Viet Strongman Tells His People: Free World Is at Our Side

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Khanh told his people today: "The free world countries are right at our side and if necessary will tackle the problem of communism right at its roots."

His statement coincided with a declaration from Peking that "the situation in Indochina has become increasingly grave in the past few days."

Japanese papers were expressing concern over U.S. policy.

Khanh said appointment of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor as the new U.S. ambassador to Saigon "is proof of the U.S. administration's determination to continue exterminating communism to preserve freedom."

★ ★ ★

Khanh spoke at the Gulf of Thailand town of Rach Gia, at the end of a two-day tour of the southern Mekong River Delta.

CRUCIAL HOUR

"The crucial hour has come and things are going to happen fast and hard in the fight for freedom in the south and the liberation of the north," he said, referring to the division of Viet Nam.

Henry Cabot Lodge, who is retiring as ambassador, said he does not see how the war here can be an issue in the U.S. presidential campaign.

"It involves the Eisenhower administration and the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, and the Truman administration," he said.

A Red Chinese broadcast Peking said the Communist vice premier, Chen Yi, spoke of U.S. preparations "for new military adventures."

INCREASINGLY GRAVE

"The situation in Indochina has become increasingly grave in the past few days," he said.

"In disregard of the serious protests of the Laotian and Chinese people, the United States is continuing its wanton bombing in Laos and stepping up its preparations for new military ventures in southern Viet nam."

Both Communist and non-Communist papers in Hong Kong predicted the United States will step up its military activities in Southeast Asia.

★ ★ ★

The possible political aspects of the Viet Nam war were discussed by Lodge in one of his farewell appearances here.

"In history when you've had a disaster," Lodge told newsmen, "then that becomes a political issue, even if the politicians do not do anything about it.

"But of course there's no outlook of that kind for the time."

Lodge announced his resignation as U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam yesterday and said he was returning to the United States to help Gov. William W. Scranton's campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

★ ★ ★

The front runner for the nomination, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, said in Washington that "the Johnson - McNamara program of indecision and vacillation has made it impossible for (Lodge) to carry out his ambassadorial functions properly and undoubtedly motivated his resignation."

Temperatures Said Headed Into Fifties

Clear and cool with temperatures dipping into the 50s is the weatherman's forecast for tonight. Tomorrow will be partly cloudy with a high of 74 to 80.

For the remainder of the week, temperatures will register in the high 70s, about 3 degrees below the normal. Lows will range from 52 to 59.

There's a chance of showers Friday, but little rain is predicted until early next week.

Ex-CIA Chief Will Assist in Mississippi

Disappeared Sunday; Burned Car Found in Desolate Bayou Area

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — Three-man teams combed the bayous and red clay hill countryside of east-Central Mississippi today for three young civil rights workers who vanished Sunday night.

Federal agents teamed with state and local police in checking every house, shack and barn around the Bogue Chitto Swamp, where the youths' fire-gutted station wagon was found by the FBI yesterday.

Former CIA Chief Allen Dulles prepared to leave Washington on a White House assignment to coordinate an inquiry into the three-day-old disappearance. He said he views the job as "a call to public service in a pretty difficult situation."

See Story, Page A-7

Missing are Andy Goodman, 20, and Michael Schwerner, 24, both white and from New York City, and James Cheney, a 22-year-old Negro from nearby Meridian.

HEADED SOUTH

They vanished mysteriously in this east-central Mississippi region Sunday night after Cheney paid a $20 fine for speeding. The trio headed southeast toward Meridian—but their burned station wagon was found 13.5 miles northeast of here.

State police said the blue station wagon was deliberately set afire after being driven or towed to the edge of the swamp.

The FBI, the Mississippi Highway Patrol and the Neshoba County Sheriff's Department each contributed 20 men to the search posse. They peeled off in groups of three to comb this lonely area of overwhelming trees and dark bayous.

To Tighten Reins in Saigon?

Taylor Choice Wins Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who has never known defeat, flies to war-torn South Viet Nam soon to take over as U.S. ambassador.

He is expected to provide a single, tight and unified command over U.S. civilian and military efforts.

★ ★ ★

The soldier-diplomat was named to the Saigon post yesterday by President Johnson after the resignation of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Taylor plans to leave for his new post in 10 days or two weeks.

Lodge said he was coming home to help Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton try to win the GOP presidential nomination.

★ ★ ★

Johnson's selection of Taylor for the hot spot assignment won strong approval on Capitol Hill.

PREDICT APPROVAL

Democrats and Republicans joined in predicting overwhelming Senate confirmation.

In South Viet Nam, Taylor will have under him two old friends in key spots — Lt. Gen. William C. Westmoreland as U.S. military commander and veteran diplomat U. Alexis Johnson as his political deputy.

Westmoreland, one of the most promising of the Army's younger generals, has been considered a "Taylor man" for about a decade.

★ ★ ★

He served on Taylor's staff when the new ambassador was the Army's chief in the mid-1950s.

CLOSE TO GENERAL

Johnson, deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs, has been close to Taylor for about 30 years.

He said in an interview, "We have no magic answers but we are determined to do our best."

Stepping in behind Taylor as the new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff will be another Taylor "disciple," Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, who now is Army chief of staff.

Romney Hints State GOP May Try to Block Dem Plan

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George W. Romney today said there is a possibility Republicans will try to block use of a Democrat-drawn legislative apportionment plan in this year's elections.

The Republican governor, at his first capitol press conference since the State Supreme Court approved the plan and the Apportionment Commission adopted it, said he was "shocked at the distorted, misshapen districts" in the plan.

See Stories, Maps, Pages A-2, B-12

Romney also said he would not entertain any pleas from Democratic Secretary of State James Hare for help in setting up elections under the approved plan.

"He's been running off at the mouth about what needs to be done to hold orderly elections," said Romney. "But he told the court it could be done if a plan were received by him by June 25.

"If there were a special session of the legislature in the picture, he should have told the court about it. I don't want him coming around here and asking for help to meet this situation."

LEADERS WORD

After the commission yesterday ordered publication of the so-called Austin-Kleiner Plan for population-based districting of both houses, former Gov Wilber M. Brucker, top Republican on the commission, said:

★ ★ ★

"We're not in any way going to impede or obstruct this plan for this year. But that's not saying Michigan is to be saddled with this for the next score of years."

However, today, speaking of the four Republican members of the commission including Brucker, Romney said "I'm not sure they've taken that position," although one of the four has spoken on it.

He said he believed it would fall to the Republicans on the commission to initiate any request for a stay order from the U. S. Supreme Court if such an action were taken.

★ ★ ★

The state court has waived directly to the U. S. Supreme Court any request for a stay, which if granted would keep the Austin-Kleiner Plan from being used this year.

APPEAL QUESTION

"The question of appeal and stay should appropriately be up to Republican members of the commission," Romney said.

Asked if he believed they will ask for a stay, Romney said, "there is that possibility."

He described the approved plan as "partisanship run rampant to achieve the maximum result for one political party."

★ ★ ★

Pointing to maps of the new districts, he described some districts as "twisting, worm-like weaving along precinct lines, disregarding township, county, city and even village lines."

ASSURE VOICE

He said this, counter to a portion of the historic June 15 U.S. Supreme Court decision for population districting, which says apportionment should "insure some voice to political subdivisions."

Medicare Plan Lopped Off Bill

Stalemate May Doom Social Security Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's proposal for health care of the aged was dropped today by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The committee went on to try to fashion a bill to increase the cash payments to persons retired under Social Security, but deadlocked.

Proponents of the health measure themselves moved to drop it from committee consideration, thus avoiding a vote against it.

The motion by Rep. Cecil R. King, D-Calif., coauthor of the bill to provide health care under Social Security, also ruled out consideration of any alternate plan or any improvements to the existing system of state-federal health care for the indigent.

★ ★ ★

The committee adopted it by voice vote, it was reported. The effect was to narrow committee consideration to changes in the retirement system.

ROBERT THORSON

2nd Mistrial in Murder Case

DETROIT (UPI) — The second Recorder's Court murder trial of Birmingham stock broker Robert Thorson, 32, ended today in a mistrial.

★ ★ ★

The jury told Judge Elvin L. Davenport they were unable to reach a verdict in the case. The first trial also ended in a hung jury.

Thorson is accused of the slaying of his mother-in-law, Dorothy Thomas, Dec. 4, 1962, in her Detroit home.

Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Michael Conner said Chief Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Max M. Silverman will confer with Prosecutor Samuel Olsen to determine what additional action, if any, will now be taken.

★ ★ ★

Silverman is scheduled to make a statement about future action in Davenport's court tomorrow morning.

JURY DELIBERATED

The jury deliberated all day yesterday and Judge Elvin L. Davenport refused its request to visit the scene of the slaying.

Jurors also asked to visit the scene of an accident in which Thorson, 32, a Birmingham stock salesman, was involved the day Mrs. Thomas' body was found.

'Dangerous to Health'

Label for Cigarettes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission issued a rule today requiring that by next year all cigarette labels and advertising inform the public "that cigarette smoking is dangerous to health and may cause death from cancer and other diseases."

The commission rule says that it is an unfair or deceptive practice for a manufacturer "to fail to disclose, clearly and prominently, in all advertising and on every pack, box, carton or other container in which cigarettes are sold" that smoking is a health hazard.

The commission ruled that the cigarette package labels should have this warning by Jan. 1, 1965 and that advertising should include the warning by July 1, 1965.

The commission, however, did not state the exact language that cigarette manufacturers would have to use in their advertising and labeling warnings.

★ ★ ★

In a 133-page statement that accompanied the ruling, the commission said it was leaving the individual cigarette companies and advertisers "free to formulate the required disclosure in any manner that intelligently conveys the sense of the required disclosure in a fully conspicuous fashion."

Not Fair Play—Halleck

LBJ Prod Draws Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's call to Congress to go on a six-day workweek until next month's Republican national convention brought angry protests today from GOP House leaders.

"It just isn't fair play," said Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

"This looks like an attempt by the President of the United States to sabotage the Republican convention," commented Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the GOP Platform Committee.

The committee starts its sessions in San Francisco July 6, one week before the convention opens. Many members of Congress are on the committee. Many others want to air their views before it.

COUNT ON RECESS

Republicans had counted on the House being in recess the entire week starting July 6, with the Senate holding only token sessions.

★ ★ ★

The recess outlook has dimmed because of Johnson's reported insistence that Congress enact the civil rights bill and start action on his antipoverty program before the convention.

★ ★ ★

The President said at a news conference Tuesday he wants Congress to work longer and act on about 30 "desirable" proposals before adjournment.

He prodded the legislators to give his proposals their "full attention six days a week until the Republican convention" and then return to work after the convention.

FINAL ADJOURNMENT

Leaders had planned to seek final adjournment before the Democratic convention opens in Atlantic City Aug. 24.

Johnson listed these matters as among those he wants Congress to act on:

★ ★ ★

Mass transportation, wilderness preservation, area redevelopment, education assistance, Securities Act amendments, water pollution control, foreign aid, federal aid for hospital construction, extension of the food stamp program, and pay increases for government officials and employes.

★ ★ ★

His list also included extension of the debt limit and emergency excise taxes, the international coffee agreement, aid for highway construction, interest equalization taxes on foreign investments, the antipoverty program, medical assistance for the elderly, rehabilitation of the Appalachian region, housing, nurse training assistance, immigration law revisions, land conservation, juvenile delinquency, sales of surplus food abroad and water resources research.

Another Suit Filed on Waterford Water

A resident of Lake Oakland Heights subdivision in Waterford Township yesterday filed a circuit court suit seeking to nullify a contract between the township and Oakland County for construction of a water system.

Ellis L. Nordbeck, 3780 Embarcadero, filed the citizens suit.

Circuit Court Judge Phillip Pratt set a show-cause hearing on the 25-point complaint for 1:30 p.m. July 20.

Among the complaints enumerated in the suit is that bonds for construction of the water system were issued without submission of the matter to the electorate of either the township or county.

Nordbeck, a property appraiser for the Michigan State Tax Commission, also complains in his suit that the water system will not benefit all the township's citizens equally and that it would increase his present water rate 2.28 times.

TWO OTHER SUITS

Two other suits filed by the Lake Oakland Heights subdivision group are pending in Circuit Court.

One seeks to halt construction of the proposed 750,000-gallon water tower at Main and Walton in the subdivision.

The other complains that the township ignored deed restrictions in transferring control of the existing water system to the county.

Meanwhile, a group of Lake Oakland residents have announced plans to begin circulating recall petitions this weekend aimed at three members of the township board.

A week ago residents said that Township Supervisor James Seeterlin and Trustee John Coleman would be objects of an ouster campaign.

Maynard Peters, spokesman for the group, said today that Trustee Kenneth Preston's name would also be included in the recall petition.

Peters said that Seeterlin and Coleman have shown little concern for the individual, not only on the water tower issue but on other matters.

★ ★ ★

He said that Preston was included due to his "general indifference displayed at board meetings" and because of an incident that occurred at the June 15 board meeting.

CHARGE MEMBERS

Peters referred to an accusation by one of the subdivision residents that Preston and two other newer board members failed to study the tower issue thoroughly before voting to locate it at Main and Walton.

Preston heatedly denied that he had not studied the matter thoroughly.

The contractor on the proposed tower is expected to resume work there this week.

The same contractor also is constructing a 1.5-million gallon tower at Cass Lake Road south of Pontiac Lake Road. Both towers are a part of the $7.35 million water system.

Greek Premier Sees Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Greek Premier George Papandreou flew into Washington today for the second chapter of President Johnson's personal diplomacy effort to find a solution for the Cyprus crisis.

Johnson hopes for further progress in two days of talks with the Greek leader, after gaining some encouragement in a similar two-day session with Turkey's Premier Ismet Inonu.

Johnson's goal is direct negotiations between the disputants over the strife-torn island.

Papandreou arrived by helicopter from Williamsburg, Va., where he spent the night. Landing on the ellipse south of the White House, he sped by limousine to the south lawn of the executive mansion for welcoming ceremonies with full military honors.

"We will seek to chart a course designed to promote the union and harmony of free nations who are opposed to Communist aggression," Johnson said in greeting his guest.

This Map Shows Oakland County's 10 State House Districts

Sight Gains in Legislature

County Dems Call New Districts Fair

Totaling up their gains in the latest legislative apportionment, Oakland County Democrats today called it "fair" and stood ready to defend the redrawn district lines.

Sander M. Levin, Democratic county chairman, said the new plan could give his party four of the 10 House of Representatives seats in the county plus one of the four State Senate districts.

He also listed two House districts and possibly two more in the Senate where Democrats have a fighting chance to wrest control from the Republicans.

"Now each party can express itself according to its strength," said Levin, who claimed the county's approximately 45 per cent Democratic minority would now be fairly represented.

Dem happiness over the so-called Austin-Kleiner apportionment ordered by the Michigan Supreme Court is similar to Republican elation over the now-dead Hanna plan a month ago.

LESSER GAINS

Under that plan, Levin said the Democrats would have been lucky to gain one senate seat and more than three in the House.

"Our chances are now good in House districts 66, 69, 67 and 62 and we'll have a shot at districts 61, and 63. District 60 is difficult but we would not count ourselves out.

"In the Senate races, we have a distinct edge in the 15th District, the 16th is Republican, the 17th a swing district and the 14th is Republican, but possibly Democrat."

Although Levin called the rejected Hanna plan a "real gerrymander," he denied that new legislative lines that split many cities in the county were the same thing.

"Why is it necessary for a city to have only one representative? City limits are sacred for purposes of municipal government, but why for legislative districts?

"The Republican plan had wide disparities in population. So I say, would a city rather be in two districts or underrepresented?"

Stating his view that the final apportionment was nonpartisan, Levin termed it a victory for suburban areas in gainning representation.

★ ★ ★

The new plan does not have wide population gaps between districts.

DISTRICT SIZES

Senate District 15, in the southeast corner of the county, has 205,985 residents and is the smallest.

District 14, the largest with 207,094, has 12 townships and takes in a corner of Wayne County.

Other population figures are 206,908 for Senate District 17 and 207,029 for District 16.

★ ★ ★

Among the 10 House districts, the 67th, taking in Berkley, part of Southfield and part of Oak Park and all of Royal Oak Township is smallest with 70,821.

Largest is District 65, with Bloomfield and Southfield townships, cities of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills and part of Royal Oak, with a population of 71,763.

SEES CHAOS

County Clerk-Register David Calhoun saw the new districting plan causing chaos among announced candidates, but not with his office.

"We've actually had no one file petitions as yet for the legislature. Also, a candidate can merely pay a $100 fee and avoid filing.

"But there's no question a lot of candidates are involved in districts that have been changed."

★ ★ ★

Charles L. Lyle, County Republican chairman, was unavailable for comment on the apportionment changes, but previously had strongly objected to the U.S. Supreme Court ruling which ordered states to district on a population basis.

Gunman Nets $500 in Holdup

Bandits Draw Blank at Local Restaurant

Gunmen held up a Pontiac market and a restaurant last night, escaping with over $500 from the grocery and leaving empty-handed from the other.

★ ★ ★

Shortly before 11 p.m., a lone bandit with a chrome-plated revolver entered Rudy's Market, 338 Central, and took $481 from the cash register and $45 from the wallet of the manager, Rolando Madrigal, 22, of the same address.

Madrigal; a clerk, Arthur Vegas, 21, of Detroit; and three young children were ordered to lie on the floor while the robber fled through the door.

After hearing the door shut, Madrigal ran out the front with a gun kept in the store and fired five shots at the bandit as he fled south on Sanford toward East South Boulevard.

★ ★ ★

The bandit wore a nylon stocking over his head.

SURPRISES PLUMBER

Fifteen minutes earlier, a plumber, Bill Jacks, 36, of 818 Pensacola was surprised by two gunmen who broke into the Log Cabin Restaurant, 577 Auburn, where he was working.

"This is a holdup. Drop your wrench," Jacks was told by the bandits, both wearing nylon stockings on their heads.

After explaining that the manager had just left, Jacks was forced to accompany the pair while they searched the building unsuccessfully for cash.

★ ★ ★

The robbers left without searching Jacks and without the $300 he had in his pocket.

Kennedy Says No to Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) —Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy begins a sentimental mission to Germany tonight on the heels of his announcement that he will not seek the Democratic senatorial nomination in New York.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy's brief statement yesterday on the Senate race shed no further light on his future. But it left open the door to any invitation from President Johnson to join him as vice presidential nominee on the Democratic ticket.

Thus ended long weeks of speculation whether Kennedy would accede to the urgings of New York friends and Democratic leaders, move to the Empire State and seek the nomination to run against Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating.

There was little elaboration on Kennedy's statement from the Justice Department. But two key factors emerged as most influential.

One is the civil rights picture. Final passage of the rights bill, with all of its enforcement problems, is imminent. The beginnings of the "long, hot summer" in race relations already are evident. The attorney general is the nation's top civil rights strategist.

★ ★ ★

He has committed himself to staying on the job through Johnson's present term. And his hands will be full of civil rights chores.

The second factor is his brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., whose back was broken in a plane crash last week.

Yesterday's decision threw into sharper focus Robert Kennedy's role as head of the Kennedy family since the assassination last November of his brother, President John F. Kennedy. His injured younger brother—up for reelection this fall—will add to the demands on Robert Kennedy's time. And to run in New York, he feels, would require an immediate campaign.

The attorney general will speak this Friday on the first anniversary of John F. Kennedy's stirring speech to Berliners, when he proclaimed himself one of them in spirit. Robert Kennedy will speak from the identical spot in the John F. Kennedy Square in West Berlin.

From Germany he will travel to Poland, next to London, before returning during the first week in July.

Lapeer Lake Claims Victim

LAPEER — A 21-year-old Flint man drowned yesterday afternoon while attempting to swim across Lake Minnawanna in the Metamora State Recreation Area.

Anthony D. Smith was swimming with Linda Emery, 17, of 7564 M21, Imlay City, when the drowning occurred 35 feet from shore.

Lapeer County deputies recovered the body in about 1¼ hours in 15 feet of water.

This is the second drowning this year in the recreation area lake, south of Lapeer.

Strong GOP Stand Urged by Romney

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan spent more than two hours yesterday pounding home his "platform - before - candidates" policy to Kansas and Missouri Republican convention delegates who are heavily weighted for Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The meeting was closed, but sounds of argument could be heard from the room. Several delegates said, as they left: "He didn't change my mind."

BIGGEST ISSUE

The biggest issue facing the country is the expansion of political power beyond that provided by the Constitution, Romney said.

"It is not over federal action to establish full civil rights, but rather over the rights of all people that are being usurped by the Supreme Court."

Romney was here for a two-day conference of governors on industrial problems and took the opportunity to invite the two delegations for a talk.

Lem T. Jones Sr., of Kansas City, the GOP National Committeeman from Missouri, an Richard Rodgers of Manhattan, Kan., his Kansas counterpart, were among the 30 delegates and alternates who accepted.

STRONG PLATFORM

Romney said the party platform should be strong in opposing what he called "the creation of an all-powerful federal government that violates the principles of the Constitution and the sovereignty of people."

★ ★ ★

Romney said he was pressed hard by one or two of the delegates as to whom he would support as the GOP's presidential nominee.

★ ★ ★

"I think the principles are more important than the personality," Romney said. "I'll support whomever comes closest to my views."

Will he become a candidate?

"I'm sticking by the position I took two years ago — that I would not be a candidate for national office in 1964."

Viet Cong Reveal Death of Americans

SUOI DA, South Viet Nam (AP) — Captured Viet Cong guerrillas have told interrogators that a U.S. Special Forces officer and enlisted man missing since their unit was ambushed last Friday are dead.

The body of a third American caught in the Viet Cong ambush five miles from this forward Special Forces camp was found near the battle scene Monday.

★ ★ ★

All three Americans were on patrol with a Montagnard strike force of 100 men, testing Viet Cong strength in the area after arriving to establish a base at Suoi Da.

A Viet Cong battalion hit the unit from entrenched positions, killing 47 Montagnards and scattering other patrol members.

STRONG FIGHT

However, Americans here said today the strike force apparently put up a strong fight before dispersing. Counter operations were launched immediately against the guerrillas in an attempt to find the Americans who were at first believed captured.

Macomb County Circuit Court Judge Howard R. Carroll has announced his candidacy for one of three judgeships in the 2nd District of the new Court of Appeals.

Two others in the task force, Ronald Ridenour, 24, of Venice, Calif., and Howard Kirchenbaum, 19, of Long Beach, L. I., N. Y., were held at Moss Point, Miss., today on vagrancy charges.

Authorities in that Gulf Coast county arrested the pair yesterday. Constable Hebert W. Alford quoted the two as saying they were "canvassing homes in the Negro section."

Pontiac City Affairs

Action Postponed on Appointments

City Commissioners last night deferred action on appointments to two city committees.

Appointment of a new member to the Pontiac Housing Commission was deferred one week at the request of Commissioner Emmett S. Wellbaum.

The district 7 commissioner said that he was not entirely satisfied with some of the actions of the housing commission and wanted time to read a housing report.

Action was also postponed on two appointments to the Zoning Board of Appeals.

In other business, the City Commission debated a request from K-Mart Discount Stores, Perry and Glenwood, for a carnival license.

AGREED TO FENCE

Commissioner John A. Dugan said that two years ago the owners of the K-Mart property had agreed to erect a fence around their property, separating it from the adjoining homes in the area.

Dugan said that only tentative approval should be given the license pending the erection of at least a temporary fence.

Other commissioners agreed and a conditional permit for a carnival was approved.

The low bidder, A & A Asphalt Paving Co. of Birmingham was awarded a contract last night for Pontiac's 1964 street paving program.

The firm submitted a base bid of $35,633 for the paving contract. The total bid was $39,196.

Also last night, the City Commission approved a change in the location of voting Precinct 4 from Emmanuel Christian Church to Washington Junior High School.

City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkley requested the change. She said that there no longer was space at the church for voting.

In addition, the city clerk asked that Precinct 44 be renumbered to Precinct 38. The latter precinct was eliminated when it was combined with Precinct 3.

Precinct 44 or the new 38 will be located at Mark Twain School. The renumbering was asked for because the city only has 43 voting precincts.

A public hearing was set for July 14 on the controversial rezoning of a triangular parcel of land for a parking lot for Universal Oil Seal Co.

It is the second time the rezoning proposal has reached the commission table. Previously, the City Commission returned a City Planning Commission motion to deny the rezoning, ordering a second public hearing.

Universal Oil Seal seeks to have a parcel of land bounded by Mansfield, Kennett and Hollywood rezoned from residential to commercial.

The land is bounded on two sides by residential land. Nearby home owners objected to the rezoning.

BROWN FOR CONGRESS — Democrat State Treasurer Sanford Brown held a press conference in his Lansing office yesterday to say he is running for Congress in the new 8th District. He will seek nomination to oppose Republican Rep. Jim Harvey of Saginaw in November.

School Budget, Mill Vote to Be Discussed by Board

School finances for 1964-65, including an operating budget and a fall millage election, will be among items discussed tomorrow night by the Pontiac School Board.

Final adoption of a $11,066,426 budget for 1964-65 will be recommended at the 7:30 meeting by Supt. Dana P. Whitmer.

The budget, which goes into effect July 1, will provide a 2 per cent increase over 1963-64 in the teachers' salary schedule, salary adjustments for noninstructional administrators and the director of vocational education, and a 2 per cent wage hike for operational employes.

Maintenance and Secretarial personnel reeceived a similar 2 per cent increase for 1964-65 in last year.

* * *

Other staff study items also will be reviewed by the school board in approving the proposed budget.

School board members will pass on a resolution concurring with recommendations of the Pontiac School Study Committee.

Last week, the citizens group recommended a fall millage election. The ballot proposal calls for renewal of the 8.75 mills for 10 years.

In other business, the school board will consider a name for the new Cottage Street elementary school. Three names have been selected by the school's students.

These are Robert Frost, John Newberry and Robert L. Stevenson. The students, according to Whitmer, favored naming the school after Robert Frost, New England poet.

Board members will also receive a report on the transportation of nonpublic school students.

Residents Fight Rezoning; Liquor Board Is Petitioned

ROCHESTER — Residents of Ludlow Avenue are carrying out their threat of "possible court action" made when the Rochester Council okayed rezoning property on their street for an Elks Temple.

Besides planning to take the matter to court, they have sent petitions to the Michigan Liquor Control in Lansing to head off approval of any club liquor license for the proposed lodge hall.

The controversial issue of rezoning the site across Ludlow from Avon Township Park reached a climax at a public hearing June 8.

At that time Charles Edie, 528 Ludlow, presented the case for 53 home owners who petitioned against the rezoning. The petitioners represent 82 per cent of the homes on the street.

★ ★ ★

It is this same group that have signed the petitions sent to the Liquor Control Commission.

OBJECT TO PLANS

They have objected to the Elks' plans to move from their present location on Walnut to the Ludlow site since the change was first proposed.

The present Elks Temple is near a church which precludes the organization from qualifying for a liquor license there.

The Village Council approved the rezoning from residential to office use on a split 4-3 vote after the public hearing despite the recommendation by the Regional Planning Commission that the request be denied.

During the hearing, Edie said, "The proposed building is incongruous to the residential nature of Ludlow. The moral and legal aspects require denial."

He said the residents up in arms over the "spot rezoning" claim the location of an Elks Temple on their street would be "an invitation to tragedy" for the children who use the park and Halbach Field nearby and would create worse traffic hazards than now exist.

A spokesman for the Elks, architect Robert Smitha contended at the hearing that Ludlow already is a major street and that it is already half residential, half commercial if the extension on Woodward is included.

In answer to the liquor question, Smitha said alcholic beverages would not be consumed by the general public on the premises. Consumption would be limited to members and guests.

To gain more support for their fight against the rezoning, the protesting residents are asking other citizens in sympathy with them to write letters to the Liquor Control Commission.

★ ★ ★

Edie said they also have indication of support from the Rochester League of Women Voters. An LWV representative backed the group's protest at the public hearing.

EXPECT DECISION

A positive decision on court action is expected this weekend when representatives of the homeowners meet with their attorney.

It will be determined at that time who will be defendants in the case and on what grounds, specifically, the protesters will base their stand.

New Church To Go Up In Orion Township

In Orion Township

Work to Begin on New Church

ORION TOWNSHIP—Ground breaking for the first unit building of the King of Kings Lutheran Church is slated for around the first of August.

To be erected on the five-acre site, 1715 S. Lapeer, the building will be ready for service before Christmas.

This unit will seat 126 at worship services with additional room in the chancel area for the choir and organist.

The parish hall will provide space for 120 Sunday School students or for 93 persons seated for church meals.

In addition it will contain a general office, rest rooms, storage and a small kitchen.

PARKING SPACE

Parking also will be provided for 80 cars.

The remainder of the site will be used for a family recreation area which will eventually include equipment for outdoor games and a playground.

Chairman of the building committee is Jack Filkins.

Harold Conover of the Lutheran Layman's Movement of the Lutheran Church in America spent the last 17 days directing the local fund program, now completed.

BUILDING ARCHITECT

Architect for all the buildings is James Morrison of Detroit.

The entire program for the congregation is under the guidance of the Board of American Missions and the Michigan Synod of the Lutheran Church in America.

The congregation was organized on Easter Day this year with 85 adults and 71 child members.

Presently they are worshiping in rented quarters at 216 S. Broadway.

Services for the summer are 8:30 and 10 a.m.

Their next project is a two-week vacation church school starting July 6.

★ ★ ★

Rev. James L. Wallace was installed recently as their first pastor.

Get Space for Parking in Milford

MILFORD—Businessmen here are going to get 16 of the 38 parking spaces they requested from the village.

The Village Council is ready to develop a lot on West Commerce, if it can find renters.

The lot next to the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad tracks and behind the stores on the west side of Main could provide parking for 16 vehicles.

It would be graveled and concrete parking blocks installed.

The village will not, however, develop the lot west of the Village Hall, now used by its own employes.

MERCHANT REQUEST

Merchants requested that both areas be developed. The West Commerce lot will be if they agree to rent it.

Rent for the existing Union Street lot is $200 a month, breaking down to $3.23 a space, according to Village Manager Donald Weidner.

Ford Hits Sales Mark Days Early

DETROIT (UPI)—Ford Motor Co., today credited its new sporty Mustang with the kick that boosted Ford division over the million mark in car and truck sales 10 days ahead of last year's record pace.

★ ★ ★

Ford vice-president and Ford Division manager Lee A. Iacocca announced that the 1 millionth Ford sale occurred June 18, and that through the second 10 days of June, a total of 1,017,628 new cars and trucks had been sold.

★ ★ ★

In 1963, the 1 millionth milestone was not passed until June 28.

★ ★ ★

"Although car and truck sales have been moving at a record pace all year," said Iacocca, "the new Mustang has played a major role in our reaching the 1 million sales mark so soon."

★ ★ ★

He said that during the first two months the Mustang has been on the market, which ended in mid-June, a total of 58,639 Mustangs were sold.

★ ★ ★

"This makes the Mustang one of the most successful cars ever introduced in the United States," said Iacocca.

Quarantine Put on Lyon Crop

Seek to Halt Spread of Cereal Leaf Beetle

LYON TOWNSHIP — The quarantine for cereal leaf beetle has been extended to Lyon Township.

Growers here join those in 30 southern Michigan counties and parts of Washtenaw County now under quarantine.

The intent of the restriction is to halt the spread of the beetle which also is prevalent in Indiana and Ohio, according to the State Agriculture Department.

The insect is a major destroyer of such growing cereal grains as oats, rye, barley, wheat and similar crops.

The quarantine requires an inspection certificate for the movement of anything out of the affected areas that might carry the cereal leaf beetle.

★ ★ ★

Festival Saturday in Addison Twp.

LEONARD — The Addison Township Fire Department will hold its 15th annual Strawberry Festival from 2 to 8 p.m. Saturday in the Fire Hall on Elmwood.

★ ★ ★

Proceeds from the festival will be used for a new rescue unit.

Tickets are available from any Addison Township fireman and at the door. The festival is open to the public.

Shelby Restaurant Damaged by Fire

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Fire damaged the ventilation system and roof of the S & J Drive In restaurant, 46272 Van Dyke, yesterday morning.

The blaze started when grease from a faulty deep fryer ignited and spread up the ventilator to the roof.

★ ★ ★

Damage was estimated at $1,500, according to Shelby Township Fire Chief William Schmidt.

Owner of the building is Fred Barr of 11209 Erdmann, Utica.

Results Elate Milford Teens

Seek Youth Center to Match New Name

MILFORD —The recreation-seeking teen-agers have added optimism to their enthusiasm.

So encouraged were they by response to their initial efforts, they changed their name from the Youth Council of Milford to the Milford Youth Center.

And they've put acquisition of such a center at the top of their long-range goal list.

Meanwhile, the group will keep itself busy providing summer activities for those 14 through 19 years of age.

★ ★ ★

On the agenda are a Bermuda hop and a hootenanny.

FIRST DANCE

More than 100 teen-agers attended the first dance sponsored by the group Saturday night.

Monday night the unit was recognized officially by the Village Council, which also gave it confidence and support in principle.

The teen-agers now are selling memberships in their organization. The cards being issued entitle members to lower rates for the recreational functions.

A Bermuda hop is slated for 8-11 p.m. Saturday in the multi-purpose room of Bertha Baker Elementary School.

Also being planned is a July 11 hootenanny at the school.

Church in Ortonville to Hold Smorgasbord

ORTONVILLE — A smorgasbord dinner will be held at the Ortonville Methodist Church Saturday starting at 5 p.m.

Proceeds from the event, sponsored by the official board, will go toward the building fund.

Utica Budget Lower Per Pupil

UTICA — Two factors — a steep enrollment hike and the need for austerity—determined the $4,641,000 budget of the Utica School System for 1964-65.

Although the figure is $310,000 higher than that for this year, the dollars to be spent on each student are considerably fewer.

The allotment for a secondary school student will be cut from $400 to $356 and for elementary from $238 to $217.

A projected enrollment increase of 1,500 would take the total to 11,800 next year.

★ ★ ★

Because instructional costs account for about 85 per cent of the budget, most of the cuts will be in this area, according to Schools Supt. Fred Atkinson.

LESS TEACHERS

The system will operate with eight teachers less than it had this year.

Atkinson noted there also would be a shortage of classrooms. First and second graders, he said, will be put on half-day schedules. About two-thirds of the 10th graders will remain at the junior high school.

Junior and senior high school students are to take four basic courses and one elective during a five-period day. The former six-period day allowed two electives.

★ ★ ★

This move is designed to cut the staff by one-sixth.

TRANSPORTATION CUTBACK

Youngsters living within a mile and a half of their schools will not be transported next year, Atkinson said. About 2,200 are expected in this category.

The only upgrading planned for next year is the result of a Citizens' Advisory Committee report.

A half-time position has been created for a public information director to be in charge of a newsletter and speakers bureau, and the adult education directorship has been expanded from a one-period job to a half day.

★ ★ ★

Cutbacks are a result of the defeat of a 4-mill operational levy increase and $7.5-million bond issue in January.

Present levy for operations produces about $2,050,500. It includes 8.67 mills allocated by the county and 6.68 mills extra voted.

NEWS OF THE AREA

September Target Date Set for Area Festival's Plans

ROCHESTER — September has been set as the target date for completion of organizational planning for the Art 'N' Apples Festival, general chairman Dr. John Solverson announced today.

Dr. Solverson stated this will allow a full year for plans to be put into operation before the September 1965 festival.

Rochester Village President John O'Donnell, area planning representative on the commission, said that he is to meet with festival architect Robert Smitha, Village Manager Paul York and a surveyor to examine the civic center property, site for the festival.

A topographical layout will be developed to facilitate planning for placement of exhibition tents and necessary improvements which will be made on the land.

★ ★ ★

Miss Elizabeth Hoheisel has presented an original design for use as the commission letterhead, on posters and as a symbol for all publicity.

This vertical woodcut-like design is one that incorporates a tree and apples in its modernistic details.

Among the new representatives taking part in the planning is Mrs. James Kane from St. Andrew's Catholic Church Confraternity of Christian Mothers, whose group is interested in publishing a special apple recipe cookbook for the festival.

Elect Leader for Auxiliary

Mrs. Eleanor Bednarz of Royal Oak is the newly elected president of the American Legion Auxillary to the Charles Edwards Post No. 14 of Troy and Birmingham.

Other officers recently elected are Mrs. Barry McClain, first vice president; Mrs. Marion Bibby, second vice president; Mrs. William Pitcock, secretary; and Mrs. Charles Larson, treasurer.

Condominium Tax Special

CHICAGO (AP)—The purchase of a condominium apartment qualifies the owner for special income tax treatment, according to Commerce Clearing House, specialists in tax law.

★ ★ ★

A condominium is an apartment building in which each dweller owns his own apartment space and proportionate share of the underlying realty on which the building stands.

If the purchaser itemizes his deductions on his tax return, he may deduct the interest and real estate taxes which he pays on the new apartment.

If he sells his residence and within the required year buys into a condominium, any gain on the first residence will be taxable only to the extent that the sales price of the old residence is more than the cost of the new one.

★ ★ ★

Under special laws recently enacted, condominium owners in 32 states and the District of Columbia can be assessed for property taxes.

Mistakes Patrol Car for Taxicab

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—By jove, it jolly well looked like a taxi.

A well-dressed, middle-aged Englishman, who didn't give his name, stood at the street curb and peered up the street.

A city police patrol car appeared. The Englishman ran into the street and started waving his arms frantically.

The patrol car stopped. The Englishman ran to the car, opened the rear door and sat down in the back seat.

Moments later he climbed out and the patrol car departed.

"I had called a taxi, and when I saw this car with the light on top coming down the street, I thought it was my taxi," he explained in a clipped British accent.

"I jumped in the back seat and told the driver to take me to the airport. He told me he was a policeman, not a cab driver.

"By jove—it looked like a taxicab."

Even the Reds Favor Girls

BELGRADE (AP) — The war over stewardesses on the Yugoslav railways finally ended in favor of the girls — or, at least, some of them.

A year ago the stewardesses were put on the railways, despite considerable objection from male trainmen. The men complained that the girls were late to work, missed trains, and were always getting married.

★ ★ ★

For two weeks during the controversy the stewardesses were suspended. But even the Communist party intervened in their favor, on grounds of equal rights for men and women.

The girls were taken back—that is, 20 of them were. The other 11 of the original 31 stewardesses had married in the meantime.

Call Girl Files May Blow Lid Off Capitol Scandal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The little file cards were all very businesslike with notations such as "accounts receivable" and "value received." But these cards could blow the lid off a simmering scandal in the nation's capital.

Authorities in suburban Prince Georges County, Md., disclosed yesterday that they had turned over to the FBI what appeared to be the card files of a thriving call girl ring containing nearly 2,000 names, including some congressmen and other Washington notables.

County State's Atty. Arthur Marshall said two of the files were seized by police March 11, 1963 at the scene of a stabbing in suburban Riverdale, Md. The third file was found by police at the scene of another knifing.

Authorities said the files contained the names of five men who figured in the investigation of former Senate Democratic Secretary Robert G. (Bobby) Baker.

★ ★ ★

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who has triggered the inquiry into the Baker case, has asked to see the files.

DIVORCEE INVOLVED

Marshall said Mrs. Jeanette Park, a 29-year-old divorcee from Cheverly, Md., was involved in both stabbings.

She was not prosecuted in the first case because the man she allegedly stabbed recovered and refused to press charges.

She pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the second stabbing and is now awaiting sentence.

★ ★ ★

Marshall said the files were replete with extensive details about contracts and financial arrangements and included the names of three Major League baseball players who allegedly were introduced to call girls by a Washington gambler.

The file cards listed in alphabetical order hundreds of businessmen, state and federal officials, politicians, attorneys and union officials. They also contained the names of 90 women, procurers and madams.

One section of the files contains the names of 24 Phoenix, Ariz. businessmen together with call girls, hotels and night clubs.

It was not known what connection Phoenix had with the ring.

★ ★ ★

Marshall said authorities were convinced the files were not phony. The FBI refuses to comment on them.

Exchange 'Experiment' Far-Reaching Project

By the end of 1964, some 2,300 American college and high school students and laymen will have visited 40 countries around the world, and 2,700 counterparts from 85 countries will have come to the United States.

At the same time, exchanges between countries other than the U. S. will involve hundreds more students. All told, 29,000 people on six continents participate annually in the program.

★ ★ ★

This international flow of the world's peoples is the outgrowth of the establishment in 1932 of the "Experiment in International Living." A nonprofit organization, its aim was directed toward global, cross-cultural experience.

Although the agency has long since ceased to be an "experiment," it is just that for the exchangees—giving them an opportunity to live for a few weeks or months in a typical household in a foreign land as a member of a native family.

★ ★ ★

Most praiseworthy is the concept of this movement, reaching as it does to the grass roots of divergent nationalities in seeking common understanding and development of good will.

The measure of its success is shown not only by its growth in America but by the fact that it has been adopted by so many other nations.

Among the many honorary posts held by her was the presidency of the Pontiac Federation of Women's Clubs and the vice presidency of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Auxiliary, for which she directed several fund-raising campaigns.

MRS. DAVIDSON'S graciousness and deep interest in all who came within her sphere had won her a host of friends who will deeply mourn the passing of this sterling and selfless personality.

U.S. Businesses Want Less Paper Work

A questionnaire that businessmen uncomplainingly filled out was one submitted by the National Federation of Independent Business, Inc. It dealt with the staggering amount of governmental paper work required in the conduct of commercial enterprises.

★ ★ ★

Of 19,681 respondents, 13,937 ask that the number of reports on tax matters be reduced, 13,766 ask for a reduction in the reports necessary for business census compilations, 10,747 call for relief from the returns required by the Department of Labor.

The survey was initiated on request of Rep. ARNOLD OLSEN, chairman of the Subcommittee on Census and Governmental Statistics of the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service. (The very title of this Congressional committee points up the relevancy of business' gripes.)

A spot check of the inquiry indicates that in medium-sized and smaller operations, meeting paper-work demands, both Federal and state, consumes a high proportion of the office-working hours of the businesses.

Just another doggone example, we'd say, of the mail wagging the dog.

High Court Term Briefly Reviewed

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court, undeterred by criticism that it is pushing too far too fast and usurping power, has finished another jammed year deciding cases from civil rights and communism to reapportionment.

MARLOW

It continued to assert its concern for civil liberties — protection of the individual from the power of the state. It handled labor problems and many cases which may seem minor to the general public but took time, work and thought.

Near the end of last year's term the court blew up a storm by banning any required reading of the Bible and the Lord's Prayer in public schools. Attempts were made in Congress this year to undo that decision.

But these attempts — to produce a constitutional amendment permitting the reading of the prayer and the Bible —have failed so far and will probably fail totally.

Again this year, one week before it finished up Monday, the court gave perhaps its most far-reaching opinion in years, one which will surely shake the foundations of the old political machines as they haven't been in generations.

★ ★ ★

This ruling — it may affect practically all 50 states — instructed them to overhaul their legislatures by reapportioning their election districts more equally by population to carry out this philosophy: "one voter, one vote."

ANCIENT METHOD

The court said the seats in both houses of state legislatures must be reapportioned to get away from the present, ancient districting in which a relatively small number of people in one district can elect one legislator while four times as many squeezed into a single district elsewhere can elect only one.

Earlier this year the court said similar reapportionment must be worked out by the state in electing representatives to Congress. This does not touch the arrangement for senators which is based on the Constitution and is unrelated to population: each state is entitled to two senators elected by the whole state.

The court began to move into this problem of reapportionment in 1962, but this year's actions were the climax.

The court made a ruling which affected Communists favorably. But it was in effect an expression of the court's concern that individuals be protected by the Fifth Amendment's guarantee that no one shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

IDEA PURSUED

In pursuance of this the court ruled unconstitutional a section of the Subversive Activities Control Act that denied passports to members of officially designated Communist organizations.

Two weeks ago the Communist party gained another round in its 14-year-old legal battle against registering as an instrument of world communism.

The court refused to review, and thus let stand, a lower U.S. court decision of last Dec. 17 which reversed on technical grounds a $120,000 fine against the party for failure to submit details of its membership and finances.

The court was loaded down with racial and civil rights problems this term.

There was a lot more than this in the term just ended.

David Lawrence Says:

Vote Rule Could Apply to Senate

WASHINGTON — Maybe if the ruling just announced by the Supreme Court of the United States — providing for "one person, one vote" — is applied to the federal government, the Senate of the United States some day may be composed of 624 senators.

LAWRENCE

The Supreme Court says that population must be the basis for apportionment of state legislatures, but defends the present imbalance in the National Congress as "traditional."

Yet traditions aren't always maintained, and the Supreme Court in many decisions has frequently taken the liberty of adjusting them to "the spirit of the times."

Applying the concept of "one person, one vote" it would be relatively easy for the Supreme Court to rewrite Article I of the Constitution, which provides for two senators for each state.

The language could be interpreted by the high court to mean that, while the Constitution intended each state to have not less than two senators, this doesn't prevent a state from having more senators, especially if population is taken as the yardstick.

LEAST POPULOUS

Under the 1960 census, there is an average of about 300,000 population in the four least populous states — Alaska, Vermont, Wyoming and Nevada.

If one additional senator is granted in all the other states for every 300,000 of population above the initial 300,000, there would be a total of 624 senators.

A simple majority of the Senate would then be controlled by 313 votes, which could come from only 10 states — namely, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Nevada, Texas, California and Pennsylvania.

A two-thirds vote of a Senate made up in this way could be obtained by the votes of only 18 states.

The principle back of such an imbalance is recognized by the Supreme Court in its recent ruling on how the districts in the various state legislatures shall be composed.

The court's theory is that population was the only basis on which the representative system was inauguarated.

It is difficult to see, however, how the Supreme Court can continue to apply the rule to state legislatures without some day feeling obliged to do the same with respect to Congress.

The court has relied on the doctrine that citizens must have "equal protection of the laws," and that the apportionment must be on the basis of the actual number of voters so that the formula of "one person, one vote" is made effective.

The court went on to say, in connection with state apportionments, that it could "perceive no constitutional difference, with respect to the geographical distribution of state legislative representation, between the two houses of a bicameral state legislature."

It added that the concept of a two-house system is not rendered meaningless because population is used as the predominant basis of representation.

The court added:

"Different constituencies can be represented in the two houses. One body could be composed of single-member districts while the other could have at least some multimember districts."

This suggestion could just as readily be applied to Congress.

The lower house could continue to have more members, and the Senate could be composed of either 624 members or even more, depending upon what basic unit of population would be considered adequate for each state.

Red China Has the Word: U.S. to Fight for SE Asia

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The Communists now have the word of President Johnson himself that the United States is willing to risk war with Red China to defend Southeast Asia.

NEWSOM

The President's tough words came in the midst of his announcement of the resignation of Henry Cabot Lodge, who had served as ambassador to South Viet Nam since last August, and his replacement by career soldier, four-star Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

The President's announcement followed a weekend in which several high ranking U.S. spokesmen went out of their way to make crystal clear to the Chinese and North Vietnamese Reds the U. S. position.

★ ★ ★

In recent days, warnings of U. S. determination also were believed delivered to the Red Chinese by President Charles de Gaulle of France, by the British in Peking and to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev by Danish Premier Jens Otto Krag during the former's visit to Denmark.

At root cause of the U. S. action is the failure of neutrality to work in Laos, the increasing fears of Thailand and the stepped up activities of the Communist Viet Cong in South Viet Nam as they attempted to take advantage of the country's unstable political atmosphere.

The strong U.S. warnings eliminate any possibility of a misunderstanding such as many believe existed just prior to the war in Korea.

OTHER INFLUENCES

Possibly also influencing the administration to restate its position at this time is an indication that Moscow has disavowed itself from any connection with whatever adventure the Chinese may be tempted to undertake in Southeast Asia.

A Pravda dispatch last week warned the Red Chinese they could not automatically count on Soviet support in a world conflict.

Recents U.S. reconnaissance photographs showed large convoys of Communist troops and supplies moving into the Plaine des Jarres region from North Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Red Chinese publications and broadcasts of recent days, while short of threatening actual intervention in Laos or South Viet Nam, have seemed to be preparing the Chinese people for possible grave decisions.

With the resignation of Lodge, the United States now is fielding a new team in South Viet Nam, and the indications are that the hard line instituted by Lodge now will be pushed with even greater vigor.

How many lives must be lost before this engineering mistake is corrected? I nearly drove into the island and am convinced it was because an optical illusion is created by old and new pavement.

★ ★ ★

Regardless of the new lines drawn over old pavement, the new cement causes a light and dark pattern which one automatically follows—to destruction if not realized soon enough.

I pray this is checked before more fatalities or accidents occur.

Remarks on Editorial on Redistricting

The Press belaboured the Supreme Court in an editorial and it smacks of Birch tactics.

It's just a nice way to wear slowly away our form of government. You cry about Michigan's election problems. Groesbeck was the only governor to get redistricting in fifty years—and he had to bump some ancient heads hard. The "power" in Lansing wants no change—such as redistricting. The Press says the court was slow. I agree. It was fifty years slow.

Federal Payroll

The Spokesman-Review

The House of Representatives reversed itself and approved a bill providing for a $535 million annual pay raise for federal employes and executives, including a $7,500 salary boost for its own members. Some reports from Washington have indicated that the measure will be amended to give senators and congressmen a raise of $10,000 over their present salary of $22,500.

★ ★ ★

The two representatives in Congress from Eastern Washington — Walt Horan and Catherine May, both Republicans — have been recorded against this pay raise for themselves. Mr. Horan voted "No" when the call was taken and Mrs. May was "paired" against the increase bill.

★ ★ ★

While any salary change is usually looked upon in terms of the individual to be affected, it is well to consider what the total situation is, with respect to federal civilian employment in recent years. Most employes, of course, work for the executive agencies—the departments and bureaus — rather than the legislative branch, whose payroll costs are relatively modest in comparison.

★ ★ ★

Some interesting figures in this regard were recently released by the federal Civil Service Commission. They show how total civilian employment has changed and how the total payroll has jumped within the last 15 years.

Except for the latest 1963 figure, the sampling here reflects the federal payroll situation in the recent post-war presidential election years:

	Civilian Employment (Millions)	Civilian Payroll (Billions)
1948	2.0	$ 5.7
1952	2.6	9.6
1956	2.3	10.5
1960	2.3	12.7
1963	2.5	15.4

★ ★ ★

It should be noted that between the time when Harry S. Truman was elected President in 1948, through the Eisenhower years and until the Johnson administration, total federal civilian payroll costs have almost tripled. This is not to say that pay raises should not be granted in the positions where federal employes have been underpaid and where the effects of inflation have been felt.

★ ★ ★

Merely noted here is the simple fact that there are about 500,000 more persons on the federal civilian payroll now than when President Truman made his phenomenal race in 1948, and that the taxpayers are being assessed almost $10 billion a year more to pay for this employment jump in the federal bureaucracies.

Mississippi Acts to Avert Racial Violence

SPECIAL REPORT

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Hit by violent racial outbreaks last summer, Mississippi officials have developed new techniques to meet a summer invasion of nearly 1,000 civil rights workers now under way. Here's a look at the changes, which the state hopes will avoid violence. Second of two parts.)

By DUDLEY LEHEW

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—While white citizens wait nervously for an increase in civil rights activity this summer, Mississippi officials have armed themselves with new laws and techniques aimed at averting violence.

Up until a few months ago, demonstrators usually were arrested the minute they appeared on the streets. In Jackson alone last summer more than 1,000 arrests were made.

But a new approach appeared this winter, inaugurated in Hattiesburg — let the demonstrators have policed freedom of movement.

The lack of attention, police theorized, would wear thin the ranks of the participants.

PLAN FOLLOWED

In Hattiesburg, Canton, Greenwood and Clarksdale this plan was followed. Now only a few persons are still demonstrating in any form.

The state legislature, however, has added new laws, for use if needed.

★ ★ ★

And since it was called back into special session June 23 to deal with state-aided private schools, more laws could be added if trouble appears likely.

★ ★ ★

The biggest legal change, sought by Gov. Paul Johnson, added 200 men to the Mississippi Highway Patrol and gave the former traffic control agency police powers to be used only by proclamation in the event of racial disorders.

Another new statute, now facing a court test, prohibits picketing near entrances to government buildings. Several demonstrators were arrested under this law in Hattiesburg during a recent "Freedom Day" mass voter registration drive.

★ ★ ★

Johnson signed a law permitting cities to enter into mutual assistance pacts in times of racial duress in order for law enforcement agencies to marshal forces.

★ ★ ★

Some cities have entered into such pacts with Jackson because of its big police force and riot control techniques and equipment.

Other new laws permit cities to restrain movements of groups, set up curfews, ban the circulation of boycott literature and increase penalties for violating city ordinances to a maximum of 90 days in jail and $300 fines.

"PENS" AVAILABLE

The state penitentiary can now be used by cities and counties when local jails prove inadequate for large numbers.

★ ★ ★

Another side of the resistance coin is the secretive Ku Klux Klan.

Weekend cross burnings have dotted the state in the past few weeks apparently showing a highly organized segregationist group. Thus far, however, there have been no incidents or violence involving the Klan and Negroes, or civil rights workers.

★ ★ ★

Mississippi officials have been asking militant white groups to let authorities handle race relation problems, an appeal which has drawn newspaper editorial support.

The world's population is expected to increase from an estimated three billion this year to six billion by 1994.

Coffee Break Ends in Freak Air Death

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Capt. Richard Carroll picked up the coffee pot and left the cockpit of the sleek B52, walking back through the giant jet hurtling through the north Texas sky at 33,000 feet.

Carroll, father of four children and navigator of the plane, was taking the coffee back to other members of the crew.

Parachutes, required of all crew members of Strategic Air Command (SAC) crews, are cumbersome to wear, and Carroll had left his in his seat.

He stopped for a moment alongside a hatch in the plane when suddenly the pressure system on the craft failed. The hatch blew off and Carroll was sucked out.

★ ★ ★

The other five crewmen of the plane, attached to SAC's 494th bomb wing at Sheppard Air Force Base just outside Wichita Falls, brought it down to a lower altitude and landed safely at the field after circling to use up fuel.

SEARCH PLANES

Search planes and helicopters fanned out over the area of the mishap. They found Carroll's body late in the day in a brushy area near farm road 407 northeast of the city.

Debris, including the coffee pot Carroll was holding, was scattered over a wide area.

★ ★ ★

An Air Force spokesman said a computer, which had been fed information, helped searchers find the body.

Carroll was a native of Hartford, Conn.

Roy Wilkins Blasts Negro Hoodlums

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, says teen-age Negro hoodlums "are undercutting gains made by hundreds of Negro and white youngsters who went to jail for human rights."

Writing in the Amsterdam News, a Negro weekly newspaper, Wilkins said Negro youths involved in recent outbreaks of violence in New York City are "punks," "foul-mouthed smart alecs," and "Harlem and Brooklyn morons."

Blacky Crow Is Suspected in House Blaze

LIBERAL, Kan. (AP) — Fire broke out above the ceiling of a porch at Mrs. J. M. Ragland's rooming house.

Blacky, a big crow that is a neighborhood pet, perched on the roof and watched firemen put out the blaze.

★ ★ ★

Firemen could find no reasonable cause of the fire, so they arrived at this guess:

Blacky had picked up a lighted cigarette or cigar and dropped it into a crack of the porch roof.

16 States Get Funds for Education Research

WASHINGTON (AP)—Allocation of $999,739 in 16 states for research on better ways of educating handicapped children was announced today by the U. S. Office of Education.

The funds, authorized by Congress last year, are for projects to help the blind, deaf, mentally retarded and those with speech and emotional problems. Michigan is to receive $379,459.

Step on it!

Isle Gets Men, Money From Them

Reds Don't Alarm Zanzibar's President

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — SPECIAL REPORT

ZANZIBAR (AP)—The Soviet Union, Communist China and East Germany are pumping men, money and machines into Zanzibar.

President Julius Nyerere of the new Republic of Tanganyika and Zanzibar is trying to assert his authority in the island 25 miles off the East African mainland.

★ ★ ★

Zanzibar's own president, Abeid Karume, 59, a Moslem, probably has no deep love of communism. But the island leader, a seaman for 22 years, seems unversed in the ways of Communist infiltration.

Karume is the idol of the Zanzibar Africans and the island's most powerful single personality.

Asked this month about Communists in positions of authority in Zanzibar, he replied: "What are one or two men? I have the power and I have my own eyes and ears."

Karume cites generous Communist aid as an indication of the bloc's friendship and says anyone who helps Zanzibar is welcome.

Some 150 technicians and experts from the Communist bloc are believed to be working in Zanzibar.

British civil servants have been replaced. East Germans have taken over the Finance Ministry and are helping run the radio station, information ministry, schools and medical services. They are doing preliminary work on projects to rehouse thousands of Africans huddled in squalid shanties outside Zanziboc town.

The Red Chinese are firmly ensconced in the agriculture department and are planning rice growing and other farm schemes to reduce the island's dependence.

China has granted Zanzibar an interest-free loan of $14 million, much of which will be in the form of equipment and services.

Soviet technicians have taken over running of the harbor and providing officers for Zanzibar's two coastal passenger ships. Soviet instructors are training about 400 recruits in the people's liberation army in the use of their new Soviet equipment.

Some of this was displayed at the big May Day parade, "but you didn't see all of it," says Maj. Ali Mahfoud, the army's Havana-indoctrinated second in command.

GO EAST

The army largely is officered by Zanzibaris of Arab origin and small groups have been sent behind the Iron Curtain for further training. Other Zanzibari troops reportedly are being sent to Indonesia.

★ ★ ★

As a result of Nyerere's influence, Zanzibari troops have discarded their Cuban-style caps and uniforms and now wear the standard green berets and uniforms of the Tanganyika forces.

Communist literature is everywhere. The Soviet Embassy hands it out to school children. The works of Mao Tze-tung crowd bookshops.

★ ★ ★

The United States embassy has also been permitted to reopen its reading room since Zanzibar and Tanganyika agreed to unite.

LITTLE STALIN

Karume has not been to Zanzibar's twin island of Pemba since he became president after the January revolution overthrew an Arab-dominated government. Area Commissioner Diria Hassan is ruling the island like a little Stalin.

Reports from Pemba have mentioned mass beatings following a refusal by the populace to take part in voluntary projects and or to attend meetings. When Hassan and his aides drive past, all must stand and salute.

★ ★ ★

Deputations have seen Karume to complain of conditions on Pemba and he says he plans to remedy the situation.

Western diplomats are hopeful Karume's African nationalism may come out on top and that Western presence may slowly be reestablished.

Judge Suing Hilton Hotels for $3 Million

DETROIT (AP)—A Michigan judge who staged a sit-in with his family at a New York hotel last week has brought a $3 million suit against Hilton Hotel Corp.

Municipal Court Judge John J. Kadela of suburban Dearborn, his wife and their four children had to stay in a private dining room at the Statler-Hilton Hotel for 24 hours until a room was found for them.

Hotel rooms in New York City have been difficult to obtain because of the influx of World's Fair visitors. The Kadelas were among the fair-bound tourists.

In his suit filed Tuesday, Kadela asked that the $3 million be put in trust for all the minor children of Michigan who might receive similar treatment from the hotel firm. He asked that he be named their guardian.

OWN DAMAGES

Kadela asked $1 in damages for himself.

He asserted in his suit that his minor children were "subjected to the insecurity and harassment occasioned" by the hotel's failure to provide a room.

Erie Ports Council Elects New Officers

DETROIT (AP)—Herbert H. Lederer of Cleveland, Ohio, was elected president Tuesday of the Council of Lake Erie Ports. He succeeds Sherwood L. Hamilton, director of the Port of Monroe, Mich.

Andrew J. Fleming, director of the Detroit and Wayne County Port Commission, was elected vicep resident; Anthony V. Leanza of Cleveland, general counsel, and Arthur W. Todd of Cleveland, secretary-treasurer.

Births at Hospitals Aren't Without Risks

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

"Our first two children were born at home," writes a lady from the Deep South. "I didn't have a bit of trouble and the babies got along wonderfully well.

"By the time the third baby arrived, the doctors here had all made some sort of deal with a hospital and refused to attend confinement at home, saying in case of hemorrhage or other emergency they could take much better care of you in the hospital.

"My husband with me at the time our baby would be born? Out of the question. Neither a husband nor anyone else than doctor or nurse is allowed in the 'sterile' delivery room.

"My two hospital babies came home with thrush (sore mouth) and sniffles and coughs, which we certainly did not have with our home delivery babies.

★ ★ ★

"Hospital delivery cost for each baby over $200.

COST $70

"Home delivery for each baby cost about $70.

"In the hospital I had to wait on the nurses' pleasure or convenience for everything.

"At home I did pretty much as I darned pleased.

★ ★ ★

"Please keep hammering away (your own expression, and it is just so) at it, Dr. Brady. I'm sure your teachings are far more effective than you seem to realize." (Mrs. F. C. E.)

SALES TALK

That sales talk about treatment of hemorrhage or other emergency is far-fetched. It is conceivable that some rare emergency might be better treated in hospital than at home, but that remote risk is far outweighed by the real danger of infection of mother and/or baby in the hospital. Especially in the plate glass show window where the 19th Century hospital huddles newborn infants together, any infection one infant has is easily transferred to other infants.

The pretext that presence of the husband might contaminate the "sterile" environment of the delivery room is sheer hooey, in view of the familiar disregard of aspesis by doctors, nurses, and other attendants or visitors who come and go as they please.

Whenever correspondents quote this one, I am reminded of the trick played on a gullible customer by a hospital in the Northwest.

In this instance the waiting husband was persuaded to go home (30 miles away), assured that there would be plenty of time and they'd telephone him when the time came.

NO CONSENT

As soon as the poor soul was out of the way the entire class of student nurses filed in and without consent of the patient or her husband each in turn made an examination.

I don't know whether the hospital would be liable for such a violation of a patient's privacy or whether a non-pay patient in hospital or clinic automatically consents to be examined and treated before students, I do know that the chance of infection, (puerperal septicemia, childbed fever, blood poisoning) was multiplied by the number of persons who examined the woman digitally in the course of labor.

This is not a pretty story, but I am repeating it in retaliation for the lie about the husband bringing infection into the environment and fainting all over the place.

Any comments?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Many have asked me what belly breathing is. I think I know, but if you could explain it . . . (Mrs. W.R.G.)

Ans.—Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for my free pamphlet, "Belly Breathing." I thank you, Ma'am, for not changing the name.

Kentucky reader sends a clipping of a physician's newspaper statement that a "balanced diet that included protein, milk, green vegetables, some cereals, fat or butter and some fresh fruits gives you all the vitamins, minerals and other "supplements" you need.

★ ★ ★

Comment —It is reminiscent of the familiar advice that the diet should be "nourishing but easily digestible." Why doesn't the physician give few days' menus, showing how much of what will give you all the vitamins, minerals and other supplements?

I had the ambulant treatment and it was most successful. No more hemorrhoids! The kindly doctor who treated me asked why I chose the treatment rather than the operation. I told him mainly because you recommend it . . . (H. J. G.)

★ ★ ★

Ans. — It is the treatment I'd prefer if I had hemorrhoids (piles). Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for the free pamphlet "You Need Not Suffer from Piles."

Boy, 14, very bright, a bedwetter. (M.A.)

Ans.—Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet on the bed-wetting habit. Be s the doctor tests the urine for sugar.

Ferndale Man Mute in Homicide Case

Charged with negligent homicide in the auto death of an Avon Township woman, a Ferndale motorist stood mute on arraignment in Circuit Court Monday.

Released on $500 bond was Arthur H. Smith, 47, of 614 E. Breckinridge, Ferndale. No trial date was set by Judge Arthur E. Moore.

★ ★ ★

Smith is accused of pulling in front of a car driven by Mrs. Charles Aldrich, 49, of 919 Tienken, on Rochester Road at Lovell. She died shortly after the accident, on May 20.

LAGRANGE, Ky. (AP)—Farmer H. H. McWilliams let the South Oldham County Volunteer Fire Department get some practice while he burned down an old barn on a site he planned to build a new one. But he had to calm the enthusiasm of some rookies because two or three times they almost put out the fire.

It's Hunt Fair Fun Time

Pontiac Press Photos by Edward R. Noble

For the third successive year Mrs. L. L. (Daisy) Colbert of Bloomfield Hills is running a lemonade stand at the Detroit Horse Show. Shown tying down daisy decorations on her booth near the ring, Mrs. Colbert puts in long hours to help raise money for Oakland University scholarships.

Two of the younger riders at the Detroit Horse Show are Katie Monahan, 10, (left), the daughter of the James B. Monahans, Bloomfield Hills, on Tina; and Blyth Davis, also 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Davis, Lakecrest, Bloomfield Township, on How About That. Both have been riding for at least four years. Katie is the youngest rider ever to qualify in both the medal and horsemanship classes at Madison Square Garden.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

Riders of all ages in formal riding attire . . . the day was hot, but only the spectators complained.

★ ★ ★

Wind whipped the big tent housing the Hunt Fair at the 49th Detroit Horse Show out at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

This is the third year that the scholarship committee of Oakland University has sponsored a bazaar during the country's largest horse show.

Mrs. Ralph T. Norvell and Mrs. Harold Howlett, cochairmen, were everywhere Tuesday helping volunteers in the numerous booths. Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson is honorary chairman.

FUN FOR ALL

There's fun at the horse show for every age.

For the horsey set there is constant activity in one ring or another.

For the children there are games, cotton candy and popcorn.

For everyone there is the Hunt Fair tent.

★ ★ ★

Here are booths manned by area commercial establishments. These usually sell the boutique type article.

The "scholarshop" offers sweaters knit by local women who have worked for months on the project. In this booth are also other handmade items and hats of all kinds.

JUNK OR TREASURE?

Trinkets and Treasures booth presents a conglomeration of items collected at winter teas in homes of area women.

Food is offered all day long.

Two huge tents house exhibits of late model cars from General Motors and Ford.

Seventy-five per cent of the ticket revenue from the horse show goes to Oakland University's scholarship fund. During the past year this has aided about 200 students. The goal for 1964-65 is $100,000.

ADMISSION

Tickets which are $1 for adults, 50 cents for children, admit holders to all events on the Hunt Club grounds for that day.

Profits from the Hunt Fair also contribute to the OU scholarship fund.

The horse show continues through Sunday, but the Hunt Fair concludes on Saturday.

Mrs. Louise Hanson, exhibitor from Lou-Don farms, Hickory Corners, has no trouble keeping her toy poodle, Heidi, under control. Heidi sits contentedly in her own wicker basket, even while her mistress enjoys lunch.

Astride stick hobby horses from the Hunt Fair booth sponsored by the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, these preschoolers imitate older girls in the background riding ring. Carolyn, 3½, (left) and Laura, 4½, are the daughters of the Warren Packards, Beach Road, Troy.

Wears Bra Plowing

Halter Won't Halt Her

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We live on a farm and my sister, who is in her 40's, does the farm work.

ABBY

She wears jeans and a blouse and rides on a tractor to work. When it gets hot, she sheds her blouse and works in her bra.

She is of a slight build, and has little for anyone to see, but all the same, when my parents, and brothers and sisters-in-law meet her out-of-doors dressed like that they blow their stacks.

She says it's no different than being on the beach in a swim suit.

Lots of strangers come by our place, but she says it's our property and if they don't like what they see they don't have to look.

Who is right? And how do you handle a situation like this?

SLIPPERY ROCK

★ ★ ★

DEAR SLIPPERY: A "bra" is an undergarment and should not be worn as an outer garment.

There are halters for that purpose. In my opinion, your sister should wear halters.

However, a 40-year-old woman who drives a tractor is not interested in a lecture from me (OR from you) on propriety and fashion.

Be realistic and give up.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am stupid, but I don't know where else to get this information.

When living in a rented house, who is supposed to take down the storm windows and put up the screens?

INTERESTED PARTY

★ ★ ★

DEAR INTERESTED: Unless it is specifically stated in the contract, the owner assumes that responsibility. (Are you trying to pass the buck or save one?)

CONFIDENTIAL TO MADAME L'O: Do not assume that, because a man boasts that in all his life he has never smoked a cigarette or tasted whisky, he has not done worse.

★ ★ ★

Some thirty members attended the affair, along with two charter members, Mrs. Emil Mailahn and Mrs. Kinsler. Honorary member Faye Donelson was also present.

Old Road Maps Have New Routes

Looking for an unusual touch for your den? Old road maps make lampshades or wall decorations. Maps fascinate everybody — men, women and children—and therefore make pleasant material for decoration.

While antique lamps on parchment paper may cost hundreds or thousands of dollars, less expensive maps can be used freely with distinctive results.

Perspiration Stains

The fresher a perspiration stain is on a garment the better your chance of removing it. Never press a garment that is even lightly stained, for this may set the stain.

Job Offers Variety of Opportunity

Michigan home economics week this year coincides with the national convention of the American Home Economics Association in Detroit. You'll probably not find any local home economists in their offices or homes this week.

Home economics offers a wide range of job opportunities to graduates.

Girls who have completed the four-year course can take their choice of teaching, hospital work, food testing, extension work, research, or any number of jobs in industry and business.

LOCALITE

Typical is Barbara Zimmerman of Consumers Power Company. Barbara is senior home service adviser.

A graduate of Wayne State University with a BA degree in home economics journalism Barbara has been with the local utility company for three years.

★ ★ ★

She came as assistant to Mary Jackson, was transferred to East Detroit as head of the home service department there and returned to Pontiac after a year when Miss Jackson left the company.

With one assistant, also a "home ec" graduate, Barbara gives cooking demonstrations in the Consumers Power auditorium and in outside locations.

HELPS TEACHERS

She helps home economics teachers with range, lighting and laundry equipment demonstrations.

She does kitchen planning with students and adults and works with home builders.

She goes out on home calls to Consumers customers.

In the summer she does recipe development and testing.

★ ★ ★

This week she's going to the AHEA convention in Detroit.

Those Lacy Tops Are Washable

Many women have come to enjoy the sleeping comfort of nightgowns made with bra-tops of molded lace.

Even the most delicate-looking of these lacy gowns are machine-washable — and many are also drip-dryable.

Pamper Feet That Support You

By JEANMARIE ELKINS

Are your soles going to be bared this summer — for all to see?

Most likely they are, if you are the outdoor type. And even of you're not, those sandals and sling pumps which are made to keep feet cool in hot weather are revealing.

If you have neglected your feet for the past seven months there is nothing you can do to make them look devastating for that beach party tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Beauty miracles do not happen overnight.

If your feet are not fit for public surveillance, run, don't walk to the nearest cosmetic counter for a few preparations.

You'll need a pumice stone, a cream or lotion for softening the skin and possibly one of the new products for athlete's foot or other summer itching.

An extra might be one of the products designed to keep your feet cool.

Many of the newer products come in plastic spray bottles (including the powders) and some can even be sprayed through nylons without damaging the hose.

★ ★ A

A pedicure is a must.

The ideal time for a pedicure is immediately after a bath. Feet are clean and cuticle is already softened. If this is not a convenient time, be sure to rinse feet in a solution of alcohol and witch hazel before beginning the pedicure.

Then dry thoroughly.

STRAIGHT ACROSS

File the toenails straight across, never round them at the sides. Smooth them so they are snag proof.

Follow your regular manicure procedure for applying cuticle oil, pushing back the cuticle, massaging and washing.

Dry your feet and sprinkle with foot powder.

★ ★

Slip a rolled piece of cotton between each toe and stroke on base, two coats of polish and top coat.

Relax and take a short rest while the polish dries.

General good health practices for your feet will lessen the chances for an uncomfortable summer.

BATHE AND POWDER

Bathe feet daily. After the bath sprinkle powder on feet and in shoes and hosiery.

Wear shoes that are roomy and flexible leather at the toes.

Prevent foot infections by not walking barefoot on floors or pavements.

★ ★ ★

Have feet examined yearly by a podiatrist or chiropodist.

Those human propellers — your feet, are not only going to be showing this summer, but for many summers to come.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice:

So many jackets and dresses have lapels right now, and they are usually buttoned so low, I never know how to fill in the neckline. One can always wear the proverbial pearls, but sometimes the neckline is cut too low for these. Any answers?

Mrs. M. M. E.

Dear Mrs. M. M. E.:

A clever filler for this type of neckline can pep up your garment and serve as a delightful contrast and accessory. Make your dickey out of a fairly large square, completely finished on all edges. Make several, one out of lace, one in a contrasting color, one braid-trimmed, or whatever.

★ ★ ★

Position it while you have your garment on, and mark the correct place for the snaps you will place on each end of the dickey at the top. You will place the other half of your snap inside your garment, and in a mere matter of seconds, you can change the entire look.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

I finally found a way to anchor (inconspicuously) the belt to the skirt or dress. Just attach a small piece of Velcro to the back of the belt, and another small piece to the right side of your garment, at the spot where you want the belt to stay. Peace of mind!

Mrs. Grady Dalton, Richlands, Virginia, is this week's winner of our Tailor Trix Pressing Board for this suggestion.

Dear Eunice:

Necessity is sure the mother of invention! My daughter broke her arm early this spring, just before some of the most important dances of the year.

At first we all cried for her, then decided to make the best of the situation and in a joking mood, decided to slipcover her cast.

We made matching covers that fitted perfectly, closing them with a zipper for an extra close fit.

She was the center of attention, and what could have been a sad catastrophe turned out to be the highlight of the dance. This has proved to me again that instead of giving up, there is always an answer!

Your faithful reader

Dear Eunice: There is no sewing center within miles of our little town, so I am using my limited amount of knowledge to help some young girls learn to sew. I understand two of them are left-handed. Can I possibly teach them?

Mrs. R. T.

Dear Mrs. R. T.:

I have often had left-handed women in my classes and find out that they are used to adapting themselves in this right-handed world. I always have them sit directly across from me and they can see the correct position for holding fabric, etc.

★ ★ ★

From here on out they are on their own. I'm so proud of you for taking your time for this project (I know the girls are excited about it) and I only hope the other mothers remember to give you a big vote of thanks.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY: back-stitch. When I use the term, I refer to back-tacking or double machine stitching for the last few stitches to keep the stitch from pulling out. This is usually not necessary at the beginning and end of a seam if your tension has been adjusted perfectly.

Do you have questions about sewing? If you do, send for my booklet which answers 20 of your questions. To obtain your copy send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for "Twenty Questions" to Sew Simple in care of The Pontiac Press.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Drake of Mark Avenue today celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. The couple, married in Durand, has one daughter, Mrs. Robert B. Cameron of Saginaw and three grandchildren, Dr. H. Don Cameron and Glenna Cameron of Ann Arbor and Charlene Cameron of Saginaw.

Three Area Couples Hear Wedding Bells

Rawlings-Perrier

St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Camille Maureen Perrier and William George Rawlings. Rev. Herbert Mansfield performed the ceremony.

Parents of the newly-weds are Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Perrier of North Perry Street and Mrs. John Murphy of Jackson.

A cascade arrangement of white carnations, roses and Stephanotis complemented the bridal gown of tiered Chantilly lace with sequins.

Coreen C. Perrier was maid of honor for her sister.

The bridegroom asked Ronald Cole of Deckerville to be his best man while Louis Petrusha of Oliver Street and Ronald Cole, Deckerville, performed ushers duties.

Nadolsky-Stewart

The newly-wed Mrs. David S. Nadolsky (Shanna E. Stewart) chose a white lace dress and blue petal hat for her recent marriage in St. James Methodist Church, Southfield.

Rev. William J. Richards performed the ceremony as the bride carried white roses, blue carnations and ivy.

Mrs. William Gehman was honor matron for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David P. Stewart of Clarkston.

Serving as best man for his brother was Carl Nadolsky. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Nadolsky of Grand Rapids.

Kanner-Strickley

Married recently in the Lake Orion Methodist Church were Sandra Kay Stickley and Pvt. Michael Edward Kanner. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Alfred Eddy.

The daughter of the Paul Stickleys of Hinford Street, Orion Township, wore a pink street-length dress with matching accessories and carried white carnations and rosebuds.

The couple was attended by Cheryl Harvey; Donald Harvey, and David and Robert Goodrich.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kwiatkawski of Schenectady, New York, are the bridegroom's parents.

Area Pair Is Wed in Church Rite

At home in Spartan Village, East Lansing, are the newly-wed Mr. and Mrs. James Lyman McIntosh (Claudine Evelyn Gruber).

Rev. Edward D. Auchard officiated at their recent marriage in the Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, followed by reception in Westacres Clubhouse.

* * *

Parents of the couple are the William E. Grubers of Lilac Court, West Bloomfield Township; Mrs. Jeanne McIntosh of Livonia and Donald J. McIntosh of Club Drive.

Pearl-frosted Alencon lace accented the bride's gown of white peau taffeta styled with dome skirt and chapel sweep. A crystal tiara held her silk illusilon veil. Her bouquet was white roses and gardenias.

With maid of honor, Joanne Welch, were Barbara Gardner, Lathrup Village; Sandra Staal, Grand Rapids; Nancy Burban, Allen Park and Cherlle Safron of Detroit.

* * *

Robert Nelden of Flint was best man. Robert Krist, Thomas Spear, Adolph and Hubert Winklebauer, all of Southfield, were ushers. W. Mark Gruber was junior usher.

Window Shades Use Fabrics

NEW YORK (UPI) — Designers have been inspired by the decorating possibilities of window shades. The shades pop up in great variety at the World's Fair.

They're seen in the Pavilion of American Interiors, in the Formica House and in the Better Living Buildings.

The Window Shade Manufacturers' Association reports this is the direct result of an improved laminating process. This process makes it practical to use the same fabric on shades as in other parts of the room, opening limitless decorating vistas.

Add Fullness

When a dress becomes a little snug in the bodice, let out the darts at the back of the waist and convert them to gathered fullness at the waistline seam.

Diplomat Vows 'Best Effort'

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We have no magic answers, but we are determined to do our best."

So says career diplomat U. Alexis Johnson, who is flying to Saigon Friday to take over the American embassy post being vacated by Henry Cabot Lodge, until Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor arrives in the Asian country.

Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, was selected Tuesday to replace Lodge as ambassador. Johnson will serve as his deputy.

"Both Gen. Taylor and I are approaching this assignment with a great deal of humility," Johnson said in an interview.

NO MAGIC ANSWERS

While the big-framed, jovial, 55-year-old Johnson professes to know no magic answers, he is taking with him almost three decades of professional diplomatic experience—much of it on Asian affairs.

This experience, which has brought him to a top rung for a career diplomat in the State Department, as deputy undersecretary for political affairs, has convinced Johnson that nothing is saved by giving up an area to the Communists. It only increases the costs in blood and money.

★ ★ ★

Johnson served as the coordinator of the U.S. delegation at the 1954 Geneva conference on Korea and Indochina, where the decision was made to divide Viet Nam into two parts, with the Communists controlling the north.

Johnson's associations with Taylor have been long and close, dating back to 1935 in Tokyo, when Taylor was a captain and Johnson a vice consul.

PARTICULARLY CLOSE

The association became particularly close under the Kennedy administration. Taylor, as the president's military adviser, and Johnson worked on the whole range of problems involved in counter-insurgency operations.

Johnson was born at Falun, Kan., Oct. 17, 1908. He attended Occidental College and studied at the Georgetown University school of foreign service.

★ ★ ★

After service in Seoul and Tientsin, he was transferred to Mukden, where he was interned by the Japanese in 1941 at the outbreak of the Pacific war. Exchanged in the summer of 1942, Johnson was assigned to Rio de Janeiro, then was sent to Manila as consul after its liberation.

After Japan's surrender Johnson received the Medal of Freedom for his work with Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in the repatriation of prisoners of war and civilians from the Philippines, Japan and Korea. He attended the Japanese peace treaty conference, and served as ambassador to Thailand before his appointment in 1961 as deputy undersecretary of state.

Castroites Say Plane From Miami

HAVANA (UPI — Premier Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime charged today that the "pirate plane" shot down over Cuba Friday night took off from a private airfield south of Miami to bomb a Cuban sugar mill.

A brief official announcement described the plane as a Cessna 205 belonging to the American Aviation Corp. of Miami, and said it took on its bombs at the Brown Aero Country Club field.

The announcement confirmed earlier reports that two of the three persons in the plane when it was shot down — a man and a woman —were captured alive. It said today's charges were based on statements they gave Castroite authorities.

They were identified as Luis Velarde Valdes and Ines Malagon Santiesteban, presumably Cuban refugees.

★ ★ ★

The pilot of the plane, identified as Luis Diaz Lopez, was killed when it was shot down, the announcement said.

NO CLUE

It gave no clue to the fate of the prisoners.

The announcement, like earlier official reports on the plane, said it bombed the Marcel Saladio sugar mill on the north coast of Las Villas Province before it was shot down by Castroite antiaircraft guns.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Election day is like a family reunion for Mrs. Maud Longcor, who has served on the election board in precinct 4141 for the past 43 years.

Not only voters she has known since she became a precinct worker in 1921, but also their children and even some grandchildren, stop to chat with the spry 80-year-old woman. She hasn't missed a balloting day yet, and has been a supervisor since 1931.

Only California Is Following Lottery Idea

CHICAGO (AP) — The state lottery, which is producing big response and bigger income for New Hampshire, generally has drawn a legislative ho - hum elsewhere in the nation.

Only California is taking steps to follow New Hampshire's lead.

★ ★ ★

The first drawing for the 1964 Granite State Sweepstakes in New Hampshire will be next month. Buyers' names will be drawn from a drum containing $1 million worth of tickets. Those drawn will be assigned to the 332 horses nominated for the Sept. 12 sweepstakes race at Rockingham Park race track.

Subsequent drawings will be held for each additional $1 million in tickets sold.

Backers say the New Hampshire plan will swell state coffers and mollify taxpayers. "A man would rather lay a bet than pay a tax," the logic goes.

SEE THE LOGIC

Thus far only Californians have seen the logic. In November, they'll vote on a referendum to establish a state-franchised, privately operated lottery. The initiative would write a 10-year monopoly on the lottery into the state constitution in behalf of American Sweepstakes Corp. The firm would sell $2 tickets, keeping 26 cents and turning in $1.74 to the state for prizes, operating expenses and public school support.

★ ★ ★

Gov. Edmund G. Brown's Democratic administration opposes the measure, as do most church groups and both houses of the legislature. To defeat the scheme, California lawmakers placed their own measure on the ballot. If successful, it would make it illegal to write constitutional amendments naming any firm—profit making or not —to perform a state job.

★ ★ ★

In New York lottery bills annually meet with no success. Sponsors of practically all such measures have been New York City Democrats, who argued revenues would put to good use money now going to the underworld. Republicans, in control of the legislature and the governor's office, said lotteries would compound social and economic problems among low-income families.

★ ★ ★

In Rhode Island, a constitutional amendment failed by one vote in the State Senate earlier this year. The current outright ban would have continued except insofar as state-conducted lotteries were concerned. But even if it had passed, a separate General Assembly would have had to endorse it before a public referendum, with at least a 3-2 winning margin.

★ ★ ★

Other states whose constitutions ban lotteries include Texas, Iowa, New Jersey, Oregon and, oddly, Nevada. Although nearly every other kind of gambling is legal in Nevada, lotteries are prohibited by the state constitution.

Arrest Followers of Satan

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Members of a secret teen-age fraternity professing devotion to Satan were blamed today for four incidents of vandalism at churches in Norman during the past nine months.

Police said the boys were members of a secret fraternity called the "Covenant of the 73rd Demon." They said members were dedicated to vandalizing local churches to prove their loyalty to the devil.

The vandalism, Police Chief Sid Wilson said, was a part of the group's ritual whereby the boys "released their souls to the Prince of Darkness." The ritual apparently demanded that all emblems of God be destroyed or ridiculed.

The incidents included turning crosses upside down, ripping Bibles apart, spilling baptismal waters and generally ransacking the church premises. Officers said some property also was stolen.

★ ★ ★

Four boys, 16 and 17 years old, were arrested. A warrant was issued for a fifth, who was out of the state. Authorities declined to identify the boys.

ARREST SIX

Authorities said six young people were apprehended early Monday as they left a chapel near the University of Oklahoma campus.

Work Award Is Announced by Broomfield

Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, has announced that the contract for heating and air conditioning the former Pontiac Post Office building was to be awarded today to Midwest Contracting Co. of Dearborn.

The Dearborn firm submitted a bid of $160,800 to the General Service Administration (GSA) offices in Chicago.

The bid was accepted by the General Accounting Office in Washington, D.C.

Completion date for the job is scheduled for eight months after the letting of the contract.

★ ★ ★

Local GSA officials said the heating equipment will be installed first. The air conditioning won't be in service before next summer.

Exchange Clubs Pick New State Officers

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Battle Creek area residents Tuesday captured three top offices in elections here concluding the annual convention of the Michigan Exchange Clubs. Rudolf Hasselbach of Bedford Township, a Battle Creek suburb, was named president. Richard Anderson of Detroit was elected vice president. Tobey Mason and LaVerne Scanlon, both of Battle Creek, were named treasurer and secretary, respectively.

Western Actor Now in Real-Life Fight

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Ray (Crash) Corrigan, who endured hundreds of battles in his career as a Western actor, is engaged in the fight of his life. His opponent: his ex-wife.

THOMAS

The prize is the Corriganville movie ranch, 1,611 acres of rock-strewn hills and Western sets 25 miles north of Hollywood. Crash paid $11,000 for it in 1937. A fortnight ago the former Mrs. Corrigan outbid him in court with an offer of $2,506,000 for the property.

★ ★ ★

Crash has his aces in the hole. If his ex-wife comes up with the purchase price, he'll get half as his share of ownership. His production company holds a 23-year lease on the ranch, so he intends to continue operating it.

This was the latest of a series of court clashes in which the ex-wife, now Mrs. Rita Stiltz, has tried to wrest control of the property from Corrigan. She has plans to turn the ranch into a housing development. He wants it to continue as a haven of Western traditions.

REAL DUMP

"When I bought this place, it had been used as a dump for 30 years," he recalled. "Nothing but tin cans all over. It took me three years to clean it up and build camera roads so movie companies could work here."

He drove up a hill to a frontier embattlement — "built that for 'Fort Apache,' the Western with John Wayne and Shirley Temple."

★ ★ ★

Next, a thicket of oaks — "They've shot 'Robin Hood,' 'The Three Musketeers,' 'Mississippi Gambler' and lots of other pictures here; sometimes they hang Spanish moss on the trees for Southern locales."

★ ★ ★

A glade with fallen trees is where the Civil War camping scenes were shot for "How the West Was Won." And there is "Vendetta" village, built for $100,000 for the Howard Hughes film, and Boot Hill, constructed for the "Bat Masterson" series.

MANY BATTLES

Corrigan parked his station wagon near the frontier railroad station and sauntered down the Western street, which has probably seen as much ammunition expended as Guadalcanal.

"I put 30 years of my life into this place. I built it from nothing into a top tourist attraction that has had as many as 15,000 visitors a day.

★ ★ ★

"I'd like to go on building it. I've had money men from the East offer to back me in making this a Western Disneyland."

He continues to operate Corriganville for the summer trade seven days a week. He runs the place with a firm, benevolent hand. At 57, Crash remains a robust figure, able to take a horse fall with the best of the stunt men.

TARZAN ROLE

He started in the film business in the early 1930s as double for Johnny Weissmuller in the Tarzan movies. Later he starred in the "Three Mesquiteer" series (with John Wayne) and the "Range Busters." He has withstood a broken back, arms, legs and breaks to numerous other bones. He plans to survive the courtroom clashes too.

Parents' Seminar Termed Successful

An average of 22 persons attended the six weekly sessions of a recent adult education seminar sponsored by the Waterford Youth Assistance Committee.

★ ★ ★

Conducted for parents of children who have been in minor trouble, the seminar was called "very successful" by Charles Sitton, chairman of the adult education subcommittee of the youth committee.

Topics for the six sessions held at the Community Activities Inc. building were honesty, social behavior, discipline, schooling, alcoholic beverages and miscellaneous problems.

A second seminar for parents beginning Sept. 30 has been recommended by the adult education committee.

Current News From Washington

Head of Appropriations Subcommittee Steps Down in Anger

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

BEATEN: It has been Rep. Otto E. Passman's boast that his appropriations subcommittee has slashed more than $8 billion from foreign aid in the nine years he has been chairman.

Tuesday, the Louisiana Democrat was beaten in his own subcommittee. It refused to go along with Passman's demand for a $514 million cut in the $3.5-billion foreign aid bill.

Passman stalked out of the closed meeting, telling reporters he would temporarily step down as chairman so he could oppose the bill on the floor.

President Johnson had argued against any cuts in the aid bill saying he had asked for a rock-bottom figure.

IT'S RIDICULOUS

"It is ridiculous for a president of the United States to play politics to the extent that he has with this bill," said Passman.

"He has worked tricks you couldn't even see in the circus."

Apparently referring to any presidential blandishments, Passman said: "I can give up postmasterships and airplane rides and sniffing in the rose garden."

ROTC: The House climaxed a long fight with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara Tuesday. It passed a bill to expand the Reserve Officer Training Program in high schools and colleges.

★ ★ ★

It was a personal victory for Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., who introduced the measure after becoming irked by McNamara's proposal last year to eliminate high school ROTC and curtail the college program. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Among other things it would expand junior ROTC from 254 high schools to a maximum of 2,000; continue the four-year ROTC program in colleges but allow a two-year program in those colleges that want one, and set up a scholarship program for ROTC students in colleges that would go up to $850 a year for tuition and books and $500 a year in monthly retainer pay.

FLIGHTS: The State Department has turned aside a Soviet protest against Pan American Airways' new flights between New York and West Berlin.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union protested that the direct flights were unlawful because the East German Communist government did not approve them and cautioned that the Soviet Union could not guarantee their safety.

A State Department spokesman, press officer Richard I. Phillips said Tuesday, "These normal basis. The U.S. government will hold the Soviet government responsible for the safety of all American aircraft in the Berlin air corridors."

'Nice Boy' Embezzle $140,000?

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — A wide search was under way today for a trusted 20-year-old bank messenger suspected of casually strolling off with $140,000 in cash in a shopping bag.

The FBI obtained an embezzlement warrant last night for the messenger, Theodore C. Nelson, several hours after the money disappeared from the Oakland Bank of Commerce.

FBI agents said they found a note in Nelson's San Francisco apartment indicating he would attempt to leave the country, possibly for Mexico.

Agents were ordered to airports across the country in an effort to locate the suspect.

Bank officials described Nelson as "a nice, hardworking boy who had a future with us." They were stunned when the loss was discovered.

The day started routinely enough. Nelson, as part of his job, presented an order shortly after 9 a.m. to the bank vault for $140,000 in $20, $10 and $5 denominations.

Nelson then should have delivered the money, which was the bank's cash requirements for the day, to a cashier's cage in the basement.

Later, other employes recalled seeing Nelson walking away from the basement stairs toward a street exit carrying a gray shopping bag.

Nelson's disappearance was not discovered until an hour later when Charles May, 30, the man who was to receive the cash, realized that the young messenger was late with his delivery.

Actress Assures Court She Won't Remove Children

LONDON (AP)—Movie star Leslie Caron assured the divorce court today that she would not remove her two children from Britain without the consent of her estranged husband, Peter Hall, or without a court order.

Her attorney, John Wood, told the divorce court president, Sir Jocelyn Simon, the 32-year-old, French-born actress never had any intention of flouting the authority of the court by taking her children out of the country.

The court last week issued a seven-day order restraining her from removing the children from Britain. Hall, 33, director of Britain's Royal Shakespeare Company, has filed a suit for a divorce, naming Hollywood actor Warren Beatty, 26, as co-respondent.

Two Hospitalized After Area Crash

A Waterford Township man and a Detroit youth were admitted to Pontiac General Hospital today after their car smashed into a traffic signal on Telegraph at the County Service Center road.

In fair condition is the driver, David Proctor, 23, of 3576 Lotus, and a passenger, John Redman, 17, of Detroit. Both suffered facial fractures.

The traffic light fell to the ground when the car hit the pole about 1:40 a.m. and was replaced today, according to Pontiac State police.

Proctor was ticketed by state police for driving without an operator's license and reckless driving.

Another passenger, Tony Pouch, 16, also of Detroit, was treated and released.

Members of Family Have Same Birthday

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—When Mrs. Dora Morrow celebrated her 70th birthday recently, she didn't have the spotlight all to herself, but she was glad to share it. Also guests of honor were two of her grandchildren, Joye Morrow, 5, and Douglas Wade, 7, who have the same birthdate as their grandmother.

Economic Discrimination Continues

Fairer Sex Isn't Getting a Square Deal

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second article in a four-part series on the subject: "Women — Do They Deserve What They're Getting?")

By TOM NOLAN

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Constitution may call for it, men may oppose it, women may demand it and employers may pay lip service to it—but the fact remains that the fairer sex is not getting a square deal on the economic front in the United States today.

Since President Kennedy's Commission on the Status of Women called for a sweeping "action program" to improve the lot of 94 million American women and girls last November, much has been accomplished to end discrimination in hiring, pay and promotion of women workers.

But much remains to be done.

In 1964—which may well be the "Moment of Truth" for those men who think the woman's place is in the kitchen — major efforts in the ladies' struggle for equal rights will be launched in these fields:

* * *

● Broadening the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act to cover workers in hotels, motels, restaurants, laundries and non-profit organizations — all of which have a majority of female employes.

HIRING ANGLE

● Urging state legislatures to add sex to prohibited bases of discrimination in Fair Employment Practice laws. Only Wisconsin, Hawaii and New York make it unlawful to refuse to hire a person because of her sex.

(Colorado prohibits discrimination against women in apprenticeship and on-the-job training programs and in vocational schools. Washington bars sex discrimination in state government employment.)

● Extending unemployment insurance systems on both federal and state levels to cover household workers.

* * *

● Increasing a widow's federal old-age benefits to the amount her husband would have received at the same age had he lived. Presently, she gets only 82½ per cent.

MAJOR CONCERN

Chief area of concern to the advocates of male superiority is the federal government — described by many as a "showcase of equal opportunity."

Lion's share of the credit for elevating ladies to unprecedented positions of responsibility in the service of their country belongs to a shrewd talent scout who personally recruits the country's ablest women—President Lyndon B. Johnson himself.

His scoreboard tally over the last six months is 168 new female appointees to top federal jobs (over $10,000 per year). In addition, he has promoted about 700 career women in the $10,000-$20,000 brackets.

* * *

The President's feat has jarred bureaucratic male complacency, caused one agency head to grumble: "Uncle Sam's in danger of getting henpecked."

EQUAL WAGES

A second bright spot for women workers is the Equal Pay Act of 1963, which has just taken effect. It amends the laws to provide that employers shall pay equal wages to men and women who perform equal work. It applies only to employment covered by the federal minimum wage law.

Different rates may be paid on seniority and merit bases.

Despite these tactical successes, women workers still feel themselves shortchanged in many respects.

* * *

Females generally find it difficult to obtain the training to prepare them for upper level jobs in business, industry and government. Too many workers are concentrated in low-paying occupations.

BIG COMPLAINT

Yet, a common complaint of employers is that expensive training of women is often unrewarding to a firm when a woman marries or raises a family, causing her to quit her position.

The number of working mothers has increased each decade since 1900. But facilities to provide care for their children are few and far between.

There are too few training programs for those older women who wish to reenter the labor market or to work outside the home for the first time. Yet in 1963, more than half of all women between 45 and 54 worked.

* * *

Outmoded ideas about "men's" and "women's" work sometimes prevent brilliant young women from entering such fields as science, mathematics and law.

LOT CHANGED

Assistant Secretary of Labor Esther Peterson — President Johnson's ranking woman adviser—notes that changes in society have changed the woman's lot. Among these are a longer life span, earlier marriages and child bearings, and the migration from rural to urban living.

"The life expectancy of a girl baby is now 73 years," Mrs. Peterson says. "In 1900, it was 48 years. Today's young woman reaching maturity has a quarter century of additional life to plan for.

"The median age at which girls bear their last child is now 26. Two years ago it was 28."

* *

Noting that the time needed for household and cooking chores has been cut to a minimum in today's electronic age, she added:

WORDS EXPLAINED

"When men say the woman's place is in the home, undoubtedly they mean their grandmother's home."

NEXT: The Broken Home.

Loss Lost Over Loss

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Richard Loss received a telegram from Seattle, Wash., asking for $100. It was signed by his son, Richard Loss Jr.

Loss wired the money. Then he realized something was wrong. His son lives in Princeton, N.J.

* * *

Loss checked with Loss Jr. and found he hadn't been to Seattle.

Loss lost no time in contacting authorities. It was a phony wire, they said. The $100? A total loss to Loss.

New Cars Fill Storage Lots

Teamsters Strike Halts Delivery to Dealers

NEW YORK (AP)—New cars rolling off assembly lines in the East were filling storage lots today. A strike by Teamster Union locals has stopped delivery of the cars to dealers.

The strike, begun by several locals Monday night and Tuesday, was described as a revolt against Teamster Union President James R. Hoffa's plan for a nationwide contract in the car-carrying industry.

In Washington, a spokesman at the union's international headquarters said he understood that the locals had voted to reject a national contract.

"There are always these people who want to go it alone," he said. "This is true in this situation."

IN NEGOTIATION

In Seattle, a spokesman for a long-haul drivers' local said negotiations are in progress on a similar contract with car carriers in 11 Western states.

He said it was not likely the Western Conference of Teamsters would go along with Hoffa on the nationwide contract in view of the major differences between regional agreements in the West and in the union's central conference.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler plants were expected to keep operating at least until the end of the week. Most were looking for extra storage space for new cars.

No Hidden Meanings in Decision to Come Home—Lodge

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge's return from South Viet Nam might offer Republicans a choice of candidates to oppose Sen. Barry Goldwater for the GOP presidential nomination.

Lodge announced in Saigon Tuesday he was quitting his ambassadorial post and coming home because he felt it was his "duty to do everything that I can to help Gov. Scranton to win for president."

★ ★ ★

Later, he said "there are no hidden meanings" in his decision to return to the United States and he is "not a candidate at all." He added, "I am not going back at all in order to connive at anything for myself. I cannot be drafted."

Lodge's decision to jump into presidential politics was widely heralded by the backers of Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton as a major development in his efforts to win delegates away from Goldwater.

ELATED BY DECISION

Scranton said he was delighted by Lodge's decision to return and added, "This is another big boost for this rapidly expanding campaign." He said he hoped to have Lodge "go around and tell the people why they should be for me."

Supporters of Goldwater, who has more than enough publicly committed convention votes to win the nomination if his delegates stand pat, generally discounted Lodge's move.

★ ★ ★

Goldwater, in a statement issued Tuesday, avoided any reference to Lodge's declaration that he would campaign for Scranton.

★ ★ ★

Instead, the Arizonan said, "Ambassador Lodge is to be congratulated for bearing up this long under such adverse conditions. The Johnson-McNamara program of indecision and vacillation has made it impossible for him to carry out his ambassadorial functions properly and undoubtedly motivated his resignation." Lodge gave no hint of such a factor in his letter of resignation.

While nobody questioned the sincerity of Lodge's commitment to back Scranton, some party strategists noted there were elements present that could lead to unpredictable developments.

This would be true particularly, they said, if there was a resurgence of Lodge's popularity in the national polls. These listed him as top choice of the rank and file for the nomination before he ran second to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the May 15 Oregon primary. Some polls still give Lodge high ratings.

★ ★ ★

Scranton, whose name was on the Oregon ballot, got only 2 per cent of the vote. His meager total there and his low rating in the national polls were viewed by his friends as the natural result of his position then that he was not a candidate and that he would only accept a nomination tendered him as the result of a genuine draft he did not think would come about.

Subsequently Scranton announced he was an active candidate against Goldwater and most of Lodge's backers said they would support the Pennsylvania governor.

MAIN PROBLEM

One of Scranton's principal problems in his belated scramble for the nomination has been that many Republicans just do not know much about him and haven't learned where he stands on the issues.

As the 1960 GOP vice presidential nominee, Lodge has general recognition among the party organization workers whose voices will be heard in delegation caucuses and whose votes will be recorded in the convention balloting.

★ ★ ★

Whether a significant number of them might decide that Lodge rather than Scranton, was the nominee they wanted remains a question to be answered at the convention.

Seeks to Shorten Up Uncommitted Ranks

Scranton Aims Delegate Quest South

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania turned south today in his search for delegates to support him for the Republican presidential nomination.

The 46-year-old governor, seeking to overtake Sen. Barry Goldwater, aimed his turboprop plane at West Virginia, 14 delegates, and Florida, 34 delegates.

★ ★ ★

Scranton hailed the announcement of support by Henry Cabot Lodge as a "tremendous step forward" in his campaign. Lode resigned as ambassador to South Viet Nam and said he was returning home to help Scranton.

Scranton's aides said today's trip was aimed mainly at shoring up the uncommitted ranks in the two delegations. The secondary aim was conversion of delegates to the Scranton cause —particularly those now backing Goldwater.

GOLDWATER AHEAD

Goldwater leads the Associated Press poll with 694 dele gates, more than enough for nomination if he can hold them.

★ ★ ★

In West Virginia, the Arizona senator has four delegates, Scranton has two and eight are uncommitted. In Florida Goldwater has 22; 11 are uncommitted, and one stands opposed to Goldwater.

★ ★ ★

Scranton was enthusiastic about the results of his delegate hunt in Delaware and New Jersey.

He claimed "far more than a majority" of the 12-vote Delaware delegation. Sen. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey told newsmen Scranton could expect a "big majority" of the 40-vote New Jersey delegation.

FAVORITE SON

The Delaware delegation pledged itself officially to favorite son Sen. John J. Williams for the first ballot. New Jersey delegates decided to remain uncommitted, at least until after they meet with Goldwater in Trenton Monday.

Scranton met privately with the New Jersey delegates before addressing a $100-a-plate Republican fund raising dinner.

★ ★ ★

At a news conference Scranton said he hoped to have Lodge "go around and tell the people why they should be for me" and would "be delighted to have him give me a great deal of advice."

Asked about possible support from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Scranton replied: "There is a possibility he may come out for me."

ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN

The governor said he knew Eisenhower was uncommitted but "in politics almost anything can happen."

In his address Scranton said Republicans must offer a campaign "that speaks for all Republicans who favor a new start on the problems of present-day America."

★ ★ ★

He proposed the initials "L.B.J." — Let's Beat Johnson — as a Republican rallying cry.

News Analysis

Sonic Slipup Kills Whales

TALLAHASSEE, Fal. (AP) — The main reason why whales often swim directly onto beaches, where they become stranded and face certain death, is that the shallow water interferes with the whale's sonic apparatus, according to research at Florida State University directed by Dr. Winthrop N. Kellogg.

Noticing that most strandings occurred on gently-sloping beaches, Dr. Kellogg found that in shallow water sound waves often bounce off a gently sloping beach and keep going ahead, instead of returning to the whale.

Thus a whale's sonar might indicate deep water ahead when there is only the beach.

Since whales also have a highly developed nervous system and tend to panic in face of danger, the whale becomes confused by his garbled sonar soundings, according to Dr. Kellogg.

To Celebrate 1st Mail Slot

ALBANO, Italy (AP) — The people in this little town south of Rome are planning to put up a tablet commemorating what they think is the first mail slot in the world.

The slot in question was cut into a marble wall in 1821. Until that time mail was dropped in a wood box and was subject to drenching every time it rained.

Court Ruling Stirs Geography Interest

LANSING (AP) — Legislators were studying maps today with the dedication of early explorers seeking a way to the New World and the riches of the Indies.

Republicans in the House especially, were pouring over the maps explaining the new legislative redistricting plan ordered by the State Supreme Court.

Most senators have committed themselves as to future political plans. But in the 110 - member House, currently dominated by Republicans, adoption of the Democrat-sponsored "one man, one vote" redistricting plan posed multiple problems for the GOP representatives.

Leaders and rank and file members among House Republicans were almost unanimous in their mistrust of the plan.

CALLED GERRYMANDER

"It is strictly a gerrymander, a CIO plan," said House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston.

Green objected that the new setup puts himself and Reps. Roy Spencer, R-Attica and Edmund Good, R-Gagetown, in the same district.

★ ★ ★

"The boys are all busy now trying to figure out voting patterns," he added.

"The plan was drawn without regard to county lines or units of government," said Rep. Russell Strange, R-Clare. "It used to be if a man told me what county he was from, I knew who represented him in the legislature. Now you have to carry a catalogue with you."

OUST REPUBLICANS

Rep. Rollo Conlin, charged that the plan "is designed to oust as many Republicans — particularly incumbents — from the legislature as possible."

"In this irrational plan, they have ruthlessly cut across county lines some 38 times, even splitting cities and townships into seperate legislative districts," he said.

"If you dipped a potato bug in ink and let it crawl across the map of Michigan, you couldn't come up with a more weird division of legislative districts."

Conlin, was particularly bitter because the plan took Franklin Township, his residence out of the Lenawee County district and tacked it on to part of Washtenaw and all of Livingston County.

Conlin, first elected to the House in 1944 and since re - elected at every try, said he still plans to run again.

In his case, he explained, it will mean renting an apartment or house about three miles from his present residence to establish a legal address to make this possible.

Rep. Joseph Kowalski D-Detroit, House Democratic leader, hailed the plan as "ending three years of confusion and chaos for Michigan in legislative apportionment."

Rep. Joseph Gillis, D-Detroit, admitted the plan "was going to help some, hurt others. A few Democrats are getting hurt too," he said.

HAS TO MOVE

Under the proposed Republican plan, Gillis said, he would have been forced to move two blocks to establish a new legal residence.

Some other typical comments from House Republicans:

Rep. Ray Wurzel, R - North Street: "this does more to ruin local representation in local government than any other thing I know of."

Rep. James Farnsworth, R - Allegan: "I don't like it. It splits my district right up the middle."

★ ★ ★

Rep. Lloyd Gibbs, R-Portland: "I suppose we've got to accept it. If that is the law, we've got to try to live with it."

Say Safety Belts Save Two Troopers

PETOSKEY (AP) — State police credit safety belts with saving the lives of two troopers whose car blew a tire while traveling at more than 100 miles an hour, rolled over several times and was demolished.

Troopers Philip Walker, the driver, and Robert Darling, both of the Petoskey post, escaped injury. They were assisting Harbor Springs police at the time in the chase of a speeding motorist on M131 in Emmet County Tuesday when the right rear tire of the patrol car went flat.

★ ★ ★

Four of the five occupants of the pursued car, none wearing safety belts, were injured when their vehicle later ran off the road into a ditch, police reported.

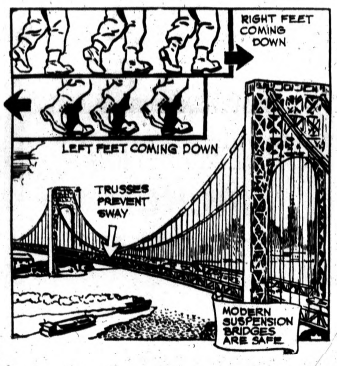
Junior Editors Quiz on BRIDGES



QUESTION — Why do soldiers cross foot bridges out of step?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER — When a large body of soldiers is marching and all the men put their right feet down at the same time, it creates a vibration or pull on what they are walking over.

When their left feet are put down, a pull is exerted in a different direction. Between the two, a swaying motion may be set up if the structure they are walking over is capable of swaying.

In the case of a small bridge this may become amplified or enlarged to dangerous proportions. When the command "Routine Step!" is given the soldiers break step, each walking differently, removing the danger of swaying.

Suspension bridges have a particular tendency to sway — think of how easily a hammock sways — since they are suspended at both ends.

A suspension bridge build in 1940 over the Tacoma Narrows began to sway in a storm and the central span collapsed.

But modern engineers overcome sway by using powerful "trusses" — structures of metal arms placed along the sides in zigzag shapes.

Unequal distribution of weight causes a bridge to sway, but the trusses distribute the weight of the load evenly on the supporting cables, making the bridge perfectly safe.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO — Look in newspapers and magazines and you will find many pictures showing truss work, not only in bridges but in cranes and in the construction of buildings. These trusses are all doing the same thing: making the structures rigid by distributing the weight.

BEATS WALKIN' — Some of the ninth grade boys at Madison Junior High School chase after the 1903 Oldsmobile they helped build during the past school year. Instructor Victor Insko gave the car, which is nearly the same size as the real 1903 version, a test spin on the school lawn.

Students Build a 1903 Olds?—Why Not!

"Something had to be made . . . so why not an automobile," reasoned Victor Insko, Madison Junior High School instructor.

Indeed, why not?

★ ★ ★

So Insko now owns a 1903 Oldsmobile or at least a hand-made replica, which was built by two metal shop classes at the junior high as a class project.

CO-OP AFFAIR

From the beginning, it was a cooperative affair. A magazine furnished the plans, the teacher donated funds, various businesses contributed parts, and the students added the work and enthusiasm.

"I've never had more enthusiasm," said Insko of the car building.

He thought the value of the project was that the boys watched the car go together part by part.

". . . and yet it was basic enough for them to understand," he added.

VEHICLE'S POWER

Geared to go 50-55 m.p.h., the Madison Junior High replica is powered by a 5¼ horsepower motor. The engine, which Insko reckons is faster than the original 1903 version, was donated by Briggs & Stratton of Madison, Wis.

The car rolls on heavy duty bicycle wheels. Equipped with hydraulic brakes instead of mechanical ones like the original car, the single-seater has a wheelbase two inches shorter than the 1903 model.

The body of the vehicle is plywood with fiber glass covering.

★ ★ ★

Insko said that converting car springs to the replica was the most difficult aspect of the buildingp roject.

The finished product weighs an estimated 300 pounds and cost about $350. Insko plans to keep the car, loaning it to the school for parades and other special events.

Six firms aided the car building. Included were Pontiac Spring Rebuilders, Columbia Non-Ferrous Foundry & Machine Co. of Pontiac, Crest Bumper of Detroit, Herman Smith Bicycle & Hobby Center of Berkley and Elox Corp. of Michigan, Troy.

Looking to next year, Insko would like to build a version of the original Ford car, complete with motor. However, he said that this project was still in the idea stage.

Swiss Ship Still Stuck in the St. Clair River

MARYSVILLE, Ont. (AP) — The Swiss freighter Silva still was held fast in the St. Clair River today although much of her cargo was removed Tuesday by McQueen Marine, Ltd., of Amherstburg, Ont. The ship was ensnared on a shoal Saturday in 15 to 17 feet of water opposite Marysville. Efforts by four tug boats to free her have failed.

Detroit Board Rejects Leader's Resignation

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit School Board Tuesday refused to accept the resignation of president Leonard Kaskie whose term expires June 30. Kaskie resigned two weeks ago after charging Supt. Samuel M. Brownell with "thwarting board policies," by allegedly withholding information needed for policy decisions.

Enters Guilty Plea in Traffic Death

A Highland Park youth, involved in an auto accident in which a companion died Monday, has pleaded guilty to negligent homicide.

Terrence Lee Haughey, 18, of 50 Chandler entered the plea before Circuit Court Judge Arthur E. Moore, who set July 14 for sentencing. Haughey was released on $100 bond.

Police said Haughey's auto rammed the rear of a northbound car halted for the traffic light on Woodward at Long Lake Rd., Bloomfield Hills, on June 6.

Fatally injured was John Keithly, 17, of Highland Park, a passenger in Haughey's car. Haughey and two other youths in his auto received minor injuries.

It's a Dog's Life

Divorce Affects Dalmatian

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Rorscharch, an 8-year-old Dalmatian, will spend the summer alternating between a sumptuous home with a splendid picture window and a leading thoroughbred farm.

His master and mistress, Thomas E. and Bessie Hager Masters, are being divorced and each wants sole possession of the animal.

Masters says he has a concrete block doghouse with a picture window for Rorscharch at his home at nearby Nicholasville.

Mrs. Masters says she would keep the dog at Maine Chance Farm near Lexington.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Court Judge Nolan Carter ruled yesterday they would alternate possession monthly, with visitation privileges, until the divorce is final.

CUT IN HALF

After that, the judge said, he would have to figure out who gets the dog—"or eventually just have to cut it in half."

Bandits Hit Greenfield's

Two Armed Robbers Get $4,000 in Loot

Two men wearing Halloween masks netted more than $4,000 in an armed robbery at Greenfield's Restaurant in Birmingham last night.

The men entered the building about an hour after it closed at 9 p.m.

They forced manager Michael Cania, 44, of Hamtramck to open the office safe and then bound him and two bus boys with cord, police said.

Among the cash stolen from the restaurant was $1,000 in new $1 bills. Serial numbers range from G 40788201 A to G 40789201 A.

★ ★ ★

Tied in the office with Cania were two 16-year-old youths, George Felker of Utica and Dave McCatty of Berkley

FREE SELVES

They freed themselves shortly after the holdup men made their getaway in a 1961 or 1962 white or gray Cadillac convertible, according to police.

One of the men entered the restaurant at 725 S. Hunter, was carrying what appeared to be a 32- or 38-caliber revolver, the victims told police.

They described the holdup men as Negro, one about 6-foot-185 pounds, with a small goatee and mustache.

The other, they said, was about 6 feet tall, 180 pounds and wore rubber gloves. Both had Halloween masks over their eyes.

Atheist Flees; Fears Violence

Seeking 'Religious Asylum' in Hawaii

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) Madalyn Murray, the Maryland atheist who took her family and hastily left Baltimore—"I'm convinced they're going to do me in here" — changed planes in San Francisco and left for Hawaii last night.

"I will ask the governor of Hawaii for religious asylum," the 44-year-old woman had said before she left Baltimore with her family, a dog and cat and one suitcase.

Traveling under an assumed name, the woman whose suit brought a U.S. Supreme Court ban on compulsory school prayer, managed the San Francisco stopover without public notice.

An airline spokesman said today the party — Mrs. Murray, her mother, brother, two sons and a daughter-in-law—arrived by Trans World Airlines too late to catch a scheduled Pan American departure at 2 p.m. yesterday. The spokesman said the party left later at 6 p.m. on a United Air Lines plane.

The Baltimore departure of the Murrays stemmed from a weekend fracas which followed the marriage of her son, Bill, 18, to 17-year-old Susan Abramovitz.

ACCUSATIONS

Susan's parents accused Mrs. Murray of inducing the girl to more to the Murray home and abandon her Jewish religion.

A melee broke out after police went to the Murray home to serve a contempt citation on the bride. She was accused of violating a judicial order to remain in custody of an aunt and uncle.

Before leaving Baltimore, Mrs. Murray displayed bruised arms and swollen wrists. She said police beat her up while a crowd shouted "Kill her" and "hit her harder."

By St. Augustine Negroes

Wade-In, 2 Marches Set

ST. AUGUSTINE Fla. (AP) — Negro demonstrators against segregation risked a fourth straight day of violence at St. Augustine Beach by planning to return today for another wade-in.

They also scheduled an afternoon and evening march in the city square.

Jeering white segregationists have harassed and clubbed civil rights demonstrators in the surf three days in a row.

Thirteen persons were arrested yesterday and a 14-year-old Negro girl's face was burned by an unidentified liquid.

★

The girl, Audrey Nell Edwards, was treated at a hospital and released.

BLOCKED MARCHERS

Last night about 40 men and women segregationists prevented the marchers from walking through the slave market in city square as had been their custom.

A band of white youths lined the sidewalks to jeer and taunt as the Negro and white marchers filed past the square.

It was there that the unknown person threw the liquid into the girl's face.

★ ★ ★

One segregationist tried to yank a white woman marcher from the line when a Negro came to her aid. Both men were arrested.

LEASHED DOGS

State officers using leashed dogs blockaded the street leading to the Negro section to prevent the whites from continuing harassment of the marchers.

Six persons — two whites, two Negro men and two Negro women — were arrested during the night march.

Seven persons were arrested as a result of the attempt to desegregate the beach.

★ ★ ★

At the beach yesterday, marchers were escorted into the water by uniformed state officers. Then young white segregationists formed a semicircle around the group.

Elizabeth Miller, a white demonstrator identified as a member of the American Baptist Convention, was knocked down by two white women. Troopers arrested the segregationists.

Mme. Nhu Appeals for U.S. Travel OK

PARIS (AP) — Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu appealed today to President Johnson to overrule the State Department and allow her to enter the United States as a visitor.

The out-spoken former First Lady of South Viet Nam wrote to the President after announcement Tuesday that her request for a visa had been refused.

Mrs. Nhu, sister-in-law of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem and widow of Saigon's onetime chief of internal security, sought the visa to speak July 7 at a "truth rally" of the Conservative Party Club of Flushing, N.Y.

Mrs. Nhu released copy of her letter to Johnson to newsmen along with copies of a previous letter to the President and letters to U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and the U.S. ambassador to Paris, Charles E. Bohlen.

REFUSAL GROUNDS

Embassy officials disclosed Mrs. Nhu's application for a visa had been rejected on instructions from the State Department under a section of the immigration and natibnality law which bars visas for persons whose activities are considered likely to prejudice public interest or endanger the welfare, safety or security of the United States.

In earlier letters, she charged junior officials of the State Department were systematically blocking her request with red tape and technicalities. As in the past, she accused the U.S. Embassy in Saigon of betraying her country, her people, her family and herself.

Early Session in Hoffa Trial

CHICAGO (UPI) — Attorneys in the $25-million fraud trial of Teamster boss James R. Hoffa and seven associates were called into court a half hour early today in another attempt to clear up complicated financial testimony.

U.S. District Court Judge Richard B. Austin's plea for a head start in untangling testimony followed a hectic day in which Hoffa acted as his own lawyer and the judge chided a government accounting expert for taking the court on a "wild goose chase."

Austin also told Hoffa he was such a good lawyer he might as well dismiss his own defense attorneys.

Hoffa and the seven other defendants are charged with fraudulently obtaining $25 million in loans from Teamster Union pension funds and diverting $1.7 million of the amount to their own pockets.

★ ★ ★

Hoffa entered a wrangle between defense lawyers and government attorneys over the introduction of complicated financial records. The government claims the records will show the alleged diversion of pension fund loans.

DIDN'T UNDERSTAND

"May I say a word," Hoffa asked the judge. "I tried to tell my lawyers about this but they don't understand it."

For five minutes, the Teamster President detailed how $3.5 million was lent from the pension fund to the First Berkeley Corp. of New York.

★ ★ ★

"Mr. Hoffa," the judge said when Hoffa finished, "you could discharge your lawyers and conduct your own investigation."

3 Appointed to Academies

Appointment of three Oakland County youths to armed services academies has been announced by Congressman William S. Broomfield.

Named to the Air Force Academy is Eric P. Wentzel, of West Bloomfield Township, while William R. Thygerson, Bloomfield Township, and Phillip Rose of Berkley will go to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Wentzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wentzel, 7123 Buckthorn, was graduated this month from Walled Lake High School. Thygerson, son of the William R. Thygersons, 3195 E. Breckenridge, is a June graduate of Birmingham Seaholm High School.

Rose has attended Michigan State University and University of Detroit since graduating from Berkley High School in 1960. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Rose, 1035 Cambridge.

★ ★ ★

Broomfield said the three were selected on the basis of competitive examinations given 52 academy applicants for congressional appointment throughout the county.

New Wheat Allotment May Be Set on '65 Crop

A new wheat allotment may be established for 1965 crop wheat.

It would be for farms that do not have a 1964 allotment and meet eligibility requirements, Robert H. Long of the Oakland County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee announced today.

Although there will be no restrictions on the planting or harvesting of wheat next year, Long said only those farmers with a 1965 allotment will be eligible to participate in the 1965 diversion and certificate program.

To be eligible for a new farm allotment, the operator must expect to receive more than 50 per cent of his income from the production of agricultural commodities on the farm.

★ ★ ★

Another stipulation is that neither the owner nor the operator can have an interest in any other farm which has a 1965 allotment.

Applications for a new farm allotment must be filed in the county ASC office on or before June 30.

Long said that any interested producer who can meet these requirements should contact the county office at 63 Oakland before the final date for filing an application.

Gelato Is Cooling, Smooth and Luscious

Rome in the summer is an old, hot story . . . a bubbling inferno of furious, heartless heat. But combining to combat the raw Roman sun, there are a thousand airy fantasies of water and stone, of living trees and sculptured columns that catch and cool the light.

So, the Romans sit in this elegant shade . . . formed centuries ago by water, column, tree and stone . . . and take cool refreshment invented equally long ago. These are the celebrated frozen ices, creams and gelatos (introduced to Americans in the eighteenth century by Thomas Jefferson).

Gelato is a simple freeze of flavored milk and gelatine, much like our own soft ice cream. In the scorched streets, it is sold in a twist of paper and eaten as a cone. In the serenity of the Roman home or villa, the gelato is swirled into slender crystal goblets and eaten with silvery, crested spoons.

The most modern version of Italian Gelato will be received with bravos during summer days and evenings.

Developed by Carnation Company's home economists with instant nonfat dry milk crystals and whole milk, the gelato is simple and inexpensive to prepare and packs substantial nourishment. The instant crystals actually fortify the milk to which they are added, providing double the proteins, B vitamins, phosphorous and calcium.

You can make gelato in many lightly rich and satisfying flavors.

Vanilla Gelato

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
2 cups instant nonfat dry milk crystals
1 quart whole milk
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla

Sprinkle gelatine over water to soften. Stir instant crystals into whole milk; blend in softened gelatine and sugar. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine dissolves. Cool. Stir in vanilla. Turn into refrigerator trays and freeze until firm; then beat until smooth. Makes 8-12 servings.

Note: To serve as illustrated, pipe gelato through pastry tube.

Variations:

To make Raspberry Marble Gelato: Sieve 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen red raspberries; thawed; ripple through or serve over vanilla gelato.

To make Vanilla Fudge Gelato: Ripple 2 cups chocolate syrup through vanilla gelato.

To make Peanut Butter Ripple Gelato: Mix ½ cup chunk-style peanut butter with ½ cup half- and-half and 2 tablespoons light corn syrup; ripple peanut butter sauce through vanilla gelato.

Coffee Gelato

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
2 cups instant nonfat dry milk crystals
1 quart whole milk
Coffee syrup, given below

Sprinkle gelatine over water to soften. Stir instant crystals into whole milk; blend in softened gelatine and Coffee Syrup. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine dissolves. Turn into refrigerator trays and freeze, until firm; then beat until smooth. Makes 8-12 servings.

To make Coffee Syrup: Mix together 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon instant coffee powder, dash salt, ½ cup water and ¼ cup light corn syrup in saucepan. Bring to a boil and boil 2 minutes.

To Make Coffee Sundae: Prepare double amount of Coffee Syrup; reserve and chill half. Pour over Coffee Gelato. Sprinkle with chopped nuts, if desired.

Chocolate Gelato

2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
2 cups instant nonfat dry milk crystals
1 quart whole milk
1¼ cups chocolate syrup

Sprinkle gelatine over water to soften. Stir instant crystals into whole milk; blend in softened gelatine and chocolate syrup. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine dissolves. Cool.

Turn into refrigerator trays and freeze until firm; then beat until smooth. Serve with additional chocolate syrup for double chocolate flavor. Makes 8-12 servings.

Variations:

Add the following ingredients to the gelato mixture, just after the gelatine is dissolved.

- For Chocolate Mocha Gelato: add 2 tablespoons instant coffee.
- For Chocolate Almond Gelato: add ¾ teaspoon almond extract.
- For Chocolate Maple Gelato: add ¾ to 1 teaspoon maple extract.

Cookie Parfait

Crumble leftover chocolate chip cookies and alternate with layers of butterscotch pudding in parfait glasses. Chill and top with whipped cream for serving. So good, your family will request an encore.

ITALIAN GELATO — Vanilla Gelato is a new version of Italian soft ice cream made with whole milk and instant nonfat dry milk crystals for a consistency as cool and smooth as Italian silk. Bravissimo!

Corn Hot Dog Bake

Pour 2 cups cream style corn into well greased baking dish, stir in one tablespoon prepared mustard. Slash four hotdogs crosswise, so that inch slices of cheese can be inserted. Place hotdogs atop corn. Bake in 350-degree oven about 20 minutes. Serve with hot rolls and tossed salad.

Ham and Dates

Add chopped fresh California dates to deviled ham. Spread slices of bread with Russian-style mustard, then with the ham-date mixture; top with a slice of cheese and broil until cheese melts. Serve with sweet pickle or chutney.

If your baked custard is watery, there's every chance it has been overcooked.

Local Jitney Driver Retires After 9 Cars and 1.6 Million Miles

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

George Stancombe of 169 Gage has just finished traveling 1.6 million miles on a jitney.

But lest bargain - conscious travel enthusiasts get carried away by prospects of duplicating the feat, they should be warned that the trip took 39 years.

You see, George had driven a jitney in Pontiac for those four decades, and at 72 has just retired the last of nine cars he has worn out shuttling local residents to and fro.

GEORGE STANCOMBE

With the consignment of the 1955 car, whose speedometer had logged 317,000 miles, to the automotive "Happy Junking Grounds," the Jitney jockey is himself striking his Heldenbrand flag.

He's bought a new car, and henceforth will drive only for pleasure—not treasure.

For the last four years, he has been the sole survivor of the jitney operation once an essential factor in local public transportation.

★ ★ ★

The jitneys started operation a half - century ago with two or three vehicles when the city still had streetcars and a cab or two. Our retiree joined the movement in 1925.

FLEET GREW

The fleet grew until at one time 40 passenger car owners were driving for hire. The takeoff point initially was on East Huron, just off Saginaw, later moved to Mount Clemens, and finally to West Lawrence.

As might be deduced, the term "jitney" derived from the five - cent fare originally charged.

Needless to say, it gradually worked up to 10-15 cents, 25 cents, and in the last years to a graduated scale ranging from 25-60 cents.

★ ★ ★

The jitneys serviced five areas of the city, and the plan of dispatching from the starting stand was simple: the destination of the first passenger into the car at the head of the line determined its route.

TARRIES BRIEFLY

The car would tarry briefly before taking off, hopeful of more passengers with the same general destination.

Once under way, the driver got specific addresses from his riders, and then plotted an itinerary that would most expeditiously deliver them to their respective points.

"In driving a jitney, there are many ins and outs — beside those connected with traffic," says George.

★ ★ ★

"The earnings were only fair. They averaged about $25 — though that dropped to $15 in recent years — for a day that began before noon and ended well past midnight.

BEST DAY

"The best day I ever had ran around $75, and on the worst — during the Depression—I rang up 90 cents.

"An average day's driving was 120 miles, and expenses ran to about half the receipts."

★ ★ ★

Asked if he'd ever been held up, the veteran laughed.

★ ★ ★

"Once," he said. "And you never heard of a holdup like it.

Missed Healthy Month

SALEM, Kan. (AP) — Attendance was the lowest in the months when the Salem 4-H Club celebrated "Health Month" at its May meeting.

The reason: Mostly mumps and measles among members.

"Two fellows got in my car late one night, and soon after we were moving I felt something pointed in my back and was told to hand over my money. I got the point, and gave 'em $8.

"A year later, a stranger approached me at the stand, identified himself as one of the two who'd held me up, and said that if I'd give him a receipt, he'd return the $8. I did and he did.

"It was probably the fastest business transaction on record.

★ ★ ★

"Another time," George reminisced, "a chap got aboard who had a few drinks aboard.

$4 FARE

"He was headed for the country, and we arrived at a $4 fare — which he gave me in advance.

"At the journey's end, he dug out another $4 to pay me. I told him he'd already done it. He swore that he hadn't. He also swore, period.

"We argued back and forth, with him getting madder as we argued.

★ ★ ★

Finally, he got out, and as he walked away tossed the money onto the back seat . . . sometimes it pays to lose arguments."

PROUD OF RECORD

George estimates he drove 40,000 miles a year, and he's understandably proud of his driving record.

During his 39 years, he had no accidents of consequence and drew but two traffic violation tickets. Both were for speeding.

★ ★ ★

"But that," he twinkled, "was long ago — when I was young and impetuous."

Biggest Cabbages 'Watered With Wine'

KORCULA, Yugoslavia (AP)— Markulin Gelotic grows some of the biggest cabbages on this island famed for its cabbage production. The secret of his success? "I water them with wine," he says.

The City of Palermo, Sicily, renamed four streets, two squares and 20 local scholarships after the late President Kennedy.

GM Spends $9.7 Million on Higher Education

With the conviction that knowledge is the foundation of industrial progress, General Motors Corp. last year spent $9.7 million on higher education.

In addition to the operation of General Motors Institute (GMI) in Flint, where more than 2,500 students are currently enrolled in cooperative engineering programs, GM makes the following contributions to higher education:

The GM Scholarship Plan, under which more than 200 colleges and universitites annually award nearly 400 four-year GM scholarships to high school graduates.

An Association Plan under which hundreds of colleges receive direct or indirect GM grants through the 40 regional and state associations of private colleges, the United Negro College Fund, the National Fund for Medical Education, the Council for the Advancement of Small Colleges and the Foundry Educational Association.

★ ★ ★

A four - year scholarship plan in Canada, with 14 universities participating and 100 students receiving variable GM stipends.

OVERSEAS GRANTS

In addition, GM subsidiaries overseas make education grants in Australia, South Africa, Germany, England and other countries.

GM Institute is accredited by the North Central association of Colleges and Secondary Schools as a baccalaureate, degree - granting college. Bachelor's degrees in mechanical, industrial and electrical engineering are awarded on completion of a five - year course.

The students spend alternate six-week periods in the classroom and on actual work assignments in plants of sponsoring divisions.

★ ★ ★

Some 650 freshmen are enrolled each year. High school seniors wishing to attend GMI may make application to the Admissions Officer, GMI, Flint 2, Mich., or through any GM plant or division.

CURRENT STUDES

There are currently 169 students in Michigan colleges and universities on GM scholarships, an increase of 20 over last year.

Any high school senior who is a citizen of the United States is eligible for consideration for a GM scholarship.

The awards are made by the scholarship committee of each participating institution after a review of the applicant's high school academic records, available entrance test scores, participation in extra-curricular activities and leadership traits. Most colleges also require interviews.

4 YEARS OF STUDY

GM scholarships, ranging from an honorary $200 per year to a maximu of $2,000, depending on need, are for four years of undergraduate study.

The student must, however, maintain academic standards required by the institution for scholarships of this type.

There are no restrictions as to the field of study or the ultimate career.

★ ★ ★

Students are expected to work during the summer, and are also encouraged to work during the school year, as much as college policy and individual circumstances permit.

Private colleges receive grants - in - aid varying according to the tuition rate charged — from a minimum of $500 to a maximum of $800 per year— for each scholarship.

Under the Association Plan, 766 institutions received one or more educational benefits from General Motors in the 1962-63 academic year.

According to figures published by the Council for Financial Aid to Education, GM contributed $41,384,000 in support of higher education during seven selected years from 1954 through 1962.

In 1963 GM received an award for Distinguished service to Higher Education from Alpha Kappa Psi, national professional fraternity in business and commerce.

Hart Sells Stale Fish to Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., sold the Senate about 3 million pounds of stale fish Tuesday. Now he hopes to peddle them to the House.

The fish are smoked chubs and white fish which have been in cold storage at Great Lakes fisheries since last fall, when a botulism scare frightened housewives and they stopped buying.

Hart got the Senate to write a $400,000 appropriation into an Interior Department spending bill, explaining use of that amount had been authorized earlier for a five - year research program aimed at rehabilitating Great Lakes fishing. The money, however, had not been appropriated. The appropriation bill now goes to the House.

Hart said it was his idea that the Bureau of Commerical Fisheries would buy at a reduced price the long - stored fish, now classified as unfit for human consumption, dispose of them for processing into fertilizer.

VOICE VOTE

Hart won passage of his amendment by a voice vote after asserting that 20,000 persons in the lake states, mainly Michigan and Wisconsin, are still unemployed because of a depression in the smoked fish industry caused by the botulism poisoning scare.

Hart said government purchase should help fish processors recover some of their losses and encourage them to resume operations, since new processing methods have been inaugurated and there have been no reports of botulism poisoning in months.

Ohio and Pennsylvania lead the U.S. in the production of lime.

Under Federal Court Order

Virginia County Appropriates School Funds

FARMVILLE, Va. (AP)—One of the last barriers has been cleared away for reopening public schools in Prince Edward County, closed five years ago to avoid desegregation.

The County Board of Supervisors, acting under a federal court order voted 4-2 Tuesday to appropriate school operating funds for this fall.

U.S. Dist. Judge Oren R. Lewis, carrying out a mandate from the U.S. Supreme Court, had given the Board of Supervisors until Thursday to act.

★ ★ ★

The $189,000 county appropriation, plus state funds, will provide classes for about 1,600 pupils — the number of Negro school - age children in Prince Edward.

Public schools will be operated "without racial discrimination," said the board, but most white children are expected to continue classes in the private, segregated schools they have attended since 1959.

The supervisors raised personal and real property taxes from $1 per $100 to $2.50 and doubled the 30 cents per $100 merchants capital tax. Judge Lewis had ordered the supervisors to levy taxes if necessary to raise school funds.

★ ★ ★

The County School Board had asked for $339,000. The $189,000 is less than a third of the $739,000 in state and county funds appropriated for public schools the last year the county operated them.

County School Supt. T. J. McIlwaine, said he did not know if the $189,000 voted by the supervisors would be adequate.

ONE OBSTACLE

One remaining obstacle to reopening the schools is the hiring of teachers. The term begins in less than three months.

★ ★ ★

The supervisors' action was welcomed by Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr., who said, "It would appear that this represents a bona fide effort by the governing body of Prince Edward County to comply with the order of the federal court."

★ ★ ★

Negro children went without formal education for four years. Last summer a system of free schools supported by public contributions was organized. It is to end in August.

Waterford Twp. Police Have 775 Complaints

Waterford Township police handled a total of 775 complaints during May and made 30 arrests.

Included in the complaints were 119 larcenies, 41 breaking and enterings and two stolen cars.

Wallace Talk Is Boycotted

Two State Units Leave JC Keynote Speech

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Delegates from Connecticut and Massachusetts rebuffed Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace as he delivered the keynote address Tuesday to the national Junior Chamber of Commerce convention.

Expressing "shock and disbelief" that Wallace would keynote the convention, the 75-member Connecticut delegation stayed away from the Dallas Memorial Auditorium.

★ ★ ★

The Massachusetts delegation remained seated as some 7,500 other delegates gave Wallace a standing ovation.

The Connecticut group issued a formal statement saying Wallace is a "known racial segregationist."

OPINIONS CONTRARY

"The Connecticut delegation feels that Gov. Wallace's actions and opinions are contrary to the United States Constitution and the Jaycee creed," the statement said.

Robert E. Joyce of West Haven, Conn., said the Connecticut delegation did not object to Wallace's addressing the convention as such. But he said they were opposed to his making the keynote address.

★ ★ ★

"The function of the keynote speaker is to set the tone of the convention," the statement said.

Connecticut Jaycee President Joseph McGuinness of Hartford met with the delegation Tuesday morning and decided on the walkout.

COURT CRITICIZED

Wallace criticized the U.S. Supreme Court in a prepared speech that was often interrupted by loud cheers. One man shouted "Go, George, go!" and several Confederate flags were waved in the audience.

The Alabama governor, who said earlier in the day that he was still actively seeking the American presidency, said recent decisions of the high court and other federal courts have resulted in a "judicial oligarchy."

Exile Unit Claims Cuba Coast Mined

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Exile News Service claimed today that Cuba's northwest coast has been mined to prevent anti-Castro landings and to keep Cubans from fleeing the country.

The service, quoting underground sources, said mines have been placed 600 feet apart along the Pinar del Rio Province coast that faces Florida.

War-Scare Headlines Are Rare

European Editors Cautious Over U.S. Hard Line in SE Asia

LONDON (AP) — European editors are reacting cautiously to the hardened U.S. attitude in Southeast Asia. Some express hope the United States will be cautious, too, especially over war with Red China.

War-scare headlines have been rare. Many newspapers did not even give front page display last weekend to Washington reports apparently intended as a warning to Communist China and North Viet Nam to leave their southern neighbors alone.

★ ★ ★

Editors who saw a real risk of war with Peking cautioned against "brinkmanship." There was no editorial urging for European countries to rush support for the United States in Southeast Asia.

Some commentators said the United States should first persuade the South Vietnamese and other threatened peoples to put up a stiffer fight of their own.

RUNDOWN OF EVENTS

BRITAIN—Only the Sunday Observer gave front page space to a Washington Report headlined: "U.S. ready to risk war with China."

★ ★ ★

British government sources have indicated Washington was not expecting military support from Britain because this country has its hands full with Malaysia, Cyprus and Aden.

★ ★ ★

FRANCE—The French support America's hard stand in Southeast Asia—but only if it is to negotiate from a position of strength. The French contend, with their own disastrous experience in mind, that a guerrilla war cannot be won—and they want no part of a clash with China. They favor negotiation and the eventual neutralization of all Southeast Asia, and insist such negotiations would have to involve Red China.

★ ★ ★

WEST GERMANY — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard told a recent news conference that his country must stand by its American ally in Southeast Asia—morally. The West German government has drawn the line at giving military assistance.

GERMAN QUESTION

Editorially, Hamburg's mass circulation Bild-Zeitung wondered whether "the current American 'escalation' effort aims to scare or rattle the opponent or whether this means to release an apparatus for sharper warlike action."

★ ★ ★

NETHERLANDS — The Dutch newspapers speculated on both the wisdom and possible effectiveness of U.S. actions.

★ ★ ★

The Christian Democrat Volkskrant interpreted the stiffer Washington tone as an expression of "desperation," and added: "The State Department and the Pentagon learned nothing from the West's painful experiences in East Asia."

Both the Volkskrant and the liberal Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant speculated that the Johnson administration's increased toughness was intended partly to counteract demands of Republican Barry Goldwater for sterner action against the Reds.

Words Drop That Irk Pop

Father Finds Phrases Familiar

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks that fathers get tired of hearing:

"Don't take off your shoes. Don't you remember — we're going out tonight."

"Well, the cat finally had her kittens today. What are you going to do about them?"

BOYLE

"That's your father coming in now, young man. Just wait until I tell him what you've been up to all day."

"You can spank me if you want to, Dad. But if you do — don't expect any present from me next Fathers Day."

★ ★ ★

"No, I'm not going to cut the roast. You slice it. After all, that's man's work."

"I don't understand why you don't want to talk to me about your office. Other husbands I know love to discuss their jobs with their wives. They even ask for their advice."

GETTING CHUMMY

"What's this blonde hair doing on your coat? We are getting real chummy with our new secretary, aren't we?"

"What do you mean you need lunch money? What did you do with the $3 I gave you yesterday?"

★ ★ ★

"No, I'm not going to another PTA meeting alone. It's your duty to go just as much as it is mine."

"Daddy, it's not fair for you to hog the television set. Who wants to listen to another old political speech? We want to watch that new program, 'Ratfinks in Space.' It's real cool."

TWO-YEAR PLAN

"I spoke to the orthodontist today about Danny's teeth. He says that to straighten them it'll take about two years and $750. Do you think we ought to go ahead now — or wait until the doctor takes Danny's tonsils out?"

"I thought you said your old man was such an old grouch, Judy? Why, I think he's real human—considering that he's a parent."

★ ★ ★

"You're tired? What about me? If you think slaving all day for a husband and three kids is any bed of roses, let me tell you that—"

"No, I don't approve of your running off to play golf with those lockerroom idiot friends of yours. This is the weekend you promised me faithfully you'd stay home and dig out the crabgrass."

"What did I do with your bowling trophy? I threw it down the incinerator last fall. You can't have an atrocious looking thing like that cluttering up the house for years and years and years."

"Aw, gee, Dad, don't you ever remember what it was like to be a kid yourself?"

New Soil Center Will Service State

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soil Conservation Service will establish a midwest technical service center in Lincoln, Neb., to serve Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and seven other states.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., in reporting the action, said the center will consolidate into four offices functions that have been carried on in 11 locations.

Hruska said other consolidated centers will be located in Fort Worth, Tex., Portland, Ore., and Upper Darby, Pa.

Agricultural Dept. Pays $80 Million for Beef

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department officials testified Tuesday they have used about $80 million for an emergency purchase program to bolster beef prices this fiscal year.

And S. R. Smith, administrator of the department's marketing services, said another $170 million will be available for use in the fiscal year which begins July 1 if it is needed.

Largest Centrifuge Built in California

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP)—Scientists here are building what they call the world's largest centrifuge—a machine so big it can take four men on 30-day simulated space flights.

★ ★ ★

Two capsules mounted at any point on the 150-foot rotating arm each will carry two men, equipment and provisions sufficient for a month's spin, scientists say.

★ ★ ★

Researchers hope that studying human reactions to the prolonged rotation will give them clues on how man can live and work in space.

Start I-94 Rest Area

LANSING (AP) — Survey crews have started work on the first freeway rest area on I-94 between Detroit and Port Huron. The State Highway Department reports the rest area to cost about $160,000, will be located just south of Marysville.

Hucker to Serve on National Committee

Red China Difficult Problem—OU Professor

Recognition of Red China, according to an Oakland University professor, cannot be reduced to a simple question of yes or no.

"History has caught us in a terrible bind," says Charles O. Hucker, chairman of the history department and the Asian studies program at Oakland.

Hucker, acknowledged authority on China, has been chosen to serve with nine other scholars on a national committee on Chinese civilization.

Under the auspices of the American Council of Learned Societies, the committee will work to stimulate and coordinate research on traditional Chinese history and culture.

Viewing the China situation of today, the OU professor suggests that patience might be the best course for America to follow.

He points out that recognition might not solve all problems. For example, he wondered if Peking might insist that Nationalist China be thrown out of the United Nations before accepting a U.N. seat.

CHARLES O. HUCKER

Or, what happens to the two million living on Formosa? Can the U.S. abandon free China?

These questions have placed this country "in a bind," which Hucker feels might best be solved through patience. In fact, patience could be exercised in other areas of foreign affairs.

* * *

"We got terribly impatient with Nehru, who perhaps achieved the miracle of the century by keeping India going," said Hucker.

NOT PREPARED

He added that India was not prepared for independence in 1947 when it had 400 million illiterate with the power to vote.

"Like Nehru," explained Hucker, "when he did something we didn't like we regarded him as against us, but he was not so much against us as he was FOR India."

Underlying America's impatience is the fallacy that everyone else would be an American if he could, said the OU professor.

* * *

"The world of the future is not necessarily going to be an American world."

WON'T GO AWAY

Hucker said that Americans have to realize that China is not going to go away and is likely to become increasingly successful. He predicted that Red China would follow the path of the Soviet Union.

"Americans assume that communism in China isn't going to work. However, they (the Chinese) are making it, although it is true they have not broken through to our level."

The China expert, who was a Rockefeller Foundation postdoctoral fellow in China and Japan from 1952-54 and has been a consultant on Oriental studies to the U.S. Office of Education and the Ford Foundation, does see some obstacles for the Red Chinese.

* * *

TRUE MARXISTS

Thus, he added, they cannot accept Russia's philosophy of peaceful coexistence and economic competition. Such proposals, said Hucker, would be treason to the true Marxist-Leninist.

And what problems face Red China?

The OU professor said that poverty and population haunt the Chinese, while pride and perspicacity will help them offset their shortcomings.

* * *

Explaining, Hucker said that China has always been a giver of civilization. The Chinese, he added, are very history conscious. They believe that every generation must reachieve China's status.

TREMENDOUS DRIVE

"This gives a tremendous national drive toward solving their problems. And they're willing to sacrifice."

* * *

Hucker thought the militant communism that now characterizes Red China leaders would gradually dissipate as the nation becomes more of a "have" nation. He expressed faith in the basic reasonableness of the Chinese.

'Church Stand Won't Alter'

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — High Vatican circles predicted today that no major changes will be made in the Roman Catholice Church's ban on contraceptives including the new oral pills.

But they said that minor changes are possible.

Pope Paul VI, in a major speech yesterday, left the door open for possible changes in the church's viewpoint. He said the "extremely complex and delicate problem" is under study.

But he warned that, until an official decision is reached, the ban on contraceptives still stands.

Vatican circles said indications are that no major changes will come out of the study — "and certainly not the general use of contraceptives for birth control."

As to minor changes, they said that undoubtedly the "main point" to be decided on would be whether the new oral pills could be used in serious cases, for example, if the wife would be in real physical danger of death if she became pregnant.

The late Pope Pius XII said in 1958 that the oral pills could be used only if a doctor prescribed them for uterine ailments and only if there was no intention of preventing pregnancy, thought the treatment might make the wife temporarily sterile.

Pope Paul, in yesterday's speech to a group of 26 cardinals in the Vatican library, declared that though birth control is under study, "meanwhile we frankly say that so far we have no sufficient motive to consider surpassed and therefore not compulsory the rules given out by Pope Pius XII in this regard.

Nova 6-Passenger Station Wagon

CHEVY II by Chevrolet

If you thought Chevy II was thrifty before, you should see your Chevrolet dealer now

You couldn't pick a better time to buy one! Stick with Chevy II and you'll go places this summer—economically. Spacious wagons. Sedans. Sporty Sport Coupes. Take your pick. They're all tightwads.

The Nova wagon for instance, like all Chevy II's, adjusts its own brakes. It's got a Delcotron generator to lengthen the life of your battery. All the engines are real scrooges with gas. And the rocker panels beneath the doors take in rain water to flush themselves free of rust-causing salt and dirt.

Inside the Nova wagon, where you can seat six anglers with tackle boxes, there's deep-twist carpeting surrounded by vinyl that's as washable as tile. Behind that, a storage area with as much room as the insides of seven good-sized refrigerators. And that kind of space is going to bring home a lot of sunfish.

CHEVROLET TRADE 'N' TRAVEL TIME FOR THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMERS

As for rough terrain, Chevy II gobbles it up painlessly. And quietly. The unitized body is turtle-tight. The same unique single-leaf rear springs that contribute to Chevy II's smooth ride are also geared to take more of a beating than comparable multi-leaf springs. These springs can't squeak and never need lubricating.

This all naturally leads us to price. Your Chevrolet dealer has that pleasant story. Why don't you two get together and make some vacation plans.

Detroit Splits Twin Bill With Athletics

Ex-Bengal Smith a Devilish Angel

By The Associated Press

When Hollywood made the movie, "Angels in the Outfield," they weren't talking about Willie Smith. All of the Angels, however, are talking about him now.

The movie was a story of the heavenly kind of angels in the outfield of the Pittsburgh Pirates. But Smith, a Los Angeles Angel, has been a devil at bat.

The pitcher turned outfielder lashed two singles and a two-run homer Tuesday night, sparking Los Angeles to a 2-0 triumph over Washington. The victory was the seventh straight for the Angels, equalling the longest winning streak in the majors this season.

It also marked the second consecutive night Smith won games with his bat. His pinch-hit single the night before drove in the tie-breaking run in a 5-2 victory over the Senators.

ONCE PITCHED

The 25-year-old lefty was a pitcher until Manager Bill Rigney decided Smith deserved a trial as a hitter. Rigney now believes there's never been anyone more deserving.

Smith reached the majors last year with Detroit. He pitched in 11 games, gaining a 1-0 record and a 4.50 earned run average. The Angels acquired him April 29 in a trade for Julio Navarro.

As a southpaw hurler this season, Smith has a poor 1-4 record in 14 relief appearances and one start but has a respectable 2.81 ERA.

When Smith was inserted into the line-up for his hitting, Rigney didn't fool around. The manager placed him in right field and made him the No. 4 hitter. Smith's performance Tuesday night rocketed his average 40 points to .319. He has two home runs and 10 runs batted in for 47 times at bat.

His pinch hitting record is even more amazing. He has seven hits in 14 chances, with five of the hits coming in his last seven tries.

That's pretty heavenly in Rigney's book.

Elsewhere in the AL Tuesday night, Baltimore nipped New York 9-8, Chicago blanked Boston 2-0, Minnesota whipped Cleveland 6-2 and Detroit trampled Kansas City 9-3 after losing 2-1.

FOUR HITTER

Smith's homer in the eighth inning broke up a scoreless pitching duel between the Angels' Dean Chance and Bennie Daniels. Chance wound up tossing a four-hitter for his fifth victory against three defeats. The shutout reduced his ERA to 1.91.

The Yankees appeared well on their way to an easy victory when the Orioles struck for seven runs after two were out in the eighth. Pinch hitter Charley Lau ignited the comeback with a single and climaxed it with a run-scoring double.

Brooks Robinson and Willie Kirkland each singled home two runs in the inning. When it was all over, Baltimore was in first place one-half game ahead of New York. Elston Howard, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris homered for the losers.

Fred Talbot scattered eight hits for the White Sox. Pete Ward homered, and J. C. Martin knocked in Chicago's second run with a double in the sixth inning.

Harmon Killebrew smashed his 23rd homer in the Twins' triumph. Jim Kaat hurled a five-hitter, losing a shutout in the ninth on Bob Chance's two-run single. Kaat singled home one of Minnesota's three runs in the second.

Tigers Downed in Opener, Win Nightcap, 9-3

Ex-Teammate Wrecks Bengals in 1st Game With 2-Run Single

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Those ex-Tigers just don't want to fade away—they'd rather haunt the Detroit management.

Rocky Colavito, traded to Kansas City after four years with the Tigers, made them remember the hard way Tuesday night when he drilled a two-run, fifth-inning single to lead the Athletics to a 2-1 victory over the Tigers in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader.

But a couple of sterling pitching performances by Tiger youngsters were enough to make even the most diehard fan forget — at least a little—the Tiger trades.

Southpaw Mickey Lolich scattered seven hits in the nightcap as the Tigers routed the A's 9-3.

Young Joe Sparma, former Ohio State quarterback, pitched the first six innings of the opener in his first major league starting assignment.

ONLY ONE RUN

And he pitched well enough to win, but three Kansas City hurlers scattered seven hits and held the Tigers to a lonely run.

The teams meet again tonight. Ed Rakow, 3-6, will be on the mound for the Tigers and Diego Segui, 6-6, was slated to pitch for the A's.

Lolich, who yielded only one hit after a two-run Kansas City fourth, hiked his record to 7-5 with the win. He had plenty of hitting support, including a grand slam home run by Dick McAuliffe in a five-run eighth inning.

The A's looked like they might have Lolich on the ropes in the fourth.

With two out, Doc Edwards singled and rookie Ricardo Joseph doubled for his first major league hit. Nelson Matthews lined a double to right and scored both base runners.

TIGHTENED BELT

But Lolich tightened his belt and retired the next 13 men in a row before Colavito doubled in the ninth.

Sparma pitched well enough to win most games but his support from Tiger batters was almost nonexistent.

Sparma's fast ball was humming but the youngster had control problems. He didn't allow a hit through the first four innings, although he walked four.

In the fifth, Kansas City touched him for two hits and two walks, to open up the game.

Nelson Mathews led off with a single to left and winning pitcher John O'Donoghue moved him to second with a bunt. Then Sparma lost his control and walked Wayne Causey and Dick Green to fill the bases.

Ed Charles smashed a ball back to the mound, but Sparma knocked it down and recovered it in time to force the runner at the plate.

But on his second pitch to Colavito, the Rock drilled a single to left to score two runs.

INSPECTION — Double Fizz gives his winning trophy a quick inspection as it is held by rider Debbie Willson of Bloomfield Hills. The trophy was for first place in Class 1-B (14-17-year-old exhibitors) of the Joan Coulson Memorial Trophy Class during yesterday's competition at the Detroit Horse Show on the Bloomfield Open Hunt grounds.

Local Entries Tops

Double Winner at Horse Show

Third Day of Action for BOH Equestrians

Local entries moved into the spotlight at the Detroit Horse Show by claiming the two biggest awards during the morning and afternoon competition.

Alison Cram of Birmingham and the host Bloomfield Open Hunt took first place in two equitation events and in the process won the Michigan Hunts Perpetual Trophy Class.

That came for her riding form aboard Sonnino in the equitation — 12 through 17 years — over fences class. They also were judged best in the earlier 14-17 years not-to-jump event.

Double Fizz, ridden by Bloomfield Hills' Debbie Willson, earned the Joan Coulson Memorial Trophy for working hunters.

The latter competition was divided into two classes with the BOH duo edging Huntington Woods' Sad Sack, ridden by Leslie Lenchner.

Penny Mitchell of Birmingham took an equitation championship as did six-year-old Ruth Ann Schwartz of Northville and Detroit's Linda Wasserman.

The only other working hunter event was won by a Michigan entry was the open conformation hunter class. Cold Climate, owned by Mrs. J. Deane Rucker of Grosse Pointe, was best in the class.

There was no competition last night, but the riders were out again early this morning for a day of hunter and jumper classes.

Trophies at stake today include the Deborah Jean Scott Memorial Trophy, the PHA Trophy national championship and the Mountain Breeze Memorial Trophy.

Olympic Committee Juggles Hot Potato

(The following column was printed in The London Observer.)

A hot potato has landed in the lap of the International Olympic Committee and they will ignore it at their peril. The chosen venue for the 1968 Olympic Games — Mexico City — is so high (nearly 1½ miles) above sea-level that heart trouble is a real risk to competitors in endurance events.

That is the opinion of Germany-born Dr. Ernst Jokl, of the University of Kentucky. He has sent his paper to the I.O.C.

★ ★ ★

In Dr. Jokl's view it would require some 10 weeks for endurance competitors to acclimatize themselves.

If this is so, it would obviously be impossible for genuine amateurs, such as the British Olympic long-distance runners, to secure the necessary time off work for the 1968 Games.

Dr. Jokl confirms the view published in this column (The Observer, October 27, 1963). Over seven months ago we said:

"The winners of these events in 1968 should be those who have built up a high tolerance of anoxia. Those who can contrive to live in Mexico City, or even higher, for many months, and preferably a year or more, can alone hope to achieve significant acclimatization. This will be yet another strain on true amateurism." The Observer then also put forward a constructive suggestion:

★ ★ ★

"The best solution would be to take the endurance events to Acapulco, 180 miles away on the Pacific coast."

The last major athletics occasion held at Mexico City was the second Pan-American Games in March, 1955. In the marathon only the winner beat three hours, compared with the current Olympic record of 2 hr. 15 min. 16.2 sec.

★ ★ ★

That considerable runner, Osvaldo Suarez (Argentina) won the 5,000 and 10,000 meters double in the ludicrous times of 15 min. 30.6 sec. and 32 min. 42.6 sec., compared with the current Olympic records of 13 min. 39.6 sec. and 28 min. 32.2 sec. respectively; and compared more significantly with his own personal best performances of 14 min. 5.9 sec. and 30 min. 26 sec.

Amateurs Open Bid for State Golf Title

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — A field of 223 golfers, excluding defending champion Bud Stevens of Detroit's Western Golf Club, began the 36-hole qualifying round for the Michigan Amateur today at Belevdere Golf Club.

★ ★ ★

The low 63 scorers will join Stevens in match play Friday.

Among the entries is Pete Green of Orchard Lake, who tied the tourney's qualifying record with a seven-under-par 68-69—137 at Belevdere last year. He lost 1 up, to Stevens in the semifinals.

2 Golf Champs Meet in Ladies' College Tourney

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) —Sue Hilton, Canada's 1962 junior champion, was paired against Carol Sorenson, Wisconsin women's champion, in today's feature match of the National Women's Collegiate Golf Tournament.

Miss Hilton, representing Western Ontario University, eliminated medalist Sharon Wilder of Aquinas 5 and 3 Tuesday in a wind-blown first round of match play that was interrupted for 20 minutes by a thunderstorm.

Miss Sorensen, one of four representing Arizona State to make the 16-player championship fight, defeated Barbara Bubany of Missouri, 1-up.

Only one of the four from Arizona State, Kathy Farrer, was eliminated and her 1-up defeat came at the hands of Mary Lowell, also of Arizona State.

All-Star Elevens Sluggish in Pre-Game Preparations

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The East and West teams in Saturday's All-America football game each have a problem that can be summed up in one word: Offense.

The East's pass-receivers haven't been able to hang on to the low, bullet passes of Miami's George Mira.

The West, armed with new plays, appeared to be slow in making them work.

Despite those problems, 57 of 60 of the nation's top collegiate player of 1963 chosen to perform in the fourth-annual game gave their all Tuesday in 1-hour, 45-minute workouts under a broiling sun that sent the temperature soaring to 92 degrees. None was affected by the heat.

Coach Pete Elliott of Illinois decided to work on the East's aerial game. He had Mira roiling out for passes to the sidelines. Mira, named as the tentative starting quarterback for the East, created a problem for his receivers with his low, fast tosses.

Cornell's Gary Wood, a dangerous runner, hurled a much softer pass that was gathered in more often.

ON SIDELINE

Meanwhile, the East's third quarterback, Boston College's Jack Concannon, sat out the practice with a pulled left hamstring muscle. He is a doubtful starter.

On another of the University of Buffalo's fields, where the West drilled, Coach Bob Devaney of Illinois passed out new plays and then perspired as his players sought to carry out their assignments. They finally began to click, but not until near the end of the workout.

Included were plays featuring the aerials of Baylor's Don Trull, rated the top collegiate passer in the last two seasons, and Nebraska's Dennis Claridge. Both have been named as possible starters for the West, although Trull seems to have the edge.

★ ★ ★

Groundwise, Willis Crenshaw of Kansas State, a fullback, looked most impressive with his running.

Pass receivers who managed to snare the ball reportedly included the East's Paul Warfield of Ohio State and Sherman Lewis of Michigan State and the West's Mel Profit of UCLA.

The game, expected to attract a crowd of 25,000 to War Memorial Stadium, will be televised nationally starting at 8:30 p.m., EST by ABC. It is co-sponsored by the American Football Coaches Association and the Buffalo Evening News.

Sports Cars Will Compete at Waterford

Seven new makes of sports cars, which toured the Waterford Hills Road Racing Course for the first time last month, will again be pitted against about 120 "old timers" in two days of racing this weekend.

Appearing for the first time this year are NSU Prinz (Edward Austin, Detroit), Formula Libre (Larry Wilhelm, Warren), Mustang (Robert Acton, Livonia), Austin Cooper S (Conrad Lapinski, Birmingham), Cortina GT (Hugh Gordon, Grosse Pointe Farms), Sunbeam Imp (Jerry Tobin, Detroit), and three Formula Vee's (Roger Roeske, Dearborn; Tom Faulkner, Detroit; Walter Wolletz, Center Line).

RACE CARD

Six races are on the Saturday schedule with the first starting at 2 p.m.

The first of nine races on the Sunday slate will start at 12:15 p.m.

The Waterford Hills course is at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, six miles north of Pontiac on Waterford Road.

Dodgerless NL 9 Disappoints Alston

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Dodger manager Walter Alston, obviously disappointed that none of his players made the National League All-Star team, put it this way:

"It's up to the code of the players, of course, but I felt that Maury Wills and John Roseboro deserved to make the squad, especially Roseboro.

"Roseboro has been hitting very good and Wills was our most consistent player until he got hurt," Alston said Tuesday.

Alston may get a man on the team yet."

He is manager of the All-Star squad and as such gets to pick the pitchers.

He said he will nominate Dodger aces Sandy Koufax or Don Drysdale and also one of his relief specialists, Bob Miller or Ron Perranoski.

Detroiter Cracks Mark at Monte Carlo Course

Detroit amateur golfer Harry Latos set a new course record at the Monte Carlo Golf Club Tuesday.

Latos shot a 12-under-par 60 to break the existing record of 62 for the 6,204-yard course, set by the president of the club, Jean Charles Rey, mayor of Monte Carlo.

Latos set the record during a friendly round. He is vacationing here after competing in the British and French amateur championships.

MAKES OWN COURSE—Thor Bridge (right), ridden by Mrs. Gerald Helder of Holland, decides to set his own course after dumping his rider during yesterday morning's amateur working hunter class. The horse had taken three jumps on the regulation course when he balked at the fourth, spilling Mrs. Helder on the ground unhurt. Thor Bridge then proceeded on a course minus jumps. Stable master (left) has missed grab at loose reins, and mounted rider is preparing to give chase.

Nicklaus Tops Golf's Money List

CLEVELAND (AP)—The big money golf tourists are beginning to bunch up, but youthful Jack Nicklaus is taking steps to stay on top.

The 24-year-old Columbus star who paces the pack with $51,426 despite picking up only $400 in last week's National Open, has has an eye on the $20,000 top prize in the $110,000 Cleveland Open, which starts its four-day, 72-hole medal-play grind Thursday.

★ ★ ★

While runner-up Arnold Palmer ($49,651) and fourth-place Tony Lema ($40,561) passed up practice rounds Tuesday over the 6,821-yard, par-71 municipal layout — Nicklaus measured every inch of it.

Instead of cooking up a skin game with some of the other competitors, Nicklaus went out alone with only his caddy tagging along. He kept no score, but he had a scorecard full of notes when he came in.

WARNED AWAY

Also missing the practice jaunt were Ken Venturi, last week's surprise winner of the National Open, and classy Dow Finsterwald. The temperature was in the 90s, and tornado warnings were flying to discourage much of the talented field of 149 professionals and 10 amateurs.

★ ★ ★

Fifty of the pros had a picnic today as each teamed with three amateurs in a best-ball handicap round with $10,000 going to the play-for-pay group. The professionals paid no entry fee, but each of the 150 amateurs tossed $200 into the pot.

The $200 gave each amateur, in addition to the 18-hole jaunt with a top-ranked pro, six tickets and a parking sticker for the remainder of the tournament.

★ ★ ★

The professional shooting today's best round was due for a $1,000 prize and the pro in the leading foursome had an $800 payoff on tap. So one of them could possibly pick up $1,800.

Oriole Shows More 'Pull' Than Yank

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bob Johnson of the Baltimore Orioles is the unofficial 1964 champion cow milker of the American League.

The Oriole infielder, with a bit of conniving, defeated pitcher Stan Williams of the Yankees for the title Tuesday night prior to the Baltimore-New York game.

★ ★ ★

Williams, paired with a cow named Squeeze Play, squirted into an early lead before Johnson was ready—but that really didn't matter. Johnson had his operation planned carefully.

While sitting on a stool next to his entry, named Double Header, Johnson pulled a carton of milk from beneath a towel and poured an extra quart into his pail.

★ ★ ★

The deception brought a big cheer from the fans, but not from the local dairy sponsoring the angual national dairy month contest. The carton used by Johnson was from a rival dairy.

Single, Walk Spoil Perfect-Game Bid

By The Associated Press

Ray Culp has pitched his way back into the Philadelphia Phillies' starting rotation. All it took was a near replica of teammate Jim Bunning's perfect game.

A first inning base on balls and Len Gabrielson's sixth inning single came between Culp and perfection, attained two days earlier by Bunning, as the 22-year-old right-hander blanked Chicago 9-0 in the second game of a doubleheader Tuesday night.

★ ★ ★

No other Cub reached base against Culp, whose early season troubles cost him a frontline job on Gene Mauch's loaded pitching staff.

Mauch, thoroughly impressed after Culp's effort, announced that the National League-leading Phils will go with five starters henceforth.

"With Bunning, (Dennis) Bennett, (Art) Mahaffey and (Chris) Short working so well," the manager said, "we just haven't been able to give Ray enough work. The doubleheaders enabled us to use him more. Now he's pitching like he did last year."

BONNIE BABY

Culp, a $100,000 bonus baby five years ago, won 14 games in 1963, his rookie season, and led Philadelphia pitchers with 176 strikeouts. He reported with a sore arm this spring, dropped five of six decisions and found himself in the bullpen.

But three victories—including the one-hitter—and two complete games in his last three appearances have vaulted the young Texan back into the Phils' pennant plan.

The second game victory gave the Phils a split of the twi-nighter. Chicago took the opener 2-0 on Dick Ellsworth's five-hitter.

Second place San Francisco divided with Cincinnati, winning 4-0 before bowing 5-4 in 11 innings. Pittsburgh defeated New York 5-1; Milwaukee beat Los Angeles 5-2 and St. Louis nipped Houston 5-4.

Culp said after the game he relied mainly on his fastball against the Cub hitters.

ARM TROUBLE

"I had arm trouble late last year and early this season because I threw too much breaking stuff," he recalled.

He said Gabrielson's hit, a golfed shot off a low fast ball, surprised him. "I jammed him down and in, and he sliced it to right."

Culp wasn't ecstatic about his performance. "We're on top and I'm not a winning pitcher. If I was 10-5 with this club I'd have something to be happy about."

Phillie hitters were beaming after their 17-hit supporting role in the second game victory. Wes Covington homered, Richie Allen cracked three doubles and John Hernnstein had four hits, including a pair of doubles.

★ ★ ★

The opener was another story. Ellsworth breezed to his ninth victory in 15 decisions. Ernie Banks singled home one run and rookie Billy Ott doubled in the other.

Marty Keough's lead-off homer in the 11th inning earned Cincinnati a split with San Francisco and kept the Giants 1½ games behind Philadelphia. Jim Hart's eighth inning homer, his second of the game, had pulled the Giants even.

Juan Marichal scattered seven singles in the opener and ran his record to 9-3. The Giants scored all their runs in the third inning, Duke Snider and Jose Pagan singling home two each.

Dick Schofield drove in four runs, three on a homer, and Vern Law pitched his fourth straight victory as the Pirates handed the Mets their 11th loss in 12 games.

Easy Softball Win for League Leaders

Arro Realty's softball squad upped its lead in the American League to two games without moving onto the field last night.

Bob & Ken's (2-7) couldn't field a team and Arro (8-1) picked up a forfeit decision while UAW No. 594 (5-3), now in second place, dropped a 5-1 game to Sam Reeves (3-5).

In International League action, Pontiac Merchants (5-3) knocked Motorcar Transport (5-3) out of the loop lead with a 6-5 triumph, and Local 653 No. 2 (5-2) moved into the top spot with an 11-5 victory over Lytell-Colegrove.

The Reeves unit came up with four runs in the final inning to turn back the union crew.

The winners collected two hits in the rally and the losers aided the cause with a pair of walks and three errors.

Roger Reynolds went the distance for Reeves, yielding three hits and fanning eight.

First baseman Ed Backes scored the winning run for Pontiac Merchants in the sixth inning. He singled, stole second and came across the plate on a single by Clay Baker.

WINNING RUN

Motorcar came up with five runs in the fourth to take a 5-4 lead, but the winners knotted the count with a tally in the fifth and put it away in the sixth.

Jim Fisk, the winning pitcher, picked up a triple and three singles in four trips to the plate to pace the Merchants' attack. Dick Fitzgerald had a pair of safeties for the losers.

* * *

A 10-run second inning was all Local 653 No. 2 needed to trim Lytell-Colegrove. Four walks, three errors and four base hits produced the tallies.

Catcher Henry West stroked a two-run triple and a two-run single in the big inning to pace the rout.

British Want Pros at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) —Britain will make a determined move next month to bring the great names of professional tennis back to Wimbledon's green and rain-washed turf.

As the organizers of the 78th All-England championships surveyed the ruins of Tuesday's rain-wrecked session, they enthused over their recall-the-stars scheme which will be presented July 8 to the International Lawn Tennis Federation meeting in Vienna.

* * *

If approved, it could mean the return to major tournaments of such past masters as Lew Hoad, Ken Rosewall, Tony Trabert and Alex Olmedo. All are now in the ranks of the paid players.

Said Basil Reay, secretary of the British Lawn Tennis Association:

"We will make a hard effort to get the British plan through. It will be a terrific disappointment for Britain if we can't get an open Wimbledon next year though I hasten to add it is not the end of the world."

OPEN MEETS

The British plan proposes that tennis countries should be given sanction to stage experimental open tournaments during 1965-66. Alternatively, it says that whatever other countries do, Wimbledon should be allowed to go it alone with the experiment during the two-year period.

The British plan needs two-thirds of the Vienna vote for approval. It seems unlikely to be forthcoming.

The Australian Association already has said it will vote against the British proposals. The United States is expected to do likewise.

Tuesday's watery Wimbledon lasted just long enough to demonstrate again the rising standard of Soviet tennis.

Anna Dmitrieva, 23-year-old Russian girl, took the first set 6-4 in her first round match against Karen Hantze Susman of San Antonio, Tex., winner of the 1962 Wimbledon title. The match was called off with the Russian leading 2-1 in the second set after the slippery court surface had spilled Mrs. Susman five times.

* * *

Only a dozen contests were completed—less than one sixth of the program. But there was time enough for the two top seeds, Margaret Smith and Maria Bueno, to romp through their opening assignments.

Miss Smith, from Australia, crushed Annette Van Zyl of South Africa 6-2, 6-1. Brazil's Miss Bueno produced the full flow of her royal strokes to sweep by Carol Prosen of Orlando, Fla., 6-0, 6-3.

The opposition in both matches was only moderate but both winners showed the sort of form that Wimbledon fans would like to see in the final. In fact, there could be no more popular final than one pitting the graceful senorita against the tall and powerful girl from Down Under.

Russian Jumper Eyes New Record

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)— From the way he's going, it's just possible that Valery Brumel will break his own world high jump record in Los Angeles during the Russia-United States track meet next month.

The Soviet athlete, who already holds the world high jump record of 7-feet-5¾, leaped 7-4¼ Tuesday in an international meet for the best jump so far in this Olympic year.

* * *

Brumel, who is looking ahead to the USA-Russia meet July 25-26 as well as the Olympics in Tokyo in October, had the bar set at 7-6¼, but failed three times to break his world mark. That record was established last July 21 in Moscuw during the USA-USSR meet.

Mrs. LeClair Leads Golf Tournament

Mrs. Keith LeClair of Ann Arbor used a hot putter yesterday to take a four-stroke lead into the second round of the Women's District medal play championship at Franklin Hills.

* * *

Mrs. LeClair, the defending champion, picked up an eagle, a near hole-in-one and one-putted seven greens en route to a 40-38—78 yesterday.

Holding down the second spot going into the second round was Mrs. Dorothy Thompson with an 82.

Baseball fans of the city's Class A League found the 1964 season's "surprise" was for real Tuesday night.

* * *

Pontiac Business Institute dumped the runner-up Clippers, 7-3, and stamped itself as a definite factor in this season's title race.

The victory was the fourth straight for PBI after a dismal start. The newest entry in the seven-team loop is now 5-3 and only a half game behind the second-place Clippers.

All the scoring in last night's contest was packed in the first three innings with the loser failing to hold 2-0 and 3-2 leads.

DECIDING RUNS

Five runs in the bottom of the third, four of them unearned, decided the contest. Pitcher Bob Bogert tied the score with a single and Danny Greig delivered a bases-loaded safety with two out to bring in the lead runs.

Greig, who bats eighth, and Earl Gardner, the ninth hitter, accounted for five of the winners' seven runs.

Bagert yielded four singles while fanning eight batters to win his second decision of the young campaign. He permitted only one runner past second base after the third inning.

* * *

The defeat snapped a five-game winning streak for the Clippers, who will see action again tonight against Talbott Lumber and Friday night in a makeup game with unbeaten Huron-Airway.

Lake Bottom 'Give and Take'

There is a need in Michigan for ground rules which will guarantee an orderly measure of give and take between private and public interests in safeguarding and developing shorelines of the state's inland waters.

This was a main thought placed before legislators, attorneys, engineers, shoreline owners, government officials and others who came to Lansing last week to hear and talk about Michigan's changes along its lakes and streams.

★ ★ ★

During an all-day seminar, they were told by members of the conservation department and the office of the State Attorney General that the time has come for controlling fills, dredging and the installation of structures in these troubled waters.

Presently, no laws exist and no agency has authority to say what changes may or may not be made in inland waters.

"Every question of whether an improvement made by one riparian in the bottom lands fronting his property is a violation of the rights of another riparian or of the public must be determined in an individual court case," noted A. Allan Schmid, associate professor at Michigan State University.

"This is, of course, expensive for all parties concerned and it seems safe to assume that many uses of the bottom lands are being made today which if they were to face court action, would probably be ruled unreasonable," he added.

★ ★ ★

As proposed by conservation officials and state attorneys, this confusing situation should be cleared up by a package of statutory guidelines.

LANDS SPECIALIST

Such a set of laws would enable state agencies to cooperate with shoreline owners in making lake and stream improvements to benefit fishing, boating and other uses, according to George Taack, submerged lands specialist with the Conservation Department.

Speaking of water legislation in general, State Attorney Jerome Maslowski assured that no Michigan law could take anything away from the present rights of shoreline owners.

★ ★ ★

He explained, "The submerged lands of the inland waters will always belong to the riparian owner."

Even under the current common law, however, the use of these bottom lands cannot interfere with the public's right to surface waters which takes top priority, according to Maslowski.

Spring Count of Pheasants Shows Decline

Thumb Area Numbers Down 30 Per Cent; Hope for Rise

Pheasant numbers are down in Michigan this spring, but Conservation Department game men say that the bottom is not about to fall out of the state's ringneck hunting season.

Although spring surveys indicate the pheasant breeding population is 20 per cent below a year ago, this fall's kill could top the 1963 mark, they say.

It all depends on what happens during the bird's nesting season now under way.

In answer to those who are concerned about the pheasant decline which started in 1959, game men hold out the hope that ringnecks are nearing the bounce - back point in their loose cycle of ups and downs.

Over the years of department record - keeping, the birds have taken nosedives only to build up to high levels in a relatively short period.

With an adequate breeding population available to pace the way, it's a good bet that pheasants will soon be starting another comeback climb.

LESS CROWING

A closer look at the present picture reveals ringneck crowing counts dropped about 30 per cent this spring in the Thumb, southeastern, and central areas of southern Michigan.

The southwestern area had about the same number of male birds while the extreme western range and northern fringe counties showed gains over last year.

In general, it appears that ringnecks in areas of normally low-to-fair pheasant populations held their own or increased this year. On the other hand, the better pheasant country experienced decreases.

This year's level of nesting success will come into focus around mid-August when mail carriers have completed their two - week tally of pheasant broods.

Prehistoric Tribes Hunted Mastodons

LANSING (UPI) — The modern Michigan hunter has to go north to get the state's biggest game — the prize buck or, for the first time this fall, an elk.

★ ★ ★

For the prehistoric Indian who wanted a really big trophy the exact opposite was true — the happy hunting grounds were in the south.

If the meat supply was low, the way for these primitive hunters to hit the jackpot was to bag a mastodon.

These members of the elephant family, long extinct, were similar in size to Indian elephants but were longer and lower and probably were hairy.

The mastodons were browsers and lived in the lowland and swampy areas of the state. It is estimated they lived in Michigan from about 10,000 to 7,000 years before Christ.

LONG SHAFT

George Quimby, in his book, "Indian Life in the Upper Great Lakes," says the mastodons lived in the area about the same time as the Paleo Indians, who used a distinctive type of large spear point, probably fastened on a long shaft. He concludes they must have been mastodon hunters.

★ ★ ★

Some 150 whole or partial skeletons of mastodons have been found in Michigan. One, found in Lenawee County, was dated by University of Michigan scientists through the radiocarbon method as dating back to 7,616 B.C.

★ ★ ★

Interestingly enough, according to Quimby, all the spear points of these Indians and all the mastodon remains were found in southern Michigan.

No mastodon skeletons were found above Osceola and Gladwin counties.

Quimby has the greatest respect for these long-ago Indians as hunters.

★ ★ ★

"No other type of aboriginal spear point in North America seems as well suited for elephant hunting as the large fluted point," he observes.

★ ★ ★

The spear could be thrust, withdrawn and thrust again. It could go between ribs and other bonds. Also, the spear could be long enough and strong enough to reach the vital organs of the mastodon.

Such spears also could kill the giant beaver, deer, elk and caribou that lived in Michigan at the time.

Quimby theorizes the early Indian hunters first weakened the mastodon in some way—by hamstringing, snaring the feet or miring it in a bog. Then a group of hunters could spear the animal through the rib cage or belly.

It is figured mastodon hunting in Michigan ended about 7,000 B. C. when the climate became warmer and the huge animals either became extinct or moved north in decreased numbers.

Rearing Ponds Being Lowered

Transfer of Muskies Moved Up by DDT

Muskellunge rearing ponds at Wolf Lake hatchery near Kalamazoo are being rapidly drawn down by the Conservation Department in an emergency move to transfer more than 200,000 of these small fish into public waters before they eat themselves up.

The fish must be planted ahead of schedule in wake of a recent DDT spraying which accidentally hit seven ponds where they are being raised.

Effects of the spraying wiped out the ponds' food supply for muskies, leaving the cannibalistic fish to feed upon themselves for survival.

Although they will not have an accurate account of losses until the drawdowns are completed, department fisheries workers estimate that about 18,000 muskies have already died from the misguided spraying which was directed at a private trailer court adjacent to the hatchery.

In collecting muskies for planting, the department will hold back a sample lot of fish in warm-water tanks to check out the threat of delayed mortality which could nullify stocking efforts.

★ ★ ★

Under the premature plantings, the muskies' chances of survival will be less than if the fish had been able to grow to larger size in rearing ponds.

While the department makes a last-ditch effort to save the muskies and assess damages, state attorneys are getting ready to carry out investigation in an opening bid to seek settlement for losses suffered.

Southern Deer Hunt Studied

Oakland County Area Included in Plan

Preliminary plans of the Conservation Department point toward a modest harvest of antlerless deer this fall in areas of 10 Southern Michigan counties where these animals are doing greatest damage to farm crops and private tree nurseries.

★ ★ ★

Previewing recommendations which will be presented to the Conservation Commission for formal action in August, the department last week spelled out the urgent need for special seasons in:

Ottawa, Muskegon, Berrien, Kalamazoo, Van Buren, Calhoun, Barry, Eaton, Livingston and Oakland Counties.

The proposed areas are key trouble spots in Southern Michigan where whitetails eat up an estimated $300,000 worth of crops each year.

★ ★ ★

Their highways figure in a large share of the deer-car collisions which have soared to record highs in Southern Michigan during recent years.

Lamprey Continue to Decline

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Sea lamprey catches in spawning streams along Lake Superior still are running 80 per cent below those of 1961, but the Great Lakes Fisheries Commission isn't yet ready to predict flatly it can eliminate the trout-killing eel.

Chairman A. L. Pritchard of Ottawa told the opening of a two-day meeting of the commission Wednesday that lamprey eradication results appear heartening but qualifications still are necessary in predicting what success the future holds.

Pritchard said that to last Friday 9,184 lamprey had been trapped this year in 30 barriers across the mouths of spawning streams emptying into Lake Superior, compared with 7,246 taken to June 12 a year ago.

But in the same span of 1961, before chemical poisoning of spawning streams was completed, 52,477 lamprey were taken.

Last year two new lamprey production streams on northern Lake Superior were treated with chemicals and a number of streams re-treated, but Pritchard reported:

"We cannot be sure at the moment that these treatments caused a further over-all reduction in lamprey production. The effect will not be felt until next year when the lamprey come up to spawn in the streams again."

Between birth and a return to spawning streams, the predatory eels spend 18 months in the lakes.

The commission is a joint U.S.-Canadian agency charged with trying to eradicate the lamprey which virtually has wiped out lake trout in all the Great Lakes other than Superior.

Even the trout population there has been drastically cut by the eel which attaches itself to fish and sucks out their blood.

CAN FISH RECOVER?

"A question which must be considered," Pritchard said, "is to what level must the lamprey be reduced for the program to be a success, and can lake trout be expected to recover and provide a significant fishery if the lamprey population is not reduced further than presently indicated by barrier catches.

"Since we do not know enough about the relationship of lamprey abundance and the loss of lake trout, we cannot predict final results without some qualifications."

He said chemical treatment was continued on Lake Michigan streams and that 90 streams on Lake Huron had been selected for possible treatments which kill lamprey fry but do not harm other fish.

Walleye Has Various Names of 'Distinction'

Spring is walleye season.

But to mention the "walleye" is likely to stir up a storm of controversy. Some fishermen we know won't grant him the stature of a true game fish; others hotly contest this attitude. And few call him by the same name.

Though opinions about this particular fish are varied, the fishing experts at Mercury outboards are quick to note that there is very little disagreement over the walleye's virtues in a frying pan. And he's even better when broiled over an open fire in the northwoods, if you're that lucky.

The walleye, depending upon the section of the country, goes under a wide assortment of monikers: walleyed pike, pickerel, jackfish, yellow or blue pike, and jack salmon, to name a few. Among men who say he's no fighter, the walleye is accorded several more — quite unprintable.

But the facts remain —the walleye is a great delicacy sought by literally thousands of anglers, and spring is a fine time to catch him — though you can get an argument on this score, too, from those who say autumn is best.

The walleye is a night feeder primarily. And the guy who works the shallows with small plugs and flyrod lures after sundown will do okay. To take them in the daytime requires a different approach, and a switch to the offshore depths.

Troll at the slowest speed possible, letting the lure bounce on the bottom. The instant you get a strike, cut the motor and mark the location. For where you catch the first walleye, chances are good for catching more of this schooling breed.

Watch your fingers, advise the Mercury folks. The walleye may be bashful about some things, but not about manipulating his dentures. Use a net to haul him aboard. Then a sharp blow with a small club will pacify him enough to permit handling.

Whatever they lack in fighting ability, walleyes make up in table qualities. And now's the time to prove it for yourself. Good eating!

Former Yankees Gene Woodling, Sherm Lollar and Billy Hunter are coaches under Baltimore Oriole Manager Hank Bauer.

Camera Shots of Family Pets Tricky Business

When photographing pets it pays to be tricky. And it helps to be smarter than the pet!

Cats, for example, will cooperate better with a camera lens if you provide a fresh catnip-filled mouse. As they play you'll be able to capture their amazing antics and striking facial expressions.

Similarly, a dog's attention can be weaned from the camera by supplying him with a rubber bone well-rubbed with juicy raw hamburger.

Nail the bone to the floor and he'll stay in camera range — and provide interesting studies in puzzlement!

Two other "musts" are patience and plenty of color film. The new Dynachrome color film which includes processing by the manufacturer, makes pet photography more economical because it costs 30 to 40 per cent less than other films.

Split Telephone Stocks

Rails Rally Advanced Market

NEW YORK (AP) — A vigorous rally by rails and strength in American Telephone's new, split stock featured a stock market advance early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Gains of most key stocks went from fractions to a point or better.

* * *

Du Pont added considerable beef to the averages by advancing about 4.

Brokers said that further publicity about prospective rail mergers combined with the fact that some rails were below their 1964 peaks in price attracted buyers.

AT&T STOCK

AT&T's stock, split 2-for-1, gave the appearance of a bargain to those accustomed to seeing it quoted at double its current price prior to the split, according to Wall Streeters.

Cigarette issues were uneasy as news came from Washington that the Federal Trade Commission issued a rule that by next year all cigarette labels and advertising be labeled to the effect that cigarette smoking is dangerous to health.

* * *

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 308.9 with industrials up 1.3, rails up .4 and utilities up .1.

Prices were higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Computer Sciences gained more than 2.

Corporate bonds were irregularly higher. U.S. Government bonds edged higher in quiet dealings over the counter.

Seek Hearing With Johnson

Wives Protest Rules Imposed by Railroads

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Wives of Michigan railroad workers have requested an audience with President Johnson in Detroit Friday in their battle against new work rules imposed by the railroads after a contract settlement.

One spokesman for the women said failure to be heard by the President would lead to a demonstration when he appears Friday night at a Democratic fundraising dinner at Detroit's Cobo Hall.

* * *

If the President doesn't acknowledge petitions sent to him by railroad wives from Michigan, Detroit area women will "make an attempt to get his attention" by picketing Cobo Hall, said Mrs. Joyne Lee of the Detroit suburb of Warren.

Johnson's personal intervention prevented a nationwide strike earlier this year but, said Mrs. Lee:

SETTLED NOTHING

"Johnson didn't settle anything at the White House. All he did was to force our men into an untenable position that amounts almost to slave labor."

Wives of Grand Rapids area railroad men met in Detroit Monday with other railroad wives to organize their drive.

* * *

A spokesman for the Grand Rapids group, Mrs. Donald Langford, said the women hope "to get our story across, to fight the injunction by the railroads and to tell the railroad man's story just once."

Mrs. Langford is one of 13 women halted by U. S. District Court injunction here June 5 from interfering with the movement of Chesapeake & Ohio Railway trains.

BROUGHT SUIT

The railroad brought suit May 28, contending that the women had stopped trains in Grand Rapids and Lansing—the state's capital — by sitting on the tracks. The injunction is an extension of one against the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Firemen and Enginemen or any agents "acting in concert with them."

Prices Are Firm on Board of Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market extended its recovery tendency in the opening transactions today as prices started off in a generally firm range on the Board of Trade.

Wheat and soybeans posted gains of about a cent a bushel in spots during the first several minutes.

* * *

Trade had slowed considerably near the end of the first hour with wheat ⅛ to ½ cent a bushel higher, July new grade $1.23¼; oats unchanged to ⅜ higher, July 60 ¼ cent; rye ¼ lower to ¼ higher, July $1.23⅛; soybeans ½ to ¾ higher, July $2.50⅛.

During Summer Vacation

Parents Can Inspire Students to Achieve

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

Summer vacation should be a time when parents and children have opportunity for more than usual contact.

NASON

It is from the parents the youngsters gain the desire to achieve, one of the key factors behind success in school.

When asked for the source of their desire to achieve, 90 per cent of the successful students in a group of 239 cited their parents as their inspiration. They had caught a feeling from their parents that was lacking in those students who were not trying.

One high school boy explained, "As long as I can remember I have known that my parents wanted me to do my best and expected me to go to college, and I have tried to meet their expectations."

At the other extreme was Roger, a nine-year-old in the fourth grade. Failing in all fundamental subjects, he did not finish work assigned and most of what he did was wrong.

While Roger had average intelligence and was clearly capable of at least average work, he apparently had no feeling of responsibility, no desire to achieve.

Roger's English teacher attempted to stimulate better work by appealing to his pride —with no result; in fact, it practically brought about a stoppage of work.

His math teacher attempted to shame him into working — also to no avail.

Roger acquired this attitude quite logically. His pampered, self-indulgent mother left his care, including discipline, sympathy, food and clothing almost entirely to maids.

His father, a successful businessman, was away for long periods on trips, returning with extravagant gifts. He seemed to have little rapport with Roger other than in a Santa Claus role.

No demands were ever made upon Roger in his home; in fact, he really did not feel himself to be part of the family.

To solve the schoolwork crisis, a tutor was employed. In the one teacher - one pupil relationship, Roger gradually achieved somewhat better results in both homework and classwork. Once the tutor was removed his work again deteriorated.

Cases like Roger's are not, however, hopeless.

Jay had similar, but not quite as extreme home conditions. He, like Roger, was somewhat of a guest in his home. He saw his parents only occasionally.

Jay's dismissal from high school for lack of effort brought the matter into sharp focus. His father got immediate help. In this case Jay came to realize that his parents cared desperately in spite of their past seeming neglect.

* * *

This, combined with help in establishing study techniques and habits, turned Jay into a happy, successful young man who has just finished his junior year in a university with high grades.

East took his ace of diamonds right away. It was well that he did, otherwise South would have made all 13 tricks instead of only 12.

JACOBY

North and South were not happy about the result because they had missed a laydown slam. I was asked to comment on the bidding.

I will start with South's jump to three hearts. Many experts would have bid two hearts only.

I would have jumped to three just as South did and continued to sign off with minimum rebids of my own suit from then on, just as south did.

North did not like South's three-heart bid, because North felt that South should not make that bid without some sort of support for spades.

This idea is bunk. It is nice to have a fit for partner's suit, but when you have a self sufficient suit of your own, you don't need this support; or you have so many high cards that you can see a probable slam in high cards alone.

In any event, North should have gone on to a slam after South bid his hearts for the third time.

North was probably afraid of a diamond lead through his king, but if South didn't have anything in spades and couldn't have anything more than the jack in clubs, the chances were that he would hold the queen of diamonds.

Failing that it was still even money that the king would be in back of the ace. So, at worst, North should have realized that the slam would depend on a finesse.

Dutch Pedalers Rule Road; Tourists Do Well to Join

NEW YORK (UPI) — Holland is a land of dikes, hikes and bikes as well as canals, windmills, tulips and wooden shoes.

Much of Holland lies below sea level, and the giant dikes hold back the waters of the North Sea.

No visit to Holland could be complete without viewing the man-made bulwarks which have withstood the test of time and tempest.

★ ★ ★

Hiking is almost a national pastime, and the tourist is more than welcome to match strides with the Dutch in annual walking events.

EVERY LAND

Almost every country in the world is represented in treks lasting up to six days.

The foreign observer also gets the impression that bikes are an integral part of Dutch life. Throughout the day, country lanes and city streets are crammed with bicyclists of all ages.

The Dutch claim you can tell a lot about a cyclist by the kind of two-wheeler he rides and the hours he rides it.

★ ★ ★

And since tourists might enjoy trying to identify the Dutch by the bike system, the Netherlands National Tourist Office (ANVV) gives some clues.

OFF TO JOBS

During the morning hours cyclists appear to the untrained eye to be practicing circus acrobats as they weave deftly in and out of four - wheeled traffic. These are clerks, office workers and others on the way to their jobs.

A good tip for American tourists who intend to drive during the early morning rush hour is . . . don't. Park the car and climb on a bike yourself.

That way you'll not only get to your destination quicker, but you will confuse other American travelers who are trying to identify the cyclists by their riding habits.

After the rush — around the coffee hour or about 10 or 11 o'clock in the morning — come a different horde of cyclists.

LUGGAGE RACKS

These are deliverymen and errand boys with specially built bikes. Some have heavy-duty luggage racks for packages and bundles.

The extra-long bikes accommodate the milkman's cans; the glaziers have a wooden rack on the back of the bikes to carry glass.

Window cleaners are easily identifiable — they are the ones with ladders draped around their necks.

The cyclist who is black with soot and has a rope around his neck is not on the way to a lynching party — he's a chimney sweep.

DOCTORS, TOO

At any time during the day, the neat-looking, rather conservatively dressed men with briefcases or little black bags are lawyers, doctors, businessmen and others who decided long ago to solve the parking problem by traveling on two rather than four wheels.

Dutch women also ride bikes — in the morning to the market, in the afternoon possibly to a luncheon, in the evening to the cinema or theater.

It is not unusual to see a housewife or young woman in a chic dress, silk stockings and high - heeled shoes pumping along the street on the way to some engagement.

★ ★ ★

She may be accompanied by her husband or date, pedaling along on his own two-wheeler.

AGE 5 TO 80

The ANVV says statistics show that cyclists range in age from 5 to 80 in Amsterdam.

5 Years Probation for Manslaughter

Five years' probation was ordered yesterday for a 19-year-old Pontiac youth who admitted the accidental fatal shooting of his girl friend.

★ ★ ★

Herman Walton Jr., 449 Howard McNeill, received the sentence before Circuit Court Judge Arthur E. Moore.

The youth had pleaded guilty May 25 to a charge of manslaughter.

He was accused of shooting Virginia White, 22, of 374 Howard McNeill in the neck with a 32-caliber revolver on May 14.

★ ★ ★

Walton testified the gun, owned by a realtive, fired accidentally when he took it to Miss White's home as a joke.

Statistics on Nigeria Included in Capsule

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI) — Mental health data and sports statistics from Nigeria will be among material buried in a time capsule at the New York World's Fair.

A. A. Ordia, chairman of this West African nation's sports council, and Dr. T. A. Lambo, a leading Nigerian psychiatrist, helped compile the information to be placed in Westinghouse Corp.'s time capsule scheduled for opening in the year 6939, a company statement said.

Graves Emphasize 'No Trespassing' Sign

LAMONT, Okla. (UPI) — A farmer near here is pretty emphatic in his attempt to keep trespassers off his land.

A big sign warns: "No trespassing, hunting or fishing; survivors will be prosecuted." Beside the sign are two grave mounds.

Country Mile Gets Shorter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The country mile, like the dollar, seems to have shrunk a bit during the past 200 years, according to a top government surveyor.

A recent survey of the historic Mason-Dixon line indicated that a mile went farther during colonial days.

The men who laid out the boundary between Maryland and Delaware in 1764 and 1765 used a measure that was about 10.4o 12 feet longer than the present-day mile.

★ ★ ★

These figures came from B. J. Meade, chief of the Triangulation branch of the U.S. Coast and Geodetic survey. (CG&S). The federal agency resurveyed the Mason-Dixon line, popularly considered the dividing line between the north and south, during 1961 and 1962.

LONGER FOOT

"Since measurements in the original (colonial) surveys are fairly consistent, there is some indication that the length of the foot 200 years ago was longer than that today," Meade said in a paper delivered recently to the American Congress on Surveying and Mapping.

He later told UPI that measurements by Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon seemed to tally with distances laid out by other Colonial surveyors.

This discounted the possibility that only Mason and Dixon used measuring chains that were too long, he said.

★ ★ ★

Meade figured the colonial foot was about one-fourth of an inch longer than the modern version.

OVER A MILE DISTANCE

In laying out the line, Mason and Dixon's men set up stone markers at what they thought were mile intervals. But the 1961 survey discovered that the markers were about one mile and 10 feet from each other. In some cases, the distance was a mile and 12 feet.

Meade said that since the errors were fairly consistent, distances must not only have seemed longer in Colonial days but were also measured that way.

In short, a person running a mile would have to at least 10 feet longer if he was going by colonial standards.

★ ★ ★

Overall, the government survey had praise for the Colonial surveyors. Meade said Mason and Dixon showed "an amazing degree of accuracy," considering the instruments available 200 years ago.

NOT OUT OF LINE

Although the markers were farther apart than they should be, they were not significantly out of line, he said.

The Mason-Dixon line during the pre-Civil War days was the boundary between slave and free states. Mason and Dixon, two English astronomers, made the survey when the Pennsylvania and Maryland colonies decided to settle their boundary dispute.

Several years after the survey, Delaware was formed from the three lower counties of Pennsylvania. The line then became the Maryland-Delaware boundary.

★ ★ ★

The new survey was made by CG&S when Maryland and Delaware officials agreed to restore and maintain the historic markers along the border.

Only 15 of the mile markers were found missing form the 87-mile-long line, Meade said.

Hearing Set in State Death

Murder Charged; Ex-City Man Victim

A preliminary hearing for a Bayport man, charged with first-degree murder in the fatal shotting of his brother-in-law and former Pontiac resident Gilbert C. W. Schmake Jr., was to have been held today in Bad Axe.

Michael Walters, 25, is accused of the shotgun slaying of Schnake, 27, the father of six children, on the morning of June 13 in Bayport.

Schnake is the son of Mrs. Mary Nichols, 70 S. Tasmania, and Gilbert Schnake, 344 Eileen, Bloomfield Township.

Huron County Prosecutor Jack Schubel said the shooting occurred at the home of a friend of Walters where he had taken Mrs. Schmake following a disagreement between her and her husband.

★ ★ ★

Schnake was fatally wounded with a blast from a 16-gauge shotgun after he arrived to take his wife, Barbara, home, according to Schubel.

The prosecutor said that Walters has made no statement in his defense but quoted Walters as saying that Schnake was "mistreating" his sister.

Fire Truck Uninsured

MOUNT VERNON, (AP) —Fire Chief John Cox estimated damage at $2,000 to $3,000 when as he was trying to start the fire engine, it backfired and gas was ignited under it.

The city then found it had no fire insurance on the fire truck.

It takes one acre of healthy forest 20 years to grow the lumber for a five room frame house.

High School Genius Is All-Around Type

CHICAGO (AP)— Richard C. Schroeppel, 16, likes mathematics, bowling, tennis, parties, the Beatles and girls.

Liking math more than the Beatles isn't out of the ordinary in Schroeppel's case: he's the best high school math student in the United States.

★ ★ ★

Schroeppel, who is being graduated today from Lane Technical High School, learned last week that he had scored first among the more than 225,000 students taking the national high school mathematics test.

★ ★ ★

"I was sort of hoping to win, but I didn't expect to," said the unassuming, dark-haired youth in an interview.

STARTED AT 4

Schroeppel, who learned to add, subtract and multiply when he was 4, is an old hand at taking—and winning math tests.

While in sixth grade, he won top honors in a high school contest sponsored by the Future Engineers of America and, as a 14-year-old sophomore, placed 12th in the nationwide high school competition.

★ ★ ★

"This fellow is a genius," enthused Dr. Arthur P. O'Mara, principal at Lane Tech. "Problems that bother the ordinary kid he works almost instantaneously."

Schroeppel, who reluctantly confided that his IQ is "over 200," doesn't let his intellect interfere with his fun. Besides his other activities, he belongs to a swinging teen-age group known, naturally, as The Group, which meets regularly for weekend parties.

NOT A BOOKWORM

No bookworm, Schroeppel explained that he didn't finish first in his class of 700—he was 32nd—because "I didn't want to spend all my time doing school work. I like other things."

Among the things he said he didn't like were fine arts courses.

★ ★ ★

"My mother forced me to take an art course, but I thought it was a waste of time. It disagreed with me."

Schroeppel is looking forward to beginning his college studies this fall at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Cambridge, Mass., where he will study math.

NUMBERS THEORY

"I want a doctorate in some variety of math, but I'm not sure which," he said. "Right now I'm particularly interested in numbers theory."

Schroeppel gives most of the credit for his success in math to his teachers and "a friend of the family who tutored me.

★ ★ ★

"What I'm really proudest of, though," he admitted, "was going through three-fourths of geometry in one night."

Richard and Marty Costar at Star's Literary Supper

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Carol Channing, the girl of the year, gave the party of the year the other morning at Teddy's Restaurant . . . and I don't know how to say this modestly . . . but, well shucks . . . I was the guest of honor.

WILSON

It was a "literary supper" starting at midnight, and at 4 a.m., I was still on my feet and, according to reports, on a lot of other people's.

No, I positively did not get . . . uh . . . out of line:

Nunnally Johnson, the brilliant writer-producer, once told me that after he'd been given a literary party, his child said, "Daddy, your eyeballs are bleeding."

"The very least you can do to show your appreciation for a party is to have a hangover next day!" he retorted indignantly.

But it didn't seem right to Carol, nor to my little literary outburst, "Earl Wilson's New York" . . . nor to people like Comedian Marty Allen who got rigged up in a Cleopatra wig, a gown, a white mink, and a lizard — instead of an asp—and did an Elizabeth Taylor-type poetry-reading.

Richard Burton — and Marty Allen—were the stars of Carol's party. Burton and Liz Taylor arrived about 1 a.m.

Marty snatched off his Cleopatra wig and put it on Burton's head, and Burton laughed and began singing. Liz laughed uproariously.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Anna Maria Alberghetti's romance with Claudio Guzman is back on: he's here to see her in "West Side Story" at the Westbury Music Fair . . . Maurice Gosfield (Pvt. Doberman) is entertaining guests at Flower-Fifth Avenue Hospital while being treated for hypertension . . . Guests at the NY Hilton look down on a roof sign at the Americana, across W. 53rd St., which screams at them, "HI NEIGHBORS, LIBERACE'S HERE!"

Two of the Folies Bergere beauties modeled the new topless bathing suits for gals . . . Rock Hudson danced the Jamaica Ska at the Peppermint Lounge with Ellen Wrigley, a pre-med student . . . Eartha Kitt, who's been donating money from her dance classes to Synanon House (for former narcotics addicts), will be in the film about it, with Sidney Poitier.

REMEMBERED QUOTES: "His wife not only edited his books but edited him" (Van Wyck Brooks, in "The Ordeal of Mark Twain").

EARL'S PEARLS: "'Judy Garland Married Twice In Week' —That's a record, even for a Hollywood star."

Long John Nebel, the radiocaster, got an inquiry from a listener "about that book you were discussing, titled 'The Tireless Stenographer.'" Actually, the book he'd discussed was "The Pious Pornographer" . . . That's earl, brother.

Indonesia Gets 'Outside Help'

Russ With Sukarno; Malaysia Threatened

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno said today Indonesia will get outside help for its campaign to crush Malaysia. He threatened the use of "combined forces" against the British-defended federation.

Indonesia's campaign against Malaysia is being opposed by combined forces, Sukarno said with Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan beside him, and "obviously we will face them also with combined forces."

★ ★ ★ ★

Sukarno, speaking at the dedication of a monument given Indonesia by the Soviet Union, said the Indonesian revolution is "now entering a new stage in crushing Malaysia."

"In this respect we are also combining anti-imperialist forces. We are not standing alone," he declared.

SOVIET SUPPORT

Mikoyan said that the Soviet Union always is on the side of the Indonesian nation in its struggle against colonialism.

It was Sukarno's first public statement since the summit talks on the Malaysian dispute collapsed in Tokyo last weekend.

★ ★ ★

Malaysia's Borneo territories are being defended against Indonesian guerrillas by 2,000 British troops and 5,000 Nepalese Gurkhas hired by the British, along with 5,000 Malaysian troops. Australia and New Zealand, both Commonwealth partners of Malaysia and Britain, have assured the federation of military support if needed.

★ ★ ★

Vast quantities of military equipment have been supplied Indonesia by the Soviet Union. More shipments of Soviet military hardware are expected later this year.

'FULL AGREEMENT'

Mikoyan, heading a parliamentary delegation visiting Indonesia, talked most of Tuesday with Sukarno. An announcement said only that they had reached "full agreement" on the Malaysia issue.

Wayne State U. to Help Supply Counselor Aides

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wayne State University in Detroit is one of 25 universities which have agreed to train 2,000 semi-professional counselor aides and youth advisers in a crash program to meet a serious shortage, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz announced Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Most of the courses are scheduled to begin July 13 and run through Sept. 15. Applicants will take examinations Saturday at their nearest public employment service office.

The training program is open to college graduates or persons over 21 with experience in sociology education, social sciences, social work or similar fields or with experience or training in working with underprivileged youths.

Countess Succumbs

LONDON (AP)—Agnes, Countess of Winchelsea and Nottingham, widow of the 15th Earl of Winchelsea and 10th Earl of Nottingham, died Monday. She was 53.

Lightning Hits Phone; Kills 6-Year-Old Boy

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — "It is as strange as anything I've ever seen," said Coroner Chester Hager as he ruled J. T. Marshall Jr., 6 was electrocuted by lightning Tuesday while answering a telephone.

★ ★ ★

He said the handset of the phone disintegrated but the cord leading to it was intact. The wall nearby and other parts of the telephone appeared undamaged.

The lightning preceded a thunderstorm, but Hager said no other visible marks were found on the house or telephone lines to indicate where lightning struck.

Sculpture Coming Alive

NEW YORK (AP)—Sculpture doesn't always just sit quietly in museums and get looked at any more. Some sculpture moves and makes sounds as visitors nudge the works or press buttons or throw switches.

Steelways, a publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute, calls the phenomenon "synaesthesia," meaning hearing stimulated and accompanied by illusions of color and seeing stimulated by sound.

Viet Nam a Campaign Issue in '64? Lodge Doesn't See It

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge said today he doesn't see how the war in Viet Nam can be an issue in the U.S. presidential campaign—"It involves the Eisenhower administration and the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, and the Truman administration."

"In history when you've had a disaster," Lodge told newsmen, "then that becomes a political issue, even if the politicians do not do anything about it.

"But of course there's no outlook of that kind for the time.

Lodge announced his resignation as U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam yesterday and said he was returning to the United States to help Gov. William W. Scranton's campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

★ ★ ★

The front runner for the nomination, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, said in Washington that the Johnson - McNamara program of indecision and vacillation has made it impossible for (Lodge) to carry out his ambassadorial functions properly and undoubtedly motivated his resignation."

But Lodge said he had been on excellent terms with President Johnson's administration.

In an earlier statement last night, he said:

"Viet Nam is on the right track, and with persistency, its freedom and independence will surely be achieved."

Lodge, Republican vice presidential candidate four years ago, said he is returning only to help Scranton, governor of Pennsylvania, and is not a candidate at all.

CANNOT BE DRAFTED

"I am not going back at all in order to connive at anything for myself," he said.

"I cannot be drafted and there are no hidden meanings."

The ambassador plans to leave Saigon Sunday, a year and a day after he was appointed by President Kennedy.

A U.S. military source said the military continued in Saigon expect intensification of the war against the Communist Viet Cong to result from the appointment of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to succeed Lodge.

EMPHASIS LACKING

However, some civilian American officials recently have expressed belief that insufficient emphasis is being given to political aspects of the war.

★ ★ ★

The appointment of Taylor will add fuel to this argument.

TWO FACES — It was all over but the fuming for members of the State Legislative Apportionment Commission yesterday. Temperatures Said Headed Into Fifties

Clear and cool with temperatures dipping into the 50s is the weatherman's forecast for tonight. Tomorrow will be partly cloudy with a high of 74 to 80.

For the remainder of the week, temperatures will register in the high 70s, about 2 degrees below the normal. Lows will range from 52 to 59.

There's a chance of showers Friday, but little rain is predicted until early next week.

Rights Trio Still Missing in Mississippi

FBI Heads Search in Swampy Area; LBJ to Send Ex-CIA Chief

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — Federal and state agents resumed a door-to-door and gully-to-gully search at daybreak here today for three missing civil rights workers.

★ ★ ★

A posse combed the swampy area in this east-central Mississippi section.

Allen W. Dulles, former chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, expects to leave today for Mississippi on a White House mission to look into the mysterious disappearance of the young trio.

The charred hulk of the station wagon used by the trio was found by FBI agents late yesterday at the edge of a swamp off a lonely road northeast of this central Mississippi town.

Philadelphia is the seat of justice for Neshoba County, called "Bloody Neshoba" by Mississippians for its past history of settling feuds by gunfire.

LID IS CLAMPED

The FBI clamped a lid on most of its investigation.

★ ★ ★

A Mississippi highway patrolman told a newsman: "The FBI has taken over entirely."

Highway patrol units conducted a house-to-house search late into the night. More patrolmen were expected today.

Missing are Andy Goodman, 20, and Michael Schwerner, 24, both of New York City, and James Cheney, 22, Negro from nearby Meridian.

They were last seen Sunday night in Philadelphia after they were paid a week fine for speeding.

JOHNSON'S ORDER

The White House announced that President Johnson had ordered Dulles to the state to coordinate the probe.

Dulles will confer with Gov. Paul B. Johnson, other top state officials and the FBI on the progress of the investigation.

'One Man, One Vote' Plan OK'd by Apportionment Unit

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George W. Romney today said there is a possibility Republicans will try to block use of a Democrat-drawn legislative apportionment plan in this year's elections.

LANSING (AP) — Under a Michigan Supreme Court order which left it no choice, the Apportionment Commision Yesterday adopted "one man, one vote" as the state's legislative districting principle.

It means the Democrat-sponsored, population-based apportionment plan favored Monday by the court is to be used for this year's election of state senators and representatives.

Adoption of the plan written by commissioners Richard Austin and A. Robert Kleiner was unanimous and on a bipartisan motion, but bickering and a party-line vote split marred the meeting's end.

All eight commissioners attended the half-hour meeting in Secretary of State James Hare's office where state history was made precisely at 4 p.m. on a voice vote.

Ten minutes later, after a loud demonstration of the party-line rancor which has attended the commission's short history, official copies of the new districts, bearing Hare's name, were passed out.

It will take 60 days for the plan to take on the status of law, sending the commission's constitutional missions, but the commissioners, sworn in last Jan. 1, headed home in the belief they had worked themselves out of a job.

For former Republican Gov. Wilbur Brucker, it was a sad 70th birthday. He has declared that his "ochairmanship of the commission is his last public office.

He presided as the Austin-Kleiner plan he so bitterly opposed was adopted, and had hoped to end the meeting "with no ill feeling—with a good taste in our mouths."

★ ★ ★

This hope was dashed when Kleiner, an East Grand Rapids lawyer, launched a verbal attack on Brucker and Gov. George W. Romney.

OUT OF ORDER

Brucker ruled Kleiner out of order and Kleiner's voice rose in a high-pitched shout:

"Are you refusing to let members of the commission speak on any subject? I object to being gagged. I appeal the ruling of the chair."

The roll was called with the same result that twice ended attempts at redistricting and

Bob Kennedy: 'No' to Senate

Leaves Door Open for Vice President Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy begins a sentimental mission to Germany tonight on the heels of his announcement that he will not seek the Democratic senatorial nomination in New York.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy's brief statement yesterday on the Senate race shed no further light on his future. But it left open the door to any invitation from President Johnson to join him as vice presidential nominee on the Democratic ticket.

Thus ended long weeks of speculation whether Kennedy would accede to the urgings of New York friends and Democratic leaders, move to the Empire State and seek the nomination to run against Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating.

"I deeply appreciate the loyalty and friendship of those who have urged me to run and who believe I could perform a service for the people of New York," Kennedy said in a statement handed out at the Justice Department.

★ ★ ★

"However, in fairness to them and to end speculation, I wish to state that I will not be a candidate for United States senator from New York," he said.

HELPS THINKING

William H. McKeon, New York State Democratic chairman, said, "Mr. Kennedy's announcement will undoubtedly help the thinking of some Democrats throughout New York. We hope to achieve a consensus on a candidate as soon as feasible."

There was little elaboration on Kennedy's statement from the Justice Department. But two key factors emerged as most influential.

One is the civil rights picture. Final passage of the rights bill, with all of its enforcement problems, is imminent. The beginnings of the "long, hot summer" in race relations already are evident. The attorney general is the nation's top civil rights strategist.

He has committed himself to staying on the job through

New Districts Called Fair by Dem County Chairman

Totaling up their gains in the latest legislative apportionment, Oakland County Democrats today called it "fair" and stood ready to defend the redrawn district lines.

Sander M. Levin, Democratic county chairman, said the new plan could give his party four of the 10 House of Representatives seats in the county plus one of the four State Senate districts.

He also listed two House districts and possibly two more in the Senate where Democrats have a fighting chance to wrest control from the Republicans.

"Now each party can express itself according to its strength," said Levin, who claimed the county's approximately 45 per cent Democratic minority would now be fairly represented.

Dem happiness over the so-called Austin-Kleiner apportionment ordered by the Michigan Supreme Court is similiar to Republican elation over the now-dead Hanna plan a month ago.

LESSER GAINS

Under that plan, Levin said the Democrats would have been lucky to gain one senate seat and more than three in the House.

"Our chances are now good in House districts 66, 69, 67 and 62 and we'll have a shot at districts 61, and 63. District 60 is difficult, but we would not count ourselves out.

"In the Senate races, we have a distinct edge in the 15th District, the 16th is Republican, the 17th a swing district and the 14th is Republican, but possibly Democrat."

★ ★ ★

Although Levin called the rejected Hanna plan a "real gerrymander," he denied that new legislative lines that split many cities in the county were the same thing.

"Why is it necessary for a city to have only one representative? City limits are sacred for purposes of municipal government, but why for legislative districts?

"The Republican plan had wide disparities in population. So I say, would a city rather be in two districts or underrepresented?"

Stating his view that the final apportionment was nonparti-

To Tighten Reins in Saigon?

Taylor Choice Wins Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who has never known defeat, thus to war-torn South Viet Nam soon to take over as U.S. ambassador.

He is expected to provide a single, tight and unified command over U.S. civilian and military efforts.

★ ★ ★

The soldier diplomat was named to the Saigon post yesterday by President Johnson after the resignation of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Taylor plans to leave for his new post in 10 days or two weeks.

Lodge said he was coming home to help Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton try to win the GOP presidential nomination.

★ ★ ★

Johnson's selection of Taylor for the hot spot assignment won strong approval on Capitol Hill.

PREDICT APPROVAL

Democrats and Republicans joined in predicting overwhelming Senate confirmation.

In South Viet Nam, Taylor will have under him two old friends in key spots — Lt. Gen. William C. Westmoreland as U.S. military commander and veteran diplomat U. Alexis Johnson as his political deputy.

Westmoreland, one of the most promising of the Army's younger generals, has been considered a "Taylor man" for about a decade.

★ ★ ★

He served on Taylor's staff when the new ambassador was the Army's chief in the mid-1950s.

CLOSE TO GENERAL

Johnson, deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs, has been close to Taylor for about 30 years.

He said in an interview, "We have no magic answers but we are determined to do our best."

Lady Bird Leaves Today for 3-Day Tour of State

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson is off today on her own three-day business and pleasure visit to Michigan before she joins President Johnson on a weekend trip.

She'll stay in Detroit tonight and then go on for a rest at Mackinac Island.

The First Lady's only official schedule is a speech in Detroit tonight before some 3,000 delegates attending the national convention of the American Home Economics Association.

She'll also attend a reception of the association afterward and stay overnight in a Detroit hotel.

Mrs. Johnson is scheduled to join the President in Detroit Friday night for a big Democratic fund-raising dinner and to go on with him during the weekend to Minnesota.

TO VISIT ISLAND

She is taking advantage of the time off in between to sandwich in a rest stopover at Mackinac Island.

The visit there will be the first vacation Mrs. Johnson has taken outside the Texas ranch since the family came to the White House.

The First Lady plans to fly to Pellston, Mich., tomorrow morning and take a launch to Mackinac Island, where she will remain until Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Johnson plans to take an afternoon plane to Detroit.

Believe Blast in Show

Two Die Amid Cheers

NEW YORK (AP) — A fireworks-laden barge exploded in a fury of rockets, flares and bombs on the Hudson River Tuesday night, killing two men. Thousands of spectators cheered. They thought it was part of the show.

Half a million persons lined the riverbanks in Manhattan and New Jersey for the fireworks spectacle, produced since 1957 by Macy's department store.

Two other barges, whose crews apparently were unaware of the fatal accident, continued firing rockets into the sky.

At the finale, 20 minutes later, spectators some distance from the blast off 96th Street, still were cheering. A hush fell on thousands of others as news of the blast spread.

★ ★ ★

John Serpico, president of International Fireworks Co. of North Bergen, N.J., said "a low burst that apparently ignited shells on the deck of the barge" caused the explosion.

Not Fair Play—Halleck

LBJ Prod Draws Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's call to Congress to go on a six-day workweek until next month's Republican national convention brought angry protests today from GOP House leaders.

"It just isn't fair play," said Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

"This looks like an attempt by the President of the United States to sabotage the Republican convention," commented Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the GOP Platform Committee.

The committee starts its sessions in San Francisco July 6, one week before the convention opens. Many members of Congress are on the committee. Many others want to air their views before it.

COUNT ON RECESS

Republicans had counted on the House being in recess the entire week starting July 6, with the Senate holding only token sessions.

★ ★ ★

The recess outlook has dimmed because of Johnson's reported insistence that Congress enact the civil rights bill and start action on his antipoverty program before the convention.

★ ★ ★

The President said at a news conference Tuesday he wants Congress to work longer and act on about 30 "desirable" proposals before adjournment.

He prodded the legislators to give his proposals their "full attention six days a week until the Republican convention" and then return to work after the convention.

FINAL ADJOURNMENT

Leaders had planned to seek final adjournment before the Democratic convention opens in Atlantic City Aug. 24.

Johnson listed these matters as among those he wants Congress to act on:

★ ★ ★

Mass transportation, wilderness preservation, area redevelopment, education assistance, Securities Act amendments, water pollution control, foreign aid, federal aid for hospital construction, extension of the food stamp program, and pay increases for government officials and employes.

★ ★ ★

His list also included extension of the debt limit and emergency excise taxes, the international coffee agreement, aid for highway construction, interest equalization taxes on foreign investments, the antipoverty program, medical assistance for the elderly, rehabilitation of the Appalachian region, housing, nurse training assistance, immigration law revisions, land conservation, juvenile delinquency, sales of surplus food abroad and water resources research.

Another Suit Filed on Waterford Water

A resident of Lake Oakland Heights subdivision in Waterford Township yesterday filed a circuit court suit seeking to nullify a contract between the township and Oakland County for construction of a water system.

Ellis L. Nordbeck, 3780 Embarcadero, filed the citizens suit.

Circuit Court Judge Phillip Pratt set a show-cause hearing on the 25-point complaint for 1:30 p.m. July 20.

Among the complaints enumerated in the suit is that bonds for construction of the water system were issued without submission of the matter to the electorate of either the township or county.

Nordbeck, a property appraiser for the Michigan State Tax Commission, also complains in his suit that the water system will not benefit all the township's citizens equally and that it would increase his present water rate 2.28 times.

TWO OTHER SUITS

Two other suits filed by the Lake Oakland Heights subdivision group are pending in Circuit Court.

One seeks to halt construction of the proposed 750,000-gallon water tower at Main and Walton in the subdivision.

The other complains that the township ignored deed restrictions in transferring control of the existing water system to the county.

Meanwhile, a group of Lake Oakland residents have announced plans to begin circulating recall petitions this weekend aimed at three members of the township board.

A week ago residents said that Township Supervisor James Seeterlin and Trustee John Coleman would be objects of an ouster campaign.

Maynard Peters, spokesman for the group, said today that Trustee Kenneth Preston's name would also be included in the recall petition.

Peters said that Seeterlin and Coleman have shown little concern for the individual, not only on the water tower issue but on other matters.

★ ★ ★

He said that Preston was included due to his "general indifference displayed at board meetings" and because of an incident that occurred at the June 15 board meeting.

CHARGE MEMBERS

Peters referred to an accusation by one of the subdivision residents that Preston and two other newer board members failed to study the tower issue thoroughly before voting to locate it at Main and Walton.

Preston heatedly denied that he had not studied the matter thoroughly.

The contractor on the proposed tower is expected to resume work there this week.

The same contractor also is constructing a 1.5-million gallon tower at Cass Lake Road south of Pontiac Lake Road. Both towers are a part of the $7.35 million water system.

Won't Seek Senate, Bob Kennedy Says

Johnson's present term. And his hands will be full of civil rights chores.

SECOND FACTOR

The second factor is his brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., whose back was broken in a plane crash last week.

Yesterday decision threw into role as head of the Kennedy family since the assassination last November of his brother, President John F. Kennedy. His injured younger brother — up for reelection this fall — will add to the demands on Robert Kennedy's time. And to run in New York, he feels, would require an immediate campaign.

The attorney general will speak this Friday on the first anniversary of John F. Kennedy's stirring speech to Berliners, when he proclaimed himself one of them in spirit. Robert Kennedy will speak from the identical spot in the John F. Kennedy Square in West Berlin.

From Germany he will travel to Poland, next to London, before returning during the first week in July.

Districting Called Fair by Top Dem

san, Levin termed it a victory for suburban areas in gaining representation.

★ ★ ★

The new plan does not have wide population gaps between districts.

DISTRICT SIZES

Senate District 15, in the southeast corner of the county, has 205,985 residents and is the smallest.

District 14, the largest with 207,094, has 12 townships and takes in a corner of Wayne County.

Other population figures are 206,908 for Senate District 17 and 207,029 for District 16.

Among the 10 House districts, the 67th, taking in Berkley, part of Southfield and part of Oak Park and all of Royal Oak Township, is smallest with 70,321.

Largest is District 65, with Bloomfield and Southfield townships, cities of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills and part of Royal Oak, with a population of 71,763.

SEES CHAOS

County Clerk-Register David Calhoun saw the new districting plan causing chaos among announced candidates, but not with his office.

"We've actually had no one file petitions as yet for the legislature. Also, a candidate can merely pay a $100 fee and avoid filing.

"But there's no question a lot of candidates are involved in districts that have been changed."

Charles L. Lyle, County Republican chairman, was unavailable for comment on the apportionment changes, but previously had strongly objected to the U.S. Supreme Court ruling which ordered states to district on a population basis.

Gunman Nets $500 in Holdup

Bandits Draw Blank at Local Restaurant

Gunmen held up a Pontiac market and a restaurant last night, escaping with over $500 from the grocery and leaving empty-handed from the other.

★ ★ ★

Shortly before 11 p.m., a lone bandit with a chrome-plated revolver entered Rudy's Market, 338 Central, and took $481 from the cash register and $45 from the wallet of the manager, Rolando Madrigal, 22, of the same address.

Madrigal, a clerk; Arthur Vegas, 21, of Detroit; and three young children were ordered to lie on the floor while the robber fled through the door.

After leaving the door shut, Madrigal ran out the front with a gun kept in the store and fired five shots at the bandit as he fled south on Sanford toward East South Boulevard.

★ ★ ★

The bandit wore a nylon stocking over his head.

SURPRISES PLUMBER

Fifteen minutes earlier, a plumber, Bill Jacks, 36, of 818 Pensacola was surprised by two gunmen who broke into the Log Cabin Restaurant, 577 Auburn, where he was working.

"This is a holdup. Drop your wrench," Jacks was told by the bandits, both wearing nylon stockings on their heads.

After explaining that the manager had just left, Jacks was forced to accompany the pair while they searched the building unsuccessfully for cash.

★ ★ ★

The robbers left without searching Jacks and without the $300 he had in his pocket.

Romney Asks Delegates for Strong GOP Platform

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan spent more than two hours yesterday pounding home his "platform - before - candidates" policy to Kansas and Missouri Republican convention delegates who are heavily weighted for Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The meeting was closed, but sounds of argument could be heard from the room. Several delegates said, as they left: "He didn't change my mind."

BIGGEST ISSUE

The biggest issue facing the country is the expansion of political power beyond that provided by the Constitution, Romney said.

"It is not over federal action to establish full civil rights, but rather over the rights of all people that are being usurped by the Supreme Court."

★ ★ ★

Romney was here for a two-day conference of governors on industrial problems and took the opportunity to invite the two delegations for a talk.

Lem T. Jones Sr., of Kansas City, the GOP National Committeeman from Missouri, an Richard Rodgers of Manhattan, Kan., his Kansas counterpart, were among the 30 delegates and alternates who accepted.

STRONG PLATFORM

Romney said the party platform should be strong in opposing what he called "the creation of an all-powerful federal government that violates the principles of the Constitution and the sovereignty of people."

Romney said he was pressed hard by one or two of the delegates as to whom he would support as the GOP's presidential nominee.

★ ★ ★

"I think the principles are more important a the permore importait than the personality," Romney said. "I'll support whomever comes closest to my views."

Will he become a candidate?

"I'm sticking by the position I took two years ago — that I would not be a candidate for national office in 1964.

HAD OPPORTUNITY

"I had the opportunity to declare myself at the recent governor's conference in Cleveland. I was urged by some of the governors and by former Vice President Richard Nixon to become a candidate."

Romney said he is concerned about Goldwater's opinions on the basis of the senator's public statements.

Admitted to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital was Wade Lorang, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lorang, 924 Welch. He is in satisfactory condition.

Wade was found floating face down in the 20- by 50-foot pool and dragged out by Judy Balbaugh, 14, of 2323 Solano, who was visiting Wade's sister, Colleen.

Cries of help brought the boy's uncle, John Lorang, 1409 Decker, and an employe from a nearby factory, Keith Taylor, 1128 Quinnif.

Both gave mouth-to-mouth breathing to the youngster until Walled Lake Police James A. Decker and the Commerce Township Fire Department arrived and took over.

Says Kennedy Almost Died After Crash

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) —An aide to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said Tuesday night that Kennedy had no pulse and his blood pressure "was almost non - existent" when he was brought into Cooley Dickinson Hospital early Saturday after a plane crash.

"We almost lost him," press secretary Edward Martin said.

Martin credited Dr. Thomas F. Corriden with saving the life of Kennedy, 32-year-old Massachusetts Democrat and brother of the late President John F. Kennedy.

A 6 p.m. hospital report Tuesday said Kennedy's "general condition is very satisfactory."

'LOOKS BETTER'

His brother, U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, visited the hospital again and said: "He looks a lot better than he did 24 hours ago."

Sen. Kennedy's administrative aide, Edward S. Moss, and the pilot, Edwin T. Zimny, were killed in the crash. Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and the latter's wife, Marvella, were injured.

FTC to Issue Rule on Cigarette Labels

WASHINGTON (AP) —The chairman of the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) announced today the agency has decided to issue a rule regulating the advertising and labeling of cigarettes.

Chairman Paul Rand Dixon said the purpose is to make sure that the public is informed about what he called the health hazards of smoking.

Dixon made the announcement in a statement prepared for the House Commerce Committee, which is investigating the broad problem of smoking and health.

Dixon did not give details of the FTC rule.

BEING PRINTED

He said that the rule and the accompanying statement are in the printing stage, and consist of more than 150 pages. He said it will be published in the very near future.

The tobacco industry strongly opposes any such action, and the head of the Public Health Service questioned on Tuesday whether the FTC now has sufficient authority to act.

In testimony before the committee, Surgeon General Luther L. Terry told the committee that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare believes that more legislation would be required before any federal rules could be issued.

The FTC recently completed a series of hearings started last March on its proposal to issue rules on labeling and advertising of cigarettes.

CONSIDERED RECORD

"The commission has completed its consideration of the record in this proceeding, and has determined that the public interest requires the promulgation of a trade regulation rule for the prevention of unfair or deceptive advertising or labeling of cigarettes in relation to the health hazards of smoking," Dixon told the committee.

"The commission's report would, I believe, be of great assistance to the committee and the Congress in determining Dixon urged the committee to withhold action on all bills before it until the FTC report can be studied.

Preparing for Opening Bloomfield Twp. Library

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — It will be fall before Bloomfield Township has a library of its own, but preparations now are being made for the opening.

The library board originally had expected to open the facility midway through the summer, but strikes in the construction industry have caused some delays.

The library will be located in the Devon Chateau Building now under construction on the west side of Telegraph south of Long Lake Road.

The 5,000-square-foot first level of the building will be leased by the library for $12,500 a year until a permanent facility can be constructed.

Site for a future library is on the corner of Echo and Long Lake Road.

WORK FOR OPENING

Rose Vainstein, appointed library director earlier this year, is working toward the opening.

She has been discussing plans with the library board and Baldwin Library officials and meeting with other township officials to determine the needs of the community.

The initial order for books has been placed along with a selection to be loaned by the Michigan State Library. Shelves and other equipment also have been ordered.

Meanwhile, township residents are using the service of Baldwin Public Library in Birmingham. Library cards can be obtained there.

TWO ALTERNATIVES

"I ask these two men to search their consciences. What constitutes greater gerrymandering: crossing a county line to create a district, or depriving a citizen of his right to vote by making his vote count half as much as someone else's?"

Brucker said he and the other Republican commissioners are discussing appealing to the U.S. Supreme Court against the state court's finding which favored the Austin-Kleiner plan, but said this will not affect this year's election.

The station wagon was found about 100 feet from State 21, 15 miles northeast of Philadelphia, where Owl Creek backs away to form a backwater slough.

Reporters Tom Gregory and Billy Rainey of the nearby Meridian Star said there was some speculation that the bodies of the three men were somewhere under the dark, cold waters of Owl Creek.

The station wagon was towed to a garage here and kept under guard. Two FBI laboratory technicians were to study it today.

It's Hunt Fair Fun Time

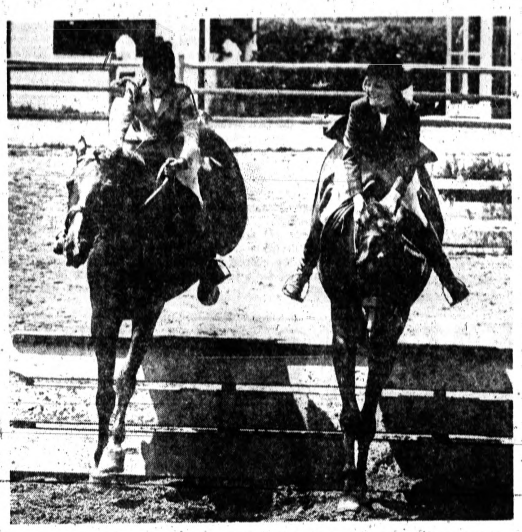
For the third successive year Mrs. L. L. Colbert (Daisy) of Bloomfield Hills is running a lemonade stand at the Detroit Horse Show. Shown tying down daisy decorations on her booth near the ring, Mrs. Colbert puts in long hours to help raise money for Oakland University scholarships.



Two of the younger riders at the Detroit Horse Show are Katie Monahan, 10, (left), the daughter of the James B. Monahans, Bloomfield Hills, on Tina and Blyth Davis, also 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Davis, Lakecrest, Bloomfield Township, on How About That. Both have been riding for at least four years. Katie is the youngest rider ever to qualify in both the medal and horsemanship classes at Madison Square Garden.

Riders of all ages in formal riding attire . . . the day was hot, but only the spectators complained.

Wind whipped the big tent housing the Hunt Fair at the 49th Detroit Horse Show out at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

This is the third year that the scholarship committee of Oakland University has sponsored a bazaar during the county's largest horse show.

Mrs. Ralph T. Norvell and Mrs. Harold Howlett, cochairmen, were everywhere Tuesday helping volunteers in the numerous booths. Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson is honorary chairman.

FUN FOR ALL

There's fun at the horse show for every age.

For the horsey set there is constant activity in one ring or another.

For the children there are games, cotton candy and popcorn.

For everyone there is the Hunt Fair tent.

★ ★ ★

Here are booths manned by area commercial establishments. These usually sell the boutique type article.

The "scholarship" offers sweaters knit by local women who have worked for months on the project. In this booth are also other handmade items and hats of all kinds.

JUNK FOR TREASURE

Trinkets and Treasures booth presents a conglomeration of items collected at winter teas in homes of area women.

Food is offered all day long.

Two huge tents house exhibits of late model cars from General Motors and Ford.

Seventy-five per cent of the ticket revenue from the horse show goes to Oakland University's scholarship fund. During the past year this has aided about 200 students. The goal for 1964-65 is $100,000.

ADMISSION

Tickets which are $1 for adults, 50 cents for children, admit holders to all events on the Hunt Club grounds for that day.

Profits from the Hunt Fair scholarship fund . . . also contribute to the OU. The horse show continues through Sunday, but the Hunt Fair concludes on Saturday.

Wears Bra Plowing

Halter Won't Halt Her

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We live on a farm and my sister, who is in her 40's, does the farm work.

She wears jeans and a blouse and rides on a tractor to work. When it gets hot, she sheds her blouse and works in her bra.

ABBY

She is of a slight build, and has little for anyone to see, but all the same, when my parents, and brothers and sisters-in-law meet her out-of-doors dressed like that, they blow their stacks.

She says it's no different than being on the beach in a swim suit.

Lots of strangers come by our place, but she says it's our property and if they don't like what they see they don't have to look.

Who is right? And how do you handle a situation like this?

★ ★ ★

DEAR SLIPPERY: A "bra" is an undergarment and should not be worn as an outer garment.

There are halters for that purpose. In my opinion, your sister should wear halters.

However, a 40-year-old woman who drives a tractor is not interested in a lecture from me (OR from you) on propriety and fashion.

Be realistic and give up.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am stupid, but I don't know where else to get this information.

When living in a rented house, who is supposed to take down the storm windows and put up the screens?

The tenant or the owner?

★ ★ ★

DEAR INTERESTED: Unless it is specifically stated in the contract, the owner assumes that responsibility. (Are you trying to pass the buck or save one?)

CONFIDENTIAL TO MADAME L'O—Do not assume that, because a man boasts that in all his life he has never smoked a cigarette or tasted whisky, he has not done worse.

Old Road Maps Have New Routes

Looking for an unusual touch for your den? Old road maps make lampshades or wall decorations. Maps fascinate everybody — men, women and children — and therefore make pleasant material for decoration.

While antique lamps on parchment paper may cost hundreds or thousands of dollars, less expensive maps can be used freely with distinctive results.

Head of Appropriations Subcommittee Steps Down in Anger

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

BEATEN: It has been Rep. Otto E. Passman's boast that his appropriations subcommittee has slashed more than $8 billion from foreign aid in the nine years he has been chairman.

Tuesday, the Louisiana Democrat was beaten in his own subcommittee. It refused to go along with Passman's demand for a $514 million cut in the $3.5-billion foreign aid bill.

Passman stalked out of the closed meeting, telling reporters he would temporarily step down as chairman so he could oppose the bill on the floor.

President Johnson had argued against any cuts in the aid bill saying he had asked for a rock-bottom figure.

IT'S RIDICULOUS

"It is ridiculous for a president of the United States to play politics to the extent that he has with this bill," said Passman. "He has worked tricks you couldn't even see in the circus."

Apparently referring to any presidential blandishments, Passman said: "I can give up postmasterships and airplane rides and sniffing in the rose garden."

ROTC: The House climaxed a long fight with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara Tuesday. It passed a bill to expand the Reserve Officer Training Program in high schools and colleges.

★ ★ ★

It was a personal victory for Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., who introduced the measure after becoming irked by McNamara's proposal last year to eliminate high school ROTC and curtail the college program. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Among other things it would expand junior ROTC from 254 high schools to a maximum of 2,000; continue the four-year ROTC program in colleges but allow a two-year program in those colleges that want one, and set up a scholarship program for ROTC students in colleges that would go up to $850 a year for tuition and books and $500 a year in monthly retainer pay.

FLIGHTS: The State Department has turned aside a Soviet protest against Pan American Airways' new flights between New York and West Berlin.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union protested that the direct flights were unlawful because the East German Communist government did not approve them and cautioned that the Soviet Union could not guarantee their safety.

A State Department spokesman, press officer Richard I. Phillips said Tuesday, "These normal basis. The U.S. government will hold the Soviet government responsible for the safety of all American aircraft in the Berlin air corridors."

'Nice Boy' Embezzle $140,000?

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — A wide search was under way today for a trusted 20-year-old bank messenger suspected of casually strolling off with $140,000 in cash in a shopping bag.

The FBI obtained an embezzlement warrant last night for the messenger, Theodore C. Nelson, several hours after the money disappeared from the Oakland Bank of Commerce.

FBI agents said they found a note in Nelson's San Francisco apartment indicating he would attempt to leave the country, possibly for Mexico.

Agents were ordered to airports across the country in an effort to locate the suspect.

Bank officials described Nelson as "a nice, hardworking boy who had a future with us." They were stunned when the loss was discovered.

The day started routinely enough. Nelson, as part of his job, presented an order shortly after 9 a.m. to the bank vault for $140,000 in $20, $10 and $5 denominations.

Nelson then should have delivered the money, which was the bank's cash requirements for the day, to a cashier's cage in the basement.

Later, other employes recalled seeing Nelson walking away from the basement stairs toward a street exit carrying a gray shopping bag.

Nelson's disappearance was not discovered until an hour later when Charles May, 30, the man who was to receive the cash, realized that the young messenger was late with his delivery.

Actress Assures Court She Won't Remove Children

LONDON (AP)—Movie star Leslie Caron assured the divorce court today that she would not remove her two children from Britain without the consent of her estranged husband, Peter Hall, or without a court order.

Her attorney, John Wood, told the divorce court president, Sir Jocelyn Simon, the 32-year-old, French-born actress never had any intention of flouting the authority of the court by taking her children out of the country.

The court last week issued a seven-day order restraining her from removing the children from Britain. Hall, 33, director of Britain's Royal Shakespeare Company, has filed a suit for a divorce, naming Hollywood actor Warren Beatty, 26, as co-respondent.

Two Hospitalized After Area Crash

A Waterford Township man and a Detroit youth were admitted to Pontiac General Hospital today after their car smashed into a traffic signal on Telegraph at the County Service Center road.

In fair condition is the driver, David Proctor, 23, of 3576 Lotus, and a passenger, John Redman, 17, of Detroit. Both suffered facial fractures.

The traffic light fell to the ground when the car hit the pole about 1:40 a.m. and was replaced today, according to Pontiac State police.

Proctor was ticketed by state police for driving without an operator's license and reckless driving.

Another passenger, Tony Pouch, 16, also of Detroit, was treated and released.

Mucker to Serve on National Committee

Red China Difficult Problem—OU Professor

Recognition of Red China, according to an Oakland University professor, cannot be reduced to a simple question of yes or no.

"History has caught us in a terrible bind," says Charles O. Hucker, chairman of the history department and the Asian studies program at Oakland.

Hucker, acknowledged authority on China, has been chosen to serve with nine other scholars on a national committee on Chinese civilization.

Under the auspices of the American Council of Learned Societies, the committee will work to stimulate and coordinate research on traditional Chinese history and culture.

Viewing the China situation of today, the OU professor suggests that patience might be the best course for America to follow.

He points out that recognition might not solve all problems. For example, he wondered if Peking might insist that Nationalist China be thrown out of the United Nations before accepting a U.N. seat.

CHARLES O. HUCKER

Or, what happens if the two million living on Formosa? Can the U.S. abandon free China?

These questions have placed this country "in a bind," which Hucker feels might best be solved through patience. In fact, patience could be exercised in other areas of foreign affairs.

★ ★ ★

We get terribly impatient with Nehru, who perhaps achieved the miracle of the century by keeping India going," said Hucker.

NOT PREPARED

He added that India was not prepared for independence in 1947 when it had 400 million illiterate with the power to vote.

"Like Nehru," explained Hucker, "when he did something we didn't like we regarded him as against us, but he was not so much against us as he was FOR India."

Underlying America's impatience is the fallacy that everyone else would be an American if he could, said the OU professor.

★ ★ ★

"The world of the future is not necessarily going to be an American world."

WON'T GO AWAY

Hucker said that Americans have to realize that China is not going to go away and is likely to become increasingly successful. He predicted that Red China would follow the path of the Soviet Union.

"Americans assume that communism in China isn't going to work. However, they (the Chinese) are making it, although it is true they have not broken through to our level."

The China expert, who was a Rockefeller Foundation postdoctoral fellow in China and Japan from 1952-54 and has been a consultant on Oriental studies to the U.S. Office of Education and the Ford Foundation, does see some obstacles for the Red Chinese.

★ ★ ★ ★

TRUE MARXISTS

Thus, he added, they cannot accept Russia's philosophy of peaceful coexistence and economic competition. Such proposals, said Hucker, would be treason to the true Marxist-Leninist.

And what problems face Red China?

The OU professor said that poverty and population haunt the Chinese, while pride and perspicacity will help them offset their shortcomings.

★ ★ ★

Explaining Hucker said that China has always been a cavern of civilization. The Chinese, he added, are very history conscious. They believe that every generation must reachieve China's status.

TREMENDOUS DRIVE

This gives a tremendous national drive toward solving their problems. And they're willing to sacrifice."

★ ★ ★

Hucker thought the militant communism that now characterizes Red China leaders would gradually dissipate as the nation becomes more of a "have" nation. He expressed faith in the basic reasonableness of the Chinese.

'Church Stand Won't Alter'

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — High Vatican circles predicted today that no major changes will be made in the Roman Catholic Church's ban on contraceptives including the new oral pills.

But they said that minor changes are possible.

Pope Paul VI, in a major speech yesterday, left the door open for possible changes in the church's viewpoint. He said the "extremely complex and delicate problem" is under study.

But he warned that, until an official decision is reached, the ban on contraceptives still stands.

Vatican circles said indications are that no major changes will come out of the study — "and certainly not the general use of contraceptives for birth control."

As to minor changes, they said that undoubtedly the "main point" to be decided on would be whether the new oral pills could be used in serious cases, for example, if the wife would be in real physical danger of death if she became pregnant.

The late Pope Pius XII said in 1958 that the oral pills could be used only if a doctor prescribed them for uterine ailments and only if there was no intention of preventing pregnancy, thought the treatment might make the wife temporarily sterile.

Pope Paul, in yesterday's speech to a group of 26 cardinals in the Vatican library, declared that though birth control is under study, "meanwhile we frankly say that so far we have no sufficient motive to consider surpassed and therefore not compulsory the rules given out by Pope Pius XII in this regard.

Nova 6-Passenger Station Wagon

CHEVY II by Chevrolet

If you thought Chevy II was thrifty before, you should see your Chevrolet dealer now

You couldn't pick a better time to buy one! Stick with Chevy II and you'll go places this summer—economically. Spacious wagons. Sedans. Sporty Sport Coupes. Take your pick. They're all tightwads.

The Nova wagon for instance, like all Chevy II's, adjusts its own brakes. It's got a Delcotron generator to lengthen the life of your battery. All the engines are real scrooges with gas. And the rocker panels beneath the doors take in rain water to flush themselves free of rust-causing salt and dirt.

Inside the Nova wagon, where you can seat six anglers with tackle boxes, there's deep-twist carpeting surrounded by vinyl that's as washable as tile. Behind that, a storage area with as much room as the insides of seven good-sized refrigerators. And that kind of space is going to bring home a lot of sunfish.

As for rough terrain, Chevy II gobbles it up painlessly. And quietly. The unitized body is turtle-tight. The same unique single-leaf rear springs that contribute to Chevy II's smooth ride are also geared to take more of a beating than comparable multi-leaf springs. These springs can't squeak and never need lubricating.

This all naturally leads us to price. Your Chevrolet dealer has that pleasant story. Why don't you two get together and make some vacation plans.

Lake Bottom 'Give and Take'

There is a need in Michigan for ground rules which will guarantee an orderly measure of give and take between private and public interests in safeguarding and developing shorelines of the state's inland waters.

This was a main thought placed before legislators, attorneys, engineers, shoreline owners, government officials and others who came to Lansing last week to hear and talk about Michigan's changes along its lakes and streams.

★ ★ ★

During an all-day seminar, they were told by members of the conservation department and the office of the State Attorney General that the time has come for controlling fills, dredging and the installation of structures in these troubled waters.

Presently, no laws exist and no agency has authority to say what changes may or may not be made in inland waters.

"Every question of whether an improvement made by one riparian in the bottom lands fronting his property is a violation of the rights of another riparian or of the public must be determined in an individual court case," noted A. Allan Schmid, associate professor at Michigan State University.

"This is, of course, expensive for all parties concerned and it seems safe to assume that many uses of the bottom lands are being made today which if they were to face court action, would probably be ruled unreasonable," he added.

★ ★ ★

As proposed by conservation officials and state attorneys, this confusing situation should be cleared up by a package of statutory guidelines.

LANDS SPECIALIST

Such a set of laws would enable state agencies to cooperate with shoreline owners in making lake and stream improvements to benefit fishing, boating and other uses, according to George Taack, submerged lands specialist with the Conservation Department.

Speaking of water legislation in general, State Attorney Jerome Maslowski assured that no Michigan law could take anything away from the present rights of shoreline owners.

★ ★ ★

He explained, "The submerged lands of the inland waters will always belong to the riparian owner."

Even under the current common law, however, the use of these bottom lands cannot interfere with the public's right to surface waters which takes top priority, according to Maslowski.

Spring Count of Pheasants Shows Decline

Thumb Area Numbers Down 30 Per Cent; Hope for Rise

Pheasant numbers are down in Michigan this spring, but Conservation Department game men say that the bottom is not about to fall out of the state's ringneck hunting season.

Although spring surveys indicate the pheasant breeding population is 20 per cent below a year ago, this fall's kill could top the 1963 mark, they say.

It all depends on what happens during the bird's nesting season now under way.

In answer to those who are concerned about the pheasant decline which started in 1959, game men hold out the hope that ringnecks are nearing the bounce - back point in their loose cycle of ups and downs.

Over the years of department record - keeping, the birds have taken nosedives only to build up to high levels in a relatively short period.

With an adequate breeding population available to pace the way, it's a good bet that pheasants will soon be starting another comeback climb.

LESS CROWING

A closer look at the present picture reveals ringneck crowing counts dropped about 30 per cent this spring in the Thumb, southeastern, and central areas of southern Michigan.

The southwestern area had about the same number of male birds while the extreme western range and northern fringe counties showed gains over last year.

In general, it appears that ringnecks in areas of normally low-to-fair pheasant populations held their own or increased this year. On the other hand, the better pheasant country experienced decreases.

This year's level of nesting success will come into focus around mid-August, when mail carriers have completed their two - week tally of pheasant broods.

Southern Deer Hunt Studied

Oakland County Area Included in Plan

Preliminary plans of the Conservation Department point toward a modest harvest of antlerless deer this fall in areas of 10 Southern Michigan counties where these animals are doing greatest damage to farm crops and private tree nurseries.

★ ★ ★

Previewing recommendations which will be presented to the Conservation Commission for formal action in August, the department last week spelled out the urgent need for special seasons in:

Ottawa, Muskegon, Berrien, Kalamazoo, Van Buren, Calhoun, Barry, Eaton, Livingston and Oakland Counties.

The proposed areas are key trouble spots in Southern Michigan where whitetails eat up an estimated $300,000 worth of crops each year.

★ ★ ★

Their highways figure in a large share of the deer-car collisions which have soared to record highs in Southern Michigan during recent years.

Lamprey Continue to Decline

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Sea lamprey catches in spawning streams along Lake Superior still are running 80 per cent below those of 1961, but the Great Lakes Fisheries Commission isn't yet ready to predict flatly it can eliminate the trout-killing eel.

Chairman A. L. Pritchard of Ottawa told the opening of a two-day meeting of the commission Wednesday that lamprey eradication results appear heartening but qualifications still are necessary in predicting what success the future holds.

Pritchard said that to last Friday 9,184 lamprey had been trapped this year in 30 barriers across the mouths of spawning streams emptying into Lake Superior, compared with 7,246 taken to June 12 a year ago.

But in the same span of 1961, before chemical poisoning of spawning streams was completed, 52,477 lamprey were taken.

Last year two new lamprey production systems on northern Lake Superior were treated with chemicals and a number of streams re-treated, but Pritchard reported:

"We cannot be sure at the moment that these treatments caused a further over-all reduction in lamprey production. The effect will not be felt until next year when the lamprey come up to spawn in the streams again."

Between birth and a return to spawning streams, the predatory eels spend 18 months in the lakes.

The commission is a joint U.S.-Canadian agency charged with trying to eradicate the lamprey which virtually has wiped out lake trout in all the Great Lakes other than Superior.

Even the trout population there has been drastically cut by the eel which attaches itself to fish and sucks out their blood.

CAN FISH RECOVER?

"A question which must be considered," Pritchard said, "is to what level must the lamprey be reduced for the program to be a success, and can lake trout be expected to recover and provide a significant fishery if the lamprey population is not reduced further than presently indicated by barrier catches.

"Since we do not know enough about the relationship of lamprey abundance and the loss of lake trout, we cannot predict final results without some qualifications.

"He said chemical treatment was continued on Lake Michigan streams and that 90 streams on Lake Huron had been selected for possible treatments which kill lamprey fry but do not harm other fish.

Walleye Has Various Names of 'Distinction'

Spring is walleye season.

But to mention the "walleye" is likely to stir up a storm of controversy. Some fishermen we know won't grant him the stature of a true game fish; others hotly contest this attitude. And few call him by the same name.

Though opinions about this particular fish are varied, fishing experts at Mercury outboards are quick to note that there is very little disagreement over the walleye's virtues in a frying pan. And he's even better when broiled over an open fire in the northwoods, if you're that lucky.

The walleye, depending upon the section of the country, goes under a wide assortment of monikers: walleyed pike, pickerel, jackfish, yellow or blue pike, and jack salmon, to name a few. Among men who say he's no fighter, the walleye is accorded several more — quite unprintable.

But the facts remain — the walleye is a great delicacy sought by literally thousands of anglers, and spring is a fine time to catch him — though you can get an argument on this score, too, from those who say autumn is best.

★ ★ ★

The walleye is a night feeder primarily. And the guy who works the shallows with small plugs and flyrod lures after sundown will do okay. To take them in the daytime requires a different approach, and a switch to the offshore depths.

Troll at the slowest speed possible, letting the lure bounce on the bottom. The instant you get a strike, cut the motor and mark the location. For where you catch the first walleye, chances are good for catching more of this schooling breed.

Watch your fingers, advise the Mercury folks. The walleye may be bashful about some things, but not about manipulating his dentures. Use a net to haul him aboard. Then a sharp blow with a small club will pacify him enough to permit handling.

Whatever they lack in fighting ability, walleyes make up in table qualities. And now's the time to prove it for yourself. Good eating!

Camera Shots of Family Pets Tricky Business

When photographing pets it pays to be tricky. And it helps to be smarter than the pet!

Cats, for example, will cooperate better with a camera lens if you provide a fresh catnip-filled mouse. As they play you'll be able to capture their amazing antics and striking facial expressions.

Similarly, a dog's attention can be weaned from the camera by supplying him with a rubber bone well-rubbed with juicy raw hamburger.

Nail the bone to the floor and he'll stay in camera range and provide interesting studies in puzzlement!

Two other "musts" are patience and plenty of color film. The new Dynachrome color film which includes processing by the manufacturer, makes pet photography more economical because it costs 38 to 40 per cent less than other films.

MAKE OVER PAGES

Prehistoric Tribes Hunted Mastodons

LANSING (AP) — The modern Michigan hunter has to go north to get the state's biggest game — the prize buck, or, for the first time this fall, an elk.

★ ★ ★

For the prehistoric Indian who wanted a really big trophy the exact opposite was true — the happy hunting grounds were in the south.

If the meat supply was low, the way for these primitive hunters to hit the jackpot was to bag a mastodon.

These members of the elephant family, long extinct, were similar in size to Indian elephants but were longer and lower and probably were hairy.

The mastodons were browsers and lived in the lowland and swampy areas of the state. It is estimated they lived in Michigan from about 10,000 to 7,000 years before Christ.

LONG SHAFT

George Quimby, in his book, "Indian Life in the Upper Great Lakes," says the mastodons lived in the area about the same time as the Paleo Indians, who used a distinctive type of large spear point, probably fastened on a long shaft. He concludes they must have been mastodon hunters.

★ ★ ★

Some 150 whole or partial skeletons of mastodons have been found in Michigan. One, found in Lenawee County, was dated by University of Michigan scientists through the radiocarbon method as dating back to 7,616 B.C.

★ ★ ★

Interestingly enough, according to Quimby, all the spear points of these Indians and all the mastodon remains were found in southern Michigan:

No mastodon skeletons were found above Osceola and Gladwin counties.

Quimby has the greatest respect for these long-ago Indians as hunters.

★ ★ ★

"No other type of aboriginal spear point in North America seems as well suited for elephant hunting as the large fluted point," he observes.

★ ★ ★

"The spear could be thrust, withdrawn and thrust again. It could go between ribs and other bones. Also, the spear could be long enough and strong enough to reach the vital organs of the mastodon.

Such spears also could kill the giant beaver, deer, elk and caribou that lived in Michigan at the time.

Quimby theorizes the early Indian hunters first weakened the mastodon in some way — by hamstringing, snaring the feet or miring it in a bog. Then a group of hunters could spear the animal through the rib cage or belly.

It is figured mastodon hunting in Michigan ended about 7,000 B.C. when the climate became warmer and the huge animals either became extinct or moved north in decreased numbers.

Rearing Ponds Being Lowered

Transfer of Muskies Moved Up by DDT

Muskellunge rearing ponds at Wolf Lake hatchery near Kalamazoo are being rapidly drawn down by the Conservation Department in an emergency move to transfer more than 200,000 of these small fish into public waters before they eat themselves up.

The fish must be planted ahead of schedule in wake of a recent DDT spraying which accidentally hit seven ponds where they are being raised.

Effects of the spraying wiped out the ponds' food supply for muskies, leaving the cannibalistic fish to feed upon themselves for survival.

Although they will not have an accurate account of losses until the drawdowns are completed, department fisheries workers estimate that about 18,000 muskies have already died from the misguided spraying which was directed at a private trailer court adjacent to the hatchery.

In collecting muskies for planting, the department will hold back a sample lot of fish in warm-water tanks to check out the threat of delayed mortality which could nullify stocking efforts.

★ ★ ★

Under the premature plantings, the muskies' chances of survival will be less than if the fish had been able to grow to larger size in rearing ponds.

While the department makes a last-ditch effort to save the muskies and assess damages, state attorneys are getting ready to carry out investigation in an opening bid to seek settlement for losses suffered.

Others Up Slightly

Motor Stocks Continue Drop

NEW YORK (AP) — Motors continued to back away in a mixed stock market today. Trading was moderate.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were small, some going to a point or so. The list was a shade higher on average.

★ ★ ★

Big Three motors all took fractional losses in further reaction to the possibility of an auto strike and to a walkout by Teamsters which has stopped East Coast delivery of new cars.

Du Pont, however, recouped well over a point of its 2-point loss of Tuesday. Gains of a point were scored by IBM and Polaroid.

AIRLINE STOCKS

Airlines moved irregularly higher. Most of the major grops were thoroughly irregular.

Tuesday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.1 to 308.2.

Prices were irregular on the American Stock Exchange. Most changes were narrow.
