Nixon Report Hints at Further Pullouts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon was quoted today as telling congressional leaders another contingent of U.S. troops probably will be withdrawn from Vietnam beginning this month.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Nixon discussed that prospect at a briefing on his journey to Asia and Communist Romania, a trip which included a visit to Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said meanwhile that Nixon had told the congressional leaders "no decision had been made on further troop replacements."

But Ziegler said an announcement on the troop replacement subject will be made "in the latter part of August."

S. VIETS TAKING OVER

Dirksen said Nixon discussed his hopes about the future there and expressed "the evident belief that we'll probably have a further troop replacement and it could come probably before the end of this month."

Dirksen said he used the word "replacement" to indicate that South Vietnamese troops will be taking over for Americans who are withdrawn.

★ ★ ★

He said there was no indication at the White House session of how many men would be involved in a new pullout.

There has been speculation that it will involve another 25,000 men, the same number pulled back after Nixon's Midway Islagd meeting with South Vietnamese president Nguyen Van Thieu.

PEACE TALKS

Dirksen said there was also a general discussion of the Vietnam peace talks in Paris, and in indication that information "from private sources might be brought to bear." Dirksen said no specific information was disclosed.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, said Nixon emphasized at the congressional briefing that his call for increased self-reliance in Asian defense represents an important shift in American policy.

Mansfield said the new policy was based on the statements Nixon made July 25 at Guam, as he began his Asian journey.

Nixon said then the nations of Asia must bear increasing responsibility for their own defense, and indicated the United States would intervene there militarily only in cases of external aggression.

GUIDE FUTURE ACTIONS

Mansfield said general application of the Nixon policy, which the senator called the Guam doctrine, will have to await an end to the Vietnam war.

"In areas not involved in the war, it will be the doctrine which will guide our actions in the future," Mansfield said.

The senator said the Nixon policy precludes U.S. intervention in cases of internal subversion in Asia.

He said that means the responsibility for Asian defense will be borne by Asians, with an assurance that the United States will consider assistance to help bring them economic stability.

U. S. Backs Loan to All-White Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department agency, plowing past some of its own rules, is about to underwrite a $265,000 loan to build a golf course in the Mississippi district of Rep. Jamie Whitten, chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that approves the department's budget.

The Farmers Home Administration already has approved the loan guarantee for the all-white Natchez Trace Golf Club Inc., but formal closing is not expected for a month or more.

The loan will enable the country club to buy land it has been leasing for a 9-hole golf course, buy and build an additional nine holes and construct a clubhouse, swimming pool, tennis courts and other facilities.

The club is in Lee County, where, according to government figures, about 40 per cent of the families live below poverty income levels. Last fiscal year, the Agriculture Department spent $300,000 — about the same as the golf course loan's face value — on food stamps for 3,000 recipients there.

Agency officials both here and in Mississippi said they could find no indication that Whitten, a Democrat, had exerted any pressure or made any inquiry about progress of the application.

But Whitten told a reporter he had in fact written a letter asking about the project's status. "I did in that case as I did in many others," he said. "When the local people are for something, you naturally ask for them how it's doing."

The loan is one of about 500 made for golf courses since the program began in 1962. Inquiries disclosed, though, that it exceeds the agency's usual practices for the recreation loan program.

"We try to avoid indebtedness of more than $1,000 per family membership," administration loan officer Robert S. Crites said. The club had 221 members at the time of its application and now has 231, which would put the indebtedness at $1,147 per family, or 15 per cent above the guideline.

While the government is not directly loaning the $265,000, it may pay out more than that amount, an estimated $271,000, in servicing the 40-year loan.

The Bank of Mississippi at Tupelo, Miss., is making the actual money available. The golf club is paying only 5 per cent interest, however, so the government must put up additional interest to make the arrangement acceptable to the bank.

The 40-year term given the Natchez Trace group is the maximum permitted for recreation loans. The club is putting up $71,410 for the project.

★ ★ ★

The applicants barely squeezed past requirements on population of the area to be served by the course.

Their application initially was returned because the service area centered on Tupelo, a community of 17,000. According to loan requirements, the facilities must "primarily serve farmers and other rural residents." A rural resident is defined as "a permanent resident of a rural area or small country town of not more than 5,500 population which is not part of an urban area."

Won't Keep Up Fight if ABM Is OK'd--Key Dem

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says he will not wage "intermittent warfare" against President Nixon's Safeguard missile defense program if it wins approval in its big test this week.

Although the issue of deploying the system will be decided Wednesday, the administration has more hurdles to face when Congress acts later in the year on appropriations to actually pay for the project.

★ ★ ★

Opponents, including Mansfield, could have a new avenue to block the project in the funding measure.

But Mansfield, in an interview, noted that the military construction appropriations subcommittee he heads will have jurisdiction over only a tiny share of the Safeguard budget for the next year. That would be the money to buy land for two initial deployment locations, and for 10 sites for later expansion.

MORE TO COME

In later phases of Safeguard budgeting, however, increasing portions of the project would be in the military construction category.

★ ★ ★

A vote is scheduled Wednesday on an amendment which would limit Safeguard work to research and development, barring for the current year spending for actual deployment.

It would not cut the $759.1 million budgeted for the system.

2 HOLD THE KEY

Two senior senators apparently hold the key. Sens. John J. Williams, R-Del., and Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., remain uncommitted in a nearly deadlocked Senate. If both side with President Nixon and everyone else stands firm in previously indicated positions, a 50-50 tie vote is in prospect. That would defeat the amendment.

Other amendments will follow, but the first one is the crucial test.

SEN. MIKE MANSFIELD

Death Probe Widens; 2nd Man Is Sought

YPSILANTI (UPI) — A nationwide manhunt was launched by police today for a second man believed implicated in a series of slayings of girls in Michigan and California.

Police have issued a warrant for Andrew Manuel, alias Richard Diaz, 25, who was a known acquaintance of John Collins, 22, charged with the murder of the last of the seven Michigan slayings, and considered a prime suspect in the slayings of three girls in the Salinas area of California.

Related Story, Page B-7

Manuel, or Diaz, lived in the same Ypsilanti rooming house where Collins lived while he was attending Eastern Michigan University. Both men are believe to have gone to California together last June in a trailer rented by Manuel, drawn by Collins' automobile. The two returned here last month without the trailer.

The warrant issued against Manuel charges him with larceny by conversion for failure to return the trailer. It is believed the trailer now is in possession of police in the Salinas, Calif., area.

Manuel disappeared from Ypsilanti July 24, the day after Karen Sue Beineman, 18, an EMU freshman from Grand Rapids, disappeared, and two days before her body, badly battered and strangled, was found in a gulley on the outskirts of Ann Arbor.

Two Michigan State Police detectives went to California Sunday to confer with authorities in Salinas, Calif., about the slayings there to determine if there may be a link between them and the string of unsolved sex slayings here.

At the same time, the investigation took on an international complexion when police said they were checking out an anonymous tip to investigate a cabin in the Belle River area, northeast of Windsor, Ont.

The cabin is owned by State Police Cpl. David Leik of the Ypsilanti post, an uncle of Collins. Police said Miss Beineman was killed in the vacationing Leik's home in Ypsilanti before her body was thrown into a gully.

There also have been reports of a bizarre link between Collins and the Richard Robison family of Lathrup Village in suburban Detroit. The six members of the family were killed two years ago at their summer home near Good Hart, in Emmet County of northwest Michigan. All the victims had been shot to death.

Reportedly, Collins was acquainted with Richard Robison Jr., one of four Robison children who were wiped out with their parents in the unsolved slayings.

Another friend of Collins, Arnie Davis, who lived at the same Ypsilanti rooming house as Collins, has been released from protective custody. Police said he has been very cooperative with them.

Life on Mars? Not Like Earth's

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — If there is life on Mars, it is chemically different from any of the vegetable or animal life known to man, according to a preliminary analysis of data recorded by Mariner 6.

Although Mariner 6 detected water ice in the atmosphere when it flew past the Red Planet last week, it found no evidence of nitrogen, an element present in every living molecule of earth.

★ ★ ★

Mariner 7, the 850-pound space twin of Mariner 6, was due to swoop by the south polar cap of Mars at 11:39 (Pontiac time) tonight at a distance of about 2,000 miles.

★ ★ ★

Scientists hope instruments aboard the windmill-shaped spacecraft will determine whether the cap is made of frozen water, or, as more generally believed, frozen carbon dioxide — dry ice.

'CANALS' SETTLED

If the riddle of whether there is life on Mars remained unanswered, the controversy over the so-called Martian "canals" seemed settled once and for all.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Early today, Mariner 7 began snapping its final series of "far encounter" pictures as it hurtled toward its rendezvous with Mars. A total of 93 pictures were taken at distances ranging from 1.14 million miles away to 65,550 miles.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman at JPL said the pictures were of much better quality than those snapped last week by Mariner 6. Scientists complained the ones from Mariner 6 lacked contrast, although they generally were satisfied with the quality.

Mafia Is Mulling Plot on Colombo, Lazaros Alleges

By JIM LONG

Peter Lazaros, who claims he ran Mafia operations in Oakland County, hinted today that a plot on the life of grand juror Robert F. Colombo may be hatching in the underworld.

"The people who the grand jury will involve are desperate," Lazaros said. "Their minds are working the same as when they planned to assassinate Judge (James S.) Thorburn."

★ ★

Lazaros' indication of another murder plot came this morning outside the courtroom of Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem, who is presiding over an extortion trial against Joseph Barbara, an alleged Mafia figure.

Lazaros' wife, Delores, has accused Barbara of extorting $4,000 and a diamond ring and raping her on two occasions in early 1968.

CONFERENCE CANCELED

Lazaros theory about other murder plots was put forth as he was telling newsmen that he had canceled a press conference that was to have been held at his home at 2410 Dalesford, Troy, today.

He said he had postponed the meeting until after Barbara's trial. Lazaros said he was on standby to testify in the case and didn't want the conference to interfere with his taking the witness stand.

At the postponed press conference, Lazaros indicated, he was going to outline what he claims was the involvement of the Mafia with the State Racing Commissioner's office.

"Let me make it clear, this does not have anything to do with the commissioner, just his staff," Lazaros said.

Detroit recorder's court judge Colombo was selected last month to head a full-

High Court Rules Formally on I-696

LANSING (AP) — The State Supreme Court today formally ruled in favor of a proposed controversial route for Interstate 696 across Detroit's northern suburbs.

The cities of Pleasant Ridge and Lathrup Village had sought to halt construction of the highway through their communities.

But the court said about three months ago that the route approved by the highway location arbitration board was valid.

The court added at that time that it would hand down a formal opinion later.

Mishap on Dixie Kills Detroit Man

A Detroit man was killed when the car in which he was riding collided with another vehicle in Independence Township Saturday night.

Dead is Elberto Robinson, 31, who was a passenger in a car which apparently struck another car in the rear on Dixie Highway near Foster Road at about 11:30 p.m., according to Pontiac State Police.

Police say the accident is still being investigated and that details of the accident are incomplete.

Police did say a car driven by Samuel J. Isaac, 49, of Flint went off Dixie Highway onto the shoulder and the other car struck it in the rear.

The latter car, driven by Les V. Robinson, 23, of Detroit, then struck a telephone pole and rolled over.

Robinson suffered minor injuries. He was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released. Isaac didn't report any injuries.

Hippo Meat Is Latest Treat

NEW YORK (AP)—Take one average size hippopotamus. Chop well, season and voila! You have enough meat for 1,200 small cans of the newest food delicacy on the market.

The 15th annual National Fancy Food and Confection show opened here yesterday, with over 700 companies and 11 foreign countries.

★ ★ ★

And the company that previously pushed such gourmet goodies as chocolate covered ants, French fried grasshoppers and canned rattlesnakes offered a new delicacy —hippopotamus.

SLIGHTLY GAMY

A spokesman for the company described the flavor of hippopotamus—a popular food in South Africa—as "slightly gamy," then added, "You know you're not eating steak."

Other specialties at the show were more mundane in flavor, but even further out in concept.

One enterprising candy company presented "moon rocks." The candies, about an inch in diameter and generally oval, have a cream center, a layer of chocolate and a sugar coating spotted to look like rocks.

TV-INSPIRED

"We were watching television one day and my son said 'Why don't you make a moon candy?'" explained a spokesman for the company when asked where the idea came from.

★ ★ ★

Foreign exhibitors offered foods popular in their countries. Japan showed "instant noodles" which are dehydrated and can be cooked in five minutes and packaged sukiyaki ready to heat and serve.

★ ★ ★

Pleasant Weather Expected to Go On

The weatherman is promising Pontiac area residents more picnicking, sunbathing and backyard-barbecuing weather this week.

Sunny skies and warm temperatures are predicted for today and tomorrow with highs in the 80s.

Tonight will be porch-sitting weather — fair with lows 58 to 64.

Wednesday will be warm but partly cloudy with a slight chance of showers.

Precipitation probabilities for today and tonight are 10 per cent; 20 per cent for tomorrow.

The low recording prior to 8 a.m. today in downtown Pontiac was 62 at 3 a.m. By noon temperatures soared to 84.

Soviets Delaying Arms Talks—HHH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hubert H. Humphrey, recently returned from the Soviet Union, says the Russians feel the United States is ahead of them in developing multiple-warhead missiles. As a result, he said, they are delaying arms limitation talks until they can catch up.

* * *

In an interview at his Washington office, Humphrey said "The overriding concern in the Soviet Union today is about security. They don't advance the discussion on China, but once it is open they are very concerned about the border problems with China."

"And they are very concerned," he added, "lest we seem to be playing off China against the Soviet Union. They want to know where we stand. . ."

* * *

Humphrey said the Soviets understand the United States has the economic power to surpass them when America puts a priority on a project — such as getting a man on the moon. Because of that, he said, they realize they cannot win any arms race.

AGREEMENT STALLED

But an agreement on halting the arms buildup, he said, is being stalled because of the so-called MIRV — multiple independently targeted reentry vehicle — or multiple-warhead missile. The MIRV is intended to increase the firepower of existing missiles by putting more warheads on them and sending them after different targets when the missile reenters the earth's atmosphere.

"It's my view that the Soviet Union has — and I've never said this to anyone before — information on our MIRV, which indicates to them that we're ahead in the multiple independently targeted nuclear warheads and that they're stalling for some testing of their own so that when they go to that bargaining table, they're in a position of equals.

* * *

"Now does this mean there will be no negotiations? The answer is no. I think that those negotiations will start very soon.

"... Soviet leaders, I think, now are more concerned about their relationship with the United States than ever before and I believe that now is a fortuitous moment for us to proceed to discuss a number of items.

CAN START TALKS

"I think we're now at the stage where we can start to really negotiate more seriously than we have in the past with the Soviet Union on space technology and cooperation."

Humphrey added the Soviets seem to be more concerned about the MIRV than about the antiballistic missile system (ABM) which has taken up most of the public military debate in the United States recently.

* * *

When asked about a comeback in politics, perhaps via the U.S. Senate seat from Minnesota being vacated next year by Eugene J. McCarthy, the sparkle in Humphrey's eyes was more revealing than his answer:

"One never knows. This is an uncertain time in which we live. I really haven't made up my mind. I don't want to play games with a serious matter like the Senate. I am giving it serious consideration . . . I like the Senate . . . but I need to take a big look at what I want to do with my life."

DA Due to Air Inquest Push in Kennedy Case

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (UPI) — A district attorney's still-unexplained request for an inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne in a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy comes up for court consideration this week.

Dist. Atty., Edmund S. Dinis asked for the appointment of a judge to conduct the inquest, but his request was turned down Friday by the state's chief superior court justice, and referred to district court. Dinis then made his written request to Chief District Court Judge Kenneth I. Nash and Judge James A. Boyle of Edgartown.

* * *

The district attorney is expected to explain his legal reasons for pursuing the inquest sometime this week.

He canceled a news conference Saturday, but those close to Dinis have said he plans "a thorough and long" judicial review of the case in order to end all speculation about it.

PLEADED GUILTY

The senator pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of a fatal accident and received a two-month suspended jail sentence.

Edgartown Police Chief Dominick J. Arena and Dukes County Special Prosecutor Walter E. Steele have said they consider the case closed.

* * *

Kennedy's car plunged into a saltwater pond on Chappaquiddick Island adjacent to Martha's Vineyard late at night on July 18. The senator escaped but Miss Kopechne, a former secretary to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was trapped in the car and drowned.

Kennedy did not report the accident for nine hours and only made a full statement after he pleaded guilty to the court charge.

* * *

His remarks to a national television audience aroused much sympathy but did not still all questions about the circumstances of the accident.

Religious Warfare Injures 90 in Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — More than 90 persons were injured as Northern Ireland's religious warfare spread to Belfast over the weekend. It was the worst violence in the capital since before World War II.

Two members of the British Parliament called on Home Secretary James Callaghan to intervene, but the British government is traditionally reluctant to take a direct hand in local affairs in Northern Ireland. The territory has domestic self-government but remained in the United Kingdom when Ireland was partitioned 50 years ago.

* * *

The provincial Cabinet held an emergency meeting yesterday and said the government would take "any measures, however firm or exceptional," to bring the violence to an end. The statement implied that the government was prepared to call in the British Army, but despite the warning there was more rioting last night.

Protestants and Catholics have been feuding and fighting in Northern Ireland for more than 2000 years. Unlike the Catholic-dominated Irish Republic, the six northern counties of Ulster have a Protestant majority. The Catholics charge that they are discriminated against by the voting laws and in the allocation of housing and jobs.

BOTTLES THROWN

Violence erupted in Belfast Saturday night when milk bottles were thrown from an apartment building at crowds waiting to see a Protestant procession. About 3,000 Protestants tried to storm the building, which is largely inhabited by Catholics. Some of the Protestants broke through police lines and battled with Catholic residents.

Gangs of youths roamed the streets throwing rocks and a bar was set on fire. Several times the mobs threw gasoline bombs, street gratings and stones at police. About 100 stores were looted.

* * *

The violence subsided by dawn but resumed last night.

More than 2,000 persons built street barricades with old cars and set them on fire in mainly Protestant Shankil Road area. They set seven bars on fire, looted dozens of shops and broke hundreds of windows. They threw stones and tin cans of blazing paint at police and firemen.

A total of 55 persons were arrested.

'Mafia Weighs Plot on Judge'

scale investigation into crime and corruption in Oakland County and began his inquiry last Friday. Information supplied by Lazaros to State Attorney Gen. Frank J. Kelly led to the calling of the grand jury.

While not mentioning Colombo by name, Lazaros said that he earlier had made public the murder plot against Thorburn's life "because of the fact other plots to kill other judges may be going on at this time."

* * *

Asked if he was present when the plan to kill Judge Thorburn was discussed, Lazaros would only reply, "Police records will show that I was the main opponent to it."

The plot on Thorburn took place during the 1967 grand jury investigation of Hazel Park Race track, Lazaros said.

NOT UNDER OATH

He added that he has not yet been sworn to secrecy by the grand jury. "I'm a free agent and until told by the grand jury I will continue to talk," he said.

Lazaros has been under constant police guard since his disclosures about the Mafia began last October. They apparently were prompted by his anger — at the alleged rape of his wife while he was in prison.

Hanoi Set Free 'Several' Pilots, Pacifist Reports

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam has released several captive American pilots, an American pacifist reported from Hanoi today.

Rennie Davis, the pacifist, did not say how many pilots were freed or what their names and condition were. But Hanoi announced on July 3 that three airmen would be freed to mark U.S. Independence Day.

* * *

Davis, who with three other American pacifists will escort the pilots home, cabled The Associated Press here that the prisoners had been released to his group.

He said the pilots and his colleagues would fly from Hanoi to Vientiane, the capitol of Laos, tomorrow in a plane of the International Control Commission. They plan to go on to Bangkok Wednesday and then to New York on Thursday.

'MET 4 OTHERS'

Davis also cabled that his group has met four other American fliers — who are not being released — and all appeared in "excellent condition. They were Lt. Col. Robinson Risner of Oklahoma City, Maj. Roger Ingvalson of Sanford, Maine, Capt. Anthony Charles Andrews of Chico, Calif., and Lt. (j.g.) Edwin F. Miller of Franklin Lakes, N.J.

Davis, a member of the National Mobilization Committee to end the War in Vietnam, and the other three pacifists arrived in Hanoi July 18 to escort the prisoners home.

* * *

Charles H. Andrews, an attorney, the father of Capt. Andrews, said, "We're happy he's alive, but we're disappointed he wasn't one of those released."

Andrews said his son was shot down Oct. 17, 1967. The captain's wife, Gale, lives in Wichita, Kan.

* * *

Mrs. Edwin F. Miller, the mother of Lt. Miller, said he was shot down May 21, 1968, during his second tour of duty in the war. She said even though she was disappointed her son was not among those released, her morale had been boosted.

2 Bodies Found in Romulus Twp.

ROMULUS (AP) — State Police are seeking clues today to the murder of a Negro man and woman found yesterday under a culvert in Romulus Township.

Police reported a gaping wound was found in the male and that the bodies, found floating in a foot of water, had been there for several days, perhaps a week.

* * *

No identification was found on the bodies or near the scene, about a mile north of Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The bodies were discovered by John Slage of Inkster, who was showing a friend where an airplane with three passengers aboard had crashed in June.

Boundary Policy Proposed in Israel

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel would retain the Gaza Strip, the Syrian Golan Heights and the southeast shore of the Sinai Peninsula under a platform plank proposed by leaders of Israel's ruling Labor party.

The party's platform committee submitted the plank last night to a party convention which is expected to approve it this week. It would become government policy if the Labor party wins in the national election in November, as is expected.

* * *

The plank also says Israel will never permit a foreign army west of the Jordan River. This apparently means that the areas on the West Bank captured from Jordan in the 1967 war will not be returned unless they are demilitarized.

* * *

The committee said it had not had time to make any proposals regarding the status of Arabs living in the occupied territories.

School Board Meeting Set

Corruption Case Has Thieu in a Bind

SAIGON (UPI)—A corruption case involving South Vietnam's famous cinnamon has put President Nguyen Van Thieu in a difficult spot.

Brig. Gen. Nguyen Van Toan, commander of the 2nd Vietnamese Infantry Division, is accused of having used army trucks during military operations in Quang Ngai province to transport the costly and aromatic spice for private profit.

The inspectorate, an 18-man watchdog body, recently brought official charges, although reports of corruption among many of the generals and their wives have been rife for years.

★ ★ ★

The inspectorate recommended that Toan be dismissed as division commander and transferred outside the I Corps region.

It is now up to President Thieu to take action on the case. Under the law, he has to make a decision within the next few days.

★ ★ ★

The recommended punishment is not considered severe. All Thieu has to do is dismiss Toan as commander of the 2nd Division and transfer him to another job. Or he can recommend another form of penalty.

★ ★ ★

But what is important is that, by punishing Toan, Thieu might be establishing a precedent that could lead to further actions against other generals.

★ ★ ★

The lower house anticorruption committee some time ago prepared dossiers against several other generals, although the committee chairman has refused thus far to disclose who they are.

★ ★ ★

All this presents a ticklish problem for Thieu, who is himself a former army general.

Thieu's fellow generals are the men who brought him to power. He needs their support and cannot afford to have them arrayed against him.

★ ★ ★

Thieu already has disturbed a number of high-ranking army officers, making what they consider unnecessary concessions to the Communists in his latest peace proposals.

★ ★ ★

The inspectorate's charges against Gen. Toan struck a raw nerve at the Vietnamese armed forces headquarters in Saigon.

'HE'S FAIRLY GOOD'

For one thing, Toan is considered a fairly good general by Vietnamese standards. Many observers contend that what he did was small potatoes compared with instances of greater corruption allegedly involving other generals.

★ ★ ★

"They picked the wrong man," said one Vietnamese military officer. "Gen. Toan has always been considered one of the four or five best division commanders."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Tran Van Don, a retired army general and chief of the Vietnamese Senate's Defense Committee, protested that the inspectorate should not have publicized the results of its investigation.

★ ★ ★

Such publicity was damaging to armed forces morale, the ex-general declared.

THIEU'S UNCLE

The chairman of the eight-month-old inspectorate, Ng o Zuan Tich, happens to be an uncle of President Thieu, but observers who have followed Tich's actions say that the relationship has not influenced Tich.

★ ★ ★

"Corruption is one of the most important problems we have to deal with in Vietnam," the thin bespectacled, 59-year-old Tich said in an interview.

★ ★ ★

"Unless we do something about it, we cannot win the support of the people."

As for Gen. Toan's case, Tich said: "We have done our duty. It is now up to President Thieu."

DETROIT (AP) — An 89-year-old Detroiter is being held by police investigating the stabbing death of his 40-year-old son.

The father allegedly stabbed his son several times in the wrist and chest before relatives separated them.

The son was dead on arrival at Detroit General Hospital late Saturday while the father suffered cuts on his arms.

★ ★ ★

Relatives told police the pair were arguing over whether the father should be placed in an old folks home.

Rochester Parade Tonight Will Open County 4-H Fair

With Rochester's centennial celebration as a backdrop, the Oakland County 4-H Fair begins with a parade tonight at 7:30 in downtown Rochester.

The parade precedes the opening of the 1969 4-H Fair tomorrow at the 4-H Fairgrounds, Perry at Pontiac roads, Pontiac.

* * *

This year's parade is in Rochester to help that community observe its 100th birthday. Rochester organizations and many others have been invited to participate in the parade, along with 4-H clubs.

Colorfully decorated floats, walking units and horse groups will be entered by 4-H chapters around the county. Twee Zee the Clown will perform for the youngsters.

Judges will view the parade from a stand on Main Street in front of the National Bank of Detroit. The parade route is University to Main Street from Great Oaks Subdivision, south to Third Street and west to Walnut.

Exhibits at the 4-H Fair are scheduled to open at 10 a.m. tomorrow. Judging of the projects gets underway at 1 p.m. and will continue each day of the fair through Saturday.

Some of the big events scheduled at this year's 4-H Fair include:

- Fireworks on Wednesday, 9:30 p.m., in the Show Ring.
- 4-H Livestock Sale, 8:30 p.m., Thursday.
- 4-H Horse Clubs' Championship Run-Offs, Saturday evening.

Each evening of the five-day fair will feature a special program in the show ring.

Police in Farmington Twp. Not Saddled to Desk Job

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The township police force here has its own version of the Canadian Mounties.

Formed in 1964 as a mounted auxiliary arm to the police department, the 17-man force presents precision drills, rides in parades and backs up the regular force in policing activities when necessary.

* * *

The riders, all of whom own their own horses and equipment, recently presented a precision drill and rode in the Farmington Founder's Festival Parade.

The group furnished the color and honor guards for Gov. William Milliken at the festival, then led the grand entry at the Festival Horse Show and gave a precision drill. Later the horsemen received a trophy for special recognition for community services.

MEETS MONTHLY

The group, eager to obtain new members, meets monthly for business meetings and drills whenever convenient.

Requirements for joining the troop are strict, according to commanding officer Sgt. James Boswell. Members must own their own horses, which must also pass inspection. Horses must be suited to parading and handing crowds.

The members buy their own uniforms and are paid $2 an hour — a token wage.

"When people cheer, that's what we're getting out of it," explained Boswell.

CATCH THE MOOD

The horses are trained to respond to a whistle and gentle pressure by the riders.

"The horses sometimes even catch the mood of parades and start dancing around," remarked Boswell. He added that horses which "act up" during performances are quietly shifted into the middle of the troop away from the crowds to calm them down.

* * *

The troop was organized in 1964 by regular Police Sgt. John Polder. At that time much of Farmington was open space and horses could go into the fields and swamps where autos and men could not get alone.

Today the horses are used primarily for crowd control and searching for an occasional lost child.

Occasionally the troop is asked to assist neighboring police forces with investigations.

Group activities continue beyond duty hours, according to Boswell. He explained that the group takes families on horseback to the open country for weekend camp-outs.

Ratified in Holly

Teacher Pact OK'd

HOLLY — The board of education and the Holly Teachers Association have ratified a teacher contract which will pay new teachers with a bachelor's degree a salary of $7,100 and those holding a master's, $7,600.

The contract ratified this year marks the second year of a three-year contract. Reopening clauses for fringe benefits and salaries were negotiated. Next year all phases of the contract will be subjected to renegotiation.

* * *

The minimum rate for B. A. and M. A. degrees classifications last year was $6,700 and $7,100, respectively.

Maximum scales (10-years' experience) went from $9,380 to $10,300 for bachelor's degree holders and from $10,500 to $12,100 for M. A. teachers.

PER-STEP INCREASE

An increment for B. A. teachers of $310 per step was negotiated for the first five steps. The increase goes to $330 per step for the following five years. M. A. teachers will receive an increment of $440 per step for the first five years and $460 per step for the next five years.

M. A. teachers with 20 additional hours will be eligible for further benefits.

* * *

Fringe benefits negotiated include $200 annually for insurance. A $500 benefit will be paid to special education instructors and teacher consultants in science.

* * *

B. A. teachers with 11 additional hours and M. A. teachers with 20 additional hours will be paid $5 more per semester credit hour for reimbursement purposes.

Extracurricular duty salaries jumped 7½ per cent over last year. The wrestling coach will receive $600. This is the first year the district has sponsored wrestling. A drama coach for one-act plays will also be paid extracurricular pay, the amount yet to be determined.

RNA Informer Freed by Judge

DETROIT (UPI) — The prosecution's star witness in the murder trial of a black nationalist charged with killing a Detroit policeman has been released from jail without bond and allowed to return to California.

David R. Brown Jr., 19, Compton, Calif., himself is accused with assault with intent to murder another policeman in the same shooting incident between police and members of the Republic of New Africa (RNA) outside the New Bethel Baptist Church here March 29.

★ ★ ★

But it was learned yesterday that Brown was released on "special probation" Friday, and the court file of the action was immediately suppressed.

In the shooting, rookie patrolman Michael Czapski, 22, was killed and his partner, Richard Worobec, 28, seriously wounded. Four members of the RNA, which was just ending a meeting in the church, were wounded when police entered firing.

TO STAND TRIAL

Rafael Viera, 21, New York, has been ordered to stand trial on second-degree murder charges in Czapski's death; Alfred Hibbitt, 26, Detroit, and Clarence J. Fuller, 25, Detroit, have been ordered to stand trial for assault with intent to murder Worobec.

★ ★ ★

All the persons, including Brown, are members of the RNA, which seeks to establish a separate, independent black nation in five southern states.

★ ★ ★

Brown is the star witness for the prosecution in all three of the cases.

He himself allegedly fired a gun at another policeman inside the church. He was ordered to stand trial for that after a pretrial examination before he testified against the others.

STATE LAW

Brown was freed under a state law known as the "Holmes Youthful Offenders Act," which provides that defendants under 21 years of age may be freed without bond on special probation if their records indicate they are unlikely to commit another crime.

Recorder's (criminal) Court Judge Joseph A. Gillis, who ordered Brown released on the motion of his attorney, Robert F. Mitchell, said he frequently frees defendants under the Holmes Act.

★ ★ ★

During pretrial examinations of Viera and Hibbitt, their lawyers reportedly tried to show Brown's testimony was influenced by promises of special treatment. He repeatedly denied the charges.

The Holmes law provides that, if special probation is satisfactorily completed, the original charge against the defendant may be dropped and all records of the case stricken.

Cabin Cruiser Burns After Fleet Blessing

MENOMINEE (AP) —A spectacular explosion aboard a plush cabin cruiser provided a touch of drama yesterday in the "blessing of the fleet" ceremonies to which a record crowd had been attracted by the rebirth of 19th Century Great Lakes freighter.

★ ★ ★

An estimated 200 ships and 30,000 spectators had assembled at the Menominee-Marinette, Wis., harbor on Green Bay, the largest audience for the ceremonies since they were first held 20 years ago at Fayette, Mich.

★ ★ ★

While Bishop Charles A. Salatka of the Marquette Roman Catholic diocese was blessing fishing craft and the 19th Century schooner, three explosions ripped through a 35-foot cabin cruiser about 100 yards beyond a Menominee breakwater.

★ ★ ★

The cruiser's occupant, Ray LaSee, 53, of De Pere, Wis., leaped overboard as flames rose 25 to 30 feet. He was the only person aboard the Ten-One, his wife having gone ashore to watch the ceremonies.

BLESSING CREDITED

The Ten-One had been among boats blessed moments earlier by the bishop. LaSee said the blessing "may have saved me."

He and his wife had stopped at the harbor after a two-week cruise to Canada, he said.

★ ★ ★

LaSee was rescued uninjured after the Coast Guard cutter Raritan, pausing to discharge passengers who had been watching the ceremonies, joined a small fleet of private vessels that went to LaSee's aid.

★ ★ ★

The Ten-One's value was placed at $40,000. The cruiser did not sink although it was extensively damaged by the fire.

SANKIN STORM

The crowd had been drawn to Menominee, scene of the blessing ceremonies since 1965, by the recent refloating of the schooner, presumed to be a ship that sank in Green Bay during a storm in 1864 with the loss of three lives.

★ ★ ★

The two-masted vessel has not yet yielded positive proof of its identity.

★ ★ ★

A crew of amateur divers from Egg Harbor, Wis., had worked for two years to recover artifacts from the sunken ship in 110 feet of water and prepare the vessel for restoration.

It Seems to Me . . .

Social Needs Rate Priority Over More Space Projects

Certainly the universe as a whole still bows before our three All-American astronauts for their outstanding achievements.

★ ★ ★

They're tops.
They're the greatest.

★ ★ ★

However, this nation must consider carefully before it accepts this as a preliminary challenge to greater feats in outer space. The costs will be so staggering it's almost impossible to estimate them very accurately. The moon cost 24 billion dollars and most people say it's worth the price.

But consider the next.

Mars is mentioned glibly.

★ ★ ★

Let's just consider Mars for a few moments. The moon is approximately 245,000 miles from here. Mars is 44 million miles. That's 165 times as far away. If you allow two days for a trip to the moon, you'd have to contemplate 330 days for a trip to Mars which is nearly a year. Then it would require another 330 days to return.

★ ★ ★

Many Americans are committed to the fact that the gigantic and astronomical costs of such a journey might even bankrupt a nation as wealthy as our own. And if they didn't, haven't we many, many more urgent needs for the money "right here on earth?"

We still have a few million citizens who haven't sufficient income to exist on a marginal basis. We have enormous problems confronting us in the pollution of air and water. Our lakes, rivers and even an occasional ocean beach are increasingly pronounced unfit for habitation at times.

And this can grow worse.

Steadily we have more people.

★ ★ ★

Hence, before aiming at Mars, we should clean house at home and think of our own citizens first. This idyllic trip to a distant planet is a noble conceit and one that's exciting to conjure and contemplate. But we've been known rather consistently for putting first things first and the every-day lives of several million people come ahead of multiplying the moon excursion by some figure such as 165.

Who'll pay the bills?
Whence comes the money?

★ ★ ★

Can we knowingly sacrifice pure air, water, regular meals and clothing for millions and millions for the sake of attempting this next adventure?

★ ★ ★

Surely the idea is commendable. But it looks as though it should be postponed until we know where we stand and are satisfied that all of our people have normal lives and normal existences.

Nations Squabble . . .

You can't really smile at any international squabbles, troubles or threats of military action. But if this great globe harbors just one such situation it lies in the current bickering between Russia and China. This situation seems to worsen.

Neither can afford it.

It's too overwhelming.

★ ★ ★

Russia has one of the two greatest armed setups in the world. And China has 750,000,000 people, plus a growing military insurgence that spells doom for any nation anywhere within a forseeable future.

★ ★ ★

The world in general looks upon Russia as a global bully and a nation without moral scruples or any sense of decency. Hence, the Reds have very few friends behind their backs. General sympathy will rally behind the poor Chinese who have awe-inspiring manpower but a fearful lack of equipment and training.

★ ★ ★

Russia senses that if she can ever get anywhere, it will have to be in the immediate future. The longer she waits, the greater becomes the military might of the awakening Chinese.

World sympathy is all with China. Russia has shown her infidelity and her consummate greed too often.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Senator JOHN TOWER, chairman of the GOP campaign committee, predicts a gain of ten seats in the Senate. This would give his party a 53 to 47 margin. . . . . Washington believes now that HUBERT HUMPHREY will run for Minnesota's Senate spot next year, even if EUGENE MCCARTHY makes a bid for re-election.

Nomination for a feminine beauty of many centuries ago: Donettah. . . . . Burglars in Atlanta are warned. An agency rents real mean 100-pound German Shepherds and Doberman Pinschers at $8 a night who stand guard when you're gone. . . . . Overheard: "The behavior of some children suggests that their parents embarked on the sea of matrimony without a paddle." . . . . . Last year farm production set an all-time record and beat 1967 by two per cent. Dept. of Agriculture says the new levels were attained with fewer man hours.

A Great Big Round of Hearty Applause for ABE COHEN—just in general. . . . . Someone said that violence in films was lessening, yet "Death Rides a Horse" has one strangulation, one drowning, five knifings, 28 people gunned down, one man dropped to perdition through a trap door, a million-dollar robbery and a man buried alive in the desert with his mouth stuffed full of salt. But—P.S.—it has a happy ending. . . . . Statistics say that 70 per cent of all the people in the United States over 50 years of age have lost all their teeth. . . . . "Remember, We Invented Gunpowder!"

David Lawrence Says:

Nixon Trip May Lead to Summit

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's trip to Asia and Eastern Europe may turn out to have been his most important achievement since taking office. For it may help to start constructive steps toward the ultimate goal — maintenance of world peace.

LAWRENCE

Far from being in any way a move that could be construed as critical of Soviet government policies, the visit to Romania was really an example of America's readiness to make direct contacts and engage in frank conversation with the heads of governments which are regarded as on the Communist side of the fence.

★ ★ ★

The American President by his talks at Bucharest may have opened the door not merely to further meetings in the Eastern European countries which are under Communist domination but with the Moscow government itself.

Already a summit conference seems assured.

SIGN OF PROGRESS

What stands out now as a sign of progress is the initiation of broad discussions about the future of all the disadvantaged countries, whether in Asia or Europe.

There was a surprising note, for instance, in the remarks of President Ceausescu of Romania, who, in welcoming President Nixon, said:

"We believe that in the complex conditions of international affairs today, the development of relations between states on the basis of the principles of peaceful coexistence and respect for independence, sovereignty, equal rights and noninterference in the internal affairs, represents the safe way toward promoting a climate of confidence and understanding among peoples and of peace and security in the world."

★ ★ ★

The basic concept, if adhered to, can do much to preserve peace.

What is plainly needed is a better understanding of American motives.

CAN LEAD TO WAR

What the Soviet Union must perceive is that friction between the major powers can lead to a suicidal war and that, if all thought of annexing or dominating neighboring countries were given up, the road would be cleared for the restoration of freedom in Eastern Europe and the improvement of economic conditions there.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Nixon has manifested a constructive attitude toward the problems of Asia as well as Europe.

★ ★ ★

A common-sense approach now by the Kremlin, too, could inaugurate a hopeful era in the formulation of policies dealing with limitation of armament and the many other vital questions that have to be settled amicably if world peace is to be assured.

Bob Considine Says:

Air War Is Not Getting Its Share of Attention

Even while the President conferred with his Asian ambassadors in Bangkok on the best ways and means of getting out of the war in Vietnam without creating panic among Asian friends, the most thunderous and emphatic part of the war continued.

CONSIDINE

Though both thunderous and emphatic, it is the least-mentioned. It is the air war against the enemy. It has cost us the vast majority of the more than 1,300 Americans still listed as "missing in action." The cost in bombs dropped and planes shot down or wrecked runs into billions.

★ ★ ★

Probably never before in American history have such urgent military missions received less attention.

The reason is that we are now fighting the enemy not in North Vietnam, on these daily missions launched from Thailand bases, but in Laos.

OFFICIALLY NEUTRAL

Laos is officially neutral. The Geneva accord of 1962 decreed that, but that accord has been broken more often than the Ten Commandments, and by us, among the others.

The men of the 13th and 7th Air Forces bomb and strafe Laos every day — that part of Laos through which the Ho Chi Minh trails run like veins through a man's body.

★ ★ ★

We are justified in a legalistic way through a side agreement with Laos, or that part of Laos with which we have rapport. It allows us to fly "reconnaissance missions" over Laos and "return fire if fired upon."

The U.S. planes are abundantly fired upon. Since North Vietnam targets became off limits, the enemy has moved most of his antiaircraft guns and personnel down into northern Laos.

GUNS IN PLACE

The Russian-built SAM (surface-to-air missile) could not be moved from its fixed bases around Hanoi and Haiphong. But a lot of good mobile Soviet radar-aimed guns are in place along the trails, and so are the countless thousands of machine guns manned by all but invisible experts.

The Air Force has 37,000 of the 50,000 Americans in Thailand. It functions out of six operating and one support base, all officially Royal Thai airfields.

Comments on Astronauts Littering Moon

I witnessed the launching of Apollo 11 and enjoyed it until the time when the astronauts became the first moon litterbugs, leaving trash on the moon. First the American Flag was displayed very gracefully, then just a few feet away was a pile of our American worldly rubbish. Please keep the moon clean.

Recently, I suffered a heart attack at a store on Huron Street. I appreciate the concern of the Waterford Township officer who responded to the call and also took my 14-year-old granddaughter to her home.

Romney Speaks

The Flint Journal

Sometimes George Romney has the unhappy faculty of sounding like some of these popular rock 'n' roll records which depend on rhythm and repetition to carry their point.

The words he spoke here at the Jaycee seminar earned no plaudits for either originality or dramatic impact.

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless, Romney's message was both pertinent and proper for the moment. Some of the liabilities which interfered with Romney's desire to move from governor of Michigan to president of the United States enhance his position as secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

They include his candor, his bluntness, his directness and his stubborn adherence to what he believes to be the truth.

The Flint Journal can only back him up wholeheartedly in his crusade to free the house building industry from the chains of outmoded financing, outmoded construction practices, outmoded labor restrictions and outmoded political controls which have prevented it from creating a healthy environment for the urban masses.

★ ★ ★

We must subscribe, too, to his repeated concern about the jeopardizing of the American ideal which is inherent in the growing divisions between the affluent and the poor, the white and the black, the privileged and the disadvantaged.

Ministates in U.N.

The Wall Street Journal

For a decade or more it has been evident that whatever influence and importance the United Nations has was being steadily diluted by the admission of more and more ministates to full membership.

Some sort of high point (or low point, depending on your point of view) was reached in 1965 when the newly independent Maldive Islands, a collection of coral atolls in the Indian Ocean, achieved membership. The islands have a total population of 96,000.

★ ★ ★

Now, it is obvious that to many of the new nations U.N. membership is a valued status symbol. Yet it should also be obvious that few of the small states have any direct stake in the Arab-Israeli confrontation or other matters in which the U.N. concerns itself. In the U.N. General Assembly each of their votes nonetheless weighs as heavily as that of, well, the U.S.

In an effort to find some sort of solution that would serve practicality, without unduly wounding new nations' pride, the U.S. is suggesting that an associate membership category be set up for new ministates. American officials stress, possibly for the benefit of the smaller nations, that the intent is not to deprecate little countries but to save them the expense of regular U.N. dues, which amount to $57,000 a year and up.

★ ★ ★

Associate members would have all of the rights of the present 126 full members except voting in the Assembly and being elected to U.N. bodies. They could attend Assembly sessions, make speeches and circulate their views among the U.N. membership.

While such a move isn't likely to lead to sudden enhancement of U.N. effectiveness, "it does seem a wise step. The chief objection to it, in fact, may be only that it comes a decade or more too late.

Parents Must Reserve Time for Socializing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

I am delighted to print today's letter-of-the-week because I agree with it so heartily.

Parents who continually sacrifice their friends and their own pleasure and convenience to their children are making a terrible mistake. This is the worst type of spoiling. Children who grow up thinking that the world revolves around them, regardless of the discomfort it may cause others, will inevitably be self-centered, inconsiderate adults.

* * *

Babies and children deserve all the tender loving care a mother can give, but she has obligations to friends and family, too, and one should not infringe on the other. There is a time and a place for a mother's activities with her children and if they cannot be limited to those times, she should not make other commitments which she is unwilling to keep.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: My neighbor will be ready "in 20 minutes" which fheans that we will be more than an hour late for our appointment. The reason? Her baby.

During the past year I have become more and more aware of the inconsideration young mothers show their husbands, friends, parents and anybody who crosses their paths. As you have always stressed, etiquette is a positive thing, providing comfort for another person, but I have found that young mothers exploit good manners no end and I feel I must comment on this.

* * *

My husband and I have been parents to a foster child since she was four days old. While we would never sacrifice the welfare of our child, we are equally adverse to sacrificing the comfort of our friends and neighbors.

* *

I do not make appointments, then invite the visitor in to sit and wait for 45 minutes while I bathe and feed my child, or wait for her to wake up from her nap. This has happened to me so often I am beginning to stay away from friends with children.

* * * *

The solutions my husband and I have worked out to the problem of living with children are to either decline the invitation, get a baby-sitter, or adjust the child's schedule. Whenever it is not uncomfortable or disquieting to the child she can be fed and diapered en route, and if she is tired she can easily fall asleep just about any place. She seems norte the worse for this flexibility. — Mrs. M. M.

'U.S. Prestige at All-Time High'

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pat Nixon came home from her round-the-world trip saying that the "happy, smiling faces of the people who welcomed us everywhere" are evidence of a "lessening of tensions."

"I didn't see an ugly face on the whole trip," Mrs. Nixon said in an interview while flying home Sunday night.

And because she didn't see any demonstrations or signs of criticism, Mrs. Nixon said she feels: "America's prestige is at an all-time high."

In winding up her first foreign trip with her husband since he became President, Mrs. Nixon said the reception in Romania was one of the big moments they have experienced during eight years of traveling around the globe.

For two days "they came out time after time," she said of the enthusiastic crowds in Bucharest.

Mrs. Nixon said she felt the Romanians have always had an affection for the United States.

"They want to be proud and had a chance to be proud because an American president was in their country," she said, adding that the U.S. moon landing "played a part in it."

The First Lady also was impressed by the soldiers and security men who lined the routes in Bucharest.

"Once they get you in, they take care of you," Mrs. Nixon said of the Communist government.

Time and again on her travels, Mrs. Nixon was caught in a crush of eager welcomers, pushed and jostled.

"I never mind that," she said.

Mrs. Nixon recalled that the wife of India's acting President Mohammed Hidayatullah had told her in New Delhi: "you can't buy a crowd to come out."

Indians turned out, her hostess told Mrs. Nixon, because of interest created by the moon landing and because "they want to see that car" — the Presidential limousine which was flown in for Nixon's use at each stop.

* * *

While the President was conferring with heads of governments, Mrs. Nixon made visits to hospitals and social welfare institutions and addressed women volunteers.

But there weren't any volunteers to talk with in Romania. Mrs. Nixon said officials' wives told her "they all had to work for the government, so we don't have to volunteer."

Nixon said his wife "got an A report card all the way" on their trip through seven nations.

* * *

Returning home tired after more than 12 days of traveling, Mrs. Nixon's "do-it-myself" hairdo was still holding up well.

The First Lady said she had a hairdresser only once on the trip — in Thailand after the Nixons were drenched in a downpour at the airport.

Calls Dating Method Just Cultural Blackmail

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Regarding "who should pay on dates?" You said that if the gentleman invites the lady, HE should pay. This sounds ducky on the face of it, but what other choice has he? She sure as heck is not about to ask HIM out! She has a good thing going. He's trapped and she knows it.

* * *

Now, hear me out. This caste system might have had some validity years ago, but things are different now, and I see no reason why a man should have to shoulder the whole cost when the broad he's out with is earning as much—if not more than he is.

Now, what I want from you, Dear Abby, is one good reason why the man should have to submit to this form of cultural blackmail? Actually, if my fellow men are too stupid to realize that they are being taken, then they deserve to be, and I wish you girls the best of luck. As for me, I am through being used! HAD IT

DEAR HAD IT: No man has to submit to any form of blackmail. He has the right to ask the lady to pick up the tab for herself, or for both of them. She may even do it, but it is also her right to refuse.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I think I can help that girl who said policemen "turn her on," and she wanted to know how to meet one. Policemen "turn me on," too, and I can give her some tips from my own experience.

● Get a job as a waitress. Policemen always stop in diners for coffee or a quick bite. This is a perfect place to start a conversation with a policeman, and if he is interested in you, you'll end up dating him.

● Get a ticket for over-parking or letting the meter run out, not for speeding. A speeding ticket is expensive, counts against your driving record and besides, you have to go before the judge and you don't end up meeting the cops anyway. A ticket for over-parking is only $1.00, and you get to go down to the police station to pay it. Here is where you will meet a lot of cops.

● Ride around. When a police car passes you, be sure to look intently at the cops in it. It they smile, smile back. Chances are they will find something to say to you. I do it all the time and I've never been disappointed.

"LIKES COPS" IN WAYNE, N.J.

One of the superb ballerinas with the American Ballet Theatre to perform at the Meadow Brook Festival is talented Eleanor D'Antuono. She will be seen Wednesday in the role of a virtuoso ballerina for Harald Lander's ballet, "Etudes." The performance of "Gartenfest," "Miss Julie" and "Etudes" will begin at 8:30 p.m.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder if those people who are all for birth control and abortion have ever stopped to consider that every year thousands of childless couples have been able to adopt babies because they were illegitimate.

Unwed mothers actually serve a very useful purpose in society, don't they?

AGAINST BIRTH CONTROL AND ABORTION

DEAR AGAINST: It's true that because of illegitimacy, many couples have been able to become parents through adoption. But to say that "the unwed mother serves a useful purpose in society" is like comparing illegitimacy to a heart transplant. It's wonderful for the recipient, but serves no useful purpose for the donor.

10-Year-Old Has Baby

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UPI)—A 10-year-old girl gave birth to a normal 5 pound, 10 ounce baby boy in a suburban Washington hospital last week, Alexandria hospital administrator Charles M. Goff said.

"It was a normal delivery. The baby's condition is good," said Goff who declined to comment beyond basic statistics because of the mother's age.

Toll Fees Ready

DEAR POLLY — Vacation time is here and many will be taking trips. I would like to let others in on one of our traveling helps. We make frequent trips to visit our son in an army camp many miles away and usually travel at night.

★ ★ ★

I save old empty plastic pill bottles and put the right amount of change for the various toll roads in them. I then put all these bottles in a covered plastic refrigerator container which fits under the front seat out of the way but handy and always ready when needed. With a marking pen I write the amount contained on each lid so it is easy to pick out the bottle with the right amount by just the car's dashboard light.

If I win a dollar it will go into one of our "toll bottles" ready for the next trip. — EDITH

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — My daughter usually swims at a beach and I would like to know a way to prevent her white bathing suit from yellowing. — BETTY G.

DEAR POLLY — None of the attachments on my sweeper fit into the aluminum tracks and frames that are on our doors. As a result the dirt and dust had to be cleaned out with a paper towel or cloth until I discovered that an old tooth brush goes into these narrow places to loosen the dirt. — MADGE

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY — After knitting slippers or bootees I sew snaps to the inside of the ankles so a pair can be snapped together. There is no danger of one slipper being misplaced when not being worn. — JEANNE

High Marriage Rate Means Baby Boom

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the pill, population specialists foresee a possible new upsurge in births because Americans are marrying at a near record pace — with the newlyweds themselves mainly the results of an earlier baby boom.

That was the word recently from the Population Reference Bureau which reported that 1968 brought 2.1 million marriages — a figure exceeded only in 1946 — in an acceleration of "the marriage boom of the late 1960s."

* * *

It said:

— Main reason for the marriage boom is the fact that Americans born in the baby boom of the years just after World War II now are reaching marriageable age themselves.

— And the current "upsurge in marriages . . . may lead to a new baby boom" despite the widespread practice of birth control.

KEEPS TABS

The Bureau, a private, nonprofit organization which keeps tabs on population trends, told about it in offering a new Profile of the U.S. Family — with subject matter ranging from divorce rates to what the Bureau termed "the truly forgotten Americans . . . the working poor."

* * *

The latter were described as people who have low incomes, yet are largely unaided by welfare and Social Security programs.

The Bureau forecast a possible new baby boom in the next few years even as it noted that:

BIRTH CONTROL

"Today the overwhelming majority of American couples use some form of birth control."

● Hand in hand with the increase in the marriage rate "has come a drop in the birth rate" so that, as of 1968, the U.S. birth rate was the lowest in the nation's history.

* * *

"Even with the falling birth rate of the last few years," the report said, "the U.S. population has been growing by about one per cent annually. At this rate, the population would double to about 400 million by the year 2023, and the pressures on our environment would correspondingly increase."

* * *

"This total has been surpassed only once before in 1946, the year after World War II ended. The current dramatic spurt in marriages there were 200,000 fewer in 1967, helped bring the number of U.S. families to a record high of 50 million, almost five million more than were recorded in the 1960 census . . ."

* * *

Thus, during the 1960s, the number of families has grown at a faster rate than the total U.S. population, the bureau said, adding:

* * *

"These facts give the lie to those gloomy souls who predicted the imminent collapse of family life in the United States."

* * *

But the report conceded there is "grist for the pessimists" in these other findings:

RISE IN DIVORCES

● Provisional data for 1968 indicate that for the first time since 1946, divorces exceeded 500,000 thereby marking a continuance of a significant rise that began in 1960.

● There has been a "recent sharp increase in the number of children annually affected by divorce decrees", the figure for 1967 soaring to more than 700,000, twice as many as in 1955.

Shy Girl Wants Friends

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE K-531: Lorna H., aged 17, is a high school senior. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I have always been quiet and shy.

DR. CRANE

"That is partly because I was awkward and taller than my classmates in grammer school.

"But now I find I am about average in height, yet my earlier shyness has held me back from making friends.

"So can you please give me some shortcuts to popularity?"

The secret of winning friends consists of realizing that everybody you meet is interest in "Me-Here-Now."

So smile (which is a nonverbal compliment) and also utter a spoken bit of honest praise.

"An acquaintance that begins with a compliment," said Oscar Wilde, "is sure to develop into a real friendship."

Sandford-Brown College in St. Louis offers its students a card containing "5 Tested Friend Makers," as follows:

1 "I am proud of you!"
2 "What is YOUR opinion?"
3 "If you please!"
4 "Thank you!"
5 "YOU!"

Every college might profitably imitate Sanford - Brown, for when teen-agers can learn how to win friends and popularity, they are better equipped for happier adulthood than by earning a college major in History, Math, Chemistry or other departments.

And I am not exaggerating, for popular people zoom to the top.

Then they can always hire competent associtates who are specilists in their fields but probably not very popular folks!

CLIP COLUMN

Girls like Lorna should clip this column and memorize its contents.

Then they can literally outbid the beauty stars and miniskirted classmates, for most men don't marry Miss Americas.

And the wives who never enter into divorce proceedings have used some or all of those five points in the Sanford-Brown formula.

If you teen-agers (or oldsters) don't know how to carry on an interesting conversation, then use No. two in that formula and ask your companion for his or her opinion on any timely topic.

To stay up-to-date on current ideas, make it a habit to read this newspaper more thoroughly.

For example, most of you teen-agers focus on the comics, the sports section and maybe a quick glance at Page One.

So learn to be your own professor!

The Happy Housewife Has Colorful Kitchen

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Been in a housewares department lately?

Notice how colorful everything's getting, from can openers to pots and pans?

Well, a maker of housewares reports that the rapid success of new colors introduced in the last two years indicates today's consumer is thinking kitchen fashion

★ ★ ★

"Fashion is change," says Susan Scheble, home services coordinator for the Ohio-based firm. "And it is women's willingness to change which accounts for the rapid acceptance of these colors.

"Back when kitchens were all white, the reds and bright yellows were the predominant accessories colors.

"More recently, with the introduction of tints into appliance colors, accessory colors trended toward pastels for color scheme blends. But these color changes were gradual and slow."

COLOR EXPLOSION

What's going on right now she described as a color explosion.

"The homemaker's appetite for color and for style, too, has been whetted," she said. "She's demanding more and more, faster and faster. She's more sophisticated, more affluent, more interested in the kitchen."

And that was supposed to be the room that television dinners and brown-and-serve dishes were supposed to take her away from, remember? So what happened? A phenomenal, renewed interest in cooking.

★ ★ ★

"It is no longer considered wasteful to spend time in the kitchen," said Miss Scheble.

"In effect, the kitchen and its furnishings have become status symbols."

★ ★ ★

She said today's woman has been educated to think with less confinement about color. Out the window go the rules on what-goes-with-what.

Pink and orange, for one example of something considered a horrible clash, now go together in peace.

AVOCADO IS IN

One of the biggest "in" colors is avocado.

Miss Scheble thinks it's because avocado is a good go-with-everything color. It goes with blues, greens, browns, oranges, yellows.

★ ★ ★

"I feel," she said, "that this avocado success has happened because today's homemaker also is more willing and happier to accept color mixtures."

Two Oakland University students are planning to be wed. Carol Lynn Harris and Michael J. Buller, both seniors at OU, will marry April 24, 1970. Announcing the engagement and wedding plans of their daughter are Mr. and Mrs. Basil C. Harris of of Fourth Street. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J Buller of Riviera Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Salo of Wixom announce the engagement of their daughter, Martha Christine, to Michael Jay Garrels. A graduate of Michigan State University, the bride-elect is affiliated with Alpha Phi sorority. Her fiance, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Garrels of Sweetbriar Street, West Bloomfield Township, is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

This Woman Was Fact Factory

NEW YORK (UPI) — This lady who lived in London around the middle of the nineteenth century knew, in a pinch, fine boot polish could be made by combining French red wine and brandy.

She knew a lot more — in fact, practically everything.

Her name was Mrs. Isabella Beeton. She was a forerunner of Emily Post, Dr. Benjamin Spock, Fanny Farmer, the lawyer who wrote "How to Avoid Probate" and all the people who have written home medical books.

★ ★ ★

Her storehouse of knowledge on all things came out in 1861 in "Beeton's Book of Household Management."

A facsimile of the first edition of Mrs. Beeton's book weighs two pounds, has 1,112 pages, and costs about $6.50 a pound.

The facsimile is being published in the United States by Farrs, Straus and Giroux.

It is billed as an unrivaled guide to the manners and economics of Victorian households. It also can tickle ribs and tease palates.

CHILD RAISING

On child raising, Mrs. Beeton, who was one of 21 children and 28 when she died, offered "a warning against mothers holding their infants too tightly. It seems some infants each year were unwittingly killed by mothers who hugged them too strenuously."

Medical advice included: "A flannel dipped in boiling water, and sprinkled with turpentine, laid on the chest as quickly as possible, will relieve the most severe cold or hoarseness."

Reading aloud with the teeth closed for two hours a day for three or four months was Mrs. Beeton's remedy for stammering.

★ ★ ★

Great claims were made for the tomato. "As an article of diet, it is almost a sovereign remedy for dyspepsia and indigestion."

In the legal department, Mrs. Beeton tells how to make a will. The directions still apply today.

Two in Navy

New York (UPI) — Lt. Dennis Rhyne, Navy doctor stationed at St. Albans Navy Hospital, had the honor of commissioning his sister as an ensign in the Navy Nurse Corps at a ceremony here.

The new ensign, Sara A. Rhyne, will report to Camp Pendleton, Calif., after officers training at Newport, R.I.

Cotton is cool.

Hockings Wed in Pennsylvania Rites

Grace Linda Eisenhardt of Oley, Pa. and Gregory Bruce Hocking were married recently in Albright College Chapel, Reading, Pa. A reception in the Masonic Lodge, Boyertown, Pa., followed.

Honor attendant for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester M. Eisenhardt, also of Oley, was Dawn Geiger. Best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hocking of Second Street was Stephen Cook.

★ ★ ★

Gowned in lace, the bride's dress featured a scoop neck and bell sleeves. She carried a cascade of roses.

The couple departed on a honeymoon trip to Bermuda following the wedding reception in their honor.

Shape Ponytail

If you'd like to wear your hair in a puffy ponytail, try putting the hair needed for the ponytail in a rubber band before setting your hair. Then wind a roller going toward the nape of the neck — Poof! A puffy ponytail!

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Self improvement snowballs and the best way to start the ball rolling is to lose any extra pounds which may be masking your lovely curves. When a woman has been overweight for a while she is very apt to lose interest in her appearance generally.

It all seems sort of hopeless. She has little zest for a new hairdo, new clothes, or experimentation with makeup.

But once her silhouette begins to emerge from bulges and layers of fat and her clothes begin to require alterations in the right direction, her attitude changes. This is only natural. She gets a glimpse of the way she can look if she perserveres.

★ ★ ★

Many women make the mistake of thinking, "As soon as I reach my goal and am just the right weight, then I will get a new hairdo and try some new makeup and new makeup techniques. Why not do this just as soon as you have lost enough weight to see the difference?

★ ★ ★

If you take advantage of the improvement to look as attractive as possible, it will encourage you to continue with your calorie counting until you reach your goal.

FOR ROUND FACE

Today I will tell you how to use cosmetics to make a fat or round face appear slimmer. You can do this while you are losing weight. Also, some women have a full face even when they are the correct weight.

These are the things to remember. As I have often said, the darker shades are slimming and the lighter ones highlight the area to which they are applied. Before doing any contouring, apply a moisturizer, followed by your usual foundation. This should match your skin tone.

However you may wish to improve on nature. If your complexion is sallow choose a base which has some pink in it. If it is too florid buy one which has some beige. Very soft greens also mask extreme ruddiness.

★ ★ ★

Now you are ready for the slimming job. Apply a darker shade of powder, liquid or cream, from the cheekbones down the jawline toward the outer edges of the face. Blend carefully so that there is no line of demarcation.

★ ★ ★

The brows should have a fairly high arch. Eyeliner should sweep up a bit at the outer corners of the eyes. The lower and upper lips should be rather full at the center. Try these tricks and see what a difference they can make!

MSU Experts Study 'Measles' That Infect Apple Trees

EAST LANSING (AP) — Apple trees can get "the measles."

The nutritional disorder, professionally referred to as "internal bark neucrosis," affects a small number of Michigan's apple orchards, mostly those of the delicious variety.

★ ★ ★

"It is a major problem when the grower finds it," says Timothy Crocker, a Michigan State University gratiuate student, who, with horticulturist A. L. Kenworthy, has been studying the disease for the past three years.

★ ★ ★

"When a grower plants an orchard and it gets the measles, the whole orchard dies or it's very slow in getting started," Crocker explains. "Where it is prevalent you can hardly establish and orchard of delicious."

The disease involves death of bark tissue — with a swelling under the bark.

★ ★ ★

The swellings are about the size of a pinhead when they first appear, then grow to pencil-point diameter. The little swellings cluster together so there is a "rash of bumps" that look like measles on people.

FOOD FLOW STOPPED

Eventually the bumps become so numerous they completely girdle the limb and prevent the movement of plant food—carbohydrates and water — that flow down from the leaves into the limbs, Crocker explains.

When that happens, the tree usually is lost.

Crocker says the makeup of soil in which the tree is planted and the management of that soil by the tree cause the measles.

★ ★ ★

Scientists had suspected that the nutritional disorder was caused by heavy metals, excesses of cobalt, aluminum, copper, iron or manganese, or a deficiency of boron.

Crocker tried these in experiments and provoked measles with excesses of manganese and deficiencies of boron. That information puts MSU scientists in a somewhat better position to diagnose potential measles cases before they get started, experts say.

CAN BE 'CURED'

The disease generally can be "cured," if it's caught in time. Scientists recommend lime applications at planting time to control the problem, applications of lime slurry (a mixture of lime and water) or "injections" of lime into the soil around the tree.

Growers can mix about 20 pounds of hydrated lime with 100 gallons of water and put the solution in a sprayer, Crocker says. "Then instead of spray guns, they use a pipe and put that into the ground. The mixture goes through the soil and can help control the problem."

★ ★ ★

Michigan and Ohio apple trees appear to suffer from the same type of "apple measles," Crocker says.

But in other states, the disease seems to take on more the appearance of "chicken pox." Larger areas on the trees are affected.

Group of Teen Scientists to Add Facilities

SUMMER ISLAND, Mich. (UPI) — A group of teen-age scientists will arrive this week on this small island, three miles north of Fairport, off the far western tip of the Upper Peninsula, to start building a $60,000 lodge and dining hall for their Lake Michigan laboratory.

Adult organizers of the laboratory-camp each spring recruit high school students dedicated to a scientific discipline and take them to the island for a summer of study with experts in their own fields.

★ ★ ★

"The camp is designed to fulfill a need we saw to encourage teen-agers to follow their own scientific star," said Barton R. Burkhalter, chairman and treasurer for the camp and chief executive director of the Community Services Foundation in Ann Arbor.

★ ★ ★

"This is an opportunity for them to see and do what a scientist actually does," he said.

KRESGE GRANT

A grant from the Kresge Foundation will provide for the group on the island. It will have lecture rooms, space for seminar groups and dining facilities.

★ ★ ★

The camp started its first year with 20 students in 1967, increased to 30 last year and now has grown to 60 students. The new building will allow the summer camp to provide facilities for 100 students.

Pile Treatment Works Wonders For California Couple

Treatment Shrinks Piles, Relieves Pain In Most Cases

Sacramento, Cal. Mrs. C. Arnold of this city reports: "I can't contain myself any longer to write you about wonderful Preparation H for hemorrhoids. My husband has also been using same and it's doing wonders for him."

(Note: Doctors have proved in most cases—Preparation H® actually shrinks inflamed hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from pain, burning and itching. Then swelling is gently reduced.

There's no other formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates to make bowel movements more comfortable, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.)

Film Code Reflects Times in Easing Word Curbs

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Thirty years ago, film audiences were startled to hear Rhett Butler's response to Scarlett O'Hara's query of what would happen to her if he left her.

Clark Gable as Rhett turned to Vivien Leigh and snapped, "Frankly my dear, I don't give a damn."

THOMAS

The line caused a furor in Hollywood because movie czar Will Hays allowed no such language in movies. Producer David O. Selznick argued that the millions who had read "Gone With the Wind" would ridicule the film industry if a watered-down version of the famous line were used. Hays relented, but Selznick had to pay a $5,000 fine for violating the Production Code.

When audiences see "Gone with the Wind" today, Gable's line causes nary a ripple. the "damn" seems utterly tame by the language of current movies. It's conceivable that Rhett Butler would have blushed at some of the dialogue in the new films.

BANNED WORDS

In the past three years, words that were once specifically banned by the Production Code have become commonplace on the screen.

The past year has brought two four-letter words for toilet functions out of the locker room and into the movie theaters. Next: the common words for fornication, perversion and genitalia.

Such words are used in underground movies and were heard in the independently made "Ulysses," the text being taken directly from James Joyce's original novel.

Now a film made for release by a major company will feature such words. It is "Medium Cool," a drama based on the Chicago riots during the Democratic National Convention last year. Paramount is releasing the film, which has received an X rating (children under 18 not admitted) by the Industry's Production and Rating Code.

* * *

The Code's new administrator, Gene Dougherty, was asked what the industry's policy is for strong language.

"There is no quick rule of thumb," he replied. "I try to avoid any hard-and-fast rules, because as soon as I made them, I would probably have some reason to break them.

"For instance, I never expected I would approve 'son of a bitch' in any picture rated G for general audiences. Yet I did that for 'True Grit.'

He added that "Medium Cool" was classified X not only for its language but because of "a scene of nudity in a sex-oriented situation."

Said Dougherty: "We take a long, hard look at any film that contains vulgar language. Our evaluation is strictly on a qualitative, not a quantitative basis, and we don't arrive at our judgments in a whimsical or capricious manner. Each case is based on its own merits.

"Movies reflect the world we live in; they don't create it. Movies didn't invent hippies or adultery; such things exist, and movies are made about them.

MORE OUTSPOKEN

"Certainly films are more outspoken than they used to be, because they reflect the natural progression of social mores. When I was a boy, kids only smoked cigarettes they stole from their fathers' pockets; now they smoke other things as well. Nowadays there is real concern about venereal disease in grammar school and prostitution in junior high school.

"That's how times change, and films must change with the times. It's unreasonable to believe that movies should maintain a pristine purity."

Alaskan Temperatures Have Their Ups, Downs

By National Geographic Society

WASHINGTON — No one ever said Alaskan weather was ideal, but some of its extremes are fantastic.

Temperatures often border on the unbelievable, Bern Keating writes in the new book "Alaska." In the same year, for example, Fort Yukon registered both 100 above and 71 below zero.

* * *

Fortunately for many Alaskans, nature is kinder to the 49th state's biggest city, Anchorage.

"Only occasionally do Anchorage winter nights bring temperatures colder than —20 degrees F., and seldom does the summer sun push the thermometer past the 75-degree mark," Keating says.

To gather material for the book, the author and photographer George F. Mobley traveled on everything from airplane to walrus-skin umiak.

"On the surface I traveled hundreds of miles by snowmobile and dogsled, by freighter-ferry through the southeast's fjords and by Eskimo skin boat through rapidly forming Bering Sea ice that soon would stop boat travel for the winter," Keating recalls.

Junior Editors Quiz on KNIGHTS

QUESTION: Why did the knights of yesteryear use round tables?

* * *

ANSWER: Not all of them did; there are many pictures of kings and knights dining at rectangular tables. We think of knights and round tables together because of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table.

The King Arthur story is mainly a legend, filled with magic and impossible deeds. But many historians think these folk tales were built around an actual historic person.

When the Roman Empire collapsed in the 400s, they say, the Roman soldiers who had been occupying England were suddenly withdrawn. Roman rule had represented order; now all was chaos.

But it is thought that a general of the Britons, who had been head man under the Roman rule, became king after the Romans left. He gathered fighting knights around him to restore order. This may have been the King Arthur of the legends.

We usually think of Arthur's knights as being heavily plated in armor, as in the lower picture; but actually such knights were of a later period. Arthur's knight would have probably been more like the knight in the circle.

Was the Round Table a legend? Perhaps not — such a table might have been round so all the knights would be equally placed and no jealousy would arise.

Suspect in Jail, but Questions About Killings Linger

By DAVID SMOTHERS

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—You walk in the rain on the spacious campus of the University of Michigan and you think of how it always happens in the rain. The bodies are always found in the rain.

It is just a summer shower and soon the sun will come out and the place will look like the set for one of those campus musicals MGM used to put out in the 1940s—something starring Peter Lawford and June Allyson, perhaps. Or a Hitchcock fingernail biter: terror behind the ivy walls.

* * *

The latter comparison is more apt.

Seven young women in the twin university communities of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti have been found murdered in the rain within the past two years. Now John Norman Collins, a boyish, 22-year-old senior at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, is in the Washtenaw County Jail in Ann Arbor charged with the latest of the slayings.

HAUNTING QUESTIONS

But the questions haunting Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti have not been laid to rest:

● If Collins is the killer of one, is he the killer of them all?

* * *

"We will be checking him out regarding other crimes," Prosecutor William F. Delhey said. Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey said, "I'm a little relieved, but we have six other murders that we have to solve and we won't quit until they are."

● If Collins is not a multiple killer, is their another still at large? Or more than one?

* * *

Actually, an eighth young woman was killed in this two-year span—just last July 5. But when police charged a man in that killing they ruled him out as a suspect in the others. And another murder followed.

* * *

● If there is a multple killer of women in prison or at large in Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti, how did he pick and lure his victims?

* * *

The methods of murder have varied. The victims have been stabbed, strangled, bludgeoned, raped, mutilated and tortured. But there are frightening similarities.

SENSIBLE SORTS

By and large, they were level-headed, sensible sorts. Yet they seem to have gone willingly with their killer. They were, for the most part, brown-haired and slender. And their bodies were found on a rainy day or night in a 15-mile triangle of thick woods, rolling hills and fine homes.

* * *

If the charge against Collins is to be believed, it was he who waited for Karen Sue Beineman at around noon July 23 while she bought a $19.95 hairpiece, plus $5 for styling, in a store called Wigs by Jane in downtown Ypsilanti.

KAREN SUE BEINEMAN

* * *

If the charge is to be believed, he is the 6-foot, brown-haired young man who was seen by witnesses riding off with the 18-year-old Eastern Michigan freshman clinging to his back aboard a big, chrome-laden motorcycle.

According to the scant facts and allegations released by State Police, Karen Sue was taken to the empty home of Collins' uncle in Ypsilanti and there was beaten in the face until her features could not be recognized. Then she was strangled, and her naked body was found on the evening of July 26 in a rain-soaked gully in rural Ann Arbor.

BORN IN CANADA

Until he appeared in court Friday, the facts of the young life of John Norman Collins appeared plain and innocent enough.

He was born in Windsor, Ont., in 1947, was an honor roll student at St. Clement High School in Center Line, and went to Central Michigan University until he transferred to Eastern Michigan in 1966. His major was later elementary education and he planned to enroll for his senior year this fall.

* * *

In retrospect, there are some coincidences in Collins' record. Karen Sue's boyfriend is a counselor at St. Clement. And the white Victorian rooming house where Collins has lived in Ypsilanti is across the street from the home where Joan Schell, second of the victims, lived before she was found stabbed to death July 7, 1968.

* * *

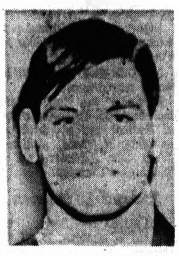
Also, Miss Schell was last seen hitching a ride in a red and white car containing three youths. The description of one of them roughly matched Collins — as it would scores of young men on the two campuses.

STATE POLICEMAN

And it happened that Collins' uncle, David Leik, is a corporal in the Michigan State Police. He and his wife had given Collins a key to their two-story colonial home so that he could feed their dog while they were on vacation in Wisconsin.

* * *

When Leik returned Wednesday, police said, he found "things not as they had been left." Collins had already been questioned and released in the case, for reasons not disclosed. His uncle's report to police led them to go after him again and to arrest him at the State Crime Laboratory at Plymouth Thursday night.



JOHN NORMAN COLLINS

The cases of the other murders are open, still mysteries. If Collins holds the secret, his manner, background, and the recollections of those who know him do not betray it.

* * *

In court Friday, his well-sideburned head sagged forward, hangdog. He seemed handsome enough but hardly the smiling charmer investigators have pictured as the man who coaxed the girls to be murdered.

NOT COCKY

There was no trace of cockiness in him. He looked like a genuinely and thoroughly scared kid.

* * *

A girl who had dated Collins in high school could not see him as the killer.

* * *

"He wasn't like that at all," Bernadette Hudak said. "He was a moody person but very inteligent, very levelheaded."

A fraternity brother who roomed with Collins for a year said, "He is one of the best friends I ever had. I wasn't suspicious at all, and I still think something is going on here. I don't think he was involved at all."

WALKING THE STREETS

This weekend, as Collins awaited a preliminary hearing next Thursday, it seemed as if Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti students and residents had forgotten how to live without fear.

Perhaps more then the others, Karen Sue's murder had shaken them. Coeds continued to walk the streets at night (after all, they said, Karen Sue was spirited off at high noon), but they left word of where they were going, with whom, and when they would be back. Parents showed up on campus, reportedly trying to get their daughters to leave.

* * *

Harried police agencies became snappish, seemingly working at cross purposes, reluctant to communicate with each other or the press until Gov. William G. Milliken put the State Police in charge at midweek.

Eastern Michigan officials imposed a sign-in sign-out program on dormitory coeds, wondering the while if it would help much.

NOT TALKATIVE

An Eastern Michigan coed said, "I don't believe there are too many left with that 'it couldn't happen to me' attitude."

A barmaid mused, "After the other killings, it was always buzz, buzz, buzz. Everybody had an idea. But now it's only outsiders who want to talk about it."

* * *

In a tavern just off the Michigan campus, the talk this week was of everything but Karen Sue — problems in the philosophy department, the last student demonstration, the latest developments in Indonesia.

* * *

Yet when the 6 o'clock news came on the television set, a burly, bearded youth said peremptorily, "Turn it up." He hurried over to do it himself. Everyone sat silent while the newscaster spoke of the search for the rain killer. When he stopped, the rumble of talk over inconsequential subjects resumed.

REMAIN TENSE

The two campuses — Eastern Michigan has lost three coeds, Michigan two — remained tense and waiting despite Collins' arrest.

Dr. Ray B. Loeschner, vice president in charge of administrative affairs at Eastern Michigan, sounded the official note of warning.

* * *

"We are hopeful that our crisis has passed," he said. "But until that is assured we recommend continued discretion . . . that our coeds continue to exercise caution and good judgment."

State Budget Fight Was Time-Consuming, Tiring

By BOB VOGES

LANSING (AP)— Other legislation might have been more controversial and received more publicity—but the battle of the budget was the most time-consuming and exhausting for the recently adjourned Michigan Legislature.

Members of the House and Senate appropriations committees started their budget planning even before the start of the year.

Conference committees worked after midnight many a night trying to settle differences between the two houses.

★ ★ ★

The last dollar was still in dispute at the adjournment deadline.

★ ★ ★

The grand total of spending for the current fiscal year will be more than $3 billion — $1.53 billion for the general fund budget and nearly a like amount to be spent from restricted funds.

NOT ADDED UP

The restricted fund figure still is not completely added up, a budget division aide added.

As a contrast, only as comparatively recently as 1952, the total state budget barely exceeded $300 million—one-tenth of the current total.

The total appropriated for the fiscal year ending July 30, 1952, was $199.91 million in general fund appropriations and $109.66 million in restricted funds.

The budget total for the current fiscal year was included in some 15 bills and substitute bills that had to be shuffled back and forth between the houses.

In 1951, the entire job was done in one single omnibus bill.

That was the last year the Legislature was able to do it the simple way, reports Art Craig, longtime legal aide for the Legislative Service Bureau.

Craig dug back through the files to produce the single budget bill as evidence.

★ ★ ★

"It was a House bill," he explained. "We had a complete table of contents down to page and line number so it was very easy to follow."

The budget bill went into painstaking detail, even listing individual salaries for various state positions.

★ ★ ★

The Senate made very few changes in the House version of the master plan for state spending during G. Mennen Williams' second term as governor.

Here and there you could see one figure crossed out and another inked in.

One job might be deleted from a particular state department. Or there would be a slight adjustment in the appropriation for a particular college.

The record showed the final Senate vote on the last single budget bill was 26-0. Some of the senators, apparently, went home early—confident those remaining could clean up any last-hour details.

Knows His Work From Top to Bottom

Michigan's No. 1 State Policeman Profiled

EAST LANSING (AP)—It is a big jump from a gas station pump jockey to boss man of Michigan State Police.

That is a capsule of the career of Col. Fredrick E. Davids, State Police director, named this week to head investigation of the seven sex slayings in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area.

★ ★ ★

Davids actually didn't make it in one step. He joined State Police as a trooper in 1937 at the age of 33 and slowly worked his way up through the ranks to the top job in the department.

"There is nothing ranker in rank than a trooper," observed one veteran State Police officer. "Davids made it the hard way."

PREVIOUS EXPERIENCE

You could say Davids had experience in communications and government service before he decided on a police career. A native of Hope in Midland County, he worked for his father at a private telephone exchange and as a substitute rural mail carrier before starting to pump gas —his last civilian job.

State Police troopers would stop in at the gas station for a fillup. They convinced Davids, now 55, he might have a future on the force.

★ ★ ★

"If he has a soft spot, it is for the troopers," observed one high-ranking officer. "He's very softhearted about the men. If a guy makes a mistake, he tries to give him another chance. And it always seems it turns out he's right."

A trooper injury will cause Davids to leave his desk, rush to the hospital to see the man and then his family.

FRESH CORN

Every now and then he will drive in with a huge load of fresh corn with orders it is to be served to rookies sweating it out through the recruit school.

Davids and his attractive wife, Kathleen, have no children. This could help explain his interest in such groups as the American Legion Boys' State and other youth organizations.

Four citations for meritorious service and more honorable mentions than you can mention helped Davids in his climb.

'GOOD INVESTIGATOR'

"He's a good criminal investigator himself," praised Joseph A. Childs, Davids' immediate predecessor. "He likes to get out in the field. That's why he was named first head of the rackets squad and then put in command of the Detroit district."

Davids received his first citation for trailing a suspect who had shot and wounded a cabdriver. Davids and another trooper broke in on the suspect at his Lansing home. The man, later convicted, surrendered although he had a cache of firearms in his room.

Davids had a knack of smelling out firebugs. Two citations came from this talent. One was for solving a rash of fires set in a housing project near Ypsilanti in 1944. The other was for proving in 1948 what appeared to be an accidental fire was arson.

Also in 1948 he received a citation for obtaining a confession in the slaying of an 8-year-old boy by a 15-year-old youth at St. Clair Shores.

COL. FREDRICK DAVIDS

Davids was appointed commissioner in 1965 by former Gov. George Romney when Childs retired.

"That shows George Romney is a good judge of people. He had a great field to pick from, but he couldn't have made a better choice," said Maj. John Brown, State Police deputy director for general staff services.

A top aide said Davids probably is proudest of the law enforcement information set up under his administration.

Some 130 police agencies throughout the state are able to get information through the network within seconds on fugitives, suspects, missing people, stolen cars and other driver data.

FIRST NEGRO

Davids also swore in Michigan's first Negro state trooper and has carried on a campaign to enlist more men from among minority groups. He also enlisted the first two women troopers.

Davids has a blunt delivery and is known in police circles as "a cop's cop." He doesn't fit the stereotype of a policeman—if there is one. He could blend in equally as well in his conventional business suit at an Elks Club meeting or a convention of hardware salesmen.

Passing Train Sparks Blasts, Ripping Town

NOEL, Mo. (AP) — "It blew the hell out of things," said Kenneth Meador.

The mystery blast shattered a 115-car Kansas City Southern freight train as it was passing through the tiny community Sunday.

* * *

Officials pieced together this report:

About 3:45 a.m. as the freight train rolled into Noel en route from Kansas City to Shreveport, La., the crew spotted a fire on one of the cars.

"They tried to get the train out of town before it blew up, but they didn't make it," said J. W. Braswell, local station agent.

There was a relatively minor first explosion.

* * *

The volunteer fire department and some other residents were rushing to the scene when a second, devastating blast occurred. The sound of the explosion was heard as far as 40 miles away.

One piece of metal ripped through a wall of Mrs. Roxa Miller's house killing the 47-year-old beauty parlor operator.

An 800-pound railroad car wheel soared three blocks and smashed into the home of Virgil Bentley, seriously injuring his wife.

Roofs caved in. Walls buckled. Main Street was carpeted with shattered glass from store fronts. More than 40 persons were injured. Pieces of shattered railroad cars were thrown half a mile. At the site of the explosion there was a hole 15 feet deep and 50 feet across in the railway roadbed.

* * *

"Practically every building in town is damaged," said Meador, who operates a gas station.

Ambulances, fire trucks, law enforcement officials and volunteers from communities in nearby Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas rushed to Noel. Most of the injured were taken to hospitals in Gravette and Bentonville, Ark.

CAUSE UNCERTAIN

Railroad officials were uncertain just what blew up. Chief suspects were cars carrying dehydrated alfalfa and ammonium perchlorate — the latter an oxidizing agent in powder form used as a propellant in munitions.

The explosion severed some pipes on a propane gas tank standing beside the tracks, and a fire ignited which began burning off escaping fumes.

Authorities feared the 12,500-gallon tank would explode and perhaps touch off two other tanks next to it.

* * *

Police ordered the town evacuated at 2 p.m. while employes of the Empire Gas Co. rigged a 2½-inch pipeline to the tank's main valve. Just before 6 p.m. they turned a valve allowing the propane to flow in liquid form through the pipe and ignited it.

The fuel billowed into a 30-foot flame, which roared harmlessly over a ditch and by 10:30 p.m. the tank was safely drained.

And through it all, vacationers and tourists kept paddling their canoes and fishing in the Elk River not half a mile away from devastated Noel.

Insurgents in Key House Committee

5 Fight Military Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — A minority of five—out to approach or better the Senate's proposed $2-billion military spending cut—is mapping a heavy assault on the defense-minded majority of the House Armed Services Committee.

The five committee members' major target is the Safeguard antimissile system, but they also want wholesale cuts in other military hardware from ships to helicopters.

* * *

Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., says he isn't worried.

"I expect we'll be in charge of the cutting," Rivers said, "and this group you're talking about won't be in charge of anything."

Rivers said he too wants cuts. But he said he will insist on a $1.4-billion increase for ships—"We'll get the ships," he said—and agreed it would be hard to find enough cuts to offset that increase.

The minority group's target is the administration's $21.96-billion military procurement authorization bill. Rivers said the group made little effort to cut the $1.58-billion military construction which the committee trimmed by $346 million two weeks ago.

"This study group didn't make one damn cut, not one," Rivers said in an interview. "They're just trying to make some headlines."

* * *

The insurgents predict Rivers and the committee will agree to heavy cuts—particularly since the military has already agreed to many of the $3 billion worth of cuts proposed by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

"There is little point in the chairman's trying to shove (the money) down their throats," said Rep. Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., one of the minority members.

100 VOTES FOR CUTS

"In previous years the committee has given the military more than it asked for," Nedzi said. "But this is not that kind of year."

Nedzi, although not optimistic the full House will approve any cuts beyond those made in committee, said there may be as many as 100 votes for military spending cuts—compared to from 15 to 30 votes in past years.

* * *

Even so, the five minority members plan to take their fight to the floor after first trying to make the cuts when the committee marks up the procurement bill, possibly next week.

Besides Nedzi, the insurgents are Democrats Otis S. Pike of New York and Robert L. Leggett of California and Republicans Robert T. Stafford of Vermont and Charles W. Whalen Jr. of Ohio.

* * *

They have been meeting for weeks and have a tentative list of project cuts but have made no final decisions.

Cheating Firm Loses Contracts in Bidding

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has taken its rocket-launcher business away from a St. Louis firm which cheated the government on previous contracts. New contracts with other companies will save as much as 38 per cent of previous costs.

Nine contracts for more than a quarter million 2.75-inch rocket launchers were awarded by the Navy from July 1963 through July 1968 to Chromcraft Corp. of St. Louis, which became Techfab Division of Alsco Inc. when the two companies merged in 1966. The awards were granted on a sole source basis—that is without competitive bidding.

New contracts awarded to Varo Inc. of Garland, Tex., for 54,000 launchers and Talley Industries of Mesa, Ariz., for 59,041 launchers were let through competitive bidding, and the price came tumbling down.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., long a critic of the Defense Department's sole-source procurement, applauded the new launcher contracts.

REASON FOR WASTE

His congressional investigations have found. Proxmire said in a statement, "that a major—perhaps the principal—reason for defense waste is the lack of competitive bidding in filling most defense contracts.

* * *

"Only 11 per cent of all defense contracting is done through advertised, competitive bidding. Yet the facts show that competition in bidding could cut costs from 25 to 50 per cent," Proxmire said.

* * *

On the first seven contracts to Chromcraft-Techfab, where final prices have been determined, the cost per launcher ranged from a high of $179 down to $158, according to Navy figures. Prices on the last two contracts have yet to be determined.

The unit price of the Varo launchers will be $129 and the Talley launchers $130. The Talley price is $28 less than the lowest final price ever received by Chromcraft-Techfab.

TWICE INDICTED

Last year, Alsco and several individuals were twice indicted by federal grand juries, once in Washington on charges they created phantom suppliers and received kickbacks on launcher contracts, and once in St. Louis on charges of illegally exporting arms to Belgium.

Alsco pleaded guilty on May 5 to submitting false statements to the government in support of $14.7 million in launcher contracts. On May 22, a guilty plea was entered on the illegal exportation charge.

The Associated Press disclosed last July that Techfab had received a new launcher contract from the Navy while one of the grand jury investigations was in progress. Even after the Washington indictment was returned, the Navy said Techfab would keep the contract.

The award was justified by the Navy through "urgent need" for the launchers in Vietnam. Because Techfab owned the plans and specifications for the launchers, the time it would take to create new suppliers was prohibitive, the Navy said.

* * *

In late September, the Navy quietly backed down and announced that competitive bids were being sought on new launcher contracts. The awards were made early this year, although no deliveries have been made and the final success of the new contracts depends on on-time deliveries.

Goodrich Denies Falsifying Brake Tests for AF Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — B. F. Goodrich Co., accused by the Government Accounting Office of falsifying test reports to hide flaws, says there is no factual basis for criticism of testing procedures or qualifications of its brake in use on the new Air Force A7D attack plane.

GAO, Congress' watchdog over executive-branch spending, charged Sunday that Goodrich had altered data in tests of the ability of the brake to make aborted takeoff stops and overload halts. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said the "deviation resulted in a grave risk to human life."

A spokesman for Goodrich, one of the nation's biggest corporations, replied: "Final qualification of the BFG brake currently in use on the A7D was performed in the presence of engineers representing the aircraft manufacturers, the Air Force and BFG. These qualified brakes have performed completely satisfactorily in every detail on the airplane."

Proxmire called for the investigation after he was contacted by a design engineer involved with research on the brakes and by a technical writer who reported he was ordered by his Goodrich superiors to write false qualification reports.

Proxmire said the investigation raised serious ethical questions about Goodrich and doubts about quality-control activities of the government in contracts with private industry.

In April, Goodrich got a $90,246 contract to make 267 brake assemblies at its wheel and brake plant in Troy, Ohio. The order was subcontracted from the aeronautics division of Ling-Temco-Vought, which is producing 74 of the light attack planes that cost $1.2 million each.

The Air Force and Ling-Temco-Vought officials generally agreed the defective brakes did not actually endanger the safety of test pilots, the GAO reported. But the Federal Aviation Administration said warping or welding of the brakes could produce blowouts, landing gear collapses, gas tank puncturing and finally fire, GAO added.

The engineer and writer witnessed a near-crash during a brake test, then decided to take their evidence to the FBI and later to Proxmire, the senator said. He added that both later resigned from the company.

Goodrich was contacted by federal authorities, the GAO said. The firm offered to, and did, replace the brake without apparent cost increase or delays in delivery or testing, the GAO added.

'U.S. Interested in China Talks'

Rogers: Still Against Allowing U.N. Entry

HONG KONG (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Sunday night the United States has no plans to abandon its opposition to Red China's admission to the United Nations even though it is "very interested" in talking with Peking.

* * *

Arriving for a two-day "rest stop" after a series of conferences in Japan, South Korea and Formosa, Rogers said:

"We are definitely interested in having (Communist) China take part in world affairs. We realize there are tensions in the world and we want to talk to the people who are causing them."

But he added that the Nixon administration has no plans to change the U.S. position that Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists are the rightful holders of the Chinese seat in the United Nations.

TRADE, ATTACKS

Rogers said his government is interested in talking with Peking's representatives about "matters of trade and matters of their attacks on the rest of the world."

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — 48 seasoned teachers a lesson in single-stage model rocketry.

Scotty, who will be a sixth grader this fall, gave a lecture and advised his students Wednesday as each one built a Scotty's father, Dr. Chris Buethe, instructor for NMSU's first graduate course in "aerospace education," said his son is one of about 15 "resource persons" for the class. The others are adults.

* * *

Scotty has an IQ — intelligence quotient — of "over 140."

DESIGNS OWN PARTS

He started building model rockets from commercial sets about a year ago.

* * *

"He now has gotten to the stage where he studies the specifications of the parts and has started designing some of his own to get a little better performance," said his father.

* * *

Scotty wasn't awed by teaching a college class. It was fun, he said later.

* * *

But his father said the boy had his notes prepared more than a month in advance and was so excited the day of the lecture that he forgot a box of rocket parts. His mother had to bring them to him in class.

STUDENTS' RESPONSE

His students, 42 of them women, were attentive and impressed. Mrs. Eda Baird, a fifth grade teacher, said Scott "accomplished more than an adult."

The top student in the class was Mrs. Robert Murphy, who will be Scott's science teacher next fall.

Welfare Unit Data Sorted by Computer

DETROIT (AP)—Information on some 26,000 mentally retarded children and adults in the Detroit metropolitan area has been turned over to a Burroughs B-5500 computer.

It's supposed to keep track of them and remember what services each individual is receiving.

If the experimental project works, it may revolutionize social service and welfare administration in the area.

* * *

The project is being sponsored by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Michigan Department of Mental Health, and the State Interagency Cadre on Mental Retardation.

The computer project was started after cadre members discovered that no one in the state really knew what programs were available.

The purpose of the computer is to match the needs of each individual with the available programs.

If it is successful, officials say, the approach could be extended to cover other areas of social welfare.

Sen. Hart's ABM Stand Is Called Inconsistent

LANSING (AP) — A Republican member of the State Board of Education today contended Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., has shown inconsistency in his stand on the antiballistic missile system.

Prof. Leroy Augenstein, of the Michigan State University biophysics department, said at a news conference that the ABM issue "is one which should be removed from partisan politics and one in which our office-holders should not confuse us by their actions."

* * *

"That's why I can't understand the contradictions in Sen. Hart's position over the years," he said.

Augenstein said that for 10 years Hart supported the development of an arms system and voted to start the Nike-Zeus program with a $13-billion price tag even though the secretary of defense said it probably wouldn't work.

COST QUESTION

"Today, he and his group claim President Nixon's program costs too much even though it would cost less than one-half of what Nike-Zeus would have cost," Augenstein said.

"And the President has promised yearly reassessments to determine how much should be spent or even whether we should deploy the system."

* * *

"All of us want to know how Sen. Hart can justify this abrupt about face. Is it in the best interests of the country or just politics?" Augenstein asked.

Gary Balliet Repeats as Publinx Champ

By FLETCHER SPEARS

SAGINAW — One Balliet a day in competitive golf is tough enough. Two of them is one too many, reasons Ray Kafarski of Birmingham.

The 36-year-old Kafarski took on both Tom Balliet and his son, Gary, of Rochester in the Michigan Publinx Match Play Tournament yesterday beating one but bowing to the other in the championship match.

Kafarski outdueled Tom, 44, a general foreman at Pontiac Motors, 1-up in a match that went 20 holes, but he succumbed to 19-year-old Gary in the afternoon, 5 and 4.

HELP! DAD

"Hey dad, if you can't beat him then at least tire him out," Gary yelled to his dad as he and Kafarski went into their overtime semifinal match.

* * *

"I was really more nervous watching dad in the playoff than in my own match," said Gary, who won the title for the second time in a row on the tree-lined Green Acres Golf Course.

TURNS CADDY

A short putt that failed to drop on the second hole of the playoff sent Tom to the sidelines so he toted Gary's clubs for the afternoon finale.

* * *

The long-hitting Gary, a sophomore at University of Michigan, grabbed an early lead against Kafarski, refused to bend in a couple of pressure situations and retained his crown when his opponent three-putted the par-3 14th.

'HE PUTTED WELL'

"I don't think I putted badly. More, it was just the way he (Gary) was putting," said Kafarski of his final round.

Gary putted well, using only 10 strokes with the putter on the first nine holes. He won No. 1 with a par, rolled in a seven-foot birdie to go two up at No. 3 and made it three-up by parring No. 9 when Karafski missed the green.

GOES 4-UP

After a booming tee shot at the 433-yard 13th, Gary hit the green but the ball trickled off the crowned green to the right. Kafarski, meanwhile, stymied by trees, reached the green in four but two-putted for a double-bogey. Gary made par and went four-up.

* * *

Both hit the par-3 14th, Gary about 40 feet from the cup and Karfarski about 12 feet. Gary rolled in his second putt for a par but Kafarski missed an 18-incher that brought the match to an end.

* * *

"If you want a turning point it was his putts at No. 7 and No. 11," offered Kafarski.

MAKES CRUCIAL PUTTS

Gary rolled in a 40-footer at the par-5, No. 7 to halve the hole and he knocked in an 18-footer at No. 11 to halve that one. Kafarski shook his head in amazement.

Horton Optimistic Despite AL Race

DETROIT (AP) — Willie Horton is an eternal optimist about Detroit's chances of repeating as American League champions.

And in order to restore a little optimism into the 21,001 fans at Tiger Stadium Sunday, Horton hit a grand slam home run in the bottom of the ninth inning to give Detroit a 6-2 win over the Chicago White Sox.

* * *

"Personally, I can't say we'll be out of it even if we're 15 games back—not until we have less than 15 games to play," he said, referring to Baltimore's 15-game lead at gametime over the Tigers in the AL's East Division.

Willie's homer was a dramatic ending to a game that almost slipped away from Detroit. The victory gave the Bengals two wins in the three-game series against Chicago and sent the White Sox to their 11th loss in the last 13 games.

TWINS NEXT

Detroit was scheduled to open a four-game home series against Minnesota with a makeup game tonight. Mike Kilkenny, 1-1, was expected to make his second start for the Tigers, while Dick Woodson, 6-4, or Bob Miller, 3-4, was the probable Twins' starter.

Horton's homer, his second grand slammer this year and third of his career, was his 15th home run of the year and pushed his run-batted-in total to 56. The drive came off veteran reliever Dan Osinski, now 3-5.

"He hit a pitch that wasn't even a strike," moaned Chicago manager Don Gutteridge. "It must have been a foot outside. We'd been getting him out all day on that pitch."

* * *

Osinski had loaded the bases in the inning on a bunt single by Mickey Stanley, a fielder's choice, an error by second baseman Bobby Knoop and an intentional pass to Norm Cash. At that point Gutteridge strolled to the mound.

"He was pitching good," he said of Osinski. "I had no intention of taking him out then. I just wanted to give him a breather."

CALL FOR RELIEF

Earl Wilson started for Detroit and appeared headed for his fifth straight victory and seventh in succession over Chicago since 1967. But the White Sox rallied for a run in the seventh inning and Manager Mayo Smith decided to send in John Hiller to relieve.

In the next inning Luis Aparicio belted his third homer of the year and second in the last two games to tie the score 2-2.

Detroit led 1-0 in the second against starter Joe Horlen when Cash doubled. Jim Price singled, and Tom Matchick hit into a force out to score Cash.

Price made it 2-0 with a homer in the sixth that just cleared the leftfield fence at the foul line. It was his ninth.

Singles by Gil Hopkins and Buddy Bradford around a walk filled the bases for the Sox in the seventh before Knoop's force out delivered the initial Chicago run.

The victory went to Don McMahon, who almost blew it by loading the bases on walks in the ninth. His record is now 3-5.

Gaylord Stops Walled Lake in Little League

Southpaw Rex Clute flipped a one-hitter and fanned 11 Saturday in Jackson to lead Gaylord to a 4-0 victory over Walled Lake in the state Little League championship.

The victory boosts Gaylord into the regional playoffs next Saturday in Angola, Ind.

Ken Ames backed Clute's pitching with a solo homer in the sixth. Walled Lake's lone safety was a single by Ted Williams.

In a consolation game, Grosse Pointe North blanked Ypsilanti, 5-0.

Waterford '9' in State Meet

With a regional championship in hand, Waterford now goes looking for a state title this week in an American Legion tournament at Midland.

* * *

The action opens Friday at Midland for Waterford and five other regional champions who were crowned Saturday.

* * *

Waterford earned a berth with a victry at Owosso by beating the host team two out of three.

WINS OPENER

After downing Mount Clemens in its opener Thursday, 14-2, Waterford lost to Owosso Friday, 12-3, but came back to whip Owosso on Saturday, 6-2, and yesterday, 6-5.

* * *

Steve Goit was the big gun for the winners with five hits in 11 trips to the plate in the series. Mike Murphy, Mike Sheldon, Frank Ballard and Bob Earl all collected four hits apiece. Dennis Wooster and Mike Harkey shared pitching honors and both were in yesterday's clincher.

Reabe Adds Jaycee Crown

Kevin Reabe of Waterford Kettering showed his heels to pursuers in claiming a couple of track championships over the weekend.

The speedy Kettering ace raced around the track in Minneapolis, Minn., on Saturday in 1:52.4—his best time ever—to win the National Jaycee 880 championship.

And in the National AAU Regional championships at Terre Haute, Ind., yesterday, Reabe was timed in 1:54.9 in winning the 880 and qualifying for the National AAU finals at San Diego, Calif., later this month.

Another Michigan winner at Minneapolis was John Morrison of Redford Union who claimed the high hurdles with a 13.8 clocking.

Morrison also won in the AAU at Terre Haute along with Mike Shepard of Ferndale, who was clocked at 9.9 in the 100-yard dash.

Graebner Has Career of Finishing No. 2

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. (AP) — Clark Graebner, who like Avis has made a career of being No. 2, says there's no jinx on him in the Eastern Grass Courts Tennis Championships.

The 25-year-old New Yorker finished second in the tourney for the fourth straight year Sunday, losing to third-seeded Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Hydro Racer Has 'Watchful' Eye

SEATTLE (AP) — Bill Sterett kept one eye on his watch and the other on the starting line here yesterday and earned first place in the Centennial Seafair unlimited hydroplane race.

* * *

Driving Miss Budweiser, Sterett won his two preliminary heats then timed the start of the finals by watching his chronometer. The three other boats — Miss U.S., Myr's Special and Notre Dame — jumped the starter's gun and had to go six laps.

* * *

Sterett, from Owensboro, Ky., cruised around the required five laps to win the race and jump into first place in the national unlimited standings.

Twin Blasts Streak

Had to Get It Over---McNally

By the Associated Press

Dave McNally, pulled out of numerous corners by his teammates during his 17-game winning streak, backed himself into one too many this time, and couldn't get out.

"I had myself in a jam where I had to get the pitch over," said the Baltimore right-hander. "It wasn't a case of wanting to get it over. I had to get it over."

* * *

McNally threw his fastball on the 3-2 pitch, got it over and pinch-hitter Rich Reese belted his first grand slam home run with two out in the seventh inning Sunday, giving Minnesota a 5-2 victory over the Orioles and McNally.

"I've pitched a lot worse games and won during the stretch," McNally said, managing a weak smile. "I've left six or seven games when I was behind and the club got me out of it. I shouldn't have gotten myself behind Reese."

ONE SHOT

The loss was McNally's first after 15 victories this season and 17 in a row over two years.

Both streaks were one short of American League records for consecutive victories at the start of a season and over two seasons. The 15 also was one short of tying the mark for successive triumphs in one season.

Reese's belt was the most significant of three grand slams hit in the American League Sunday, although Detroit and Oakland wouldn't agree.

* * *

Willie Horton's second slam of the season and third of his career broke a 2-2 deadlock in the ninth inning and gave the Tigers a 6-2 victory over Chicago, and Danny Cater's slam helped Oakland to a 10-7 decision over Boston in the opener of their twinbill. The Red Sox gained a split with a 3-2 victory in the nightcap.

* * *

In other games, California nipped Washington 3-2 in 11 innings, the New York Yankees trimmed Seattle 5-3, and Kansas City tripped Cleveland 3-2.

Baltimore had given McNally a run in the fourth inning when Merv Rettenmund, a replacement for Frank Robinson, who was ejected in the first with Manager Earl Weaver for arguing a strike call, scored on a double play.

BASES LOADED

McNally was breezing along with a two-hitter for 6 2-3 innings when Leo Cardenas beat out a hit and Frank Quilici singled. Rick Renick walked to load the bases and Reese batted for winner Jim Kaat, 11-7, and hit his 11th homer over the left field fence, an opposite field blast, for a 4-1 lead.

* * *

Cater's clout and a two-run blast by Sal Bando had put Oakland ahead 6-5 before Mike Andrews put Boston in front again with a two-run single in the sixth. Ramon Webster then singled in two for the A's in the seventh.

Sparky Lyle retired Webster for the final out in the nightcap after Oakland had scored twice in the ninth on a ground out and Cater's single following hits by Ted Kubiak and Reggie Jackson, who walked seven times in the twinbill.

* * *

Andrews singled in the decisive run in the fifth inning for Boston after Rico Petrocelli hit his 28th homer in the fourth.

Bubba Morton tripled to open the 11th for California and, after two intentional walks, pinch-hitter Billy Cowan blooped the winning hit.

* * *

The Angels had tied the score with two out in the ninth when Sandy Alomar's single was booted by centerfielder Del Unser, allowing a run to score after Mike Epstein's 22nd homer had put the Senators ahead 2-1 in the eighth.

* * *

The Yankees scored five times in the first inning as Bill Robinson and Gene Michael each drove in two runs, and Wally Bunker, 6-8, singled in a decisive seventh inning run and pitched a four-hitter for Kansas City.

PAY DIRT AHEAD — Bobby Brown (33), Pontiac halfback, shakes loose for a 22-yard touchdown run in the third quarter against the Grand Rapids Chiefs Saturday night at Wisner Stadium. The Firebirds won the MFL season opener, 36-6. Defensive back of the Chiefs, Gene Roberts is on the left.

After the opening game of the season, the Pontiac Firebirds stand alone atop the Central Division of the Midwest Football League.

Before a screaming crowd of 4,200, largest opening day in Pontiac's five-year history in the MFL, the Firebirds whipped a strong but a tired Grand Rapids team, 36-6 Saturday night.

All the other teams in the Central Division lost to foes in the Lakes' Division; Lackawanna blasting Lansing 37-6, Dayton whipping Detroit, 39-0 and Southwest Michigan (Benton Harbor-St. Joe) surprising Flint, 3-0.

Next Saturday afternoon the Firebirds travel to meet the powerful Lackawanna Lancers in televised game in the Buffalo area.

PONTIAC DEPTH

Grand Rapids was a rough foe for three periods, but a couple big breaks and the Firebirds' depth soon made the difference.

The play that broke the game open in the third quarter was a touchdown "walk" by end Ron Bemis, former Royal Oak Kimball grid star.

* * *

Ed McQueen made good on a 31 yard field goal attempt, however, an offside penalty nullified it. On the second attempt, the field goal was blocked by a Grand Rapids player.

The ball stayed behind the line of scrimmage and most of the players on both teams, assuming it was fourth down and the Chiefs' ball, stood gaping as the ball rolled around.

Bemis casually picked it up and with a half walk and half jog he crossed the goal line 26 yards away. The official signalled a touchdown and ruled that it was a free ball. Had it crossed the line of scrimmage it would have been Grand Rapids ball.

But the score, with McQueen's placement, made it 21-6 and cracked the game wide open.

RECOVER FUMBLE

The Firebirds kicked off and capitalized on a break when big Dan La Rose smeared quarterback Pete Jacobus for a loss, causing him to fumble on the 31.

A 4th down pass to Mickey Blazitz by quarterback Doug Holcomb put the ball on the two from where Bobby Brown went over.

The Chiefs, with a strong running attack, got the break back when a 22 yard interference call put the ball on the Pontiac 15. A fake field goal play was set up.

* * *

It was actually a fake fumble. The snap for the field goal, rolled back to Jacobus, the holder and the Firebirds figuring it was a fumble raced in on the ball, also faking in the deep men. Jacobus picked up the ball and passed to Tim Ripmaster for a 22 yard TD. The kick failed on a bad snap.

Just before the half ended, Marty Malatin took a handoff from Holcomb and hit Bemis with a 43 yard TD play to give Pontiac a 14-6 lead until the TD "walk" by Bemis.

* * *

The Chiefs threatened several times but a sturdy Pontiac defense led by big Joe Carter, 6-5 and 290 pounds, stopped the drives inside the 20 twice.

Late in the third period, Bobby Brown raced 22 yards for a touchdown after Mike Cunningham recovered a fumble on the 22.

FINAL TOUCHDOWN

The final tally came with 2:00 left in the game when Walt Lyzak picked up a fumble and ran 40 yards for the touchdown. McQueen, trapped trying to get off his kick, picked up the ball and passed to Tom Grunder for the two point conversion.

The crowd hooted as big Buster Mathis entered the game on 11 plays most on kick returns. He returned a kick once, fumbled it but recovered.

He also went in for blocking duty on two occasions. The former Olympic boxing champion who fought at 300 pounds weighed 245 according to the Grand Rapids roster, but looked closer to 265 in uniform.

* * *

Saturday's game at Lackawanna is being billed as a preview of the MFL championship as both teams are considered the favorites in their respective divisions.

The following weekend, Lansing, with a host of former Michigan State players and several who played with Pontiac last year, including back Tom Eifert, will visit Wisner Stadium.

Season tickets for remaining six games are still available by calling the Pontiac Football Company at FE 5-4201.

WHOOPING IT UP—Heavyweight boxer Buster Mathis had little to cheer about Saturday night in his new endeavor. Playing with the Grand Rapids Chiefs against the Pontiac Firebirds, Mathis got into the game for 11 plays, seven on kick return teams. Listed in the program as 245 pounds, Mathis did a lot of cheering from the bench, but it was in vain as the Firebirds won before 4,200 fans at Wisner Stadium.

Two Tennis Titles Decided

Birmingham players claimed a couple more Oakland Tennis Tournament Championships over the weekend leaving only titles in two divisions to be determined in the rain-plagued event.

C. Reid Rundell, 36, and doubles partner Jim Tobin, 49, both of Birmingham collected the title in that event yesterday with a 6-2, 6-1 victory over another Birmingham twosome — Paul Young and Doug Dahn.

REACHES FINALS

Young, 30, and Dahn, 29, had reached the finals with Ian Wilson, 55, and Bob Neff, 40, in a three-setter, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1.

* * *

ANOTHER WIN

Tobin, attorney, teamed with his daughter, Melanie, 18, to take the mixed doubles with an 0-6, 6-2, 6-4 triumph over Rundell and Betty Trost.

* * *

Rundell moved up in senior singles, however, with a 6-2, 6-2 decision over Neff and he'll take on Wilson in the finale of that event tomorrow at 9 a.m. at Cranbrook.

Other than senior singles, the remaining event to be settled is the junior singles and that one is scheduled for next Sunday at Oakland University.

Two Ballets Too Much for Publinx Golfer

"I'm thankful I got this far," said the handsome, dark-haired Kafarski, a manufacturer's representative for a metal plating firm. Gary echoed the sentiment. "I'm real fortunate," he said.

LONG ROAD

They were the two survivors from a field of 238 that started play here in qualifying rounds last Tuesday and then moved to seven rounds of match play.

* * *

Gary won last year at Tyrone Hills near Fenton. "I was more keyed up then," he said of the '68 win. "I figured here, 'What have I got to lose?' I've won it once so what the heck. I never played it safe at all here."

EARNS WOODS

"He's (Gary) gotta be good with a daddy like Tom," mused Kafarski. For his runner-up finish — his best in six tries at the match title — Kafarski was given a set of woods. "The way I hit my woods today Tex (Ellison, tournament chairman) must have figured I needed some new ones," he said.

* * *

Kafarski and his wife, Lois, have three children — Jay, 10, Jamie, 5, and Jodie, 2½. "And watch out," said Kafarski to Tom. "After sending your boy against me I'm going to bring Jody back here in a few years and let him beat you," he laughed.

WHIPS TEAMMATE

En route to the title, Balliet knocked off a U. of M. teammate on Saturday and disposed of a former champion in his morning match yesterday.

* * *

Rod Sumpter, 22, No. 1 man on U. of M.'s team this year, fell victim to Balliet's game on Saturday, 2 up, while Lee Gohs, 60, of Redford Township, the 1963 champion, was ousted by Gary in yesterday's semifinal, 6 and 4.

The victory earned Balliet a spot in the 1970 Michigan Open. He's passing up this year's Open in which he had earned a berth with last year's Publinx win. Why? "I have to work," he replied.

Team Pushes Luck Too Far

Midget Bar and Lighthouse Lanes knew when to stop but Day's Sanitary Service pushed its luck too far Sunday in the Waterford Township Fastpitch Softball playoffs.

Five unearned runs carried Midget Bar to a 7-3 conquest of Milbut Industries; while Lighthouse Lanes registered six gift tallies in downing Weedon Construction, 6-1.

Day's topped Timberlanes Lounge, 3-0, with a three-run spree in the sixth inning, but sanitary service squad then tangled with Spencer Floor Covering and suffered an 8-3 defeat.

* * *

Play continues tonight with two more games under the lights at the Drayton Plains Park.

Mel Taylor's two doubles and a single led Midget, and Gary Hayward homered. Lighthouse's win featured Tom Metzdorf's two safeties.

Bud Thomason's two hits sparked Day's shutout win behind Jerry Thomas; but Chuck Grave's two-run single overcame a 3-2 deficit in the fifth and carried Spencer's passed Day's in the final contest.

Hewitt Upset Winner

QUEBEC (AP) — South African Bob Hewitt upset favored Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia the Quebec Civil Employes Tennis Club round-robin tournament.

RACE FOR BAG—Chicago's Luis Aparicio gets to the bag a second ahead of Detroit Tiger Jim Price who was forced on a grounder by Tom Matchick. The action occurred in the fourth inning of the game against the White Sox. The Tigers won the game, 6-2.

Class A All-Stars Blanked in Amateur Day Program

Mike Vidor set the pace and teammates Bill Collins and Mike Burklow kept in step as M. G. Collision blanked the Class A All-Stars at Jaycee Park, 6-0.

Young left-hander Vidor whiffed 11 All-Star batters and permitted only Keith Deaton's second-inning single during his five-inning stint. Collins and Burklow finished up and yielded two hits and whiffed three more of the losers.

M. G. produced the only run it needed when three singles and a walk to Merry Hill gave the collision crew a 1-0 lead in the second.

Shutout relief hurling by Bill Sowerine of U.A.W. 653 and Glen Kitchen of the Class B All-Stars produced a 3-3 deadlock yesterday during the city recreation department's Amateur Day program at Jaycee Park.

The All-Stars erupted for three runs in the opening inning against Pat Barrick with Gary Mayhew doubling home one marker and Ron Hetherington singling in another.

But the unionmen nicked Mayhew for two runs in the third as Ivan Martinez atoned for his costly error earlier by tripling home the first tally and scoring the second on Frank Richmond's safety.

Olympic Trials for Equestrians Set at Hunt Club

Coach Bert de Nemethy of the United States Equestrian Team will conduct screening trials at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Thursday through Saturday in hopes of finding some future Olympic riders.

Seventeen riders from five states have indicated they will go through their paces for de Nemethy, the United States Olympic coach for the past 15 years.

* * *

It was just four years ago, in 1965, that Crys Jones, a Bloomfield Open Hunt member, went through the trials, caught de Nemethy's eye and was invited to the team's training headquarters at Gladstone, N.J.

The following year, Miss Jones became the youngest member of the U.S.E.T. at 18. She made two trips to Europe with the team, competed against the greatest riders in the world and compiled an enviable record. She will be on hand to demonstrate de Nemethy's methods when the coach conducts a clinic at the end of the trials.

"This area is a hotbed of talented youngsters," said de Nemethy, "and if I can find someone with Crys' ability, I'll be more than happy."

FINAL STOP

This will be the sixth and final stop on a cross-country tour by de Nemethy. He already has been in Maryland, Missouri, Colorado, California and Oregon in his quest for future Olympians.

"You never can relax in this business," de Nemethy said. "We always are in the market for young riders. That's how Crys made the team and that's how some youngsters we never have heard of will make it in the future."

When he heads back to Gladstone next week, de Nemethy will evaluate the results of the trials around the country and invite eight or 10 of the most promising youngsters to the training base for two weeks of personal instruction starting on Aug. 18.

De Nemethy has been conducting these screening trials for some eight years—although not every year. They came about as a result of the U.S.E.T.'s efforts to make certain every youngster in the country who wanted a chance to make the squad would be given the proper chance.

De Nemethy was born in Hungary and was the member of the Hungarian jumping team for the 1940 Olympics when the games were called off because of the second world war. After the war, he made his way to Denmark where he worked with the Danish riders.

He came to the United States in 1952, was appointed coach of the U.S.E.T. in 1955 and became a citizen in 1958. His teams have won numerous championships and his career was culminated in last year's Olympics when Bill Steinkraus won the individual gold medal.

Bloomfield Triumphs in Junior Tilt

Bloomfield Hills scored an unearned run in the eighth inning after two were out for a 2-1 triumph over Snack and Rack Sunday in the youth feature game of the city recreation department's annual Amateur Day at Jaycee Park.

The Class D contest was the only game on the junior program that wasn't cut short by time. The two contenders played a tense showdown, leaving runners in scoring position in every inning but the first and fourth.

Bob Foreman of Hills broke the 1-1 deadlock by touring the bases in the first extra inning on a walk, stolen base, wild pitch and an error by the catcher.

TOP TWO TEAMS

The Class E circuits top two teams, Talbott Construction and Eriksen's Tigers, waged a four-inning 3-3 stalemate. The Tigers notched three runs in the first, but Don Soden's two-run single sparked a trying outburst in the third by Talbott.

Talbott prevailed in the best Class F tilt, downing Rochester 3-1 in five innings. John Manning's two-bagger keyed the winning uprising for the construction crew.

Dave Roe fanned nine batters in three innings as the Auburn Heights Boys Club took a 6-1 verdict over the Pontiac Police in Widget American action.

Another sharp effort saw Chris Hickey crack two doubles and limit the Met Club Yankees to one hit in a 12-0 four-inning victory by the Optimists' Widget National team.

Scrimmage Pleases Schmidt

Lions' Offense 'Wins'

Quarterback Bill Munson and running back Mel Farr are healthy and coach Joe Schmidt is happy.

"It was a very satisfactory scrimmage," Schmidt said after Saturday night's offense versus defense session at U. of D. Stadium.

The Lions' offense "won" a 13-0 game before 8,949 fans in the final big scrimmage before the first exhibition game next Saturday night when the Lions travel to Kansas City.

Racked with many key injuries last season, including those of Munson and Farr, the Lions' offensive statistics showed Munson completed six of 13 passes for 75 yards, several of which were dropped by receivers.

Backup quarterback Greg Landry got credit for the only touchdown from scrimmage as he passed 47 yards to rookie Larry Walton.

Erroll Mann kicked 27 and 32-yard field goals after sustained drives directed by rookie quarterback Greg Barton.

Landry has seven of 15 passes for 86 yards and Barton four of 11 for 84 yards.

* * *

Farr picked up 20 yards in five carries, while Nick Eddy, looking much more healthy this year, picked up 21 yards in seven tries. Wilson Bowie, top draft choice who was O. J. Simpson's understudy at Southern Cal, returned from the All-Star game and he carried the ball seven times for 26 yards, as did free agent Larry Watkins who had the same total.

But the top running honors went to rookie Gene Wren who had 57 yards in five carries. Wren was taxied with Indianapolis of the Continent League last season.

Phil Odle was the top pass receiver with five catches for 97 yards.

The Lions return to twice daily workouts today at Cranbrook to prepare for the Kansas City game.

Next week, Friday, Aug. 15, the Buffalo Bills will be at Tiger Stadium for an exhibition game.

Sandra Adds to Savings in Buckeye Tournament

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sandra Spuzich of Indianapolis fired a par 70 Sunday and won the $20,000 Buckeye Savings Invitational Golf Tournament.

Miss Spuzich shot a 71-72-70 for a 54-hole total of 213 over the Royal Oaks par 70, 6,100-yard course.

She finished three strokes ahead of Judy Rankin, of Midland, Tex., who had a 70-73-73 for a 216.

* * *

The victory was worth $3,000 to Miss Spuzich and was her first Ladies Professional Golf Association triumph since she won the National Open in 1966.

She had gone into the final round tied with Glorid Wilcox and Mrs. Rankin. Miss Wilcox skied to a 76.

Third place went to the veteran Patty Berg, who shot 72-72-73 for 217.

Another stroke back were Carol Mann, the defending champion Jo Ann Prentice.

Spitz's Sister in Spotlight

TEL AVIV (AP) — Four years ago, a young American swimmer named Mark Spitz arrived as an unknown at the 7th Maccabiah Games and splashed his way to victory in almost all his races.

He returned home to become an Olympic and super star, a triple world champion swimmer.

* * *

Now, as the 8th Maccabiah, or Jewish Olympican, nears its end, Spitz's young sister, Nancy, appears to be following in her brother's step.

The 15-year-old Santa Clara, Calif., girl has won five gold medals in swimming to become the new star in the women's events.

"The big crowds scared me a little, and the other American girls are great swimmers," she said. "But I forget it when I hit the water. I just try to win."

SPLISH, SPLASH—Running Back Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins is being tackled by Chicago Bears Dick Butkus, 51, and Don Pride, 57, in a exhibition game in Washington Saturday night. Those making the splash on the wet girdiron are a pair of Redskins including Vilnis Ezerins (39). The Redskins made coach Vince Lombardi's debut a success by winning a 13-7 decision over the Bears.

In Lombardi's Debut

Red Skins Skin Bears

By the Associated Press

It's much too early to tell what's going to happen during the new professional football season, but more than a quarter of a million spectators undoubtedly came away from the weekend's opening exhibition games with some fairly solid conclusions.

Examples:

Vince Lombardi, the new mastermind of the Washington Redskins, intends to put the nation's capital on the map as a city famous for something besides politicians and surtax squabbles.

* * *

Chicago Bears running back Gayle Sayers may have recovered from the knee injury that caused him to miss much of the 1968 campaign.

Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts is ready to resume his old role as the scourge of National Football League quarterbacks.

Coach Hank Stram of the Kansas City Chiefs meant what he said when he predicted, "We'll be much better in 1969 than we were in 1968..."

EXPLOSIVE ATTACK

Minnesota Coach Bud Grant may have found the "more explosive striking threat in our passing" needed to make the Vikings a team that could go all the way.

The six weekend games saw Washington beat the Bears 13-7, Baltimore roll over San Diego 26-6, Kansas City outscore Oakland 23-17, Minnesota clobber the Miami Dolphins 45-10, Houston trample Buffalo 24-7 and the Jets squeeze by the College All-Stars 26-24.

* * *

The crafty and illustrious Mr. Lombardi, who pinpointed Green Bay, Wis., as the world's football capital while coach of the Packers, didn't have too much to say about his first triumph as Redskin boss except that "I'm very happy we won our first game and very, very pleased to come away with a victory.

"I felt the defensive team played very well."

Pass interceptions by Sam Huff and Tom Roussel set up the Redskin touchdowns that beat the Bears in a game punctuated by hard rain. With the score tied 7-7 in the third period, Roussel picked off Jack Concannon's pass and returned it to the Chicago 31. Sonny Jurgensen's 17-yard pass to Bobby Mitchell won the game.

LONG RUN

Sayers dazzled the crowd of 45,988 in Washington by running the opening kickoff back 69 yards. He was used only to run back punts and kickoffs. Concannon scored the Bears' touchdown on a one-yard sneak.

Unitas, out most of last year with a tendonitis-ridden elbow, replaced starting Baltimore quarterback Earl Morrall after the latter had guided the Colts to their first touchdown. He completed seven passes for 86 yards and saw action only in the first half and had the Colts out front 19-6 at halftime.

* * *

Morrall wound up with eight completions in 14 throws for 126 yards. A sellout San Diego crowd of 52,171 saw the game.

Stram praised the Chiefs' defense but was disappointed with coverage of kickoffs against Oakland's Raiders, who finished last season by losing to the Jets in the American Football League title game.

* * *

The game, played in Birmingham, Ala., before 21,000, was decided when Gene Trosch fell on Eldridge Dickey's fumble. A 21-yard pass from Jackie Lee to Robert Holmes pulled the Chiefs from behind seconds later.

Minnesota spotted Miami a 10-0 lead before the Vikings' explosive passing game, led by Joe Kapp, erupted at Tampa, Fla., where the crowd numbered 37,461. Kapp threw two touchdown passes, both to Bob Grimm. In all, the Vikings completed 18 of 38 passes for 272 yards.

EASY VICTORY

A crowd of 37,250 in the Houston Astrodome watched Houston batter Buffalo with ease. Highlights of the game were passes by Don Trull and Pete Beathard and George Webster's pass interception that resulted in three Houston touchdowns.

The pro exhibition season actually got under way Friday night in Chicago where the Joe Namath-quarterbacked Jets led 16-0 at the half only to have the All-Stars strike back with an aerial assault that had the world champions gasping at the end.

Reds 19, Phillies 17: Pitchers in Daze

By the Associated Press

"Hey G!" Chico Ruiz shouted above the din in the Cincinnati Reds' clubhouse. "You just proved that pitching is the name of the game!"

The roaring Reds had just seized the National League West Division lead for the first time this year by outmuscling Philadelphia 19-17 Sunday and second baseman Ruiz was congratulating winning pitcher Wayne Granger.

"Or was he?

Granger, for one, figured Chico must have had Someone Else in mind.

"We were saying in the bullpen that only God could get anybody out today," said the Cincinnati reliever, only hurler among 11 used by both sides in the 46-hit shindig who escaped unscathed...and unscored upon.

The Wild West victory, coupled with Atlanta's 6-5 11-inning loss to the New York Mets and San Francisco's 3-2 nod over Pittsburgh, left Cincinnati in a virtual first place tie with the Giants and Braves...but on top by five percentage points.

GAIN GROUND

Los Angeles, which trimmed St. Louis 5-0, is one game off the pace...and just one ahead of fith place Houston. The Astros extended their winning string to eight games with a 7-3 conquest of Montreal before bowing 1-0 in the nightcap of a doubleheader. The Chicago Cubs nipped San Diego 4-3 in another single game.

At Philadelphia, the Reds had 20 of their 25 hits and a 16-9 lead after scoring 10 runs in the fifth inning as Lee May and Pete Rose crashed three-run homers.

Alex Johnson's homer and a run-scoring double by Johnny Bench, who stroked five hits, made it 18-9 in the sixth. But the Phillies, triggered by Tony Taylor's grandslam homer, erupted for seven runs in the bottom half to close within field goal range.

Granger became the fifth Cincinnati pitcher after Richie Allen's leadoff homer in the seventh trimmed the margin to one point . . . oops, make that one run . . . and immediately was for a pair of singles.

"I came in and, bang-bang, they had two hits and I figured 'I won't be any different,'" Granger said.

OUT OF TROUBLE

But the slender right-hander pitched out of that jam and, after Tony Perez homered in the eighth for the Reds' 19th run, stopped the Phillies the rest of the way...aided by Rose's spectacular, game-ending grab of Ron Stone's liner with the tying runs on the bases.

American Loses 1,500 Meter Race

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Poland's Jerzy Maluski beat Chuck la Benz of the United States in an exciting 1,500-meter race at the 1912 Olympic Stadium here.

Both were clocked in 3:40.7.

The meet, the August Games, was held in pleasant weather before a small crowd of only 2,027 paying spectators.

HOOKING FOR DISTANCE

I DON'T RECOMMEND THE HOOK AS AN EVERYDAY STANDARD OF SHOT—MAKING, BUT IF YOU WANT TO GET A GREAT AMOUNT OF DISTANCE... AND IF THE FAIRWAY IS OPEN AND WIDE, THEN YOU MIGHT AIM TO THE RIGHT AND WORK THE BALL IN.

HOOK-SPIN WILL PROVIDE EXTRA ROLL. JUST BE SURE THERE IS LITTLE TROUBLE TO ROLL INTO IN CASE OF ERROR.

Beard Making Family Happy

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — "Winning," said Frank Beard, who had just won $50,000 in the richest of them all, "doesn't mean a hill of beans to me personally.

"I just want to make my wife and three kids happy."

* * *

His family should be delirious.

Beard, a bland, bespectacled character who approaches the game as a businessman approaches his desk, pushed his earnings to $155,000, first on the list, by canning a two-foot putt for a birdie four on the final green Sunday for a one-shot victory in the $250,000 Westchester Classic.

His final round 67 gave him a 72-hole total of 275, 13 under par for the rolling 6,677-yard, par 72 Westchester Country Club course.

ONE BEHIND

Third round leader Bert Greene, a cool, quiet comer from Georgia who started the day four shots in front of Beard and the rest of the field, finished one shot back with 72 for 276 and $28,500. He lost a chance to tie when he missed a 20-footer for a birdie on the final hole. But Green, 25, said his hopes for his first victory in three years on the tour slipped away on the 15th hole, where he said a bad lie for his second shot cost him a bogey five.

* * *

Dan Sikes, the golfing attorney from Jacksonville, Fla., three-putted the final green and wound up in third place with 69 for 277. South African Harold Henning was next with 70 for 278 and Lee Trevino and Tommy Aaron tied for fifth at 279, Trevino with a 70 and Aaron with a 67.

* * *

Jack Nicklaus shot 73 and finished in an 11-way tie for 14th at 283. Arnold Palmer posted a disappointing 74 for 289, one over par, and a tie for 53rd.

* * *

"My brain is racked, I'm emotionally spent," said Beard who left immediately for his home in Louisville, Ky. He'll skip this week's Milwaukee Open and rest up for the PGA Championship at Dayton, Ohio, Aug. 14-17.

Rains Hamper Races at Auto Events

By the Associated Press

Rain forced a curtailment of things at the eastern debut of the rejuvenated United States Auto Club stock car division at Dover Downs International Speedway Sunday, while the thunderstorms completely washed out the Dixie 500 at Atlanta.

Veteran A.J. Foyt of Houston led the entire race—except for three laps when he made a pit stop—in winning the Mid-Atlantic 300 at Dover, Del. The race, the first major one of this length for USAC stock cars in 11 years, had to be stopped after 158 laps of the 300-mile chase because of rain.

A hot duel was shaping up between Foyt and Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., when a light drizzle started at the 125th lap. The yellow caution flag went out at the 129th lap and for the next 29 laps the cars circled the track slowly behind the pace car as the rain grew heavier.

The race was stopped for about an hour in the faint hope the rain would cease. The USAC officials finally declared Foyt the winner. McCluskey took second in his 1969 Plymouth.

The average speed for the stock cars was only 101.020 miles per hour. However, Foyt was turning the track in his 1969 Ford at an average of 115.430 at the 128th lap before the rain became heavy.

SET RECORD

Don White, driving a 1969 Dodge, set a record of 132.411 m.p.h. for a one-mile paved track in time trials. He was hot on Foyt's tailpipe until he bumped another car on a turn, crumpled a fender which cut a tire and was forced into the pits at the 120th lap. He came back out to finish in seventh place.

* * *

Bobby Unser, of Albuquerque, N.M., who hit an unofficial speed of 145 m.p.h. testing tires on the Indianapolis cars at the track last Wednesday, finished third Sunday, two laps behind the leaders in his 1969 Ford.

* * *

Meanwhile, at the Atlanta International Raceway, the rain forced postponement of the 500-mile stock car race until next Sunday.

The 40 cars that qualified for the race were put under wraps in the tin sheds at the track, and cannot be touched until Saturday when racing crews will bring them up to their running peak.

Improvements Made at Summer White House

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — When President Nixon and his family arrive for a vacation at their newly purchased summer home here this month they will find much that is new—and some old familiar faces.

The new items are improvements in the Spanish-style mansion, hugging a cliff overlooking the sea, and on the spacious grounds. The familiar faces belong to Cabinet members and top aides who have taken summer quarters to be near the chief executive.

* * *

The San Clemente Sun-Post says those who have rented houses for a four-week stay included Henry A. Kissinger, foreign policy adviser; William P. Rogers, secretary of state; John N. Mitchell, attorney general; John Ehrlichman, legal counsel; Ronald L. Ziegler, press secretary; and Rosemary Wood, private secretary.

Robert Haldeman, special assistant, and Dwight Chapin, personal assistant, were reported staying at nearby Newport Beach.

RELATED TO SECURITY

The improvements, some of them security-related, include:

- Fifteen hundred feet of eight-foot chain link fence and six-foot wall, the latter topped with red tile to match the hacienda's roof, plus a massive gate and guard house.
- At strategic points on the luxuriant five-acre grounds, three quaint octagonal garden houses, or gazebos . . . that will house 24-hour guards.
- A new swimming pool outside, and a redecorated interior.
- At the tiny Coast Guard navigation station next door, a presidential helicopter pad and a three-building complex that will be Nixon's working headquarters.

* * *

The flurry of construction work is aimed at insuring that the first family's days under the sun in this beach town of 17,500 will be secure, private, pleasurable and comfortable.

Nixon's arrival date has not been announced, but unofficial word is he'll spend four weeks, beginning a day or so before the Aug. 13 dinner for state governors and the Apollo 11 astronauts.

'HOT LINE' INCLUDED

Secret Service agents decline to discuss the goings on, but interviews with city officials, contractors, service men and neighborhood Nixon watchers yield such tidbits as:

- The improvements include 900 telephone lines—among them a "hot line" to the Kremlin.
- Cost estimates include $4,950 for the pool 44 by 22 and 9 feet deep; $22,000 for the gazebos; $42,500 for walls and fences.

—Termites were found, but eradicated by a fumigating firm from Nixon's home town of Whittier.

- The Santa Fe Railway, whose tracks run between house and beach, has told engineers to slow a bit and toot no horns as they pass. Airplane charts now mark the area restricted. Spotlights on the bluff point seaward to warn mariners away. Walkways through the grounds that the public once used to reach the beach have been blocked.
- The gazebos, 14 feet in diameter with big windows, were modeled after one already on the grounds, overlooking gardens and the sea. When Nixon is in residence, the gazebos will be manned by the Secret Service, at other times by private guards.

* * *

Nixon officially became owner of the former Hamilton Cotton estate July 15, for a reported $340,000. Since then the clatter of hammers and rumble of trucks has enlivened the normally quiet neighborhood.

"There are lots of people out there every day," one neighbor says, "and they're working like a house afire."

WINDS OF CHANGE

Even outside the grounds the winds of change are felt.

San Clemente allotted $10,000 this month to expand the police station and improve its communications system. It had been planned for years, a spokesman said, blut it tok presidential residency to spur approval of the spending. The city has applied for a $115,000 federal grant to beef up law enforcement.

The huge Camp Pendleton Marine Corps base, just south, has masterminded a communications setup with a transmitting tower atop the highest hill behind the town.

Biggest change has been at the Coast Guard station. Its old building got a face-lift. The old softball field, where the presidential helicopter used to land in a cloud of dust, now is a concrete helipad. And there are three new buildings: Nixon headquarters, an administration center for aides and a Secret Service headquarters-dormitory.

HOLE IN WALL

They've knocked a hole in the wall separating the hacienda from the station. Each morning the President is expected to hop into a golf cart, go through a gate in the wall, across a small field, through the base gate to his office. Formerly he had to drive out the main road and through a housing development to get there.

The Nixon home has 10 rooms, and the price didn't include furnishing. When the Cottons moved out, they took three van loads of ornate Spanish-style pieces, the accumulation of 3 years.

* * *

The five bedrooms, dining room, two living rooms and library have walls of dark inlaid wood and Spanish tile floors. Details on Mrs. Nixon's refurbishing plans are top secret, but neighbors say a Beverly Hills interior decorator is on the job.

Johnson Sings the Praises of the Fated Kennedy Clan

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Rafer Johnson is 6-4 and big all over. His feet stuck far out from under the small table at 21 as he delivered opinions on everybody from Joe Namath to Ted Kennedy.

Not too many years ago a Negro did not go into fashionable restaurants. Now he sat there speaking of being with Mrs. Ethel Kennedy the day that Teddy Kennedy's accident was reported.

WILSON

"I was up there to the compound for the weekend," said the great athlete who was one of Bobby Kennedy's bodyguards when he was shot. "Mrs. Kennedy and I had flown down. We heard it on the car radio. There was no reaction. Everybody was quiet.

"I am unshaken in my feeling he should be president. He's got a good heart and that doesn't change. The Kennedys are the greatest family that ever lived in this country.

* * *

"When Bobby Kennedy decided to run for president, I was making good money doing a sports telecast. I felt that he had done so much for everybody, he deserved my support. They wouldn't give me a leave of absence at the station, so I quit my job. I feel the same about Ted Kennedy. They are all good people, chips off the same block."

Thirty-three now, down to 185 from the 210 he weighed when he won the world and Olympic decathlon championship in 1960, Johnson is now a working actor . . . working at it just as hard as he trained.

"I'm not hurtin' financially," he said. "I bought a couple mutual funds when they were hot. I can wait for the right film. "I've done 15, maybe 20 films. It's now my profession. I've learned, I've studied. Maybe I'm just ready now."

* * *

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Joey Bishop introduced Buddy Greco, his fellow South Philadelphian, to the celebrity-type opening night audience at the L.A. Cocoanut Grove, claiming that, "Excuse me, folks, I didn't know this party was for Buddy Greco — I thought it was for Buddy Hackett."

Hedy Lamarr's son Tony Loder will be screen-tested for the "Magic Garden of Stanley Sweetheart" film . . . The "Oh! Calcutta!" producers are auditioning performers for the road companies.

ON HER WAY TO TOP—Folks around Wilburton, Okla., are used to seeing 22-year-old Linda Little from this angle. The petite mother of two has been climbing poles for years for her family-owned Oklahoma Western Telephone Co.

Oklahoma Lady Lineman Going Up in the World

WILBURTON, Okla. (AP) — Look there, up in the sky. Is it a mirage? Is it a stunt? No, it's Linda Little, lady lineman.

Her female form perched atop a telephone pole is no new sight around this southeast Oklahoma town. Linda, 22, has been climbing for years for her family-owned Oklahoma Western Telephone Co.

* * *

"I was reared in a phone company," explains the petite mother of two. "When my father was alive, I used to follow him around. He would take me out in all kinds of weather.

"I found out I'd rather shinny up a pole to be close to him than to stay down on the ground where I could be hit with a pair of pliers that were dropped."

Her father, the late Luther Morris, founded the phone company, which now serves nine towns. Her mother is semiretired from the company and "about all she does is sign the checks," said Mrs. Little.

"I remember my dad telling me that it was important to know every phase of the work so if anything happened, I could take over," she said. "There hasn't been any part of it that I haven't done."

* * *

Mrs. Little, who lives at Clayton, Okla., used to work a switchboard in the family telephone system before it went to dialing.

"One thing about climbing, it'll sure keep you trim," she said.

Computer Car to Test Drivers

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — A $26,000-car will be crisscrossing the state's highways for the next 10 months. It isn't a luxury car—at least not in the traditional sense.

It has no stereo record player, no built-in television, no traveling bar. But it does come equipped with a computer and a simulated driving machine.

* * *

This car is actually a "mini-home" van, valued at $6,000 and furnished with some $20,000 of fact-finding equipment.

It will be driven by a team of Millersville State College researchers out to learn about Pennsylvania drivers. And what they find out may determine whether motorists should get mental tests along with the normal physical tests now required by law.

TEAM MEMBERS

The team is headed by Dr. W. Richard Kettering, director of special education at Millersville. Others include Prof. Raymond C. Mullin, head of the driver education department and two investigators, James F. Bologa and Darryl Strickler.

They said they want to get answers to these questions:

1. Are retarded drivers different in their driving capabilities than normal people?

2. How effective are Pennsylvania's licensing procedures?

3. Of what value are high school and college courses in driver education?

The search for answers will include testing of 800 high school pupils, half of them retarded but educable youths.

At present there is no mental capacity test for Pennsylvanians seeking drivers' licenses. But Kettering emphasized that the purpose of the study, financed by a $90,000 federal grant, is not to get the retarded driver off the highway.

"We want to keep them on the road, if possible," said Kettering. "If we find that retarded drivers are worse with regard to accidents, we want to find ways of improving their performance within the system."

Kettering said equally important to the researchers is information that will be collected on normal drivers. He said they want to know if the eye test is broad enough, or whether it should measure more than just visual acuity, the ability to perceive detail. Should there be a test, for instance, in distance judgment, field of vision and color vision?

The researchers also have other tests for volunteer students:

- The Brace Scale of Motor Ability Test, measuring agility, balance, control and flexibility.
- Situational Stress Test, involving a simulator and measuring reactions in hundredths of a second.
- Wilson driver selection test, analyzing visual attention, recognition of details, steadiness and eye-hand coordination.

Current Books

THE BRASS FACTORIES. By J. Arthur Heise. Public Affairs Press. $6.

This book is "inside stuff" on the nation's three military academies: West Point, Annapolis and the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

The author didn't start out to deal with the military-industrial complex, nor with comparisons between the military campuses and other institutions of higher learning, but the book's appearance now proves to be very timely.

* * *

Heise, a reporter for the Buffalo Evening News, who in 1962-1965 was a member of the faculty at the Air Force Academy, was assigned as a newsman to look into the 1967 cheating scandal at Colorado Springs.

* * *

What developed, through interviews and examination of hundreds of documents, was enough material for a fascinating study of the "factories" that produce the country's officer class.

Ray Hill (AP)

THE ANDROMEDA STRAIN By Michael Crichton. Kopf. $5.95.

It's a novel. But it simulates, and reads like, a highly classified document about a great scientific crisis threatening the destruction of the human race.

A secret satellite, after combing the outer edges of the earth's atmosphere for new kinds of germs, falls to earth on a small Arizona village, carrying some organisms that kill all the inhabitants except two.

* * *

Four scientists are flown to a sealed-off underground laboratory, replete with computerized equipment.

With the satellite and the two survivors as their working material, they engage in a race against time to identify the organism and find an antidote for it, before it can spread its lethal effects.

Part of the suspense comes from the fact that the scientists miss several clues and come within a few seconds of horrifying failure.

Wide-Open Mayoral Primary Is Foreseen for Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Twenty-nine candidates are entered in what promises to be a bitterly fought campaign for mayor of Detroit, with law and order a prime issue.

Political observers rate the nonpartisan primary Sept. 9 as wide open, since incumbent Mayor Jerome Cavanagh has decided not to seek reelection after two four-year terms.

* * *

The primary slate includes Wayne County Auditor Richard Austin, 56, the first Negro considered a serious contender for the chief executive job in America's fifth-largest city.

* * *

He has the endorsement of the powerful United Auto Workers, but some black militant leaders consider him part of the establishment and have withheld support.

ANOTHER TOP ASPIRANT

Another top aspirant is Wayne County Sheriff Roman S. Gribbs, 43, named a year ago to take over a sheriff's department marked by ticket-fixing and other scandals. Elected last November to a four-year term, he has been praised for efforts to modernize and professionalize the department.

Gribbs says he is a middle-of-the-road candidate who favors "order and justice under the law.'

* * *

Thirty-four candidates paid $100 filing fees to enter the primary race but five withdrew. The top two vote-getters in the primary face each other in the November general election.

City Common Council President Ed Carey, 64, also is considered a contender. But Carey, a onetime top officer of the UAW, has been having trouble raising campaign financial support.

NOT FORGOTTEN

Detroiters have not forgotten the riots that ripped the city two years ago, and two major candidates are bearing down already on the law-and-order issue, which brought victories to conservatives in the New York and Los Angeles mayoral primaries this year.

Mary Beck, 61, a Common Council member and one of Cavanagh's sharpest critics, says her goal is "to sweep Detroit free of crime and corruption and every form of pollution, and to make our streets, our homes and our business places safe and wholesome once again."

* * *

She once launched an unsuccessful campaign to have Cavanagh recalled.

Walter Shamie, whom Cavanah trounced in the general election four years ago, also has been campaigning on a law-and-order theme. The 48-year-old businessman-promoter has said he will outline his platform in weekly television presentations.

Other candidates range from housewives to factory workers to leaders of extremist right- and left-wing groups.

Whether Detroit should have a civilian police trial board also promises to become an issue in the campaign. So far, only Austin has advocated such a board, which would have power to hold public hearings and to discipline police officers.

* * *

Cavanagh, who says he plans to endorse a candidate after he has studied the issues, voiced opposition to a police trial board.

Dow Jones Average Falls

Stock Market Gains Trimmed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed in fairly active trading early this afternoon, after an opening advance that had shoved the market higher slowed.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.75 at 824.84. The DJI had been up 2.46 at 10:30 a.m.

* * *

Gains led losses by about 150 issues. They had led by better than 300 issues in earlier trading.

The market's early advance was regarded by some analysts as a continuation of last week's rally.

"The market had a fairly steep rise in a short period of time and now it seems to have run into a profit-taking phase," an analyst said, noting that "those who bought stocks that were down during the decline took advantage of the rise to sell."

They said there also was continuing concern over an apparent slowing in corporate profit gains.

* * *

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up .4 at 294.4, with industrials up .6, rails up .3, and utilities up .2.

* * *

Steels and motors were mixed. General Motors was off 1¼ at 72★. GM reported a decline in sales for both the final 10 days of July and themonth on a year-t-year basis.

Prexy Opposes Cutoff of Funds

'Could Be Just as Damaging as Protest'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of Brandeis University today warned that shutting off federal funds to universities beset by radical protest could be just as damaging as the protests.

"'Shut it down' or 'Starve it down,' these policies lead to the same end," said Brandeis President Dr. Morris B. Abram, who weathered an 11-day occupation of his school's communications center in January by Negroes demanding an autonomous black studies department.

* * *

"And, as usual, the enemies of the right and left, while throwing bricks at each other, seldom hit anything but those in between—the liberals and moderates," he said in testimony prepared for a Senate subcommittee probing campus disorder.

Abram urged the subcommittee to consider an alternate course proposed by the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence: Grant students the power to seek federal injunctions against radicals who threaten to shut down a campus.

SOBERING EXPERIENCE

"It may be a very sobering experience for radical extremists to face a federal judge and try to explain why they think they have the right to deprive others of constitutional guarantees," he said.

Abram cautioned that injunctions should be used only as a last resort.

* * *

The Brandeis protest did not seriously hamper the school's normal operation. The dispute ended when the school granted amnesty to the protesters and agreed to initiate an administration-controlled black studies program.

Abrams said most students are not destroyers.

NATION'S HOPE

"Sometimes misguided, they are generally sincere, idealistic students," he said. "And although their behavior presently underlies a grave national concern, they are our nation's hope of tomorrow."

"The plain fact is that in 1969, 2 to 3 per cent of the student population are revolutionaries—potential destroyers," he said.

"However, these radical enemies of the university within its gates have unwitting allies outside," he said.

"These are reacting to the violence on the campus by responses which amount to starving the university of support, public and private."

GM 10-Day Sales Show 14 Pct. Drop

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. has reported a 14.4 per cent drop in its daily sales pace during the last third of July.

The nation's largest auto maker said it sold 134,449 autos in the July 21-31 period, a decline from its record sales mark of 141,492 in the comparable period of last year.

There were 10 selling days in the period this year and nine last year. On a daily basis, GM sold 13,444 per day in the July 21-31 span this year, compared with 15,718 a year ago.

GM said its car sales totaled 330,037 in July, a decline from the 389,443 in July 1968. Both months had 26 selling days.

Ford, Chrysler and American Motors were expected to announce their July 21-31 sales early this week.

Successful Executives Require Many Traits

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — What are the qualities needed for management success? You name them. At one time or another almost every quality has been attributed to the successful top-level manager.

CUNNIFF

A brief survey of printed opinions seems to suggest that he has to be determined, sensitive, selfless and liberally educated and that he must have the stamina of a fullback, the style of a Hollywood idol and the patience, understanding and conscience of a clergyman.

Maybe so, but the one factor that always shows up in studies of successful managers is the ability to work long hours. Various studies show that long workweeks are most prevalent among professionals, managers and owners.

Assuming, however, that the hard work is a result rather than a cause of success, the search leads elsewhere. First, the comments of Lawrence Appley, former president of the American Management Association:

"There are two vast areas of knowledge a manager must master: First, the nature of the business he is managing; second, the principles and techniques required to manage."

LONG-RANGE VIEW

Appley added: "It has been said that 'he who can manage can manage anything.'" But to manage anything, Appley said, a man must understand long-range planning, be able to organize and be able to carry out his plans.

The head of a Chicago executive recruiting firm, writing in International Management magazine, asks the executive aspirant:

"Do you have the ability to see things clearly from the corporate viewpoint, divorced from personal prejudices and needs? Can you pinpoint a problem in your field of responsibility before serious trouble occurs?

"Do you encourage others to air their opinions and are you responsive to their viewpoints and suggestions? Are you willing to take a chance? Are you flexible, unafraid of change?

"Can you simplify and cut problems to size? Can you dramatize yourself and your beliefs so as to influence people toward a desired goal? Is your sense of discipline strong, meaningful, fair and immediate . . .?"

SHOULD BE BOSS

If you've answered yes to all these questions then you, not the boss, should be boss. Ironically, most workers would give positive answers to many of the questions, but very few would view their bosses as having such qualities.

The head of a large advertising agency, quoted by the Alexander Hamilton Institute, Inc., suggests that many "hot-eyed eager-beavers" who look like they want to be top executives really don't want anything of the sort.

"What they want are simply the tags and labels and appurtenances of the office; the outward and visible signs, but not the inward and spiritual torture."

Warming to his subject, as a good adman should, he continued: "They want the glory—such as it is—but not the responsibility; the keys to the presidential washroom, but not the long, lonely moments of meditation."

LIBERAL ARTS

The good manager should be liberally educated, according to a pioneer in management development courses. A good liberal arts background, said John Hite, will become increasingly important to managers of the future.

An officer of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants suggested that the job of a top management man should be measured by his performance in:

Communicating, watching trends of operations, looking after longterm interest, harmonious functioning, creative environment, and holding the position in trust.

No wonder that some authorities on management foresee a shortage of good talent coming up through the ranks.

Illinois Judge Probe to Restart; 2 Quit

CHICAGO (AP) — A state legislative committee will meet Tuesday to continue investigation of the financial dealings of judges in what one member calls "a top-to-bottom inquiry into the entire judiciary in Illinois."

Rep. Anthony Scariano, Park Forest Democrat, said Sunday, "We are going to take up where the Greenberg Commission left off."

It was the court-appointed Greenberg Commission that led to the resignations Saturday of Chief Justice Roy J. Solfisburg Jr. and Justice Ray I. Klingbiel of the State Supreme Court after it heard testimony that they accepted bank stock from a former state official who was the principal in a case before the court.

Klingbiel wrote, and Solfisburg concurred in, a 1966 opinion throwing out the conviction of former Illinois Revenue Director Theodore J. Isaacs on conflict of interest charges.

'GROSS IMPROPRIETY'

The commission, headed by Frank Greenberg, president of the Chicago Bar Association, found the judges guilty of gross improprieties in accepting the stock.

Solfisburg and Klingbiel resigned, saying they were not guilty of any wrongdoing but that the court's integrity would be questioned if they remained.

* * *

Sherman Skolnick, the self-educated legal scholar whose charges against the jurists led to the formation of the Greenberg Commission, is expected to testify before the House committee.

"I am not alone in gathering evidence," said the 39-year-old Skolnick. "There are 11 state and federal agencies gathering information and evidence against some judges in Illinois."

* * *

Skolnick's house was placed under police guard Sunday after he received a threatening telephone call.

Law to Head Airport Panel

State Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, has been named chairman of a special House committee to investigate new revenues to improve airports in the state.

Law cosponsored the resolution which created the new House committee. He and the four representatives appointed to serve with him will conduct studies for the balance of the year.

The committee's findings and recommendations will be reported to the 1970 Legislature. A tax on airplane fuel, according to Law, is one revenue source for airports to be studied by the committee.

Explosion Rocks Detroit Company

DETROIT (AP) — An explosion rocked the Wolverine Cartage Co. on Detroit's northeast side Sunday.

Police said there was no one on the premises at the time, and there were no injuries. The cause of the blast was not immediately known nor was there any estimate of damage.

Labor Dept. Probes 'Import Electricians'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department is investigating charges by Rep. Philip E. Ruppe, R-Mich., that Canadian electricians are displacing qualified Americans in northern Michigan.

Ruppe told Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz that American electricians were laid off and replaced by Canadian journeymen at the Mead Corp. construction site in Escanaba, Mich.

* * *

He asked Shultz to "directly investigate the status of 30 Americans who have been laid off and replaced by Canadians."

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — Should I leave a paid-up life insurance policy with the company or take the cash value and buy stocks? — M.G. Should we borrow our insurance loan value and refinance our house to invest in stocks, bonds or mutual funds? — J. M. Should I take the cash out of a retirement annuity contract (with two more years to pay in) and invest in a mutual fund with a monthly withdrawal plan? — W.S.

A — On paper such plans may appear reasonable. In reality, though the planner is substituting unpredictable returns for absolutely proved guarantees based upon actuarial exactitude. I don't say it's impossible to win substantially from a shift of earnings reserves, but knowing market fluctuations as I do, I believe some sleepless nights could be in store for anyone who risks all his savings in the securities market.

My answer to any reader tempted to borrow on his insurance policy to take advantage of a oversold market is to leave those insurance contracts in the strongbox. Only if an emergency strikes suddenly should their cash values be used temporarily and repaid promptly. A mutual fund withdrawal plan has certain advantages, but the guaranteed monthly income from an annuity continues even if the annuitant outlives his original investment.

Q — I own some National Dairy stock. It has not appeared on the New York Stock Exchange listings for some time. Recently I received a dividend check from Kraft Co. Could you tell me what changes have taken place? — M. N.

A — The change was in name only. In recognition of its internationally known brand name name, National Dairy holders voted to adopt it as its new title. Foreign operations, conducted through the Kraft Division, accounted for over 10 per cent of last year's sales. Earnings growth, which has averaged a rate of 6.8 per cent in the past five years, slowed down in the second quarter after a 7.1 per cent increase in the first three months. Full-year results should be up slightly as the product mix continues its shift toward greater sales of higher-margined packaged foods. Share are an excellent holding for the conservative investor.

Oswald: "In the early 19th century, British society used to relax at the town of Bath. One way to relax was by playing Whist and the play known as the Bath Coup was originated there. As such, it is probably the oldest advanced play in our modern repertoire."

Jim: "It was a far more successful play at Whist when no dummy was exposed and there weren't many conventions on discarding. Take today's hand. West opens the king of hearts against South's three no-trump contract. South executes an automatic Bath Coup by letting the king hold. But if East has played his three of hearts, it is a cinch that West will abandon the suit and look for greener pastures."

Oswald: "A spade lead will wind up with three spades, one heart, two diamonds, three clubs, game and rubber."

Oswald: "A spade lead will give South three spade tricks instead of two. A diamond lead will cost the defense a trick in that suit, provided South reads the diamond situation correctly. West's best play is a low club and that's just what he did lead."

★ ★ ★

Jim: "South handled the club situation by playing dummy's jack, then cashing his ace and throwing West back in with the king. Once more, West was in trouble. He got out by leading his four of diamonds. East's king forced South's ace. South went over to dummy with the last club and took the diamond finesse. West made his jack and was back in trouble again."

★ ★ ★

Oswald: "The queen of spades lead might have fooled South but West led the five-spot. East's jack lost to South's ace and South was able to finesse against the queen of spades to

Man 'Critical' After an Auto Crash on I-96

An Allen Park man, George A. Hatfield, 60, is in critical condition after being pinned under his car in an auto accident on I-96 near Novi Road at 2:20 this morning.

Driver of the other car, Lloyd Reuss, 32, and his passengers — his wife and two children — were treated and released from Botsford Osteopathic Hospital, Farmington.

Reuss of 2719 Courville, Bloomfield Township, apparently was traveling at an excessive rate of speed when he dozed off and ran into the rear end of Hatfield's car, according to Redford State Police.

Hatfield's car was forced off the road and through the median into the westbound lane, where it narrowly missed a semi truck, then flipped over, Police said. Reuss skidded to a stop in the eastbound lane.

Hatfield is in Botsford Osteopathic Hospital with head injuries.

Postal Plan Is Assailed

Gigantic Giveaway, Says Local Unionist

The president of the Pontiac postal workers union has warned that the proposal to make the post office a private business operation will cost the public "through the nose."

Robert L. Hukka, president of Local 1766, United Federation of Postal Clerks, said the directors of such a corporation will use their rate-fixing power "to show a profit at whatever cost to the consumer . . . it's human nature."

Legislation has been proposed this year which would turn over the postal system to a private corporation. Though much opposition has been expressed, proponents insist the move would be more economical and would provide better service in the hands of private businessmen.

Hukka said postal union officials have conducted studies which contradict this. He said the move would be "the most gigantic giveaway of taxpayers' assets in history."

HANDED OVER

"Billions of dollars in plants, facilities, vehicles and equipment will simply be handed over to the corporation by this legislation along with authority to borrow up to a maximum of $10 billion," he said.

"Obligations sold to the public will not be guaranteed by the U.S. . . . so the real fiscal backup lies in the monopoly price of stamps . . ."

* * *

Hukka concluded, "on the basis of our union headquarters analysis, anyone who thinks a corporation is going to do better than a Congress politically sensitive to such problems and to the American public has got bats in his philately."

Police Chase Ends in Crash

Police arrested an Orion Township man following a high-speed auto chase which ended when the man's car crashed into a bridge at about 90 miles per hour in Pontiac Township early this morning.

Jon D. Cline, 21, of 370 Waldon was at Pontiac General Hospital this morning with head abrasions.

Pontiac State Police arrested him on charges of fleeing a traffic arrest, reckless driving, driving while having a revoked license and having illegal license plates.

Trooper Gregory Stimac said he and his partner, James Uebler, chased Cline for nearly five miles at speeds reaching 100 miles per hour. The patrol car siren and flashing light was turned on.

Cline reportedly tried to force the police car off the road, forced other cars off the road, ran red lights, drove over a double yellow line to pass cars and tried to pass autos on the right, according to police.

Stimac and Uebler said they noticed Cline's car backing up on I-75 near Lapeer Road in Pontiac Township. When they got closer to investigate, the car sped off.

Cline's car slid some 300 feet off the shoulder of Opdyke near Auburn and crashed into a bridge abutment over the Clinton River, police said.

Cline was thrown from the car and was found unconscious.

A Look at TV

Bland Season Looming

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Each new television season arrives in September and soon earns a tag. Last year was to be the season of meaningful drama and of specials. Now, less than six weeks away from curtain-raising time, 1969-70 looms as the bland season.

MISS LOWRY

The reason is not hard to fathom.

Broadcasting is under attack from various quarters, and nobody wants to make waves.

* * *

There are — and will — be congressional inquiries into network practices. There are Federal Communications Commission proceedings about renewals of individual station licenses. There is cricism about sex and violence.

And there is vast concern about the proposed withdrawl of cigarette adversiting next year, which would remove $125 million or more — 6 to 10 per cent of the industry's total.

* * *

It is a trying time when television, particularly the three major networks, is proceeding cautiously. The memory of the Smothers Brothers controversy is still green and so is the reaction of one network's affiliated stations to a variety program. "Turn-On," canceled after one performance.

* * *

The trend toward caution programming is evident in the categories of the 21 new series. Situation comedy, treated like a stepchild a few seasons back, is in high favor. Almost half the new shows will be half-hour programs played strictly for laughs. Five new variety and music shows will join the 11 returning for another season.

* * *

The seven new dramatic series are mixed bag bug signficantly include two medical shows and one series involving doctors every third week. The veteran viewer will recall another season when television being under attack for sex and violence, both "Dr. Kildare" and "Ben Casey" were born, bringing with them built-in drama of life and death, with out fights and shoot-outs.

NO NEW WESTERNS

There are no new westerns — although six of the genre are returning — and no new war stories or private eyes.

* * *

Production costs are a bit higher this year; new faces abound; some old shows will be turning up at new times, even on different networks. Writers are attempting as usual, to add some new twists to freshen established shows; actors are worrying as usual about the competition facing their series; producers and press agents are explaining, as usual, that their shows are new and different.

During the next four weeks, this column will preview the new season and the new product.

Detroit Drug-Curb Setup 'Successful'

DETROIT (AP) — The head of the Detroit police narcotics bureau said Sunday a program aimed at curbing teenage drug abuse has been "highly successful" after five months of operation.

* * *

Lt. Warner Springfellow said the Analysis Anonymous program, in which parents can anonymously send in samples of what they believe are illegal or dangerous drugs and receive an analysis report, has been receiving about two samples a day since March.

* * *

So far, Stringfellow said, the department has received 328 samples of various drugs, weeds powders and pills. Of these, 180 turned out to be illegal drugs of one type or another.

Apollo Toy Fad Sweeping U.S.

DETROIT (AP) — Few toy fads of the 1960s have had the impact of the biggest fads of the 50s. There has been nothing that could rival Davey Crockett or the hula hoop

But it looks like the nation's toymakers may have found the magic word as the decade draw to a close.

Apollo.

Space toys, ranging from a 43-cent plastic model of the Apollo spaceship to a $295 three-dimensional model universe complete with flashing lights, are selling as fast as toy and department stores can stock them.

The AMT Corp. of Troy, manufacturers of plastic models, is working three shifts to keep toy stores stocked with model Saturn rockets, Apollos and Lunar Modules.

Tony Blake, AMT vice president for sales, says the firm's five-part Man in Space kit is sold out two months in advance.

"Anything with Apollo on it is a sure seller," said a clerk at the S.S. Kresge Co.'s downtown store. "The Gemini things seem to be at a standstill."

Solar System Sweep Urged for Spacecraft

WASHINGTON (AP) — American space scientists recommend a deep sweep around the solar system by unmanned spacecraft in the late 1970s to explore the outer reaches of the sun's bailiwick.

* * *

The Space Science Board of the National Academy of Sciences said Sunday the grand tour of Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus Neptune and Pluto might provide new clues to how life actually evolved.

The board even envisioned such craft ultimately leaving the solar system and plunging into Milky Way regions.

* * *

Another recommendation, for indefinite later years, included studying the feasibility of having a spacecraft dock on an asteroid between Mars and Jupiter to collect samples for return to earth.

COMET CHASER

The group also suggested having a spacecraft chase Halley's Comet. It last flashed into earthly view in 1910 and returns about every 77 years.

The board said grand tours of the five distant plants could be readily made in the late 1970s because of their unusual deployment at that time. It would be nearly 200 years until another such opportunity is presented, the board added.

* * *

While giving no dollar estimate, the group said the cost of the grand tour would be a small additional fraction of the money already spent by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The board's recommendations came in endorsing and releasing a report prepared by a special group of 23 scientists headed by Dr. James A. Van Allen of the University of Iowa and Dr. Gordon J. F. MacDonald of the University of California.

AEC Counters N-Test Fears

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials say a proposed series of underground nuclear weapons tests at Amchitka Island, Alaska, will be canceled if an exploratory blast of much lesser yield gives any hint of potential disaster.

The test is set for this fall, possibly as early as October.

* * *

Top weapons officials of the Atomic Energy Commission disclosed the precautions as speculation mounted that the tests would involve warheads for the proposed Safeguard missile defense system.

* * *

The AEC announcement is an attempt to counter fears that the proposed tests in the remote Aleutian Island—including the initial test—might trigger major temblors and tidal waves affecting populated areas some distance away.

QUAKE-PRONE AREA

The initial exploratory test would involve a blast matching the force of the most powerful ones hitherto set off underground at the Nevada proving grounds—blasts in the range of 1.1 megatons to 1.2 megatons. A megaton is the equivalent of 1 million tons of TNT explosive.

And, it also would be unprecedented to the degree that it would be the first blast of such power in one of the world's most earthquake-prone areas.

* * *

But the AEC officials report that while results "can not be exactly predicted," there is "good assurance" that at least the first in the proposed series of at least three "can be conducted safely as planned."

The same holds true, they said, regarding fears the tests might cause extensive death or injury to wildlife on the island.

WOULD BE JUNKED

The comments came from weapons leaders and other officials in interviews concerning what the AEC expects—and does not expect—from the proposed tests at Amchitka, only about 700 miles from Soviet territory.

They said that if any unexpected disastrous effects resulted on Amchitka or elsewhere from the initial test—to be code-named "Milrow"—plans for more powerful blasts would be junked.

But they also disclosed:

Even if the initial test produced no obvious dangers, yet revealed suggestive evidence of potential danger from the more potent blasts, plans for the letter would be intensely reassessed and possibly canceled.

They said all available evidence, including more than 200 underground tests in Nevada, indicates the initial Amchitka test would not trigger a serious earthquake or tidal wave.

WILL BE MONITORING

Scores of AEC scientists and technicians will be monitoring the shot only 30 miles from the blast point.

But they conceded that the possibility of serious earthquakes and tidal waves being triggered by the more powerful tests presently envisioned can not yet be ruled out.

* * *

That is why the first test's purpose, they said, is "to establish whether larger yield tests can be performed safely in this remote island."

Those latter tests, officials disclosed for the first time, would each involve blasts equivalent to a few million tons of TNT explosive—even higher yields than most unofficial estimates.

TWICE AS POWERFUL

Most speculation has been that the maximum yield would be around 2 megatons which still would be about twice as powerful as anything yet tested underground by the United States.

And the AEC disclosures indicated the second and third blasts could each involve at least 3 megatons. These tests, probably in late 1970 and 1971, would involve weapons-related devices.

* * *

While the officials declined to describe their nature, it is obvious from the AEC's previous public disclosures of the priority emphasis of its weapons programs that they would involve either warheads for the Safeguard ABM program or proposed improved warheads for offensive missiles.

At U.S. Shakespeare Festival

Chekhov's 'Sisters' Praised

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — Although "The Three Sisters" never got to Moscow, all drama fans can take delight in their arrival here.

In a first brush with Chekhov, the players of the American Shakespeare Festival achieve a thoroughly persuasive and steadily interesting production that rates among the best in the center's 15-year history. The play opened last weekend.

* * *

The special treasure of the staging by Michael Kahn is Kate Reid's portrayal of Masha, one of the ill-starred trio. With exquisitely detailed finesse of face and body, Miss Reid imbues the role with a very distinctive fever of subtly sudden sensuality and lyric anguish.

Marian Seldes, all spinsterish decorum, and Maria Tucci, just a trifle overmatched, complete the title threesome and commendably contribute to the firm-lined ensemble approach. Kahn, sensibly, has avoided the poetic languor sometimes conspicuous in Chekhov revivals. In addition, the oft-slighted humor of the dialogue — here in translation by Moura Budberg — gets across to the audience with refreshing verve.

* * *

The male companions of the distaff contingent are well balanced. Morris Carnovsky does the old Army doctor with colloquial aplomb; Brian Bedford makes a faintly sardonic doomed baron; and Joseph Maher as Masha's husband neatly portrays bumbling domesticity.

* * *

The only unfortunate performance is that of Mary Doyle, never credible as an old retainer.

William Ritman's scenery with birch-tree background and the costumes by Jane Greenwood, are familiar, standard Chekhovian. In a way it is reassuring that no one yet finds it necessary to shake up the Russian master with the visual distractions that haunt so much of the Shakespeare canon.

* * *

"The Three Sisters" completes the repertory which continues here into September, including "Henry V," "Much Ado About Nothing" and "Hamlet."

U.S. Firepower Routs VC on Hamburger Hill

SAIGON (AP) — Fighting flared up on Hamburger Hill Sunday night for the first time since American paratroopers captured the 3,000-foot mountain last May 20, U.S. military spokesmen reported today.

* * *

The spokesmen said North Vietnamese troops attacked a column of American tanks in a base camp on the hill overlooking the A Shau Valley. The enemy attacked with mortars, machine guns and rifles, but the thrust was broken by big 90mm tanks guns firing point-blank and a twin-engine AC47 pouring out 18,000 rounds of fire per minute.

At least nine North Vietnamese soldiers were killed, and there were no American casualties, headquarters said.

* * *

Within a few hours, 20 B52 bombers retaliated with a massive raid around the mountain to thwart any new enemy buildup.

U.S. spokesmen said they did not see any immediate major threat to American and South Vietnamese units operating in the A Shau Valley.

* * *

American tanks and armored personnel carriers from the U.S. 5th Mechanized Infantry Division have been operating on Hamburger Hill and, inside the A Shau Valley in Operation Montgomery Rendexvous. Their aim is to deny the North Vietnamese supply routes from Laos through the valley and staging areas there.

* * *

Tank trails and fields of fire have been cleared on top of Hamburger Hill, known formally as Dong Ap Bia. But U.S. officers said they do not plan to keep the armored column on the hill. They said the task force was deployed there to clear the top of the mountain for any future major fighting.

American paratroopers from the 101st Airborne Division captured the hill last May 20 at a cost of 55 Americans killed and 300 wounded in 11 separate assaults in 10 days. More than 600 North Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed.

'Unfair to Criticize Kennedy'

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixty-eight per cent of the Americans questioned in a poll for Time magazine said they think it is unfair to criticize Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's reactions following his automobile accident because it "could happen to anyone."

Time said the Harris poll of 1,609 people in more than 100 communities also showed:

- By 44 to 36 per cent, people thought Kennedy "has failed to tell the real truth."
- by 51 to 31 per cent, "a majority agrees that there still has been no adequate explanation of what he was doing at the party before the accident or with the girl who was killed."
- forty per cent thought Kennedy panicked in crisis and thus showed he was unfit for the presidency. Forty-five per cent thought he had not panicked and 15 per cent were unsure.

'FORGIVING VIEW'

Time said Americans took "a generous and forgiving view" of the incident, despite "a high degree of skepticism about Kennedy's explanation of the accident and his behavior afterward, and about the incident's bearing on his presidential image."

Mary Joe Kopechne died July 18 when a car driven by the Massachusetts Democrat plunged into a tidal pool off Chappaquiddick Island. The accident went unreported for more than nine hours.

* * *

Kennedy, the Senate majority whip, has been considered a prime contender for the Democratic nomination for president.

After the incident, he said he would seek reelection next year and if successful will serve his full six-year term. He said he would not be a presidential candidate in 1972.

'TREMENDOUS STRAIN'

Time also interviewed Mrs. Rose Kennedy, the senator's mother, in its current issue.

"How you cope is the important thing, not the events themselves,' Mrs. Kennedy said. "Teddy has been so magnificent under a tremendous strain which people don't know about. He has been overly conscientious about his father and me and about Ethel, in addition to his own obligations."

* * *

She referred to the senator's 81-year-old invalid father and Ethel Kennedy, widow of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, his brother.

"He has been so faithful in caring about us all," Mrs. Kennedy said. "It has really been unfair, the burden." She said she had not given up hope for her son's political future.

Esch Charges U.S. Fund Lag on Pollution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Marvin L. Esch, R-Mich., charged yesterday the federal government has been highly irresponsible in failing to appropriate full funding for pollution control.

"There can be no excuse for further delay in federal efforts to halt pollution and clean up our streams and lakes," he said in a report to his constituents.

"Each year of delay leads to rapidly deteriorating conditions."

"Unless we take action promptly, the entire balance of nature in the nation will be destroyed."

PLEDGE BROKEN

Each noted that Michigan voters last year committed themselves to a $335-million bond issue to finance local waste water treatment facilities on the basis of a federal promise to match those funds, 50-50. But the federal government has put up less than one-quarter of the pledge amount, he said.

Michigan next year should have a $42 million slice of the federal authorization, but under present budget figures will receive less than $8 million, Esch said.

"These inadequate funds simply must be increased, and I have urged the House Appropriations Committee to take affirmative action in this area," he said.

House Tackles Surcharge Bill

Six-Month Extension Set Up for Quick OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House launched a busy week of work on tax matters today by tackling the touchy problem of the 10 per cent surtax—which has had no legal footing since Thursday.

House leaders set up the machinery for quick passage of the six-month extension approved by the Senate last Thursday.

* * *

Authority for withholding the surtax from paychecks ended at midnight Thursday. Treasury officials said there would be no problem if the House immediately passes the six-month extension and sends it to President Nixon.

The House on June 30 voted by a narrow 210-205 margin to extend the surtax at 10 per cent for the last half of the current year and 5 per cent for the first half of 1970.

COMPROMISE OK'D

The Senate balked at the full year's extension, but finally agreed to let the 10 per cent addition to the income tax remain in effect until Dec. 31.

House opposition to the surtax extension, which brought the close vote on June 30, was led by representatives who said tax-reform legislation should be dealt with at the same time.

A RAINY WELCOME — President Nixon is greeted by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., last night as Nixon returned from his world trip. The President arrived in a rainstorm at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington.

U. S. to Back Loan for White Golf Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department agency, plowing past some of its own rules, is about to underwrite a $265,000 loan to build a golf course in the Mississippi district of Rep. Jamie Whitten, chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that approves the department's budget.

The Farmers Home Administration already has approved the loan guarantee for the all-white Natchez Trace Golf Club Inc., but formal closing is not expected for a month or more.

The loan will enable the country club to buy land it has been leasing for a 9-hole golf course, buy and build an additional nine holes and construct a clubhouse, swimming pool, tennis courts and other facilities.

The club is in Lee County, where, according to government figures, about 40 per cent of the families live below poverty income levels. Last fiscal year, the Agriculture Department spent $300,000 — about the same as the golf course loan's face value — on food stamps for 3,000 recipients there.

Agency officials both here and in Mississippi said they could find no indication that Whitten, a Democrat, had exerted any pressure or made any inquiry about progress of the application.

But Whitten told a reporter he had in fact written a letter asking about the project's status. "I did in that case as I did in many others," he said. "When the local people are for something, you naturally ask for them how it's doing."

★ ★ ★

The loan is one of about 500 made for golf courses since the program began in 1962. Inquiries disclosed, though, that it exceeds the agency's usual practices for the recreation loan program.

"We try to avoid indebtedness of more than $1,000 per family membership," administration loan officer Robert S. Crites said. The clug had 221 members at the time of its application and now has 231, which would put the indebtedness at $1,147 per family, or 15 per cent above the guideline.

While the government is not directly loaning the $265,000, it may pay out more than that amount, an estimated $271,000, in servicing the 40-year loan.

The Bank of Mississippi at Tupelo, Miss., is making the actual money available. The golf club is paying only 5 per cent interest, however, so the government must put up additional interest to make the arrangement acceptable to the bank.

The 40-year term given the Natchez Trace group is the maximum permitted for recreation loans. The club is putting up $71,410 for the project.

★ ★ ★

The applicants barely squeezed past requirements on population of the area to be served by the course.

Their application initially was returned because the service area centered on Tupelo, a community of 17,000. According to loan requirements, the facilities must "primarily serve farmers and other rural residents." A rural resident is defined as "a permanent resident of a rural area or small country town of not more than 5,500 population which is not part of an urban area."

Nixon Reporting on His World Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon called in congressional leaders today to report on his globe-circling trip which, he said, shows the world can live in peace despite divergent political systems.

On his arrival home, Nixon noted that everywhere he went — from populous Asia to Communist Romania — the young people in particular were captivated by man's landing on the moon.

★ ★ ★

"Some way, when those two Americans stepped on the moon, the people of the world were brought closer together," he said.

"The spirt of Apollo transcends geographical barriers and political differences. It can bring the people of the world together in peace."

'MOVING EXPERIENCE'

An elated Nixon spoke to a rain-drenched throng of high U.S. officials, diplomats and plain spectators last night after returning to nearby Andrews Air Force Base from his 12-day trip which took him to eight countries.

Earlier in the day he had completed a visit to Romania which he termed "the most moving experience that I have had in traveling to over 60 countries in the world."

★ ★ ★

Recalling the hundreds of thousands in the Communist country who turned out to cheer the first American president ever to call on them, Nixon again sounded the theme that "differences in political philosophy cannot permanently divide the peoples of the world."

Both Republican and Democratic leaders from House and Senate were invited to the early morning session at the White House for Nixon's personal report on his 25,655-mile journey to the Philippines, Indonesia, Thailand, South Vietnam, India, Pakistan, Romania and England.

GYPSY DANCE

Nixon concluded his 27-hour visit to Romania by doing a brief hand-in-hand gypsy dance with President Nicolae Ceausescu at a Bucharest display village, then huddling for final private talks with the Romanian chief.

The session produced agreement on setting up an American library in Romania and a Romanian library in the United States; on reopening negotiations toward a consular pact between the two countries; and on a move to resume talks on a civil aviation accord.

★ ★ ★

A U.S. sum-up statement on the Nixon-Ceausescu parley also reported renewed emphasis by both sides that nations should be allowed to liev in peace without outside interference, regardless of political ideologies.

But it was the size and the emotional surge of the crowds which made the biggest impact on the Nixon entourage.

★ ★ ★

Col. Martin Dumitru, chief of Romanian security for the visit estimated that two million of his countrymen had turned out for the series of motorcades in the first trip to a Communist country by a U.S. president since World War II.

Mafia Is Mulling Plot on Colombo, Lazaros Alleges

By JIM LONG

Peter Lazaros, who claims he ran Mafia operations in Oakland County, hinted today that a plot on the life of grand juror Robert F. Colombo may be hatching in the underworld.

"The people who the grand jury will involve are desperate," Lazaros said. "Their minds are working the same as when they planned to assassinate Judge (James S.) Thorburn."

★ ★ ★

Lazaros' indication of another murder plot came this morning outside the courtroom of Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem, who is presiding over an extortion trial against Joseph Barbara, an alleged Mafia figure.

Lazaros' wife, Delores, has accused Barbara of extorting $4,000 and a diamond ring and raping her on two occasions in early 1968.

CONFERENCE CANCELED

Lazaros theory about other murder plots was put forth as he was telling newsmen that he had canceled a press conference that was to have been held at his home at 2410 Dalesford, Troy, today.

He said he had postponed the meeting until after Barbara's trial. Lazaros said he was on standby to testify in the case and didn't want the conference to interfere with his taking the witness stand.

★ ★ ★

At the postponed press conference, Lazaros indicated, he was going to outline what he claims was the involvement of the Mafia with the State Racing Commissioner's office.

"Let me make it clear, this does not have anything to do with the commissioner, just his staff," Lazaros said.

Detroit recorder's court judge Colombo was selected last month to head a full-

Won't Keep Up Fight if ABM Is OK'd--Key Dem

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says he will not wage "intermittent warfare" against President Nixon's Safeguard missile defense program if it wins approval in its big test this week.

Although the issue of deploying the system will be decided Wednesday, the administration has more hurdles to face when Congress acts later in the year on appropriations to actualy pay for the project.

★ ★ ★

Opponents, including Mansfield, could have a new avenue to block the project in the funding measure.

But Mansfield, in an interview, noted that the military construction appropriations subcommittee he heads will have jurisdiction over only a tiny share of the Safeguard budget for the next year. That would be the money to buy land for two initial deployment locations, and for 10 sites for later expansion.

MORE TO COME

In later phases of Safeguard budgeting, however, increasing portions of the project would be in the military construction category.

"I don't intend to carry on intermittent warfare on this," Mansfield said in an interview. "The Senate has got to decide."

★ ★ ★

A vote is scheduled Wednesday on an amendment which would limit Safeguard work to research and development, barring for the current year spending for actual deployment.

It would not cut the $759.1 million budgeted for the system.

2 HOLD THE KEY

Two senior senators apparently hold the key. Sens. John J. Williams, R-Del., and Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., remain uncommitted in a nearly deadlocked Senate. If both side with President Nixon and everyone else stands firm in previously indicated positions, a 50-50 tie vote is in prospect. That would defeat the amendment.

Other amendments will follow, but the first one is the crucial test.

★ ★ ★

Senate debate moved into its fifth week today.

"I believe prudence requires us to support the President of the United States'" said Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, in a speech prepared for Senate delivery.

But Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., told his constituents the system is not ready for deployment, and urged a compromise which would stress research work.

Without doubt the cart is being placed before the horse," he said. "When that happens in government, it usually means a multimillion dollar waste."

Death Probe Widens; Pieces 'Start to Fit'

From Our News Wires

ANN ARBOR — Michigan authorities say their investigation into the slayings of seven young women in Southeast Michigan is being extended to similar murders in California and Canada.

Law authorities also revealed yesterday they believe more than one person was involved in the slayings.

★ ★ ★

"The pieces are starting to fit together," said Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey.

The investigation gained momentum since the arrest last Thursday of John N. Collins, 22, an Estern Michigan University student in elementary education.

HELD WITHOUT BOND

Collins is being held without bond on a first-degree murder charge in the strangulation of EMU coed Karen Sue Beineman, whose nude body was found in a ravine July 26, three days after her disappearance.

Two police investigators were sent yesterday to Salinas, Calif., to probe the slayings of two women about a month ago. In addition, Michigan authorities said they would investigate the sex slaying of a teen-ager near Los Angeles. Harvey said he believed Collins was in California at the time of the deaths.

"Police also are investigating some recent killings, probably of a similar nature, somewhere within Ontario," said Curtis Stadtfeld, an Eastern Michigan information officer who is acting as the news coordinator for the investigation.

Police also reported they believed several motorcycles which may have been involved in the case were stolen.

The Detroit Free Press said today that officers were watching some of Collins' associates.

Frank Boynton, also an EMU senior and a fraternity brother of Collins, told a newsman that he and several others recently were skeet shooting near the farm where 13-year-old Dawn Basom, youngest of the slain girls, was believed to have been murdered.

Boynton said Collins appeared and pulled out a 22-caliber pistol, fired several shots and then put the gun away.

Two of the other victims, Alice Kalom, 21, found dead June 9, and Jane Mixer, 23, whose body was discovered March 21, were shot through the head with a .22.

★ ★ ★

It was learned that Collins was seen several times frequenting single parties at the Rubiayat, a cocktail lounge-restaurant in downtown Ann Arbor. Miss Kalom reportedly also was seen often at the Rubaiyat and was believed to have been there on June 6, the night she disappeared.

Mishap on Dixie Kills Detroit Man

A Detroit man was killed when the car in which he was riding collided with another vehicle in Independence Township Saturday night.

Dead is Etherto Robinson, 31, who was a passenger in a car which apparently struck another car in the rear on Dixie Highway near Foster Road at about 11:30 p.m., according to Pontiac State Police.

Police say the accident is still being investigated and that details of the accident are incomplete.

Police did say a car driven by Samuel J. Isaac, 49, of Flint went off Dixie Highway onto the shoulder and the other car struck it in the rear.

POLE STRUCK

The latter car, driven by Les V. Robinson, 23, of Detroit, then struck a telephone pole and rolled over.

Robinson suffered minor injuries. He was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released. Isaac didn't report any injuries.

Life on Mars? Not Like Earth's

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — If there is life on Mars, it is chemically different from any of the vegetable or animal life known to man, according to a preliminary analysis of data recorded by Mariner 6.

Although Mariner 6 detected water ice in the atmosphere when it flew past the Red Planet last week, it found no evidence of nitrogen, an element present in every living molecule of earth.

★ ★ ★

Mariner 7, the 850-pound space twin of Mariner 6, was due to swoop by the south polar cap of Mars at 11:39 (Pontiac time) tonight at a distance of about 2,000 miles.

★ ★ ★

Scientists hope instruments aboard the windmill-shaped spacecraft will determine whether the cap is made of frozen water, or, as more generally believed, frozen carbon dioxide — dry ice.

'CANALS' SETTLED

If the riddle of whether there is life on Mars remained unanswered, the controversy over the so-called Martian "canals" seemed settled once and for all.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Early today, Mariner 7 began snapping its final series of "far encounter" pictures as it hurtled toward its rendezvous with Mars. A total of 93 pictures were taken at distances ranging from 1.14 million miles away to 65,550 miles.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman at JPL said the pictures were of much better quality than those snapped last week by Mariner 6. Scientists complained the ones from Mariner 6 lacked contrast, although they generally were satisfied with the quality.

Hippo Meat Is Latest Treat

NEW YORK (AP)—Take one average size hippopotamus. Chop well, season and voila! You have enough meat for 1,200 small cans of the newest food delicacy on the market.

The 15th annual National Fancy Food and Confection show opened here yesterday, with over 700 companies and 11 foreign countries.

★ ★ ★

And the company that previously pushed such gourmet goodies as chocolate covered ants, French fried grasshoppers and canned rattlesnakes offered a new delicacy —hippopotamus.

SLIGHTLY GAMY

A spokesman for the company described the flavor of hippopotamus—a popular food in South Africa—as "slightly gamy," then added, "You know you're not eating steak."

Other specialties at the show were more mundane in flavor, but even further out in concept.

One enterprising candy company presented "moon rocks." The candies, about an inch in diameter and generally oval, have a cream center, a layer of chocolate and a sugar coating spotted to look like rocks.

TV-INSPIRED

"We were watching television one day and my son said 'Why don't you make a moon candy?'" explained a spokesman for the company when asked where the idea came from.

★ ★ ★

Foreign exhibitors offered foods popular in their countries. Japan showed "instant noodles" which are dehydrated and can be cooked in five minutes and packaged sukiyaki ready to heat and serve.

★ ★ ★

Soviets Delaying Arms Talks—HHH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hubert H. Humphrey, recently returned from the Soviet Union, says the Russians feel the United States is ahead of them in developing multiple-warhead missiles. As a result, he said, they are delaying arms limitation talks until they can catch up.

* * *

In an interview at his Washington office, Humphrey said "The overriding concern in the Soviet Union today is about security. They don't advance the discussion on China, but once it is open they are very concerned about the border problems with China."

"And they are very concerned," he added, "lest we seem to be playing off China against the Soviet Union. They want to know where we stand. . . ."

* * *

Humphrey said the Soviets understand the United States has the economic power to surpass them when America puts a priority on a project — such as getting a man on the moon. Because of that, he said, they realize they cannot win any arms race.

AGREEMENT STALLED

But an agreement on halting the arms buildup, he said, is being stalled because of the so-called MIRV — multiple independently targeted reentry vehicle — or multiple-warhead missile. The MIRV is intended to increase the firepower of existing missiles by putting more warheads on them and sending them after different targets when the missile reenters the earth's atmosphere.

"It's my view that the Soviet Union has — and I've never said this to anyone before — information on our MIRV, which indicates to them that we're ahead in the multiple independently targeted nuclear warheads and that they're stalling for some testing of their own so that when they go to that bargaining table, they're in a position of equals.

* * *

"Now does this mean there will be no negotiations? The answer is no. I think that those negotiations will start very soon.

". . . Soviet leaders, I think, now are more concerned about their relationship with the United States than ever before and I believe that now is a fortuitous moment for us to proceed to discuss a number of items.

CAN START TALKS

"I think we're now at the stage where we can start to really negotiate more seriously than we have in the past with the Soviet Union on space technology and cooperation."

Humphrey added the Soviets seem to be more concerned about the MIRV than about the antiballistic missile system (ABM) which has taken up most of the public military debate in the United States recently.

* * *

When asked about a comeback in politics, perhaps via the U.S. Senate seat from Minnesota being vacated next year by Eugene J. McCarthy, the sparkle in Humphrey's eyes was more revealing than his answer:

"One never knows. This is an uncertain time in which we live. I really haven't made up my mind. I don't want to play games with a serious matter like the Senate. I am giving it serious consideration . . . I like the Senate . . . but I need to take a big look at what I want to do with my life."

DA Due to Air Inquest Push in Kennedy Case

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (UPI) — A district attorney's still-unexplained request for an inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne in a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy comes up for court consideration this week.

Dist. Atty., Edmund S. Dinis asked for the appointment of a judge to conduct the inquest, but his request was turned down Friday by the state's chief superior court justice, and referred to district court. Dinis then made his written request to Chief District Court Judge Kenneth I. Nash and Judge James A. Boyle of Edgartown.

* * *

The district attorney is expected to explain his legal reasons for pursuing the inquest sometime this week.

He canceled a news conference Saturday, but those close to Dinis have said he plans "a thorough and long" judicial review of the case in order to end all speculation about it.

PLEADED GUILTY

The senator pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of a fatal accident and received a two-month suspended jail sentence.

Edgartown Police Chief Dominick J. Arena and Dukes County Special Prosecutor Walter E. Steele have said they consider the case closed.

* * *

Kennedy's car plunged into a saltwater pond on Chappaquiddick Island adjacent to Martha's Vineyard late at night on July 18. The senator escaped but Miss Kopechne, a former secretary to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was trapped in the car and drowned.

Kennedy did not report the accident for nine hours and only made a full statement after he pleaded guilty to the court charge.

* * *

His remarks to a national television audience aroused much sympathy but did not still all questions about the circumstances of the accident.

Religious Warfare Injures 90 in Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — More than 90 persons were injured as Northern Ireland's religious warfare spread to Belfast over the weekend. It was the worst violence in the capital since before World War II.

Two members of the British Parliament called on Home Secretary James Callaghan to intervene, but the British government is traditionally reluctant to take a direct hand in local affairs in Northern Ireland. The territory has domestic self-government but remained in the United Kingdom when Ireland was partitioned 50 years ago.

* * *

The provincial Cabinet held an emergency meeting yesterday and said the government would take "any measures, however firm or exceptional," to bring the violence to an end. The statement implied that the government was prepared to call in the British Army, but despite the warning there was more rioting last night.

Protestants and Catholics have been feuding and fighting in Northern Ireland for more than 2000 years. Unlike the Catholic-dominated Irish Republic, the six northern counties of Ulster have a Protestant majority. The Catholics charge that they are discriminated against by the voting laws and in the allocation of housing and jobs.

BOTTLES THROWN

Violence erupted in Belfast Saturday night when milk bottles were thrown from an apartment building at crowds waiting to see a Protestant procession. About 3,000 Protestants tried to storm the building, which is largely inhabited by Catholics. Some of the Protestants broke through police lines and battled with Catholic residents.

Gangs of youths roamed the streets throwing rocks and a bar was set on fire. Several times the mobs threw gasoline bombs, street gratings and stones at police. About 100 stores were looted.

* * *

The violence subsided by dawn but resumed last night.

More than 2,000 persons built street barricades with old cars and set them on fire in mainly Protestant Shankil Road area. They set seven bars on fire, looted dozens of shops and broke hundreds of windows. They threw stones and tin cans of blazing paint at police and firemen.

A total of 55 persons were arrested.

scale investigation into crime and corruption in Oakland County and began his inquiry last Friday. Information supplied by Lazaros to State Attorney Gen. Frank J. Kelly led to the calling of the grand jury.

While not mentioning Colombo by name, Lazaros said that he earlier had made public the murder plot against Thorburn's life "because of the fact other plots to kill other judges may be going on at this time."

Asked if he was present when the plan to kill Judge Thorburn was discussed, Lazaros would only reply, "Police records will show that I was the main opponent to it."

The plot on Thorburn took place during the 1967 grand jury investigation of Hazel Park Race track, Lazaros said.

NOT UNDER OATH

He added that he has not yet been sworn to secrecy by the grand jury. "I'm a free agent and until told by the grand jury I will continue to talk," he said.

Lazaros has been under constant police guard since his disclosures about the Mafia began last October. They apparently were prompted by his anger — at the alleged rape of his wife while he was in prison.

Hanoi Set Free 'Several' Pilots, Pacifist Reports

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam has released several captive American pilots, an American pacifist reported from Hanoi today.

Rennie Davis, the pacifist, did not say how many pilots were freed or what their names and condition were. But Hanoi announced on July 3 that three airmen would be freed to mark U.S. Independence Day.

* * *

Davis, who with three other American pacifists will escort the pilots home, cabled The Associated Press here that the prisoners had been released to his group.

He said the pilots and his colleagues would fly from Hanoi to Vientiane, the capitol of Laos, tomorrow in a plane of the International Control Commission. They plan to go on to Bangkok Wednesday and then to New York on Thursday.

'MET 4 OTHERS'

Davis also cabled that his group has met four other American fliers — who are not being released — and all appeared in "excellent condition. They were Lt. Col. Robinson Risner of Oklahoma City, Maj. Roger Ingvalson of Sanford, Maine, Capt. Anthony Charles Andrews of Chico, Calif., and Lt. (j.g.) Edwin F. Miller of Franklin Lakes, N.J.

Davis, a member of the National Mobilization Committee to end the War in Vietnam, and the other three pacifists arrived in Hanoi July 18 to escort the prisoners home.

* * *

Charles H. Andrews, an attorney, the father of Capt. Andrews, said, "We're happy he's alive, but we're disappointed he wasn't one of those released."

Andrews said his son was shot down Oct. 17, 1967. The captain's wife, Gale, lives in Wichita, Kan.

* * *

Mrs. Edwin F. Miller, the mother of Lt. Miller, said he was shot down May 21, 1968, during his second tour of duty in the war. She said even though she was disappointed her son was not among those released, her morale had been boosted.

2 Bodies Found in Romulus Twp.

ROMULUS (AP) — State Police are seeking clues today to the murder of a Negro man and woman found yesterday under a culvert in Romulus Township.

Police reported a gaping wound was found in the male and that the bodies, found floating in a foot of water, had been there for several days, perhaps a week.

* * *

No identification was found on the bodies or near the scene, about a mile north of Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The bodies were discovered by John Slage of Inkster, who was showing a friend where an airplane with three passengers aboard had crashed in June.

Boundary Policy Proposed in Israel

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel would retain the Gaza Strip, the Syrian Golan Heights and the southeast shore of the Sinai Peninsula under a platform plank proposed by leaders of Israel's ruling Labor party.

The party's platform committee submitted the plank last night to a party convention which is expected to approve it this week. It would become government policy if the Labor party wins in the national election in November, as is expected.

* * *

The plank also says Israel will never permit a foreign army west of the Jordan River. This apparently means that the areas on the West Bank captured from Jordan in the 1967 war will not be returned unless they are demilitarized.

* * *

The committee said it had not had time to make any proposals regarding the status of Arabs living in the occupied territories.

School Board Meeting Set

A special meeting of the Pontiac Board of Education has been called for tomorrow night to act on a proposal to purchase some city-owned urban renewal land on the Human Resource Center site.

The meeting, called by board Vice President John Irwin, will be at 7:15 p.m. in the board offices, 350 E. Wide Track.

* * *

The $5.5-million planned Human Resource Center, a complex for 1,800 elementary pupils and community use, will be located on 16 acres just east of City Hall. The school district has acquired all other portions of the site except the city-owned land.

Police in Farmington Twp. Not Saddled to Desk Job

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The township police force here has its own version of the Canadian Mounties.

Formed in 1964 as a mounted auxiliary arm to the police department, the 17-man force presents precision drills, rides in parades and backs up the regular force in policing activities when necessary.

★ ★ ★

The riders, all of whom own their own horses and equipment, recently presented a precision drill and rode in the Farmington Founder's Festival Parade.

The group furnished the color and honor guards for Gov. William Milliken at the festival, then led the grand entry at the Festival Horse Show and gave a precision drill. Later the horsemen received a trophy for special recognition for community services.

MEETS MONTHLY

The group, eager to obtain new members, meets monthly for business meetings and drills whenever convenient.

Requirements for joining the troop are strict, according to commanding officer Sgt. James Boswell. Members must own their own horses, which must also pass inspection. Horses must be suited to parading and handing crowds.

The members buy their own uniforms and are paid $2 an hour — a token wage.

"When people cheer, that's what we're getting out of it," explained Boswell.

CATCH THE MOOD

The horses are trained to respond to a whistle and gentle pressure by the riders.

"The horses sometimes even catch the mood of parades and start dancing around," remarked Boswell. He added that horses which "act up" during performances are quietly shifted into the middle of the troop away from the crowds to calm them down.

★ ★ ★

The troop was organized in 1964 by regular Police Sgt. John Polder. At that time much of Farmington was open space and horses could go into the fields and swamps where autos and men could not get alone.

Today the horses are used primarily for crowd control and searching for an occasional lost child.

Occasionally the troop is asked to assist neighboring police forces with investigations.

Group activities continue beyond duty hours, according to Boswell. He explained that the group takes families on horseback to the open country for weekend camp-outs.

RNA Informer Freed by Judge

DETROIT (UPI) — The prosecution's star witness in the murder trial of a black nationalist charged with killing a Detroit policeman has been released from jail without bond and allowed to return to California.

David R. Brown Jr., 19, Compton, Calif., himself is accused with assault with intent to murder another policeman in the same shooting incident between police and members of the Republic of New Africa (RNA) outside the New Bethel Baptist Church here March 29.

★ ★ ★

But it was learned yesterday that Brown was released on "special probation" Friday, and the court file of the action was immediately suppressed.

In the shooting, rookie patrolman Michael Czapski, 22, was killed and his partner, Richard Worobec, 28, seriously wounded. Four members of the RNA, which was just ending a meeting in the church, were wounded when police entered firing.

TO STAND TRIAL

Rafael Viera, 21, New York, has been ordered to stand trial on second-degree murder charges in Czapski's death; Alfred Hibbitt, 26, Detroit, and Clarence J. Fuller, 25, Detroit, have been ordered to stand trial for assault with intent to murder Worobec.

★ ★ ★

All the persons, including Brown, are members of the RNA, which seeks to establish a separate, independent black nation in five southern states.

★ ★ ★

Brown is the star witness for the prosecution in all three of the cases.

He himself allegedly fired a gun at another policeman inside the church. He was ordered to stand trial for that after a pretrial examination before he testified against the others.

STATE LAW

Brown was freed under a state law known as the "Holmes Youthful Offenders Act," which provides that defendants under 21 years of age may be freed without bond on special probation if their records indicate they are unlikely to commit another crime.

Recorder's (criminal) Court Judge Joseph A. Gillis, who ordered Brown released on the motion of his attorney, Robert F. Mitchell, said he frequently frees defendants under the Holmes Act.

★ ★ ★

During pretrial examinations of Viera and Hibbitt, their lawyers reportedly tried to show Brown's testimony was influenced by promises of special treatment. He repeatedly denied the charges.

The Holmes law provides that, if special probation is satisfactorily completed, the original charge against the defendant may be dropped and all records of the case stricken.

Cabin Cruiser Burns After Fleet Blessing

MENOMINEE (AP) —A spectacular explosion aboard a plush cabin cruiser provided a touch of drama yesterday in the "blessing of the fleet" ceremonies to which a record crowd had been attracted by the rebirth of 19th Century Great Lakes freighter.

★ ★ ★

An estimated 200 ships and 30,000 spectators had assembled at the Menominee-Marinette, Wis., harbor on Green Bay, the largest audience for the ceremonies since they were first held 20 years ago at Fayette, Mich.

★ ★ ★

While Bishop Charles A. Salatka of the Marquette Roman Catholic diocese was blessing fishing craft and the 19th Century schooner, three explosions ripped through a 35-foot cabin cruiser about 100 yards beyond a Menominee breakwater.

★ ★ ★

The cruiser's occupant, Ray LaSee, 53, of De Pere, Wis., leaped overboard as flames rose 25 to 30 feet. He was the only person aboard the Ten-One, his wife having gone ashore to watch the ceremonies.

BLESSING CREDITED

The Ten-One had been among boats blessed moments earlier by the bishop. LaSee said the blessing "may have saved me."

He and his wife had stopped at the harbor after a two-week cruise to Canada, he said.

★ ★ ★

LaSee was rescued uninjured after the Coast Guard cutter Raritan, pausing to discharge passengers who had been watching the ceremonies, joined a small fleet of private vessels that went to LaSee's aid.

★ ★ ★

The Ten-One's value was placed at $40,000. The cruiser did not sink although it was extensively damaged by the fire.

SANKIN STORM

The crowd had been drawn to Menominee, scene of the blessing ceremonies since 1965, by the recent refloating of the schooner, presumed to be a ship that sank in Green Bay during a storm in 1864 with the loss of three lives.

★ ★ ★

The two-masted vessel has not yet yielded positive proof of its identity.

★ ★ ★

A crew of amateur divers from Egg Harbor, Wis., had worked for two years to recover artifacts from the sunken ship in 110 feet of water and prepare the vessel for restoration.

SMOLDERING FREIGHT CAR—Rubble of a freight car smolders (at left center) after an explosion early yesterday killed one and injured 40 persons. Authorities have not yet determined whether the blast came in a car loaded with dehydrated alfalfa or one of ammonium perchlorate.

Passing Train Sparks Blasts, Ripping Town

NOEL, Mo. (AP) — "It blew the hell out of things," said Kenneth Meador.

The mystery blast shattered a 115-car Kansas City Southern freight train as it was passing through the tiny community Sunday.

* * *

Officials pieced together this report:

About 3:45 a.m. as the freight train rolled into Noel en route from Kansas City to Shreveport, La., the crew spotted a fire on one of the cars.

"They tried to get the train out of town before it blew up, but they didn't make it," said J. W. Braswell, local station agent.

There was a relatively minor first explosion.

* * *

The volunteer fire department and some other residents were rushing to the scene when a second, devastating blast occurred. The sound of the explosion was heard as far as 40 miles away.

One piece of metal ripped through a wall of Mrs. Roxa Miller's house killing the 47-year-old beauty parlor operator.

An 800-pound railroad car wheel soared three blocks and smashed into the home of Virgil Bentley, seriously injuring his wife.

Roofs caved in. Walls buckled. Main Street was carpeted with shattered glass from store fronts. More than 40 persons were injured. Pieces of shattered railroad cars were thrown half a mile. At the site of the explosion there was a hole 15 feet deep and 50 feet across in the railway roadbed.

* * *

"Practically every building in town is damaged," said Meador, who operates a gas station.

Ambulances, fire trucks, law enforcement officials and volunteers from communities in nearby Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas rushed to Noel. Most of the injured were taken to hospitals in Gravette and Bentonville, Ark.

CAUSE UNCERTAIN

Railroad officials were uncertain just what blew up. Chief suspects were cars carrying dehydrated alfalfa and ammonium perchlorate — the latter an oxidizing agent in powder form used as a propellant in munitions.

The explosion severed some pipes on a propane gas tank standing beside the tracks, and a fire ignited which began burning off escaping fumes.

Authorities feared the 12,500-gallon tank would explode and perhaps touch off two other tanks next to it.

* * *

Police ordered the town evacuated at 2 p.m. while employes of the Empire Gas Co. rigged a 2½-inch pipeline to the tank's main valve. Just before 6 p.m. they turned a valve allowing the propane to flow in liquid form through the pipe and ignited it.

The fuel billowed into a 30-foot flame, which roared harmlessly over a ditch and by 10:30 p.m. the tank was safely drained.

And through it all, vacationers and tourists kept paddling their canoes and fishing in the Elk River not half a mile away from devastated Noel.

BLAST STRIPS BRICKS—Jim McMillen ponders his damaged home, four blocks from where a rail tank car exploded yesterday in Noel, Mo. All but a small portion of the brick siding was torn away in the blast. Dozens of homes were destroyed or damaged.

Insurgents in Key House Committee

5 Fight Military Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — A minority of five—out to approach or better the Senate's proposed $2-billion military spending cut—is mapping a heavy assault on the defense-minded majority of the House Armed Services Committee.

The five committee members' major target is the Safeguard antimissile system, but they also want wholesale cuts in other military hardware from ships to helicopters.

* * *

Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., says he isn't worried.

"I expect we'll be in charge of the cutting," Rivers said, "and this group you're talking about won't be in charge of anything."

Rivers said he too wants cuts. But he said he will insist on a $1.4-billion increase for ships—"We'll get the ships," he said—and agreed it would be hard to find enough cuts to offset that increase.

The minority group's target is the administration's $21.96-billion military procurement authorization bill. Rivers said the group made little effort to cut the $1.58-billion military construction which the committee trimmed by $346 million two weeks ago.

"This study group didn't make one damn cut, not one," Rivers said in an interview. "They're just trying to make some headlines."

* * *

The insurgents predict Rivers and the committee will agree to heavy cuts—particularly since the military has already agreed to many of the $2 billion worth of cuts proposed by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

"There is little point in the chairman's trying to shove (the money) down their throats," said Rep. Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., one of the minority members.

100 VOTES FOR CUTS

"In previous years the committee has given the military more than it asked for," Nedzi said. "But this is not that kind of year."

Nedzi, although not optimistic the full House will approve any cuts beyond those made in committee, said there may be as many as 100 votes for military spending cuts—compared to from 15 to 30 votes in past years.

* * *

Even so, the five minority members plan to take their fight to the floor after first trying to make the cuts when the committee marks up the procurement bill, possibly next week.

Besides Nedzi, the insurgents are Democrats Otis S. Pike of New York and Robert L. Leggett of California and Republicans Robert T. Stafford of Vermont and Charles W. Whalen Jr. of Ohio.

They have been meeting for weeks and have a tentative list of project cuts but have made no final decisions.

Cheating Firm Loses Contracts in Bidding

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has taken its rocket-launcher business away from a St. Louis firm which cheated the government on previous contracts. New contracts with other companies will save as much as 38 per cent of previous costs.

Nine contracts for more than a quarter million 2.75-inch rocket launchers were awarded by the Navy from July 1963 through July 1968 to Chromcraft Corp. of St. Louis, which became Techfab Division of Alsco Inc. when the two companies merged in 1966. The awards were granted on a sole source basis—that is without competitive bidding.

New contracts awarded to Varo Inc. of Garland, Tex., for 54,000 launchers and Talley Industries of Mesa, Ariz., for 59,041 launchers were let through competitive bidding, and the price came tumbling down.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., long a critic of the Defense Department's sole-source procurement, applauded the new launcher contracts.

REASON FOR WASTE

His congressional investigations have found. Proxmire said in a statement, "that a major—perhaps the principal—reason for defense waste is the lack of competitive bidding in filling most defense contracts.

* * *

"Only 11 per cent of all defense contracting is done through advertised, competitive bidding. Yet the facts show that competition in bidding could cut costs from 25 to 50 per cent," Proxmire said.

* * *

On the first seven contracts to Chromcraft-Techfab, where final prices have been determined, the cost per launcher ranged from a high of $179 down to $158, according to Navy figures. Prices on the last two contracts have yet to be determined.

The unit price of the Varo launchers will be $129 and the Talley launchers $130. The Talley price is $28 less than the lowest final price ever received by Chromcraft-Techfab.

TWICE INDICTED

Last year, Alsco and several individuals were twice indicted by federal grand juries, once in Washington on charges they created phantom suppliers and received kickbacks on launcher contracts, and once in St. Louis on charges of illegally exporting arms to Belgium.

Alsco pleaded guilty on May 5 to submitting false statements to the government in support of $14.7 million in launcher contracts. On May 22, a guilty plea was entered on the illegal exportation charge.

The Associated Press disclosed last July that Techfab had received a new launcher contract from the Navy while one of the grand jury investigations was in progress. Even after the Washington indictment was returned, the Navy said Techfab would keep the contract.

The award was justified by the Navy through "urgent need" for the launchers in Vietnam. Because Techfab owned the plans and specifications for the launchers, the time it would take to create new suppliers was prohibitive, the Navy said.

* * *

In late September, the Navy quietly backed down and announced that competitive bids were being sought on new launcher contracts. The awards were made early this year, although no deliveries have been made and the final success of the new contracts depends on on-time deliveries.

Goodrich Denies Falsifying Brake Tests for AF Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — B. F. Goodrich Co., accused by the Government Accounting Office of falsifying test reports to hide flaws, says there is no factual basis for criticism of testing procedures or qualifications of its brake in use on the new Air Force A7D attack plane.

GAO, Congress' watchdog over executive-branch spending, charged Sunday that Goodrich had altered data in tests of the ability of the brake to make aborted takeoff stops and overload halts. Sen. Wiliam Proxmire, D-Wis., said the "deviation resulted in a grave risk to human life."

A spokesman for Goodrich, one of the nation's biggest corporations, replied: "Final qualification of the BFG brake currently in use on the A7D was performed in the presence of engineers representing the aircraft manufacturers, the Air Force and BFG. These qualified brakes have performed completely satisfactorily in every detail on the airplane."

Proxmire called for the investigation after he was contacted by a design engineer involved with research on the brakes and by a technical writer who reported he was ordered by his Goodrich superiors to write false qualification reports.

Proxmire said the investigation raised serious ethical questions about Goodrich and doubts about quality-control activities of the government in contracts with private industry.

In April, Goodrich got a $90,246 contract to make 267 brake assemblies at its wheel and brake plant in Troy, Ohio. The order was subcontracted from the aeronautics division of Ling-Temco-Vought, which is producing 74 of the light attack planes that cost $1.2 million each.

The Air Force and Ling-Temco-Vought officials generally agreed the defective brakes did not actually endanger the safety of test pilots, the GAO reported. But the Federal Aviation Administration said warping or welding of the brakes could produce blowouts, landing gear collapses, gas tank puncturing and finally fire, GAO added.

The engineer and writer witnessed a near-crash during a brake test, then decided to take their evidence to the FBI and later to Proxmire, the senator said. He added that both later resigned from the company.

Goodrich was contacted by federal authorities, the GAO said. The firm offered to, and did, replace the brake without apparent cost increase or delays in delivery or testing, the GAO added.

'U.S. Interested in China Talks'

Rogers: Still Against Allowing U. N. Entry

HONG KONG (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Sunday night the United States has no plans to abandon its opposition to Red China's admission to the United Nations even though it is "very interested" in talking with Peking.

* * *

Arriving for a two-day "rest stop" after a series of conferences in Japan, South Korea and Formosa, Rogers said:

"We are definitely interested in having (Communist) China take part in world affairs. We realize there are tensions in the world and we want to talk to the people who are causing them."

But he added that the Nixon administration has no plans to change the U.S. position that Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists are the rightful holders of the Chinese seat in the United Nations.

TRADE, ATTACKS

Rogers said his government is interested in talking with Peking's representatives about "matters of trade and matters of their attacks on the rest of the world."

Moon Men in Last Week of Quarantine

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — With only one week remaining in their quarantine, three healthy Apollo 11 astronauts met with spacecraft experts today to begin wrapping up a report of their adventure before stepping out to a world waiting with honors.

Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., Michael Collins and 16 other persons isolated with them all "remain in good health," the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today, indicating there is no reason to extend their quarantine beyond the scheduled release date of next Monday.

* * *

Twenty-four mice inoculated with moon dirt last Thursday and 240 more which received doses last Saturday also have shown no ill reaction, officials said.

A spokesman said the astronauts unfortunately missed televised newscasts late Sunday which carried President Nixon's arrival speech emphasizing how people abroad were captivated by Apollo 11's moon landing, and "would have been impressed" if they had heard his words.

ROCK SAMPLES

Meanwhile, scientists planned today to open the second of two boxes of stones collected by Armstrong and Aldrin on the lunar surface.

Dr. T. Robin Brett, Manned Spacecraft Center geologist, said samples in the first box opened last week "seem to be settling down to three major rock types."

* * *

Two types appear to be hardened from molten lava, with one more dense than the other, Brett said, while the third seems to be a clod of dust — with drips of glass around it something like "the covering of taffy candy over an apple."

* * *

Scientists suggested a meteor impacting the lunar surface could have compressed dust to make the clods and melted lunar material to form glass droplets which rained back upon the surface.

Welfare Unit Data Sorted by Computer

DETROIT (AP) — Information on some 26,000 mentally retarded children and adults in the Detroit metropolitan area has been turned over to a Burroughs B-5500 computer.

It's supposed to keep track of them and remember what services each individual is receiving.

If the experimental project works, it may revolutionize social service and welfare administration in the area.

The project is being sponsored by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Michigan Department of Mental Health, and the State Interagency Cadre on Mental Retardation.

The computer project was started after cadre members discovered that no one in the state really knew what programs were available.

The purpose of the computer is to match the needs of each individual with the available programs.

If it is successful, officials say, the approach could be extended to cover other areas of social welfare.

Sen. Hart's ABM Stand Is Called Inconsistent

LANSING (AP) — A Republican member of the State Board of Education today contended Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., has shown inconsistency in his stand on the antiballistic missile system.

Prof. Leroy Augenstein, of the Michigan State University biophysics department, said at a news conference that the ABM issue "is one which should be removed from partisan politics and one in which our office-holders should not confuse us by their actions."

* * *

"That's why I can't understand the contradictions in Sen. Hart's position over the years," he said.

Augenstein said that for 10 years Hart supported the development of an arms system and voted to start the Nike-Zeus program with a $13-billion price tag even though the secretary of defense said it probably wouldn't work.

COST QUESTION

"Today, he and his group claim President Nixon's program costs too much even though it would cost less than one-half of what Nike-Zeus would have cost," Augenstein said.

"And the President has promised yearly reassessments to determine how much should be spent or even whether we should deploy the system."

* * *

"All of us want to know how Sen. Hart can justify this abrupt about face. Is it in the best interests of the country or just politics?" Augenstein asked.

Stock Market Rally Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved to higher ground in active trading early today as it continued the rally that got under way last week.

At 10:30 a.m., the Dow Jones industrial average was up 2.46 at 829.50.

* * *

Among early blocks, a 90,000-share block of Mission Corp. traded at 99, off 1.

A 12,000-share block of American Telephone & Telegraph traded at 53⅛, up ¼.

A 10,700-share block of Pan American World Airways traded at 16¾, up ⅝.

Opening prices included:

Phillips Petroleum, up ½ at 27⅞ on 9,300 shares; Chrysler, up ¾ at 39⅛ on 9,000 shares; Teledyne, up ¾ at 33⅝ on 8,900 shares; Litton Industries, off ¼ at 41⅝ on 8,400 shares; and Benguet, off ⅜ at 22⅞ on 8,100 shares.

The market advanced for the third straight session Friday to finish the week on a winning note. The ability of the market to sustain its rally, analysts said, apparently encouraged investors to get off the sidelines and back into the action.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 11.12 Friday to close at 826.59. The Associated Press 60-stock average was up 4.2 to 294.0.

Prexy Opposes Cutoff of Funds

'Could Be Just as Damaging as Protest'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of Brandeis University today warned that shutting off federal funds to universities beset by radical protest could be just as damaging as the protests.

"'Shut it down' or 'Starve it down,' these policies lead to the same end," said Brandeis President Dr. Morris B. Abram, who weathered an 11-day occupation of his school's communications center in January by Negroes demanding an autonomous black studies department.

* * *

"And, as usual, the enemies of the right and left, while throwing bricks at each other, seldom hit anything but those in between—the liberals and moderates," he said in testimony prepared for a Senate subcommittee probing campus disorder.

Abram urged the subcommittee to consider an alternate course proposed by the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence: Grant students the power to seek federal injunctions against radicals who threaten to shut down a campus.

SOBERING EXPERIENCE

"It may be a very sobering experience for radical extremists to face a federal judge and try to explain why they think they have the right to deprive others of constitutional guarantees," he said.

Abram cautioned that injunctions should be used only as a last resort.

* * *

The Brandeis protest did not seriously hamper the school's normal operation. The dispute ended when the school granted amnesty to the protesters and agreed to initiate an administration-controlled black studies program.

Abrams said most students are not destroyers.

NATION'S HOPE

"Sometimes misguided, they are generally sincere, idealistic students," he said. "And although their behavior presently underlies a grave national concern, they are our nation's hope of tomorrow."

"The plain fact is that in 1969, 2 to 3 per cent of the student population are revolutionaries—potential destroyers," he said.

"However, these radical enemies of the university within its gates have unwitting allies outside," he said.

"These are reacting to the violence on the campus by responses which amount to starving the university of support, public and private."

GM 10-Day Sales Show 14 Pct. Drop

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. has reported a 14.4 per cent drop in its daily sales pace during the last third of July.

The nation's largest auto maker said it sold 134,449 autos in the July 21-31 period, a decline from its record sales mark of 141,492 in the comparable period of last year.

There were 10 selling days in the period this year and nine last year. On a daily basis, GM sold 13,444 per day in the July 21-31 span this year, compared with 15,718 a year ago.

GM said its car sales totaled 330,037 in July, a decline from the 389,443 in July 1968. Both months had 26 selling days.

Ford, Chrysler and American Motors were expected to announce their July 21-31 sales early this week.

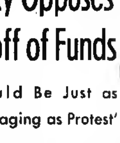
Successful Executives Require Many Traits

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — What are the qualities needed for management success? You name them. At one time or another almost every quality has been attributed to the successful top-level manager.



CUNNIFF

A brief survey of printed opinions seems to suggest that he has to be determined, sensitive, selfless and liberally educated and that he must have the stamina of a fullback, the style of a Hollywood idol and the patience, understanding and conscience of a clergyman.

* * *

Maybe so, but the one factor that always shows up in studies of successful managers is the ability to work long hours. Various studies show that long workweeks are most prevalent among professionals, managers and owners.

Assuming, however, that the hard work is a result rather than a cause of success, the search leads elsewhere. First, the comments of Lawrence Appley, former president of the American Management Association:

"There are two vast areas of knowledge a manager must master: First, the nature of the business he is managing; second, the principles and techniques required to manage."

LONG-RANGE VIEW

Appley added: "It has been said that 'he who can manage can manage anything.'" But to manage anything, Appley said, a man must understand long-range planning, be able to organize and be able to carry out his plans.

The head of a Chicago executive recruiting firm, writing in International Management magazine, asks the executive aspirant:

"Do you have the ability to see things clearly from the corporate viewpoint, divorced from personal prejudices and needs? Can you pinpoint a problem in your field of responsibility before serious trouble occurs?

* * *

"Do you encourage others to air their opinions and are you responsive to their viewpoints and suggestions? Are you willing to take a chance? Are you flexible, unafraid of change?

"Can you simplify and cut problems to size? Can you dramatize yourself and your beliefs so as to influence people toward a desired goal? Is your sense of discipline strong, meaningful, fair and immediate . . .?"

SHOULD BE BOSS

If you've answered yes to all these questions then you, not the boss, should be boss. Ironically, most workers would give positive answers to many of the questions, but very few would view their bosses as having such qualities.

The head of a large advertising agency, quoted by the Alexander Hamilton Institute, Inc., suggests that many "hot-eyed eager-beavers" who look like they want to be top executives really don't want anything of the sort.

* * *

"What they want are simply the tags and labels and appurtenances of the office; the outward and visible signs, but not the inward and spiritual torture."

Warming to his subject, as a good adman should, he continued: "They want the glory—such as it is—but not the responsibility; the keys to the presidential washroom, but not the long, lonely moments of meditation."

LIBERAL ARTS

The good manager should be liberally educated, according to a pioneer in management development courses. A good liberal arts background, said John Hite, will become increasingly important to managers of the future.

An officer of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants suggested that the job of a top management man should be measured by his performance in:

Communicating, watching trends of operations, looking after longterm interest, harmonious functioning, creative environment, and holding the position in trust.

No wonder that some authorities on management foresee a shortage of good talent coming up through the ranks.

In the old days, by contrast, the top boss often required only that you were fiercely competitive and equally loyal, zealous, bullheaded, greedy, hard-working . . .

Illinois Judge Probe to Restart; 2 Quit

CHICAGO (AP) — A state legislative committee will meet Tuesday to continue investigation of the financial dealings of judges in what one member calls "a top-to-bottom inquiry into the entire judiciary in Illinois."

Rep. Anthony Scariano, Park Forest Democrat, said Sunday, "We are going to take up where the Greenberg Commission left off."

It was the court-appointed Greenberg Commission that led to the resignations Saturday of Chief Justice Roy J. Solfisburg Jr. and Justice Ray I. Klingbiel of the State Supreme Court after it heard testimony that they accepted bank stock from a former state official who was the principal in a case before the court.

Klingbiel wrote, and Solfisburg concurred in, a 1966 opinion throwing out the conviction of former Illinois Revenue Director Theodore J. Isaacs on conflict of interest charges.

'GROSS IMPROPRIETY'

The commission, headed by Frank Greenberg, president of the Chicago Bar Association, found the judges guilty of gross improprieties in accepting the stock.

Solfisburg and Klingbiel resigned, saying they were not guilty of any wrongdoing but that the court's integrity would be questioned if they remained.

* * *

Sherman Skolnick, the self-educated legal scholar whose charges against the jurists led to the formation of the Greenberg Commission, is expected to testify before the House committee.

"I am not alone in gathering evidence," said the 39-year-old Skolnick. "There are 11 state and federal agencies gathering information and evidence against some judges in Illinois."

* * *

Law to Head Airport Panel

State Rep. Arthur J. Law, D-Pontiac, has been named chairman of a special House committee to investigate new revenues to improve airports in the state.

Law cosponsored the resolution which created the new House committee. He and the four representatives appointed to serve with him will conduct studies for the balance of the year.

The committee's findings and recommendations will be reported to the 1970 Legislature. A tax on airplane fuel, according to Law, is one revenue source for airports to be studied by the committee.

Labor Dept. Probes 'Import Electricians'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department is investigating charges by Rep. Philip E. Ruppe, R-Mich., that Canadian electricians are displacing qualified Americans in northern Michigan.

Ruppe told Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz that American electricians were laid off and replaced by Canadian journeymen at the Mead Corp. construction site in Escanaba, Mich.

* * *

He asked Shultz to "directly investigate the status of 30 Americans who have been laid off and replaced by Canadians."

Explosion Rocks Detroit Company

DETROIT (AP) — An explosion rocked the Wolverine Cartage Co. on Detroit's northeast side Sunday.

Police said there was no one on the premises at the time, and there were no injuries. The cause of the blast was not immediately known nor was there any estimate of damage.

Successful Investing

Q — Should I leave a paid-up life insurance policy with the company or take the cash value and buy stocks? — M.G. Should we borrow our insurance loan value and refinance our house to invest in stocks, bonds or mutual funds? — J. M. Should I take the cash out of a retirement annuity contract (with two more years to pay in) and invest in a mutual fund with a monthly withdrawal plan? — W.S.

A — On paper such plans may appear reasonable. In reality, though the planner is substituting unpredictable returns for absolutely proved guarantees based upon actuarial exactitude. I don't say it's impossible to win substantially from a shift of earnings reserves, but knowing market fluctuations as I do, I believe some sleepless nights could be in store for anyone who risks all his savings in the securities market.

My answer to any reader tempted to borrow on his insurance policy to take advantage of a oversold market is to leave those insurance contracts in the strongbox. Only if an emergency strikes suddenly should their cash values be used temporarily and repaid promptly. A mutual fund withdrawal plan has certain advantages, but the guaranteed monthly income from an annuity continues even if the annuitant outlives his original investment.

Q — I own some National Dairy stock. It has not appeared on the New York Stock Exchange listings for some time. Recently I received a dividend check from Kraft Co. Could you tell me what changes have taken place? — M. N.

A — The change was in name only. In recognition of its internationally known brand name name, National Dairy holders voted to adopt it as its new title. Foreign operations, conducted through the Kraft Division, accounted for over 10 per cent of last year's sales. Earnings growth, which has averaged a rate of 6.8 per cent in the past five years, slowed down in the second quarter after a 7.1 per cent increase in the first three months. Full-year results should be up slightly as the product mix continues its shift toward greater sales of higher-margined packaged foods. Share are an excellent holding for the conservative investor.
