America Gains Enough Votes to Kick Out Cuba

OAS Nations Unanimous in Condemning Castro's Communist Regime

From Our News Wire

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay — Twenty American nations unanimously condemned Cuba's Communist regime today, but the United States could muster only the necessary two-thirds majority for the vote directing the speedy expulsion of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime from the councils of the Inter-American family.

The biggest and most powerful nations in Latin America joined the United States in refusing to vote for the expulsion "without delay" of the Castro government from the Organization of American States and its various agencies. The vote was 14-1, with Cuba voting no and the god-ol' bloc of Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Mexico, Bolivia and Ecuador abstaining.

The plenary session resumed at 8:22 a.m. (Pontiac time) and unanimously accepted the report of conference Secretary Jose G. Arango on the work done by the general committee.

On a motion by Peru, the plenary ratified the general committee's action. The Cuban delegation was not present as the plenary began. Formal signing by delegations of the Declaration of San Rafael, as the conference document will be known, was scheduled for 6 p.m.

The consensus at this hemisphere foreign ministers' conference was that the six nations had given the Kennedy administration's Latin American policy a severe blow.

The six contended that there presently exists no legal basis for expulsion of an OAS member and wanted to delay until such a legal basis could be created by amendment of the OAS treaty.

BLOW SOFTENED

The blow was softened somewhat when the United States' Latin American allies solidly adopted a ringing declaration that Cuba's Marxist-Leninist government is incompatible with the inter-American system and Cuban alignment with the Soviet bloc breaks hemisphere unity.

The foreign ministers, with the exception of Cuba, also lined up unanimously with the United States on three other resolutions that provided:

3,000 at Local GM Plants Share in Fund Distribution

More than 3,000 salaried employees at local General Motors plants today are sharing in the distribution of nearly $59 million in General Motors common stock, government bonds and cash.

The money and securities were to be given to a total of 50,700 salaried employees in GM plants across the nation who participated in the 1956 Savings Fund Plan under the corporation's Savings-Stock Purchase Program.

At the Pontiac Motor Division a total of $1,568,000 in securities and cash was distributed today to 1,699 salaried employees.

A total of 218 employees at the Fisher Body plant in Pontiac, were to receive an estimated total of $250,000.

At GMC Truck and Coach Division, distribution of $151 million in this planing got under way for 1,643 employees.

E. M. Foster, Pontiac general manager, said 92.3 per cent of the eligible salaried employees of Pontiac Motor were currently participating in the program.

"We are extremely gratified that so many of our employees are saving regularly under the provisions of the plan," Foster said. Latest figures reveal that eligible (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Offers Choice: Tight Controls or Surplus Cut

Program Also Aims to Increase Income of Nation's Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy sent a tough new farm program to Congress today which would give the nation's farmers this choice: accept much tighter production controls on surplus products or face a cut-off of most federal price supports and other aid.

Kennedy said in a special message that his proposals are designed to give an estimated $5 billion of farm programs over the next four years. The programs otherwise would cost more than $12 billion during that period.

Additional aims are to boost farm income and reduce costly farm surpluses now in government hands, he said.

Further growing wheat, corn, oats, barley and sorghum grains would lose all price supports if they did not go along with acreage reductions and marketing quotas set under the new program. In addition, the government would reserve the right to dump large amounts of these surplus grains on the markets. Under most conditions this would depress prices.

Marketing quotas would be set on all farm products for the first time if the program is approved.

Audience Gasps in Horror

DETROIT (AP) — Two members of the famed Wallenda family circus troupe were killed and a third critically injured Tuesday night when they fell 36 feet while executing a dizzying pyramid act on a circus high wire.

A crowd of 7,000 children and adults looked on in horror as three members of the troupe plunged to the concrete base of the State Fair grounds Coliseum during an evening performance of the Shrine Circus.

Four other members of the troupe battled to hang on the swaying high wire and did not fall.

Detmer Schepp, 25, making his first appearance with the famed Wallenda troupe, was killed in the fall. He was taken to Highland Park General Hospital where his condition was said to be "poor."

Also injured was Karl Wallenda, 37, who managed to stay on the wire but suffered internal injuries.

Schepp, headman in the seven-member pyramid was a refugee from East Germany. He had been in the United States only four months.

WOMAN HURT — Schepp's sister Jena, 17, only woman member of the pyramid, with the six men, also was injured when she jumped into a makeshift safety net and was thrown a set into the concrete base.

Jena was saved from possible death when she was caught by fellow performers as she fell past the wire.

Herman Wallenda, 60, Karl Wallenda's father, and Gerd Wallenda, 42, the other members of the pyramid, managed to grab the wire when the pyramid broke apart.

Jena's mother, wife of the dead accident, witnessed the disaster. She had appeared in a solo performance moments before the Wallendas started their ill-fated act.

"I saw that Jena Schepp was having trouble holding her balancing pole," she said. "It was the last time in the human pyramid."

"They fell 36 feet. That's as high as we go in any act. Lots of times we work close to the floor."

"I saw he was holding it with the tips of his fingers instead of (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Officials Hit for Ignoring Idea to Save U. S. Funds

WASHINGTON — Administration officials remain silent on a Ford Motor Co. vice president's proposal to save $435,000 in federal funds to train 1,200 farm tractor operators in Mississippi.

Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, sharply criticized the Democratic Kennedy Administration yesterday in the House of Representatives for turning a "cold shoulder" to the suggestion of Merritt D. Hill, Ford vice president and general manager of the Tractor & Implement Division in Troy.

Hill, 965 E. Glenview Circle, Bloomfield Township, had written to Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg suggesting the government utilize the services of 190 farm equipment dealers in the 16-county area of Mississippi instead of spending federal funds to train the operators.

"This is just another example of free spending going on in Washington," Broomfield told The Pontiac Press.

"It is too bad that some of the departments of our federal government are quick with the requests for information and can compile reams of statistics to justify their expenditures for the coming fiscal year, yet appear to be turning a cold shoulder to a plan which might save them some money, might make their training program more effective and which would provide excellent training with up-to-date equipment on the spot," Broomfield said in the House.

He said Hill hasn't received a reply from Goldberg.

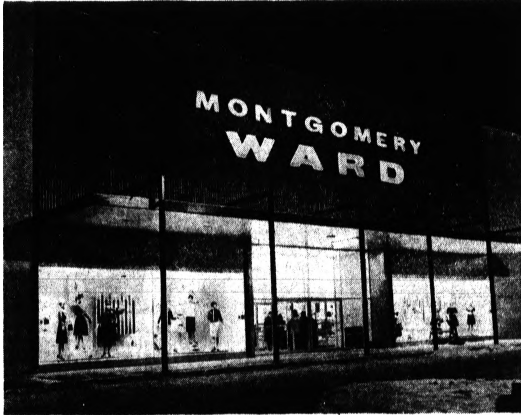

Hill's attention was called to the Goldberg eight-week training course by a Jan. 4 press release from the secretary of labor's office. In the release Goldberg expressed the hope that the course "would provide workers with year-round employment, with day work provided for members of the operator's family to help achieve rural family stability in the years ahead."

Using the press release for data, Hill said training 1,200 tractor operators would mean a hardship for an estimated 40,000 persons now operating 30,700 tractors in the Yazoo Delta area in Mississippi. Hill said there weren't enough tractors to go around now.

Echo's Last for January — The Echo I will say its goodbye to the month of January with a final appearance tonight in the Pontiac arena.

The satellite will appear at 7:30 p.m. in the north sky, 75 to 81 degrees above the horizon, moving to the northeast.

Montgomery Ward's to Open

Montgomery Ward opens the first and largest department store in the Pontiac Mall Shopping Center, Telegraph Road at Elizabeth Lake Road, tomorrow morning. The firm's eighth branch in the Detroit Metropolitan area, the new store encompasses a total of 145,000 square feet and will employ 350 persons full-time as well as another 150 part-time.

While equipped with elevators, the Montgomery Ward store will feature the Pontiac area's first escalator and 45 merchandise departments, including a snack shop with 18 tables and 72 chairs.

Among its specialties are a diamond department, an optical department, a key shop and a complete watch repair department.

Adjacent to the store is a service station capable of repairing 10 cars and a semitrailer transfer facility. Customers may have free installation of Ward's tires, batteries, mufflers, brake shoes and wiper covers.

FIFTH EXPANSION — The cream-brick department store, readily identifiable by its turquoise name-plate, represents the fifth major expansion by Montgomery Ward in the metropolitan area in the past three years.

Except for a catalogue store which opened in downtown Pontiac in 1941 and then relocated two miles west of downtown in 1961, Montgomery Ward had no representation in the Pontiac trade area.

The catalogue store located in the Yazoo Delta area in Mississippi, Hill said there weren't enough tractors to go around now.

'Romney's Rise Hurts Con-Con'

ST. JOSEPH (UPI) — Stephen Stet, president of Michigan's constitutional convention, said Tuesday night delegate George Romney's growing reputation as a potential politician "has hurt the convention."

Nisbet told the Twin Cities Chamber of Commerce dinner, "Romney is a dedicated and good candidate and he has a right to run for office."

But he said, "We have got to let politics out of it (the convention) and that's a problem."

Romney, the president of American Motors, has been mentioned with increasing frequency in recent months as a likely Republican candidate for governor next fall and possibly even a GOP presidential standard bearer in 1964.

Nisbet said the question of Romney's political future and its effect on the con-con came up when the automaker came to him and asked for his opinion about such speculation. "I told him I thought he had hurt the convention," Nisbet said.

Nisbet also said after his formal speech that it will be difficult, considering the GOP's 2-1 majority at the convention, to keep the label Republican off any new constitution.

Guidance Clinic Asks County for $67,000

By DICK HANSON

Do counties belong to the mental health business?

Mental health facilities are a state government responsibility, but faced with a growing problem in this field state administrators admit Michigan has not been adequately coping with it.

Two bills will be presented during the current state legislative session to make counties equal partners with the state in a mental health program aimed at fixing the problem.

In addition, the Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic, originally established by a group of interested citizens aware of the state's inadequacies, is seeking more support from county government.

The clinic's board of directors today presented a proposed 1962 operating budget totaling $139,923.

With a request that the county furnish $67,000 of this, to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors' ways and means committee.

BUDGET DISCUSSED

The budget was discussed by the committee's subcommittee on community funds at this time.

Committee Chairman David Levinson outlined a policy of "wait and see" until the state legislature decides what it will do about the mental health problem.

General feeling of the committee was that the county should have control of the clinics if it is expected to foot the bills, perhaps by placing it under the county health department.

Any measure the county takes now to assure continued operation of the clinic must be on a temporary basis, said Levinson.

He questioned a surplus of $3,356 shown in the proposed budget, adding that it was not the county's money.

Ask Changes in Widening of Maple Be Considered

BIRMINGHAM — Several revisions in the proposed widening of East Maple Road by the Oakland County Road Commission have been asked to be considered. The City Commission has asked that the road commission only widen that portion of the main artery from Elton to Coolidge road at this time.

It also suggested that the proposed plans for the widening of the stretch from Adams to Elton be done to a 48-foot width, rather than minimum 41 feet planned by the road commission.

Originally the road commission had announced plans for a widening of the Adams to Elton stretch of 58 feet, but protests over the removal of trees that would be necessary with the project has caused the revamping of the proposal.

3. A ringing endorsement of President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program. The Latin Americans called the program the foundation for their nation's economic and social development on a self-help basis and the loss of which would mean the loss of the United States to Communist and Castro influence.

An embargo on arms trade between Cuba and the OAS members was carried 1-61, with Cuba voting no and Brazil, Chile, Ecuador and Bolivia abstaining. The resolution also directs the OAS Council to study the possibility of extending the embargo to other articles, especially those considered of strategic importance.

3,000 at GM Plants Share in Distribution

The distribution today is to participants in the "class" of 1956 first full year of the program.

A class is formed each year and matures five full years after the year of formation.

Nationwide, the distribution includes $27.38 million in savings for employees, $13.63 million contributed by the corporation during 1956 plus interest and dividends earned between Jan. 1, 1956, and Jan. 31, 1961.

Employees received 500,000 shares of General Motors Corporation stock, 138,000 U.S. Government Series E bonds of varying maturities with a par value of $15,248,000 and approximately $2,500,000 in cash.

Under the Savings-Stock Purchase Program General Motors Corporation pays $1 for each $2 of employee savings.

In the nation's 10 percent of eligible GM employees are participating in the program, said GM Chairman Frederick C. Dörner in making the announcement of today's distribution.

"The Savings-Stock Purchase Program was established to provide employees with an incentive for regular savings and to give added vitality to the Corporation by increasing the number of employees who own General Motors stock," Dörner said.

As a result of the current distribution, approximately 17,000 General Motors employees became new shareholders in the company.

Takes Many Years to Make Major Leagues
Executives of Montgomery Ward are developed like players in a baseball club.

The 30-year-old retail and catalog company has a "farm team" for turning out potential executive talent that is akin to baseball's development setup.

Before making the major league — which is the regional operation of the company — most executives serve as apprenticeship in the company's minor league operations.

A typical career example is that of D. Ward, general manager of Montgomery Ward's North-Central region, which includes Michigan and the five-county metropolitan area, of which the New Pontiac store is a part.

Ward's rise from second man at Billings, Mont., to No. 2 man of the company's biggest region, was in the American tradition of home rule. Like many of his players, Ward traveled the circuit for many years, before coming to the majors.

Smallpox Quarantines 3 in British Outbreak

LONDON (AP)—Three persons were placed under quarantine Tuesday in a new flare-up of a smallpox outbreak that has taken seven lives in Britain.

The cases developed in Essex, Kent and Lancashire counties. So far the smallpox outbreak, attributed to infected immigrants from Pakistan, has resulted in more than a score of cases in cities ranging from Yorkshire to Wales.

ALICANTE, Spain (UPI)—Neighbors complained Tuesday that after Manuel Jimenez bought a burro Monday he found he had no place to keep it and thus allowed the beast to share his fourth-floor apartment for the night.

Smallest Item—Glenn's Salary of $46.12Busy Week at Cape Costs U.S. $50 Million

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Last week's up and down at Cape Canaveral probably cost at least $50 million.

This 5-for-1 Defense Department test was announced as a $3.5 million loss, a very conservative figure. The rocketry involved probably cost more than that.

The Ranger 3 moonshot had to have at least a $16-million tag. The Minuteman, this stage of its development, is informally expensive. So is the Polaris.

The Mercury-Atlas which became weather-bound costs about $10 million.

Least costly to Uncle Sam was astronaut John Glenn. He made $46.12 salary that day of utter ordeal.

Maj. Yuri Gagarin, who got up there fastest, tells what Col. John Glenn may expect, in the magazine "U.S.S.R." It goes like this:

"The earth from this height looks very good. Large mountain areas, large rivers and forests, the coastlines and islands were easily distinguishable.

"During the space flight I was fully able to adhere to what we pilots call navigation by geographical locality. The clouds covering the surface of the earth could be seen very well, the shadows of these clouds on the earth.

"The sky, however, was quite black. The stars in the sky look brighter and can be seen more accurately against this black sky.

BLUE HALO
"The earth has a very characteristic and very beautiful blue halo. The aureole becomes distinct at the horizon when a gradual transition in color takes place. The sky gradually becomes blue, violet and finally black.

"The transition is very smooth and very beautiful. When emerging from the shadow of the earth the sun fell on and penetrated the atmosphere, and here this halo took on a slight different color.

"On the surface itself, on the very horizon of the surface, one could see a bright orange color which then merged into all the colors of the rainbow, giving the sky light blue, deep blue, violet and black colors."

We were all set to read deeper into his piece when Yuri yawned suddenly into the microphone.

"I should like to mention especially the loving human care which is being shown in our country to

Indonesian Troops Ready for Invasion

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A first group of 10,000 volunteers has been whipped into shape and is ready "on short notice" to be sent to disputed West New Guinea, a high Indonesian official said Tuesday.

The navy said its patrols have been ordered to take the offensive against any Dutch warships that "stray" into Indonesian territorial waters. It said the patrols have orders to shoot first.

The statements coincided with one from President Sukarno that Indonesia is not going to wait in definitely for a negotiated settlement of its dispute with the Netherlands over the jungle territory.

Teen Radio Buff Seized for Sub Attack Report

BUNSWICK, Ga. (AP)—The FBI says that a teen-age radio buff faked a recent report that a shrimp boat was under attack by a submarine off Savannah. Agents arrested James Wesley Thomas, 17, son of a Brunswick physician Tuesday and charged him with furnishing false information to a government agency.

The youth transmitted three fake messages on a Civil Air Patrol frequency Jan. 25, FBI agent Joe D. Jamieson said. The messages set off a search of coastal waters by Coast Guard, Air Force and National Guard units.

Thomas was released to his parents under $1,000 bond.

NEW DELHI (AP)—A sample of American-donated milk has been found normal by a Madras state-government analyst.

Three students died last week and others became ill after eating a free lunch including curds made from the powder. The powder, from American surplus stocks, is supplied by the Cooperative for American Relief Everywhere (CARE).

Tests are continuing to determine the cause of the deaths.

What Do Doctors Do When They Suffer HEADACHE PAIN?

New York, N.Y.—Most doctors live under constant nervous tension, pressure and mental strain. It's not surprising they, too, often suffer from miserable headaches. But now—it can be revealed what doctors, themselves, take to relieve headache pain.

A survey shows many doctors take the fast, pain-relieving ingredients in Anacin®. In fact, three out of four doctors recommend this same type of relief to their patients.

Anacin Tablets are stronger yet safer. They give fast, long-lasting and—more complete relief from tense, nervous headaches than aspirin or aspirin with buffering. You see, more aspirin or buffered aspirin contains only one pain reliever. But Anacin is different. Anacin is like a doctor's prescription. That is, a combination of medically proven ingredients recognized for their effectiveness by the highest medical authorities. Anacin gives extra medication that not only relieves pain fast, but also its nervous tension, pressure and depression.

After taking Anacin—pain goes in minutes! The sufferer feels great again.

Despite their strength and effectiveness—Anacin Tablets contain no narcotics, do not form a habit or leave one depressed. Anacin may be taken as directed as often as needed without upsetting or irritating the stomach.

See if the extra medication in Anacin doesn't work better for you. Change to Anacin for fast, long-lasting, more complete pain relief.

Russia Setback on Angola Resolution, Congo, Kashmir

West Heartened by Rebuffs to U.S.S.R. in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Western diplomats drew encouragement today from three preliminary rebuffs to the Soviet Union by the Security Council and General Assembly.

The assembly late Tuesday moved from a 45-power resolution on Portuguese Angola a provision for an investigating commission to report to the newly established 17-nation committee on colonialism—a pet project of the Soviet Union.

Earlier Tuesday, the Security Council voted 7-2 to adjourn without taking up Russia's request for a new debate on the Congo. The Kremlin took a third setback when Council President Sir Patrick Dean of Britain summoned the 11-nation group to meet Thursday to consider the Kashmir dispute between India and Pakistan, Russia and Romania, supporting India's opposition to such a meeting. India offered stiff objections to Dean's call.

The assembly, returning a 99-2 vote for a relatively mild resolution asking Portugal to ease its control of the week. The Cuban complaint next to take up Cuba's complaint of "aggression" by the United States. Debate on the Cuban complaint had been expected to follow the Angola discussion immediately.

But Committee Chairman Malenkov of Argentina fixed Monday at Cuba's request. The Cubans wanted the results of the hemisphere meeting at Punta del Este, Uruguay, clearly established before launching an anti-American attack here. The Castro government's strategy appeared to envisage a one-two punch — first at Punta del Este and then at the United Nations.

The assembly's trusteeship committee scheduled two sessions today in its debate on the Belgian trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi. The way was open to Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin to resubmit his request for a full council debate on the Congo. U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, moving Tuesday's postponement, pointed out that such a debate now was opposed by Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula and by African leaders in conference at Lagos, Nigeria. But only Russia and Romania opposed the committee's decision to adjourn without even adopting the agenda. Ghana and the United Arab Republic abstained.

If Zorin should decide to request a new Congo debate again, his request would go to Stevenson, who becomes council president at midnight tonight for February. Stevenson obviously was unsympathetic to calling a Congo session.

Stevenson led a successful fight in the assembly by insisting on a separate vote requiring the Angola committee to report to the Russian-backed colonialism group. The provision was stricken from the resolution by a 44-32 vote, with 26 abstentions.

McCone Victory Is Predicted

JFK Nominee for Job as CIA Director Gets Senate Vote Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate is scheduled to vote today on John A. McCone's nomination as director of the Central Intelligence Agency. Even his opponents conceded overwhelming confirmation.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, predicted a big "vote of confidence for the wealthy California industrialist."

Anti Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., who opposed the appointment in a speech Tuesday, said he had no doubt of McCone's confirmation.

McCone, former chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, was picked by President Kennedy to lead the CIA when Allen W. Dulles retired last November.

Clark said he believed McCone lacked the judgment and temperament for the job and that McCone's holding of $1 million worth of Standard Oil of California stock sparked a serious conflict of interest question.

Clark said Standard is one of four American companies which own the Arabian-American Oil Co., which he said has a large stake in the Middle East.

He added that the only way the nominee could remove the conflict was to sell the stock.

"MOST EFFICIENT"

Mansfield declared McCone, an previous government posts, has served "most efficient, most effective and most patriotic."

He said the question of what constitutes a conflict of interest is different and that Congress should speedily revise laws to more clearly define it.

Mansfield said that McCone had brought order out of a difficult situation at the AEC and won the confidence of all members of the Senate House Committee on Atomic Energy.

SNOW FUN—After a weekend visit to Rounder College in Salem, Va., where she got to make a snowman after a surprise snowfall, Gaila Deane heads back to California. Brendan Cavanagh guided Deane when he got his fraternity brothers' help to raise $200 for the international "Sweetheart" of Sigma Chi's plane fare in Salem. Her visit was extended two days but they say cross-country dating is too expensive for a serious romance.

Home Delivery Cost Up for Grand Rapids Press

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The Grand Rapids Press has announced a first-class increase in the cost of home delivery of its carrier-delivered editions. The Press said that effective with Monday's paper, the home-delivered cost will be 45 cents a week. The single copy price will be eight cents.

The Press said the price increase, the first in over three years, "is made necessary by the increased cost of production and distribution."

Convict 2 Instructors for Obscene Mail

CHICAGO (AP) — An Indiana University professor and a Lansing, Mich., high school teacher were convicted Tuesday of mailing obscene material.

They are Glen W. Withers, 58, of Bloomington, Ind., and James Paulsen, 31, of Lansing, who were among 31 persons accused by a federal grand jury of belonging to or operating a pen club for men only.

The guilty verdict was reached by a U.S. District Court jury of six men and six women Tuesday night after 2 hours and 40 minutes of deliberation. It was opened

Tuesday in the courtroom of Judge Richard B. Austin. The judge set Feb. 6 for hearing any motions and for a pre-arrest investigation. The conviction carries a possible maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine.

Sees a Nuclear War Destroying Hemisphere

VIENNA (AP) — Dr. Hans Thirring, an Austrian atomic scientist, said Tuesday a nuclear war would mean destruction by radiation of all the Northern Hemisphere, including such neutral nations as Austria, and the end of the white race. Thirring declared in a lecture that American estimates of 40 million U. S. dead in a nuclear war were "trivially optimistic."

Students Support Stahlin for Post of Lt. Governor

EAST LANSING (AP) — Students at 30 Michigan colleges and universities Tuesday were backing Sen. John H. Stahlin for lieutenant governor. Stahlin, R-Belding, announced his candidacy for lieutenant governor recently. Dale Warner, vice president of the all-university student government and chairman of the group said "Students for Stahlin" chapters have been organized on other campuses, with headquarters remaining at MSU. There are at least 13 different varieties of maple trees in the U.S.

HOME IMPROVEMENT CENTER — Complete planning and engineering assistance for persons planning home improvements is available through Montgomery Ward's new store in the Pontiac Mall. Above is the one-stop shop for the merchandise and services needed in home improvements. The home-improvement service staff uses the full facilities of Ward's central engineering staff at Chicago.

RIDE SAVES STEPS — Viewed from the fashion center corner in the new Montgomery Ward in the Pontiac Mall is the store's escalator — the first in the Pontiac area. In the background is the diamond department. In the foreground are two mannequins modeling spring fashions, in patriotic colors "red, white and blue in the spirit of '62," tied in with the "Americana" opening theme. The Women's Fashion Center encompasses a fourth of the floor.

Michigan Travel Survey Receives Unusual Replies

LANSING — The Michigan State Highway Department received some unusual replies from persons who participated in a travel information survey it conducted.

Questionnaires were given to all persons who stopped at State Highway Department travel information centers at New Buffalo, Mackinaw City and Menominee and at two mobile units which moved from place to place during the summer.

The questions asked were centered only with the Highway Department travel information service — how people were treated and how they thought it could be improved.

But when the questionnaires were returned, the Highway Department received unsolicited opinions on every subject under the sun.

One question was: "What changes would you suggest in the official state highway map?"

One man answered, "Your cigarette prices are too high." Another man said: "It's too cold up by the Soo." It came from a St. Petersburg, Fla., tourist.

Another question was: "How can the Michigan State Highway Department travel service be improved?"

A man from Milwaukee said: "Your question is difficult to answer since all government agencies can stand improvement."

A young man from Kentucky who came up here for swimming and water skiing suggested: "Warm up the lake."

One woman complained that there were too many saloons and another man complained that there weren't enough.

"But the suggestion least likely to be adopted came from an Ohio tourist. He wrote: "You could improve my stay in Michigan if you would pay for it."

Reds Threaten Farm Leaders

Pravda Hints Many Are to Be Topped in Review of Crisis

LONDON 48 — Pravda has hinted that many agricultural leaders will be toppled by the Communist party in its coming review of the crisis on Soviet farms.

The party newspaper, in an editorial broadcast by Moscow radio, said "Improvement of agricultural leadership" will be a crucial issue at the special central committee meeting called for March 5.

The meeting was called to discuss farm failures that have resulted in widespread shortages of meat and other foods.

"The enormous reserves of collective and state farms may be successfully utilized if we determinedly remove shortcomings in the leadership of agricultural production and raise it up to the level of the new demands," Pravda said.

"Improvement of agricultural leadership is a radical question. It is today the chief factor in the struggle to implement the plans for a further development of agriculture and livestock breeding."

Yank, Filipino Killed Preparing Blast for Movie

MANILA (UPI) — A U.S. Navy man and a Filipino were killed aboard the destroyer USS Frank Knox recently while preparing a special effects explosive charge during the filming of the movie "No Man Is an Island" in Subic Bay, north of Manila.

A U.S. Navy spokesman said the charge should have been exploded ahead of the ship but instead went off prematurely on the afterdeck of the vessel.

The spokesman said no one else was injured and the ship was not damaged.

The Hollywood movie stars Jeffrey Hunter. The spokesman said the fatalities were a Navy enlisted man and a Filipino employee of the Tamarav Movie Co.

Khyber Checkpoint Opened for U.S. Aid

PESHAWAR, Pakistan 48 — The Pakistan-Afghanistan border at Torkham — the last checkpoint of the Khyber Pass in Pakistani territory — has been reopened to receive U. S. aid goods for Afghanistan. The pass had been closed since September.

About 30 trucks, carrying medicines, motor spare parts, cotton and woolen piece goods, tires and tubes crossed the border recently. Traffic is likely to continue for two weeks until all 24,000 tons of U. S. commodities in the port of Karachi are cleared.

In September, Afghanistan refused even to let American economic aid goods come through Pakistan. Five thousand tons of wheat, bound for Afghanistan under American economic aid, had to be destroyed last month in Peshawar. It was held up so long it became unfit for human consumption.

'Do It Yourselfers' Attract Ward's

Pontiac homeowners are in the forefront of the great do-it-yourself trend that in recent years has revolutionized the American pattern of living. L. M. Gilliam, Montgomery Ward store manager, said this was the principal consideration in the construction of Ward's new store in the Pontiac Mall Shopping Center.

"The do-it-yourself customer," said Gilliam, "has amazingly increased not only in numbers, but in the scope of his activities. A few short years ago do-it-yourself consisted mostly of painting or replacing screen wire and perhaps a light fixture."

"Now Pontiac area homeowners tackle insulating, roofing, wiring and heating jobs."

"Consequently," said Gilliam, "the new Ward's store has allowed for great assortment and floor space devoted to do-it-yourself merchandise."

features awnings, aluminum siding, grill work for porches, ceiling tile and wall paneling for recreation rooms, all incorporated in ready-to-use home displays.

During the opening three days, there will be representatives from Ward's Detroit office giving out information on kitchen planning in a "live" kitchen atmosphere, and drawing up plans free of charge.

Also located on the main floor are the paint, plumbing, and heating divisions, fashion accessories, toy department, garden shop, auto shop, and sporting goods department.

The store's facilities feature escalators (first in the Pontiac area), elevators, 45 merchandising departments including a snack shop with 18 tables and 72 chairs, and a seasonal sales area.

Other features are the diamond department, an optical department, watch repair department and catalog department.

The catalog store, presently located in the Tel-Huron Shopping Center on Telegraph Road, will transfer its facilities to the new Pontiac Mall retail store Feb. 1.

A larger and more expanded catalog unit department is established in the new retail store.

On the front fourth of the main floor is the Women's "Fashion Center," which features Junior Pettis, Junior misses, women's and brief sizes. Alongside the fashion area is the space devoted to men, boys, and children's wear.

Up the escalators, the second floor is entirely comprised of some furnishings — furniture, major appliances, houseware, carpeting, and the houseware gift department.

Also on the upper level, the customer-accommodation center could wish — a complete gift wrap department, and cash office where customers can pay utility bills, get travelers' checks and pay on accounts in the store; the credit department and layaway office.

Bull Alligators Have Real He-Man Technique

M I A M I, Fla. — The bull alligator is a regular casanova, with a real he-man technique.

Ernst Christensen, Everglades National Park naturalist, says a male alligator establishes his domain, lets out a frightening roar audible for a mile, and then waits for the girl "gators to come running."

"And they've been getting away with it for thousands of years," says Christensen.

Public demonstrations will be held throughout the store at regular intervals.

Red China Launches Anti-U. S. Campaign

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China is using the crackdown on the U. S. Communist party as the basis for one of her biggest and bitterest anti-American campaigns in years.

The Peiping government has mobilized millions of people this month in hundreds of mass rallies and meetings throughout the vast China, maintained to denounce the United States and President Kennedy.

Some observers compared the campaign to the widespread anti-American campaign drummed up in 1950, the year the Communist regime inaugurated the people's communes and unleashed a massive artillery assault on the Nationalist-held offshore Quemoy Islands.

One of the big differences between this campaign and some of the previous ones was the apparent emphasis upon the intellectual groups this time as opposed to emphasis upon workers and peasants in previous campaigns, including the one in 1950.

Associations of lawyers, writers, jurists, leaders of minority political parties, professors, scientists and other professional groups have staged numerous meetings in Peiping and other cities to denounce the United States' alleged "war preparations," the "fascist trend" of the Kennedy administration, the alleged "persecution" of the U. S. Communist party and most of all — the President personally.

The invective against the President has been extremely harsh.

Kennedy was accused repeatedly of being a "warmonger," a "hangman," who was following in the footsteps of "Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo."

The Communists made particularly wide use of Chinese who had studied in the United States, including one lawyer who entered Harvard University the year the President graduated.

A recent meeting was one of "writers, dramatists and poets" in

New Roads Put to Stern Tests

State Highway Dept. Examines Cores for Strength, Thickness

LANSING — The State Highway Department drilled about 3,000 holes in brand new highways during 1961.

But the holes are made to assure Michigan motorists a longer lasting highway, State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said.

Mackie said 6-inch cores were cut from new sections of highway to determine if contractors met various construction specifications.

Freeway construction specifications generally call for the thickness of concrete to be 9 inches. Reinforcing steel must be placed in the concrete three inches below the surface of the pavement.

GIVEN WEIGHT TEST

In addition to being measured for thickness, the cores also are subjected to a weight test at the Highway Department's Ann Arbor laboratory. Each sample core must hold up under 100,000 pounds of pressure — the equivalent of more than 25 regular sized automobiles.

Mackie said the Highway Department can penalize a contractor 50 per cent of the project's paying cost if the concrete is between one-half and 1 inch short in thickness.

If the shortage is more than 1 inch, the Highway Department has the option of paying only 10 per cent of the paving cost or requiring the removal and replacement of the deficient pavement.

"Very few cases of shortages are found," Mackie said, "and generally the cause can be traced to the paving equipment."

Cores are normally taken every 1,000 feet in new pavements.

Florida Town Unable to Get Key to Problem

MELBOURNE, Fla. (AP) — Police Chief John Thomas feels there is a key to the city's parking meter problem.

About 35 parking meters were opened and the coin boxes stolen. The meters weren't damaged, so Thomas figures the thief had a key that worked.

Another problem: The key would fit every parking meter in town.

DEAD A YEAR — Patricia Lumumba, first premier of the Congo, has been dead a year.

Lumumba's short and violent political career, which began June 30, 1960, is almost a capsule edition of the history of the Congo's independence — violence and inexperience.

Contrary Mount Given the Gate by Mrs. JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy has sold the horse that threw her over a fence, but a neighbor in the Virginia hunt country said it was not because of the spill.

Paul Foot, Middleburg, Va., said the First Lady decided to get rid of "Bill of Irish" because she felt it was too expensive to keep it for her sporadic riding opportunities.

Foot said Mrs. Kennedy decided to use horses in the Foot stable at Plains, Va., when she gets a chance to go riding.

It was reported that Mrs. Kennedy sold "Bill of Irish" to Warrenton, Va., sportsman Russel M. Arundel for about $3,000.

She was only shaken up in her head-first spill last November when the horse balked at jumping a fence.

Manager of Mall Store Began in Appropriate to the auto-minded Pontiac area, the manager of Montgomery Ward's new store in the Pontiac Mall Shopping Center began his career in the auto accessory field.

Leslie M. "Red" Gillain, the new manager, started with Montgomery Ward 34 years ago as manager of in Independence, Kan., where he remained for three years.

Following this, Gillain became regional merchandise for three and auto accessories for one year and then district supervisor at Kansas City, Mo., for two years.

During the next nine-year period, he worked as a store manager in Sterling, Colo., in Hastings, Neb., and Dubuque, Iowa.

The next six and a half years Gillain was district manager—first in St. Paul, Minn., then Green Bay, Wis., and finally in Rockford, Ill.

In the last 1½ years Gillain has been a store manager at Sioux City, Iowa; Bloomington, Ill., and LaGrange, Ill. Gillain has been a store manager for some 20 years.

"In coming to Pontiac, I hope to settle permanently in this wonderful community and climax my career as Montgomery Ward's Pontiac store manager," Gillain, a native of Burchard, Neb., said.

"LIKE A HOMECOMING"

"It is somewhat like a homecoming. The automotive business has launched my career and I have a warm spot in my heart for this industry which is the life-blood of the Pontiac area.

"As Charlie Weaver would say, 'These are my kind of people'—and I hope to live and work here until the end of my days."

Gillain's son Richard, 26, was recently promoted to operating manager of Montgomery Ward's retail store in Urbana, Ill., where he has been for the past two and a half years.

His other son, Donald, 15, is of high school age.

Urges Probe of Train Travel

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Railroad buffs who dream nostalgically of the good old days when a train ride was fun should applaud the one woman drive by Rep. Leonard K. Sullivan to force a clean-up.

The Democratic congressman from Missouri is convinced that most railroads are deliberately discouraging passenger travel, in an attempt to force the government to take over the roads.

She is adamantly opposed to government takeover, but she does want the government to insist that trains be as nice to people as they are to cattle and hogs.

President Kennedy in a recent message to Congress asked that excise taxes on railroad tickets be repealed. Mrs. Sullivan thinks that is all to the good, but that at the same time the trains should have to help themselves out of their financial straits by making train travel more attractive.

With a view to this end, she has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate charges that the railroads, while crying the blues about decreasing revenues and begging for government subsidies are trying to destroy their own passenger business.

"It is obvious," Mrs. Sullivan declared, "that the railroads do not want passengers. They are doing their best to make travelers uncomfortable, and even to prevent them from buying tickets. The food is overpriced and inferior. The situation is a national disgrace."

The Congressman brought to the attention of Congress and the I.C.C. a letter from "a prominent resident of St. Louis," which tells an astounding story. The gentleman wrote that his son-in-law and daughter endeavored to make train reservations to Washington, but were told that accommodations were filled for two months in advance.

At first Snowden was trapped for having no paying job. Recently he has been under heavy fire for accepting a paying position — and of a religious cult has ordered the queen and her advisers to let him take it.

Currently critics-in-parliament have been raising a hullabaloo over the $238,000 being spent on redecorating the royal home for Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip. That Queen Elizabeth is paying $26,000 of this out of her own money hasn't lessened the noise.

They 'Get It' Coming or Going

Britons Rap Royal Family

LONDON (UPI) — Ex-King Farouk looks like a good prophet — a secret it may be a queen, 34-year-old Queen Elizabeth, who is still on the throne when the 21st century rolls around. She would be 74 in the year 2000.

Nearly all observers agree that Britain's 1,400-year-old monarchy is here to stay, but as has been increasingly evident lately this does not mean Britons shy away from criticizing the royal family.

A Buckingham Palace courier recently was quoted as saying, "If you didn't have criticism of the monarchy there wouldn't be a monarchy."

PART OF THE DAY

Vicente Mulcaire, a Fleet Street specialist in royal affairs, said, "Criticism of the royal family has become almost as much part of our day as cornflakes."

Considered fair game for the royal snipers are the queen (though she doesn't get much of it), Prince Philip, Princess Margaret and, especially, Margaret's commoner husband Lord Snowdon. Of the former photographer, Antony Armstrong-Jones, who married the royal princess, Mulcaire said, "It will be years, presumably, before there is a second season on Tony."

"The establishment feels but not quite up to it, and the best feel the same, only more so," Mulcaire said.

Buckingham Palace was criticized by some elements for allowing Princess Margaret to marry a commoner in the first place. Later the palace was abused for making the commoner a nobleman.

At first Snowden was trapped for having no paying job. Recently he has been under heavy fire for accepting a paying position — and of a religious cult has ordered the queen and her advisers to let him take it.

Other attacks on the royal family have included: —British Catholics criticized the queen for failing to attend their ceremonies, including the funeral of a cardinal. Protestants have protested because the queen, head of the Church of England, donated funds for building a Catholic cathedral.

—Some British newspapers howled when the queen waited until the last minute to invite Soviet astronaut Yuri Gagarin to the palace. A noted Scottish clergyman refused to meet the queen because she had entertained Soviet diplomats.

—London fashion experts accused the queen of wearing an unflattering dress during a television appearance. A newspaper followed by accusing the queen of spending too much money on clothes.

—The league against cruel sports loudly approved of fox hunting. Then forming tenants on the queen's Sandringham estate complained the queen will not allow them to kill pesky wildlife.

—Lord Altrincham, the famed "rebel-baron," and other domestic critics derided the queen's practice of sending messages at appropriate times to Commonwealth countries. Shortly thereafter Canadian and British newspaper protested when the queen sent a condolence message to a Canadian town which suffered a mine disaster.

Why do Britons criticize their monarchy? Altrincham, perhaps the most famed critic and one who once got his face slapped in public for it, said, "Every monarchy has been given the status of a religion and a religion is a run — now that the constitution is democratic, the monarchy must be democratic too."

"I believe not only in the queen herself but also in the job she's doing," he said.

Writer-broadcaster Malcolm Muggeridge gained notoriety in Britain for saying the queen and Philip constitute "a kind of royal soap opera." But he also said, "The monarchical system in England is immensely valuable and the present incumbent is a very delightful exponent of that institution."

None of the critics has called for abolishing the monarchy, despite the criticism — or possibly, as the courier said, because of it — most Britons say there will always be an English monarchy as long as there is an England.

Man Plants Flowers Along NYC Streets

NEW YORK (AP) — Every year since 1959 rooster Ted Fastie has been planting morning glories, marigolds, petunias, crocuses, daffodils and pansies along the New York Thruway, Park Avenue in Manhattan and Central Park Avenue in the Bronx.

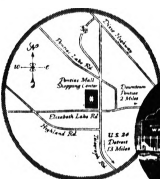

"I just like beauty," explains the 51-year-old Yonkers man. "My wife," Fastie relates, "thinks I'm nuts, but she's really glad I have this hobby."

"Once some cops asked me what I was doing. I told them I was planting flowers because I wanted things to look prettier. They said it was a good idea and went away."

Arizona Senate Unit Wasn't Meeting There

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—State Sen. William Sullivan stuck his head in the Capitol precinct and asked: "Where's the names and mining committee meeting?" "It's listed for Room 307," a reported replied. "I tried that," said the senator. "It's the men's room."

Career Began at Age 14 . . . in a Barrel Factory

Founder's Life a Dazzling Success Story

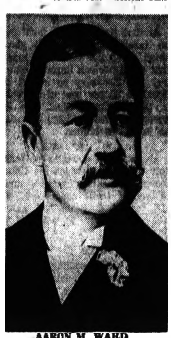

A true success story that would have dazzled Horatio Alger begins with Aaron Montgomery Ward — a man who created one of the country's leading businesses and blazed new trails in retail selling.

Born in New Jersey in February, 1843, Ward had to leave school at 14 and go to work in a barrel factory for only 25 cents a day to help his poverty-stricken family.

When he was 20, his family moved to St. Joseph, Mich., where he got a job as a shoe clerk for five dollars a month and board. After three years of hard work, he was made manager of the store at a salary of $100 a month and board.

Upon deciding there was a greater opportunity for him in a larger city, several years later he obtained employment in Chicago as a traveling salesman with a wholesale concern.

This experience, plus the fact that the first transcontinental railroad had been completed, made

Montgomery Ward believe the time was right for a greater merchandising service than had ever before been attempted.

In 1871, as he was about to start his new retailing plan, the Chicago fire wiped out his capital, and his job. But Ward was not discouraged, and a year later, in August of 1872, Montgomery Ward issued his first mail order catalog.

He and his friend and partner, George R. Thorne, operated this early business from a single room only 12 x 14 feet, on Chicago's near-north side. This was the beginning of the mail order business, destined to have a revolutionary effect upon the merchandising methods of the time.

The attitude of the new firm toward the customer had much to do with its success. No sales were to be considered complete with the mere delivery of the merchandise. The customer had to be satisfied or he could return the goods and get his money back.

The partners considered this a fundamental of fair merchandising.

Wards continued solely as a mail order business for 54 years before the first retail store came into being by chance rather than plan. In 1926 three "merchandise exhibits" — forerunners of today's catalog stores — were opened as an experiment to stimulate mail order buying. These exhibits were located in Marysville, Kan., Little Falls, Minn., and Plymouth, Ind.

WANTED TO BUY

In Plymouth, the people were not content to merely look, but insisted on buying the samples. Thus, Montgomery Ward's first retail store was born. In 1930 Wards held their first Ward Week Sale. It has since become a traditional, semi-annual event, nationwide in scope.

Today, the firm has grown into a nationwide business with 444 retail stores, 600 catalog stores and 100 mail order houses, serving customers all over the world.

Not only did Montgomery Ward lay the foundation for one of the world's greatest merchandising successes, but he helped revolutionize retail trade throughout the country.

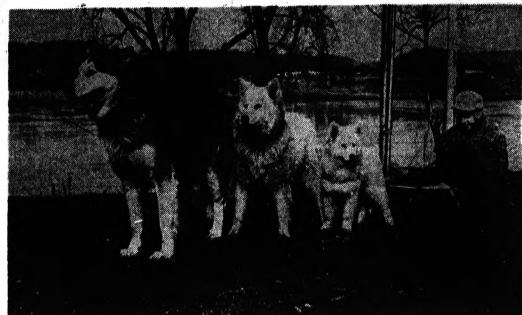

With Woolworth, who created the "five and ten," and Wanamaker, who originated the department store, Montgomery Ward stands out as one of the few who changed the buying habits of a nation.

Though Ward died in 1913, the company still follows the policies he laid down in 1872.

FRONT VIEW OF WARD'S—Viewed from the front facing North Telegraph Road. Montgomery Ward's new store in the Pontiac Mall Shopping Center displays a wide-awning-like porch top over its front entrance. The cream-colored brick construction, accented by turquoise lettering encompasses some 145,000 square feet, the largest area of any store scheduled to open in the Mall. At the right is the adjacent 10-car auto service station offering free installation of Ward's tires, batteries, mufflers, brake shoes and seat covers.

Every Branch Has Individuality

Decor a Rainbow of Color

The new cream-colored brick, accented in the Pontiac trade area.

Ward's is the first and the largest department store to open in the 300,000-square-foot shopping center which, when finished will have a completely enclosed mall located in the winter and air-conditioned in the summer.

The color scheme lends individuality to the new Ward's store which differs from the cream and brown color combination of the Mt. Clemens branch set to open in March. Each new MW store has its own individuality.

With a gross area of approximately 145,000 square feet, the two-story department store represents the 11th major expansion by Montgomery Ward in the Detroit area in the past three years.

Except for a catalog store which opened in downtown Pontiac in 1941 and then relocated two miles west of downtown in late 1957, Montgomery Ward had no representation in the area.

Service station facilities can house 10 cars and the largest semitrailer simultaneously. They offer free installation of Ward's tires, batteries, mufflers, brake shoes and seat covers. A new Ward's truck will be used for farm and highway on-the-spot service.

A 10-ft foot key shop for Ward's customer convenience is to the left at the store front.

In the spring, planters will be installed down the center of the store's aisles as well as in the center of the Mall parking area which provides space for 4,000 cars.

Tragacanth, a gummy exudation from the shrub Astragalus, gum-mifler, and related plants of eastern Europe and Asia, is used as an emulsifying agent in pills, hand lotions, and medicinal lubricating jellies.

Japanese Ball-Glove Imports in JFK's Mitt

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The odds are almost even that the Japanese will be voluntarily imposing curbs to reduce their shipments of baseball or softball glove imports to this country to 2.1 million a year.

The question of whether further restrictive action will be taken is now up to President Kennedy. The game of baseball around the turn problem has been on his desk for three weeks.

Now it got there illustrated the workings of the existing U.S. trade program. It also sheds some light on the impending battle in Congress over Kennedy's new liberal trade program.

It all began in 1934 when Congress for the first time empowered the President to take joint action with other countries to negotiate reductions in record high tariff barriers in the United States and other countries, which were choking world trade.

At that time the U.S. tariff duty on foreign-made baseball gloves stood at 30 per cent. This means that an American importer had to pay the Treasury an import tax equal to 30 per cent of the value of the foreign product. The importer naturally passed this cost on to the consumer.

This, of course, would be a rebounding setback for Kennedy's liberal trade philosophy. He undoubtedly would veto any such legislation.

Kennedy, too, wants the "escape clause" changed. He wants authority to grant relief to domestic industries injured by competition without curbing foreign imports. As an alternative he wants power to grant federal "adjustment" aid to industries and workers injured by import competition. The protectionists bitterly oppose that.

As part of a series of tariff-cutting pacts in which the United States and other countries made reciprocal tariff concessions, the U.S. tariff duty on ball gloves was lowered to 15 per cent in January 1948.

IMPORTS ROSE

For a while nothing happened. The Japanese continued to limit shipments to top-the-gloves made of plastic or cheap leather which retailed for less than $1.

But four years ago they suddenly began shipping $3, $4, $5 and $6 gloves bought by sundry glove stores. Imports of Japanese baseball gloves zoomed upward from 149,000 in 1947 to more than 24 million in 1960. Meantime, annual U.S. output slumped from more than 3.4 million to 2.7 million.

American manufacturers sought to invoke the import-restricting provisions of the trade law known as the "escape clause."

After listening to their complaints, the six-man U.S. Tariff Commission last April unanimously agreed that the President should use his power to grant protective relief.

Four commissioners recommended the tariff duty be boosted back to 30 per cent. The other two said it should be raised to a record high of 45 per cent.

The President, who could accept either recommendation or reject both, delayed a decision. He asked the tariff commission for more information. He asked what effect Japan's new voluntary quota on U.S. sales was having on shipments. The commission replied three weeks ago that it was too early to say.

Now the ball is back in Kennedy's mitt. What many import-sensitive U.S. industries do like about the present trade law is that Kennedy can reject tariff commission recommendations.

They would be willing to let the President have some of the new tariff-cutting power, he wants if Congress at the same time made mandatory all tariff commission recommendations for protective relief against all tariff reductions.

As an alternative he wants power to grant federal "adjustment" aid to industries and workers injured by import competition. The protectionists bitterly oppose that.

Kennedy, too, wants the "escape clause" changed. He wants authority to grant relief to domestic industries injured by competition without curbing foreign imports. New U.N. Congo Chief Left Ghana in Protest

By United Press International

Robert K. A. Gardiner left his homeland of Ghana three years ago in protest against the way President Kwame Nkrumah was running the country.

But he is not a man who runs from trouble. The Oxford-educated African has just been named to one of the United Nations' toughest jobs, heading the United Nations operations in the Congo.

The nomination of the 47-year-old economist and administrative expert came Friday only a few days after Nkrumah had vetoed acting Secretary General Thant's attempt to appoint him one of the right under secretaries.

Gardiner is married and has three children. At the United Nations he is considered an ideal international civil servant because he is nearly apolitical.

Gardiner replaces Sture C. Liner of Sweden in the Congo job but only for three months. Then he will have to take up new duties as executive secretary of the U.N. Economic Commission for Africa.

Without detracting from Liner, African diplomats were pleased that an African finally had been given the top Congo job. U.S. officials are impressed with his ability.

Gardiner was born Sept. 29, 1914, at Kumasi, Ghana. He graduated from Cambridge University and did post graduate work at Oxford and London Universities.

School Enrollment Up 50,000 in State

DETROIT (AP)—Enrollment in Michigan public schools increased by 50,000 last fall, according to the Michigan Education Association.

The MEA reported the increase was from 1,666,000 in 1960 to 1,726,000 in 1961. In addition, the MEA said 3,000 teachers have been added to the state's public school districts in the last year, bringing the total to 68,000.

The national average for teachers' salaries rose 4.8 per cent to $5,527. The average teacher's salary in Michigan was reported as $6,162. Salaries averaged $7,119 in Detroit.

Readers' Requests for Lost Recipes Are Answered

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor: Our cooking school is but a memory now, although all who attended have those good little cookbooks to use throughout the year. It has been heart-warming this week to get your letters of appreciation, a number of which have been in verse. Mary Metz started something with her poetry content. I welcome the recipes that have come in. Please keep them coming.

As I went through the audience here to each season of "Galaxy of Foods," I received several requests for specific recipes. I got these all the time and answer the telephoned ones at once if possible. But I decided to group some of last week's requests in one article today.

Please feel free at any time to Boston Doesn't Have Monopoly

Of course, all Midwest residents will recognize Cap'n Bean in his Yankee-shipper hat. Boston Baked Beans may have originated on the east coast but came to be eaten wherever a hearty and appetizing dish was wanted during cold, snappy weather. In 1962, they're as much in demand as they were in the days of clipper ships.

And, whoever first combined pork with beans was a creative genius. Along with that juicy meat, Mr. Bean looks equally well as a lumberman's cup or a stealon. Nourishing dried navy and pinto beans are plentiful, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture so try your family's favorite dishes soon. You might even give beans a European accent in a dish such as Spanish Navy Beans.

Spanish Navy Beans
Wash, soak and simmer 2 cups dried beans until tender. Season to taste with salt. Fry 1 cup chopped smoked ham and 1 lb. sausage. Remove from pan and add to beans. Drain off all but 2 tablespoons fat; fry 1 minced green pepper and 1/2 minced clove garlic lightly and add to beans. Bring again to a boil and simmer 20 minutes.

Double Batch of Fruit Lightens Dessert Mold

Mold fruit-flavored gelatin in a ring mold, turn out when chilled and set. Fill center with a combination of dried fresh fruit. Serve with whipped cream (sweetened and flavored with vanilla) for a delicious dessert. Weight watchers can enjoy without the cream!

Add Anchovies

Ever add anchovy filets to a shrimp salad? Different and good! Cut the anchovies in small pieces and dress the salad with French dressing instead of mayonnaise.

call for help in locating a desired recipe. I have scrapbooks of all the ones that have been published in the recipe column on the women's page since I became food editor. Others I can often locate in my extensive library of cookbooks.

Mrs. Donald Bump wants a recipe for Divinity that calls for just one egg white. I did not find one in the scrapbooks. Mrs. Bump, but did come across the following one in a cookbook put out by the ladies of Maranatha Bible Class. This is Mrs. Frank Kiteley's recipe. I tried it Monday and it is delicious.

Divinity

3 cups granulated sugar
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup white corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg white
Food coloring (optional)

Combine sugar, water and syrup, and cook until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Beat egg white stiff and slowly add 1/2 of the candy syrup to it, beating constantly.

Put remainder of syrup back on stove and cook until it forms a hard ball in cold water. Add slowly to first mixture. Beat until stiff. Add vanilla, coloring, if desired, and nuts. Pour into a greased pan. Cut in squares when cold.

Some one requested the recipe for a mayonnaise date cake. This I found in my files. It was sent in by Mrs. Robert V. Taylor some years ago.

Salad Dressing Date Cake

1 cup dates chopped
2 teaspoons soda
1 cup boiling water
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup salad dressing
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Combine dates, soda and boiling water. Set aside to cool. Mix salad dressing with sugar. Add vanilla. Add sifted flour, salt, nuts and date mixture.

Bake in greased 8x3 pan 40 minutes at 350 degrees.

The glue for donuts that Mrs. Samuel Halsey wants is easy to make. This is the one Mrs. Arthur Chapline uses.

1 pound confectioners sugar
1/2 to 1/2 cup cold water

Add water gradually to sugar until thin glue is formed. Spread over warm doughnuts.

It was delightful to talk with so many of you last week, even though I didn't get all your names. One person asked me to print more casserole recipes, the simple kind that her children would eat. Maybe this one will fill the bill.

Crunchy Green Pea Casserole

1 pound ground beef
1/2 cup coarsely chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) cream of mushroom soup
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 package (10 oz.) frozen peas, partially defrosted
1/2 cups thinly sliced celery
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento

1 1/2 cups coarsely crushed potato chips
Lightly brown meat and onion in butter or margarine, leaving meat in chunks. Spread in bottom of shallow 1 1/2 quart casserole. Combine soup, milk, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce; mix. Fold in peas, celery and pimiento. Pour over meat mixture. Edge top of casserole with potato chips. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees). Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Wrapped in Bacon

Looking for a snack that's different and "devilicious"? Try trimming the crusts off bread, spreading each slice with a mixture of deviled ham and a little onion. Roll up each slice and wrap with a half slice of bacon; secure with toothpick. Bake in a hot oven until bacon is slightly crisp and toast is golden-brown.

PINK CLOUD—Cherry Almond Chiffon Pie will remind your family of pink clouds. You can prepare it quickly. Use bite-size shredded rice biscuits and toasted almonds for the crust and frozen pie cherries flavored with almond extract for the filling.

South America Likes Cabbage

Cabbage reached northern Europe many centuries ago. Whether the Celts brought it back as part of the loot gathered on raiding parties in the Mediterranean, or whether Romans took cabbage seeds to Britain, Germany and the north countries, it has been known and liked for a long time.

Today cabbage is eaten in almost every country in the world. Here, from the test kitchens of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association comes a good recipe for cabbage from South America. It is calculated to appeal to the cabbage-eating man of the house, for almost every man dearly loves this flavorful vegetable.

CABBAGE WITH CAPERS (South American)

- 2 clove garlic
- 1 clove garlic
- 1 whole clove
- 2 tablespoons bacon drippings
- 1 cup chopped cooked ham
- 2 tablespoons capers
- 1 tablespoon cider vinegar
- 1 cup diced fresh tomatoes
- 6 cups shredded cabbage
- 3 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 3 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup stock or water
- 1/4 cup soft bread crumbs

Grate onions, garlic and clove until lump and transparent in hot bacon drippings. Add ham, capers, vinegar, tomatoes, cabbage, black pepper, salt and water or stock. Mix well. Sprinkle with soft bread crumbs. Cover and cook until cabbage is tender, 10 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

CABBAGE WITH CAPERS—There's luscious good flavor in this cabbage and ham dish flavored, South American style with onions, garlic, fresh tomatoes and a scattering of capers. A su buena salud, Senor!

The contest, sponsored by the Poultry and Egg National Board of Chicago, and Delaware Poultry Industry, Inc. of Georgetown, Delaware, opens on February 1 and closes at midnight, March 17. Both men and women may compete in the three divisions of the contest, but only the senior division winner, over 18 years of age, is eligible for the Grand Prize Kitchen.

There will be many other valuable prizes for runner-up contestants in all divisions.

Anyone who loves to cook, except professional cooks and home economists, may enter but finalists may compete in only one division of the contest. Recipes will be scored on originality, simplicity and ease of preparation, completeness of directions, suitability of recipe for young housewives, and taste and appearance of the finished dish.

Cane supplies about two-thirds of the world's sugar.

Entry blanks will be available at poultry counters or many chain stores and independent retailers throughout the nation during February and early March. Many states are holding preliminary recipe or cook-off contests this spring to choose their entrants in the national event.

Yogurt Gets High Rating It's Cultured Milk!

Yogurt is a milk to which a yogurt culture is added, somewhat in the same way that yeast is added to make bread. The result in yogurt is a custard-like consistency that looks something like sour cream and resembles it both in use and taste.

However, sour cream is more fattening with 18 per cent butter fat while yogurt only has 3 per cent butter fat. Yogurt has only one-sixth the calories of sour cream.

Chilled canned pineapple chunks are wonderfully refreshing when they are teamed with fresh grapefruit sections.

Consider Airy Chiffon Pie for Dessert Tonight

You've heard of floating on pink clouds? When you serve Cherry Almond Chiffon Pie, you'll have six pink clouds to serve to your family on a winter evening. When they see the beautiful pink and red color and taste the unusual flavor, they'll never guess that this is a dessert that you prepared very quickly in the morning.

The crust can be baked in just 10 minutes and is flavored with mild and crunchy bite-size shredded rice biscuits and toasted almonds. You probably have almonds left from the holiday baking. The filling is also cooked just about 10 minutes and is made with frozen pie cherries flavored with almond extract.

It's a flavor and texture combination of simple, everyday foods but the results are truly worthy to be called Pink Clouds.

CHEERY ALMOND CHIFFON PIE

- Crumb Crust
- 3/4 cups bite-size shredded rice biscuits crushed to 1 cup
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup chopped toasted almonds
- 1/4 cup soft butter or margarine
- 2 teaspoons hot water
- Heat oven to moderate (350 degrees). Butter a 9-inch pie plate. Combine cereal crumbs, sugar and almonds. Add butter and water. With back of teaspoon, pack crumbs firmly and evenly onto bottom and sides of pie plate. Form edge around top of crust, not on rim of plate. Bake 10 minutes. Cool thoroughly before filling.

- Filling
- 1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup and 3/4 cup cherry juice
- 3 eggs, separated
- 1/4 cup and 3/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- 1/4 teaspoon red food color
- 2 cups (1 lb., 4 oz.-can) frozen cherries, thawed, drained and coarsely chopped
- Sift gelatin in 1/4 cup cherry juice. In top of double boiler, beat egg yolks with 1/4 cup sugar. Add 1/4 cup cherry juice and salt. Beat and stir over hot, not boiling water until mixture coats the spoon (about 10 minutes). Remove from heat. Stir in gelatin.
- Cool custard just until it starts to thicken. Stir occasionally. Stir in almond extract, red food color and cherries. Beat egg whites until foamy. Add 1/4 cup sugar gradually. Beat until whites hold a stiff peak. Fold into custard. Pour into cooled pie shell. Chill 2 to 3 hours before serving.
- Yield: one (9-inch) pie.

Fruit and Cheese Frozen for Salad

"Fruit and Cheese Salad Freeze" may be served either as salad or dessert. Either way, it would be a fine choice for a party lunch. Golden cling peach slices and bright red marachino cherries make it exceptionally colorful. Canned grapefruit sections, lemon juice and a touch of dry mustard give it a refreshing tang.

Fruit and Cheese Salad Freeze

- 1 can (1 lb., 13 oz.) cling peach slices
- 1 can (1 lb.) grapefruit sections or 1/2 cups grapefruit sections
- 1/2 cup marachino cherries
- 1 tablespoon plain gelatin
- 2 packages (3 oz. each) cream cheese
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup whipping cream
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Salad greens
- Drain and dice peaches, reserving 2 tablespoons syrup. Drain grapefruit. Cut cherries into halves. Soften gelatin in 2 tablespoons syrup and dissolve over hot water.
- Soften cream cheese and whip with milk. Whip the cream and fold into cheese mixture with mayonnaise, seasonings and lemon juice. Add a little cheese mixture to gelatin, then stir gelatin into cheese mixture. Fold in fruit.
- Pour into 2 refrigerator trays; freeze until firm. Cut into slices and serve on salad greens.
- Makes 12 servings.

Puffy Crackers

Rich but good: Fold mayonnaise and whipped cream together. Spread lightly on crackers; sprinkle with paprika; toast under the broiler until the topping puffs up and browns. Serve at once with tomato juice or another before-dinner beverage.

Grapefruit Garnish for Spicy Apples

Some persons grow geraniums, other rhododendrons. It seems early Spanish settlers in Florida liked, among other plants, grapefruit trees.

The golden globes were considered more of an oddity than anything else — much less, food. Grapefruit is certainly not strange to you, especially now when the U. S. Department of Agriculture lists it as plentiful. The delicious citrus fruit is a welcome addition to breakfast, lunch or dinner.

And you probably have a favorite way of preparing the tangy treat. Once, before the public accepted the fruit, two carloads of grapefruit were shipped from Lakeland, Fla. to Chicago, having been purchased on speculation at 50 cents a box. They not only failed to return the original investment but cost the buyer $25 freight. Of course, the delicious fruit has become much more popular since that time.

No longer an oddity and very much in demand, grapefruit can be bought at your nearest grocer's. When you're shopping, however, look for fruit that is firm, well-shaped, has a fairly smooth skin-texture and is heavy for its size. Running, a reddish-brown color, does not affect flavor. Store grapefruit in the refrigerator, preferably, or at room temperature if not above 70 degrees F.

When you want whole grapefruit segments for a treat such as Floridian Salad, place the grapefruit in hot water for about 10 minutes before peeling. The membrane can easily be pulled off to leave the segments intact.

Floridian Salad
Make a syrup of ¼ cup sugar, 2 cups water and ¼ cup red cinnamon - candies. Cook rapidly about 5 minutes. Wash, peel and core 6 apples. Cook, covered, in simmering syrup until apples are tender and slightly transparent, about 10 minutes. Remove from syrup and chill.

Soften a 3-oz. package cream cheese with 2 tablespoons cream. Add ¼ cup finely chopped pecans and fill apple centers with mixture. Evenly space vertical slits in each apple, and insert sections of grapefruit. Serve on lettuce. Makes 6 salads.

Creamed Fish Fine for Simple Meal

Finnan haddie is called for in the following recipe, but you may use another variety of smoked fish.

Special Finnan Haddie
½ pound finnan haddie
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1¼ cups milk
1½ teaspoons lemon juice

2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 jar (4 ounces) pimientos
4 hard-cooked eggs (sliced)

If you want the finnan haddie to have a mild flavor, soak in cold water to cover for about an hour and drain. Cover with cold water and simmer, covered, about 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily; drain. Remove skin and bones and flake; there should be a generous cupful.

Make a white sauce with the butter, flour and milk; add lemon juice, parsley and pimientos (drained and cut into wide strips).

Serve creamed finnan haddie on toast and garnish with sliced eggs. Makes 4 servings.

Now and Later

If you use a pound of cranberries in making a raw relish, and some is left over, put it in your freezer for use later on. This amount of cranberries put through the food chopper with a couple of oranges and mixed with two cups of sugar should be ample for two turkey dinners.

Meat Loaves Are As Varied As Countries from Which Recipes Come

Perhaps one of the best reasons found in Italian Meat Loaves for the popularity of meat loaves is their versatility. In addition to the standard loaf shape, ground meat mixtures can be shaped individually, in rings, and in a variety of other ingenious ways. And practically any ground meat, alone or in combination, can be styled into a tempting meat loaf. Economy, too, is an important asset most meat loaves share. When you use ready-to-eat cereals or specially prepared packaged corn flake crumbs to extend the meat in a loaf, you can make this entree thrifter still. A continental accent can be of mashed potatoes sprinkled with Parmesan cheese and parsley. Perk up Hamburger Pie by spooning a zesty Creole Sauce over each wedge-shaped serving.

Italian Meat Loaves

3 cups corn flakes or
¼ cup packaged corn flake crumbs
1 cup milk
1½ pounds ground beef
2 eggs
½ cup grated Romano cheese
¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
¼ cup finely chopped onions
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon basil
Dash pepper

¼ cup catsup
¼ cup grated Romano cheese
¼ teaspoon basil

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Soak corn flake crumbs in milk; add beef, eggs, cheese, green pepper, onions and seasonings; mix well. Shape mixture into 6 individual loaves; place in a shallow baking pan.

Spread catsup over loaves; sprinkle with cheese and basil.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 45 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Hamburger Pie

2 cups corn flakes or
¼ cup packaged corn flake crumbs
1 pound ground beef
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon garlic powder
3 tablespoons chopped stuffed olives
1 egg

4 cups seasoned mashed potatoes (about 6 medium)

1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
Dash paprika
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Combine beef, seasonings, corn flake crumbs, olives and egg in large bowl, mixing lightly. Greasy fat mixture into 4-inch pie pan to line bottom and sides (do not put on rim). Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) about 15 minutes; then pour off any liquid from meat.

Meanwhile, prepare mashed potatoes, pile potatoes in hamburger pie shell, sprinkle with cheese and paprika. Broil 4 inches from heat about 2 minutes, or until golden brown. Sprinkle with parsley. Cut in pie-shaped pieces. Yield: 6 servings.

Creole Sauce:

2 tablespoons bacon fat or vegetable oil
½ cup finely chopped onions
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
3½ cups (1 lb. 12-oz. can) tomatoes
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons sugar
¼ teaspoon chili powder

1 tablespoon chopped parsley
In hot fat in medium fry pan, sauté onions, garlic and pepper until tender, about 5 minutes. Add remaining ingredients; simmer, uncovered, 45 minutes, or until mixture is thickened, stirring occasionally. Remove bay leaf. Serve over Hamburger Pie.

Save Chicken Livers

Save the livers from your broilers, fryers and put them in the freezer. When you have a sufficient supply, thaw them and cook them in butter; add to a tomato spaghetti sauce.

Summations Due in Yenik Trial

Case Expected to Go to Jury Today; Denial of Slaying Repeated

NEWBERRY. — The murder trial of James Yenik in 14-year-old Michael Richmond's slaying was expected to go to the jury of six women and eight men in Luce County Circuit Court today.

Only summations by both sides and Judge George S. Baldwin's charge to the jury remained in the court's longest criminal case in history. Today was the 12th trial day. The trial opened Jan. 16.

On the stand for two hours and 10 minutes Tuesday, Yenik repeated his denial that he shot Michael to death as the state alleges, and stuck to his alibi that he was miles from the scene at the approximate time the prosecution fixes for the slaying.

Michael, one of five children of a Newberry family, was shot and killed at a woods road intersection 14 miles from Newberry last July 28. The state has presented a circumstantial case against Yenik.

Yenik, 35, filed auto plant work, testified before a packed court room for an hour under defense questioning and for 70 minutes under cross-examination.

The dark-haired defendant, wearing a blue-green sports coat and a green, open-neck shirt, said he had never known Michael.

"I don't know that I've ever seen him," Yenik said.

"No," he answered firmly when his lawyer, Frank B. Ferguson Jr. of Sault Ste. Marie asked if he had killed the boy.

Three defense witnesses testified they saw Yenik at or in the vicinity of the town of Paradise, on M123 about 19 miles from the slaying scene, at about the time Michael met his death.

McNamara, Aides Not Always 'Together'

HITCH
By RAY CROMLEY
Second of Three Dispatches

WASHINGTON (NEA) — One of the tragedies of Robert S. McNamara's reign in the Defense Department is that he does not understand and cannot communicate with the chairman of his Joint Chiefs of Staff, the very able and intelligent Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer.

McNamara does consult with Lemnitzer. In fact, he meets with the Joint Chiefs more regularly than any former defense secretary except Thomas Gates.

The problem is that McNamara and Lemnitzer do not speak the same language.

Lemnitzer is a kindly man and well above the average in intelligence and ability. An intellectual by any standard, he and Gates hit it off well.

But Lemnitzer is not the "whiz kid" type. He doesn't tend toward radical solutions. He doesn't think in terms of figures and ratios of obsolescence.

He's not a fast-acting whip-cracker. He doesn't have wide-ranging imagination that McNamara likes.

THINKS OF DOLLARS

Since McNamara thinks in terms of figures and dollars, he tends to find it difficult to understand that the thinking of men who do not reason in those terms. Generals and admirals generally do not think that way.

McNamara therefore tends to shun away from them and turn to men who do think in terms of figures and dollars.

The Secretary draws closer, therefore, to the accountants, the budget men, the economic research men and trouble shooters he has brought in from the Rand Corp. and other research contractors.

These civilian aides dig down around and below the Joint Chiefs. They figure the facts and the alternatives from the ranks. Then, given the data and the alternatives he wants, McNamara makes up his mind.

NO SLOW, HE SAYS

McNamara likes quick decisions, even when they have to be changed because they've proved unworkable. The Joint Chiefs are worriers slow in making decisions.

McNamara discovered when he moved into the Pentagon that there was a myriad of questions on which no decision had been made — for example, should the nation's strategic forces be combined into one command?

What are the precise roles and missions of the Army, Navy and Air Force?

McNamara had his aides list 131 of those problems. He demanded a quick and comprehensive report on each, giving facts, pro and con, and alternatives. Those reports run from 26 to several hundred pages long. McNamara has already made decisions on 101 of those 131 issues.

MEN IN TROUBLE

This technique of going around men's desks and deeper into military decisions which do not square with the beliefs of his senior military officers.

The whiz kids that McNamara has brought around him are a free-wheeling informal lot, some of whom have little regard for military discipline or military tradition. Like McNamara, they see things in terms of numbers and technically original solutions.

They seem to have little recognition of intangibles such as military spirit or morale and less regard for military experience or know-how unless it can be put in terms of numbers.

How did McNamara get this way? One explanation may be he was in the Army Air Corps as a young officer when Air Corps officers were fighting for new ways of doing things, fighting against what they felt were the hidebound restrictions of traditional Army thinking.

McNamara is believed to have been involved in that revolt against the old military ways.

On coming into the Pentagon, McNamara brought in as his deputy, Rowell L. Gilpatrick, former under secretary of the Air Force and a member of the Rockefeller Brothers Study of the Project which ranked up heavy criticism of U.S. defenses.

His most trusted under lieutenant is General Charles H. H. of the Rand Corp., which was created largely to service the Air Force.

Rand has a reputation for dreaming up radical ways of doing things.

McNamara's personal trouble shooter is free-wheeling thinker Adam Yarmolinsky. His chief organizing and management man is Solis Horwitz. All but Horwitz had a connection with the Air Force. All were academic whiz kids.

KEY MEN WORRY

Key men in the Pentagon, favorably disposed toward McNamara, are somewhat concerned over his insistence on novel concepts.

The Cuban fiasco was an example of how the military and the McNamara types of minds do not mesh. McNamara thought he had the concurrence of the Joint Chiefs.

The chiefs thought that McNamara understood the invasion would work only if there was U. S. air and naval support. Both sides thought they had an agreement. Actually, neither agreed with the other.

The call-up of the reserves was another example of misunderstanding. McNamara and his civilian aides were convinced by the logic of their nonmilitary research groups that reserves were not of effective unless they could be called up quickly and put into action quickly.

The Joint Chiefs had put McNamara in a position where McNamara's studies had indicated that the men would be needed quickly "before the war was over." This was also an Air Force tenet which deeply impressed McNamara.

McNamara found some men who drew up plans whereby National Guard and Army Reserve divisions could theoretically be ready in three weeks. These men had logical figures to prove it, but they didn't take the human factor into consideration.

Too many things go wrong, as any experienced Army commander knows, to whip a reserve division do not quite trust the military vision into shape in three weeks.

But the figures added up right and McNamara bought the plan over the opposition of some of his top military aides.

There is a feeling in the Pentagon among both civilians and the military that McNamara and his aides do not quite trust the military mind.

Pro-McNamara men say that "the chief was deeply worried by the political revolt of the generals in France and worried that something of the same sort could happen here."

This is possibly the reason for his quick, out-of-normal-channel action on Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker.

er. Many officers who agreed with the course of Gen. Walker disagreed strongly with McNamara's unusual methods.

The same McNamara worry may be at the bottom of the over-cautious Pentagon committee of the speeches of several top military men.

The concern of the military men had not been made better by their feeling that McNamara seemingly has subjugated military views to State Department views on military strategy and tactics on a number of occasions.

The feeling in the Pentagon is that the State Department was allowed to make crucial military decisions on Cuba which led to the debacle.

To make matters worse, the top Pentagon military men were blamed for Cuba in leaks which they believe originated from White House aides. They feel that McNamara did not come to their defense strongly enough.

Overall, key Pentagon civilians say that by his sharp alignment of authority, by his canceling of all opposition, by his centralization, by his quick decisions and the drawing in of new blood and by his tendency to go around the military men, Robert Strange McNamara probably is heading toward some great successes and some terrible failures.

(NEXT: The McNamara triumphs.)

Has Passion for Bold-Minded Men

What Makes Our Secretary Tick?

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Robert Strange McNamara does not like personal publicity and he keeps his family well-shielded from the spotlight. He is not the sort of man who inspires anecdotes.

McNamara, 45, was born in San Francisco. He graduated Phi Beta Kappa from the University of California and won a masters degree from the Harvard School of Business.

He is married to former classmate Margaret Craig and there is one unconfirmed report that he proposed to her over the telephone.

The couple have three children, Margaret Elizabeth, 20, Kathleen, 17, and Robert Craig, 11.

McNamara likes skiing and mountain climbing. He spent his year-end vacation in Colorado where he rented a station wagon equipped with both snow tires and chains.

The secretary doesn't care much for parties, stays only a short while at the few he attends. Of course, he does appear at official functions.

He generally works a 7:30 to 7:30 day, six days a week. He comes in occasionally on Sundays. In this desk-bound position, he reportedly keeps his weight down by dieting.

McNamara is a Presbyterian and was an elder of his church in Ann Arbor, Mich., where he lived while president of the Ford Motor Co.

The defense chief's first taste of military life came as an Army Air Force officer in World War II. He went in as a captain, came out a lieutenant-colonel in logistics.

McNamara joined Ford after the war as one of a small group of young men who sold themselves to the auto company as a group. They were dubbed the "whiz kids." He moved up rapidly to president in 1960.

McNamara has a rule to make his own decisions within seven days at the most. He expects similar action from others.

He thinks nothing of calling a man on Saturday morning, asking him to accept appointment as Secretary of the Navy and expecting an answer before Monday morning.

He has a passion for what he believes are strong men, but he makes a real effort to understand all his associates. Says one acquaintance:

"When McNamara wants to understand a man he is to work with, he finds out what books that man has read, then sits down to read those books, too, in order to understand the guy."

For his own leisure reading, McNamara prefers philosophy. But he reportedly isn't very philosophical about newspaper comment on him and his department. He is said to be very sensitive on that subject.

MSU Students Plead for Peace With Parade

EAST LANSING (API)—A small group of Michigan State University students and at least one faculty member paraded across the wind-swept MSU campus Tuesday to ask for peace.

Prof. R. W. Westcott, chairman of the MSU African center, said the hour-long march was in observance of Peace Day and the anniversary of the assassination of Mahatma K. Gandhi.

Hindu spiritual leader and champion of freedom for India.

It was part of an international observance and general strike in peace, Westcott said.

The students carried signs protesting the amount of money spent for defense, and asking for "coexistence or noncoexistence."

The number of demonstrators dropped from 28 to 21 during the march in below-freezing weather.

This Time the Angler Is One That Got Away

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI) — Fisherman Jan Ungerer of Livingstone, sitting on the banks of the Zambezi River Tuesday felt the line jerk and knew he'd hooked a big one. He was right. An enraged hippopotamus splashed out of the water and chased Ungerer away. So he said.

'Messenger' Being Held

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Police said Tuesday they are holding a 22-year-old man who twice burst into Premier David Ben-Gurion's office last week, claiming he had a "message from heaven" for the Israeli leader.

Can You Look Back and Remember When . . . ?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Time is a march, not a walk. And you've marched into middle age—or, in some cases, old age—if you can look back in your time and remember when:

The postman blew his whistle twice a day at your door, and you could send a letter across the country for a two-cent stamp. You and your wife could stay at a good hotel for less than a pet hospital now charges to park your cat or dog overnight.

One of the functions of a rich man's poor relative was to break in his new shoes for him.

artee was to shake your head and exclaim, "Boy, that's the cat's pajamas!" The wealthiest man in town was the one who had a two-buggy stable—and a bathroom with a real tub.

Only young daredevils ventured out in cold weather without a pair of spats. The greatest event of the winter social season in rural areas was the arrival of the mail order catalogues.

No matter what ailed you, you took cod liver oil if you were a child—and calomel if you were older. In any discussion of major illness, the person who had the final say was the one who could brag of having the longest appendectomy scar. Anybody who was anybody socially, sooner or later developed appendicitis.

One of the great joys of childhood was to look at an eclipse through a smoked piece of broken window glass. If you looked at with bare eyes, you were bound to go blind.

It was perfectly all right for a grandmother to puff her pipe at home, but any woman who smoked a cigarette in the presence of men was regarded as the devil's plaything.

During the depression you got a free piece of china everytime you bought a ticket to the movies. Flappers wore knee-length dresses with tassels on them—like the surly with the fringe on the top.

Long before doctors were warned of the hip and back dangers inherent in dancing "the twist," they were treating knee dislocations among middle-aged people who insisted on doing the Charles in Michigan. The U.S. Park Service plans to list the locations and haircuts in a small town, you could always stop off for a fast game of checkers at the firehouse on the way home. The best-behaved kids in the neighborhood were those whose father had the biggest razor strap. Remember?

$125,870 Is Pledged for UP Catholic School

MANISTEE (U)—A total of $125,870 has been pledged to a building fund to underwrite construction of a Manistee Catholic central high school, campaign officials announced Tuesday. The drive started nine days ago among five parishes to be served by the school, planned as a $750,000 structure to serve approximately 740 senior and junior high school students.

CHILDREN DIE IN FIRE—Lonnie Johnson, Gary, Ind., stands in the charred remains of his house trailer. Three of his four daughters perished in the fire. Johnson and his wife were across the street visiting. A 4-year-old daughter Kathy fled the trailer to warn them it was on fire. Johnson was burned when he attempted to rescue the children.

Hot Lunch Plan for Needy Pupils Gets Detroit Trial

DETROIT (U)—A semester-long test to determine whether economically distressed neighborhoods can support hot-lunch programs for schoolchildren with special federal aid began Tuesday at 10 Detroit area schools.

Public and parochial schools in Wayne County and Detroit received at no cost a variety of federally supplied foods, including fresh fruit and vegetables and processed meats.

The hot lunches will be served to 2,500 pupils. The food distribution is part of a $10-million test program approved by Congress last year.

The schools include four public schools in Huron Township in southern Wayne County, five parochial schools in Detroit and one parochial school in Dearborn.

Women going on trips always lured along a jar of smelling salts as they never knew when they might see some strange sight that could cause them to faint.

Nobody went on a 45-mile train journey without a basket of food big enough to feed half of starving China.

Muggers feared to attack lone ladies as they carried long hatpins sharp enough to skewer a man as neatly as if he were a piece of errant shish-kebab.

Trolley cars carried both a motorman and a conductor, as no one in his right senses could expect a man to collect fare and drive a dangerous vehicle at the same time.

SPOTTER ON TROLLEY
The transit firm hired company "spotters" to be sure the trolley conductor rang up all fares—and didn't put every third one in his pocket.

There was a shortage of bottles, as everyone was making home brew in his basement.

Every home had two social centers—the kitchen and the front porch.

The national drink was near beer, and the national wisecrack was: "Whoever named it near beer was a poor judge of distance."

'Am I Truly Feminine?'

Women of Today Have Their Worries

By PHYLLIS BATTLE.
NEW YORK—American women are intensely worried about a great many things. Way up at the top of the list, for thousands of women, this question: Am I truly feminine?

Doubting one's own femininity is a comparatively recent pastime among us, and it is not only a sociological problem brought on by suffrage, working wives and the alleged battle of the sexes.

It is, also, very much a result of American prosperity. With prosperity, we have formed some pretty phony ideas about what constitutes femininity — these joined upon us by Madison Avenue and Hollywood and the TV screen and modern literature.

All these have tended to accent sex appeal as the mark of womanliness.

For example, many Americans (both men and women) have been persuaded to think that a rounded figure is an indication of essential femininity, and that perturbed and chignons are indicative of the man's woman. If you don't wear "Vixen," the essence of woman who really care what men think, the ads challenge, are you really all-girl?

There is also a general impression given out by writers in women's magazines that to be really feminine, can a woman work after marriage?

And surely you've been exposed to the contention that, to be warmly womanly, you must breeze through pregnancy without an emotional upset?

FALSE QUALIFICATIONS

These are as false qualifications for femininity as the old-fashioned bustle, and should be recognized for their absurdity.

The trouble is that the selling job on perfume, frills and sex — coupled with the anti-career wives propaganda — has been beautifully done, and is successful.

It has been so insidiously successful that Americans almost believe these superficial qualities are the essence of girliness. Result: Confusion among men as to what kind of female makes the best mate, and fear among women that they are inadequate.

This fear of inadequacy because of the national skin-deep concept of femininity causes women to worry about their figures and clothes.

It has given them real guilt complexes when they work outside the home. They suspect they are less than women unless they are perfect wives, mothers, mistresses, chefs and bottle washers — all in one delightfully perfumed package.

By now, the little woman has so many obsessions about herself to do what comes naturally and which is the real proof of femininity: to care more for those she loves than for herself.

For this is the real timeless quality of the good woman — selfless and warm devotion to those she loves.

The truly ironic part of the problem is that the more a woman strives to find womanliness through beauty, and the deeper she founders in guilty worries about her own intrinsic femaleness, the more self-centered she becomes.

And the most womanly trait of woman is the ability to forget oneself, and remember others.

Clear 3 Petitions for Ballot Proposals

City Clerk Olga Barsley reports. The petitions would get it up to ed to city commissioners at their voters to decide whether the city meeting last night that three petitions should adopt a new pension plan requesting proposals to before firemen and policemen and placed on the ballot of the spring whether the city should require election had been received and tables immunization of dogs. cleared by her office. The clerk reported that all pe-

Illness had been filed before their respective deadlines and all contained the necessary number of valid signatures.

This is all that is needed to have the proposals placed on the ballot. The commission forwarded the petitions to City Atty. William C. Ewart and ordered him to prepare the proper proposals.

The pension plan actually would require two proposals, thus two petitions were submitted on it.

One requests that the city charter be amended to include the proposed $100,000-a-year plan and the other would rescind present provisions for police and fire personnel.

DEADLINE CHANGE

The proposed dog ordinance amendment, in addition to making rabies shots compulsory to getting a dog license, would also change the deadline for dog licenses from May 15 to March 1 each year.

In other business, the special assessment roll was accepted for gravel and grading of Leck street from Bay to the end of Locke. A public hearing on the roll was scheduled for next Tuesday.

Commissioners okayed a request from William and Walter Janicki to add Thelma and Loretta Janicki as partners on their 1961 SMD licensed business at 84 Auburn Ave. They also approved a request from the Janickis to transfer ownership of an SMD licensed business from Harry E. L'Hote to the Janickis, transfer its location from 691 Orchard Lake Ave. to 84 Auburn Ave., and change the nature of the business from drug store to grocery store.

APPROVE LICENSE

Commissioners also approved a new SMD license issued to Sam Calabrese at 238 S. Telegraph Road.

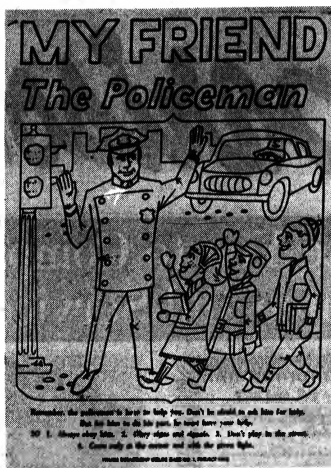

City Manager Robert A. Stiever was authorized to close a deal with the Downtown Merchants' Association for the use of municipal parking lots Thursday through Saturday.

The DMA has agreed to pay the city $977 so that 331 off-street parking meters will be installed. The result will be free parking for shoppers during the three-day Downtown Comparison Days sale.

Service Set Thursday for Drama Columnist

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Service will be held Thursday for Dietrich Williams, 46, Los Angeles Times drama columnist and former entertainment editor of the defunct Los Angeles Mirror.

Williams died of a cerebral hemorrhage at UCLA Medical Center Monday. Doctors said the attack was caused by leukemia which Williams contracted in 1958.

CRAYON CAMPAIGN—New York City police are distributing 20,000 of these color crayon cards to children between the ages of 4 and 10 who live on the lower East Side—a neighborhood which has a melting pot of nationalities and a heavy Spanish-speaking population.

Woman Costs Pair of Bandits $10.21

NEW YORK (AP) — A sweet-faced little lady with a strong pair of lungs scared a pair of would-be bandits out of a supermarket Tuesday. The unassuming experience cost the gunmen $10.21.

The men, in their mid-30s, one short and plump and the other of average size, strolled into a Brooklyn market at mid-afternoon, selected a purchase and strolled into the throng.

WAIT FOR CHANCE

For 15 minutes, they worked up one aisle and down the other, selecting soap, sugar, milk, meat, assorted vegetables and the like from the shelves.

They waited until most of the women had hurried off to meet their children coming home from school. Then they joined the checkout line.

"$10.21," said Manager Frank Nelson, 55, as he tallied their load.

One fellow handed over a one, two, five and a penny, then pulled a gun.

OILERS WOMEN BACK

"This is a pickup," he said. He waved the gun at the assistant manager, Harold McNamara, 40, and then shuffled to the back of the line.

Five of them did. All except the little gray-haired lady, aged 61.

"Nothing doing. I'm not going anywhere," she shouted.

STARTS SCREAMING

Then she cut loose with a series of screams that rattled the mount butter jars and the nerves of the would-be robbers.

"They fled, leaving their groceries and their $10.21."

The little lady, nameless because police fear the men might seek reprisal, explained her heroism.

"I had just cashed a check for $15 and I wasn't going to let these two hoodlums get my money," she said.

Clifford, Tunnaciff of Owosso Faces Charge of 'Tipster'

CORUNNA (UPI) — The defense begins its case today in the Circuit Court trial of Clifford Tunnaciff, a former Owosso police lieutenant accused of acting as a tipster for burglars.

Defense attorney Ralph B. Hoeschner said Tunnaciff, father of eight children, will take the stand in his own defense.

The prosecution rested its case Tuesday after calling only eight witnesses, including Owosso's police chief, a newspaper reporter and a man accused of attempted murder.

Hoeschner objected frequently to testimony by Ray D. Smith, who was arrested last Oct. 2 in a gun battle with police. Smith and a companion, whom he identified as William R. Mahar, were surprised while cracking a safe at an Owosso bar. Mahar escaped during the gun battle but was arrested after Smith linked him with the safe job.

Smith testified that Mahar had told him he broke into the Owosso Eagles' home on Jan. 2, 1961 and took about $800 from a safe. Smith said Mahar also told him he gave $50 to Tunnaciff because the police officer had tipped him on a doze at the Eagles' home.

Hoeschner said the testimony was "hearsay" and should not be admissible.

However, Circuit Judge Michael Cartland ruled that Smith's testimony was admissible.

Torpedo Inventor Dies Without Pay From U.S.

SHREVEPORT, La. (UPI) — Garrett J. Dye, 70, who invented a torpedo 41 years ago that worked on the principle of a guided missile, died Tuesday without collecting a dime for his idea.

Dye died hoping that Congress would approve a $1-million payment proposed last year by an Alabama congressman. He was a native of Dalton, Ala., but moved to Shreveport five years ago.

The army accepted his radio-controlled aerial torpedoes in 1918, but never paid him for the invention.

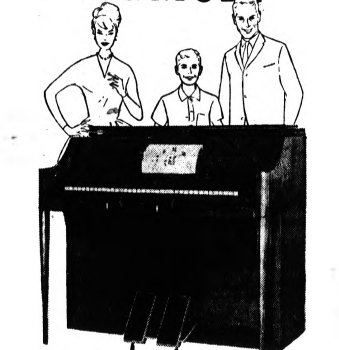

Dye made money, however, many of the 100 or so firms and the New Agency said engineers would discuss exchanges in the scientific, technical, educational, health and cultural fields with U.S. officials.

Stage Becomes World to Players in Psychodrama

NEW YORK (AP)—In a modest studio on Manhattan's upper West Side, a group of psychiatrists, psychologists and sociologists are reversing Shakespeare's idea that the players in the bigger world outside "all the world's a stage and all men's in the bigger world outside."

A BIG DAM—A blind boy—Alon De Shane of Grants Pass, Ore.—reaches as high as he can across the massive wall of a concrete dam seeking to know how big it is. He was one of eight students from Oregon School for the Blind taken on a tour of power facilities by a Portland utility. This is North Park Dam on Clackamas River southeast of Portland.

This therapy through make-believe is called "psychodrama." Demonstration sessions of it go on every night at 8:30 p.m. in the Moreno Institute on 18th Street a few steps east of Broadway. There, on a raised platform and with stage lighting to add to the effect, people act out a variety of problems ranging from getting along with one's boss to serious personal difficulties.

While there are regular closed sessions for persons in intensive group therapy, the nightly demonstrations are open to the public. Most who attend are not patients. Anyone can come to watch, whether he takes part or not. The idea is that the audience represents society. Its reactions to what is happening on the stage are believed to aid in the therapy.

STARTED IN VIENNA
Psychodrama is the brainchild of Dr. Jacob L. Moreno, a psychiatrist who began using it while practicing in Vienna more than 40 years ago. He felt that orthodox psychoanalysis was limited in that the patient dealt with abstract words, symbols, complexes, etc. In acting out his problem, Moreno found, the patient was actually living a real situation in concrete terms. The stage, for the moment, became his world.

A resident of this country since 1925, Moreno now uses psychodrama at his sanatorium in Beacon, N.Y., as well as in the institute here.

A psychodrama usually begins with only one person on stage. He is the "principal protagonist"—the man or woman with the problem. As the situation develops, however, the director—a psychologist—calls others up to play various roles in the life of the main character.

So much for the theory of psychodrama. In practice, here is how it worked one night.

Director Richard Korn, a social psychologist and instructor at the City College of New York, was the director. He began with an informal discussion among a group of about 20 spectators.

SKETCHES & ROADS
A girl in the audience began talking about what kind of lives many people lead as against the kind of life they would like to lead. Korn asked the girl—scribed a wooded path leading to the top of a mountain.

SOPHIA AT DIOR—Film star Sophia Loren talks with Mae Hulan, head of the fashion house of Christian Dior, in Paris. The occasion was the showing of the Dior spring collection Monday.

"Is there anyone up there?" Korn asked.

The girl said there wasn't. Korn asked if anyone else would like to go to the mountain. A young man got up from the audience and went onstage.

Korn: (to the girl) "Do you mind having him here on the mountain?"

Girl: "No, not at all."

Korn: (to the young man) "How about you?"

Young man: "Not really."

Korn: "What do you mean, 'not really'?"

Young man: "Well, after all, it's my mountain."

MOUNTAIN A SYMBOL
Suddenly, it became the young man's mountain. He said he considered the mountain a symbol of future business success. From this point on, he was the central figure.

Korn: "Is there anyone you on this mountain?"

Young man: "Well, my family is here, but not at the top of the mountain. They're a little lower down."

Korn asked the young man's fiancée to sit on the mountain but further down. In time, other characters provided by Korn or by the young man came to various levels of the mountain—below the protagonist.

A conflict developed. The young man's wife-to-be wanted to be at the top of the mountain with him, but he didn't want her there. "I'm the only one on top of this mountain," he exclaimed with some passion. "I built it, and I'm staying on top."

By this time, the man and his fiancée were really living their roles. At one point, he literally pushed her from the top of his mountain.

ENTERS PICTURE
The climax came when another character entered the picture. He was perched on another mountain and wanted to discuss business with the young man, who was then busily trying to iron out the difficulties with his wife.

Second mountain man: "Do you want to do business with me?"

Young man: "Yes, but can't you see I'm busy now?"

Second mountain man: "Are you in charge, or should I talk to the woman?"

Young man: (emphatically) "No!"

Second mountain man: "Well, you'd better talk to me, or I'll take my business elsewhere."

Young man: "All right, take your business elsewhere. I've got a family problem here, and that's more important to me."

Second mountain man: "But if I take my business elsewhere, other people will have higher mountains."

Young man: "I don't care. I want to talk to my wife."

With this, the drama ended—and it was, as dramatic as any stage play. Korn called it to a halt here because the central problem seemed to have been resolved. The young man had realized—at least onstage—that family was more important to him than business success.

The average number of red corpuscles in man's blood is about five billion per cubic centimeter.

Detroit Man, 44, Killed in Plymouth Rd. Traffic
DETROIT (AP)—John Laslo, a 44-year-old Detroit, was killed Tuesday when he stepped backward into a traffic lane on Plymouth Road. He was caught by traffic half-way across and stepped back.

Laslo was struck by a car driven by Keith D. Puffer, 24, also of Detroit, and thrown into the opposite lane of traffic, where he was hit by another car.

Con-Con Heads for Reapportionment Showdown

LANSING (U)—Separate plans for reapportionment of the State Legislature were mapped today by both Democrats and Republicans for a showdown debate on the floor of the constitutional convention.

The committee on legislative organization failed to gain bipartisan support Tuesday on any proposal for apportioning the House of Representatives.

Republicans, who held a two-to-one voting edge, pushed through a plan calling for a House of 119 seats, with one representative allowed for every county or group of counties having seven-tenths of one per cent of the state's population.

The remaining seats would be distributed on a basis of equal proportions.

Democrats voted solidly against the plan, and some GOP members indicated less than wholehearted enthusiasm for it.

The proposal carried 12 to 8 with Lee Boothby of Niles being the only Republican voting against the plan. Gary Brown, R-Schoolcraft, abstained.

After the vote was taken, at least three other Republicans said they reserved the right to propose amendments to the committee proposal when it hits the floor.

The committee chairman, Michigan State University President John A. Hannah, R-East Lansing, commented:

"I hope the majority will stay with the committee on this. We don't want a picnic on the floor."

"VIOLATES PRINCIPLE"

Democrats contended they voted against the plan, and all other Republican proposals, because they all violated the principle of representation on a true population basis.

"Even though one of the proposals would probably have given Wayne County another seat at the expense of the outstate rural area, we didn't want that either because it violated our principle," said Melvin Nott, D-Detroit.

"It amounted to a little bit of a bribe," he added.

Boothby said he voted against the plan because it was a "compromise which I could not conscientiously support."

"Few members who voted for the compromise plan liked it," Boothby said. "But the pressure to get some kind of a report out of committee by the end-of-the-month deadline was intense."

"I plan to submit a substitute amendment on the floor which will have the support of many Republicans. It would be inconsistent for me to vote in favor of a plan that I did not believe in and which I plan to amend on the floor."

The wrangle in the legislative organization committee was echoed in other committees striving to meet today's deadline, and there were indications that some groups might be working until midnight.

One delegate suggested to the convention that it use the parliamentary device of stopping the clock if necessary.

OTHER ACTION

Members of the executive branch committee hammered out several proposals covering civil service, the attorney general and other matters.

The committee voted down a proposal to limit a governor to two consecutive terms.

It decided to recommend that local governments be granted the power to set up their own civil service programs for their employees, with the facilities of the state civil service being made available if desired.

By an 11-8 vote, the committee switched its previous position and decided the attorney general should be appointed.

On a previous 11-10 vote, the members decided to keep the office elective. The committee also had decided earlier to make other administrative board offices appointive by the governor.

Head at Arthur Hill High Will Retire Next June

SAGINAW (U)—Irl M. Brock, principal of Saginaw Arthur Hill High School for 33 years, said Tuesday he will retire at the end of this school year in June.

Brock, 67, is past president of the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals.

School officials said Brock's successor will be Harold W. Giesecke, presently head of the school's counseling departments.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasitic medical experts say infect 1 out of every 8 persons examined. Rectal families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W Tablets do...and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, specially-applied ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge...a small, easy-to-take tablet...a special cure for children and adults.

IT'S CALLED "THE BOX" — Mixed emotions are displayed by third graders at Tonguish Elementary School in Nankin Township as they surround a contraption introduced by their teacher Mrs. Beagle recently. Mrs. Beagle, 23, (right) asked her husband Robert, 25, a U. of M. medical senior, for something to help out with her class. He built "The Box," as the youngsters call it. The machine lights up "true," "false" or "ridiculous" to buttons pushed after a question is selected from among 1,000 cards and dials are set. Kirk Stierwalt (left) came up with the wrong answer.

Help Her, Says Abby

Girl Needs Good Friend

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I feel that I'm a complete failure as a mother. We have a beautiful, vivacious, intelligent, 16-year-old daughter. We did all we could to guide her mentally, socially and morally. She developed much earlier physically than most girls.

ABBY

From the time she was in 7th grade her teachers have written or called me concerning her conduct with boys. I refused to believe the things they told me because our daughter denied them and I wanted so much to believe her.

Suddenly the truth was brought home to us. Our daughter had been lying to us and, without going into detail, we were completely fooled. She is not "in trouble," but she could have been.

She is popular and goes with "nice" boys, but even nice boys slip occasionally. We live in fear of what could happen. What do you advise?

EXTREMELY WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Every teenager should have someone with whom she can talk frankly, without fear of censure or punishment. That person, ideally, is her mother.

If you cannot cultivate that relationship between you, send her to a psychiatrist, clergyman or guidance counselor. Your daughter needs desperately to learn much concerning sex, emotions and the maturing process.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a woman who keeps annoying a fellow who plainly does not want her?

She has been after me for 12 years. I am told she has the idea that one day I will break down and marry her. I have never been in her company except for occasions when we have been "paired" off by mutual friends who think we make "a nice couple."

She keeps calling me and has even come to my apartment uninvited.

I am in my fifties and if she were the last woman I met on earth I would sooner marry a man.

HOUSED

DEAR HOUSED: Why don't you put it to her just that way? If you did, I'm sure you would have no more trouble with her.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man who has many good qualities, but he has one stubborn streak in him that drives me crazy. He refuses to let me drive the car while he is in it. He says a man looks like a pipsquak sitting beside a woman while she drives the car.

I have seen other men sit while their wives drove, and they looked happy enough to me. I can drive every car as well as he can, but of course he would never admit it. I would like your opinion on this subject.

HURT FEELINGS
DEAR HURT: Let your husband drive or he'll drive you crazy.

How is the world treating your Unhappily married problems on Abby.

Re-elected for three-year terms were board members

Mr. McLean, Dr. Lynn Allen, Mrs. Raymond Ballard, Andrew Montgomery and Bernice Watson. New to the board are Mrs. David Wardlaw, Mrs. L. Raymond Sampeon, Hiram Smith and Richard Bonham. Dr. Robert Kinnison will serve with the above members for a term of one year.

Of special interest was the presentation of donations to the Camp Fire Girls' Trust Fund from the Civitan Club of Pontiac and the announcement of profits from the Camp Fire Girls' annual end sale.

Pontiac Press Photo

Outstanding service in Camp Fire Girls' activities was recognized Tuesday at the group's annual meeting in First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland's building. Among the honorees cited for Camp Fire work of five years or more were (from left) leader Mrs. Howard D. Hissong, Rochester, and board members Mrs. Leslie Seay, Franklin Road; Richard G. Jarvis, West Hopkins Street; and William G. McLean, Dwight Avenue.

Pontiac young people were especially enthusiastic about Tuesday's symphony performance, since guest artists were members of the combined Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern High School choruses. During intermission Carol Ann Esser, Onida Road, and Bob R. Hetherington, Thorpe Street, compared notes on their respective colleges, Michigan State University and Wayne State.

Choruses Contribute

Symphony Thrills Large Audience

By A. MICHAEL DEMPSKY

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra presented its third successful concert of the season last evening in the Pontiac High School auditorium.

Under the direction of Felix Resnick the orchestra and the combined choruses of Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern high schools repeatedly thrilled a large audience of area music lovers.

The program began with "Donna Diana" an overture by Resnick.

The improved musicianship and fine sense of ensemble shown by this year's orchestra was evident in the following two selections, "Julet Suite" by Grieg and "Mazurka" by Chopin. Second soloist, by the English composer Benjamin Britten.

Board in these three compositions was a number of played wonderful solos. Clarinet and oboe solos were heard in "Donna Diana" and the "Julet Suite" featured some outstanding flute work. The Grieg piece was considered by many observers to be one of the best known and most charming compositions played by the orchestra this year.

After a short intermission the second part of the program opened with the playing of "Mazurka" by Chopin. This is a stirring piece of music. It is well-orchestrated and was given a good performance by the orchestra.

CHORUS PRASED

The combined choruses of 175 high school students together with the orchestra performed three compositions, "Ave Verum Corpus," by Mozart, "Halleluia Amen" from "Juditha Macabae," by Handel, and the "Polovtsian Dances" from the opera "Prince Igor," by Borodin.

Of the three, the "Ave Verum Corpus" was perhaps the most effective as the orchestra and chorus were able to achieve almost perfect balance of parts. The Latin piece was nearly perfect and they responded well to Mr. Resnick's direction.

In the stirring "Halleluia Amen" the choruses sang quite well and combined with the orchestra to produce a rhythmically exciting sound. The concluding number and by far the most exciting vocally and perhaps instrumentally was the set of "Polovtsian Dances." Performance of this music by the large group of musicians was outstanding.

The soprano displayed a beautiful tone on the opening theme, known as the popular song "Smoggy to Paris" and the alto section displayed a great deal of power on their solo section. The male section was excellent although their placement near the rear of the stage was not all that could be desired.

These young singers showed a most mature tone and fine stage presence. Few high school groups have performed these works with more enthusiasm or vitality. Directors Jerry Laby and Melvin Larimer are to be congratulated for their work in preparing these students for this difficult program.

This was the first time that a chorus has appeared with the symphony. It was a highly rewarding experience for all concerned—the choruses, the orchestra and the audience.

The next orchestra concert will be March 3, featuring Cecilia Merrill Turner as guest conductor.

Cynthia Kelley Plans to Wed Patrick Tracy

The Dr. J. Kelley of Lincoln Drive announced the engagement of their daughter Cynthia Kelley of Syracuse, N.Y. to Patrick J. Tracy, also of Syracuse. He is the son of the Patrick J. Tracy of New York City.

Miss Kelley was graduated from Kalamazoo College in June, 1960, and her fiancé is an alumnus of Pratt Institute, New York City.

The John P. Niggemans of Lakeland Avenue, Sylvan Lake (left), were among area music enthusiasts attending Tuesday evening's Pontiac Symphony Orchestra concert at Pontiac Northern High School. In Northern's artfully decorated foyer waiting to greet their companions for the evening were symphony supporters Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Strange, Tilden Avenue.

Intermission at Pontiac Symphony Orchestra's third concert of the season Tuesday found this foursome temporarily engrossed with another art form, an eye-catching arrangement of paintings and sketches by Pontiac Society of Artists members. Above are Dr. Murray B. Levin, Sheryl Street, Waterford, the Lyle Housens of Marquette Street and Mrs. Levin.

Will See Movie on Flower Beds

Hostesses will be Mrs. Rexell Norris, Mrs. Robert Nelson and Mrs. Dale D. Douglass.

LaVonne Bayche will speak on "Landscaping Maximum and Minimum."

The group will sponsor a new branch at an organizational meeting and tea 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Earle S. MacPherson on Meriville Court, Bloomfield Hills. Women from the Wilkesboro Road section in the vicinity of Lane Drive and Franklin road will comprise the membership.

Mrs. Arthur K. Hyde, Michigan Division extension chairman, will conduct the meeting.

HONORED GUESTS

Among honored guests and alternates of the tea table will be Mrs. F. Gordon Davis, Michigan Division president; Mrs. William McCallum, national extension chairman; Mrs. H. Earl Hanson, national publications chairman and slide chairman of awards; Mrs. Leroy Vandevore, program and honorary member of Crabhook Branch and also with the Bloomfield Hills Branch; Mrs. Carl E. Larson, president, Bloomfield Hills Branch; and Mrs. Harold T. Tanner, president of the host branch.

The counterpane for the meeting and tea includes Mrs. Douglas W. Booth, extension chairman; Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Robert Hubbard.

Fringe Is Favored for Aprons, Too

American designers seem to consider this the "year of the fringe"—even including aprons. One gray printed style, for example, has a fringed border and pocket. The machine-washability of its return fabric provides another fringe benefit.

Cap Sleeves Are Also Fashionable

(NEA)—Sleeveless dresses remain high fashion for special days. But if your arms aren't pretty, be wise and choose a cap sleeve instead. You'll rate more compliments.

No Choice:
Stop Seeing
This Friend

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: Just recently my sister had quite a run-in with a young woman who was a friend of both of us. I always liked this person and hate to have our friendship end because of this unfortunate incident.

However, my sister refuses to have anything further to do with her and says that if I remain friends with her, I will be very disloyal and unkind to everyone that I think my sister wrong and my friend right.

I don't want to hurt either one. I would appreciate your opinion and any advice you can give me.

A: I think your sister's point of view is unreasonable, but as long as she feels the way she does, you really have no choice but to stop seeing this friend.

Q: When "At Home" cards are exchanged with wedding announcements and the "At Home" date is several weeks after the wedding date, does that mean that people are not expected to pay visits on them until after that date?

A: Yes, the date means that they do not expect to be back from their wedding trip and settled in their new house until then.

Q: My employer left on an extended trip recently and before he went away he came to my desk to say goodbye. There was an awkward moment of not knowing what to do about shaking hands. I thought he should have offered his hand, but he didn't. Will you please tell me if this was an error on my part?

Ordinarily, I know that a woman extends her hand to a man, but as this man is my business superior I thought it would be presumptuous of me to offer him my hand. May I have your opinion on this matter?

A: It was in best taste not to offer your hand first, but it certainly would not have been improper if you had done so.

The clothes of the bride and groom as well as those of their attendants are described in the new Emily Post Institute book, "The Etiquette of the Wedding." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin, to cover cost of handling, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

An 'I-Told-You-So' Attitude Doesn't Help

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

Eighteen months ago my 19-year-old daughter suddenly married a man I met on a summer job. I told her that her home is open to her if she needs it, but her father-in-law thinks we should wait until she has made the break . . .

The future. Now the marriage is breaking up.

When we see them, our daughter and her husband either argue or quarrel. I think we should tell her that her home is open to her if she needs it, but her father-in-law thinks we should wait until she has made the break . . .

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Today's Tailor Trix winner is Evelyn Blake, Salem, Va.

"To solve the problem of the hem marks showing in heavy fabrics, or if you desire a deeper hem because of possible lengthening: Try hemming the garment twice. Slip stitch the first hem about one and a half inches from lower edge. Now slip the hem tape to the garment. You will find that the first hem helps take the weight of the fabric and will avoid an unattractive ridge at the edge of the hem."

PUT FRILLS ON SHIRT

Dear Eunice:

"My boy outgrows his white shirts before they are worn out. Is there any way I can make a boy's shirt look right for his younger sister?"

There are several ideas you could use that will delight your little girls and get double wear from a shirt. One of the easiest changes is to sew several rows of ruffled edging on each side of the center band.

You could also use colored rick-rack or decorative embroidered banding. Use your own ideas but be sure they are feminine.

CORDUROY POOR CHOICE

Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"I am new to the sewing world and enjoying it very much. Now I would like to use corduroy and wonder if it can be used for a circular skirt. Some of my friends say one thing and others something else, so decided to write to you before starting."

I would not advise corduroy or any napped fabric for a circular skirt. Any fabric with a nap must be taken in one direction and with a circle, you would have both directions on the same garment. You could use a gored skirt pattern instead.

ELASTIC HOLDS IT

"Is there any way of keeping a square neckline dress from gaping? I find this type of neckline most attractive for me, but am uncomfortable most of the time because I can't relax while wearing it."

There is a very simple way of making the square neckline lay perfectly flat and smooth. Actually, it works better if the neckline is rather low cut.

After the facing has been applied to the neckline and it has been clipped at the corners and understitched, press the edges smooth.

Now attach a piece of 1/2" wide elastic to each corner at an angle, as illustrated. In order to determine the correct length of the elastic, slip your dress over your head and shoulders, then bring both ends of the elastic under your arms to the middle of your back and mark the exact spot where they cross.

Now apply a book on one end of the elastic and the eye on the other end. This will be hooked to itself and will hold a square neckline close to your body.

Rest and Cold Water
Are Beauty Essentials

By ALICIA HART

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
There are two essentials to good looks that many women overlook. And oddly enough, both are free - yet both are priceless.

One is sufficient rest. The other is cold water. Read old? It isn't! A good night's sleep followed by cold water (NOT ice water) splashed on the face and neck, can work wonders for your appearance. Both should be a matter of habit.

Women who otherwise display good sense often show none at all about getting enough rest. And women who think nothing of spending five dollars for a jar of face cream never think of going to bed as free and marvelous as astringent - to tighten slack skin and aid in shrinking coarse pores.

If water were bottled and sold as a cosmetic, a good many women probably would get around to buying it. The fact that it's free makes him figure it as a beauty aid. And the same thing is true of a proper night's rest.

ANSWER: It is generally wise to say to a child in your daughter's position "Remember we are here to help if and when you need us."

A young person who is failing to make a judgment into a marriage does not resent such a promise of support; if it is free of the taint of "I told you so" triumph.

Though he may be compelled to ask our help, any suggestion of "I told you so" triumph can render the help worthless. This is understandable.

His request for help is in his concession that our judgment of his partner was right and his was wrong. He has been made most painfully aware of the deficiency of his judgment, and is moving through a most sensitive crisis in his development.

Without knowing it, he may use his humiliation to conclude that he is incapable of good judgment; and like the woman who throws the baby out with the bath water, confuse one mistake with hopeless incompetence.

At this most sensitive point, any hint of "I told you so" triumph in our attitude toward him may confirm his self-distrust and maintain him in a state of permanent dependence on your opinions.

He makes the same mistake as the "I told you so" parent.

As he discredits all his judgments because of one mistake, the "I told you so" parent credits himself with perfect wisdom because one opinion has proved correct.

Just Ask Junior About Magnetic Fields and Jets

AP Newsclashes

The way it's going, every child is going to be a science buff — if not a budding scientist — by the time he's ready for college. Latest innovation is a combination library and laboratory under one cover. One half of the "read and do" unit holds a page giving step-by-step instructions for experiments; the other half has an unbreakable storage tray with all the materials needed for the experiments. The Book-Labs available now deal with magnetism, air, jet engines and seeds. Other fields will be handled later.

Then there are also for youngsters on fossils, Geiger counters, beginners' microscope, earth science activities, statistics and probability, electronics, plus an electric brain construction kit.

And for the musically inclined, on special singing science records, such songs as "The Ballad of Sir Isaac Newton," "We Know the Air is There" and "The Planet Minuet" are belted out. Who knows? They might turn up on popular songs parades someday.

The Temple of Koyengi is overshadowed by an 85-foot ginkgo tree with a 28-foot girth.

Any gambler'll tell you — it's! They're saying that a Broadway thing that kills us is running up better to play with a sore loser pest is writing a book called "How stats and running down people... than any kind of winner... to Win Friends... Back"... The Earl Wilson.

Her Fashions Can Have Style, Dash

Tall Girl Has It Pretty Good

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Everyone seems to be growing in one way or another. Unfortunately, many are growing in the wrong direction — broadside. However, it also is true that men and women are growing taller.

With this in mind, I am giving a few tips to the woman who is more than average in height. Actually, she has great advantages in style and dash which her shorter sister never could dream of.

The important thing is to know what to do with your height, and the first and most essential factor is to develop beautiful posture. The shorter you are or the taller you are, the more important good posture is to you.

The woman of average height (if there is such a thing) can get by with poorer posture than either the shorter or taller woman can. Why not take advantage of your individuality in this matter? The shorter woman can increase the illusion of height with good posture and the taller one can dramatize it.

Here are a few hints for the woman who is above average in height.

The tall woman can wear, flatteringly, large hats and chunky jewelry. She can use the fashionable, big pocketbooks without looking dwarfed. She can wear boxy coats and bulky furs. The stunning, wide belts available, which dress up almost anything, are wonderful on you.

Contrasting colors in coat and skirt or dress and jacket are great for the taller woman. You can wear draped dresses, and bold, exciting designs in material.

I think it's about time the designers gave the woman of average height a break!

If you would like to have my booklet, "Clothes to Fit Your Figure and Personality," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 24 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

The tall girl has an advantage over her shorter sister. She has much more leeway in regard to what she can wear attractively.

Appearing Younger Not Worth Effort

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. A woman has to do more than cover up the gray in her hair to convince others she is younger than she is. She also has to be.

Avoid sitting down at a cocktail party — even if her feet are killing her.

Forgo the pleasure of recalling anything that would give her age away. Things like: "That song was popular when I was a freshman in college."

Avoid such remarks as "such and such just doesn't seem worth the trouble any more." Strive for animation even when it's an effort.

Always manage to leave a curious enthusiasm to talk about. Stay away from the relatives, and keep yourself in the spotlight.

Be vague, not only about her own age, but the ages of those who obviously are her contemporaries.

Avoid, like the plague, such remarks as "at my age" or "when I was younger."

Never mention that a style is too young for her or would look silly "at my age."

Keep her shag up to date — and not use any slang.

Never admit preferring quiet evenings at home to going out and partying.

Never say "at my age" to any woman who is younger than she is.

Be enthusiastic about anything.

Never, never talk about "the good old days."

In fact, there is so much that a woman who wants to seem young, that she is, has to keep in mind all the time that it hardly

Parents Group Sets Lectures in February

"Parents Without Partners" announces two lectures on its February calendar. Sponsored by the Downtown Detroit Young Men's Christian Association, the group meets at 8 p.m. every first and third Thursday at the "Y" Building, Detroit.

An open discussion and refreshments follows the meetings. A small donation is asked from nonmembers.

Dr. Owen W. Morgan, Ph.D. faculty member at Merrill Palmer Institute of Human Development and Family Life, will speak on "Sex Education for Children" concluding with films, Thursday at 8 p.m.

Robert Riek, director of Camp Olverson and associate coming director of Metropolitan Detroit YWCA's, will speak on "Camping for the Family" Feb. 15.

"Targets Without Partners" aims to provide an educational, social and cultural fellowship among persons with similar problems, interests and needs.

Lectures by authorities are planned in fields related to these problems, complemented by group discussion, group therapy meetings and coordinated parent-child activities.

Do More Than Just Apologize; Do Something!

(NEA)—Some women are constantly apologizing for their appearance. They'll tell you that their hair needs doing or they've put on five pounds or that they're wearing the wrong shade of lipstick. They gain no admirers by such tactics.

If you're conscious that something about your appearance is all wrong, don't apologize. Do something about it.

Actually, it's much like keeping house. We must do over and over certain things about our appearance in order to look well. If we slip on just one, we become conscious that all is not well and, the next thing we know, we're making the mistake of telling someone about it.

Be severe with yourself in the matter of personal grooming. If you've ever wondered how some women seem always to have that bandbox look, stop wondering. They pay attention to all of those small details that count.

OK Weeping Tile Tie-Ins to 2 Interceptor Sewers

Goodbye sump pumps; hello new divisions. The Oakland County Department of Public Works Board announced yesterday that it will change regulations to allow running water from weeping tiles to flow into the Farmington and Evergreen interceptor sewers, which tie into the Detroit system.

Many homeowners with sump pumps in the basement and real estate developers who depend on having to use them will welcome the change.

It will mean further development of new homes in sections of the county where low terrain has discouraged real estate people from building.

The sump pump purging in an open well in the basement floor never has been a selling point in a new home. The device often is malodorous, and poses a threat to sanitation.

Installation of sump pumps in many homes in the county has been necessary to keep basements dry from seepage. The need never would have arisen if water could have been drained away from building foundations through weeping tile connected into county sewers.

But the county has not had sewer adequate for this additional flow. Now it has through the two new interceptors.

Both the Farmington and Evergreen sewers have been deemed capable of carrying the additional flow.

COMMUNITIES AFFECTED

Communities being served by the Evergreen sewer include Southfield, Lathrup Village, part of Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, part of Troy, Bloomfield Township, part of Pontiac Township and Beverly Hills.

Those served by the Farmington sewer are Farmington Township, the major part of West Bloomfield Township, Keego Harbor and part of Southfield.

Heads of municipalities in the county were informed of the forthcoming change in service at a meeting with the DPW board yesterday in Pontiac.

The additional service will entail a hike in the water rates of users, according to DPW Director R. J. Alexander. He predicted an 11-cent increase per thousand cubic feet of water used in the home or building serviced.

The added cost will average out to 44 cents more on each quarterly water bill, he said. Rates currently are 57 cents per thousand cubic feet.

In order to tie in with the interceptor sewers, the weeping tiles will have to be placed at least two feet above building footings or the ground water table (the natural average water level below ground). Otherwise sump pumps still have to be used to assure dry basements.

RESPONSIBILITY

Passing of things to the sewers will be the responsibility of both the municipality and the county DPW, said Alexander.

Also, downspouts from eaves-troughs will have to be extended, through the use of splash boxes, at least five feet from the foundation. This will assure that the runoff water will not flood into the sewers during heavy rains.

The DPW plans to initiate the change in service with eight pilot projects. These projects enable a test of the system before any further additions are made to it.

In order to avoid homeowners and others to the service, municipalities will have to change local ordinances that have prohibited such connections since 1959.

S. Viet Nam Hits New Red Party

Anti-Communist Regime Protests to International Commission

SAIGON, South Viet Nam — South Viet Nam's anti-Communist government has protested to the International Control Commission (ICC) against the recent formation by Communist North Viet Nam of a "Marxist-Leninist" party in South Viet Nam.

The new party is known as the Viet Nam People's Revolutionary Party. Communist announcements indicate they plan to use the new party as the nucleus of a "neutralist" rebel government on South Viet Nam territory.

The communist authorities in the North have started a new phase in their policy of aggression by openly creating, south of the 17th parallel, a new organ to seize power. South Viet Nam's mission to the ICC declared in its protest note made public today.

It called the formation of the new party a flagrant violation of the 1954 Geneva accord which split Viet Nam. The note said a Jan. 1 declaration by the new party affirmed its allegiance to the Indo-Chinese Communist party and promised to follow its instructions "unreservedly."

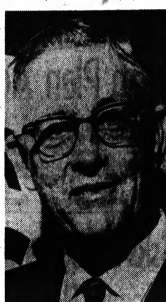

Formation of the new party marks the first time North Viet Nam's Communist government has publicly identified itself with the rebel movement in the south. Heretofore, the Viet Cong guerrillas operating in South Viet Nam have refrained from trying to sell communism.

They have concentrated their propaganda fire on alleged corruption in South Viet Nam's government and interference in the internal affairs of South Viet Nam by "American imperialists."

The switch in tactics could pose a long-range political threat to the pro-Western government of President Ngo Dinh Diem by trying to attract discontented or dissident elements in South Viet Nam to a new "neutralist" rebel government.

RAY ROBERTS

Merchant Wins Rayburn's Seat

Ray Roberts Happy and Tearful as He Phones Lyndon Johnson

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Ray Roberts, a merchant and president of the Texas Senate, has won the U.S. House seat of his political mentor, the late Sam Rayburn.

The 48-year-old Democrat, jubilant almost to the point of tears, said he was succeeding "the greatest man who ever lived."

He promptly telephoned Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, long a political associate, and arranged a victory meeting in Washington Monday.

Roberts defeated Robert C. (Bob) Single in Tuesday's runoff election in Texas' 4th congressional district, represented by Rayburn for 48 years.

When the vote count ended Tuesday night Roberts held an insurmountable lead of 16,047 to 13,302 and had conceded.

Both Roberts and Single were protégés of Rayburn and both described themselves as supporters of the Kennedy administration, although Roberts was regarded as more conservative.

Roberts has expressed opposition to federal aid to education and to U.S. aid to any Communist country. But he says, "I'm a lifelong Democrat without adjectives or apologies."

The young congressman worked for Johnson when the vice president was state director of the National Youth Administration during the Franklin D. Roosevelt era. Later, both went to Washington.

Roberts has no aide to Rayburn and Johnson as a member of the House.

By the Associated Press

The odds of death by solar storm for space travelers, new space eyes planned for next weathermen, and frustrations in a cat's life are subjects for science at work.

ODDS AGAINST DEATH

Every so often flares erupt randomly on the surface of the sun and unleash a storm of radiation into space. On earth we're protected from most of it by the shielding of the earth's atmosphere. In space there is no protection.

For space travelers, this could be a hazard. But now Boeing Aircraft scientists, after a long study of solar storms, figure the odds against a death-dealing dose of radiation in the course of a week-long space mission would be 120-1.

This is without shielding. The hazard of death would be even lower if spaceships were designed to use the equipment and fuel as protection against the point on earth as the globe rotates slowly under it.

Finally, two Nimbus satellites may patrol at once, providing worldwide data every six hours.

A CAT'S LIFE

Having trouble adjusting? Do things change too rapidly for you? Don't feel bad, your pet cat may have the same trouble.

Veterinarians investigating the mental health of pets find that cats do indeed become frustrated, largely from having to live in city environments or otherwise conform to human standards.

One of a cat's prime pleasures is affection from the master, they say. Women, for instance, often get cats to cut better than men.

Four more Nimbus satellites will be launched, and in 1962 the first cause they take time to get the Nimbus satellite will be sent into orbit while they are feeling about over the North and South them. Veterinarians estimate that poles. With this orbit, the Nimbus there are some 28 million cats will be able to see clouds at every living in American homes.

Speaks at Elks Temple

State Tax Man Defends Policy

Wayne County is not being exploited for state tax purposes in spite of criticisms to the contrary, Robert A. Eckhart, chairman of the Michigan Tax Commission, declared in Pontiac yesterday.

He labeled such criticisms from "certain members of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors" as harassment rather than intended to be constructive.

Eckhart was addressing the Oakland County Assessors Association gathered at the Elks Temple for its regular monthly meeting.

He denied that his speech was a rebuttal of a recent talk delivered before the assessors here by Willis H. Hall, executive secretary of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce and a Wayne County Supervisor.

CHANGE CATEGORIES

Hall at the time declared that a great part of the state tax load must be shifted from industries onto homeowners if Michigan is to save its industries from leaving the state.

"I was not present for his (Hall's) talk, nor have I had any transcript," said Eckhart.

Without even mentioning Hall by name, Eckhart declared his major intent, "would not be happy to see his avowed goals achieved because the reason for his job no longer would exist."

Eckhart admitted that the 53-member tax commission "cannot keep up adequately accurate equalized valuations for all counties in Michigan."

The commission has been accused in Wayne County of not being accurate in its assessments, and failing to conduct similar field work in other counties.

Eckhart dared anyone to prove that the commission has not been "fair and equal" in Wayne County.

Equality of taxes between towns and cities "can be our only goal," he said. "We cannot be concerned with individual assessments."

... appraising is not an exact science. It is not the nature of the beast."

The commission can only place tax values at a rate that reasonably compares with that of other communities in Michigan, he stated.

He noted a 12 per cent cut in Detroit assessments last year, adding that this same cut applied to taxes on industrial machinery as personal property.

Bowing to a need for legitimate criticism in a democracy, Eckhart deemed that those doing the criticizing should do so for the betterment of the assessment process and not as a matter of harassment by "professional agitators."

Combined Michigan E and H bond purchases for the year were $260,285,000, which compared with $267,870,000 in 1960 — a drop of .9 per cent.

The total was equivalent to 87.9 per cent of the 1961 quota of $277,100,000.

Cats' announced the state goal, as well as that for this county, will be the same for 1962 as it was last year.

Combined purchases of series E and H bonds were $22.6 million for the state as a whole in December, according to Delmar V. Cole, state director for the Treasury's U.S. Savings Bonds Division.

Michigan E bond purchases amounted to $20.2 million in December, down 11.3 per cent from the same 1960 month, while H bond buying of $2.6 million for December was up 5.8 per cent from a year ago.

PURCHASES DOWN

For the year 1961 as a whole, Michigan residents invested $228,327,000 in series E bonds which was 4.3 per cent less than the $238,7 million total for 1960. H bond purchases for 1961 were up 3.1 per cent at $31.9 million.

County Residents Invest $10 Million in U. S. Bonds

Oakland County residents invested $10,303,730 in U.S. Savings Bonds in 1961, equivalent to 87.9 per cent of the year's Treasury assigned quota of $11,783,000, it was announced today by Alfred C. Girard, chairman of the County Savings Bank Committee.

The 1961 total compared with $10,821,752 in 1960.

Girard reported he had been advised the county sales goal will be the same in 1962 as in 1961.

Children Taller Than Years Ago

Good Food and Medical Care Cause Two Inches More Height

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agricultural Department scientist said today that better medical care and environment in general have resulted in children who are taller at every age than they were in years ago.

Physicians have become adults in recent decades, average 2 inches taller, according to Dr. Ruth Levinson, of the Agricultural Research Service (ARS).

"The diet and nutritional status of the children of this nation have never been as good as they are today," Dr. Levinson said.

Levinson generally has improved in recent decades and often adult diets have improved more than those of adults. Many child diets are eating foods and amounts of food that supply an adequate and often optimum intake of nutrients.

The scientist said that in spite of the advances in the nutritional status of children, both national and new products are challenging children's eating habits.

Some children should consume more milk and cheese and more fruits and vegetables to meet their needs for calcium, vitamin C, and vitamin A. Said Levinson, girls often decrease their food intake just before the time when they need for food increases.

Will Reactivate 2 Army Units at Earlier Date

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two more Army divisions will be reactivated earlier than expected, but Army officials said this doesn't necessarily mean an earlier release for reservists called to active duty last year.

The Army announced Tuesday the 1st Armored Division will be reactivated at Ft. Hood, Tex., Feb. 2 and the 4th Infantry Division, originally scheduled for March, will be formed Feb. 15 at Ft. Carson, Colo.

Officials noted the two divisions face about eight months of training before they can be sent to combat.

Thus, they said, the slightly earlier activation doesn't necessarily mean reservists and National Guardsmen called to duty last year will be released earlier.

City Commissioners Pass 'Austerity Budget' 5-2

City commissioners last night adopted a $6,719,525 "austerity" budget for 1962 that would reduce the tax rate to $13.86 per $1,000 of assessed property value.

The margin was unexpected since all seven commissioners had voted acceptance of the budget in informal meetings and had officially approved it at last week's meeting.

However, commissioners Robert Landry and Walter C. Henry voted against the appropriation ordinance. Each said he "couldn't vote in favor of a tax increase at this time because it wouldn't be in the best interests of the people in my district."

Speaking for the majority, Commissioner John A. Dagen said, "As you all know, we have to live on a shoestring. We've studied this budget thoroughly and have agreed there is no alternative. If we kept the current rate of $13.40 we'd have to cut 12 employees, pay hikes back to nothing, for instance."

The total budget is about $17,806 higher than the 1961 budget.

The ordinance calls for $10,017 to be raised by taxes, about $80,000 more than was needed in 1961.

$550,000 SURPLUS
An estimated $2.7 million is to be raised from license other than taxes, which includes $550,000 in unappropriated surplus.

The estimated income from sources other than taxes is about $2.7 million more than in 1961 budget. The total budget includes an $825,000 appropriation for capital improvements, the same as last year.

The budget is essentially the same as proposed by former City Manager Walter K. Williams last year.

SAIL PLANE—A small drone version of the experimental Flex Wing aircraft is being investigated by the U.S. Marine Corps at its desert facilities at Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif. The plane would be powered by a gasoline engine in the rear. Launched by troops in the field, it would serve as a reconnaissance or spy plane. Like its larger counterpart, the drone has a "wing" of fabric and is a light armful for Ryan Aeronautical Co. employee Cecil Craig to carry.

Asks to Regulate Discount Houses

Commissioner Urges Ordinance to Levy Fee on 'Fly-by-Night' Stores

Pontiac city commissioners took a long look at regulating what Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. called "fly-by-night discount houses" at last night's meeting.

The commission in general agreed with Taylor that establishments operating on a temporary basis should pay for the privilege as do permanent business places.

Taylor and Mayor Philip E. Brownson suggested the city investigate the possibility of adopting a transient merchants' ordinance.

City Atty. William A. Ewart told commissioners there was "no legal way in which discount stores of the type that open a month or two before Christmas and close shortly after Christmas can be forced to pay taxes to the city."

"In fact, there is not even a license fee required of them at present," Ewart said.

"License fees, in most cases, are limited to the cost of inspection, supervision, regulation and policing of the establishment or items they cover, but the city should be able to pass a transient merchants' ordinance with some teeth in it," he added.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry suggested such an ordinance include some provision whereby merchants be bonded to protect the public against cheap merchandise that breaks down and isn't returned because the business place no longer exists.

Ewart said he would prepare an ordinance before next week's meeting to require a high license fee of such business places.

Commissioners agreed they didn't want to "oppress" fly-by-night stores, but felt "an inequality exists when an untaxed enterprise takes business away from taxpayers in Pontiac."

According to Ewart, the blaze began near the southwest corner of the 46 by 26-foot building where a large mound of metal was stored. Pond and its contents were combustible.

Michael Olson, office manager of the company, stated none of the 22 employees working in the plant at the time was injured.

Olson said the buildings and contents were partially insured and that the company would be back in service within 30 days in another building.

The company is the second largest Michigan peat producer in the country and packages some 1 1/2 million bags of the fertilizer each year, Olson said.

Budd Co. Worker Killed in Punch Press Mishap

DETROIT (AP)—A 43-year-old Budd Co. worker was killed last night when he was crushed by a punch press. Dead was Jacob Bednarski, 43, of Fair Haven.

A co-worker, Arthur Russell, 62, 1805 Canyon St., had been told by Bednarski was walking around in the pressroom when the press came down and pinned him underneath it. Russell said an electrician had been working on the press earlier in the day.

REIMS, France (AP)—"I was jealous of a woman who had better prospects than I did," said Lucien Robert Dactel when asked in court to explain why he had speeded trucks in front of a rival's address in a punch press. Dead was Russell, 62, of Fair Haven.

Organizing Chapter of Jaycees in Area

Members of the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce are organizing a new Jaycee chapter in West Bloomfield Township, according to chairman William Sharp and Norman Nelson.

Some 20 young men have been contacted and an organization meeting was held at 7 p.m. tonight in the Boys' Club building on Orchard Lake Road.

All interested men 21 through 35 may attend the meeting. Sharp stressed that prospective members do not have to be business or professional men.

March of Dimes Wee Bit Short; Will Carry On

Cold weather and key streets last night caused Oakland County's 1962 New March of Dimes drive to fall about $1,000 short of last year's total, it was reported today by Hal Newhouse, county campaign chairman.

Area mothers who braved the elements to collect for the drive today turned in $88,000 from the county, said Newhouse, former Detroit Tiger pitching star who lives in Franklin Village. Last year's drive netted $92,000.

Because of the bad weather, collectors will be out again today and tomorrow to contact those not canvassed in last

Film Output at Low Tide; Overseas Studios Flooded

 AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Movie production here is at the lowest ebb since the strikes of 1959, but there appears to be no alarm.

Three major studios have one film apiece — "Dumplings" for Fox, "The Day After Tomorrow" for MGM, "Who's Got the Action?" for Decca. Martin, Lana Turner at Paramount and "Gypsy" for Ross. Natalie Wood at Warner, Columbia, 20th-century Fox, Disney, Allied Artists and Universal are also shooting here.

Twelve American movies are being made overseas.

Four big independent films are in production locally. "Tasmanian Devils" by Brynner, "Troy and Connie" by M-G-M, "A Child Is Waiting" by Lancaster, Judy Garland; "Two for the Seesaw" by Shirley MacLaine, Robert Mitchum, and "The Manchurian Candidate" by Frank Sinatra. Also one offering which may be the height of dirty pictures — "The Slime People."

GOP, Dems Take Turns in Senate

Trade Barbs in Lansing

LANSING (AP) — A Democrat took a jab at Republicans and they in turn needed Democratic Gov. Swainson in an exchange of political prods in the Senate Tuesday.

"I think there are some shenanigans in the Senate," declared Sen. Patrick J. Doyle, D-Ipsworth.

CAN'T GET WORSE:

The outlook for 1962 seems brighter. With box office figures improving, producers seem more willing to take chances. The production picture is bound to get brighter — if only because it can't get worse.

Jerry Lewis expects a settlement of his beef with Paramount soon. Meanwhile he isn't talking about it, on advice of lawyers. He opens the "Suns" in Las Vegas tonight, then will probably make "It's Only Money," the wryly titled film he didn't show up for.

Frank Sinatra is planning for a giant TV special in honor of Ernie Kovacs, rather than the anthology series that some of the late comedian's pals are discussing. Sinatra is having his lawyers look into the tax aspects of a one-shot program that would raise money to help ungaraged Kovacs' finances.

"I'm sure I could sell the show for half a million," said the singer, who took part in a similar special to honor the late Mamma Schick.

Sinatra showed up on the first night time Soupy Sales show over ABC, sang a song and got a pie in his face. Soupy records for Reprise, Sinatra's disc outfit.

New Farm Plan Effects Touched

Could Change Prices of Livestock Products Slightly

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's proposed new farm program probably will have little, if any, immediate effect on retail food prices, an administration source predicted today.

Later, however, the new administration plan which Kennedy sent to Congress today might produce some increases in the prices consumers pay for meat, poultry, and other livestock products.

The President's message said his program was aimed at, among other things, production of food and fiber "at reasonable prices" in amounts large enough to meet domestic and foreign needs.

Kennedy noted that consumers already have reaped rich benefits in the form of low prices produced by increasing farm productivity.

"We spend less than 20 per cent of our income on food; the Western European spends between 30 and 50 per cent of his income on food; and the Russian uses 60 per cent," the President said.

Another administration source said consumer prices probably would remain relatively steady. It was hard to be precise, he said. In 1961, this source said, retail prices held steady while net farm income rose.

In 1962, some small increase in retail prices is expected, while farm income probably will remain at last year's level.

How Savings Bonds help make bigger graduating classes

Typical of today's mushrooming classes, 700 students take final exams at a leading Midwestern university.

American education and the U.S. Savings Bond Program have worked hand in hand toward accomplishing each other's goal for 20 years.

One of the most important results of this partnership has been the growing numbers of graduates—from colleges, professional, and trade schools—financed by U.S. Savings Bonds.

Stamps: Seeds of Thrift

Many of these youngsters began saving for their education through the U.S. Savings Stamp Program. This program in thrift is carried on in the Nation's schools through the volunteer efforts of school administrators, teachers, and students themselves.

Many of today's graduates owe their higher learning, and its priceless benefits, to the foresight of their parents who signed up for Savings Bonds on Payroll Savings or the Bond-a-month plan. Here's how the plan might work for you:

Start soon and stick to it

Begin putting $18.75 a month into Savings Bonds when your youngster is born. When he's 18, you'll have saved $4,000, but you'll own Bonds worth $5,600. You'll be able to get your money with interest whenever you need it. And every dollar you invest in Savings Bonds will help build a stronger America.

No wonder so many parents plan for their children's future this way. Why not you?

"Savings Bonds have helped broaden the base of education," says Mr. Ewald Turner, President, National Education Association.
 "For twenty years, the Treasury Department has offered schools a program of thrift training based on the student purchase of United States Savings Stamps and Bonds. Weekly Stamp Plans offer students something they can do for their country, and themselves. The program helps build greater personal security in the future and greater national security as well. It is a truly educational benefit, and it will continue to flourish."

Idle Rate Dips Below 6 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The unemployment rate fell to 5.8 per cent of the work force in January—the first time in 16 months it has dropped below 6 per cent.

Swainson Asks Building Funds

Ambitious $78.8-Million Plan Includes Unit at Pontiac State Hospital

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George W. Swainson today asked the legislature for an ambitious new state building program, $78.8 million of it to be financed by cash outlay and $56.2 million on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The program includes a $13.25-million, 30-bed children's unit at Pontiac State Hospital.

"Several years minimum on new construction has existed at a terrible toll in reduction of necessary state services," the governor said, "especially in the areas of mental health and education."

Swainson told the legislature the backlog of needs is so great no single approach can provide a proper remedy at this time. He therefore recommended the first step approach be the program.

FEATURES

The governor laid down the basic outline of his proposals in his brief message last week. His message to lawmakers today gave the details.

The $72.8-million general bond capital outlay program asked by the governor contains these features:

- 1—Construction or completion of all major building projects now under way.
- 2—Beginning construction funds for 800 additional mental hospital beds and planning funds for 800 more.
- 3—Increased matching grants for mental and community college building projects and planning funds for high priority buildings at state colleges and universities.
- 4—Funds for completing the new Leas training school at Whitmore Falls.

Goldberg announced that employment dropped by 1.4 million to 52,658,000 in January while unemployment increased by 57,000 to 5.8 per cent.

However both these changes were less than seasonally expected.

Employment usually declines in January due to post-Christmas lull, while unemployment increases because of the winter weather.

Actually the January employment total, with a drop from December, was at a record level for the month. The January total was 70,000 below the unemployment figure recorded in January 1961.

Goldberg made the figures public in testimony prepared for the Senate House Economic Committee.

They confirm what President Kennedy said in his economic report, Goldberg told the committee. "We are in the midst of a vigorous economic recovery, with production and employment reaching new highs."

The labor secretary said the nation still has a major problem in a hard core jobless situation that is continuing. He said long term unemployment still poses a "very serious problem."

Goldberg said that, at the current level of unemployment, 3.5 million jobs could have to be added during 1962 to reduce the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate to 4.5 per cent. He said that would be a temporary goal.

The U.S. debt reaches high of $298 billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The national debt has risen above $298 billion for the first time.

The Treasury said today that the debt, as of last Friday, amounted to $298,039,329.27. The temporary debt limit of $298 billion was not violated, however, because some $138 million of the debt is not subject to the ceiling.

A year ago, the debt stood at $291 billion.

President Kennedy last year lifted the temporary debt limit to $298 billion.

Troops to Check Congo Mission

Malayan Soldiers Head Into Kivu Province to Assure Safety of 12

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (AP)—A heavily armed column of Malayan troops and scout cars is penetrating deep into terror-stricken Kivu Province to assure the safety of 12 Americans at a Protestant mission, the United Nations announced today.

A UN spokesman said the mission at Kama had been received, but in the absence of any word from the station the U.N. is acting on a precaution.

American consular officials said the missionaries' headquarters at Wharton, Ill., had been received word from the Kama station the first week for January and was not unduly worried.

The missionaries belong to the Protestant Evangelical Mission of Malawi, a group associated with the World's Grace Testimony of Wharton.

Kama is on the fringe of the wild and remote sector of Kivu Province recently terrorized by marauding soldiers from the farm-raised capital of Stanleyville.

There are the soldiers, that numbered 12 British soldiers in November at nearby Kivu, 21 white Catholic missionaries and an aged Belgian businessman at Kongo, in North Kivu, on New Year's Day, and an unknown number of Africans.

The U.N. spokesman said he hoped to be able to release within a day or two details of a large-scale U.N. military operation against the marauding troops.

The Malayan column is made up of 13 soldiers, carrying 60 men, one officer and three doctors from the World Health Organization (WHO), the U.N. said. It is expected to reach Kama for another four or five days.

Kennedy Urging Speed, Ability for Space Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy told Congress today the U.S. space program gained new impetus and breadth last year, but even greater strides must be made in the months and years ahead.

Reporting to Congress in accordance with the National Aeronautics and Space Act of 1958, Kennedy detailed activities of the U.S. space program and agencies in the space field. During the last year, he said, major attention was devoted to establishing this country's pre-emptive objective of space leadership and accelerating efforts toward achieving that objective.

Kennedy revealed that he told Congress in a message May 25, 1961, that a leading role in space achievement may well be the key to this country's future.

"That I reaffirm," he said.

Defense Dept. Refuses to Link Censor, Speech

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department refused today to give Senators investigating alleged military "muzzling" the names of individuals who censored specific speeches.

The formal refusal was expected to provide a new test of the right of sensitive departments to withhold certain information from Congress.

Wills D. Lawrence, a Pentagon speech review expert, declined to tell the Senate Armed Services subcommittee who was the Pentagon reviewer on a speech by Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, Army chief of research and development.

Lawrence said he was acting on orders from Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara that no Pentagon official answer questions in such a way as to associate "a particular reviewer with a particular speech or article."

Fails to Concur on Fair Site Plan

Unit of County Board Against Allocation of Grounds to 4-H Club

The ways and means committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors today failed to concur with a recommendation by the Buildings and Grounds and Cooperative Extension Service committee to allocate the 4-H Fairgrounds site in Pontiac to the youth activities club.

The joint recommendation of the two committees was made subject to concurrence of the ways and means committee.

Ways and means instead recommended leaving the fairgrounds at its present location on M24 for the exclusive use of the 4-H Club, but at the will and pleasure of the Board of Supervisors.

Club officials had sought assurance of the fairgrounds site's permanency to justify further expenditures in improvements to the property.

The ways and means committee refused to allocate the site outright because it would thus lose control of the property's future.

"We don't know but the present site will become undesirable for this purpose at some future date," said David Levinson, committee chairman.

The committee was agreed that the 4-H Club is one of the finest youth programs in existence and could not visualize the Board of Supervisors ever taking any action contrary to the club's best interests.

Car Gets Tired of Waiting for Owner, So...

Earl F. Latham called the Oakland County Sheriff's Department at 5:37 a.m. today to report his car stolen from the garage next to his home at 409 Willow Tree Lane, Aven Township.

At Latham's home, deputies found car tracks leading from his garage across the street, through a driveway and into a neighbor's back yard 600 feet away.

On his short trip, the car had narrowly missed two trees, the side of a garage and a utility pole. Officers told Latham his car had somehow slipped into reverse gear while it was warming up in the garage.

Paris Agog at Peace (?) for Algeria

PARIS (AP)—France's capital buzzed today with reports that President Charles de Gaulle's government and the Algerian rebels are near agreement—or have reached one—on a cease fire and independence in the war-torn North African territory.

The Geneva correspondent of the Belgian radio, quoting an authoritative North African source, said complete agreement on the last recess.

PARIS (UPI)—French authorities have reported the man believed to be in charge of the outlawed Secret Army Organization (OAS) pleads bombing raids in metropolitan France, government sources said today.

Algerian settlement had been reached at a secret meeting in New York, Switzerland.

Paris newspapers Tuesday night carried prominent stories that an agreement was near, and various sources in Paris had the impression that developments on Algeria would come this week.

There was no official confirmation of the various press agreement reports, and none expected from French officials before Monday night.

If agreement has been reached, President de Gaulle probably will announce it in a radio-TV speech scheduled for today.

Cut Overseas Duty for Extended Gls

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Attorney General today cut a cutback of overseas duty for thousands of men whose tours abroad were extended by as much as six months to help meet Russian threats to Berlin.

It is the first major curtailment of emergency steps taken last fall to build up U.S. armed strength.

Army officials said they were unable immediately to estimate how many men were affected.

Some 42 per cent of the Army's million-man force is stationed in 39 different countries or areas. The heaviest concentration is in Europe (facing the Iron Curtain).

Steel Has Its Problems

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP)—This is steel's time in the spotlight. Steelmen are happy over the climbing production and the better earnings now being reported. But many are a bit fidgety about the amount of public attention their industry is getting.

It's nice to be a basic industry—now even call it TIE basic industry—and know you're that important. It's a bit troubling to be made the example of what should be done and can be done about the wage-price spiral and even the trend of the economy in general.

AGAINST PRICE INCREASE Many are casting steel in that role this year. The main reason is that the Kennedy administration puts prime significance on the terms which steel workers and management will negotiate in the upcoming wage talks—and on how soon the talks can be concluded. Washington wants no rise in steel prices and cautions labor against demands that might cause such a rise.

Other reasons are that climbing steel production can be interpreted two ways. It means that the economy is starting a healthy growth trend from the level set when the recovery wiped out the last recession.

If the increased production is largely due to stockpiling against the chance of a strike, the overproduction now, followed by underproduction while buyers live off their inventories later, could upset the general economy.

Hospital Breaks Occupancy Mark

Pontiac General Chief Reports 403 Patients in One Day

Pontiac General Hospital Administrator Harold B. Eider today announced the hospital has just set two occupancy records.

"Last week occupancy averaged an all-time weekly high of 101.5 per cent," said Eider. "Last Thursday there were 403 patients in general—every bed was filled."

He also said the first accounting period of 1962, which ended Saturday, saw a record high occupancy for a four-week period of 99.64 per cent.

Billings to patients totaled $36,136 during the period.

But excellent occupancy usually results in many cancellations in admissions.

"Our medical staff has been doing an excellent job in the admitting and discharge of their patients, but cancellations are still a daily problem for all concerned with the health problems of our community," he said.

"What is called for is an early settlement in the steel industry," Goldberg said after telling the committee he was making his appearance before them an "occasional" admission, not an appeal to the importance of industry to give a demonstration of industrial statesmanship to the country."

Goldberg Bids for 'No Strike' in Steel Industry

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg appeared to steel management and labor today to show "industrial statesmanship" by avoiding a recovery-halting strike.

The secretary made the appeal while testifying before the Senate House Economic Committee.

Ad. he said there have been encouraging signs on both sides. He cited the summing of the United Steelworkers Wage-Policy Committee to an early meeting in Pittsburgh and a statement by U.S. Steel Board Chairman Roger M. Bough which Goldberg said shows a willingness to cooperate.

"What is called for is an early settlement in the steel industry," Goldberg said after telling the committee he was making his appearance before them an "occasional" admission, not an appeal to the importance of industry to give a demonstration of industrial statesmanship to the country."

World Events Hurt by NATO Ban on Travel

East German Restriction May Cause Four Nations to Pull Out

By the Associated Press

The general NATO ban on travel by East Germans may cause Russia, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and the Netherlands to pull out of the world ice hockey championships, scheduled at Colorado Springs, Colo., March 7-18.

At the same time, it may cancel the world Alpine ski championships, opening Feb. 10 at Chamrousse, France, and turn the meet into nothing more than an international competition.

The ban, imposed last September in reprisal to the Communist wall in Berlin, apparently will not be relaxed in order to permit East German participation in the two events. Authentic Allied sources in Berlin said Tuesday there is no chance whatever of the East German teams getting the necessary travel permits. In NATO countries, visas are granted only if travel permits are secured.

Duke 5 Develops Into Powerhouse

By the Associated Press

Duke's Blue Devils, boasting a couple of sophomore sensations to augment junior phenom Art Heyman, have developed into one of the most formidable college basketball teams in Dixie.

Duke, ranked sixth in the current Associated Press poll, blasted its season's record to 13-1 with an impressive 89-73 victory over South Carolina Tuesday night. The Blue Devils took over uninterrupted possession of first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 6-1 mark.

Only one other member of the top 100, Cincinnati, saw action Tuesday night. The Bearcats No. 2 nationally, subdued Drake 75-52 in a Missouri Valley game. The triumph landed Cincinnati's record at 15-2 and 5-2 in league play.

Jeff Mullins, a 6-1 soph with deft touch, supplied the scoring impetus for Duke with a 21-point outburst against South Carolina. Jay Buckley, a 6-10 sophomore pivot, turned in his best game with 28 points and the 15 laymen, the ACC scoring leader, collected 20 points—including several key baskets.

Heyman, who entered the game as the fifth leading scorer in the rivalry, is averaging 27.9 points per game. Mullins raised his season's average to 21.1. Earlhardt is

FINAL SURGE

Duke unleashed a scoring outburst in the final 10 minutes to pull away from visiting South Carolina, which had cut the deficit to five points. Buckley sparked the Blue Devils to a 20-point run with six minutes to play and the winners never were headed.

Bill Dunn was instrumental in South Carolina's comeback, which cut the lead to 25 points in the second half.

Big Paul Hogue found the basket for 29 points in spearheading Cincinnati's late surge. Cincinnati's late surge was spearheaded by Cincinnati's late surge.

Eighteen countries have entered the Colorado Springs championships and this could reduce the field to 13. In London, however, John Alexander of the European section of the hockey federation said there is nothing in the rules regarding how many teams can make up a world championship. He pointed out that only four teams started the 1953 world tournament and one of those withdrew during the championship.

The hockey situation will be discussed by IJHOF, of Montreal and organizers of the tournament at Colorado Springs next Monday. The ski situation is to be considered at a meeting of the International Ski Federation in Bern, Switzerland, on Sunday.

West Gets First Aid in Los Angeles Push

By the Associated Press

The way Frank Seely and Rudy LaRocca acted Tuesday night, maybe Jerry West will get some major help in keeping the Los Angeles Lakers humming toward the Western Division title in the National Basketball Association.

West, who led his carrying much of the load in games where Elgin Baylor can't get away from him, scored 36 points Tuesday night and added 11 for him but Seely charged in with 22 and LaRocca with 23 and the Lakers had a mostly easy time of it in shipping the Chicago Packers, 107-92.

The victory, the Packers' 20th in 25 home games, pushed their overall record to 40-15 and enabled them to maintain their 8½ game lead over runner-up Cincinnati.

THE VICTORY

The Hawks also used balanced scoring in downing the St. Louis Hawks, 121-121. In the only game played Tuesday night, Charlie Givens' 40 points (triggered New York to a 19-10 triumph of Philadelphia, which had won seven in a row. The Pickers, with Walt Bellamy scoring 32 points, except to within four points in the second half but the Lakers moved well ahead again on key baskets by LaRocca and Jim Krebs.

Vikings, Hazel Park Wrestling Winners

Walled Lake and over-beaten Hazel Park scored wrestling victories last night.

The Vikings improved their dual record to 3-2-1 by whipping Livonia 10-2 and 20-0, but they were outboxed by unbeaten Tom Brown and Pat Harrington.

Hazel Park got three pins and two boys won decisions to continue the match 20-0 for two years while Yabe was 27-1. Black has been only tied once in 21 outings. The Parker team has won its last 25 duals.

Saginaw, Capac Continue Unbeaten

State prep basketball teams Saginaw and Capac kept rolling along the unbeaten trail while South Branch was downing Midland, 40-36, in a game that was a close contest.

Saginaw had to work much harder than in its previous games to defeat Midland, 40-36, in a game that was a close contest.

Torn Between Pro Football and 1964 Olympics

TOUGH DECISION NEARS FOR FRANK BUDD

"That's a tough decision to make," he says, "and I'm wrestling with it. I finished fifth in the 100-yard dash in 9.2 seconds last year in Tokyo in 1961."

He goes for progressive jazz in music and goes for broke when he starts sprinting.

One title that's never vacant is that of the world's fastest human, and Budd is the current owner. The Villanova university speed demon from Ashbury Park, N.J., is the only man ever to run the 100-yard dash in 9.2 seconds—officially. He did it last July in New York.

His coming graduation forces the 22-year-old sprinter into some what of a dilemma. In June he'll enter the 200-yard foot-race at the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League. But if he signs with the Eagles it will be the goodbye to the 1964 Olympics.

Split Decision Win Given to Giardello

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Joey Giardello, the right-handed midget boxing association middleweight contender, now fifth in the (line ratings), may get Sugar Ray Robinson as his next opponent after defeating Henry Hank at Detroit by a split decision in a round fight bout.

The decision over Hank, who had beaten Giardello in Detroit last July, drew boos from many of the 5,867 fans in Convention Hall Tuesday night. Giardello weighed 164, Hank 163½.

Copromoter Al Lewis has proposed matching the winner with Robinson.

Hank kept the pressure on Giardello all the way until the end of his lip in the second round, causing the Philadelphia crowd to boo profusely throughout the fight.

Report Action Needed on Recreation

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special commission reported today that a surveying need for more outdoor recreation in America must be met by legislation, large-scale action and "money—lots of it."

But the Outdoor Recreation Resources and Review Commission left it to President Kennedy and Congress, and to state and local governments, to figure out prices and what specific areas should be acquired or improved.

The 15-man commission, headed by Laurence S. Rockefeller, New York, did say that "the first task is to provide recreation for the metropolitan regions, which have the biggest population and demand for recreation and the least space for it."

And in urging immediate action, it said that:

"Highest priority should be given to acquisition of areas located closest to major population centers and other areas that are immediately threatened. The need is critical—opportunity to place these areas in public ownership is fading each year as other uses encroach."

PLENTY OF LAND
Basically, the commission said, there is plenty of land and water abundant for recreation, but most of it "is where the people are not."

Rockefeller told a news briefing that it was his purpose that "we haven't come up with either acres or dollars." The commission's idea, he said, was to discuss the principles and tools and leave it to others to determine how they can be used best.

No plans have been developed, he told a questioner, for following through on the report in the legislative field. But Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., a commission member, said he was sure bills would be introduced to carry out many of the recommendations.

Rockefeller said the report is oriented toward people rather than resources, with the objective of meeting the great demand for outdoor recreation. He said quantity isn't enough and the commission attempted to stress what it calls effective recreation.

Access is important, he said, and "it's fantastic how important it is to get to the recreation area." He said state parks are used 14 times as intensively as national parks because vast sums have been spent to develop their potential.

THREE YEARS
By direction of Congress, the commission has been working three years and $24 million peering into the problem of outdoor recreation as it will develop over 40 years—up to the year 2000.

It put more than 50 recommendations on paper. Some probably will be reworked in a vast conservation program stressing recreation, which Kennedy is expected to put before Congress in a special message Feb. 21.

Funds are now available to launch this work and the department expects to advertise for contract bids on the project early this spring.

Some $100,000 in vehicle permit money will be spent for development work.

Two dams will be constructed in the Bald Mountain project area, impounding nearly 80 acres. Early work will also include dredging and excavation in the 80-acre tract to create proper lake depths, work bordering the impoundment will be cleared and graded to develop major day-use areas and a swimming beach.

After this groundwork is completed, additional funds will be needed to develop roads, parking lots, toilet buildings and other facilities.

Shows Husband How to Spear Big Northerns
Mrs. Lloyd Berry, 68, of River St., showed her husband how to spear on Lake St. Clair. Lloyd had been spear fishing in shallow water on the flats. His largest pike was eight pounds. He took his wife along last week.

Mrs. Berry speared two northern pikes weighing 13 pounds and a four-pounder. The last her husband caught was a small six-pound pike.

The Berry has taken 91 pounds of pike from the St. Clair flats since Jan. 1.

Sturgeon Spearmen Poised for Opener
GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The closest thing Michigan has to a sea monster will be the prime target of a staged little contest of spearmen when the short and sweet season for spearing sturgeon begins through the ice openings Feb. 11.

It's only a one-month season, and the catch limit for the whole month is only two fish. But nobody could get two fish until now, since the season has been closed since last year.

The minimum size limit is 42 inches and the maximum last winter was 36½ inches. That whopper was speared by Jim Wadsworth, of Cheboygan. It weighed 125 pounds and won the Michigan sturgeon king's crown for Jim.

Practically all the sturgeon spearing in Michigan is done on the St. Clair and St. Ignace, Cheboygan County, where the big fish apparently gather after moving from Lake Huron via the Black River.

New Lakes Planned for Holly, Bald Mt.

Land needed to carry out development plans at Holly and Bald Mountain recreation areas, have been approved for purchase with vehicle permit money by the Conservation Commission.

Involved are 52 acres which will later allow construction of a dam on Thread Creek to create a new lake immediately north of the present Wildwood Lake segment of the Holly recreation area.

The upland edge of the present Wildwood Lake segment of the Holly recreation area.

posed impoundment area is high and wooded, making it well suited to additional campground and day-use development, according to Conservation Department experts.

When vehicle permit funds become available to undertake the project, some 100 campsites will be added along the scheduled new lake, the planners estimate.

A swimming beach, picnic grounds and other day-use facilities will also be developed to accommodate approximately 3,000 additional recreationalists.

At Bald Mountain recreation area, where development work has been hampered for lack of suitable water areas, the commission voted to buy 30 acres, clearing the way for immediate progress on the major water impoundment project along Trout Creek.

Funds are now available to launch this work and the department expects to advertise for contract bids on the project early this spring.

To Combat Lake Erie Pollution

Restoration Plan Outlined

TOLEDO (AP)—The fish population of Lake Erie, declining because of pollution, can be restored by proper treatment of the lake by the Ohio University professor.

Dr. Thomas Langlois says it's possible to dredge silt and sludge from the lake bottom and then restore the oxygen level by aeration.

Dr. Langlois was a member of a four-man panel which examined the pollution problem at the Ohio Commercial Fishermen's annual meeting.

Pollution is not limited to raw sewage and industrial wastes, the professor said. There also is pollution that so enriches the lake bottom that fish cannot survive.

The latter type, he continued, results from drainage of topsoil and the dumping of treated wastes into the lake. Both use up needed oxygen.

He proposed dredging the bottom and dumping the silt back on land. Then, the lake could be aerated in much the same manner that a quarter of a mile south of Grange Hall, in Cleveland Township.

Eddy Fears 'Stagnation'

Seeking Additional Funds

Conservation in Michigan faces stagnation unless more revenue is forthcoming, according to conservation director Gerald P. Eddy. He said the Conservation Department's fiscal revenue over the past several years has been a result of steady declines in hunting and fishing license sales and rising costs of operation—has reached the point where progress in just about all phases of game and fish management is at a standstill.

To ease the situation, four separate proposals are being considered by the Conservation Commission for recommendation to the Legislature, Director Eddy reported.

1. A sportsman's license for fishing, hunting and trapping, could be purchased for slightly less than individual licenses, with an option of the purchaser to contribute more to the program if he desired. For this, he would receive some special recognition.

2. Requirement of a resident license for Great Lakes fishermen and all inland anglers, which would bring a net increase of about $182,000 annually. If the trout stamp were increased from two to three dollars, an additional $180,000 would result.

3. An increase to $3.50 in the resident fishing license, coupled with a $4.25 license to be required of Great Lakes fishermen, and women anglers. Persons over 65 years of age would be allowed to fish free.

This proposal would bring in an additional $1,123,000 each year. If these above six were charged $1.25 instead of paying a fee, the increase would be about $1,277,000.

Seeks Longer Season
LANSING (AP)—The fishing season on lower trout would be extended under a measure introduced Tuesday by Sen. Philip Eddle, D-Huron.

The bill would give the Conservation Department authority to allow brown trout fishing during seasonal seasons in September, October and November, from the second Saturday in April until the start of the regular trout season and make them local prey for ice fishermen during December, January and February.

Conservation Bills Slow in Reaching Legislature

LANSING (UPI)—Proposals to change existing conservation laws have been slower coming in this year than normally, but several others have been promised.

Only three measures, all of relatively minor consequence, were introduced in the first three weeks of the 1962 legislative session from the appropriations measure.

They would prohibit hunting in Avon Township of Oakland County if approved by the township residents, remove the $5 bounty on the red fox, and prohibit the payment of any bounty to a person previously convicted of a game law violation.

Budget bills introduced as part of Gov. John B. Swanson's program called for the expenditure of $24 million for conservation, recreation and agriculture during the 1962-63 fiscal year. This year $10.6 million was in the budget for the current fiscal period.

Swanson called for $6 million of the 1962-63 total for the Conservation Department.

Emphasizing the impact on Michigan's economy of the tourist business in the state, the governor called for new state park facilities on the Tann and Grand Marais in the Upper Peninsula and in areas near Cheboygan, Potosi, in Muskegon County, Houghton Lake State Forest, Fort Ord and Port Huron.

The course also includes instruction in nautical language, boat construction, navigation, aid's, charts and compass, knots and splices, and water safety.

A manual for will be charged for class book and supplies furnished. 70 classes begin 7:30 p.m.

The eight-lesson course starts March 1 at the Huron Naval Reserve Training Center, 303 S. East Blvd., and the Northland Shopping Center, Ann Arbor, Northwood Heights and Eight Mile Road, Southfield.

The course of the Birmingham Community Center, 500 E. 12th St., began last week and is held each Tuesday night in Birmingham.

It starts March 7 at Franklin High School on Franklin and March 23 at Kimball High School, 1400 Lexington Ave., Royal Oak.

Michigan Duck Count Shows Big Decline
Michigan's wintering duck population has hit a new low this year, results of a recent statewide survey show.

Canada and several states across the U.S. have reported a decline in duck populations. This is the first time since 1940 that the annual duck count has shown a decline.

Employed 49 Years, 'Hello Girl' Retiring

Telephone operator Doris M. Hurstall sat at her switchboard position in Pontiac for the last time yesterday, and when the day was done, she walked away with a treasure of memories gathered during one of the longest operator careers on record.

It is more than 49 years since Mrs. Hurstall first sat down before a switchboard in Pontiac, and it will be 41 years and four months of credited duty with the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Free telephone people close their careers as possessors of the coveted Vail Medal. Mrs. Hurstall, who is 61, moves to Twice in her long career she was decorated for acts "beyond the call of duty," and was awarded the telephone industry's medal for heroism.

FOR HEROISM

The awards were made in 1922 and 1927 when Mrs. Hurstall called to help housewife locate their homes and hands as victims fired in the village of Charleston.

Her chief pride, though, centers around her two sons, Floyd, a real estate broker, and Elaine, Independence Township supervisor who worked their way through high school as employers of Michigan Bell. She also has 5 granddaughters and 2 great granddaughters.

Mrs. Hurstall, a long distance operator in Pontiac, came to the area in 1913, but the career that has spanned five years began in Lansing in 1917.

Two years later, she went to Charleston, and remained there until 1927 when she was transferred to Walled Lake. After a three year stint there, she was assigned to duty at Lansing, her "last stop" before coming to Pontiac.

She has an apartment at 1414 Evelyn Court.

Having no one particular hobby, Mrs. Hurstall plans to go on enjoying everything.

Continuing Education Director James H. Thibault described the seminar as "the first of its kind in Michigan which possibly may be applied to use in other communities in Michigan."

A grant to MSUO from the state board has financed planning and will cover part of the operations costs, he said.

Director of the seminar will be June Collins, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology at the university, who will also lead the first two sessions.

The sessions will be held Monday from 7 to 10 p.m. in Room 111, South Foundation. In 11, MSUO Registration may be made by calling the Division of Continuing Education. A tuition of $10 will be charged.

Working on the pipe with Steve are Julius Smith, Gerald and Steve Sullivan all of Lake Orion.

According to P.A. Toss, superintendent of public works, the project will cost about $50,000. The pipe will provide a connection between two points of the water system which have been dead ends.

LEARNED SYSTEM

Ross said they learned most about laying pipe this way when they put a joint of 200 feet length across the lake three years ago.

The Swiss Village will pump water through a pipe circling the lake for about 2 1/2 miles. This pipe can handle the pumps 700 gallon per minute output. Ross said.

With the new pipe, the water will have two avenues to the village and will travel only a mile to the shorter pipe.

In between clearing and salting the village streets and the other jobs, the men have been working on the water main project for less

Will Not Enter Race in Spring

Third Hasn't Reached a Decision on Seeking Another Term

WALLED LAKE — A major re-organization of the City Council in the spring already is apparent with the announcement that two incumbents will not seek re-election.

A third incumbent is undecided if he will run again in the April 2 general election.

Councilman Robert L. Witte of 215 Ballfax St. will be unable to seek his third elected term since he has been named chief engineer for the Chrysler Corp.'s new Space Division in New Orleans, La. and will move there shortly.

He will not have to resign his council post, however, because the election is less than four months away, therefore making it unnecessary for the council to name a successor.

SAY WON'T RUN

Councilman Robert L. Thibault said today he is keeping to his decision of a year ago and will not run for another term. Thibault of 1710 Pontiac Trail is vice president of the Wolverine Supply Co., Detroit. He has been a member of the council five years.

Waldo C. Proctor, who was mayor two years and mayor pro tem one year during five years on the council, hasn't made a decision on his candidacy for the council. He lives at 1410 Pontiac Trail.

A science teacher at the Walled Lake Senior High School, Proctor is currently recuperating from hepatitis and said he will wait until his health is recovered to make a decision.

Witte and Thibault are both ending two-year terms. Proctor regained a seat on the council last year by polling the fourth highest number of votes. His victory margin, however, was only by two votes.

At that time two tax reformers, Richard Watkins and Clyde Motor, were elected to the council to two-year terms. The pair respectively, polled the highest number of votes.

They had received public attention after winning lower tax assessments through a long battle with the city council and city manager to reduce property taxes.

INSURE DEATHBLOW

Following their election, along with that of incumbent Harold Ackley, the council's actions in many instances were deadlocked with split votes.

It was Watkins, Motor and Ackley versus Witte, Thibault and Proctor, with only Marshall Taylor's vote left to break the deadlock.

Taylor has said he will definitely run again for council.

Voters, however, do not elect the mayor. He is elected by fellow councilmen at an organizational meeting shortly after the regular election.

Candidates have until March 19 to file nominating petitions for the four expiring offices with city clerk Shirley Hayden.

Joseph Walker's Sweet Saga

Has 100 Million Employees

By BOB NESTER

MILWAUKEE — How would you feel if you owned factories all over Michigan with well over 100 million workers like Joseph Walker, and then at the first sign of winter the whole bunch quits working and goes home to sleep?

Things buzz in the summer and for the other nine months of the year the plants are all but shut down. Doors are wide open in the factories and everybody inside is snoozing.

But Walker, 63, takes it philosophically, working in the summer and loafing in the winter. That's just the way he is.

Walker started in 1930 with 10 cents of the happy little critters, and his business grew from there. Today he has been strong out from here to Traverse City and into several thousand colonies.

STARKED AS HOBBY

Began as more or less of a hobby, beekeeping is now one of Walker's firm habits. But it's quite a business.

Figuring on a 150-pound yield of honey from a colony in a good season, Walker's bees delivered some 300,000 pounds in a summer.

The dedicated apiculturist has avoided ticks in summer weather. Give him a day when it's in the 90s and the humidity is up around 90 or 98 per cent and you have a happy man.

Add a nice soft rain about every other night and the man sleeps with a heavy grin.

It's all tied in with the flowers. Warm sun squeezes nectar to the flowers and the humidity keeps it from evaporating. A strong rain washes the juice away.

The bee farmer holds his charges wooden hives complete with handy compartments for their surplus honey. These "supers" are fitted with removable frames on which the honeycombs are built.

As the fresh nectar arrives, the bees fill the cells and seal off those in which the sweet stuff has had time to ripen.

LEAVES SOME HONEY

From time to time, the farmer nips supers to keep up with the production. At the season's end, along comes the happy beehive and collects them, leaving plenty of honey for the group to get along on during their long winter nap.

Walker pointed out that all is not sugar and cream with the colonies. For protection they wear lead veils and tuck in their pantlegs. The veil is fair game. He counts on around 200 stings a day in September, when the

Eye Federal Aid for Walled Lake

Expect Application to Be Ready This Week for Sewer Study Loan

WALLED LAKE—Financial aid for a study of an internal sewer system, the city's biggest headache, will be sought from the federal government in order to get the much-needed project off the ground.

Mayor Marshall E. Taylor recently went to the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the Community Facilities Administration in Chicago to get the necessary forms for the loan.

Accompanying the mayor was Felix A. Anderson of the engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson.

Preliminary applications for the advance of funds from the government are expected to be prepared by the engineering firm and city manager Harold Mills by this week.

It has been roughly estimated that the city will have to borrow about $20,000 to complete the study.

The money would have to be repaid. Arrangements for the financing methods determined by the city once the study is completed.

A bond issue would probably be needed, according to Taylor.

Recently the City Council turned down a proposal for federal money that would have allowed them to make a two-year study of the overall general needs of the community.

The city's share of that project would have been 25 per cent of the total cost.

UNDER THE PROGRAM

The financial assistance for the sewer study would come from what is known as the 702 program. The proposal rejected by the council last year was under the 701 urban planning program.

While similar, the 702 program differs from the 701 program in that the city must designate a specific project for study.

If the funds are turned over to the city, engineers would study every possible means of providing sanitary facilities for the community.

This includes the possible hookup of city sewer lines to a system that has been proposed by the City of Walled Lake, and the connection of a main to the Farmington intercepting sewer.

Engineers have a project to construct the possibility of connecting to the Wayne County sewer system that will give Walled Lake, because of the extremely high cost.

CD Examinations to Be Given 40 in Oakland Twp.

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — Some 40 township residents enrolled in a new program of courses to train auxiliary policemen for work in civil defense will take their examinations tonight.

Members of the group will receive their certificates in ceremonies Feb. 7 at 8 p.m. in the township hall where the tests also will be given.

Oakland County Deputy Sheriff Charles G. Blain is serving as the training officer for the program. He is a retired sergeant for the sheriff's department and a 12-year veteran of police work.

Blain currently is acting liaison officer between Sheriff Frank W. Irons and the county office of civil defense.

The course in Oakland Township was for nine weeks.

Pictures With Learning

Connect Mental Image to Go With Word

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California.
We seldom realize how essential mental pictures are in learning, and in recalling what we have learned.

Without mental pictures, memory for words often is futile.
A case in point is that of Ted who was taking a course in physiology. He needed good grades to stay eligible for football. Even more, he needed good grades to get into college for a premedical course that would fund him in his father's footsteps as a doctor.

Knowing that physiology was the basis for DR. NASON

many things he would study later, Ted worked hard on this course, and learned a lot about it. Given a physiology term, he could come up quickly with a good definition. Name a bone and he could tell you where to find it in the body, felt he had physiology at his fingertips.

Then came disaster. Ted got an F in a mid-semester test — a low F at that!

Although he really should have been able to figure it out for himself, Ted came to me for help.

"Just what kind of a test was this, Ted?" I asked.

"Well, they placed various bones on tables and numbered them. We walked from table to table and tried to identify the bones."

He was being tested, in other words, for his ability to recall the right terms when shown objects. But Ted's knowledge of physiology was keyed to words alone. Consequently he failed the test.

To help him, Ted and I worked out a plan of study that can be used by students of physiology, biology, life science and many other courses. This should be done from the first day, instead of waiting until disaster strikes.

Even if you don't have to face an identification test, it's a good study plan. Connecting mental images with words and ideas make a good memory system for anybody.

HERE'S THE PLAN
As he studied each bone, Ted made a mental picture of it in its proper location in the skeleton.
With this picture he associated the function of the bone. First he would look at the bone or its picture, then close his eyes to form the mental picture.

While listening in class he practiced bringing up mental pictures of all structures, circulatory systems, and digestive tracts as the teacher discussed them.

To make sure that this new system would be set down in his room and drew sketches from memory. Then he checked the sketches for accuracy with the pictures in the book.

During all of this practice he was careful to think and sometimes write the words related to the mental pictures.

Ted's was a real success story.
On his next physiology examination he scored 88.
Don't overlook the effectiveness where he had gone to prepare the mental pictures in learning.

City Gets Cost Estimates on 4 North-Side Sewers

City Engineer James N. Carlisle last night presented the City Commission with cost estimates totaling $108,618.49 for constructing four combined sewers on Pontiac's North Side.

They would be built on four streets in the Kennett Gardens area, which long has been in need of improved sewage facilities, according to city officials.

Each sewer would run from Kennett Road northward.

Carlisle estimated the cost of a sewer on Cherrydown Drive, to the north line of lots 162 and 204, A.P.

144, would be $19,422.86. The city would pay $13,822.86 with $5,600 coming from special assessments to affected property owners.

ESTIMATED COSTS
Cost was estimated at $28,770.50 for the sewer on Meadowlawn
Drive to lots 75 and 123, inclusive,
A.P. 144, with $8,640 coming from special assessments and the remaining $20,130.50 paid by the city.

The most costly project is on Stanley Avenue, Kennett to W.
Strathmore, with a total cost of $31,187.70. Carlisle estimates $7,900 will be paid through special assessments and $23,287.70 by the city.

The final sewer, on Cloverhewn
Drive to the north line of lots 236 and 286, A.P. 144, should cost $27, 564.63. The city would pay $19, 664.62 and $8,900 would be from special assessments.

On all four projects, approximate cost for a 60-foot lot would be $180 to the property owner. Commissioners accepted the estimates and stated public hearings on the city's construction plans for next Tuesday's meeting.

Lords Are Told to Be Rid of Rats by Being Nice

LONDON (UPI) — Air Chief Marshal Lord Dowding, speaking in a House of Lords debate Tuesday night on the use of poison against pests, urged his fellow peers to rid their homes of rats and mice "by talking to them."

Dowding, 73, one of the leaders of the wartime Battle of Britain, a spiritualist and believer in ghosts, said that with a little understanding it was possible to communicate with rodents and even insects.

He cited the case of his wife's mother who, he said, conquered a rat plague in her chicken coop with a little psychology.

Although prejudiced at first by a strong dislike of rats, "after waiting until for some weeks she got to know individual rats, and her outlook changed," he said.
"The effect was immediate. She cleared her fowl run of rats."

Consider Toll Raise on St. Lawrence

TORONTO (AP) — Toll rates on the St. Lawrence waterway system may have to be boosted in a promotional campaign aimed at increasing traffic is successful, the manager of the Great Lakes Waterways Development Association said Tuesday.

Addressing the annual directors' meeting, Vice Admiral E. Rollo Maury said the continued falling of traffic and revenue behind the estimates of the tolls committee poses a threat to industry using the waterway and the Windsor canal.

The deficit amounts to between 20 and 35 per cent of the forecast total but the GLWDA is resistant to raise tolls because this displeases Canadian shippers their traditional free use of the waterways, the manager said.

Scientists Claim N-Tests Will Cut Lives of People

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of scientists opposed to U.S. nuclear tests in the atmosphere says failure from such tests "almost certainly" would shorten the lives of some people in this and succeeding generations.

The Council of the Federation of American Scientists, claiming 21,000 scientists and engineers as members, said Tuesday that atmospheric tests are resumed the government "owes an explanation of both the technical and political reasons for such a decision to the citizens of this country."

President Kennedy has ordered preparations for atmospheric tests but says no decision on holding them has been reached.

The council statement was approved at its Saturday meeting in New York last Saturday and released through its headquarters here.

To Recognize 'Great Job He's Done'

Negro Named Pepsi Cola Vice President

NEW YORK—Harvey Russell, a Negro, occupied today an office that few of his race have attained: vice president of an internationally known corporation.

This is the most popular election of a vice president in recent years, said an associate of his at the Pepsi-Cola Co.

Herbert Brunet, president, said Pepsi's board voted to make Russell vice president, special markets, strictly on merit. "It was in recognition of the great job Harvey has done," he said. Russell's salary is in the neighborhood of $200,000.

Russell, physically trim at 43, commented: "The problem I have been in is getting a spot in which to prove ability. Once in a position where ability counts there are very few problems."

Russell said that "until the war there wasn't much opportunity in business for the Negro. Any Negro looking for advancement had to do it in the field of education."

BEGAN TO CHANGE
 After the war, Russell related, things began to change. "I personally have run into no major problems as an executive," he said. "I've had some of course but by and large I've found that among executives there is much more acceptance on the basis of ability than on any other basis."

Russell's first job paid him no salary for the first six months. His rise at Pepsi was not meteoric. But for 12 years he has been handling some of its toughest problems.

Russell, a native of Louisville, considered a teaching career. His father was president of West Kentucky State College, his mother was a Louisville schoolteacher. His four brothers and sisters all were college graduates.

"I was going to study for a doctor's degree in sociology," he said.

Then I saw my chance to do it. I wanted to make something out of it. My first job was with an advertising agency in New York, specializing in consumer markets, including the Negro and African markets. Russell's job put him in charge of all these specialized markets.

So, said Russell, his color was no problem. "Oh, I'd like to live in another neighborhood—sure—a higher income neighborhood but I can't afford it," he said with a laugh.

His present home is a one-family house in Yonkers, N.Y., where he lives with his wife, the former Jacqueline Denison of Chicago, and two adopted sons.

Negro College Hit by 3 Fires
 Series of Small Blazes Does Little Damage at Southern University

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—A series of small fires peppered the troubled Southern University campus, but the director of public relations for the Negro university said none did any major damage.

"Benjie Cole, the director, said the fires blazed up Tuesday night but the losses were minimal. The ROTC building and a frame structure used as the dramatic arts building.

Fire fighters from nearby Southeast and sheriff's deputies battled the blazes at the livestock building, Cole said, where hay was stored.

Sheriff's deputies kicked out the fire at the dramatic arts building before it got as close to the ROTC building as they had hoped.

Cole said he was unable to determine if the fires had been deliberately started. Campus police for the nation's largest state-maintained college for Negroes said they were aware of only one fire on the campus.

Cole explained that while he had not checked with security guards, it was possible they were unaware of his fire except one at the ROTC building which they had stopped.

Earlier in the day, a few of 45 armed Southern students led a small campus picket parade in an attempt to arouse support for classroom boycott.

Registrar J. Helgeson said despite the small group parade things on the campus were quiet and orderly.

Johnny Carson Named Jack Paar Replacement
 NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Carson will replace Jack Paar on his NBC-TV late hour show in October, Paar said Tuesday night.

Paar, whose show has been running since July 1957, announced some time ago he would leave the program for another TV venture.

Production of rail rolling and as part of the program in the United States has more than doubled since 1939.

Drive Slower Each Year, Says 'Daredevil' Wynn
 NEW YORK—Daredevil motorcyclist Keenan Wynn just gave some advice to would-be daredevils: "Be an 'On-Off' rider and driver," he says. "When the speedometer climbs around 100, say 'Oh-Oh!'"

"I recently won my first motorcycle trophy since 1959—but I won't drive sports cars," he said. "Each year I ride a little slower and a little slower. I've had my accident."

Wynn believes that Ernie Kovacs would only have been injured if he'd been driving the Rolls-Royce instead of his light car. "The Rolls would have knocked the pole down instead of the pole knocking the car down," he said.

Thirty-one years of motorcycling have sharpened his reflexes. "For example," he said, "if somebody spills a glass of booze at a table where I'm sitting I never get wet."

Roger Maris is lending the diamond from his diamond belt award to his wife—for a ring.

Joey Adams, m.c.'ing the Nat'l Press Club dinner hopes JFK won't mind the story of the Bronx lady who's going to learn in 1964 that her son's been elected President. "Yeah, yeah," she says, "but I won't be to be a doctor."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL
 Richard Burton and Roddy McDowall, after waiting around Rome for months, have finally begun work in "Cleopatra."

Guy Mitchell busted a toe doing impersonations in a cafe. Rhonda Fleming left spring forth $200,000 for a new wardrobe for her "Masters of Deceit" tour.

Carlene Weiss works by day in the NBC newsroom; at night she's acting in "Plo's Boardhouse," at the Washington Players' Theater.

EARL'S PEARLS: Lem Hubbard said it long ago: "Happiness is a Dutch treat."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A chorus girl showed off a bracelet she'd been given and singer Vito Velasco meowed, "It's handy to get it that way, instead of eating a whole box of Crackerjacks."

WIFE TO SAID THAT: The real lure for women is the one holding the size 8 dresses.

Joe Williams, who manages belly dancers, will begin classes for would-be tummy-tossers. Tentative title for his school: The Navel Academy. That's earl, brother.

Swainson Asks Building Funds

Ambitious $78.8-Million Plan Includes Unit at Pontiac State Hospital

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George W. Swainson today asked the legislature for an ambitious new state building program, $78.8 million of it to be financed by cash outlay and $42.2 million on a pay-as-we-use basis.

The program includes a $13.2-million, 80-bed children's unit at Pontiac State Hospital.

"Several years' inattention on new construction has created a terrible hole in reduction of necessary state services," the governor said, "especially in the areas of mental health and education."

Swainson told the legislature the backlog of needs is so great no single approach can provide a proper remedy at this time. He therefore recommended the two-fold approach to the problem.

FEATURES

The governor laid down the bare outline of his proposals in his budget message last week. His message to lawmakers today gave the details.

The $22.5-million general fund capital outlay program asked by the governor contains these features:

- 1—Construction or completion of all major building projects now under way.
 - 2—Beginning construction funds for 833 additional mental hospital beds and planning funds for 836 more.
 - 3—Increased matching grants for junior and community college building projects and planning funds for high priority buildings at state colleges and universities.
 - 4—Funds for completing the new boys' training school at Whitmore Lake.

JFK After $5-Billion Saving

Farm Plan Tightest Yet

Rigid Program Sent to Congress Attacks Surplus

'Farmer Must Accept Production Controls or Lose Price Supports'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy sent a tough new farm program to Congress today which would give the nation's farmers this choice: accept much tighter production controls on surplus products or face a cut-off of most federal price supports and other aid.

Kennedy said in a special message that his proposals are designed to slice an estimated $5 billion off farm programs over the next four years. The programs otherwise would cost more than $12 billion during that period.

Additional aims are to boost farm income and reduce costly farm surpluses now in government hands, he said.

Farmers growing wheat, corn, oats, barley, and sorghum grains would lose all price supports if they did not go along with acreage allotments and marketing quotas set under the new program. In addition, the government would reserve the right to dump huge amounts of these surplus grains on the market. Under most conditions this would depress prices.

Marketing quotas would be set on all dryland for the first time if the program is approved.

The new Kennedy program is the toughest proposed by a president since federal controls were introduced into agriculture in the 1930s.

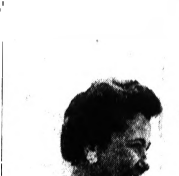

NO FEE, ANDS OR BUTS

In the past farmers were asked to cut production of surplus items or perhaps lose some of their price supports. Now it's a case of surplus production or get paid nothing at all.

The more rigid controls highlighted what Kennedy described as his "A R C D" farm program for the 1960s — acreage, but, lower, conservation and development.

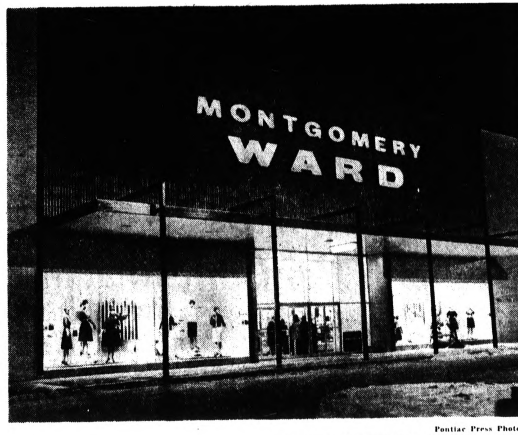

He said the program is built around maximum use of the nation's food abundance while balancing future production with needs, conserving farm resources and developing low-income rural areas.

The tighter controls would be applied, in the beginning, to the three big surplus products—wheat, feed grains and dairy products. They would require approval by at least two-thirds of the producers voting in three separate referendums.

3,000 at Local GM Plants Share in Fund Distribution

More than 3,000 salaried employees at local General Motors plants today are sharing in the distribution of nearly $50 million in General Motors common stock, government bonds and cash.

The money and securities were to be given to a total of 56,700 salaried employees in GM plants across the nation who participated in the 1956 Savings Fund Plan under the corporation's Savings-Stock Purchase Program.

At the Pontiac Motor Division a total of $1,500,000 in securities and cash is being distributed today to 1,200 employees.

A total of 216 employees at the Fisher Body plant in Pontiac were to receive an estimated total of $300,000.

At GM Truck and Coach Division, $1,000,000 of stock and cash is being distributed today to 1,200 employees.

F. M. Estes, Pontiac general manager, said 92.5 per cent of the eligible salaried employees at Pontiac Motor were currently participating in the program.

"We are extremely gratified that so many of our employees are saving regularly under the provisions of the plan," Estes said. Latest figures reveal that eligible employees at Pontiac have saved a total of $1,500,000 in securities and cash.

America Gains Enough Votes to Kick Out Cuba

OAS Nations Unanimous in Condemning Castro's Communist Regime

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP) — Twenty American nations unanimously condemned Cuba's Communist regime today, but the United States could muster only the necessary two-thirds majority for the vote directing the speedy expulsion of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime from the councils of the inter-American family.

The biggest and most powerful nations in Latin America joined the United States in refusing to vote for the expulsion, without delay, of the Castro government from the Organization of American States and its various agencies. The vote was 11-0 with Cuba casting no vote and the golden rule of Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Mexico, Bolivia and Ecuador abstaining.

The consensus at this hemispheric foreign ministers' conference was that the six nations had given the Kennedy administration's Latin American policy a severe blow.

The six contended that there presently exists no legal basis for expulsion of an OAS member and that the vote would be a mere declaration of intent. Such a declaration could be created by amendment of the OAS treaty.

BLOW SOFTENED

The blow was softened somewhat when the United States failed to win the votes of all the nations of the Americas. The vote was 11-0 with Cuba casting no vote and the golden rule of Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Mexico, Bolivia and Ecuador abstaining.

The foreign ministers, with the exception of Cuba, also lined up unanimously with the United States on other resolutions that provided:

1. The most striking statement of Communist intervention in the Western world ever adopted by any inter-American body.

The expulsion of Cuba from the inter-American body was a blow to a formula since the Castro government has been barred from the United Nations since 1960.

2. A strong endorsement of the United States position.

Paris Agog at Peace (?) for Algeria

PARIS (AP) — French officials today said they were in charge of the so-called Secret Army Organization (OAS) plan to launch raids in metropolitan France, government sources said today.

Algerian settlement had been reached at a secret meeting in Geneva, Switzerland.

Paris newspapers Tuesday night carried prominent stories that an agreement was near, and various sources in Paris and the Algerian government development on Algeria would come this week.

There was no official confirmation of the various peace agreement reports, and now was expected from French officials before Monday night.

If agreement has been reached, President de Gaulle probably will announce it in a radio-TV speech scheduled then.

The Day in Birmingham

Ask Changes in Widening of Maple Be Considered

BIRMINGHAM—Several revisions in the proposed widening of East Maple Road by the Oakland County Road Commission have been asked to be considered. The City Commission has asked that the road commission only widen that portion of the main artery from Eton to Coolidge road at this time.

It also suggested that the proposed plan for the widening of the stretch from Adams to Eton be done to a 40-foot width, rather than minimum 44 feet planned by the road commission.

Originally the road commission had announced plans for a widening of the Adams to Eton stretch of 48 feet, but protests over the removal of trees that would be necessary with the project has caused the revamping of the proposal.

What Do Doctors Do When They Suffer HEADACHE PAIN?

New York, N.Y. — Most doctors live under constant nervous tension, pressure and mental strain. It's not surprising they, too, often suffer from miserable headaches. But now — it can be relieved what doctors, themselves, take to relieve headache pain.

A survey shows many doctors take the fast, pain-relieving ingredients in Anacin®. In fact, three out of four doctors recommend this same type of relief to their patients.

Anacin Tablets are stronger yet safer. They give fast, long-lasting and — more complete relief from tense, nervous headaches than aspirin or aspirin with buffering. You see, mere aspirin or buffered aspirin contains only one pain reliever. But Anacin is different. Anacin is like a doctor's prescription. That is a combination of medically proven ingredients recognized for their effectiveness by the highest medical authorities. Anacin gives extra medication that not only relieves pain fast, but also its nervous tension, pressure and depression.

After taking Anacin — pain goes in minutes! The sufferer 'feels great' again.

Despite their strength and effectiveness — Anacin Tablets contain no narcotics, do not form a habit or leave one depressed. Anacin may be taken as directed as often as needed without upsetting or irritating the stomach.

So if the extra medication in Anacin doesn't work better for you, change to Anacin for fast, long-lasting, more complete pain-relief.

Indonesian Troops Ready for Invasion

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A first group of 10,000 volunteers has been whipped into shape and is ready "on short notice" to be sent to disputed West New Guinea, a high Indonesian official said Tuesday.

The navy said its patrols have been ordered to take the offensive against any Dutch warships that "stray into Indonesian territorial waters." It said the patrols have orders to shoot first.

The statements coincided with one from President Sukarno that Indonesia is not going to wait in definitely for a negotiated settlement of its dispute with the Netherlands over the jungle territory.

Teen Radio Buff Seized for Sub Attack Report

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP) — The FBI says that a teenage radio buff faked a recent report that a shrimp boat was under attack by a submarine off Savannah.

The youth transmitted three fake messages on a Civil Air Patrol frequency Jan. 25. FBI agent Joe D. Jamieson said. The messages set off a search of coastal waters by Coast Guard, Air Force and National Guard units.

Thomas was released to his parents under $1,000 bond.

Russia Setback on Angola Resolution, Congo, Kashmir

West Heartened by Rebuffs to U.S.S.R. in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Western diplomats drew encouragement today from three parliamentary rebuffs to the Soviet Union by the Security Council and General Assembly.

The assembly late Tuesday removed from a 45-power resolution on Portuguese Angola a provision for an investigating commission to report to the newly established 17-nation committee on colonialism—a pet project of the Soviet Union.

Earlier Tuesday, the Security Council voted 12 to adjourn without taking up Russia's request for a new debate on the Congo.

The Kremlin took a third setback when Council President Sir Patrick Dean of Britain summoned the 11-nation group to meet Thursday to consider the Kashmir dispute between India and Pakistan. Russia and Romania, supporting India's opposition to such a meeting now, offered stiff objections to Dean's call.

The assembly, returning a 99-2 vote for a relatively mild resolution asking Portugal to ease its rule of the week.

CUBA COMPLAINT NEXT

The 194-nation main political committee will meet next Monday to take up Cuba's complaint of "aggression" by the United States. Debate on the Cuban complaint had been expected to follow the Angola discussion immediately.

But Committee Chairman Mar 10 Amadeo of Argentina fixed Monday at Cuba's request.

The Cubans wanted the results of the hemisphere meeting at Punta del Este, Uruguay, clearly established before launching an anti-American attack here. The Castro government's strategy appeared to envisage a two-punch—first at Punta del Este and then at the United Nations.

The assembly's trusteeship committee scheduled two sessions today in its debate on the Belgian trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi. The way was open to Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin to resubmit his request for a full council debate on the Congo. U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, moving Tuesday's postponement, pointed out that such a debate now was opposed by Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula and by African leaders in conference at Lagos, Nigeria.

LITTLE OPPOSITION

Adoula was due here this week. Zorin told the council he had no objection to adjourning until Adoula's arrival, once the Congo item again was put on the agenda.

But only Russia and Romania opposed the council's decision to adjourn without even adopting the agenda. Ghana and the United Arab Republic abstained.

If Zorin should decide to request a new Congo debate again, his request would go to Stevenson, who becomes council president at midnight tonight for February. Stevenson obviously was unsympathetic to calling a Congo session.

Stevenson led a successful fight in the assembly by insisting on a separate vote requiring the Angola committee to report to the Russian-backed colonialism group. The provision was stricken from the resolution by a 44-32 vote, with 26 abstentions.

In 1916/1918 the Grim country, Syria was under French mandate between the two World Wars, who ruled until 1918 when Syria won full independence. British and Arabs occupied the in 1945.

JFK Nominee for Job as CIA Director Gets Senate Vote Today

WASHINGTON (U)—The Senate is scheduled to vote today on John A. McCone's nomination as director of the Central Intelligence Agency. Even his opponents conceded overwhelming confirmation.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, predicted a big "vote of confidence for the wealthy California industrialist."

And Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., who opposed the appointment in a speech Tuesday, said he had no doubt of McCone's confirmation.

McCone, former chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, was picked by President Kennedy to lead the CIA when Allen W. Dulles retired last November.

Clark said he believed McCone lacked the judgment and temperament for the job and that McCone's holding of $1 million worth of Standard Oil of California stock raised a serious conflict of interest question.

Clark said Standard is one of four American companies which own the Arabian-American Oil Co., which he said has a large stake in the Middle East.

He added that the only way the nominee could remove the conflict was to sell the stock.

"MOST EFFICIENT"

Mansfield declared McCone, in previous government posts, has proved "most efficient, most effective and most patriotic."

He said the question of what constitutes a conflict of interest is difficult and that Congress should give itself a year to more clearly define it.

Mansfield said that McCone had "brought order out of a difficult situation" at the AEC and won the confidence of all members of the Senate House Committee on Atomic Energy.

The Press said that effective with Monday's paper, the home-delivered cost will be 45 cents a week. The single copy price will be eight cents.

Inquiry Into TV 'Is Going Well'

Minow Says Networks Cooperating; Exec at NBC Defends Ratings

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal Communications Commission Chairman Newton Minow, taking a break from hearings into television programming, said today the networks are cooperating and the inquiry is "progressing well."

The FCC recessed the hearings until Thursday, when the National Broadcasting Co. will resume its testimony. The FCC has a regular meeting today on other matters.

Hugh M. Beville Jr., NBC vice president for planning and research, said Tuesday that networks need program ratings as a "major means of maintaining contact with the public."

He said broadcasters need the ratings as a substitute for other media's "bank in monetary gains, such as ticket sales or subscription figures," and as an "essential sales tool" to offer an advertiser proof of audience delivered.

But FCC counsel Ashbrook Fry and Beville a statement NBC Board Chairman Robert W. Sarnoff made in 1953. The network chief said, "Our industry has been plagued by rating services that don't say what they mean or mean what they say."

Payant asked Beville if he agreed with his boss.

"No," Beville replied, "but I would say he's entitled to his own opinion."

"I hope you're entitled to your opinion," remarked Commissioner Robert E. Lee.

Convict 2 Instructors for Obscene Mail

CHICAGO (AP) — An Indiana University professor and a Lansing, Mich., high school teacher were convicted Tuesday of mailing obscene material.

They are Glen W. Wilburn, 38, of Bloomington, Ind., and James Paulos, 41, of Lansing, who were among 51 persons accused by a federal grand jury of belonging to or operating a pen club for men only.

The guilty verdict was reached by a U.S. District Court jury of six men and six women Tuesday night after 2 hours and 40 minutes of deliberation. It was opened Tuesday in the courtroom of Judge Richard B. Austin.

The judge set Feb. 6 for hearing any motions and for a presenting investigation. The conviction carries a possible maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a $3,000 fine.

Report Action Needed on Recreation

WASHINGTON (U)—A special commission reported today that a surging need for more outdoor recreation in America must be met by imagination, large-scale action and "money—lots of it."

But the Outdoor Recreation Resources and Review Commission left it to President Kennedy and Congress, and to state and local governments, to figure out prices and what specific areas should be acquired or improved.

The 15-man commission, headed by Laurence S. Rockefeller, New York, did say that "the first task is to provide recreation for the metropolitan regions, which have the biggest population and demand for recreation and the least space for it."

And in urging immediate action, the commission said that:

"Highest priority should be given to acquisition of areas located closest to major population centers and other areas that are immediately threatened. The need is critical—opportunity to place these areas in public ownership is fading each year as other uses encroach."

PLENTY OF LAND

acres for recreation, but most of it "is where the people are not."

Rockefeller told a news briefing that it was an purpose that "we haven't come up with either acres or dollars." The commission's idea, he said, was to discuss the principle and tools and leave it to others to determine how they can be used best.

No plans have been developed, he told a questioner, for following through on the report in the legislative field. But Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., a commission member, said he was sure bills would be introduced to carry out many of the recommendations.

Rockefeller said the report is oriented toward people rather than resources, with the objective of meeting the great demand for outdoor recreation. He said quantity isn't enough and the commission attempted to stress what it calls effective acreage.

Access is important, he said, and "it's fantastic how important development is." He said state parks are used 15 times as intensively as national parks because vast sums have been spent to develop their potential.

THREE YEARS

By direction of Congress, the commission is to submit a report in three years and $24 million per year into the problem of outdoor recreation by the year 2000.

It put more than 20 recommendations on paper. Some probably will be echoed in a vast conservation program, stressing recreation, which is expected to put before Congress in a special message Feb. 21.

Two funds will be constructed in the Lake Mead project area to improve nearly 40 acres. Early work will also include dredging and excavation in the 80-acre tract to create proper lake depths, unimpeded, the impoundment will be cleared and graded to develop major day-use areas and a swimming beach.

After this groundwork is completed, additional funds will be needed to develop roads, parking lots, toilet buildings and other facilities.

In the deepest snow areas of the Lower Peninsula, but weather brought a halt to timber-cutting operations, forcing deer to feed in old cutting sites.

Deer were beginning to show the effects of severe winter conditions in Baldwin and Gladwin districts; deer still appeared to be in relatively good shape for this time of the year.

White-tails were definitely yarded in the deep snow belt of the Traverse City district and in parts of the Gaylord district. Elsewhere in this part of the state, they concentrated near winter cover, but were still able to move out in small parties.

In the deep snow areas along Lake Superior in the Upper Peninsula, the animals were confined to their winter yards. Along Lake Michigan and in the southern part of the Crystal Falls district, they were moving out from the yards.

This was also true in small parts of the Baraga district.

Aussies Wrap Secrecy Cloak Around Boat

SYDNEY, Australia (U)—The Sydney Australia Cup challenge will be launched any day now and designer Alan Payne hopes it will be under sail in mid-February.

The secrecy cloak about this challenge for the classic race will remain even after launching.

There's been a rumor among Sydney yachtsmen that the Australian boat will be dropped in burp when launched.

The Australians are doubly earnest about this challenge to the United States scheduled to be sailed off Newport, R.I., in September.

Solunar Tables

The schedule of Solunar Periods printed below, has been prepared by John Allen Knight. Fish your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times.

Father-Son Tandem Paces Auto Archers

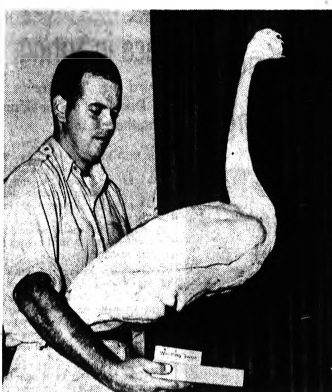

Paced by the father-son shooting of Ed and Ron Shaw, Auto Electric defeated Straight Arrows 6-0 to take a commanding four-game lead in the Waterford Township Recreation Department's winter archery league.

The elder Shaw fired 245 for the best mark in the league and his offspring shot a 178 for the top score in the junior division. Auto's mark after two weeks of firing is 11-1.

More Women Anglers

Statistics show that women are no longer content with merely serving as chief cooks when their husbands bring home catches of fish. The girls are becoming anglers themselves.

Since 1935, the American Fishing Tackle Association reports, the number of women participating in fishing has jumped more than 20 per cent.

WHISTLING SWAN—Naturalist Reiner Droch of Milford holds a mounted Whistling Swan, one of the exhibit at the Kingston Park nature center. Swans occasionally visit the park on their migration flights in the spring and late fall.

Eddy Fears 'Stagnation'

Conservation in Michigan faces stagnation unless more revenue is forthcoming, according to conservation director Gerald E. Eddy.

He said the Conservation Department's forced economy over the past several years—a result of steady declines in hunting and fishing license sales and rising costs of operation—has soured the mood where progress in just about all phases of game and fish management is at a standstill.

To ease the situation, four separate proposals are being considered by the Conservation Commission for recommendation to the Legislature, Director Eddy reported.

1. A sportsman's license for fishing, hunting and trapping that could be purchased for slightly less than individual licenses, with an option of the purchaser to contribute more to the program if desired. For this, he would receive some special recognition.

2. Requirement of a resident license for Great Lakes fishermen and all female anglers which would bring a net increase of about $1,021,490 annually. If the trout stamp were increased from two to three dollars, an additional $116,000 would result.

3. An increase to $150 in the resident fishing license, coupled with a $1.25 license to be required of Great Lakes fishermen and women anglers. Persons over 45 years of age would be allowed to fish free.

This proposal would bring in an additional $1,133,000 each year. If those above 65 were charged $1.25 instead of getting a free license, the additional revenue would be $1,277,000.

Seeks Longer Season

LANSING (U)—The fishing season on brown trout would be extended under a measure introduced Tuesday by Sen. Philip Rabin, D-East Lansing.

The bill would give the Conservation Department discretion to allow brown trout fishing during special seasons in September, October and November from the second Saturday in April until the start of the regular trout season and make them legal prey for ice fishing during November, January and February.

Conservation Bills Slow in Reaching Legislature

LANSING (UPI)—Proposals to change existing conservation laws have been slower coming in this year than normally, but several others have been promised.

Only three measures, all of relatively minor consequence, were introduced in the first three weeks of the 1962 legislative session from the appropriations measure.

They would prohibit hunting in Avon Township of Oakland County if approved by the township residents, remove the 35 bounty on the red fox, and prohibit the payment of any bounty to a person previously convicted of a game law violation.

Budget bills introduced as part of Gov. John H. Swanson's program called for the expenditure of $12.4 million for conservation, the construction and agriculture during the 1962-63 fiscal year. This year $10.6 million was in the budget for the current fiscal period.

Swanson called for $6 million of the 1962-63 total for the Conservation Department.

LOOKS TO ECONOMY

Emphasizing the impact on Michigan's economy of the tourist business in the state, the governor called for new state park facilities in the Tare and Grand Marais in the Upper Peninsula and in areas near Cheboygan, Petoskey in Mackinac County, Higgins Lake in Benzie County and Pictured Rocks in Chippewa County.

A special course in basic sea mountaineering and survival boat handling is being offered in Pontiac and four other Oakland County communities this spring. The State Wildlife Commission announced today.

8-Week Course in Seamanship Offered in Area

A special course in basic sea mountaineering and survival boat handling is being offered in Pontiac and four other Oakland County communities this spring. The State Wildlife Commission announced today.

The course also includes instruction in manual language, boat construction, navigation, first aid, knots and compass, knots and splices and water safety.

A manual fee will be charged for class book and supplies furnished. All classes begin 7:30 p.m.

New Lakes Planned for Holly, Bald Mt.

Lands needed to carry out development plans at Holly and Bald Mountain recreation areas, have been approved for purchase with vehicle permit money by the Conservation Commission.

Involved are 52 acres which will later allow construction of a dam on Thread Creek to create a new lake immediately north of the present Wildwood Lake segment of the Holly recreation area.

A swimming beach, picnic grounds and other day-use facilities will also be developed to accommodate approximately 3,000 additional recreationists.

At Bald Mountain recreation area, where development work has been hampered for lack of suitable water areas, the commission voted to buy 37 acres, clearing the way for immediate progress on the major water impoundment project along Trout Creek.

Funds are now available to launch this work and the department expects to advertise for contract bids on the project early this spring.

Some $160,000 in vehicle permit money will be spent for development work.

Two dams will be constructed in the Lake Mead project area to improve nearly 40 acres. Early work will also include dredging and excavation in the 80-acre tract to create proper lake depths, unimpeded, the impoundment will be cleared and graded to develop major day-use areas and a swimming beach.

After this groundwork is completed, additional funds will be needed to develop roads, parking lots, toilet buildings and other facilities.

In the deepest snow areas of the Lower Peninsula, but weather brought a halt to timber-cutting operations, forcing deer to feed in old cutting sites.

Deer were beginning to show the effects of severe winter conditions in Baldwin and Gladwin districts; deer still appeared to be in relatively good shape for this time of the year.

White-tails were definitely yarded in the deep snow belt of the Traverse City district and in parts of the Gaylord district. Elsewhere in this part of the state, they concentrated near winter cover, but were still able to move out in small parties.

In the deep snow areas along Lake Superior in the Upper Peninsula, the animals were confined to their winter yards. Along Lake Michigan and in the southern part of the Crystal Falls district, they were moving out from the yards.

This was also true in small parts of the Baraga district.

Aussies Wrap Secrecy Cloak Around Boat

SYDNEY, Australia (U)—The Sydney Australia Cup challenge will be launched any day now and designer Alan Payne hopes it will be under sail in mid-February.

The secrecy cloak about this challenge for the classic race will remain even after launching.

There's been a rumor among Sydney yachtsmen that the Australian boat will be dropped in burp when launched.

The Australians are doubly earnest about this challenge to the United States scheduled to be sailed off Newport, R.I., in September.

Father-Son Tandem Paces Auto Archers

Paced by the father-son shooting of Ed and Ron Shaw, Auto Electric defeated Straight Arrows 6-0 to take a commanding four-game lead in the Waterford Township Recreation Department's winter archery league.

The elder Shaw fired 245 for the best mark in the league and his offspring shot a 178 for the top score in the junior division. Auto's mark after two weeks of firing is 11-1.

More Women Anglers

Statistics show that women are no longer content with merely serving as chief cooks when their husbands bring home catches of fish. The girls are becoming anglers themselves.

Since 1935, the American Fishing Tackle Association reports, the number of women participating in fishing has jumped more than 20 per cent.

To Combat Lake Erie Pollution

TOLEDO (U)—The fish population of Lake Erie, declining because of pollution, can be restored by proper treatment of the lake.

Dr. Laughauss was a member of a four-man panel which examined the pollution problem at the Ohio Commercial Fisherman's annual meeting.

Pollution is not limited to raw sewage and industrial wastes, the professor said. There also is pollution that so enriches the lake bottom that fish cannot survive.

The latter type, he continued, results from drainage of topsoil and the dumping of treated wastes into the lake. Both use up needed oxygen.

He proposed dredging the bottom and dumping the silt back on land. Then, the lake could be aerated in the same manner that one is forced through aquariums.

Points made by the panel included:

Pollution from raw sewage and industrial waste is being brought under control in Ohio.

Basic changes are taking place in Lake Erie, but it is impossible at the present time to determine how these changes relate to declining fish population.

Water that is pure in terms of human health is not necessarily fit for fish.

Retriever's So Proficient That It's Embarrassing

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (U)—Mrs. William R. Robinson has a retriever so proficient that she returns ads in the local newspaper to keep neighbors posted on his latest finds.

She says his embarrassing, though, the swag dragged home by 8-month-old Blaise has included shoes, gloves, trousers, suspenders, dishes and a crocheted black shawl.

Mrs. Robinson, who operates a newspaper, promises a permanent dog house for her misfit pup if he doesn't outgrow his habit.

Practically all the sturgeon spawning in Michigan is done on Burt, Mullet and Black Lakes in Cheboygan County, where the big fish apparently gather after moving from Lake Huron via the Black River.

Report Action Needed on Recreation

WASHINGTON (UP) — A special commission reported today that a survey of the need for more outdoor recreation in America must be met by imagination, large-scale action and "money — lots of it."

But the Outdoor Recreation Resources and Review Commission left it to President Kennedy and Congress, and to state and local governments, to figure out prices and what specific areas should be acquired or improved.

The 15-man commission, headed by Laurence S. Rockefeller, New York, did say that "the first task is to provide recreation for the metropolitan regions, which have the biggest population and demand for recreation and the least space for it."

And in urging immediate acquisition of ocean and lake shores, it said that:

"Highest priority should be given to acquisition of areas located close to major population centers and other areas that are immediately threatened. The need is critical — opportunity to place these areas in public ownership is fading each year as other uses encroach."

PLENTY OF LAND

Basically, the commission said, there is plenty of land and water available for recreation, but most of it "is where the people are not."

Rockefeller told a news conference that it was on purpose that "we haven't come up with other acres or dollars." The commission's idea, he said, was to discuss the principle and let others leave it to them to determine how they can be used best.

No plans have been developed, he told a questioner, for following through on the report in the legislative field. But Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., a commission member, said he was sure bills would be introduced to carry out many of the recommendations.

Rockefeller said the report is oriented toward people rather than resources, with the objective of meeting the great demand for outdoor recreation. He said quantity isn't enough and the commission attempted to stress what it calls effective acreage.

Access is important, he said, and "it's fantastic how important development is." He said state parks are used 14 times as intensively as national parks because most sums have been spent to develop their potential.

THREE YEARS

By direction of Congress, the commission has been spending three years and $2.4 million peering into the problem of outdoor recreation. It said development is up to the year 2000.

It put more than 50 recommendations on paper. Some probably will be echoed in a vast conservation program, stressing recreation, which Kennedy is expected to put before Congress in a special message Feb. 21.

New Lakes Planned for Holly, Bald Mt.

Lands needed to carry out development plans at Holly and Bald Mountain recreation areas, have been approved for purchase with vehicle permit money by the Conservation Commission.

Involved are 92 acres which will later allow construction of a dam on Throck Creek to create a new lake immediately north of the present Wildwood Lake segment of the Holly recreation area.

The upland edge of the proposed impoundment area is high and wooded, making it well suited to additional campground and day-use development, according to Conservation Department experts.

When vehicle permit funds become available to undertake the project, some 100 campsites will be added along the scheduled new lake, the planners estimate.

A swimming beach, picnic grounds and other day-use facilities will also be developed to accommodate approximately 3,000 additional recreationists.

At Bald Mountain recreation area, where development work has been hampered for lack of suitable water areas, the commission voted to buy 97 acres, clearing the way for immediate progress on the major water impoundment project along Trout Creek.

Funds are now available to launch this work and the department expects to advertise for contract bids on the project early this spring.

Some $100,000 in vehicle permit money will be spent for development work.

Two dams will be constructed in the Bald Mountain project area to impound nearly 80 acres. Early work will also include dredging and excavation in the 80-acre tract to create proper lake depths; units bordering the impoundment will be cleared and graded to develop major day-use areas and a swimming beach.

After this groundwork is completed, additional funds will be needed to develop roads, parking lots, toilet buildings and other facilities.

WATER'S FINE — This polar bear isn't bothered by a little cold weather. The thermometer dropped to 20 degrees at the Cleveland Zoo and the bear romped in the icy water.

Deer Hampered by Deep Snow

Deep snow, sub-zero temperatures and high winds produced Michigan's winter's worst deer herd.

In the deepest snow areas of the Lower Peninsula, bad weather brought a halt to timber-cutting operations, forcing deer to feed in old cutting sites.

Fawns were beginning to show the effect of severe weather conditions in Baldwin and Gladwin districts; older deer still appeared to be in relatively good shape for this time of the year.

This was also true in small parts of the Baraga district.

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — The chess giant Michigan has to lose a master will be the prime target of a rugged little contingent of specialists when the short and sweet season for spearing sturgeon through the ice opens on Feb. 1.

It's only a one-month season and the creek limit for the whole month is only two fish, but nobody could get two legal sturgeons into a creek anyway.

The minimum size limit is 42 inches and the maximum last winter was 86½ inches. That sturgeon was speared by Jim Walden, of Cheboygan.

He weighed 185 pounds and won the Michigan sturgeon king's crown for Jim.

Practically all the sturgeon spearing in Michigan is done on Huron, Mallett and Black Lakes in Cheboygan County, where the big fish apparently gather after moving from Lake Huron via the Black River.

Father-Son Tandem Paces Auto Archers

Powered by the father-son shooting of Ed and Ron Shaw, Auto Electric defeated Straight Arrows 6-0 to take a commanding four-game lead in the Waterford Township Recreation Department's winter archery league.

The elder Shaw fired 245 for the best men's freestyle score and his offspring shot a 178 for the top score in the junior division. Auto's mark after two weeks of firing is 11-1.

Other results:

Mr. Englehart's 227 was the best women's freestyle score. The 1961-62 archery team was defeated 3-0 by the Waterford Township Recreation Department's winter archery league.

Statistics show that women are no longer content with merely serving as chief cooks when their husbands bring home catches of fish. They are becoming anglers themselves.

Since 1955, the American Fishing Tackle Association reports, the number of women participating in fishing has jumped more than 20 per cent.

WHISTLING SWAN — Naturalist Rainer Broke of Milford holds a mounted Whistling Swan, one of the exhibits at the Kensington Park nature center. Swans occasionally visit the park on their migration flights in the spring and late fall.

Eddy Fears 'Stagnation'

Conservation in Michigan faces stagnation unless more revenue is forthcoming, according to conservation director Gerald E. Eddy.

He said the Conservation Department's forced economy over the past several years — a result of steadily declines in hunting and fishing license sales and rising costs of operation — has reached the point where progress in just about all phases of game and fish management is at a standstill.

To ease the situation, four separate proposals are being considered by the Conservation Commission for recommendation to the Legislature, Director Eddy reported.

1. A sportsman's license for fishing, hunting and trapping that could be purchased for slightly less than individual licenses, with an option of the purchaser to contribute more to the program if he desired. For this, he would receive some special recognition.

2. Requirement of a resident license for Great Lakes fishermen and all female anglers which would bring a net increase of about $102,000 annually. If the trout stamp were increased from two to three dollars, an additional $106,000 would result.

3. An increase to $3.50 in the resident fishing license, coupled with a $1.25 license to be required of Great Lakes fishermen and women anglers. Persons over 65 years of age would be allowed to fish free.

This proposal would bring in an additional $113,000 each year. If these above fees were charged $1.25 instead of the regular trout season, the net increase would be about $127,000.

4. A $2.50 resident fishing license to be required of all anglers and under, including women, which would serve to ward off in real crisis which is coming to a head. Beyond this, he said, some new source of revenue must be found.

The board has become too big, he said, and the hunter and the fisherman to carry," he remarked.

State Senators Favor Literacy Test Appeal

WASHINGTON 10-Michigan's Democratic senators, Philip A. Hart and Patrick V. McNamara, Tuesday voted against a motion to table an appeal by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., to a ruling of Vice President Lyndon Johnson sending the literacy test bill to the Judiciary Committee.

The Senate adopted the motion 61-2 and thus killed the appeal.

Seeks Longer Season

LANSING (UP) — The fishing season on lower rivers could be lengthened by a month, according to Tuesday by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Michigan.

The bill would give the Conservation Department discretion to allow lower trout fishing during special seasons in September, October and November. From the second Saturday in April until the start of the regular trout season, it would make three legal days of fishing during November, January and February.

Conservation Bills Slow in Reaching Legislature

LANSING (UP) — Proposals to change existing conservation laws have been slower coming in this year than normally, but several others have been promised.

Only three measures, all of relatively minor consequence, were introduced in the first three weeks of the 1962 Legislature aside from the appropriations measure.

They would prohibit hunting in Avon Township of Oakland County if approved by the township residents, remove the 55 bounty on the red fox, and prohibit the payment of any bounty to a person previously convicted of a game law violation.

Budget bills introduced as part of Gov. John E. Swainson's program called for the expenditure of $12.4 million for conservation, recreation and agriculture during the 1962-63 fiscal year. This year $10.6 million was in the budget for the current fiscal period.

Swainson called for $6 million of the 1962-63 total for the Conservation Department.

Michigan Duck Count Shows Big Decline

Michigan's winter duck population has a new low this year, results of a recent waterfowl survey show.

Ground and aerial survey crews by such a move would be offset by a grant of $100,000 from the general and Wildlife estimate this year's effort the loss by requiring more to purchase fishing licenses, and providing a license for the Great Lakes. $100,000.

Employed 49 Years, 'Hello Girl' Retiring

Telephone operator Doris M. Hursfall sat at her switchboard position in Pontiac for the last time yesterday, and when the day was done, she walked away with a treasure of memories gathered during one of the longest career careers on record.

It is more than 49 years since Mrs. Hursfall first sat down before a switchboard in Pontiac, and it will be 44 years and four months of credited duty with the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Few telephone people close their careers as possessors of the coveted Vail Medal. Mrs. Hursfall, who is 61, owns two.

The rewards were made in 1927 and 1928 when Mrs. Hursfall was removed at her operator post by telephone operator local relatives and friends as serious fires raged in the village of Charkot.

Her chief pride, though, centers around her two sons, Floyd, a real estate broker, and Duane, an independent Township supervisor, who worked their way through high school as employees of Michigan Bell. She also has 5 granddaughters and 3 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Hursfall, a long distance operator in Pontiac, came to the area in 1913, but the career that has spanned two wars began in Lansing in 1917.

Two years later, she went to Jackson, and remained there until 1917 when she was transferred to Walled Lake. After a three-year stint there she was assigned to duty in Lansing, her "last stop" before coming to Pontiac.

She has an apartment at 191 Evelyn Court.

Having no one particular hobby, Mrs. Hursfall plans to go on just "enjoying everything."

Continuing Education Director Lowell Eklund today described the Lansing area as "the best of its kind in Michigan which possibly may be applied to use in other communities in Michigan."

A grant to MSUO from the state board has financed planning and will cover part of the operating costs, he said.

The director of the seminar will be Dr. June Collins, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology at the university, who will also lead the first two sessions.

The sessions will be held Monday from 7 to 10 p.m. in Room 173, South Foundation, H-111, MSUO. Registration may be made by calling the Division of Continuing Education. A tuition of $10 will be charged.

Will Not Enter Race in Spring

Third Hasn't Reached a Decision on Seeking Another Term

WALLED LAKE — A major reorganization of the City Council in the spring already is apparent with the announcement that two incumbents will not seek reelection.

A third incumbent is undecided if he will run again in the April 2 general election.

Councilman Robert L. Wilite of 215 Halifax St. will be unable to seek his third elected term since he has been named chief engineer for the Chrysler Corp.'s new Space Division in New Orleans, La. and will move there shortly.

He will not have to resign his council post, however, because the election is less than four months away, therefore making it unnecessary for the council to name a successor.

SAY WON'T RUN — Councilman Robert L. Thibodeau said today he is keeping to his decision of a year ago and will not run for another term. Thibodeau of 1710 Pontiac Trail is vice president of the Wolverine Supply Co. Detroit. He has been a member of the council five years.

Waldo C. Proctor, who was mayor two years and mayor pro tem one year during five years on the council, hasn't made a decision on his candidacy for the council. He lives at 1559 Pontiac Trail.

A science teacher at the Walled Lake Senior High School, Proctor is currently recuperating from hepatitis and said he will wait until his health is recovered to make a decision.

Wilite and Thibodeau are both ending two-year terms. Proctor retained a seat on the council last year by polling the fourth highest number of votes. His victory margin, however, was only by two votes.

At that time two tax reformers, Richard Watkins and Clyde Muller, were elected to the council in two-year terms. The pair respectively, polled the highest number of votes.

They had received public attention after winning lower tax assessments following a long but able with the city council and city manager to reduce property taxes.

Following the election, along with that of incumbent Harold Ackley, the council's actions in many instances were decried with split votes.

It was Watkins, Muller and Ackley versus Wilite, Thibodeau and Proctor, with only Marshall Taylor's vote left to break the deadlock.

Taylor has said he will not run for another year.

Has 100 Million Employees

By BOB NESTER
MILFORD — How would you feel if you owned factories all over Michigan with well over 100 million workers like Joseph Walker, and then at the first sign of winter the whole bunch quits working and goes sound asleep?

Things buzz in the summer and for the other nine months of the year the plants are all but shut down. Doors are wide open in the factories and everybody inside is snoozing.

But Walker, 63, takes it philosophically, working in the summer and loafing in the winter. That's just the way he likes it.

Walker started in 1920 with 10 colonies of the happy little critters and his business grew from there. Today he has been strung out from here to Traverse City and estimates there are 20 or 40 yards and several thousand colonies.

Expect Application to Be Ready This Week for Sewer Study Loan

WALLED LAKE—Financial aid for a study of an internal sewer system, the city's biggest headache, will be sought from the federal government in order to get the much-needed project off the ground.

Mayor Marshall E. Taylor recently went to the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the Community Facilities Administration in Chicago to get the necessary forms for the loan.

Accompanying the mayor was Felix A. Anderson of the engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson.

Preliminary applications for the advance of funds from the federal government are expected to be prepared by the engineering firm and City Manager Harold Mills, which this week.

It has been roughly estimated that the city will have to borrow about $20,000 to complete the survey.

The money would have to be repaid. Arrangements for this would be included in the financing methods determined by the city once the study is complete.

A bond issue would probably be needed, according to Taylor.

Recently the City Council turned down a proposal for federal money that would have allowed them to make a two-year study of the sewer system.

The city's share of that project would have been 25 per cent of the total cost.

UNDER THE PROGRAM — The financial assistance for the sewer study would come from the city, engineer and the financing methods determined by the city once the study is complete.

LINKED TO PRINCESS— Prince William of Gloucester, shown smiling in Venice's St. Mark's Square in 1960, appeared in London's popular press as a likely candidate for the hand of Princess Margrethe, heiress to the 1,000-year-old Danish throne. Prince William is the son of the Duke of Gloucester and a cousin of Queen Elizabeth II.

Pushing Money for Research

House Members Ask $500,000 for Work at Five State Schools

LANSING (AP)—A $500,000 appropriation to finance basic research at five state colleges and universities was proposed by 15 House members Tuesday in a move to step up Michigan's economic development.

"We want to establish recognition by the legislature of the importance of basic research to the state's economy," said Rep. Gilbert E. Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, one of the chief sponsors.

If adopted, he said, the program would help improve Michigan's image as a place to do business and "ultimately bring in 10 times as much money as we appropriate in terms of bigger payrolls and more tax revenue."

The measure would allocate $300,000 to the University of Michigan, including $100,000 for its Institute of Science and Technology, $50,000 for the Piquette Atomic Research program and $80,000 to the Institute for Social Research.

Michigan State University would receive $150,000 for research in agriculture, food processing and new food products.

Western Michigan University would get $50,000 for research related to the paper industry. Wayne State University would receive $50,000 for research in automation and manpower utilization and Michigan Tech would get $50,000 for research in minerals and forest products.

The program continues some of the features of Gov. Swainson's blueprint for economic growth.

Look who's chairman of the board

Just a teen-ager but he's learning the facts. Learning how a business prospers in the American system. He's learning the right way, too, through direct experience under the guidance of America's business leaders, volunteers in Junior Achievement.

Ten-ager businessmen in the Junior Achievement program duplicated, on a small scale, all the steps of big business. They organized their own corporations, elected officers, filed stock, produced and merchandised their products, kept books, even pay dividends to stockholders.

Sponsored by a long list of America's leading business firms, Junior Achievement gives young people a chance to experience the operation of a commercial venture before they enter the adult business world.

But most important, Junior Achievement provides an opportunity for youth to learn how the way of American free enterprise works. It is proud to support this excellent program, one that guarantees the future of American economic freedom.

Red China Uses Narcotics as a Weapon

By HARRY J. ANSLINGER
U. S. Commissioner of Narcotics
AND WILL O'NEILL

China's narcotic record is an ancient one. In the past she was the victim. First of European nations, more recently of Imperial Japan. Now Red China has become the dope-vending dragon of the East.

For 1,200 years poppies have been grown in China. But for 900 of these years, cultivation was limited solely for medicinal uses. In the 17th century, the practice of mixing opium and tobacco for smoking purposes began, and spread swiftly.

Importation of opium to China, particularly from India, Turkey and the Near East, jumped to such proportions in the 18th century that the Emperor issued edicts in a futile effort to halt the trade. By 1839, the importation rate was close to 4,000 tons of smoking opium a year in addition to production of China's own fields.

The British, French and Portuguese resisted all efforts to end the traffic. Antagonism between British and Chinese authorities erupted into the Opium Wars. The British and French won and Chinese customs officials thereafter had to allow narcotics into China.

When Chiang Kai-shek ruled over mainland China, the Nationalist government for several years conducted a campaign against dope that included suppression of the traffic, severe punishments of sellers and wide education as to the effects of dope on the individual.

The campaign, begun at the insistence of Madame Chiang, helped reduce the use of opium and heroin in China itself by 30 to 40 per cent. Then came the Japanese and after them the Chinese Reds.

Red China presents a double-pronged problem. As a part of the United Nations Narcotic Commissions, we are concerned with what this nation, that we do not yet recognize, is trying to do to her neighbors, particularly Japan, with the weapon of dope.

And I am also concerned with the reports of my operatives regarding Red China's long range dope and diabolic assault on America and its leaders.

The standard policy employed in Red China is to suppress addiction among the Chinese while encouraging the cultivation, manufacture, export, distribution and sale of opium, morphine and heroin to other countries.

Examining confidential background information on the Tokyo roots, and the pictures of wild-eyed Communists urging Japanese teenage mobs to greater frenzies, I wondered exactly how many of the leaders and followers were high on heroin or cocaine, the two most dangerous Japanese products, all pointing directly to the Red Chinese smugglers and their political agents.

One of the first reports we received about Communist narcotic smuggling in the Far East came from the U. S. supreme command in Tokyo, just before the new Japanese government took over.

"Investigations, arrests and seizures in Japan during 1951," read the report, "proved conclusively that Communists are smuggling heroin from China to Japan, and are using the proceeds from the sale thereof to finance party activities and to obtain strategic materials for China."

"During 1950, 10,581 grams were seized which were approximately three times the amount seized in 1949. One of these seizures, 590 grams, in October, 1950, involved the chief of the Communist party in Kyushu who stated he had obtained the heroin from a Communist committee member in Rashin, North Korea."

"This report was transmitted to the United Nations commission on narcotics and denounced by the Russian delegate who charged that our contentions were 'false, slanderous, fabricated and baseless.'"

Our report cited instance after instance—in the most precise detail with names, dates, amounts of seizures, arrests, and confessions, all pointing directly to the Red Chinese smugglers and their political agents.

"Large quantities of heroin," the report continues, "have reached the United States from Communist China. Emissaries have been sent to the United States to arrange for the details of the smuggling transactions. One of the principals in a case in which 300 ounces of heroin were smuggled in from Communist China is now serving a ten-year imprisonment.

I continued to present those carefully documented reports to the United Nations in session after session. When cornered with facts the Russians could not refute—the confessions of pushers and smugglers working directly for Chinese Red authorities—the Russian delegate would dismiss the whole matter with, "How can they defend themselves since they are not here?"

One primary outlet for the Red Chinese traffic has been Hong Kong. Heroin made in Chinese factories out of poppies grown in China is smuggled into Hong Kong and onto freighters and planes, heading to Malaya, Macao, the Philippines, the Hawaiian Islands, the United States, or going in the other direction, India, Egypt, Africa and Europe.

A prime target area in the United States was California. The Los Angeles area alone probably received 40 per cent of the smuggled contraband. The syndicate crowd does not object to dealing with the Reds, as long as the profits are big in terms of dollars.

A story is told in Hong Kong of a Communist functionary who tried to "propagandize" an American airline pilot into smuggling $250,000 worth of opium from Hong Kong to Bangkok.

From there it would be taken by others to America. For carrying out his share of the job, the American was to receive one-eighth ownership of an opium processing factory inside Red China.

The American is reported to have thought about the offer for a few seconds over his gin sling and then replied, "Sorry, but the fact is I already own two opium dens, a house of prostitution and a gambling pad in Hlooken. I don't have a moment to myself any more."

The Communist walked away shaking his head about the ways of American bourgeois capitalists.

Plan Hearing About M14

LANSING (AP)—The State Highway Department has announced it will hold a public hearing Feb. 8 at Superior Township Hall, Ypsilanti, to discuss the proposed construction of more than three miles of M-14 Freeway north of Ann Arbor. Purpose of the hearing will be to discuss the economic impact the $29-million project would have on the area.

Asks Senate Support for 2 Safety Bills

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Swainson Tuesday urged legislative support of two Senate bills designed to improve safety standards on construction projects.

"It is time we meet our responsibility in promoting construction workers' safety," he said. "Our present safety law, enacted in 1960 when the state's biggest industry was a wagon factory, does not cover many areas of existing industrial activity, such as construction workers and the mining industry."

The legislature has rejected construction safety codes proposed in previous years.

Swainson pointed out that the State Labor Department has neither jurisdiction nor personnel in the field of construction safety.

VFW Will Honor Two for Long State Service

LANSING (AP)—Two men with a combined service in the legislature of more than 15 years will be honored with Gold Citizenship Awards at the annual Veterans of Foreign Wars legislative banquet at Lansing tonight.

The citations will go to Fred I. Chasler, constitutional convention secretary and Senate secretary for more than 22 years prior to his present retirement, and Norman E. Phillo, clerk of the House of Representatives since 1945.
