HUDDLING PRIOR TO VICTORY — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (left) of Massachusetts huddles with Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee prior to his Democratic caucus victory over Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana for the post of Senate whip. Kennedy outpolled Long, 31-26, senators reported.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts today won the Senate's number two Democratic job of whip. Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania was chosen for the same post among the Republicans as the 91st Congress opened at noon.

Just before Kennedy unseated Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, Scott was chosen by Republicans as assistant minority leader over conservative Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska.

By a 31 to 26 vote of a Democratic caucus, the youngest and only surviving Kennedy brother snatched a victory which could speed his way to the White House.

Top Senate posts remain in the hands of Democrat Mike Mansfield of Montana, majority leader, and Republican Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, minority leader, who was unopposed.

Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado defeated Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan for the chairmanship of the Senate Republican Policy Committee. The vote was 25 to 18.

The House settled its leadership problems yesterday with Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts easily defeating the unprecedented challenge of Arizona Democrat Morris Udall, 178 to 58. Republican Gerald Ford of Michigan won reelection unopposed as minority leader.

On both sides of the Senate aisle, forces of political moderation or liberalism were strengthened. Long, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, had been party whip since 1965.

Scott, a leader of moderate-progressive GOP forces, won by a 23 to 20 margin.

2-YEARS FOR 91ST

The two major contests were settled just before formal ceremonies and oath-taking that launched the Congress on its two-year career.

The House and Senate will meet in joint session Monday to canvass presidential election returns, then turn to an array of issues that could provide early fireworks.

Democrats, holding a 243-192 majority in the House and a 57-43 edge in the Senate, said they would try to cooperate with Nixon.

But there were warnings that he could lose their support if Republicans tried to scuttle Great Society programs.

PAY-RAISE PROPOSAL

Both houses have before them a proposal to raise their own pay and salaries of top federal officers including the President.

Lebanon Gives OK to Soviet Warships

By The Associated Press

The Lebanese government has informed Moscow that Soviet warships will be welcome in Lebanon and told the U.S. 6th Fleet to keep out, newspapers in Beirut said today. But authorities declined to confirm the reports.

The reports said the government told the Soviet Union that Russian ships could visit Beirut if Moscow asked. The Soviet fleet, believed to total about 50 ships in the Mediterranean, has never visited Lebanon.

★ ★ ★

The right-wing newspapers Al Nahar and Al Jarida said Premier Abdulla Yafi expressed the view that U.S. Navy ships would be unwelcome because of Washington's recent decision to sell 50 Phantom jets to Israel. This would be a reversal of Lebanon's traditional pro-Western policy.

In Cairo, the authoritative newspaper Al Ahram said President Gamal Abdel Nasser has endorsed Jordanian King Hussein's call for an Arab summit meeting.

NASSER SUPPORT

The paper said Nasser sent Hussein in a message signifying agreement.

Arab League scources said, however, that only six of the 15 Arab states have so far expressed any enthusiasm for such a meeting. They are Egypt, Jordan, Lebanan, Sudan, Kuwait and Yemen.

Blasts at Oil Firm in East Injure Four

CHELSEA, Mass. (AP) — A series of explosions ripped through an oil company storage area near Boston Harbor today, injuring four persons and sending flames hundreds of feet into the air.

The original explosion apparently came in pumping equipment as a driver was filling his tank truck with gasoline at the Gulf Oil Co. yard on Chelsea Creek in the inland northern section of the harbor.

★ ★ ★

Oil company officials near the scene said the fire appeared to be subsiding about an hour after it began.

Officials said the truck driver, Theodore Shirley, was standing on top of his truck. His blazing clothes were beaten out by an unidentified driver.

And the weatherman promises residents a breathing spell from harsh biting winds and bitter cold temperatures.

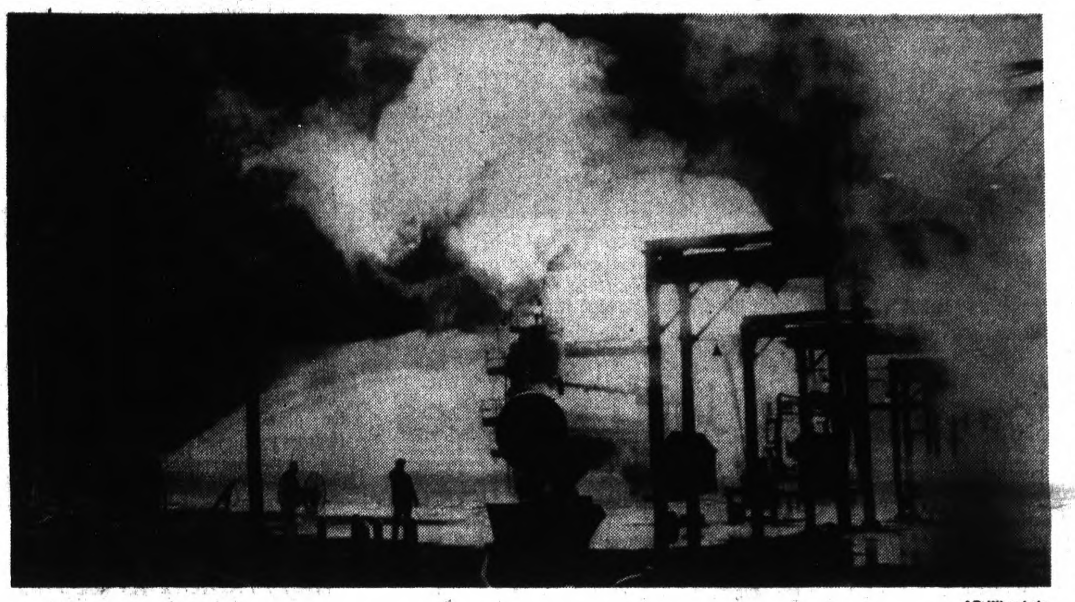

Here is the official U.S. Weather Bureau forecast for the Pontiac, Flint and Detroit areas:

TOMORROW — Variable cloudiness and colder with chance of snow flurries, high 11 to 16.

SUNDAY — Cold with a chance of snow flurries.

Sixteen was the low thermometer reading prior to 8 a.m. today. The mercury had moved up to 19 by 2 p.m. p.m.

Appeals Court: State Income Tax Is Valid

The validity of Michigan's state income tax was upheld yesterday in a decision announced by the Michigan Court of Appeals.

The tax, which went into effect in 1967 and netted the state more than $300 million during the fiscal year ending last June 30, is being contested by Pontiac attorney Richard D. Kuhn.

Kuhn of 205 Gateway, Waterford Township, said that he would carry the case to the Michigan Supreme Court.

"We have no other choice," said Kuhn. "This is too important a question to leave in this court." Kuhn's next legal step would be to ask the Supreme Court to hear the case — something it is not required to do.

DECISION UNANIMOUS

A three-judge Appeals Court panel made up of Thomas G. Kavanaghe, Charles Levin and Genesee County Circuit Judge Stuart Newblatt voted unanimously to uphold the tax act.

The decision upholds an earlier ruling by Oakland County Circuit Judge William R. Beasley.

Kuhn, the brother of State Sen. George Kuhn, and a coplaintiff, Bruce E. Duke, a Farmington contractor, claimed in their lawsuit that the tax law violates both the state and the federal constitutions.

Specifically, they challenged the provisions setting a different tax rate on individuals, corporations and financial institutions. They said that this was contrary to the 1963 Michigan Constitution's ban on a graduated income tax as to rate or base.

'NOT SO SIMILAR'

"There is not so much similarity between individuals, corporations and financial institutions and the nature of their sources of income that they must all be classified alike for tax purposes," the three-judge panel said.

GM Truck, Pontiac Set Marks

Pontiac Motor Division and General Motors Truck and Coach Division had their biggest production years ever in 1968 while U.S. auto output for the year — over 8.8 million — was the second highest total ever.

Truck production nationwide was a record with General Motors and Ford setting new marks. The total was 1,949,111, up from the 1965 record of 1,782,812.

Automotive News revealed the totals in yesterday's issue.

The year's total of 8,848,501 cars is second only to the 9,335,208 assembled in 1965, the trade magazine reported. The figure was far above the 1967 production of 7.4 million. (Ford was shut down for two months by a strike.)

PRODUCTION MARK

Officials at Pontiac Motor Division gave their record as 943,253 units compared to 866,385 in 1967. A projection of one million units has been forecast for 1969.

Besides 417,705 Pontiacs, model production in 1968 included: Tempests, 352-878; Firebirds, 105,526; Grand Prix, 67,144.

Truck and Coach officials announced the new record figure for trucks and coaches was 148,637. The previous mark was 136,705 set in 1965. In 1967 the total was 130,659.

★ ★ ★

In total automobile production, General Motors led the output with 4.6 million followed by Ford's 2.4 million, Chrysler's 1.6 million and American Motors, 268,499.

TRUCK PRODUCTION

Both GM and Ford reported record truck production. GM's total was placed at 829,590, over 74,000 more than the record set three years ago. Ford's truck production was 623,297, about 75,000 over its 1965 figure.

Car production in Canada reached a record of 890,909 cars and truck production hit another record, 277,569. Both marks were about 15 per cent over previous records.

★ ★ ★

At U.S. plants, production schedules were lower this week and last due to the holidays but 114,881 units were on the schedule this week. Production for December totalled 715,015.

MD to Transplant Thanks

Pup Faces Heart Surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — A surgeon who directed a heart and kidney transplant New Year's Eve has agreed to perform open-heart surgery on a German shepherd puppy as a gesture of gratitude to the many animals used in heart research.

Dr. C. Walton Lillehei, surgeon-in-chief at New York Hospital—Cornell Medical Center, plans to make X-ray studies today of Kai, 4-month-old pet of Allan and Kevin Fogel, 8-year-old twins of Brooklyn.

Dr. Lillehei directed a 60-man team Tuesday in transplanting the heart and kidneys of a 48-year-old psychoanalyst to three recipients.

Dr. Lillehei, a former teacher of Dr. Christiaan Barnard who performed the first human heart transplant, volunteered to perform the open-heart operation "on behalf of the many dogs who have served to benefit mankind in helping develop these techniques."

If tests confirm his diagnosis, he said, the operation may be performed sometime next week.

NLF Balks at U.S. Peace-Talk Table Plan

PARIS (AP) — The National Liberation Front said today it would be "difficult to accept" the latest American proposals to settle the procedural argument stalling the Vietnam peace talks. But an NLF spokesman stopped short of rejection.

Tran Hoai Nam, deputy chief of the Front's peace delegation, said the U.S. proposals were "tortuous" and reflected the "absurd idea" that the Paris talks were to be a two-sided affair.

★ ★ ★

The proposal was made last night by U.S. negotiator Cyrus R. Vance at a meeting with North Vietnamese Col. Ha Van Lam. Vance proposed six different forms the conference table might take, while Lau advanced another proposal for a round table.

The NLF spokesman told a news conference that all of Vance's table shapes reflected the "unacceptable" American idea that only two sides would be taking part in the discussions. North Vietnam and the NLF insist that the conference is to be a four-party affair at which the NLF is to have full status.

'ABSURD IDEA'

"It is very difficult to accept the proposals of Mr. Vance because they reflect the absurd idea of two sides," Nam said. When a newsman called attention to his wording — "difficult to accept" — and asked if his delegation rejected the U.S. proposals, Nam said with a smile: "I have already replied."

Vance, at this meeting with Lau, said the United States and South Vietnam would agree to sit at the round table proposed by Hanoi if a felt strip was stretched across the center of the table to symbolize the division of the conference participants into two "sides."

★ ★ ★

Vance met this morning with South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam for 90 minutes to give him the details of his meeting with Lau. There was no comment by either side.

The North Vietnamese, in a communique, said Vance has not yet accepted its "logical and reasonable proposal." It accused the Americans of deliberately delaying the conference.

Both U.S. and North Vietnamese proposals were said to be under study by the conference participants.

★ ★ ★

The circular table proposal symbolizes Hanoi's contention that the Vietcong's National Liberation Front must have equal status with the three other delegations at the Paris talks. The Saigon government insists on some sort of arrangement that does not represent recognition of the NLF as anything more than a subordinate of Hanoi. The wrangle over table shapes and other details has blocked the start of the expanded peace talks for two months.

IAPA Decries Panama Curbs

The Inter American Press Association (IAPA) today told the government of Panama that there is no press freedom in the country where the government can decide who will publish or edit a newspaper, and urged the Panamanian authorities to withdraw all restrictions placed on the publication of news.

★ ★ ★

The IAPA's message, signed by Chairman Robert U. Brown of the executive committee and Chairman Tom C. Harris of the committee on freedom of the press, was in reply to a cable sent by Juan Materno Vasquez, Panama's minister for the presidency, on Dec. 18.

★ ★ ★

Brown and Harris said: "We are sorry your definition of freedom of the press is unsatisfactory since as long as a government anywhere can decide who will publish or edit a newspaper there is no freedom of the press in that country.

★ ★ ★

"We cannot restore Panama to the list of countries having a free press until your government returns to the publishers the right to name their own editors and until the restrictions placed upon news in Panama are withdrawn and the people of Panama can have all the news your government now prohibits. Our decision was made after an on-the-spot visit of a mission of our committee on freedom of the press."

Jump to Flee Fire Injures Area Man

A West Bloomfield Township man is reported in satisfactory condition in a hospital near Chicago after jumping from a hotel window to escape a fire early today.

Albert Steele of 5621 Shaun suffered multiple cuts, back injuries and smoke inhalation in the extra-alarm blaze that forced about 300 guests from the Hyatt House Hotel in Lincolnwood, a Chicago suburb. He is being treated at Skokie Valley Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Firemen evacuated 25 guests trapped by heavy smoke on the second and third floors of the three-story residential section of the brick structure. Some others jumped from the second floor to escape the smoke.

The blaze was brought under control an hour later by more than 100 firemen.

Most guests were able to return to their rooms in the 500-room hotel after the smoke was cleared.

Damage was estimated at $15,000 by a deputy fire marshal. Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

GUN'S A PHONY—Sheriff Fred Thomas holds the gun carved from soap used by four prisoners in their escape from Hinds County (Miss.) Jail last night. Still at large, they held Thomas and two of his deputies hostage two hours before freeing them.

Four Armed Jail Escapees Are Hunted in Mississippi

HOPEWELL, Miss. (AP)—Sheriff Fred Thomas headed a search today for four armed prisoners who had held him and two deputies hostage after breaking from the Hinds County jail at Jackson.

Thomas was released unharmed along with James Hartzog, the jailer, and John Mowdy, a radioman, 90 minutes after the break last night.

★ ★ ★

The prisoners were identified as Kenneth Albert Bankston, 35, of Harrisville, Willie Lewis Price, 24, of Bassfield, James Ralph Murphy, 37, of Jackson, and John Wallace Brooks, 21, of Jackson.

★ ★ ★

The men carried a gun carved from soap and colored with shoe polish. They reportedly took two pistols from a desk in the cell block on the top floor of the courthouse, then took Hartzog down an elevator to the second floor. There they forced Thomas and Mowdy to accompany them.

CAR, GUN TAKEN

The hostages were released on a country road about 35 miles south of Jackson. The escapees took Thomas' two-day-old car, his revolver and about $270.

★ ★ ★

Thomas stayed to direct a search party of about 200 federal, state and county authorities. His car was found late yesterday, concealed behind bushes near Hopewell.

★ ★ ★

A high speed chase took place along Interstate 55 before the hostages were released. The escapees monitored radio messages as they sped south in the police car.

★ ★ ★

Bankston was awaiting trial for the $23,000 robbery of a bank at Plain on Sept. 11 and the $13,000 robbery of a bank at Newhebron. Price, who had been sentenced to life for rape, was awaiting an appeal.

AWAITING APPEAL

Murphy was awaiting the appeal of two seven-year concurrent terms for burglary. Brooks was held on a burglary charge.

Utilities in State Repair Winter Havoc

By The Associated Press

Below-zero weather in the state has eased, giving utility repairmen a chance to repair a multitude of downed power and telephone lines.

Columbiaville, in Lapeer County, is the only area reported without power this week, but the danger of more outages continues in the central Lower Peninsula, where more than 60,000 customers were without electricity for a time last weekend.

Ice coats power lines in the area, and more high winds could down additional lines, a power company spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Telephone repairmen in central and eastern Michigan are trying to complete repairs of some 9,000 phones knocked out over the weekend.

WATERWAYS HIT

The chill affected state waterways as six-inch thick ice on the Detroit River trapped a 500-foot freighter yesterday. A Coast Guard cutter freed the vessel an hour later. An ice jam in the St. Marys River forced cancellation of one private operator's plans to continue trading in Lake Superior through Jan. 14.

★ ★ ★

Schoolchildren received an extended holiday vacation this week in a number of northern Lower Peninsula school systems because of transportation snarls caused by snow.

Snow, freezing rain and sleet today prompted travelers warnings for the central plains.

★ ★ ★

Freezing rain and sleet spread across Missouri to Kentucky and Tennessee. Cold rain spreading north from the Gulf Coast brought warnings of icing in northern Georgia and Alabama.

Birmingham

Refuse Unit to Condemn Transfer Site

BIRMINGHAM — The Southeast Oakland County Incinerator Authority yesterday voted to condemn property owned by this city and located in Troy for a rubbish transfer station site.

Authority attorney John S. Slavens said court proceedings on the condemnation might not begin for as long as six months.

The move came after about 21 months of haggling between the authority, the Birmingham City Commission and area residents over the proposed transfer facility.

The resolution to condemn the property, located west of Coolidge between 14 Mile and Maple, was approved by a 12-1 vote, with Birmingham City Manager Robert S. Kenning opposed.

WOULDN'T CONSIDER SALE

Kenning had stated previously that Birmingham would not consider sale of the property to the authority, as authority officials had requested.

Instead, city commissioners Monday night drafted a proposed lease for the property. However, Allen J. Kronbach, manager of the authority, reported the lease, over a 50-year period, would cost the authority 3½ to 4½ times the appraised value of the land.

★ ★ ★

The two-level structure planned by the authority would be used for the transfer of rubbish from garbage trucks of five area communities to larger carrier vans, which would then transport the refuse to the authority's land-fill site in Avon Township.

Of 14 communities which make up the authority, only Birmingham, Beverly Hills, Clawson, north Royal Oak and part of Troy would use the facility.

The commission held a public hearing Jan. 22, 1968, on whether to sell the property to the authority, but postponed its decision to allow time to study objections.

On March 11, the commission established a study committee consisting of three commissioners and representatives of two home owners' groups opposing the proposed station.

The committee visited a number of transfer sites in the Detroit metropolitan area and journeyed to Seattle, Wash., May 2-3 to study two comparable stations there.

Though the nearest residences are 1,400 feet away from the Coolidge Road site and separated from it by railroad tracks, property owners have complained property values would be diminished because of noise, dust, rodents and traffic.

Wooden Partition Cited as Fire Cause

A wooden partition placed too close to a furnace has been cited as the cause of a fire at Webb Fuel Co., 351 S. Paddock, which resulted in $7,000 damage yesterday.

City Fire Chief Charles Marion said today the dried-out wood in the partition reached its kindling point and caught fire at about 3:20 a.m.

The blaze primarily damaged an office area, Marion said. Some $4,000-worth of damage was done to the building, including portions of the rafters and roof, he reported. About $3,000-worth of office equipment was destroyed.

Firemen were at the scene for about two hours.

Meadow Brook Review

Flawed 'Bert' Is Disappointing

By DON BRAUNAGEL

Meadow Brook Theatre's second venture into contemporary drama is less satisfactory than the first.

Last season's excellent "And People All Around" brought anticipation of more original offerings, but "The Second Coming of Bert," which opened last night and which will run through Feb. 2, is disappointing.

Some of the flaws may be blamed on the flu, which cost the John Fernald troupe some rehearsals, but time won't heal all "Bert's" wounds.

Author Ronald Chudley, who also plays the title role, has written a tragicomic allegory about human faith that doesn't raise any new questions or make any new points. And the subject of religious belief, potentially touchy and thought-provoking, is caricatured so broadly that it probably won't offend anyone.

BERT'S THE ONE?

The play concerns a fugitive, Bert Sling, who stumbles into an isolated colony of religious fanatics expecting the second coming of their First Shepherd. Despite Bert's bumbling manner and protests, they decide he's the one.

Among the villagers, who spend most of their time working, praying or physically punishing themselves because they believe the price of joy is pain, are:

- One who doubts Bert, named (what else?) Thomas;
- The Arch-Shepherd, who hates to give up his high office—which includes the right to "purify" the bodies of village girls—to such an unprophetlike character as Bert;
- Two wordly plotters, Charles and Isaiah, who, after the village's money is collected to be burned as an act of faith, plan to keep the faith;
- And, mostly, persons whose blind faith in their leaders allows them to do what Isaiah calls "moral somersaults," as when they ignore their precept of not taking a life and agree to an execution, reasoning that death provides the ultimate in the "blessings of pain."

SOME GOOD STAGING

There are some good scenes: Charles and Isaiah discussing faith and morality, Isaiah humming a religious chant as he steals the money, and Bert getting advice from a laborer on how to properly deliver a blessing.

This last is especially ironic as the two men switch roles and the laborer blesses with such feeling that Bert is moved.

The shortage of rehearsals was evident as the quality of acting varied widely, and, hopefully, director Fernald will smooth it out. Douglas Seale was a proper rascal as Isaiah, and James Sutorius was bright and expressive as the worker who helps Bert.

Chudley the actor made Bert a bit too foolish, especially when he walked with short, mincing steps, and Marshall Borden as the Arch-Shepherd shifted moods too quickly.

DOUBTS THOMAS' EFFECT

Victor Holchak was a dubious Thomas, evincing a tendency toward melodrama and using an erratic southern accent for no apparent reason.

Diane Stapley, Chudley's wife, plays a minor role but makes one of the best contributions to the play with her musical score. The chorus of villagers sounds pleasant, even when interrupted by screams during the "festival of pain."

★ ★ ★

The setting, designed by Anna Gisle and executed by James MacRostie, is functional, with a Calvarylike hill topped with a hanging tree, and a chapel area with a picture of the First Shepherd.

His fingers are in the victory symbol. But he seemed to be winking.

Minimum Salary for Police, Prosecuting Attorneys Urged

LANSING (AP)— Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Thursday he will urge the Legislature this year to pass laws providing minimum annual salaries of $7,000 for policemen and $12,000 for prosecuting attorneys.

In addition, he will seek passage of a constitutional amendment to permit counties to join together to form multicounty prosecutor districts.

Under the proposal, Kelley said, the state would pay the difference between the minimum salary and the salary appropriated by the county for the office of prosecuting attorney.

The minimum salary outlined by the attorney general provides a $12,000 annual salary for counties with a population not greater than 19,999. Prosecutors in counties with more than one-half million persons would get an annual minimum salary of $20,000.

LOCAL FUNDS

Under Kelley's plan, counties could boost minimum salaries with local funds.

Kelley's proposed plan for policemen would also be proportioned according to population.

★ ★ ★

If Kelley's plan were adopted by the Legislature, prosecuting attorneys and police officers would be required to devote full-time to their jobs and not practice law on the side or moonlight.

Kelley's police plan is the same as a bill introduced in the last session of the Legislature.

OTHER PROPOSALS

In addition, Kelley said he would urge changes in state election laws to:

- Make it easier for students at universities and colleges to register and vote.

★ ★ ★

- Provide a four-year registration period instead of the current two-year period.
- Liberalize laws pertaining to write-in votes for presidential electors.
- Elect delegates to county convention on the first Monday in April 1972, and every four years thereafter.

★ ★ ★

Also, Kelley said he would recommend that the attorney general be given the same privileges as prosecuting attorneys in granting immunity to witnesses, and permit prosecuting attorneys to utilize grand jury records in prosecuting those persons indicted by the grand jury.

The average person breathes in 35 pounds of air each day, six times as much as the food and drink he consumes.

The Beginning Of An Amphicat

A One-Cylinder Engine Is Featured

TV Show Will Feature Firm

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The "Great Banana Split Race" takes place at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow when four Kellogg's comic characters take a trip through the Amphicat Division of Mobility Unlimited Inc., 44 S. Squirrel, via NBC television.

★ ★ ★

The four Banana Splits — Fleegle, Drooper, Bingo and Snorky — will then take their Banana buggies — modishly decorated Amphicats — on a race through Amphicat's testing grounds.

The TV show has been using the versatile amphibious vehicles since it first went on the air last September.

The company officials say the vehicles, which are normally bright red, can go practically anywhere on land or in the water on six low pressure balloon tires.

YOU CRAWL ALONG

The cycolac plastic bodies — powered by a one-cylinder, 16-horsepower, two-cycle engine, — can crawl over logs, across marshes and even over ice and limited amounts of snow.

When the Amphicat hits water, the tires begin acting as paddle wheels, propelling the craft at two miles per hour. The floating craft can climb from water onto ice.

★ ★ ★

The vehicle which can go around 35 miles per hour on dry land, is becoming popular with hunters and fishermen, conservation officials, mining areas, and at ski resorts.

The company recently received a letter from a group of Cranberry pickers telling how the Amphicat was so useful since it rolled through the bushes without breaking any branches.

'A FUNMOBILE'

The machine is so constructed that the driver can run over a man without hurting him in any way.

"It's like a funmobile," said E. J. Barney, co-owner of the Amphicat.

★ ★ ★

Sportsmen aren't the only ones who can use the Amphicat, according to Barney who indicated that it could be used to travel through the countryside on fun trips during the summer and even taken in the lake for short boatlike rides.

Barney of 1380 Square Lake and his neighbor and business partner, Andre DuBel of 1310 Square Lake, first acquired U.S. distribution rights for the vehicle about two years ago from the original inventor, Ron Beehoo, a Canadian.

SMALL SHOP

Beehoo had been making the machines for five years in a small shop. He calls them Aquacats.

After the American partners began distribution and sales of the Amphicat, they redesigned the body and generally upgraded the machine.

★ ★ ★

Orders began coming in so quickly that Beehoo was unable to supply enough vehicles. Arrangements were made for a factory in Mississippi to mass-produce the Amphicat last August.

Now, some 40 Amphicats are produced daily but there is still an enormous backlog of orders, according to Barney.

UNDER $1,400

The Amphicat sells for under $1,400.

Joseph Barbera of Hanna-Barbera Productions contacted Amphicat owners last year about using the vehicles in the Kellogg's show.

★ ★ ★

Plans are in the offing for two other television shows using Amphicats. One show, to be called "El Mondo," would use the vehicle to take viewers into various parts of the world where tourists previously had to walk. The second projected show, "The Rockhounds," will use the Amphicats to reach areas to look for unusual rocks.

Shelby to Resume Pay Talks With Police, Fire Bargainers

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Township officials and representatives of the Shelby police and fire departments will meet tomorrow to attempt to resolve a six-month-long wage-bargaining impasse.

The bargaining parties have agreed to reenter negotiations for a new contract to replace the one which expired last July 1. Ruben Gomez, chairman of the fire department's bargaining team will lead his group into talks with township officials tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

On Jan. 13, Detective Glen McAlpine, chairman of the police department's bargaining team and president of the Shelby chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police, will undertake the same task for the police department.

Negotiations stopped "quite some time ago," according to township Supervisor Kirby Holmes. He said both bargaining teams turned down a $700 package increase offered by the township board.

EACH HAS OWN LEVY

Holmes noted that each of the public safety agencies operates under a separate two and one half mill levy voted by taxpayers. "At the present time, they draw about $205,000 each from their respective tax levies," he said.

A Shelby patrolman or fireman presently starts at $6,400 per year. After one year his salary is $8,000, where it then stays until he advances in rank.

Both groups had originally asked for a salary hike and other benefits amounting to $3,000 per man. They later reduced that figure to a $1,650 raise per man.

"It's safe to say that the entire board wants to give the 20-man fire department and the 15,man police force the raises they deserve. However, our 'pie' by law is just two and a half mills per department," Holmes continued.

LAW SETS CEILING

"And it's is also against the law to begin deficit spending, so there is a definite ceiling on how much can be offered in raises."

Holmes indicated that the two public safety groups probably would submit new proposals to the board for consideration. "Hopefully," he said, "we can get the whole thing cleared up once and for all."

Edison Reports Power Restored to North Branch

NORTH BRANCH—The 1,000 residents of this agricultural community north of Lapeer have had electric service almost completely restored, according to Keith Hunt, Lapeer district manager for Detroit Edison Co.

Electric power was lost in this and many other Thumb area communities when power lines broke after last Friday's ice storm.

Hunt said that by yesterday morning the last of the inoperative Edison substations were finally repaired and that electric power should be available to all customers.

Most areas had power restored within 48 hours after the storm—but restoration to North Branch, one of the hardest hit communities, was delayed. About half the town had power restored within 72 hours, but not before a number of emergency situations arose.

HAZARDS CURBED

Fire and sanitation hazards were finally reduced when a portable generator allowed the village electric pump to function.

A relief center was established to provide food and sleeping facilities for power failure victims.

★ ★ ★

Edison crews worked round the clock from last Saturday to repair the downed lines, according to Hunt.

Often, he added, lines would be repaired and electric power supplied to an area, only to have other lines break, causing another blackout.

No Basis for Criminal Action Seen in Highland Tax Case

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — "Definite inequities" may exist in this township's tax assessments, but no evidence of criminal intent has been found, according to State Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert Dietrick.

★ ★ ★

The findings of the attorney general's office, the latest in a two-year fight by the Highland Township Taxpayer's Association to have township officials removed from office, confirmed an earlier judgment by S. Jerome Bronson, then Oakland County prosecutor.

★ ★ ★

The association had determined to carry the matter to the attorney general after a State Treasury Department report substantiated many of their claims about unfair assessments.

Dietrick said that State Police investigators assigned to the case found "many irregularities," but no basis for criminal action.

NO INDICATION

The Treasury Department investigators had said earlier that they could find no indication that Township Supervisor Louis F. Oldenburg had received reimbursement for tax rebates totaling some $2,000 which he reportedly paid out of his own pocket in the last four years.

The supervisor said he felt he should pay the rebates because he was responsible for the overassessments involved.

★ ★ ★

One of the rebates, to Walter Kwiek, 1775 Addaleen in the sum of $1,148.24, touched off the investigations in the spring of 1967.

★ ★ ★

The largest tax inequity found by the Treasury Department concerned the firm of Numatics Inc., 1450 N. Milford, whose assessed valuation increased from $13,225 in 1966 to $141,000 in 1967 on real property and from $121,000 in 1966 to $518,000 in 1967 on personal property.

NO ASSESSED VALUATION

The investigators also found a piece of lake-front property 4,000 feet by 200 feet, labeled as a private park for Dunham Lake Estates residents only, appearing on the 1966 tax roll only as "Park" with no description and no assessed valuation or taxes.

★ ★ ★

Private parks are not exempted from property taxes, the investigators said.

★ ★ ★

State officials have also said they think assessment inequities will be reduced or eliminated with the hiring of an outside appraiser, Clarence Forgette, to do a complete reassessment of the township.

Forgette's reappraisal was to be completed last Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

While criminal action has been eliminated, the possibility of civil action by the association against Oldenburg still exists.

★ ★ ★

Association officials say the group intends to continue its effort to remove the supervisor from office.

House in Lapeer Destroyed by Fire

LAPEER—A fire which broke out yesterday morning destroyed the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Evoy, 737 N. Wilder, officers from the Lapeer County Sheriff's Department reported.

There were no injuries in the blaze, which was reported at 10:31 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Evoy, who was home at the time with his teen-age son Bruce and daughter Sandy, told police he heard a loud noise in a garage adjoining the house, officers said.

★ ★ ★

When he investigated, Evoy reportedly said, he found "everything in flames." While a heater in the garage may have been responsible, according to officers, the cause of the fire is under investigation.

★ ★ ★

The home was insured for $17,000, officers said.

The Attica Township Fire Department assisted the Lapeer Fire Department on the call.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Officers said Legris' truck jackknifed on slick pavement and when it struck the concrete on the median he was thrown from the cab.

★ ★ ★

Legris was pronounced dead on arrival at Botsford Hospital in Farmington.

METAMORA TOWNSHIP — A Lapeer youth was killed yesterday when the auto he drove collided nearly head-on with another on M24 near Brocker.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Shot to death was Mrs. Lillian Bruff, 60. Madeline Mills, 39, was reported in critical condition in a Flint hospital.

★ ★ ★

Genesee County sheriff's deputies are holding W. A. Mills, 42, on an open charge of murder in connection with the shooting.

Police said Mills had apparently been arguing with his estranged wife for most of the day.

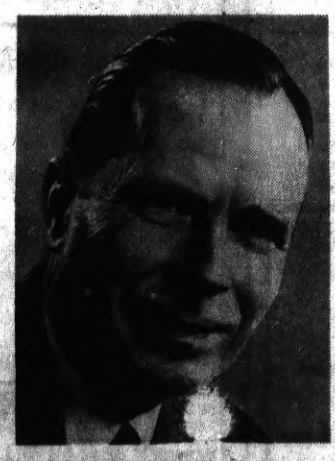

Northern L. P. Reports December Snow Mark

HOUGHTON LAKE (UPI) — A record snowfall, three times heavier than normal for December in northern Lower Michigan, was reported yesterday by the Weather Bureau at Houghton Lake.

A total of 30.4 inches of snow fell here last month. The previous record for December was 25 inches, in 1951.

The combined total of 49.3 inches for the months of November and December also set a record.

2 Possible Witnesses Sought in Beating

RAY EPPERT

DETROIT (AP) — Police today searched for two parking garage customers in hopes of identifying the three teen-age attackers of Ray Eppert, 66, retired board chairman of Burroughs Corp.

The two customers reported to a woman ticket-taker at Kennedy Square underground garage in downtown Detroit Monday they had seen three youths acting suspiciously.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, youths cornered Eppert in the men's room at the garage, beat him severely and robbed him of a gold watch and $70.

Eppert, who suffered partial paralysis, has been hospitalized since the beating. His condition is reported improving, but still serious.

TO VIEW MUG SHOTS

Detective Sgt. John Maniaci said police wanted to find the two customers who reported the youths so they could look through police mug shots of suspects. No arrests have been made.

★ ★ ★

Eppert, an area civic leader, resides at 295 Lone Pine Court, Bloomfield Hills.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, a Negro nurse volunteered to provide nursing service to Eppert free of charge.

★ ★ ★

Dr. R. W. DeBusk, a friend of Eppert, said the nurse, whom he did not identify, "wanted to do this because of everything Eppert has done for Negroes."

PROBABLY WILL ACCEPT

"I expect we will probably take her up on her offer," the doctor said.

Timely Warning to Snow Shovelers

Now that winter seems to have gained a foothold in the Oakland County area, we can expect the snow to start piling up. Unfortunately, this annually leads to the piling up of related problems—the collapse of snow shovelers.

The American Medical Association suggests that if you have any doubts about your physical fitness, don't shovel snow. Get the job done some other way. Hire someone to do it, or use power equipment to clear away the white stuff.

★ ★ ★

It is much less expensive to employ these alternatives than to risk health impairment or death, the AMA emphasizes. We heartily concur with the AMA warning and guidelines.

For those who are physically fit, the AMA says it is safer to use a small shovel, filling it only partly. If possible, it is also better to push the snow rather than lift it.

Also wear a cold weather mask or cover the face with several layers of a knit scarf to avoid inhaling cold air while under physical exertion.

★ ★ ★

Even for the physically fit, the AMA warns, the motto should be: Easy does it. Do the job in stages and rest periodically.

★ ★ ★

These suggestions are all aimed at avoiding any excessive strain on your heart. But the AMA goes one step further, warning shovelers to wear footwear that is not likely to slip on icy surfaces. Falls also take their toll each year in broken and dislocated bones.

No Job Too Big for Private Enterprise

Those who tend to think that in the final analysis the really big jobs can be accomplished only by collective action under the direction of Government are like the man who can't see the big picture because he is looking through the wrong end of the telescope.

Every day we see pictures and read stories of gigantic undertakings that are carried out as a matter of course by various industries. One of the more noteworthy of these has been the establishment of ocean sicence programs by hundreds of the Nation's largest corporations.

A massive search is under way to find and develop new petroleum reserves under the sea. U.S. companies are now operating 200 offshore rigs in the coastal waters of their Country and 17 other nations. Since the search began 20 years ago, the petroleum industry has invested nearly $15 billion in offshore exploration and production around the world.

The Buck Rogers techniques of offshore oil exploration include deep-diving submersibles equipped with lights, mechanical arms, TV viewing systems and movie cameras. The mobile drilling units that are used in offshore work are incredibly expensive, the individual cost of which can run up to $15 million. The average offshore well costs $413,000 compared with $60,500 on land, and it costs as high as $10,000 a day to operate in offshore waters, and up to $25,000 a day in foreign waters.

★ ★ ★

But in spite of these awesome figures, no one has ventured to claim that offshore oil exploration is "too big a job" for private enterprise. Heaven help the taxpayers if it were.

Unnecessary Spending Result of Unheeded Advice

There's a good reason to believe we could reduce federal spending considerably if some government agencies would merely listen to advice.

Take, for example, a recommendation from the U.S. General Accounting Office (GAO). Following a study in 1962, GAO recommended that unused space in aircraft of the Military Air Command (MAC) be utilized for shipping unaccompanied baggage of military personnel, rather than sending it commercially at greater expense.

★ ★ ★

A new study reveals the problem has not been entirely corrected. During a recent year, MAC aircraft traveled between the United States and Europe with enough unused space to transport 9.5-million pounds of additional cargo.

★ ★ ★

In that same year, MAC moved 13.2-million pounds via commercial channels. According to GAO, if the air command had moved only 6.8-million of those pounds itself, the resultant savings would have been about $1.7 million.

It would seem from this corner that some agencies are like some plain, ordinary people: they hear, but they don't listen.

Nixon to Dump Bliss by Early Spring

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

By early spring, Republican National Chairman Ray Bliss will have been replaced by a Nixon-picked successor, despite broad party leader sentiment that he be retained.

BIOSSAT

Republican governors are nearly universal in their praise of Bliss as a skillful technician and organizer. Reports indicate that a sizable number of national committeemen feel the same way.

But the evidence is that President-elect Richard Nixon is absolutely unswayed by these expressions of support for Bliss and intends to have a chairman of his own choosing as soon as it is practicable to make the change.

★ ★ ★

Bliss, meantime, has summoned the GOP National Committee to a meeting in Washington Jan. 17, just three days before Nixon's inauguration. It seems unlikely that the proposed change in the chairmanship will occur that early.

At Nixon's request, the scheduled meeting could be postponed. Or he could simply ask that a special one be held later to ratify his personal choice for the job.

SOME DAMAGE

Nixon forces acknowledge that some damage to the party could occur if governors and others pressed their support for Bliss to the limit. But nothing any governor or other leader has said indicates a wish to push the matter that far. It is a recognized prerogative of a president to have his own chairman.

As this reporter has stated in earlier postelection accounts, Nixon is about to embark on perhaps the most ambitious party-rebuilding effort ever undertaken by a modern-day president.

★ ★ ★

He clearly was not impressed by 1968 results which brought the Republicans only four additional congressmen, five added senators and a pickup of 50-odd state legislators.

Nor is he pleased that national opinion polls consistently showed American voters indicating Democratic rather than Publican party identification by margins of 12 to 15 per cent.

'EXTREMELY DIFFICULT'

Bliss has told newsmen that it is extremely difficult to lift the Republican end of that ratio by even a point or two.

The Nixon people simply do not believe it and regard this as the kind of negative thinking which has handicapped the GOP in its long fight to regain majority party status in the nation.

★ ★ ★

Nixon forces say the new president will not be content until the party percentages favor the Republicans, until the GOP can win Congress by comfortable margins and until the party can elect a president on its own strengths rather than the Democrats' weaknesses.

Nixon and his chief White House political assistant, John Sears, will manage this restoration effort, though plans also call for installing a new political technician at executive-director level in the National Committee hierarchy.

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Must Protest Red Beatings

WASHINGTON — Probably the biggest surprise in connection with the return of the 82 crewmen of the Pueblo is the failure of the United States government to announce as yet what protest, if any, will be made because of the treatment received by the American sailors while they were held captive.

LAWRENCE

There are many international agreements which provide that prisoners must be treated in a humane manner and certainly must not be tortured while in captivity.

Inasmuch as the Pueblo incident did not occur during wartime, it is even more regrettable that the North Koreans mistreated the Americans and in some cases actually beat them brutally.

★ ★ ★

The naval vessel may or may not have been inside North Korean territorial waters, but even assuming that it had gotten a few miles off its course, does this justify the action taken by the North Korean government in imposing physical punishment on the members of the crew?

There are, of course, many North Koreans who venture across the armistice line and are captured, and from time to time exchanges of prisoners have been made. But there has been no evidence that South Korea has engaged in any form of brutality, and certainly the United States has not done so.

INTERNATIONAL LAW

Under such circumstances, it becomes apparent that the incident is more than a controversy between North Korea and the United States. The whole theory of international law is involved.

The question arises also whether the United Nations should take some action. First of all, an international tribunal should be given the facts as revealed by the returning crewmen. Then a report to the General Assembly would be logical, so that a resolution could be adopted condemning the ill treatment which the Americans received.

★ ★ ★

The United States, on the other hand, could decide that the incident deserved bilateral discussion. Demands could be transmitted to the North Korean government that the individuals who perpetrated the acts of brutality be punished, and that assurances be given that any prisoners taken in the future will be treated humanely.

The United States could also, if it desired, impose a blockade on North Korean ports if no satisfactory answer were given to a note requesting the punishment of those guilty of mistreating the American crewmen.

★ ★ ★

If the whole episode is brushed aside as just one of those unfortunate incidents which occur in the course of intelligence work, there will be a tendency on the part of other nations to do what the North Koreans have done.

Have you ever been told to go fly a kite? My friend Will Yolen, president of the International Kitefliers Association has been told many times — but never as emphatically as of now.

He and his Isabelle, his wife who doubles as a kite caddy, will take off on a six-week kite bash later this month. He will do battle against the kite champs of Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, Panama, Chile and Peru during the 25,000-mile trip.

TRUE AMATEUR

Yolen is one of the last amateur athletes left on earth. Kiting is for fun. He makes his living as a vice president of the New York public relations firm of Hill and Knowlton.

Yolen opened New York parks to kite-flying by means of getting himself arrested and acquitted for not only flying a kite in Central Park but one bearing a banner reading, "Vote for John Lindsay for mayor."

The office of Defense Secretary Clark Clifford has informed the nation's Congressional Medal of Honor holders that the law prevents it from picking up the tab for the motel and hotel rooms that have been reserved for the heroes and their wives at President Nixon's inauguration.

It would come to about $10,000. The Vietnam war costs $2 billion a month.

It's not true that there's a law against such Defense Department spending. The Medal of Honor winners' hotels were paid for by the department in the past. There is a departmental exigency fund for such purposes. But Clifford says nix.

Wonder what John Foster Dulles would be thinking if he were alive these days. In early October 1957, he invited Bill Hearst Jr., to his office in the State Department.

Reader Comments on Senator's Question

State Senator Huber recently asked why liberal priests supported open housing laws, yet did not speak out against the immorality of having a naked poet appear at Oakland University. I suspect it's because these priests recognize what is real, widespread immorality and what is an isolated example of exhibitionism too silly to bother with. If Senator Huber wastes any more time worrying about a naked poet instead of the more insidious problems affecting our people, I shall be forced to worry, too, not about the poet or the students, but about Senator Huber.

Question and Answer

Is it legal for non-property owners to vote on a millage increase that they don't have to pay? In Waterford school election Dec. 7, all registered voters could vote. I firmly believe only those who foot the bill should be allowed a voice in the matter.

TAX POOR PROPERTY OWNER

REPLY

Yes, it's legal. Mr. Giddis of Waterford Schools points out that State law says only property owners can vote on bond issues, but any registered voter may vote for a millage issue that is for five years or less. Any millage proposal that will continue more than five years is restricted to property owners. The reason usually given for allowing votes by residents who aren't property owners is that indirectly the renter pays for it, too, since cost of tax, maintenance, etc., must be covered in the rent paid to the property owner who gets the bill for those costs.

Misnomer

Boston Record American

Because he received less than half of the popular votes cast, Richard M. Nixon will enter the White House on Jan. 20 as a so-called "Minority President." This is a serious handicap since it means the incoming Chief Executive was given no clear-cut mandate for action.

Practically, this is true. Yet we are indebted to Hugh D. Adair for pointing out that the term "Minority President" is something of a misnomer for describing the situation. In a larger sense, all of our recent Presidents could be so described.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Adair, an official of the American Legion in San Antonia, Texas, writes:

"We hear some snide remarks about a 'Minority President,' but who wasn't? In the last nine elections less than 59 per cent of those eligible voted in two of them; over 59 per cent voted in four of them, and an even 59 per cent voted in two including the last one.

"Roughly speaking this means only a little over 30 per cent of the eligible voters of this country elected our last nine Presidents. Doesn't that make all of them 'Minority Presidents'?"

★ ★ ★

The answer, of course, is yes. And it is a shameful answer which reflects no credit on far too many citizens. Almost 50 million failed to vote last Nov. 5 although privileged to do so.

Remember the argument that Social Security is a form of "insurance," providing retirement benefits you build up during your working years? Well, it never was precisely that, as the Social Security Administration itself is making clear.

★ ★ ★

The Administration, in a report submitted to the House Ways and Means Committee, is suggesting limitations on Social Security payments to Federal workers who draw civil service pension benefits. The employes are those who have become eligible for Social Security while engaged in non-Government work.

★ ★ ★

Superficially, that may seem equitable — restricting the money a retired employe can get from one source, the Federal Government. Actually, however, the civil service benefits are comparable to those arranged by thousands of private employers and which have no effect on Social Security benefits.

As yet, anyway. Now that the Government has disposed of that insurance notion, who knows what someone in Washington may think of next?

Nixon Completing Top Level of Administration

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President-elect Nixon, judged in "full good health to assume the challenges" of office, is preparing to complete the top-level roster of his new administration.

Nixon plans to announce Saturday the selection of Elliot L. Richardson, attorney general of Massachusetts, to be undersecretary of state, the No. 2 position in that department.

★ ★ ★

U. Alexis Johnson, now U.S. ambassador to Japan, is to be named undersecretary for political affairs, Washington sources reported.

These appointments, to be announced formally by the president-elect and Secretary of State-designate William P. Rogers, lead off a series of sub-Cabinet selections to be made before the Jan. 20 inauguration.

OBLIQUE CONFIRMATION

Soon to follow: Nominations to top jobs in the Agriculture Department and the Pentagon.

Nixon aides would not confirm the State Department choices. But Nixon seemed to do so obliquely in a bantering exchange with Robert H. Finch, who is to be secretary of health, education and welfare. He said Finch had tried to enlist Richardson as a top deputy for his department, but isn't going to get him.

The president-elect also said there will be six, perhaps as many as 10 Californians in the ranks of assistants and undersecretaries yet to be named.

★ ★ ★

"The reason is a conscious effort is being made in the administration to provide geographic balance," he said at a Thursday luncheon honoring Finch, lieutenant governor of California.

"There is a tendency in Washington for executive and administrative officials to be selected too much from the New York, New England and Washington, D.C., part of the country," he said. ". . . We have tended to look to the Midwest and the far West."

ALL POSTS OF U.S.

That way, he said, the new administration can seek out the top talent in all sections of the nation.

Nixon underwent a 90-minute physical examination at the Long Beach office of Dr. John C. Lungren, his personal physician. Lungren pronounced his health excellent for the tasks ahead.

★ ★ ★

He said all aspects of the examination showed Nixon to be within normal limits. That included Xrays, an electrocardiogram, laboratory studies, pulse rate and a blood pressure check.

Nixon ends his 12-day holiday vacation today by flying to Chicago to attend a dinner honoring two of his Cabinet nominees, Secretary of Labor-designate George P. Shultz and Secretary of the Treasury-designate David M. Kennedy. Afterward, he plans to return to New York, his base during the period of government transition.

BOYHOOD RECALLED

Nixon spent a sentimental Thursday evening recalling his California boyhood and told the people he called "home folks" that he won't let them down in the four years ahead.

"You've reminded me of the strength of my background, of the roots that I have," Nixon said. "You've reminded me therefore of the responsibility that I have. I can't let you down and I won't let you down and we'll be a better country for it."

★ ★ ★

There was a Hollywood flavor to the homecoming show which drew some 9,000 people to the Anaheim Convention Center—and there were certain incongruities.

"I'm proud that I came from small-town America" said Nixon. "I'm proud to stand before you."

BIG SUBURB NOW

But what was a small town in California 56 years ago when Nixon was born is a populous suburb of Los Angeles now, and a citadel of conservative Republicanism.

What he heard was a series of voices from his past, his childhood and early days as a Whittier, Calif., lawyer, recalling incidents of long ago. Nixon acknowledged he was "a little embarrassed, you know, talking to home folks about those years so many years ago."

Television personality Art Linkletter was the master of ceremonies and interviewed the people who knew the young Nixon.

Among them was Ralph Shook, said to have saved Nixon, then 3, from being trampled by a horse.

A NUISANCE

"Just to make a long story sort," Shook said, "he was making a nuisance of himself."

Shook said he was working with Nixon's father. Young Richard was playing nearby around a horse.

★ ★ ★

"I had to grab the horse and give the horse a kick," Shook said. "that saved his life."

Then, after a pause: "Not the horse's."

NY Sewage Plagues Luxury Apartments

NEW YORK (AP) — Several blocks of Sutton Place luxury apartments have been inundated for a month in a flow of raw sewage into basements of buildings where five-room apartments sell for $70,000 and carry monthly maintenance charges of up to $600.

An 18-inch sewer line has ruptured 12 feet beneath Sutton Place and the city's repair crews have been at work for three weeks. They hope to install a new pipe by next week.

★ ★ ★

And while many residents worry about the sewage, they hesitate to speak out, for fear that publicity will lower the value of their apartments. But complaints of the stench have come from residents as high as the 12th floor.

Army Replaces Navy on SE Asia Oil Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense officials have relieved the Navy of all further responsibility for the amount and quality of fuel intended for vital U.S. military operations in Southeast Asia.

This was learned in the aftermath of disclosures that at least 5.5 million gallons of fuel and lubricants destined for U.S. Army and Air Force units in Thailand were stolen in 1967 alone.

General Accounting Office investigators, in a report to Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., blamed the massive thefts on bribery, forgery, collusion and official laxity.

They said spot checks indicated 52 per cent of all gasoline and lubricants delivered to Thai service stations for use by U.S. military vehicles was stolen. Forty per cent of all diesel fuel sent to one air base alone never arrived, they reported.

CHECK ON STANDARDS

The GAO said the Navy Fuel Supply Office had sole responsibility in Bangkok for assuring petroleum products delivered by private contractors complied in quantity and quality with standards set by the government.

★ ★ ★

A Navy source said Defense Department supply officials ordered the Army to replace the Navy's fuel inspection functions in Southeast Asia effective last Wednesday.

The substitution was not announced publicly by the Defense Department, but a Pentagon information officer confirmed it.

Defense Department supply officials also said the change was imminent.

Related Story, Page C-14

But they insisted the action was routine, had "been in the works a long time" and had no relation to the widespread thefts.

One official said the action reflects only "the fact that the Navy is no longer the prime user" of petroleum products in the region.

Meanwhile, John McGee, the man Proxmire credits for "blowing the whistle" on the oil thefts, said his Navy superiors have instructed him not to talk to reporters about the internal operations of the Navy Fuel Supply Office.

McGee, a civilian whose assignment as a petroleum quality control representative in Bangkok was terminated abruptly last month, said he was asked to read and initial a document forbidding employes to publicly discuss the fuel office's operations.

DATA FROM NAVY

He said he was told all information requested by the press would be supplied by Navy information officers.

McGee has said he did not request the transfer to what he said is a "make-work" clerical job. He said the Navy also once tried unsuccessfully to have him fired.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Proxmire—who asked for the GAO investigation after receiving complaints of lax procedures and illegal activities from McGee—meanwhile issued an invitation to all persons in and out of government to bring similar complaints to him.

"To anyone who has the courage and integrity to make a justified complaint, I promise immediate investigative action by the best and fastest means possible," Proxmire said in an interview.

PROTECTION PROMISE

"And I will take any step within my power to protect informants from any harrassment or punitive action," the Wisconsin senator said.

Proxmire, chairman of the government economy subcommittee of the joint House-Senate Economic Committee, has said he will send the final GAO report to the Justice Department to determine if criminal prosecutions are warranted.

★ ★ ★

He has also asked the Air Force to make public copies of 31 investigative reports prepared on the thefts by its Office of Special Investigation. He said he hopes the reports indicate who received the stolen fuels.

The Defense Department, in a reply to the GAO report, said the Air Force investigations resulted in the convictions of several military personnel who received sentences ranging from fines to five years at hard labor.

S. Viet Lists 1968 Civilian Casualities

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government said yesterday that terrorists killed at least 5,362 civilians in South Vietnam in 1968.

The year-end report also said 11,837 civilians were wounded and 8,556 kidnaped by the Vietcong.

Comparative figures for previous years are not available.

★ ★ ★

Terrorism includes Vietcong assassinations, bombings, kidnapings and other acts of violence against civilians or local self-defense units.

The government also includes civilians killed or wounded in enemy rocket and mortar bombardments as victims of terrorism although in many such cases the targets are the military compounds and installations that are located in almost every South Vietnamese town of any size.

OFFENSIVES OMITTED

The government said its year-end report did not include civilians killed or wounded during the Vietcong's Tet offensive or its second offensive in May. It estimated that 7,474 civilians were killed and 15,434 were wounded in the two offensives but said, "Because of heavy, widespread fighting during those periods, it is impossible to determine how many civilian casualties resulted from regular military action."

★ ★ ★

Married and the father of three sons, he spent 23 months in the armed services.

Married with two sons, he spent two years at the Pontiac post.

Russia Decries Israel Jet Deal

Bid to U.S. Viewed as Part of Peace Drive

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union wants the United States to stop the supply of 50 Phantom supersonic warplanes to Israel, diplomatic sources said today.

The move was believed part of the current Soviet Mideast peace offensive, launched by the Kremlin in the western capitals with simultaneous top-level soundings Thursday in Washington, London and Paris.

★ ★ ★

The United States clinched the deal for the supply of the Phantoms with the Israeli government only a week ago, on the understanding that delivery should start later this year.

Russia was said to be eager that the deal be blocked, on the grounds that possession of the planes would aggravate the tense situation in the Middle East to the point of a possible new major war.

NO INDICATIONS

But there were no indications so far that Moscow would be prepared to reciprocate by agreeing to an arms embargo for the entire Middle East that would mean a halt to the massive Soviet supplies of weapons to Egypt and other Arab nations.

The Russians have in effect replaced all, or nearly all, of the heavy arms losses suffered by the Arabs in the six-day war in 1967. They have replaced some of the lost arms with more up-to-date and more sophisticated weapons, including planes and missiles.

★ ★ ★

The Israelis claim the Phantoms would merely restore the arms balance in the area, especially since France blocked delivery of ordered and paid-for Mysteres.

Russia reportedly is now pushing primarily a plan for a phased settlement of the Arab Israeli conflict.

The outlines of the plan have been handed to the American, British and French governments. The Soviet envoys in London, Washington and Paris Thursday urged them to join in a concerted big-power peace drive.

Moscow has been, at the same time, in close consultation with Cairo, apparently to solicit Egyptian cooperation in some big-power-endorsed compromise that would involve Israeli withdrawal in return for Arab termination of the state of war with Israel, recognition of Israel's frontiers yet to be settled and freedom of navigation in the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aquaba.

GOP Spending Sets TV Mark

$5 Million Outlay; Dems Use $3 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republicans outspent the Democrats, $5 million to $3 million, in unprecedented use of television during the 1968 presidential election campaign, the Federal Communications Commission reported today.

The FCC said the GOP spent some $4.2 million on TV during the campaign and another $1 million during primary contests while the Democrats put $2.5 million into video in the final campaigning and $516,030 during the primaries.

★ ★ ★

Political groupings identified only as "other," but presumably covering mainly the campaign of former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, spent $681,491 to buy television time for the presidential campaign.

Altogether, the networks reported the parties paid $8.9 million for air time — more than twice the $4.1 million spent for this purpose in the 1964 campaign.

96 HOURS ON AIR

The FCC said presidential and vice presidential candidates spent a total of 96 hours, 11 minutes, on the air, but it gave no breakdown on the TV time of each candidate.

Candidates themselves paid for only 32 hours of the time they appeared; another 49 hours was made up of commercially sponsored shows such as the weekly news interviews, and another 15 hours was time donated free by the networks.

★ ★ ★

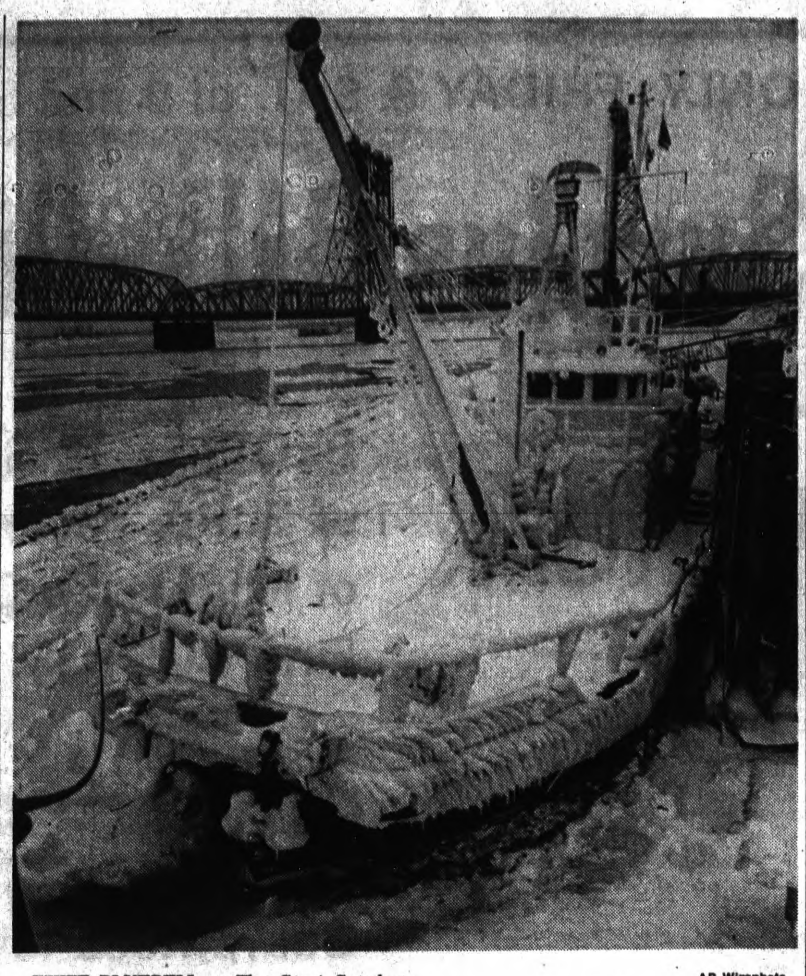

Republicans and Democrats bought about the same amount of program time during the campaign, but the Republicans far outdid the Democrats in short "spot" announcements, buying 110 spots at $2.5 million to the Democrats' 37 spots at $844,313.

The FCC said some $4.2 million was spent for time on the National Broadcasting Co. (NBC) TV network, $2.9 million to the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) and $1.7 million to the American Broadcasting Co. (ABC).

The FCC said all networks and stations were required to report on their political broadcasting by Dec. 24 and the preliminary statistics were based on those reports. It said it would issue a complete survey later.

WHITE BLUEBELL — The Coast Guard buoy tender Bluebell is ice from stem to stern as she rests at port at Vancouver, Wash., across the Columbia River from Portland, Ore. Ice in the Columbia is unusual. Appeals Court Okays Busing

LANSING (AP) — Michigan school districts may bus students from one school to another to achieve racial balance, the State Court of Appeals has ruled in a 2-1 decision.

In a decision announced Thurday, the state's second highest court overturned a decision of the Ingham County circuit bench which had ruled that busing students solely because of race was unconstitutional.

Judge Thomas Giles Kavanagh who has left the Appeals Court to join the State Supreme Court, and visiting Circuit Judge Allen C. Miller, ruled in favor of busing. Judge Timothy Quinn dissented.

The Ingham County decision came on a challenge by white parents to a 1966 Lansing board of education decision to bus Negro students from Sexton High School (20 per cent Negro) to Eastern (2.2 per cent) and Everett (0.9 per cent) high schools.

MOVE TO EQUALITY

Miller's majority ruling noted various civil rights cases have forbidden treating Negroes differently from other persons, but added that in the busing case "the motivation is not to discriminate, but assistance to minority groups in providing equal educational opportunities.

★ ★ ★

"The state has no right to interfere in the supervision of state schools unless there is a clear disregard of constitutional rights," Miller added.

He noted the Appeals Court had ruled in a 1967 Flint case that school districts may redraw their boundaries in an effort to balance their schools racially.

Judge Quinn, who voted to outlaw student transfers based solely on race, wrote: "The feeling of inferiority generated by separating schoolchildren from others of similar age and qualifications solely because of their race...is the same whether the purpose is segregation or to accomplish racial balance."

3 Thugs Rob, Beat Up Man

Bloomfield Township police disclosed yesterday that a man was robbed of $200 Monday night in the parking lot of the Miracle Mile Shopping Center on Telegraph.

Police said that N. L. Pattison, 59, of 6977 Woodbank, Bloomfield Township, was jumped by three men in their 20s as he was returning to his parked car at about 8 p.m. Pattison had been shopping in a supermarket at the center.

The victim received first aid at the township police station. Police have no suspects in the case, they said.

Oakland County's new district judges were sworn into office yesterday during a ceremony in the Supervisors' Auditorium at the county courthouse.

The judges replace justices of the peace throughout the county and, in some cases, municipal judges.

Two other municipal judges who did not have to run for the post but will stay on a district judges until their terms expire also were sworn in. They are Pontiac Municipal Judge Maurice Finnegan and Royal Oak Municipal Judge Keith Leenhouts.

A resident down the road from the Grinnell's took the dog in and contacted police after seeing Duchess hang around for more than a day, according to Mrs. Grinnell.

Broomfield Introduces Elections, Census Bills

Legislation to abolish the Electoral College and to restrict the U. S. Census Bureau in the number and type of questions to be asked in the 1970 census was introduced today by Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-18th District.

The newly-elected members of the 91st Congress are meeting for the first time today in Washington.

Under Broomfield's proposal the Electoral College method of electing the president and vice president would be replaced by direct popular vote.

If no candidate should receive 40 per cent of the total vote for each office, a runoff election would be held between the two candidates who received the most votes.

HIGH ON AGENDA

Emanuel Celler, D-New York, Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, has indicated that Electoral College reform will be one of the first items on his committee's agenda this year.

The other bill would limit to seven the number of questions for which U. S. Census Bureau could require answers in the 1970 federal census.

Under the proposed measure, citizens would be required to furnish census takers with their name, address, relationship to the head of the household, sex, date of birth, race or color, marital status, and the number of visitors in their home at the time of the census.

Proposals by the census bureau for a lengthy and detailed questionnaire for use in the 1970 federal census have raised a great many fears that the privacy of the average American will be invaded.

A number of congressmen have been critical of the bureau's proposal, and introduced legislation similar to Broomfield's last year. Among them were Congressman Jack H. McDonald, R-19th District.

The assurance of quality . . .

Nixon Facing Dem Congress

Must Apply to Foes to Get Programs OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon built much of his political career on Capitol Hill, but it must look like enemy-occupied territory to him now.

One of the few records Nixon set in his precarious election victory two months ago was the dubious distinction of being the first president to come to office without his party in control of at least one House of Congress.

★ ★ ★

The Democrats control the House 243 to 192 and the Senate 57 to 43—meaning that they will take the congressional leadership posts, hold voting majorities in all the committees and decide what legislation will move and what stand still.

And that means that Nixon and his new administration team will have to apply to the opposition to get their programs through Congress.

FARM FROM NEW

Divided party control of the government is far from new—the president and Congress have been at political odds at least a dozen times in the last century. But the split-up usually came in a midterm election after a new president has had at least two years to work with a Congress controlled by his own party.

On the surface, the situation of a Republican presidency and Democratic Congress would seem to be made to order for deadlock. And there probably would be a stalemate, not to mention a few brawls, if the partisan oratory of the 1968 campaign were carried over into the 1969 session.

However, that does not seem likely. Politicians usually are the first to forget political speeches, and if past performance is any guide, there will be a presidential congressional "honeymoon."

While it lasts, relations between the White House and the Capitol will be polite, maybe even cordial, and there will be statements issued from both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue about the need for unity in the national interest and bipartisan cooperation for the public good.

USUAL EXPLANATION

The usual explanation for this is that senators and House members either sincerely want to give the new president a chance or want to avoid trouble with a man who presumably is riding on a crest of public affection and trust.

★ ★ ★

The more cynical of Washington observers see this era of good feeling as a mere period of probing for weak spots and getting organized for the legislative executive conflict that always seems to come.

★ ★ ★

No one knows more about all this than Lyndon B. Johnson, who led the Senate masterfully during most of the Eisenhower years but fell into a bitter and lengthy struggle with Congress after he became President.

As he prepared to leave government, Johnson advised his fellow Democrats to avoid narrow partisanship in their relations with Nixon and to support him "whenever the new administration proposes sound and acceptable programs."

'TAKE INITIATIVE'

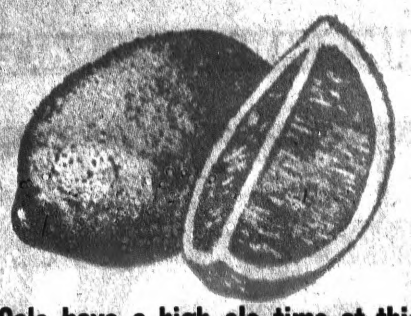

"But when we feel that the administration is moving too slowly in certain areas—or not moving at all—the Democrats must take the initiative just as we did in the 1950s," Johnson said in a party magazine article.

Just when Congress will rebel can't be predicted, but it probably won't happen until and unless Nixon takes the initiative. Basically, members of Congress are reactive politicians and won't fight unless they are pushed into it by their leaders, their constituents or the president.

★ ★ ★

Congressional leadership is very important in this situation. Johnson and the late Sam Rayburn didn't fight much with Eisenhower because they could do business with him — pass legislation with Republican labels and Democratic contents.

Speaker John W. McCormack and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield learned their jobs at the knees of Rayburn and Johnson. If Nixon is willing to compromise with the congressional leaders — including the powerful committee chairmen—open conflict may be avoided for some time.

Reason Is Important in All Wardrobe Selections

More and more people are saying fashion has to be amusing —or fun. Some say, "if it gives you a lift, it's fashion." Another description we've all heard about certain favorite fashions is that they're "a way of life."

The woman who wants to look her most attractive gives every slant on fashion a thought, even if she doesn't swallow it whole. It may be the one viewpoint missing when she opens her clothes closet.

Being open to suggestion is one kind of attitude. Then, there's the balance act—your personal attitude as to what you like to wear.

★ ★ ★

Take a look, right now, in your closet. And as long as you're up and looking, ask if it shows more than a few pardonable mistakes.

You can have the figure for a certain dress and still feel it isn't "you." There it hangs. Alongside of it is a dress you couldn't live without. Why can't all of your clothes be more like that?

SWEET REASON

Limited money for clothes calls for spending more time in choosing them. Ideally, for your basic clothes, you should think a year ahead, in terms of the best you can afford. This means a basic coat, a basic suit or costume, and a basic dress or its equivalent (a blouse or sweater and a skirt) to wear under the coat, for both lightweight and winter temperatures.

Not that you'll buy all of these basics every season, or every year. But plan ahead continuously, and collect as you require.

★ ★ ★

For where most of us live, about six months out of a year is some kind of coat weather. Some fashion experts suggest a pale color for a basic lightweight coat, so that it can be worn over both light and dark dresses in the spring and fall.

Others believe in building a basic wardrobe around the color of the coat, whatever its degree of warmth. If the coat's dominantly brown, taupe or medium grey—among other neutrals—it also goes smartly over black (and black along with color is fall news).

Inbetween the purchase of a pale coat and a neutral coat, you might buy a bright coat or a plaid coat, as your occasional "extra."

KEEP IT SIMPLE

A basic suit should be truly simple—for most women, one with a jacket that just grazes the hipline. A basic dress should be equally simple, and you must be at ease in it without as well as with a coat.

More than playing safe, the idea of a plan is a "finished" look in the clothes you wear the most, and are most likely to pack for weekends and travel.

(Saturday: Something Controversial)

Three for all—the basic dress, basic suit or costume, and basic coat belong in everybody's wardrobe. Purchase of these items can be staggered.

Overseas Mail Could Become Lost Someplace

By ELIZABETH L. POST of the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: I've been writing to a young man in Thailand. I wrote to him last about four weeks ago and I never received an answer. He seemed very friendly in the letters he wrote me and I don't think he would stop writing to me.

Is there a chance that overseas some of the mail gets lost? Do you think it would be right for me to write to him again? Please print this letter because many girls write to guys overseas, and they might have the same problem. — Lucille

★ ★ ★

Dear Lucille: Letters do go astray occasionally and I see no reason you should not write the young man once more. Don't show any annoyance or concern—simply write a friendly note as if nothing had happened. You may end your letter saying "Hoping to hear from you soon."

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: My brother and I are planning a surprise thirty-fifth wedding anniversary dinner party for our parents. Is there any diplomatic way we could ask the guests to pay for their own dinner? Also, we would like to present Mother and Father with an all-expenses paid weekend at a nearby resort.

★ ★ ★

Should not my brother and I take care of that completely? I do not think that I could ask the guests to do much more. Would it be proper for us to present such a gift at the party? If this isn't possible, I should appreciate suggestions as to how we may have the nicest possible party for our parents and yet not at such a great cost.—Judith

★ ★ ★

Dear Judith: I am very much against asking invited guests to pay for their own dinners. Instead, I would suggest you and your brother pay for the entire party, but not the weekend. Ask your guests if, rather than bringing a present, they would contribute to a weekend you are arranging for your parents.

Take the money you receive, and arrange for a package made up by a travel agency, including the tickets, reservations, brochures, etc.

Otsego's Slopes Are Populated by Gliding Area Fun-Seekers

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Where's it at right now? Otsego, of course.

Several Birmingham-Bloomfield people spent the holiday week on the ski slopes, among them Anne and Rinehart Bright, Ed and Dolly Cole, Margot and Dick Strickland and Betty and Don Leighton.

Parties aplenty in the clubhouse later in the day, too. Trudy and George Huebner hosted a dinner gathering last Friday in the White Pine Room of the Otsego Club. Seen there were Susie and Dick Gawne, Roy Dahlberg (Julie was home with the Hong Kong), Millie and John Kerr, and Annie and West Gallogly.

★ ★ ★

Sunday night the Gawnes invited friends to the Blue Roost for cocktails. And the following eve, the Dahlbergs hosted a bash at the Logmark.

Arriving pre-New Year's Day were the Joe Macks, the Russell Stricklands and the Jamison Williamses.

Stand-outs in the collegiate crowd were Mary Kerr and Sherry Strickland.

★ ★ ★

The Stanford Stoddards of Bloomfield Hills and their three children flew north to Harbor Springs and the "Stoddard Compound" on Lake Michigan for their holiday skiing.

Spring Fashions Are Gentle, Breezy

NEW YORK (AP) — The first of the spring fashions came in like a lamb, not like a lion, and women who want something new and different might well wish for a little more roar on the racks.

By the end of the first full day of the New York Couture Group showing Thursday, the 200 fashion reporters who gathered in a Manhattan hotel for previews of next season's styles had seen little in the way of change.

★ ★ ★

The one message that all the ready-to-wear designers and manufacturers—whose collections ranged from a low of about $30 to a high of about $700—got across was the upcoming popularity of pleats.

There were tiny knife pleats on swirling skirts, short and long; side panel pleats to give skirts a smooth line and free moving fit; and even inverted back pleats topped by half belts.

SHORT SWINGERS

Marie McCarthy, designing for the firm of Larry Aldrich, opened the afternoon session with a series of short and swingy dresses, many featuring either snug inset midriffs or belts.

"There is no one dominant fashion silhouette," said Aldrich in introducing the collection, adding that he was offering a variety of choices for a variety of women.

Most of the difference in the clothes came in detail, not basic shape, however. One dress was gathered with a sash, another with a belt. One had a side closing, another a front closing.

Among the highlights were a black and white silk dress with knife-pleated skirt topped by a stretched-out sleeveless orange overblouse, a red, blue, green and white paisley pants and tunic combination with a deeply plunging neck and a black silk faille dinner dress styled like an artist's smock—full with huge bow and low patch pockets.

Prices of the Aldrich collection ranged from about $175 to $500.

Davidow, long known for coats and suits, promised a "newer, younger feeling," but again, only the details were different. The high quality fabrics, simple and classic cut and easy silhouette remained—still good, but not really new.

In the lower price range, David Crystal showed numerous variations of his now-famous simple sport shirtwaist with a crocodile embroidered on the left breast. Adapted from the men's shirts named after the French tennis star Lacoste, the dresses now come in step-in as well as pull-over variety and are available for children as well as adults. The dresses are $33.

The morning show opened with Jo Copeland who kept her "no pants for streetwear" theme and slightly startled a crowd ready for oodles and oodles of pants.

Spring apparently is destined to step prettily, but gingerly and gently onto a stage already dazzled by pop, op and other far-out fashions.

Wife Needs an Attorney to Help Clear Up Contract

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Before I married my husband he asked me to sign some papers saying I was not to share in any of his worldly possessions during his lifetime, and would not be entitled to anything should he die. He signed the major part of his property and assets over to a lady friend.

★ ★ ★

In his defense, I should mention that he has never been married before, and he is my third husband, so maybe he is just playing it safe. I married the first time at 15, and that didn't work out. My second husband was an alcoholic, and that ended in divorce, too. Do you think he really loves me, or is he taking me for a fool?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Regardless of what you signed, see your own lawyer and find out how binding it is. A man who would ask his wife to disclaim all his worldly possessions during his lifetime, and would leave her unprovided for should he precede her in death, doesn't sound like much of a bargain to me, especially after having signed over the lion's share of his assets to a "lady friend." (P. S. If you ever find out why this man felt he needed a wife, let me know.)

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: The following is from a letter I recently received from an out-of-state relative:

"Let's make a deal. Next year instead of sending each other Christmas presents, send me a check, and I will do the same for you. It will save us both a lot of trouble."

Abby, I never considered shopping for Christmas presents "a lot of trouble." Besides, what's the sense of my sending her a check for $25, and her sending me the same? How do you feel about it? I should add, this relative needs more money like I need another belly button.

BEWILDERED IN BOSTON

DEAR BEWILDERED: I agree with you. Tell her to just blow you a kiss at Christmas, and you'll do the same for her.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I really dig this guy I'll call Phil. My father checked up on him and now he won't let me go out with him any more. Phil is a musician. He plays the drums. My father says that a drummer is no musician — that a person who plays the violin or piano can call himself a musician, but a drum is no instrument. Is that right?

Also, my father found out that Phil is 32, not 26, like he said he was. So I have two questions to ask: Is a drummer a musician? As long as a guy is a gentleman, don't you think I should be allowed to go out with him? I am 19, but I am very mature for my age. Thank you.

DIGS PHIL

DEAR DIGS: Yes, a drummer IS indeed a musician, but what's all this jazz about his lying about his age? Sorry, but I agree with your father. A 32-year-old drummer should beat it if he can't play it straight with a 19-year-old girl.

Who's A Sap in the Generation Gap?

By BETTY CANARY
NEA Writer

Living, I have always believed, is simply a process of getting used to things one never expected.

Certainly one thing I never expected was to find myself standing at the edge of a generation gap. As a matter of fact, although I had most dutifully explored the problem, I was not sure I knew exactly what the gap was. So, I went to the other side and talked with a college sophomore.

★ ★ ★

"Tell me," I asked politely, "is the gap a rut into which one falls after the age of 30?"

The student quickly explained. "Using the term 'falling into a rut' shows you're already Over There."

★ ★ ★

Oh, pshaw!" I exclaimed. "Jimmy Crickets. Tell me why!"

★ ★ ★

"Persons your age have developed a static outlook," he said, sounding remarkably like a parrot I once knew. Her name was Josephine and she lived at the St. Louis zoo. I hadn't thought of her in years.

★ ★ ★

"Are you suggesting," I said, "that I am afflicted with neophobia?"

★ ★ ★

"What's that?" he asked.

"Just an old word I picked up in a sixth grade spelling bee," I said. "It means 'afraid of the new.' "

★ ★ ★

"Spelling bee!" he said. "See, your generation believes in all the archaic leftovers . . ."

★ ★ ★

I shook my head. It was uncanny. I mean, he was beginning to LOOK like Josephine.

"Tell me about your demonstrations here on campus," I suggested.

★ ★ ★

"The demonstrations are protests against your generation's ideas and products. And, must I say the two are often indistinguishable?"

★ ★ ★

"Oh, you must NOT say that because I have heard it all before!" I cried.

"You're right — that's hardly original," he said, and I could see he really was not a parrot after all.

"Are you an active demonstrator?" I asked.

"No," my friend said. "I'll march not again. I'll point no more fingers. I'll make my changes from the inside!"

I was certain now we were bridging the gap. "Just the architects instead of the wrecking crew!" I cried.

"I'll change it all!" he said.

★ ★ ★

"Wait," I cautioned. "Surely you don't think everything must be changed. After careful examination of the entire university setup, aren't there at least a few things you feel are really worth saving?"

"Well, yes," he finally agreed. "Maybe a few of the buildings."

Postal Clerks Follow Course of Casanova's Romance

SADDLE BROOK, N.J. (AP) — Casanova won the hearts of Marianne Astegher and those of 100 night clerks at the Hackensack Post Office.

For 13 months in Vietnam, Army Sgt. Gordon Casanova of River Edge wrote a letter each day to Marianne, his fiancee, and decorated the envelopes with drawings and romantic messages of "I miss you" and "I love you."

Each night, the postal clerks looked forward to Casanova's letters and their decorations and made sure they reached Marianne's home here.

★ ★ ★

The letters also were marked "DTG" with a number, signifying how many "days to go" Casanova had in Vietnam.

The clerks kept close watch of the countdown and when the letters stopped at "DTG 10," they became worried, thinking perhaps something had happened to the romantic soldier.

But their fears were unfounded. The 21-year-old soldier recently returned from the war unharmed.

Last week the postal clerks sent a letter of their own to Marianne, also 21, asking if everything was all right.

★ ★ ★

"It seems our nightly chore is over," the clerks wrote, "but it leaves us wondering about the eventual outcome. If there is a wedding, how would we get to know, which would give us the feeling of a job well done?"

Casanova and Marianne, who met two years ago, shortly before he entered the Army, decided the clerks should know of the outcome.

The couple visited the post office and invited the 100 night clerks to their wedding Jan. 11. The clerks accepted.

"We were really thrilled that people cared and went out of their way to be nice," said Casanova, now an administrative assistant in a chemical company.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Today's hand would qualify as the worst hand of 1968 except for one thing. It was played in 1967!

West opened the king of spades against the three no-trump contract. East played the three and South the ace. South led the 10 of diamonds and went up with dummy's ace when West showed out.

There was no point losing more than necessary so South cashed his five hearts and led the jack of clubs. West rose with the ace and returned a club, whereupon South made his contract instead of going down two.

★ ★ ★

While East and West were fighting about their failure to take their six top tricks. North tried to pour oil on troubled waters by pointing out that four hearts was a laydown and that maybe South should have found some way to show his good five card heart suit.

All this doesn't seem to be enough to qualify a hand for the worst of a year. Lots of people fail to set three no-trump contracts. The really bad feature did not come out until later on when the players looked over the scores.

The game was match point duplicate and not only did North and South receive a top score for making three no-trump, but they would have the same top score for going down two tricks at three no-trump. What's more they would still have a top if they had gone down two tricks doubled.

It seems that the next best North-South score was minus 790. North had opened his singleton trump against four spades doubled. South took his ace and led a second trump to hold West to his contract.

At all other tables the contract was four or five spades doubled and a heart was opened, whereupon West would take 11 tricks to score either 990 or 850, depending on whether he was doubled at four or five.

What do you do now?

A—Bid three hearts. This clearly shows that you have at least five cards in each of your suits. Leave further bidding to your partner.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of responding one no-trump partner raises your spade opening to two. What do you do now?

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (March 21-April 19): If you expect to swing through day without problems — think again. There are questions raised about home, property, past promises, responsibilities. Key is to be thorough and sincere.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Older individual proposes restrictive plan. Get spiritual counsel. Realize some want you to be fearful. Be open to suggestions. But don't feel relatives must know best — not always.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): One who is a friend is apt today to act like "wet blanket." Be diplomatic. Don't force issues. Be a sympathetic listener. But don't get caught in middle of family quarrel.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You can seek perfection —but it is not likely you'll reach it. Today settle for a workable outline, plan, format. Co-operate in church, group, community project. Your ideas click.

LEO (July 23- Aug. 22): Obtain hint from CANCER message. Spiritual insight occurs if you so permit it. Some events today may appear to defy rational explanations. Realize some really care — even though quiet.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Discuss what you want to spend, save. Take mate, partner into confidence. Trying to go it alone could lead to unnecessary difficulty. Burden due to be lifted from your shoulders.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your relations with public are emphasized. Some are apt to consider you too modern, progressive. Don't permit this to dampen pioneering spirit. You are due for new project. Get started.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You may not be able to proceed at pace that is accelerated. Key is timing. Follow through on hunch. Heed inner voice. One who aided you in past could make reappearance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You may have to discipline favorite child. Be flexible. Many depend upon you today for relaxation, entertainment. If versatile, you are rewarded. One you care for expresses appreciation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Obligations, duties, rules and restrictions appear to dominate. Means you have to adhere to regulations. Don't throw caution away. Heed voice of experience. Older person does know best.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Basic duties require attention. Neglect could be costly. You recently made resolution concerning health; remember it — follow through. Avoid excess. Key is moderation.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Demands made by young ones may be extravagant. Be kind, but sensible. Strive for family unity. Know that assets may be limited. Don't promise more than can be delivered.

Great Migration Brings a Better Life to Mexican-Americans

DALLAS (AP) — Evaristo Sandoval traveled around the nation from one short-lived job to another a year ago, barely eking out an existence for his family.

Today Sandoval worries less about his own security and more about the pilots who fly the planes he inspects.

★ ★ ★

"The Navy is depending on us," he said. "If the job is not done right a pilot could get killed."

★ ★ ★

Sandoval was one of many jobless Mexican-Americans in the Lower Rio Grande Valley until a Dallas-based industry took a mobile classroom to him.

NEW WAY OF LIFE

The company trained him and others, moved them with their families to Dallas and gave them a new way of life.

And what the labor mobility project did for Ling-Temco-Vought Aerospace Corp. is seen by company officials as highly profitable.

It added 684 skilled workers at a time when the unemployment rate in the Dallas metropolitan area had dropped to below two per cent. Column after column of classified ads begged for people to go to work.

What the project did for the people involved, though, is the real success story.

BRIGHTER WORLD

The lot of the migrant laborer in an increasingly mechanized world suddenly brightened. Now, this group possesses steady jobs.

"It is a better way of life," Alicia DeLeon says of her new job and home. Alicia and her husband, Leon, both work at the plant and recently purchased a new home. They know an independence they never experienced before.

★ ★ ★

The project was a tremendous one in terms of the human element, said J. B. Andrasko, director of LTV's industrial relations.

He admitted the company had some doubts about attempting to relocate the Mexican-Americans from the valley—a traditionally rural, close-knit and family-oriented people.

2,184 IN EXPERIMENT

Would they be able to cope with city congestion, homesickness for the quiet, peaceful valley and longing for parents, sisters, brothers, uncles, aunts and cousins who were part of their daily life?

In all, 2,184 people—men, women and children—became part of the experiment. Two hundred and sixty were school-age children.

★ ★ ★

"The keys to the success of the program were understanding, excellent counseling and a keen determination on the part of the workers and their families to escape their environment of unemployment, poverty and despair," said Andrasko.

Teamed with federal and state agencies, LTV Aerospace Corp. established three schools in the valley.

The schools began in 1967 and provided five weeks of training for 15 men at a time.

They were trained to be sheet metal assemblers. As they were graduated, the men were given permanent jobs at the Grand Prairie facility between Fort Worth and Dallas.

★ ★ ★

Of the 750 enrolled, 684 were graduated and relocated.

The corporation expected to lose 40 per cent of the trainees. They lost only 10 per cent and only 2 per cent of those returned to the valley. The others took other jobs in this area.

The government will make money on the deal.

TYPICAL TRAINEES

Taking five typical trainees: The government's total schooling and relocation investment was $4,997.

After 10 months on the job at LTV Aerospace, the same group paid $3,119 in income taxes to the government.

★ ★ ★

And the government no longer had to pay unemployment compensation or other welfare costs.

The workers are enthusiastic and eager to prove they are good investments. Many enrolled in after-hours educational courses on a voluntary basis.

WANTS TO MOVE UP

"I'm working five days a week, but I want to work overtime," one deaf-mute Mexican-American scribbles on a piece of paper. Rafael Martinez, his supervisor, says he is a good worker and very ambitious, and wants to move up to more responsibility.

Alicia and her husband take their children to the zoo for entertainment, or just downtown where a completely new and exciting world provides hours of enjoyment.

"We go home to the valley less often now," she says, and smilingly adds, "we've even gotten to where we don't like the taste of the water down there any more."

Relocations haven't been without their problems. Trainees and their wives received orientation lectures while still in the valley, but problems of cashing checks, establishing credit and resistance to fast-talking salesmen still came up.

Housing, the Texas Employment Commission relates, was at first a problem. Apartment house managers and rent house owners were skeptical.

As more and more valley families relocated, however, word of their desirability as tenants and contributors to the community got around.

★ ★ ★

The housing staff members said they felt a great deal of satisfaction when a reluctant landlord agreed to try one of the valley families only to call the following week and ask for more.

Every effort was made by the TEC to find just the right accommodations for each family.

One trainee failed to mention that he raised gamecocks. He arrived with a trailer load of caged cocks, all fluttering and distressed. He insisted he must locate a country house fenced for chickens within three hours or the cocks would die. A house was found.

HELD IN HIGH REGARD

Supervisors at LTV Aerospace say they have the highest regard for their new workers.

The Mexican-Americans worked best at first, one supervisor said, if they were within seeing distance of each other. They didn't want to talk or work together—just be able to see each other and know that they weren't alone.

★ ★ ★

They are less apprehensive now, find their jobs interesting and are gaining confidence both as workers in a foreign field and newcomers to a metropolitan society. They are on their way.

As Gilbert Ramos says:

"It takes effort to be somebody."

Junior Editors Quiz on ICE CREAM

QUESTION: Who invented ice cream?

ANSWER: Ice cream was a great luxury for the ancient peoples, especially for those who lived in warm climates. They could not make ice, but they could and did bring blocks of ice down from the mountains.

It is known that the Romans made water ices. Marco Polo, coming home from his famous trip to the Far East, is supposed to have brought a recipe for adding milk to water ices, making a kind of ice cream.

But it was the Italians who really started ice cream on its way. For a long time they had used ice brought down from the mountains; about 1550, someone discovered that if salt was added to ice it would become colder, and that milk and flavoring could be frozen by it.

At first, this delicious dish was reserved by European chefs for the nobility, but the secret soon leaked out.

★ ★ ★

In America, ice cream was known in the early 1700s but its use was rare until Dolley Madison served it in the White House in 1809. After 1900, it became America's favorite dessert.

West's Barbs Split Hairs on Bristly Topic

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It is time someone explained why long sideburns have become fashionable again. I shall endeavor to perform this service.

WEST

To understand the sideburn fad we must recognize that growing hair on the face is the only thing man can do that women can't.

Women, by contrast, can do a whole host of things man can't. Don't ask questions about this; just take my word for it.

★ ★ ★

When man became aware of his comparative limitations, he felt inferior. His first attempts to remove the hair from his face reflected a subconscious desire to make himself more like woman.

SCRAPED THE STUBBLE

Later on, man realized that shaving was getting him no where. But by that time, he was under the influence of shaving cream commercials. So he continued to scrape off the stubble.

Then came the revolt against shaving cream commercials by beatniks, hippies and other protest groups. Beards began to appear in substantial numbers, and with them came a reawakening of interest in man's only natural prerogative.

★ ★ ★

Clean-shaved squares everywhere secretly longed to let their whiskers grow, too. And some did. But most lacked the courage to reclaim this symbol of masculine superiority.

Beards, as you know, do not sprout full blown. They emerge in elegant lanquor. Five o'clock shadows gradually deepen into prickly eyesores. The entire face becomes a slum area.

TIME OF TROUBLES

It is this period of transition men most dread. It subjects them to complaints from the women they nuzzle, and to crude jokes from the guys in the office.

Sideburns are a happy compromise. Women cannot grow them. Thus they gratify the male ego, which is hard pressed to find any sort of gratification.

★ ★ ★

Better yet, sideburns can be grown inconspicuously. Each day a fraction of an inch is left unshaved and the hairline creeps surrepticiously down the cheek. No complaints from the ladies. No jibes from the gentlemen.

For sensitive souls who have been trying to get up enough nerve to grow mustaches, sideburns are a godsend.

TRANSCENDENTAL

That embarrassing interlude when the upper lip is discolored with what appears to be a bristly fungus can be completely avoided.

★ ★ ★

One simply lets his sideburns sneak down and across his face until they meet under his nose. Then he shaves his cheeks and — presto! — instant mustache!

The number of passenger trains operating in this country has dropped from 20,000 in 1929 to 590 today and is still falling.

Ex-Child Star Enjoys Bigger 'Career'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Some child actors are ruined for life by the precocious demands their careers make upon them before they reach maturity.

BOYLE

But that didn't happen to Bonita Granville, the movie brat whom film audiences a generation ago loved to hate.

Today she is happily married to Jack Wrather, oilman and entertainment entrepreneur, and keeps her hand in show business by working as assistant producer on his CBS television show, "Lassie."

★ ★ ★

Bonita, born in New York City, is the daughter of the late Bernard Granville, a Ziegfeld Follies star, and Rosina Timponi Granville, also a well-known stage performer.

"My father was one of the first Broadway musical stars to earn $5,000 a week," she recalled.

Her own acting career started at the age of 7 when she went to Hollywood in 1931 and almost immediately was signed to appear in "Westward Passage," starring Ann Harding and a then obscure young British actor, Laurence Oliver.

BONITA

One of the early highlights of her career was "These Three," in which she played a hateful brat so successfully that for a few years she was saddled with a series of such unsympathetic roles.

★ ★ ★

As she graduated, however, from child star to ingenue to dramatic actress she was given more ingratiating roles in such films as "The Plough and the Stars," "Ah, Wilderness," "Cavalcade," and "H.M. Pulham, Esq."

Altogether she appeared in 55 films.

'NO SCARS'

Educated largely within studio walls, she was raised strictly by her mother—her father died when she was 13—and never had a date until she was 17.

"The work left me with no scars that I know of now," she said, smiling. "Maybe they'll creep up on me later.

★ ★ ★

"I was barely 16 when I graduated from high school and wanted to go to Stanford University, but I decided I simply couldn't afford to. The films were too lucrative. I wasn't a big star in those days, in the sense that Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland were, but I was making $1,000 a week on a 40-week contract."

"When I met you in 1946," broke in her husband, "you were making $10,000 every three weeks."

BLIND DATE

They met on a blind date and he proposed 10 days later, but she kept Wrather waiting 10 months before accepting his proposal.

"I quit acting before we were married," Bonita said. "You have to make a decision. You have to give up something, and I decided I'd better give up acting. I wanted to be married only once in my life, and I decided that was the thing to work at."

★ ★ ★

The couple has two children, Linda, 19, and Christopher, 17.

In her work on the "Lassie" show, Mrs. Wrather assists producer Robert Golden in selecting story material, casting, and wardrobe problems. It was she who discovered Jon Provost, who starred as Timmy on the show.

"Now and then I act in a scene," she said, "but I don't take any screen credits. I have no desire to return to full-time acting. For one thing, I'm out of practice; for another thing, I'm too happy being a wife. Jack and I have a wonderful life."

She is active in sports and engages in a number of charitable activities.

H-H-Happy B-B-Birthday, A-A-Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — It's so cold they had to chop the cat out of the ice, the car radio goes "knock, knock" and propane torches shoot liquid instead of fire.

But Alaskans know how to cope with temperatures way below zero. They just stay indoors and go out only if it's necessary.

Central Alaska is in the middle of a frigid weather front that has sent temperatures tumbling like icicles in a spring thaw. It's been like that for three days.

* * *

However, it's expected to warm up today to temperatures of 25 to 20 below. Comfortable enough to celebrate Alaska's 10th year as a state today.

Thursday evening the mercury dropped to minus 56 and the overnight forecast called for a low of —65. The all-time low is —66 recorded on Jan. 14, 1934.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

Schools have shut down but it's business as usual in downtown Fairbanks. About 42 inches of snow covers the ground although no new snow has fallen in a week.

Thick ice fog has cut visibility in some downtown areas to 10 feet and has disrupted airline schedules. It's caused by warm air rising from the ground which turns to fog as it hits the frigid air.

"Even with the minimal sunlight we get here. It's enough to warm the ground a bit, and that four degrees below the record causes the warm air to rise," Shane O'Neill, a Fairbanks resident, said Thursday.

The Weather Bureau said the average temperature for December was —17.7 or 10 degrees colder than normal. The highest temperature for the month was 36 degrees on Dec. 19. New Year's Day it was 60 below—for the day set in 1965. It warmed up Thursday to —59 — another record for the date.

O'Neill said firemen had to free a cat after its paws became stuck in ground ice.

"Apparently it licked its paws because they were so cold and when it set them down they froze to the ground," he said.

And, in the icy conditions propane gas turns to liquid. "One fellow was using a propane torch outside to try and thaw an oil line to his house. The flame stopped and liquid started shooting out," O'Neill said.

The cold also flattens car tires by decreasing the air pressure inside. "It's like riding on square tires until they loosen up," said O'Neill. Motorists are advised to increase the air pressure.

WON'T START

Even cars with special heaters that plug into outside outlets won't work.

"Unless they're inside a warm garage they won't start. I turned on my car radio today and it went knock, knock. It sounded like a hammer pounding on the thing. Later it warmed up and worked all right."

Home owners must constantly check fuel and water pipes.

And precautions must be taken to guard against frostbitten ears. "It's very painful when they thaw out. They turn white, then after eight or 12 hours they're red and if you're lucky the outer skin won't peel off," O'Neill said.

Told to Leave, Says State GI

NEW YORK (AP) — A Michigan man testified in Brooklyn federal court Thursday that after 11 months in the army he was told to go home because his name did not appear on a reassignment list.

Gerald R. Gaston, 22, of Inkster is now serving in the army at Ft. Hamilton in Brooklyn. He claims he has already served his tour of duty and should be discharged.

* * *

Gaston, who originally was stationed at Ft. Dix, N. J., said he was told by a sergeant to go home because his name was not on a list for reassignment to Germany.

Gaston said he tried to clear up his status, finally gave up and went home, getting another job. Although he no longer received his army pay checks, he said, his mother received a dependant's allotment.

Last May 5, Gaston said, he returned to Ft. Dix and was promptly placed in the stockade for being absent without leave. The AWOL charge was dropped, but he was transferred to Ft. Hamilton.

Surge in Building Forecast in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Home and apartment construction will exceed that of 1968 in the Detroit metropolitan area, according to Louis G. Allen, president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of Michigan.

About 40 per cent of new residential construction will be town houses and apartments.

Allen, senior vice president of the Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit and head of the bank's mortgage department, predicted that mobile homes also will play a major role in housing this year.

The Gourmet Adventures of Jayson's

Rice is one of the most deliciously flavorful foods on earth. Each type has one thing in common — it provides a substantial background for any meat, fish, vegetables, sauces you want to serve on it, in it, or with it. There are many, many ways to prepare rice. Brown rice, white rice, wild rice, rice with chopped parsley, rice cooked in orange juice, rice with mushrooms sliced into it. They are all worth knowing about! In the Near Eastern countries rice is called Pilau; Risotta is rice in Italy; Paella refers to the saffron rice of Spain. Again you will meet it in various parts of the world as Pilas. These are the "noms de plume" most often used but each means rice, flavored and cooked according to the custom of the country.

No Legislative Push by Nixon Foreseen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congresses elected with new presidents tend to be flooded with new legislation. The 91st Congress, according to what its members hear, will be different.

There will be no "100 days" of crash legislative proposals from the Nixon White House, key Republicans are telling fellow lawmakers. They say President-elect Nixon will be busy taking stock of what has already been done, and deciding what changes are needed.

★ ★ ★

Also there is this political fact of life: the Congress is Democratic, the White House Republican. Initially, anyway, Nixon will be inclined to temper his requests with recognition of what he can get.

Speculation among members in advance of Friday's opening session centered on what dramatic newsworthy, phrase-making issue Nixon will develop into the theme of his inaugural address on Jan. 20.

A GLIMPSE

He probably will save the specifics for an appearance, shortly thereafter, before a joint House-Senate session at which he will discuss the state of the union. At that time he must give at least a glimpse of his legislative objectives.

★ ★ ★

In his election campaign Nixon promised to let the 10 per cent surtax die with the Vietnam war. He called for a broad range of new tax incentives for businesses willing to undertake development risks in the ghetto. He favored tax-sharing with the states and block grants of federal money for local projects as a substitute for tightly categorized allotments of federal funds.

★ ★ ★

His legislative tacticians say he hasn't changed his mind about these proposals. But the immediate situation may preclude acting on them any time soon.

★ ★ ★

Nixon and his advisers already have conceded that inflation and heavy budget demands may make it necessary to keep the surtax past its scheduled July 1 expiration date. And in conference with Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee, Nixon reportedly was persuaded that widespread tax incentives will cost more than he can afford at this time.

OLD IDEA

As for block grants, that is an old Republican idea, favored too by many southern Democrats who see in it a relaxation of federal guidelines on how the money is spent. Nixon almost surely will ask, and probably will get, authority to make at least a start in this direction.

★ ★ ★

As for tax sharing, one possibility considered by lawmakers was that Nixon may seize on this concept as a goal for congressional planning now and enactment later. However, some members said he would be wise not to throw out the idea, even for planning, until he has committed himself to its practicality and can see in his probable budget room to give up a few billion dollars within the next couple of years.

States and localities will start slicing up this pie even before it is cooked, the reasoning went. The pressure to get it into and out of the oven will be hard to resist once the recipe is discussed.

SAFE PROPOSAL

One certain, and safe, early proposal for the new President is reform of the presidential electoral system, which many thought came close to collapse in the recent three-way race won by Nixon. Democrats are hot for this too, and dozens of reform plans already have been drafted, most of them keyed to abolition of the electoral college. Hearings have been promised on both sides of the Capitol.

On many points Nixon still is awaiting reports from a score of task forces he has put to work on major national issues. Among his toughest and most urgent requirements is to come up with a plan for putting liveability back in the cities.

Republicans say Democratic administrations have spent enough billions on that elusive objective to establish that money alone is not the answer. Nixon's plans for the cities probably will not be revealed immediately. In the short run he will ask continued financing of housing, slum clearance, urban renewal, model cities and other aids already enacted.

Democrats do not expect Nixon to propose dismantling of these or other major "Great Society" economic and welfare programs now on the books. Here and elsewhere, some of the big battles of the 91st Congress may come over money.

Pact to State Firm

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $2.9-million military defense contract has been awarded to the Menominee Engineering Corp., of Menominee, Mich. for construction of nearly 22,000 bridge decks.

State Ham Radio Pioneer, 87, Dies

SAGINAW (AP) — Jesse O. Ellison, one of Michigan's pioneer ham radio operators, died Wednesday at a nursing home after a long illness. The 87-year-old Ellison, whose service with Western Union included jobs at Saginaw, Benton Harbor, Ludington and Detroit, became interested in amateur radio in 1903. He had operated station W8COW since 1918.

Burglars broke into more than 1,600,000 homes in the U.S. last year, making off with $350 million worth of valuables.

'Freudians' Want to Slip Data to Public

VIENNA (AP) — "Where is the Sigmund Freud monument?" the pretty American coed asked. "Who is Freud?" the puzzled Viennese replied.

A new Freud Society wants to change all this.

★ ★ ★

It wants to tell the Austrians more about Freud and it plans to build a fitting memorial to the founder of psychoanalysis who spent most of his life here.

There is a claim here and abroad that Austrians who know about Freud don't think murh of him.

A prominent psychologist gave this explanation:

"The Austrians have been traditionally loath to introspection, let alone psychoanalysis."

★ ★ ★

There were also scientific reservations about Freud.

As a result, the psychoanalyst is commemorated in Vienna only by a small bust at the university and by a plaque on a modest house.

The government has asked an Austrian-born American psychologist to head the new Sigmund Freud Society. He is Frederick J. Hacker, who teaches psychoanalysis at the University of Southern California.

★ ★ ★

In a speech at the opening session of the new group, Hacker said it was necessary for Austria to dispel the impression that "She does not appreciate what is appreciated of her abroad."

He said the new society would help remove "the myth and the legend" of Vienna's indifference and even hostility to Freud.

★ ★ ★

The society wants to turn the house at Vienna's Berggasse where Freud lived into a memorial to him. It plans lectures by prominent foreign psychoanalysts and a program of short-term seminars in fields related to and influenced by psychoanalysis.

NHL's Eastern Division Tightens With Boston's Victory, 4-2

Bruins Defeat Rangers While Montreal Falls

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernie Geoffrion's eyes flashed and for a moment, he was back in the Montreal Forum, wearing the blazing red jersey of the Montreal Canadiens.

"I'll tell you something," Geoffrion, now coach of the New York Rangers, said, pointing a finger. "No team ever ran the Canadiens out of their building the way the Bruins ran us out of here tonight."

★ ★ ★

Boston had just finished socking it to the Rangers, 4-2 Thursday night to move into a first place tie with Montreal in the National Hockey League's East Division. And the Bruins did it with a minimum of finesse and a maximum of muscle.

"They threw elbows in our faces and sticks in our faces but nobody did anything about it," said Geoffrion. "If you're in this league you better be able to defend yourself. Nobody ever came to my rescue when I played for the Canadiens. I got tired of getting hit and in the end I used my stick and they left me alone."

MONTREAL LOSES

Pittsburgh stunned the Canadiens, 5-2, and Chicago tied Philadelphia, 2-2, in other games.

The Bruins refused to leave the Rangers alone, bullying New York players all over the ice, almost at will. At one point, Glen Sather pummelled Dave Balon with a half dozen punches before Balon dropped his gloves to retaliate.

★ ★ ★

Referee Bill Friday called 22 penalties including a major to Sather for the Balon episode. Sather spent 11 minutes in the penalty box for the game.

The one Bruin who wasn't involved in the fighting was Bobby Orr, but he seemed to be involved in everything else. The 20-year-old defenseman scored one goal, assisted on another by Derek Sanderson and played a spectacular game on defense in front of goalie Gerry Cheevers.

LOSE PUCK

His goal, No. 11 on the season, came in the opening 10 seconds of the final period after he recovered a loose puck in New York's end and skated in alone on Ed Giacomin.

During one of Boston's more boisterous moments, a pair of Bruins found themselves in the penalty box and the Rangers had a two-man advantage on the ice. Vic Hadfield, who later scored a goal, wound up for a slap shot with only goalie Gerry Cheevers in front of him. Suddenly, out of nowhere came Orr, sliding in the path of Hadfield's shot and smothering it.

★ ★ ★

"It was a typical game for him," said Harry Sinden, coach of the Bruins. "A good night?" asked Sinden rhetorically. "I don't recall him ever having a bad one."

Boston got a needed assist from Pittsburgh to climb into the first place deadlock with the Canadiens. The Penguins bunched three early goals by Wally Boyer, Bob Woytowich and Ken Schinkel and made the margin stand up.

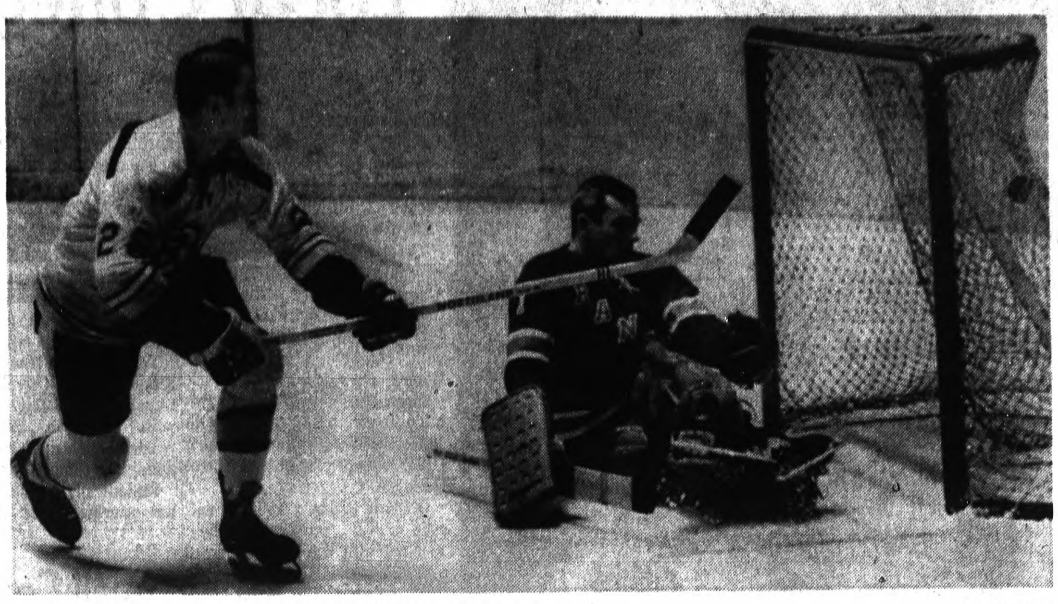

FIRST TIME

Billy Harris and rookie Jean Pronovost scored Pittsburgh's other goals while J. C. Tremblay and Dick Duff hit for the Canadiens. It was the first time expansionist Pittsburgh ever beat Montreal.

Jim Johnson's 45-foot goal in the third period earned Philadelphia its tie with Chicago and goalie Doug Favell protected the deadlock with three late saves against Bobby Hull, the NHL's scoring leader.

★ ★ ★

Hull scored his 25th goal of the year and assisted on a score by Chico Maki to take a two-point lead over idle Gordie Howe in the scoring race. Brit Selby scored the Flyers' first goal, just 21 seconds after Maki had hit in the first period.

CAUGHT OFF BALANCE—New York Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin is caught off balance as Boston Bruins' forward Ron Murphy (28) drills the puck into the net for a score in their game last night in New York's Madison Square Garden. Boston won the game, 4-2, and moved into a first place tie with Montreal in the Eastern Division of the NHL. The Canadiens were shocked by Pittsburgh last night.

LA Rams' Owner Wavering Over Dismissal of Allen?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — It seems like everybody except the coach's wife was unavailable for comment and she doesn't want the coach to coach anymore.

That's about the way things stood today in pro football's most burning question of the New Year: Will George Allen return as head coach of Los Angeles Rams next season?

★ ★ ★

Ram owner Dan Reeves fired Allen because of "a personality clash" but has now changed his mind and wants Allen back, according to Mrs. Allen and others.

Allen's wife, Etty, in an interview Thursday said Reeves wanted to rehire her husband; her husband was undecided about going back to the Rams; and she, Mrs. Allen, wants him to stay out of coaching.

'NO COMMENT'

Reeves issued a statement like "no comment" through the Ram publicity staff.

Allen did not answer his telephone.

Mrs. Allen didn't answer her telephone after the interview.

Reeves apparently bowed to the pressure of irate fans and many of his players in making an attempt to reconcile with Allen.

Allen and the Rams finished second to Baltimore in the Coastal Division of the National Football League with a 10-3-1 record for 1968.

COOL MEDICINE

Allen has often said coaching takes him away from his family. He said he works a 16 to 18 hour day. When he's home, he's looking at game movies most of the time. He does not eat at the family training table but prefers milk shakes which soothe his stomach ulcer.

Mrs. Allen and the four Allen kids —, George, 16; Gregory, 14; Gerald, 9 and Jennifer, 7 — dine alone in football season. They all want to stay permanently in their new home in the suburban Palos Verdes peninsula overlooking the Pacific.

Money is no problem for a few years anyway. Reeves has said he will pay off Allen on his contract at about $50,000 a year.

Baltimore Opens Practice to Fans, 2,000 Show Up

BALTIMORE (AP) — More than 2,000 football fans braved cold weather to watch the Baltimore Colts practice Thursday, and today Colt backers will be exposed to the elements as 1,000 Super Bowl tickets go on sale.

The open house practice, announced in advance, attracted a spirited crowd which ringed the field for the 45-minute drill.

★ ★ ★

"I'm happy to do it for the fans," said Coach Don Shula.

"Some of these people probably were at the airport when for safety factors we didn't go through the terminal. This way they could get a closeup look at the players."

Shula referred to the team's return from Cleveland last Sunday, following the 34-0 victory over the Browns in the National Football League championship game.

But Scandal Factor in Race

Illinois Five Impresses Early

CHICAGO (AP) — The ghost of Illinois' self-exposed slush fund scandal two years ago could haunt the promising Illini basketball team in the Big Ten race which opens Saturday.

The Illini, who emerged the only unbeaten team (9-0) in the Big Ten's prechampionship campaign, could win the conference title but not the accompanying automatic berth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's post-season tournament.

Although cleared by the Big Ten from further punishment after forced resignation of three coaches implicated in the $21,000 illegal athletic fund, Illinois was barred from NCAA championship meets for two years.

That NCAA penalty carries through May 7, 1969, roughly two months after this season's NCAA tourney.

Rebuilding from the blow that cost the Illini cage team head coach Harry Combes, assistant coach Howie Braun, and three players, mentor Harv Schmidt has started his second season with a surprising flourish.

The Illini launch the conference campaign against invading Minnesota Saturday afternoon after surging from nowhere to No. 8 ranking in the AP's national poll.

Schmidt's club which has two holdovers from the ill-fated 1967 team capped an impressive preseason campaign by copping the Hurricane Classic in Miami, Fla., last week, decisively whipping Creighton and Miami.

In fact, the Illini defeated a good Creighton team twice, while rolling up 105 points twice against Butler and Tulane, and downing such other sound clubs as Iowa State and Houston in their nine-game string.

Senior Dave Scholz and soph Greg Jackson, also 6-8, are the one-two Illini scorers with averages of 22.5 and 15.3 points. Senior Jodie Harrison, a transfer from Alabama as a sophomore, also is scoring in double figures with an 11.3 average.

HIGH SCORING

Denny Pace, like Scholz a sophomore on the luckless 1967 team, and junior Mike Price round out the starting five which has averaged almost 90 points a game while yielding an average of 69.

On Saturday's opening Conference card, two teams beaten only once in preseason play, Northwestern (8-1) and Ohio State (6-1), are on the road against Michigan State (4-4) and Indiana (4-4).

Other league openers include Purdue (6-3) at Wisconsin (4-4) in a regional TV matinee and Iowa (5-2) at Michigan (6-2).

Three coaches make Big Ten debuts — John Powless at Wisconsin, Bill Fitch at Minnesota and John Orr at Michigan.

Cage Ducats Limited

A limited number of adult tickets will go on sale Tuesday at the bookstore at Waterford Kettering High School for the Kettering vs. Waterford basketball game Tuesday night.

There will be no ticket sales the night of the game. A pre-sale of student tickets is slated for each school during the day Tuesday.

The varsity game is slated for 8 p.m. at Kettering.

Michigan Has Tough Big Ten Foe Tomorrow

ANN ARBOR — Michigan moves into Big Ten competition for the first time Saturday afternoon after a pre-conference schedule that gave indications the Wolverines could be a factor in the title chase.

The first nine games have solved a great many problems for Coach John Orr and, most inportantly, has established the fact the Wolverines do have some depth. This was one of the nagging problems for Orr going into the basketball opener back in early December.

A pleasant surprise has been the progress of Dan Fife. The 6-2 sophomore from Clarkston has given Michigan's offense great stability and taken much of the scoring pressures off Michigan's two big men — Rudy Tomjanovich (26.0) and Dennis Stewart (18.3).

★ ★ ★

Another big lift for the Wolverines has been provided by Richard Carter. The 'Bird' has been consistently brilliant, but in a quiet way. The 6-1 leaper from Ft. Dodge Junior College is shooting at a 60 per cent clip with a 10-point average. His defense has been impeccable and his rebounding goes well beyond his size.

Michigan will need all these weapons on the firing line Saturday against Iowa. Coach Ralph Miller has another strong team and another talented junior college transfer, John Johnson. Johnson leads Iowa with an average of over 23 points a game.

Red Wings Call Up Defenseman Watson From AHL Clippers

DETROIT (AP) — Defenseman Jim Watson was recalled by the Detroit Red Wings Thursday from the Baltimore Clippers of the American Hockey League.

The 25-year-old Watson expects to join the Red Wings for their next game in St. Louis Saturday night. Earlier in the season, he played four games for Detroit and scored one assist.

At Baltimore, he appeared in 24 games and scored two goals and eight assists.

General manager Sid Abel said the Wings hope to have right wing Bruce MacGregor, sidelined with the flu, back in the lineup Saturday.

Missouri Valley Fives Show Strength Again

By the Associated Press

The Missouri Valley Conference basketball race is off to a typical scrambling start ... with Louisville's slick defending champs soaring again and 10th ranked Cincinnati reeling after an early knockdown.

★ ★ ★

The 14th ranked Cardinals, sparked by Butch Beard's outside shooting, zipped past Wichita State 71-58 Thursday night at Louisville for their ninth victory without a loss and a 2-0 MVC mark.

★ ★ ★

Unranked Tulsa limited Cincinnati to 15 second half points on the way to a 57-50 home court triumph that kept the Golden Hurricane, 9-2 over-all, even with Louisville in conference play.

★ ★ ★

Visiting Drake edged Memphis State 73-71 in its first MVC start for a 9-1 season mark and Bradley, a perennial Valley power, drubbed North Dakota 109-77 at Peoria, Ill., in a non-league game.

STILL UNBEATEN

Unbeaten, 12th ranked New Mexico State trimmed the University of Albuquerque 91-81 for its 10th victory and No. 18 New Mexico, upset by Butler earlier in the week, rebounded for a 68-64 decision over Denver. The rest of The Associated Press Top 20 teams were idle.

★ ★ ★

Louisville's Beard scored 27 points, hitting on 12 of 21 shots from the floor, to lead the Cardinals' attack against the Shockers. Louisville held the visitors to three field goals in the first 12 minutes of the second half while running a one-point halftime edge to a commanding 56-41 bulge.

★ ★ ★

Tulsa overcame a seven-point intermission deficit against cold-shooting Cincinnati, 7-2, which went 7½ minutes without a point during one stretch. Bobby Smith's 21 points topped the winners, who shifted from a zone to man-to-man defense at the start of the second half and outscored Cincinnati 15-5 to take the lead for good.

★ ★ ★

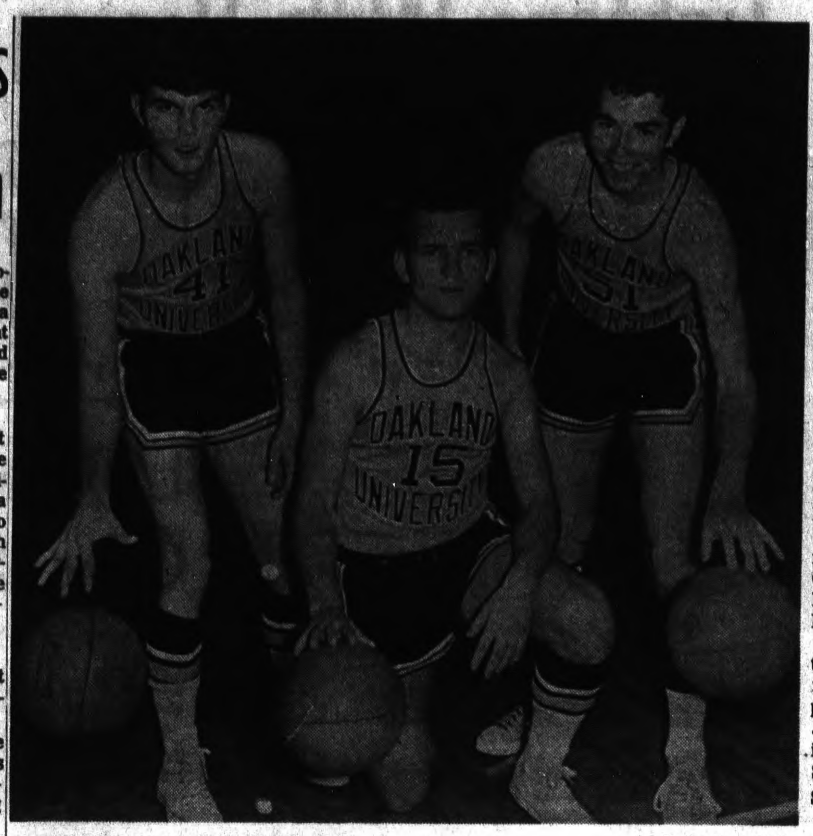

While McCarvers jump shot with 42 seconds remaining gave Drake a 72-71 lead over the Tigers and Dolph Pulliam added a free throw with nine seconds to play. Memphis State's Rich Jones was the game's high scorer with 33 points while Willie Wise hit for 19 to pace the Bulldogs.

L. C. ON TARGET

Bradley, 7-4, cruised past North Dakota behind L. C. Bowen's 35-point binge.

All five New Mexico State starters hit in double figures against stubborn little Albuquerque, 6-foot-9 Sam Lacy leading the way with 24 points.

Denver gave New Mexico a scrap until the final three minutes, when the Lobos drew out to a five-point edge and then hung on. Willie Long, a 6-foot-8, sophomore, popped in 22 points for the winners.

PONTIAC PREP PRODUCTS—A trio of ex-prep cagers from the Pontiac area are donning Oakland University uniforms this winter. Jim Hester (41) and Mike Clancy (51) are both Northern High School graduates, while Connie Krogulecki was an All-State selection at Orchard Lake St. Mary. Krogulecki is gradually gaining varsity playing time after transferring to OU this year as a sophomore. Freshman Clancy has been a key performer on the OU junior varsity unit. Hester is a junior in his first varsity campaign.

Action Resumes Tonight

Local College 5's Play

The slumping Highland Lakes campus quintet from Oakland Community College gets a quick start on the 1969 phase of the campaign by attempting to end its losing streak against potent Alpena CC tonight in the Smart JHS gym at Walled Lake.

The Highlanders are burdened with a six-game losing streak and a 1-8 record. The game tonight also will be a warmup for tomorrow night's meeting with campus rival Orchard Ridge.

Alpena, meanwhile, will remain here and tangle with OCC's third hoop unit, Auburn Hills, Saturday night at Hazel Park HS.

Orchard Ridge's Raiders will take a 4-5 record into their meeting with the Highlanders 8 p.m. tomorrow, also at Smart JHS. Auburn Hills is 6-5 going into its resumption of play Saturday.

SITE CHANGE

The local college schedule includes one change this week. Oakland University will visit Olivet tomorrow night instead of entertaining the Comets as listed.

Second half registration will require use of the OU gym too long to permit preparing for a game properly.

Now losers of three games in a row, the Pioneers will bid to improve upon their 1-4 record against a team that whipped them, 87-68, in the Alma Tournament last weekend.

Poor defensive play has plagued coach Gene Boldon's efforts to improve upon last year's slim five victories.

★ ★ ★

The first-year mentor expects to continue shuffling the varsity performers until he finds the right combination. His young lineup includes juniors Gordie Tebo and Ed Holloman at guards, juniors Tom Allan and Greg Ranney plus sophomore Rich Wait up front.

Sophomores Glenn Beier and Connie Krogulecki are capable replacements in the backcourt, while freshman Geoff Linz and Daryl Iwankovitsch have helped at forwards.

Rebounding help may come from newly eligible transfer John Eley, a 6-foot-5 sophomore from Detroit Murray-Wright via Eastern Michigan University.

Olivet has been sparked by 6-foot-6 freshman Mike Macias, who was instrumental in Garden City West's regional championship victory last spring over Pontiac Central.

Tuesday OU will be host to Windsor University, and next Friday Aquinas College will invade the Pioneers' court.

In swimming, Oakland opens its dual meet season tonight by entertaining Henry Ford CC, a team it outswam earlier this winter in a relays encounter.

Tomorrow afternoon, the Pioneers will travel to East Lansing where they will clash with Michigan State and Western Michigan's tankers in a triangular competition.

Statistically, the OU individual scoring battle is a tight scrap among Holloman, Allan, Ranney and Tebo — all of whom have 80-87 points and are led by Holloman's 17.4 average. Allan leads the rebounding with a 15.8 rate and Ranney has pulled down 12 a game.

Small College Poll Changes

Fairmont, W. Va. '5' Moves Up Notch

By The Associated Press

Fairmont of West Virginia, which held third place in The Associated Press small college basketball poll by one point last week, has moved up to second —by one point.

The Falcons received two first-place votes in the nationwide balloting by 13 sports writers and broadcasters. Their total of 180 points enabled them to replace Trinity of Texas in the runner-up by that one point.

★ ★ ★

The Panthers of Kentucky Wesleyan got nine first-place votes and 246 points to maintain their No. 1 ranking. Both Kentucky Wesleyan, last season's NCAA College Division champions, and Fairmont have 8-0 records. Trinity is 7-2.

Unitas' Tutor Ends Career Due to Heart

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "The most gratifying thing about coaching is developing players who later succeed as collegians or pros and make you feel you had a part in framing their lives."

★ ★ ★

With that comment, Frank Camp closed out a 23-year career as head football coach at the University of Louisville. In his announcement Thursday, Camp said the decision was reached after lengthy discussions with his physician.

★ ★ ★

Camp, 62 has shaped a number of lives at the university. His former players could form the nucleus of a National Football League all-star team.

★ ★ ★

Mong them are Johnny Unitas and Lenny Lyles of the Baltimore Colts, Doug Buffone of the Chicago Bears, Ernie Green of the Cleveland Browns, and Ken Kortas of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

★ ★ ★

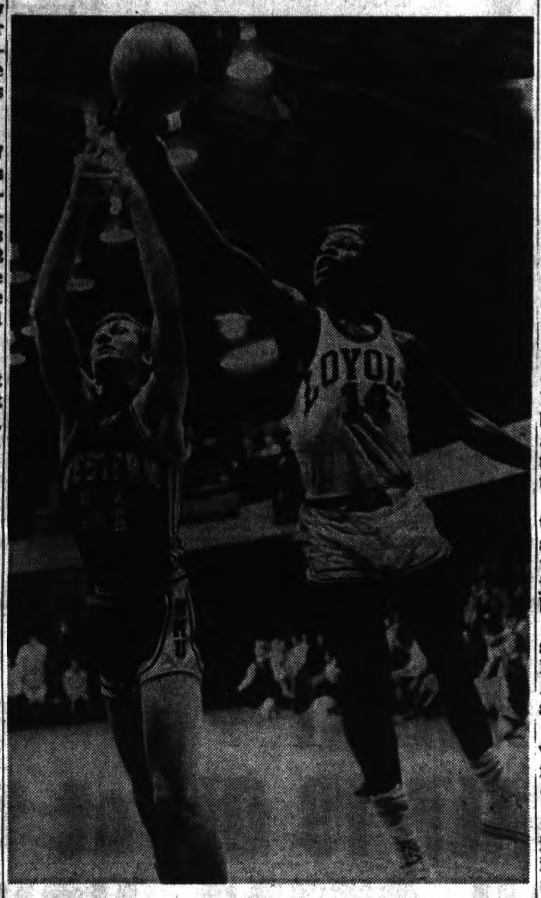

During his tenure, Camp's teams won 118 games, lost 96 and had two ties. Often, the university's football program was hard-pressed for funds, and several times the school considered dropping the sport.

★ ★ ★

Camp missed the last five games of the past season because of a rapid heart beat.

★ ★ ★

Athletic Director Peck Hickman said Camp would remain on the staff in an advisory capacity while the university searches for his successor.

BRONCO BESTED — Former Southfield High School standout Ray Schlaff (31) of Western Michigan University loses a rebound to Walt Robertson of Loyola Thursday night at Chicago. The host Ramblers tripped the Broncos, 83-68.

Long Jumper Ahead of Time in Distance

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—What do you do if you're a track athlete who has advanced his event to the year 2,001? If you're Bob Beamon, you try for about 2,069.

When Beamon long jumped 29 feet, 2½ inches at the Olympic Games in Mexico City in October, he broke the world record by nearly two feet, a performance considered the greatest in the history of track and field by those who measure such things.

At the time, it was said that the lithe, 22-year-old athlete had set the event ahead by a generation, that probably no one would jump that far again for years, but Beamon disagrees.

"I think I can do it again," he said Thursday as he arrived here for the Examiner All-American Games indoor track and field meet Saturday.

"I thought I could be better. I would like to go about 30 or 31 feet."

INDOOR STANDARD

Right now, though, he is more interested in pushing his world indoor record of 27-2½ beyond the 28-foot limit.

Beamon said he has not done any training for the long jump since the Olympics, but has played some basketball and may join the Texas-El Paso team for a few games when he enrolls there again later this month.

★ ★ ★

Beamon said he felt bad about not being nominated for the Sullivan Award, which is annually given by the Amateur Athletic Union to the top amateur athlete of the year.

Committees of the AAU nominate three athletes from various sections of the country and newsmen vote on the final winner on the basis of performance and sportsmanship.

Surprise was expressed in some quarters when Beamon, world and Olympic champions Lee Evans and Tommie Smith and football star O. J. Simpson were not nominated.

★ ★ ★

Beamon said he was interested in a professional basketball tryout when he finishes school and that he also has talked to some people in the movie industry about an acting career.

He said several people had advised him about going into anything professional in the near future, but added, "It depends on what's the best thing for my future."

Broncos Now 2-7

Loyola Defeats Western

CHICAGO (AP) —With Walter Robertson hitting 32 points, 22 in the last half, Loyola of Chicago led all the way to defeat Western Michigan 83-68 in basketball Thursday night.

Loyola grabbed a 39-34 halftime lead and the closest the Broncos came to closing the gap was 47-43.

Bill Moody with 15 points and Bill Baumgartner with 13 were other leading scorers for the Loyola Ramblers who padded their record to 6-4.

Ray Schlaff topped the Broncos with 13 points while Gene Ford and Joel Voelkert added 12 each. The Broncos dropped to a 2-7 mark.

Volkswagen's automatic stick shift.
It's easier to use than it is to say.

It's quite a mouthful, isn't it?

But once you get by the name, the rest is easy.

There isn't a clutch pedal to contend with.

And for all practical purposes, you can drive everywhere without shifting.

On the highway, you shift once. (This is like an overdrive: you go faster, your engine goes slower, and your automatic bug won't turn into an automatic hog.)

And when the going gets rough (like up a ridiculously steep hill), you can shift into low.

What could be simpler?

One thing: the automatic stick shift is an option.

So you'll have to pay a little more.

But compared to other automatics, it's a bargain.

Because with every automatic stick shift, we include a remarkable money-saving device:

A Volkswagen.

PRO PLAYOFF PLAN—Dallas Cowboys' offensive coach Ermel Allen (left) talks over some plays with quarterback Don Meredith during practice in Miami where the Cowboys will meet the Minnesota Vikings in the NFL Playoff Bowl Sunday.

Cincinnati QB to Lead North in Tampa Contest

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Cincinnati's Greg Cook nailed down the North team's quarterback job for Saturday's American Bowl game as Penn State's All-American tight end Ted Kwalick was kept off the starting lineup with a charley horse Thursday.

North head coach Jack Mollenkopt of Purdue revealed his list of starters while his counterpart on the South team, Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama, decided to hold until today.

★ ★ ★

The first American Bowl is scheduled to begin 1 p.m. (EST) before an estimated Tampa Stadium crowd of 20,000.

The nation's college offense leader with 3,210 yards and 30 touchdowns, Cook was placed in the starting slot despite a strained muscle in his throwing arm sustained during the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., last week.

Kwalick limped through workouts with the slight leg injury he suffered in Penn State's 15-14 Orange Bowl victory over Kansas Wednesday. Mollenkopf said Kwalick's leg probably will be in fine shape by Saturday.

JOIN FORCES

An ironic alliance appeared during practice when Kwalick went out for passes from quarterback Bob Douglass of Kansas, the team Penn State beat less than 24 hours earlier.

"You can get ready for those hard passes, I tell you they come fast," Kwalick was told good-naturedly by Kansas coach Pepper Rodgers, an assistant coach for the North squad.

For the time being, Mollenkopf said, Kwalick would be replaced at tight end by Purdue's Marion Griffin, one of the last men to be added to the roster.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Stanley Dancer has won the 13th annual Horseman Award from the Horseman & Fair World Magazine, the second time the standardbred trainer has captured the honor.

NFL Playoff Bowl Sunday

Cowboys Unsure of Reaction

MIAMI (AP) — Dallas Coach Tom Landry isn't sure what to expect from his Cowboys Sunday when they meet the Minnesota Vikings in the annual runner up playoff of the National Football League.

Landry is just as curious as many people to see how his players react after their crushing defeat by Cleveland in the Eastern Conference championship game two weeks ago. The favored Cowboys bowed out of the championship picture 31-20.

★ ★ ★

"I'm not really sure how we'll react," said the only head coach Dallas has had since it came into the NFL in 1960. "If we were starting a new season our come back would be better. But this second place game, I don't know what will be."

The 44-year-old Landry observed that to play a real top game you have to have intensive concentration. "We're enjoying ourselves here in Florida. We don't have that 24-hour concentration on what we're doing."

BRUISED EGO

Landry said he had no doubts that his fine team would recover from the bruised ego suffered in the Cleveland game. "We'll recover in time. You have to recover in this business. It's really hard to say how the players feel. They seem in good spirits, which probably is a good sign they'll play well."

The Vikings, winners of the Central Division, also are playing and working. Coach Bud Grant, however, expressed confidence his team would play well Sunday. They played well in losing the western title to Baltimore 24-14.

★ ★ ★

"I know we're not going to be flat," said Grant. "There is far too much pride among the players to let themselves get down. They're too smart to let that happen."

Grant also pointed out that unlike Dallas, his team was new to post-season competition. "The Vikings have not been involved in post-season play. It's a new experience for us. A lot of our players have put in eight years or more to get this far. I would be surprised if we didn't play well."

★ ★ ★

Both teams report they are in good health. The Vikings have nobody on the injured list. Dallas has middle linebacker Dave Simmons with a sore knee, while defensive tackle Jethro Pugh is recovering from an injury which hampered him in the Cleveland game. Both are expected to play.

Bulls Find Bit of Alaska Freeze in Chicago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The temperature was supposed to drop to 65 degrees below zero in Alaska today, but it couldn't be any colder than the Chicago Bulls, found frozen in the field by the Atlanta Hawks.

The Bulls started Thursday with a hot, for them, three-game winning streak and held a 63-50 lead over the even hotter Hawks and their 10-game victory string in the third period when the temperature dropped.

Chicago went nine minutes and 40 seconds into the final period before hitting its first shot from the field after missing 17 in a row. By then, Atlanta held a 98-78 lead and breezed to a 106-88 victory for No. 11.

★ ★ ★

Cincinnati dissipated a 20-point lead against Milwaukee at Madison, Wis., before coming back for a 113-109 decision over the Bucks, and Boston turned back San Diego 107-95 in the only other National Basketball Association games.

TIGHT DEFENSE

Atlanta helped put the Bulls in deep freeze with a tight man-to-man defense, and Chicago managed only five baskets in the last 19 minutes, scoring only 14 points in the final quarter.

★ ★ ★

Walt Hazzard led Atlanta with 19 points while Bob Boozer had 27 for chicago, but only nine in the last half and none in the final stanza.

★ ★ ★

Cincinnati jumped to an 85-65 lead before the Bucks came back and took a 102-101 lead with three minutes left. Jerry Lucas' jump finally put the Royals ahead to stay at 105-104 and Oscar Robertson scored Cincinnati's last eight points for a total of 25. Teammate Tom Van Arsdale had 28.

★ ★ ★

Boston had six men in double figures to offset a 32-point showing by San Diego's Elvin Hayes. John Havlicek and Tom Sanders led the way with 23 each.

★ ★ ★

Havlicek came off the bench in the final period to spark a Celtic rally in which Boston outscored the Rockets 9-2 for an 86-85 lead with 7:15 to play. The Celtics had led by 13 points at halftime, but the Rockets rallied to go ahead 75-74 in the final minute of the third quarter.

Denver Quint Stays Within Grasp of Lead

By the Associated Press

The Denver Rockets continue to stay within hailing distance of Oakland in the American Basketball Association's Western Division race.

The Rockets downed hapless Houston 120-102 Thursday night and sliced idle Oakland's lead to 7½ games. In other action, Miami beat Kentucky 110-106 and New Orleans nipped Los Angeles 112-111 in overtime.

★ ★ ★

Jeff Congdon, a substitute, ignited the fourth-quarter rally that sent Denver to its 14th victory in 16 home games. The former Brigham Young star hit a field goal and then stole the ball and made a perfect pass for another basket that shook the Rockets loose from an 83-83 tie.

Willie Murrell scored 23 of his 29 points in the second half as Miami rallied to beat Kentucky and move into a virtual tie with the Colonels for second place in the Eastern Division. Kentucky's Darel Carrier took scoring honors with 30 points but the Colonels had only eight men in uniform and had to play cautiously.

New Orleans rebounded from an eight-point halftime deficit to edge Los Angeles. Jimmy Jones tied it in regulation time at 98-all with two free throws and Mike Butler's made two more in overtime to cement the triumph.

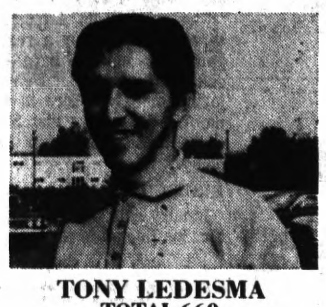

West Side Team in Table Tennis Division Lead

West Side Mobil took the lead in the National Division of the Pontiac Table Tennis Association League play last night on the basis of a 5-1 triumph over Mr. Steak which fell from first to third.

Richardson's Dairy defeated Capitol Barber and moved into second place while China City held the American Division lead on a basis of a 3-3 tie with Stefanski's.

Players Added to NBA Tilt

NEW YORK (UPI) — Four more players were named today to fill the eastern roster for the National Basketball Association's All Star game Jan. 14 in Baltimore.

The latest additions, chosen by NBA coaches, were Hal Greer of Philadelphia, last year's most valuable all star; Willis Reed of New York; Jon McGlocklin of Milwaukee; and Gus Johnson of Baltimore.

Named earlier, in a poll of writers and broadcasters, was a starting lineup of forwards Jerry Lucas of Cincinnati and John Havlicek of Boston, center Bill Russell of Boston, and guards Earl Monroe of Baltimore and Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati.

Also picked were Dave Bing of Detroit, rookie Wes Unseld of Baltimore and Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia.

MVP Skater Is Suspended

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Billy McNeill of Vancouver, the Western Hockey League's most valuable player in 1965 and 1966, was suspended Thursday by Coach Joe Crozier.

Crozier said McNeill was suspended for refusing to report to the Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League.

In Men's Classics

Keglers Go on Scoring Spree

Mark Bowers went on a scoring spree last week at 300 Bowl for one of the peak performances this season in the men's Classic, hitting 223-263—692.

He wasn't alone, though, as Bob Lowry responded with a 265 game in a 636, and Bill Johns hit 201-262—627. Jim Reid had a 636, also, with a 212-216.

★ ★ ★

Mel Boothe had a 224-236 duo, Ray Kasat rolled 213-222, Bill Pittman posted a 225 game, and "Mo" Moore a 221.

It was also a big outing last time for the North Hill Classic after several subpar nights. Nick Coates' 681 (including a 247 game) for National Twist Drill led a surge of 20 men hitting 600 or better.

★ ★ ★

Lou Koprince rolled 248—679, Frank Nash 678, and Leon Barnes 233—672. Dave Simpson hit a 254 (647) and Rod Kimball 257 (637). Ed Marsh posted 239—644 highs.

The National Twist Drill men sizzled as a unit, hitting 1126-1074—3186 for the third best team actuals reported locally this season.

In addition to Coates' 681, Lou Mitzelfeld had 227-660, Roger Brodie 233—630, Merle Amesiegger 225—624 and Clarence Cadieux a 222.

But next Wednesday's final night of the first half will find Hazelton Lettering and Rochester Robo Wash clashing for the top spot honors.

★ ★ ★★

At Wonderland Lanes Monday night, the Masters men listed highs of 248 by Ed Dunkle and 654 by Jim Goodale. Ron Cotner was the runner-up in both areas with his 237—638. Orv Warren had a 631 series and Jerry Dunkle a 235 game.

The high team game was Gorman Golf's 1058, while Emery Corp. had a 1043.

LADIES STAR

By JERE CRAIG

Veteran Oakland County bowling proprietor Lou Koprince has been a sanctioned bowler for more than 40 years and has seen numerous big moments in the sport.

His personal top thrill happened in 1958, 30 years after he was first sanctioned, at West Side Lanes during a West Side men's classic outing.

That was the night likeable Lou first came close to perfection. He put together 11 strikes in a row, then in his words, "was overly cautious."

"I wanted to be sure to hit the head pin," the current North Hill Lanes coproprietor commented. The 12th ball was too high and a six-pin stayed standing.

KOPRINCE

Koprince had another chance for his first sanctioned 300 in 1965 at his own Rochester establishment, but this time the six- and ten-pin were left when he was high again.

So the smiling ex-Detroit pinsetter, who can point to at least 25 sanctioned 700 series, lists 299 and 298 as his best games and continues in quest of his first 300.

★ ★ ★

Among Lou's other highlights are winning the Elks National actual doubles title with Paul George in 1959, and the Shaw's Kings & Queens Tournament with Joe Vackaro and Naomi Woods at the Old Motor Inn.

Koprince and his brother Jay took over control of the famed second-story downtown Pontiac establishment in 1947 and closed it in 1961 due to a lack of parking and the house's outmoded facilities.

They built spacious North Hill that same year and opened it in May of 1962.

SPARE PINS

Bill Johns dented the North Hill pins recently for a 299 game in practice and a 300 in a "jackpot" duel on successive weekends.

North Hill's high men's league game this season was the 277 rolled by Jack Golding Sr. until Jack Golding Jr. hit a 278 recently.

★ ★ ★

January tournament action will commence next weekend with the annual Elks Ladies National Invitational, the state Knights of Columbus meet at 300 Bowl, and the Bowlers' Charities tourney at various sites.

In last Friday's listing of the area High Score List, Maxine Bradley's 276 women's high game was credited to Sylvan Lanes and not Savoy Lanes as it should have been.

Reports from North Hill Lanes this week added several fine scores to the list. Ed Marsh had 732 and 730 series in a four-day period for the fifth and sixth best men's actuals this year.

★ ★ ★

Kay Major's 253 game among the Nite Owl women also rates a spot on the list. The National Twist Drill team from the North Hill Classic is on the list, too, with its 1126 and 3186 actual efforts.

Golfers in Tie After Pro-Am

BUENA PARK, Calif. (AP) — George Bayer and Monty Sanders shot 67s Thursday in leading the pro-amateur prelude to the $100,000 Southern California Open golf tournament.

Bayer's first and second nine totals were 34 and 33. Sanders shot 36-31 over the 6,900-yard Los Coyotes Country Club course.

★ ★ ★

Lee Elder of Washington, D. C., and Bob McCallister of Corona, Calif., led two amateur teams to low scores of 123. All teams had four amateurs and one professional.

Other individual scores included 68s by Bob Dixon and Howie Johnson, 69s by Billy Casper and Elder, and 70s by McCallister, Bruce Crampton, Jerry Steelsmith, John Schlee and Italy's Roberto Bernardini, playing in his first American tournament.

Coach Withdraws Name as Prospect

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Vanderbilt head football coach Bill Pace said Thursday night he has withdrawn his name from the list of those being considered for the head coaching post at Oklahoma State.

★ ★ ★

Pace, who earlier had accepted an invitation to Stillwater, Okla., to be interviewed for the post, said he was not going for the interview.

Pace, in notifying Oklahoma State of his decision, offered his assistance to the school's selection committee in their search for a replacement for Phil Cutching.

Another Abbreviated Session

Stock Mart Continues to Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to rally in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 270 issues on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .9 at 359.0 with industrials up 1.3, rails up .7 and utilities up .2.

The market was higher from the start as it stretched its New Year's rally into the second straight session. Prices improved gradually as the session wore on.

It was the second of a new series of abbreviated sessions—cut to four hours from the regular 5½ as the exchanges eliminated the midweek closings and instead shortened the trading days in their continued effort to beat the paperwork logjam.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.41 at 952.14.

The continued improvement in market trend reflected reinvestment demand, the use of yearend dividends and bonuses and the stop of profit taking and tax loss selling at end of 1968, brokers said.

Big blocks pushed some stocks among th emost active issues.

Marcor, up a fraction, paced the list thanks to a block of 359,600 shares.

Lehigh Portland Cement rose ⅜ to 20½ on a block of 116,500 shares, placing it among the volume leaders.

Refinery Is Busy

DETROIT (AP) — Crude oil processing at the Detroit refinery of Marathon Oil Co. reached 16.5 million barrels in 1968, one million more than the 1967 total the company said.

New Schools Center Is Behind Schedule

Pontiac Schools' Human Resource Center is running behind schedule in site acquisitions, it was reported to the board of education last night by Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, schools superintendent.

Only 15 of the 28 sites necessary for the center have been purchased, Whitmer said. The purchases were originally planned to have been made by Jan. 1.

★ ★ ★

"This raises a spectre of potential delay unless the rest of the purchases go faster, but we may be able to make the target date for completion in September 1970, if we can start construction in March or April," Whitmer said.

The estimated $4-million complex to be built east of City Hall will replace several older elementary school buildings. An estimated 2,000 pupils will utilize the 19-acre site.

PLANS ON TIME

Whitmer also reported that board plans other than acquisitions are close to schedule. He also said that the board will go into condemnation proceedings for several of the proposed purchases.

Whitmer told the board that he had contacted representatives of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and Health, Education and Welfare departments in Washington, D.C., in hopes of getting additional funds for the building of the Human Resources Center.

★ ★ ★

"Several federal programs in HUD seem to offer an opportunity for funding the center," Whitmer said.

He also said he will contact Ira Polley, state superintendent of public instruction, for an assessment of the interest of state officials concerning the Pontiac Board's seeking supplementary funds for financing the Human Resource Center.

BUSING PETITION

In other action, the board was presented with a petition by parents in the Herrington Elementary School area, concerning the busing of their children.

Mrs. James Coakley, head of the petition drive, said that the children must walk along University Drive and Featherstone Drive where there were few or no sidewalks. She said that many of the children walked through a field behind the school, that is infested with rats and snakes in the summer months.

She also said that many of the children also walked across Grand Trunk Railroad tracks near the field.

District 5 City Commissioner Robert F. Jackson spoke in behalf of the 30 some parents present at the board meeting. He had made a study of the area and presented the board with his findings. Jackson reported that some of the children had to walk more than a mile. He also supported the petitioners' complaints that walking conditions in some places were hazardous.

STUDY PLANNED

The board will make a study to determine what can be done to use the schools' equipment in making arrangements to bus the 70 some children in the area to Herrington School.

The board also asked that the administration be prepared to present a total report of similar circumstances in the district at the next meeting of the board Jan. 16.

★ ★ ★

The petitioners and several school officials are preparing to set up a meeting sometime next week to make plans to relieve the Herrington School situation.

The Head Start program in Pontiac Schols will reopen on Monday, on the basis of a report from the Oakland County Office of Economic Opportunity that funding for the program will be renewed, Whitmer said. There has been no official report from the regional OEO in Chicago, however, Whitmer said.

U-M Appoints Pontiac Native

A native of Pontiac, now a newspaper reporter in Jackson, has accepted the post of supervisor of community relations at the University of Michigan, Dearborn campus.

He is Richard G. Reynolds, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Reynolds of 7 Illionois. He assumes his post Monday.

After serving as an editor of the Pontiac Central High School paper, The Tomahawk, Reynolds went to the University of Michigan, receiving his bachelor's degree in 1964 and master's in 1967, both in journalism.

Reynolds was a reporter and wire editor for the Grand Haven Tribune, a reporter for the University of Michigan News Service and a reporter for the Jackson Citizen Patriot.

He and his wife have a 4-mont-old son and will reside in the Dearborn area.

Landlord Refused Rental, Claims Blind NY Prof

NEW YORK (AP) — An associate college professor, blind from birth, has complained to the city's Human Rights Commission that a landlord refused him an apartment because of his lack of sight.

Edwin R. Lewinson, 38, made the charge Thursday in the first complaint to be filed with the commission under a new city law which bars discrimination against physically handicapped persons.

★ ★ ★

Lewinson, who teaches history at Seton Hall University in South Orange, N.J., said in the complaint that the landlord, not identified by the commission, insisted he feared liability for any mishap occurring because of Lewinson's handicap.

William H. Booth, commission chairman, said acceptance of the complaint would be deferred until it was "determined whether the case comes within the jurisdiction of this law." The law went into effect 20 days after Lewinson applied for the apartment.

Nonfarm payroll employment rose by nearly 12 million, or 23 per cent between 1961 and 1967.

Board to Seek Funds for Study

Waterford Broaches Year-Round Schools

The Waterford Township Board of Education last night voted to seek funds for the study of a plan to operate township schools on a 12-month basis.

Cost of the study would come from a $100,000 fund created last year by the Michigan Legislature. Under the act, money is divided among school districts—selected by the state—which apply.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Don O. Tatroe, township superintendent of schools, explained that the study, if it is financed by the state, will serve to give the community a choice.

The choice, he said, would be between the present system and a quarterly system, in which students would enroll in any three of the four semesters.

IN FAVOR OF PLAN

Though he expressed personal support for such a plan, Tatroe said he is skeptical that the community would favor a quarter system.

"It's failed elsewhere because of lack of support," he said. "People see that it doesn't save on operating costs. They also evidently prefer to take vacations in the summer.

★ ★ ★

"However," he pointed out, "a year-round plan would mean we can use present school buildings more effectively and that we could save one-fourth in building costs.

"The study would be a matter of bringing the facts to the community," he said.

ADMINISTRATION

Also approved at last night's meeting was a recommendation to apply for state funds for the improvement of administrative services.

Fred Nowland, principal of the Children's Village School, reported a 50 per cent rise in the school's enrollment.

★ ★ ★

He said the increase is reflective of a corresponding rise in delinquency and child neglect in Oakland County.

Dem Seeks Probe of Real-Estate Bias

LANSING (AP)— Alleged discriminatory practices by suburban real estate companies should be investigated by the department of civil rights and licensing and regulation, Rep. James Bradley, D-Detroit, said Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Bradley made his request after learning of claims made by a real estate salesman that some realtors refused to show or sell property to Negroes in certain white neighborhoods.

Bradley added that the fair housing act of 1968 should be strengthened to require every real estate salesman and broker to sign an affidavit that he will not discriminate.

A Look at TV

Guessing Game for 1969

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — This is the time of the year when prediction is popular, when peering into the crystal ball is part of the fun of beginning a new year.

★ ★ ★

It is harmless enough: If you guess right you can say "I told you so," and if you are wrong you can forget the whole thing. But prediction in the area of television is really quite easy simply because it really doesn't change much except in its externals from year to year.

★ ★ ★

This sage, for instance, fearlessly predicts that within the next 12 months the three television networks will be preoccupied by midwifing into existence a clutch of half-hour situation comedies about a beautiful widow and her bright, cute son. After all, the big hit of this season has been "Julia," about a beautiful widow with a bright, cute son.

It is written here that all three networks will try to come up with variations on the 'Laugh-in" theme, and will proclaim each variation to be a "bold new concept in television entertainment."

ONE LESS NIGHT

Some network will bravely decide to drop one of those nightly two-hour movie reruns. Good old movies for TV are getting scarce and the public is not anywhere near as enamored of the lesser movies as it once was. The time will probably be filled with two half-hour situation comedies plus a one-hour variety show headlined by a very young singer with a Southern accent and a guitar.

A number of one-hour Westerns will be interred in TV's Boot Hill come spring while an equal number will be born next September. The heroes will change, but the scripts and the horses will look awfully familiar.

★ ★ ★

There will be numerous statements from the better-broadcast organizations decrying TV's excessive amount of violence. Network spokesmen will assert that they are being extra careful about that sort of thing—long fights and wholesale killings—but the regular viewers won't notice any real difference.

★ ★ ★

A show with low ratings but critical acclaim will be canceled and, immediately, there will be a well-organized protest with letters to the networks and to TV columnists and perhaps even some equally well-organized demonstrations before network headquarters. If the protest attracts much attention, it may even keep the show on the air—anyway, for a little while.

OUTRAGEOUS COMMENTARY

Established variety shows will try desperately to insert outrageous political commentary and the late evening conversation shows will try to steer the talk into daring areas in hopes of stimulating controversy or at least some publicity.

Approximately half the viewing audience will complain to friends that "whenever I like a show, they cancel it." The other half will confide that all they ever watch on TV are sports and the educational stations—but somehow are able to report the most recent plot turns to "Peyton Place" or the gags of Rowan and Martin.

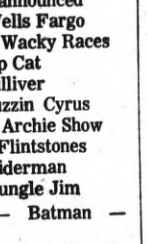

Lovelies of Latin Quarter Confused by Strike Vote

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Should women be allowed to vote?

You take the Latin Quarter girls. They are noted for their beauty rather than their perspicacity.

By not knowing what they were voting for, some of the gorgeous creatures voted for an AGVA strike against the Latin Quarter. It closed the club.

WILSON

Some of the girls who had unwittingly voted for the strike groaned that they had been misled by Miss Penny Singleton, AGVA vice president. They said she told them only that they were voting "for" or "against" the union, and not on a strike, which they say they don't want.

"Do you want to close up the club?" featured singer Kathleen Shaughnessy asked Miss Singleton who, she said, replied, "AGVA has plans for the government to subsidize show business." (Miss Singleton denied saying this).

The picket line consisted of no leggy showgals but of members of the Maritimes Trade Department and the United Farm Department, AFL-CIO.

The girls said they heard that "The Copacabana will be next!"

All I can say is pretty girls ought to be more careful about lots of things.

EARL'S PEARLS: Now that we've circled the moon, let's see science do something difficult — like explaining what's on a woman's mind.—Pic Larmour.

Apollo 8 Causes 'Flat Earth' Fallout

DOVER, England (AP) — The American astronauts' trip to the moon aboard Apollo 8 has become a headache for the International Flat Earth Society.

It believes the world is shaped like a dinner plate, but now some members aren't so sure.

"We've lost a lot of members because of this absurd Apollo trip," said the chief flat earthman, Samuel Shenton.

"I should think we're down to fewer than 100 members now."

He didn't say what the membership was before Apollo 8 began sending pictures of earth—circular pictures.

But the resignations don't alarm Shenton, 65-year-old former sign writer.

'FLIMSY EVIDENCE'

"If their opinion can be swayed by such flimsy evidence," he said, "Then they're no use to me or the society."

Asked why the spaceship photos showed a round earth, Shenton said: "I'm glad you mentioned that. That's where those Americans and Russians are so damned cunning. For some reason or other they obviously want us to think the world is round. Some of the pictures have been blatantly doctored. Studio shots, probably"—or distortion from the camera lens.

★ ★ ★

Shenton, a genial man who argues calmly about his theories, works in a little upstairs office lined with books, charts and papers and decorated with a globe. The manufacturers of globes, he suggests, may have maintained the fiction of a round earth to keep up their sales.

He has never traveled farther than France, he has never flown in an airplane, and he is used to being scoffed at. But he is determined.

'SAILORS LUCKY'

Sailors voyaging around the earth, he hints, have been lucky not to fall off.

Asked if he had ever converted a skeptic into believing in a flat earth, he said: "There's my wife. She's coming round."

Even Bigger Fuel Thefts Reportedly Await Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy petroleum inspector credited with tipping off government auditors to huge thefts of U. S. fuel in Thailand says similar losses worth "considerably more money" are still to be investigated.

The inspector, John M. McGee, told UPI in an interview that the undiscovered thefts also involved U. S. government-owned fuel in Southeast Asia but he declined to elaborate.

★ ★ ★

Tuesday the General Accounting Office (GAO), which keeps tabs on federal spending for Congress, confirmed over 5 million gallons of fuel were stolen in Thailand in 1967.

The tip-off on the theft, credited to McGee, a civilian, has stirred an uproar in high Navy echelons.

BACK TO STATES

It resulted in the Navy's precipitously transferring him back to the States, the 35-year-old inspector claims, and putting him on a make-work job in a fuel supply office in Alexandria, Va., last November.

"I'm radioactive," McGee said of the official Navy attitude toward him. "They won't look at me. They won't talk to me. I'm given the cold treatment."

★ ★ ★

Navy spokesmen denied any abuse of McGee, saying his transfer was made at his own request. McGee, however, says he even put in writing his desire to stay in Bangkok.

FURTHER INQUIRIES

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who asked the GAO to investigate the Thailand fuel situation after a letter from McGee, has said he will look into McGee's allegations of punitive treatment by the Navy.

In reporting on the Thailand thefts, the GAO said "further unidentified thefts of fuel may have occurred and the full extent of losses is not known."

★ ★ ★

McGee said he noticed when he started working in Bangkok, Thailand, in May 1967, that a supervisor was signing receipts for oil shipments to U. S. military installations throughout Thailand without checking to make sure the fuel actually was received.

Later investigations disclosed that much of it was not received and some was shipped to nonexistent military units.

VACATIONS ON BEACH

"He said he was doing this to expedite the paper work," McGee said. He said the same man spent "vacations on the beach" in cabins owned by oil contractors.

McGee said after reporting these "questionable activities" to the U. S. Office of Special Investigations in Bangkok, "my supervisor transferred to a better job, a promotion."

★ ★ ★

Then, he said, his charges of thefts were confirmed and "two weeks ago they transferred him (the supervisor) to the South Pole under Operation Deep Freeze."

Virginia was the birthplace of eight presidents.

Congress Open: Teddy Vies for Whip

SEN. TED KENNEDY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 91st Congress opened for business today with challenges to the Senate leadership on both sides of the aisle and issues that could put it in a fighting mood by the time Richard M. Nixon moves into the White House.

Top Senate posts remain in the hands of Democrat Mike Mansfield of Montana, majority leader, and Republican Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, minority leader, who was unopposed.

★ ★ ★

But Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, in a move regarded as a first step toward a possible 1972 presidential bid, put up a close race today with Louisiana's Russell B. Long for the No. 2 Democratic job of whip.

On the GOP side, Pennsylvania's Hugh Scott challenged for the whip position in another tight race with Nebraska's Roman Hruska.

In the 11th hour challenge, Michigan's Robert P. Griffin announced for chairmanship of the Republican Policy Committee against Colorado's Gordon Allott.

The position has declined in influence in recent years, but Robert A. Taft once used it to climb to Senate power.

★ ★ ★

The House settled its leadership problems yesterday with Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts easily defeating the unprecedented challenge of Arizona Democrat Morris Udall, 178 to 58. Republican Gerald Ford of Michigan won reelection unopposed as minority leader.

The House and Senate will meet in joint session Monday to canvass presidential election returns, then turn to an array of issues that could provide early fireworks.

Democrats, holding a 243-192 majority in the House and a 57-43 edge in the Senate, said they would try to cooperate with Nixon.

But there were warnings that he could lose their support if Republicans tried to scuttle Great Society programs.

★ ★ ★

Both houses have before them a proposal to raise their own pay and salaries of top federal officers including the President.

The House may have to grapple with the problem of whether to seat New York's Adam Clayton Powell, ousted in 1967 after being accused of misusing federal funds.

LBJ N-TREATY ENTREATY

President Johnson is expected to press hard for early Senate action on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, but the Senate could get bogged down first in the biennial move to moderate the filibuster rule that requires a two-third vote to limit debate.

Besides reelecting Ford as minority leader House Republicans again chose Illinois' Leslie Arends as whip.

★ ★ ★

Democrats returned Carl Albert of Oklahoma and Hale Boggs of Louisiana to the majority leader and whip posts.

House Republicans had only one major leadership contest — for chairman of the House Republican Conference, a post increased in importance while it was held by Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin secretary of defense designate.

Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois won it, hardinly defeating Reps. Jackson E. Betts of Ohio and Albert H. Quie of Minnesota.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., is expected to be elected president pro tempore of the Senate.

GM Truck, Pontiac Set Output Records

Pontiac Motor Division and General Motors Truck and Coach Division had their biggest production years ever in 1968 while U.S. auto output for the year — over 8.8 million — was the second highest total ever.

Truck production nationwide was a record with General Motors and Ford setting new marks. The total was 1,949,111, up from the 1965 record of 1,782,812.

Automotive News revealed the totals in yesterday's issue.

The year's total of 8,848,501 cars is second only to the 9,335,208 assembled in 1965, the trade magazine reported. The figure was far above the 1967 production of 7.4 million. (Ford was shut down for two months by a strike.)

PRODUCTION MARK

Officials at Pontiac Motor Division gave their record as 943,253 units compared to 866,385 in 1967. A projection of one million units has been forecast for 1969.

Besides 417,705 Pontiacs, model production in 1968 included: Tempests, 352-878; Firebirds, 105,526; Grand Prix, 67,144.

Truck and Coach officials announced the new record figure for trucks and coaches was 148,637. The previous mark was 136,705 set in 1965. In 1967 the total was 130,659.

In total automobile production, General Motors led the output with 4.6 million followed by Ford's 2.4 million, Chrysler's 1.6 million and American Motors, 268,499.

TRUCK PRODUCTION

Both GM and Ford reported record truck production. GM's total was placed at 829,590, over 74,000 more than the record set three years ago. Ford's truck production was 623,287, about 75,000 over its 1965 figure.

Car production in Canada reached a record of 890,909 cars and truck production hit another record, 277,569. Both marks were about 15 per cent over previous records.

★ ★ ★

At U.S. plants, production schedules were lower this week and last due to the holidays but 114,881 units were on the schedule this week. Production for December totalled 715,015.

Israelis Criticize U.S., Pope Paul

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli anger at the world's concern for Lebanon and its airplanes increased yesterday. Foreign Minister Abba Eban criticized the U.N. Security Council and the Sephardic chief rabbi attacked Pope Paul VI.

Meanwhile, the once quiet Lebanese-Israeli border erupted again in an artillery duel last night, and the four major powers continued talking about a Soviet proposal for joint peace action.

At a news conference in Tel Aviv, Eban denounced the Security Council resolution condemning the Israeli raid and suggesting Lebanon is entitled to compensation.

"If Israel were wiped out completely by the Arabs, the Security Council would do and say nothing," Eban declared.

★ ★ ★

Chief Rabbi Yitzhak Nissim, head of Israel's Sephardic community, criticized the Pope for his message of sympathy to Lebanon.

In a broadcast over the state radio, Rabbi Nissim said the Pope has kept silent after the Nov. 22 bombing that killed 13 Israelis in a Jerusalem market, and after the Dec. 26 Arab attack on an El Al airliner in Athens in which one Israeli died.

ANTI-VATICAN DIATRIBE

"Here," he said, "are clear signs of two tendencies on the part of the pontiff: A comprehensive war against the Jewish faith and against the country which God gave to His people . . .

"The Pope was not shocked over the shedding of blood . . . but rather over material things."

China to India: Pay

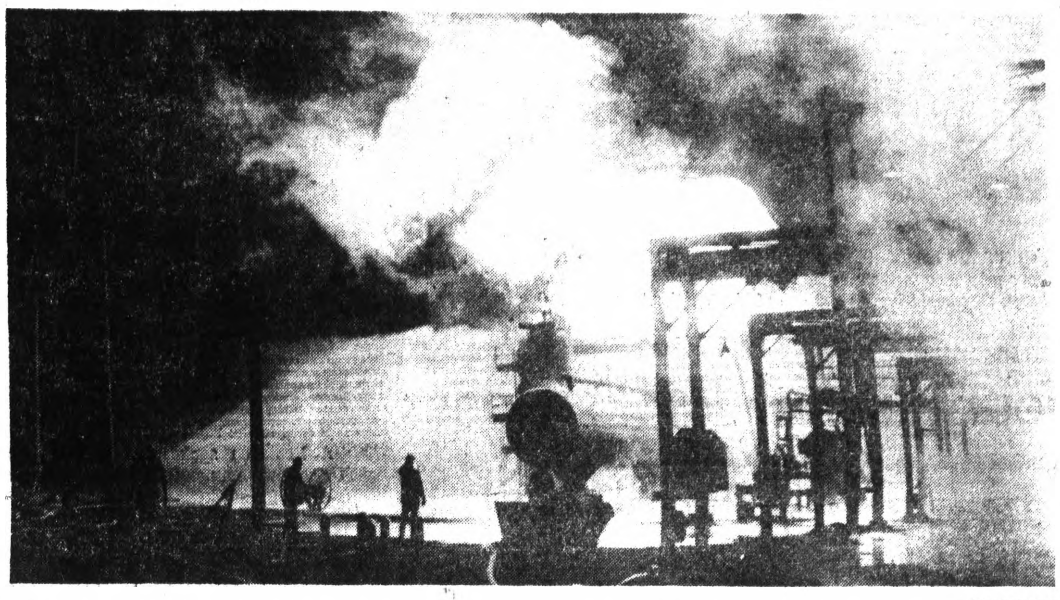

TOKYO (AP) — Red China demanded today that the Indian government pay compensation and punish "Indian ruffians and the Tibetan traitor bandits" who raided the Chinese Embassy in New Delhi Monday.

The official news agency Hsinhua said in a broadcast dispatch from Peking that India's charge d'affaires in the Chinese capital was summoned to the Foreign Ministry to receive a protest note.

LBJ Eyes 'Farewell'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson is considering a break with tradition by delivering his final State of the Union message in person.

Outgoing presidents customarily send their final message to Congress to be read. But Johnson is toying with the idea of turning his message into a nationally televised farewell.

1st Jet of Year Forced to Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — A giant Eastern Airlines stretch-jet with 148 persons aboard landed at Havana today under orders of a hijacker who took command of the nonstop New York-Miami flight.

Two Eastern turboprop planes were ordered to the airport at Varadero, Cuba, to retrieve the kidnaped passengers but no time for the flight was set, according to John Graffius, acting area manager for the Federal Aviation Administration.

The hijacked jet, which landed in Havana at 1:05 a.m. EST, was the first plane hijacked to Cuba this year. Last year there were 20 successful hijackings to Cuba, 13 of them from the United States.

Eastern said its DC 8-61, largest commercial jetliner in America, carrying 140 passengers and eight crew members, left New York's Kennedy Airport at 9:52 p.m. yesterday, and was due in Miami at 12:30 a.m.

About an hour before Flight 401 was scheduled to land at Miami International Airport, Capt. Dennis Vanhuss radioed Jacksonville, Fla. and reported, "I am going to Havana."

State Tax Valid --Appeals Court

The validity of Michigan's state income tax was upheld yesterday in a decision announced by the Michigan Court of Appeals.

The tax, which went into effect in 1967 and netted the state more than $300 million during the fiscal year ending last June 30, is being contested by Pontiac attorney Richard D. Kuhn.

★ ★ ★

Kuhn of 205 Gateway, Waterford Township, said that he would carry the case to the Michigan Supreme Court.

"We have no other choice," said Kuhn. "This is too important a question to leave in this court." Kuhn's next legal step would be to ask the Supreme Court to hear the case — something it is not required to do.

DECISION UNANIMOUS

A three-judge Appeals Court panel made up of Thomas G. Kavanaghe, Charles Levin and Genesee County Circuit Judge Stuart Newblatt voted unanimously to uphold the tax act.

The decision upholds an earlier ruling by Oakland County Circuit Judge William R. Beasley.

Kuhn, the brother of State Sen. George Kuhn, and a coplaintiff Bruce E. Duke, a Farmington contractor, claimed in their lawsuit that the tax law violates both the state and the federal constitutions.

Specifically, they challenged the provisions setting a different tax rate on individuals, corporations and financial institutions. They said that this was contrary to the 1963 Michigan Constitution's ban on a graduated income tax as to rate or base.

'NOT SO SIMILAR'

"There is not so much similarity between individuals, corporations and financial institutions and the nature of their sources of income that they must all be classified alike for tax purposes," the three-judge panel said.

MD to Transplant Thanks

Pup Faces Heart Surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — A surgeon who dirtcted a heart and kidney transplant New Year's Eve has agreed to perform open-heart surgery on a German shepherd puppy as a gesture of gratitude to the many animals used in heart research.

Dr. C. Walton Lillehei, surgeon-in-chief at New York Hospital—Cornell Medical Center, plans to make X-ray studies today of Kai, 4-month-old pet of Allan and Kevin Fogel, 8-year-old twins of Brooklyn.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Lillehei directed a 60-man team Tuesday in transplanting the heart and kidneys of a 48-year-old psychoanalyst to three recipients.

Dr. Lillehei, a former teacher of Dr. Christiaan Barnard who performed the first human heart transplant, volunteered to perform the open-heart operation "on behalf of the many dogs who have served to benefit mankind in helping develop these techniques."

If tests confirm this diagnosis, he said, the operation may be performed sometime next week.

NLF Balks at U.S. Peace-Talk Table Plan

PARIS (AP) — The National Liberation Front said today it would be "difficult to accept" the latest American proposals to settle the procedural argument stalling the Vietnam peace talks. But an NLF spokesman stopped short of rejection.

Tran Hoai Nam, deputy chief of the Front's peace delegation, said the U.S. proposals were "tortuous" and reflected the "absurd idea" that the Paris talks were to be a two-sided affair.

★ ★ ★

The proposal was made last night by U.S. negotiator Cyrus R. Vance at a meeting with North Vietnamese Col. Ha Van Lam. Vance proposed six different forms the conference table might take, while Lau advanced another proposal for a round table.

The NLF spokesman told a news conference that all of Vance's table shapes reflected the "unacceptable" American idea that only two sides would be taking part in the discussions. North Vietnam and the NLF insist that the conference is to be a four-party affair at which the NLF is to have full status.

'ABSURD IDEA'

"It is very difficult to accept the proposals of Mr. Vance because they reflect the absurd idea of two sides," Nam said. When a newsman called attention to his wording — "difficult to accept" — and asked if his delegation rejected the U.S. proposals, Nam said with a smile: "I have already replied."

Vance, at his meeeing with Lau, said the United States and South Vietnam would agree to sit at the round table proposed by Hanoi if a felt strip was stretched across the center of the table to symbolize the division of the conference participants into two "sides."

★ ★ ★

Vance met this morning with South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dang Lam for 90 minutes to give him the details of his meeting with Lau. There was no comment by either side.

The North Vietnamese, in a communique, said Vance has not yet accepted its "logical and reasonable proposal." It accused the Americans of deliberately delaying the conference.

Both U.S. and North Vietnamese proposals were said to be under study by the conference participants.

★ ★ ★

The circular table proposal symbolizes Hanoi's contention that the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front must have equal status with the three other delegations at the Paris talks. The Saigon government insists on some sort of arrangement that does not represent recognition of the NLF as anything more than a subordinate of Hanoi. The wrangle over table shapes and other details has blocked the start of the expanded peace talks for two months.

IAPA Decries Panama Curbs

The Inter American Press Association (IAPA) today told the government of Panama that there is no press freedom in the country where the government can decide who will publish or edit a newspaper, and urged the Panamanian authorities to withdraw all restrictions placed on the publication of news.

★ ★ ★

The IAPA's message, signed by Chairman Robert U. Brown of the executive committee and Chairman Tom C. Harris of the committee on freedom of the press, was in reply to a cable sent by Juan Materno Vasquez, Panama's minister for the presidency, on Dec. 18.

★ ★ ★

Brown and Harris said: "We are sorry your definition of freedom of the press is unsatisfactory since as long as a government anywhere can decide who will publish or edit a newspaper there is no freedom of the press in that country.

★ ★ ★

"We cannot restore Panama to the list of countries having a free press until your government returns to the publishers the right to name their own editors and until the restrictions placed upon news in Panama are withdrawn and the people of Panama can have all the news your government now prohibits. Our decision was made after an on-the-spot visit of a mission of our committee on freedom of the press."

Panama Arrests Three

PANAMA (AP) — Three members of former President Marco A. Robles' administration and an ex-legislator who held highway construction contracts have been arrested, a government official said today.

Robles was president until Arnulfo Arias succeeded him on Oct. 1. The National Guard, Panama's army, overthrew Arias on Oct. 11, and a military regime took over.

Trudeau Warns NATO

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said again Thursday night that a review of foreign policy now being made by his government could result in Canada's withdrawal from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

In an interview recorded for the British Broadcasting Corp., Trudeau reiterated that Canada's foreign policy is being thoroughly reviewed, and he "wouldn't preclude" the possibility of withdrawal from NATO.

The premier's office declined to confirm or deny the report.

GUN'S A PHONY—Sheriff Fred Thomas holds the gun carved from soap used by four prisoners in their escape from Hinds County (Miss.) Jail last night. Still at large, they held Thomas and two of his deputies hostage two hours before freeing them.

Four Armed Jail Escapees Are Hunted in Mississippi

HOPEWELL, Miss. (AP)—Sheriff Fred Thomas headed a search today for four armed prisoners who had held him and two deputies hostage after breaking from the Hinds County jail at Jackson.

Thomas was released unharmed along with James Hartzog, the jailer, and John Mowdy, a radioman, 90 minutes after the break last night.

★ ★ ★

The prisoners were identified as Kenneth Albert Bankston, 35, of Harrisville, Willie Lewis Price, 24, of Bassfield, James Ralph Murphy, 37, of Jackson, and John Wallace Brooks, 21, of Jackson.

★ ★ ★

The men carried a gun carved from soap and colored with shoe polish. They reportedly took two pistols from a desk in the cell block on the top floor of the courthouse, then took Hartzog down an elevator to the second floor. There they forced Thomas and Mowdy to accompany them.

CAR, GUN TAKEN

The hostages were released on a country road about 35 miles south of Jackson. The escapees took Thomas' two-day-old car, his revolver and about $270.

★ ★ ★

Thomas stayed to direct a search party of about 200 federal, state and county authorities. His car was found late yesterday, concealed behind bushes near Hopewell.

★ ★ ★

A high speed chase took place along Interstate 55 before the hostages were released. The escapees monitored radio messages as they sped south in the police car.

★ ★ ★

Bankston was awaiting trial for the $23,000 robbery of a bank at Plain on Sept. 11 and the $13,000 robbery of a bank at Newhebron. Price, who had been sentenced to life for rape, was awaiting an appeal.

AWAITING APPEAL

Murphy was awaiting the appeal of two seven-year concurrent terms for burglary. Brooks was held on a burglary charge.

Utilities in State Repair Winter Havoc

By The Associated Press

Below-zero weather in the state has eased, giving utility repairmen a chance to repair a multitude of downed power and telephone lines.

Columbiaville, in Lapeer County, is the only area reported without power this week, but the danger of more outages continues in the central Lower Peninsula, where more than 60,000 customers were without electricity for a time last weekend.

★ ★ ★

Ice coats power lines in the area, and more high winds could down additional lines, a power company spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Telephone repairmen in central and eastern Michigan are trying to complete repairs of some 9,000 phones knocked out over the weekend.

WATERWAYS HIT

The chill affected state waterways as six-inch thick ice on the Detroit River trapped a 500-foot freighter yesterday. A Coast Guard cutter freed the vessel an hour later. An ice jam in the St. Marys River forced cancellation of one private operator's plans to continue trading in Lake Superior through Jan. 14.

★ ★ ★

Schoolchildren received an extended holiday vacation this week in a number of northern Lower Peninsula school systems because of transportation snarls caused by snow.

★ ★ ★

Snow, freezing rain and sleet today prompted travelers warnings for the central plains.

★ ★ ★

Freezing rain and sleet spread across Missouri to Kentucky and Tennessee. Cold rain spreading north from the Gulf Coast brought warnings of icing in northern Georgia and Alabama.

News in Brief From Our Wires

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Marine Elizabeth Habe, 17, was stabbed repeatedly in the chest before her killer dumped her body down a brushcovered slope off a lovers' lane. She bled to death, an autopsy showed today.

But the coroner's office reported the blue-eyed University of Hawaii coed was not sexually assaulted by her unknown slayer.

Negro Promotions Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has selected 27 Negro officers for promotion to full colonel in a move to encourage more Negroes to make the service a career.

★ ★ ★

The action will double the number of Negro "bird" colonels and set the stage for possible advancement of more Negroes to the rank of general.

A Pentagon spokesman said the 27 Negroes were among 1,053 Army officers selected for advancement beyond "light" colonel in a list drawn up last Nov. 6.

Fidel Friendly to Russia

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's speech yesterday marking the 10th anniversary of his revolution indicated he and the leaders of the Soviet Union had decided to ignore some of their major differences.

Speaking at a rally in Havana attended by an estimated million Cubans, the Cuban prime minister praised Cuba's ties with the "Socialist camp and especially its solidarity with the Soviet Union."

Arthritis Cure Seen

LONDON (AP) — British researchers say they know what causes rheumatoid arthritis, and they believe they can find a cure for the disease that cripples bone joints.

Dr. Joseph Chayen, head of the cellular biology division of the Kennedy Institute of Rheumatology, said in a statement Thursday: "We can safely say a cure is coming, but we don't know when. Many tests and trials have still to be done."

Mother of Pontiac Div. Chief Dead

Mrs. Katherine P. DeLorean, mother of Pontiac Motor Division's General Manager John Z. DeLorean, died yesterday morning at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak. She was 64.

★ ★ ★

A long-time Detroit resident, Mrs. DeLorean made her home in Huntington Woods. She was a member of St. Timothy Lutheran Church, Huntington Woods.

★ ★ ★

Service will be 2 p.m. Monday at the Vasu-Lynch Funeral Home, Royal Oak. Her body may be viewed after 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Surviving besides John are three other sons, Charles J. of Cleveland, Ohio, George E. of Detroit and Jack Z. of New Orleans, La.; four grandchildren and a brother, Earl Pribak of Huntington Woods.

Birmingham

Refuse Unit to Condemn Transfer Site

BIRMINGHAM — The Southeast Oakland County Incinerator Authority yesterday voted to condemn property owned by this city and located in Troy for a rubbish transfer station site.

Authority attorney John S. Slavens said court proceedings on the condemnation might not begin for as long as six months.

The move came after about 21 months of haggling between the authority, the Birmingham City Commission and area residents over the proposed transfer facility.

The resolution to condemn the property, located west of Coolidge between 14 Mile and Maple, was approved by a 12-1 vote, with Birmingham City Manager Robert S. Kenning opposed.

WOULDN'T CONSIDER SALE

Kenning had stated previously that Birmingham would not consider sale of the property to the authority, as authority officials had requested.

Instead, city commissioners Monday night drafted a proposed lease for the property. However, Allen J. Kronbach, manager of the authority, reported the lease, over a 50-year period, would cost the authority 3½ to 4½ times the appraised value of the land.

★ ★ ★

The two-level structure planned by the authority would be used for the transfer of rubbish from garbage trucks of five area communities to larger carrier vans, which would then transport the refuse to the authority's land-fill site in Avon Township.

Of 14 communities which make up the authority, only Birmingham, Beverly Hills, Clawson, north Royal Oak and part of Troy would use the facility.

The commission held a public hearing Jan. 22, 1968, on whether to sell the property to the authority, but postponed its decision to allow time to study objections.

On March 11, the commission established a study committee consisting of three commissioners and representatives of two homeowners' groups opposing the proposed station.

The committee visited a number of transfer sites in the Detroit metropolitan area and journeyed to Seattle, Wash., May 2-3 to study two comparable stations there.

Though the nearest residences are 1,400 feet away from the Coolidge Road site and separated from it by railroad tracks, property owners have complained property values would be diminished because of noise, dust, rodents and traffic.

Cause of Blaze at Firm Cited

A wooden partition placed too close to a furnace has been cited as the cause of a fire at Webb Fuel Co., 351 S. Paddock, which resulted in $7,000 damage yesterday.

City Fire Chief Charles Marion said today the dried-out wood in the partition reached its kindling point and caught fire at about 3:20 a.m.

The blaze primarily damaged an office area, Marion said. Some $4,000-worth of damage was done to the building, including portions of the rafters and roof, he reported. About $3,000-worth of office equipment was destroyed.

Firemen were at the scene for about two hours.

Meadow Brook Review

Flawed 'Bert' Is Disappointing

By DON BRAUNAGEL

Meadow Brook Theatre's second venture into contemporary drama is less satisfactory than the first.

Last season's excellent "And People All Around" brought anticipation of more original offerings, but "The Second Coming of Bert," which opened last night and which will run through Feb. 2, is disappointing.

Some of the flaws may be blamed on the flu, which cost the John Fernald troupe some rehearsals, but time won't heal all "Bert's" wounds.

Author Ronald Chudley, who also plays the title role, has written a tragicomic allegory about human faith that doesn't raise any new questions or make any new points. And the subject of religious belief, potentially touchy and thought-provoking, is caricatured so broadly that it probably won't offend anyone.

BERT'S THE ONE?

The play concerns a fugitive, Bert Sling, who stumbles into an isolated colony of religious fanatics expecting the second coming of their First Shepherd. Despite Bert's bumbling manner and protests, they decide he's the one.

Among the villagers, who spend most of their time working, praying or physically punishing themselves because they believe the price of joy is pain, are:

- One who doubts Bert, named (what else?) Thomas;
- The Arch-Shepherd, who hates to give up his high office—which includes the right to "purify" the bodies of village girls—to such an unprophetlike character as Bert;
- Two wordly plotters, Charles and Isiah, who, after the village's money is collected to be burned as an act of faith, plan to keep the faith;
- And, mostly, persons whose blind faith in their leaders allows them to do what Isiah calls "moral somersaults," as when they ignore their precept of not taking a life and agree to an execution, reasoning that death provides the ultimate in the "blessings of pain."

SOME GOOD STAGING

There are some good scenes: Charles and Isiah discussing faith and morality, Isiah humming a religious chant as he steals the money, and Bert getting advice from a laborer on how to properly deliver a blessing.

This last is especially ironic as the two men switch roles and the laborer blesses with such feeling that Bert is moved.

The shortage of rehearsals was evident as the quality of acting varied widely, and, hopefully, director Fernald will smooth it out. Douglas Seale was a proper rascal as Isaiah, and James Sutorius was bright and expressive as the worker who helps Bert.

Chudley the actor made Bert a bit too foolish—especially when he walked with short, mincing steps and Marshall Borden as the Arch-Shepherd shifted moods too quickly.

DOUBTS THOMAS' EFFECT

Victor Holchak was a dubious Thomas, evincing a tendency toward melodrama and using an erratic southern accent for no apparent reason.

Diane Stapley, Chudley's wife, plays a minor role but makes one of the best contributions to the play with her musical score. The chorus of villagers sounds pleasant, even when interrupted by screams during the "festival of pain."

★ ★ ★

The setting, designed by Anna Gisle and executed by James MacRostie, is functional, with a Calvarylike hill topped with a hanging tree, and a chapel area with a picture of the First Shepherd.

His fingers are in the victory symbol. But he seemed to be winking.

Minimum Salary for Police, Prosecuting Attorneys Urged

LANSING (AP)— Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Thursday he will urge the Legislature this year to pass laws providing minimum annual salaries of $7,000 for policemen and $12,000 for prosecuting attorneys.

In addition, he will seek passage of a constitutional amendment to permit counties to join together to form multicounty prosecutor districts.

★ ★ ★

Under the proposal, Kelley said, the state would pay the difference between the minimum salary and the salary appropriated by the county for the office of prosecuting attorney.

The minimum salary outlined by the attorney general provides a $12,000 annual salary for counties with a population not greater than 19,999. Prosecutors in counties with more than one-half million persons would get an annual minimum salary of $20,000.

LOCAL FUNDS

Under Kelley's plan, counties could boost minimum salaries with local funds.

Kelley's proposed plan for policemen would also be proportioned according to population.

★ ★ ★

If Kelley's plan were adopted by the Legislature, prosecuting attorneys and police officers would be required to devote full-time to their jobs and not practice law on the side or moonlight.

Kelley's police plan is the same as a bill introduced in the last session of the Legislature.

OTHER PROPOSALS

In addition, Kelley said he would urge changes in state election laws to:

- Make it easier for students at universities and colleges to register and vote.

★ ★ ★

- Provide a four-year registration period instead of the current two-year period.
- Liberalize laws pertaining to write-in votes for presidential electors.
- Elect delegates to county convention on the first Monday in April 1972, and every four years thereafter.

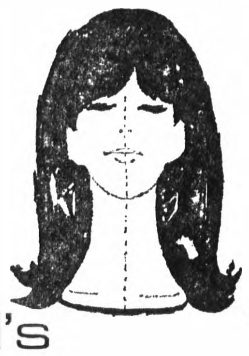

★ ★ ★

Also, Kelley said he would recommend that the attorney general be given the same privileges as prosecuting attorneys in granting immunity to witnesses, and permit prosecuting attorneys to utilize grand jury records in prosecuting those persons indicted by the grand jury.

The average person breathes in 35 pounds of air each day, six times as much as the food and drink he consumes.

GOP Spending Sets TV Mark

$5 Million Outlay; Dems Use $3 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republicans outspent the Democrats, $5 million to $3 million, in unprecedented use of television during the 1968 presidential election campaign, the Federal Communications Commission reported today.

The FCC said the GOP spent some $4.2 million on TV during the campaign and another $1 million during primary contests while the Democrats put $2.5 million into video in the final campaigning and $516,030 during the primaries.

★ ★ ★

Political groupings identified only as "other," but presumably covering mainly the campaign of former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, spent $681,491 to buy television time for the presidential campaign.

Altogether, the networks reported the parties paid $8.9 million for air time — more than twice the $4.1 million spent for this purpose in the 1964 campaign.

96 HOURS ON AIR

The FCC said presidential and vice presidential candidates spent a total of 96 hours, 11 minutes, on the air, but it gave no breakdown on the TV time of each candidate.

Candidates themselves paid for only 32 hours of the time they appeared; another 49 hours was made up of commercially sponsored shows such as the weekly news interviews, and another 15 hours was time donated free by the networks.

★ ★ ★

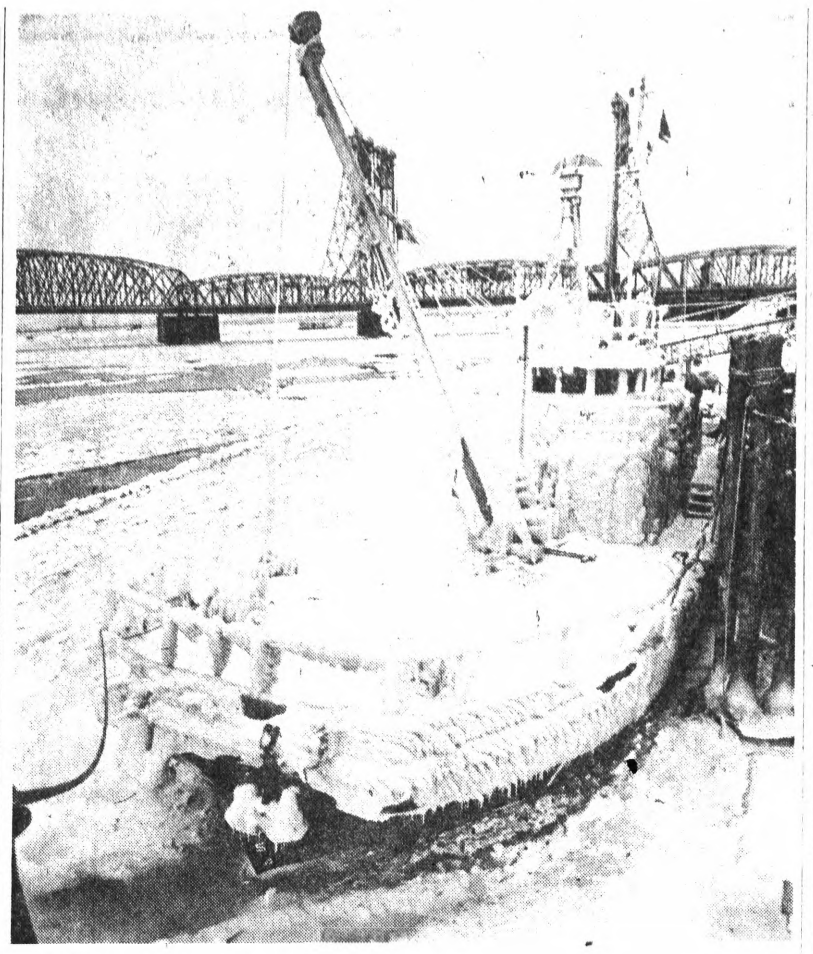

Republicans and Democrats bought about the same amount of program time during the campaign, but the Republicans far outdid the Democrats in short "spot" announcements, buying 110 spots at $2.5 million to the Democrats' 37 spots at $844,313.

The FCC said some $4.2 million was spent for time on the National Broadcasting Co. (NBC) TV network, $2.9 million to the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) and $1.7 million to the American Broadcasting Co. (ABC).

The FCC said all networks and stations were required to report on their political broadcasting by Dec. 24 and the preliminary statistics were based on those reports. It said it would issue a complete survey later.

Appeals Court Okays Busing

LANSING (AP) — Michigan school districts may bus students from one school to another to achieve racial balance, the State Court of Appeals has ruled in a 2-1 decision.

In a decision announced Thursday, the state's second highest court overturned a decision of the Ingham County circuit bench which had ruled that busing students solely because of race was unconstitutional.

Judge Thomas Giles Kavanagh who has left the Appeals Court to join the State Supreme Court, and visiting Circuit Judge Allen C. Miller, ruled in favor of busing. Judge Timothy Quinn dissented.

The Ingham County decision came on a challenge by white parents to a 1966 Lansing board of education decision to bus Negro students from Sexton High School (20 per cent Negro) to Eastern (2.2 per cent) and Everett (0.9 per cent) high schools.

MOVE TO EQUALITY

Miller's majority ruling noted various civil rights cases have forbidden treating Negroes differently from other persons, but added that in the busing case "the motivation is not to discriminate, but assistance to minority groups in providing equal educational opportunities.

★ ★ ★

"The state has no right to interfere in the supervision of state schools unless there is a clear disregard of constitutional rights," Miller added.

He noted the Appeals Court had ruled in a 1967 Flint case that school districts may redraw their boundaries in an effort to balance their schools racially.

Judge Quinn, who voted to outlaw student transfers based solely on race, wrote: "The feeling of inferiority generated by separating schoolchildren from others of similar age and qualifications solely because of their race...is the same whether the purpose is segregation or to accomplish racial balance."

Bruins Defeat Rangers While Montreal Falls

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernie Geoffrion's eyes flashed and for a moment, he was back in the Montreal Forum, wearing the blazing red jersey of the Montreal Canadiens.

"I'll tell you something," Geoffrion, now coach of the New York Rangers, said, pointing a finger. "No team ever ran the Canadiens out of their building the way the Bruins ran us out of here tonight."

★ ★ ★

Boston had just finished socking it to the Rangers, 4-2 Thursday night to move into a first place tie with Montreal in the National Hockey League's East Division. And the Bruins did it with a minimum of finesse and a maximum of muscle.

"They threw elbows in our faces and sticks in our faces but nobody did anything about it," said Geoffrion. "If you're in this league you better be able to defend yourself. Nobody ever came to my rescue when I played for the Canadiens. I got tired of getting hit and in the end I used my stick and they left me alone."

MONTREAL LOSES

Pittsburgh stunned the Canadiens, 5-2, and Chicago tied Philadelphia, 2-2, in other games.

The Bruins refused to leave the Rangers alone, bullying New York players all over the ice, almost at will. At one point, Glen Sather pummelled Dave Balon with a half dozen punches before Balon dropped his gloves to retaliate.

★ ★ ★

Referee Bill Friday called 22 penalties including a major to Sather for the Balon episode. Sather spent 11 minutes in the penalty box for the game.

The one Bruin who wasn't involved in the fighting was Bobby Orr, but he seemed to be involved in everything else. The 20-year-old defenseman scored one goal, assisted on another by Derek Sanderson and played a spectacular game on defense in front of goalie Gerry Cheevers.

LOSE PUCK

His goal, No. 11 on the season, came in the opening 10 seconds of the final period after he recovered a loose puck in New York's end and skated in alone on Ed Giacomin.

During one of Boston's more boisterous moments, a pair of Bruins found themselves in the penalty box and the Rangers had a two-man advantage on the ice. Vic Hadfield, who later scored a goal, wound up for a slap shot with only goalie Gerry Cheevers in front of him. Suddenly, out of nowhere came Orr, sliding in the path of Hadfield's shot and smothering it.

★ ★ ★

"It was a typical game for him," said Harry Sinden, coach of the Bruins. "A good night?" asked Sinden rhetorically. "I don't recall him ever having a bad one."

Boston got a needed assist from Pittsburgh to climb into the first place deadlock with the Canadiens. The Penguins bunched three early goals by Wally Boyer, Bob Woytowich and Ken Schinkel and made the margin stand up.

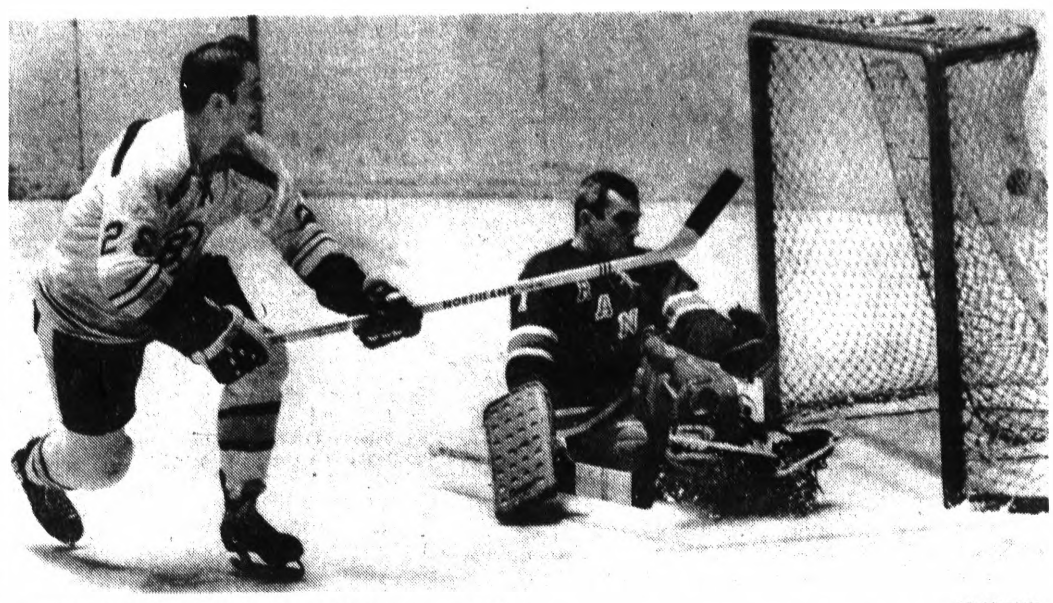

FIRST TIME

Billy Harris and rookie Jean Pronovost scored Pittsburgh's other goals while J. C. Tremblay and Dick Duff hit for the Canadiens. It was the first time expansionist Pittsburgh ever beat Montreal.

Jim Johnson's 45-foot goal in the third period earned Philadelphia its tie with Chicago and goalie Doug Favell protected the deadlock with three late saves against Bobby Hull, the NHL's scoring leader.

★ ★ ★

Hull scored his 25th goal of the year and assisted on a score by Chico Maki to take a two-point lead over idle Gordie Howe in the scoring race. Brit Selby scored the Flyers' first goal, just 21 seconds after Maki had hit in the first period.

CAUGHT OFF BALANCE—New York Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin is caught off balance as Boston Bruins' forward Ron Murphy (28) drills the puck into the net for a score in their game last night in New York's Madison Square Garden. Boston won the game, 4-2, and moved into a first place tie with Montreal in the Eastern Division of the NHL. The Canadiens were shocked by Pittsburgh last night.

LA Rams' Owner Wavering Over Dismissal of Allen?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — It seems like everybody except the coach's wife was unavailable for comment and she doesn't want the coach to coach anymore.

That's about the way things stood today in pro football's most burning question of the New Year: Will George Allen return as head coach of Los Angeles Rams next season?

★ ★ ★

Ram owner Dan Reeves fired Allen because of "a personality clash" but has now changed his mind and wants Allen back, according to Mrs. Allen and others.

Allen's wife, Etty, in an interview Thursday said Reeves wanted to rehire her husband; her husband was undecided about going back to the Rams; and she, Mrs. Allen, wants him to stay out of coaching.

'NO COMMENT'

Reeves issued a statement like "no comment" through the Ram publicity staff.

Allen did not answer his telephone.

Mrs. Allen didn't answer her telephone after the interview.

Reeves apparently bowed to the pressure of irate fans and many of his players in making an attempt to reconcile with Allen.

COOL MEDICINE

Allen has often said coaching takes him away from his family. He said he works a 16 to 18 hour day. When he's home, he's looking at game movies most of the time. He does not eat at the family training table but prefers milk shakes which soothe his stomach ulcer.

Mrs. Allen and the four Allen kids — George, 16; Gregory, 14; Gerald, 9 and Jennifer, 7 — dine alone in football season. They all want to stay permanently in their new home in the suburban Palos Verdes peninsula overlooking the Pacific.

Money is no problem for a few years anyway. Reeves has said he will pay off Allen on his contract at about $50,000 a year.

Baltimore Opens Practice to Fans, 2,000 Show Up

BALTIMORE (AP) — More than 2,000 football fans braved cold weather to watch the Baltimore Colts practice Thursday, and today Colt backers will be exposed to the elements as 1,000 Super Bowl tickets go on sale.

The open house practice, announced in advance, attracted a spirited crowd which ringed the field for the 45-minute drill.

★ ★ ★

"I'm happy to do it for the fans," said Coach Don Shula.

"Some of these people probably were at the airport when for safety factors we didn't go through the terminal. This way they could get a closeup look at the players."

Shula referred to the team's return from Cleveland last Sunday, following the 34-0 victory over the Browns in the National Football League championship game.

But Scandal Factor in Race

Illinois Five Impresses Early

CHICAGO (AP) — The ghost of Illinois' self-exposed slush fund scandal two years ago could haunt the promising Illini basketball team in the Big Ten race which opens Saturday.

The Illini, who emerged the only unbeaten team (9-0) in the Big Ten's prechampionship campaign, could win the conference title but not the accompanying automatic berth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's post-season tournament.

Although cleared by the Big Ten from further punishment after forced resignation of three coaches implicated in the $21,000 illegal athletic fund, Illinois was barred from NCAA championship meets for two years.

That NCAA penalty carries through May 7, 1969, roughly two months after this season's NCAA tourney.

Rebuilding from the blow that cost the Illini cage team head coach Harry Combes, assistant coach Howie Braun, and three players, mentor Harv Schmidt has started his second season with a surprising flourish.

The Illini launch the conference campaign against invading Minnesota Saturday afternoon after surging from nowhere to No. 8 ranking in the AP's national poll.

Schmidt's club which has two holdovers from the ill-fated 1967 team capped an impressive preseason campaign by copping the Hurricane Classic in Miami, Fla., last week, decisively whipping Creighton and Miami.

In fact, the Illini defeated a good Creighton team twice, while rolling up 105 points twice against Butler and Tulane, and downing such other sound clubs as Iowa State and Houston in their nine-game string.

Senior Dave Scholz and soph Greg Jackson, also 6-8, are the one-two Illini scorers with averages of 22.5 and 15.3 points. Senior Jodie Harrison, a transfer from Alabama as a sophomore, also is scoring in double figures with an 11.3 average.

HIGH SCORING

Denny Pace, like Scholz a sophomore on the luckless 1967 team, and junior Mike Price round out the starting five which has averaged almost 90 points a game while yielding an average of 69.

On Saturday's opening Conference card, two teams beaten only once in preseason play, Northwestern (8-1) and Ohio State (6-1), are on the road against Michigan State (4-4) and Indiana (4-4).

Other league openers include Purdue (6-3) at Wisconsin (4-4) in a regional TV matinee and Iowa (5-2) at Michigan (6-2).

Three coaches make Big Ten debuts — John Powless at Wisconsin, Bill Fitch at Minnesota and John Orr at Michigan.

Cage Ducats Limited

A limited number of adult tickets will go on sale Tuesday at the bookstore at Waterford Kettering High School for the Kettering vs. Waterford basketball game Tuesday night.

There will be no ticket sales the night of the game. A pre-sale of student tickets is slated for each school during the day Tuesday.

The varsity game is slated for 8 p.m. at Kettering.

Michigan Has Tough Big Ten Foe Tomorrow

ANN ARBOR — Michigan moves into Big Ten competition for the first time Saturday afternoon after a pre-conference schedule that gave indications the Wolverines could be a factor in the title chase.

The first nine games have solved a great many problems for Coach John Orr and, most inportantly, has established the fact the Wolverines do have some depth. This was one of the nagging problems for Orr going into the basketball opener back in early December.

A pleasant surprise has been the progress of Dan Fife. The 6-2 sophomore from Clarkston has given Michigan's offense great stability and taken much of the scoring pressures off Michigan's two big men — Rudy Tomjanovich (26.0) and Dennis Stewart (18.3).

★ ★ ★

Another big lift for the Wolverines has been provided by Richard Carter. The 'Bird' has been consistently brilliant, but in a quiet way. The 6-1 leaper from Ft. Dodge Junior College is shooting at a 60 per cent clip with a 10-point average. His defense has been impeccable and his rebounding goes well beyond his size.

Michigan will need all these weapons on the firing line Saturday against Iowa. Coach Ralph Miller has another strong team and another talented junior college transfer, John Johnson. Johnson leads Iowa with an average of over 23 points a game.

Red Wings Call Up Defenseman Watson From AHL Clippers

DETROIT (AP) — Defenseman Jim Watson was recalled by the Detroit Red Wings Thursday from the Baltimore Clippers of the American Hockey League.

The 25-year-old Watson expects to join the Red Wings for their next game in St. Louis Saturday night. Earlier in the season, he played four games for Detroit and scored one assist.

At Baltimore, he appeared in 24 games and scored two goals and eight assists.

General manager Sid Abel said the Wings hope to have right wing Bruce MacGregor, sidelined with the flu, back in the lineup Saturday.

Trading Is Active

Mart Continuing Mild Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued its mild New Year rally early today. Trading was fairly active.

Gains outnumbered losses by nearly 200 issues on the New York Stock Exchange. The Dow Jones industrial average advanced more than 3 points.

A higher trend prevailed among motors, rubbers, mail order-retails, aerospace issues and rails.

Gains of fractions to about a point were the general rule among leading issues. High-priced IBM, down about 3, was an exception.

Up about a point were such stocks as General Motors, Boeing, General Dynamics, Eastman Kodak, Westinghouse Electric and Penn Central.

U.S. Gypsum dropped about a point. Off fractionally were International Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Kennecott, C.I.T. Financial, Pfizer and Merck.

The firmness of the market was attributed to a continuation of reinvestment demand, helped by accumulation of yearend dividends and bonuses.

Early blocks included:

Tenneco, up ⅛ at 31¼ on 16,500 shares; Clorox (when distributed), unchanged at 26¼ on 19,500; and R. J. Reynolds, up ⅛ at 49⅛ on 15,700 shares.

Monday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .8 to 358.1.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.
