MOSCOW (AP) — W. Averell Harriman, a U.S. roving ambassador, talked with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin for three hours in the Kremlin today. Harriman declined to say later whether Viet Nam was discussed but belief was expressed in diplomatic quarters that it was the main topic.

Harriman met with the Soviet premier as soon as Kosygin returned to Moscow from a pro-

MOSCOW (AP) — W. Averell Harriman denied today that Adlai E. Stevenson said in his presence that U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic was "a massive blunder."

David Schoenbrun, an American radio correspondent in Paris, attributed the quote to Stevenson last night after an American ambassador to the United Nations died in London.

vinical tour. Here on what is officially called a vacation trip, Harriman had reportedly wanted to pay his respects to Soviet leaders. But three hours of paying respects was regarded by diplomats as a bit long. A general review of Soviet-American relations was considered more likely.

RELATIONS STRAINED

President John said Tuesday those relations had been strained by the Viet Nam situation but that he was very anxious to maintain relations with Moscow. Johnson said the United States was looking for every opportunity to work with the Soviet Union for peace.

"We would like to improve the relations in any way we can," he added.

Sending Harriman on a secret mission here was believed to have been one way.

Damage at $35,000 in Downtown Blaze

Tuesday's fire at a downtown building resulted in total damage of $35,000. Fire Marshal Charles M. Smith today also confirmed a preliminary report that defective wiring in a second floor fire alarm of the building at 43 N. Saginaw caused the blaze.

Earlier estimates set damage to the building at $20,000 but this figure was adjusted upward to $35,000 after a thorough check of the building yesterday, according to Mott.

Damage to contents was set at $10,000.

Detroit Man Fatally Knifed

Fellow Employee Is Charged With Murder

A Detroit man was charged with the fatal stabbing of a fellow employee during a fight in West Bloomfield Township last night.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Department brought the first degree murder charge against Joseph E. Strawther, 28, of 1864 W. Davison.

Strawther admitted stabbing Quintan Williams, 39, of 1715 12th, Detroit, with a 15-inch butcher knife while arguing over money, according to deputies.

Williams, who was stabbed twice, was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

TEARING DOWN HOME

Employed by a Detroit lumber company, the pair had been tearing down a home that had recently burned on Locklin Road.

The killing occurred about 9 p.m. Both men had been drinking beer, deputies said.

Strawther demanded a preliminary court examination when he was arraigned at 2 a.m. today.

Tops Last Year's

School Budget Okayed

BY L. GARY THORNE

Hiked $14 million dollars over last year, a record $12.6 million budget was approved last night for the 1965-66 fiscal year by the Pontiac School Board.

The record $12,664,614 budget will exceed school district income by nearly a third of a million dollars, forcing school officials to dip into the district's $1.2 million cash reserve to balance the budget.

Board member James L. Howitt emphasized that the district will have to use reserves to balance revenues with expenditures.

The budget estimated 1965-66 revenue at $12,338,902, falling short of the budgeted $12,664,614 by $325,712, according to school officials.

Most of the increase will be paid for by local taxpayers. Local taxes account for $7,790,302 in income this year, an increase of $461,789 over 1964-65.

RECEIPTS TO RISE

Local tax receipts will increase because of the nearly $24-million hike in the school district's state equalized valuation and the .07 mills more in allocated millage.

Pontiac residents will pay an equalized tax rate of $25.55 per $1,000 of assessed valuation this year — a hike of $1.15 over last year's rate.

This means, for example, the home owner whose property has an assessed value of $5,000 will pay about $5.75 in added school taxes in 1965-66.

School Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer pointed out that the budget did incorporate a $200,000 contingency fund, which is carried over each year.

CASH RESERVE

The budget anticipates an allocated cash reserve next June 30 of $817,875, a drop from this year's $930,300 balance of $12 million.

Salary hikes for teachers and noninstructional personnel account for much of the budget increase. After allowing 2 1/2 per cent and 3 per cent respectively in the preliminary budget for wage hikes, the board increased employee salaries by $655,445.

The outlay in salaries will top $9 million.

Adopted in early spring, the preliminary budget of $11.7 million was further revised last night with the addition of staff study items and added equipment and capital outlay expenditures.

The additions to the budget totaled $284,113. Dr. Whitmer said that the school district

Hanoi Invites Nkrumah for North Viet Talks

LONDON (UPI) — Communist North Viet Nam leader Ho Chi Minh has invited Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah to Hanoi for sounding on the Viet Nam conflict, highly authoritative sources disclosed today.

Nkrumah is a member of the four-nation British Commonwealth peace mission which has been rejected thus far by Peking, Moscow and Hanoi. The other members are Britain, Trinidad and Nigeria.

make of this world a better place to live.

"Above all, the dogged pursuit of peace on earth."

About 2,000 persons, many of them American tourists, watched in silence as the coffin was carried from the embassy and placed in a hearse. Many bowed their heads.

Humphrey, members of the Stevenson family, and those who had arrived on the presidential plane, then left in a motorcade of 15 cars escorted by 21 motorcycle policemen.

An honor guard of four American and four British servicemen accompanied the body to the airport.

The plane departed for Washington at 9:23 a.m. (EST). Stevenson was born Feb. 5, 1900, in Los Angeles, where his father was a Hearst newspaper executive.

IN BOYHOOD

In his boyhood, the family returned to Bloomington, Ill.

Inheriting wealth, Stevenson served in governmental posts for more than 20 years and took an active role in preliminaries leading to formation of the United Nations.

He won the Illinois governorship in 1948 by an unprecedented majority in a state that had chosen only three other Democratic governors since the Civil War.

Summer School Sign-Up Starts

BIRMINGHAM — Registrations for courses offered in the summer school program can now be made at the Board of Education building between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. through tomorrow.

Classes will meet daily from July 19 to Aug. 13.

Senior high school students may take creative writing and American government, which both offer one-half unit of credit. A reading improvement and study skills course also is slated.

On the junior high level is an art workshop and the reading improvement and study skills class.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Cranbrook Institute of Science will conduct a geology field course for persons 18 years or older July 24 and Aug. 7.

The classes will last from 10 a.m. until noon. An intermediate full-day field trip to Kettle Point, Rock Glen and the Hungry Hollow area of Ontario is planned for July 31.

Charles F. Gesser, the Institute's curator of education, will cover regional geology and geologic history and life forms of the Devonian period.

Demonstrations and discussions on field techniques, identification of specimens and a collection procedure is also planned.

A fee of $10 will be charged in the class, which is limited to 30. For further information and registration call the Institute.

The Board of Education last night awarded the sale of bonds totaling $2,450,000 to Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith.

Man in Street, Leaders Mourn

LBJ Calls Diplomat 'Great Emancipator'

NEW YORK (AP) — Presidents, prime ministers and the man in the street mourned the death of Adlai E. Stevenson.

Led by President Johnson, tributes poured in from all over the world for the 65-year-old U.S. ambassador, who died yesterday in London.

"The flame which illuminated the dreams and expectations of an entire world is now extinguished," said Johnson in a television address.

"Like Lincoln he was a great emancipator. It was his gift to his people, his gift to the world, his gift to the human adventure."

Earlier, Johnson was near tears at a White House luncheon for Japanese Cabinet members when he described Stevenson as America's "most eloquent spirit, its finest voice."

Former President Harry S. Truman said Stevenson's "contribution and services to this nation and his distinguished record in the field of foreign relations in our quest for peace will be long remembered by a grateful nation and his friends throughout the world."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who defeated Stevenson for the presidency in 1952 and 1956, said Stevenson's death "strikes a tragic note for all Americans."

adults using the McConnell School area as the site of weekend gambling parties.

OLDER GROUP

While the gamblers were not necessarily parents, they were adults or older teen-agers, according to the two men.

Fell said that on a recent Monday it took 18 hours to clean up beer bottles and trash around McConnell School after a bout of weekend gambling.

The total bill for vandalism to schools was $9,311 last year, according to Fell. If accurate records were maintained, one school official estimated the total bill would be $12,000 to $15,000 annually.

The Township Board has enlarged the scope of manufacturing allowed in the district and broadened police department powers.

In other business it passed an ordinance providing for site plan review for any future rezoning.

The board also approved the circulation of petitions for several water and sewer projects.

Rounded Up Cong

Experienced Pilot Became Aerial Cowboy in Viet

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Lt. Col. George F. Bauman in nearly 5,000 hours aloft in three wars had never served as an aerial cowboy before.

But along the South Vietnamese battlefield the one thing you can expect is the unexpected.

"You have to be ready to try anything," said Bauman, 44, who was raised on an apple ranch at Sonoma, Calif. His first experience as a flying herdsman came recently in an action by U.S. Marines probing out from the air base at Chu Lai, 52 miles south of here.

His copilot was Lt. George Dechant, 29, of Palmyra, Pa.

SUPPORTING STRIKE FORCE

"We were supporting a strike force of our troops that had been brought up by helicopter," said the lanky, six-foot-four colonel. He looks and talks like the late Gary Cooper and commands the only Marine Squadron of armed "Hueys" HUH-1B helicopters — in the country.

"We got two suspects cornered on a path leading to a river. We circled around and around them," Bauman said.

"One managed to hide, but the other started to try to swim the river."

"We fired a few rounds to force him to turn back, and he did. As he left the water, his black pants fell off, but he kept running."

1st AS COWBOYS

"It's the first time we had ever acted as cowboys to round up the Viet Cong. I had never herded them before."

"We cornered him again in some rocks and trees. I landed near him to point out his position to our ground troops."

"It had been funny up to then, but it ended tragically for him."

He ran out into the water again. Our troops called on him to halt, but he wouldn't, and they fired. He died.

"Eventually we rounded up four or five others hidden in the same area."

OVER 100 MISSIONS

As a Corsair fighter pilot in World War II Bauman flew more than 100 missions and won the Distinguished Flying Cross at Pelletier.

"I shot up a number of Japanese planes, but never shot any down," the colonel remarked.

In a year in Korea as a transport helicopter pilot he added more clusters to his Air Medal than he can remember offhand.

Here he has flown 68 missions in two months in the most dangerous type of flying. Four of his six armed Hueys have been hit several times, and one pilot and a crewman have been wounded.

CARRY 36 ROCKETS

The aircraft carry 36 rockets and 6 light machine guns.

"About 5 to 10 per cent of our missions wind up in fire fights. We do fine in guerrilla situations against 5 or 10 Viet Cong," Bauman said.

"The Huey has a place here. It can provide instant and less expensive firepower in such situations. But it should go against only small arms fire. It is too vulnerable to attack heavy fortifications protected by machine guns."

Bauman is a man of strong conscience.

"The biggest problem here is to tell the friendlies from the enemy," he remarked. "You can't shoot indiscriminately. I don't believe in just going down and shooting at anybody. I don't fire at anyone unless I am fired on, or unless somebody is firing at our troops or one of our other planes."

The colonel is worshiped by his men. One of them said, "any of us would fly through a needle stuck up in the middle of hell — if he told us to do it."

Above the entrance to the squadron's operation tent is posted this sign:

"When the will defies fear, when duty throws the gauntlet down to fate, when honor scans to compromise with death, this is heroism."

Our Wandering Gold Seen Returning Home

That long-drawn sigh of relief you hear emanates from administration monetary experts over April-June period figures indicating that at long last the U. S. balance of payments accounts with foreign countries will show a surplus.

With America's balance of payments running in the red for 14 of the last 15 years, the current credit balance is the first to be chalked up since 1957.

Our once-ample gold stock of $30-plus billion had shrunk to the point where it would have been inadequate to meet conversion into gold had it been demanded of international dollar holdings and maintain required backing for our domestic currency.

This stringency threatened the integrity of the dollar, together with Great Britain's pound the backbone of the free world's monetary system.

The U. S. adverse balance of payments accounts has presented something of an anomaly, since we have regularly enjoyed a sizeable export-import surplus. But this has been more than offset by money sent abroad for military operations, foreign aid, private bank loans, and business investment and spending by tourists.

Although the government did some belt-tightening in its sphere of capital export, much of the credit for the reversal in our gold outflow is due to voluntary cooperation of financial institutions and businessmen in restricting foreign loans and investments.

Once more is seen the efficacy of government and private enterprise joining forces in a free economy to counter a threat to America's economic structure.

Report Says America Takes Fun Seriously

In 1964 Americans spent $23.8 billion on the broad spectrum of recreation and entertainment, five times what they spent in 1940.

Although American industry and business is setting new highs while increasing the variety of goods and services offered, one of the most extensive areas of commercial activity has been pretty much of a sleeper.

Recreation, says the Bureau of Labor Statistics, has grown more rapidly in the last 25 years than almost any other business. It is the business of "Fun."

For the statistically-minded, the Bureau reports that families with $3,000-$4,000 annual incomes spend $150 a year on recreation; those in the $5,000-$6,000 bracket enjoy themselves to the extent of $210; while the $10,000-$15,000 category lives it up to the tune of $525.

From all this it is plain that the common sign-off between humans to "have fun" is no idle counsel. Everybody's doing it.

Sees More to Reading Than Meets the Eye

Interesting light is thrown on illiteracy and adult reading tendencies by a staff member of Job Training Center in Lansing, a project established in 1964 by the U.S. Dept. of Labor.

According to the authority, more than half the people in the U.S. are illiterate—reading below fifth grade level—but they hide their illiteracy so well that census figures show that only 6.7 per cent of the population is illiterate.

"The literacy level of a community is determined by a census taker asking people how far they went in school. If the answer is 'the fifth grade,' they are not considered illiterate," he said.

This, however, is not a true picture. Chances are, it is explained, that the average adult who has completed only the fifth grade in school has not used the skills he developed up to that point and really regressed in his reading ability.

"Illiterates," revealed the reading specialist, "are most difficult to detect because they cover up their illiteracy so well. The person who can't read or write invariably is the one who has five pens showing from a pocket and a newspaper tucked under his arm as deception."

He cited an example of a man who passed his driver's license test relying on brute memory, but was a consistent traffic violator because he couldn't read traffic signs.

Maybe the first of the revered 3-R's should be changed to represent Resourcefulness.

Supreme Court Next for Negro?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON—Thurgood Marshall, a 57-year-old Negro and one of the tremendous moving forces in American history, may be on his way to a seat on the Supreme Court. Many people now probably can't remember ever hearing his name for he did not seek publicity and his most sensational victory was in the 1950s.

But it was Marshall, as a Negro lawyer for Negroes, who argued this century's most historic civil rights cases before the court and won almost all.

Thus, he helped lay the ground for the enormous strides American Negroes have made toward equal treatment in the past 11 years, something hard to imagine in 1954.

That year, the court ripped down the basic barrier to equal rights by declaring the very principle of segregation unconstitutional and banning it in public schools.

GOT AMMUNITION
Marshall had a lot of help before he argued that case, from lawyers, sociologists, anthropologists, psychologists.

From 1938, Marshall was chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Slowly through 10 years, Marshall and the NAACP set the court to knock out various forms of segregation.

The great victory didn't come until the 1954 decision. He did important civil rights work afterwards. But in 1961, President John F. Kennedy named him a judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Tuesday, President Johnson announced he was appointing Marshall solicitor general of the United States, making him No. 3 man in the Justice Department behind the attorney general and the deputy attorney general.

SYMBOL OF PROGRESS
As solicitor general, he will be a vivid symbol of Negro progress for now it will be his job to argue the government's cases before the Supreme Court.

When he appeared there in the past, it was as a Negro lawyer for justice for Negroes. He will go there on many kinds of cases in the future but his voice will be the voice of the U.S. government.

Senate approval is necessary for a man appointed to the appellate court, the Supreme Court, or to the solicitor general's job. And Southerners in the Senate have slowed down approval for Negroes when Senate approval is needed.

Southerners might go all-out to keep a Negro off the Supreme Court, if there were a vacancy now. But as time passes, this kind of opposition can be expected to dwindle.

When there is a Supreme Court opening, Marshall, as a solicitor general, will have become a far more familiar national figure than he could ever have been if he had remained an appellate judge.

Chilean's Speech Way off Base

WASHINGTON — Eduardo Frei, president of Chile, in a speech delivered in Paris on Monday, unwittingly did a disservice to the people of his own country and the cause of unity in this hemisphere when he criticized the United States for what he called a "paternalistic policy" to "Latin America," and urged that Europe join the countries of South America in a new "Alliance for Progress."

Frei declared also that not only does he favor trade between Chile and any Communist country, but would support the reentry of Cuba into the Organization of American States as well as a reorganization of that body so as to achieve "a balance between Latin America and the United States."

The speech reflects serious misconceptions of the traditional policy of the United States and is a discouraging development with respect to Latin America as a whole.

For if a country as advanced as Chile, to which the United States has repeatedly given assistance, does not understand the role of this country in protecting Latin America against aggression as well as against Communist subversion which can lead to internal friction, then much of what has been done by the United States appears to have gone for naught.

SOLE OBJECTIVE
The policy of the United States is not, by any stretch of the imagination, based on a desire for one inch of territory in Latin America.

The history of recent years has shown that the sole objective of this country has been to do what the Monroe Doctrine originally contemplated—namely, to keep any European power from establishing a foothold by gaining control over any government in this hemisphere.

Chile is one of the countries that has long been protected by the Monroe Doctrine and has benefited from the economic aid extended by the United States.

In fact, if this country today abandoned the principle of the Monroe Doctrine and the resolution adopted by the Organization of American States expending that same doctrine, it would not be long before Chile would be dominated by Communist imperialism, just as Cuba.

Economic and military aid by the United States to Latin America from the close of World War II to June 30 of this year has amounted to about $10 billion, of which nearly $1 billion has gone to Chile.

If this is the "paternalistic policy" that Chile doesn't like, there are many members of Congress who would be willing to end it as such.

It is doubtful whether any combination of European countries would make even a major fraction of such a contribution, and certainly the grants and loans by this country far exceed those made by Europeans in the past.

A good many members of Congress would like to see the entire "Alliance for Progress" and save United States taxpayers a lot of money.

The president of Chile overlooks the fact that the United States today is willing to interpose its military as well as its economic power to prevent Communist imperialism from making inroads in any Latin American country.

This altruistic purpose is apparently ignored by the president of Chile, despite the long record of help given by this country to Latin America in the past.

Georgetown Settles Down for a Long Summer's Nap

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — Sweltering visitors to the nation's capital may be surprised to learn that this is the time of year Georgetownians love best.

As the humidity envelops us like a soggy blanket, and steam rises from the soft-MONTGOMERY ened asphalt, the lazy hum of air-conditioners adds to our momentary feeling of well-being.

The mad party whiz is over until October. No longer is the day's mail crammed with engraved white bids to receptions and dinners.

It is a time for seeing close friends and neighbors in the languid privacy of one's own garden; a time for al fresco dining as the master of the household takes over at the barbecue pit.

Tourists are here in droves from every part of the nation, but the stay-at-home residents are scarcely aware of the influx.

SLEEPY HAMLET
Georgetown in midsummer is like a sleepy hamlet in New England or Dixie; placid, self-contained, lachrymose.

Computers reveal that our 10 square blocks boast more listings in Who's Who than any similar expanse in the nation, but the casual visitor would never suspect it.

In shorts and sneakers, shirts or slacks we walk our dogs to the corner groceries and quaint specialty shops, exactly like the inhabitants of Podunk.

NO ALTERATIONS
Our little town-within-a-city reeks with history, and its occupants are tradition-minded.

The wide, wonderful, muddy Potomac flows along the feet of Georgetown, and the parallel canal surveyed by youthful

George Washington laps at its ankles.

The streets which once bore such colorful names as Duck Lane and Fishing Lane — now prosaically called 33rd and 31st Streets — slowly climb toward the heights where great old houses like Dumbarton Oaks and Tudor Place still occupy nearly a block each of some of the world's most expensive residential real estate.

If Georgetown is indeed a state of mind, then it's our favorite state in the lazy summertime. (Distributed by King Features Syndicate)

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Superintendent of the FBI (Federal Bureau of Investigation) National Academy, which is 30 years old on July 28, McNamee's technique is typical of the way the academy trains local police officers.

It seems almost impossible to believe today, but in the early 1930s — in the era of John Dillinger, "Machine Gun" Kelly, "Baby Face" Nelson and "Ma" Barker — there was a strong public clamor for a powerful U.S. national police force.

Gangsters made a mockery of law by pulling crimes and escaping across state lines in fast getaway cars. These mobs seemingly were becoming too well-organized and too technically competent for many local police forces to handle.

One opponent of a national police force was J. Edgar Hoover, then as now head of the FBI and the man most likely to have been chosen head of such a police force had it been established.

Hoover argued that centralization of police power was dangerous to democracy.

Says Nation Is Forgetting Its Responsibility to God

It would appear that the trouble with our nation today is a turning away from God. While the authorities try to overcome the tide of violence, we adults indulge in pretty much what we want and forget that our first responsibility is to God.

The keeping of the Lord's day seems to hold no meaning to many who go on an excursion on the lake, go on a picnic, or just stay at home and work in the yard. The Bible tells us that it is a day of rest unto the Lord.

It is only logical that as legislators and do-gooders pervert the law to accommodate their own careers and utopian schemes there will be an ever greater "disregard for law."

Today nobody knows what the law is except as they see it used for special privilege and gain. We are moving back toward the age-old law of men under which the end always justifies the means and wrong takes all.

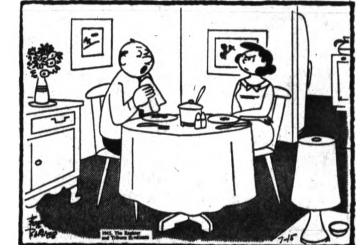

The function of the law is to protect the free exercise of our rights. How can you expect "respect for law" when the law itself is allowed to become a tool of injustice?

Italy, France to Open Car Tunnel in Alps Friday

COURMAYEUR, Italy (AP) — Under Europe's highest mountain, the presidents of Italy and France will join Friday in opening the monumental Mont Blanc auto tunnel — an event likely to give European unity efforts at least a symbolic boost.

From the time work first started on the tunnel in 1959, it was hailed as a new link in the European unity cause revived after World War II.

The tunnel is opening at a time when President Charles de Gaulle's France is in bitter dispute with its Common Market partners and the unity movement is stalemated.

De Gaulle himself is joining in the opening with President Giuseppe Saragat, Italy's first Socialist president and a man with his own strong ideas about European unity. Those ideas have not always been accepted by De Gaulle.

But here in the Alps, even if they do not agree on the politics of European unity, they will together open an artery that could pump new life into the idea. The tunnel could boost tourism and commerce not only in France and Italy but in the countries beyond.

UF Begins Second Phase in Building Trades Drive

A second unit of the Pontiac Area United Fund campaign among building trades and construction workers is under way. Schurrer Construction Co., at the site of the Matilda R. Wilson Hall, Oakland University, is one of 20 construction and contracting firms participating in the pilot effort in advance of the annual October drive.

The four-week campaign will reach construction trades during the period of peak employment.

Richard C. Schurrer, company vice president, and Jack Wheatley, president, Michigan State Building and Construction Trades, asked each employee to back the 55 United Fund family, health and youth agencies.

Wheatley told workers, "We want to record our concern for the many humanitarian needs being met through the work of United Fund agencies."

BENEFIT TO EVERYONE

"The results of these efforts benefit each of us by way of health research, information and treatment centers; family and child care services; and through recreation and character-building programs."

Dick M. Kirby, business representative, Detroit Building Trades, acted as master of ceremonies.

Attending the kickoff were Fred Haggard, president, Oakland County AFL-CIO Labor Council; Donald LaMarbe, financial secretary, Bricklayers Local 28; and George Brown, business representative, Painters Local 430.

Also attending were Grady Pinner, financial secretary, Carpenters Local 998; Arthur Heaton, director, Pontiac Area United Fund-AFL-CIO Community Service; and Wendell Asplin, assistant director, Pontiac Area United Fund.

Kirby and Steve Krucko, president of Krucko Plumbing and Heating Co., head the 1965 United Fund Building Advisory Committee's pilot campaign.

SPECIAL REPORT

The Mont Blanc auto tunnel is Western Europe's newest transportation miracle — a relatively short link to cut time and distance, opening a new way to speed freight and travelers past the Alpine barrier between Italy and France.

The two-lane 7.2-mile tunnel road bypasses 60 miles and several hours of travel over the hairpin mountain road. This means swifter, cheaper truck transport between France and northern Italy.

It means easier access — and thus a lure — for the tourist seeking a more comfortable route through the Alps.

GREAT TRAFFIC

Italy expects great traffic to develop under Mont Blanc. Italian newspapers already have nicknamed the tunnel "Europe's Subway."

Transport officials concede that traffic through the Alpine rail tunnels may suffer. But they don't think the loss will be much because there are no rail tunnels in the immediate area.

Thirteen workmen — eight Italians and five Frenchmen — were killed and scores injured in the six years it took to build the tunnel 11,400 feet below the snow-covered peak of the 15,772-foot mountain.

At each end of the tunnel, connecting Courmayeur, France with Courmayeur, are powerful ventilating stations to provide fresh air.

10-MINUTE TRIP

Traffic moving 30 to 40 miles an hour over the 24-foot wide roadway, will pass through the tunnel in just a little more than 10 minutes.

The tunnel is the second for automobiles under the Alps. The Great St. Bernard Tunnel was opened last year on the Italian-Swiss border.

The Mont Blanc tunnel cost $64 million, divided between Italy and France. Tolls range from $1.28 for a motor bike to $30.40 for the biggest trucks. Passenger cars pay $3.20 to $6, according to size.

LBJ Image at U.N. Has Lost Its Shine

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press International
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Although Communist propaganda against Washington's Viet Nam and Dominican policies has barely dented U.S. prestige here, there seems to be agreement that the delegates' image of President Johnson needs retouching.

Johnson has appeared before General Assembly delegates twice as president.

On Dec. 17, 1964, he earned their sympathy as successor to the recently assassinated John F. Kennedy and excited their enthusiasm with a pledge to make world peace, civil rights and human welfare "not an illusion, but a reality."

Last June 26, his appearance before the assembly's 20th anniversary commemoration at San Francisco provided no occasion for sympathy and afforded little opportunity for enthusiasm.

Most delegates had expected a dramatic speech from the President. Many were confident he would announce a U.S. concession in the U.N. political impasse over financial problems.

If not, indeed, a sizable monetary contribution to solve them.

ERRONEOUS FORECASTS

Although U.S. press advisers cautioned against predicting what Johnson would say, several dispatches forecast a financial concession, an offer for mutual scrapping with Russia of a determined number of nuclear warheads, or a move for peace in Viet Nam.

The President offered none of these, and whispers were passed by close students of the LBJ mystique that the advance publicity precluded his offering them.

The highlight of his speech was an appeal to the United Nations to persuade the Peking and Hanoi authorities to come to the conference table, an achievement eluding Washington to date.

Perhaps the delegates understood Johnson's failure to give the United Nations a shot in the arm with a dramatic speech at San Francisco better than officials understood the manner of his appearance there.

CAREFULLY PLANNED

An appearance by the President of the United States is a carefully planned thing.

U.N. officials proceeded on the understanding that Johnson would speak at the concluding session of the ceremonies at the San Francisco Opera House.

Suddenly plans were switched, permitting the President to speak on Friday, instead of Saturday.

For a speech by an ordinary man, this would make little difference. But the two dozen or so delegates who had been scheduled originally to speak before the President now were forced to hold up their preparations.

COME LATER

When the President speaks, it is likely those who come later will want to comment on his remarks.

There was an awkward moment when somebody's timing went off at the Opera House.

The opening ceremonies were disposed of, the assembly president had made his remarks, and the television cameras blinked their red lights expectantly. A wait of almost 20 minutes followed before Johnson was ushered to the podium.

Oklahoma did not repeal prohibition until April 7, 1933, after being dry for 51 years.

hit-and-run death of lumberman Newt Lee 21 years ago. Flanking Jones are his ex-wife, Jessie Jones of Indianapolis, Ind., and his son.

'Justice Has Been Served'

CELINA, Tenn. (AP) — Welby Lee is ready to return to the lumber business for the first time in 18 years. And he returns to his home in Tompkinsville, Ky., in the belief that "justice has been done" by the conviction of Grover Jones for the hit-run death of his father 21 years ago.

Jones of neighboring Jackson

County was sentenced to one year and one day here Wednesday after being convicted of involuntary manslaughter. He was accused of driving the car which struck and killed Newt Lee, 64, as the victim crossed the road in front of his home, Tenn., home of New Year's Eve, 1944.

Lee vowed the night his father died that he would find the driver of that car. He began a search for evidence which eventually forced him to retire from the lumber business in 1947 and which cost him $100,000 before it ended.

During 100,000 miles of travel, Lee compiled a voluminous collection of evidence which resulted in Jones' indictment in the case last year.

"I don't know what I'll do now," said Jones, 56, after the verdict was announced. However his lawyers said the case will be appealed.

"This is not a triumph of vengeance," said Lee. "I just feel that justice has been done."

Spread Family Doings Through Summer

By United Press International
Parents and children are planning many exciting activities for the summer months. Don't try to do everything during the first two weeks. It is important to spread the activities over the entire vacation or else halfway through, everyone will run out of steam.

Although it is a good idea to avoid tight scheduling, a general plan can be helpful. The program should be balanced to include various types of activities.

There should also be provisions for activities which the entire family can do together, others for father and son or daughter, as well as those activities which include participation with friends.

There might be plans for six or more major events. These could include a fishing trip, a visit to the New York World's Fair, a few days at Yellowstone National Park, a trip to the zoo, or a trip to visit the grandparents.

There are many activities which are simple but are very exciting to children. Consider the area where you live and what facilities may be available.

Children usually enjoy a day swimming in a lake or an ocean.

During the first few weeks of the vacation, children may be very excited about playing all kinds of games with their neighborhood friends. They are usually very happy about their new-found freedom from the school routines.

If this kind of play remains as the only activity, they may become bored. It is a good idea to break up the week with some other type of activities.

SIMPLE THINGS

What are some of the simple things which make the summer so much fun?

Perhaps, the family can cook their dinner over charcoal at a nearby park. Father or mother or both might take the children on a hike in the woods. If possible, a child would enjoy a day at his father's office. Children are often fascinated by activities which their parents consider routine.

Summer boredom usually arrives sometime in August. This is when it is so important to have a few major events to fill in the gaps. Probably, this is also a good time for father to take his vacation.

Father is a very important person all through the year but he is particularly so during the summer. Most children have limited opportunities to spend time with their fathers.

Fathers are working and may not arrive home until the children are just about ready for bed. During the summer, there should be many more opportunities to spend time together. Mothers should step out of the picture, at least part of the time, to allow this.

Obviously, the summer can be very valuable and a great deal of fun. Members of a family can enjoy each other's company and become better acquainted. Make your plans so as to keep the entire vacation active and exciting.

New York City Starts Slogan-Filled Drive to Curb Water Use

NEW YORK (AP) — "Take brief showers instead of baths." "Stop running hot water on dishes." "You, too, can save 25 gallons of water every day."

Two blimps cruised over New York Wednesday night flashing programs were stepped up the water conservation slogans for the first time from signboards attached to their huge gas envelopes.

HOUSE-TO-HOUSE

As supplies in the reservoirs declined again, New York started a house-to-house campaign to show every consumer how to save 25 more gallons of water daily.

In Newark, N.J., Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio told leaders of seven communities sharing that city's reservoirs at Pequannock that he was ordering a 50 per cent cut in pressure in the main that delivers supplies to them as an automatic means of reducing excess use of water. The reservoirs are now at 21 per cent of capacity.

Addonizio also said he would ask the state to tighten restrictions on water use in northern New Jersey to match emergency regulations in force in Newark.

A state order has imposed some restrictions in Essex, Bergen, Hudson and Passaic counties and the city of Elizabeth in Union County. Newark restrictions that go beyond the state's order include limitations on operation of car-wash businesses and on use of water-cooled air-conditioners.

slightly in upstate New York except in the Lower Hudson Valley, Albany-Schenectady-Troy area, of Long Island.

The 1965 rainfall in the Albany district — with a population of 600,000 — totals 12.20 inches, a deficiency of 5.19 inches from normal.

BELOW NORMAL

In Boston, the precipitation in the first six months of 1965 was 7.80 inches below normal. Some communities, particularly in western Massachusetts, have banned outdoor use of water.

Charles H. McNamara, Massachusetts agriculture commissioner, says there is no way to really determine farm losses.

Connecticut, Pennsylvania, and Maryland report no serious water shortages at the present time.

But in Connecticut, growers of truck and orchard crops are complaining. Not much of a sweet corn crop is expected. Orchard fruits are expected to be runty. Some nurserymen are refusing to sell trees and bushes because they fear they can't take the shock of transplanting right now.

Four Roses adds a Fifth Rose.

Where? Don't bother looking. It's in the taste.

We've finally done it. We've found a way to make whiskey taste good. Not just smoother or lighter. Not just milder or blander. But good.

That's our Fifth Rose—the great new taste of Four Roses.

At long last, a taste you don't just say you like—but really like.

This could change your ideas about what whiskey you should be drinking. Right?

Believe us, it will be a welcome change. Especially since this good-tasting whiskey is surprisingly reasonable to taste. Four Roses doesn't cost any more any more. Not one penny more.

So now there's no reason in the world why you shouldn't buy Four Roses.

Pontiac School Affairs

Board Sets Calendar for Next Year; 1st Day Sept. 8

A calendar for the 1965-66 school year and a new policy for establishing future school-year dates were approved last night by the Pontiac School Board.

In 1965-66, the board set a school year of 40 weeks with 187 student membership days and 200 teacher contract days.

Elementary grade and junior high pupils will actually attend school 183 days, excluding special days for parent-teacher conferences.

Senior high school pupils will be in class on the same basis for 181 days, while teachers will be on duty a total of 199 days.

Classes will get under way Sept. 8 with teachers reporting the day before. The school year will end on June 16 and 17.

The school board policy provides that the Christmas vacation each year should vary between 10 and 12 days depending on the day of the week that the holiday falls on.

Schools in future years will be closed one week prior to Easter Sunday for the spring vacation and Memorial Day will be observed as an official holiday, closing the schools on Monday when the day falls on Sunday.

In other business last night, school board members authorized the preparation of a policy statement on the appointment of community-school directors.

The policy would also set the salary for such posts.

Pontiac Schools have plans for the operation of community-school programs under a Mott Foundation experimental program and the federal government's antipoverty School Community Action Program.

The policy statement is to be presented at the next regular board meeting.

The board approved a policy supporting a school-sponsored camping program. Practiced for several years, school officials said that the board had never formally given its consent.

The board also okayed abandoning of the bid procedure for securing fleet insurance for school district vehicles.

Finance Director Vernon L. Schiller said that it was increasingly difficult to obtain bids each year and also keep premium costs in line.

He said that a safety program in conjunction with the Travelers Insurance Co. would give continuity of coverage and a reduction in premium.

The board okayed a new contract with Travelers for 1965-66 at an annual cost of about $5,000.

In other business, annual milk contracts with a total value of an estimated $187,000 were approved for Maple Leaf Dairy Co. and the Nye Dairy.

Richard C. Fell, assistant superintendent, said that the milk contracts represented a savings over 1964-65 of $15,000. This will enable the schools to sell students a half-pint of milk for one cent in 1965-66, instead of two cents.

The board awarded the school district's bread contract, valued at $18,000, to the Continental Baking Co. of Detroit. The firm was the lowest of two bidders.

Board members were informed that Mrs. Delilah Matthews, special education instructor, had appealed her case to the State Tenure Commission, which still must rule whether to accept it.

The board ordered disciplinary action against the teacher after conducting tenure hearings last year.

The board designated Russell L. Brown and Dr. Walter Godsell to represent Pontiac at the Michigan School Board Association meeting in Detroit Sept. 14.

Mrs. Lucille D. Marshall was selected to represent Pontiac Schools as a designate to pass on the budget of the Oakland County Intermediate School District.

Area Trial Resumes July 27

The trial of three men charged with assault and battery of police officers will be continued at 10 a.m. July 27.

Yesterday in Waterford Township Justice Patrick K. Daly's court, three witnesses for the prosecution testified.

The defendants — Richard

Dewey, 37, of 2628 Desmond, Waterford Township; Donald Cornelli, 41, of 123 S. Johnson, and Gerald Jackson, 34, of 3445 Cheeseman, Waterford Township—were arrested by township police last Saturday following an early morning scuffle outside Club 99, 88 S. Telegraph.

The board also okayed abandoning of the bid procedure for securing fleet insurance for school district vehicles.

Controls Eased on Junked Cars

AVON TOWNSHIP — A qualifying clause was added to the township's controversial "junked car ordinance" at a public hearing last night and able time, not to exceed six months, to procure such license."

The clause also prohibits outside storage of old, unsightly machinery not suited for use and old and used lumber material.

It does provide, however, that building materials "fit to be used to improve the premises, may be kept if piled off the ground so as not to become a rat and rodent harbor."

Many residents opposed the original amendment because they felt it gave too much power to the officials charged with enforcing it.

About 100 persons attended last night's meeting, and a majority of them indicated by a show of hands that they favored the new phrasing.

will now be sent to the zoning board for a recommendation.

The amendment to the zoning ordinance, designed to rid the township of junked and abandoned vehicles, makes it an offense to let an automobile with an expired license plate sit out in the open on private property.

It provides that "each day that such prohibited storage continues shall be considered a separate offense."

The new clause states that this does not apply to a car ordinarily used but temporarily out of running condition.

It provides that "if an automobile is being kept for actual use but is temporarily unused, the building inspector may grant the owner a reason-

Paving Okayed for Holly High

HOLLY — The board of education has accepted the paving bid of Flint Asphalt for paving the north and south parking lots and roadway of the senior high school.

The net bid price is $11,628. The north parking lot which will provide space for 100 cars of both faculty and students, will cost $7,178.

Paving of the south parking lot amounts to $2,530 and the roadway will cost $2,550.

The south parking lot will be for visitors' cars and part of it for outside basketball courts for gym classes.

SPECIAL MEETING
The board agreed to hold a special meeting Monday to discuss salaries with faculty members.

A report on buildings and grounds is also scheduled.

The board has approved the advertising of bids to be submitted Aug. 9 for construction of Patterson and Davisburg elementary school additions.

They adopted a new policy on capital outlay items by which any item over $1,000 must first be approved by the board.

INSURANCE AGENT
The board also accepted the resignation of Paul Schagane as insurance agent for the school district and appointed Addie Insurance Agency of Holly as new agent.

The appointment is for a maximum period of three years beginning July 1.

Four mercury vapor lights will be installed at the Holly elementary building for a price not to exceed $225, based on time and material.

MRS. JAMES E. MCKEE

To Lead Avon Auxiliary Unit

AVON TOWNSHIP — Mrs. James E. McKee of 2360 Devondale was elected 18th District president of the American Legion Auxiliary for the coming year.

She is a member of the Hill-Gazette Post Auxiliary No. 143, Auburn Heights.

Other officers to be installed at the post Aug. 6 are Mrs. James Kay of Royal Oak, alternate president; Mrs. John Lynch of Clarkston, secretary; Mrs. Arthur St. Dennis of Royal Oak, treasurer; and Mrs. Homer Hight of Oxford, chaplain.

Troy School Board Approves Cut in Report Card Issuance

TROY — Junior and senior high school students will get four report cards next year instead of six.

Faculty members requested the change from the board of education Tuesday night for several reasons:

• The first parent-teacher conference could be three weeks later in the semester, allowing the teachers to become better acquainted with the students.

• The new IBM report cards are designed to last the entire year rather than just a semester.

• The IBM cards won't go through the machine properly if they are handled too often.

NOTIFICATION

Schools Supt. Rex B. Smith said parents of students whose grades need attention will be notified half-way through the marking period.

The four-period marking system was tried about four years ago. A survey at the end of the year showed that the majority of teachers wanted to continue the four markings.

Smith said parents were split in their opinions, so the school reverted to six markings in junior and senior high. He said everyone agreed to retain four periods in elementary school.

Smith said a survey of parents wasn't taken this time because "the administrative reasons for four periods were so strong."

OTHER ACTION

In other action, the board approved the purchase of five portable classrooms from low bidder McFadden Corp. for $10,000 each. Each is 28 feet wide by 40 feet long.

The classrooms will be set up where they are needed while permanent facilities are in the planning stage and will be moved when the permanent facilities are ready for use.

Smith said three rooms will be put at Niles school during the coming year and a fourth at Poppelen. Site of the fifth classroom is still undecided.

Township Board Request

Library Plans to Be Revised

OXFORD — Plans for the proposed new Oxford Township Christian Slayton Free Public Library moved one step forward Tuesday night and one step backward last night.

Tuesday the Oxford Village Council approved a site plan for the library on West Burdick between the township hall and the village hall.

Last night, however, the Township Board asked that it the plans be revised before it gives its approval.

Mrs. Lionel Kamm, chairman of the library board, said Township Board members felt the building as now proposed would be too close to the existing township and village halls.

The three buildings eventually are to form a civic center complex. But Mrs. Kamm said there are no plans to tear the township and village halls down in the near future.

SOLUTION IN 2 WEEKS
She said the library board will try to work out a solution in the next two weeks so the site plan can be approved and plans for financing the library can move ahead.

The cost was originally estimated at $40,000. Mrs. Kamm said the cost will now be closer to $50,000 because of rising costs.

Donations and a 1-mill tax passed last February will help finance the library.

The library board plans to apply for a federal grant to cover one-third of the cost. The board will apply in the next two weeks if it can get approval of the village and township, Mrs. Kamm said.

The Village Council meets again July 27. Mrs. Kamm said the Township Board indicated it would hold a special meeting when the plans are revised.

Summer Recreation Program Under Way

ROME — The summer recreation program, sponsored by the Youth Center, is now under way.

The program includes swimming, crafts, art, tennis, drama and dancing.

Area Men Find Success in Plastics

By BILL EASTHAM
Asst. City Editor — Suburban
AVON TOWNSHIP — Would you like to have grandpa's false teeth or junior's first pair of shoes encased in plastic?

Such requests wouldn't be considered the least bit unusual at L & S Plastics, 3345 Auburn.

Owned and operated by Burdette Lewis and John Slocum, both of Rochester, the firm is one of the most unique in the country and a leader in its field.

Their specialty is setting industrial and scientific displays in blocks or spheres of clear lucite. But the variety of items they have "mounted" in their small, basement factory is practically endless.

For example, about a year ago they made displays of $1 million in gems — diamonds, emeralds and pearls — for Sidney Krandsall & Sons of Detroit.

ON WORLD TOUR

The displays, including a "ball" of 1,000 diamonds mounted in a sphere, are now on a world tour.

And at the opposite end of the durability scale — Slocum has encased downy thistles, as fragile as a breath of air, without bending the tiniest filament.

A tool and die man with a flair for the artistic, Slocum does most of the pouring and finishing. Lewis handles sales and promotion and lends a hand in production when the workload gets heavy.

They have been in business together since 1949, when they started making the inserts used in the mock air intakes on Buick fenders.

FURNITURE LINE

They later went into the furniture business with plastics as well as lucite. They moved into their present location in 1952.

Slocum said the plastics business sort of grew by itself until it began to crowd the furniture business. So a year ago the two partners disposed of their furniture line and began concentrating on plastics.

They have filled orders for countless firms and individuals. Their biggest customers include

General Motors Corp., Parker Pen Co., Ford Motor Co., and Marshall Field Department Stores of Chicago.

AT N.Y. FAIR

One of only seven such firms in the country, Lewis and Slocum have filled orders so complex and technical that their competitors were reluctant to tackle them.

Slocum said he has spent as much as six months making one display. Such highly technical work, as might be expected, commands a high price.

The firm is presently negotiating for a job that Slocum said would cost in the neighborhood of $20,000.

LARGE VOLUME

They also do a large volume through their retail store, which contains hundreds of gift items ranging in price from 50 cents to $300.

They welcome browsers, who Lewis said frequently spend hours looking over their fascinating displays.

The production rooms in the basement of the building contain machinery worth about $100,000, some designed and built by Slocum, and thousands of molds of every imaginable size and shape.

Production begins with powdered lucite, which is liquified either by heat or liquid nitrogen — cold—depending on the item being mounted.

LUCITE HARDENS

After being allowed to harden for several hours, the blocks or spheres are removed from the molds, most of which were also made by Slocum.

The rough castings are barely translucent, but after going through a series of polishing processes they become clear as distilled water.

Slocum takes pride in his ability to pour and polish a perfect sphere, which he says is a rarity in the industry.

The firm is tooling for mass production of popular items such as key ring tags and letter openers.

But the retail store, which has the atmosphere of a sophisticated hobby shop, contains a display of "one-shot" items that defy the imagination.

For example you can buy a life-like massasauga rattler for your mother-in-law, a house-mouse for your little boy or a fifth of Canadian whiskey for your drinking uncle, all encased in plastic.

Or a $300 free-form display of an abstract piece of driftwood would make a nice gift for your spouse.

Area Man Is Head of CAP Camp

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Capt. Charles Klann, 6802 Pear, is serving as commander of the Michigan Wing, Civil Air Patrol summer encampment this week at Selfridge Air Force Base.

As encampment commander, Klann will supervise classes and other activities for over 100 Michigan CAP cadets.

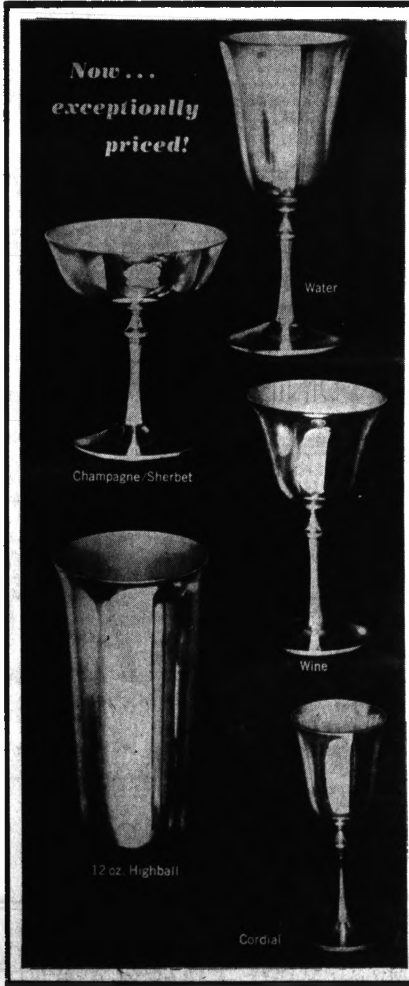

Purpose of the week-long encampment is to familiarize cadets with the operation of an Air Force base.

Other area CAP members attending the encampment include CWO Marilyn Moore of 6650 Ship-

Amy, Independence Township; and AIC Loring A. Simpson of 10075 Graham, Springfield, Township.

Cadets attending are Joe Fredericks of 6504 Clarkson Road; Robert W. Grace, 5234 Sashabaw; Karen Hawkins of 6457 Snow Apple; and Gary Klann of 6802 Pear, all Independence Township.

Other cadets in the encampment are Kathy Eudis, 1940 Ortonville, Brandon Township; John Bushart, 4861 Pontiac Lake; Timothy Morris, 1360 Nancywood; and Timothy Wall, 4555 Major, all Waterford Township.

By The Associated Press

Socialite Barbara Cavanagh says she and Mayor Robert F. Wagner plan to honeymoon on Marco Island, 50 miles south of Fort Myers, Fla., after their wedding July 28.

Miss Cavanagh said yesterday in New York, they plan to stay at a friend's house on the five-mile long resort island, which is connected by a highway to the Florida mainland.

The host's name was not made public.

Miss Cavanagh, whose engagement to Wagner was announced last Friday, said "We'll be fishing a lot, and the mayor will play golf." They plan to take 10 days or two weeks for the honeymoon.

Concert Pianist Couple Finds Discord

Susan Starr, the concert pianist who was runner-up in the 1962 Tchaikovsky competition in Russia, has filed in Philadelphia for divorce from her husband, Kenneth Amada, also a concert pianist.

Lester H. Novack, Miss Starr's attorney, said yesterday, "It has been suggested that conflict was caused by the demands of the respective careers of the two artists."

Miss Starr, 22, and Amada, 33, were married in 1962 after a three-month courtship that started when they both appeared in the Dimitri Mitropoulos International competition in New York.

Queen Plans Caribbean Cruise Next Year

Queen Elizabeth II and her husband, Prince Philip, will spend five weeks in the Caribbean in February and March.

Buckingham Palace announced in London last night that they will visit Trinidad and Tobago, Jamaica and British dependent territories.

Greek King in Army Row

ATHENS (AP) — King Constantine is reported planning to demand assurances from Premier George Papandreu that the premier does not intend to cause disruption in the traditionally royalist Greek army.

Papandreu has vowed to purge the army of politically active officers.

From his summer palace on Corfu, the 25-year-old monarch sent his political secretary to Athens to discuss the fate of Defense Minister Peter Garoufalas, the focus of the dispute between the government and the palace. Garoufalas opposes the army purge.

Papandreu's Center Union Party ousted Garoufalas from its ranks two days ago in a fruitless effort to make him resign his cabinet post.

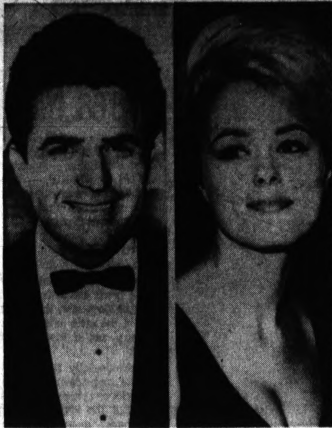

Garoufalas, who is said to have royal backing, promptly accused Papandreu of treasonous conduct, saying he was undermining the armed forces by allowing Communist infiltration.

FACES DECISION

Constantine faces the decision of whether to sign a royal decree ousting Garoufalas or refuse to sign and let the government resign.

Constantine's envoy reportedly told Papandreu last night that the king would come to see the premier himself within 24 hours.

Reliable sources said the king, before making his final decision, wanted assurances that the armed forces "will not be toyed with."

REVEALS MARRIAGE — Vincent Edwards, 35, star of the "Ben Casey" television series, disclosed yesterday that he and actress-singer Kathy Krah, 22, have been secretly married since June 13. A spokesman for Edwards said the civil ceremony was performed in a Beverly Hills home. It is the first marriage for each.

Romney Gets Antibias Code

DETROIT (AP)—A new fair employment practices code requiring that all state contracts with private employers contain a no-bias clause was presented to Gov. George Romney today by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

Under the proposed code, state contracts would be suspended if the employer discriminates in his hiring practices. The commission could enforce the code by asking state courts to issue injunctive orders.

A spokesman for the commission said the code is aimed specifically at branches of state government and all persons doing business with them. But it is not intended to suggest that any state agency is discriminating against any group, he said.

The code bars discrimination on the basis of religion, race, color or national religion in hiring, granting of licenses and eligibility for training programs.

Romney is expected to order the code implemented immediately.

Boat Trip Near End for Barry

BAT CAVE, Ariz. (AP) — Barry Goldwater halted his Colorado River boating party at Bat Cave, a former guano mine, Wednesday night and hopes to end the 312-mile trip by late today.

The party of 17 includes Goldwater's two sons, Mike and Barry Jr., and Mrs. Thomas Ross, one of his two daughters. The others are friends or veteran boaters.

The 15-day trip, a repeat of one made by Goldwater in 1939, started near Glen Canyon Dam and ends near Hoover Dam.

NEWAYGO (AP) — Cheryl Mater, 11, of Newaygo was killed Wednesday when she apparently touched electrical wires while climbing a tree near her home.

Look for Cat That Bit Boy

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Police are looking for a large, dark-gray tomcat in the Oxbow Lake area. The cat bit a 4-year-old boy, David Campeau, last Thursday night.

If the cat is not found, the boy may have to take rabies shots.

Information on the whereabouts of the cat may be given to the White Lake Township police or the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Campeau of 104 Stowell.

Own Teeth in Steak

NEW YORK (AP)—Edward Everett Cauthorne, oldest living alumnus of the University of Texas, got a special gift for his 103rd birthday.

It was a T-Bone steak sent to him in New York by Texas Gov. John B. Connally.

Cauthorne ate the steak with his own teeth.

Chute Didn't Open

'No Time to Be Scared'

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — "I didn't have time to be scared."

This was Airman Andre Gullett's comment today concerning his July 2 parachute jump from 3,000 feet when his main chute failed to open.

The air commando said he "was too busy going through emergency procedures" to worry much about the landing itself.

Part of the emergency procedures involved opening a reserve parachute. But this chute, like its larger counterpart, did not function properly. It did, however, open partially and provided Gullett with a small canopy for his trip down.

HIS THOUGHTS

Asked in an interview what he thought about as he tumbled through space, he replied: "I remembered other people who had been in the same situation saying that the landing was hard but not especially painful."

"I figured I'd land hard, too. No, I wasn't worried about being hurt. I didn't even think about that."

Gullett did land hard enough, though, to suffer a compression fracture. He said the fracture, a chipped vertebrae, was caused by his pitching forward when he hit the ground.

An early hospital report said Gullett was bruised and shaken but apparently not seriously hurt. A more thorough examination, however, revealed the fracture.

GOOD LANDING

A spokesman at Hurlburt Field, an auxiliary of Eglin where Gullett is stationed, termed his landing "near-perfect."

He was hospitalized immediately. Doctors said he probably will be released some time next week.

Gullett appeared to take the whole thing in stride.

Junior Editors Quiz on RINGS

QUESTION: When were rings first worn and why?

ANSWER: People have always loved to adorn themselves, and the shape of the fingers naturally suggest that they be used in this way. It is probably that the wearing of rings goes back to the earliest times, but just how far back we do not know.

The earliest rings on record have been found in ancient Egyptian tombs. Rings came to have different meanings and uses. One was used to act as a person's signature.

They could be rolled in wet clay or stamped on paper with ink. Notice the two called signet rings. Some countries and tribes have worn rings on noses, ears, arms, toes and ankles, but in our civilization their use has been mainly on fingers and ears.

Until about 1300, it was usual to wear rings on the thumb. A most important use of the ring began in Roman times. There was once a belief (which is untrue) that there is a vein connecting the third finger of the left hand with the heart; so came the custom of wearing rings to celebrate a betrothal or a wedding.

Rings can be also a sign of authority, as in the papal ring. Or they may be mounted with the wearer's birthstone. A ring is a natural setting for a precious stone, such as a diamond, ruby or emerald.

FOR YOU TO DO: Don't think you must wait until you can afford to buy a precious stone before you can enjoy a ring. A great many interesting rings, with synthetic stones, can be bought these days at very reasonable prices.

Letter Demanded Money

Man, 75, Charged in Plot

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A 75-year-old retiree from Fennville was arraigned Wednesday on a charge of criminal extortion after he allegedly threatened a bank president by letter and demanded $12,000.

Lawrence Hopper was remanded to jail in lieu of $1,000 bond following his appearance in U.S. District Court here. The court ordered appointment of an attorney for Hopper.

Hopper is accused of ordering Marvin Hutchinson, president of Old State Bank in Fennville, to throw the money from a car and telling him he would "be sorry" if he didn't.

Proposed Colleges Awarded State OK

LANSING (AP)—Two proposed community colleges in mid-northern Michigan won State Board of Education approval Wednesday.

One would be located in the Clare-Gladwin counties area, the other in Crawford-Roscommon-Oscoda-Ogemaw counties. The board action permits local elections to be held on formation of the districts.

HOSTED BY IKE — Adlai E. Stevenson and President Eisenhower shook hands at the White House in February 1953 when Stevenson lunched with the president and a group of congressmen. A few months earlier, Eisenhower had defeated Stevenson in the presidential election.

Special Session Proposed

U.N. Is Shocked Into Subdued Silence

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — death of such a distinguished member of your official Cabinet. Your grief is shared by all of us at the United Nations."

Achkar Marof, ambassador of Guinea, proposed an extraordinary meeting of the Security Council to pay tribute to the man who was the center of most of its debates — from the Cuban crisis of 1962 to the Dominican debate concluded late last month.

Secretary General Thant, an admirer of the late U.S. ambassador, sent the following message to President Johnson:

"I was so shocked and grieved to hear of the sudden and tragic death of Ambassador Stevenson."

"As the representative of the United States of America, he had earned the respect, admiration and affection of all his colleagues at the United Nations for his extraordinary human qualities."

PERSONAL LOSS

"I know that you must feel a sense of personal loss on the American who was also a member of your official Cabinet. Your grief is shared by all of us at the United Nations."

Word of Stevenson's death came first from the U.S. Mission across the street from U.N. headquarters.

Clayton Fritchey, a long-time associate of Stevenson and director of public affairs in the U.S. Mission, confirmed the ambassador had died in London.

Stevenson's deputy, Ambassador Francis T. P. Plimpton, became acting chief of the delegation.

BLACK CREPE RIBBONS

At the mission, officials draped the Stars and Stripes and Stevenson's personal ambassadorial flag with black crepe ribbons.

A condolence book was opened in the lobby.

The first entry read: "1965—the year the world lost Sir Winston Churchill and Adlai Stevenson." It was signed Stephen Schoeman, New Rochelle, N.Y.

Stevenson appeared in excellent health during his last activities here, although he admitted to a weight problem. He was kept on a fairly strict diet by his housekeeper at his Waldorf Astoria Hotel apartment. He had not complained of illness.

His friends noted that his complexion, always ruddy, seemed to have taken on a deeper glow recently.

For six weeks before his departure to attend the U.N. economic and social council meeting at Geneva, where he spoke last week, Stevenson had been engaged in bitter personal debate with Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko in the Security Council on the Dominican situation.

State Official's Store Is Hit by Safe-crackers

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Miliken's Department Store, owned by the family of Lt. Gov. William Miliken, was robbed of an estimated $7,000 by two safe-crackers Wednesday night, police said.

Officers said the men apparently hid in the store's attic until the store closed. A clerk who returned to the building was handcuffed while the men blasted the safe open, police said.

A Hard Campaigner With Legacy of 'Talking Sense'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Few men ever disliked campaigning so heartily and did so much of it as Adlai E. Stevenson in two unsuccessful races for the presidency.

The man who was the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956 and who died in London Wednesday left behind him a legacy of "talking sense to the American people" — even if they didn't want to hear it at the time.

His sparkling wit, his quick brilliant mind, his unwavering integrity and his ability to wrap his ideas in shimmering packages of words survived Stevenson's distaste for what he once called "choice by hullabaloo" in the election of presidents.

Stevenson said the candidate had to "write at every chance, think if possible, read mail and newspapers, talk on the telephone, talk to everybody and ride through city after city on the back of an open car, smiling until your mouth is dehydrated by the wind, waving until the blood runs out of your arms."

Then, he went on, the candidate had to "bounce gaily, confidently, masterfully into great howling hails, shaved and all made up for television with the right color shirt and tie — I always forgot — and a manuscript so defaced with chicken tracks and last-minute jottings that you couldn't follow it, even if the spotlights weren't blinding and even if the still photographers didn't shoot you in the eye everytime you looked at them."

Stevenson desperately wanted to avoid taking the nomination in 1962 and run for reelection as governor of Illinois, where he felt he was getting his teeth into an important job.

But circumstances and Harry S. Truman prevailed to shove Stevenson into a 1962 contest with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

At the beginning, Stevenson hadn't felt he and Eisenhower were far apart on foreign policy. But, in 1956, he campaigned desperately for the nomination because he felt that the Republican administration was letting world leadership slip through its fingers.

Again there was defeat. As Stevenson quipped, it hurt too much for him to smile and he was too old to cry.

State Treasury Report

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's treasury took in $159,990,885 during June, spent $215,194,142 and ended the month with a balance of $292,338,556, State Treasurer Sanford Brown reports. For the week of June 28, he said, income was $30,865,130, expenditures totaled $34,941,536 and the balance was $299,895,076.

State Leaders Hail Adlai's Greatness

By the Associated Press
When Adlai Stevenson opened his 1952 presidential campaign with a speech to a Labor Day crowd in Detroit's Cadillac Square, he made a pitch for the workingman's support but emphasized that he wouldn't coddle labor.

"I might as well make it clear right now I intend to do exactly what I think right and best for all of us—business, labor, agriculture—alike, Stevenson said, adding:

"Contrary to the impression fostered by some of the press, you are not my captive, and I am not yours."

The death of Stevenson Wednesday in London brought back memories of the Democratic nominee's visits to Michigan during the 1952 and 1956 campaigns.

FAMOUS PICTURE

Stevenson's 1952 travels to the state also produced perhaps the most famous picture of his political career—showing a hole in his shoe as he sat on a platform in Flint with then-Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

When the picture brought a Pulitzer Prize to Flint Journal photographer Bill Gallagher, Stevenson commented:

"This is the first time a Pulitzer Prize has ever been awarded for a hole in one."

NATIONAL FOCUS

Stevenson's 1956 Labor Day

appearance in Detroit drew special national attention because President Eisenhower had carried the state in 1952 despite the large number of labor voters. Stevenson lost the state again in 1956, but he gained slightly percentage-wise.

It was organized labor, in the figure of United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther, that helped Stevenson win the 1956 nomination on the state ballot at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Neil Staebler, Michigan Democratic chairman during both of Stevenson's presidential campaigns, praised the U. S. ambassador to the United Nations as "America's foremost world citizen."

Praise of Stevenson was voiced by political and labor leaders alike in Michigan Wednesday.

RAISED LEVEL

Gov. George Romney said: "In his lifetime, Adlai Stevenson became more than a partisan figure. He sought conscientiously to elevate the level of the American political dialogue."

"He earned the respect of all Americans, regardless of party, for his intelligence, integrity, and eloquence. He spoke, as few men have, to the noblest traditions and the highest aspirations of the American people."

Reuther, attending a labor conference in Amsterdam, commented:

"At a time when the world was caught up in violence, when power was underscored by harsh voices and the rattling of missiles, America and the cause of human freedom had Adlai Stevenson as their champion."

VOICE OF SANITY

"As much as any man in our century, he represented a voice of sanity, of compassion, of reason in a troubled and tortured world."

Republican State Chairman Mrs. Elly Peterson described Stevenson as an "articulate, brilliant statesman."

"The nation will miss his services at the U.N., she said."

"Michigan Republicans join the country and the world in expressing deepest sympathy to the family of this distinguished American."

Weeks Of Back Pain Now Relieved

"After weeks of pain in my back and hips, I used DeWitt's Pain-Ex and found wonderful relief," says Mrs. R. Gardner, Waterloo, Iowa.

People write in every day praising the remarkable relief they get with DeWitt's Pain-Ex.

DeWitt's Pain-Ex act fast with a proven analgesic to relieve pain of backache. Their mild purgative action helps to eliminate retained fluids and flush out irritating bladder wastes that can cause physical distress. If pain persists, see your doctor. DeWitt's Pain-Ex often succeeds where others fail—quickly relieves minor muscle aches and pains, too. In case of the genuine DeWitt's Pain-Ex.

FAMOUS SHOE SOLE — Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic candidate for president in 1952, bared a worn shoe sole at a Labor Day rally in Flint, Mich. Behind him is then-Governor of Michigan G. Mennen Williams.

SUPPORTED BY MRS. ROOSEVELT — Adlai E. Stevenson shook hands with a supporter, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, after making a major campaign speech in New York in October 1956 when he was the Democratic candidate against President Eisenhower.

Water Deficit Hits Saginaw

SAGINAW (UPI) — A critical water supply situation faces the city and out-of-city users of city water, William Tarrant, superintendent of the Saginaw City Water Plant, said yesterday.

The city placed its water allotment in effect yesterday, calling for immediate restrictions on water used by out-of-city customers.

The system pumped a record 25.7 million gallons Tuesday to set an all-time high for one day. The old record of 25.5 million gallons was pumped in June of last year.

Lenore Helps Mark New Boys' Home

SAGINAW (AP) — Mrs. George Romney, wife of the governor, helped dedicate a new home for boys in Saginaw Wednesday.

"Our success as human beings is determined by how we treat fellow human beings rather than by which nation has more space ships or more bombs," Mrs. Romney said at the dedication.

The center, known as Father D'Onofrio's Home for Boys, was financed, renovated and furnished by donations from the Saginaw-Midland, Bay City area.

Maintain Guard Against Misuse of Drugs

The misuse of valuable drugs is becoming a serious problem. This applies particularly to the widespread current use of barbiturates ("goof balls") and amphetamines ("pep pills"). Both types of drug can be obtained legally only with a doctor's prescription. BRANDSTADT notes that bootleg suppliers are all too common.

The amphetamines are abused by persons who can't bear to rest when they are tired. They burn the candle at both ends and stay awake long hours to the detriment of their health.

Although these drugs will mask feelings of exhaustion and drowsiness, the result of their improper use is a depletion of energy reserves.

NARCOLEPSY

Amphetamines are taken legitimately by persons who suffer from narcolepsy (a sudden uncontrollable urge to sleep while engaged in a normal activity), palsy, alcoholism, certain forms of depression and barbiturate poisoning.

Barbiturates are depressants. Because they are habit-forming, they should not be taken for prolonged periods but they are of great value in breaking a vicious cycle of nervous tension causing inomnia and insomnia aggravating the nervous tension.

They are also used in combination in many preparations for lowering the blood pressure.

When drugs of either of these two types are taken under medical supervision, they are harmless. Barbiturates are, however, especially dangerous when taken along with alcohol.

LARGE DOSE

The result may be a semistupor state in which a person takes a larger dose of the drug than he intended.

Some cases of suicide or near suicide attributed to barbiturates have been due to just such accidental poisoning.

Q—What is the cause of the carpal tunnel syndrome? What are the symptoms and the treatment?

A—The carpal tunnel syndrome is caused by anything that presses on the median nerve as it passes through a tunnel formed by muscles and ligaments in the wrist.

WRIST FRACTURE

This may be due to poor alignment of a wrist fracture of an infection in this area. It is often associated with a rheumatic involvement of the muscle tendons but in many victims, especially middle-aged women, the cause is unknown.

This disease may be manifested by a burning pain, especially at night, in the two thirds of the palm toward the thumb and the thumb, index, middle and half of the ring finger.

Later, there is weakness and partial or total loss of feeling in these fingers.

If the condition is mild and has been present less than two months, an injection of hydrocortisone once a week may be all that is required.

If the disease is chronic and progressive, there will be some wasting of the muscles in the involved area unless the pressure on the nerve is relieved by a surgical operation.

(Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

The late George Gershwin, who wrote music for many musical shows, began his career as a song plugger in New York's Tin Pan Alley.

Female Problem

More Workers Asked by U-M

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan appealed Wednesday to skilled trade unions to find added manpower to erect more than $100 million worth of new facilities planned in the next two years.

U-M last week had a labor shortage of 155 skilled trades workers on new construction, said James F. Brinkerhoff, director of plant extension.

He said U-M is willing to house for a nominal charge transient skilled trades workers.

He estimated 4,000 workers are busy on the Ann Arbor campus up to 40 hours a week, earning as high as $20,000 per year.

MORE PLANNED

In addition to construction under way, the university is going to authorize $47.5 million in new facilities yet this year, and at least $55.8 million more next year.

Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti also is expanding under a multimillion dollar program, and a $30 million cement plant near Milan will take 500 construction workers two years to build.

Also in Ann Arbor there are two new hotels, several new motels and several high-rise apartment buildings being planned.

Mrs. John Abink, Bloomfield Hills (left) and Mrs. Marcellus J. Sweeney, Ironstone Drive, Avon Township, set up chairs for the summer luncheon of their committee. Work for the ninth annual fall fashion show at the convent of the Sacred Heart is done throughout the summer although the show is set for Oct. 13.

James J. Yaw, Birmingham; and Mrs. William J. Whiting, Troy. They enjoyed a social afternoon after a morning of work on fashion show plans.

Cool Check for Dining in Summer

The fresh look of a black and white checked tablecloth combines with the coolness of yellow napkins for a delightful Summer table setting. Eyelet ruffling and bold rick rack adds the sparkle.

The white daisies, the orange and yellow dahlias of the centerpiece pick up the pattern in the Melamine dinnerware, appropriately called "Frolic."

To make the tablecloth for a 40"x48" round table, cut four yards of gingham into two yard lengths. Split one length down the center and stitch the raw edges of each to the salvage of the unsplit piece. The checks will match exactly.

To make a pattern for a circular cloth, tie a piece of string to a pencil; cut the string to measure one-half the desired width of circle. Fasten one end of string to center of a large paper and draw the circle.

Put gingham from pattern. Baste the edge 1/4 inch from edge on right side (fastening may stretch edge). Stitch three inch wide, white eyelet ruffling over raw edge and top stitch with black giant rick rack.

Napkins may be made from plain woven cotton, linen or rayon. Mark off 17" squares and pull threads each way so that napkins will be on grain of fabric. Cut. Hem napkins and top stitch black jumbo rick rack around edges.

Eleanor Stuart Feted

Eleanor Stuart who will be married Saturday to Charles E. Henderson Jr. of Highfield Street has been feted with several bridal showers.

Before leaving Western Michigan University Miss Stuart was honored at a kitchen shower given by Terry Wright at the university's Zimmerman Hall.

A miscellaneous shower with Mrs. William Casey and Mrs. Keith Traver as hostesses was given at the Traver home in Rochester.

An afternoon fete was given in Brown City with Janet Landrum and Linda Shoult of Flint as hostesses.

Additional shower hostesses include Barbara Graybiel of Oneda Road, Helen Locke, Royal Oak, and Mrs. Russell Marion.

Tuesday, Mrs. Robert Stuart, Royal Oak and Mrs. Bert Stuart entertained the bridesmaids and flower girl at a dinner in Rotunda Inn. Attendees include Miss Shoult, Miss Locke, Shawn Henderson and Beckie Peck. Mrs. Robert Stuart is also in the wedding party.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henderson, parents of the prospective bridegroom, will host the rehearsal dinner Friday in Devon Gables.

ABWA Elects Miss Fletcher to Presidency

Officers were elected at a recent meeting of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA) in the Walden Hotel.

Gertrude L. Fletcher, president, will serve in the coming year with Mrs. Allen Gravely, vice president; Mrs. Robert Porritt, recording secretary; Norma Klukas, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Emil DuRosa, treasurer.

Gerald Blomquist, Bloomfield Hills hair stylist, was guest speaker on the subject of summer hair care.

Mary Jarvelainen of Stockholm, Sweden, house guest of Mrs. Lenart Strand, was the chapter's guest.

Pledge Feted by Beta Sigs

Mrs. Edward Jenks was honored as new pledge to Phi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority Wednesday evening. The event took place in the Colrain Drive home of Mrs. John Nord.

Mrs. Thomas Drohn, president, read the ritual and Mrs. Albert Padar presented the pledge with her pin.

Movers Yield on Trees; Cut House to Size

NORTH HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The house movers faced the angry residents of suburban Collett Street.

To get the house down the street, the movers said, arching tree limbs had to be lopped off.

No, said the residents. "I'll lie down in front of that truck and they won't move that house an inch," said one woman.

Miss Richards Becomes Bride

Alencon lace trimmed a white peau taffeta gown for Mrs. Jonathan Jeffery Lipovsky (Marcia Margaret Richards) at a recent nuptial Mass given by Rev. Richard Lauinger in the Shrine of the Little Flower, Royal Oak.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George Richards, South Jessie Street, and the Vincent A. Lipovskys, Royal Oak.

Gardeners Hold Picnic

Mrs. Leroy Small's Brendel Lake home was opened for this week's meeting of the Dirt Gardeners of Pontiac.

Mrs. James G. Weaver exhibited the club's award of merit which was presented by the Waterford Township Board for beautification and clean-up week campaign.

One of the club's summer projects will be foundation planting at the Waterford Library, beginning this week.

Following Mrs. Vivian Tubbs' talk on the growth of 10 day lilies, a lakeside picnic luncheon was served.

She'll Repeat Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schook of Rochester Road, Leonard, announce the engagement of their daughter Shirley Ann to Richard Sutherby. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sutherby, also of Leonard. No wedding date has been set.

Not even a few spatters of rain discouraged this party who helped inaugurate Wednesday luncheons on Trumbull Terrace, Meadow Brook Festival grounds. Starting from the lower left are Mrs. Allen Hardenbrook, Mrs. John Pomeroy, a member of Oakland University's committee; Susan and Linda Hardenbrook; a second Mrs. John Pomeroy, this one of New York City; and Mrs. Lawrence Pomeroy. All localities live in Birmingham.

Men's Fashion's Are Shown

Knockouts in Knickers

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK — Women's fashion personality Lilly Dache predicts that men will use makeup on their faces for the same reasons that women do — "to look better and feel better."

But the men's fashion show that demonstrated new fall styles to the visiting press did not go quite that far.

The program by the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear, sponsored by Du Pont, was a part of the New York costume group's week-long, semiannual style preview.

SALES SHOW TREND

Miss Dache based her prediction Wednesday on the sudden growth of the men's cologne business and on men's slowly dissolving resistance to the use of hairpieces.

But the time is not here yet. The virile gentlemen who jauntily strode the runway—some with pipes, and some with Jerry Lewis haircuts—indicated that the time is ripe, though, for at least these new wardrobe ideas:

• Knickers. Men are already wearing them on the golf course — they say — with wild socks and wild sweaters to match.

Look for them on the ski slopes, made of corduroy and worn with a quilted parka.

• Fur-lined overcoats. Lightweight, rainproof cottons, equipped with plenty of pockets for currency, passports and charge cards.

They are three-quarter length and raccoon-lined.

St. Mary's Annual Fair Beckons

"Come, come, come to the fair!" is the invitation of the ladies at St. Mary's-In-The-Hills Episcopal Church, Lake Orion.

The fair will take place this Saturday on the church grounds, located on Joslyn Road, site of the former Scripps Estate.

It will begin at 10 a.m. with an auction. Items to be sold range from heirloom antiques to hand-me-downs.

More than a score of booths will line the church grounds and offer such items as antiques, gifts, bird houses, homespun, religious articles and a women's flea market.

Entertainment including rides in an antique electric car, fly casting, fortune telling, Kiddleland, and a Rogue's Gallery will be offered for both children and adults.

SPECIAL FEATURES

Special features include the offering of a handmade heirloom bag as well as numerous door prizes. Black and white color portraits will be made on order by a Detroit artist. Chicken supper will be

You Offer Payment at First

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: I have been invited to spend two weeks with friends who live in a big city. This will be my first trip to this city and no doubt we will be doing a lot of sightseeing as well as eating out.

I would like to know if I should pay my own way at these times?

I am perfectly willing to do so as I know this can be quite an expense to my hosts, who are by no means wealthy, but I don't want to do anything that will embarrass or offend them.

Will you please advise me?

A: You should at least offer to pay your own way, but don't embarrass your hosts by insisting on it if they refuse to let you.

A: My fiancé and I are going to be married at a private ceremony, but my parents are giving a large reception for us at a hotel later that day. Will you please tell me how the invitations should be worded?

A: The invitations to the reception would be worded as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith request the pleasure of your company at the wedding reception of their daughter Mary Elizabeth and

Tips for Sleeping Comfort

Too darn hot for a good night's sleep?

Then you'll be interested in these tips for summer sleeping comfort.

1. To keep your bedroom cool, close the windows and draw the shades or blinds just before noon. This will prevent sunlight and outside heat from entering. Windows can be opened at night when you retire.
2. Take a lukewarm bath or shower, never a cold one, to relax you before going to bed. While a cold bath will temporarily cool you, your body will work harder to restore body heat, and you'll quickly begin to feel hot.
3. Sleep on a mattress with a firm inner support rather than on a too-soft mattress. A mattress with lumps and hollows retains heat in its saggy pockets, besides being bad for your back.
4. Use cotton sheets rather than nylon. Sleeping under a sheet is a good idea, since the sheet will protect you from any temperature drops or drafts that may occur during the night.
5. A king-size (78-inch wide) bed or twin beds are cooler for two people than a standard full-size bed. This is because you turn more in hot weather as your body seeks to cool off areas in contact with the mattress. The more room you have to turn, the cooler you'll feel.
6. A hair pillow, although relatively hard, is cooler than a down pillow. Foam rubber is usually the warmest.

Terry Towels Ready for Summer Fun

There's a time in every girl's life when her terry towel is indispensable.

When she goes to the beach it's her fluffy mat on which to soak up the sun, it's her cape for dramatic beach shows, it's her cuddly wrap that dries and warms her after a dip in the water, and it's the colorful accessory that helps coordinate her beach ensemble.

With all of this, it is vital that her terry towel be in top shape all summer through. Here are a few tips on how to choose a beach towel and how to keep it terry soft and sun bright.

High fashion has come to towels, and the beach is an ideal show-off spot for one of the exciting new towel designs. You may find just the one you want right in the beach shop, but don't forget to try the regular towel department, too.

WIDE CHOICE

There are colors and patterns galore that range from very sophisticated import designs to frolicking circus patterns. Select the one that flatters your suit and your personality.

Be sure that you choose a high quality terry that is soft and springy to the touch yet tightly woven. Hold the towel up to the light; if the light barely shows through the towel is a good one. Check the loops of thread; these should be deep and the underweave and selvage should be firm and even so that there will be no unraveling out.

Once terry goes out to the beach it is time to give it a little extra care. To prolong the life of your fashion towel, be sure that you dry it thoroughly before adding it to the family hamper. This will prevent mildew.

TERRY ENEMIES

Salt water or chlorinated pool water, sun, sand and dirt can damage terry and they will be harder to remove if left to stand. The necessarily harsher washing will tend to wear out the towel faster so wash your towel as often as possible.

Wash the towel with other household items, keeping light with light and dark with dark. Use either soap or detergent in hot water and do not overcrowd. Rinse thoroughly.

To the final deep rinse or an additional rinse, add one bottle-ful of aqua blue fabric softener. The fabric softener will lubricate each fiber in the terry thread and will keep the towel soft and luxurious for smuggling into at the beach. It will also keep the colors bright and clear and will be an asset to all your laundry.

Either hang your towel on the line or tumble dry it.

For a delightful dessert, fill the cavities of cantaloupe halves with small sugared strawberries and top with small scoops of ice cream; or, if you like, you may reverse the process and top the ice cream with the berries.

Want to Be Chic? Don an Old Sheet

NEW YORK — Got a yen for some lovely loungewear? Go east, young lady . . . at least in spirit.

Try your hand at the season's most elegant fashion revival: the classic kimono with the new tie-dyed fabric, a look that's giving smart gals from Maine to Montana the delicate air of an Imperial court princess.

Sounds outrageously extravagant? Only in mood. The Pontiac Color Council has found that this frankly feminine way to face the dawn or moonlit hours can be yours for pennies.

All it takes are: a kimono pattern, old sheeting (he'll never dream this once flapped on a clothesline), bits of string, home fabric dye and a lively sense of adventure!

The artistry begins with the tie-dye, an ancient Oriental method that enables you to create fabric designs right in your own kitchen.

With tie-dye, you "paint" circular designs on material, using string and dye rather than brush and easel. Material is bound lightly in bunches with string and immersed in dye.

Color can't penetrate under strings, so these areas remain white. This produces the lovely spherical shapes.

Steps are simple; results are stunning. Before stitching kimono, assemble supplies and get set for some real creativity.

Prepare dye bath in delicate Eastern hue, making certain to use a dye with the new T-7 catalyst to ensure even coloration.

Place sheeting on table and mark areas where you want circles. Bind these marked areas tightly into bunches . . . the larger the bunches, the larger the circles.

Place fabric (pre-rinsed and still damp) in dye solution for 20 minutes.

Remove strings, open material and see what you have created . . . a pale-as-porcelain fabric, shimmering with brilliant "Rising Sun" designs! Allow material to dry, press and prepare for the next step: the stitching.

Kimono patterns, found at any department store, are a snap to assemble. And imagine the added zest of creating with a fabric you have designed yourself.

For variety, try cutting the sleeves 4" from the underarm up diagonally to 6" from the shoulder. This forms the new "in" wing-sleeve — as pretty as it is practical.

It's cooler and freer and provides a fetching swan-like arc of the arms for graceful gestures.

Painting Session on Rainy Days

When the children run out of things to do on rainy days, arrange a painting session.

Food coloring, cotton-tipped swabs, and paper are all the materials you'll need to provide children with hours of fun. If you don't have any drawing paper on hand, let them color newspaper pictures or decorate brown paper bags.

After recent vows and a dinner reception in the First Baptist Church of Walled Lake, Mr. and Mrs. William Meredith Sanders (Judith Sandra Caskey) left for a honeymoon at Mt. Pocono, Pa. Their parents are the Cloy W. Caskeys, Wolverine Lake, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Sanders of Commerce Township. The bride wore an illusion veil with a princess gown and train of white Rochelle lace over tulle for the rite performed by Rev. Carl Grapentine.

Color-Key Rooms for a Pretty Closet

NEW YORK (UPI) — Take a lead from hotels. Color-key each room and re-stock your linen closet by color.

For example: master bedroom, a pale yellow; boy's room, rugged blue; girl's room, floral or striped; guest room, flower-bordered sheets. Not only does it make for efficiency, but also it makes a pretty view every time you open the linen closet door.

Use a swivel-blade vegetable parer to have paper-thin, long, wide pieces of carrot to add to a tossed salad. If you like, you can roll up each carrot piece, secure with a toothpick and soak in ice water. When the toothpicks are removed, there will be carrot "curls" to add to the salad.

Shatters Confidence of Young Wife

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Our daughter has been forced to leave her husband and with her 2-year-old boy came home to us. We never trusted him. An only son, he and his mother have really tortured Bess.

This woman gave them their home so she could make long visits and get her knife into Bess. When the son comes to see the baby he is so cruel that Bess is prostrated afterward. Last night she told me that if it weren't for the baby she wouldn't want to go on living...

ANSWER: Her husband's cruelty may not be entirely responsible for her depressions after his visits. Apart from the hurt it inflicts, it is also an inescapable reminder of the poor judgment she showed in marrying him — and carries with it the chilling suggestion that all future judgments she makes will end in similar disaster.

This deep, often unreachable but shattering distrust of their judgment is the real problem of young people who have leaned on it to make an independent choice of a marriage partner only to find it a bad choice.

We can't wonder that your daughter is prostrated after her husband's visits. With every new cruel thing he says to her, her judgment is proved to have been more abysmally mistaken.

To lose a husband is painful — but to be 23, the mother of a small child and to fear your judgment as unreliable is even more painful.

Under such circumstances, it is difficult to want to go on living, not because you've lost your husband but because continued living promises increasing punishment as result of the bad decisions your unreliable judgment will doom you to make.

I wish you could persuade your daughter to see a good psychiatrist.

I wish this because I do not think you and her father are equipped to help her. Though I'm sure she appreciates the sympathetic haven you've given her in her trouble, what she now needs is appreciation of herself.

You see, in this first important exercise of her judgment, your daughter's has been proved wrong and yours has been proved right.

Living with you as she does, she must struggle continually against the fear that your judgments are always going to be right as hers are always going to be wrong.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Seils of Hardisty Street, West Bloomfield Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna Marie, to Dennis William Shearer, son of the Harry Shearers of Ennest Boulevard, White Lake Township. No wedding date has been announced.

A Collapsible Hat to Be Prepared

Even though you may feel it is unnecessary to take along a hat when you go on a vacation trip, you never know when the unexpected occasion may crop up when you would be happier if you had one with you.

So why not slip one of the pretty summer collapsible print hats into your suitcase and be prepared?

Whip cream cheese and spread it over the bottom of a baked graham cracker crust. Stud the cheese with strawberries and glaze with melted currant jelly.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Largent of Rochester announce the engagement of their daughter Anita Jean to Douglass D. Pettit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Pettit, Columbiaville. He attended Ferris State College.

Seek OK of New College on MR-A Land

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — The State Board of Education has been asked to approve incorporation of a four-year college to be centered in buildings here deeded by Moral Re-Armament (MR-A). It was learned today.

Alexander Kloster, acting state superintendent of public instruction, confirmed receipt of the application for the proposed Mackinac College. He said he could not indicate when final action would be taken.

An MR-A announcement said college facilities would include men's and women's dormitories and a fine-arts center including a theater and motion picture studio.

It said the school, with an anticipated 1,000 enrollment, would offer courses leading to a bachelor of arts degree. It said the school could be ready by September 1966.

LEADERSHIP
The MR-A statement said the college would "equip youth for the kind of leadership which the age demands." It added:

"The student needs to be equipped morally and spiritually as well as intellectually to answer the pressures of fear, hatred and greed, prejudice and apathy which threaten to negate man's spectacular advances in knowledge and technical skills."

Dr. S. Douglas Cornell, executive officer of the National Academy of Sciences, would assume duties as president of the

Death Claims Leader in Women's Rights

ALIX, Alta. (AP) — Irene Parily, 97, a champion of women's rights who became one of the first women in the world to hold Cabinet rank, died Monday after a long illness.

Mrs. Parily was appointed minister without portfolio in the United Farmers of Alberta government in 1921.

college this summer, the announcement said.
Trustees, it said, would include Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, former president of University; Mrs. Margaret Hicks Williams, senior foreign officer of the U.S. State Department; and Philip Miller, editor and publisher of the Royal Oak Tribune.

Benjamin Franklin proposed a form of daylight saving time while minister to France. He suggested opening and closing of stores at hours to save lighting costs.
If the present birth rate of 60 million persons a year continued for 600 years, there would be one person per square yard throughout the world, according to a United Nations study.

These Blues are the Berries

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor
Have you ever seen the blueberries as large as they are this year? We've been eating some that are at least three-quarters of an inch across.

In increasing the size, growers have not had to sacrifice flavor. Today's blueberries are sweet and juicy.

Yorkshire pudding doesn't have to be eaten with roast beef. Since it's really a thick pancake, it can be served as dessert.

In the following recipe, you fill the hot pudding with fresh blueberries and serve it warm with whipped cream.

Blueberries with Yorkshire Pudding
2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter
2 cups fresh blueberries, washed, drained and dried
1/4 cup confectioners' sugar
Sweetened whipped cream

Beat eggs and milk with rotary beater until smooth. Add flour and salt and continue beating until very smooth.

Melt butter in a 9"x9" square pan (or 6"x10" baking pan). Pour in batter and bake in 450-degree oven about 30 minutes until puffed and brown.

Remove from oven. Center of pudding will fall.
Fill this cavity with fresh blueberries and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Serve hot in baking dish with sweetened whipped cream. Yield: 6 servings.

There's news about blueberry pie too. In this no-bake version, you chill a cream cheese filling in a pastry shell, then spread glazed berries over it. It's deliciously different.

Blueberry-O-Cream Cheese Pie
1 (9-inch) baked pastry shell
1 (8-oz. package) cream cheese
1 1/2 cups (15-oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Let cream cheese soften at room temperature. In a medium-size bowl, whip cheese until fluffy. Gradually add sweetened condensed milk; continue to beat until well blended. Blend in lemon juice and extract. Pour into crust. Chill 2-3 hours. Garnish top of pie with Blueberry Glaze. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Blueberry Glaze
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup water
2 cups (1 pint) fresh blueberries, washed, drained and stemmed

In a small-size saucepan, combine sugar and cornstarch thoroughly. Gradually stir in water. Measure 1/4 cup blueberries; crush. Add crushed berries.

Cook over medium heat; stir constantly, until mixture thickens and boils. Continue to boil until mixture is hot, about 2 minutes. Strain. Cool.

Arrange remaining 1 1/2 cups blueberries over entire top of chilled pie. Evenly pour cooled glaze over berries.

Blueberry Parfait
1 package (3 oz.) lady fingers
1 6-oz. can frozen pineapple juice concentrate
3 cups blueberries
1 package instant vanilla pudding
2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
Vanilla ice cream or whipped cream

Thaw pineapple juice. Break lady fingers into chunks. Moisten with concentrated pineapple juice and mix chunks with 2 cups of the blueberries.

Crush remaining berries with fork and reserve for topping. Prepare pudding with milk according to package directions. Stir in cinnamon after pudding has thickened.

In parfait glasses, place alternate layers of the blueberry and cake mixture and the pudding. * * *

Use Sour Cream, Not Mayonnaise

Here's a different way to make Thousand Island dressing — no mayonnaise in it.

Slim Jim Thousand Island Dressing

1 cup dairy sour cream (1/2 pint)
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup chili sauce
1/4 cup pickle relish, drained, or 1 medium pickle, chopped
1 tablespoon minced green onion
2 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
Combine ingredients lightly; add additional salt and a little lemon juice to taste. Chill thoroughly. Makes 1 1/2 cups dressing.

BLUEBERRY PARFAIT

Relish and Salad Have Appeal for Stag Party Menu

Traditionally, a young man about to lose his bachelorhood is the subject of friendly ribbing by many of his single friends. They're also apt to get together and surprise him with a stag "Sack Party."

This means food in any man's language and, menu wise, grilled steaks can't be beat. They are easy enough to prepare, but if you aren't much of a cook perhaps mom or your favorite girl can be coaxed into assisting.

For a added taste appeal, serve the steaks with Mushrooms Italiano — sautéed in bottled Italian dressing.

As a go-along, toss a big bowl of Corn Relish Salad. It's a lofty green salad spiced with golden kernels of vacuum-packed corn and meaty black olive rings.

Mushroom Italiano
Heat 1 tablespoons Italian-style salad dressing in a small saucepan. Add one drained 4 1/2 oz. jar slice or whole mushrooms. Simmer over low heat about 5 minutes. Spoon over grilled steaks.

Corn Relish Salad

One 12-oz. can vacuum-pack golden whole kernel corn, drained
1/4 cup well-drained sweet pickle relish
1/4 cup sliced black olives
1/4 cup sliced celery
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
6 tablespoons salad oil

2 quarts shredded salad greens
Combine drained canned corn, pickle relish, olives and celery. Dissolve salt and sugar in vinegar in small jar with tight-fitting cover. Add salad oil; cover and shake. Pour over corn mixture.

Chill several hours, stirring occasionally. Add salad greens tossing lightly to mix. Yield: 6 servings.

Make Orange French Toast Cut in Strips for Coffee

The coffee party, an established custom north and south, has always been something special in New Orleans.

From ten to twelve in the morning, hatted and gloved ladies gather to sip coffee, indulge in refreshments — from muffins to meringues — and exchange local news.

Southern charm can brighten coffees anywhere. Just brew your coffee rich and full-flavored and add a light, delicious snack.

This pain perdu or "lost bread" of New Orleans is orange-flavored French toast to the rest of us. Cut into toast strips, pain perdu is just right for a spring coffee party.

New Orleans French Toast Strips

2 eggs
1 tablespoon sugar
Few grains salt
1/4 cup milk
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
12 thin slices white bread
Butter or margarine
Orange Sugar
Combine eggs, sugar, salt and milk. Beat until well blended; stir in orange peel.

It only takes a minute to make and bake Salines Sumatra. Serve them warm on your prettiest platter, and your guests will love them. Here's how:

Salines Sumatra

12 double thin-saltine crackers
1 can flaked coconut, 3 1/4-oz.
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground cardamom
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
1/4 cup melted shortening

Place crackers on baking sheet and set aside. Combine remaining ingredients and mix well. Spread on crackers. Broil under moderate heat until tops are bubbly and golden. Do not over brown. Yield: 12 Salines Sumatra.

When you are molding cornmeal mush that is to be chilled, sliced and fried, you can use one of those narrow rectangular glass refrigerator dishes that comes with a cover.

Trim crust from bread and cut each slice into 3 strips. Dip strips lightly into egg mixture. Fry in butter until crisp and golden brown on both sides.

Serve hot, sprinkle with Orange Sugar. Makes 20 strips.

Orange Sugar
Mix well 1/4 cup sugar with 1/4 cup grated orange peel.

Crisp Crackers Provide Treat

An afternoon tea often presents a problem to the hostess who wants to serve something that's delicious, different and easy-to-make. Salines Sumatra are her answer.

These tea-time treats combine coconut, sugar, cardamom, cloves and butter spread on thin-saltine crackers. You brown them under the broiler until they are bubbly and golden.

It only takes a minute to make and bake Salines Sumatra. Serve them warm on your prettiest platter, and your guests will love them. Here's how:

Salines Sumatra

12 double thin-saltine crackers
1 can flaked coconut, 3 1/4-oz.

BLUEBERRY-O-CREAM CHEESE PIE

Potato Salad Is Star of Menu

When warm weather beckons, most of us are extremely happy to move outside and greet it. One of the most pleasurable of all outdoor activities is eating.

No one has really explained why, but food just seems to taste better when the surroundings include green grass, blue skies and gentle breezes.

Today's backyards provide all the attributes of outdoor eating and a "stay-at-home" picnic is the easiest for the lady-of-the-house.

This picnic menu that stars Sour Cream Potato Salad is perfect for a warm, lethargic day when even lighting the charcoal grill requires too much effort.

Serve it with sliced cold meat and assorted cheeses, relishes, bread and butter, a dessert of assorted fresh fruits and milk. This simple menu includes a lot of good nutrition and energy that's needed even on the hottest of days.

Sour Cream Potato Salad
4 cups diced cooked potatoes
1 cup sliced celery
1/2 cup diced pared cucumber

1/4 cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 1/4 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
3 hard-cooked eggs
1 cup dairy sour cream (1/2 pint)
1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
3 to 4 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon prepared mustard

Combine potatoes, celery, cucumber, onion, celery seed, salt and pepper. Toss lightly.

Separate egg yolks from egg whites. Dice whites and add to potato mixture. Sieve yolks and combine with sour cream, mayonnaise, vinegar mustard. Add to potato mixture and mix carefully.

Chill several hours before serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Fresh Tasting

You can prepare a delicious dressing for wedges of lettuce by mixing mayonnaise with chili sauce, the pulp and juice from finely grated onion, lemon juice and a dash of cayenne.

Souffle Salad Cool Course for Summer

Salads and summer are synonymous. There is nothing like a cool, refreshing salad to lighten a meal on a warm day. Summer salads can be plain or fancy. Here is a fancy molded salad that combines both the vegetable and salad courses. Try featuring this vegetable souffle salad the next time you entertain family and friends. It's certain to impress and please them.

Vegetable Souffle Salad

1 package lime-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup mayonnaise
4 teaspoons vinegar
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 cup shredded raw carrots
1 cup shredded raw cabbage
1/4 cup drained finely diced cucumber
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water, mayonnaise, vinegar, salt, and pepper. Blend well with rotary beater. Pour into refrigerator freezing tray.

Quick-chill in freezing unit (without changing control) 15 to 20 minutes, or until firm about 1" from edge but soft in center. Turn mixture into bowl, and whip with rotary beater until fluffy. Fold in vegetables.

Pour into 1-quart mold or individual molds. Chill until firm in refrigerator. Unmold and garnish with salad greens. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Did you know that you can put unbaked pecan pie (filling and shell) in the freezer? When you want to use the pie, you can bake it in a moderate oven about an hour.

WITH SOUR CREAM—Potato salad, an all time favorite, is the star of an easy picnic menu. Sour cream gives the salad its zest.

SHRIMP STROGANOFF — For a refreshingly different luncheon menu, try this easy to make gourmet treat, Shrimp Stroganoff.

Sour cream add its sparkling, tangy flavor, almonds provide extra crunch.

Stroganoff Style for Shrimp

Summer's pretty days are the ideal time for entertaining your friends out-of-doors. If you're having the bridge club over for luncheon, why not set the table out on the porch or patio and let the summer breezes provide an appetite for this luxurious entree, Shrimp Stroganoff.

It's an attractive dish to serve, with plenty of tender pink shrimp as the main ingredient. The sour cream sauce turns it into a stroganoff-like dish, a perennial favorite for parties.

Blended with shrimp simmered in butter, fresh-tasting peas, and zesty seasonings, it's a main dish that's simple but simply delicious.

To accent the sour cream's piquant flavor, add green onions and pimiento for bright bits of color. Almonds for crunch, and just enough Worcestershire and Tabasco to make this good food taste even better. Perfect for a bridge foursome, this Shrimp Stroganoff is just as delicious doubled to serve a larger crowd. Serve it over buttered noodles or rice, and choose a green salad, tossed with citrus and onion rings, to complement the savory main dish.

Shrimp Stroganoff
 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
 1 pound fresh shrimp, shelled and deveined OR 1 pound frozen uncooked shrimp, thawed
 1/4 cup chopped green onions
 1/4 cup sliced almonds
 1 package (10 oz.) frozen peas, thawed OR 2 cups fresh peas
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1 teaspoon sugar
 Freshly ground pepper
 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 Dash of Tabasco sauce
 1 1/2 cups dairy sour cream
 3 tablespoons chopped pimiento
 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 Cooked noodles or rice

In a 10-inch skillet melt butter; add shrimp, onions and almonds and cook over medium heat until shrimp are pink and thoroughly cooked. Add peas, salt, sugar, pepper, Worcestershire and Tabasco sauces. Cook over low heat just until peas are tender.

Remove from heat and carefully blend in sour cream. Gently stir in pimiento and lemon juice; replace on low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture reaches serving temperature (do not boil). Serve over noodles or rice. Makes 4-5 servings.

Olive Wedges, Mushrooms Put in Biscuits

Biscuit mix all dressed up with ripe olive wedges, canned mushrooms, mustard and oregano is baked in a ring mold for "Olive-Mushroom Biscuit Ring," a hot bread to place before the most demanding guests.

Heating ripe olives brings out their distinctive flavor to a remarkable degree.
Olive-Mushroom Biscuit Ring
 1/4 cup olives
 1 can (2 oz.) mushroom stems and pieces
 3 cups biscuit mix
 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
 1/4 teaspoon oregano
 1 cup milk
 3 tablespoons salad oil (optional)
 Melted butter or margarine
 Cut olives into wedges. Drain mushrooms; chop coarsely. Blend biscuit mix with seasoning; stir in milk and oil all at once. Add olives and mushrooms; stir briskly about 15 strokes. Spoon into greased 8-inch ring mold; brush top with butter.

Bake in 400-degree (hot) oven 20 to 25 minutes. Turn out, slice and serve warm. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Pineapple and Caramel
 Royal pineapple caramel sauce served over coffee ice cream makes a regal summer sundae. Combine syrup from one (13 1/2-ounce) can pineapple tidbits with one cup brown sugar (packed), 1/4 cup whipping cream, two tablespoons corn syrup and two tablespoons butter. Boil five minutes; cool and stir in pineapple. Makes 1 1/2 cups sauce.

Add Pickles to Filling

Half 6 hard-cooked eggs lengthwise. Scoop out yolks; blend yolks with 3 tablespoons of mayonnaise, 3 tablespoons of grated parmesan cheese, 1/4 teaspoon of onion salt and a dash of pepper. Mix in 1/4 cup of chopped sweet fresh cucumber pickles.

Stuff egg whites with pickle mixture. Garnish with parsley, if desired. Chill. Makes 1 dozen.

Pineapple Basting for Turkey on Spit

Rub a 12-pound turkey with butter, then marinate overnight in an undrained 1-pound 4 1/2-ounce can crushed pineapple blended with 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons minced onion, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon marjoram and 1/4 cup EACH lemon juice and chicken stock.

Cook on spit over low coals two to three hours or until done, basting often with marinade. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Port wine, muscatel sweet sherry and sauterne are suitable to serve with dessert.

Try Soup 'n' Sandwich Menu for Summer

Wake up warm weather appetites with a tempting soup and sandwich meal. This popular combination keeps the homemaker out of the kitchen and offers family and friends a taste and eye appealing meal.

To add even more ring to the menu, be sure to accompany a hot soup with a cold sandwich and vice versa.

The sandwich is a delectable version of the chicken salad variety. Chili powder, chopped cashews, and avocado are the secrets.

Pass the corn chips... pour the iced tea. Lunch is ready.

Summer Beef Cup
 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed consommé
 1 soup can water
 1/4 cup shredded romaine
 2 tablespoons thinly sliced green onion
 3 tablespoons sliced radishes
 In saucepan, combine all ingredients. Heat. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Mexican Chicken Salad
 Sandwich
 1 medium avocado, peeled
 1/2 cup mayonnaise

2 tablespoons ketchup
 1/4 teaspoon lemon juice
 1/4 teaspoon chili powder
 1 cup diced cooked chicken
 1/4 cup chopped cashews
 3 slices buttered toast
 Paprika

Cut off 3 thin slices of avocado; chop remainder. Combine mayonnaise, ketchup, lemon juice, and chili powder; add chicken, chopped avocado, and cashews. Spread on toast. Garnish with avocado slices dipped in additional lemon juice; sprinkle with paprika. Makes 3 open-face sandwiches.

No Draft Problems Seen Should Manpower Push Be Required

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Selective Service spokesman said today draft headquarters is "in position to deliver all the men the armed services could accept" in the first few months of any military manpower buildup. He said this would apply "even in an all-out mobilization — and nobody is talking about all-out mobilization." "We can load 'em in faster than they can take 'em until they get geared-up," he added. "We can handle without any difficulty a situation calling for longer draft calls than the build-

The defense chief told a news conference Wednesday that no decisions on such matters would be made until after he completes a week-long inspection visit to Viet Nam. He left for Saigon Wednesday night.

There were about 583,000 single men between 19 and 26 years of age in the 1-A pool, subject to immediate call if needed. These included about 160,000 that had been examined and found acceptable.

MARRIED MEN

If this pool should be exhausted, there were about 542,000 married men in the 1-A pool who could be called without going through reclassification procedures.

There were also about 1.89 million men in the 1-Y pool — men examined and determined to be qualified for use only in an emergency.

The spokesman said the great bulk of these failed to meet the current high mental standards and added these requirements undoubtedly would be quickly lowered if the need developed.

Should additional men be needed after exhaustion of the 1-A pool of single and married men between the ages of 19 and 26, those over 26 whose liability has been extended would be called under present policies before those under 19 are tapped. There are more than 70,000 of the over-26 men still subject to call.

The Selective Service spokesman said the Defense Department has given no indication as to the number of men that will be sought in the September draft call.

The August call is for 16,500 men, down slightly from the call for 17,100 for July. Other recent monthly calls have been: June 17,000, May 15,100, April 13,700 and March 7,900.

PAST FIGURES

Last year in comparable months the calls were: August 3,300, July 8,000, June 6,000, May 7,000, April 12,000 and March 14,000.

The spokesman said the March and April calls last year were the last of a series of relatively high demands to replace men who had been inducted during the Berlin build-up and who had completed their duty stint.

He gave this picture of the draft manpower situation as of the end of May this year:

MORE TROOPS

Both President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara have indicated that further substantial U.S. troop commitments to South Viet Nam might be accompanied by increased draft calls and the mustering of some reserve units.

Mother Earth Is Haven for Many Viets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — For many of South Viet Nam's 14 million people, life underground has become as familiar as life above it.

These are the Viet Cong, their supporters, and the helpless population caught in the cross-fire of war.

For them, mother earth has become a haven.

UNENDING TUNNELS

U.S. paratroopers looked in wonder at the maze-like trench systems and unending tunnels that snaked through the deep jungles of "D" zone, a Communist stronghold north of Saigon.

In virtually every village outside main cities and towns, the rural population has dug air raid shelters. These are sometimes large earthenware jars buried in the ground. More often they are just mudholes to which whole families flee during battles and air strikes.

The Viet Cong has been working on its trench and tunnel systems for 20 years. Using volunteer and forced labor, it has constructed intricate systems, some that stretch up to 20 miles.

A 25-mile-wide belt of land from the Cambodian border to the South China Sea above Saigon is particularly infested with entrenchments, Vietnamese and American troops operating there have found no answer to them.

WOULD BLOW BACK

"What can we do?" a U.S. paratrooper officer asked. "These things stretch on forever." Explosives won't do the job, because the Viet Cong can easily dig them out again.

"We have our flamethrowers primed for action, but some of the entrances are so narrow and so deep the flames would blow back on us."

"We have vomit gas and tear gas available for use, but we are not permitted to use that."

A typical Viet Cong village tunnel system could have as many as 30 entrances. Some tunnels have been built as deep as 30 feet.

LOB GRENADES

Soldiers lob phosphorus grenades into tunnels, but the Viet Cong use makeshift face masks for effective protection.

U.S. forces are using heavy bombs and artillery to blast out the entrenchments. A direct hit is needed to do much damage.

Civilians have shown a remarkable capacity to survive battles by taking refuge in tunnels and holes. The Viet Cong is known to give intensive instruction in shelter construction.

The government gives little or no instruction. High civilian casualties reported recently were in government villages.

When the paratroopers located the position, the gun and gunners had disappeared down a long tunnel. Some soldiers followed for 50 yards, then gave up because they feared getting lost.

Many of the tunnels are head-high and lead into big caverns lined with chairs and tables. Tunnel entrances may be under a bed in a house, down through a thatched wall, under a table or a fireplace.

Some entrances are below the water level of rivers.

The Viet Cong dig tunnels and entrenchments wherever they move. In "D" zone there are scores of deserted villages complete with tunnel systems. A U.S. paratrooper ventured down one tunnel that appeared to have been deserted for years. Within 30 feet he found a hot bowl of rice.

19th Century Dugout

Is on Display at Fort COPPER HARBOR (AP) — The complete framework of a 19th century dugout is on display at old Fort Wilkins near Copper Harbor. Two divers, James Shea of Eagle Harbor and Roger Nillessen of St. Paul, Minn., brought the dugout from the depths of Lake Fanny Hoce Sunday.

Insurers Warn of Fund Deficit

Urge Romney Veto on Uninsured Driver Bill

LANSING (AP) — Insurance spokesmen told Gov. George Romney Wednesday that the legislature's proposed fund, to protect victims of uninsured motorists would run a deficit averaging $6.5 million a year. Representatives of eight auto insurance companies, in a 90-minute meeting with the governor, urged him to veto the fund and set up a commission to study the uninsured motorist problem.

Backers of the plan accused insurance firms of trying to perpetuate a 10-year stall. Secretary of State James Hare called the plan "workable and sound" and said the insurance industry "has shot down one proposal after another in the legislature."

UNDER ADVISEMENT

Romney, who has until 2:49 p.m. Friday to act on the measure, took the matter under advisement.

The fund would be financed by a charge of $35 on each uninsured vehicle and $1 for all others. It would pay up to $25,000 to a victim of one of the state's estimated 600,000 uninsured drivers.

At the governor's office meeting, Romney also heard from State Insurance Commissioner Allen Mayerson, who questioned whether the $35 fee was high enough, and Deputy Atty. Gen. Leon Cohen, who expected no insurmountable legal difficulties in implementing the plan.

The insurance spokesmen urged adoption of a Senate bill which would require all auto insurance policies include protection against uninsured drivers, unless the policyholder refused such protection.

INSURANCE EXPERIENCE

In an analysis of the claims fund, they estimated income to the fund would be $18.4 million a year and claims would be $27.7 million, "estimated on the basis of insurance experience." "Possible credits" would cut the deficit to about $6.5 million, they said.

Rep. Marvin Stempfen, D-Livonia, a chief legislative backer of the fund, said legislators have gone as far as they can on the basis of studies. "Now we need experience," he said.

Innocent Plea Entered in Hamtramck Slaying

HAMTRAMCK (AP)—A plea of innocent was entered Wednesday for Anthony Lachick of Hamtramck, who stood mute at his arraignment on a first-degree murder charge in the strangling of Flint factory worker Alfred M. Welsh, 54. Hamtramck Municipal Judge Rudolph Maras ordered Lachick held in jail without bond pending trial.

Senate Subcommittee Chairman Hopeful on Sleeping Bears Park Bill OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., said Wednesday he is optimistic that the Senate Interior Committee will approve a bill to establish a Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore in western Michigan. Bible is chairman of a subcommittee which wound up a hearing on the bill, by Sen. Pat McNamara and Philip A. Hart, Michigan Democrats, at a brief session Wednesday.

Asked when the subcommittee will meet to consider the bill which would create a 51,000-acre park along the Lake Michigan shore, Bible said it would be in late July or early August. While the Senate, which passed a similar bill in late 1963, may act on the measure this year, chances are not good that the House will do so before it adjourns. No hearing on the proposal has been scheduled by the House Interior Committee.

Allen T. Edmunds of the National Park Service, which is supporting the bill, told the Senate subcommittee North Manitou Island does not have the features of South Manitou Island.

South Manitou Island is included in the Hart bill. Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., told the subcommittee Tuesday that North Manitou should be included in the bill.

Edmunds said it would cost $1,250,000 to develop North Manitou Island.

George H. Siehl of the National Park Association, a private organization, said Sleeping Bear Dunes would be an excellent area to receive the honor of being designated as the nation's first national lakeshore.

He said the most distressing aspect of the bill is the fact that nearly one-tenth of the acreage to be acquired would be for construction of a scenic parkway.

Siehl suggested that a hiking trail be provided to connect the three major areas of the lakeshore.

Russell D. Butcher of the National Audubon Society said the outstanding scenic, geologic, ecological and recreational features of the Lake Michigan shoreline warrant national protection.

Spencer M. Smith, secretary of the Citizens Committee on Natural Resources, said the bill is an important step in meeting recreation requirements.

Fire Destroys Barn in W. Bloomfield

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A barn at 430 Walnut Lake was destroyed by fire last night.

Firemen from two West Bloomfield fire stations fought the blaze for nearly two hours.

The fire is believed to have been started by children.

Estimates of damage to the barn, owned by Wellington Smith of Franklin Valley, were not available. The contents were also unknown, firemen said.

'North Viets Think They'll Win War'

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today the North Vietnamese declined to talk peace with his envoy Harold Davies because they think they are going to win the war against South Viet Nam.

Wilson told the House of Commons the Communist North Vietnamese are convinced "their prospects of victory are too imminent for it to be worth their while to forsake the battle field for the conference table."

Davies, a deputy minister of pensions in the Labor government, returned yesterday from a frustrating trip to Hanoi. He was denied an audience by President Ho Chi Minh or any other ranking member of the government.

1 of 3 E. Germans Flees

BERLIN (AP)—East German border guards captured two men trying to get to West Berlin Wednesday night, but a third made it. West Berlin police reported today.

Conservator Bill Backed

Pending legislation that would allow appointment of conservators rather than guardians for persons unable to manage their own affairs won support of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors' Welfare Committee yesterday.

The committee's resolution endorsing House Bill 812 will be referred to the Board of Supervisors' legislative committee.

The proposed legislation would allow probate court judges to name someone to protect the interests of needy persons in some cases rather than appointing a guardian.

A court ruling on mental incompetency is required in the appointment of a guardian.

It would not be in the case of naming a conservator.

Generally, the conservator would be appointed to manage affairs of a person unable to do so himself due to a physical disability.

Youth, 20, Bound to Circuit Court in Break-In Charge

Richard L. Saincome, 20, of 1158 Lakeside waived a preliminary examination yesterday on a charge of breaking and entering Jayson Jewelers in the Tel-Huron Shopping Center and was bound over to Circuit Court for arraignment Wednesday.

Pontiac police arrested Saincome minutes after a display window in the store was broken yesterday morning. They found six watches in his pocket when they apprehended him on Huron at Owego.

Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum set bond at $2,000. It was not furnished.

The burglary occurred shortly before 4 a.m.

Ask Free Mail for Viet Forces

Republican Congressman William Broomfield of Oakland County's 18th District has introduced a bill that would provide free postage for armed forces serving in Viet Nam.

Broomfield said passage of the bill would "extend to our armed forces the same mailing privileges available to our troops in World War II."

Under Broomfield's bill, which was referred to the House Post Office Committee, letters from servicemen in Viet Nam or any other "combat zone" designated by the President would be sent to the U.S. or its possessions free of charge.

Blast Occurs Near Soviet Consulate

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—An unexplained explosion damaged two cars outside the Soviet consulate today.

Police sources said the explosion was probably caused by some sort of device possibly made of plastic and planted in a roadway. Both cars had three blown off.

In June, five small rockets were fired near Russian and Communist Chinese houses, killing two persons. On July 6 an explosive device damaged a U.S. car, wounding two Americans.

Periodic automobile inspection is mandatory in 20 states.

Atomic Energy - IV

Nuclear Field Now Growing and Advancing

(Editor's Note—This is the fourth in a series of dispatches telling the story of atomic energy on its 20th birthday. The report was written from Oak Ridge, Tenn., one stop on a 10,000-mile tour.)

BY ROBERT COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. — When Vincent Parker earned his doctorate in 1940, no university offered a course in nuclear physics. And the community of Oak Ridge did not exist.

Today, Dr. Parker (who managed to become a nuclear physicist anyway) is deputy director of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, one of the major training centers for the nuclear age. Some 288 universities offer courses and degrees in nuclear studies.

And Oak Ridge is a flourishing community of 38,000 people.

Though the glamor of the space race may have taken some of the surface shine off nuclear energy and its allied fields, Dr. Parker says the demands for trained personnel still greatly exceeds the supply.

At the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, the one-time supersecret "Clinton Engineering Works" whose only reason for existence was to develop the atomic bomb, I found thousands of scientists and engineers bent on discovering new knowledge, both basic and applied, in all fields relevant to the release of nuclear energy.

MASSIVE JOB

Of perhaps equal importance to the massive job is the training of nuclear scientists and engineers for the future and communicating scientific and technological advances to the world community.

Up until recently, Oak Ridge's prime commitment was to weaponry — the manufacture of uranium compounds used in the production of plutonium and uranium 235, the fissionable fuel for bombs.

But last year, a large part of Oak Ridge's multimillion-dollar budget was directed toward the development of the peaceful atom. S. R. Sapir, manager of Oak Ridge Atomic Energy Commission, predicts the trend will continue.

Aside from the bomb, which many Americans still equate with nuclear energy, the atomic gadget which steals today's headlines is the reactor — the "furnace" which harnesses the new and important source of cheap electricity, the atom.

ISOTOPE WORK

Reactor technology is an important activity for Oak Ridge, but the real dramatic work — and that which holds more interest for some scientists than the nuts and bolts of reactors — is in isotope research and biology.

Radioisotopes, manufactured in reactors by bombarding conventional isotopes of elements such as iodine, carbon, zinc, strontium with neutrons to make them unstable or radioactive, are one of the most important outgrowths of the atomic energy program.

Dr. Paul C. Aspersold, director of the AEC's Division of Isotopes Development, has said:

"Even if there were no other peaceful benefits to be derived from atomic energy — and there are many related to the production of heat and power from the atom — the benefits derived from radioisotopes would justify much of the time, money and work being put into the atomic energy effort."

LARGEST IN WORLD

Oak Ridge is the largest institution in the world for producing and distributing isotopes.

Arthur Rupp, who directs isotope research at Oak Ridge, believes they are the most useful parts of atomic energy. "They cover all aspects of life and their use is actual and present."

As an investigative tool in medicine, isotopes are invaluable and are in general use.

Says Rupp: "A radioisotope is introduced into the body as a 'tracer.' Its radioactivity, which is detectable outside the body, serves as a beacon for doctors to follow as the radioactive moves through the metabolic pathways.

"A doctor reading such signals is able to determine whether the body is handling the particular chemical in a normal or abnormal fashion. Radioisotopes make it possible to study the behavior of the liver, thyroid, kidney — all organs of the body."

Isotopes are also used to treat certain forms of cancer, congestive heart failure, toxic goiter, leukemia, brain tumors, a host of diseases.

But this is not the extent of the magic performed by the versatile radioisotopes. Atomic radiation is preserving food by pasteurizing or sterilizing it.

Scientists have found that irradiation of food with gamma rays, thereby destroying the organisms which cause spoilage, will preserve the food for extended periods of time without refrigeration.

The beneficial effects are already evident. The Food and Drug Administration has approved canned bacon and wheat preserved by gamma irradiation as suitable for human consumption and early last year okayed the use of gamma rays to inhibit sprouting of potatoes — a huge considerably extending their shelf life.

No one can fully assess the impact that a new radiation processing industry will make on the national economy.

But the governor of Nebraska, for one, is sufficiently convinced of its economic promise that the development of a commercial radiation facility has become a state goal.

This isn't all radioisotopes are doing. "You name a field 'any field,'" Rupp says, "and I can probably tell you how radioisotopes are now being used in that field."

MANY EXAMPLES

Examples are plentiful. Radioisotopes generate enough heat to illuminate lighthouses, power weather stations, light ocean buoys, illuminate the bottom of the sea. These "atomic batteries" are portable and last for years.

Isotopes have helped to create a wood so tough that it resists marring. "Soft pine can be strengthened so that it's practically as tough as steel," Rupp told me.

Many hospitals are now using surgical instruments and supplies which have been presterilized by irradiation. Exit signs in airplanes are illuminated by radioactive materials.

The impact of nuclear energy on the seemingly unrelated field of biology is equally amazing.

PREDICTION

In fact, one scientist predicts that the biological sciences, with the help of nuclear technology, will produce advances in the next 20 years that will dwarf the atomic bomb.

Dr. James Liverman of Oak Ridge's biology division offers one example.

He points out that scientists who learned that deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA) is the storehouse of genetic information probably would have been stymied very early in their work if radiolabeled tracer chemicals had not been available.

At Oak Ridge, as at universities and private and public research institutions throughout the United States, the work continues.

"Who would have thought 20 years ago," says Dr. Parker, "that the many forms of nuclear energy would have such a direct bearing on the daily lives of all people? And what amazes me even more is that we've only scratched the surface."

Fisher Stops Indians for 10th

By the Associated Press

Eddie Fisher, whose flusterball has been keeping Al Lopez' White Sox afloat, is sailing along toward the winningest season ever for a relief pitcher. The Chicago bullpen artist reached the midpoint of what could be the first 20-victory season for a non-starter Wednesday night as the White Sox passed the halfway mark in their season with a 12-10, 12-inning decision over the sagging Cleveland Indians.

Fisher gave up a game-tying ninth-inning homer pinch hit to Fred Whitfield, the first man he faced, before earning his 10th victory with three strong innings.

The knuckleball specialist thus tied 10-game winners Whitey Ford of New York and Hank Aguirre of Detroit for the American League lead and moved within six of Dick Radatz' league record for relief victories in one year.

Radatz, the Boston Red Sox fireman, won 16 games, all in relief, last season. Pittsburgh's El Roy Face set the major league mark in 1959 when he won 18 of 18 relief decisions.

The White Sox, outmanned 5-2 in the marathon slugfest at Cleveland, scored three unearned runs in the 12th after an error by shortstop Dick Howser, and handed the Indians their sixth straight setback.

In the only other action in the majors, Chicago and Milwaukee divided a National League doubleheader, the Braves winning the second game 5-3 despite a Chicago triple play after the Cubs had taken the opener 5-2.

Fisher, who has appeared in 46 of his club's 82 games and won one more game than the White Sox starters have finished, yielded a second run in the 12th after Chicago's decisive rally. The two runs off Fisher, who has lost three, ballooned his earned run average to 1.38.

Don Buford, who reached second base when Howser dropped his pop fly with one out in the 12th, scored the go-ahead run on a two-out double by reserve catcher Jim Schaffer. Al Weis then singled across two more runs.

Smoky Burgess' 10th career pinch hit, a two-run single in the White Sox' three-run ninth, left him two short of the all-time pinch-hit record held by Red Lucas, who played for three NL clubs from 1923-38.

Chico Salmon, with a pair,

Rocky Colavito and Pedro Gonzalez hit the other Cleveland homers. Ron Hansen and starting pitcher Gary Peters connected for the White Sox.

The Cubs pulled the third triple play of the year—the New York Mets and San Francisco Giants recorded the others—in the second inning of the nightcap at Chicago before two homers by Gene Oliver and Hank Fischer's five-hit pitching pulled the Braves from behind.

Mack Jones and Rico Carty were on first and third, respectively, when Ed Bailey grabbed Woody Woodward's foul pop, touching off the ramy triple-killing.

Jones faked a move toward second and Bailey fired to shortstop Don Kessinger, whose return throw to pitcher Bill

Ron Santo knocked in two Chicago runs in the opener and Bob Buhl picked up his ninth victory with late-inning help from Ted Abernathy, who matched Fisher with his 46th relief appearance.

Atlanta Ace Leading Dixie Amateur Play

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Jerry Greenbaum of Atlanta, Ga., was a little surprised to find himself holding a one-stroke lead as the Southern Amateur Golf Championship moved into its second round today.

Greenbaum, former Tulane Golfer who is now operating a liquor store for his father in Atlanta, fired a three-under-par 68 Tuesday on the tough No. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country Club.

Tied for second with 70s were William Whitten of Pensacola, Fla., and Howard Everitt of Boynton Beach, Fla.

Tie in Softball Rec Loop

Pontiac Merchants knocked off L & S Standard, 10-3, last night to move into a virtual tie for first place with Orchard Lanes in the Pontiac National League softball race.

In a second National game, Idle Time blanked Francis Coal & Oil, 10-4, and Motorcar Transp. turned in a 7-0 triumph over Bud & Lou's Bar in an International League title.

The victory raised the Merchants to 11-3 for the season, giving them a share of first along with Orchard Lanes (10-2).

The Merchants collected only six hits but took advantage of seven walks and two L & S errors to put the game away. Sterling DeVault and Roger McVicar picked up two hits apiece for the losers (3-11).

Jim Smith set Francis Coal (3-11) down on only one hit and he rapped out a couple of singles to spark the batting attack. William Carie and Chuck McIlraith also picked up two hits each for the winners (7-7). Bill Schneider got the lone hit off Smith, a lead off single in the third inning.

HIT HOMERS

Home runs by Otto Janick and Dick Hamm sparked Motorcar (8-5) to an easy decision over Bud & Lou's (15-10).

Hamm's came with the bases filled in the fifth and Janick connected with no one aboard leading off the sixth.

In Waterford Township action, Lakeland Pharmacy (12-2) downed Hankins Chevrolet (3-11), 10-4, and Richardson Dairy (13-1) whipped Howe's Lanes (6-8), 6-5.

Ed Miller tossed a one-hitter and picked up three hits in leading Lakeland to victory. Richardson Dairy, down 5-0 after three innings, came back with four in the fourth, tied the game with one in the sixth and won the game in the eighth when Jerry Thomas raced across on an error.

Dallas Ropes Fast Rookies

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP)—Dallas Cowboys' Coach Tom Landry says this year's crop of rookies "is the best we've ever brought into camp."

Landry made the statement Wednesday after 14 of his rookie backs and one lineman demonstrated they could run the mile in under six minutes.

That was the limit he set for ends and backs. Another seven came in under 6:30, the limit for linemen.

Ticonderoga Is Easy Winner in Record Time

HONOLULU (AP)—Sleek slo-mo continued to sail past Hawaii's Diamond Head today in the 2.25 mile transpacific yacht race won by the Ticonderoga in record time Tuesday night.

The Ticonderoga, a 72-foot ketch skippered by Robert F. Johnson of Portland, Ore., passed the finish line in 8 days, 13 hours, 51 minutes and 2 seconds.

She left Los Angeles with a fleet of 55 on July 4. Two years ago she also was first.

Upsets Posted in Golf Action

KANSAS CITY (AP)—With two of the better favorites sidetracked by upsets, 32 survivors in the quest for the Trans-Mississippi Amateur Golf Championship faced a double round today at the Kansas City Country Club.

Jeff Voss of Dallas, a 21-year-old senior at North Texas State, pulled one of Wednesday's upsets when he birdied the first extra hole and beat Marty Fleckman, the NCAA champion from Port Arthur, Tex.

Monty Kaser of Wichita, Kan., posted a 2 and 1 victory over Jim Jamieson of Moline, Ill., who had won the qualifying medal with a par-matching 140. Jim Jackson of St. Louis, the Trans-Miss champion in 1954 and 1955, ousted Jim Rhein of Chula Vista, Calif., a star of the qualifying rounds. Herb Durham of Dallas, another former champion, ousted Grier Jones of Wichita.

DON'T SAY 'OKAY' — Rocky, 2-year-old Doberman-beagle, balances a baby rabbit on his nose, showing his good training and friendship. Owned by Richard Foreman of Richmond, Ind., Rocky's favorite trick is balancing hard bits of dog food on his nose and holding it there until someone says "Okay." The Foreman family is concerned that someday while the rabbit is balanced on the dog's nose, someone will accidentally say "Okay."

Consumer Guard Bills Sought

LANSING (AP) — House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, called Wednesday for a broad package of consumer protection legislation in the 1965 legislative session.

Kowalski asked Rep. Marvin Stempfen, D-Ivonia, head of a judiciary subcommittee, to call public hearings throughout Michigan and said he should begin by reviewing the need for laws:

"1. To require those who lend money to consumers or sell goods on the installment plan to disclose the true cost of credit to consumers.

"2. To require accurate and complete labeling in consumer products and to establish means of standardized weights and measures for packaged consumer goods.

"3. To require drug manufacturers to label their products with generic as well as trade names."

Can't Shed a Tear for the Tax Collector

WASHINGTON — If you happen to be in the market for a second-hand truck, painted to resemble a telephone company vehicle, I may be able to put you next to a good thing.

WEST

My own sense of compassion was aroused to a subpar level a few weeks ago when a member of Congress fell off a golf cart and broke his leg.

And I experienced a similar lack of total commiseration this week when Sheldon S. Cohen, the new Internal Revenue Commissioner, was testifying before a Senate subcommittee.

Cohen is a fine man and a dedicated public servant. Yet for some reason the sight of the No. 1 tax collector in an uncomfortable situation failed to bring tears to my eyes.

It may be that mid-July is too close to April 15.

Anyway, Cohen was the first witness called as the subcommittee resumed hearings on wiretapping and eavesdropping activities by federal agencies.

When the subcommittee produced a photograph of the truck in question, Cohen conceded that it probably was purchased by revenue agents in Pittsburgh to use as a cover while tapping the lines of errant taxpayers.

If you're getting the best performance your car can deliver, we can't make it better... but we can match it and make it cost less!

Sunoco's 8 new, improved gasolines are Custom-Blended to save 1¢ or 2¢ a gallon for four out of five car owners!

Most major gasolines are good gasolines. And many of them will probably let your car deliver all the power and performance the manufacturer built into it. But these great new Sunoco gasolines, Custom-Blended at eight different prices, give you that top performance, and in most cases, for less money!

Sunoco gives you 8 gasolines slightly increased in price as the octane increases. You simply ask for the Sunoco gasoline priced just under what you've been paying. You'll get top performance, but for less money! 4 out of 5 car owners can.

The Custom-Blending pump and these three big improvements make it possible:

New Higher Octane — to provide smoothest, knock-free power in even the most critical engines — whether that engine is brand new or some years old.

New Carburetor Cleaner — lets Sunoco's new gasolines clean deposits out of carburetors. Keeps carburetors clean as you drive to protect against stalling. Can increase gasoline mileage up to 5%.

to make your car run best while you pay less!

'Slightly Uncouth' School Won't Last, Actor Fears

NEW YORK (AP)—Although Terence Stamp recently was named "best actor" at the Cannes Film Festival for his performance in "The Collector," he predicts that his type — "slightly uncouth Englishman" — will soon go out of style.

"It's a trend that started in England with the mass education of the working classes," said Stamp, 25, fingering his collection of stringy dark hair.

"But," he says cheerfully, "the fashion is going to change. I have a feeling it's going to give me up."

Stamp, however, is pretty blasé about trends, claiming that commercial popularity isn't his goal anyway. He's an actor, he says, simply because he enjoys it. "Before I was an actor, I didn't like life."

SLUM NATIVE

A native of the Stepney slum district of London, Stamp dabbled in several fields before becoming a nactor. At 15, he began working evenings as an assistant golf pro. Two years later, he enrolled in art school only to decide after a few months that his work "wasn't very good." So he switched to advertising, first as a messenger and file clerk and later as a typographer.

"That year was endless," he says. "I was bored stiff."

After some deliberation, Stamp, then 18, decided to stop acting. His soliloquy of decision, he says, ran something like this:

"I thought to myself, 'When I'm old, nobody's going to give me back the years I wasted. It's not important if I become a star. But when I get near the end, I can say, I enjoyed it — I had a good time.'"

SMALL PARTS

After a year of study and many small parts in repertory theaters throughout England, he was spotted by Peter Ustinov and signed to play the title role in "Billy Budd."

Since then, he's made only two movies.

"I always get offers," he says without much pretense of modesty, "but there aren't very many good things done."

His choosiness is based partly on conviction, but he also admits readily, "I don't really like working — I like the thought of working... For me, the fun is in the creation — the execution is nerve-racking and awful."

NEXT MONDAY

Early the next Monday morning Angie reported to work at Columbia to play Marion Brand's wife in "The Chase."

Burt went east to work on "What's New Pussycat?" for which he wrote the score.

"I've seen more of Marion than I have of Burt lately," said Angie.

This is the girl who told a reporter just a year ago: "It's not that marriage would be bad for my career. My career would be bad for marriage."

BRIDAL GLOW

But Angie, wearing a thin gold wedding band and a bridal glow, says she's taking these words back.

"Burt and I have both decided that we won't let our careers interfere with our marriage," she said. "Just in the short time we've been married, we've turned down offers that would have kept us apart."

Both she and Burt were confirmed bachelors before they

Single or Wed---Angie's Alone

By DORIS KLEIN
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What happens when Hollywood's leading bachelor girl gets married?

"She doesn't see much of her husband," complains Angie Dickinson.

"I was home alone again the other night, and I figured that in 49 days of marriage I'd seen Burt only 21."

Angie, of the perfect legs and red-haired, sultry style, gave up dates with such bachelors as Frank Sinatra and producer Charlie Feldman to marry composer-conductor Burt Bacharach last May.

The marriage took place at 3:30 a.m. on a Saturday in a Las Vegas wedding chapel. They honeymooned the rest of that day and the next in Palm Springs.

COURTSHIP

Their courtship? "I guess we saw 'What's New Pussycat?' 18 times. And we went out to dinner a lot."

"Just the other day, we went to our first party. And, you know? He's great at parties, too."

MET PARENTS

Then Angie met Burt's father, columnist Bert Bacharach, and mother at a party and they suggested she meet their son.

"It was just for a cautious drink," said Angie. "Later Burt told me he had the advantage — he'd seen pictures of me."

What was Burt's appeal? "I could say it was because he's so talented," said Angie. "But that wouldn't be true. I've known lots of talented men and I haven't liked a lot of them."

"Burt's just fun and wonderful."

MAY AVERT
Return to Jail for Escapee

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Charlie Kemp may not have to leave his Florida home of the past 20 years to finish out his life in a Georgia prison.

The governors of the two states are trying to work out the legal problem posed by the discovery of Kemp's identity as a convicted slayer.

Kemp, 62, was serving a life term for murder when he escaped from a Bibb County, Ga., work gang in 1939, a month after he was sentenced. The details of the slaying have not been found and Kemp has not spoken of it even to his wife.

Mrs. Kemp had five children when they married in 1944 and the Kemps now are raising two grandchildren although Kemp is plagued by arthritis, rheumatism and rib injuries suffered in an automobile accident which led to his discovery.

MUST DECIDE

Govs. Carl E. Sanders of Georgia and Haydon Burns of Florida must decide what to do about Kemp. In his 26 years in Florida, Kemp has developed the reputation of an exemplary citizen and a pillar in his church. Fort Myers citizens are indignant about the possibility of his extradition.

Kemp now is out on $3,000 bail awaiting a decision in his case.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Jubilant scientists received from Mariner 4 today what they said were just the kind of Mars picture signals they hoped for.

Late today or early tomorrow they plan to make public what should be the first close-up photograph of the unknown planet's surface. It could indicate whether Mars harbors life, solving a mystery that has intrigued man for ages.

Mariner 4 flew past Mars last night and its signals went at trouble in the camera's tape recorder.

But this morning, transmitting from beyond Mars en route to an orbit around the sun, the windmill-shaped, 575-pound spacecraft began relaying the first of a hoped-for score of photos.

Signals came in line by line at the rate of one line every two seconds.

and a half minutes. In all, it required 8 hours and 35 minutes for all 200 lines of the picture to be received.

Scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which built and controlled Mariner, said "the raw data is exactly what we expected."

They said the transmissions should produce a valid picture.

Here is a rundown on the development process:

The signals are electronic units of information called bits. A bit is either a zero or a one. Six bits make up one dot. There are 200 dots per line and two hundred lines make a picture.

For example, the number series 0, 1, 0, 1, 0, 0 sent from Mariner is understood by the laboratory's computer to be the number 20.

The computer reads zero as white and the number 63 as dead black. All numbers in between are varying shades of gray. Each picture is composed of 40,000 of these numbers. The number 20, thus, is a medium light shade of gray.

The numbers are decoded by the computer and transferred to a magnetic tape, which is inserted into a device called a film converter.

After analyzing this morning's transmissions, experts said they are optimistic about receiving as many as 20 photos.

AMC Chief Urges Bad-Driver Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roy Abernethy, president of American Motors Corp., today advocated sharp-toothed law to deal with careless and incompetent drivers.

Abernethy's testimony was prepared for a Senate investigation of the causes of a steadily rising death toll on the nation's highways and how to cope with it.

Auto accident deaths are expected to be about 50,000 this year, and witnesses have predicted a loss of 100,000 lives in 1975 if the rate of increase continues.

"The good motorist," Abernethy told a Senate Government Operations subcommittee, "is entitled to protection from those who should be restricted in their use of the motor vehicle."

Major needs, he said, are for better laws which must have teeth, "stricter licensing requirements for drivers, stronger traffic law enforcement, better cars and better highways."

American Motors is the third auto manufacturer to present its views in the long range probe.

General Motors and Chrysler Corp. officials, often under sharp questioning, testified in the first two days of the hearings. Ford Motor Co. executives are to testify tomorrow.

'City Vandals Abuse Schools'

Seek Means to Fight Increase of Incidents

School officials last night revealed that Pontiac schools have become prime targets for widespread vandalism and said the increase of incidents is "tremendous."

School Board members met with Pontiac Police Lt. Harry Nye to explore possible means of combating juvenile and adult vandals who in recent weeks damaged 12 schools in the city.

Richard C. Fell, assistant superintendent, reported that between June 18 and July 14 local schools sustained 328 broken windows in 12 schools.

Damage to Jefferson Junior High School alone totaled $1,600 after a recent weekend, said Fell. Vandals smashed 40 windows and damaged four doors at the junior high, he said.

Noting that most of the window breakage came on weekends, Fell said that Bagley, (128 windows broken), McConnell, (112) and Herrington (100) have sustained the worst window breakage.

MAINTENANCE

Abernethy said "safety is a basic consideration in automotive engineering," but proper maintenance of a car in safe driving condition is important too. The 20 states with compulsory auto inspection laws have accident death rates lower than the national average, he said.

"While we do not know nearly enough about the precise cause and nature of automobile accidents," Abernethy said, "authorities believe that more than 85 per cent of them involve the attitude, behavior and judgment of the human being at the wheel."

"We must eliminate any tolerance, anywhere, for lack of driver training and reach out for adequacy in the standards of training required," he said.

OTHER DAMAGE

Damage to shrubs, trees, lights and fences was also reported.

Board members, after viewing slides of the damaged schools, suggested that the school district employ watchmen to check on schools and ask residents near schools to report vandalism they see happening and call police.

Lt. Nye said it was impossible for police to keep men at every school. Apprehending juvenile vandals was particularly difficult, he said.

The police officer told the school board that the curfew law (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Outdoor Living to Get a Boost by Weatherman

The weatherman has given his okay for outdoor activities. Pleasant weather has been predicted through Friday for area residents.

It will be fair tonight, low 54 to 62. Friday will be mostly sunny and a little warmer, high 80 to 86.

Light variable winds will be headed our way tonight, becoming southwesterly tonight, 8 to 16 miles per hour.

Today's low mercury reading prior to 8 a.m. was 61. By 1 p.m. the temperature had reached 77.

100,000-Man Hike Urged for Viet Military Backs Big Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's military chiefs have recommended unanimously that the strength of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam be boosted to 179,000 men by the end of the year, it was learned today.

This would be more than 100,000 above the 75,000 U.S. force now scheduled to be in South Viet Nam.

This recommendation by the Joint Chiefs of Staff will be considered by top U.S. officials in the light of what Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara determines during his week-long inspection visit to Viet Nam, McNamara left last night.

Sources told the Associated Press the joint chiefs would include the remainder of the 1st Infantry Division in the new projections for a buildup to meet growing Communist strength.

One brigade of that division landed in Viet Nam this week after traveling from its home base at Ft. Riley, Kan.

A buildup as big as 179,000 men could well bring at least a limited mobilization of reservists and National Guardsmen to replace regular troops drawn into the growing conflict in Viet Nam.

The armed services, it was disclosed, are starting to gear up for such a possible muster of guardsmen and reservists.

They have submitted to defense officials tentative estimates totaling more than 200,000 citizen servicemen.

Repeats Story of Confession Long-Time Friend of Carl Foster Testifies

A long-time friend of Carl F. Foster yesterday repeated his story of how the accused slayer once told him of killing his wife.

"I killed her," Wayne D'Autremont quoted Foster as saying to him.

D'Autremont, 22, of 168 Russell, testifying on the second day of Foster's first-degree murder trial, had first told of the statement at Foster's preliminary court examination in May.

Foster is serving a 10-15-year prison term for manslaughter in the killing of a girlfriend, Mrs. Maurice Crook, a Bloomfield Township divorcee.

He is now accused of murdering his 25-year-old wife, Angela, the mother of three children.

"He seemed to be berserk when I told him I didn't want to hear," said D'Autremont. "He was beating his fist on the dashboard."

'KEPT TALKING'

"He said that he had hit her to keep her still and then hung her," D'Autremont said. "He kept talking about tears and how he couldn't get them out of his head."

D'Autremont said that the incident occurred last fall while they were driving back while they were driving back (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Embassy in London Says Cause of Death Was Heart Attack

LONDON (AP)—In death, Adlai Ewing Stevenson started the journey home today — back to Washington where the highest gift of the American people eluded him, then on to Illinois for burial in the state that elected him governor.

Accompanying the body of the fallen statesman were Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Stevenson's three sons and a party of U.S. officials.

Memorial services will be held at Washington's National Cathedral at 11 a.m. EDT tomorrow.

Saturday and Sunday the body will lie in state in the Illinois Capitol at Springfield. Burial will be at Bloomington, Ill., Monday.

Tributes Pouring In From Big and Small

NEW YORK (AP)—Presidents, prime ministers and the man in the street mourned the death of Adlai E. Stevenson.

Led by President Johnson, tributes poured in from all over the world for the 65-year-old U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, who died yesterday in London.

"The flame which illuminated the dreams and expectations of an entire world is now extinguished," said Johnson in a television appearance.

"Like Lincoln he was a great emancipator. It was his gift to help emancipate men from shackles which selfishness and ignorance place upon the human adventure."

Earlier, Johnson was near tears at a White House luncheon for Japanese Cabinet members when he described Stevenson as America's "most eloquent spirit, its finest voice."

Former President Harry S. Truman said Stevenson's "contribution and services to this nation and his distinguished record in the field of foreign relations in our quest for peace will be long remembered by a grateful nation and his friends throughout the world."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who defeated Stevenson for the presidency in 1952 and 1956, said Stevenson's death "strikes a tragic note for all Americans."

"As the leader of his party in two presidential campaigns and as our spokesman at the United Nations in recent years, he has won an abiding place in his country's history," Eisenhower said.

U.N. Secretary General U Thant said: "As the representative of the United States of America he had earned the respect, admiration and affection of all his colleagues at the United Nations for his extraordinary human qualities."

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, in an exchange of personal messages with President Johnson lamenting Stevenson's death, said: "He came to visit me at Chequers (the prime minister's country residence) only last Saturday and I was impressed once again by his wit, his wisdom and his friendship for this country (Britain). His sudden death was a blow to us all."

Other tributes came from government officials in West Germany, Denmark, India, Greece, Great Britain, France, Spain, Australia, Switzerland and Japan.

Speculate That Rusk May Get U.N. Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politicians speculated today that President Johnson may want to choose an American with world standing to succeed Adlai E. Stevenson as chief of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations.

Administration officials said that so far no consideration has been given to naming a successor for Stevenson, who died yesterday in London.

But it was expected that Johnson might wish to fill the position soon after the ambassador's funeral because of the pressure of coming events at the United Nations.

Francis T. P. Plimpton, No. 2 man in the U.S. delegation, will take over Stevenson's duties temporarily until a successor is named.

Plimpton

Although the field of possible successors is wide, the number of Americans who might rank with Stevenson in world recognition is not too large.

For this reason there was some speculation that the President might want Secretary of State Dean Rusk to transfer to the U. N. post.

Johnson said Tuesday that Rusk "ranks first in the Cabinet and ranks first with me." Whether he would think Rusk more valuable to the country at his side in Washington or at U. N. headquarters in New York was a matter of conjecture.

OFF FOR SAIGON — Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara (center) is shown delivering a short statement to the press prior to boarding a plane last night for Saigon. With McNamara at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., are Chief of Staff Gen. Earle G. Wheeler and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Our Wandering Gold Seen Returning Home

That long-drawn sigh of relief you hear emanates from administration monetary experts over April-June period figures indicating that at long last the U.S. balance of payments accounts with foreign countries will show a surplus.

With America's balance of payments running in the red for 14 of the last 15 years, the current credit balance is the first to be chalked up since 1957.

Our once-ample gold stock of $30-plus billion had shrunk to the point where it would have been inadequate to meet conversion into gold had it been demanded of international dollar holdings and maintain required backing for our domestic currency.

This stringency threatened the integrity of the dollar, together with Great Britain's pound the backbone of the free world's monetary system.

The U.S. adverse balance of payments accounts has presented something of an anomaly, since we have regularly enjoyed a sizeable export-import surplus. But this has been more than offset by money sent abroad for military operations, foreign aid, private bank loans, and business investment and spending by tourists.

Although the government did some belt-tightening in its sphere of capital export, much of the credit for the reversal in our gold outflow is due to voluntary cooperation of financial institutions and businessmen in restricting foreign loans and investments.

Once more is seen the efficacy of government and private enterprise joining forces in a free economy to counter a threat to America's economic structure.

Report Says America Takes Fun Seriously

In 1964 Americans spent $23.8 billion on the broad spectrum of recreation and entertainment, five times what they spent in 1940.

Although American industry and business is setting new highs while increasing the variety of goods and services offered, one of the most extensive areas of commercial activity has been pretty much of a sleeper.

Recreation, says the Bureau of Labor Statistics, has grown more rapidly in the last 25 years than almost any other business. It is the business of "Fun."

For the statistically-minded, the Bureau reports that families with $3,000-$4,000 annual incomes spend $150 a year on recreation; those in the $5,000-$6,000 bracket enjoy themselves to the extent of $210; while the $10,000-$15,000 category lives it up to the tune of $525.

From all this it is plain that the common sign-off between humans to "have fun" is no idle counsel. Everybody's doing it.

Sees More to Reading Than Meets the Eye

Interesting light is thrown on illiteracy and adult reading tendencies by a staff member of Job Training Center in Lansing, a project established in 1964 by the U.S. Dept. of Labor.

According to the authority, more than half the people in the U.S. are illiterate—reading below fifth grade level—but they hide their illiteracy so well that census figures show that only 6.7 per cent of the population is illiterate.

"The literacy level of a community is determined by a census taker asking people how far they went in school. If the answer is 'the fifth grade,' they are not considered illiterate," he said.

This, however, is not a true picture. Chances are, it is explained, that the average adult who has completed only the fifth grade in school has not used the skills he developed up to that point and really regressed in his reading ability.

"Illiterates," revealed the reading specialist, "are most difficult to detect because they cover up their illiteracy so well. The person who can't read or write invariably is the one who has five pens showing from a pocket and a newspaper tucked under his arm as deception."

He cited an example of a man who passed his driver's license test relying on brute memory, but was a consistent traffic violator because he couldn't read traffic signs.

Maybe the first of the revered 3-R's should be changed to represent Resourcefulness.

Supreme Court Next for Negro?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—Thurgood Marshall, a 57-year-old Negro and one of the tremendous moving forces in American history, may be on his way to a seat on the Supreme Court.

Many people now probably can't remember ever hearing his name for he did not seek publicity and his most sensational victory was in the 1950s.

But it was Marshall, as a Negro lawyer for Negroes, who argued this century's most historic civil rights cases before the court and won almost all.

Thus, he helped lay the ground for the enormous strides American Negroes have made toward equal treatment in the past 15 years, something hard to imagine in 1954.

That year, the court ripped down the basic barrier to equal rights by declaring the very principle of segregation unconstitutional and banning it in public schools.

Marshall had a lot of help before he argued that case, from lawyers, sociologists, anthropologists, psychologists.

From 1938, Marshall was chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Slowly through the years, Marshall and the NAACP got the court to knock out various forms of segregation.

The great victory didn't come until the 1954 decision. He did important civil rights work afterwards. But in 1961, President John F. Kennedy named him a judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Tuesday, President Johnson announced he was appointing Marshall solicitor general of the United States, making him No. 3 man in the Justice Department behind the attorney general and the deputy attorney general.

As solicitor general, he will be a vivid symbol of Negro progress for now it will be his job to argue the government's cases before the Supreme Court.

When he appeared there in the past, it was as a Negro arguing for justice for Negroes. He will go there on many kinds of cases in the future but his voice will be the voice of the U.S. government.

Senate approval is necessary for a man appointed to the appellate court, the Supreme Court, or to the solicitor general's job. And Southerners in the Senate have slowed down approval for Negroes when Senate approval is needed.

Southerners might go all-out to keep a Negro off the Supreme Court, if there were a vacancy now. But as time passes, this kind of opposition can be expected to dwindle.

When there is a Supreme Court opening, Marshall, a solicitor general, will have become a far more familiar national figure than he could ever have been if he had remained an appellate judge.

Chilean's Speech Way off Base

WASHINGTON—Eduardo Frei, president of Chile, in a speech delivered in Paris on Monday, unwittingly did a disservice to the people of his own country and the cause of unity in this hemisphere when he criticized the United States for what he called a "paternalistic policy" to "Latinize" Latin America, and urged that Europe join the countries of South America in a new "Alliance for Progress."

Frei declared also that not only does he favor trade between Chile and any Communist country, but would support the reentry of Cuba into the Organization of American States as well as a reorganization of that body so as to achieve "a balance between Latin America and the United States."

The speech reflects serious misconceptions of the traditional policy of the United States and is a discouraging development with respect to Latin America as a whole.

For if a country as advanced as Chile, to which the United States has repeatedly given assistance, does not understand the role of this country in protecting Latin America against aggression as well as against Communist subversion which can lead to internal friction, then much of what has been done by the United States appears to have gone for naught.

SOLE OBJECTIVE

The policy of the United States is not, by any stretch of the imagination, based on a desire for one inch of territory in Latin America.

The history of recent years has shown that the sole objective of this country has been to do what the Monroe Doctrine originally contemplated—namely, to keep any European power from establishing a foothold by gaining control over any government in this hemisphere.

Chile is one of the countries that has long been protected by the Monroe Doctrine and has benefited from the economic aid extended by the United States.

In fact, if this country today abandoned the principle of the Monroe Doctrine and the resolution adopted by the Organization of American States expanding that same doctrine, it would not be long before Chile would be dominated by Communist imperialism, just as is Cuba.

Not a stick or stone of an aging house exterior can be altered without a meeting of the Fine Arts Commission, and few communities are so averse to change in any form.

Congress who would be willing to end it all once.

It is doubtful whether any combination of European countries would make even a major fraction of such a contribution, and certainly the grants and loans by this country far exceed those made by Europeans in the past.

A good many members of Congress would like to see European countries take over the entire "Alliance for Progress" and save United States taxpayers a lot of money.

This altruistic purpose is apparently ignored by the president of Chile, despite the long record of help given by this country to Latin America in the past.

The president of Chile overlooks the fact that the United States today is willing to interpose its military as well as its economic power to prevent Communist imperialism from making inroads in any Latin American country.

Georgetown Settles Down for a Long Summer's Nap

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON—Sweltering visitors to the nation's capital may be surprised to learn that this is the time of year Georgetowners love best.

As the humidity envelops us like a soggy blanket, and steam rises from the soft-MONTGOMERY encephaloid, the lazy hum of air-conditioners adds to our somnolent feeling of well-being.

The mad party whirl is over until October. No longer is the day's mail crammed with engraved white cards to receptions and dinners.

It is a time for seeing close friends and neighbors in the languid privacy of one's own garden; a time for all fresco dining as the master of the household takes over at the barbecue pit.

Tourists are here in droves from every part of the nation, but the stay-at-home residents are scarcely aware of the influx.

SLEEPY HAMLET
Georgetown in midsummer is like a sleepy hamlet in New England or Dixie; placid, self-contained, lackadaisical.

Computers reveal that our 10 square blocks boast more listings in Who's Who than any similar expanse in the nation, but the casual visitor would never suspect it.

In shorts and sneakers, shirts or slacks we walk our dogs to the corner groceries and quaint specialty shops, exactly like the inhabitants of Potomac.

Our little town-within-a-city reeks with history, and its occupants are tradition-minded.

NO ALTERATIONS
Not a stick or stone of an aging house exterior can be altered without a meeting of the Fine Arts Commission, and few communities are so averse to change in any form.

The wide, wonderful, muddy Potomac flows along the foot of Georgetown, and the parallel canal surveyed by youthful

George Washington laps at its ankles.

The streets which once bore such colorful names as Duck Lane and Fishing Lane—now prosaically called 33rd and 31st Streets—slowly climb toward the heights where great old houses like Dumbarton Oaks and Tudor Place still occupy nearly a block each of some of the world's most expensive residential real estate.

If Georgetown is indeed a state of mind, then it's our favorite state in the lazy summer time.

It seems almost impossible to believe today, but in the early 1930s—in the era of John Dillinger, "Machine Gun" Kelly, "Baby Face" Nelson and "Ma" Barker—there was a strong public clamor for a powerful U.S. national police force.

Gangsters made a mockery of law by pulling crimes and escaping across state lines in fast getaway cars. These mobs seemingly were becoming too well-organized and too technically competent for many local police forces to handle.

One opponent of a national police force was J. Edgar Hoover, then as now head of the FBI and the man most likely to have been chosen head of such a police force had it been established.

Says Nation Is Forgetting Its Responsibility to God

It would appear that the trouble with our nation today is a turning away from God. While the authorities try to overcome the tide of violence, we adults indulge in pretty much what we want and forget that our first responsibility is to God.

The keeping of the Lord's day seems to hold no meaning to many who go on an excursion on the lake, go on a picnic, or just stay at home and work in the yard. The Bible tells us that it is a day of rest unto the Lord.

'Function of Law Is to Protect Our Rights'

It is only logical that as legislators and do-gooders pervert the law to accommodate their own careers and utopian schemes there will be an ever greater "disregard for law."

Today nobody knows what the law is except as they see it used for special privilege and gain. We are moving back toward the age-old law of men under which the end always justifies the means and winner takes all.

The function of the law is to protect the free exercise of our rights. How can you expect "respect for law" when the law itself is allowed to become a tool of injustice?

Men's Fashion's Are Shown

Knockouts in Nickers

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK — Women's fashion personality Lilly Dache predicts that men will use makeup on their faces for the same reasons that women do — "to look better and feel better."

But the men's fashion show that demonstrated new fall styles to the visiting press did not go quite that far.

The program by the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear, sponsored by Du Pont, was a part of the New York couture group's week-long, semiannual style preview.

SALES SHOW TENDS

Mrs. Dache based her prediction Wednesday on the sudden growth of the men's cologne business and on men's slowly dissolving resistance to the use of hairpieces.

But the time is not here yet. The virile gentlemen who jauntily strode the runway—some with pipes, and some with Jerry Lewis haircuts—indicated that the time is ripe, though, for at least these new wardrobe ideas:

• Knicker. Men are already wearing them on the golf course — they say — with wild socks and wild sweaters to match.

Look for them on the ski slopes, made of corduroy and worn with a quilted parka.

• Fur-lined overcoats. Lightweight, rainproof cottons, equipped with plenty of pockets for currency, passports and charge cards.

They are three-quarter length and raccoon-lined.

• Chief petty officer's shirts. Once a favorite military surplus store purchase, authentic copies in Navy wool are expected to be prominent in sports shirts.

With it the model wore stretch wheat-colored jeans, knee boots, and an Eisenhower hat.

• Buckskin shirts. Worn with matching socks — a must for fall — LBJ hats, and jeans, they are a part of the so-called Texas trend.

• Host costumes to complement hostesses' costumes.

Not quite formal, these consist of shawl collar jackets, cuffed flannel slacks with a ribbon belt to match satin collar, open shirts filled in at the neck with knotted silk neckerchiefs instead of ascots, and black patent pumps.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Teen Son Romances Woman While Mother Disapproves

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My problem is my 17-year-old son. He is going steady with a 24-year-old woman.

Roger looks like he's 21 or 22, and has always been big for his age. I am very much against this match and I told him so. Don't tell me to have a talk with the woman because I already have and it didn't do one bit of good.

She says they are "in love." Roger has one more year of high school left and she says she is willing to wait for him to graduate before they get married. Have you ever heard of anything so ridiculous?

She works and gives Roger an "allowance." Don't you think this woman ought to be ashamed of herself for taking advantage of a kid? I think they are both sick in the head. I say if these two get married, in no time he will be introducing her as his mother. What can be done? He won't listen to me.

ROGER'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Knowing nothing of the mental and emotional maturity of either your son or this woman, I can't say whether it's a "ridiculous" match or not.

A normal 24-year-old woman wouldn't look twice at a 17-year-old boy. And vice versa.

Obviously, it's too late for you to assert the kind of parental influence necessary to break up this romance.

Roger needs understanding and lots of it. Who knows, they might live happily ever after.

DEAR ABBY: Please answer this while I am and able to understand your reply. I accepted an engagement ring last Christmas, but I am not sure I want to get married just yet.

I haven't set a date and I am getting so much pressure from Nick that I can't think straight. I have never given Nick any reason to doubt me, but I get the third degree about every minute I spend away from him.

Right after I got my ring, Nick started to act like he owned me. Yesterday I had lunch with a very dear girl friend I had not seen in years. We had a lot to talk about and I didn't think that kind of talk would interest Nick, so I didn't ask him to be with us. Well, it seems I never go right home from work. I am always stopping at the cleaners, the drug store or a dozen other places. How can I get it through her head that it is her job to do all these things, not mine?

DEAR BUGGED: You can get it through her head via her ear! Either you are not telling her, or she is not listening to you.

DEAR ABBY: This may sound petty to you, but it is important to me. My wife has a car of her own and nothing to do all day, but she'll call me up at work and ask me to stop on my way home and bring home a loaf of bread, or to be sure to stop at the appliance repair shop and bring home our toaster. Or even swing around to the shoe repair shop and pick up her shoes.

It seems I never go right home from work. I am always stopping at the cleaners, the drug store or a dozen other places. How can I get it through her head that it is her job to do all these things, not mine?

DEAR BUGGED: You can get it through her head via her ear! Either you are not telling her, or she is not listening to you.

You Offer Payment at First

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: I have been invited to spend two weeks with friends who live in a big city. This will be my first trip to this city and no doubt we will be doing a lot of sightseeing, as well as eating out.

I would like to know if I should pay my own way at the times.

A: I am perfectly willing to do so as I know this can be quite an expense to my hosts, who are by no means wealthy, but I don't want to do anything that will embarrass or offend them.

Will you please advise me?

A: You should at least offer to pay your own way, but don't embarrass your hosts by insisting on this if they refuse to let you.

A: My niece and I are going to be married at a private ceremony, but my parents are giving a large reception for us at a hotel later that day.

Will you please tell me how the invitations should be worded?

A: The invitations to the reception would be worded as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith request the pleasure of your company at the wedding reception of their daughter Mary Elizabeth

Mr. Jonathan Blake Saturday, the thirty-first of July at four o'clock Ritz Hotel

BREAD, BUTTER PLATES

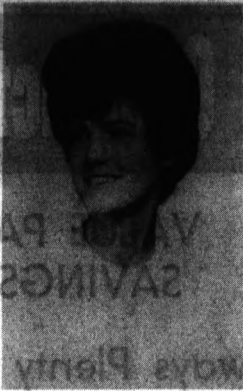

Q: Will you please tell me if it is necessary, when butter is served with dinner, to have bread-and-butter plates, or could I just put the butter in a butter dish on the table with a butter dish on the table with anyone who would like it?

A: When butter is served, having butter on the bread-and-butter plates before guests are seated is certainly much better than passing it around and having them put it on their dinner plates.

St. Mary's Annual Fair Beckons

"Come, come, come to the fair!" is the invitation of the ladies at St. Mary's-In-The-Hills Episcopal Church, Lake Orion.

The fair will take place this Saturday on the church grounds, located on Joslyn Road, site of the former Scripps Estate.

It will begin at 10 a.m. with an auction. Items to be sold range from heirloom antiques to hand-me-downs.

More than a score of booths will line the church grounds and offer such items as antiques, gifts, bird houses, homespun, religious articles and a women's flea market.

Entertainment including rides in an antique electric car, fly casting, fortune telling, Kiddleland, and a Rogue's Gallery will be offered for both children and adults.

SPECIAL FEATURES

Special features include the offering of a handmade hair-boon bag as well as numerous door prizes. Black and white color portraits will be made on order by a Detroit artist. Chicken supper will be served in the church undercroft from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Tickets may be purchased in advance or at the fair.

The supper is under the direction of Mrs. H. W. Robinson.

Food will also be served at fair booths.

It's magic, the way Mrs. Donald W. Shults of Lake Angelus can make things behave. As the gypsy fortune teller for the annual summer fair of St. Mary's-In-The-Hills, she entices tickets out of purses and up from the grass. The fair is scheduled for Saturday on the Joslyn Road church grounds, starting at 10 a.m.

SUMMER TABLE SETTING

Cool Check for Dining in Summer

The fresh look of a black and white checked tablecloth combines with the coolness of yellow napkins for a delightful Summer table setting. Eyelet ruffling and bold rick rack adds the sparkle.

The white daisies, the orange and yellow dahlias of the centerpiece pick up the pattern in the Melamine dinnerware, appropriately called "Frolic."

To make the tablecloth for a 40"x48" round table, cut four yards of gingham into two yard lengths. Split one length down the center and stitch the raw edges of each to the salvage of the unsplit piece. The checks will match exactly.

To make a pattern for a circular cloth, tie a piece of string to a pencil; cut the string to measure one-half the desired width of circle. Fasten one end of string to center of a large paper and draw the circle.

Cut gingham from pattern. Baste the edge 1/4 inch from edge on right side (pressing may stretch edge). Stitch three inch wide, white eyelet ruffling over raw edge and top stitch with black giant rick rack.

Napkins may be made from plain woven cotton, linen or rayon. Mark off 17" squares and pull threads each way so that napkins will be on grain of fabric. Cut. Hem napkins and top stitch black jumbo rick rack around edges.

One of four persons over the age of 65 has not been to a physician for two or more years, the National Health Survey organization reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moshier of Iris Drive announce the engagement of her daughter, Betty Ann Mead, to Gary D. Bass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bass, Waldron Road, Independence Township. He attended the Pontiac Business Institute.

September vows are planned by Ruth Ann Kurtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Kurtz, Walled Lake, and Gerald M. Pepperack. The Steven Pepperacks of Detroit are the prospective bridegroom's parents.

'Elle' Greets Lady Visitors From U.S.

PARIS — In the forefront of French women's weekly magazines, "Elle" hopes to greet many American women visitors this summer, and to help them become "real Parisiennes."

Elle-Club aims at acquainting women visitors with life "à la française," and to this end puts at their disposal all sorts of information on travel, shopping, theaters and countless other things women want to know about.

Arrangements can be made for guided visits to leading Paris couture houses, modern painting galleries, art and antique shops. Contacts may be established with French families. Advice will be given on beauty care, make-up and hair styling. They're even revealing the secrets of French cuisine!

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Basch of Rochester announce the engagement of their daughter, Judith Ann, to Douglas E. Beyerlein, son of Mrs. Isabel Beyerlein of Utica. Her fiancé is a student at the University of Michigan. September vows are planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Morris of Dixie Highway announce the engagement of their daughter, Lane Lucille, to Allen L. Taylor, son of the Lee B. Taylors of Orion Road, Orion Township. An October wedding is being planned.

Handmade French Imports take a little longer to make but they have certainly been worth waiting for! Our personally selected French Boutiques have arrived. Come see them you'll love them as we do Bernice & James P.S. So reasonable too
