Straley Testifies in His Own Behalf

By MAX E. SIMON

His career in jeopardy, suspended Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley took the stand before the Civil Service Commission last night in his fight to save his job.

A ripple of excitement swept through the audience as Straley was called to testify by his attorney, Clarence L. Smith, and sworn in as a witness by Commission Chairman Stuart A. Austin.

Straley is accused of inefficiency and incompetency, insubordination, neglect of duty and failure to maintain good behavior. He was suspended Feb. 9 by City Manager Walter K. Wiflman.

The controversial chief traced in detail his background for commissioners, telling of 18 years he served in the Flint Police Department, wartime duty as assistant executive officer at a Marine Corps prison camp in New Hampshire, and his duties in the United States Secret Service.

Before being hired by City Manager Walter K. Willman as the city's police chief, Straley said, he held two positions with the State Department of Corrections.

Straley almost broke down on the witness stand as he recalled his days as a Secret Service agent when he was assigned to the White House staff, arranging security for Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman.

"There were cranks around then who didn't believe in duly constituted government," Straley said.

"We have such cranks in the Pontiac Police Department today."

Although not mentioning anyone by name, Straley was obviously referring to members of the Pontiac Police Officers Assn. who he claims have been disloyal and attempting to have him ousted.

The chief said he found the police station on Perry street "in horrible condition" when he arrived on the job.

"It went against my grain," Straley said. "I complained to city health authorities and asked command officers why they hadn't taken corrective measures.

"They told me that the approval of the city manager was needed before anything could be done so I went to see Mr. Willman. I wanted police headquarters to be as livable as possible.

"Why, there wasn't adequate lighting at the station and no hot water!

"The janitor didn't even have adequate materials with which to clean the building."

Guns in the station, Straley said, were in a cubby-hole behind the front desk. "The weapons were dusty and dirty, and in the same place with

Urges Revision in Trial Board

9-Point Plan Aims to Enlist Police Aid for Civil Service Repeal

Calling for more disciplinary authority within the Pontiac Police Department and hitting at probation as a means of discipline, the Mayor's Trial Board Committee turned in its main recommendations today and promised more if Civil Service is repealed April 6.

"It is our hope that these recommendations will help bring about repeal of Civil Service for police and persuade individual police officers not to fight the change," said Harvey M. Johns, committee chairman, as he turned in a nine-point report to Mayor Philip E. Rowlston.

The six-member committee was formed to strengthen the Trial Board after the City Com-

U.S. Tells Reds: Justify Summit Meeting First

Foreign Minister Talks Pictured as Pathway to Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States told the Soviet Union today it is prepared to take part in a summit conference on the understanding that a prior meeting of foreign ministers to begin in Geneva May 11 should "justify" the gathering.

The American note was released by the State Department here after delivery in Moscow along with similar notes from Britain and France.

It followed a formula worked out by President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in their Camp David meeting last week.

The plan calls for dealing with the Berlin crisis through diplomatic negotiation looking toward one or more meetings at the summit.

"The purpose of the foreign ministers meeting," the U.S. note said, "should be to reach positive agreements over as wide a field as possible, and in any case to narrow the differences between the respective points of view and to prepare constructive proposals for consideration by a conference of heads of government later in the summer.

"On this understanding and as soon as developments in the foreign ministers meeting justify holding a summit conference, the United States government would be ready to participate in such a conference.

"The date, place and agenda for such a conference would be proposed by the meeting of foreign ministers."

Many Stores, Offices to Note Good Friday

Pontiac stores and businesses generally will close between noon and 3 p.m. tomorrow in observance of Good Friday.

City and county offices will shut down during the three-hour period. Banks will remain open.

The automotive plants follow a policy of letting off employes who want to attend religious services, but it is not expected that production will come to a halt.

Don't Pin Hopes on Area Plan — Willman

City Needs Sewage Plant

By PETE LOCHBILER

Cost and time figure in reasons why Pontiac shouldn't pin its hopes for sewage treatment on an area-wide collection-treatment plan.

The status of the area-wide plan, proposed by Harold K. Schone, acting director of Oakland County Department of Public Works, is still in its earliest stages, cautioned City Manager Walter K. Willman.

VITAL QUESTIONS

"We don't have answers to several vital questions," he said, listing as most important:

1. Would Pontiac have to pay the lion's share of the cost for a new treatment plant and collection system?

2. Could an area-wide system become a reality smoothly within a few years, or would it meet with continual setbacks, as have some other county-sponsored projects?

"Pontiac needs new treatment facilities now, not years from now, and it wants to keep the cost down," Willman reminded.

The money would go to increase facilities at the existing plants, build new facilities at a new plant site, and tie the two operations together.

With the new facilities, the city could end pollution of the Clinton River, open up vast areas to expansion, and would not have to spend any more money for major treatment facilities for 20 years, Willman predicted.

The giant Clinton River Sewage Disposal System — it would take in more than 25 per cent of the county — would include Avon, Oakland, Orion and Independence townships; most of Addison, Oxford and Waterford townships; and parts of Brandon, Springfield, White Lake and West Bloomfield townships.

Lying in the center, Pontiac holds a key position in the plan, Schone has said.

Negotiations between city and county so far have been limited to two letters, one from Schone, the other Willman's reply.

The manager told Schone he was ready and willing to listen to proposals, but could make no commitment yet.

The question of Pontiac's apportioned cost — no apportionments have yet been proposed—looms as the biggest question mark, Willman indicated.

If assessed on the basis of use, Pontiac would have to foot the major part of the bill. If the apportionment were figured on valuation, Pontiac would still pay the lion's share.

Willman estimated the state equalized value of the township areas involved at $178,000,000. In comparison, Pontiac's state-equalized valuation is $335,000,000.

"Are we to spend twice as much as the surrounding areas when we already have a treatment system and need spend only $3,300,000 more to improve it for years to come?" he asked.

It's estimated that the existing Pontiac plant and its trunklines are worth $4,000,000, figuring in depreciation that has been going on, as far as several installations are concerned, for nearly 30 years.

Sign for Office: Wives Banned

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Should a wife be encouraged to visit her husband's office frequently?

Prof. James A. Peterson, a marriage counselor at the University of Southern California, says this is a good idea. He says it would help give wives an appreciation of their husband's problems and pressures on the job.

We don't agree at all. We have another idea. We think every office should hire a 230-pound ex-football tackle as a receptionist.

His duty would be simple. Every time a wife stuck her nose in the door, the receptionist would throw a hammerlock on her, rassle her into the nearest elevator, and push the button marked "Down."

The average man likes to dramatize the horrors and hardships he undergoes in his task of bringing home the bacon.

As he pictures it to his wife, the boss is a tyrant, the office is the last outpost of legal slavery.

Ike Receives Bill Stretching Help 3 Months

Easter Recess Starts After Legislators Pass Emergency Measure

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON—All but a corporal's guard of the 86th Congress was off on a 10-day Easter recess today after voting a three-month extension of emergency jobless benefits.

The House and Senate gave final approval last night to the bill keeping some 400,000 persons on the unemployment compensation rolls beyond April 1 and sent it to the White House.

Even before the final votes many members were on their way out of the nation's capital.

The jobless pay bill capped one of the busiest opening 11-week periods of any Congress in recent history.

The Democratic-controlled Senate previously had passed the Hawaiian statehood, draft extension, housing, airport, world bank expansion and area redevelopment bills, among others.

Both the statehood and draft bills have been signed by the President and normal progress is being made on appropriation measures.

Beneficiaries of the temporary federal jobless pay program who become unemployed before April 1 were assured today their checks would not be cut off on that date.

The bill extended the program to June 30 but limits it to persons who become jobless before April 1.

Lawmakers Quit for Early Holiday; Leave Lansing

LANSING (AP) — The Legislature quit for the weekend a day early today in recognition of Good Friday after hearing a blast against spending on 5,000 state cars.

Democrats were on the spot today as Republicans pushed a bill to allow Michigan's jobless to take advantage of a 13-week extension in benefits voted by Congress.

The Appropriations Committee will probably take up the trust fund plan Tuesday.

Laws of Universe Can't Be Altered to Spare Suffering

By SMILEY BLANTON
Psychiatrist, author of "Love or Perish"

As a psychiatrist, I am often asked by my patients: "How can a kind and just God allow injustice and suffering in the world?"

BLANTON

It would help a little, I think, if the person facing the injustice or enduring the affliction could look a little beyond his own misery and suffering to the larger principles involved.

In many cases the laws of cause-and-effect which bring about the suffering could not be suspended without causing grave danger or injustice to the rest of mankind.

To take a crude illustration: a small child falls from a window and is killed. Why, basically, was the child killed? Because the law of gravity operated as it is suppose to operate. If it didn't there would be no life on this planet.

Or if you have the distressing experience of seeing a sick person in great pain. Why pain? Because it is part of the elaborate warning system that is necessary to sustain life. Without pain, you'd burn your hand off on a hot stove and not know it. The principle of pain is essential, even though to the individual it's highly unpleasant.

Most of us tend to forget this when we pray to be relieved of suffering. I think myself that if God intervened all the time, and suspended the laws of His creation for this individual or that, the confusion would be so great—not to mention the injustice—the world would be unable to function at all.

We must remember that we do not have all the answers, and we never will have all of them. This is the great message that the Bible gives us in the book of Job.

Job, you may remember, was a rich sheik who had seven fine sons and three daughters. He was an upright man who respected God and lived according to Divine Law.

But Satan told God that His perfect servant, Job, would quickly turn against Him if all his possessions were taken away.

So it happened that Job's children were killed; his oxen and camels were carried away by bandits; and lightning destroyed all his sheep. But when all this had happened to Job, he confounded Satan by saying humbly, "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

Satan then proposed a further test of Job. Job was smitten with sore boils from the sole of his foot unto his crown." He became an outcast and sat on an ash heap.

Three of Job's friends came to comfort him, and succeeded in doing just the opposite; in fact, one might almost say that his greatest calamity was his friends. All of them, in different ways tried to tell Job that his misfortunes had come to him because he had sinned and was being punished.

Now Job, who has become known as a paragon of patience, was actually not a patient man at all. He did not feel that he had sinned in any way, and angrily repudiated his friends' suggestion that he had. Then, in some of the most glorious poetry ever written, he made his plea to God Himself, setting forth his complaints.

So Job ran the gamut of confusion, bitterness, depression, resentment, despair and the feelings of utter loneliness and rejection. But in all his sorrow and confusion, Job did not deny God's existance.

In one of the most wonderful statements in the old Scriptures, Job declared, "I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that He shall stand . . . upon the earth." And he told God, "Thou knowest that I am not wicked; and there is none that can deliver out of thine hand." Job then asked to argue his case with God.

The Lord heard him, and came down and spoke out of the whirlwind. He said, in effect, "Job, you have asked me a lot of questions—now I will ask you a few."

Here are some of the mighty questions that God asked:

"Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? . . . By what way is the light parted, which scattereth the east wind upon the earth? . . . Canst thou bind the Pleiades, or, loose the bands of Orion? . . . Doth the hawk fly by Thy wisdom?"

Listening, Job began to realize that he had not sinned in the conventional sense, but he had had an inadequate concept of the Creator: he had been thinking of Him as a mighty prince, something like himself, although much greater.

Now, for the first time, he saw that there could be no possible comparison between himself and the Lord.

When he reached this realization, Job said, "I . . . repent in dust and ashes" for daring to question the wisdom of the Almighty. But in a further passage, the Lord rebuked Job's three friends, saying . . . "ye have not spoken of me the thing that is right as my servant Job hath."

Does not this mean that Job's bold faith, which led him to appeal directly to God, was better and finer than the servility of the three friends, who simply assumed, in defiance of the facts, that Job's misfortunes must have come to him as punishment for some sin?

In other words, Job's sufferings brought him closer to God. By learning to accept them as part of a divine plan, he found a new fellowship with God Himself, so that whatever happened to him in the future, he would be able to meet it with courage and unbroken faith.

Perhaps it is only through suffering that we can reach such knowledge The story of Job has a happy ending. To me, this means that suffering, no matter how severe, will end and be succeeded by happiness, if we can manage not to let it embitter us.

Snow Storm Brews Violent Plains Weather

By The Associated Press

A pre-Easter snow storm whipped across the eastern Rockies into the Midwest today after kicking up a rash of violent weather in sections of the plains and Mississippi Valley.

The year's worst snow storm which hammered the eastern slopes of the Rockies left drifts waist-high in parts of Colorado, Wyoming and western Nebraska. Snow depths were more than a foot in many places. Denver sloshed through a foot of fresh snow. It was not spring time in the Rockies.

Heavy snow warnings were posted for Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota. Lighter amounts were in prospect in northern sections of Wisconsin and Michigan and parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Texas staggered from an outbreak of wild weather. Tornadoes, snow, hail, rain and strong winds lashed the Lone Star state Wednesday. Freezing weather followed the snow in the Panhandle region. The tornadoes caused some property damage and injured one person.

In the western sections of the snow belt, many roads were impassable. One death was attributed to the storm in Colorado. Hundreds of autos were abandoned as motorists found shelter in motels. Bus travel was halted at Denver and Cheyenne, Wyo. Schools closed in many areas of both Colorado and Wyoming.

Mystery Safe Found Ablaze on Area Road

Oakland County sheriff's detectives and Detroit Police today are trying to locate the owners as well as the thieves of a safe which was found burning beside a road in West Bloomfield Township yesterday.

The safe was found about 5:30 p.m. by Terry Hart, 13, of 4158 Newland St., as he was returning home from his newspaper route.

The boy told sheriff's deputies he put out the fire with dirt. It was located at the intersection of Stoddard and Fieldbrook drives.

The bottom of the safe had been cut out with a cutting torch and its cement base broken with a sledge hammer or heavy instrument, police said.

Several small envelopes used for donations to a building fund were found ripped open and empty near the safe.

The Day in Birmingham

Ways to Improve City's Business Area Discussed

BIRMINGHAM — City officials and businessmen met at the Municipal Building last night to hear Dennis Durden, economic analyst from Washington, D.C., speak on planning Birmingham's downtown area.

Durdin, representative of the Larry Smith Co., spoke repeatedly of the importance of traffic management and parking facilities to attract outside trade to the community.

He said planning should be long-range and broken into projects which can be developed individually. He concluded by saying that Birmingham has a healthy shopping area and presently would suffer little if nothing were done.

"Now is the time to begin, however, not when the downward trend has begun," said Durden, "because, while panic planning usually does get better support, it is unwise to wait until adverse conditions have taken over."

First to question him in the open forum was Fred Pew, president of Max Broock Inc., local real estate firm. Pew asked for the Smith company's qualifications, how it operates and what it would do.

Durden referred to completed projects in several major cities and said that in Birmingham they would use the material already gathered and compile some of their own data.

CONCENTRATES ON ECONOMIC

He said the company does no physical planning, but does consult on these plans from an economic standpoint.

Pew then asked him if, in view of his many references to the excellent job done by City Planner Herbert Herzberg, there is anything the Smith firm can do that he already has not done.

Durden again said his company would handle only the economic phase.

Pew replied that he felt the $5,000 to $6,000 fee would be better used to hire extra help for Herzberg and turn the job over to him.

Mason Rosenfeld, representing Jacobson's stores here, said surveys made by his firm on potentials and how to use them would be available for the project. He added that, in his experience, planning means making an area as physically attractive and convenient as a compact shopping district.

Rosenfeld agreed with Pew that this could be done here by utilizing the full talents of the city planner.

Birmingham's three Catholic churches are holding special Good Friday services tomorrow.

At Holy Name Church, prayer, sermons and Stations of the Cross with a special Communion at 1:30 p.m. has been scheduled for the three hours beginning at noon.

Communion will be at 1 p.m. on Good Friday at Our Lady Queen of Martyrs. A service at 8 p.m. will include the Stations of the Cross.

St. Columbans Church will not hold a three-hour service tomorrow but will have the solemn liturgy at 2 p.m. and the Way of the Cross at 7:30 p.m.

Disorderly conduct charges brought four days in jail plus $15 fines to Ronald Elliott, 30, of 728 Appalachin St., Walled Lake.

Elliott was arrested last week on the complaint of Atwood Edwards of 1511 E. Maple Ave., who said Elliott punched him in the face after an altercation over traffic right-of-way at E. Maple avenue and Eton road.

He was found guilty by Municipal Judge Edward Emery of disorderly conduct.

Dealers, Press Plan New Car Sales Drive

Pontiac — and most of the nation — will launch a huge newspaper promotion campaign next month to sell more cars.

Sparking the drive here will be the Pontiac Automobile Dealers Assn. and The Pontiac Press, which plan an intensive advertising campaign.

Almost 300 daily newspapers throughout the country have confirmed that they and their local car dealers will take part in similar campaigns, according to the American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

The theme of the drive, which will run April 6-18, is "Live better by far with a brand new car."

"Because of the special local interest in the automobile industry, the Pontiac area dealers feel that this promotion can benefit the whole community," said Arnold K. Jerome, president of the local dealers association.

Cooperating with the 10-dealer association will be six dealers from outside the city limits of Pontiac.

SUBURBAN PARTICIPANTS

Also in the drive are Shelton Pontiac Buick, Inc., Rochester; Rammler-Dallas, Inc., Rochester; Homer Hight Motors, Inc., Oxford; Russ Johnson Motor Sales, Lake Orion; Beattie Motor Sales, Waterford Township; and Eddie Steele, Inc., Keego Harbor.

A great deal of promotional activity is expected during the campaign period.

"Many of the dealers will announce soon their individual plans and the local dealer association is busy on a group promotion," said Jerome.

The promotion is an expansion of last year's "You Auto Buy Now" campaign, in which 280 newspapers took part nationally.

Ed Falasca, a vice president of the ANPA advertising bureau, said this year's campaign will be concentrated in a briefer period and aimed at stimulating car interest just before the peak spring selling season.

He said the theme was chosen after auto manufacturers told the bureau their major problem was to re-awaken the excitement that once went with owning and driving a new car.

Nearly every major city is participating in the drive, said Falasca, and the final total of participating newspapers may reach 500-600, he predicted.

Detroit Tech Eying Same Site Mentioned for Huge Project

DETROIT (AP) — A 64-acre Detroit river front plot was the scene of a real estate tug-of-war between higher education and civic progress today.

The same land is coveted by Detroit Institute of Technology and Smith-Bisschop & Co. The real estate firm wants to erect a skyscraper hotel, apartment houses and office and other buildings on part of the area.

Dewey F. Barich, president of Detroit Tech, said yesterday the school hopes to acquire the land for conversion into a multi-million dollar educational-research-business center.

Smith-Bisschop announced last Friday its plans to build in the same general area, west of the now-building Detroit Civic Center.

Norman O. Stockmeyer, vice chairman of Detroit Tech's board, said he would like to try to work things out with Smith-Bisschop. The land now is owned by four railroads.

Karl Smith, Smith-Bisschop president, said eh conferred yesterday with railroad representatives ready to sign the the first option on the land.

"We're not going to be out of the picture until he starts pouring concrete," said Stockmeyer.

Detroit Tech has made outlines for a campus in the area that would accommodate 5,000 students.

financial credit for its existing facilities, but how much would depend on how the city is to be absorbed in the plan.

This is a complicated question to answer, and one that would require much negotiation, Willman said.

To get agreement among the dozen or so communities involved in the proposal may sound easy, Willman said.

"But it may prove harder than anyone expects," he cautioned, with reference to such long-stalled county projects as the Twelve Town Drain, which has been blocked in one way or another for more than three years.

Although the Department of Public Works is not directly involved in Twelve Town planning, the fledgling agency has still to get any of its own projects off the ground.

It has still to sell its first bonds, a step considered to be the acid test of its workability.

Birmingham Police are making a thorough search of the area around Big Beaver road and Woodward avenue in an attempt to recover several items of jewelry still missing from the weekend theft at the Charles L. Watkins home, 1489 E. Maple Ave.

Most of the loot, valued at $400, was recovered by Bloomfield Township Police after it had been scattered along the roadway earlier. Watkins last night identified the recovered pieces and said several others were still missing.

Police Lt. Merlin Holmquist said some of the recovered jewelry had been badly damaged by passing automobiles.

Marquette Movie Strike Fails to Materialize

MARQUETTE (AP)—A threatened strike by extras against a Hollywood movie production company shooting on location here has failed to materialize.

A spokesman for about 160 extras said Tuesday they may go on strike if their demands for more money were not met. But only six of the extras who worked on the filming of "Anatomy of a Murder" Tuesday failed to report for work yesterday.

The spokesman said they believed they would be better off financially if they returned to the unemployment compensation rolls.

Idea 'From Television'

2 Boys Try Bank Holdup

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two boys accused of attempted bank robbery stood awed and contrite before Juvenile Court Judge Melvyn I. Cronin.

He looked sternly at Dan McKay, 9, and Danny Husk, 13, and asked where they got the idea.

"From television," stammered the boys.

Judge Cronin scolded them, lectured the parents and sent them home Wednesday. Little Dan and Danny had spent the night in Youth Guidance Center after their arrest Tuesday.

They admitted going to the Bank of America's Mission branch and presenting a note demanding $100 under threat to "blow up the bank." The teller, Miss Filamene Miller, shooed them away and told the manager. He called police, who staked out the boys' homes and arrested them after their return from a movie.

Little Dan and Danny said they had only wanted to replenish their supply of a play money issued by a bank as a promotion.

However, they cooked up the holdup note idea before entering the bank. Whether inspired by television or not, most bank holdups here follow the same pattern —a note poked at the teller with varying threats.

There was another one Wednesday. The note said "I've got a gun." The man walked out with $1,688.

Little Dan and Danny walked out of the courtroom with their parents, Wilma Husk, and Rufus McKay. Parental punishment: curtailment of privileges plus a paddling for Dan McKay.

Said Mrs. Husk: "I don't believe in beatings. It doesn't accomplish anything. He's a good kid at heart."

She has two grown children, one of whom is married, and a daughter, Sandra, 15.

Central City, Colo., now home of the famous summer opera festival, was once called "The richest square mile on earth." That was in the days when its mines produced more than one-half billion dollars in precious metals.

Straley on Stand in His Own Defense

Straley told commissioners he brought about many improvements in the conditions at the station, and purchased new arms for the department.

The personal equipment of police officers was sadly neglected, Straley testified.

He told of one instance where during an inspection he learned that an officer's handcuffs had been locked for three years.

Another officer's revolver, Straley testified, was not fully loaded and upon close inspection he found the bullets in the revolver were corroded.

DEMANDED PROPER ATTIRE

Straley said he demanded officers be properly attired "with brass shined and leather polished."

His insistence on smart-looking officers was necessary to raise the esprit de corps, Straley asserted.

The chief said he was amazed to learn that police officers were buying their own uniforms, and it was his persuasion that finally led to the adoption of a policy whereby the city would purchase uniforms for members of the force.

"But no one ever thought of providing complete new uniforms for the department," Straley said. "We planned to replace uniforms as they were worn out."

Straley said that uniform specifications were delayed because he planned to change the complete style of the uniforms.

"There was no deadline set for purchasing new clothing," Straley declared.

The Fire Department, Straley said, was able to turn in uniform specifications shortly after the City Commission authorized uniform purchases in January 1957 because firemen were to get the same uniforms they had before.

He denied that uniform items were ever denied officers because he was antagonistic toward them.

"I had nothing to do with such decisions," the chief testified. "Questions like that were acted on by the men's immediate superior officers."

WORKED FOR IMPROVEMENTS

He spent many hours above the call of duty going over plans for the Public Safety Building, Straley said.

"I've done that all my life," Straley continued. "My sole purpose was to improve the condition of my force."

The chief charged that he was flooded by paperwork by Public Safety Director George D. Eastman and couldn't possibly do what he was assigned in a reasonable period.

"I tried to tell him so," Straley said.

"But his only comment was: 'You have my directives.'"

Straley said he did not learn of his being relieved of command on Nov. 12, 1958 until a meeting of the entire police department at 3 that afternoon in the City Commission chambers.

Straley will be back on the stand tonight when the hearing resumes at 7:30.

At the start of the evening, Pontiac clothier Raymond Rapaport, who had testified earlier, was given a fabric similar to that which Straley had ordered for new uniforms.

MATERIAL BURNS

Asked in cross-examination by Atty. A. Floyd Blakeslee, to hold a match to the fabric, Rapaport assented. The material burned.

He was then given a piece of wool cloth which did not flare up as the other had.

Rapaport said the allegedly

flammable material was used for Air Force uniforms.

He admitted that a fabric which he had tested before the Commission was not the same material Straley had ordered for uniforms.

But, he insisted, there was no difference in the flammability of the two samples.

Another clothier who supplied uniforms to the department, Al Steinman, was called to testify. In 1957 and 1958, he declared, the police department purchased $6,000 worth of uniform apparel from his store.

TELLS OF STRALEY'S AID

A volunteer defense witness told commissioners Straley had gone out of his way to help a paraplegic war veteran in 1954.

George Smith, a Pontiac Motor Division employe, said he was adjutant of the Pontiac chapter of the Disabled American Veterans at the time.

When he told Straley of the veteran, paralyzed from the waist down, Straley went out with him in a heavy rainstorm, Smith said.

He had asked the chief if it would be possible to assist in securing a permanent parking space for the disabled man, who was in school.

"We went to the area and the chief told me: 'Pick your spot—it will be taken care of,'" Smith said.

He said the DAV chapter had commended the chief in a personal letter for his attention in the matter.

Hare Urges Wide Use of Election Challengers

LANSING (AP) — State political party chairmen have been urged by Secretary of State James M. Hare to have challengers at as many polling places as possible for the April 6 election.

Hare explained that budget limitations have ruled out the practice of having an elections division man in places where there have been complaints over election procedures.

"It is my feeling," Hare said, "that so long as two or more parties are represented at any individual polling place that this will tend to achieve substantial conformity with the election laws."

Keep the Wife Away From Hubby's Office

OTHERS BUSY

Everybody in the office is busy working but her husband. He is sitting there, laughing, with his feet on the desk and seemingly staring at the derriere of a passing stenographer.

Here is a sample of the conversation at home that night.

Wife: "I thought you said you were surrounded by lunatics. They looked pretty normal to me."

Wife: "You were the only one loafing."

Husband: "As God is my judge, I'd just put my feet on that desk one second before you came in—just to rest them."

Wife: "But you were laughing."

Husband: "The boss had just told me a joke and gone into his office. When the boss tells a joke, you have to laugh."

'AND THE STENOGRAPHER'

Wife: "Why were you staring at that pretty stenographer?"

Husband: "What stenographer? I never even saw her."

Wife, unconvinced: "Well, I wish someone would pay me money just to sit around and laugh with both feet on the desk.

That's the trouble with letting your wife visit your office—she gets the wrong view of things.

And if she dropped in nine times a week, it would always be at exactly the right moment to get the wrong impression.

Pinball Machine Proves Valuable Psychotherapy

PUEBLO, Colo. (UPI) — Pinball machines are helping psychiatrists and therapists to straighten tilted personalities at the Colorado State Hospital.

Hospital officials maintain that the devices, subject of frequent controversy in law enforcement circles, have great therapeutic value for the mentally disturbed.

The state mental institution now has 14 pinball machines which were donated by Denver County authorities who confiscated them for betting "payoffs." Otherwise, the devices are legal in Colorado.

"When the bells ring and the lights flash, we know someone is having fun," observes Mrs. Ward Lockhart, who has charge of rehabilitation.

She explained that the hospital rewires the machines so they can be operated without using coins.

Mrs. Lockhart pointed out that pinball machines are a type of recreation associated with normal life —not institutional life—and therein lies their chief therapeutic value.

Feminine Intuition Proves Its Worth?

DENVER (UP)—For years H. Ray Baker, editor of The Denver Post's Empire Magazine, has been told his voice sounds just like movie actor Walter Brennan's.

Finally Baker met Brennan at a cocktail party here and they decided on an experiment. Brennan ponted out his wife with her back to them across the room and suggested Baker sneak up behind and make a voice test.

Baker eased up and said: "Would you like another drink, dear?" Mrs. Brennan half turned her head and replied: "No, thanks, dear — and my husband always calls me honey."

Lake Contains Rare Sea Water

OSLO — Norway's Lake Rorholtfjorden, found recently to contain ancient sea water, is being studied by a team of Swedish and Norwegian scientists.

Prof. Kaare Strom of Oslo University estimates that the brine, left in the lake as the land rose after the last ice age, is about 6,000 years old.

The lake, in Telemark Province, is now about 10 miles from the seacoast and 150 feet above sea level.

The salt layer of water, which starts about 420 feet below the surface of the 541-foot-deep lake, is clearly separated from the fresh water.

The discovery of this rarity of both salt and fresh water in the same lake was made by a young student in taking lake-water samples for an assignment.

Rising Steel Output Threatened by Strike

One of the biggest industrial achievements of 1958 was the boosting of steel making capacity in this country by 7 million tons to a record 147,633,670 tons a year.

Our steel capacity has gone up for 12 consecutive years. It has risen at a higher rate than the population of the country and exceeds that of Russia by about 80 million tons a year. Last month the industry operated at 84.8 per cent of capacity, compared with 50 per cent a year ago. The reserve capacity is available for possible national emergencies, growth of population and industrial needs.

Part of the increase, no doubt, is due to stockpiling in expectation of a steel strike July 1. However, the concensus seems to be that if the threatened strike is called after the expiration of the June 30 contract, it will not be a bitter, lengthy one and will end in another three year contract with a modest increase.

Meanwhile there is growing public concern on the subject of continued rounds of wage increases followed by price rises in such basic industries as steel, particularly in view of much unemployment. This was expressed publicly by Dr. SAULNIER, chairman of the Administration's Council of Economic Advisers and by other leading economists.

Present rising steel production is a bright spot in the Nation's economic picture and it is to be hoped that a prolonged strike will not cause this gain to be wiped out.

Time to Prevent Polio—Before Season Starts

Balmy spring days should be a reminder that summer is not far off and the polio season just over the horizon. Much has been done to warn and assist area residents by the Pontiac PTA clinics.

It seems a little unnecessary to mention again this dreaded disease, but a recent press release from the National Foundation points up a couple of startling facts.

Fifty-six per cent of the nation's population has not been vaccinated against polio. Do you fall into this category? It further shows that a larger percentage has received less than the prescribed number of shots.

It's a little hard to understand mothers and fathers being so lax that they will not see to it and insist that their children receive these inoculations.

Remembering in the summer at the height of the season is too late.

Accept the responsibility now. See to it that your children are protected.

Austria's 'Thank You' to American Taxpayer

At a time when foreign aid requests are meeting with complaints in and out of Congress, it is pleasant to note a gracious gesture of the Austrian government.

In a 368 page book presented to President Eisenhower and dedicated "to the unknown American taxpayers to whose contributions the Austrian economy owes the millions contributed in good will toward its reconstruction," Chancellor Julius Raab pays tribute to the Marshall Plan.

In addition to describing how the nation was rebuilt with that money, Foreign Minister LEOPOLD FIGL adds that Austria in turn has been able to help others including thousands of Hungarian refugees. If we had refused our help after the devastations of World War II, Austria today could very well be a Russian satellite or at least dominated by that country. It would lack the economic stability so vital to its independence from pressure.

While there is little similarity between the present German situation and Austria's, it does show one instance where the Allies and the Soviet Union were able, after years of effort, to end a diplomatic deadlock and unite a country which had been divided into separate zones.

The Man About Town

Baseball Contest

1959 Event Is Under Way; Prize Is $250 in Bonds

Spring: A glorious season — it brings along baseball.

The Man About Town annual baseball contest makes its start today. The winner gets $250 in U. S. Savings Bonds. It can be you.

That prize goes to the person who submits the nearest correct answer to the following question:

What player who has been at bat at least 25 times will be leading the American League on the night of Thursday, April 23, and what will be his batting average?

It costs nothing to enter the contest, and every member of your family is eligible to compete. Only one entry is allowed for each person. Each entry must be on a separate piece of paper. Employes of The Pontiac Press or the members of their immediate families cannot compete.

You are not required to clip a coupon, take part in a quiz, get mixed up with a phony TV program, write an essay, tell your age, sex or color, complete a jingle, supply a missing word or guess the price on anything.

You only write down the name of the player and estimate his batting average. Then sign your name and address, and wait for the $250.

All entries must be received in The Pontiac Press office by noon on Friday, April 10.

Contestants agree to abide by the decision of the judges which will be final. Your choice is as good as that of anybody else.

During the past eleven years, when a total of $2,750 has been awarded in this contest, the ladies have far outnumbered the men in the winners.

Last year's contest was won by

Mrs. Virginia M. Laurain

of 145 West Fairmount Ave. In 1957 it went to

James Joseph Mersino

of Oxford, as a parting gift before entering the U. S. Army. In 1956 it was of 275 Starr Ave., who got it. In 1955 is was copped by

of 224 West Longfellow Ave. It was necessary to divide it in 1954 between

Robert I. McCormick

of 76½ Newberry St., and

Mrs. Bernice G. Jozwik

of Drayton Plains. In 1953

Miss Betty Whitson

of 495 Harper Ave., got the prize. In 1952

They Never Seem to Think of the Ax

David Lawrence Says:

The War Is On Around the Globe

WASHINGTON — The war goes on despite the talk of "summit" conferences.

The war is on in the Atlantic, where Russian trawlers recently cut the most important cables of confidential communication between the United States and Europe. What they did once, they can do again when the exigencies of war demand it.

LAWRENCE

The war is on in Iraq, where the Communists have just conquered a country which used to be an ally of the West but which now withdraws from the alliance with Britain, Turkey, Iran, Pakistan and the United States, and places herself at the service of Moscow.

The war is on along the borders of Turkey, where the Soviets recently lured an unarmed American transport plane across the line by false signals during bad weather and then shot down the plane, killing the 17 Americans aboard.

The war is on in the Far East, where the Red Chinese, who are supplied with arms and munitions by the Soviets, keep up a constant bombardment that threatens Formosa and the military position of the United States in the Pacific.

The war is on in Cuba, Bolivia, Venezuela and other Latin American countries, where Communist money and influence are at work to cause friction with the United States.

The war is on in the Philippines, where Communists have managed to get enough political influence to prod the government to engage in more and more controversies and quarrels with the United States.

The war is on inside the Western democracies, where Communists, working through stooges—many of them unwitting, on the so-called "liberal" side—manage to make political trouble for the existing administrations.

The Communist influence in France, for instance, remains a threat. The Communist alliances with certain "liberal" groups in Britain continually cause some of the latter to play the Communist game.

The pressure to suspend nuclear tests is steadily applied through worldwide propaganda by the Communists. They never intend to keep their end of any agreement but hope to stop America's scientific experiments.

In all the Western countries a psychology of fear of the Communist threat in Berlin has given impetus to a peace-at-any-price sentiment.

The Soviets, on the other hand, give nothing and do not understand the word "compromise."

The Middle Eastern campaign to date has been a big success for the Communists. They started out to win Nasser, and they surrounded him with enough Communists to keep him hostile to the West.

The high command in Moscow, with hundreds of thousands of agents dispersed in every country of the world, is at the moment ruled by Nikita Khrushchev. He is a tough-minded, ruthless person who more and more resembles Hitler in his methods.

The Communist dictator, like his Nazi predecessor, knows when to turn on the soft talk and when to use threats. There was plenty of "flexibility" in the 1930s on the part of the Western governments as Hitler took one country after the other.

President Eisenhower is unmoved by schemes that imply a formula for retreat or surrender by the West. He finds, of course, that he must negotiate—that's the demand of the Western world, and it's the way apparently to keep political opposition abroad from upsetting the existing governments in the West.

But "negotiation" does not need to mean surrender. Sooner or later public opinion in the West will be face to face with the fact that the so-called "cold war" sweeping the globe will have to be stopped. For, if it isn't halted, it is only a question of time until the Soviets will overplay their hand and a hot war will be the inevitable result.

The Country Parson

Dr. William Brady Says:

Ignorance of Childbirth Could Have Sad Results

In a hurry one day a patty couldn't get his car started, no matter how hard and often he pressed the button. The thing just growled back at him and refused to go. As you may imagine, he got into a state about it.

DR. BRADY

While I was abusing my arterioles, a couple of schoolboys came along, observed the situation, and one said, "Just a jiffy." He raised the hood, reached into the works, jiggled something, closed the hood and said, "Try it now."

Off we went. It was plumb humiliating. Worse, the same thing or scores of things of the same sort could happen to me again, in any circumstance, at any time. I feel my ears reddening when I think about it.

If I were like millions of you readers, I might try to brazen it out and even put on a show of indignation when someone said in print that such embarrassment as I suffered is due to ignorance.

But I'm not like you. I suppose I could study a diagram, pamphlet, or book or even take a lesson or two from a mechanic on the mystery of the automobile and, who knows, learn enough to save myself much woe or expense, if my car should go dead sometime when I'm far from skilled help. But this is not likely to happen because I rarely, if ever, get into such a predicament.

You readers, on the other hand, at least you on the callow side, are likely to suffer far greater embarrassment and expense from ignorance of marriage, pregnancy, childbirth, and the care of infants than I could possibly suffer from ignorance of what makes an automobile go.

Besides my own little primer for expectant parents—"Preparing for Maternity," 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope—I recommend that you poor ignorant people see to it that your children get a better break in school than you got in the way of instruction in human life.

No matter how ignorant you are when you leave school or college, you can still learn enough by reading or studying these books to give you at least some dignity and assurance:

CHILDBIRTH your questions answered, by Carl H. Davis, M. D. and Donita Ferguson, published by Harpers.

CHILDBIRTH WITHOUT FEAR, natural childbirth, by Grantly Dick Read, M. A., M. D., Harpers.

A WAY TO NATURAL CHILDBIRTH, relaxation exercises, by Helen Heardman, Williams Wilkins.

Book dealers have these books, or you may get them in your public library. There are many other pamphlets and books for prospective parents.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Dreams May Hide Hidden Wishes

Dream symbolism was subconsciously concocted by Helen to avoid psychic pain, as by twinges of her conscience But that is a common device, even of insurance salesmen, who try to avoid such words as "dead" or "dying" by such euphemisms as "Going west". Scrapbook this case on sexual symbolism in coed dreams.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case A - 488: Helen D., aged 19, is the college coed mentioned yesterday who dreamed that savages were pursuing her along a Hawaiian beach and hurling spears at her.

"Dr. Crane, how would Dr. Freud interpret these dreams?" she asked.

DR. CRANE

We human beings employ a great deal of camouflage to protect ourselves from pain.

For example, life insurance salesmen routinely avoid the words 'death' or 'dying.'

Instead, they employ euphemisms (sweet ways of saying bitter things), so they talk about our "Passing on" or "Joining our Forebears" or "Walking into the Setting Sun" or "Graduating from this Earth," etc.

When we try to comfort a friend or neighbor who has had a death in the family, we generally talk about "Your great sorrow" or "Your loss" and describe the deceased as the "Late departed" instead of saying "The dead man."

Well, says Dr. Freud, in dreams we often use similar euphemisms to shield us from pain from an aroused conscience.

But in dreams we disguise the offensive or blunt facts by visual symbolism.

Thus, objects that are vaguely similar to one sex or the other, may appear in our dreams as symbolical of that sex.

Helene often has savages enter into her dreams. Savages are regarded as beneath the cultural level of moral, sophisticated modern men.

The savages thus personify primitive urges and fundamental desires.

Many girls with strict upbringing have been led to look upon physical sex acts as base (below the level of modern morality), and beastly or savage.

That, says Freud, is why savages are a very common character in the dreams of unmarried girls.

And the same type of dream will be recited, almost verbatim, by girls in England or Germany, America or Canada, etc.

For this dream symbolism is universal!

Following Freud's line of reasoning, anything that is entered, is called a female sex symbol. Thus, a shoe is a feminine symbol, while the foot is masculine.

This type of thing has long been utilized by hardware merchants who distinguish between nuts and bolts on a female-male basis, so you can see that Dr. Freud wasn't as far-fetched as some folks imagined.

Any pointed objects, such as spears, knives, umbrellas, arrows, daggers, etc., Dr. Freud would classify as male sex symbols.

And in keeping with the Freudian view, would you expect more dreaming of savages with spears on the part of married women or unmarried girls?

You can answer that by trying to recall if well fed diners would be more likely to dream of Thanksgiving banquets, or would starving folks.

Go to your library and read Chapter XV in my college textbook on Applied Psychology if you want a fuller account of dream symbolism and some typical coed dreams.

Dream analysis not only involves sexual symbolism but is often valuable to us psychiatrists to indicate emotional conflicts, phobias and apprehension concerning problems of the home or office and factory jobs.

Hatred of parents or employers often is camouflaged, too, in dream symbolism.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'We've Helped Rest of City; Let Others Help Us Now'

The article opposing the sewage issue makes me boil. The one thing that would help the northeastern part of Pontiac more than anything in the last 15 years this organization wants to deprive us of.

The city has the land, the labor and all that's needed is an o. k. on the ballot to allow this section to develop. As soon as the new college opens there'll be housing needed for students. This could and would be built between the eastern city boundaries and the college grounds.

We not only need the sewage plant but storm drains as well. How long must we have large pools of stagnate water all year around for insects and disease to breed? How long must we see our gardens flooded after every hard summer rain? I don't say City Hall has used our money wisely in the past or will in the future, but we've suffered long must we have large pools of stagnant water all year around for pay for all improvements made in Pontiac the last 15 years. It's time now that we get this long needed sewage plant and facilities.

We'd like to see a few cents of our tax money spent here and not all spent for improvements out west to Telegraph Road.

Mrs. Mark W. Kinney

'City Did Well, All Considered'

There have been various pieces in Voice of the People about the street cleaning and I'd like to say Pontiac has done a fine job and much better than most cities.

This was the worst winter of all and we should expect things not quite as good as normal winters.

If the City had hired another large force of men to keep right up to the snow, taxpayers who yell about those side streets would make the most noise finding fault with the added taxes. Pontiac did very well.

'Can't Do Much With That Apathy'

How are you ever going to get very far with Hoffa when his own membership is perfectly satisfied with his actions and has no interest in a checkup? Washington faces a real tough problem.

A. F. L.

'Can't Pontiac Enforce Law?'

There's a pack of nine dogs on our street right now. I've complained several times to the police department and so far none of the dogs is missing. Dogs are man's best friend, but they're filthy and destructive, too. Some people turn them loose at night and let them roam over others' well-kept lawns.

I was told I must sign a complaint and that way you make an enemy of a neighbor. If there's a law against them running loose, why can't it be enforced? Let owners keep them at home or let's get rid of them. The City could refuse to license dogs that aren't kept at home or fine the owners a time or two.

'We Deserve More Credit in Waterford'

There was a mistake in your March 19 paper. I agree Pontiac Northern's rating added to A-1, but so did a lot of other schools. You implied they took top honors. Waterford took top honors with a 12-1 rating. We at Waterford never get the praise we deserve. We're proud of our school and like to get the correct news to other people.

Space Capsules Retrieved Intact

Survive Long Drop Into Ocean; May Carry First U.S. Orbit Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dummy space capsules the size of those that someday may carry American spacemen into orbit have been dropped into the ocean from high-flying planes and recovered intact, scientists reported today.

The tapered, cone-like capsules weighed more than a ton.

After they dropped in free fall for set distances, parachutes opened to slow the capsules' descent as they plummeted toward the ocean.

Next step in the space research program: development of materials to absorb the shock of landings on ground.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration today reported significant progress in air drops, escape techniques, impact tests, and wind tunnel and flight studies of model capsules.

The early research is part of Project Mercury, the program to place a man in orbit around the earth. So far, its research has provided valuable information toward developing a safe and reliable manned satellite capsule, NASA said.

Space scientists have been experimenting at Wallops Island, Va., on the firing of escape rockets that would permit a man to get out of a capsule high enough in the air for a parachute to open—if trouble should develop soon after launching.

NASA has been paring down a list of 110 potential Mercury astronauts, or spacemen. Early next month it will make public the first team of less than a dozen volunteers.

The agency disclosed today that its scientists last summer developed methods for dropping a full scale model capsule from an Air Force C130 Hercules transport.

In the tests over land, capsules were pushed out of C130s almost 10 miles above the earth. They fell into target areas in the Army's Fort Bragg, N.C., "Salerno" and "Normandy" drop zones, and on a deserted airfield at West Point, Va.

In the ocean drops, two T33 jet trainers were used as chase planes to photograph the capsules in free fall.

Two Marine helicopters and an NASA crash rescue boat rushed to the impact point. One helicopter retrieved the capsule by hooking a line into the test model.

WHO Medic Raps Tranquilizer

'Worry Is Necessary for Healthy Mental Life'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Don't take a lot of tranquilizers to keep from worrying. Some worry does you good.

That advice comes from Dr. Eduardo E. Krapf of the World Health Organization, a U. N. affiliate. As chief of the agency's mental health section he writes in the publication "World Health:"

"A certain amount of worrying about the consequences of our actions would seem to be necessary for living a healthy mental life. A certain amount of normal anxiety is one of the factors that contribute to cultural progress.

"Too many people eat pep pills and happy pills (stimulants and tranquilizers) like candy. It is being said that at some parties they are handed around like peanuts and that people even have started to lace their cocktails with 'Don't-give-a-damn' pills."

He complains that taking these pills is considered perfectly respectable by "people who would look askance at somebody who abused alcohol or who took an opiate or smoked marijuana."

"Doctors," he says, "are being forced by their patients into what can only be called 'shotgun prescriptions.' The products in question are being advertised in medical journals so intensively that they would have to be supermen to resist this propaganda."

He adds that reputable drug houses claim that such things help against nightmares, homesickness, financial worries, financial tension and stage fright among public speakers and athletes.

Japan at War Again, Enemy Is Walruses

CHITOSE, Japan (AP) — Japan's air force today carried out its first combat mission since World War II — against invading walruses.

There were no confirmed kills.

The air force went into action after fishermen in the area claimed the walruses were wrecking their nets and eating the fish, with a loss of $50,000 worth of equipment last year.

The attacking pilots said 13 of the animals were on the rock when they went into action. At the firing they scattered into the sea, and a second flight found no targets. Another shoot is scheduled Friday.

Outstanding Young Man on His Way to Prison

HONOLULU (AP)—John Peelua selected as oustanding young man of 1958 for the Hawaiian island for Molokai, will be sentenced April 14 for embezzling $200 from Molokai Community Hospital.

Peelua, 35, was a bookkeeper at the hospital. He pleaded no contest to the charge before Circuit Judge Cable A. Wirtz in Wailuku.

Peelua had been indicted on five counts, but County Atty. Harold L. Duponte asked the court to drop four of the counts "because the ends of justice had been served."

A shortage of $16,000 in hospital funds had been reported from 1955

Historic Alaskan Hill to Star Again

SITKA, Alska (AP) — Sitka's Castle Hill, one of this huge state's most historic spots, will again become the scene of a history-making event July 4.

It was on Castle Hill on Oct. 18, 1867, that Czarist Russia formally signed over to the United States the vast, unexplored territory of Alaska for 7 million dollars.

Next July 4, state officials said the first 49-star flag in this newest state will be raised on Castle ill.

Urges Revisions in Police Trial Board

mission decided to ask voters to reinstate it April 6.

The committee urged some specific changes in the Trial Board's rules of procedure, recommended generally that rules and regulations for the conduct of police officers be revised, and declared that City Charter changes would be necessary to bring about further improvements.

Envisioned in the committee's report was a disciplinary situation in which minor cases would be handled within the department, major ones by the Trial Board and the rights of individual officers guaranteed all the way to Circuit Court.

The Public Safety Director should be given authority to handle minor violations as he sees fit, the report indicated, to keep the Trial Board from being swamped with cases.

A committee of officers of all ranks should be formed to help handle disciplinary cases, the report recommended.

"We believe that morale would be strengthened under these conditions," Johns said.

Officers should be guaranteed the right to appeal to the Trial Board any departmental discipline, Johns elaborated, believing this would happen "rarely," if morale were high.

Probation—a favorite form of discipline of the old Trial Board and suspended Police Chief Herbert W. Straley—should be discontinued, the report recommended.

Under it, the probationer could be fired by the chief for any infraction without benefit of appeal to the board.

Dissatisfaction over probation was one of the chief complaints of the Pontiac Police Officers Assn. when it campaigned for Civil Service two years ago.

"Instead of probation, we recommend that disciplinary action be taken progressively," the report read. "First offense, verbal reprimand, for instance, with increasing penalties for each offense.

"We feel, however, that minor cases should not be held against a man for over a period of one year."

These recommendations were agreed on after the committee met with representatives of the PPOA, the Fraternal Order of Police, and Public Safety Director George D. Eastman, Johns said.

Two added major recommendations under consideration if Civil Service is repealed are:

1. The police chief and, perhaps, police captains should not be protected by the Trial Board, but should be entirely subject to administrative discipline.

2. Trial Board hearings should be private, unless the accused officer wants a public hearing.

"We have not made a final decision on these, but I believe we would favor them," said Johns.

It is because of that protection that Straley's recent suspension as chief had to go to the present hearing before the Civil Service Commission.

"We don't think that the officers in the highest rank are the ones that really need protection," Johns said. "It's the new officers — the patrolmen, especially — who need the Trial Board."

The committee is prepared to meet again to consider further recommendations if voters repeal Civil Service, Johns said.

Although the committee would like to make other changes, they could be accomplished only through revision of the City Charter section covering the Trial Board, he pointed out.

This would be a long-range project, and one of the committee's recommendations is that the Trial Board itself, if reconstituted, undertake the task.

It was not recommended that the present number of Trial Board members (seven) be changed, but it was urged that the membership represent diversified walks of life, including minority groups.

It was also recommended that at least one member be a lawyer, who could act as legal advisor.

The PPOA complained in the past that the 7-member composition of the board represented, in reality, the interests of the 7-member City Commission, one board member for each commissioner.

Commissioners have heatedly denied this charge, saying that the Commission as a whole recommends appointments to the mayor, who makes up his own mind on who gets on the board.

Officers have also asked in the past for provision of defense and prosecuting attorneys to handle cases, but this would lead to expensive legal fees, Johns pointed out.

"A lawyer on the board ought to be sufficient to insure that rights are not being violated."

The reconstituted Trial Board ought to have "minimum representation" of the old trial board members "to insure 'experience,'" the report suggested.

"But I don't think more than two of the old Trial Board should serve on the new board," said Johns.

"If all the members of the old board were called back, it is possible that the old fights would be renewed."

The report urged that "rights of the accused be protected," but did not recommend other specific changes in rules of procedure to bring this about.

Johns explained, however, that one such change the committee had in mind would be guaranteeing the right of the accused to challenge any member of the Trial Board to sit in judgment of his case, "if he suspected the board member were prejudiced against him."

The report recommended that rank-and-file police officers be allowed to submit names of candidates for the board to the City Commission for consideration.

It said that the 20 per cent of members of the present police force who are not veterans should have the same right to appeal decisions to Circuit Court that veterans have under state veterans laws.

Johns was not sure whether other legal machinery, besides a charter change, would be needed to make this possible.

It was recommended that the Trial Board decide how many of its members have to be present at a hearing to constitute a quorum, since there is no such provision at present.

"It is further recommended that all sections of the rules and regulations for the police department be carefully examined in the future," the report said.

It was "strongly recommended" that several regulations be changed and, as an example, the committee thought that officers must be granted time off in the event of death in the immediate family or serious illness.

"At present, this time off is optional, not mandatory, and although its almost always granted, the officers would be happier, we believe, if it had to be granted always," Johns said.

Killed Helping Dog

Paul A. Kern, Pontiac real estate appraiser, yesterday was elected president of the Bloomfield Hills Rotary Club for 1959-60 by the club's Board of Directors.

Elected to succeed Kern in this capacity was John A. Gilray Jr., Birmingham attorney, of 4730 Avondale Rd., Bloomfield Township. James E. Malchow, past treasurer and Birmingham bank manager, was re-elected treasurer for another year.

The Board of Directors will choose a secretary at a later date.

'Reds May Sell Cars in U.S.'

Soviet Editor Points Up Industrial Challenge in Talk at Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI)—Russian cars may be marketed in the United States in a few years, the editor of the English-language Russian magazine "U.S.S.R." said last night.

Enver Memedov told a meeting sponsored by the Grand Rapids Council on World Affairs that Russia is challenging America's position as the World's No. 1 industrial power "and we may reach your level or overtake you one of these days."

"You might even expect some of our cars here in a few years," he added.

Memedov, who is a member of the Russian Embassy staff in Washington, spoke for 90 minutes from the pulpit of the Fountain Street Baptist Church.

Rev. Duncan E. Littlefair, pastor of the church, said it was the first time Memedov has appeared in a U.S. church.

Commenting on religion, Memedov said "The number of churches open in the Soviet Union are enough to serve those who wish to attend."

Most of the churchgoers in Russia are older persons while younger persons like himself do not attend religious services, he said.

The 35-year-old editor's answers to several questions brought laughter from the audience of about 1,000.

Asked what he thought of Author Boris Pasternak's book "Dr. Zhivago" which won the Nobel Prize for literature but was denounced by Russian officials, Memedov said he thought it was "bad literature, a very deceiving book, misleading and far from reality."

"U.S.S.R." has been published in the United States since 1956 as part of the American-Soviet cultural exchange program. The U.S. publishes a similar Russian-language magazine in the Soviet Union.

Kierdorf, Harrelson Unused as Arson Trial Nears End

Genesee County Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke might close his case tomorrow against accused arsonist Jack D. Thompson, with Herman Kierdorf and Leaun Harrelson never having been called as witnesses.

Kierdorf and Harrelson, who police believe know plenty about the human torch burning of Flint Teamster Frank H. Kierdorf but won't talk, appeared likely to end up as only spectators as the Thompson trial concludes its second week at noon tomorrow.

Thompson, 42, is a business agent with Flint Teamsters Local 332. He is charged with aiding the 56-year-old Frank Kierdorf with burning Latrelle Dry Cleaners outside Flint last Aug. 3.

Kierdorf died four days later from burns police believe he received in the fire.

Herman Kierdorf, uncle of Frank, and Harrelson, president of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614, have been indignant since the trial opened March 17, saying they were being made to believe they would testify and were being made to wait because they were Teamsters.

STAY OUTSIDE

They haven't been inside Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth's courtroom except for a brief time on the opening day, after which all subpoenaed witnesses were excluded from hearing testimony.

They frequently queried newsmen as to what was going on inside the courtroom. "What do they want us for?" was a common question by Herman.

Investigators once expressed the belief it was Kierdorf and Harrelson who transported the critically-burned Frank Kierdorf to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after Thompson had taken him as far as a Bloomfield Township truck stop.

Both have denied this. Harrelson more than once has refused a lie detector test, while Herman consented to one with the stipulation no questions would be asked about his activities the time his nephew was left off at the Pontiac hospital.

Investigators and O'Rourke believe that neither Herman or Harrelson would talk on the stand if they were called.

O'Rourke said he had about seven more witnesses to call today and tomorrow before he closed his case. When the trial resumed today before 11 women and three men jurors 35 witnesses had been called.

Yesterday, Walter J. Lougheed, a member of the Flint police identification bureau, testified a set of Thompson's fingerprints found on Frank Kierdorf's station wagon the day after the fire were less than 36 hours old.

Thompson has said he had not been in Kierdorf's car or seen him since Aug. 1 when he left Flint for a weekend at his Grayling cottage.

O'Rourke is expected to encounter some objections from Thompson's attorney, James E. Haggerty Sr., when he attempts to introduce a statement Thompson gave police Aug. 7 explaining his whereabouts immediately before and after the fire.

Grand Rapids Teller Indicted on Takings

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)— A bank teller has been indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of embezzling $70,554 since 1952.

William Smits, 53, of Sparta, the defendant, also was charged yesterday in nine counts of making false entries in bank records to cover the shortage between Jan. 1, 1952 and last Feb. 9.

U.S. Atty. Wendell A. Miles said Smits worked at a branch of the Peoples National Bank of Grand Rapids and its successor, Old Kent Bank & Trust Co. since 1950.

An audit disclosed the shortage. Miles said the amount might be enlarged after further investigation.

A total of 17 true bills of indictment were returned by the grand jury after its two-day session here. Six were supressed for service and two no true bills were reported.

'Enforcing Law Is Job of All'

Pontiac Press Photo

ADDRESSES POLICE COURSE GRADS — Michigan State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs, left, was principal speaker at the final session of a five-day course in traffic law enforcement given by Michigan State University Oakland. He was introduced by Dr. Lowell R. Eklund, director of continuing education at MSUO. There were 20 officers in the class who came from 12 communities in the area. The meeting was held in Bebout's Restaurant, Rochester.

Traffic Officers Hear State Chief

Citizens have definite responsibilities in law enforcement, Joseph A. Childs, Michigan State Police commissioner, told a group of area traffic officers in Rochester yesterday.

Childs said there is "perhaps too much delegation of law enforcement on the part of citizens to agencies" these days.

The State Police chief was speaking to the members of a Michigan State University Oakland class which had just completed a five-day training course in traffic law enforcement.

Elaborating on his subject, the commissioner said there are three ways the average person can accept his responsibilities for law enforcement.

'OBEY HIMSELF'

"First, it is the citizen's duty to obey the laws himself. If this is accomplished, it would do more than all our efforts to bring about a more orderly society," Childs asserted.

"The average person also should cooperate with organized police departments and public officials — both in the suppression of crime and conviction of those who commit it."

The commissioner's third point emphasized the importance of jury duty. He cited the general apathy on the part of citizens "who give all kinds of reasons for shirking this important responsibility."

Childs told the officers they should do all they can to command the respect and cooperation of residents of their respective communities.

To accomplish this, they should talk to service clubs, PTAs, and individual citizens to let them know the local police department needs their help and support.

Dr. Lowell R. Eklund, director of continuing education at MSUO, introduced Commissioner Childs at the noon meeting held at Bebout's restaurant.

DESCRIBES GROWTH

Childs opened his address with a brief history of law enforcement in the United States.

He explained how it grew from the time the early settler was his own law enforcement officer because there was no one to whom he could delegate this responsibility.

As this country's frontiers broadened and some semblance of government was formed, early pioneers used the sheriff form of law enforcement which they brought over from England.

The next step was the "Watch System" where a group of people took turns keeping watch in a village at night.

The present system of law enforcement evolved from the London Metropolitan Police Dept. which the New York police used as a model. Modern agencies are patterned after these early departments.

In conclusion, Childs emphasized that police departments are "service agencies" and that officers should do all they can to earn the support of the people in the communities in which they live.

Youth Guilty in Armed Theft

Rochester Hitchhiker Who Robbed Motorist Awaits Sentencing

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury yesterday convicted a 20-year-old Rochester youth of the armed robbery of $186 from a Madison Heights man he hitched a ride home with March 11.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer remanded Robert J. Sox of 136 Main St. back to the county jail to await sentencing April 2.

Sox was charged with pulling a knife on Robert E. Medenwaldt, 21, of 1215 E. Kalama St., a collector for a Detroit discount company, when Medenwaldt picked up the hitchhiking Sox. The robbery took place as Medenwaldt stopped to let Sox off at home.

It took a jury of nine women and three men only five minutes to deliberate before they returned a verdict of guilty as charged. Only two prosecution witnesses were called during the short one-day trial, Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr. said.

Sox, picked up by police at his home shortly after the robbery, is on probation for unarmed robbery in Mount Clemens, police said.

Youth From Webberville State's 'Star Farmer'

EAST LANSING (AP) — Ronald Hamlin, 18, of Webberville, has been named Michigan's "Star Farmer" for 1959, the top award given youths attending the 31st annual convention of Michigan Chapters of Future Farmers of America (FFA).

Hamlin farmed 45 acres of corn and 14 acres of wheat last year and managed 21 registered Holsteins.

More than 2,000 delegates from 236 Michigan high school FFA chapters are attending meetings at Michigan State University.

Realty Salesman Puts Court Woes to 'High Living'

OAK PARK — Jerome Swartz will have to curb his taste for high living in order to stay out of jail.

The 25-year-old real estate salesman, who lives at 25080 Kenosha St. here, was placed on three year's probation yesterday after pleading guilty to obtaining money under false pretenses.

But what probably will put a crimp in his style is the ruling by Detroit Recorder's Judge George Murphy that he must make restitution of $9,172.

Blaming this troubles on "high living," Swartz admitted making down payments on land he was not authorized to sell.

The newlyweds will reside at 6832 Williams Lake Rd. upon their return from New York next week.

Auto Dealer Janitor Arraigned for Thefts

ROYAL OAK—Samuel Stevson, 31, of 21367 Parkside St., Royal Oak Township, was arraigned here yesterday before Municipal Judge Fletcher L. Renton on a charge of larceny from a building.

He admitted stealing over the past year 28 tires, 16 headlights, 200 gallons each of transmission fluid and motor oil and an estimated 3,800 gallons of gasoline from Matthews-Hargreaves Chevrolet Co., 1616 S. Main St., where he was employed as a janitor, according to Royal Oak Police Capt. Virgil L. Scott.

Part of the loot was recovered at Stevson's home. He has been bound over to Circuit Court for appearance Monday, having waived examination, and is free on a $1,000 bond.

Two Proposals Go on Ballot

Questions in Southfield Concern Water System, Bond Issue for Parks

SOUTHFIELD — There will be two proposals on the ballot in the April 6 election for voter approval here.

For one, residents will be asked to decide whether to acquire the water system which lies within the boundaries of the City of Southfield.

The system now being used primarily by Beverly Village and the city is still legally owned by Southfield Township.

Beverly residents voted March 6 to acquire its portion of the system.

In the other proposal, residents here will be asked for a second time to approve a $375,000 bond issue for parks and recreation purposes.

A bond issue for $450,000 for the same purpose failed to pass in the Nov. 4 election because it lacked 60 per cent of the voters' approval.

Agricultural Imports Gained Heavily in '58

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Foreign Agricultural Service said today the United States imported 512 million dollars worth of livestock, meat, and meat products, excluding wool, during 1958.

This was 78 per cent above 1957 imports and 97 per cent above the 1951-55 average.

The most important factors in this sharp rise were record imports of meat and cattle. Exports, at 287 million dollars, declined 25 per cent from 1957 but rose 9 per cent from the 1951-55 average.

Royal Oak Will Vote on $1 Million Bonds

ROYAL OAK — Property owners in the City of Royal Oak will be asked to approve the purchase of bonds in the amount of $1,000,000 for the purchase of a site and construction of a library building in the April 6 election.

The bond issue, if approved, will cost the average homeowner an additional $2.50 a year in taxes for the next 20 years, said City Clerk Gladys Holmes.

The proposed new library will be 38,000-square feet, all on one floor with a basement. Tentative site chosen for the building is bounded by 11 Mile road, Troy, Second and Williams streets.

Oxford Gunsmith Sees Little Need for Shooting Mishaps

He Treats Firearms Like Familiar Friends

By LEE WINBORN

A craftsman who treats firearms with the familiarity and respect usually reserved for old friends, gunsmith N. John Prior of Oxford Township has a very definite opinion about shooting accidents.

"There would not be nearly as many if people were more familiar with guns," claims the 32-year-old master of his trade.

He diligently continued working on a sheriff's pistol in his shop next door to his home at 3631 Lakeville Rd. while telling how he got into the business.

"I've been around guns all my life. My father (Norris J. Prior of Birmingham) had a large number of firearms at one time —including the only complete collection of Winchester rifles in the world."

Maintenance of the guns—3,500 in all — naturally fell to young Prior. And that early association and training with firearms has stood him in good stead ever since.

"Actually I cut my teeth on a police officer's revolver," Prior confided with a chuckle.

COAL BIN PRACTICE

"And I can still remember when we had a coal furnace in our house. We used to board up the coal bin and use those boards for target practice," he explained.

Prior said he and his family moved to the Oxford area from just outside Seattle, Wash. in 1953.

"I wanted a place where I could have a shop and a range in conjunction with it," he pointed out.

Prior specializes mostly in the repair of firearms, and says he does a lot of restoration work on antique guns.

The Oxford craftsman has several sets of antique pistols of his own, including a set made by Westley Richards, gun manufacturer for Prince Albert of England dating back to about 1840.

Another set of two antique target pistols from Paris comes in a velvet-lined box which also contains all the equipment to replace worn out parts and to fire the matched guns.

The father of five, Prior said his children have also been raised with guns, and as a result have the proper respect for them.

His older girls, Keren, 9, and Kristine, 7, are already accomplished marksmen. They go out on the range with their father two or three times a week.

Six-year-old Dorissa and Kathleen, 5, are still too young to attempt the sport of shooting, and they, like the rest of the children in the family, would no more touch their father's guns "than fly," he said.

The Priors' only son, Rickard, 2, looks like he will follow in his father's and grandfather's footsteps.

'THINKS HE'S BOSS'

"He thinks he's boss of the shop now, and he's not happy unless he's packing his toy cowboy pistol on his hip," said Prior.

But the one member of the family who offers Prior his only stiff competition in shooting is his wife Ruth.

"On our way up the Alcan Highway in Alaska, I decided to teach my wife how to use a 45 pistol, which is not ordinarily a woman's gun. I lined eight cans up on a log and shot five off. I lined them up again for Ruth, and she cleared the log."

"It's the slack season right now," the Oxford man said as he finished repairing the sheriff's pistol, "but when the area sportsmen's clubs are in full swing again, I'll be swamped."

Pontiac Youth Jailed for Having Beer in His Car

AVON TOWNSHIP—A Pontiac youth jailed for having beer in his car was sentenced to pay a $20 fine plus $5 court costs yesterday or spend 15 days in jail, Romeo State Police reported today.

Richard V. Gibson, 20, of 2761 Vendome St. was arraigned before Justice Luther C. Green in Rochester. When unable to pay the fine, he was returned to Oakland County jail to serve out his sentence.

The youth was first noticed by troopers when he failed to stop while turning out of a driveway onto Auburn road here. Further investigation revealed six bottles of beer in his car, police said.

Invite School Officials

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan educators have been invited to attend the 11th annual conference for school board members and school officials April 2 at the University of Michigan.

About 80 per cent of the 60,000,000 passenger automobiles on the road in the nation today are more than two years old and need repairs, according to auto-industry statisticians.

The average age of first fathers in the U.S. has gone from 27 years to 25 during the past 50 years.

'The Babe and I'

By MRS. BABE RUTH with Bill Slocum

(Condensed from "The Babe and I" Copyright, 1958, by Mrs. Babe Ruht and published by Prentice Hall, Inc.)

The Babe's salary battles with Colonel Ruppert were frequent, acrimonious and covered in the press with detail worthy of history-making events.

There was a strong feeling that these battles were publicity stunts.

They were anything but. Christy Walsh, and I, and some of Babe's financially aware friends had made him understand that "The House that Ruth Built" was not just a flowering synonym for the giant Yankee Stadium.

For all of the money Babe made from the Yankees, he didn't get what he deserved.

When he talked of money it might have bored him, but when he thought he was being jobbed he got mad. And his anger was never decreased by the cold knowledge that the Yankees had him over a barrel. He took what they offered or stayed out of baseball.

Col. Ruppert hated these quarrels. He was rich, aristocratic, autocratic and rather baffled that a right fielder who worked two hours a day was worth more than a brewmaster who worked all day.

ONE UP ON HOOVER

In the course of negotiating the 1932 contract, the Colonel said, "Ruth, last year you made more money than President Herbert Hoover."

The Babe's reply was brief: "I had a better year in '31 than Hoover had."

Most of all, Ruppert hated the publicity these contract battles provoked.

The sports writers were often bitterly caustic about some of the Babe's failings, but whether they liked him personally or not they were virtually unanimous in his defense in contract squabbles.

In 1927, W. O. McGeehan expressed an opinion in his New York Herald-Tribune column that was to be echoed by writers for years to come. McGeehan wrote:

"The Colonel was willing to take the chance of granting the Babe a salary of $70,000 a year.

"The Colonel might have been moved to do this by his prospective customers who, when checked in a straw poll, agreed that Ruth should receive anywhere from $100,000 to $200,000 a year."

And if the Colonel could ignore the sports page jibes—and he couldn't—he was further beset by editorials in the staidest of newspapers.

THE FEUD WITH BARROW

The New York Times said: "If the New York club paid Ruth $100,000 a year for life it would not cut too heavily into the millions he drew to its ball park.

"If all the league contributed to such a pension they would be no more than acknowledging a debt far beyond payment."

The Babe's demands embarrassed the Colonel, and the Colonel's refusals infuriated the Babe. But the Babe always felt that the basic problem he faced in dealing with Ruppert was Ed Barrow.

Ed, tough as a hickory nut, wise in the knowledge that baseball law made Ruth helpless in all salary fights, was always set against big salaries for Babe.

Ed's friends said Barrow was without rancor in the matter. He was merely doing his job, which was to run the Yankees as economically as possible.

Babe felt Barrow's attitude was personal. They had fought in Boston and again in New York.

They were bitter fights and the men hated each other.

Yet, in 1948, when the Babe made his last appearance in "The House that Ruth Built" on Babe Ruth Day, he tottered over to embrace his ancient enemy.

Barrow, in his 70s but far stronger and healthier than Babe, received and returned the embrace as it was given—with honesty and enthusiasm.

When Ruppert was dying in 1939, he sent for the Babe. The two men looked at each other and wept. The Babe was terribly depressed when he came home to tell me:

"All Jake could say was 'Babe, Babe.' You know, that was the first time in his life he called me 'Babe'."

CHOSE AUSTERE 'RUTH'

The Colonel had never deigned the friendly familiarity of "Babe" but chose the austere "Ruth." It came out "Root" because Ruppert had a German accent with a few words.

When Babe's skills on the field departed and baseball seemed to have no more use for him he, ironically, managed to make more money out of the game than virtually any player.

The endorsements, books, movies and personal and radio appearances supported him in style and added to his capital reserves.

Yes, the Babe fooled 'em all and died a rich man. The technique of the $50 checks worked.

Tomorrow: The Yankees write him off; he weeps.

Madison Ave. Stickup Men Dress in Style

NEW YORK (AP)—Madison Avenue is a street of distinction.

Even the stickup men there have a certain style.

Take the man who stuck up night club owner Edward Leipzig yesterday.

The man was well-dressed. He wore his camel's hair coat and charcoal brown hat like any night clubber, and left quietly when the club closed.

But he returned, accosted Leipzig in his office and relieved him of $790 in receipts. He noticed a painting on the office wall, done by a friend of the owner.

The holdup man appraised the painting for a moment, then lifted it off the wall and walked off carrying it. Outside the club he hailed a cab and disappeared.

SET FOR STUDY — Scientist at the National Institutes of Health prepares a tissue for laboratory tests in cold vaccine research program.

70 Known—Others Hidden

Just Too Many Cold Bugs

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When you catch a cold, you may call a doctor. But when some 18,000 Washington residents catch a cold, they call the National Institutes of Health.

These 18,000 persons are taking part in a massive research program to find a vaccine against the common cold.

This is one of medical science's most complex tasks, for doctors have discovered that colds are caused not by one virus, but by a multitude of these sub-microscopic disease agents.

So far, they have located 70. Some of these viruses specialize in striking children, others concentrate on adults. Many show up only in the winter, others in warmer weather.

But scientists believe that these 70 viruses account for only half of the nation's colds and other similar respiratory illnesses.

They blame a lot of the sneezes, coughs and sore throats on allergies. Some colds, they say, are probably caused by emotional troubles. Still others are thought to be caused by viruses that haven't been isolated.

Last year a new group of viruses was discovered by scientists at the Bethesda, Md., laboratories of the N.I.H.

This group turned out to be responsible for more respiratory disease among hospitalized Washington children in 1958 than influenza.

In an effort to find other viruses and learn more about the 70 old ones, NIH's Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases is spending more than two million dollars on respiratory disease research.

Every time one of those 18,000 catches a cold, he is supposed to notify a special research team. Swabbings are made of his throat and taken to a laboratory to determine which virus is causing the damage.

Doctors hope this project will establish the viruses that most often strike particular age groups and the time of year they usually attack.

A similar study is being conducted on about 60 small children in a Washington welfare institution. Doctors explain that kids are usually highly susceptible to respiratory infections.

With information gained from these studies, NIH doctors hope they can develop an anti-cold shot that will contain several vaccines, each one aimed at killing a particular virus. They believe that it might be possible to make separate vaccines for children, adolescents and adults.

Falls in February

Dipping Prices on Foods Shackle Living Cost Index

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food prices resumed a gradual decline in February and the nation's living costs came down one-tenth of 1 per cent.

The government has reported that practically every spending category except food went up, but not enough to offset the food decline.

The result was that the Labor Department living cost index edged down in February to 123.7 per cent of the 1947-49 base.

This was still the highest February on record. Living costs were 1 per cent higher than a year ago and only a notch below last November's record.

UP DURING SUMMER

Ewan Clague, Labor Department statistics commissioner, forecast that living costs will stay pretty much the same during early spring but will tend to move up during the summer.

"During the next month or two I don't look for much change," Clague said. "After that, it will depend on the strength of the seasonal rise in good prices."

Clague said in reply to questions that the living cost index has historically tended to rise as production and employment expand after a recession, and more buyers bid for consumer items.

He said this inflationary tendency is not likely to happen, in his opinion, until next year.

Housewives can thank a plentiful supply of hogs and feed corn on the farm as a strong factor in keeping living costs from soaring to a new record.

Prices for bacon, ham and pork chops all declined about 4 per cent between January and February, also influencing other meat prices.

Foods as a group dropped seven-tenths of 1 per cent in February, resuming a decline that had extended five months before being interrupted in January. Foods are 3 per cent below their peak last July.

Prices for housing and most fuels were up in February, as were medical care, gasoline and such assorted items as toilet goods, haircuts, household appliances, TV sets, radios and movie admissions.

In the months ahead prices for fruits and vegetables can be expected to rise.

Clague said they may not increase as much as in the past few years and increases may be tempered in the cost of living totals by still lower prices for meat and other items like automobiles.

Auto dealers are seasonally granting larger discounts, although not so large as last year.

The February living cost decline brings a one-cent hourly pay cut to 80,000 workers. But the change was not enough to alter pay for another 65,000 workers whose wages are similarly geared to February living cost changes.

The Labor Department also reported that factory workers' spendable earnings, or after-tax pay, set a record for the month of February, although they were a few cents lower than in January.

They averaged $78.52 a week for the factory worker heading a family of four and $71.03 for the single worker.

This was about 20 cents below the January weekly average, but about $5, or 7 per cent, above February of last year because of higher pay rates and longer working hours.

Scriptural Backing Boosts Church Fund

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—A minister put the "Multiplied Talents" idea to work, and it paid dividends.

Rev. Max Hickerson, pastor of Central Christian Church, used the scriptural backing in Matthew 25: 14-30 to induce his congregation to multiply a dollar into whatever they saw fit. The members backed him by increasing $250 to $1,000.

One man brought in $45 by spending his dollar for white gloves. He sold them and invested his money in more gloves until he came up with the contribution.

Singer's Husband Faces Sentence for Beating Her

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Helen O'Connell's estranged husband, novelist Thomas Chamales, will be sentenced June 16 for beating her.

He pleaded guilty Wednesday to two counts of battery.

The court ordered Chamales, 45, to remain in a sanitarium and refrain from drinking. He was on probation from a previous conviction for threatening his 38-year-old wife with a knife.

Security for You

Women, Review Rights

By RAY HENRY

Millions of women who haven't worked enough to earn Social Security on their own may claim benefits earned for them by their husbands.

They can get them as mothers, wives or widows.

Take them separately:

MOTHER—A woman whose husband dies leaving her with dependent children may be eligible for a mother's payments, regardless of her age.

A dependent child is any child under 18 or one who was disabled before reaching 18 and has continued to be disabled.

WIDOW—A woman may usually collect Social Security if she's 62 or over and her husband died after working in a job covered by Social Security for a number of years.

In general, she's eligible if she was married to her husband for at least a year or they were the parents of a child.

The monthly payments to a widow are nearly always equal to three-fourths of what her husband would have received had he lived. The range in payments is from $33 to $95.30 a month.

WIFE OF A RETIRED WORKER—A wife who had reached 62 may usually receive Social Security if her husband has retired and is collecting Social Security.

If she doesn't start drawing the payments until after reaching 65, her payments may be equal to one-half of the payments her husband is receiving. The present range is $16.50 to $58 a month.

If she starts collecting between 62 and 65, her payments will be somewhat less than half of what her husband is receiving—the exact proportion depending on her age at the time she starts the payments.

WIFE OF A DISABLED WORKER—The wife of a disabled worker collecting Social Security can usually reveive payments if she is 62 or over. The payments may range from $12.40 to $53.50 a month.

Mexico Reduces Small Car Duty

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The treasury ministry has extended to five more makes of small cars the recently announced import duty reductions, which in some cases amounted to 50 per cent.

Lowered under the new list was the Studebaker Lark VI, two-door sedan. The vehicle will now sell for $2,494 (U.S.).

Also included were various makes of Fiat, Mercedes Benz, including the four-door diesel sedan, Morris and Hillman. Fourteen other cars were subjected to the import-tax and subsequent price reductions last week. Virtually all European and U.S. small cars now have been covered by the tariff slashes.

The treasury ministry took the action to bring small cars within the economic reach of more Mexicans.

At the same time, to stimulate local industry, the ministry issued a mandate to car assembly plants here to begin right away to make "substantial use" of Mexican made parts. General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and Fiat maintain local assembly plants.

At the same time import duties were lowered on small cars, they were boosted on "luxury" models.

For example, the import taxes on a 1959 Cadillac two-door hardtop, have been jacked up from $6,305 (U.S.) to $8,640. The car will sell for around $17,000 in Mexico.

In addition to Cadillac, the luxury-class import duty increases have been applied to the Buick Electra, the DeSoto Adventurer, and various makes of Chryslers, Ferraris, Jaguars, Lancias, Lincolns, Maseratis, the larger Mercedes Benz models, Mercuries, Oldsmobiles, Rolls Royces and the Continental four-door hardtop.

Cars in the middle price range went through an import tariff reshuffle, too, but the ups and downs were practically negligible. Biggest Savoy, which received a $70 (U.S.) reduction.

Imported cars in this field compete against locally assembled General Motors and Ford Models, which are cheaper, although costing approximately twice as much as the same model in the States. It would cost, for instance, $4,320 to import and buy the Plymouth Savoy.

Spokesmen for Ford and Chrysler both indicated they would lower assembly output on their large cars to concentrate on smaller models. Chrysler assembles Citroen locally.

A Ford spokesman said the Lincoln and Mercury Monclair lines would be abandoned, and that assembly of the Ford custom 300, the most popular Ford model., would be stepped up.

As for the treasury ministry ultimatum to increase use of Mexican made parts in local assembly plants, Fiat announced it was already using 70 per cent domestic materials. Ford said its use of nationally manufactured parts has soared 112 per cent in the past year, and that Mexican products worth nearly six million dollars went into 1959 Fords assembled in Mexico.

Expressway Interchanges to Spawn Cities of Tomorrow, Says Expert

By A. F. MAHAN JR.

DETROIT (AP)—The new expressway interchange of today will be the town, maybe the city, of tomorrow.

That's the view of an expert who has been studying interchanges and what they do.

And that expert, Dr. Frank W. Suggitt, also says that with the population growing, the number of cars increasing and superhighways shortening time distances, communities within 50 miles of today's major cities will become commuter cities or suburban satellites.

A developer who agrees is spending millions on the theory and insists "suburbia has just started to develop."

Ross Campbell Sr., the developer, recalls that when Chicago built its North Shore elevated train lines new communities sprung up wherever a station was built.

Just like the superhighways Michigan and other states are building frantically today, the elevated cut traveling time, made it easier to come and go.

Interchange spots that don't become bedroom-commuter towns may become industrial cities, says Dr. Suggitt, who is head of Michigan State University's Department of Resource Development.

Viewing an expressway as something of a magic carpet, Suggitt explains:

"Modern industry, with its rambling ranch-type design, its campus-like landscaped grounds and its need for acres of parking and terminal facilities favors the rural location where land costs and tax rates are lower than in downtown areas."

As a prime example, he cites the Novi-Wixom area on the new U. S. 16 (Grand River) expressway between Detroit and Brighton.

Ford Motor Co. built a 5,000-employe Lincoln-Mercury assembly plant in the area, 23 miles northwest of downtown Detroit, and Suggitt says that "all other factors considered, the proposed construction of the U. S. 16 expressway was the deciding factor in the decision to locate on a site fronting the expressway."

"This decision," he continues, "has set into motion a wave of associated land development that is drastically changing land use, land values, employment and commuting patterns, local government, taxes, schools and every other aspect of life in a 20-mile radius."

Before Lincoln-Mercury dropped into the three miles that separate the towns, Novi had a population of 500, Wixom 400.

Campbell's firm, Thompson-Brown Co., a major Detroit real estate and land developing organization, bought 700 acres of land a half-mile south of the interchange and between once sleepy Wixom and Novi it plans to build 2,000 houses for a population that should reach 7,500. Included in plans, too, are a shopping center and perhaps a motel.

Campbell isn't saying what his company paid for the land, but "it was 40 per cent more than it could have been bought for before the plant and expressway got there."

Up the road eight miles is Brighton, population 1,861. It is there that Superhighway U. S. 16 and Superhighway U. S. 23 will cross—and interchange.

Brighton is a bright prospect to become a city, Suggitt says. Campbell thinks so, too. His firm has acquired 1,000 acres a mile from what will be the interchange.

Commute to Detroit from there?

"Sure," is Campbell's reply. "Nobody ever asks any more, 'How many miles?' it's: "How many minutes?'"

Grand Rapids isn't yet a so-called commuter city. But Campbell is banking it will be. Thompson-Brown has acquired 600 acres at Rockford, 10 miles north on super U. S. 131, and expects to build 600 homes there.

Rockford had a population of 1,937 in 1950.

Grand Rapids, in Campbell's view, has expanded by bits and pieces and hasn't learned to commute yet on a wide scale. Campbell thinks it will.

Describing them as "the nuclei for the community of tomorrow," Suggitt says "a number of major expressway interchanges can be identified for economic growth," adding:

He tabbed expressway intersections at Clare, Holland, Flatrock, Marshall, Brighton and Fenton as "significant in that these sites mark entirely new nuclei for the development of commercial and business centers, residences, transshipment depots and warehouses, recreational and traveler service facilities."

Less Ground Needed for 'Floating School'

NEW YORK (AP)—A 22-room elementary school in New Orleans appears to float in midair without visible means of support. It provides facilities for 800 students on less than one-sixth the ground usually required for schools.

Steelways, official publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute, says architect Charles R. Colbert mixed fantasy with economy in developing the Phillis Wheatley School. The building has elevated classrooms on either side of a series of bare steel trusses, 12 feet above the ground.

The magazine says this type of construction required 10 per cent more steel, but cut overall building costs by 15 per cent.

Going Strong at 99

MILVERTON Ont. (AP)—Richard Coulter, who has just celebrated his 99th birthday, still lives on the farm on which he was born. He spends as much time as possible out of doors, but reads his newspaper and the Bible every day.

Unions Expected to Win Wage Boosts Averaging 5 Pct. This Year

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Unions are going to win another good stiff series of wage boosts in 1959. The probable average gain: five per cent, plus a sizable chunk of fringe benefits.

But despite the strong talk of big strikes, union leaders privately are trying to figure out some way to edge around any major walkouts. They don't think the men would go for them this year.

These are the conclusions of an NEA Service survey of major unions and their wants and a study of management reactions.

According to some of the Eisenhower Administration's economists, this five per cent wage gain will be a boost toward higher prices and inflation in late 1959 and in 1960.

According to union economists, the companies should be able to take the wage gains out of profits.

Union leaders say frankly that this is a year when they can get what they want.

Businessmen in most cases — despite public protestations — are not inclined to face long shutdowns. They want to keep cut in on this year's prosperity after the recession of 1957-58.

Business will fight these wage gains. Management will protest that wage gains inevitably will mean higher prices. They'll counterattack with protests against featherbedding. But in the end they'll give in to sizable labor demands.

That isn't to say there won't be a short strike in steel, while both sides convince their supporters they've done the best they possibly could.

But the steel men will get their wage raise. And so will workers in other major industries with contracts up for negotiation this year. These include rubber, apparel, metal mining, aluminum, meat packing, container manufacturing, railroad and electrical workers.

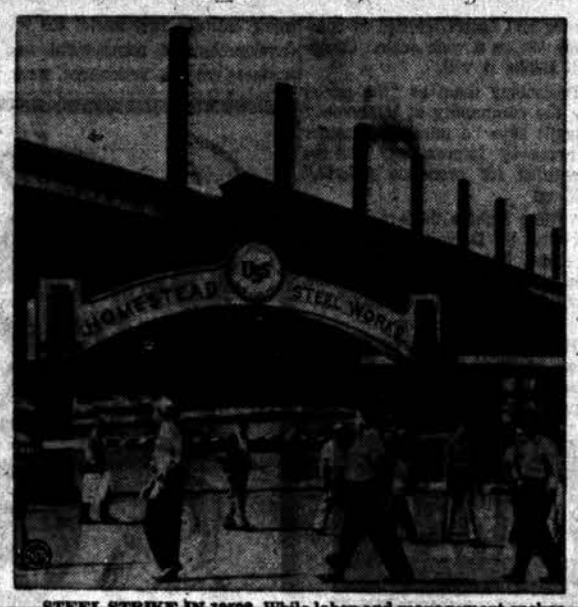
Special or fringe benefits are the things to watch this year. Says one union man:

"A lot of our members have learned that wage gains are wiped out quickly, especially when you hit inflation. But longer vacations, better medical care, a shorter work week, better retirement payments . . . these are solid, permanent gains."



STEEL STRIKE IN 1959? While labor and management spokesmen can't say so publicly, they agree privately that any steel strike this year will be a short one.

The hefty International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers is spearheading the drive for the 35-hour work week, now touted officially by the whole AFL-CIO.

"We're already getting shorter hours in some of the contracts we've signed so far this year," says one IBEW official. Eventually, the Electrical Workers want to get the work week down to 30 hours. But right now they're signing up for anything they can get under 40.

The powerful International Association of Machinists is pushing hard for severance pay for workers laid off when plants shut down or cut back production. Says a spokesman:

"We don't blame the big aircraft and missile companies when they lay off several thousand men at a whack after the government cancels a contract. And we don't blame the government for cancelling contracts to save money. But we figure they owe it to the laid-off workers to give them something to get by on."

The Machinists are also out to get moving cost compensation for laid off workers who have to shift to another city to get work.

The railway unions would like to get out of management an agreement to keep maintenance at a level higher than this past year and at an all-year-round rate. That's so more men will be employed, and for 12 months of the year.

The energetic Teamsters want to get their strong new pension system—already adopted in parts of the U. S.—spread through the rest of the country. One basic aim: when a Teamster shifts from one company to another, from one city to another, he can carry his pension rights with him.

Though they have no major contracts coming up this year, the United Auto Workers are ready to begin a drive to force employers—and the government—to put up sizable amounts of money for training laid-off auto workers in new occupations.

Some union men fear that some 300 to 400 thousand may never be employed again in the automobile industry.

These major issues—a shorter work week, longer vacations, wider company-paid medical coverage, pension systems the worker can take with him from company to company, separation pay, free retraining—are being sought in one form or another by a wide range of unions this year.

Union leaders are confident. "With the high profits they're making, they'll have a hard time knocking down our requests," says one top union official. His words are echoed in one form or another by all of the union men NEA Service interviewed.

41 States Can Execute Women

California Dooming of Mrs. Duncan 1st Since Barbara Graham

NEW YORK (AP) — Forty-one states and the District of Columbia sanction the death penalty for convicted criminals. But only nine states have executed a woman in recent years.

California is one of the nine, and its last experience with a woman in its gas chamber was so distasteful that a legislative effort now is under way to abolish capital punishment.

But, ironically, it was the state of California that Tuesday became the latest to doom a woman to death. She is Elizabeth Duncan, whose jealous love of her 30-year-old son drove her to promise two men $6,000 to kill her daughter-in-law.

It was the 1955 execution of Barbara Graham, 32, in the San Quention prison gas chamber that sickened many Californians on capital punishment.

A prostitute turned robber, she died with two professional robbers for the murder of a 63-year-old Burbank, Calif., widow in a robbery attempt. The case formed the basis for a current movie, "I Want to Live,' starring Susan Hayward.

After Miss Graham's death, Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown, now governor of California, was moved to declare: "This business today has been like some dark memory out of the Roman Coliseum.

"I hope Barbara Graham will be the last woman to be executed in the state of California."

New York, probably, has executed more women than any other state—eight by state decree and a ninth by mandate of the federal government. The latter was a participant with her husband in one of the most infamous cases in American history—the Rosenberg atomic spy case.

Ethel Rosenberg went with her husband Julius to Sing Sing's electric chair June 19, 1953. She died with no display of emotion.

Arizona Dem Committee Corrects Political Error

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP) — The Arizona Democratic Committee mailed out a list of state and county candidates.

The committee urged, "Speak for the, vote for them and take this card to the polls with you."

The committee urged support of K. W. Holbrook for county supervisor.

Holbrook is a Republican.

Lana Turner, 'Miss Aching Heart of 1958'

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Lana Turner has never won an Oscar. But if there were an award being handed out for "Miss Aching Heart of 1958," she'd win in a breeze. It was understandable, then, that she make one pre-interview request: No questions about Johnny Stompanato.

The issue was skirted . . . In the light of her personal problems, did she ever regret the dubious honor of being a Hollywood glamor queen?

Only momentarily, Lana looked troubled. A frown crossed the beautiful brow like a sudden thought, and vanished. "No," she said, "I can't really say that the movie business has had anything to do with any troubles I've had.

"As for my personal life, I'm sure fate has had my script written out for me.

"I'm very grateful to the business, matter of fact. It's true that people know practically every move you're making — or they make it up. And I've resented some of the writers — although they were only doing their jobs — but never the public, and never the industry."

Miss Turner was seated, looking quite small and incredibly young, on a divan in a hotel suite. It was her first New York interview since wartime when she was on the road selling bonds.

Somehow or other the one-time sweater girl had never before been required to follow the tradition of lesser movie stars—going through the strenuous publicity routine of opening a movie.

And somehow or other, now she is doing it for her new film, "Imitation of Life."

She arrived with 212-pounds airlines overweight, all in exquisite clothes. The object is to revive the lost "glamor" of the movie queen business, which lately has disintegrated, sometimes to the depths of blue jeans.

"When my group started," she smiled, "we had a thrill in dressing up. The Hollywood kids today couldn't care less."

Since she was discovered at a soda fountain sipping something that cost a nickel, Miss Turner has encountered a rarely duplicated strata of professional success, and with it, a variety of personal tragedy which, if filmed, would be termed "a four-handkerchief picture."

She has no real self-pity, though she concedes that she hasn't had all the "luck" in the world. "I've had my unlucky moments. There are times when if I had a cat, I'd kick it."

But taking a hypothetical case, she pondered what she would do if her 16-year-old daughter, Cheryl Crane, should be offered a movie contract and an opportunity to be a glamor queen:

"I don't think I'd stand in her way," Lana said, after sober contemplation of a cup of coffee. "I'd tell her to be careful, and wish her luck.

"Then I believe I would try to make her feel the importance of doing a good job — rather than taking it as a lark, as I did.

"Oh, I had a high old time at the beginning. Young, cute kid having a fling. It wasn't till I made 'Ziegfeld Girl' that I decided I had to prove I was more than a clothes horse, and got to work acting."

For a four-hanky woman, Lana Turner is amazing. She has maintained a young, even an innocent, face. There are two reasons — "a belief in a supreme power that is there when called upon," and "a feeling that life is pretty good."

Like her latest movie, she says, "It has some wonderful moments."

Seek Gunman Near Portland

Ex-Convict Shot One Police Chief, Kidnaped Another Briefly

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The search for a gunman continued here today, but police fear he may have gotten out of town the way he got in — by abducting a motorist.

Police conducted a futile block-by-block search of rainy downtown streets Wednesday night for Richard Allen Hunt, 27, a dairy worker from near Harrisburg, Ore.

The manhunt began after a police chief was kidnaped and held briefly at Harrisburg Tuesday. Another chief was shot later at Brownsville.

More than 100 men were pressed into the search of timbered hills, but that quest was called off after a motorist, Allie Derrick of Mill City, reported he was forced at gunpoint to drive a young man to Portland.

Detective Prescott Hutchins said police were posted at airports, railroad stations and bus depots.

"I doubt if he could get out that way," the detective said. "He might have gotten out of town the same way he got in. He could climb into the first car with a driver in it, and be going yet."

Hunt, a blond ex-convict, has been charged with kidnaping and assault with intent to kill in connection with the abduction of Ernest McPhee and the shooting of Robert Kemnow.

Sorry, Charlie, It Was Your Pa Liked Paw Paws

NAPPANE, Ind. (AP)—The Nappanee Advance-News came out with this correction after printing a story about the popularity of paw paw fruit:

"It is not Charles Lehman who is the old-time paw paw fan. The paw paw veteran is Frank Lehman, Charles' father. Charles doesn't even like paw paws."

Trade Tools Missing

The death rate from heart disease in the U. S. has risen from 355.5 to 361.8 per 100,000 population since 1950.

South America is the fourth largest continent. It is nearly 2,000,000 square miles smaller than North America.

School on Aegean Islands Trains Teenage Sculptors

By VASSO MINGOS

TINOS ISLAND (AP) — An art school for teenagers—probably the only educational institution of its kind in the world—has been operating in a remote village of this Aegean island for the last three years.

The pupils, now numbering around 40, are village youngsters who have shown a marked artistic inclination. They come mainly from Pyrgos, the village where the school has been established, and from a neighboring village, Ysternia.

It may seem odd that two villages, separated from the nearest center of culture — Athens — by nearly 100 miles of sea, should turn out enough budding talents to fill an art school.

But the answer lies in the marble quarries abounding in the neighborhood of the villages. Famed since ancient times, these quarries yield a variety of marbles — green, white, black. Also the celebrated ophite, or serpentine marble.

The western part of the island where the villages of Pyrgos and Ysternia are located is arid. Because of this, practically the entire male populations of those two villages had from time immemorial engaged in marble working.

Not only did they extract the marble and ship it to distant lands, but they also sculpted. They sculpted intricate designs into altars, pulpits, reredos, episcopal thrones. They made whole belfries out of marble.

Raised to the level of a fine art through hundreds of years of practice, their craft was handed down from generation to generation. Samples of it adorned churches throughout Orthodox Christendom, as far afield as Rumania, Bulgaria and Russia.

When Greece was reborn as a nation in the 1820's after 400 years of Turkish bondage, its first sculptors and painters came from Tinos Island.

Ghizi, Renieri, Latra, Sokhos, Halepas, Phitali, Vitali, Philippotis — to mention but a few of the splendid artists of those days, who left a name in the history of art — were the sons of humble marble-workers of Pyrgos and Ysternia. In them all, the artistic bent was inborn. All it needed to blossom into articulate talent was some training in foreign art schools.

There is a potential artist in practically every Pyrgos and Ysternia youngster. Nothing makes him happier than the gift of a hammer and chisel with which to carve a marble block.

The Greek Parliament passed a law permitting the setting up of a teen-age art school at Tinos to prevent all that potential talent from going to waste.

The law was passed in 1943 under Education Minister Nicholas Louvaris (now a Professor at Athens University). But it was not until the fall of 1955 that the school was formed, thanks to the efforts of Member of Parliament, Paris Liaroutsos. The art school was set up in his native village, Pyrgos.

It is housed in a primary school building dating back to Kapodistria, modern Greece's first ruler (1830).

The school admits pupils who have completed their primary studies and passed an entrance examination which determines if they have talent.

STUDY IN ATHENS

The school's tuition extends over a three-year course. A teaching staff of four instructs the teenage students in elements of drawing, sculpting and the technique of marble-carving. There is also a theoretical course on the history of art and ancient mythology.

In July, the Pyrgos Teenage Art School turned out its first batch of graduates.

The top three got scholarships that will enable them to pursue their art studies at the Athens School of Fine Arts.

A further scholarship providing for still higher training at a foreign art school awaits any of the Tinos lads who will graduate with top honors from the Athens school.

Both the operating expenses of the Pyrgos Art School, and financing of the scholarships, are provided by Tinos' Evanghelistria Sanctuary Fund.

This Sanctuary houses an icon of the Holy Virgin found on the island at the start of the Greek Independence War (1821). It is from the donations left by the tens of thousands of pilgrims visiting the Sanctuary yearly that are drawn the funds that pay for the tuition of Tinos' budding talents.

Huge AF Jet Fuel Tank Ignited by Lightning

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A 4,200,000-gallon tank containing jet fuel was ignited by lightning Wednesday night at an Air Force fuel depot, but the fire was put out with chemicals in 30 minutes.

The lightning ignited fumes which surrounded the tank but the fire didn't get hot enough to set off the jet fuel, the damage was slight.

Hen Chases Cat, Brings Up Her Litter of Kittens

MESQUITE, Tex. (AP)—A hen has kicked out Blackie, the cat, and taken over raising Blackie's kittens.

The kittens have learned to answer the Leghorn's clucking.

Mrs. Alton Terry, owner of the confused group, told the Dallas News the hen is making a good home for the kittens.

When the kittens leave the nest for a minute, other hens peck at them. The Leghorn flies into the offending chickens in a fit of rage.

Blackie shouldn't be surprised by such antics. She was one of the litter of five kittens the goofy Leghorn raised last year.

Gen. Thomas S. Power became commander of SAC in July, 1957, succeeding Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, who became deputy chief of staff for the Air Force.

Panic on Fish Eases in East

Poison Death, Illnesses Are Traced to Single Wholesale Distributor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The death of a three-year-old boy who had eaten poisoned fish touched off an alert Wednesday night that spread fear throughout the East for several hours.

Later, a statement from federal food inspectors indicated the bad fish was confined to a relatively small amount in the Philadelphia area.

The Donald Kleinschmidt family, both parents and four young children, were stricken ill at their home in nearby Haddon Heights, N.J., after eating a fish dinner Tuesday night.

Dale, 3, the youngest, died shortly after admission to Cooper Hospital in Camden. Two brothers and a sister were seriously stricken.

Representatives of the U.S. food and Drug Administration were informed Wednesday of the cause of the youngster's death. Laboratory analyses of the family's dinner indicated a high content of sodium nitrite, a poison, which in much smaller quantities is sometimes used as a preservative for meats.

Meanwhile, three women had suffered attacks of food poisoning after eating fish in a Philadelphia restaurant Tuesday night.

Robert C. Stanfill, local director of the federal food agency, said his inspectors quickly traced the fish, in both instances fileted fluke and flounder, to a single wholesale distributor in Philadelphia.

The city health department meanwhile had issued a warning on a teletype service which reaches newspapers, radio and television stations in the area.

The first report said "all flounder purchased yesterday and today is poisonous" and should be destroyed.

Radio and television programs brought the news at the dinner hour to homes where the Lenten meal was being prepared or had already been eaten. Telephone calls poured into stations, papers and city agencies.

Stanfill's office later announced the tainted fish had been traced to a single wholesaler and that its distribution was confined to Philadelphia, its suburbs and nearby points in southern New Jersey.

Red Books Circulate

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has a special state organization to distribute its publications abroad with the name "Mezhdunarodnaya Kniga" or "International Book." Its circulation list this year includes more than a thousand Soviet newspapers and magazines and 16,000 book titles which officials of the agency say are now being distributed to purchasers in 68 countries.

Hollywood Headlines

'Great Lover' Says Films Going Too Far These Days

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Do the love scenes in today's movies go too far? Ramon Novarro, one of the great screen lovers of the past thinks so.

"There is nothing left to the imagination," said the still-handsome Latin. "They show you everything—almost. I don't think that is right.

"It was different in the old days. Our pictures made suggestions, but we left something for the audience to imagine.

"Movies should be an escape for people. They should be able to lose themselves in the characters on the screen by using their imaginations. They miss that in today's movies. Everything is spelled out for them.

"I remember a love scene Garbo and I did in 'Mata Hari.' It was shot in the dark with only two cigarettes glowing. You didn't know whether we were in bed or on a couch or what. Ah, that was movie-making!"

Novarro has come back to the movies after a nine-year absence from the screen. Oddly, he is returning to play a heavy—the ruler of a frontier town in "Heller With a Gun." Long a film hero, he got his first push toward stardom as the villain in "Prisoner of Zenda" in 1921.

Why is he back?

"Because I was bored," he admitted. "I had been devoting myself to my real estate holdings in the San Fernando Valley and my 50-acre ranch near San Diego. I finally gave up trying to make the ranch pay, and I sold it. Now I want to do just enough acting to keep my mind busy."

Now 59, Novarro is one of the few stars who worked his way up through the extra ranks. He started in 1917, working in Cecil B. De Mille films on the old Paramount lot.

After 15 years of stardom, his career faded in 1935. He explained why:

"MGM wouldn't let me grow up. I told them, 'I'm 35 years old! How can I still be playing football for Yale?' But they wouldn't listen to me."

Face Cuts Only Injuries as Boy Falls 3 Floors

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A 2½-year-old boy fell to the sidewalk from the third floor of an apartment house Wednesday but escaped with facial cuts.

Gerald Wayne Lee fell out of a window when the screen gave way. The screen came down too and apparently cushioned Gerald's fall.

Becker Team Wins at Cards

Comes From Far Behind to Capture National Bridge Honors

SEATTLE (AP) — Recovering from a serious deficit at the halfway mark, a team led by B. Jay Becker of New York staged a brilliant rally in the second half to win the Vanderbilt trophy of the National Spring Bridge Tournament Wednesday night.

The Becker team defeated a team captained by Charles H. Goren, also of New York, by 20 International Match Points in the final 18 hands after trailing by six IMPs. One IMP is equal to 100 points in rubber bridge.

It was the sixth time that Becker had won the top event of the American Contract Bridge League.

The victory made Becker's team the United States representative in the 1960 Olympiad to be played in Rome next January.

In addition to its captain, the Becker team is composed of George Rape and Tobias Stone of New York; John R. Crawford and Sidney Silodor of Philadelphia and Norman Kay of Merchantville, N.J.

Stone, a top member of Becker's team, received permission to play in the competition only a day before the Vanderbilt battle began. He had been barred from play by the league for alleged misconduct.

The double-elimination Vanderbilt competition began a week ago with 80 teams.

'I Will Do My Best . . .'

DENVER (AP)—Despite an 80 per cent loss of hearing since birth because of an impaired nerve, Tom Griffiths, 15, won his Eagle Scout badge. It takes 30 merit badges in Boy Scout work to get the Eagle award and Tom has 32.

FOOD TOWN

GRAPEFRUIT LADY — Centerpiece for ladies' luncheon is made with grapefruit. The plump fruit will keep you slim and trim because it is low in calories and good for you.

Grapefruit Lady Comes All Dressed Up to Party

Grapefruit should be plump and heavy but fair ladies shouldn't. Our beflowered and beribboned grapefruit gal makes a cute centerpiece for an Easter table or for a springtime ladies' luncheon.

Salads and fruit cups made with grapefruit and oranges help keep people slim because of their low calorie content. Their pleasing looks and refreshing taste keep you from missing more fattening foods, and the fruit is good for you, too, because it provides plenty of vitamin C and natural energy.

Our grapefruit gal is easy to make. Invert a stemware water glass and place a nice round grapefruit on the base. Fashion her spring hat with real or artificial flowers which can be pinned directly into the fruit. Artificial eyelashes, available at cosmetic counters, stick easily with their own adhesive and give her a demure look. Cut lips from red tape.

A round doily gives her this season's big-collar look; try the lacy kind for a frillier affect. Add buttons or bows for the final touch, and you'll have a real conversation piece. Directions for preparing grapefruit to eat follow.

Florida Grapefruit Halves

Cut grapefruit in half; remove core if desired. Cut around each section loosening fruit from membrane. Remove sections; cut out dividing membrane. Add orange sections to grapefruit sections. Spoon into grapefruit shells.

Citrus Fruit Cup

2 grapefruit
3 oranges
3 to 4 strawberries, sliced

Chill fruit before preparing. To section grapefruit and oranges, cut off peel in circular motion, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane. Go over fruit again, removing any remaining white membrane.

Cut along side of each dividing membrane from outside to middle of core. Remove section by section over bowl, to retain juice from fruit. Spoon into cups. Garnish with sliced strawberries. Yield: 6 servings.

Citrus Salad

2 grapefruit
3 oranges
1 cup strawberries, sliced

Chill fruit before preparing. Cut off grapefruit and orange peel in circular motion, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane. Go over fruit again, removing any remaining white membrane. To section grapefruit, cut along side of each dividing membrane from outside to middle of core. Cut oranges into slices. Arrange fruit in groups on salad plate. Yield: 6 servings.

Ginger Flavors Baked Oranges

Temple oranges make handsome desserts. Their skin zips back easily just like that of tangerines and each section is plump, juicy and flavorful. You can loosen the sections at the center and serve as a simple dessert to eat out of hand or make glamorous spiced orange blossoms.

This recipe is Oriental in feeling, flavored as it is with crystallized ginger.

Spiced Orange Blossoms

6 Temple oranges
6 pieces crystallized ginger
2 cups sugar
1¼ cups water
½ cup vinegar
½ teaspoon whole cloves
3 3-inch pieces stick cinnamon

Wash oranges. Make 6 vertical cuts in skin of each orange from the blossom end to about 1-inch from the bpottom; pull peel down and turn the pointed ends in. Remove white membrane. Loosen sections at the center and pull apart slightly. Stuff center with crystallized ginger.

Combine sugar, water, vinegar, cloves and cinnamon in large skillet; stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Place oranges in skillet. Cover and cook over low heat 1 hour, basting frequently. Chill in syrup. Serve as a relish. Yeild: 6 servings.

Canned Chicken Is Quick

Giving a luncheon today? Make chicken salad using 1 or 2 cans (5 ounces each) boned chicken. Add celery, minced onion and mayonnaise. Season to taste. Serve salad in peach halves on crisp greens. Garnish with slivered toasted almonds.

To make hamburgers uniform in size, use an ice cream scoop to measure them. Then flatten them out with a wide spatula.

Rich Biscuits Have Sharp Cheese Crust

Jon's Biscuits

1 package (10 ounces) Southern-style biscuit mix
1 cup heavy cream
¼ cup milk
2 tablespoons grated Romano or Parmesan cheese
Paprika

Spoon into buttered muffin-pan wells (each well about 1¾ inches across top and ¾ inch deep). Sprinkle each biscuit top with ¼ teaspoon cheese and a light drift of paprika.

Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned on top. Remove from pans at once and serve. These are so rich they do not need butter and they shouldn't be broken apart. Makes 24.

Keep Cabbage Red

Recipes for red cabbage usually include some tart apple or a little vinegar because an acid helps to retain the attractive color of the cabbage.

Soup Mix Base Eases Shrimp Salad Making

Many a meatless dish that starts out as a Friday special becomes such a family favorite that it finds a permanent place in your recipe collection. Such a recipe is this one for Tomato, Noodle and Shrimp Salad. Accompanied by hot vegetables, it proves to be an ideal main dish.

The interesting thing about this salad is that it features a handy package of tomato vegetable soup mix. This provides an extra plus of nutritional value as well as adding flavor and color to the salad.

This is an easy salad to make. You begin by cooking the noodles according to directions on the package. Then stir the tomato vegetable soup into boiling water for a 10-minute simmering period. After cooling this, combine noodles, soup, hard-cooked eggs, celery, cucumber and seasoning.

This mixture is then tossed lightly in on Italian style salad dressing and chilled. At the last moment stir in sour cream and serve.

Tomato, Noodle and Shrimp Salad

4 ounces shell noodles
1 package tomato-vegetable soup mix
1½ cups boiling water
4 hard-cooked eggs, diced
1½ cups cooked shrimp, cut-up
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped cucumber
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup Italian or French Dressing
1 cup sour cream

Cook noodles according to package directions. Simmer tomato-vegetable soup in boiling water 10 minutes. Cool. In a large bowl combine needles, soup, eggs, shrimp, celery, cucumber, salt and pepper. Toss lightly with Italian or French Dressing and chill in refrigerator. Just before serving stir sour cream into salad. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Turkeys, Ham Star as Easter Bargains

Hats, bunnies, eggs and dinner will have an important place in the Easter parade this week. Ham and turkey are in strong competition for the meat on your menu, the MSU Marketing Agent reports. Although rains in Florida have delayed harvest of some fresh vegetables and citrus, you will find good supplies of sweet and white potatoes, cauliflower, broccoli and lettuce. Large size eggs are specially priced for the egg coloring project.

WHICH WILL IT BE? Which meat will you choose for the elegant Easter dinner? You will find a wide price range, but it is possible to choose ham or turkey for as little as 40 cents per pound.

Notice that ham is sold as a whole, half or portion. The meaty center slices are removed from the portion.

You may wish to check canned ham prices. The large canned ham will cost less per pound than the small size. You can count on 4 servings per pound from canned ham for there is no bone or skin. The labels on canned ham are your guide for refrigeration and cooking instructions.

"Fully cooked" and "Ready-to-eat" are words to look for when buying ham. Fully cooked means just that, but most people will agree that fully cooked hams have better flavor and are safer to eat if you heat them all the way through before serving. This usually takes about ten minutes per pound in a 300 degree oven.

"Ready-to-eat" ham has been partly cooked by the processor, but for the homemaker, these words really mean the ham is ready to cook. The National Livestock and Meat Board recommends a 300 degree oven for smoked pork and 15 to 25 minutes per pound for smoked ham, depending upon the size.

For a half ham the time recommended is 25 to 30 minutes per pound. If you have a meat thermometer, smoked pork is done at 160 to 170 degrees.

There is a turkey to fit your family size. Tom turkeys of all breeds run heavier than hens, and the big toms are usually the most economical. For example, a broad-breasted bronze tom that weighs about 16 pounds is about 60 per cent meat, while a 24 pound tom is about 56 per cent meat.

Even though you can find small size turkeys for the same price per pound as large toms this week, the meat from the large bird will cost less.

Low Easter prices for turkeys are related to two facts: 57 per cent more have been hatched since last September than a year earlier, and more turkeys than usual were left in cold storage after the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

FROM THE PRODUCE DEPARTMENT — Potatoes, white or sweet, will complement the meat in the menu. Sweet potatoes are lower in price than a year ago for supplies are larger. Choose sweet potatoes at average prices of 8 to 10 cents a pound, or white potatoes at 2 to 7.

Have you noticed the trend toward cello-wrapped cauliflower? Head sizes are more uniform and there is less damage to the tender flowerets from handling.

Asparagus is lower as supplies continue to increase.

Large supplies of lettuce are available now as both Arizona and California are harvesting large quantities.

EGGS FOR EASTER — It's been a long time since large size Grade A eggs have been sold at the special prices you find this week. You can be more generous when buying for the "egg hunt," the table centerpiece or for eating.

White shelled eggs dye in clear bright colors. Brown or speckled shells give unusual color effects.

Edible Flowers Decorate Ham

What is it going to be this year—a juicy leg of lamb with mint sauce; a stuffed roast turkey, (the newest idea for Easter); or the good old standby, baked ham? We are wavering between the last two but think we shall settle for ham.

Ham is always a featured special on meat counters this week. You will have your choice of size and kind. If there are just two of you, serve a center ham slice. Small families can easily eat up half a ham since there are so many excellent ways of serving leftover ham.

This year's precooked hams are interesting. You may find them bedecked with a nosegay-printed foil wrapper. These hams are boneless and fully cooked, but have been specially processed to retain the natural ham shape.

Called Hostess Hams, they come in 8 to 12 pound packages. Count on four servings to the pound. Check the label for cooking directions, but plan on 2½ to 3½ hours for the whole ham.

If you decide on a cook-before-eating type of ham, glaze it inside a foil wrapper. This is a new idea, but one worth trying. The foil holds in the flavor. Note that a higher oven temperature is called for with this method.

Ham Baked In Foil

Place ham on large sheet of 18-inch wide heavy duty aluminum foil. Brush liberally with ½ cup pineapple juice combined with 1 teaspoon each, dry mustard and ginger and ¼ teaspoon cloves. Pad bone ends with folded pieces of foil.

Wrap ham by bringing ends of foil up until they meet and overlap them 3 to 4 inches. Smooth down over sides of ham. Bring underneath foil up over top piece and press snugly. It should extend up at least 3 inches above bottom of pan to hold juice. No need to seal. Half ham is wrapped the same, using smaller piece of foil and half of the pineapple spice mixture.

Place wrapped ham in shallow pan in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.). Bake whole ham 16 minutes per pound; half ham, 18 minutes per pound.

To glaze ham, remove from oven, fold back aluminum foil wrap and spoon out melted fat. Remove rind from ham, score fat in diamond pattern with sharp knife. Brush with ½ cup pineapple juice combined with ½ cup brown sugar and return ham to oven until very lightly glazed.

To decorate ham, remove from oven. Cut stems for flowers from green pepper. Make blossoms by cutting canned pineapple into small rings, cutting kumquats and maraschino cherries in half. Arrange on ham to form gay bouquet, holding in place with toothpicks.

Brush with a little additional pineapple-brown sugar mixture and return to the oven until fruit and ham are glazed to perfection. Remove toothpicks immediately and transfer to serving tray, lifting ham with the foil. Crimp the foil attractively around the ham to form an attractive border.

Here are a couple of other glazes that may appeal to you. One article we read while preparing to write this said to keep the glaze free from fat if you want it really to sparkle.

Use only half the glaze mixture for the first application. Further applications are made with the remaining glaze. Do not spoon it up from the bottom of the pan.

Apricot Glaze

1 cup firmly packed brown sugar.
1 can (12 oz.) apricot nectar.
½ cup honey.
½ teaspoon cloves.

Blend together and pour half over scored ham. Baste with remaining liquid.

Curried Orange Glaze

1 cup orange juice.
2 teaspoons cornstarch.
2 teaspoons lemon juice.
2 tablespoons brown sugar.
¼ teaspoon curry powder.
2 tablespoons grated orange peel.

Gradually add orange juice to cornstarch. Then combine with lemon juice, brown sugar, curry and orange peel. Stir and simmer over low heat for five minutes or until clear and thickened. Pour over ham.

TABLE BOUQUET — Not all the flowers need be in the garden or blossoming on hats during the Easter season. Try your hand at arranging fruit flowers on beautiful foil-baked ham to grace your holiday dinner table or spring buffet. The foil wrapper helps keep the flavor of the glaze where it will do the most good.

Tang of Lemon Good in Cookies

For that extra special treat at your next party, whether it's the youngster's birthday or a friend's wedding anniversary, here's a cookie recipe that will be a hit. The cookies are small enough to serve with fruit or ice cream, but hearty enough to be a snack by themselves.

Lemon Pecan Cookies

¾ cup butter or margarine
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 cups flour
1 cup chopped pecans

Cream the shortening, add the sugar, and cream thoroughly. Add the eggs, lemon juice and blend well. Add the flour and nuts. Mix well.

Shape into small balls, place on greased cookie sheets and flatten to ⅛ inch thickness. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees 8 to 10 minutes or until browned. Yield: 5½ dozen cookies.

Unsalted Butter

Some cooks like to keep a little unsalted butter on hand and use it for greasing cookie and cake pans; the absence of salt makes removing the foods easy and the butter gives good flavor.

Sing a Song of Spring With Salads

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Spring time is salad time. With the coming of warmer weather we enjoy lighter meals which means salads come into greater prominence.

We have noticed that salad greens like Bibb lettuce are a little cheaper in price now. Lettuce—the head variety—is very reasonable. It has been good this year, too.

Incidentally, we have had good luck keeping it in a plastic bag outside the regular hydrator; not a speck of rust since we've kept it that way.

How about a Tuna-Avocado salad that's a color symphony in green, white and gold? This hearty salad gains an exotic taste from just a bit of curry powder.

Tuna-Avocado Salad

½ cup finely cut celery
1 can (6½-7 ounces) solid pack, tuna, drained
1 avocado, scooped into balls or diced
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons pineapple juice
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon curry powder

Mix celery, tuna, and avocado. Combine remaining ingredients. Pour over tuna mixture. Mix lightly. Serve chilled. Yield: 4 servings.

Variation: Add ½ cup pineapple chunks or tidbits.

If you are serving turkey for Easter, you might like this molded salad loaf as a way to use some of the leftover meat. It's a two-layer salad with bright cranberry sauce in the other layer.

Jellied Cranberry Turkey Loaf

Cranberry layer:

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 can (1-lb.) whole cranberry sauce
1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple
½ cup broken walnuts
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Soften gelatin in cold water, dissolve over hot water. Add remaining ingredients. Turn into a 10x6x1½-inch loaf pan. Chill until firm.

Turkey layer:

1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatine
¾ cup cold water
¾ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Grated rind of ½ lemon
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups diced leftover cooked turkey
½ cup diced celery

Soften gelatin in ¼ cup cold water; dissolve over hot water. Combine with remaining ingredients. Spoon over cranberry layer; chill thoroughly until firm. Turn out on crisp greens. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

This third salad uses avocado also, but with fresh grapefruit. Serve the fruit mixture in pretty, easy-to-make grapefruit baskets. The dressing is bound to become one of your favorites.

Grapefruit Basket Salad

3 grapefruits
Avocado balls
6 maraschino cherries
Water cress
Celery-Flavored Fruit Dressing

Make grapefruit baskets by cutting grapefruits in half. Then, with a sharp knife, cut all around each grapefruit section. (Cut close to white membrane and skin.) Clip out core and membranes; reserve sections.

Cut a strip, ¼ inch wide, around top of rind, leaving 1 inch uncut on each side. Pull the two ¼-inch strips together at top, forming a double-handled basket. Fasten with a tooth pick.

Fill basket with grapefruit sections and the avocado balls cut from ripe avocado. Place a cherry on each handle.

Garnish baskets with water cress and serve with Celery-Flavored Fruit Dressing. Make 4 to 6 first-course or dessert salads.

Celery-Flavored Fruit Dressing

Combine one envelope old fashion French salad dressing mix with vinegar, water and oil as directed on the envelope or cruet. Measure ⅓ cup and combine with ¼ cup mayonnaise, ¼ cup sour cream, and ¾ teaspoon celery seeds. Mix in bowl or jar until smooth. Makes ¾ cup.

Peanut Butter Cookies Made Icebox Style

Crunchy cookies with pleasant flavor.

Refrigerator Peanut Butter Cookies

1¼ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons shortening
½ cup smooth-type peanut butter
6 tablespoons granulated sugar
¼ cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar
1 large egg
½ teaspoon vanilla

Sift together the flour, baking soda and salt. Cream shortening, peanut butter and sugars; beat in egg and vanilla thoroughly. Stir in dry ingredients until blended.

Shape into a roll about 1½ inches in diameter; wrap tightly in waxed paper. Place in freezing compartment of refrigerator until firm enough to cut; slice about ⅛-inch thick. Place about 1 inch apart on buttered cookie sheets.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until lightly browned—10 to 12 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen. Store in tightly covered container.

Protein Stars in Dessert

Try switching the high protein food of your meal from the main course to the dessert every once in a while. You might choose a custard and add to it either preserved ginger, chocolate chips or plump raisins. Cheese cake, baked Alaska, angel food cake and meringues teamed with fruit or ice cream also provide body building protein.

No Slight in Omitting Children

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend was hurt when a relative invited her and a husband to dinner and asked her not to bring the children. I'm inclined to agree, however, that it is within the hostess' rights to make such a request and I told her so.

She still feels the hostess was wrong and that the children should have been invited. Perhaps a word from you will convince her that the hostess intended no discourtesy."

Answer: The only discourtesy might have been in what the hostess said. To have explained, "It's going to be a dinner party—which means we can't include the children this time" would be an entirely courteous thing to say.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it improper for a young business woman who is still in her twenties to live in an apartment by herself? The fact that her family does live in the same town is my reason for wanting to know."

Answer: As a rule, unless there is a very good reason for a young woman's leaving home, people are apt to assume that her family does not approve of her friends or her way of living. If her family lives in such an out of the way section of the city, or suburbs, so that commuting to her office is a hardship, people would consider her choosing a more convenient location, reasonable.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We are the parents of the bridegroom-to-be. The wedding is to be in church with a simple reception following at a nearby hotel. My husband and I would like to ask our relatives and some of our close friends to come back to our house after the reception. Would this be proper, and if so, must the bride's family be asked too?"

Answer: It would be entirely proper after the reception is over, to ask only your own family and a few intimate friends to go back to your house.

What Young People Think

Divorce Holds No Stigma for Most Teeners

By EUGENE GILBERT

Divorce apparently is viewed by many of today's teeners—including those from broken homes—as an acceptable means out of an unhappy marriage.

Our survey among more than 600 representative young people shows most of them attach virtually no social stigma to divorce.

One fifth of those questioned came from homes in which there had been a divorce. But despite this background, their responses to various questions corresponded closely to those of the rest of the group.

This held true even on the question of whether children of a divorced couple can have a normal home life. Eighty per cent of the entire group said yes. Among those from broken homes, 88 per cent said yes.

When asked whether they would stick out an unhappy marriage just to avoid divorce, 77 per cent of the teeners said no. And when this question was reworded to include children, 57 per cent said no.

Almost the same percentages held true among those from divorced parents.

On the multiple answer question of justifiable reasons for divorce, 93 per cent picked physical cruelty as an intolerable situation in marriage.

In seeking some clue to teeners' attitudes towards divorced persons, we asked whether they were immediately suspicious, or whether they immediately disliked someone who was divorced. "No," said 87 per cent.

TYPICAL COMMENTS

Typical of their comments were these:

"All marriages can't possibly be successful," said Daniel Gilbert, 16, of Windsor, Maine.

"I think people are able to make mistakes in marriage as well as anywhere else," replied Scott Bradford, 16, Exeter, N. H.

"That's no reason to dislike someone. It could happen to you," said Kathy Gibbs, 16, of Duluth, Minn.

On the question of whether they themselves would stick out an unhappy marriage—one without children—just to avoid divorce, we received these responses from the 77 per cent who said no.

"I would try, but I wouldn't wreck two lives just to avoid divorce," said Florence Niles, 16, of Detroit.

And Alice Groca, 18, of Rockville, Md., commented, "Happiness is the ultimate in life so why be purposely unhappy?"

CHILDREN UPPERMOST

Of the 20 per cent who said they would try to avoid divorce in such a situation, most gave reasons such as the one made by Gail Greenberg, 13, of Elkins Park, Pa.

She said she "would certainly try to remember my marriage vows."

With the qualification that there are children to be considered, 57 per cent still said they would not stick out an unhappy marriage.

Sue Kingsley, 16, of Detroit, made a comment typical of those who said they would seek a divorce in such a case. "If it were hopeless, it would be better for the children if I got a divorce."

Representative of the 40 per cent who said they would stick out such a marriage was Karen Boswell, 17, of St. Louis, who said:

"Where there are children it's better to try to work things out for their sakes."

Nancy Mitchell, 18, of Washington, D. C., said she would avoid divorce "until I thought the children were old enough to not be psychologically affected."

Among those teeners from broken homes, we found that almost all of them thought that in an unhappy marriage there should be divorce before children come along.

But assuming there were children, and the marriage was an unhappy one, nearly half said divorce was okay, while the rest said the parents should stick together for the children's sake.

On the basis of this response, it almost seemed like a contradiction that fully 88 per cent of the teeners from broken homes should say that such children can have a normal life.

But in this particular case, they were like the other teeners who said divorce did not necessarily lead to suffering for the children.

While the teeners have a liberal attitude about divorce, they are not cavalier about it in the sense that they think of it as an automatic step to resolve domestic difficulty.

By a wide margin, they favor outside help for personal problems which might lead to divorce. Eighty-three per cent said couples with domestic troubles should consult with someone.

"Someone else might reconcile the couple," said Linda Friedman, 18, of Washington, D. C. "They might get inside into their problems."

"Problems always need outside help," concluded Ilene Ellis, 20, of Los Angeles.

But John Warmunde, 17, of Boston, thinks couples should make up their own minds. "They know what they want to do," he said.

As for the children, 40 per cent of the young people said custody should be given the mother and 50 per cent said custody depends upon a lot of other things.

The teenagers from broken homes were about evenly divided on giving custody to the mother or to the parent providing the most love and attention.

The pro-mother group gave reasons similar to that stated by Bill McGann, 16, of Duluth, Minn. "Kids should have mother love. Mother is with the children more."

Susan Moore, 16, of St. Louis, said custody should be given "the parent that is best suited to care for the child." Her opinion reflected that of the others who said custody depended upon many factors.

The majority—including those from broken homes—decided that the parent given custody should remarry and give the children a stepparent.

"Children need the environment of a complete home," said Robert Leffert, 17, of Los Angeles.

The youngsters whose parents were divorced added a qualification in some cases. They specified that there should be remarriage only if the children approve of the stepparent.

In the instance of a divorce where there are no children, 87 per cent of the teenagers said remarriage is a good idea. Typical comment on this question was made by Mary Farmer, 18, of Sac City, Iowa. She said:

"After such sorrow they have a right to some happiness."

School Failures Can Be Organic, Reports Doctor

If Johnny fails in school, it may not mean he's a dull boy. Perhaps he needs medical attention.

So says Dr. C. Henry Kempe, a pediatrician and professor at Colorado University Medical school.

"School failures are a medical problem and should be treated as such," Kempe said. Basically, such failures are a matter of adjustment, he added.

"In grades one through three, failure often is caused by mental deficiency or slowness or by undetected handicaps such as faulty hearing or sight. Among smart children who cannot read, there may be a mental block that makes a certain type of teaching result in a learning deficiency. The deficiency can be corrected by going back to the first grade level and reteaching by another method," he said.

Answers Prevailing Question

A make-up authority says that the one make-up question women ask more often than any other is, "In what sequence should I apply make-up?" Here is the answer step-by-step. Follow it and enjoy its glamorous results.

Cleanse the face with cleansing cream.

Apply skin freshener or astringent.

Apply creme or fluid rouge before cake and creme puff make-up, and after cream-stick and fluid make-up foundations.

Smooth on eyeshadow and puff face powder over face.

Then, darken lashes with mascara.

Apply lipstick with a brush in the most flattering pattern. Add dry rouge and blend with powder puff.

Flavor snap beans with onion butter. Add four teaspoons boiling water to two tablespoons dried onion flakes. Soak five minutes and add to three tablespoons melted butter or margarine. Pour over one pound hot cooked beans.

Dear Abby . . .

What Kind of Business Is This?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my husband (who is 61) started getting letters from lonely widows. According to him he only wanted their names for his mail order business. When I asked him how come these letters are coming to the house instead of his office he tells me he doesn't want his secretary to know about it. Now I'm beginning to wonder what's going on between him and his secretary if he's worried about what she thinks. We've been married almost 40 years and he always seemed satisfied with me. Is there such a thing as "change of life" for men, Abby, and how can I tell if this is what's happening to my husband?" WIFE

DEAR WIFE: A doctor should check your husband if you're worried about his physical condition, but the "change of life" in men usually occurs in men of any age who would like "a change." Keep your eye on him and give him enough affection to assure him that you care.

"DEAR ABBY: In a letter signed Peggy involving Howie's 'tatoo' you misspelled 'tattoo' three times. Three 't's' please!" MRS. G. L.

DEAR MRS. G. L.: Sorry, I goofed. My secretary goofed. My syndicate editor goofed, and about 400 newspaper copy-readers also goofed. Congratulations! Approximately fifty million people read that item and you are the only one who caught the error.

(Editor's Note: We are happy to report our Pontiac Press copy editor did not goof on this one.)

"DEAR MISS ABBY: Although I am only 11 years old I want to tell you about the Civil War business. The North won all fright, but the South won twice as many battles. Lee would never have surrendered if he had any supplies left. He was completely out of supplies and he didn't have any men left either to replace the worn-out ones. Even if you don't print this I want to tell you that the people of the South love Robert E. Lee more than any other person living or dead." (A Proud Rebel, Birmingham, Ala.)

"DEAR ABBY: For years I have been doing research on the Civil War. I've studied the battles from Antietam to Vicksburg. I can match fighting ancestor against fighting ancestor and family tragedy against family tragedy and I have come to the conclusion that we have been missing the point. The war which should have ended in a few short months dragged on for four bloody years because each side was valiant.

"That spirit still pervades the South today and will not let them acknowledge defeat. May I quote from a letter my grandfather wrote at Appomattox the day Lee surrendered? 'We cheered and the Johnnies cheered. We were all glad to have it ended. Who won? Everybody lost.' Perhaps we can take a cue from that." DAMYANKEE

"DEAR ABBY: Can a single girl wreck a home if it isn't really a 'home'—merely a 'peaceful co-existence'?" SINGLE GIRL

DEAR SINGLE: Let's not quibble about the meaning of words. A single girl can wreck a "peaceful co-existence," which amounts to the same thing.

Make Accessories Count Too

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The choice of accessories (bags, hats, shoes and so forth) is important to the woman who wishes to be well dressed. The woman who has a small or medium clothes budget must give special thought when selecting these.

To be "well turned out" your accessories must match each other and also your figure. The woman who plans her wardrobe with care and cannot spend a lot of money on clothes may find herself building her wardrobe around brown shoes and bag and hat one year, around navy blue another and around black the next. The shoes and bag must match although you may wish to wear a hat of another color.

It is essential that you also take your figure into consideration. Prints are not for fat women or those who have a very small frame. This is true as a general rule. Large prints should be completely forgotten. Sometimes a small subdued print is acceptable.

Many women forget their silhouette when buying a hat. This is a mistake. The shape of your hat not only flatters your face but is also a part of the whole you. For instance, a short woman will look overpowered and pressed down by a very large hat as she will when carrying a large bag.

CAN WEAR ANY KIND

The woman with an oval face and average height and size can wear practically any kind of hat, but those which do not detract from the oval appearance will be most becoming.

Choose your accessories with care. The shoes and bag must match and the small woman should carry a small bag.

The tall woman with a long, thin face should avoid tall, slim hats. Those with a medium or wide brims will be flattering. Veils which cut across the face will tend to make it look wider.

If you have a round face you need height in your hat, but it must not be too narrow or it will look like a pea stuck on the top of an orange. Do not wear wide brims. Hats with a sloping line at the face and with some height are best.

Find Any Comments Matching Your Own?

By RUTH MILLETT

It's my impression that —

Housewives complain more about the monotony of their job than any other group. Yet during an average day a housewife performs dozens of different tasks and probably has dozens of unexpected interruptions to keep her alert.

Wives who let their husbands take care of them are far more appreciated than wives who "wear the pants in the family." So why aren't there more clinging vines?

Men who claim their wives don't understand them seldom make any effort to understand their wives. If they feel so lonely being misunderstood, why don't they try being understanding?

Teen-agers would have more respect for adults if so many adults didn't try to act like teen-agers. If we are ashamed of being old, how do we expect young people to respect us because of our age?

It's my impression that —

More gossip gets passed along because women love to hold the center of the stage than because they are naturally malicious.

The middle years are the best years — only middle-aged persons seldom realize it until it is too late.

If the average woman did more for her husband and less for her children the whole family would be happier.

Women neither dress to please men or to impress other women but to build up self-confidence.

Cause of Child's Stuttering Usually Lies With Parents

CHICAGO (UPI)—A child's stuttering is all in the mind — the parents' mind — Dr. Wendell Johnson, one of the world's top speech scientists, said today.

He said the whole dilemma starts in a mother's ear, then tragically mushrooms into a vicious child-trapping circle. He called stuttering "a problem of listening" and said it would disappear if parents realized they were the cause of it.

Johnson examined stuttering in a just-released booklet "Toward Understanding Stuttering," published as a public service by the Easter seal backed National Society for Crippled Children and adults.

Society officials said 227,000 school children currently stutter.

"The toll is in emotions and it's a heavy toll," a society spokesman said. "Stuttering must be stopped early or it becomes a lifelong thing."

Johnson, himself a rehabilitated stutterer said the problem could be nipped in the bud if parents merely would shrug off its early stages.

He said all youngsters hesitate in preliminary speech and the only difference is that stutterers' parents call attention to this hesitancy.

"The basic fact is that 'stuttering' turns out to be a name for the listener's judgment of something the speaker does" Johnson said. "It is extremely important to appreciate that when the mother says, 'My child stutters,' she is not talking about what the child does when he speaks; she is making a statement about herself, about her feelings, about her mode of judging whatever she has observed the child doing."

He said studies show most stuttering youngsters have mothers dissatisfied with their lot. The mothers thus somehow become even more sensitive than usual to the child's speech.

The child catches this anxiety and in turn tries to be even better than perfect. The added effort makes his speech even more hesitant and so the vicious circle is born.

THE CRUCIAL AGE

Johnson, a professor of speech pathology and psychology at the University of Iowa and director of its world-famed speech clinic, said the whole problem of stuttering usually occurs at the age of three.

"If a child gets past three without being classified as a stutterer, the chances that he will never be so classified become greater with every passing week and month," he said.

"If he has not been regarded as a stutterer by the time he is four, about the only time he is ever likely to encounter a situation in which he might be so regarded is upon entrance to school. Certainly if a child gets past this hurdle, too, the odds against his ever finding himself a stutterer are great indeed."

If Heart's Worrying You--Relax

If you are worried about your heart — relax. A good night's sleep is still one of the essentials for giving that tough, but complex organ, a break. The human heart should not be over-taxed anymore than the throwing arm of a baseball star, or the voice of an opera singer.

Today's progress in medicine makes the heart disease victim far better off than he was in previous times, but to tempt fate is like playing with fire. The heart slows down when we sleep, but never stops while alive. The reduction in the number of heart beats during the sleeping hours gives it a chance to rest and be in top form for the day ahead.

New York Governor's Plans Win

Rocky's Road Smoother

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller sailed through his first legislative session as governor of New York looking more than ever like a potential candidate for president.

After a slow start, he wound up with a glittering array of legislation that would look good in any White House hopeful's showcase.

He showed that, when the going got rough, he could fight back to win.

The Empire State's Legislature formally adjourned early today and the dominant feature of Rockefeller's first 84 days in office was the "battle of the budget."

The youthful-looking Republican millionaire barely had settled himself in the governor's chair when he ran hip-deep into trouble by submitting the first two-billion-dollar budget in the state's history and calling for the greatest round of tax increases the state had ever seen.

Rockefeller asked tax increases that:

Raised the state's gasoline tax from four cents a gallon to six cents and the diesel fuel levy from six cents to nine, effective March 1.

Increased the levy on cigarettes from three cents a pack to five April 1, and imposed a new 15 per cent tax on the wholesale price of cigars and other tobacco products July 1.

He also established a payroll withholding system for collecting state taxes for 1959 and lowered individual exemptions.

Rockefeller's record budget shocked conservative, economy-minded Republicans in the Legislature. They rebelled and demanded deep cuts.

The governor eventually agreed to a $40 million reduction. When the rebels demanded still more, he refused. The revolt broke. That was his major victory.

Rockefeller followed up his budget and tax-increased triumphs with these legislative successes:

1. An antirackets, labor-control bill that won overwhelming support from prolabor Democrats in the Legislature.

2. A program of tax relief and other assistance for financially strained railroads and bus companies that won warm plaudits from the transportation industry.

3. A plan for expanding the state's middle-income housing program by bringing in private capital to bolster a 100-million-dollar bond issue approved by New York voters last fall.

4. Extension of unemployment insurance benefits to all workers in the state (coverage was limited to firms that employed two or more persons).

The lawmakers also agreed to set up new agencies to deal with transportation problems, local government affairs, police training and atomic development.

In addition, the Republican-controlled Legislature, after balking for many years, finally agreed to a plan for reorganization of the state's court system. Rockefeller had labeled it a "must."

Chippewas Had a Word for It in Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The Chippewa Indian word Winnibigoshish means filthy, bad, miserable, wretched water, and is the name of a Minnesota lake.

The Chippewas weren't always that harsh in their descriptions. Their language is sometimes called the Italian of the Indian language because of its musical quality.

For example Mississippi is a Chippewa word meaning Great River. Saganaga Lake in northern Minnesota takes its name from its many islands. Mahnomen, a Minnesota community, means wild rice in English and Chicago Lake means large and lovely.

The Sioux Indians also contributed their share of title to Minnesota. The name of the state means sky-tinted water. Minnehaha, made famous by Henry Longfellow, means laughing water. Minneapolis is a combination of the Sioux word for water and the Greek word for city.

Chiang Offers Tibet Freedom

Vows If He Regains Mainland, China Will Give Up Old Claims

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek today offered the Tibetans independence if his Nationalist government ever regains control of the Chinese mainland and if the Tibetans still want to be free then.

Chiang's message to the people of Tibet was the first offer by a Chinese government of Tibetan independence. Since the 18th century the Chinese have claimed sovereignty over the vast Himalayan plateau, although from Sun Yat-sen's revolution in 1912 until the Communist invasion of Tibet in 1950 Chinese control existed in name only.

Chiang's promise obviously was intended as a spur to the Tibetans to keep up their revolt against the Communists. Fighting between Tibetans and Red troops broke out in Lhasa, the Tibetan capital, March 20. This apparently has ended, with the Communists still in control in the capital, but reports have filtered to India and Taipei that the rebellion is continuing in the countryside.

There are more than 300 flammable liquids in use today.

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

All the talk about the Tigers' need for power hitters gets little sympathy from this corner.

We've been hearing the talk about trading for power since training camp started a month ago.

Object of this trade talk has been Roger Maris. These are the virtues of power Maris is supposed to supply.

He batted .240 last year. He hit 28 homers and had 23 other extra base hits. Defensively, he had nine errors in 146 games for a percentage of .972.

Two players who are upset over the talk of the need for more power are Charley Maxwell and Gus Zernial. And they have reason to be.

The Tigers aren't as powerless as they claim. It seems more like an excuse for not utilizing the available power to its best potential.

How can a player like Zernial, who has averaged 28 homers in eight previous seasons before coming to the Tigers, suddenly become punchless?

And why should Maxwell, who had 28 and 24 homers in successive seasons, suddenly find himself at bat 100 times less in 1958 than the previous year? It seems obvious why his home run production fell to 13 last year.

Maxwell hasn't hidden the fact he is upset. He was criticized when his average fell from .326 in 1956 to .276 in 1957. So last year he was fighting a pay cut and going for the singles to boost his average.

This spring Maxwell let it be known "if it's power they want, I'll aim for the fence on every pitch."

Look at the best homer seasons of the top Tigers and the total output of 170 would hardly be considered anemic in comparison with the rest of the league.

Zernial's best was 42, Maxwell's 28, Al Kaline's 27, Harvey Kuenn's 12, Frank Bolling's 15, Gail Harris' 20, Eddie Yost 11, Rocky Bridges 8 and Bob Wilson 7.

No one expects any of these players to match their best outputs for one season, but it would be hard to accept the idea that Kaline isn't capable of more than the 16 he hit last year, or Kuenn's 8 or Maxwell's 13.

Zernial's case is more difficult to understand. There's no doubt big "Ozark Ike" can belt the ball. He had 13 extra base hits of the 40 hits he had last year.

Zernial has the finesse of an elephant in the outfield, but whether he plays left field or first base it would seem a good risk that his bat would win more games than his fielding would lose.

In his 1957 season at Kansas City he had 11 errors in 131 games. This isn't much poorer than Maris' 9 errors in 146 games.

The Tigers could be a little more realistic about the bats they are keeping in storage.

TROUBLES — Tiger pitcher Jim Bunning is having his usual spring training troubles. Opposing batters have been tagging Bunning with drives over the wall as the Phillies did yesterday twice. Bunning uses a slider frequently and it forces blisters on his fingers.

Bad Injury, Brawl Mark Calder Cup Hockey Play

By The Associated Press

Buffalo and Cleveland held the upper hand in the American Hockey League semifinal Calder Cup playoffs today.

Although only two games have been played already there has been a serious injury and a full-scale brawl involving fans and players.

Rochester defenseman Murray Balfour was injured when he struck his head on the ice in Buffalo last night. He suffered a concussion and a lacerated lip. Buffalo won the game, 3-2, to take a 1-0 lead.

In Cleveland, the Bears emerged from a long slump and defeated the Cleveland Barons, 6-2, in a game that was spiced by a lively brawl. Hershey leads that series, 1-0.

The scuffle started when a fan threw a chair on the ice in front of the Hershey bench in the last period. The Bears promptly ripped down the screen behind the bench and charged into the crowd with their sticks poised.

The fans in the area took to their heels in a hurry, but before they retreated Hershey defenseman Howie Janosik wound up with a cut on the head.

The Bears, who hadn't won in the last 10 regular season games, scored two goals in each period, and in general outplayed the Barons. Cleveland tied it in the second period but never was in it after that.

Balfour was hurt in the first period. He let go a shot from the Buffalo blue line and was checked hard by Ivan Irwin. He fell and struck his head on the ice. His condition was reported "good" but further X-rays were scheduled.

Scots Bid for Finals

DETROIT — The St. Andrew Scots will bid for a spot in the Eastern finals of the U. S. Open soccer championships when they meet the Philadelphia Ukrainians in a home-and-home series during the next two weeks.

The Scots scored a major upset by defeating the Harmarville (Pa.) Hurricanes at McCabe Field last Sunday by a 4-0 score.

The Scots will take on the Ukrainians in Philadelphia on April 5 and in Detroit on April 12.

Congress for Olympics

WASHINGTON (AP)—Detroit now can officially invite the International Olympic Committee to hold the 1964 Olympic games there.

The House yesterday joined the Senate in extending an official invitation for the games. The U.S. Olympic Assn. has selected Detroit as the site if the United States is awarded the athletic carnival.

The International Olympic Committee will meet in Munich in May to award the 1964 games. Detroit and Tokyo are the leading contenders.

The 1960 Olympics will be in Rome.

The House-Senate joint approval was sufficient to make the invitation official without President Eisenhower's signature, it was explained.

DOUBLE PLAY — Al Kaline of the Tigers is forced at second base after Charley Maxwell grounds in a double play against the Phillies yesterday in Lakeland. Chico Fernandez, Phillie shortstop, gets the ball away to first after taking a throw from second baseman George Anderson. The Phils won, 4-3.

Tiger Pitcher's Last Grapefruit Win Was in '53

Norman Juggles Batting Order as Detroit Falls Before Phillies, 4-3

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Even a drastic shuffle in the Detroit Tigers' lineup couldn't shake the spring troubles that have bothered skinny Jim Bunning for six long seasons.

The lean righthander hadn't won an exhibition game since he pitched for Buffalo in 1953 when he took the mound against the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday at Henley Field.

Not so much as a favor to Bunning, but in an effort to get more power out of his players, manager Bill Norman turned the Tiger lineup upside down. He hiked shortstop Rocky Bridges from seventh to second, dropped Charlie Maxwell to seventh and Harvey Kuenn to third — and got the same results.

The Tigers collected only five hits off Don Cardwell and Jim Owens and lost a 4-3 decision to a team that is not expected to cause anyone great concern in the senior circuit.

What probably would be considered the "production line" of the Detroit lineup — Kuenn, Gail Harris, Al Kaline, Frank Bolling and Maxwell—produced only one base hit in 15 at-bats.

Harris and pinch batter Neil Chrisley swatted home runs, Harris getting a solo blast in the second and Chrisley hitting a two-run homer in the eighth to account for all the scoring.

The Phillies, not entirely unaware of Bunning's leniency with the home run pitch though they operate in another league, got distance blasts from Wally Post and Ed Bouchee.

It was Bouchee's drive over the right field fence that started a three-run seventh inning rally that produced the victory and handed the Tigers their sixth setback against eight Grapefruit League triumphs.

Bunning went seven innings with rookie Jim Raugh and veteran George Spencer finishing up. Cardwell, working six innings and yielding only three hits, was the winner. Owens was the victim of Chrisley's home run.

Terrific Throw by Yost Dazzles Kell and Fans

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Eddie Yost had former American League All-Star third baseman George Kell and 1,077 fans buzzing yesterday.

Yost proved he's as limber as ever by knocking down Gene Freese's hot shot down the third base line in the second inning and making the long throw across the diamond to nail Freese while on one knee.

"I had a hard enough time making those when I was standing up, let alone being on one knee," Kell said.

Stanley Cup Semis Resume Tonight

Rival Coaches Plan Strategy for 2nd Games

Montreal and Boston Seek 2-0 Advantages Over Hawks, Leafs

By The Associated Press

Those hard body checks that rang out through Montreal's Forum and the Boston Garden Monday night—or the lack of them in some instances — dictated the strategy for tonight's semifinal Stanley Cup games in the same arenas.

The four coaches spent today polishing up their moves for the second game in the series that is rapidly developing into a chess game on ice.

Montreal coach Toe Blake whose Canadiens hold a 1-0 lead over the Chicago Black Hawks in the best-of-seven series, is using Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion as his ace in the hole.

And Toronto Coach Punch Imlach, down 1-0 to the Boston Bruins, promised in no uncertain terms that the series will become a survivial of the fittest.

The Hawks, led by Coach Rudy Pilous, firmly believe that if they stop the Canadiens high-scoring line of Dickie Moore (NHL scoring king), Jean Beliveau and Marcel Bonin, they can make the finals.

They stopped the first two Monday night but Bonin scored twice.

"Maybe we're not aggressive enough. I may make a change on my third line," Pilous said today.

His second line of Glen Skov, Earl Balfour and Lorne Ferguson is slated to do the checking against Montreal's big three. Pilous was thwarted by constant line changes by Blake Monday night so that the Chicago maneuver didn't always occur.

On the other hand, Blake is seriously considering putting Geoffrion back on a regular assignment with Ralph Backstrom and Ab McDonald, Geoffrion, leading scorer in the league when he pulled some stomach muscles in mid-season, would add punch to the Canadiens attack that could cause Pilous to change his plans.

It's pretty much the same story in Boston where Bruins Coach Milt Schmidt and Imlach are both threatening the use of a fourth line to offset bone-jarring body contact.

"No one dared get caught with his head down," Bruin Don McKenney said.

"We've been a good body checking team all season and we'll exchange slams with the Bruins any time," Imlach said.

He Still Plans to Meet Patterson

Britain Opposes Title Match for London

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—Britain's biggest boxing row in years flared today with a British heavyweight hurling defiance at officials who forbade him to fight America's world heavyweight king Floyd Patterson.

The country's boxing bosses — the British Board of Boxing Control (BBBC) — banned homegrown Brian London from meeting Patterson for the world title in Las Vegas, Nev., April 21.

They claimed the bout would not be in the best interests of British boxing.

London promptly announced he would go ahead with the bout anyway.

"I've got a big pay day coming ($75,000) and a chance to win the world title," the pugnacious, 24-year-old Briton said. "I'll risk suspension at home for that."

The BBBC said London probably will lose his license to fight in Britain if he defies them.

"It is now up to American authorities to decide whether they will permit an unauthorized British boxer to fight Patterson," said BBBC President J. Onslow Fane.

U. S. boxing bigwigs appeared ready to go along with London, although their statements were cautious.

Dr. Ward Wylie, president of the National Boxing Assn., said:

"The NBA will recognize any logical contender."

Observed National Boxing Commissioner Abe Greene:

"We have a very friendly arrangement and understanding with the BBBC but we would want to know more about the circumstances which would prompt such a preemptory stand before we would concur . . . we shall await further developments."

The controversy in this country that has dreamed for years of producing a world champion stems from London's last fight, against Henry Cooper.

That night Cooper used a jabbing left to take away London's British title. London was made to look like a novice as he plodded forward smack into the nagging lefts of Cooper.

Experts argue Cooper should be the man tackling Patterson but Cooper lost his chance by asking for too much money — $140,000.

"I know nobody thinks I've got a chance," London said. "But maybe there's a surprise in the making. It's happened before."

BANNED — British heavyweight Brian London was told by England's boxing commissioners that he could not meet champion Floyd Patterson in a world title bout next month in Las Vegas because the fight was not in the best interest of British boxing. London said he would defy the warning.

Tiger GM Thinks Southpaw May Surprise

Ferrell Has Confidence in Hoeft

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Rick Ferrell's comments on pitcher Bill Hoeft may lift some eyebrows among Detroit Tiger fans.

"I think Bill can be the most pleasant surprise of our pitching staff in 1959," Ferrell said. "I believe he has matured now and is ready to settle down and pitch great baseball for us."

Club officials have been unable to hide an almost bitter disappointment over the big lefthander's work the past two seasons. Pitching coach Willis Hudlin cannot explain why Hoeft has lacked consistent effectiveness. Former manager Jack Tighe said Hoeft wasn't thinking like a Major League pitcher.

Hoeft spent most of last season in manager Bill Norman's doghouse.

His own teammates wondered what happened to the blazing fast ball that brought the big lefty into the Major Leagues at the tender age of 19.

Hoeft himself had no explanation. Once he said "I'm throwing as hard as ever. Nothing has happened to the fast ball. I'm just trying out more pitches."

Of most concern to Tiger officials was the way Hoeft relied on a slow curve. Batters were lying back and waiting on the big roundhouse.

"I feel wonderful now," said Hoeft, who at 26 is the dean of the Tiger players with seven big league campaigns behind him.

He reported at a trim 191 pounds, 14 pounds under his playing weight last season.

"Don't call me the new Hoeft, though," he said. "And the people who said I acted like I didn't care whether I won or lost — well, they're nuts! I try just as hard as anyone else. What do they think — that I want to lose?"

For all the trade talk that involved Hoeft over the past winter — and does still — it would be no great surprise to see Hoeft start, and finish the season in Detroit. Ferrell thinks he is ready to become a consistent winner in the big time.

"We'll listen to offers for any of our players, but we're not anxious to part with Hoeft," said the acting general manager.

Cleveland's Frank Lane has been trying to work a deal to get Hoeft to the Indians. He has offered outfielder-infielder Woody Held but the Tigers said no. The Chicago White Sox also have expressed interest in him.

NO DEAL — Tiger general manager expressed the opinion that he did not think Detroit would trade Billy Hoeft because he thought the southpaw may show his old form this season. Several clubs including Cleveland, New York and Kansas City have talked about getting Hoeft.

Because of 10-9 and 9-11 records the past two years after a 20-14 record in 1956 and a 16-7 mark in 1955, Hoeft's trade value has diminished to a point where other clubs are not offering a big man in exchange.

For that reason, and because of Ferrell's confidence, Hoeft may remain a Tiger.

Cowles Resigns Minnesota Post

MINNEAPOLIS — Osborne (Ozzie) Cowles has resigned as University of Minnesota basketball coach after 11 years following a disastrous season which saw the Gophers win eight and lose 14.

The former coach of championship teams at Michigan and Dartmouth is reportedly interested in another coaching position although he is 57. His overall coaching record includes 417 victories and 189 setbacks.

Johnny Kundla, coach of the Minneapolis Lakers of the NBA, has been mentioned as a possible successor. Athletic director Ike Armstrong says he hopes to recommend a replacement within a few weeks.

Cards Drop Von McDaniel

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals today cut off 15 of the 53 players in camp, including eight from their winter roster, among them Von McDaniel, an 18-year-old schoolboy sensation two summers ago.

The younger McDaniel brother was the only player not shipped to the Triple-A camp at Daytona Beach, Fla. He was sent to the lower-classification training base at Albany, Ga.

"Von has got to start over," said Manager Solly Hemus of the young right-hander who had troubles in Double-A and Class B last season. "He needs to get back his confidence and to work further on regaining his method of delivering the ball."

Dropped off the roster, in addition, were pitchers Frank Barnes and Marshall Bridges, infielders Jim McKnight, Billy Harrell Wally Shannon, outfielder Ellis Burton and first baseman-outfielder Duke Carmel.

Returned to their clubs were pitcher Ray Sadecki, catcher Chuck Staniland, infielder Ed Olivares and outfielder Bob Boyer, all Omaha, and catcher Hank Kuhlmann and outfielders Charley James and Gene Oliver, Rochester.

Cubs High on Bob Anderson

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Cubs, pawing around to find some steady pitching to go with their proven power, seem to have turned up a likely starter in a big, rawboned right-hander named Bob Anderson.

First pitcher to go the nine-inning route this spring when he whipped San Francisco on a strong four-hitter last Friday, Andy came back yesterday with a seven-inning performance that indicated the earlier job was no fluke.

The 6-4, 200-pound Anderson permitted only two earned runs and six hits before giving way to fellow rookie Johnny Buzhardt, who nailed down the Cubs' 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians at Tucson.

Anderson, now 23, has been kicking around in the Cubs' system for five years since they signed him as a teenager out of East Chicago, Ind.—just up the turnpike from the Chicago city limits. The big guy worked for Cedar Rapids, Des Moines, Los Angeles, Portland and Fort Worth in the minors before moving up to post a 3-3 record with the parent Cubs late last season.

He has the big strikeout pitch—as witness last year's records. In 127 innings at Fort Worth in the Texas League, he fanned 121. He worked 66 innings for the Cubs in his late trial and whiffed 51.

The well-regarded Cub power helped him considerably yesterday as Lee Walls, Earl Averill and Bobby Thomson chipped in with home runs off Cleveland loser Dick Stigman. Rocky Colavito caught one of Anderson's fast balls for his sixth springtime homer in the fifth inning.

In other exhibition games, San Francisco celebrated the acquisition of Sad (Sam) Jones from St. Louis with a 9-4 victory over Boston at Scottsdale, Ariz., and in Florida games, Cincinnati whipped St. Louis 4-1 at Tampa, Philadelphia edged Detroit 4-3 at Lakeland, Milwaukee bombed Los Angeles 8-4 at Vero Beach, the Chicago White Sox toppled Pittsburgh 4-2 at Fort Myers, Washington downed Baltimore 5-1 at Orlando, and Kansas City edged New York 3-2 at West Palm Beach.

The Giants, who gave up Bill White and Ray Jablonski to get Jones, clubbed Red Sox ace Tommy Brewer for 10 hits and 8 runs in 7 innings—handing Boston its fifth straight loss. Giants' ace Johnny Antonelli worked five innings, allowing only two hits.

Frank Robinson's fourth homer of the spring and a five-hitter by route-going Orlando Pena enabled the Reds to break a seven-game losing streak.

Bob Hartman and Joey Jay held the Dodgers in check while the Braves got homers from Del Crandall and Hank Aaron, and three runs in the third and five scoreless innings from Early Wynn carried the White Sox to their victory over the Pirates.

Chuck Stobbs, the castoff making good on a comeback with Washington, pitched the full nine to beat Baltimore on an eight-hitter. Ned Garver's pitching and a single, double and triple and two rbis by Bob Cerv triggered the A's decision over New York.

Tourney Debut for Lund at Michigan

3 State Nines in Florida

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Don Lund, Michigan's first new baseball coach in 38 years, takes his team to Florida tomorrow to begin his inaugural season.

The Wolverines will play in the four-year-old Florida State Invitational Tournament at Tallahassee next week, Western Michigan and Florida State twice each, and Florida and Michigan State once each.

The Wolverines will return home to open their regular season April 9 against the University of Detroit.

Western Michigan, Michigan State and Illinois, three of the Wolverines' regular season opponents, are entered in the tournament. Host Florida State and Florida, Duke and North Carolina are the other entries.

Lund has a predominantly veteran club which ex-coach Ray Fisher left him when he retired last spring. His main trouble seems to be in the outfield, where two men counted upon have been lost.

Michigan will make its tourney debut Saturday against Duke. The Wolverines will play Duke again

Lund will use John Danovich, football end John Halstead and veteran John Mogk in the outfield. His infield is in better shape, with veterans at three positions. They are first baseman Bill Roman, second baseman Bob Kucher and third baseman Dave Brown. Gene Struczewski will take over at shortstop.

Jim Dickey, a letterman, will be the catcher. Dick Syring, just as he did last fall as a football center, will help Dickey with the duties behind the plate.

Florida Tour Ends for Pros

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The touring golf pros headed north today, some to Wilmington, N.C., for a tournament there and others to Augusta, Ga., to prepare for the Masters.

They closed out their Florida tour yesterday in the 36-hole Seminole pro-amateur. Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., was the big winner at $2,159.

Palmer had a 70 to go with his first round 71 and split $1,800 with Mike Souchak of Grossingers, N.Y., who had 72-69—141. But Souchak finished out of the money in the best-ball competition while Palmer picked up $1,250.

Ben Hogan, the veteran from Fort Worth, Tex., staged a brilliant comeback with a five-under-par 67 on closing day and picked up $550.

Boating Public Yearns for Facilities

Lot More Marinas Needed

With the tremendous increase of recreational boating since World War II and the growing demand by the American boating public for mooring and boating service facilities, local, state and privately owned and operated marinas are being built. But many more are needed.

However, according to the National Assn. of Engine and Boat Manufacturers, leading trade organizations in the boating industry, there is still a dearth of marinas in the United States to accommodate the 7,330,000 pleasure boats.

The marina, backed by private or public capital, can become a profitable business venture with tremendous expansion potential as it provides the boating public with the facilities and services they need to enjoy the sport.

The marina is dependent upon the boating public for its support and cannot survive with limited trade.

Income is earned from a number of sources, such as slip rentals; dry storage charges; hull and engine repairs; hauling and launching fees; oil and gasoline sales; club house rental and dues; sales of boats, engines and accessories; locker rentals; food and beverage sales and rental fees for stores on the premises.

The facilities for local boatmen as well as for transient craft should be sufficient to be a city within itself, with stores and supply services available to provide all the needs of the boat owner, his guests and crew.

Cities and towns throughout the United States are becoming more and more cognizant of the need for marinas to handle the increasing boat traffic and provide the city's merchants with additional income.

The federal government has aided the boating public with its flood control and public power projects which have created thousands of square miles of new boating waters in areas which previously had little, if any. With these new boating waters, more Americans bought boats and thereby need launching, mooring and service facilities.

City planners are taking the marina into consideration in their renewal project plans and in the reconstruction of many of the nation's cities and towns.

Union Lake Has Keg Meet Saturday

Elks Tourney Resumes

The 2nd weekend of the 3rd annual Elks Mixed Doubles tournament at Lodge 810 and a one-day event Saturday at Cooley Lanes will feature another busy weekend for area bowlers.

Visiting contestants will start shooting at the list of all-Pontiac leaders as the Elks meet resumes. All participants last week were from this city.

Featured among the group competing here Saturday and Sunday will be a full squad from Plymouth which has 13 teams entered.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hagen currently head the pack with 1282. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Boles rank No. 2 with 1268.

The tournament will continue through April 26 with about 125 duos expected to finish in the money. First place will be good for $150 and trophies while the runnerup team will earn $100.

Last year's winning total of 1275 has already been toppled. "Cap" Halliday, Mr. Bowling at the Elks, and Donna Opie combined for the 1958 crown. Both are Pontiac residents.

Strong opposition to a Pontiac repeat is expected from bowlers representing big squads from Royal Oak, Port Huron and Ferndale. Drayton Plains, Saginaw and Bowling Green, Ohio are other cities with at least 10 teams entered.

The tourney is sanctioned by both ABC and WIBC. All men taking part must be Elks members while women are only required to be sanctioned. Wiley McClellan, Ralph Ware and Bill Warden are in charge of the event.

Saturday's affair at Cooley Lanes will be the 5th annual tournament sponsored by the Union Lake Fire Department to raise funds for its operation.

Bowling starts at 10 a.m. and continues all day with cash prizes to be awarded the men, women and children with top scores. Adult champs will earn $25 each while the best children's performance will be worth $15.

Anyone interested may enter now or during the tourney. A West Bloomfield Township official will throw out the 1st ball.

NCAA Swimmers Start Splashing

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Billy Steuart, Michigan State's double winner from South Africa, defended his 1500-meter freestyle title today in the opening event of the three-day NCAA swimming and diving championships.

The husky import from Johannesburg and other defenders appeared in for lots of trouble against a sparkling field from 60 colleges. Michigan was favored to win the team title for the third straight year.

In addition to defenders in 11 events, there are 12 runners-up and a flock of other outstanding stars primed for the battle for 16 titles in Teagle Hall's 25-yard pool at Cornell University.

As an example, Steuart's opposition included three top contenders who have posted faster times than the champion this year over the metric mile.

The Michigan State junior, a member of South Africa's 1956 Olympic team, won the 1500 in 18:45.8 last year at Ann Arbor, Mich. This year, in an unbeaten campaign, his best time has been 18:36.6.

This time has been bettered by George Harrison, Stanford's outstanding sophomore (18:20), Gene Lenz of California State Poly (18:27.3) and Jody Grant of Southern Methodist (18:34.1).

The 65-lap race has drawn a field of 38. The race will be run off in heats with the winner and other placings determined by-bets times.

Although he is a junior, Steuart has been ruled ineligible for college competion next year by the Big Ten because he competed in the 1956 Olympics after his 20th birthday. Under Big Ten rules, an athlete loses a year of eligibility for every year of competition after his 20th birthday. Steuart's coach, Charles McCaffree, plans to appeal the ruling.

The South African is the defending champion in the 440 yard freestyle, too. So far this year, he hasn't lost over 220 and 440 yards and 1500 meters.

The slim opening day program winds up in the evening with the prelims and semifinals of the one-meter dive, won last year by the graduated Don Harper of Ohio State.

Trials in the other events will be held Friday and Saturday afternoons with the finals scheduled for those same nights.

Syracuse Even With Celtics

Hawks, Lakers in Spotlight

By The Associated Press

Attention in the National Basketball Assn's division playoffs swings back to the West tonight as Minneapolis entertains St. Louis in an attempt to square their series at two games apiece.

The East, its timetable a day ahead, already is even at 2-2 after Syracuse's 119-107 victory over the Boston Celtics last night. It was the seventh time in seven games that the home team had won.

If there's a break in the pattern coming, however, it may come tonight—now that St. Louis' one-two punch of Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan seems back in operation.

Pettit, after two so-so games for the league's all-time season scoring champion, broke out with 39 points in St. Louis' victory over Minneapolis at St. Louis Tuesday night. It upped his average to 28.7, more like it for the 6-9 ace who scored at a record pace during the regular season.

With Hagan, who has hit at a 32-point pace in the three games, the pair have accounted for about half the St. Louis points. Hagan, in addition to his prolific scoring, has been doing a top defensive job on Minneapolis' star rookie, Elgin Baylor.

In the last game, Baylor was limited to only three points in the first half and 15 for the game.

Boston and Syracuse will rest until Saturday afternoon—and the Celts particularly will welcome the break. Tommy Heinsohn, their No. 2 rebounder and third highest scorer, has a bruised right hand after slamming it into the backboards in the closing minutes of last night's game.

The club said the injury isn't serious and Heinsohn should be already again by the time the series resumes at Boston on Saturday in a game that will be televised nationally.

Balanced scoring did the job for Syracuse last night, with Dolph Schayes scoring 28 points, Larry Costello 26, Hal Greer 21, and George Yardley 18. The Celts were led by Frank Ramsey who scored 29 points.

Braves Trying to Get Catcher

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Milwaukee Braves officials confirmed Wednesday night that they were trying to obtain catcher Eddie Fitz Gerald from the Washington Senators before the season opens.

Birdie Tebbetts, executive vice president of the Milwaukee baseball club, said that purchase of Fitz Gerald, a veteran of 11 years in the majors, has been held up because of an injury to Clint Courtney, the No. 1 Washington receiver.

The Braves have been trying to get a third catcher to relieve Del Crandall or Del Rice. Manager Fred Haney has been anxious to get another catcher for use in the event either of his two top men are hurt.

Fighting their way back from the loser's bracket in the double knockout tournament, the T & C cagers staged a big 3rd quarter to grab an eight-point lead, then broke even with Oliver during the 4th period to win the Class C City title.

Harry Sugden scored 19 points and teammate Roger Reynolds contributed 17 to pace the T & C attack. Paul Emerson and Jack Johnson each tallied 11 for Oliver. The Buick quintet led at the end of a tightly-contested 1st half, 19-18.

West Controls Boards, Downs East Collegians

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—"I don't want any deliberate fouling, but I want you to be tough under the backboards—especially on defense."

That was the last-minute pep talk given by Coach Hank Iba to his West players before they whipped the East 80-68 in a college all-star basketball game last night.

"In all-star games such as this," the veteran Oklahoma State coach said, "I've noticed that the first 10 minutes are extremely important. If you show the other fellow who's boss early in the game, you may shake him up enough to influence the decision."

The East squad under Coach Bud Millikan of Maryland boasted five of the nation's 16 leading rebounders—although both 10-player teams averaged about 6-foot-5.

But the statistics went out the window when the game started. The West took charge early as Iba suggested, blocking out effectively on the defensive board and limiting the East to one or two shots on most sortees down the court.

The West zoomed into a 22-9 lead in the first seven minutes on the accurate outside shooting of Tom Hawkins of Notre Dame and All-America Bob Boozer of Kansas State, and the hook shots of Northwestern's Joe Ruklick.

Running off two strings of seven consecutive points, the West upped its margin to 45-25 before the East rallied under 5-9 Lou Pucillo of N.C. State and Alan Seiden of St. John's (N.Y.).

They led fast breaks which cut the deficit to 49-38 by halftime and finally edged to within 57-53 with 12 minutes remaining.

Then the East comeback fizzled as closer guarding by the West forced bad passes and Don Matuszak of Kansas State stole the ball twice to set up important baskets.

Hawkins, Notre Dame's all-time high scorer, led both teams with 18 points and was voted the West's most valuable player.

All America Bailey Howell of Mississippi State topped the East with 15, followed by Seiden and Cal Ramsey of NYU with 12 apiece. The team's most valuable player award went to Pucillo.

Claim Johnny Green 'Too Small'

Pistons Seek College Ace

DETROIT (AP) — Fran Smith, publicity director of the Detroit Pistons, told a luncheon gathering of Detroit sportscasters yesterday that the Pistons will make either Bob Boozer of Kansas State or Bailey Howell of Mississippi State their No. 1 draft choice in the upcoming NBA meetings.

The Cincinnati Royals have the first pick and the Pistons will get the leftover player. Boozer and Howell are figured to go 1-2 in the draft.

The Pistons say they will not make a territorial claim on Johnny Green, the jumping-jack center from Michigan State.

"The Pistons do not feel Green is big enough, and not enough of a scoring threat by pro standards," said Smith.

Doby Happy to Join Tigers

By JACK BERRY
United Press International

LAKELAND, Fla.—"I've always been on a spot. I don't think the pressure will get me down," said Larry Doby as he reported to the Detroit Tigers yesterday and was named "just another candidate" for the left field post.

Doby, first Negro to play in the American League, has been asked if he thought there would be undue pressure on him since the Tigers have been advertising several years for a good southpaw slugger.

Doby was obtained by Detroit from Cleveland in a swap for Tito Francona last Saturday. He had trouble getting a flight out of Arizona and had been flying since 1 a.m. but still reported to the ball park late in yesterday's game with Philadelphia.

There's no chance of Doby playing center or right field. Harvey Kuenn and Al Kaline have those position nailed down.

Doby, bothered by various ailments the past few seasons, said he feels "better than I have in three or four years. I think I could play the whole season and I hope I can hit 25 to 30 home runs." One member of the Tigers said they'd be overjoyed if he just got 15.

"When you play for Mr. Lane you always keep your bag packed," Doby grinned.

"When they got Jim Piersall during the winter I thought they might trade me but then they told me to buy a first baseman's glove. I think I'll send them the bill for that one."

The report was that manager Joe Gordon and general manager Frank Lane were at odds over Doby. Gordon, according to the story, wanted Doby to remain in the outfield but Lane ordered him to play first base and then started shopping around for a trade.

Doby, who originally broke in in 1947 with the Indians as an infielder, didn't find it too hard to make the transition to first and the Tigers had good scouting reports on him from former manager Jack Tighe and scout Marvin Owen. Unsolicited support came from Milwaukee Braves brass Wid Matthews and Birdie Tebbitts who saw Doby in Arizona and said he was in top shape.

Doby explained his lack of hitting in Arizona by saying that he's always been a poor spring hitter. "I started out good but tapered off a bit," he said.

"I'll be glad to get to Briggs Stadium. I've had pretty good luck there.

"I wish I had been there long ago."

The Tiger park is a mecca for left handed power hitters with its short 325-foot right field fence. And in addition, the Tigers hope Doby, the first established Negro star to play for Detroit, will give the gate a shot in the arm.

Four New Aides at Tam in 1959

Three Assistant Pros, Caddie Master Picked by Warren Orlick

Warren Orlick, head golf pro at Tam O'Shanter Country Club, has added four new faces to his professional staff for the 1959 season. Tam's new members are E. B. (Mac) McElmurry, John Monitz, Ron Pawlacyk and George Pasnik.

McElmurry will be Orlick's No. 1 assistant pro. "Mac" worked two years for Bill Uzelac at Plum Hollow and also spent two seasons as an assistant pro and caddie master at Western Golf and Country Club.

Monitz moves into an assistant's post after serving as caddie master at Tam for the past three years. He previously was employed at Grosse Ile, Red Run and Fox Hills in Culver City, Calif.

Also assisting the veteran Orlick will be Pawlacyk of La Puente, Calif., a University of Southern California graduate and a member of the USC golf team for three seasons. He captained the squad in his senior year.

Completing Tam's staff is Pasnik, who will replace Monitz as caddie master. Pasnik previously spent three years as Grosse Ile caddie master.

Orlick lost three assistants at the close of the 1958 season — Gene Bone of Pontiac, who became head man at Warwick Hills; Ted Huffman, now the top pro at Gary (Ind.) Country Club, and C. J. Reynolds, currently unattached.

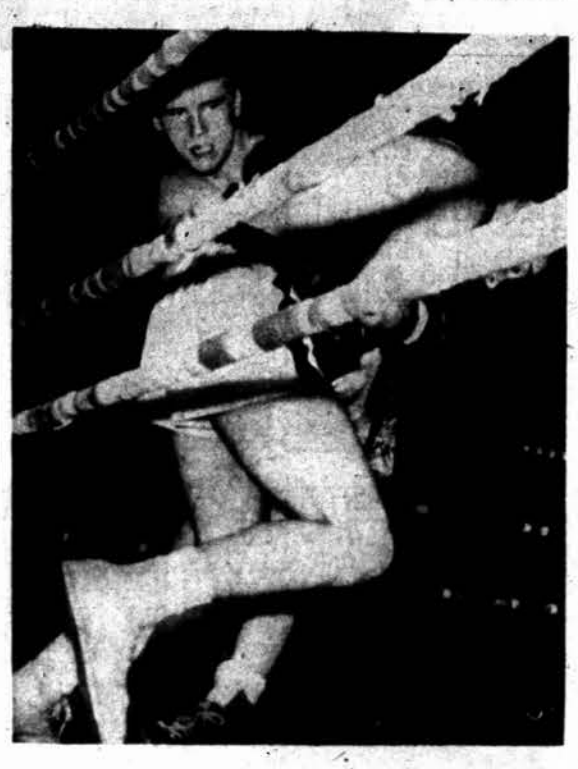
Trio Inked by Tigers Includes State Star

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers announced the signing today of three infielders to minor league contracts.

The only Michigan player was Gary Reid, a shortstop from Grand Rapids. Reid was outstanding at Creston High School and with the American Legion and Grand Rapids amateur clubs last year.

Reid, captain and most valuable player at Creston, bats right, is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 157. He will report to Decatur of the Midwest League.

WEDNESDAY'S FIGHTS
TOKYO — Jiro Sawada, Japan, outpointed Norobu Saito, Japan. (Welterweights).



GAINS AAU TITLE — Dick Compton of Pontiac, as seen here during the recent Golden Gloves fights, won the state welterweight AAU title this week. He won a pair of fights Tuesday and yesterday, won on default to be awarded the crown.

Compton Gains AAU Title

One of his wins came against William Bay who was runnerup in the Chicago fights recently in the 147 pound open class.

Yesterday, Compton was to fight his third bout in the eliminations and when the opponent failed to arrive, he was awarded the title on default.

In the recent Golden Gloves bouts held in Pontiac, Compton lost on a split decision and did not make the trip for the state finals in Grand Rapids.

Kubek Returns Friday to Yankee Handyman Role

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Versatile Tony Kubek, regular shortstop last season but a jack-of-all-trades in 1957, may be back on the merry-go-round when he reports to the New York Yankees this weekend.

While Kubek has been closing out a six-month Army stint, Bobby Richardson has taken over at shortstop. He's played so well that camp followers think Kubek will have a hard time dislodging him.

Manager Casey Stengel has refused to discuss his plans for Kubek but he points out Tony played third, second and all three outfield positions for the champions in 1957, when he was named American League Rookie of the Year.

Kubek will be released from the Army at Ft. Dix, N.J., tomorrow.

Eases President Toward Summit

Khrushchev Gets His Way With Ike

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roly-poly Premier Nikita Khrushchev has convinced President Eisenhower he must do business with Khrushchev himself if he wants to have any worthwhile dealings with the Soviet Union.

Eisenhower acknowledged this Wednesday, thus making a summit conference pretty certain. The President went out of his way to say Khrushchev couldn't push him into a summit meeting. Nevertheless, that's about what it amounts to.

The Eisenhower acknowledgment also makes all the talk about how much importance the President placed on a foreign ministers meeting—before there could be any summit meeting — look pretty academic now.

The bald-headed Khrushchev used two main devices to push Eisenhower into a meeting.

1. He deliberately created the Berlin crisis by demanding the West get its troops out of West Berlin. Unless some peaceful solution was found through negotiation, a showdown looked sure and war possible.

2. He used speeches and even a mammoth news conference in Moscow to urge negotiation and get the idea across to Eisenhower that the only way to negotiate was with him personally.

In this he apparently got a big assist from British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan who, after talking with Khrushchev, reportedly came away convinced a summit meeting was the only answer. Then Macmillan came to see Eisenhower.

In the past Eisenhower's stock answer to Soviet proposals for a summit conference was that first the foreign ministers had to meet and show enough results to justify a meeting of the top men.

Eisenhower repeated this at his news conference Wednesday but the other things he said showed pretty clearly he was scaling down in his own mind the importance of what the foreign ministers could accomplish.

He was asked by a reporter: "How do you feel now about the argument that the only man in the Soviet Union you can do business with is Soviet Premier Khrushchev"?

Eisenhower replied: "Well, I think it is perfectly clear that he is the only man who has the . . . authority really to negotiate.

"If you have anyone else with whom you were negotiating, I think—except in detail, or method or procedure or agenda, things like that—I really believe that the only way that man could do anything would be to be on the telephone all the time with Moscow."

Here Eisenhower seemed to be saying plainly the most that could be expected from a foreign ministers meeting was arranging details for a summit meeting and that it couldn't be expected to reach agreement on issues.

For he went on: "So in effect you would be negotiating directly with Moscow. And I think that there is probably some validity to the argument that if you are really going to talk substantive measures, and hope to get some agreement . . . on both sides, that he (Khrushchev) has got to get into the picture."

Then, as if concerned anyone ing him into a summit meeting, Eisenhower added: "I want to make this very clear . . . this doesn't mean that anyone can command anybody else to come to a summit meeting, and you can't bluff them or blackmail them or anything else."

True, Khrushchev couldn't command Eisenhower to meet with him. But he's certainly pushed the President toward such a meeting. And the Berlin crisis he created and dangles over the head of the west in a kind of blackmail.

For what Khrushchev has said in effect is: negotiate or face a showdown.

U.S. Promotes Asia Investing

Wants Private Capital Working; Would Taper Off Federal Money

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration officials plan to step up their efforts to get U. S. businessmen to play a bigger part in meeting Russia's growing economic challenge in the underdeveloped countries of Africa and Asia.

Key government departments and agencies are working on a new program, including tax concessions, designed to encourage private business to put more dollars to work in such countries.

The program has two goals. First, it is hoped that — at least eventually — increased private investment will permit a tapering off in the government's economic aid to foreign countries.

Second, it is expected to show first-hand to the peoples of the underdeveloped countries the advantages of the free enterprise system over communism.

From President Eisenhower down, administration officials have been stressing the importance of private business doing more to help backward countries develop their own economies.

The President recently said "private resources need to be drawn upon to the greatest extent possible" in helping the less developed countries.

Concerning the second goal, Henry Kearns, assistant secretary of commerce for Internatnonal Affairs, considers an "understanding and faith in the free enterprise system" to be one of the most important results of private investment abroad.

Major proposals under consideration for the new program to spur private American investments abroad include:

—Tax reductions on foreign business profits.

—Greater efforts to get other governments to ease restrictions on foreign investments.

—More selling of foreign officials and businessmen on private enterprise.

—Improvement and expansion of the foreign investment guaranty program.

The Commerce, Treasury and State departments and the International Cooperation Administration have been working on the program. The Commerce Department has enlisted the help of its Business Advisory Council to get the views of businessmen.

Resistance Hits Soys, Wheat

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans and new crop wheat met resistance today in early transactions on the board of trade but all other contracts were steady to firm.

Dealings were fairly active all around as May wheat and oats continued in good demand. Liquidation of new crop wheat was linked with reports that moisture over almost all the winter wheat belt was heavy and general.

Pressure on soybeans was related to advices that processors are well stocked with supplies for the present.

After about an hour, wheat was ⅝ cents a bushel higher to ½ lower with May at $2.08⅝; corn ⅝ lower to ⅛ higher, May $1.20; Oats ⅛ lower to ⅝ higher, May 67½; rye ¾ lower to ¼ higher, May $1.41⅞; soybeans ¼ to ⅝ lower, May $2.25⅛.

State's Fiscal Status Scorned

Labor Leader Advises Massachusetts to Avoid Michigan's Tax Woes

BOSTON (AP) —A New England labor leader says Michigan is in the worst fiscal position of any state in the nation despite glowing promises made for the sales tax when it was introduced as a measure "to save the state."

Hugh Thompson, a New England director of the AFL-CIO, appeared as a speaker at a hearing on Massachusetts Gov. Foster Furcolo's proposal for a three-cent sales tax.

Thompson told the state House the sales tax was hailed when it was first enacted by Michigan more than 20 years ago. Now, he said, Michigan's financial position is the worst in the country.

Labor leader opposition in the noisy state House hearing yesterday was interrupted several times by applause and, at times, by loud heckling.

Rep. Louis Glaser (D-Malden), who had testified in favor of the sales tax and interrupted yesterday's hearing from time to time, was led from the auditorium by court officers after some of the audience chanted "Throw the bum out."

Thompson proposed that Massachusetts look to the income tax for greater revenue.

Easter Seals Drive Reaching Its Climax

By now, every home and business firm in Oakland County has received Easter Seals through the mail from the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children, William V. Vasu, general 1959 campaign chairman, said today.

Vasu said the campaign ends Sunday. Last year, more than 500 crippled county residents were aided by the local society.

This included speech therapy, physical therapy, a school for cerebral palsy victims, classes for the blind, and transportation and recreation for the afflicted as well as information and education for parents.

Allied Chemical added about a point as its advance resumed. Eastman Kodak and Parke, Davis each gained a point or so. The latter was reported to have government permission to sell, with Merck, a new 4-in-1 vaccine. Merck showed scant change.

We're in Alaska, 59ers Exclaim

SCOTTIE CREEK, Alaska (AP) —"We're in Alaska at last!"

Mrs. Marino Sik, late of Michigan, now of Alaska, whispered to the baby she held tightly in her arms Wednesday.

The words reached the ears of 37 other modern-day adventurers clustered about Mrs. Sik and the Michigan 59ers broke out with cheers.

The 59ers had 4,500 miles behind them. They had some 500 miles to go, to the Kenai Peninsula southwest of Anchorage.

The dream of a new life in a new land, a new state, had its inception in the Detroit area months ago. The objectives were homesteads on the Kenai Peninsula.

Beset by mechanical difficulties and the uncertainties of winter travel, the caravan traveled through the northern tier of states and onto the Alcan Highway.

The caravan was buffeted by numbing winds, coated with driving snow and chilled by temperatures which dipped to as low as 43 degrees below zero.

But always in their camps there was cheer and always, from the sides of the road, there were encouraging smiles and friendly waves.

The 59ers crossed the line that separates Border City, Yukon Territory, from Scottie Creek, Alaska, at 5:30 Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Sik's husband, an assistant leader of the party, was one of the first across the line.

Ronald Jacobowitz, the leader of the 59ers, said "This is a great day for all of us."

Jacobowitz said the caravan probably would reach Anchorage, Alaska's largest city, Friday.

Anchorage has planned a gala welcome.

Involves Change in State Insurance

Plan Would Aid Treasury

LANSING (AP) — A Republican senator has come up with a plan he says would give the state treasury a one-shot, six million dollar transfusion.

Sen. Clarence F. Graebner (R-Saginaw) wants to dissolve the state accident fund which writes workmen's compensation insurance and replace it with a smaller fund covering state employes only.

Chairman of the Insurance Committee, Graebner introduced a bill yesterday to carry out his purpose.

He said the state has gotten into the running of a private insurance business, and that the accident fund has outlived its usefulness.

Graebner said he thought the state's financial difficulties enhanced chances the Legislature would buy the plan.

Liner, Tanker Collide at Sea

Freighter Hand Killed, Five Hurt, Fire Erupts on Cruise Ship

NEW YORK (AP)—The Grace liner Santa Rosa, bringing home 247 passengers from a happy Caribbean cruise, collided early today with the empty oil tanker Valchem off Atlantic City. One tanker crewman was killed and five injured.

No one was injured aboard the cruise ship, which also carried a crew of 265. But a fire broke out in the paint room in the forward part of the vessel. This was kept from spreading but difficulty was encountered in extinguishing it.

Although a number of other ships raced to the scene, neither the Santa Rosa nor the Valchem was said to be in any danger of sinking.

The Santa Rose was expected to proceed to New York, arriving in the afternoon. The Valchem was reported disabled and awaiting tugs to take it in tow. The tanker is owned by the Valchem Line.

The Coast Guard said the Santa Rosa's bow sliced half way through the tanker in the engine room section near the stern when the vessels came together at 3 a.m. about 22 miles east of Atlantic City.

The cause of the crash was not immediately reported. The weather was described as clear with a slight haze at the time.

The name of the dead tanker crewman was not learned immediately. He was said to have died of burns. His fellow crewmen were not believed badly hurt.

The 16,000-ton Santa Rosa is a new vessel placed in service by the Grace Line last June, replacing another of the same name.

Charges Car Dealers Cheat on Warranties

LANSING (AP) — A woman lawmaker wants to make sure automobile dealers make good on warranties and promised services that go with a new car purchase.

Rep. Josephine D. Hunsinger (D-Detroit) yesterday called for appointment of five House members to investigate practices of auto dealers in that area. Under the resolution, the committee would function between the 1959 and 1960 Legislatures.

"I've had an increasing number of complaints from people in my area who say they're not getting the services that are promised in the warranties that go with their new cars," said Mrs. Hunsinger.

"The grease jobs and oil changes and some of the minor adjustments that need to be made are given, but some of the more important adjustments such as focusing of headlights are not made," she said.

"We want to determine once and for all who can be held responsible for failure to live up to the agreement—the car dealer or the manufacturer," she said. "As it is, the car buyer appears to have little recourse for this kind of shoddy practice."

Blames Panic for Bolt From Judge, 60 Days

An Oak Park gas station attendant, who fled the Oakland County Courthouse Monday when he learned he might have to spend 60 days in jail, yesterday returned and apologized.

"I panicked," declared 26-year-old Calvin Peacock.

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams then suspended a 60-day jail sentence if Peacock can raise $150 to pay toward $1,268 the Friend of the Court says he owes in back support of his minor child. He is divorced from his wife.

Frank Cobb, deputy for the Friend of the Court, said this morning Peacock had not as yet turned in the $150.

Peacock slipped away from Cobb and Judge Adams' court officer, Levi Willie, Monday afternoon after the judge imposed a $300 or 60-day jail sentence on him.

Cobb said Peacock yesterday morning surrendered himself to Constable Harold Sherill in Royal Oak.

Stop Griping, Banks Advised

Official of Savings and Loan Group Says They Should Pay More Tax

EAST LANSING (AP)—A savings and loan association official said today that commercial banks should stop complaining about the tax status of savings and loan groups and begin paying a special tax for what he called their power to create money.

Norman Strunk of Chicago, executive vice president of the United States Savings and Loan League, spoke here at a conference of the Michigan Savings and Loan League.

Emphasizing the money creation power of the commercial banks, Strunk said such a bank, operating in conjunction with other banks, can create checking account money in amounts having little if any relation to coin and currency coming into the bank.

"Banks, working as a system, can lend out funds a number of times in excess of any funds entering the system," he said. "It is this power which makes commercial banks uniquely different from all other financial institutions."

He said of all the private financial institutions only commercial banks have monopoly power to create money and therefore, "It is reasonable that they should be taxed in a somewhat different way."

RUSS DAWSON

THIS LITTLE CAR WENT TO MARKET

Once upon a time, there was a little car. It was in superior shape. It's owner gave it the finest imaginable care—only high-test gasolines, lots of oil changes and plenty of polish. Then one day he sadly told the fine car he would have to sell it! First the car cried, then it wiped a tear and tried bravely to smile. "All right," sobbed the car, "sell me to Russ Dawson Motor Company at 232 S. Saginaw." The man did just that, and believe it or not, the car wasn't here more than 24 hours before another man chose it for his own!

MORAL—We don't know where bad cars go but all good cars come to RUSS DAWSON! Why not come in today and look our angels over?

State 4th in Construction

Michigan Firms Spending

LANSING (AP) —Michigan ranked fourth among all states in industrial construction in 1958 as its industries spent about 110 million dollars for expansion. The total was a jump of nearly 30 million dollars from the 1957 capital outlay.

These figures were released by the state Economic Development Department Tuesday in a study aimed at confuting reports that Michigan's industry has been marking time in recent months.

The development agency's study was based on reports appearing in the February issue of Engineering News-Record.

The report showed that Michigan's industrial construction in 1958 was topped only by Texas, New Jersey and Illinois. Construction in neighboring Ohio was pegged at 56 per cent of the Michigan figure.

A steadier trend of industrial expansion was maintained in Michigan over the past five years than the course followed by the country as a whole, the report said.

In 1954, Michigan industry spent $98,670,000 for expanded facilities. The 1958 investment rose to $123,367,000. The figure fell to $118,687,000 in 1956 and hit a low point of $80,489,000 in 1957.

But, the decline was reversed in 1958 when money spent for expansio rose to $109,965,000.

LONDON (UPI) — Film actor Michael Wilding was looking today for an apartment large enough for his wife, his father, his two sons and his ex-wife Elizabeth Taylor.

When a Daily Herald reporter expressed surprise at this arrangement, Wilding said:

"Why not? Elizabeth is coming over in May with my two boys—whom I adore. Naturally I want them to stay with me. Obviously she will come and stay with us as well. We are all good friends, you know."

Wilding is now married to wealthy Susan Nell.

He added he did not think Eddie Fisher would be coming to England at this time.

What Price Success? Just a 'Gentle' Ribbing

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The price of success on TV nowadays is to get ribbed unmercifully.

Steve Allen just got it from the Friars club which saluted him as the man of the year. Comedian Allan King said he would go down in Show Business history "alongside such great entertainers as Sammy Davis Senior." Jack Barry, the unemployed quizmaster, said that Steve would live to be as immortal as he is.

WILSON

"Just the other day," confessed Jack, "a woman pointed at me in a hotel lobby and said 'There goes what's his name!'"

Joey Adams said Steve is to be remembered as a great song writer. "You can hear one of his songs on his own program Sunday night," Joey said, "and that's the only place you can hear it."

Tom Poston, Louis Nye and Don Knotts were going to do a sketch ribbing Steve but they decided not to. In fact, they threw away their notes. "What the hell, we love the guy," explained Tom. "Besides, he's paying our salary!"

While bellying up to the bar, I was invited by Brigitte Bardot's mgr., Raoul Levy, to accompany him and BB to Moscow July 14 to keep a lunch date with Khrushchev, which he says is positively set. Inasmuch as I'm a very, very busy man and have already been to Russia, I accepted.

BRIGITTE

Jackie Gleason and Mgr. George "Bullets" Durgom have had the most amicable split in Show Biz history. "Bullets" — also mgr. of Jaye P. Morgan, Marguerite Piazza, Bobby Van, Jules Munshin and the Four Aces — wants to produce in Hollywood. Jackie wants to rest.

Durgom's lawyers sent in his resignation. Jackie said: "I hope he'll change his mind. But if he doesn't like producing, he's always got me and with me he can be anything he wants to." Durgom, who took Gleason on in '48 when Jackie was ill and unemployed, and helped make him internationally famous, would get a manager's slice (about 10%) of Gleason's $100,000-a-year CBS guarantee for about 10 years more even if he left now.

Hedy Lamaar was Viennese-waltzing at El Morocco with her first husband, Fritz Mandl, whom she's known for a quarter of a century—since the "Ecstasy" days. "He's a business wizard and he's helping me straighten out my estate in Austria," said Hedy—who's still in a legal battle with last husband, Howard Lee of Houston. Mandl, now 60ish, has a home in Vienna, one on the Riviera—and four in South America.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Shipping heir Peter Theodoracopolous left Linda Christian sitting alone after photographers'd snapped them. He said angrily: "All this publicity isn't good for me" . . . Bing Crosby bought an H. Millionaire Perry Como's listed in the N.Y. phone book under "Entertainment" merely as "Como, Perry."

Some Luster to 'Oatmeal' but Little to Enthuse

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—Last night's CBS-TV U.S. Steel Hour drama, "Night of Betrayal," is the stickiest kind of show to write about.

It had decent intentions, a small measure of luster and it aimed a little higher than most of the oatmeal the Steel Hour has been machining lately. But I find it difficult to spume up much enthusiasm for it. On the other hand, I find it difficult to pan it.

I would say the defects were two-fold. One, its script— a piece about a French resistance fighter who falls in love with the potential victim of the Germans— was a trudger.

And second, its principals — Roddy McDowall and Victor Jory —were not completely convincing. Perhaps the fault here may have been insufficient rehearsals.

SHORT SHOTS: George S. Kaufman was a delightful addition to the NBC-TV Jack Paar Show last night.

NBC-TV's Milton Berle turned out a rather leaden effort last night . . . NBC-TV's Wagon Train episode with Vera Miles was a moderately interesting essay, but its resolution was unbelievable . . . Garry Moore of CBS-TV's I've Got a Secret delivered a cigarette commercial in double talk last night and strangely enough, it was comprehensible as most of the TV pitches delivered in single talk.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Arthur Godfrey's Tuesday night CBS-TV show will fold after May 12. There's a good chance that a situation comedy with Patty McCormack, Peck's Bad Girl, will replace it.

ABC-TV's Mickey Mouse Club looks like it'll wind up in the boneyard at the end of this season . . . CBS-TV will audition a new panel show, The TV Game, on April 6 in Manhattan—Sam Levenson and Shari Lewis are the panelists and Sonny Fox the emcee.

ABC-TV will carry the Archie Moore-Yvon Durelle light-heavyweight rematch on July 15 from Montreal . . . NBC-TV's Perry Como pulled a solid 27.8 trendex Tuesday night to outdraw all his competition . . .

Carol Lawence is shaping up as the star of "Too Bad About Sheila Troy," a two part musical drama scheduled for NBC-TV's Music Theater April 16 and 23 . . . Thomas Dewey, Jawaharlal Nehru and Aldous Huxley, guests on the first CBS-TV Small World Show Oct. 12, will be on board for the show's last show of the season April 5.

Board Takes Dearborn Case

Mediators to Consider Teamsters' Attempt to Organize City Workers

DEARBORN (AP) — Dearborn has been given a reprieve until next week in its battle to keep the Teamsters Union from representing some city employes.

Allan D. Chisholm, chairman of the state Labor Mediation Board, called a full board meeting for April 3. The board will decide whether the Teamsters will represent Dearborn Department of Public Works employes.

Some trouble flared at the meeting after Chisholm and mediator Walter Mehler returned after checking 352 names on a Teamsters representation petition against city payroll records.

About 30 names did not appear in regular classifications. Dudley Sherman, secretary - examiner of the Dearborn Civil Service Commission, said they were part time employes.

Charles O'Brien, business agent for Teamsters Local 299, said Sherman demanded the part time employes' names be taken from the petition.

Then, O'Brien said, Sherman and Ralph B. Guy Jr., Dearborn corporation counsel, changed their minds and asked that all part time workers be included.

Can't Predict Impact of State Reshuffle

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams has told the state's 32,000 employes that it is impossible to predict the impact of his governmental reorganization program on any individual employe or program.

"However," Williams added, "I should like to point out that the sole purpose of reorganization is to enable us all to do an even better job of serving the citizens of Michigan.

He called for an "orderly and meaningful transfer of responsibility" from any state worker affected by the reorganization.

The first phase of the streamlining program calls for consolidation of some state agencies and inter-department transfer of certain responsibilities.

Roads Right-of-Way Purchases to Soar

LANSING (AP) — The Highway Department says its right-of-way acquisitions this fiscal year will increase some 20 per cent over the 2,768 parcels of land bought for $13,100,000 in fiscal 1958.

Commissioner John C. Mackie said the department hopes to acquire over 3,000 parcels of land, exclusive of Wayne County, during the year and step this up to more than 4,500 parcels in 1960.

Mackie added, "Dollar volume of right-of-way purchases will skyrocket when buying accelerates in Detroit where we will have to pay as much as eight million dollars a mile."

Offers Revised Edition of State Planning Book

LANSING (AP) — The secretary of state's department has published a revised edition of the 1949 compilation "Laws Relating to Planning."

The book sells for $1 and covers laws dealing with municipal, county, regional and metropolitan planning; zoning and urban renewal; transportation; land platting; public utilities; airports and recreation.

Bill for Power Firm to Buy Lands Advances

LANSING (AP)—A bill to authorize conveyane of submerged Monroe County lands to the Detroit Edison Co. reached the Senate calendar today with Conservation Committee approval.

Edison wants the land, bordering Lake Erie, to provide a channel for a water intake in connection with a nearby nuclear power plant. The property is in Frenchtown Township.

Injured Miner Lives Through 10 Explosions

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A gold miner lay helpless in a Death Valley tunnel, hearing the fuses for 18 sticks of dynamite hiss a song of destruction.

Frank Rasmussen, 35, could only wait. His right leg was shattered from a premature blast and gushing blood.

As he waited for the remaining charges to blast him into eternity, he gasped a prayer and buried his head under his arms.

Then he heard his alarmed partner, Harry Boyer, starting into the shaft from 18 feet above to see what was wrong.

Moments earlier he had lighted the 40-inch fuses to 10 two-stick charges, spaced across the end of the tunnel wall. Ordinarily he would have had two or three minutes to get out. Something went wrong this time — a faulty fuse.

Wham! With each blast two sticks of dynamite went off. Rocks and dirt flew. The noise was deafening; the concussion, terrific.

Rasmussen counted the explosions. One, two, three—ten in all, counting the first one which had slammed him against the opposite wall 10 feet away.

As the echoes died away, Boyer charged into the shaft.

All he could see of his comrade was a shoulder sticking out of the debris. Boyer grabbed it and pulled Rasmussen's head free.

Boyer tied a rope tightly around Rasmussen's leg, to stop the pouring blood. Then he packed the injured man up a ladder and drove him to the nearby village of Skidoo.

Rasmussen, from his hospital bed here, told the story Wednesday night. In traction with a leg broken in two places, he was waiting for X-rays to show how badly his back was injured.

How did he feel Sunday when he knew the blasts were about to start?

"I figured I was a goner sure."

Rasmussen was conscious all the way. Each succeeding jolt did nothing to make him feel better.

"It felt like it lifted you right off the ground each time," he said.

Gas Additive Boosts Octane

New Chemical Expected to Decrease Price Tabs of Super-Premium Fuels

NEW YORK (AP) — The Texas Co. says it has developed a chemical that will lower the cost of making high-octane gasoline for the automobile of tomorrow.

The chemical, teriary butyl acetate, is designed to increase the "octane" or anti-knock characteristics of gasoline containing tetraethyl lead. Its trade name is TLA for "Texaco lead appreciator."

Texaco said it is not making TLA in commercial quantities and is not using the additive in gasolines now. Company officials predicted, however, that the additive will come into widespread use with the introduction of new and more powerful automobile engines which will require higher octane fuel.

The new chemical, they said, increases the octane or anti-knock characteristics of the tetraethyl lead already in the fuel. Its effectiveness increases as the octane is stepped up. TLA has little effect on lower octane fuels like "regular" grade gasolines with octane ratings in the low 90s. It has no effect at all on "white" or unleaded gasoline.

Company officials said some cars on the road today will not perform efficiently even with the highest priced super-premium motor gasolines available with octane ratings of 102 or 103. Without TLA, they said, production of the still higher octane gasolines for tomorrow's automobiles would involve the installation of special refining equipment at prohibitive cost.

Actress, Nightspot Owner to Be Wed

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Negro actress Dorothy Dandridge and Jack Denison, white owner of a Sunset Strip nightspot, will be married June 30.

Miss Dandridge announced her engagement shortly before she left Wednesday for London and Madrid to make a movie.

The two met four years ago when Miss Dandridge was singing in a Las Vegas hotel and Denison was operating the dining room. She won an Oscar nomination for "Carmen Jones" in 1954 and is the star of the forthcoming "Porgy and Bess."

She is about 35, Denison about 45. Miss Dandridge was divorced from Negro dancer Harold Nicholas in 1951. Denison has also been divorced.

Senators Ask Probe of Alleged Scheme

Union Plot Uses Bigotry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two senators demanded today that the Justice Department and Civil Rights Commission investigate an alleged labor union plot to use racial tensions as a weapon in labor disputes.

The story of the scheme came out Wednesday in the Senate hearings on racketeering in the Miami area.

The committee placed in evidence a letter from a Miami Teamsters official, David Frechette, to Teamsters President James R. Hoffa asking for $15,000 to finance the plan.

Committee investigator Walter Sheridan testified the exchange of letters has disappeared from Hoffa's files. But he said the union's financial records show that $15,000 was sent by Hoffa to Frechette's Local 290 in Miami after Frechette's request.

"This should engage the immediate attention of the Civil Rights Commission and the Justice Department, if they want to pursue the exploitation of the minority race," the committee's chairman, John L. McClellan (D-Ark) told reporters. He called it a conspiracy.

Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) also urged a follow-up by federal agencies.

"To the extent this may be a practice in the labor-management field, it very definitely is something into which the Civil Rights Commission ought to inquire," Church said.

The committee has recessed its public hearings. It is scheduled tentatively to start about April 8 its long pending hearings on juke-box racketeering in Detroit.

Frechette's letter to Hoffa named Bernie Rubin, head of three Miami Laborers Union locals, as the man who had pioneered use of the racial scheme against any contractors engaged on housing projects in which FHA or VA mortgage financing would be a factor. Federal law forbids racial discrimination in housing constructed with government financial aid.

The letter asked Hoffa for $15,000 to help the Teamsters apply the purported Rubin scheme against Acme Concrete, a Miami firm then working on a home construction project.

Strike Benefits Tax Case to Be Appealed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service said today it will appeal to the Supreme Court a ruling that strike benefits paid to workers by a labor union are tax free.

Until the high court acts, IRS said it will continue to follow its long standing position that such benefits are taxable.

A federal appeals court, by a divided opinion, recently reversed a district court decision which had upheld the IRS position. The case involved a payment by the United Auto Workers Union to Allen Kaiser, a striking employe of the Kohler Co., Kohler, Wis.

IRS said it first held in 1920 that strike benefits are taxable and reaffirmed its position two years ago.

Birthplace of Truman to Become Memorial

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The frame house in nearby Lamar where former President Harry Truman was born will be dedicated as a public memorial April 19.

It was purchased several years ago by the United Auto Workers, which will turn it over to the Missouri Park Board.

Walter Reuther, president of the UAW, will make the presentation. Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) will be the principal speaker.

Truman will attend the ceremony, set for 4 p.m., the approximate hour of his birth. He will be 75 years old May 8.

Ran All the Way Home as Needle Came Near

When it was his turn for a routine skin test with a needle at Herman Keifer Hospital he ran out of the waiting room.

His mother ran after him but never caught up until he reached home — five miles away.

"Mom, that needle looked like a sword," he explained.
