Chrysler Planning a $100-Million Community in Troy

ATLANTA (AP) — Chrysler Corp. announced plans yesterday for a $100-million community to be built on a 1650-acre site in Troy.

The Troy project is on land which the firm bought 11 years ago for plant expansion but instead it will become a community for 20,000-30,000 people, said Ed Homer, president of Chrysler Realty Corp.

Chrysler announced earlier this month it had bought a 764-acre estate in Bloomfield and West Bloomfield for another residential subdivision.

Homer said he was working with Troy city officials and hoped to start construction in October on the first unit, a 90,000-square-foot, two-story office complex which will be the home of Chrysler Realty.

"We don't intend to build any homes but will work with selective developers after we do the master planning," Homer said.

Minoru Yamasaki, internationally known architect and planner and a Troy resident, laid out the master plan for the area which includes a 40-50 acre man-made lake along with several parks and possibly a golf course.

★ ★ ★

The new Troy project will include homes, apartments and retail stores, but there are no plans for any industry.

★ ★ ★

The previously announced Bloomfield development will be primarily residential. The Troy project will be located on a parcel of land on I-75 near the Crooks Road exit.

TOWN-HOUSE COMPLEX

Homer also disclosed his division is building a 360-unit town-house complex on a 60-acre site near the north campus of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

"We own the land and we are building in conjunction with an experienced builder and then we will lease the property," he said.

Chrysler Realty was set up last year with the main job of administering Chrysler-owned dealer facilities but it has diversified.

20,000 Mass in Prague to Protest Soviet Seizure

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovaks massed today on Vaclavske Namesti, Prague's main square, in a violent demonstration against the Soviet-led occupation and the arrest of their reform-minded Communist chief, Alexander Dubcek.

Ignoring requests by the clandestine Prague radio to maintain calm to avoid giving the foreign soldiers an excuse for further violence, a crowd of about 20,000 shook their fists at the Russians and shouted: "Russian murderers go home!"

They called for Dubcek's release.

The move came as Czechoslovak Communists, reacting to the occupation by 200,000 Russian and Kremlin-line satellite troops, convened in an extraordinary party congress that its liberal leadership had originally scheduled to open Sept. 9.

This was a last-ditch attempt to force the troops to leave through political pressure.

The seven Central Committee members who have declared loyalty to the Soviet-led occupation troops, tried to shift today's meeting to the party-owned Praha Hotel.

The calling of the congress was another attempt to discredit the pro-Soviet members of the Presidium.

Dubcek himself was still in Soviet custody, along with other leading members of his liberal regime.

The radio said a general strike started in the South Bohemian district to protest the occupation.

Czechoslovak secret police, who have kept in the background since Dubcek took over in January, were arresting prominent writers and journalists.

Witnesses reported hundreds of political prisoners were arriving at Pankrac Prison.

Czechoslovakia's president, Ludvik Svoboda, and Parliament insisted that the Russians and their allies — Poles, East Germans, Hungarians and Bulgarians — free captive liberal leaders and go home, leaving the nation to pursue its freer brand of communism.

U.N. ACTION

While some of Czechoslovakia's leaders were working from clandestine locations, diplomats fought back at the United Nations today with support from Western powers.

The United States, Britain, France and four other countries demanded today that the U.N. Security Council condemn the Soviet Union and its Warsaw Pact allies for armed intervention in Czechoslovakia. They asked for an immediate withdrawal without violence or reprisals.

The seven submitted their demand in a resolution to the Security Council as it resumed debate in emergency session on the Czechoslovak crisis. Joining the big three Western powers were Canada, Brazil, Denmark and Paraguay.

The Western powers were aware that their resolution faced certain big power veto from the Soviet Union. But they were seeking the biggest support possible in the Council, believing that would have maximum impact on world opinion and might influence Soviet actions in Czechoslovakia.

Radio Prague, meanwhile, operating from a secret location since Russians occupied its regular quarters, broadcast an unconfirmed report that the commander of the Soviet troops, Gen. Ivan G. Pavlovsky, demanded that government members still free form a new cabinet without followers of Dubcek.

The broadcast said the general was reported to have threatened that, if this was not done by tonight, the Russians would form a new government with persons of their own choice.

★ ★ ★

Another transmission of the proliberal station said members of the party Central Committee who have aligned themselves with the occupation troops were meeting at the Soviet Embassy to form a new hard-line regime.

Chrysler Stressing Safety, New Look on 1969 Models

By JERRY T. ROBBINS
City Editor, Pontiac Press

ATLANTA, Ga. — Chrysler Corp. is putting the emphasis on all-new look and passenger safety for 1969. This was evident here yesterday and today when the third largest auto manufacturer rolled out its 1969 models for more than 300 newsmen at the national news preview.

Newsmen will have an opportunity to drive many of next year's cars later today at Stone Mountain near Atlanta. Pontiac area residents will get their first look at the new Chrysler products next month in dealer showrooms.

★ ★ ★

Heading the long list of new cars and trucks is the Dodge Dart Swinger. The Swinger 340 is powered by a 340-cubic-inch V8 engine and is equipped with heavy-duty suspension, four-speed manual transmission and wide-tread tires. It is especially designed for car-performance buffs with a low budget, Chrysler executives said.

★ ★ ★

Glenn E. White, Chrysler Corp. vice president and general manager — Chrysler-Plymouth Division, labeled the new models "the finest lineup of cars we have yet introduced."

The '69s include such new features as:

Press Newsman to Cover Dems

Behind the bombast, hidden by gavel-thumping and delegation polling, are the colorful sidelights that make an American political convention a unique event.

Covering the oddities of the Democratic National Convention in Chicago will be Pontiac Press Managing Editor Harry J. Reed.

REED

He'll be with the Oakland County delegation, reporting their opinions on the ever-fascinating political explosion called a convention.

When the presidential stampede starts on that important state-by-state vote, he'll be out in front, running backward and counting noses.

If there are back-room deals, he'll seek them out, and bring to Pontiac Press subscribers the essential background that makes convention coverage significant.

Security Report Due This Week

An evaluation of security at Pontiac State Hospital will be submitted to the state attorney general's office late this week, according to Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson.

Bronson's staff has been investigating hospital security and treatment policies with the avowed aim of "protecting the citizens of the surrounding community." The prosecutor reports he will soon be ready to make some positive recommendations.

★ ★ ★

A call for examination of practices of the hospital came last June after a 19-year-old female patient was slain by a male inmate. Bronson said two other inmates, sent to the hospital from the state prison at Ionia for mental treatment, had walked away and subsequently had been involved in crimes.

★ ★ ★

Last week, Bronson sent two of his staff for a tour of the facilities. Hospital officials were quizzed on policy of treatment and security of inmates.

RECOMMENDATIONS NEAR

Bronson's staff has continued their study of the hospital this week. Bronson said he will soon be ready to "make some positive recommendations to better protect county citizens."

★ ★ ★

"I am concerned with the security at the hospital and will soon be ready to take steps to insure our citizens' safety," he said.

Area Girl Tells of Czech Visit

"The city looked awful," commented 14-year-old Marsha Johnson about her brief visit to Bratislava, Czechoslovakia, 13 days ago.

Miss Johnson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johnson of 7005 Hogback Lake, Springfield Township, visited that country with 21 other area people on a tour.

The group, which went into Czechoslovakia by bus, was supposed to stay for eight hours, but left after three because they felt so uncomfortable, claimed Miss Johnson.

She described how the border soldiers carrying machine guns walked around checking fields and watching people closely.

"The people didn't smile, they looked poor — their clothes looked maybe 15 years old. It looked like maybe a depression.

A Clarkston High School student, Miss Johnson and 10 other students went on a trip to Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Liechtenstein planned by a German teacher at Clarkston High School. Eleven adults also went on the trip.

Aspirant Talks Urged

CHICAGO (AP) — Supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy pressed today to have Democratic presidential candidates address next week's national party convention after plans for a face-to-face debate between candidates collapsed.

Stephen A. Mitchell, McCarthy's convention manager, said he would demand the needed rules change at today's Rules Committee session.

A debate between McCarthy and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, leading contenders for the party's presidential nomination, has been part of the Minnesota senator's strategy to help him win the bid to lead the Democratic slate.

Related Stories, Pages A-11, A-14, C-10, C-11

Humphrey was scheduled tentatively to debate McCarthy on television tomorrow night but cancelled the appearance because of the Soviet bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia and demands by two other candidates—Sen. George S. McGovern and Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox—that they be included.

OPPOSES 'CUSTOM'

Mitchell told a news conference today he hopes the convention speeches will be permitted despite what he said is the coolness toward the idea by Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey.

Mitchell said he opposed what he called "a senseless custom to have all candidates hide behind a curtain and have one of them emerge (after their nomination) like an angel. 'We think that any candidate for the presidency who is a legitimate candidate" should address the convention.

The rules group was also to consider recommendations by both the McCarthy and Humphrey camps for abolition of the unit rule binding an entire state's delegation to the candidate favored by the majority.

★ ★ ★

The McCarthy forces were crowing today about a new public opinion poll by the Chicago Sun-Times, which showed McCarthy leading Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon in Illinois but putting Humphrey behind the GOP candidate.

Ike's Condition Same Despite Heart Spasms

45 Civilians Die in Saigon Shelling

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy rockets smashed into the center of Saigon for the first time in two months today, and mortars hit more than a dozen other cities and allied installations in a fifth straight day of widespread enemy attacks.

Heavy ground fighting also was reported at half a dozen points.

Military communiques reported 45 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 117 wounded in the rain of more than 500 rockets and mortars that hit Saigon and cities to the northwest and south. A Japanese news correspondent also was killed in the attack, becoming the 19th correspondent to die in the war. Only five Americans were reported wounded.

Two rockets crashed into the National Assembly building in downtown Saigon. The explosion tore off part of the roof and smashed several windows in the Caravelle Hotel, where many Americans were sleeping. There were no reports of any Western civilians being hurt.

GI SHOT IN BACK

An American soldier was fatally shot in the back while cycling in downtown Saigon. The shooting touched off a running motorcycle gun battle that left a South Vietnamese soldier and one of the three Vietnamese assailants wounded. The wounded assailant was later captured.

The intensified pace of the war included shellings and ground attacks against at least six allied bases blocking invasion routes into Saigon and a fifth straight day of heavy fighting for control of a road 40 miles northwest of Saigon. The road is a vital supply route for American forces astride a key Vietcong infiltration corridor leading from Cambodia.

A senior U.S. officer said the stepped up fighting across the country — with more than 1,400 enemy troops reported killed since last Sunday—"could be the start of the long-awaited third Vietcong offensive."

The officer conceded that it is "always possible" the latest attacks, mainly those on allied bases, may have been a diversionary move to distract allied forces while enemy troops maneuvered into position for a subsequent ground attack on Saigon.

New Trial Barred in '57 Murder Case

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Robert L. Templin has ruled out a new trial, for the second time this year, for a 36-year-old convicted murderer serving a sentence in Southeastern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Edward L. Drew was convicted by a jury in February 1958 of the 1957 slaying of a 63-year-old Commerce Township grocer, Karl Kolm, in the grocer's store.

* * *

Drew's court-appointed attorney David F. Breck, requested a new trial on the basis that Drew had not given a confession voluntarily.

* * *

After several hearings, concluded this week, and testimony by a number of officers involved in the case, Templin found that the confession was voluntary.

Breck has indicated he will appeal the ruling.

State to Seek Hearing Delay on I-696 Suit

State Highway Department attorneys were to ask today for a two-week delay of a hearing on a suit concerning the route of I-696 in southern Oakland County.

The suit has been filed by Lathrup Village and Pleasant Ridge and seeks to prevent a binding decision by arbitrators regarding the route.

The Highway department attorneys said they needed more time to prepare for the case, filed recently in Oakland County Circuit Court.

The hearing has been scheduled for next Tuesday by Circuit Court Judge Arthur E. Moore.

HEARINGS CONTINUE

Meanwhile, hearings by the special three-man arbitration panel continued yesterday, and highway officials announced updated cost figures for the roadway.

Officials said the costs had to be updated because land values have changed since original estimates were made for two of the disputed routes two years ago.

* * *

New estimates show the proposed 11-Mile Road route to be about $18 million cheaper than the 10½-Mile Road route that is favored by at least one community involved.

Attorneys for Lathrup Village residents spent yesterday at the Oakland County Courthouse cross-examining highway officials on the new cost estimates. Lathrup residents favor the more expensive 10½-Mile route because it avoids their business district.

$50-MILLION ROUTE

Updated total cost figures showed the 10½-Mile route to cost about $50,221,000 while the 11-Mile route would cost about $32,264,000, according to highway officials.

The arbitration hearings resume next Thursday.

Dodge Unveils 2 Models

The 1969 Dodge Polara and Monaco models feature new exteriors, high-styled interiors and new options to improve the model this year, Dodge officials announced today in unveiling these contenders in the medium-priced car range.

Both cars maintain the same basic body design but the two models exhibit new grille and rear-end styling.

* * *

The Polara and Monaco models will be on display at dealerships in September. Dealers in this area are Spartan Dodge, 855 Oakland; Hunter Dodge, 499 S. Hunter, Birmingham; Kessler Auto Sales, 10 N. Washington, Oxford; and Lloyd Bridges Traveland, 1010 W. Maple, Walled Lake.

* * *

The Polara will be available in six models for 1969, the Polara 500 in two. The Monaco will be available in five models with special Monaco Brougham and Monaco 500 packages offered for the new model year.

FEATURED MODELS

Both model lineups will feature a two-door hardtop, four-door sedans, four-door hardtops and two and three-seat station wagons. The Polara and Polara 500 also include convertibles and Monaco has a new high-luxury Brougham.

* * *

An exclusive optional time on the Polara and Monaco models is a new high-powered 40,000-candlepower light mounted on the grill. It is designed to be used for night driving, decreasing excessive glare for oncoming drivers.

Ventless windows will be a feature of air-conditioned two-door hardtops. Fiberglass tires will be available on all models. Another improvement is fuller-width rear seats in convertibles and concealed windshield wipers.

A performance-oriented Belvedere series which adds a convertible to the Road Runner models and a four-door sedan to the Sport Satellite.

A new 'Cuda 340' series, available in hardtop or fastback, is introduced in the Barracuda line. And keeping in tune with the times, a yellow flowered-print vinyl mod-top roof is optional on the hardtop. Also available for the first time on the fastback are four vinyl roof colors.

NEW CHARGER GRILL

A new Charger 400 model sports a fastback rear window and flush-mounted grille.

In addition to the many safety features being made standard or continued standard as a result of federal regulations, Chrysler Corp. is introducing several other safety-oriented items.

Among these are new instrument panels with instruments recessed behind the panel and with all instruments and controls clustered directly in front of the driver; an optional new tilt-type steering wheel which can be adjusted to seven positions, and recessed windshield wipers on Fury, Chrysler and Imperial models.

Birmingham Area

DAR Prodding Unfurls True Council Colors

BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners had a change of heart this week, and as a result, the Piety Hill Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution is happier.

The DAR asked for reconsideration and finally got approval for its request to have the city fly its American Flags throughout the downtown business district during Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23.

* * *

The commission had rejected the chapter's original request at last week's meeting. The main reason cited for denial then was the cost involved in putting up and taking down the city-owned flags every day for a week.

City manager R. S. Kenning estimated the cost for the week would be about $125. The commission expressed sentiments that Constitution Week could be recognized in the city in other, more economical, ways.

DECISION REVERSED

However, action at this week's meeting reversed the decision. Appearing on the agenda was a letter from Betty Q. Hoard, chairman of Constitution Week for the Piety Hill chapter, asking for reconsideration.

* * *

In her letter she pointed out that the President of the United States had declared Constitution Week. It also stated that "a demonstration of support for the ideals upon which our country has been founded has never been more important than at this particular time."

* * *

She urged commissioners to "find it in your hearts and in the city budget" to fly the flags.

In closing she also reminded commissioners that three years ago the Piety Hill chapter, in response to the City's request, purchased 10 large flags for the downtown district with funds from its own "slim treasury."

DECIDING FACTOR

Her final argument may have been the deciding factor in moving commissioners to change their minds. At any rate, in a revote on a new resolution, the commission passed the request, 6-1.

So now Constitution Week will be observed in Birmingham with more than a presidential proclamation as flags will be flying every day, Sept. 17-23.

5 Inmates Die; Hostages Safe

Ohio Prison Rebellion Crushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A rebellion by Ohio Penitentiary inmates was crushed by police and National Guardsmen, who blasted through prison walls to rescue nine penitentiary guards held hostage for nearly 30 hours.

Five of the inmates who had threatened to burn the guards to death were killed in the attack, and 10 others were injured. The hostages escaped injury.

* * *

State Corrections chief Maury C. Koblentz said the inmates "overplayed their hand and lost." The inmates had threatened to kill the hostages if certain demands weren't met or if a rescue by force was attempted.

"They had won two big items but lost everything when they ignored our ultimatum," Koblentz said.

15 MINUTES TO SURRENDER

That ultimatum, delivered at 2:30 p.m. yesterday, gave the inmates 15 minutes to surrender and release the guards.

The fifteen minutes passed, the hostages were not freed and two dynamite blasts were set off seconds apart. One shattered the outside wall of cells where the prisoners were, the other ripped the roof off the cell block.

Columbus policemen, state highway patrolmen and National Guardsmen streamed through the hole in the wall and down ropes from the roof.

The nine hostages were freed a few minutes later. The rebellion by about 300 of the 2,500 prison inmates was over.

Warden Marion Koloski said five inmates were shot to death. Another was injured critically when the wall fell on him. One inmate was found with his throat slashed, and authorities believe the critical wound was inflicted by other inmates.

No Early End Seen for Teacher Housing Lack

No immediate solution to housing for Pontiac teachers is in sight, a school official said last night.

Schools Business Manager Vernon Schiller reported to the board of education that the best housing plan is a cooperative agreement with the Michigan Credit Union League, and it could be two years before housing is secured.

* * *

He revealed that under the school code, the school board could only buy, build or lease apartment housing with the approval of the voters.

Schiller said this plan is still a possibility for the future.

PROBABLE COURSE

Thomas Everitt, immediate past president of the Pontiac Education Association, said teachers probably would pursue the credit union plan unless other sources of revenue were found.

Everitt and Mrs. Cornelia Jackson are studying the housing problem under a National Education Association grant.

* * *

Their project is called HELP (Help Educators Live in Pontiac).

HELP is just what they are screaming in an effort to find housing for some 235 new teachers who are coming to the school system.

CONTACT REQUESTED

They ask that anyone who has housing for rent to contact them at the PEA office, 3513 Elizabeth Lake.

Officials are concerned because of a high turnover rate — about 15 per cent — of teachers, particularly Negroes, each year. Housing is one reason for the turnover.

* * *

Schiller said the Michigan Credit Union is interested in financing the cooperative housing project under a new federal Housing Authority section providing for moderate and higher-income housing.

The credit union would finance the project themselves and with funds from other lending institutions.

Russians Label Dubcek Traitor

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union condemned Czechoslovak Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek today as a betrayer of Communist ideals, and said its military intervention is a friendly act resisted only "by a few hot heads."

In the first Soviet public personal attack on Dubcek, the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda said he led a minority faction that supported counter-revolution.

It said he and his supporters used recent summit meetings with other Communist bloc leaders "only to gain time."

The liberal leaders planned to transform the Czechoslovak Communist party into a "shapeless and lost organization," Pravda said.

'TROOPS KEEPING CALM'

Calling the dispatch of Soviet bloc troops into Czechoslovakia an international duty to protect communism, the Soviet press said the soldiers are "keeping calm and displaying self-control and friendliness."

Viktor Mayevsky, one of Pravda's top writers, said in a dispatch from Prague that "unfortunately, goaded by the appeals of Prague Radio and television, a few hotheads were influenced, so isolated provocations could not be avoided." But he did not describe the fighting that Czechoslovak broadcasts said had caused hundreds of casualties.

* * *

Mayevsky said Soviet bloc soldiers had been chatting with Prague citizens and "sometimes these conversations are calm, sometimes stormy."

Other articles said the troops are "ready to help the Czechoslovak people in this difficult hour."

Gov. Spiro Agnew Speaks In Detroit

Industrial Park Drawings Reviewed by Airport Unit

The Oakland County Airport Committee this week reviewed preliminary drawings for the proposed development of an industrial park in the northwest corner of the Oakland Pontiac Airport in Waterford Township.

Initial designs for the development of the 47-acre site were presented to the three-man committee by Joseph Joachim, director of facilities and operations for the county's board of auditors.

* * *

The group, made up of members of the county board of supervisors is chaired by Wallace F. Gabler of Royal Oak. The other members are Elbert M. Wilmot of Pontiac and Rolland F. Webber of Birmingham.

After discussing the feasibility of such a project the committee passed a resolution requesting that the board of supervisors call a joint meeting of the county's airport, aviation, building and grounds and ways and means committees to further study the plan.

2 DESIGNS SUBMITTED

The county's engineering department submitted two possible development designs which would allow light industrial and office use in the area and would also provide airport access.

The designs, according to Joachim, would allow up to 36 lots on the parcel ranging in size from 75 by 150 feet up to 300 by 375 feet. Up to 21 lots, depending on the design, would have direct taxiway frontage.

The industrial park would be serviced not only by the taxiway but also by one or two cul de sacs which would connect with main thoroughfares, Joachim said.

The cost of the development was estimated by engineers at either $469,360 or $504,000 depending on which plan was chosen. The money would be spent to plot the site and install taxiway and road facilities as well as sewers, water, and other utilites.

Committee members agreed that the cost for development of the site would be offset by the potential income from tenants.

'New Towns' Concept Is Outlined

DETROIT (AP) — Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, Republican vice presidential nominee, outlined a "new-towns" concept yesterday and proposed nationally standardized welfare payments.

The proposal for the establishment of new towns — carefully planned communities on undeveloped and underdeveloped land outside our larger cities — is designed to create a new environment for the frustrated slum dweller, he said.

* * *

The governor described his speech before the national convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars as "my first skirmish in the combat zone" since he was chosen two weeks ago by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, GOP presidential nominee, as his running mate.

National standardization of welfare benefits, he said, would make "it less attractive for persons in lower economic environment to migrate to the cities and to states where larger payments are available.

'VISIONARY' IDEA

Agnew said his new-town idea is visionary and would involve federal, state and local governments, but only in the beginning.

"The role of governments," he continued, "Would be to assemble the land, provide the utilities and amenities, bring a good transportation to fruition, and—through tax incentives and a ready labor market—encourage private enterprise to locate new business and industry nearby."

State Allocates $1.2 Million for County Mental Health

The Oakland County Community Mental Health Services Board has been allocated $1,260,055 by the state to help support a matchable program for fiscal year, 1968-69, totaling $1,680,073.

The announcement of the state allotment for the mentally ill and the mentally retarded was made in a letter to Paul N. Averill, board chairman, from Dr. Philip B. Smith, director of community services, Michigan Department of Mental Health.

* * *

Averill said this was the largest state support allocation made to the Board in its five-year history. In the previous fiscal year, the Board was granted $874,445 by the state.

In addition to this state allotment, Averill pointed out that the Board's community mental health programs receive funds from the county under the 75 per cent to 25 per cent matching formula; United Fund support of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinics Inc; federal staffing grants for Pontiac State Hospital's Community Mental Health Center and from fees paid for certain services provided by the Board.

ALLOCATION ITEMIZED

The board's budget allocation is itemized as follows:

Outpatient services, $876,882 for the Community Mental Health Clinics at Pontiac General and Providence Hospital, Pontiac State Hospital's emergency clinic, Child Guidance Clinics, and a proposed child diagnostic and development facility.

Inpatient services, $113,387 for the various local hospitals and a proposed day-night and day-care service; rehabilitation services, $386,981 for the mentally retarded at Oakland Training Institute, New Horizons, and a planned northern branch of the Oakland Training Institute.

Consultative services, $103,064 at Pontiac State Hospital's Community Mental Health Center for care giving agencies and the general public; board administration, $139,406; program evaluation, $73,897; Central Intake and Referral, $22,960; and public information activities, $14,040.

* * *

Averill said the proposed child diagnostic and development facility, day-night and day care services, and the planned northern branch of O.T.I. were in the drawing board stage at present, but when completed would serve to expand and strengthen the board's "circle of care" for the county's mentally ill and mentally retarded.

In another planning area, the board said that part of its total program and budget request submitted to the state for approval was funding for additional staff personnel to meet the increased service needs of the courts.

Approval of this program has been delayed pending further clarification of contract arrangements and administrative responsibilities.

Southern Oakland County Residents Irked

Many Homes Still Darkened From Storm

DETROIT (AP)—Storm damage in a cluster of Oakland County communities just north of Detroit continued to resist solutions Wednesday and to irritate home owners tired of doing without modern essentials such as electricity and telephones.

Gov. Romney sent an inspection team to the area where rain and winds last to the area where rain and winds knocked down trees and flooded sewage systems in Royal Oak, Berkley, Huntington Woods, Ferndale and Pleasant Ridge.

* * *

Berkley City Manager Howard Crenshaw estimated that cleaning up would cost $100,000 and take 30 days to complete. Cost estimates in the other suburbs ranged above $10,000.

But the rasping whine of power saws cutting up fallen trees was joined by area residents angered by the delay in restoration of utilities.

LINEMEN ON STRIKE

Some 800 overhead linemen, members of Electrical Workers Local 17, remained on strike against the Detroit Edison Co. That strike appeared to affect restoration of electricity by Edison and telephone service by Michigan Bell.

The union, according to Dean Hess, assistant business manager, considered insufficient a company offer of an 83 cents-an-hour raise over three years. Hess said the union earlier had told the utility that supervisory personnel alone could not meet an emergency such as the storm brought.

* * *

Both union and utility employer were getting phone calls yesterday from irate residents.

The union reportedly had refused Gov. Romney's request to return to work long enough to repair power lines. Edison, in turn, reportedly had refused the union's offer to go back if the company would accept binding arbitration of the wage dispute.

* * *

With the linemen's strike 82 days old Tuesday, utility failure was reported reduced to some 400 homes four days after the storm struck. Despite complaints yesterday of new breakdowns an Edison spokesman said more than 100 repair crews were assigned to the area.

Rights Unit Gets Walled Lake OK

WALLED LAKE — The City Council has approved the adoption of a Human Relations Commission for the city.

The commission will be made up of five men to be appointed by the mayor subject to council approval, said Royce Downey, city manager.

* * *

David Hasse, an official of the Oakland County Road Commission, spoke to the council regarding the Wellsboro-Pontiac Trail storm drainage district. He asked that the city finance the installation of a drainage system underneath the Grand Trunk railroad right-of-way at the Pontiac Trail crossing.

Hasse said the drainage system would help alleviate the flooding condition periodically experienced by the district residents.

INVESTIGATION AUTHORIZED

The council authorized the city engineer and City Manager Downey to investigate the storm drainage installation.

Other council action included the appointment of Ralston Calvert of 3782 Watuga as city electrical inspector.

Lake Orion Schools Trim Tax Slightly

LAKE ORION — Tax levies will total slightly less in the Lake Orion Community School District during the 1968 tax year.

The board of education last night agreed on a total school tax of 23.75 mills.

The tax reflects 18.56 operational mills and 5.19 mills for debt retirement.

Last year's debt retirement was six mills while the operational tax was 18.46 for a total of 24.46 mills.

"The debt retirement reduction was made possible by the increase of total school valuation of about $4 million while the operational tax is up one-tenth mill because of the increase of county allocation," explained Supt. Lewis Mundy.

The action came after voters of the district recently turned down a proposal for 3.5 operational mills.

SHE'S LAUNCHED — Breaking a bottle of bubbly on the bow of a new 2,000-ton Navy research vehicle in Bay City yesterday is Mrs. Frederick H. Starkweather of Ophir, Ore. The vessel, when completed, will work out of the Oceanographic Institution at Woods Hole, Mass. Mrs. Starkweather is a great-granddaughter of the man the vessel was named after, Ernest R. Knorr.

Research Vessel Is Christened and Launched in State

BAY CITY (AP) — A 245-foot oceanographic research vessel, which will displace 2,075 tons when completed, was christened and launched here yesterday.

Named for Ernest R. Knorr, chief engineer cartographer in the U.S. Navy's hydrographic office from 1860 to 1885, the vessel is to be operated for the Navy by the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution at Woods Hole, Mass.

The vessel's technical classification is AGOR15 (for assistance geodetic oceanographic research). It will be the fifth seagoing research ship in use by the institution. Delivery is expected in 1969.

The ship will accommodate 60 scientists and crew members.

Cycloidal propellers with variable pitch blades extending vertically were said to allow movement in any direction.

* * *

Four independent shipboard laboratories are planned plus facilities for bolting six more portable laboratories on deck.

Other equipment will include coring tools, heavy buoying systems and winches to float or recover a 25-ton submersible.

Paul M. Fye, director of the Woods Hole research center spoke at launching ceremonies Wednesday. Knorr's great-granddaughter, Mrs. Frederic H. Starkweather of Ophir, Ore., christened the vessel.

Cow Gets 'E' for Body

MILFORD — Carlos and Douglas Long have been notified by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America that a Registered Holstein cow in their herd has received an "E" designation for body type conformation.

* * *

Among the 84,000 Registered Holsteins scored for body type last year, only slightly less than two per cent attain the "Excellent" status.

Milford Class of '43 Sets Reunion Sunday

MILFORD — The Milford High School class of 1943 will hold a reunion Sunday at Dodge Park No. 10 on Pettibone Lake Road, Highland.

* * *

Members are asked to bring their own lunches. Picnicking is scheduled to begin 2 p.m. The park has a shelter in case of rain.

Garbage Proposal Discussed

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has suggested additional amendments to a proposed garbage ordinance that asks for township supervision of collection in the future.

The board will vote on the ordinance at the next regularly scheduled meeting which will be Sept. 4 delayed because of the Labor Day Holiday.

* * *

The proposed ordinance is expected to alleviate the strained conditions that presently exist between some area residents and private collection agencies presently licensed by the county.

Residents periodically complain to the Township board because of the irregular service they receive from one of the several agencies that serve the district.

LICENSING AUTHORITY

The main proposal contained in the ordinance calls for licensing authority to be turned over to the township. Township authorities will draw up the application for a license including the hours of operation, insurance requirements and the stipulation of time to notify patrons of discontinued service.

Other action included approval of the purchase of a central communication system serving the police, fire and water departments. The cost of the system is not to exceed $23,000.

The board instructed Township Attorney Joseph Brennan and Trustee Margaret Evans to confer in the drawing of the final draft of a proposed lot-splitting ordinance.

A letter from the Tri-City Fire Committee was read accepting the purchase price of $19,750 for the West Bloomfield Township fire station on Willow Beach Drive, Keego Harbor. The board acknowledged their acceptance and will await further action by the city representatives of Sylvan Lake, Orchard Lake and Keego Harbor.

* * *

The board set the time for all future township meetings at 7:30 p.m., a half hour earlier than previously.

Pontiac Div. Quality Control Advances

ZERO DEFECTS—Learning firsthand how Pontiac Motor Division's "Zero Defects" quality control program can further be improved are Bob Turner (left), car assembly foreman, and C. O. Johnson (second from left), administrative assistant to the general manufacturing manager. Management meets regularly with assembly line workers to discuss manufacturing problems in one phase of the continuing program. Discussing a solution to a problem are (from right) Frank Erck, Mike Whitney, Joe Berkenhaur and Dave Miller.

Pontiac Motor Division has entered a new phase of its "Zero Defects" quality control program.

Small groups of Pontiac assembly line workers meet informally with management to discuss ways of improving production methods and building even better cars.

* * *

"This grass roots campaign is an additional tool in our Zero Defects program," reports C. O. Johnson, assistant to Pontiac's general manufacturing manager.

Pontiac's zero defects program is now in its third year. The concept dates back earlier than that in the aerospace industry. At Pontiac, workers have been briefed by foremen, given brochures and shown movies on the importance of the program.

The initial program has been quite successful, Johnson said, noting that as workers have become more conscientious, less material has been scrapped.

"After the new phase of our program, is well under way," Johnson said, "we are going to take another look at our rejection rate and I expect we will find it has dropped even further."

* * *

Johnson, who will retire at the end of this month after 45 years of General Motors service, has held several meetings in recent weeks with small groups of workers from the home office assembly plant. The atmosphere is informal, with the group — usually no more than eight — sitting around a table, talking and eating.

The company provides the milk, orange juice and rolls.

"I ask them to tell me about their job and what we can do to improve it," Johnson said. "I ask them whether their tools are okay, whether the lighting is sufficient and whether they have any suggestions. We also ask them to formally submit any suggestions so that they can get proper credit." Workers can receive up to $5,000 if their suggestion is accepted.

COMPLAIN

One such meeting involved a group of workers who install fenders and hoods on the Pontiac cars.

Some workers complained about difficulty in operating the hood latches. "So we made a change in the dimension of the latch and solved that problem," Johnson said.

* * *

Another complaint involved some poor fitting fenders which forced the hoods to be bowed in the center. "this caused a lot of rejections" Johnson recalled. "So some of the dies were reworked to provide a better fit."

Because of another man's idea, a new gage is being designed to facilitate hood installations.

SUGGESTIONS PRODUCED

All told, this one meeting produced about 25 suggestions, Johnson said.

Another meeting was with four workers who fit the wraparound front bumpers on Pontiac automobiles.

* * *

Johnson opened this session with a talk stressing the importance of maintaining high standards of quality. "About 65 per cent of our sales is repeat business and it's very important to keep our customers happy," Johnson told the men. "And regular attendance plays a vital part in the quality of our products," he added.

* * *

One worker, Joe Berkenhaur, said the gauges he used to fit the bumper needed to be replaced. "They are almost worn out," he said. The company said new gauges have been ordered.

ADVICE OFFERED

Another worker, Frank Erck, agreed with Berkenhaur.

Pontiac manufacturing executives promised that they would investigate these ideas very thoroughly.

And that, according to Personnel Director T. B. Bloom, who also serves as the division zero defects coordinator, is the key to the program.

A Sympathetic Nation Prays for Ike's Recovery

Few of the Nation's historical figures have retained the degree of admiration and affection on the part of their countrymen as has former President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER.

EISENHOWER

As the doughty 77-year-old five-star general fights for his life in Walter Reed Army Hospital after his seventh heart attack, an anxious America is in spirit at his bedside praying for his recovery.

★ ★ ★

That IKE has weathered the many physical ailments that have beset him over the past 15 years can only be attributed to the fighting heart of a great soldier and the indomitable courage of one to whom defeat is a stranger.

We join with millions of Americans in expressions of solicitude for General Eisenhower and his beloved Mamie.

Saigon Action Belies Its Professed Democracy

When and if the Paris peace talks ever get meaningful, there is little doubt that the United States will eventually come to grips with some form of political settlement in South Vietnam that will embrace talks with the National Liberation Front (Vietcong).

But for merely advocating such an eventuality, with the further proposal of a coalition government, the man who lost to President THIEU in last year's election — TRUONG DINH DZU — has been sentenced by a Saigon military court to five years at hard labor.

If the South Vietnam government is as concerned as it indicates about continuance of American support for its war effort, its autocratic action is more likely to discourage rather than encourage U.S. involvement.

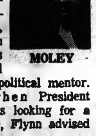
★ ★ ★

Perhaps the harsh crackdown on an opposition voice may square with Saigon's idea of "democracy," but it is not consonant with any form of democracy the United States can recognize.

Nixon Followed Rule in Choosing VP

By RAYMOND MOLEY

No doubt Richard Nixon, in choosing Gov. Spiro Agnew as his companion on the Republican ticket, was following a rule laid down by the late Edward J. Flynn in 1944. Flynn, long master of the Bronx, and in 1940 the Democratic national chairman, was Franklin Roosevelt's closest and most astute political mentor.



MOLEY

In 1944 when President Roosevelt was looking for a running mate, Flynn advised him:

"No candidate for vice president will bring votes to the ticket. Take the man who will lose you the fewest."

And so the choice went to a little-known senator named Harry S. Truman. History clearly proves the validity of Flynn's rule. Look back, if you will, over the long list of vice presidential candidates, and it will become clear that only one of them really added to the ticket. The only exception which proves the rule was in 1960 when John Kennedy chose Lyndon Johnson.

In 1959 Richard Nixon's choice for his running mate was Gerald Ford, a little-known congressman from Michigan. But at the last moment President Eisenhower and former President Hoover swayed his choice to Henry Cabot Lodge. True to Flynn's rule, Lodge lost to the ticket thousands of votes by his blunders and indifferent campaigning.

LOSE SOUTH

It is clear that Nixon in choosing Agnew was moved by the Flynn rule. If Charles Percy, Mark Hatfield or John Lindsay had been his choice, he would lose practically every state east of the Mississippi and south of the Mason-Dixon line to George Wallace.

Republican leaders in the South have worked hard to build a Republican Party in the old Confederacy. They have brought hundreds of thousands of traditional Democrats into the GOP. They have elected several congressmen, and two governors.

They have reached the point where there is a real two-party system in the South. This is the first time the Republican Party has been a truly national organization since the Civil War.

But this chance of building a national party in all 50 states would have been shattered if Lindsay, Percy or Hatfield had been chosen. For, with any of these on the ticket, Wallace might well carry the whole southern part of the country, and Nixon would lose the election either in November or in the House of Representatives in January. Thus, Agnew, from a border state and a strong spokesman for law and order, is insurance against such a GOP catastrophe.

★ ★ ★

Liberal-oriented commentators are echoing Democratic hopes when they lament the choice of Agnew. They would do well to realize that the real threat to Nixon is Wallace, not Humphrey. Under these circumstances, if there had been no Agnew, the candidate for President would have had to invent one.

'It Threatened Me!'

David Lawrence Says:

Red 'Myth' Becomes a Reality

WASHINGTON—The "Communist myth," so often brushed aside by "liberals" as imaginary, has all of a sudden become a reality.

LAWRENCE

The argument of the "doves" that the Soviet Union and most of the Communist-bloc states in Eastern Europe constitute no threat to world peace and that they should be given trade benefits and other concessions by the United States has evaporated overnight.

The world is back again to where it was more than a decade ago when the Soviet armies crushed an uprising of the people of Hungary.

Then, after having connived to weaken the NATO alliance in Europe, the Soviets proceeded to build up North Vietnam and finally to provoke Hanoi's aggression against South Vietnam as a means of diverting American attention from Europe.

In virtually all free nations today a unanimous condemnation is being expressed against the Soviet Union for its invasion of Czechoslovakia and its attempts to suppress the few freedoms that have been allowed the people there.

The hopes of the Czechs for a decree of independence from Soviet domination were abruptly shattered as the Soviet armies, aided by military forces of East Germany, Hungary, Bulgaria and Poland — puppets of Moscow — crossed the Czech border.

LEADERS IMPRISONED

In the capital at Prague the leaders who had dared to institute reforms in the Communist system have been imprisoned.

There are, of course, in the United States a few politically minded critics who immediately cried out that Russia is merely doing what the United States did in Vietnam. No parallel, however, exists.

Since the Soviet Union has a veto in the Security Council of the United Nations, this leaves the question to be handled by the General Assembly of the U.N., which can adopt a resolution as it did in 1956 condemning the Soviet Union.

Meanwhile, the world has been awakened to the somber fact that military power exerted by the Soviets in defiance of the provisions of the United Nations Charter can at any moment break the peace on every continent.

Bob Considine Says:

President Running Risk by Briefing Candidates

NEW YORK — I don't recall that President Truman briefed Lars Daley, the candidate in 1952 who campaigned in an Uncle Sam suit, on the problems facing the nation at home and in Korea. There is no record I know of that Lincoln called in his bitter rival and former subordinate, Gen. George McClellan, to give him the lowdown on the Civil War. John Adams and Tom Jefferson, his successor, hardly spoke.

CONSIDINE

But President Johnson has been meticulously correct in seeing to it that every aspirant for his White House Chair, however forlorn, gets the benefit of an inside report on what the score is in Vietnam and at the Paris negotiations, the situation in the Mediterranean, NATO, Greece, poverty, and all the rest.

★ ★ ★

A president who orders that confidential information be shared with a political foe takes a calculated risk that the person may use it against him in a sensational and vote-getting manner. However, some recipients of classified material have proved extraordinarily trustworthy and have shown a restraint that might come quite hard to Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, to name one.

During the 1944 campaign, GOP candidate Tom Dewey was approached by an emissary from Gen. George C. Marshall's office. The messenger handed Dewey a sealed letter.

DEMAND MADE

It began, in effect, that if Dewey would not commit himself to keep the entire contents of the letter strictly secret, and make no use of those contents in his campaign, he must not read past the first paragraph.

Dewey read the first paragraph and then stopped. He would not accept any such conditions.

A few days later the emissary was once more closeted with Dewey.

He had another letter from Gen. Marshall. This one contained no such brusque demand. Instead, it told the man who wanted very much to be president of the United States that early in Roosevelt's third term a major Japanese code had been cracked by U.S. Navy cryptologists, that we had thus known that the Japanese naval task force that attacked Pearl Harbor was somewhere at sea well before the attack, and that we hadn't done much with that priceless advantage.

SECRECY ASKED

The letter then asked Dewey not to make use of this information — if it came to him from persons who did not like FDR — because the Japanese still did not know that we had cracked that and still more of their codes. This knowledge had turned the tide of battle at Midway and elsewhere.

If Dewey now revealed this horrendous secret, for personal political gain, the Japanese would change their codes and — pending new cracking — American lives would be lost unnecessarily.

Dewey didn't mention it.

Roosevelt clobbered him, 432 to 99 in the electoral vote.

Voice of the People:

Reports Thoughtfulness for Vietnam Servicemen

A new type of "care" package has come to my attention. Each week for some time a lady has mailed two packages to Vietnam. This would not be unusual if the packages were addressed to the same individual, but they were addressed to "any Marine" or "any soldier," listing the outfit and APO numbers. This lady wants no publicity but her example might inspire others to feast on the joy of doing for others.

★ ★ ★

Her son returned safely from combat duty in Vietnam and told of the lift these surprise packages from home gave the whole squad who shared them. Being thankful for her son's safe return, the mother continues to send packages to his former outfit and any other outfit on active duty for which she can obtain a valid address.

★ ★ ★

These packages may contain candy, cigarettes, chewing gum, books, puzzles, soap, toothpaste, or a myriad of other interesting and useful things; but above all, the spirit of brotherly love. Her "thank you" notes from appreciative recipients must be a source of great personal satisfaction.

'We Should Realize Importance of Prayer'

I feel prayer is very important. Prayer is the key to heaven but faith unlocks the door. The majority of people ignore and neglect Christ. Too many have put worldly pleasures before Christ. These pleasures are temporary, but a place in heaven is eternal.

Has Suggestions to Help Curb Delinquency

"I had a dream." It was more of a nightmare, and I wasn't asleep. It was of rock-throwing delinquents and groups of pre-teens standing around a youngster, fallen in a neighborhood brawl, as they chanted "kill him."

★ ★ ★

How much better the vision I have of neighborhood gyms where youngsters could engage in indoor sports or games, perhaps including wrestling or boxing. There are Boys' Clubs, and YMCAs but they are limited by size or cost of membership. Monies are out of the question for large families. I have seen defunct fire houses turned into youth centers with teenagers volunteering services for art classes and dancing lessons, and there were Ping-pong tables and basketball nets.

★ ★ ★

Why not use some of the boarded-up shops that are city eyesores? Ping-pong tables could be made of plywood, unused games could be collected, and perhaps unwanted pianos could be donated. If the City is shorthanded for chaperones or supervisors, why not use some responsible teens, or let parents set up a plan to supervise their own neighborhood children?

Reader Comments on Local Utility Company

Until the recent storm, Detroit Edison has been quite successful in blacking out the news media. With portions of the City a disaster area, Detroit Edison attempts to cover its incompetence by directing the public attention to propaganda on two new power plants. However, the company neglects to inform us that utilizing these plants, without striking linemen to distribute power, is an impossibility.

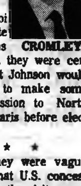
In Washington:

Ho Anticipates Bombing Halt

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A few days ago this reporter talked at length with a man recently returned from a visit to Hanoi in which he had met with some of Ho Chi Minh's highest officials.



CROMLEY

The Hanoi men in private conversations had said that they were certain President Johnson would be impelled to make some major concession to North Vietnam at Paris before election day.

★ ★ ★

Although they were vague about what that U.S. concession would be, the visitor was convinced the North Vietnamese were talking about a complete bombing halt.

In the Hanoi opinion, the U.S. concession would be forced on Johnson by the growing force of American public opinion.

Once this major concession was granted, these officials believed it would be virtually impossible for Johnson to reverse it.

That is, a bombing halt, once announced, would be permanent.

In these conversations, the North Vietnamese seemed to take it for granted that either Richard Nixon or Vice President Hubert Humphrey would be the next president of the United States.

They apparently believed it was unrealistic to expect Sen. Eugene McCarthy to win either the nomination or the election. Nevertheless, they did not expect that the next U.S. president, whether Nixon or Humphrey, would find it possible to reverse Johnson's concession.

These Hanoi officials saw a marked upward swing in the U.S. peace-in-Vietnam sentiment beginning with the fall of 1967. They believe this sentiment has grown steadily since that time and that it will continue to grow.

It was this visitor's impression that the Hanoi men were counting on that sentiment to win them the peace talks. He had the distinct impression that they would wait patiently and stall the talks along until they saw this peace sentiment had grown strong enough to guarantee them victory.

Apparently, a U.S. agreement to end the bombing would be a sort of test or signal that this country was willing to give up and admit defeat. The North Vietnamese would then be willing to help the United States find a face-saving way to exit from Vietnam.

If the above paragraphs are in fact an accurate picture of what Ho's men believe, it confirms the often-voiced thesis held by some old Far East specialists that Ho sees 1968-1969 as a repetition of 1954.

★ ★ ★

In 1954, Ho agreed to talks, but stalled while antiwar sentiment mounted in France. While waiting, Ho set up Dien Bien Phu to give the French government an excuse for evacuating the north.

If Ho is to repeat himself, then the U.S. Department of Defense and President Thieu of South Vietnam may be right in predicting all-out Ho Chi Minh attacks sometime between now and November.

Mod Architect Shapes 'Thinking Man's' OCC

By DICK ROBINSON

Soul music blares from a radio while a maid dressed in colonial-looking garb is carefully ironing a shirt.

A few feet away in a small study, a mod London architect stands over a drawing board, puffing a cigar, ocassionally taking a sip of beer and looking at aerial photographs of Oakland County.

This is the activity going on in an unidentified private house near the Cranbrook Institute of Science in Bloomfield Hills. To insiders, the heavily shaded building is known as the Edison House.

It is here that noted architect and planner Cederic Price is laying the groundwork to help shape the future of the multicampus Oakland Community College (OCC).

COLLEGE IN FOREFRONT

The three-year-old college is generally acknowledged as taking the lead in the learning area through programmed materials with which students can teach themselves.

But now that it has successfully mastered the campus instructional program, college officials are concerned that the college could become stagnant.

* * *

This was the foresight of former President Dr. John E. Tirrell, who is now a consultant to OCC. He discovered Price at a conference in Houston last year, told him about the college and hired him to come to OCC this summer for two months as a consultant.

Tirrell, a planning consultant himself, realized that the college must assist more citizens of all ages. Price's assignment is to find ways to do this.

CAN'T SERVE ALL

The 33-year-old colorful architect comes from a school of thought that believes that campus classrooms physically can't effectively serve all citizens in today's mobile society.

Don't waste your time trying to find ways to improve campus facilities, he reasons. "Rethink" ways to improve learning.

* * *

That's just what he did a few years ago when he originated his thinkbelt and thinklink concept of education.

Price took an old industrial area in the midlands of England and proposed a 20,000-student campus linking students to the community by a road and rail network and temporary housing. He called the area the Potteries thinkbelt.

CARNABY STREET LOOK

The long-haired Price, who sports the English Carnaby Street look, is an architect who really isn't interested in designing buildings.

His bag is thinkbelts and thinklinks, the use of temporary and portable facilities out in the communities away from the campuses. Facilities would be geared to the needs of the people.

* * *

Thinkbelts link broad geographical areas with one another while thinklinks deal with problems of specific communities.

"An architect should be the first person to say you don't need a building," he comments.

He said he favors mobile, short-lived facilities — "here today, gone tomorrow" — because "education should be in a position of rapid change."

Education has to come to people; people shouldn't have to go to education, according to Price.

* * *

"People can learn drinking a beer in front of a television but that's not what I mean by bringing education to people.

"Educational planners should find ways to put learning facilities not merely in the classroom or library, but in the home, car, supermarket and factory."

Already, Price's concepts will be put into use next month by OCC when education centers open in the ghetto areas of Pontiac and Royal Oak Township. He didn't work on this project.

Price hints that OCC came to him because it has a problem. It is a fear of becoming solidified and resistant to change, which normally comes after six and eight years of operation.

* * *

"I'm looking to OCC to see if it can do a better job in educating people," he explains.

"I wouldn't have accepted this job if I didn't think the college was a great place and something could be done."

But he refuses to give any clues as to what he will recommend until his study is complete Sept. 7, and he has $4,000 for the job in his pocket.

SEMINAR LEADER

In addition to the OCC study, Price has led seminar sessions with college personnel and area educators, planners and architects.

* * *

In return, Cranbrook Institute, who is cosponsoring him, has given him free rein of their Edison House.

The past doesn't interest Price. He's concerned with what he's doing right now.

But he has been noted for designing creative thinker John Littlewood's Fun Palace in London — a unique short-term building for fun and games.

He's only designed one private house and doesn't want to do it any more "because it's too much like making a meal for someone."

His meals are made at the Edison House where he says the chipmunks and squirrels are all about. That area he has pronounced the "chipmunkbelt."

Gov. Romney Stumps for Conservation

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has turned his attention from the Republican ticket to the conservation ticket.

Romney Wednesday announced organization of a campaign to muster support for a $435-million clean water and quality recreation bonding program.

"Make the conservation ticket a winning ticket in November," Romney urged a Lansing luncheon attended by representatives of a cross-section of the state's business and industry, organized labor, public health, conservation, religious and civic leadership.

The clean water and recreation bonding proposals will be propositions three and four on the November ballot.

* * *

Proposition three calls for a $335-million program to help local governments finance needed water pollution control measures.

Proposition four asks for a $100-million bond issue for state and local outdoor recreation projects.

"Generations of neglect produced our current water pollution problems," Romney said.

"But today, people generally are just beginning to realize the true cost of pollution—in property damage, increased cost of drinking water, destruction of recreational areas, curtailment of sport and commercial fishing and creation of health hazards."

2nd Giacalone Is Sentenced

GROSSE POINTE (AP) — Vito Giacalone, a reputed Detroit-area Mafia leader, Wednesday received the same sentence his brother, Anthony, was handed Tuesday for violating Michigan's gun registration law—a $100 fine and a year's probation.

Vito Giacalone was found guilty Wednesday in Grosse Pointe Municipal Court of the charge.

Judge Douglas Patterson said he gave probationary terms rather than the maximum 90-day jail sentence because he said it would be better to have the Giacalone brothers under constant surveillance.

The judge said that authorities would be able to more closely watch their activities during the whole year and that, if they did anything wrong, they could be jailed immediately.

* * *

Both Giacalones were named in 1963 U. S. Senate subcommittee testimony as Detroit Mafia leaders.

In sentencing Anthony Giacalone Tuesday, Patterson said, "He's a family man. He knows better. Putting him in jail on this charge isn't going to do anybody any good."

He was arrested after unregistered weapons were found at his home during a search May 13. After the conviction Tuesday, defense attorneys said they would appeal.

Detroit Won't Fight Bar to Housing Vote

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Corporation Counsel Robert Reese says he sees no reason to appeal a recent U. S. District Court decision which bars the city from holding a referendum on its fair housing ordinance.

Reese cited recent federal and state open occupancy laws as the reason for not appealing the decision.

* * *

In a prepared statement, Reese said: "This office has carefully reviewed the court's opinion, and while we disagree with some of the rulings—particularly as they relate to the nature of the City Clerk's duties—we do not consider those rulings controlling on the city in future actions."

Reese said the question of fair housing repeal "is now largely an irrelevant debate" because of the new federal and state laws and therefore a local referendum would be futile.

"Repeal of the Detroit ordinance," he said, "could no longer affect in any way the legal right of all persons to acquire property without regard to race, religion, or national origin."

Factions Clash on Parochiaid

3rd of 5 Hearings on Disputed Issue

LANSING (AP)—Friends and foes of state aid to parochial parents clashed for seven hours Wednesday at the third of five legislative public hearings held on the controversial issue.

As in earlier debates, proponents said some form of aid is needed to keep nonpublic schools from folding, that private schools often prove better for poor students than public schools, and that private school parents now bear a double burden of taxation.

* * *

Opponents said state aid would encourage proliferation of private schools, lead to government controls over them, and further weaken support for already hard-pressed public schools.

The 10-member House-Senate committee previously had held hearings in Warren and Bay City and has scheduled hearings Aug. 27 in Escanaba and Aug. 29 in Muskegon.

SERIOUS THOUGHT

"Nonpublic schools are anxious to remain in business to meet the public need for secular education," said John F. Choitz, president of the two-year-old Michigan Association of Nonpublic Schools. "They are saying, "We need money to keep our doors open, just like all schools do.'"

Choitz urged that "serious thought be given to a sum equivalent" to half of the $615 million in nonretirement state aid to public schools.

* * *

Don O. Tatroe of Waterford Township, chairman of the legislation committee of the Michigan Association of School Administrators, warned that making aid available to private schools would encourage formation of more private schools.

"You should envision schools for the Amish, the Roman Catholics, the Ukranian Catholics, the Missouri Synod Lutherans, the Wisconsin Synod Lutherans, the Seventh-day Adventists, the Calvinists, the Black Muslims and the rich," Tatroe said, adding:

"Perhaps in the future you will support schools for Methodists, the Baptists, the Episcopalians, those of the Russian, Greek and Serbian Orthodox churches, the militant blacks, the Poles, the Irish and the poor."

OPPOSE PROPOSAL

Spokesmen for the State Association of School Boards, the State PTA and the Michigan Council of Churches also opposed the state aid proposal.

William R. Ford, director of the Michigan Office of Economic Opportunity, said closing of parochial schools could hit poor families harder than wealthier ones.

* * *

"Many of our nonpublic schools in Michigan have exerted real effort in opening their doors to the disadvantaged," Ford said. "But you know as well as I that costs are rising for both public and nonpublic systems and it will be most difficult, if not impossible, to maintain the nonpublic effort without financial help."

If parochial schools fold, Ford added, their students will come into the public schools and the state will have to pay more to support them there. "The bill will have to be paid," he said, "whether by aid to nonpublic schools or by increased aid to nonpublic schools or by increased aid to expanded school systems."

* * *

A bill providing state-paid cash grants of from $50 to $150 per private-school pupil costing an estimated $21 million, was introduced in the Legislature this year, but died in committee. The issue is certain to be before lawmakers next year.

Alleged Mafioso Beaten to Death

DETROIT (AP)—Reputed Mafia leader Joe Moceri died yesterday after being severely beaten. Moceri, 66, was found unconscious by police earlier in the day in his store fixtures shop-warehouse in Detroit. In 1963 Moceri, who lives in suburban Grosse Pointe Farms, was named a Mafia "chief" by former Police Commissioner George Edwards in testimony before a U.S. Senate committee.

Land Deals to Delay Completion of Center

Pontiac's planned Human Resources Center to serve children from four elementary schools will not be completed in September 1969 as scheduled.

Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer told the school board last night that acquisition of privately owned land west of city hall in the $4-million project would cause a delay.

* * *

The center was planned to be open in September 1969. Whitmer said a portion of it may be opened then.

Appraisers have estimated the value of about 25 parcels of land at $72,800 and realtors are now contacting owners to buy the properties.

LAND COST

Land cost in the 20-acre site is estimated at $250,000.

Whitmer estimated that bidding might take place in March and construction begun immediately thereafter.

* * *

In other business concerning facilities, the board approved preliminary architectual plans for a $1.1-million area vocational high school on Perry Street near Madison Junior High School.

This building is scheduled to open in one year.

'TECHNICAL' SCHOOL?

It is to be called the Northeast Oakland Area Vocational Center but at least two board members want to substitute "technical" instead of "vocational" in the name.

The board agreed to let the city propose an old high school site as a site for the metropolitan Detroit stadium.

It is located at Featherstone and Opdyke and would, with adjacent vacant land, provide a site of 150 acres. Pontiac is to present its proposal to the stadium committee Sept. 11.

Whitmer commented that the site could possibly be used for an elementary or junior high school but that benefits from a stadium there would be more beneficial for the city.

* * *

Assistant Supt. Richard Fell told the board there may be problems of overcrowding at Alcott, Wisner and Crofoot schools because the new elementary school at Lincoln Junior High School is not ready.

Pontiac School Affairs

Staffing Nearly Done

Few Teacher Jobs Left

With school to open in a couple of weeks, Pontiac schools are now only about half dozen teachers short.

Assistant Supt. Richard C. Fell told the school board last night that teacher staffing is in "real good shape" considering they had to fill 100 positions since June 1.

About 235 teachers have been hired for the coming school year, he reports.

Both high schools are completely staffed. Vacant are two industrial arts positions in junior high schools and two first grade and two second grade positions in addition to some in special education.

* * *

In other business, the board:

• Learned that the business manager had invested $10 million of operation funds from the additional school millage. It will earn about $325,000 interest.

* * *

• Named three new community school directors — Thomas Rosenthal at Eastern, Claude E. Jones of Detroit schools at Franklin and James G. Varner of Ferndale Schools at Bagley.

• Approved a 7½ per cent wage increase for about 150 food service employes.

'Gun Peril Fills Detroit Homes'

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit Police Department study concludes that widespread ownership of guns has made the city's homesteads more dangerous than bars, alleys and after-hours drinking spots.

"A few years ago, someone might have been punched in the nose and that would be all," commented Lt. Elmer J. Reed, executive officer of the homicide bureau in pointing out that two-thirds of the city's gun deaths involve related or acquainted people.

* * *

"But today, someone grabs the gun he or she obtained for protection and ends the argument permanently," Reed added.

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh revealed Wednesday Detroit is planning a two- or three-day moratorium during which unregistered guns may be surrendered to the police department on a "no questions asked" basis.

* * *

Cavanagh revealed the plan after conferring with Police Commissioner Johannes F. Spreen, Wayne County Prosecutor William L. Cahalan and Toledo, Ohio, Mayor William Ensign.

McCarthyites on Defensive

Alabama Chairman Raises Loyalty Issue

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's troops have been forced onto the defensive before the Democratic credentials committee by a bold southern attempt to unseat hundreds of McCarthy's national convention delegates on grounds of questionable party loyalty.

The loyalty challenge shifted, at least temporarily, the committee's attention from the racially tinged disputes that dominated its first three days of hearings into an unprecedented flood of credentials contests.

* * *

Robert Vance, Alabama state party chairman, brought the loyalty issue before the 110-member committee late Wednesday by asking that McCarthy delegates be required to pledge to support the party's nominee in the fall campaign against Republican Richard M. Nixon.

One of McCarthy's chief aides, Joseph L. Rauh Jr., responded by assailing the loyalty challenge as an attempt to punish Democrats "who love peace and hate the war in Vietnam."

CHIEF STRATEGIST

Rauh, a civil liberties lawyer from Washington, D.C., is a chief strategist for McCarthy in the fight to beat out Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the Democratic presidential nomination.

A similar challenge, this aimed at McCarthy's Wisconsin supporters, was scheduled to come before the credentials committee today, along with a dispute involving North Carolina's delegation.

* * *

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, committee chairman, planned a closed committee session later today that could bring a ruling on who will represent Georgia when the convention opens next week.

The committee heard six hours of arguments from rival Georgia delegations Wednesday. The challengers, led by Georgia legislator Julian Bond, charged the official state delegation was handpicked by Gov. Lester Maddox and state chairman James Gray and included only token Negro representation.

'HASTILY ORGANIZED'

The Georgia regulars responded that the challengers were hastily organized at a small convention taken over by McCarthy lieutenants.

McCarthy forces, in supporting the Georgia challenge, argue it is identical to one that resulted in the committee vote Tuesday to unseat the predominantly white regular Mississippi delegation and replace it with a more integrated slate.

* * *

Vance, in pressing his loyalty challenge at a late night hearing, told the committee the seats of 504 McCarthy delegates were at stake. He said the loyalty of southern Democrats is questioned repeatedly, adding: "I am here to claim equal treatment."

He detailed instances where McCarthy has said he is uncertain whether he will support the party nominee, contending "there is an attempt here to use the threat of party disloyalty to coerce delegate votes."

'SCATTERSHOT CHALLENGE'

Rauh urged the committee to reject "this frivolous scattershot challenge." If Vance's move succeeded, Rauh argued, "you ceeded, Rauh argued, "you would be setting up a loyalty oath for people who hate the Vietnam war instead of a loyal-Vietnam war instead o fa loyalty oath for people who hate the Negro in the south."

Mrs. Pat Gentry Edington, one of Alabama's members on the committee, asked Rauh if he would support Humphrey in the general election.

* * *

"Only on two conditions" Rauh replied. "I will not support Mr. Humphrey if he takes (Texas Gov.) John Connally as vice president. I will not support Mr. Humphrey if the platform of this party says President Johnson has been right in his disastrous course in Vietnam."

* * *

A few minutes later Vance received a standing ovation from a large number of committee members—perhaps as many as half—when he pledged: "I will abide by the results of this convention without any reservations and without any conditions."

Watching Violence May Stir Violent Reaction

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Just witnessing violence may trigger violent conduct in the witness, whether man or mouse.

In a time when there is no getting away from violence, whether in films or television programs or on the streets or the front pages of newspapers, this is a matter of considerable sociological importance, at least to man.

★ ★ ★

Recently Annemarie and Bruce Welch, a husband-wife research team at the University of Tennessee, performed some experiments with mice. Their purpose was to investigate the role of a certain brain chemical in physical responses to purely psychological influences.

The Welches reported their work in a recent issue of the proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

BRAIN CHEMICAL

The brain chemical they were studying is norepinephrine, a substance released by nerve cells.

There is evidence that norepinephrine transmits nerve impulses and that its production in the brain is somehow related to the emotional states of the brain's owner.

★ ★ ★

Everybody knows that animals, including man, can affect one another physically without coming in physical contact.

The Welches discovered similar "arousal behavior" in mice. They rigged some mice in a wire basket so they could see some other mice engaged in combat.

The noncombatant mice got so worked up that they tried to gnaw their way through the wire mesh in order to get into the fight.

Subsequent analysis showed that a lot of norepinephrine in the brains of the excited but frustrated observer mice had been released to perform nerve impulse functions, for good or ill, simply because the owners of the brains had witnessed violence by others.

★ ★ ★

These findings recall experiments with people reported by Dr. Leonard Berkowitz, professor of psychology at the University of Wisconsin, in the February 1964, Issue of Scientific American.

The magazine recently distributed reprints of the 1964 article in the belief that it is timely in today's context of violence.

As a result of the psychological experiments he reported, Berkowitz concluded that a person who sees filmed violence "would be primed" thereby "to act aggressively" for at least a brief time thereafter.

Syringe for Antidote Is Developed

By Science Service

A hypodermic syringe for administering an antidote to nerve gas has been developed by the Swedish pharmaceutical company, Astra, according to the magazine SWEDEN NOW.

The syringe is based on a spring arrangement with a trigger mechanism. When the soldier presses the injector against his thigh, outside his uniform, the spring glides forward and forces the needle into the thigh. The resulting resistance is sufficient to puncture the ampule and inject the antidote into the body. The whole operation takes only a second.

The auto-injector meets Swedish army requirements for a small, light injection syringe that the individual soldier can use when wearing heavy gloves. It is shock-resistant and can withstand wide variations in temperature and humidity.

McCarthy Is Waging a Rockefeller-Style Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — The city is different, the party is different, but the strategy is much the same as Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy strives to upset Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and capture the Democratic presidential nomination.

It is almost as though the McCarthy forces were working from campaign manuals drawn up for the Republican presidential bid of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

There are differences, but there are more parallels, in the Chicago campaign for McCarthy and in the Miami Beach convention strategy by Rockefeller three weeks ago.

The Rockefeller effort, of course, failed. Richard M. Nixon, who went to the GOP convention the leader, emerged as the Republican presidential nominee.

SIMILARITY NOTED

The McCarthy camp openly acknowledges the similarity between its campaign and that waged by Rockefeller.

The heart of the strategy amounts to a challenge of the convention system itself, an argument that the party professionals who wield power in a convention hall are not really responsive to what the people want.

The remedy chosen by both candidates: a public campaign designed to convince the delegates that if they really want victory in November, they should turn away from the front-runners.

* * *

McCarthy's forces underscored the similarity with full-page newspaper advertisements which began:

* * *

"On Aug. 7, 1968, a good man was sandbagged in Miami. Nelson Rockefeller lost the Republican nomination to Dick Nixon and Co.

"On Aug. 26th in Chicago, Hubert Humphrey intends to make Miami's power politics look like the Amateur Hour. He fully intends, at the Democratic convention, to obliterate Gene McCarthy."

McCarthy himself has said that he can overtake Humphrey only if the delegates become convinced he is the only candidate who can win in November.

* * *

His camp acknowledges that he is generally would be more comfortable with Humphrey than with the man who smeared the facade of Democratic unity with his primary election challenges to President Johnson.

* * *

So the McCarthy emphasis in the convention building has been on an argument that if the politicians want Humphrey, the voters would rally to a McCarthy ticket.

NOT ELECTABLE

Just as Rockefeller argued that Nixon could not win in November, McCarthy spokesmen say that Humphrey is not electable.

* * *

As the Republican governor stressed public opinion polls to counter Nixon delegate strength, the McCarthy organization contends the polls prove their man's strength.

Often, even the words are the same. "Erosion" is one of them.

McCarthy's convention manager, Stephen A. Mitchell, contends that is what is happening to Humphrey's delegate lead. It echoes the Rockefeller claims at Miami Beach.

ARRAY OF CHALLENGES

The chief difference between the two strategies is unfolding in preconvention hearings on issues and delegate seating. The McCarthy organization is supporting an array of delegate challenges unprecedented in party history.

In that Humphrey's organization perceives the outline of what its men charge will be a propaganda effort to challenge the fairness of the way nominating delegates were chosen.

* * *

In addition, McCarthy and his men intend to wage a major platform battle before the convention and the television cameras seeking to enhance their nominating strength during a contest over Vietnam war policy.

The Rockefeller forces in Miami Beach chose to avoid such a fight, saving all their ammunition for the ultimate showdown on the nomination itself.

Teamster Bribe Try Told

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Walter J. Sheridan, former special consultant to the U.S. attorney general, testified Wednesday the Teamsters Union had offered him $1 million as part of a "concerted, intensive effort to bribe witnesses" in the James Hoffa-Z. T. Osborn Jr. jury-tampering cases.

Sheridan said the Teamsters succeeded in bribing "several" government witnesses in Hoffa's jury-tampering trial at Chattanooga and the information had been turned over to the Justice Department.

"The International Teamsters Union has made a concerted effort to bribe witnesses in the trials," Sheridan said. "They've offered me a million dollars."

Hoffa is currently serving an eight-year prison term in the federal penitentiary in Lewisburg, Pa. He entered the prison in March of 1967.

Sheridan did not specify the time or place of the alleged bribe offer, but said similar propositions were made last year to Robert D. Vick, a star witness in Osborn's jury-tampering trail here three years ago.

Noncandidate Ted Urges Viet Peace

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts returned to political activity Wednesday with a call for an end to the war in Vietnam and a statement that he is not a candidate for any office this year.

Kennedy was stern and serious as he made his first public speech since the assassination of his brother Sen. Robert F. Kennedy June 5.

* * *

His audience, 1,200 members and guests of the Worcester Chamber of Commerce, gave him ovations at the opening and end of his speech. There were seven interruptions for rounds of applause.

At one point the speech reminded some of the audience of the inaugural of his late brother, President John F. Kennedy in 1961, when he said: "The torch has been passed to a new generation. . ."

ADVISED TO RETIRE

Sen. Kennedy told his audience he had been silent since the assassination of another brother, and said during the 10 weeks since then he had been advised by many to retire from public life, "for safety's sake."

"But there is no safety in hiding," he said. "Not for me, nor for any of us here today; and not for our children who will inherit the world we make for them.

* * *

"So today I resume my public responsibilities to the people of Massachusetts.

"Like my three brothers before me, I pick up a fallen standard," he said. "Sustained by the memory of our priceless years together, I shall try to carry forward that special commitment to justice, to excellence, to courage, that distinguished their lives."

In addition to his assassinated brothers, Sen. Kennedy's oldest brother, Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., died while in the service of his country, killed in the explosion of a bomb-laden Navy bomber he volunteered to pilot on a World War II mission in Europe.

Kennedy proposed a four-point program for an end to the Vietnam war:

* * *

1. To end unconditionally all bombing of North Vietnam;

2. To then negotiate with Hanoi the mutual withdrawal from South Vietnam of all foreign forces, both allied and North Vietnamese;

3. To accompany this withdrawal with whatever help we can give to the South Vietnamese in building of a viable political, economic and legal structure that will not collapse upon our departure, and

4. To demonstrate to both Hanoi and Saigon the sincerity of our intentions by significantly decreasing this year the level of our military activity and military personnel in the South.

Kennedy, who last month issued a statement saying he was not available to run for vice president, as many political figures had urged, told his audience that he spoke for no partisan interests, but as "one who will not run for office this year."

Kennedy said that as the war progressed in Vietnam, America met almost every demand of the South Vietnamese government for men and materials, in the hope of helping the South Vietnamese to help themselves.

* * *

"But these hopes are gone," he said. "They have foundered in miscalculation and self-deception. They have been stymied by the stubborness of the foe; but above all they have been buried by the incompetence and corruption of our South Vietnamese ally. . ."

"If we follow the steps I have outlined today," Kennedy said, "I believe we can put this war behind us—and reach out once again for the country we know we should be."

3rd Cadaver Is Donated

Boy, 13, Still Needs More Skin

DETROIT (AP) — About 40 per cent of his body must still receive skin grafts before 13-year-old Gary Shapiro can get off the critical list, says his doctor, James R. Lloyd.

Dr. Lloyd gave Gary "a pretty good chance" of surviving after the suburban Southfield boy received massive skin grafts Monday from the bodies of two men who died Sunday night. Their relatives approved the gifts for Gary.

* * *

Wednesday he received skin from another cadaver. Dr. Lloyd said the boy must have burns over not more than 20 per cent of his body before he will no longer be critical.

Gary had third-degree burns over 75 per cent of his body following the explosion of a gasoline can in his hands June 20.

VOLUNTEERS CALL

Calls began pouring in to Children's Hospital of Michigan, where Gary has been confined, as news of his need for massive skin grafts spread Monday.

More than 600 square inches of grafted skin have kept him alive thus far, including some donated by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shapiro. They were both hospitalized to recover from their large donations of tissue.

* * *

The appeal for skin came Sunday night from Dr. Lloyd who said the boy would die without it.

Currently, 60 per cent of his body is still covered with burned skin, and Dr. Lloyd said new grafts must be made every five to seven days because infection from body rejection develops under the "old crop." The body produces its own new skin while the graft holds in body fluids.

Skin, if available, can be kept in a state suitable for grafting for up to 2½ weeks under refrigeration.

Dr. Lloyd said he hoped more cadavers will be available for "skin banking" to meet Gary's future needs. And although there have been more than 500 volunteers who wish to donate, the need is so great that large amounts of skin taken from fresh cadavers is more practical.

Tourist Official Cites Tax Gain

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — A West Michigan tourist official predicts tourists visiting Michigan this year will add $35 million to the state coffers in sales tax revenues.

Wesley B. Tebeau, secretary-manager of the West Michigan Tourist Association, called it "a conservative figure."

* * *

Tebeau addressed the annual banquet last night of the Michigan Association of County Treasurers meeting at the Grand Hotel.

"This tax money which goes directly into Michigan's treasury and the additional billion dollars a year tourists spent here clearly indicates the travel market is there and is growing every year," Tebeau said.

URGES SUPPORT

He urged local government and business to support tourist promotion programs in light of the "standstill budget" the Michigan Tourist Council has received the past two years.

Despite the fact that Michigan was among the first states to promote travel, Tebeau said several states, among them Florida, Georgia, New York and Virginia, have larger budgets for the promotion of tourism than Michigan.

To remain competitive for the tourist dollar, Tebeau cited three requirements:

Legislative approval of a $2-million promotion budget for the Michigan Tourist Council to run a 12-month campaign; local and county financial support of the state's four regional associations; and a better job by operators and citizens to make the customer feel welcome and happy in Michigan.

Faculty to Return Without Contract

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Faculty members at Kellogg Community College said Wednesday they will return to work when the fall term registration begins Monday, even though they still are without a contract.

The decision came after state-appointed mediator, Dr. Leon Herman of Southfield said he will meet Saturday with faculty and college representatives in an effort to reach agreement on a new pact.

Soviet Move Is Assailed by Nearly All

LONDON (AP) — Sharp criticism of the Soviet bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia echoed around the world today.

One of the few voices of approval came from North Vietnam which said the Soviet intervention was for the "noble goal" of eliminating "counter-revolutionary forces." Russia is North Vietnam's chief benefactor in the Vietnam war.

Leftist Syria also accepted the official Soviet explanation of the invasion that the troops of the five Warsaw Pact nations were invited by Prague authorities.

Elsewhere, the move was almost universally condemned.

English Prime Minister Harold Wilson called the invasion "a flagrant violation of the United Nations charter and all accepted standards of international behavior."

CRITICISM FROM INDIA

In New Delhi, Indian Prime Minister Indira Ghandi, in her strongest criticism of the Soviet Union since taking office two years ago, demanded a quick withdrawal from Czechoslovakia.

A Japanese report from Peking quoted sources as saying the Soviet move was an open display of the "big power spirit" and the "imperialistic" nature of the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

Hong Kong's two major Chinese Communist newspapers attacked Russia for "occupying" Czechoslovakia. One of them, Wen Wei, said in an editorial that the Russian-Czech confrontation was a "fight between two dirty revisionist dogs."

The Japanese government issued a statement calling the invasion a "flagrant infringement upon the independence and sovereignty" of Czechoslovakia.

PUTS OFF TREATY

Italy said that because of the invasion it would not now sign the treaty banning the spread of nuclear weapons, "to allow a pause of reflection." The treaty was drafted by the United States and the Soviet Union.

The Canadian government issued a condemnation of the Soviet move.

In Canberra, the Australian government protested to the Soviet Union about the invasion and expressed a feeling of "revulsion" about the action.

Newspapers in Cairo carried the story of the invasion without comment. No statements were issued by the Egyptian government.

CALLED INFRINGEMENT

The South Korean government branded the move as an "infringement upon the sovereign independence of Czechoslovakia."

France's President Charles de Gaulle issued a relatively soft statement saying the Soviet intervention "runs counter to European detente."

A number of nonaligned nations that have been carefully courted by the Kremlin, threw charges of "imperialistic aggression" at Moscow and demanded withdrawal of the Warsaw Pact forces from Czechoslovakia.

Strong reaction also was displayed outside Soviet embassies and missions around the world.

In Cyprus, explosions damaged the Soviet Embassy building in Nicosia and offices of the Cyprus Communist party in Nicosia and Famagusta.

Communists' VP Candidate Adds Political Comic Relief

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — You have got to hand it to the Communist Party USA. In an intense and fast-moving election year, it seems it has provided a candidate for comic relief.

He's Mike Zagarell, 23, from Brooklyn, and the CPUSA candidate for vice president. To be sure, his running isn't meant to be funny; it's meant to be wholly serious and that's what's so funny about it.

* * *

In the first place, Zagarell isn't of legal age. The law says the office must be held by persons 35 and over and Zagarell is more than a decade shy.

In the second place, his name won't appear on most ballots. Communists are barred in many states and third party filing dates have expired in many others.

NOT REPRESENATATIVE

In the third place, his rockbottom support is sandy. Even by hopeful party estimates there are only about 12,000 Communists in the nation.

The party sees Zagarell as a "brilliant, penetrating symbol of American youth." In fact, the candidate seems completely unrepresentative of young people anywhere.

* * *

He doesn't speak for students: "I only got through a year of college."

He doesn't speak for draftees: "I'm 4-F myself."

He doesn't even speak for young workers:

"Well, sometime ago I used to help my dad paint houses. But that's all. I've never really worked for anybody else but the Communist party."

AMONG YOUNGEST

Actually, Michael Zagarell has never had time to work for anybody else. Politics employed him at age 14. He started as a picket sign-waver in leftish demonstrations, matriculated to reading Karl Marx, and by his 17th year had become one of the youngest members of the U. S. Communist establishment.

* * *

In those days he was a plump, heavy sweating individual who earned a small salary by running around shouting against oppression of the masses.

Six years later, Zagarell is nominated for the nation's second highest office. And he's still a plump, heavy sweating individual who earns $75 take-home pay running around shouting against oppression of the masses.

The candidate directs his campaign out of a grubby party building in lower Midtown Manhattan. The place is unmarked and, inside, colorless. Everything is Spartan; peepholes here, buzzer locks there. The only thing that distinguishes the decor is the crankiest receptionist in town. "Well," she huffs to visitors, "Hold your horses!"

CAPITALISTIC BREAK

Zagarell is billeted on the third floor. There is a "peace" calendar on his wall. His desk glass has a crack in it. Several tin chairs ring the room. An air-conditioner is the only capitalistic break in the privation.

The campaigner is a man who never lost his baby fat. It pushes up from his collar, hangs over his four-inch belt buckle. He wears a $1 clip-on tie, suede shoes, shiny pants, short sleeves. He smokes cigarettes way down to the filter before depositing them in a ceramic dish.

* * *

As he speaks, his red mustache twitches.

"Our platform," he says, "is concerned with three main areas. We plan to talk about the war in Vietnam, the oppression of the people and high taxes.

"We're completely against the war in Vietnam. Big business is making billions of it while thousands of American boys are dying. We say end the draft and end the war. Afterwards we must reduce the size of our Army.

BLACK POWER

"The money we can save by stopping the war should be used to lift the yoke off the people, especially minorities. We support Black Power. We demand freedom for Rap Brown, Eldridge Cleaver and all other victims of racism.

"We are going to expose the whole tax structure. It keeps the poor poor. As Socialists our slogan will be to 'Soak the Rich' and give the money back to the workers in the form of welfare programs."

* * *

This platform, Zagarell says, straight faced, is not "nailed together with false promises. It's something the people will fight for themselves."

He goes on. He wants to end the arms race, break up the Pentagon and halt "imperialistic aggression." He wants to curb the profits of "monopolies," end government subsidies to corporations, cut taxes for the masses.

30-HOUR WEEK

He insists the FBI be dissolved and J. Edgar Hoover be fired. He wants free health and hospital service for all (paid for by arms reduction savings). He favors a 30-hour work week, higher salaries and more rank and file power.

"The workers," he concludes sadly, "are being stepped on."

* * *

In spite of his tender age, it is quite obvious Mike Zagarell thinks beyond his years. For a 23-year-old Communist, he sounds remarkably like a 73-year-old Communist.

Oppression of the masses? Imperialist aggression? Monopolies? They are the stodgy warnings of yesteryear. The candidate has not even bothered to update the language.

* * *

Continuum Center Widened View

Petite and vivacious Mrs. Edward Dolan of Hammond Lake firmly believes that "Education never stops."

To her, "The world is a classroom and you learn the most simply by living."

This September, however, Mrs. Dolan will enter a new classroom.

* * *

After a 28-year lapse from daily attendance in school, she will be a freshman at Oakland University, majoring in English.

"A purely selfish desire for a college education" was the prime mover.

But it was through the Continuum Center that she discovered her potential, recaptured her self-confidence and received personal counseling.

It was these factors which prompted her "to stop putting it off any longer."

PURPOSES

Established by Oakland University three years ago, "the Center is designed to assist women in finding a meaningful place in the complicated world of the twentieth century."

Its services are tailored to the individual woman who desires information and guidance. The coordinated program is comprised of testing, personal assessment, counseling, educational and vocational guidance and personalized volunteer career placement advice.

The goals of the Center are three-fold. First of all, it tries to expose the world of the American woman to herself, enabling her to see the slice of society which is her individual setting.

* * *

Then it assists her in thinking through the situation, aiding her with solid information and supporting her with encouragement.

Lastly, it presses her toward deciding the best possible place for her in society.

The investigation Program, which is the Center's basis, is divided into two parts: investigation into identity and investigation into direction.

Ten group sessions and an opportunity for six private interviews compose the program.

REGISTRATION

This year the four classes will be limited to 50 each. Registrations are now being taken at the Center.

Orientations will be held Sept. 5, 12:30-3:30 p.m., in the Gold Room of the Oakland Center and on Oct. 15, 7-10 p.m., in Dearborn.

Mrs. Priscilla Jackson, Center director, will conduct the orientation. She will give her views of the changing world and the consequent role of women.

In addition, one of the three staff psychologists will describe the tests used and their meaning.

During the course of the 16 sessions, participants will try to determine, "What Am I Like?", "What Stage Am I In?" and "What Opportunities Are There For Me?"

There is also an optional session for husbands so they may see what their wives are going through.

Six months after completion of the program, the woman returns to the Center for a personal interview. This lapse allows the client to reconsider her situation and to evaluate her progress.

NOT UNIQUE

Reflecting upon her experiences while at the Center, Mrs. Dolan was most surprised at the number of women who had the same needs and were in the same situation."

Because she feels "You can do anything you want to if you have the desire and will power," she is not too worried about reestablishing her study habits.

"Besides, I have never really stopped going to school, for during my 22 years of marriage, I have pursued my interests through adult education courses," she explains.

Presently, she attends a weekly French class.

In her spare time, she enjoys swimming, skiing and skating.

* * *

"I favor all types of music, except mournful guitar playing," she added.

The activities of her seven children also keep her busy. She is an avid baseball and hockey fan and chauffeurs the kids to art, dancing and music lessons.

Children include: Charles, 21, stationed in Germany with the Army; Michael, 19; Patrick, 15; Paul, 13; Janet, 10; Joseph, 9 and Ann, 5.

And what does her family think of it all?

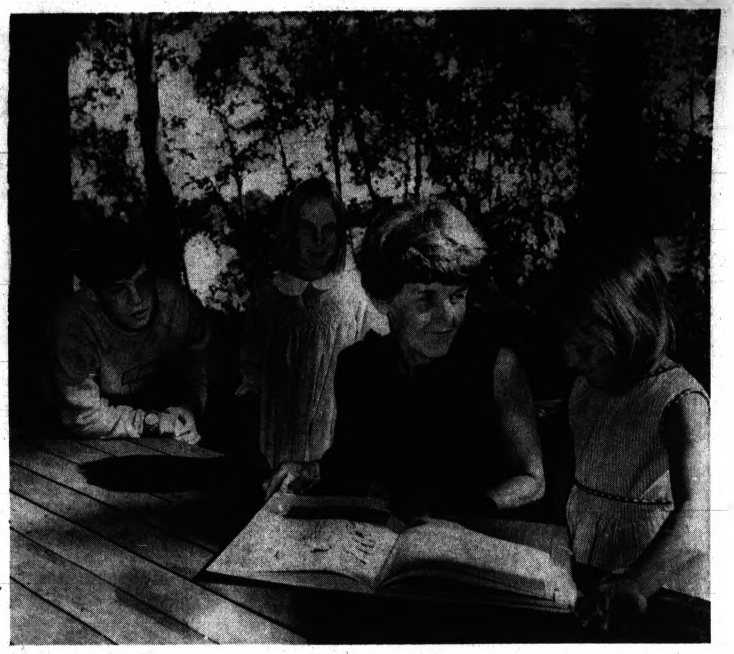
SPOUSE'S ATTITUDE

Mrs. Dolan claims her husband, a radiologist at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Detroit, "will remain indifferent, at least as long as it doesn't interfere with my household duties."

On the other hand, the children think "It's just great. They plan on my being a lot more understanding in regard to the problems they face and the way they look at things," she commented. "And I hope I am.

* * *

"Of course, I get a good deal of teasing, especially from the older ones. They even expect to see my report card!"



Pontiac Press Photo by Edward R. Noble

Mom, Mrs. Edward Dolan of Hammond Lake, will be "booking" it, too, this fall with son Paul, 13, and daughters Janet, 10, and Ann, 5. An Oakland University freshman, she is returning to daily school attendance after a 28-year lapse.

Abby: Don't Criticize His Boots--- Not if You Would Like a 'Podner'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please notice that this letter is from ELIZABETH, NEW JERSEY. There is a man I go with and like very much, but he is a nut about one thing. He wears TEXAS-type cowboy boots all the time!

ABBY

He wears regular clothes like every other well-dressed man in Elizabeth, but he will not wear anything else but these western style boots. I once asked him if he's from Texas, but he said no. He had once visited in Fort Worth and had become accustomed to cowboy boots — and found them to be so comfortable that he now won't wear anything else.

Don't you think they are out of place here? How can I get him to chuck these boots and be more normal?

INTERESTED IN HIM

DEAR INTERESTED: Let him wear what he wants, and don't criticize him. And if you are truly "interested in him," keep him foot happy. No man ever proposed to a woman when his feet hurt.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our son recently was divorced and married again. His second wife (also divorced) worked for him and there was a lot of talk about these two. Many said it was she who broke up his home.

We tried to be friendly and invited them to our home for supper many times. They came only once, and after that they were always "busy." Our son drops in to see us often, without her. We have never been invited to their home.

One Sunday, when our son was here, his wife phoned for him and I answered. She said, "I hope you don't feel hurt that I don't see more of you, but I would rather associate with other people. I don't want to get too attached to you for the simple reason that when you PASS AWAY I won't miss you so much."

Needless to say, I was dumbfounded. What do you make of this? We're not going to force ourselves on her. But isn't there something wrong with her thinking? What would you do in our place?

HURT

DEAR HURT: I would steer clear of her. And tell your son to save his money. He may need it for psychiatric help. She sounds sick.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I need some advice, and quick! My husband is leaving for Vietnam in three weeks. He wants me to live with HIS parents while he's gone. I want to go home and live with my OWN parents. We've been married for 14 months and have a small baby.

So far, all we've done is argue about this. I'm sure I'm not the only young wife with this problem. What do other wives do?

HIS OR MINE

* * *

DEAR HIS: I don't know what it's like at YOUR home, and what it's like at HIS home, how you feel about his family, etc. But a woman who is old enough to be a wife and mother should be mature enough to make her own decision.

I say, in your husband's absence go where you feel more at home.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that Montana professor that somebody here in Arkansas disagrees with him. He said, "a wife should be patient and encourage her husband to stay in graduate school, for they will both benefit from his increased earning capacity as well as the professional status boost he will have earned," or words to that effect.

I say, Phooey!. I quit college and worked for eight years in order to put my husband through medical school. Then he met a cute little nurse! He left me and took his "increased earning capacity and professional status boost" with him.

If I had been wise, I'd have finished my education in order to increase my earning capacity, because now I have to support myself.

Newlyweds Travel to Pacific Coast

Newlyweds, the David Paul Wieners (nee Virginia Sue Fagen) are honeymooning on the West Coast following their wedding in Orchard Lake Community Church.

For the noon ceremony, the bride held a cascading bouquet of Eucharis lilies with Stephanotis and ivy.

* * *

Her Empire ensemble was fashioned from peau de soie with a wedding ring neckline of Venetian lace which was repeated on a full front panel. To secure her English net veiling of shoulder length, she chose a Dior bow.

Carolyn Billingsley of Chicago, Ill., and Richard Johnson of Winnetka, Ill., assisted the couple as maid of honor and best man.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wiener of Chicago, Ill., and Dr. and Mrs. Robert O. Fagen of Commerce Road, West Bloomfield Township.

MRS. DAVID P. WIENER

MRS. RONALD M. FOLBERG

Folbergs Marry in Evening Rite

A honeymoon in Ontario followed Saturday vows in Five Points Community Church for Janice Ellen Johnson and Ronald Michael Folberg.

* * *

For the evening ceremony, the bride chose a full-skirted gown of organza over taffeta with appliques of reembroidered Alencon lace. A lace petal headpiece secured her bouffant illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and yellow roses cascading from a white orchid corsage.

HONOR MAID

Janice Johnson was maid of honor for her sister. They are the daughters of Mrs. Howard D. Johnson of Bald Mountain Road, and the late Mr. Johnson.

Gerald Lund served as best man. Robert Wiltshire and Donald Folberg ushered.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Sylvia Folberg of Detroit and Dr. Irving Folberg of Sierra Vista, Ariz.

* * *

A reception in the church parlors followed the vows.

In Bloomfield Hills Area

Couple Feted at Prenuptial Parties

The about-to-be-marrieds, James Glime and Ann Cunningham, will be in the spotlight for three more parties before their wedding Saturday afternoon at Kirk in the Hills.

Orchard Lake Country Club is the setting for the rehearsal dinner on Friday evening.

Tonight the bride elect's sisters, Mrs. William Herrington of Southfield and Mrs. Gary Downey of Beverly Hills will jointly host a spinster dinner at Mrs. Downey's home.

Jim's brother, William, is throwing a bachelor party the same evening.

* * *

Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cunningham of Bloomfield Hills. He is the president of the S. S. Kresge Co. Jim is the son of Mrs. William Glime of Ryal Oak, and the late Mr. Glime.

* * *

The couple plans to live in Madison Heights.

One name will be missing from the guest list — that of Jim's brother, Gene, who left Aug. 3 for Vietnam.

AUXILIARY

The William Beaumont Hospital Women's Auxiliary will honor its corps of teen-age workers at the second annual Volunteen Tea Tuesday afternoon at the hospital in Royal Oak.

* * *

This program is not over-at-the-end-of-summer. Some of the girls keep right on working after school starts, dashing over to the hospital and slipping into a volunteers' aqua pinafore whenever they can find the time.

* * *

The young ladies work in admitting, in the patient library, as pediatric play ladies or chaplain aides. Others deliver newspapers and flowers. Or just generally make themselves useful.

Among the local girls being honored are the Benson twins, Linda and Lisa; Margaret Furbacher, Jo Hallack, Linda Jositas, Joan Neiswander, Joyce Pinkerman, daughter of hospital director Owen R. Pinkerman; Patricia Rakolta, and Jennifer Woods, all of Bloomfield Hills.

Others are Kathleen Hillcoat, Sue Pulliam and Christy Speirn, of Oxford Lake.

* * *

Serving as "Volunteen" project chairman are Mrs. James Driver and Mrs. E. H. Webster, both of Bloomfield Hills, and Mrs. Donald Batty of Orchard Lake.

PARTY

The one last party before the trip down the aisle for Kristin Jeynes and Brian David Schick will be the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the Detroit Boat Club.

* * *

Giving the party are the prospective bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton J. Schick of Grosse Pointe. The club will be decked out in hot pink and orange for the occasion, the same color scheme followed for Kristin's showers. "They're her favorite colors," explained Mrs. Schick.

* * *

Kristin is the daughter of the Gordon F. Jeynes', of Bloomfield Hills.

* * *

Among the guests from this area will be Mr. and Mrs. Bill Breech who a fortnight ago gave a dinner party for the young couple.

Kristin and Brian are to be married Saturday in Christ Church Cranbrook.

MRS. THOMAS F. REEK

Recent Rite Unites Thomas F. Reeks

Newlyweds, the Thomas F. Reeks (nee Virginia Elizabeth Catterfeld) will make their home in East Lansing while both complete senior studies at Michigan State University.

The daughter of the Herbert C. Catterfelds of Troy and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald F. Reek of Imlay City were wed Saturday in St. John Lutheran Church. A reception followed the evening rite at the Rochester Elks' Lodge.

* * *

Attended by her sister, Judith, the bride wore a silk organza over peau de soie gown with Venetian lace accents. To secure her veil, she chose a petal headpiece and she held a nosegay of daisies with baby's breath.

ATTENDANTS

Barbara Catterfeld, Mrs. Richard McKee and Vivian Pringle were escorted by ushers Gregory Catterfeld, Richard Bye and Richard McKee, with best man honors performed by Herbert M. Quandt. Dennis Vargo and Richard Williams served as groomsmen.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in northern Michigan.

Vacationers Returning

Mrs. Harry J. Richards of Mohawk Road and Mrs. Omer Slaughter of West Huron Street have returned from a trip to San Francisco and Hawaii.

* * *

Mrs. Richards visited her son, Dr. Harold J. Richards and his family, who reside in North San Francisco.

BRADLEYS

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bradley of Sheridan Street have returned from a vacation trip to Des Moines, Iowa, where they visited friends and relatives.

Guests of Niblick Club

The Niblick Golf League met for golf and luncheon Tuesday at Pontiac Country Club.

* * *

Guests attending were: Bunny Allen and Mesdames Willam Lee, John D. Monroe, Barbara Bundo, Jenna White, Frank Syron Jr. and James Fitzgerald.

To Seek Marsh Birds

Members of the Pontiac Audubon Club will carry sack lunches to Erie Marsh Saturday, near Monroe, meeting there at 9 a.m., to watch for water and shore birds.

One Man Art Exhibit to Open in September

An exhibition of paintings, drawings and watercolors by Edward Giobbi will be on display at the Gertrude Kasle Gallery in the Fisher Building, Detroit, from Sept. 7 to Oct. 2.

* * *

The artist, a native of Waterbury, Conn., received most of his training in America and also studied for three years at the Academy of Fine Arts in Florence, Italy. He was artist-in-residence for the Ford Foundation in 1966.

An Early Show Is Best When Without Escort

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be unsuitable for a group of 10 or 12 young women to go to a nightclub without men? This group comprises a bridge club and we would like to go out some evening instead of playing bridge. One of the women thinks we would look conspicuously out of place. Do you agree? — Lisa

* * *

Dear Lisa: If you go for dinner and stay for the early show, it would be perfectly all right. But to go late in the evening without any men accompanying you, would be very conspicuous and out of place. In fact, it is possible you wouldn't be admitted.

WRITING

Dear Mrs. Post: My son sees a good deal of one particular young woman in the town where he is now working. She has been home with him to spend two weekends and both times has written me very nice letters afterwards. I would like to write a letter to her, and wondered how I should sign my name to this letter and what to call my husband when I refer to him or send his best regards to her. — Sheila Conway

* * *

Dear Mrs. Conway: You sign your letter Sheila Conway and you refer to your husband as "John's father."

BABY SITTER

Dear Mrs. Post: When friends pick us up to go out for the evening, is it necessary to introduce the woman we have engaged as a sitter? — Dolores

* * *

Dear Dolores: If she is in the hall or the living room with your friends for any length of time, yes. If you merely go right out with them, no. In other words, you would not take them into the house especially to introduce them to her.

BOTTLES

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it improper to serve meat sauce or catsup in their bottles at the table? I have always done this and see nothing wrong with it, but my mother criticized me the other day. — Virginia

* * *

Dear Virginia: For family meals it's all right, but catsup bottles have no place on an attractively set "company" table. If I were you, I would buy some cruets and a small tray to stand them on. You can find plenty of pretty and inexpensive ones in the stores.

A Fruitful Retirement

Creates a Family of Violins

By JUNE ELERT

A Quaker mother's fear that her son's fondness for the violin might lead to a similar fondness for dancing, has proved groundless.

Young Cassius Teague, though never permitted to own or study the instrument in his youth, nevertheless learned to "fiddle a little" while pursuing studies that led to a career in education spanning 40 years as mathematics teacher and schools superintendent.

* * *

Mr. Teague retired 22 years ago from his last teaching position at Cass Technical High School in Detroit.

He and his wife, Helen, herself a violinist, moved to a small farm and spent a few years in a relaxing division of their time between light farming and visits to Florida in the winter.

Cass, as he is known to friends, felt an itch to try his hand at building a violin.

He found a book about the art in a store in St. Petersburg and spent a year studying it before making his initial attempt. The first instrument was completed in 1951.

CRAFTSMAN

Over the years since then, the sometime fiddler has become a full-fledged craftsman, with a knowledge of the history and development of this "queen of instruments" which would make a music professor envious.

* * *

In describing the many minute processes used to perfect a new violin, Mr. Teague emphasized that top-quality woods must be used and that they must be air-dried.

He employs spruce and curly maple, thought to be from the Black Forest of Germany. The spruce is purchased in a thick block and from this the top of the soundbox is carved in one piece.

The curly maple is used for the back, sides (ribs), and neck.

Each of the parts is joined with a special glue.

Asked "what is the secret of tone in a good violin?" Cass said this is a question that is still being argued.

He said, "Scientists have made studies and can't agree. Some have thought the thinness or thickness of the various areas of the soundbox control tone.

"Some believe the quality of the varnish was what made the Stradivari tone so beautiful."

Using a violin which is presently "in the white," i.e. unvarnished, Mr. Teague demonstrated its tone and compared it with one of the first of his products.

He went on, "Others believe that aging of the instrument or the establishment of a pattern of vibrations set up when the bow is drawn across the strings, may be the controlling factor.

SOUL

"The French say the soundpost is the soul of the violin." The soundpost, he explained, stands, unglued, between chest and back under the right edge of the bridge, held in place by the precise fit of all parts in contact.

"And then, of course, there are the bass-bar, the strings, the dimensions of the chest and belly, the F-shaped sound holes and so on."

In the basement workshop of their present home in Oxford, Mr. Teague has made his own forms, templates and tools including calipers for measuring the graduating thickness of each wood section.

* * *

The ebony fingerboard, metal parts, strings and pegs are purchased, though sometimes the pegs have to be trimmed to fit.

I asked, "Why is it that other violin-makers, since the time of Amati, Guarneri and Stradivari, have not achieved the same fame?"

The answer (sort of tongue-in-cheek) was that perhaps those who believe that the mellowing of time brings the tonal beauty necessary for that fame are correct. Mrs. Teague pointed out that the Stradivari violins in existence now were hand-crafted by almost unchanged methods over 250 years ago.

* * *

Mr. Teague recently presented one of his instruments to the Music Department of Central Michigan University, his alma mater, for use by violin students who do not have suitable instruments to use for practice and performance.

He has kept most of his violins, though he has been persuaded to sell a very few to musician friends in Florida, where Helen has performed in orchestras.

Cass, who will celebrate his 87th birthday in October, says that when anyone asks him why he doesn't sell his violins, he counters, "Would you sell your children?"

BYRD-HERRICK

Honeymooning in the New England states are the James Byrds (nee Joan Herrick), who were wed Saturday in Christ Lutheran Church. For the candlelight vows, the bride chose a peau de soie sheath with Chantilly lace accents. A matching lace headpiece capped her elbow length veil and she held Stephanotis with white roses. Leading the party of six who attended the daughter of the Earl Herricks and the son of the Charles Byrds both of Milford, were Nancy Phip and Kent Byrd. Following the evening vows, the couple joined guests during a reception at the American Legion Hall.

Insert Ceiling Into the Washer to Save Time

What's the easiest way to wash the ceiling? According to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith of New York City, the system is to pop it into an automatic washer.

To lower the ceilings of their old-fashioned apartment, the Smiths (he is the director of the Museum of Contemporary Crafts) made a canopy by joining several lengths of double-knit, stretch nylon; sewed drapery rings around the edges; and suspended their new ceiling from cuphooks located around the moldings.

This ingenious idea would be easy to duplicate and easy to hang, as well as simple to keep clean with soap or detergent suds.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is a smart and rewarding idea to take advantage of all that is known concerning nutrition, beauty aids, and prolonging the youthful portion of life. So much exciting new information is constantly appearing.

However, in your enthusiasm, don't go haywire. Moderation rather than extreme measures are indicated. Sometimes when women write me about their beauty routine I wonder why their poor face isn't worn out. They beat it and stretch it and are continually putting something on it or taking something off of it.

I feel sure that we can overdo this, a woman can massage her face so vigorously that she stretches her skin.

In the name of fine nutrition a person may eat so much roughage that an irritated colon is the result. Filled with enthusiasm and determination, a woman may exercise so much when she is not accustomed to it that it injures her health. Almost as sad, she may build bulging muscles.

There have been instances when a woman took large unprescribed doses of vitamins over long periods of time, with drastic result. There is evidence that huge doses of vitamin A may cause loss of hair.

I am not referring to usual dosages. Many physicians feel that vitamin supplements are helpful, especially in the older age groups and in special conditions. However, these should not take the place of a diet which is rich in vitamin content.

The greatest blessings and helpful procedures, when taken to extreme, can be ruinous. Just because something is good for us, it doesn't mean that a lot more of it would be better. So take it easy!

'Preventive' Housecleaning Eases Load of Seasonal Work

CHICAGO (NFS) — The homemaker who follows a systematic program of preventive cleaning will find that the burden of seasonal clean-ups is considerably lightened.

* * *

Major seasonal projects such as painting and wall washing, indoor and outdoor repairs are definitely necessary, according to Mrs. Mary Gaffney, director of the Haggerty Home Care Institute, South Bend, Ind.

"But these major chores only become feasible when the home has been properly maintained with the help of the right tools and aids throughout the year," Mrs. Gaffney said.

She recommends a written list of daily, weekly, and monthly chores and a thorough investigation of specialized cleaning aids to get the job done.

"In today's market, there are myriad specialists ready to cater to the needs of glass, silver, metal and wood. These are the scientific servants of today and they come with expertise built right in," Mrs. Gaffney said.

Here are the steps the Haggerty expert recommends:

- Make a written list of daily, weekly and monthly cleaning tasks to be done within the framework of daily meals, laundry, and bedmaking.
- Save time with specialization. For example, it's easier to assemble tools once for vacuuming throughout the house than it is to do a room or two and then switch jobs.
- Keep cleaning tools, and aids together in a convenient closet. Whenever possible, spot "mini" cleaning stations in strategic areas throughout the home.
- Use every trick of the trade science can provide. Read labels on cleaning aids carefully and follow instructions implicitly.
- Take full advantage of the new products devised to do old jobs better

* * *

For example, use a good tarnish preventing liquid such as Silversmiths' polish or Silver Foam to keep silver polishing down to a minimum. Make upkeep easy with special Silversmiths' Gloves that allow you to use both hands to dust, polish, and restore the tarnish barrier.

* * *

For windows and decorative crystal, use a good aerosol cleaner such as Glass Bright.

Get Custom Look

There are several ways you can give cotton garments a custom-finished look when you sew. Here's one: use the zigzag attachment on your machine to finish inside seams. The garment will look better and wear longer.

SALASH-MOON

A floor-length veil of illusion capped with a pearl and rhinestone crown completed the satin and lace bridal ensemble of Sharon Lee Moon for her vows Saturday evening in Donelson Baptist Church with Victor Salash Jr. Parents of the couple are the Earl J. Moons of Lamont Street and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Salash of Clarkston. Ardis and Lynn Moon attended their sister as maid of honor and bridesmaid with Mrs. Richard LaMontagne. Best man was Robert Marikovics. Alfred Watson, Richard LaMontagne, Alfred Watson Jr. and Gary Simons ushered. A reception in the church parlors preceded the couple's departure for a honeymoon in northern Michigan.

TIMULAK - DELASKO

Carrying a bouquet of white baby carnations, Rita Marie Delasko was escorted to the alter of Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church, Saturday, where she became the bride of Patrick James Timulak. The former Miss Delasko wore a silk organza ensemble with lace accents and matching organza Cathedral train. A petal crown of pearls and lace capped her bouffant veiling. Honor attendents leading a party of 10 were Mrs. Keith Hartley and the bridegroom's brother, Joseph Timulak. Following a reception at the American Legion Hall, the daughter of the Joseph Delaskos of Watkins Lake Road and the son of the Joseph Timulaks of Central City, Pa., departed for a northern Michigan honeymoon.

Puerto Rican Honeymoon Trip Follows Recent Wedding Vows

Children Read Now

DEAR POLLY — Our home has several bookcases full of books and I still keep buying good books for my children. The problem was that the children never seemed to take time to read them. Two years ago I gave many of them to the school library and now the books come back home regularly as part of the school reading program.

* * *

I put a special mark in each book so I would recognize the ones I had given. This is a good, easy way to get the children to read and add to the school library. — MRS. T. C.

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — The asbestos cover that I use to protect my dining room table slips and this has become quiet a nuisance. I tried taping it but this does not look well and is not exactly the best treatment for the tables's finish. Has anyone an idea on how to "latch" this down? It is in two sections and also has an extra leaf. — MRS. H. K.

DEAR POLLY—I stuffed one of my baby's white cotton socks with scraps of wool that I had cut very fine, and use this for a small pressing mitt. It works wonderfully in baby's tiny puff sleeves when I iron them.

* * *

My mother must take a pill each day — one that is mandatory. Often she does not remember whether or not she has taken it. I saved little pill bottles and, when she buys a new supply, we put seven in each bottle, enough for one week. By checking on what day it is and the number left in the bottle she is sure whether or not she has taken the one for that day. — MRS. R. A. P.

DEAR POLLY—Those pretty dresses you have knitted will be so much lovelier if you simply roll an old towel, then roll your dress, starting at the hemline, over the towel roll. They will have no creases from folding or sagging shoulders from hanging. — MRS. J. P.

DEAR POLLY — I save left-over cookie and cake crumbs in a jar in the refrigerator. When enough have accumulated I use them for a quick pie crust or as topping for ice cream or canned fruit desserts. If you use them for pie crust, just follow your graham cracker crust recipe. — EVE JANE

Teacher, 12, Has Four Years of Experience

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Kathi Hessler is only 12 years old, but she has been "working" in her chosen field of teaching since she was 8, holding summer classes four days a week for neighborhood youngsters.

Though she is in charge of as many as 15 children ranging in age from 2 to 5, she claims she never has trouble with discipline. "Children will mind you," she declares, "if you try to be understanding, but firm. Never lose your temper and don't yell."

During the sessions Kathi tells stories, conducts group singing, arts, crafts and games. She also teaches the children colors, numbers and the alphabet.

"You have to keep each activity short and switch from one to another so they don't get impatient," explains the young teacher.

Miss Ragatz Says Wedding Vows

MRS. B. D. GOODRICH

Rosanna Fay Ragatz and Sgt. Bruce Dale Goodrich, USAF, were attended by Sharon Green and Rev. William Ballard as they exchanged vows Saturday in Pontiac's First Free Methodist Church.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Ragatz of M-15, Independence Township, chose a traditionally fashioned wedding gown of Rochelle lace over taffeta with a detachable court train.

* * *

A cluster of lily of the valley held her veiling and she carried white carnations with Stephanotis.

EVENING RITE

Assisting as bridesmaids during the evening ceremony were Mrs. Michael Peterson and Gail and Paula Ragatz with Beth Goodrich as flower girl.

On the esquire side were Gilbert Carlisle, Dan Ragatz and Lawrence, Ronald Richard and Michael Goodrich.

* *

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Goodrich of Flint and his bride, greeted guests during a reception in the church hall following the ceremony.

* *

They will make their home in Rapid City, S. D. while he completes his tour of duty at Ellsworth AFB, S. D.

A Son Arrives

Jeffrey Wayne has recently joined the family of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Graves of Perry Street. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Emery LaBarge of Boston Street and the Joseph Graveses of Monterey Street.

Protect Yourself With a 'Shrieker'

If you don't have a "shrieker," maybe you should. It weighs less than one ounce, is four inches long and can be carried in pocket or purse. It's an aerosol-operated siren you activate by pressing. The manufacturer says the noise it makes is so piercing and penetrating that any intruder or would-be attacker is stunned senseless the moment this shattering ultra-sound reaches his ear drums. The manufacturer also says the noise can be heard for half a mile.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

My favorite slightly A-line dress pattern is one I can always rely on and somehow it always looks different because of the fabrics and trimmings. Now I am faced with a new problem. I have some gorgeous border print silk and want to use this pattern. However if I do use this pattern the side seams will distort the design. Is there any way a dress with a shaped side seam can be cut without the seam? Mrs. L. D.

Dear Mrs. L. D.:

Yes, we have had rather good luck cutting border prints without a seam running clear through the hem, provided it isn't too much of an A-line. Tape the front side seam over the back side seam at the lower edge, possibly 9 or 10 inches from the hem, down to the edge of the pattern. You will find the side seams will spread open above this point.

*

Cut your dress as if the opening were a huge dart. Make your seam at the underarm on the original seam lines of the pattern, tapering to nothing above the pattern of your border print. The new dart will look like a seam, give you the fitting you desire, and still not destroy the border with too many seams.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Clarence Brinkley, Suffolk, Va., is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for her following sewing hint.

"When sewing lace or hem tape on the bottom of your skirts, take an extra tuck at the side seams. This is a real time-saver should the skirt have to be made longer, yet it doesn't detract from the neatness of your hem. It saves a lot of time when trying to find that little piece of tape or lace to match, so it is a two-way time-saver."

Dear Eunice Farmer,

I am making a lace bodice for a cocktail dress and wanted it to appear unlined. The lace is very open and I tried to stitch it without underlining. There are places where the stitches have nothing to catch to and I can't make it look right. Surely, there is an answer. I would appreciate your help. Mrs. M. E. T.

* * *

Dear Mrs. M. E. T.:

I have worked with the lace you are referring to and have come to the conclusion that it must be backed with very fine tulle. If you use the sheerest kind, it is not noticeable and it will eliminate the problem of stitching the lace at the seams and darts.

* * *

Mrs. N. D. says: "It's simple to match fabrics for the right accessories if you immediately cut off a small swatch of any fabrics you purchase. Place them in a small makeup purse and keep them in your purse wherever you go. You'll never have to return buttons, shoes, or whatever because you guessed the wrong color."

Clean Brushes Remain Effective

Housekeeping brushes must be kept clean because soil curtails their effiency and also cuts their fibers and bristles. Furthermore, they may become soggy and "sour" if allowed to remain dirty and damp.

Brushes should be washed after use by swishing through soap or detergent suds, then rinsed under running warm water. Shake off excess water, let them dry with bristles down — outdoors, if possible. Never store bruses until completely dry.

Flint Will Test Door-to-Door Bus Line Service

FLINT (AP) — Portal-to-portal buses — a kind that picks you up at the front door and puts you off at the building entrance nearest your job — go into service in this industrial city of 196,940 on Sept. 9.

Outside these buses look like any other city bus, but inside there's a big difference. Simulated leather seats are contoured, there's stereo music and interior colors are coordinated. Two pairs of twin seats face each other — for the card players.

Occasionally there'll be a couple of "bus bunnies" aboard, serving doughnuts and coffee and soliciting complaints and suggestions for improvement.

The buses represent an experiment in which private, city and federal agencies are cooperating in the hope of luring back to public transportation those who now clutter the expressways and parking lots with personally driven cars. It is destined to run three years.

Another aim, of course, is to wipe out deficits which now plague municipal transportation over much of the country. Flint's lost $169,319 in 1967, up from $75,716 the previous year.

Financial underwriters of the three-year experiment are the Mott Foundation of Flint, the Flint Transportation Authority, City of Flint and the U.S. Department of Transportation.

★ ★ ★

Cooperators include the American Academy of Transportation, a nonprofit transportation research agency of Ann Arbor, Mich., and General Motors Corp., which might lose some two-car families, but, of course, makes the $30,000 buses.

Newspaper racks and coffee vending machines may be added to the buses later.

ON-TIME PICKUP

And from the start, when 13 of the projected 26 buses go into operations, on-time pickup and delivery is guaranteed, along with a plush bucket seat. In case of a bus breakdown, a fleet of taxicabs will take over if another bus can't make it on time.

Also guaranteed is pickup within half a block of home, if not at the front door, and a discharge at the plant or office door nearest one's job station.

For this so-called maxi-service a monthly fee ranging from $9 to $18 monthly is being charged, the amount dependent upon distance traveled.

For the estimated one per cent of Flint factory workers who use regular city buses now, the cost runs $12 to $15 monthly, regardless of where one lives. Fare is 35 cents each way or 30 cents if tickets are purchased in three-dollar blocks.

OBVIOUS SAVINGS

Obvious savings to users of the new maxi-service buses in preference to private cars would be gasoline, oil, auto insurance, depreciation on the family car, traffic-jam nerves and shoe leather.

★ ★ ★

Monthly subscriptions are necessary to get the maxi-service, and they're being solicited at booths in factories, by direct mail and through telephone calls.

★ ★ ★

The program will begin with 13 buses making runs to six Flint General Motors Corp. plants, where GM employs some 70,000 persons. The other 13 are to be added in October and November.

★ ★ ★

The buses are regular 45 passenger vehicles from which two double seats have been removed, to permit the facing of two pairs. This gives each a 41-passenger capacity.

PAY ITS OWN WAY

To be a success in the view of sponsors the experiment will have to pay its own way eventually and return to the Flint Transportation Authority the $70,000 annually it is expected to drain off the regular municipal bus system.

★ ★ ★

General Motors computers have produced cards showing address, shift, starting and quitting time, and gate closest to work station for all the company's Flint employes. The authority has plotted these on city maps to assure at-the-door or within half-a-block pickup and proper drop-off.

Flint's share of the operational cost is provided by a $100,000 grant from the Mott Foundation, a private philanthropy of industrialist-financier Charles Stewart Mott, and $18,857 from the transportation authority.

The U.S. Department of Transportation is putting up $517,516 to develop and operate the experiment for three years and $355,792 for purchase of the 26 buses. City Council has appropriated another $355,792 for bus purchases.

Supersonic Jet Is on Horizon

Russia in Race With British-French Plane

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Russians are coming — this time in a supersonic transport.

The Soviet entry into the supersonic air travel race is expected to be unveiled this fall, possibly in October. Sources said it could be test-flown by the end of the year, barring technical flaws.

★ ★ ★

If the Soviets keep to this schedule, they will be in a race to the wire with the British-French Concorde.

The Concorde was rolled out last December — but since then its scheduled test flight has been postponed several times. Officials now predict the history-making flight will take place in November.

NOT IN THE RACE

The American SST is not in the race. In fact, it still is on the drawing board. Originally, backers of the American SST expected to have a prototype constructed by 1972. In February, the Boeing Co., builder of the plane, announced a one-year delay in construction while engineers labored to solve "serious design problems" including overweight.

★ ★ ★

The Soviets, however, appear to have kept close to their original schedule. Their plane, known as the TU144, is expected to go into scheduled service by 1970.

When the American SST arrives, it will be bigger and faster than both the Soviet and British-French entries. But the TU144 and the Concorde are evenly matched.

THEY'LL CARRY 140

The TU144 is a needle-nosed, delta-wing airplane with a top speed of about 1,400 miles an hour. Like the Concorde, it will carry about 140 persons.

Four jet engines slung under the fuselage will provide the thrust for the plane. And it is expected to operate at altitudes of up to 65,000 feet. The TU144 is slightly shorter than the Concorde — 180 feet to 190 feet.

★ ★ ★

The planned American version dwarfs both planes. The American SST is expected to reach speeds of 2,000 miles an hour and carry 300 persons.

But American designers were reported considering dropping one of the main differences between the three planes — the movable wing.

SONIC BOOM

The original design approved for the American SST called for a movable wing which would allow the plane to operate at subsonic speeds over congested areas, eliminating the sonic boom.

But officials at Boeing now admit they are considering switching back to the Delta wing used by the Russian and British-French designers.

Dr. Oaks Says

X Ray Helpful if Used Right

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a weekly series of articles issued by the Oakland County Medical Society. Dr. Oaks is the collective voice of the society.)

"Breathe in. Hold it. Ok, breathe out." There's a click behind you and you've had another chest X ray. It's painless, and as a practical matter, harmless. Nevertheless, you've been exposed to radiation — both a large hazard and benefit in this nuclear age.

The whole thing started just 73 years ago through the efforts of W. C. Roentgen, who discovered penetrating rays which he called X rays.

Combined with later experiments, the radiation process altogether resembles a three-barreled gun.

One barrel shoots alpha particles; the second barrel — a smaller bore — shoots beta particles, and the third barrel emits no bullets at all — just waves called gamma rays.

POWERFUL PARTICLE

These particles can penetrate solid substances, creating both the hazards and benefits of radiation. The medical applications of this phenomenon become obvious.

When a radiation particle passes through the body it will hit cells in its path and these cells will be altered in some way. In the case of treatment, such as with cancer, the object may be to hit the diseased cell with enough bullets to destroy it. Nearby cells are also struck by the radiation particle, but these recover.

This is the problem — to direct just enough particles to destroy some cells and permit still other healthy cells to recover.

A second application of medical radiation is known as the X ray. The waves are directed at the human body and we interupt these high flying waves by placing a photographic plate behind the area through which the rays pass.

X RAY FILMS

Images are produced which, when developed, are called X ray films. Since medical science knows what the structure is in its normal state, any alteration as detected in the picture is described as abnormal.

When is radiation a hazard?

A truly wonderful diagnostic tool, radiation is hazardous when a human body receives too much. The limits vary with the structure. Much is still to be learned about what is the absolute safe limit.

Used with the proper safeguards by experts aware of all the modern protective devices available, the value of the information gained by X ray examination has to far outweigh the risks.

LIMITS VARY

The standards or limits vary not only with the accumulative amount, but also with the type of radiation, direct or indirect.

For example, the scatter from an X ray of the teeth may extend all the way to your toes, but the exposure will not be enough to do any damage, say to the stomach.

There is of course a nearly constant contact with radiation. The commonest sources of radiation are natural or cosmic rays and radiation from the earth. The amount varies with the location and the climate.

Various studies have indicated that 1958 was the worst year for such cosmic fallout. This source of radiation has been on the decrease since nuclear blasts in the atmosphere have been discontinued.

(If you have a question for Dr. Oaks, send your card or letter to: Oakland County Medical Society, 346 Park, Birmingham, 48009. Specific medical advice cannot be given.)

Impala Sport Coupe

Impala runs so smoothly somebody named an antelope after it.

We did all the usual things car builders do to hush and gentle a ride. And because putting you first keeps us first, we did some not-so-usual things. Like using advanced electronic computers to fine-tune any trace of harshness or vibration out of this Chevrolet Impala's suspension system. Like designing its stance (widest of any car at its price) for an extra-sure grip on curves. And foam-cushioning the seats, front and rear. And cushion-mounting the engine and transmission (so you ride relaxed even when things are hustling under the hood).

What it all adds up to is a feeling of serene confidence at the wheel. Sometime very soon, maybe after a hard day at work, drop down to your Chevrolet dealer's and sample it for yourself. You'll see why people get carried away over which Impala was named after which. And especially now when the savings on all Chevrolets are bigger than ever.

You get the biggest year-end savings just where you'd expect to.

Insults Fly as South Africa's Afrikaners Resist Anglicization

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The two big white tribes of South Africa are swapping insults again.

Some of the Afrikaners who rule South Africa have warned their followers not to be seduced into thinking of English-speaking and Afrikaans-speaking people as one nation.

An English-language newspaper retorted that such talk is "knuckleheaded, introverted, jingoistic claptrap."

Friction harking back to the Boer War of 1899-1902 spotlights this country's split national personality. Afrikaners still become incensed on recalling that 26,000 persons, many of them women and children, died in British prison camps during that war.

DUTCH DESCENT

Afrikaners and their unique language are descended from Dutch-speaking Boer pioneers who opened up the interior of what now is South Africa. Their religion was sternly Calvinist and their view of non-Afrikaner foreigners or "uitlanders," who poured into the country seeking diamonds and gold, was one of doubt and suspicion.

Disputes between the two groups now extend from the names of new autos to marriage customs.

* * *

When General Motors put a new model on sale as "South Africa's own car" it was criticized in Afrikaans quarters because its trade name Ranger was "too English."

* * *

The Rev. Johan Dreyer urged in a church magazine that "un-Afrikaans, alien and unnatural" marriage customs be stopped in South Africa's Dutch Reformed Churches. He wants kissing in church stopped.

South Africa's 3.5 million whites are about 60 per cent of Afrikaner descent and 40 per cent English-speaking. Afrikaners have long resented English speakers' dominance of industry and commerce.

A survey has indicated South African youth want to form a homogenous group of whites in this country, but Afrikaner conservatives insist this cannot be.

* * *

"The Afrikaner is determined after all these years of struggle not to dilute his language for the sake of an imaginary unity," warned Andries P. Treurnicht, editor of the Afrikaans newspaper Hoofstad.

Afrikaners might lose their struggle to build an Afrikaner nation if they and English speakers assimilated, said Prof. R. Duvenhage of the University of Potchefstroom.

FIGHT ENGLISH

Dr. Sybrand G. J. van Niekerk, administrator of Transvaal Province, said the Federation of Afrikans Cultural Associations was formed in 1929 to fight poverty and English. These struggles had been won, he said, but a continuing fight must be waged against the idea that English should get preference in South Africa just because it is a world langage.

The antigovernment Rand Daily Mail has criticized "the calculated and sustained attempt by Afrikaner nationalism to impose its own system of norms and values on the whole community."

* * *

"This is big jingoism and, by jingo, it is time the English-speaking section told the Afrikaner nationalists exactly what they can do with it," the Daily Mail added.

The dispute also reflects a factional fight in the ruling Nationalist party between moderate followers of Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster and ultra-conservatives.

BLACK AID

Right-wingers view Voster's "outward looking" foreign policy with dismay. They suggest, without actually saying so, that Vorster's decision to open diplomatic relations and offer aid to black Africa, as well as other liberal—for South Africa—moves, betray Afrikanerdom.

Vorster clearly has the upper hand, and he says: "As long as I remain leader I will not allow anybody to undermine the unity of Afrikanderdom."

'Germ Factory' to Open Doors

British Lab Shedding Secrecy

By Science Service

LONDON — Under considerable pressure, the British government has at last decided to open its Microbiological Research Establishment — the so-called germ warfare factory — to the public. Open houses are to be held there next year.

This is a considerable victory for those who have insisted that the veil of secrecy should be lifted from this type of research.

* * *

The repeated assurances of the director, Dr. Gordon Smith, that only basic and defensive research is undertaken has carried little conviction, mainly because no one has been allowed to visit the establishment.

The problem that scientists and others now face, as they await the formal opening of the doors, is how they are to judge the information when it is presented.

YARDSTICK

It would be easy for the administration to fob them off with half-truths, to display an impressive but meaningless array of technical detail.

Fortunately there is a yardstick to measure the information by.

* * *

By assiduously combing the scientific literature it is possible to gain a glimpse of what goes on at Porton Down, in Wiltshire.

This glimpse suggests that the establishment's researchers may have much of which to be proud.

CONTINUOUS GROWTH

They can justly claim, for example, to have pioneered a method now widely used in industry for continuously growing bacteria.

A major part of the research seems to be an attempt to understand how germs produce disease. Included in this is an attempt to explain why some strains of bacteria (such as those responsible for plague and anthrax) are more virulent than others.

* * *

Similarly there is the question of why certain organisms attack only selected hosts.

These are just a few of the topics — the more humanitarian ones — that can be found in open publications.

SPREAD BY AEROSOLS

But there are others. There are those, for example, that deal with the way in which the causative organisms of many diseases can be spread by aerosols. Viewed in a humanitarian light this could mean finding out more about the way in which coughs and sneezes spread diseases.

But it could also mean discovering how best to disable an enemy by spraying his troops with the solution from the air.

* * *

Since much of the research in this field deals with methods of promoting the survival of bacteria, by adding protective mixtures to the suspending fluid, it is difficult to find a nonoffensive interpretation for it.

It is the double meaning that disturbs the British. This has not been helped by snatches of news in the daily press that scientists at the Microbiological Research Establishment are collaborating closely with their American colleagues at Ft. Detrick, Md. It is openly admitted that the work at Ft. Detrick is conducted for offensive purposes.

Then again, there are rumors that the tear gas used in the recent Paris riots and in Vietnam was given life at Porton Down. This may be no more than a rumor, but it is clear that the basic and defensive research, if such it is, can readily be applied for offensive purposes.

Three thousand miles across the Atlantic there are, so to speak, facilities readily available for growing vast quantities of highly infectious and virulent bacteria — and if information can flow one way, supplies can obviously flow the other.

These are the unpalatable facts that the British public hopes will be aired next year.

Moscow Tightens Grip on Red World

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

In one swift stroke, the Russians have reimposed the cold war, altered the course of politics around the globe and possibly even ignited the long fuse of a major crisis in world communism.

The sudden invasion of Czechoslovakia makes it abundantly clear that Moscow's hawks prevailed over its doves in the Soviet Politburo. This in itself has the elements of a future internal Soviet political crisis.

But much more than that has happened overnight.

* * *

Moscow has served notice on Communist nations that none can ever hope to escape from the Soviet grip. An official statement said "the fraternal parties"—meaning the Kremlin—"will never allow anyone to drive a wedge between Socialist states, to undermine the foundations of the Socialist system."

* * *

The statement is likely to cause some alarm in Romania, whose Communist regime, while adhering to strict party rule internally, has tended to go its own way in foreign and trade affairs. It can even cause some alarm in Yugoslavia whose leaders, along with the Romanians, supported Czechoslovak liberals.

SEVERE SETBACK

The invasion has severely set back, if not destroyed, hopes in the near future of East-West accord to remove world tensions or to scale down the nuclear weapons race.

It is bound to place American troops on the alert in Korea and elsewhere.

It throws into doubt Soviet plans for an international Communist conference in Moscow in November, where the Russians had hoped to plug up some of the gaping holes in the fabric of what once was considered a monolithic world movement.

It probably will have a heavy impact on the U.S. political campaign. Displays of Soviet military might tend to unify Americans, just as they tend to frighten and unify the allies of the United States.

Moscow has taken what many around the world had discounted as an unthinkably rash step. Various analysts had expected that the Soviet Union would apply all manner of pressure against the reform regime of the Czechoslovak Communist party to halt moves toward liberalization. But invasion had been ruled out as something which would cost the Kremlin far more than it might gain.

News Analysis

DEEP CRISIS

Once again, the Kremlin has delivered a severe jolt to Communists outside its orbit. This was a move feared by parties such as those in France and Italy. For them it represents deep crisis. They had been making headway by representing themselves as advocates of legal progress to power. The shock of the Soviet move can be costly to them.

Communist parties have been severely set back in the past by Soviet actions such as the invasion of Finland before World War II, the Nazi-Soviet pact which opened the floodgates of war, the crushing of the Hungarian revolution in 1956. Each time the recovery process for Communist parties is longer and more difficult.

Internally, the Soviet leadership may have to pay a price. It seems fairly clear that there was tense debate in the ruling Soviet Politburo over what to do about Czechoslovakia, involving hawks who wanted to crush the Czechoslovak movement quickly and doves who preferred the more cautious policy of waiting and applying pressure.

The argument seemed to have left in the middle the top political leaders of the Soviet Union: the party's general secretary, Leonid I. Brezhnev, and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. Hardline Stalinists appeared to want immediate surgery to remove what they regarded as a threat in Czechoslovakia to Communist parties throughout the orbit.

WORLD POWER

Eventually, this can mean a shakeup at the top of the Soviet power structure. The hawks are supported by Soviet generals preoccupied with world power politics.

In Prague the Russians may reinstate Antonin Novotny, the pro-Moscow, neo-Stalinist who was removed from the party and government leadership early this year when the Czechoslovak reform movement was gathering steam.

Only Soviet arms could reinstall Novotny, who was widely hated and often blamed for the stagnant state of Czechoslovakia's economy.

* * *

Brezhnev made a hasty trip to Prague last December in an effort to keep Novotny in his posts as president of the country and boss of the party. He failed.

The Czechoslovaks came up with an "action program" intended to attack the country's economic ills, much of which could be laid at the door of the Soviet Union itself, and to reform the unwieldy bureaucracy built up under Novotny.

For many Czechoslovaks it had been a bright prospect.

Now all that structure has tumbled. The lesson will be a harsh one for those forces inside the Soviet Union itself which had hoped for reforms in the Communist political system—and for a better life.

Ghostly Light Is on Tap for Sky Watchers

By National Geographic Society

WASHINGTON — A ghostly light, shaped like a giant surfboard, will glow on the eastern horizon before morning twilight in September.

The curious phenomenon is known as Zodiacal Light, the National Geographic Society says.

* * *

Astronomers believe it is caused by sunlight reflected from an enormous cloud of interplanetary dust and ionized gas.

The pancake-shaped cloud extends from the sun as far, perhaps, as Jupiter, some 500 million miles away.

FAILED TO CONDENSE

Some astronomers believe the giant cloud consists of matter left over from the creation of the universe — material that failed to condense into stars or planets.

Others theorize that comets, which have passed by the sun for countless eons, cast off most of these particles.

* * *

More elusive than the Zodiacal Light is a phenomenon known as Gegenschein, a German word meaning "countergiow."

Gegenschein is a patch of light that appears at a point in the sky directly opposite the sun's position on the other side of the world.

SAME DUST

One theory attributes Gegenschein to the same interplanetary dust that causes zodiacal light.

Another holds that the earth may have a tail similar to a comet's, created by solar wind and pressure, and it may cause Gegenschein.

* * *

Zodiacal light is best seen on a clear, moonless morning. Then it will appear as a faint, hazy cone of light extending upward from the eastern horizon.

* * *

Gegenschein is far more difficult to observe but may be seen during September on very clear mornings, especially in the mountains.

In another astronomical event during September earth reaches autumnal equinox on Sept. 22 at 7 p.m. EDT. At the equinox, the polar axis is tilted during September, earth neither towards nor away from the sun, and night and day are both about 12 hours long.

Deep Splits Threaten Nazi Party in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — One year after the assassination of its founder—George Lincoln Rockwell—the American Nazi party, its name changed, appears outwardly more prosperous, more sophisticated. But its private papers disclose deep splits with several factions competing for a control of the tiny movement.

What apparently is the principal Nazi organization—now known as the National Socialist White Peoples party, NSWPP—has bought a two-story building in a quiet middle-class neighborhood in suburban Arlington, Va.

★ ★ ★

There, in a second-floor office that is carpeted wall-to-wall in deep red, Matthias Koehl Jr., 33, presides as national leader. Seated beneath a four-foot red banner bearing a black swastika—symbol of Adolph Hitler's Third Reich— Koehl rules a tiny band of armed racists and anti-Semites.

★ ★ ★

Koehl was second in command last Aug. 25 when Rockwell was shot by a sniper outside an automatic laundry in an Arlington shopping center. The sniper, former Nazi party member John Patler, has since been convicted and sentenced to 20 years in prison.

RACE WAR SEEN

Koehl, a native of Milwaukee, Wis., speaks glibly and without hesitation as he talks of the aims of the Nazis—and of his own predictions for the future of the United States:

"What we know is coming is race war. Race war is just around the corner in historical terms. We expect there will be a serious American defeat in Vietnam because of the administration's no-win policy."

He sees also hard economic times coming "because of dwindling reserves of gold and silver. "There's going to be chaos in America—we will hold out at that time the only alternative."

But while the basic aims of the Nazis haven't changed, their activities have. They've largely stopped their publicity seeking antics and they've turned to use of the telephone for what Koehl calls the "white power message." One such message, opposing the elevation of Associate Justice Abe Fortas to chief justice called him "a Red Jew —an utterly despicable one."

DISOBEDIENCE URGED

And more recently Koehl's recorded voice urged District of Columbia residents to disobey the new district gun registration law, and instead obtain a minimum of 100 rounds of ammunition for each weapon they own. It urged they find secure hiding places for their weapons.

But while the Nazis are less visible since Rockwell's death, Koehl rejects any idea that the assassination also killed the party.

"Since the assassination we've increased about 25 to 30 per cent in membership and support," he said.

Although Koehl will not disclose the size of his organization or its budget, he said "our income is rising steadily. We have developed new sources of income."

PARTY IN PHASE II

And if the party doesn't seem as prominent it's because it has entered Phase II of its development, as Koehl explains it. Koehl said Rockwell's plan called for three phases in development of the party.

The first, begun with the 1956 founding, was "to make the party known at all costs—to project an image of the party as an all-out enemy of communism, of race mixing, or Jewish treason." This called for picketing and stunts to obtain any publicity possible.

★ ★ ★

The second phase—which Koehl estimates will take two to five years—calls for building the party internally, forming the mechanism of what Koehl calls the "revolutionary cadre."

The final phase, he said, will be to "build a grass roots movement in American politics."

PARTY SMALL

Koehl readily concedes that the party is small, but he says the number does "not accurately reflect the true strength of our organization." This agrees to some extent with a recent estimate of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover who said that while the party is believed to have fewer than 100 members, "through publicity and propaganda it can often achieve influence that is entirely out of proportion to its membership."

Koehl publicly denies that there are any splits or factions in the party, but one recent issue of the "NS Bulletin," the party's official internal publication, contained pleas to "back party unit . . . reject splintering."

★ ★ ★

A key splinter group, headquartered in the Los Angeles area, calls itself the American Nazi party. Its publication, "Attack!", signed by "Capt. George Carpenter, national secretary," says that since Rockwell's death, the Nazi movement "has no real leader. All white men in America are waiting for a man of the quality of Adolph Hitler to make himself known and lead the white race to victory."

The Los Angeles group, which would like to take over the NSWPP and rename it the American Nazi party, is composed mostly of former Nazi party members now classified by the Koehl faction as malcontents.

MASS DRIVEAWAY—Martin J. Caserio (left), a vice president of General Motors and general manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division, and Robert C. Stelter, divisional sales manager, inspect some of the 96 heavy-duty GMC diesel trucks which are to be driven Monday to dealers in 30 states and two Canadian provinces. The driveaway kicks off a massive truck demonstration program dramatizing the division's quality manufacturing operation, according to Caserio.

Patients Like Flowers, but There's Knack to It

NEW YORK CITY (UPI) — Planning to send some flowers to a relative or friend who is in the hospital?

There's a right way and a wrong way of doing it, and if you do it right you'll cheer the hospital staff as well as the patient.

★ ★ ★

Hospital administrators interviewed in a recent survey by Florists' Transworld Delivery agreed that flowers have a definite therapeutic value, especially for the patient who may not often have visitors.

However, because of the critical help situation in hospitals nationally, a prime concern among the administrators was how to facilitate handling of flowers in their institutions.

SOME SUGGESTIONS

To this end, they came up with some general suggestions for floral gifts to hospital patients:

- Long-lasting flower varieties should be selected, and those which are not heavily scented.
- The patient's name should be supplied to the florist so it agrees with the hospital registry (Mrs. Mary Smith, not Mrs. John Smith) and the room number should always be provided.
- The size of the floral arrangement is significant. Hospital rooms are not large enough, or adequately furnished to contain large arrays of flowers. Hospital administrators advise that the outside measurement should be approximately 21 inches wide by 24 inches high.

The FTD researchers said a floral gift, although kept small, can still be given an expensive look by a petite but clever design.

They suggested asking the florist to create a design using accessories which pertain to the patient's interest or hobbies. Another way is to order an arrangement of less common blossoms.

Opening lead—♣ A

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Anyone who draws trumps automatically will be burdened by misfortune on many occasions. Not that this column is opposed to drawing trumps. They should be drawn when, and if, you can afford to do so.

JACOBY

South ruffed the club opening and led a trump to dummy's ace. When both opponents followed, South relaxed happily. All he had to do was to pull the rest of the trumps and concede two spade tricks to the defense!

★ ★ ★

He pulled the rest of the trumps. West let the three of spades and deuce of clubs go. South started to claim but decided it would be easier just to play the hand out. He led a low spade toward dummy.

West hadn't relaxed at all. He had figured out the whole hand by a process of elimination and simply played a low spade.

Dummy's king won the trick and the jack was played next. West let that hold also and South's period of relaxation was over.

★ ★ ★

He might just as well have stayed relaxed since he was not going to make his contract. Dummy's king of clubs would take care of one of his four spades but South was going to have to lose the other three. Eventually the last one would be high but South would have no way to get back to his hand to collect a trick with it.

South really had no excuse. He would have been sure of his contract if he had abandoned the trump suit after the second lead and gone after spades.

There would be all sorts of lines of play left for the defense and we will leave them to you to work out. All sorts of lines of play — but with one thing in common. Not one would beat the contract.

Peaches Served Any Way Are Delicious

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Michigan peaches are famous the world over—and with justification. The Haven variety was originated here and now about every country that grows peaches has some Havens.

The first Havens come about the second week in August and successive ones follow in nice progression up into September.

They're all freestone, have good flavor and are excellent for eating out of hand, canning and freezing.

★ ★ ★

Spiced peaches are a delightful accompaniment to many meats. But this spiced peach salad puts the spices into the gelatin. You'll like the contrast in taste, appearance and texture of the cottage cheese mounded in the center of the mold.

Spiced Jellied Peaches

1 cup sugar
1½ cups water
½ cup vinegar
24 whole cloves
2 sticks cinnamon
2 packages (3 oz. each) or 1 package (6 oz.) orange flavor gelatin
1½ cups cold water
8 fresh peeled peach halves

Combine sugar, 1½ cups water, the vinegar, and spices in a saucepan. Bring to a boil over low heat. Simmer 10 minutes. Remove from heat; strain, measuring syrup. Add boiling water to make 1 cup hot liquid. Dissolve gelatin in the hot liquid. Add 1½ cups cold water.

Arrange peach halves in a 1½-quart mold. Pour gelatin over peaches. Chill until firm. Unmold. Makes 8 servings.

★ ★ ★

Michigan Peach Bars are peach-topped cookies. Cut into small squares, they go on the tea table or as an accompaniment to ice cream. If it is the entire dessert, cut the recipe into larger servings.

Michigan Peach Bars

BOTTOM LAYER

1½ cups biscuit mix
1 cup light brown sugar
½ cup hard butter or margarine

Combine ingredients with a pastry blender and press into a 13x9x2 inch pan evenly.

TOP LAYER

⅔ cup biscuit mix
½ cup light brown sugar
2 teaspoons dry orange peel
½ cup seedless raisins
½ cup sliced almonds
2½ cups sliced fresh peaches
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons milk

Mix first five ingredients in large bowl. Add peaches, eggs and milk, stirring only until all ingredients are well moistened. Spoon peach mixture over bottom layer, spreading evenly to cover it completely. Bake for 35-40 minutes in an oven preheated to 375 degrees.

★ ★ ★

Cut with a sharp knife as soon as pan is removed from the oven. Allow to cool before taking bars from the pan. Makes 2-2½ dozen.

TRADITIONAL

Deep Dish Pie is a traditional American dessert. Made with fresh peaches, it's served warm with a fluffy cream cheese topping. Some folks may prefer whipped cream, regular cream or even ice cream.

"Peachy keen!" is an expression of the young. Both young and old will think that about the following peach desserts. One of them is bound to appeal to some member of the family. So try them all.

PEACH AMBROSIA

1 orange
1 lemon
⅓ cup honey
½ cup orange juice
4 fresh peaches, peeled and halved
½ cup whipping cream
1 pint vanilla ice cream
⅔ cup toasted coconut

Grate orange and lemon rind. Juice orange and lemon. Place juice, grated rind, honey and additional orange juice in saucepan. Bring to a boil and simmer another 15 minutes. Allow to cool, then cover and refrigerate until chilled.

ASSEMBLING

Just before serving, whip the cream. Place a peach half in a dessert dish. Place a scoop of ice cream on top of the peach half. Pour some of the chilled syrup over the ice cream. Top with whipped cream and toasted coconut. Serves 8.

Or, if you use two peach halves, as shown in the picture, prepare 8 peaches, but do not double the other ingredients.

SCONEFLOWER PEACH COBBLER

Peach Filling

⅓ cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon ginger
1 cup water
4 cups sliced fresh peaches*
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
⅓ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
½ cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
1 egg

Scone Topping

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour

Heat oven to 400 degrees. For filling, combine sugar, cornstarch and ginger in large saucepan. Gradually blend in water. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a boil and is thickened. Add peaches; keep hot while preparing topping.

TOPPING

For topping, sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in oats.

Break egg into measuring cup and beat slightly with fork. Add enough milk to measure ½ cup. Add egg-milk mixture to flour mixture; stir with fork until dough can be formed into ball.

★ ★ ★

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead gently a few seconds. Roll out to ½-inch thickness. Cut with floured doughnut cutter to make 8 circles. Do not remove centers.

With floured scissors, make five snips around edge of each circle, to resemble petals. Sprinkle with sugar.

Pout hot filling into 9-inch square baking pan. Arrange scone circles with centers on top of filling in a circle, with one in center. Bake in preheated oven 15 to 20 minutes, or until scones are golden brown. Serve hot or cold. Top with cream or whipped cream, if desired. Makes 8 servings.

★ ★ ★

*NOTE: Thawed frozen peaches can be used in place of fresh peaches. Drain well, reserving 1 cup syrup. Use peach syrup in place of water. Reduce sugar to ¼ cup and cornstarch to 2 tablespoons.

FRESH PEACH TAPIOCA

2 cups sliced fresh peaches
2 tablespoons butter
⅓ cup granulated sugar cup quick-cooking tapioca
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
2½ cups water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¾ teaspoon almond extract (optional)

★ ★ ★

Combine peaches, butter, granulated sugar, tapioca, brown sugar, salt, nutmeg, lemon rind, water, and lemon juice in a saucepan. Let stand 5 minutes. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil.

★ ★ ★

Reduce heat and simmer 2 minutes, or until peaches are tender. Remove from heat. Add almond extract. Pour into serving bowl or dishes.

★

Serve warm or chilled topped with whipped cream, if desired. Makes 4½ cups or 8 servings.

INDIVIDUAL SOFT MERINGUE WITH FRESH PEACHES

1 cup milk
2 tablespoons corn starch
¼ cup sugar
½ cup flaked or shredded coconut
4 large egg whites (⅓ cup)
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
Sweetened sliced fresh peaches

★ ★ ★

In a medium saucepan, gradually stir the milk into the corn starch blending until smooth. Cook and stir constantly over medium heat until mixture is smooth and thickened and comes just to a boil.

★ ★ ★

Remove from heat. Stir in sugar, salt and coconut. Cool slightly.

★ ★ ★

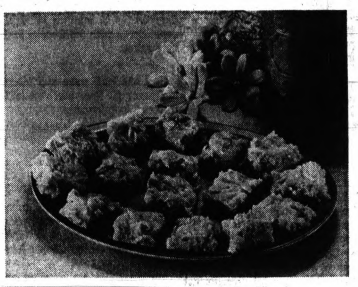
Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until they hold stiff straight peaks when beater is slowly raised. Fold in cooled sauce. Turn into 8 ungreased (6-ounce) custard cups filling to about ¼-inch from top. Place in a pan of hot water.

BAKE, CHILL

Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven until puffed and lightly browned — about 40 minutes. Cool; chill.

★ ★ ★

Run a small spatula around edges and turn out; do not try to unmold the meringues until after chilling. Serve with sweetened sliced fresh peaches. Makes 8 servings.



MICHIGAN PEACH BARS

Peach Tips

Peaches with the merest green ground color will not ripen satisfactorily because they were not mature when picked. Firm peaches with a creamy or yellowish background will continue to ripen at room temperature.

Keep an eye on your fresh peach purchase at the check-out counter. Many a fine peach has been fatally bruised at this point.

Ask to have your peaches placed on top of the bag or carry them separately. This Queen of Fruits doesn't like to be crowded.

★ ★ ★

Easy way to dice a fresh peach . . . Don't remove seed. Cut into sections like an orange. Then make three cuts all around this golden globe. The pieces will fall off the seed with a gentle squeeze.

This One Is Ginger Peachy

It's a ginger peachy . . . that's what this dessert is in both senses of the phrase. This Ginger Peach Upside Down Cake is a rich moist cake baked with a topping of sliced peaches sweetened with brown sugar.

The cake is made with all-vegetable shortening so it has a tender even grain. It's moist with molasses and has just enough ginger to give it character.

¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 cups pared, sliced fresh peaches (about 1 pound)*
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons ground ginger
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
⅓ cup solid all-vegetable shortening
½ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
⅔ cup light molasses
¾ cup buttermilk

*Or, use 1 can (1 pound) sliced peaches, drained or 2 packages (12 ounces each) frozen peaches, thawed and drained.

Melt butter in 9-inch square or round pan; blend in brown sugar and spread evenly in pan. Arrange peach slices on top; set aside.

★ ★ ★

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Cream shortening with granulated sugar. Beat in egg and molasses. Add sifted ingredients alternately with buttermilk, blending just until mixed.

Pour batter over peaches in pan. Bake in 350 degree (moderate) oven 40 to 50 minutes for square cake or 1 hour for round cake, or until cake tests done with toothpick. Turn out immediately onto serving plate; let stand 5 minutes before removing pan. Cool.

★ ★ ★

Servie with whipped cream, if desired. Makes 9-inch square or round cake.

GINGER PEACH UPSIDE DOWN CAKE — This is a moist tender cake with mild molasses and ginger flavor and a topping of brown sugar and sliced fresh peaches.

SCONEFLOWER PEACH COBBLER — Scotland's well-loved oatmeal scone inspires the "blossom" topping for Sconeflower Peach Cobbler. The pretty peaches underneath are summer-fresh, but handy frozen fruit makes this a year-round recipe.

Rice Adds Firmness to This Ham Loaf

"Economy of effort," though not listed among the ingredients, is a major asset of Ham and Egg Loaf. For this recipe makes not one but two luscious, tender and flavor-filled main dish meat loaves with just one mixing.

That means that one loaf can be served when made and the second frozen for enjoyment a week, a month or several months later if desired. Easy on the cook? You bet!

No tricks or special techniques are required for putting the ham mixture together, just a sizable mixing bowl. The ham may be raw or cooked, and the rice can be any kind the family likes, as long as it is cooked first according to package directions.

Leftover cooked or previously frozen rice not even reheated, may be used or rice may be cooked especially for the recipe.

• Choose from parboiled, brown, regular white milled or precooked rice; all give perfect results in terms of tenderness, texture, good nutrition and full absorption of the rich ham flavor and even distribution of it throughout both loaves.

HAM AND EGG LOAF

4 cups cooked rice
2 cups sliced celery
2 pounds (4 cups) coarsely ground ham
2 eggs, beaten
2 cans (10½ oz. each) mushroom soup, undiluted
¼ teaspoon red pepper
½ cup mayonnaise
Cheese and Egg sauce*

Combine all ingredients except Cheese and Egg sauce. Turn into two greased 9x5x3 inch loaf pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until done. Serve with hot Cheese and Egg sauce.

* * *

Cool one loaf, wrap and place in freezer for later use. One loaf makes 6 to 8 servings.

Cheese and Egg Sauce

2 cups milk
2 packages (1⅜ oz. each) cheese sauce mix
6 hard cooked eggs, chopped

Blend milk into sauce mix. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly; when thickened and smooth, remove from heat; fold in eggs.

Makes enough for one loaf.

Whip Up Drink

Pineapple Snowstorm means cool refreshment these summer days. Soften 1 quart vanilla ice cream in a large bowl. Gradually beat in 3 cups pineapple juice, then 1 bottle (8 oz.) club soda. A quick and delicious summer beverage!

HAM AND EGG LOAF

DEVILISH EGGS AND COLESLAW—Deviled eggs made with deviled ham surround a cabbage leaf full of crisp coleslaw. For extra color, add a few radish roses and parsley sprigs.

Real Devilish Eggs Team With Coleslaw

Eggs and cabbage team up to present a nutritious summer salad platter that can accompany any main dish. We call it "Devilish Eggs 'n' Coleslaw." But by any name it's bound to be a hit.

* * *

To prepare the Devilish Eggs, you first need six hard-cooked eggs. You'll note we say hard-cooked instead of hard-boiled. Eggs should never be boiled as it tends to toughen the white and cause dark discoloration on the yolks.

The hard-cooked eggs are cut in half lengthwise and the yolks removed and mashed. An extra "devilish" touch is added to the filling with the addition of a can of deviled ham. The yolk and deviled ham mixture is spooned into the whites after it is mixed with other seasonings.

* * *

To accompany these Devilish Eggs, prepare your favorite coleslaw recipe or try the one we give here.

DEVILISH EGGS 'N' COLESLAW

Deviled Eggs:
6 hard-cooked eggs
1 can (2¼ oz.) deviled ham
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon grated onion
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Coleslaw:
4 cups shredded green cabbage
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon light cream or milk
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Deviled Eggs: To prepare, cut hard-cooked eggs in half lengthwise. Remove yolks and mash. Combine with remaining ingredients. Stuff mixture into whites. Chill.

Coleslaw: Combine all ingredients; toss lightly to mix. Chill. Serve coleslaw in cup made from outer cabbage leaves surrounded by deviled eggs. Makes 6 servings.

In Waldorf Style

Dice 4 large unpeeled fresh peaches. Mix lightly with a little orange juice to prevent darkening. Combine with ½ cup chopped celery, ¼ cup chopped pecans and 1 cup miniature marshmallows. Top with mayonnaise. Serve in lettuce cups.

Chicken Bits Star in Puff

Good way to use leftover cooked chicken is in this manner.

CHICKEN PUFFS

¼ cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 eggs
½ cup milk
¾ cup fine soft bread crumbs
1½ cups diced (¼ inch) cooked chicken
¼ cup minced parsley
2 canned pimientos, diced
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt

Butter 4 six-ounce glass custard cups. In a small skillet heat the butter; add onion and cook gently until golden.

* * *

In a medium mixing bowl beat eggs and milk to combine; mix in onion, crumbs, chicken, parsley, pimiento, lemon juice and salt. Turn into prepared cups. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until set and browned — about 30 minutes.

Remove from oven and let stand 5 to 10 minutes; with a small spatula loosen sides and turn out. Makes 4 servings. (Serve with mushroom sauce.)

Note: Use all light chicken meat or a mixture of light and dark.

Pub Drink Is Still Popular

Syllabubs are frothy combinations of cream and wine or spirits in some form that have been popular in England and her American colonies for many centuries. The word itself is a corruption of Silly Bubbles, as the drink often appeared in highly alcoholic form at the local pub. It may be served hot or cold, with very thick and heavy pour cream or whipped cream as its base.

To the cream is added sugar, occasionally eggs, wine, brandy . . . any kind of stimulent the host or region prefers . . . and very often berries or other fruit.

This recipe is for a chilled syllabub, such as would have been served at an English or American inn or tavern in the Eighteenth and early Nineteenth centuries. A coach house stop on a dusty summer day would yield a cool taproom and a great earthenware bowl of fresh strawberries and a wine syllabub.

* * *

This syllabub is actually two creams in one. The base is a wine cream, which is combined with a sweetened whipped cream . . . all served with sliced strawberries.

Strawberry Syllabub From an English Inn

(Makes 8 servings)

3 cups (1½ pints) heavy cream
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup sweet sauterne
2 pints fresh strawberries, sliced

Make wine cream as follows: 2 tablespoons of the sugar and 2 tablespoons of the sugar and the wine in a large serving bowl; chill 2 to 3 hours.

* * *

At serving time: Whip remaining cream and sugar until soft peaks form. Top the wine cream with strawberries, then with whipped cream.

Or, place strawberries in individual dessert dishes and serve the combined wine cream and whipped cream in a compote.

Veal Almondine

Saute slivered almonds (you can buy them already slivered) and sliced fresh mushrooms in olive oil; stir in tomato sauce, with Worchestershire and lemon juice to taste. Spoon over pan-fried veal cutlets.

Add diced salami to the eggs you are scrambling for brunch.

Cucumbers Go Into Salad

Cucumber Cream Salad is an excellent choice for covered dish suppers. Lime flavor gelatin combines with chopped cucumbers, mayonnaise, and sour cream for a pale green salad sensation.

CUCUMBER CREAM SALAD

1 pckage (3 oz.) lime flavor gelatin
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon onion juice
½ cup mayonnaise
1 cup heavy sour cream
2 cups drained finely chopped cucumber

Dissolve gelatin and salt in boiling water. Add vinegar and onion juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in mayonnaise, blending thoroughly.

Whip sour cream until light and fluffy and fold into gelatin mixture. Fold in cucumber and mix well. Pour into individual molds or a 1-quart mold. Chill until firm.

* * *

Unmold on salad greens. Garnish with additional mayonnaise, if desired. Makes about 4½ cups or about 8 servings.

Brew Lots of Tea for Cooling Break

Many young people are taking to drinking iced tea all year round because it goes so well with all kinds of food, because it's no-filling and non-fattening, and because it's just plain good. Directions for making a big pitcherful—about 10 servings—follow:

Iced Tea by the Pitcherful

- Bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil.
- Remove from the heat and immediately add ½ measuring cup of loose tea or 15 teabags. Stir, cover and let stand 5 minutes.
- Stir again and strain into a pitcher holding another quart of freshly drawn cold water.
- When ready to serve, pour into ice-filled glasses. Serve with lemon and sugar to taste.

Puree for Drink

Very ripe fresh peaches pureed in a blender or food mill and combined with one part orange juice to three parts peach puree makes an easy golden drink for lunch boxes. Sweeten if desired. Full of vitamins, refreshing!

Blend cream cheese and blue cheese; spread over salami slices and stack. Cut the stacks into quarters. Serve these little triangle-shape stuffed salami pieces as appetizers. Good with tomato juice!

CHARLES METZ

4 Promotions in Fire Dept.

High-Level Changes Told by Pontiac Chief

Pontiac Fire Chief Charles Marion today announced four high-level promotions, effective immediately, in his department.

Promoted to assistant chief was Fire Marshal Charles Metz, 54, of 1245 Wagner, a 26-year veteran of the department. He served in his previous post for 15 years.

* * *

Replacing Metz as fire marshal is Fire Inspector Allen Tunny, 52, of 60 E. Newport. A 22-year veteran of the department, he has served as inspector for two years.

Promoted to inspector was Jerome Lauinger, 34, of 699 Clara, former engineer. He is a 13-year Pontiac fireman.

* * *

Replacing Lauinger is former fire fighter Robert Becker, 33, of 464 Third, a 10-year veteran.

Marion said he made the promotions "due to an organizational change which will hopefully result in a more efficient operation of the department."

Hospital Bonds Are Approved

To Pay Work Costs at Pontiac General

The State Municipal Finance Commission has approved the issuance of $2 million in revenue bonds to cover the cost of hospital construction and parking expansion at Pontiac General Hospital.

Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, said the hospital building authority expects to advertise for bids to be received about Sept. 18. The revenue bonds will be sold to the lowest bidder.

Much of the construction involved has already been undertaken by advancing costs from other hospital funds, Euler noted.

The bond issue is to cover enlargement of the parking facilities, construction of a new emergency room and physical therapy building, and for intern housing.

Euler said the property for the parking expansion has been acquired and is being prepared for paving and the emergency facilities and therapy building is about 80 per cent completed.

Police Walkout Veto 'Didn't Come Easy'

Though executive board members of the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) voted at their three-day meeting in St. Louis against a call for a national police walkout, agreement didn't come easy, according to the Pontiac delegate, Paul Roek.

ROEK

The meeting closed yesterday.

The vote had been reported as unanimous against the motion for a two-day nationwide strike "to dramatize the need for public support of law officers."

* * *

However, according to city Patrolman Paul Roek, president of the local FOP, a compromise resolution came only after day-long debate Monday at the meeting's opening session.

RESOLUTION'S CALL

The resolution, which Roek helped draft, insists that "the safety and welfare of citizens should be placed above and before any grievance that a police officer might encounter."

It calls for local police departments to voice their grievances through news media and civic organizations.

* * *

"It would be disastrous for the streets of the country to be left unprotected in these critical times," the resolution concludes.

Bogota Residents Welcome Pontiff

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Many of Bogota's two million residents stayed up all night to greet Pope Paul VI coming here to honor Latin America and plead for its impoverished millions.

The pontiff's visit to attend the 39th Eucharistic Congress was marred by his concern over the Soviet bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The Pope said as he took off from Rome that he left with "sharp bitterness and great anxiety" over events in the East European nation. He added that he would give up his Latin American journey if it would serve "to avoid the disastrous consequences which, alas, one can with reason foresee" in Czechoslovakia.

Rice has been grown in the United States since colonial days, but only recently has become a really profitable crop.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Mary Beth McCarthy, 21, spent yesterday in Montana campaigning for her uncle, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who seeks the Democratic presidential nomination.

She presented signatures of persons backing her uncle to Atty. Gen. Forrest H. Anderson — and in turn was given a ceramic work by David Shaner, potter in residence at the Archie Bray Foundation in Helena.

Anderson, who is the state's Democratic nominee for governor and heads its delegation to the national convention, asked Miss McCarthy to take the gift to her uncle on behalf of the Democratic party in Montana.

2 Camp Pontiac Inmates Caught Near Bridgeport

BRIDGEPORT (UPI) — Two youths who escaped from the Camp Pontiac branch of Ionia Reformatory in White Lake Township were captured by State Police early today after a five-hour search.

* * *

The pair escaped around midnight, stole a car in the Pontiac area and abandoned it in Saginaw County. State Police from the Pontiac, Flint, Bridgeport, Bay City, and Brighton posts combed the area with three tracking dogs.

They found the youths at a rest area on the I-75 freeway between Birch Run and Bridgeport about 5:30 a.m.

* * *

Police identified the escapees as Ronald Du Bois, 18, of Onaway and Joseph Lawake, 19, of St. Ignace.

S. Viet Aide Assigned to Peace Talks

Pham Dang Lam, an assistant to the South Vietnamese foreign minister, has been named new chief of the observer delegation at the Paris peace talks, a government spokesman said yesterday in Saigon.

Lam will replace Bui Diem, the ambassador to Washington, who has been in Paris since the talks began last May.

'Inveterate Snorer' to Study Control

Dr. Marcus H. Boulware, a professor who admits he was once an "inveterate snorer" but claims to have tapered off to become a "controlled snorer," says the problem is no laughing matter.

A professor of speech pathology at Tennessee A&I State University, Boulware said people who snore tend to be unpopular partners in marriage, unpopular roommates in college and unpopular comrades in an Army barracks.

He said that according to experts in the field, about one out of every eight persons snores. He has received grants from the Carnegie Foundation to do research on snore control.

Barrel of Monkeys Not All Fun

Earl Breen, an auto parts company executive in St. Louis, has won a barrel of monkeys.

"I'll never use that expression again," said Breen as he pondered what to do with a barrel filled with the five lively ringtail monkeys he won in a national contest.

Breen managed to get rid of one of the animals. It will be the door prize at a celebrity bowling night in Baldwin, Mo. He is still casting about for a way to unload the others.

VFW Asks End to Bomb Lull

Group Urges Victory Over North Vietnam

DETROIT (AP) — The Veterans of Foreign Wars called for a resumption Wednesday of the bombing of all North Vietnam "if the enemy continues to infiltrate troops and weapons into South Vietnam."

The organization, which claims 1.5 million members, also called for the United States and its allies in South Vietnam to "take whatever action is necessary, including a blockade of North Vietnam, to conclude the war with victory."

* * *

The action came in unanimous approval of a resolution which also said that the invasion of Czechoslovakia shows that "Communism is still on the march today in Central Europe, as it was in the 1940s and 1950s, determined to destroy freedom."

"The Soviet Union, the power base of Communist aggression, has not mellowed, but rather is even more ruthless and vicious in pursuing its objectives of global Communist conquest and destruction of the United States," the resolution also asserted.

COPY TO JOHNSON

The convention directed that a copy of the resolution, submitted by a former VFW commander-in-chief, Louis G. Feldman of Hazelton, Pa., be sent to President Johnson.

* * *

The President told delegates Monday there would be no further U.S. cutback in bombing unless North Vietnam reciprocated by de-escalating its aggression.

Henry Ford II Endorses Humphrey Candidacy

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., endorsed Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the Democratic presidential nomination Wednesday and said he was looking forward to Humphrey's successful bid for the White House.

* * *

The endorsement, sent in a telegram, disclosed a split in the Ford family. Recently, a brother, William Clay Ford, announced he was backing the candidacy of Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

William Ford, owner of the Detroit Lions of the National Football League, reportedly holds the largest single bloc of stock in the auto company.

In his telegram to Humphrey Henry Ford said:

"Our country needs your sound experience and leadership in the years immediately ahead. I pledge you my full support and assistance in your campaign for the presidency of the United States.

* * *

"I'm looking forward confident to your nomination next week and your successful candidacy this fall. Best wishes to you in all that you undertake."

In 1964, Ford gave his support to the candidacy of President Johnson.

William Ford, however, said he always had been a Republican until his decision to back McCarthy.

Russian Cellist Plays Work by Czech, Then Cries

LONDON (AP) — Mstilav Rostropovich, the 41-year-old Russian who is the world's leading cellist, left a London concert platform in tears Wednesday night after performing the Czech composer Dvorak's cello concerto.

As the Russian State Orchestra, making its British debut, walked on to the Albert Hall rostrum, some of the audience chanted "play for the Czechs."

* * *

Rostropovich, who himself reportedly has had political difficulties with the Soviet leaders —he played at the funeral of the banned novelist Boris Pasternak —gave what the critics called the performance of a lifetime.

The concert ended in tumultuous applause. But the sponsors, the British Broadcasting Corp., called off a planned reception for the musicians "to avoid mutual embarrassment."

Body Recovered

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The body of George E. Jackson of Grand Rapids was recovered from the Thornapple River Wednesday by Kent County sheriff's deputies. He drowned while swimming.

Reacts to Czech Crisis

Mart Weathers Early Sell-Off

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market weathered an early sell off today in the predicted reaction to the Soviet Bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia. The market was down but cut its early losses.

The early 3-to-1 ratio in favor of losses was pared to 2-to-1.

Swift, Boeing and Aloca advanced a point or better.

A sharp casualty was Control Data's new stock — resulting from the commercial credit merger—which dropped 8 points.

Trading was heavy, but not more than usually after a Wednesday market closing when market orders pile up.

Some of the defense stocks and issues involved in the ballistic missile defense program showed strength.

Gains of around a point or better were shown by General Dynamics, United Aircraft, Raytheon, and McDonnell Douglas.

Homestake, the biggest U.S. gold producer, advanced about 3.

Certain-Teed fell about 2 points. Losses exceeding a point were taken by Texas Gulf Sulphur, Sunasco, First Charter Financial, Westinghouse Electric and Johns-Manville.

The price of gold in London was lower as speculative buying dimisnished and trading quieted.

The Associated Press Average of 60 Stocks on Tuesday eased .1 to 332.3 prior to news of the invasion.

On the American Stock Exchanged prices declined on a broad front.

"Liquid sunshine" keeps residents refreshed and cool on Dominica Island in the West Indies, the National Geographic says. The unusual rainfall is such a fine mist that it can only be seen when backlighted by the sun. Gently drifting from a cloudless sky, it gives a sensation more of coolness than of wetness.

Nixon Leading Hubert in Poll

McCarthy Only Five Behind GOP Hopeful

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon holds a 45 to 29 per cent lead over Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

Nixon also leads Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, but by a smaller margin, 42 to 37 per cent. Humphrey and McCarthy are rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination.

* * *

Gallup said the Nixon-McCarthy breakdown remained almost the same as it was in a mid-July poll. However, in that poll Nixon led Humphrey by only two percentage points.

Nixon's improved advantage over Humphrey is due more to Humphrey's losses than to Nixon's gains, the poll said.

SOUTHERN GAINS

The latest survey, taken after the GOP National Convention, has Nixon five percentage points higher than in a preconvention test, while the figure for Humphrey is nine points lower.

Gallup said the survey also shows that the Republican convention resulted in party gains in the South, where Nixon is catching up to third-party candidate George C. Wallace. Nixon trails the former Alabama governor by three percentage points.

* * *

Postconvention survey evidence also indicates the closing of GOP party ranks, bringing most of the Republican voters behind the Nixon candidacy, the poll said.

2 Slain Girls' Brother Tells Rape Try Aid

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit teen-ager has told a Recorder's Court judge he participated in a rape attempt with three other youths that led to the knife slayings June 30 of his 11-year-old twin sisters.

Fourteen-year-old Dana Guiley testified Wednesday in the pretrial examination of Gerald J. Iovaldi, 17, of Detroit, who is charged with first-degree murder in the death of one sister, Nora Ann Guiley. The hearing continued today. The hearing is being held by visiting Judge Richard D. Dunn of Dearborn Heights Municipal Court.

* * *

Nora Ann and her twin, Deanna, were stabbed to death after being surprised in their bedroom, the boy testified. He said he let Iovaldi, a 15-year-old neighbor and another youth, who so far has not been identified, into the house after a prearranged signal.

He said the 15-year-old brought up the idea of the sexual assault the previous night and held the knife that killed one sister.

* * *

The 15-year-old is being held at the Wayne County Youth Home as a juvenile, although Wayne County Prosecutor William L. Cahalan is seeking a Waiver to try him as an adult.

Guiley has not been charged in the deaths.

Relations Are Set Back

Invasion Hits Trade

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — The invasion of Czechoslovakia is a serious setback to efforts at improving trade relations between the United States and the Eastern European nations on the rim of the Soviet Union.

CUNNIFF

For various reasons a breakthrough in trade profitable to both East and West had seemed imminent. But these hopes were based on the belief that the economic liberalization of the East would continue rather than be thwarted, and that East-West tensions would relax.

* * *

It was against this very economic liberalism and the political threat it involved, represented in recent weeks especially by the Czechoslovakians, Romanians and Yugoslavians, that Russia and its allies applied their military might.

From the Communist side, the intervention may signal a return to less trade contact with the West. As for American businessmen, it is bound to cause at least a long pause in their plans to invest in and trade with the growing economics of Eastern Europe.

HOPES ON FIRE

Such hopes had caught fire in the past couple of years. Direct commerical flight between Moscow and New York was just one of the more obvious evidences of this. Far grander but less publicized preparations were being made for direct investments, in hotels and even manufacturing plants.

As the stigma of trading with the East diminished, such people as the Rockefeller brothers, who contral International Basic Economy Corp., and Cyrus Eaton Jr. revealed plans to invest in Communist nations. Eaton has already done so.

From Minneapolis last year a group sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and including men from several nationally known firms, left on a private trade mission to Russia. They were backed by the U.S. government.

Time Magazine two years ago led a tour by 24 of the highest-ranking executives and financiers in America to five East European nations for the purpose of investigating trade opportunities. Almost every company involved could be classified as a blue chip.

UNDERSTANDING SEEN

Aiding the new spirit was the belief among many Americans that the Communists were beginning to show a better understanding of capitalist economies and their methods of operation.

At least, some buinessmen thought, the Communists are now emphasizing consumer goods, instituting profit incentives, lessening their reliance on dictatorial marketing and following instead the laws of supply and demand.

The biggest support for this new spirit — perhaps even the initator of it — was the Johnson administration, which believed that trade bridges not only would aid the economies of both East and West but promote peace as well. Trade, it is said, has its political ends.

Typical of the statements supporting East-West trade was one earlier this year to a congressional committee by Robert Rossa, partner in the investment banking firm of Brown Brothers, Harriman and Co.

'EXCITING POTENTIAL'

"Those of us from the United States who have traveled in Eastern Europe, almost to a man," he said, "return with the conviction that the countries represent the most exciting market of potential trade . . . anywhere in the world."

The possibilities of this big new market were belatedly appreciated by Americans. Other Western nations years earlier had shed their reluctance to trade with the East Europeans.

* * *

During 1965, Western Europe and Japan sold $3.8 billion of goods to the East Europeans, excluding Yugoslavia, and imported close to $4.5 billion from them.

The United States, though, sold only $139 million worth of goods to these countries and imported $138 million. These figures haven't grown substantially since then. They were, however, forecast to swell. The market was there.

BIGGER POPULATION

The Comecon, sort of an East Europe common market, includes nations with 330 million people, much more than the combined population on the European economic community and the European Free Trade Association.

These Comecon economies naturally are not as highly developed as nations to the west, but some of them have been growing faster than even the United States. Potentially they are huge markets.

* * *

The question now is how badly these markets have been damaged.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — During my years as a working woman I put all my surplus into stocks. Now I am retired and find quarterly dividends plus Social Security insufficient to support two people. Should I sell some stocks and buy bonds for the greater yield? — R.S.

A — Now that your circumstances have altered, you should modify your portfolio to fit your retirement status. The following changes will add around $1,500 to your annual income.

Although General Motors, Ford and St. Oil of New Jersey yield somewhat below 5 per cent, they should be retained for their strong growth potential. Regarding Am. Telephone, your holdings are far out of proportion to your list as a whole — representing over 30 per cent of your capital. Therefore, I recommend selling down to 500 shares. Because General Electric, Chrysler and Occidental Petroleum currently yield 3 per cent or less, I'd take the excellent gains they now provide. Neither Boeing nor Union Carbide fit your needs and should be liquidated. Losses in these latter will help offset gains from the other recommended sales.

The next proceeds of approximately $80,000 that you will realize from these transactions should be invested in bonds and common stocks with more generous yields. About $40,000 will purchase 10 each of three long-term and one discounted short-term utility first mortgage bonds. Consumers Power 6⅞s of 1998, Pacific Gas & Elec. 5s of 1991, So. Calif. Edison 6⅝s of 1993 and Commonwealth Edison 3s of 1977. The remaining funds, if invested in equal dollar amounts of Norfolk & Western, Liggett & Myers, National Fuel Gas and Armco Steel will bring your total income to over $9,000 annually.

Cuba Views Economic Blockade as Damaging, Not Ruinous

HAVANA (AP) — How effective is the U.S. economic blockade of Cuba in terms of dollars and cents?

Prime Minister Fidel Castro says it is damaging and has cost his country "hundreds of millions of pesos" because of transportation charges and buying under difficult conditions. At the official exchange rate of $1 per peso this means hundreds of millions of dollars.

* * *

At the same time the Cuban leader manages to bring hundreds of millions of dollars worth of products to this island every year. Last year his trade with Western countries amounted to about $320 million, or between 20-25 per cent of all Cuba's foreign trade.

Only a shortage of hard currency due to a drought-wracked sugar crop is slowing him down this year. Sugar normally earns four-fifths of Cuba's foreign exchange, and the shelves bare of meat, tobacco, fruit and coffee this year indicate the government is sending as many of these products abroad as it can to take up the sugar slack.

BIGGEST TRADER

Of the Communist bloc, Russia is far and away the biggest trading partner at about $930 million annually. Soviet trade with Cuba continues at a deficit —more exports than imports. This accounts in part for the $1 million a day in nonmilitary aid Moscow is reported to send to this island.

For some time anti-Communist Spain has been outtrading such Communist nations as East Germany, Bulgaria, North Korea, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Yugoslavia and, at times, Czechoslovakia. Spanish trade often has approached that of Cuba's No. 2 trader, Red China.

The West's new leader this past year was France, which more than tripled its trade of 1966 and is doing almost nine times the business it did here in the 10 years before Castro came to power.

Figures available here show this lineup for the major Western traders in 1967 in millions of dollars: France 70, Spain 65.6, Canada 48.6, Britain 36.6, Japan 33.5, Italy 24.7, Holland 15, West Germany 9.2, Sweden 6.2, Switzerland 5.6, Belgium 2.8 and Denmark 1.

AT A DEFICIT

Japan usually trades with Cuba at a deficit. West Germany has no diplomatic relations with Havana. Mexico, a frequent target of Cuban exiles in the United States because it is the only Latin country having diplomatic relations with Cuba, has an almost negligible trade here.

The figures indicate Castro can buy and bring through the blockade most of the things he needs if he has the hard currency to pay for it.

* * *

There has been evidence lately that he also can do it on credit. Romania is giving Cuba $30 million worth of oil drilling equipment on eight years' credit. East Germany has agreed to supply $25 million worth of heavy construction and hydraulic equipment, also on credit. Near Cienfuegos on Cuba's south coast a big fertilizer plant supplied by Simon Carves, Ltd., of Britain is going up. The plant's price is $44 million, backed by a guarantee of the British government. Cuba has five years to pay for this.

Against this background, there are no outward signs here that Castro is interested in resuming diplomatic relations with the United States, even if an offer came from Washington.

"Castro is really hung up on Vietnam," says one who has heard the prime minister's recent views on the United States.

"He believes the Vietnamese are fighting a battle for all the oppressed people of the world. As such, he feels closely allied to them. The fact the enemy is the United States makes his position even more firm."

Sometime ago Castro offered to send Cuban volunteers to help in Vietnam against the Americans. The offer has never been accepted but today pro-Hanoi and Vietcong posters and rallies cover the island. Almost every speaker declares Cubans are ready to shed "our last drop of blood for the heroic Vietnamese people." Ngo Mau, the North Vietnamese ambassador, is one of the most photographed men in Cuba.

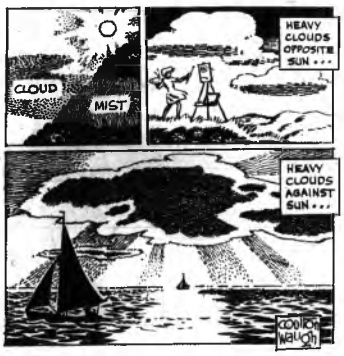
In contrast, the Soviet Union, both Hanoi and Havana's chief military supplier, is seldom mentioned in connection with Vietnam. It is a safe bet to say that not a single pro-Russian poster can be found in all of Havana.

The support of Vietnam fits into Castro's policy for supporting armed revolution in underdeveloped countries.

Soviet, Czech, Chinese, British, French and Japanese equipment has replaced U.S. machinery in much of Cubawhile U.S. machinery in much of Cuba while U.S. cultural influence has lessened. In the days when U.S. technology and consumer goods dominated this island there still existed a gap in genuine understanding between Americans and Cubans. Castro and his followers widened that gap and it increased further when the United States broke relations with Cuba in 1961.

There is an additional factor in that Castro has a ready-made villain to blame for Cuba's shortages and economic difficulties: the U.S. economic blockade.

Junior Editors Quiz on CLOUDS



Question: Why are clouds of different colors?

* * *

Answer: Think of a grayish fog drifting across a mountain (upper left). The part in the sky is cloud. When it touches the ground, it is mist. But mist and clouds are actually the same thing. They are composed of tiny water droplets or ice crystals, condensed from moisture in the air so as to become visible.

Clouds can be either a thin screen, like mist, or heavier, like rain cloud. We often see thin wispy streaks of cirrus cloud high in the sky. These are white because they are composed of ice crystals which reflect light as white, like snow.

With veils of cloud lower down, such as stratus, we get more water droplets, and so these clouds look grayer and darker. When we get clouds like the nimbus, really dark grey and threatening, it means they are filled with raindrops.

Puffy clouds piling up in a blue sky (cumulus, upper right) look white when the sunlight shines across at them, but the bottom layer will be blue gray because in shadow.

When heavy clouds get between you and the sun in late afternoon, we get the beautiful effect shown at bottom. The dark part is deep bluish grey, but the thinner edges are brilliant gold.

Film Welcomes Controversy

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — "Up Tight!" is the first picture to tell the story of the black militant movement. As such, it is certain to be controversial, which is perfectly fine with Paramount — after all, controversy is commercial.

Jules Dassin is producting and directing "Up Tight!" and also is one of the writers of the screenplay. The other two writers are Ruby Dee and Julian Mayfield, who also have major roles in the film.

* * *

Dassin wrote the original screenplay, but he is a white man and this is a story of today's blacks.

* * *

"A white man can't put himself in black skin and write about Negroes," Dassin says. "I tried. I killed myself trying. But a white just can't do it. So I got Ruby and Julian to help me."

NOVICE AND WRITER

Ruby Dee had never written before — at least not professionally. Julian Mayfield is primarily a writer, with four novels published. But he is also an actor, or had been — the lead on Broadway in "Lost In the Stars" as a young man.

Since then, though, he's been writing and teaching and working (for six years) in Ghana.

* * *

"I think," Mayfield says, "that this film will be the best so far at showing the black rights movement. Both blacks and whites will be surprised and perhaps shocked at meeting black militants — even the average black person rarely knows anyone like Huey Newton, Rap Brown, Stokely Carmichael or the characters in this movie.

"I think this film is liable to open the way for others. It is a trailblazer."

WORKED IN PAIN

Raymond St. Jacques, who plays the black militant leader, is himself not a militant. But he thinks the picture is important. So important, in fact, that he worked in it in great pain for several weeks. He had hurt his neck and should have been hospitalized, but kept on working.

"This movie was too important to quit," he says. "It's the first film about the black revolution. I think it's accurate, and it's necessary to tell both blacks and whites that this is where it's at, baby.

"It will make a point, dramatically, that Negroes have been third-class citizens long enought, that we've paid our dues and now we want to collect."

All the actors are enthusiastic about Dassin. Their enthusiasm is understandable. It's the first Hollywood venture in 20 years for Dassin, a gray-haired man with sparkling blue eyes. He is a meticulous director and he knows and likes actors and they respond for him.

"The problem is," he says, "that it is hard to find a trained cast of Negro actors. They simply haven't had the experience. Eighty per cent of this cast has no film experience at all. But they are working hard, terribly hard."

St. Jacques and Ruby Dee and beautiful Janet MacLachlan have been in films before (Janet's work has been confined to television films) but Julian Mayfield and many others haven't.

DISCUSS SCENE — Jules Dassin (left), writer, producer and director of "Up Tight," movie about the black militant movement, and Julian Mayfield, who plays a major role in the movie and helped write the screenplay, discuss a scene from the film.

Ex-Chrysler Chief Robbed

DETROIT (AP) — Lester L. (Tex) Colbert, 63, former president and board chairman of Chrysler Corp., told Detroit police he was robbed early yesterday by ten youths who surrounded his car when it stalled on an inner city street.

He said they took $100, his wallet and wrist watch. He was not harmed.

* * *

Colbert said he was en route to his Bloomfield Hills home at the time, following a party at the Detroit Athletic Club.

Colbert retired as board chairman of Chrysler of Canada Ltd. in July 1965 when he became 60 years old.

Car-Bike Mishap Hospitalizes Boy

A Walled Lake boy is in satifactory condition at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital after suffering a broken leg in an accident Tuesday afternoon.

Mitchell Brewer, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Brewer, 1486 Ladd, was injured when he rode his bicycle into the path of an auto driven by Mrs. Jessie King, 1669 Lauder, Wolverine Lake, according to police.

Mrs. King was traveling on Ladd Road when young Brewer came onto the street from a nearby field, police said.

Many Bills Still Up in Air

Aid for Disabled OK'd

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Newsfeatures

WASHINGTON—When Congress took off for the political conventions it left on the shelf a stack of unfinished legislation affecting men in service, Reservists and veterans. Much of it faces an uncertain fate.

BAULCH

But one bill that did clear before the recess was the long - awaited increase in compensation benefits for the nearly two-million disabled veterans.

* * *

And President Johnson signed a pet of the National Guard Bureau, giving civil service retirement benefits to the technicians who manage the guard armories and training.

The big bill for veterans still awaiting clearance would establish a new program of education benefits for widows of men who die of service-connected causes—similar to that given orphans of such men. This is almost sure to pass when Congress returns next month.

SAME CREDITS

The House, which has passed the bill, seems to have dropped its opposition to a major change written in by the Senate Finance Committee. This would give cold war GIs and Vietnam veterans a day and a half of education benefits for each day of service, instead of the present one day. Thus, they would get the same credits as did their Korean war counterparts.

Of the other bills in the military area about the only one that seems a safe bet to pass both chambers would authorize combat pay for the captured crew of the USS Pueblo. The House passed this just before the recess.

* * *

Less certain is the fate in the Senate of a bill—which the House passed before the recess—to give family allowances to men who go on active duty training between one to six months. It has been a sore point among many Reservists' wives that their husbands had to serve at least six months duty for many benefits.

The big veterans bill Congress sent to President Johnson before the recess will give a basic increase of 8 per cent to men disabled in service, except for those with 100 per cent disability. They will be raised from $300 to $400 a month.

IN EFFECT JAN. 1

The increases, which go into effect next Jan. 1, are designed mainly as cost-of-living boosts. Meanwhile, the Veterans Administration is undertaking an extensive study to determine whether the compensation payments actually reflect the average loss suffered by a veteran as a result of his disability.

The monthly rates under the bill go up in this fashion: 10 per cent statutory disability rating, $21 to $23; 20 per cent, $40 to $43; 30 per cent, $60 to $65; 40 per cent, $82 to $89; 50 per cent, $113 to $122; 60 per cent, $136 to $147; 70 per cent, $161 to $174; 80 per cent, $186 to $201; 90 per cent, $209 to $226.

The limitations on compensation for anatomical losses are raised by $100 in the various classifications with the maximum up to $700. The aid and attendance allowance for severely disabled veterans is raised from $250 to $300. And the allowance for those permanently housebound with service-connected disability is boosted from $350 to $450.

The bill also authorizes the VA to furnish any type of therapeutic or rehabilitation device, as well as other medical equipment and supplies, to veterans receiving compensation for anatomical losses.

* * *

The Senate wrote in a provision knocking out for the future the $67 minimum compensation received by veterans with arrested tuberculosis even if they have no disability because of it. Those now getting the allowance will not be affected.

Navy ROTC Changes

The Navy is changing its NROTC course of instruction to make sure the men won't have to take several courses their colleges may not grant credit for.

Men have been loading themselves down in some cases to make sure they have enough courses good toward graduation.

* * *

Some of the 53 NROTC colleges will make the change this year, but others not until the 1969-70 session.

As many courses as possible listed for NROTC will be given by regular faculty members. Purely naval subjects taught by NROTC staff members will be cut to four for a total of six semester hours and may or may not count toward graduation, depending on each university's policy.

SUMMER TRAINING

To make up for the naval subjects dropped, contract NROTC students will be required to take summer training between their sophomore and junior years. That's in addition to the one they now take between their junior and senior years. Regular NROTC students already take such training during all three college summers.

Incidentally, the Navy has picked Nov. 15 as the deadline for applying for regular NROTC for the 1969-70 school year. The test for picking the 1,700 scholarship winners will be held Dec. 14.

* * *

The regular NROTC program is the top-officer producing vehicle of the Navy outside the Naval Academy at Annapolis. The Navy pays your college tuition for each year, text books, instructional fees and a subsistence allowance of $50 a month.

* * *

The contract NROTC is mainly for those who don't make the grade in the Regular NROTC. It's not as lucrative. But you do get uniforms, naval science textbooks and a subsistence allowance of $50 a month during your junior and senior years.

* * *

In either the Regular or Contract NROTC you get an ensign's commission in the Navy or a 2nd lieutenant commission in the Marines. And you agree to a six-year active duty and reserve military obligation.

Controversial Raid May Mean End to GI Back-Yard Bedroom

CAM RANH, Vietnam (AP) — A large yellow "Off Limits" sign stands outside the only gate to the village of Cam Ranh. It may spell the end for what GIs call their "backyard bedroom"—a town where 20 per cent of the population are prostitutes.

A joint American-South Vietnamese police raid on the village last month uncovered a small mountain of stolen American goods plus other contraband, including 25 pounds of marijuana.

* * *

A Vietnam newspaper started a national controversy by charging the American MPs looted the town and desecrated the South Vietnamese flag.

The government suspended the newspaper "Song," —Life— and said it would try the published on charges of undermining national unity and the alliance with the United States.

TRUCKLOADS OF CONTRABAND

The six-hour raid July 26 was conducted by 130 American MPs, 30 South Vietnamese national policemen and four customs inspectors. They were separated into six U.S.-Vietnames teams.

The teams found eight truckloads of contraband. It included three generators, more than 100 cases of American beer, hundreds of cartons of American cigarettes, caseloads of bed sheets, 13 cases of frozen steaks, 40 boxes of lighter flints, flashlight batteries, cameras, radios, tape recorders, and tons of U.S. military equipment.

* * *

The raiders also found $2,500 worth of marijuana, some packed in bulk and some in small plastic bags, and a large quantity of drugs stolen from American military stocks.

The MPs also arrested five AWOL American soldiers.

AGREE TO RAID

The Cam Ranh mayor and police chief had agreed to the raid. At 6 a.m. the village's main gate was barred and muzzled police dogs were stationed with their handlers at both ends of the main street. Two small U.S. Navy boats patrolled offshore. The village is surrounded by barbed wire fences, and there was no way out.

"It was quite a sight," said an MP who participated in the raid. "Villagers were throwing radios, hi-fi equipment, cases of beer and other items into the bay. Others tried to hide hot goods on roofs."

Officials have not estimated the total value of the recovered loot.

The MPs insist that no doors were broken down and no one was manhandled. No flags were desecrated and there was no looting, officers said.

Two Saigon newspaper reporters interviewed several women in the village who claimed the MPs had stolen money. One woman said the MPs trampled on the Vietnamese national flag. The government says some of the contraband was wrapped in a flag. Another said an MP ripped 30,000 piasters out of a money bag she had hidden in a wardrobe.

* * *

All the women live in a section of town that MP officials said was not searched.

The government says only one official complaint was lodged after the raid and that it is being investigated.

DEPENDS ON BASE

Cam Ranh, on South Vietnam's central coast northeast of Saigon, owes its existence to the large U.S. logistics base here.

At least 20 per cent of its residents are prostitutes by official count. U.S. health authorities say the venereal disease rate among the estimated 600 girls runs more than 90 per cent.

* * *

The GIs call Cam Ranh "our back yard bedroom." There are scores of steam baths, massage parlors, souvenir shops and brothels.

As a result, the town is one of the most prosperous of its size in Vietnam. Although a fire destroyed half of Cam Ranh early this year, substantial buildings replaced the old structures, and the boom continued.

The rutted street and painted girl sitting on the porches make Cam Ranh look like a gold-rush town of the last century.

Everything that was confiscated from the village was there for a reason. The GIs bought the American beer and cigarettes, and the frozen steaks.

"Suppose you're running a brothel," an American officer said. "You'd want nice white sheets, wouldn't you?"

But now the boom town is strangely silent. Western visitors are greeted by shouts from the girls on the porches: "Hey, when GI come back?"

Officials Fear Yellow Fever Peril in Africa

By Science Service

GENEVA. — Evidence of resurgent yellow fever in East Africa has stimulated a widespread survey of Uganda, Kenya and Somalia to discover the extent of the threat.

Besides the danger of an epidemic in Africa — the last one, in Ethiopia in the early 1960s, claimed an estimated 200,000 lives — health officials are worried about the chance that the disease might spread to India, which is particularly vulnerable.

* * *

The evidence discovered by World Health Organization doctors was the presence of yellow fever immunity in blood serum collected from tribes living on the fringe of the Ethiopian epidemic area.

World Health doctors here caution that the evidence is not conclusive—actual yellow fever cases haven't been found. But scientists in the field say the tribes surveyed have never been vaccinated, so the immunity found — antibodies against group B arbovirus — couldn't have come from that. They say it is reasonable to conclude "recent virus activity" in the new regions.

CYCLE PROVED

Yellow fever researchers have proved the "forest cycle" of mosquito-to-monkey infection. Indeed, says World Health vector control director, Dr. James Wright, the crucial problem is to keep the virus from infecting monkeys, basis of human epidemics.

The first presidential address televised from the White House was made Oct. 5, 1947, by Harry Truman.

Many Political Fights Shaping Up for Democratic Convention

CHICAGO (UPI) — Democrats who enjoy political fights should be happy about the way things shape up for their national convention next week.

They've got more fights in prospect than candidates.

* * *

Even before the meeting opens, Democrats are belaboring each other with charges that the convention is "rigged" and is being infiltrated by "imposters."

The rigging charge comes from the supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota. The imposter charge is being pressed against supporters of former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who is running for president as the candidate of the American Independent Party, a third party of his own creation.

'IT'S PRO-HUMPHREY'

The McCarthy camp has accused President Johnson and Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey of arranging the convention for the benefit of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. McCarthy says the chairman and other key convention officers — chosen by Johnson and Bailey — all are pro-Humphrey.

The focus of the McCarthy rigging charge will be a series of credential fights involving state delegations to the national convention.

* * *

The McCarthy forces claim they were steamrollered by pro-Humphrey machines in several states, and plan to challenge the credentials of possibly 15 to 20 delegations. They walked out of three state conventions and picketed as many more.

Under present plans, the McCarthy supporters plan to carry the credential fights right to the convention floor as a test of strength between the McCarthy and Humphrey forces. They thereby hope to bring about the convention's first showdown, not on choice of candidates, but on the issue of a "fair and open convention."

SUCCESSFUL IN '52

That is the strategy which was used so successfully by the forces supporting Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower against Sen. Robert A. Taft in 1952. Taft was the front-runner.

The Eisenhower camp used a credentials fight involving the Texas delegation as a test of strength, charging that the nomination was about to be obtained for Taft by fraud. It put the Taft forces on the defensive, and they never recovered.

* * *

The Alabama delegation is the particular target of the imposter charge. It is loaded with delegates who are known to support Wallace. That is the basis for a series of challenges alleging that Alabama delegates are ineligible to be seated under the Democratic convention's so-called "good faith" rule.

* * *

The "good faith" rule assumes that a delegate who goes to the Democratic National Convention is a Democrat with the success of the party at heart. The challenges raise the question how a delegate already pledged to a third-party candidate can have the election of the Democratic candidate at heart.

Under the rules, a delegate whose "good faith" is questioned can be required to take an oath of loyalty to the party's ticket. Alabama delegates would find that embarrassing, to say the least.

* * *

The same issue may arise in contests involving the Georgia delegation, headed by Gov. Lester G. Maddox, who has openly expressed admiration for Wallace. Maddox handpicked the entire Georgia delegation without benefit of primary, convention or committee.

Mississippi and North Carolina are facing credential challenges on the more familiar charge that Negroes aren't allowed full participation in their party affairs. The same issue may be raised by Negroes and Puerto Ricans against the New York delegation.

David Melville of Newport, R.I., introduced gaslights to the United States in 1806.

South African Party Shuffled

Prime Minister Ousts His Right-Wing Foes

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster has tightened his grip on the government with a sweeping cabinet reshuffle that challenges his rightwing foes in the ruling Nationalist party.

By dropping four senior ministers and four deputies and juggling more than half the 18 portfolios, Vorster put the stamp of his own leadership firmly on the country's executive branch.

* * *

Vorster made no more than essential cabinet changes in the 23 months after he took over from the assassinated Hendrik F. Verwoerd. The transition period is now over and Vorster appears free to press his "outward looking" policies.

Most of the resignations were attributed to reasons of age or health.

OPPONENT OUSTED

Health Minister Albert Hertzog, 68, apparently was the only minister to be dropped purely for political and ideological reasons. He reportedly opposed moderate policies in party councils and made headlines by criticizing television — South Africa has none — and the American Field Service student exchange program.

Hertzog was eased out on the installment plan. Earlier this year he was relieved of the powerful posts and telegraphs portfolio which he held along with the health ministry.

* * *

Hertzog says he intends to remain in Parliament and he may become a rallying point for Nationalist dissenters.

The Nationalist party has been in power more than 20 years. Its right-wingers regard some Vorster policies as a betrayal of "Afrikanerdom." They criticize immigration which attracts Roman Catholic settlers and deplore diplomatic relations with Malawi and any other independent black states.

OTHER RESIGNATIONS

Other resignations included Interior Minister Pieter M. K. le Roux, 64, the immigration and Indian affairs minister Alf E. Trollip, 73, and the community development, public works and social welfare and pensions minister Willem Maree.

Briton Cautions: American Doves May Become Isolationists

LONDON (AP) — A British commentator has cautioned his countrymen against rooting too strongly for America's doves.

Behind the antiwar fervor in certain American circles could lie an untapped reservoir of isolationism, wrote Desmond Donnelly in the News of the World.

★ ★ ★

"Many British politicians applaud the so-called American doves who want to get out of Vietnam, and attack the hawks who want a tough line," he said. "They believe these doves are like themselves, but they are nothing of the kind. They can be isolationists. And American isolationism will mean a chilly period for Britain. It can mean new political challenges, new economic hardships and eventually new threats to our national security."

POLITICS EYED

Closely linked to the Vietnam war, American presidential politics continues to attract attention abroad.

Japan's Asahi Shimbun editorialized: "This year's presidential election is an election fight amid contradiction and confrontation. . . . The atmosphere of seeking change and a break from tradition in both domestic and foreign policies has become unusually strong.

This reached a peak during the time of the primary elections . . . Frankly speaking, the impression is that the hopes for change and a break from tradition will decrease."

★ ★ ★

Donald Tyerman offered this observation in the London Evening Standard: "Whether he is running or not, the American election has to be about President Johnson, about both the ends and the means of the Vietnam war, about what happened to the poverty program which he said he would fashion with his own hands, about the cities and the races and the students.

"The curse of the political marketeering this summer, in the Democratic even more than the Republican party, is that it has blanketed what the election is really about."

NIXON 'COMPLICATED'

Italy's La Stampa said of Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon: "The convention of Miami beings to the political front stage again one of the most complicated and hardest to describe characters in today's America.

"One thing is certain, however. Nixon is not mediocre personality. His career is an extraordinary example of personal success won in constantly difficult circumstances. Out of a combination of tough experiences he has emerged a man of great talent who is determined—ferociously determined—to succeed at all costs in life."

★ ★ ★

Die Zeit, a German weekly published in Hamburg, carried a report on America's slum problems that fixed most of the blame on federal government policies.

Bad housing, it said, is mostly the fault of Congress and the executive branch which "by granting government mortgage insurance, veteran's credits and other subsidies, enabled middle-class whites to build a dozen million family homes, but subsidize less than one million apartments in areas where the lowest income groups live."

Monsterlike Iguana's Not So Terrifying

PANAMA (UPI) — What runs like the wind, climbs like a squirrel, tastes like chicken and looks like a monster?

An iguana.

An iguana is a terrifying lizard that resembles a dragon and thrashes about in trees in most tropical regions. It lives on buds and tender leaves.

The female's eggs are delicious. In fact, they are so good when boiled and dried in the sun that the lady iguana only gives them up after paying the ultimate price. They're only tasty before they are laid.

LIKE NECKLACE

Sometimes in a market you see a string of these golden eggs strung like a necklace.

They are boiled in their own membraneous sac then dried in the sun and served. They taste a bit like soft cheese.

★ ★ ★

Hollywood has glamorized the iguana for years. Remember? It's the scary looking prehistoric monster you see in grade "C" movies that is clawing at the hero trapped in a cave.

An iguana and its southwestern United States cousin, the gila monster, or maybe a good old fashioned "blue belly" lizard make a swell monster fight when filmed closeup and cast in cinemascope.

BURTON MOVIE

Richard Burton starred in "Night of the Iguana," a movie which helped spread the lizard's fearsome image. In that picture Mexican beach boys chased iguanas up and down a hillside and readied them for the broiler.

The iguana's legs and the first full portion of his tail are edible.

For that matter, they are required diet material at the U.S. Air Force's Southern Command Jungle Survival school in the Canal Zone.

Of course, so are boa constrictor and a weird assortment of other jungle animals, including a large rodent.

Schools Urged to Settle Pacts

DETROIT (AP) — Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken has urged negotiators in 44 Detroit area school districts to get down to business and settle contract disputes before they result in a wave of teacher strikes.

Milliken asked heads of bargaining Teams Tuesday to "avoid any situation which might jeopardize full educational opportunities for students." He said the State Labor Mediation Board is ready to help in contract talks.

Last year about 35 school districts failed to open on time because of contract disputes.

Project Will Aid Schools in Africa

EAST LANSING (AP) — A Michigan State University research project which will provide information on teacher manpower needs in high schools of 14 African nations will be conducted this fall. The study is designed to assist educators in planning and developing schools in Africa. It is sponsored by the Overseas Liaison Committee for the American Council on Education.

North Atlantic Free-Trade Area Proposal Is Hot Debate Topic

LONDON (AP) — Backers call it "the political idea of the century." Opponents predict it will never get started. And even if it does, they say, their nations shouldn't join.

The idea, still limited mainly to debate among economists, calls for the largest, richest area of free trade ever devised — the North Atlantic Free Trade Area—NAFTA.

* * *

It would bring together Britain, the United States, Canada, and perhaps Japan and others into a tariff-free market with doors open to all.

To British supporters the idea would mean economic growth in the world's largest market, strengthen the Commonwealth, broaden an Atlantic attraction for the Common Market, and revitalize the British-American partnership.

'A POOR SECOND'

To opponents the idea would be a poor second to British membership in the Common Market, split the Western alliance into hostile continental and North Atlantic blocs, condemn Britain to a role as America's economic vassal, and fail to raise enough American support.

British proponents have raised interest in their scheme to the point where it is actively debated in Parliament and press. They have one eye on Washington in the hope that the next president will review their arguments in a new light.

* * *

The proposal was outlined in a speech here in November 1965 by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. A group called the Atlantic Trade Study regularly publishes pamphlets supporting it. In May 1966 the Canadian-American Committee, a private group of businessmen, economists and labor leaders, gave its blessing.

A subcommittee of the Joint Economic Committee of the U.S. Congress said in 1967 that if Britain failed to join the European Common Market it "might consider joining an Atlantic free trade area in which the United States would be the leading member." A month late Gen. Charles de Gaulle vetoed Britain's second Common Market application.

AMONG POSSIBILITIES

The Johnson administration announced last February that the NAFTA idea is among trade possibilities it is studying.

But no government has endorsed the idea. Official British policy calls for continued efforts toward full Common Market membership. Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins recently called NAFTA "very much a second best to Britain getting into Europe."

Douglas Jay, former president of the Board of Trade in the government and a leading NAFTA advocate, calls it "exceedingly naive" to believe that after De Gaulle it will suddenly become easy for Britain to join the Common Market.

Jay and others believe the Common Market nations—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg— may decide later it is to their advantage to join NAFTA. This is a key point that opponents dispute.

JUNIOR PARTNER

Opponents believe it inevitable that Britain would become a junior partner to the United States, partly because the huge research and development budgets and new products dominating the market would stay in the United States.

If NAFTA is open to all, they say, then there is probably no need for it because the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade already provides a worldwide framework for tariff cuts.

Perhaps the most telling argument comes from Sir Con O'Neill, who led Britain's abortive negotiations for Common Market entry last year.

"It would be a complete reversal of long-standing commercial policy and traditions for the United States to enter a group which must by definition discriminate against those outside it," he says.

MARGINAL ROLE

International trade plays a relatively marginal role in the American economy, while Britain survives on world trade.

VFW Parley Draws Many From Area

Several members of Pontiac Veterans of Foreign Wars posts and auxiliaries are among the 25,000 delegates at the national VFW convention in Detroit.

Commander Clell Morse of David Belisle Post 1008, Airport Road, was one of 44 commanders throughout the United States to receive a National All-American Commanders honor. The presentation was made by National Commander Joseph A. Scerra during the awards banquet Tuesday.

* * *

There are approximately 8,000 post commanders in the United States.

Other delegates from Post 1008 are Dixie White, senior vice chairman; George Pappas, quartermaster; Matthew Jones, Ted Foreman, Earl Henry, Bruce Heatherington and Curtis Wilborn.

* * *

Representing Post 1008's auxiliary are Mrs. Ethel Morse, president; Miss Carol Morse, a member of the National committee for the pageant of drums held last night; and Mrs. Alice Pappas, financial chairman.

Pontiac VFW Post No. 1370 is being represented by its commander, Harold Carleton; James Sherry, quartermaster; Chauncey Birdsell, adjutant; and Michael Vandecar.

The convention will end Sunday.

Stolen Bicycle Full of Laughs

DETROIT (AP) — This may be a push button age, but the person who recently stole the minibike of fireman Larry Scarpace may soon decide never to push another button again, let alone steal again.

* * *

Scarpace, a clown in fire department parades for 21 years, had the 24-inch bike rigged with a variety of gags, including a booby-trapped horn. When the horn is pressed, the front end of the bike falls apart.

Accidents of all kinds killed about 112,000 people in the United State last year, a decrease of 1 per cent from the previous year.

7 Model Prisoners Are Model Students

JACKSON (AP) — By day, they are model students at Jackson Community College. By night, they are model prisoners at Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Since Feb. 1, seven prisoners, serving sentences on charges ranging from writing bad checks to second-degree murder, have been participating in Southern Michigan Prison's study-pass program.

* * *

The study-pass program was initiated last winter after a successful experience with a similar work-pass program, in which specially screened prisoners were allowed to work unguarded in outside jobs during the day.

Both the student-prisoners and their instructors gave the program high marks.

HAPPY EXPERIENCE

"I've been very happy with the situation at Jackson Community College," one said. "All my experiences there have been happy ones. The instructors have been very nice and have not showed favoritism of any kind, or any animosity towards me either."

English instructor Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, who teaches a course created primarily for students who have been out of school for some time, said of her three inmate-students:

"They're the best students in class and among the best I've ever had. All of us feel this is public education. We're here to serve all students who can qualify. A student's private and personal life outside the classroom is his own.

* * *

"I can think of only one person in class who knows where the three students come from."

Robert Lock, a political science instructor, also is happy with the program. "My over-all reaction is quite favorable," he said. "In fact, one o fthem is the best student in his class. He has taught government classes in prison, so he is up on the subject. This particular student joined the class a week late—and finished No. 1 in three tests given during the semester."

College officials said all seven participants in the study-pass program did better than average work in the school's second semester, which ended in June. All of them enrolled for the summer term.

Five of them are taking full academic loads, with business courses favored over liberal arts subjects. Two of the prisoner-students are taking vocational programs.

* * *

The prisoners, however, don't find their new found freedom an unmixed blessing.

"I want to let it be known that being in a program like this—in spite of all in its favor—has been and will continue to be an extremely trying situation," one said. "I have been locked up now for more than six years, and these past four months have been among the most miserable.

FEELS LIKE PUPPY

"One feels like a puppy left out on a very long leash to sniff around, constantly watched and snatched away from things he feels he ought to have and do.

"It isn't really easy, going down there every day and having to return here every night. The emotional strain is quite noticeable among the inmates attending college."

* * *

But the disadvantages of the program have not changed the prisoner's mind about its over-all value. "Our uppermost objective is to get as much education as possible and, most of all, to make a parole and live like ordinary people," he said.

'October Revolution' Possible as French Universities Reopen

PARIS (AP) — A lot of the talk at Paris sidewalk cafes this summer is about the chance for an "October revolution" like the one that brought the Communists to power in Russia 51 years ago.

A caricature in the popular satirical weekly, Le Canard Enchaine, shows President and Mrs. Charles de Gaulle with the single word "October" in a balloon over their heads. The caption: "A penny for your thoughts."

* * *

If an October revolution comes to France it may — like the Russian one — actually occur in Nobember when the universities are due to reopen.

Actually the situation in Russia in 1917 and in France in 1968 have little in commom.

Russia already had overthrown the czar. The great masses of people were suffering from a lost war and a long histogy of oppression, poverty and ignorance. The army took a leading part in the revolution.

VICTORY AT POLLS

In France the riots led by university students last May, and the strikes that offlowed, had De Gaulle's government wobbly at one point. But in June it won its greatest victory at the polls, and even many people accustomed to voting for the Communists made it clear they wanted no revolution.

* * *

So far the French revolutionary movement has failed to throw up any outstanding leaders. Daniel Cohn-Bendit, a 23-year-old sociology student, won much popularity among young people when he defied De Gaulle's government by returning from exile in the midst of the crisis — somewhat as Lenin returned to Russia in 1917. Cohn-Bendit is now reported out of the country again, just as Lenin slipped across the border into Finland after some unsuccessful rioting in July of that year.

* * *

But Cohn-Bendit, unlike Lenin, seems to have no interest in becoming a political leader.

Whether there is trouble in the fall will depend largely on a much more ambitious and experienced politician: Edgar Faure, the new minister of education. In 1952, at age 43, Faure was the youngest premier in French history. After De Gaulle took over, he was one of the few non-Gaullist politicians to survive and take high office.

BACK TO FOLD

As minister of agriculture he brought many indignant peasants back into the Gaullist fold. Now he is being challenged to show whether he can do the same with the students. His problem: to give them enough satisfaction to undermine the small group that wants to use their discontent to start a revolution.

* * *

Faure's first step was to announce that 5,000 or 6,000 of the additional 12,000 university students expected in Paris this fall will be accomodated in the big white headquarters built for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. NATO left France last year because of De Gaulle's hostile attitude.

* * *

The decision may have some symbolic as well as practical meaning to the students. Many dislike NATO as a symbol of the cold war.

But it had already been expected that the building would be used for some educational purpose and, anyhow, students are more concerned with outdated methods of teaching and examination. Faure has promised to do something about these, too.

TIME TO THINK

October will be a critical month. The high schools will be just starting. University students will have returned from their vacations for school openings in mid-November. Many will take the time to think about how well they like what Faure has done.

The chances are that whatever he has done, large numbers will find it inadequate. Groups will do their best to minimize his accomplishments. At the same time they will be trying to bring young workers into their movement. Much will depend on how far that effort succeeds.

* * *

To the extent that old-line union leaders can keep discipline, there is likely to be little trouble. The biggest French union, the General Confederation of Labor, is run by the official Communist party. It has shown no sign of eagerness to take over the government.

The young revolutionary students do not belong to the official Communist party. They are admirers of Fidel Castro and Che Guevara. They trade on the generation gap, trying to persuade young workers that old union leaders are just as much a part of the established way of things as old professors and old politicians. Their case will be strengthened if the big wage increases granted by the establishment in June are overshadowed in the fall by rising prices and unemployment.

* * *

Then the October revolution may become something more than cafe talk.

Height Linked to Inoculations

By Science Service

Children vaccinated before the age of two may grow taller than they would otherwise. This rather startling development can be explained in terms of emotional stress and a change in hormone balance.

Harvard's John W. M. Whiting, an authority on child development, and Stanford University colleagues Thomas K. Landauer and Thomas M. Jones, pulled relevant data on vaccinations and stature from two well-known child growth studies in Berkeley and Ohio.

* * *

As a result of the emotional stress, the children inoculated before the age of two exceeded their predicted growth to a greater extent than those not treated.

* * *

Distress symptoms from inoculations are known to last two to three weeks. It is believed that stress at this early critical period permanently alters the endocrine balance and leads to increased growth.

Russian Newspaper Stresses Need for 'Pill' to Curb Abortions

MOSCOW (AP) — "Can you get me some birth control pills?" the Russian husband asked a Westerner.

To a foreigner more used to being asked for whisky, ball-point pens or chewing gum, the request came as a surprise.

It pointed up the concern of many Soviet citizens over the means available for limiting family size in this country. A chronic housing shortage, often typified by two families sharing an apartment, has forced many couples to avoid having more than one child.

A survey in a leading newspaper showed that because of "the low efficiency" of existing contraceptive means 75 per cent of unwanted pregnancies are aborted. Abortions are free, legal and relatively easy to obtain, but the newspaper Literaturnaya Gazeta-Literary Gazette-condemns them as an anachronism at a time when other countries have such widely used means as the pill.

PROBE ORDERED

Liberary Gazette, which often discusses nonliterary problems, said the primitiveness of existing birth control means here has prompted the Health Ministry to order a massive investigation.

The paper said this study "should be speeded up as quickly as possible" and efforts should be made "to stimulate the creation here of highly effective contraceptive means."

★ ★ ★

It said a lack of improvement in these means so far was due to unreliable and "inflated data about the efficiency of existing mechanical and especially chemical contraceptive means."

In addition to a lack of birth control pills, Soviet couples say they face a shortage of such other means as intrauterine devices, and experience problems with chemical preparations including one which causes a painful burning sensation.

"Because of these problems," a Muscovite says, "most women use the rhythm method. If that doesn't work, they get an abortion."

First legalized in 1920 after the Bolshevik Revolution, then banned in 1936, abortions again were made legal in 1955.

Literary Gazette said this was done because the 1936 law, banning abortion except for health reasons, "led to a sharp increase in illegal abortions, which in turn sharply increased the death rate, the number of chronic diseases and childlessness."

In addition to the unsanitary illegal operations resulting from antiabortion laws, the paper said, such laws were opposed as being un-Communist by no less an authority than V. I. Lenin.

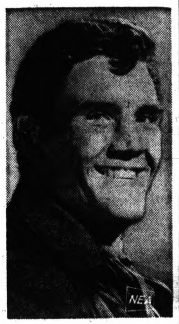
"Such laws are only the hypocrisy of the ruling classes," the founder of the Soviet state said. "These laws do not heal diseases of capitalism but convert them into ones that are particularly malignant, especially for the oppressed masses."

★ ★ ★

Literary Gazette emphasized developing better birth control means as a way of making abortions unnecessary, but added that in doing so it was not advocating a further drop in the already low birth rate.

Recent press articles have warned that the low rate could cause a net decline in the total population, now 238 million.

The moral question of whether to use any artificial birth control at all largely does not arise here, except for a small minority of Roman Catholics in the Soviet Union.



DAVID CANARY

Ponderosa's Newcomer Real 'Canary'

By JOAN CROSBY
NEA Entertainment Editor

NEW YORK—What else would a fellow named Canary be but a singer? Even if he does have the build of a football player (and he had offers to be a pro in that field) and the broken nose to go along with pigskin roughhousing.

And even if he is playing a fellow named Candy in NBC-TV's popular Bonanza.

After searching for a suitable fourth male for the series, missing ever since Pernell Roberts "ankled" the show (to use the Variety vernacular) Canary is the one who made the grade.

The day he knew he was set was the day they filmed a script written by Michael Landon, who plays Little Joe, which had Candy saying that even though he often threatened to leave the Ponderosa, he would not.

MUSICAL DREAM

Canary is a quietly amusing, impressively bright young man who seems to be objective about himself. "With this face I thought I wouldn't get away from the villainous mold, but my smile takes away from my broken nose."

He is also a man with a dream. He wants to star in a Broadway musical comedy. He has a big, legitimate voice and began as a singer.

★ ★ ★

"I originally came to New York as a singer. If you're a singer the challenge is to get a straight play and I finally did with 'Great Day in the Morning.' Then I went out to Colorado to do 'The Fantastiks' and after that I played Stanley in 'Streetcar Named Desire.'

"I don't want to sing on Bonanza because the only way it would fit the character would be to pick up a guitar and play badly and sing badly.

★ ★ ★

"Why should I give all those viewers a wrong impression of my voice? Maybe I'm foolish, but my dream is to come back and star in a Broadway musical. That would be the funnest thing of all."

It's Not Too Late to Learn – 9

Adults Can Fit Into the College Grind

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 9th in a series of 10 articles on adult education appearing in The Pontiac Press.)

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern California

It's rarely too late to go back even to college and succeed.

If you go about it right you can make the grade though you have been out of school for ten or 20 years.

NASON

College offers a special challenge of course to adults going back to school. They find that they are on their own there, instead of being nursemaided by teachers who make sure they have done their work well and turned it in promptly.

To succeed in college you will have to keep your new learning in each course well-organized in your mind.

READ AHEAD

Especially at the start of your first semester back in school you should read ahead, not only having in mind the general ideas covered in the first chapters of the text, but having a rather precise idea of the meaning of each word that is new to you.

Say the word aloud as you think its meaning. Practice each word until you can say it easily and have its meaning register instantly in your mind.

Now as the instructor talks you will be able to grasp his meaning without stumbling over unfamiliar words.

As he talks, think about the relation between the ideas he is presenting and the way they are presented in the textbook.

TRY GUESSING

If you have difficulty keeping your mind on the subject during lectures try guessing what the instructor will say next. To do this you will have to keep what he has already said organized in your mind.

It is what you think while listening that determines how much you learn in the process.

* * *

You may find it profitable to make a written outline in short sentences of each chapter before it is covered in the classroom. Spaces can be left between statements for class notes.

Speaking of class notes, they should be held to a minimum since the writing of the notes distracts from the actual learning while listening.

PRIMERS HANDY

Read the introduction and a chapter or two in each textbook before the first meetings of the classes. If one seems difficult find a more elementary book on the subject in the library or a bookstore.

There are excellent children's books available on nearly all subjects. Don't be too proud to start at the beginning. For example, an elementary pictorial book on astronomy will give you a fine overview.

* * *

You can thus start your college text with a better idea of what you are to study about.

You may have worked for grades in your previous school days. This time concentrate on learning.

Writer Dines With Shirley Amidst Horror

By JAMES O. JACKSON

PRAGUE (UPI) — I'm having breakfast with Shirley Temple today in the midst of all this tragedy.

There are four wreaths out in the reaches of Wenceslas Square to mark the spots where four young Czechoslovaks fell in brave but futile defiance of Soviet tanks and guns. There is more shooting today out in the streets, plainly heard.

* * *

And here is Shirley Temple, Mrs. Charles A. Black of Atherton, Calif., in real life, sitting down to breakfast with me.

She is here for a meeting on multiple sclerosis, a disease her brother suffered, and like my wife and myself, she's staying at the Alcron Hotel. You can hear the sound of a country being crushed from the Alcron.

I'm honored to meet a woman who as a child enthralled America, but I could wish for a happier occasion. The horror show outside is real.

* * *

The music you hear is someone singing, humming or playing the national anthem. It's the last thing radio Prague got to play yesterday. The dancing you see is by young people disdainfully waiting for the last moment to step out of the way of an oncoming tank.

The face on the mother holding her child on Wenceslas Square and watching a tank is its own story, the venom and wounded pride showing, and you think of the old expression: if looks could kill . . .

* * *

The reaction is not the same for all. Young people flaunt their hatred of the Russians in their armored cars and tanks, but many people just stand there and watch as though stunned.

But you can express yourself and get away with it if you are lucky. A young man spits at a column of tanks. Another runs up to a tank and pokes a little flag in the treads.

* * *

A Russian tank burned by fire-bombs is an object of derision and quite a bit of pride. Someone has an idea and scrawls a Nazi swastika on its side. Many Czechs are pretty outspoken in equating the Russian invaders with the Nazi invaders of 1938.

MISSION HERBICIDE—Spraying chemicals to kill jungle growth, a formation of U.S. Air Force C123 cargo planes flies a bare 100 feet over hills west of Hue. The Air Force has doubled its missions with the herbicide-spraying planes since July in an effort to hinder enemy infiltration into South Vietnam.

Herbicide-Spraying Missions Risky

AF Doubles Effort to Destroy Viet Jungle

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — The U.S. Air Force has doubled its missions to destroy jungle growth in the northern provinces of South Vietnam since July to hinder the increased infiltration of North Vietnamese soldiers.

Last July 1, there were four herbicide-spraying C123 cargo planes operating out of Da Nang air base. Now there are eight and the fleet is expected to be expanded to 11.

★ ★ ★

"Hopefully we will then have eight or nine planes on the line flying two missions daily," said Lt. Col. Phillip Larsen, 39, of Denver, Colo., commander of the Da Nang detachment of the 12th Special Operations Squadron.

The use of chemicals to burn away jungle growth has been condemned by some scientists who say the long-range effects have not been determined and could be disastrous.

EFFORT PRAISED

Allied field commanders have praised the effort, however, saying the defoliation has revealed infiltration routes and enemy base camps under double and triple canopy jungle that could not have been spotted in other ways.

So far more than four million acres in South Vietnam have been sprayed with defoliant and many new target areas are being added to match the movement of troops and supplies from North Vietnam into the South.

The controversy over use of herbicides has not affected the "Ranch Hands," the nickname adopted by the Air Force crews who fly the defoliation missions. For them, it is just another hazardous assignment.

There is a multitude of hazards for the four men aboard each of the lumbering, two-engined, C123s. First, their missions are always over areas where the enemy is believed to be concentrated or moving through.

MUST DIVE LOW

Loaded with 1,000-gallon tanks holding 11,000 pounds of herbicide, the plane must fly formation to the target and dive low to begin their three to four-minute, dare-devil run.

To lay the spray where it's supposed to go, the pilots follow formation, contour flying only 100 feet above the trees, climbing and dipping to avoid the hilltops. Finally, there is the slow climb to 2,500 feet, an altitude considered reasonably safe from enemy ground fire.

The Air Force has worked to increase the safety margin for the Ranch Hands stationed in Da Nang and at the squadron headquarters in Bien Hoa. Since July, most of the planes in the squadron have been equipped with two jet engines to supplement their propeller power.

"They give us added insurance in case we lose one of our own engines," Larsen said. The jets also are used for added thrust for the climb after the run has been completed.

The Ranch Hands are riding a long streak of luck, their last fatality occurring more than a year ago when a plane was shot down in the Mekong Delta and all four crewmen were killed.

Soviet Venus Data Doubted

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Once they got a matched pair of space probes (one Russian and one American) complementing each other in the vicinity of Venus last October, scientists thought they had at last licked the cloud-shrouded planet's two most tantalizing mysteries — the temperature and atmospheric pressure at the surface. But there was a hitch, it now develops.

The measurements assumed that Russia's Venus 4 probe had, as claimed, zipped to about 15 miles above the planet, then released a parachute-equipped instrument package which gathered and transmitted data all the way down to its collision with the surface.

But there is now reason to believe that the package was 30 miles above the surface when freed and 15 miles up when the transmissions stopped.

U.S. Political Extremist Groups Take Up Arms for 'Protection'

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — Authorities believe that, next to a crook or a kook, the most dangerous man with a gun is the political extremist.

Evidence is that such people — left or right, black or white — do not own firearms for sport or collection, they own them for "protection."

* * *

Many are, in fact, "protected" by several weapons and will readily admit that, if it comes to it, they will use them against their foes — Communists, black people, white honkies, Jews or what have you.

Donald Lobsinger is an example. He's a leader of a Detroit-based anti-Negro group called "Breakthrough." Last year he indicated his gun purpose in a speech to the club and the press recorded his opinions.

'WE WILL FIRE'

"If another riot comes," he said, "we will protect our property."

The audience cheered.

"We will protect our homes."

More cheers.

"And we will fire!"

* * *

Trigger-finger bravado has been traditional among U.S. extremist groups, some of which have already "fired" on many occasions. The Ku Klux Klan, for example, has been shooting people for a century.

And there is nothing to indicate that extremist violence is on the wane. The influence of the Klan and other old-line organizations has shrunk, officials say, but new bunches of bigots have taken up the slack.

RESPECTABLE FACADES

These new groups are clandestine, closemouthed and only vaguely familiar to the public. Often they operate behind respectable facades and are fronted by respectable citizens. Most of them publicly condemn violence.

Yet law enforcement observers say the aims of the new unions are clearly warlike. And the following group sketches can accurately be drawn:

THE WHITE PARTY

Earl Allen, who heads this small Virginia alliance, says that it has recently sworn in "most" of the old American Nazi party storm troopers. The Nazi pack crumbled after the 1967 murder of fuehrer-founder George Lincoln Rockwell.

Allen insists his party is political and does not concern itself with violence. However, he recommends weapons for every party member. He explains that the black community is arming itself, "so we have to do the same."

NORTH WARD CITIZENS GROUP

This Newark, N.J., vigilante band was organized after the 1967 riots. Similar groups are reported in Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee and other cities. They say their purpose is "to protect our wives and kids." Most members have guns, many have military training. Newark claims it has an armored vehicle.

Says one Newark white: "I don't have nothing to say to the press. You guys twist everything we do. We're just a club. We don't want any trouble. We're just going to keep the fires out, that's all there is to it."

BLACK PANTHER PARTY FOR SELF-DEFENSE

Probably the largest of the Negro hate groups, it has offshoots in several cities. The FBI says that the party's purpose is revolutionary in nature and Communist-oriented. One of their slogans is, "Guns, Baby, Guns."

The Anti-Defamation League reports that Black Panthers see themselves as the vanguard of black revolution, and urge small groups of twos and threes to carry out guerrilla activity. Huey Newton, the Panther minister of defense, has said, "Political power comes through the barrel of a gun."

PAUL REVERE ASSOCIATED YEOMEN

A New Orleans-based group, very small, which on occasion mails propaganda throughout the nation. One mailing example: "Prepare yourself and your sons to fight in the streets, in the alleys, in the parks . . . while your wives and daughters protect homes with gas masks and pistols."

CHRISTIAN YOUTH CORPS

Based in St. Petersburg, Fla., it is closely tied to the Ku Klux Klan. Says one member: "The Jews and niggers are in alliance and so the Christians must be allied, too. Something's bound to happen."

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Recently wedded to Black Panther ideals and goals, SNCC has grown increasingly revolutionary in the past two years. It has been a training ground for such activists as Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown. One Brown quote: "If you give me a gun and tell me to shoot my enemy, I might shoot Lady Bird."

Currently the group is in disarray, torn by internal bickering, lack of money and lack of Negro support.

Nonetheless, federal authorities say flatly that "if riots occur this summer, SNCC will be here."

DEFENDERS OF THE AMERICAN CONSTITUTION

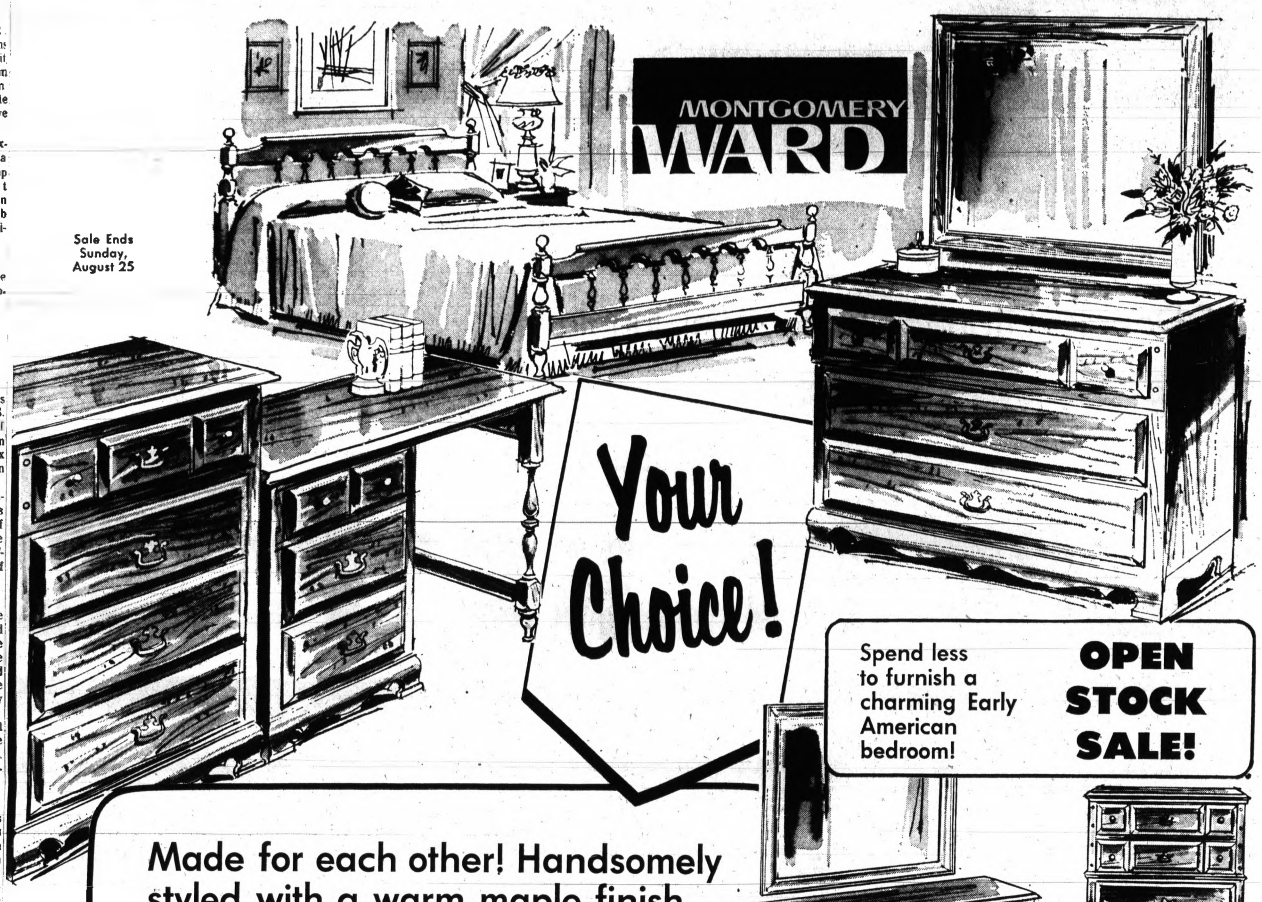
Another mostly mail-baiting group is located in Ormond Beach, Fla. Its leadership claims that gun control laws are a Communist plot to take over the nation. The group publishes a bulletin called "Alert" and is headed by a retired Marine Corps general.

NATIONAL STATES RIGHTS PARTY

A small collection of the hopeless who headquarter in Savannah, Ga., are against Jews, Negroes, Indians, the FBI and "pseudoliberals." The NSRP publishes "The Thunderbolt," believed by B'nai B'rith to the "one of the most blatant hate sheets in America." The group advocates gun stockpiling.

Shaven-headed Negroes who prowl New York streets with machetes and ugly scowls. Small, and largely of nuisance value, they nevertheless symbolize all of the groups named here, and all of the groups not named. As a Harlem policeman puts it: "The Mau Maus are a tragic bunch of idiots. But you can't just ignore them. We have found out in this country that the actions of tragic idiots can turn the whole world around."

The smallest North American bear is the black bear, which usually weighs from 300 to 600 pounds and is about 6½ feet long from tail to nose.



Spend less to furnish a charming Early American bedroom!

A Day in Air Traffic Control

By NOEL GROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Ordinarily Jim Miller is a quiet, easy going man from whom conversation and emotion register in low-octane, low-pressure readings.

"Some people," he says, with typical deliberateness, "tell me I talk slowly."

But when he's working as an air traffic controller at Washington's National Airport at a lively traffic hour, voice velocity revs up to red line rpm, easily matching a well-oiled disc jockey on the midmorning spin show.

* * *

"Piedmont 500 take the first exit off the runway, Air Force 28865 switch to ground control, National 465 clear for take-off, Cherokee 324 you're four miles from the airport and on final approach for runway 15." All in one breath.

"You learn to think of several different things at one time," says Miller, 35, throttling back to conversational speed. "This is no job for anyone with a one-track mind."

5 DIFFERENT JOBS

On an ordinary working day, Miller works five different jobs in traffic control, spending from one to two hours at each one. Mercifully, a tough job is usually followed by an easier one.

On the 7 a.m.-3 p.m. shift one day recently, Miller began in the radar room. The radar men sort out the planes, which show as blips on the radar screens, and guide them in one at a time for an approach to the airport.

There may be 60-70 blips on the screen at a time at National. The radar controllers shuffle them to keep them at least three miles apart or separated by a height of 1,000 feet.

* * *

A controller's nightmare is to see two blips merge, and then both disappear from the screen in the tragic event that both separations have somehow been neglected. It has never happened to Miller, nor to anyone else at National since he went to work there 11 years ago, despite the recent statement by a labor representative of the controllers that overwork is causing an average of five near-misses a day at National.

For Miller's first position of the day, he settles in front of a screen to handle approaches of military aircraft to nearby Andrews Air Force Base. Andrews' air space spills over into National's, so the National controllers handle approaches for the military men as well, until they can turn them over to their own tower.

GAME OF AERIAL CHESS

It is a soft job this early, since Andrews traffic does not thicken until later. In an hour's time, Miller guides in only four or five early birds. He passes the time with talk and a few laughs with a coworker.

At 9:30 a.m., he alternates to another radar screen, this one handling planes coming into National from the east. Activity speeds up. Miller's face and voice remain calm, but the jokes stop. His eyes are glued to the screen as he plays a game of aerial chess in which the only checkmates are usually fatal.

* * *

"Allegheny 909, turn left at two-two-zero."

"Allegheny 909," a voice answers in his headset, "left at two-two-zero."

"National 425, descend to 6,000 feet."

"National 425," comes the echo, "leaving seven for six."

"Executive Jet 963, you're 12 miles from the airport on final approach, contact the tower."

They are angry tons of steel and combustible fuel loaded with fragile human bodies, cruising in a shrunken sky at better than 200 miles per hour. Interspersed with the big birds are smaller private planes, not bound by ground-given headings, avoiding other planes by visual lookout. "We take them first-come, first-served," says the controllers.

PILOT GENTLY SARCASTIC

Miller informs an airline pilot that he has traffic in a one o'clock position from him, moving "what looks here like southeast."

Later . . . "We almost ran over him," says the pilot to Miller, with gentle sarcasm. "He was going southwest, not southeast."

"Well, it looked like he was going southeast on the screen," Miller answers apologetically.

The tension builds and Miller is glad to give up his seat after two hours. The tension, the urgency, "it's like that every day," he says as he drops out for lunch before moving from the radar room to the tower for his next position.

* * *

"But it's a funny thing about this business," he says, "you don't find many guys trying to hand off the tough jobs to someone else. The esprit de corps is such that most guys like the challenge. The attitude is more like, 'Let me get in there and see if I can clean up this mess.' "

Miller starts his afternoon in the tower with another cushy job, checking out flight plan clearance, then after an hour he moves to a position that is busier, but not tense. As ground controller he acts as traffic cop around the terminal ramps for planes on the ground.

Another hour passes and he moves to his last position of the day, the hotseat of the tower — local control. There he handles all incoming and outgoing traffic doing the actual landings and take-offs.

JUGGLING BOGGLES MIND

The mental gymnastics required to juggle them all boggles the untrained mind. At any one time the local controller must have in mind the location and future plans of eight-to-10 planes. A 727 jet is in final approach, say, four miles away from the airport, while a DC-8 is speeding down the same runway on take-off.

Four miles behind the 727 is an Electra prop-jet, but in between the 727 and the Electra, Miller hopes to squeeze in a little two-engine Beechcraft for a landing on runway 15 which runs diagonal to 18, the one the big planes are landing on.

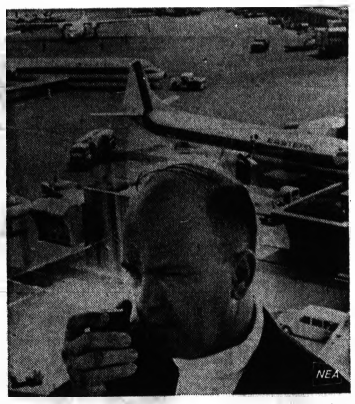
Runways 15 and 18 intersect, so the Beechcraft must be through the intersection before the Electra gets there, and by the rules, before the Electra reaches the edge of the runway.

* * *

There are variables. The Beech pilot may be a novice and bring it in slower than Miller expected. Or the Electra may be coming in hotter than usual. It's the kind of informal race on which a man must be able to lay perfect odds at a glance.

About 2:50 p.m. Miller is relieved, after a day of the usual alternations between busy times and slack times, the usual fluctuations of blood pressure. There has been tension in the radar room, suspense in the tower, but the only real impediment to traffic flow has come, not from machines or men, but from a little black and white dog that escaped from the baggage department.

It went bouncing happily out on the blacktop about 12:30 p.m. and plopped down—a tail-wagging, unknowing saboteur, smack in the middle of the intersection of runways 18 and 21, blocking both.



MAN ON A HOT SPOT—Jim Miller's job as air traffic controller at Washington's National Airport can be a life-and-death matter for people he never sees.

World of Primates Periled

By National Geographic Society

WASHINGTON — The world population of apes and monkeys is dwindling before encroaching civilization and the demands of science.

* * *

"We must do everything that we can to advance every possible measure that is calculated to protect all primates and especially endangered species of primates," says Dr. Leonard Carmichael, vice president for research and exploration of the National Geographic Society.

Dr. Carmichael sounded the alarm recently in his keynote address as president of the Second International Congress of Primatology, in Atlanta, Ga.

* * *

"It is a truism that if a natural species is lost, it can never be replaced," Dr. Carmichael said. "In the study of primatology, therefore, the term 'endangered species' has a peculiarly ominous sound.

'GREAT SIGNIFANCE?

"All who realize what primatology can do to advance our scientific and medical knowledge of man realize that all primates are not alike and specific form may turn out in the scientific use of some specific form may turn out in the future, as it has in the past, to be of great applied significance, for example, in medicine."

* * *

The eminent scientist and educator suggested a continuous living census of all primates in all geographic areas.

"In this connection," he added, "it may be that special study must be given not only to the protection of primates where they are now found in nature but also in laboratories, zoological gardens, and especially in all-important breeding centers."

* * *

Dr. Carmichael pointed out that free-roaming colonies of primates established in Japan may contribute to an understanding of human population dynamics.

For Swaziland

Independence Is Near

By National Geographic Society

WASHINGTON — Swaziland, a rapidly developing monarchy smaller than New Jersey and with fewer people than Newark, will gain its independence Sept. 6.

The last British colony in Africa, Swaziland will become the 28th member of the commonwealth.

Its independence, coupled with the self-declared independence of Rhodesia in 1965, marks the end of Britain's 300 years of colonial rule in Africa.

Sparsely populated Swaziland represents one of the world's more desirable bits of real estate.

Independence comes to the 390,000 Swazis, who include 8,000 whites, after a decade of spectacular growth in agriculture and industry.

An ambitious hydroelectric system, a rich iron mine, new sugar mills, a pulp mill, a railroad, and a highway—all were introduced in the 1960's.

remember the day you got up enough courage to propose?

Perhaps you didn't have much to offer—in material things—but you had love and dreams and a world of brightly-minted new days ahead of you. And even if the ring wasn't as big and beautiful as the love you wanted to express—she showed it off as if you'd given her the Hope Diamond.

Perhaps you've come a long way since then—together. And perhaps now you'd like to express your love, again, in a diamond more like the one you wished you could have given. If you'd bought it at Rose, there'd be no problem. For Rose will not only take back any diamond they sell, in exchange on a larger diamond; they'll also value the stone at more than you paid for it, at the rate of 3% a year—or a full 15% for just five years. In other words, your Rose diamond grows in value all the while you're wearing and enjoying it.

Think about that.

1st-Place Tigers Show Chicagoans Price for Victory

Very little reason was given for the sudden cancellation of the Detroit Lions-Philadelphia Eagles football game which was scheduled to be played in Mexico City's Aztec Stadium two weeks ago.

The reasons are now very obvious despite the attempts of the Mexican government to hide the internal problems.

Lyall Smith, Lions' public relations director, spent a week in Mexico City helping the football promoters with advance promotion on the game.

One day prior to when the teams were supposed to arrive, a press conference was called to go over the last minute arrangements for the game.

NO REASON GIVEN

"Out of the clear blue sky, the Stadium people just told us that due to circumstances beyond their control the game was off," said Smith.

"When asked for reasons, they just said no comment," he added.

* * *

At first, one report noted that the cancellation was due to the lack of sale of tickets.

"That's not true," said Smith, "the promoters had 60,000 advance seats sold."

The promoters had a $10 ceiling on seats, primarily for sale to the large American colony in the city.

However, all costs of entertainment for the natives is usually a five peso ticket, which is 40 cents, and the Mexican government specifically told the promoters that this was the going rate for at least 50,000 of the 105,000 seats.

Trying to get more of an answer for the cancellation, Smith was told by one of the hotel employes, "Senor Smith it be best you don't give too many reasons or you may be in jail."

"They are closed mouthed and running scared down there," said Smith, "with all of the student disorders going on, they were apparently afraid of having all this internal trouble televised back to the U.S."

National TV was planned for the game and it was reported that CBS had spent $100,000 prior to the scheduled game for lines and preparations.

POINT TO GAMES

Student riots and protests have been going on since mid-July and indications are that they are zeroing in on the Olympic games scheduled for October 12-27.

The Mexican government is shuddering. It has poured millions of dollars into preparations for the Olympics and now is beset with the fear of tourist cancellations for the games.

* * *

Recently, a march of 100,000 students and sympathizers converged on the National palace, shouting police brutality and waving banners against the federal government, showing Olympic rings with swastikas and signs reading, "Olympic Record: Mass Killing."

When the Olympics were awarded to Mexico City at Baden-Baden Germany, five years ago, Mexican Olympic officials bought their votes with silver trinkets, despite the attitude of the Mexican people that they could not afford the very costly world event.

WARNED OUR GROUP

At the same time, Avery Brundage, head of the Olympic International Olympic Committee was pointing a finger at the Detroit group warning them they had better not try to "buy" the games.

Now the Mexican government is embarrassed with all of the internal strife, the Mexican Olympic committee is in a state of shock, afraid of financial disaster if tourists start backing out.

Of course Brundage still thinks he can walk on water despite it all.

There are 25,000 millionaires in Mexico and 25 million peasants. The average monthly wage is $8.

But, our friends south of the border shouldn't fret, the Yankee pesos are on their way.

And it might cause a Mexican inflation.

Pinch-Hitter Rips Knuckler for 3-2 Win

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Price walked to the plate in the 10th inning, trying not to be nervous. The score was tied 2-2.

"Why don't you get a haircut, kid?" a fan yelled from the stands.

"Just skip it," said Price. "I'm going to win this thing."

With two strikes on him, Price slammed one of Wilbur Wood's knuckleballs into the left field seats and the Detroit Tigers had beaten the Chicago White Sox 3-2.

"Imagine a guy worried about a haircut at a time like that," said Price, dripping sweat in the jubilant Detroit dressing room. "I guess my hair looks longer with the batting helmet jammed on my head."

SECOND HOMER

The 25-year-old reserve catcher doesn't play much with all-star Bill Freehan in front of him. The Tigers acquired him two years ago from Pittsburgh. He was batting .180 before his second homer of the season.

"I hit the other one in Cleveland," said Price. "It put us ahead 3-1. But Jim Northrup hit two grand slams that day.

* * *

"I'm more nervous after I pinch hit than before," he said. "I'm sweating like a maniac. I try not to be nervous when I go to the plate. You've got to be ready."

Jerry Lynch, who set National League records as a pinchhitter for Pittsburgh a few years ago, gave Price some advice about pinchhitting.

"I've pinchhit and tied up the game four or five times this year, but this was the greatest," Price said.

A fine football player at Hershey, Pa., High School, Price turned down 25 college scholarship offers to play baseball. He spent seven years in the Pittsburgh farm system, an all-star four times.

* * *

"I'd rather play all the time, but Freehan . . . he's just great," said Price. "You just keep plugging and wait for your chance."

Mayo Smith, the Detroit manager, said Price would catch the final game of the White Sox series today, with Freehan going to first base against left-hander Tommy John. Mickey Lolich will pitch for Detroit.

Detroit's comeback ability— victories after being tied or behind after the seventh inning — was visible again Wednesday night.

TAKE LEAD

Chicago had taken a 2-1 lead off Detroit starter Pat Dobson on Gerry McNertney's lead off homer in the fifth.

The White Sox scored in the first inning when Gates Brown lost Luis Aparicio's liner in the lights for a double, Sandy Alomar beat out an infield hit, Dobson hit Pete Ward with a pitch and Aparicio scored as Tom McCraw hit into a doubleplay.

Jim Northrup singled in the Tigers' fourth, stole second and scored on Freehan's single, tying it 1-1.

Mickey Stanley knotted the score with a two-out homer in the eight off White Sox relief ace Bob Locker. Stanley's 10th homer was the first run off Locker in his last 30 innings of relief, covering 19 games.

"It was a sinker above the knees," said White Sox interim Manager Les Moss. "It was a pretty good pitch."

WINNING BLAST — Reserve receiver Jim Price of the Tigers took a slightly altered batting stance to the plate last night and he produced "Gates Brown results" with a game-winning pinch-hit homer in the last of the 10th inning. The right-handed swinger connected off Chicago's Wilbur Wood.

Lose to Orioles, 4-3

Angels Strand 20

ANAHEIM (AP) — The California Angels had 25 baserunners but only three of them scored. The Baltimore Orioles stranded 11 runners but four others crossed the plate.

That comparison is one reasonable explanation of why the Angels are mired in eighth place in the American League while the second-place Orioles continue their hot pursuit of league-leading Detroit.

Because of doubleplays, the Angels officially left only 20 runners in the final game of their home stand, but eight of them were stranded in the final four innings of the 15-inning marathon the Orioles won 4-3.

MARATHON

The Birds won the 4½-hour marathon after Mark Belanger opened the 15th inning with a walk off loser Marty Pattin, 3-4. Belanger stole second, took third on a throwing error by catcher Ed Kirkpatrick and scored on a single by John "Boog" Powell.

MEXICO BOUND — Former AAU national diving champion Micki King of Pontiac earned a berth on the U.S. Olympic team Wednesday night in the three-meter springboard trials at Long Beach, Calif., with a strong final-round showing.

Micki King Rates Olympics Berth on Springboard

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Micki King of Pontiac put on a strong performance Wednesday night in the finals of the women's three-meter diving to earn a berth on the United States Olympic team.

The Air Force lieutenant on duty with the ROTC detachment at the University of Michigan joined Hawaiian teen-ager "Keala" O'Sullivan and ailing Sue Gossick as the qualifiers.

Miss O'Sullivan, 17, scored 447.90 points in defeating Lt. King, Pontiac, Mich., with 405.06, and Wednesday's first-round leader Miss Gossiak of Tarzana, Calif., 402.03.

MOVES UP

Miss King was eighth after the preliminary round, more than 25 points behind the leader. But she scored well in the final three optional dives to make the team along with Miss Gossick.

Fourth in the competition was Jerrie Adair of Long Beach with 397.92. She will be taken to Mexico City for the Games as an alternate.

Eyler Sets Local Pace in Western Amateur

Special to The Pontiac Press

GROSSE ILE — Gene Eyler of Oakland Hills got his putter under control to jump from eighth to 4th place in the Western Golf Association's 66th amateur championship here yesterday as he had 71-70—141, one under par for his two rounds.

Hal Underwood, 22, University of Houston graduate, set a course record 64 after an opening 74. He tied for first place at 138 with Earl (Chip) Stewart, 21, son of the veteran Dallas professional.

* * *

Stewart, University of Texas senior, had 70-68.

Mark Hayes, 18, Oklahoma State sophomore who led the first round with a 68 had 71 for 139 and third place. Eyler paced 10 Michigan golfers who survived the cutoff after 36 holes as 50 with scores of 148 or better qualified for today's 36 holes.

FIVE BIRDIES

Eyler, former Oakland Hills champion, counted five birdies in his 70, against four bogeys but he was encouraged because he didn't have a three-putt green, after four such unfortunate experiences on his opening round.

Peter Green of Orchard Lake and Jim St. Germain of Meadowbrook each carded 71-73—144, along with Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile, five-time Michigan champion, as they figured in a eight-way tie for 11th place.

* * *

After today's double round is completed, the low 16 players for the 72 hole qualifying round move into match play. There are two rounds tomorrow and the semi-finals and final Saturday.

Eyler, 33-year-old manufacturers' representative, replaced Jim Funston as the pacesetter among Oakland County golfers in the tournament.

Funston, 47-year-old Plum Hollow golfer, jumped to 76 after 70 for 146. Frank Groves, Orchard Lake, also had 146 on 74-72.

Joe Brisson of Indianwood was one of only 12 players to break par over the 6,701-yard Grosse Ile layout. He had 70 after 77 for 147.

* * *

Tom Draper, Red Run veteran and Lynn Janson, Michigan champion from East Lansing, also had 70's, brilliant improvements on their first round 78s to figure in a log jam of 15 players at 148.

LOCAL LEADER — Gene Eyler of Oakland Hills, led the local entries in the Western Amateur Golf Championship now being played at Grosse Ile. In qualifying, Eyler fired 71-70—141 for 4th place. Match play starts today.

Still suffering from the fallout in Dayton last Saturday where Piston Pete Mikolajewski threw too many bombs, the Pontiac Firebirds must look forward to facing another unbeaten foe Saturday when they head for Buffalo to meet the Lackawanna Lancers.

Lackawanna and Dayton are the lone unbeatens left in the Midwest Football League, and the Firebirds must recuperate from their injuries and hurt pride if they hope to stay in the MFL race this early in the season.

A 13 game winning streak ended in Dayton, as Mikolajewski threw for four touchdowns giving him eight in two games.

The Firebirds actually dominated the statistics in the Dayton game, but everytime Pistol Pete had his back to the wall he came through with the long bomb which either set up or scored TDs.

Lackawanna has two high scoring victories thus far, including a 48-6 win over Fort Wayne and 32-6 rout of Ypsilanti.

* * *

The battered and bruised Firebirds who have suffered key injuries in every game thus far, will have to depend on Bob Pomeroy to handle the signal calling.

He is the only quarterback available with Bill Herrington sidelined with a leg injury.

Bradshaw Jr., Recruits Dad for Lions

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

At his age, 4-year-old Charles Bradshaw, Jr., couldn't care less about the new sign on an office door in Houston which reads, "Bradshaw & Foster, Attorneys at Law."

All little Charley knows and cares about right now is that his dad is a pro football player with the Detroit Lions.

In fact, it was Charles who was instrumental in talking his dad out of retirement and coming to play for the Lions.

* * *

Charley Bradshaw, Sr., at 6-6 and 260 pounds, was planning to retire after the 1966 season with the Pittsburgh Steelers and pursue his law practice full time.

"Would you rather dad be an attorney or a football player?" young Charles was asked.

FOOTBALL OF COURSE

This was like asking junior if he would rather have ice cream or spinach. The word "torney," as he pronounced it, had no special meaning for Charles, but he was already well exposed to "fooball."

At any rate, with the retirement of J.D. Smith and Daryl Sanders, Joe Schmidt found himself without a veteran tackle as he faced the 1967 season, his first as head coach.

* * *

New Orleans picked Bradshaw in the expansion draft and the Lions gave up Bruce McLenna to the Saints for his rights.

"I always had a lot of respect for Joe as a player and I felt the Lions had the potential of a winner. I'd like to be on a championship team before I retire," Bradshaw said, when he changed his mind about playing again.

A soft spoken and mild mannered person off the field, Bradshaw was drafted by the Rams after graduating from Baylor University.

He spent six years with the Steelers to whom he was traded in 1961 under ex-Lion coach Buddy Parker.

FACES TOUGH FOES

On the field however, Bradshaw has the chore of facing the meanest men in pro football with the likes of Willie Davis of the Packers, Deacon Jones of the Rams, Ed O'Bradovich of the Bears and Bubba Smith of the Colts, whom he will be up against tomorrow night in Tiger Stadium.

Bradshaw rates Jones as the toughest of the huge defensive ends he must face in blocking and pass protection, but "Davis is just as tough on the pass rush," he notes.

Chuck Knox, who Bradshaw says is the reason for the Lions' much improved offensive line play, said, "It was a good break for us when Charley decided to play again, he sure is a great competitor and a big reason why our line was second best in the NFL last year on pass protection."

* * *

The case in point for Bradshaw and the young offensive line is that Lions' quarterbacks were hit only 24 times last season indicating the strong pass protection given by the line.

"And many of the times our QB's had to eat the ball were in blitzing situations," noted Knox "which is tough for any team to stop. Much of the protection in biltzing falls on the shoulders of the backs.

Bradshaw doesn't take the credit for this impressive statistic, he passes out the laurels.

"Roger Shoals did a great job, and the young players like Chuck Walton, Frank Gallagher, Bob Kowalkowski, and Bill Cottrell were all doing well, which speaks well of the job Chuck Knox does with the line," Bradshaw added.

This year the Lions have been hit hard in training camp with injuries as Walton and John Gordy both have been injured.

MOVES FORCED

Cottrell was moved to tackle and Kowalkowski and Gallagher were moved into first line guard duties and have been lauded by Lions coaches.

"Bradshaw is now our offensive captain and he's the real leader of our offensive line," said Knox.

"He will get beat once in a while, all linemen do," Knox added, "but I'll bet on him when it comes to outsmarting his man on defense."

* * *

Bradshaw was a math major at Baylor, but after graduating he became interested in law, and during his pro football years he was back at Baylor during each off-season and now holds his law degree.

When he goes against big Bubba tomorrow night, he will give way in weight to the former Michigan State All-America, but as Knox sees it, "Charley will hold his own against any of them."

The Lions can thank Charley, Jr., for helping to recruit Charley Sr., out of retirement by getting him a copy of the Western tune, "Detroit City," junior's favorite song.

* * *

Kickoff with Baltimore is slated for 8:00 p.m. The Colts are 3-0 in exhibition play and the Lions 1-1. A crowd of 35,000 is expected for the charity game.

UNSUNG GRIDDER — Big Charley Bradshaw, offensive tackle of the Detroit Lions, is one of the big reasons why the Lions were the second best pass protection unit in the NFL last season. Bradshaw changed his mind about retirement after leaving the Steelers after the 1966 season.

Tie for Lead in Pine Lake Women's Golf

The Pine Lake Country Club women's golf championship enters its second 18 holes of play today with a veteran and a comparative newcomer tied for the lead.

Pacing the championship flight after yesterday's opening round are Mrs. C. P. Mehas, who won the club title four times, and Joan Kelchner.

Each had an 87 Wednesday to share a five-stroke lead. Miss kelchner is the daughter of the former champ Mrs. John Kelchner.

NOT DEFENDING

The 1967 titlist Kathy Shanahan is now Mrs. Rod Armstrong and isn't defending her laurels. The final 18 holes will be Friday.

* * *

In the first flight, Mrs. Robert Bergeson leads Mrs. N. F. Gehringer by one, 97-98.

Mrs. A. R. Crawford's 105 paces the second flight, three strokes in front of Mrs. F. C. Smith and the third flight currently is a duel between Mrs. D. E. Trueman (111) and Mrs. Robert E. Davis (113).

Ontario Golfer Keeps Lead to Win WMGA

Veteran Canadian member Mrs. Nick Panasiuk of Elmhurst, Ont., parlayed her steady parade around the Tyrone Hills Golf Club into an easy 54-hole medal play Women's Metropolitan Golf Association championship Wednesday.

Holding a six-stroke lead entering yesterday's final 18 holes of play, the 1966 tourney champ posted 42-43 and coasted home 11 strokes in front of Mrs. Midge Cova of Novi.

Mrs. Cova came from six strokes behind with seven holes remaining to capture second place by two strokes over Southfield's Mrs. Max Evans. Her closing 38 was the best nine-hole total in the tournament field.

SECOND LEG

Mrs. Panasiuk's triumph gives her a second leg on the WMGA's Drukenbrod Trophy. Mrs. Evans won last year when the Canadian player couldn't defend her laurels due to the riots in Detroit and the resulting travel restrictions.

Mrs. Panasiuk's 85 yesterday included 32 putts on the tricky Tyrone Hills greens. She finished with a 259 total.

Temporarily Abate Dispute Over Tour

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Defending champion Dan Sikes, Jack Nicklaus, Julius Boros, top money-winner Billy Casper, U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino and other top professional golfers concentrated on golf instead of gab today in the opening round of the $100,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic.

The bitter, vocal dispute between the golf pros and the Professional Golfers' Association over who should run the rich tour temporarily was shunted into the background as a field of 156 started the four-day, 72-hole competition over the par 36-36—72 Whitemarsh Valley Country Club course.

While Sikes, Nicklaus, Boros, Casper, Trevino and company were the favorites, many eyes were turned on young Bob Murphy, the Brooklyn native who came within a stroke of tying last week's Westchester Classic.

NY Beats Twins; Indians Triumph

Sleepy Al Downing Stays Awake on Mound

By the Associated Press

Al Downing hopes Minnesota's Mayo Clinic can do as much for his sleeping habits as Minnesota's Twins have done for his pitching groove.

The little New York left-hander, plagued by chronic arm trouble since spring training, stymied Minnesota hitters for 8⅓ innings Wednesday night and earned only his second victory of the season as the Yankees edged the Twins 2-1.

Today Downing will re-enter the Mayo Clinic, where his pitching arm passed doctors' tests two days ago, for the examination of another problem—his mysterious inclination toward instant daytime slumber.

Downing has trouble sleeping at night but can doze off at the drop of a hat in mid-day. The Mayo specialists have diagnosed his condition as narcolepsy, a controllable ailment remotely akin to sleeping sickness. They suspect there may be some relation between his sleeping pattern and arm miseries.

* * *

"They are going to give me sleeping pills before I go to bed at night and pills to keep me awake during the day," said the 27-year-old fastballer, who won 14 games for the Yankees last year. "They'll keep me for a day to see how I react. I hope they find the answer."

Cleveland trimmed Boston 8-2 for Horacio Pina's first major league victory in another game.

Downing, who spent one month on the disabled list and another in the minors trying to regain his pitching form, held the Twins hitless until the sixth and took a two-hit shutout into the ninth, when Bob Allison's 15th homer brought Lindy McDaniel out of the bullpen to nail down the victory.

* * *

The 8⅓-innings's stint was the longest of the year for Downing, who went 6½ last Friday night in beating Oakland 2-1.

Rocky Colavito's eighth-inning homer off Jim Kaat broke a scoreless deadlock and Rich Rollins' bases-loaded error in the top of the ninth gave New York the run that proved decisive.

BIG INNING

The Indians supported Pina, a 21-year-old right-hander making his first start, with an eight-run uprising in the fifth that knocked out Boston's Jim Lonborg.

Pina gave up eight hits and

Only 4 U.S. Netters in Contention

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — This is supposed to be the United States' year in the national tennis championships but somebody had better hurry up and tell the Americans before time runs out.

The 88th annual tournament entered its seventh day at Longwood today and officials were frankly afraid to think what might happen next because of the number of startling upsets so far.

There are only four Americans among the nine survivors in the men's singles. In doubles, the United States has only three teams left heading into the quarter-finals.

Army Lt. Arthur Ashe, who arrived five days late because of play in the Davis Cup interzone matches with Spain, remained America's best bet to win the singles title, which has gone to Australia 10 times and to Mexico and Spain once each since Tony Trabert's victory in 1955.

* * *

However, Ashe was one match behind as he met Venezuela's Humphrey Hose in the fourth round. Clark Graebner, the No. 2 domestic seed behind Ashe, was the only other seeded U.S. player still alive.

Three seeded teams, including the No. 1 tandem of Bob Lutz and Stan Smith of the University of Southern California, bolstered U.S. hopes for winning the doubles title captured by Aussies the last three years.

Graebner and Charlie Pasarell, the top U.S. Davis Cup doubles team seeded just behind Lutz and Smith in the nationals, were ousted in the round of 16 Wednesday. Pasarell was eliminated from the singles 24 hours earlier.

2 Detroiters Among Top Ten Linksmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Detroit golfers were among the top ten leaders today after Wednesday's qualifying rounds in the United Golfers Association National championship.

Howard Brown was eighth at 78-68—146 and Marion Williams shot 71-75—146 to place ninth.

Another Detroiter, Eddie Leonard paced the amateur division with a 73-73—146.

James Walker Jr. of Los Angeles held the professional lead with a five-under-par 137.

Golf Just Fine at Twin Lakes

Jess Akins may never play another golf course.

For the second time this summer he posted a hole-in-one at Twin Lakes. Tuesday he aced the 165-yard fourth hole with a six-iron shot. His first ace was scored June 20.

Hap Cane scored an ace at Twin Lakes Monday with seven-iron on the 155-yard eighth hole.

August Races at Waterford Hills

The Waterford Hills Sports Car Racing Club's August Road Races have attracted more than 150 entries from eight Midwestern States and Canada Saturday and Sunday, Frank Cipelle, the organization's president, announced.

* * *

Eight events make up Saturday's schedule which begins with a 10-lap (15 miles) race for sedans and H-production cars, at 2:30 p.m. Special competion for 24 classes of sports cars, including formula vehicles, will be held throughout the afternoon. A ladies' race will wind up the Saturday racing.

Sunday's program, according to Cipelle, will consist of nine events, three of which will be over a 15-lap distance.

* * *

The Waterford Hills course is located on the grounds of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, six miles north of Pontiac on Waterford Road. Sunday's first race, a 10-lap event for F-production cars, begins at 12:15 p.m.

TOP ENTRIES

Outstanding entries include Paul Susalla, defending Waterford Hills point champion from St. Clair Shores; Jeff Lance, Troy, record-holder in C-production, who has moved up to Formula-B class and who has posted seven consecutive victories; Frank Kahlich, Grosse Pointe, owner of the track record in F sports racing class in his Porsche RS51.

* * *

Garrett Van Camp and Tom Abbott, Farmington, are both recordholders in their specialties, Abbott in Formula-Vee and Van Camp in E-production; and Bill Koch, 1967 national champion in G-production from Columbus, Ohio.

Admission for Saturday's program is $2; Sunday's tickets are $3. Admission for both Saturday and Sunday may be purchased at the track Saturday afternoon for $3.

LOCAL ENTRIES

Pontiac entries include: Stacy Walters in Formula-Vee; Harold McDonald, Formula-Vee; Rita Harms, H-production Sprite; and Jim Hagerty, H-production Honda.

Jeff Lance, Troy, track recordholder in C-production, will drive his Formula-Bee Lotus. Lance is undefeated in five races this year.

* * *

Bill Larson and Dick Harms are entered from Utica. Harms drives an H-production Sprite and Larson pilots a Lotus Super Seven in F-production competition.

* * *

Dave Shook of Rochester is entered in Formula-Vee events and Dick Puertas, Waterford, will drive an E-production Ginetta.

* * *

Two recordholders from Farmington will compete in their specialties. Tom Abbott, whose Formula-Vee Bobsey-Vanguard has his class mark of 60.37 miles per hour, will defend his title and Garrett Van Camp, holder of the E-production record of 60.58 miles per hour, will drive his Porsche.

* * *

Jim Branam and Larry Clingman of Farmington are entered in E-production MG-Bs and Kryn Irhman, also of Farmington, will drive an A-modified Cobar Special.

Toronto Yacht Opening Victor in Race Series

TORONTO (AP) — The eight-meter yacht Iroquois, skippered by Tim Nelson and his five-man crew from Toronto's Lake Yacht Racing Association, sailed across the finish line Wednesday in 3:07:26 to take the first race in the Barthel Trophy series.

Cheeta, skippered by Tom Fisher of the Detroit River Yachting Association, was second in 3:14:23, followed by Venture II, handled by J. Sullivan from Cleveland's Inter Lake Yachting Association in 3:15:36. Norseman, skippered by Carl Hilton of Chicago's Lake Michigan Yachting Association was next in 3:18:50.

Bud Thomas Posts Ace

Bud Thomas fired a hole-in-one Sunday on No. 9 at Waterford Hills. He used an eight-iron on the 170-yard hole and carded a five-under-par 30.

SCOREBOARDS COME DOWN — The scoreboards at University of Michigan stadium were taken down yesterday, to be replaced by new boards. The new scoreboards will be larger, with more information. The old boards have been used since 1930. The new ones will be in use when the Wolverines open against California Sept. 21.

Elliott in 10th Year

Wolverine Gridders Begin

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — University of Michigan football players come back to school today.

The Wolverines open their practice sessions for the 1968 season today with 98 players expected to turn out for picture day.

Regular drills began Friday, running twice a day for five days then single sessions until school officially opens Aug. 29.

The first three workouts will be without pads.

Michigan head coach Bump Elliott opens his 10th campaign with both offensive and defensive backfields returning from a team which closed out last season with three wins in its final four games.

* * *

Capt. Ron Johnson, an All-America halfback candidate, and quarterback Dennis Brown are the most prominent returnees on offense while Tom Curtis, who tied a Big Ten pass interception record with seven in his sophmore season, heads the secondary.

"We plan to take abroad approach to our overall offense and defense, go into individual techniques and work on passing and kicking during those first three days," Elliott said.

The Wolverines open their season at home Sept. 21 against California.

Physicals Set at Northern

Physical examinations will be given Pontiac Northern High School football candidates at 9 a.m. Saturday in the school gymnasium.

* * *

Equipment and uniforms will also be issued. Permission slips are available at the school. Practice will start 9 a.m. Monday and afternoon sessions will begin at 5 p.m.

Teamsters' Batter Wins 'A' Title

Shortstop Bub Hether of Teamsters 614, former Troy High School standout, avoided the late-season slump that affected the other top hitters and finished on top of the 1968 Class A League batting race.

The hard-hitting infielder closed strong — going 7 for 12 in his last four regular season games — to post a .433 batting average and outdistance runner-up Santos Sanchez of the Clippers.

* * *

Sanchez placed second with a .397 mark after topping .400 level all season. Lincho Chavez of Talbott Lumber also hit a slump and placed third at $385.

SLOWS DOWN

Chavez was pacing the men's league at .434 with 10 days to go in the regular season.

Hether proved his value to the Teamsters by finishing among the leaders in home runs, triples, doubles and runs batted in.

* * *

Sanchez led in homers with three, and RBI's with 19. CIO 549's Bud Williams rapped three triples and Rick Pankey of regular season champion M.G. Collision topped the two-bagger list with an impressive 11. Pankey had a homer to finish with 12 extra-base-hits among his total of 18 safeties.

TEAM SLUMP

But his batting wasn't enough to help M.G. retain its Class A team batting leadership. After leading the circuit all season, the collision crew had two one-hit games at the end of the race and dropped behind the Clippers.

* * *

The 1967 most valuable player, southpaw Walt Miller of M.G. Collision again was the top hurler in the league. He won seven games, struck out 77 and had a 1.08 earned run average (based on seven-inning complete games).

* * *

One hurler, lefty Don Picmann of the Teamsters, was undefeated in four decisions; and Talbott's ace Larry Walker worked the most innings, 69.

Pirates Tops With 19

National League Has Run Eruption

By the Associated Press

The whiff turned into the wham and the basepaths looked like freeways. In the National League Wednesday it was the day of the hitter in this year of the pitcher.

Instead of swinging and missing as so often has been the case this year, the batters seemed to be hitting every ball thrown their way.

The five winning teams banged out 93 hits and scored 64 runs in six games. Even the losing clubs managed 50 hits.

The Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants started the barrage in the afternoon. The Cubs whipped Atlanta 5-4 and 13-5 and the Giants trounced the New York Mets 13-3.

★ ★ ★

Pittsburgh climaxed the assault at night with a 19-1 walloping of Cincinnati. In between, St. Louis topped Philadelphia 8-3 and Houston ripped Los Angeles 6-1.

HIGH FOR YEAR

Pittsburgh's 19 runs were high for the majors this season. So were the Pirates 23 hits.

Matty Alou and Gene Alley both collected four hits and Manny Mota, Roberto Clemente and Bill Mazeroski three apiece for the Pirates.

★ ★ ★

Donn Clendenon accounted for five Pittsburgh runs with a three-run homer and a double. Alley drove in three and Alou, Jose Pagan, Mota, Mazeroski and Clemente two each. Clemente hit solo homers his first two at-bats.

Billy Williams drove in two runs with a pair of singles in the Cubs' first-game victory and then sent home seven more in the nightcap with a two-run homer, a single, sacrifice fly and a double.

However, Ernie Banks was the big blaster for the Cubs in the opener. The 37-year-old veteran hit a bases-empty homer, his 24th, in the first inning, and then with the Cubs trailing 4-2, climaxed a three-run seventh with a two-run blast.

In the second game, the Cubs, who had trailed 5-0, went ahead to stay, 7-5, on Williams' two-run single in the sixth.

OUTBURST

Willie Mays highlighted a six-run San Francisco fifth inning with a two-run homer, his 16th of the season and 580th of his career, and Juan Marichal coasted to his 23rd victory of the season.

While the Giants were batting in the sixth, their dugout and that of the Mets and the tarpaulin were searched after New York police received two calls that a bomb had been planted. Nothing was found and play continued after a delay of about five minutes.

The crowd of 33,023 was not disturbed during the bomb search.

Phil Gagliano and Tim McCarver both singled in two runs in St. Louis' victory over Philadelphia. The Cardinals took a 4-3 lead in the fifth on run-scoring singles by Gagliano, Bob Tolan and Roger Maris.

★ ★ ★

Rusty Staub provided the big bat for Houston, whose 10 hits were the lowest total for any winning team. Staub singled home one of two runs in the third and then singled in a pair in the fifth.

I-L Showdown May Benefit 3rd Hopeful

By The Associated Press

The second - place Columbus Jets get a four - game shot at Toledo's front - running Mud Hens starting tonight in the International League race — and the major beneficiaries could be the third-place Rochester Red Wings.

While the Jets and Mud Hens are banging heads, Rochester will be host in a six - game set over a four - day period to the last - place Richmond Braves. Toledo leads Columbus by four games, Rochester by 4½.

All three maintained their positions Wednesday night as Toledo beat the Louisville Colonels 5-2, Columbus walloped the Buffalo Bisons 8-0 and Rochester edged the Jacksonville Mets 5-4. Richmond squeezed past the Syracuse Chiefs 6-5 and pulled to within half a game of seventh-place Buffalo.

Mike Marshall scattered six Louisville hits as he posted his 13th victory for Toledo. Ron Woods' two - run triple keyed a three-run uprising by the Mud Hens in the second inning, and Mike Derrick hit a two - run homer in the fifth.

GDBA Supplies at Huron Bowl

The Greater Detroit Bowling Association will distribute league supplies and answer questions for loop officers in the Pontiac area at Huron Bowl Monday.

Supplies will be handed out from 2 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. A meeting is slated for 7:30 p.m. to answer questions and discuss procedures on league administration.

Those local officers unable to attend the Huron Bowl session may go to the one Wednesday at Mayflower Lanes in Detroit (same time schedule) or contact the GBDA office 342-6880 to obtain their supplies.

Penny 9 Gains Playoff Spot

Penny Manufacturing reached the finals of the Walled Lake Industrial Slowpitch Softball playoffs by eliminating Liberty Tool, 12-4, Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

The victory, highlighted by Frank Fink's grand-slam home run, gave Penny its second straight win over Liberty in the best-of-three B Division finals.

★ ★ ★

Penny posted a 17-1 mark during the season. It will meet the winner of the A Division playoff between Mills Products and Wixom. Mills won the first, 6-3, and Wixom squared the series with a 7-1 victory.

Powell in 'Comeback'

Vikings Get AFL Receiver

By the Associated Press

Thirty-one is a pretty young age to start a comeback. But Art Powell, hoping a game knee that cut short a brilliant American Football League career will hold up, was trying just that today with the Minnesota Vikings.

Powell, a wide receiver signed by the National Football League team Wednesday as a free agent, caught enough passes in eight seasons with the New York Jets, Oakland Raiders and Buffalo Bills to rank second among all-time AFL receivers.

KNEE INJURY

But he was curtailed by a knee injury last season and the Bills finally turned him loose.

The 6-foot-2, 212-pounder snared 478 passes for 8,015 yards during his AFL career and his total of 81 touchdown receptions is a league record. He also ranks fourth among all-time AFL scoring leaders with 486 points.

The Vikings also traded a draft choice to Baltimore Wednesday for another wide receiver, Rich O'Hara, the Colts' No. 3 draft pick.

In Florida, things were almost back to normal at the Miami Dolphins' camp, where a slight siege of the flu struck several players earlier in the week.

Coach George Wilson said the entire squad should be at full strength for an exhibition with Boston—one of four preseason games on tap Friday night.

Other activity that evening has San Francisco, NFL, at Denver, AFL; Baltimore, NFL, at Detroit, NFL, and Buffalo, AFL, vs. Houston, AFL, at Tulsa, Okla.

★ ★ ★

The Dolphins also announced they had traded John Roderick, who appeared in only one game last season after undergoing a back operation, to Oakland for an undisclosed draft choice.

Moore Winner In Pentathlon

Three-Time Champ Gains Olympic Berth

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Major Jim Moore, 23, Erie, Pa., won the 1968 U.S. Modern Pentathlon National Championships Wednesday and will head up the Olympic team that competes at Mexico City in October.

Moore, holder of two previous national titles, placed second in the final event of the week-long competition, the 4,000 meter cross-country run. He had a time of 14:14.4 and 1,003 points for a total after 10 events of 9,760.33.

Capt. Tom Lough, 26, Elkton, Va., a graduate of West Point, finished second after taking seventh in the run. Lough had a total score of 9,969.10 for the ten events.

Jim Kerr, 26, Wukesha, Wis., was third with a total of 9,619.70.

Joy Fair Wins Toledo Event

Pontiac race car driver Joy Fair piloted his 1964 Chevelle to a half-lap victory in the 100-lap Invitational main event at Toledo Wednesday night.

In the special events, Fair captures the fast time honors with an 18:54 timing, and grabbed second place finishes in the helmet dash and the pursuit.

Wins Shuffleboard Title

C. E. McNeive of Andersonville Road, Waterford, won the state singles shuffleboard title in Traverse City recently by defeating Clarence Taylor of Lansing, 78-72, 78-34 for the men's crown.

In the quarter-finals McNeive defeated Carl Shell of Drayton Plains.

Ocean Bottom Photo Subject

Scientists Hunt Clues to Life in Briny Deep

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Photography on the bottom of the sea is a weird and exacting business, sometimes requiring, for instance, a cable release 12,000 feet long that is less than a half-inch in diameter.

That long and thin bit of equipment is part of the work of oceanographers of Texas A&M University, who cruised the Gulf of Mexico this summer taking some 1,000 photographs of the terrain and denizens of the deep.

The laboratory for the work is the A & M research vessel Alaminos. The equipment includes strobe lights for two cameras taking color and black-and-white photos. The cameras are attached gimbal-fashion to an aluminum frame.

A third camera with large magnetic compass gives the scientists the power to orient photographs for identification and location of objects.

300 POUNDS

The whole device weighs about 300 pounds. Lowered onto the floor of the sea, the cameras are set off by the long and thin and strong cable release.

Dr. Willis E. Pequegnant said the research hopes to find out why some areas of the ocean floor are like rich green valleys and others are like desert.

★ ★ ★

The currents that give the ocean bottom ripples of sand will be studied through the photographs. The burrows and mounds and tunnels seen in photographs will be compared with knowledge of marine life to see what makes them.

The camera apparatus is set up when the Alaminos is drifting, so that the noise of the boat will not distrub ocean-bottom dwellers.

BUMP IS TRIGGER

A bottomhbump triggers the apparatus, and a switch is closed to feed current to the strobe lights. The cameras are shutterless, exposing a frame of film when the lights go on.

The arrangement makes the device flexible and versatile. The men are even able to get panoramic shots of the floor of the sea.

1,300 to Enroll

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Some 1,300 students are expected to enroll in courses ranging from real-estate appraisal to sales and finance when the University of Michigan's statewide real-estate certificate program opens the week of Sept. 9 in 27 communities across the state.

QUEEN'S ATTIC — This gift boutique, the Queen's Attic, occupies one corner of the newly opened Independence Village Pharmacy in Independence Commons Shopping Center, Independence Township. The 4,000-square-foot building also houses a greeting card shop in addition to the usual drugstore wares. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday. The store is owned by John Rendziperis of 96 Parkhurst; Zaven Melkonian of 671 Sunny Beach, White Lake Township; and Mrs. Virginia Frink of 360 Beverly Island, Waterford Township.

Pact Ratified; Tunnel Bus Runs Resume

DETROIT (UPI) — Bus traffic through the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel resumed today following ratification of a new contract between the corporation and 38 members of Division 1303 of the Amalgamated Transit Union, AFL-CIO.

The striking workers approved the new pact late Wednesday after resolving a major stumbling block, the company pension plan.

* * *

The walkout began Aug. 10 when the workers-guards, toll collectors and bus drivers — walked off their jobs. All bus service between Detroit and its Canadian neighbor was halted when Canadian bus drivers, members of a different union, refused to cross over the international border, midway through the tunnel.

Except for rush hours, traffic through the tunnel had been maintained at a normal pace. Many Windsorites who work in Detroit had to form car pools to get through the tunnel.

Czechs, Soviets Tense at College Science Confab

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — An atmosphere described as "polite tension" marks a scientific conference at Holy Cross College attended by both Soviet and Czech delegates.

One of the Czechs said Wednesday he thought the Soviet invasion of his country caught the 10-member Russian delegation by surprise. The Czech declined to be quoted directly.

The Russians were not available for comment.

They are attending the second annual International Conference on Thermal Analysis.

A Look at TV

Props, Sets Get Big Role

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Irwin Allen is a successful television producer who is unique in that the real stars of his series are more likely to be his sets, his props and his camera tricks than his actors.

The man who dreamed up the adventuresome galaxy-exploring family of "Lost in Space" (and left them there as the series ended) and who constructed the futuristic submarine and horrendous monsters of the deep for "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" has come up with another imaginative device for his newest series, "Land of the Giants."

* * *

This time, science fiction-loving Allen has seven earthlings stranded on a planet whose inhabitants—flora and fauna—are just like ours except that they are 12 times larger.

Like any magician, Allen will never reveal how he achieves all his camera tricks—in this case he has normal-size actors playing giants in scenes with Lilliputian humans.

PROPS A PROBLEM

In this series, the props have been the problem: six slices of bread were needed for a scene, and were constructed from six pieces of sponge rubber, each four feet by four feet. A giant's revolver came out of the carpentry shop nine feet long, and a pencil six feet.

This switch on "Gulliver's Travels" can and will ring in some really off-beat story lines. The earthlings in one show are attacked by an enormous cat; they are captured and imprisoned in a giant doll house; they escape from one dangerous situation by using a ruler as a gangplank. Captured in a giant's office, they are strapped down by strips of plastic mending tape and threatened with a paper clip.

* * *

Allen says the new ABC series, which will be a Sunday evening show, "is the most expensive filmed program in the history of television," with each hour costing in excess of $250,000.

"We prepared for 17 months before it went to the cameras," he explained. "There were all sorts of complications to be ironed out. How do you adjust the sound when you have the little people talking to the big people? How do you make furniture when the scale is 12 times larger than life?"

MUST BE BIG HIT

The series, 17 episodes of which are completed, "must be a big hit to survive," he said.

* * *

"It is so expensive that it has to attract the whole family," added the producer. "We know the kids will watch it and they will identify with the little people. Our job was to write stories that will attract the adults.

* * *

"We had plenty of children watching 'Lost in Space,' which was frankly aimed at them. Our problem there was not audience size, but the fact that the little kids just don't buy many products.

"There were children watching 'Voyage,' too, but our biggest surprise came when we found that the largest single group of viewers were adult women."

Pro-McCarthy Carney Gives Humphrey a Stage Salute

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—All kinds of tough problems are coming up about how to handle our presidential candidates . . . diplomatically.

Art Carney was put on a spot the other night. Vice President Humphrey and party went to Lincoln Center to catch his show, "Lovers"—and Art's a McCarthy man.

WILSON

But the Ed Norton of TV fielded it pretty deftly. During a scene when he's looking around with some binoculars, Art pretended to discover the Veep in the audience. Art shouted, "Look who's here tonight," and saluted him with his right hand. There was a burst of applause.

They posed for pictures later, but nobody mentioned presidential preferences, especially not Art.

The vice president was still exclaiming about Art's performance when he had supper at 21: lentil soup, hamburger and home-fries ("just what you shouldn't eat at this hour," he said).

He was elated that James A. Farley, now 80, who made FDR president, promised to campaign for him after a short trip to Europe. "I honestly think Humphrey can be elected," Farley told this reporter.

* * *

And there's another problem besides Carney's.

If you're near any presidential candidate these days, don't do anything strange. You might be taken for an assassin.

"I could have been killed," Opera Star Robert Merrill shuddered.

He happened to light a long black cigar while waiting to greet V.P. Humphrey in front of the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark.

"I threw it in the street just as the Vice President's car came up. Three security men who didn't knew me jumped on it and began stamping it out. Guess they though it could have been a bomb. Then they came for me. Just then Mr. Humphrey stepped from the car and shouted, 'Bob!' Well, I'll be more careful in the future."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Joe Kipness has been so busy opening Joe's Pier 52 and helping police working on the $15,000 stickup of his Hawaii-Kai ("You're a success when they rob you," he says) that he hasn't had time yet to eat a meal in his new place. Besides, he's going into the hospital for a pulled cartilage.

A married man attending the Concord's hectic Singles Weekend explained to a girl he was there "only because of sickness in the family—my wife is sick of me."

* * *

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "A woman flees from temptation, but a man just crawls from it in the cheerful hope that it may overtake him."

EARL'S PEARLS: Virginia Graham said it: "In the next few months a lot of political hopes will be buried in ballot boxes."

George Schindler writes about his summer home: "It's a wonderful location. It must be wonderful—all those mosquitoes couldn't be wrong!" That's earl, brother.

Billboard Suit Is Settled

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A sign criticizing Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey by California's Dissenting Democrats Inc. won't be put up outside the Democratic National Convention in Chicago after all.

The Californians were given back their $1,260 by the billboard company in an out-of-court settlement Wednesday.

* * *

The group wanted to post a sign of Chicago's Van Ryan Expressway saying "Millions of Democrats don't want Humphrey. Who will elect him president? This message sponsored by Dissenting Democrats."

When Fosty and Kleiser Corp. the billboard company said it could not put up the sign because the space was taken up, the Dissenting Democrats brought suit for $125,000 damages in Los Angeles Superior Court.

The settlement was reached in the chambers of Superior Judge Robert W. Kenny.

Programs to End

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Drastic budget cuts by the Douglas County Board are expected to bring two county programs to an end Oct. 1: The marriage conciliation court and the noxious weed program.

Renewal Parcel Is Sold to Church

DETROIT (AP)—The City of Detroit has sold a 1.2 acre urban renewal parcel to the Mt. Beaulah Baptist Church for construction of a $300,000 church on the city's Northwest side. The price of the land was $19,400.

Town to Put Limit on Its Population

By Science Service

Mexico plans to build a new town in the Valley of Cuernavaca. The new industrial-residential town will be built to accommodate no more than 100,000 people, based on urban theories which stress the need for limits on population.

The new town concept is intended to put an end to the megalopolis.

Some 80 industrial plants will support the population, all of whom will live within walking distance of work. Each factory is expected to install the latest pollution control equipment.

Plans call for condominiums rather than individual houses. The buildings, no more than five stories high, have been designed according to the ability of a worker to pay.

The site itself, surrounded by a farm belt, is about 20 minutes from Cuernavaca by car. This attempt to create a self-sufficient city represents an investment of some $80 million.

Africa-Art Exhibit

ANN ARBOR (AP)—An exhibition of more than 300 wooden pieces carved by the Ibo people of Nigeria will be on display at the University of Michigan Museum of Art through Oct. 27.

A Senate committee on urban problems has recommended a $500-billion expenditure in cities over a 10-year period.

Humphrey Decides Not to Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aides to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey say the vice president has decided against debating Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, his chief rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, because of the delicate international situation and the demands by two other candidates that they be included.

The reference to the international situation meant the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Sen. George S. McGovern and Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox also had demanded they be included in any television debate and McGovern had threatened to seek a court injunction.

McCarthy's office said only that it was "clear that the vice president now for reasons of his own does not want to debate."

Tentative arrangements were for Humphrey and McCarthy to debate on television Friday night for an hour.

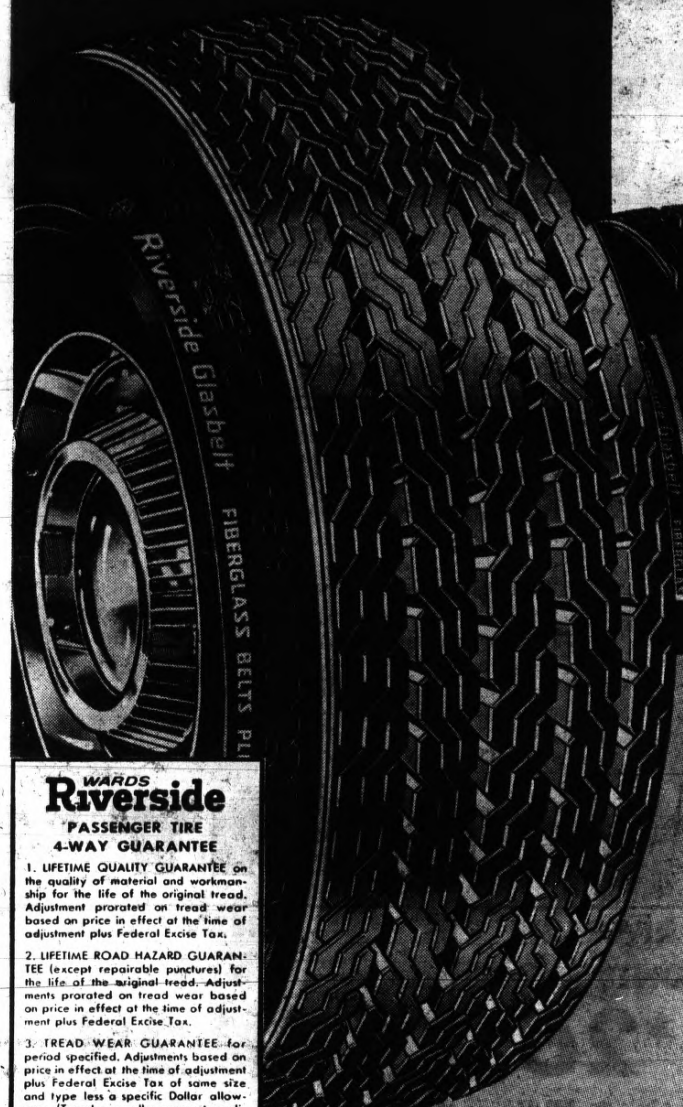
NEW RIVERSIDE® GLASBELT

...more riding comfort than radial tires. More mileage, strength than conventional tires!



2 fiber glass belts stabilize the tread with a tensile strength greater than steel So stable, the tread won't squirm like it does on ordinary tires. So it wears longer. Up to 40% longer than the same tire without these belts. All that strength holds the tread open. Lays it down flatter. Socks it to the road.

2 plies of nylon cord for high speed dependability Cross plies, not radial, for more stability. Nothing resists impact or heat build-up like nylon. You can really drive on this tire.

Chrysler Planning a $100-Million Community in Troy

ATLANTA (AP) — Chrysler Corp. announced plans yesterday for a $100-million community to be built on a 1650-acre site in Troy.

The Troy project is on land which the firm bought 11 years ago for plant expansion but instead it will become a community for 20,000-30,000 people, said Ed Homer, president of Chrysler Realty Corp.

Chrysler announced earlier this month it had bought a 764-acre estate in Bloomfield and West Bloomfield for another residential subdivision.

* * *

Homer said he was working with Troy city officials and hoped to start construction in October on the first unit, a 90,000-square-foot, two-story office complex which will be the home of Chrysler Realty.

"We don't intend to build any homes but will work with selective developers after we do the master planning," Homer said.

* * *

Minoru Yamasaki, internationally known architect and planner and a Troy resident, laid out the master plan for the area which includes a 40-50 acre man-made lake along with several parks and possibly a golf course.

* * *

The new Troy project will include homes, apartments and retail stores, but there are no plans for any industry.

* * *

The previously announced Bloomfield development will be primarily residential. The Troy project will be located on a parcel of land on I-75 near the Crooks Road exit.

TOWN-HOUSE COMPLEX

Homer also disclosed his division is building a 360-unit town-house complex on a 60-acre site near the north campus of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

"We own the land and we are building in conjunction with an experienced builder and then we will lease the property," he said.

* * *

Chrysler Realty was set up last year with the main job of administering Chrysler-owned dealer facilities but it has diversified.

20,000 Mass in Prague to Protest Soviet Seizure

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovaks massed today on Vaclavske Namesti, Prague's main square, in a violent demonstration against the Soviet-led occupation and the arrest of their reform-minded Communist chief, Alexander Dubcek.

Ignoring requests by the clandestine Prague radio to maintain calm to avoid giving the foreign soldiers an excuse for further violence, a crowd of about 20,000 shook their fists at the Russians and shouted: "Russian murderers go home!"

They called for Dubcek's release.

The move came as Czechoslovak Communists, reacting to the occupation by 200,000 Russian and Kremlin-line satellite troops, convened in an extraordinary party congress that its liberal leadership had originally scheduled to open Sept. 9.

This was a last-ditch attempt to force the troops to leave through political pressure.

The seven Central Committee members who have declared loyalty to the Soviet-led occupation troops, tried to shift today's meeting to the party-owned Praha Hotel.

The calling of the congress was another attempt to discredit the pro-Soviet members of the Presidium.

See Related Stories, Pages A-2, A-10, A-17, C-10

Dubcek himself was still in Soviet custody, along with other leading members of his liberal regime.

The radio said a general strike started in the South Bohemian district to protest the occupation.

Czechoslovak secret police, who have kept in the background since Dubcek took over in January, were arresting prominent writers and journalists.

Witnesses reported hundreds of political prisoners were arriving at Pankrac Prison.

Czechoslovaki's president, Ludvik Svoboda, and Parliament insisted that the Russians and their allies — Poles, East Germans, Hungarians and Bulgarians — free captive liberal leaders and go home, leaving the nation to pursue its freer brand of communism.

Chrysler Stressing Safety, New Look on 1969 Models

By JERRY T. ROBBINS
City Editor, Pontiac Press

ATLANTA, Ga. — Chrysler Corp. is putting the emphasis on all-new look and passenger safety for 1969. This was evident here yesterday and today when the third largest auto manufacturer rolled out its 1969 models for more than 300 newsmen at the national news preview.

Newsmen will have an opportunity to drive many of next year's cars later today at Stone Mountain near Atlanta. Pontiac area residents will get their first look at the new Chrysler products next month in dealer showrooms.

* * *

Heading the long list of new cars and trucks is the Dodge Dart Swinger. The Swinger 340 is powered by a 340-cubic-inch V8 engine and is equipped with heavy-duty suspension, four-speed manual transmission and wide-tread tires. It is especially designed for car-performance buffs with a low budget, Chrysler executives said.

Glenn E. White, Chrysler Corp. vice president and general manager — Chrysler-Plymouth Division, labeled the new models "the finest lineup of cars we have yet introduced."

The '69s include such new features as:

Press Newsman to Cover Dems

Behind the bombast, hidden by gavel-thumping and delegation polling, are the colorful sidelights that make an American political convention a unique event.

REED

Covering the oddities of the Democratic National Convention in Chicago will be Pontiac Press Managing Editor Harry J. Reed.

He'll be with the Oakland County delegation, reporting their opinions on the ever-fascinating political explosion called a convention.

When the presidential stampede starts on that important state-by-state vote, he'll be out in front, running backwards and counting noses.

State Hospital Security Report Due This Week

An evaluation of security at Pontiac State Hospital will be submitted to the state attorney general's office late this week, according to Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson.

Bronson's staff has been investigating hospital security and treatment policies with the avowed aim of "protecting the citizens of the surrounding community." The prosecutor reports he will soon be ready to make some positive recommendations.

* * *

A call for examination of practices of the hospital came last June after a 19-year-old female patient was slain by a male inmate. Bronson said two other inmates, sent to the hospital from the state prison at Ionia for mental treatment, had walked away and subsequently had been involved in crimes.

Last week, Bronson sent two of his staff for a tour of the facilities. Hospital officials were quizzed on policy of treatment and security of inmates.

RECOMMENDATIONS NEAR

Bronson's staff has continued their study of the hospital this week. Bronson said he will soon be ready to "make some positive recommendations to better protect county citizens."

"I am concerned with the security at the hospital and will soon be ready to take steps to insure our citizens' safety," he said.

Jersey's Hughes Rates Highly

HHH Looks for No. 2

CHICAGO (AP) — Backers of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, confident they have the Democratic presidential nomination in hand, surveyed today the possibilities for a running mate.

Outstanding among these was Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, who has been wending his way through the labyrinth of delegate challenges and contests initiated by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., with what is regarded by most Democratic pros as a remarkably cool approach.

* * *

The handsome, dark-haired and youthful-appearing governor of New Jersey—becoming a star performer on television in these hectic preconvention days in sweltering Chicago—is cast as the most logical choice if McCarthy refuses to play second fiddle to his former close associate in Minnesota's strident politics.

POLITICAL ENIGMA

There remained no doubt in the Humphrey camp that McCarthy would help the vice president in the general election more than any second man he could pick. But McCarthy remained a political enigma, who might even head off into a fourth party foray if he disagrees with the outcome of next week's party nominating convention.

Humphrey's confidence in the presidential balloting obviously was shaken by a Gallup poll which indicated that GOP nominee Richard M. Nixon held a 45-29 percentage lead over the Vice President in popularity at this point.

* * *

Humphrey's people contended in Washington, where the vice president remained, that this represented only public reaction to Nixon's nomination at the Miami Beach, Fla., Republican Convention and would change quickly when the Democratic nominee was selected.

Eisenhower Suffers New Heart Spasms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors report a resurgence of the irregular heartbeat which poses a major threat to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's survival.

The new heart spasms were reported in a bulletin issued late last night by doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital where he is fighting to recover from his seventh heart attack.

* * *

Although doctors said the 77-year-old general was resting comfortably and that his life signs were stable, the report indicated a setback after nearly 24 hours in which the dangerous spasms had steadily declined.

The bulletin for the first time used the word "irritability" instead of irregularity, but the doctors did not spell out why.

NEW DRUG

The latest report said:

"Gen. Eisenhower has again shown some increase of heart irritability since this afternoon's bulletin. He is presently resting comfortably and his vital life signs are stable."

Earlier doctors reported a new drug had appeared to be effective in controlling the spasms.

* * *

The drug is a synthetic substance called lidocaine, chemically related to the pain killer novocaine, but more powerful.

Although it has not been approved for general cardiac use, it is under extensive clinical investigation.

Area Girl Tells of Czech Visit

"The city looked awful," commented 14-year-old Marsha Johnson about her brief visit to Bratislava, Czechoslovakia, 13 days ago.

Miss Johnson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johnson of 7005 Hogback Lake, Springfield Township, visited that country with 21 other area people on a tour.

The group, which went into Czechoslovakia by bus, were supposed to stay for eight hours, but left after three because they felt so uncomfortable, claimed Miss Johnson.

She described how the border soldiers carrying machine guns walked around checking fields and watching people closely.

"The people didn't smile, they looked poor — their clothes looked maybe 15 years old. It looked like maybe a depression.

"It was a real eerie feeling. We saw only about four trucks, which you had to crank to start, and few cars. You could still see bombed buildings from the war," she said.

"The stores looked like Salvation Army stores where they sell used furniture because the merchandise had been there so long," explained Miss Johnson.

"The children begged us for money and the adults just checked us over. One American talked to a Czech who said the country wasn't going to be this poor for very long," she added.

A Clarkston Senior High School student, Miss Johnson and 10 other students went on a trip to Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Liechtenstein planned by a German teacher at Clarkston High School. Eleven adults also went on the trip.

45 Civilians Die in Saigon Shelling

SAIGAN (AP) — Enemy rockets smashed into the center of Saigon for the first time in two months today, and mortars hit more than a dozen other cities and allied installations in a fifth straight day of widespread enemy attacks.

Heavy ground fighting also was reported at half a dozen points.

Military communiques reported 45 Vietnamese civilians were killed and 117 wounded in the rain of more than 500 rockets and mortars that hit Saigon and cities to the northwest and south. A Japanese news correspondent also was killed in the attack, becoming the 19th correspondent to die in the war. Only five Americans were reported wounded.

Two rockets crashed into the National Assembly building in downtown Saigon. The explosion tore off part of the roof and smashed several windows in the Caravelle Hotel, where many Americans were sleeping. There were no reports of any Western civilians being hurt.

GI SHOT IN BACK

An American soldier was fatally shot in the back while cycling in downtown Saigon. The shooting touched off a running motorcycle gun battle that left a South Vietnamese soldier and one of the three Vietnamest assailants wounded. The wounded assailant was later captured.

The intensified pace of the war included shellings and ground attacks against at least six allied bases blocking invasion routes into Saigon and a fifth straight day of heavy fighting for control of a road 40 miles northwest of Saigon. The road is a vital supply route for American forces astride a key Vietcong infiltration corridor leading from Cambodia.

* * *

A senior U.S. officer said the stepped up fighting across the country — with more than 1,400 enemy troops reported killed since last Sunday — could be the start of the long-awaited third Vietcong offensive."

The officer conceded that it is "always possible" the latest attacks, mainly those on allied bases, may have been a diversionary move to distract allied forces while enemy troops maneuvered into position for a subsequent ground attack on Saigon.

New Trial Barred in '57 Murder Case

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Robert L. Templin has ruled out a new trial, for the second time this year, for a 36-year-old convicted murderer serving a sentence in Southeastern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Edward L. Drew was convicted by a jury in February 1958 of the 1957 slaying of a 63-year-old Commerce Township grocer, Karl Kolm, in the grocer's store.

* * *

Drew's court-appointed attorney David F. Breck, requested a new trial on the basis that Drew had not given a confession voluntarily.

* * *

After several hearings, concluded this week, and testimony by a number of officers involved in the case, Templin found that the confession was voluntary.

Breck has indicated he will appeal the ruling.

State to Seek Hearing Delay on I-696 Suit

State Highway Department attorneys were to ask today for a two-week delay of a hearing on a suit concerning the route of I-696 in southern Oakland County.

The suit has been filed by Lathrup Village and Pleasant Ridge and seeks to prevent a binding decision by arbitrators regarding the route.

The Highway department attorneys said they needed more time to prepare for the case, filed recently in Oakland County Circuit Court.

The hearing has been scheduled for next Tuesday by Circuit Court Judge Arthur E. Moore.

HEARINGS CONTINUE

Meanwhile, hearings by the special three-man arbitration panel continued yesterday, and highway officials announced updated cost figures for the roadway.

Officials said the costs had to be updated because land values have changed since original estimates were made for two of the disputed routes two years ago.

* * *

New estimates show the proposed 11-Mile Road route to be about $18 million cheaper than the 10½-Mile Road route that is favored by at least one community involved.

Attorneys for Lathrup Village residents spent yesterday at the Oakland County Courthouse cross-examining highway officials on the new cost estimates. Lathrup residents favor the more expensive 10½-Mile route because it avoids their business district.

$50-MILLION ROUTE

Updated total cost figures showed the 10½-Mile route to cost about $50,221,000 while the 11-Mile route would cost about $32,264,000, according to highway officials.

The arbitration hearings resume next Thursday.

Monaco, Polara for '69

Dodge Unveils 2 Models

The 1969 Dodge Polara and Monaco models feature new exteriors, high-styled interiors and new options to improve the model this year, Dodge officials announced today in unveiling these contenders in the medium-priced car range.

Both cars maintain the same basic body design but the two models exhibit new grille and rear-end styling.

* * *

The Polara and Monaco models will be on display at dealerships in September. Dealers in this area are Spartan Dodge, 855 Oakland; Hunter Dodge, 499 S. Hunter, Birmingham; Kessler Auto Sales, 10 N. Washington, Oxford; and Lloyd Bridges Traveland, 1010 W. Maple, Walled Lake.

* * *

The Polara will be available in six models for 1969, the Polara 500 in two. The Monaco will be available in five models with special Monaco Brougham and Monaco 500 packages offered for the new model year.

FEATURED MODELS

Both model lineups will feature a two-door hardtop, four-door sedans, four-door hardtops and two and three-seat station wagons. The Polara and Polara 500 also include convertibles and Monaco has a new high-luxury Brougham.

* * *

An exclusive optional time on the Polara and Monaco models is a new high-powered 40,000-candlepower light mounted on the grill. It is designed to be used for night driving, decreasing excessive glare for oncoming drivers.

Ventless windows will be a feature of air-conditioned two-door hardtops. Fiberglass tires will be available on all models. Another improvement is fuller-width rear seats in convertibles and concealed windshield wipers.

Chrysler in '69 Stresses Safety and New Look

An all-new Imperial that is five inches longer and has increased front and rear shoulder room inside.

New styling and an increase in length and inside dimensions on all 15 Chryslers.

An all-new Plymouth Fury. This car has what Chrysler officials call aerodynamic styling featuring a new windshield shape, greater side glass curvature and increased sill turn-under, giving the cars a more rounded appearance. For next year, Fury is 214.5 inches long and has a wheelbase of 119 inches.

* * *

A performance-oriented Belvedere series which adds a convertible to the Road Runner models and a four-door sedan to the Sport Satellite.

A new 'Cuda 340 series, available in hardtop or fastback, is introduced in the Barracuda line. And keeping in tune with the times, a yellow flowered-print vinyl mod-top roof is optional on the hardtop. Also available for the first time on the fastback are four vinyl roof colors.

NEW CHARGER GRILL

A new Charger 400 model sports a fastback rear window and flush-mounted grille.

In addition to the many safety features being made standard or continued standard as a result of federal regulations, Chrysler Corp. is introducing several other safety-oriented items.

Among these are new instrument panels with instruments recessed behind the panel and with all instruments and controls clustered directly in front of the driver; an optional new tilt-type steering wheel which can be adjusted to seven positions, and recessed windshield wipers on Fury, Chrysler and Imperial models.

Birmingham Area

DAR Prodding Unfurls True Council Colors

BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners had a change of heart this week, and as a result, the Piety Hill Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution is happier.

The DAR asked for reconsideration and finally got approval for its request to have the city fly its American Flags throughout the downtown business district during Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23.

* * *

The commission had rejected the chapter's original request at last week's meeting. The main reason cited for denial then was the cost involved in putting up and taking down the city-owned flags every day for a week.

City manager R. S. Kenning estimated the cost for the week would be about $125. The commission expressed sentiments that Constitution Week could be recognized in the city in other, more economical, ways.

DECISION REVERSED

However, action at this week's meeting reversed the decision. Appearing on the agenda was a letter from Betty Q. Hoard, chairman of Constitution Week for the Piety Hill chapter, asking for reconsideration.

* * *

In her letter she pointed out that the President of the United States had declared Constitution Week. It also stated that "a demonstration of support for the ideals upon which our country has been founded has never been more important than at this particular time."

* * *

She urged commissioners to "find it in your hearts and in the city budget" to fly the flags.

In closing she also reminded commissioners that three years ago the Piety Hill chapter, in response to the City's request, purchased 10 large flags for the downtown district with funds from its own "slim treasury."

DECIDING FACTOR

Her final argument may have been the deciding factor in moving commissioners to change their minds. At any rate, in a revote on a new resolution, the commission passed the request, 6-1.

So now Constitution Week will be observed in Birmingham with more than a presidential proclamation as flags will be flying every day, Sept. 17-23.

5 Inmates Die; Hostages Safe

Ohio Prison Rebellion Crushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A rebellion by Ohio Penitentiary inmates was crushed by police and National Guardsmen, who blasted through prison walls to rescue nine penitentiary guards held hostage for nearly 30 hours.

Five of the inmates who had threatened to burn the guards to death were killed in the attack, and 10 others were injured. The hostages escaped injury.

* * *

State Corrections chief Maury C. Koblentz said the inmates "overplayed their hand and lost." The inmates had threatened to kill the hostages if certain demands weren't met or if a rescue by force was attempted.

"They had won two big items but lost everything when they ignored our ultimatum," Koblentz said.

15 MINUTES TO SURRENDER

That ultimatum, delivered at 2:30 p.m. yesterday, gave the inmates 15 minutes to surrender and release the guards.

The fifteen minutes passed, the hostages were not freed and two dynamite blasts were set off seconds apart. One shattered the outside wall of cells where the prisoners were, the other ripped the roof off the cell block.

Columbus policemen, state highway patrolmen and National Guardsmen streamed through the hole in the wall and down ropes from the roof.

The nine hostages were freed a few minutes later. The rebellion by about 300 of the 2,500 prison inmates was over.

Warden Marion Koloski said five inmates were shot to death. Another was injured critically when the wall fell on him. One inmate was found with his throat slashed, and authorities believe the critical wound was inflicted by other inmates.

No Early End Seen for Teacher Housing Lack

No immediate solution to housing for Pontiac teachers is in sight, a school official said last night.

Schools Business Manager Vernon Schiller reported to the board of education that the best housing plan is a cooperative agreement with the Michigan Credit Union League, and it could be two years before housing is secured.

* * *

He revealed that under the school code, the school board could only buy, build or lease apartment housing with the approval of the voters.

Schiller said this plan is still a possibility for the future.

PROBABLE COURSE

Thomas Everitt, immediate past president of the Pontiac Education Association, said teachers probably would pursue the credit union plan unless other sources of revenue were found.

Everitt and Mrs. Cornelia Jackson are studying the housing problem under a National Education Association grant.

* * *

Their project is called HELP (Help Educators Live in Pontiac).

HELP is just what they are screaming in an effort to find housing for some 235 new teachers who are coming to the school system.

CONTACT REQUESTED

They ask that anyone who has housing for rent to contact them at the PEA office, 3513 Elizabeth Lake.

Officials are concerned because of a high turnover rate — about 15 per cent — of teachers, particularly Negroes, each year. Housing is one reason for the turnover.

* * *

Schiller said the Michigan Credit Union is interested in financing the cooperative housing project under a new federal Housing Authority section providing for moderate and higher-income housing.

The credit union would finance the project themselves and with funds from other lending institutions.

Russians Label Dubcek Traitor

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union condemned Czechoslovak Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek today as a betrayer of Communist ideals, and said its military intervention is a friendly act resisted only "by a few hot heads."

In the first Soviet public personal attack on Dubcek, the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda said he led a minority faction that supported counter-revolution.

It said he and his supporters used recent summit meetings with other Communist bloc leaders "only to gain time."

The liberal leaders planned to transform the Czechoslovak Communist party into a "shapeless and lost organization," Pravda said.

'TROOPS KEEPING CALM'

Calling the dispatch of Soviet bloc troops into Czechoslovakia an international duty to protect communism, the Soviet press said the soldiers are "keeping calm and displaying self-control and friendliness."

Viktor Mayevsky, one of Pravda's top writers, said in a dispatch from Prague that "unfortunately, goaded by the appeals of Prague Radio and television, a few hotheads were influenced, so isolated provocations could not be avoided." But he did not describe the fighting that Czechoslovak broadcasts said had caused hundreds of casualties.

* * *

Mayevsky said Soviet bloc soldiers had been chatting with Prague citizens and "sometimes these conversations are calm, sometimes stormy."

Other articles said the troops are "ready to help the Czechoslovak people in this difficult hour."

County Delegates to Dem Convention

In order that Oakland County Democrats may have an opportunity to express their presidential preference we are publishing the names of the delegates and alternates to the Democratic Convention opening Monday in Chicago.

★ ★ ★

We have been told recently, and in the past, that the delegates to the convention pay little attention to the wishes of the voters when it comes to selecting the presidential nominee.

This is your chance. Write or call the delegates representing the 18th and 19th Districts and express your personal choice.

★ ★ ★

They are:

Eugene Kuthy (18th District)
41114 Colonial, Royal Oak

A Sympathetic Nation Prays for Ike's Recovery

Few of the Nation's historical figures have retained the degree of admiration and affection on the part of their countrymen as has former President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER.

EISENHOWER

As the doughty 77-year-old five-star general fights for his life in Walter Reed Army Hospital after his seventh heart attack, an anxious America is in spirit at his bedside praying for his recovery.

★ ★ ★

That IKE has weathered the many physical ailments that have beset him over the past 15 years can only be attributed to the fighting heart of a great soldier and the indomitable courage of one to whom defeat is a stranger.

We join with millions of Americans in expressions of solicitude for General Eisenhower and his beloved Mamie.

Saigon Action Belies Its Professed Democracy

When and if the Paris peace talks ever get meaningful, there is little doubt that the United States will eventually come to grips with some form of political settlement in South Vietnam that will embrace talks with the National Liberation Front (Vietcong).

But for merely advocating such an eventuality, with the further proposal of a coalition government, the man who lost to President THIEU in last year's election — TRUONG DINH DZU — has been sentenced by a Saigon military court to five years at hard labor.

If the South Vietnam government is as concerned as it indicates about continuance of American support for its war effort, its autocratic action is more likely to discourage rather than encourage U.S. involvement.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the harsh crackdown on an opposition voice may square with Saigon's idea of "democracy," but it is not consonant with any form of democracy the United States can recognize.

Nixon Followed Rule in Choosing VP

By RAYMOND MOLEY

No doubt Richard Nixon, in choosing Gov. Spiro Agnew as his companion on the Republican ticket, was following a rule laid down by the late Edward J. Flynn in 1944. Flynn, long master of the Bronx, and in 1940 the Democratic national chairman, was Franklin Roosevelt's closest and most astute political mentor.

MOLEY

In 1944 when President Roosevelt was looking for a running mate, Flynn advised him:

"No candidate for vice president will bring votes to the ticket. Take the man who will lose you the fewest."

★ ★ ★

And so the choice went to a little-known senator named Harry S. Truman. History clearly proves the validity of Flynn's rule. Look back, if you will, over the long list of vice presidential candidates, and it will become clear that only one of them really added to the ticket. The only exception which proves the rule was in 1960 when John Kennedy chose Lyndon Johnson.

In 1959 Richard Nixon's choice for his running mate was Gerald Ford, a little-known congressman from Michigan. But at the last moment President Eisenhower and former President Hoover swayed his choice to Henry Cabot Lodge. True to Flynn's rule, Lodge lost to the ticket thousands of votes by his blunders and indifferent campaigning.

LOSE SOUTH

It is clear that Nixon in choosing Agnew was moved by the Flynn rule. If Charles Percy, Mark Hatfield or John Lindsay had been his choice, he would lose practically every state east of the Mississippi and south of the Mason-Dixon line to George Wallace.

Republican leaders in the South have worked hard to build a Republican Party in the old Confederacy. They have brought hundreds of thousands of traditional Democrats into the GOP. They have elected several congressmen, and two governors.

They have reached the point where there is a real two-party system in the South. This is the first time the Republican Party has been a truly national organization since the Civil War.

But this chance of building a national party in all 50 states would have been shattered if Lindsay, Percy or Hatfield had been chosen. For, with any of these on the ticket, Wallace might well carry the whole southern part of the country, and Nixon would lose the election either in November or in the House of Representatives in January. Thus, Agnew, from a border state and a strong spokesman for law and order, is insurance against such a GOP catastrophe.

★ ★ ★

Liberal-oriented commentators are echoing Democratic hopes when they lament the choice of Agnew. They would do well to realize that the real threat to Nixon is Wallace, not Humphrey. Under these circumstances, if there had been no Agnew, the candidate for President would have had to invent one.

'It Threatened Me!'

David Lawrence Says:

Red 'Myth' Becomes a Reality

WASHINGTON—The "Communist myth," so often brushed aside by "liberals" as imaginary, has all of a sudden become a reality.

LAWRENCE

The argument of the "doves" that the Soviet Union and most of the Communist-bloc states in Eastern Europe constitute no threat to world peace and that they should be given trade benefits and other concessions by the United States has evaporated overnight.

The world is back again to where it was more than a decade ago when the Soviet armies crushed an uprising of the people of Hungary.

Then, after having connived to weaken the NATO alliance in Europe, the Soviets proceeded to build up North Vietnam and finally to provoke Hanoi's aggression against South Vietnam as a means of diverting American attention from Europe.

★ ★ ★

In virtually all free nations today a unanimous condemnation is being expressed against the Soviet Union for its invasion of Czechoslovakia and its attempts to suppress the few freedoms that have been allowed the people there.

The hopes of the Czechs for a decree of independence from Soviet domination were abruptly shattered as the Soviet armies, aided by military forces of East Germany, Hungary, Bulgaria and Poland — puppets of Moscow — crossed the Czech border.

LEADERS IMPRISONED

In the capital at Prague the leaders who had dared to institute reforms in the Communist system have been imprisoned.

There are, of course, in the United States a few politically minded critics who immediately cried out that Russia is merely doing what the United States did in Vietnam. No parallel, however, exists.

★ ★ ★

Since the Soviet Union has a veto in the Security Council of the United Nations, this leaves the question to be handled by the General Assembly of the U.N., which can adopt a resolution as it did in 1956 condemning the Soviet Union.

Meanwhile, the world has been awakened to the somber fact that military power exerted by the Soviets in defiance of the provisions of the United Nations Charter can at any moment break the peace on every continent.

Bob Considine Says:

President Running Risk by Briefing Candidates

NEW YORK — I don't recall that President Truman briefed Lars Daley, the candidate in 1952 who campaigned in an Uncle Sam suit, on the problems facing the nation at home and in Korea. There is no record I know of that Lincoln called in his bitter rival and former subordinate, Gen. George McClellan, to give him the lowdown on the Civil War. John Adams and Tom Jefferson, his successor, hardly spoke.

CONSIDINE

But President Johnson has been meticulously correct in seeing to it that every aspirant for his White House Chair, however forlorn, gets the benefit of an inside report on what the score is in Vietnam and at the Paris negotiations, the situation in the Mediterranean, NATO, Greece, poverty, and all the rest.

★ ★ ★

A president who orders that confidential information be shared with a political foe takes a calculated risk that the person may use it against him in a sensational and vote-getting manner. However, some recipients of classified material have proved extraordinarily trustworthy and have shown a restraint that might come quite hard to Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, to name one.

During the 1944 campaign, GOP candidate Tom Dewey was approached by an emissary from Gen. George C. Marshall's office. The messenger handed Dewey a sealed letter.

DEMAND MADE

It began, in effect, that if Dewey would not commit himself to keep the entire contents of the letter strictly secret, and make no use of those contents in his campaign, he must not read past the first paragraph.

Dewey read the first paragraph and then stopped. He would not accept any such conditions.

★ ★ ★

A few days later the emissary was once more closeted with Dewey.

He had another letter from Gen. Marshall. This one contained no such brusque demand. Instead, it told the man who wanted very much to be president of the United States that early in Roosevelt's third term a major Japanese code had been cracked by U.S. Navy cryptologists, that we had thus known that the Japanese naval task force that attacked Pearl Harbor was somewhere at sea well before the attack, and that we hadn't done much with that priceless advantage.

SECRECY ASKED

The letter then asked Dewey not to make use of this information — if it came to him from persons who did not like FDR — because the Japanese still did not know that we had cracked that and still more of their codes. This knowledge had turned the tide of battle at Midway and elsewhere.

If Dewey now revealed this horrendous secret, for personal political gain, the Japanese would change their codes and — pending new cracking — American lives would be lost unnecessarily.

Dewey didn't mention it.

Roosevelt clobbered him, 432 to 99 in the electoral vote.

Voice of the People:

Reports Thoughtfulness for Vietnam Servicemen

A new type of "care" package has come to my attention. Each week for some time a lady has mailed two packages to Vietnam. This would not be unusual if the packages were addressed to the same individual, but they were addressed to "any Marine" or "any soldier," listing the outfit and APO numbers. This lady wants no publicity but her example might inspire others to feast on the joy of doing for others.

★ ★ ★

Her son returned safely from combat duty in Vietnam and told of the lift these surprise packages from home gave the whole squad who shared them. Being thankful for her son's safe return, the mother continues to send packages to his former outfit and any other outfit on active duty for which she can obtain a valid address.

★ ★ ★

These packages may contain candy, cigarettes, chewing gum, books, puzzles, soap, toothpaste, or a myriad of other interesting and useful things; but above all, the spirit of brotherly love. Her "thank you" notes from appreciative recipients must be a source of great personal satisfaction.

'We Should Realize Importance of Prayer'

I feel prayer is very important. Prayer is the key to heaven but faith unlocks the door. The majority of people ignore and neglect Christ. Too many have put worldly pleasures before Christ. These pleasures are temporary, but a place in heaven is eternal.

Has Suggestions to Help Curb Delinquency

"I had a dream." It was more of a nightmare, and I wasn't asleep. It was of rock-throwing delinquents and groups of pre-teens standing around a youngster, fallen in a neighborhood brawl, as they chanted "kill him."

★ ★ ★

How much better the vision I have of neighborhood gyms where youngsters could engage in indoor sports or games, perhaps including wrestling or boxing. There are Boys' Clubs, and YMCAs but they are limited by size or cost of membership. Monies are out of the question for large families. I have seen defunct fire houses turned into youth centers with teenagers volunteering services for art classes and dancing lessons, and there were Ping-pong tables and basketball nets.

★ ★ ★

Why not use some of the boarded-up shops that are city eyesores? Ping-pong tables could be made of plywood, unused games could be collected, and perhaps unwanted pianos could be donated. If the City is shorthanded for chaperones or supervisors, why not use some responsible teens, or let parents set up a plan to supervise their own neighborhood children?

Reader Comments on Local Utility Company

Until the recent storm, Detroit Edison has been quite successful in blacking out the news media. With portions of the City a disaster area, Detroit Edison attempts to cover its incompetence by directing the public attention to propaganda on two new power plants. However, the company neglects to inform us that utilizing these plants, without striking linemen to distribute power, is an impossibility.

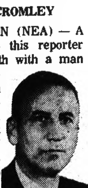
In Washington:

Ho Anticipates Bombing Halt

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A few days ago this reporter talked at length with a man recently returned from a visit to Hanoi in which he had met with some of Ho Chi Minh's highest officials.



CROMLEY

The Hanoi men in private conversations had said that they were certain President Johnson would be impelled to make some major concession to North Vietnam at Paris before election day.

★ ★ ★

Although they were vague about what that U.S. concession would be, the visitor was convinced the North Vietnamese were talking about a complete bombing halt.

In the Hanoi opinion, the U.S. concession would be forced on Johnson by the growing force of American public opinion.

Once this major concession was granted, these officials believed it would be virtually impossible for Johnson to reverse it.

★ ★ ★

That is, a bombing halt, once announced, would be permanent.

In these conversations, the North Vietnamese seemed to take it for granted that either Richard Nixon or Vice President Hubert Humphrey would be the next president of the United States.

They apparently believed it was unrealistic to expect Sen. Eugene McCarthy to win either the nomination or the election. Nevertheless, they did not expect that the next U.S. president, whether Nixon or Humphrey, would find it possible to reverse Johnson's concession.

These Hanoi officials saw a marked upward swing in the U.S. peace-in-Vietnam sentiment beginning with the fall of 1967. They believe this sentiment has grown steadily since that time and that it will continue to grow.

★ ★ ★

It was this visitor's impression that the Hanoi men were counting on that sentiment to win them the peace talks. He had the distinct impression that they would wait patiently and stall the talks along until they saw this peace sentiment had grown strong enough to guarantee them victory.

Apparently, a U.S. agreement to end the bombing would be a sort of test or signal that this country was willing to give up and admit defeat. The North Vietnamese would then be willing to help the United States find a face-saving way to exit from Vietnam.

If the above paragraphs are in fact an accurate picture of what Ho's men believe, it confirms the often-voiced thesis held by some old Far East specialists that Ho sees 1968-1969 as a repetition of 1954.

★ ★ ★

In 1954, Ho agreed to talks, but stalled while antiwar sentiment mounted in France. While waiting, Ho set up Dien Bien Phu to give the French government an excuse for evacuating the north.

If Ho is to repeat himself, then the U.S. Department of Defense and President Thieu of South Vietnam may be right in predicting all-out Ho Chi Minh attacks sometime between now and November.

Land Deals to Delay Completion of Center

Pontiac's planned Human Resources Center to serve children from four elementary schools will not be completed in September 1969 as scheduled.

Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer told the school board last night that acquisition of privately owned land west of city hall in the $4-million project would cause a delay.

* * *

The center was planned to be open in September 1969. Whitmer said a portion of it may be opened then.

Appraisers have estimated the value of about 25 parcels of land at $72,890 and realtors are now contacting owners to buy the properties.

LAND COST

Land cost in the 20-acre site is estimated at $250,000.

Whitmer estimated that bidding might take place in March and construction begun immediately thereafter.

* * *

In other business concerning facilities, the board approved preliminary architectual plans for a $1.1-million area vocational high school on Perry Street near Madison Junior High School.

This building is scheduled to open in one year.

'TECHNICAL' SCHOOL?

It is to be called the Northeast Oakland Area Vocational Center but at least two board members want to substitute "technical" instead of "vocational" in the name.

The board agreed to let the city propose an old high school site as a site for the metropolitan Detroit stadium.

It is located at Featherstone and Opdyke and would, with adjacent vacant land, provide a site of 150 acres. Pontiac is to present its proposal to the stadium committee Sept. 11.

Whitmer commented that the site could possibly be used for an elementary or junior high school but that benefits from a stadium there would be more beneficial for the city.

* * *

Assistant Supt. Richard Fell told the board there may be problems of overcrowding at Alcott, Wisner and Crofoot schools because the new elementary school at Lincoln Junior High School is not ready.

Pontiac School Affairs

Staffing Nearly Done

Few Teacher Jobs Left

With school to open in a couple of weeks, Pontiac schools are now only about half dozen teachers short.

Assistant Supt. Richard C. Fell told the school board last night that teacher staffing is in "real good shape" considering they had to fill 100 positions since June 1.

About 235 teachers have been hired for the coming school year, he reports.

Both high schools are completely staffed. Vacant are two industrial arts positions in junior high schools and two first grade and two second grade positions in addition to some in special education.

* * *

In other business, the board:

● Learned that the business manager had invested $10 million of operation funds from the additional school millage. It will earn about $325,000 interest.

* * *

● Named three new community school directors — Thomas Rosenthal at Eastern, Claude E. Jones of Detroit, schools at Franklin and James G. Varner of Ferndale Schools at Bagley.

● Named three new comwage increase for about 150 food service employes.

'Gun Peril Fills Detroit Homes'

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit Police Department study concludes that widespread ownership of guns has made the city's homesteads more dangerous than bars, alleys and afterhours drinking spots.

"A few years ago, someone might have been punched in the nose and that would be all," commented Lt. Elmer J. Reed, executive officer of the homicide bureau in pointing out that two-thirds of the city's gun deaths involve related or acquainted people.

* * *

"But today, someone grabs the gun he or she obtained for protection and ends the argument permanently," Reed added.

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh revealed Wednesday Detroit is planning a two- or three-day moratorium during which unregistered guns may be surrendered to the police department on a "no questions asked" basis.

* * *

Cavanagh revealed the plan after conferring with Police Commissioner Johannes F. Spreen, Wayne County Prosecutor William L. Cahalan and Toledo, Ohio, Mayor William Ensign.

A Fruitful Retirement

Creates a Family of Violins

By JUNE ELERT

A Quaker mother's fear that her son's fondness for the violin might lead to a similar fondness for dancing, has proved groundless.

Young Cassius Teague, though never permitted to own or study the instrument in his youth, nevertheless learned to "fiddle a little" while pursuing studies that led to a career in education spanning 40 years as mathematics teacher and schools superintendent.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Teague retired 22 years ago from his last teaching position at Cass Technical High School in Detroit.

He and his wife, Helen, herself a violinist, moved to a small farm and spent a few years in a relaxing division of their time between light farming and visits to Florida in the winter.

Cass, as he is known to friends, felt an itch to try his hand at building a violin.

He found a book about the art in a store in St. Petersburg and spent a year studying it before making his initial attempt. The first instrument was completed in 1951.

CRAFTSMAN

Over the years since then, the sometime fiddler has become a full-fledged craftsman, with a knowledge of the history and development of this "queen of instruments" which would make a music professor envious.

★ ★ ★

In describing the many minute processes used to perfect a new violin, Mr. Teague emphasized that top-quality woods must be used and that they must be air-dried.

He employs spruce and curly maple, thought to be from the Black Forest of Germany. The spruce is purchased in a thick block and from this the top of the soundbox is carved in one piece.

The curly maple is used for the back, sides (ribs), and neck.

Each of the parts is joined with a special glue.

Asked "what is the secret of tone in a good violin?" Cass said this is a question that is still being argued.

He said, "Scientists have made studies and can't agree. Some have thought the thinness or thickness of the various areas of the soundbox control tone.

"Some believe the quality of the varnish was what made the Stradivari tone so beautiful."

Using a violin which is presently "in the white," i.e. unvarnished, Mr. Teague demonstrated its tone and compared it with one of the first of his products.

He went on, "Others believe that aging of the instrument or the establishment of a pattern of vibrations set up when the bow is drawn across the strings, may be the controlling factor.

SOUL

"The French say the soundpost is the soul of the violin." The soundpost, he explained, stands, unglued, between chest and back under the right edge of the bridge, held in place by the precise fit of all parts in contact.

"And then, of course, there are the bass-bar, the strings, the dimensions of the chest and belly, the F-shaped sound holes and so on."

In the basement workshop of their present home in Oxford, Mr. Teague has made his own forms, templates and tools including calipers for measuring the graduating thickness of each wood section.

★ ★ ★

The ebony fingerboard, metal parts, strings and pegs are purchased, though sometimes the pegs have to be trimmed to fit.

I asked, "Why is it that other violin-makers, since the time of Amati, Guarneri and Stradivari, have not achieved the same fame?"

The answer (sort of tongue-in-cheek) was that perhaps those who believe that the mellowing of time brings the tonal beauty necessary for that fame are correct. Mrs. Teague pointed out that the Stradivari violins in existence now were hand-crafted by almost unchanged methods over 250 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Teague recently presented one of his instruments to the Music Department of Central Michigan University, his alma mater, for use by violin students who do not have suitable instruments to use for practice and performance.

He has kept most of his violins, though he has been persuaded to sell a very few to musician friends in Florida, where Helen has performed in orchestras.

Cass, who will celebrate his 87th birthday in October, says that when anyone asks him why he doesn't sell his violins, he counters, "Would you sell your children?"

BYRD-HERRICK

Honeymooning in the New England states are the James Byrds (nee Joan Herrick), who were wed Saturday in Christ Lutheran Church. For the candlelight vows, the bride chose a peau de soie sheath with Chantilly lace accents. A matching lace headpiece capped her elbow length veil and she held Stephanotis with white roses. Leading the party of six who attended the daughter of the Earl Herricks and the son of the Charles Byrds both of Milford, were Nancy Philp and Kent Byrd. Following the evening vows, the couple joined guests during a reception at the American Legion Hall.

Insert Ceiling Into the Washer to Save Time

What's the easiest way to wash the ceiling? According to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith of New York City, the system is to pop it into an automatic washer.

To lower the ceilings of their old-fashioned apartment, the Smiths (he is the director of the Museum of Contemporary Crafts) made a canopy by joining several lengths of double-knit, stretch nylon; sewed drapery rings around the edges; and suspended their new ceiling from cuphooks located around the moldings.

This ingenious idea would be easy to duplicate and easy to hang, as well as simple to keep clean with soap or detergent suds.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

It is a smart and rewarding idea to take advantage of all that is known concerning nutrition, beauty aids, and prolonging the youthful portion of life. So much exciting new information is constantly appearing.

However, in your enthusiasm, don't go haywire. Moderation rather than extreme measures are indicated. Sometimes when women write me about their beauty routine I wonder why their poor face isn't worn out. They beat it and stretch it and are continually putting something on it or taking something off of it.

I feel sure that we can overdo this, a woman can massage her face so vigorously that she stretches her skin.

In the name of fine nutrition a person may eat so much roughage that an irritated colon is the result. Filled with enthusiasm and determination, a woman may exercise so much when she is not accustomed to it that it injures her health. Almost as sad, she may build bulging muscles.

There have been instances when a woman took large unprescribed doses of vitamins over long periods of time, with drastic result. There is evidence that huge doses of vitamin A may cause loss of hair.

I am not referring to usual dosages. Many physicians feel that vitamin supplements are helpful, especially in the older age groups and in special conditions. However, these should not take the place of a diet which is rich in vitamin content.

The greatest blessings and helpful procedures, when taken to extreme, can be ruinous. Just because something is good for us, it doesn't mean that a lot more of it would be better. So take it easy!

Miss Ragatz Says Wedding Vows

MRS. B. D. GOODRICH

Rosanna Fay Ragatz and Sgt. Bruce Dale Goodrich, USAF, were attended by Sharon Green and Rev. William Ballard as they exchanged vows Saturday in Pontiac's First Free Methodist Church.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Ragatz of M-15, Independence Township, chose a traditionally fashioned wedding gown of Rochelle lace over taffeta with a detachable court train.

Protect Yourself With a 'Shrieker'

If you don't have a "shrieker," maybe you should. It weighs less than one ounce, is four inches long and can be carried in pocket or purse. It's an aerosol-operated siren you activate by pressing. The manufacturer says the noise it makes is so piercing and penetrating that any intruder or would-be attacker is stunned senseless the moment this shattering ultra-sound reaches his ear drums. The manufacturer also says the noise can be heard for half a mile.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

My favorite slightly A-line dress pattern is one I can always rely on and somehow it always looks different because of the fabrics and trimmings. Now I am faced with a new problem. I have some gorgeous border, print silk and want to use this pattern. However if I do use this pattern the side seams will distort the design. Is there any way a dress with a shaped side seam can be cut without the seam?

Mrs. L. D.

Dear Mrs. L. D.:

Yes, we have had rather good luck cutting border prints without a seam running clear through the hem, provided it isn't too much of an A-line. Tape the front side seam over the back side seam at the lower edge, possibly 9 or 10 inches from the hem, down to the edge of the pattern. You will find the side seams will spread open above this point.

*

Cut your dress as if the opening were a huge dart. Make your seam at the underarm on the original seam lines of the pattern, tapering to nothing above the pattern of your border print. The new dart will look like a seam, give you the fitting you desire, and still not destroy the border with too many seams

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Clarence Brinkley, Suffolk, Va., is this week's Tailor Trix pressing board winner for her following sewing hint.

"When sewing lace or hem tape on the bottom of your skirts, take an extra tuck at the side seams. This is a real time-saver should the skirt have to be made longer, yet it doesn't detract from the neatness of your hem. It saves a lot of time when trying to find that little piece of tape or lace to match, so it is a two-way time-saver."

Dear Eunice Farmer,

I am making a lace bodice for a cocktail dress and wanted it to appear unlined. The lace is very open and I tried to stitch it without underlining. There are places where the stitches have nothing to catch to and I can't make it look right. Surely, there is an answer. I would appreciate your help.

Mrs. M. E. T.

* * *

Dear Mrs. M. E. T.:

I have worked with the lace you are referring to and have come to the conclusion that it must be backed with very fine tulle. If you use the sheerest kind, it is not noticeable and it will eliminate the problem of stitching the lace at the seams and darts.

* * *

Mrs. N. D. says: "It's simple to match fabrics for the right accessories if you immediately cut off a small swatch of any fabrics you purchase. Place them in a small makeup purse and keep them in your purse wherever you go. You'll never have to return buttons, shoes, or whatever because you guessed the wrong color."

Clean Brushes Remain Effective

Housekeeping brushes must be kept clean because soil curtails their effiency and also cuts their fibers and bristles. Furthermore, they may become soggy and "sour" if allowed to remain dirty and damp.

Brushes should be washed after use by swishing through soap or detergent suds, then rinsed under running warm water. Shake off excess water, let them dry with bristles down — outdoors, if possible. Never store bruses until completely dry.

Patients Like Flowers, but There's Knack to It

NEW YORK CITY (UPI) — Planning to send some flowers to a relative or friend who is in the hospital?

There's a right way and a wrong way of doing it, and if you do it right you'll cheer the hospital staff as well as the patient.

* * *

Hospital administrators interviewed in a recent survey by Florists' Transworld Delivery agreed that flowers have a definite therapeutic value, especially for the patient who may not often have visitors.

However, because of the critical help situation in hospitals nationally, a prime concern among the administrators was how to facilitate handling of flowers in their institutions.

SOME SUGGESTIONS

To this end, they came up with some general suggestions for floral gifts to hospital patients:

- Long-lasting flower varieties should be selected, and those which are not heavily scented.
- The patient's name should be supplied to the florist so it agrees with the hospital registry (Mrs. Mary Smith, not Mrs. John Smith) and the room number should always be provided.
- The size of the floral arrangement is significant. Hospital rooms are not large enough, or adequately furnished to contain large arrays of flowers. Hospital administrators advise that the outside measurement should be approximately 21 inches wide by 24 inches high.

The FTD researchers said a floral gift, although kept small, can still be given an expensive look by a petite but clever design.

They suggested asking the florist to create a design using accessories which pertain to the patient's interest or hobbies. Another way is to order an arrangement of less common blossoms.

4 Promotions in Fire Dept.

High-Level Changes Told by Pontiac Chief

Pontiac Fire Chief Charles Marion today announced four high-level promotions, effective immediately, in his department.

Promoted to assistant chief was Fire Marshal Charles Metz, 54, of 1245 Wagner, a 26-year veteran of the department. He served in his previous post for 15 years.

* * *

Replacing Metz as fire marshal is Fire Inspector Allen Tunny, 52, of 60 E. Newport. A 22-year veteran of the department, he has served as inspector for two years.

Promoted to inspector was Jerome Lauinger, 34, of 699 Clara, former engineer. He is a 13-year Pontiac fireman.

* * *

Replacing Lauinger is former fire fighter Robert Becker, 33, of 464 Third, a 10-year veteran.

Marion said he made the promotions "due to an organizational change which will hopefully result in a more efficient operation of the department."

Hospital Bonds Are Approved

To Pay Work Costs at Pontiac General

The State Municipal Finance Commission has approved the issuance of $2 million in revenue bonds to cover the cost of hospital construction and parking expansion at Pontiac General Hospital.

Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, said the hospital building authority expects to advertise for bids to be received about Sept. 18. The revenue bonds will be sold to the lowest bidder.

Much of the construction involved has already been undertaken by advancing costs from other hospital funds, Euler noted.

The bond issue is to cover enlargement of the parking facilities, construction of a new emergency room and physical therapy building, and for intern housing.

Euler said the property for the parking expansion has been acquired and is being prepared for paving and the emergency facilities and therapy building is about 80 per cent completed.

VFW Asks End to Bomb Lull

Group Urges Victory Over North Vietnam

DETROIT (AP) — The Veterans of Foreign Wars called for a resumption Wednesday of the bombing of all North Vietnam "if the enemy continues to infiltrate troops and weapons into South Vietnam."

The organization, which claims 1.5 million members, also called for the United States and its allies in South Vietnam to "take whatever action is necessary, including a blockade of North Vietnam, to conclude the war with victory."

* * *

The action came in unanimous approval of a resolution which also said that the invasion of Czechoslovakia shows that "Communism is still on the march today in Central Europe, as it was in the 1940s and 1950s, determined to destroy freedom."

"The Soviet Union, the power base of Communist aggression, has not mellowed, but rather is even more ruthless and vicious in pursuing its objectives of global Communist conquest and destruction of the United States," the resolution also asserted.

COPY TO JOHNSON

The convention directed that a copy of the resolution, submitted by a former VFW commander-in-chief, Louis G. Feldman of Hazelton, Pa., be sent to President Johnson.

* * *

The President told delegates Monday there would be no further U.S. cutback in bombing unless North Vietnam reciprocated by de-escalating its aggression.

Henry Ford II Endorses Humphrey Candidacy

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., endorsed Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the Democratic presidential nomination Wednesday and said he was looking forward to Humphrey's successful bid for the White House.

* * *

The endorsement, sent in a telegram, disclosed a split in the Ford family. Recently, a brother, William Clay Ford, announced he was backing the candidacy of Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

William Ford, owner of the Detroit Lions of the National Football League, reportedly holds the largest single bloc of stock in the auto company.

In his telegram to Humphrey Henry Ford said:

"Our country needs your sound experience and leadership in the years immediately ahead. I pledge you my full support and assistance in your campaign for the presidency of the United States.

* * *

"I'm looking forward confident to your nomination next week and your successful candidacy this fall. Best wishes to you in all that you undertake."

In 1964, Ford gave his support to the candidacy of President Johnson.

William Ford, however, said he always had been a Republican until his decision to back McCarthy.

Russian Cellist Plays Work by Czech, Then Cries

LONDON (AP) — Mstilav Rostropovich, the 41-year-old Russian who is the world's leading cellist, left a London concert platform in tears Wednesday night after performing the Czech composer Dvorak's cello concerto.

As the Russian State Orchestra, making its British debut, walked on to the Albert Hall rostrum, some of the audience chanted "play for the Czechs."

* * *

Rostropovich, who himself reportedly has had political difficulties with the Soviet leaders —he played at the funeral of the banned novelist Boris Pasternak —gave what the critics called the performance of a lifetime.

The concert ended in tumultous applause. But the sponsors, the British Broadcasting Corp., called off a planned reception for the musicians "to avoid mutual embarrassment."

Body Recovered

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The body of George E. Jackson of Grand Rapids was recovered from the Thornapple River Wednesday by Kent County sheriff's deputies. He drowned while swimming.

Police Walkout Veto 'Didn't Come Easy'

Though executive board members of the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) voted at their three-day meeting in St. Louis against a call for a national police walkout, agreement didn't come easy, according to the Pontiac delegate, Paul Roek.

ROEK

The meeting closed yesterday.

The vote had been reported as unanimous against the motion for a two-day nationwide strike "to dramatize the need for public support of law officers."

* * *

However, according to city Patrolman Paul Roek, president of the local FOP, a compromise resolution came only after day-long debate Monday at the meeting's opening session.

RESOLUTION'S CALL

The resolution, which Roek helped draft, insists that "the safety and welfare of citizens should be placed above and before any grievance that a police officer might encounter."

It calls for local police departments to voice their grievances through news media and civic organizations.

* * *

"It would be disastrous for the streets of the country to be left unprotected in these critical times," the resolution concludes.

Rice has been grown in the United States since colonial days, but only recently has become a really profitable crop.

Bogota Residents Welcome Pontiff

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Many of Bogota's two million residents stayed up all night to greet Pope Paul VI coming here to honor Latin America and plead for its impoverished millions.

The pontiff's visit to attend the 39th Eucharistic Congress was marred by his concern over the Soviet bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The Pope said as he took off from Rome that he left with "sharp bitterness and great anxiety" over events in the East European nation. He added that he would give up his Latin American journey if it would serve "to avoid the disastrous consequences which, alas, one can with reason foresee" in Czechoslovakia.

2 Camp Pontiac Inmates Caught Near Bridgeport

BRIDGEPORT (UPI) — Two youths who escaped from the Camp Pontiac branch of Ionia Reformatory in White Lake Township were captured by State Police early today after a five-hour search.

* * *

The pair escaped around midnight, stole a car in the Pontiac area and abandoned it in Saginaw County. State Police from the Pontiac, Flint, Bridgeport, Bay City, and Brighton posts combed the area with three tracking dogs.

They found the youths at a rest area on the I-75 freeway between Birch Run and Bridgeport about 5:30 a.m.

* * *

Police identified the escapees as Ronald Du Bois, 18, of Onaway and Joseph Lavake, 19, of St. Ignace.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Mary Beth McCarthy, 21, spent yesterday in Montana campaigning for her uncle, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who seeks the Democratic presidential nomination.

She presented signatures of persons backing her uncle to Atty. Gen. Forrest H. Anderson — and in turn was given a ceramic work by David Shaner, potter in residence at the Archie Bray Foundation in Helena.

Anderson, who is the state's Democratic nominee for governor and heads its delegation to the national convention, asked Miss McCarthy to take the gift to her uncle on behalf of the Democratic party in Montana.

S. Viet Aide Assigned to Peace Talks

Pham Dang Lam, an assistant to the South Vietnamese foreign minister, has been named new chief of the observer delegation at the Paris peace talks, a government spokesman said yesterday in Saigon.

Lam will replace Bui Diem, the ambassador to Washington, who has been in Paris since the talks began last May.

'Inveterate Snorer' to Study Control

Dr. Marcus H. Boulware, a professor who admits he was once an "inveterate snorer" but claims to have tapered off to become a "controlled snorer," says the problem is no laughing matter.

A professor of speech pathology at Tennessee A&I State University, Boulware said people who snore tend to be unpopular partners in marriage, unpopular roommates in college and unpopular comrades in an Army barracks.

He said that according to experts in the field, about one out of every eight persons snores. He has received grants from the Carnegie Foundation to do research on snore control.

Barrel of Monkeys Not All Fun

Earl Breen, an auto parts company executive in St. Louis, has won a barrel of monkeys.

"I'll never use that expression again," said Breen as he pondered what to do with a barrel filled with the five lively ringtail monkeys he won in a national contest.

Breen managed to get rid of one of the animals. It will be the door prize at a celebrity bowling night in Baldwin, Mo. He is still casting about for a way to unload the others.

By AFT President-Elect

National Teacher Strike Eyed

CLEVELAND (AP)—The new president - elect of the American Federation of Teachers says a nationwide teachers strike may be necessary to focus attention on the seriousness of the school situation.

David Selden, 54, of New York, assistant to retiring president Charles Cogen since 1964, defeated Edward C. Bolstad, 34, of Minnesota and Mrs. Zeline Richard of Detroit to win election Wednesday night.

* * *

"Teachers need a great deal more power than they have," Selden said Wednesday. "They do not have enough power to bring about a really significant improvement in the quality of education."

Selden said he intended to go in "hot pursuit" of a possible merger with the one-million-strong National Education Association so that teachers would have one, militant, autonomous teachers' organization.

EARLY MILITANT

A native of Dearborn, Mich., Selden was an early advocate of teacher militancy and was partly responsible for getting collective bargaining elections for New York City teachers of 1961.

Selden was appointed special representative and director of the United Federation of Teachers, AFT Local 2, in New York City in 1953 and immediately embarked on a vigorous membership campaign. At that time he says the union in New York had about 1,800 paid-up members out of some 40,000 teachers.

* * *

"The campaign was not successful at first," Selden explained. "By 1956 I was so discouraged I was ready to quit the organization and go back to teaching. Then I hit upon the idea of collective bargaining with teachers being represented by a single organization."

Nixon Leading Hubert in Poll

McCarthy Only Five Behind GOP Hopeful

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon holds a 45 to 29 per cent lead over Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

Nixon also leads Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, but by a smaller margin, 42 to 37 per cent. Humphrey and McCarthy are rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination.

* * *

Gallup said the Nixon-McCarthy breakdown remained almost the same as it was in a mid-July poll. However, in that poll Nixon led Humphrey by only two percentage points.

Nixon's improved advantage over Humphrey is due more to Humphrey's losses than to Nixon's gains, the poll said.

SOUTHERN GAINS

The latest survey, taken after the GOP National Convention, has Nixon five percentage points higher than in a preconvention test, while the figure for Humphrey is nine points lower.

Gallup said the survey also shows that the Republican convention resulted in party gains in the South, where Nixon is catching up to third-party candidate George C. Wallace. Nixon trails the former Alabama governor by three percentage points.

* * *

Postconvention survey evidence also indicates the closing of GOP party ranks, bringing most of the Republican voters behind the Nixon candidacy, the poll said.

Relations Are Set Back

Invasion Hits Trade

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — The invasion of Czechoslovakia is a serious setback to efforts at improving trade relations between the United States and the Eastern European nations on the rim of the Soviet Union.

CUNNIFF

For various reasons a breakthrough in trade profitable to both East and West had seemed imminent. But these hopes were based on the belief that the economic liberalization of the East would continue rather than be thwarted, and that East-West tensions would relax.

* * *

It was against this very economic liberalism and the political threat it involved, represented in recent weeks especially by the Czechoslovakians, Romanians and Yugoslavians, that Russia and its allies applied their military might.

From the Communist side, the intervention may signal a return to less trade contact with the West. As for American businessmen, it is bound to cause at least a long pause in their plans to invest in and trade with the growing economics of Eastern Europe.

HOPES ON FIRE

Such hopes had caught fire in the past couple of years. Direct commerical flight between Moscow and New York was just one of the more obvious evidences of this. Far grander but less publicized preparations were being made for direct investments, in hotels and even manufacturing plants.

As the stigma of trading with the East diminished, such people as the Rockefeller brothers, who contral International Basic Economy Corp., and Cyrus Eaton Jr. revealed plans to invest in Communist nations. Eaton has already done so.

From Minneapolis last year a group sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and including men from several nationally known firms, left on a private trade mission to Russia. They were backed by the U.S. government.

Time Magazine two years ago led a tour by 24 of the highest-ranking executives and financiers in America to five East European nations for the purpose of investigating trade opportunities. Almost every company involved could be classified as a blue chip.

UNDERSTANDING SEEN

Aiding the new spirit was the belief among many Americans that the Communists were beginning to show a better understanding of capitalist economies and their methods of operation.

At least, some buinessmen thought, the Communists are now emphasizing consumer goods, instituting profit incentives, lessening their reliance on dictatorial marketing and following instead the laws of supply and demand.

The biggest support for this new spirit — perhaps even the imitator of it — was the Johnson administration, which believed that trade bridges not only would aid the economies of both East and West but promote peace as well. Trade, it is said, has its political ends.

Typical of the statements supporting East-West trade was one earlier this year to a congressional committee by Robert Rossa, partner in the investment banking firm of Brown Brothers, Harriman and Co.

'EXCITING POTENTIAL'

"Those of us from the United States who have traveled in Eastern Europe, almost to a man," he said, "return with the conviction that the countries represent the most exciting market of potential trade . . . anywhere in the world."

The possibilities of this big new market were belatedly appreciated by Americans. Other Western nations years earlier had shed their reluctance to trade with the East Europeans.

* * *

During 1965, Western Europe and Japan sold $3.8 billion of goods to the East Europeans, excluding Yugoslavia, and imported close to $4.5 billion from them.

The United States, though, sold only $139 million worth of goods to these countries and imported $138 million. These figures haven't grown substantially since then. They were, however, forecast to swell. The market was there.

BIGGER POPULATION

The Comecon, sort of an East Europe common market, includes nations with 330 million people, much more than the combined population on the European economic community and the European Free Trade Association.

These Comecon economies naturally are not as highly developed as nations to the west, but some of them have been growing faster than even the United States. Potentially they are huge markets.

* * *

The question now is how badly these markets have been damaged.

Burglars Steal Million-Dollar Art Collection

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — A police chief says burglars "just opened a kitchen window and walked right on in" to steal 16 art objects valued by the owner at $1,394,000.

Paintings by such renown artists as Picasso, Cezanne, LaTour, Degas, Goya and Modigliani and two cast bronze statues by Rodin were stolen, police said.

* * *

They were part of a collection of about 1,000 art pieces collected by Dr. T. Edward Hanley during the course of 45 years.

Thieves broke into the Hanley house Wednesday morning and made off with the art objects, all on the first floor, while the 75-year-old Hanley and his sister-in-law were sleeping in two upstairs bedrooms.

ESTIMATED LOSS

Hanley's wife, Tullah, a former Egyptian dancer, was in New York on a business trip. She rushed back after being notified of the robbery and made the loss estimate.

Police Chief Earl Bridge of Foster Township said the thieves walked up a short stairway on a back porch and slit the screen on a kitchen window.

* * *

Hanley, descendant of a Bradford oil and brick family, had recently showed some of his art collection in galleries in New York and Philadelphia and more shows were slated for Chicago and San Francisco.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — During my years as a working woman I put all my surplus into stocks. Now I am retired and find quarterly dividends plus Social Security insufficient to support two people. Should I sell some stocks and buy bonds for the greater yield? — R.S.

A — Now that your circumstances have altered, you should modify your portfolio to fit your retirement status. The following changes will add around $1,500 to your annual income.

Although General Motors, Ford and St. Oil of New Jersey yield somewhat below 5 per cent, they should be retained for their strong growth potential. Regarding Am. Telephone your holdings are far out of proportion to your list as a whole — representing over 30 per cent of your capital. Therefore, I recommend selling down to 500 shares. Because General Electric, Chrysler and Occidental Petroleum currently yield 3 per cent or less, I'd take the excellent gains they now provide. Neither Boeing nor Union Carbide fit your needs and should be liquidated. Losses in these latter will help offset gains from the other recommended sales.

The next proceeds of approximately $80,000 that you will realize from these transactions should be invested in bonds and common stocks with more generous yields. About $40,000 will purchase 10 each of three long-term and one discounted short-term utility first mortgage bonds. Consumers Power 6⅞s of 1998, Pacific Gas & Elec. 5s of 1991, So. Calif. Edison 6⅜s of 1993 and Commonwealth Edison 3s of 1977. The remaining funds, if invested in equal dollar amounts of Norfolk & Western, Liggett & Myers, National Fuel Gas and Armco Steel will bring your total income to over $9,000 annually.

SHOE SUPERMARKET — Pic-Way Shoes of Michigan East., Inc., has opened a new self-service shoe mart at 746 N. Perry. The 5,000-square-foot building is stocked with more than 20,000 pairs of men's, women's and children's shoes on open display, supermarket style. The Pic-Way policy is to maintain the same self-service prices at all times with no clearance or other special sales. Fitting advice is given if requested. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday.

GOOD OLD-FASHIONED AFTER-INVENTORY ODDMENT CLEARANCE

FRIDAY & SATURDAY ONLY

These are oddments: the broken tizes, the ones-and-twos-of-a-kind, the slow sellers that showed up in our invenory. But they're all dependable HHS quality, and a great majority are famous brands. Still, out they must go to make room for new stocks, so we've cut prices drastically to make sure they do. Better hurry, though—for quantities are limited (quantities shown are as at the beginning of the sale), and the sale lasts just two days—Friday and Saturday—at our Pontiac Mall store.

7 Model Prisoners Are Model Students

JACKSON (AP) — By day, they are model students at Jackson Community College. By night, they are model prisoners at Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Since Feb. 1, seven prisoners, serving sentences on charges ranging from writing bad checks to second-degree murder, have been participating in Southern Michigan Prison's study-pass program.

* * *

The study-pass program was initiated last winter after a successful experience with a similar work-pass program, in which specially screened prisoners were allowed to work unguarded in outside jobs during the day.

Both the student-prisoners and their instructors gave the program high marks.

HAPPY EXPERIENCE

"I've been very happy with the situation at Jackson Community College," one said. "All my experiences there have been happy ones. The instructors have been very nice and have not showed favoritism of any kind, or any animosity towards me either."

English instructor Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, who teaches a course created primarily for students who have been out of school for some time, said of her three inmate-students:

"They're the best students in class and among the best I've ever had. All of us feel this is public education. We're here to serve all students who can qualify. A student's private and personal life outside the classroom is his own.

* * *

"I can think of only one person in class who knows where the three students come from."

Robert Lock, a political science instructor, also is happy with the program. "My over-all reaction is quite favorable," he said. "In fact, one o fthem is the best student in his class. He has taught government classes in prison, so he is up on the subject. This particular student joined the class a week late—and finished No. 1 in three tests given during the semester."

College officials said all seven participants in the study-pass program did better than average work in the school's second semester, which ended in June. All of them enrolled for the summer term.

Five of them are taking full academic loads; with business courses favored over liberal arts subjects. Two of the prisoner-students are taking vocational programs.

* * *

The prisoners, however, don't find their new found freedom an unmixed blessing.

"I want to let it be known that being in a program like this—in spite of all in its favor—has been and will continue to be an extremely trying situation," one said. "I have been locked up now for more than six years, and these past four months have been among the most miserable.

FEELS LIKE PUPPY

"One feels like a puppy left out on a very long leash to sniff around, constantly watched and snatched away from things he feels he ought to have and do.

"It isn't really easy, going down there every day and having to return here every night. The emotional strain is quite noticeable among the inmates attending college."

* * *

But the disadvantages of the program have not changed the prisoner's mind about its over-all value. "Our uppermost objective is to get as much education as possible and, most of all, to make a parole and live like ordinary people," he said.

It's Not Too Late to Learn – 9

Adults Can Fit Into the College Grind

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 9th in a series of 10 articles on adult education appearing in The Pontiac Press.)

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern California

It's rarely too late to go back even to college and succeed.

If you go about it right you can make the grade though you have been out of school for ten or 20 years.

NASON

College offers a special challenge of course to adults going back to school. They find that they are on their own there, instead of being nursemaided by teachers who make sure they have done their work well and turned it in promptly.

To succeed in college you will have to keep your new learning in each course well-organized in your mind.

READ AHEAD

Especially at the start of your first semester back in school you should read ahead, not only having in mind the general ideas covered in the first chapters of the text, but having a rather precise idea of the meaning of each word that is new to you.

Say the word aloud as you think its meaning. Practice each word until you can say it easily and have its meaning register instantly in your mind.

Now as the instructor talks you will be able to grasp his meaning without stumbling over unfamiliar words.

As he talks, think about the relation between the ideas he is presenting and the way they are presented in the textbook.

TRY GUESSING

If you have difficulty keeping your mind on the subject during lectures try guessing what the instructor will say next. To do this you will have to keep what he has already said organized in your mind.

It is what you think while listening that determines how much you learn in the process.

* * *

You may find it profitable to make a written outline in short sentences of each chapter before it is covered in the classroom. Spaces can be left between statements for class notes.

Speaking of class notes, they should be held to a minimum since the writing of the notes distracts from the actual learning while listening.

PRIMERS HANDY

Read the introduction and a chapter or two in each textbook before the first meetings of the classes. If one seems difficult find a more elementary book on the subject in the library or a bookstore.

There are excellent children's books available on nearly all subjects. Don't be too proud to start at the beginning. For example, an elementary pictorial book on astronomy will give you a fine overview.

* * *

You can thus start your college text with a better idea of what you are to study about.

You may have worked for grades in your previous school days. This time concentrate on learning.

Writer Dines With Shirley Amidst Horror

By JAMES O. JACKSON

PRAGUE (UPI) — I'm having breakfast with Shirley Temple today in the midst of all this tragedy.

There are four wreaths out in the reaches of Wenceslas Square to mark the spots where four young Czechoslovaks fell in brave but futile defiance of Soviet tanks and guns. There is more shooting today out in the streets, plainly heard.

* * *

And here is Shirley Temple, Mrs. Charles A. Black of Atherton, Calif., in real life, sitting down to breakfast with me.

She is here for a meeting on multiple sclerosis, a disease her brother suffered, and like my wife and myself, she's staying at the Alcron Hotel. You can hear the sound of a country being crushed from the Alcron.

I'm honored to meet a woman who as a child enthralled America, but I could wish for a happier occasion. The horror show outside is real.

* * *

The music you hear is someone singing, humming or playing the national anthem. It's the last thing radio Prague got to play yesterday. The dancing you see is by young people disdainfully waiting for the last moment to step out of the way of an oncoming tank.

The face on the mother holding her child on Wenceslas Square and watching a tank is its own story, the venom and wounded pride showing, and you think of the old expression: if looks could kill . . .

* * *

The reaction is not the same for all. Young people flaunt their hatred of the Russians in their armored cars and tanks, but many people just stand there and watch as though stunned.

But you can express yourself and get away with it if you are lucky. A young man spits at a column of tanks. Another runs up to a tank and pokes a little flag in the treads.

* * *

A Russian tank burned by fire-bombs is an object of derision and quite a bit of pride. Someone has an idea and scrawls a Nazi swastika on its side. Many Czechs are pretty outspoken in equating the Russian invaders with the Nazi invaders of 1938.

U.S. Political Extremist Groups Take Up Arms for 'Protection'

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — Authorities believe that, next to a crook or a kook, the most dangerous man with a gun is the political extremist.

Evidence is that such people — left or right, black or white — do not own firearms for sport or collection, they own them for "protection."

* * *

Many are, in fact, "protected" by several weapons and will readily admit that, if it comes to it, they will use them against their foes — Communists, black people, white honkies, Jews or what have you.

Donald Lobsinger is an example. He's a leader of a Detroit-based anti-Negro group called "Breakthrough." Last year he indicated his gun purpose in a speech to the club and the press recorded his opinions.

'WE WILL FIRE'

"If another riot comes," he said, "we will protect our property."

The audience cheered.

"We will protect our homes."

More cheers.

"And we will fire!"

* * *

Trigger-finger bravado has been traditional among U.S. extremist groups, some of which have already "fired" on many occasions. The Ku Klux Klan, for example, has been shooting people for a century.

And there is nothing to indicate that extremist violence is on the wane. The influence of the Klan and other old-line organizations has shrunk, officials say, but new bunches of bigots have taken up the slack.

RESPECTABLE FACADES

These new groups are clandestine, closemouthed and only vaguely familiar to the public. Often they operate behind respectable facades and are fronted by respectable citizens. Most of them publicly condemn violence.

Yet law enforcement observers say the aims of the new unions are clearly warlike. And the following group sketches can accurately be drawn:

THE WHITE PARTY

Earl Allen, who heads this small Virginia alliance, says that it has recently sworn in "most" of the old American Nazi party storm troopers. The Nazi pack crumbled after the 1967 murder of fuehrer-founder George Lincoln Rockwell.

Allen insists his party is political and does not concern itself with violence. However, he recommends weapons for every party member. He explains that the black community is arming itself, "so we have to do the same."

NORTH WARD CITIZENS GROUP

This Newark, N.J., vigilante band was organized after the 1967 riots. Similar groups are reported in Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee and other cities. They say their purpose is "to protect our wives and kids." Most members have guns, many have military training. Newark claims it has an armored vehicle.

Says one Newark white: "I don't have nothing to say to the press. You guys twist everything we do. We're just a club. We don't want any trouble. We're just going to keep the fires out, that's all there is to it."

BLACK PANTHER PARTY FOR SELF-DEFENSE

Probably the largest of the Negro hate groups, it has offshoots in several cities. The FBI says that the party's purpose is revolutionary in nature and Communist-oriented. One of their slogans is, "Guns, Baby, Guns."

The Anti-Defamation League reports that Black Panthers see themselves as the vanguard of black revolution, and urge small groups of twos and threes to carry out guerrilla activity. Huey Newton, the Panther minister of defense, has said, "Political power comes through the barrel of a gun."

PAUL REVERE ASSOCIATED YEOMEN

A New Orleans-based group, very small, which on occasion mails propaganda throughout the nation. One mailing example: "Prepare yourself and your sons to fight in the streets, in the alleys, in the parks . . . while your wives and daughters protect homes with gas masks and pistols."

CHRISTIAN YOUTH CORPS

band in St. Petersburg, Fla., it is closely tied to the Ku Klux Klan. Says one member: "The Jews and niggers are in alliance and so the Christians must be allied, too. Something's bound to happen."

STUDENT NONVIOLENT COORDINATING COMMITTEE

Recently wedded to Black Panther ideals and goals, SNCC has grown increasingly revolutionary in the past two years. It has been a training ground for such activists as Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown. One Brown quote: "If you give me a gun and tell me to shoot my enemy, I might shoot Lady Bird."

Currently the group is in disarray, torn by internal bickering, lack of money and lack of Negro support. Nonetheless, federal authorities say flatly that "if riots occur this summer, SNCC will be here."

DEFENDERS OF THE AMERICAN CONSTITUTION

Another mostly mail-baiting group is located in Ormond Beach, Fla. Its leadership claims that gun control laws are a Communist plot to take over the nation. The group publishes a bulletin called "Alert" and is headed by a retired Marine Corps general.

NATIONAL STATES RIGHTS PARTY

A small collection of the hopeless who headquarter in Savannah, Ga., are against Jews, Negroes, Indians, the FBI and "pseudoliberals." The NSRP publishes "The Thunderbolt," believed by B'nai B'rith to the "one of the most blatant hate sheets in America." The group advocates gun stockpiling.

Shaven-headed Negroes who prowl New York streets with machetes and ugly scowls. Small, and largely of nuisance value, they nevertheless symbolize all of the groups named here, and all of the groups not named. As a Harlem policeman puts it: "The Mau Maus are a tragic bunch of idiots. But you can't just ignore them. We have found out in this country that the actions of tragic idiots can turn the whole world around."

The smallest North American bear is the black bear, which usually weighs from 300 to 600 pounds and is about 6½ feet long from tail to nose.
