Committee Investigating Local Teamsters

Kennedy Reveals Probe Started After Request

The public spotlight of the Senate's labor racketeering investigation turned to the Pontiac Teamsters local 614 today, with the revelation that a preliminary probe in the local's affairs is already under way.

Local 614 here under the trusteeship of Teamsters vice president James Hoffa is being eyed for racketeering, Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said in Washington.

Earlier this week, Detroit attorney Louis W. Snyder wired the Senate committee, asking for the probe in the name of a 4-member group of local teamsters.

Object of the requested probe was another airing of the charges against the trusteeship of Hoffa, which were originally brought in a 1954 circuit court suit.

The suit which was dismissed because of lack of jurisdiction, charged misuse of more than $1 million in union dues, and sought to end Hoffa's rule here.

REQUEST PROBES

Kennedy said the committee had been receiving about 150 requests for investigations daily from all over the country.

Kennedy also announced the investigations are completed in two cases in Los Angeles, one in New York City, and one in Scranton, Pa.

Although Snyder declared that the 14-member committee he speaks for represents a majority of the 614 Local, acting president Leaun Harrelson denies this.

Asserting that Local 614 under Hoffa's rule is "the cleanest run local in the state," Harrelson has said a majority of the 3,500 members are loyal to Hoffa and his appointed officers.

Harrelson added that "we have absolutely nothing to hide" and added, "We'd welcome an investigation."

Hoffa was ordered by Teamster boss Dave Beck to take over the reins of the local in October, 1953, when its president and secretary-treasurer were indicted on extortion and conspiracy charges.

It has been under his power since then. All officers were removed at the time of trusteeship, and replaced by Hoffa.

Harrelson said he had heard neither demands for an election of officers, nor criticism of Hoffa's trusteeship. He added that under the Teamster constitution, elections are not possible in a local under trusteeship.

Hoffa, Attorney Plead Innocent

Trial for Conspiracy and Bribery Scheduled for May 27

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. (Jimmy) Hoffa, Midwest boss of the Teamsters Union, and Hyman I. Fischbach entered pleas of innocent today to charges of conspiring and bribing to get secrets of the Senate rackets probers. Their trial was set for May 27.

The pleas were entered before U.S. Dist. Judge Richmond B. Keech.

The bouncy Hoffa responded, "Not guilty, your honor," when asked to plead to the indictment.

Fischbach, a Miami attorney who at times has served as counsel to congressional investigating committees, replied simply "Not guilty."

★ ★ ★

Hoffa, dapper in a light brown suit, looked about as he stood before the judge while attorneys took up such preliminary matters as bail bond and the time for filing of motions.

PRINTS TAKEN

Hoffa had been fingerprinted when he was arrested March 14, but Fischbach had to go through the process.

Judge Keech continued Hoffa under a $25,000 bond posted through a professional bondsman at the time of his arrest.

Fischbach was required to post a new bond in lieu of the $10,000 bond he posted in Florida where he had been arrested.

AFL-CIO Suspends Dave Beck, Orders Probe of Teamsters Union

Ziem Says Justices Overcharge on Fees

By PETE LOCHBILER

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem disclosed today he has sided with the attorney general that Oakland County townships generally are reaping illegal profits from justice courts.

His decision was a big blow for Waterford Township, which all but paid for its police department last year out of justice court revenues.

Waterford Township Justice Willis D. Lefurgy, who handles almost all of the township's ordinances cases, today said he would comply with the ruling.

Ziem specifically advised justices to follow the opinion of Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh, that costs should be assessed only on the basis of actual expenses involved in prosecution.

If followed, this recommendation would eliminate a practice of assessing as costs additional money which has in the past been earmarked for the operation of the township law enforcement.

The county today was in the process of advising the townships of Ziem's decision and the immediate reaction had not yet been registered. Ziem believed, however, the townships would abide by the ruling.

Lefurgy said that as of yesterday he was charging only specific fees authorized by state statute covering actual costs of prosecution.

This means, he said, that in the vast majority of traffic cases, where the offender as a rule pleads guilty, only the justice fee of $4.30 is being charged. Extra cost assessments, which would have produced funds for the county, therefore are eliminated, Lefurgy said.

"The prosecutor is our chief law enforcement officer," Lefurgy said. "I feel obligated to follow his decision, although we have been operating under rules set up and approved by the county."

The prosecutor said he delib-

Bill Before House Aid to Waterford in Traffic Hassle

Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson said in Lansing today that "home rule" law enforcement could be saved in Waterford Township by passage of a bill now before the legislature.

Anderson, formerly Waterford Township supervisor, said the measure now is being considered by committee and will be the subject of a public hearing next Thursday.

The bill gives townships in metropolitan areas the same powers that city and villages have, Anderson said.

It would allow fines and costs assessed in justice courts to remain within the township to help pay the expense of local police departments.

A recent attorney general's opinion, backed up by Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem today, however, calls for a limit on the amount of costs charged to the actual costs of prosecution.

If enforced, Louis G. Barry, acting township supervisor has said, the ruling would jeopardize Waterford's police department, which last year operated on a $103,489 budget, with $101,411 of it coming from justice court revenues.

Pot-O-Gold Solution Worth $425

Pontiac Press Photo

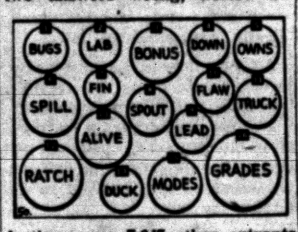

PUZZLE PAY-OFF—Pontiac Press Managing Editor Robert B. Tarr presents a check for $425 to Pot-O-Gold winner Mrs. Emily Thompson, who came up with the only correct solution to the Pot-O-Gold puzzle this week. She said the money will go to help her son build a home near Union Lake.

Pot-O-Gold Puzzler Gets Jackpot of $425

Long-time Pot-O-Gold puzzle player Mrs. Emily Thompson was wreathed in smiles today. She joined the elite Pot-O-Gold winners circle, cracking the puzzle for $425.

Mrs. Thompson, 56, who lives with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Collier, at 8967 Lakeview Dr., White Lake Township, has been sending in solutions since the quiz began.

She'd had close calls, with only two answers wrong, before defeating some 7,947 other entrants for the cash this week.

Besides the $400 the correct solution was worth, Mrs. Thompson gained an extra $25 by being a Pontiac Press subscriber.

The money will go to help her son pay for materials in a house he is building near Union Lake.

Here's fair warning to puzzle fans: Mrs. Thompson intends to continue playing the Pot-O-Gold puzzle, which is now worth $100.

Iran Believes Woman Hidden

Push Search for Gang; Seek Hideaway Cave in Desolate Mountains

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iranian authorities say they believe a 35-year-old American woman kidnaped by a bandit gang may be hidden away in a desolate mountain cave.

★ ★ ★

An intensive search was pressed again today in the Tangoerkheh Desert area of southeast Iran for the outlaw band that seized Mrs. Anita Carroll of Issaquah, Wash., after slaying her husband, another American and two Iranians Sunday night.

Interior Minister Assadollah Alam declared "there is more than a 60 per cent chance" that she will be found alive.

Officials based their belief that Mrs. Carroll has not been killed on the theory that she would bring a high price on the slave market.

Army men wise in the ways of Desert tribesmen said it is likely Mrs. Carroll is being hidden by the gang until it can smuggle her to the coast and send her to Arabia or Pakistan.

Trowel Used in '08 Hospital to Go Into '57 Cornerstone

The trowel used to lay the cornerstone for the original Pontiac General Hospital in 1908, will be tucked away tomorrow during cornerstone ceremonies for the new addition at the city hospital.

The trowel will be one of many relics placed in a copper box to be sealed in a new cornerstone at its placing at 3 p.m. in front of the hospital, West Huron at Seminole.

Willis M. Brewer, chairman of the building committee of the hospital Board of Trustees, will be master of ceremonies. The public has been invited. Judge H. Russel Holland will be guest speaker.

Included in the copper box will be the box discovered last year when the old hospital was razed to make way for the new wing. Along with these will go City Commission proceedings advancing the bond issue to finance the addition, and commission resolutions establishing the Board of Trustees and also increasing its membership to 11 last December.

The president of the Oakland County Hospital Assn., Mrs. Emma Howard, will attend another ceremony for the hospital tomorrow. It was the association which initiated funds to advance the first hospital.

Mayor William W. Donaldson is expected to spread the mortar and place the cornerstone. His fellow commissioners will attend also.

Rev. Theodore R. Allebach, member of the Board of Trustees and pastor of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church, will give the invocation. Rev. Thomas Marcero, pastor of St. Vincent de Paul, will present the benediction.

How Dat Golden Croonin' Elvis Pours It On

CHICAGO (AP)—Elvis Presley, wearing a $2,500 gold leaf suit and $100 golden slippers, sang 16 songs in less than an hour before some 12,000 shrieking teenagers last night at the International Amphitheatre.

Thirteen girls, many wailing "We want Elvis!" were carried to the first aid station during the rock 'n' roll singer's one-night Chicago program.

When he came on the stage, nearly two hours after the program started, his young fans stormed the stage.

Labor Leader Faces Inquiry by Colleagues

Drastic Council Action Results From Defiance of Senate Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) —The AFL-CIO Executive Council today suspended Teamsters' President Dave Beck as an AFL-CIO officer and ordered an inquiry into the entire Teamsters' Union.

Beck's suspension as an AFL-CIO vice president and Council member is effective immediately, and until the outcome of charges being brought against him by the Executive Council.

The actions were announced by George Meany, AFL-CIO president, after a two-hour council meeting.

Meany said Beck's suspension is effective immediately while the council considers charges against the Teamsters' chief based on what he termed Beck's "actions in bringing the labor movement into disrepute" and his failing to explain "the many charges against him" concerning use of Teamster Union funds before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

Beck pleaded his constitutional rights, invoking the Fifth Amendment, when questioned by the senators Tuesday and Wednesday. The amendment protects a witness against being required to give evidence that might be self-incriminating.

The committee told Beck the evidence it had collected indicated he had diverted some $320,000 of union funds to his personal use.

★ ★ ★

The AFL-CIO Council directed that the labor organization's five-member Ethical Practices Committee investigate the Teamsters' Union "to determine whether or not the Teamsters' International Union is substantially dominated or controlled by corrupt influences."

MAY BRING OUSTER

This latter investigation — separate from the investigation of Beck—could lead to ouster of the Teamsters from the federation unless the union moves to rid itself of alleged corrupt leadership.

The council's actions are probably the most drastic ever taken by organized labor in America against a union leader of so high a position.

It gave substance to the AFL-CIO assertions in recent months that it is ready to work with con-

Solons Oppose Ike Proposal

Issue Is When, How to Delegate Authority if President Is Ill

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower ran into strong congressional opposition today to his proposed constitutional amendment to clarify when a vice president should take over fro man ailing president.

Eisenhower proposed at a White House meeting with legislative leaders that the cabinet be authorized to decide when the vice president should assume the duties of the presidency, if the chief executive were unable to make such a decision on his own.

A number of those present, both Democrats and Republicans, opposed the president's plan. Some, including House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), asserted there is no need for an amendment to the constitution.

Other legislators argued it would be a mistake to give the power of decision to the cabinet. They proposed instead that some type of commission, with congressional representation, be set up to handle the problem.

Rayburn, declaring that he just didn't think much of the whole idea, told newsmen: "We have gotten along 168 years on the constitution as written and I don't think any very bad things have happened."

Several congressional leaders said they thought it would be a mistake to leave the critical decision to the cabinet because that body is made up of presidential appointees who would be sympathetic to him.

Would Serve Pontiac, Oakland County

6-County Water System Suggested

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The expansion of Detroit's water system into a huge six-county metropolitan service area to serve Pontiac and Oakland County has been recommended by a board of consultants for the National Sanitation Foundation.

★ ★ ★

The recommendation was presented yesterday in Detroit in a lengthy study requested by the Supervisors Inter-County Committee, representing Oakland, Wayne, Monroe, Washtenaw, Macomb and St. Clair Counties.

The recommendation was favorably received by Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman, who had been awaiting a solution to the city's dwindling water supplies.

"It puts us over one big hurdle in that it emphasizes that the needs of the area should be handled through one central agency and not separately," Willman said.

He said he would present the report to the City Commission, an industrial committee, and the city's engineering consultants for further study.

The report said the expansion of three pumping stations in Detroit would make possible providing water to the six-county area until 1973. After 1973 an additional raw water capacity was recommended.

★ ★ ★

Detroit today is providing water to 46 communities outside its boundaries.

The 72-page survey emphatically recommended a central

'Need Safeguards on Union Funds'

Mitchell Studies Possible Aids

Congress May Require Stricter Financial Data From Labor Groups

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell said today the administration is studying Senate Rackets Committee disclosures with the idea of tightening up government safeguards over labor union funds.

Mitchell told a news conference the unions themselves are moving to try to curb corruption but "they may need some help from the government."

He said his department is already considering various possible recommendations to Congress to require stricter financial data filing requirements on unions.

But he said he has always opposed, and still does, applying antitrust laws to unions, as has been suggested in industry quarters.

★ ★ ★

Referring to Teamsters' Union President Dave Beck, who invoked the Fifth Amendment in refusing to tell the Senate committee about his personal use of large sums of union funds, Mitchell said:

"I believe the actions of Beck and some of his associates as disclosed before the Senate committee are reprehensible."

Mitchell said he thought the Senate committee is "performing a real public service."

The committee says its studies indicated Beck personally may have misappropriated $322,000 of union funds, and that there is no proper accounting for what has happened to over $700,000.

Over 90 million dollars a year flow into coffers of the giant Teamsters Union.

The senators have temporarily suspended public hearings while their staff aides seek to dig out some data that Beck declined to supply on grounds that his answers might incriminate him.

Mitchell said he believes the Senate hearings "in the long run will be healthy for the labor movement and healthy for the country as a whole."

Asked whether he thought Beck should be ousted as head of the Teamsters, Mitchell said that was up to Beck and his union.

★ ★ ★

He said that among other things the Labor Department is considering plans to ask Congress to tighten up present Taft-Hartley law requirements that unions using the National Labor Relations Board file annual financial accountings with the Labor Department.

Mitchell said that under the law now there is no way for the government to check the accuracy of these reports or to have them made available to the public.

Issue on Ballot Monday

Police Trial Board Head Defends Record of Group

James F. Flanary, chairman of the Pontiac Police Trial Board, has submitted the following letter to The Pontiac Press for publication, regarding the proposal to abolish the trial board. The plan, which would place police under civil service and abolish the trial board appears on Monday's ballot. The letter follows:

"Monday the citizens of Pontiac may, by their action at the polls, cause the dissolution of the Pontiac Police Trial Board, of which the members were appointed by the city commission whose members in turn were elected by these same citizens.

"The Police Trial Board is responsible to the citizens of Pontiac for formulating and maintaining the rules and regulations governing the functioning of the Police Department and the deportment of its members. Every member from the chief down to the lowest ranked patrolman has equal status before the board. The board brooks interference from no one in the proper performance of its duty. Each case appearing before the board is judged solely on its merits. The board recognizes the fact that the Police Department is a semi-military organization and that discipline must be maintained.

"Some weeks ago, certain accusations and allegations were made against your Police Trial Board which were grossly unfair and without fact or foundation and which received much publicity.

"To the best of my knowledge not one citizen or any civic group has gone to the trouble of ascertaining the true facts.

"If, by the apathy of our citizens, honest and conscientious officials are allowed to stand unjustly accused, there may come a time when the interests of our citizens are not adequately protected because of difficulty in getting the right kind of people to volunteer for civic duty.

"It is my opinion that every Pontiac citizen as well as civic groups, are morally obligated to maintain vigilance and should investigate any accusation made against any people connected with city government.

"It is my firm conviction that Pontiac today has a better Police Department because we have been fortunate in maintaining a Police Trial Board, numerically adequate to assure a democratic process of operation and dedicated to serve Pontiac without fear or favor from any individual or group."

Ziem Says Justices Overcharge on Fees

erately had stayed out of the controversy since Kavanagh's opinion Jan. 14. He entered it reluctantly, Ziem said, and only in reply to an official query March 22 by Milford Township Justice James Van Leuven.

Van Leuven asked Ziem for an opinion whether to follow the attorney general's ruling or the common practice in Oakland County, one which has been condoned by the county's corporation counsel.

FELT OBLIGATION

Commenting afterwards that he believes there are "inequities" in state statutes governing justices, Ziem said he nevertheless felt obligated to rule in favor of the law and of Kavanagh's interpretation of it. Ziem said in his opinion:

"You should definitely follow to the letter the attorney general's opinion, unless a court of record should rule to the contrary."

So far, Ziem said, there has been no court testing of the justices' practice and of Kavanagh's position that state law is being violated.

Kavanagh says costs assessed violators should be limited to justice fees allowed by statute plus such other costs "as are specifically authorized by law."

Authorized costs, Kavanagh says, include such items as sheriff's, constable and witness expenses.

Justices have argued a more liberal interpretation, pointing out that police, administrative and supply expenses are involved in enforcing the law.

★ ★ ★

The law—contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure—states simply that convicted persons must pay "such costs of prosecution as the justice of the peace shall order." The conflict arises over the interpretation of the key word "prosecution," and what it legitimately involves.

Plan Water System Covering 6 Counties

water system against separate enterprises, such as one about to be undertaken by Wayne County.

This brought criticism from some Wayne officials, but assurances from Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo and Gerald Remus, superintendent of the Water Board. Both said Detroit not only can but will make water available to the whole six-county area.

The report was based on figures that the maximum daily consumption of water between 1955 and 1980 is estimated to be increasing at 36 million gallons per day.

NOT EFFICIENT

The survey said that construction of separate systems from Lake Huron, St. Clair River or Lake St. Clair for this area would be "expensive and inefficient."

The report continued by saying that after 1973, when the additional raw water intake is sought, it should still encompass one large project big enough for the entire service area.

"The board of consultants records its judgment that, other things being equal, an intake site is preferred which would be upstream from the Detroit area rather than downstream," it said.

This recommendation was arrived at when the consultants said the population of the service area may double in the next 40 to 50 years and amount to over 6,000,000 persons by the year 2000. This would require an intake location above the major sources of pollution, the report showed.

It recommended four alternatives ranging in cost from $105 to $142 million.

MORE MAINS NEEDED

Abel Wolman, engineering consultant from Baltimore, and one of the three consultants, stressed that the immediate problem for the area is not source of intake, as much as the "need for additional transmission mains in Detroit and into and throughout the Wayne County and the Oakland-Macomb County areas."

The report based its findings on an estimated population for the six - county area in 1980 of 5,006,000.

It said Detroit could produce 1,375 million gallons of water per day with completion of Springwells and Northeast pumping stations and by taking "full advantage of the raw water tunnel capacity."

The consultants concluded these projects were necessary as "the water demands in the Detroit service area are presently approaching the capacity of the Detroit water system."

The report said construction and administration of the six - county program might be handled by a metropolitan district, which would provide central direction.

It recommended that if Detroit "remains the central purveyor of all water, rate structures should be subject to the joint review of the city and authorized representatives of the areas served."

This would assure, the survey pointed out, that residents of outlying areas would not be burdened with costs chargeable to Detroit and that Detroiters would not be carrying a financial load legitimately chargeable to customers beyond the city boundary.

The four alternatives listed by the consultants for meeting the water needs of the six counties until 1981 were:

Plan A — Expansion of the Northeast and Water Works Park stations, and a new supply from Lake Huron, at a cost of $142 million.

Plan B — Expansion of the Northeast and Water Works Park stations, and a new supply from Lake St. Clair or upper Detroit River. The cost here is $125 million.

Plan C — Expansion of the Northeast and Water Works Park stations, and a new supply from lower Detroit River, which was part of the Wayne County project. Cost here was listed at $114 million.

Plan C — Construction of the $50 million Wayne project immediately, plus expansion of the Northeast station and Wayne County plant. Cost here would be $105 million.

Wolman said the completion of plans A, B., and C were dependent upon the completion of the Springwells station.

Wayne County's plan received a setback when the consultants said the cost of it would result in 50 per cent greater costs in the next 15 to 17 years than the other three plans.

The report did say, however, that the total cost of water, including fixed charges, operation and maintenance, under any of the four plans would be substantially the same for the 20-year period, 1961 to 1981.

Besides hurting Wayne County's project, the integrated and universal service area recommendation also put a snag into a proposed Oakland-Macomb Authority. This authority planned to use private capital to supply water to the two areas.

Willman said today "something would have to be worked out" before the consultants' recommendation might become a reality.

He had reference to a bill, introduced by Pontiac Rep. Leslie H. Hudson, and now before the Lansing Senate, which would restrict Detroit selling water to outlying areas only if its city consumers had all they needed at any peak period.

The three consultants who prepared the study for the foundation were Louis E. Ayres of Ann Arbor, Richard Hazen of New York, and Wolman, who summarized the report.

Seek Thief-Vandals in 7 Store Break-ins

Pontiac detectives today are searching for thieves and vandals who broke into seven local stores and attempted to enter another sometime Wednesday night.

Although in four of the eight cases, nothing was reported missing, the thieves did escape with $78 in merchandise, some postage stamps and small amounts of change according to police.

The thieves broke into Jack's Barbershop, 481 S. Sanford St., and walked off with $78 worth of barber equipment, according to owner Jack Weiss. Two hair clippers and two straight razors were reported missing.

Two of the break-ins were definitely attributed to the same persons when detectives found several blasting caps, reported stolen from the Slater's Cement Company, 451 E. Wilson Ave., on the grounds of the Auburn Metal Fabricators, 391 W. Wilson Ave., where another break-in was reported.

A crimping tool used in attaching caps to fuses was also reported missing from the cement company.

Postage stamps and coins were reported missing from the L. H. Cole Oil Company, 392 S. Sanford St.

Break-ins were also reported by owners of Cadillac Picture Frame, 380 S. Saginaw St.; Hygrade Food Products, Inc., 49 Third Ave., and Ellis Trucking Company, 407 S. Saginaw St. An attempt was made to enter the Saginaw Cleaners, 378 S. Saginaw St.

Entrance was gained by breaking or forcing open windows in all cases, according to police.

MEMO TO CAESAR

Fun-Seekers Feel Jesus' Scorn

(No. 21 in a Lenten Series)

Pontius Pilate soon had further news for Caesar . . . .

Now — he wrote — the Nazarene teacher is deliberately asking for trouble. Junius reports that Jesus was invited into the home of a leading citizen for dinner, along with a local lawyer and several other prominent persons.

I suspect the invitation was made out of curiosity and that the host and his friends expected to have some fun at Jesus' expense. At any rate, Junius says they opened the conversation by reproving the Nazarene for not having washed before he sat down at the table.

He quickly replied that perhaps his host kept himself and his dishes clean on the outside, but inwardly he was greedy and wicked. And he proceeded to deliver a stringent sermon about men like his host who make a show of themselves in their places of worship and expect deference from others in the marketplace.

The lawyer spoke up, saying that when Jesus reproached men of his host's social class he was also speaking of lawyers as well.

★ ★ ★

The guest, who had been brought to the dinner to be mocked, turned his biting denunciation against certain lawyers who traffic in the misfortune of others.

From what Junius writes, the preacher really let those people at the dinner feel the full blast of his scorn.

The argument raged on, with the host and his friends deliberately trying to trick the Nazarene into saying something that would land him in court.

They did not succeed, but Jesus did not let the matter drop either. In his next public talk he lashed out boldly against leading sects in the community. He charged them with hypocrisy. He said their secrets would all come out.

At this point, someone in the crowd asked Jesus to speak to his brother and get him to divide their inheritance. Whether the man was sincere or whether he was attempting to trick the preacher into acting as a court when he had no authority to do so, I don't know; but Jesus was not to be trapped.

He asked: "Who made me a judge over you?" And then he proceeded to lecture the man on greed.

Jesus will not be an easy man to trip up, but I sense that he is making enemies and that they will not rest until they have done him in. . . .

With this, the letter ended.

AFL-CIO Suspends Teamster President

★ ★ ★

Earlier this year, the council had expelled a Philadelphia union official, Charles Naddio, and had temporarily suspended three small unions.

CLEAN-UP ORDERED

These unions were the Distillery Workers, Laundry Workers and Allied Industrial Workers. They were suspended until they demonstrate a clean-up of conditions in their ranks.

In addition, Meany has suspended Paul Dorfman, head of a Chicago Waste Handlers local union, pending a union trial on corruption charges.

Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, told newsmen as he went into the Executive Council meeting that he was confident "we will do what is necessary to protect the good name of the American labor movement."

"My interpretation of the AFL-CIO constitution—and I have competent legal opinion to support it—is that the council has power to suspend Beck pending a trial," he said.

★ ★ ★

Reuther said he meant suspension both as an AFL-CIO vice president and an Executive Council member.

The council has no authority to remove Beck as Teamsters' president but could direct his union to do so.

Reuther, asked if he would move in the council for Beck's suspension, said reporters could "draw your own conclusions" from his previous remarks.

There were 22 council members on hand when the session began.

He flew there yesterday after spending two days here invoking the Fifth Amendment to avoid answering questions by Senate rackets investigators who said he converted to his personal use $320,000 of union funds.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, called the special council meeting Tuesday within minutes of learning that Beck had claimed the Fifth Amendment's constitutional privilege against self-incrimination.

A new AFL-CIO policy says union officers have the right to invoke the Fifth Amendment but when they do so in connection with inquiries into their handling of union affairs, they forfeit the right to serve as union officials.

Beck issued a statement through his Washington office saying he would not attend the council meeting and adding that "no question before the Executive Council could be so urgent as to require any action or deliberation without providing the council members with more than a two-day notice."

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

There were these other fast-breaking developments stemming from the Senate committee's sensational five weeks of hearings:

1. The Senate probers announced they had tripled their investigating staff to chase down tips on alleged misconduct rolling in at the rate of 300 a day from all over the country.

2. The investigators said they have launched a preliminary probe into alleged tieups between racketeers and Teamsters officials in Oklahoma City. They said investigations have been completed and are ready for hearings soon into alleged improper union activities in Los Angeles, Scranton, Pa. and New York City.

3. Mayor Terry Schrunk of Portland, Ore., was arrested on two court indictments, one charging him with bribery and the other with perjury before a grand jury last summer. Schrunk denied before the Senate committee charges that he had accepted a $500 bribe.

4. Beck said he had received 50,000 communications "pledging confidence in me." He also announced the Teamsters Union has appropriated a million dollars to establish a public relations office in Washington to give the union's views. There was no comment on this from the union's Washington headquarters.

5. More rank-and-file Teamsters members protests were reported against the union's leadership.

Says Reuther Got Refrigerator

Bought From Discount Firm

DETROIT (INS) — A United Auto Workers spokesman admitted today that UAW President Walter P. Reuther purchased a refrigerator at discount in 1948 from a national chain store Nathan Shefferman served as a labor consultant.

However, the spokesman said Reuther is not certain Shefferman's firm had anything to do with the discount he received when purchasing the appliance with his own money.

Shefferman testified before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee that he obtained discounts on household appliances for Reuther and other union leaders as well as Teamsters' boss Dave Beck.

Reuther immediately wired the committee that he had never heard of Shefferman until the labor consultant testified before the probe, adding that all of his household effects had been purchased with his own funds.

UAW spokesman said Reuther had no idea who was responsible for the refrigerator discount and that neither Shefferman's name nor that of his firm, Labor Relations Associates of Chicago, came up during the purchase.

The Day in Birmingham

Lessen Potential Trouble With Use of Generators

BIRMINGHAM — The headache potentials in the event of a power failure were lessened for southeastern Oakland County Water Authority officials when Birmingham commissioners agreed to permit the use of city owned emergency generators at pumping stations, this week.

A report of Donald C. Egbert manager engineer of the Authority and former Birmingham City Manager, said that because of work being done on the N. Woodward system only the Greenfield station is operating. A power failure of any duration there would create a serious situation throughout the area.

SOCWA will stand the $875 expense for mechanical changes necessary to adapt the generators' power to different voltages.

Commissioners will stipulate that Birmingham personnel familiar with the generators operate them. There also will be an understanding with the Water Authority that the city will have first call on use of the generators. They are currently mounted on trailers but plans are under way for truck chassis use as quickly as possible.

The fifty voice men's glee club of Ohio Wesleyan University will appear in a concert at the First Methodist Church at 8 p.m. Sunday under the direction of Gordon M. Almstead. The club is also making appearances in Detroit Sunday and during the afternoon will broadcast over WJR.

The glee club has been active on OWU campus for over 50 years and has toured five European countries, Panama, Canada and its American appearances.

The club's repertoire includes both Sacred and secular music by composers ranging from Bach to Rogers & Hammerstein. Six young women from the university known as the Glee-Ettes also appear with the club.

Birmingham will participate in a country-wide celebration of the centennial of the National Educational Assn. with a dinner and program next Thursday evening in the high school maple room. Following the dinner two musical groups' a caylpso unit and madrigal singers will present a brief program. Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart will speak on Current Legislation as it Affects Education.

Plans of the evening are under the direction of Geraldine Rue, president of the Birmingham Education Assn., and Louise Dallas.

Jose T. Joya Jr. will be presented in an exhibit at Gallery No. 4, Detroit Institute of Arts in a one-man show beginning Sunday and continuing through April 20.

Joya, who holds a bachelors degree from the University of the Philippines and has received several grants including the Smith-Mundt grant sponsored by the U. S. Dept. of State, is currently working for a masters degree in painting under Zoltan Sepeshy at the Cranbrook Academy of Arts.

CHRISTOPHER MORLEY

Famous Writer Dies at Age 66

Christopher Morley, Author of 'Kitty Foyle' Succumbs in New York

ROSLYN HEIGHTS, N. Y. (AP) — Christopher Morley, poet, novelist, essayist and playwright, died yesterday at his home after a long illness. He was 66.

A native of Haverford, Pa., Morley attended Haverford College, where his father was a professor of mathematics.

Morley was a prolific writer and in recent years remarked:

"It has been my custom for more than 30 years to amuse myself by getting out at least a book a year. This was not done intentionally to annoy anyone. The publishers made a profit on most of them and the trade was more than kind."

Former Official Succumbs at 68

Mrs. Anna M. Oakley Was Pontiac Township Clerk for 20 Years

Mrs. Anna May Oakley, Pontiac Township's clerk for more than 20 years, died early today at the age of 68.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Oakley, who came to Oakland County in 1900, became clerk in 1930 and retired in 1951. She lived at 140 Juniper St., Auburn Heights.

She was a charter member and past president of the Auburn Heights PTA, member of Auburn Heights MOMS Club No. 19 and of the United Presbyterian Church.

Born in Oil City, Ont., the daughter of Charles W. and Elizabeth Reynolds Kerr, she attended Oil City and Auburn Heights Schools.

★ ★ ★

Surviving Mrs. Oakley are her sons, Dr. Benjamin Stone of East Lansing and John J. Stone of Auburn Heights; a daughter, Mrs. Norman Brockman of Auburn Heights; five sisters, Mrs. Walter White of Avon Township, Mrs. William J. Hazen of Rochester, Mrs. John Rees of California, Mrs. Mabel Bissett of Lapeer and Mrs. Voila Brooks of Ann Arbor; a brother, John W. Kerr of Phoenix, Ariz., and seven grandchildren.

Her body lies at the home of her sister at 2716 Crooks Rd., to remain there until Monday morning.

Service will be held at 2 p.m. Monday from the United Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. J. Harvey McCann officiating. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Dudley H. Moore Funeral Home, Auburn Heights, is in charge of arrangements.

Sparks Doing Well; Had Mild Heart Attack

County Treasurer Charles A. Sparks was reported doing "very well" in Pontiac General Hospital today after suffering what his physician called a "very mild" heart attack.

Sparks, 65, was listed in good condition.

3 Wait Arraignment

Charges against two Pontiac teenagers and a man were reduced from statutory rape to indecent liberties when they appeared before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan Wednesday.

The trio were freed on $1,000 bonds until arraignment in Circuit Court Tuesday.

Those arrested by Pontiac Police on March 16 were: Robert James White, 17, of 292 Seward St.; Bobby Brown, 21, of 261 N. Saginaw St. and Edward R. Usrey, 18, of 274 N. Johnson Ave. The arrests were made after a complaint was signed by the father of two girls, ages 12 and 15.

Blizzard Costs in Millions--to Crops, Stock, Utilities

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The weekend storm in the Great Plains caused millions of dollars in damage to crops, livestock, soil and utilities — but officials said it would be some time before an accurate assessment could be made.

The blizzard wiped out crops, blew away top soil, buried cattle under snow drifts, snapped power and telephone lines and bowled over utility poles.

The task of pin-pointing cattle losses was difficult. In Texas, ranchers said exact losses may not be known for weeks. Strayed cattle still are missing and some may be covered by snow drifts.

The damage in eastern Colorado to crops, livestock and soil was estimated at three million dollars by federal officials who predicted a survey now under way would show the estimate to be conservative.

Burrell J. Monroe, Colorado director of the Federal Crop Insurance Corp., said a million dollars worth of crops were ruined. And an official of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service in that state estimated the livestock loss at another million.

New Mexico authorities estimated 4,000 to 5,000 cattle were killed.

Cattle losses were described as high in the Oklahoma Panhandle. Ranchers and farmers in the Boise City, Okla., area estimated the loss as high as 50 per cent; while those in the Guymon, Okla., vicinity placed the figure at 15 per cent.

Kansas agricultural officials had no figures as yet on livestock and crop losses. Federal and state sources said reports indicate some heavy losses.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. estimated the damage to its equipment from the Kansas blizzard at three million dollars. Other utilities in Kansas said their losses were high.

Several livestock men said about 20 per cent of the Texas Panhandle's cattle population was lost.

Little damage to crops was reported in Texas.

Offer New Bill on Literature

Plan to Control Sale of Obscene Material; Replace Former Law

An Oakland County, state representative yesterday introduced a bill to control the sale of obscene literature in Michigan which would replace the law recently struck down by a dicision of the U. S. Supreme Court.

Theodore F. Hughes, of Berkley, said his proposed law would meet the objections of the high court which held the state could not ban the sale of literature to adults just because it was not fit reading for children.

Hughes' bill would empower circuit courts to prohibit the sale of obscene publications to the public or any specific group of persons. It sets up four considerations on which the courts would base their decisions:

1. The class of persons to which the publication is directed and manner in which it is advertised and sold.
2. The effect on the sexual behavior of the reader to whom it is directed.
3. Its artistic, literary, scientific or educational value.
4. The reasons for writing and publishing it.

Scrap Dealer Robbed

DETROIT (AP)—Harry A. Scheinfield, 52, Detroit scrap dealer, reported Thursday the theft of $40,000 worth of jewelry from his home on the city's northwest side.

Man Arrested Here Returned to California

Frederick Harry Caswell, 28, of 46 Hopkins St., arrested by Pontiac Police Feb. 8, on request of Buena Park, Calif., police on a charge of grand theft, was returned to the West Coast city Wednesday to face charges there.

Robert D. Long, Oakland County assistant prosecutor said Caswell returned with Sgt. J. Morris of the California authorities after a governor's warrant was issued following a governor's hearing. Caswell did not waive extradition.

Since his February arrest, Caswell has been serving a 90-day term in the Oakland County Jail for non-support of his wife, Charlotte.

Feature Dutch Artists

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A Dutch theme has been chosen for the annual Kalamazoo clothesline art show to be held June 8 in downtown Bronson Park. A special section will be set aside for works by artists of Dutch descent. The show, in which paintings are hung from clotheslines strung between trees, is open to Michigan and Northern Indiana artists.

Better Late Than Never Another Invitation

Prompt Partygoers Aren't in the Know

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Sometimes it seems that there are only two types of persons in this great, big sociable world:

(1) Persons who are late to appointments because they were held up in traffic, and

(2) Persons who are late to appointments for other reasons.

★ ★ ★

No one ever is on time for social events. Except eager young women, occasionally or slick, professional "free loaders," and since their punctuality is obvious (they're in search of a man and a martini, respectively), no one feels obliged to follow their precedent.

As a matter of fact, in these times of fashionable tardiness, it is generally considered bad taste to arrive at an 8 p.m. dinner before 8:30.

You most likely would catch the hostess in either a dressing gown or an apron, and ever afterward be looked upon with suspicion. If you are looked upon at all.

"I'm sorry I'm early," says the befuddled guest who arrives at 6:15 for a 6 p.m. reception in New York. But though he has properly apologized, the knowledge that he is the first person to arrive will stamp itself on his memory, and the next time he will know better.

AN OLD HABIT

No one can say certainly how the trend toward tardiness started, but it is rather widely believed that the habit began to take root in earnest about the time when Hollywood and Helen Twelvetrees began to flourish.

★ ★ ★

Until then, Emily Post had been respected and revered as the queen bee of behavior, and she always maintained — still does, in fact — that "15 minutes is the established length of time that a hostess may wait for a belated guest." After that interval, Emily always said, dinner should be served.

★ ★ ★

However, Hollywood brought its influence to all society by introducing the "grand entrance" as a fabulous new social technique to demand attention. One by one, smart women began to realize that the later one arrived at a soiree, the more furor one excited.

★ ★ ★

Even as Miss Twelvetrees came to Hollywood parties 10 minutes late, so followed Mrs. Jones to Peoria parties.

★ ★ ★

As this idea gradually took hold, men began to sense that women were robbing them of their rightful spotlight, and presently the revolution set in entirely.

As the decades rolled by, more and more people got later and later, until finally an understanding host or hostess realized there was no point in beginning to bathe until five minutes before the appointed hour for the party.

Every now and then a young man or woman for a small, polite Midwest town comes to the big city and takes an 8 p.m. dinner invitation literally — indicating that there are people and places where Miss Post is still revered, the traffic is under control, and vanity hath not stayed the healthy appetite.

Thief Apparently Loaded

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Police aren't sure how the thief carried it all in one trip, but someone carted off 61 bottles of liquor from Croation Club Wednesday night. Only one set of footprints was found leaving the building.

Composer Gene Austin, who wrote "When My Sugar Walks Down the Street," joined the U.S. Army at the age of 15.

Are Your Answers Like These?

The following are correct answers and explanations for Pot-O-Gold Puzzle No. 42 which apperaed in last week's Pontiac Press:

1. BUGS would have a greater fascination for the watching child than Buds. Buds would be static, but BUGS, whether flying or creeping, would provide motion and their activities would have a certain interest for children.

2. LAB work is a conventional phrase, whereas Law work would probably be called "legal" work. And in these science-dominated days, LAB workers may be said to be in great demand.

3. BONUS checks will be cashed by stores for customers known to them, whenever the storekeeper has enough cash on hand. A store may cash a Bogus check from lack of proper caution, but one of these would result in far stricter rules about such matters in the future. So the BONUS check fits better with the phrase "from time to time."

4. A big DOWN, where the school boys could play football, soccer, baseball, etc. is the proof of a convenient location. Boys' boarding schools are usually considered better located if they are not too near a big Town.

5. OWNS, in the sense of "acknowledges" or "admits," is the better word here, for the successful young man will OWN a debt of gratitutde to his parents. Since the debt is gratitude and not money, OWNS is more appropriate to the meaning than Owes.

6. Food will not SPILL if kept in a proper container. There is no guarantee that it won't Spoil if it is kept too long, in any sort of container.

7. FIN is right, for this could be seen waving near the sandy bottom. A sea Fan is a firm coral growth and while the movement of the water might make it appear to be waving, the constantly waving FIN of a fish is the better choice.

8. Zealots who SPOUT or talk at great length about their pet ideas would not be very welcome guests. Zealots are enthusiastic people who would be expected to Shout on occasion, but this would be more easily tolerated than a continual flow of talk.

9. Card player who has the LEAD is the one with the advantage. In some card games, the one who has the Deal also has the first chance to LEAD, but the deal usually passes around from one player to another. The one who is able to hold the LEAD has the real advantage.

10. "Without a FLAW" is better because if the opera star sang without a FLAW or defect she also sang without any Flat notes. FLAW is the inclusive word.

11. TRUCK is right, for this is the swiveling frame with two or more pairs of wheels attached under each end of a railroad car. The car of course runs on a Track, but the "definite connection" is clearly with the TRUCK.

12. RATCH, a short form of ratchet, the toothed bar with which a pawl engages, is the thing the average mechanic is most likely to know about. Following a Chart or diagram of a machine would probably take more knowledge or experience than the average mechanic has.

13. Men who look ALIVE, who are alert and energetic, are apt to have much in common. The fact that two men look Alike may have nothing to do with their tastes.

14. A DUCK would be a far commoner sight on the shores of a north country lake than a Dock would be. Many of these lakes are in the wilderness, far from habitation, so that there would be no dock.

15. Women would study the latest MODES, all the new styles that would be shown at a fashion gathering. There is no reason why they should concentrate on just one Model.

16. GRADES or slopes of land would be of special interest to landscape gardeners, for they would plan the planting of trees, shrubs, etc., according to the lay of the land. Glades are open spaces in a forest, and so would not enter into the landscape gardener's calculations.

Fire Fighters Just Wait —Blaze Comes to Them

WATERTOWN, Mass. (AP)—Watertown fire fighters waited on a bridge yesterday for a fire to come to them.

★ ★ ★

Residents of adjoining newtown called their fire department yesterday when they spotted a rowboat loaded with flaming hay on the Charles River.

The boat drifted toward Watertown and Newton fire fighters called that department.

★ ★ ★

Watertown fire fighters went to a bridge spanning the river and waited for the fire to float to float to them. It did and they put it out.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Senate Challenges Beck's Integrity

After two days of testimony Teamster chieftain Dave Beck has practically told the United States Government to mind its own business.

★ ★ ★

His haughty manner and self-imposed importance indicates that he envisions himself more powerful than the Government or the union that he works for.

This defiant attitude and failure to answer questions apparently is within his legal rights. It does not seem right that any man should be allowed to openly refuse to answer questions when it involves the well-being of a million and a half union members.

The Teamsters as well as the committee of Congress should have the right for a complete accounting of union funds. Using the Fifth Amendment to hide behind is a sorry, and sickening, spectacle for the American public to have to swallow.

We are not in a position to judge whether some type of study should be made concerning the stumbling blocks made by the first three Articles and the Fourth and Fifth Amendments.

Quite obviously they have worked as loopholes in the past, and currently are serving as a protective shield for Beck.

But one thing they can't do is to protect him from the adverse criticism and harsh judgment that is coming his way from top labor leaders as well as from the man on the street.

If nothing else comes of the present investigation, at least the public is gaining an insight into the iron clad domination one man has over his dues-paying members.

Also, perhaps new and more stringent laws will be enacted covering labor union funds as a result of the Senate investigation.

Only Service Ailments Should Get Free Care

Last January 31 the Veterans Administration reported a total of 116,378 patients with about two-thirds of the ailments not connected with military service.

The American Medical Association has suggested that VA policies be tightened to reduce the number of patients whose ailments are without service connection. However, the doctors think that exceptions might be made for wartime veterans with neuropsychiatric disorders or tuberculosis.

★ ★ ★

It is hard to tell, AMA says, whether or not mental illness developing later in life was service caused. Such cases call for long and costly treatments and the great majority of patients must be cared for in public hospitals. To a certain extent the same arguments apply to tuberculosis although modern treatment has shortened the average hospital stay.

★ ★ ★

There are now 23 million veterans in our population, most of them fairly young. Those who have service connected illnesses should have every care. But veterans who could pay all or part of the cost of their treatment for non-service connected disabilities should be required to do so.

Leave It to NATO

It is unfortunate that the Greek government and the Cypriotes have rejected NATO's conciliation offer toward a settlement of the Cyprus problem.

★ ★ ★

Apparently the Greeks think that the question is one of self-determination only. But it is much more than that and the other NATO countries well understand that Cyprus is an essential base for the defense of Europe. They can also appreciate the Cypriotes desire for union with Greece as well as the Turkish minority's fear of being oppressed.

The Cypriote underground, EOKA, has said that it will cease all terror if Archbishop Markarios is released from his exile in the Seychelles Islands. The British have agreed providing the Church and State leader makes a clear statement calling for an end to EOKA violence.

★ ★ ★

NATO still is the effective link between Britain, Greece and Turkey. It would seem therefore that the Cypriotes should now agree to let this 15 nation organization settle the entire problem. The only ones benefitting from the impasse are the non-Western and Communist powers.

Our Largest Oak

Dedicate the Tree for Which County Was Named

Success: What if a man has it in building a better mouse trap or anything else, the income tax people will beat a path to his door.

In connection with our county being named in honor of the great oak trees that abounded in this area when our pioneers located here, we wonder where now is the largest oak tree within its borders. MAT knows of none over three feet in diameter.

Countless thousands of oak trees, ranging up to six feet or more in diameter, were here when Oakland County was organized 137 years ago. The white, red and black oaks abounded on the high ground, and the lower lands were covered with mammoth swamp oaks.

While Michigan was famous for its pines, and that was officially made the state tree, they were far outstripped by the oaks in this area, in number, size and commercial value. The pine was secondary in Oak-land.

Many of our few remaining woodlots have been lumbered off up to three times since the white man came. Few of the primeval oaks remain. It is a slow growing tree, and few young oaks are being planted.

MAT asks you to advise him of the location of any of the stalwart old oaks that remain. Perhaps we can dedicate the largest as Oakland County's official tree.

A few years ago the legislature passed an act, designating that our residents be called "Michiganians," rather than "Michiganders."

David Lawrence Says:

Succession Decision Vital Need

WASHINGTON — No law passed by Congress under the present provisions of the Constitution can take care of the situation that would ensue if a president of the United States became disabled.

It really requires an amendment to the Constitution to deal with the problem.

LAWRENCE

This is the conclusion reached by the attorney general and is the basis for the message which President Eisenhower shortly will send to Congress asking that a Constitutional amendment covering the subject be adopted and submitted to the states for ratification.

★ ★ ★

The legal mess that would result if, as a consequence of an act of Congress, a commission should try to determine whether or not a president was disabled mentally, for example, can well be imagined.

Lawsuits would emerge because laws signed by an "acting president" would be challenged in the courts as invalid.

Article two of the Constitution isn't at all clear. It says: "In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the president and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation or inability, both of the president and vice president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

The trouble with this article is that it doesn't define "inability." Nor does it give Congress any power to fix presidential succession except when both the president and vice president die or both—not just one—are disabled.

The idea has been advanced that Congress could pass a law providing for a commission consisting of a bipartisan group of officials from the executive and legislative branches of the government, with the chief justice included.

The theory has been that such a commission would be required by law to seek competent medical advice.

But this is an area in which a form of political discretion is involved and, when Congress starts to legislate in that area without express authorization by the constitution, there can be plenty of legal obstacles interposed which might cause serious delays, if not a big crisis, some day in the operation of the whole government.

The decision has been wisely reached, therefore, by Mr. Eisenhower and his legal advisers that the best thing to do is to get some kind of specified powers from the people through a constitutional amendment.

There will be no difficulty in setting up a system of succession, where there is a clear elimination of the executive, such as in the case of death, resignation or removal through impeachment.

But how can the word "inability" be defined? If it is left to a commission to determined, who shall be the members? This is something that must be provided in the wording of the constitutional amendment itself.

It is most important to find a way to validate the official action taken by an "acting president" who serves only "until the disability be removed," so there can be no legal doubts raised as to any bills he might sign or any other acts he may perform in the interim of a president's disability.

For when an "acting president" takes the oath as president, it must be crystal-clear whether he is to serve for the remainder of a president's term or only for a period undetermined at the outset but which is left to a commission to determined definitely as the condition of a president develops one way or the other.

In many English-speaking countries, of course, such as Canada, Australia, New Zealand, England—in fact, wherever they have a parliamentary form of government—the national legisaltive body can remove the prime minister at any time by a majority vote or leave it to the people to decide in a special election whether he shall remain or be replaced.

This is the really flexible way to deal not only with the mental or physical ill-health or disability of a president but also with any political ill-health he may encounter in the course of the term for which he was originally elected.

In an atomic age, it would seem sensible to give two-thirds of both houses of Congress the right to select a president at any time he fails to win a vote of confidence or else to submit the issue to the people to decide in an election called immediately for that purpose.

A modification of the parliamentary system to conform to American political habits would, if adopted now, probably solve a lot of the questions that the people will have to face in the amendment dealing with presidential "inability."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Silvers Mask Best Type to Ward Off Infection

Some persons worry about infection only when they see or feel the droplets of moisture in the spray given off by one who coughs or sneezes without covering nose and mouth.

For every individual so infected, scores are similarly infected unawares — via the germ or virus laden droplets of moisture in the spray given off from the mouth in quiet conversation.

BRADY

Sneeze or cough spray may carry 10 or 12 feet; conversation spray carries not more than 5 feet.

You can see and feel the droplets of sneeze or cough spray, but as a rule the droplets of ordinary conversation spray are invisibly and impalbably fine so that you are unaware that you are in range.

The purpose of gauze masks is to stop spray droplets. Even when such masks are made of not less than 10 layers of gauze of 32 threads to the inch fineness—as most are not—they are not as efficient as masks should be.

The Silvers mask, on the other hand, is not only efficient but more comfortable and less ugly.

DIRECTIONS GIVEN

In Volumette 5 of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, page 17, I tell how to make the Silvers mask. Title of the little book is Call It CRI (rhymes with ski or tee and means any respiratory infection in the early stage before you or your doctor can tell just what you have got). For a copy send me 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Now I'm a crackpot, I admit, but I do not believe that everybody should wear a mask as part of his or her everyday attire—except in time of epidemic flu, for example.

But if you insist that everybody be masked, please don't make the picture melodramatic. Let people wear Silvers masks, which are no more conspicuous or hideous than the horn - rimmed spectacles affected by odd characters with the Hollywood complex.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Should Failure to Vote Mean Denial of Ballot?'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

The low percentage of voters turning out for the primary was disgraceful to the American way of life. Should the voting rights of those not voting at each election be taken away for a set period, say five years? All elections are important to all. No matter what issues are to be decided. So get out and vote.

It would also be helpful to see in print instructions on how to use the voting machine. As an example, voters should know how easy it is to write in a vote on the machines. It's true directions are available at the polls, but people are strange . . . always in a hurry and bashful about asking help. So don't let the sight of a voting machine keep your vote away.

'Roads Change as Years Pass'

Readers Comment About Teamsters

People are not so dumb they cannot see the difference between a happy and hungry people. If Teamster leaders go to jail and that kind of fighting leaders cannot be replaced, I can guarantee you the members will do the suffering. I am a Teamster's wife and I know what it is to reap a happy home and a good living, a husband who comes home at night with a pleasant look on his face instead of a slave's face. I'm thankful for my husband's benefits that those men have fought for. I have received much more than the dues covered.

Average Thankful American

Unless members of the Teamsters Union deny support for such behavior as has recently been displayed by a few of the leaders, the members themselves are the ones who will suffer. The officials can go back to their "borrowed" funds, but it's the ordinary members who will have to pay.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Tells Way to Pick Good Employes

Harmon asks a very smart question. In just 60 minutes how could you weed out the 100 best men from 1,000 applicants if you were looking for workers who could assume executive jobs? See my "boiled down" screening test outlined today. Then send for the booklet listed below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-341: Harmon L., aged 37, is head of a new but rapidly zooming industrial firm.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, we are constantly on the lookout for executive material," he began as we dined together at Rotary recently.

"I realize that you psychologists can render a lot of good to modern business corporations with your elaborate batteries of tests, etc.

CRANE

"But if you had to boil down your techniques and use quick rule-of-thumb measures, how would you quickly pick out fellows who would assume responsibility?

"In short, if you had 1,000 applicants and had to tell us the best 100 within one hour's time, how would you do it?"

QUICK HORSE SENSE

A high school diploma is an excellent I. Q. indicator, so you can weed them out in five minutes on that basis.

And certainly a year or more of college will show enough I.Q. for any profession or trade.

But I.Q. doesn't inevitably mean a perseverance and diligence to duty, for a lot of lazy loafers have a high I.Q.

★ ★ ★

As a second quick weeding method, therefore, find out how many of the 1,000 have carried a newspaper route during boyhood for a minimum of a full year.

That's an admirable index of perseverance, plus gumption and some stellar salesmanship, too.

Also, inquire how many were former Boy Scouts who reached the First Class category. And how many have earned enough merit badges to become a Star or Life or Eagle Scout?

QUICK WEED-OUT

Use the cigaret test, moreover, as another index of the more productive workers, for smokers waste an undue amount of time and often alienate customers, especially if they are in sales executive jobs. Liquor is obviously taboo.

Check, too, to see how many of the 1,000 are active church members. Ask for the amount of insurance carried. See if they are married; have children and are buying their own homes.

If they have been Sunday school teacchers or Scout leaders, then you know they have already had a great deal of executive experience.

Boiled down to its quick essence, therefore, the above methods give you a rougher index which can be employed on a large group inside of an hour's time.

At least a high school diploma holder; former newspaper carrier; owner of merit badges among the Boy Scouts; plus a non - smoker and non - drinker; married; active church member; buying own home; Sunday school teacher or other leader; carrying adequate insurance, especially of the "family income" plan.

It is often a further help to determine the oldest children vs. the middle and younger ones.

For an oldest child has been trained as an executive all throughout childhood. When he leaves the house with his younger siblings, he is usually made responsible. So he has learned to look after others and thus tends to think along that line.

★ ★ ★

The younger or middle sons often are like the Prodigal Son in making friends more easily, so they may become good salesmen.

'Number Wasn't Up'—at Cocoanut Grove

(This is the 5th in a series in which some of the great disasters of the last 75 years are told through the eyes of those who survived them.)

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
INS Staff Writer

"My number wasn't up that night. And that's why I'm alive today."

Those are the words of Miss Alice M. Dee, as she talks of the "flash" fire in the Cocoanut Grove night club in Boston on the night of Nov. 28, 1942, which caused the death of 501 persons and injuries to hundreds more.

Vividly, she recalls the events of that ill-fated evening. It was a gala Saturday night, and many of those who went to the Cocoanut Grove were celebrating Holy Cross' 55 to 12 football victory over Boston College that afternoon.

The night club was "jumping." In the melody lounge downstairs, a pianist was banging out jazz tunes. The war was on, and in the main floor dining-room young women in evening clothes were dancing with men in uniform to the music of Mickey Alpert's orchestra.

Miss Dee, another girl, and their two dates arrived at the night club shortly after 9 p.m. They entered through the small revolving door on Piedmont Street and could hardly get into the crowded lobby. Inside there were some 800 celebrating customers.

"After watching for awhile, I suggested we go down to the melody lounge in the basement. I think this decision saved our lives. We went down and got a table right at the foot of the stairs."

CRY OF 'FIRE'

Before they had time to place their dinner order, Miss Dee said, there was "a bright flash"—and the fire had started.

"Then everybody in the melody lounge started for the stairs," Miss Dee said. "I was knocked down attempting to get to the street floor.

"People were trampling over me. My shoes came off and I was evidently kicked in the head as the mad rush for the exit started.

"Blood trickled down my face and neck. My fur coat was thrown over my head and finally torn in half. I stumbled and fell. When the coat finally fell off, I regained my feet and made the top of the stairs.

"I found the exit a wall of flames. By this time my clothes had caught fire. I was knocked to the floor again as people stormed the exit.

"I was screaming and yelling with all the rest as we tried to get through the revolving doors. My clothes and hair were in flames. I ran through the flames on to Piedmont Street.

"I raced up the street to where a taxi had stopped to pick up two other persons who apparently had just escaped the fire.

Miss Dee said that when the taxi arrived in the yard of the hospital, she jumped out and ran up the cement ramp to the hospital screaming: "My face is ruined, help me!" Her hair was burned from her head and her clothes—still smouldering — stuck to her body.

"A young interne grabbed me and tore what remained of my clothing from my body," she continued. "As he called for help, he wrapped a sheet around me. He said, 'Your face is alright, you're going to be okay.'"

Other doctors and nurses subdued the frantic young woman. She was taken to a room and given first aid and a sedative. She heard someone say, "Rush her up to surgery." She realized she was still bleeding from the cut on her head.

EXIT BLOCKED

Meanwhile, the Cocoanut Grove was an inferno. Huge tongues of flame swept through the garish decorations and licked at the imitation palm trees. Men and women were trampled to death in the mad stampede for exits. Others fell in a heap and blocked a six-foot wide stairway leading to an exit. Those behind fell in heaps, victims of smoke, fumes and fire.

★ ★ ★

Flimsy evening gowns were burned from the bodies of young women. Gaily colored slippers were later found strewn around the dance floor. In the mad scramble somebody put a foot through a bass drum.

The fire was caused, it was said, by a 16-year-old bus boy who struck a match while changing a light bulb, accidentally touching off an imitation palm tree. In the investigation which followed there was considerable criticism of the lack of enough exits and of the inflammable decorations.

Miss Dee was in the hospital for eight months, lying face down, unable to move. She received more than 100 blood transfusions and underwent 15 skin grafting operations. Several other major operations were performed to save her life. It was a year and one-half before she could sit down naturally. She still takes therapy treatments.

After three years she was able to return to her work as teacher. A few years later she was made acting principal of her school. The scars on her face hardly are noticeable. But, her left arm and hand show the effects of the catastrophe. She had been burned over 65 per cent of her body.

Yet, the plucky, attractive Miss Dee today is more active in school affairs and social events than she was before the fire. When asked if she would go to a night club again, she replied:

"Why not? I believe when your number is up, you'll go. I don't believe my number was up that night and that's why I'm alive today."

Fights Communists, Racketeers Alike

Carey Pulls No Punches

By International News Service

Those are characteristics ascribed to James B. Carey, the union chief who is campaigning to oust Teamsters Boss Dave Beck from the labor movement.

And right now the head of the AFL-CIO electrical workers, a thorough labor partisan, who loves a fight, is exhibiting these traits in his drive to kick Beck out of the AFL-CIO.

Carey, who's been in some of the roughest labor - management battles, is the only one who has publicly denounced the chief of the nation's largest union.

He has criticized Beck sharply several times and having embarked on his plan of action, like a bulldog he isn't letting go.

CAREY DEMANDS ACTION

When the 29-man AFL-CIO Executive Council convenes Friday to consider Beck's fitness to continue as an AFL-CIO vice president, Carey will be in the forefront of those demanding action.

And, as usual, he will pull no punches.

As an AFL-CIO vice president and council member, he was one of the leaders in securing adoption by the council of a code stating that no union official who invoked the Fifth Amendment was entitled to hold union office.

Beck opposed the code when it came up for adoption and ignored it by invoking the Fifth Amendment when the Senate rackets committee questioned him about Teamster affairs.

★ ★ ★

Carey is equally as strong in his passion for the labor cause as in his determination to extinguish any thing which threatens that cause, as he feels Beck does.

FOE OF COMMUNISM

He has fought Communists as hard as he has fought racketeering in the labor movement, and he is a staunch champion of civil rights.

At 45, Carey is graying and his weight, about 150, is not much greater than it was when he was winning amateur fights.

The only secretary-treasurer the CIO had during its history, he was born in Philadelphia, managed the basketball team at Glassboro (N. J.) High School and took special courses at Drexel Institute and the University of Pennsylvania.

Here's Why Michigan's ROAD Program Is BOGGED DOWN!

A ROAD . . . But NO STEEL!
Above photo, taken March 17, 1957, shows part of the miles of 4-lane paving laid south of Flint, which has been completed for more than four months. Our Highway Department says it cannot be opened for traffic — only because there is no steel for the completed overpasses!

STEEL . . . But NO ROAD!
Above photo was taken same day, north of Flint. Here we see plenty of steel for unfinished overpasses, stacked like this for more than three months because the road is nothing but mud flats. Hard-to-get steel is just rusting in the rain.

Here we see how steel waits for a road in one place—and a road waits for its steel in another place. Deplorable? — Yes! Unbelievable? — Pictures don't lie!

This is typical of the poor planning which is responsible for Michigan being miles behind other states in completed highways. Over one billion dollars has been mis-spent by our Republican State Highway Commissioner and his Chief Deputy — and not one single full length, 4-lane highway connects any of our major cities yet! All we have to show for it are bits and snatches of roads here and there.

John C. Mackie, Democratic candidate for State Highway Commissioner, 1942 graduate engineer of Michigan State University, will give us action instead of alibis. He'll straighten out the administrative mess in our State Highway Department and give Michigan the roads it needs so badly — now!

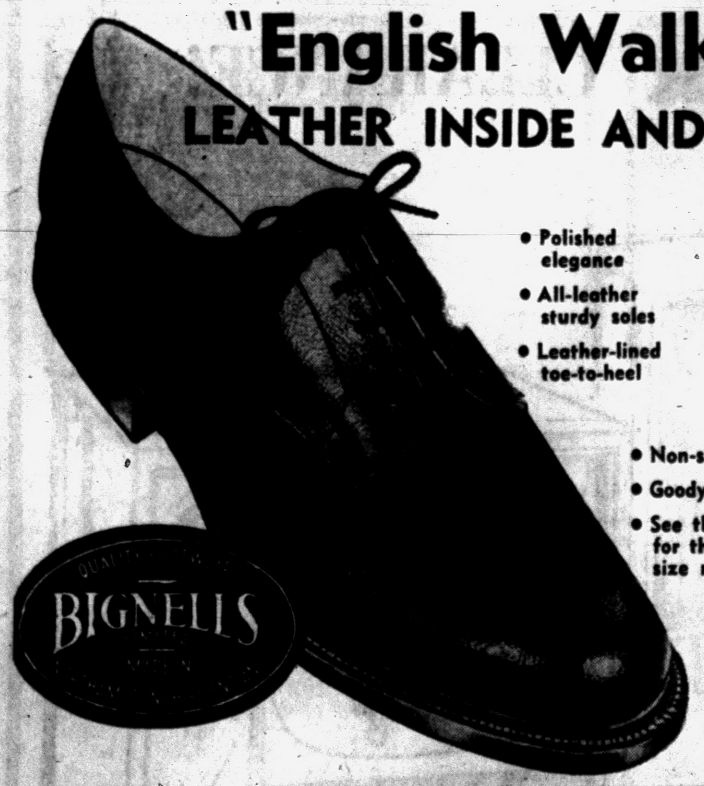

Elect John C. MACKIE
State Highway Commissioner

DP Paddles Across River From Windsor on Plank

DETROIT (INS) — A displaced person from Yugoslavia crossed the Detroit River from Windsor on a six-foot wood plank yesterday.

Joseph Siter, 27, found huddling in a construction shanty near the river, told police he was walking along the river bank in Windsor, dreaming about the United States, when a man drove up and frightened him with "something metal in his hand."

Siter said he dashed down the bank, found the piece of wood and a smaller board for a paddle and set out across the river. He said the trip took three hours.

The DP said he and a brother, Aco, 26, decided to leave Yugoslavia a little over three years ago. Siter said he made his way to West Germany where he convinced the Canadian "Consul" he wanted to build a new life in the Dominion. His brother remained in West Germany.

Siter said he went to Winnipeg and got a job as a male nurse in a mental hospital, but left after three days and headed for Windsor.

He said he found a construction job in Windsor that lasted four weeks. He was laid off five months ago and hasn't worked since.

Insisting he would return to the U.S. if sent back to Canada, Siter said:

"I'll come back. My plank is gone, but a boat like that I can always get again."

Reporters Horn In, Spoil Love-Ad Angle

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Salesman Ted Horner has decided that the road to true love is not Ohio 18 between here and Akron.

★ ★ ★

Horner thought he had come up with a sure-fire way to impress his sweetheart, who had been giving him the cold shoulder.

★ ★ ★

In letters six feet high he had the message "Florence — I Love You" emblazoned on a billboard on Ohio 18. It was signed "Me," and was placed in a strategic spot where Florence would have to pass it on her way to work in Akron.

But the newspapers got into the act and Ted, reportedly unhappy over the publicity the sign was getting, ordered it taken down.

Actor Reaps Harvest From First Movie Job

★ ★ ★

He picked up that amount in government bonds there yesterday. Stockwell, 21, began accumulating the bonds when his first movie contract was approved by the courts in 1947.

★ ★ ★

The judge required at that time that a percentage of Stockwell's earnings be saved in the form of government bonds, held by the county, until he became 21—which was last March 5.

Court Considers Case of Judge's Whiskers

DALLAS (AP) — Judge Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls wants to know if his sprouting whiskers would violate court decorum when he sits in for a sick judge here next week.

Purcell asked District Court officials to rule on the matter. He said he has been growing a beard for the diamond jubilee celebration in Wichita Falls in May.

Court attached took the problem under advisement.

Changes Make Solution Easier for Pot-O-Gold

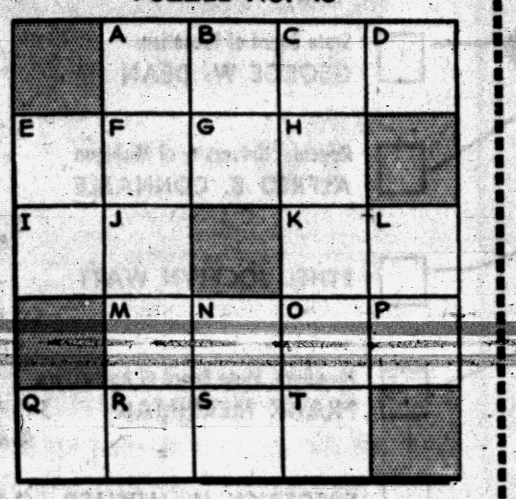

In order to make solution of Pot-O-Gold easier, the puzzle has been changed to resemble a crossword puzzle. This week's puzzle is worth $500, so be sure you read the new directions carefully. Clue words will no longer appear on Page One of Monday's Pontiac Press, as the clue words appear right in the solution clues.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

McEvoy Doubts Hare's Motives

Loan to GOP Reported in November Filing; Has Been Available to Dem

LANSING (AP) — James McEvoy Jr., treasurer of the Wayne County Republican Finance Committee, said that there was nothing wrong with a $150,000 loan transaction questioned by Secretary of State James M. Hare, a Democrat.

He said the loan was reported in the filing of election contributions and expenditures by the committee last November.

"I question the motives of Hare in requesting an investigation on the eve of the spring election when there actually is nothing to investigate," McEvoy said.

His statement was issued through Republican state headquarters here in answer to a letter by Hare yesterday asking Edgar M. Branigan, Wayne County clerk, to join with him in an inquiry into the loan.

Hare said it was "strange" that the committee treasurer, a salaried employe at $19,000 a year, should be lending a sum so large to the committee that employed him.

This was McEvoy's explanation:

"Last summer, the Republican party was in dire need of money to maintain its program. As an individual, I negotiated loans totaling 150 thousand dollars and turned the money over to the party for its use.

★ ★ ★

"Various members of the Wayne County Republican Finance Committee and other individuals interested in the welfare of the Republican party joined me in furnishing private collateral.

"These were private transactions and fully secured. They were legal in every respect. Most of the loans have been repaid.

"I reported the loan in full in the filing of Nov. 24, 1956 and the information has been available to Hare and the public for the past four months."

Didn't Pay Check but Collects Anyway

NEW YORK (AP)—A City Court has ruled that a luncheon guest can collect damages for a broken tooth even though someone else pays the restaurant check.

Justice George Starke awarded $3,000 to Miss Myra N. Conklin against the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Miss Conklin said she broke a tooth when she bit into a roll containing a piece of glass. The hotel said she had no claim because another woman paid for the meal.

Ruled Starke: "Which person pays the check and whether they reimburse each other or not is only a matter of private arrangement between the customers themselves. This is of no concern to the restaurateur as long as he is paid."

The award upped a jury verdict of $1,415 to Miss Conklin.

MOTHER GOOSE — 5

"Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall,
Humpty Dumpty had a great fall.
All the king's horses and all the king's men
Couldn't put Humpty Dumpty together again."

Humpty Dumpty was a very proud egg — and it was his pride that caused his downfall. He had been warned that it was dangerous to sit on the wall, but he liked to show off and sat there anyway.

Humpty wasn't quite so proud after the fall. His cap was crushed, his feather broken and his smooth head cracked out of shape. He hoped the king's horses and the king's men could fix him, but there wasn't much they could do when they arrived.

Paste this picture on cardboard and color with crayons. Cut out the parts carefully. Fold the dandelion-sprinkled grass forward and the ends of the wall back. The wall then will stand. Paste the two parts of Humpty together, back-to-back as far as the dotted line on figure A. With the A figure facing front, fasten Humpty to the wall from the rear with a brass fastener through the indicated holes. The feet of figure B will be behind the wall.

Place hat A on the figure by cutting a slit on broken line. Fold forward on the dotted line of figure A and give Humpty a push forward. Figure B then will flop forward, head on the ground and feet in the air. Toss the good hat behind the wall and lay the broken hat on the ground beside poor Humpty.

INS Veteran Brislin Wins Alwell Award

NEW YORK (INS) — Tom R. Brislin, veteran International News Service executive, was named today as winner of the first annual Louis Allwell Memorial Award for his "humanitarian activities and extra efforts beyond normal loyalty and work requirements on behalf of INS and its employes."

The award was founded to honor the memory of Louis Allwell, who died of cancer on March 29, 1956, after more than thirty years service with INS, mostly as superintendent of domestic bureaus and in his later years as sales manager. Allwell's long career was marked by many noteworthy organizational contributions for which he disclaimed personal credit.

The first paper mill in the U.S. was started in Philadelphia in 1690.

Air Force Can Defend U.S. at Farthest Points on Globe

(This is the last of three articles in which the civilian secretaries of the armed forces report to the American people of the Army, Navy and Air Force in the U.S. policy of preserving peace—through strength.)

By SECRETARY OF THE AIR FORCE DONALD A. QUARLES

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Air Force's main task is to keep war from happening.

This stems from United States policy which sets a goal of world peace.

The other Air Force task is to be able to win any air war we have to fight. This is a question of survival.

We would rather be successful in the first part of our task, but we are always ready for the second part.

The Air Force measures itself for its task by combat capability.

Combat capability is the core of Air Force deterrent strength. It means the Air Force is trained and ready to use the weapons and forces needed for any mission.

BASED ON VALUES

Combat capability is based on the military values of our weapons and equipment, plus our ability to use them. Air weapons and equipment are getting better all the time. Moreover, our forces train realistically every day. We do this to make sure that we get the very most out of what we have.

Combat capability means that Air Force forces are on hand wherever they are needed. If they are not on the spot as of this moment, they can get there in a matter of minutes or hours. Operating world-wide, they are able to strike anywhere from any direction.

Combat capability means that the Air Force is strong on both the offense and defense. Our atomic striking forces are able to carry out missions anywhere in the world. Our air defense forces, now supplied with atomic weapons for the interceptors to use against enemy bombers, are unsurpassed in their field. Our support operations, backing up our combat forces, are geared to the speed and scope of the jet-atomic age.

CAPABILITY HIGH

Combat capability in the Air Force never has been higher. We never have had so much unit firepower in our combat wings. We can use anything from megaton weapons to rockets and bullets. The proficiency of our crews never has been higher. The deterrent power of the Air Force never has been greater than it is today.

Looking to the future, our greatest threat lies in the growing air/atomic power of potential aggressors. The chances for lasting peace become better the longer aggression is deterred.

We have had a great deal of practical experience dealing with the threat of Communist military power. From this experience we know we can use air power to deter as long as national security requires.

NEWER EQUIPMENT

To improve our forces, we are converting to newer and better equipment. This greatly increases the unit firepower of our forces. These improvements will continue. By exploiting improved technology in this way the Air Force gains the capability to deliver more firepower on more targets and with greater certainty of success.

Atomic, retaliatory forces, able to carry out missions anywhere, are the key to our deterrent strength. Although the bulk of these forces are based in the United States, others are deployed overseas on many bases in strategic locations.

Defensively, this dispersal makes it difficult, if not impossible, for an aggressor to plan an attack that could knock out for striking forces. Offensively, it permits us a wide choice of action.

IMPROVE FORCES

At present we are improving our atomic striking forces through several major schedules:

1. We are adding B-52 long-range bombers to the force at an increasing rate.

2. We already have made provisions for jet tankers that will increase bomber range by air refueling techniques.

3. We are conducting flight tests on our first supersonic jet-atomic bomber—the B-58—which will be an improved replacement for the subsonic but powerful B-47 medium bomber. We are also working on even more advanced versions of manned bombers.

4. We are modernizing and improving our fighter-bombers and providing most of them with a capability for nuclear bombing.

5. We are giving the highest possible priority to the development for long-range atomic missiles and with good progress.

With global range, great speed and tremendous versatility in its operation, it has served the nation as the first spearhead in many important operations. In the future, as in the past, the United States Air Force is ready to carry out this mission.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Ford's 4,000 Acre Test Site to Mark Official Opening May 23

ROMEO—Ford's Michigan Proving Ground, located four miles northwest of here, will be the scene of a three-day dedication program beginning May 23 to mark the official opening of the multi-million test facility.

On opening day the company has scheduled its second annual stockholders' meeting to be held in the service Building on the grounds. Business will include naming of 14 company directors, after which an informal luncheon will be served.

Stockholders will tour the ground and look over the latest testing devices. Exhibits and displays will also be set up for viewing by the group.

On May 24, some 2,200 members of the Detroit Section of the Society of Automotive Engineers will hold a meeting on the grounds.

An open house for Ford employes and area residents will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on May 25. Bus tours of the grounds and testing facilities will be provided.

Ford officials reported that the 4,000 acre proving ground is one of the most expensive testing facilities in the auto industry.

Pontiac School Costs Defended

Supt. Whitmer Denies Charge Building Outlay for Madison Excessive

A defense of Pontiac School System's building costs was given the Pontiac Rotary Club yesterday by Dana P. Whitmer, school superintendent.

Whitmer, in his talk before the club, answered several questions which previously had been submitted by Rotary members.

He said the cost of Madison Junior High, which has been criticized in a letter to the editor published in the Pontiac Press Feb. 15, was far from excessive.

Whitmer presented a comparison of Madison with Berkley Junior High which the letter writer had cited.

MORE COST, MORE SPACE

He said Madison cost $196,000 more than Berkley, but contained 3,500 more square feet of space. This extra area provided a separate gym and cafeteria, which are combined at Berkley, and a little theater which the other school does not have.

He also emphasized that Madison was built on a large undeveloped site which required expensive sewer and water connections while Berkley is built right up to a city street.

"Each school system got just what it paid for," Whitmer said.

In answer to other questions the superintendent explained what the Pontiac schools are doing for gifted children and why some high school graduates seem weak in the basic subjects.

★ ★ ★

He stressed that the general curriculum student, who is often the poorest learner, is the one taking employment immediately after graduation or before and thus gives employers a false idea of the average level of student abilities.

Polio Program Grinds to Halt

Salk Vaccine Runs Out, Forces County to Stop Shots for Children

Oakland County's free polio immunization for the 1-14 age group and pregnant women ground to a halt today—out of Salk vaccine.

Dr. John Monroe, county health commissioner, said the State Health Department officials have informed him that they don't know when they will be able to resume shipments of the vaccine.

Monroe said the nationwide shortage of the drug, rather than lack of funds, appeared to be the imediate cause of the program's termination.

But, he added, unless the legislature supplies some money, the program cannot be resumed even when the supply picture improves.

The shortage of vaccine has also delayed the Oakland County Medical Society's 15-50 age group mass immunization program.

Schools Study Salary Boosts

Waterford Twp. Board Hears Requests From Teachers, Others

A special Waterford Township Board of Education personnel committee meeting was held last night to discuss salary boosts for the next school year.

★ ★ ★

The committee met with the Teachers' Professional Problems Committee and the salary committee representing custodial, engineering maintenance and bus-driving personnel.

The teachers' group requested an increase in the size of annual salary increments, from $150 to $200, for 1957-58. The other group presented several requests, including a 10-cent-an-hour salary boost for bus drivers and $25-per-month hike for other personnel.

The custodial and maintenance group also requested an increase the size of increments for experience; a reduction of work week from 42½ hours to 40; an additional week of vacation for those employed 10 years or more, and that the Board of Education pay $5 per employe toward hospital and surgical insurance.

The report of the personnel committee will be presented at a special Board of Education budget meeting Wednesday, according to William Shunck, superintendent of schools.

Proved Safer and more effective by Doctors in Clinical Tests...NOW—Sold WITHOUT Prescription.

Wonderful News! The amazingly safe, tested way to reduce, you've heard spoken about in whispers, at last approved for sale without prescription!

Yes, the same kind of safe, effective, reducing agent used successfully by thousands of doctors . . . tested successfully on thousands of patients . . . yours at last in Prescription 812.

Weight losses recorded show pounds the first week, pounds and pounds more the first month, actually up to 25 pounds or more in a reasonable length of time, without exercise, without doing a single unpleasant thing!

HERE'S DRAMATIC PROOF!

In Clinical tests conducted with the wonder ingredient contained in Prescription 812, these amazing weight losses were reported, in a reasonably short time:

Case History 1
Mrs. G. J. lost 25 Pounds!

Case History 2
Mrs. J. B. lost 20 Pounds!

Case History 3
Mrs. M. L. lost 18½ Pounds!

Imagine! Many overweight people have lost as much weight as they wanted to lose, safely, easily, without dieting, without consciously making an effort to restrict their food.

You'll still eat luscious steaks and chops, fried chicken, potatoes, desserts and pastries, but with Prescription 812, in place of iron will power, you'll actually be eating less, and you won't overeat as you did before, and gone will be those ugly, stubborn clinging pounds of fat!

YOU'LL HARDLY BELIEVE YOUR SCALE!

You'll look better, feel better, have so much more pep and energy as ugly pounds disappear! What a wonderful feeling! Your friends will be amazed as pound after pound of ugly fat vanishes. It's all so easy . . . all so delightfully simple, you'll bless the day you first tried this marvelous reducing tablet!

HOW PRESCRIPTION 812 WORKS TWO WAYS AT ONCE!

Before each meal, simply take one tiny tablet, hardly larger than an aspirin. You eat, sleep, work, play just like any of your thin friends. And all the while, the amazing ingredients in new Prescription 812 go to work for you.

Prescription 812 is not an old-fashioned expanding pill that fills your stomach, not a sickening-sweet wafer! The tested, proven ingredients in Prescription 812 work two ways at once to help rid you of ugly fat.

1. Prescription 812 appeases your appetite more effectively than anything sold direct to the public. You still enjoy your food, but automatically you eat less and down comes ugly overweight.
2. Prescription 812 helps overcome gnawing hunger-pangs. Food stays in your stomach longer, thus helping to eliminate the major cause of those empty-stomach blues that make you overeat.

You lose ugly pounds and inches, safely, quickly, easily and you feel well, too, while those pounds are coming off!

The amazing principal ingredient in Prescription 812 has been tested in hospitals and clinics all over the United States. It has been used successfully on vast numbers of overweight patients, and now for the first time ever, it is available to you without prescription!

THE BERRYS By Carl Grubert

Like Oakland County in Summer

Lakeland Lush in Natural Beauty

By JOE HAAS

LAKELAND, Fla. — When you contemplate on why Waterford Township in our own Oakland County was so named, you'll be mindful of why this city is called Lakeland.

Lakes are so numerous and the vegetation so beautiful in this area that it is almost as entrancing as Oakland County in the summer.

HAAS

Lakeland is a good central headquarters for the tourist who desires to cover one of the few areas in Florida in which the tourists are not the principal stock in trade.

With millions of orange and other citrus fruit trees within a few miles, it is the focal point in the largest such area in our nation, the western shipping center of the industry which here extends across the state. Few citrus fruits are grown either north or south of this belt.

Lakeland also is quite contiguous to many of Florida's worthwhile attractions outside of the fruit growing industry. All are within a few miles driving distance, and on highways that are excellent.

BOK GREATEST

From a prideful Pontiac standpoint, the greatest of these is the Bok Sanctuary and Singing Tower near Lake Wales.

For it is here that our own Cranbrook's Anton Brees now is in his twenty-ninth consecutive year as bellmaster. His recitals have been heard by many millions.

The bells in the sanctuary, surpassing anything of a similar nature, in the entire world, comprise 53 notes, and cover a range of nearly 4½ chromatic octaves.

WEIGH 11 TONS

They weigh from 11 pounds to 11½ tons each, and are located at the top of the 205-foot tower which is situated on the highest point of land in Florida.

Under the masterful touch of Mr. Brees, who is regarded as the world's most outstanding carillonneur, the whole massive tower seems to be bursting into song.

The sanctuary and its 65 acres of marvelous landscaping were the gift of Edward W. Bok, writer and publisher, in 1929, as a testimonial to the American way of life which enabled him, a penniless Norwegian immigrant, to accomplish what he did.

He died near the tower a couple years later, and his grave is at its base.

A 50 cent parking fee is the only admission charge to the sanctuary which has become one of our nation's greatest tourist attractions.

LARGE CROWDS

Not far away is Cypress Gardens where crowds running up into five figures every day give up two dollars apiece to take a trip through its superbly landscaped canals, and watch the gals disport themselves on water skis.

This outfit has a quite unique system. Their publicity costs them nothing, as they work the newspapers by supplying pictures of the bathing beauties, who also get little out of it, as there's always an unlimited supply of raw material that has ambitions and desire to show what they've got.

Scattered among the hundreds of beautiful lakes that extend across Florida on the Lakeland level also are the Passion Play, Great Masterpieces, the mammoth citrus packing plants, open to the public, also museums and other attractions to keep you favorably mindful of the area.

MAZE OF ORANGES

Through it all you drive through a maze of orange and other citrus trees that even edge the pavement itself for hundred of miles. You could pick the fruit by the bushel without ever leaving your car seat.

Throughout the day you inhale the fragrance of orange blossoms with every breath, and are lulled to sleep at night by the same aroma. It seems that most of the trees have both blossoms and fruit the year round.

★ ★ ★

At Auburndale, just outside of Lakeland, is another colony of Pontiac people, mostly former employes of The Pontiac Press. They are a happy bunch, seemingly without a care in the world. However, they admit without reluctance that there's no place better to live than in Oakland County—in the summer.

A "Save the Railways Committee," including 250 men employed by Ireland's Great Northern Railway, is trying to have Northern Ireland's railways modernized instead of scrapped, Belfast reports.

Reaches Boyhood Goal

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — David Faulkner, son of State Sen. and Mrs. Robert Faulkner (R-Coloma), who was given Berrien County's first junior deputy badge when he was nine years old, now is a full-fleged deputy sheriff. David, now 21, was sworn in by Sheriff Erwin H. Kubath. He will serve on special duty in the Coloma area after his graduation in June from Michigan State University.

What Type of Jewelry for Bride?

Should Wrist Watch Be Worn With Her Gown and Veil?

By EMILY POST

A bride-to-be asks: "What, in the way of jewelry, do you recommend as in best taste for the bride to wear with her white wedding dress and veil? Does she wear a wristwatch?"

Answer: Especially suitable are a string of pearls, pearl earrings if she customarily wears earrings, and a brooch if her dress requires one, or if it is the gift of the bridegroom.

But even if he gives her a watch, this would not be suitable unless very ornamental. A bracelet is also possible. Needless to say, none of the jewelry worn should have any apparent color.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a member of an all-male glee club and very soon we will start a concert have bought tuxedos for the tour as most of the concerts will be in the evening.

"However, there are two or three scheduled for the afternoon and we would like to know if it would be proper to wear our tuxedos at these afternoon performances. We would appreciate hearing from you."

Answer: While tuxedos are not correct in the daytime, on a concert stage under artificial light it would gave a sufficiently evening impression to make them correct.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening a friend playing cards at my house, got her cigarettes and proceeded to smoke, not passing her cigarettes to the other guests. Was this an impolite thing to do, or was she right?'

Answer: If she got her cigarettes and lighted one while she was dummy, she was right. In short, she shouldn't have offered cigarettes to the others in the middle of a hand. At the end of the hand, she would naturally offer her cigarettes to anyone who seemingly had none.

Meeting Conducted

Mrs. Don Milbourn of the Pontiac State Hospital Grounds entertained members of the Westside Extension Club Wednesday. Mrs. Leon Grogg conducted the meeting and the group made copper ceramics during the afternoon.

'Case' Countryside Before Moving

By ANNE HEYWOOD

With the first whiff of spring in the air, my mail begins to blossom with letters from people who want to set up a little business in the country.

Most of them have read about some couple who started with $300, and a right good will, and turned it into an enormous and successful farming business.

They forget that they've never stayed more than a week in the country or that they hardly know a cabbage from an onion, unless it's boiled and on a plate.

Furthermore, they have an idea that all people who live in the country are simple natives, and that it shouldn't be hard "for people as brilliant as we are to make a killing."

★ ★ ★

And they are riding for a fall!

Of course, they aren't all as blunt as that. But most people think that it's really pretty easy to farm, or raise chickens, or to set up a roadside stand in the country and make a profit.

Mr. and Mrs. T. are a typical example.

BORING CITY LIFE

They wrote and told me that after two years of retirement in the city, they're pretty bored.

★ ★ ★

They have a small and steady income and a little extra capital, so they've decided to start a roadside stand in a certain part of Vermont—which they visited once for four or five days!

What is the answer for people like the Ts?

First, don't move fast. Be extremely cautious. Try to sublet your city place for several months this summer.

There is a university near the Ts' apartment. They might find a student at summer school who would like a place to live. This will cut down on expenses, which is a major factor.

★ ★ ★

Second, get a car and a trailer and spend a few months "casing" the section of the country that you have your eye on. You'll never know whether you can stand it or not until you actually try living there.

YOUR KIND OF FOLKS

Third, talk to the people around and see if you like them. If they're your kind of folks, all is well; but you may find them irritating and they may dislike you. In that case, you'll never be able to do business together.

Make haste very, very slowly.

And lastly, study up all the books you can on the subject of retirement projects and country living.

A stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to me care of The Pontiac Press will bring you a list of the best ones.

Time for Suds Cure

A very successwul homemaker swears by the "suds cure" for the ugly white ring that occurs when a thoughtless guest sets a wet glass on your fine tabletop. Our expert advises you to rush to the rescue with a cloth dipped in heavy suds — more soap than water — and rub the ring until it disappears.

To Increase Chest Measurement

Exercise Will Build Up Muscles

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "Now, since I have had several children, my bust is like a deflated balloon. I do not expect to have a figure like a young girl but I did hope to keep enough bustline to look well in my clothes. I am expecting another child soon. Please help me in your question box and please don't mention the name of the town or state this came from."

A. Nursing a child often causes a change in the bust, although I have known women who nursed their children with little or no change in the bustline. The change is due to sagging caused by the extra weight and to stretching of the tissues. The bust is heavier even during pregnancy.

Preventative measures are much more effective than correction. Wear brassieres which are especially designed to support the bust during pregnancy and the nursing period. Always lie down when you nurse your baby. I think that general health and fine nutrition also keep all of the tissues firmer.

The only thing you can do now is take exercises which build up the chest muscles. This will add to the bust measurement. Start these as soon as your doctor says you can after delivery.

Q. "Please tell me what you think. I am 14 years old, 5 feet, 3½ inches tall and weigh 110 pounds. My mother says I am just right but all of my girl friends say I am too thin. My bust measures 34, waist 23, and hips 34 inches."

A. Your mother is correct. You are JUST right. You have a lovely figure. It might be that your friends are a bit on the plump side.

Q. "I am 15 years old, 5 feet and 3 inches tall and weigh 100 pounds. My bust measures 32, waist 23, a hips 32½ inches. Am I underweight and are my measurements in proportion?"

A. Your measurements are in proportion. You are about 15 pound underweight.

Q. "I am a very busy 32-year-old housewife. My husband tells me I am too fat. If you think I am, how much should I lose? I am medium build, 5 feet 4 inches tall and weigh 160 pounds.

A. You should lose at least 25 pounds, perhaps even 30.

Q. "I am 31 years old and have three children. About two months ago I weighed 169 pounds. I have dieted and now weigh 146 pounds. I am 5 feet 7 inches tall. Please tell me if I have lost enough. I am thinking of taking off 11 more pounds."

A. You are very close to right just now. I think 11 pounds would be too much unless you have an extremely small-boned build. I would suggest not more than an additional 5-pound loss.

Crumb-Top Quick Cake Is Delicious

By JANET ODELL

Husbands have no cause for complaint when their wives use recipes that come straight from cookbooks belonging to their mothers-in-law. Such a recipe is the one today for Apple Cake.

Mrs. Robert Elert is our cook. The mother of two boys and a girl, she is a relative newcomer to Pontiac. She belongs to the Newcomers Club. With her husband, she is active in the couples' club of their church.

APPLE CAKE
By Mrs. Robert Elert

2 tablespoons sugar
¾ cup shortening
1 egg
1½ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking powder

Topping

1 cup sugar
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
⅓ cup flour
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Work together with a pastry blender or a fork. Cover apples. If apples are sweet, sprinkle with lemon juice. Bake at 375 degrees 35-40 minutes, or until apples are tender. Serve warm or cold, with or without whipped cream.

Teacher Who Loves Job Makes Good Impression

Students Learn More From Her Than the Subjects They Take in Class

By RUTH MILLETT

"I saw one of your high school teachers," a friend back from a teachers' meeting told me the other day, "and though she wasn't sure you would remember her, she asked to be remembered to you."

★ ★ ★

Then the friend told me her name.

I remember her all right. She was the kind of teacher you never forget.

First of all, she had a sense of humor — a gay, kidding way of handling students. It made her not [illegible] high school students liked to be around.

★ ★ ★

She could be tough, as all good teachers can. But there was never any meanness to her toughness. And you caught the brunt of it only when you knew you deserved it.

She didn't look like a schoolteacher. That is, she didn't look like a student's idea of what school teachers look like.

SEEMED PRETTY

No one would ever have called her prim. Maybe she wasn't actually pretty (I'm not sure now) but she seemed to be, with her vivid makeup, her eye - catching clothes with always some unexpected accent of bright color.

★ ★ ★

Even her walk was out of character. She swung down the corridors as carefree as though she were taking a walk in the country instead of going from one classroom to another.

Her enthusiasm could have been just part of her youth, for at that time she was one of the school's younger teachers.

But the friend who saw her said she hadn't lost her enthusiasm. So it must have been because she loved to teach.

Looking back on the teachers you remember with fondness and respect, you usually find they had one thing in common. They liked to teach.

It's a shame any student ever has any other kind of teacher. For those who love their work teach much in addition to the subjects they take up in their classes.

PHS Adopts New Stage Technique for Drama

By JACK HENDRICKSON

Pontiac High School's Speech Department will stage "You Can't Take It With You" April 5 and 6. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. It is a famous comedy in three acts in which the late Josephine Hull starred in the Broaday production.

The story centers around a family who believes in doing as each pleases the philosophy of Grampa Vanderhof (played by Don North). Penelope Sycamore (Donna Chilvers) is a petite lady who paints; and writes stories on an old typewriter someone left at their home a long time since.

Essie (Dimitra Govenis) takes ballet lessons from Boris Kolenkhov (Chuck Williams).

Alice (Sherry Everett) falls in love with Tony Kirby, who brings his high society parents (Ron Hart and Judy Levine) to call on the wrong night. Three G-Men will be on hand to add to the confusion, among a host of others.

HARD AT WORK — Members of the zany family in the production "You Can't Take It With You" practice their chosen interests. The Pontiac High comedy will be presented April 5 and 6.

Shangri-la — Land of Paradise" has been chosen by the senior class of 1957 to denote their June 1 prom which will have an oriental theme.

Excellent ratings were received by solo and ensemble players of the Pontiac High Band participating in the State Solo and Ensemble Festival last Saturday at the University of Michigan.

All soloists from PHS also received first division ratings. They were Donald Green, flute; William Scribner, bassoon; Carolyn Beyer and John Howell, clarinet and Richard Dembinski, snare drum.

Members of the PHS "Cercle Francais" are making plans to attend a dinner at the home of one of the group, Margaret Thrasher. Margaret's mother extended the invitation to the club, and a tentative date of April 26 was set. Members also ordered their pins this week.

Wednesday, the University of Michigan School of Music presented "The Passion of Our Lord According to St. Matthew" by Johann Sebastian Bach. The PHS A Cappella Choir traveled to Ann Arbor to participate in this oratorio which was presented in the Hill Auditorium.

An outstanding portion of the performance was the singing of the 11 chorales from the second balcony by 1,400 high school vocalists selected from throughout Michigan. Pontiac High took 85 members of their A Cappella Choir for this performance.

Three PHS students won gold keys, the highest possible award, in the annual Southeastern Michigan Scholastic Writing Awards contest.

Receiving this award was Pat Zielke for her short story. Kennith Lenigan, now a graduate, won two keys; one was for an original radio script, and one for an adopted radio script. La Marr Green also won the award for an entry in the general radio category.

★ ★ ★

Students sharing the honors were Sharon Wall, who won honorable mention in journalism; and Judy Lacy who won honorable mention in the category of radio script adaptation. Sally Warren won commendation for her essay entry.

The contest was entered by students attending public, private and parochial schools from Lenawee, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

Monday, 14 new members were initiated into the PHS Y-Teens Club. At a formal ceremony held in the safeteria, the new members were inducted and officially experienced their first business meeting. Plans were discussed for a pajama and splash party.

Rhoda Goldberg, and Clarice Graves were among the new members inducted, with Delores Shea, Francis Hoopingarner, Shelby Murphy, Judi Johnson, Sue Rhew, Amita Bowers, Genevieve D'Argy, Joanne Wood, Barbara Davidson, Betty Lowry, Sally Vogel and Margaret Murphy.

The Y-Teen pajama and splash party will be held April 26. Other activities which the Y-Teens are planning include helping the speakers during the coming Career Week.

Expert Gives Bulb Bed Advice

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT

Everyone is anxiously watching their bulb beds these days and a few have harvested their first crocus flowers. This usually triggers a chain reaction resulting in the uncovering of bulb beds and burning or destroying their straw, leaves or evergreen boughs. This practice at this early date, because it hastens the growth of tulips, hyacinths, and daffodils at a time when severe freezes are still common.

Mulches, in addition to preventing deep freezing during the winter, prevent early thawing and warming of the soil and pre-mature starting of bulb plants.

Almost every bulb bed becomes a late spring seed bed for annuals after the flowers are gone. Because of this, an early spring top dressing of a good lawn fertilizer or a good garden fertilizer has a two fold purpose.

Although you cannot improve the size or number of flowers which will develop this spring, it will greatly improve the size of the bulb which will develop for next years crop. This fertilizer will also help build a fertile seed bed for your summer crop of marigolds, salvia, petunias or whatever you choose to plant. As many of you know, the flower buds of tulips, daffodils, hyacinths, and many of the other spring flowering bulbs (not lilies) are developed in the fall, with size of bulb being a very important factor.

WHICH TIME IS RIGHT

Often the question arises; "When is the best time to cut the foliage, once the flowers have gone?" Many people have observed that new bulbs began to enlarge about the time the buds show color, and do not reach full size until three to six weeks after flowering.

A great deal of harm can be done by pulling or cutting the leaves while gathering a household bouquet or removing the dying blossoms. After four to six weeks, the foliage may be pulled and burned or the bulbs then dug and stored until fall.

These same rules apply to potted bulb plants as well. They are beautiful in flowers and rather long lasting. A versatile gardener may wish to save these bulbs to fortify an existing planting outside. Once the flowers have gone, these potted clusters of plants should be planted in a sunny location so the crowns of the bulbs are covered with soil.

If this is a permanent planting, the bulbs should be at least 3" deep. If you intend to separate this cluster later in the summer, one to two inches is sufficient. These bulbs will occasionally flower the following year.

Occasionally garden slugs (snails) become an annoying, if not a damaging problem. These little animals hide under leaves, boards, or stones during the day, but enthusiastically forage upon the leaves and flowers at night. Sandpapered leaves and flowers and faint silver trails across leaves are common evidences of damage.

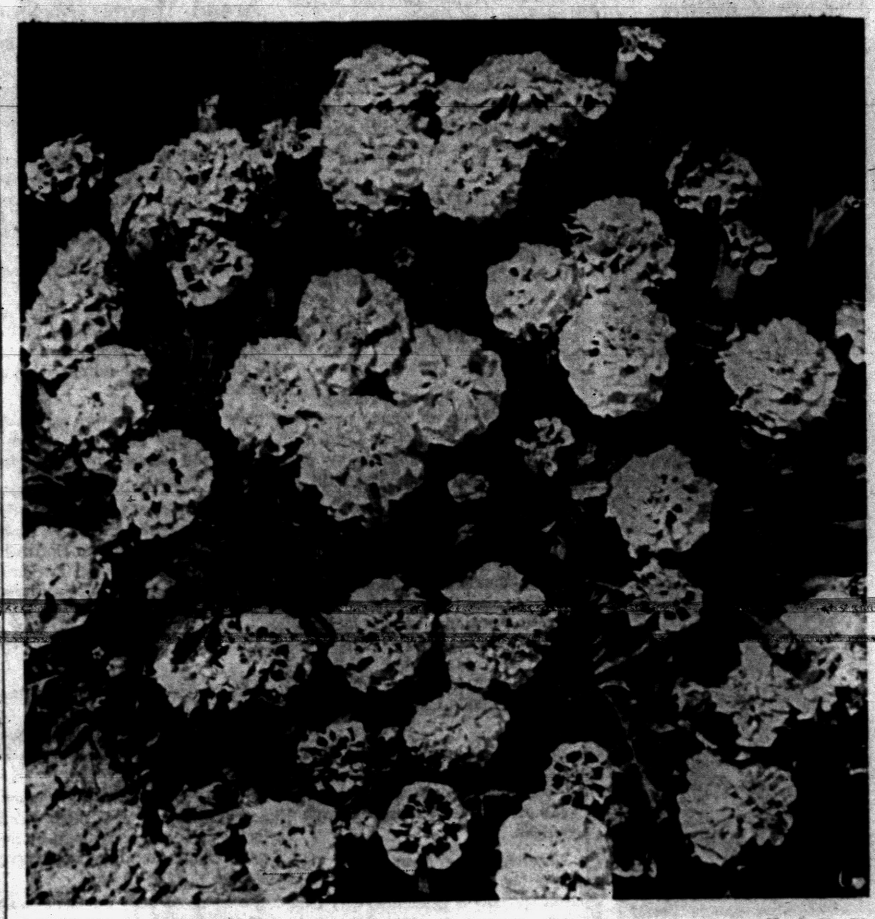

Metaldehyde, the effective ingredient in poison baits for snails, not only is a fatal poison to these annuals, but will attract them from a considerable distance.

Parrot tulips have become the bulb growers delight within recent years. At one time these beauties were considered monsters which were ruthlessly destroyed by bulb growers because they were "diseased" and worthless.

Many of our variegated tulips were once solid colored, until they became infected by a virus. The effect of the virus was variegation of the blossoms, usually white streaks or patches in the petals.

Occasionally this virus may be spread by insects to nearby plants or beds, much to the distress, or delight, of the gardener, resulting in conspicuous changes to the flower color or shape the following year.

As aphids are the primary offenders, a control program using nicotine sulfate or malathion at the manufacturers directions, should be used whenever these insects are observed on the plants. It is thought this virus cannot be spread except by insects, and will not infect the soil if planted near, or among non-variegated varieties.

Average Lawn in Very Cheap

$25 and One Summer Can Restore Grass to Near Perfection

The average lawn is only $20 to $25 and one summer away from near perfection. In this comparatively short time, you can patch up the bare spots, thicken up the thin spots, and really grow the lawn you want.

Your investment will buy an adequate supply of plant food, grass seed, weed and crabgrass killers, and enough cash to pay the water bill for a few good soakings.

To make your lawn - building program work, you will have to eliminate the trouble spots, says an article in the April issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine. It's a rare lawn that doesn't have a few such spots — places where grass won't grow, or just barely survives.

When these appear, the first impulse is to replant and try again. This will pay only if you also eliminate the cause for the original failure. Some of the common causes and solutions are:

Thin grass, full sun: Feed at least twice this year, once in the spring and again in early fall. Feed at least once every year, and don't skip. There's no substitute for plant food.

Thin grass, shade: Reduce the shade, if possible by thinning the overhead branches. Give extra food and water. Failure is often due to competition with tree roots for available plant food and water. Overseed with special shady-lawn seed mixture.

Bare spots, shade: If shade-tolerant grass fails, use a grass substitute such as vinca, pachysandra, or other groundcover suggested by your nurseryman.

Grass invaded by weeds: Mow more regularly. Use weed-control chemicals this spring. Reseed bare spots in August after weeds are destroyed.

Grass worn by traffic: Build up grass by feeding three times yearly, try deeper watering. Use steppingstones or paving if paths are really needed.

Generally, for green lawns all summer long, the magazine article advises fertilizing properly, and not heavily in hot weather. Mow often, and don't let grass grow tall between cuttings. Sweep up clippings if they are more than an inch long.

Avoid excessive waterings, and especially light sprinkling in late evening. Spray with a broad-spectrum grass fungicide before trouble starts and at intervals during the summer when the humidity is high.

Give Trees Good Check

By HENRY PREE
Written for NEA Service

An important job for the homeowner possessing large ro valuable trees is to see that they are given a good going-over to check for thriftiness, structural defects and injury from insects and diseases.

One visit a year will do if a reliable tree surgeon is employed.

Here are a few suggestions for winter tree care as recommended by members of the National Arborists' Association. These men, well trained in their profession, have all the necessary equipment to do the work.

Trees should be checked for structural weaknesses that might bring serious damage from winter sleet or snow. Cabling may be needed. Seriously weakened branches must be removed.

An expert should climb your trees for evidence of insect invasion. If ignored or unknown, the pests may get an early start in the spring and defoliate early growth.

Check for vitality. This is indicated by the amount of annual twig growth, size of winter buds, the amount of dead wood, etc.

Most necessary work on shade trees cannot be done by the owner. He does not have the required equipment and it is not safe for him to climb high trees. Furthermore, he does not have the technical knowledge or skill to diagnose most tree troubles and make the treatment. To become expert in this work requires training and experience.

It is usually much better for the tree, and safer for the owner, to employ a reliable aborist than to attempt to care for his own tree.

Unfortunately, all who pass as tree experts or arborists are not reliable operators. There are "quacks" in this profession, the same as in many others.

Letters From Outstate Praise Policy

VanAtta Staff Wins Approval

Chief of Police Frank Van Atta is getting letters, phone calls and personal visits daily, from individuals backing him up in his traf enforcement in Waterford Township.

Letters have been sent to him from all over the State of Mich praising the courteous conduct of his police staff, a check showed today. Many letters are from traffic violators who have paid fines in Waterford Township.

Chief Van Atta also reported no letters condemning the strict enforcement policy along the Dixie Highway.

A recent letter from Mrs. Paul D. Robinson, 1418 Elizabeth St., Midland, said "We could be concalled speed trap (we paid a $10 fine for driving 45 miles an hour in a 35 mile zone), but let me hasten to add that we are grateful to the Waterford Township police for that $10 reminder. The officer who ticketed us was polite and considerate. He didn't "throw his weight around," nor did we feel that he was "out to get his quota."

★ ★ ★

She added: "Congratulations to the Waterford Township police and the town board backing them in their campaign to make the highway safer for all of us—including Mr. Masin and the others who co tribute their money for billboard

She is Bernadine C. Favors, of 25436 Lehigh Ave., and stated: "I am certainly glad that I got the ticket when I did because I needed it. I have been driving quite fast and it's a wonder that I haven't had one before now. Your policemen are very pleasant to ta to—at least the one that stopped me was."

★ ★ ★

A note from Dr. D. P. Hornbogen of Marquette, stated, among other things, "I was issued a summons by your Officer Mann, and would like to commend him for his courteous manner in handling this case."

William Roitsch of 920 Beulah Highway, Beulah sent a long letter to Van Atta, and said, "I would like to tell you that I have never met a finer officer than this officer Rogers. He is a cred to your community, and I say this and mean it, regardless of what you do about my ticket."

Local resident Dan Lazelle told Van Atta: "I ride the Dixie Highway every day, relaxed and in comfort. During the past eleven years, I have never seen such orderly traffic flow between Pontiac and through Waterford as there is now."

"It is gratifying to receive a pat on the back from so many people, not only in Waterford Township, but other communities too, backing us up and supporting the police department in the job we are trying to do," Van Atta said.

Boy, 10, Attempts Sit-Down Strike 30 Feet Up Tree

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—Ten-year-old Jimmy Oliver climbed 30 feet up a tree, defied family and neighbors who tried to coax him down, and said he would not return to earth unless granted the right to attend a different school.

★ ★ ★

Sheriff's Deputy Jeff Boyd engaged in a lengthy debate with him over the merits of the school he has been attending. He didn't get far.

★ ★ ★

Then Boyd played his trump. He reminded Jimmy that it is a good idea to go to school AND against the law not to go.

That did it. Jimmy came climbing down. "Guess you're right, sheriff,' he said, and hustled off to his class.

Good Doctor Has Goal of Service, Not Profit

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"No man or woman should enter the profession of medicine solely to make a living," the president-elect of the American Medical Assn. said last night.

★ ★ ★

Dr. David B. Allman, Atlantic City, N.J., told students at the Jefferson Medical College:

"It is service, not profit, that makes a good doctor. . . . All other approaches, like materialism or self-aggrandizement, lead away from the ideal of good medicine."

Hebenton Is Handyman in Rangers' Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Handy Andy Hebenton is a quiet, reserved gentleman, who usually has little to say both on and off the ice. Last night the 27-year-old New York Rangers' sophomore let a clutch goal in a sudden-death overtime period show that actions speak louder than words.

It was Hebenton, who drilled a shot from about 15 feet out past Montreal goalie Jacques Plante at 13:38 of the extra period for a 4-3 win. The goal squared the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series with the Canadiens at one victory apiece.

The modest right winger earned the hero plaudits as a noisy, partisan throng of 15,925 at Madison Square Garden went beserk as Hebenton calmly skated in alone on Plante and took careful aim before producing the game-winner.

Wings Rout Boston, 7-2; Series Even

By BILL CORNWELL

DETROIT — The Detroit Red Wings are back in contention for the coveted Stanley Cup today following a savage exhibition of skating and shooting.

★ ★ ★

Roaming the Olympia Stadium ice with all of their pent-up fury, the Wings buried the Boston Bruins under a 7-2 landslide Thursday night to square their semifinal series of the National Hockey League playoffs at one win apiece.

Not even a 21-minute delay in the 1st period for repairs to goalie Glenn Hall and Vic Stasiuk could save the Bruins.

Detroit penetrated goaltender Don Simmons for three goals in the 1st period and twice each in the 2nd and 3rd stanzas as seven different players shared in the scoring.

★ ★ ★

Veteran Red Kelly, Gordie Howe and Metro Prystai connected in the 1st period, Alex Delvecchio and Billy Dea came through in the 2nd session and Lorne Ferguson and Norm Ullman counted in the finale.

The Bostonians didn't get the puck through Hall until the 3rd period when their cause was hopeless. And their 1st goal was a lucky one.

A little bit of everything was seen by 14,044 happy partisan spectators. Referee Frank Udvari called 22 penalties, 12 against Boston. Eleven were assessed in the 1st period and an unusually high number of six was recorded in the 3rd stanza, including a 10-minute misconduct against the Bruins on the bench.

The game was only 3:10 old when play was halted for medical attention to Hall and Stasiuk. Stasiuk was slashed in the leg by Marty Pavelich's stick and Hall was struck below the nose by Stasiuk's shot during the same action. Hall required 18 stitches before returning to the ice.

Detroit scored four times while Boston was shorthanded, once while both teams were minus a man and another time when the Bruins had the advantage.

Kelly opened the scoring parade in the 7th minute of play. With Leo LaBine in the penalty box for tripping, Kelly took Dutch Reibel's pass and drilled a hard 30-footer which skidded off Simmons' pads into the net.

Howe cashed in at the 11:32 mark. The NHL scoring champion handled a pass from his favorite partner, Ted Lindsay, and rifled a 25-foot blast by Simmons.

★ ★ ★

Then it was Prystai's turn to get into the act and he did it at 13:14 while teammate Norm Ullman was serving a cross-checking penalty. Metro skated around the Bruin defense and angled a sharp 15-footer which zipped past Simmons for goal No. 3.

★ ★ ★

That in itself was enough to win. But the Wings weren't content to stop there. They came back to score two more in the middle stanza with Boston shorthanded on each occasion.

Real Chevrefils was off for hooking when Delvecchio tapped in Howe's shot at the 3:50 mark. Simmons, drawn out of the cage during a goal-mouth scramble, was unable to halt the quick jab.

★ ★ ★

Dea and Bob Bailey, a pair of rookies, executed a picture play for the Wings' 5th goal. Bailey took Howe's pass, skated in to the right of Simmons and relayed the puck across the goal-mouth to Dea, who poked it home. Fleming Mackell was sidelined for slashing when Dea clicked at 10:27.

★ ★ ★

Each team counted twice during a loosely-played 3rd period which saw the Bruins penalized with only 34 seconds remaining for banging on the board with their sticks.

Fern Flaman was serving a high-sticking penalty when Ferguson tapped in Delvecchio's shot after only 33 seconds had elapsed. Ullman's goal was the slickest one of the evening. At the 3:39 mark Simmons carelessly pushed the puck to the side and Ullman breezed in and whistled it past him.

Boston's 1st tally came in the 2nd minute of play when Bob Armstrong's shot was deflected 1st by Cal Gardner and then by Mackell, who got credit for the goal. Leo Boivin scored on a neat effort at 17:52. He took Don McKenney's relay, skated in front of Hall and beat him with a short poke.

Boston was as completely outplayed here last night as Detroit was Tuesday. The Wings skated fast, checked close and stickhandled with skill. The two teams now move on to Boston for the 3rd game Sunday night.

The New York Rangers evened their semifinal series with the Montreal Canadiens last night at New York by scoring a 4-3 victory in sudden death overtime.

SIMMONS UNDER FIRE — Boston Bruin goalie Don Simmons was really under fire yesterday as the Detroit Red Wings poured seven goals into the Boston net in last night's second game of the Stanley Cup playoffs. Here Simmons makes a save of a shot by Alex Delvecchio (dark jersey) while Bruin defenseman Doug Mohns tries to stop the shot. The Wings won, 7-2 at the Detroit Olympia.

Hurrah for Dr. J. Paul Mather!

In case you're wondering who Dr. Mather is, he's the 41-year-old University of Massachusetts president who has publicly announced he will carry out an athletic program of "re-emphasis" rather than "de-emphasis."

★ ★ ★

Mather announced that his University will make an all-out effort to recruit all the top schoolboy athletes within the state of Massachusetts through grants-in-aid.

The youthful president looked at the Unversity's poor inter-collegiate athletic record and was quoted as saying, "The University administration does not intend to go along on a pussyfoot basis." "I have had all the apathy I can stomach."

Mather directed much of his criticism at educators who scream about de-emphasis to everyone and permit their own athletic departments to go along with public clamor of winning without clarifying the University's own stand.

"I cannot accept the backward policy of losing gracefully," Mather said, "and it's not a good policy to teach a boy to walk away from defeat with smiles, whether it be football, engineering or business."

"This has given athletics a black eye in relation to their part in education," Mather was quoted, "and one reason is that some presidents have acted as hypocrites."

"There will be no $50 bills on the goal lines, and nothing will be in violation of NCAA regulations," he quoted in conclusion.

All of Dr. Mather's references aren't strictly held to colleges. Many prep educators are as guilty. They often glorify defeat as an excuse for not winning.

It's still the American way, that when we play, we play to win. And to form a habit of constant losing and laughing, is just as bad as always winning and boasting.

Dr. Mather lays it on the line. We're with him.

Grapefruit League Record Is 6-10

Tigers Have 13 Games Left

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers will test their 1957 team against American League opposition only one more time this spring before opening the regular season in Kansas City April 16.

The Tigers have 13 exhibition games remaining but outside of Monday's meeting with the New York Yankees all remaining opponents will be National League outfits.

So far the Tigers have a 6-10 record. They need two more victories to equal last spring's dismal 8-19 mark.

After a lot of verbal fireworks, manager Jack Tighe apparently has decided to go with Bill Tuttle in his old centerfield spot between Charley Maxwell and Al Kaline. Frank Bolling has beaten off the challenge of Jack Dittmer at second while Red Wilson and Frank House will continue to share the catching duties unless some last minute trade materializes.

The Tiger manager still hopes to keep Ray Boone at first base but he has come to no final decision between Jim Finigan and Reno Bertoia for Boone's old third base job.

Frank Lary probably will be the opening day pitcher. His 21 victories were tops in the circuit last season and he was in spectacular form against Brooklyn on Wednesday.

Pitching jobs still are open but there has been a dearth of prospects. Southpaw Billy Hoett has a sore shoulder and stands a chance of being drafted. He took his military physical earlier this week.

Paul Foytack, a 15 game winner last season, has been hit freely in spring games. Jim Bunning has shown only flashes of his fine winter league form.

Tighe had hoped to experiment with Al Aber in a starting role, but the big lefthander has appeared only once this spring when he had to retire with a hip injury.

Of the newcomers, big Don Lee has shown to the best advantage. He will be making a big jump, however, if he sticks since his only pro experience was a half season at Augusta, Ga., in the Sally League last year.

Cranbrook Bows 9-1 in Baseball Opener

The combined wildness of three pitchers and a lack of hitting punch sent the touring Cranbrook baseballers down to a 9-1 setback in the opener of a 9-game southern trip at Lowmoor, Va. yesterday. The Cranes play at Salisbury, N. C. today.

Cranbrook hurlers Andy Billesdon, Fritz Kern and John Levy gave up a total of 10 walks and six hits and hit two batters to make things easy for Lowmoor Central. The home club clinched the verdict with two runs in the 2nd and added seven more in two innings.

The Cranes, coached by Fred Campbell, escaped a shutout in the 7th when Dave Walsh singled, advanced on an error, and scored on Dan Crowley's hit. Billesdon and John Piew had the only other hits for the losers in the game played in 46-degree temperature.

Two doubles by Lowmoor were the only extra base hits of the day. Bruce Withers will be the starting Cranbrook pitcher today.

Cranbrook	000	000	0—1	4	1
Lowmoor	020	430	x—9	6	1

Billesdon, Kern (3), Levy (5) and Allen, Crowley (5). Underwood, Averill (6) and Clark.

Steeplechase Run at Aintree Today

AINTREE, England — Hart Royal was the horsemen's pick, Goosander the favorite of the bettors and a little-known American entry the long shot special today for the 111th running of the Grand National Steeplechase.

American-bred and owned Virginius was a 100-1 shot a few days ago. On the eve of the race he was 50-1. And experts said his price would drive to about 33-1 by posttime.

Tebbetts Pushing Reds for Fast Season Start

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Birdie Tebbetts, named the National League's Manager of the Year in 1956 for steering his Cincinnati Redlegs to third place, is pushing his pitchers harder than any other manager in an attempt to break away fast this season.

★ ★ ★

He sent a Redleg pitcher the full nine innings yesterday for the second time since the spring exhibition season started earlier this month.

★ ★ ★

Left-handed Joe Nuxhall eased past the Philadelphia Phillies 5-2 at Clearwater, Fla. Nuxhall, a big "if" in Redlegs' plans since he was 16, allowed four hits. Johnny Klippstein pitched a complete game last Friday as the Redlegs edged Detroit 2-1.

★ ★ ★

In other games, the Boston Red Sox whipped the Chicago Cubs 5-3; the Milwaukee Braves scored two in the 10th to beat the Yankees 6-4; the Baltimore Orioles edged the New York Giants 5-4; the St. Louis Cardinals battered the Chicago White Sox 7-4; the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-3; and the Brooklyn Dodgers beat the Washington Senators 8-3.

★ ★ ★

Frank Sullivan hurled seven innings — the longest effort of any Red Sox pitcher — and scattered five hits to earn the victory over the Cubs.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Bob Nieman hit a two-run homer in the ninth to supply the Orioles with the winning margin against the Giants.

The Cardinals hopped on Billy Pierce, a 20-game winner last year for the White Sox. They scored six runs in the first three innings against him to gain a lead they never lost.

Lou Skizas hit a double, single and three-run homer to lead the Athletics to a 7-3 victory over Pittsburgh.

★ ★ ★

Saginaw Boxer Beats DeMarco

The 23-year-old Saginaw boxer moved from preliminary status into main event competition last night with a unanimous 10-round decision over veteran Paddy DeMarco of Brooklyn.

The slim, blond fighter's manager, Art Greenwald, said he hoped to stage the summer match outdoors.

Crawford's decision over the former lightweight champion DeMarco was booed lustily by the hometown crowd of 2,196 which paid a gross of $5,799 to watch the unspectacular fight.

The 29-year-old DeMarco carried the bout to Crawford most of the way. There were no knockdowns and neither fighter was in trouble at any time.

Referee Billy Moore scored it 46-44 for Crawford. Judge Ed Waganlander had it 47-44 and Judge Andy Brown, 48-39. Scoring was on the five must per round.

THURSDAY'S FIGHTS

National AAU Cage Meet in Semifinals

DENVER (AP) — Seattle's poised defending champions play the fast breaking Air Force All-Stars and Peoria's veterans mix it up with the San Francisco Olympic Club tonight in the semifinals of the 50th National AAU Basketball Tournament.

San Francisco's collection of former California and Oregon collegiate stars crushed Bartlesville, Okla., nine-time AAU champions, 82-61.

Lions Seek New Camp

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions are hunting for a new training camp.

The National Football League club was pushed out of their preseason base at Eastern Michigan College at Ypsilanti by a school expansion program.

Two other sites also are under consideration.

General manager Nick Kerbawy and coach Buddy Parker visited the campuses of Adrian College and Hillsdale College. Both schools displayed an interest in having the Lions.

The school was turned down by the state legislature when it asked for $45,000 for three new practice fields.

PWBA Keg Meet in Final Weekend

Three defending champions go all out to repeat last year's impressive triumphs as the annual Women's Bowling Tourney goes into its final weekend this Saturday and Sunday.

The Ward's Furniture team, singles ace Shirley Pointer and the doubles duo of Doris Lanktree-Viola Cargal will all be in action with an opportunity to dethrone the present leaders and finish in the top money.

Ward's could gain the title again by matching or bettering its 3054 total of last season. Huron Bowl No. 3 took over the top slot, last week with a 2958.

Mary Toles and Greta Swanson of Pontiac have dominated doubles play since the initial weekend when they combined for 1259. The Lanktree-Cargal pair won it with 1335 in 1956.

Shirley Pointer is seeking repeats in two departments. She took singles honors with 717 and won the all-events trophy for actual pinnfall a year ago with 1690.

Present singles leader Eleanor Baxter of Pontiac set 725 as the score to beat last weekend. Jeanette Mihalak is the all-events actual pacesetter at 1651.

Team competition begins Saturday at 7 p.m. with the Ward's quintet, captained by Mrs. Cargal, on the 9 p.m. shift. The teams complete their action Sunday night. Doubles and singles begin Sunday morning at 10 and continue through the day.

The presentation of the many tournament prizes will be made April 14th at a meeting of the sponsoring Pontiac Women's Bowling Association to be held at the Elks Temple.

Has 140 Average

76-Year-Old Will Give Press Bowlerama a Try

Roy Spencer became the oldest kegler signed up to compete for the $2500 in cash awards when his application blank arrived at the Press office this morning.

"I know I don't have as good an average as most of the fellows who have entered the tournament but I think I will give it a try," Spencer said when contacted.

The father of four will take a 140 average into the tournament in hopes of topping some of the better known keglers with a handicap advantage.

One sure thing is that he will have all of Clarkston rooting for him next weekend and April 13 if he reaches the finals.

Spencer has become a fixture at Howes Lanes there. He has bowled on the same team, Clarkston Cafe, in the same league for the past 15 years.

Roy calls a 222 rolled four years ago his best all-time game. A repeat performance could turn the trick for the oldtimer in this type of tourney. So all the keg stars around better beware.

OLDEST IN BOWLERAMA — A 76-year-old Clarkston carpenter is expected to be the oldest contestant in the big Pontiac Press Bowlerama singles tournament coming up here next week. Roy Spencer will be matching a 140 average and handicap against some of the area's best, in hopes of winning some of the $2,500 in prize money.

Colorado Skier Favored Today in NCAA Final

SNOW BASIN, Utah (AP)—Forty-six entrants hustle around an exhausting nine-mile course today in the cross-country, opening event of the National Collegiate (NCAA) ski championships.

★ ★ ★

Experts figured three others could give Miller a real chase, with a wrong guess on wax or route enough to knock Miller or his three top competitors out of the running.

LA Bids for '64 Olympics

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Mayor Norris Poulson made a bid today to bring the 1964 Olympic games to Los Angeles.

In a letter to Kenneth L. Wilson, President of the U. S. Olympic committee, Poulson said, in part:

"... Los Angeles is, without question, one of the most sports minded cities in the world, and it is eager to extend an invitation for consideration as the site for the 1964 Olympic games in the firm belief that no other metropolitan center can match the advantages that it offers."

Poulson stated that by 1964 the population of Los Angeles will exceed three million and its outdoor sports facilities will be "greatly enlarged."

Golf Activity Begins to Stir

Spring is here—or almost here—and the familiar word "fore" is ringing through the air as golfers come out of their winter hibernation and head for the nearest links.

This is the time of year when putting switches from the living room carpet to the practice green and the dust is swept off the No. 3 wood.

Although the weather hasn't been consistently good enough yet to permit steady playing, activity is stirring at several Oakland County area courses and eager-beavers have already invaded the fairways.

Most courses are unofficially open now, but the official opening for the vast majority takes place either this weekend or Monday, April 1, Weather permitting, of course.

Pontiac's City Municipal course will open Sunday, John Streit of the Parks and Recreation Department reports that the course is fairly dry and that little winter damage occurred. Everything will be in readiness Sunday except concessions, Streit announced.

The Pontiac Country Club's course and pro shop are open now, and dining room and clubhouse facilities become available April 1, pro-owner Frank Syron said.

A new watering system has been completed and all tees have been re-sodded, Syron reported, in addition to a complete redecoration of the clubhouse.

Milton Disser, a steward at Oakland Hills for 3½ years, has been appointed clubhouse manager at PCC, Syron said. There are no other changes in personnel.

North Hills, with a revamped 14th green and new locker rooms, opens April 1. Pro Leo Conroy wishes to stress the fact that members only are permitted.

Morey's and Highland Golf and Country Club are two of the most ambitious ones in the lot. Morey's has been open to golf since the 1st of March while Highland spread out the welcome mat on March 24.

Rochester Golf and Country Club, formerly Brooklands, also swung open its doors last weekend with former National Open champion Jack Fleck as the head man. The club got off to a rousing start when Bob Soronen of Berkley shot a hole-in-one.

The Rochester links will host the 1st tournament of the season, the MPGA on April 28.

Stonycroft was open for business last Saturday and so was Sunnybrook. Davisburg gets under way this weekend. Bald Mountain opens tomorrow and Glen Oaks plans an April 1 inaugural.

Aside from Disser's appointment at Pontiac Country Club and Fleck's move to Rochester, no personnel changes are reported. All pros and owners say that their courses are in excellent condition at this time and that water problems are virtually nil.

Meet to Organize Loop

BALTIMORE (AP) — A meeting veiled in secrecy will be held in a Baltimore hotel April 6 in an attempt to organize a new professional football league.

★ ★ ★

Millard T. Lang, who proposed a United States Football League, Ind., said enough representatives would be present to insure league operations in 1958.

★ ★ ★

But Lang declined to say who would be present or how many cities would be represented. He said the meeting would be a closed affair.

Lang, a 44-year-old Westinghouse Electric Corp. official, announced Feb. 15 that he had invited mayors in 16 cities to help organize the league.

While he said the U.S. League wouldn't try to compete with the NFL, Lang's plan included teams in the territory of four National League teams.

★ ★ ★

The plan called for a Northern Division composed of New York, Baltimore, Buffalo, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Boston, Cincinnati and Detroit, and a Southern Division of Miami, New Orleans, Atlanta, Louisville, St. Louis, Kansas City, Houston and Dallas.

Oklahoma After Wrestling Title

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Oklahoma goes after its third national collegiate wrestling championship today with perhaps the greatest wrestler of all time spearheading its title bid.

★ ★ ★

The big man for the Sooners in the NCAA meet at Pitt Field House is Dan "Homicide" Hodge, a bruising 177 pounder undefeated in 42 collegiate matches. He'll be gunning for his third straight NCAA title.

★ ★ ★

Hodge, twice a U.S. representative in the Olympic Games not only is a prohibitive favorite to retain his crown but is expected to repeat last year's feat of pinning every opponent. He's done it 11 times this year.

★ ★ ★

With such a widespread offensive that also includes 167-pound Big Seven champion Rex Edgar, the Sooners rank solid favorites to succeed Oklahoma A. & M., NCAA winner the past three years.

Logart Risks Title Shot Against Turner

The 23-year old import racked up a unanimous but close decision over the aggressive Turner in a bristling battle in the Garden 17 months ago and is a 2-1 choice to repeat. The odds don't mean a thing in the ring, especially to Gil who protested he was a clear cut winner the last time.

"I thought I beat Logart the first time," said the 26-year-old Turner. "Now I'll prove I was right."

Curling Tournament Begins 5th Round

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago and Hibbing, Minn. curling clubs match skills today, each with records of four victories and no losses in the first U.S. Men's National Curling Tournament. They are the only undefeated rinks among the 10 in the tourney.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Third place is shared by Minot, N.D., and Portage, Wis., whose rinks won second, third and fourth rounds although they failed in the opening round Wednesday.

Only one rink, of the 10 in the tourney, Nashua, N.H., has failed to win at least once.

Four Area Track Squads at Ypsi

Track teams from Pontiac, Waterford, Birmingham and Walled Lake will get their 1st taste of competition Saturday as part of a field of 42 schools participating in the 2nd annual Huron Relays at Ypsilanti.

All have been working out daily and are expected to have strong individuals in the 16-event meet which begins at 2 p.m. No team scores will be kept.

Berkley, Royal Oak and Farmington will be other Oakland County schools represented in the session which is divided into Classes A, B and C. Twenty-one "A" schools head the list.

Pontiac's state champions dominated the meet last year with 12 firsts, four by Chief great Hayes Jones now starring for Eastern Michigan. Birmingham had one winner.

State high jump champion Hudson Ray is expected to be the key man of the 20-member PHS team in the Relays. Archie Brooks, Alex Barge and Larry Beamer are other Chiefs back who scored points in the meet a year ago. All three were in relay races.

Other lettermen coach Dean Wilson is counting on to make good are shot putter Mike Hardiman, relay vet Joe Hill, Bill Cox, who will be in the two mile relay, and cross country star Rog Coates.

Waterford could cause some surprises in the rough "A" division with all 15 returning thinclads lettermen. The Skippers will take part in every event with their major strength expected to be in hurdles and relays.

Pole vaulter Bill McFarland took the lone 1st last spring but will be left behind in favor of Tom Segal who has been clearing 12 feet, 4½ inches recently. Coach Kermit Ambrose is also counting on scoring punch from speedy Pat Barry, Bob Stephenson, Jim Macdonald and Chuck Gibson.

Walled Lake will represent this sector in Class B with basketball standout Larry Hughes, a hurdler, and pole vaulter Jerry Revitzer sparkplugs of a 16-man group. Others are co-captains Laurie Passmore and Gene Thibodeau and shot putter Mike O'Donnell.

Celts, St. Louis in NBA Finals

Televised Game Opens Title Race Tomorrow at Boston

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Celtics and St. Louis Hawks open the final series of the National Basketball Assn. playoffs tomorrow because of a trade which proved decisive for both clubs.

The 2:30 p.m., EST, televised game at Boston Garden marks the first time either team has reached the best-of-seven series.

A major factor is the deal which brought 6-10 All-America rookie Bill Russell to the Celtics in exchange for Easy Ed Macauley and Cliff Hagan.

Boston made the trade with the Hawks for the rights to Russell who starred for the U.S. Olympic team last November, then convinced him to join the Celts upon his return.

KC Committee Votes Down Tax Admissions

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The City Council's Finance Committee voted down yesterday a proposal to impose a 5 per cent municipal tax on admissions to professional athletic events.

Arnold Johnson, principal owner of the Kansas City Athletics, had threatened to move the club if the tax were enacted.

Florida State Beats MSU, 7-4

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Service veteran Tom Garcia tossed a five-hitter at Michigan State last night to give Florida State a 7-4 victory and a tie with Duke for leadership in the Florida State invitational baseball tourney.

Spartan centerfielder Dick McKenzie was the only batter who could make more than one hit off Garcia. He made two, a double and single, and scored State's first two runs. McKenzie also had a brilliant night afield, making five difficult catches.

State now stands at two wins, two losses in the tourney with two games to go. Duke and Florida State each are 3-1.

County Bowlers Plan for Bowlerama

By CHUCK ABAIR

Bowlers from Pontiac, Birmingham, Rochester, Lake Orion and Waterford and several other area communities head the entries in the big Pontiac Press Bowlerama which begins next weekend here.

★ ★ ★

There are only three more days remaining for others to get their entries in. The deadline is Midnight Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Other areas certain to be represented in the all-county singles handicap event are Auburn Heights, Keego Harbor, Bloomfield Hills, Oxford, Clarkston, Ortonville, Drayton Plains and various parts of Avon and Orion Townships.

Many other localities are expected to have keglers entered by the time manager Les Rothbarth begins his project of arranging the parrings. A flood of entries are anticipated this weekend.

All Oakland County residents who are sanctioned with ABC or WIBC are eligible to shoot for a chance at the over $2,500 in prize money being offered to the top finishers in the men's and women's divisions.

Qualifying will be held next Saturday and Sunday April 6-7 at Dixie Recreation, Land-O-Lakes and Auburn Lanes. The top 10 per cent at each place will move on to the finals on April 13 at Huron Bowl.

Entries will be assigned to one of the qualifying alleys through a draw conducted at random. Qualifying times and locations will be printed in the Press April 4 and 5.

All entry blanks should be mailed or delivered to Rothbarth in care of the Press Sports Department. They also may be turn in to the proprietor of any county keg establishment.

For the convenience of local residents, entries brought in anytime after the Press closes Saturday or all day Sunday, may be left in a drop box located at the right front of the building.

A total of 12 prizes are guaranteed for the two divisions topped by $400 and a trophy for the men's winner and $200 and a trophy for the women's champion. Others will receive awards in accordance with the number of entries.

All qualifiers will be eligible for cash awards and have the opportunity to shoot for the high stakes. Trophies will also go to the leading qualifiers at each location.

Three games will be bowled on the same alleys in qualifying while three games across six alleys will be the requirement in the crucil final round. All scoring will be based on 70 per cent handicap and 200 scratch.

Everything is in readiness for the first such tournament to be held here. Everyone planning to participate who has not sent in that blank yet is urged to do so immediately. None will be accept after the deadline unless postmarked before midnight, March 31.

BOWLERAMA TROPHIES — Top bowlers at each of the three qualifying alleys, and the man and woman Bowlerama champion are in line for these trophy awards. The individual champions of the tournament will each receive a handsome desk set which includes a pen, calendar and bowling figure on a marbleized base. Entries for the Bowlerama close Sunday night.

Souchak and Harrison Chief Threats Today in 2nd Round

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Dow Finsterwald, riding one of golf's hottest money winning streaks, was the man to catch today as he carried a three-stroke lead into the second round of the $12,500 Azalea Open Tournament.

★ ★ ★

The 27-year-old Athens, Ohio, native, now playing out of Jupiter, Fla., has been in the money in 46 consecutive tournaments and he has his aim on the $1,700 first prize in this 72-hole test which ends Sunday.

★ ★ ★

He came up with a sizzling finish in the first round, bagging three birdies on the last four holes for a 34-32—66 that was good for the edge over Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N.Y., last year's winner, and E. J. "Dutch" Harrison of St. Louis, 47 years old today.

"M" Swimmers Press Yale in NCAA

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., (AP) — Yale's once-high hopes of winning the National Collegiate (NCAA) swimming championship rested on the broad shoulders of sophomore Tim Jecko and on its record-breaking relay team today after an unexpected setback in the 1,500 meter race.

Yale led in the point totals after the opening event of the three-day NCAA meet, but the slim margin of nine points to Michigan's eight indicated it would be a real scrap instead of the expected runaway.

★ ★ ★

This turnabout came when Michigan's Fritz Myers clipped 42 seconds off his best previous time and beat Yale's favored Ray Ellison to the finish line by about a yard in the fast second heat of the 1,500. Joe Robinson of Yale took third place to give the Elis nine points, but Peter Fries picked up a sixth-place point for Michigan by finishing second to Buddy Belshe of Denver in the slower first heat.

★ ★ ★

The metric mile race, only event on the opening night's program, was run off in two heats with the placings decided on times. Belshe and Fries, relieved of the strain of trying to keep up with the faster men, both turned in surprisingly speedy performances.

★ ★ ★

But it was Myers, equalling the record for the shortened 25-yard Bowman Gray Pool, who supplied the big surprise.

Edward Johnson finished fourth to give Texas three points while Belshe's first heat victory gave Denver two.

In All-Events

Weber Takes ABC Lead

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Top standings in some individual and team events were revamped today after several nationally prominent bowlers and teams made their bids in the 1957 American Bowling Congress tournament.

★ ★ ★

Dick Weber, anchorman of the St. Louis Budweisers, slammed into first place in the individual all-events with 1,992. Weber, 27, and his teammate Ray Bluth, are current BPAA doubles champions. He was runner-up last December in the national individual match game championships in Chicago.

The Budweisers swept into second place in the open team division Wednesday, and grabbed the top spot yesterday in the team all-events with 9,307.

The strike and spare shop of Denver, Colo., battered its way into fourth place in the open division with 3,052. The Denver club rolled games of 1,057, 970 and 1,025. Walter Lawson, Colorado all-events champ in 1955, shot a towering 214-245-211—670 to lead the team.

Kirk Adds Tony Curtis to Cast of 'The Vikings'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Kirk Douglas shot his budget on his independent picture "The Vikings" sky high when he signed Tony Curtis as the fourth male star along with himself, Ernest Borgnine and Michael Rennie.

In fact, Tony's role, that of Oric, illegitimate son of the Viking king, is bigger than Kirk's. At one time Kirk had been thinking about playing the part himself but his producer's judgment got the better of his acting ambitions.

The picture, which will be made in Europe, starts June 17, as soon as Douglas completes his present assignment, "Paths of Glory," in Munich. I hear "The Vikings" will cost over $5,000,000.

The wild rumor that Eva Marie Saint refused to do the retakes for "Raintree County" boils down to this: Eva, who is a very cooperative girl, was asked to come in last Monday to make added scenes with Montgomery Clift and Elizabeth Taylor.

She was shown the picture and the new script and she felt that in justice to herself she could not make the changes.

"When I signed my contract," Eva Marie told me, "the part of Mel was a sincere girl very much in love. In the revised edition, her feelings are just puppy love, a complete change in the character.

"The picture is beautiful, and we worked eight months on it, but in justice to myself I cannot make these added scenes."

Kurt Kringe, his representative, said that Miss Saint had signed for one character and was unwilling to act a different one. She's never been temperamental.

Henry Fonda paid me a visit before he left town and I asked him what picture he is making next. He said he bought the rights to "The Clown," the life of Emmett Kelly, some time ago, and that Frank Cavit, a good writer, is preparing it for the screen.

"But I don't expect to make it," he said, "until after we spend the summer in Europe where I'll ballyhoo '12 Angry Men,' and I could very well do something else first.

"Tell me," said Hank, "how did you find out Afdera and I were getting married? We didn't think anyone knew."

If the final quarter of "An Affair to Remember" is as good as the three-quarters 20th unveiled at a special press showing the other afternoon—it's another big winner for Buddy Adler.

Deborah Kerr (this girl can't miss) and Cary Grant are great in both the lighter moments and in the dramatic love scenes.

WEDDING RUMORED

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Judy Holiday's ex-husband, David Oppenheim, 'tis said, will marry Stella Adler's daughter, Ellen, who once was the gleam in Marlon Brando's eyes.

Meanwhile, Judy, according to my New York scouts, and Syd Chaplin have resumed their romancing, both on and off stage.

Robert Mitchum's New York appearance has created a furor. According to some of the New York reports he appears to be the next glamor guy of Hollywood.

Lord Flea continues to drag 'em in at Ciro's. Brod Crawford and Bobbe Sutton were a happy twosome, Ann Miller and Hal Hayes, Esther Williams and Ben Gage were all ringsiding.

Ingrid's Award Doesn't Surprise Her Daughter

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—"I wasn't too surprised, but I was awfully pleased," Jenny Ann Lindstrom said yesterday after learning her mother, Ingrid Bergman, had won an Academy Award as best actress of 1956.

Miss Bergman's performance in the motion picture "Anastasia" won her a second Oscar.

Jenny said she planned to send a cable to her mother in Paris. "I don't know just yet what I'll say, but the general idea will be congratulations," she said.

The 18-year-old sociology major said she had seen "Anastasia" and enjoyed it greatly. Then she admitted being a little prejudiced in her personal choice for the award.

★ ★ ★

"I can't remember what mother won the other one for," she said, "because I was very small at the time. But I remember seeing the Oscar lying around the house."

Ike to Show Plan on Succession Issue

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower has invited congressional leaders to the White House Friday to discuss a proposed constitutional amendment to clear up the question of when the vice president takes over for a disabled president.

An amendment has been drafted by the administration, but Eisenhower wants to get the reaction of congressional leaders before sending it to capitol hill.

The House and Senate leadership of both parties and the chairmen and ranking GOP members of the judiciary committees were invited to the meeting, a total of 19 senators and congressmen.

Captain in Liner Crash Takes Gripsholm Helm

NEW YORK (AP)—Capt. Gunnar Nordenson, master of the Swedish motorship Stockholm at the time of its collision last year with the Italian Liner Andrea Doria, has been appointed commander of the Swedish American Line's new vessel, Gripsholm.

The appointment was reported by the company here today. The Gripsholm, to make her maiden voyage from Goteborg to New York in May, bears the name of another vessel previously operated by the line.

Nation's Dependents Need Higher Levels

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The level of living provided our dependent population by social security should be completely re-investigated, a University of Michigan public welfare administrator said here today.

"We have done relatively little about increasing the standard of payments for the dependent part of our populations in relation to the increasing standards of our productive population," said Prof. Wilbur J. Cohen.

Cohen was speaking at a University of Wisconsin symposium on labor and government.

He said that during the past two decades benefit levels have been increased only slightly above the increased price level.

"If, because of the great and increasing productivity of our nation and the increasing standard of living that can be assured, we do not share some of this increase with our dependent population, we will be perpetuating dependency for countless millions of persons," Cohen said.

London's oldest bus conductor, Henry Cruse, 75, has been allowed to stay on for another year's service. He has been on the same route since 1912.

Ingrid Soared to Fame; Yul Had to Fight All Way

(Here is the second of three articles on Yul Brynner, who won an Academy Award for his role in "The King and I." This article describes his years of physical and mental struggle to hit the top in show business.)

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — "All my life has been a struggle and I wouldn't like it if I didn't have to struggle."

These are the words from under the bald, shiny dome of Yul Brynner, who early made up his mind that show business was his cup of saki, but who had to overcome crushing physical injury and woeful lack of education to reach the pinnacle of show business.

He doesn't have to struggle any more—not with a gold "Oscar" statuette cradled in his muscular arms, a silver Cadillac in the garage, a bankroll that would choke the Holland tunnel and a flock of film offers and commitments.

But he still goes on working at a breakneck pace, setting and reaching new goals, because that is the way he has had to gear his life to beat the odds which sometimes seemed stacked hopelessly against him.

BECAME TRAPEZE ARTIST

His headlong approach is typified by his standing on an aerial platform one day when only 17 years old and completing a swing on the flying trapeze in a circus in Paris, despite never having been on a trapeze before. He wanted the job with the circus and got it—out of sheer bravado.

★ ★ ★

But the same job with the Cirque d'Hiver gave him a crushing physical blow. One day a rope broke on the trapeze and he was hurtled to the ground, breaking 47 bones on his left side.

"The doctors told me I would be a cripple for life," Brynner recalls, "and that made me mad. About a year and a half later I was playing jai-alai professionally."

The greatest struggle, or "striving" as Brynner calls it, was not of a physical nature, but was in learning his trade as an unpaid apprentice in the repertory company of Georges and Ludmilla Pitoeff—the Lunt and Fontanne of France.

LEARNED MUCH

With them he learned all the skills of the theater—props, makeup, lighting, acting, directing—but had to support himself singing and playing his guitar in night clubs several hours a night in addition to his 12 hours a day in the theater.

Even Brynner's academic education was obtained by overcoming enormous difficulties. He started with only 11 months of formal schooling at Castle de Montcel, just outside Paris. Later he earned bachelor's degrees in philosophy and science from the Sorbonne.

A few years ago he won his master's degree in philosophy while appearing in Chicago with the road company of the "King and I" by attending Northwestern University in his spare time. Now he is working on his doctorate.

He explains his prodigious capacity for work by saying:

"The fact that I only sleep five hours a night helps give me a lot of time for other work. I love studying. I hope I never stop being a student."

Brynner himself takes a philosophical view toward the obstacles he has hurdled and says:

"Really, it hasn't been too much of a struggle, but it has been a constant striving, and that is what I enjoy."

(Tomorrow: "The King" plans a long Hollywood reign.)

Ingrid Soared to Fame; Yul Had to Fight All Way

(Here is the second of three articles on Ingrid Bergman, whose princess role in "Anastasia" won her an Academy Award. This article tells how she blossomed into an actress despite family objections.)

By LEE BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Ingrid Bergman began her acting career as a wide-eyed year-old infant seated on her mother's lap facing a noisy, old-fashioned camera.

Years later, seated in a Hollywood projection room, Ingrid saw this birthday movie for the first time. It was a strangely moving experience for it gave the world-famed screen star her first clearly remembered view of her mother as a living personality.

Ingrid was just two when her mother died and she went to live with her Aunt Ellen, who managed to give her a completely happy childhood.

Ingrid's play-acting birthday parties ended abruptly at 12 when her father died of a heart attack and she went to live in the home of an uncle who set his mind against her becoming an actress.

STAR PUPIL

But talent such as Ingrid's was not to be denied and a few years later she became the star pupil at the Royal Dramatic Theater School in Stockholm.

After this meeting, things happened fast to Ingrid. She was offered a film contract and it was in her second movie opposite Ekman in the Swedish version of "Intermezzo," that she attracted the attention of David Selznick. He bought the American rights to the screen play and persuaded Bergman to come to Hollywood for the leading role.

Shortly before that (in 1937) she married Lindstrom, whose advice and appreciation of the theater she had come to cherish.

CREATED BIG STIR

From the very beginning Bergman was a sensation. She did her own makeup, fixed her own hair and selected her own clothes. As the most "natural" actress in Hollywood she stood out like a cameo in a coal bin.

After "Intermezzo," she returned to Sweden, but just as war was breaking out in Europe she was called back to the film capitol where she was to star in one successful film after another—"Rage in Heaven," "Anna Christie," "Casablanca," "For Whom the Bell Tolls," "Saratoga Trunk," "Gaslight," Spellbound,' "Notorious' and "Arch of Triumph."

In the meantime, her husband Peter had become established in an American medical career and her daughter Pia was becoming a typical American school girl.

Life never seemed happier for the beautiful Swedish actress, but there were some who couldn't understand her marriage to Lindstrom.

"He was so cold and detached," a friend remarked recently. "And she was so warm and so human. It was like a tiger lily married to a calculating machine!'

Grain Futures Continue Slide

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures continued to slide downward on the Board of Trade today but losses were not particularly large in dealings.

Corn weakened on hedge selling brought about by heavy receipts in Chicago. New crop wheat contracts were sold partly because of forecasts for rain in the winter wheat belt during the next five days. Early weakness in soybean oil was a bearish influence in soybeans.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was ½ to 1 cent lower, May $2.22⅝, corn ¼ to ⅞ lower, May $1.30¾, oats unchanged to ¼ lower, May 72, rye ½ to 1 cent lower, May $1.28, soybeans unchanged to 1⅛ lower, May $2.41¼, and lard 5 to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, May $14.32.

Trading Active, Then Slumps

Pivotal issues showed gains or losses ranging from fractions to around a point or so.

Steels, which were actively traded and higher in initial transactions, saw their gains melt away. Shares of this industry have been performing well all week. Motors deepened early losses.

Spring Colors to Appear on New Pontiac Cars

The Pontiac Motor Division will add a touch of spring to its array of auto colors next month with the introduction of "Cascade Blue," "Mayfair Yellow," and "Iris."

According to Pontiac color experts, addition of the new exterior hues follows the division's practice of offering special tones to go with seasons.

Probe Indicates Mistreatment

Navy Evidence Shows Abuse of Prisoners at Jacksonville Brig

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Evidence indicates that guards struck prisoners in the brig at the Jacksonville Naval Air Station, Capt. W. S. Harris, station commander, said yesterday in a report on an investigation of alleged mistreatment of prisoners.

★ ★ ★

Harris said several days ago when the investigation to date of the NAS Jacksonville brig has revealed evidence indicating irregularities consisting of the striking or an imposition of excessive exercise on several prisoners by certain guards.

"The maximum alleged injury was the testimony of one former prisoner that his eardrums were perforated by blows on the head. Examination by medical authorities indicate that such perforations do exist. However, as of this time, as far as is known no indication of permanent impairment of hearing exists and the man continues under treatment."

A Chicago businessman, Peter De Young, vice president of the Big Hollow Sand and Gravel Corp., has said his son Richard, 18, spent 22 days in the Jacksonville NAS brig and was struck by a Marine sergeant there.

The boy's eardrums were broken, his father said.

"I heard Richard testify that the sergeant slammed him hard over one ear and then the other with his hand," said De Young. "The sergeant then hit him in the stomach with his fist, then jabbed his fingers in the boy's eyes."

Area Meetings to Change Date for First Time

For the first time in Michigan history, Waterford Township, along with 24 other townships in Oakland County, will hold its annual meeting two days before election at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Prior to an amendment to the election laws, the annual township meetings were held on election day, according to Louis Barry, acting supervisor. The bill was sponsored by the Michigan Townships Association and passed by the legislature last year, he said.

Since its origination more than a hundred years ago (1837), annual township meetings have been held to give all residents a chance to air their views on administration policies, and to study the annual budget report for the past year.

In 1956 not one Waterford Township resident was present at the annual meeting, except town hall employes, according to Barry.

PASSES AMENDMENT

The legislature also passed an amendment in 1956 for the abolishment of the annual township meetings, with over 5,000 population due to the weekly and monthly meetings now held in most townships.

★ ★ ★

So far, according to Barry, no township in Michigan has dicarded the annual township meetings. "Historically, it has just become more or less a good democratic gesture," he concluded.

Traffic Deaths Drop in January, February

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council said today that for the first time in two years there has been a drop in traffic deaths in two consecutive months.

The over-all traffic death toll for January and February was 5,400—a decrease of 5 per cent. February deaths dropped 7 per cent — 2,540 as compared with 2,730 in February last year. The January toll was down 3 per cent.

The last time there was a reduction in two consecutive months was in January and February 1955, the council said.

★ ★ ★

It said it felt "the tremendous activity" generated by its "Back the Attack' campaign and a similar campaign by the Governors Conference were distinct helps.

★ ★ ★

In February, 430 of the 576 reporting cities had perfect records. The three largest are Denver (415,800), Toledo (303,600) and Syracuse, N. Y. (220,600). For the two-month period, 362 cities had perfect records. Syracuse was joined by Norfolk, Va., (213,500) and Salt Lake City (182,100) in this category.

Briscoe Leaves Detroit Following Civic Dinner

DETROIT (AP) — Robert E. Briscoe, Lord Mayor of Dublin, Ireland, leaves for Los Angeles today to continue his 20-city tour of the United States.

Earlier in the day he met representatives of Irish-American and Jewish groups.

Singer Pinza Hopes to Return as TV Actor

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Ezio Pinza, who suffered two heart attaks last year, says he hopes to start working again in the fall — but not at singing.

★ ★ ★

The operatic basso who starred in the hit musical "South Pacific" and "Fanny" told reporters last night he just wants to act.

"I hope to do some work on the stage or television," he said. "I would like to do short television films."

★ ★ ★

He said, however, he had signed no contracts as yet.

Pinza suffered what was described by his doctors as a coronary occlusion at his home here Dec. 3. In Ausust he suffered an attack at his summer home in Cervia, Italy.

She's Hollywoodish on Only One Count

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"The only thing Hollywoodish about me," said Kathryn Grayson, tilting her turned-up nose to the world "is that I'm still friendly with my two ex-husbands."

"Yes!" agreed a friend. "You were out with Johnny the other night."

★ ★ ★

"WHICH Johnny?" laughed Kathryn, whose first was Johnny Shelton, actor, and whose second was Johnny Johnson, crooner—and the twain HAVE met, with Miss Grayson. "As a matter of fact, Johnny Shelton's wife, Lorraine, wore my maternity clothes! Johnny Shelton is just crazy about Patty Cake, my daughter by Johnny Johnston—as well as about her father."

★ ★ ★

"I think it's better to be friendly. I'd hate to have anybody hate me," she added philosophically. "If you and an ex-husband are enemies, you waited too long to get a divorce."

KATHRYN

I suspect that Miss Grayson (the former Zelma Kathryn Medrick of Ashville, N. C., and St. Louis) is unique.

"People say you're a recluse," I mentioned hesitantly.

"Just for minding my own business and staying home, they think I'm odd," she smiled. "I don't fall in love every day. I've been married twice—and in love three times—let's stop right there. That's all you're going to find out!"

About 35, Kathryn's adding to her movie fame by doing TV shows.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Ailing Jimmy Dorsey, unable to rejoin his band, will be replaced by Charlie Spivak, April 2. When Jim Arness (on TV's "Gunsmoke") asked John Wayne for a job, Duke said, "Do you drink?" Jim said yes—and got the job . . . Been in it a whole year—and nobody's called me a bum!"

Rosalind Russell wants husband Freddie to open "New Girl in Town" at 7:30 p.m.—so she can see most of it before going to work.

Nervous Phil Silvers wants expectant Wifie to go to hospital already, also turned down a fat Las Vegas deal so he could wife-sit . . . Robert Clary, the pint-sized French singer, doesn't have a single French tune in his act . . .

Dramatic Roles Interest Jackie

Mystery Series to Fill Hour Currently Taken by Funnyman

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—It now appears certain that Jackie Gleason will not be presenting a regular weekly television show on CBS-TV in the 1957-58 season.

★ ★ ★

Gleason's manager George Durgom says that no contract for a weekly show has been signed with the network for next season and that Gleason does not want to continue a weekly program.

GLEASON

While CBS has no official comment, it is known that a new hour-length mystery program based on the adventures of Perry Mason is tentatively scheduled for Gleason's Saturday night hour.

★ ★ ★

The breaking up of the Gleason troupe is imminent. Art Carney has announced that he is separating himself from Gleason this spring. Audrey Meadow's contract is up for option in June.

After seven years Gleason has found that a weekly TV program "is physically too tough," Durgom said.

This does not mean that Gleason will not be seen on television. His contract with CBS has 15 years to run—and he will be paid whether or not he works.

★ ★ ★

But Gleason likes to work — in moderation. An excellent actor, he loves show business and obviously is interested in dramatic roles. He will play himself, for example, in a Climax dramatic production next month about the life of June Taylor.

This season his audience viewing ratings have slipped below those of Perry Como, who appears opposite him on NBC-TV.

Group Sponsors Square Dance at CAI Building

A square dance, to raise funds to fight Cystic Fibrosis, a disease that annualyl kills 7,000 youngsters in the U.S., will be given tonight at the Waterford Activities Building, starting at 8 p.m.

The dance is sponsored by the Michigan Cystic Fibrosis Assn., made up largely of parents whose children have the disease or have died from it.

As part of the nation-wide fight on C.F., Gov. G. Mennen Williams has proclaimed April 8-15 as Cystic Fibrosis Week in Michigan.

The disease just recently is being understood by the medical profession and involves heavy mucus secretions which prevent the pancreas from properly aiding food digestion.

The C.F. Assn. will meet April 10 at Ford Hosiptal auditorium, Detroit, and those interested in its work can attend.

Flamingo Whistle Good as Automation

NEW YORK (AP)—It used to take six men more than an hour to round up the Bronx Zoo's 14 flamingoes. Now it takes a single blast on a police whistle.

★ ★ ★

The whistle was the idea of William G. Conway, associate curator of birds. When the experiment started, each of six men was equipped with a whistle which he blew intermittently.

★ ★ ★

City Residents Walk Only to Their Cars

Pedestrian Draws Curious Glances

By DENIS N. HAWKER
Visiting Australian Journalist

I took a stroll Sunday in bright spring sunshine two miles west on Huron street and back.

HAWKER

I couldn't have felt more conspicuous had I been wearing a Martian helmet (complete with antenna), full evening dress, and been carrying a bow and arrow with atomic warhead.

I was the only person walking in Pontiac—or so it seemed.

And every eye in the hundreds of passing cars appeared to be regarding me as an oddity. Frequently I felt like breaking into an embarrassed trot to escape the glances of people in parked cars who I felt were considering rushing me off for psychiatric examination.

All this preamble is another way of saying that it seems to me walking is a dying art in America—the result of another phase of almost complete mechanization.

Even teenagers despise their feet as an aid to mobility. I stopped to watch youths practicing basketball in a playfield. Judging by the number of cars parked nearby, not one had arrived on foot. Many high school students drive to classe.

Australia has a high car consciousness—its ratio of cars to population is not much less than America's—but there are people who still like a walk. As Australia approaches America's optimum in car density, walking will become progressively less popular.

A noticeable product of the high ratio of cars to population in the United States is the adverse effect on efficiency and convenience of public transport, which is in danger of atrophying from lack of use.

PROBLEM DEVELOPS

This is a fast developing problem in Australia where more and more buses, suburban trains, and street cars are failing to pay their way because of falling patronage. The result has been frequent and unpopular fare increases.

The only factor saving public transport "down under" has been the inability of all cities to meet adequately the challenge of the automobile. Cities suffer from downtown traffic chaos and outlets are choked at peak hours. Off-street parking is still in its infancy.

In consequence many car owners prefer the use of public transport to the irritations, delays, and mental dyspepsia of city driving and parking.

This is pretty rough on shoe manufacturers, although there could be a fortune in store for the man who puts on the market shoes with the ball of the right foot reinforced to meet the wear of the accelerator pedal.

State Legislature Gets Bill to Hike Jobless Pay

LANSING (INS) — A bill that would hike average unemployment compensation checks by 40 per cent was introduced in the State House of Representatives Thursday by Rep. Joseph Kowalski (D-Det).

Average checks would jump from $33.89 to $45.71 a week for 26 weeks under the proposed schedule, bringing compensation benefits to within half of a worker's regular earnings.

Card-Playing Friends Get Identical Deals

HOWELL (INS) — Mrs. Donald Kirby and Mrs. William Murphy, long-time friends and neighbors really believe in doing things together.

The women and their husbands were playing cards when the ladies both expectant mothers announced the stork was on his way.

Mrs. Kirby gave birth to a 6 pound 4 ounce baby girl shortly after arriving at the hospital. Mrs. Murphy gave birth to a baby girl — weighing the same amount — three minutes later.

An Ohio woman explained how she so swiftly bathed and bedded her children: "I wash and my husband wipes" . . . Easter tale: "I want to exchange this hat," a woman announced. "Must be something wrong with it. My husband thinks it's pretty."—Earl Wilson
