Kidnaper Caught by Police After 120 M.P.H. Chase

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP)—An armed kidnaper abducted a ranch wife from her home Thursday night, then was captured today after a predawn chase in which police cars pursued him and his victim at speeds of more than 120 m.p.h.

The kidnaper wrecked the car he was driving in a desperate attempt to break out of a mobile police trap.

Police seized Charles McArthur, 40, of Dixon, who they said had no regular occupation.

Mrs. Dawson, a grandmother, and her husband, John Dawson, 73, a well to do chicken rancher, were playing bridge at a neighbor's house Thursday night when the kidnaper broke into their home.

When the Dawsons returned they were confronted by the intruder, masked with a woman's silk stocking and carrying a double-barreled sawed off shotgun.

Then he told Dawson: "I want $100,000 by next Tuesday and I'll be contacting you in a couple of days. I'll be gone by the time you get loose, so you might as well not call anybody."

He then ordered Mrs. Dawson out of the house and, at gunpoint, to get into her husband's car.

An alarm was broadcast. Shortly after 5:30 a.m. a highway patrol car spotted the kidnap automobile racing on a back road near Winters, some 50 miles northeast of San Francisco.

The chase began, with the kidnaper doubling back on roads in efforts to elude his pursuers.

Although driving fast, the kidnaper fired several shots, police said. They refrained from shooting in fear of hitting Mrs. Dawson.

The kidnaper crashed through the cars, wrecking the Dawson car and two police automobiles, but his flight was halted.

They said he fired a final shot as they closed in and seized him.

Police Dispute Before Citizens

Charges Against Chief Ready Should Peace Attempt Fail

Removal charges against Police Chief Herbert W. Straley were ready for filing today as a 15-member citizens committee prepared to meet to head off open battle between the chief and Public Safety Director George D. Eastman.

The charges could be placed in the hands of the Civil Service Commission by late today if the 3 p.m. session of the committee fails to bring about a reconciliation.

The finalized charges rested in a desk drawer in the office of City Attorney William A. Ewart. In order to reach the Civil Service Commission, they must be signed and delivered by City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Some city officials have figured Thursday as the deadline for filing charges, but reckoning by the calendar, the deadline could be Monday.

The committee, appointed by Mayor Philip E. Rowston, has as its assigned task the ticklish job which Willman couldn't accomplish during the past four months.

It's up to the committee to get Straley and Eastman to work together or persuade one of them—probably Straley—to go quietly.

The City Commission authorized the committee to work to prevent charges from being filed in an effort to avoid the "bad publicity" it suspects would develop in an open hearing.

Willman okayed the preparation of charges by Eastman two weeks ago, after failing to persuade the two police officials to work together and being rebuffed in his efforts to get Straley to resign.

Saying he could not work with Straley to bring about the improvements in the police department which he was hired last October to accomplish, Eastman stripped the chief of powers last Nov. 12 and took over personal command himself.

The removal charges accuse Straley of incompetence and insubordination. In order to meet the time requirements of a statute of limitations, they must be filed within 90 days of the time Straley was still enjoying his full powers as chief.

Bill to Extend Draft Set for Senate OK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House-approved bill to extend the draft four more years today seemed assured of Senate passage by an overwhelming margin.

The measure, a high priority legislative program and backed fully by leaders of both parties, coasted to House passage yesterday on a rollcall vote of 381 to 20.

Senate Slashes $100 Million Off Airport Aid Bill

But Reduces Program to 4 Years; $2.6 Billion Housing Item Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — By unanimous consent, the Senate today cut 100 million dollars from its 565-million-dollar bill for federal airport aid. At the same time, it reduced the program from five to four years.

The action was a gesture along the path of what Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas called trying to meet President Eisenhower halfway on differences in spending proposals.

But it was no more than a gesture because, although the dollar total was reduced, the proposed annual outlay was not changed since the number of years was reduced.

Johnson engineered this move as he had in taking the lead in some trimming of a housing bill which the Senate finally passed last night as a $2,675,000,000 measure.

Senators stayed late last night to put through the big housing measure, first major piece of legislation they have handled this session.

It goes to the House, which is not expected to act before the week of Feb. 15.

The passage vote was 60-28, slightly more than the two thirds margin which would be needed to override a veto.

Democrats trimmed the housing bill somewhat on the floor in an effort to minimize its impact on the fiscal 1960 budget and thus avert a veto by President Eisenhower.

The airport aid bill calls for 565 million dollars in federal grants compared with Eisenhower's request for 200 million. However, for the next fiscal year it would exceed the budget by only about 35 million.

Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla), sponsor of the airport bill, said he has no advance plans to make floor compromises such as the Democrats agreed to on housing.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), criticizing the 2¼ billion dollar housing bill passed by the Senate said: "The Four Horsemen of bankruptcy ride again — deficit, debt, inflation and waste — spurred on by the disciples of massive irresponsibility."

Some Republicans charged that the action on housing coupled with Democratic plans for the airport bill showed that wild spenders were in control of Congress and that any hope of a balanced budget was wrecked.

But Democratic leaders contended they had met the President half way on the housing measure and that they did not see how he could veto the bill.

SHAKEN BUT SAFE—Mrs. Jack Seconder of Waterford Township holds her two babies, Mary Ann, 2, and Douglas, 1, whom she carried from the family's burning house last night. With her are Jack, 8, and James, 6, who along with Dwight, 4, were led to safety by the young mother as flames swept through their one-story frame home. Dwight was being cared for today by a friend of the family.

Her Youngsters All Unharmed After Rescue

2:30 A.M. Fire Awakens Woman While House Blazes Around Her

Unharmed by the fire that quickly engulfed their one-story frame home were Mrs. Flora Seconder, 26, of 250 N. Cass Lake Rd. and the children: Douglas, 1; Mary Ann, 2; Dwight, 4; James, 6; and Jack Jr., 8.

Mrs. Seconder told township firemen she awoke about 2:30 a.m. smelling smoke.

"The whole bedroom wall across from my bed was a mass of flames," she said.

Her husband away, the mother grabbed the two youngest children who were sleeping in another first-floor bedroom, and carried them out of the house to the family car.

Then she returned to the house and headed towards the basement where the three older children were sleeping.

"The basement stairs were full of smoke, I could hardly see," she said.

Smoke had not yet settled into the basement and the three older boys were still sleeping.

Awakening them with the cry, "The house is on fire, you've got to get out," Mrs. Seconder forced them to ascend the stairs hand-by-hand through the smoke, staying behind herself to make sure they got out.

The terrified boys had to pass next to a blazing hallway in order to get to the front door.

"I was scared," said one of them afterwards. "But Mommy told us what to do."

Firemen said the upstairs was partially gutted, with about $2,000 damage to the contents and home.

Cause of the blaze had not been determined. The $12,000 home was heated by a coal furnace, which apparently was in good working order, firemen said.

Mrs. Seconder's husband Jack, a laidoff factory worker, is in Arizona seeking employment, his wife said.

A Korean War veteran, Seconder is secretary of the Disabled American Veterans Post 16 in Pontiac. It was feared that many of the post's records were destroyed in the blaze.

Scour Dump for Lost Credit Union Cash

$570 in Trash? Could Be!

A Pontiac trash collection truck may be carrying $570 in cash among its load of discards today.

That's the theory offered by Clyde Townsend, treasurer-manager of the Pontiac Municipal Credit Union, where $570 was discovered missing Thursday.

The money was part of $631 in a metal cash box maintained by a credit union employe, Sherrie Norman of 661 Third St.

She reported returning the box to the treasurer's office at City Hall late Wednesday afternoon. She said she didn't check the cash box or balance in it, since she hadn't carried out any transactions that day.

A night janitor found $47 in bills bound by a rubber band under her desk on the floor Wednesday night. Yesterday, the cash box was opened to return the $47 and was found empty.

Townsend said it appears the $570, also bound with a rubber band, either was dropped into the wastebasket or inadvertently got mixed up with some papers which were thrown away.

"I have implicit trust in all our employes," he said. "We may run everyone through a lie detector test, but only to substantiate their innocence."

A search of the city dump Thursday afternoon failed to turn up any trace of the cash "throw away."

January Sales Tops in 3 Years for '59 Pontiac

Pontiac new car sales last month were tops for any January since 1956, S. E. Knudsen, General Motors vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division said today.

January sales represented an increase of 27.63 per cent over the same period last year, he said.

During January, Knudsen said, dealers sold 30,145 new Pontiacs, compared to 23,619 in January, 1958.

Knudsen attributed Pontiac's steady climb in 1959 model sales and its increasing percentage of the new car market to the car's many new advances in engineering and styling.

Dulles Confers With De Gaulle

Talk for Over an Hour, Agree to Hold Access to West Berlin

From Our News Wires

PARIS—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and President Charles de Gaulle found themselves in agreement today, as in the past, to maintain Western access to Berlin. They conferred for an hour and a half.

American and French spokesmen said the talks covered a wide range of problems, but no new decisions were reached.

The spokesmen said, however, that De Gaulle and Dulles were in complete agreement that the West must maintain its routes to West Berlin, 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

They agreed they will not accept any move by the Soviet Union to substitute East Germans for the Soviet soldiers in those positions where the four occupying powers come together in Berlin.

The atmosphere was described as cordial and relaxed.

He will meet also with Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which has its headquarters in Paris.

Dulles arrived by plane from London last night after two days of cold-war talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

The London talks ended with a U.S.-Britain reaffirmation of their determination to stand firm against Soviet threats and pressure to force them out of Berlin.

Britons of all political complexion cheered Prime Minister Macmillan's decision to fly to Moscow Feb. 21 for what he called a reconnaissance mission.

The suave 64-year-old Macmillan was depicted in the British press as a "diplomatic Prince Charming out to win the hearts of the Soviet people."

One thing was clear: The West will await Macmillan's return from talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev before forging any new proposals on the reunification of Germany to counter Soviet demands that the Allies get out of West Berlin.

Dulles still insisted that he is carrying no new proposals in his European tour of London, Paris and Bonn. He implied he is doing more listening than talking.

Angry Abel Slaps Fines on 14 Wings

Abel said it was the worst game he ever had seen a Detroit team play in his 22 years as a player and coach.

Only Forbes Kennedy, Lou Marcon, Warren Godfrey and Norm Ullman were not fined.

Abel meted out the $100 assessments at today's practice.

A hint of today's fines came last night, when, for the first time, in his five years as president of the Wings, Bruce Norris gave his team a scolding after the game.

Norris ordered the dressing room door locked and chided the team for dismal play.

Dropping Tax Revenues Bring Financial Crisis

Fears 3-Year Freeze on School Construction

A serious financial crisis may force the Board of Education to abandon any new school construction for the next three years.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, said yesterday: "Money is simply not available to handle future needed construction." He blamed declining tax revenues for the money shortage.

He said the Pontiac School District also faces an operating deficit for the 1959-60 school year. That budget will be presented to the Board Feb. 26.

The cost of construction projects for the next three years would amount to $1,650,000.

Income estimates made by school administrators in July of 1957 indicated the Pontiac School District would be able to ride the financial waves.

But new estimates last October showed that the earlier forecast had been too high, Whitmer said.

Because of reduced state equalized valuation, income from local taxes will be substantially lower for 1958-59 than the preceding year, Whitmer said.

EXPECTED LOWER REVENUE

It is expected that local tax revenues through the 1961-62 school year will be lower than 1957-58 despite increasing enrollment and apparent increases in the cost of living.

An operating budget plus debt service costs of $9,811,878 will probably be submitted to the Board shortly, but tax revenues may only supply $9,771,085, Whitmer said.

Although funds available to the School District in 1960-61 and 1961-62 will be higher than in 1957-58, fewer dollars will be available per pupil, Whitmer reported.

In 1957-58, the income spent on each student amounted to $519.75, but by 1961-62, the Board will be able to spend only $485.17 on a youngster.

Making the future financial position of the schools even darker are forecasts that state equalized valuation will continue to drop through 1961-62, Whitmer said.

The County Tax Allocation Board is likely to reduce the millage of the school district in the years ahead, adding to the financial woes of the local schools, the superintendent warned.

The Tax Allocation Board alloted 10 mills of the total 15 mills for county, township and school taxes in 1957-58, but only 9.38 mills the past year.

In 1959-60, the possibility exists that the tax board may reduce millage for schools even further, board members fear.

EXPECT ANOTHER CUT

"Frankly, we expect to have millage cut again," Whitmer said. "Our allocation next year may be as low as 9 mills."

The district also receives, in ad-

Father Kills Son During Movie

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A woman screamed hysterically in the darkness: "He's killing my baby."

An usher snapped on the theater lights, and some 50 patrons turned in their seats. They saw Jose Longoria slashing wildly with a pocket knife at a small boy, his son Steven.

The mother, Violet, 25, sobbing as she was taken to a hospital for treatment of shock, told police the story.

She and her husband were estranged. She and Steven were living with her parents. Longoria, 32, was released from jail only last Thursday after serving time for drunken driving. He asked to meet her Thursday to discuss future custody of the boy.

The child sat enthralled by the movie, one specifically aimed at youngsters. His parents became more and more embroiled in a bitter discussion.

Apparently no one heard them. They were in the back row of the spacious Warner Theatre. Most of the other patrons were down front, or in the balcony.

Suddenly, police said, Longoria flashed the knife.

A patron, David Cole, was the first to reach Longoria when the lights went on. The father offered no resistance.

Police said Longoria had told them he felt the child was under a bad influence.

"I love my son, but I'd rather have him dead then grow up to be a juvenile delinquent," he said.

2 Utah Men Accused in Plot to Steal Gold

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Secret Service today announced the arrest of two Salt Lake City, Utah, men accused of taking part in a conspiracy to steal gold from the Kennecott Copper Co. and sell it on the black market.

The arrests were made Thursday night in Salt Lake City.

The men were to be arraigned in federal court there on charge of acquiring and holding gold without authority.

Secret Service headquarters here said about $2,100 of stolen gold was seized from a Salt Lake City assayer.

A spokesman said the investigation is continuing. He indicated there might be more arrests.

Kennecott said several months ago that investigation showed a shortage in its gold inventory. The amount has never been disclosed.

Those arrested were identified as James Maughan, 37, an employe of the Pioneer Realty Co., and Thomas M. Montgomery, 29, a Kennecott employe.

To Get Help, Not Punishment

Twins' Parents Released

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—Officials were so touched by the troubles of the young couple who sold their eight-year-old twin boys for $500 that they dropped all charges against them.

Offers of help for the couple were put forward.

District Attorney Dan Walton told Justice of the Peace W. C. Ragan yesterday "I see no purpose to be served in prosecuting these people. What they need is help. I recommend dismissal of the charges."

Ragan did just that.

"I've been hoping someone would make such a motion," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark D. Stillion yesterday turned over the twins, Mrs. Stillion's children by a previous marriage, to a policewoman and a juvenile officer who posed as a childless couple.

Besides the twins, who were born in England before their mother moved to the United States, the Stillions have two girls, Nancy, 4, and Tina, 3. Mrs. Stillion divorced the twins' father in England in 1953, and married Stillion, then stationed in England with the U.S. Air Force.

Walton told city probation officials he had talked with both parents and felt there should be no effort to take the children from them.

An attorney said a client, O. R. Tautenhahn, had offered the Stillion family a place to live near Westfield, Tex. He said there was a school nearby and offered to help them find work.

Stillion said he had been unable to get a job and had been trying to feed his family on $12 a week.

"Our bedroom and clothes burned," Stillion said. "What do you do when you have $12 a week to feed six people — when you see your children hungry?"

"I tried to get a job but with no local references I just couldn't," he said. "With money (from the sale of the twins) we were going to get the car fixed and go out to Bridgeville, Calif., where a friend said I could work in a lumber camp."

Stillion said he knew the "bill of sale" for the twins was not legal, and planned to return and reclaim the boys when he got a new start.

They were reunited with their children, who had been kept in the police probation department, in the police press room.

Money Crisis Perils School Construction

dition to the millage allocated by the Tax Allocation Board, an extra 8.75 mills which the voters approved four years ago.

Its other source of income is premised on the State Legislature approving aid of $147 per pupil. "With the trouble the State Treasury is in, school districts can't be too certain they'll receive that aid," Whitmer said.

"It's the erosion of the school tax rates because of reduced allocations which will create an operating deficit in 1959-60 — the size of which will depend on the amount of reduced allocation," Whitmer stated.

Some way must be found, he asserted, to increase wages and salaries "just to maintain the present level of purchasing power of school employes — just to keep pace.

CHANGE NEEDED

"Any improvement factor in wages and salaries would require further increases in operating costs," Whitmer said.

The only way to make any significant change in the school operating budget — particularly in a budget reduction — would be to change wage and salary costs, he pointed out.

But, Whitmer warned, reducing wages would mean a lowering of quality instruction. Reducing the number of teachers would be unfeasible because of increasing enrollments.

Unless some solution is found to remedy the money shortage, the building program will have to be scrapped and other school services cut, he said.

Wants Revised Homestead Law

Solon Seeks Aid for '59ers

Hopes brightened today for "The Fifty-Niners," who plan to settle in Alaska's Kenai Peninsula, with the announcement by Oakland County Congressman William S. Broomfield that he is striving for more federal assistance for such homesteading adventures.

Broomfield said he has already begun work on two possibilities — revision of the homestead laws to make group settlements easier, and release of surplus foods to settlers who need the supplies.

The 50-family group known as "The Fifty-Niners" was unable to get federal help of food and machinery as they readied their upcoming emigration to a primitive section of the rugged Kenai Peninsula.

"The Homestead Act in particular," Broomfield said, "has some antiquated provisions which ought to be brought up to date. It was designed to take care of individual families, not groups like the Fifty-Niners."

Representatives of the group had hoped to get an agreement which would permit them to live in one community instead of building a home on each 160-acre homestead as required by law.

"This provision is in special need of change," Broomfield said, "and I believe Congress will be receptive to solving problems of this nature."

30 Below in Minnesota

Cold Stings Midwest

By The Associated Press

A new cold wave, just as bitter and unwelcomed as the old one last weekend, stung the Midwest today. Frigid air blanketed most of the country's midsection.

It was 30 degrees below zero in northern Minnesota, and it was near zero as far south as northern Arkansas. Snow added to the wintry chill from northern Arkansas and southern Missouri into Tennessee and southern Kentucky. It was freezing in northern sections of the Gulf states.

Most of the Eastern and Southern sections were out of the cold air pocket. But the icy air appeared headed through the Ohio Valley and into the Middle Atlantic states and New England as well as the Western Gulf region.

More than five inches of snow covered Fayetteville, Ark., and storm swept across parts of the Middle Missouri and Ohio Valleys Thursday and continued during the night in some areas.

Snow flurries flecked the Appalachians, and light snow and flurries fell in the Great Lakes region from northern Indiana northward through northern Michigan. The snow cover at Houghton, Mich., was 46 inches.

Light snow also was reported in the northern Rockies, adding one inch to the 37 inches already on the ground at West Yellowstone, Mont.

Rain dampened opposite corners of the country — in western sections of Washington and Oregon and in southern Florida. Falls in most spots were under one inch.

Skies were generally clear to partly cloudy for most of the Eastern sections of the country except for snow flurries in the Appalachians and lower Great Lakes region. Clear weather prevailed from California eastward across the southern Rockies and throughout the Plains and Mississippi Valley.

Bill Introduced in Legislature

Would Provide Funds Toward $356,000 Plan for Expansion

A bill in which Pontiac Municipal Airport is seeking $89,000 in state funds for a $356,000 expansion program next year has been introduced in the Senate in Lansing.

The Pontiac bid, approved by the State Department of Aeronautics, was included in a $1,231,000 package introduced by Sen. Greene (R-Grand Rapids) to restore annual general fund appropriations for airport projects throughout the state.

Homer D. Hoskins, Pontiac airport manager, said the $89,000 would be adequate, if matched by local and federal funds, to finance improvements making the airport more attractive to commercial passenger and cargo flights.

2 PROJECTS FOR 1960

Two big projects planned for 1960, he said, are extension of the new east-west runway to 5,500 feet in length and construction of a terminal ramp next to the terminal building, which is scheduled for construction this year.

The money would also cover asphalting the east-west runway and its taxi strips and installation of lights along other taxistrips, Hoskins said.

Plans call for the construction to be financed under the federal aid to airports program, in which the federal government shares in 50 per cent of the cost and state and local governments 25 per cent each.

Thus, the airport is hoping the city will match the state's $89,000 with its own $89,000 and the federal government will put up $178,000.

"But if any of the agencies—federal, state or local—trims its share, then the others will have to trim theirs accordingly under the formula," Hoskins pointed out.

In an austerity drive last year, the Legislature sliced its appropriation for the terminal building by $50,000, with the result that the city was threatened with losing a total $200,000 for the airport under the federal aid formula.

RESTORED LATER

Later, the $50,000 was restored by the Aeronautics Board out of its reserves, bringing local and federal contributions back up.

But the Aeronautics Board virtually exhausted its reserves last year in helping Pontiac and other communities stricken by the legislative economy move, Hoskins pointed out.

"That means that if the Legislature decides to trim our appropriations again this year, we haven't any prospects of being bailed out of trouble by the Aeronautics Board again," Hoskins warned.

Not only is the airport threatened by economy in Lansing, but in Washington, too, where the federal airport appropriations bill is under debate by Congress.

Pontiac's appropriation is tied in to a $585,000,000 aid-to-airports bill there, but some quarters have suggested trimming this to $200,000,000.

"With the airplane transportation business converting from conventional engines to turbo-props and jets, this is no time to cut federal assistance to airports," Hoskins said.

CAN'T EXPAND ALONE

"Airports are not in financial position to expand on their own, even with state aid. They've got to have federal assistance."

The runway expansion at the Pontiac airport calls for 1,500 additional feet at the west end of the east-west runway, a project for which property and clearance rights were acquired last year.

With a 5,500-foot runway, the airport could handle conventional cargo planes and medium-sized commercial passenger planes, Hoskins said.

The Day in Birmingham

Candidates Rally Held at Bloomfield School

BIRMINGHAM—About a hundred Bloomfield Township voters heard all but four of their 18 candidates speak at a rally held last night in the Bloomfield Hills High School.

Mrs. Robert Eoff, chairman of the township's Republican Committee, said she felt that the meeting was successful in creating a better understanding between candidates and voters.

As a whole, candidates opposed any additional commercial or industrial zoning in the area. They did, however, urge utilizing present commercially-zoned areas to the utmost.

Questioned as to why the township did not do something about road conditions, the candidates told voters that all roads are under county supervision. Township officials make requests and hope they will be included in the county road program," they said.

Supervisor Arno Hulet illustrated the breakdown of how the 15-mill township tax is spent. To those urging economy, he explained that the township is currently operating on a tight budget. Even by cutting police and fire protection, which township officials do not want, the tax saving would be negligible, Hulet said.

Commenting on the meeting, Mrs. Eoff said "Questions were honest and sincere and none went unanswered. We have some splendid candidates and it is going to be difficult to decide at the primaries which ones should remain on the ballot for the regular election in the spring."

Birmingham University of Michigan alumnae will hear several foreign students speak when the group meets Tuesday at the home of Mrs. William J. Bird on Lyonhurst Road.

Teachers in the Birmingham and Bloomfield area who attended the university will be the honored guests of the other alumnae members.

"Operation Friendship" will be observed in the area tomorrow and Sunday and again March 21 and 22 when 40 foreign students attending U. of M. will spend the weekend with families in Birmingham, Pontiac, Royal Oak and Farmington.

A reunion of boys who attended the YMCA Camp Nissokone last summer will be held at the "Y" building here tonight. At 7 p.m. boys and their fathers will meet for swimming in the Barnum Junior High School pool.

Returning to the "Y" building the group will hear Arthur Detert, camp director, speak on next summer's plans.

Lt. Fowler, a pilot, flies multi-engined troop carrier aircraft. Those accompanying him on the Alaska trek from here are members of his crew. They are assigned to the 403rd Reserve Troop Carrier Wing at Selfridge AFB.

Mrs. Dawson, suffering from cuts on her face and neck was treated by Dr. Howard L. Stubblefield at Vacaville and then taken home.

Cordoza estimated the chase covered more than 24 miles.

"My own speedometer was right up against the 120 mark at one time, so I guess he must have been going that fast or faster."

At the Fairfield Jail, McArthur was held for questioning by FBI agents.

Dr. Stubblefield said Mrs. Dawson's condition was "just fine."

"She had small wounds in the head from flying glass, but only one cut required stitches," he said.

The Dawsons operate a 700 acre ranch near Dixon. They have two children, John Dawson Jr., who helps his father run the ranch, and Mrs. George Wallace, and five grandchildren.

City Ambulance Driver Becomes Crash Victim

A Pontiac ambulance driver ended up as a "passenger" in another ambulance Thursday when his was struck from behind by a panel truck.

James T. Wheat, 34, of 307 Branch St., an employe of Mercy Ambulance Service, was driving his ambulance when it stalled on Mt. Clemens street at the city limits. No one else was in it at the time.

The truck driver, Clyde G. Skinner, 30, of 570 Melrose St., said he realized too late that the ambulance wasn't moving and slammed on his brakes, skidding into the vehicle.

The ambulance was knocked 270 feet by the impact, Pontiac Police said. Wheat was taken to Pontiac General Hospital by another ambulance and is reported in fair condition today with arm and head injuries.

Skinner was treated for minor injuries and released.

5 Men Killed in 3 AF Crashes

Futile Search Goes On for Plane Carrying 12 Missing Over Atlantic

By The Associated Press

Three Air Force planes crashed Thursday, killing at least five men. A futile air-and-sea search of the Atlantic continued for an Air Force weather plane.

The accidents brought the total of air fatalities for the week to a minimum of 87. Thirteen persons are missing, 12 of them aboard the weather plane. Worst of the crashes was that of an American Airlines plane which plunged into the East River at New York Tuesday night, killing 65.

Three civilians testing an Air Force Flying Boxcar C119 were killed when the plane crashed and caught fire at the edge of San Francisco Bay. The plane was on a test flight. Killed were M. L. Vinson, 46, the pilot; C. W. Clampitt, 49; and Russell Hansen, 44.

A twin-jet F89 fighter crashed on a high ridge 25 miles southwest of Great Falls, Mont., killing one of its two crewmen. The other man is missing. Names were withheld.

A B25 approaching the Little Rock (Ark.) Air Force Base suddenly fell, killing one of the five men aboard. He was Sgt. E. C. Wilson, 31, of Newark, Ark. The other four had only injuries.

It was the second fatal accident at the base since Tuesday night, when a B47 crashed while making a landing approach. All three aboard were killed.

The Coast Guard said no sign has been found of wreckage or survivors of the B50 hurricane hunter plane which left Bermuda Wednesday.

2nd Former Member of 'Our Gang' Dies

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Death has claimed a second former member of the "Our Gang" movie comedy cast within the past three weeks.

Don Law, 38, who played "Fats" in some 20 of the old-time child comedy films, died here Thursday after a brief illness.

Carl (Alfalfa) Switzer, 32, was shot to death Jan. 21 in Van Nuys, Calif., in a fight over $50.

In recent years Law managed a clothing store and the Meadville office of the Greyhound-Harmony shortline bus companies. He is survived by his wife and three children. Funeral service will be held Monday.

Denies GM Break-Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Assistant Attorney General Victor R. Hansen today described as "wild-eyed" reports that the government will attempt to divest General Motors Corp. of some of its auto lines. Hansen, chief of the Justice Department's anti-trust division, said its investigation of the big auto firm covers other anti-trust aspects besides monopoly control.

FROM THE DEPTHS — The tail section of the American Airlines plane that plunged into New York's East River is lifted by derrick onto a lighter. Discovery of three bodies in this section brought to 25 the number of bodies recovered. Sixty-five of the 73 persons aboard the plane are listed as dead or missing.

State Controller Gives Word

Agencies Must Tighten Belts

LANSING (AP)—Orders for a belt-tightening economy program have gone to all state agencies from James W. Miller, state controller.

The orders spelled out the general directive approved by the State Administrative Board to save money during the state's cash crisis.

Major points were:

1. No out-of-state travel "except under special circumstances which can be justified as vitally necessary." Any travel requests for the remainder of the fiscal year must be submitted to the budget department before Feb. 13.

2. Purchases of equipment permitted only on an emergency basis and of supplies "in every instance to the minimum for essential usage."

3. No filling of vacant positions "unless established services of the state are wholly dependent on the person employed in the position."

Kansan Slams Michigan

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—"Michigan is completely broke because bureaucracy has run wild with alleged things for the good of the people, and Massachusetts is in the same fix," says Gov. George Docking of Kansas.

Docking said yesterday Kansas is headed in the same direction and he is trying to stop it.

"We don't seem to get people in the Legislature who are honest enough or intelligent enough to stop it," he declared.

Docking's blast at Michigan and Massachusetts came during a discussion about collecting sales tax from newspaper sales. When one newsman said only three states collect such taxes the governor said what other states did wasn't any measuring stick.

Docking said Michigan got into trouble because the bureaucrats in one program or another were always going to "take it out of politics."

Michigan's state schools, he said, have been allowed to run themselves.

Docking is the first Democrat ever re-elected governor of Kansas and he is a persistent critic of the administration of the University of Kansas and Kansas State College and the Board of Regents which administers state schools.

Gas Explosion Injures Two

Ecorse Roomers Hurt as Blast and Flames Destroy Pair of Homes

DETROIT (AP)—Two persons were injured when a gas explosion demolished one house and touched off a fire which destroyed a neighboring home in Ecorse last night.

Wiley Milton, 61, was treated for minor burns. Matilda Golliday, 44, was hospitalized with burns and a possible concussion.

Both were roomers in a home owned by Lawson McKeiver. The blast, blamed on an accumulation of natural gas, destroyed the McKiever house. It set a fire which burned down the neighboring Thomas Davis home.

McKiever was in his two-story, frame house when the blast went off but he was uninjured.

The fire was brought under control in 45 minutes by the Ecorse and neighboring River Rouge fire departments.

Area residents said the explosion shook their houses and broke windows and dishes.

Where There's Smoke . . .

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (UPI) — The fire department was called when neighbors noticed smoke billowing out from under the porch of a home here. But all the firemen found was a group of young boys who had gathered for a sneak try at smoking forbidden cigarettes. The only damage was what may have been inflicted on the lads by their parents.

2 Detroit Airports Lack Same Equipment

Electra Crash Conditions Exist Here

DETROIT (AP) — An aviation observer said today conditions present when an American Airlines Electra plane crashed at New York's La Guardia Airport probably would have been present at Detroit's two major airports under similar landing approach.

The pilot of the ill-fated Electra was making what is called a "back course" approach to the instrument runway at La Guardia when it crashed Wednesday.

This is a common method of landing, but offers the pilot would be available if he were making a normal front approach with an instrument landing system (ILS).

Neither Detroit Metropolitan nor Willow Run Airports have a radio beam to indicate altitude, or bright approach lights to tell the pilot when he is near the runway end on a back course approach.

Most major airports have at least one runway designated as the instrument runway for use in bad weather. These runways are designed so that pilots have all navigational aids available to them in landing in the direction from which the wind is usually blowing.

A back course approach is used when the wind is blowing in an opposite direction as at La Guardia Wednesday.

James D. Ramsey, director of the Michigan Department of Aeronautics, said ILS equipment for runways costs $100,000. He said it was economically unfeasible to install ILS equipment at both ends of a runway because a back course approach is not used often enough.

Blaze Destroys UP Landmark

Firemen Battle Hancock Fire in 10 Below Zero Weather; Loss $65,000

Hancock (AP) —In 10 below zero weather, firemen today battled a blaze that destroyed an auto body and repair plant in this Upper Michigan community. Loss was estimated at $65,000.

They brought it under control three hours after it broke out at 5:30 a.m.

The flames, fanned by sharp winds, temporarily threatened an adjacent apartment building, the Elks Temple, and a storage tank containing 20,000 gallons of fuel.

The two-story plant was an old landmark. Part of it was used a century ago as a carriage repair and blacksmith shop.

Destroyed in the frame and brick structure were two trucks, several passenger cars and a bus owned by the Copper Country Tourist Lines. The bus was in for repairs.

Firemen from Hancock's twin city of Houghton, as well as from Dollar Bay and Hurontown joined Hancock firemen in battling the blaze. The cause was not determined.

Despite the bitter weather, fire hydrants functioned without freezing up and firemen were able to keep the blaze from spreading to other buildings.

Soviet Fishing Fleet Off Coast of Norway

BERGEN, Norway (AP)—A big Soviet fishing fleet of about 300 ships began operating today just outside the fishery boundary on Norway's west coast.

Fisher looked so much like Truman that he fooled lots of people.

Fisher was a popular singer and appeared in musical comedies for years, including the Ziegfield Follies.

In 1945, a group at the Lambs Club, noticed his resemblance to Truman and tabbed him to impersonate the president in a sketch for a "Saints and Sinners" show.

His new career was born—despite his protests that he was a singer, not an actor, and was a solid Republican.

Rising Claim Awards Boost Insurance Rates

CHICAGO (UPI)—One reason for higher automobile insurance rates, according to a recent survey, is the fact that claims and court settlements have also been getting bigger.

The Association of Casualty and Surety Companies said the average court settlement in personal injury cases climbed 304 per cent between 1947 and 1957, while the cost of living was going up only 12.6 per cent.

Freed Airman Says Reds Blame U. S. for Captivity

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — U.S. Army Lt. Richard Mackin says the East German Communists tried to convince him that the Americans were responsible for his being held captive eight weeks.

The 27-year-old flier from Washington, D.C., was released Thursday after negotiations between the Reds and the American Red Cross. The U. S. government, which does not recognize East Germany, would not negotiate with the satellite regime and held the Russians responsible for his detention.

Four other American soldiers who had been held in East Germany were freed at the same time after payment of 4,500 marks — $1,071 — for their "detention expenses." U.S. intelligence officers were questioning them today.

Mackin landed in East Germany Dec. 3 when he got lost on a flight near the border, ran out of gas, and parachuted.

Looking pale but otherwise in good health, he told newsmen that he was "well treated with no threats of physical harm."

For the first two days he was questioned for a total of 10 hours, apparently to establish his identity. After that the East German officials told him he was being held "because of noncooperation by American authorities."

Mackin said he had caught a glimpse of two Soviet army men in the villa at Erfurt where he was held but that these were the only Russians he had seen. The guards and other officers wore uniforms of the East German army.

He got one letter from his wife Jan. 28 and was permitted to send her two. The couple had a brief reunion here at Army headquarters before he met newsmen.

And They Still Run

LONDON (AP) — More than 200 cars, all manufactured before 1905, were entered in the annual London-to-Brighton race.

GEORGE LIBERACE: He's no pizza pie king.

Brother George Fond of Lee

Had No Quarrel With Liberace, Hopes to Join Pianist Again

DALLAS (NEA)—Brother George Liberace — he's the one with the violin — would like it to be known that:

He is not a pizza pie king.

He is still very much in show business.

He and Brother Lee — he's the one with the piano — have not had a fight.

He hopes one day to appear with his brother "where we can both light up the candelabra once again."

George felt he had to make these comments because of the rumors that have been flying since he and Lee broke up their brother act in October 1957. The rumors would have it not only that the brothers are feuding, but that Mama Liberace has disowned both her sons.

"It was a handshake parting between Brother Lee and me," George said during a visit in Dallas.

"We were doing our last show together at the Town Casino in Buffalo, N.Y., and knowing it was our last show, we both broke down and cried like babies right on the stage — in the middle of our act. That bit was most certainly not in the script.

"Of course, Mama Liberace was upset when we parted, but that was as far as it went. She loves us both very much. Nothing would please her more than to see us together again."

George insists that his quarrel, if any, was and is with some of Lee's managers and advisors. He says:

"The feud gossip began after one of Brother Lee's TV broadcasts. Someone in the audience asked him where I was, and he answered with a calypso song, 'he's out making a fortune selling pizza pies.'

"Nothing could be further from the truth than that. It's true I'm in the frozen foods business on the side — most show people do have a sideline — but I'm certainly not making a fortune out of it.

"My split with Lee came because I could not agree with his management and legal advisors. If I had stayed, I would have turned into nothing but a gimmick —like the candelabra."

De Gaulle Takes Swipe at Reds

Move by Cabinet Will Permit Voters to Keep Communists Out

PARIS (AP) — Parliament has regained the right today to make the laws of France. But President Charles de Gaulle took a powerful swipe at the Communists in the final hours of his 10 months of rule by decree.

The Cabinet, meeting under the chairmanship of De Gaulle, decided to eliminate proportional representation as the method of electing municipal councillors in cities of less than 120,000 population.

Instead the councillors will be chosen on a two-round system of voting. This permits other parties to band together in some districts in the run-off voting to defeat the Reds.

Only 15 big cities will continue to use proportional representation. Only one of these—Le Havre—has ben under Communist administration.

The Communists have been able to maintain a strong organization through their control of local affairs in many small towns.

Coming on top of the crushing defeat dealt the Communists in recent elections to the National Assembly, the loss of municipal strongholds would be a stiff blow to the Reds. In the legislative elections, which were held on the two-round system of district voting, the number of Communist deputies was pared from 145 to 10.

From here on the government will no longer have the right to make laws. It can only propose bills, which Parliament may approve or reject.

Municipal elections in Algeria were ordered between April 15 and May 15. De Gaulle is counting on the elections bringing forth true representatives of the Moslem masses in Algeria — something he didn't get in the legislative elections late last year.

When the Fourth Republic crumbled and De Gaulle was called to power last June, he accepted only on the condition he be given the right to rule by decree. Parliament was sent on vacation.

The biggest change that De Gaulle made was in writing a new constitution which provides for a strong executive and sharply curtails the powers of the National Assembly.

Study of High Schools Reassuring to the U.S.

Among the many voices raised in harsh criticism of our educational system, it is reassuring to read of Dr. JAMES B. CONANT'S moderate recommendations on ways to improve today's high schools.

The former president of Harvard University bases his report on visits of himself or a staff member to 55 high schools (8 in Michigan) in 26 states. His two year study financed by the Carnegie Corp. at a cost of $370,000 presents a reasoned and sensible program which can be put into effect without disrupting the basic American educational program.

Dr. CONANT recommends, among other things, that the 21,000 high schools in the U.S. be reduced to 9,000 by further consolidation and is of the opinion that high schools with graduating classes of fewer than 100 "can be satisfactory only at exorbitant expense." He is convinced that in many states the number one problem is elimination of the small high school by district reorganization, thereby providing all students with better facilities and opportunities.

The simply written 140 page study emphasizes the importance not only of providing for the academically talented student but for the vast majority whose formal education ends with high school. He enthusiastically endorses vocational education and specialized high schools. Slow learners should be permitted to leave school in the 10th or 11th grade to go to work, he thinks.

The distinguished scientist, teacher and administrator is a staunch defender of public education. He sees no competition between private, parochial and public schools. Parents who send their children to private or parochial schools, he points out, do so because of smaller classes, individual attention, tighter curriculum or for religious reasons, and they are willing to pay for these extra features.

Dr. CONANT wisely concludes that education must be judged community by community, school by school. Improvement of conditions, he says, "in many instances will depend upon an altered attitude of the community quite as much as upon action by a school board or the school administration."

Gun Safety Program Worth Consideration

One of the many bills that will be considered by the 1959 Legislature is a compulsory gun safety education program for youngsters under 17 years.

The general idea certainly seems to warrant merit if it can be accomplished at a reasonable cost. Our experience with the driving training programs has definitely proved its worth.

Gun safety is many times neglected, and like driving a car, mistakes are costly, and often fatal.

Under the terms of the bill, before a hunting license could be issued the applicant must pass an aptitude test and present a certificate of compliance. The course of four to six hours would cost the individual $1.50.

This would be a small price to pay to eliminate some of our frequent unintentional accidents. Last year hunters under 17 were responsible for 47 of the 237 accidents in the small game season, and eight of the 41 deer season mishaps.

Presumably the program would have to be self-supporting with the instructors serving without pay. With our many interested sportsmen's groups, it would seem possible that this could be accomplished.

It has been estimated that 150,000 youngsters would be eligible for the instruction. Sending these boys and girls into the Michigan outdoors after completing a course on firearms would be a tremendous step toward cutting down hunting season accidents.

The measure is backed by the National Rifle Association, Michigan United Conservation Clubs and other sportsmen's groups. The State Conservation Department has indicated its solid backing.

Boy Scout Week

Opens Saturday; Plans for Clinton Valley Observance

Last word in automobiles: "Step-on-it."

According to Executive Secretary of Clinton Valley Council,

Edward H. Leland,

this annual Boy Scout Week will have a local observance that centers in the home. The week is from Feb. 7 to 13. Scouting's home appeal is to be stressed.

It also is to be made an occasion with a twofold purpose, to draw greater public attention to Scouting, and to promote the idea of giving Scouts a greater confidence in themselves, largely through public appearances.

These appearances are to be at school assemblies, parent nights, service club meetings, church and synagogue programs and otherwise.

With a total enrollment of 9,655, our Clinton Valley Council comprises most of the area of Oakland and Macomb Counties, including the cities of Pontiac and Mt. Clemens. These boys are divided among the three branches of Scouting as follows: Cubs, 5,800; Scouts, 3,111; Explorers, 744.

Plans already are under way, both locally and on a national level, for the proper observance of Scouting's golden jubilee next year.

Mrs. Clara Moyer

of St. Louis, celebrating her 96th birthday.

of Ortonville. Does it belong to you?

of Waterford, some Oakland County deer have been killed by cars when they were licking the salt from the pavement.

"Cows are smarter than chickens," writes

Henry Spellman

of Commerce Township, who says he has fooled his hens into laying more eggs by installing electric lights in his poultry house, but it had no effect on the milk production when he did the same thing in his dairy barn. In fact, one old cow showed a big reduction in her butter fat.

Today's Civics Lesson

Voters Blunder by Picking Dems?

WASHINGTON — An economic debacle is in the making. Can it be avoided? Both houses of Congress took on Wednesday a step that may hasten its coming.

LAWRENCE

The American people may learn sooner than anybody has believed possible that a blunder was made in the election last November by giving the Democratic Party control of Congress.

For the threat now is that, if the budget is unbalanced, higher taxes for everybody will have to be enacted. And if the revenues to balance the higher spending begun by the Democrats are not to be collected by the Government, then the American people are in for an era of inflation that could send the cost of living upward and eventually bring the dollar down to a ten-cent purchasing power.

This would mean international danger. For the weakness in the American dollar would have a far-reaching effect on the currencies of Western nations.

The vote in the House and Senate this week on the Federal housing program is significant. It was a bold defiance of budget-balancing and an invitation to higher and higher taxes. President Eisenhower has said frankly that if the budget is unbalanced, he will demand the passage of higher taxes.

The Democrats lined up almost solidly for budget-busting and disregarded the inflationary dangers. Of the 282 Democrats in the House, 257 voted to authorize $300,000,000 to provide direct loans to veterans for housing whenever they cannot borrow from private institutions.

Only two Democrats voted with 121 Republicans against the measure. Just why any group of American citizens should be given such an advantage—especially in these days when there are outcries about "second-class citizenship" and discrimination—is not clear to anybody except the politicians.

They think the relatively small number of veterans in the country who can't borrow from private loan institutions is a big enough vote to go after if disregard of the interests of all other voters. But that's selfish and misguided politics.

Democrats cast 51 of the 58 votes in the Senate against the administration's housing program, and in favor of more money than the budget provided.

Only seven Democrats voted with 25 Republicans to support the President's budget. This shows plainly that, in both houses of Congress, the Democratic Party has become the party of the "spenders" and looks with scorn on the "savers."

There are several bills coming up for consideration in Congress involving the expenditure of more billions than the budget provides. If the Democrats think the country is back of them, they'll make a shambles of the President's budget.

There is a feeling here on Capitol Hill that the country doesn't care and that the sky is the limit on public spending if a "welfare" label can be pinned on it. Indeed, there are many so-called economists who say that the more spent, the more the country will prosper.

No private individual has ever been able to get by on a doctrine that favors spending more than one earns or borrowing more than one can pay back.

The only reason the Government can borrow large sums while its tax receipts are down is because people have confidence in the ultimate capacity of the Treasury to pay back what it borrows.

Once this confidence is shaken and government bonds depreciate in value, the Government has to pay higher and higher interest rates. The price of everything else goes up correspondingly.

Nothing would please the Kremlin so much as to see the economy of the United States weakened from within by unsound fiscal policies. For an inflationary trend would make necessary even bigger spending to pay higher prices for the same armament planned many months ago.

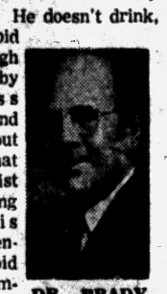

This week was a critical one in American history, and the die seems to have been cast by the Democratic Party in favor of inflation, which means a further devaluation of the purchasing power of the dollar.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Why Be Rude to Guest Who Prefers Not to Drink?

A public relations job requires a Washington man to attend many cocktail parties. He doesn't drink, when he can avoid it. He gets through such affairs by filling a glass with pop and carrying it about with him so that no one will insist on replenishing his drink. This ruse, he says, enables him to avoid unpleasant comments by tipsy hosts or guests who choose to take affront at any one who declines to drink with them.

DR. BRADY

Although I am what some drinkers call a rabid abstainer, I have been persuaded to attend cocktail parties on the assurance that the hosts appreciated my attitude and wanted me to come nevertheless. I found, however, that when the hosts got under the influence they forgot their assurances and became disagreeable or downright offensive in their insistence that I drink with them.

Why do people behave that way about liquor? Would they annoy or insult a guest who declined to partake of beef on Friday or pork on Saturday?

They behave that way because alcohol deprives the drinker of his higher faculties, judgment, decency, modesty, responsibility. Thus in effect a few drinks changes a lady or a gentleman into a stinker.

An alcoholic who went on periodic bouts tried to explain in a sober interval why he drank. He said, he just felt the need of a stimulant—but I reminded him that alcohol is not a stimulant but a narcotic. Well, then, he said, he drank because he wanted to feel better.

You mean, of course, I might have told him, that you want to be less aware of how miserable, wretched, frustrated, incompetent, worthless, untrustworthy, selfish, unfaithful or contemptible you are? Alcohol will take such awareness off your mind or conscience for an hour or two, just as well as a shot of heroin or morphine or barbiturate does.

A Pennsylvania paper reports that a research team concluded from experiments—"None of the stimulants, cocktails, drugs, epinephrine, . . . increased the coronary blood flow. So it can't be said liquor will greatly improve the lot of the heart patient. Alcohol, however, opens up peripheral arteries . . . making more blood flow . . ."

Now I don't mean to carp, but the research team should make up its collective mind whether alcohol does or doesn't improve circulation, blood flow in the coronary or peripheral (general) arteries or the lot of the heart patient. Maybe a generous donation or grant from a brewery or a distillery will help to clarify this.

Clips State Tax Editorial and Shows It to Friends

In the Feb. 3 Pontiac Press there appeared an excellent editorial concerning our Governor, Mr. Williams, and his controversial tax program.

I've made it a point to show the clipping of the article to all my close friends and even to acquaintances with whom I come into daily contact. They are all in unanimous agreement that the editorial is factual and realistic. I wish it were possible to expose those that think like Reuther to the common sense approach you have obviously achieved, but I suppose that's a forlorn hope.

'With All This They Still Gripe'

I live in a small community and each year we're assessed $13.50. As property and home owners we have beach privileges, beautiful bathhouse, road upkeep, three mosquito sprays and numerous other conveniences. Through the efforts of our President and Board of Trustees all these things are made possible.

Yet we still have stinkers who do nothing but complain. To them I say take one ride into the side streets of Pontiac and slide around or even get stuck awhile, and then come home and enjoy our plowed roads and wonderful neighborhood.

Praises Behavior of Young Group

Saturday afternoon I was in that crowd of youngsters on Saginaw street while I waited for my bus for half an hour. The street was crowded fully two blocks. There was no policeman and I saw only one adult with them. I've never been in a better behaved group. I was thrilled. What a wonderful opportunity it was in that show for a program for God and country.

New Dump Policy Brings Objection

I'm disappointed in the City dump's new policy. Residents should have a right to salvage material. The excuse that the dump becomes "flooded with scavengers" sounds silly. All the scavengers in Pontiac put there at the same time would be only a handful. And this policy makes it too easy for someone who might find a good deal in the junk business and wouldn't want anyone horning in.

And what of the children who adventure there while their parents dump junk? Remember the treasures you found when you were small? Many little ones will miss the thrill of discovering a glistening colored bottle that's "not even hardly cracked," or a tire with "prac'ly no holes" in it" that would make a swell swing.

Couldn't a few hours a week be set aside to let those in who can make use of the junk?

'Eaton's Criticism Same as Praise'

Cyrus Eaton, Russia's warm friend and admirer, criticizes the FBI. That further strengthens the FBI and lowers Eaton. They just about represent the top and the bottom, anyway.

'Williams Fiddles While State Falls'

Williams' tax proposal can be likened to the picture of Nero fiddling while Rome burned. We have a great state crumbling like a badly run household while our "great" governor plays politics with the money crisis. Witness his "solution."

In a state admittedly unhealthy for business, his tax program not only aims at continuing this, but to make sure the little people with the big vote don't miss the point, he spells it out for them in his talk with, "This plan will spare the little fellow." The little fellows will read no farther and while they have their arms around one another cheering, the good governor is plucking his tax out of their back pockets. Only a non-thinker doesn't know that any tax is ultimately paid by the consumer.

What bothers me most is the GOP's falling for a publicity trap. Republicans always forget where the votes are. Right now they're criticizing Williams' tax program and, horror of horrors, they're actually saying it's aimed at the rich. With what glee Democratic playwriters must be reading the GOP reaction. I admire the Republican Party as producers of the wealth of this land, but I'm appalled at its ignorance of vote-getting.

'One Good Turn Deserves a Jab'

A radio announcer started his spiel by saying: "Oft-maligned big business is paying its state tax in advance, etc., etc. Oft maligned? By whom? Radio announcers and union officials, perhaps? Some people are so warped in their judgment they can't even mention a kindly deed without throwing a harpoon.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Jealousy May Prompt Evil Gossip

Oral Roberts has millions of fervent followers but also many jealous folks who try to belittle him because he doesn't have a theological degree or because he gets the limelight on TV. Such evil gossip is often passed along concerning Bishop Sheen, Billy Graham, Dr. Peale and others. Alas, some of the worst gossipers are clergymen and other church folks! Why?

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

My father and mother first introduced him to me via their TV, for they live in Indiana and follow him regularly.

CRANE

Rev. Roberts presents a very forceful and convincing sermon of some 15 minutes' duration.

Then he prays for those who are sick in body as well as spirit. And many people proclaim that they are cured. Some skeptics scoff at the power of such clergymen to act as intermediary links between God and the afflicted.

And many physicians are perplexed as to the exact mechanism by which the body may be cured via such psychological or spiritual influences.

"Dr. Crane, I have quit trying to explain the cures," Oral Roberts informed me when my daughter Judy and I recently visited with him and his charming wife, Evelyn in New York.

"And I definitely warn my listeners that I do not cure anybody though many people erroneously credit me with their healing.

"All I agree to do is stand beside the sick and try to act as an intermediary link through whom God's power expresses itself.

"Furthermore, as I tell people on TV, they don't need me at all but can be healed right there in their own parlors if they will just believe.

"For if God can make us human beings, certainly He has the power to repair our damaged or diseased bodies, doesn't he?"

And I nodded assent, for intelligent scientists will admit that the creator of any machine should be able to repair it!

JEALOUSY IN HIGH PLACES

But many people grow jealous of anybody who gets into the limelight. Then they pass along evil gossip to hamstring such leaders.

Alas, some clergymen are so jealous of Dr. Norman Vincent Peale that they verbally stab him in the back, if not openly, at least by indirection.

In like manner, I have even heard priests belittle Bishop Sheen's wonderful work on TV by saying:

Billy Graham and all the great modern evangelists who serve much as clergymen-at-large, thus fall heir to backbiting and the development of mean gossip by supposed leaders of Christian churches everywhere.

It is simply a common demonstration of the old psychological rule that lesser persons try to lift themselves by tearing down their superiors!

So I told Oral Roberts that I had heard a rumor that he was a multi-millionaire with a big ranch, stocked with thoroughbred cattle.

And he answered frankly that this rumor was definitely not true.

"I originally had a 240-acre strip in the dust bowl," he added, "but I sold that to get rid of any remote basis of fact for such a false rumor.

"My wife and I have four children and live in a rented house in Tulsa. My only income is from

"All the educational and TV work is conducted by a non-profit educational foundation. I am only one of the 7 directors of this foundation and do not receive one cent therefrom."

As a former college debater and stickler for facts, I feel you readers deserve these data, especially to combat the tragic development of malicious gossip by church people concerning great modern evangelists of various denominations.

Even if you don't agree with Bishop Sheen or Dr. Peale or Oral Roberts or Billy Graham, at least don't pass along vicious gossip to hinder their great work. God may soon call you to task for such evil gossip.

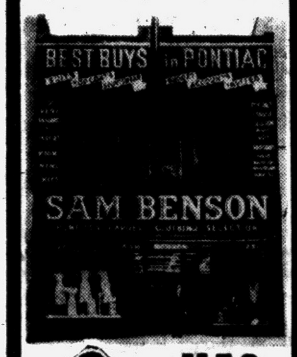

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

CHAPTER XLVI

From a great distance, Angus heard voices, and presently he identified Lord Lorrimer's.

"Angus! Angus—can you hear me?"

"I . . . Yes."

"Thank God. Are you . . . are you all right?"

"Alive and well," said Angus.

"Thank God," said Lord Lorrimer again.

If that was a prayer, count him in, thought Angus. If the ditch had been a foot wider, if the two front wheels had gone down instead of going over . . .

Strong hands were pushing supports beneath the coach. Gentle hands were pulling him out, inch by inch. The underside of the Empress gave way to the branches of trees, and then to the pale, beautiful, welcome sky, and then the sky was obscured by Lord Lorrimer's drawn, haggard face.

"Angus—are you all right?"

"Perfectly. Ferdy?"

"He was thrown out. He's unconscious, but I don't think he's injured. Lie still while the doctor looks you over."

Angus struggled to a sitting position.

"I'm all right. It was my knee, my blasted knee. Weak-kneed . . ."

With the help of those round him, he got to his feet. Not far away, Ferdy was lying, the picture of repose. On his back among the undergrowth, eyes closed, hands clasped on his stomach, he looked like a man sleeping off the effects of a picnic lunch.

"We'll get him inside," said Lord Lorrimer.

Angus limped across and bent over the driver. Ferdy's eyes opened and he lay gazing up at Angus, his look, at first blank, gradually showing signs of returning consciousness.

'HOW ARE YOU?'

"Sir?"

"How are you, Ferdy?"

"I'm fine, sir," said Ferdy, and proved it by lapsing back into unconsciousness.

They bore him gently indoors and laid him on a bed. His eyes opened once more, and went from one to the other of the anxious faces round him, resting at last on Angus.

"You all right, sir?"

"Yes, it was my fault, Ferdy, and I'm sorry."

"Empress all right, sir?"

"She's fine." It was Lord Lorrimore who answered. "She jumped the ditch and she's got a scratch or two, but nothing more."

Ferdy nodded, and spoke in a firm voice to Angus.

"We'll all go on, Ferdy, when you're feeling a bit less shaken."

"I'm all right, sir. But I can't drive today or tomorrow, Muzzy, like. Will you take the Empress to Lisbon, sir?"

"There's no need for that, Ferdy. I'll drive it if you like, but you can come too."

"No, sir. I'll follow you. You've got to get his lordship to Lisbon. Rules of the Company, sir. If the driver hits any trouble, the courier takes over. You take over, sir, and get his lordship to Lisbon."

Angus glanced at Lord Lorrimer.

"Your knee?" the latter asked. "I could drive." He looked at Ferdy. "But—"

"We've got a day in hand, Ferdy," Angus reminded him.

"Yes, sir, but you'll need that to take her slowly. You're not used to handling her, like I am." His eyes besought Angus. "Everything's happened this trip, sir, but the Empress can still arrive on time. That's all we can do now, sir—get her in on time. Don't wait till tomorrow, sir, start now, and take her slowly and give yourself a rest on the way. Will you do it, sir?"

"All right, Ferdy, I'll do it."

When they had seen to his comfort, they drove away, Angus was at the wheel. Lord Lorrimer sat alone in the coach. They could not communicate and perhaps, thought Angus, it was as well that they could not; they had, at this moment, nothing to say to one another. Angus set his mind to studying the route and the performance of the coach, striving to ignore the stabs that memory, every now and then, dealt out to him.

It was over, and he wasn't, in a way, surprised, he told himself. It had been, from the beginning, an improbable sort of dream. He had been a courier, and a beautiful girl had thrown her arms about his neck and said to him: "I've loved you ever since I first met you; I'm yours."

They had embraced, and she had said: "Let's rent a castle in Spain," and he had agreed, knowing all the time that he was asleep and that sooner or later he must wake—to reality.

And he had wakened, and she had gone, as she had known she would be gone, and all that remained now was to keep one's eye on the future and one's mind off the past. She was gone. Angela . . . Angela was gone.

FOUGHT AGAINST HER

He fought to keep her out of his mind. But he could not prevent the ghosts in the coach from holding a ghoulish autopsy.

Angus tore his mind away. Lovely names, these Portuguese ones: Cleorico da Beira; perhaps it meant something. Fork in the road: did they want N.16 or N.17? N.17, obviously; they were heading for Coimbra.

They had been scheduled to stop there for lunch tomorrow, the whole round dozen of them: ten passengers, one courier, one driver. Ten passengers . . . the Zollers, the Admiral and his sister, Miss Seton and Mr. Holt and Lord Lorrimer and Yule and Tarrant . . . and Angela. Angela.

Better get use to saying it. There were a lot of girls called Angela, and one might have to use the name, and if one couldn't bring it out, it would look odd. Angela. Angela, Angela, Angela, Oh God, Angela . . . .

Pleasant country, Portugal. Especially at dawn. They didn't waste any space; crops and more crops, and if it wasn't vines, it was cork and if it wasn't cork, it was olives. Roadmen every few yards, wide-brimmed hats, happy smile, polite salute.

A tap on the window from Lord Lorrimer, a stop. A cigarette, and then on again, with scarcely a word spoken. Coimbra ahead: University — and something else. Yes, the Villa of Tears, Quinta das Lagrimas, where they'd murdered Inez da Castro in 1355. That was a long time ago, nobody, now, shed tears in the villa. Time healed. Inez . . . Angela.

And now no more journeying to the West, turn south, down, down to Lisbon. "Well, I shall face that way, and then I shall know that south is behind me and east is on my right hand."

Stop to buy food. Half each, back to the coach, eat as you go.

Leiria . . . what was that? The Roman Calippo. Captured by the Moors in 1135. Odd how a man could have a brain for history and be totally deficient in other knowledge. How to keep love safe, for example. How to keep his love close to him, attached by—what was it?—hoops of steel, so that whatever came, she would stay by him. Whatever happened, whatever he did, just so long as he did it thinking it was the right thing to do.

Nazare off to the right. Fishermen with checkered shirts and traditions lost in Phoenecian times. Oxen pulling boats up the beach, boats with eyes painted on the prow.

Aljubarrota somewhere about here. Great day for the Irish? No, the Portuguese. King John gains independence of country from Castile, August 14, 1385.

The clocks have hands of heavy bronze. The mechanism is concealed behind the walls.

Hold Convention Feb. 14

Nomination Possibilities Grow on Republican List

LANSING (AP)—Names of possibilities for 14 nominations at stake in the Feb. 14 Republican state convention in Detroit made a lengthening list today.

The main business of the GOP meeting will be to pick candidates in the April 6 election and a state party chairman for a two-year term.

Lawrence B. Lindemer, incumbent state chairman, is seeking another term. As yet, no one has come out against them, although there have been rumblings among conservative elements in the party.

An abortive boom for Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater) collapsed last week within hours of its launching by Montgomery Shephard of Benton Harbor, former Merrien County Republican chairman.

Lindemer yesterday distributed a roster of 20 persons mentioned for the various nominations, including some avowed candidates. On it were:

For state superintendent of public instruction—Hugh H. Holloway of Sault Ste. Marie and Paul Emerich of Fremont, both local school superintendents.

University of Michigan Regents (two nominees)—Ted Kennedy Jr., Ann Arbor business executive; R. F. (Dutch) Thalner, Flint businessman; Fred Matthaei, Detroit industrialist and sports enthusiast; and Mrs. Charles R. Burgess of Grand Rapids.

State Board of Agriculture (two nominees) — Arthur K. Rouse, incumbent of Boyne City; Frank Merriman, Deckerville farmer; and Kermit Carey of Flint.

Wayne State University Board of Governors (six nominees) — Dr. Warren B. Cooksey, Benjamin D. Burdick and Gordon Kingsbury, all of Detroit; Edward G. Deeraner of Midland; George A. Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie; Dr. Warren C. Lambert of Marquette and Walter Carey of West Bloomfield Township.

State Supreme Court (two nominees)—former Congressman Robert J. McIntosh of Port Huron; Joseph W. Planck of Lansing, former state bar president; and Michael D. O'Hara, Menominee attorney.

Revenue Agents Hold Infant for Tax Clearance

DETROIT (AP) — Just because you're only nine months old don't think you can flee the country and avoid paying income tax.

Ask little Mark Perks. He was nabbed by the internal revenue service on the eve of his departure for England.

But the agents let him go without paying a cent. He even came out 25 cents to the good.

Mark accompanied his mother, Mrs. Phyllis Jean Perks, to the federal building yesterday. Mrs. Perks, an American by birth, is leaving Detroit tonight to return to England to live. Her husband, Peter, a British engineer, already is working in Birmingham.

Mrs. Perks was told that as a U.S. citizen she needed no tax clearance.

But, said the agents, Mark does. He is a British citizen.

So a form was duly filled out. After studying the situation, the agent waived the signature, patted Mark on the head and gave him a quarter.

Mark left, clutching the quarter, his passport—and his income tax clearance.

N.Y. Harbor Strike Nearing Settlement

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators have reached a tentative settlement of the six-day strike that has tied up 400 harbor craft here.

Members of the striking union will vote Saturday on a new wage offer by the employers.

The tentative settlement on a wage increase was announced Thursday night by Mediator Thomas G. Dougherty of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Neither side in the dispute had any comment on the agreement.

However, Capt. Joseph O'Hare, president of Local 333 of the National Maritime Union, said the strikers would return to work immediately if the proposed settlement is ratified Saturday.

Four thousand members of the union have been idle since Saturday midnight.

2 Banks Plan Merger

ALMA (AP) — A merger of the State Bank of Ashley and the Bank of Alma is expected to be completed at the close of business Saturday. The merger has been approved by the board of directors and stockholders of both banks. Final approval still is needed from the State Banking Commission.

Nationalists Issue New Bid for Quemoy Truce

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Nationalist Chinese have made another bid for a truce in the offshore island artillery war, this time in honor of the Chinese lunar new year celebration this week end.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry announced today that its garrisons on the offshore islands would not reply to Communist fire Sunday which is New Year's Day, or Monday.

Normally the Red guns would fire at Quemoy Island on Saturday and Monday, since they are odd-numbered days of the month. But the Communists joined in two previous holiday truces proposed by the Nationalists, Christmas Day and the Western New Year's Day.

Highland Park Crash Fatal to Detroiter, 26

DETROIT (AP)—Paul R. Flake, 26, of Detroit was killed Thursday when his car went out of control in Highland Park, struck a utility pole at an estimated 100 miles an hour, snapped both in half and flew 70 feet into two other cars.

Police said Flake apparently suffered an epileptic seizure. He was Highland Park's first traffic fatality of the year.

Say Ocean Volcano Acts Up Near Japan

The Japanese coast guard has warned shipping out of the area around Suwanose Island, 80 miles south of Kyushu.

A Japanese ship saw smoke rising above the sea in the area. The Central Meteorological Agency reported there were high tides at the same time.

The Oswego River Valley drains a watershed of more than 5,000 square miles in upstate New York.

Architect Looks Ahead

Spacing Their Future Pet

DENVER (UPI) — It's the space between 'em, and not the buildings which architects of the coming space age will be concerned with.

That, according to Chicago architect Jerrold Loebl, is the blueprint for "architecture of the future."

"It must concern itself with curbs and sidewalks," Loebl told a Loretto Heights College convocation, "with trees and shrubs, with parking lots, with the entire neighborhood, with entire cities. These are all parts of the environment to be created."

Loebl, who laid out much of the entire town of Park Forest, Ill., lamented the fact that cities gifted with gracious natural beauty were spawned into sprawling metropolitan centers with little apparent consideration for existing gifts of nature.

Some samples:

—San Francisco. . ."An exciting place that God made beautiful, and man has done nothing to help. Somebody got a surveyor and laid out a thoughtless gridiron of streets only because they would be easy to survey and sell."

—Chicago. . ."A century ago, it was called the Garden City. Growth has cut down the trees and created the slums. Now people are fleeing to the suburbs."

—Long Island. . .Just 30 years ago, it was still largely a park. Now, it's just rows of square boxes clumsy and ugly."

Has Legitimate Reason to Have Minister Call

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Local Episcopalians are distributing forms on which persons can ask to see a minister.

There are categories to be checked so the minister will know the reason for his call.

Like Father, Like Son

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—The A. K. Gores have four children. Gore and their two sons are left-handed. His wife and the couple's two daughters are righthanded.

'Dead' Bird Awakens; He's in Owl Heaven

BOSTON (AP) — The Massachusetts Audubon Society vouches for this—the tale of a "dead" owl that woke up in a deep freeze and apparently accepted it as a sort of heaven.

Members of this society of bird-lovers frequently bring in birds found dead, the Audubon people said. The finders ask that the birds be mounted for use in educating the public about birds.

So it was nothing unusual when somebody came to the society's Drumlin Farm Wildlife Sanctuary with an apparently defunct owl, found quite stiff, in the road.

The owl was laid away in a deep freeze with other victims of avian tragedies.

Four days later William H. Drury, director of Audubon's Hathaway School of Conservation opened the freezer and found himself staring into a pair of very bright owl-eyes.

Mr. Owl was strutting around with an exceedingly well-fed air. He had come out of his coma and, with an inexhaustible supply of food in a secluded, dark place, he had never had it so good.

Mr. Owl was hurriedly shifted to the out-patient department. Director Drury, after due consideration came up with this moral for bird lovers:

If a bird gets an adequate supply of food it doesn't make much difference how cold the weather gets. People enjoy feeding winter birds, he said, and food is the magic that keeps the little creatures alive, despite the cold.

The original forest area of the U.S. was estimated to be 820 million acres, one-half the land area.

His Business Initiative Appears Unprofitable

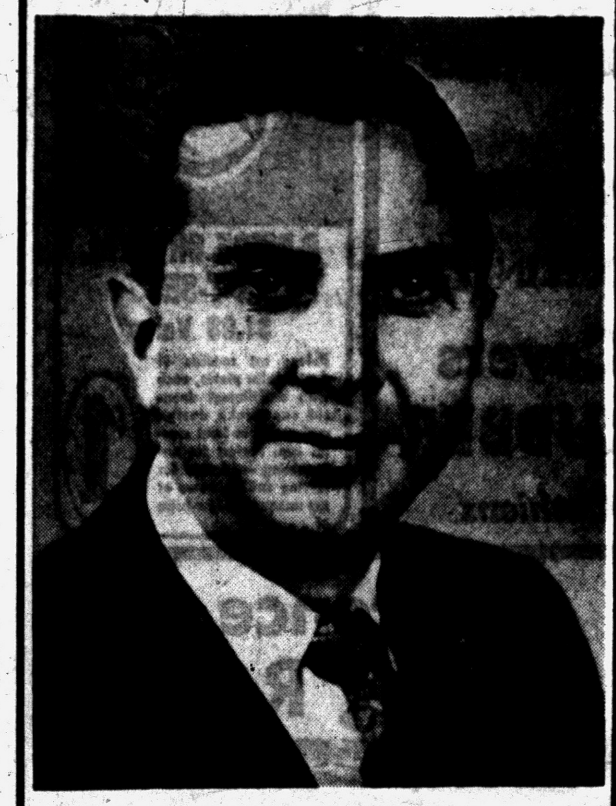

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — When Herbert Benz, 53, went into business for himself his only expense was for a flashlight, but he ended up losing $24 on the venture.

Benz was fined $24 when police caught him charging hockey fans 25 cents to park in a free parking area near the arena.

Bob Considine Says:

What's Castro Like? There Are Many Ideas

NEW YORK—Castro's convertible. Everybody tries to open him up into something else. Everybody has his own idea of what the bearded Cuban revolutionary leader is really like, inside. He's on more radio and television programs than the phrase "... , and now a word from my sponsor." Every program interprets him differently.

The mail I've received in the wake of a trip to Havana and a talk with him, and with his friends, and a look at his trial of Maj. Sosa Blanco, ranges all the way from "he's the greatest since Simon Bolivar" to "lose that bum, he's redder than a herring."

Bentley Jenkins, of the Bronx, suggests several new angles. One is that Castro "is making a lot of sense" even though "he may be a little nuts—don't forget Batista had him in solitary for seven months and he got the water drip torture, too."

(An English friend with business connections in Cuba assures me that Castro works for Batista, who folded up his army and let Castro in just to take the heat off himself.

Another friend, calling from Havana, swears that Castro has dispatched 5,000 of his bearded ones secretly to Costa Rica and will use that friendly democratic country as a staging base for his "liberation" of the people of Nicaragua—which is controlled by the Somozas, one of them a West Point graduate. All sorts of stories . . .)

"What is more important today than the true colors of Castro is that this country has given refuge to, among others, former Cuban Sen. Rolando Masferrer," Jenkins continues.

"There is little question in my mind that Masferrer is already in contact with other Batista people, particularly in the Miami area, and that a little assassination party is in the process of being formed. Masferrer (who once commanded his own elite corps of killers) is a professional in that line.

"It's likely that he will succeed. When he does, he will be blamed by the Cubans. There will be more bloodshed, perhaps even American. We would almost certainly send Marines to Cuba to protect American lives and re-establish order. It could turn out to be a terrible page in the history of that fine corps.

So why don't we stop playing with matches? Why do we let a Masferrer operate from our shores? Vice President Nixon had rocks thrown at him partly because we gave asylum to Venezuela's Jiminez and his bloody-handed police officials. When are we going to come to our senses and stop affronting our Latin American friends?"

Among our exhibits at Moscow, during the American fair that opens July 4, will be a closed-circuit RCA color television transmitter and enough receivers to satisfy the endless streams of Muscovites and others expected to view these wonders.

Soviet scientists have not yet invented color TV, so this will be an especially interesting exhibition. We'll depend on Russian talent and visiting individuals or groups for the talent needed to fill the eight hours of daily broadcasting.

The Russians will show us their own goods at the same time at the Coliseum, in New York. Mikoyan put the final touches on the arrangements while he was here. It is said that he barred only one proposed U. S. exhibit at Moscow. "Don't send a doughnut-making machine," the Russian pleaded. "It takes us a week to make one of those cakes."

Remember Dr. Herman Sander? Just nine years ago at this time his name was on every front page. The Manchester, N. H., doctor was on trial for his life, charged with hastening the death of a woman suffering the last pangs of cancer.

He was acquitted. The other day while stopping briefly in Manchester, we learned that Sander today has more patients than he can handle, lives quietly in a little town outside Manchester, recently bought into a billboard business and is one of the more successful men of the region.

Richard Tregaskis, the incomparable INS war correspondent and author of, among other books, "Guadalcanal Diary," was in town this week arranging for the sale of his new book on the X15, the manned missile which soon will be tested.

At a dinner at Luchow's for Dick the talk turned to what each person would like to be reincarnated as, if he or she could come back only as an animal.

"I'd like to come back as the animal kingdom's most useful creature, the cow," Dick said.

Make Final Bids to Stall Negroes

Alexandria Has Not Given Up, but Will If Segregation Pleas Fail

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Alexandria's 11th hour bid to delay public school integration comes before a federal judge today as seven schools in Arlington and Norfolk complete a week of integrated operations.

At Alexandria, the school board asks U.S. Dist. Judge Albert V. Bryan to delay his order for the admission of nine Negroes to white schools next Tuesday. If Bryan turns down the request, the school board will make a similar petition to Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals.

If the Alexandria School Board is unable to obtain a delay, it plans to admit the Negroes to white schools. Bryan directed the admission of the nine Negroes after hearing arguments on the validity of the board's rejection of 14 Negro applications for white schools.

Integration at six secondary schools in Norfolk and one junior high in Arlington proceeded peacefully again Thursday. Arlington officials prepared to eliminate fixed police posts around Stratford Junior High.

There were other developments on the school scene.

The Norfolk City Council replied to a federal judge's injunction against its funds cutoff plan by contending, in a formal answer, that the judge had no jurisdiction in the case. The council is appealing the decision, which removed the final barrier to integration.

Four Richmond officials conferred with Virginia's attorney general about the city's school segregation problems.

Unused Battleship Goes to Scrap Pile

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 55 million dollar U.S. battleship that never went to war is headed for the scrap heap.

The Kentucky will be towed into Baltimore today. She is a victim of the times and mishaps.

They couldn't finish her in time for World War II. It ended too soon. So work on her stopped.

Then she was to get a new lease on life. She was to become a missile carrier in a new age.

But when the battleship Wisconsin was damaged in a collision in 1956, the Kentucky had to give up her bow to make the Wisconsin whole again.

After that the unfinished battlewagon had all she could take. She just laid around the Newport News, Va., shipyards for years.

MILAN, Italy (AP). — Maria Callas has lost another fight.

A Milan court ruled Thursday that the music critic of the newspaper Il Giorno didn't libel her when he wrote after her La Scala performance of "Anna Bolena" last year that she had hired people to applaud her, "struck amateur-like poses," and was "unworthy to tread the stage of La Scala."

The court said the writer, Beniamino dal Fabro, was only exercising his normal right of artistic criticism. The soprano was ordered to pay costs of the case. She had sued for 100,000 lire—$160.

Asks UAW $$ to Aid Michigan

$16 Million Strike Fund Loan Proposed to Ease State's Financial Plight

DETROIT (AP)—A boost in United Auto Workers membership dues has been followed by a suggestion that the UAW turn over its $16,630,806 strike fund to the state to help Michigan out of its financial difficulties.

The union increased its dues $1 a month Wednesday in order to increase its strike fund to $25,000,000.

Darrel E. Berry, president of the Citizens Republican Club of Livonia, wired Gov. Williams yesterday and suggested the UAW fund be loaned to the state without interest. Berry suggested the union wouldn't need the fund in view of its recent contract settlements in the auto and other industries.

A UAW spokesman said he doubted the state could legally accept such a loan under the constitution if it were offered.

He added that the UAW draws dues from members throughout the country and not only those from Michigan.

Macy's Drops Theft Charges Against Red

NEW YORK (AP) — Macy's department store has dropped charges against a touring Soviet accordion player-dancer, accused of taking several items from the store last Thursday.

When he left the store, detectives said, Lvov had under his overcoat a brassiere, a handbag, 23 neckties, and 5 pairs of socks with a total value of $42.41.

Lvov was taken to night court Tuesday and released on $500 bail on a petit larceny charge.

Macy's announced Thursday that the merchandise had been returned and "charges have been dropped."

There was no comment from Soviet or U.S. diplomatic circles.

In Brussels recently, a touring Russian was accused of shoplifting, but the offender was not prosecuted. In London, Soviet discus champion Nina Ponomareva was convicted of stealing five hats worth $4.68 from a shop. She went to court, denied the theft, and paid $8.82 in court costs.

Juvenile Gangs Keep Police Busy at Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Police, bolstered by auxiliary patrolmen, will continue their fight tonight to control teenage gangs threatening violence along jammed Mardi Gras parade routes.

Fights and other lawlessness again marred Thursday night's parade of the Krewe of Momus.

Hermes, a group which usually puts on one of the more colorful parades, has the spotlight tonight, using the theme "Ali Baba and the 40 Thieves."

Officers arrested 60 persons for various offenses Thursday night. Twenty-six were juveniles.

Twenty of the youths picked up were white. They were booked for various offenses, including refusal to move on, theft, carrying concealed weapons, fighting, and being loud and boisterous.

Wife Gets $129,000 in Firestone Divorce

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — A settlement of $129,000 cash was awarded Mrs. Lois Allen Firestone in her divorce Thursday from the son of the president of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. of California.

The 23-year-old bride of one year charged Kimball Firestone with cruelty. The couple married in 1957 when both were Stanford students. They separated last July.

The settlement also included a $29,000 home near Woodside, Calif. and stock in four companies.

Bill Asks Sweepstakes, to Help State in Crisis

LANSING (AP)—A Michigan version of the Irish sweepstakes and legalization of bingo were urged in the Legislature today as a cure for state money ills.

Backers of the proposed constitutional amendment said it would bring in 50 million dollars a year for education.

In addition, it would strike a blow against hypocrisy, dry up the "vicious numbers racket" overnight, cripple other forms of illegal gambling and save on law enforcement expenses.

The resolution, along lines of one that got nowhere in 1958, was filed by Rep. Edwin A. Fitzpatrick and three other Detroit Democrats.

There are nearly 600,000 miles of gas transmission and distribution pipelines in the U.S.

New Pill Will Aid in Diabetic Therapy

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A new drug helpful to diabetics was announced at Baylor University College of Medicine here Thursday.

Researchers said the drug, called DBI, lowers sugar levels in the blood without harmful reactions on vital organs. The drug also was found to act independently of insulin and the pancreas, the organ which produces insulin. It is taken in tablet form.

"DBI will not take the place of insulin," said Dr. Harold L. Dobson of the Baylor school. "But it will relieve some of the difficulties of insulin and will stabilize a certain number of diabetics. I personally believe it is a valuable addition to our therapeutic armament."

"Yes, We Have No Bananas" was the hit song of 1923.

4th Wife Asks Divorce From Mickey Rooney

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Mickey Rooney's fourth wife wants a divorce and $2,353 a month temporary alimony.

Mrs. Elaine Mahnken Rooney, 29, charged the 38-year-old actor with mental cruelty Thursday in a suit filed after six years of marriage. She said Rooney's income is $350,000 a year.

Climb Corridors Set Up for Jets

Will Allow Interceptors to Answer Emergency Without Hindrance

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency says 40 "climb corridors" have been or will be set up for jet interceptors throughout the United States.

The corridors, two miles wide at their start 3,000 feet above the ground, widen out to a diameter of 4½ miles at the top, 32,000 feet high.

They are designed to enable supersonic interceptors to take off from military bases and climb steeply and swiftly on an emergency alert without hindrance from other air traffic.

Another corridor will be put into use within the next 18 months at Selfridge, Kinross and K. I. Sawyer, Air Force bases in Michigan.

Back-Seat Drivers Turn Into Stylists in Canada

TORONTO (AP)—Canadian women are more than mere back-seat drivers. They now are telling the car manufacturers what sort of car to build.

The Canadian Association of Consumers is holding a national survey of what women want in cars. Members have been asked to answer two questions:

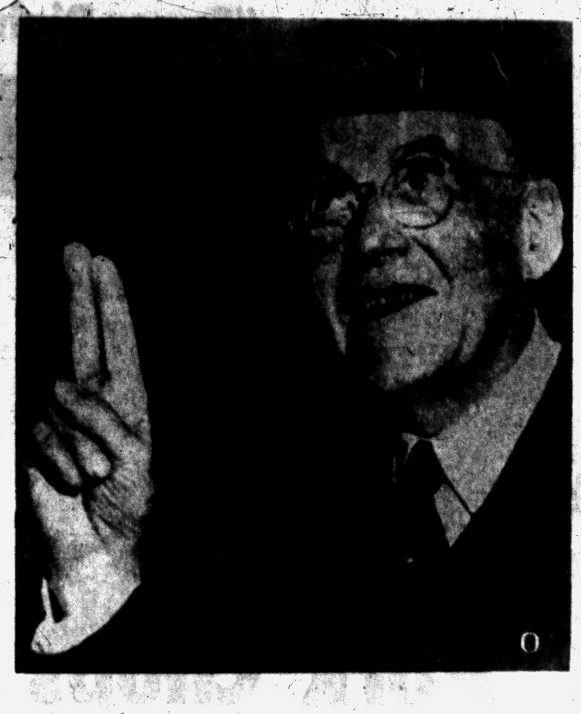

"Are you satisfied with the trend to longer, lower, more powerful cars?

"Do you agree that the government should be asked to introduce legislation to make cars safer?"

Isabel Jewell Pays Fine on Bad Check Charge

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Former actress Isabel Jewell has paid a $25 fine on a bad check charge.

Miss Jewell, 51, pleaded guilty Thursday to paying a cabdriver with a fictitious check for $37.50 after a night of casino-hopping in this gambling resort.

Doctor Quits Island, People Too Healthy

LONACONING, Md. (AP)—Dr. Mikio Kato, who served as the only doctor on a little Chesapeake Bay island for more than a year, will begin practicing medicine in this western Maryland town Monday.

Kato agreed to leave Japan in 1957 at the invitation of residents of Tangier Island, Va. However, after 19 months on the island, the 34-year-old Japanese physician realized there was little for him to do.

"I feel as if I'm getting rusty," he explained three months ago. The 1,100 or so islanders were just too healthy.

So he decided to leave the historic community of fishermen and go to the coal mountain country of western Maryland.

Kato received his state medical certificate Jan. 27 and has recorded it at the court house in Cumberland.

Body of Son Found, Returned to Parents

GAFFNEY, S.C. (AP) — Two days ago, a shocked mother and father found the body of a stranger in a casket sent them by the U.S. Navy in the belief it was their son.

Today, the error rectified, Mr. and Mrs. J. Brunson Phillips are burying their son Jerry Robert Driskill, 23, one of three sailors killed Monday in a highway accident at Pensacola, Fla. He will be accorded military honors.

Driskill's body was intercepted Thursday in a railroad baggage room in Chicago. It was apparently en route to the parents of Lawrence H. Geis, 22, Milwaukee, whose body the Phillipses had received by error. Geis was killed in the same accident.

Loveland Gets Busy at This Time of Year

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP)—Most of the time, Loveland is a little farm city (pop. 9,000), close to the canyon gateways of the mountains and the sugar beet fields of the high plains.

But at this time of year it becomes Colorado's "Sweetheart Town," and the accent is heavy on hearts and flowers.

Postmaster Fred Brewer says from 75,000 to 80,000 valentines, stamped with Loveland's special Cupid drawing and verse, likely will be mailed before Feb. 14.

It's been many years since sweethearts around the nation first discovered this town's romantic name and sent valentines here for remailing. The custom of stamping and special writing on envelopes began in 1947.

A valentine is mailed in an outside wrapper to the Loveland Post Office. A clerk strips off the wrapping, stamps the envelope with the "Sweetheart Town" brand and sends it on its way.

Last year valentines were remailed from Loveland to every state in the country and a dozen foreign nations.

This year's decoration shows the Loveland Cupid in cowboy hat, boots and chaps aiming his bow at a branding iron — an L surrounded by a heart. Between bow and heart is this verse:

"Here is that bow and arrow lad,
And from his Loveland stompin' ground,
A valentine for you."

The Harvard football team opened the 1930 season by winning a doubleheader—35 to 0 over Vermont and 33 to 0 over the Coast Guard Academy.

Chairman of the board of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic Noel Buckner, left, discusses progress reports with Mrs. William Thomas and Judge Clark J. Adams. Mrs. Thomas is director of the clinic's Birmingham Branch, and Judge Adams is a member of the board.

Child Guidance Clinic Hears Expert

Sontag Addresses Annual Meeting

A growing awareness of the constitutional factors in the development of children was stressed by Dr. Lester W. Sontag Thursday night at the annual dinner meeting of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic. Dr. Sontag, director of the Fels Research Institute on the campus of Antioch College, addressed the group at Northwood Inn.

Dr. L. W. Sontag, director of Fels Research Institute, spoke to staff members, the board of directors and those interested in the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic Thursday evening at Northwood Inn. With him is Rabbi Mordecai S. Halpern, left, who gave the invocation.

He pointed out the importance of the continuation of study in the mechanisms of human behavior. "It is necessary to have a more effective utilization of the personality of a child in order for him to make the proper adjustment to his particular environment," he said.

Dr. Sontag's report on research being done with the "autonomic nervous system" explained recent developments in measuring scientific testing results against the actual behavior pattern of the individual tested. Stating that the two invariably equalled, Dr. Sontag noted that the controlled person tested out as controlled and the "acter-outer" tested out as one who always tended to act out his problems.

Dr. Sontag said that in mental tests done to secure the I.Q. of children ranging in age from six months through elementary school age, it has been established that "the I.Q. is not a constant thing." Of the group tested, one quarter changed upward in some cases as much as 60 points, and another quarter changed downward as much as 29 points. Personality growth of the child has much to do with this, he said. Children allowed to develop normally from the dependent infant stage to an independent stage showed considerable growth, the speaker pointed out.

Attention was pointed to the exacting job of the mental hygiene clinic staff in the treatment, prevention, cure and adjustment aid of the growing personality so that it can successfully adjust to its own environment.

Through research in this field, and in the fields of prenatal influence, problems of the mental defect due to metabolic error, the horizon of the mental health field has broadened considerably, Dr. Sontag told his audience.

Noel A. Buckner, chairman of the Oakland clinic conducted the meeting and expressed thanks to the board of directors and staff for excellent work during the past year, with special commendation to the Birmingham Junior League for support of the Birmingham clinic.

Dr. Sontag was introduced by Dr. Morris Weiss, chief consulting psychiatrist to the agency. Reports were read by Abraham Brickner, chairman of the South Oakland branch and Madeleine Half, agency director.

Mr. Poole Addresses Zonta Club

Richard C. Poole was guest speaker at Zonta Club Thursday at Hotel Waldron. He spoke on the Oakland County Historical Foundation and the Wisner Home.

Mr. Poole stated that the white man was attracted to the Pontiac area because of the water power. He mentioned men who were influential in bringing about the City of Pontiac's incorporation.

One was Moses Wisner who was governor of Michigan from 1859-1861. He purchased the property where Wisner home now is in 1844 and the historical foundation bought the home in 1945.

Guests at the meeting were Ethel Wooden of Royal Oak, Mrs. Lena Clement of Ionia and Mrs. Charles Whitfield.

Even a Turtle Needs Bathing

Does your youngster have one of those little turtles sold in dime stores? If so, teach him how to wash the turtle's shell where scum tends to develop.

Just dip a finger into thick soap or detergent suds. Next, hold the turtle in one hand and rotate the suds gently all over his back—and only his back! Then rinse carefully and return him to his bowl.

Irritation Often Prompted by Frustration

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

As his eyes close to a gentle hiccup, she'll say suddenly and passionately, "I want a bottle, too. Why can't I have a bottle, too?"

Disturbed by the intensity of Nora's feeling, her mother says hastily, "Oh, you don't want a bottle like poor little Bryan. He just gets one because he's so weak he can't hold a glass for himself as you can."

By thus belittling the importance of the baby which causes Nora's jealousy, she is really trying to belittle the importance of the jealousy.

I'm not scolding Nora's mother for this attempt. Today, fewer and fewer of us can tolerate intense feelings in other people.

Recently, the father of a friend of mine died. She got the news as she was leaving for work. At her usual coffee counter she found herself unable to eat her breakfast, and breaking into tears, told the waitress why.

The young woman was as terrified by her grief as Nora's mother is of the child's jealousy.

Frantically plying my friend with paper napkins, she said, "Don't cry, don't cry. We all have to go sometime, don't we?" So my friend had to run into the street with her upsetting emotion.

We are terrified by children's expressions of anger, jealousy and injury because like Nora, we learned early that these feelings in us were disapproved. When we kicked and yelled in anger, the grownups said, "Is that a nice way to carry on?"

When a little sister's birthday glories made us jealous, they said, "You should be happy that Grandma sent Babsy a new coat."

If we fell and cut our knee, they said, "Big boys don't cry over every little scratch."

As a result, many of us carry about with us unshed tears and unvoiced cries.

So when our child explodes some passionate feeling, like Nora's mother and the waitress in the coffee bar, we hasten to belittle its importance. We have to do this.

If Moving

Pack China With Care

Every year about 44,000,000 Americans pack up their belongings and move to a new home. Sometimes the new location isn't far away, but as often as not, it's a long distance move. Problem: How do you get your fine china from one place to another without breaking any? Solution: Pack it carefully.

There are two ingredients which are essential to a good packing job. The first is a clean sturdy container, like a wooden or fiber barrel. Some chemicals which are stored in barrels cause acid flames which could damage your china's glaze, so be sure the container is clean. The second is newspaper — lots of it. If you plan to store your china for any length of time, use clean white tissue paper.

It never hurts to have insurance when you move, so ask the man you hire to do the actual moving about it. It's not expensive.

Oleg Cassini, New York dress designer, was guest speaker Thursday and today at Birmingham Town Hall. Between his lecture and luncheon fashion show he chatted with Mrs. Loren C. Spademan Jr., about the latest fashions.

Clothes Charming, So Is Designer

Oleg Cassini Captivates Audience

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

"With a few, but terribly important words," Oleg Cassini, New York dress designer completely captivated his luncheon audience at Birmingham Town Hall Thursday afternoon.

His collection of dresses was more than well received by the Birmingham area audience who were not only charmed by each dress but also by Cassini himself.

With tongue in cheek—perhaps—he gives each dress a unique name. Cassini claims this gives them an intimate appeal to buyers, and besides he can't remember numbers.

One demure creation—suitable for anyone to wear to their best friend's Saturday evening party, was called "Sorry, I Live with Mother."

five dress is called, "Don't Call Me, I'll Call You."

After the show, the audience had a chance to ask Cassini questions. Beneath his witty answers lies a deep philosophy regarding his art.

Cassini believes that fashion design is a way of life and that mere technique is not enough. Like any work of art, it takes courage and imagination to create a dress.

In designing dresses, he believes in complimenting female anatomy. If a dress is properly proportioned, it will look as good on a short woman as it does on his exotic svelte models.

"Besides my own date," the best dressed woman, according to Cassini, is Mrs. Winston Guest. She has earned this distinction because she makes no concession to fads nor does she follow the dictates of fashion. She always emphasizes her good points and disguises the bad ones.

Research studies on dental health, reported by apple growers, found that munching a raw apple eliminated over 96 per cent of mouth bacteria, as compared to 64 per cent removed by 3 minutes of tooth-brushing.

Please say it is all right, because I am that man and I swear to you that I love my wife. I only see these women once or twice a week. Please don't use my right name," Just sign it.—

ABBY

"ONE LOVE"

DEAR ONE: What do you think the "forsaking all others" means in the marriage vows? Skip the "other women" and call on your pastor. He'd be glad to explain your part of the marriage agreement.

"DEAR ABBY: Our organization gave a party. Among the guests were some single people. As the evening progressed some married couples got going with jokes. Some were cute at first, but later they got pretty filthy. My husband thought this was great, and laughed until he fell off his chair and was all for telling a few of his own.

"I stopped him, saying in view of the fact there were unmarried guests, I didn't think it was proper. By this time the jokes weren't fit for mixed company. My husband said the single ones knew more than the married ones. In a situation like this, would you get up and go home, or sit and pretend to enjoy it?"

DEAR MRS.: Neither — I'd speak up! When a party starts to show signs of "getting rough" . . . whoever calls a halt uses good judgment.

"DEAR ABBY: My boy friend kisses me because he likes to taste my lipstick. This makes me very mad. What should I do?" ELSIE

DEAR ELSIE: If you are over 21 . . . kiss and make up!

"DEAR ABBY: My problem is financial in a way. We cannot afford to have two birthday parties for each child as we have five children. The reason why we have to have two parties is because my parents and my in-laws are not speaking and haven't for years.

"In order to have all the grandparents enjoy the childrens' birthdays I have to make two parties. I'd like to have just one but I don't want fights and arguments. I'd appreciate knowing how to accomplish this." NOT RICH

DEAR NOT: Get your parents and in-laws together and tell them it's time they grew up. Make ONE party and invite them all. If they can't get along — let them all stay home.

Complexion Can Reveal Dieting

Improper dieting can ruin a complexion as well as a woman's disposition.

Wear and Enjoy

Do you have a lovely gift negligee? Don't let it stay in the closet or that's probably where it will be a year from now. Wear it and enjoy it.

Plaids, Stripes Are Attractive in Sitting Room

Not only are they smart enough to make any college man or pre-college youngster feel utterly sophisticated—but they are completely machine washable, as well.

These spreads can pop from bed to washer and back in less time than it takes to have the bull sessions which mess them up again.

Flattering Caps

Can Only Ask Name of Friend

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I go to business every day and travel back and forth on the subway. I have become acquainted with a young woman who I see almost every day and who takes the same train I do. We started to talk one morning when there was a delay on the subway and every time we meet now we have a conversation on our ride into the city. However, she has never told me her name.

"The other morning a friend of mine came along and joined us. As I did not know my subway friend's name and I was embarrassed to ask her, I did not introduce them and I am sure they must have both thought me very rude. I am sure this situation will arise again, so will you please tell me how to handle it gracefully?"

Answer: You might say to your subway friend, "Please forgive me, but for the moment I can't think of your name and I would like to introduce you and Mrs. Jones."

"Dear Mrs. Post: Very often we have dinner guests. Since we have no maid, I do all the cooking and serving myself. As I am in and out of the kitchen throughout dinner, I usually put a very pretty tea apron on over my dress so as not to soil it. My husband has criticized me for this and says it does not look right, and that it is despoiling to the dinner. What is your opinion?

Answer: I think your idea of protecting your dress with a tea apron pretty enough to be worn all through the dinner should be encouraged.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A very dear friend of mine has just lost her baby, at birth. Would it be proper to send her some flowers with my sympathy, or a printed sympathy card, or just what do you suggest in this situation?"

Answer: Please not a sympathy card, but flowers are always proper and with them you could enclose a card reading, "With all my love."

"Dear Mrs. Post: My son is going to be married at an afternoon wedding. All the men in the wedding party, including the bride's father, are going to wear striped trousers and cutaway coats. My husband had planned on wearing a dark blue business suit but my son has told him that he has to dress the same as the bride's father. My husband is very upset over this and we would like to know if my son is right."

Answer: It is not at all necessary that the bridegroom's father be obliged to wear formal clothes since he takes no part in the ceremony.

Lend Thine Ear

Listening to what another person has to say makes you very attractive in his eyes. When your turn comes, perhaps the other individual will return the compliment.

Something's Wrong

Exercise Should Relax Not Tire

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "When I take exercises I feel tired all day long afterwards. Why is this and should I continue?"

A. Exercise should relax but should not tire. You probably are doing too much. Also, of course, you should have your heart and blood pressure checked before beginning exercise. If you have not done this, do so before continuing. If you already have your doctor's permission to exercise, cut down on the amount you are doing.

Q. "I am 16 years old and suddenly my hair has become very thin and oily with dandruff. My forehead and back are oily, too. I am terribly worried and unhappy because of this. I will be very grateful if this is answered in your column. If it is not, I am glad that I can write you anyway."

A. I think that you should see your doctor for a physical checkup. Perhaps there is some organic or systemic condition which is affecting your hair. He will be able to tell you about this. He also will know whether or not there is a local scalp condition which requires treatment by a dermatologist.

Q. "I am 15 years old, 5 feet, 7 inches tall and weigh 120 pounds. Please tell me if I am underweight and how many pounds."

A. You should gain 10 pounds.

Q. "I am 12 years old and weigh 100 pounds. I am 4 feet, 11½ inches tall. Am I overweight? If so, how many pounds?"

A. It depends some on your build, but you are probably a few pounds overweight—around five.

Q. "I have bowlegs and it is a great unhappiness to me. It is especially embarrassing now that skirts are short. What can I do?"

A. While it is true that the most fashionable women are wearing their skirts quite short, still the very short length has not been adopted universally. You still see varying lengths even in large cities. I suggest that you wear yours a bit shorter than in the past but not an extreme short. The main thing is not to allow your bowlegs to damage your personality.

Q. "Does mascara make the eyelashes break off?"

A. If you do not carefully remove the mascara before going to sleep at night, it could cause the tips to break off in your sleep. Naturally the lashes are made more brittle and stiffer by mascara. It is a good idea to apply petroleum jelly or cold cream to your lashes several times a week if you use eye makeup regularly.

Q. What is a calorie?"

A. It is the unit by which we measure the heat or energy in a given amount of food.

Tomorrow: "You Can Celebrate After Diet, But Don't Go Wild."

HARVI GRIFFIN

Men's Night Next

Calypso harpist Harvi Griffin and lyric tenor William Beidler will present music for the evening when Pontiac Tuesday Musicale members observe their annual Men's Night next Tuesday. The cabaret dinner party will begin at 6:30 p.m. at First Congregational Church.

Mrs. James B. Forman is program chairman.

Mr. Griffin, a senior at Michigan State University, plays both modern and classical selections many of which are his own arrangements. He has been featured with the MSU Men's Glee Club in numerous concert appearances. Mr. Griffin also has performed on nationwide television shows and has appeared with the glee club at President Eisenhower's inauguration ceremonies.

Now first chair harpist with the MSU Symphony orchestra and activity and, Mr. Griffin has played piano, cello, clarinet, and bassoon, but the harp is his favorite instrument.

William Beidler, a graduate of the American Conservatory of Music, is well known throughout Michigan and the midwest and has spent eight seasons at the National Music Camp, Interlochen, where he affiliates with the University of Michigan opera department.

Mr. Beidler has made many radio and television appearances and did three seasons of stock at the Papermill Playhouse. He has worked with "Opera at 8:30," the Chicago chamber opera company, and has presented special shows for the armed services. The singer's most recent appearances have been with the MSU's "Cap and Gown Series."

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Elwood Bigler, chairman, or committee members Mrs. C. H. Allen, Mrs. J. B. Forman, and Mrs. Ralph Norvell.

Stains Should Be Cleaned Promptly

Cleaning experts say rugs will last longer and look newer if the housewife keeps track of spots.

Wipe up the spot immediately, then tell a rug cleaner what caused it. If the rug is made of synthetic fibers, get professional help in cleaning.

Auxiliary Meets at All Saints

Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gulnan, Mrs. Frank Coad, Mrs. Margaret Long, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hubbard, Mrs. Bert F. A. Ede, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cockle, Van Phipps, Mrs. Robert Cooper, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Norvell.

Easy on Floor—Mom's Nerves

Kitchen latter certainly jars mother's nerves. Especially, when there are several children underfoot, too.

One way to contribute to silence, since you can't lock the children in a closet, is to install sound-proofing material. A rubber tile floor, for example, muffles sound and it also is easy on the feet.

Many Chinese dishes use sauces made with chicken stock or bouillon, soy sauce, garlic and sugar, and are thickened with cornstarch. If you are improvising one of these gravies, remember that 1 tablespoon of cornstarch has the thickening power of 2 tablespoons of flour.

By COLLEEN ADAMS

The second Student Union drive at Pontiac Northern High School is now under way.

The drive, which started Tuesday, will continue through Thursday. A five dollar bill will allow new members to receive a copy of the Avalanche, the yearbook; attend six basketball games, two wrestling meets and two swimming meets. They also will receive the Polaris, the school newspaper, which are published through June.

Sales of the cards will be conducted Tuesday and Thursday from 8 to 8:30 a.m. and 3:15 to 3:45 p.m. in room B-35.

Next week, the PNH Future Teachers Club will hold rehearsals for installation of officers and members along with their new sponsor, Miss Lillian Jacobs.

Those to be installed are Ron Miller, president; Rita Stanley, vice president; Beverly Donato, secretary; Richard Baley, treasurer, and Barbara Everett, publicity manager.

HONOR TEACHER

The club recently was named in honor of Mrs. George Morrow, a PNH English teacher. The club will be called the Ann Ess Morrow Future Teachers Club of Pontiac Northern High School. Mrs. Morrow had been the sponsor of this organization for years at Pontiac Central High School. She is now in charge of Polaris.

"First" is getting to be a word frequently used around Northern. POLARIS has done it again! Today the first paper of the semester came out with a six page edition.

The reason for the larger paper is that the staff's advertising men are getting so many ads, there is not enough room for news in four pages. These go-getting ad men include Rick Coleman, Arnie Johnston, Milt Dodge, Bruce Bishop and Larry Mix.

Melvin Larimer, vocal music director, has been busy—recruiting new members into his vocal music classes. Well over 100 students who had originally signed up for study hall, decided they would rather sing when Larimer visited the study halls, looking for new faces, or rather, voices.

These classes which meet two or three times a week have a new organization. Girls and boys are combined to make a mixed glee club.

The senior class project, a statue of a Husky dog, is now nearing the actual making. The picture of the proposed Husky is being studied by architects and final decisions are being made as to whether the statue fits in with the design of the school. Meanwhile, the seniors are planning a sock hop after the Lake Orion basketball game on Feb. 10.

The Pep Club held its second meeting of the year this week. Newly elected officers are Bruce Bergstrom, president, and Lynn Thompson, treasurer. The Pep Club has been very active in the home games decorating the gymnasium, with spirited signs.

W. Bloomfield Rehearses Show

Council's Annual Event to Include 25 Acts in Feb. 18 Performance

"WBHS-TV Presents" is the title of this year's annual talent show at West Bloomfield Township High School.

The show will be held Feb. 18 at 8 p.m. Two rehearsals have already been held this week. The 25-act variety show will be sponsored by the Student Council.

Last week five members of the Council visited Clarkston High School as a part of the council exchange program.

This is the Laboratary Assistants Club. It includes 19 could-be chemists, medical men and women and even scientists.

The group is busy this week mixing unknown solutions for the Chemistry II classes. The club, a service organization under the sponsorship of Forrest E. Brown, science instructor, awards pins to those assistants who have served two or more semesters.

Aside from their weekly work in the laboratories, the club also has a bowling party and picnic each year.

Jim Williams is the only student at present who has served in the club four semesters. The three-semester members are Rick Serwin, head laboratory assistant, Maureen Callely, Pat Kline and Kathie Hunter.

Bud Barie, Dick Brown, Judy Noren, Dick Parr, Marilyn Vernon and Pat Watson are all two-semester members. New to the club last fall were Lois Arndt, Judy Cantarella, Douglas Carney, Sue Koprince, Douglas Roeser, Kay Slater, Fred Staley and Gregory Uligian.

Speaking of science, the Linnean Society, the PCH biology club, is making plans to present the fifth annual Science Fair March 13 and 14 in the cafeteria.

Music in the Round

by Dick Saunders

SAUNDERS

LAST CHORUS: The music world suffered several losses this week. Naturally, the much publicized death of Buddy Holly, 22, (singing star of "The Crickets"), Ritchie Valens, 17, and Jiles P. (Big Bopper) Richardson, 28, was a shock to teenage rock 'n' roll fans.

But hidden beneath the headlines, the death of jazz saxophonist Boyce Brown last Friday surely brought memories and sadness to oldtimers.

His life was one of extremes. Better known as Brother Matthew in recent years, Boyce became a convert to the Roman Catholic Church in 1952, joining the Servite Seminary in suburban Chicago a year later.

Fans remember him from the late '30s and early '40s when he played with bands from coast to coast, becoming a mainstay of the Eddie Condon crew for some time.

In 1940 he was rated the No. 1 alto sax man in the United States by Downbeat Magazine. He once played with Benny Meroff at the Palace Theater in New York for nine consecutive weeks.

Brown recently made an album with Condon's band, his last recorded session cut at the seminary in Chicago. The album was in essence a "reunion" between Brown, then Brother Matthew, and his old buddies.

It all makes a jazz fan stop and think how far jazz has come. The answer isn't entirely happy. Jazz has come so far that now we are losing the great performers of the late 1930's, which seems like only yesterday.

FIVE ACES: Showing no signs of staggering, "Stagger Lee" (Lloyd Price) jumped into the lead this week. Second among local best sellers is "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes" (The Platters), while showing signs of fading from the scene.

"Hawaiian Wedding Song" (Andy Williams) is showing that teenagers still possess musical taste that most adults give them no credit for exhibiting. This is a fine record and proves beyond a doubt that good performances and songs can still sell like those made by "overnight" rock 'n' roll shouters.

Fourth place goes to "Donna" (Ritchie Valens) and "Goodbye Baby" (Jack Scott) is last on the list this week.

Not faring so well are "16 Candles" (The Crests) and "My Happiness" (Connie Francis), both edged from the upper crust.

Model Home Burns in Bloomfield Hills

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a $35,000 unoccupied model home at 6952 Sandlewood Rd., Bloomfield Township, early this morning.

The blaze was discovered by Bloomfield Township Police who called the township and Franklin Village fire departments. The two departments fought the fire for two and a half hours before bringing it under control.

The house was damaged by an $11,000 blaze on Dec. 29. Cause then was attributed to a cooking utensil left on a lighted stove burner which melted down causing a short circuit.

Material had been ordered to reconstruct the portion of the house damaged by the earlier fire when today's broke out.

Plan to Push Top Lawyers for Justices

Oakland County delegates to the Republican State Convention next week will spearhead a drive to draft two nominees for the Michigan Supreme Court from among the top-flight lawyers in the state.

Oakland Republicans then will offer a slate of 19 county attorneys whom they "believe would make excellent, well-qualified members of the Supreme Court."

Arthur G. Elliott Jr., county chairman, said he hoped other counties will follow Oakland's example, so that Republicans can pick from the entire state the two best possible men to oppose "Democratic" Supreme Court incumbent Justices George Edwards and John D. Voelker.

The local GOP official said the plan emanated from what he criticised as the Democrats' "partisan selection of non-partisan" candidates.

Oakland Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore appeared at the GOP county convention last month to suggest screening local lawyers for potential nominees. Some 100 were studied, he said.

The selected Oakland lawyers were: William B. Hartman, Pontiac; David C. Pence, Ferndale; Bernard Girard, Birmingham; Clarence K. Patterson, Pontiac; Howard I. Bond, Farmington; William H. Wilmot, Pontiac; Clarence Smith, Pontiac; Howard K. Kelley, Royal Oak; Harry N. Dell, Royal Oak, and William R. Beasley, Ferndale.

Others were Glenn C. Gillespie, Pontiac; John Manikoff, Bloomfield Hills; John Martz, Birmingham; Lawrence King, Pleasant Ridge; George A. Dondero, Royal Oak; James S. Thorburn, Royal Oak; Maurice F. Cole, Ferndale; Dean G. Beier, Birmingham, and Orph C. Holmes, Ferndale.

Elliott said the 19 were picked "with the aid, counsel and advice of numerous lawyers of the county." He said they had indicated they would be willing to be nominees if they were picked at the state convention in Detroit, Feb. 13-14.

The chairman called the proposal "a drastic innovation" against what he said was the "nomination of favorite, partisan political candidates who must run as non-partisans."

"This is both unrealistic and impractical," said Elliott.

Although he admitted Democrats might ridicule their plan — where he said their nominees would be selected "without obligation to anyone on any political basis whatsoever" — Elliott said he hoped it might be a step toward a change in the law on the selection of Supreme Court justices.

He said the proposal was not intended to be a correction of the present selection method, but rather "an immediate solution working under the present ground rules."

The ultimate, Elliott said, would be for a complete change of the law which would divorce politics from judicial nominations. "But Rome wasn't built in a day," Elliott said.

Present law requires justices to be nominated at political conventions, but run on a non-partisan ticket.

4 Small Children Saved as Flames Destroy Home

Fire broke out in the two-story frame house while the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hurst, were away at church services. They had left the children in care of grandparents.

Pamela Sue, 10, and Priscilla, 7, jumped from a second-story window into the arms of firemen.

Wearing a smoke mask, fireman Eugene Zulz, 30, found the boys overcome by smoke. He handed them out the window to other firemen.

Firemen said the boys' lives were saved by reviving them with a resuscitator at the scene. The boys were reported in good condition at University Hospital today.

The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hurst, were not injured. The fire melted phone lines and they fled to a neighbor's house to summon help.

Firemen said the fire may have started from an overloaded fuse box.

OUTSTANDING AWARD — West Bloomfield Township Boys Club Director Carl (Gramps) Misfeldt is the proud recipient of a special award for his devotion to youth work in the community. He is only the second person in the nation to be so honored by the parent organization, Boys Club of America. "Gramps" is flanked by the local club's president, Bill Auch at left and by Keego Harbor Police Chief James K. Sisk.

Keego's 'Gramps' Gets Rare Boy's Club Award

By STAN BOK
Pontiac Press Correspondent

"Gramps" is Carl Misfeldt, a well known figure in the Keego Harbor area, who has devoted himself to the cause of the township boys club from the time it was organized in 1956.

His reward for outstanding service was in the form of a special award and certificate from the Boys Club of America.

George W. Auch, president of the West Bloomfield club, made the presentation to Misfeldt in the absence of Ray Bogden, district director of the central region of the Boys Club of America.

In explaining the significance of the award, Auch pointed out that the presentation to Misfeldt marked only the second time the Outstanding Service Award was given out by the Boys Club of of America since it was organized in 1906.

"Gramps" came by his nickname in a natural way since the nearly 300 boys who belong to the club regard him as a special guy who's always on their side.

Supposedly retirement, "Gramps" has worked full time for the club ever since he helped organize it.

Vernon Edward, mayor of the city of Keego Harbor, summed up the feeling of boys and adults alike when he said Misfeldt has been a big credit to the City of Keego Harbor and West Bloomfield Township for his untiring efforts put forth on behalf of boys in the community.

"Gramps" and other officials of the club are now faced with a critical problem: that of moving the present Boys Club building to a new location in the near future.

Now located next to Roosevelt Elementary School in Keego Harbor, the club building must be moved when the school is remodeled this summer.

Boys Club officials need parcel of land and sufficient funds to move the building and set it up properly for use at a new location.

A fund-raising campaign will be held to "save the club," Misfeldt said.

Named 'Party-Defendant' With Township in Court

By LEE WINBORN

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A court order was signed in Mount Clemens yesterday making Curtiss-Wright Corp. a "party-defendant" with Shelby Township in a case which threatens to block construction of an automobile race track on the company's property here.

Attorneys for the corporation petitioned Macomb County Circuit Court Judge Howard R. Carroll for permission to enter the court case.

No objections were raised by Miss Dee Edwards, one of the Detroit attorneys for the plaintiffs. Miss Edwards repreesnts a group of Shelby Township homeowners who charge the township acted "illegally" in paving the way for installation of the proposed track.

Curtiss-Wright is represented by the Detroit law firm of Butzel, Eaman, Long, Gust and Kennedy.

Attorneys for all parties were in court yesterday for the "show-cause" hearing. The court was asked to grant a writ of mandamus enjoining the township from issuing a permit for construction and operation of the track.

The court was also requested to rule that the amended ordinance which rezoned the Curtiss-Wright property from straight industrial classification to a modified one permitting installation of the track be declared "null and void."

Judge Carroll warned that whoever proceeds with a request for or issuance of permits while the case is pending "does so at his own peril."

LISTS 'ILLEGAL' REASONS

In the declaration of charges, the homeowners group offered a list of reasons why the township's rezoning action was "illegal."

One stated that the zoning ordinance was passed at a special meeting whereas requirements of the zoning act permit passage only at a regular meeting.

The plaintiffs further charge that if the track is allowed to operate it will constitute a "nuisance" to their property because of excessive noise, crowds, litter, traffic.

The zoning and township boards acted on rezoning the property after an advisory vote in the November election favored the proposition by a 2 to 1 majority.

The Curtiss-Wright property was formerly the Packard Proving Grounds and is located between 22 and 23 Mile roads, Mound and Van Dyke roads.

The company has announced plans to develop the 675-acre site for automobile races of Indianapolis or championship cars as well as sports and late model stock cars.

IN PLANNING STAGE

A building program covering construction of permanent grandstands for 20 000 spectators, bleachers for 20,000 more, comfort stations and a sports car track within the existing 2½-mile oval is now in the planning stage.

A pre trial hearing on the case has been set for 9:30 a.m. Friday, Feb. 20, in Judge Carroll's Court.

GOP Hopes Dim for 4-Cent Tax

Williams Opposes Plan; Dem Votes Needed to Pass Measure

LANSING (AP)—With time running short, Republican hopes of getting a four-cent sales tax proposition on the ballot April 6 flickered low today.

A GOP house delegation failed to get the necessary nod from Democratic Gov. Williams in an hour and 40-minute bargaining session in the executive office. Another meeting was set for 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Afterwards, Speaker Don R. Pears (R-Buchanan) said it was a "fair statement" that GOP leaders saw little hope of success. Some Democratic votes are vital to the Republican cause.

The governor often has opposed increasing the sales tax, but not specifically putting the question to a statewide vote.

The governor's bills to mortgage the Veterans Trust Fund stayed locked up in the Ways and Means Committee, but seemed headed for the House floor and a showdown possibly next week.

New York Agency Claims Stall on Pier Lights

Blame Federal Delay in Air Crash

NEW YORK (AP) — A city agency says the federal government is responsible for delay in safety improvements at La Guardia Field, destination of an American Airlines plane which crashed into the East River Tuesday night.

A spokesman for the Port Authority of New York, which operates La Guardia, said Thursday the authority has been ready for three years to build a pier off Runway 22 to provide approach lights for aircraft.

American's prop-jet Flight 320 undershot Runway 22 and smashed into the water. Sixty-five persons died. Three crew members and five passengers survived.

The authority spokesman, who asked not to be identified, further commented: "The entire responsibility for establishing navigation and safety aids rests with the Federal Aviation Agency."

In Washington Thursday night an FAA spokesman said an instrument landing system for the East River approach to Runway 22 had been authorized and on order since July 1, 1957. He said it takes 18 months to two years to get the needed apparatus assembled, adding that delivery had been promised for October of this year.

The FAA spokesman said installation of a high-intensity light system as part of the instrument-landing system would require a pier extending 3,000 feet into the river. This would involve an additional problem of creating a deep water channel, he said.

Authorities have noted that the sinking of pilings into the water at that area well might impede shipping.

Three bodies were found Thursday in the tail section of the crashed airliner, brought up from the river bottom. That brought to 25 the number of bodies recovered.

As investigators looked into all phases of what could have caused the crash, Edward Slattery Jr. of the Civil Aeronautics Board said: "The only thing we're sure of is that there is no indication of what caused the accident."

But Flight Engineer Warren E. Cook, 35, a crash survivor in critical condition at Queens General Hospital, has been quoted as saying that the plane's pilots "might have had a mix-up with those new altimeters."

The pilot, Capt. Albert H. De Witt, 59, is dead.

Officials hoped that the copilot, Frank Hlavacek, 33, also critically injured, might be in condition to be questioned today.

The Chicago Tribune, in a copyrighted story, quotes Cook as telling his wife Flora in Aurora, Ill.: "We didn't know anything was wrong until we hit."

Cook also told his wife, The Tribune said, that "it isn't easy to cross-check between the pilot's and copilot's instruments in that big Electra cockpit."

The newspaper said the Electra turbine-propeller plane was equipped with two new-type altimeters, one for each pilot.

Civil Aeronautics Board officials talked with Cook Thursday but declined comment.

Runway 22 has a beam device to keep the pilot informed as to whether he is on course. But it has no accompanying glide beam to tell him whether he is too high or too low. This equipment is used at the other end of the same runway, where the approach is over a populated area.

Legislator May Get Forfeit Pay

House OKs Resolution Relieving Liability If $2,500 Sum Approved

LANSING (AP)—Rep. Raymond C. Wurzel (R-Port Huron), who lost about $2,500 in legislative salary last year because of an attorney general's opinion, may get the money after all.

The House yesterday adopted a resolution that would relieve State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown and Aud. Gen. Frank S. Szymanski of all legal liability should they approve payment. It goes to the Senate.

Wurzel, who served on his local school board, was held last June to have forfeited his seat in the Legislature on the ground that the local and state offices were incompatible.

The House also passed and referred to the Senate a bill to authorize payment of the remaining legislative salary of the late Rep. Fred R. Dingman (D-Detroit) to his widow. Dingman died in January a week after taking the oath of office for a new two-year term.

A special election to fill the vacancy will be held April 6.

Ike, Humphrey Bag 20 Quail First Day Out

They spent seven hours in the fields of Humphrey's big plantation estate Thursday. And at day's end White House press secretary James C. Hagerty reported they brought down 20 quail between them.

Hagerty said he had no information on how many birds each man got. Newsmen are not permitted on the plantation. The daily legal limit is a dozen quail a hunter. At night Eisenhower and Humphrey played bridge again with two other old friends—William E. Robinson, board chairman of Coca-Cola, and Barry Leithead, head of Cluett-Peabody Co.

Plaintiff or Defendant?

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI) — William Shaw, 58, called police to report that someone claiming to be a policeman had snatched his wallet containing $80. Detectives who arrived on the scene arrested Shaw for public intoxication.

Listens on Telephone as Spouse Kills Self

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Henry Scates, 42, telephoned his wife Thursday and said, "Honey when you hear this shot go off, that will be all of it."

Mrs. Scates heard a shot over the phone, then silence on the other end.

When police reached the Scates home, they found him dead of a head wound, slumped in a chair with a rifle beside him.

Mrs. Scates was at work in a downtown jewelry store.

Justice W. E. Richburg, who ruled suicide, said Scates apparently was despondent over loss of his job during layoffs last year at a nearby aircraft plant. He was a technical writer.

Sabotage Leads to Wide Open Patrol Cars

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two squad cars were used by southwestern district police Thursday night with windows wide open and heaters turned off.

The officers inside didn't have spring fever. They were combatting a case of sabotage which caused eyes to smart and throats to burn.

Experts of the Crime Laboratory said someone apparently had fired tear gas pellets into the floor mats of the two cars. Lt. Milton A. Hipsley theorized the dirty work was done while the vehicles were parked near the scene of a fire.

Legal Snarls Bring Respite in Walrus War

The possibility of legal difficulties brought a respite for the lumbering mammals who beat the coast guard in a battle last year.

A spokesman for the Japan Fishery Agency explained there was a possibility some fishermen might demand compensation for being kept out of the danger zone, even though the purpose of the war is to protect the fishermen's equipment and the fish they seek.

The walrus stronghold is Walrus Rock—a tiny speck off Japan's northernmost island of Hokkaido. Between September and April, hordes of the big beasts congregate in the area, wreaking havoc with fishing equipment and the fish.

An adult walrus often is 10 feet long and weighs at least a ton. Unlike the seal, they are not protected by the government and have little commercial value.

The coast guard attempt to wipe out the enemy last year failed. "The walrus just shrugged off shotgun pellets and they escaped when the boats approached them," an official explained.

Stranger's First Aid Saves Life of Baby

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — First aid lessons the Navy gave Ruben Watson finally paid big dividends.

Mark Cawley, 1, almost drowned in a bathtub Thursday while his mother, Mrs. Patricia Cawley, went to get a towel for him. She ran outside, screaming for help.

Watson, a carpenter working next door, gave the baby artificial respiration on the lawn in front of the Cawley home. By the time ambulance crews arrived from Hollywood Receiving Hospital the child was breathing.

The Thames River, often called a Highway of History, is also a stream of pleasure. Numerous English families go boating there, or camp, swim, and fish along its banks. In places the 215-mile-long river flows like a suburban street past handsome homes, gardens, and boathouses. In London, it mirrors the stately Houses of Parliament and the bustling world of docks and warehouses.

Ex-School Chief in Little Rock Asks Texas Job

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Virgil T. Blossom, former superintendent of schools at Little Rock, Ark., has been interviewed for the job as school superintendent in the suburbs here.

H. M. Tomerlin, president of trustees for the Northeast Independent School District, said he did not expect the board to reach a final decision on a superintendent before April 1.

Board members highly regard Blossom, officials said, and several board members plan to visit Little Rock over the weekend for further consideration of Blossom.

Wings Futile in 5-0 Loss to New York

Rangers Drive Detroit Closer to NHL Cellar

By BILL CORNWELL

DETROIT — There was very little big league hockey played at Olympia Stadium last night, but the New York Rangers receive credit for playing all that was shown.

In what was undoubtedly one of the worst showings ever by the Detroit Red Wings, the New Yorkers shoved them closer to the National Hockey League cellar with a ridiculously easy 5-0 victory.

The Toronto Maple Leafs' 6-3 triumph over the Montreal Canadiens last night left Detroit only one point ahead of the Leafs in the dubious battle for 5th and 6th place honors.

Lorne (Gump) Worsley, New York's chunky goal tender, posted his 2nd shutout of the season yesterday and both have been on Olympia ice at the expense of the Detroiters.

It was the 8th time this season that Detroit drew a scoring blank, five of them at home, as the Redshirts reached a high point in futility.

Andy Bathgate neared the 30-goal mark with his 29th of the season early in the 1st period and the Wings went from bad to worse as the evening went along.

George (Red) Sullivan connected twice in the 2nd period with Larry Popein clicking for a goal between times and Camille Henry completed the massacre on a clever shot in the 3rd stanza.

Red Wing coach Sid Abel called yesterday's farce "the worst hockey game I've seen in my 22 years in the game."

"It was rotten," Abel said, adding "I'm glad the Rangers didn't have a penalty called against them — it would have been worse watching us try to get the puck out of our own zone."

Only one penalty was called in the dull, one-sided game, an interference ruling against Detroit's Forbes Kennedy late in the 1st period and the lone infraction played no part in New York's five goals.

The Red Wings were utterly feeble and thoroughly outplayed. Their play was completely disorganized, they had only a handful of good shots and Worsley was equal to all of them.

Lou Fontinato, who suffered a broken nose in a run-in with Gordie Howe last Sunday in New York's Madison Square Garden, was absent yesterday, but the Rangers delegated defenseman Ed Shack to corral Howe and Gordie had his poorest night of the current NHL campaign.

The Wings seemed more interested in bumping the Rangers around and resorting to rough stuff than they were in playing a winning brand of hockey.

Goalie Terry Sawchuk made some excellent saves in the Detroit cage, but even he looked bad on Henry's scoring effort. The "Eel" snaked the puck from behind the net, pulled Sawchuk out and punched it in the opposite corner.

The Chicago Black Hawks nipped the Boston Bruins, 2-1, in last night's other NHL game to stay tied with the Rangers for 2nd place.

Cage Ace Asks to Be Traded

Pistons to Oblige Yardley

BOSTON (AP) — High-salaried George Yardley's demand that he be traded may be granted today when Detroit Pistons general manager W. Nick Kerbawy meets with officials from three other National Basketball Assn. clubs.

Kerbawy, who accompanied the Pistons here, said he planned to meet with officials of the Syracuse, Boston and St. Louis clubs to talk trade and try to make some deals.

The Pistons meet Syracuse and Boston plays St. Louis in an NBA doubleheader tonight.

Yardley, who led the NBA with a record 2,0001 points last year, sai yesterday he and the Pistons are through "by mutual agreement." He said that if he is not traded by Feb. 15, the NBA's trade deadline, he will quit the game.

Kerbawy said "we're not opposed to trading our top player if we get a top player in return." He said the Pistons were "just three or four days away from completing one major player deal."

And Pistons coach Red Rocha, when told of Yardley's desire to leave, said "well, it looks as if we'll have to trade him then."

Rocha said one major deal was "all but wrapped up," but added that "most of the players we would like to get cannot be obtained."

It is known the Pistons have been trying to get John Kerr or Ed Conlin from the Syracuse Nationals.

Yardley, who has a broken hand and is returning to his California home, brought up his desire to be traded in an interview with the Fort Wayne (Ind.) News-Sentinel. The Pistons moved to Detroit from Fort Wayne two seasons ago.

Yardley did not give the reasons for his difficulties with the club in his interview.

The Detroit ace said he would be able to play next Monday against Cincinnati if Detroit wants him, but said he would continue to California if he didn't hear from the club.

Remaining PCH Cage Foes 'Toughies'

By BILL CORNWELL

If Pontiac Central can retain its position as the state's No. 1 Class A basketball team for the rest of the season, it really will be a highly deserved honor.

A glance at the remaining six opponents on their 1958-59 schedule reveals that three of them are ranked in Michigan's top 10 and another one is rated 12th.

The other two foes are Saginaw Valley Conference rivals and they're never pushovers, regardless of their won-and-lost records.

Pontiac, undefeated in nine games and boasting a spotless 6-0 Saginaw Valley slate, runs into the 1st of its four rated opponents tonight in an all-important SVC struggle at Flint.

The Chiefs clash with defending Valley champion Flint Central this evening at 8 o'clock in the Flint school's gymnasium and the 9th ranked Indians are certain to have all their guns loaded and ready.

Following tonight's struggle with Flint Central, the Chiefs face 7th ranked Highland Park next Tuesday at PCH, 12th rated Dondero Feb. 17 at Royal Oak and 4th ranked Flint Northern Feb. 20 on the Northern court. Valley foes Bay City Central, here Feb. 13, and Saginaw, away Feb. 27, complete the schedule.

Pre-season favorites to repeat as champs, the Flint Indians now find themselves in 3rd place with a 4-2 league mark, one a 69-56 loss to PCH here in mid-December. The Indians are still in contention for the crown, but another setback will put them out of the title picture. Their over-all record is 7-2.

Runnerup Flint Northern visits Arthur Hill tonight, hoping for a win over the Hillites and an assist from city rival Central which would deadlock the Chiefs and the Vikings at the top of the standings.

SPORTS

JONES' FOE — Glenn Davis, Ohio State Olympic ace, and Hayes Jones, a candidate for the 1960 Olympics, will meet head-on Saturday in the Michigan State Relays. They meet each other in the hurdles events. Jones won both the high and low hurdles in the Michigan AAU meet at Ann Arbor last weekend.

Hayes Jones to Meet Davis in MSU Relays

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Hayes Jones, who hopes to make the next U.S. Olympic team, and Glenn Davis, who starred on the last one, meet head-on tomorrow in one of the midwest's top track carnivals — the Michigan State relays.

Both Jones, the Eastern Michigan sensation, and Ohio State's Davis are entered in the 75-yard high and low hurdles. Davis, busiest man in track, also is entered in the 75-yard dash, the broad jump and as a member of the Buckeye mile relay unit.

Jones warmed up for the attempt at dethroning Davis, defending champion in both hurdle races, with victories in the 65-yard highs and lows at the Michigan AAU meet last week.

Davis is one of 11 champions returning to defend their laurels. The Buckeyes' all-around man and Olympic games 400-meter hurdle titlist and world record holder, established a relays and Jenison Fieldhouse mark of 8.9 in the highs last year and his 8.3 clocking in the lows tied the meet standard.

Six schools lay claim to the other champions. Dee Givens of Oklahoma is back in the 75-yard dash and the sooner sprint medley relay team returns with all new faces except Givens.

Wisconsin has two champions in Jesse Nixon (600-yard run) and Dan McKinney (1,000-yard run).

The Kansas Jayhawks return broad jump champion Ernie Shelby and Bob Cannon who tied with two others in the high jump. Miami of Ohio will have three returnees from its college one-mile relay defending champion team. Nebraska has nearly the same personnel that won the one-mile and two-mile university division relay events.

Michigan's European champion, Eeles Landstrom from Finland, and Namon Gibson are top choices in the pole vault along with Western Michigan's Jerry Beckner who hit 14 feet last night in a dual meet with Missouri.

Strangely enough, Michigan State has little hopes of glory in its own meet. The Spartans, who cleaned up in cross-country titles last fall winning the NCAA championship as well, are experiencing an off-year both for the indoor and outdoor seasons.

It Was a Day Burkemo Could've Stayed Home

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Walter Burkemo, the former PGA champion from Franklin Hills, Mich., would have done just as well staying in bed yesterday.

No. 1—He teed off and got a charley horse in his leg. Limping off on one foot. Got a par-four, though.

No. 2—His tee shot, slightly off line, landed in the three-pronged fork of a pruned tree and stuck there. Walter took a swing at it with an iron, failed to dislodge it and finally had to wrestle with it to get it out by hand. He had a seven on the par-four hole.

No. 3—He got a birdie with a 10-foot putt.

No. 4—He hit what looked like a perfect shot to the green but instead of sticking, the ball slowly rolled over the top, curved down a hill and lodged behind a palm tree. Bogey 5.

No. 5—A par three, he hit his tee shot in a trap, but blasted out beautifully to within three feet of the pin. He was so overcome by this that he 3-putted for a double bogey five.

No. 8—A 30-foot eagle putt lipped the cup, but failed to drop. He got the birdie.

With undying patience Burkemo stayed in there pitching and came up with a fairly respectable 38-37—75 on the par-70 course.

Cubs, Tribe Have All Players in the Fold

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Cubs and the Cleveland Indians are ready for the start of spring training.

The Cubs joined the Indians yesterday as the only major league baseball clubs with all players signed when pitcher Dave Hillman agreed to terms. Cleveland announced last week that all its players were in the fold.

Chicago has 35 players under contract, not including pitcher Glen Hobbie and catcher Gordon Massa, who are in service. Pitcher Dick Drott also is in service, but he has signed for 1959.

Hillman had a 4-8 won-lost record last season and an earned run average of 3.114.

Activity on the signing front was brisk Thursday as other clubs also received signed agreements.

The Chicago White Sox signed their 24th and 25th players, leaving them with 14 unsigned. Centerfielder Jim Landis and rookie pitcher Stover McIlwain agreed to terms. Landis hit .277 in 1958.

Young, used mainly in reserve, hit .233 last season. Hegan was obtained from Detroit late in the season. Erickson was recalled from Tulsa in September and appeared in nine games.

The Kansas City Athletics increased their list of signed players to 20 when veteran infielder-outfielder Dick Williams and three rookies agreed to terms. Williams, obtained in a winter trade, hit .276 for Baltimore in 1958.

The others were pitchers Ken Johnson and George Brunet and second baseman Luke Klimchoch.

A pair of New York Yankee catchers brought the list of signed champs to 10. Darrell Johnson, used sparingly, and rookie John Blanchard were the signees.

The Boston Red Sox signed rookie pitching prospects Jerry Casale and Arnold Earley, bringing their total to 14. Casale was in the Army most of last season but joined Boston late in the campaign and made two brief appearances. Earley was with Memphis of the Southern Assn.

Pitcher Herm Wehmeier and catcher Lou Berberet signed with the Detroit Tigers. Berberet, acquired in a trade with Boston batted .208 with Washington and the Red Sox last season. Wehmeier, plagued by arm trouble, had a 1-0 record.

The Washington Senators signed pitchers Hal Griggs and Ted Abernathy, and re-acquired left-hander Chuck Stobbs, who was waived out of the American League last season. Griggs posted a 3-11 mark. Abernathy was with Chattanooga of the Southern Assn.

Stobbs was signed as a free agent after the St. Louis Cardinals released him a few weeks ago. He had a 2-6 record with Washington and was 1-3 with St. Louis.

Rockets-Titans Meet

DETROIT (AP)—Both the University of Toledo Rockets and the Detroit Titans will be trying to stay above the .500 mark when the two clubs clash here Saturday night.

Toledo is 8-7 and Detroit 9-8.

Tigers Sign 4 Rookies

DETROIT (AP)—Four young baseball players, two of them from Michigan, have signed Minor League contracts with the Detroit Tigers.

They are John Rumohr, 21, of Grand Rapids; Jim Batchelor, 19, of Lincoln Park, Mich.; Gene Woford, of Greenbrief, Ark., and John Manning, 19, of Enid, Okla.

Rumohr, a right handed pitcher, had an 18-1 record in three seasons at Western Michigan University and compiled a 1.1 earned run average. Rumohr, who signed with Durham, N. C., also played semi-pro ball in Grand Rapids, hit .411 and made the all-star team as a catcher.

Batchelor, a shortstop and third baseman, signed with Knoxville of the Class A Sally League. He has compiled an outstanding record on the Detroit area sandlots.

Holly Center Tops County at 22.7

McDaniels Scoring Leader

Oakland County has a new individual prep scoring leader for the 2nd successive week. He is Holly's 6-6 center George McDaniels.

The big guy moved ahead of Oxford ace Doug Stott by pumping in 28 at Clarenceville a week ago to boost his average to 22.7. He has lead in total points most of the season and now has 272.

Stott, who tallied 17 in three quarters at Avondale Tuesday, dropped into a tie for 2nd with graduated Charley Barge of Pontiac Central at 22.3.

Eastern Michigan stars Merv Gallup of Birmingham and Toy Palmer of Ferndale follow with 22 and 20.6.

Moving up fast is John Bandy of the Chiefs. He has swished 54 points in two starts since Barge departed and now has 156 in eight games for 19.5 and 6th place.

Terry Wills of Armada and Jim Ward of Imlay City switched places again with Wills runnerup again to steady East Detroiter Don Petroff in the county area race. Petroff is 22.1, Wills 20.1 and Ward 19.9.

Prep League Leaders Targets

Rochester Aims for Win No. 11 Against Romeo

Pacesetters in Seven Conferences Unbeaten in Loop Play

Leaders in seven Oakland County area prep leagues are riding along with unbeaten marks within their respective conferences.

However, this could be a day of decision for those unscathed league leaders.

Rochester, 3-0 in the Tri-County and 9-0 overall, travels to Romeo to meet a dangerous Bulldog quintet. A win for Rochester would clinch the league title, but a loss would put Romeo in a tie for the lead.

Berkley, one of the top ranked "A" teams in the state, has virtually sewed up the Inter-Lakes crown, but the Bears' 10-0 mark is in jeopardy at Southfield.

Ferndale, also on its way to the Eastern Michigan League title with a current 6-0 record, could have trouble at East Detroit.

Brighton is unbeaten in the Wayne-Oakland League and should make it 7-0 after playing host to Milford, while contender Holly with a 5-1 loop mark meets Bloomfield Hills.

Imlay City, the class of rankings locally in class C, can also put a wrap on the South Central title with a victory over Millington.

Troy, 7-0, in the Oakland-B conference, doesn't appear to be in any trouble in its Madison encounter.

Games with little league bearing share the spotlight as far as competition goes. Oxford and Ortonville play on the latter court, and Avondale meets Fitzgerald on the Auburn road court in battle to break second place deadlock in Oakland-B.

RO Dondero, future Pontiac Central foe and one of the top ranked class A teams in Michigan, tries to hold on to a tie in the Border's Cities League at Wyandotte. The Acorns are 7-2 for the season.

Prep Front

By BILL CORNWELL

They're having quite a controversy in the Hoosier state and the issue centers around a couple of brothers whose parents recently filed suit against the Indiana High School Athletic Association.

The purpose of the suit was to protest an edict by the IHSAA which prohibits the two boys, Billy Joe and Frank Stevenson, from playing basketball this season at Seymour High School.

What's the reason for the ban? Well, last summer the Stevenson family moved from Joppa in Illinois to Seymour, Ind., and the IHSAA then barred the youngsters for life on the grounds that undue influence was used to convert them into Hoosiers.

Joe and Pearl Stevenson, the boys' parents, immediately filed suit against the prep athletic body in Jackson County Circuit Court at Brownstown.

The Stevensons are arguing that the IHSAA "is not a corporation or association organized under, or pursuant to, any laws of the state of Indiana." The IHSAA, they claim, has a monopoly over the conduct of athletics in Hoosier high schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson said that a chance for "better living conditions" prompted them to move to Seymour last Aug. 1.

The IHSAA, which investigated the situation, maintains that the Stevensons were persuaded to move by an offer of a factory janitorial job for the father and that two Seymour residents paid the family's moving expenses. In addition, the IHSAA placed the high school on probation for one year.

At any rate, Circuit Judge John M. Lewis issued a restraining order to halt the IHSAA ban and, for the time being, the two brothers are firing buckets for Seymour High.

A hearing is scheduled Feb. 11 to decide whether or not a temporary injuction should be issued against the IHSAA. We'll try to keep you posted on further details.

ODDS AND ENDS

Michigan State, Wyoming, and Louisville are among the schools wooing Bill Jennings, Avondale's All-State and All-County tackle.

MSU already has landed the services of Don Barnhart, Avon's other stellar tackle last season. Bob Filer, Southfield's All-County Class A quarterback, is headed for the University of Michigan.

Jack Coton, Farmington High School athletic director, has been presented the Farmington Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award for his outstanding work with young people in 1958.

Charlie Barge, Pontiac Central's recently graduated basketball star, has been working on a parttime basis in — of all places —the new Pontiac Northern cafeteria.

Farmington High will play host to a pair of regional prep events this year. The regional wrestling meet is scheduled there March 6-7 and the regional golf tournament will be held at Farmington Country Club in the spring.

Economy moves at Avondale may force the Yellow Jackets to do away with golf this spring. They'll tryp to have a team if at all possible.

Albion in Overtime

ALBION (AP) — Albion scored its third win in 15 basketball starts last night when it edged Ohio's Bluffton College 83-79 in a non-conference overtime game.

Magee moved out front yesterday with a seven-under-par 63 that knocked one stroke off the Arizona Country Club course record.

Magee needed only 13 putts in posting a four-under-par 30 on the front nine, and 14 for the three-under 33 coming home.

Eaglets Grab Share of SCL Title

Freds, Bens Mix Tonight

By H. GUY MOATS

Orchard Lake St. Mary cagers will be sitting on the sidelines tonight, hoping that St. Frederick's club comes through with a victory over Highland Park St. Benedict.

Eaglets last night powered out a 62-25 win over a hapless St. Clement quintet and thereby clinched a share of the Suburban Catholic League basketball title.

The Rams—Ravens argument will determine whether or not St. Benedict will also wind up with a piece of the championship. Rams are out of the championship race, but could give the Orchard Lakers a very welcome bit of assistance by knocking off the tough Ravens.

St. Frederick, holding the only win over the Ravens this year, 26-24, in overtime, seeks its 8th win tonight in the big Pontiac Central court. Varsity game is set for 8:15 o'clock, and no changes have been made in either club's lineup.

This tilt pits a pair of evenly matched clubs, as to height, and play-making abilities, but with entirely different styles of play. Leading scorers for the Rams include Tom Derocher, Steve Pocs, Joe Keller and Phil Bieri, a balanced outfit. Ravens lean heavily on big Art Massucci and stocky Eddie Everhart.

In last night's windup for OLSM, at Center Line, the Crusaders' Ron Van Hulle dunked the first bucket. Then the Eaglets opened fire with 22 straight points, for a 22-3 first period. In that string they got five goals in as many shots, missed one, bucketed five more without a miss, for 10 of 12 attempts.

In case Ravens win, tonight, an agreement has been recalled to pit this club and OLSM in a playoff, next Monday, at Hamtramck St. Florian gymnasium. Winner will go on to the Catholic League title tourney, starting Feb. 15, against St. Florian.

Pontiac area wrestling squads were busy Thursday with Pontiac Northern's Huskies put on leash by a strong Fitzgerald crew 30-14. Waterford losing to Farmington, 44-10, in an Inter-Lake league windup, and Walled Lake bowing to a tough Van Dyke outfit, 31-16.

Illness hit both Skipper and Farmington squads, including Waterford's ace Mike Ewer. Each squad forfeited a match on this account. Mike Hubbell pinned Jack Callahan for its other Waterford win. Farmington winners were Don Hendryx, pin over Jim Mullenix in 41 seconds at 103 pounds; Randy Jordan, Jerry Cassell, Dick Brogden, John McCamy, George Faucett (all pins), Tom Peckham, Dave Timm and Fran DePodesta.

Bradley Set for Title Push

By The Associated Press

The way the Bradley Braves have honed their hatchets, the approaching three-team run to the Missouri Valley Conference basketball title ought to be a dilly.

The Braves, who sharpened up with an 86-70 whipping of Seattle in an intersectional game last night, are involved in a race with Cincinnati and St. Louis that should carry the stretch suspense of some of the old Cunningham-Venzke-Bonthron mile duels.

Only the Southeastern Conference, with Auburn, Kentucky and Mississippi State, can hope to match the Mo Valley for class and balance at the top of the league standings.

Cincinnati and its great Oscar Robertson is the front-runner with an 8-0 league mark. St. Louis, carrying a 12-game winning streak, and Bradley trail with 5-1 — both defeats inflicted by Cincinnati.

But there's still a lot to come before the race winds up on March 7—when Bradley entertains Cincinnati on its home court. In between, Cincinnati has another game with St. Louis, and St. Louis and Bradley meet in a home-and-home series.

These should be some matches, with Cincinnati currently fifth in The Associated Press' national poll with a 15-2 overall record, Bradley eighth on a 16-2 ledger and St. Louis ninth with 14-2.

The hunch is all three are stronger clubs since the last time they saw each other. Cincinnati's nailed nine in a row since it ran into a two-setback roadblock in the Dixie Classic during Christmas Week. St. Louis hasn't lost sinc it fell to Cincinnati 57-50 on Dec. 20.

And now Bradley is streaking with six victories since falling to Louisville three weeks ago at the end of a rugged four-game road trip. It's only previous loss was at Cincinnati, 85-84 in double overtime.

The prize they are aiming for carries an automatic berth in the NCAA tournament. The conference runnerup usually goes to the National Invitation Tournament. It would be no surprise to see all three in tournaments when the March classics arrive, with the NIT grabbing the two "losers."

St. John's (NY) returned to Madison Square Garden and regained its winning touch 85-76 over Richmond; Utah fattened its Skyline Conference lead by trimming Colorado State U. 68-48; and Eastern Kentucky held its Ohio Valley Conference leadership with a 72-69 decision over Tennessee Tech in last night's other features.

Dan Smith, the scoring ringleader of Bradley's balanced team led the Braves with 30 points as Seattle lost its fourth in 19 games against college foes. Seattle stayed even until a 14-3 burst gave Bradley a 42-30 halftime lead. Bradley, hitting at a 46 per cent season pace, made 30 of 63 field goal attempts.

Tony Jackson scored 32 points and Alan Seiden 28 for St. John's, which broke a three-game losing steak for a 13-4 record. Two free throws by Pete Brunone and three by Don McGorty in the last minute enabled Manhattan to win its fourth straight, 63-58 over NYU in the second game of the Garden doubleheader.

Big Pearl Pollard, all 6-8, 240-pounds of him, led the way with 19 points as Utah gained a 6-0 Skyline record and boosted its conference streak to 13 covering last season.

Buick Tied for 2nd After 39-37 Victory

The narrow win enabled Oliver to deadlock the Police for 2nd place on a 5-4 record and leave Town & Country all alone in 1st spot with a 5-3 mark. Game scoring honors went to Bill Newman of the Police with 15 points while Jack Johnson tallied 10 for Oliver.

Alex Amerson fired 26 points to pace the Vikings to a 46-40 triumph over Winglemire's of Holly. Amos Bradsher notched 10 for the Holly cagers, who lost their 6th straight game.

300 for Csizmadia in Huron 'A' Loop

His big game and a 703 series sparked Judah Lake Shopping Center to a big 3103 actual total.

It was his 1st 300 and the 2nd in the history of the alleys. Bill Furlong rolled the other in December 1957.

Eagles, Cardinals Swap Linebackers

The Eagles, who finished in last place in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League in 1958, traded Bill Koman to the Cardinals for Charles (Chuck) Weber. Weber, besides being a linebacker, is a defensive end.

American Ex-Pilot Denies Plotting to Kill Castro

HAVANA (AP) — Alan Robert Nye was reported today to have denied that he had confessed to plotting to assassinate rebel leader Fidel Castro.

The 31-year-old former U.S. Navy pilot from Whiting, Ind., reportedly made his denial to U.S. Vice Consul Hugh Kessler in an interview with him Thursday. Kessler declined to confirm the report.

Police headquarters also had no comment. High revolutionary police and military officials met until late Thursday night discussing Nye's case.

The rebels arrested the American six-footer as he marched in their ranks in Oriente Province Dec. 26, five days before ex-president Fulgencio Batista fled and Castro's revolution triumphed.

Brought to Havana after the rebel victory, he told news men Monday that he was not involved in any plot against Castro but had wanted to fight for the revolutionary cause.

Police headquarters announced Thursday that Nye had confessed he had gone to eastern Cuba to kill the rebel chief and that Brig. Gen. Carlos Tabernilla, head of Batista's air force, had promised him $100,000 if he did the deed.

The police said Nye had made the statement voluntarily and had not been mistreated. He was being held on a technical charge of landing illegally in Cuba, but there was no hint of what further action would be taken against him.

Khrushchev Lauds West Press Work

The official Communist party paper, Pravda, today quoted him thus: "I have to say that the press of many capitalist countries covered the work of our sessions rather objectively. This is a positive phenomenon."

Rescue Units at Airports Asked by Congressman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Francis E. Dorn (R-NY) says air-sea rescue units should be established at commercial airports which have over-the-water landing approaches.

The air crash in the East River at New York in which 65 were killed and only 8 survivors picked up might have had a less disastrous ending if there had been more rescue units immediately available, Dorn said.

Italian Comedian Says Ava Romance Over

"But it was a beautiful friendship," Chiari said.

"Why did I fly all the way to Australia? I wanted to see Ava and I wanted to see Australia. Ava and I were good friends, you know."

Women Present Grant

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Prof. Dugald E. S. Brown, chairman of the University of Michigan department of zoology, has been awarded a $2,250 grant by the ladies auxiliary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles for research on muscular dystrophy. Dr. Brown is investigating the complex mechanism that triggers and carries out activation of muscles.

Students to Rewrite Constitution for U.S.

PRINCETON, N. J. (UPI)—Princeton University students are rewriting the U. S. Constitution as an "intellectual exercise," and incidentally to avoid a final exam in an American history course.

The project has the blessing of Prof. Eric F. Goldman, who chose 15 seniors and juniors from the top students in his class for the job, which will excuse them from having to take the final exam.

"The Constitution was written in an agrarian society," Goldman pointed out. "Many of the situations of today were non-existent then, such as Communism." The students were instructed to redraft the document in the light of current conditions.

Goldman said he wanted the framers to be "practical statesmen, not utopians," explaining that their "constitution" would have to be "ratified" by a two-thirds majority of the 357 students of the class.

South Americans Demand Nudes in Imported Films

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Nude bathing scenes are a must in Swedish-produced movies if they are to be sold to Latin American distributors, a Swedish director said today.

Director Rolf Husberg said South American film distributors refused to buy the film "Laila" unless a few scenes with nude girls were added. The film is a story of love among the Lapplanders and was shot in the snowy wastes of the Arctic Circle.

The demand was met. The export version of the picture will show four girls running around nude in the snow. They take a snow bath to cool off after bathing in a sauna, the Scandinavian steambath.

"Before considering to buy Laila, the South American film distributors said the No. 1 condition was that the film had 'real Swedish nude scenes,'" said Husberg.

Which Will He Keep?

PEEBLES, Ky. (UP) — Jimmy Jacobs, 17, worked all summer to save $50 for a down payment on a 1950-model car. The night after he bought it he won a new 1958-model at a drive-in movie.

Hollywood Headlines

Gable Says He's Through Trying to Be a Producer

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — Clark Gable who has a healthy percentage-cut in "But Not For Me" which he is making for Bill Perlberg with Walter Lang directing, declares with remarkable candor, "I'm through with being an independent producer."

"It's too much of a headache and I don't see how those producer-actors hold up under the strain," said Clark.

Actually, Gable has produced just one picture under the banner of his Gabco Productions and that was "The King And Four Queens." But out of that experience, Clark says he learned plenty.

"When you are producing everyone comes to you for every little thing and I don't see how an actor can act and direct at the same time either," he added with that famous Gable grin. "So I'll just stick to acting."

For well over a year Loew's Inc., has been negotiating with Sir Winston Churchill about filming "My Early Life." A million dollars was offered and at one time it looked very much as if the film would be made. The proceedings were so confidential not over five people knew about it.

But today from London came the news that the whole deal has been dropped. Sir Winston and the film company couldn't get together on the way the story should be handled. Of course, there's always a chance negotiations will be started again.

Kay Thompson, who went glamorous in "Funny Face" and received rave notices, will play the role of Doris Day's agent in "Who Is Sylvia?" Doris will do this at Columbia for Roger Eden as soon as she finishes "Pillow Talk," now named "Any Way The Wind Blows," with Rock Hudson at Universal-International.

Today Julia Meade, whose pretty face is seen in Ed Sullivan's commercials, was signed by producer Ross Hunter for a co-starring role for this U-I comedy.

So secretly did Lady Adele Beatty arrive in Los Angeles that she was registered as Mrs. O'Connor on the airplane passenger list. Of course that was her name when she was married to attorney William O'Connor.

Her sudden and secret appearance in California led to the report that she and Frank Sinatra are planning an elopement. This has been denied, however, and Adele has gone to Palm Springs with Minna Wallis. She has been in Switzerland with her two children but she took them back to London before she came here. Frank has a house in Palm Springs and will be there while Adele is at the desert resort.

You'll see veteran Ramon Novarro (always the dreamy, pagan type hero of his days of stardom) as a real cussed ole meanie in "Heller With A Gun" at Paramount.

George Cukor, who cast the gentle Ramon in the part of the smooth but mean land baron in Sophia Loren's picture, says he looked at some of Ramon's old silent-day movies. "I feel Ramon's real authority was never captured in his early films," says George. "I want to give him a change of pace." Novarro is allowing his sideburns and hair to grow for the role and he'll play it for all it's worth.

Change of Mind on Tax Explained by Williams

LANSING (UP)—Gov. Williams acknowledges he believed a graduated income tax unconstitutional four years ago, but since has changed his mind.

"I realize in the past I have had some question, but we have an attorney general's opinion—and other attorneys have straightened out my mind," the governor said when called by Republicans on the switch.

1 in 3 Is Susceptible in Hypnotism Tests

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Only one out of three persons proved susceptible to hypnotism in psychological tests on 74 volunteer students at Stanford University.

The experiments also exploded the idea that easily hypnotized people are weak-willed, according to Dr. Ernest R. Hilgard of Stanford's Laboratory of Human Development.

Most were described as well-adjusted extroverts who had experienced "firm but not harsh" discipline as children. Hilgard found many of the non-hypnotizable people to be timid, anxious, over orderly, or afraid to submit to authority.

Neglect Recreation, Checkup; Work Too Much

Doctors Set Patients Poor Example

(You'd expect the average doctor to be more careful about his health than the patients whose negligence he often deplores. But a survey shows, the physician may be as remiss as you and I—even to the extent of putting off needed treatment.)

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The average U.S. doctor works 52 hours a week, takes 2½ weeks vacation a year and had his last physical examination 18 months ago.

The survey, quoting statistics from the American Medical Assn., says:

"The responsibilities and long hours of physicians have been blamed for the development of nervous tension, insufficient exercise, inadequate or incorrect diet, and lack of time for attention to personal health."

In a nation where the 40-hour week is almost standard, six per cent of the doctors reported they worked 80 hours or more a week. In fact 35 per cent worked 60 hours or longer a week.

He is 5-feet-10, weighs 173 pounds and is 44 years old. He spends only seven hours a week on recreation. Says the survey:

"Leisure time is inadequate, as is evident from the fact that more than half of these doctors (57 per cent) devote less than 10 hours per week for relaxation from strenuous duties. . . . More adequate vacations and better organization of the work load would also help to relieve the ever-present nervous strain."

Lag and neglect among doctors is serious when it comes to their own physical examinations.

Some 20 per cent of the doctors questioned admitted that more than four years had passed since their last examination. In fact 13 per cent admitted they had not been examined for 6½ years or more.

And when a symptom does crop up, the doctor may neglect to do something about it, much like the patients he deplores.

Fourteen per cent of the doctors with hypertension put off treatment five years or more after the first symptoms occurred.

Drums Too Heavy

BISBEE, Ariz (AP) — The Cochise County Health Department has asked homeowners not to use 55-gallon oil drums as garbage cans. The drums are so heavy, the department said, that garbage men can't get medical insurance.

Police Have Ways to Sift Hoax From the Real Thing

By MAX E. SIMON

A few calls trickled in over the switchboard but they were routine. Officers finishing their duty tour paused at the front desk for a few moments of idle talk before checking out for the day.

Suddenly the phone rang.

"Come quickly, I've lost a package of radioactive pellets," a hysterical voice said. "Anyone getting close to them will die."

Moments later two grim-faced police officers were on their way for a rendezvous with the caller, who identified himself as a U. S. Navy ensign.

They were to meet him at a phone booth in front of the Oakland County Courthouse. They would have no trouble spotting him, the caller said, because he was in uniform.

The patrolmen brought the car to a screeching halt at the courthouse and jumped out. They saw a sailor strolling down Saginaw street, but no ensign. Perhaps the officer had ducked into a nearby store to warm up, they reasoned.

But a door-to-door check of the area failed to turn up any ensign. After a futile half-hour search, the pair headed back for the station.

There, they learned, no further word had been heard on the incident. None ever was.

The officers had been checking a false report.

Such calls of fictitious emergencies and crimes are common to the police. But not all are so easily solved as "The Radioactive Pellets Case."

MONEY RETURNED

Last year a Pontiac gas station attendant reported he was held up at pistol-point and the bandit fled with $95. He described the robbery in detail for detectives.

A week later a car pulled up at a Sylvan Lake station of the same company. The driver threw out an envelope containing $95 and a note, reading:

"Get in touch with Pontiac police. This is money from gas station holdup. Have bills paid for now."

Detective Orville C. Johnston, however, refused to buy the story of a bandit with a conscience and continued his investigation of the case.

The officer soon received a tip that the gas station employe and a friend had made up the holdup story and then decided to return the $95. Under questioning, the two suspects admitted the robbery story was a hoax.

Both pleaded guilty to making a false report and were fined $50 in municipal court.

Alert detectives can sometimes detect a false crime report as soon as they receive it.

In the summer of 1957, an elderly man ran into the police station at 1:05 p. m. Saturday, screaming he had been robbed of $1,750 five minutes earlier upon leaving a downtown bank.

The self-styled robbery victim told Detectives John Williams and Allen Noble the robbery occurred on Saginaw street, but that passers-by "didn't notice" the crime.

The banks, he observed, closed at noon Saturdays so the "victim" could not have possibly been in one at 1 p. m. The complainant then broke down and admitted his money had been taken by a confidence man.

"In that case, the complaining person wasn't prosecuted," Williams said, explaining, "it was punishment enough that he was conned out of all that money."

Asked why he made a false report, the offender burst into tears.

"For years, I've belonged to the AAA and they never bought me anything," he said. "I felt it was time they did."

Most false reports are of burglaries and robberies, Police Chief Herbert W. Straley said. Persons who gamble away their paychecks and are afraid to face their wives, he said, often make up a holdup story to avoid a family argument.

Some who lose valuable objects through carelessness report the articles stolen.

HIT-RUN DODGE

Many false reports are of car thefts. Persons in hit-run accidents and drunk drivers who bang up someone's car will abandon their own vehicles and report them stolen, the chief said.

How do police officers learn whether a report is false?

The story may not ring true, when first told.

Even if it does, an investigating officer will ask the person telling of the crime to repeat details. "It's hard to remember details of a lie," the chief observed, "and the teller will usually start contradicting himself."

Making a false report to the police department is a misdemeanor under state law, punishable by up to a $100 fine and 90 days in jail.

Ad Man Gives Merger Views

Jones of MacManus, John, Adams Does Not See Giant Trend

ATLANTA, Ga. — The continuing trend toward merger among advertising agencies is not likely to result in domination of all advertising by a few giant agencies, Ernest A. Jones, president of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc. said today.

Jones spoke before the annual meeting of the Southeast Council of the American Association of Advertising Agencies.

"Agencies are not manufacturing concerns," Jones, a director of AAAA said. "All we have to offer is creative brains—our sole inventory. And I do not think even the most ardent exponent of strength through size believes that doubling or tripling size increases brain power proportionately.

JONES

"If it did the world today would be hip deep in dinosaurs who instead outgrew their brain power and their capacity to feed themselves and vanished from the face of the earth."

Jones said he believed merger is justified if:

1. The goal is better service rather than sheer size.

2. If the operating philosophies of the contracting agencies can be blended homogenously.

3. If the combined managerial talent is not spread too thin.

4. If the loyalties and ambitions and teamwork of the staffs are not thwarted or destroyed.

5. If the resultant new agency is a more complete functional unit than were the combining forces.

"It might be well for us to remember", Jones told his audience in the Dinkler-Plaza Hotel, "that two weaknesses cannot produce a strength; two losers cannot produce a winner; zero multiplied to infinity, remains zero. And if size for the sake of size becomes overly tempting, drop around to your friendly neighborhood museum. Ask for the Dinosaur Department."

Advertising agencies—"by a sort of Darwinian law of survival"—will tend to remain at the ideal size to do their particular job, Jones concluded.

Rules on Chiropractors

LANSING (UPI)—A chiropractor is not a physician within the meaning of the County Medical Examiners Act, Attorney General Paul L. Adams said today. "Only doctors of medicine and osteopaths are within the scope of the term," Adams held in an opinion requested by Rep. Hans C. Rasmussen (R-Ludington).

Buick Promotes Glenn D. Wilson to Fleet Sales

FLINT—Glenn D. Wilson, a former Pontiac resident and manager of Buick's retail operations, has been appointed national fleet sales manager. Edward C. Kennard, general sales manager, announced today.

George G. Spaulding Jr., who has been on special assignment with Buick since last October, will succeed Wilson, Kennard said.

Both appointments are effective immediately.

Wilson, 49, has had experience in both retail and wholesale marketing of automobiles. He started with Buick in 1945 as used car manager of the Flint retail store and was made manager in 1948.

Two years later he was sent to Pittsburgh as zone manager and the following year he took a similar post in Cincinnati.

He returned to Flint as director of merchandising in 1953, a position he held until he became manager of retail operations last April.

As manager of fleet sales he will maintain his headquarters in Flint, Kennard said. However, most of his time will be spent in the field working with Buick dealers and helping them with their contacts with fleet users.

Home-Rule Bid Officially Dead

Proposal Is Tabled by Senate Committee for This Year

County home-rule government — for which a special committee in Oakland County had been pushing — has formally been declared dead for this year.

Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) said a proposed constitutional amendment, the first step toward home-rule for Michigan counties, was tabled in his Senate Judiciary Committee because "it was too indefinite and there wasn't enough time to work out somethng acceptable."

However, Oakland supervisors Monday are still expected to be presented with a supporting home-rule resolution anyway.

"It will be a useless gesture, but I'm going ahead," declared Berkley Supervisor John G. Semann, whose Legislative Committee has drafted a new resolution after a first one was turned back for more study in December.

Sees Spending Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Illinois legislator estimated today that if only 8 of the 1,983 bills introduced on the opening day of Congress become law, government expenditures would be more than doubled next year.

Doubt Sincerity of Khrushchev

Ike Has No Present Plans to Make Visit to Russia

THOMASVILLE, Ga (UPI)—The White House today bluntly challenged Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's sincerity in inviting President Eisenhower to Russia and said Eisenhower had no present plans to make such a visit.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty pointed out that the so-called Soviet invitation was contained in a speech which also included "very hostile references to United States leaders.

"It seems strange that Premier Khrushchev, if he really welcomes a visit by the President, would extend it in such circumstances.

"The President has no present plans to make such a visit—in fact, he hasn't received any invitation except through the reports of an off-hand invitation extended in a political speech.

"Ever since he has been in office President Eisenhower has always made it clear that he was willing to go anywhere in the world if, by so doing, such a visit would serve the cause of peace.

"Should future developments suggest that a visit to the Soviet Union or anywhere else would serve to advance this cause, then it certainly would be considered."

Guard Trains Parrot to Call Time on Visits

CAIRO (UPI) — Visitors at the Cairo zoo were startled when the parrot they were looking at shouted "please get out" several times.

The guard had taught the phrase to the parrot so he could be spared the trouble.

Chrysler Will Recall 5,000 at Hamtramck

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. said today it will put back to work next Wednesday 5,000 employes at the Dodge assembly plant in Hamtramck.

This will leave about 15,000 employes at other assembly plants in the nation still idled by a strike at Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. plants. A shortage of windshields forced curtailment of operations last month.

But the company has found alternate sources of supplies to permit recall of workers at the Hamtramck plant which produces Dodge and De Soto Firesweep passenger cars.

Grain Opening Steady to Firm

CHICAGO (AP)—A generally steady to firm opening brought out some selling in early grain futures trading today and prices turned a bit easier.

For the first time this week the market lacked the support of any consequential export business in any grain. Yugoslavia, a daily wheat buyer, recently appeared to have fulfilled its requirements for the present. However, Holland took a small amount of oats and No. 2 red wheat and the continent also bought a small shipment of soybeans.

Wheat was ⅛ to ⅜ cent a bushel lower near the end of the first hour, March $1.98½; corn ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, March old type contract $1.13⅜; oats ¼ lower to ¼ higher, March 66½; rye lower to ¼ lower to ¼ higher, March $2.19¼.

House May OK Hawaiian Bill by Month's End

WASHINGTON (AP)— Chairman Leo O'Brien (D-NY) of the House Territories Subcommittee thinks the Hawaiian statehood bill may pass the House by the end of the month.

"I may be overly optimistic," said O'Brien, "but we just could have the bill passed by the house by March 1."

The New Yorker, who last year piloted the Alaska bill successfully through the House, said his optimism stems from conversations with House leaders, members of the rules committee and from statements attributed to House Speaker Sam Rayburn that "it looks like the skids are greased" for Hawaii.

The Hawaii bill was approved by the House Insular Affairs Committee Wednesday by an overwhelming 25-4 vote. A formal report on the measure is expected to be filed with the house next Wednesday, following which the rules committee will be asked to approve the bill for House consideration.

Hens Before Roosters

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—It seems roosters are a bit too gallant when it comes to feeding, often failing to gain weight because they stand back and let the hens have first crack at mealtime. So Purdue University is urging farmers to hang a feed hopper just out of reach of the smaller hens so only the males can eat from it.

Prof. Hart Appointed Head of LIT Group

Professor Arthur Hart, member of the electrical engineering faculty at Lawrence Institute of Technology, will become the director of the college's Technical Institute at the start of the second term on Feb. 17.

The appointment was announced by Dean Mordica M. Ryan, head of academic administration, who said that the new position consolidates the duties previously performed by several members of the faculty under Co-ordinator Arnold Blythe who served on a part-time basis. Blythe will continue on the faculty as a social science professor.

HART

Hart has been a member of the L.I.T. faculty since 1946. He attended a special conference at Case Institute of Technology in Cleveland last summer, designed for technical institute directors.

The Technical Institute offers programs in building construction technology, electric and electronic technology, industrial supervision, mechanical, refrigeration and air conditioning technology.

No Invitation to U.S. Irritates Khrushchev

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev appears intensely interested in visiting the United States and quite irritated at President Eisenhower's unwillingness to invite him.

That was seen here as the immediate motivation behind Khrushchev's publicly proclaimed invitation yesterday for Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev, in addressing the 21st Congress of the Communist Party in Moscow, publicly invited Eisenhower to come to the Soviet Union, "bring anyone he likes" and go anywhere he wants.

The Soviet premier at the same time was bitterly critical of "discrimination" which prevents his coming to the United States. He also attacked the Western stand on Berlin.

Market Eases in Fair Trading

Key stocks were down from fractions to about a point. Many were unchanged. Selected issues made gains.

Lorillard was active and rose over 2 points at the start. A Dow Jones news item reported that earnings for the final quarter of 1958 were the best in the company's history. Lorillard clipped about a point from its rise.

U. S. Steel and General Tire were fractionally higher.

Rails were unchanged to a bit lower despite news of a big boost in freight carloadings.

Motors were mixed, Ford dropping about a point as word came of layoffs due to a shift in demand for six-cylinder and smaller eights rather than bigger eight-cylinder egines.

Zenith fell more than 2 points. U.S. Gypsum took a similar loss. Down about a point were Goodyear and Pfizer.

Legislators Pushing Repeal of Sales Tax

LANSING (AP)—Voices in the capitol are being raised anew for repeal of the 10 per cent federal excise tax on automobiles.

In asking the legislature to again demand repeal by Congress, five senators said the move would stimulate recovery from the recession in Michigan and elsewhere.

A hard but unsuccessful push in Washington for removal or reduction of the tax last year was led by the Michigan delegation in Congress.

Sen. John P. Smeekens (R-Coldwater), main sponsor of the resolution, said the tax is about $225 on a car that retails for $3,000.

Taking it off he said, would boost car sales, aid employment and help out the glass, rubber and steel industries, all suppliers for automotive production.

Ford to Lay Off 625

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. states it will lay off 625 employes at its Dearborn Iron Foundry and Engine Plant, effective this weekend.

The layoffs, affecting 225 employes at the Foundry and 400 at the Engine plant, will be for an indefinite period, Ford said. The Foundry's normal employment is 5,000, the Engine Plant 4,100.

A company spokesman said the layoffs followed a reduced demand for the eight cylinder engines produced at Dearborn and an upturn in demand for six cylinder engines made in Cleveland.

Flames Reach 2 While Parents Away

Boys Die in Locked House

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Two small boys, left alone in a padlocked home while their unemployed father looked for a job, died when fire destroyed the two-room dwelling.

Police quoted the father, Howard R. Boyd, 29, as saying he had left Stephen Edward, 3, and Jimmy Lee, 5, asleep on a couch while he went to hunt work. He said he had been without a job for 18 months.

His wife, Martha, also 29, was at her job as a waitress at the time of the tragedy. She said she and her husband could not afford a baby sitter.

Two neighbors, W. C. Jenkins and G. W. Braden, attempted to save the children.

"Both of us kicked in the door," Jenkins related. "It had a padlock on the outside. When we opened the door, the children were still screaming. I got one foot inside, but the smoke and blaze knocked us back."

Origin of the fire was undetermined.

Police said the father was booked on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

4 Children Die as Fire Races Through House

AUSTELL, Ga. (AP) — Four children, aged 1 to 4, perished in a fire that raced through their two-room frame house near here Thursday night.

Police identified them as Loretta Ellison, 1; Gary Gene, 2; William Henry Jr., 3; and Sara Ann, 4, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Ellison.

The parents were visiting neighbors when the fire broke out.

Ellison told police he guessed the reason the house burned so rapidly was because it was sealed with old cardboard boxes. The cause of the fire was not determined.

Ice Halts All Shipping at Grand Haven Harbor

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Ice has closed the Grand Haven harbor to shipping for an indefinite period.

A path from Lake Michigan to the inner harbor which has been ice-bound for about two weeks was smashed yesterday by the coast guard icebreaker Mackinaw. The Mackinaw freed the Coast Guard cutter Woodbine from ice in which it had been trapped since Sunday.

Takes State Tax Out of Wages

Massachusetts Passes Payroll Deduction Law for Income Levy

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Legislature has enacted a measure to collect state income taxes by the payroll withholding system.

It will become law as soon as it is signed by Gov. Foster Furcolo.

The bill passed Thursday after two weeks of bitter legislative wrangling over disposition of more than 50 million dollars in windfall revenues the system is expected to produce during 1959.

The governor had demanded that the state retain the entire windfall, since the cities and town will get their normal income tax distributions during the calendar year from the April 15 collection of taxes on 1958 incomes.

The Senate attached an amendment fixing June 30—the end of the state's current fiscal year—as a cutoff date for the state to keep windfall collections.

After that date, windfall collections, estimated variously at 15 to 30 million dollars, will go into the tax pool which the state shares with the cities and towns.

The state normally gets about 43 per cent, and the cities and towns 57 per cent of the over-all collections.

The new law will allow employers to retain up to 3 per cent of the taxes they withhold to cover their costs of collection.

The effective rate on earned income—wages or salaries—is about 3 per cent.

State Leads Nation in School Inadequacy

LANSING (AP)—Michigan leads the nation in pupils without adequate classrooms, the Michigan Education Assn. reported today.

The Association said a survey by the United States office of education showed the state has 150,050 more students than classroom spaces in which to house them.

Michigan ranked seventh nationally in total enrollment with 1,603,194 pupils. The survey showed that 11,117 additional classrooms were needed to ease overcrowding. This was second only to Alabama, which needs 11,936 rooms.

The survey also showed there were 8,500 persons teaching in the state with substandard credentials. This was second only to California, which had 11,000 such teachers.

'Leave It to Beaver' Show Only Real Family Comedy

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) — I hate to become a bore about ABC-TV's Leave It to Beaver, but last night's show about Wally's pug nose added another unsticky, but warm episode to its catalogue — its writers, Bob Mosher and Joe Connolly, have scribbled their way through an elegant season. It's the only TV family comedy rooted in reality.

Dinah Shore dropped into the ABC-TV Pat Boone show last night and helped grind out an inoffensive if commonplace half hour.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Fernando Lamas will star in a new Desilu filmed series, Privateer, based on the adventures of pirate Jean LaFitte . . . Bob Hope and Debbie Reynolds have joined the list of stars — Perry Como, Dinah Shore, Frank Sinatra, Sid Caesar and Rosemary Clooney, among them—who will perform in the 90-minute March 3 NBC-TV special dedicated to the late NBC-TV veepee, Manie Sacks . . . ABC-TV and Danny Kaye are huddling.

Fredric March will read the Gettysburg Address and Carl Sandburg will address a joint session of Congress on NBC-TV's daytime half-hour special, "Congress Celebrates Lincoln's 150th Birthday," on Feb. 12 . . . Diane Varsi will make her TV dramatic debut on CBS-TV's Playhouse 90, "The Dingaling Girl," on Feb. 26.

Lowell Thomas' last High Adventure show of this CBS-TV season on March 27 will center around a trip to Zanzibar . . . Bess Myerson of CBS-TV's The Big Payoff will vacation for two weeks in the West Indies starting Feb. 16 — Betsy Palmer will fill in . . . Tony Ray, who plays Bud Gardner on CBS-TV's Search for Tomorrow, will soon leave the cast to play in a movie to be filmed in Canada, "The Young and the Beat."

UAW Official Wants Seat on Wayne Board

DETROIT (AP) — Leonard Woodcock, United Auto Workers vice president, says he will seek the Democratic nomination for a seat on the Wayne State University board of governors.

Woodcock, 48, said yesterday he was seeking the job "because I want to contribute all I can toward meeting today's complex educational needs of all our people."

To Discuss Township Building Plans

PTA Meets, Supper Set

The current proposed building program to be placed on the March 3 election ballot will be discussed by Fred Poole, representing the Waterford Township Board of Education, at the Williams Lake PTA meeting at 8 this evening.

The new cook book, sponsored by the Executive Board, will be on sale in the lobby of the school.

"Educational Growth in Waterford Township Schools" will be the subject presented by Dr. Chandos Reid, superintendent's assistant in charge of curriculum, at the Stringham School at 8 tonight.

"All you can eat for $1" is the theme of the pancake supper to be held at the Lambert School from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Saturday, according to chairman Mrs. John Bunlack.

'I Will Finish Him Off, Boys . . .'

Red Attack on Plane Shocks Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—The gruff terrifying words: "The target is burning. I will finish him off, boys, echoed on Capitol Hill today with shocked demands for stepped-up defense programs.

The words, the State Department says, were those of Soviet jet pilots shooting down an unarmed U.S. transport plane.

At least 6, possibly 17, American airmen died in the fiery crash Sept. 2 of the unarmed C130 transport near the border between Turkey and Soviet Armenia.

The plane admittedly had wandered across the border and over Soviet territory, but the State Department expressed a suspicion the crew may have been misled by Soviet radio signals.

State Department officials Thursday disclosed they have a graphic recording of harsh, barking voices they said were those of Soviet pilots sending the plane into its death plunge. An English translation was made public.

The department said the recording was absolutely authentic but would not say where it came from.

"The target is a transport, four engine.
"I am attacking the target.
"The target is burning.
"Look at him, he will not get away, he is already falling.
"I will finish him off, boys, I will finish him off on the run.
"The target is falling."

The recording appeared to have caught First Dep. Soviet Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan uncomfortably in the center of the big lie approach to diplomacy. He brushed off several inquiries about the plan on his recent visit here and treated it as a routine crash.

The Russians turned over the bodies of six crewmen a short time after the crash but have consistently denied any knowledge of the 11 other airmen aboard the plane.

As two of the plane's unidentified victims were buried today with military honors in Arlington National Cemetery, two members of the Senate Armed Services Committee renewed demands for a speed-up in the defense program.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) said: "It becomes more and more clear that some day we will have to stand against the growing Communist aggression. We will never put our defenses in a proper position to take that stand by tailoring our defense to a balanced budget."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash) said the attack was the outgrowth of "a weakening defense posture on our part." He added that "a weakening defense posture invites such attacks. The weaker they become, the more adventuresome the Russians become."

Several senators recalled recent denials by Mikoyan of any knowledge of a Soviet attack on the American plane.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind) said that "before Russia can be accepted into the society of nations, their leaders must learn to tell the truth."

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), assistant Senate majority leader, called for a strong personal protest by President Eisenhower and a demand for compensation for the lives lost, as well as for the destruction of the plane.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio), who read excerpts of the recording to the Senate Thursday, said it was "very shocking information."

Elaine, Like Tallullah, Just Talks On and On

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I'll bet that Elaine Stritch, like Tallulah Bankhead, talks in her sleep—because there isn't time to say all she wants to while she's awake.

WILSON

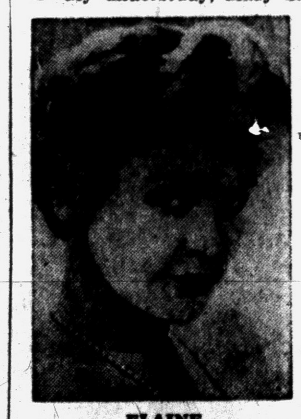

"Afraid I'd be late," the Detroit, Chicago and Hollywood stage and movie gal said when I met her. "I was walking my dog and I said, 'Knock it off, Jimmy. Earl Wilson's a very busy man.' Then I said, 'To hell with him, so we'll be late.'

"Every day I have to do the beauty parlor bit. I'm a natural blonde but I jazz it up in front just for laughs. The show"—she's in "Goldilocks" with Don Ameche—"is rolling fine, but they should have a picture of a dame out in front instead of a sketch of me dancing with a bear!

"Another thing. Eleven-thirty every night I'm in bed with the TV on, looking at an old movie. Four times out of five —DON AMECHE! I told him it's pretty boring.

"My understudy, Mary Small, just sat down. Poor kid. I pity her. I'll never get sick.

ELAINE

"I was Ethel Merman's understudy in "Call Me Madam.' She never missed and I never missed. It's an obsession, it's kinda spooky.

"I was with Kim Stanley in 'Bus Stop' and we had a blowup because she missed. She said, 'I got my children.' I said, 'What'm I supposed to do, not go on because I haven't got any?'

"But there are times when if I didn't have a little brandy in the tea and honey, don't know what I'd do.

"Once a producer saw a bottle of beer on my dressing table, grabbed it and said 'Oh HO!' I said, 'Robert! They set my hair with that!'

"D'you hear what happened when I took over the lead in 'Call Me Madam' on tour?

"I was in the Beverly Hills Hotel. The phone operator says 'We have a very important guest complained against you vocalizing on the patio.'

"I yelled 'What room is it?' And I ran to that room so fast! The door was open. Ethel Merman was sitting on the floor drinking champagne. We had a ball.

"She came to the show the other night. To prove I'm as vulnerable as the next fellow, I cracked a few times. She told me I did a good job. Took me half an hour to convince her I didn't."

I ran into "Spike" Briggs of the Detroit baseball family—and he said, "I'm 'Spike' Briggs." I chided him for telling me and said, "I knew who you were." Briggs replied, "I learned to do that from a guy who came over to me one day and said, 'Spike, you probably don't remember me, but my name is Bing Crosby.'"

Closet Becomes Death Trap for Two Children

SOMERVILLE, Mass. (AP) — Three children perished early today on the top floor of a burning three-story wooden dwelling, two of them when they mistakenly entered a closet in the belief it was the exit.

Their mother, Irene Hennessey, 30, was burned on the face, hands and body and had to be carried out of the flaming apartment bodily to keep her from further injury in her efforts to rescue her children.

Robert Cunha, 26, also was burned on the face and body and was rescued by firefighters.

Marie Belding, 33, who lives with her five children in an adjoining apartment on the third floor, carried one child and led the others to safety.

State Auto Licensing Up Over Last January

LANSING (AP)—Branch offices licensed 864082 motor vehicles in January, an increase of 135,011 over the same month last year, Secretary of State James M. Hare reported today.

Hare said he thought the increase was mostly due to the extension of a traveling community service program to 200 towns and villages without full-time branch offices.

Take Advantage of Grief

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—Burglars broke into the home of Mrs. John D. Zahn last night and took about $200 in cash and valuables. Mrs. Zahn was away from home at the time — at a funeral parlor wake for her husband, who was killed in Tuesday night's airplane crash in New York City.

Hal Boyle Says:

It's Tough Task to Kill Time—Successfully

NEW YORK (AP)— One of the hardest things to kill successfully is—time.

It is a particularly tough problem in the modern business office. There the average man or woman has to spend eight hours doing work he could actually do in three hours.

This leaves him the task of pretending to look busy for five hours. You think this is easy? Well, it isn't. What professional actor wouldn't be worn out by a five-hour performance?

Yet office employes have to do this day after day after day—all year long.

They are trained workers, not trained actors. It isn't the three hours of daily work that makes them gray and feeble before their time. It's that five hours of daily acting—acting like they're busy when they aren't.

The chances are, however, that you will find at least some of the following typical examples of time-wasters in your own office:

The Endless Wanderer—All day long he wanders from the desk to the water cooler to the rest room—then back to his desk for five minutes, and on to the water cooler again. At 40 he has kidney trouble and fallen arches.

The Dutch Wife—If cleanliness were godliness, this guy would sit at the right hand of the heavenly throne. He cleans his desk, his telephone, his swivel chair, his memo pad — and still has two hours left to devote to polishing his spectacles.

The Hypochondriac—He wastes so much time taking pills to improve his health that he ends up too sick to be fired.

The Poor Deceiver—this poor fellow is so dumb he can't think of anything to do except to make paper airplanes and sail them out the window. He is off the payroll in two weeks.

The Self-Improver—that looks like a company record he is studying so hard. In reality it is a volume of an encyclopedia he is reading, page by page. His goal is to read the whole set on company time before he reaches retirement age.

The Coffee Break Artist—He can make a 15-minute coffee break last longer than a Roman orgy, but somehow he never gets caught. He is the secret office hero.

The Authentic Genius—this mental giant figured out that if he ran in and asked the boss's advise every half hour, he could waste two people's time instead of one. But the boss, grateful at feeling useful too, has given him three raises in the last year. Everybody hates him for his brains. But he doesn't care. Who else is smart enough to get the boss to do his work for him?

Loafing for a living is the hardest kind of work. It can get you down if you let it worry you. The guy who gets ahead in the hard, competitive business world of today is the guy who can waste time busily—and still wind up at nightfall with his chin up and smiling, eager to face the same ordeal tomorrow.

Promoted by Dow

MIDLAND (AP) — Dow Chemical Co. has appointed Frank J. Macrae manager of its plastics technical service. Macrae, a graduate of Central Michigan College in Mount Pleasant, has been assistant manager the last seven years.

About 10 and a half per cent of the free world's total oil production in 1957 came from beneath the waters of Lake Maracaibo in Venezuela.
