in the investigation of the killings.

Six young women in addition to Miss Beineman have been slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area since July 1967. The killings differed in some respects, and had some similarities.

Two victims were shot, two were stabbed, one died of a massive skull fracture and another—like Miss Beineman—was strangled.

As many as 60 persons have been working at the former Holy Ghost Mission Seminary, including 25 full-time detectives and about an equal number assigned to the center when required.

Clerks at the center file and cross-file the mounds of tips and information.

The head man is Capt. Dan Myre, chief of detectives for the Michigan State Police. He is big, stern and virtually unavailable to newsmen who have been swarming in and around the two college communities since the discovery of Miss Beineman's body July 26.

Myre stresses that nearly $50,000 in reward money has been posted as an incentive for providing solid tips.

"We have a central filing system that is just coming into its own," Myre said.

Literally thousands of pieces of information are coming in here. We had a great backlog and we had to take steps to organize this."

* * *

"We can make a cross-check of these files and this will keep us from duplicating work that might have been done 10 or 15 days ago. So it's saving us footsteps and time, and of course, time is money," Myre said.

A property room in the compound is the repository of hundreds of bits of clothing, a number of guns and other physical evidence found by investigators or turned in by the public.

* * *

Most work at the crime center takes place from 8 a.m. until midnight. An overnight crew maintains a telephone watch so information can be received at any time.

Working with Myre at the top of the investigative force is Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey, Chief Walter Krasny of the Ann Arbor police, Chief Ray Walton of the Ypsilanti police and Chief John Hayes of the Eastern Michigan University police.

QUIET TYPES

Krasny, Walton and Hayes are quiet types, accustomed to the university environments, who could pass for college professors themselves.

Harvey, on the other hand, is a controversial figure in the Ann Arbor home of the University of Michigan.

* * *

He has the raspy voice and short haircut of a Marine top sergeant, carries a small automatic pistol in a belt holster and frequently drives his private auto, rather than a marked county car.

He was criticized for leading his deputies in breaking up a recent youth demonstration on the Michigan campus.

FIRST ON SCENE

Harvey was the first officer on the scene when the body of Miss Beineman was found. He immediately called Delhey, who ordered the body replaced with a department store mannequin on the theory that the killer might return.

A man appeared several hours later, at night but escaped in darkness and heavy rain. Police apparently never learned his identity.

* * *

Delhey, who headed the investigation until Myre took over, lately has been concentrating on preparation of his case against Collins. He is a handsome man with silver white hair and an authoritative manner. Defense attorneys in the county respect his skill in the courtroom.

All tips and leads received at the crime center—no matter how far-fetched—are vigorously pursued, an official said.

One such tip—that a body had been found—led to the discovery of a dead dog.

WIG TIP

A few days earlier there was a tip that a missing wig belonging to Miss Beineman had been found in a ditch near Ann Arbor. A score of detectives converged on the site, but later learned the wig was not the one purchased by Miss Beineman on the last day she was seen alive.

Bits of clothing at first believed to belong to Miss Beineman have also been discovered in the rural area surrounding the cities. But authorities repeated again this week that the garments she was believed to have been wearing—brown shorts and a white and blue blouse—have not been found.

Milliken OKs Decentralization

Detroit School Bill Is Signed

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. William G. Milliken has signed into law a bill to partly decentralize the sprawling 300,000-student Detroit Public School System.

* * *

The bill was among a number of others the Republican governor signed into law yesterday.

* * *

It divides the Detroit Public School System into not less than seven or more than 11 regional school districts made up of from 25,000 to 50,000 students. The dividing of the city into districts will be done by the existing board.

* * *

Under the bill, each local district will elect its own nine-member board in 1970, along with a representative to the central board, which will then have 14 to 18 members. Terms will be four years.

Regional districts will have the power to hire or fire superintendents and teachers, determine curriculum, set down rights of retirement and tenure and determine the budget for the district.

The central board will retain control over the payroll, contract negotiations, property management and special education programs.

* * *

"This legislation will not provide answers to all of the problems faced by the Detroit Public Schools," said the governor in a statement issued after the signing.

"I believe however that the bill is flexible enough that a creative balance can be developed between direction from the central board and the community interests of the regional boards," he said.

COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

"Most important," Milliken said, "the main purpose of this bill is to develop more constructive community involvement in the Detroit schools and to help create an environment in which parents will take a greater interest in their children's work."

Among a host of other bills signed into law by the governor was a measure to allow minors to be treated for venereal disease without the consent or knowledge of their parents.

* * *

The bill also allows persons aged 18 or older to give blood in any voluntary program without parental consent.

Also signed was a bill designed to provide a tax break for two financially ailing breweries in the state and four others located outside the state.

BOSCH, GEYER

The two Michigan breweries who will be helped are Bosch of Houghton and Geyer Brothers of Frankenmuth, who will share in a total $33,900 tax break. The bill allows companies who sell no more than 35,000 barrels of beer to collect a return of $2 per barrel of the beer tax on the total barrels sold between a total of 10,000 and 25,000.

Another bill signed was introduced and passed in the Legislature to allow the mayor of Niles, Frank Fucci, to have a liquor license for his restaurant. Prior to its signing, Michigan law classified a mayor as a law-enforcement officer with-in the meaing of the Liquor Control Act. Law-enforcement officers may not own a liquor license.

* * *

Another bill signed makes breaking and entering a telephone booth coin box a felony.

Priest Trades Fire With Burglar; Glad He Missed

NORCO, Calif. (AP) — A priest wielding a rusty revolver traded gunfire with a burglar and was glad he missed.

The Rev. Robert Erickson, 37, was wounded in the leg in an exchange of gunfire when a man entered his home Monday near St. Mel's Roman Catholic Church.

The burglar escaped, police said.

* * *

The priest said, "I thank God I didn't hit him. I'm not a marksman. I never intended to use the gun.'

Little Buying Interest

Mart Continues Drift Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Trading was fairly quiet early this afternoon as the stock market continued to drift lower with little buying interest reported.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.16 at 815.67.

* * *

Declines led advances by about 270 issues.

Some analysts said that while there was a lack of buying interest, there also was little selling pressure, and the "market apparently is drifting." They said the market might dip back to a test of the 800 level on the DJI in order to "establish the soundness of that area as a base."

REMAIN OUT OF ACTION

Investors, some of whom apparently took to the sidelines Monday in reaction to devaluation of the French franc, were staying out of the action again, reportedly waiting to see what, if any, effect the French action will have on other currencies.

"There just doesn't seem to be any great reason for anyone to get back in and buy," an analyst noted.

* * *

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 1.2 at 289.8, with industrials off 1.6, rails off .7, and utilities off .8.

* * *

Vernitron, in which a 42,000-share block was traded, was the most-active issue on the American Stock Exchange, off ½ at 21½.

Ford Recalls 110,000 '69 Cars, Trucks

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Company announced Monday it was recalling 110,000 1969 model cars and trucks to replace brake fluid which it said could cause a possible malfunctioning.

The recall applies to 69,400 standard - sized Ford cars, 36,800 Mavericks, and 3,800 light trucks built since mid - April.

* * *

The automaker said it was notified by a supplier that a quantity of brake fluid shipped to four assembly plants was improperly composed.

Laboratory tests indicate, Ford said, that over an extended time the fluid could result in corrosion of certain brake - system components.

* * *

The company said that although brake - system reliability will not have been adversely affected in the short time the fluid has been in these vehicles, replacement is required to avoid possible malfunctioning.

Sylvan Lake to Air Proposals for Laws

Several proposed ordinances, including the regulation of magazine salesmen and burning of trash, are expected to be discussed by the Sylvan Lake Council at its regular meeting tomorrow.

The council has reportedly been studying the proposals and could take formal action on some of them, according to City Manager Leroy Trafton.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. at City Hall, 1820 Inverness.

Make it handy for yourself by fastening a hand lotion dispenser to the wall just above baby's bathinet and fill it with baby oil.

Cause No. 24939

STATE OF MICHIGAN—In the Probate Court for the County of Oakland, Juvenile Division.

In the matter of the petition concerning Wendell Lee and Tamalie Sue Stelzer, minors.

TO: Eugene Dennis Stelzer, father of said minor children.

Petition having been filed in this Court alleging that said children come within the provisions of Chapter 712A of the Compiled Laws of 1948 as amended, in that the present whereabouts of the father of said minor children is unknown, and said children are dependent upon the public for support, and for other relief as prayed for in said petition under the jurisdiction of this Court,

It is Ordered in the name of the People of the State of Michigan, you are hereby notified that the said petition will be heard on the 26th day of August, A.D. 1969, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court House in Oakland County Juvenile Service Center, in the City of Pontiac, in said County, on the 22nd day of August A.D. 1969, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, at which time you are hereby commanded to appear personally at said hearing, at which time temporary or permanent exercise of all parental rights will be considered.

If being impractical to make personal service hereof, this summons and notice shall be served by publication of a copy one week previous to said hearing in The Pontiac Press, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

Witness, the Honorable Eugene Arthur Moore, Judge of said Court, in the City of Pontiac in said County, this 7th day of August A.D. 1969.

EUGENE ARTHUR MOORE,
Judge of Probate
MARJORIE SMITH,
Deputy Probate Register
Juvenile Division

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO THANK the neighbors, friends and the Waterford Police Department for their many expressions of kindness during our bereavement. Mr. Ernest Huston and children.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF Cass Stresino who passed away 1-year today.
It broke our hearts to lose you
But you did not go alone.
A part of us went with you,
the day God called you home.
God gave us strength and courage to bear the blow.
But what it meant to lose you,
He will only know.
Sadly missed by wife, children and sister.

IN LOVING MEMORY of my dear wife, Eva Schroder who passed away August 12, 1965.
I seem to see in the soft dim
Light of the setting sun,
A face I love the best.
Your heart was the truest in all the land,
Your love the best to recall.
For no one on earth can take your place,
You will always be my sweetheart.
Your sad and lonely husband, L. Schroder.

JUST PICTURE
The scene some 85 years ago as huge draft horses lumbered down Clarkston's main street with steel rims pulling a load of heavy timers for the new house on Orbon Rd. Town folk undoubtedly chatted as they met in the village around the beautiful view of Parke Lk. which the owner would enjoy, and the fruit trees and large shade trees, which would some day grow from the seedlings shown in the yard. The home is still there in a beautiful setting of 1½ acres of large on Parke Lake, just waiting for a new owner to move in, enjoy and impart their own personal touches to its historical charm. There are 3 bedrooms, large kitchen, separate dining room and a 1½ car garage. There's ample room to add a large family room, should you so desire. Appointments to personally inspect this home are now being taken, offered at $27,900 with mortgage terms.

3 State GIs Killed in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Michigan men were among the 32 servicemen listed by the Defense Department Monday as killed in Vietnam.

They were:

Army S. Sgt. Michael D. Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester G. Kelly of Big Rapids.

Army Pfc. Danny L. Barron, husband of Mrs. Sherry L. Barron of Taylor.

Army Pfc. Richard K. Lewis, husband of Mrs. Patricia L. Lewis of Gladstone.

Bridge Hearing

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department will hold a public hearing Sept. 10 at Oscoda to discuss plans for construction of a new bridge to carry U.S. 23 over the AuSable River at Oscoda. The bridge is to replace a 37-year-old span, one of 16 older bridges on state highways slated for replacement by 1974.

Child Is Killed

SENEY (AP) — Debbie Kay Musselman, 17 months, was killed Monday when she was run over by the right rear wheel of her father's logging truck. Authorities said her father, Mickel, 25, was backing the truck out of his driveway and failed to see the infant.

Girl, 5, in Car Mishap Revived by Policeman

BOSTON (AP) — "She was limp and I thought her neck was broken, but I thought I'd give it a shot anyway, and after a while she gurgled."

In those words Patrolman Thomas F. Stack described how mouth-to-mouth resuscitation yesterday revived 5-year-old Gina Wilson.

* * *

Police said Gina, foster daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Hurst, had tried to jump out of the family auto when it started rolling down the driveway but the door struck a fence, and the girl's neck was caught between the floor and bottom of the door.

Stack and his cruiser partner, Patrolman William Lydon, enlisted some 15 neighbors to help them free the girl.

* * *

Doctors at Carney Hospital said the girl suffered head and neck injuries. Her condition was described as critical.

SMOKING OUT SMOKERS—Peggy Talman, widow of television actor William Talmon, is shown during an interview in Los Angeles on her active campaign against smoking. Her late husband, who played the perennially losing attorney in "Perry Mason," died of lung cancer in August 1968. The tragic event spurred Mrs. Talman to take up her antismoking activities.

Refuses to Prosecute Himself

His Lot Is Tough One

HYPOLUXO, Fla. (AP) — Mayor James M. Brown Jr. is suing himself, but he's darned if he's going to serve himself with a subpoena and then try himself in court.

Sound kind of complicated? It is.

In addition to being mayor and a member of the Town Council, Brown is police chief and judge in this hamlet of 200.

* * *

He and his nephew, Chris Robinson, jointly own a piece of property near the Intercoastal Waterway. Robinson recently opened a boat sales lot on the acreage.

VIOLATION CHARGED

The Town Council charged Robinson with a violation of its zoning ordinance which requires sales operations to be housed under a roof.

As mayor, Brown ordered his nephew either to comply with the act within 30 days or remove the boats.

Robinson did neither.

The Town Council, including Brown, then voted unanimously to go to court for an injunction to close the boat lot. As president of the two-man corporation owning the land, Brown was named defendant.

CALLED A HALT

As police chief it seemed up to him to serve himself with the court papers. And then, as judge . . .

At this point Brown called a halt in the train of events.

He turned the whole problem over to the Palm Beach Circuit Court.

* * *

"I'm entirely innocent, but I'm caught in the middle of this mess," the mayor said in a press statement.

"I want it fully understood I don't condone any violation of our town zoning laws. I want our laws strictly enforced."

U.S. Officer Held in Killing of Mistress

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — A 38-year-old lieutenant colonel is being held in a U.S. Army stockade in connection with the fatal shooting of his mistress, a young Thai woman.

A spokesman for the U.S. European Command identified him as Lt. Col. Dennis C. Day, a native of Detroit, who arrived here in March 1968 after serving in Thailand.

* * *

The victim was identified as Bungong Simhuatkin, 23, of Bangkok.

No charges have been preferred pending further investigation by U.S. and German authorities and a determination of jurisdiction.

The Stuttgart district attorney's office said Miss Simhuatkin was shot once in the chest with a 9mm pistol and police were summoned to Day's apartment by a friend whom Day had called following the shooting last Thursday.

The office said Miss Simhuatkin came here a year ago and had been living in Day's apartment.

"We do not know how the shooting occurred. Day can tell us what happened and he has told us nothing," a German official said.

Day's family, including three children, lives in the United States, a European Command spokesman said.

A Look at TV

Women in Prime Gains

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Television is a man's game, as a quick look at the three network entertainment schedule will prove. After all, in a medium well stocked with action and adventure, it is logical that the incidence of male stars is greater than that of women.

MISS LOWRY

But the distaff side is registering some prime-time gains. Top-drawer TV stardom consists of naming a show after the performer. Next season there will be 16 shows with such tags, and six will star women. Lucille Ball, Carol Burnett and Doris Day return in their series, their ranks swelled by Debbie Reynolds, Leslie Uggams and the Lennon Sisters, with new shows.

Action shows like "Ironside," and "Mannix" inject a feminine balance by casting pretty girls as assistants or Girl Fridays, but Peggy Lipton of "Mod Squad" shares top billing with the two young male leads. There would not be much show left if the Barbara Eden part of "I Dream of Jeannie" were removed. Barbara Feldon is essential to "Get Smart," and Eva Gabor's gentle comedy gives "Green Acres" its spice.

Undisputed stars of their series are Diahann Carroll of "Julia," Marlo Thomas of "That Girl," Elizabeth Montgomery of "Bewitched," Sally Field of "The Flying Nun." And it appears that Lana Turner will be the dominating figure in "The Survivors," a new dramatic series.

1 LOST, MANY GAINED

When situation comedy is popular, women's roles become more important. Hope Lang is a vital ingredient in "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," and now along comes "The Governor and J.J." —J.J. being the governor's daughter played by Julie Sommars. In "The Brady Bunch," Florence Henderson plays the mother of a large family headed by Robert Reed.

* * *

The ladies seem to have slipped only in one show—"Mission: Impossible." Regular Barbara Bains quit the show, and instead of casting another girl in a running part, viewers will be seeing an assortment of pretty faces, ranging from Dina Merrill to Lee Ann Meriwether, a former Miss America.

On NBC Sept. 29 four more new daytime programs will bump four old ones. "Sale of the Century," a game show hosted by Jack Kelly, takes over the spot held by "Personality." "Name Droppers," a game show, will take Bill Cullen's "Eye Guess" time period.

* * *

A soap opera, "Bright Promise," starring Dana Andrews will be agonizing where six-year-old "You Don't Say" is on its last legs, and a spin-off which uses jokes sent in by viewers and called "Letters to Laugh-In" with Gar Owens, replaces the venerable "Match Game."

* * *

CBS and Art Linkletter finally part company when, on Sept. 8, reruns of "Gomer Pyle" replace the long-playing "House Party."

Parents Have to Pay After Sons in Killing

DETROIT (UPI) — A seldom used law has provided the basis to make the parents of two teen-age youths liable for their sons' actions in the slaying of a disabled war veteran.

Common Pleas Court Judge John P. O'Brien yesterday rendered $1,500 verdicts against Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Holman and Mrs. Bernice Johnson.

* * *

Their sons, Daniel Holman Jr. and Carlos Livingston, 16, allegedly stabbed to death Thomas Banks, 35, on Dec. 7.

* * *

Banks, a wounded veteran of the Korean war, was carrying groceries home from a store when he was attacked by youths and stabbed at least five times through the heart and head.

* * *

His mother then brought civil action against the Holmans and Mrs. Johnson.

Judge O'Brien, noting a "liability for malicious acts of minors" law, approved her suit. The law allows victims to sue parents or guardians of minors who are guilty of malicious and wrongful acts up to $1,500.

Fig Bars Make Life Bearable

GRANDFATHER MOUNTAIN, N.C. (AP) — Mildred the bear, who disappeared last week after someone broke the lock on her cage at Grandfather Mountain, a tourist attraction in western North Carolina, came walking home Monday.

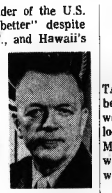
* * *

Hugh Morton, owner of the mountain and its mile-high swinging bridge, had offered a $250 reward for return of the tame bear, but it cost him only 43 cents for the box of fig bars he gave Mildred.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr., commander of the U.S. Marine Corps, says morale "couldn't be better" despite recent racial brawls at Camp Lejeune, N.C., and Hawaii's Kaneohe Marine Air Station.



CHAPMAN

Chapman arrived yesterday in Honolulu en route home from a weeklong tour of Vietnam and Okinawa.

He reached here a day after a fray involving 250 Negro and white Marines at Kaneohe left 16 injured.

Fighting broke out when 50 Negro Marines gave a clenched-fist salute as the base flag was lowered Sunday night.

In a racial outbreak July 20 at Camp Lejeune a white Marine was fatally stabbed.

"There was no direct connection between the commotions," Chapman said, "and the commanders brought them under proper control."

Harriman Charges Officials With Scare Tactics

W. Averell Harriman, veteran U.S. diplomat, says some members of the Defense Department and Congress are trying "to scare the American people into believing that the Soviets are scheming to attack us with nuclear weapons."

HARRIMAN

In an article in Look magazine, the former chief U.S. negotiator at the Paris peace talks declared the Pentagon is "asking for new weapons that, in my judgment, are clearly less important than other national needs."

Harriman, once ambassador to Moscow, said he was "convinced that the Soviets are as anxious to avoid destruction of their country by nuclear war as we are."

Moscow Views Peaceful Coexistence as a Maneuver

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Moscow wants to avoid a major war. But Moscow also wants to avoid the sort of peace which might interfere with its world goals.

* * *

This has been made clear by the official voice of the Kremlin in restating a principle as old as Soviet power. It illuminated the broad gulf between Soviet and Western interpretations of "peaceful coexistence."

* * *

Moscow's foreign policy statements suggest it wants an accommodation with the United States. Its Communist policy statements, as laid down by Pravda, make it clear that the Kremlin views "peaceful coexistence" as nothing more than the avoidance of a big-power shooting conflict.

Other wars — the shooting "wars of liberation" which Moscow vows to support indefinitely and the "class war" of ideologies — must go on until, Pravda suggests, the world is free of any political system such as exists in the United States today.

News Analysis

A MANEUVER

In brief, Pravda is cautioning Communists that "peaceful coexistence" now, as in the past, is a maneuver to permit the movement to pursue its goals in relative safety.

The word was handed down on the eve of President Nixon's arrival in Communist Romania and thus has some added significance.

* * *

In Bucharest, President Nixon declared: "Nations can have widely different internal orders and live in peace." Romania's President Nicolae Ceausescu told him relations should be "on the basis of the principles of peaceful coexistence."

Moscow reserves the right to define "peaceful coexistence." Pointedly, it deplored those "revisionist elements in the Communist movement" who suggest that the war between the two systems might be diminished.

The passion with which Pravda reasserted the doctrine suggests that the Soviet party would regard too much peace as a disaster for international communism, that it fears the impact of a period of peace not only on the movement but on the Soviet bloc and inside the Soviet Union itself. It complains that the West, in speaking of peace, is trying to "erode" and undermine "the Socialist community."

The Pravda article, entitled "Lenin on the Irreconcilability of Socialist and Bourgeois Ideologies," occupied the bottom halves of two Pravda pages, the most important position for ideological subjects.

* * *

The key passage was this:

"The ideology of the contemporary bourgeoisie attempts to impose on Communists the idea of peaceful coexistence of ideologies.

"However, the Communists, relying on known positions of Lenin, proceed from the fact that peaceful coexistence does not mean conciliation or the fading away of the ideological struggle. The struggle between two ideologies, Socialist and bourgeois, was, is and will be irreconcilable. While there exists classes and class struggle, the working class cannot turn away from its own views, aims or from class ideology."

"Working class" in this context, means Communist parties.

"Peaceful coexistence," the article continued, "does not reject or turn off the class struggle, but is a new form of class struggle of the working class and Socialist countries in the world arena. It rejects only one aspect of the struggle — war as a means of resolving international problems. Experience shows that the class ideological struggle of the proletariat in condition of peaceful coexistence brings greater successes."

* * *

In these "successes," Pravda includes those of "wars of liberation" that must be supported. But, it suggests, the threat of major war must be diminished so that the world revolution can proceed.

"In conditions of peaceful coexistence of two systems," it says, "the revolutionary energies of the working class and its allies are not paralyzed but, on the contrary, grow steadily."

* * *

Throughout the history of Soviet power, the Kremlin has used "peaceful coexistence" as a maneuver in times of stress. Lenin used it in 1920, when the regime faced the awesome task of bringing order to a nation staggered by enormous losses in World War I and the Russian civil war. Stalin used the device before and after World War II. Nikita S. Khrushchev used it with the same reservations.

Today, Moscow worries about China and the possibility of conflict there. It appears to seek a measure of security in the West. Thus, the maneuver comes into play once again.

Evidently, however, too much peace can be worrisome. Thus there is stress on the necessity for implacable "class war."

As Pravda explains it, to international communism, Western schemers are relying on erosion of the "Socialist system" and are hoping that the system will be softened and evolve into something else.

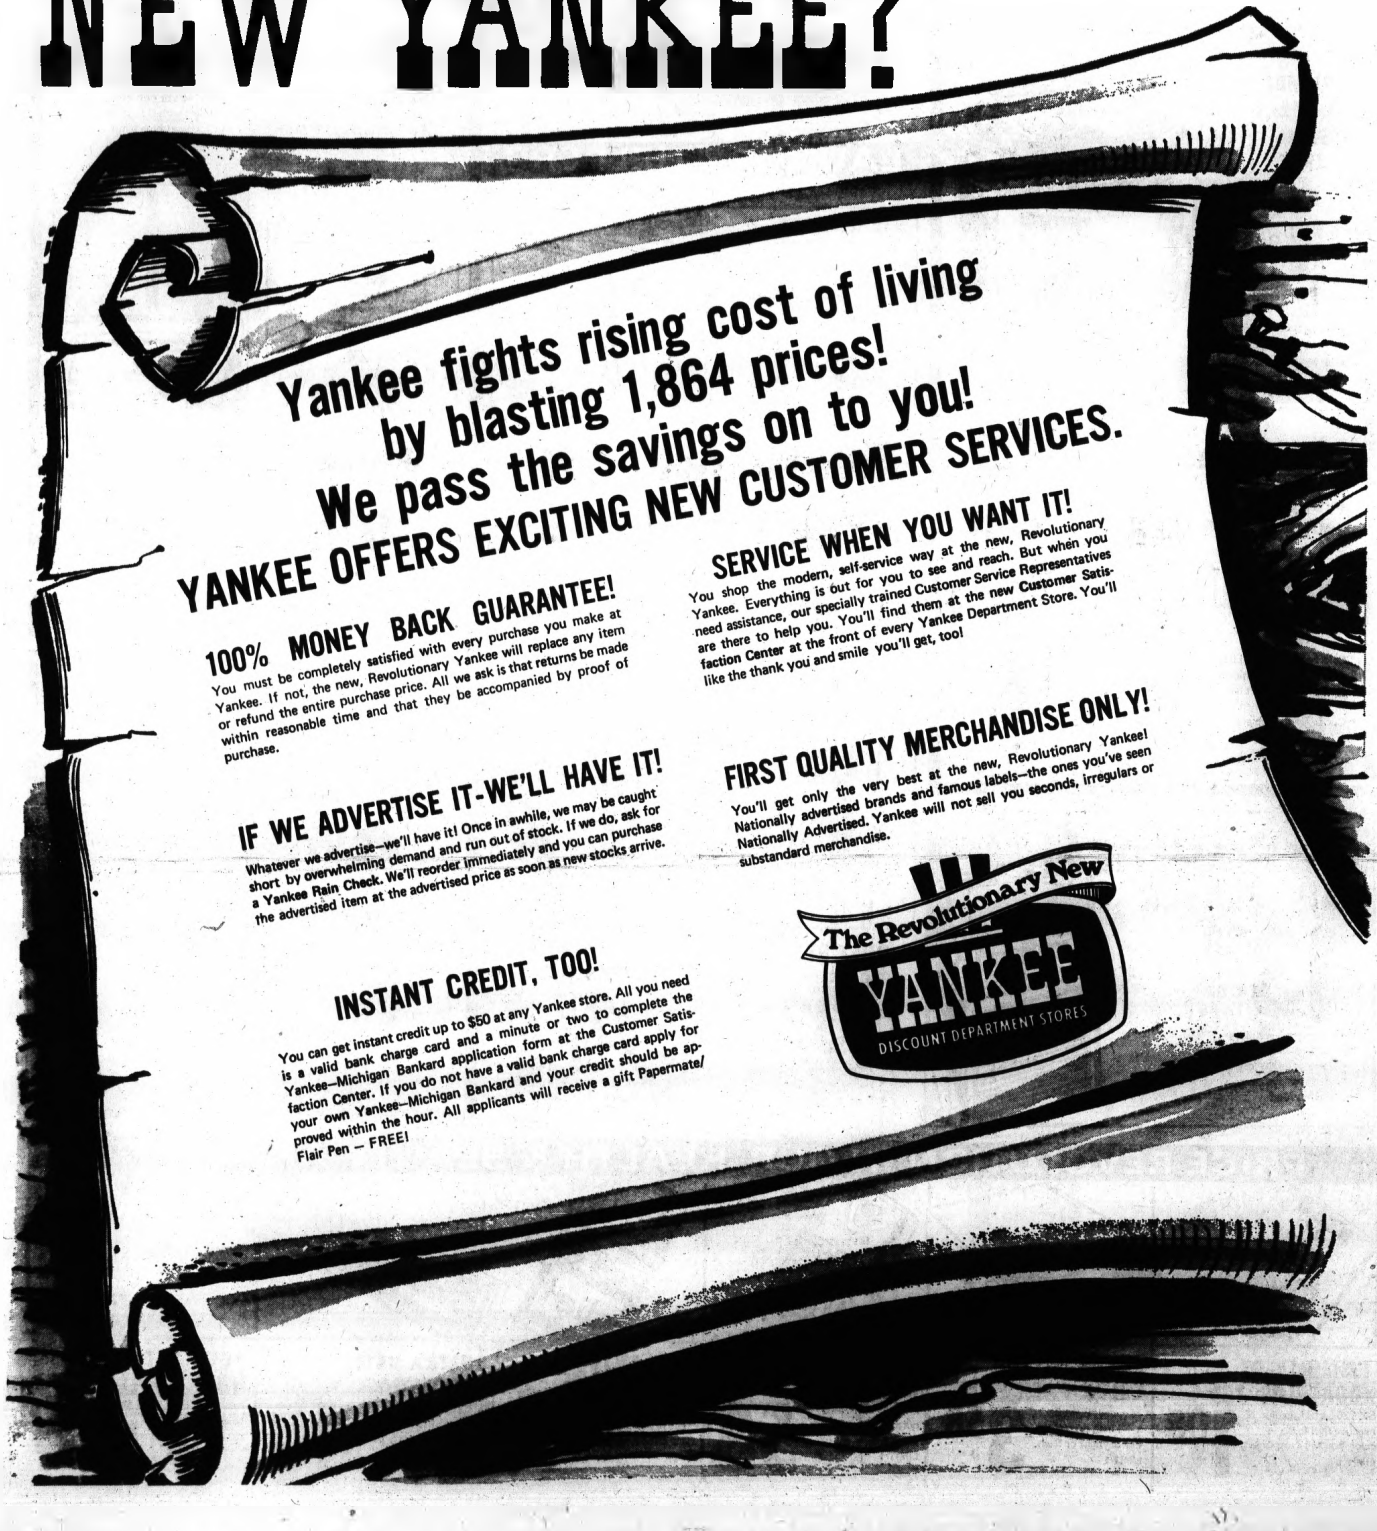
WHAT'S SO REVOLUTIONARY ABOUT THE EXCITING NEW YANKEE?



Yankee fights rising cost of living by blasting 1,864 prices! We pass the savings on to you!

YANKEE OFFERS EXCITING NEW CUSTOMER SERVICES.

100% MONEY BACK GUARANTEE!

You must be completely satisfied with every purchase you make at Yankee. If not, the new, Revolutionary Yankee will replace any item or refund the entire purchase price. All we ask is that returns be made within reasonable time and that they be accompanied by proof of purchase.

SERVICE WHEN YOU WANT IT!

You shop the modern, self-service way at the new, Revolutionary Yankee. Everything is out for you to see and reach. But when you need assistance, our specially trained Customer Service Representatives are there to help you. You'll find them at the new Customer Satisfaction Center at the front of every Yankee Department Store. You'll like the thank you and smile you'll get, too!

IF WE ADVERTISE IT-WE'LL HAVE IT!

Whatever we advertise—we'll have it! Once in awhile, we may be caught short by overwhelming demand and run out of stock. If we do, ask for a Yankee Rain Check. We'll reorder immediately and you can purchase the advertised item at the advertised price as soon as new stocks arrive.

FIRST QUALITY MERCHANDISE ONLY!

You'll get only the very best at the new, Revolutionary Yankee! Nationally advertised brands and famous labels—the ones you've seen Nationally Advertised. Yankee will not sell you seconds, irregulars or substandard merchandise.

INSTANT CREDIT, TOO!

You can get instant credit up to $50 at any Yankee store. All you need is a valid bank charge card and a minute or two to complete the Yankee—Michigan Bankard application form at the Customer Satisfaction Center. If you do not have a valid bank charge card apply for your own Yankee—Michigan Bankard and your credit should be approved within the hour. All applicants will receive a gift Papermate/ Flair Pen — FREE!

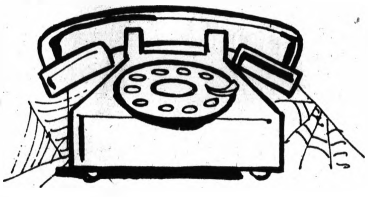
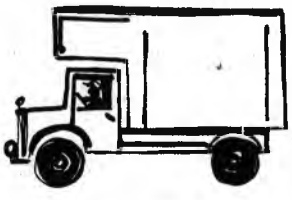
HERE'S HOW YOU SAVE MORE AT YANKEE!

Yankee gives you rock bottom prices by cutting out these extras



No telephone order expense

Yankee customers like the modern way of relaxed, self-service department store shopping. They're not the sit-at-home type of shopper. So Yankee doesn't have expensive telephone ordering systems. WE PASS THE SAVINGS ON TO YOU!



No truck delivery cost

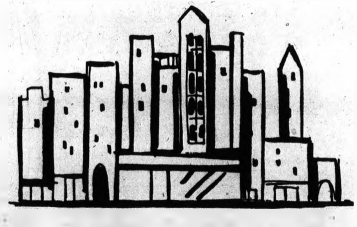
Yankee customers like to take their purchases with them — so why pay for a costly delivery system? Yankee saves by not maintaining a fleet of delivery trucks. WE PASS THE SAVINGS ON TO YOU!

No expensive displays

Yankee displays merchandise along wide aisles, where it can be easily seen and easily reached. No expensive window displays, flower shows or sales festivals to add to cost of your purchases. WE PASS THE SAVINGS ON TO YOU!

No costly credit operation

Yankee customers can charge it too, but they don't pay the overhead expenses of a costly credit department. Yankee uses Michigan Bankard—Michigan's largest bank card service. Apply for your Michigan Bankard at our Customer Satisfaction Center. WE PASS THE SAVINGS ON TO YOU!



No high rent locations

Yankee locates its stores outside of the high rent downtown areas to save you money. Our stores are out in the residential areas, easy to reach, easy to shop and where it's easy to park. WE PASS THE SAVINGS ON TO YOU!

FARMER JACK'S

YANKEE DISCOUNT DEPARTMENT STORES

THE REVOLUTIONARY

LOCATED CONVENIENTLY AT

1131 N. PERRY ST. IN PONTIAC

THESE FARMER JACK SUPERMARKETS JOIN IN ON THIS GIGANTIC CELEBRATION!

Take a good look at us. Two discount stores: Farmer Jack's Discount Food Stores and Yankee Discount Department Stores, both dedicated to the task of making your money buy more. We've got a lot in common! The things you've liked about Farmer Jack's, you'll find at the Revolutionary New Yankee, too.

A tough discounting policy. The Revolutionary New Yankee has blasted 1,864 prices, to show you they mean to offer the lowest prices in town. Prices that let you buy more for less. Everyday low prices, like you find at Farmer Jack's...that save you more all year 'round. So shop Farmer Jack's, and our thrifty neighbor Yankee. Together we'll bridge the budget gap for you.

The Rain Check. When Farmer Jack and Yankee invite you to buy something at an advertised price... that invitation stays open, no matter what. If we should ever run out of an advertised item...ask for a Rain Check! We'll special order that item for you immediately, so you can have it at the low advertised prices.

A smile and a "Thank you!" with every purchase. The Revolutionary New Yankee promises a smile and a "Thank you!" You'll always know the Revolutionary Yankees want you to come back again soon! And at Farmer Jack's, we've even gone so far as to promise you your purchase free, if your cashier should ever forget to thank you.

Farmer Jack's and the Revolutionary New Yankee...a band of two, determined to offer exceptional discount values everyday, and serve you with satisfaction all year long.

Astronauts Report No Problems Operating on Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. reported today that working on the moon was easier than anticipated. They regretted not having more time to spend on the surface.

"I had no difficulty climbing down the ladder to the surface," said Armstrong, the first man to set foot on the moon July 20. "We had no problem operating."

* * *

Aldrin, who followed Armstrong by 20 minutes, said:

"We found out mobility on the surface better than we had anticipated. We found that a standard loping technique, one foot in front of another, was the best way to get around."

'HAD TO ANTICIPATE'

"Kangaroo fashion, two feet at a time, also worked, but not as easily," he said. "We found we had to anticipate two to three steps ahead on the moon, compared with one or two steps on earth."

Armstrong, Aldrin and Michael Collins, who orbited the moon while his companions explored below, told the story of their historic flight at a news conference today. They had been released Sunday from three weeks' quarantine when doctors determined they had contacted no lunar germs.

* * *

They accompanied a narration of the flight with color motion pictures and slides, most of which had been released earlier.

The pictures showed the landing on the moon, with the descent engine kicking up dust.

"This caused some concern because it degraded our visibility and ability to detect altitude," Armstrong said.

Other shots showed Armstrong's first step on the moon, beautiful views of a stark, boulder-strewn lunar landscape, the collection of rock samples, deployment of scientific instruments and planting of the American flag.

* * *

"It was one of my proudest moments to help plant the flag and to stand back and give it a quick salute," Aldrin told the newsmen.

As the lunar lander called Eagle took off from the moon, pictures showed the landscape receding in the distance, with craters shrinking as Armstrong and Aldrin headed for their rendezvous with Collins after nearly 22 hours on the noon.

DEPARTURE SMOOTH

"The departure was very smooth," said Armstrong. "We were real glad to have that engine light up."

* * *

"The primary difficulty on the moon," Armstrong said, "was there was too little time to do the things we wanted to do. We would have liked to have gathered samples of lunar bedrock. And there were some nearby craters we would have liked to explore."

* * *

"We had the problems of a 5-year-old boy in a candy store," he said. "There were just too many things to do."

* * *

Showing pictures of the earth on the quarter-million-mile journey home, Armstrong commented: "We certainly hated to leave the moon, but it was sure good to see the earth."

SLAYING SUSPECT RELEASED — William Garretson (right), held as a suspect since Saturday in the slayings of actress Sharon Tate and four others, leaves the Los Angeles police building yesterday with his attorney, Barry Tarlow, who said Garretson was released for lack of evidence connecting him with the crime. Garretson, a caretaker at the home Miss Tate shared with her husband, Roman Polanski, claimed he was asleep in a guest house apartment when the slayings occurred. (Story, page A-2.)

$1.1 Million in Site Loans

GM Backing Harambee

By DIANNE DUROCHER

The Pontiac-based facilities of General Motors Corp. are providing interest-free loans to Harambee Inc., officials of the city black development firm announced today.

The loans, to total $1.1 million, will assist Harambee in buying sites for new homes in Pontiac.

* * *

At a press conference at Bethune Elementary School, attended by state and local government officials and community leaders, Harambee President Charles M. Tucker Jr. said the GM loans already have enabled Harambee to purchase several vacant land parcels in Pontiac's southwest section.

Development of the various sites purchased by Harambee is expected to provide some 500 new housing units.

WORK TO BEGIN

Construction is set to begin shortly on three vacant sites, including three acres at Bagley and Diston; four acres at Bagley and Wessen and three acres at Lake and Orton, Tucker said.

Multiple-dwelling units, including town house-type condominiums with from two to four bedrooms, are planned for all three locations.

* * *

In addition, Harambee has acquired a 12-acre site near the Lakeside Homes complex on Branch near Gillespie and another 12 acres at the end of Lake Street, adjacent to the Bethune Elementary School.

F. James McDonald, a GM vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division and chairman of GM's plant-city committee said, "The pledge by GM operations in Pontiac offers major assistance in the over-all financing of private housing in this area."

PLAN EXPLAINED

He explained that as completed housing units are sold, the loans for the land will be repaid.

"Acquisition of land at reasonable prices is a major economic factor in development of decent housing for many people," he said.

McDonald, who attended the press conference with Martin J. Caserio, a GM vice president and general manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division, and John F. Dudas, manager of the Fisher Body plant, said:

"The success of Harambee's program will depend on the entire community pulling together. This project calls for total cooperation."

Harambee is a Swahili word meaning "let us work together."

* *

Begun about 15 months ago, Harambee is a nonprofit organization comprising minority group leaders in the community. The organization initially aims to build and rehabilitate housing in the city's South Side.

ALL BLACK ARCHITECTS

Harambee has retained the services of all the black architectural firms in Michigan, according to Tucker.

"This, to our knowledge, is the first time all the black architectural firms in a state have been drawn together to develop a program of this nature," he added.

* * *

The establishment of Harambee was due to the joint participation of the Pontiac Housing Committee and the Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority (MDCDA), an organization formed by private citizens to bring about low-income housing through nonprofit sponsors.

Harambee was provided with operational funds from the Archdiocese of Detroit.

"Harambee's plans have been carefully mapped, architectural draw-

Manpower Message Is Sent to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today proposed giving states and cities much of the authority for running $2.3 billion a year in federal programs to train more than 1 million Americans annually for jobs.

As part of his "New Federalism" concept of sharing state, local and federal power, Nixon sent to Congress a Manpower Training Act to streamline and make more flexible the welter of existing job training programs.

* * *

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, in a briefing, said that despite Job Corps cuts which angered Congress, Nixon is proposing to add 150,000 Americans to job training rolls at an extra cost of $400 million a year.

Most of the additional training would go to welfare recipients if both the manpower bill and Nixon's welfare legislation are enacted. The welfare bill requires most recipients to take job training.

10 PCT. BOOST

The manpower legislation also would boost job training funds 10 per cent if the nation's unemployment rate rose to 4.5 per cent for three straight months. It is now 3.6 per cent.

This, Shultz said, was to quell fears that many Americans might lose their jobs in Nixon's efforts to slow the nation's economy enough to cool inflation.

* * *

The bill also provides for a computerized national job bank to match the unemployed with job openings.

It would equalize living allowances for different job training programs, which now vary, to keep the unemployed from shopping around for the best allowance instead of for the most suitable job training.

Welfare recipients would receive, in lieu of the job training allowance, a special incentive of $30 a month in addition to welfare payments.

3-Day Forecast: Summer at Its Best

Good old summertime temperatures — not too hot, not too cool — are forecast through Thursday.

The weatherman says tonight will be fair with a low of 60 to 65. Partly cloudy and warm, the high neat 84 to 89, is the outlook for tomorrow.

Thursday is expected to be partly cloudy and warm with a chance of thundershowers.

Probabilities of precipitation are 10 per cent today, five per cent tonight and 10 per cent tomorrow.

Fifty-nine was the low temperature before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. By 12:30 p.m. the mercury had jumped to 81.

Testimony Ends in Extortion Case

By THOMAS TERP

Final testimony has been recorded after six stormy days in the extortion trial of reputed Mafia leader Joseph Barbara Jr. The case was expected to go to the jury late today.

Barbara is accused of extorting $4,000 and a diamond ring from Mrs. Peter Lazaros while her husband was in jail in 1968.

* * *

Attorneys made their final statements to the jury this morning, and the 13-member jury was scheduled to begin deliberations immediately after receiving instructions from Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Yesterday's sixth day of testimony like the five previous days, was marked by efforts from both the prosecution and the defense to establish credibility of witnesses.

TAPED CONVERSATION

Special Prosecutor Jack Bain introduced a taped telephone conversation between Peter Lazaros and Alex Phillos. Bain said he wanted the jury to hear the conversation "only to show that on Dec. 14, 1968, Lazaros and Phillos were on very friendly terms."

Phillos, a former Lazaros business associate and onetime owner of the Detroit Sausage Co., had testified earlier that he was afraid of Lazaros and that Lazaros and his wife were constantly fighting.

* * *

His testimony was contrary to earlier testimony from Lazaros and his wife that they had a happy marriage, and presumably was sought by defense attorney Ivan Barris to discredit Mr. and Mrs. Lazaros.

Bain, Barris and Judge Ziem huddled for nearly two hours yesterday before deciding parts of the tape recorded conversation could be heard by the jury.

MINOR RUCKUS

Earlier Judge Ziem told Bain he could not call three witnesses to the stand to testify. One of the witnesses raised a minor ruckus over the matter.

Albert Spadafore, owner of the Community Super Market, 3286 Auburn, Pontiac Township, was told he could not testify because he had not been properly endorsed as a witness.

* * *

About an hour after Bain was told he could not call Spadafore to the stand, Spadafore entered the courtroom and confronted Barbara.

Only a handful of observers were in the courtroom to see the 350-pound Barbara jump from his seat when

Pontiac Division Plans Expansion

A major construction program which will increase the size of the final assembly plant to provide additional inspection and production space was announced today by Pontiac Motor Division.

Completion of the program is scheduled for the fall of 1970 to coincide with the introduction of 1971 Pontiacs, according to F. James McDonald, a General Motors vice president and divisional general manager.

Cost of the project was not disclosed.

The 213,000 square foot modernization project will be the first major expansion of the assembly plant since it was built 42 years ago. The project includes:

- A 100,000 square-foot addition at the west end of the present assembly plant

to extend the first and second floors 250 feet further west.

This space will insure that mechanically defect-free cars are sent to the final finish operations in Plant 16. This is due to be completed by October 1970.

- The tire building is being increased 47,000 square feet. This addition will be used primarily for storage of Fiberglass belted tires. Glass belted tires, which will be standard on all 1970 Pontiacs, take up almost twice as much storage space as conventional tires.
- A 32,000 square-foot addition to the material storage area north of the assembly facility.
- An on-line station for simulated road test equipment. With the expansion occupying the area previously used for these tests, it became necessary to develop an alternate method.

The on-line road simulator not only will perform these tests in a more convenient area but will provide a more consistent test, officials said.

- An enclosed conveyor will provide out-of-weather delivery of cars to the final finish area, about 1,200 feet away.

* * *

In addition to providing a clean car for final finish, the conveyor will stabilize scheduling to Plant 16.

- Four truck wells will be added and rail and truck receiving facilities modernized to meet the increased demand on the present dock facilities.

Strong Winds Caused This Wisconsin State Fair Tent To Collapse Yesterday

150 Hurt as Winds Rip Fair

WEST ALLIS, Wisc. (UPI) — It was Children's Day at the Wisconsin State Fair yesterday.

The day's attendance was 101,456. The weather had been ideal — blue skies, sun and a gentle breeze.

* * *

The breeze suddenly got stronger and stronger. Rain began to fall. People started to run into large tents for shelter.

* * *

But the wind got stronger yet, "like a tornado," and with giant tearing sounds three large tents collapsed.

150 INJURED

At least 150 persons were injured, trapped under flapping canvas and falling tent poles, or injured by benches tumbled by the wind. All but two of the injured were treated and released. The fair's first aid station also treated an unknown number of persons.

* * *

Before the storm ripped through this Milwaukee suburb, it had been a typical state fair scene — throngs wandering past agricultural displays, the children gawking at the animals.

Then came the wind.

'TERRIBLE PANIC'

"There was terrible panic. People were trampled all over the place," said an off-duty Milwaukee policeman Lonnie Heibler. He was inside one of the tents.

* * *

"A huge gust of wind lifted the tent up and tore the top in two. Water gushed inside and the wind hurled park benches through the air," Heibler said.

* * *

The tent was packed with about 600 fair visitors watching the "Tahiti Nuit Revue." Six of the Polynesian performers were among the injured.

* * *

Many of those hurt had sought shelter under the tents when the torrential rains began.

Young Suspect Is Released in 5 LA Slayings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police have released the 19-year-old caretaker they held for questioning in the killing of actress Sharon Tate and four other persons.

"There is no reason to suspect him," said Inspector Harold Yarnell as William E. Garretson was released yesterday after two days in custody.

*

The baby-faced youth wouldn't talk with newsmen. But his lawyer, Barry Tarlow, said Garretson was in his room in a guest house of Miss Tate's estate Friday night and Saturday when the five were shot and stabbed to death.

Garretson didn't know anything had happened until police kicked in his door at 9 a.m. Saturday, Tarlow said.

Investigators said they want to question friends of Miss Tate and Garretson.

Officers continued investigating the deaths of a supermarket owner and his wife whose bodies were found Sunday night, their heads hooded like one of the victims in the Saturday killings a few miles away. In both cases bodies were slashed and words were scrawled nearby in what appeared to be the victims' blood.

* * *

Despite the similarities, a police spokesman said, the cases apparently are unconnected. The couple, Leno A. LaBianca, 44, and his wife, Rosemary, 44, may have been the victims of a "copycat" killer, officers said.

Those killed with Miss Tate were Abigail Folger, 26, a San Francisco socialite; Voityck Frykowski, 37, a movie associate of Miss Tate's husband, director Roman Polanski; Jay Sebring, 28, an internationally known hairdresser; and Steven Earl Parent, 18, a student from suburban El Monte who police and Garretson's lawyer said was a friend of Garretson.

Tarlow said Garretson had said goodnight to Parent about 11:30 p.m. Friday, then gone to his room, where he listened to his stereo.

Parent was shot at the wheel of his car in the driveway of the $200,000 home.

Reds' Fall Offensive?

Viet War Lull Shattered

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops shattered the long battlefield lull early today, shelling 128 allied towns and bases across Vietnam. The Vietcong and North Vietnamese followed up with ground attacks on 14 allied positions and fought in the streets of two important towns north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command said that all attacks were repulsed and that incomplete figures from the field listed more than 400 enemy dead. U.S. casualties were 51 dead and 345 wounded.

* * *

A spokesman for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said: "It's probably the start of their fall campaign . . ."

One of the sharpest battles broke out at a U.S. artillery base blocking infiltration routes from Cambodia to Tay Ninh, 65 miles northwest of Saigon. The base was hit with 400 rounds of rockets, mortars and rocket-propelled grenades.

In the hour-long battle 54 North Vietnamese and 9 Americans were killed, field reports said. Thirty-nine Americans were wounded.

The biggest enemy push came in an area near the Cambodian border north of Saigon. There about 2,000 North Vietnamese from two or three divisions attacked a dozen American bases.

Enemy commandos also blasted their way into the headquarters of the US. 1st Marine Division in Da Nang and slammed a dozen mortar rounds into a U.S. Navy hospital there. Two Marines were

Welfare Action Not Seen Till '70

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's call for a massive overhaul of the nation's welfare system is being tagged as 1970 business by congressional leaders.

The President, in submitting details of his plan in a message to Congress yesterday, urged swift action on the $4-billion proposal.

* * *

"We have it in our power," he said, to raise the standard of living and realizable hopes of millions of our fellow citizens."

But key legislators who will have to deal with the plan said they saw no possibility it could get floor consideration in either the House or Senate until next year.

RECOMMENDATION

They pointed out the President himself was recommending that it not take effect until July 1, 1970.

Sources in the House Ways and Means Committee, which will have to act first on the legislation, said it was possible the panel could begin hearings later this session.

* * *

But, they said, there appeared to be almost no chance for floor action until 1970.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the finance committee which will handle the measure in the Senate, said it was obvious his panel could not get to it this year.

3 Perish in Desperate Walk After Car Stalls in Desert

INDEPENDENCE, Calif. (AP) — Two men and a boy stranded in the desert by a car breakdown tried to walk 20 miles to civilization.

Without water and in 120-degree heat, they fell one by one.

* * *

Searchers found the sun-blackened body of Arnold Dobson, 65, seven miles from the stranded car Sunday. Three miles on lay Harold Mast Jr., 16. Yesterday, the searchers came across the body of the boy's father, Harold Sr., 40. He had lasted 13 miles.

A deputy sheriff said the three had set out for their homes in Irvine and Corona Friday after visiting friends in Bishop, 40 miles north of Independence.

WANDERED UP ROAD

They said they planned to stop in Eureka Valley to look at the famous old El Capitan mine. Instead they wandered up an abandoned road into the barren Saline Valley, where their car stalled.

They set out on foot toward a paved road and a ranch house they had passed.

* * *

Although the two adults were mining equipment salesmen familiar with desert conditions, they had carried no water.

A mile from the car searchers found a spring-fed oasis in a willow grove. But the two men and the boy walked in the other direction.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A versatile spacecraft with booms almost the length of a football field rocketed into orbit today packing 13 experiments, including one that could help make transocean aircraft travel safer in the 1970s.

The prime project involves four finger-thin, daddy-longleg-like booms, which, when fully extended, would make the spacecraft measure 253 feet long from tip to tip.

The payload's expected to go into a stationary orbit 22,300 miles over the equator west of South America.

Pan Am Strike Is Over

NEW YORK (AP) — Clerical and cargo employes returned to work today at Pan American World Airways after voting to approve a new three-year contract and end a four-day, nationwide strike. Pan Am said it resumed normal flight schedules early today.

Harold Gibbons, a Teamsters vice president, described the new contract as "the best ever negotiated in the history of the airline industry."

The contract calls for a 37.4 per cent wage increase over the three years plus a variety of improved benefits. The wage hike will boost the average pay of 10,000 workers from $3.30 an hour to $4.52.

Milliken Signs Bill

Home-Loan Rate Lid Lifted

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken today signed into law a bill temporarily removing the 7 per cent interest-rate ceiling on home mortgage loans.

At the same time, he vetoed a measure that would raise the amount of money available to borrowers from small loan companies because "it was contrary to consumer interests."

* * *

"In addition to numerous technical deficiences," the governor said about the small loans bill, "there are a number of sustantial objections to the bill in its present form, many of them contrary to consumer interests."

Among his objections, Milliken said, were portions of the bill that would permit:

- Charging attorney's fees to the borrower incurred in collecting a loan "when the rate charged for loans is supposed to cover the risk of such expense."
- Continuing loan agreements that "might be used to require a borrower to maintain some minimum indebtedness to the lender."
- An unreasonable form of security where first mortgages would be required on real estate to secure such loans.

BETTER BILL SEEN

Despite his objections to the small loan measure, Milliken said, "it is entirely possible that a bill designed to meet the public's needs and at the same time protect the interests of the consumer can be passed by the Legislature before late March 1970."

* * *

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley reportedly has said the interest-rate measure raises some constitutional questions.

Barbara Trial Testimony Ends

Spadafore approached him. The court was recessed at the time of the confrontation.

ANGRY WORDS

A few angry words were exchanged, and a state policeman then escorted Spadafore from the courtroom.

Bain had intended to use Spadafoe to testify that Barbara had in fact been to the Lazaros home, 2410 Dalesford, Troy, while Lazaros was in Southern Michigan State Prison at Jackson on a fraud conviction, an informed source said.

* * *

According to Lazaros, Spadafore was asked to deliver groceries to Mrs. Lazaros while he (Mr. Lazaros) was in jail.

On one of his delivery visits, Spadafore was met at the door by Barbara, who told him to go home, Lazaros claimed.

'TELEPHONED MRS. LAZAROS'

Unable to make the grocery delivery, Spadafore reportedly returned to his supermarket and telephoned Mrs. Lazaros to ask if there were any problems.

Spadafore told newsmen that Mrs. Lazaros was crying on the phone when he called and asked him to forget about the delivery.

Spadafore said that he also was going to testify that his life was threatened the next day by Barbara and another reputed Mafia figure who warned him not to say anything about what he had seen, Lazaros said.

Judge Ziem ruled that the defense should be given advance notice of any prosecution witnesses, and said Spadafore could not testify because proper endorsement had not been made.

Two other witnesses — Peter Lazaros' mother and his 9-year-old son — were also barred from taking the stand.

Mrs. Lazaros was not allowed to testify because she had already been excused by both attorneys, and Lazaros' son, John, was not allowed because he also had not been endorsed as a witness.

* * *

Meanwhile, special Oakland County one-man grand juror Robert J. Colombo is reportedly delaying his probe into alleged corruption in the county until the Barbara trial is completed.

* * *

Peter Lazaros' statements to State Police officials during the past eight months have been instrumental in the calling of the probe, and Lazaros presumably will be a key witness in the investigation.

* * *

Colombo does not want to begin talks with Lazaros until the Barbara trial is finished, an informed source has said.

Grand jury headquarters are right around the corner from Judge Ziem's court.

A three-block section of Voorheis between Orchard Lake and Chippewa will be closed to traffic for three weeks beginning tomorrow due to sewer construction, a City Hall spokesman announced today.

Birmingham

Report Shows Comparison of Police Salaries

BIRMINGHAM — City Manager Robert Kenning told the City Commission last night that Birmingham has shown high regard for its police officers with a 43 per cent salary increase over the past four years.

Kenning filed a letter with the commission showing a detailed salary scale comparison with other area police departments in an attempt to clarify conflicting reports about the income level of Birmingham police officers.

* * *

He said the information would put the commissioners in a better position to answer questions raised by taxpayers.

Kenning noted that in 1964, the maximum salary for a patrolman was $6,525. The current maximum is $9,300. The police bargaining unit is aiming for a $11,750 maximum package in initial contract talks.

LONGEVITY PAYMENT

The city manager said that since 1966, the City Commission has authorized an annual "longevity payment in addition to a policeman's salary for those officers having five or more years of service with the city. The payment varies between $186 and $930 depending upon the years of service.

According to Kenning's findings, the Birmingham department's current maximum of $9,300 compares to a high of $9,800 in Ferndale and a low of $8,290 in Berkley. Salaries compared were those as of Jan. 1, 1969.

* * *

Some police departments have since settled new contracts with the Pontiac department recording the high of $10,300, followed by Bloomfield Hills at $10,230.

George Rickey, city personnel director said negotiations will not resume until the State Labor Mediation Board appoints a mediator. The city requested a mediator after four talks produced "no progress."

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Donald E. Petersen of 1659 Spotswood, Bloomfield Township, and Joseph C. Quay, 1770 Rathmoor, have been named to the board of directors of Kingswood School, Cranbrook.

Petersen is executive director of the design center at Ford Motor Co. Quay is executive vice president and acting president of the Plymouth Steel Corp.

"As Harambee begins actual construction, it will be a materialization of efforts to turn a slum area into a new community with housing, commercial and recreational facilities."

"Harambee's plans and hopes can only be achieved with the full cooperation of our local governmental and educational units; our state government through the state housing authority and the Federal government through FHA programs — all working in cooperation with private business, industry and labor," Tucker said.

He concluded, "We believe that cooperation can be accomplished and we plan to do our part to make the community of Pontiac a better place for all to live."

But You've Got Another Step To Go

Let a Gas Dryer do your Ironing!

It's a mod, mod world and you're a smashing legend in your own time! You're a wizard at fund-raising, a whiz at entertaining, a fount of knowledge at rearing children. But ironing — that's not for you. That's the gas dryer's job! The new gas dryer is a real pro with today's fabrics. It tumbles, fluffs and cools the wrinkles out. Puts every pleat and crease back in its proper place. Then, with a timely signal, tells you when the clothes are ready to wear. Go ahead - be mod all the way. Turn on time with a new gas dryer so you can be free to do your sort of things!

Little Buying Demand

Stock Market Slipping Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged lower in moderate trading early today, with brokers reporting little buying demand.

The Dow Jones industrial average at 10:30 a.m. was off 1.92 at 817.91.

* * *

Blocks traded near the opening included:

Standard Oil of California, 5,400 shares at 58, off ¼; Pan American World Airways, 4,800 shares at 15¼, up ⅛; Occidental Petroleum, 2,500 shares at 34⅝, unchanged; and United Aircraft, 2,200 shares at 50⅝, off ⅜.

Polaroid was up 1¼ at 123¼, IBM gained ¾ to 330.

Among opening prices:

Federal Pacific Electric, up 1 at 20¼ on 30,000 shares; Certain-teed Products, off ¼ at 22½; on 12,400 shares; American Telephone & Telegraph, up ¼ at 53¼ on 7,600 shares; INA Corp., off ⅜ at 8¼ on 6,600 shares; and American Motors, off — at 8¾ on 6,300 shares.

The market slipped lower Monday as investors apparently reacted to devaluation of the French franc by taking to the sidelines. Volume on the New York Stock Exchange was the lowest in almost two years.

* * *
