

Oakland County Area Ready, Eager for 1968 Olympics

Oakland County and all Michigan have the same tremendous enthusiasm for the 1968 Olympic Games that has been engendered in Detroit.

Our City Commission and communities all over the Middle West have passed strong resolutions endorsing Detroit and expressing the willingness to serve in any capacity that proves helpful. Rarely have so many cities rallied so strongly to a single cause, and the great interest must be tremendously heartening to Fred C. Matthaei, Gov. George W. Romney and Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh in their titanic battle to land the athletic plim.

Spectators will attend the Olympic Games from all over the world—literally—adding to strong support from southeastern Michigan and the Middle West. By Olympics time, the new Chrysler Freeway will be in full swing, and this will assist in making the Michigan State Fair Grounds location a perfect setup. The broad scope of Olympic planning allows for plenty of parking so that automobiles can be driven to the stadium from any point or any direction.

Without a doubt Oakland County will be the second biggest contributor to the spectator list, exceeded only by the city of Detroit itself. Oakland County has always been exceedingly sports-minded and the thrill of the world-famous Olympics will not be lost on our enthusiastic people.

Already, a sizable list of county residents has been signed by the Olympic Committee for various jobs in connection with staging the games. The equestrian division has been placed in the capable and experienced hands of Irving A. Duffy, while L. C.

Goad, both Matthaei, Lynn Townsend, Joseph Dodge and other well-known area residents are active on committees.

Detroit faces two hurdles. First, she must receive the nod from the U.S. Olympic Committee as the officially designated city for our country. This was actually bestowed once, but Los Angeles is struggling to have it upset in a sporting gesture that is anything but in line with concept of clean amateur sports which the Olympic Games teaches.

If Detroit is successful in the meeting 10 days hence in New York, the final presentation must then be made in Nairobi, Kenya, in October. There we contest against France, Mexico City and other world points.

Rarely has anything pulled as many people together as this exciting prospect of the Olympic Games here. Pontiac will play any part she is asked to take in the work necessary to stage the games successfully.

Flood Waters Peril Towns in Four States

Death Toll Up to 15 as 4,000 Are Forced to Flee Their Homes

From Our News Wires

Ice-gorged flood waters besieged new cities in four Ohio River Valley states today and threatened fresh onslaughts in Kentucky and South Carolina.

A 10-inch snowfall slugged the upper Midwest and thunderstorms battered the South.

The March snow storm blew into Michigan, dumping up to 8 inches of snow and bringing an abrupt end to a short period of mild weather that had held promise of an early spring.

Alpena was hit with 8 inches of fresh snow today. Hazardous driving warnings were posted from Illinois to Michigan and 35-mile-an-hour winds drifted snow across highways in Indiana and Lower Michigan.

The three-day floods in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Indiana were blamed for at least 14 deaths. Nearly 4,000 persons had been driven from their homes.

15 DEAD

The flood toll climbed to 15 when a truckdriver drowned in a swollen creek near Seneca, S. C. Near Liberty, Ind., no trace had been found of a farmer and his teen-age daughter whose car was believed to have been swept off a flooded road.

The floods are ebbing in some areas, but waters were rising downstream. Latest danger points included:

Athens, Ohio—the college city was isolated by the worst flood in 30 years. More than 1,000 persons, including 700 Ohio Uni-

Sniper-Slayer Called Mentally Ill

Oakland County Probate Court Judge Donald E. Adams today kept Juvenile Court jurisdiction over 15-year-old Douglas Godfrey.

He planned to arrange for treatment and confinement of the admitted sniper slayer in a mental institution.

Judge Adams denied a petition to waive Juvenile Court jurisdiction and permit trial of the boy as an adult in the county's Circuit Court.

Judge Adams' decision followed a two-hour Juvenile Court hearing this morning in which three psychiatrists testified that the boy was seriously ill mentally.

County Prosecutor George F. Taylor asked the waiver into Circuit Court following the boy's Feb. 5 admission he killed his 39-year-old mother. Today Taylor asked Judge Adams to deny his petition because of evidence of the youth's mental illness.

Judge Adams said after the hearing that details of the boy's treatment and confinement will be worked out with the boy's father, Donald H. Godfrey, 44.

DOUGLAS GODFREY

of 883 Dursley Road, Bloomfield Township.

Commitment to Pontiac State Hospital, Lafayette Clinic in Detroit, another state hospital, or a private mental hospital are among the possibilities, Judge Adams indicated.

The boy admitted plotting and executing his mother's murder Jan. 25 in a formal statement to Taylor. Mary Godfrey was killed by a 22-caliber bullet fired from outside the kitchen window of the Godfrey home.

"There was little or no dispute over the fact that the boy had murdered his mother," Judge Adams said. "The serious problem faced by the court was the disposition."

Douglas was examined by Dr. L. Jerome Fink of Bloomfield Hills, appointed by Judge Adams, and Dr. Abraham Tauber of Pontiac and Dr. Emmet Toney of Detroit, retained by the boy's attorney, Thomas G. Kavanagh of Birmingham.

For Office Building

Schools Get City Site

The Pontiac Board of Education will build a new school district administration building in the civic center next to City Hall.

The City Commission last night unanimously approved a package deal to sell a 3.2-acre site to the board for the project.

The plot, at the northeast corner of Auburn Avenue and the proposed perimeter road, will be sold for $55,000.

The city, as local purchasing agent in the R44 urban renewal project, will purchase the present school district offices at 49 Patterson St. for $120,000.

The cash settlement shows a balance of $85,000 in favor of the school district.

In addition, the agreement provides that the city swap a seven-acre parcel of Aaron Perry Park for Oriole Field.

The park, parcel, near North Saginaw and Montcalm streets, is to be the site of a school district service and maintenance building.

RECREATION FIELD

Oriole Field, owned by the school district, has been used many years for city-sponsored recreation programs.

It is an interior field surrounded by homes on Auburn Avenue and Parkhurst, Chandler and Parkside streets.

"This new project will act as a springboard to launch other area developments in our central business district," said Mayor Robert A. Landry.

"The new City of Pontiac graduated tonight. Watch it redevelop at an accelerated pace," he added, praising the settlement.

"City Hall welcomes its new neighbor."

The agreement was the result of intense negotiation between school city officials in the past two months.

The final settlement was less than the city originally asked, but considerably more than the school board's initial offer.

The $120,000 price for property on Patterson Street, established under urban renewal regulations, remained a constant factor throughout negotiations.

The school board's initial proposal early in January had been to buy the civic center parcel for $37,500 and get the Perry Park site free. This would have cost the city $82,500.

The city proposed selling the civic center site for $100,000 and swapping the Perry Park site for Oriole Field. The cash balance would have been about $30,000 to the school district.

Skirts Question on Pilots Killed at Bay of Pigs

Rejects Blockade Idea to Halt Oil Supply En Route to Castro

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today that "no" he is not satisfied with the rate of withdrawal of Soviet troops from Cuba.

Kennedy also left open a question of whether four American fliers killed in the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba were employed by the U.S. government or the Central Intelligence Agency.

He said that "the men were serving their country," but would a direct reply on grounds it could "not be helpful to the national interest to go into details." And Kennedy rejected any application of a blockade to shut off the supply of oil to Cuba. He said there should be no mistaking that a blockade is an act of war, and added:

"At this time, we do not believe war in the Caribbean is to the national advantage."

On a key domestic matter—taxes—the President said that it is his judgment that Congress will put through a bill which

3 'Ole Opry' Stars, Pilot Die in Crash

CAMDEN, Tenn. (AP)—Three Grand Ole Opry stars and their pilot died last night when their light plane smashed into a wooded west Tennessee hillside, scattering debris over a wide area.

Killed were Patsy Cline, 29; Hawkshaw Hawkins, 43; Cowboy Copas, 49; and Randy Hughes, 35, the pilot who was Miss Cline's manager and a son-in-law of Copas.

Benton County Sheriff Loye Furr said the bodies were scattered and broken beyond recognition.

A silver belt buckle engraved with the name "Hawkshaw Hawkins" was found in the wreckage. A woman's red slip was hanging from a tree.

The plane, which left Dyerburg at 6:07 p.m. Tuesday night after a refueling stop, was returning the recording artists to their Nashville homes after a benefit performance in Kansas City, Kan.

Several residents of the area, a few miles west of the Tennessee River, heard the plane as it apparently struggled to gain altitude.

The board was convinced the two additional judges are needed to surmount an increase in litigation as the result of a growing population.

Recent changes in judicial procedure are more time consuming too, retired Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland told the board as spokesman for the present five judges.

The board of supervisors also formally accepted two federal grants for more than half a million dollars.

The grants were offered under the Accelerated Public Works Act toward construction of additional utilities at the County Service Center and extension of the Farmington Sewage Disposal System along 13-Mile Road.

The grants totaling $519,700 are on a matching fund basis.

No Obstacles Expected for 2 Games Bills

Measures Facing Streamlining by State House Committee

LANSING (UPI)—Two Senate Olympic bills faced streamlining in House committees, but Republican spokesmen indicated there would be no obstacles in getting them on the governor's desk before a March 18 deadline.

The measures went through the Senate in record time Monday and are now under consideration by the House Committee on State Affairs. From there they will go to the Ways and Means committee before being pushed out on the floor for a vote, probably early next week.

GOP spokesmen indicated after a caucus yesterday that some tightening of the bills was in order but said they were not in danger of being slowed down.

The bills would allow construction of $825-million Olympic stadium and provide financing for it. The Senate Affairs Committee asked for additional time, presumably to tighten up the broad powers given to the State Recreation and Exhibits Building Authority one measure would spawn.

Gov. George Romney wants the bills on his desk prior to his March 18 departure for New York.

The United States Olympic Committee (USOC) will decide at that time whether Detroit or Los Angeles or some other city will become this country's site choice. "I am satisfied that those in leadership positions in the House are going to do everything in their power to get the bills on the governor's desk in plenty of time," said Robert Danhoff, Romney's assistant for legislative affairs.

Danhoff added he had been assured there would be no attempts to derail the Olympic plan.

A GOP spokesman said there were no alternatives for killing the proposed authority if Detroit's Olympic hopes fade. If Detroit is turned down at the USOC later this month, Romney could use his veto.

Should the International Olympic Committee select another country in October after Romney signs the bills, the legislature could repeal the measures next year.

Mercury Moves Near Normal for Next Few Days

Temperatures will be just about what they're supposed to be for the next few days.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts highs will range near the normal 37 to 43, and normal low temperatures will average 17 to 24. The low is expected to be 25 tonight and the high near 30 tomorrow.

Precipitation will total less than one-quarter inch in a few showers or snow flurries late Friday or Friday night and again Monday.

Winds southwest to west at 15 to 20, 30 miles per hour today will become west to northwest late this afternoon and tonight.

A mild 33 was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The thermometer reading at 2 p.m. was 32.

Aid-to-Children Bill Passes House Test

LANSING (AP) — Having scored an overwhelming victory in its first showdown vote, the proposal to furnish federal aid to children of unemployed Michigan parents today awaited a friendly reception and probable passage by the Senate.

A combination of strong bipartisan support and dry wit helped push the federal aid to dependent children of the unemployed (ADC-U) bill through the House yesterday, two days ahead of schedule.

Debate over amendments — including a controversial "birth control" proposal — and political philosophy raged around the measure for nearly an hour, but it won by a decisive 89-14 margin.

The bill, hurried three times in Republican-controlled committees in the past two years, was introduced this year as part of Gov. George Romney's legislative program and has been viewed as an early test of its influence in the legislature.

The proposal has been amended four times since its inception. It may face more revision in the Senate, but Republican leaders there have already marked it down on their list of prime legislation to be passed.

"It's as good as passed," said one Republican leader.

The bill would qualify children of unemployed parents to receive assistance under a plan that splits costs between the state and the federal government, providing relief for county welfare departments.

Democrats in the House sought unsuccessfully to broaden the eligibility requirements of the bill yesterday and found themselves unable to resist pointing out the ADC-U bill suddenly was being backed by Republicans who previously had opposed it.

WIT KNIT
"It was a matter of principle to vote 'no' on this bill last year and the year before," declared House minority leader Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit. "Now let's all get together and vote for it."

"It will be terribly embarrassing if it doesn't pass. And it's very important that it not be embarrassed, isn't it?"

Kowalski's hastily prepared written speech was interrupted by Rep. Russell Strange, R-Clark, who objected to the interjection of his own name and those of other Republicans who opposed the ADC-U in the past.

When House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, restored order, Kowalski began repeating what he'd already read.

"I think you're on page six, line 14, Joe," said Green, and the House broke up in gales of laughter.

Some were still laughing when the bill went to a vote after Kowalski closed on a note of sarcasm:

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the Republican caucus, your compassion overwhelms me."

The ADC-U bill drew 49 Republican and 40 Democratic votes on passage, with 14 Republicans opposing it and four lawmakers abstaining.

In the form in which it went to the Senate, the ADC-U bill would apply to children under 18 who live with jobless parents, not in foster or relatives' homes. It would include persons who have been on welfare since 1958 and who have not worked for more than 32 hours in any consecutive two weeks. Persons in jobs not qualifying them for state unemployment compensation would not be eligible.

COLUMBIA, S.C. — The weather bureau forecast the "heaviest flooding in years" on parts of the Saluda, Broad and Congaree rivers in the wake of rains measuring more than 4 inches through the South Carolina Piedmont.

WILLIAMSBURG, Ky. — The weather bureau warned that the river Cumberland River was due to rise 5 to 6 feet above flood stage tonight or tomorrow at Williamsburg. Lowland flooding was predicted around Baxter, Ky.

SCHOOLS CLOSE
The threat of high waters on the Cumberland had already closed schools in Bell County. Ohio River waters were expected to spill into northern Kentucky tonight and the Big Sandy River was rising rapidly.

Thunderstorms and heavy rains continued to drench the South. Rome, Ga., reported more than 4 inches of rain in 24 hours.

on the move for one week. His motion was defeated by the same 5-2 margin.

"I think we should find out if there are serious plans for redevelopment in that area before acting," Henry said, referring to possible expansion plans by Sears, Roebuck & Co. or owners of Waldba's Department Store.

"I'd hate to think I got on a commission that hampered future development of the whole area by acting too quickly on relocating one establishment."

The move was opposed on a petition by Sears, Waite's and Federal Department Store.

The present bar on North Cass has been condemned and will be torn down to make way for the Perimeter Road. It is not located in the urban renewal area.

The owner, Charles Spadofore, said he had been located on Cass for 20 years "and now they're (the State Highway Department) putting us out of business."

"We've looked all over town but can't find another comparable location that is suitable."

CITE INVESTMENT
Commissioners Winford E. Bottom and William H. Taylor Jr. supported the move on grounds that Spadofore has plans to invest an estimated $5,000 to $40,000 in a bar and restaurant development at the Saginaw Street location.

Commissioners Loy L. Ledford and Dick M. Kirby pointed out that the commission could revoke the Class C license anyway — the proposed bar proved to be a detriment to the area.

Mayor Robert A. Landry said that "while relocation is a problem, this lease contains certain assurances that it will be canceled if mass redevelopment of the block is proposed in the next five years."

Among the many citizens protesting the move were local real estate agents Floyd Kent and Kern, both of whom own property, and Waite Stoddard, representing owners of Waldba's Department Store.

Kent presented a protest petition with signatures of some 50 nearby merchants and property owners.

and efficient administration of justice, he said.

Two more judges could reduce the waiting time by one-third, he estimated.

County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy also blamed the pretrial for slowing down litigation without adequate judicial manpower, even though 1962 statistics do not follow the previous few years' pattern of growing case load.

The county's five Circuit judges fell behind in 1961 while ranking second in the state in cases disposed per judge — 1,427. They kept up in 1962.

A total of 7,965 cases of all types were started in 1961. That was 630 more than the 7,135 completed.

In 1962, some 7,772 were started — 93 less than in 1961. The judges disposed of 7,336, only 36 less than were begun.

But the judges increased their cases disposed each to 1,575. When Judge H. Russell Holland announced his retirement in January, he said, "The tempo of the times is getting too fast for me."

Judge Holland urged two more judges, as does County Prosecutor George F. Taylor, whose office has been constantly plagued with cases coming in faster than it can bring them to trial.

New cases increased from 7,176 in 1959 to 7,634 in 1960 and to 7,965 in 1961 before dropping off slightly in 1962.

Jury cases awaiting trial increased from 390 in September 1960, to 763 at present, nonjury cases from 695 to 556.

Cut Recommended

Powell's Budget in House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House today ordered a 42 per cent slash in the funds request of Chairman Adam Clayton Powell to operate his education and labor committee this year.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House was in position today to administer a spanking to Rep. Adam Clayton Powell right in the pocketbook of his education and labor committee.

The controversial New York Democrat had one consolation. That was the probability that some of his Republican critics would be hurting just as much from the $148,500 budget cut ordered yesterday by a House Administration subcommittee.

Powell apparently planned to absorb the blow at a distance. He was reported in Puerto Rico during the weekend, and sources here said it was unlikely he would return to Washington this week.

House leaders planned to take quick action, if possible, on the subcommittee's 1963 budget recommendations of $300,000 for the Education and Labor Committee and $100,000 for the Banking and Currency Committee.

The subcommittee's action, cutting Powell's request for $348,500 a year by more than 40 per cent, was interpreted as a thinly disguised slap at the 10-term congressman.

The recommendation to earmark $150,000 of the total budget for the six Education and Labor subcommittees left Powell with only $50,000 under his direct control.

This compared with $101,000 for an "investigative task force" and $12,500 for committee "housekeeping" expenses and travel sought by Powell.

Powell also had promised $55,000 a year to committee Republicans for a staff of experts if he obtained the full $348,500 request.

Falling that, he made no commitment to the GOP members, and several of them said they expected Powell would give them little or nothing.

Powell's budget cut had been brewing for some time. There was wide newspaper publicity and plenty of private congressional mumbling last year when Powell took off in midseason for a trip through Europe with two women committee aides.

Special Session Slated

ROCHESTER — The school board's decision on the new budget, proposed raises for teachers and the millage tax hike is expected to come out of a special session set for 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Meeting last night with the Citizens' School Study Group, the board discussed the three subjects and arrived again at tentative conclusions.

District Will Report on Population Study

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A report spelling out expected population growth within the West Bloomfield District will highlight a meeting of the district's Citizens' Advisory Committee tonight.

The report, to be given by Don Somers, steering committee trustee, will detail the projected zoning classification in a six-square-mile section in the southern part of the district.

The affect of parochial and private school developments in the area school population will be described by Mrs. Nere Alix, assisted by Mrs. Phil Simpson and Mrs. Martin Kabanell.

Nelson O'Shaughnessy assisted by Mr. John Zurbrick, Mrs. Kenneth Hahnfeldt, Mrs. Hugh MacBeath, and Mrs. Richard Grot will present a survey of the types of grade plans common in Michigan school districts.

West Bloomfield schools are presently operating under a 64 plan, with the lower six grades housed separately from the remaining six grades. Other popular organization structures are 64, 6-3-3 and 6-2-4.

Land area serving as school sites in nearby school districts will be listed by Schools' Supt. Dr. Lelf Hougren.

Rounding out the concert will be selections from Leonard Bernstein's musical score for "West Side Story." Tickets may be purchased at the door.

3 to Work on City Hall Buy

WALLED LAKE — Mayor Louis James last night announced the appointment of a committee of three to work out details on the purchase of the Ramsey building for use as a city hall.

Councilmen Harold Ackley, Wendell Kellogg Jr. and Richard Watkins were appointed to work out details with City Attorney Howard Bond and Mrs.

Alma Wagner, owner of the property.

At a special meeting Saturday morning, the council declared to 1 that it intended to purchase Mrs. Wagner's property for $20,000.

James was the sole dissenter.

At last night's council meeting the mayor explained that he voted against the purchase because of the property's inadequate parking facilities and the building's improper drainage facilities.

He requested that the council rescind its Saturday action.

Marshall Taylor, who has declared his candidacy for a seat on the council in the April 1 election, termed the Ramsey building "not suitable for a city hall."

He feared that this might prevent the council from continuing work toward the purchase of a new site.

SOME CITIZENS DOUBTFUL

Milton Parrish, chairman of the City Planning Commission, noted that the Chamber of Commerce, of which he also is a member, has received several calls from people who have doubts about the building's condition.

He observed that because of inadequate drainage, the building "may be a health hazard."

"If we haven't got drainage and parking, I think this building is 100 per cent inadequate," he stated.

Councilman William Staman, explaining his approval of the purchase, noted that the interest on the Ramsey building would be

"I do not believe in liquor being served or consumed in front of children," he said.

Council's stipulations should have gone to the State Liquor Control Commission with its support for a license, Mayor added.

Councilman Richard Watkins said he has also seen adults drinking in the bowling alley section in front of children between the ages of 4 and 16.

Councilman Wendell Kellogg Jr. explained that Bundo has "a legal loophole" and thus a violation can not be issued unless the Maple Lanes' license is changed.

The council voted to have its specifications brought to the attention of the State Liquor Control Commission, and be made a part of the Maple Lanes license.

Those with a master's degree, presently starting at $4,650, would begin at $5,200, and receive a top pay of $8,135 after 12 years. They now receive a limit of $7,370.

Although a tentative budget has not been drawn up in detail, it is expected that one will be presented at Saturday's meeting, and that action will be taken on it.

Those who arrive early can tour the building accompanied by Mrs. Gertrude Ealy, school principal.

for elementary, junior high and senior high school plants located in Walled Lake, Farmington, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and Waterford will be surveyed and studied by the group.

The meeting will be held at Roosevelt School in Keego Harbor at 8 p.m.

At last night's council meeting the mayor explained that he voted against the purchase because of the property's inadequate parking facilities and the building's improper drainage facilities.

He requested that the council rescind its Saturday action.

Marshall Taylor, who has declared his candidacy for a seat on the council in the April 1 election, termed the Ramsey building "not suitable for a city hall."

He feared that this might prevent the council from continuing work toward the purchase of a new site.

SOME CITIZENS DOUBTFUL

Milton Parrish, chairman of the City Planning Commission, noted that the Chamber of Commerce, of which he also is a member, has received several calls from people who have doubts about the building's condition.

He observed that because of inadequate drainage, the building "may be a health hazard."

"If we haven't got drainage and parking, I think this building is 100 per cent inadequate," he stated.

Councilman William Staman, explaining his approval of the purchase, noted that the interest on the Ramsey building would be

"I do not believe in liquor being served or consumed in front of children," he said.

Council's stipulations should have gone to the State Liquor Control Commission with its support for a license, Mayor added.

Councilman Richard Watkins said he has also seen adults drinking in the bowling alley section in front of children between the ages of 4 and 16.

Councilman Wendell Kellogg Jr. explained that Bundo has "a legal loophole" and thus a violation can not be issued unless the Maple Lanes' license is changed.

The council voted to have its specifications brought to the attention of the State Liquor Control Commission, and be made a part of the Maple Lanes license.

Those with a master's degree, presently starting at $4,650, would begin at $5,200, and receive a top pay of $8,135 after 12 years. They now receive a limit of $7,370.

Although a tentative budget has not been drawn up in detail, it is expected that one will be presented at Saturday's meeting, and that action will be taken on it.

"less than the rent" for the city hall currently being used.

Councilman V. Douglas Merdeth termed the purchase "a good investment."

While agreeing with some critics that the building "isn't absolutely suited for a city hall," Ackley insisted that the council would continue to look for property on which to build a new city hall.

"I don't want to die of old age and see Walled Lake without a city hall," he said.

He noted that "people are going to complain no matter what you do."

He termed Mayor James' appeal to rescind the action taken by the council last Saturday "ridiculous."

The building was formerly the Ramsey Dry Goods Store.

Under tentative plans, the building will house the city offices, police office, Justice Court, road commission office and the city library.

At the same time Deputy City Clerk-Treasurer Mrs. Joanne Burke turned in her resignation. She broke into tears before the council as she spoke in criticism of the city manager.

At the Feb. 4 meeting, Mercer accused City Clerk Mrs. Shirley Ryden of "taking too many coffee breaks" while on duty.

Mercer claimed at the time that he was not getting any cooperation from the office staff at City Hall. He attributed this to their disappointment over his appointment as city manager Dec. 17.

He said the staff preferred a candidate from Illinois who was vying with him for the job.

Council repeatedly issued pleas for cooperation among city employees to little avail.

Walled Lake City Manager Writes Letter of Resignation

WALLED LAKE — Plagued by what he termed a lack of cooperation among city hall employees, City Manager E. V. Mercer resigned last night.

In his letter to the council, Mercer gave April 1 as the effective date of his resignation.

However, Mayor Louis James noted that an election will be held on that date, requested that he stay on until the council can find a replacement.

"I don't want to do a thing to make it difficult on the council," Mercer said in agreeing to stay on.

The council decided to advertise at once for the combined position of city manager and assessor in the International City Managers' Association, a semi-monthly bulletin for municipal administrators.

EYES "EXPERIENCE"

Councilman Harold Ackley observed that the city should hire "an experienced man" in view of the many problems he will have to face.

Mercer's record has been clouded by controversy since his appointment as acting manager replacing Harold Millsap in October 1962.

Several councilmen protested his appointment to this post since he had not submitted an application for the job.

As Mercer admits, a lot of things have happened since his appointment. "Some of them were pretty embarrassing," he indicated.

On January 15, he fired Building Inspector Ernest Campbell because of alleged "featherbedding."

He did this "to save the city money" and because Campbell "didn't have enough to do in his other jobs," Mercer said at the time.

At the same time Deputy City Clerk-Treasurer Mrs. Joanne Burke turned in her resignation. She broke into tears before the council as she spoke in criticism of the city manager.

At the Feb. 4 meeting, Mercer accused City Clerk Mrs. Shirley Ryden of "taking too many coffee breaks" while on duty.

He said the staff preferred a candidate from Illinois who was vying with him for the job.

Some Party! Everybody Sang Milestones for Berlin

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — It was quite a night, the one the Screen Producers Guild gave for Irving Berlin.

No one asked why the Milestone Award was given to Berlin, who has never produced a movie. After all, he has produced more hits than any other American.

The little guy with the squeaky voice and the golden touch was cause for a dazzling turnout. It was fascinating to watch the great names gather in a side room at the Beverly Hilton hotel.

THOMAS

Among those paying homage to Berlin were Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, meeting at a public gathering for the first time since they were married.

They were asked what Berlin

Sheriff Keyed Up After Escapee's Ill-Fitting Gift

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — A prisoner who broke out of the Racine County Jail Feb. 24, mailed the keys he used in his escape to Sheriff Rudolph Spieker Tuesday.

What gripped the sheriff most was that he had to pay 32 cents additional postage on the letter which carried the keys—and they no longer fit locks in the jail.

The keys were mailed from Little Rock, Ark., by Melvin Barnes, 34, who had been held on a burglary charge. All locks in the county jail building were changed after the escape.

Spanish Ship in Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — For the first time since the start of the Cuban crisis last fall a Spanish ship has docked in Havana. The 3,200-ton Castillo Ampudia was berthed Tuesday and began unloading general cargo.

Student Loses His Seat

LOWELL, Mass. (UPI) — A Lowell Technological Institute student told police last night someone broke into his parked foreign car and stole the front and back seats.

shows they had done. They put their heads together and came up with "Top Hat," "Follow the Fleet" and "Carefree." What year was "Top Hat?"

"It was 1935," said Ginger.

MARX IN 1936

A reporter asked Groucho Marx if he had ever appeared in a Berlin show. Yes, "Cocoanuts," said Groucho. What year was that? Groucho replied, "1936," and the reporter dutifully wrote it down. "Happens all the time," Groucho said afterward. "People don't notice. Half the time I sign my name 'Clark Gable' for autograph seekers, and they say thank you and go away."

Tycoon Frank Sinatra was posing for photos with two other men in industry, Darryl F. Zanuck and Samuel Goldwyn. Dean Martin was nearby.

"Hey, Daig," said Sinatra to his Italian buddy. "You met Mr. Zanuck?"

"Oh, yeah—hi," said Martin, shaking hands with the man whose company he has sued for $6,885,000 over the breakup of "Something's Got to Give." Zanuck smiled cordially at Martin, who has been sued by Fox for $3,339,000 over the same picture.

Nobody laughed as Berlin, looking like a thousand diners were enjoying Berlin music as well as lobster bisque, beef tenderloin, potato puffs, artichoke bottoms, ice cream, cake and champagne.

The speeches were funny and fairly predictable. A more eloquent tribute was a nostalgialaden series of songs from Berlin pictures — "Bing with 'White Christmas,'" Judy with "Easter Parade," Fred and Ginger dancing "Check to Check," etc.

Then Berlin accepted his award and brought the audience up and the roof down by singing "God Bless America." Quite a night.

Supreme Court Wise in Railroad Ruling

In one of the most far-reaching decisions ever handed down by the U. S. Supreme Court, it upheld by an 8-0 vote the verdict of a lower court authorizing the Nation's railroads to eliminate nonessential jobs in the operation of trains.

Thus is struck the first legal blow at the long built-in institution of featherbedding that has cost railroads untold millions and is seriously threatening the solvency of many.

Claiming that antiquated work rules cost them $600 million a year, the lines propose to drop 40,000 firemen from diesel locomotives in freight and yard service. The number could go to 65,000 if the curtailment were extended to passenger trains, on which state laws do not require a second trainman in the cab as a safety measure. Thirteen states have so legislated.

With more companies suffering than prospering, the payroll burden they seek to abolish represents nearly 7 per cent of all last year's revenues.

No other major industry except coal has suffered such attrition in patronage as the railroads. Along with it, employment since 1947 has dropped from 1.4 million to below 700,000.

Ahead doubtless lies considerable management-labor haggling as the roads move to effectuate the Supreme Court's ruling. However, a clean-cut legal principle has been established and, though compromise will likely enter into the implementation of it, a notable victory has been won for realism and common sense.

Frank Arnoldi

In the death of FRANK ARNOLDI, our area loses an outstanding industrialist and a popular and gracious citizen.

Identified with Pontiac Varnish Co. for 31 years, the last four as president, he played a leading part in establishing and maintaining the industry as one of Pontiac's most successful and progressive.

No call for participation in local and township civic activities ever found him hesitant, and his circle of friends was a wide one.

The fate that awaits all men beckoned Mr. Arnoldi at a comparatively early age, but in answering it he left behind the image of a life well lived and a job well done.

We extend our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family and relatives in their time of sorrow.

Are Manned Bombers Going Out of Style?

The warfare between the Defense Department and the Capitol over the R570 giant warplane is being resumed.

On the one hand, Sec. of Defense Robert McNamara holds that the aircraft can add little to the Nation's mighty retaliatory capability and that it indeed might be obsolete before becoming operational several years hence.

It would, moreover, represent a staggering outlay of funds. The program is estimated to cost $10 billion in addition to the $1.3 billion already approved.

A further objection is that the plane would have to process and interpret reconnaissance data at an almost prohibitive speed. The aircraft would be moving at more than 30 miles a minute.

And, it is maintained, ICBMs can effectively attack targets of known location in shorter time, at lower cost and with a higher survival potential.

But the House Armed Services Committee, by a 31-5 vote, has authorized extra funds for two more R570s.

Those favoring the appropriation for the monster plane declare that manned strategic bomber systems should continue to be a major part of the Country's military force. Also, it is important, they say, to find out if a dual fighting and reconnaissance airplane with a speed of 2,000 miles an hour can be developed.

Additionally, the protagonists call it unwise to prepare only for a push-button war, while seeing in the R570 prototype an answer to the feasibility of a supersonic transport plane.

At issue, too, is a constitutional point: Which branch of the government, the executive or the legislative, has the power to raise and support armies and make rules governing them?

Despite the terrific potential of the controversial aircraft, we believe that the attitude of the brilliant and level-headed secretary of defense, with his proven dedication to the Country's best interests, should have the deep-est congressional consideration.

The Man About Town

Store Clerks Aid Restore Forgotten Bundle When Shopper Bundles Off

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Most appreciative is Mrs. Sarah Little of 461 Bartlett St.

Visiting the Pontiac Mail a short time ago, she made a purchase at Montgomery Ward's. Proceeding to Kroger's, she put the first bundle in the cart along with grocery purchases.

On the sidewalk transferring the lot to her car, the bundle of clothing was overlooked and left in the cart.

Later in the day, the lady missed it and went back to the grocery to inquire . . . was told that the package had been found and returned to the point of purchase.

Mrs. L. thinks that in her haste she may not have adequately expressed her thanks to all concerned—and would like to express them here.

The MAT's always glad to lend a hand in giving a hand to such acts of thoughtfulness.

Well, it's official—spring's here. And it didn't come a day too soon. Our authority is Mrs. R. F. Jones of 109 Euclid. As the snow thawed last weekend around their house, her date-dish became visible. They were two inches high, and doing nicely, thank you.

If you think you have troubles, listen to those of

Mrs. James H. Klipfel

of Lake Angelus Shores.

As permanent boarders she has:

(a) Three cats;

(b) One dog;

(c) Four parakeets.

What's unusual about this? . . . Just minute, just minute. You ain't heard nothing yet.

The cats don't bother the parakeets, their natural prey.

The cats and dogs are like that (business of crossing fingers) — in fact, sleep on the same bed.

But—the cats don't get along with each other—fight like cats and dogs.

Did you ever hear a tale of such pettiness?

What Kind of a Quack Is That?

WASHINGTON — Someone in Congress is always taking the joy out of life.

Now it's the duck hunting of former President Eisenhower that is being frowned upon by Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark.

He told the Senate on Monday that Mr. Eisenhower, set a duck example by shooting 40 ducks and 35 other birds in about a three-hour period of hunting in northern Mexico.

But the Central Intelligence Agency hasn't yet verified the figures, and it is reliably reported that there were no US in the vicinity to determine how many ducks were actually shot, down and how many still remain.

But, according to a handy IBM computer, 75 birds of any kind downed in three hours means one every two minutes. It would take a pretty good shot to average that number, even if birds were plentiful and there were few misses.

It is quite possible that there were four of five other members in the Eisenhower party, but this is only rumor and probably it would be a violation of the "bipartisan" spirit of the times even to mention it.

Sen. Fulbright said in his speech that Arkansas has placed a limit of one mallard a day on the duck hunters because the decline in the nation's duck population has become serious.

What Mr. Fulbright doesn't know perhaps is that the ducks which fly back and forth from Mexico to the United States and Canada aren't diminished in any appreciable quantity by visiting hunters from the United States.

Fearing that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which Mr. Fulbright is chairman, might possibly start to make an investigation of the subject and thus use valuable time which could be better employed in finding out what is happening in Cuba, this correspondent decided to make his own investigation of the grave problem that has arisen in the duck world.

From a former official of the Eisenhower administration — who, when interviewed, refused to take the fifth amendment, although he has been an enthusiastic duck hunter for many years — comes the testimony that in Mexico the so-called "market hunters" operate in groups.

With dozens of guns firing simultaneously, they shoot down several hundred ducks every hour, day after day.

By comparison, he said, all the visiting hunters from the United States account for a negligible number.

MONROE DOCTRINE?

But Congress and the Treasury Department, by putting a crimp in expense-account spending, have managed to reduce the demand from restaurants in this country anyhow, so there isn't any real need to kill so many ducks, after all. It's an ill wind that blows no good.

Certainly it's a worthy aim to conserve all kinds of wild life in this hemisphere, though it's a little hard to see how anything can be accomplished to restrain the real culprits — the "market hunters" in Mexico — unless some way can be found to resurrect the Monroe Doctrine.

Sen. Fulbright, as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, may not have realized it, but it is important not to create any new problems in international relations that might be "offensive" or "embarrassing" to heads of governments abroad.

For, after all, Prime Minister Macmillan is a dedicated hunter of grouse and is said to be very expert with a shotgun.

Bob Considine Says:

A Writer Never Knows When, Where He Offends

NEW YORK—Thrashing about senselessly in search of a metaphor that might describe San Francisco's curious pride in the presence of Alcatraz at its doorstep, I once wrote, "San Francisco is a place where people are prone to point to it with pride have always seemed to me to be capable also of hailing the erection of a downtown leprosy."

Well, a writer CONSIDINE never knows he offends when and where he offends.

"You hauled a boulder at our educational program on Hansen's Disease, commonly known as leprosy," writes Stanley Stein, editor of "The Star," published by the patients of the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital at Carville, La.

"In equating Alcatraz prison with a 'downtown leprosy,' you no doubt made such a comparison because a 'leprosy' is the most dangerous, most objectionable, and most pathetic place you could think of."

"It is discouraging that a newspaper should still harbor such archaic notions."

"It will probably surprise you to know that patients with leprosy are being treated in an out-patient clinic at the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital in San Francisco."

The Bible is the leper's worst friend and source of the direst warnings about the disease, most of them quite untrue, we learn from "The Star" and other sources.

NO PRECAUTIONS?

The famed leper-priest Father Damien contracted it, it is suggested by his biographers, "because he never took any precautions against infection but lived continuously under unhygienic conditions."

It has been called the least communicable of the communicable diseases.

The leprosy germ is almost identical to the germ of tuberculosis, and it was not discovered until 1874, by the Norwegian physician G. Armaner Hansen. But the recorded history of the disease reaches back to the Egypt of 4000 B.C.

Early diagnosis and prompt treatment with sulfone drugs can cure leprosy. Mr. Stein is one who hopes something can be done about curing the semantics of leprosy. "The Star" says:

"Since Biblical associations with the disease are a major factor in the leprophobia of today, a change in terminology would contribute to a saner public viewpoint."

"An immediate step in accomplishing the disassociation would be to discontinue medical application of the Old Testament name 'leprosy,' and to identify the Hansen infection by a scientifically accurate and descriptive name."

The Arab News and Views

Israeli authorities confiscated two Arab villages, Bana and Deir el-Asad, in the Galilee area in Northern Israel. The Israeli Military Governor ordered complete isolation of the two villages by prohibiting Arabs from neighboring villages from visiting them.

The inhabitants of the neighboring villages were reported to have called a meeting in protest against Israeli confiscation of Arab land to build an Israeli city to be called Talien.

Though the excuse for confiscating the Arab property may be different everytime, it is all part of a deliberate and continuous Israeli plan to strip the Arabs in Israel of any sizable holdings.

'Rigid Laws Might Solve Woeful Dog Situation'

The dog situation is getting ridiculous. People who had one dog now own two, sometimes three and they roam at large.

Our picture window "scene" consists of 5 or 6 unsanitary canines. Why not pass a law that no dog can run loose and make these so-called "dog lovers" confine their pets to their own yards?

Collect all loose dogs, licensed or not, fine the owners $25 to get them back and I'll bet in no time the dog problem will be solved.

'Little Compassion for Injured Woman'

A lady was hit by a car in front of the high school and a kind gentleman covered her with his coat and was trying to keep other cars from running over her.

The police and ambulance took her to the hospital. What shocked me was the complete indifference of so many people. Many took a quick look and saw it wasn't one of their friends or relatives and left. They walked because they had been inconvenienced for a few minutes with traffic tied up. When things cleared, the hot rollers boiled down Huron Street in both directions.

Short Memories

The Arizona (Phoenix) Republic

In a recent interview, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball hit back at critics of the administration's Cuban policy. The editorial interest would be served best, he implied, if Senator Keating and other irresponsibles dropped their charges that Soviet missiles and "offensive" weapons remain in Cuba.

What is remarkable about Ball's statements is that they indicate perhaps the shortest memory on record. For it was Ball, who right up until the time of the President's blockade announcement on Oct. 22 denied the existence of Soviet missiles.

At a press conference on Sept. 13, President Kennedy said that large-scale shipments to Cuba do not constitute a serious threat to any other part of the hemisphere. Three weeks later, on Oct. 3, Undersecretary Ball presented to a congressional committee the CIA's latest and most reliable information on deliveries to Cuba. The burden of Ball's report was that there were no offensive weapons in Cuba.

During this time Senators Keating, Goldwater, Thurmond and Smathers vigorously disputed what they felt to be either an attempted whitewash by the administration, or a serious intelligence gap within CIA. Four days after Senator Keating insisted that intermediate range missiles had been erected in Cuba, U.S. intelligence photographs confirmed Keating's charge. But less than a fortnight before his blockade announcement, President Kennedy accused Sen. Homer Capehart of wanting to send other people's sons to war.

The administration, both before and after the October blockade announcement, struggled mightily to dismiss the idea that a communist Cuba represents any sort of threat. Yet there can be no doubt that Red Cuba represents a clear and present danger. Recently a confidential report by a committee of the Organization of American States reported that communism is plotting the overthrow of governments in Latin America, and that the campaign is being directed from Cuba.

In the continuing public debate, is there any reason why those who were wrong yesterday should be accorded our complete confidence today?

Hair's to Yul! Likes to(u) Pay for Wife's Attire

By PHYLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — A great many men talk about how poorly groomed their wives look over the breakfast table — but one man does something about it.

He's Yul Brynner. Brynner himself may be undressed from the chin up, but he likes his wife Doris to be magnificently attired at all times, and he's willing to pay for it.

"Every man should spend as much of his income as he can possibly afford for his wife's wardrobe!"

"A wife should look her best at all times, especially when her husband is home," says Yul, who just came home from filming his new movie "Kings of the Sun."

"The husband should be willing to pay her, to assure that she does look her best at those times.

"There is no 'economy like beauty. So when we go to Paris, I always urge Doris to buy the latest in fashions. I'm delighted when she loses her mind at Dior."

"Of course, I admit I'm in the lucky position of being in a business that permits me to afford this luxury for my wife."

But curiously enough, I know many men who can afford more than I can, who keep their wives on a close budget. I can't understand."

"Seeing a woman in beautiful and expensive clothes is one of the delightful things in life. And why earn money, if not to enjoy the delights?"

Okay, you other guys. Stop complaining about the beat-up office can't read the addresses, housecoats. . .

NOW! COOL HEELS

Speaking of fashions, a Texan has invented shoes that are ventilated with electric fans. A small motor and batteries are installed in the shoe heel, with a channel running through the sole to a point near the toe; in this channel is a flexible shaft to turn the fan.

The cool air blows through the same passage and is diverted up through holes in the soles to the wearer's toes.

Now you may think this is ridiculous, but remember: They laughed at Rube Goldberg.

BUT, POOR PENS

All the recent talk about poor penmanship in American youths should practice writing — to music from a phonograph. He recommended writing in the rhythm of the tango — one letter for each beat.

"That is just about the right speed. The blues is too slow, and the fox trot is too jumpy."

He amended this flat statement slightly: "There are five letters in the alphabet that are conducive to waltz-time. They are your Ks, your Ms, your Ps, your Qs and your Ws. For these you may use the Blue Danube. But for the rest, may I recommend El Chelo?"

Don't know what happened to quaint old Mr. Rosenhaus, but the technique never caught on, I guess.

MOSCOW (AP) — Somebody tossed a tiny sprig of mimosa on Stalin's grave near the Kremlin wall late Tuesday. That was the only commemoration in Moscow of the 10th anniversary of the dictator's death.

There were flowers on the grave of his second wife, Nadesha, in the Novodevichy monastery. There almost always are flowers there, usually from Stalin's daughter Svetlana, who still lives next door to the Kremlin. There frequently are flowers on Stalin's grave, possibly from the daughter also.

Back Proposal on Fees for Gl's Orphans

LANSING (AP) — Eight state veterans' organizations have announced their support of a proposed amendment which would bring the University of Michigan and Michigan State University under terms of a law providing free tuition for the children of persons killed or disabled in the service.

Sen. John Smeekens, R-Coldwater, is sponsor of the bill which carries heavy bipartisan support in the Senate.

Both of the universities have accepted such students in the past years but recently have rejected them on technical grounds, the veterans' commanders group said.

Dems Castigate Budget Cutters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic congressional leaders yesterday charged that Republican claims that $10-$15 million can be cut harmlessly from President Kennedy's fiscal program were "wild" and "illogical."

The Democrats challenged the GOP to submit a bill of particulars for the proposed cuts.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said the Republicans "have a clever game going — be tough on Khrushchev, tough on Castro, tough on Kennedy. The more belligerent they become on Cuba the more economic they become on defense."

If the Republicans plan big reductions in domestic programs, Humphrey said, they would be "coming out against people."

Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio, chairman of the GOP task force on economy, retorted that "we have the bill of particulars prepared, and as any good lawyer does, we will file it when it is most appropriate."

STARTS COMPUTER — Oklahoma City Times Publisher E. K. Gaylord, 80 years old yesterday, pushes a button that starts a computer which justifies a perforated tape for type-setting machines. The paper initiated use of the automatic system yesterday.

Oklahoma Paper Begins Automatic Type Setting

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Oklahoma City Times today published its regular editions with type set entirely by a computer.

The development came on the 90th birthday of E. K. Gaylord, president and publisher of the Oklahoma City Times and Daily Oklahoman.

Today's feat marked the culmination of several years of independent research by the Oklahoma Publishing Co., working in liaison with officials of the International Business Machine Co.

An unjustified perforated tape is fed into the computer which then cuts a perforated tape which is run through a linotype that sets the type automatically.

The computer in its tape justifies lines of type to the proper column width and automatically hyphenates words.

"This important improvement in the efficiency of newspaper production methods has implications for every community in America," said Robert H. Spain, production manager of the Oklahoma and Times. "It could

U.N. Plans More Aid for Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Dward G. Hall, R-Mo., noting the recent furor over a special U.N. agriculture project for Cuba, said today the United Nations has programmed more than $1 million for 11 more Cuban projects.

The projects, administered by five U.N. sub-shrubs shrubland as the World Health Organization, are scheduled for the 1963-64 fiscal year, he said.

They are in addition to the $1.2 million farm project recently approved by the U.N. special fund.

The fund gets 40 per cent of its money from the United States, but President Kennedy has said no U.S. dollars will go into the Cuban project. Since contributions to the fund are voluntary, contributing nations may designate where their contributions are to be spent.

U.N. approval of the Cuban farm project drew angry fire from congressmen of both parties, who called it incredible in view of the current state of relations between Cuba and the United States.

Hall said the 11 projects he has uncovered in State Department records are all of a humanitarian nature, such as $170,000 for eradicating malaria in Oriente and Camaguary provinces.

"We Americans, certainly, agree with their general work," Hall said. "But once again, in the case of Cuba, American taxpayers who keep the U.N. solvent are being put in the position of paying to strengthen a Communist enemy nation."

Hall's findings were in a speech prepared for delivery to the House and printed in the Congressional Record.

Ionia Escapee Sent to Jackson

Guilty in Kidnaping of Young Mother of 2

A former Ionia State Hospital inmate convicted of kidnaping a 19-year-old Farwell mother of two was sentenced to a 9-to-20-year term in Jackson Prison Monday by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

James G. Styes, 34, was found guilty by a Circuit Court jury Feb. 19 of kidnaping the woman and her 14-year-old brother after escaping from the hospital in August 1961.

Styes and John T. Auld, 44, also a former inmate of the hospital, were arrested in West Bloomfield Township.

Auld pleaded guilty to the kidnap charge and is serving a 12½-to-25-year term.

The pair also was accused of raping the woman in West Bloomfield Township, but the charge was dismissed.

They appeared in Oakland County Circuit Court on the charges after a long delay caused by an appeal to the State Supreme Court. The attorney general challenged the county's jurisdiction in holding a sanity hearing for the pair.

Styes and Auld were found mentally competent to stand trial at the hearing, during which it was charged that they faked insanity in order to escape prison on felony convictions.

The state attorney general's office later dropped its appeal.

Navajos Pick New Tribal Chairman

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)—Raymond Nakai, 45-year-old radio announcer and ordinance worker, was elected tribal chairman of the Navajo Indians yesterday, defeating a man who had beaten him twice.

Nakai polled almost 2,000 votes more than Paul Jones, who was so confident of winning a third four-year term in the $20,000-a-year job that he didn't stay around for the count.

Jones, 63, was in Washington to testify before a Senate committee and couldn't be reached for comment.

At his home in Flagstaff, Ariz., Nakai said, "I am a happy man. I will exert every effort humanly possible to bring about certain things that I have discussed with the people."

More than 25,000 Navajos, scattered from Los Angeles to Chicago, voted but most votes were cast on the reservation, where 73,000 Navajos live. The reservation covers parts of Arizona, New Mexico and Utah.

'No Teachers in Legislature'

LANSING (AP) — The state's school chief reported today he has received verification that the proposed new constitution, if approved, would prevent teachers in state-supported schools or colleges from serving in the Legislature.

State Superintendent of Public Schools Lynn Bartlett said he asked for the ruling, received verbally from Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, because of concern over the issue expressed by various teacher and education groups throughout the state.

The move by Bartlett, a Democrat, to obtain the unusual official opinion from the Democratic Attorney General, was seen as another strategy move in the party fight to defeat the Republican-backed constitution.

The attorney general said provisions of the proposed constitution clearly rule the double holding of legislative and teaching positions would be illegal.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Medical Sleuths Investigate Like Sherlock

Sherlock Holmes used a sixth sense to catch criminals. Medical sleuths must often use intuition, the most up-to-date laboratory facilities, and a slight assist from Lady Luck to track down the villain that is causing a disease.

Many thrilling stories of such exploits are known. The most BRANDSTADT Dr. Brandstadt recent one to come to my attention has to do with histoplasmosis.

This is a lung infection that resembles tuberculosis and is caused by a yeast-like fungus.

The persons who run the greatest risk of getting this disease are those who clean out hen houses or are in other ways exposed to soil that has been contaminated by bird droppings.

The disease is not spread from person to person but is acquired by inhaling the dust from such soil.

Recently a 3-year-old boy developed an enlarged spleen and liver. Since no cause could be found, a surgeon opened his abdomen and snipped off a small piece of the enlarged organs. They were found to contain histoplasmosis.

The doctors then knew what disease they were dealing with.

But, since this all happened in the middle of the winter, they knew that the child could not have been exposed to contaminated soil.

Unless they could find out how the disease was transmitted they could not prevent recurrences. Their job was, therefore, far from completed.

SPECIALISTS ASSIST

Specialists in fungus diseases, attached to the Walter Reed Army Medical Center, were asked to help.

Even though snow covered the ground, they did not want to miss any bets. They took soil samples from the yard of the child's home and indoors from the potted plants.

No histoplasma were found. Because the child had had to have blood transfusions in his first days of life, the blood of all donors was examined but still no fungus was found.

The other members of the child's family also were examined and they too were given a clean bill of health.

The investigators thoroughly examined the dust in the filter from the air-conditioner, although the apparatus had not been used in months.

The mother was questioned not once but many times about the possibility of any contact with birds no matter how fleeting. She knew of none.

Then she remembered that one of the pillows the baby had used was stuffed with feathers. Like bloodhounds picking up a fresh scent, the investigators pounced on the pillow. The feathers were tested, and there was the villain!

With appropriate treatment, the infant was already well on the way to recovery. The pillow, which had been brought to this country from Hungary 30 years before, was well on its way to the incinerator.

There remained just one more mystery: Why hadn't any of the other children who had used this pillow in the 30-year period got histoplasmosis? That mystery may never be solved.

Anti-Castro Radio Said Set Up in Cuba

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Pompano Beach Sun Sentinel said yesterday an anti-Castro organization of more than 170 independent guerrilla units has set up a radio station in the Escambray Mountains of Cuba.

The newspaper said the station known as "Radio Rebels," carried its first broadcast a week ago.

The paper quoted unidentified sources as saying attacks against Fidel Castro's forces will be directed through the station.

Eager Letter Writer Sends Lots of Trash

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Passerby thought a fellow Huntingtonian had gone berserk when he suddenly seized a red, white and blue trash can, turned it upside down and dumped out its contents on busy Fourth Avenue.

The truth was he had mistaken the can for a mail box, and had "mailed" nearly a dozen letters just minutes before.

Home Economist Just a Cook? These Girls Say 'No Ma'am'!

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Women's Editor - Home economists are in the spotlight this week. In a proclamation issued by Gov. George Romney, making March 3-9 Home Economics Week, he said:

"Michigan citizens appreciate that home economics reaches into every phase of family living and is essential to the various areas of health, nutrition and human relationships of education, business, industry and labor."

"There will always be a need for home economics and a demand for home economists to develop homemaking ability and aid our own and other nations to improve levels of living for families."

A home economist is one who has graduated from college with a degree in some phase of home economics. It may be dietetics, clothing, teaching, consumer services or research, to name but a few.

The graduate may work in the advertising field, in journalism, in test kitchens or with the armed forces. Should she give up her job to get married, her training and experience can all be used on the home front, and she may go back to an outside job in later years.

In addition to the three practicing home economists pictured on this page, there are many others in the Pontiac area. Mary Jackson, head of the home service department of Consumers Power Co., is a home economist in business.

Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Oakland County consumer marketing information agent, works on consumer programs and is employed by Michigan State University.

The home demonstration agents at the extension department are all home economists. Mrs. Marguerite Hague of Birmingham, formerly a representative of the American Lamb Council, now teaches adult education classes. And there are more in other jobs.

We chose to picture three

who represent well-known facets of home economics.

Sue Anderson (Mrs. Stanley) Squires was conditioned to home economics and teaching from the time she was a little girl. Her parents are both teachers, and she has three aunts who were home economics majors in college.

Sue graduated from Michigan State University, then went on to take added courses at Wayne State. She taught home economics at Pontiac Northern High School.

The arrival of Roger put an end to her teaching. Mr. and Mrs. Squires bought a home at Sylvan Lake and Sue is happily applying her knowledge of home economics to making a pleasant home and caring for Roger. Roger's going to have a brother or sister this spring so Sue will have to be twice as efficient.

TEACHER

Mary Voorheis is also a graduate of MSU, but she entered teaching by a different route. She had taken educational home economics, but chose to become a 4-H agent in neighboring Macomb County. At a coed 4-H conference she met Ronald Voorheis, who was chaperoning a boys' 4-H group (He's treasurer of White Lake Township).

After her marriage, Mrs. Voorheis wanted a job near her new home. This is her second year as home economics teacher at Waterford Township High School.

She has three ninth-grade courses in general home economics, one third-year class and a study hall. Every Monday night and Saturday morning she meets with her 4-H group. Once a week she teaches an adult sewing class.

On the side she keeps house sews a little, and has a social life - when there's time.

Her enthusiasm for her profession is good to see. And the influence of a good teacher is immeasurable.

DIETITIAN

Mrs. Mary Stireman, chief dietitian at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, thinks she has the most exciting job in the world.

A graduate of Utah State University, Mrs. Stireman came to Pontiac after her marriage and has been at the local hospital for six years.

Her day's work includes such chores as overseeing all supplies and ordering new ones, checking menus and serving trays, working with homeward-bound patients who need special diet lists, handling administrative detail, and policy making.

Another dietitian, Mrs. Leona Jagunich, works with Mrs. Stireman, as do a number of diet clerks.

We asked Mary Stireman what a girl interested in the field of dietetics should know. Her answer was that she needs to like people and to love food. Being a hospital dietitian is much like running a fine restaurant, Mrs. Stireman said. It's always something new and not too much routine.

Institutes and conventions help keep dietitians up to date on what's new in the field.

For girls who are considering a career in home economics, here is an encouraging prediction: By 1965 the United States will need 65,000 more home economics graduates than it now has.

Mrs. Mary Stireman helps on the tray line at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Keeping hundreds of patients properly fed and happy with their food is part of her job as chief dietitian.

Touring Concert Pianist Schedules Appearance

American pianist Lee Luvisi will be presented by the Cranbrook Music Guild March 12 at 8:30 p.m. in Cranbrook House. The 35-year-old Louisville-born pianist is currently on his third North American concert tour.

Upon graduation from the Curtis Institute of Music at an early age, Mr. Luvisi was appointed a member of the Institute faculty, the youngest in its history. He still holds the faculty position and is still the youngest member.

Mr. Luvisi has entered one major competition, the Queen Elizabeth of Brussels Concours, where he won a $1,500 prize and a return invitation for a debut tour of Europe which included eight orchestral engagements on the continent.

Since making his Carnegie Hall debut in 1957, he has appeared with the New York Philharmonic and the Philadelphia orchestra and has played in Chicago, Philadelphia and Montreal, in addition to recitals and orchestral dates across the country and on television.

Violinist Thrills Symphony Audience

Mischakoff Bow Still Magic

By RALPH P. HUMMEL

Violinist Mischa Mischakoff set Pontiac hearstings fluttering last night.

The well-attended occasion at Pontiac Northern High School was the fourth concert of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra's 1962-63 season.

Soloist Mischakoff presented a classically calm rendition of Ludwig van Beethoven's only violin concerto, the Concerto in D Major, opus 61.

In return, concert goers accorded Mischakoff double honors.

Despite the current flu season, the only cough heard during the concerto was Mischakoff's, and he didn't. Then, at the end of the rendition, prolonged and resounding applause filled the hall.

Last night, Mischakoff showed that the years have not tarnished either his pure and clear tone or his strong and sure facility with the bow.

The luck tone was of particular importance in the Beethoven concerto. In it, the violin appears mainly as a lyrical soprano's voice, rising and floating above the orchestra.

Mischakoff met these demands with outstanding musicianship.

USUAL COMPLICATIONS Only in the cadenza of the first movement did the clear waters of sound become muddied. This solo passage presents the usual complications in which the violinist often sounds three strings while playing two melodies at the same time. At some points this didn't quite come off.

The orchestra, under the strict baton of Conductor Felix Resnick, gave Mischakoff koff sensitive support, barring a few lapses in pizzicato timing.

In general, the symphony chafed up another good night.

The evening started in a chamber - music mood with Bach's Concerto for Orchestra in D Major.

The orchestra gave it a capable rendition, seizing the opportunity of the slow second movement to show off individual orchestral sections.

This quiet movement received the needed understatement. Conductor Resnick wove a peaceful tapestry of uncluttered sound. Single musical threads emerged out of this clear definition.

FAST BOW WORK

The final movement, the Allegro, is a difficult section, characterized by much quick plucking of strings and fast bow work interspersed with well-rendered woodwind parts.

With "White Peacock" by the American composer Charles Tomlinson Griffes, Resnick continued to keep down the number of old warhorses in the stable of the Symphony's repertoire. It is partly this which makes going to the Pontiac symphony's concerts interesting.

The orchestral portion of the concert closed with an audience pleaser - a bouncy rendition of three dances from Frederick Smetana's opera, "The Bartered Bride."

BARBARA SUE STONE

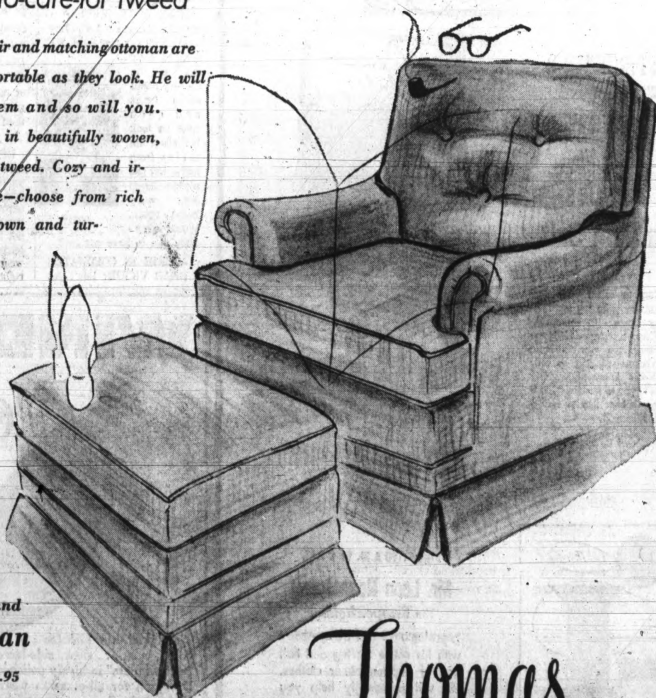

The engagement is announced of Barbara Sue Stone, daughter of the Ruelen L. Stones of Robinson Avenue, to Richard Perry Tison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl H. Tison of Pontiac Road. Her fiance attends General Motors Institute, Flint.

Don't Push Self on Neighbors

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: For the past eight years my husband and I lived in the suburbs but because the commuting was getting too much for my husband, we decided to move back to the city. We now live in a large apartment house. So far I have not met any of my neighbors although I do see them in the hall occasionally or when going up and down on the elevators. Would it be proper when meeting them, to introduce myself by saying, "I am Mrs. Jones, your neighbor in 10C"? A: Upon meeting your neighbors in the hall or on the elevators, you may certainly smile and bid them the time of day, but it will be best, in order to avoid being considered a pusher, not to introduce yourself to them unless they show signs of friendliness toward you.

Q: My daughter was engaged two months ago. We had planned on having an engagement party at that time but due to illness in the family, we were unable to do so. I would like to know if it is too late now to give an engagement party. A: If the news of your daughter's engagement is generally known, it would make little sense to give a party to announce the engagement, but there is no reason why you may not give a party in honor of the young couple's engagement.

Q: We live in a 3 1/2-room apartment and have only one bedroom. However, we do have a sofa in the living room that opens into a double bed. When inviting guests to stay with us for a weekend, does courtesy exact that we give up our room to them? A: You are not expected to give up your bedroom but you should tell your guests when you invite them that all you can offer them is a bed in your living room.

The Emily Post Institute offers readers booklets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like the booklet entitled "The Bride's Trousseau," send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

American Women React to Status Series

(EDITOR'S NOTE — UPI national reporter Harry Ferguson recently wrote a series on the status of the American woman. Bruised and weary, he has just cranked it out under an avalanche of letters from women in all parts of the country. Here is a report on the reaction.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States Information Agency has just released the results of a survey on what Europeans think about American women. In the four nations covered — Britain, France, Italy and West Germany — an average of 75.3 per cent of the persons interviewed had an unfavorable impression of the U.S. female.

Comments about her said she was "lazy, idle, shallow, vain, shrew, frivolous, domneering, over-sexed, had bad taste and no elegance."

The address of the United States Information Agency is 1776 Pennsylvania Ave., NW, Washington, D.C. Telephone: REpublic 7-3430. The director is Edward R. Murrow. They have sample facilities for handling telephone calls, telegrams and letters.

In event Murrow would like to know what he is in for, this correspondent can be of assistance on the basis of reaction to his own series.

Most of the letters will start out like this one from Athens, Tenn.: "I challenge the very idea of a man attempting to explain the dedicated role of women."

Here are a few of the statements made in the series on the American woman and some of the rebuttals.

Statement: A survey showed that the average American woman had more leisure than any other in the world because her home was filled with labor-saving devices.

Rebuttal, from Mantua, N.J.: "I own an electric can opener, coffee pot, frying pan, dishwasher and iron. There are still only 24 hours in the day and still one million things to do."

"The only woman who profits from these new push button gadgets are those who are rich enough to have a maid to push the buttons for them."

Statement: Author George Meredith was quoted as writing "Woman is the last animal on Earth that will be civilized by man."

Rebuttal, from Chicago: "That is the mis-statement of the century. Who but women encourages a man to shave, to speak softly, to avoid using coarse language and to refrain from acting like feelings than the Rock of Gibraltar, a monkey at a party after a few drinks?"

INTEREST IN LIFE
Statement: "Experts are almost unanimous that her first interest in life is motherhood inside the tribal laws of our civilization — to get married and have a family."

Rebuttal, from Orinda, Calif.: "After a few years of marriage she realized she has been tricked. No man can possibly live up to what she was taught to expect from marriage. The fact that both she and her husband have been deceived may become apparent in various ways."

"My point is this: We overemphasize marriage and try to make it a girl's only goal in life and this is bound to lead to unhappiness."

Statement: "Physicians agree women can endure pain better than men, or at least they suffer more without complaining."

Rebuttal, from Mahomet, Minn.: "In regard to women's capacity to endure pain, I might suggest that a woman can be very courageous about pain if she feels there is some logical reason for it."

"But remember that it is man, the philosopher, the creator of ideology, the seeker of wealth and power, who brings on senseless wars and political abuses. These cause the most pain in our world."

Statement: "The rate of illegitimate births in the United States is increasing faster than the population."

Rebuttal, from Philadelphia: "All men are bums with no more

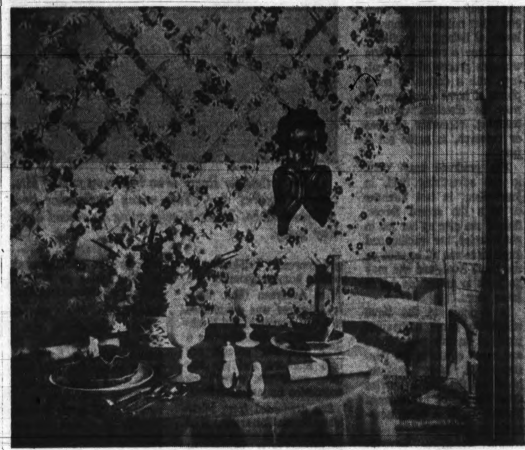

Statement: "In theory, women have achieved political equality with men, but in practice they have not. There are only two women in the United States Senate."

Rebuttal, from Chicago: "Why should women get into politics and soil their hands dealing with a bunch of crooks? Living in Washington, you ought to know that better than anybody else."

Over to you, Mr. Murrow.

9 Lives 'All Used Up'

Cat Refuses to Scat

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We have a big gray Angora cat who has used up all her nine lives. We dumped her out in the country about seven times and each time we took her about ten miles from home, but she always found her way home again. Would anybody like to have our cat?

ABBY

VICKIE IN COLDWATER

DEAR VICKIE: Don't you know that it is cruel to "dump" a cat out in the country? It could die of starvation or exposure. Tell your Daddy to call the animal shelter if you can't find a friend or neighbor who wants a big gray Angora cat which has used up all its lives.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are going to a very swanky formal affair at the best hotel in town. His firm is putting on the party. My problem is that the boss' wife does not have a fur stole and my husband is afraid that if I wear mine, it will not look right. Should I borrow a cloth evening coat for the occasion?

MRS. J.
DEAR MRS. J.: Certainly not! Wear your fur stole. (Maybe the boss' wife will borrow a fur stole for the occasion.)

Stop worrying. Write to Abby. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Can't Tie Loose Ends of Divorce Perfectly

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My ex-wife is neglecting my boy's education. Though my daughter is doing fairly well at school, my son's marks have been slipping. He says this is because he lost time with bronchitis this winter, and his mother backs him up. But I happen to know that she allows him to postpone homework to look at some television show he wants to see.

ANSWER: You seem awfully steamed up over your boy's school regression. Are you, by any chance, blaming your absence from home for your boy's poor school work?

Are you secretly saying to yourself, "If I'd not broken up Bill's home, he'd be doing good school work.

"He can't concentrate any more because his mind is on the terrible injury I have done him."

"But if I can make him pull up his marks, I'll know that my madness has not destroyed his ambition—and I'll be off the hook of my fear that I've wrecked his life."

I suspect so. For if you were at peace with your action of divorcing his mother, you could offer a reasonable solution to his problem. You might even offer to employ a tutor.

But when we are struggling with an inflated sense of our own badness, we cannot be reasonable or quiet in spirit.

We just flail about on the painful hook of our self-condemnation in the secret hope that somebody else will get us off it.

Now it is not my function to support either divorce or non-divorce between other people. But I do suggest that once we have made the decision to reject a marriage, our consciences require some overhauling.

We have to revise the kind of demand we make on ourselves as a divorced father or mother.

We have to settle for our inability to give our children the supreme example of a happily married parent—and at least make sure that though we've failed in delivery of the supreme example, we have given them a demonstration of honesty and courage.

We have shown our children that brave and honest people do not put up with unending punishment for a mistake they have made.

Divorced parents who insist on disparaging as bad ones can be just as destructive to children as parents who maintain a farce at marriage.

Winter's Hard on Skin

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Dermatitis heilmalis is a skin disease which has usually been associated with cold weather. It has been called by many different names, such as "winter eczema" and just plain "winter itch."

Many women have difficulty with extreme skin dryness and chapping during brisk, cold weather. It is very important for the woman who has an extremely dry or sensitive skin to take special precautions.

In most cases, this condition causes only mild discomfort but, if neglected, it can require the advice of a physician.

If you have a tendency toward very dry skin during winter and early spring months, you will be wise to avoid long and very hot baths and the use of too much soap. You should not take a tub bath too frequently.

Skin which has been artificially wetted and then exposed to very dry cool or cold air will chap readily.

The water on the skin causes a top layer of cells to swell. When these swollen cells are exposed to the very dry air, dehydration and chapping are rapid.

If you have an extremely dry skin which chaps during cold or windy months, add oil to your bath. You will find this a great help. Try to control the humidity of your home. Do not allow it to become too low.

Even if you do not have abnormally dry skin, your heels and elbows will need some "more-than-average" treatment after the ravages at winter and during any windy cold days ahead.

Following your bath, massage a good cream or body lotion into the heels and elbows and use a cuticle cream on the skin about your toenails and fingernails.

If you would like to have my exercises for the hands, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 12 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Aim of Budget: Get What You Want Most

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management
Dear Miss Feeley:

Even though I am single and 50-plus, I still want an orchid on my budget! I have a chance to take over an apartment I've wanted for some time, which a friend is giving up. But my friend says I'm foolish to spend the $25.50 a month for rent when my take-home pay is only $43 a week. However, I also get $40 a month dividends from some stock. And as I work in a doctor's office, medical attention is free.

A nice home means more to me than clothes or fancy food. Do you think I'm asking for trouble in taking this apartment?

Mary C., Cincinnati
Dear Mary:

Not trouble, just austerity. But one orchid to a budget is fair enough. The purpose of a budget, after all, is to get what you want most out of the money you have to spend. That rental is high for your income. But you can swing it, if you can manage a reasonable facsimile of this monthly schedule:

$32 for food; $30 for operating costs; $17 for clothing; $25 for transportation; $15 for savings, including insurance. Adding the rent, $25.50, that would leave you about $30 a month for such things as gifts and contributions, recreation, hospitalization, etc. By allocating your income in this way, you'll not have much money left for personal expenses.

Dear Miss Feeley:

How can a woman stay within her household allowance, when she's expected to run what amounts to a boarding house? My husband is always bringing somebody home to dinner—usually on short notice. This is driving me wild, trying to budget my money. When I complain he just shrugs it off and says we can economize somewhere else. Do you think this is fair?

Mrs. Ida M., Albany, N. Y.
Dear Mrs. M.:

Are you still looking for justice in marriage, for goodness sake? Harmony is a lot more fun. A man's impulse to bring his friends home is a compliment a lot of wives would cherish. It means he's proud of you, proud of your cooking.

When he calls you on short notice to say he's bringing his home to dinner, would you rather he said he was detained at the office?

Just put your mind to fitting your husband's hospitality into your budget. The trouble with a lot of people is that, once they set up a plan for spending, they think they have to hang onto it come what may. Any budget needs overhauling now and then, in the interests of better living.

Take a dollar here and there from other expenditures, and tighten up your food allowance. You can trim your recreation funds, since entertaining in your home certainly is a part of enjoying life.

Avoid the frustration of short notice by keeping dinner ingredients on hand—accumulating a few items at a time. A canned chicken, canned ham, tuna, noodles, Parmesan Cheese, canned nuts which stay fresh, crackers, crumbs, concentrated soups—all these off the makings of excellent casseroles. Speedy.

Use pretty trimmings with a simple dish. Dress up cold chicken or any sliced meat with a ring of red spiced crabapples, pineapple slices, or roasted grapes. It doesn't take long to buy a bunch of grapes—and frosting them is just a matter of dipping them in white of an egg, then in powdered sugar, and letting them set while you pretty up.

Another good quickie is tuna Tetrazzini—cousin to chicken T. For less than a dollar, you can serve this casserole for three.

For less than $2, and in a few minutes, you can achieve a fine old Polish dish of chicken livers, chopped apples, onions and marjoram—moistened with a dash of cooking sherry, or a bouillon cube.

Search the cookbooks for likely short-order dishes, and keep a recipe file handy. And stop making furrows in your brow.

(What's your problem? Write to Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.)

President Installed
Mrs. Charles Price was installed as new president of Cook-Nelson American Legion Auxiliary Monday evening.

Plans for the post birthday dinner were discussed. Mrs. Leo James was in charge of refreshments.

Polly's Pointers

Toothpaste Cleans

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Children sometimes get carried away while coloring with crayons and decide to color the walls. The solution is to apply toothpaste to the marks and let it set for 15 minutes. Then wipe off with a dampened cloth. Like magic, the crayon marks disappear.

GIRLS—Sally, my daughter-in-law, used this to remove marks made by non-washable crayons on both painted walls and woodwork. However, she said the toothpaste should not be left on too long, or it will harden.

DEAR POLLY—Young mothers who sometimes take their children to eat in restaurants should carry an eight-inch length of ribbon, spiked at each end with a clip clothespin. This, placed around the back of a child's neck and fastened to two corners of a restaurant napkin, will make a good bib in seconds.

A little baking soda sprinkled into ash trays will serve as a fire extinguisher if any cigarettes are smoldering. Also makes the trays easier to clean.

DEAR POLLY—Prizes are always needed for a child's birthday party, and most of us end up with the same old things. A good idea is to send away throughout the year for the different kinds of games and prizes advertised on the back of cereal boxes and so on.

Put them away and when junior's birthday arrives, you will have an inexpensive variety of prizes that will delight the children. Saves on shopping time, too.

Share your favorite homemaking ideas . . . send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your ideas in Polly's Pointers.

SEW SIMPLE By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice, I love every part of your column, but especially the exchange of ideas from your readers. I just cut out a plaid skirt and was so careful to match every part of the pattern, but I slipped up somewhere. At the center back of the skirt, there are two large blocks of plaid right next to each other, instead of one block being centered.

"I simply can't figure out what I did wrong. Help!"
Dear Mrs. R. M. E.:
The little slip-up you made is a rather common error in cutting plaid. You were matching the edge of your pattern (which would be inside the back pleat) instead of the center back seam-line. Always be sure the CENTER BACK marked on your pattern is at the center of a block of your plaid.

Good luck next time.
"My favorite dress has just worn out and I can't seem to find a pattern I like as well. Can I use my old dress for a pattern?"
Mrs. L. M.
Dear Mrs. L. M.:

It is possible but I ordinarily do not recommend doing this because there is so much danger that you will stretch your dress and consequently, cut your pattern too large.

Carefully remove the darts and seams and press each section flat, keeping the grain-line as nearly perfect as you can. Be sure to add a little extra to each seam allowance where the old seam was pinked and probably has raveled a little.

If you can't find the grain-line, check one of your patterns to see the approximate placement for each piece of the garment. I'll be eager to know how this works. We probably all have "favorites" we hate to see wear out and would like to duplicate.

HELP, PLEASE
Mrs. O. D. L. asks if anyone knows of an answer to putting color back into a dress that has faded under the arm from perspiration?

"Dear Eunice, 'Will you please explain how to make darts that will not pucker at the bottom?'
Mrs. M. S. S.:
The larger the dart, the more it will pucker at the end. Since large darts are used for control of the fabric where there is a sudden change in measurements, such as for the bust, it is important not to use a large dart where there is little shaping needed.

Most of the difficulty seems to come from the darts on the front of your skirt. May I suggest that you use two small darts instead of one on the skirt front. Be sure to taper them so gradually that you will not be able to tell where the dart ended.

HUSBAND HELPED
"The most valuable sewing aid I have is one my husband made for me. It's a 36-inch square piece of plywood covered with cork (which can be purchased in large sheets.) The cork is glued to fit the plywood. Glue a yardstick on one edge.

"This handy board can be used for cutting the smaller pieces of a garment, as well as a handy work space for any garment construction. What a lifesaver to anyone living in an apartment—it's so handy and takes so little storage space."

The week's award of a Tailor Trix pressing board goes to Mrs. W. McLendon, Washington, D.C., for this fine suggestion.

How Would Railroads Abolish Featherbedding?

CHICAGO (AP) The nation's ice workers get the mileage benefits, which they say is incentive pay, while yard service workers are paid on an hourly basis. The outcome will affect the jobs of perhaps 65,000 men.

What is the fight all about?

The rail-lines demand revisions to abolish what they call featherbedding. This is a practice of forced work which they claim costs them $600 million a year. J. E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference, says the railroads are ready to conclude an agreement within the framework of recommendations made a year ago by a presidential railroad commission.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, has termed the commission report "harsh, inhumane and retrogressive." The brotherhoods claim their proposals to modernize the wage and rules structure have been ignored.

Here are the commission's six main recommendations and the views of each side:

NO NEW FIREMEN

1. No new firemen would be hired for diesel locomotives in freight or yard service. The 27,000 firemen with at least 10 years seniority would continue working until eliminated by natural attrition—death, retirement, etc.

The remaining 13,000 firemen with less than 10 years service would be dismissed with 3 to 12 months notice. They would receive dismissal pay ranging up to 36 months at 60 per cent of past pay. Displaced firemen would get priority in rehiring and two years of retraining.

Management contends: "You can't run a modern railroad on conditions set up years ago."

The unions call the firemen a diesel helper and say he's needed for greater safety on trains. Gilbert says 190 train employees were killed in one recent year.

"The same fireman is outmoded because he doesn't shovel coal," a union spokesman says. "But his presence is needed as supervisor of power; he supervises the diesel equipment and does engineering work while the train is en route."

WAGE OVERHAUL

2. An overhaul of the wage structure, with pay geared to a combination of time and mileage. This is calculated to result in pay raises for 75 per cent of the workers while others could make up for pay cuts, in part, by putting in more hours and riding more miles.

Management holds the present pay structure to be a relic of a slow-moving era when a 100-mile trip was regarded as the equivalent of a full day's work.

The unions challenge the commission's finding and contend wages actually would be cut and hours would be lengthened by the proposed changes. "It's hardly a pay increase," a union official said. "It would amount to a cut in pay as much as 80 per cent for locomotive engineers."

NEW EQUIPMENT

3. Railroads should have unlimited right to introduce new equipment and modernize operations. Workers who lost jobs as a result would receive protection at railroad expense.

Wolfe commented "very generous employee protection is recommended."

"The brotherhoods are not against technological change," a union spokesman asserts. "We just want protection for our men."

ROAD SERVICE

4. Road service workers should do limited switching and terminal chores for their trains. Road crews should do switching and station work where yard crews are not on duty. Yard crews should be abolished in places where work volume is low.

Management claims "flagrant featherbedding" has persisted in these areas.

The unions point out road serv-

Melchior's Wife Leaves Request in Her Will

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Maria Melchior, late wife of retired opera singer Lauritz Melchior, left her estate to her husband with a request that he invest it.

Her will, filed for probate in Superior Court Tuesday, named her husband as executor. The estate was valued at about $10,000 by her attorney.

More than 63 million workers were placed on jobs last year by public employment offices in the federal-state system, the Labor Department reports.

ilities. Such a change would knock out certain requirements for crew changes. New rules would provide for binding settlement of disputes over interdivisional service and would allow moving expenses and compensation for relocated workers.

ADJUST RUNS

5. Lengths of runs should be adjusted to modern operating capa-

The railroads offered as an example of current practices: a 7-hour run from Minneapolis to Chicago—400 miles—requires three engine crews.

"To submit to binding arbitration the basic agreement controlling a worker's seniority, job assignment, and working conditions surveys and negotiations. Employees let out in such cases would receive unemployment compensation financed by the train line workers and their families would be uprooted.

6. Changes in sizes of train too many trainmen and yard brakemen."

"The railroad industry is still one of the most hazardous to life and limb in our nation," says Gilbert. In 1960, he said, 190 employees were killed and 13,245 injured.

"It is not a good record, but it could be worse, a lot worse," Gilbert submits, "if the employees are denied their present contractual voice in the determination of crew size and work assignments."

To the binding arbitration proposals—a sore point to the unions—a spokesman says: "You can submit working conditions to binding arbitration sometimes. But you don't submit the life and death of jobs."

Three New Ways to Prepare Economical Chicken

Chicken has many moods. They range from the heights of elegance to the middle ground of family fare, and all are essentially economical. Now is the time to sample some of the variety chicken affords.

Stew a chicken to prepare easy-on-the-budget Chicken Squares. This chicken and rice medley is perked up with a touch of parsley and pimiento, then crisply topped with buttered oven-toasted rice cereal. Bake biscuits to serve with the entire, along with peas and carrots and a winter fruit salad.

A gaily continental view of chicken is presented in Italian-Style Oven Fried Chicken. To prepare it, marinate a cut-up fryer in olive oil or French dressing. Before baking, coat the pieces with a mixture of packaged corn flake crumbs, Parmesan cheese, parsley, garlic and seasonings.

Scalloped Chicken and Stuffing is a casserole that will take honors when featured at a company buffet. It combines well-seasoned dressing, chunks of cooked chicken and a creamy sauce. The secret of the tasty dressing is whole bran cereal. Accompany the main dish with buttered asparagus spears, a fresh spinach salad and flaky crescent rolls.

Chicken Squares

3 cups diced or sliced cooked chicken
1 cup cooked rice
1 1/2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 1/2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 eggs, slightly beaten
1 1/2 cups hot seasoned chicken stock

1 cup oven-toasted rice cereal
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine

Combine chicken, rice, parsley, pimiento, salt, pepper and eggs; mix carefully. Stir in hot chicken stock. Pour into greased 8x11-inch pan. Combine oven-toasted rice cereal and melted butter; sprinkle over chicken mixture. Set in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 40 minutes, or until set.

Yield: 9 2 1/2-inch squares

Italian-Style Oven Fried Chicken

2 1/2 - 3-pound frying chicken, cut up
1/2 cup olive oil OR
1/2 cup French dressing
4 cups corn flakes OR
1 cup packaged corn flake crumbs
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/2 cup chopped parsley
1 clove garlic, minced
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Wash and dry chicken pieces. Marinate chicken pieces in olive oil for 1 1/2 hours, turning occasionally. If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine corn flakes, crumbs, cheese, parsley, garlic, salt and pepper; mix well. Roll chicken pieces in crumb mixture.

Arrange in shallow baking pan without crowding. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 1 hour, or until chicken is tender. Yield: 4 servings.

Scalloped Chicken and Stuffing

1/4 cup finely chopped onions
1/2 cup chicken fat or butter
4 cups coarse bread crumbs
1/2 cup whole bran cereal
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1/2 cup chicken stock

2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 1/2 cups diced, cooked chicken
1/2 teaspoon paprika

Cook onions in 1/4 cup of the chicken fat in a medium-sized saucepan until golden brown. Add to bread crumbs together with whole bran cereal, salt, pepper, poultry seasoning and chicken stock; mix lightly.

Melt remaining chicken fat in same pan in which onions were cooked; stir in flour and salt. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat; combine with eggs and grease 10x6-inch baking dish. Pour sauce over chicken and stuff in moderate oven (350 degrees) into squares to serve. Yield: 4 servings. Spread stuffing in cover with diced cooked chicken. fmg. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake about 30 minutes or until set. Cut servings.

Dem Candidate Denies Claim

Waterford Fire Chief Elmer Fangbender today denied a statement that he has been using a township vehicle in his campaign on the Democratic ticket for election as township clerk April 1.

The statement was made by Township Trustee Loren Anderson, a Republican.

"Up until now I have done no campaigning other than put up a few signs," Fangbender stated. "And this was done while I was out of uniform and driving my own car," he added.

Fangbender said he considered Anderson's statement a very serious charge.

"He should have taken the matter up with the Township Civil Service Commission instead of bringing it up at a township board meeting when it wasn't even on the agenda, and I wasn't there to defend myself," he said.

Anderson made the comment Monday night during a discussion on Fangbender's dual role of fire chief and clerk candidate.

As a result, the board voted to seek an attorney general's opinion on whether fire and police department personnel are eligible to seek public office.

Indications were that such an opinion would not be forthcoming for several months. It would not affect Fangbender's candidacy in the April 1 election.

Delay Verdict on Disposition of Henry Case

A decision whether or not City Commissioner Milton R. Henry should be bound over to Circuit Court on a felonious assault charge has been delayed until March 12.

Municipal Court Judge Cecil McCallum postponed his ruling because he is hearing a jury trial.

Last Wednesday, McCallum gave Henry's attorney a week to present arguments on why their client should not be sent to the higher court.

Calls Supersonic Air Travel Too Costly

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The increased cost of operation makes currently planned supersonic aircraft uneconomical, an industry executive says.

W. C. Mentzer, United Air Lines vice president, told the American Society of Mechanical Engineers today that tomorrow's airlines must carry 200 to 400 passengers in order to pay off.

Present U.S. designs tend to carry about 150 passengers or the same as today's subsonic jets," he said.

Quiz Is Set in Alleged Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police say they plan to question a reputed gangster in connection with the alleged slaying of an ex-fighter and trainer by a Detroit policeman.

Detective Inspector George Bloomfield said yesterday police intend to question a man reported to be in the numbers racket. Officers refused to identify the man.

Detroit patrolman Forrest A. Foster Jr., 35, has admitted the fatal Monday night shooting of John Arthur (Wimpy) Elliott, 44, a boxing gym trainer and errand boy.

Foster, who is at Receiving Hospital, was wounded as he attempted to fire arresting officers at Mount Clemens.

Inspector Bloomfield said Foster told him he thought someone was trying to squeeze him out of his manager's contract with Detroit lightweight Gene Gresham. Bloomfield said he doubted any numbers syndicate wanted the contract, but added that individual gamblers sometimes invest in fighters.

Police said Foster apparently did not know who was trying to force Gresham's contract, but thought Elliott did. Bloomfield said Elliott was shot as he and Foster sat in Foster's small foreign-made car.

Bloomfield said Foster told him he shot Elliott after Elliott pulled a knife. The inspector said Foster told him he panicked and tried to dispose of the body.

School Planners Will Organize

An organizational meeting of a citizens advisory committee to develop a master school plan for Waterford Township is slated for 7:45 p.m. tomorrow at Pierce Junior High School.

Establishment of the committee was authorized last month by the school board.

Nearly 300 invitations to area organizations and individuals have offered committee membership.

SCHOOL DISTRICT OFFICIALS expect a minimum of 100 persons to respond.

A committee chairman will be named by the school board at a special meeting preceding the committee meeting.

Slated for the 7:15 p.m. board meeting is a review of a list of both teaching and administrative personnel expected to return for the 1963-64 school year and authorization of new contracts.

A request from the State Highway Department regarding the siting out of the Clinton River at the Waterford Township High School site also will be considered.

Told 'No Work, No Talk' on Pay

PARIS (AP) — The government held back its big stick in the French coal strike today but told 200,000 striking miners they must go back to work before their demands can be discussed.

The miners showed no signs of ending their walkout.

The work-before-talks statement came from Premier Georges Pompidou. He told two political delegations that the government's decision to draft the miners was not a challenge to their right to strike.

He said the order is designed to avoid a shutdown of French industry through a depletion of the nation's coal supply.

Meeting with delegations from the Gaullist Union for the New Republic and the Democratic Union of Workers, Pompidou said he will make the government position clear in a nationwide radio-television address tomorrow or Friday.

Now in its sixth day, the strike is labor's first major stand against President Charles de Gaulle's 4½-year-old regime. The workers seek higher wages and a 40-hour week.

Epidemics still cause a great number of deaths, but have been curbed greatly in the last 10 years.

Red China Ignores Stalin's Death Day

TOKYO (AP) — The Communist Chinese have been using quotations from Joseph Stalin to harry Soviet Premier Khrushchev for the past week, but they ignored the 40th anniversary of his death Tuesday.

The daily digest of the Red Chinese press showed no references to the late dictator who was the first person to sign a treaty of friendship with China after the Communists took over.

Church officials have not decided what will be done with the house, located in a subdivision known as Oak Knoll Farms, according to Ball.

"The vestry will have to decide if it wants to maintain the house, pay for its upkeep, or dispose of it and place the proceeds in the church treasury," Ball said.

Tropical Brazil City Belem Busy, Prosperous Community

BELEM, Brazil (AP) — Put away those notions that life in the equatorial tropics is just one drowsy battle against boredom and mosquitoes in a rain-splashed, palm-thatched inn. Belem long ago gave up rock 'n' roll for the twist.

It is a busy, prosperous community of 420,000 with four daily newspapers, four radio stations, one television channel and a cluster of 15- to 20-story skyscrapers — a sort of white-washed, scrubbed Trenton-on-Amazon with palms and mangoes.

Belem also is old and still retains much of the African influences that enrich its rhythms, dress and traditions, and even its beliefs.

In the teeming waterfront markets you can buy a packet of fragrant bath herbs promising in print — to be a "magnetizer of combative forces against plagues, hives, envy, hate, persecution, evil eye, weakness (resulting from the evil eye), bad fortune and ailing family."

For those with less complicated lives, there is a simpler mix guaranteeing "marvelous success in matters of love and money."

Belem's fortunes reached a peak at the turn of the century when natural rubber was king. This was Brazil's queen city. Its customs house was the richest, its aristocrats among the most affluent in the hemisphere.

Among the latter were those who built their next eggs in the quicker, riskier, business of contraband that thrived in this once-isolated part of the world. Until a year ago, smuggling was one of Belem's big money-making operations.

Many businessmen will tell you — as if recalling a delicious clandestine romance — how it was once actually possible to go shopping for such contraband items as cars, typewriters, radios, television sets, almost anything desired.

'HOT GOOD' PLENTIFUL

"You could get a big TV set for as little as $80, a fifth of the best Scotch for one dollar," recalls one store owner no longer dealing in "hot" goods.

Contraband cars were so plentiful, they were referred to as "cotias," after the jungle rodent that seems to thrive on urban living.

But bringing in the vehicles was a delicate business and many of them wound up in customs for lack of payment of import duties.

One way of getting around this obstacle, the smugglers found out, was to remove important parts of a car and deliberately allow customs to impound it.

Customs eventually would have to auction the vehicle — and your country."

who'd bid for a car without doors? Only the smuggler, who thus cheaply acquired a legally admitted auto to which he later added the missing doors.

The decline in customs revenues, a main budget support, resulted in tighter government vigilance to curb the inflow of contraband goods — via jungle, river and sea — mostly from the neighboring Galanas.

Brazil's booming production of consumer goods including autos also helped stunt the contraband market.

BRAZIL NUT SCARCE

But as difficult to get here as anywhere in Brazil are Brazil nuts. Belem is the home of this dark, hard-shelled nut. Through here moves an annual crop of between 30,000 and 35,000 tons — 50 per cent to the United States, 45 per cent to Europe and the remainder for Brazil.

"The Brazil nut is too rich for a hot climate and that accounts for its unpopularity in this country," says Jose Chamile, 58, the nut baron of Belem.

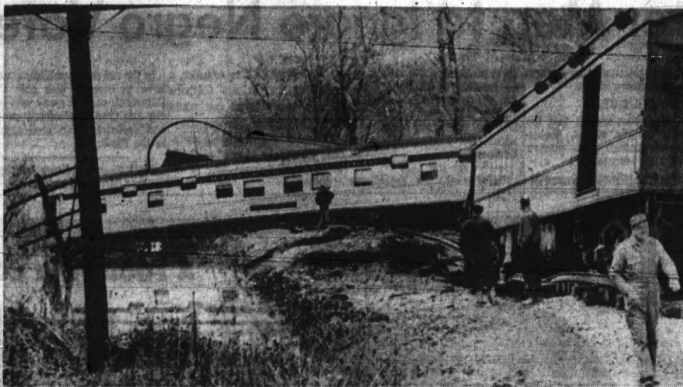

He and his brother Wady, 56, are the eldest members of the Lebanese family that pioneered the Brazil nut export business, now one of Belem's chief revenue producers.

Belem's poor appear better fed and clothed than the impoverished inhabitants of Brazil's drought-ridden, jammed northeast.

The people here live on the edge of the vast, comparatively empty Amazon reaches — the new frontier which the government's ambitious northeast development program hopes to convert into a breadbasket for Brazil's exploding population.

"The country is opening up little by little," rear Adm. Osmar de Almeida Rodrigues, 54, commander of this area's 4th Naval District, told a reporter from the United States.

"The airplane is doing for us what the prairie schooner did for the west."

OHIO TRAIN WRECK—Heavy rains were blamed for the wreck of this Baltimore & Ohio passenger train west of Chillicothe, Ohio, yesterday. The two diesel units and five of nine passenger cars were sent scotching when the train reached a washout. No injuries were reported, but a woman suffered a heart attack. Two baggage cars were submerged in high water (left).

Goldwater Men to Ignore Negro Vote

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some of the Goldwater-for-president troops among Republican state chairmen now have made the agonizing decision about how to deal in 1964 with the Northern Negro vote.

They have decided the party should ignore the Northern Negroes and bid for the electoral votes of the one-time solid South.

Goldwater, of course, is not bound by this decision.

Neither was he

WILSON the Goldwater-for-president boomlet put in orbit here last week when Republican state chairmen gathered for a strategy huddle.

In early January, Goldwater asked his friends not to press him for at least a year for a decision on seeking the presidential nomination.

Conservative Republicans generally want Goldwater in 1964. Equally, they don't want Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. The temptation to launch a Goldwater-for-president boomlet during the meeting of state chairmen was too much.

Goldwater enthusiasts proposed that the Republican party attempt in 1964 to elect a president without electoral votes from New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New England, Michigan, Missouri, Washington, Oregon and California. They claimed their man could win 311 electoral votes — and the election — outside of those states.

This agonizing decision so tightly made by unofficial and more or less unorganized Goldwater for - president Republicans still must be made or be avoided by the Republican party itself. The decision is whether to abandon electoral votes in some Northern states where the Negro vote is a major factor in favor of going all out for Southern states.

The fact that some of his supporters would play it that way does not as of now commit Goldwater to any such strategy. But if the Republican party is to go after the Southern electoral vote next year, it is reasonable to believe that it would have to be done with Goldwater heading the ticket. Rockefeller is committed to the opposite strategy.

The hard political fact is that the Republican party must make up its mind, make the tough decision. Several questions are involved.

The Republicans must ask themselves whether they have any real chance of regaining the Northern Negro vote. If the answer is negative, the Republicans must answer up to this one:

Can the Republicans remain in business as a major political party if they (A) must concede the Balance-of-power Northern Negro vote to the Democrats and (B) also concede to the Dem

Gregory told Judge Harry Ziebler yesterday he couldn't pay $500 fine and was sentenced to pick up beer cans littering local highways at 50 cents a can. The extras are for court costs.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

OBVIOUS ANSWER

It is obvious enough that the answer to this second, double-barreled question is an emphatic NO. So, what to do?

What the Republicans must do is to determine as accurately as possible whether the party can win the big industrial states without the Negro vote. If not, has the party any chance to regain the Negroes from the Democrats?

Failing that, the Republican will be compelled to consider massive effort to win Southern electoral votes. What that would do to Republican congressional and local candidates in big northern industrial states probably would be to defeat some or all of them.

In the end the Republicans may have to concede that only the Democrats can get away with being Jim Crow in Southern states and spokesmen for civil rights in the North.

Cold Camp Breaks Up

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP)—A piece of Antarctica has broken off and floated away, taking part of an unmanned American ice station with it, the U.S. Navy said today.

The naval icebreaker Edisto discovered the 1,500-by-500-foot chunk of ice 300 miles northwest of where it should have been attached to the Ross ice shelf. government protection for hedge hogs, moles and frogs which dates back to 1872.

The break had bisected the station, exposing the interiors of two buildings. Canned supplies still stood on their shelves.

'Other Adenauer' Can Be Tough

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
On display in Bonn in recent days have been what might be called the "two faces of Adenauer."

One is the face by which Chancellor Konrad Adenauer seems most likely to be remembered by history.

The other is that of a tough politician, an in-fighter who rides roughshod over his opposition, often to the irritation of the German people.

The occasions were the approval by the upper house of the West German Parliament of the new West German - French accord which will go into Adenauer's historical record.

And, on the political side, the renewal of his vendetta against his economic minister and vice chancellor, Ludwig Erhard.

The two occasions were linked.

Back on Jan. 22 when Adenauer and de Gaulle signed their accord, the aging chancellor called it "the crowning point of my career . . . the most beautiful day of my life."

But when Adenauer returned to Bonn from this emotional moment, he found a rebellious cabinet.

Europe still was in an uproar over President Charles de Gaulle's veto of British membership in the Common Market; and, in Germany, it appeared this might be the issue which would turn Adenauer's "most beautiful day" to ashes.

OPPOSITION ARROWS

The opposition accused Adenauer of being so anxious for the treaty that he had not even attempted to plead Britain's cause.

In a shaft directed straight at Adenauer, Erhard declared: "Europe without Britain is unthinkable."

While parliamentary veto of the accord now seems unlikely, the issue did reopen the ancient feud.

Adenauer now is scheduled to step down from his job this fall in order to give his successor time to prepare for the 1965 elections.

That successor is expected to be Erhard whom Adenauer never has thought the man for the job.

In 1959 Adenauer risked splitting the dominant Christian Democratic party when his opposition to Erhard led him to renege on an earlier promise to step down and seek the largely honorary post of president of the republic.

That the split was avoided was due to the fact that Erhard voluntarily stepped aside.

And now the two have publicly shaken hands, and a party spokesman has announced an end to the feud. Time will tell if the new friendship lasts.

Whether Adenauer ever really wanted Britain within the tightly-knit six-nation Common Market is a matter for debate. At any rate, that and his feud with Erhard provided the kind of politicking which within Germany mars the Adenauer historical image.

Under Adenauer's leadership, Germany has become one of the strongest nations in Europe, has returned to the family of free nations, has become wealthy and a bastion of western defenses against communism. But in Germany the picture too often is that of a rough and sometimes unscrupulous politician.

Armed Services Accused of Squandering Millions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The General Accounting Office, in four separate reports to Congress yesterday, accused the armed services of wasting millions of dollars in faulty supply and staffing procedures.

One report charged that over-staffing at military installations in Japan cost the nation nearly $3 million a year, but despite this, "many facilities had not been adequately maintained and large backlogs of work had accumulated."

It said the Pentagon had taken corrective measures.

Three other reports charged poor supply methods. They said:

—The Army spent $3 million for the "unnecessary cost" of rebuilding tank tracks which deteriorated because they were stored outdoors.

—The Army Corps of Engineers disposed of $541,200 worth of crane shovels even though they were in unused or repairable condition, while at the same time planning to spend about $12 million to replace them and others in the system with similar shovels.

—The engineers spent $575,000 and planned to spend an additional $321,000 to replace unused outboard motors already in inventory.

—The Army also was about to buy 1,365 "unnecessary" generator sets for $6.3 million when the GAO stepped in and suggested it use the 1,500 already on hand.

Name New Head of Michigan UPI

DETROIT (UPI) — The appointment of John A. Limpert as regional executive for Michigan has been announced.

Limpert, 29, succeeds the late James J. Klockenkemper. The appointment was announced by Dale M. Johns, UPI central division manager.

Limpert, a native of Appleton, Wis., and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, had been regional executive for Illinois since 1960.

Eggs Earn Place in Menus

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

We don't know — or even care — which came first, the hen or the egg. We're just glad that eggs are plentiful and at this time of year economical.

Homemakers who are ending the first week of Lent are especially glad that eggs provide a nourishing and appetizing substitute for meat.

An omelet is always a good choice for a dinner dish. This one bakes for 15 minutes so you have time to complete last-minute preparation of your other food.

Omelet With Pea Sauce
1-3 cup butter or margarine
2 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon onion salt
2 cups milk
1 1/2 teaspoons prepared mustard
2 drops Tabasco sauce
6 eggs, separated
1 package (10-ounce) frozen peas, partially defrosted and broken apart
1 cup shredded pasteurized process American cheese

Melt 1/2 cup butter or margarine; blend in flour, 1 teaspoon salt, paprika and onion salt. Add milk, mustard and Tabasco sauce; cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Keep hot. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; fold in 1/2 cup sauce.

Beat egg whites and 1/2 teaspoon salt until they hold soft peaks. Fold in egg yolk mixture carefully but thoroughly. Pour into lightly buttered heated (not hot) heatproof 10-inch skillet or skillet with removable handle.

Cook over low heat until lightly browned on sides and bottom, 12 to 15 minutes. Place in mold.

Don't be fooled... by claims of "Durus" or "100% Durus" when you buy macaroni. Durus wheat, just like the beef you buy, has many grades of quality—with the top grades costing 30% more! Buy nothing but Granitella macaroni because it's made only from Semolina, the choice grain, milled from No. 1 Hard Amber Durum... the best!

erale oven (350 degrees) until set, about 15 minutes.

Combine peas, remaining butter or margarine and 1/2 teaspoon salt; heat thoroughly. Stir into remaining sauce; spoon over baked omelet.

Enriched Rice Best Unwashed

EAST LANSING — Families using U.S. Department of Agriculture donated foods are reminded that they should not wash the rice they receive. They would be washing away precious vitamins and minerals, according to Roberta Hershey, Michigan State University extension nutritionist.

Miss Hershey also says it's not necessary to wash any kind of packaged rice—including the rice you buy at the grocery store. She points out that the U.S.D.A. donated rice and some of the rice on grocery shelves is enriched or converted. This means that the vitamins and minerals lost in the milling (or polishing) of the rice are replaced or retained by a special process.

She explains that the U.S.D.A. donated rice is enriched in one of two ways: It may have super-enriched kernels of rice added to it, or vitamins and minerals may be added in a powdered form.

"Therefore," Miss Hershey continues, "don't wash or drain the rice before or after cooking it. You'll be pouring hard-to-get vitamins and minerals down the drain."

Miss Hershey suggests this recipe for "Savory Rice," a way to combine rice and pork into a low-cost but nutritious dish.

Savory Rice
2 cups chopped cooked pork (or any leftover meat)
2 cups meat gravy (or 3 bouillon cubes) and 2 cups of water
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 cup uncooked rice
Place the meat, gravy, onion and rice in a saucepan. Bring to a gentle boil. Then turn down the heat and simmer with the cover on. After about 10 minutes, add 1 cup of water, stir occasionally, and allow to cook until the rice is tender.

Stay Whole

There's a reason why Rome Beauty apples are best for baking. Large and perfectly-shaped, this variety also boasts firm meat and a sturdy skin, so it will retain its shape throughout cooking.

Sprinkle with cheese. Cut in wedges. Makes 4 servings.

Hot deviled eggs are a different way of serving eggs. This is the type of casserole that calls for some kind of hot bread, we think.

Hot Deviled Eggs
2 tablespoons butter, margarine, or oil
1/2 green pepper, minced
1-3 cup celery, minced
1 small onion, minced
1 tablespoon flour
1-3 cups cooked or canned tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 drops Tabasco sauce
2-3 cup cold milk
6 hard-cooked eggs, sliced

Crumbs, butter, or margarine. Heat butter or margarine and cook minced vegetables in it until they are tender. Blend in the flour. Add tomatoes and seasonings and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir the hot tomato mixture into the milk and carefully add the eggs.

Turn into a greased baking dish and top with crumbs. Dot with butter or margarine and bake at 375 degrees F. until the crumbs are brown and the mixture is hot, about 10 to 15 minutes.

This last recipe isn't for a meat dish, but it uses eggs, also maple syrup to remind us of spring. Yes, the recipe is correct; it does call for aromatic bitters. This blend of herbs and spices brings out flavor in the pudding.

Maple Cream Pudding
3/4 cup maple syrup
2 tablespoons butter
2 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons corn starch
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk or cream
1 teaspoon Angostura aromatic bitters

Place maple syrup and butter in heavy frying pan. Bring to a boil and simmer 10 minutes. Let cool.

Place egg yolks in top of double boiler and beat slightly. Add cooled maple syrup mixture, corn starch diluted with 1/4 cup of milk; and salt. Mix well. Gradually add rest of milk or cream and cook until thickened, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat and allow to cool to room temperature. Stir often or cover with wax paper to prevent skin from forming. Stir in Angostura aromatic bitters. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Pour pudding into individual serving dishes and chill. Serve plain or with whipped cream. Yield: 6-8 servings.

Add toasted slivered almonds to chicken gravy just before serving. The almonds will add surprise flavor and texture to the gravy.

Playing Politics for Profit Is Popular With the Party in Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — Last news story quoting her Democratic colleague, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

"As the senior senator from the state of Maine in which the shipyard is located, I resent this very obvious playing politics with national defense," she said.

It seems Mrs. Smith had first learned about the awarding of a contract for construction of a nuclear submarine at the Kittery, Maine, naval shipyard from a McNamara's reply was not made public, but Muskie wrote Mrs. Smith:

"When I came to the Senate four years ago, it was quite apparent that it was much easier for the then Republican administration to communicate and to cooperate with the Republican members of Congress. I accepted this policy as a political fact of life."

"It would not be surprising if the situation were similar today."

Politicians like to be associated with good news, and it is good news for their state or district when a business snags a government contract, or a new dam, post office or similar project is announced.

Maligned Africans Eye West

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — Five African students who had had enough of being called "black monkeys" by the Communists in Bulgaria said today they hope to continue their studies in western Europe.

The five men from Kenya, who joined about 20 Ghanians in the African exodus from Bulgaria, told representatives of the National Student Unions organization about their experiences.

"We expected better training and a more friendly reception than we got in Bulgaria," said Peter Ngari, spokesman for the group. "They called us 'black monkeys.'"

Red policemen joined in bullying the Africans, Ngari said, sometimes forcing them to board streetcars headed the wrong way.

When they filed charges against one Bulgarian who insulted them, he said, the case was dropped because the defendant's father was a prominent Communist.

He said most of the African students still in Bulgaria will get out of the country at their first opportunity.

Safety Center Plea 'Too Late'

But Romney Sees Need for MSU Facility

LANSING (AP) — A strong plea for revival of the Michigan State University Traffic Safety Center has been presented to Gov. George Romney, but the governor says it is probably too late.

"I agree that there is a need to strengthen our safety program in the state," Romney said.

But he said he doubted if the money item could be inserted in the state budget.

"It's a little late," he said. "The item is probably out, but not definitely."

Sec. of State James Hare, chairman of the State Safety Commission, and a delegation of representatives from the automobile industry raised the issue at a conference with Romney.

Gordon Sheehy, former head of the center and now an MSU faculty member, said the center had an appropriation of $325,000 a year at the peak of its activity but is limited to $75,000 now as a "nucleus" of an agency.

Hare told a meeting of the safety commission last yesterday that the governor expressed "real interest and concern" and "was most cooperative."

The commission received a report from state police that traffic fatalities so far this year are continuing to rise over last year.

State Traffic Deaths Below U. S. Average

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's traffic death rate of 47 fatalities per one billion miles driven is below the national average of 57 deaths per billion miles, reports the State Safety Commission.

Nearby Wisconsin and Indiana both are above Michigan with an average of 55 and 53 deaths per billion miles respectively, the commission reports.

Junior Editors Quiz on ART

QUESTION: Why is Vincent Van Gogh's painting so famous?

ANSWER: Van Gogh was a Dutch artist, born in 1853, who fell under the influence of a group of French painters using light, gay, outdoor colors. He began to paint with even more fiery and brilliant colors as well as with swirling, agitated brush strokes.

But the picture buyers of the time found these paintings too strange to suit their taste. He tried hard to sell his pictures, failed completely, and went on painting for the love of it. When he settled in the southern French town of Arles, his paintings became so brilliant they almost burst into flame.

Many people feel that since Van Gogh had to be taken to a hospital several times his pictures should be regarded as the work of a lunatic.

Most feel that his illnesses had little to do with the beauty of his work. They regard the rhythmic forms and sparkling colors in his pictures as adding an extra sense of fun and excitement of being alive; and it is this point of view which has made Van Gogh's paintings so much appreciated today.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS

tration to give congressmen and senators of its own party the first chance at spreading good news.

The Kennedy administration appears to be playing this phase of politics more energetically and systematically. Many of the calls to Democratic members of Congress come direct from the White House instead of the agency or department awarding the contract.

"It's being done more effectively and with a greater lead time than it was done under Eisenhower," says an aide to a Republican senator, who loses out consistently to his Democratic colleague.

"Under Eisenhower, he always had the feeling that it was a more or less hit or miss proposition. If they thought about it, they gave us a break. These fellows work at it."

"This is the most tidy administration I've ever seen on political details," says an oldtimer on Capitol Hill. "They don't miss a trick. I don't know what hours group in Congress meet at the time they work, but I've received calls late at night about some minor detail."

"It's not unusual for the President to call up and personally thank a congressman or senator for their work on an administration bill. In most administrations they don't bother."

HARDER WORK

Pointing out the rough going administration proposals often have in the House, a member of Lawrence O'Brien's White House congressional liaison team comments, "We have to work harder at it than the Eisenhower people did."

"Our problems are different than those of the Eisenhower administration. They had to deal with a minority (Republican) in reporting to the station Feb. 26 because he fell asleep in his cruiser."

Then the chief suspended him for three days.

not want. That's easier than trying to get something passed."

Honest Police Officer Gets 3-Day Suspension

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Police Chief W. T. McWhorter yesterday commended the honesty of Officer K. C. Miles who admitted he was only seven minutes late in reporting to the station Feb. 26 because he fell asleep in his cruiser.

Then the chief suspended him for three days.

The White House crew joins the fight for a bill only when it is in trouble.

A report on these weekly meetings, usually held each Friday is used by the President as a basis for his Tuesday breakfast sessions with Democratic congressional leaders.

There is some conflict on just how much edge the Democrats get over Republicans. Some cases have been reported of Republicans calling reporters with announcements received from Democrats as much as five days earlier.

Mrs. Smith, and others, have indicated the lead was only several hours—just long enough to make sure the story was out and announced by a Democrat.

One veteran public information man says, "The agencies give the White House at least 24 hours lead time (to notify Democrats in congress) and they extract all the political gain they can therefrom. They are just practical, working politicians."

Money that stands up to be counted

A lot of Communist eyes are watching the financial strength of our government and of our people like hawks. That's because their leaders have said they would "bury us" economically—and they're waiting for it to happen.

It must be a continuing disappointment to them that, year after year, U.S. savers put so much of their savings in the hands of our government, in U.S. Savings Bonds.

This stake that Savings Bond owners now have in the strength of our country is more than $45 billion—an all-time high.

And because savers can get their money back, with accumulated interest, when they need it, that's financial strength for millions of U.S. savers and their families.

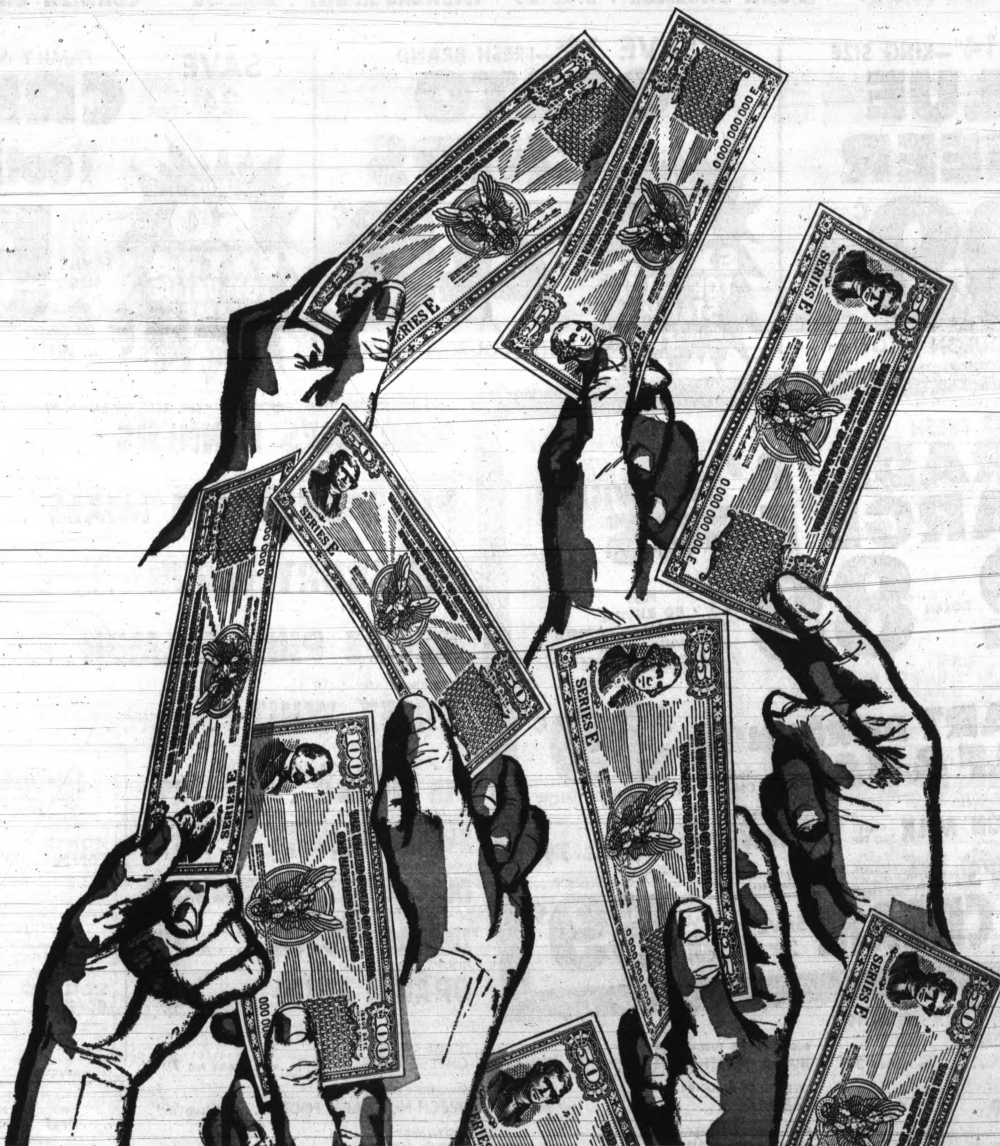

Your dollars in U.S. Savings Bonds do stand up to be counted—by freedom's friends and foes alike—as a measure of the strength of our country and our people. Help keep yourself and your country strong by regular buying of U.S. Savings Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or from your bank.

Quick facts about U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

- You get $4 back for every $3 when your Bond matures • Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, or destroyed • You can get your money anytime • You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

State Police Corporal Will Retire Monday

BAY CITY (U) — State Police Cpl. Robert Angell of the safety and traffic bureau at the Bay City headquarters will retire Monday after more than 25 years of service.

Angell enlisted with state police in 1937 and previously served at the Traverse City, Ypsilanti, Detroit, Jackson and Bad Axe posts.

Meader Sued for Refusing 2nd '1st Family' Disc

NEW YORK (U) — A $1 million damage suit was filed yesterday against Vaughn Meader on the grounds that he declined to make a follow-up recording to "The First Family."

Meader simulated President Kennedy's voice in the recording.

The suit was brought in State Supreme Court by Booker-Dodd Organization, Inc., which said its agreement with Meader to make the first record contained an option for additional recordings.

The agency said Meader "expressed his fixed intention" not to make a follow-up recording unless the format is "radically altered so as not to require him to portray the same role which he portrayed in 'The First Family.'"

How 'Bout Halters for Nude Horses?

WEST

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON — There are all sorts of ways to have fun in Washington. Some people climb the Washington Monument. Others picket the White House.

I myself am more the White House picketing type, mainly because that appears to be less strenuous than monument climbing.

Pickets, however, generally are connected with a cause, and up to now I have not found a cause that I felt I could identify with.

I say "up to now" because I am considering an affiliation with the "Society for Indecency to Naked Animals," some of whose members picketed the White House on Tuesday.

Their picketing was a protest against Mrs. Kennedy for riding nude horses. Riding nude horses, I hasten to add, is not the same thing as riding horses nude.

I want to make that clear lest someone get the impression that the society had the First Lady confused with Lady Godiva.

The society feels that a nude horse, or any unclad animal for that matter, is indecent and that Mrs. Kennedy should set an example by putting clothing on her horse.

The society takes the position that a saddle blanket is insufficient to maintain equine modesty. I doubt, however, that its appeal will be needed. Politics and clotheshorses just don't mix.

JUST ONE REQUEST

Nevertheless, this is the type of cause that arouses my interest and I might give it my support if the society in turn will grant me one small request.

All I ask is that I be allowed to select the wardrobe for some of the animals. I have already been giving that matter some thought and I am prepared, at the drop of a hat's hat, to offer some appropriate suggestions.

Obviously, a well-dressed boxer would wear boxer shorts. For a Pekinese, I recommend a peek-a-boo blouse. For the Turtle, a people-neck sweater.

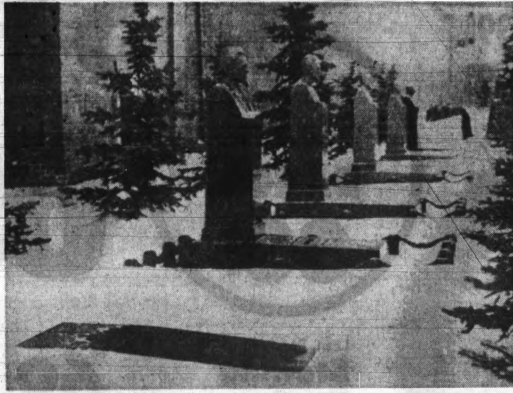

Maidenform or some other lingerie manufacturer should be able to design a bovine bra so that a Jersey cow could wear a jersey sweater without causing comment.

Putting clothing on animals would be bound to cause some complications, however, and that is what makes me hesitant about enlisting in the society's cause.

You might, for example, be able to persuade a Hippo to wear a mother Hubbard, but if you bought Bermuda shorts for a lady Beagle, she would likely swap it for a Bikini. You know how Beagles are.

I wouldn't mind trying to put a tailcoat on a tomcat, but I don't intend to volunteer for picket duty until the society explains how you go about measuring a Tiger for a tuxedo.

NO FLOWERS FOR JOE — A simple stone slab in the foreground marks the grave of Josef Stalin on the 10th anniversary yesterday of the death of the Soviet dictator. The

Farmers Price-Index Up 1 Point in February

LANSING (U) — The index of prices received by Michigan farmers as of Feb. 15 was 228 per cent of the 1910-14 base of 100, up one point from the previous month.

Price increases for cash field and feed crops were partially offset by declines in the prices for meat animals, dairy products and eggs.

Alarms Up in February

Waterford Township's fire department handled 60 alarms during February, 18 more than in the same month last year. Total alarms through February numbered 110 in contrast to 79 for the two month period a year ago.

Central, Northern Advance in District Class A Tournament

Tigers Eye Zone

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

SPORTS EDITOR, Pontiac Press
LAKELAND, Fla.—The Detroit Tigers had their first pronounced test of the new strike zone yesterday and whether or not it achieves its purpose remains to be seen.

Intended to give the pitcher more strike area with the purpose of speeding up the game, the Tigers played their first intra-squad game and nearly every batter had occasion to make a quick turn at the umpire and question one of his calls.

The six-inning affair which saw the Cavaretta squad defeat the Blackburn team, 6-1, took two hours and 14 minutes.

Jake Wood didn't exactly keep a close eye on the new extended zone. He struck out twice. Bubba Phillips reached wide and missed by eight inches as he struck out and Dick McAuliffe took one of Mickey Lolich's pitches at the knee for a third strike and then shook his head at the umpire.

Howie Kopitz, the winning pitcher for the Cavaretta squad, the zone to his liking. He gave up three hits, struck out two and did not walk a batter in three innings.

"That's the new strike," manager Bob Scheffing yelled as Wood and Don Buddin both stood with their bats on their shoulders as the ball came across shoulder high.

NEW ZONE

The new strike zone calls for an area from the bottom of the knees to the top of the shoulders rather than the space between the top of the knees to the arm pits.

Even with the added area, however, the Tiger pitchers still ran the count to 3-2 on many occasions.

Kopitz was the most effective pitcher, while Bob Anderson, obtained in the trade with the Cubs for Steve Boros, Mickey Lolich and Larry Foster all had their troubles.

Lolich gave up five runs and five hits and was the loser. Anderson followed Kopitz and although he gave up only one run, he was tagged for five hits and had several hard hit balls hit against him.

Two hardest hit shots of the day were those by Mickey Stanley of Grand Rapids. The young centerfielder hit a liner over second to drive in a run in the second inning and hit another low liner over short in the 4th frame for another RBI.

BLOOM SINGLE

Purnal Goldy, the overnight sensation for the Tigers last year when Al Kaline was out of action, hit a low bloop to right field to drive in two runs in the third inning. He was also hit by a pitch and scored two runs.

The other hits for the winning squad were singles by Phillips, McAuliffe and a triple by Bob Osborne.

McAuliffe's hit resulted when he tried to duck out of the way of one of Lolich's pitches. The ball hit his bat and dropped just over short.

"That's what you'd call an 'excuse me' hit," said Cavaretta in jest.

Singles by Coot Vael, rookie shortstop John Watchik and Bubba Morton in the 5th inning accounted for the lone run for the losers. Morton and Reno Bertio had two singles each in the 5th.

The Tigers go back to batting cage drills today and Thursday with the possibility of a short spring game Friday, prior to the exhibition opener with the Minnesota Twins, Saturday at Orlando.

1,500TH POINT — Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings beats goalie Jacques Plante of Montreal to score a goal for his

Habs' Geoffrion Explodes

DETROIT (UPI) — Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion might be in for some rough skating. His gallic temper boiled over last night in a penalty-marred contest between the Detroit Red Wings and the Montreal Canadiens and he was ejected from the game after hurling his stick and gloves at referee Vern Buffey.

But the angered Habs came from behind three times to defeat the Red Wings, 4-3, and held on to third place in the National Hockey League standings.

Geoffrion was given the thumb near the end of the first period when he blew up as Buffey levied a bench penalty on the Montreal players who were headbutting protesting a slashing penalty called against goalie Jacques Plante.

THROWS STICK

He threw his stick sparks from 25 feet and then followed with his gauntlets. The stick and one of the gloves hit Buffey. Geoffrion was given a game misconduct which includes an automatic $50 fine.

The incident was watched from the press box by NHL president Clarence Campbell, whose referees increasingly this season have been the targets of player outbursts.

Just two weeks ago Detroit's bad man Howie Young was sus-ended for three games for throwing his glove at referee Frank Udvari. And referee Eddie Powers resigned Feb. 15, contending Campbell was not backing up his refs.

Campbell was asked by reporters after the incident if he planned to equip his refs with armor and he replied with the caustic, "no." He refused further comment but his tone indicated that the volatile Boom Boom would be severely dealt with. Ironically, it was Young who triggered the incident. He dropped a pass between his legs as he led a Wing rush and then went on to screen Plante. In the process he bumped the netminder and Plante retaliated with a slash. Buffey then whistled the penalty.

Montreal notched the win on third period goals by Bobby Rousseau and Ralph Backstrom. A Detroit victory would have moved them into a tie for third place in NHL standings with the Habs.

Detroit's only consolation was a first period unassisted goal by aged Gordie Howe, the league's scoring leader. It was Howe's 33rd goal of the season and the 1,500th regular season point of his 17-year career.

MSD in Class D and the Wolves in Class A both held their toes to 51 points Tuesday and have district basketball tournament victories to show for it.

The Flint school jumped ahead of Emmanuel Christian, 3-7, and never was headed thereafter enroute to a 59-51 triumph. Clarkson slipped in front of Waterford Township High School in the opening quarter and won, 71-51.

PLAY KETTERING

The home team Wolves thus earned the right to meet Waterford Kettering tomorrow night at CHS with that game's winner to play Saturday night against the Grand Blanc-Milford survivor or tonight.

MSD will meet tonight's Waterford Our Lady of Lakes-Flint St. Mary victor Friday. That will be the district Class D final and Saturday's contest will be the Class A final.

Clarkson displayed it has serious intentions in the district "A" competition by disposing of the Skippers. A ferocious offensive and defensive charge was led by Ken Miskin and Dan Craven for the Wolves.

The two combined for 42 points and were extremely effective defending against the Waterford backline. Miskin's 23 tallies were his high totals for the season.

Clarkson led only 32-26 at halftime but a six-point spurt to open the third session gave it a 42-point margin that was never seriously threatened in the last half. Larry Garrison's 11 markers in a reserve role were also instrumental in the victory.

Paul Moran hit eight points in the first quarter for Waterford but was effectively bottled up by Craven thereafter, ending with 14. Teammate Mike Buson on eight field goals.

CUT LEAD
Ron Jackson tallied a three-point play to open the first quarter for Emmanuel Christian but the Lancers could not reduce the 43-39 deficit against MSD.

Two buckets by the winners were followed by the first quarter field goal, and then the Tartars hit the next seven points to take a commanding 54-41 advantage.

Wingate, the county's leading prep scorer, hit his team's last 12 points in the game to overcome a dismal start and lead all players with 22 tallies.

The Tartars' 6-3 215-pound forward Bob Beck was too much for the lockers to handle under the backboards, however, hitting 10 fielders in 22 points.

MSD had lost 13 consecutive games until last night's win and is 2-15 on the season.

Ron Jackson added 13 points to the Emmanuel total as the team ended its season with a 4-13 record.

6 Places Left for 12 Teams

By The Associated Press

There are six places left in college basketball's post-season play—with 12 teams still looking for a cut.

Six conference berths remain open in the NCAA tournament with two clubs in each league in the running for the coast-to-coast extravaganza. Already set for the national tourney are nine conference entries and the 19 at-large selections.

In Tuesday night's developments, Yale grabbed a share of the Ivy League lead with an 80-76 overtime victory at Harvard. Santa Clara went ahead in the West Coast Athletic Conference by winning at home against University of Pacific 79-62, and East Tennessee was knocked out of the Ohio Valley scramble, losing at Middle Tennessee 58-57.

LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Here is the picture of the six races in contention:

IVY LEAGUE—Yale finished at 11-3, matching Princeton, and the two teams will play off at Fordham's gym in New York Friday night for the NCAA spot.

WCAC—Santa Clara now is 9-3 and San Francisco 8-2, with these two having a showdown Saturday night at San Francisco. Prior to taking on Santa Clara, the Dons have a home game tonight with San Jose State.

OHIO VALLEY—With East Tennessee out of it, Morehead and Tennessee Tech are left alone at the top with 8-4 records. The co-champions will have a playoff, the conference's fourth in the past eight years.

BIG TEN—Ohio State is the lead at 11-2 with Illinois next at 10-3. The Buckeyes finish at Indiana and the Illini entertain Iowa, both games Saturday afternoon.

BIG EIGHT—Kansas State and Colorado will settle this one Saturday night on K-State's floor. The Wildcats now are 11-2 and the Buffaloes are 10-3, but if Colorado wins the showdown it will get the NCAA trip since it beat K-State in their other regular season game.

BIG SIX—Sanford has clinched a tie at 7-3 but UCLA, 5-5, has a mathematical chance. They'll meet Friday night at UCLA, then the UCLANS are at home against California Saturday while Stanford closes at Southern California.

Rick Kaminsky paced Yale's Bulldogs, who had to make a stiff uphill fight to beat Harvard and stay in the Ivy League battle.

Harvard led 42-34 at the half and had a 13-point advantage at one stage, but Yale came back. It was 70-70 at the end of regulation time, then Kaminsky put the Eli in charge by scoring the fifth point in the extra period. He wound up with 28.

USUAL TRICK—Wilt Chamberlain of San Francisco takes advantage of his long reach to grab a loose ball away from Detroit's Bailey Howell (18). Ray Scott (12) and Dave DeBusschere. Chamberlain later played peacemaker in a brawl during last night's game won by the Pistons, 111-102.

Groves, Brother Rice Next Opponents

(Continued From Page D-1) device possible to hand the game to Seaholm. The Maples were just as intent to hand it back. PNI appeared to be readying another aid program when time ran out.

Steps, double dribbles, wild passes, missed shots and unnecessary fouls were the rule rather than the exception. And the Huskies had a firm edge in all departments.

Yet, they managed to come out on top in a game that was in doubt until the final minute.

Gary Hayward was the main reason the Huskies survived to play another night. The 6-4½ senior forward led PNI to a 38-33 halftime lead and then sparked a fourth quarter surge that finally put the game out of Seaholm's reach.

He took scoring honors for the night with 26 points.

Four players from both teams hit in double figures. Mike Burk-low scored 16, Jerry Reese 15, and Roger Hayward 11 for PNI.

PICKED SPOTS

Shutt seemed to find every vulnerable spot in Northern's zone defense. He would either drive-in for a layup or pass off to an open player. When he wasn't doing this he was shooting from outside or setting up plays.

He fouled out with 1:39 to play with PNI in front 65-33. The Maples' hopes went with Shutt to the bench. Gary Hayward made both free throws on the foul and less than a minute later Burklow made two more to give Northern a 18-point cushion.

The lead changed hands eight times and the score was tied on five occasions in the half half.

Chamberlain Floors 2 Pistons as Peacemaker

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain was the peacemaker today and if that's peace, a couple of bruised fellows named Bailey Howell and Walter Dukes want no part of it.

Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-foot-1, 250-pound scoring machine of the San Francisco Warriors, turned peacemaker according to all on-the-spot—belleground, testimony during a brawling National Basketball Association game between San Francisco and the Detroit Pistons at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night.

He played it like a barroom bouncer, tossing 4-foot-7 Howell halfway across the court and throwing Dukes, a 7-footer, into a group of fans at the sidelines. "I thought he was fighting," said Dave DeBusschere of the Pistons. "But then I realized he broke it up," he added, referring to the fight, not to the section of the Garden floor where Howell and Dukes landed.

"He was a real peacemaker out there," said Detroit's Ray Scott in admiration.

PLAYOFF BATTLE

The fight began in the closing seconds of the third quarter of the game between two teams slugging it out down the stretch for the third and last playoff berth in the league's Western Division. Although the Warriors and Will might have won the fight, the Pistons won the game 111-102 and took a one-length lead over San Francisco. Detroit has five games left.

The trouble was triggered by Al Attles of San Francisco, a close buddy of Chamberlain's, and Bob Ferry of Detroit, who lost a mid-court points decision to Chamberlain in a fight in San Francisco earlier this season. Ferry grabbed Attles or Attles tackled Ferry, depending on which one you talked to. Both agreed that Attles flipped Ferry over his shoulder, and jumped on him.

Enter the hero, the same Chamberlain who usually gets tabbed as the villain whether he's scoring 60 points or barking at the referees.

"I shoved Howell out of the way," said Chamberlain. "Then I broke up that thing between Dukes and Wayne Hightower. I had to get to my boy Al before he killed Ferry."

Both benches emptied but between Chamberlain and the Garden's special police, order finally was restored.

From the Warriors' point of view, Chamberlain was altogether too peaceminded during the non-playoff period. Will scored only 25 points, only seven in the second half, while a non-fighter, Don Ohl, fired 42 for the Pistons that made the difference.

In the other NBA fights... games, Syracuse clinched second place in the Eastern Division, whipping the New York Knicks 131-121 in the second game of the Garden doubleheader behind 31 points from Hal Greer and 26 from John Kerr, and Chicago whipped

Swimmers Get Eyeful at Tulane

The addition of two pretty coeds to the Tulane University swimming team has had two noticeable effects.

First, attendance at swim meets has nearly tripled. Second, Tulane won its first meet in some 20 attempts.

The girls, Marsha Leveritt and Pam Hayes, joined the New Orleans tank squad after the Southeastern Conference ruled that girls could participate in sports.

So far, their presence has had nothing but good effects. They attracted a crowd of nearly 1,000 spectators the first meet, which is a jump from 300 to 300 in the past.

When the coeds joined the swimmers, Tulane had lost 19 straight meets. However, the first time the girls appeared, Tulane defeated Emory University, of Atlanta, 62-33, for its first dual meet victory in the school's history.

Miss Leveritt, a sophomore from Decatur, Ga., swims the 200-yard freestyle, while Miss Hayes, from Bryan, Texas, swims only in exhibition because she is still a freshman.

VARSITY PULCHRITUDE—Attendance for Tulane University swimming meets jumped from an average of 300 to 1,000 when Pam Hayes (left) and Marsha Leveritt became the first coeds to compete with the varsity.

A new outdoor adventure film called "Sport Is Where You Find It" has been released by the General Motors Film Library.

The 13½-minute, 16mm. color sound movie shows how sportsmen can continue their outdoor activities in those normally "dry" periods between regular game seasons by pursuing off-beat fish and game.

The motion picture was produced by GMC Truck & Coach Division of General Motors, co-producer of "Fishing Fantastico," and was unveiled last month in Alpena, at the winter meeting of the Michigan Outdoor Writers Association.

Off-season sports dramatized in the film include a quest for bobcat in Texas, an Ontario crow hunt, fishing off Cape Cod and a bow-hunt for giant carp in Michigan's Wildfowl Bay.

Prints are made available on a free, loan basis. They may be borrowed by writing to General Motors Corp., Public Relations Staff—Film Library, General Motors Building, Detroit 2, Mich.

German Shorthair Field Trial Set at Highland-Area

German shorthair pointers from around the Midwest will participate in the annual Central States Regional Field Trial this weekend at the Highland recreation area.

The German Shorthair Pointer Association of Michigan is sponsoring the event.

The trial will get under way at 7 a.m. Saturday with the puppy and derby stakes and continue through Sunday.

Madison reported that the doe was so badly injured that it had to be destroyed. Another doe was found dead.

A pack of wild dogs has been roaming the Highland-Kensington area for the last several years. Several special hunts have been attempted, but few of the canines shot.

BIG CALICO

Stephen Spencer, 8, of Auburn Heights hooked more than he could land while fishing Pontiac Lake with his family last Sunday.

The youngster managed to get a 14-inch calico up to the hole in the ice, but his father, Walter, had to help get it out of the water.

The fish weighed one pound six ounces and was one of 10 caught. Stephen caught three others, "all a little smaller than the big one."

The family was fishing with minnows in about six feet of water.

FLORIDA HONORS

Fishing in the Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament on a recent vacation in Florida, Ben Jerome, 4715 Dow Ridge, Chard Lake, won angling recognition for landing a 54 lb. 4 oz. grouper in the general division.

I. Jefferson Iagrig, 95 Ottawa Drive, won recognition for good Sportsmanship last week in the same Tournament when he caught and released a sailfin.

The Tournament emphasizing conservation runs through April 14.

SHOW TOUR

The Boat Show at The Pontiac Mall this week isn't as large as those held earlier in Detroit, but it does show a good sample of the craft now available.

Sponsored by the Independent Marine Dealers Association of Oakland County, the boats range in size from $149 12-foot fishing boat to a $2,990 cruiser.

Included are various models of runabouts and outboard motors, a couple of inboard-outboard boats, canoes and sailing craft. All boats are aluminum or fiberglass-type material.

The emphasis is on runabouts. Fisherman who like to compare the different makes of tackle get the chance at the Sportsman's Show now at the State Fair.

Top rod and reel manufacturers have their wares on display and two better known bait producers also have booths.

There is a distinct shortage of firearms, probably because the fishing season is approaching, but there is plenty of camping gear.

Packer Linebacker May Quit Pro Grid

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Green Bay Packer line backer Nelson Toburen, who missed the last five games of the 1962 National Football League season because of a serious neck injury, said Monday night that he may quit pro football.

"I still have a little numbness in my fingers and my neck gets tired," 24-year-old former Wichita star said. "The doctor hasn't given me a definite answer about playing again but I kind of doubt I'll play again."

Toburen, a 6-foot-4, 230-pound linebacker in his second year with the Packers, suffered a dislocated neck vertebra when he tackled Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts Nov. 18 at Green Bay.

'Man's Role Requires Real Man'

BOYLE

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Hollywood stardom has its price.

The price for Glenn Ford has been broken bones. Perhaps no other durable star of his stature has made more than 100 pictures—has had his ribs snapped more often in the service of the cinema.

"I love Western roles," he said, "but I've had a couple of dozen bones broken in them. Somehow I never get hurt in anything except Westerns."

"A horse is the most dangerous animal there is."

Glenn could avoid equestrian perils by hiring a double. It is a point of pride with him that he never has.

"I like to do my own riding," he said. "I used to work as an exercise rider when I was 14 or 15 for Will Rogers. He sensed that I loved horses, and he taught me to ride by letting me warm up on his polo ponies."

"I have no patience with actors who depend on doubles to perform dangerous roles. They cheat the audience," Ford said.

"MASTER RIDER"

"I think if you can't do what the role calls for, then you ought to turn it down. If you're going to play the part of a man, then be a man."

Ford is an acknowledged master rider. The Rodeo Cowboys Association voted him the best horseman in pictures in 1959 and 1960, and he is prouder of this honor than any other he has Glenn, who came to Santa Monica, Calif., from Canada during his childhood, started acting in high school. After some stage experience and 2½ years in the U.S. Marines during World War II, he rose rapidly in the film world.

In recent years he has been something of a perennial among the nation's 10 top-ranked stars at the box office. Unlike some stellar performers, Ford sees no danger in appearing in two or even three pictures a year.

"I don't believe you run the risk of overexposure if you have good material," he said. "If a good story comes along, I'm glad to make it."

SIMPLE LIFE

Glenn prefers a simple off-screen existence. He likes to play pool with a few old movie cronies, go horseback riding, or supervise his business interests in four scattered ranches.

Right now his hobby is furnishing his new home in Beverly Hills, and he has become something of an amateur collector of antiques.

"I don't mind buying old things like old chairs, old sofas, old beds—personal possessions of that kind. They hold too many ghosts," he said.

"I'd rather make my own ghosts in life than live with the memories left by others."

Paris (AP)—The president of a large Paris bank was shot to death today as he sat in the back seat of his parked sedan.

Henri Lafont, 68, was cut down by six shots fired at point-blank range by a lone gunman who escaped.

Lafont died in an ambulance taking him to a hospital.

Police said Lafont and his chauffeur had just pulled up in front of a bank in the fashionable Paris suburb of Neuilly when the gunman opened the door, pulled a large caliber pistol from his pocket and fired.

The chauffeur was wounded slightly.

Police said they had no clue to the motive for the daring daylight slaying.

The killing was reminiscent of murders by the terrorist secret army during the months before Algerian independence.

But police said there was no apparent connection between Lafont's slaying and the secret army.

Lafont, president of the Banque de L'Union Parisienne, had been an international mining engineer before he turned to banking. He was a member of the Legion of Honor and held a Croix de guerre for World War I service.

French Banker Shot to Death

Slain in Daylight in Back Seat of Auto

PARIS (AP)—The president of a large Paris bank was shot to death today as he sat in the back seat of his parked sedan.

Henri Lafont, 68, was cut down by six shots fired at point-blank range by a lone gunman who escaped.

Lafont died in an ambulance taking him to a hospital.

Police said Lafont and his chauffeur had just pulled up in front of a bank in the fashionable Paris suburb of Neuilly when the gunman opened the door, pulled a large caliber pistol from his pocket and fired.

The chauffeur was wounded slightly.

Police said they had no clue to the motive for the daring daylight slaying.

The killing was reminiscent of murders by the terrorist secret army during the months before Algerian independence.

But police said there was no apparent connection between Lafont's slaying and the secret army.

Lafont, president of the Banque de L'Union Parisienne, had been an international mining engineer before he turned to banking. He was a member of the Legion of Honor and held a Croix de guerre for World War I service.

Mac Defeats Vote Against Defense Plan

Mac Defeats Vote Against Defense Plan

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative government easily killed a no-confidence motion on its defense policy Tuesday night. Then it was parliamentary approval of a plan to reorganize Britain's three armed services into a unified defense ministry.

The House of Commons rejected the Labor party's no-confidence motion along straight party lines, 333-237. The reorganization plan carried, 333-237.

Patrick Gordon-Walker, defense spokesman for the opposition party, called the reorganization plan a maneuver to cover up the humiliation of American cancellation of the Skybolt missile program. He suggested building up conventional forces and scrapping nuclear arms.

Defense Minister Peter Thorneycroft replied that a proper defense policy must be based on a balance of nuclear and conventional forces in Europe. He said labor had failed to put forward any alternative policy or is "fearful of doing so."

Asks for Alcohol Tax

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—The assembly passed a resolution yesterday asking Congress to give the states 5 per cent of the federal alcohol tax revenue for the "research, education, treatment and rehabilitation of the alcoholic."

Since 1946 the federal debt has increased 13 per cent compared with a raise of 360 per cent for state and local debt.

Commissioners also approved a resolution from the Avon Township Board supporting Commission opposition to Oakland County plans to expand Allen Airport.

Other officers elected at the three-day convention ending tonight were John Mohlok of Grand Rapids, vice president, and William Mundus, Ann Arbor, treasurer.

Applications for the trip must be filed with the Council of Churches office by April 15. Those accepted will leave about June 23.

One of his chief tasks will be raising funds to finance part of the $725 cost per student trip abroad through various township organizations and individuals. Students will also contribute to the costs of their trips.

To be eligible for the exchange student program, local teenagers must first be approved by both their high school counselors and by the Michigan Council of Churches.

Applications for the trip must be filed with the Council of Churches office by April 15. Those accepted will leave about June 23.

Bette's Broadway's Choice to Win This Year's Oscar

BY EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Bette Davis is the gal they've got to beat in this year's Oscar romp—in the opinion of Broadway, which hears that severe cases of the trembles are already being suffered by Geraldine Page, Katharine Hepburn, Anne Bancroft and Lee Remick.

WILSON

"I hear you're rich again," I said. "Well, I'm loaded with gold, anyway," she said. "Want some?" She handed me her medal. (To look at).

If it were just the fans, instead of the actors, casting votes, I'd say Bette had it in a walk for "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" Even so, she may have it.

"Yes," Bette admitted to me, "all of us should make some money out of this picture."

"If she doesn't have to give it all away on taxes," spoke up one friend.

"I'm jealous of her," said another friend. "Let's hope she does have to give it all away on taxes."

It was pretty embarrassing for 7-year-old Linda Brehl when she was doing a tender scene with Jackie Gleason in "Papa's Delicate Condition." It was about several times because she kept sliding off Jackie's lap. She finally decided he didn't have any.

Vivian Blaine was asked whether she minded Sylvia Sidney getting top billing in "Enter Laughing." Just like a woman, Viv replied, "Of course not. After all, she made it long before I did!"

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "I'll make you a deal," 8-year-old Tracy Gore told her parents Selma and Larry Gore. "You let me stay up later—and I'll let you stay in bed longer."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Sure way to get nothing for something—gamble."

These doctor shows are all too expensive for Buddy Greco. He's got to mind a nice low-budget medical show called "Band-Aid."

... That's all, brother.

Resistance Arising
to NATO N-Force

BONN, Germany (UPI) — United States envoy Livingston T. Merchant today shrugged off criticism from two allied capitals and opened a series of meetings with high West German officials on President Kennedy's nuclear force plans.

Merchant's agenda included talks with Defense Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel and foreign undersecretary Karl Carstens.

In a three-day stay, Merchant will explain Kennedy's plan for Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) nuclear force on the Polish missile. West Germany has approved the plan in principle.

Criticism from Paris and London indicated lukewarm feeling for the plan in some of the NATO nations.

President Charles de Gaulle's top nuclear warfare theorist, yesterday said the plan was a "mass of contradictions."

He told the Anglo-American Press Association in Paris, "the multilateral nuclear force is nothing but a farce."

In London, the opposition Labor Party's chief spokesman on foreign affairs, Patrick Gordon Walker, said Kennedy's plans were an attempt to create an "illusion of European independence."

He charged that Kennedy was damaging the NATO alliance with his idea of a multilateral deterrent.

Merchant last week outlined Kennedy's plan to a full meeting of NATO representatives in Paris. It met with a generally cool reception.

Oakland County Area Ready, Eager for 1968 Olympics

Oakland County and all Michigan have the same tremendous enthusiasm for the 1968 Olympic Games that has been engendered in Detroit.

Our City Commission and communities all over the Middle West have passed strong resolutions endorsing Detroit and expressing the willingness to serve in any capacity that proves helpful. Rarely have so many cities rallied so strongly to a single cause, and the great interest must be tremendously heartening to Fred C. Mattheis, Gov. George W. Romney and Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh in their titanic battle to land the athletic plum.

Spectators will attend the Olympic Games from all over the world—literally—adding to strong support from southeastern Michigan and the Middle West. By Olympics time, the new Chrysler Freeway will be in full swing, and this will assist in making the Michigan State Fair Grounds location a perfect setup. The broad scope of Olympic planning allows for plenty of parking so that automobiles can be driven to the stadium from any point or any direction.

Without a doubt Oakland County will be the second biggest contributor to the spectator list, exceeded only by the city of Detroit itself. Oakland County has always been exceedingly sports-minded and the thrill of the world-famous Olympics will not be lost on our enthusiastic people.

Already, a sizable list of county residents has been signed by the Olympic Committee for various jobs in connection with staging the games. The equestrian division has been placed in the capable and experienced hands of Irving A. Duffy, while L. C. Goad, both Mattheis, Lynn Townsend, Joseph Dodge and other well-known area residents are active on committees.

Detroit faces two hurdles. First, she must receive the nod from the U.S. Olympics Committee as the officially designated city for our country. This was actually bestowed once, but Los Angeles is struggling to have it upset in a sporting gesture that is anything but in line with concept of clean amateur sports which the Olympic Games teaches.

If Detroit is successful in the meeting 10 days hence in New York, the final presentation must then be made in Nairobi, Kenya, in October. There we contest against France, Mexico City and other world points.

Rarely has anything pulled as many people together as this exciting prospect of the Olympic Games here. Pontiac will play any part she is asked to take in the work necessary to stage the games successfully.

Olympic Bills Enter House

Face Streamlining, but No Derailing Expected

LANSING (UPI)—Two Senate Olympic bills faced streamlining in House Committees, but Republican spokesmen indicated there would be no obstacles in getting them on the governor's desk before a March 18 deadline. The measures went through the Senate in record time Monday and are now under consideration by the House Committee on State Affairs. From there they will go to the Ways and Means committee before being pushed out on the floor for a vote, probably early next week.

GOP spokesmen indicated after a caucus yesterday that some tightening of the bills was in order but said they were not in danger of being slowed down.

The bills would allow construction of a $25-million Olympic stadium and provide financing for it. The Senate Affairs Committee asked for additional time, presumably to tighten up the broad powers given to the State Recreation and Exhibits Building Authority one measure would spawn.

Gov. George Romney wants the bills on his desk prior to his March 18 departure for New York.

The United States Olympic Committee (USOC) will decide at that time whether Detroit or Los Angeles or some other city will become this country's site choice. "I'm satisfied that those in leadership positions in the House are going to do everything in their power to get the bills on the governor's desk in plenty of time," said Robert Danforth, Romney's assistant for legislative affairs.

Danforth added he had been assured there would be no attempts to derail the Olympic plan.

A GOP spokesman said there were no indications for killing the proposed authority if Detroit's Olympic hopes fizzle. If Detroit is turned down at the USOC later this month, Romney could use his veto.

Should the International Olympic Committee select another country in October after Romney signs the bills, the legislature could repeal the measures next year.

He's Unhappy With Removal From Cuba

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON — President Kennedy indicated today he is not satisfied with the rate of Soviet troop removals from Cuba.

He disclosed at his news conference that the four American fliers killed in the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion were "serving their country" on a completely voluntary basis.

The President made these other major points:

He still wants tax reductions linked with tax revisions and it is his judgment that Congress will enact a bill embracing both.

— The United States will insist on a nuclear ban treaty with inspection safeguards that would assure detection of any series of secret weapons test by Russia.

Kennedy voiced his dissatisfaction in a short answer to a three-part question concerning the rate of withdrawal of Soviet troops from Cuba.

"NO TO ALL OF THEM"

The President thought a moment, then replied:

"No, my answer would be no to all of them" (the three questions).

The chief Executive declined to say specifically, however, whether the dead pilots were employed by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) or by some other government agency.

Kennedy said all he could mention was that the four were "serving their country" and that it was "voluntary flight over Cuba."

Kennedy did not say whether he would, if necessary, accept a tax cut without what he calls tax reforms.

The first question at the news conference was aimed at trying

Schools Get City Site

The Pontiac Board of Education will build a new school on Auburn Avenue and the district administration building proposed perimeter road, will be in the civic center next to City Hall.

The City Commission last night unanimously approved a package deal to sell a 3.2-acre site to the board for the project.

The plot, at the northeast corner of Auburn Avenue and the district administration building proposed perimeter road, will be sold for $55,000.

The city, as local purchasing agent in the B44 urban renewal project, will purchase the present school district offices at 401 Patterson St. for $120,000.

The cash settlement shows a balance of $65,000 in favor of the school district.

In addition, the agreement provides that the city swap a seven-acre parcel of Aaron Perry Park for Oriole Field.

The park parcel, near North Saginaw and Montcalm streets, is to be the site of a school district service and maintenance building.

RECREATION FIELD

Oriole Field, owned by the school district, has been used many years for city-sponsored recreation programs.

It is an interior field surrounded by homes on Auburn Avenue and Parkhurst, Chandler and Padlock streets.

"This new project will act as a springboard to launch other area developments in our central business district," said Mayor Robert A. Landry.

"The new City of Pontiac graduated tonight. Watch it redevelop at an accelerated pace," he added, praising the settlement.

"City Hall welcomes its new neighbor."

The agreement was the result of intense negotiation between school and city officials in the past two months.

The final settlement was less than the city originally asked, but considerably more than the school board's initial offer.

The $120,000 price for property on Patterson Street, established under urban renewal regulations, remained a constant factor throughout negotiations.

The school board's initial proposal early in January had been to buy the civic center parcel for $37,500 and get the Perry Park site free. This would have cost the city $62,500.

The city proposed selling the civic center site for $100,000 and swapping the Perry Park site for Oriole Field. The cash balance would have been only $20,000 to the school district.

Swollen Rivers Evict 4,000 in Ohio Valley

Blustery Winter Back in Michigan; South Hit by Tornado

Ice-jammed flood waters besieged new towns and cities today and kept nearly 4,000 persons from their homes in the Ohio River Valley.

A 10-inch snowfall slugged the upper Midwest and thunderstorms battered the South.

The March snow storm blew into Michigan, dumping up to 8 inches of snow and bringing an abrupt end to a short period of mild weather that had held promise of an early spring.

Alpena was hit with 8 inches of fresh snow today. Hazardous driving warnings were posted from Illinois to Michigan and 35-mile-an-hour winds drifted snow across highways in Indiana and Lower Michigan.

The surge of flood waters across four states was blamed for at least 14 deaths.

National Guard units were called out to prevent looting of abandoned homes at Lebanon, Ohio, and residents of Mineral, Ohio, were told to boil their drinking water.

Many snow-swollen tributaries appeared to have passed their crest but the mighty Ohio River continued to rise. Ice jams and more rain posed new threats of extensive flooding.

Athens, Ohio, was completely isolated, and 1,000 persons in crowded 700 Ohio University students—abandoned their homes when the Hocking River swept away railroad track bedding and covered all highways leading into the city.

City officials called the flood situation the worst in 30 years.

3 'Ole Opry' Stars, Pilot Die in Crash

CAMDEN, Tenn. (U)—Three Grand Ole Opry stars and their pilot died last night when their light plane smashed into a wooded west Tennessee hillside, scattering debris over a wide area.

Killed were singer Patsy Cline, Hawkshaw Hawkins and Cowboy Copas and the pilot, Randy Hughes, who was Miss Cline's manager and a son-in-law of Copas. A Benton County Sheriff Lyle Furr said the bodies were scattered and broken beyond recognition.

A silver belt buckle engraved with the name "Hawkshaw Hawkins" was found in the wreckage. A woman's red slip was hanging from a tree.

Asked if he could account for four people in the wreckage, civil defense worker Dean Brewer answered "There's not enough to count."

The plane, which left Dyersburg at 6:07 p.m. Tuesday night after a refueling stop, was returning the recording artists to their Nashville homes after a benefit performance in Kansas City, Kan.

Several residents of the area, a few miles west of the Tennessee River, heard the plane as it apparently struggled to gain altitude.

New, Old Viruses Circulate

Plenty of Bugs for Everybody

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK—Is there a new virus around?

It surely seems so to thousands of persons hit this winter by funny aches and pains and upsets, including bloody noses blamed on "the bloody virus."

Perhaps it's true that brand new viruses have popped up and might even start appearing at a faster rate, says Dr. Robert Huebner of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases.

Scientists only recently identified most of 120 or more viruses known to cause colds, fevers, mucous aches and pains, diarrhea, coughs and runny noses—a great variety of mostly minor ailments.

Man is their target, and man has evolved and multiplied over thousands of years.

Biologically speaking, viruses had to evolve also—"They weren't all present the day man was kicked out of paradise," says Dr. Huebner, director of the institute's laboratory of infectious diseases in Bethesda, Md.

Influenza viruses change or mutate fairly frequently. Any flu vaccine has to incorporate the strain of virus blazing up into an epidemic.

Other respiratory and intestinal viruses also might be mutating during chain-reaction epidemics, reproducing more viruses in each person.

DIFFERENT VIRUS

Something could go amiss in the genetic assembly line so that a slightly different virus is produced from time to time. With more than three billion people in the world now, the chances

Children Aid Bill Passes Big Test

LANSING (AP) — Having scored an overwhelming victory in its first showdown vote, the proposal to furnish federal aid to children of unemployed Michigan parents today awaited a friendly reception and probable passage by the Senate.

A combination of strong bipartisan support and dry help pushed the federal aid to dependent children of the unemployed (ADC-U) bill through the House yesterday, two days ahead of schedule.

Debate over amendments — including a controversial "birth control" proposal — and political philosophy raged around the measure for nearly an hour, but it won by a decisive 89-14 margin.

The bill, buried three times in Republican-controlled committees in the past two years, was introduced this week as part of Gov. George Romney's legislative program and has been viewed as an early test of his influence in the legislature.

The proposal has been amended four times since its inception. It may face more revision in the Senate, but Republican leaders there have already marked it down in their list of prime legislation to be passed.

"It's as good as passed," said one Republican leader.

The bill would qualify children of unemployed parents to receive assistance under a plan that splits costs between the state and the federal government, providing relief for county welfare departments.

Democrats in the House sought unsuccessfully to broaden the eligibility requirements of the bill yesterday and found themselves unable to resist pointing out the ADC-U bill suddenly was being backed by Republicans who previously had opposed it.

WIT KNIT

"It was a matter of principle to vote 'no' on this bill last year and the year before," declared House minority leader Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit. "Now let's get it together and vote for it."

"It will be terribly embarrassing to our Republican governor if it doesn't pass. And it's very important that he not be embarrassed, isn't it?"

Kowalski's hastily prepared written speech was interrupted by Rep. Russell Strange, R-Clare, who objected to the interjection of his own name and those of other Republicans who opposed ADC-U in the past.

When House Speaker Allison G. K. Rington, restored order, Kowalski began repeating what he'd already read.

"I think you're on page six, line 14, Joe," said Green, and the House broke up in gales of laughter.

Some were still laughing when the bill went to a vote and Kowalski closed on a note of sarcasm.

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the Republican caucus, your compassion overflows me."

The ADC-U bill drew 49 Republican and 40 Democratic votes on passage, with 14 Republicans opposing it and four lawmakers abstaining.

In the form in which it went to the Senate, the ADC-U bill would apply to children under 18 who live with jobless parents, not in foster or relatives' homes. It would include persons who have been on welfare since 1958 and who have not worked for more than 32 hours in any consecutive two weeks. Persons in jail not qualifying them for state unemployment compensation would not be eligible.

A Juvenile Court hearing began at 10 a.m. today to decide whether 15-year-old Douglas Godfrey, who has been tried as an adult for the sniper slaying of his mother Jan. 25.

Probate and Juvenile Court Judge Donald E. Adams presided at the hearing, at which three psychiatrists were expected to testify on the boy's mental condition.

If there is a denial of Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor's petition for a waiver to try the boy in Circuit Court for first-degree murder, Douglas may be committed to a mental hospital.

The boy is charged with plotting and executing the murder of his 38-year-old mother, Mary Godfrey. Mrs. Godfrey was shot with a 22-caliber bullet fired from outside the kitchen window of the Godfrey home.

Relocation of Bar Okay'd in Spite of Strong Protests

The relocation of a bar in downtown Pontiac was approved over strenuous objections at the Pontiac City Commission meeting last night.

After an hour-long debate by commissioners and citizens, the proposed relocation of Spadofore Bar from 6 N. Cass Ave. to 79 N. Saginaw St. was okay'd by a 5-2 vote.

Commissioners Milton R.

Henry and Charles H. Harmon voted against the move.

Harmon said he opposed the move because the new location was only a few doors from an existing bar and too close to well-established retail stores.

"I question the wisdom of putting two bars in one block," he said. "We may end up with the same situation on North Saginaw that we're trying to get rid of on South Saginaw."

Henry moved to defer action on the move for one week. His motion was defeated by the same 5-3 margin.

"I think we should find out if there are serious plans for redevelopment in that area before acting," Henry said, referring to possible expansion plans by Sears Roebuck & Co. or owners of Waite's Department Store.

"I'd hate to think I sat on a commission that hampered future development of the whole area by acting too quickly on relocating one establishment."

The move was opposed on a petition by Sears, Waite's and Federal Department Store.

The present bar on North Cass has been condemned and will be torn down to make way for the Perimeter Road. It is not located in the urban special area.

The owner, Charles Spadofore, said he had been located on Cass for 20 years "and now they're (the State Highway Department) putting us out of business."

"We've looked all over town but can't find another comparable location that is suitable."

CITE INVESTMENT

Commissioners Winford E. Bolton and William H. Taylor Jr. supported the move on grounds that Spadofore plans to invest an estimated $50,000 to $60,000 in a bar and restaurant development at the Saginaw Street location.

Commissioners Loy L. Ledford and Dick M. Kirby pointed out that the commission could revoke the Class C license anytime the proposed bar proved to be a detriment to the area.

Mayor Robert A. Landry said that "while relocation is a problem, this lease contains certain assurances that it will be canceled if mass redevelopment of the block is proposed in the next five years."

Among the many citizens protesting the move were local real estate agents Floyd Kent and Paul Kern, both of whom own nearby property, and Waite Stodard, representing owners of Waite's Department Store.

Kent presented a protest petition with signatures of some 50 nearby merchants and property owners.

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and President Kennedy were asked to declare Carnegie, Pa., and other Charities Valley communities disaster areas.

The rising Scioto River kept Weather Bureau observers from reading the river gauge at Pikesville, Ohio. Ice jams on the Scioto caused bridges at Prospect, Ohio, to be closed.

Thunderstorms and heavy rains continued to drench the South. Rome, Ga., reported more than 4 inches of rain in 24 hours.

A tornado and severe winds swept across areas in Alabama and Georgia Tuesday.

A twister which struck the Birmingham, Ala., area damaged about 85 buildings in nearby Bessemer and other suburban areas.

Several persons were injured. Property damage was expected to run into the millions of dollars.

Two persons were injured and several homes damaged in a violent wind storm in Cave Springs, Ga.

Wind damage was reported in several other suburban areas of Birmingham. Many utility lines were knocked down.

The hardest hit section of Bessemer is occupied largely by furniture and department stores.

Heavy rains that followed the tornado inflicted severe damage to stores and homes that no longer had roofs.

and efficient administration of justice, he said.

Two more judges could reduce the waiting time by one-third, he estimated.

County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy also blamed the pretrial for slowing down litigation without adequate judicial manpower, even though 1962 statistics do not follow the previous years' pattern of growing case load.

The county's five circuit judges fell behind in 1961 while ranking second in the state in cases disposed per judge — 1,427. They kept up in 1962.

A total of 7,965 cases of all types were started in 1961. That was 830 more than the 7,135 completed.

In 1962, some 7,872 were started — 93 less than in 1961. The 36 less than were begun.

But the judges increased their cases disposed each to 1,575. When Judge H. Russell Holland announced his retirement in January, he said, "The tempo of the state is getting too fast for me."

Judge Holland urged two more judges as does County Prosecutor George F. Taylor, whose office has been constantly plagued with cases coming in faster than it can bring them to trial.

New cases increased from 7,176 in 1959 to 7,654 in 1960 and to 7,965 in 1961 before dropping off slightly in 1962.

Jury cases awaiting trial increased from 390 in September 1960, to 763 at present, nonjury cases from 655 to 555.

The Shepherd

"So shall ye be my disciples."

John 13:8

Disciples represent their Lord . . . And good deeds are their own reward.

They should not let their mission wait . . . Till all things are appropriate.

But go without script, bread or purse . . . And face for better or for worse. What comes with faith that God provides . . . That He sustains and helps and guides . . . And do the jobs God sets them to. As working Christians ought to do.

Friends Try to Save Commuter Train

By LINDA LA MARRE

Is the suburban commuter train like our buffalo herds — vanishing from the American scene?

If the Friends of the Grand Trunk have anything to say about it, the answer is an unequivocal no.

Friends emerged last month out of some 900 south Oakland County commuters who travel the Grand Trunk Western Railroad's Pontiac - Detroit line to their jobs in Detroit.

Their aim is to maintain this service in the face of diminishing patronage and increasing costs.

They hope that by a promotional and educational campaign they can make suburban job holders in Detroit aware of the Grand Trunk.

2ND MEETING

Spearheaded by Edmund W. Pratt of 5600 Brookdale Road, Bloomfield Township, an appreciative commuter for the past six years, the Friends held their second organizational meeting in the Birmingham Community House last night.

Despite sloppy weather, 42 potential Friends of the Grand Trunk showed up to hear acting chairman Pratt's report on a recent meeting with railroad officials.

Grand Trunk vice president and general manager Harry A. Sanders and the line's public committee composed of Pratt, Arnold B. Jones of 676 Linda Vista Drive; Frederick G.

Buesser Jr., 2450 Broadway Blvd., Bloomfield Township and Carl H. Zahner, 2700 Squirrel Road, Bloomfield Township, Feb. 20.

The railroad's reaction to the Friends of the Grand Trunk was "favorable," Pratt reported, "they would like to work with us."

They were "encouraging" toward our public relations efforts, Pratt noted, and said he had the impression the railroad was going to review its own advertising techniques.

"ONLY SALVATION"

Sanders was quoted earlier as saying, "... the only salvation of commuter service is a subsidy before, but we're not trying to the Grand Trunk Western against this loss."

Pratt announced at year's end that it would look into the Pontiac-Detroit commuter service to see whether it should continue.

It was reported last night that lines that led Pratt to call the first meeting, Feb. 9, in the Community House. Over 100 persons responded as a result of newspaper ads and leaflets distributed on the commuter train.

We want to find out why patronage is falling off, Pratt explained, and see if something can be done about it.

"Maybe we can find commuters who weren't commuters before, but we're not trying to accomplish a mountain of things in a few weeks," he said.

"We intend to go at it in a steady manner so it doesn't take up too much time and people will stay with it."

After last night's reports, seven persons were selected as a board of directors: Shirley Miller, 2457 Embrose, and James Z. McChesney, 2515 Yorkville, both of Bloomfield; William W. Page, 694 E. Valley Chase Road, Bloomfield Township; Gordon Lamphere of Detroit; R. Michael Montgomery, 2521 Oliver Road, Royal Oak; and Jones and Pratt.

They will meet March 13 to firm up the organization's structure, reach an agreement on dues and set the next meeting date.

From Dropout to Congress, Via Youth Corps?

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield could become the patron saint of school dropouts, if the administration promotes the "miracle" of getting its four youth corps programs through Congress this year.

The pipe-smoking, soft-spoken senator from Montana chuckled at the age of 14 to enlist in the U.S. Navy during World War I.

After completing his stint he volunteered as a private in the U.S. Army.

RUTH MONTGOMERY, before reaching voting age at 21 had also completed a hitch with the U.S. Marine Corps. And look where he is now!

If the Kennedy administration has its way, today's teen-agers will have a glittering total of four youth corps from which to select their governmental paychecks.

In fact, if they play their cards right they may be able to serve successfully in all of them, a Mansfield.

The Peace Corps, headed by the President's brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver Jr., has proved so popular that Congress is expected to approve most of its new appropriation request, despite the fact that it is jumping from $83.5 million to $100 million and its enlistees from 5,000 to 13,000.

The Peace Corps has been a model of good management.

but unfortunately the President has only two more years-in-law to give to his country, and they are probably un-usable.

Stephen Smith is masterminding the economic and political fortunes of the Kennedy family, and Peter Lawford is play-acting in Hollywood.

The President's two brothers, however, have been loyally pressed into the cause. Young Teddy Kennedy sits on the Senate Labor Committee which passes on the various youth corps, and Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy was the lead-off witness in behalf of the proposed Youth Conservation Corps.

Bobby told legislators that the corps, which is frankly patterned after the Civilian Conservation Corps of early New Deal days, would cost about $100 million the first year, with only 15,000 enrolled, but would expand to 60,000 youths thereafter.

This would, of course, dwarf the domestic Peace Corps. The domestic Peace Corps, which the administration prefers to call the National Service Corps, would be an entirely separate operation from the Youth Conservation Corps, and the Home Town Youth Corps.

START ON THE FARM
The Conservation Corps, open to unemployed school dropouts between the ages of 16 and 22, would operate chiefly in rural areas, in such fields as reforestation, trail and fence construction, and development of recreational sites.

Since an old song warns that you can't get the boys back on the farm after they've seen Paree, it would presumably be wise for the bold young adven-

Limit Bond Power of School Head to Certain Districts

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled yesterday that the state superintendent of public instruction can approve bond issues for community colleges operated by school districts but not for those operated by independent community college districts.

Kelley's ruling said the independent community college districts are not legally defined as "school districts" under the constitution.

His ruling will enable the State Department of Public Instruction to pledge the state's full faith and credit behind general obligation bond issues for construction by such community colleges and Lansing, Port Huron and Highland Park, which are operated as extensions of school districts.

Reds Soy U.S. Planes Buzz Cuba-Bound Ship

MOSCOW (UPI) — The newspaper Sea Transport said yesterday the Cuba-bound merchant ship Sovyetsk was buzzed Sunday by U.S. aircraft which flew as low as 300 feet over the ship.

It said a helicopter passed over the ship a few hours later at mast top level.

After two years, he might then move to the Home Town Youth Corps, where his taste of night life would largely be confined to whistling beside the cigar store Indian.

Next he could graduate to the National Service Corps, which is intended to concentrate on "life in the raw" in the slums of our big, bad cities.

A year or two of that should equip any of our youngsters for the swamps and jungles of the overseas Peace Corps, where in the wide world, the Kennedy administration is taking an unusually vigorous interest in the nation's youth. In fact, some Republican congressmen are suspiciously wondering whether it is thereby trying to "brainwash" the voters of tomorrow.

For instance, the White House has suddenly assumed control over the patronage of more than 10,000 student summer jobs in government, which have heretofore been handled by the Civil Service Commission, irrespective of party affiliation.

Without the knowledge of the commission, the administration recently summoned its patronage people from the various agencies and announced that the White House will now clear all of these young people for summer jobs.

As representative Charles G. of California phrased it: "And anyone who thinks that a Republican has a chance of surviving White House clearance for a summer job is about as far out of date as the minut at one Monday night at the automatic laundry where she had been

Admits Murdering Baby Sitter, Age 14

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — A young sailor confessed last night he strangled and raped a 14-year-old girl he had met through a baby sitter at the girl had posted in a self-service laundry.

Loren Neil Duffield, 23, said he killed Gwendolyn (Connie) Padgett after picking her up Monday night at the automatic laundry where she had been

Special Session Slated

ROCHESTER — The school board's decision on the new budget, proposed raises for teachers and the millage tax hike is expected to come out of a special session set for 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Meeting last night with the Citizens' School Study Group, the board discussed the three subjects and arrived again at tentative conclusions.

It is expected that the May 6 ballot will request an increase of four mills for operational costs, as well as renewal of the special operational tax which expired in December.

This would mean a tax rate four mills higher than the amount district residents paid this year, or $29.40 per $1,000 of assessed valuation as state equalized, assuming allocations from the county remain the same.

Each mill raises about $50,000 for the district.

School Supt. Donald C. Baldwin said today that the board and the citizens' group are in general agreement that the additional millage will be used almost exclusively for teachers' salaries.

NONADMINISTRATIVE — He said a small portion would be used for non-administrative costs, such as pay hikes for custodial, secretarial and clerical employees.

The board is presently considering a salary schedule that would boost the minimum pay of teachers with four-year degrees from $4,000 to $4,500, and increase their maximum from $7,120 to $7,625, after 12 years.

Those with a master's degree, presently starting at $4,550, would begin at $5,200, and receive a top pay of $8,135 after 12 years. They now receive a limit of $7,370.

Although a tentative budget has not been drawn up in detail, it is expected that one will be presented at Saturday's meeting, and that action will be taken on it.

Romney Signs 2nd Bill of Legislature Into Law

LANSING (UPI) — The second bill to clear the 1963 legislature was signed into law today by Gov. George Romney.

The measure, introduced in the House by Rep. Joseph A. Gillis Jr., D-Detroit, would allow attorney fees incurred in foreclosure actions to be included as part of the expenses of selling the property.

Chairman Lynn Sandberg of L'Anse said the meeting will review the organization's progress since its creation a year ago and set goals for the year.

Brothers Get Prison Terms After Series of Thefts

Two brothers from Auburn Heights who last month admitted a number of burglaries to state police and Oakland County sheriff's deputies were sentenced to prison terms yesterday by Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondoro.

Two other youths implicated in the break-ins were placed on probation.

Robert McLintock, 26, of 3198 Auburn Road was ordered to serve two to 15 years in Jackson prison. McLintock pleaded guilty Feb. 18 to the Nov. 7 burglary of the American Legion Hall, 96 Churchill Road, Auburn Heights.

Roger McLintock, 22, of 242 Auburn Road will serve 1½ to 15 years in Jackson prison. He pleaded guilty Feb. 18 to breaking into the Village Market, 3242 Auburn Road, Auburn Heights, on Aug. 5.

The four also admitted several other burglaries when they were arrested Feb. 7, according to police. Most of the thefts were committed in the last three months and netted the four less than $1,000 in cash, police said.

Plan for Reunion of Rochester Class

ROCHESTER — Plans are under way for a June 22 reunion of the Rochester High School Class of 1955, to be staged at the 300 Lounge, 100 E. Cass Lake Road, Waterford Township.

Details of the event may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Donald (Marilyn) Cantrell, Mitchell, or Mrs. Ted (Barbara) Nordquist, Webster, both at 517 Linwood St., before March 29. All persons in the class during any of its four years in the school are urged to attend.

3 to Work on City Hall Buy

WALLED LAKE — Mayor Louis James last night announced the appointment of a committee of three to work out details on the purchase of the Ramsey building for use as a city hall.

Councilmen Harold Ackley, Wendell Kellogg Jr. and Richard Watkins were appointed to work out details with City Attorney Howard Bond and Mrs.

Alma Wagner, owner of the property.

At a special meeting Saturday morning, the council declared 6 to 1 that it intended to purchase Mrs. Wagner's property for $20,000.

James was the sole dissenter.

He requested that the council rescind its Saturday action.

Marshall Taylor, who has declared his candidacy for a seat on the council in the April 1 election, termed the Ramsey building "not suitable for a city hall."

He feared that this might prevent the council from continuing work toward the purchase of a new site.

SOME CITIZENS DOUBTFUL — Milton Parrish, chairman of the City Planning Commission, noted that the Chamber of Commerce, of which he also is a member, has received several calls from people who had doubts about the building's condition.

He observed that because of inadequate drainage, the building "may be a health hazard."

"If we haven't got drainage and parking, I think this building is 100 per cent inadequate," he stated.

Councilman William Stamas, explaining his approval of the purchase, noted that the interest on the Ramsey building would be "less than the rent" for the city hall currently being used.

Councilman V. Douglas Meredith termed the purchase "a good investment."

While agreeing with some critics that the building "isn't absolutely suited for a city hall," Ackley insisted that the council would continue to look for property on which to build a new city hall.

"I don't want to die old and see Walled Lake without a city hall," he said.

He noted that "people are going to complain no matter what you do."

He termed Mayor James' appeal to rescind the action taken by the council last Saturday "ridiculous."

The building was formerly the Ramsey Dry Goods Store.

Under tentative plans, the building will house the city offices, police office, Justice Court, road commission office and the city library.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Walled Lake City Manager Writes Letter of Resignation

WALLED LAKE — Plagued by what he termed a lack of cooperation among city hall employees, controversial City Manager E. V. Mercer resigned last night.

In his letter to the council, Mercer gave April 1 as the effective date of his resignation.

However, Mayor Louis James noted that an election will be held on that date, requested that he stay on until the council can find a replacement.

"I don't want to do a thing to make it difficult on the council," Mercer said in agreeing to stay on.

The council decided to advertise at once for the combined position of city manager and assessor in the International City Managers News Letter, a semi-monthly bulletin for municipal administrators.

EYES 'EXPERIENCE' — Councilman Harold Ackley observed that the city should hire "an experienced man" in view of the many problems he will have to face.

Mercer's record has been clouded by controversy since his appointment as acting manager replacing Harold Millsap in October 1962.

Several councilmen protested his appointment to this post since he had not submitted an application for the job.

As Mercer admits, a lot of things have happened since his appointment. "Some of them were pretty embarrassing," he indicated.

On January 15, he fired Building Inspector Ernest Campion because of alleged "featherbedding."

He did this "to save the city money."

Church Officials Ask Soviets OK Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials of the Baptist World Alliance have asked Russia, through the Soviet Embassy here, to permit an impartial international committee to investigate charges of religious persecution in Russia.

The request followed reports that a group of evangelical Christians appeared at the U.S. embassy in Moscow, claiming "religious persecution."

"If I had my way we would start work on it today," Sherr said.

"Farmington is a wonderful, new, growing area, and we will try to be an asset to it," he added.

The City Council zoning department within the shopping center from a parking classification to commercial to permit construction of the nursery.

City Manager John D. Dinan said the new store "will help other merchants" in the center by generating an increasing amount of traffic.

Invited to Gobble Up Family Turkey Dinner

THOMAS — A family-style turkey dinner will be served at the Community Hall here tomorrow under sponsorship of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Thomas Methodist Church.

Supervised by the "Willing Workers" of the WSCS, the dinner will begin at 5 p. m. Proceeds will go into the church's building fund.

money" and because Campion "didn't have enough to do in his other jobs," Mercer said at the time.

At the same time Deputy City Clerk-Treasurer Mrs. Joanne Burke turned in her resignation. She broke into tears before the council as she spoke in criticism of the city manager.

At the Feb. 4 meeting, Mercer accused City Clerk Mrs. Shirley Ryden of "taking too many coffee breaks" while on duty.

Mercer claimed at the time that he was not getting any cooperation from the office staff at City Hall. He attributed this to their disappointment over his appointment as city manager Dec. 17.

He said the staff preferred a candidate from Illinois who was vying with him for the job.

Council repeatedly issued pleas for cooperation among city employees to little avail.

Mercer announced no future plans at the council meeting last night. Nor would he comment on his resignation.

special tax would not be collected. Other officials expressed hope the government would change its decision.

Sens. Patrick V. McNamara and Philip A. Hart and the state's eight Democratic House members said in a statement, "We do not intend to accept this decision as final."

The decision was announced by Dillon as part of a reorganization of the Internal Revenue Service, Michigan members of Congress said the action "is a breach of faith."

The group said they had protested the reported reorganization "to the highest levels of the government."

"We have assurances that the announced plan will not take effect without further exploration," the statement said.

"The Internal Revenue Service would eliminate the proposed Michigan center simply by re-juggling Michigan into a five-state region."

"The service center for this new region already has been initiated in another state. By the action the IRS violates a firm commitment."

The statement said the IRS officials informed the Michigan members that Michigan had been selected as a service center location for the Michigan-Illinois-Wisconsin region.

It added, "The crude expedient of shuffling Michigan into a new region as a means of eliminating this proposed facility is not acceptable to us on its face."

Senate Passes Farm Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has passed and sent to the White House an emergency $508-million supplemental money bill for the farm price support program.

It was the first money bill to clear the 88th Congress.

The bill was approved by voice vote after brief debate. It passed the House, 254-154, over Republican protests last week.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, noting the Senate's slow start this year, ruled out an Easter recess and warned that Congress may have to work until October or November.

The Senate is several weeks behind, he said, and "It behooves us all to stay on the job."

The money in the farm bill the Senate passed will actually be used to repay the Treasury, which provided funds to finance the program under which U.S. surplus food is sold abroad for local currency, which can only be used in the foreign country itself.

Hope College Sends Band to Play in Area

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — The 55-piece Hope College band will present a 7:30 p. m. concert in the Brandon High School gymnasium Saturday, under the sponsorship of the Brandon Music Boosters.

Presently on a statewide spring tour, the band will play under direction of its conductor Robert M. Cecil. It comes here from the college in Holland, Mich.

Included in the program will be Handel's "Royal Fireworks Music," and Leroy Anderson's "Bugler's Holiday." Several marches also will be heard, such as Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Selections from Leonard Bernstein's musical score for "West Side Story." Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Electric, Inc., 3465 Auburn Road, Auburn Heights.

The four also admitted several other burglaries when they were arrested Feb. 7, according to police. Most of the thefts were committed in the last three months and netted the four less than $1,000 in cash, police said.

Ionia Escapee Sent to Jackson

Guilty in Kidnaping of Young Mother of 2

A former Ionia State Hospital inmate convicted of kidnaping a 19-year-old Farwell mother of two was sentenced to a 6-to-20-year term in Jackson Prison Monday by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

James G. Styes, 34, was found guilty by a Circuit Court jury Feb. 19 of kidnaping the woman and her 14-year-old brother after escaping from the hospital in August 1961.

Styes and John T. Auld, 44, also a former inmate of the hospital, were arrested in West Bloomfield Township.

Auld pleaded guilty to the kidnap charge and is serving a 12½-to-25-year term.

The pair also was accused of raping the woman in West Bloomfield Township, but the charge was dismissed.

They appeared in Oakland County Circuit Court on the charges after a long delay caused by an appeal to the State Supreme Court. The attorney general challenged the county's jurisdiction in holding a sanity hearing for the pair.

Styes and Auld were found mentally competent to stand trial at the hearing, during which it was charged that they faked insanity in order to escape prison on felony convictions.

The state attorney general's office later dropped its appeal.

Navajos Pick New Tribal Chairman

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)—Raymond Nakai, 45-year-old radio announcer and ordinance worker, was elected tribal chairman of the Navajo Indians yesterday, defeating a man who had beaten him twice.

Nakai polled almost 2,000 votes more than Fred Jones, who was so confident of winning a third four-year term in the $20,000-a-year job that he didn't stay around for the count.

Jones, 63, was in Washington to testify before a Senate committee and couldn't be reached for comment.

At his home in Flagstaff, Ariz., Nakai said, "I am a happy man. I will exert every effort humanly possible to bring about certain things that I have discussed with the people."

More than 25,000 Navajos, scattered from Los Angeles in Chicago, voted but most votes were cast on the reservation, where 73,000 Navajos live. The reservation covers parts of Arizona, New Mexico and Utah.

'No Teachers in Legislature'

LANSING (AP) — The state's school chief reported today he has received verification that the proposed new constitution, if approved, would prevent teachers in state-supported schools or colleges from serving in the Legislature.

State Superintendent of Public Schools Lynn Bartlett said he asked for the ruling, received verbally from Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, because of concern over the issue expressed by various teacher and education groups throughout the state.

The move by Bartlett, a Democrat, to obtain the unusual off-the-cuff opinion from the Democratic Attorney General, was seen as another strategy move in the party fight to defeat the Republican-backed constitution.

The attorney general said provisions of the proposed constitution clearly rule the double holding of legislative and teaching positions would be illegal.

Train Hits Station Bar as Brakes Fail; 4 Hurt

CASTELLAMARE DI STABIA, Italy (AP)—A passenger train plowed into the railway station bar in this shipyard town south of Naples just before dawn today. The train's brakes failed.

The engineer and three passengers were injured. But the bar was almost empty, and no one in it was hurt.
