Pontiac Zooms to Third Place in '59 Car Sales

Only Chevrolet, Ford Ahead; Olds, Plymouth Drop Behind

Pontiac is letting Oldsmobile and Plymouth watch its exhaust for the first time in many years in the automobile industry new car sales race.

Official registration figures show that Pontiac is outselling every other automobile except first place Chevrolet and Ford.

Confirmed figures of the first four months plus partial returns for May, show Pontiac with 130,512; Oldsmobile, 130,347; Plymouth, 119,601; and Rambler, 110,258.

According to a Ward's Automotive Report, Pontiac was outselling its competitors for the third place position during the period of June 11 to 20.

"Pontiac Motor Division is experiencing one of the best sales years in the history of the company," said S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and Pontiac Division general manager.

"Pontiac's increasing popularity has lifted it from No. 6 position in the industry to No. 1 nationally in the medium price field.

"Public acceptance of the 1959 model has placed Pontiac in its strongest competitive position, with total sales running over 50 per cent above last year," Knudsen said.

A mid-June period also showed that of 176,600 new cars sold, General Motors accounted for 48.5 per cent; Ford Motor Co., 30.5 per cent; Chrysler Corp., 11.3 per cent; and American Motors, 7.4 per cent.

4 MILLIONTH COMING

The four millionth car of the calendar year will be built during the month of August.

By the end of the month GM will have produced 1,975,000; Ford, 1,226,000; Chrysler, 512,000; American Motors, 264,000; and Studebaker-Packard, 104,000.

The month of June will have realized a 550,000 unit sales total. It will be the third-straight month this year of over a half million sales.

Sales for the automotive industry as a whole have improved 25 per cent over this same period last year.

Safety Council Sees 350 Dying in 4th Traffic

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic accidents during the weekend Independence Day holiday, the National Safety Council estimates, will kill 350 persons.

The council, in a pre-holiday statement Tuesday, also estimated 13,000 persons will suffer disabling injuries in highway accidents. It said 45 million automobiles will be on the highways during the 54-hour holiday period from 6 p. m. local time Friday to midnight Sunday.

The council's figures compare with an estimated non-holiday weekend toll of 260 deaths and 10,000 injuries.

Thompson Off to Prison Cell

Flint Teamster Fails in Bid for Bond After Torch Case Conviction

Flint Teamster Jack D. Thompson departed for Jackson Prison this morning after failing in his bid to win bond from the State Supreme Court.

Thompson, 42, is beginning a 1½-to-10-year sentence for arson in the fire in which Frank H. Kierdorf was fatally burned.

Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth yesterday granted Thompson's attorney a 24-hour stay in sentence to request the Supreme Court to set a bond during the time Thompson appeals his conviction.

Judge Roth refused to set a bond himself.

Thompson was convicted of aiding Kierdorf in an ill-fated arson attempt at a suburban Flint dry cleaning establishment last August.

Believed injured accidentally in the blaze, Kierdorf died in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac five days later.

Both Thompson and Kierdorf were business agents for Teamsters Local 332 in Flint.

At 11:10 this morning, 10 minutes after his 24-hour stay was up, Thompson was taken by deputies from Genesee County Jail in Flint and placed in a road patrol car for the trip to Jackson Prison.

Any further efforts at appeal will have to be made by Thompson from his Jackson Prison cell, Judge Roth ruled.

★ ★ ★

Thompson's attorneys contend that certain jurors who convicted Thompson withheld information about their jury qualifications at the time they were sworn in.

Expects Inflation to Be Key Issue for Campaigners

Announces Hands-Off Policy Toward Picking GOP Candidate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the matter of inflation will be one of the main issues of the 1960 presidential campaign.

The President also told a news conference that he not only looks for a balanced budget in the new fiscal year starting today—he expects a start on paying off the 286-billion-dollar national debt.

And, he said, he believes the Democratic - controlled Congress also expects the administration to start paying off the debt during the next 12 months.

He noted that Congress has just approved legislation—which he signed Tuesday—providing for a new permanent debt ceiling of 285 billion dollars.

The legislation also sets a temporary limit of 295 billion.

Final figures have not been released on the government's deficit in the fiscal year which has just closed. But it is in the neighborhood of 13 billion dollars.

The President said he intends to keep hands off the selection of the 1960 Republican presidential nominee.

Eisenhower told his news conference that while it would be difficult for any man to remain entirely neutral, he doesn't intend to indicate his choice either privately or publicly.

NUMBER OF ABLE MEN

The President went on to say the Republican party has a number of able men of vigorous years who could be selected with honor to the party.

In response to questions, Eisenhower discounted the domestic political effects of Vice Presi-

$26,000 Grant Expected Soon

Acts to Get Airport Funds

While the financing of next year's federal aid to Michigan airport construction is being studied in Lansing, city commissioners last night took steps to insure a full federal grant for this year's program at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

Due to a year-end technicality, commissioners had to apply for a separate grant of $26,000 to help finance the entrance road, service drive and parking lot for the new terminal building and tower, slated for construtcion this summer.

Homer Hoskins, airport manager, said the grant is almost certain to be approved.

The application had to be approved before midnight last night, the end of the fiscal year, Hoskins said.

The $26,000 was covered in the original federal grant for the terminal building, which is expected to be completely processed by the Federal Aviation Agency in a few weeks, Hoskins said.

But under a new law, the federal agency during this fiscal year can approve funds for airport roads and parking lots only when applied for specifically, not tied into package deals, explained Hoskins.

The $26,000 is to be matched by $13,000 in already-approved state funds and $13,000 locally.

In Lansing, James D. Ramsey, state aeronautics director, said 26 Michigan airports need $1,153,500 in state money to get $3 million in already-approved federal funds for construction programs next year.

Up to 50 per cent of the cost of airport improvements can come from federal funds, if the state is willing to pay a quarter of the cost and local muncipalities a quarter, Ramsey said.

Pontiac is asking the state for $89,000, to be matched locally by $89,000 and federally by $178,000, to finance a $356,000 construction program next year.

A Senate bill, introduced in January, is now in the hands of the Senate Appropriations Committee and must be passed out favorably if the airports are to realize their full share of the available federal funds, Ramsey said.

The bill would provide $200,000 each for Detroit Metro, Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo airports, and scale down to about $5,000 for Sturgis and Niles airports.

Other cities provided for in the state bill as it now stands include: Adrian, $18,000; Ann Arbor, $34,000; Big Rapids, $18,750; Clare, $24,000; Detroit (Willow Run), $75,000; Escanaba, $55,000; Flint, $47,000; Frankfort, $13,750; Hillsdale, $19,500; Iron Mountain, $30,000; Ironwood, $22,000; Lansing (Capital City), $45,000; Manistee, $24,000; Ontonagon, $14,000 and Sebewaing, $12,500.

Budget Bills Set for Williams OK

State Hurries to Act as Fundless Agencies Start Fiscal Year

LANSING (UPI) — Most state agencies were without appropriations at the start of the fiscal year today but it was business as usual although there is also a $110,000,000 deficit being carried over.

The Legislature rammed through budget bills in a flurry of activity almost until midnight yesterday, totaling about 360 million dollars, but still left one appropriation measure dangling in mid-air.

It was impossible for nearly all the other appropriations bills to be signed by Gov. G. Mennen Williams until tomorrow or possibly Friday.

★ ★ ★

Some lawmakers thought agencies couldn't spend money if the bills appropriating for the fiscal year weren't approved. But others said the fact that bills weren't there "doesn't mean a thing."

"Government will continue to operate," said Williams.

The money bills bounced back and forth between the House and Senate yesterday and last night as the two chambers sought to reconcile differences.

Lawmakers agreed not to give themselves a $2,000 pay hike to $7,000 in 1961. The House-recommended pay boost had been rejected by the Senate, and the bill which had included the original provision was still without the hike when finally approved.

Only one measure, the 101-million-dollar higher education proposal, was left unsettled and it wouldn't be ironed out until this afternoon when the Legislature came back into session.

Democrats were angry that the budget bills didn't start flowing from committees until about a week ago.

"They require six months to write the bills and give us only a week to consider and pass them," complained House Democratic leader Joseph Kowalski, Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Green predicted supplemental appropriations might come early next year for several of the state's smaller colleges. He claimed the per student appropriations this year were incorrectly computed so the smaller colleges got a "paltry sum."

The only money bills Williams had signed by the midnight deadline were for about 70 million dollars for welfare and 17 million dollars for corrections.

The seven budget bills approved and ready for the governor, excluding the higher education proposal, carried these totals:

Public safety and defense $24,195,180; conservation and agriculture $10,318,912; regulatory services $9,679,023; general government $23,109,339; restricted funds (highway, conservation, aeronautics, waterways, veterans trust fund) $219,463,947; public health $16,117,454; mental health $70,877,000.

Weather Rut Likely for Next Five Days

Only small day-to-day changes in temperatures are predicted in the Pontiac area for the next five days.

The weatherman said the average daily high reading would be in the upper 70s and the low near 57-60.

The forecast for Thursday is a high of 74 with winds northwesterly at 10-18 miles an hour.

Precipitation for the period will include showers early tonight and again around Saturday or Sunday, with rainfall totaling one-quarter to three-quarters inches.

Fifty-seven was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury rose to 86 at 2 p.m.

Ike, Mamie Mark 43rd Anniversary at Party Tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower celebrate their 43rd wedding anniversary today with an informal evening party for members of the White House executive staff and their wives.

A more festive observance was reserved for this weekend when the Eisenhowers planned a house party for old friends at Camp David, Md.

The Eisenhowers were married July 1, 1916 at high noon in a small family wedding at what later became the "summer White House" in Denver, Colo.

DSR Riders Begin Paying Higher Fares

DETROIT (UPI) —DSR riders began paying higher prices for their bus rides today to enable the bus line to meet pay raises for its employes and still stay out of the red.

New basic fare is 25 cents, a 5-cent increase. Express fares are 30 csents, also up a nickel. Student fares were raised from 10 to 15 cents.

Key Centennial Job Taken by Whitfield

Stuart E. Whitfield, vice president of Pontiac State Bank, has agreed to appointment to the key position in Pontiac's upcoming centennial celebration.

Whitfield, one of Pontiac's busiest civic leaders, has indicated he will take on the important task of general chairman of the celebration, it was announced yesterday to the Greater Pontiac Centennial Advisory Commission.

STUART E. WHITFIELD

It will be up to the centennial's forthcoming seven-member Board of Directors to confirm Whitfield's appointment, said John W. Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Hirlinger, a board member, led yesterday's meeting of the Centennial Commission in the absence of Mayor Philip E. Rowston, another board member.

With Whitfield secured in the top position, the Centennial Commission has virtually completed its task of laying the groundwork for Pontiac's 100th birthday observance in 1961.

The commission agreed to meet once more, on July 10, at hear the John B. Rogers Producing Co. of Fostoria, Ohio, make a proposal to produce an outdoor spectacular here to climax the centennial observance.

By that time, it is expected that the Board of Directors will have incorporated a nonprofit centennial corporation and be ready to consider a contract with the Rogers Co.

The commission approved a set of bylaws for the corporation yesterday and sent them to the Board of Directors with a recommendation that they be adopted "as soon as possible."

TWO-FOLD PROVISION

The bylaws specify that any profits from the centennial will go towards construction of a civic auditorium. The purpose of this provision is two-fold:

1. It allows funds to be accumulated for a public purpose.

2. It lets the city avoid federal amusement taxes on admission prices to centennial events.

The services of Whitfield and members of the proposed Board of Directors were secured by a special committee headed by Edward L. Karkau, Pontiac district manager of Consumers Power Co.

Ike, Kozlov Talk on Berlin Barb

70-Minute Conference Leaves Number Three Red Smiling

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and the Soviet Union's First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov discussed the East-West deadlock over Berlin in a 70-minute conference today.

Kozlov was grinning broadly when he came out of the President's office. He said their meeting was "wonderful."

Waving his arms, he said in a booming voice to some 100 newsmen in the White House lobby: "I hope peace will prevail throughout the world."

He said "the cardinal question is the question of peace."

"Did you talk about Berlin?" one of the reporters asked as Kozlov hurried to keep a luncheon date with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The Soviet leader didn't answer. Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, who accompanied him, told the newsmen: "We will meet again and talk about all these things."

★ ★ ★

The White House, through associate press secretary Anne Wheaton, declined to comment on the Eisenhower-Kozlov meeting.

Mrs. Wheaton said there would be no statement, such as there was after Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko talked with Eisenhower a few weeks ago.

After the meeting with Gromyko, Eisenhower called for the Soviets to agree to a measure of progress at the Geneva East-West talks if they wanted a later summit meeting.

★ ★ ★

Before the session with Kozlov, Eisenhower called for the Soviets to demonstrate by deeds that they want a summit conference which would ease world tensions.

Customer Helpless on Floor Since Thursday

Press Carrier Saves Man's Life

His life saved by an alert Pontiac Press newspaper carrier, 78-year-old August Cramer rested comfortably in a Pontiac General hospital bed this morning.

The aged man was discovered lying in a pool of blood on his bedroom floor Monday afternoon by the paper boy, 14-year-old Gary Wesley, 77 N. Ardmore Ave.

The Press subscriber had cut his head, apparently by bumping against furniture as he collapsed. Hospital spokesmen said the cuts had become infected by the time he was found.

Cramer had been there since Thursday, too weak to rise and unable to call for help.

Gary suspected all was not well when Cramer failed to pick up his papers Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

DECIDES TO INVESTIGATE

He was disturbed, but believed the old man, known to be in ill health, had either gone to visit relatives in Detroit or been taken to the hospital.

GARY WESLEY

When he saw the papers still on the porch Monday, he decided to investigate. Neighbors told him that as far as they knew, Cramer had not left his home at 100 S. Ardmore Ave.

The youth tried the front door. It was locked.

As he banged on the side entrance, he heard a weak voice from inside, telling him to come into the house through the rear.

Entering, he discovered Cramer on the floor, blood all about him. The bed had not been used.

The weak man was unaware of the length of his ordeal. He thought he'd been unconscious "about an hour."

Gary went next door to the home of Mrs. Earl J. Moore, 96 S. Ardmore. The pair called police.

A fire department inhalator squad rushed to the home and took Cramer to Pontiac General.

Neighbors said that Cramer had fallen in his backyard last Thursday, and had been helped into his home by neighbors. He told them he was feeling better and they left.

The elderly man was barely able to walk, neighbors said, and when he fell could not get back on his feet without help.

Gary said another aged person had lived with Cramer in the home until recently but had been hospitalized with cancer.

Luckily for Cramer, he had another friend — the unread copies of The Pontiac Press which served as an SOS to the quick-thinking newsboy.

Gary will enter Pontiac Central High School this fall.

He has been delivering the Press since April of 1958.

Jobless Pay Bill Periled in House

Failure to Compromise May Be Death Knell for Benefits in Michigan

LANSING (UPI) — Failure of a fourth attempt at compromise today periled chances that unemployment compensation benefits will be extended for some 30,000 Michigan jobless.

The House yesterday rejected a report of a Senate-House conference committee that split 4-2 along party lines on proposed changes in the jobless pay bill.

Democrats refused to go along with new language to carry out the GOP objective of disqualifying benefits of employes idled by a labor dispute in another plant of the same employer.

An attempt to turn a "right to know" bill into a measure to allow school boards to act in secret sessions has been delayed until July 8.

The Senate last night debated and then put aside temporarily a House-approved bill designed to open records and meetings of school boards.

The Senate Education Committee attempted to amend the bill to allow action at "executive" board sessions when it is "in the public interest."

"This is not a fair way to do it," said Sen. John H. Stahlin (R-Belding), in leading the fight against the amendments. "You're taking away freedom of information."

The Legislature's luckiest bill—a measure providing for closed primary elections — may be up for a final vote today in the Senate.

The bill, which would require a voter to indicate his party preference in order to receive a primary ballot, survived death twice because opponents were caught napping.

Agriculture Minister New German Prexy

BERLIN (AP)—Heinrich Luebke, 64-year-old agriculture minister, was elected president of West Germany today.

Luebke was the candidate of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic Party.

He defeated Carlo Schmid, the Socialist candidate, and Max Becker, who was the choice of the Liberal Free Democratic Party.

Luebke won on the second ballot with 526 votes in the 1,038-member electoral college. This was six more votes than needed.

He had 517 votes, or three shy of the required majority on the first ballot, Schmid had 385 on the first ballot and Becker 104.

Luebke, a jaunty man, has been minister of agriculture six years, but is little known outside farming circles.

Youth Injured in Crash Into County Truck

James S. LaBenne, 19, of Detroit, was in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital today with rib, face, and leg injuries suffered when his auto smashed into the rear of an Oakland County Road Commission truck Tuesday afternoon.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said LaBenne told them he was going west on W. Drahner road near Pontiac road, Oxford Township, when an eastbound truck passed him leaving his auto in a cloud of dust.

LaBenne said the dust was so thick that he couldn't see the truck, driven by Jack G. Lewandowski, 29, of 4361 Baldwin Rd., Orion Township, working on the road ahead of him.

Lewandowski was uninjured, deputies said.

Long, Wife Charge Murder Threats

MRS. EARL K. LONG

From Our Newswires

COVINGTON, La. — Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long alleged today his wife "tried to hire somebody to kill me 10 months ago."

While Mrs. Long charged in a counter suit for separation yesterday that the governor threatened to kill her a month ago. Mrs. Long was unavailable for comment today on Long's charge.

The governor said that Mrs. Long "kept calling this guy and telling him to bring both his shotgun and pistol. She wanted to hire him to kill me," Long said. "She tried to hire somebody to kill me 10 months ago," he asserted.

Long said his wife "was going to give him five," holding up five fingers, "but she only gave him one," the governor indicated.

Long said the man was the husband of a "woman she thought I was messing around with." Long did not elaborate.

It was believed the governor was referring to $5,000 or $1,000 in his reference to "going to give him five, but she only gave him one."

The governor, speaking rapidly, did not allow any interruptions in the interview.

He also charged U.S. Sen. Russell Long (D-La), the governor's nephew, "is buring up to be governor."

"And so is Blanche," he added, referring to his wife.

Mrs. Long took over some of the perfunctory functions of the governor's office in 1950 when Long suffered a heart attack chasing a hog up a hill. At that time, the governor's wife held press conferences and supervised some of the governor's staff.

There was talk at that time of a petticoat government in the capital at Baton Rouge.

SPECIAL SESSION

Long said in a predawn news conference today he planned to call a special session of the Legislature next month "so you can't commit a man to a mental hospital without 10 neighbors signing the papers."

Talking to newsmen while sitting in his car in front of a hotel, Long added his bill would also require that "they'll have to have five experts there explaining what's what without all those big words."

Long returned from a four-hour drive and dinner about 4 a.m. with his doctor and several state officials.

The governor wore his favorite wide-brimmed hat. His legs dangled out the air-conditioned car.

He said he expects to call the session around Aug. 1.

★ ★ ★

For several hours Tuesday Louisiana politicians hurried into the piney woods town of Covington where Long—beset by divorce, income tax and health problems — is busy running for re-election.

BUSY ROOM

They moved in and out of his motel room like worker ants, some on the business of running state government, some seeking a spot on the Long ticket, others merely expressing friendship.

The parade of politicians formed a part of one of the strangest rest cures in history. Gov. Long, 63 and ill, made scores of telephone calls as visitors came and went.

Although physicians say Gov. Long has suffered a series of mild strokes, Louisiana's chief executive continued his mad pace after midnight.

A few minutes after state police set up an oxygen tank in his room, Gov. Long bellowed so loud during a telephone talk he could be heard outside his room.

Long himself ordered the oxygen. His doctor was out eating. The governor has an asthmatic condition that is helped by oxygen.

★ ★ ★

Forty minutes after midnight, Gov. Long climbed into his limousine for a five-mile drive to an all-night restaurant.

"Turn on the air," he told his driver, who flipped on the air conditioning.

Gov. Long apparently still toyed with the idea of going either to Tucson or Phoenix, Ariz., for two weeks. It seemed certain there would be no rest if he stays home.

Debt Will Shrink, Says Eisenhower

dent Richard M. Nixon's forthcoming visit to Moscow to open the American fair there.

A reporter noted that Eisenhower's selection of Nixon for this mission had been interpreted in some quarters as indicating a preference for the vice president in the 1960 contest.

In the course of the news conference, the President touched on these other topics:

SUMMIT—He still believes there is no point in his going to a summit conference unless there is adequate preparation in advance by what he called the legitimate diplomatic agencies of government.

That was an allusion to the Big Four foreign ministers who will resume talks in Geneva July 13, picking up at that point after six recent weeks of fruitless negotiations.

KOZLOV—Speaking an hour in advance of a scheduled conference with Soviet Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov, Eisenhower said he very much enjoyed the visit he had earlier this week with Kozlov in New York.

That was when Eisenhower visited the Soviet exposition in New York.

On that occasion, Eisenhower said, he found Kozlov to be a man who enjoys a joke and likes to have fun.

Eisenhower went on to say that while he enjoyed that visit it was personal and in no way political.

SECURITY — Eisenhower was asked for comment on a Supreme Court decision this week that there is no present authority for the firing of private industrial plant employes on security grounds. He replied that the administration ordered a careful study of that ruling as soon as it was handed down, and that he couldn't say anything further pending completion of that study.

INFORMATION — In connection with government operations, there are all sorts of things which simply cannot be made public for security reasons, Eisenhower said. He made that remark when asked for comment on what a reporter referred to as differences between Congress and the executive branch regarding freedom of information about government business.

NEW YORK (AP)—High brass of Lions International was roaring today about a picture of a Detroit stripteaser who spoke to a Lions meeting in Royal Oak Monday.

It was a juicy topic of conversation at the 42nd annual convention of the service organization, now in session here.

Stripper Libby Jones appeared before the club in an off-the-shoulder white gown. But a picture of her, clad in considerably less while doing her act in a Detroit club, appeared in some papers. The dancer, whose real name is Adlyn Morris, and who says she has a degree in English literature from the University of Washington, lectured to the club about her profession.

She said she had made a psychological and historical study of the strip tease "because it is important to me in my career to know why this profession exists."

S. A. Dodge of 621 Lone Pine Rd., a past international president, pointed out that she merely gave a lecture "but a picture of her almost undressed which appeared in the papers of innuendo inferred she put on such a striptease act at the club meeting."

"We are going to do everything possible to erase from the record any idea that such a thing ever happened at the meeting," Dodge added.

He said the matter would be taken up at a district cabinet meeting of Michigan Lions soon, and it would be decided then what action, legal or otherwise, might be taken.

Rodrick Beddow of Birmingham, Ala., another past international president, told a reporter he "unqualifiedly denounced any such program at a Lions club meeting."

"We wouldn't allow such a thing," he said, "and now we find that the program wasn't what the picture would lead you to believe after all."

Free Lemonade to Flow One Day Late in Virginia

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP) — Free lemonade will be on tap today in this mountaintop city, thanks to an overheated thermometer.

Bluefield, often called "Nature's Air-Conditioned City," likes to boast that a temperature of 90 is seldom reached. The Chamber of Commerce has a standing offer of free lemonade to all comers when that occurs.

The chamber was caught unprepared by Tuesday's 90-degree reading but promised free lemonade today.

The last time the chamber went into the lemonade business was in mid-July 1957.

Early Morning Hello of 'Gator Opens Eyes

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Mrs. W. S. Harris stepped into her carport, yawned at the bright morning sun, and leaped back into her kitchen. She was wide awake. A 2½-foot alligator had yawned back at her.

Mrs. Harris said she was sure it wasn't anybody's pet "because he snapped at us before we got him tied to a tree." She said the alligator probably came from a nearby swamp.

A local man says: "I guess I'll get some good, healthy exercise this summer—but I guessed wrong last summer, too" . . . You can always spot the important executive. He's the fellow who travels from his air-conditioned office in an air-conditioned car to his air conditioned club—to take a steam bath. —Earl Wilson.

Police Probing Break-In, Theft of Radios, TV Set

BIRMINGHAM — Birmingham police today are investigating a breaking and entering at the Birmingham Television Co., 1842 S. Woodward Ave., believed to have occurred about midnight last night.

The store window was smashed, and an estimated $450 to $500 was taken, according to Det. Lieut. Merlin Holmquist of the Birmingham Police Department. Stolen were three transistor radios, a stereophonic recorder and a portable television set.

Birmingham police discovered the crime at 12:24 a.m. At 12:27 a.m. two boys, who disappeared before they could be identified, reported to Berkley police that they had seen a man breaking the television company window.

Police are now trying to locate the boys in the hope that they may have further information.

The break-in was the second this year at the Birmingham Television Co.

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Birmingham Federal Savings and Loan Assn. yesterday an increase of dividend rate was unanimously approved.

The rate increase from three per cent to three and one half per cent is effective today.

The first payment of dividend at the new rate will be made on Dec. 31 of this year.

The higher rate was made possible by substantial growth and increased earnings of the association during the past two years.

Walter L. Moreland, president of the association, pointed out "the rate increase is in keeping with the policy of the association to pay the highest rate of earnings consistent with sound business practice."

The Senior Men's Club of Birmingham will meet this week on Thursday instead of Friday because of the Fourth of July weekend.

The 10 a.m. get-together at the Community House will be highlighted by a talk by Frederick Hoar of the Burroughs Corp. public relations staff.

Percy Lucas

Service for Percy Lucas, 85, of 769 Pierce St., will be held at 1 p.m. Friday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home here.

Mr. Lucas died suddenly Monday evening at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac. He was a retired farmer and a lifelong resident of Southfield and Birmingham.

He is survived by three sons, Floyd of Allen Park, Everett of Largo, Fla., and Halsey of the Pierce street address; nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Three brothers and a sister also survive.

Mrs. Charles A. Pfeiffer

Private service for Mrs. Charles A. (Margaret A.) Pfeiffer, 92, of 490 Berwyn Rd., was to be held today at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. here.

Mrs. Pfeiffer died Monday at her home after a prolonged illness.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. A. L. Moses and Miss Laura Pfeiffer, both of Birmingham; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Accepts Key Post for City's Centennial

outstanding job in accomplishing so much in such a short time," Hirlinger said.

As expected, the commission decided to leave the choice of an executive committee for the centennial up to Whitfield and the Board of Directors.

The 35-member body, appointed by Mayor Rowston in April, reversed last week's decision that the commission itself should form the executive committee.

"I'm sure many of you will have positions on the executive committee," said Hirlinger. "In fact, there will be room in the centennial for just about anyone in town who wants to work on it."

It will be up to the general chairman to chose divisional and committee chairmen for various aspects of the centennial and to lead the small army of committee workers which ultimately will be formed.

"During the Lansing centennial, for instance, there were more than 600 persons involved in committee work," Hirlinger pointed out.

It's not expected that the centennial will exist in more than skeleton form until early 1961 when centennial activities get under way.

"But the important step now was to get the centennial organization started, and this the centennial commission has done well," said Hirlinger.

Good Luck - - - "Bud"

We at Thomas Economy are going to miss you. After all you can't wipe out over thirty years of close and pleasant association overnite.

Bud, we have come a long way together. Two World Wars, a major depression and the passing of your friend and our founder William D. Thomas Sr., so you see it won't be quite the same without you.

We appreciate the fact that when you became an executive many years ago and delegated your other accounts, you chose Thomas Economy as the only account to serve personally.

Thomas Economy, has been serving the people of Oakland County, for forty-five years, that was just one year prior to your start at the Pontiac Press.

Thanks again for all you have done for us Bud and lots of good luck from all of us.

Raps Free Press, Time for Michigan 'Smear'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Detroit Free Press and Time Magazine were accused yesterday of taking part in a national "smear Michigan" campaign by Sen. Patrick V. McNamara (D-Mich).

McNamara told the Senate that Time gave a distorted account of a recent State Supreme Court ruling and "comes close to libeling Associate Justice George Edwards who wrote the majority opinion in the case."

The court held that Michigan employes of Ford Motor Co. were entitled to unemployment compensation when laid off because of a strike in a Ford plant in another state.

Plants Just Too Ancient

7-Year Plan Can't Meet Soviet Industrial Needs

MOSCOW (AP)—The Communist Party's central committee has been told the task of installing modern equipment in Soviet industry is too big to be managed in the current seven-year plan.

Accordingly, the central committee has ordered some shortcuts and will concentrate in fields where quick results may be expected in the rac4 with the United States for world industrial leadership.

The committee has just concluded a five-day meeting to size up Soviet industry at which Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was the main speaker. The results filled more than three pages Tuesday iin the two leading Soviet newspapers, Pravda and Izvestia.

Averki B. Aristov, the party presidium's expert on industrial efficiency, frankly told the committee of some of the deficiencies of Soviet industry. He said retooling was too gigantic a task for accomplishment under the seven year plan which ends in 1965.

He said he "blushed at the outdated equipment, heavy manual work and low productivity" still existing in many fields.

Of 80 steel rolling mills in the Russian Republic, largest in the Soviet Union, he said only three were modern. The rest dated from the 19th and even 18th centuries.

Some of these antique mills, he said, are "20 to 30 times less productive than modern" ones.

Portland Cheers Expressway Bypassing City

PORTLAND (AP) — This central Michigan community will be bypassed by the opening of a new stretch of the Detroit-Muskegon expressway.

But the people of Portland are celebrating rather than deploring this byproduct of the stepped-up State Highway Department road construction program.

This is in direct contrast with many communities that feel progress will pass them by if they are bypassed by an expressway.

Portland is whooping up the formal opening of slightly more than four miles of expressway that will divert traffic from city streets and take it south of the city.

The stretch of expressway, built at a cost of $2,878,932, will be opened to traffic following dedication ceremonies Friday morning.

Portland is planning a parade, a motor eavalcade over the new route and a civic luncheon. Free coffee will be served to all motorists stopping at Portland Friday and Saturday.

Area Hospital Official Named to Committee

Marcia T. Keith, supervisor of physical therapy at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak, was one of five top health leaders in Michigan to be named members of a professional scholarship awarding committee.

The group will select the state's 20 winners of the National Foundation's 1959 health scholarships sometime this summer. Supported by the March of Dimes, the scholarships pay $500 a year, or $2,000 for four years to the Michigan student winners.

Miss Keith said selection will be based on scholastic achievement, financial need and personal aptitude.

2 State Officials to Take Oath of Office Today

LANSING (AP) — Two state officials elected in April were scheduled to take oaths of office in inaugural ceremonies at the state capitol this morning.

Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, of East Lansing will start his second two year term as state superintendent of public instruction. Mrs. Cornelia A. Robinson of Kalamazoo, a newcomer to state office, will start a six-year term on the State Board of Education. Both are Democrats.

Congress Must Act on Security

Senators Say Court Ruling Makes Action Urgent to Guard U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several senators of both parties said today the Supreme Court decision knocking out the current industrial security program calls for prompt congressional action to keep security risks out of defense plants.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), a member of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, said the court's ruling Monday, whether right or wrong, "points up a situation which cries out for action by Congress."

The court ruled that neither Congress nor the President ever had specifically authorized the program under which Defense Department officials force contractors to fire persons they regard as security risks.

The court's chief argument in the 8-1 decision, written by Chief Justice Earl Warren, was that alleged security risks were denied the safeguard of confronting persons who make charges against them.

Navy Ships to Visit Straits Port Cities

CHEBOYGAN (UPI) — Several destroyers of the Navy task force sailing the Great Lakes this week will visit straits ports and their crews will be entertained by residents.

The destroyers Dupont and Willard Keith will be at Cheboygan from today through Sunday. The Henley will visit Mackinaw City, and the Putnam will go to St. Ignace.

Each ship is carrying scores of midshipmen from the Naval Academy at Annapolis in addition to the regular crew.

Port committees are arranging entertainment for the Navy men and also are making plans to feature the sailors in Fourth of July celebrations. Many persons are extending invitations for some of the men to be guests at picnics and dinners.

Cheboygan will hold a reception Thursday for officers and midshipmen and a street dance, open to sailors and civilians alike, will be held in Cheboygan Friday.

Youth Shouldn't Deter Qualified Candidates

For the few diehards that seem to criticize youth in positions of importance, their memories appear rather short. In a lot of the early political chatter, much is being made of the youth of Senator JOHN F. KENNEDY.

What's wrong with youth?

A little checking reveals that with a couple of exceptions, the whole list of 1960 prospects in both parties falls in the youthful category.

By convention time Kennedy will be 43 and the present leading Republican candidate, Vice President Nixon will be 47. Other Democrats in the running are Herbert Humphrey, 49, and Senator Lyndon Johnson, 51.

NIXON'S opponent will be NELSON ROCKEFELLER, 52. The only so-called "old men" in the race will be ADLAI STEVENSON, who will have turned 60, and Senator STUART SYMINGTON, 59.

So, by and large, it will be a young group we will be choosing from. This youth movement is nothing new. It must be remembered that FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT was nominated and elected at 50, in 1932. His adversary, HERBERT HOOVER, was 54 when he was chosen President four years earlier.

The 1940 GOP nominee, Wendell Willkie, was then 48. One of his chief opponents, Senator Robert A. Taft, was 50. The man who led the early ballots, Thomas E. Dewey, was 38. When he won nomination in 1944 he was 42 and he took it again at 46.

Lest we forget, another pretty able President was THEODORE ROOSEVELT, 42, who took over from the vice presidency after the assassination of President MCKINLEY.

★ ★ ★

Apparently some of us fail to remember the important positions held by youthful men and women during our own formative years. Age should not be a deterrent when a man is qualified for the position.

Vacation Bible Schools Fine Summer Activity

What better way could our young people start summer vacation than by attending one of our many area Vacation Bible Schools that have been going on since the close of school?

Many times we all take religion for granted. It is work such as this that will serve as a reminder to many of our young folks.

The many churches and the thousand or more volunteer workers are to be commended for organizing and conducting these courses. They provide the youngsters with the proper spirit to commence a vacation period.

★ ★ ★

These Bible courses help create the right devotional atmosphere which is so necessary in all our lives today. In the long run, the few hours spent in this extracurricular activity will mean added pleasure to all those who attended.

Indus Water Agreement Will Benefit Populations

A conference will take place in London in August between the representatives of India, Pakistan and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development with a view to settling the Indus waters dispute.

The problem is that six rivers of the Indus Valley have their upper waters in India yet flow through Pakistan to empty into the Arabian Sea. For 5,000 years until partition the river and canal networks were developed as a single unit. The British had added hydraulic engineering to the big and small canals leading from the system.

Fed by Himalayan snows and monsoon rains it made fertile 21 million acres in Pakistan and five million in India. More land is irrigated by the Indus waters than by any other system in the world, and 22 million acres more could be brought into production.

At the time of partition with its terrible bloodshed, a line was drawn through the Indus Valley. The argument started then has continued for 11 years to the detriment of both countries while 80 per cent of the river water flowed unused to the sea.

India has at last agreed with the Bank on the amount of money she will contribute to works which will make Pakistan dependent only on the western rivers of the Punjab. Pakistan has set up an organization for developing the Indus Basin supplies. The World Bank must raise its own share of the money from its member nations.

The benefits derived by both countries from a sane use of this water will be huge and much needed for their vast and growing populations.

Making Highways

Much Dirt Is Being Moved in the Vicinity of Oxford

Economy: Ordering 30 candles on your birthday cake when you're 40.

One of the biggest highway kills in Oakland County is just being completed on the Pontiac-Lapeer Road (24) just north of Oxford. The big dip near Stony Lake, where an accident that took several lives took place, has been entirely filled.

This makes it a level stretch and raises the grade around 30 feet above the lake level, encroaching on the east shore of the lake. The new pavement is located just west of the old, so traffic continues, as usual during operations.

A mile or so north of there the new work crosses the old, taking out the big hill and bend near Thomas. This also eliminates what was a hazardous section of highway.

In order to keep things in balance, the gravel operations near Stony Lake are getting so deep that they will create another lake there.

Boom Go Boom?

David Lawrence Says:

High Court OKs Teaching Adultery

WASHINGTON — The same Supreme Court of the United States which recently ruled that it's all right to teach or advocate the overthrow of our government—because this is just an "idea"—now says, in effect, that it is lawful to teach adultery and the breaking of the marriage vows.

LAWRENCE

The court says this also is just an "idea" which the majority of the people of America may not like, but that it all comes under the head of "free speech" and is protected by the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution.

This latest decision will come as a shock to church-going folks everywhere who do not believe that it is lawful to advocate sin, any more than it is right to advocate crime of any kind, especially in motion pictures that reach the young as well as adults.

The Supreme Court's own words are startling. The opinion of the court, delivered by Justice Stewart, reversed a decision of the highest court of the State of New York, which upheld the law of that state forbidding the exhibition of motion pictures "which are immoral in that they portray 'acts of sexual immorality . . . as desirable, acceptable, or proper patterns of behavior.'"

The New York court had interpreted that language of the statute to require denial of a license to a motion picture where "its subject matter is adultery presented as being right and desirable for certain people under certain circumstances."

LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL

The Supreme Court's opinion accepted the contention "that the motion picture here in question can be so characterized," but went on to hold that New York State has no right to pass such a law, because it is unconstitutional on its face. Justice Stewart says:

"What New York has done, therefore, is to prevent the exhibition of a motion picture because that picture advocates an idea—that adultery under certain circumstances may be proper behavior. Yet the First Amendment's basic guarantee is of freedom to advocate ideas. The state, quite simply, has thus struck at the very heart of constitutionally protected liberty."

All in all, six justices voted to take away the right of the states to decide for themselves what motion pictures involving "sexual immorality" are objectionable, while three others said they would rather see the Supreme Court, acting presumably as a "supreme board of censors," decide each case on its merits.

Justice Black objected to that role, declaring that then "every member of the court must exercise his own judgment as to how bad a picture is, a judgment which is ultimately based at least in large part on his own standard of what is immoral. . . . Such an individualized determination cannot be guided by reasonably fixed and certain standards."

NOT DISTURBED

But the impression left by the justices is that the Supreme Court of the United States today is not disturbed by the teaching of the "idea" of sexual immorality or adultery.

This is proclaimed now as protected by "free speech," and evidently the scope of the First Amendment cannot be limited in that respect to let the states of the Union regulate morals as they see fit.

The new doctrine seems to be that it is necessary to prove that each picture may "incite" its observers to subsequent acts of immorality.

In other words, sin can be taught, and the states must silently accept such teachings as within the protection of the Constitution. Either the Supreme Court justices or the Constitution now will have to be changed to get a different result.

The Country Parson

"People are better than they sound — their tongues so often fail to reveal what is in their hearts."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Try Whitfield's Remedy for Fungus Foot Infection

From readers' queries I infer that toe and foot itch, ringworm, dermatophytosis, athlete's foot, trichophytosis, tinea, fungus infection is not so widespread as it was 20 or 30 years ago — or, if my deduction is wrong, then remedies are more available today and hence people with this trouble prefer to try remedies suggested by Tom, Dick and Harry.

DR. BRADY

Through the years, the remedies that have given the greatest satisfaction, readers report, have been Whitfield's ointment and Whitfield's solution.

★ ★ ★

The solution is for use in daytime, the ointment for night.

In the pamphlet on Foot Itch (available free, if you provide a stamped, self-addressed envelope) I give the recipes or formulas for Whitfield's ointment and Whitfield's liquid.

A pharmacist-chemist who had foot itch informed me that his dermatologist warned him that the formula I give in the pamphlet is too strong, and showed him a personal letter from Dr. Whitfield of London in which the formula is about half as strong as I have it in the pamphlet.

The dermatologist warned that Whitfield's ointment as strong as I suggest was quite likely to irritate the skin. He thought it would be better to make up ointment or liquid at about half the strength suggested in the pamphlet.

But I must say it is remarkable that in all the years I have been advising the use of Whitfield's ointment and liquid for foot itch, many correspondents have reported to me, to the best of my recollection, none has complained that it was too irritating.

By the way, the formula I give in the pamphlet is just HALF the strength of the Whitfield's ointment described in standard textbooks of dermatology.

Probably patrons of swimming pools, gymnasiums, beaches and other places where people go barefoot have become itch-conscious, because many such places now provide for or require the use of foot bath, paper slippers etc., to prevent spread of the infection.

Many persons with foot itch have found gasoline an effective remedy, both for the itching and for the disease itself. Using only common gasoline, not ethyl. Soak the foot for 30 seconds only, in a shallow basin of gasoline, on three successive days. Of course, it is necessary to do this either out of doors or in a draft between open windows and away from matches, lighters or flame.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Tall Gals, Femininity's Important

Tall girls, note well: Don't slouch in your posture or grow stoop shouldered as you try to merge with the women of average height. For men admire tall girls who are feminine. This newspaper column can offer you plenty of psychological strategy by which you can win boy friends. And don't think you must pick a taller mate. A lot of short men marry taller girls.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B — 475: Lola R., aged 19, has a problem that is growing more common in America.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I am embarrassed because I am so tall. My height is 5 feet 11 inches.

DR. CRANE

"If I wear moderate heels, that means I am at least 6 feet 1 inch so I am likely to be taller than most of the men at a college dance.

"Should I date men who are shorter than I am? Several have asked me, but I am worried about embarrassing them because of my greater height."

TALL GIRL PROBLEMS

If you think we haven't been growing taller, as a general rule, just consider that in 1900 the average woman in America was 5 feet tall.

★ ★ ★

Now she is 5' 5". And there are an average of 8 girls out of every 100 who stand 5' 8" or taller in their stocking feet. Add 2 or 3 more inches when they are wearing high heels.

In some cities, as on the West Coast, there are special clubs for tall folks. One in California has 5' 10" as its minimum requirement for girls and the boys must be 6' 1" or upward.

A lot of tall girls feel unduly shy about their height and thus subconsciously develop stooped shoulders as they try to get down to the average height of their sex.

Girls, if you are tall, take full advantage of that fact by standing with erect posture. Don't slouch.

It is perfectly OK to employ low heels so you don't overly exaggerate your extra height, but please do not develop stooped shoulders.

LUCKY TALL GIRLS

In some foreign countries, tall girls are doubly admired. For example, in France they are the subject of great envy.

One Paris beauty salon boasts that it will "Make Girls Taller." It lists tallness as a mark of superior Americans. As regards dating problems of tall girls, may I remind you that thousands of such women are happily married to shorter men.

Indeed, a man's high center of gravity is not as important as his high I.Q.

In this modern age, unless you wish to be a college basketball star, height is not a crucial matter.

Nowadays it is mental horsepower, plus the ability to earn a good pay check, that are much more desirable male characteristics than a tall physique or a hairy chest.

BE FEMININE

It isn't primarily a girl's height that attracts made admirers, but her femininity.

A short, petite dame who smokes or spouts slang and vulgar stories, or who swills down hard liquor and otherwise affects masculine habits, will drive men away.

A tall girl who is a member of the "Compliment Club" and who flashes a cheery smile, as she dresses in proper feminine styles, will attract men of all heights.

For men want girls to be feminine. They prefer women who can deftly start conversations, but then become good listeners while they let the males dominate the conversation.

They fall in love with girls who make men feel important. And just being 2 or 3 inches shorter than your male escort is only one minor means of making him feel important.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets:

Teen Requests Clean Fun That's Inexpensive, Near

I, too, have found there's no organized entertainment specifically for teenagers. The one dance that's approved by both teenagers and parents is 20 miles away. They also just raised the admission price and limited parking.

★ ★ ★

Occasionally around Pontiac or Waterford is there a fair or carnival, although these are greatly enjoyed and appreciated by teens and their families. If you go to a show once a week, you've seen about the only movie in town, because many are shown at the same time at other theaters.

★ ★ ★

My friends and I aren't trying to be smart alecks and we don't want to complain, but can't anyone help us find some activities for teenagers that are approved by parents, reasonably inexpensive and somewhat close to home? We're not asking for a lavish dance hall or a free party — just some clean, wholesome fun. Any suggestions will be more than appreciated.

'Maine Experiment Has Backfired'

I'm a lifetime Republican, but I even heard Democrats raising their political eyebrows at this Margaret Chase Smith, Maine's turncoat Senator who beat Eisenhower's appointment. She and Wayne Morse could have a dandy time together. After this, I wish Maine would keep her women in the home and let the men go to Washington. This is a "noble experiment" that backfired and proved the Maine voters have inflicted unnecessary punishment on the U. S.

'Dems Couldn't Be Any Worse'

Washington says we face the biggest peace time budget in history and this is from Dwight D. Eisenhower who promised the taxpayers he would cut expenses and reduce taxes.

The Republicans said Roosevelt and Truman were the biggest wasters in all history and now their own man spends more. Eight years of a Republican president is enough and the Democrats can't do any worse and maybe they won't be as bad on us taxpayers as they used to be and as bad as the Republicans are now.

'Neutral' Gordon Irritates Reader

WXYZ's newscaster Gordon should get the air, but quick. He was supposed to be neutral in a debate Monday night and he charged the Republican Senators with blackmail himself without even having the Democrat lieutenant governo. do it.

He was prejudiced and it showed so plain I'm disgusted with WXYZ for letting a bigot take the middle spot and pretend he was neutral. If Gordon isn't a Democrat I'm a zebra and TV stations should not pretend to be neutral in a debate and then favor one side.

WXYZ is fighting an uphill battle, anyway, and things like this will put them even farther behind.

Dem Urges Sales Tax

LANSING (AP)—Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson last night urged legislative approval of the Republican use tax bill, bringing into the open a marked strategy split with his chief, Gov. Williams.

Only the day before, the governor took a strong new stand for income taxes on individuals and business. He tongue-lashed Republican Senators, stirring up a storm in the Legislature.

Swainson, during an interview, said "I am convinced—the GOP use bill for a one-cent increase in the use (sales) tax is unconstitutional and that this was the pivot of his thinking.

In Lansing today, Swainson said: "I agree with the governor on his aims. The only difference is on the means of achieving them."

He said:

"I am very familiar with the governor's program. It is equitable and adequate. A personal and corporate income tax would be a permanent solution of the state's problems.

"But I do not think we will get either. So I would pass the use tax bill in the House. I am convinced it is unconstitutional.

"It then should be taken to the Supreme Court immediately. If the court held it unconstitutional, the Legislature should be called back and the income tax bills offered again.

"This is better than no solution at all."

Osborne's Words Cut Deep

Playwright Lashes England

LONDON (AP) — In this kingdom of convention, cold toast, pageantry and polite manners, playwright John Osborne stands out like a young rogue camel running amok in a peaceful oasis.

With his long upper lip, supercilious smile and snooty tilt to his handsome head, Osborne even looks like a dromedary.

Not surprisingly, he drives the natives nuts with his literary thrashings.

Listen to the 29-year-old Osborne on several subjects:

The Church—"During the past 60 years the Church has repeatedly ducked every moral issue that has been thrown at its head — poverty, unemployment, fascism, war, South Africa, the H-bomb and so on. It has lived in an atmosphere of calm, casual funk."

On the Royal Family—"Nobody can seriously pretend that the royal round of gracious boredom—the ancient fatuity—is politically useful or morally stimulating."

★ ★ ★

The British Broadcasting Corp. —"Staffed by highly trained palace lackeys with graveyard voices and ponderous language, as nourishing and useful as wax fruit under a glass case."

★ ★ ★

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative party — A class of inept deceivers full of arrogance, whose testing of the H-bob was the most debased criminal swindle in British history."

On the Labor party—"Socialism is about people living together, and the sooner the leaders of the Labor party stop arguing about sugar and cement and wake up to the fact the better."

On Britain, his homeland — "We live in an island of sanctimony, without any vital culture of our own — this we are forced to borrow from America — without any moral dynamic of our own, and still responding to the same tired, grubby symbols handed out to us by the deadheads who write political manifestors, make films and produce plays."

★ ★ ★

When Osborne's latest and most ambitious play, "The World of Paul Slickey," dropped its curtain on opening night, it was booed, hissed—and applauded.

★ ★ ★

As the elegantly dressed Osborne left the theater by a side door he was greeted by a blast of boos.

"I must be the first English playwright to have been booed in the streets," he observed.

John Osborne is a highly sensitive young man of considerable talent with a knack for stinging dissent.

His father was a commercial artist who died when John was quite young. The boy and his mother were very poor. Atone time they existed on less than $3 a week.

When a schoolmaster slapped young Osborne for what he thought was insolence, the lad slapped him back. He was kicked out of school.

★ ★ ★

Three years ago he was a wifeless, out-of-work actor, the author of several plays which few had liked and none had accepted.

Then he hit with a bundle of bitterness called "Look Back in Anger."

★ ★ ★

It made a big noise in London. In New York the play also enjoyed success.

Osborne followed this up with "The Entertainer." Sir Laurence Olivier actually asked to play the role of Archie Rice in the play.

This was followed by "Epitaph for George Dillon" and finally, "The World of Paul Slickey."

In the three years since "Look Back" Osborne became a relatively rich man with a beautiful actress wife, Mary Ure. He lives in luxurious rooms and drives a long, sleek sportscar.

★ ★ ★

In his plays, moneymaking is one of the most destructive habits his characters can acquire. But he's making it so fast that he has five companies.

★ ★ ★

"Of course I enjoy money," he says. "Anyone who says he doesn't is a fool."

Osborne says he's tired of being called an angry young man.

"They're just sitting around waiting for me to become corrupted. They even criticize me for wearing better clothes than when I was penniless."

Monrovia Skipper Blames Royalton

DETROIT (AP) — The Greek captain of the Liberian freighter Monrovia blames the Canadian grain carrier Royalton for the loss of his ship on fog-shrouded Lake Huron last Thursday.

Capt. Stefanos Svokos, 49, of Athens, told a Coast Guard marine board of investigation yesterday the Royalton was going at "excessive speed" and also failed to answer signals before the two vessels collided.

The Monrovia, smashed in on her left side just below the bridge, sank within 11 hours with her $350,000 cargo of steel parts. All her 28 men were rescued.

Capt. Svokos, while blaming the Royalton for the collision, admitted he violated Great Lakes navigation rules in failing to slow to a near stop upon hearing the Royalton's fog horn.

The captain, a seaman since 1925, was making his first voyage on the Great Lakes with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway. His ship was bound from Antwerp, Belgium, for Chicago.

Detroit was the first to install radio sets in police cars.

Russian Cities Use Sabin Oral Polio Vaccine

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Russians are protecting entire cities against polio by giving them an oral vaccine adapted into candy, an award-winning scientist reports.

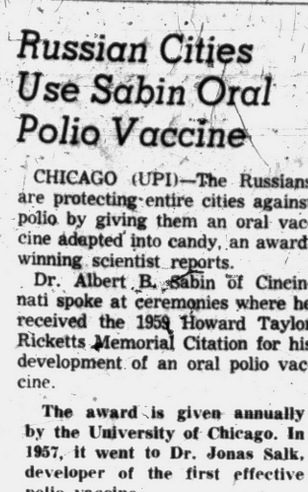

Dr. Albert B. Sabin of Cincinnati spoke at ceremonies where he received the 1959 Howard Taylor Ricketts Memorial Citation for his development of an oral polio vaccine.

The award is given annually by the University of Chicago. In 1957, it went to Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the first effective polio vaccine.

Sabin, chief of the division of infectious diseases at Cincinnati's Children's Hospital Research Foundation and a professor at the University of Cincinnati, said he was "perfectly satisfied" his oral vaccine is safe.

He said he hoped to see the vaccine given to newborn babies, much as silver nitrate now is applied to infants' eyes to prevent infections.

Driver Training Fee Rejected

State Senate KOs Rider Calling for $10 Charge at High Schools

LANSING (UPI)—The Senate has knocked out a proposal calling for a $10 fee for the driver education course now offered free to high school students.

The course was taken by an estimated 105,000 students during the school year recently ended. The state picks up most of the tab by reimbursing school districts for the instruction.

Sen. Clarence F. Graebner (R-Saginaw) was one of the principal opponents to the proposal, a rider on a bill regulating motor scooters.

Graebner said it would hurt the state's safety program by discouraging school pupils from taking the course.

★ ★ ★

Basic provisions of the motor scooter bill were left unchanged by the Senate. It limits riders on scooters built for just one person to the operator and requires driver training or demonstrated operating proficiency as a condition for obtaining a driving permit.

The bill would not change the minimum age for scooter operators, leaving it at 14.

★ ★ ★

The Senate accepted committee amendments adding 50 cents to the fee for original driver licenses, license renewals and chauffeur licenses. Under the proposed new schedule, the original license would cost $4, a renewal $2.50 and a chauffeur license $2.75.

At the suggestion of Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson), a provision for a 35 mile per hour motor scooter speed limit was written in.

Journey To Love

Chapter XXX

"I inquired about your purse," Alex told her. "They'll let me know if they find anything. The money that was in travelers' checks may turn up, and they've alerted the banks. You can kiss the cash goodby, I'm afraid."

Kathie drooped, and Alex chuckled. "Don't look so downhearted. I've got housing for you for free."

Her head came swiftly up. "Alex, I can't let you—"

"Wait until you hear about it, darling. Did you ever dream of living on a houseboat?"

She stared at him. "It was one of my pet dreams."

★ ★ ★

"Well, I have a little cabin cruiser tied up at a buoy in the yacht basin. Electric plate and refrigerator. A private shower, and you can take your choice of four bunks. You won't be alone out there. You'll have neighbors. The housing shortage has forced a lot of people to move out on their boats.

★ ★ ★

"There are some provisions out there now, and I've got a lot more in the car. After dinner, we'll take you out there."

Kathie's eyes were shining. "Oh, Alex, it sounds wonderful!"

John announced loudly, "Dinner is served!" and Alex jumped up, pulling her to her feet. They went hand in hand into the kitchenette where John had set a tiny table.

Alex deliberately dallied over the meal.

He left the apartment on an unexplained errand. When he returned, he was somewhat breathless. "I'll take you to the boat now," he told Kathie. "John will you help me carry down the luggage?"

"Sure thing!" John said cheerfully. But when Kathie got up to follow them, Alex said, "Kathie, you wait here until I come for you." At her look, he added hastily, "I'll expalin later. Just do as I say for now."

In a few moments he came running silently up the stairs and entered the room. "Quick!" he said.

He took her out the kitchen door and down the back stairs. John had the car waiting there, without lights. Alex put her in and whispered, "Get down on the floor."

John traded places with Alex then, behind the wheel, and Alex put the car in motion.

HIDE OUT

Crouched low, Kathie began to understand. The boat wasn't only a place for her to live rent free; it was to be a hideout.

As though he could read her thoughts, Alex said, "It's nothing, Kathie. It's just being extra careful. We didn't dream anyone was watching the airport.

"Yet someone followed us to the bank—or had anticipated we would go there. I couldn't find anyone spying around the apartment, but I'm going to take a few wild loops around town just in case someone is trying to follow us now. And I want you to keep out of sight."

★ ★ ★

This isn't really happening, Kathie thought. I'm not actually here, hiding on the floor of a man's car while he drives me through the streets of Honolulu. In a momen I'll wake up back on the farm and hear Uncle Job calling me to get up—

It was very dark along the yacht basin and Alex said, excited laughter coloring his voice, "You can come up for air now, Kathie."

She climbed up on the seat gratefully, her limbs cramped. They were driving down an unlighted dirt road. On their left were parked cars. On the right was the water, invisible but making faint slapping sounds against the pilings.

Only bobbing lights marked the boats, with here and there a lighted porthole, but dark as it was, Kathie could see that these were no flat scows of houseboats, but trim seagoing craft.

SENSE OF ADVENTURE

He grinned through the dusk and said, "She's the love of my life, you konw. Ever think you'd be competing with a boat!"

Kathie drew a quick breath. "Me, Alex?"

He laughed, that excited note still in his voice, and Kathie began to lose her feeling of apprehension and to feel a high sense of adventure. After all, hadn't she spent hours back on the farm dreaming up adventures that were tame and dull compared with this?

"Here we are," Alex said abruptly, without answering her question.

★ ★ ★

Then gradually she made out a tiny pier about 12 inches wide extending out over the dark water.

"My dinghy's tied up here," Alex explained. "You stay here while I carry out some of the loot."

She sat in the car while he made several trips with boxes of groceries and small pieces of luggage. Across the dark water came the sound of laughter.

When he had her settled among the boxes, he took up the oars. She lsitened to the quiet plop! plop! they made as he rowed out between the dark and silent moored boats, and thought what a pleasant sound it was.

The boat loomed, a dark mass above them. He tied up alongside. "I'll go aboard first and put on the lights."

He clambered up and Kathie sat in the dinghy.

She listened to the strange sounds around her, the scrape of the dinghy against the boat as the slow current washed it forward, back, then forward again—the slap of the buoy rope against the water—incredibly, the faint meow of a kitten from some nearby boat.

Finally lights came on in the cabin, and Alex came back, silhouetted against them. "Can you hand up the loot now?"

15 Children Stricken at Belleville Lake Park

DETROIT (AP) — Fifteen children were treated and released at suburban Detroit hospitals today after becoming ill at a private park and camping grounds.

★ ★ ★

The youngsters, ranging from 2 to 8 years of age, were stricken at Belleville Lake. They were at a camp operated for employes of the Detroit Edison Co.

★ ★ ★

The Wayne County sheriff's road patrol said the children may have been victims of impure well water. They were attacked by fits of vomiting. No adults were stricken.

"The annual growth in excess of one-half million persons is expected to continue," the State Finance Department said in issuing its official July 1 estimate.

Ink Strike Menaces British Newspapers

LONDON (AP)—Britain today faced the threat of the biggest shutdown of newspapers since the general strike 33 years ago.

A strike of printing ink workers supplying Fleet St. — London's newspaper row—cut off supplies to the big national newspapers which circulate 20 million copies a day throughout the nation.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the Newspaper Proprietors' Assn. said the papers had stocks only for four days and would be forced to suspend publication with Sunday's editions.

Members of the NPA have an agreement that when one newspaper is halted, all stop.

Eleventh-hour peace attempts Tuesday night by Labor Minister Iain MacLeod failed to avert a walkout by 2,500 members of the National Society of Operative Printers and Assistants who work for firms supplying ink.

About 1,000 magazines and newspapers published outside of London have been shut down for two weeks by a strike involving 100,000 printers.

Both the ink men and the printers are demanding a 10 per cent pay raise and a shortening of the work-week from 44 to 40 hours. Weekly wages now range from $23.60 to $42.

Hearings on Paving Assessments Slated

City commissioners had only a brief agenda before them last night.

Six special assessment rolls were accepted for public hearings next week, including:

Grading and graveling of the alley north of Walton boulevard, University to east of Baldwin; and sidewalks on both sides of Harvey street, South boulevard to Ditmar; both sides of Highland avenue, California to Ditmar; west side of Sanford street, Irwin to Central; both sides of Drexel avenue, South boulevard to Paddock; and both sides of California avenue, Howland to Franklin.

Commissioners approved an application to the Urban Renewal Administration to hire William W. Tanney, Detroit real estate appraiser, to appraise for their resale value commercial properties in the upcoming urban renewal project.

A request from Nick Phillips, owner of the Jet Diner, 714 S. Saginaw street, for the city to vacate an alley behind his establishment was sent to the Planning Commission for study. Phillips said he wants to use the alley right-of-way to expand his business and parking lot.

Approved was a request from Charles Gersten to add Thomas Reeling as a partner on the Class C liquor license at 12 S. Saginaw St.

City Commissioner John A. Dugan asked City Manager Walter K. Willman to inform Pontiac Motor Division officials that residents in District 5 are complaining about flying dust from the automobile plant's foundry.

Commissioners approved placing deputy Municipal Court clerks on the same pay schedule as other city employes, at the pay level of police patrolmen. The move was to allow the clerks to become eligible for in-service pay raises.

Senate Unit Rejects Indiana Dunes Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate interior subcommittee today rejected a bill to make 5,000 acres of Indiana duneland a national monument.

The subcommittee first split on the bill by a 3-3 vote in a closed-door meeting. Sen. Thomas E. Martin (R-Iowa), who was absent, later registered his stand against the measure.

The dunes bill, introduced by Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill), has drawn near-unanimous condemnation from Indiana political leaders and industrial interests. They want to build a deep-water port and establish the steel industry in the picturesque area on the short of Lake Michigan.

Lodge Makes Splash About Life Preservers

LANSING (UPI) — A 246-pound lawmaker who said he is somewhat of a human life preserver, vowed to fight today for boat safety legislation that was stalled in the senate last night.

"I don't need these things myself," said Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Drayton Plains), during debate on a bill to require all motorboats to have coast guard approved life preservers.

"In fact, the people in my boat could just attach themselves to me if we fell in," he said.

Action on the bill was delayed after Sen. Lewis Christman (R-Ann Arbor) said he thought it was "going a little too far to make the commandant of the Coast Guard approve life preservers for every little rowboat that has a kicker (motor)."

"Can't we take any risks in life?" Christman asked.

Lodge said lakes were getting so crowded with boats "I'd rather gamble on the highways than on the water."

The Senate advanced through preliminary debate a House-approved bill that would give local agencies enforcement powers on the Great Lakes, but it delayed action on the preserver bill.

Rev. Shankle Named to Housing Board

On City Manager Walter K. Willman's recommendation, the City Commission last night appointed the Rev. H. C. Shankle to fill a vacancy on the five-member Pontiac Housing Commision.

The Rev. Mr. Shankle is pastor of Southside Church of God. He served on the Mayor's Unemployment Arbitration Committee last year and was once a member of a public housing commission in Akron, Ohio.

The Rev. Mr. Shankle, 50 Earlmoore Blvd., fills the unexpired term of Otis Lawrence, who resigned a year ago. The term lasts until mid-1963.

Promise Fast Action on Eight Mile Drain

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams has given orders to complete work on Oakland County's request to issue bonds to finance a storm sewer along Eight Mile road by next Tuesday, a spokesman in his office said today.

County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry has been unable to do anything with the $4,760,000 drain since the request was laid on the Municipal Finance Commission's desk last November. Barry terms this delay "unreasonable."

Because of it, Detroit has threatened to tie up two other sanitary sewer projects unless the Eight Mile drain is started.

The Finance Commission, of which Adams is chairman, met yesterday and discussed "what progress was being made" on Barry's petition, according to William N. Hettiger, executive secretary.

"If the attorney general's work is completed we would like a decision by next Tuesday if at all possible," Hettiger said.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman in Adams office, who asked that his name not be used, said Adams yesterday told him to have this work done by then.

He said the reason it hadn't been completed sooner was that he was pulled off the work to handle a trial in Detroit, and that his replacement "had not gotten around" to the task during his absence.

A citizens' group is fighting construction of the drain, claiming assessments for it would be too high to pay. The drain will serve Southfield and Oak Park.

Some 300 Southfield residents went to Lansing in January to appear before the Finance Commission to urge that it turn down Oakland County's request to issue more than $4 million in drain bonds to build the sewer.

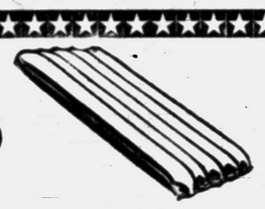

Since then, Barry has charged, the Democratic-controlled group was "more concerned with the garnering of votes than to assist in the correction of a serious and abiding problem of great local concern."

Detroit claims basements in its northwest section are being flooded by overflow of heavy rains from Oakland County, while residents of the two areas to be served by the Eight Mile sewer admit they see the need for the sewer but not at the present cost.

The States Marine Corps was born in Philadelphia, Pa., on Nov. 10, 1775, when the Continental Congress needed seagoing soldiers to fight on land or water. The first little band expanded to about 485,000 men in World War II. Through the years, Marines have slogged ashore in many odd corners of the world and traveled on numerous conveyances ranging from camels to rubber boats, dog sleds, and submarines.

Beck Ignores Date in Court

'He Won't Play Footsie With Me,' Says Judge Who Orders Arrest

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Teamster boss Dave Beck failed to show up today for pleading to charges that he accepted $200,000 from two truck firm executives while he was union chief.

★ ★ ★

A federal judge immediately issued a warrant for his arrest.

When Beck's case was called in the court of Judge Gregory F. Noonan, neither the defendant nor his lawyer replied.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Donald Shaw then told the court that the case had been delayed from last week until today at the request of Beck's Seattle lawyer.

Shaw suggested that no action be taken at the time, but that Beck and the lawyer be given another chance to show up later in the day. If they did not appear then, he said, a warrant could be issued.

However, Judge Noonan's face flushed and he snapped:

"Oh, no. I think a warrant should be issued right now. He is not going to play footsie with us.

"I think if he does not have the sense to come in when notified he should be brought in here by an army if necessary."

Beck was indicted June 17 with the two trucking company executives, who allegedly made the $200,000 payment to him five years ago.

The truck firm men are Roy Fruehauf, president of Fruehauf Trailer Co., of Detroit, and Burge Seymour, president of Associated Transport Inc., New York. They are scheduled to plead Thursday.

Shaw said Beck's lawyer is Charles Burdell of Seattle.

In Seattle, Burdell expressed surprise and said "this must be all a mistake."

Burdell, who arranged the postponement of the case from June 24, said "we understood and are still convinced that the plea was to have been entered July 2, not today."

U.S. Selections for Moscow Fair Don't Please Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower questioned today whether exhibits selected for showing at the Moscow Fair are fully representative of American art.

★ ★ ★

He said he is not going to censor the exhbit but may have something to say about how the juries which pick such exhibits are selected in the future.

There was scant detail on either of those scores.

But Eisenhower did say that while he is one of the people who are not too sure what art is, he knows what he likes. He said he believes future displays ought to consist of works that Americans generally like.

And he mentioned incidentally that the selection jury had limited itself to paintings and sculptures done since 1918.

The matter came up at Eisenhower's news conference when a reporter called attention to a hearing by the House Committee on Un-American Activities today on the affair.

Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) of the committee has said more than half of the 67 artists represented have "significant records of affiliation with the Communist movement in this country."

Famed Private Detective Raymond Schindler Dies

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Raymond C. Schindler, 77, famous private detective, died today in Phelps Memorial Hospital of a heart condition.

The 1943 bludgeon-slaying of Sir Harry Oakes in Nassau was among the many celebrated cases Schindler investigated.

He assisted in the San Francisco graft investigation of 1907-09.

He operated Schindler Bureau of Investigation in New York City, which he opened in 1912, and was associated with Dr. Le Moyne Snyder, Clark Sellers and William Harper in Scientific Evidence, Inc.

Commission Studies Civil Rights Proposal

City commissioners today had under study a proposal to put more teeth in civil rights laws here.

★ ★ ★

The proposal, brought up by Commissioner Milton R. Henry, was tabled last night for further study concerning its legality.

Henry said that the city should stand ready to lift the license of any public place that was involved in a civil rights violation.

City Attorney William A. Ewart doubted whether such a step on the part of the city would be legal.

★ ★ ★

"It would interfere with the constitutional right to do business," he said.

Henry pointed out that the state revokes liquor licenses after holders are convicted of civil rights violations.

Pontiac Pays Tribute to Late Howard Kelley

A resolution commending the late Mayor Howard K. Kelley of Royal Oak was adopted last night by the Pontiac City Commission.

Drawn up by City Attorney William A. Ewart, the memorial cited Kelley's "unselfish service" to city, county and country; his "vigorous leadership" of the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority; and his "competent performance" as a member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Kelley died June 19 while serving his eighth year in office. He was 40 years old.

Trio Gets Lost in Test, Rescue Mission Fails

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Civil Air Patrol was demonstrating its rescue efficiency to the press.

It sent three men by auto into the desert 30 miles southeast of Tucson. Three CAP planes scanned the desert for hours, but found nothing.

The "lost" men saw they weren't going to be rescued so they drove back to town. The CAP set another date for them to get lost.

Federal, state and local governments in the U. S. spent a total of 124 billion dollars in fiscal 1957, an increase of nearly 11 billion dollars over 1956, according to Tax Foundation, Inc.

Hopes Fiscal 1960 Will Be Better

U.S. Records Biggest Deficit Yet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Uncle Sam Tuesday wound up what probably has been his most financially trying business year in modern times.

In the past 12 months the government spent nearly 13 billion dollars more than it collected in tax revenues. That is the biggest peacetime budget deficit on record.

It boosted the national debt to an all time high of 285 billion dollars — so high that President Eisenhower has put debt reduction ahead of cutting taxes.

The borrowing necessary to cover the deficit and pay the government's bills has helped push the treasury into a financial corner. It has told Congress that it needs permission to raise interest rates on long-term bonds or it will be able to sell only short-term securities, which it considers potential inflation tinder.

Concerned over the threat of inflation and the issue of "fiscal responsibility," the Eisenhower administration has been prodded by the record deficit to a major effort to balance the budget for fiscal year 1960, which starts today.

Six months ago the chances of a black-ink fiscal 1960 were considered slim. Today, they are thought good.

Final figures on budget revenues and expenditures for the past 12 months will not be published for several weeks.

They are expected, however, to show a red-ink gap of between $12,500,000,000 and $13,000,000,000. The treasury officially is sticking with its January forecast of a $12,900,000,000 deficit, based on $68,000,000,000 of revenue and $80,900,000,000 in spending.

But Budget Director Maurice H. Stans told Congress last week the deficit figure may be several hundred million dollars lower.

This is the fourth time in six years that the Eisenhower administration has ended a fiscal year in the red. Former President Truman posted five deficits during his eight years as chief executive.

★ ★ ★

Both presidents can blame business recessions for at least part of their budget deficits. Truman ran into one economic slump. Isenhower into two. The 1957-58 dip cut revenues about three billion dollars. At the same time, federal spending was rising for a number of reasons, some of them anti-recession measures.

In the new fiscal year ending June 30, 1960, the administration hopes to cut spending while rising profits and personal incomes boost taxes and put the government back in the black.

Senate OKs Map Ban Bill

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan probably will be without state highway maps for another year—and, according to lawmakers, nobody much cares.

"I haven't heard any comment about it," Sen. Elmer Porter (R-Blissfield), chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said after the Senate passed a House-approved ban on printing of state maps.

A halt on printing of the maps was one of the most controversial budget items of the 1958 session. Tourist and resort groups said their work was hampered without state maps to pass around.

Sen. Haskell Nichols (R-Jackson) said the Highway Department "hasn't made any fuss" about the prohibition on printing of maps, which he said would

Ike Extends Wartime Taxes

Signs Bill Maintaining Levies; Also OKs Hike in Debt Limit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has signed a measure extending for another year the wartime rates on corporation income and excise taxes.

Also signed by the President Tuesday was a bill boosting the national debt to a temporary limit of 295 billion dollars.

Both measures had to be signed by midnight to avoid money troubles. Without the new legislation, the current tax rates would have dropped today. The tax measure brings in about three billion dollars a year and keeps the corporate income tax rate at 52 per cent—5 per cent above the pre-Korean War level.

The debt ceiling would have dropped to 283 billion dollars if the new legislation had not become law. The actual debt is higher than that.

In the first airplane flight at Kitty Hawk in 1903, Orville Wright flew 120 feet—less than the wingspread of planes in use today.

Pound Weighs More, Too

U.S. Stretches Inch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every American is a little heavier and a little taller today than Tuesday. Every Englishman is a little lighter and a little shorter.

This all comes about because, effective last midnight, six English-speaking nations adopted new, standard definitions for the pound and the inch.

The changes from the old definitions are so slight they can't be measured on any bathroom scale or yardstick. They are important, though, in certain technical fields of manufacturing and research which use more accurate measuring devices.

For the American who Tuesday weighed exactly 150 pounds, the change in the pound adds 1-300 of an ounce to his weight.

An American who was exactly six feet tall is now approximately 1-8,000 of an inch taller.

Canadians also are taller and heavier because, until today, they used a longer inch and a heavier pound than the new standard measures. However, residents of the four other countries involved are shorter and lighter. The four — Great Britain, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand—had been using a shorter inch and a lighter pound.

Chief export product of Chile is nitrate. In World War I Chile was neutral and sold nitrate to both Great Britain and Germany.

City UF Women's Unit Chooses New Officers

Mrs. Floyd Blanzy of Waterford, Mrs. William L. Miller of Elizabeth Lake road and Mrs. James S. Tuttle of Lake Angelus shores are enthusiastically planning for the UF drive in the fall. Mrs. Blanzy is the new secretary of the Pontiac Women's Committee executive committee and nominating committee chairman; Mrs. Miller is chairman of the Friendly Visitors committee, and Mrs. Tuttle is a member of the board.

Mrs. Donald White Picked to Head Organization's Executive Committee

Board members of the Pontiac Women's Committee of the United Fund under the leadership of Mrs. Noel Buckner elected officers of the executive committee yesterday afternoon. The group met at the Community Service Building and elected the following: Mrs. Donald E. White, chairman of the executive committee; Mrs. Ralph Norvell, Mrs. William Hutchinson and Mrs. R. G. Bump, vice chairmen; Mrs. Floyd Blanzy, secretary; Mrs. William Harrison, financial secretary.

The following standing committee chairmen were appointed: Mrs. White, president of volunteer bureau; Mrs. William Miller, friendly visitors; Mrs. Bump, speakers' bureau; Mrs. Norvell, tribute fund; Mrs. Buckner, campaign, and Mrs. Blanzy, nominating.

The Pontiac Area Women's Committee is an outgrowth of the 1957 Women's Division United Fund campaign. Mrs. Norvell and Mrs. White decided at the close of the campaign they would never let another Pontiac and Waterford chairman start to work without planning a campaign in advance. To eliminate confusion and train new volunteers, the committee was set up to supplement the educational work and general activities of the Pontiac Area UF and to coordinate the activities of women interested in community service.

The purpose of the fund itself is to aid in the strengthening of the social welfare services of Pontiac. It budgets for about 20 local organizations and coordinates plans for services of other agencies so they may work together effectively.

The boards of the Women's Committee, initiate activities, programs and study courses, carrying information to any groups they represent and to their friends and neighbors.

The organization holds meetings to which representatives of all women's groups are invited, arranges visits to social agencies, and arranges for community clinics where small groups can participate in informative discussions and see how social agencies are important to them.

Janice Schatzley Married in Double Ring Ceremony

St. Michael Church was the scene of the Saturday morning wedding of Janice Elaine Schatzley and James C. Bingham Jr. The Rev. Leonard Kennedy officiated at the double-ring ceremony before 150 guests.

Ruffles of tulle accented the floor-length skirt of the bride's Chantilly lace gown, which ended in a chapel train. The gown featured a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves, and she wore a fingertip veil. She carried a white orchid on a prayer book with streamers of carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Schatzley of Melrose avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. James C. Bingham of Birmingham.

Mrs. James Hyten was matron of honor with Virginia Smith as bridesmaid. Judith Shatzley, the bride's sister, and Judith Bingham, the bridegroom's sister, were junior bridesmaids.

Their gowns of pink, green, yellow and blue, respectively, featured scoop necklines with nylon embroidery at the waist and full bouffant skirts. They carried bouquets of white carnations.

Shelly Gray, flower girl, wore a floor-length dress of white organdy over pink satin.

John R. Schatzley, the bride's brother, was best man. Ushers were Carl Foltz of Birmingham, William Chissus of Keego Harbor and Michael Dobach of Birmingham. Ringbearer was Thomas Zelinski.

MRS. J. C. BINGHAM JR.

A breakfast following the ceremony was held at the bride's home, and in the evening a reception was held at Hotel Roosevelt.

The couple will make their home on Judson street.

Mrs. Schatzley wore a dress of gray lace over pink satin with white accessories, and Mrs. Bingham was dressed in a beige princess-style dress.

Mrs. Allen Hostess to Gardeners

Mrs. Ray Allen was hostess to Lorraine Manor Branch of Woman's National Farm and Garden Assn. at her home on Fernberry drive Tuesday evening. Mrs. Joseph Carpenter assisted her.

Mrs. Burton Strong spoke on the history of roses followed, by a round table discussion on the subject.

Plans for beautifying the subdivision were discussed.

Soap Is Going Moonward, Too

Both before and after a check for impurities, the oxygen storage tank is scrubbed with soap, to make sure there are no foreign particles to interfere with proper functioning of valves.

It looks as though soap is as vital a part of the future as of the past and present. The next step is to introduce it to moon folk.

Russian Fashions So-So, but Not Models

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — If the Soviet fashions displayed at the Coliseum are typical of Russia's style leadership, New York and Paris can relax for a while. The West is without competition in this phase of the cold war.

But our aloof, deadpan models better jazz things up on the runway. The "girlier" girls from Russia drew whistles and resounding applause last night at the formal opening of the Soviet exhibition.

"Send more," said a perspiring policeman at the sight of the five bouncy Russian mannequins, one of them only 17 years old.

"Just send more."

In profile, the Russian models stack up better than the emaciated high fashion models of New York, who consider their job is to show the clothes, not their figures. There's more meat on the bones — more hip, more bust, more leg. And less make-up on the Russian girls. The five wore a little eyeshadow; no phony eyelashes.

One male model also walked the runway, looking, I thought, a little sheepish among all those females. But an interpreter assured newsmen that Soviet male models are quite commonplace. This one acquired a little more height with heels almost Cuban on his polished black calf shoes.

The fashion show, just one phase of the cultural and technological exhibition, even had Vice President Richard Nixon trying out his Russian — he and Mrs. Nixon will visit the Soviet Union, beginning July 22.

★ ★ ★

"Ochen khorachon (very good)," said Nixon, when I asked him what he thought of the clothes.

"Spell that please, Mr. Vice President."

A laughing Nixon turned to Mikhail A. Menshikov, Soviet ambassador to the United States, for assistance. Menshikov complied.

"And what about the models, sir?"

"Very pretty," said the Vice President, settling for English.

"I think," said Mrs. Nixon, "that my husband is doing pretty well with his Russian, don't you? I can do all right too if they let me do the talking and don't talk back to me."

The couple and daughter Tricia, 13, joined repeatedly in the applause the crowd in the Coliseum gave most of the 28 costumes shown.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Nixon, wearing a blue print silk dress and white organdy petal hat, thought the Russian fashions "interesting." Some were "adorable." But she refused to compare them with U. S. styles.

The Russian clothes looked strictly Western to me — not a single costume was different enough to have a Seventh avenue garment manufacturer rushing out copies.

So Western that even Bermuda shorts were shown.

Costumes range from daytime dresses and suits to formal gowns and spanned the seasons. The finale of the show was typical of finales of fashion shows anywhere else — a wedding dress. But this one showed a lot of skin — not even a net modestly covered the model's bare shoulders.

★ ★ ★

Waistlines were normal. Skirts were a couple of inches shorter than U. S. manufacturers are showing them for fall — most of them skimmed the models' kneecaps.

All the clothes are within the budget of most Soviet women, said a Russian woman interpreter, who wouldn't let her name be used.

"Very cheap . . . cheap . . . cheap," she kept saying, when after the show I went backstage for a look at the clothes on the rack. Most of the fabrics were synthetics, she said.

What about that one full length mink coat, the only mink in the show? Was it also within the Soviet woman's budget, because it certainly was out of the range of most of us in the U. S. A.

"It is not rare when a woman in our country has mink," she answered proudly.

'Cool' Pigtail Ancient History

Chinese culture was much further advanced than Western civilization, yet, when the Manchu conquered the Chinese they were forced to wear the pigtail as a sign of slavery.

The Chinese, in turn, popularized their pigtail when they found them to be cool and comfortable. The pigtail is considered to be the forerunner of today's ponytail.

Childhood Squabbles Have Certain Values

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The phone call was for Jo. She dropped the magazine she'd been reading, and for the next 10 minutes listened to a high school classmate's exciting account of how Betty Grover had finally decided to go steady with Stan Palmer.

When she returned to the living room she found her younger brother in her chair absorbed in her magazine. She protested, and he aimed a kick at her, yelling: "Leave me alone! You left it here, didn't you? Leave me alone!"

"I wasn't finished . . . " Jo began — and then calling, "Mother!" rushed to the kitchen for parental support of her right to resume reading.

Her mother gave it. But after the outraged Jeff had flung out to the front porch to brood over life's injustice, she said, "No, I don't think your brother took the magazine just to pester you.

"He saw you were interested in it and because he has great respect for anything that interests his big sister, he wanted to find out what it was. That could be seen as pestering, Jo. It can also be seen as a kind of compliment to you."

After finishing the magazine, Jo took it upstairs and put it on her brother's bed.

As brother-sister quarrels have their counterparts in later life, we help children when we are able to point out positive elements in their conflicts.

One day Jo will have children of her own. They, too, will seem to take delight in pestering her. They'll abscond with magazines she hasn't finished, ignore their own shovels to use her best mixing spoon for their mud-pies and make disorder in her sewing basket at every opportunity.

Their interest in her interests will be the same admixture of admiration for her that there was in Jeff's appropriation of her magazine.

★ ★ ★

But if she's allowed to grow up believing that her brother's pestering represents pure peskiness, it may be hard for her to see positive meaning in her children's actions.

And failing to appreciate the passion for her best mixing spoon, she'll think she's as persecuted a mother as she was a sister.

Stylish Minks Last 9-10 Years

Check your long-range budget before deciding on the style of a mink coat, says Gloria Stone, president of a fur salon. A mink should be good for nine or ten years with just one remodeling, perhaps on the collar and sleeves.

The woman who expects this much service from the coat should stick to simple, classic styles and average fullness. Only women who can buy a new fur every year or so can afford extreme styles, Mrs. Stone said.

When children are young it seems their worst enemy is soap. Some mothers skirt these problems of bathing and washing hands and faces before meals with special towels, promises or threats. One of these methods features a brightly colored plastic basin which encourages the youngsters to play in the soapy water and thus come clean.

Charles R. Wilson accompanied the group for community singing.

Presiding at the coffee service were Mrs. J. A. Rammes, Mrs. Donald McIntosh, Mrs. C. H. Purdy and Mrs. Roy Bennett.

No More Whispers, 'She Dyes!'

These days, changing the color of your hair is regarded in much the same manner as switching nail polish or lipstick shades. Everybody's doing it and the whispers that "she dyes her hair!" have died away.

And a good thing, too. To many women, their natural hair color (or gray hair) is a beauty problem not to be tolerated. Sensibly, they don't tolerate it. They put themselves into the hands of a good operator and come out with hair the color they've always wanted.

But a word of caution here: the mature woman should choose a softer version of the hair color of her youth. If she had copper hair in her 20s, she should have a very soft auburn in her 50s.

The reason for this is that a softened color is kind to the face. It lends a misty look to a skin that's no longer the porcelain-clear skin of youth.

A great shock of hair on a woman tends to make her look older and untidy. The best plan is to keep your head neat and the hair shining, no matter what your hair style.

★ ★ ★

Generally, brunettes look best with sleek hairdos while blondes can get away with the fluffy styles. But since there is no fixed rule about styling, experiment to find the hairdo most becoming to you.

And never be afraid to change your hairstyle. Wearing the same one for years will date you, no matter how becoming the style.

Sun Bleached Hair

If you are one who collects a summer tan, remember, the effect of sun is flattering to your skin but not to your hair. Keep your head covered at least during intense noonday sun. You might use this period to pin up your locks.

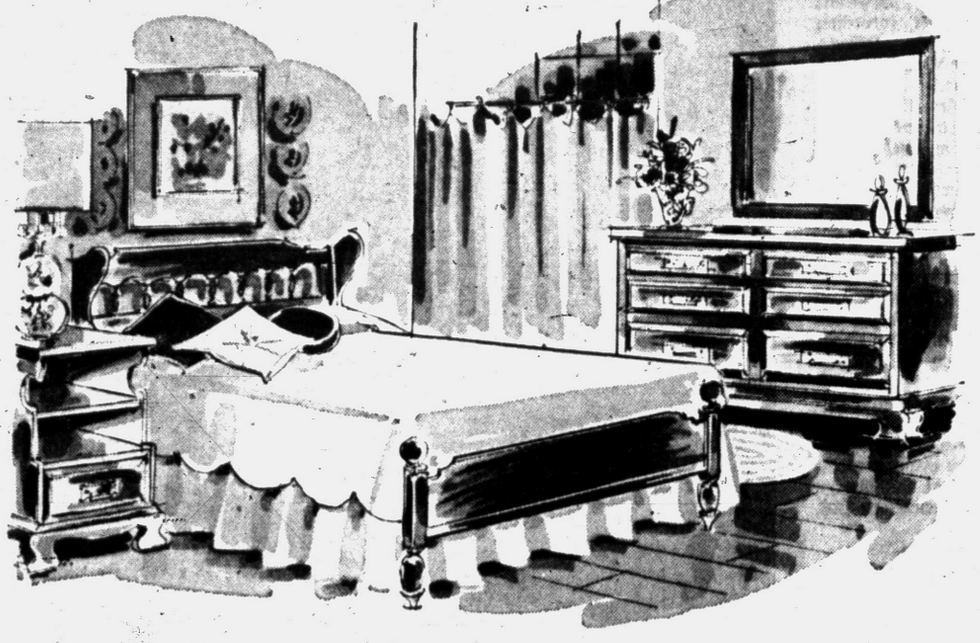

If you swim often, find a hairdo that requires only a few well placed curls after each dip. Use plenty of spray to keep hair calmed down, after all, it will wash right out while swimming.

If the sun does work overtime on your hair, don't worry about permanent damage since its effect is only on the current growth of hair.

No, they're not all going to try to squeeze into one car. The girls pictured above are Oakland County's 16 delegates to the National Senior Girl Scout Roundup at Colorado Springs., Colo., to be held Friday through July 12. In a chain of cars, the Scouts left Walled Lake Tuesday morning for Ann Arbor where they boarded a train for Chicago to meet some 1,000 other girls journeying to the 1,200 acre camp site.

Area Girls Off to Scout Roundup

A caravan of cars left Walled Lake for Ann Arbor early Tuesday, carrying the 16 Northern Oakland County Senior Girl Scouts who will attend the national roundup in Colorado.

At Ann Arbor the group boarded a train which took them to Chicago where they joined some 1,000 other girls for the final lap of the journey to the 1959 National Senior Girl Scout Roundup at Colorado Springs. The girls will erect a veritable city of tents at the foot of Pike's Peak, July 3 through 12.

2 MOTHERS ATTEND

Two local women, Mrs. Percy Dunn of Pheasant street and Mrs. Jay Bendall of Malcolm street, whose daughters, Carol and Kay, were selected to attend the roundup, also will participate in activities at the camp site. They were accorded the honor by the National Girl Scout Council in New York, on the basis of Scout leadership and years of service.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Dunn will serve as a unit leader at the encampment, and Mrs. Bendall will be a general aid, shifting from one unit to another to lend a hand.

The two left last week by car and were expected to arrive Sunday, along with some 1,500 other Scout leaders, to become oriented for the girls arrival today.

The 16 local delegates include Lynne Ashby, 16, of Troop 205; Karen Eicher, 16, Troop 205; Susan Millspaugh, 15, Troop 288; Marcie Potter, 15, Troop 288; Diane Slinker, 16, Troop 205; and Judy Slinker, 15, Troop 205, all of Walled Lake High School. Miss Bendall, 16, Troop 114; Miss Dunn, 16, Troop 120; Sally Evans, 15, Troop 114; Karen Fletcher, 16, Troop 261; Carol Methner, 16, Troop 261, all of Waterford High School.

Others are Linda Chapman, 16, Troop 10, Clarkston High; Barbara Cleghorn, 15, Troop 170, Rochester High; Sue Ann Latendresse, 16, Troop 448, Avondale High; Suzanne Polmear, 15, Troop 269, St. Frederick High School; and Cornelia Riggs, 16, Troop 77, Pontiac Central High.

CHOSEN FOR MERIT

The Scouts were chosen last October according to their merits and recommendations from leaders, troop members, schools, and religious organizations. Since then they have been renewing old and mastering new skills. The girls will take with them swap items typical of Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Special events will include a ceremonial campfire for the 10,000 campers on Friday night, the first flag-raising of the new 49-star American Flag on July 4; Colorado Centennial Day on July 8, and a farewell campfire on July 12.

One patrol will present an Indian drill including war club and tomtom. Another, comprised of eight of the girls, will give a demonstration of the Highland Fling, wearing kilts.

Barbara Kay Roche Wed in Pontiac Church Rite

Barbara Kay Roche of Royal Oak, formerly of Pontiac, became the bride of Norman Lee Terry of Port Austin Saturday at Pontiac's First Methodist Church. The Rev. Paul Hart officiated at the candlelight ceremony before an altar banked with white delphiniums, gladioli and palms. Some 120 guests were present.

The bride is the daughter of former Pontiac residents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craig who moved to Royal Oak last month. Mr. and Mrs. Steve Terry of Battle Creek are the bridegroom's parents.

MRS. NORMAN TERRY

IN ORGANDY GOWN

Of nylon organdy, the bridal gown was accentuated by a lavaliere neckline trimmed with Venice lace, and short sleeves. The bouffant floor-length skirt ended in a chapel sweep. A petaled pillbox hat held her fingertip veil of silk illusion.

★ ★ ★

Ruth M. Roche, the bride's sister, was maid of honor, wearing a mint green nylon pleated organza gown with a satin sash and matching headpiece. Bridesmaids Ann Zimmerman of Fowlerville, Mary Ann Schwanitz, Betty Knoblock and Linda Shubel, all of Port Austin, wore dresses identical to that of the honor maid's.

White dresses trimmed in green were worn by flower girls Vicky and Cindy Terry, nieces of the bridegroom. Their flowers were yellow gardenias accented with artificial green grapes.

★ ★ ★

Attending as best man was Marvin Terry of Utica. Ushers were Merritt Pierce and Denton Hanford, both of Battle Creek; Fred Shaughnessy of Mt. Clemens, and David Dilingham of Mason.

Mrs. Craig wore a powder blue chiffon sheath with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding. An embossed pink taffeta sheath with white accessories was the choice of Mrs. Terry.

CHURCH RECEPTION

Guests attended a reception in the church parlors after the ceremony.

Before leaving for a trip through southern Michigan, the new Mrs. Terry changed to a navy blue crepe sheath with navy and white accessories.

★ ★ ★

Just Send Gifts Back to Givers

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other day I received a telephone call from a friend of mine telling me she had broken her engagement and asked me what I wanted her to do with the engagement present I had given her. The present I had given her was quite a lovely one and something which I myself could have used very nicely, but I was too embarrassed to say so.

"In a case of this kind, shouldn't the presents be returned without consulting the givers? Also, would it have been wrong to tell her that I would like the present returned to me?"

Answer: I agree with you that the question put the giver in an embarrassing position and therefore presents should be returned without consulting the givers. However, it would have been entirely proper to have said you regretted the situation but that as it does exist, you would like to have the gift returned to you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: There will be a twenty-fifth wedding anniversary in our family soon and I would like to know if only gifts of silver should be given on this occasion, or would it be proper to give something different. We had in mind a beautiful wall clock for the living room. Would this be all right?"

Answer: The usual and most correct gift for the twenty-fifth anniversary is something of silver, but if you have reason to think the couple would like to have the wall clock, by all means get it for them.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct salutation to use when writing thank-you notes to relatives of my fiance who sent me presents. Some of them are complete strangers and others I have met on one occasion. Do I begin "Dear Mrs. Jones" or "Dear Aunt Margaret?"

Answer: "Dear Aunt Margaret," or whatever it is that your fiance calls them.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Can a wife properly accept an invitation to a party without her husband? My husband is a salesman and is out of town a good deal. Very often I will receive an invitation to a wedding, or party, while he is on the road. Must I decline these invitations unless he can go with me"

Answer: You can accept any general invitation you like. You cannot go to a party where his absence will make a difference to the plans of the hostess, such as a dinner or card party.

Luncheon Honors Judith Palmer at Devon Gables

Judith Allen Palmer was honored at a luncheon and shower at Devon Gables Tuesday. The hostess was Mrs. Norman Allen.

Miss Palmer, daughter of Mrs. Allen W. Palmer of Dakota drive and the late Mr. Palmer, and James C. Braid of Boston, Mass., son of the Carroll Braids of Rosewood drive, will speak their wedding vows Aug. 30 at Central Methodist Church.

Guests at the affair included Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Braid, Normalee Braid, Mrs. Harold Tripp, Mrs. Victor Schramm, Mrs. James Wegner, Mrs. William Kent, and Adeline Hook.

Others were Mrs. George Blacklaw, Mrs. Archie L. Tryon, Mrs. Edward Barrett, and Mrs. A. D. McKillop of Gladwin.

Soap Is Good for Grip Soles

Manufacturers do their best to prevent spills by putting grip soles on overshoes and rubbers. But these soles must be kept clean to do a good job of gripping.

Why not make it a rule that everybody in the family must wash off his or her boots, overshoes, and rubbers as soon as removed. Use a stiff brush dipped into warm soap or detergent suds to scrub the soles free of soil in a jiffy.

When using aluminum foil for outdoor cooking, seal the foil tightly so the steam will not escape and the food will not burn or dry out. Leave a little room around the food so the steam can expand. This way, the foil serves as a miniature pressure cooker.

Simple Addition

Are you worrying yourself sick? Chic women who work under constant pressure have found the secret of relieving tensions. They add up their worries, which are small, and usually end up by disposing of them. In other words, they decide certain worries aren't worth the wrinkles they can cause.

Use Them

You Own These Brushes?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Brushes, yes just plain brushes, can play an important part in your grooming and your beauty.

More than one brush is essential. Perhaps you already have the ones which I consider necessary. Of course the first one we think of is the tooth brush. Practically everyone has at least one of these although many do not use them as often as they should, or as they should be used.

Next is the hairbrush. Even before you push or comb your hair into place, a hairbrush is essential to remove dust and dirt from the hair itself. Then you all know about those magic 100 strokes a night which will add health and beauty to your tresses.

The hairbrush can have nylon bristles or natural bristles. If you are one of those smart women who do brush your hair regularly in order to stimulate circulation in the scalp, be sure to do it correctly. Turn the bristles toward the scalp and then toward the ceiling as the brush sweeps to the ends of the hair.

Of course there is the nail brush. No one can be well-groomed without one of these.

A complexion brush is of real importance to many women. If the skin is oily and there is a tendency toward blackheads or large pores, the gentle massage with a complexion brush and soapy suds provide is of the greatest value.

How can you reach the middle of your back without a long-handled bath brush? This is the spot in which pimples often appear because it has been neglected in the daily bath. Anyway, it feels awfully good, scrubbing back there.

Then there is the clothes brush which is indispensable and the little brush for suede shoes.

Brushes, of course, should have good care. It is a fine idea to wash hair brushes as often as we shampoo our hair. Nylon bristle brushes should be washed in soap and water. Natural bristles should also have a sudsing but two teaspoons of ammonia should be added to the water.

All brushes should be rinsed well. Preferably they should hang while drying, or they should be placed bristle side down on a clean towel. Brushes never should be left resting on their bristles when not in use.

Beauty Course for Blind Inaugurated at Lansing

LANSING (AP)—If you were a blind teenage girl, would you care how your hair looked? Would you worry about your complexion?

You probably would, but chances are there wouldn't be much you could do about it yourself.

★ ★ ★

If you were enrolled at the Michigan School for the Blind in Lansing, however, your problems could be solved.

The school has inaugurated a self-beautification course for some 60 of its sightless girl students.

The school has provided a beauty salon with shampoo basins, dryers, comb-out booths and other necessary equipment.

EXPERT GUIDANCE

Professional beauty guidance and aid is furnished by the Lansing Cosmetology Assn. About 35 members of the association have volunteered to spend half a day a month at the school.

They plan to counsel the girls on hair waving and shampooing techniques, complexion care and general beautification.

★ ★ ★

The school's superintendent, Dr. Robert Thompson, originated the project and the Cosmetology Association was happy to lend a hand.

LEG CRAMPS?

One of the most common causes of painful muscle cramps is a prolonged deficiency of calcium.*

So says a famous doctor and widely-read newspaper columnist, formerly with the Mayo Clinic, and other well-known health authorities

When meals, consistently deficient in calcium, are fortified with DYNA-CAL Calcium Tablets, tormenting calcium-deficient muscle cramps can be promptly relieved. But don't confuse DYNA-CAL Tablets with ordinary calcium-phosphorus products. DYNA-CAL Tablets contain no phosphorus which frequently intereferes with the absorption of calcium. And DYNA-CAL Tablets contain a special ingredient which helps to put calcium into the blood stream quicker—bringing faster relief to cramping, calcium-starved muscles.

Pleasant-to-take DYNA-CAL Tablets with calcium, glutamic acid hydrochloride, and vitamins D and C contain no drugs. They are safe, harmless, calcium food supplements. If you are suffering miserable muscle cramps, and suspect you are not getting enough calcium, ask for DYNA-CAL Tablets, today. Bottles of 90 tablets, $1.50.

*Other causes for muscle cramps are entirely unrelated to calcium deficiency.

Consult Family Doctor Before Plastic Surgery

The growing interest in plastic surgery is evidenced by the fact that a luxury hospital devoted entirely to plastic surgery is under construction in California. The movie industry has long been dependent on plastic surgery to create the glossy perfection of many of its stars.

But this, in turn, raises the question of its need in private life. How often is the expense, time and trouble justified for the average woman? It depends, really, on what the change means to her feelings about herself. (This is aside from the kind of plastic surgery needed after an accident or injury.)

To one woman, an expenditure of, say, $1,000 might be entirely justified to change the shape of her nose. And to another woman, this might sound like an outrageous sum.

In any case, the place to start is with your own family physician who will then send you on to a specialist. And he will also give you candid advice as to whether surgery is needed or not.

Dear Abby:

Hurt Mother Sees No Blessing in Death of Afflicted Daughter

By AGIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Will you please inform the general public that when a parent loses an afflicted child the most heartless and ignorant of all remarks offered by well-meaning friends is: "It's a blessing your child died." I raised a child with a defective heart, I guarded and protected every flicker of life in my child but at age 11 her little heart gave away.

ABBY

My only comfort was in knowing that she would suffer no more. Yet I grieve the same as any other mother would grieve at the loss of a strong and healthy child. There is no consolation—only the thrust of a knife in a fresh wound when a parent is told, "It's a blessing your child died."

NO NAME PLEASE

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Can girls who wear glasses be just as popular as girls without them?

GIRL WITH GLASSES

DEAR GIRL: It depends on their frames.

DEAR ABBY: We are just a couple of old grandparents who love our children but we are criticized by all our friends because we "baby-sit" for our grandchildren whenever we are asked. Our friends say we are "suckers" and should have our heads examined.

They say, "Tell your children you raised yours and they should raise their own!" When our children go off on trips and leave their little ones with us, we love it. We never felt taken advantage of. Are we blind to the truth or are we normal grandparents?

GRANDPARENTS

DEAR GRANDPARENTS: As long as you "love it" go right ahead and baby-sit. But if you ever feel "taken advantage of" and you continue to baby-sit — then you ought to have your heads examined.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: About two months ago my 16-year-old daughter fell very hard for a fellow who, from all appearances, seemed very nice. He gave her a big rush and she was never happier.

Last week she received a phone call from a girl who told her she has been going steady with this boy for a year. Since that time my daughter has not eaten enough to keep a bird alive.

She hasn't heard from the boy since. It's apparent the boy knows the girl called her. Or perhaps he put her up to it. What can I do to help mend my daughter's broken heart?

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your daughter's heart is not broken—she has just learned lesson one the hard way: Never again will she give her heart to a boy about whom she knows so little. She'll get over it if you encourage her to go out with others.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SOLLY: She doesn't want a roof over her head—she wants a husband under her thumb! Look out.

Chrysler Sells Art Collection for $613,256

LONDON (AP) — Twenty-nine French impressionist paintings and drawings owned by U. S. art collector Walter P. Chrysler Jr. brought $613,256 at auction today.

The sale set no records and fell considerably short of the approximately $800,000 experts had estimated the auction would bring.

Chrysler did not appear disappointed. "I'm quite happy about the price," he said.

Chrysler said he sold the pictures to provide funds for the Chrysler Art Museum at Provincetown, Mass. The money will be spent as trustees of the museum see fit.

Blinker Lights Drop Accidents on Trunklines

LANSING (AP) — A "phenomenal" drop in accidents, injuries and deaths is reported at 35 intersections where red and yellow blinker lights have been installed, the State Highway Department said today.

The lights were installed on state trunklines in 21 counties. Records showed accidents dropped from 273 to 162 in a year, deaths from 28 to five and injuries from 270 to 122.

"The use of blinkers is in direct contrast to installation of regular stop-and-go traffic lights, which almost invariably increase the number of accidents at an intersection," said Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

"The red flashing signal apparently accents driver attention on the fact he must stop," Mackie said. "The yellow flashing signal for through traffic alerts drivers approaching at high speed to use caution.

"Studies indicate the reaction time to a traffic hazard is decreased from three seconds for the normal driver to less than one second when he is warned to be alert."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jon M. Jonkel, 44, former Chicago public relations man credited with steering the 1950 upset victory of Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md) over Democratic Sen. Millard Tydings, died Monday in Jakarta, Indonesia. His Washington attorney said Jonkel died after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage Saturday.

Flint Starts New Year With Budget Deadlocked

FLINT (UPI) — Flint started a new fiscal year today without a 1959-60 budget.

City officials were told to continue through July 31 on the past fiscal year's budget figures by the City Commission, which is deadlocked over what kind of budget should be adopted.

Some commissioners favor a so-called austerity budget, while others want a bigger one based on a water rate hike and a new sewerage tax.

U. S. Judge Studies Plea to Upset Ban on Novel

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge has questioned the right of the postmaster general to bar the unexpurgated edition of "Lady Chatterly's Lover" from the mails.

Judge Frederick Van Pelt Bryan reserved decision on a plea to upset the ban, which was imposed June 11.

Bryan said he was "very seriously concerned" whether Postmaster General Arthur L. Summerfield had authority to impose the ban on the earthy novel.

The Grove Press, which published the new American edition, claims the Summerfield decision deprived the publisher of the constitutional rights of freedom of speech and freedom of the press.

The edition, the first uncut version of D. H. Lawrence's novel to be circulated in America, was declared to be obscene in the Summerfield decision.

The ban is also being challenged by Readers Subscription, Inc., a book club.

The book is selling briskly through bookstores supplied by private shippers, who don't use the mails.

Loud laughter interrupted a three-hour court hearing Tuesday when Bryan commented that he had "read the book with very considerable care, in fact, I re-read it. The first time I read it was 25 years ago."

"The central theme of this book," the government lawyer added, "is illicit love outside of the bounds of matrimony. You have got here in this book a central theme revolving around a woman who is a common tramp."

Mutual Network Changes Hands

Management Switches 4th Time in Two Years as Deficit Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — The new owners of the Mutual Broadcasting System take over today.

It is the fourth time in two years that the network has had a change of management.

The sales to a group of investors headed by Chester H. Ferguson, Tampa, Fla., attorney, was announced Tuesday. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Malcolm E. Smith Jr., board chairman, was expected to resign at a meeting of the board of directors.

★ ★ ★

Robert F. Hurleigh, Mutual vice chairman, acquired all stock owned by Smith as a prelude to the change in management.

Richard H. Davimos, network president, was also expected to resign.

Smith said in an announcement that he had found himself financially unable to maintain the network, but pointed out the operating deficit had been cut in half in the past three months.

★ ★ ★

Smith was among a number of New York businessmen who took over Mutual March 21 from the Scranton Corp., which had acquired control of the network earlier this year.

Mutual has 453 affiliated radio stations throughout the country which it provides with news, sports and special features.

Senate Battle Looms on Foreign Aid Loans

WASHINGTON (AP)—A battle over foreign aid loans—how much to provide and how to provide it—lay ahead today as the Senate debated its annual bill to authorize continued military and economic aid.

Supporters of the $4,164,820,000 measure, led by Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark), conceded they faced close votes on amendments aimed at trimming its totals by hundreds of millions of dollars.

But Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, argued that the country "can afford to spend whatever the national security requires us to spend."

The biggest fight centered around Fulbright's plea that the Senate initiate a 5-year five-billion-dollar program of development loans abroad, to be financed by borrowings from the Treasury.

Truck Rulings Eased

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Trucks with tandem trailers may now operate on the New York Thruway. They will pay double tolls of 10 cents a mile.

Fishermen Safe

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Two fishermen sought by the Coast Guard, Air Force and sheriff's officers on Lake St. Clair landed here safely Tuesday. John Bethway, 50, and John Logan, 30, both of Detroit, left a Harrison Township boat livery Monday to go fishing. When they failed to return by early Tuesday a search was started. The men said they did not know they were sought and explained they had been cruising about.

Advice to Marital Pickpockets

Listen to Husband's Plans for Future

By FAYE HENLE

Dear Madame:

This is being written to a special, a peculiar segment of the population, one I hazard the census men won't undercover when they begin catagorizing us next fall.

I'm wondering myself how many of you there are in these United States—women with talented husbands who faithfully return to them night after night via crowded subway and commuter trains only to literally have their pockets and their energies picked, with little or nothing offered in return.

You are the gal so occupied with the first tooth Suzy's gained or lost, with the applause your committee work nets you, with the contemplation of your next major purchase, that you don't even listen when that man of yours speaks to you. Perhaps that is why he talks to me.

Over and over he asks: how can I interest my wife in money matters?

I'm not suggesting that you become a shrewd stock market operator, though heaven knows how your husband might applaud if you stopped by a brokerage office—yes, many are located in shopping centers—and inquired how you might carefully build a nest egg for the future.

I'm not even hinting that you swap membership in the Tuesday bridge club for membership in an investment club—though you might do worse. I'm merely suggesting that you lend a polite ear and a bit of native talent when he shyly broaches the subject of tomorrow.

I'm haunted by the husband who last November brought home a carefully drawn will and all instructions for how his wife might get along without him, should tragedy strike. Yet this wife has not, to date, gotten around to reading these documents.

I'm haunted by the husband, the father of three small children, who has been so silenced by his wife that he has not had the energy to draw up a will, although he knows full well of the consequences should he die.

I'm haunted, too, by a group of students I've just bid farewell to for the summer. The majority were husbandless and frightened. Living for the most part in their twilight years on fixed incomes, they strained for any hint they might glean on how to better make ends meet in the face of a dollar that is buying them less of life's simple necessities each year.

Madame, are you aware that that man of yours lunches at a sandwich shop—when he can't use the almighty expense account—just so he can be sure of meeting mortgage payments or insurance premiums that he is counting on to make your future more secure?

Are you aware of the summer suit he eyed and never bought when you broke the news of Suzy's archery lessons?

In my eyes that sparkler on your fourth finger, left hand, hasn't earned you the title of Mrs. until you can lend an ear when he tries to tell you what he's planned for your future, until you can share with him each evening the trials and the glories of this work-a-day.

More important than keeping up with the proverbial Joneses should be your aspirations to keep up with the dollar, to share your husband's fears and nourish his dreams. A little effort on your part and you could, in all probability, earn a lucrative partnership in the biggest enterprise that you'll ever share.

State OKs Rate Boost for Title Insurance

LANSING (AP) — Title insurance companies will be authorized to boost their rates an average 10 per cent starting July 15, state Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford said today.

★ ★ ★

Blackford said the State Insurance Department based the new rate schedule on recommendations of title insurance companies. Increased costs of doing business and a higher loss rate, primarily the result of an increase in forgeries, led to the request, he said.

College Likely to Have Country Club Feeling

CHICAGO (AP)—If students at the new Trinity Christian College notice a country club atmosphere, there's a reason for it.

The college, which will enroll its first students in October, has acquired the clubhouse of the Navajo Hills Country Club and 25 surrounding acres for its campus.

The famous opera house at Central City, Colo., was first opened in 1878.

Avondale Families Will Host 31 Foreign Exchange Students

AVON TOWNSHIP — A number of families in the Avondale School District will play host to 31 foreign exchange students, representing 15 countries, who will arrive by bus Sunday for a two-day stay in the area.

★ ★ ★

All the students have lived with an American family in cities located in Minnesota and the Dakotas while spending the past year as seniors in American high schools.

The group is a part of 1,170 students who came from Europe, Central and South America and the Near and Far East under auspices of the American Field Service.

The students' stay in the Auburn Heights-Avondale Community is part of a three-week bus tour which the AFS provides for them at the end of their school year.

TO TOUR TECH CENTER

While here the group will tour the General Motors Technical Center in Warren. A potluck supper with an evening of dancing has been planned for Monday at Avondale Senior High School.

All 34 buses making the tours this year will meet in Washington, D. C. on July 15 where the students will be received by congressional and other national leaders. They also will attend luncheons at their respective embassies.

Then the students will go to the New York City area for four days prior to returning to their home countries.

★ ★ ★

The AFS is sponsoring the bus tours in the hope that foreign students will gain a broader view of the American way of life throughout the country, a local representative said.

Another aim is that the 50,000 Americans who meet these teenagers along their bus route will achieve a better understanding of people from other nations.

Mrs. Walter Riggle is chairman of the committee making arrangements for the exchange students' stay in this area.

Serving with her are Mrs. Walter Berger, Mrs. Hubert Gingrich, Mrs. William Porter, Mrs. J. H. Stone, Mrs. Ross White, Mrs. Wilbert A. Lewis, Mrs. Earl Wilson and Rosco V. Crowell.

The students are from Argentina, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, the Phillippine Islands, Sweden and Turkey.

The sun is so huge that although only 1/100th of 1 per cent of its mass will be used up in the next 1,500,000,000 years, it would still take 57,000 freight cars to haul away the mass that the sun consumes in one second.

2 Firemen Hired at Walled Lake

Replacements Chosen After Residents Protest Action to Cut Force

WALLED LAKE—Two new firemen have been hired by the City of Walled Lake as replacements, City Manager George A. Shaw announced yesterday.

They are Adam Pengler, 40, of Warren, and Jean Butters, 41, of 3960 Beach Terrace, West Bloomfield Township.

Chosen from 55 applicants for the $4,200 a year jobs, they are replacing Wilfred Hook and Richard Taylor in the two-man department.

Pengler has had nine years' experience with the Warren Fire Department and Butters has served for six years with the Royal Oak Fire Department, according to Shaw.

Hook, a fireman since last October, has transferred to the Walled Lake Police Department and Taylor has announced that he is going west at least for a time, due to an asthma affliction. Taylor had been a fireman here for the past two years.

Last month the City Council acted at a special meeting to eliminate the two posts of regular firemen by transferring some of their duties to the Police Department and letting the 18-man auxiliary force maintain the rest.

This action raised virogous protests from some 200 indignant residents in the area.

Their strenuous denunciation of the plan—intended to save the city some money according to its promoters—forced the council to rescind the action, re-establishing the two-man permanent force.

Protestors said they felt the city fathers were leaving them open to too great a fire risk.

MACKINAW CITY (AP) — A first mass will be held at St. Anthony's Catholic Shrine here Friday to mark the opeding of the shrine. Construction of the shrine began last November.

Lake Orion Awaits Centennial

Taboo Lipstick, Bald Faces

LAKE ORION — Wearing lipstick and bald faces will be outlawed here this weekend when Lake Orion celebrates its centennial.

Local businessmen and businesswomen will make their first official appearance in their centennial garb tomorrow at the monthly Chamber of Commerce meeting to be held at noon at the Villa Inn.

The women will be attired in long dresses, aprons and bonnets, and the men will wear striped vests, string ties and centennial bowlers with their suits. Some even have hand-engraved antique pipes and old-fashioned rimmed glasses to add authenticity to their costumes.

"Judge" Paul R. Bryant warns that this is the accepted dress for the approaching weekend, and that if women are found wearing cosmetics without a license or men have not applied for their shaving permits, they may be fined and tossed into the old Orion jail set up at the main intersection. Arresting officers will be members of the local corps of "Keystone Cops."

Lions Loose in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—There are Lions in the streets of New York—about 40,000 of them. Lions International is holding its annual convention here. Tuesday they staged a parade down Fifth Avenue, with representatives of every state and 50 foreign countries among the 25,000 marchers.

Donates Excess Wages

HAMBURG, N.Y. (AP)—Supervisor Raymond J. Emerling makes $1,200 more than he thinks he deserves so he gave the surplus to three Little Leagues. Emerling, a Democrat, campaigned on the issue that the town board should pay the supervisor only $6,000 a year instead of $7,200.

Church Elects Woman Leader for First Time

OBERLIN, Ohio (UPI) — The Evangelical and Reformed Church today, for the first time, elected a woman as its moderator. She is Miss Frances Kapitzky, a woman banker from Strasburg, Ohio, who is interested in amateur dramatics and choir singing.

Her election as head of this church automatically makes her co-moderator of the United Church of Christ. The Evangelical and Reformed Church and the Congregational Christian Churches are in the process of merging into the United Church of Christ. The heads of the two merging denominations preside jointly over the UCC, which will convene here Sunday. The other co-moderator is Rev. Ray Phillips of Boston.

Bologna Cutting Rite

RUTLAND, Vt. (UPI) — When Swift and Co. opened a new meat plant here, Mayor Dan J. Healy sliced two yards of bologna instead of cutting the traditional ribbon.

State Hospital Property Eyed

Use as New City Park With Subscription Plan Urged by Donaldson

Pontiac should try to get some of the Pontiac State Hospital property for a city park, City Commissioner William W. Donaldson urged last night.

★ ★ ★

Donaldson put forth a public subscription plan to finance land acquisition and won Commission approval to have City Manager Walter K. Willman begin negotiations with the state.

Since the vast hospital property is no longer used for farming, it is possible that the state would be willing to sell to Pontiac, Donaldson said.

He suggested purchase of about 75 acres along the southwest corner of Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph roads.

SUFFICIENT FUNDS

Donaldson believed that a drive to collect $1 or more from every Pontiac resident might result in sufficient funds to purchase land, if land is available.

"Acquisition of a new park site would be a crowning touch to our centennial celebration if we could get it by 1961," said Donaldson.

★ ★ ★

On Donaldson's suggestion, the city's interest in acquiring state hospital land will be called to the attention of State Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Drayton Plains) and Rep. Arthur J. Law (D-Pontiac).

McGinnis Back in Jail After 100th Arrest Here

Pontiac police officers knew that 64-year-old Hugh J. McGinnis was being hauled into the station on a regular basis.

But even they were astounded yesterday when they checked past department records.

Two arrests on Sunday, it seems, raised his total to 100.

McGinnis, of 232 S. Paddock St., a painter by trade, was first arrested on March 10, 1922 on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Since then, until Sunday, he had also been arrested 96 times on drunk and disorderly charges and once on a simple larceny charge.

★ ★ ★

Sunday he was arrested on a drunk and disorderly charge and for investigation of larceny.

He's on a first-name basis with many of the local officers, and they, in turn, with him.

"Yes, we've seen a lot of Hughie around here," said Lt. George T. Scott.

Although an overwhelming majority of his arrests have brought convictions, McGinnis told Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum yesterday that he was as sober as a judge.

"I really wasn't drunk this time, your honor," McGinnis said and pleaded not guilty.

Since McGinnis was charged as a third-offense drunk, Judge McCallum set examination for July 8 to determine if McGinnis should be bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court for trial.

He also is still being held for investigation of larceny.

$21 Million Army Pact Received by Chrysler

DETROIT (UPI)—Chrysler Corp. announced today it had received a 21-million-dollar Army contract for production of 180 new M60 medium tanks.

Delivery is scheduled to start in the second quarter of 1960.

Chrysler said the tanks would be assembled at Newark, Del., with Detroit, Scranton, Pa., and Dayton, Ohio, plants supplying components. It said no increase in employment is anticipated in the latter plants.

City Accepts Auto Insurance Bid of $11,989

City commissioners last night accepted a $11,989 bid for automobile insurance covering public liability and property damage insurance on city-owned vehicles for the forthcoming year.

The policy was awarded to Michigan Mutual Liability Insurance Co. The rate is approximately $2,000 above last year.

On recommendation of Marvin Alward, finance director, a bid from the Nationwide Mutual Insurance Co. was turned down. The bid was for $3,342, but it provided coverage for only six months, Alward said.

"Nevertheless, I hope this company enters a bid next year, since its prices are good and its reputation sound," said Alward.

The bids were opened last week and Alward was given time to investigate the Nationwide company.

Flood Swallows Entire Village

80 Bodies Recovered as Colombia Mops Up After Catastrophe

IBAGUE, Colombia (UPI) —A sudden flood struck the mountain village of Junta early yesterday while its inhabitants slept, and killed every person and animal there.

Only today was the completeness of the disaster becoming known. Authorities said 80 bodies had been recovered and that helicopters were trying to find other traces of the 150 persons who lived in the capital of Tolima province.

★ ★ ★

The full casualty toll may never be known. The flood caused by heavy rains struck at 2:30 a.m. with devastating swiftness and swept entire families and their livestock down the Combeima River.

Almost no trace of Junta remained.

Although the village is only eight miles from this city of 130,000, the bodies of men, women, children, dogs, cats and cattle lay in eerie silence for nearly 10 hours before the first word of the catastrophe began to trickle in.

★ ★ ★

A rescue operation began immediately but after a few hours word came back that there was no life in the area.

The villagers had been caught asleep in their thatched roof huts, easy prey for the roaring torrent.

When the waters began to recede late yesterday they exposed a desolate valley strewn with corpses and debris.

Thespian Stardust Mostly Egg Sandwiches

NEW YORK (AP)—Every year they troop here—the kids with the big hope.

They all have the same goal—to make a name in show business, to carve themselves a niche in the American theater.

They come from every part of the land, from every kind of background. Some are the sons of laborers, some are the spoiled daughters of the wealthy. Some wear the stamped neatness of the Ivy League, some look like the born beatniks they are.

Many of them share a startling lack of talent. All share a single thing—a vision of stardust, a picture of themselves posturing before an applauding world.

Why does anyone set out to be an actor or an actress? What motivates them? I can never decide whether it is blind ignorance, blind courage, or a blind and mystic compulsion they have no control over whatever.

It can't be sheer ignorance, because most of these kids know what the odds against them are. They know many actors are lucky to make $1,000 a year at their craft. They know the average performer doesn't earn a fifth as much as a plumber, a tenth as much as a dentist. Yet each is sure in his heart, for a time anyway, "I'll beat the odds."

There is something magnificent and tremulous in the way these young people smash against the impossible. It is rather like watching massed infantry march, singing, into certain disaster against massed artillery. It inspires you even as it breaks your heart.

In the beginning art is everything with them, and money means nothing. They take all sorts of odd jobs to keep them alive while they wait for "the one break."

They think of 1,001 ingenious ways to stay alive in a tough town where there are more people with dreams to sell than people to buy them. Their clubhouses are drugstores, where they meet to eat egg sandwiches, gossip, trade tips and bolster each other up in their hours of dismay.

The thing that is hardest for them is that they have no audience. An actor without an audience is the most hopelessly unemployed of all unemployed human beings. What can you learn about acting by merely making faces at a mirror in a lonely hallroom?

Few ever get "That big chance" and even fewer go on to real success. Most of them succumb to these twin eroders of most dreams—time and common sense. They give up and go away.

And the one in a thousand who does come out on top in show business? If he was lonely before, he is now twice as lonely—and three times as fearful.

★ ★ ★

Success, he finds, is not a perch but a prize fight ring with no real rest between the rounds. Finding "the right role" is now even more terribly important than getting "that big break" used to be.

He can't afford to take a chance. He is a big financial human pie, cut into many pieces—for the producer, his press agent, his manager, his family, the tax collector.

But if you asked him why he doesn't get out of the business, he'd say, "Are your crazy? After what I went through to get here!"

Why does anyone really want to be an actor? Only an actor knows—and he probably couldn't tell you!

Rhode Island's general assembly met for the first time in 1647.

Sputnik KO'd Older Version

New Consumer Culture Vulture

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Remember that bumptious fellow back in 1947 or so who wanted the best job, the prettiest wife, the biggest car and the ranchiest house in town?

Well, according to the folks at the Federal Reserve Board here, he's all washed up. He is the Old Consumer.

The New Consumer is a vulture for culture, sky-high for hi-fi, and it's not the girl he married, but their kids that he's most concerned about.

John R. Bunting, 34, and Edward A. Aff, 50, are the local experts on what the buyer will buy in the Philadelphia area. They say it was the launching of Sputnik by the Soviets which changed the Old Consumer.

Bunting and Aff's studies indicate the average consumer's new sense of values will make a drastic change in the nation's living habits for years to come.

Bunting says that with continued prosperity and high taxes, wealth began to lose out as the symbol of success for the status-seeker. And when Sputnik zoomed skyward, the Old Consumer had had it.

"Then came a guilt complex," explains Bunting. "The consumer was bombarded with evidence that America was lagging in its educational program, and particularly in science.

★ ★ ★

"He began to feel that he had failed, that he had not spent his money and time for the more important things. And he began to develop different aspirations — largely along the lines of culture and education."

As a result, adds Bunting, the New Consumer is becoming more European — the continental look in clothing for instance — because Europe is where the culture comes from.

milk is the only practical source of calcium

Recent nutrition research studies reveal that millions of Americans, regardless of income, are getting less than the minimum daily amount of calcium recommended by the National Research Council.

How calcium starvation affects you.

Lack of calcium in the diet has a slow degenerating affect which may remain hidden for years. It can result in: Premature wrinkles and "leathery" skin that add years to your appearance. Excessive irritability, tense frayed nerves. Shorter "prime of life" that reduces your span of active, vigorous years. Lack of calcium can also cause improper functioning of heart muscles. And when your diet does not supply sufficient calcium for daily needs, the body withdraws calcium from the bones for use in the blood and soft tissues. This causes bones to become brittle—easily broken—especially among older people.

How much calcium do you need?

National Research Council recommends 800 milligrams of calcium daily for adults, 1000 to 1400 milligrams of calcium daily for children, depending upon their age. This is the amount of calcium supplied by three to five glasses of milk.

Most foods supply only slight amounts of calcium.

In order to get the calcium provided by 1 quart of milk you would have to eat: 7½ lbs. of carrots, 39 eggs; 27 lbs. of potatoes, 28 oranges or 6¾ lbs. of cabbage. Milk is the only practical source of calcium.

How much milk should you drink to get the calcium you need?

The following daily consumption of milk assures you sufficient calcium.

Children (up to age 12)	3 glasses daily
Teen-agers (age 13 to 19)	4 glasses daily
Adults (age 20 and over)	3 glasses daily
Expectant mothers	4 glasses daily
Nursing mothers	6 glasses daily

Why milk is nature's most nearly perfect food.

In addition to calcium, milk contains more of the essential nutrients—including proteins, vitamins and minerals—than any other food. Far from being fattening, milk is recommended for reducing diets because it supplies more nourishment per calorie than other foods. Whole, fresh milk also supplies more nourishment per dollar than other foods. From the standpoint of nutritional value, nutritional balance and simple economy, milk is nature's most nearly perfect food.

Queen of England's Chef Has Way With Potatoes

The chef on the royal train in England for 12 years, Charles Mellis, says he had his "own special way of preparing the fried potatoes the Queen (Elizabeth II) so much enjoys."

"Using a special spoon, I scooped out small sections about the size of marbles. These I deep-fried until they were crisp and brown.

"Making these little fried-potato 'marbles' left me with the rest of the potato pitted with holes like a slab of Gruyere cheese.

"These too, I deep-fried, afterward filling the hollows with grated Parmesan cheese.

"For another potato dish which I devised, I would half-fry the potatoes in deep fat, drain them, finish cooking them in butter and drain them again.

"I served them up decorated with finely chopped parsley and chervil, christening them 'Pommes Royale.'

"The first time I served potatoes this way, the Queen liked them so much she sent her private secretary through to the kitchen to ask me for the recipe."

Mellis, who recently retired, had a 10-burner cooker and large refrigerator in a "pint-sized kitchen" where he and an assistant did everything from "peeling potatoes to concocting exotic sauces."

The Queen's breakfast was a hearty one calculated to give her plenty of energy for a busy schedule.

It was either a mixed grill of bacon, mushrooms, tomatoes, sausage, kidney and saute potatoes (sliced, fried in butter to a golden brown, then strained and served dry), or eggs—scrambled, poached or fried.

Mellis recalls one near catastrophe.

"The footman had already started serving dinner in the royal dining car when my assistant suddenly turned to me, his face as white as his apron.

"Charlie," he gasped, "I've forgotten to do any potatoes, and they've already started on the hors d'oeuvres!"

"Quickly I whipped a pan of fat onto the stove, grabbed a couple of potatoes, diced them as finely as I knew how, and threw them in.

"I rushed them onto a silver dish with some chopped parsley and had them on the dining table with only seconds to spare."

His last meal for the Queen was a dish "as colorful as any picture in the Louvre, a symphony in gold and green and red and brown." It included fillet of beef surrounded by shoestring potatoes, asparagus tips, cucumber and stuffed tomatoes.

New Way to Keep Freezer Inventory

An accurate record of all meat, poultry and other food stored in a home freezer can be kept on a Peg-Board panel by using golf tees to designate the current inventory.

To make a "food record," frame and attach a panel of perforated hardboard, about 6 feet long and 2 feet wide, to the wall behind the freezer. Attach name plates for the various foods above the panel. Special holders for the labels are available.

If ten packages of a certain item are in the freezer, then there should be 10 golf tees under the particular name plate. When packages are added or removed, make an adjustment in the number of tees in that section.

Peg-Board is available at lumber yards. It may be painted to blend or contrast with the background wall.

STAR SALAD — Having a luncheon party or a buffet supper to celebrate Independence Day? A gelatin salad, using pale dry ginger ale as the liquid and chilled in a star-shaped mold, makes an attractive main dish. The ginger ale adds zest and gives a glistening, bubbly appearance to the salad.

Ginger Ale Fluffs Salad

Not only for a party, but for light appealing meals all through the hot weather, sparkling gelatin salads made with ginger ale are delicious and satisfying. Economical, too, as they utilize small amounts of left-over vegetables that might otherwise be wasted.

Try this one for the Fourth and you'll make it often.

Sparkling Star Salad

2 cups ginger ale
2 envelopes (2 tbsps.) unflavored gelatin
2 cups diced cooked chicken
1 cup cooked or canned peas
½ cup cooked diced carrots
¼ cup diced cucumber
3 tablespoons minced celery
2 tablespoons drained pickle relish
1 cup mayonnaise

Sprinkle gelatin over ginger ale to soften; stir over hot water until dissolved. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white; fold in remaining ingredients.

Pour into a 5-cup star mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until set. Unmold on salad greens. Serve with extra mayonnaise, if desired. Makes 8 servings.

Glaze Spareribs With Apricots

Barbecued spareribs are usually a well-liked pork dish . . . a meal that can be classified as finger food. Instead of the barbecue sauce, however, an apricot glaze is applied to these spareribs.

In some cases . . . Apricot Glazed Spareribs might appeal to more people than the nippy flavor of the barbecue sauce.

Apricot Glazed Spareribs

2 to 3 pounds spareribs
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅔ cup apricot preserves
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Have the spareribs sawed across the rib bones so individual servings may be carved easily after cooking. Place ribs, rib ends down, on a rack in a baking pan. Cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 1 hour.

Season with salt and pepper. Continue baking uncovered 45 minutes. Combine apricot preserves and lemon juice. Spread over spareribs and bake 30 minutes longer, or until spareribs are done and glaze is set. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Paging Pop Eye

A good way to treat frozen chopped spinach is to use it in a puffy casserole dish with eggs and milk; mushrooms are a delicious addition.

Fish, Seafood Good for Summer Menus

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Some people in New England wouldn't think of eating anything but salmon on the Fourth of July. Here in the middle west we aren't such confirmed fish eaters.

Summertime, however, is a good time for serving fish. The rod and reel artists bring home their catch and want it cooked right away. Cool fish salads are delicious on a hot day.

Just a word of warning. Since fish spoils easily at any time of year, be extra careful about keeping it cold during these hot, humid days. It is best to eat fresh fish the day you get it or at least the second day. Canned and frozen fish keep indefinitely in the can or the freezer.

We have noticed a few plants of dill coming up in our garden. It is a volunteer year after year. There's enough already to make the sauce for this interesting shrimp platter.

Marinated Shrimp with Dill Sauce

2 pounds shrimp, fresh or frozen
1 cup white wine
3 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pickling spices
Half lemon, sliced
1 onion, sliced
2 stalks celery with leaves

Clean and devein shrimp. Mix remaining ingredients in a saucepan. Bring to boil and let simmer 3 to 5 minutes. Add shrimp and return to boil. Let simmer 2 minutes. Remove from heat and chill shrimp in liquid. Drain well. Arrange on a large canape platter. Serve with Dill Sauce and plenty of cocktail picks.

Dill Sauce

1 pint sour cream
¼ cup minced onion
¼ teaspoon celery seed
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
2 tablespoons chopped fresh dill (or ½ teaspoon dill powder)

Mix all ingredients and let stand no longer than 2 hours before serving.

Fillets of fish may be rolled around an herb-seasoned stuffing and baked quickly in a hot oven. Just be sure the fillets have been skinned.

Rolled Stuffed Fish Fillets

4 frozen or fresh fillets (flounder, sole or perch)
2 tablespoons butter
⅓ cup diced celery
1 teaspoon minced onion
¼ cup hot water
1 cup packaged prepared herb-seasoned stuffing
2 strips partly-cooked bacon (cut to make 4 half pieces)
1 cup scalded milk

If fillets are frozen, thaw; blot dry. Mix stuffing: — In saucepan, saute celery and onion until soft, in butter; add water, then stuffing crumbs, toss. Place ¼ of the stuffing on each fillet. Roll up; fasten with toothpicks. Brush each roll with melted butter; sprinkle with salt, pepper.

Pleace in greased baking dish; top each roll with partly cooked bacon piece. Add one cup scalded milk. Bake uncovered in very hot oven (500 degrees) 10-15 min. Sauce from baking dish can be served on fish.

Linguini means thin spaghetti. Vary your serving of it by making a sauce that combines canned salmon and clam juice. You can buy canned clam juice.

Linguini with Salmon Clam Sauce

2 cloves garlic, minced
¼ cup butter
¼ cup olive oil
1 teaspoon coarsely cracked pepper
1 can (7¾ oz.) salmon
Clam juice
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 pond linguini, or thin spaghetti, cooked

Saute garlic in the butter and olive oil until lightly browned. Add pepper. Drain liquid from can of salmon into measuring cup and add clam juice to make 1 cup liquid.

Flake salmon and add to the garlic mixture with the liquid. Bring to a simmer and, just before serving over the linguini, stir in the parsley. Serves 4.

Canned clams are used in this last dish. You make little aluminum foil "shells" to hold the mixture; throw them away after eating and half the dishwashing is done.

Clambake in Fan Shells

2 6½-oz. cans minced clams
4 tablespoons flour
1 10½-oz. can mushroom soup
1 12-oz. can whole kernel corn
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
½ cup finely cut onion
3 tablespoons finely cut pimiento
½ teaspoon shredded lemon peel
Garlic salt and Worcestershire Sauce
4 tablespoons buttered crumbs
14-inch quilted broiling foil

To make fan shells, cut one 14-inch circle of double-thick quilted broiling foil. Then cut the circle into quarters. Fold over straight sides ¼-inch. Then crease and turn up ¾-inch to form upright sides. Make a diagonal fold where the two sides meet; turn the point against one side. Bring the curved edge up to a depth of ¾-inch. Diagonally fold corners as before. Flute 5 rounded scallops. Place quilted foil fan shells on a cookie sheet.

Drain liquid from clams into a saucepan. Sprinkle flour over the liquid and mix with a wire whisk until completely free from lumps. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add minced clams, soup, corn, soft bread crumbs, onion, pimiento and lemon peel. Stir over low heat for about 5 minutes. Season to taste with garlic salt and Worcestershire Sauce.

Spoon into foil fan shells and top with buttered crumbs. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F) for about 20 minutes, or until "bubbly" hot. If desired, garnish with slices of lemon dipped in finely cut parsley.

Lemon Juice Gives Tartness to Tuna Dish

Next time you want to serve a hot fish casserole, try this Lemony-Tuna Surprise. With the yummy cheese sauce on top, it's a dish you'll want to serve for company dinners as well as for the family. They'll call it a favorite after the first bite.

Lemony-Tuna Surprise

1 12-oz can tuna
1 4-oz. can mushrooms
1 16-oz. can peas
2 cups cracker crumbs
2 eggs
1 small onion, grated
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash black pepper

Blend tuna, mushrooms, peas, crumbs, eggs. Add onions, bottled lemon juice, salt and pepper. Pack in greased loaf pan. Cover with juice from peas. Bake at 350 degrees 40 minutes. Serve with cheese sauce.

Cheese Sauce

1⅔ cups undiluted evaporated milk
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 cups grated processed cheese

Simmer milk, salt, mustard, in a saucepan over medium heat about 2 minutes. Add cheese. Stir over medium heat until cheese melts.

Not Needed, but There They Hang

AF Red-Faced Over $4,500 Drapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force, already roundly criticized by Congress for the cost of its new academy at Colorado Springs, is suffering fresh embarrassment in the case of the $4,500 drapes.

It seems the Air Force spent around $90,000 to build a 21-foot overhanging roof around its glass-walled academy dining hall to keep out the sun.

In justifying the expenditure, Air Force Secretary James H. Douglas last year told the House Appropriations Committee the overhang would eliminate any need for drapes.

In this year's appropriations committee hearings made public today, Rep. Harry M. Sheppard (D-Calif) disclosed that drapes costing $2,000 already have been installed in the dining hall with another $2,500 needed to finish the job.

★ ★ ★

That, Sheppard noted, was for only one of the three glass-walled sides of the room.

Under Secretary M.A. MacIntyre had no explanation. But he said he was sure Douglas "would be uite upset in learning about the facts."

"It is not a heartbreaking item as far as the money is concerned," Sheppard observed, but "it places the committee and the Air Force in an embarrassing position."

The subject was dropped. Apparently the drapes stay up. So does the $90,000 roof overhang.

Fine Is Belt Tightening

HARDWICK, Vt. (UPI)—To encourage slenderizing, members of the Home Demonstration group here agreed to fine themselves one cent per inch of waist.

Cuban Officer Quits; Hurls Red Charges

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government today sought the arrest of Maj. Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz after he resigned his command of the Cuban air force and charged that Communists had infiltrated Castro's armed forces.

The whereabouts of Diaz were a mystery. There was speculation that he had gone underground or fled from Cuba.

Diaz turned in his resignation to President Manuel Urrutia and leveled the Red charges after returning to duty from a month's absence attributed to typhoid fever.

Maj. Juan Almeida, who commanded the air force in Diaz's absence, was named to succeed him. A few hours later Almeida ordered his predecessor's arrest and accused him of desertion, treason, robbery and dealing with members of ex-president Fulgencio Batista's regime.

Diaz in his letter of resignation had accused Almeida of trying to supplant him because of his outspoken opposition to Communist influence on Castro's government and his army.

Roman Catholics in the United States, Alaska and Hawaii now number 36,023,977, according to the Official Catholic Directory for 1958, an increase of 1,460,126 over the previous year. The directory shows a 10-year gain of 9,948,280 or 38.1 per cent over the 26,075,697 total of 1948.

'Anatomy' Premiere Due Tonight

DETROIT (AP)—With all the fanfare of what it is — a premiere — the Michigan-laid, Michigan-made movie "Anatomy of a Murder" will be shown on a Detroit screen tonight.

Stars were on hand and had been worked into the Detroit-Windsor Freedom Festival that will be climaxed by a visit of Queen Elizabeth.

The movie, from a novel by Michigan Supreme Court Justice John D. Voelker, is scheduled to open in Chicago tomorrow.

Anatomy of a Murder, filmed in the Marquette area of Upper Michigan, was designated "Product of the Year" in the observance of Michigan Week earlier this year.

Lee Remick, the feminine lead opposite James Stewart and actor Arthur O'Connell of New York arrived yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Detroit George C. Scott, who is featured, missed the opening round of festivities. He wired from Minnesota that he had been caught in a snowstorm and delayed in Yellowstone National Park while driving east. He said he hoped to make the premiere, however.

Nurses Pick Male Head

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI)—Paul W. Traux became the first male president in the history of the Vermont Student Nurses Association.

Detroit-NYC Commuter Rates to Be Increased

DETROIT (UPI) — Commuter fares on New York Central passenger trains into Detroit are going up 55 to 60 per cent Aug. 1 under a new schedule.

★ ★ ★

New York Central spokesmen said the fare increase was necessary to offset increased operating costs.

★ ★ ★

The increase will affect passengers between Detroit and Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor. Under the new schedule, a monthly ticket for daily rides between Detroit and Ypsilanti will rise from the present $17.30 to $28.08. The fare between Detroit and Ann Arbor will go from $20.90 to $32.76.

Exhibit Looks Like Hit

Reds Draw Big Crowd

NEW YORK (AP)—The newest show in town—the Soviet Exhibition—looks like a smash hit.

A dazzling, 10-million-dollar extravaganza, it opened to generally favorable press reviews and played its first performance before a packed house in the New York Coliseum.

There were 1,000 people standing in the hot sun Tuesday when the doors opened. A spokesman for the 42-day exhibition estimated attendance between 40,000 and 50,000.

The aim of the show, like the aim of its American counterpart which opens in Moscow July 25, is to show people how the other side lives.

Newspapers generally found it a good show. But they pointed out that in some departments, such as housing, clothing and automobiles the Soviet goods didn't come up to American standards.

Apparently they were somewhat above Soviet standards, however.

Max Frankel, a former Moscow correspondent, wrote in the New York Times: "A visitor can see far more here in two hours than this correspondent saw in two years in the Soviet Union, far more especially of the stuff of Soviet wishful dreams.

"The exhibition projects a glistening Soviet future, but strains some facts of Soviet reality."

Brigitte Bardot's Hubby Has Emergency Surgery

ST. TROPEZ, France (UPI) — June bride Brigitte Bardot languished today while her new husband Jacques Charrier recovered from the emergency operation which removed his appendix.

Film actor Charrier, looking pale beneath his tan, broke off his two-week-old honeymoon with Brigitte to rush to St. Tropez "Oasis" Clinic yesterday at 7 p.m. for an emergency appendectomy.

He was reported resting comfortably and in no danger after the operation.

Health Service Stops Live Polio Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service says it will not license a live virus vaccine for polio at this time.

★ ★ ★

Instead, Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney, head of the service, urged the nation to "go full speed ahead" with the Salk vaccine, which uses killed virus.

Dr. Albert R. Sabin of Cincinnati, Ohio, developer of a live vaccine, recently declared it safe after a series of extensive tests in various foreign countries.

★ ★ ★

The live vaccine can be given to a person orally. The Salk vaccine must be injected several times over a period of several months to a year. Doctors agree that the live vaccine, if proven safe, could be spread more effectively and cheaply.

★ ★ ★

But Dr. Burney said the Public Health Service did not have enough evidence that the live vaccine was safe and potent. There is a need for more controlled studies, he said.

Nantucket to Celebrate

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP) — This island off the coast of Massachusetts, once a famous whaling base, will celebrate its 300th birthday Thursday with a big clambake. The island, purchased in 1659 from Thomas Mayhew, was formerly part of the New York colony.

Boy, 7, Mangled to Death Inside Dryer for Clothes

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Did curiosity lead a 7-year-old boy to a tragic death inside of an automatic clothes dryer?

★ ★ ★

Detective E.B. Meals says that probably was the reason Jerome Brown crawled into the coin-operated machine early Tuesday.

His body, mangled badly, was found about an hour and a half later by two women who were the first customers at the laundromat, which is unattended.

The youngster, son of Dorothy Gale Brown, was identified by teeth and clothing.

Meals said the machine started after the boy closed its door. Housewives of the area had been using the dryer free because a coin had stuck in the starting mechanism. They operated it by merely closing and opening the door.

OKs Friday Holidays if They Fall on Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP)— The House has passed a bill that would count a Friday as a legal public holiday when the regular holiday falls on a Saturday.

Rep. August E. Johansen (R-Mich) pointed out that some workers in private industries are given a holiday on their birthday.

"The question of what happens if and when a worker's birthday falls on his 'regular nonworkday' hasn't, to my knowledge, been broached yet," Johansen said.

State Traffic Deaths Down 10 for Month

LANSING (AP) — An apparent slight downturn in Michigan highway deaths in June was reported today as State Police mapped a drive against a feared high traffic kill over the Fourth of July.

Although the provisional fatality figure last month was 101, down 10 from the final figure for June 1958, there was a possibility delayed deaths might boost the total above that of a year ago.

For the first half of 1959, the state was running 18 behind the toll for January-June of last year despite improvement in January, February and March. The totals were 589 as against 571.

Sees Bright Future for Canada

Queen Speaks at Ottawa

OTTAWA (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II saluted Canada today as the first independent country within Britain's empire and predicted a glorious future for her North American subjects.

The young monarch, in a TV speech prepared for Dominion Day, Canada's major national holiday, said that she and her husband, Prince Philip, are enjoying their tour.

"If I have helped you feel proud of being Canadian, if I have reminded you of the strength which comes from unity, and if I have helped draw your attention to the bright vision of the years ahead, I will feel well satisfied because I believe with all conviction this country can look to a glorious future," she said.

★ ★ ★

Elizabeth paid tribute to the vision and initiative of the men who have built Canada. She said she and her husband are looking forward to seeing more of the country's industrial developments during the rest of their six-week tour.

★ ★ ★

The Queen's Dominion Day schedule also included the unveiling of a memorial to 650 men of the Royal Canadian Air Force—including 39 Americans—who disappeared during World War II and who "have no known grave."

★ ★ ★

The Queen and Philip arrived in the Canadian capital Tuesday night after watching the centennial running of North America's oldest horse race — the Queen's Plate Stakes at Woodbine, near Toronto. A crowd of at least 30,000 had been expected, but only 19,846 turned out.

Beneficial Results Told of New Arthritis Drug

DETROIT (AP) — A medical symposium was told today of beneficial results to arthritis patients from use of the new drug soma.

Dr. C. David Cooper of George Washington University and hospital of Washington, D. C., said 11 of 13 patients given soma were "markedly benefited."

Soma, a compound developed by Wallace Laboratories of New Brunswick, N. J., is used for relief of muscle and joint pain.

The symposium, sponsored by the Wayne State University college of medicine and the University of Michigan medical school, received what were described as the first reports of laboratory and clinical tests of the drug.

2 Face Death Sentences in Interracial Rape Cases

BEAUFORT, S.C. (AP)—A 24-year-old white Marine and a 19-year-old Negro—convicted in separate interracial rape cases—face death in South Carolina's electric chair.

★ ★ ★

Attorneys for both have asked for new trials. Neither has been sentenced pending hearings Thursday on new trial motions.

In each case, the death sentence was made mandatory under South Carolina law when the jury did not recommend mercy.

Israel Sharpe, a Negro, was convicted Tuesday night by a jury of six white and six Negro men of attempting to rape a young white woman in her home. Attempted rape is a capital crime in South Carolina.

★ ★ ★

Little more than 24 hours earlier, Marine Pvt. Fred Davis, a native of Atlanta, was convicted by an all-white jury of raping a 47-year-old Negro woman.

Should Davis go to the electric chair, it would be the first recorded execution of a white man for raping a Negro woman.

Judge J. Henry Johnson commented after the jury returned its verdict in the Sharpe case: "The verdicts should establish beyond all doubt that any persons regardless of race, color or creed, can get justice in South Carolina.

"I can't see how any different verdict could have been given in either case."

Jury Ponders Fate of Edythe Klumpp

CINCINNATI (AP) — Edythe Klumpp's fate on a charge she murdered her lover's estranged wife goes to a Hamilton County Criminal Court jury today.

The jury of six men and six women must decide whether Mrs. Klumpp, a blonde 41-year-old divorcee and mother of four, should be acquitted, sentenced to death or given a prison term.

★ ★ ★

The state claims it was just eight months ago Tuesday that Mrs. Klumpp fatally shot and bludgeoned Louise Bergen, 32, on a secluded street here. Mrs. Klumpp had been living with Mrs. Bergen's husband, William, 30, for several months. The state claims she feared Bergen was about to go back to his wife.

Mrs. Klumpp admitted during a nine-hour session on the witness stand she was involved in the shooting. She said, however, it was accidental as she grappled with the younger woman over a pistol she said Mrs. Bergen was pointing at her.

★ ★ ★

She also admitted putting the body into the trunk of her car, keeping it there overnight and then taking it to Lake Cowan in nearby Clinton County the next day and burning it.

She taught a sewing class a few hours after Mrs. Bergen's death. The body was in the car at that time.

Mackinac Trail Green Arrow Measure Passes

LANSING (AP) — The Mackinac Trail - Green Arrow Route bill passed the House 66 to 19 Tuesday, clearing the Legislature.

★ ★ ★

The measure would provide promotional designations to Western Michigan tourist routes, combining objectives of two separate legislative camps in a hybrid concept.

Under the bill, U.S. 131 from the Indiana line to Kalkaska would bear the name Mackinac Trail. M78 from the Indiana line to Battle Creek and M66 north to Kalkaska would get the Green Arrow Route label.

From Kalkaska north to the Straits, U.S. 131-31 would be known as Mackinac Trail - Green Arrow Route.

Firecracker Explosion Partially Blinds Boy

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Jerry Collins lies in a hospital today unaware he has lost one eye as the result of a firecracker explosion in a bottle.

Jerry, 11, was injured Sunday and his left eye was removed in surgery. His face was lacerated and the other eye damaged, but doctors expressed hope it could be saved.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Collins, Oklahoma City, are waiting for Jerry to improve before telling him of his partial blindness.

Military Construction Bill Gets Senate OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed a military construction bill cut to suit the administration's new master plan for air defense.

★ ★ ★

But the bill, which now goes to the House for action on Senate amendments, directs civilian and military leaders in the Pentagon to report back to Congress with both immediate and long-range defense plans.

The measure, approved 89-3 Tuesday, authorizes $1,211,270,000 in military construction projects.

The total was 145 million less than President Eisenhower had asked and 40 million less than the House had approved earlier.

Claims Wax Containers Not Health Hazards

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming says there are no indications that waxed containers now being used for milk and food contain health hazards.

Flemming told a news conference yesterday the Public Health Service has been getting many inquiries about possible cancer-producing agents in the wax used on such containers.

★ ★ ★

He said such studies in 1957 disclosed a type of wax which contained a known cancer-producing agent. But since then, he added, that type of wax has not been used on cartons.

'Goodby Charlie' Sold; Italians Back Rossellini

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — There'll be no use of film companies bidding on "Goodbye Charlie" when it opens on Broadway Dec. 15 with Lauren Bacall and Sydney Chaplin. It has already been sold to Buddy Adler who bought it from producer Leland Hayward through the good offices of Irving Lazar.

★ ★ ★

The price paid is a secret but since it's a percentage deal I hear it's close to $500,000. Of course, Buddy can't film "Charlie" until after its Broadway run. The George Axelrod comedy is described as a very gay, happy story, equally good for stage or screen.

The Italians have a national trait of sticking together and proof of this is the way his countrymen are suddenly rallying around Roberto Rossellini. Vittoria Di Sica, one of Italy's most successful director-actors, plans to do all he can to boost Rossellini's stock by starring for him in a picture and also helping direct it.

A friend of mine, just back from Rome, tells me that Vittorio has no reason to do this—he can pick and choose his spots—other than a desire to help Ingrid Bergman's ex.

In fact, the over-all feeling in Italy is that Roberto has had enough and it's time they rallied around to help the former movie maker. One stipulation—to get off his "arty" kick and come down to earth in his pictures.

★ ★ ★

Just before Terry Moore started on her honeymoon with Stuart Cramer she had a conference with Al Alperson and practically agreed to star in "Sea Nymph" which will be filmed on location in Majorca. Whether her marriage will make any difference, I don't know, but I doubt it since Terry likes her career.

★ ★ ★

She particularly likes the "Sea Nymph," because it calls for an accomplished skin diver and Terry is a champion diver. Alperson gets home tomorrow from Europe. He made three trips in three weeks to see about locations, which is certainly some kind of record.

Latest flash out of Europe on Linda Christian is that she's taking time off from her assorted romances long enough to fly to West Berlin to sign for three German movies. Having completed her role with Bob Taylor in "House of the Seven Hawks" in London, Linda had been in Paris working on her memoirs before the offer came from Germany.

The first movie won't start until October which gives Linda enough time to be in Mexico City for her sister's birthday and also to check into Hollywood for a brief stay toward the end of July. I hear Linda is very movie minded these days for both the publicity and the money.

Signe Hasso writes to friends that she'll be in the U.S.A. July 12 to start rehearsals with Eva Le Gallienne for the famous Schiller play, "Mary Stuart." Eva plays Queen Elizabeth.

They'll open in Los Angeles and San Francisco before they take the play into New York. Signe has been in Europe for a long time, and it's nice to hear about her again.

Pontiac Girl Wins Silver Contest

Marlene Wiscombe, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wiscombe, 609 Peacock St., was announced a winner yesterday in the 1959 "Sterling Is For Graduates" Sweepstakes Contest.

★ ★ ★

Miss Wiscombe was awarded a 16-piece sterling silver place setting by the Sterling Silversmiths of America.

Her name was drawn from thousands of entries submitted this year by girls graduating from the nation's high schools.

GRAND OPENING—A Pontiac edition of a Hollywood or New York opening is scheduled for tonight at the Blue Sky Drive In where "Imitation of Life" opens. For the special program there will be floodlights and a 20-voice choir singing spirituals. Starring Lana Turner, the color movie features John Gavin, Sandra Dee, Robert Alda and Mahalia Jackson. Spare the Warm Clothes and Save the Man

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — The men's clothing industry is thoroughly miffed at this column for suggesting that men are being humbled in the humidity, and hobbled in the heat, by the idiotic fashion tradition that insists on ties, jackets and ankle-length creases in the summer.

It makes us feel good, getting defensive notes from the clothiers. Shows they're sweating a bit. Like their beleaguered customers.

But it has been brought to our attention by male readers that mere typewriter talk about the stupidity of men's summer fashions cannot change the pattern. Most restaurants and offices are so steeped in conformity that they will not allow men to enter in walking shorts, or with open-necked shirts, or sans jackets—no matter how neat and crisp they appear. Their attitude: better a soggy suited man, than a fresh one with nude knees.

So we would like today to miff the restaurant people and perhaps a few stuffy executives, by suggesting that their concept in "sartorial etiquette" is old-hat, unfair in its favoritism of females, and destructive of the pride of the American male.

The custom, in many of our better restaurants, clubs and hotels, is to eye the coolly-dressed man with distaste—but to demand his business anyway.

When a potential customer dares to show up without a tie or jacket, he is offered one from the check-room storage department. This gesture of seeming generosity — which actually is an implication that the gentleman is not dressed in good taste—either frightens or disgusts the man.

Some men, as the male mail shows, are so psychologically disturbed by their first fish-eye (accompanied by borrowed tie) from a maitre de, that they boycott such formal establishments and dine in diners all summer. "It saves a lot of money — being d—annoyed," writes one.

The really offensive part of it, to many men, is that they are forced to dress to the chin in offices and restaurants where women are garbed only from the kneecap to the censor's limit. They wear no sleeves, no stockings, no hat and only enough shoe to keep their heels off the pavement.

"Tell me, madame," inquires a curious one, "why I am unfit with three inches of throat exposed, when my date is appropriately dressed sans sleeves, sans hose, sans girdle, sans almost everything. In fact, I doubt if they would turn her away if she came in a good-looking G-string."

The basic unfairness of women's attire versus men's is a matter that no one, surely, would contest. It is well-established through the years that women are accepted for what they are, and most of it shows.

★ ★ ★

But we would like to suggest that some reasonable attitude be established by restaurateurs — a little give-and-take, a little purely business-like bargaining on this matter. Either give a man a break or demand equal etiquette from women . . . by offering them the loan of "respectability items" as they enter a restaurant: stockings, white gloves, dickies for the shocking decollete. What's bad for the gander should be bad for the goose.

This is every bit as reasonable as suggesting that a wealthy divorcee should pay her discarded husband alimony.

And, I am sure, will get every bit as much acceptance.

Toast Circles of Cake for Peachy Dessert

Peachy-keen for teen get-togethers—that's PEACH MELBA DESSERT. Any young miss can make it because foods have done most of the work. Just cut a baker's loaf pound cake, lengthwise, into two equal-sized layers.

With a cookie cutter, cut 3 circles from each layer and toast them in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 5 minutes. Place 1 canned or fresh peach half, cavity side up, on each toasted cake round. Then, top it all off with vanilla pudding, made from ½ package of either the instant or cooked variety.

Cottage Cheese Takes Prize for Versatility

Cottage cheese is an economical, nutritious food with a 1000 uses. Easy-to-serve, it's a perfect mixer with fruits and vegetables in a salad, a fine dessert with crackers and jelly, a delicious sandwich spread, and adapts itself to many different methods of serving in either hot or cold dishes.

Cottage cheese balls are delicious as canapes or a salad garnish. Mix equal amounts of cottage cheese and blue cheese; season with a little grated onion. Form in small balls with a small measuring spoon; roll in finely chopped parsley, and serve on colored toothpicks.

Melted butter and canned minced clams make a delightful sauce for hot cooked thin spaghetti.

Lemon Adds Tang to Onion Steak Sauce

Round steak or swiss steak can make a tasty and economical meal with the addition of a zesty sauce. "Lemon-Onion Steak Sauce" is just right with either of these cuts of meat, and should please the heartiest of appetites.

Lemon-Onion Steak Sauce

Chop a large onion and several sprigs of parsley. Cook in one quarter cup salad oil until onions are soft. Then add 1½ teaspoons wine vinegar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 teaspoons salt, a dash of pepper and 1½ teaspoons sugar. Stir well, cook over a low heat for about five minutes.

Before serving, stir in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Coffee Syrup Glazes Ham Loaf

What in the world becomes of left-overs?

★ ★ ★

We see a tender morsel of meat or a half-cup of luscious gravy being tucked away in the ice box and then . . . what happens? Well, all too often the left-over is left and forgotten . . . simply because it's hard to know what to do with it!

Take ham, for instance. Now here's a favorite roast that can take on a variety of flavor-guises, meal after meal. The last time you serve it, the ham can be just as good as the first. One of the happiest ways to use it is in a beautiful Coffee Glazed Ham Loaf, a delightful variation on the meat loaf theme.

Here's a recipe that's truly delicious and not the least bit difficult. The coffee glaze is easy, too, and lends a spiciness to the ham that's sheer perfection. The ham loaf makes a wonderful main dish for an informal supper on Saturday night, and it's particularly good with a bubbling pot of baked beans and a big bowl of apple cole slaw. Of course, you'll also want plenty of steaming, freshly brewed coffee to top it off — it's made to order!

Once you've tried this recipe, you'll find that left-over ham won't have a way of getting lost in the ice box. And, incidentally, remember to make an extra cup of breakfast coffee so you'll have enough left over for the easy and delicious coffee glaze . . . .

Coffee-Glazed Ham Loaf

2 pounds lean pork, ground
1 pound smoked ham, ground
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 eggs
¼ cup ketchup
Few drops Tabasco
½ teaspoon salt

Combine all ingredients and shape into loaf. Bake, uncovered, in moderate oven, 325 degrees, 2 hours. During last hour, baste four times with Coffee Glaze. Serves six to eight.

Coffee Glaze

1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup brewed coffee
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon mixed pickling spices, tied in cheese cloth
1 teaspoon vinegar

Combine all ingredients and bring to boil. Simmer until mixture forms a thick syrup. Remove spice bag.

Serve Eggs Elegant in Bread Nests

"C'est magnifique" — EGGS ELEGANT for breakfast or brunch. Shape them for spring as golden egg-cheese puffs in petal-like bread cups.

To make the bread cups: Trim crusts, butter both sides of enriched bread slices. Gently press each slice into a custard cup and line with a slice of Canadian bacon. Into each cup, pour a ¼ cup measure of the following mixture: 1½ cups beaten eggs, 1/3 cup milk, ½ cup grated Swiss cheese, salt and pepper.

Place custard cups in a shallow pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Remove from custard cup to serve.

STILL IN SEASON — What, Winesap apples at this season of the year? Yes, indeed, with controlled atmosphere storage, these beautiful all-purpose apples are just as good for summer meals as they were last fall. Add them to summer salads and keep some in the refrigerator for out of hand eating.

Good in Summer Salads Plentiful Winesap Apples

June is bustin' out again! And what better way to welcome flying hands and feet, as children rush in from playing outdoors, than with a big bowl of crisp, tangy apples.

It's healthy news to hear that these juicy red beauties are as firm and crunchy as when they came off the trees—carrying goodly amounts of Vitamins A, C and G. Youngsters love them as a mid-morn or afternoon snack and mother loves them as a waist-saving snack—besides being able to cook an endless array of tempting dishes with them.

Tossed Apple-Melon Salad

1 large cantaloupe
3 Winesap apples
4 thin slices boiled ham or prosciutto
1 cup mashed seedless grapes
4 sprigs mint leaves
Salad greens

Peel and seed the cantaloupe, cutting it into 4 large circles. Place on a bed of crisped salad greens. Peel, core and dice the apples. Cut the ham into small squares. Combine grapes, ham and apples, filling the center of the melon slice with this mixture. Pour Poppy Seed Dressing generously over all, garnish each salad with a sprig of fresh mint. Serves 4.

Poppy Seed Dressing

½ cup mayonnaise
½ cup sour cream
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Salt and ground pepper to taste
1 teaspoon poppy seeds

Combine all ingredients, mixing well. (Note: This dressing may be tinted green for use with this and other fruit salads.)

Apple-Tuna Summer Mold

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup water
1 can cream of celery soup
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 7-ounce can tuna, drained and flaked
2 tablespoons chopped black olives
2 Winesap apples, cored, peeled and diced

Soften gelatin in ½ cup water; stir over boiling water until dissolved. Blend soup, mayonnaise, lemon juice; stir into gelatin. Chill until syrupy, then add remaining ingredients. Pour into 1-quart mold, chill until firm. Unmold on bed of crisped lettuce or salad greens. Serves 6.

Cereal Shreds Put Crunch in Custard

Next to ice cream, there probably is no one dessert which offers children so much eating enjoyment . . . nor greater nourishment . . . as a delicious and refreshing custard. You can increase this pleasure, however, through new and different variations of the basic custard recipe.

Here is one such recipe for Crunchy Custard which is sure to please your family. Made with wholesome corn soya shreds this recipe gives an unusual flavor and texture contrast to this favorite dessert.

Crunchy Custard

1 cup corn soya shreds
3 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
4 cups milk

Put corn soya in bottom of 8 greased 1 cup custard cups. Combine eggs, sugar, nutmeg and vanilla; add milk and mix thoroughly. Pour over corn soya. Place custard cups in pan of hot water. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) about 1 hour or until firm. Yield: 8 servings.

Mechanical, Live Horsepower, to Perform at GMC Picnic

Mechanical and live horsepower will share the limelight July 18 at the 23rd Annual GMC family picnic at Walled Lake amusement park.

★ ★ ★

A young equestrian troupe called the "Roman Riders" will show off the hooved horsepower and GMC Truck & Coach Division will set the mechanical pace by displaying a bevy of new trucks and coaches.

Included in the product exhibit will be GMC's new tilt-cab diesel highway tractor model DLR8000 and the ultra-modern 1959 GMC Suburban Coach.

Camping truck bodies built by Cree Trailer Manufacturing Co. also will be displayed in the Park Roller Skating Rink.

START AT 3 P. M.

The horseback riding exhibition by John F. Ivory's "Roman Riders" will start at 3 p. m.

Youths ranging from 9 to 23 years of age will demonstrate trick riding techniques, frequently standing on the backs of their mounts. A polo match will follow.

Some 30,000 GMC employes and their familes are expected at the day-long program.

GMC will take over the entire amusement park from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., offering free rides for children from noon to 4 p.m. and passing out some 30,000 ice cream sticks.

Athletic contests will run continuously from 10 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. in the park athletic field. Events include golf chipping, baseball and basketball throw and horseshoe pitching.

Casting demonstrations will be given by the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. Bait Casting Club from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m.

County Residents Asked to Restock Bloodbank

Hospitals and Red Cross authorities have joined voices in a plea for more contributions of "life-giving fluid."

"Pontiac residents are using Red Cross blood 12 times faster than it is being replaced," warns Dr. John Mara, medical director of Pontiac General Hospital.

Mara and other officials urge that more donors give blood at the Red Cross Bloodmobile scheduled for 2 to 8 p.m. July 13 at the Pontiac Elks Temple.

"Pontiac hospitals are using blood at a rate of 530 pints each month," said the medical director. "Our increasing blood needs are in great part dependent upon the American Red Cross Bloodmobile collections.

"We'd be lost without this source of blood. I'm sure Pontiac residents would not want to go back to the old system of purchasing blood."

The last Pontiacbloodmobile received the poorest turnout of donors in eight years. Only 25 pints were collected, according to Mrs. Mildred E. Bennett, executive director of the Oakland County Chapter of American Red Cross.

"Summer months are generally poor blood donor months," said Mrs. Bennett. "But our need for blood does not slack with the season. Our collections have been falling off and our usage has increased.

"The Red Cross is, of course, happy to supply blood to county residents. We ask only that this blood be replaced in order that it will be available for our families and friends who need it in the future."

FCC Influence Case Goes to Jury Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The conspiracy case of Richard A. Mack and Thurman A. Whiteside finally reaches the jury today in U.S. District Court.

The jury, which has been listening to testimony and arguments since April 7, is expected to begin its deliberations by mid-afternoon.

Mack, former member of the Federal Communications Commission, and Whiteside, wealthy Miami attorney, are charged with plotting to swing a four-way contest for a Miami TV Channel 10 permit in favor of Public Service Television, Inc. Whiteside loaned Mack money to influence his vote, the indictment says.

Dow to Build Center

MIDLAND (AP) — Dow Chemical Co. says it plans to begin construction here immediately of a new agricultural chemical research center. The building is scheduled to be completed late next summer. Dow said the building would consolidate agricultural chemicals research functions now dispersed among its various laboratories here.

Houston Truck Strike Halts Bread Deliveries

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Trucks which normally deliver 95 per cent of the bread consumed by the 1,135,000 people in the Houston area were idled today by a truck drivers strike.

Bread could be brought at the loading docks of the five bakeries affected by the walkout.

Drivers set up picket lines at each plant.

Bread produced during the strike will be baked by supervisory personnel, company spokesmen said.

Locals 940 and 949 of the Teamsters Union rejected an offer of a $10 per week wage increase and a three-year contract.

U.S. Plane's Toll May Rise

Airman Did All He Could to Avert Okinawa Tragedy

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—The pilot of a U.S. jet fighter that crashed into an Okinawan schoolhouse Tuesday did everything humanly possible to prevent his burning plane from falling into an inhabited area, the Air Force said today.

The crippled F100 Super Sabre jet crashed in flames in the little Okinawa city of Ishikawa, killing 16 persons, wounding 112 and making more than 200 homeless.

The pilot, Capt. John G. Schmitt Jr. of Chalmers, Ind., parachuted to safety. Brig. Gen. Dale O. Smith, commander of the 313th Air Division, said Schmitt could not have brought the plane under control even if he had remained with it.

With 19 of the injured in critical condition, there was a possibility that there would be more deaths.

It was one of the Air Force's worst air disasters in the Far East since World War II.

The Air Force said that 10 of the dead and 102 of the injured were pupils of the primary school the plane struck in its fiery fall. After hitting a corner of the school, the disintegrating plane leap-frogged over a 10-block residential area, setting fire to more than 30 houses.

There was a possibility that the accident would be exploited by leftist elements on the U.S.-administered island. Socialists in Japan already were suggesting that if the U.S. Air Force did not occupy the former Japanese possession, there would not be any casualties to mourn.

★ ★ ★

An Air Force claims office was set up in Ishikawa. Scores of injured or bereaved Okinawans lined up for cash payments of up to $30 paid by the Air Force as "sympathy money" in accordance with Oriental custom or to meet emergency needs.

Miami Hunts Rapist Who Thanks Victims

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A hooded rapist who thanked his victims after attacking them in the presence of their husbands is the object of an intensive police search.

Thomas J. Kelly, Metro safety director, said Tuesday night that the man, believed to be white, attacked three white women in seven weeks.

Kelly called the case fantastic.

In one case, the man held up a husband outside his home, ordered him back into the house and raped the 55-year-old wife.

In another, the hooded man stuck his head through a living room window while the family was watching television, ordered a 10-year-old girl to tie up her father with a fan cord, then raped the mother.

State Park Is Busy

Warwick in Good Shape Despite Lack of Rain

Pros Impressed With Condition of Long Course

Tee Length Will Vary Daily for Buick Open Starting Tomorrow

By BILL CORNWELL

Despite a shortage of rain, the touring professionals are quite favorably impressed with the playing condition of Warwick Hills Country Club, site of the $52,000 Buick Open golf tournament which gets under way Thursday morning.

Pontiac's Gene Bone, head pro at the 7,200-yard course, reports that the fairways and greens are in excellent shape for the four-day 72-hole event.

"Everybody I have talked to has commented favorably about the general playing condition of the course," said the 27-year-old host pro.

★ ★ ★

"There has been little or no rain here, yet we have managed to keep the fairways and greens in fine shape for a tourney of this stature. The only hard spots on the course are in the rough," Bone claimed.

A small amount of rain fell on the Warwick links yesterday morning, but not enough to do much good.

Waldo E. McNaught, tournament chairman, has announced that the course yardage will be varied daily in compliance with a suggestion made by National Open champ Billy Casper, who won the Buick tourney last year.

McNaught said that Joe Black, PGA field man, agreed to alter the length of the sprawling course from day to day. Changing tee positions each day will make for keener competition, tournament officials believe.

★ ★ ★

The length of the course for tomorrow's first 18-hole round will measure around 6,900 yards. On Friday the yardage will be stretched to 7,000, Saturday 7,100 and Sunday 7,280. Warwick's par is 36-36—72.

Extending the links daily from the minimum to the maximum as the medal play test progresses will separate the men from the boys in the pressure of the stretch run, tourney officials feel.

Bone goes off the tee tomorrow at 8:40 a.m. in the company of long-hitting George Bayer and Jim Ferree.

Ben Hogan is the only elite Amerian golfer missing from this star-studded field while Australia's Peter Thomson and Gary Player of South Africa are the only notable absentees from overseas.

A total of 151 players will compete in the Buick classic, including 13 amateurs. A score of 282 has been predicted as the winning total.

Royal Oak Fencer Loses Sword Title

LOS ANGELES, (AP) Richard Berry of Royal Oak, Mich., lost his national dueling sword title last night—the fourth title holder defeated in four major events of the U.S. National Fencing Championships.

Berry, 27, champion for two years, took fifth in a three-way tie decided by total points scored and received. The dueling sword (EPEE) title was decided in a fenceoff last night between Henry Kolowrat, 26, a Czech-born Yale law student, and Lt. James Margolis, 22, of the U.S. Navy. Kolowrat won the title, defeating Margolis 5-4.

Berry entered the semi-finals without a defeat.

Lary Beats 'Little Yanks'

Tiger Pitcher Hurls 5-Hitter Over A's, 4-0

Shutout Is Only Second of Season for Bengal Pitching Staff

DETROIT (AP) — Now Frank Lary has learned how to beat the Little Yankees."

The Detroit Tiger righthander pitched a five-hit shutout last night and beat the Kansas City Athletics 4-0.

It was only the sixth time in 16 decisions Lary has beaten the club they call the New York Yankee farm team, but he makes a habit of beating the Yankees themselves.

It was only the second shutout of the season for the Tiger staff, but it couldn't have come at a better time. Manager Jimmie Dykes has been worried over the work load on his staff, and about bullpen inefficiencies. But Lary's route-going performance gave the manager some breathing room before the heavy weekend schedule.

★ ★ ★

Facing the Tigers are six games in five days. After the Athletics leave town today, the pace-setting Cleveland Indians and the second-place Chicago White Sox come in for some action that could help break open the first division battle.

Righthander Paul Foytack was Dyke's choice to oppose the A's Ray Herbert in the windup of the three-game series today.

The Tigers had some help from the Athletics in taking last night's contest, witnessed by 17,948 at Briggs Stadium.

All Lary needed was Charlie Maxwell's 17th home run. It came in the first inning.

But the Athletics were guilty of errors in the second and third innings when the Tigers completed their scoring. Red Wilson reached base on a bunt single to lead off the second.

A's starter Rip Coleman walked Johnny Groth, then threw Rocky Bridges' sacrifice bunt into the left field bullpen. Both Wilson and Groth scored on the throw.

Murry Dickson, first of three Kansas City reliefers, walked Maxwell leading off the third. Third baseman Hal Smith threw low to first on Gus Zernial's grounder, and after Wilson bunted the runners along, Groth singled Maxwell home.

Vic Power's two-run, inside-the-park homer in the third and Rocky Colavito's 23rd home run in the sixth backed Cleveland's Cal McLish (9-3), who held the White Sox to four singles and didn't walk a man while winning his fourth straight. Chicago scored in the third with an unearned run on an error, sacrifice and Luis Aparicio's single. Nellie Fox followed with a single, but McLish then retired 14 in a row before Jim Landis singled for the Sox' final hit leading off the eighth.

★ ★ ★

Billy Pierce (8-9) was the loser. He's won only three of his last 10 decisions.

★ ★ ★

Faye Throneberry, who homered, and Harmon Killebrew had half of Washington's 10 hits and each drove in two runs, both getting RBI singles as the Nats scored four unearned runs in the second against loser Tom Brewer (5-5). Pete Ramos (8-7) made it four out of five against Boston this season with a six-hitter.

SAM IS SAD—Sad Sam Jones was the saddest man in the locker room yesterday even though he pitched the Giants to a 2-0 win over the LA Dodgers. Jones had a no-hitter until a scratch single in the 8th inning which he thought should have been scored an error. Here he talks to reporters on a microphone after the game.

Scratch Single Credited by Scorer

Sad Sam Misses No-Hitter

By The Associated Press

They call him Sad Sam Jones and he stood with head bowed, hands on his knees, when the "hit" signed flashed, snuffing out his bid for a second major league no-hitter with two out in the eighth.

An infield bouncer by Junior Gilliam, credited with a controversial single, was the only hit Los Angeles managed against the big right-hander last night as he pitched San Francisco to a 2-0 victory over the Dodgers with the help of Willie Mays' two-run homer.

★ ★ ★

It was the second "near-miss" at a no-hitter this season by Jones, now 9-8, who had to settle for the first one-hitter of his career while the Giants closed within a half-game of the National League lead.

★ ★ ★

Some of the 59,312 fans in the Los Angeles Coliseum booed the scorer's decision on the bouncing ball, which cleared Jones' head and rolled toward second base. Shortstop Andre Rodgers picked it up, then dropped it. The official scorer ruled that the fleet, switch-hitting Gilliam, getting an extra jump was batting left-handed, would have beaten it out anyway.

Jones' comment: "Can you imagine anyone calling that a hit? They don't want no-hitters thrown around here."

Cincinnati left nothing to the imagination while whipping first place Milwaukee 8-5 on three home runs. Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 4-3, and St. Louis beat Chicago's Cubs 4-1.

The Dodgers, third, 1½ games back with their second loss in a row after winning seven straight, put six men on base. Three times the runner was Gilliam who got both of Jones' walks. The other runners made it twice on a fielder's choice and once on an error.

Sad Sam retired 22 of the last 24 he faced, putting down 10 in a row before Gilliam walked in the sixth, then getting eight straight before the hit. Gilliam reached second in the eighth on a passed ball, but got no farther as Wally Moon fouled out. Jones got the side in order in the ninth, fanning Gil Hodges for his 10th strikeout and the final out.

Jones, 33, pitched his no-hitter against Pittsburgh when he was with the Cubs, May 12, 1955. Last May 13, he had Philadelphia no-hit until Willie Jones beat out an infield dribbler with two out in the seventh. He finished with a two-hitter.

Mays' winning shot, his 13th home run, followed a leadoff double by Jim Davenport in the third off loser Don Drysdale (8-6), who gave up nine of the Giants' 10 hits as they won their third in a row.

★ ★ ★

The Reds, who had lost three straight, came from behind against the Braves and loser Lew Burdette (11-7) when an error set up Gus Bell's three-run homer in the third. Vada Pinson nailed it with a two-run shot in the fourth, and Jerry Lynch added a solo homer in the seventh. Bob Purkey (7-9) was the winner with Orlando Pena's three-hit shutout relief over the last four innings. The Braves' runs came on homers by Ed Mathews, his 24th, and Joe Adcock.

★ ★ ★

A ninth-inning home run by Dick Groat ended a 3-3 tie for Pittsburgh against Robin Roberts (6-7). Reliever Roy Face got the final two outs for his seventh save, putting it away for Harvey Haddix (5-6).

Right-hander Larry Jackson (7-6) beat the Cubs with a four-hitter, allowing only a bunt hit over the last six innings. Dick Gray, who singled home the winning run in the second inning, Ken Boyer and Bill White each stole two bases as the Cards won their fourth a row. They're only a game behind fifth-place Chicago.

Memorial Race Saturday

Trials on Detroit River

DETROIT (UPI)—Fans lined the Detroit river today as the fastest boats in the world roared around a three-mile course in qualifying trials Saturday's Memorial race.

Many of the power-packed hydroplanes already qualified for the race made the required 90-mile-an-hour lap around the course look like a speed minimum set in the "model T" era.

Seattle's famed Miss Thriftway topped 110 m.p.h. to qualify and Maverick qualified at 117 m.p.h. Miss Bardahl easily won a spot with a 105 m.p.h did it with 116 m.p.h.

The qualifiers will race in three 15 mile heats beginning at noon Saturday.

Five Detroit-owned boats were still to qualify for the memorial race. Joe Schoenith's Gale V and new Gale IV were expected to run early in trials which started at 6 a.m.

Bill Cantrell in the five and Freddie Alter in the six, along with Chuck Thompson in his Miss Detroit, were expected to make the run in much less than the required two minutes.

Other Detroit entries trying to make the field were Jack Schafer's Such Crust III and Leo Macutza's Yeller Jacket.

Canada's Harmsworth hopeful Miss Supertest III was also expected to try to qualify today.

Welterweights on TV

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Rudell Stitch, with everything to lose, takes on Rudy Sawyer, with everything to gain, in a scheduled 10-round welterweight fight tonight.

Stitch was expected to weigh 147 and Sawyer 149 for the nationally televised (ABC) bout at 9 p.m. (EST).

Net Semifinals at Wimbledon

American Davis Cup Players Go Against Australians

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UPI)—The men's semifinals in the Wimbledon tennis championships today pitted American Davis Cuppers Alex Olmedo and Barry Mackay against Australian opponents in what was billed as a preview of this year's challenge round matches.

Olmedo, frequently referred to as "Peru's gift to American tennis," met eighth-seeded Roy Emerson. Mackay, the Dayton, Ohio, giant who upset second-seeded Neale Fraser in the quarter-finals, ran into another aussie southpaw in the person of red-haired Rod Laver.

Fraser, Emerson and Laver are expected to make up Australia's Davis Cup team which will meet the U.S. in the challenge round at Forest Hills, N.Y., next month — if the Aussies survive the preliminaries.

Olmedo, top-seeded for this latest Wimbledon show, was an odds-on choice to demolish Emerson and then become the first South American to win the famed challenge trophy in Friday's final.

4th Seeded Netter Is Beaten, 6-4, 6-3

CINCINNATI (AP)—John Newman, a 21-year-old towhead from San Antonio, defeated fourth-seeded Mike Green, former national junior champion from Miami Beach, Fla., 6-4, 6-3, Tuesday in the first major upset of the 60th Tri-State Tennis tournament.

All but one of the other seeded players in action won their matches.

The other favorite to fall in the second round was Alan Roberts, seeded No. 8 from Brooklyn, N.Y., who was beaten by Ray Sankowski of Hamtramck, Mich., 6-4, 6-2.

Yankees Get to Hoyt Wilhelm, 4-1

By The Associated Press

If you don't think Hoyt Wilhelm is having trouble these days, consider this: Even the New York Yankees can beat him now.

The knuckleballing right-hander considered the choice as the American League's starting pitcher in next Tuesday's All-Star Game at Pittsburgh, was the league's unbeaten ace after his first nine decisions. But he hasn't won since, losing his third in a row last night as the Yankees rapped third place Baltimore 4-1.

And if you don't think "rapped" is apt for a four-run scoring spurt, you have to be forgetting that the Yankees had managed only four earned runs off Wilhelm in 59 2-3 innings before last night. Fact is, this is the first time the Yankees have beaten Wilhelm in five decisions since he became an Oriole last year.

Before a three-run third inning last night, they hadn't scored in 23 frames against Wilhelm, who pitched a no-hitter over New York last September.

The victory left the Yankees in a fourth-place tie with the Detroit Tigers, who beat Kansas City 4-0, and four games behind Cleveland. The first place Indians gained a two-game lead by defeating Chicago's second place White Sox 3-1. Washington beat last place Boston 6-1.

The Yankees, playing without injured (back, ankle) Mickey Mantle, got their three in the third on a walk and four singles, capped by Yogi Berra's two-run hit.

Art Ditmar (7-5) was the winner with 4 1-3 innings of two-hit, shutout relief. Duke Maas started and gave up the Birds' other three hits, one Gene Woodling's 10th homer in the fourth inning.

Wilhelm (9-3) allowed eight of the Yankees' nine hits in his seven innings. Winless in his last four starts, he's been tagged for 14 earned runs in 27 2-3 innings over that span for a 4.50 earned run average. Before the slump his ERA was 1.00. Now it's 1.83, still tops in the AL.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: No rhythm in the swing.

DIAGNOSIS: Static start.

TREATMENT: Take advantage of the forward press.

The term "forward press" may seem a little technical to the average high-handicap player, but it's really quite simple. It's just a very slight overall movement right before you start the backswing.

The hands go forward about an inch. From this point you begin the backswing. The whole idea is to help you get a smooth start back. If you start the backswing abruptly and jerkily, the whole swing will be in that pattern.

To get the idea, think of pushing a stalled car. It helps to rock it backward just a bit and get it in motion before you make the big effort to push it forward.

That's the principle of the forward press in the golf swing.

Jewelers Win Game at Last

After Eight Failures, They Conquer Pirates in 'A' Baseball

Shaw's Jewelers finally broke into the winning column in the Class A City Baseball League. After eight straight failures, the Jewelers rose up to whip the Pirates, 4-2, yesterday at Wisner Field.

Veteran Herman Bishop pitched four-hit ball for the Jewelers, who iced the decision with a three-run outburst in the 6th inning off losing hurler Mel Alldredge. Two walks and singles by John Shanks and Terry Anderson featured the big uprising.

Shaw's tallied once in the 1st inning, but the Pirates bounced back with two runs in their half of the 1st to set the stage for the 6th frame. Bill Graham made two of Shaw's six hits while Richie Roy had two safeties for the Pirates.

In Class B activity yesterday at Jaycee Park, Pontiac Business Institute scored once in the bottom of the 7th stanza for a 5-4 victory over Don Nicholie.

Joe Gonzales' single, a balk by losing hurler Greg Meadows and an infield error delivered the unearned run that ended the ball game. Jim Conway was the winning pitcher for PBI, which was outhit by Nicholie, 8 to 5. Sid Gregory had three singles for the losers while Gonzales had two.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

The boys who shovel out the publicity notices for this week's second edition of the Buick Open golf tournament received a highly beneficial shot in the arm when stout William Casper Jr. won the National Open championship.

Nothing could possibly have given the $52,000 tourney more impetus or greater public appeal than Casper's U.S. Open victory. It was the perfect stimulus, the ideal drawing card to set the wheels in motion.

Billy's triumph was timely for two reasons. First, the 72-hole Buick event follows quite closely on the heels of the National Open. Secondly, it was Casper who won the inaugural Buick classic last year. Such convenience!

To illustrate how Casper gave tournament officials and sports writers alike a new publicity angle, a neighboring newspaper used this gimmick to headline his success at Mamaroneck:

"Buick Open Champ Wins Another."

All this in addition to the fact that Casper was the first "big name" professional golfer to play the two-year-old Warwick Hills course during a visit there in the spring of 1958.

Suffice it to say, things couldn't have worked out better for those who run the tourney. The medal play test begins its four-day stand at Warwick Hills tomorrow morning and the competition should be fierce.

Every glamorous name on the pro circuit will be there. Enough said.

PUBLINX NOTES

Twenty-year-old Gene Hunt, newly-crowned State Publinx champion, is a deadly serious competitor on the links who says little or nothing during a round. The Flint Junior College player is a keen student of the game, according to veteran golf observers in the Flint area.

Alan (Scotty) Thompson, who bowed to Hunt in the match play finals of the Rochester event, was a glazier in his native Scotland at Glasgow and currently practices the same trade for a glass company in Detroit. Only 5-foot-6 and 140 pounds, Thompson is long off the tees.

Hunt, who claimed "I had a lucky putter" after winning the Publinx title, will be trying his luck in the Buick Open. "I hope I play just half as well at Warwick as I did at Rochester," Hunt remarked.

SHORT PUTTS

A dozen boys will represent Oakland County in the Michigan Jaycee golf test July 20-22 at Lenawee Country Club in Adrian. The teenage hopefuls qualified for the state Jaycee tourney in competition sponsored by three area chapters.

Representing the Pontiac chapter will be Joe Anderson, Larry Beaupre and Bob Finley. Waterford will send Mike Wiegand, Jon Shaw, Don Stipcak, Don Cole and Jim Armistedt while Birmingham lists Chuck Coffin, Fred Ewald, Gary Mouw and Chuck West.

A field of 287 is entered in the annual Michigan Amateur golf tournament, scheduled July 8-12 at Port Huron's Black River CC.

Irish Amateur Makes Bid in British Open

Associated Press Sports Writer

BUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Irishman Joe Carr kissed his three iron today and said:

"This is my putter—it's the club that could make me the first amateur to win the British Open golf championship since Bobby Jones took it in 1930."

★ ★ ★

The 37-year-old lean and lanky long hitter from Dublin, veteran of seven Walker Cup matches against the United States, qualified for the British Open yesterday after smashing the record for the Gullane links with a 64. That was eight under par for the 6,491 yard layout, two better than the professional record and four better than the amateur record.

★ ★ ★

"That's as good a round as I ever played," Carr said. "I used my three iron to putt the whole time, and if it keeps clicking in the next few days like it did yesterday then perhaps I've got a chance of being in at the kill."

Carr was among yesterday's 19 qualifiers, including four Americans, for the 72-hole championship starting today over the 6,806 yard Muirfield links beside the Firth of Forth.

★ ★ ★

Americans qualifying were Willie Goggin, world senior champion from San Jose, Calif., who had a two-round total of 70-72—142, Bob Watson, Ardsley-on-Hudson, N.Y., 75-72—147, Bob Sweeny, Palm Beach, Fla., 73-74—147, and John Garrett, Houston, Tex., 74-73—147.

Watson, Garratt and Sweeny just scraped in. The qualifying score was 147—the lowest in the 99-year history of the British Open.

★ ★ ★

Gary Player, Bobby Locke, Harold Henning, and Brian Wilkes, all of South Africa, also qualified.

Defending champion Peter Thomson of Australia led the qualifiers with 137 after tying the 11-year-old record of Muirfield with a 66.

Pitching, Hitting Shine in Softball

Two shutouts, one of the abbreviated variety, and four home runs took the spotlight in Tuesday night's City League softball activity at Beaudette and Northside parks.

Roger Voorheis twirled a neat two-hitter as Harrison's Grill whitewashed Arro Realty, 4-0. Ron Geiger belted a solo homer in the 7th for the winners.

Lloyd Harper of Blue Star hurled a one-hitter in a game called after five innings by the 10-run rule as the Buttercup squad absorbed a 10-0 blanking. Harper aided his own cause with a two-run homer and Del Wheeler blasted a solo round-tripper, both in the 3rd frame.

Jack Avery clouted a home run and his Moose teammates made nine additional hits while defeating Huron Bowl, 8-4. Big Bear Construction collected nine hits during an 8-2 conquest of Wright's Upholstery.

Relief Hurler Elroy Face Is Among Chosen

Braves' Manager Also Selects Stan Musial for 16th Appearance

CINCINNATI (AP) — Little Elroy Face, Pittsburgh's unbeaten relief ace, and tall Gene Conley, swapped by Milwaukee last spring to Philadelphia, were among the seven pitchers named by Manager Fred Haney to his National League All-Star squad.

The veteran Milwaukee pilot Tuesday selected 17 players to go along with the eight starters picked by the players themselves for the 26th annual All-Star game iin Pittsburgh, July 7. The lone surprise was Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Although Stan was named on only three players' ballots, Haney saw to it that this National League great was on the squad for the 16th straight time. Musial's batting average is .262 with seven homers and 29 runs batted in.

Other pitchers chosen by Haney included San Francisco's Johnny Antonelli (11-4), Milwaukee's Warren Spahn (10-8) and St. Louis' Wilmer Mizell (9-4), all south paws; and Milwaukee's Lew Burdette (11-6) and Los Angeles' Don Drysdale (8-5), right - handers. Face is (12-0) and Conley (5-4. The aggregate won-lost record, through games of Monday, June 29, was 66-30.

With one exception, Haney's "second team" choices followed the vote of the players. He named St. Louis' Bill White and Joe Cunningham and Cincinnati's Vada Pinson as his alternate outfielders, and Cincinnati's Frank Robinson, Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski and Dick Groat, and St. Louis' Ken Boyer as his alternate infielders. Groat replaced shortstop Roy McMillan of Cincinnati, who is out of action with an injured hand.

Haney selected two catchers — Smoky Burgess of Pittsburgh, and Hal Smith of St. Louis—to support Milwaukee's Del Crandall behind the plate. In addition to Crandall, the first team consists of Orlando Cepeda, Giants, first base; Johnny Temple, Reds, second base; Ernie Banks, Cubs, shortstop, Eddie Mathews, Braves, third base; Willie Mays, Giants, center field; Henry Aaron, Braves, right field and Wally Moon, Dodgers, left field.

Sally Sharp in 2nd Place

After a dismal beginning, Miss Sally Sharp of Forest Lake has started to move up the ladder in defense of her Women's District Golf Association 54-hole medal play championship.

Making her first tournament appearance of the year following her graduation from Michigan State, the prospective Livonia elementary school teacher advanced to 2nd place at Detroit Golf Club yesterday.

Sally is still three strokes behind the leaders, but her score of 76 yesterday made her much happier than the first round 85 she carded Monday.

Leading the field as the tourney enters its final day are Mrs. Keith (Susie) LeClair of Ann Arbor, the opening round leader, and Mrs. John Hume Jr., who won many titles a few years back as Marjorie Row.

Mrs. Hume caught Mrs. LeClair yesterday over DGC's north course with a 76 to go with her Monday round of 82 for a 36-hole total of 158. Mrs. LeClair's two-day scorecard reads 81-77—158.

Then, at 161, comes Miss Sharp, winner of the women's triple golfing crown last year, followed by Mrs. H. G. Marquardt with 164 on rounds of 83 and 81.

Leading scores:

Mrs. Keith LeClair	81-77—158
Mrs. John Hume Jr.	82-76—158
Miss Sally Sharp	85-76—161
Mrs. H. G. Marquardt	83-81—164

Pontiac Angler Gets Big Muskie on Light Tackle

Wallace (Wally) Kidwell, 4146 Meigs, Drayton Plains, experienced his biggest fishing thrill recently when he landed a 42-inch, 16-pound muskie. It was his biggest fish. But that wasn't the whole story.

Wally, fishing with his neighbor, Chester (Chic) Yekin, took the big fish, his first try at this kind of angling, on a spin rig. His line was 6-pound test and a crawler harness was the lure. This is a normal pickerel rig.

After a better-than-half-hour battle, the fish came alongside the pair's boat. They didn't have a gaff!

A nearby fisherman, Ted Novac, hustled over and loaned his gaff.

At the official weigh-station, Wally was told his catch was the "trophy of the day."

State Seeks to Cut Boating, Swimming Fatalities

Water Safety Is a Vital Problem

LANSING (AP)—How do you impress two million boaters and uncounted millions of swimmers with the danger that lurks in Michigan's water wonderland?

State officials, and many others in private and public life, are increasingly concerned with that question.

That's the reason Gov. Williams issued a proclamation setting aside this week as water safety and safe boating week in Michigan.

It's part of a growing campaign to reverse a steady increase in drownings as more and more people in a growing population find the time and the money to invest in a boat or take up swimming.

Michigan, with its fabulous layout of 11,037 inland lakes, 36,000 miles of streams and 3,121 miles of Great Lakes shoreline, is at the same time a water paradise and a water graveyard for scores of drowning victims every year. Unofficial statistics place it among the leading states in drownings per 1,000 population.

The reasons are obvious. Michigan ranks second behind New York in the number of motorboats in use—about 407,000. Its tourist industry is the fourth biggest in the country. Most visitors come in the summer and a big share go for a swim or two during their stay.

Two years ago the governor appointed a commission to study it and make recommendations for doing something about it.

Last year, partly through the commission's efforts, the Legislature enacted a law requiring owners of most boats on inland waters to register their craft with the state and carry registration numbers three inches high. Money from registration fees helps pay special sheriffs to enforce new boating laws and clear the lakes of "water cowboys."

★ ★ ★

Another law compelled boat operators involved in death or injury accidents to report details to a law enforcement officer. The same goes for accidents in which damage totals more than $50.

This year, legislators are considering bills to broaden both laws.

Biggest Bigmouth Loses Contest to Bigger 'Smallie'

STURGIS (UPI) — The largest smallmouth bass was larger than the largest largemouth bass entered in one of three bass fishing contests here.

In one contest, the largest largemouth — a three-pounder — was landed by Bill Dobberteen of Sturgis. But a 3-pound-9-ounce smallmouth, hooked by D. E. Hoyt of Sturgis, was the largest smallmouth in the contest and was the largest fish entered in the contest.

Hoyt's smallmouth, as a matter of fact, swept honors as the largest smallmouth entered in all three fishing contests sponsored by Sturgis merchants.

You're the Skipper

By JOHN BOHANNAN
Syndicated Boating Writer

Boat cabin interiors have evolved from the experiences of thousands of skippers over many years, and they have become quite standardized, especially in the small sizes. Here's the reason. With very little space at one's disposal, there's just about one way to take advantage of every square inch of room.

The simplest form is a small shelter forward for stowage of gear and to provide a place to get in out of the weather when a sudden squall blows up. And it keeps a lot of spray out of the boat when the water gets choppy.

A small trunk cabin or raised deck cabin can be used for overnight sleeping with the addition of one or two air mattresses.

The next step larger in size offers a cabin with two fixed bunks, and a further refinement is obtained by placing a head (marine toilet) under one bunk to be reached by removing a cushion and hinged cover.

Add more length to the cabin and you have room for a small galley on one side aft and a folding wash basin which empties into a head on the other side.

This puts the bunks farther forward, and you'll need a hatch in the deck for better ventilation, for greater convenience in handling bow lines, and to provide a means of escape.

As our boat continues to grow in size, we can add a couple of lockers — one for hanging clothes.

Another boost in size can double our accommodations by providing two more bunks forward.

Now if our skipper's bankroll permits, he can go to still larger craft in which the after end of the cabin is raised to offer more comforts. In a sailing boat, this takes the form of a "doghouse," a handy spot for dining, and perhaps a bunk for an off-watch crewman.

In power, the elevation becomes the familiar deckhouse with sliding windows, screens and excellent ventilation for southern use. The deckhouse can hold a dinette convertible to a double bunk and still have room for a helmsman's seat, lounging chairs, a galley or other items.

Questions and Answers

Is a hanging locker the best place for keeping shore clothes looking nice?

For short passages it's handy. But for a long voyage there's too much friction on the fabric when clothes rub together with motion of the boat. Trousers should be rolled, starting from the top, keeping them free of wrinkles and lashing them to form a smooth, cylindrical shape. The same trick will keep a coat looking well. Fold the coat back on itself, arranging the sleeves so they roll smoothly with the coat. Lash each rolled garment with a small piece of clean line.

TOP COMFORT — The deckhouse of a large cruiser offers top comfort, with galley (left) handy for serving meals in the cockpit, or at the dinette, (right). Dinette converts into a double berth.

New Boom on Way? It's Possible!

(Editor's Note: Seldom have more people been more confident that the American economy is climbing to a new peak of prosperity. The following, second of two articles on the midyear outlook, analyzes the probabilities and uncertainties ahead.)

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Still better times acoming? Most Americans think so.

★ ★ ★

The second half of the year holds the promise of being better than the first. Both comsumers and businessmen know that the first half was a sleeper. They'd been promised improvement over 1958. But what they got was surprisingly better than that.

Now they're being promised a measure of prosperity in the months just ahead that once was thought a year or more away.

It adds up to more jobs, fewer jobless, bigger incomes from wages and investments. It also seems likely to add up to slightly higher prices, a bigger load of personal debts, still tighter money, and more taxes at the state and local levels.

★ ★ ★

The outlook is a bit more clouded for housing, stock prices, the status of the dollar in world eyes, and the acceptance of Detroit's new cars.

The immediate question is how much, if any, of a summer lull? And what part will the steel industry play in it?

If there's a steel strike, several hundred thousand workers in that and allied industries will be out of work. How long steel users can live off stocks they've built up is the subject of much guessing.

If there isn't a strike, how long these users will live off their strike-insurance stocks before reordering is also uncertain.

Some industrits — notably textiles—expect to do so well this summer that they plan to hold vacation periods to a mininum.

A slow but steady rise in wage scales is widely expected during the rest of the year. Further shrinking in unemployment is looked for by most.

★ ★ ★

Most items in the cost of living have crept higher during the first half of the year and seem likely to go right on that way, perhaps at a faster pace. The moderating item has been the important one of food, but the summer is expected to see a seasonal rise in food prices.

Farmers saw their prices shrink during the first half of the year but expect total farm income to be fairly stable the rest of the year.

Home construction may slacken a bit. Builders fear the tightness of money and credit may make mortgage financing harder from now on.

Installment buying costs probably will rise further. And smaller, marginal businesses may feel the money pinch more.

★ ★ ★

But savers and investors expect higher returns. This, and more importantly higher wages and more employment, should push personal income totals still higher in the fall.

Consumer buying of durable goods is expected to continue at its stepped-up pace.

The big question mark here is consumer acceptance of the new auto models in the fall. Especialy at stake is the fate of the new compact cars—whether they'll sell well, and if so, whether they'll cut into the market for foreign cars or for the established larger American ones.

★ ★ ★

Some predict the rest of the year will see a gain in tota consumer buying of durables on a scale unknown since 1955. And they look for a pickup in business spending, too.

If so, we won't just be having good times, we'll be in another boom.

Pope John Has Received Heads of Eight Nations

VATICAN CITY (AP)— Since becoming pontiff last October, Pope John XXIII has received the heads of eight nations.

They are French President Charles de Gaulle, who called last Saturday; Shah Reza Pahlevi, Iran; President Giovanni Gronchi, Italy; President Sukarno, Indonesia; the Captains Regent; San Marino; King Paul, Greece; President Celal Bayar, Turkey; Prince Rainier III and Princess Grace, Monaco.

U.S. Business Upturn Good for Mexico, Too

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico got more money from tourists and from farmhands working in the United States in the first two months this year than in the same period of 1958.

The Statistics Bureau says tourists left 98 million dollars compared with 88 million in 1958 and the farm workers sent home $3,800,000, compared with $3,100,000 last year.

African Firm Bought

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—African Film Productions, South Africa's biggest movie company, has been bought by 20th Century Fox, the two companies announced today. The company will be renamed South African Screen Productions.

Stocks Push Up Slightly

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market pushed a bit higher in early trading today but encountered resistance.

Gains of leading stocks were mainly fractional, some going to a point or so. There were scattered losers.

For the past two days the industrials have been trying to make new highs but have always fallen below their peaks by the close. Brokers said the market was encountering stock for sale as the list came within range of the May highs.

The three-day July 4 weekend also made traders reluctant to extend commitments.

Police Shooting Inquest Slated

Death of Berserk Man by Detective's Bullet to Be Probed July 9

Inquest into the shooting of Manuel Gomez, a Mexican citizen killed by a Pontiac police detective, will be held July 9 at 1:30 p.m. in the Oakland County Courthouse.

Dr. John D. Monroe, county health director, said he was working with the Prosecutor's Office in drafting a list of witnesses, in addition to impaneling a jury of six for the inquest.

The Mexican Ministry of Foreign Relations requested the inquest after Gomez, a 53-year-old manual laborer of 38 W. Wilson Ave., was fatally shot June 22 by Detective August R. Martinez after police were called to Gomez' apartment by neighbors. They said Gomez was apparently berserk.

Dr. Monroe, whose responsibility it is to conduct the inquest, said it will be the jury's duty to find whether the shooting was in the line of duty, and to establish the cause of death.

Martinez shot Gomez through the heart after the Mexican refused to heed his pleas in Spanish to stop swinging a 14-inch butcher knife.

MEXICANS AROUSED

Alberto Becerra, Mexican consul in Detroit, said the inquest was asked for because there were many "questionable aspects" in the shooting. He said Mexico newspapers were branding Pontiac police as "murderers" and that the Mexican community in Pontiac was up in arms over the case.

"What the inquest will show is whether there was any negligence, foul play, or whether this was done strictly in the line of duty," Dr. Monroe said.

He emphasized that the inquest "doesn't preclude any further court action."

He said the jurors will be selected by leafing through a telephone book. The doctor said some "will and should" be Mexicans.

Unlike a regular court trial, jurors will be able to ask questions of the witnesses, for it will be the jury which will render the decision.

Grains Draw Firm Prices

CHICAGO (AP) — The bread grains were in moderate demand at firm prices today during the first several minutes of transactions on the Board of Trade but other grains and soybeans were steady to weak.

Wheat ran up advances of as much as a major fraction within a few minutes despite a rather heavy volume of hedge selling. Some of the buying was establishment of long speculative positions and on flour mill accounts.

Corn slipped major fractions on distant contracts.

JUDGE HUGHES TAKES OATH—This morning in a courtroom in the Oakland County Courthouse new Circuit Judge Theodore F. Hughes (left), of Berkley, was sworn in by County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. Hughes was elected to be the county's fifth circuit judge from today through Dec. 31.

Gives County Court New Look

Hughes Begins His Short Term

Oakland County's Circuit Court had a new look today as Judge Theodore F. Hughes began his work as the county's fifth jurist.

After a brief swearing in ceremony in the courtroom of Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty, Judge Hughes, 51-year-old Berkley attorney and former Republican state representative went downstairs to his spanking new courtroom to launch into his first cases.

Judge Hughes' time on the bench will be unusally short. He was elected in April for only a six-months term which will officially come to an end at the stroke of midnight next New Year's Eve.

The newest judge lost out in his bid to continue on the bench for a regular term of six years when he wasn't nominated to one of these terms in the non-partisan primary.

This morning, as fellow Circuit Judges H. Russel Holland, Clark J. Adams, Doty and William J. Beer sat together, William B. Hartman, president of the Oakland County Bar Assn., helped drape the black robe of a jurist over Hughes' shoulders.

★ ★ ★

Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. stepped forward and administered the oath of office. Judge Hughes answered with a firm and loud "I do." Officially installed, Hughes then slipped into his robe and was escorted to the bench by Murphy to sit alongside the other four judges.

This was a historical occasion in Oakland County as lawmakers for several years have fought to add a fifth judge to lessen the load of the other four — considered to be the heaviest per judge in the state.

Judge Beer, who said he first met Hughes on the football field and later served with him in the Navy, outlined to him the "Anatomy of a Judge," with a play on the popular book by Supreme Court Justice John D. Voelker.

Caught short because he said he left his prepared speech at home, Judge Hughes said he would be "forever appreciative of the opportunity you people have given me to serve the people of Oakland County."

Baldwin Rubber Up, Hits 20-Year High

The stock price of Baldwin Rubber Co., 366 E. South Blvd., rose today to its highest point in 20 years.

After previously being listed at around 20 for some time, it rose to 25 bid and 26½ asked today.

Milo McClintock, president and general manager of the firm, said he attributed the climb to the fact that the annual dividend of $1.00 with a 25 cent extra was high for a stock selling at 20, and the new price was more realistic.

The dividend was declared last Thursday.

GM Researchers Create New Unit

A new polymers department has been established in the General Motors Corporation research laboratories to be headed by Dr. Philip Weiss, 1338 Southfield Rd., Birmingham.

Formerly part of the electrochemistry and polymers department, the new organization will continue specializing in the field of high polymers — rubbers, plastics, adhesives and special coatings.

Weiss joined the General Motors Research Laboratories in 1957.

Commission Won't Fight State Sewage Order

City commissioners last night agreed to a "let nature take it's course" attitude in the face of prospects that the city will be ordered by the State Water Resources Commission to build more sewage treatment facilities to curb Clinton River pollution.

City Manager Walter K. Willman recommended that position for the state board hearing July 30 at which it will be decided whether to issue the order.

Willman said he would attend the hearing as Pontiac's representative.

Commissioners showed no apparent interest in scheduling another public election to win approval of the city's $3,300,000 plan for more facilities.

General obligation bond issues to build a new plant and add to the old one have been turned down by Pontiac voters three times in three years.

★ ★ ★

"We should appear before the state board and explain what we have tried to accomplish and how we failed," said Willman. "Then it will be up to the state to decide what to do."

Willman explained that without voter approval of general obligation bond financing the city will inevitably default on the state's order to build more facilities.

"Once we default, the state will then seek a court order by which the city can issue general obligation bonds without public approval," he explained to the Commission.

CONSIDERING ORDER

At present, the state is considering an order which the city would be able to keep pace with until one year from today. It is possible, though, that the time-table could be speeded up so that a court order would come sooner, if one is necessary.

Commissioners expressed little surprise that the state has threatened to intervene in Pontiac's sewage treatment problem.

Commissioner John A. Dugan said that the 70-member Civic Improvement Advisory Committee should be called. This committee was set up recently to consider the need for more sewage treatment facilities here.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry believed it advisable for the state to take action against Waterford Township, too. Henry has led a campaign against alleged township pollution of Crystal Lake.

Commissioner Wesley J. Wood voiced a new type of complaint. He said residents in District 6 were angry about mosquitoes breeding in the sewage-infested waters of the Clinton below the existing sewage treatment plant.

★ ★ ★

The Water Resources Commission said Pontiac pollution constitutes a public nuisance and a health menace. It said fish and plant life is being destroyed because the present plant inadequately treats sewage and industrial waste.

Last month, a State Health Department official described Pontiac's pollution problem as "the worst in the state."

Detroiter Charged in Reckless Boating

WALLED LAKE—A Detroit man was charged yesterday with reckless operation of a motorboat in a warrant signed by Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Edward H. Shigley.

Gerald McQuade, 25, will be arraigned here Saturday before Justice of the Peace Herman A. Roth.

Walled Lake Police reported that seven people complained Sunday about McQuade's boat, which allegedly was hazarding bathers in Walled Lake.

The craft, which also held three minors, all of Detroit, reportedly washed Dianne Pratt, daughter of police officer Leland Pratt, off a raft. She was not injured.

According to Walled Lake Police Chief James A. Decker, the four also were throwing beer bottles into the lake and driving between and among swimmers.

Haggis is a Scottish dish of ground lamb and oatmeal, and is almost always eaten at Scottish societies and Robert Burns clubs meetings.

Step Up Pace for Steel Talks

Double Sessions Seek to Draft Contract Before July 14 Strike Date

NEW YORK (AP)—The pace of contract negotiations in the steel industry accelerates today.

Four-man teams representing the 12 largest steel companies and the United Steelworkers of America plan both morning and afternoon sessions daily.

Industry representatives met Tuesday to discuss specific proposals for contract language to be submitted to the union.

★ ★ ★

Company officials said they planned no change in their position that the new contract should not involve any increase in total employment costs. The union has been demanding a substantial wage increase and other benefits. Wages now average $3.10 an hour.

The old three-year contracts in the industry—which had been due to expire Tuesday midnight—were extended until July 14 after President Eisenhower intervened in the dispute last Saturday.

To Probe 'Little Man's' Activities

Rackets Committee Opens Chicago Teamsters Study

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Rackets Committee opens a case study today of how small-sized Joey Glimco stays on as a big wheel in the Teamsters Union in Chicago.

Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said one aspect of the inquiry would involve "retaliation against those who have opposed Glimco."

He said four or five witnesses who might have first-hand knowledge of this would be called to testify along with Glimco and Teamster Vice President John T. (Sandy) O'Brien of Chicago.

Glimco was pictured earlier this year as a power in both the union and management sides of the Chicago juke box business as well as buddy of underworld bigshots and of Teamster President James R. Hoffa.

These associations, the committee concluded, represented Glimco's principal qualifications as a labor leader. At any rate, Glimco, as a Fifth Amendment witness, he did not offter any others.

Also coming in for a return appearance today was Raymond Cohen, a Philadelphia Teamster who will be asked if he used illness as an excuse to avoid testifying last week and then went fishing.

The committee pushed on to these and other new matters after spending all day yesterday tracing an involved attempt by a Cleveland group to dispose of some surplus Air Force cargo planes they had purchased.

Louis (Babe) Triscaro, a gravel-voiced Ohio Teamster official, refused to answer questions about his role in the negotiations to obtain a $300,000 union loan for the plane owners when they were hard pressed to pay off bank mortgages.

The testimony indicated Triscaro persuaded Hoffa to intervene in their behalf. But the loan application was rejected about two weeks ago after committee investigations began looking into the matter.

Triscaro, a chunky, sun-tanned man, stared coldly at the committee as Kennedy reported that the Cleveland Teamster official had spent most of this year vacationing in Florida at union expense. The hotel bills alone have come to $3,879 so far, the committee was told.

Triscaro declined on grounds of possible self-incrimination to talk about this.

Electrical Workers Strike Indiana Power Company

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers struck the Public Service Co. of Indiana, biggest electrical utility in the state, at Tuesday midnight.

The company assured the 700 communities it serves in the southern two-thirds of Indiana that there will be no disruption of power. Its 360,000 customers include many large industries.

The utility manned its huge network with supervisory workers. workers. The union promised peaceful picketing at the facilities located in 69 of the state's 92 counties.

There are approximately 460,000 professional nurses practicing in the U. S. today, an increase of 30,000 since 1956 and of 58,000 since 1954.

Walkouts Idle Ore Ships

USW Orders Strike Halt

NEW YORK (AP)—The United Steelworkers Union today ordered an immediate end to scattered wildcat strikes which erupted Tuesday night and today, idling more than 20,000 of the industry's half-million workers.

The walkouts had been staged against the wishes of President Eisenhower and, for the most part, orders of top union officials.

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Crewmen on 137 Great Lakes iron ore carriers began leaving their ships today under a strike call from Local 5000 of the United Steelworkers Union.

Negotiators for the 3,700 unlicensed seamen involved said they turned down any extension of contract past the expiration date of Tuesday midnight. In New York City last week, contracts for the basic steel industry were extended two weeks to July 14.

"Crews are leaving their ships on schedule," a spokesman said at USW Local 5000 headquarters here.

U.S. Steel Corp., which operates the largest ore-carrying fleet, reported seven ships are laid up. Within three days all of the firm's 53 ships will be idle, if the strike continues, the company said.

Seamen began walking off the ore boats in the Chicago area early today.

Pittsburgh Steamship Co., the U.S. Steel division which operates the ore carriers, said the first seven vessels tied up were at South Chicago, Gary, Duluth, Two Harbors, Minn., and Lorain, Ohio.

In addition to U.S. Steel, which employs more than half of the 3,700 strikers, 11 other ore shipping companies are affected by the strike.

There are, however, a number of other large ore shippers whose vessels are manned by personnel belonging to other unions or no union.

NO IMMEDIATE EFFECT

The strike is likely to have little or no effect on steel mills this summer, because it halts only a part of the iron ore shipments and because stockpiles already accumulated at docks and furnaces amount to more than a three-month supply.

Job a Real 'Grasser'

LONDON (UPI)—Member of Parliament Reg Moss said yesterday he will take up with the air minister the complaint of a constituent in the Royal Air Force. A cadet pilot wrote Moss that the RAF is wasting his engineering and physics degrees. He's been assigned, he said, to examine the grass and pull any extra-long blades out of lawns.

Warren Calls Biographer Liar

Takes Angry Exception to Passage in Book on Vice President Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Chief Justice Earl Warren recently denounced to his face as a "damned liar" the author of a biography of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The incident occurred when Warren and Earl Mazo, author of the book, "Richard Nixon: A Political and Personal Portrait," were introduced at a private Washington party last Sunday.

The fuss first was publicized by another guest, Clark Mollenhoff of the Des Moines Register and Tribune. It was confirmed by Mazo, a Washington correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune. Warren declined comment.

According to Mollenhoff, Warren took "angry exception" to a passage he interpreted as indicating that Warren opposed Nixon's successful 1950 bid for the Senate in California. Warren was the big power in California politics at the time.

★ ★ ★

Mollenhoff said Warren took the position the book was an attempt to help build up Nixon for the 1960 presidential race.

"You are a damned liar," he quoted Warren as telling Mazo. "It's a dishonest account to promote Nixon . . . I don't care what you write about Nixon as long as you don't try to build him over my body."

Those present said there was quite a fuss for about 20 minutes. Finally, they said, things calmed down after Warren said he had not read the book, but based his criticism on reviews and excerpts printed in a magazine. They said Warren and Mazo left the party as good friends.

Israel Solons OKs Arms Sale

Ben-Gurion Policy on Shipments to Germany Backed 57-45

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — Parliament today approved Israeli arms sales to West Germany despite opposition of two parties inside the government coalition.

Fifty-seven deputies approved a motion by Premier David Ben-Gurion against cancellation of the contract. Forty-five voted against, with six abstentions.

Despite Parliament's approval of his course in selling arms to an old enemy, Ben-Gurion is expected to resign and clear the way for his formation of a new Cabinet with the two parties excluded.

The two parties that fought the arms deal refused to live up to a 1957 pledge to support all Cabinet decisions or quit the four-party coalition cabinet.

21 Virginia Schools Closed Indefinitely

FARMVILLE, Va. (UPI) — The 21 public schools of rural Prince Edward County closed officially today in the most drastic move taken by a southern locality to avoid the effects of an integration decree.

The schools in effect closed indefinitely when the school term ended early in June but the closure became formal today when the county began operating under its new budget.

The school closures end public education for more than 1,600 Negro students and 1,300 whites in the "southside" Virginia County, a defendant in the Supreme Court's historic 1954 desegregation ruling. The action puts 70 white and 70 Negro teachers out of work.

The County Board of Supervisors voted a month ago to close the schools in defiance of an integration order handed down by the Fourth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which canceled a seven-year integration delay granted by Federal Judge Sterling Hutcheson of Richmond.

Station Offers Free Funerals to July 4 Victims

ST. JOSEPH (UPI) — Radio station WSJM of St. Joseph has offered to pay the funeral expenses of anyone who thinks they'll be killed in a traffic accident during the Fourth of July weekend.

But in order to collect, persons who think they will be killed during the holiday weekend must register at the station before the Fourth.

The station made the offer as part of a holiday safety promotion. So far, no one has registered.

"Apparently no one expects to be killed," news director Dave McGhee said. "They just think the other fellow will get it."

The offer was made only to persons who think they'll lose their life in traffic accidents. Persons who believe they may drown are not eligible.

THE HARD WAY — Little Margaret Baer, 2, of Cleveland, Ohio, got a haircut — the dangerous way. Her curls got caught in mother's electric mixer. The power cord was pulled before severe injury. But the beater had to be cut out — along with the hair — at the hospital.

Traffic Safety Remedy Lies in Education, Politics

(This article deals with the four-point program of the Traffic Safety Committee of the Michigan Press Association and what various state agencies are doing to reduce the toll of injuries and fatalities on Michigan highways and streets.)

By AL HAUGNER
Editorial Writer
Port Huron Times Herald

Michigan has more than 100,000 miles of streets, federal, state, interstate and county highways.

Every crossing, every driveway, every entrance and exit to a roadside business; every pedestrian crossing, every street intersection adds millions of friction points in our road network.

Inadequate maintenance of road surface and shoulders add other hundreds of thousands of individual hazards.

The wonder is that with this great accident potential the rate of accidents, fatal and otherwise, is not greater.

Something is being done about it, constantly, and it is costing billions of dollars. Receiving particular attention are hazards on roads designed for traffic of a bygone day.

Close to four million residents of Michigan now are licensed to drive some three million vehicles. The number of drivers and vehicles is growing with an expanding population now estimated at 7.8 million.

Currently, the State of Michigan is engaged in its largest road building program in history, with the assistance of the 40 billion dollar federal highway program approved in 1956.

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said recently the road building program will hit a peak of about $310 million in the coming fiscal year, the largest expenditure of any state.

A threat to the continuance of the program in Michigan is seen by Commissioner Mackie after the fiscal year 1961-1962. The program will call for spending 245 millions in fiscal 1961-1962. But after that, the program will be cut back nearly 50 per cent, Mackie said, unless new sources of revenue are found.

FOR OAKLAND

Because Oakland County is expanding into a highly-developed urban area, nearly 100 millions are earmarked for trunkline construction in that county through 1961.

Mackie also said that between June 1960 and June 1961, more than fifty miles of new expressways will be under contract at a cost of $90 million. That is nearly one-third of the state's total expenditures for new construction during that period.

This will include the extension of the Walter P. Chrysler expressway, the conversion of Northwestern highway into an expressway, and an expressway along 11½ Mile road, connecting Northwestern with the Brighton-Farmington expressway.

This work is in addition to the millions being spent elsewhere in the state in a five-year program.

Gordon H. Sheehe, director of the MSU Highway Traffic Safety Center, points out that while engineering improvements can make many present high accident locations safer, they are far from the total answer. Collisions still occur at intersections where the best present-day engineering know-how has been applied.

★ ★ ★

Limited-access and divided highways can lessen the chances of collision, so can elimination of obstructions to view at intersections, more street lighting, better maintenance, and improved traffic control devices.

Congestion and parking problems in cities make still more problems.

These are shortcomings that cannot be blamed on the driver or pedestrian.

GREAT EXPENSE

It is true, of course, that economics play a big part in this deficiency. Great expense is connected with off-street parking facilities and street and highway construction.

But more efficient use of existing streets and highways can do much to decrease congestion. The use of one-way streets, elimination of curb parking, at rush hours at least; elimination of turns, establishment of by-passes and through streets, lane markings, special routes for truck traffic and proper timing and synchronizing signal systems.

It is immediately obvious that this correction of all causes of unsafe and inefficient traffic movement is a huge task of both public administration and human relations. Here is a case where the solution lies in education, politics and economics just as the improvement of the driver requires education, enforcement, and license control.

It is true unfortunately that the change to improvements which will end congestion in cities is not effected because many officials are not aware of what can be done. They have no training in traffic flow planning and operations. Many cities do not employ a trained traffic engineer.

In other cities, attempts to effect changes for better traffic movement are blocked, often fought, by a single individual, in other places by a group. The motive usually is shortsighted, selfish fear of a loss of business to a certain area.

Others fight it solely because they are ignorant of the benefits to be derived from change.

In short, the correction of causes of unsafe and inefficient traffic movement is a huge task of public administration.

Talk's All About Cars With These Celebrities

NEW YORK—We were talking about cars . . . Comedian Alan King mentioned that he's ordered a Rolls-Royce built for him for fall delivery. "It's my mink coat, my diamond ring," he smiled at his wife, who said, "But how is it going to look when I drive it down to the supermarket?" . . .

Movie star Ann Miller reported that her husband, Bill Moss, a Texan, has bought her both a Cadillac and a Thunderbird—and she can't even drive . . . And that brought up the remark of comedian Charlie Manna who claimed his wife, a student motorist, growled while behind the wheel, "Who is that ignoramus in front of me who is driving so close to me?"

Otto Preminger denied that he's feuding with Samuel Goldwyn (for whom he directed "Porgy"). Said Preminger: "How can I feud with somebody I'm not even talking to?"

Moore's Tuesday Show Most Improved of Season

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—Garry Moore and his CBS-TV crew, all of whom embarked on a hiatus last night (in TV no one takes a vacation — a hiatus is considered much classier), can lay claim to one title: most improved new show of the past season.

★ ★ ★

The Moore hour started somewhat uncertainly last fall, but after a switch in production brains, its innards began to congeal.

Perhaps more important, the show hewed out an identity of its own, on what might best be described as champagne in a beer glass.

Last night's closer managed to homogenize some fairly sophisticated material in a solution of shoes-off hominess and it did it artfully.

★ ★ ★

The hour opened with a repeat of its medieval pageantry number, a charming slice of taffy; went on to a really complex arrangement of "It's All Right With Me" unfortunately mishandled by singer Vic Damone; offered the Mello-Larks and some of the Moore cast in a delightfully wacky roundelay; and capped this with a really rousing hula hoop dance.

The hoop dance was snafued a bit by the accidental spilling of a plate of hot dogs on the dance area, but in a way, this sort of typified the whole air of the Moore show — a sprawl of frankfurters among a thicket of ballet slippers.

Next season, Moore will return with a slight shift in emphasis: his hour will gun for more humor and it will shift from a live show to a taped one. More humor, I welcome. Tape, I dunno.

SHORT SHOTS: The NBC-TV Jimmie Rodgers show seems a little confused about its own character.

It started out as a show pitched at the teenage set and is now in a rather muddled status — somewhere between pablum and geritol.

Last night's guests, for example, were Carmel Quinn and Tedi Thurman, the girl who does the sexy weather reports on NBC's Monitor, a rather weird new approach in bookings.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: "The Rivalry," a play about the Lincoln-Douglas debates which was seen this past season on Broadway, is under consideration by CBS-TV as a special for next season . . . Pat Carroll, recently dropped from the panel of CBS-TV's Keep Talking, returns to the show July 8 to July 29.

★ ★ ★

Tuesday Weld, the young actress recently described by Danny Kaye as "15, going on 27," has been signed in for "Secret Island," an episode scheduled for ABC-TV's 77 Sunset Strip next semester.

Agencies Lack Funds, Still Spend

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was an unhappy fiscal new year today for more than a score of government agencies.

They started off the new government year of 1960 not knowing where their next million—or billion — dollars was coming from. But they had assurance that they would get it sooner or later, and they had definite plans on how to spend it.

★ ★ ★

They are the agencies whose budgets for the new year had not been acted on finally by Congress when the old government year faded out last midnight. Among them are some of the biggest spenders in government, like the Defense Department and the International Cooperation Administration.

Rather than leave them technically penniless, Congress rushed to their rescue Tuesday with its traditional "stopgap" appropriation bill.

★ ★ ★

This provides money for the month of July only, normally at the rate of about one-twelfth of what would be available if the 1960 budget bills were not snagled on Capitol Hill. In the case of the Defense Department, for example, this is a little over three billion dollars and will finance normal activities for one month.

Georgia Rail Tanker Blast Toll Reaches 20

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — The death toll from Sunday's freight train explosion on the Ogeechee River stands at 20.

The count increased Tuesday when James R. Smith of Savannah, 26, died of burns that covered 80 per cent of his body. His wife, Majorie, was in grave condition in a hospital. Their children, Wayne, 3, and Timothy, 1, died earlier.

The explosion occurred at a recreational area near Meldrim. Still at issue was whether the train derailed and caused the explosion or the butane cars exploded and caused the derailment.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered a hearing here July 9.
