Soviets Mulling Bombing China? U. S. Concerned

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Intelligence reports that the Soviet Union may be considering an air attack on China's nuclear installations have caused serious concern at highest levels here over possibility of war between the two Communist giants.

The reports, coming from Communist sources of varying degrees of credibility, assert Soviet leaders have been sounding out their Warsaw Pact partners, as well as some Communist party leaders in Western Euurope, as to what their attitude would be if the Soviet Union had to take such an extreme step.

★ ★ ★

However, other information reaching Washington has cast doubt on the truth of these reports.

★ ★ ★

Versions from some other Western delegates at the meeting tend to discount the reports as exaggerations or as delierate misinformation promoted by non-Soviet Communist factions for their own interest.

CONSIDERED SERIOUSLY

Some authorities here believe the reports have been planted by Moscow for psychological effect against Peking.

★ ★ ★

In view of the steadily increasing bitterness between Russia and China and their recurrent border clashes, however, the intelligence reports are being considered very seriously at the highest levels in the Nixon administration.

★ ★ ★

The assumption of those authorities who tend to believe the reports is that the Soviet Union wants to determine whether such extreme action would cost it support within the international Communist community, particularly in Eastern Europe.

The reports all appear to be talking about a possible Soviet attack by bombers armed with conventional weapons against Lop Nor and other Chinese nuclear facilities.

CHINESE RETALIATION

If Soviet leaders are indeed considering such a strike, China could retaliate with a massive land invasion.

The Soviets would then be faced with a decision of whether to use nuclear weapons to halt the armed hordes China could throw against them.

Teachers Settle in Waterford

A Waterford Township teacher strike was averted early today when negotiators for teachers and the school board unexpectedly reached agreement on a new teachers' contract.

Prospects for a strike had been good yesterday, which would have delayed the opening of school. It is now likely schools will reopen on schedule a week from today.

★ ★ ★

"We didn't expect to settle the contract issues at all yesterday," Warren Williams, executive director of the teachers' Waterford Education Association, commented.

"It surprised us too," remarked acting Supt. Dr. John Pagen. "It was a compromise. The teachers gave up some things and we analyzed the possibility of a strike."

'MORE BELT-TIGHTENING'

"But the proposed contract means we will have to do more belt-tightening. We'll have to go with a total austerity program, which I will say more about later."

Now all that remains to be done to send teachers back to work Tuesday to prepare for school opening next Thursday is approval of the one-year pact by a vote of the teachers and the board of education.

★ ★ ★

Williams said teachers are set to meet 7 p.m. tomorrow at Mason Junior High School, 3835 W. Walton, to vote on the proposed contract. The district has about 650 teachers.

Pagen said he would try to call a meeting of the board of education for tomorrow to vote on the measure.

6 MONTHS OF TALKS

Tentative agreement was reached after six months of negotiations. A state mediator had recently been conducting negotiations. Tuesday he had called for fact-finding by the State Labor Mediation Board.

"We're very happy with the proposed settlement," Wiliams said. "We got a pretty competitive salary scale. It is a substantial jump on all levels. Salary was the key issue among six unresolved areas."

★ ★ ★

All issues were solved after school administrators returned from a two-day preschool workshop late yesterday and called a negotiation meeting, which lasted eight hours until 2 a.m. today. The state mediator wasn't present.

Nixon Criticized on College Strife

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Republican congressmen who toured the nation's colleges last spring say the administration has done little to ease the basic sources of campus ferment.

★ ★ ★

"The critical urgency of the problem cannot be overstated," the 22 GOP congressmen reported to President Nixon on June 17.

★ ★ ★

And now, Rep. William A. Steiger says:

"I think it's fair to say most of the people who took that tour would tend to say things would still be difficult this year."

CONTRADICTS FINCH

The Wisconsin congressman contradicted the assessment of Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, who was quoted last week as saying chances for a quiet year on campuses are very promising.

"I think the tempo of the student demonstrations on Vietnam will pick up this fall," said Rep. R. Lawrence Coughlin of Pennsylvania, one of those who made the spring tour.

★ ★ ★

Some moves over the summer have been encouraging, representatives of the informal coalition said in interviews, but progress has been slight in alieviating student discontent over basic issues like the draft, their alienation from national politics and the depersonalization of big modern universities.

Even if passions aroused by past issues fade, the congressmen say, the discontent is volatile enough to feed protests over yet-unknown issues.

State Police Guard of Lazaros to Stay

The director of the State Police today denied rumors that the agency is considering cutting back police protection of Mafia informer Peter Lazaros of Troy.

"We are considering no such change at the present time," said Col. Fredrick Davids at his Lansing office.

★ ★ ★

"Federal indictments have little to do with our duty to protect the man and his family while he is testifying before the Oakland County grand juror," he added.

Lazaros of 2410 Dalesford was indicted Tuesday by a 23-man federal grand jury on 12 counts of perjury concerning testimony he had offered about Mafia bribes to public officials.

★ ★ ★

"The Oakland County grand jury is still going strong, and the State Police will continue to give Lazaros and his family protection as long as we feel he needs it," Davids said.

"He still needs it," Davids concluded.

FAIR QUEEN — Gay S. Chipman, 17, a 1969 graduate of Birmingham Groves High School, was crowned Miss Michigan State Fair last night in competition with nine other finalists at the fair in Detroit, who were chosen from a field of 55. The 5-foot-4 blonde is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Chipman, 26111 Carol, Franklin Village. Miss Chipman is a dental assistant and enjoys swimming, tennis, skiing and modeling.

Sailor Tells How Turtle Saved Him

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It took a whale to save Jonah from the briny deep. Chung Nam Kim says he made it with a turtle, and he's got witnesses.

Kim, a 27-year-old South Korean sailor, said yesterday a turtle kept him afloat after he fell from the deck of a merchant ship in the Pacific Ocean.

★ ★ ★

Hours after his strange adventure began, he was picked up by a Swedish freighter, the Citadel.

Crewmen of freighter said Kim was swimming with one arm on a turtle's back, and one of them took pictures to prove it.

TELLS HIS STORY

Kim related his story in a radio-telephone interview aboard the Citadel, which is due here tomorrow.

He said he was a deckhand aboard the Federal Nagara, a Liberian ship headed for New York.

★ ★ ★

As the ship sailed about 100 miles off Nicaragua last Friday, Kim said, he got a headache. It was about 2 a.m. and he couldn't sleep.

So he walked out on the deck for some fresh air, he said, and "one foot went off — and then I went off. Nobody saw it."

"I had been swimming — it seemed like 13 hours," he said, when he saw an animal. "I thought it was a shark, then I could see it was a turtle.

"I threw an arm around it and we swam, very slowly, very slowly, for about two hours."

★ ★ ★

Finally he spotted the Citadel. Sailors of the freighter threw Kim a lifebelt. He grabbed it and they pulled him out.

Kim said he looked back and saw the turtle disappear under the water. Nobody on the ship saw it again.

Fine Days Due Through Saturday

Some clouds will drift in and out of the Pontiac area today, tonight and tomorrow, but weather will continue mostly fair for the period.

The weatherman predicts temperatures will soar to near 90, today and tomorrow with little change Saturday. The low will be a mild 62 to 68 tonight.

Winds are south to southwest at 6 to 18 miles per hour.

No precipitation is predicted through Saturday.

The low temperature before 8 a.m. was 62, and the mercury had zoomed to 88 by 2 p.m.

SUMMER'S END — Tourists return from a visit to Chappaquiddick Island in Massachusetts aboard the two-car ferry "On Time," while sailboats from nearby Edgartown Yacht Club race in the background. The Labor Day weekend marks the end of a booming season for the once-secluded island. Hundreds of tourists visiting Martha's Vineyard took the side trip on the tiny ferry to visit the bridge where a car driven by Sen. Edward Kennedy plunged into the water, killing a secretary, Mary Jo Kopechne, 28.

U.S. Must Keep GIs in S. Korea—Park

SEOUL (AP) — President Chung Hee Park declared today that U.S. forces will have to remain in South Korea until the threat from all Communists in North Asia is eliminated.

He referred to the Soviet Union as well as Communist China and North Korea.

★ ★ ★

Park's interview with the Associated Press was his first interview since his talks with President Nixon in San Francisco last week.

★ ★ ★

Asked when U.S. forces could be reduced or withdrawn, Park said he and Nixon had discussed the subject, and both recognized the threat from the North Koreans.

'U.S THWARTS N. KOREA'

"The reason they are not executing their invasion plans," the president said, "is because the U.S. forces are in Korea. A withdrawal of U.S. forces is not foreseeable until the threat has been eliminated. And until then, the continued presence of U.S. forces will be required."

Park said South Korea probably would achieve economic self-sufficiency by the end of the third economic plan in 1976.

★ ★ ★

"Militarily, however," he said, "we are inferior in some aspects to North Korea. We have to improve our weapons and make them strong enough to deter the North Koreans. When that can be achieved is difficult to predict."

★ ★ ★

Park added that even if South Korea could withstand an offensive from North Korea, the U.S. presence would have to continue in the face of threats from the Soviet Union and Communist China.

"If the United States were not here," he said, "we would give the Communists an opportunity of renewing their invasion of 1950.

1950 RENEWAL FEARED

"If Korea were communized, Japan would be the next target."

★ ★ ★

Concerning Japan's campaign to regain Okinawa and his own opposition to closing of the U.S. bases there, Park said he had taken pains to make clear he does not wish to interfere in the territorial and administrative functions of Okinawa, that these have to be worked out between Japan and the United States.

★ ★ ★

"Militarily, however, the bases are not only for safeguarding Japan but for defending the free nations in this part of the world," he continued. "Therefore, they have great impact in safeguarding freedom in this area."

★ ★ ★

Park said he is opposed to any withdrawal of U.S. forces from Okinawa without adequate provisions or alternatives.

Told the U.S. people were puzzled by North Korea's seizure of the Pueblo and its downing of a U.S. reconnaissance plane over international waters, Park said he was equally puzzled. His guess, he said, was that the North Koreans were testing the degree of U.S. determination to defend South Korea and attempting to split the United States and South Korea.

Red Infiltration Replaced Viet Loss--Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said today North Vietnam sent about 100,000 troops into South Vietnam during the first half of this year, enough to "substantially replace" enemy combat losses.

The Pentagon figured enemy killed during that period at 93,653 but said that loss would be expanded when prisoners, wounded and defections are added in.

★ ★ ★

It was the first time in months that the Defense Department has released infiltration figures and came at a time when the Pentagon was seeking to play down the idea that it stands in sharp disagreement with the State Department over the significance of a recent infiltration decline.

★ ★ ★

Defense spokesman Jerry Friedheim, asserting that there is no disagreement, said both agencies agree that infiltration is lower this year and that there may be a decline of enemy strength in South Vietnam as a result.

CAUTION ON SIGNIFICANCE

But whereas the State Department said it viewed the development as "significant," Friedheim said: "We interpret this cautiously."

★ ★ ★

Friendhelm said the 100,000-man infiltration figure for the first half of 1969 is half the infiltration figure for the corresponding period in 1968, but he said any comparison of the two figures "must be made cautiously" because of special factors which existed last year.

★ ★ ★

Among these, Friedheim said, are the fact that in early 1968 North Vietnam was preparing for the big Tet offensive. He said also the halt of the U.S. combing of North Vietnam last fall and weather factors over Laos this spring must be considered in any assessment of this year's lowered infiltration.

★ ★ ★

Friedheim said that while the enemy may have suffered a slight loss in strength in South Vietnam, his strength "remains sufficient to conduct operations under his present strategy."

★ ★ ★

Friedheim used the 100,000 infiltration figure because he said he did not have "specific figures which would be meaningful for public release."

'Nixon to Rule in Jetport Rift'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading conservationist says a White House decision is imminent on the controversial jetport at the edge of Everglades National Park in southern Florida.

Thomas L. Kimball, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation, said President Nixon would decide the issue since the Department of Transportation wants the air terminal built while the Department of Interior fears it will harm the park.

★ ★ ★

Federal approval is necessary for financial aid and designation as an airport for international flights.

Kimball's group, the National Parks Association, Sierra Club, National Audubon Society, and the Wilderness Society say the huge aircraft and the thousands of people who would settle around the airport would ruin the park.

POLLUTION FORESEEN

In the jetport the conservationists see the entire spectrum of pollution: exhaust products; sewage, fertilizer, insecticide runoffs corrupting the water; jet engine noise disturbing the peace of the swamp.

The park is a mixture of broad cypress swamps and savannah, pine stands, salt meadows and mangrove thickets alive with alligators, osprey, panther — a tropical ecology unknown to the rest of the nation.

A rise of two feet in the water level can change hundreds of square miles into swamp and shallow lake. The park's water supply has been manipulated dangerously in the past at the expense of the wildlife.

Poachers have illegally taken upwards of 20,000 alligator hides a year until this situation has finally been considered extremely serious by the Interior Department.

CONSTRUCTION STARTED

As the conservation groups muster for the latest crunch some runway construction already has started at the 39-square mile jetport site. Presently, the site is called a training facility for commercial pilots.

★ ★ ★

Kimball said decisions must also be made as to whether an alternate site is available which would cause less damage to the park. If the jetport is to be built, Kimball added, a decision must also be made on what stipulations there could be to help protect the park.

HENRY CABOT LODGE

XUAN THUY

N. Viet Troop Pullout a Must, Hanoi Told

PARIS (AP) — The United States warned today that a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam war is impossible as long as Hanoi rejects the principle of a mutual withdrawal of all non-South Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam.

* * *

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told the 32nd session of the deadlocked peace talks that more than 130 battalions of regular North Vietnamese forces are "actively engaged against South Vietnam."

* * *

"It is thus impossible for the people of South Vietnam to determine their own future freely unless these troops from North Vietnam return to North Vietnam," he went on.

* * *

"This is why it is impossible to achieve a negotiated settlement until the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam is willing to act on the principle that all non-South Vietnamese forces will leave South Vietnam."

DEMAND DENOUNCED

North Vietnamese delegate Xuan Thuy immediately repeated Hanoi's long-standing rejection of any mutual troop withdrawal.

* * *

He denounced the American demand as a trick to prolong the U.S. "occupation of South Vietnam" and protect the "puppet regime"—a reference to the South Vietnamese government.

* * *

"Ever since this conference started, the United States has insisted on its extremely unreasonable demand of mutual withdrawal, which we have many times criticized and rejected," Thuy said.

* * *

"Undoubtedly, by putting forward this demand, the United States aims at finding some justification for sending its troops to the other end of the globe to invade Vietnam, and at equating the United States—the aggressor — with the Vietnamese people—the fighters against aggression."

Israel Begs for Safety of Jews in Arab Lands

By The Associated Press

Israel's parliament called on all nations of the world today to help save the Jews of Iraq, Syria and Egypt "before it is too late." It also demanded an urgent United Nations investigation into the plight of Jews in Arab lands.

The Knesset was called out of summer recess for a special session to discuss the execution Monday of 15 alleged Iraqi spies, including two Jews. Nine other Jews were executed in Baghdad earlier this year.

Prime Minister Golda Meir accused the U.N. Human Rights Commission of "making a mockery of elementary rules of fairness" by failing to investigate the situation of Jews in Arab countries while conducting an investigation of alleged Israeli atrocities in occupied lands.

She said the commission's investigation of Arab allegations of Israeli atrocities "in fact encouraged Iraqi rulers to go ahead with their policy of mock trials and hangings."

'BLIND HATRED'

The 3,000 Jews in Iraq "are helplessly exposed to the blind hatred of the Arab states toward Israel," Mrs. Meir charged.

As she spoke, about 50 Israelis of Iraqi origin assembled outside the Knesset building for a silent demonstration protesting the Iraqi executions.

* * *

David Rivlin, Israeli Foreign Office spokesman, told newsmen Israel views the persecution of Jews in Iraq "very, very gravely."

"Even non-Arab Moslem countries have bitterly deplored the executions there, not to mention every enlightened government and the free press of the world," he said. "But nothing seems to stop the Iraqis. There are scores of Jews in prison. They have a life of terror and persecution.

"If they are not stopped by world opinion, they will no doubt hang more people, more Jews in this bloodthirsty business."

In Beirut, Lebanon, King Hussein of Jordan said in a newspaper interview war with Israel was inevitable "and the possibility exists of an explosion at any time."

* * *

Hussein's comments, printed by the paper Al Jarida, reflected his hardening line in the Middle East conflict.

"We are now prepared to take these blows and deal with them soundly," he said, adding that if the West refused to supply him with arms, he would turn elsewhere—an obvious reference to Moscow.

* * *

Hussein charged certain big powers had encouraged Israel to reject the Security Council resolution of November 1967, which lays down the guidelines of a settlement.

Year-Round School OK'd

LANSING (UPI)—The State Board of Education yesterday adopted rules allowing year-round operation of schools in Michigan.

Under the new rules, districts may apply for state aid payments based on pupil counts taken four times a year instead of the usual one time.

* * *

The counts are set up for the fourth Fridays in July, October, January and April.

The year-round plan has been endorsed by many school officials and legislators as the best way to fully use school facilities and personnel.

OTHER ACTION

In other action, board members asked that a report be made on alleged delay of school funds to the Ferndale School District. The district, now engaged in hearings with the federal government over charges of discrimination in the system, claimed the Department of Education delayed funds following the federal charges.

Birmingham

Story Hour Registration Set Tuesday

BIRMINGHAM — Registration for fall preschool story hours is Tuesday at Baldwin Public Library. Registration must be done in person during regular business hours.

Children aged 3-5 and not enrolled in kindergarten are invited to the story hour program. Preference will be given to children not enrolled in nursery school.

* * *

Classes will be limited to 25 each of 4 seven-week sessions beginning Sept. 9 and 10. Story time is 10-10:30 a.m. on Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

Several Birmingham - Bloomfield area students will be among the college students from all over the world who will attend the Christian Science Biennial College meeting this weekend in Boston, Mass.

Area students include Skip Brown, 520 Wimbleton, and Ken and Cecil Pratt, 1509 Birmingham, all of Birmingham; and Andy Cummins, 4252 Derry, Bloomfield Hills. From Bloomfield Township are Mark and Marcia Moyer, 3917 Cottontail Lane Bonnie Anderson, 421 S. Cranbrook; Bunny and Susan McBride, 6845 Whysall; and Steve Rea of 5400 Lane Lake.

* * *

Purpose of the three-day meeting is to discuss by panel, workshop and plenary sessions such topics as campus and community tensions, racial conflict, the drug problem, marriage and birth control, morality, conscientious objection to military service and social action.

BIRMINGHAM — Driver education is available to any student residing within the boundries of the Birmingham Public School District. The course, Sept. 13 to Jan. 31, 1970, will meet each Saturday.

A student must be 15. Assignment to a given term will be based solely on the applicant's age. Older students will have priority.

* * *

Applications for the fall term are available at the Department of Added Education at the Birmingham Schools Administration Building, 550 W. Merrill, or at any secondary school counseling office.

To participate, a student must complete an application form and return it by Sept. 6.

'70 Car Prices Going Up; Only Question: How Much?

From Our News Wires

DETROIT — The price of the 1970 model cars is going up. Exactly how much won't be known until the auto makers stick the price tags on when the new cars go on sale in dealer showrooms next month.

But, Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. already are billing dealers for tentative price hikes ranging as high as $275 on Ford's Continental Mark III.

* * *

A spokesman said Ford is sending advance billings to dealers calling for increases averaging $68, or about 2 per cent over the price of the 1969 models.

Chrysler said the prices of its 1970 models will be higher, but wouldn't give an average increase.

BROADER WARRANTY

Ford also announced today its 1970 model cars and light trucks will carry a simplified 12-month warranty with no mileage limitation, providing free service in virtually all cases during the first 90 days of the warranty period.

Ford said the new warranty also contains no limitation on number of owners and eliminates requirements for validation of maintenance.

The new warranty will take effect with new Mavericks — designated as 1970 models — sold today.

The actual prices to the car buyer will be announced next month — Ford shortly before its new cars go on sale Sept. 19 and Chrysler shortly before its new cars go on the market Sept. 23.

GM HOLDS KEY

But, it will be General Motors Corp., the giant of the auto industry, which may again determine the actual price hikes.

GM refuses to comment so far on its 1970 car prices, but when it does, any increase is sure to influence the rest of the industry since GM annually accounts for more than half of the auto sales.

NAACP Plans Suits on Building Bias

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The national labor director of a civil rights organization said today his group will file "several suits" to stop all construction being funded with public money to back up demands that more Negroes be admitted to craft unions.

"We are not going to allow billions of dollars of federal, state and municipal funds to be used to subsidize racial discrimination in the construction industry," said Herbert Hill, national labor director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

* * *

Hill said the NAACP next week will file the first of several suits in U.S. District Courts across the nation to stop the expenditure of funds "on projects where Negro workers are barred from getting a fair share of jobs by the building and trades unions."

St. Benedict School Stays Open Another Year in Face of Deficits

St. Benedict's school will open as scheduled Wednesday in spite of mounting financial problems. It may be the last year for the Catholic elementary school, however, officials indicate.

Some 540 pupils attend the parish school which ended the last school year with a $58,000 deficit. Projected deficit for the 1969-70 year is $79,000.

* * *

The parish school board was reportedly seriously considering closing the school at Highland and Voorheis — a move that would put most of the pupils into Waterford Township's financially-troubled public schools.

However, a directive came from the archdiocese in Detroit ordering the school kept open.

PARISH DEBT $350,000

A spokesman for the school's finance committee, points out the parish is now facing a $350,000 total debt. From studies the spokesman asserts the school is efficiently run and on a cost-per-pupil basis operates very economically. At the same time educational standards rate highly and staff morale is reportedly excellent.

However, the school's future looks dark, it was indicated, unless other forms of revenue are found.

* * *

Other Catholic schools in the area have closed recently. St. Vincent's in Pontiac closed down completely last June and Pontiac St. Michael's ended first through third grades this fall.

3-Death Crash Leaves Boy 'Fair'

A 6-year-old Pontiac boy remained in fair condition today in Pontiac General Hospital after a car-truck crash Wednesday killed his mother, sister and baby sitter.

Hospital officials today said George Morris, 6, of 141 W. Beverly suffered internal injuries in the 10 a.m. accident.

* * *

Dead are Mrs. James (Mallie) Johnson, 27, of 141 W. Beverly; her daughter, Billie Jean Morris, 4, of the same address; and Kenneth LaFond, 16, of 2175 Silver Bell, Oakland Township.

LaFond was believevd to have been a family baby sitter. All were passengers in the car driven by Mrs. Johnson. The driver of the truck, James Barnett, 25, of Madison Heights, was not injured seriously.

THROUGH STOP SIGN

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said three witnesses reported Mrs. Johnson's auto was traveling westbound on Silver Bell when it went through a stop sign and collided with the northbound truck on M24.

The car and the truck both were thrown into a ditch in the median of the divided highway. The late-model auto was torn from its frame from the impact of the collision.

* * *

Barnett said he was traveling at about 45 miles an hour and estimated Mrs. Johnson's speed at 15 m.p.h. at the time of the collision.

Polaris-Gap Fear Based on 'Intuition'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy adviser has told Congress intuition and uneasiness—rather than technical evidence—apparently is the basis for Pentagon warnings the Polaris submarine may become vulnerable to attack after 1972.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Harvey Brooks, dean of engineering and applied physics at Harvard University, and a member of the Naval Research Advisory Committee, gave the testimony before a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee May 16.

A censored version of Brooks' testimony was released Wednesday. Brooks dealt with the Polaris assessment on March 20 of Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird in the secretary's testimony concerning the Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

"If this particular question of Polaris vulnerability is limited to the period through 1972, I would say that I believe that our force will remain very free from attack," Laird said. "If you go beyond that time period, I seriously question that."

Brooks said he knew of no developments in submarine warfare which would lead to that judgment.

"The only basis on which I can think of such a statement being made is just general intuition that any technological capability tends to erode after a sufficient length of time, for reasons which we cannot foresee right now . . .

"But it would be only on that basis that I could give any kind of support to Secretary Laird's statement," Brooks said, "not on the basis of any specific technological development of which I am aware."

"The only basis on which I think that statement might have been made is just the feeling that once the Russians had 200 attack submarines deployed, that would sort of correspond to the 1972 time period," Brooks said.

State School Board Faces Lively Session

LANSING (AP) — Unsettled teacher contracts, racial unrest in the classroom and a brewing palace revolution in the State Board of Education presage a lively time when the board reconvenes Sept. 8 and 9 in Lansing.

Meanwhile, Gov. William Milliken's office and the state's teacher bargaining units — the Michigan Education Association and the Michigan Federation of Teachers — reported contract agreements Wednesday in three more districts—leaving 186 districts across the state without them.

Settlements have been reached in 347 districts.

Milliken defended Dr. Ira Polley, Democratic state superintendent of schools, after a plan to seek Polley's ouster failed to develop.

★ ★ ★

Polley "is doing a good job and I support him," Milliken said. James F. O'Neil, a Republican board member from Livonia, charged the superintendency was "too much" for Polley and called a news conference to announce his plans to propose the board put someone else in the job.

The State Constitution allows the board-six Democrats and two Republicans — to do that by a majority vote of five.

★ ★ ★

O'Neil said Polley, who had been on vacation, was in Lansing and would attend the meeting, but when Polley did not appear, O'Neil said he would postpone the attempted ouster.

Marilyn Jean Kelley, a Democrat on the board, branded O'Neil's charges "flimsy fabrication for self-serving purposes." She was supported by Edwin Novak, a Flint Democrat.

ANGRY PARENTS

Polley's proposal of statewide sex education guidelines led O'Neil to call for his removal at an earlier meeting.

As that matter awaited further resolution, angry white parents from Inkster charged Tuesday racial antagonism and poor classroom discipline have handicapped their children in that city's schools.

Hikes in Interest Reprehensible, Romney Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Hikes in interest rates by bankers are "just as reprehensible and indefensible" as demands for higher pay from workers in the housing industry, George Romney, secretary of housing and urban development, said Wednesday.

The former Michigan governor told a news conference housing starts are at their lowest during a housing shortage. Housing, said Romney, is suffering the most from the tightening of credit.

A solution to the Vietnam war would boost the gross national product and provide more federal dollars for cities, he said.

When newsmen pointed out that Daniel P. Moynihan, the President's urban affairs adviser, had said the hoped-for peace dividend "just wasn't there," Romney said he was "not sure the newspaper accounts are right" Moynihan's statement "might have been taken out of context," he added.

MEA Hits Detroit Affiliate

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Education Association has revoked the charter of its 1,200-member Detroit affiliate, charging the local group mismanaged funds and failed to communicate and cooperate with the parent body.

★ ★ ★

A Detroit Education Association official, however, said his group couldn't be expelled because it quit the MEA in May.

★ ★ ★

Robert Johnson, DEA president said the Detroit unit pulled out because of its opposition to MEA proposals for agency shop provisions in contracts and what Johnson termed "pornographic material" used in sex education programs.

★ ★ ★

The Detroit unit had been on probation since November 1967.

MEA board action, taken at a recent meeting, means the Detroit local no longer will receive subsidies and service from the state group and will not be able to use the name "education association," an MEA spokesman said.

Board action is subject to appeal through the MEA Board of Reference.

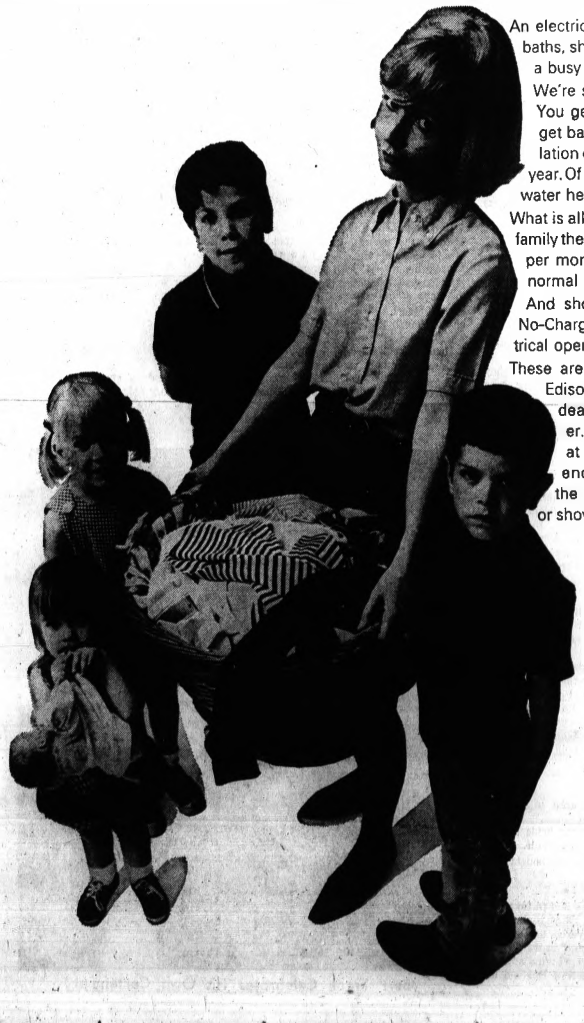
You'll run out of things to wash before you run out of hot water.



An electric water heater can keep up with the baths, showers, dishes and laundry that fill up a busy day.

We're so sure that we guarantee it.

You get all the hot water you need. Or you get back the full purchase price plus installation cost. The guarantee is good for one full year. Of course, it must be an Edison-approved water heater.

What is all this hot water going to run you? For a family the size of that in the picture, about $5.03 per month for an 80-gallon water heater in normal use.

And should you need it, Edison gives you No-Charge Repair Service. No charge for electrical operating parts or labor.

These are a few of the good reasons to call Edison, your licensed plumber or appliance dealer about owning an electric water heater. But another important reason is this: at the end of a long day there'll be enough hot water for the most refreshing bath or shower of the day. Yours.

Lakehead Pipeline — A Point Of Unrest

Townships Will Get Fees

Pipeline Furor to Be Buried

'Nothing Is Really Being Gained By The Townships In The Construction Permit Agreement, But It's Worth The $300 To Get Them Off Our Back' — Lakehead Attorney Leslie Fleming

By NED ADAMSON

The great pipeline battle of northern Oakland County is all but over.

Groveland, Brandon, Addison and Springfield Townships have reached tentative agreement with Leslie Fleming, the attorney representing the Lakehead Pipeline Co., whereby Lakehead will pay each township a $300 fee for a construction permit to extend its pipeline across township roads.

* * *

Under terms of the agreement, the township will be authorized to inspect the installation of the line only where it crosses roads.

The original request stipulated that each township would charge a rate of three cents per lineal foot for inspection of the entire length of the line in each township including private property and public roadways.

AUTHORITY QUESTIONED

According to Fleming, the townships have no authority to inspect the line's installation on private property since Lakehead is a public utility and has acquired easements from private property owners.

This would leave the public roadways as the only points subject to township inspection, Fleming said. He noted that township inspection of the road crossings is "nothing but a mere duplication" since the County Road Commission (which maintains township roads) has already charged Lakehead to conduct inspections.

* * *

"Nothing is really being gained by the townships in the construction permit agreement," Fleming said, "but it is worth the $300 to get them off our back."

Springfield Township Supervisor Nelson VanNatta said Lakehead is violating township ordinances by asserting that private property cannot be inspected because of its classification as a public utility.

NO MONEY FOR FIGHT

"We have inspected a lot of private property including rights-of-way owned by other utilities who have run a line through the township. We simply do not have the financial resources to take Lakehead to court and make a test case of the situation," VanNatta said.

VanNatta said that Lakehead did not want to give the townships authority to inspect the pipeline's installation on private property because it would set a precedent.

* * *

Brandon, Groveland, Springfield, Addison and Oxford's opposition to granting a constuction permit to Lakehead to cross public roadways until inspection privileges were granted is reportedly the first of its kind along the pipeline's entire route.

The line will extend from the Lake Superior region south to Chicago, east to Port Huron.

Frank Sibley, Ortonville attorney who officially represented Groveland and Brandon townships in the negotiations on the terms of the construction permit agreement, said there remained "some clarification" concerning the limitations of the township's inspection privileges.

He maintains it is the township governing body's responsibility to inspect the line's installation throughout its complete extension in each township as a means of protecting property owners from construction damages and other problems incurred in the pipeline's installation.

* * *

One township official summed up the entire hassle with Lakehead as at least setting a precedent since it was the first such confrontation by a township with Lakehead. He admitted that little can really be accomplished in fighting a big company on technicalities.

The official added, however, that the pipeline operation could have similar problems in other areas now that the precedent has been set.

Beards, Girls' Slacks OK'd at North Farmington High

FARMINGTON — The board of education has tentatively approved a dress code permitting women's slacks and men's beards and moustaches at North Farmington High School.

The code is being reviewed by the committee of students, parents and teachers which originally designed it. It originally had allowed shorts and bermuda shorts. The board outlawed men's and women's shorts, although allowing women's bermudas.

* * *

The North Farmington High School administration has pledged to implement the revised code if the committee agrees to the changes.

The code at North Farmington has always been more liberal than the one at Farmington High School, where slacks still are banned.

POSSIBLE UPDATE

A possible updating of the other code, to be worked out by a parent-student committee, has been promised by Farmington High Principal James Geiger.

Some 32 parents this week presented the school board with a petition for the paving of Gill Road in the vicinity of Powers Junior High School.

The dirt road has been a problem since the school opened last year.

The school board agreed to bus children who must walk along Gill until the problem is solved. At the same time, the board's safety committee agreed to investigate the situation more fully.

The petition also was passed on to the township planning commission.

Camille Relief Centers Set Up

Three locations have been set for collection of food and clothing for victims of Hurricane Camille.

Blankets, clothing and canned foods may be left at either Teamsters Local 614 Hall at Telegraph and Golf Drive, Pontiac, or at two Waterford Township Fire stations, No. 2 Station on Walton at Mandrake and No. 3 Station on Elizabeth Lake Road, between Huron and Cass.

* * *

The Teamsters Union will provide trucks to transport donated items to Mississippi, according to the drive's director, Mrs. Jean Lorenz of 165 Serra, Milford.

U.S. Fund Cut Hits Clean Water Plan

DETROIT (AP) — Blaming cutbacks in federal grants, the head of the Detroit Metropolitan Water Services said yesterday the massive water pollution control program for the Detroit area may be delayed two years or longer.

Gerald J. Remus told the State Water Resources Commission that when he set target dates in 1966 for completion of the pollution control program, he anticipated receiving federal and state grants totalling 80 per cent of the estimated $230 million-plus cost.

* * *

He said the currently available federal-state funds total only 55 per cent — with 50 per cent provided by the state as part of last November's $335 million bond issue to curb water pollution.

The Detroit Metropolitan Water Services treats sewage for 55 area communities.

$80 MILLION NEEDED

Remus estimated he will need another $80 million by mid-1970 to supplement the finances raised by the city.

* * *

He said the extra money needed might mean boosting sewage rates for Detroit and the surrounding 54 other communities.

Remus noted that in 1968 Congress authorized $1 billion to be spent in the 1969 fiscal year to clean up the nation's waterways. But, he said, the cost of the Vietnam war and other domestic demands are expected to cut back federal pollution control money to $214 million — of which Michigan is to get $8 million.

John E. Vogt, chairman of the State Water Resources Commission, has said that progress is being made despite shortages of funds.

WORK WILL PROGRESS

"Work will progress at a slower pace, but every time one phase is completed the quality of the water being discharged into the Detroit River will improve," Vogt said.

"You should be able to see measurable improvements in Lake Erie before the compliance dates," he added.

* * *

New deadlines for the Detroit metropolitan system are expected to be set at either the September or October meetings of the commission.

Parade, Battle of Bands

Rochester Plans Youth Day Sept. 13

ROCHESTER — Highlighting Youth Day festivities Sept. 13 during Centennial Week will be a parade featuring pets, dolls and bikes with ribbons to be awarded to youngsters judged the best in their category.

A red, white and blue parade decorated theme has been designated.

* * *

Youth Day chairman Dale Burke has enlisted the support of the Rochester Lions Club in sponsoring many of the activities planned for the youngsters.

Also helping to shape plans for Youth Day are Ralph Riggs and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Larson.

BANDS TO BATTLE

A battle of the bands is scheduled from 4-6 p.m. Sept. 13 with the winner scheduled to play for a street dance from 7-9 p.m. that evening.

Any rock 'n' roll band from the Rochester area is eligible to compete in the battle of the bands. Groups wishing to enter are to contact Malcolm Dickie, 530 Pine. They may also register at centennial headquarters.

Each band group will be allowed 20 minutes playing time in which to present three numbers.

Jury Indicts Five, Including Kin of Missing Woman

DETROIT (UPI) — The federal grand jury investigating organized crime indicted five more persons yesterday, including the brother-in-law of a missing Southfield woman.

Louis A. Ruggirello, 33, Lathrup Village, was indicted for allegedly filing false income tax returns for 1963, 1964 and 1965. His sister-in-law, Judith, was reported missing last August.

Her husband, Antonio, has been charged with failing to register as a gambler in 1963.

Other indictments yesterday included:

Gus Skartsivas, 47, and Rose Poma, 52, both Detroit, were indicted on a charge of conspiracy to use interstate telephone facilities in connection with a number racket.

* * *

Roger Merrill, 23, of 31158 Perry's Crossing, Farmington Township, was indicted on charges of illegal possession of a sawed-off shotgun and illegally making the gun.

Sebastian DeVito, 63, Tempe, Ariz., was indicted on three charges of illegally using the telephone between Detroit and other cities in connection with horseracing bets. Merrill and Sebastian were arrested earlier.

Party's Open to Everyone

Avon Man 100 Saturday

AVON TOWNSHIP — Entering the old farmhouse, one would expect to be quietly ushered into a small back bedroom to meet the man who will be 100 Saturday.

Instead, a daughter escorts the visitor to the living room. After being introduced the venerable Lucius (Bert) Frank began to sing:

"Brought up by honest parents,
And reared most tenderly,
Till I became a roving lad
At the age of 93."

* * *

Sitting in his favorite green easy chair, Crank seemed unconcerned about his upcoming centennial celebration.

His family decided to throw a birthday party for him Saturday at his house, 705 Bloomer. They asked him who they should invite. He said "Anyone who would like to come."

ALL ARE INVITED

So this Saturday from 2-4 p.m. everyone is invited to hear Frank's repertoire of songs and his reminiscences on the past century.

The son of pioneer parents, Frank's grandfather, John, was a colonel in the Michigan Territorial Militia. His father, Lucious Lyon Frank, volunteered in the Civil War and served in the Army of the Cumberland. He lived to be 96.

* * *

Bert began helping his father and grandfather with the farm chores when he was 8. He remembers cleaning the stables, milking the herd of cows and mending fences.

In 1889, 20-year-old Bert left the farm with his older brother, J.R, to homestead in the Upper Peninsula. After the required residence time and "proving up" on the land, they went farther north to "the Copper Country," cleared 40 acres of land and built a six-room house.

GIRL NEXT DOOR

He returned to the area in 1900 to marry "the girl next door," Mabell Howell. He took his young bride to the house he and his brother had built.

They returned in 1913 and bought the house they still live in.

* * *

A dairy farmer, Frank had to take the milk each day to the Yates Station on Avon Road to be delivered to Detroit. Finally he "sold the cows" in 1949. Then he and Mabell took several trips around the country, the last to New England in 1959.

Frank "never thought" he would live to be 100, he said.

'NEVER DOUBTED'

"He never doubted it," corrected his wife, who will only claim to be "over 50."

"I live one day at a time," Frank said.

* * *

He remembers a lot of Rochester-area history: the deep mud road that was Main Street; the township "assessments" — which required a couple of days working on the roads — and the days of the big "water battles" on Fourth Street between Main and Walnut on the Fourth of July — before the street was paved.

Today, Frank says, the only exercise he gets is a "hop, skip and jump." His wife comments, "Once Bert sets his mind to it, he'll get right up, not using his cane, and walk down to the mailbox."

Frank watched the moon walk on the television, but his daughters said he was more impressed with Gen. Eisenhower's funera.

Military uniforms have always thrilled Frank because his father and grandfather were soldiers. He was 48, too old to serve, when the U.S. entered World War I in 1917.

* * *

Mrs. Frank thought the landing on the moon was "marevelous." She said it was "quite a trip."

* * *

Another song Frank likes to sing again and again is:

"The judge he charged the jury
For robbing Jersey City Bank, he's gone to Charleston
There stands an aged father a-drinking at the bar.
There stands a care-worn mother a-pulling out her hair.
And I am only waiting now to hear the Saviour's call — Come Home."

'Bert' Frank Celebrates His Own Centennial

Bloomfield Hills Teachers Agree to Tentative Pact

By NED ADAMSON

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Negotiators for the board of education and the Bloomfield Hills Education Association (BHEA) have tentatively agreed on a two-year contract settlement.

William Maguire, chief board negotiator, said, however, that the agreement should be regarded with caution.

* * *

Two minor points remain to be settled — one of which could present problems, he said.

News Analysis

Accord has been reached on four of the principal contract clauses — salary, academic freedom, grievance procedure and the agency-shop clause.

SALARY PACT 'EXCELLENT'

Negotiators would not release salary terms. However, Robert Kefgen, chairman of the teacher's negotiating team, said the salary pact was "excellent."

* * *

The "excellent" salary could be a concession to the board of education on the agency shop clause, according to some sources. There are unconfirmed reports that the board won its battle to keep the agency-shop clause out of the contract.

Under the agency-shop clause, all teachers would be required to pay dues to the BHEA. Now only 75 per cent of the 462 member teaching staff belong to the BHEA, which Kefgen says is one of the lowest percentages in Oakland County.

"There are many members of our teaching staff who have very militant feelings about not having all teachers pay dues to the teachers association and yet reap the benefits the negotiating team gains for them," Kefgen noted.

EXPECTS OPPOSITION

A contract ratification vote by the teachers is not scheduled until 7:30 a.m. Tuesday when Kefgen expects some floor opposition to the settlement of what he termed "one of the principal issues in the negotiations."

A two-thirds vote is needed for ratification. Kefgen said he was confident at this point that the opposition will not reach the point of causing disapproval of the contract and a subsequent walkout.

* * *

He added that the two issues still on the bargaining table should also not present any serious threat of disturbing the tentative agreement.

Maguire said the board would meet to ratify the contract terms immediately if the teachers ratify as expected Tuesday.

Circuit Court Gets Bus Deaths Case

UTICA — Mrs. Martha E. Miller, charged with negligent homicide as the driver of a school bus which struck and killed two 7-year-old Shelby Township boys in May, has been bound over to Macomb County Circuit Court.

The action followed a pretrial examination earlier this week.

* * *

Mrs. Miller, 46, of 47995 Shelby, Shelby Township, faces a maximum of two years in jail if convicted on the charge in the deaths of Malcolm MacGregor III and James D. Thomas.

The boys were playing in a driveway area when struck by the bus, according to Shelby police.

Set Special Meeting

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — A special meeting of the Township Board is scheduled for 10 a.m. tomorrow at Township Hall, Township Clerk Wayne Converse reports.

Principal business will be the final approval question for "Lakeview Terraces," an $8-million "Planned Unit Community Deveiopment" project of town houses and single homes on 115 acres of Section 7 on Baldwin Road.

Plymouth Revs Up With 'Cuda

Chrysler-Plymouth Division's sports specialty performance entry, the Barracuda, will be available in three distinctive series this year, announces division General Manager Glenn E. White.

The basic Barracuda will appear with the 'Cuda series and the luxury-oriented Gran Coupe in showrooms Sept. 23.

All three versions are four-seaters built on a 108-inch wheelbase with a total length of 186.6 inches. The 'Cuda series has a front track of 60.2 inches and a rear track of 60.7 inches.

In the standard Barracuda and Gran Coupe versions the front track measures 59.7 inches with a rear track of 61.3 inches.

NEW PLYMOUTH 'CUDA — New to the Plymouth Barracuda line for 1970 is the 'Cuda series, offering greater performance potential than ever before available in a compact-size Plymouth. The standard engine has 383 cubic-inch displacement with four-barrel carburetor. All Plymouth high-performance engines are optional. Standard features include heavy-duty suspension and 11-inch brakes. The Barracudas will be in showrooms Sept. 23.

Area dealers are Oakland Chrysler-Plymouth, 724 Oakland, Pontiac; Birmingham Chrysler-Plymouth 2100 W. Maple, Troy; Hahn Chrysler-Plymouth, 6673 Dixie, Clarkston; Milosch Chrysler-Plymouth, 677 S. Lapeer, Lake Orion; and Colonial Chrysler, 209 S. Main, Milford.

* * *

Exterior styling on all three lines of Barracuda is bold and sleek with long hoods and short decks, minimum over-all height and steeply raked windshields.

* * *

Included in the exhaustive list of optionals are an innovative "shaker" hood on the 'Cuda series, road wheels and wire wheel-cover options, AM-FM stereo radio, luggage rack, performance-axle ratio packages, special paint and stripe treatments and five high-output engine choices in the 'Cuda series.

Lazaros Case a Puzzle

Were it not for its overtones of criminality and corruption, the PETER LAZAROS case would rate high as serialized crime fiction.

LAZAROS

In chronological order, the script recounts:

• That LAZAROS, a self-confessed former member of the Mafia, charged reputed Mafia chieftain JOSEPH BARBARA JR. with raping Mrs. LAZAROS and extorting $4,000 from her while her husband was imprisoned.

• That last June, a 23-man Federal grand jury was called to investigate charges of crime and venality made by LAZAROS involving Detroit and Federal officialdom.

★ ★ ★

• That on Aug. 1 a local one-man grand jury began investigation of similar charges by Lazaros against public officials and individuals in the Oakland County area.

★ ★ ★

• That on Aug. 13 BARBARA was convicted of extortion from Mrs. LAZAROS. After BARBARA's conviction, his mother reputedly threatened LAZAROS with the secret death sign of the Mafia, and BARBARA himself, while at liberty on bail awaiting sentence, was said to have given LAZAROS cause for apprehension.

• That on Tuesday the Federal grand jury indicted LAZAROS on 12 counts of perjury.

★ ★ ★

Just what the next developments in the bizarre case will be is anyone's guess. But despite the adverse action of the Federal grand jury which may impugn Lazaros, credibility he is entitled to his day in court, and we urge that his revelations before the local grand jury be considered without prejudice.

Frisco Beauty Seen Saved

San Francisco is widely regarded, even by many Los Angelenos, as one of America's show places, quite possibly the most beautiful city in the Country.

Its greatest asset, both commercial and scenic, has always been its location on the peninsula between the Pacific and majestic San Francisco Bay. Yet thanks to man's relentless and too often heedless assault upon his natural environment, San Francisco came perilously close to seeing much of that asset squandered.

For years man has been nibbling away at the bay, using it as a dump and pushing out landfills for industrial and residential developments. Encroachment finally reached the stage — actual water area is now about half what it was half a century ago — that worried citizens sounded the alarm, fortunately heeded.

California Gov. RONALD REAGAN, climaxing an eight-year, largely uphill "save-the-bay" campaign, has now signed into law a measure which, hopefully, will end the no-holds-barred assault on the bay by placing the public interest at least on a par with private in its development. Future shoreline activity will be strictly controlled by a newly-created commission and must take into consideration recreation and conservation needs as well as industrial uses.

★ ★ ★

San Francisco's experience is, unfortunately, far from unique. Other communities awaken too late, or not at all. The time is long overdue for striking a sensible balance in the use of the environment, to restore what can be restored and preserve what should be preserved.

Awards Await Grid Contest Winner

For the benefit of those who came in late, we repeat our announcement that The Press Annual Football Contest is off and running, if you don't mind a mixed sports metaphor.

The winner of the 16-game elimination sweepstakes becomes the sole owner and proprietor of a $500 U.S. Savings Bond in recognition of his or her preeminent pigskin prognostication. With it goes a figurative crown as Champ Clairvoyant for 1969.

These yearly matchings of minds have uncovered some interesting sidelights. With the exception of two ties (the Michigan-Michigan State fracas in 1963 and the first game of last year's contest) the effect of which was early termination of the contests, the schedules have invariably gone to the last game or two before a winner emerged. Prior to last year, it took, in reverse order, 22, 15, 14 and 13 games to reach a decision; which speaks volumes for the collective savvy of the contestants.

The two ties, incidentally, have been the only ones within memory, a tribute of some sort to the sterling sports scholar who makes up the contest schedules. So rare have been the ties, that we have admiringly dubbed him Tieless Bruno Kearns.

You think this is a pretty puny pun? How 'bout "Shoeless Joe Jackson," star of the White Sox of a bygone day who got involved in the "Black Sox" scandal? Could it be his sox were black because he was shoeless? . . . Get it? (Editor's note: Something told me this would be a bad day.)

That's it for today, boys and girls. The first game of the contest schedule is two weeks from Saturday, so don't put off for too long getting your entry in. Procrastination, you know, is the thief of time. Don't let it rob you of a $500 bond.

CONTEST RULES

1. Every man, woman and child is eligible to enter contest (except Press employes and family members) but are limited to one entry each. All members of families may participate, subject to the same limitation.

2. To enter, you simply check your prediction of the winner of each of the 16 games below (to indicate a tie, leave both boxes blank) sign entry form or facsimile, and dispatch.

3. Entries may be deposited in The Press' Huron Street drop box or mailed. If mailed, they must be enclosed in envelopes (THE POST OFFICE WILL NOT ACCEPT POSTAL CARDS WITH ATTACHED ENTRIES) and addressed to: THE PONTIAC PRESS FOOTBALL CONTEST, P.O. Box 777, Pontiac, Michigan 48056.

4. The contestant who, starting with the first game, correctly predicts without a miss the outcome of the most games will be awarded a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

5. Deadline for Contest entries is Saturday noon, Sept. 13, and entries must be on hand at The Press by that time. Those arriving later, even though postmarked prior, will not be considered.

6. If in the final stage of contest, the few remaining contestants should have predicted the same outcome of a game, this game will be scratched and the contest advanced to the following game.

7. Judges decision on all questions relating to the contest will be final.

David Lawrence Asks:

Are Foundation Curbs Illegal?

WASHINGTON — Perhaps the persons who drafted the tax bill which passed the House of Representatives recently and now is pending in the Senate didn't realize that some of the restrictions to be placed on the operations of private foundations might be declared unconstitutional.

LAWRENCE

The House bill says that such organizations will lose a part of their tax exemption if they engage in any activities "to carry out propaganda, or otherwise attempt to influence legislation" or "to influence the outcome of any public election, including voter registration drives carried on by or for such foundation."

★ ★ ★

The bill specifies that "any attempt to influence legislation through an attempt to affect the opinion of the general public or any segment thereof," as well as any effort to influence legislation by lobbying, would result in a tax equal to 100 per cent of the amounts spent for such activities.

Also, a 50 per cent tax on the amounts expended improperly would be levied on the management of the foundation as a penalty.

COURT RULING

But the Supreme Court of the United States ruled 20 years ago that a labor union — which, of course, is tax-exempt — cannot be prohibited from "expressing views on candidates or proposed measures."

The lawsuit which followed drew attention to the provision of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act that makes it unlawful for labor organizations as well as corporations to contribute to federal election campaigns.

★ ★ ★

The Supreme Court held that if the Corrupt Practices Act "were construed to prohibit the publication, by corporations and unions in the regular course of conducting their affairs, of periodicals advising their members, stockholders or customers of danger or advantage to their interests from the adoption of measures or the election to office of men, espousing such measures, the gravest doubt would arise in our minds as to its constitutionality."

The high court in another case has also ruled that the tax weapon itself cannot be used as a penalty to restrict freedom of the press or freedom of speech.

RIGHT OF FOUNDATIONS

Private foundations, it will be contended, therefore, have just as much right under the Constitution as any other group to set forth their views on politics or subjects of public concern.

Hence, a diminution of their tax exemption because they have expressed opinions on public questions will certainly be challenged before the Supreme Court.

★ ★ ★

The specific question that arises today, however, is whether there can be discrimination in a tax law against one group while another is permitted to carry on the same kind of activities.

Czech Rebels May Face Soviet Punishment Soon

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

There is a long list of accounts waiting to be settled in Czechoslovakia. A whole year has passed since Soviet troops invaded the country, and from the Russians' point of view, the time may be close at hand to exact payment from those who defied Moscow.

RYAN

When and to what extent punishment is to be meted out has not been made clear, but there are broad hints of action to come against people singled out for denunciation. Czechoslovakia's brief experience with political reform are being exposed daily in the Communist press, now in the firm grip of pro-Soviet elements.

★ ★ ★

A raft of official Czechoslovak Communist party statements appeared in the press in connection with the first anniversary of the invasion. These suggest that a power struggle persisted after the Soviet invasion and now is just about resolved in favor of the orthodox leaders who toe Moscow's line.

The party will not take "subversive activity" lightly, said Stefan Sadovsky, pro-Soviet first secretary of the party in Slovakia. He promised that the party will "resolutely and harshly act against those people, wherever this will be necessary, possibly today, tomorrow or at any other time."

TOP LIST

At the top of the list of those being denounced are men like Cestmar Cisar, 49, who was a party secretary under the former chief, Alexander Dubcek. He was fired after the 1968 Soviet invasion. Pravda called him a revisionist, and the Soviet Politburo, in a threatening preinvasion letter to the Prague leaders, accused Cisar of playing "an inciting role."

Another under heavy attack is Josef Smrkovsky, 58. While Dubcek ran the show, Smrkovsky was chairman of the National Assembly, and a popular spokesman for reform. He is accused, among other things, of insisting during the night of the invasion that the Czechoslovak party's ruling Presidium call the entry of Warsaw Pact troops an aggression and an occupation.

★ ★ ★

There are many others on what appears to be a growing purge list. Dubcek himself is being attacked by implication for failing to inform the Presidium of Moscow warnings to change the course of events.

Letter Outlines Purpose of the John Birch Society

Several weeks ago The Pontiac Press carried a series on the Ku Klux Klan and inferred that there was a connection between the Klan and The John Birch Society.

The John Birch Society, by its very nature and structure, is dedicated to the exposure of the International Communist Conspiracy. We have never knowingly admitted and would cancel membership of any person who would attempt to divide the American people along racial or religious lines.

Comments on Sheriff's Use of Helicopter

Last weekend the sheriff's department helicopter used Sylvan Lake as a practice site without informing the public or even their patrol boat what they were doing. In my opinion this is an abuse of our rights. The sheriff's department should not be able to usurp public property without informing the public of their purpose. If they expect the public to support the sheriff's department, they should not operate in a vacuum.

Question and Answer

I must have missed the notices telling when school starts, particularly Will Rogers, Kennedy and Northern. Can you help me?

MRS. R. T. D.

REPLY

First, we'll correct an error in the original notice. It should have said that 10th grade students report to the appropriate SENIOR high for a full day 8:30 a.m. Monday, Sept. 8, not "junior" high as printed. All senior high students report for a full day Tuesday, Sept. 9. Junior and senior high students who haven't already registered should do so next week at their appropriate schools, rather than waiting until the very hectic first day of school. Kindergartners not already enrolled may be enrolled by their parents Friday, Sept. 5 or Monday, Sept. 8. They report for class Tuesday, Sept. 9. Grades 1-6 report for regular morning classes Monday, Sept. 8, and regular full day classes Tuesday, Sept. 9. Seventh graders should report to their appropriate junior high far a full day 8:30 a.m. Monday, Sept. 8. All junior high students report for a full day Tuesday, Sept 9.

Question and Answer

Is there any way to get a rental deposit returned besides going to court? If legal suit is the only way, what is the approximate cost?

MRS. J.

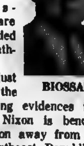
REPLY

We don't know all the circumstances nor can we give legal advice. However, we urge anyone making a rental deposit to get a written agreement. This is a civil matter, and if you have fulfilled your lease and the landlord still refuses to return the deposit, you would have to consult a lawyer. The cost would depend on your lawyer and the specifics of the case. If you can't afford a lawyer, Oakland County Legal Aid might be able to help you.

Nixon Disdain for Northeast Stirs Fear

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Republican sources say that roughly half of the relatively minor "honorary commission" patronage jobs available to the Nixon administration are being handed out to southerners.



BIOSSAT

This is just another of the accumulating evidences that President Nixon is bending his attention away from the liberal Northeast Republican zones toward the South and such other conservative sectors as the Midwestern-plains-mountain heartland and the Pacific Southwest.

★ ★ ★

Visibility of conservative types at the White House and the GOP National Committee in staff posts is running very high.

The word is that Nixon's political agent, Harry Dent of South Carolina is taking frequent counsel with Kevin Phillips, special assistant to Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and author of a new book, "The Emerging Republican Majority," which asserts that the GOP's future lies in the conservative regions.

BUILDING TOWARD '72

Some sources say that Nixon himself has bought Phillips' thesis and is consciously building toward 1972 on that basis.

Though there is nothing going on which would classify as large-framed "party debate" on the issue, much quiet and continuing discussion centers on whether the new Nixon approach may not mean that "Northeast liberal Republicanism is down the tubes."

★ ★ ★

Party officials still committed to holding a big role in the GOP for the Northeast view with alarm the vacating by death or other reason any present Republican congressional seats in that area.

They feel that many if not all such seats may be difficult or impossible to keep out of Democratic hands and that the Nixon administration accepts this prospect, believing its fortunes lie elsewhere.

DISILLUSIONMENT

It should be noted here that not just Nixon strategists and theorists are looking askance at the Northeast.

Somewhat more detached party people voice disillusionment with more than simply the Republican outlook in the Northeast. They see it as a region increasingly smothered by its problems, unable or unwilling to come to grips with the new technology, caught in varying attitudes of indifference, lassitude and near-hopelessness.

★ ★ ★

Republican specialists observe that regional meetings of many kinds usually attract large numbers of alert, interested, probing types in the West and South but tend to be thinly attended when held in the Northeast.

Under Republican Gov. Richard Ogilvie, the Illinois GOP seems to have ridden past its Dirksen-Percy factional days and is embarked on an ambitious introduction of computerizing, data-processing and the other techniques which signal the onset of the real "new politics."

For all its factional troubles at the personality level, the Ohio Republican party under former national chairman Ray Bliss continues to be well-synchronized organizationally.

In Texas, where Rep. George Bush has thoughts of knocking off Democratic Sen. Ralph Yarborough next year, thoughtful, modern voter analysis is presently under way in ground-laying efforts.

The Northeast is seen by some party experts as standing in painful contrast to these and other promising situations.

Tourists Rate British Food, Hotels, Weather

LONDON (UPI) — The average tourist to Britain just tolerates the food and hotels, dreads the weather, dislikes the traffic jams.

The dishes he views with most distaste are sausages — staple menu item of most cheap eating places — and the redoubtable Scottish haggis whose ingredients are better left unsung.

★ ★ ★

He also is confused by the currency, annoyed at the early closing of shops and discontented by the restrictions that keep bars and pubs closed part of the day.

Still, he finds the advantages outweigh the disadvantages because only one in every 17 visitors goes away feeling his trip was worse than expected while more than half find their expectations were exceeded.

IMPROVEMENT ASKED

But if he is to keep coming in ever-increasing numbers, particularly when the jumbo jets are carrying millions of extra passengers in the 1970s, an organization called the National Catering Inquiry recommends a considerable improvement in the facilities offered him.

The Inquiry's critical look at Britain found from questioning 1,002 tourists that they looked forward the most to seeing the sights, London, the shops and pubs. The weather and traffic headed the dislikes.

"Our food and hotels seem to be tolerated rather than enjoyed. More serious still is the assertion by four out of 10 of those who expressed doubts about hotel standards, that the accommodation was worse than expected; the same proportion found hotels dirtier than they expected.

"Hotels were specifically mentioned by three per cent of all tourists to this country as a feature of our life to which they positively did not look forward."

A. O'Boyle, U.S. consul general in Edinburgh, told the Inquiry: "There is very little difference between the best hotels; but a big drop down to another level.

There is really no second-class hotel that provides satisfactory accommodation. Go down to the third level and they are pretty rugged."

While sausages and haggis rank among the disliked dishes, the most enjoyed are roast beef, English cheeses, steaks and desserts.

Curiously, fish and chips appear on both the most liked and most hated lists. Some Americans complained of lack of ice water and restaurants selling "American" food.

Tourists differ drastically from Britons in what they want to do on vacation here. Most Britons who stay in their own country head for the coast and only two in every hundred come to London, while 84 out of every hundred foreign visitors choose London.

Slump in Red Offensive Brings Lower Viet Casualty Totals

SAIGON (AP) — U.S., South Vietnamese and enemy casualties all dropped off last week as the enemy's fall offensive subsided somewhat, the U.S. Command announced today.

U.S. headquarters said 190 Americans were killed and 1,367 wounded compared with 244 killed and 1,409 wounded the week before, when the enemy campaign opened with an upsurge of infantry, rocket and mortar attacks.

* * *

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 398 government troops killed last week and 928 wounded. The week before the report was 477 killed and 1,269 wounded.

The two commands said 2,757 Vietcong and North Vietnamese were killed last week, compared with a revised total for the week before of 3,898.

38,000 U.S. DEAD

A total of 38,128 Americans now have been reported killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961, while the total wounded has risen to 247,096.

The enemy campaign continued in low gear, with scant major ground fighting reported and 24 mortar and rocket attacks on towns and allied military posts during the night. The Saigon government announced that about 80 militiamen suffered "heavy lossess" in a battle Wednesday near Phuoc Long, in the Mekong Delta, but killed 44 Vietcong.

* * *

The U.S. Command disclosed that more casualties had been reported in the terrorist attack Tuesday night on a meeting of pacification workers and peasants near Phu My, 269 miles northeast of Saigon, and a spokesman said that the incident now ranked as "the worst single terrorist act of the year." The command said 24 persons were killed and 81 wounded when four hand grenades were thrown. The terrorist escaped.

* * *

Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor completed a week's tour of the war front today with a news conference at which he said the U.S. program to strengthen the South Vietnamese armed forces is ahead of schedule and he is confident more American troops can be withdrawn from Vietnam. But he refused to say how many or when.

UP TO NIXON

"The decisions on redeployment, of course, are presidential decisions," Resor said. "I don't want to preempt or forecast in any way what the President may decide. But I feel confident that we will be able to make further redeployments if he decides that is the wise course to follow."

"I think that's as far as I should go on the subject," he added when asked when more Americans might be pulled out.

* * *

The U.S. Command reported that the withdrawal of 25,000 American troops announced by President Nixon last June 8 was completed today. Nixon announced last weekend that because of the Communist command's fall campaign launched Aug. 12, he had deferred until next month his decision on further American troop cutbacks.

Resor said that during his tour of the battlefronts, he had noted a "major change in operations — "heavy emphasis on joint operations between the Vietnamese and ourselves."

JOINT EFFORT

"Everywhere I went," he said, "I found joint planning, often joint headquarters, and joint operations. These combined operations are an important part of our Vietnamization program, along with our emphasis on the modernizing of equipment."

* * *

Resor said he thought the United States was "ahead of schedule" in providing this equipment for the nearly 800,000 South Vietnamese regulars and militiamen.

Resor also said he was impressed "by the development of the pacification program and the part that the regional forces and the popular forces" are playing in it.

* * *

"I don't want to leave you with the feeling that we don't have problems," he continued. "The Army of the Republic of Vietnam is still short on leaders, both officers and noncommissioned officers, and they take time to train.

SUPPLY PROBLEM

"I think another area, a large area, that needs emphasis is logistics support ... their ability to support themselves in combat ... And that's going to take time because some of the skills there are long lead-time skills. But the problem is recognized and we have programs for attaining it."

* * *

Resort said he would do all he could to see that the case of eight Green Berets charged with murder is handled fairly. He said he expected a decision on whether they would be brought to trial in " a couple of weeks."

Youth Air-Fare Plans Stay in Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — Students readying to fly back to school can count on youth standby and reservation fares remaining in effect through the football season, and probably through the school year.

The Civil Aeronautics Board said in an opinion Wednesday that its examiner, Arthur S. Present, was wrong when he ruled last Jan. 21 that youth fares were unjustly discriminatory and should be canceled.

The board said the fares—which enable the 12-to-22-year age group to travel at half fare on a standby basis or at two-thirds fare on a reserved-seat basis—are by their nature discriminatory, but without the offensiven blatant character of racial or religious discrimination.

BY ENCOURAGING

By encouraging young people to fly at odd hours when the airlines have unused seat capacity, the special fares generate airline business and level out the traffic flow, the board said. About 40 per cent of all air passenger traffic is by promotional fares, and youth fares account for 13 per cent of that total.

AGAIN DISAGREES

The examiner said the fares were reasonable. The CAB, disagreeing again, said there was insufficient evidence in its proceeding.

Accordingly the board returned the case to the examiner for further hearings and a new ruling. This could take months.

Meanwhile the youth fares will remain in effect on the two airlines that offer both types—Continental and Northeast; the 11 that offer standby fares only—Alaska, Aloha, American, Hawaiian, New York Airways, Northwest, Pan American, San Francisco & Oakland Helicopter Airlines, Trans World, United and Western; and the 11 that provide reservation fares—Air West, Allegheny, Braniff, Delta, Eastern, Frontier, National, North Central, Ozark, Southern and Texas International.

Cyclists Must Don Helmets by Monday

LANSING (AP) — Motorcyclists must move their helmets from handlebars to heads Monday or risk running into a $100 fine and 90-day jail sentence.

Col. Fredrick Davids, Michigan State Police director, issued a reminder Wednesday that a new state law requiring helmets worn "on the head" takes effect Sept. 1.

* * *

Some law enforcement officers predict the law will cause some confusion—but they contend it will be enforced.

Ingham County Prosecutor Raymond L. Scodeller suggested the possible confusion because the law—first passed in 1967—was ruled unconstitutional by the Michigan Court of Appeals.

CARRIED ON CYCLES

The Legislature then passed a measure requiring the headgear carried on cycles.

"The idea of the second law was to encourage people to wear the headgear," said Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Waterford Township, sponsor of the helmet-on-the-head bill.

"We felt that by forcing motorcyclists to have the headgear on the bike, we would encourage them to wear the protective coverings," he added.

That move failed, Anderson maintained, noting that in 1967, the first year the law requiring helmets to be worn was in effect, there were 84 motorcycle fatalities in Michigan.

FATALITIES UP

The next year, when helmets had only to be carried, there were 124 cycles fatalities. The total in 1968, before the helmet legislation, was 122.

Anderson said 1967 was "the only motorcycle season in which the number of fatalities was significantly different. Since that was the year we required motorcyclists to wear the headgear, it's safe to say the law was a significant factor."

Gravel Cave-In Kills Two Boys

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Two boys were killed Wednesday when a tunnel collapsed, burying them in the sand of a gravel pit, but two brothers of one of the victims were saved after the sand trapped them.

Kent County sheriff's deputies said the victims were Tim Robidoux, 12, of Ada and his cousin, 6 - year - old Shawn Thomet of Grand Rapids.

* * *

Two other Thomet brothers, Rick, 12, and Randy, 8, were rescued.

Deputies said the cave-in occurred while the boys were tunneling into the side of the gravel pit. The cave-in was discovered when Scott Thomet, 11, returned from lunch. Authorities said some of the boys apparently had camped overnight at the gravel pit and the other youths joined them Wednesday.

* * *

Gail Cobb, a neighbor, said he was driving a gravel truck when he spotted the collapsed tunnel and saw the heads of the two boys who survived sticking above the sand. Cobb dug the boys out.

Space Try Flop as Booster Errs

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Pioneer 10, a $7 million experimental spacecrafe intended to probe earth-sun relations, lay wrecked at the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean today after its booster rocket shot out of control and was destroyed.

* * *

Safety officers at three downrange stations sent radio signals to detonate explosive charges in the three-stage Delta rocket when it swerved off course eight minutes after launch Wednesday night.

* * *

Pioneer 10 was to have joined four other Pioneers in solar orbit, reporting on interplanetary space and how the sun influences weather, communications and other conditions on earth.

Also lost in the explosion was a small 45-pound communications satellite, which was to have been placed in earth orbit for use as practice by the ground stations in the Project Apollo tracking network.

* * *

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration traced the rocket problem to loss of hydraulic pressure in the first-stage engine four seconds before it shut down.

Police Identify Victim in Hazel Park Shoot-Out

HAZEL PARK (AP) — Twenty-one year-old David R. Ricas, of Taylor has been identified as the man killed Wednesday in Hazel Park in what police say may have been the result of motorcycle gang rivalry.

Five adults and a juvenile are being held in connection with the shooting. Hazel Park police said warrants would be sought on open charges of murder, assault with intent to murder and robbery. Arraignment was expected today.

* * *

Hazel Park Police Chief Charles Younge, Sr. said a gun battle between four persons in a car and residents of a home in Hazel Park began about 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Witnesses said insults were exchanged between the people in the car and those in the house. Then, the witnesses said, a shotgun was fired from the car at the house. A person in the house returned fire with a rifle, and Rivas, in the car, was hit and killed.

SPED AWAY

The car then sped away, later to be stopped by police in Ferndale who had been alerted by Hazel Park police.

Police said the resident of the house, whose name has not yet been released, will be charged with murder, while the three other persons in the car will be served with warrants of assault with intent to commit murder.

* * *

Younge said the shooting followed a fire bombing of the house about 4 a.m. Wednesday.

Judge Won't Back Powell Pay Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has declined to issue a judgment awarding Rep. Adam Clayton Powell pay lost when the Harlem Democrat was denied his seat in Congress.

* * *

U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr., said Wednesday that before Powell can get his $55,000 in back pay he will have to refute in court charges by the House that he misappropriated congressional funds.

* * *

To do this Powell's lawyers would have to file an amended complaint—which would open the way to a trial on the counterclaim by the House.

Despite Kremlin's Friendly Overtures

U.S. Still Getting Bad Press in Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Recent Kremlin overtures for friendly relations with the United States have stirred great interest abroad, but the Soviet people are not being told of this new diplomatic thrust.

As far as the reader of the Soviet press knows, America today is what it always has been in official eyes here — a swamp of armed agression, poverty and despair.

Even coverage of the moon landing, held to a minimum in Soviet newspapers, took an openly anti-American turn when Pravda charged that the astronauts' glory was being "used in the interests of those who wage the dirty war in Vietnam, help the Israeli aggressors and support the Bonn revenge-seekers"

Shortly before the Apollo mission, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko told the Soviet parliament he wanted "friendly relations" with the United States.

QUOTE OVERLOOKED

This passage in a long speech was never picked up and featured in the Soviet press.

An extended period of exposure to the Soviet press — and only the Soviet press — gives the Russian reader a picture.

Over the past year the six most important Soviet newspapers have published 564 articles on U.S. internal affairs.

Of those, 96 could be classed as "sick society" stories, focusing on crime, drugs and vice.

In addition, 74 told of general misery, poverty and hunger in America, 68 described race problems, 43 charged police brutality and 22 dealt with student demonstrations.

The others were a hodgepodge of coverage, some of it factual, of electoral campaigning, the U.S. Communist party, space flights, inflation and capitalism and trade union problems.

To give these stories impact the Soviet press printed 118 photographs for America. Of these, 79 showed policemen at work, most of them in the act of clubbing demonstrators. Fifty-seven showed pickets and other demonstrators, 41 depicted racial strife, 21 poverty and hunger, 20 space achievements and 20 were miscellaneous illustrations on crime, vice, fascism and such cases as the trial of Dr. Benjamin Spock. This total is higher than 118 because some pictures fit more then one category.

Silent Desolation—Camille Was Here

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Nowhere along the Mississippi Gulf Coast did Hurricane Camille spend more of her fury than at Pass Christian, a quiet weekend hideaway for many New Orleans residents. It is now nothing more than twisted wreckage. Associated Press writer Ed Tunstall, a frequent visitor to Pass Christian in years past, visited Pass Christian Isles.)

By ED TUNSTALL

PASS CHRISTIAN, Miss. (AP) — There was no laughter, no sound except helicopters whirring overhead and trucks grunting over wet roads. And what was once the pleasant breeze off the Bay of St. Louis brought only the smell of disinfectant.

Hurricane Camille had left Pass Christian Isles as I had never known it. No shiny boats on their way to the bay. No neighbor passing by with an invitation for golf or a word about where the crabs were biting best.

Man had lost a battle against nature. It is impossible to comprehend the impact of the winds and water Camille had pushed into Pass Christian.

A mattress hung from a limb beyond my reach. A badminton racket lay on the road's edge. Pots and pans littered front yards.

PATH EASILY FOUND

The path of Camille's vengeance was easily found. From a spot on Sandy Hook Road which winds through the isles, I could see bark peeled from one side of the tall pines as the storm smashed its way to the bay.

The homes of friends are gone. It is difficult to tell where the houses once stood.

Most of the homes in Pass Christian Isles belonged to people who had saved years to build them. Nothing elaborate but nice. It was a quiet place where a bus driver or mechanic could spend a weekend with Monday always far away.

My wife's mother lost her home. She and her husband built it for their retirement years. It was crushed as if the kitchen stove had exploded. The new drapes hung limp through smashed windows. The refrigerator leaned at an uneasy angle in a corner of the kitchen.

NEEDLESS QUESTION

As I stood in front of what was left of our house a Jeep with big tanks strapped behind it roared up and the driver asked:

"This your place, Mac? Got any food in the freezer? We got to get it out if it's spoiled. We're spraying this whole area."

* * *

There was no reason for him to ask, really. Not a door remained on the cabinets of the newly redecorated kitchen where we once boiled crabs fresh from the bay. Camille pried the refrigerator door open and water seeped from it.

Down the road, a man, his wife and their two boys poked silently among the shambles of what was once a pretty little home. The roof, almost intact, lay on the other side of the road.

WHAT TO DO?

"We just don't know what we're going to do," the man said. "We haven't decided yet. We might rebuild."

The man is young.

For others, the years are waning. There's just not enough time to start over.

* * *

"How am I going to rebuild?" asked Mrs. William Gatipon. "All our savings for 15 years were put into that house. I had it air-conditioned, new rugs, new range, new refrigerator. It's all gone."

Why rebuild at all, others have asked. Hurricane Betsy swamped into the island four years ago and covered most of them with a foot of water. Some lost their homes then and rebuilt.

Survey Points to Success of School Desegregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most southern students, teachers and parents think school desegregation has worked better than anticipated despite some increasing disciplinary problems and continued student social separation of the races, a government survey concludes.

Academically, integration is most often beneficial to Negro students while having no significant effect on whites, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare study shows.

*

The survey, which purports to be an attitude survey "rather than of numbers or other provable facts," was conducted by the department's Office for Civil Rights in Atlanta.

Interviews talked to 1,230 white and Negro students, teachers, school administrators and parents from 13 school districts in Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee. Most of the districts were in the second year of desegregation when the survey was conducted last spring.

1 OF 10 DISSENT

Nine out of 10 interviewees agreed school desegregation is working better than generally anticipated. Most of the dissenting 10 per cent were parents of white school children. Without listing figures, the department said the survey showed a "significant minority" or white parents felt that academic standards have dropped since the schools were integrated and that their children have been adversely affected.

However 70 per cent of the 180 Negro students interivewed said they thought they were receiving better educations under integrated schools. Both white and Negro teachers supported the students' conclusions, and said whites are learning as much and Negroes more in desegregated classrooms.

* * *

However, 20 of 205 white teachers interviewed said there had been some loss of standards and the educational learning progress has slowed since their schools were integrated.

Brothers Keep Paper, Politics in Perspective

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Mayor Josiah P. Rowe III went to Washington recently to tell two congressional committees why he feels the Salem Church Dam is needed.

* * *

Meanwhile his brother, Charles S. Rowe, was back in town writing for the Free Lance-Star, an afternoon daily newspaper which the two men own and run.

Mayor Rowe, who is general manager of the newspaper, told the congressional committees the city project "is needed and that land acquisition should proceed." The development would be a source of water, power, flood and salinity control, with attending recreation benefits, he said.

When he came home, he read an editorial that told him what editor Rowe thought:

"The pork-barrelers made two more trips to Capitol Hill this week to plead for planning funds as the first step in building an unnecessarily large, unnecessarily wasteful dam on the Rappahannock River," wrote brother Charles.

Josiah was dismayed, of course, but not surprised. His paper had flown in his face before.

* * *

"The pork-barrelers have gone back to Washington," he said to himself. "He didn't point me out by name but the inferences are there."

In 1949, when the brothers took over the paper after the death of their father, both men marked off their territories. Charles would run the newsroom and Josiah would attend to the business side.

POLITICAL CIRCUIT

In addition to his work at the newspaper, Josiah, 41, began working the political chicken-dinner circuit. He served eight years on the school board, then ran for mayor in 1964. The vote was close, but he won, and won again in 1968.

"Family tradition had a lot to do with it," he said. His father, grandfather and great-grandfather were mayors.

* * *

Charles, 44, the editor, stays pretty close to the paper. For the most part he cares for neither politics nor chicken dinners.

"I abhor those things. I used to go to them but I just don't want to and I don't have the time . . . I used to be real nice and sweet, but the older I get the franker I get," he said.

OFTEN NO SUPPORT

In his politics, the mayor has often had to do without the support of the newspaper he manages.

"Basically, Charles is more liberally inclined than I am, I'm a Virginia Democrat," says Josiah.

"Charles may show me an editorial and say, 'Is this the right way to put it?' I say, 'Yes, I disagree, but that's the right way to put it.'

"If it ever came to a showdown, I would defer to the editor—we both have the goal of putting out a good newspaper."

The editor describes the relationship thin way: "He'll talk with me and perhaps argue but I make the final decisions. There's no damn way to vote on the thing, and that's good because with him being in politics it's best that he doesn't have the final voice."

Miss America Pageant Near

Busy Week Ahead for the Contestants

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Just short of a year ago, a curvaceous blonde trampoline star floated down the 160-foot ramp of convention hall as Miss America 1969.

Tomorrow, the beautiful girls will begin arriving in this seaside Cinderella city in hopes of succeeding the dazzling Judith Ann Ford.

* * *

The next week, climaxed Saturday, Sept. 6, at about midnight with the crowning of the victor, is packed with interviews, photo sessions, a parade and grueling practice sessions.

"The Sound of Now" is the theme of the 1970 Miss America Pageant, produced by George Cavalier. The contestants, who always parade on the stage pageant night in the latest fall fashions, this year will "go mod."

'NOT MINIS'

They will wear, on some production numbers, culottes, owl-size sun glasses and bell-bottom slacks.

Pageant officials say skirts will be "two to three" inches above the knees, but refuse to call them "miniskirts."

* * *

One major change for television viewers will be the absence of Bess Myerson Grant, Miss American 1945, as the television commentator.

Mrs. Grant, who has filled the role since 1951, is now director of consumer affairs in New York City. She will be replaced by Miss American 1966, the former Miss Kansas, blonde Debbie Irene Bryant of Overland Park, Kan.

'THERE SHE IS . . .'

Master of ceremonies Bert Parks will continue his role, one he has filled since 1950.

The standby song "There She Is, Miss America . . ." will be sung by Parks as the pageant winner promenades down the long ramp which juts into the Convention Hall audience.

* * *

It all begins officially on Labor Day, when the contestants are to be registered in their hotels and motels. The interview and picture-taking sessions begin, sessions that last the week out.

On Tuesday afternoon, the annual Miss America Parade — which attracts thousands of tourists and girl watchers — takes place on the city's famed boardwalk, lined with amusement rides, saltwater taffy stands, and souvenir shops.

PRELIMINARY JUDGING

Then, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, the contestants are divvied up into three groups for preliminary competition in swim suits, evening gowns and talent.

The 10 semifinalists are picked Saturday night, then the five finalists, and then after the judges ask their questions, the crucial moment.

* * *

This year, who will fulfill the dream of every American girl?

Transplant-Ethics Question Resolved

NEW YORK (UPI) — For transplant surgeons a delicate ethical question has been resolved. A study shows people who donate a kidney in the hope of saving the life of a relative are not psychologically harmed by their generosity. Contrarily, many are benefited.

All doctors have sworn to "do no harm." It is a deeply felt ethic. Taking a kidney out of a healthy person contaminates the donor, but the physical harm is temporary. The donor soon feels well again and he will be able to live a full life with his remaining kidney.

* * *

Ethically it is balanced by the good of the continued life of the recipient. But what if this harm was not tempoary and damaged the donor on a lasting basis psychologically? This was the ethical question the study resolved.

It was made by three members of the Harvard University team which has been involved in transplanting kidneys in the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston, since 1954. Dr. Joseph E. Murray is a celebrated transplant surgeon. Drs. Robert M. Eisendrath and Ronald D. Guttman are psychiatrist and internist, respectively.

They checked 57 kidney donors of past years and found "almost complete unanimity of belief that they would do it again, and that each had derived some sense of worthwhile accomplishment of helping to save a life. Sometimes, the answers were moving."

* * *

All the donors were "selected" by their own and family emotional pressures, Eisendrath, Guttman and Murray reported to "Surgery, Gynecology & Obstetrics," publication of the American College of Surgeons.

* * *

"The problem of motivation is complex, for no family is completely free of obligations based on guilt, shame, debt or fear," they said. "The judgements and decisions made at home before the donor ever approaches the transplant service are of paramount importance."

When the transplant service inspects the prospective donor, it must make sure there has been no "undue external coercion" and he fully understands the risks for himself and the recipient. And he must NOT have "a history of significant mental or emotional instability."

* * *

In the present stage of kidney transplant science, blood relatives of recipients are preferred as donors. There are fewer failures. At Peter Bent Brigham 65 per cent of transplanted kidneys were functioning at the end of a year when they came from a parent or a brother or sister. When they came from an unrelated cadaver, only 40 per cent were functioning after one year.

MSU Man Gets Accounting Post

EAST LANSING (AP) — Dr. James Don Edwards, chairman of the Michigan State University Department of Accounting and Financial Administration, has been named president-elect of the American Accounting Association. He will become president of the 18,000-member, international organization next year. The association, made up of certified public accountants, industrial accounts and accounting educators, grants $30,000 annually to doctoral students and sponsors research and works to attract students to careers in that field.

Japan's mackerel pike-fishing industry suffered its poorest catch ever last year, harvesting only some 130,000 tons.

Michigan's Migrants—3

Mechanization Picking at Ranks

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third report in a five-part series on Michigan's migrant workers by Associated Press Writer Hugh Morgan. In this article Morgan, who has studied the problems of the Mexican-American in Michigan and in the Southwest, looks at the effect mechanization is having on the migrant farm worker.)

By HUGH MORGAN
Associated Press Writer

A mechanical vibrator with a canvas catcher like an upturned skirt dances around a cherry tree. It shakes 1,200 times a minute, and cherries fall into the catcher.

A V-shaped blade, developed by a Decatur farmer and costing only $20 to make, shears off spears of asparagus.

* * *

An electronic ruffle picks its way through a field, slashing out weeds and surplus sugar beet plants.

This is the era of farm mechanization.

SIGNIFICANT NUMBERS

M. J. Buschlen, operations manager of the Farm Bureau's Michigan Agricultural Service Association, says this is the first year that significant numbers of migrant workers who travel to Michigan from the Southwest each year to work the fields have begun to experience the effect of mechanization.

Some 67,000 migrants were in Michigan a year ago. This year, the estimate is 50,000.

Dr. Daniel Sturt, head of the Michigan State University Rural Manpower Center and the Agriculture Labor Commission, believes the number of seasonal workers will be cut in half within 10 years.

Mechanization is becoming an economic necessity, explains Buschlen. When wages reach the cost of the machines, the machines take over.

SOME FACTS

Buschlen says the uncertainty of the labor supply, increased costs of benefits such as workmen's compensation and requirements for housing are making farmers mechanize.

The pressure from migrants for a better life, and from the United Farm Workers union, which is trying to organize them, also are making some farmers think about mechanizing.

"If we mechenize tomorrow, we throw them (migrants) into a welfare situation," says Buschlen, who advises "Let's go slower" on such items as increased wages and more fringe benefits, until an orderly transition for the migrant can be made.

"We have to give the family time, so the adult can keep working and the children can earn an education so they can find other jobs," he added.

WRETCHED CONDITIONS

Leo Rivera, who runs the Saginaw office of United Migrants for Opportunities Inc. — a federal antipoverty project— says any "go slow" attitude would prolong an already wretched situation for the migrant.

Rivera says he hopes the pressure from the United Farm Workers Union will make the "farmer get his machines and then get these people out of the farms. Then, the nation may realize something must be done to retrain them.

* * *

Massive resettlement programs, like those for Europe's displaced persons after World War II, are needed to integrate the migrant — a man who wants to work and who despises welfare —into a better life, says Rivera.

The impact of mechanization is especially evident in the sugar beet fields of eastern Lower Michigan. Michigan Sugar Co., one of the state's two sugar processors, says 20 per cent of the acreage was grown and harvested without any migrant labor this year.

2,600 HOEING

This year 2,600 workers are hoeing the fields of growers who sell to Michigan Sugar Co. Fifteen years ago, they numbered 9,600.

Mechanization brings new jobs for the more skilled worker who wishes to remain on the farm. But the number of jobs decreases.

* * *

"We have growers here who used to just hire sugar beet field workers," said Max Henderson of Michigan Sugar Co. "Now they have them come up early and be tractor drivers and help plant crops other than sugar beets. I don't think there's any question they are going to command higher wages."

But Herrera says even if stoop labor is reduced drastically farm workers still will be needed in considerable numbers.

And these people will need the union, he thinks.

Not all crops lend themselves to machine picking. No way has been found, for instance, to harvest strawberries except by stooping and picking by hand.

* * *

Tomatoes, cherries, grapes and many other fruits and vegetables are bruised by the machines in harvesting. They can't be sold on the market as fresh produce, but instead go to processing plants which turn them into juices, jellies, pies, catsup, etc.

* * *

Louis Smith, a Carleton farmer and member of the State Agricultural Labor Commission, said the prize squeeze on the farmer raises the prospect that the whole fresh produce market may become a thing of the past.

Abby Questions Validity of This Big-Time Spender

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress in a very nice restaurant which is located on an interstate highway. It's one of a well-known chain. I greet everyone with a smile and try to give good service. Sometimes I exchange chit chat with my customers, but I never get overly familiar. I am happily married and have four children.

* * *

About three months ago a man came in alone and I served him. I don't know who he is or where he's from. He was well-dressed and well mannered. He didn't talk much but he did tell me about his grandchildren. I also told him about my family. I showed no more interest in him than any other customer and he never made a pass at me.

About three weeks later this man came in again and sat in my section. I remembered him, greeted him cheerfully and served him. When he left he gave me a hundred-dollar bill for a tip. I was flabbergasted! I really tried to give it back but he wouldn't take it.

* * *

About three weeks later he came in again, and the same thing happened. After it happened a third time I took the three one-hundred-dollar bills down to the bank to find out if maybe they were counterfeit. They were real and legitimate.

I haven't spent any of it. I'm afraid if I do, he might turn out to be some kind of eccentric and his family might demand the money back. He seems perfectly sane and normal to me, but I wonder now just what I should do?

PERPLEXED WAITRESS

DEAR PERPLEXED: If you haven't already told your husband, tell him. You are wise to save the money for the time being in case The Last of the Big-Time Spenders turns out to be a disturbed or shady character. Maybe he is on the level, but I'm suspicious. It's a little early for Santa Claus.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a wonderful husband and children, too, but don't use my name as this is a small town and I'm known here.

I love my husband and he loves me. So what's my problem? My husband's brother. I feel strongly attracted to him, and it is so frustrating because we are around each other a lot. I know that he feels a strong attraction for me, too. He is also married, and has a family, but you can't change what you feel, can you?

* * *

I wouldn't want to jeopardize my own marriage, or his either, but I sometimes feel that if I don't get this guy alone just once, I am going to jump out of my skin. It's getting worse all the time. How can I control it? Or should I make the first move and get it over with? He wouldn't be hard to get.

ATTRACTED

DEAR ATTRACTED: Sublimate! By that I mean keep busy, think of something else, and keep your mind off this man. You're undoubtedly "flirting" with him, and he's responding. CUT IT OUT! It's marital suicide.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please let a secretary answer GEMINI as a secretary's point of view: No marriage is threatened by a married man buying his secretary dinner when she works late to express appreciation for extra work or a job well done.

* * *

You told the wife if the boss wants to show "appreciation," he should try money — and for the most part, I agree. But let me assure you that no amount of money paid by a corporation — not the boss — makes up for the inconvenience of an interrupted weekend, a 100-mile drive, working in a cold office because over the weekend the heat is turned off, typing for several hours, and missing dinner because the boss' insecure wife feels her marriage would be threatened if her husband took his secretary to dinner.

* * *

I can assure all wives that after such a grueling work session, no secretary could possibly entertain any "ideas" about her boss. All the secretary would like is a nice warm meal and a kind "thank you"—little to ask in return for her inconvenience.

WELL PAID EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ALIVE AND WELL:" You may be "alive," but in my opinion, you are far from "well." Your "honest" approach to the necessity for extra-martial relations in order to satisfy man's (and woman's) urge for variety will eventually destroy the "deep love" you claim to have for one another.

'To Be, or Not to Be,' Never a Real Decision for Actress

By JANET ODELL
Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press

John Fernald has made his mark at Oakland University as head of the Meadow Brook Theatre. His wife, Jenny Laird, has displayed her acting talent in a number of the plays presented there during the past three years.

* * *

Their daughter, Karin, is doing her first acting this side of the Atlantic at the Stratford Festival in Ontario. She appears in Shakespeare's "Measure for Measure" and Moliere's "Tartuffe." It was the latter we saw last week.

After the performance, we went out with Karin to Stratford's only nightclub, a large rather barren room above a theatre. Over glasses of Beaujolais wine, we talked.

Karin, who is in her mid twenties, resembles her attractive mother in looks, speech and actions. A thoroughly modern young woman with decided opinions on a number of subjects, she is a dedicated actress.

GOVERNMENT AID

She thinks that governments must make larger grants to the performing arts in order to keep the theater alive and growing and to give more persons a chance to act. The United States, she thinks, is a laggard in this respect.

In line with the current plays which make such a point of including nude scenes, we asked Karin's opinion of nudity on stage.

"I really couldn't care less," was her cool reply. If nudity is essential to the action, it is all right; otherwise, not.

She has never wanted to be anything but an actress which is not strange with her family background. On her mother's side, she is a third-generation performer.

* * *

Although most of her professional career has been in London, she has had repertory experience in other parts of England. Her part in "Measure for Measure" is her first prolonged work in Shakespeare and she finds it most rewarding.

* * *

"Shakespeare has such a wonderful way of saying things. And you have the opportunity to grow in the part. It's very satisfying. I like Shakespeare."

She also likes working in the Stratford company which, incidentally, includes Angela Wood, a former member of the John Fernald Company here.

* * *

But life outside the theater is not particularly exciting in Stratford. Karin has no car and must depend on friends with the same time free and a car, even to go swimming. The townspeople, she says, view with a bit of suspicion the actors and do not, as a rule, mix with them. This is surprising after 17 years of the Festival.

However, Karin considers her six months in the Ontario city a time well spent. Her first love is for London and she expects to return to the states there sometime.

* * *

But after the Stratford Festival closes, she will come to Oakland University for a few months. Her parents' dream of having their daughter a part of the Meadow Brook Theatre Company will become reality in October.

Bernadette Coming to Detroit

'Irish Catholics Seek Human Dignity'

By the Associated Press

Northern Ireland's crusading Bernadette Devlin says the same "simple, honest-to-God demand for human dignity" is behind turmoil in America's poverty areas and the "Catholic slums" of her homeland.

Miss Devlin, at 22 Britain's youngest member of Parliament, told a rally of about 2,000 persons Wednesday night in Los Angeles that she's seen a lot of "the America I really didn't know" in this, her first trip to the United States.

* * *

On her week-old tour of U.S. cities to raise $1 million for rebuilding homes in riot-torn Northern Ireland, she said she is constantly asked her reaction to America.

"I can say now my impression is it's not so much a nation, but a large piece of land where everyone who has ever been oppressed has come to look for a better life," she said.

* * *

"I stand solidly behind my fellow citizens of the world, the citizens of America who happen to be a different color than me . . . Like us, they are voicing a simple, honest-to-God demand for human dignity."

The strain of her jammed schedule was noticeable as she spoke for only 15 minutes, her grey minidress blowing in a cool summer breeze under the swaying palm trees of Douglas MacArthur Park.

WILL DEBATE

Her aides announced that the National Educational Television network will tape on Tuesday a debate between Miss Devlin and two of the three members of Parliament coming to America as a Protestant Unionist party "truth squad." The location of the debate was not announced.

* * *

She said her money-raising efforts are "encouraging," although she had no estimate of the donations. "The money is coming in very fast, so fast that I haven't been able to keep count," she told a news conference earlier.

* * *

A controversy surrounding the appearance of Miss Devlin in Detroit apparently was resolved Wednesday when the United-Irish American Clubs of Michigan voted to back her fund-raising efforts.

Several Irish-American groups had threatened to boycott Miss Devlin's appearance Friday with the Irish Rovers singing group at Ford Auditorium. The groups expressed suspicion about some of the American groups sponsoring Miss Devlin's visit.

SPONSORS

Miss Devlin's appearance in Detroit is being sponsored by the New Democratic Coalition (NDC) an outgrowth of the Presidential campaign of Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn. Al Fishman, NDC chairman, said there is no possibility that any of the funds raised by the appearance would go to NDC.

* * *

The Detroit News reported Wednesday that Miss Devlin, is being sponsored by the National Committee for Irish Justice. The newspaper said the telephone of the committee is listed in the name of the New York Peace and Freedom Party Organizing Committee, the party which ran Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver for president last fall.

"It could not be determined if there is any link between the National Committee for Irish Justice and the Peace and Freedom Party," the newspaper said.

Daniel P. O'Kennedy, treasurer of the Irish-American Clubs of Michigan, said at a news conference today that about 60 representatives of the club voted with only one dissenting vote to back Miss Devlin.

"We are satisfied the money will go where it belongs," he said.

O'Kennedy said his group would cooperate with NDC in planning and coordinating Miss Devlin's appearance.

Tricia's Upset Over; Cause Still Unknown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors still haven't pinpointed the cause of abdominal pains which hospitalized Tricia Nixon, but President Nixon's elder daughter is reported improving and free of pain.

* * *

The White House reported Wednesday that Tricia was still under observation at Walter Reed Hospital, where she was taken by ambulance Tuesday morning.

* * *

The Western White House at San Clemente, Calif., reported earlier Wednesday that the President's 23-year-old daughter was out of bed, eating and "doing well."

MRS. MEYNER

Better Late Than Never Is Thinking

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The 41-year-old wife of former Gov. Robert B. Meyner is expecting the couple's first child after 13 years of marriage.

Helen Meyner announced Wednesday that she and her 61-year-old husband, who is the Democratic candidate for governor again this year, expect a baby in late February.

★ ★ ★

She said pregnancy was achieved with the aid of the fertility drug Pergonal.

★ ★ ★

"We had always hoped to have a child, but one has to be philosophical about it," Mrs. Meyner said. "I had had a fertility problem."

★ ★ ★

She said that she had been under treatment by fertility experts at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center in New York City for about four years, "then surprisingly it was effective this spring."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Meyner, a brunette with blue-grey eyes, said her husband was delighted with the prospect of becoming a father at last.

★ ★ ★

"He reacted with characteristic humor," she reported. "He said, 'Well, it's too late for grandchildren, so I might as well settle for children.'"

Mrs. Meyner said she was not concerned about giving birth to her first child after the age of 40. "I've never felt better."

★ ★ ★

She is the former Helen Stevenson, a daughter of former Oberlin College President William E. Stevenson and a cousin of the late Adlai E. Stevenson.

Gals Work With Hoses for Contest

MADISON CENTER (AP) — There's nothing like firemen battling a blaze with high-pressure hoses to draw a crowd. Now some firemen's wives in Madison Center have donned rubber suits and helmets — over frilly shower hats — to share the attention.

★ ★ ★

The wives get together almost every day during the summer to dress up in their husbands' suits and pull out the firehoses for a game of waterball.

Now the womens' waterball squad is training hard for the Sept. 6 and 7 National Waterball Tournament to be held in Angola, Ind.

★ ★ ★

When the girls practice, they don rubber wet suits and showerhats before running out to the Madison Center Fire Department parking lot for a session of high-pressured spraying a ball hitched to a 100-foot wire.

★ ★ ★

Object of the two-minute game is to hit the ball with the water stream and spin it along the wire into opposition territory. Points are awarded for speed and accuracy.

TIME CONSUMING

"Waterball takes up an awful lot of time in the summer," team member Mrs. Mackie Cheschier said. "We practice at least two nights a week, and then there are the weekend invitationals."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Cheschier and her teammates started playing waterball seven years ago, a year after her husband started in the men's competition for the same sport.

★ ★ ★

"We wives weren't getting any social activity because they were playing waterball all the time, so we decided to get into the act too," she said.

The Charles Pollock home on Orchard Lake was the setting Tuesday for a fresh and dried flower arrangement workshop. Members of the Orchard Lake Flower and Garden Club are preparing display items for the group's flower show on Sept. 18, 19 in the Detroit Bank and Trust Building at Maple and Orchard Lake Roads. From left are Mrs. William McDonald and Mrs. August Meeschaert, both of Birmingham, and Mrs. Joseph Kardas of Orchard Lake. The show is open to the public from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the 18th and from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on the 19th.

Betrothals Announced

Linda M. Sherman will wed Gary G. Gartee. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Sherman of Hospital Road announce their daughter's engagement to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gartee of Irwin Drive.

The prospective bridegroom attends Oakland Community College.

Hill-Schroeder

Wedding vows have been set for the summer of 1970 by Clare Ann Hill and Donald J. Schroeder. Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hill of Thors Court announce their daughter's engagement and marriage plans.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Donald F. Schroeder of South Edith Street and the late Mr. Schroeder.

Gish-Slaughter

Dec. 20 wedding vows are being planned by Sandra Rae Gish of Kalamazoo and Joe Keith Slaughter.

Dr. and Mrs. Duane T. Gish of Kalamazoo announce the engagement and wedding plans of their daughter.

★ ★ ★

The bride-elect is a graduate of Western Michigan University. Her fiance was graduated from Grand Rapids Baptist College and presently attends Michigan State University as a graduate student, and Grand Rapids Baptist Seminary.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clemmie Slaughter of Walling Street.

Case No. L-501

Wife Shows Depression

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE L-501: Eileen K., aged 42, is a problemwife.

"Dr. Crane," her husband wearily began, "Eileen is driving me almost crazy.

"For she developed fibroids of the womb and had it via a hysterectomy.

"But ever since then she has been depressed and keeps accusing me of not loving her any more.

"She lies awake till the wee hours, crying and claiming that I am running around with other women, yet that is not true.

"What can I do to snap her out of her moodiness and stop her jealous accusations?"

PSYCHOLOGY

Ever since Adam and Eve, women have made a tragic mistake about their uterus (womb).

They have universally believed it was a barometer of their physical appeal to their mates.

Thus, they erroneously imagined it was a "sweetheart" organ instead of being merely a "maternal" spare tire on their sexual anatomy.

★ ★ ★

A wife aged 18 can have her womb removed surgically because of fibroids or lose it at 38, or merely have it cease its normal monthly function due to her mid-40 age bracket, yet that should not reduce in any significant manner her ability to function as a thrilling and thrillable mate.

For the female womb is no more essential to a wife's sexual charm to her husband, than her vermiform appendix is essential to her enjoyment of a dinner date with him!

Both organs are figuratively excess baggage.

"But, Dr. Crane," Eileen wept in my office, "my husband has been less ardent with me ever since my operation!"

Well, that is due to her excessive nagging and also her carrying a sexual chip on her shoulder.

★ ★ ★

"I'm not all there as a woman," such wives routinely think, "so I shall watch him like a hawk to see if he still shows the romantic ardor of our honeymoon."

For heaven's sakes, women, wise up to reality.

It isn't the loss of your womb that cools off his ardor but the fact he is 25 years older than at the wedding day.

Moreover, you are probably somewhat fat and stodgy, so you don't add additional romantic appeal to whet his waning verve.

Since you are looking for a reduction in his ardor, you soon find imaginary afronts to your sex ego.

Actually, the usual husband would not know if his wife had a uterus or not, as regards her functioning in the marital relationship, if she didn't develop this nagging complex and feel inferior.

But when a wife falsely believes she has lost her sexual charm to her mate, then she imagines he must be looking elsewhere, so she tries to "beat him to the draw" by quickly accusing him of outside affairs.

"Color explosion" is a popular term in home fashions these days, and certainly it is descriptive of this blossoming Nettle Creek bedspread called "Kauai." Shown here in a colorful burst of yellows and oranges with greens, pink and white, it comes also in bright blues and exotic pinks. A matching roller shade is flanked by avocado draperies, and the drapery fabric also upholsters the headboard. Walls are canary, carpet is beige, and the boudoir chair is upholstered in melon antique satin The framed prints, mirrors and fragment above the night table are from Nettle Creek's Gallery Classics collection of fine art reproductions. Line available locally.

With 114 Clocks Baker Stages Nightly Clock-in

FEDERALSBURG, Md. (UPI) — Alfred Sherman, a bakery employe, stages a clock-in every midnight in his home in this quiet Eastern Shore community.

At the stroke of midnight, the 114 clocks in Sherman's home do their own thing, chiming an old cacophonous blend of music, bells and chimes.

Waltzes like the "Blue Danube" blend with other tunes, clash with the national anthems of France and Great Britain, and tangle with religious hymns like "Lead Kindly Light" and "Gates Ajar."

Despite his chiming clocks, Sherman depends on a special, hand-tooled alarm clock to wake him at 3 a.m. for his bakery job.

HOOKED ON TIMEPIECES

Sherman became interested in his hobby when his boss, Frank Zaffere, gave him a broken musical clock 29 years ago. Sherman got the clock running and was hooked on timepieces.

The Important Role That Tongue Plays

By DR. HOWARD E. KESSLER

Your tongue is a fascinating organ. Did you ever realize that in a split second it inspects every item, large or small, that enters your mouth?

KESSLER

Nutritional deficiencies and other systemic conditions often show upon the tongue.

The tongue is of great importance in swallowing, in speaking and in tasting. Generally, the tasting areas of the tongue are: sweet at the tip; sour at the outer edge; salty on the edges near the tip; bitter on the top toward the back.

* * *

Hence, a small boy will stick the tip of his tongue into a candy bar with extreme delight, while a man quaffing beer doesn't sip it with the tip of his tongue, but tilts it well back in his mouth.

NO ATTRACTION

For an infant there probably is no food, except sugar, that has a definite taste attraction. They are either indifferent, such as one of the standard baby food vegetables, or objectionable, such a bitter adult food.

When I lecture on tongues at Case Western Reserve University, a student will often ask me, "How in the world can a baby develop liking for a bitter, unpleasant food that we adults enjoy"?

Years ago I learned the answer to this from psychology experiments. It is simply called association.

The first few times a baby was given this bitter, objectionable food, he was in a happy state, laughing and cooing. A little of this general happiness seemed to rub off on the unpleasant, new taste. This resulted in the child finding it pleasant and actually liking it.

Parental encouragement, such as "Look, mommy likes to eat can be vitally important in the child in developing a liking for an unpleasant taste.

So you see, parents have quite a lot of control over developing taste choices in their children.

The movement of the tongue against his teeth, a habit known as tongue thrusting, he might very well force the teeth forward, causing a protrusion of the upper front teeth.

Wedding Is Set

Oct. 18 wedding vows are being planned by Julie Diane Drake of Lansing and Stephen M. Sesti.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon L. Drake of Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. Settimio Sesti of Erie Road. The bride-elect attends Ferris State College, her fiance's alma mater.

Princess May Grace Pages Again

By BETTY CANARY
NEA Writer

Imagine my relief! I saw a picture of Princess Grace in our newspaper. If the wire service photographers remember her, perhaps she's destined to someday make it back to the magazines.

Actually, I've been on tenterhooks — and you know how uncomfortable that can be, especially during the summer months — wondering what had happened to her.

* * *

There was a time when a women's magazine wouldn't have DARED go to press without carrying a feature article on Princess Grace — usually between the doctor's column and the latest recipe for fudge-nut butter balls. Then, in a welter of articles on the Kennedy women, she was lost, forgotten.

I watched for her. I waited for the latest information. I wrung my hands in vain. The mailman would arrive with the latest editions and there would be no news of her hair styles. I forgot the number of cobblestones on a side street three blocks from the palace. I knew not the details of the dresses worn by the teaching nuns of Monaco.

FICKLE READER

This was during the time when a women's magazine wouldn't dare go to press without carrying TWO feature articles on the Kennedy women. I forgot the princess as I wallowed in tidbits about the Compound, the pets, the very grains of sand at Hyannisport, even two blades of grass growing between a crack in the sidewalk in front of the building in New York where Jacqueline lived.

I poured over pages of candid photographs of the Ford women and avidly read dull articles about the Queen of England, her horses, her Corgis, her royal children perpetually bundled in thick knitted sweaters.

Of course, I never completely forgot Princess Grace. Sometimes I'd come to the latest recipe on fudge-nut butter balls and I would think of her.

I would read the doctor's column and right there in the midst of the latest medical and psychiatric advice I would find myself wondering if perhaps Princess Grace was wearing glasses or if she preferred contact lenses.

I would be engrossed in a description of the shoes worn by a Kennedy during a speech and memories of the pale slippers worn by Princess Grace would intrude. Oh, I'll admit the articles about the Kennedy women were more important — how else would I keep up with the titles of the books being written about them?

* * *

After seeing the photograph in the paper the other day, I missed Princess Grace more than ever. How I do wish the magazine editors would bring her back! Perhaps she's not destined to reign in such an important spot as before. But surely they could find a tiny corner for her — perhaps in the back of the book, next to the pattern instructions.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

I have read so much about the no-wale corduroy I am wondering if the thick and thin wale is completely out of style. Also, does the no-wale corduroy have to be cut in one direction as the old kind did?

Mrs. R. T.

Dear Mrs. R. T.:

The no-wale corduroy is new and resembles velveteen and does have a nap which must be cut in one direction.

* * *

I have done some research on this and find that designers still prefer the very wide wale as well as the thick and thin for handsome coat dresses, tunics and important maxi coats which can be worn over matching pants or as evening coats. In fact one of these coats made by a leading coat manufacturer was priced over $400.

Whoever would have thought that the practical, old stand-by for generations would ever be considered high fashion? That's the fun of fashion!

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Gordon J. Sarver, Spring Valley, Calif., is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for her following sewing suggestion.

"Everytime I sit down to my sewing machine to make a new article of clothing, I make a small boutique item and put it in my 'Christmas Stocking Box.'

"These items could mean glove bags, hosiery bags, hand puppets, bean bags, small aprons, or eye glass cases. The items depend on the material I am using at present, since there is always a scrap or two left over.

* * *

"When Christmas comes, I love to give handmade gifts, but if I wait until just before the holidays, there never seems to be enough time to accomplish them. However, by adding to my 'Christmas Stocking Box' all year long with these items, it's easy to fool your friends and family who always seem to remark, 'How did you ever find time to do all that sewing?' P. S. These make great little gifts for unexpected occasions throughout the year as well."

Dear Eunice Farmer,

Seems that each year I am shortening slips for myself and my girls; they never seem to be the right length. I simply haven't learned how to finish the hems of these slips. I usually end up with a very ruffled and uneven hem that looks very stretched out of shape. Could you help me with this? None of the young mothers in our neighborhood can do this alteration either.

Mrs. Helen C. D.

* * *

Dear Mrs. H. C. D.:

It is never very easy for an inexperienced seamstress to work with slippery knits. For this reason, I would suggest you mark your slip for the correct length, but don't cut off the excess at this time. Use the stretch type lace for your new hem and pin it in place, just above the new cutting line. You will have to pin frequently to avoid slipping.

* * *

If you have a zigzag sewing machine, use this stitch and sew the top edge of the lace to your slip. Now, carefully cut away the excess fabric from the hem. I think the results will be amazing, and your hem should come out much smoother and more accurate.

Study of Punting Techniques Conducted by Woman Prof

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Mrs. Elizabeth Roberts, former athletic champion and now a professor in the physical education department at the University of Wisconsin, has undertaken a scientific study of kicking.

Incorrect coaching, she reports, may be hurting the development of young football and soccer kickers. "The techniques given in most coaching texts inhibit the young punter and do not let him take advantage of the full natural kicking sequence," she says.

* * *

The natural pattern of movement, she has discovered in her research, begins with a turning of the hip, then a forward movement of the upper leg and finally extension of the knee after it has moved past the other knee. Usually punters are taught to restrict the hip turn by approaching the ball straight on, she says, "but our research suggests the full use of this joint action would enable the punter to get greater distance."

She is conducting her study with films of soccer players, punters and place kickers, and also with camera studies of her 2-year-old son, Charles.

Single Female Guides Planes

FREMONT, Calif. (AP) — The only female radar controller at the Federal Aviation Agency's Air Route Traffic Control Center here, Mrs. Charlotte Kositch, shares with 39 men the job of guiding every type of aircraft from private planes to giant jets.

Working over banks of radar screens, she helps control air traffic in an area extending from San Luis Obispo, Calif., to the Oregon border, from Tonopah, Nev., to the half-way mark to Hawaii in the Pacific Ocean, and over coastal waters from Alaska to Mexico.

Kathleen Diane Stahl and Franklin R. Blanton will wed Nov. 8. Mr. and Mrs. Harold K. Stahl of North Anderson Street announce their daughter's engagement and wedding plans. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Blanton of Clifford Street.

Announce Productions of U. of M. Players

The University of Michigan Players have announced their seven major productions for the 1969-70 season to be presented in the Trueblood and Lydia Mendelssohn Theaters.

* * *

Opening the season, Oct. 8-11 in Trueblood Theatre, will be Jean Genet's most successful play, "The Balcony", which enjoyed lengthy runs in Paris and New York. Although Genet's impact on modern literature has been tremendous during the past ten years, many critics feel that his important work is in the drama.

SECOND

The second production of the fall, Nov. 5-8 in Trueblood Theatre, is Shakespeare's early and rarely seen Roman tragedy, "Titus Andronicus." The University Players' production of this naive but powerful work will draw upon the costume and traditions of classical Chinese drama to illustrate the influence of ritual upon the dramaturgy.

* * *

Completing the first half of the 1969-70 playbill will be Jean-Claude van Itallie's "America Hurrah!" to be produced at Trueblood Theatre Dec. 3-6. Three satiric plays on aspects of Contemporary American life constitute this advantgarde or experimental production. These plays grew out of experimental work in improvisation among a group of actors.

1970

* * *

The first production of 1970 and the winter term, Jan. 28-31 in Trueblood Theatre, will be "The Dark of the Moon" by Richardson and Berney. The play is the powerful folk story of Barbara Allen in its American guise creating a vital work of mood, of tragedy, and laughter. Music and dance contribute to re-creating the world of the Witch Boy and the simple girl he destroys through love.

* * *

Next will follow in Lydia Mendelssohn Theatre, Feb. 18-21, a premiere production offered in cooperation with the playwrighting classes of the Department of English, a co-operative enterprise continued for over forty years. Entitled, "Esperanza," the premiere has been written by Susan J. Shaw. This year's major play which concerns a revolution in a mythical South American dictatorship offers a sharp political commentary.

* * *

Third on the winter bill in Trueblood Theatre, March 11-14, is the rarely seen classic by Calderon de la Parca: "Life Is a Dream." Calderon and Lope de Vega Spain's greatest Renaissance dramatists were contemporaries of Shakespeare, and the Spanish physical theatre, the coralles, was remarkably similar to the English Elizabethan stage.

* * *

Climaxing the season will be one of the crowning achievements of the modern theatre: Sean O'Casey's "The Plough and the Stars." This last production of playbill 1969-70 will appear in Lydia Mendelssohn Theatre April 8-11. O'Casey is undoubtedly the greatest of the dramatists to participate in the Irish Literary Revival, and many would consider this play to be his finest. The struggle of love and war has a special poignant relevance in our own time.

* * *

Season subscriptions of the University of Michigan Players 1969-70 season will be avilable by mail only until the Trueblood Theatre Box Office opens at 12:30 p.m. Sept. 29 for season tickets and individual seats to all performances. Base prices for season subscriptions are available at $8.00 and $11.00 for the season of seven shows.

Keep Hands Scrubbed

Maybe you take it for granted that your family's health is safest in your hands, in your home. But is it? How rigid are the rules of cleanliness you set up in your own kitchen? And how faithfully do you follow them?

We were interested to note recently that cleanliness standards in some commercial food handling plants are actually enforced by law. For instance, in most states there are laws regulating the storage and distribution of frozen foods. Included in these rules that must be obeyed are specifications for hand-washing facilities, and for adequate soap and clean toweling.

* * *

And here's a regulation to make you think twice: "Hands shall be washed immediately prior to starting work and each resumption of work after each absence from the work station." In less formal language, it means that you must wash your hands before starting to work, and you must wash them again each time you come back to your work station — even if you've stepped away only for a minute.

Now — how do you stack up as a food handler? When you go into the kitchen to prepare each meal, are your hands scrubbed with soap and warm water? Every time you leave the kitchen to answer the phone, or put the cat out, or get the mail out of the box — do you scrub your hands again before continuing the preparation of the meal?

It does sound pretty rigid. But why take chances? We all know that germs can be transmitted by hand — and that germs lurk everywhere. When you handle doorknobs or phones or any object that hasn't been recently washed, you can bring germs back to the kitchen with you.

It's worth your while to keep kitchen work surfaces swabbed clean -- and to wipe off the tops of food containers with a sudsy sponge before opening them. And do suds-wash that can opener every time you use it!

It's service galore at a Detroit service station manned by 17- to 24-year-old girls tending to motoring needs of the customers pulling in for service. Owner Ken Wall said he taught the girls how to work under the hood and service autos in one day. Girls from left: Denise Sarosik and Mrs. Jane Johnson clean off windshield as Kathy Fair gives the oil a check.

Working Life a Gasser for Girls

DETROIT (AP) — Watching his gas station staff of short-skirted girls prance about tending to motor needs, owner Ken Wall noted, "Business has picked up 10 to 15 per cent. These girls are even getting tips! It's unheard of!"

The girls, ranging in age from 17 to 24 years-old, were hired out of desperation, said Wall, owner of the East Detroit station.

* * *

"Every boy over the age of 12 has worked in a gas station. By the time they came to me, they just had too many bad habits," Wall said. "I couldn't find and keep reliable boys."

He said he was afraid he'd have trouble teaching the girls how to work under the hood, but they picked it up within one day.

* * *

With girls like Kathy Fair, 18, of St. Clair Shores, working at the station, Wall doesn't worry. She says, "I took auto shop twice at Lakeview High School because I liked it so much. I just like cars."

Then smiling, she indicated there might be more to it than love of autos. "Sometimes I date customers, but they have to stop by six or seven times before I go out."

How do the customers react? Janet Gartrell, 19, of Dearborn, said "I think the women sometimes would like a man to work on their car, but they are very quick to tell us when they are pleased.

"The boys just sit and stare with their jaws open," she said.

Soldiers Teach Washing in Nam

A U.S. officer, writing to describe life in far-off Vietnam in terms understandable to American youngsters, has reported that "Medicine and doctors are almost unheard of, until the soldiers come into a village."

"Then all the people run out, and the first thing we give them is soap. The second is to show them how to use the soap."

To our children, raised to regard soap as the basic ingredient of daily grooming, the idea of teaching grown people to use soap seems almost incomprehensible.

Yarn-dyed cottons are richer in color and more colorfast than dyed piece goods.

Britton Assumes Post of Theatre Manager

Donald R. Britton, Company Manager of the Meadow Brook Theatre since its premiere season, has been named Managing Director by Oakland University Chancellor D. B. Varner.

Britton, who suceeds David Bishop, will begin his new duties Sept. 1. Bishop resigned his post to accept the position of Managing Director with the Alliance Theatre Company of Atlanta, Georgia.

Under his leadership, the season subscrption drive has grown from 4,500 to 10,000 subscribers since 1967. Both Britton and Bishop were previously associated with the Ypsilanti Greek Theatre.

* * *

Britton began his professional career as an actor in several Broadway and touring productions including "Anniversary Waltz," "The Happiest Millionaire" and "One for the Dame." After signing a contract with Columbia Pictures, he moved to Hollywood where he continued acting in motion pictures and television.

* * *

He later returned to New York to join the management of Trans-Lux Theatres where he served in several capacities including District Manager for Washington, D.C. and Baltimore. He also handled advertising and publicity in various cities for such films as "My Fair Lady" and "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

* * *

During the initial season of the New York World's Fair, Britton directed the operations of two major exhibits for Cinerama.

Washrags Make Fine Patchwork

Want a bedspread that's both casual and colorful? Here's an idea from the National Cotton Council.

Make a soft and comfortable patchwork spread from cotton terry velour wash cloths in assorted rich colors.

* * *

Just stitch the velour squares together in a patchwork design to form a colorful and washable no-iron spread.

Nancy Lee Parent and Wayne Duncan have set Nov. 15 as their wedding date. Mr. and Mrs. Alger Parent of Walled Lake announce the engagement and wedding plans of their daughter. The prospective bridegroom is the son of the Leonard P. Duncans of Lum.

To wash fragile lace safely, first baste it to a piece of white cotton cloth. It then will go through the wash, even an automatic washer without any damage.

St. Peter's Gate Closed on Minis, Even Royal Ones

ROME (AP) — Princess Paolo of Liege, sister-in-law of Belgian King Baudouin, ran afoul of the Vatican's ban on miniskirts, two Italian publications reported today.

* * *

The newspaper Il Tempo said the princess, a native of Italy who is the wife of Baudouin's younger brother, Prince Albert, was stopped by a guard as she was about to enter St. Peter's Basilica with two friends.

Paolo told the guard, "All right, we will come back some other time," Il Tempo said.

The magazine Novella 2000 published a picture of the princess smiling as she talked with a guard at the entrance to St. Peter's. She was wearing a miniskirt that was not as short as many but still ended above the knees.

The Vatican last week banned women in miniskirts and men in shorts from St. Peter's.

Add the slivered whites of hard-cooked eggs to cream sauce and heat. Then pour this sauce over freshly made buttered toast. Sieve the egg yolks over all and serve immediately.

Lake Yields Fresh Bread

INTERLOCHEN — Musicians earn their "bread" by playing or singing, but it probably has never come to them on the waters — as it just has to Interlochen's National Music Camp.

It came via Lake Michigan, sealed in a bottle, to Interlochen treasurer Clare D. Burns. The "bread" — the musicians' term for money — in this case was a $10 check that Mrs. Ted Flora of Peoria, Ill. had written and sealed in the bottle. She threw the bottle overboard July 24 from a ship on which she was a passenger off Point Betsie — "because that was about the nearest point to Interlochen."

* * *

The lake current carried it northeast around the Leelanau peninsula, and it went ashore at Charlevoix. The finder picked it up Aug. 9 and it reached Interlochen by carrier.

Mrs. Flora had more than a casual interest in Interlochen. Her daughter, Ellen, was a drama and voice student in camp here this summer.

Connie Hobson, 21, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, displays the swimming fin she uses to help compensate for the lack of a right leg. The leg was amputated above the knee in 1964, but Connie was back in the water in a month. She has now passed her Red Cross Senior Life Saving test and is ready to go on to Water Safety Instructors' School. She is shown here with Red Cross executive, Mrs. Anna May Stephen.

Swimwear Stabilized

Shrinkage Touches Bottom

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — When great-grandma went swimming, she wore more coverup than today's female on the ski slope.

She wore drawers and corset, yet, under a wool dress with sleeves, long skirt and black stockings. How she kept afloat, let alone enjoyed the swim, is some sort of miracle. But granny was modest, as the mores of her day interpreted modesty.

She'd turn over in her chemise, for sure, if she were to see today's crop of swim suits hiding practically nothing and providing water sprites with as much freedom as if they were "skinny dipping."

* * *

For swimwear has gone through a tremendous revolution, with less noise about it than some other feminine fashion innovations, like the miniskirt or the Dior "new look." About the only real ripples came with the bikini and Ruid Gernreich's topless.

Despite the hoopla Rudi's topless caused a few years ago and the wave of nude fashions it set off in other clothing, Gernreich is not immortalized in the latest documentation on "Women's Bathing and Swimming Costume in the United States." Its author is Claudia B. Kidwell, assistant curator of American Costume at the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C.

THE BIKINI

But the bikini goes into the record — without mention of Brigitte Bardot. Miss Kidwell says the bikini, introduced in the United States in the 1940s, was slow in being accepted. Women were wearing the two-piece bare-midriff suits in those days.

* * *

Actually, the curator's work traces bathing customs and costumes from the days of the ancient Greeks and Romans. She tells of the growth of spas in both the United States and Britain, finds one of the earliest references to women's bathing costumes in a book written in 1538 when mixed bathing was practiced in Zurich — "the women wearing only drawers, bathing with men." The first topless?

Benjamin Franklin seems to have been the most famous proponent of swimming among the colonists and it was in 1827 that Frances Liefer established the first swimming school in Boston. Among its vitistors — John Quincy Adams and John James Audubon.

Swimming for women began to be acceptable toward the end of the 19th century and in 1888 Goucher College, a prominent school for girls, built its own indoor pool.

* * *

Annette Kellerman, Gertrude Ederle and Adeline Trapp, of course, helped to break down the barriers to swimming as a feminine sport and to get rid of some of the trappings on bathing suits. Miss Trapp in 1909 became the first woman to swim the East River in New York through the treacherous Hell Gate; Miss Kellerman gave swimming and diving exhibitions in sleek tights, and Miss Ederle swam the English Channel in 1926.

* * *

By the 1930s, swim suits were covering less and less of the bather — and women started the cult of suntanning. Neither trend has ever stopped.

* * *

What of the future? Miss Kidwell says one thing is certain — women never again will swathe themselves with yards of fabric.

* * *

But with all the new freedoms in mores and morals, will the swim suit disappear? Miss Kidwell doubts it — "It is unlikely that either the swim suit industry or standards of modesty of the near future will permit a total elimination of swimming costume."

Polly's Pointers

Puckers Will Vanish

DEAR POLLY — Mary Jane, who has puckers in her Madeira tablecloth after ironing it, should place a heavy terry cloth bath towel on the ironing board, place the cloth on it (embroidered side down) and press with the steam iron.

This allows it to stretch where needed. It should come out beautifully, with the embroidery standing out and not looking pressed down. — MRS. T.C.

DEAR GIRLS — If any dampness remains in the linen after ironing with the steam iron, turn to dry heat and press until the cloth is perfectly dry. When any dampness remains wrinkles, and perhaps puckers, are sure to appear. — POLLY

Dear Polly — Nail empty thread spools to the garage or workshop wall to hang work clothes on. There will be no rust marks on clothes as there may be when damp or wet garments are hung on plain nails. — LINDA O.

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — I have several pieces of gold braid that must be 40 years old. None of it has been used but is slightly tarnished. Is there anything I can do to restore this braid to its natural beauty? I would like to put it on some pillows and wastebaskets. — JESSIE

DEAR POLLY — When I need a small soaker in the garden, I take a cheap canvas glove, slip the end of the hose inside and fasten the end of the glove around the hose, above the brass coupling, with a wire twist from a loaf of bread. Twist on tight and this will keep the glove from slipping off the hose when the water is turned on.

The fingers of the glove spread out and cover quite a wide area and no ground is washed out or holes dug by the water pressure. One pair of gloves makes two soakers.

This is much cheaper than buying regular soakers even if you have to purchase new gloves. Water will flow through the canvas more freely if the gloves are first washed to remove any sizing. — H.J.H.

"Charm School" Nurses Patients

A "charm school" which teaches patients the basics of cleanliness and beauty is paying big dividends at the South Florida State Hospital.

* * *

A very successful volunteer project is a weekly session where patients receive shampoos, manicures, beauty treatments, and cleanliness tips.

According to the hospital staff, the first sign that a disturbed woman patient is getting better comes when she starts paying attention to her appearance.

Uninvited Guest Disrupts Show of Nature Film

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — Massey School's 4th graders were engrossed in a nature film being shown in their darkened classroom when a deer jumped through a window near the screen on the teacher's desk, scattering text books and papers in all directions.

* * *

Two male teachers grappled with the deer and finally were able to hold the animal down. The humane society was called.

* * *

The society sent a taxi to pick up the now frightened deer for the purpose of transporting it back to the forest but the cabbie refused his fare. The deer had to walk home.

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The old saying, "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach" is still true, but today it has a new meaning. Evidence is mounting that too much saturated fat and cholesterol in the diet do contribute to coronary heart disease, the number one threat to a man's life.

* * *

The food a woman plans and the way it is prepared can encourage or discourage hardening of the arteries. There are other factors which lead to arteriosclerosis, such as too much smoking, lack of exercise, and stress, but it is believed that habits in eating are of great importance.

* * *

Moderate changes in food intake can make your husband safer, and you too. Here are some suggestions from The American Heart Association.

To control your intake of cholesterol-rich foods:

- Eat no more than three egg yolks a week, including eggs used in cooking.
- Limit your use of shellfish and of organ meats.

To control the amount and type of fat you eat:

- In most of your meat meals for the week, use fish, chicken, turkey, and veal; and limit beef, lamb, pork and ham, to five moderate-sized portions per week.
- Choose lean cuts of meat, trim visible fat, and discard the fat that cooks out of the meat.
- Avoid deep fat frying; use cooking methods that help to remove fat; baking, broiling, boiling, roasting, stewing.
- Restrict your use of fatty "luncheon" and "variety" meats like sausages and salami.
- Instead of butter and other cooking fats that are solid or completely hydrogenated, use liquid vegetable oils and margarines that are rich in polyunsaturated fats.

* * *

- Instead of whole milk and cheeses made from whole milk and cream, use skimmed milk and skimmed milk cheeses.

Emit Chemicals

Anyone working with farm chemicals should avoid contaminating family and pets by taking a hot, sudsy shower immediately after use. His clothing should be stored in a special closed container for separate washing. This advice comes from a USDA Home Equipment Specialist in Iowa.

Cotton is flexible.

"I enjoy scouting," Mrs. Polk commented. "I think my daughters enjoy it too. I can't say we are closer or not closer because of scouting, but possibly more than anything else, my children have developed a sense of responsibility."

Lung Illness Woven Into Cotton-Mill Jobs

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Byssinosis, the respiratory disease of the textile industry, has been like a recurring nightmare which few understand and many have tried to ignore.

The disease, which consumer champion Ralph Nader calls "brown lung," has been a silent companion of textile workers for generations. Yet until a few years ago, Health agencies in textile-producing areas had largely ignored it.

* * *

One study in the South now indicates, that 24 per cent of some 370 workers in a North Carolina cotton mill showed traces of the disease.

"We have had the comfortable illusion that byssinosis was not a threat to American workers," said Charles C. Johnson, administrator of the Consumer Protection and Environmental Health Service of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

SCIENTISTS TELL IT

"Now, the scientists in our occupational health program tell me this is far from the truth."

Dr. Arend Bouhuys, director of the section of chest diseases at the Yale-New Haven hospital, says he has learned that "inhalation of airborne cotton dust in certain work areas of textile plants causes acute as well as chronic respiratory symptoms in a relatively large proportion of workers."

Among certain textile jobs, the incidence of byssinosis and other respiratory ailments may be as high as 25 per cent, Dr Bouhuys reported. He also maintained that long-term exposure to cotton dust may cause "irreversible damage to the function of the lungs."

Byssinosis apparently strikes almost exclusivly against cotton-mill workers, although health officials in North Carolina point out that studies of the effects in synthetic fiber plants have not been made on as large a scale.

Although workers throughout the mills may develop the disease, it generally strikes persons in the carding and spinning rooms, where the air is thick with tiny cotton fibers.

"The dust was so thick that the 300-watt light bulbs in the room looked reddish," said Lacy Wright, who worked in a North Carolina mill for nearly half a century before byssinosis made him change jobs.

"I've seen new employes come in and stay only two or three hours," he added. "It got to where I couldn't breathe down there. The doctor told me to get out."

Few workers seek medical attention until the disease becomes unbearable, partly because most of them have known very little about it.

Dr. C. D. Williams Jr., Charlotte, a pulmonary disease specialist, says of the workers, "Their grandfathers worked in the mills and their fathers did, too, and they always had a bad cough. So the workers don't bother to go see a doctor."

Byssinosis is relatively easy to cure doctors say, unless it has had time to weaken the lungs and bring on more serious ailments. In many cases, a transfer to a new job in a less dusty part of the mill is all that's necessary for a cure. But for some, a transfer can mean a drop in pay or other inconvenience. When Wright developed the disease, he was transferred and it cost him $2.40 a day.

The Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, is clamoring for compensation pay for byssinosis victims and for better filter systems in plants.

The industry acknowledges the problem of worker health and says it is encouraging research into more efficient filter systems.

In an article entitled "Head 'Em Off at the Pass," A. A. Christiansen, editor in chief of Textile World, wrote: "The only thing that appears certain about byssinosis and textiles is that more and more people at various governmental levels are talking about it. And they are raising a cause that the textile industry sooner or later will have to face."

Right or Left? German Vote Will Tell

BONN, Germany (AP) — Next month's election will show on one side whether the right-wing National Democratic party can vault into Parliament and on the other whether Willy Brandt's Social Democrats can cash in on 2½ years of sharing government power.

The final weeks leading up to the Sept. 28 vote may provide the most violent election campaign since Adolf Hitler's rise to power in the early '30s.

* * *

Police leaves have been canceled because leftist demonstrators plan to be out in force at political rallies. Although they will try to disrupt meetings of the Social Democrats and Kurt-George Kiesinger's Christian Democratic party, their special target is the NPD—the National Democrats.

Demonstrators try to occupy NPD meeting halls, toss rocks or fruit, and shout "Sieg heil" and "Nazis out." NPD chief Adolf von Thadden has about 100 speeches planned for the campaign's last month, a schedule that should keep the demonstrators busy.

'NOT NEO-NAZI'

The NPD, which denies claims it is neo-Nazi, was formed in November 1964 and got only 2.1 per cent of the vote in the 1965 national election. A party needs 5 per cent for representation in the Bundestag, or lower house of Parliament.

* * *

Since 1965, Von Thadden has won a power struggle within the party and gained seats in seven of 10 state parliaments. The high point so far came in April 1968 when the NPD won 9.8 per cent of the Baden-Wuerttemberg vote.

* * *

Von Thadden predicts his party will win 8 to 12 per cent of the national vote and place as many as 50 deputies in the 518-member Bundestag.

Many political observers doubt this. Public opinion polls so far show the NPD at about 5 per cent.

'BROWN-SHIRT BID'

A battle in Frankfurt between demonstrators and helmeted NPD guards raised the cry in West Germany's liberal press that the party was using "Brown Shirt methods," a reference to Hitler's Storm Troopers. News pictures showed rough-looking NPD guards and a bloodied youth being carried away on a stretcher.

An NPD spokesman argues that such incidents will help the party. It has been calling for firm measures against demonstrators.

* * *

Others, like the Christian Democrats' parliamentary leader Rainer Barzel, say Germans will reject such violence and keep the NPD under 5 per cent.

If the NPD does win seats in the Bundestag, the other three parties say, they will not form a coalition with Von Thadden. Since it looks now as if neither the Socialists nor Christian Democrats can gain a majority of the vote, another coalition government is likely to result.

FREE DEMOCRATS

The small Free Democratic party is expected to return to the Bundestag and could enter a coalition with one of the two big parties. Or, the grand coalition of Chancellor Kiesinger's Christian Democrats and Foreign Minister Brandt's Socialists could be continued.

In 1965 Kiesinger's party got 47.6 per cent, Brandt's 39.3, with 9.5 per cent for the Free Democrats.

* * *

Dissatisfaction with the coalition and rising radicalism on both the right and the left are factors now.

The election should provide a key test of what has been Socialist strategy for the past decade—an attempt to prove the SPD is a responsible party that deserves to govern.

RECESSION FEUD

West Germany's federal government has been dominated since 1949 by the Christian Democrats. In 1965 they and the Free Democrats formed a coalition under Ludwig Erhard. This collapsed in 1966 when the Free Democrats pulled out in the midst of an economic recession and a dispute over taxes and finance measures.

Brandt's party following a strategy outlined by pipe-puffing Herbert Wehner, saw its first chance to participate in the federal government and took it.

* * *

Some youths took to the streets carrying signs proclaiming a betray, but the leadership was convinced the party could only prove its responsibility to the broad mass of voters by entering the ruling coalition. Men like Brandt and Economics Minister Karl Schiller have been major forces in the coalition.

Brandt has given a new look to West Germany's policy toward the East Bloc. Schiller has shown he knows how to keep the economy purring and has identified his party with economic security—an important election issue.

The party favors immediate signature of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty and, in general, pushes for more contacts with the East Bloc. The tone of Moscow speeches lately might help it. Any menacing Kremlin policies would probably hurt.

The party is hammering away at the theme that it has the best men in the coalition and is the party "creating a modern Germany."

Kiesinger's party is telling West Germans they never had it so good and they should stick to the Christian Democrats.

Public opinion polls indicate their strongest card is Kiesinger. The silver-haired chancellor seems more popular than Brandt, who is running for chancellor for the third time.

Hospital Schools Children of Nurses

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Nurses with preschool children bring them along when they go to work at St. Vincent Infirmary here. The kids go to a special center designed to attract and keep badly needed nursing help at the hospital.

As a selling point to attract mothers who have urgently needed nursing skills, the St. Vincent center not only watches over the child but tries to broaden his knowledge and perception.

* * *

"We are trying to enhance their environment," says the hospital administrator, A. Allen Weintraub. "We want our child care center to be based on learning, to do something for the children, to make a concentrated effort toward teaching."

The need for nurses is great nationwide — partly because many qualified women are too busy with motherhood to work — but Arkansas ranks last among the states in the ratio of nurses to population.

WANT MORE

A number of hospitals — including some in Arkansas — have centers for children of nurses. But Weintraub said in an interview he believes many potential nurses would want more than just baby-sitting and meals.

To direct the program, St. Vincent hired Miss Dana Durst of Fayetteville, Ark., a 23-year-old Sarah Lawrence College graduate. Her staff, in operation slightly more than a month, provides eight or more hours of care and a learning environment, plus three meals and two snacks — to 53 children.

The only requirements are that the parents be St. Vincent employes, that their children be pronounced healthy by the family physician, and a fee of $2 a day.

The fee doesn't come close to covering the cost, so some of it will show up on the bills of patients. But Weintraub said he doubted that the program would add more than 5 or 10 cents to a patient's bill.

The program already shows promise. Of the 33 employes who have children in the center, Weintraub says about 50 per cent "counted the center as a plus when they decided whether to get into nursing services here."

In the long run, he added, such a center also may encourage nurses to maintain their careers without fear of neglecting their children.

Carol Warsell, a registered nurse, returned to work specifically because of the child care center.

"I have several friends who are waiting to see how it works out for me and who indicate they may start back to work if it proves successful," she said.

'Holiday Traffic to Kill Over 625'

CHICAGO (AP) — Between 625 and 725 persons will be killed in traffic accidents over the three-day Labor Day weekend, the National Safety Council estimates.

The council said Wednesday the period covered by its estimate will run from 6 p.m. local time Friday through midnight Monday.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Sunlight Essential to Body's Functions

One of the less publicized effects of air pollution is the reduction in the amount of natural light to which we are exposed.

William and Helen Hartley, writing in Popular Science, state that this may impair a man's health or shorten his life.

They quote BRANDSTADT Dr. John Ott as saying that light entering the eyes stimulates the pituitary and pineal glands and possibly other areas of the midbrain that control the production of hormones.

A recent study by Russian scientists reveals that, if the skin is deprived of sunlight for long periods, disorders of the nervous system, a vitamin D deficiency and a weakening of the body's resistance to chronic disease will develop.

It is important to use moderation, however. A daily 10-minute exposure of the hands and face (but not the eyes) is sufficient to maintain health.

Q — What causes bursitis? What is the best treatment?

A — Bursitis is an inflamation of the sac that lubricates some of the larger joints. It may be caused by prolonged strenuous use, injury, infection, gout or diabetes.

Bursitis of the elbow may be caused by playing tennis or by the habit of leaning on the elbows when reading or driving a car.

Bursitis of the knees (housemaid's knee) is often caused by prolonged kneeling.

In mild cases that are not yet chronic, massage with an ice cube is helpful. It must be applied directly to the skin until the skin feels numb.

This relieves the pain and enables the victim to exercise the joint this preventing stiffness. An injection of cortisone directly into the bursa often cures the disease.

Q — I have a chronic bursitis in my elbows. Cortisone shots are not effective. Will it go away of its own accord?

A — Although with rest an acute bursitis may clear up spontaneously, a chronic bursitis will not.

If a cortisone injection does not relieve it after two tries, further treatment with this drug will not help. Drs. F. W. Hilfield and S. M. Field of Beverly Hills, Calif., have devised an elbow brace that prevents complete extension of the joint and limits the rotation of the forearm.

It proved very helpful in two-thirds of a group of 36 patients in whom other treatments had failed.

Lepers' New Hope: Thalidomide

HONOLULU (UPI) — Thalidomide, the drug blamed for thousands of birth deformities, may be a new aid in the treatment of leprosy.

Recent tests may alter thalidomide's reputation as a crippler of unborn babies to a drug offering hope for leprosy victims. Thalidomide presently is banned from general use in the United States.

* * *

Dr. Ira D. Hirschy, head of the Hawaii Department of Health's Communicable Disease Division, said tests in Hawaii hospitals and at the U.S. Public Health Service hospital in Carville, La., have revealed that Thalidomide is valuable in treating a common reaction to the disease.

The Hawaii tests have taken place in the Hale Mohalu Hospital in Honolulu and at the Kalaupapa Hospital on the island of Molokai, 54 miles east of Honolulu. Kalaupapa is Hawaii's only leprosy settlement.

SOME SYMPTOMS

"Fever develops and places in the body affected by the disease become red, hot and swell up," Hirschy said, "causing pain and discomfort."

But daily thalidomide doses for a period of up to 10 days have been "very successful" in relieving these reactions, Hirkschy said, "and there has been no evidence of them recurring."

* * *

"It's amazing," he added. "Within 24 hours the swelling and fever go down, making the patient feel much more comfortable. He rests better, eats better and sleeps better."

Hirschy emphasized that thalidomide is "not used on women leprosy patients of childbearing age."

CONTROLLED TESTS

"We've only used the drug on hospitalized patients," he said, "testing it under controlled conditions."

With immigration to Hawaii rising, Hirschy noted that the number of persons being treated for leprosy has increased during the last decade. He said 350 persons are under treatment, 60 per cent of them foreign born.

* * *

Linking thalidomide to leprosy treatment originated about two years ago with Dr. Jaakov Sheskin, an Israeli doctor working in Jerusalem.

* * *

"We tried it out about a year and a half ago," Hirschy said, "and found that although it is not effective against the disease itself, it has a high degree of success in the treatment of this particular reaction, a familiar one in leprosy patients."

The sulfone drugs continue to be the most effective weapons against the disease, he said.

Since the Federal Drug Administration has barred thalidomide from general use in the United States, Hirschy said, the William S. Merrell Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, which supplies the drug to Hawaii hospitals and Carville, received special authorization to distribute thalidomide for the tests.

* * *

"It gives real hope of relief for patients with these particular reactions," Hirschy said.

Canadian Navy Eyes Incident

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — The Canadian navy is investigating complaints that three of its destroyer-escorts played "cowboys and Indians" during weekend exercises, leaving a trail of damage along 10 miles of shoreline.

* * *

A spokesman at the Canadian forces base said Wednesday the ships were steaming about 12 knots during maneuvers Sunday, "which isn't fast when you consider that British Columbia ferries go . . . at about 18 or 20 knots."

* * *

"They were just playing cowboys and Indians out there in the inlet," said Percy Perkins, a marina operator. "They went up and down, making sharp turns, and the wash they created was just like a tidal wave."

* * *

Perkins said one of his floats was damaged and several boats were smashed.

* * *

Rod McDonell, another marina operator, said he and a friend went out in a small boat and tried to stop the ships. They were greeted by spray from a fire hose, he said.

Robbed Staff Can't Teller—From Him

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police are seeking a male—or was it a female?—bankrobber who wore lipstick and demanded money from a Michigan Bank branch teller in Detroit Wednesday.

* * *

The teller said she handed $800 to what she thought was a man dressed as a woman after he gave her a note and pulled a gun.

* * *

Other witnesses said the bandit was a woman. The bandit wore blue jeans and a white turtleneck shirt.

Have Yourself Culinary Fling to Mark Last Holiday of Summer

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor,
The Pontiac Press

Let's get ready for company during the Labor Day weekend. It's the last summer holiday. Hopefully, it will be pleasant and we can entertain out of doors.

Let's have chicken or turkey for the main course. Both are more economical than meat right now.

Chicken parts cooked on the grill are given an interesting taste with a spicy plum basting sauce.

PURPLE PLUM BARBECUED CHICKEN

1 (1 lb.) can or jar purple plums
1 medium onion, sliced
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon pickling spices
¼ cup salad oil
1 frying chicken, cut-up

Drain plums, reserving syrup. Separate onion slices into rings and add to plums. Combine plum syrup with garlic, vinegar and salt in small saucepan. Tie pickling spices in cheesecloth bag and add to syrup. Heat just to boiling. Pour over plums.

* * *

Cover and marinate overnight in refrigerator. Remove plums and onion from marinade. Discard cheesecloth bag. Add salad oil to marinade.

Place chicken pieces on an oiled grill, skin side up, about 6 to 8-inches above hot coals. Brush with plum syrup marinade. Cook chicken until tender, turning and basting frequently. Season with salt and pepper.

SERVE AS RELISH

Serve marinated plums and onion rings in a relish dish or use them to garnish the Plum Barbecued Chicken.

The boneless turkey roast is wrapped in foil and cooked right on the grill. Fifteen minutes before serving time, cook fresh corn on the grill.

SOAK CORN

Early in the day, pull back husks only far enough to remove silk. Dip in water. Rewrap corn in husks and soak in water for an hour or so. While grilling, keep turning until corn is tender. The taste will be superb.

BARBECUED TURKEY ROAST

1 (2 lbs. 8 oz.) boneless turkey roast
Barbecue sauce

Cut a 30-inch piece of heavy duty foil. Fold in half crosswise. Remove frozen roast from foil pan. Wrap foil tightly around roast. Leave one end poen. Pour in ½ cup of your favorite barbecue sauce. Seal end tightly. Place on barbecue grill. After 1 hour insert meat thermometer.

* * *

Grill to 175 degrees about two hours total. Remove carefully from grill to keep juices from leaking. Remove foil.

Place roast back on grill. Turn and baste with additional sauce until nicely browned about 20 minutes more. Yield: one roast.

Lemon Barbecue Sauce

2 cloves garlic, minced
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
1 cup salad oil
1 cup lemon juice
¼ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon black pepper
1 teaspoon thyme, crushed
1 bottle (8 oz.) Italian dressing.

Blend all ingredients thoroughly. If possible, allow to stand overnight to blend flavors.

* * *

Salad is a must. Why not make it crisp cole slaw? Here are two unusual recipes. Just remember that the trick to good cole slaw is to slice the cabbage into shreds with a sharp knife.

CRUNCHY COLE SLAW

1 large head cabbage, cored and shredded
1 green pepper, seeded and chopped
2 carrots, scraped and coarsley shredded
4 scallions, sliced
6 radishes, sliced
½ cup sliced celery
½ cup mayonnaise
½ cup sour cream
½ cup beer
½ teaspoon celery seed
½ teaspoon sugar
Salt
Pepper

* * *

Prepare vegetables and combine cabbage with green pepper, carrots, scallions, radishes and celery. Place in large plastic bag; seal; refrigerate.

* * *

Blend mayonnaise with sour cream, beer, celery seed, sugar, and salt and pepper to taste. Keep chilled in a separate jar.

* * *

Just before serving, pour dressing over cole slaw and toss until well blended. Yield: 6 servings.

FRESH TOMATO SLAW

3 cups shredded cabbage
4 medium-sized tomatoes, chopped
¾ cup Blue cheese, crumbled
⅔ cup sour cream
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon minced fresh onion
Dash pepper

Combine cabbage and tomatoes in bowl. Chill. Combine remaining ingredients. Toss lightly with tomato-cabbage mixture. Makes about 6 servings.

* * *

For dessert, make a pie with some of Michigan's famous peaches. This one requires only brief baking for the cookie crust.

PEACHES 'N CREAM PIE

1 (9-inch) cookie pie crust, baked
6 to 7 peach halves, peeled
1 (3-ounce) package vanilla instant pudding mix
½ cup sifted brown sugar
1 cup milk
1 cup sour cream
8 peach slices

Place peach halves, cut side down, in the cooled pie curst. Empty instant pudding mix into deep bowl. Add sifted brown sugar, milk and sour cream. Beat with electric mixer on low speed for two minutes.

* * *

Pour over peaches in pie crust; cool in refrigerator for at least 2 hours. At serving time, cut into 8 wedges and garnish each with a fresh peach slice.

Cookie Pie Crust

1 package refrigerator sugar cookie dough
2 (9-inches each) pie plates

Slice cookie dough thinly. Arrange slices in each pie plate to cover. Allow dough to soften slightly and press with fingers to fill any "holes."

Bake in 375 degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown. Allow to cool completely before filling. Place one pie crust in plastic bag and freeze for later use.

Let Escort Help Prepare Picnic Food

You can help your summer romance flourish with a perfect picnic in a pastoral setting.

Special picnics call for food with a flair to stimulate a young man's senses. This hamperful of outdoor fare has color to delight his eye, interesting tastes to tempt his palate and the fragrance of coffee to scent the air. You will have his ear with sweet conversation as you pack your picnic basket to dine together out-of-doors.

You can ready the tables together, take out the picnic basket and your vacuum jug. Before you fill it with steaming coffee, pour him a cup. (If you're a cream-in-coffee fancier, don't forget a smaller, separate vacuum container of cream and, for a sweetner, pack little foil packets of sugar.)

With that welcome cup of coffee, next prepare the sandwiches. These are no ordinary picnic sandwiches, but slices of cold roast meat and a filling of cream cheese and delicate oriental seasonings.

* * *

Dessert is plump juicy strawberries held by their caps and dipped in sour cream and brown sugar. The only thing left to complete the picnic are refilled cups of coffee.

To make sure your coffee is up to the great outdoors, make sure you brew it correctly. Use fresh coffee — never buy more than you'll use in a week. For every six ounces of cold tap water, use one Approved Coffee Measure. Your vacuum bottle should keep it hot for hours.

ORIENTAL SANDWICH

1 package (3 oz) cream cheese, softened
1 tablespoon soy sauce
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ cup finely chopped water chestnuts
1½-2 teaspoons cider vinegar
Cold sliced roast beef, turkey or ham
Hard rolls or whole grain bread

Mix the cream cheese, soy sauce, garlic salt and water chestnuts until smooth. Add the first measure of vinegar and taste. If a little more zip is needed for flavor add only a few drops at a time, checking spreading consistency too. Makes about ½ cup or enough for 3 or 4 sandwiches.

* * *

To make the sandwiches use the filling on both sides to prevent the bread from absorbing liquid from the meat while the picnic is packed.

Note: This filling is flavorful alone as an appetizer spread, or a filling for stuffed celery. A good snack idea with mid-afternoon coffee.

CUKE 'N' ASPARAGUS — Don't neglect asparagus just because there are so many other good vegetables at this time of year. Canned asparagus spears are delicious with fresh cucumber dressing.

Sour Cream and Cukes Dress Asparagus Spears

Asparagus, the gourmet's delight, has many virtues, one being that it tastes as good cold as it does hot. If you haven't served tender green canned asparagus spears as a salad, now is the time to try it.

Simply chill the asparagus in the refrigerator for several hours. Then carefully drain and arrange the spears on a bed of crisp lettuce.

For a delightfully refreshing summertime dressing, combine shredded unpeeled cucumber with tangy sour cream and seasonings. Let the dressing chill in the refrigerator to mellow. Spoon it on top of the asparagus and you have a dish fit for a king.

COOL CUKE AND ASPARAGUS SALAD

½ cup grated unpeeled cucumber
½ cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons diced pimiento
1 teaspoon grated onion, drained
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dill weed
⅛ teaspoon pepper
4 drops hot pepper sauce
2 (15-oz.) cans extra long green asparagus spears, chilled and drained

Drain cucumber thoroughly. Combine with sour cream, pimiento, onion, lemon juice, salt, dill weed, pepper and hot pepper sauce. Chill for 30 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Arrange asparagus spears on lettuce-lined salad dishes. Top with cucumber dressing. Garnish with pimiento strips. Yield: 6 to 8 servings (1 cup dressing.)

Cake Topping With Coconut Is Broiled

Take this cake to the picnic right in its pan. Everyone will enjoy the crunchy coconut topping.

COCONUT TOPPED PUDDING CAKE

1 2-layer package regular yellow cake mix
1 package vanilla or lemon instant pudding
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup water
⅓ cup salad oil
3 eggs

Place cake mix, pudding, and salt in large mixer bowl. Add water, oil, and eggs; blend at low speed, then beat at medium speed for 3 minutes, or until smooth and creamy. Pour batter into a greased, floured 9-inch square pan. Bake at 350 degrees 50 to 55 minutes. Let cool 10 minutes.

Fold a 40-inch sheet of 12" wide foil wrap to make a long band 3 inches wide. Wrap around pan, overlapping at ends and pressing to pan. It should extend up 2 inches. Spread with the following topping:

Coconut Topping

⅓ Cup melted butter or margarine
½ cup light brown sugar
¼ cup milk
Few grains of salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup shredded coconut
½ cup chopped walnuts

Blend all ingredients together. Spread over cake. Brown slowly and carefully under the broiler until topping is golden—about 5 minutes.

Heated Bread

Cream butter with parsley and terragon and use as a spread for French or Italian bread. Slice the bread, but not all the way through; then spread both sides of each slice with some of the herbed butter. Place on foil or wrap in foil and heat in a moderate or hot oven before serving.

Cheese With Rice

Next time you prepare rice, cook it the way you always do, but toss it with 6 tablespoons of freshly grated Parmesan cheese.

A Special Touch

Want a special touch for ice cream? With a fork, stir vanilla ice cream to soften, add your favorite flavoring ... rum or almond extract or cinnamon ... then fold in chopped or sliced almonds or pecans. Return to the freezer until ready to serve.

Let the Kids Come

Cool Drink, Cookies for a Party

Summer means that the children are home from school. Children being children play so very hard that there is usually the cry for a snack during their busy day. They are thirsty and hungry constantly.

Orange Nectar Cooler is a thirst-quenching answer.

For a snack try Frosted Pumpkin Drop Cookies and Apple Sauce Squares.

ORANGE NECTAR COOLER

2 limes
1 can (46 fl. oz.) orange juice
1 can (12 fl. oz.) apricot, or peach nectar
¼ cup sugar
Ice cubes
Thin slices of lime (optional)

Combine the juice of the limes with chilled juices and sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved.

FROSTED PUMPKIN DROP COOKIES

½ cup shortening
1 cup packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1 cup canned pumpkin, or squash
2 cups sifted flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ginger
Brown Butter Frosting
Walnut halves (optional)

Cream shortening until light and fluffy, gradually addd the brown sugar. Add eggs one at a time beati G well after each addition; stir in pumpkin. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and spices; stir into pumpkin mixture.

Chill dough. Drop by teaspoonfuls on lightly greased baking sheets. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) about 10 minutes; cool.

Frost each cookie with Brown Butter Frosting and top with a walnut half, if desired. About five dozen cookies.

FROSTING: In a saucepan heat ½ cup butter or margarine until light golden brown. Add 4 to 4½ cups sifted confectioners sugar and ¼ cup boiling water, beating until mixture is smooth.

APPLE SAUCE SQUARES

½ cup butter, or margarine
½ cup packed brown sugar
1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup quick rolled oats

Filling:

1 can (16 oz.) apple sauce
cup packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons flour
½ Teaspoon dried lemon peel
1 tablespoon canned lemon juice
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup chopped nuts

Cream together butter and brown sugar. Add flour, salt and rolled oats; mix until combined. Press half of the mixture in an 8x8x2-inch greased pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 minutes.

Filling: Combine apple sauce, brown sugar and flour in a saucepan. Cook until thickened. Remove from hat; add lemon peel and juice, spices and nuts. Cool. Spread over baked mixture.

Sprinkle remaining crumbs over apple sauce mixture. Return to oven and bake an additional 40 minutes. Cut in squares when cool.

BACKYARD PARTY—Make snack time party time this summer when the neighborhood children drop in for treats. Set out big glasses of Orange Nectar Cooler for drinks and serve plenty of Frosted Pumpkin Drop Cookies and Apple Sauce Squares.

BAKED FISH IN SOUR CREAM—Prepare half of an 8-oz. package of herb bread stuffing as directed for dry stuffing. Fill a 3-4 pound fish with head and tail left on; lace or skewer together. Stand fish on its underside, as though swimming, in buttered baking dish. Combine 1 cup dairy sour cream; ¼ teaspoon each salt, celery salt and dill seed; 1 tablespoon flour and 2 tablespoons chopped onion. Spread evenly over top of fish. Bake at 350 degrees about one hour, or until fish is tender and topping has lightly browned. Makes 4-6 servings.

FLOWERPOT HIBACHI — A picnic in the offing and no portable grill? Make one, quick as a wink, from a clay flowerpot. Foil, gravel and charcoal briquets are all you need. For a large party at home, assemble half a dozen of these hibachis and spot them around the patio or backyard.

Picnickers Prefer Their Own Work

The shade of an old apple tree is a delightfully cool spot for a cookout. Sitting on a blanket spread under a tree brings back memories of an old-fashioned picnic. Informality and casualness are still the mood of the day with a modern twist to the food and its preparation.

Glazed kebabs created from a variety of fruits, vegetables and frankfurters were not part of a picnic in the old days. Today's picnickers enjoy fixing their own creations. Have the ingredients available and each can grill combinations of frankfurters, spiced crab apples, broiled mushroom crowns, olives and chunks of bananas. The flavor of the kebabs is enhanced with a glaze made of the crab apple syrup and bottled browning sauce.

Easy to carry to any picnic spot is a hibachi made from a large clay flowerpot. Lined with foil and partially filled with charcoal, its just needs to be lighted to be used. The skewers rest on the edge of the pot so a wire rack is not required.

FLOWERPOT KEBABS WITH GLAZE

1 jar (1 lb.) spiced crab apples
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon vegetable oil, optional
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¾ teaspoon kitchen bouquet (bottled browning sauce)
Dash garlic powder
1 can (3 oz.) broiled mushroom crowns
4 frankfurters

Drain ½ cup syrup from crab apples into small saucepan. Add sugar, oil, lemon juice, kitchen bouquet and garlic powder. Place over medium heat and bring to a boil. Remove from heat.

Drain mushrooms reserving broth for use in soup, sauce or gravy. Score frankfurters lightly in spiral from end to end. Cut into quarters.

Lace mushrooms, meat and crab apples alternately on skewers. Brush with glaze. Grill over medium coals 3 to 5 inches from heat 10 to 15 minutes. Brush frequently with glaze. Makes 4 servings.

VARIATIONS

OLIVE VARIATION: Substitute 12 large ripe, pitted olives for mushrooms.

BANANA VARIATION: Substitute 2 large bananas for mushrooms. Peel bananas and cut each into 1½-inch chunks. Dip in lemon juice to prevent darkening until ready to use.

POTPOURRI: Use a combination of mushrooms, olives and bananas along with the meat and crab apples.

★ ★ ★

Line a clay flowerpot with foil. Fill two-thirds full with gravel. Top with a square of foil. Add a layer of briquets. Select skewers at least 2 inches longer than the diameter of the

Blueberries Dot Biscuits

Small muffin-pan cups are used for baking this delightful hot bread.

BLUEBERRY BISCUIT

1 cup less 2 tablespoons unsifted regular flour (stir to aerate before measuring)
1½ teaspoons baking powder
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon butter
1 large egg
⅓ cup commercial sour cream
½ cup large fresh cultivated blueberries

Butter 12 small muffin-pan cups (each 1¾ by 1 inch). In a medium mixing bowl, stir together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. With a pastry blender, cut in butter until particles are fine.

★ ★ ★

Into a small bowl turn the egg and sour cream; beat to blend; turn into dry ingredients. Add blueberries. With a rubber spatula, fold carefully until dry ingredients are just moistened — try not to squash berries. (Dough will be stiff.)

With a tablespoon and small spatula fill prepared muffin-pan cups with dough; try to cover berries. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons extra sugar.

Bake in preheated 425-degree oven until browned — about 20 minutes. Remove from cups at once and serve hot. Makes 12.

Note: In measuring flour, fill a cup and level, then remove 2 tablespoons.

Bean Recipe Book Available Again

The Michigan Bean Shippers with the Michigan Bean Growers have up-dated and re-printed what certainly must be the most popular bean recipe booklet ever printed. In five years, over a million have been distributed to schools, institutions, church groups and private individuals.

The Bean Recipe booklet is still 38 pages and contains recipes from famous chefs throughout the country plus those of the Kennedys, the LBJ Ranch ... and the Pillsbury Grand Prize winner which never seems to dim in popularity.

It is available singly or in quantity again. Send six cents in stamps or coins for each book to cover postage; name, address and zip code. For quantity shipments, or individual copies, write to:

Drain and Dry

If you want to broil pineapple rings (canned) to serve with a meat course, be sure to drain and dry them thoroughly before brushing with melted butter or margarine. If you like, you may add a little honey and soy sauce to the butter.

Driving Tips Point to a Safer Holiday

NEW YORK (UPI) — Something like 700 Americans who could read this today won't be around reading anything come Tuesday. They'll be dead.

This is the projection of the National Safety Council in Chicago which notes: 597 men, women and children died on the nation's highways during this year's Memorial Day holiday and 609 died during the July 4th weekend.

★ ★ ★

For this Labor Day, the Council predicts that as many if not more Americans will die in traffic accidents as lost their lives during the 1968 Labor Day weekend. The figure then was 688.

All told, 25,890 Americans lost their lives in road accidents in the first six months of this year.

TOLL NOT NECESSARY

This frightful toll is not necessary.

Most of the accidents are attributed by the experts to driver errors and carelessness.

★ ★ ★

No one has yet come up with a sure-fire way of improving the performance of the "nut at the wheel," even, while the safety and performance of the cars they drive are being improved.

But if you are not a nut yourself — and look out for the nuts who never learn — you'll have a good chance of coming home from your weekend alive and in one piece.

This weekend, don't let one of the nuts be you. Take reasonable care and precaution and you'll have a good chance of coming home alive and in one piece.

First, of course, you will have made sure your car is in top shape before setting out. You'll have checked, or had a mechanic check, your car's brakes and the tires, including the spare, the windshield washers and wipers, headlights, stoplights and taillights, and the battery.

★ ★ ★

You won't block your view through the rear window — particularly with golf clubs, fishing rods, skis or similar objects which can become deadly projectiles if you have to brake suddenly.

You won't ride without the seat or chest belts fastened. If you have a baby riding in one of those detachable seats, you'll make sure it is firmly fixed and won't tear loose on sudden stops.

OTHER TIPS

Here are some other lifesaving tips:

● Never stop suddenly on a highway unless in an emergency. If you miss your turnoff, it is safer to continue to the next exit than to back up or cut across traffic. If you must stop, get off the highway if possible. If you can't, open the hood and trunk and set up flares a safe distance away — never, never stand in the road behind your car and try to wave off oncoming drivers.

● Don't tailgate, particularly at high speed. Leave plenty of space between you and the car ahead but without disrupting the stream of traffic. Be doubly cautious during the early morning and late-evening hours when mist or dew can make the roads slick.

● Yield — don't fight road hogs and weavers. They are particularly dangerous on crowded roads. And be ready at all times to make allowances for — and anticipate — "honest" driving errors by other drivers.

● Allow cars pulling onto the highway in front of you ample time and space to move into the flow of traffic. Don't you yourself try to steamroller your way onto the highway, even if the sign only says to "yield" to oncoming traffic. Don't cut across the white lines on approach or exit lanes unless they are free of cars.

● If you are driving long distances, take a break every two hours. Get out of the car and stretch your arms and legs, drink a cup of hot coffee or tea if possible. Avoid anything stronger.

● Shift your position behind the wheel from time to time so as not to get too comfortable and become drowsy. Move your eyes around to avoid the hypnotic effect of staring at the road ahead. Keep a window open, play the radio (no sleepytime music) or talk to the others in the car — without turning to look at them.

● Keep the windshield and other windows clean. Lower your headlight beams when approaching oncoming cars or when catching up with one in front.

● Don't exceed speed limits.

See you on Tuesday!

Space Officials Studying Industry Moon Car Bids

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Officials of the Marshall Space Flight Center began studies yesterday on industry proposals for the manufacture of a moon rover scheduled to explore the lunar surface in 1971.

★ ★ ★

A source evaluation board said Monday it would consider the technical and business aspects of the four proposals submitted before making a contract award, possibly in mid-October.

★ ★ ★

A spokesmen at the center said the firms submitting proposals were Chrysler Space Division, New Orleans, Gruman Corp., Bethpage, N.Y.; Boeing Co. of Huntsville; and Bendix Corp., Ann Arbor, Mich.

★ ★ ★

The Space Administration said the contract calls for the manufacture of four moon cars with an expected price tag of $20 million.

NASA said the cars will have to be strong enough to carry two astronauts, scientific gear and lunar rock samples. The vehicle would not travel more than 10 miles an hour.

NASA wants the vehicle by the spring of 1971 in time for the Appolo 17 mission a few months later. The rover will make several trips of 19 miles each and then be left behind as the spacemen return to earth.

★ ★ ★

Nearly 30 contractors had been asked to submit offerings for the moon rover before the midnight Friday deadline.

The number of factories registered in Hong Kong last year was 11,793, an increase of one-third during the last four years.

'Seadog' Shows a Soft Heart for Four Kittens

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — "I suppose," said Capt. Leo McElwee, skipper of the 52-foot ketch Shireen, "the toughest old seadogs have a soft spot for women and children."

But in this case he was referring to a curly haired black poodle named Elmer, who treats as his own four kittens born a month ago to another "member" of the crew, a cat named Bunny.

The 6-year-old Elmer has accompanied McElwee, a charter boat operator, on voyages to many parts of the world.

The captain is bound for his hometown of Annapolis, Md., after purchasing the ketch in Miami. He put in at the Charleston municipal marina Wednesday.

Ex-Musical Star Calmly Looking to New TV Series

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Dan Dailey, since the days of the MGM musicals in the 1940s has had the image of a song-and-dance man. But, he's made some 50 "straight" pictures, too. And now he's going to do a television situation comedy, "The Governor and J. J.")

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Dan Dailey, a rangy 6-footer who walks like a dancer although he swears he's given it up, is taking his impending television network debut with the tension the average citizen builds up for a trip to the supermarket.

Dailey, in his 50s with a 30-year movie career behind him, will play half of the title role in CBS' "The Governor and J.J.," one of the incoming situation comedies which is being touted as a potential hit. The actor who certainly has no financial problems and has worked just about as much as he has chosen to over the years, insists he was talked into it.

* * *

"I'd been playing the pompous ass in 'The Odd Couple' for two years—six months in Los Angeles—and then a sympathetic pompous ass in 'Plaza Suite' in Los Angeles and New York," Dailey said. "Just about a year ago, my agent called and asked me if I'd like to do a TV series. I said 'no' and hung up.

"When we were breaking in 'Plaza Suite' in San Francisco I was called again about the show. It seems that Julie Sommars, who was set to play J.J., had seen our show in Los Angeles and was sure I was right to play her father, the governor.

"I said that I hated television—but after that I met Julie and fell in love with her. So we made the pilot, and sold it."

Dailey had one encounter with television 11 years ago when he was one of four stars (Vittorio di Sica, Richard Conte and Jack Hawkins were the other three) who made a british-based action series called "Four Just Men" It was a hit abroad but had only a mild success here as a syndicated show.

* * *

In the upcoming series—which will enter the network lineup on Sept. 23, Dailey—in a gray hairpiece covering his thinning light brown hair—will play the head man of an unidentified midwestern state. Julie Sommars will be her widowed father's official hostess and also hold down a job as an assistant curator in a zoo.

The format permits the half-hour scripts to move in all sorts of directions, from comedy based on political situations to romance and animal tales.

TV NOT FOR DANCERS

Dailey qualifies but is no candidate for guest-star appearances on variety shows, he just will not dance on television, not even on his own show.

"You can't even see dancers on the television screen," he said disdainfully. "They usually wind up being little tiny people moving somewhere behind the stars. TV is not a dance medium."

* * *

Dailey seems just a little bit disturbed that his public image is that of a song-and-dance man.

"Everybody associates me with Betty Grable," he said with a shrug, "and that isn't bad. But the truth is that I made 50 straight pictures and only 12 musicals."

He was still playing dramatic parts when he entered the service during World War II, mustering out in 1946.

ZANUCK'S BID

"I was water-skiing when my agent called in that summer to say that Darryl Zanuck wanted me for 'Mother Wore Tights' with Grable. But Zanuck said he knew that it would make me a star so he wanted me under contract. I was still under contract to MGM, so I went to L.B. Mayer, who was head of the studio, and told him the problem. He tore up my contract, shook my hand and said all he wanted was my agreement to return to the studio for another picture. I did, later, for three."

Zanuck was right, Dailey did become a star, and the picture sparked a series of those song-and-dance shows that firmed up that image.

* * *

For the past six years, Dailey has been mixing directing with stage acting, and while he has foresworn dancing as a career, he has been working with young people interested in acting and/or dancing careers. Last December he married Carol Warner, a dancer. His first marriage ended in divorce.

"Dancing and acting are so closely related," he said. "If you want to be an actor, you have to be able to move. If you want to be a dancer, you have to be able to act. I think that it is vital for an actor to be able to dance—it travels you easily from here to there."

WORK EASY

The series is being shot with the three-camera, live-audience technique developed for "I Love Lucy" by Desi Arnaz, and Dailey finds the work easy. He is a little impatient that the work week runs five days; four for rehearsing. He thinks the show could be done in much less. But he likes TV's casual attitudes.

During the interview he was sitting around his living room in shorts and shirt. When it was time to go to work, he changed quickly to faded blue denims and sandals.

* * *

"This is all you have to wear, except Fridays when we shoot," he said. He pulled a conservative, blue suit from a closet.

"This," he said proudly, "is the only real suit I own. How's this for the rough life?"

Coast Guard Urges Ships to Avoid I-75 Drawbridge

LANSING (AP) — All the weekend motorists who've ever been stuck at the Zilwaukee drawbridge on I 75 south of Bay City can take heart at the latest word from Secretary of State James M. Hare and the 9th U.S. Coast Guard district.

Shipping companies using the waterways at the bridge, which must be raised to let most commercial sized vessels pass, have been asked to avoid that passage as much as possible on weekends — at least on the long one for the coming Labor Day holiday.

* * *

Hare's office said today the Coast Guard has suggested ships avoid the bridge at the following times if it would have to be raised to let them pass:

Friday from 1 p.m. to midnight.

Saturday from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Sunday from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Monday from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Control of the bridge is under the Coast Guard because of its authority over the Saginaw River below it. Hare and other state officials have appealed to Transportation Secretary John Volpe for restrictions on shipping when it is most likely to cause a traffic backlog. Volpe has charge of the Coast Guard and, thus, of inland navigation rules.

4 Top Contenders in Crowded Detroit Mayor Race

DETROIT (UPI) — The next mayor of the nation's fifth largest city — a city that boasts of cars and unions but vividly recalls racial strife — probably will be:

● "The Negro version of Horatio Alger, as one supporter calls Richard Austin.

● Or a stocky, square-jawed sheriff with a liberal record which contains one spot bitter to Negroes and white liberals.

● Or a woman who launched her career as a liberal but is now regarded as the voice of law and order.

● Or a public relation executive who says "My childhood and everything else leads me to expect the worst."

WON'T RUN

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, rounding out his second four-year term, has announced he will not seek reelection because he wants to spend more time with his eight children.

Regarded as a "boy wonder" when he won his first term, the last few years of Cavanagh's administration have been marked by the 1967 Detroit riot, a running battle with the common Council, and a divorce.

* * *

Altogether, 29 candidates have filed for the office. But only Austin, Wayne County Sheriff Roman S. Gribbs, Common Councilman Mary Beck and businessman Walter Shamie are given much chance to get through the Sept. 9 primary. The top two will fight it out for mayor in the Nov. 4 general election.

Most observors believe these two will be Austin and Gribbs.

'QUIET MAN'

"Some people have said I'm a quiet man," Austin said. "We'll make no more noise than is necessary for us to win."

To date, the primary campaign has been unusually low-key with each candidate trying to solidify his own support and position while trying to avoid offending the others.

* * *

Austin, 56, has been generally successful at anything he has undertaken. When he was 12, he moved from Alabama to Detroit, shined shoes, turned down a college scholarship to be could help his family, finally graduated from the Detroit Institute of Technology and became the city's first black chartered public accountant.

In 1963, Democratic legislators applauded his work as cochairman of a commission that reshaped legislative districts.

PAYS OFF DEBT

Since he was elected Wayne County auditor in 1966, Austin has paid off the county's $25-million debt, putting it in the nation's leading accounting firms, offered him a parnership but Austin decided to run for mayor.

His were the first campaign posters to begin decorating the walls and boarded-up windows of abandoned buildings in the city — especially the inner city.

* * *

"I feel the voters are becoming more concerned about the qualifications and ability, and less about race and ethnic background," Austin has said. Both he and Gribbs have publicly said they do not wish to make race an issue.

* * *

Stocky, square-jawed and Polish, Gribbs, 43, graduated in his law class, ran a private practice, worked as prosecutor and a traffic court referee until he was appointed sheriff one year ago.

CLEANS UP DEPARTMENT

Since then, he has cleaned up the sheriff's department which had been charged with corruption, improved conditions at the county jail, and appointed Negro William Lucas as his chief undersheriff.

But when he was a prosecutor in 1963, Gribbs so vigorously prosecuted civil rights sit-in demonstrators at the First Federal Bank that 15 were given jail terms and most blacks and many white liberals never have forgiven him.

* * *

Gribbs recently released the results of a private poll which he says shows he is leading the race by a "small margin." But much depends on how many registered voters in Detroit are black.

* * *

About 40 per cent of the city's 1.6 million residents are Negroes. So far, 710,000 persons have registered to vote.

STUDY FIGURES

The city clerk's office does not keep records of registered voters by race. But one study, by the Detroit Free Press, estimates that between 20 and 25 per cent of the registered voters are Negroes. Another study, by Mike Wynne of the Urban Alliance, estimates Negroes make up 40 per cent of the registered vote.

* * *

Even in that case, however, Austin is not assured of total black support. Some black leaders still remember with bitterness his unsuccessful race against popular Negro John Conyers, D-Mich., in the 1964 congressional primary.

Again, the Kirkwood Group, an organization of black leaders dedicated to finding black candidates, debated long and hard before unanimously endorsing Austin, for mayor, insiders said that, even after the endorsement, many of the militant members of the group would more vigorously support a "blacker" candidate."

It is felt the candidacy of councilman Mary Beck, 61, will hurt Gribbs more than Austin.

CARRYING BROOMS

The daughter of Ukranian parents, Miss Beck has been dramatizing her campaign through women carrying brooms to symbolize her promise to give law and order to the city and sweep it clean. Though this is called the "Broom Brigade," opponents have dubbed it "The Witch Watch."

Miss Beck has been on the Common Council since 1948. In recent years, she continually has needled Cavanagh, and her campaign to recall him two years ago came within a few signatures of going to a public referendum.

* * *

The fourth major candidate, Walter Shamie, is a public relations executive for a large retail chain making his second run. In 1964, Cavanagh took 86 per cent of the vote against Shamie.

The son of Syrian parents, Shamie said, "A man is what his past makes him. I was the short, ugly, foreign kid with the big nose."

* * *

When he decided to run, Shamie bought a series of television spots on a local channel. The night the first spot was shown, viewers across the world — and Detroit — watched Neil Armstrong's foot descending on the moon.

* * *

"I don't suppose too many people watched my show," said Shamie.

Levy Is Rejected for Niles Library

NILES (AP) — Voters in suburban Niles Township have rejected a proposal for a 1-mill levy to raise 34,000 to support the Niles Public Library.

* * *

The vote was 188 to 100 against the proposal. The township now contributes $16,000 out of its general fund in a contract with the city covering library use.

Woman 'Stuck 5 Days' Sues Elevator Firm

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman filed a $100,000 damage suit against Otis Elevator Co. Wednesday, charging she was trapped for five days without food or water in a home elevator that the firm serviced.

* * *

Mrs. Rosemary Baur Bull, 58, a member of a socially prominent Chicago family, charged that the elevator stopped between the first and second floors in her four-story Near North Side mansion on July 10.

* * *

She said she was alone in the house and could not escape from the elevator without help. She was rescued July 15, the suit said, when her handyman returned from a vacation and heard the alarm bell ringing.

Her suit, filed in Circuit Court charges that she paid Otis $800 a year for elevator maintenance and that she had "complained about noises in the elevator." She said a repairman had checked the elevator the day before it jammed between floors.

* * *

The complaint said she lost 12 pounds during the five days and that her health has been permanently damaged.

A spokesman for the Otis firm would not comment on the suit.

DEDICATED TO TREES — The Lyndon Johnsons and the Richard Nixons flank a plaque in a Redwood forest near Orick, Calif., yesterday with which they named a 300-acre grove of giant trees the "Lady Bird Johnson Grove."

Lady Bird Grove Named

ORICK, Calif. (AP) — In the cathedral-like setting of a giant redwood grove President Nixon had dedicated to her, Lady Bird Johnson reminded Americans that "Conservation is indeed a bipartisan business."

* * *

"All of us have the same stake in this magnificent continent—the same love for it and the same feeling that it is going to belong to our children and grandchildren," the former first lady said Wednesday, "and the same opportunity to work in our time to see that it stays glorious."

* * *

It was the climax of a day in which Nixon saluted former President Lyndon B. Johnson's wife for her conservation and beautification efforts in five years as first lady. They also celebrated Johnson's 61st birthday with cake and serenades of "Happy Birthday."

The Nixon and Johnson families traveled by plane and helicopter 670 miles from San Clemente to this remote northern California coastal area.

PROCLAMATION SIGNED

Standing on a redwood platform beneath a 234-foot tall, 675-year-old redwood, Nixon signed a proclamation naming a 300-acre "Lady Bird Johnson Grove." Mrs. Johnson had dedicated the park on this same spot Nov. 25, 1968.

* * *

Signing with six pens, Nixon, with a flourish, gave the first pen to Mrs. Johnson, the second to her husband and reserved the rest for the Johnsons' two daughters and sons-in-law.

* * *

At San Clemente, the Nixons had rolled up in golf carts to greet the Johnsons at the Western White House. Mrs. Nixon presented a big bouquet of yellow roses and orchids to Mrs. Johnson. An eight-piece sombreroed Mexican band from Nixon's favorite nearby Mexican restaurant launched the "Happy Birthday" serenades with the Nixons joining in.

Nixon and Johnson talked politics and policy for more than an hour, then joined their families for an informal luncheon at the Nixon's oceanfront home.

* * *

At the redwoods ceremonies, Johnson noted that one thing both he and Nixon most want to announce "would be peace among men throughout this world."

* * *

Johnson had one nostalgic comment: "Presidents are lonely people and the only ones they're sure of all the time are their womenfolk."

Apartments Eyed at Loon Lake Site

An apartment development may replace what has been described as a "lovers' lane" beach on Loon Lake in Waterford Township.

* * *

The township planning commission hs recommended the Township Board approve an application to build 126 apartment units and 22 homes on 10 acre of Lake-side property near Rosemound.

* * *

Approval is seldom given by the Township Board to permit construction of apartments on lake-side property, a planning official said.

Township Board member Ted McCullough Jr. of McCullough Realty Inc. is the applicant. The proposed site is now zoned for single-family residences.

ONCE BEAUTIFUL

The thickly wooded site was once one of the most beautiful private beaches in the township, according to the planner. It since turned into a "lover's lane."

* * *

Planning commissioners in recent action also recommended:

- Denial of an application by Jack Frushour of Frushour and Angell Builders to put an office building on the southwest corner of Williams Lake and Coventry in a single-family home area. Commissioners want to keep the area strictly for single family homes.
- Denial of a proposal by James Lonie, 1702 Almas, to put four apartment units in a single-family zone on the southwest corner of Letart and Sashabaw Road because the planned building wouldn't meet requirements in deed restrictions.
- Approval of an application of Builder John Gorang to put a maximum of five apartment units in a single-family residence zone on the southwest corner of Airport and Northrup.

The commission's recommendations go to the township board for final action.

Probation Case Brings Arrest

Kenneth R. Walker, who recently charged city police with brutality, was arrested today by Pontiac police on a warrant charging him with violating terms of his probation.

Walker, 27, of 97 S. Jessie, has refused to pay court costs and has refused to report to his assigned probation officer, city police said today.

* * *

Walker was placed on probation early this year after he was found guilty of accosting a 12-year-old city girl last August.

Police said Walker would be arraigned sometime today in Oakland County Circuit Court on the probation violation charge if he does not agree to comply with the probation officer's orders and if he does not agree to pay a $100 court costs fee incurred during original handling of the matter.

* * *

Walker also was secheduled to appear in Pontiac District Court today for examination on a charge of resisting arrest.

He and Elick Shorter, 25, of 529 Judson were charged after a July 10 incident at the Hayes Jones Community Center. Police brutality charges stemming from the incident triggered a police trial board hearing this month. The results of the probe have not yet been announced.

Urban League Eyes Religious Task Force

The Pontiac Area Urban League took initial steps to form a task force of religious resources in Pontiac yesterday.

About 25 clergymen, representing a variety of denominations, met at a luncheon at the Newman AME Church, 233 Bagley, to discuss the role of the clergy in helping to solve urban problems.

* * *

The meeting was sponsored by the Pontiac Area Urban League with the hope that area church leaders, black and white, could act toward solving the city's problems, including race relations and education.

* * *

The men expressed a desire to form a viable alliance to improve conditions in Pontiac regarding race relations and requested an outline of programs already in existence and suggestions for new programs from the Urban League.

* * *

William H. Clark, Urban League executive director, told the group that an outline will be available for their next meeting to be scheduled for the near future.

Coral-Eating Starfish Peril South Sea Islands

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marine scientists report a mysterious population boom among coral-eating starfish threatens hundreds of idyllic South Sea islands.

Three spiny members of the poisonous species—known formally as Arcaster Planci and popularly as Crown of Thorns—became the first of their kind to visit the United States when they were placed on display Tuesday in the Commerce Department's National Aquarium.

* * *

"What's happening is totally new," said Bernard J. Zahuranec," a member of a Navy oceanagraphic expedition which spent the last five weeks photographing starfish destruction on Guam and other islands.

* * *

"There has been no evidence of this kind of thing in the past," he said, noting the starfish at Guam are killing coral at the rate of half a mile a month.

"These are really science fiction creatures from the sea," said Willard Vary," the expedition's other member. "You cut them in half and they'll grow into two starfish; you quarter them and you've got four of them. And if you hurt one it separates itself from the damaged section and regenerates."

Zahuranec said that for some unexplained reason the Crown of Thorns suddenly multiplied much faster than its natural enemies.

* * *

The problem is that the coral reefs provide a home for fish—a vital food supply in many regions of the South Pacific—and shelter islands from possibly fatal wave and wind errosion.

The scientists said the starfish already has destroyed 100 square miles of Australia's Great Barrier Reef.

Eisenhower's Grandson Is Eying Navy

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — David Eisenhower, grandson of the famous five-star general president , is "thinking" of going into the Navy when his college deferment from military service is up.

And that's not because his father-in-law, President Nixon, is Navy-oriented from his World War II days in the Pacific.

* * *

Eisenhower, 21, said his late granddad advised him to go into the Army if he wanted to make a career of it. For a shorter stint, despite his own spectacular career which began at West Point, he recommended the Navy for his grandson.

Young Eisenhower said that his father, John Eisenhower, a retired Army colonel who is serving as ambassador to Belgium, agreed that for the shorter haul he should go into the Navy.

* * *

"I'm thinking about it," said David. At present, he has a 2S student deferment and will be returning to Amherst on Sept. 16 to begin his senior year. Later, he hopes to attend law school, perhaps in California.

Expert Says Now Best to Seed Lawn

EAST LANSING (AP) — The best time to seed a lawn is now, advises a Michigan State University expert.

Dr. James Beard, a turf grass researcher, suggests seeding up until Sept. 1. The seeded or sodded lawn should be mowed when the grass is 2½-3 inches high, he adds. The new grass should be cut to a height of 1½-2 inches.

* * *

Lawn growers should apply a light application of soluble nitrogen, such as ammonium nitrate or urea — 1½ pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn, he says, when the young seedlings have reached a height of 1½ inches. The fertilizer should be watered into the soil to help the lawn get established quickly, Beard advises.

The United Nations flag features the official U.N. emblem, a map of the world flanked by two olive branches, signifying the U.N.'s purpose of promoting world peace.

Danish Food Reforms May Revolutionize World's Eating Habits

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Two new companies, just formed in Denmark, may revolutionize the eating habits of the world's advanced industrial nations.

One company plans to convert Danish agriculture to the production of products with a much reduced "hard" fat and cholesterol content. The other, potentially much the more important of the two, will aim to persuade the world's food processing industry to use glucose as a sweetener instead of the conventional cane and beet sucrose sugars.

* * *

Common to both companies is the production of foods which, they believe, will be healthier than those they are replacing. Hard, or saturated, fats and cholesterol are believed to be major contributory factors in the development of heart disease. Sugar of the kind we normally eat is thought to be a prime cause of both heart diesease and dental cavities.

Behind the companies is the Danish innovator — industrialist Karl Kroeyer of Aarhus, who already has a number of successful inventions behind him, including an ingenious method for raising ships from the seabed by pumping them full of plastic balls.

'MOST EXPLOSIVE'

Kroeyer described the glucose versus sucrose issue as the "most explosive in the sugar industry." This makes Koreyer's new glucose manufacturing company all the more interesting, because it has been founded on a 50-50 basis with the De Danske Sukkerfabrikker, the Danish sugar company which has a government-granted monopoly. Starting capital is just under $800,000.

* * *

Kroeyer has been interested in glucose for many years. One of his first big successes was a new method of processing liquid glucose.

Several years ago he found a new method for making a glucose sugar which is very similar to ordinary white caster sugar, which he calls "total sugar." But the company will be using a completely new process which cuts the cost of making glucose sugar by all existing methods by 25 per cent, making it competitive with ordinary sugar.

* * *

The process is enzyme extraction which uses corn as its raw material. The corn starch is converted to liquid glucose by the enzyme, and because of the nonchemical process the glucose is so pure that it is not necessary to crystallize it to remove impurities.

END PRODUCT

The end product, served by Kroeyer for my coffee when I interviewed him, is a fine, free-flowing white material with crystals which are slightly larger and much more regular than those of ordinary sugar.

The conversion of the Danish sugar industry into admitting the value of glucose is regarded as something of a minor miracle by Kroeyer. "It is as if the steel industry suddenly decided that it ought to be making plastic pipes," he said.

* * *

The medical case against conventional sugar is that it increases the blond cholesterol level and provides an ideal nourishment for the bacteria which bore holes in the teeth.

Prof. John Yudkin of London University has reported that men having their first heart attack have on the average consumed twice as much sucrose as a control group without signs of heart trouble, and experiments by the American National Aeronautics and Space Administration among others have shown that the cholesterol level can be reduced when glucose replaces sucrose in the diet.

EXPRESSES CONCERN

But although the findings of the medical researchers are by now becoming well-known, Kroeyer is concerned that neither the glucose nor the sugar industry have up to now done anything about it.

* * *

"The public does not have a free choice between sucrose and glucose. It is not possible to buy ice cream, marmalade, jam, chocolate and sweets, and it is not normally possible to buy lemonade or a cup of coffee or tea where the sweetener is glucose," he says.

* * *

He plans to change all this. Among the first expected to go over from sucrose to glucose are several of the main Copenhagen bakeries. Glucose, as it happens, is a better preservative and improves taste.

The new company, to be known as DDS-Kroeyer, will set up its first factory in old refinery premises in Copenhagen. Production is expected to start at the end of the 1970. DDS-Kroeyer will hold the international rights to license the building of new factories using the process.

The theory behind the second Kroeyer company, formed on a 50-50 basis between Kroeyer and Denmark's biggest slaughterhouse, the United Zeland Cooperative Slaughterhouses, and to be known as FSA-Kroeyer, is that if animals are fed the right foods, the fat makeup of the foods can be changed.

In experiments with the production of a new Camembert cheese, he managed to bring about a reduction of the hard, saturated fat content in the milk. And because the soft, unsaturated fats have a stronger taste, it was possible to make a finished product which contains only 30 to 40 per cent fat instead of the normal 60 per cent. With eggs he has succeeded in reducing the cholesterol content of the yolk to 60 per cent of normal.

The process will also be applied to meats.

"It is not possible to produce a leaner pig than we already do, but we can change the fat makeup," he said. By increasing the corn and soya content of the feed the fat becomes softer.

* * *

"The bacon we shall be eating soon will have a soft beige fat instead of the hard white fat we know. There is an added advantage in that more of the soft fat will melt off in the frying pan, while what is left behind will taste better."

For Danish agriculture the new foods could prove very important. We are known for making good products, but are no longer ahead of the others. But Danish agriculture is small and very well organized and thus well-suited to the creation of a new speciality in healthier foods," said Kroeyer.

It is significant that the firm cooperating with Kroeyer in this is a cooperative. The cooperative movement was the making of modern Danish agriculture and continues completely to dominate trade in agricultural products.

* * *

The United Zealand Slaughterhouses is one of the 10 biggest industrial concerns in Denmark, and capable, if any firm is, of launching Danish agriculture into a new food-reform movement.

Bond Issue Vote

MIDLAND (AP) — Bullock Creek School District voters go to the polls today to consider a proposal for a $1,347,000 bond issue which will finance construction of a new middle school. School board officials have advised voters the bond issue will be paid off without an increase in the tax rate.

2 GI German Shepherds Sniff Out Dogfaces' 'Pot' in Viet

SAIGON (AP) Cookie and Smidgen are looking for Mary Jane in Vietnam.

The two are a male-female team of German shepherd dogs brought into the country by the U.S. Army on "temporary duty status" after 16 weeks of intensive training on Okinawa. They were drafted for a military effort to curb the shipment of marijuana back to the States by servicemen.

* * *

So far the dogs have been kept busy—demonstrating their skills everywhere from the main postal terminal at Saigon's busy Tan Son Nhut Air Base to 9th Infantry Division troopers in the Mekong Delta packing up to go home under President Nixon's 25,000-troop withdrawal order.

Cookie and Smidgen are the only two dogs who passed the course out of 30 candidates. For 16 weeks the dogs were trained in basic obedience, safety, retrieving, and scouting, taking on their complex sniffing missions starting with a marijuana-filled toy.

LONG A PROBLEM

The purchase and use of marijuana, also called Mary Jane, by GIs have long been a problem in Vietnam, although the extent has often been the subject of controversy. In recent months the U.S. military has stepped up a campaign against it, including the wide use of radio and television spots on the local armed forces network. But with the cannabis plant so readily—and cheaply—available in Vietnam, it is not surprising that some GIs think of mailing some to their friends back home.

In typical demonstrations, Cookie and Smidgen sniff their way past assorted pieces of baggage or packages and individuals and sniff out planted marijuana shipments or personal "stashes" in a man's baggy fatigue pockets. For his find the dog is rewarded with an affectionate pat on the head and gentle on his stuffed toy to chew on while he bones up for his next sniffing mission. The toy is to remind the dog of the smell of marijuana while he's not sniffing packages.

According to the rules, the trainer can show affection for his dog only when he finds a hidden package.

During one demonstration at a military police battalion headquarters Smidgen failed to detect one packet.

NOT PERFECT

"The dogs are not 100 per cent effective. They occasionally make mistakes the same as people do," said Sgt. Enos Cooper, the senior instructor in the program.

* * *

Above all, the dogs need silence for their work. During a missed at the Tan Son Nhut postal terminal, Cookie found herself distracted by crowds of curious postal workers who see in her a down-to-earth replacement for the electronic fluoroscopes now used to detect illegal shipments of marijuana, weapons, munitions, and government-issued goods.

* * *

After several weeks in Vietnam, the dogs' performance will be evaluated and recommendations made whether to expand the program. If the dogs get the go-ahead, several more German shepherds selected for their "military aptitudes" now in training at the Military Police School at Ft. Gordon, Ga., will join Cookie and Smidgen.

ROSY OUTLOOK — Mai Van Bo, chief North Vietnamese delegate to the Paris Peace Talks, seems to show a very self-satisfied expression during a recent press conference.

Safety Faults Told by State

LANSING (AP) — That miniskirted lass prancing past the company water fountain may cause a few observant male co-workers to bump into doors or trip on the stairs, but overdressing actually accounts for most on-the-job mishaps, according to the Michigan Labor Department.

Loose clothing, long shift sleeves and trouser cuffs may become entangled in machinery, causing injury, says the department's safety and regulation bureau. Rings and long ties are potential hazards.

* * *

Women risk injury by wearing full skirts, sashes or jewelry while operating machines.

So shop personnel may be advised to keep on their hard hats and safety glasses if they have to pass by the steno pool, the department suggests.

Beauty Contest Fitlist a Surprise —It's Vicar's Boy

HORNING, England (AP) — The vicar was congratulating the tall, slim beauty, clad in a yellow miniskirt, who had just been named Miss Horning of 1969 when the winner removed a wig and said in a deep voice, "Hello, Dad."

It was the Rev. Wynter Blathway's son Harry, a six-foot, 133-pound lad of 17 chosen by 300 guests at Horning's annual sailing club barbecue over five girls. He said two barmaids made him up for the role.

* * *

"His makeup and false shape took me in," said the vicar. "I was terribly peeved at first-but it was a joke done extraordinarily well."

Harry said: "You should have seen the look on his face."

State-Capitol News Briefs

By the Associated Press

THE GOVERNOR

Urged teachers to "open those schools" next week, whether or not contract agreement had been reached with local boards of education.

Said the proposals of his special commission on education reform probably would be included in an omnibus bill for consideration later this fall by the Legislature.

* * *

Said he believes Dr. Ira Polley, state superintendent of public instruction, "is doing a good job and I support him," despite criticism from a Republican member of the State Board of Education.

Declared that he was "unalterably opposed" to mandatory contributions from state employes for political purposes.

Named Royal Oak sculptor Marshall Fredericks to a 16-member citizens committee, which will, along with legislators and the governor, review plans for Michigan's new state capitol.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE

Said he supported the Republican House Finance Committee in suggesting the assessment of 1 per cent of the salaries of House members and employes as political contributions.

The State Appeals Court

Ordered a new trial for a man seeking damages against the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. for failing to place advertising in the yellow pages.

THE LEGISLATURE

Had recessed until Oct. 6.

Khe Sanh, Once a Besieged Bastion, Now Empty and Forlorn

KHE SANH, Vietnam (UPI) — It stands abandoned on the bomb-torn plains, another forgotten landmark of a war that has moved on.

For 77 days in the winter of 1968, Khe Sanh was what the war was all about. Then they found other battlefields, and now the old fortress belongs to whoever wants it. But no one does.

Gentle depressions in the sun-baked basin are all that remain of the bunkers where 6,000 Marines once held out in the height of privation. The hospital has been razed, the command post toppled, the sandbags emptied.

Gone, too, are the traces of humor that lightened the fog-filled days of constant fear and frequent death. Khe Sanh was more than an outpost under siege. It was a state of mind.

SIGNS ARE GONE

One wonders what became of the plank on which was scribbled: "I can't adjust to this environment." Or the neatly carved sign: "I think I'm falling in love with Ralph."

Chest-high elephant grass now covers expended artillery canisters that lie rusting near the 2,300-foot metal airstrip. Huge scabs of bomb-ripped red clay glower from the mountain slopes on ridgeline after distant ridgeline.

Across the cracked and buckeled pavement of Highway 9, an old French road twisting from the coast to Laos, eight miles west of the base, dozens of charred timbers rising from baren plots mark the ruins of Khe Sanh village.

More than 2,000 mountain tribesmen once lived in small huts on bamboo stilts. They freely crossed the unmarked Laotian border to hunt and fish and trade with other Montagnards. But the civilians have long since gone. For miles and miles, the placid-looking plains have become a no-man's land.

VIOLENT HISTORY

This tranquility belies the brief, violent history of Khe Sanh, the crash and thunder of up to 1,000 Communist rounds which used to hit there daily, the 40,000 North Vietnamese troops who fought there.

Even the Leathernecks no longer value Khe Sanh. They have moved their war eastward along the Demilitarized Zone and the coastal lowlands to compensate for the withdrawal of a Marine regiment to Okinawa.

* * *

Khe Sanh now is in what the military calls a reconnaissance zone, an area probed by only small-unit patrols both friendly and enemy. Unclaimed by the living, it belongs to the dead.

MSU Professor to Chair Confab

EAST LANSING (AP) — Dr. David R. Dilley, associate professor of horticulture at Michigan State University, has been named chairman for the next Gordon Research Conference for postharvest physiology.

The conference, set for 1972, includes presentations of current research on maturity, ripening and aging of plants and plant products. Members include scientists from universities and industries throughout the United States.

MILLION-DOLLAR LOOK — Bernadette Devlin, 22, the youngest member of the British Parliament, is in the United States trying to raise $1 million for the poor in Northern Ireland.

Home of U.N. Gets Cramped

Extra Space Costs $1.4 Million a Year

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations, crowded in its headquarters on the East River, has moved 259 of its people this summer into two buildings elsewhere in New York City.

The 5,213 men and women that it employs in the city now work in 12 buildings spread over an area of several miles. It is paying rent of $1.4 million a year.

* * *

The United Nations pays no rent to take care of 4,266 people in buildings on the 18-acre headquarters plot.

Some of those in the new outposts like their quarters. But many complain because they have to come back here to do their banking, attend club meetings, eat cheaper in the cafeteria or shop cheaper in the cooperative stores, and it's unhandy.

BIGGER WORKLOAD

The official explanation for renting space outside headquarters is that as the member countries in the United Nations have required more work of it, the staff has outgrown the home base.

A theory of some U.N. staff members is that more space is required not so much because more people have been hired as because more have been promoted.

* * *

The higher a man moves in the secretariat, the bigger office he is allowed. On one level, he gets one window, on another, two, and on still another, he gets three. The supposition is that in the process, many employes have been pushed out into other buildings.

In the 1968 General Assembly, Secretary General U Thant estimated that he would have to pay $550,000 rent for outside premises in 1969. The fact that he is paying more than twice that is expected to put pressure on this year's assembly, convening Sept. 16, to rush plans for a new building.

Soldiering in Japan Just Isn't What It Used to Be

KAITAICHI, Japan (UPI) — Japan has a spiffy little army which some critics say couldn't fight its way out of a paper bag. But a lot of Japanese couldn't care less.

That judgment may be too harsh, but it is a fact that soldiering in Japan isn't what it used to be.

★ ★ ★

Professional soldiers don't pack much prestige these days in Japan, where Samurai warriors once were treated with great deference and the World War II Imperial army had things pretty much its own way.

Japan doesn't even call its army an army, preferring instead the euphemistic term "ground self-defense force," or simply the GSDF.

NO RESEMBLANCE

The GSDF resembles not at all the Imperial army hordes that swarmed through Southeast Asia, endangered Australia and threatened to seize half the world. And that suits the present government of Japan just fine.

★ ★ ★

The GSDF has 173,000 men in uniform and 30,000 in reserve. It has 770 outdated American-made tanks, 530 armored personnel carriers, 50 surface-to-air missile launchers, 40 surface-to-surface missile launchers, 180 helicopters and 4,510 artillery pieces, including the 155mm howitzer.

Yasuhiro Nakasone, a potential future candidate for prime minister, may have shocked some people when he said last spring that even against an enemy attacking with conventional weapons, Japan would not be able to hold out on its own for more than 10 days.

★ ★ ★

Nakasoe, a member of the ruling Liberal Democratic party, said his country's defense policy, based on outmoded concepts of 1958, is for Japanese forces to resist invasion for a month and then look to intervention by the United States or the United Nations. He said the GSDF doesn't have enough ammunition to meet even this requirement.

DEFENSE OPPOSED

The basis of the defense of Japan is the U.S.-Japan security treaty. Not only do many Japanese oppose that pact, which is subject to renewal next summer, many oppose Japan's having any military forces of its own. Japan spends less than 1 per cent of its gross national product on defense, a percentage topped by just about every other nation in the world.

Until recently few Japanese politicians would dare speak out for a defense buildup. It just is not a popular cause in a nation whose experiences with war were particularly grim.

★ ★

Another factor is that many people in this prospering nation just do not feel threatened. Even the defense agency admits the possibilty of an attack by the Soviet Union or Communist China is highly unlikely.

So it is not surprising that soldiering in the GSDF is not like soldiering in any other army.

A PR TASK

The GSDF's 13th Division is based here at Kaitaichi on the outskirts of Hiroshima. Its 7,800 men are changed with the defense of nine prefectures (states), or about 14 per cent of Japan's land area.

The troops here spend a lot of time trying to make the local citizens like them better. Units of the division have been deployed 117 times in the past seven years to aid the people after earthquakes and during storms, floods and other disasters. The troops also support local festivals and Boy Scout units.

Maj. Gen. Tsutomu Fuseya, vice commander of the 13th, believes all this public relating has done some good, but he admits his men receive 60 hours of riot training per week in case they are needed to put down violence that may erupt in opposition to the security treaty.

Discipline in the GSDF is not what it was in the old Imperial army. Soldiers who don't like soldiering may simply resign by turning in their uniforms. Privates who punch sergeants are dealt with in civilian courts on assault charges rather than by court-martial boards.

PAY SCALE

The basic pay for a private is slightly less than $50 per month. A full colonel gets $200 per month.

★ ★ ★

The GSDF has three infantry divisions and one mechanized division in its northern army, charged with the defense of Japan's northernmost island of Hokkaido, which lies within sight of the Soviet Union. The rest of Japan is defended by nine infantry divisions.

Extramarital Affairs Seen on Increase

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sexual affairs outside marriage have become almost the rule rather than the exception, according to the Institute for Sex Research founded by the late Dr. Alfred Kinsey.

Dr. Paul Gebhard, head of the institute at Indiana University, said about 60 per cent of married women have affairs with partners other than their spouses.

★ ★ ★

Gebhard, Kinsey's successor, recalled that the Kinsey reports of 1948 and 1953 estimated that about 50 per cent of men and 25 per cent of women engaged in extramartial sex.

"This is change, but not revolution," Gebhard said. "The idea that there has been a sexual revolution in the past decade or two comes from the fact that we have become so rapidly permissive about what you can say and print."

★ ★ ★

More than half the men interviewed said boredom of one type or another led to dalliance. Almost two-thirds of the women blamed "the emotional boredom of marriage." A major motivation for infidelity, according to Hunt, was "the need for self-esteem" which came with the realization on the part of the husband or wife that they were still attractive to someone else.

Bulldozer Stolen From Vacant Lot

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Barker Excavating Co. called Rental City in Portland Wednesday and asked it to deliver a 9,000-pound bulldozer to a vacant lot. The $9,000 bulldozer was left in the lot.

★ ★ ★

Rental City Manager Marvin Helgren went to the lot later and found only the machine's cleated tracks.

Police found no Barker Excavating Co., and no address such as the one given.

Louisville, Ky., is the world's largest producer of bourbon whisky.

London's Theater Shows Few Props for Broadway's Future

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

LONDON — Some of Broadway's past, much of its present and little for its future —such is London's West End theater today.

For showgoing tourists the major entertainment array points up how much more than an ocean separates England and the U.S.A.

* * *

There is far greater stage diversion numerically than on Broadway, and box office congestion attests to how playhouses rank with Buckingham Palace as prime visitor magnets. But unless some smasher emerges quickly, the pattern in recent seasons of propping up Broadway with proven London successes faces drastic curtailment during the next semester.

About two-score dramas, musicals and comedies are on display at any moment. Of these, among the biggest hits, are seven creations from New York. Seven others are shows that Broadway previously borrowed from here, out of which only "Hadrian VII" still survives across the sea.

SOME MAY SURVIVE

Of all the other fare now being purveyed, only a couple, if carefully nurtured, might survive transatlantic transfer with much expectancy of a happy future.

The most promising prospect, "40 Years On," however, is unlikely to find a sponsor. A funny kaleidoscope of recent British history, the show stars Sir John Gielgud, splendidly. He is not available for travel, and author-actor Alan Bennett as well as potential backers are reluctant to go without him.

* * *

For similar reason, forget the Chichester Festival rendition of Arthur Wing Pinero's "The Magistrate," turned into an unforgettably joyous experience by the performance of Alastair Sim, who is shy, retiring and a stubborn homebody.

There is some outside chance for "As Dorothy Parker Once Said" getting to Broadway, but the cabaret-style revue with music by Sandy Wilson admittedly needs elaborate overhaul.

TIRELESS BIRD DOG

Its Broadway rights belong to Alexander H. Cohen, one of Broadway's most tireless bird dogs.

Among the busier providers of what theatrical excitement there is around town are the National Theater of Great Britain, just up with a two-part, scenically imaginative addition to its repertory of Shaw's "Back to Methusaleh"; the Royal Shakespeare Company; and individually, Peter Bridge, who with announced involvement in 20 productions for the next year makes the agenda of David Merrick, Broadway's self-acknowledged leader, seem modest indeed.

For an insatiable stage addict who has sat in on 32 English productions during a 25-day stay, a most impressive phase of the current scene is the abiding popularity of vintage dramatic material, from William Shakespeare to Georges Feydeau.

Comedy from Restoration to Victorian is getting particular attention. Running side-by-side in a single week recently one could see Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer," William Congreve's "The Way of the World" and his "The Double Dealer," Feydeau's "A Flea in Her Ear" and a revision of another romp by the solemn Frenchman, renamed "Cat Among the Pigeons."

TOP MUSICALS

The musical theater is dominated by American items—Ginger Rogers wowing the multitudes in "Mame," Richard Kiley ditto in a revived "Man of La Mancha," "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Hair."

For reasons hard to comprehend, a local tuner called "Charlie Girl" is in its fourth year; "Canterbury Tales" rolls on after flopping on Broadway, and "Lock Up Your Daughters," which closed in Boston en route to New York, continues to pull them in at the Mermaid. Doing well too is "Anne of Green Gables," a bucolic croon which began at a summer festival on Canada's Prince Edward Island, and which enjoys the presence on-stage of Broadway's Hiram Sherman.

* * *

"London theater is changing," gently observes Sherman who first played here 20 years ago in "Brigadoon." "Theaters are disappearing and the samehit-flop syndrome of Broadway is taking hold."

Sandout nonmusical attractions include Arthur Miller's "The Price"; "Arturo Ui," thanks to Leonard Rossiter's performance; "The Boys in the Band"; "Conduct Unbecoming," a rampantly colorful recent arrival about chin-up redcoats in Victorian India; and "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead."

* * *

And yes, Virginia, "The Mousetrap'ss is still catching crowds, in its 17th year.

GI Pilot Killer of Aussie Girl

SYDNEY (UPI) — A U.S. helicopter pilot based in Vietnam was convicted of manslaughter yesterday in the killing of a Sydney model and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Lawrence James Hull, 20, of Enfield, Conn., a warrant officer with the 180th Helicopter Assault Group at Bien Hoa, Vietnam, had pleaded innocent to charges he killed Josephine Dunphy, 18, in a Sydney motel last Dec. 16.

* * *

Miss Dunphy was strangled and stabbed three times.

Justice Wilfred Collins of the Central Criminal Court said Collins would have to serve a minimum of three years before becoming eligible for parole.

MEDAL-LADEN

Hull was on rest and recreation leave from Saigon at the time of Miss Dunphy's death. He appeared in court wearing a green uniform laden with combat medals and decorations.

According to Australian police, Hull gave himself up and made a confession to police on Dec. 18. He withdrew the confession in court.

* * *

"I don't know why I did it. She didn't even struggle," Hull said in his confession, according to Detective Sgt. R. McDonald.

Lessons of Labor Loom as China Starts New School Setup

HONG KONG (AP) — For the first time in China's 3,000-year history a system of rural compulsory free education goes into effect this fall. In some respects it may be a system of compulsory labor.

The new school system is mostly Mao Tse-tung's idea, Western analysts of Chinese affairs say. They think it may be one of the biggest gambles China's 76-year-old leader has taken since coming to power in 1949.

* * *

The "old" school system was built largely along European lines with doses of Mao thought grafted on. Its destruction was one major goal of Chairman Mao's cultural revolution purges. This summer the purges were finally extended to elementary schoolteachers and staff.

Now that Mao's men run the classrooms, they can put into effect the kind of education plans opposed by deposed President Liu Shao-chi and his followers.

MAJOR OUTLINES

These are the major outlines of the new school system as related by the Chinese press:

—All children 6-13 will go to school in September.

* * *

• Courses have been shortened from 12 to 7 years, and almost no children from the countryside will ever go to a technical institute, college or university.

• Children will spend the seven years in "productive labor," the study of Mao's writings, and in learning better farming methods and the use of farm machinery.

* * *

• All schools will be administered and financed locally, instead of from Peking's Ministry of Education.

Mao apparently is saying that to develop its economy China needs fewer physicists and more good farmers, fewer well-educated bureaucrats and more literate welders.

Including "productive labor" in the curriculum will give the country's leaders a ready reserve of flexible labor. Shortening the course to seven years will speed people into the work force.

MAO'S ADVOCATES

Experts here say Mao may be right. Developing nations don't have many jobs for highly trained professionals. Mao evidently thinks China has been wasting manpower resources and needs to concentrate training and skills in the lower levels of the country's labor force.

China's press says the new policy will still provide highly trained experts. But candidates for advanced training will be far fewer than they have been, and all will be selected by the Communist party.

"Essentially Mao is saying that the old way of developing a country by emphasizing experts and heavy industry hasn't worked in China despite 20 years of trying," one analyst says.

Only the U.S. Senate has the power to approve or disapprove major presidential appointments.

Mao Painted as Monster by Moscow

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Solemnly, Moscow pumps propaganda into Asia picturing Red China's Mao Tse-tung as, among other things, a drug peddler, brothel keeper brainwasher of children and inventor of a thing called "the antirevisionist dance."

Not only that, says Moscow, but Mao is against love.

* * *

Ever since the Chinese-Russian border clashes, Moscow has been sending reams of news releases to its Asian embassies for distribution.

"Corrupter of Souls," one such article is entitled. According to this, Mao's minions, "fighting revisionism in the kindergartens," require children to relate their "positive experiences" in the fight.

'TORMENTED'

"My revolutionary conscience tormented me for a long time," it quotes a Chinese 4-year-old. "I wasn't able to perform the antirevisionist dance well enough, but I remembered Chairman Mao's instructions that for the sake of revolution one must overcome himself. I, a little soldier of Mao Tsee-tung's thinking, overcame myself. I am dancing now to spite the revisionist."

* * *

Love and marriage are out, says one Russian release, quoting Peking radio as saying such things are used only "by class enemies to distract youth from proletarian politics."

Another release says the Chinese people starve while Mao and associates grow fat on drug traffic and gold smuggling.

'PERSONAL CAPITALIST'

The "gambling dens and brothels of Macao," it says, are managed by Mao's personal capitalist, Ho Yin, a high-ranking Communist who also owns dog tracks, four banks, five hotels, two newspapers, a bus-taxi company, five schools, a hospital and all movie houses in nearby Portuguese Macao.

"Facts vividly show," says the release, "that the Maoist clique, which has long overstepped the limits of hypocrisy, has long made dope trading one of the biggest sources of its foreign currency receipts."

4 Firms Face Labor Charges

DETROIT (UPI) — The U.S. Labor Department has filed suit in federal court charging Israel Marx with failing to pay 70 employes the minimum wage for regular and overtime work and withholding $15,000 from them since April 1, 1967.

The suit, filed by Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, also charges Marx with "oppressive child labor" by employing 27 minors under the age of 18 as motor vehicle operators, outside helpers and power hoist operators at his suburban Southfield service station.

* * *

The suit asks that $1,000 in back wages be returned to the employes, and that the court issue a permanent injunction "to restrain Marx from future violations."

Shultz also announced he has filed suit against three related Southfield companies — Alsar Co., Alsar Manufacturers Inc., and Alsar Applications Inc. — charging they failed to pay "many employes the required premium pay for overtime hours since March 28, 1967."

* * *

The three companies make, sell and install aluminum siding, doors and windows to homeowners.

Plight of Woman Without a Country Has Become Typical

MANILA (UPI) — Mrs. Virginia Joseph-Kosloff — "Benjie" to her friends — is a Filipino. Her father was an Iraqi with a British passport. Her husband is a Russian with Chinese nationality, and her daughter is an American citizen.

Benjie herself is stateless.

Her story is typical of thousands around the world. There are no specific figures as to just how many wandering stateless persons there are — who were themselves or whose families were uprooted and displaced first by World War I and the Russian Revolution of 1917, and then by World War II and Nazi racialism, from which so many fled when they could escape being murdered.

* * *

Benjie, who has played a leading role in Manila society for a quarter-century, says, "You will never learn the value of having your citizenship unless you lose it."

One disadvantage is that though Benjie was born in the Philippines, and her husband has lived and worked here 20 years, they cannot own property in the Philippines.

BOUND FOR CALIFORNIA

So, now that daughter Natasha is 17 — she was born in Los Angeles in September, and Benjie will buy a home and stay as long as her visa permits. When Natasha is 21, her parents will be allowed into the U.S. as nonquota immigrants. They plan to live partly in the U.S., partly in the Philippines, where Benjie's husband, Nick, is in the shipping business.

* * *

Though Benjie, 46, has a busy life as a Manila society matron and charity worker, and is deeply attached to the land of her birth, she wants to settle down for Natasha's sake and put down roots — something she cannot do here as a noncitizen.

"My love and loyalty to the Philippines supersede everything in my life," the dark-eyed woman, a shade over five feet tall, said. "But I want Natasha to go to her country, live with her people and serve her country as I have served the Philippines."

FATHER AN ARAB

Benjie's father was Lazarus Joseph, an Arab citizen of Baghdad who obtained a British passport when Mesopotamia was under British mandate after World War II. Her mother was Rafaela Maganti Carvajal, a half-Spanish Filipino. Benjie was the seventh of their eight children.

* * *

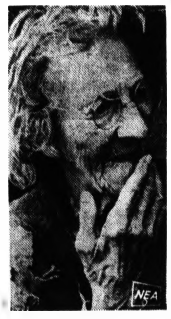
Benjie's citizenship mix-ups started when she was 21, and wanted to apply for Philippine citizenship. As the Philippine-born daughter of a noncitizen, she would have to make a choice of citizenship at that age.

But when she applied to the British Embassy to evidence of her paternity, she found her birth had not been registered there. In the end, however, she got a Philippine passport.

She then met and married Nick Kosloff, a white Russian who grew up in mainland China and was a Chinese citizen.

When she applied for renewal of her Philippine passport, the Philippine Foreign Office said she was Chinese as far as it was concerned. The Chinese Embassy said she was Filipino as far as it was concerned — but she was welcome to apply for Chinese citizenship.

Benjie thought it over and decided she didn't wish to become Chinese. Instead, she obtained a passport as a stateless person under the protection of the Philippine government.



STILL WORKING — Juliana Baker got a rest recently when it rained. In good weather, the 91-year-old woman keeps busy working her 45-acre farm near Blanchardville, Wis.

'U.S. Blocking Club in Saigon'

SAIGON (UPI) — The American Legion has protested that the U.S. military command here had blocked the establishment of a Legion club for off-duty servicemen in Saigon.

The Legion's post in Saigon issued a statement saying the headquarters of the U.S. Military Assistance Command refused the Legion the use of U.S. military scrip, the money used by the U.S. forces in Vietnam.

The statement from the veterans' organization said the use of scrip was "essential" to the establishment of a Legion post "home" — or club — for off-duty servicemen.

Legion officials said they could not operate such a club through the use of Vietnamese piasters because servicemen deal in scrip and because the use of piasters is discouraged to check chronic inflation in Vietnam.

A spokesman for the U.S. command said he had no immediate comment on the Legion's statement but would look into the question.

Riders to Rock Fete Thanked by Bus Firm

NEW YORK (AP) — The bus company that carried thousands of city youths to the huge music festival in White Lake, N.Y., two weeks ago has taken an advertisement thanking the young customers for "their generosity, patience and good humor."

The Short Line paid about $3,000 for a half-page advertisement in today's New York Times, in which six bus drivers give their impressions of their passengers.

I don't understand why they wear long hair but now I don't care," said Richard Ferber of Calicoon, N.Y. "They're the most no-griping, no-complaining, patient and generous, respectful bunch of kids I ever met."

"They treated me with respect. Even love. They were neat, polite, full of fun and good humor and not a bit of sarcasm," said J. J. DeRock of Leonia, N.J.

The Short Line ad ended: "We got to move thousands of kids to and from the festival. But better than that — they moved us. Deeply! Their generosity, patience and good humor turned what might have been a difficult task into a revealing and enjoyable trip. We learned a lot about the young people around us.

"We love what we learned."

Health Plans for Vets Vary

By JERRY T. BAULCH
AP Newsfeatures

WASHINGTON—If you're getting out of military service it's a good idea to take a detailed look before you decide which, if any, of the 90-day bargain health insurance plans to pick to protect you while you get settled back into civilian life.

BAULCH

The temporary plans are different in many respects, with each having advantages over the other in individual situations.

The insurance program went into effect in August to meet the problem of people in service and their dependents losing their military medical benefits on the day they are discharged, unless they stay in long enough to retire.

The Pentagon picked two companies: Blue Cross-Blue Shield and Mutual of Omaha. Both provide 90 days of protection under rates generally available to other civilians. A serviceman thus has protection with time to decide what kind of regular health insurance he wants, if any.

DIFFER ON CARE

For instance, Blue Cross-Blue Shield offers maternity care, meeting the problem of wives who are pregnant when their husbands are discharged from service. Mutual doesn't offer this.

On the other hand, Mutual pays a big hunk of the cost of renting wheel chairs, hospital-type beds and iron lungs and other things that Blue Cross-Blue Shield does not. And Mutual will help pay for a private nurse, but the other plan won't.

* * *

Blue Cross-Blue Shield has two rates — $16.50 for the individual and $90 for the serviceman and his family for the 90 days. Mutual has five rates ranging from $30 for the individual to $90 with a wife and two children and $103 with a wife and three or more children.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield will automatically convert the service-separation policy to its regular coverage for those who want it. Mutual will consider each applicant separately.

Job Training Step-Up

Looking hopefully to an end of the Vietnam fighting and a shrinkage of the armed forces, the Pentagon is taking steps to do a bigger and better job of preparing men leaving the service to find and hold down civilian jobs.

For one thing, there will be expansion of Project Transition, under which men in military jobs that do not train them for civilian roles are taught skills in their final six months of active duty. Also Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird wants career counseling and career guidance programs set up.

* * *

The plan is to give job counseling 12 and 24 months before a man retires.

Police-Fireman Training

A program to meet the shortage of policemen and firemen across the nation is being focused on men getting out of military service.

The Veterans Administration has the biggest program under the GI education bill, with some 150 cities having 3,700 police students and 68 cities with 600 firemen students. VA Administrator Donald E. Johnson is hoping many other cities will provide similar training programs.

* * *

Another program is being conducted under Project Transition by the joint efforts of the Defense, Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare departments. Part of this training is in junior colleges and other police science institutions under contract with the International Association of Police Chiefs.

Vets in Small Business

The Small Business Administration recently launched a program aimed at helping men getting out of military service with money and technical know-how.

SBA Administrator Hilary Sanoval Jr. designated veterans affairs officers in each of his agency's 73 field offices and instructed them to make "the most liberal interpretation possible of our rules and regulation in aid to the veteran — particularly the returning Vietnam veterans wishing to start their own business."

Army Thank-You

The Army, which has been pushing a "thank you" program to men getting out of service, has now started giving them a Certificate of Appreciation.

The certificates will be signed by the Army chief of staff, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, and are about the size of the discharge paper.

I will be a couple of months before the certificates will be available but those who get out after July 18 will get them automatically. Soldiers who got out before then are eligible but must write for them; however, the Army hasn't announced yet to which office they should write.

New Reenlistment Policy

The Army has changed the rules so that soldiers up to E8 — staff sergeant — who are discharged may reenlist and not lose a grade if they wait up to 30 months after separation. Previously, there was only a 90-day grace period and this was limited to E4s and below with less than four years service.

However, E7 through E9 — the top enlisted grades — will continue to lose a grade if they do not reenlist within 24 hours after discharge. A one-grade reduction also will be imposed upon any soldier E6 or below with over six years service who:

- Failed to honor a statement of intent to immediately reenlist.
- Did not take action to extend or reenlist when placed on over seas orders prior to discharge.

Lawyer Incentive Endorsed

The Budget Bureau has endorsed the idea of offering a bonus to pay military lawyers extra to stay in service — similar to the doctor bonus. Under new military law rules there's a crying need for more qualified lawyers.

The bill smiled on by the Budget Bureau would give lawyer-officers an extra $50 a month as a lieutenant or captain, $150 as a major or lieutenant colonel and $200 as a colonel or general.

* * *

Also there would be a bonus of up to two months basic pay for each year of additional duty beyond the required time.

Slanted Appeal Hit in Parking Decision

CAMDEN, S.C. (AP) — Women will have to park parallel along two blocks of a main street in Camden whether they like it or not, Judge John Grimball of Circuit Court has ruled.

Merchants on Broad Street had sought a court injuction to stop city officilas from eliminating angle parking on the two blocks of the street. They argued that most of their customers were women and that women don't like parallel parking.

* * *

Grimball denied their request.

Younger Audience, Old-Style Industry

Hollywood Caught in Costly Paradox

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The mood of the city: color it gloomy.

The movie capital of the world—does that title still hold?—finds itself plunged into depression during these mid-summer days. The reason is clear: Never has the production outlook appeared so grim.

Yes, I know. The doomsayers, including perhaps this one, have been busy during this Year of Our Lord, 1969, declaring how bad the movie business is. The paradox is inescapable: a vast, young-generation audience eager to embrace film entertainment and a lumbering, old-style industry unable to fulfill that need

THOMAS

That paradox has not yet been resolved. Certain films—"True Grit," "Midnight Cowboys," "Easy Rider," "Love Bug," "Goodbye, Columbus"—are attracting large crowds. But many other expensive attractions—"Che," "MacKenna's Gold," "The Loves of Isadora," "The Bridge at Remagen," "Star"—are not. And the costly failures can be ruinous to a film company's profit statement.

SOME SYMPTOMS

The malaise of the film companies appears in different ways. For example:

● Paramount — After a successful 1968 — "Rosemary's Baby," "The Odd Couple," "Romeo and Juliet,"—the company is undergoing a lull because of overcapitalization in huge productions: "Paint Your Wagon," "The Adventurers," "Catch 22," "Darling Lill," "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever." Total outlay is estimated at $60 million.

● Twentieth Century-Fox—Another case of putting all its eggs in a few baskets: "Hello, Dolly," "Tora, Tora, Tora" and "Patton: Blood and Guts," representing an investment of perhaps $40 million. The production schedule has been curtailed to await a payoff.

● Warner Brothers-Seven Arts —The forward thrust of the two-year-old management replacing the aging J. L. Warner has been blunted by another change of ownership. Now a whole new team will have to start over again.

● MGM — After a debilitating power struggle within the company, the studio seemed ready for a comeback. But now the imminent take-over by Las Vegas moneyman Kirk Kerkorian threatens another long delay before a production policy can be evolved.

● Universal — the studio has thrived on tourist visits but failed with its production policy. The take-over of the company by Firestone presages another lengthy period of inactivity. Universal's future policy remains a mystery, with scarcely any new films announced.

* * *

Of the established companies, only two appear to be on an even keel. United Artists, with no burden of studio overhead, continues on its enterprising path, while avoiding immense projects. Buoyed by the good business of "Funny Girl" and "Oliver," Columbia keeps busy.

Taking up some of the production slack are new companies such as Cinema Center Films, Commonwealth United and ABC Pictures. But their contributions are not enough to offset the basic gloom that infects the film-making community.

* * *

The solution?

It rests in the hands of a new breed of film maker who can understand the needs of the new, young film audience.

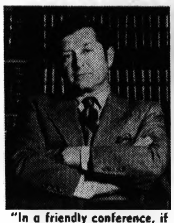
'I don't care what he says, I know what he means.'

All people who talk to other people—whether in business negotiations or in social conversation—have a tremendous advantage if they have an understanding of the messages being conveyed by the gestures of the participants. Gerard I. Nierenberg, a prominent New York attorney and a founder of the General Semantics Foundation, has written a book, "The Art of Negotiating" (Hawthorne, $7.95) which, among other things, discusses the significance of ordinary, often unconscious, gestures. He points out that Darwin was aware that facial expressions and body gestures can be traced step by step from ancestral animals to the everyday conversations of man. In this series of photos by Laurence Cox, Nierenberg demonstrates some common gestures and explains what they can mean.



"In a friendly conference, if one member suddenly, sits back and folds his arms with some abruptness, you know at once that trouble has arrived. It's an indication that he is not accepting what you are saying."

"Many times people are turned off because they have gestured and signaled that they would like to interrupt the conversation to add their point of view and the gesture has passed unnoticed. Such 'interrupt' gestures are a tug at the ear or throat, or modified raising of the hand."

"This is a nervous speaker. He has subconsciously kept his hands folded to prevent them from assuming positions that would even further show his tensions."

"In the course of a conversation or negotiation, if you spot the fingers in a steepled position, rest assured that the subject being discussed is one in which the gesturer has complete confidence. Look out for the poker player who rests his cards on the table and assumes this position."

"When a person assumes this position, you can readily believe everything that he is about to say."

Disability Policy Offers Plan to Refund Premiums

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Aetna Life & Casualty said yesterday it is offering an insurance policy that pays you if you become disabled, but refunds your premiums at age 65 if you don't.

Aetna's policy is believed to be the first of its kind in the nation with a full money-back feature. It provides up to $1,500 monthly to persons unable to work for long periods because of illness or injury.

The company, which is the nation's largest health insurer, said policyholders who reach age 65 without collecting benefits will receive a refund of all premiums paid.

Even if benefits are paid, a refund will be made at 65 if their total is less than the premium total. And the policy may be turned in for a partial refund of premiums after it has been in force for three years.

Aetna says current statistics indicate that one man out of seven will be disabled for at least six months between ages 35 and 65, and that the average disability period is seven years.

Giraffe's Mates Mourn His Death

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Ray, the 4-year-old male giraffe at the Baltimore zoo, died Wednesday from an incurable blood disease.

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Once a partnership has committed itself to going to game all bids below game are forcing. This makes it possible to gather extra information about your partner's hand and to explore slam possibilities before getting past the game level.

North and South deserve little credit for getting to seven spades and even less for making all 13 tricks. They could also have made seven no-trump if they had bid that grand slam.

* * *

They deserve little credit yet when the hand was played in a sectional tournament, almost half the pairs failed to get to the grand slam and only one or two managed to reach game.

South's jump to two spades made life easy for North. He might have gone right into a Blackwood routine but North was in no hurry. He wanted to find out a trifle more about his partner's hand pattern so he temporized with a mere raise to three spades.

South could do no more than continue to four spades. He had a mainumum for his two spade jump response with good spades.

At the same time the spade rebid gave North all the information he needed to be able to take full control by means of Blackwood. North held the perfect Blackwood hand with first- or second-round control of all suits.

When South replied with five spades to show three aces North saw no reason to waste time checking for kings. He simply bid the grand slam.

He did have one slight worry. South might show up with three little diamonds. When dummy hit the table South announced, "Drawing trumps," and spread his hand.

The Card Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
			1♠
Pass	2♣	Pass	2♦
Pass	4♠	Pass	5♠
Pass	6♦	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠AK984 ♥Q65 ♦AK104 ♣2

What do you do now?

A—Bid six spades. Your partner is making a belated effort to get to seven but he was willing to stop at game so his hand is limited.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding four spades your partner has bid four no-trump over your two diamonds. You show two aces and he rebids to five no-trump. You show your two kings and he bids six spades. What do you do now?

TINY ROLLS ROYCE — Irvin Wolfson, 16, sits in a pint-sized Rolls Royce alongside a rare 1934 Phantom II Continental Rolls Royce sedan, both owned by his father. According to the senior Wolfson, the mini-Rolls was produced by mistake for an owner of a full-sized Rolls who ordered a model of his own car for his children — but who did not tell the dealer his children were 5 and 7 years old and that he wanted a pedal-type car for them. The tiny car is available for sale at Wolfson's garage in Edison Township, N.J.

1919 Rolls Result of Mix-Up

Minicar-by-Mistake Is for Sale

EDISON, N.J. (AP) — Want to buy a mini Rolls-Royce that's only 9 feet long, less than 3 feet high and actually runs?

Such a car—an exact miniature of the famous 1919 "Silver Ghost" roadster — is parked among an array of prewar British automobiles in a nondescript garage in this township.

* * *

Walter Wolfson obtained the minicar a number of years ago when he gave up his structural steel sales-engineering career to devote full time to his hobby of collecting classic vintage automobiles.

Wolfson, an affable man who untiringly explains the history of each of his cars to any inquiring visitor, buys and sells antique autos across the world. He also supplies unique cars for movies and advertisements.

ORDERS DUPLICATE

Explaining how the small roadster was built, Wolfson recalled that in 1919 a Pennsylvania man, Arthur Llewellyn, ordered a regular-sized Silver Ghost—a two-seater that was quite fashionable.

* * *

After receiving his new car, Llewellyn was so thrilled with its style and performance that he called the Rolls-Royce dealer in Virginia to express his satisfaction and asked that a duplicate be made for his two children.

* * *

What he failed to tell the dealer, Wolfson explained, was that his youngsters were 5 and 7 years old at the time and what he really wanted was a pedal-type car for them to play with.

About a year later, he recounted, Llewellyn received his "order" and a bill for almost $10,000.

STATE OF SHOCK

"He went into a state of shock for a couple of days," Wolfson said, when the man discovered that an exact miniature had been handmade—down to its headlights, bumpers, wooden spoked wheels, full transmission, radiator emblem and everything else the "mother car" had.

The vehicle, the only one of its kind in the world, is powered by a four-cylinder gasoline engine and will do about 30 miles per hour, Wolfson added.

* * *

"But after the shock wore off, Llewellyn drove the little Silver Ghost, fell in love with it and the kids never did get it," Wolfson explained. Llewellyn drove it for a number of years and then added it to his automobile collection.

* * *

When asked if he would part with the car, Wolfson said yes. "I've never advertised it for sale," he said, "but like any of my other cars, if someone wants it they can purchase it," He added, however, the car has a five-figure price tag on it.

Current Books

SONS. By Evan Hunter. Doubleday. $6.95.

First there was Bertram Tyler, a Wisconsin lumberjack who enlisted in the infantry in World War I, was terrified about going into combat, but survived some of the war's toughest battles.

Then there was his son Will Tyler, who enlisted in the Air Force in World War II, became a fighter pilot and survived — but had to watch his best friend shot down.

* * *

Finally there was the grandson, Wat Tyler, who was troubled by the Vietnam war, had a student deferment, but gradually came to feel it was unfair to be deferred.

Each of the men narrates his own story of his own war. Hunter has constructed his novel so that first one and then another presents an episode.

* * *

By this device he creates strong contrasts among the three stories as each narrator progresses from one stage to the next.

In the 398 pages of the book there are a few too many minor details that dull the atmosphere, but the overall effect is an impressive panoramic view of three generations and their wars.

MY RABBI DOESN'T MAKE HOUSE CALLS. By Albert Vorspan. Doubleday. $3.95.

By now a great many readers are familiar with the fact that American Jewish humor often is directed at the Jews themselves.

Vorspan's little collection of essays is in this pattern, and his book, subtitled "A Guide to Games Jews Play," has more than the usual amount of sting in it.

But actually, only part of the book is concerned with satirizing specifically Jewish traits.

When he lampoons Jewish committee meetings, conventions and fund-raising techniques, he is mocking the parallel events among the Gentiles, and he has some hot scorn for each of these topics.

"It's 'in' to be Jewish in America," says the author, and he makes the most of his thesis.

THE PURITY LEAGUE. By Alan Williams. Putnam. $5.95.

Here we go with one of those adventure-suspense novels from England, a moderately good example of who-dun-it.

There's Magnus Owen, a London journalist who is bottle-happy and has a droppy attitude toward the world.

* * *

Magnus is maneuvered into being under the control of a small group of Fascist-type freaks with an obsession for a moral crusade. Their outfit is called the Purity League. It has connection in both England and Poland.

The whole yarn is keyed to finding out who really heads this crazy League, and that is Magnus' chief role in the final climax.

CAUGHT IN MIDDLE — Oakland third baseman Sal Bando became the third out after being trapped in this rundown that was part of a double play pulled by the Detroit Tigers in the fourth inning of their game in Detroit last night. Second baseman Tom Matchick (2) tagged Bando after taking a toss from shortstop Mickey Stanley. With Bando on first, Tito Francona bounced to Matchick. Bando hesitated between first and second, so Matchick tossed to Norm Cash for the putout at first and Cash fired to Stanley at second who then ran Bando toward Matchick. Tigers won, 2-0.

Rookie Flips First Shutout in Majors, 2-0

DETROIT (AP) — Mike Kilkenny, the Canadian southpaw who got interested in baseball through bubble gum cards, gummed up Oakland's hitting machine Wednesday night by pitching the Detroit Tigers to a masterful 2-0, there-hit victory.

The 24-year-old rookie from Bradford, Ont., relied on his curve ball and recently developed "sneaky fast ball" to hold the Athletics to three singles. He struck out six in gaining his first major league shutout, evening his record at 4-4.

The teams were to go at it again Thursday night with Oakland's Chuck Dobson, 14-10, scheduled to oppose Mickey Lolich 16-7.

* * *

"I thought it was pretty exciting looking at those pitchers on the baseball cards," Kilkenny smiled.

The lanky, dark-haired pitcher peeled off his sweaty uniform in the Tiger dressing room and spoke of his background.

JUST HOCKEY

"Where I come from all they play is hockey," he said. "In my town nobody wanted to go down to the ballfield because it was a disaster area, and there was nobody around to teach the game anyway."

"When the guys got to be 15 they would find a girl, start sitting in the back rows at the movies—and three days later it seemed like they were almost married.

* * *

"So I used to get a ride about 45 miles to Toronto to play sandlot ball there. There was a rule in the league that you had to be 21. I was only 15, but if you had a red-haired grandmother who was in a wheelchair or something you could play. In other words, there were a lot of exceptions to the rules. We played 18 games and I pitched all of them."

Kilkenny was given his first major league start July 31 because Tiger Manager Mayo Smith was in dire need of a fourth starter.

He lost his first two games to the American League East Division's front runner Minnesota and thought he blew his chance of starting again.

"But when Mayo put me back in I decided I had to do something in return," Kilkenny said. "I'm a lot more confident now."

'CATFISH' TAGGED

The Tigers tagged Jim "Catfish" Hunter, now 9-12, for lone runs in the third and fourth innings. The first scored on a walk to Bill Freehan, a ground out by Don Wert and a single by Mickey Stanley, who drove in six runs in Tuesday's doubleheader. Then in the next inning, Willie Horton walked, stole second, and reached third when A's catcher Phil Roof's threw into center field for an error. Tom Matchick slashed a single to right scoring Horton.

* * *

The only hits Kilkenny allowed were singles to Bert Campaneris in the third and Hunter in the fifth, plus a bunt single by Jose Tartabull in the eighth.

LEADER RELAXES — Steven Melnyk of University of Florida sponges his face with a cool towel after carding a one-under-par 70 to take the first-round lead in the National Amateur Golf Tournament yesterday at the Oakmont Country Club near Pittsburgh.

Amateurs Finding Thinking a Must

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Concentration is the name of the game over the tough Oakmont Country Club course in the 69th annual U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

Steve Melnyk, 23-pound belter from the University of Florida who led the way into today's second round with a two stroke advantage, and his two closest pursuers, Marvin "Vinnie" Giles and Rick Jones, agreed on the winning formula.

* * *

"You've got to concentrate 18 holes and you don't have a give away-hole on the course," said Melnyk, who shot the only sub-par round Wednesday—36-34-70.

"I think this is one of the finest tests of golf there is, though it's the kind of course you can never let up on," commented Giles.

"You go to sleep one hole on this course and you're dead," said Jones. "You can shoot an 85."

* * *

The three leaders had to know what they were talking about, since in a field of 150 of the world's top amateurs, 74 scored 80 or above on a par 36-35-71 course. Only one broke par and, none equalled it.

Michigan Amateur champion Peter Green of Franklin carded an 80, the lowest among the four state golfers in the lineup. Fred L. Becker of Richland carded an 82, Mark F. Krause of Ann Arbor an 84 and Stan Thompson Jr. of Midland posted an 85.

* * *

Oakmont's 6,670-yards, 187 traps and unbelieveable fast greens would be laughing if golf courses could laugh.

There were other testimonials to the rugged course near Pittsburgh. Andy North, a Florida golf team colleague of Melynk's observed: "On this golf course you just finish and you're lucky." North shot a 73 to tie with four others, three strokes off the pace.

ARNIE STYLE

Melnyk fashioned his 70 with two birdies after taking a three-putt bogey on the first hole. He charged the course in the Arnold Palmer style, noting that to play defense at Oakmont "would end up costing you strokes."

The sentimental favorite is Giles, the 26-year-old law school graduate who last year finished second for the second straight time, only the third player in 64 years to do so.

* * *

Giles has taken the Virginia State Bar examination and is awaiting the results. Would he rather pass the bar or win the Amateur? "Win this," he said. "I've got to be honest it would be a great thing to win the national championship."

Giles shot a 37-35-72, one putting the first three greens for pars, losing two strokes with bogeys and dropping two birdie putts.

* * *

The 35-year-old Jones, of Worthington, Ohio, shot 36-36-72 with four birdies and five bogeys. He was NCAA champ out of Ohio State in 1956, played the pro tour for a year in 1960, earning $110 in 11 tournaments, then quitting tournament golf for four years. He was reinstated in 1964 as an amateur and is taking his eighth shot at the title.

* * *

Grouped at 73 with North are Don Allen 37-36, Rochester, N.Y., insurance broker; John Farquhar 37-36, Amarillo, Tex.; Jim Rheim 36-37, Tulane medical student, and John Govern 37-36 Hamilton, N.Y. college player. There are seven deadlocked at 74, and another nine bracketed at 75.

Lombardi Next Foe for Lions

Having posted a 2-1 record against opponents from "that other" league, the Detroit Lions now turn their attention to NFL rivals for the final three games of the exhibition season.

Saturday night, the Washington Redskins will provide the competition in another city, Tampa, Fla., seeking an expansion franchise in pro football.

Next weekend the Lions are in Raleigh, N.C. to meet the Eagles and then finish pre-season play against the New Orleans Saints Sept. 12 at Tiger Stadium.

The crowd in Tampa should be far different from the 8,212 which witnessed the Lions 22-9 win over the Patriots last Monday night.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of two games in Tampa this year, anticipate a crowd closer to 35,000 in the 50,000 seat stadium.

For the Lions it will be a renewal of the old rivalry against their old divisional rival, Vince Lombardi, who left Green Bay to take over the coaching duties with the Redskins this season.

Following a week's layoff, the Redskins defeated the Atlanta Falcons, 24-7 last weekend as Sonny Jurgensen hit on 17 of 22 passes for 205 yards and two touchdowns. Another TD toss was called back because of a penalty.

* * *

Quarterback Bill Munson is expected to play most of the game for the Lions, hoping to perk up the offense which continued to master the statistics but not the scoreboard.

Last week, sophomore quarterbacks Greg Landry and Greg Barton shared the duties, and it took five field goals by Errol Mann to account for most of the scoring.

Key MFL Games in Two Divisions

The big game of the Lakes Division of the Midwest Football League takes place Saturday night when the Dayton Colts and the Lackawanna Lancers tangle in the Buffalo suburb.

Meanwhile, the Pontiac Firebirds hope to keep their lead in the Central Division by taking on the Flint Wildcats on the Astro-turf of Atwood Stadium.

Lansing, the co-leader with Pontiac in the division, is favored to defeat Grand Rapids in the other key game.

POWER TEAMS

Dayton's passing attack will challenge the power running of the Lancers who have two of the top runners in the league as well as Van Remmen, the top passer in yardage.

Chuck McElligott, the top pass receiver in the MFL for several years, had 18 receptions for 296 yards and two touchdowns.

The Firebirds, looking for some breakaway speed, are trying Jim Little and Tom Price as running backs.

Little took off on a 90-yard touchdown run of a punt return last week against the Detroit Cowboys, and almost broke away for another.

For the trip to Flint Saturday night, the Clarkston Eagles' Post is sponsoring a bus. The $6 price includes the bus, ticket and refreshments and reservations can still be made by calling the Eagles Lodge in Clarkston or VFW Post 1370 on S. Saginaw in Pontiac.

Eagles Unlock Door to Keyes

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Purdue All-American Leroy Keyes has ended his holdout against the Philadelphia Eagles, and he says he is anxious to get out on the football field to justify the terms of his three-year pact.

General Manager Pete Retzlaff said the contract "has provisions that could make Leroy the highest paid Eagle in the team's history."

Although he refused to discuss the exact terms of the agreement, reportedly in the neighborhood of $200,000, Retzlaff said it includes a "no-cut" provision for the first year and "regular" salaries for the following years.

Bengals Unable to Outrun Arm of A's Reggie

DETROIT (UPI) — The Tigers must have received advice from Jim Pagliaroni for their base-running.

Pagliaroni, now with the Seattle Pilots, is not especially noted for his fleetness of foot.

He has been linked to a bowlegged cowboy running under water.

Norm Cash and Tom Matchick both overestimated their speed Wednesday night.

* * *

Cash singled in the second and was out by 10 feet on a fine throw by Reggie Jackson, who has one of the better arms playing in any right field. The Detroit first basemen attempted to move to second after singling in the fourth when catcher Phil Roof let a Jim Hunter pitch get a few feet away from him. He was out by about the same margin as before.

* * *

Matchick attempted to stretch his single which scored Willie Horton from third in the fourth into a double but Jackson cut down another non-believer with a strong throw.

Local Sailor Among Leaders

MENOMINEE (UPI) — A mechanical failure helped 18-year-old Peter Warren of Marblehead, Mass., take the lead Wednesday after three days and seven races of the 1969 North American Sailing championships.

Sitting in the No. 5 spot with 28¾ points is Mack Goodwin of Pontiac as the field headed into the final race today.

Graham Hall, Larchmont, N. Y. had led Warren 30¾ points to 30¼ after two days and five races Tuesday and apparently had kept that half point margin as both he and Warren recorded first and seventh place finishes in Wednesday's two events.

However, Warren requested a point breakdown and was awarded an extra point because a broken jib halyward winch had prevented him from completing the first weather leg at normal speed in the second race Wednesday.

That gave Warren 41½ points and Hall 41 going into Thursday's eighth and final race for the 1969 Mallory cup.

First place in a race is worth 8¼ points, so John Colius, Houston, Tex., and F. Gardner Cox, Villanova, Pa., automatically had shots at the cup with 38 and 34 points, respectively.

1. Peter Warren, Marblehead, Mass., 41½.
2. Graham Hall, Larchmont, N.Y., 41.
3. John Colius, Houston, Tex., 38.
4. F. Gardner Cox, Villanova, Pa., 34.
5. Mack Goodwin, Pontiac, Mich., 28¾.
6. James Lindsay, Marblehead, Mass., 26, and Don Stuart, Seattle, Wash., 26.
8. Howard Mead, Atlanta, Ga., 19.

Pacer Paying Off

Ex-Garbage Haulers in Chips

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — The Lomangino and Antonacci families climaxed a truly great rags-to-riches story when their $15,000 purchase, Lindy's Pride, won the $124,910 Hambletonian Wednesday.

They started out as garbage collectors in Brooklyn and built a hauling and carting empire. Then in 1964 they decided to quit working and go into some form of recreation. They entered harness racing.

* * *

Guy Antonacci became president of Lindy Farms of Lindenhurts, N.Y., and Frank Lomangino secretary. Fred, Le and Joseph Lomangino, brothers, also are in the corporation. So are the Antonacci brothers, Frank and Thomas.

Lindy's Pride, sired by the great Star's Pride, and bought as a yearling at Harrisburg, Pa., earned $62,455 for his victory in the Hambletonian, harness racings most prestigious stake.

The smallish colt boosted his record to six triumphs in 12 starts this season and earnings for two years to $213,601.

The next big target is to complete the triple crown sweep for 3-year-old trotters by winning the Kentucky Futurity in Lexington Oct. 3. Last month, Pride took the first jewel, the $100,000 Yonkers Futurity, and then came the second with a blazing straight heat victory in the 44th Hambletonian.

Howard Beissinger, Pride's 46-year-old driver, won in his first appearance in the classic. He never had to touch the colt with the whip, winning the first heat on the perfectly-groomed mile oval by 1¼ lengths over stretch-charging The Prophet in 1:57 3-5. It matched the second fastest time ever of the Hambletonian, where the record of 1:56 4-5 was set in 1964 by Ayres.

Lindy's Pride took the second heat by a good two lengths over Dayan in 1:58 2-5 after a bumping incident on the first turn that made tempers rise for several drivers.

Dayan, reined by Fred Bradbury, another Hambletonian newcomer, was set down to fourth place by the judges on an interference charge. Smokey Morn, piloted by Ned Bower, was placed from third to second and The Prophet, Harold Dancer Sr., from fourth to third.

It changed the summary and money rewards for those involved. In the summary The Prophet took second place money of $31,227 with his 2-3 finishes. Smokey Morn was third with 8-2 for $14,898. Dayan, 3-4, collected $9,992 and Ambro Jet with Joe O'Brien was 4-5 worth $6,245.

The others, out of the money, finished this way: Vietpoint, Harold Dancer Jr., 5-6; Delbert Hanover, Bill Haughton, 6-8; Bonfire Hanover, John Simpson Sr., 9-7 and Gun Runner, Earl Avery 7-scratch.

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — The $124,910 Hambletonian summary:

Horse, Driver	Heat	Purse
Lindy's Pride, H. Beissenger	1-1	$62,455
The Prophet, H. Dancer Sr.	2-3	$31,227
Smokey Morn, N. owor	8-2	$14,989
Dayan, F. Bradbury	3-4	$9,992
Ambro Jet, J. O'Brien	4-5	$6,245
Viewpoint, H. Dancer Jr.	5-6
Delbert Hanover, W. Haughton	6-8
Bonfire H'ovr J. Simpson Sr.	9-7
Gun Runner, E. Avery	7-Scratch

Times: Heat One: :28 3-5, :58 2-5, 1:28 1-5, 1:57 3-5. Heat Two: :29, :59 3-5, 1:29 3-5, 1:58 2-5.

Tennis Gypsies Bidding for U.S. Open Crown

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP) — Ion Tiriac and Ile Nastase are a couple of tennis gypsies from Communist Romania who are unworried about getting contaminated with some capitalistic silver and gold.

They have their eyes on the $16,000 first prize in second U.S. Open and the big silver bowl of inestimable value which is called the Davis Cup.

"I think our chances of winning the Davis Cup are very slim," said Nastase, a young, dark-haired man with long sideburns. "The surface is too fast, and the Americans are too good."

TO MEET U.S.

Tiriac and Nastase form the two-man team which will try to win the Davis Cup from the United States at Cleveland Sept. 19-21. In the meantime, they'll be trying to sharpen their games and pick up some cash in the Open, which got under way Wednesday before a record opening day crowd of 11,000 at the West Side Tennis Club.

* * *

Tiriac, 30, shaggy and imposing, won his opening match, beating young Terry Ryan of South Africa 9-7, 7-5, 5-7, 8-6. Nastase, troubled by the fast bounce, trailed Ian Crookenden of New Zealand 4-6, 6-4, 4-6 in a match halted by darkness.

The Romanians looked even more menacing when a player they both had beaten in the Inter-Zone final, Britain's Mark Cox, pulled the biggest upset of the day, ousting fifth-seeded Tom Okker of Holland, 1968 runner-up, 7-9, 6-3, 0-6, 6-4, 9-7.

* * *

Another upset saw the British Davis Cup Coach and Wimbledon pro, Owen Davidson, trounce South Africa's eighth-seeded Cliff Drysdale 6-2, 6-3, 6-4. Drysdale eliminated favored Rod Laver in last year's tournament, opening the way for a victory by America's Arthur Ashe Jr.

SERVE TIPS

Ashe, serving with more zip, won easily over 18-year-old Dickie Stockton of Garden City, N.Y., 6-2, 6-2, 7-5 and was joined in the second round by his Davis Cup teammates, Clark Graebner and Stan Smith.

Graebner, from New York, whipped Tom Mozur of Sweetwater, Tenn., 6-0, 7-5, 6-2. Smith crushed Patricio Rodriguez of Chile, 6-0, 6-3, 6-2.

* * *

The other member of the varsity squad, Bobby Lutz of Los Angeles, lost to third-seeded Tony Roche of Australia 9-11, 6-4, 6-4, 9-7.

The Australians showed their muscle. Rod Laver, seeking his second grand slam, toppled Luis garcia of Mexico 6-2, 6-4, 6-2. John Newcombe, No. 2 seed breezed past Paul Sullivan of Wayland, Mass., 6-2, 6-2, 6-3. Ken Rosewall No. 6, struggled to a five-set victory over Peter Cramer of South Africa 6-2, 5-7, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4. Roy Emerson, No. 9, had little trouble with Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3.

* * *

Old Pancho Gonzales, 41, beat Bob Potthost of Caperino, Calif., 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

The women played the first round today. Nine postponed matches were to be resumed in the men's division with a limited number of second round matches.

Southfield Gal Ends Drought on Golf Links

The first victory of the season was a long time coming for Mrs. Max Evans of Southfield in the weekly events of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association.

A six-time winner last year, Mrs. Evans checked in with her initial triumph of the present campaign yesterday as she led a field of 59 in competition at Romeo Country Club.

After an uneventful front nine of 46, Mrs. Evans collected four pars and a birdie for an incoming 39 and a total of 85, five shots ahead of runner-up Mrs. David Mortimer of Birmingham.

The ladies move to Pontiac Country Club next Wednesday for their next outing.

Twins Win, 4-2

Ted, Billy Part Pals

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Billy Martin and Ted Williams said goodbye on the friendliest basis.

Martin, manager of the Minnesota Twins, earlier this season criticized the former Boston Red Sox great for not hustling during his big league career and couldn't recall Williams ever sliding into second base.

Williams, manager of the Washington Senators, retorted that Martin, spunky second baseman for the New York Yankees during his playing career, was a banjo hitter.

LAST MEETING

So, the Senators and Twins met for the last time of the 1969 season Wednesday night. The Twins took a 4-2 victory behind Jim Perry's four-hitter and a four-run first inning.

"Ted was tremendous at home plate," said Martin. "He was the nicest guy. He wished us the best of luck in our division race with Oakland. He wished me luck. I said the same to him."

* * *

Williams, informed of Martin's comments, said, "Just tell Martin we'll bear down against Oakland as much as we have against the Twins. And as hard as we do against every other team we play. He had better hope we hit better against Oakland than we did tonight."

* * *

The Twins jumped on Washington starter Joe Coleman, 9-11, for four runs in the first inning. Ted Uhlaender, stretching his hitting streak to 10 games, sliced a double down the left field line to open the inning.

Tony Oliva doubled, and after Coleman loaded the bases with his wildness and had walked another run in, catcher John Roseboro slapped a two-run single.

Red Sox Edge Kansas City

O'Brien's Hit in 9th Decides Tight Tilt

BOSTON (AP) — Sydney O'Brien cracked a bases-loaded two-out single in the ninth inning driving in Boston's winning run as the Red Sox shaded Kansas City 4-3 Wednesday night.

The Red Sox were leading 3-2 going into the ninth when Jerry Adair's leadoff homer tied it for the Royals.

Then, with two out in the bottom of the ninth, George Scott singled and raced to third on a hit by Russ Gibson. Dick Schofield batted for winning pitcher Vicente Romo and walked, loading the bases for O'Brien.

Romo got credit for the victory—his first complete game in the majors.

Yanks Down Chisox to End Losing Streak

NEW YORK (AP) — When Ralph Houk gets to the ball park each day, he pulls out a line-up card and writes second baseman Horace Clarke's name in the leadoff spot. The rest of the batting order isn't that easy.

Clarke slammed four ringing line drives Wednesday as the New York Yankees snapped a five-game losing streak with a 6-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox. The three singles and a double in five at-bats raised his average to .288, tops on a team with a collective mark of .234.

F. Robinson Sparks Easy Oriole Victory

BALTIMORE (AP) — Frank Robinson slammed his 29th homer and drove in three runs as the Baltimore Orioles downed the Seattle Pilots 7-2 Wednesday night behind the four-hit pitching of Mike Cuellar, who won his 18th game.

The victory ended a four-game losing streak for the Orioles, longest of the season for the runaway leaders of the American League's East Division.

Robinson homered in the third following a single by Paul Blair, and rapped a run-scoring single in the fifth off reliever John Gelnar after Blair's double chased loser George Brunet, 7-11.

GETS A LOOK AT HIS NUMBER — Pete Retzlaff (right) general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles pro-football team shows Leroy Keyes the uniform jersey he will be wearing after the number one draft choice had signed a three-year contract yesterday that could make him one of the highest paid players in the Eagles history.

Oilers After 'Texas' Grid Title

By the Associated Press

The Houston Oilers, sporting the best squad in years, hope to snap the Dallas Cowboys' hold on the Texas Pro Championship tonight in a sell-out game at the Astrodome which kicks off a 13-game holiday weekend program.

Coach Wally Lemm warned his Oilers to watch for quick outside and up the middle plays when he learned that the Dallas starting backfield will include Craig Baynham and Les Shy.

"That's their speed backfield," Lemm said.

The Oilers also will have an eye on Cowboy quarterback Craig Morton, who stepped in for retired Don Meredith to direct the multiple formation Dallas attack. It was Morton who came off the bench late in the game the last two years to clinch 30-17 and 33-19 thrillers for the Cowboys.

Both teams have identical 2-1 pre season records and almost identical rushing records. Dallas has averaged 120 yards on the ground while allowing 86 yards on defense. Houston has averaged 126 yards to its opponents' 86 yards.

Morton has a slight edge over Pete Beathard, the Oilers' rapidly maturing quarterback. In three games, Beathard has completed 35 of 71 passes for 534 yards and four touchdowns while Morton has hit on 39 of 77 for 561 yards and three touchdowns.

Another grudge game is on tap Friday night when the Kansas City Chiefs, unbeaten in four exhibitions and the hottest team in the American Football League meet the Cardinals at St. Louis for the Governors' Cup. The Chiefs won the inaugural game last year 13-10 and are favored to repeat.

In Saturdays games, the New York Giants (0-2) meet the Philadelphia Eagles (1-1) at Princeton, N. J.; Los Angeles (1-2) is at San Diego (2-1-1); Chicago (2-2) faces Buffalo (1-3) and Green Bay (1-2) takes on Cleveland (2-0-1) in a doubleheader at Cleveland; Miami (0-4) hosts Baltimore (4-0); New Orleans (1-2) entertains Atlanta (2-1), and Cincinnati (1-2) travels to Pittsburgh (1-1).

In Sunday games, San Francisco (0-3) is at Oakland (1-3), Minnesota (3-0) faces the Jets (2-2) in New York, and Boston (1-2) entertains Denver (1-2).

Tucker Frederickson will make his first start for the Giants and Philadelphia expects their ground game to improve with the return of Tom Woodeshick, who missed the early pre-season games because of a knee strain.

RAM SUSPENDED

The Rams will be minus veteran cornerback Clancy Williams, who was indefinitely suspended by Coach George Allen Wednesday.

Allen threatened to trade Williams because of his "indifferent attitude."

"There's more to this game than just ability," Allen said. "I don't care if he has intercepted 19 passes the last three years. He has had an indifferent attitude toward the game and toward practice this season."

The appearance of Buffalo's O. J. Simpson and Chicago's Gayle Sayers on the same field has helped lure a sell-out crowd for the doubleheader at Cleveland. Simpson played about half the game in last weekend's 20-7 losing encounter with Baltimore. The most publicized rookie in pro football history carried five times for 25 yards and returned a kickoff for 23 yards.

In other pro camp activities:

PUNTER OUT

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — Rookie running back Jeff Jordan limped on an injured right ankle Wednesday and will be lost indefinitely to the Los Angeles Rams.

The Rams also disclosed that punter Jon Kilgore has been released on waivers, leaving another veteran, Pat Studstill, to handle the job.

GIANTS CUT

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — The New York Giants claimed linebacker Bob Sanders on waivers from the Los Angeles Rams Wednesday.

At the same time the National Football League team said four regulars, suffering from injuries, would not be able to play against the Philadelphia Eagles in the exhibition at Princeton, N.J., Saturday.

The four are offensive tackle Willie Young, sprained ankle; right guard Charley Harper, pulled hamstring; linebacker Tommy Crutcher, sprained ankle, and safety Bruce Maher, shoulder separation.

For Playoff Hopefuls

Ticket Printing Begins

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten teams, including seven in the National League, have the green light to start printing tickets for baseball's first divisional playoffs for the league pennants but for six of the teams, the tickets will only be souvenirs.

The clubs given the go-ahead Wednesday were Baltimore, runaway leader in the American League East, and Minnesota and Oakland in the AL West. In the National League, Chicago and New York were named in the East and Cincinnati, San Francisco, Atlanta, Los Angeles and Houston in the seesaw NL West.

BEST OF FIVE

The playoffs, a best-of-five series, are scheduled to start on Saturday, Oct. 4. The AL playoffs will start in the home city of the East winner, presumably Baltimore; while the NL series will begin in the home of the West Division champion. After the first two games, the teams will shift to the home city of the rival club.

* * *

Winners of the league playoffs will win berths in the World Series, a best-of-seven contest, starting on Saturday, Oct. 11 in the American League city.

Representatives of 12 clubs were invited to the meeting in the office of Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. The St. Louis Cardinals and the Pittsburgh Pirates, currently third and fourth in the NL East, attended the meeting but were not given permission to start printing tickets.

There would be a day of travel between the second and third playoff games only if the clubs had to jump from one coast to the other.

* * *

Joe Cronin and Warren Giles, presidents of the American and National Leagues, respectively, also said a one-game sudden death playoff would be held in the event of division ties for first place at the end of the regular season.

Farm Boy Getting New View of Track

DARLINGTON, S. C. (AP)—Twenty years ago today, flamboyant Curtis Turner took his Oldsmobile race car around the newly-built Darlington International Raceway at 82.03 miles per hour—to the amazement of everyone.

It won for him the pole position for the first 500-mile race for strictly stock cars. Turner, just beginning a driving career that was to make him wealthy, was the toast of this town of 8,000 for weeks.

Cale Yarborough, then a 19-year-old farm boy, scrambled under a fence to see that first Southern 500. On Wednesday, Yarborough came back to weatherbeaten old Darlington to turn a lap at 151.985 m.p.h. in a Mercury.

It won for him the pole spot for the 20th running of the Kentucky Derby of stock car racing scheduled for Labor Day.

Yarborough, who now lives in considerable financial security some 10 miles from Darlington, edged three other drivers for the right to lead the 40-car field past a predicted 70,000 at the 12 noon start.

ECLIPSE TIME

He and seven other first day qualifiers eclipsed the Southern 500's old time trial mark of 144.836 m.p.h. Buddy Baker was second fastest at 151.380 in a Dodge, while Donnie Allison was third at 151.177 and Lee Roy Yarbrough fourth at 151.062. Allison and Yarbrough also are Ford team members.

The other first day spots went to David Pearson and Richard Petty in Fords at 150.620 and 150.506, respectively. Charlie Glotzbach won the seventh position at 149.447 in a Dodge while eighth went to Richard Brickhouse in a Plymouth at 147.748.

Once-Lowly Mets Feasting on Expansionist Padres

By the Associated Press

It took the New York Mets seven years to recover from the National League's first expansion, but the second one has turned out to be a big hit for them—and Jerry Koosman.

After taking their lumps from the older teams since they came into the league in 1962, the Mets suddenly have become bullies themselves against one of this season's new kids on the block, the San Diego Padres.

With Koosman, who hurled a two-hitter, once again taking advantage of San Diego hitters and embarrassing pitcher Clay Kirby, the Mets rolled to their 11th straight victory over the expansionist Padres Wednesday night.

The 4-1 triumph crept the charging Mets within two games—and even on the all-important loss side—of the sinking Chicago Cubs, the East Division leaders who were beaten by Cincinnati 6-3 in the afternoon for their fourth consecutive defeat.

Cincinnati's victory matched San Francisco's 8-7, 10-inning afternoon verdict over Philadelphia and kept the Reds within a half game and three percentage points of the first-place Giants in the West Division.

Atlanta, a half game and five points back, also kept pace with a 1-0 victory over Pittsburgh, and Los Angeles remained one game behind with a 7-3 triumph over Montreal. Houston, three games back, beat St. Louis 5-1 in 10 innings in the other game.

The Mets, who lost only their first game against the Padres this season, bid a sad farewell to San Diego after their sixth straight victory. Koosman, on the other hand, couldn't be sure whether he was more sorry to leave San Diego or Kirby.

Against the rest of the National League's pitchers, Koosman is 0-for-58, but against Kirby he is 3-for-5 after two hits Wednesday night.

Koosman's line single, his first hit in 49 at bats, in the third inning, started a rally that ended in Cleon Jones' two-run double for a 2-1 lead. He beat out a topper in the seventh. His only other hit this year, off Kirby, was a bunt single.

Kirby, taking his 18th loss against three victories, had other troubles in the sixth when Art Shamsky doubled in a run and scored on Ken Boswell's single.

Koosman, 12-8, and 3-0 against San Diego, yielded only a homer to Ollie Brown and a single to Al Ferrara in the first inning. He beat the Padres 4-1 on six hits during an earlier 11-game Mets' winning streak that brought them alive in May and June and won 3-2 on five hits during their current six-game run—and 12 of 13—that has cut 7½ games off Chicago's lead in two weeks.

The Cubs, losing their third in a row against Cincinnati and seventh in nine games, fell before Alex Johnson's two-run double and solo homer and Lee May's two-run homer.

★ ★ ★

Jim Davenport's pinch-hit single with the bases loaded in the 10th gave San Francisco its seventh consecutive victory after Willie McCovey made it 10 RBI in two days with a two-run single and his 41st homer with a man on. Bobby Bonds also had a two-run homer, his third in two days, and singled and scored the winning run.

Phil Niekro, 18-11, hurled a six-hitter, doubled and scored the only run in the sixth inning on Tony Gonzalez' single in besting Dock Ellis, 9-14, for Atlanta's fourth triumph in a row.

★ ★ ★

Willie Davis drove in three runs with two of his three hits as he extended his hitting streak to 24 games, longest in the majors this season, and helped Bill Singer of the Dodgers to his 16th victory and Montreal to its seventh successive loss.

Doug Rader triggered a four-run 10th inning off Bob Gibson, 16-9, with a tie-breaking double for Houston, raising Tom Griffin's record to 9-6.

Sagging Mud Hens Fall to Chiefs, 7-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The sinking Toledo Mud Hens all but saw their hopes of a first-division finish in the International League destroyed Wednesday as they lost to the Syracuse Chiefs 7-5.

It was the Mud Hens' third loss in as many days.

A double by Dave McDonald a single by Marv Staehle, a passed ball and a sacrifice gave Syracuse the runs it needed in the 10th inning. The loss moved the Mud Hens to 10 games back of the new league leaders, the Tidewater Tides.

U.S. Sail Team Edged

LONDON (AP) — A British universities team clinched the Sir Thomas Lipton Trophy for sailing boats over a United States intercollegiate team on the Lake of the Welsh Harp in northwest London Wednesday.

The British defeated the Americans, 3-2, in an event for Firefly Dinghies — Dinghies of 12 feet — in an event decided by the best out of five races.

★ ★ ★

The Americans were represented by Dave Colt, Yale, Tim Hogan, Southern California, Tom McLaughlin and Ed Butler of San Diego State, Richard Doyle of Notre Dame and his brother, Robert Doyle of Harvard.

The United States team is sponsored by the Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association of North America.

MICHIGAN MEMBER

The others on the team are Chris Seaver of Yale, John Meyer of Michigan and Leslie Oessenger of the University of California, Santa Barbara.

The Americans defeated Britian's Hayling Island Sailing Club, a combined British services team and Britain's Wembley Sailing Club on its tour.

★ ★ ★

The team also defeated the British Universities in Scotland. Then they lost to Britain's Bosham Sailing Club and tied with another British team, Castaways.

Overall, the Americans scored 14 victories, lost four and tied once.

Slugger Finds Slow Pitches No Easy Marks

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The softball floats across the plate and slugger Frank Thomas swings and misses. He smacks the next pitch to left—a single.

Thomas, the same Frank Thomas who belted 286 home runs during a 13-year career with seven clubs, has a hefty .440 average in the Greater Pittsburgh Slow Pitch Softball League.

★ ★ ★

"Once you're an athlete, you have pride in keeping yourself in shape," Thomas said.

"If you let yourself go, you lose pride. I enjoy playing softball for that reason.

"At first I thought it was just a big joke," the 6-foot-3, 210 pound Thomas said.

"Me play softball? But then I found it was more difficult than I thought. In baseball you're used to holding the bat out, waiting for the quick pitch. Here, I keep the bat on my shoulder and wait for the ball."

★ ★ ★

Thomas said he didn't find it easy to hit well against the slow, arching softballs when he switched from baseball three years ago.

Receiver on Waivers

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Wide receiver David McDaniels, placed on waivers by the Los Angeles Rams; has been acquired by the New Orleans Saints.

Buy Now and Save

A new Volkswagen costs less than most new cars. Less, in fact, than many used cars. So, if you buy a VW, you may start right out saving a bundle.

A Volkswagen goes a lot farther on a gallon of regular gas . . . about 27 miles. So, if you buy a VW, you'll save on gasoline.

A VW averages about 40,000 miles on original tires. That's about twice as far as most cars. You save on tires.

A VW is air-cooled. So you can forget about antifreeze, radiator repair or water hose replacement costs. More savings.

Even if you bend a VW fender, you save. It can be removed by loosening only 10 bolts. You don't pay for the whole side of the car.

License and Insurance costs save money, too.

Buy your Volkswagen now, and save even more. Come in and see us right away before new car prices go even higher! We'll save one for you.

Big 10, Irish Await Workouts

CHICAGO (AP) — Almost 900 candidates will start flexing their muscles Friday as the Big Ten and Notre Dame launch practice for the 1969 football season.

Michigan, 1968 runnerup to unbeaten national and conference champion Ohio State, got the practice jump on Big Ten rivals. The Wolverine school, operating on the trimester academic schedule Tuesday began drills for a conference campaign in which league coaches unanimously agree that talent-loaded Ohio State will be the team to beat.

Under NCAA rules, the first three days of college practice will limit athletes to padless drills before they get down to real head-bumping preparation for the Sept. 20 start of the regular season.

SPRING PRACTICE

In a poll based on spring practice, Big Ten coaches tabbed the conference race a contest between overwhelming favorite Ohio State and as many as six possible challengers.

The coaches, including new mentor Bo Schembechler of Michigan, bracketed Indiana, Purdue and Michigan State as strongest threats to Ohio State. They rated as dark horses Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota.

* * *

Numerically, Ohio State's turnout of 75 is well down the list of Big Ten practice personnel, but Coach Woody Hayes — starting his 19th Buckeye season — has no fewer than 18 returning starters from the 22 who climaxed a perfect 1968 season (10-0) with a 27-16 Rose Bowl trimming of Southern California.

* * *

At independent Notre Dame, some 75 hopefuls reported to Ara Parseghian who lost nine offensive starters from the Irish who last year placed No. 5 in the Associated Press final poll easily topped by Ohio State.

"This is the biggest rebuilding job of any unit in my six Notre Dame seasons," said Parseghian, who owns a sparkling composite Irish record of 40-7-3.

Indiana, hoping to repeat its Rose Bowl trip of two years ago, lists the most candidates, a turnout of 103, including 16 starters from an injury-plagued 1968 campaign.

Ohio State, again playing only nine instead of the customary 10 games with a Sept. 27 start against invading Texas Christian, is ineligible for a Rose Bowl encore.

* * *

Eighty or more candidates appear at Purdue (89); Michigan (88); Minnesota (87); Michigan State (81); and Northwestern (80).

Illinois expects 79; Wisconsin 65, and Iowa 62.

Iowa's Ray Nagel, whose Hawkeyes were the Big Ten's No. 1 offensive club last season in a 4-3 tie with Indiana for fifth place, had a good spring drill despite absence of 16 boy-cotting Black players, including problem still has not been resolved and additionally star fullback Tim Sullivan was lost because of a motorcycle accident.

The Sept. 20 opening card includes: Indiana at Kentucky; Minnesota at Arizona State; Northwestern at Notre Dame; Purdue at Texas Christian; Washington State at Illinois; Oregon State at Iowa; Vanderbilt at Michigan; Washington at Michigan State, and Oklahoma at Wisconsin.

End Shows Speed at 1st U-M Practice

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Mike Hankwitz is fast — fast enough to become the first Wolverine to capture a "champion award" from University of Michigan football coach Bo Schembechler.

* * *

Running was the order of the day in the first of two sessions Wednesday as the Wolverines began bearing down to work themselves into shape for the opening game against Vanderbilt here Sept. 20.

Hankwitz turned in the best time — 4:53—in the mile and Schembechler's new prize for the man making the outstanding effort in practice went to the senior offensive end from Scottsville.

* * *

Schembechler said he was generally pleased with the physical condition of the team and noted that all but three were able to run the mile in less than six minutes and only one player reported back to training weighing more than 240 pounds.

Schembechler said the squad would go through twice-a-day drills until Sept. 5 when school opens and then one-a-day after that.

Bengals Claim Jet Fullback

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Jets announced Wednesday that fullback Billy Joe, who had been placed on waivers the day before, has been claimed by the Cincinnati Bengals.

* * *

Coach Weeb Ewbank said he might withdraw the waiver, but would leave the decision up to Billy Joe. He has 24 hours to make the decision.

Strike by Caddies Eased

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Frank Beard, Dave Hill, and controversial Ray Floyd rule as the top candidates for the first prize today on the eve of the strike-threatened $100,000 Greater Hartford Open golf tournament.

Among them, they have won eight tournaments this year, well over $300,000 in purses and have been in the forefront of this season's major development—the emerging dominance of some of the younger tour regulars.

The tournament, threatened by a strike of local caddies which the caddy master said would have prevented staging the event, has an unusual Friday through Monday format because of the Labor Day weekend.

THREATEN

Some 300 local caddies had threatened to stage a sit-down strike on the grounds if professional touring caddies were used. Some 37 top professionals had shown up with their own bag-toters, but 17 of them—including Jack Nicklaus and Dan Sikes—quickly made other arrangements, and the locals were mollified.

* * *

"I don't know what we'd have done if some of the pros hadn't decided to take the boy assigned to him," caddy master Mike Coyne said Wednesday. Coyne was one of the key figures in solving the dispute.

"We couldn't have moved 300 of them off the course. They were just going to sit there and not let anyone get off the tee."

This event is the last of four qualifying tournaments for the rich Alcan Golfer of the Year to be played in Portland, Ore. Sept. 25-28. As such, it has drawn an extremely strong field.

'World Can Learn From Athletes'

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations said Wednesday that if nations behaved like athletes the world would be more at peace.

* * *

He made the statement at the opening of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships, designated as International Day.

"I wish that we in the United Nations could abide by the rules of our charter, in letter and spirit, as scrupulously as the sportsmen of the world observe the rules and regulations governing their particular field of activity," he said.

"If this were to be the case, we would have a world more at peace than the world as we know it today."

* * *

He offered this as a final thought: "I understand the youth of the world today favor the motto 'make love, not war.'"

Rochester Speedster in Auto Racing Lineup

The Waterford Hills Sports Car Racing Club's 12th annual August Road Races will be Saturday and Sunday on the 1½-mile course on Waterford Road.

The entry list has reached 150 drivers from midwestern states and Canada for the racing weekend for 21 classes of sports cars. Saturday's program begins at 2 p.m. with the first of eight 15-mile events. Sunday's races begin at noon and three of the nine Sabbath events will be over a 22.5-mile distance.

* * *

Chuck Bartlebaugh, a 22-year-old speedster from Rochester, will be seeking his sixth consecutive victory in his McLaren Ford. The slight youngster holds the track record for A-Sports Racing class with a mark of 68.25 miles per hour over the twisting, turning, up-and down-hill course which features 11 corners liberally sprinkled throughout the layout.

* * *

Ken Nielsen, Clawson, the over-all track speed champion in his Formula B Merlyn, established the all-classes record of 69.26 mph in May.

In addition to Bartlebaugh and Nielsen, other sports car record holders will compete.

Entered are: John Greenwood, Pontiac, in an A-production Corvette; Bill Petree, Warren, B-production Corvette; Jeff Lance, Pontiac, C-production titlist, now driving a Lotus 51; Even Mathews, Ann Arbor, in a D-production Lotus Super Seven; and Chris Gahman, Royal Oak, driving an F-production Lotus.

* * *

Garret Van Camp, Farmington, E-production champion in a Porsche, has moved to Formula Vee cars; Dwight Knupp, Southfield, will defend H-production honors in a Sprite; Bill Barber, Birmingham, is in a Lotus XI in C-Sports Racing; and Bill Koch, Columbus, O., drives a G-production Midget.

* * *

An added feature to Sunday's program will be a sky-diving exhibition at 2 p.m. when Conrad Crowton, Michigan 1969 champion, and Lou Schroeder, 1968 titlist, will leap from an aircraft at 5,000 feet and land in front of the grandstand on the west side of the Waterford Hills course.

Benvenuti Must Fight Rodriguez to Retain Title

ROME (AP) — The World Boxing Association says Nino Benvenuti must defend his middleweight championship against Luis Rodriquez, but Benvenuti's manager, Bruno Amaduzzi says the next title defense will be against Fraser Scott.

* * *

Amaduzzi said Wednesday that Benvenuti will defend against Scott, a 21-year-old Seattle fighter undefeated in 19 bouts as a pro, Oct. 4 in Naples.

The WBA had warned Benvenuti that he had to arrange a title fight with No. 1-ranked challenger Luis Rodriquez of Miami by Wednesday or face possible loss of his title.

* * *

Amaduzzi was to go to the United States today to talk with WBA officials and Angelo Dundee, Rodriquez' manager.

Best-Ball Event During Weekend at Rochester CC

A closed field of 136 teams will be on hand Sunday for the start of the seventh annual George Sadowski Memorial Best-Ball Tournament at Rochester Country Club.

On tap will be 18 holes Sunday with an 18-hole wrapup slated for Monday.

* * *

Returning to defend their title will be the twosome of Norm Craven and Joe Brisson.

* * *

Among the leading challengers to the new champions' reign are two-time winners Melvin (Bud) Stevens and Don Mead, along with Rod Sumpter of Grand Blanc and John Ortiz of Flint. Sumpter was low amateur in last week's Michigan Open at Battle Creek.

Boosted by Scattered Buying

Market Holding Narrow Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was holding a narrow gain in quiet trading early this afternoon, with brokers reporting some scattered buying giving the market a boost.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.04 at 826.82.

Advances led declines by about 175 issues.

"It's pretty much the same thing we've had the last couple of sessions," an analyst said, "with a lot of investors apparently staying out of the action until the Labor Day weekend is over.

"This backing and filling, dawdling pattern probably will continue until the weekend is past."

Another analyst observed that while "there's a lack of aggressive buying, there is some early selective buying by traders."

The Associated Press 60 stock average at noon was up .2 at 292.0, with industrials up .7, rails off .1, and utilities off .1.

Leasco Data Processing was the most active issue on the New York Stock Exchange, largely on a block of 147,900 shares. Leasco was off 1 at 25⅝.

On the American Stock Exchange, Banff Oil was up ¾ at 13¼. Asamera Oil eased ⅛ to 28. Austral Oil was up 1¾ at 35.

Siboney Corp., which reported plans for two acquisitions had been terminated, was off ¼ at 3¾.

Among other active issues, Four Seasons Nursing was up ⅛ at 59⅞. Solitron Devices, off ⅛ at 34⅛, and LTV Aerospace, up 1½ at 22.

Ted's Attorney Meets Setback

Judge Denies Pleas for Full Safeguards

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (UPI) — A District Court judge denied today the impassioned pleas of an attorney for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy who asked for full constitutional safeguards at the Sept. 3 inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne.

Judge James A. Boyle listened to the 20-minute argument by Kennedy's attorney and of others representing witnesses to be called in the inquest.

* * *

Boyle then announced at the hearing that he would not honor their motions. He said, "I'm not satisfied that the United States Supreme Court would read the due process clause of the Constitution into our inquest proceedings."

"Therefore, I deny the motions," he said.

TO PROBE DROWNING

The inquest will investigate all circumstances surrounding the death of Miss Kopechne, 28, of Washington, who drowned when a car driven by Kennedy plunged off a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island into a tidal pond.

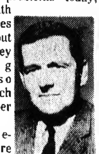
Edward B. Hanify of Boston, one of four attorneys representing the 37-year-old senator, said Kennedy will appear to testify at the inquest "not as a United States senator from Massachusetts, but he comes to this courtroom stripped of the trappings of office. When he comes in the courtroom, he will stand before you as a private citizen with the same constitutional rights as the humblest man in all this land."

* * *

Attorneys representing the other witnesses who will be called to the inquest said they adopted Hanify's arguments and also branded the inquest as more like a criminal proceeding than a preliminary investigation.

Business Watchdogs Face New Problems

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst



CUNNIFF

NEW YORK — The federal regulators of business certainly have enough problems today, not only with the industries they watch but because they are being watched also by critics such as Ralph Nader and others.

Nevertheless, here are a couple more problems that Washington may have to handle in greater numbers: reciprocity in buying and selling, the "you buy from me, I buy from you" syndrome; and power concentration in the stock market.

First reciprocity.

* * *

A large company selling a broad line of products wishes to diversify even more. It looks the field over and decides to buy into a smaller company, one of many companies that make a similar product and with which the larger company trades.

The interest is only a minority one, but the thought occurs to the heads of both companies that, since they are part of one big family now, the large one should buy only from the smaller one, regardless of quality and price.

2 POINTS OF VIEW

It seems reasonable, at least from a selfish and narrow point of view. The regulators, however, are committed to taking a broad view of the marketplace. Reciprocity, the government has said time and time again, unfairly limits competition and injures the competitive opportunities of other companies.

* * *

Now here's the rub. A surge seems to be under way in corporate purchases of minority interests in other companies. W. T. Grimm & Co., management consulting firm, reports 2,815 outright mergers in the first six months of this year. But it estimates two to three times as many minority purchases.

Will these minority purchases lead to reciprocity? Perhaps not in great numbers. But the already overworked regulators are going to have to watch the trend nevertheless, because they can't be sure unless they check.

COMPETITION CUT?

The issue of power concentration in the stock market is largely one for the Securities and Exchange Commission. Power is being concentrated, there is no argument about that. The question, again, is whether competition is reduced.

Consider the situation in which some mutual fund management companies find themselves these days. Because they wish to reach all segments of the market, these managers come up with different funds for different purposes.

* * *

There are conservative funds, speculative funds, income funds, capital gains funds and so on. Once a good mutual fund salesman sizes you up there's a very good chance he will produce a fund that suits your purposes.

The question of competition comes up in the buying and selling of stocks by the funds which, in the tradition of the marketplace, should try to outwit each other. But do they never succumb to temptation?

HARD TO PROVE

It's a very difficult thing to prove that the portfolio manager of one fund doesn't communicate his trading plans with the manager of another fund in the same stable, especially since they draw their paychecks from the same source.

It is equally difficult to believe that, in the interests of profits and in reducing losses, such activities do not take place.

The importance of the situation is underscored by the tendency of funds to be grouped under one management. Few management companies today are content with just one entry in the mutual fund derby.

Thai Leader Confirms U.S. Support Pledge

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The U.S. government has pledged to honor existing agreements with Thailand despite the impending withdrawal of some American troops, Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn said today.

Speaking to newsmen after a meeting of the National Assembly, Thanom said the pledge was contained in a message sent before Secretary of State William P. Rogers' message was sent and did not elaborate fully on its contents. However, he said it "reaffirmed existing agreements the United States has with Thailand." he said the United States would not "turn away" from Thailand in matters concerning the country's security.

* * *

Turning to the negotiations opening Monday between Thailand and the United States on the gradual withdrawal of some of the 50,000 American troops, Thanom said Thailand wanted only to know about U.S. plans for a reduction in troop strength.

He said he did not know how many troops would be withdrawn but he understood "they will not withdraw immediately, because the situation in Vietnam has not improved." After talking with Thanat and U.S. officials Wednesday, visiting Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., predicted only 1,500 American troops would be withdrawn.

NO THAI CUT

Thanom said Thailand was not considering withdrawing its 12,000 troops from Vietnam even though the United States was cutting back its own forces there.

"The United States most likely will not pull out its troops from Thailand right away," he said. "When the time comes for the pullout, some units are expected to remain here in order to act jointly with Thailand in accordance with the SEATO (Southeast Asia Treaty Organization) pact."

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — I foolishly got caught by conglomerate glamor and bought Avnet around 35. I'd appreciate your opinion. — R.N.

A — I believe Avnet is worth holding as a turnaround though you will need patience while watching and evaluating its emergence from an extended series of adverse circumstances.

Stocks of many respected and well-known electronics firms have been having a generally hard time; conglomerates are seriously depressed, and in addition Amvet has had strikes to contend with as well as shrinking margins from price weakness in color-TV tubes and overcapacity in its copper wire plant.

However, earnings should move up in fiscal 1969-70, aided by cost reduction measures, corporation restructuring and the current uptrend in sales which is expected to continue. Broadened operations are being skillfully integrated through long-term planning by experienced managers.

* * *

Q — Last January I bought 25 shares of Clary Corp. at 23⅝. My adviser thinks it will be a winner so I've held on. Should I sell if I don't need the cash — W.H.

A — Clary peaked out in July, 1968, at 32¼ and you've ridden it down from its best performance level in 1969. Until earnings are out of the red—they slipped early this year—I don't exepect share price to show any real bounce.

The company's product mix of gyroscopes, small computers and peripheral equipment, mobile homes and housing components suggests areas of potential profitability that could help Clary to become a speculative winner. How long this might take is impossible to predict. The burst of speculative strength in Clary's share a year ago reflected a tripling of earnings between 1966 and 1968, from 16 cents a share to over 50 cents. Since then sales have fallen off 21 per cent, an earnings deficit has appeared and recent acquisitions must be effectively integrated. Your decision to held or to sell depends largely on your temperament because even partial recovery, to your cost seems to me rather far away.

IMPACT STUDY — A nationwide accident study to determine the effectiveness of the General Motors side-guard beam began last fall when this 1969 GM car was struck broadside at a California intersection by a car traveling 40 to 50 miles an hour. Though the force of the collision spun this car 180 degrees on dry pavement, the side-guard beam inside the doors prevented the striking vehicle from penetrating the passenger compartment, and the driver was unhurt.

GM Widens Use in 1970

Car Side-Guards Seen Effective

Proving themselves effective under actual collision conditions, side-guard beams developed by Fisher Body engineers will be placed inside the doors of most 1970 General Motors cars.

Fisher Body and GM auto safety authorities agreed on their worth after studying thousands of accident reports and making in-depth observations of damaged cars containing the side-guard beams.

As a result of the study, General Motors has announced it is installing side-guard beams as standard equipment in all of its 1970 intermediate cars, such as the Chevrolet Chevelle, Pontiac Tempest, Oldsmobile F85 and Buick Special. During the 1969 model year, all full-sized GM cars carried the safety feature as an industry first.

* * *

Developed to protect occupants from side collisions, the heavily ribbed structural beams are built into the doors to provide a "guardrail" effect.

SPECIAL PROBLEMS

Side collisions are not as common as front and rear-end collisions, but providing protection from side impacts represented special problems to automotive engineers because of the limited space between the occupants and a striking vehicle.

* * *

Although the side-guard beam was the product of two years of development and severe testing, it was not until it was subjected to actual collisions on the highway during the past model year that its real significance could be evaluated.

* * *

The Safety Research and Development Laboratory at the GM proving grounds in Milford and elsewhere studied 4,500 accident reports. Fifteen per cent of these cases involved cars that were struck in the passenger compartment. About 75 per cent were from an angle.

Engineers concluded what earlier testing had indicated — the side-guard beam encourages the striking vehicle to richochet, thus reducing the severity of the collision.

LESS PENETRATION

They also concluded that when a car equipped with the beam is struck broadside, penetration of the impact is lessened by reducing the tendency of the striking car to override the struck car's frame.

* * *

The boxlike steel beams, which add about 49 pounds to the weight of the standard 4-door sedan, run horizontally inside the door. Additional reinforcement was added to the door hinge pillar and underbodies. Previous advances included heavier hinges and improved latches.

* * *

Although the side-beam structure has sometimes been referred to as "side armor," safety engineers did not expect it to serve as a protection against weapons.

But one of the case studies reported that an occupant of an overtaking car on an interstate highway discharged five 32-caliber pistol bullets into the side of a GM car equipped with the side beam. The slugs were deflected by the beam and the family escaped injury.

He Apes Apes, Keeps Puffing

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — As everyone who has tried to give up cigarettes knows, it's tough to break the habit when you hang around with a bunch of heavy smokers. And if your companions are baboons who smoke four packs a day, it's enough to make you go ape.

Henry Swanson Jr., 32, has been trying to stop smoking for a year.

* * *

But he has to spend most of his time with three live baboons who are all as crazy over smoking cigarettes as eating bananas.

* * *

Swanson is a caretaker for the animals who are part of a Louisiana State University School of Medicine research project on the effects of smoking on hardening of the arteries.

Swanson, who has been smoking since he was 12, says "mostly lack of will power" keeps him puffing. But lighting up four packs a day for the baboons would put a strain on anyone's will power.

His heaviest smoker is "007," who got started when, in the interest of science, he was rewarded with a banana every time he took a puff on a cigarette held at the edge of his cage.

Then the other two baboons started smoking, too, perhaps to keep up with "007," and now the three are permanent residents of a smoke-filled room at the school. For "007," it's three packs a day, the other two a half-pack apiece.

MAJOR DEATH FACTOR

Dr. Jack P. Strong, head of the school's pathology department and director of the program, says hardening of the arteries is a major factor in the death of most of the world's male population.

The baboons were brought into the program after he and a team of physicians made a trip to Kenya.

* * *

They said they found striking similarities between baboons and humans in areas of sickness. Hence the research into hardening of the arteries. In addition to teaching the baboons to smoke, the researchers have introduced them to a high-cholesterol menu similar to what the American male eats.

When the baboons die, autopsies will be performed to determine whether there are significant differences between the condition of their internal organs and those of their nonsmoking brothers.

Hughes Called Ideal Boss; His Hirelings Never See Him

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The greath myth named Howard Hughes is one of the best of all Show Business bosses "because he's invisible — you never see him — while all the other bosses are always putting their 2c in."

WILSON

"Yet in an eerie way you know that Howard Hughes is aware of what you're doing. You feel that he's got you wired for sound."

Don Arden, who has 150 beautiful girls working for him and still likes beautiful girls, delivered this opinion while waiting for his new "Holiday on Ice" revue to open at Madison Sq. Garden this week.

"I was producing the 'Pzazz '70' show at Hughes' Desert Inn," Arden said. "One day the ax fell. I got the message from upstairs. Upstairs says 'No nudes.' I had some beautiful nudes, too. So I said, 'Thanks a lot, I'll get some body stockings.' We did a beautiful show without nudes. It got raves.

"In the script we had one pretty rough line. Nobody from upstairs was in to see the rehearsal but one day I got another message. That line was to come out! Now how did he know?"

Rumors that Hughes checks on everything in his hotels with closed circuit TV are current in Vegas. Arden only knows that he likes to work for him. "It's wonderful," he says, "to work for a boss you never see."

(My secretary agrees with that.)

Police Hunt 2 Robbery, Fire Suspects

City police today are searching for two men, both about 30 years old, who are believed to have robbed a city girl of $70 cash yesterday and set her house on fire.

Lovie Ann Lodge, 20, of 22 Crawford told police two men woke her up about 11 a.m. yesterday and told her to give them all her money. One of the men held a revolver to her head while the other rifled her purse, she said.

* * *

When the pair left the house, the victim ran downstairs and discovered a fire in a downstairs bedroom. She told police she thought the two robbers also started the fire.

Fire officials this morning said they found fuel oil spread on the floor of the room. The fire was brought under control within a short time, but damages were estimated at $6,000 to the bedroom and furniture.

Allies Regain Captured Tank

SAIGON (AP) — An American tank that the Vietcong captured from allied troops nearly three years ago was recaptured today by U.S. and South Vietnamese troops.

U.S. Green Berets and South Vietnamese irregulars found the World War II-vintage M41 tank in a large enemy underground arms cache 12 miles northeast of Tay Ninh City. Carrying a 76mm cannon, the tank was still in operating condition.

It apparently was one of three captured by the Vietcong on March 23, 1966, when a strong enemy force attacked the headquarters of a government armored regiment 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

* * *

Vietnamese Air Force fighter-bombers destroyed two of the tanks as their captors fled north along a highway, but the third tank was never located.

Boone Clings to Image

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

The white shoes are still part of the image, but now they're dapper white leather with fashionable silver buckels. About 14 summers ago, Pat Boone, now 35, would have been in white bucks.

Boone was in the area yesterday for a promotional stint at the State Fair Among numerous business investments, he is a partner in the Wendell-West Real Estate Co.

* * *

Boone, who hit the teen market big in the mid-'50s, was impeccably dressed in a bone double breasted suit with slanted pockets and slightly flared trousers. A cherry shirt and matching tie accented his California tan.

* * *

Though not in Detroit as an entertainer, the lean six-footer said he still periodically does the nightclub and state fair scenes.

KEEPS HIS FANS

To his pleasure, most of his fans who are also in their mid-30s, have remained with him.

"The younger kids still recognize me largely because they see so many of my films on television," he said.

* * *

"If they didn't know the records to begin with, they eventually get around to hearing them as 'oldies but goodies," he laughed.

* * *

Speaking of the wide spectrum of ages he appeals to, Boone said he feels it is because people always have been able to trust him to provide clean entertainment, and they can bring every member of their family to see him.

TV MYSTERY

Boone has already filmed a television murder mystery with Sammy Davis to be seen this fall.

In September he will be on location in New York for his next movie, "The Cross and the Switchblade".

* *

The film is a documentary on the life of a minister, the Rev. David Wilkerson, who works in the slums of Brooklyn.

Card of Thanks — 1

I WISH TO thank everyone most sincerely for your thoughtfulness and kind expressions of sympathy. The Powell and Walker families.

THE FAMILY of Lonnie Cummins wishes to thank most sincerely the friends and neighbors for their floral offerings and contributions. Also Father Jones for his comforting words. May God bless each of you.

In Memoriam — 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of Sarah Harry, who passed away August 28, 1966.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true;
There's not a day, dear mother,
We do not think of you,
Sadly missed by daughter Ether and family.

SMITH

JUST PICTURE
The scene some 85 years ago as huge draft horses lumbered down Clarkston's dusty main street pulling a load of heavy timbers for the new house out on Orion Rd. Towns folk undoubtedly chatted as they met in the village, about the beautiful view of Parke Lake which the owner would enjoy, and the fruit trees and large shade trees, which would some day grow from the seedlings being planted. Well, the home is still there in a beautiful setting with 73' of frontage on Parke Lake, just waiting for yet another family to enjoy and impart their own personal touches to its historical charm. There are 3 bedrooms, a large kitchen, separate dining room and a 1½-car garage. There's ample room to add a large family room, should you so desire. Appointments to personally inspect this home are now being taken, offered at $27,900 with mortgage terms.

People in the News

By the Associated Press

British actress Olivia Hussey, the teen-ager who sprang to film stardom in "Romeo and Juliet," has lost a leading role in the forthcoming movie "Red Hotshot" because she's a bigger girl now.

Director Piero Zuffi said she had been replaced by Czech actress Susanna Martinkova.

"It seems as if Miss Hussey let herself go a little in recent times and has slightly taken on some weight," Zuffi explained.

Moscow Honors Czech Red Party Head

The Soviet Union has given Gustav Husak, the Czechoslovak Communist party head, the Order of Lenin—its highest award.

The award followed Husak's crackdown last week on Czechs who demonstrated against the U.S.S.R. on the anniversary of the invasion of their country.

However, the citation said Husak was honored "for outstanding service and heroism displayed in the joint struggle against the common enemy—the German Fascist invaders—during the Slovak national uprising" in August 1944.

Iranian Empress Expecting

FARAH

Empress Farah of Iran, the mother of two sons and a daughter, is expecting her fourth child in February.

A court source said yesterday in Tehran that for this reason she would not accompany the shah on his visit to the United States in October.

Orchestra Leader's Wife Files for Divorce

The wife or orchestra leader Juan Esquivel has filed for divorce on grounds of separation, court records showed yesterday in Reno, Nev.

Floria Joyce Esquivel is asking $1,200 a month alimony and all the couple's community property in Las Vegas. She also asks the court to order her husband to pay all debts and legal fees.

They were married in Las Vegas Sept. 5, 1958. Esquivel's orchestra currently is playing at the Stardust Hotel in Las Vegas.

Actor Given Until Oct. 30 to Answer Complaint

Actor Broderick Crawford, accused of failure to pay a grocery bill totaling $4,588, has until Oct. 30 to answer the complaint.

Crawford, 57, surrendered yesterday in Los Angeles on a bench warrant issued when he failed to appear for previous hearing on the matter. Superior Court Commissioner Jacqueline L. Weiss then rescheduled the hearing for Oct. 30.

West Germans Irked at Losing 'Bonanza'

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — This Sunday night will be a sad one for millions of West Germans. "Bonanza" will be making its last appearance on their TV sets.

"The entire Sunday won't be any fun any more," Robert Ferner of Kiel wrote in a letter to a television magazine.

In two years, the weekly adventures of Ben Cartwright and his boys have gained 47 per cent of the West German television audience on Sunday evenings—about 20 million viewers a week.

"We are receiving sacks of mail protesting the decision of Second German Television to drop the show," said one of the largest TV magazines, Bild und Funk. The letters come "not only from young Wild West fans but also from adults."

ALREADY EXTENDED

Spokesman for Second German Television said "Bonanza" originally was scheduled for a one-year run but was extended a year because it was so popular.

"We have just decided to bring in something else," said the spokesman. "We thought two years was enough and wanted to present some new faces."

Instead of Lorne Greene's face, the viewers will get Barbara Stanwyck's. "The Big Valley," another hit Western series in America, is the replacement.

Is 'Curious (Yellow)' Too Blue?

Block on Film Ban Is Sought

HIGHLAND PARK (AP) — The mayor of Highland Park and other city officials have been ordered to appear in U.S. District Court Friday, as the distributors of the Swedish movie "I Am Curios (Yellow)" seek to bar the Detroit suburb from seizing or banning the film.

* * *

An attorney for Grove Press, distributors of the film, said he will ask the court to declare "I Am Curious" not obscene or pornographic.

The hearing will be held at 10 a.m. Friday before Judge Ralph M. Freeman in Detroit.

About 1,200 patrons stood in line Wednesday afternoon to get into the first Michigan screening of the controversial Swedish sex film.

HOST OF OFFICIALS

The audience included Blackwell, most of the City Council, the city attorney, three police vice-squad officers, two judges and an assortment of other municipal dignitaries.

They filled the back two rows for the Michigan premiere.

After viewing the two-hour, 15-minute feature, the mayor announced in the lobby the film was "definitely obscene."

"We just have to decide whether to confiscate it right now, or later, and under what law," Blackwell said.

'SEVERAL' SCENES

Councilman Ethel Terrell was not happy about the movie, either. "We found several scenes highly objectionable. The film should not be shown."

A bit more cautiously, Council President Michael Glusac said, "The film is in poor taste, parts of it are obscene, but to prove it pornographic will be difficult. I suppose it has some redeeming social value."

* * *

For the Michigan opening, ticket-seekers were strung out in a block long queue at the Six Mile Theater, ready to pay $2.50 for a seat.

The manager of the Six Mile Theater said he was looking forward to a brisk evening business. Five performances were scheduled for Wednesday.

Moviegoers Mr. and Mrs. Ed Burns of Westland said they came to see the film because they planned a trip to New York soon. "Admission is $5 in New York," Burns said. "I objected to the political overtones more than anything. It is very much anti-U.S., and antiwar."

Bruce Biddle, a Huntington Woods bachelor, said, "they gave us both barrels politically. Otherwise it was a waste of time. 'Rosemary's Baby' was a lot worse as far as sex goes."

A Look at TV

New Season to Tiptoe

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A year ago, television producers, writers and stars were excited about messages and meaningful drama. During 1969-70, caution is the byword and the phrase used most often to describe the product is "pure entertainment."

The Establishment, walloped vigorously last season by TV's bright, earnest young producers and performers, is likely to be treated tenderly. The memory of the Smothers Brothers cancellation by CBS is still painfully fresh in everybody's mind.

* * *

New faces, new situation comedies, new variety shows, cute children and winsome dogs will abound. Many shows will have a familiar look because there are only a dozen or so basic plots and not all of them work in series. Commercial television, in a play-safe year, has a tendency to hire specialists with proven track records in old shows to turn out new ones.

Veteran viewers are likely to recall "Route 66" when they see NBC's "Then Came Bronson." The new series stars one man on a motorcycle, instead of two in a sport car, but both were shot on location and involved in a new adventure in a different community each week.

FAINT RESEMBLANCE?

Debbie Reynolds' comedy style is not at all like that of Lucille Ball, but if the premise and execution of "The Debbie Reynolds Show" is occasionally reminiscent of "I Love Lucy," it could be the influence of producer-creator Jess Oppenheimer. He was prominent in the birth of the Ball-Arnaz series 18 years ago.

* * *

ABC's, CBS's and NBC's new medical shows will inevitably remind one of yesteryear's Kildare and Casey. Cute children have often helped a run-of-the-mill situation comedy into the winners' circle, and in a year when the genre is back in favor, they are present in wholesale quantities. One series, ABC's "The Brady Bunch," has six.

While the approaching season does not appear to contain much experimentation with radical, daring material, some fresh forms around will be offered.

* * *

NBC's "My World—And Welcome to It" is based on cartoons, writing and personality of the late James Thurber. It will combine live actors and realistic sets with animation for a first in adult situation comedy.

GM Executive Honored Twice

The technical director in GM's styling division, Dr. Peter Kyropoulos of 4857 Dover, Bloomfield Township, has been twice-honored professionally this summer.

Selected earlier to the council for the New York State College of Humane Ecology in Cornell, he was recently elected to the grade of Fellow by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME).

KYROPOULOS

The ASME cited him as a "creative educator and innovator who has earned recognition for his advanced concepts of automobile designs."

* * *

Dr. Kyropoulos, 54, joined GM in 1957 after 16 years as an associate professor of mechanical engineering at California Institute of Technology.

Pharmacists Pick Former City Man

Former Pontiac resident Louis M. Sesti has been appointed executive director of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association. His duties will include the over-all management and administration of the state professional society of pharmacists.

SESTI

A member of various other phrmaceutical associations, Sesti practiced pharmacy in Birmingham for three years, and hospital pharmacy in Farmington for two years prior to joining the staff of MSPA.

Did Teacher Eat Three Kids?

Starting Kindergarten a Fearful Step

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a young man preparing to start kindergarten gets tired of hearing:

"I don't know why you feel you have to lead him by the hand to class the first day, Madge. After all, Andrew is not exactly a baby any longer."

* * *

"I hear you're going to have Miss Blimpstein as your teacher. Boy, that old girl is a tiger. I had her myself when I was in kindergarten. At the end of the year three of us kids were missing, and everybody figured she ate them."

BOYLE

"For two days Andrew has done nothing but polish the apple he plans to give his teacher the first day. Now he's finally worn the peeling off it."

WHAT'S THE FUSS?

"If you don't pay attention in class, Andrew, Miss Blimpstein will hang you up by your thumbs and pour ice-cold buttermilk down your back."

"What's all the fuss about anyway? Andrew isn't going to the moon—he's just starting kindergarten."

* * *

"Don't worry so much, kid. Even if you weather kindergarten, you still have 16 more years to go before you'll get out of college."

"Don't let him pull any fake illness on you, Madge. Whether he claims he has a fever or a bellyache, I want him in that kindergarten seat when the bell rings."

BEWARE OF BULLY

"I understand that that little bully in the next block is going to be in the same kindergarten class with you, Andrew. Don't let him knock all your front teeth out."

"If you aren't polite to all the little girls, Andrew, Miss Blimpstein will make you stand in the corner and let them throw spitballs at you."

"You'll get to do all kinds of fascinating things, Andrew — such as galloping around the room to music, cutting out dolls, and learning to draw and color little white lambs in green grass."

* * *

"What do you mean you think you'll drive him to school every day, Madge? You'll not only spoil him—you'll stunt his growth. Let him walk. It'll do him good."

DRINK INK

"Mom, I'm not going to have Andrew tagging along after me to school every day. What'll the other guys in the third grade think if I gotta stop every few steps to let my baby brother catch up with me?"

* * *

"If you wipe your nose on the sleeve of your sweater, Andrew, Miss Blimpstein will make you drink ink instead of milk for your lunch."

* * *

"Now quit blubbering, Andrew. I insist you wear short pants to kindergarten. You look so darling in them. You can have long pants when you start first grade."

"No, you can't take the dog with you . . . or the cat . . . or your turtle . . . or any other pet. You just take yourself, understand?"

A REWARD

"If you're a really good boy, you'll be rewarded. You may be permitted to beat the blackboard erasers."

* * *

"If you talk out loud in class when you're not supposed to, Miss Blimpstein will probably twist your ears with a pair of pliers."

* * *

"When I was in kindergarten, there was a mean little redhaired girl who used to kick me everytime we were in the cloakroom. By the end of the first week my shins were all bruised black and blue."

* * *

"Of course, if you flunk kindergarten they'll make you stay in it until you pass—even if it takes until you're 21 years old."

* * *

"Don't let them tease you, Andrew—kindergarten is no worse than a bad case of mumps."

Soviets Mulling Bombing China? U. S. Concerned

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Intelligence reports that the Soviet Union may be considering an air attack on China's nuclear installations have caused serious concern at highest levels here over possibility of war between the two Communist giants.

The reports, coming from Communist sources of varying degrees of credibility, assert Soviet leaders have been sounding out their Warsaw Pact partners, as well as some Communist party leaders in Western Euurope, as to what their attitude would be if the Soviet Union had to take such an extreme step.

★ ★ ★

However, other information reaching Washington has cast doubt on the truth of these reports.

Versions from some other Western delegates at the meeting tend to discount the reports as exaggerations or as delierate misinformation promoted by non-Soviet Communist factions for their own interest.

CONSIDERED SERIOUSLY

Some authorities here believe the reports have been planted by Moscow for psychological effect against Peking.

In view of the steadily increasing bitterness between Russia and China and their recurrent border clashes, however, the intelligence reports are being considered very seriously at the highest levels in the Nixon administration.

★ ★ ★

The assumption of those authorities who tend to believe the reports is that the Soviet Union wants to determine whether such extreme action would cost it support within the international Communist community, particularly in Eastern Europe.

The reports all appear to be taking about a possible Soviet attack by bombers armed with conventional weapons against Lop Nor, and other Chinese nuclear facilities.

CHINESE RETALIATION

If Soviet leaders are indeed considering such a strike, China could retaliate with a massive land invasion.

The Soviets would then be faced with a decision of whether to use nuclear weapons to halt the armed hordes China could throw against them.

Teachers Settle in Waterford

A Waterford Township teacher strike was averted early today when negotiators for teachers and the school board unexpectedly reached agreement on a new teachers' contract.

Prospects for a strike had been good yesterday, which would have delayed the opening of school. It is now likely schools will reopen on schedule a week from today.

★ ★ ★

"We didn't expect to settle the contact issues at all yesterday," Warren Williams, executive director of the teachers' Waterford Education Association, commented.

"It surprised us too," remarked acting Supt. Dr. John Pagen. "It was a compromise. The teachers gave up some things and we analyzed the possibility of a strike."

'MORE BELT-TIGHTENING'

"But the proposed contract means we will have to do more belt-tightening. We'll have to go with a total austerity program, which I will say more about later."

Now all that remains to be done to send teachers back to work Tuesday to prepare for school opening next Thursday is approval of the one-year pact by a vote of the teachers and the board of education.

★ ★ ★

Williams said teachers are set to meet 7 p.m. tomorrow at Mason Junior High School, 3835 W. Walton, to vote on the proposed contract. The district has about 650 teachers.

Pagen said he would try to call a meeting of the board of education for tomorrow to vote on the measure.

6 MONTHS OF TALKS

Tentative agreement was reached after six months of negotiations. A state mediator had recently been conducting negotiations. Tuesday he had called for fact-finding by the State Labor Mediation Board.

"We're very happy with the proposed settlement," Wiliams said. "We got a pretty competitive salary scale. It is a substantial jump on all levels. Salary was the key issue among six unresolved areas.

★ ★ ★

All issues were solved after school administrators returned from a two-day preschool workshop late yesterday and called a negotiation meeting, which lasted eight hours until 2 a.m. today. The state mediator wasn't present.

Republicans Hit President Over Campus Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Republican congressmen who toured the nation's colleges last spring say the administration has done little to ease the basic sources of campus ferment.

"The critical urgency of the problem cannot be overstated," the 22 GOP congressmen reported to President Nixon on June 17.

★ ★ ★

And now, Rep. William A. Steiger says:

"I think it's fair to say most of the people who took that tour would tend to say things would still be difficult this year."

CONTRADICTS FINCH

The Wisconsin congressman contradicted the assessment of Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, who was quoted last week as saying chances for a quiet year on campuses are very promising.

"I think the tempo of the student demonstrations on Vietnam will pick up this fall," said Rep. R. Lawrence Coughlin of Pennsylvania, one of those who made the spring tour.

★ ★ ★

Some moves over the summer have been encouraging, representatives of the informal coalition said in interviews, but progress has been slight in alieviating student discontent over basic issues like the draft, their alienation from national politics and the depersonalization of big modern universities.

Even if passions aroused by past issues fade, the congressmen say, the discontent is volatile enough to feed protests over yet unknown issues.

'NO CONCRETE STEPS'

The congressmen's recommendations last June included the establishment of a commission to examine the impact of federal involvement in aid and research programs, the appointment of one man to coordinate federal youth programs and expansion of student involvement in federal programs through a national youth foundation and student teacher corps.

"I don't see any really concrete steps by the administration," said Coughlin.

★ ★ ★

"I personally am not satisfied with the response of the administration," said Steiger. "The administration has not, as far as I can determine, taken those administrative actions that were suggested."

"We were gratified by the President's initial response, but the trouble is in implementing specific suggestions," said a spokesman for Rep. William E. Brock of Tennessee, who was the group's leader. Brock is touring the Far East.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman, Aram Bakshian, said the consensus among the congressmen appears to be that the best they can hope for is that disruptions will be reduced in scope this fall, if not in frequency.

FAIR QUEEN — Gay S. Chipman, 17, a 1969 graduate of Birmingham Groves High School, was crowned Miss Michigan State Fair last night in competition with nine other finalists at the fair in Detroit, who were chosen from a field of 55. The 5-foot-4 blonde is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Chipman, 26111 Carol, Franklin Village. Miss Chipman is a dental assistant and enjoys swimming, tennis, skiing and modeling.

Sailor Overboard 'Saved by Turtle'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It took a whale to save Jonah from the briny deep. Chung Nam Kim says he made it with a turtle, and he's got witnesses.

Kim, a 27-year-old South Korean sailor, said yesterday a turtle kept him afloat after he fell from the deck of a merchant ship in the Pacific Ocean.

★ ★ ★

Hours after his strange adventure began, he was picked up by a Swedish freighter, the Citadel.

Crewmen of freighter said Kim was swimming with one arm on a turtle's back, and one of them took pictures to prove it.

TELLS HIS STORY

Kim related his story in a radio-telephone interview aboard the Citadel, which is due here tomorrow.

He said he was a deckhand aboard the Federal Nagara, a Liberian ship headed for New York.

★ ★ ★

As the ship sailed about 100 miles off Nicaragua last Friday, Kim said, he got a headache. It was about 2 a.m. and he couldn't sleep.

So he walked out on the deck for some fresh air, he said, and "one foot went off — and then I went off. Nobody saw it."

"I had been swimming — it seemed like 13 hours," he said, when he saw an animal. "I thought it was a shark, then I could see it was a turtle.

"I threw an arm around it and we swam, very slowly, very slowly, for about two hours."

★ ★ ★

Finally he spotted the Citadel. Sailors of the freighter threw Kim a lifebelt. He grabbed it and they pulled him out.

Kim said he looked back and saw the turtle disappear under the water. Nobody on the ship saw it again.

Fine Days Due Through Saturday

Some clouds will drift in and out of the Pontiac area today, tonight and tomorrow, but weather will continue mostly fair for the period.

The weatherman predicts temperatures will soar to near 90, today and tomorrow with little change Saturday. The low will be a mild 62 to 68 tonight.

Winds are south to southwest at 6 to 18 miles per hour.

No precipitation is predicted through Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The low temperature before 8 a.m. was 62, and the mercury had zoomed to 88 by 12:30 p.m.

U.S. Must Keep GIs in S. Korea—Park

SEOUL (AP) — President Chung Hee Park declared today that U.S. forces will have to remain in South Korea until the threat from all Communists in North Asia is eliminated.

He referred to the Soviet Union as well as Communist China and North Korea.

★ ★ ★

Park's interview with the Associated Press was his first interview since his talks with President Nixon in San Francisco last week.

★ ★ ★

Asked when U.S. forces could be reduced or withdrawn, Park said he and Nixon had discussed the subject, and both recognized the threat from the North Koreans.

'U. S THWARTS N. KOREA'

"The reason they are not executing their invasion plans," the president said, "is because the U.S. forces are in Korea. A withdrawal of U.S. forces is not foreseeable until the threat has been eliminated. And until then, the continued presence of U.S. forces will be required."

Park said South Korea probably would achieve economic self-sufficiency by the end of the third economic plan in 1976.

★ ★ ★

"Militarily, however," he said, "we are inferior in some aspects to North Korea. We have to improve our weapons and make them strong enough to deter the North Koreans. When that can be achieved is difficult to predict."

★ ★ ★

Park added that even if South Korea could withstand an offensive from North Korea, the U.S. presence would have to continue in the face of threats from the Soviet Union and Communist China.

"If the United States were not here," he said, "we would give the Communists an opportunity of renewing their invasion of 1950.

1950 RENEWAL FEARED

"If Korea were communized, Japan would be the next target."

★ ★ ★

Concerning Japan's campaign to regain Okinawa and his own opposition to closing of the U.S. bases there, Park said he had taken pains to make clear he does not wish to interfere in the territorial and administrative functions of Okinawa, that these have to be worked out between Japan and the United States.

★ ★ ★

"Militarily, however, the bases are not only for safeguarding Japan but for defending the free nations in this part of the world," he continued. "Therefore, they have great impact in safeguarding freedom in this area."

★ ★ ★

Park said he is opposed to any withdrawal of U.S. forces from Okinawa without adequate provisions or alternatives.

Told the U.S. people were puzzled by North Korea's seizure of the Pueblo and its downing of a U.S. reconnaissance plane over international waters, Park said he was equally puzzled. His guess, he said, was that the North Koreans were testing the degree of U.S. determination to defend South Korea and attempting to split the United States and South Korea.

Viet Infiltration Talk Splits State Dept., Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is all but arguing publicly with the State Department over whether a recent reduction in enemy infiltration into South Vietnam can be considered "significant."

The State Department used the term yesterday, saying the infiltration drop suggests Hanoi may be letting its force level in the South go down through attrition.

★ ★ ★

"We consider these facts to be significant and have said so on several occasions," Press Officer Robert McCloskey said at a State Department briefing.

Called upon to provide some statistical lacking for State's postition, the Pentagon later would acknowledge only that infiltration is "down considerably" from last year and that enemy strength may have suffered some loss.

'SIGNIFICANCE' AVOIDED

But the Pentagon avoided deliberately, according to sources — embracing the term "significant," and in a three-page statement listed no fewer than eight reasons why the recent infiltration decline may be short-lived.

The Pentagon contended North Vietnam "is substantially replacing" its losses through the current infiltration rate.

★ ★ ★

Among factors cited by the Pentagon "that could influence the present lower infiltration rates:"

- Fewer infiltrators showed up this summer because the spring monsoons over Laos, a principal infiltration route, made travel difficult on the Ho Chi Mih trail.
- The enemy has needed fewer replacements recently.
- The enemy may have made a political decision not to increase his forces but "this decision can be altered on short notice."

★ ★ ★

The Pentagon cited close proximity of North Vietnamese troops to the Demilitarized Zone and their deployment in border sanctuaries handy to battlefields, as well as their ability to move rapidly over a travel system improved since the United States stopped bombing the north.

'Nixon to Rule in Jetport Rift'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading conservationist says a White House decision is imminent on the controversial jetport at the edge of Everglades National Park in southern Florida.

Thomas L. Kimball, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation, said President Nixon would decide the issue since the Department of Transportation wants the air terminal built while the Department of Interior fears it will harm the park.

★ ★ ★

Federal approval is necessary for financial aid and designation as an airport for international flights.

Kimball's group, the National Parks Association, Sierra Club, National Audubon Society, and the Wilderness Society say the huge aircraft and the thousands of people who would settle around the airport would ruin the park.

POLLUTION FORESEEN

In the jetport the conservationists see the entire spectrum of pollution: exhaust products; sewage, fertilizer, insecticide runoffs corrupting the water; jet engine noise disturbing the peace of the swamp.

The park is a mixture of broad cypress swamps and savannah, pine stands, salt meadows and mangrove thickets alive with alligators, osprey, panther—a tropical ecology unknown to the rest of the nation.

★ ★ ★

A rise of two feet in the water level can change hundreds of square miles into swamp and shallow lake. The park's water supply has been manipulated dangerously in the past at the expense of the wildlife.

Poachers have illegally taken upwards of 20,000 alligator hides a year until this situation has finally been considered extremely serious by the Interior Department.

CONSTRUCTION STARTED

As the conservation groups muster for the latest crunch some runway construction already has started at the 39-square mile jetport site. Presently, the site is called a training facility for commercial pilots.

★ ★ ★

Kimball said decisions must also be made as to whether an alternate site is available which would cause less damage to the park. If the jetport is to be built, Kimball added, a decision must also be made on what stipulations there could be to help protect the park.

N. Viet Troop Pullout a Must, Hanoi Told

PARIS (AP) — The United States warned today that a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam war is impossible as long as Hanoi rejects the principle of a mutual withdrawal of all non-South Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam.

* * *

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told the 32nd session of the deadlocked peace talks that more than 130 battalions of regular North Vietnamese forces are "actively engaged against South Vietnam."

* * *

"It is thus impossible for the people of South Vietnam to determine their own future freely unless these troops from North Vietnam return to North Vietnam," he went on.

* * *

"This is why it is impossible to achieve a negotiated settlement until the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam is willing to act on the principle that all non-South Vietnamese forces will leave South Vietnam."

DEMAND DENOUNCED

North Vietnamese delegate Xuan Thuy immediately repeated Hanoi's long-standing rejection of any mutual troop withdrawal.

* * *

He denounced the American demand as a trick to prolong the U.S. "occupation of South Vietnam" and protect the "puppet regime"—a reference to the South Vietnamese government.

* * *

"Ever since this conference started, the United States has insisted on its extremely unreasonable demand of mutual withdrawal, which we have many times criticized and rejected," Thuy said.

* * *

"Undoubtedly, by putting forward this demand, the United States aims at finding some justification for sending its troops to the other end of the globe to invade Vietnam, and at equating the United States—the aggressor — with the Vietnamese people—the fighters against aggression."

Israel Begs for Safety of Jews in Arab Lands

By The Associated Press

Israel's parliament called on all nations of the world today to help save the Jews of Iraq, Syria and Egypt "before it is too late." It also demanded an urgent United Nations investigation into the plight of Jews in Arab lands.

The Knesset was called out of summer recess for a special session to discuss the execution Monday of 15 alleged Iraqi spies, including two Jews. Nine other Jews were executed in Baghdad earlier this year.

Prime Minister Golda Meir accused the U.N. Human Rights Commission of "making a mockery of elementary rules of fairness" by failing to investigate the situation of Jews in Arab countries while conducting an investigation of alleged Israeli atrocities in occupied lands.

She said the commission's investigation of Arab allegations of Israeli atrocities "in fact encouraged Iraqi rulers to go ahead with their policy of mock trials and hangings."

'BLIND HATRED'

The 3,000 Jews in Iraq "are helplessly exposed to the blind hatred of the Arab states toward Israel," Mrs. Meir charged.

As she spoke, about 50 Israelis of Iraqi origin assembled outside the Knesset building for a silent demonstration protesting the Iraqi executions.

* * *

David Rivlin, Israeli Foreign Office spokesman, told newsmen Israel views the persecution of Jews in Iraq "very, very gravely."

"Even non-Arab Moslem countries have bitterly deplored the executions there, not to mention every enlightened government and the free press of the world," he said. "But nothing seems to stop the Iraqis. There are scores of Jews in prison. They have a life of terror and persecution.

"If they are not stopped by world opinion, they will no doubt hang more people, more Jews in this bloodthirsty business."

In Beirut, Lebanon, King Hussein of Jordan said in a newspaper interview war with Israel was inevitable "and the possibility exists of an explosion at any time."

* * *

Hussein's comments, printed by the paper Al Jarida, reflected his hardening line in the Middle East conflict.

"We are now prepared to take these blows and deal with them soundly," he said, adding that if the West refused to supply him with arms, he would turn elsewhere—an obvious reference to Moscow.

* * *

Hussein charged certain big powers had encouraged Israel to reject the Security Council resolution of November 1967, which lays down the guidelines of a settlement.

Year-Round School OK'd

LANSING (UPI)—The State Board of Education yesterday adopted rules allowing year-round operation of schools in Michigan.

Under the new rules, districts may apply for state aid payments based on pupil counts taken four times a year instead of the usual one time.

* * *

The counts are set up for the fourth Fridays in July, October, January and April.

The year-round plan has been endorsed by many school officials and legislators as the best way to fully use school facilities and personnel.

OTHER ACTION

In other action, board members asked that a report be made on alleged delay of school funds to the Ferndale School District. The district, now engaged in hearings with the federal government over charges of discrimination in the system, claimed the Department of Education delayed funds following the federal charges.

Birmingham

Story Hour Registration Set Tuesday

BIRMINGHAM — Registration for fall preschool story hours is Tuesday at Baldwin Public Library. Registration must be done in person during regular business hours.

Children aged 3-5 and not enrolled in kindergarten are invited to the story hour program. Preference will be given to children not enrolled in nursery school.

* * *

Classes will be limited to 25 each of 4 seven-week sessions beginning Sept. 9 and 10. Story time is 10-10:30 a.m. on Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

Several Birmingham - Bloomfield area students will be among the college students from all over the world who will attend the Christian Science Biennial College meeting this weekend in Boston, Mass.

Area students include Skip Brown, 520 Wimbleton, and Ken and Cecil Pratt, 1509 Birmingham, all of Birmingham; and Andy Cummins, 4252 Derry, Bloomfield Hills. From Bloomfield Township are Mark and Marcia Moyer, 3917 Cottontail Lane Bonnie Anderson, 421 S. Cranbrook; Bunny and Susan McBride, 6845 Whysall; and Steve Rea of 5400 Lane Lake.

* * *

Purpose of the three-day meeting is to discuss by panel, workshop and plenary sessions such topics as campus and community tensions, racial conflict, the drug problem, marriage and birth control, morality, conscientious objection to military service and social action.

BIRMINGHAM — Driver education is available to any student residing within the boundries of the Birmingham Public School District. The course, Sept. 13 to Jan. 31, 1970, will meet each Saturday.

A student must be 15. Assignment to a given term will be based solely on the applicant's age. Older students will have priority.

* * *

Applications for the fall term are available at the Department of Added Education at the Birmingham Schools Administration Building, 550 W. Merrill, or at any secondary school counseling office.

To particpate, a student must complete an application form and return it by Sept. 6.

Pittsburgh Blacks, Builders Talk Jobs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A bitter struggle to win more jobs for blacks in the construction industry moves from the street to the conference table today.

* * *

Builders of 10 major projects involving more than $200 million, targets of three days of angry protests by hundreds of black and white demonstrators, agreed last night to suspend operations until next Tuesday.

* * *

The move was hailed as a victory by leaders of the Black Construction Coalition, which called the demonstrations to force an increase in the two per cent Negro membership share among the city's 30,000 trade unionists. Byrd Brown, a coalition leader, said of the protest: "It has been a qualified success . . . but we still have no black people working on these jobs, and until we do it won't be a complete success."

'70 Car Prices Going Up; Only Question: How Much?

From Our News Wires

DETROIT — The price of the 1970 model cars is going up. Exactly how much won't be known until the auto makers stick the price tags on when the new cars go on sale in dealer showrooms next month.

But, Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. already are billing dealers for tentative price hikes ranging as high as $275 on Ford's Continental Mark III.

* * *

A spokesman said Ford is sending advance billings to dealers calling for increases averaging $68, or about 2 per cent over the price of the 1969 models.

Chrysler said the prices of its 1970 models will be higher, but wouldn't give an average increase.

BROADER WARRANTY

Ford also announced today its 1970 model cars and light trucks will carry a simplified 12-month warranty with no mileage limitation, providing free service in virtually all cases during the first 90 days of the warranty period.

Ford said the new warranty also contains no limitation on number of owners and eliminates requirements for validation of maintenance.

The new warranty will take effect with new Mavericks — designated as 1970 models — sold today.

The actual prices to the car buyer will be announced next month — Ford shortly before its new cars go on sale Sept. 19 and Chrysler shortly before its new cars go on the market Sept. 23.

GM HOLDS KEY

But, it will be General Motors Corp., the giant of the auto industry, which may again determine the actual price hikes.

GM refuses to comment so far on its 1970 car prices, but when it does, any increase is sure to influence the rest of the industry since GM annually accounts for more than half of the auto sales.

St. Benedict School Stays Open Another Year in Face of Deficits

St. Benedict's school will open as scheduled Wednesday in spite of mounting financial problems. It may be the last year for the Catholic elementary school, however, officials indicate.

Some 540 pupils attend the parish school which ended the last school year with a $58,000 deficit. Projected deficit for the 1969-70 year is $79,000.

* * *

The parish school board was reportedly seriously considering closing the school at Highland and Voorheis — a move that would put most of the pupils into Waterford Township's financially-troubled public schools.

However, a directive came from the archdiocese in Detroit ordering the school kept open.

PARISH DEBT $350,000

A spokesman for the school's finance committee, points out the parish is now facing a $350,000 total debt. From studies the spokesman asserts the school is efficiently run and on a cost-per-pupil basis operates very economically. At the same time educational standards rate highly and staff morale is reportedly excellent.

However, the school's future looks dark, it was indicated, unless other forms of revenue are found.

* * *

Other Catholic schools in the area have closed recently. St. Vincent's in Pontiac closed down completely last June and Pontiac St. Michael's ended first through third grades this fall.

3-Death Crash Leaves Boy 'Fair'

A 6-year-old Pontiac boy remained in fair condition today in Pontiac General Hospital after a car-truck crash Wednesday killed his mother, sister and baby sitter.

Hospital officials today said George Morris, 6, of 141 W. Beverly suffered internal injuries in the 10 a.m. accident.

* * *

Dead are Mrs. James (Mallie) Johnson, 27, of 141 W. Beverly; her daughter, Billie Jean Morris, 4, of the same address; and Kenneth LaFond, 16, of 2175 Silver Bell, Oakland Township.

LaFond was belieevd to have been a family baby sitter. All were passengers in the car driven by Mrs. Johnson. The driver of the truck, James Barnett, 25, of Madison Heights, was not injured seriously.

THROUGH STOP SIGN

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said three witnesses reported Mrs. Johnson's auto was traveling westbound on Silver Bell when it went through a stop sign and collided with the northbound truck on M24.

The car and the truck both were thrown into a ditch in the median of the divided highway. The late-model auto was torn from its frame from the impact of the collision.

* * *

Barnett said he was traveling at about 45 miles an hour and estimated Mrs. Johnson's speed at 15 m.p.h. at the time of the collision.

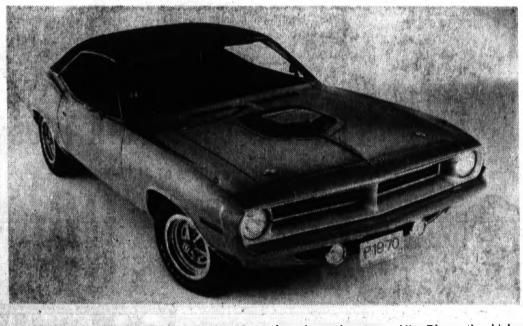
Plymouth Revs Up With 'Cuda

Chrysler-Plymouth Division's sports specialty performance entry, the Barracuda, will be available in three distinctive series this year, announces division General Manager Glenn E. White.

The basic Barracuda will appear with the 'Cuda series and the luxury-oriented Gran Coupe in showrooms Sept. 23.

All three versions are four-seaters built on a 108-inch wheelbase with a total length of 186.6 inches. The 'Cuda series has a front track of 60.2 inches and a rear track of 60.7 inches.

In the standard Barracuda and Gran Coupe versions the front track measures 59.7 inches with a rear track of 61.3 inches.



NEW PLYMOUTH 'CUDA — New to the Plymouth Barracuda line for 1970 is the 'Cuda series, offering greater performance potential than ever before available in a compact-size Plymouth. The standard engine has 383 cubic-inch displacement with four-barrel carburetor. All Plymouth high-performance engines are optional. Standard features include heavy-duty suspension and 11-inch brakes. The Barracudas will be in showrooms Sept. 23.

Area dealers are Oakland Chrysler-Plymouth, 724 Oakland, Pontiac; Birmingham Chrysler-Plymouth 2100 W. Maple, Troy; Hahn Chrysler-Plymouth, 6673 Dixie, Clarkston; Milosch Chrysler-Plymouth, 677 S. Lapeer, Lake Orion; and Colonial Chrysler, 209 S. Main, Milford.

Abby Questions Validity of This Big-Time Spender

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress in a very nice restaurant which is located on an interstate highway. It's one of a well-known chain. I greet everyone with a smile and try to give good service. Sometimes I exchange chit chat with my customers, but I never get overly familiar. I am happily married and have four children.

* * *

About three months ago a man came in alone and I served him. I don't know who he is or where he's from. He was well-dressed and well mannered. He didn't talk much but he did tell me about his grandchildren. I also told him about my family. I showed no more interest in him than any other customer and he never made a pass at me.

About three weeks later this man came in again and sat in my section. I remembered him, greeted him cheerfully and served him. When he left he gave me a hundred-dollar bill for a tip. I was flabbergasted! I really tried to give it back but he wouldn't take it.

* * *

About three weeks later he came in again, and the same thing happened. After it happened a third time I took the three one-hundred-dollar bills down to the bank to find out if maybe they were counterfeit. They were real and legitimate.

I haven't spent any of it. I'm afraid if I do, he might turn out to be some kind of eccentric and his family might demand the money back. He seems perfectly sane and normal to me, but I wonder now just what I should do?

PERPLEXED WAITRESS

DEAR PERPLEXED: If you haven't already told your husband, tell him. You are wise to save the money for the time being in case The Last of the Big-Time Spenders turns out to be a disturbed or shady character. Maybe he is on the level, but I'm suspicious. It's a little early for Santa Claus.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a wonderful husband and children, too, but don't use my name as this is a small town and I'm known here.

I love my husband and he loves me. So what's my problem? My husband's brother. I feel strongly attracted to him, and it is so frustrating because we are around each other a lot. I know that he feels a strong attraction for me, too. He is also married, and has a family, but you can't change what you feel, can you?

* * *

I wouldn't want to jeopardize my own marriage, or his either, but I sometimes feel that if I don't get this guy alone just once I am going to jump out of my skin. It's getting worse all the time. How can I control it? Or should I make the first move and get it over with? He wouldn't be hard to get.

ATTRACTED

DEAR ATTRACTED: Sublimate! By that I mean keep busy, think of something else, and keep your mind off this man. You're undoubtedly "flirting" with him, and he's responding. CUT IT OUT! It's marital suicide.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please let a secretary answer GEMINI as a secretary's point of view: No marriage is threatened by a married man buying his secretary dinner when she works late to express appreciation for extra work or a job well done.

* * *

You told the wife if the boss wants to show "appreciation," he should try money — and for the most part, I agree. But let me assure you that no amount of money paid by a corporation — not the boss — makes up for the inconvenience of an interrupted week-end, a 100-mile drive, working in a cold office because over the weekend the heat is turned off, typing for several hours, and missing dinner because the boss' insecure wife feels her marriage would be threatened if her husband took his secretary to dinner.

* * *

I can assure all wives that after such a grueling work session, no secretary could possibly entertain any "ideas" about her boss. All the secretary would like is a nice warm meal and a kind "thank you"—little to ask in return for her inconvenience.

WELL PAID EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ALIVE AND WELL:" You may be "alive," but in my opinion, you are far from "well." Your "honest" approach to the necessity for extra-martial relations in order to satisfy man's (and woman's) urge for variety will eventually destroy the "deep love" you claim to have for one another.

'To Be, or Not to Be,' Never a Real Decision for Actress

By JANET ODELL
Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press

John Fernald has made his mark at Oakland University as head of the Meadow Brook Theatre. His wife, Jenny Laird, has displayed her acting talent in a number of the plays presented there during the past three years.

* * *

Their daughter, Karin, is doing her first acting this side of the Atlantic at the Stratford Festival in Ontario. She appears in Shakespeare's "Measure for Measure" and Moliere's "Tartuffe." It was the latter we saw last week.

After the performance, we went out with Karin to Stratford's only nightclub, a large rather barren room above a theatre. Over glasses of Beaujolais wine, we talked.

Karin, who is in her mid twenties, resembles her attractive mother in looks, speech and actions. A thoroughly modern young woman with decided opinions on a number of subjects, she is a dedicated actress.

GOVERNMENT AID

She thinks that governments must make larger grants to the performing arts in order to keep the theater alive and growing and to give more persons a chance to act. The United States, she thinks, is a laggard in this respect.

In line with the current plays which make such a point of including nude scenes, we asked Karin's opinion of nudity on stage.

"I really couldn't care less," was her cool reply. If nudity is essential to the action, it is all right; otherwise, not.

She has never wanted to be anything but an actress which is not strange with her family background. On her mother's side, she is a third-generation performer.

* * *

Although most of her professional career has been in London, she has had repertory experience in other parts of England. Her part in "Measure for Measure" is her first prolonged work in Shakespeare and she finds it most rewarding.

* * *

"Shakespeare has such a wonderful way of saying things. And you have the opportunity to grow in the part. It's very satisfying. I like Shakespeare."

She also likes working in the Stratford company which, incidentally, includes Angela Wood, a former member of the John Fernald Company here.

* *

But life outside the theater is not particularly exciting in Stratford. Karin has no car and must depend on friends with the same time free and a car even to go swimming. The townspeople, she says, view with a bit of suspicion the actors and do not, as a rule, mix with them. This is surprising after 17 years of the Festival.

However, Karin considers her six months in the Ontario city a time well spent. Her first love is for London and she expects to return to the state there sometime.

* * *

But after the Stratford Festival closes, she will come to Oakland University for a few months. Her parents' dream of having their daughter a part of the Meadow Brook Theatre Company will become reality in October.

'Irish Catholics Seek Human Dignity'

From Our AP Wires

Northern Ireland's crusading Bernadette Devlin says the same "simple, honest-to-God demand for human dignity" is behind turmoil in America's poverty areas and the "Catholic slums" of her homeland.

Miss Devlin, at 22 Britain's youngest member of Parliament, told a rally of about 2,000 persons Wednesday night in Los Angeles that she's seen a lot of "the America I really didn't know" in this, her first trip to the United States.

* * *

On her week-old tour of U.S. cities to raise $1 million for rebuilding homes in riot-torn Northern Ireland, she said she is constantly asked her reaction to America.

"I can say now my impression is it's not so much a nation, but a large piece of land where everyone who has ever been oppressed has come to look for a better life," she said

* * *

"I stand solidly behind my fellow citizens of the world, the citizens of America who happen to be a different color than me . . . Like us, they are voicing a simple, honest-to-God demand for human dignity."

The strain of her jammed schedule was noticable as she spoke for only 15 minutes, her grey minidress blowing in a cool summer breeze under the swaying palm trees of Douglas MacArthur Park.

WILL DEBATE

Her aides announced that the National Educational Television network will tape on Tuesday a debate between Miss Devlin and two of the three members of Parliament coming to America as a Protestant Unionist party "truth squad." The location of the debate was not announced.

* * *

She said her money-raising efforts are "encouraging," although she had no estimate of the donations. "The money is coming in very fast, so fast that I haven't been able to keep count," she told a news conference earlier.

* * *

A controversy surrounding the appearance of Miss Devlin in Detroit apparently was resolved Wednesday when the United-Irish American Clubs of Michigan voted to back her fund-raising efforts.

Several Irish-American groups had threatened to boycott Miss Devlin's appearance Friday with the Irish Rovers singing group at Ford Auditorium. The groups expressed suspicion about some of the American groups sponsoring Miss Devlin's visit.

SPONSORS

Miss Devlin's appearance in Detroit is being sponsored by the New Democratic Coalition (NDC) an outgrowth of the Presidential campaign of Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn. Al Fishman, NDC chairman, said there is no possibility that any of the funds raised by the appearance would go to NDC.

* * *

The Detroit News reported Wednesday that Miss Devlin, is being sponsored by the National Committee for Irish Justice. The newspaper said the telephone of the committee is listed in the name of the New York Peace and Freedom Party Organizing Committee, the party which ran Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver for president last fall.

"It could not be determined if there is any link between the National Committee for Irish Justice and the Peace and Freedom Party," the newspaper said.

Daniel P. O'Kennedy, treasurer of the Irish-American Clubs of Michigan, said at a news conference today that about 60 representatives of the club voted with only one dissenting vote to back Miss Devlin.

"We are satisfied the money will go where it belongs," he said.

O'Kennedy said his group would cooperate with NDC in planning and coordinating Miss Devlin's appearance.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

The old saying, "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach" is still true, but today it has a new meaning. Evidence is mounting that too much saturated fat and cholesterol in the diet do contribute to coronary heart disease, the number one threat to a man's life.

★ ★ ★

The food a woman plans and the way it is prepared can encourage or discourage hardening of the arteries. There are other factors which lead to arteriosclerosis, such as too much smoking, lack of exercise, and stress, but it is believed that habits in eating are of great importance.

★ ★ ★

Moderate changes in food intake can make your husband safer, and you too. Here are some suggestions from The American Heart Association.

To control your intake of cholesterol-rich foods:

- Eat no more than three egg yolks a week, including eggs used in cooking.
- Limit your use of shellfish and of organ meats.

To control the amount and type of fat you eat:

- In most of your meat meals for the week, use fish, chicken, turkey, and veal; and limit beef, lamb, pork and ham, to five moderate-sized portions per week.
- Choose lean cuts of meat, trim visible fat, and discard the fat that cooks out of the meat.
- Avoid deep fat frying; use cooking methods that help to remove fat; baking, broiling, boiling, roasting, stewing.
- Restrict your use of fatty "luncheon" and "variety" meats like sausages and salami.
- Instead of butter and other cooking fats that are solid or completely hydrogenated, use liquid vegetable oils and margarines that are rich in polyunsaturated fats.

★ ★ ★

- Instead of whole milk and cheeses made from whole milk and cream, use skimmed milk and skimmed milk cheeses.

Dad Has Crew of Girl Scouts

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP) — Edward Polk has five scouts to man his 27-foot sailboat.

All the female members of his family are involved in different levels of Girl Scouting. Mrs. Polk is a cadette troop leader, Nancy, 15, a Senior, Karen, 13, a Cadette, Victoria 12, a Junior and Teresa, 9, a Brownie.

"I enjoy scouting," Mrs. Polk commented. "I think my daughters enjoy it too. I can't say we are closer or not closer because of scouting, but possibly more than anything else, my children have developed a sense of responsibility."

Three More Engagements Announced

Deborah Gayle Brenner and Dennis R. Burrill have set Nov. 8 as their wedding date. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Brenner of Florence Avenue announce their daughter's engagement and marriage plans.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Burrill of South East Boulevard.

Poppeck-Rice

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Poppeck of Troy announce the engagement of their daughter, Janice K. to Gregory M. Rice. The couple is planning Oct. 25 nuptials.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Rice of Knollwood Road, Pontiac Township, has attended Eastern Michigan University and Oakland Community College.

Davis-Shipman

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Davis of Elizabeth Lake Road announce the betrothal of their daughter, Barbara H., to Michael Craig Shipman.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion A. Shipman of Prairie Lawn Street attends Milton College, Milton, Wis.

Engaged to Wed

Linda Kay Torley and Robert Eric Ford will wed on Oct. 18. Parents of the couple are the Donald Torleys of Delaware Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ford of Troy.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Oakland Community College and the Pontiac Practical Nurse Center. Her fiance received his BA degree from Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Latex Mattresses Have No Lumps

Latex foam mattresses offer unique construction advantages. They are made of single pieces of molded foam rubber covered with ticking.

★ ★ ★

Because of this "cushion" construction, they are lump free, since there is no loose filling or batting to mat in one spot.

Slate Installation of New Beta Sigs

Mrs. Esther Ragland of Kansas City, Mo., international representative of Beta Sigma Phi International, is in Pontiac to install 30 new members of the organization.

★ ★ ★

In a formal candlelight ceremony tonight at Holiday Inn on South Telegraph Road, Mrs. Ragland will confer the Nu Phi degree. Some of the initiates will become members of Phi Gamma Eta chapter; the others will form a new chapter, Phi Gamma Zeta.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac now has 15 chapters of the sorority. Mrs. Robert Schmidt is president of the city council.

Emit Chemicals

Anyone working with farm chemicals should avoid contaminating family and pets by taking a hot, sudsy shower immediately after use. His clothing should be stored in a special closed container for separate washing. This advice comes from a USDA Home Equipment Specialist in Iowa.

Uninvited Guest Disrupts Show of Nature Film

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — Massey School's 4th graders were engrossed in a nature film being shown in their darkened classroom when a deer jumped through a window near the screen on the teacher's desk, scattering text books and papers in all directions.

★ ★ ★

Two male teachers grappled with the deer and finally were able to hold the animal down. The humane society was called.

★ ★ ★

The society sent a taxi to pick up the now frightened deer for the purpose of transporting it back to the forest but the cabbie refused his fare. The deer had to walk home.

Lung Illness Woven Into Cotton-Mill Jobs

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Byssinosis, the respiratory disease of the textile industry, has been like a recurring nightmare which few understand and many have tried to ignore.

The disease, which consumer champion Ralph Nader calls "brown lung," has been a silent companion of textile workers for generations. Yet until a few years ago, Health agencies in textile-producing areas had largely ignored it.

* * *

One study in the South now indicates that 24 per cent of some 370 workers in a North Carolina cotton mill showed traces of the disease.

"We have had the comfortable illusion that byssinosis was not a threat to American workers," said Charles C. Johnson, administrator of the Consumer Protection and Environmental Health Service of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

SCIENTISTS TELL IT

"Now, the scientists in our occupational health program tell me this is far from the truth."

Dr. Arend Bouhuys, director of the section of chest diseases at the Yale-New Haven hospital, says he has learned that "inhalation of airborne cotton dust in certain work areas of textile plants causes acute as well as chronic respiratory symptoms in a relatively large proportion of workers."

Among certain textile jobs, the incidence of byssinosis and other respiratory ailments may be as high as 25 per cent, Dr. Bouhuys reported. He also maintained that long-term exposure to cotton dust may cause "irreversible damage to the function of the lungs."

Byssinosis apparently strikes almost exclusivly against cotton-mill workers, although health officials in North Carolina point out that studies of the effects in synthetic fiber plants have not been made on as large a scale.

Although workers throughout the mills may develop the disease, it generally strikes persons in the carding and spinning rooms, where the air is thick with tiny cotton fibers.

"The dust was so thick that the 300-watt light bulbs in the room looked reddish," said Lacy Wright, who worked in a North Carolina mill for nearly half a century before byssinosis made him change jobs.

"I've seen new employes come in and stay only two or three hours," he added. "It got to where I couldn't breathe down there. The doctor told me to get out."

Few workers seek medical attention until the disease becomes unbearable, partly because most of them have known very little about it.

Dr. C. D. Williams Jr., Charlotte, a pulmonary disease specialist, says of the workers, "Their grandfathers worked in the mills and their fathers did, too, and they always had a bad cough. So the workers don't bother to go see a doctor."

Byssinosis is relatively easy to cure doctors say, unless it has had time to weaken the lungs and bring on more serious ailments. In many cases, a transfer to a new job in a less dusty part of the mill is all that's necessary for a cure. But for some, a transfer can mean a drop in pay or other inconvenience. When Wright developed the disease, he was transferred and it cost him $2.40 a day.

The Textile Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, is clamoring for compensation pay for byssinosis victims and for better filter systems in plants.

The industry acknowledges the problem of worker health and says it is encouraging research into more efficient filter systems.

In an article entitled "Head 'Em Off at the Pass," A. A. Christiansen, editor in chief of Textile World, wrote: "The only thing that appears certain about byssinosis and textiles is that more and more people at various governmental levels are talking about it. And they are raising a cause that the textile industry sooner or later will have to face."

Right or Left? German Vote Will Tell

BONN, Germany (AP) — Next month's election will show on one side whether the right-wing National Democratic party can vault into Parliament and on the other whether Willy Brandt's Social Democrats can cash in on 2½ years of sharing government power.

The final weeks leading up to the Sept. 28 vote may provide the most violent election campaign since Adolf Hitler's rise to power in the early '30s.

* * *

Police leaves have been canceled because leftist demonstrators plan to be out in force at political rallies. Although they will try to disrupt meetings of the Social Democrats and Kurt-George Kiesinger's Christian Democratic party, their special target is the NPD—the National Democrats.

Demonstrators try to occupy NPD meeting halls, toss rocks or fruit, and shout "Sieg heil" and "Nazis out." NPD chief Adolf von Thadden has about 100 speeches planned for the campaign's last month, a schedule that should keep the demonstrators busy.

'NOT NEO-NAZI'

The NPD, which denies claims it is neo-Nazi, was formed in November 1964 and got only 2.1 per cent of the vote in the 1965 national election. A party needs 5 per cent for representation in the Bundestag, or lower house of Parliament.

* * *

Since 1965, Von Thadden has won a power struggle within the party and gained seats in seven of 10 state parliaments. The high point so far came in April 1968 when the NPD won 9.8 per cent of the Baden-Wuerttemberg vote.

* * *

Von Thadden predicts his party will win 8 to 12 per cent of the national vote and place as many as 50 deputies in the 518-member Bundestag.

Many political observers doubt this. Public opinion polls so far show the NPD at about 5 per cent.

'BROWN-SHIRT BID'

A battle in Frankfurt between demonstrators and helmeted NPD guards raised the cry in West Germany's liberal press that the party was using "Brown Shirt methods," a reference to Hitler's Storm Troopers. News pictures showed tough-looking NPD guards and a bloodied youth being carried away on a stretcher.

An NPD spokesman argues that such incidents will help the party. It has been calling for firm measures against demonstrators.

* * *

Others, like the Christian Democrats' parliamentary leader Rainer Barzel, say Germans will reject such violence and keep the NPD under 5 per cent.

If the NPD does win seats in the Bundestag, the other three parties say, they will not form a coalition with Von Thadden. Since it looks now as if neither the Socialists nor Christian Democrats can gain a majority of the vote, another coalition government is likely to result.

FREE DEMOCRATS

The small Free Democratic party is expected to return to the Bundestag and could enter a coalition with one of the two big parties. Or, the grand coalition of Chancellor Kiesinger's Christian Democrats and Foreign Minister Brandt's Socialists could be continued.

In 1965 Kiesinger's party got 47.6 per cent, Brandt's 39.3, with 9.5 per cent for the Free Democrats.

* * *

Dissatisfaction with the coalition and rising radicalism on both the right and the left are factors now.

The election should provide a key test of what has been Socialist strategy for the past decade—an attempt to prove the SPD is a responsible party that deserves to govern.

RECESSION FEUD

West Germany's federal government has been dominated since 1949 by the Christian Democrats. In 1965 they and the Free Democrats formed a coalition under Ludwig Erhard. This collapsed in 1966 when the Free Democrats pulled out in the midst of an economic recession and a dispute over taxes and finance measures.

Brandt's party following a strategy outlined by pipe-puffing Herbert Wehner, saw its first chance to participate in the federal government and took it.

* * *

Some youths took to the streets carrying signs proclaiming a betray, but the leadership was convinced the party could only prove its responsibility to the broad mass of voters by entering the ruling coalition. Men like Brandt and Economics Minister Karl Schiller have been major forces in the coalition.

Brandt has given a new look to West Germany's policy toward the East Bloc. Schiller has shown he knows how to keep the economy purring and has identified his party with economic security—an important election issue.

The party favors immediate signature of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty and, in general, pushes for more contacts with the East Bloc. The tone of Moscow speeches lately might help it. Any menacing Kremlin policies would probably hurt.

The party is hammering away at the theme that it has the best men in the coalition and is the party "creating a modern Germany."

Kiesinger's party is telling West Germans they never had it so good and they should stick to the Christian Democrats.

Public opinion polls indicate their strongest card is Kiesinger. The silver-haired chancellor seems more popular than Brandt, who is running for chancellor for the third time.

Lepers' New Hope: Thalidmide

HONOLULU (UPI) — Thalidomide, the drug blamed for thousands of birth deformities, may be a new aid in the treatment of leprosy.

Recent tests may alter thalidomide's reputation as a crippler of unborn babies to a drug offering hope for leprosy victims. Thalidomide presently is banned from general use in the United States.

* * *

Dr. Ira D. Hirschy, head of the Hawaii Department of Health's Communicable Disease Division, said tests in Hawaii hospitals and at the U.S. Public Health Service hospital in Carville, La., have revealed that Thalidomide is valuable in treating a common reaction to the disease.

The Hawaii tests have taken place in the Hale Mohalu Hospital in Honolulu and at the Kalaupapa Hospital on the island of Molokai, 54 miles east of Honlulu. Kalaupapa is Hawaii's only leprosy settlement.

SOME SYMPTOMS

"Fever develops and places in the body affected by the disease become red, hot and swell up," Hisrchy said, "causing pain and discomfort."

But daily thalidomide doses for a period of up to 10 days have been "very successful" in relieving these reactions, Hirkschy said, "and there has been no evidence of them recurring."

* * *

"It's amazing," he added. "Within 24 hours the swelling and fever go down, making the patient feel much more comfortable. He rests better, eats better and sleeps better."

Hirschy emphasized that thalidomide is "not used on women leprosy patients of childbearing age."

CONTROLLED TESTS

"We've only used the drug on hospitalized patients," he said, "testing it under controlled conditions."

With immigration to Hawaii rising, Hirschy noted that the number of persons being treated for leprosy has increased during the last decade. He said 350 persons are under treatment, 60 per cent of them foreign born.

* * *

Linking thalidomide to leprosy treatment originated about two years ago with Dr. Jaakov Sheskin, an Israeli doctor working in Jerusalem.

* * *

"We tried it out about a year and a half ago," Hirschy said, "and found that although it is not effective against the disease itself, it has a high degree of success in the treatment of this particular reaction, a familiar one in leprosy patients."

The sulfone drugs continue to be the most effective weapons against the disease, he said.

Since the Federal Drug Administration has barred thalidomide from general use in the United States, Hirschy said, the William S. Merrell Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, which supplies the drug to Hawaii hospitals and Carville, received special authorization to distribute thalidomide for the tests.

* * *

"It gives real hope of relief for patients with these particular reactions," Hirschy said.

Canadian Navy Eyes Incident

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — The Canadian navy is investigating complaints that three of its destroyer-escorts played "cowboys and Indians" during weekend exercises, leaving a trail of damage along 10 miles of shoreline.

* * *

A spokesman at the Canadian forces base said Wednesday the ships were steaming about 12 knots during maneuvers Sunday, "which isn't fast when you consider that British Columbia ferries go . . at about 18 or 20 knots."

* * *

"They were just playing cowboys and Indians out there in the inlet," said Percy Perkins, a marina operator. "They went up and down, making sharp turns, and the wash they created was just like a tidal wave."

* * *

Perkins said one of his floats was damaged and several boats were smashed.

* * *

Rod McDonell, another marina operator, said he and a friend went out in a small boat and tried to stop the ships. They were greeted by spray from a fire hose, he said.

Robbed Staff Can't Teller—From Him

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police are seeking a male—or was it a female?—bankrobber who wore lipstick and demanded money from a Michigan Bank branch teller in Detroit Wednesday.

* * *

The teller said she handed $600 to what she thought was a man dressed as a woman after he gave her a note and pulled a gun.

* * *

Other witnesses said the bandit was a woman. The bandit wore blue jeans and a white turtleneck shirt.

Teams Open Sept. 20

Big 10, Irish Await Workouts

CHICAGO (AP) — Almost 900 candidates will start flexing their muscles Friday as the Big Ten and Notre Dame launch practice for the 1969 football season.

Michigan, 1968 runnerup to unbeaten national and conference champion Ohio State, got the practice jump on Big Ten rivals. The Wolverine school, operating on the trimester academic schedule Tuesday began drills for a conference campaign in which league coaches unanimously agree that talent-loaded Ohio State will be the team to beat.

Under NCAA rules, the first three days of college practice will limit athletes to padless drills before they get down to real head-bumping preparation for the Sept. 20 start of the regular season.

SPRING PRACTICE

In a poll based on spring practice, Big Ten coaches tabbed the conference race a contest between overwhelming favorite Ohio State and as many as six possible challengers.

The coaches, including new mentor Bo Schembechler of Michigan, bracketed Indiana, Purdue and Michigan State as strongest threats to Ohio State. They rated as dark horses Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota.

* * *

Numerically, Ohio State's turnout of 75 is well down the list of Big Ten practice personnel, but Coach Woody Hayes — starting his 19th Buckeye season — has no fewer than 18 returning starters from the 22 who climaxed a perfect 1968 season (10-0) with a 27-16 Rose Bowl trimming of Southern California.

* * *

At independent Notre Dame, some 75 hopefuls reported to Ara Parseghian who lost nine offensive starters from the Irish who last year placed No. 5 in the Associated Press final poll easily topped by Ohio State.

"This is the biggest rebuilding job of any unit in my six Notre Dame seasons," said Parseghian, who owns a sparkling composite Irish record of 40-7-3.

Indiana, hoping to repeat its Rose Bowl trip of two years ago, lists the most candidates, a turnout of 103, including 18 starters from an injury-plagued 1968 campaign.

Ohio State, again playing only nine instead of the customary 10 games with a Sept. 27 start against invading Texas Christian, is ineligible for a Rose Bowl encore.

* * *

Eighty or more candidates appear at Purdue (89); Michigan (88); Minnesota (87); Michigan State (81); and Northwestern (80).

Illinois expects 79; Wisconsin 65, and Iowa 62.

Iowa's Ray Nagel, whose Hawkeyes were the Big Ten's No. 1 offensive club last season in a 4-3 tie with Indiana for fifth place, had a good spring drill despite absence of 16 boy-colting Black players, including five defensive starters. That problem still has not been resolved and additionally star fullback Tim Sullivan was lost because of a motorcycle accident.

The Sept. 20 opening card includes: Indiana at Kentucky; Minnesota at Arizona State; Northwestern at Notre Dame; Purdue at Texas Christian; Washington State at Illinois; Oregon State at Iowa; Vanderbilt at Michigan; Washington at Michigan State, and Oklahoma at Wisconsin.

End Shows Speed at 1st U-M Practice

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Mike Hankwitz is fast — fast enough to become the first Wolverine to capture a "champion award" from University of Michigan football coach Bo Schembechler.

* * *

Running was the order of the day in the first of two sessions Wednesday as the Wolverines began bearing down to work themselves into shape for the opening game against Vanderbilt here Sept. 20.

Hankwitz turned in the best time — 4:53—in the mile and Schembechler's new prize for the man making the outstanding effort in practice went to the senior offensive end from Scottsville.

* * *

Schembechler said he was generally pleased with the physical condition of the team and noted that all but three were able to run the mile in less than six minutes and only one player reported back to training weighing more than 240 pounds.

Schembechler said the squad would go through twice-a-day drills until Sept. 5 when school opens and then one-a-day after that.

Bengals Claim Jet Fullback

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — The New York Jets announced Wednesday that fullback Billy Joe, who had been placed on waivers the day before, has been claimed by the Cincinnati Bengals.

* * *

Coach Weeb Ewbank said he might withdraw the waiver, but would leave the decision up to Billy Joe. He has 24 hours to make the decision.

Strike by Caddies Eased

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Frank Beard, Dave Hill, and controversial Ray Floyd rule as the top candidates for the first prize today on the eve of the strike-threatened $100,000 Greater Hartford Open golf tournament.

Among them, they have won eight tournaments this year, well over $300,000 in purses and have been in the forefront of this season's major development—the emerging dominance of some of the younger tour regulars.

The tournament, threatened by a strike of local caddies which the caddy master said would have prevented staging the event, has an unusual Friday through Monday foremat because of the Labor Day weekend.

THREATEN

Some 300 local caddies had threatened to stage a sit-down strike on the grounds if professional touring caddies were used. Some 37 top professionals had shown up with their own bag-toters, but 17 of them—including Jack Nicklaus and Dan Sikes—quickly made other arrangements, and the locals were mollified.

* * *

"I don't know what we'd have done if some of the pros hadn't decided to take the boy assigned to him," caddy master Mike Coyne said Wednesday. Coyne was one of the key figures in solving the dispute.

"We couldn't have moved 300 of them off the course. They were just going to sit there and not let anyone get off the tee."

This event is the last of four qualifying tournaments for the rich Alcan Golfer of the Year to be played in Portland, Ore. Sept. 25-28. As such, it has drawn an extremely strong field.

'World Can Learn From Athletes'

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations said Wednesday that if nations behaved like athletes the world would be more at peace.

* * *

He made the statement at the opening of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships, designated as International Day.

"I wish that we in the United Nations could abide by the rules of our charter, in letter and spirit, as scrupulously as the sportsmen of the world observe the rules and regulations governing their particular field of activity," he said.

"If this were to be the case, we would have a world more at peace than the world as we know it today."

* * *

He offered this as a final thought: "I understand the youth of the world today favor the motto 'make love, not war.'"

Rochester Speedster in Auto Racing Lineup

The Waterford Hills Sports Car Racing Club's 12th annual August Road Races will be Saturday and Sunday on the 1½-mile course on Waterford Road.

The entry list has reached 150 drivers from midwestern states and Canada for the racing weekend for 21 classes of sports cars. Saturday's program begins at 2 p.m. with the first of eight 15-mile events. Sunday's races begin at noon and three of the nine Sabbath events will be over a 22.5-mile distance.

* * *

Chuck Bartlebaugh, a 22-year-old speedster from Rochester, will be seeking his sixth consecutive victory in his McLaren Ford. The slight youngster holds the track record for A-Sports Racing class with a mark of 68.25 miles per hour over the twisting, turning, up-and down-hill course which features 11 corners liberally sprinkled throughout the layout.

* * *

Ken Nielsen, Clawson, the over-all track speed champion in his Formula B Merlyn, established the all-classes record of 69.26 mph in May.

In addition to Bartlebaugh and Nielsen, other sports car record holders will compete.

Entered are: John Greenwood, Pontiac, in an A-production Corvette; Bill Petree, Warren, B-production Corvette; Jeff Lance, Pontiac, C-production titlist, now driving a Lotus 51; Even Mathews, Ann Arbor, in a D-production Lotus Super Seven; and Chris Gahman, Royal Oak, driving an F-production Lotus.

* * *

Garret Van Camp, Farmington, E-production champion in a Porsche, has moved to Formula Vee cars; Dwight Knupp, Southfield, will defend H-production honors in a Sprite; Bill Barber, Birmingham, is in a Lotus XI in C-Sports Racing; and Bill Koch, Columbus, O., drives a G-production Midget.

* * *

An added feature to Sunday's program will be a sky-diving exhibition at 2 p.m. when Conrad Crowton, Michigan 1969 champion, and Lou Schroeder, 1968 titlist, will leap from an aircraft at 5,000 feet and land in front of the grandstand on the west side of the Waterford Hills course.

Benvenuti Must Fight Rodriguez to Retain Title

ROME (AP) — The World Boxing Association says Nino Benvenuti must defend his middleweight championship against Luis Rodriquez, but Benvenuti's manager, Bruno Amaduzzi says the next title defense will be against Fraser Scott.

* * *

Amaduzzi said Wednesday that Benvenuti will defend against Scott, a 21-year-old Seattle fighter undefeated in 19 bouts as a pro, Oct. 4 in Naples.

The WBA had warned Benvenuti that he had to arrange a title fight with No. 1-ranked challenger Luis Rodriquez of Miami by Wednesday or face possible loss of his title.

* * *

Amaduzzi was to go to the United States today to talk with WBA officials and Angelo Dundee, Rodriquez' manager.

Best-Ball Event During Weekend at Rochester CC

A closed field of 136 teams will be on hand Sunday for the start of the seventh annual George Sadowski Memorial Best-Ball Tournament at Rochester Country Club.

On tap will be 18 holes Sunday with an 18-hole wrapup slated for Monday.

* * *

Returning to defend their title will be the twosome of Norm Craven and Joe Brisson.

* * *

Among the leading challengers to the new champions' reign are two-time winners Melvin (Bud) Stevens and Don Mead, along with Rod Sumpter of Grand Blanc and John Ortiz of Flint. Sumpter was low amateur in last week's Michigan Open at Battle Creek.

Turnover Moderate

Stock Mart Opening Is Firm

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened firm on the New York Stock Exchange today in moderate turnover.

There appears to be little in the news to cheer investors.

★ ★ ★

"We're in the traditional pre-Labor Day drift," one analyst commented, "and the fact that we're in a tight money period is not helping very much."

Shortly after the opening, the UPI marketwide indicator showed a gain of 0.36 per cent on 408 issues crossing the tape. There were 174 advances and 119 declines.

DROPS QUARTER

RCA dipped ¼ to 37½ in the electroics, but Honeywell gained a full point to 136, and Sprerry Rand ¼ to 43⅞. Control Data jumped 1⅜ to 49, while General Electric held unchanged at 83½. National Cash Register eased ½ to 55. IBM gained 2¼ to 345.

Jersey Standard dipped ⅛ to 72 among the oils, while Natomas gained ¾ to 96¾, Standard of Ohio ¾ to 114, and Occidential ¼ to 34⅞. Getty fell ½ to 55, and Texaco was unchanged at 33. Atlantic Richfield rose 1¼ to 112½.

★ ★ ★

Ford rose ¼ to 46¼ in its group, with Chrysler up ⅝ to 37⅜. General Motors gave up ⅛ to 71½.

In the chemicals, Du Pont edged up ⅜ to 125⅛. Union Carbide fell ¼ to 43¾.

American Telephone dipped ⅛ to 52⅜.

Judge Will Set Inquest Rules

Sen. Kennedy to Be Witness at Inquiry

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Judge James A. Boyle was expected to lay the ground rules today for the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne. One point already was clear—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will be a witness.

Still to be ruled on were motions filed by lawyers representing persons expected to be called as witnesses at the inquest. The motions dealt with such matters as the right to cross-examine and whether statements could be presented in place of oral testimony.

★ ★ ★

Judge Boyle, who will preside at the District Court inquiry scheduled to begin next Wednesday, said he would see to it that the senator was present—"even if he has to be subpoenaed."

"It is essential that Mr. Kennedy be present as a witness," Judge Boyle said at a preliminary hearing Wednesday.

ASSURES COURT

Kennedy's chief counsel, Robert Clark Jr. of Brockton, assured the court the senator would be present but did not say whether he would testify voluntarily.

Miss Kopechne, 28, died when a car the senator was driving plunged off a bridge into a tidal inlet on Chappaquiddick Island, Martha's Vineyard, July 18.

★ ★ ★

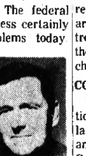
Massachusetts State Police confirmed Wednesday—after once denying it—a Boston Record American report that a trooper had been assigned to protect Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis, who called the inquest.

The state police said Tuesday that the trooper, Cpl. Robert Enos, had been assigned to Dinis' office for investigative purposes. But on Wednesday a spokesman said this was "misinformation."

Business Watchdogs Face New Problems

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — The federal regulators of business certainly have enough problems today not only with the industries they watch but because they are being watched also by critics such as Ralph Nader and others.



CUNNIFF

Nevertheless, here are a couple more problems that Washington may have to handle in greater numbers: reciprocity in buying and selling, the "you buy from me, I buy from you" syndrome; and power concentration in the stock market.

First reciprocity.

★ ★ ★

A large company selling a broad line of products wishes to diversify even more. It looks the field over and decides to buy into a smaller company, one of many companies that make a similar product and with which the larger company trades.

The interest is only a minority one, but the thought occurs to the heads of both companies that, since they are part of one big family now, the large one should buy only from the smaller one, regardless of quality and price.

2 POINTS OF VIEW

It seems reasonable, at least from a selfish and narrow point of view. The regulators, however, are committed to taking a broad view of the marketplace. Reciprocity, the government has said time and time again, unfairly limits competition and injures the competitive opportunities of other companies.

★ ★ ★

Now here's the rub. A surge seems to be under way in corporate purchases of minority interests in other companies. W. T. Grimm & Co., management consulting firm, reports 2,815 outright mergers in the first six months of the year. But it estimates two to three times as many minority purchases.

Will these minority purchases lead to reciprocity? Perhaps not in great numbers. But the already overworked regulators are going to have to watch the trend nevertheless, because they can't be sure unless they check.

COMPETITION CUT?

The issue of power concentration in the stock market is largely one for the Securities and Exchange Commission. Power is being concentrated, there is no argument about that. The question, again, is whether competition is reduced.

Consider the situation in which some mutual fund management companies find themselves these days. Because they wish to reach all segments of the market, these managers come up with different funds for different purposes.

★ ★ ★

There are conservative funds, speculative funds, income funds, capital gains funds and so on. Once a good mutual fund salesman sizes you up there's a very good chance he will produce a fund that suits your purposes.

The question of competition comes up in the buying and selling of stocks by the funds which, in the tradition of the marketplace, should try to outwit each other. But do they never succumb to temptation?

HARD TO PROVE

It's a very difficult thing to prove that the portfolio manager of one fund doesn't communicate his trading plans with the manager of another fund in the same stable, especially since they draw their paychecks from the same source.

It is equally difficult to believe that, in the interests of profits and in reducing losses, such activities do not take place.

★ ★ ★

The importance of the situation is underscored by the tendency of funds to be grouped under one management. Few management companies today are content with just one entry in the mutual fund derby.

Capital Gains Research Bureau recently compiled a list that showed mutual funds had assets of more than $55 billion in the first quarter of the year, and that 61 per cent of these assets were directed by just 13 companies.

"These 13," it reported, "guide the affairs of 55 funds with total assets of about $34 billion."

Thai Leader Confirms U.S. Support Pledge

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The U.S. government has pledged to honor existing agreements with Thailand despite the impending withdrawal of some American troops, Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn said today.

Speaking to newsmen after a meeting of the National Assembly, Thanom said the pledge was contained ina message sent before Secretary of State William P. Rogers' message was sent and did not elaborate fully on its contents. However, he said it "reaffirmed existing agreements the United States has with Thailand." he said the United States would not "turn away" from Thailand in matters concerning the country's security.

★ ★ ★

Turning to the negotiations opening Monday between Thailand and the United States on the gradual withdrawal of some of the 50,000 American troops, Thanom said Thailand wanted only to know about U.S. plans for a reduction in troop strength.

He said he did not know how many troops would be withdrawn but he understood "they will not withdraw immediately, because the situation in Vietnam has not improved." After talking with Thanat and U.S. officials Wednesday, visiting Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., predicted only 1,500 American troops would be withdrawn.

NO THAI CUT

Thanom said Thailand was not considering withdrawing its 12,000 troops from Vietnam even though the United States was cutting back its own forces there.

"The United States most likely will not pull out its troops from Thailand right away," he said. "When the time comes for the pullout, some units are expected to remain here in order to act jointly with Thailand in accordance with the SEATO (Southeast Asia Treaty Organization) pact."

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — I foolishly got caught by conglomerate glamor and bought Avnet around 35. I'd appreciate your opinion. — R.N.

A — I believe Avnet is worth holding as a turnaround though you will need patience while watching and evaluating its emergence from an extended series of adverse circumstances.

Stocks of many respected and well-known electronics firms have been having a generally hard time; conglomerates are seriously depressed, and in addition Amvet has had strikes to contend with as well as shrinking margins from price weakness in color-TV tubes and overcapacity in its copper wire plant.

However, earnings should move up in fiscal 1969-70, aided by cost reduction measures, corporation restructuring and the current uptrend in sales which is expected to continue. Broadened operations are being skillfully integrated through long-term planning by experienced managers.

★ ★ ★

Q — Last January I bought 25 shares of Clary Corp. at 23⅝. My adviser thinks it will be a winner so I've held on. Should I sell if I don't need the cash — W.H.

A — Clary peaked out in July, 1968, at 32¼ and you've ridden it down from its best performance level in 1969. Until earnings are out of the red —they slipped early this year —I don't exepect share price to show any real bounce.

The company's product mix of gyroscopes, small computers and peripheral equipment, mobile homes and housing components suggests areas of potential profitability that could help Clary to become a speculative winner. How long this might take is impossible to predict. The burst of speculative strength in Clary's share a year ago reflected a tripling of earnings between 1966 and 1968, from 16 cents a share to over 50 cents. Since then sales have fallen off 21 per cent, an earnings deficit has appeared and recent acquisitions must be effectively integrated. Your decision to held or to sell depends largely on your temperament because even partial recovery to your cost seems to me rather far away.

IMPACT STUDY — A nationwide accident study to determine the effectiveness of the General Motors side-guard beam began last fall when this 1969 GM car was struck broadside at a California intersection by a car traveling 40 to 50 miles an hour. Though the force of the collision spun this car 180 degrees on dry pavement, the side-guard beam inside the doors prevented the striking vehicle from penetrating the passenger compartment, and the driver was unhurt.

GM Widens Use in 1970

Car Side-Guards Seen Effective

Proving themselves effective under actual collision conditions, side-guard beams developed by Fisher Body engineers will be placed inside the doors of most 1970 General Motors cars.

Fisher Body and GM auto safety authorities agreed on their worth after studying thousands of accident reports and making in-depth observations of damaged cars containing the side-guard beams.

As a result of the study, General Motors has announced it is installing side-guard beams as standard equipment in all of its 1970 intermediate cars, such as the Chevrolet Chevelle, Pontiac Tempest, Oldsmobile F85 and Buick Special. During the 1969 model year, all full-sized GM cars carried the safety feature as an industry first.

* * *

Developed to protect occupants from side collisions, the heavily ribbed structural beams are built into the doors to provide a "guardrail" effect.

SPECIAL PROBLEMS

Side collisions are not as common as front and rear-end collisions, but providing protection from side impacts represented special problems to automotive engineers because of the limited space between the occupants and a striking vehicle.

* * *

Although the side-guard beam was the product of two years of development and severe testing, it was not until it was subjected to actual collisions on the highway during the past model year that its real significance could be evaluated.

* * *

The Safety Research and Development Laboratory at the GM proving grounds in Milford and elsewhere studied 4,500 accident reports. Fifteen per cent of these cases involved cars that were struck in the passenger compartment. About 75 per cent were from an angle.

Engineers concluded what earlier testing had indicated — the side-guard beam encourages the striking vehicle to richochet, thus reducing the severity of the collision.

LESS PENETRATION

They also concluded that when a car equipped with the beam is struck broadside, penetration of the impact is lessened by reducing the tendency of the striking car to override the struck car's frame.

* * *

The boxlike steel beams, which add about 49 pounds to the weight of the standard 4-door sedan, run horizontally inside the door. Additional reinforcement was added to the door hinge pillar and underbodies. Previous advances included heavier hinges and improved latches.

* * *

Although the side-beam structure has sometimes been referred to as "side armor," safety engineers did not expect it to serve as a protection against weapons.

But one of the case studies reported that an occupant of an overtaking car on an interstate highway discharged five 32-caliber pistol bullets into the side of a GM car equipped with the side beam. The slugs were deflected by the beam and the family escaped injury.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that a Public Hearing will be held by the Planning Commission of the Township of Bloomfield, Oakland County, Michigan, on Tuesday, September 2, 1969, at 8:30 o'clock p.m., at the Township Hall, 4200 Telegraph Road, in said Township for the purpose of amending Ordinance No. 169, being the Zoning Ordinance, and that same be amended by revising Paragraph 2 of Section 1510, to read as follows:
Section 1510—Paragraph 2
Residential Fence Regulations
Fences on all lots of record in all Residential Districts which serve as architectural or decorative landscaping, and are not used to enclose property, may be erected in any rear yard and in those areas on a front or side yard which exceed the minimum requirements as specified in ARTICLE XIV, Section 1400 of the Zoning Ordinance, subject to approval of the Board of Appeals.
Architectural fences shall be attached to the principal use structure and shall, when placed in the side or front yard, be of the same material which makes up the major portion of that facade to which attached.
Decorative landscaping fences may be freestanding and may be used to obscure a private area from view from beyond the lot line. If used in this manner they shall not be continuous so as to enclose more than 50% of the lineal length of any yard. The height of said fence shall not exceed four (4) feet, measured from the surface of the ground.
All persons interested are requested to be present.

He Apes Apes, Keeps Puffing

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — As everyone who has tried to give up cigarettes knows, it's tough to break the habit when you hang around with a bunch of heavy smokers. And if your companions are baboons who smoke four packs a day, it's enough to make you go ape.

Henry Swanson Jr., 32, has been trying to stop smoking for a year.

* * *

But he has to spend most of his time with three live baboons who are all as crazy over smoking cigarettes as eating bananas.

* * *

Swanson is a caretaker for the animals who are part of a Louisiana State University School of Medicine research project on the effects of smoking on hardening of the arteries.

Swanson, who has been smoking since he was 12, says "mostly lack of will power" keeps him puffing. But lighting up four packs a day for the baboons would put a strain on anyone's will power.

His heaviest smoker is "007," who got started when, in the interest of science, he was rewarded with a banana every time he took a puff on a cigarette held at the edge of his cage.

Then the other two baboons started smoking, too, perhaps to keep up with "007," and now the three are permanent residents of a smoke-filled room at the school. For "007," it's three packs a day, the other two a half-pack apiece.

MAJOR DEATH FACTOR

Dr. Jack P. Strong, head of the school's pathology department and director of the program, says hardening of the arteries is a major factor in the death of most of the world's male population.

The baboons were brought into the program after he and a team of physicians made a trip to Kenya.

* * *

They said they found striking similarities between baboons and humans in areas of sickness. Hence the research into hardening of the arteries. In addition to teaching the baboons to smoke, the researchers have introduced them to a high-cholesterol menu similar to what the American male eats.

When the baboons die, autopsies will be performed to determine whether there are significant differences between the condition of their internal organs and those of their nonsmoking brothers.

Hughes Called Ideal Boss; His Hirelings Never See Him

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The greath myth named Howard Hughes is one of the best of all Show Business bosses "because he's invisible — you never see him — while all the other bosses are always putting their 2c in."

WILSON

"Yet in an eerie way you know that Howard Hughes is aware of what you're doing. You feel that he's got you wired for sound."

Don Arden, who has 150 beautiful girls working for him and still likes beautiful girls, delivered this opinion while waiting for his new "Holiday on Ice" revue to open at Madison Sq. Garden this week.

"I was producing the 'Pzazz '70' show at Hughes' Desert Inn," Arden said. "One day the ax fell. I got the message from upstairs. Upstairs says 'No nudes.' I had some beautiful nudes, too. So I said, 'Thanks a lot, I'll get some body stockings.' We did a beautiful show without nudes. It got raves.

"In the script we had one pretty rough line. Nobody from upstairs was in to see the rehearsal but one day I got another message. That line was to come out! Now how did he know?"

Rumors that Hughes checks on everything in his hotels with closed circuit TV are current in Vegas. Arden only knows that he likes to work for him. "It's wonderful," he says, "to work for a boss you never see."

(My secretary agrees with that.)

Police Hunt 2 Robbery, Fire Suspects

City police today are searching for two men, both about 30 years old, who are believed to have robbed a city girl of $70 cash yesterday and set her house on fire.

Lovie Ann Lodge, 20, of 22 Crawford told police two men woke her up about 11 a.m. yesterday and told her to give them all her money. One of the men held a revolver to her head while the other rifled her purse, she said.

* * *

When the pair left the house, the victim ran downstairs and discovered a fire in a downstairs bedroom. She told police she thought the two robbers also started the fire.

Fire officials this morning said they found fuel oil spread on the floor of the room. The fire was brought under control within a short time, but damages were estimated at $6,000 to the bedroom and furniture.

Allies Regain Captured Tank

SAIGON (AP) — An American tank that the Vietcong captured from allied troops nearly three years ago was recaptured today by U.S. and South Vietnamese troops.

U.S. Green Berets and South Vietnamese irregulars found the World War II-vintage M41 tank in a large enemy underground arms cache 12 miles northeast of Tay Ninh City. Carrying a 76mm cannon, the tank was still in operating condition.

It apparently was one of three captured by the Vietcong on March 23, 1966, when a strong enemy force attacked the headquarters of a government armored regiment 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

* * *

Vietnamese Air Force fighter-bombers destroyed two of the tanks as their captors fled north along a highway, but the third tank was never located.

A Short Holdup

HALIFAX (AP) — Employes of a bank thought the 6-year-old was just playing around the cash drawer. Then he and four companions ran out of the bank and the cash drawer was $1,360 short.

Police caught them two blocks away.

Boone Clings to Image

PAT BOONE
By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

The white shoes are still part of the image, but now they're dapper white leather with fashionable silver buckels. About 14 summers ago, Pat Boone, now 35, would have been in white bucks.

Boone was in the area yesterday for a promotional stint at the State Fair Among numerous business investments, he is a partner in the Wendell-West Real Estate Co.

* * *

Boone, who hit the teen market big in the mid-'50s, was impeccably dressed in a bone double breasted suit with slanted pockets and slightly flared trousers. A cherry shirt and matching tie accented his California tan.

* * *

Though not in Detroit as an entertainer, the lean six-footer said he still periodically does the nightclub and state fair scenes.

KEEPS HIS FANS

To his pleasure, most of his fans who are also in their mid-30s, have remained with him.

"The younger kids still recognize me largely because they see so many of my films on television," he said.

* * *

"If they didn't know the records to begin with, they eventually get around to hearing them as 'oldies but goodies,'" he laughed.

* * *

Speaking of the wide spectrum of ages he appeals to, Boone said he feels it is because people always have been able to trust him to provide clean entertainment, and they can bring every member of their family to see him.

TV MYSTERY

Boone has already filmed a television murder mystery with Sammy Davis to be seen this fall.

In September he will be on location in New York for his next movie, "The Cross and the Switchblade".

* *

The film is a documentary on the life of a minister, the Rev. David Wilkerson, who works in the slums of Brooklyn.
