Violent Accidents Mar Thanksgiving

Leading Killer Is Traffic; 4 Die on State Roads

National Highway Toll Nearly Same as Count in Nonholiday Period

National Holiday Deaths Traffic 121
Fires 16
Miscellaneous 23
Total 160

By The Associated Press

Snow-slickened highways in the southern part of the state today brought more traffic peril to Michigan which has already recorded four highway deaths at the start of the Thanksgiving Day weekend.

Across the nation, violent accidental deaths marred observance of the Thanksgiving holiday in many homes. Traffic, as usual, was the leading killer.

The traffic toll since the start of the count for the four-day weekend far exceeded the number killed in fires and miscellaneous accidents. However, it appeared to be running near or slightly below the average for a comparable non-holiday period.

The count, which started at 6 p.m. (local time) Wednesday, is to continue to midnight Sunday, covering a period of 102 hours.

Fires claimed the lives of nine children Thursday. Five died in a fire which destroyed a home for retarded and crippled children in Oklahoma City.

Four children and their parents perished in a fire in the suburban area of Little Rock, Ark. Two 12-year-old Chicago boys drowned when they fell through the thin ice in a park lagoon.

In Michigan, three persons died Thursday and one Thanksgiving eve.

Lloyd F. Blomshine, 64, Lowell, was the nation's first reported traffic victim for the period. He was killed Wednesday night when his car skidded on a snow-covered road near Grand Rapids and collided with a truck.

Marvin J. Smith, 25, Flint, was killed Thursday when his car hit a bridge abutment near Coldwater.

John Roelens, 22, Port Huron, was killed Thursday when his car skidded on M21 east of Port Huron and smashed into a tree.

Mrs. Colleen Kay Hoevermyer, 20, Monroe, was killed Thursday, in an auto-train collision at a crossing near Petersburg.

Nixon Treats Queen to Real 'Pilgrim' Dinner

LONDON (UPI) — Vice President Richard Nixon and his guest, Britain's Queen Elizabeth II, had a real American Thanksgiving dinner at the U.S. Embassy residence last night.

Real dindere Norfolk roti a l'Americaine and pommes croquettes — better known as turkey and sweet potatoes.

Freely translated from the French, it means turkey from the English county of Norfolk, roasted American style — by a French chef.

Thankful for No Smog

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles had something to be thankful for on Thanksgiving Day. The city was free from smog and had its first sunny day of the week after a prolonged attack that was made worse by a heavy fog Monday and Tuesday.

Operations by Eastern and Trans World airlines have been halted since Monday by strikes involving about 35,000 flight engineers and mechanics.

Roads Slippery, Drivers Beware

County's First Taste of Winter Making It Hazardous at Wheel

County roads and highways were reported slippery and driving conditions hazardous as the Pontiac area got its first real taste of winter today.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast for the Detroit and Pontiac vicinity predicted snow accumulating to four inches and continued cold with a high today of 30 degrees.

The winds will be variable 5 to 15 m.p.h. today and Saturday with snow tonight gradually diminishing to flurries Saturday.

Tonight's low is predicted at 25 degrees with a high of 32 tomorrow.

Snow was forecast throughout lower Michigan with most of it falling in the southern sector. Upper Michigan's outlook was for colder temperatures and little snow today and Saturday.

The state outlook for Sunday was for partly cloudy weather with a few scattered snow flurries near the lakes.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies and State Police at the Pontiac and Redford posts reported few minor accidents, but said all roads were snow-covered and driving was considered "extremely hazardous."

No accidents were reported to sheriff's deputies or Pontiac State troopers from midnight Thursday to 11 a.m. today. The Redford Post (Continued on Page 13, Col. 4)

Western Sector Digging In for Cold War Siege

2,200,000 Citizens in Area See Period of Uncertainty Ahead

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

Berlin AP Bureau Chief
BERLIN (AP)—West Berliners dug in today for a six-month cold war siege.

Their officials spurned the Soviet proposal to drive the Western Allies back beyond the Iron Curtain by converting West Berlin into a demilitarized "free city."

West Berliners clearly saw the next six months as a period of uncertainty.

A shopgirl gave a typical reaction: "I'm afraid that if the Allies leave, the Communist people's police would come marching in one day. If the Big Four turn West Berlin into a free city, I'll start looking for a job in West Germany. Yes, the exodus to West Germany would start immediately."

"We in West Berlin say no," Mayor Willy Brandt declared in a radio and television broadcast after an emergency meeting of his Cabinet to study Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposals.

All West Berlin parties, newspapers and ordinary citizens seemed to back him up.

The 44-year-old Socialist mayor, appealing for the support of the Western world, promised that West Berlin's 2,200,000 citizens would not panic as the six months proposed by Khrushchev for negotiations run out.

"We are not afraid," he said. "We will not be shaken. We will not get panicky. We will go on reconstructing. We will continue to have faith in our friends."

The Western powers withheld their final word on the Soviet proposal, but the preliminary reaction indicated they would turn thumbs down.

Hydrants Save Day for New Yorkers

NEW YORK (AP)—The use of fire hydrants saved hundreds of turkey dinners when a six-inch water main burst in Brooklyn, leaving 1,800 homes without water.

The main break came about 1 p.m., when housewives were readying the holiday meal. With turkeys to be basted and vegetables to be boiled, they were in a panic.

Along came the City Water Department, stationing a man at each fire hydrant in the area. Along came the housewives, pitchers in hand, to stock up on water.

Regular home water service was promised for today.

City Vice Crackdown Promised by Eastman

Public Safety Director George D. Eastman today promised a crackdown on vice in Pontiac following reports from the head of the vice squad and other officers that gambling, prostitution and narcotics operations are thriving here.

Eastman made the reports public yesterday.

One of the more detailed reports was submitted by Detective Richard G. Evans, who said that at least three numbers rings — and probably a fourth — are in operation.

Evans also said a horse-bet ring is operating with an annual gross business of from two to five million dollars.

Gamblers come from Flint, Saginaw and Detroit to participate in a floating card game called "skin," he said.

"Narcotics are being sold on a large scale in the southern section of the city. The use of marijuana is more widespread," Evans reported.

Houses of prostitution operate almost "without fear of police action" and prostitutes operate on their own in areas where illegal liquor sales are also transacted on a large scale, his report charged.

Evans said a "considerable amount" of moonshine whiskey is being sold here.

He called the current vice condition in the city "deplorable."

Called upon to explain enforcement policies on vice, Evans said, "I am unable to explain a policy where there is no policy."

The vice squad head said that in the past officers were appointed to the vice detail for many reasons, "merit not being one of them."

"They have been left to operate on their own without instructions or an understanding as to what they were expected to accomplish," Evans explained.

"No emphasis was placed on narcotics or organized crime. The majority of the vice squad activity was confined to the policing of liquor establishments and the occasional raiding of a gambling game or house of prostitution."

Officers have been placed on the vice detail as "punishment" for displeasing superiors, Evans said.

The municipal courts were criticized in his report. "Unreasonably light fines are ordered upon sentencing, regardless of the culprit's past record, and it is the arresting officer who is on trial," he said.

The reports were ordered by Eastman to help him in formulating a new police policy on vice.

1st Thor Missile on Launch Pad in England

FELTWELL, England (AP) — Final checks by civilian contractors were under way today on the American-built Thor — the intermediate-range ballistic missile — launching base on England's east coast.

The Thor—which does not yet contain a nuclear warhead — arrived here in September. It since has been moved to its permanent launching site.

Just when the Thor will reach the operational stage is something the Air Ministry declines to say. The indications are that it may be within a month.

Under a U.S.-British agreement, any decision to launch the ICBM must be a joint one, made in the light of circumstances and under provisions of the North Atlantic Treaty.

The British-American agreement specifically says the United States shall provide the nuclear warhead and this warhead must remain in American custody.

The Thor, in its launching emplacement, stands straight up. Just which way it moves on launching is in the hands of its controllers.

Guns, Heart Attacks Kill 3 State Hunters

By The Associated Press

One hunter was shot to death and two others suffered heart attacks over the Thanksgiving Day holiday in Michigan.

The latest accidents brought the number of shooting victims to 10 and those with heart ailments to 17 since the opening of the deer season Nov. 15.

Killed by gunfire Thursday was Edmund Socha, 32, of Cheboygan. Police said he was hunting in the southern part of Cheboygan County with his brothers when he was shot by an unknown person. Socha, a salesman, was the father of two children.

Latest reported heart victims were Neal Frenthway, 62, of Alger, who died while hunting in Alpena County and Victor Savage, 60, of Saginaw, who was hunting in Iosco County.

In addition, a duck hunter drowned in Lake St. Clair Thursday when he was unable to cling to his overturned boat. Two companions were rescued. The victim was James Anglin, 36, of Detroit.

47 Smiths Eat Turkey

MONTEBELLO, Calif. (AP) — The American Legion hall in this Los Angeles suburb was occupied by Smiths Thursday — 47 of them. There were Fred Smith, 75, and his wife, who celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary next month; 5 sons, partners in a tire firm; 2 daughters; 26 grandchildren; 3 great-grandchildren and assorted wives, husbands and in-laws. They made short work of several huge turkeys.

The statement noted that the "free city" would be limited to West Berlin.

Long Diplomatic Fight Expected Against Ouster

U.S. Won't Abandon Peoples of West Berlin 'to Hostile Domination'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and its allies began mapping strategy today for a long diplomatic battle against the Soviet Union's "free city" campaign to oust them from West Berlin.

The State Department gave stern notice Thursday night that the U.S. government does not intend to "enter into any agreement with the Soviet Union which, whatever the form, would have the end result of abandoning the people of West Berlin to hostile domination."

The statement promised careful study of the Soviet proposal to convert West Berlin into a free city protected by some kind of United Nations watchdog operation.

It also promised consultations with Britain, France and West Germany as well as the rest of the NATO Allies.

But officials said privately today that while the statement did not specifically and immediately reject the Soviet proposition, there was no doubt that in the long run, probably late next month, it would be turned down.

Some Western counterproposal calling for a solution of the Berlin problem as part of an all-German settlement may be put forth at the same time.

Indications were that the consultations will reach a climax at a meeting of foreign ministers of the 15 North Atlantic Allies in Paris Dec. 15.

Officials predicted the Western powers would delay until then their reply to notes sent them Thursday by the Soviet government.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev made clear that for the next six months he does not plan to force a showdown over the Berlin issue.

EASES TENSION

This took most of the tension out of the crisis which has been building up since he announced Nov. 10 that he would turn over to the East German Communist regime the remaining authority exercised by the Soviet government in East Berlin.

Reaction from European capitals concerned paralleled that in Washington: the "free city" formula offered by Khrushchev is but a device to get the Western powers to withdraw from Berlin, and is therefore unacceptable.

The United States statement said, "The Soviets seem to be proposing that while they keep their grip on East Berlin, the three Western Allies abandon their rights in West Berlin and retire in favor of what is called a 'free city'."

The statement noted that the "free city" would be limited to West Berlin.

For Letters in Nine-County Area

Post Office Gives 1-Day Delivery

By SYLVIA COLE

New postal improvements, aimed at providing next-day first-class letter service for residents of a nine-county metropolitan area, including Pontiac and Oakland County, are now in effect. Robert C. Miller, Pontiac acting postmaster, announced today.

Barring occasional human errors, letters deposited before 5 p.m. on weekdays will be delivered to their destinations in the first delivery following the weekday under the new Metro Service system, he said.

Besides Oakland, the 7,000-square mile area includes Wayne, Macomb, Lapeer, Genesee, Livingston, St. Clair, Monroe and Washtenaw Counties.

The latest improvements are a result of intensive study and planning, Miller said. The speeded-up delivery of most of the first class mail in the area was made possible due to a closely-integrated timetable which governs the work of the area's postal units and the transportation linking them together, according to Miller.

In addition to the collections made from all boxes in the city shortly after 5 p.m., a final late evening collection trip is being made in the downtown area between 7:45 and 8:45 p.m.

This mail will be dispatched from the Post Office at midnight and is not a part of the Metro Service. A large white star is painted on all boxes where the late collection trip is made, he explained.

The revised service establishes special mail exchanges between Dearborn, Royal Oak and East Detroit and sets up a mail "concentration center" at each of these three post offices. Thus, mail can by-pass the over-loaded Detroit Post Office, he added.

The second basic element of the new plan is the designation of area "sectional center" post offices at Pontiac, Port Huron, Flint, Ann Arbor and Monroe.

These will assure mail being processed close to origin, held to the shortest line of travel to addressee and by-passing congested large centers. Daily dispatches of mail between county seats and all post offices in each county area also are assured in this manner.

Thirty-three highway mail routes had to be changed to make the new system possible.

The change guarantees that all letters mailed in Pontiac by 5 p.m. will be delivered in the next morning's first mail at any post office in the metropolitan area.

Bell Pays Taxes, State Anticipates, Pays Universities

LANSING (U)—It's like a revolving door these days at Michigan's nearly bare State Treasury. Out Wednesday went long deferred checks for $3,600,000 to the three major state universities. In today came $2,248,781 in a property tax payment from the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

The Bell money represented the second half installment of its largest annual tax payment to the state. It was earmarked for the state school primary interest fund.

The cash for the universities came due the first of October. Disbursement was held up until precarious treasury balances improved, and threatened the schools with a need to borrow money from banks to meet payrolls — which now can be avoided temporarily, at least at MSU.

Warrants were mailed in these amounts: University of Michigan, $2,700,000; Michigan State University, $2,110,000 and Wayne State University, $810,000.

West Berlin Digs In for Cold War Siege

Adenauer and French Premier Charles de Gaulle had already announced Wednesday that the West's promise to maintain the occupation must be kept.

West German Socialist leader Erich Ollenhauer, Adenauer's chief opposition, assured West Berliners that his party also stands firmly behind them.

All the Western governments indicated, however, that the 24-page Khrushchev note would be carefully considered before they come up with their replies.

Khrushchev proposed that West Berlin be turned into a "demilitarized free city" with U.N. observers keeping watch over its neutrality after Western troops pull out.

He gave the West six months to negotiate the switch but said if it turned down the proposal, the Soviet would go ahead and transfer to East Germany the control of Allied supply lines to the isolated city.

Four American congressmen flew here from Britain across East Germany in a U.S. Navy plane as a demonstration of support for West Berliners.

Eastman Promises Crackdown on Vice

Eastman, commenting that uniformed policemen and vice detail officers apparently haven't been cooperating, said he has set three goals for his department: (1) No syndicated or controlled vice; (2) enforcement to the point where there is no serious harm to the community; and (3) no collusion between vice interests and the police.

Eastman said he plans to increase pressure gradually on vice activities "through proper enforcement until we achieve our goal."

Several officers asked by Eastman why vice has been allowed to run openly, told him that "they got tired of reporting violations and having nothing happen."

One Pontiac patrolman, Jess W. Quick was arrested Sept. 4 on a charge of bribery and conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Quick, 43, who is accused of trying to bribe a police officer to supply information for a gambling ring, is awaiting examination.

Chief Straley has been asked to turn in a report on vice, Eastman said, but so far has not done so. The chief is attending a funeral out of town and will not return until Monday.

"I am not naive enough to think we can completely eradicate vice but presently it is far too active for a city of this size," the public safety director observed.

The last major vice raid in Pontiac on Aug. 29 was handled by State Police. Five persons were arrested on charges of operating a horse betting ring.

A deputy city treasurer and his wife, Larue and Gladys Gullett, were among them.

Basil Burke was called the alleged head of the ring. A former numbers operator, he was assisted in obtaining a parole in 1952 by Chief Straley.

Find Old Soviet Bomb

BERLIN (UPI) — As if West Berliners weren't jumpy enough a 220-pound Soviet bomb was uncovered last night at a construction site on the glittering Kurfurstendamm. It was an old one left over from World War II. Berlin chief explosives expert Gerhart Raebiger was called to remove the fuse.

Vast Snowstorm Sweeps Across U.S. Midsection

A United Press International report said a vast snowstorm swept the nation's midsection from Texas into the Ohio Valley Friday and weathermen issued heavy snow warnings for much of the area.

A special bulletin issued by the Chicago Weather Bureau warned of snow accumulations of four or more inches from central Missouri through southern Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and into Pennsylvania.

South of the snow area, weathermen warned of freezing rain, sleet and glaze from southeast Oklahoma through northern Arkansas, southern Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Freezing rains and snow during the night made driving hazardous from Oklahoma and Kansas through the central Mississippi and lower Ohio valleys.

More than 200 traffic accidents were reported on slippery Kansas City, Mo., streets. At least 30 persons were hospitalized during the early hours of the storm.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol reported roads over two-thirds of the state were glazed with a solid sheet of ice up to one inch thick. The icy roads extended southwest to Dallas, Tex.

Roads were reported almost impassable northward from the Fort Smith, Okla., area, and authorities discouraged traffic west of the Clinton, Okla., vicinity.

Gasoline Prices Cut by Sun Oil in Detroit

A second major gasoline company today announced a cut in wholesale prices, but none of the reductions were effective in the Pontiac area yet.

Sun Oil Company announced a 2.9-cent per gallon cut in Detroit. This followed a 3.2-cent cut by Sinclair Refinery Co. to Detroit dealers Wednesday.

Other major oil companies were studying the changes today, considering whether to follow suit.

If passed along to customers, the Sinclair reduction would bring the cost of regular grade gasoline to 23.9 cents a gallon at most stations.

HARLAN, Iowa (UPI) — Mrs. Kenneth Blum gave birth to her third child on Thanksgiving Day. Her first was born on New Year's Day and her second on Christmas.

Driving Is Hazardous; Area Roads Slippery

A spokesman at the Pontiac Post said, "roads are so slippery that motorists are hardly able to attain enough speed to cause an accident."

The trooper warned, however, that slippery roads are often the cause of numerous rear-end collisions and that all drivers should be extremely wary of the car ahead, keeping far enough behind to assure enough distance in which to stop suddenly.

Rush hour traffic in Pontiac and Detroit was slowed to a crawl this morning, especially on the John Lodge and Edsel Ford expressways.

In Detroit, a big traffic jam developed on the southbound John Lodge expressway because of the snow and a chain-reaction accident. Traffic was backed up more than one mile north of Calvert. A rash of minor accidents also was reported.

Main streets in Pontiac were very slippery, although heavily traveled. Trucks were busy salt-down all main roads in an attempt to create less hazardous driving conditions by nightfall. Temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer registered 28 at 1 p.m.

Shotgun Kills Youth

GOWEN (U)—Donald Humphrey, 13, didn't know the gun was loaded when he aimed a sawed-off shotgun at his 11-year-old brother, John, during a Thanksgiving Day game of cops-and-robbers in the bedroom of their home here. The weapon went off and killed the younger boy.

General Good Health Helps Hair

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "Please tell me what to do with my hair problem. It is dry and brittle and has broken ends and is falling out. I have worn metal curlers for years. Could this have an effect? I wash my hair every other week. I guess I should tell you that I have had a lot of trouble the last few years, lots of strain and worry."

A. There is no doubt that times of strain can affect both the hair and the skin. Try very hard not to worry and try to build up your health. It might also be a good idea to take vitamin B complex daily.

Massage your scalp each night and use one of the tonics planned especially for a dry scalp. You also can purchase a cream for dry ends. I do not think that the curlers would cause the hair to fall out but they might cause the ends to split.

Q. "I want to lose inches from my waist without losing elsewhere. How can I do this?"

A. If you are not overweight generally, you can decrease your waist measurement by taking waist-slimming exercises. Exercise can redistribute weight.

Q. "I am asking you to help

American Women Are 'Most Modest'

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — American girls are the most modest in the world, says John A. Zehnbaumer, who has been studying this subject for half a century.

"French girls and German girls think nothing of wearing bikini bathing suits," says the man who supplies most of the world with swimwear. "In Australia and South Africa, the girls aren't worried about exposure. But in America we can't even get a model to pose in a bikini."

Zehnbaumer, with his brother Roy and their late partner, Carl Jantzen, has turned out swim suits for most of the bathing beauties of history, from Gloria Swanson and the Mack girls to Gina Lollobrigida. Since 1910, when he bought out a little knitting mill in Portland and knitted a suit for a local rowing team, he has made water-wear his chief concern.

The company has factories or licenses in 18 countries, studies the swimwear of every nation, and collects design ideas from every corner of the world.

LOOKS BACK

"The first women's bathing suits we made had sleeves, sailor collars, knee-length pants and skirts," says the tall, graying Zehnbaumer, who looks 20 years younger than his announced 74.

"Then after the first World War, things changed abruptly. As girls took to short skirts and rolled stockings, they began cutting down on their bathing suits, too. When we found that women were cutting off our suits at the bottom and cutting the necklines down in back, we decided to make them the way they wanted them."

"That's been our procedure ever since. I don't think we've ever tried to force a new, brief style in swim suits. The public calls the turn, and we give them what they want."

John and Roy Zehnbaumer were born in a log cabin near Chillicothe, Mo., went through the eighth grade in a one-room schoolhouse and set out for the West to seek their fortunes.

When they established their first knitwear business in Portland, they were joined by their sister, Minerva, who has been a sales executive with the company most of the years since.

Zehnbaumer tried out his swimwear designs on his wife, his three daughters and his 13 grandchildren. His son, John, Jr., is salesman with the company.

"The children are all regular ducks," says grandfather John. "They start swimming almost before they can walk. Give us some good ideas, too, all of 'em, especially my wife."

"I've always said a fellow needs a good wife, or he doesn't amount to hardly anything, all by himself."

Celebrate Birthday

Mrs. Harry Stowell of Elizabeth Lake road entertained a neighborhood sewing group at a birthday dinner honoring Mrs. Maurice Baldwin Tuesday night. Members discussed naming the group which has been meeting for the past 14 years.

me help my daughter. She is an attractive girl but very tiny for her age. She is 20 years old. Her height has become such an obsession that she refuses to go out at all. She is not a dwarf but just a small person.

When someone calls her "Half-pint" or "Shorty" there is trouble. All of our nerves are on edge because of this. I am thinking of asking a doctor if there is anything I can do but I hesitate."

A. I once knew a girl who was ruining her life because she was unusually tall — more than six feet. She said she could not forget her height because people were always reminding her of it. This may be your daughter's trouble and perhaps she will respond as my tall pupil did. I asked the latter if she thinks that people are mean and she said, "Oh, no!"

Then I reminded her that if they are not mean, then the fact that they speak freely about her height shows that they do not consider it a handicap or to be unattractive. I would like to remind your daughter that people only tease those they like and that the "Half-pint" and so forth are really affectionate terms rather than insulting ones.

I believe it to be downright sinful to measure happiness in terms of how many inches tall one is. If your daughter cannot snap out of this, I would get some psychiatric help for her.

Q. I thought I had heard everything! A reader asks, "How can I reduce the left side of my waist only?"

A. Do the trunk bending, waist-slipping exercises, but bend to the right only.

Only Feminine Mind Can Understand This

By RUTH MILETT

Don't expect a mere man to understand:

How two teenage girls can spend 45 minutes on the telephone discussing what to wear to a party.

Why a woman can't entertain her club without giving the whole house a thorough cleaning.

A woman's willingness to shop for weeks to find just the right hat to go with her new suit.

Why another woman's apparent compliment actually can be a slap in the face. For example: "My dear, I love your hair short. You look simply years younger."

Why "a good cry" can make a woman feel better and leave her with a new determination to straighten out the matter she was crying about.

Why a woman doesn't turn down an invitation for an evening she knows will be boring but instead will accept it and then say, "We have to entertain them because they entertained us," setting up an exchange of hospitality that gets more and more difficult to break off.

Why a woman tends to be less charitable toward a pretty woman than toward a plain one.

How one woman can size up another woman at their first meeting and so often be right in her snap judgment.

Why a woman likes to pretend that her husband selected a gift for her that she chose for herself. How a woman can be so easily fooled about a man's character — if he has perfect manners.

Why a woman acts annoyed with her husband if he tells her that she has a run in her stocking or that her slip is showing.

Why a wife resents advice from her husband's mother but doesn't resent it from her own.

You have to be a woman to understand these things.
