To Unveil Auditorium Model

PROPOSED CIVIC AUDITORIUM — Pictured here is the architect's drawing of a planned civic auditorium for Pontiac. A scale model of it will be unveiled tonight at a special committee-press preview at the City Hall. Designed by the Detroit firm of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls, the building is a major step in the work of the Centennial Auditorium Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce. Essentially the building will consist of the auditorium, a multi-purpose room section (the circular wing), and a connecting lobby and office area. It is planned for the area immediately south of the City Hall.

Two Held in Stabbing of Joseph Compeau, 27, in Waterford

Elmer F. Martin, 33, of 264 N. Saginaw St., and Ollie Byrd, 37, of 2584 11 Mile Rd., Southfield Township, are being held at the Oakland County Jail for investigation in the fatal stabbing of Joseph Compeau, 27, of 6850 Aeroview St., West Bloomfield Township, Saturday night.

According to Capt. Millard Pender of the Waterford Township Police, the stories of three men present at the crime are still being unravelled. The stabbing occurred at the Cooley Lake Road dump.

Martin and Compeau are reported to have argued, and suddenly Compeau attacked Martin with a hard instrument he had picked up, hitting him on the head, Pender said the men said.

Martin drew his penknife and stabbed Compeau, who staggered to Byrd's son, William, 16, and said, "I'm bleeding to death," witnesses told Pender. The boy helped Compeau into his own car and drove down Cooley Lake road as far as Elizabeth-Cass Lake road before becoming frightened at his profuse bleeding and called police.

ARTERY SEVERED

Officer William Stokes of the Waterford Township Police, who answered the call, took Compeau to Pontiac General Hospital where he died 20 minutes later, according to police. A post mortem showed the knife had almost completely severed a large vein and artery leading to the left leg.

Martin and Byrd were arrested by Southfield Township Police and Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies at Byrd's house, on the basis of information gained by questioning the boy.

Civic Auditorium Model to Be Unveiled Tonight

Pontiac's proposed civic auditorium will draw a step closer to reality tonight as some 60 persons take a first look at a scale model of the building during a special committee-press preview.

A colorful seven-by-three foot model was on its way to Pontiac today from the Detroit offices of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls, the architectural firm which designed the building.

Attending the first showing of the model will be members of the Centennial Auditorium Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, directors of the Chamber, city commissioners and officials, and members of Board of Trustees of the Pontiac Foundation.

It was a $15,000 grant from the foundation last November which made possible the model and preliminary plans for the building.

PHASE ONE

The presentation of the model climaxes "phase one" in the work of a 20-member committee which is shooting for construction of the building by Pontiac's 100th anniversary—March 15, 1961.

On Thursday night, the model will be shown to delegates of the Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Council at their annual meeting.

Ralph T. Norvell, chairman of the centennial committee, said other showings may be arranged for civic groups by calling the Chamber.

TWO SECTIONS

The scale model was made by Mitchell Models of St. Joseph, Mich. It is a two section affair with one section containing the City Hall and Public Safety Building. The other houses the auditorium.

It is slated to be built just south of the City Hall. It will be bounded on the west by South Parke, on the south by Auburn, and on the east by Hill street.

Norvell and John W. Hirlinger, Chamber manager, have announced total cost for the building, including architect's fees, furnishings, and equipment, to be $4,085,000.

Norvell emphasized that at least another half million dollars should be included in the total because of constant rising construction costs.

No decision has been reached as to how the building will be financed, both said.

Basically, the auditorium consists of three major sections: The auditorium, a multi-purpose room wing, and a connecting lobby and office area.

AF Pilot, Sealed in Metal, Balloons to 96,000 Feet

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A daring Air Force test pilot, sealed in a metal capsule attached to a huge plastic balloon, rode to a record-breaking 96,000 feet — 18 miles—yesterday in a flight he said was "inspiring . . . the proudest of my life."

Capt. J. W. Kittinger Jr., 28, bettered by nearly four miles the previous manned-balloon altitude mark of 76,000 feet, set over Rapid City, S.D., by two navy commanders last November.

He described the trip, from takeoff at 6:23 a.m. at Fleming Field here to the landing near Weaver, Minn., about 80 miles south at 12:57 p.m., as "completely successful."

The flight was one in a series of tests which may prove valuable in rocket and possible manned satellite flights.

Another manned balloon will be sent to over 100,000 feet for 24 hours sometime this summer.

Kittinger said the view was "most beautiful and inspiring," and that from his position just a few miles east of Minneapolis he could see the eastern boundaries of Lake Michigan.

He said he was not nervous during the flight and that the ascent was made in 78 minutes. He remained at 96,000 feet, the balloon's maximum, for an hour and 50 minutes before being summoned down when voice radio facilities in the gondola failed.

It had originally been planned to keep the balloon at height for several hours.

Kittinger wore a pressure suit in the instrument crammed gondola. He said the temperature remained at a comfortable 55 degrees inside although it was 70 below outside. For lunch he ate a peanut butter and jelly sandwich.

Why Not Spend a Few Minutes for $1,100 Stake

Just a few minutes spent enjoying yourself can mean many hours of enjoyment spending the prize money from Pot-O-Gold if you happen to pick the right numbers for this week's puzzle.

The winner of Pot-O-Gold puzzle No. 53 which appears on page 21 today will take home $1,100, providing, of course, that the entry is mailed on time and on a postcard. Don't be like so many others who have missed their chances by failing to follow the rules. Read all rules and clues carefully.

And remember, even if there's a winner for last week's puzzle, winner for this one will still be richer by $100. How can you lose?

Police Question Man in Death of Ex-Policeman

Nude Body Discovered Floating Off Marina at Jefferson Beach

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

DETROIT — A 30-year-old Harper Woods man was held for more questioning today in the death of a former Grosse Pointe Woods policeman whose nude, bruised body was found in Lake St. Clair yesterday.

State Police Cpl. John Amthor said John N. Herdegan was picked up for questioning after he told officers he had gone for a boat ride Friday night with Robert J. Hyde, 32.

Hyde's body was found floating off the Jefferson Beach marina at St. Clair Shores.

He died of drowning, a Macomb County medical examiner said, but he also had head injuries, bruises and scratches.

Cpl. Amthor said Herdegen, father of two children, may have been the last person to see Hyde alive. Herdegen was held without charge at the St. Clair Shores city jail.

Roy Rogensues, assistant Macomb County prosecutor, said bruises on Hyde's body might have been caused by an attack or from hitting objects near the shore.

RESIGNED YEAR AGO

Hyde, a bachelor, was a member of the Grosse Pointe Woods police force 11 years until he resigned a year ago to take a job as a salesman.

His clothes were found on a 27-foot cabin cruiser tied up at the Jefferson Beach dock. In his car parked nearby was a quantity of food and liquor he bought Friday afternoon for a party with fellow salesmen.

A search started Saturday afternoon when he failed to appear for the party. Fellow salesmen said Hyde had rented the boat for the affair and was to meet them at the dock Saturday morning.

Hyde's mother, with whom he lived, said Robert had not come home Friday night.

DRANK BEER

Police said Hyde went to the Alger Veterans of Foreign Wars post in Grosse Pointe Friday evening and spent about two hours there, drinking beer with Herdegen. Both were members of the post.

The bartender said the two men left together about 10 p.m. Grosse Pointe Farms police said Herdegen told them Hyde in-

FIRST MAN OUT — Amateur Bob Whiting of Birmingham Country Club was the first golfer to tee-off this morning in the qualifying rounds of the National Open being held at Oakland Hills and Franklin Hills. The Michigan section will be represented by 12 golfers when the National Open starts at Inverness Country Club in Toledo, June 13th.

Public Hearing Set on Widening

Project Would Enlarge Perry Street in City for 3.8 Miles

A public hearing has been scheduled for tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the City Hall at which time the proposed widening of Perry street (M-24) will be explained by State Highway Dept. officials.

The widening will begin at Huron street and run 3.8 miles to the eastern city limits at Opdyke road. The new road will be four lanes divided.

The city's share of the project will be approximately $321,250, plus an estimated $75,000 in right-of-way costs, City Manager Walter K. Willman said. He stressed that this total was not firm as the final costs will be based on awarded contracts.

"The greatest share of our costs will be paid from gas tax receipts," Willman said.

Tomorrow's hearing will be conducted in the City Commission chambers on the second floor of the City Hall.

Harbert Leading Open Qualifying With 68 Round

Firing two steady rounds of 34, veteran Meadowbrook pro Chick Harbert forged into the lead of the National Open sectional qualifying rounds being held here with a four-under par 68 today.

The veteran campaigner and former National PGA champion held a one-stroke lead over Canadian star Rudy Horvath going into the late afternoon competition. Harbert shot his 68 at Franklin Hills, while Horvath led the pack at Oakland.

Three others were right on Horvath's heels after their first 18 with 73. They were Pontiac's Gene Bone, who recorded the best nine holes of the day with a 32; Wally Burkemo, the Franklin Hills pro who bounced back after a slow start, brilliant shotmaker Chuck Kocsis and John Dalrymple, former Keego Harber resident. 408 Lives Lost on Highways Over Weekend

14 Traffic Fatalities Are Reported in Michigan; Eight Persons Drown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Millions of American motorists wound up the long four-day Memorial Day weekend last night with a better safety record than expected.

There were 408 accidental deaths on the nation's highways for the holiday period.

The toll was about what it would have been on any comparable nonholiday period in the summer.

California led the nation with 36 traffic deaths. Texas was second with 32, North Dakota reported none.

Fourteen persons died in traffic accidents in Michigan during the four-day Memorial Day holiday weekend. Five persons were killed in non-traffic accidents and there were eight drownings.

The National Safety Council commented:

"We congratulate drivers and law enforcement agencies for doing a fine job over the long weekend."

405 REGULAR

The council had said about 405 motorists could be expected to die on any four-day summer period not involving a holiday.

Only one of the fatal traffic accidents in Michigan involved collision of cars. Single-car accidents took six lives and four pedestrians were killed. A boy riding a bicycle was killed when he rode into the path of a car. Two motorcyclists were killed in accidents that did not involve cars.

Ten persons were killed in Michigan traffic accidents during the 30-hour Memorial Day holiday period a year ago.

State Police, National Guardsmen and sheriff's deputies were out in force on state highways Sunday in a drive to keep down the number of traffic deaths.

Latest traffic fatalities included:

Frank Jankowiak, 51, of Detroit.

Mrs. Hilda Wuopio, 79, of Detroit.

James Richards, 12, of Detroit.

Marlyn E. Ostwold, 9, of Cheboygan.

Wesley L. Martin, 22, of Detroit.

Marshall A. Zulch, 5, of Montgomery.

NON-TRAFFIC DEATHS

Killed in non-traffic accidents were:

Leon Miner, 34, Maywood, Ill., thrown from a horse.

Starting Today—A Series on What to Do for Thinning Thatch

Elmer Discovers the Fat Boy's New Worry: A Hole in His Hair

By ELMER WHEELER

Chapter I

As the original fat boy, I lost 40 pounds in 80 days. I got 2,500,000 letters from the calorie clan when I told the world how I did it. Then a new worry confronted me.

My forehead began to grow.

I had no more learned the hard way to keep the fat of the land from living on my bay window and under my chins, when a more serious problem hit me.

My forehead began to expand as fast as my bay window was receding. As rapidly as my tummy went back, so did my hair line.

If something weren't done in a hurry Old Fat Boy would soon be New Bald Boy.

So once more Elmer set out to find out what to do about a situation that has caused centuries of embarrassment and trouble, and has provoked more inferior complexes than pigeon-toes on man.

I had whipped weight with facts, knowledge and calories, hadn't I? Why couldn't this same formula of fighting a difficulty with knowledge work for Old Baldy?

It was getting embarrassing to comb my hair and see from 100 to what looked like 1,000 of Elmer's lovely boyhood locks showing up in the bitter teeth of the merciless comb.

Just as the scales became my symbol of mockery as "old fatso," my comb was fast becoming a more horrible symbol.

The symbol of baldness.

I realized only too well how unnecessary this aid to fine grooming would soon become; for it wouldn't be long before I, with thousands of others, would be combing my hair with the palms of my hands.

The idea drove me to doing something about it before it was too late, and I set out to learn all about receding brows and how to retard them.

I began to take sly looks at the hair lines of my friends.

If they had hair lines down to their eyebrows, like poodle dogs, I envied them and thought up dire and snide thoughts on "low-brows."

If their hair was "intellectual looking," that is, way back in true [illegible] style, I smiled in pleased satisfaction the guy with no hair gets when he meets a compatriot.

I found myself sneaking into rest rooms and looking at my own hair line. Where it was possible to see me in double mirrors, I kept hourly track of the back of the head.

When no one was home, I'd go into the den and look at some of my college rah-rah pictures, showing Elmer's hair blowing in the wind as he sat proudly at the wheel of a Stutz Bearcat.

"My comb was fast becoming a horrible symbol. The symbol of baldness."

I began to catch myself reading "hair ads." I pretended I was reading something else on the page, but those "here today, and gone tomorrow" ads found a good reader in Elmer.

Hair tonic ads began to find me an afficionado. I began (nonchalantly, of course) to ask my barber about the various claims of the tonics.

Indeed, "old fatso" had a new problem. He was to start in his campaign to hold the hair line.

I even wrote wig manufacturers for their literature to be sent "in plain, unmarked envelopes," just in case.

Imagine Elmer, captain in the Marine Corps, YMCA director, Eagle Scout, wearing a dome doily. The idea nearly killed me.

It gave me nightmares. I'd find myself counting tonic bottles instead of sheep to put me to sleep.

I became so self-conscious of my receding brow, that I kept my hat on at all times, in true Bing Crosby style.

Perhaps what really gave me the big burn though, was my shaggy-haired mongrel, a combination of sheep dog, cocker and lion, I guess. Anyhow, he sure had a head of hair.

He had so much hair he could hardly see me. He had to peek through a mass of hair. While I dreamed of living the life of the short-haired Chihuahua down the street.

Indeed, we both had our problems and I must start tomorrow to solve mine. After all, any good vet could solve the dog's problem.

Mine needed research, science, medical and perhaps, who knows, some [illegible] treatment.

A mighty new job lay before Elmer; but the thought of that "dome doily" drove me on.

I'd have the best laugh at that comb—for I was mad.

Next: Elmer Joins Hair Tonic Anonymous.

Balloting Opens Today as Officers Begin Drive to Oust Chief

Balloting was scheduled to begin today among Pontiac Policemen to nominate four officers who will have the task of formally demanding an investigation of the police department's activities and records under Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, present a list of grievances against him and request Straley be removed.

The four men who receive the highest number of votes during the three-day vote held throughout the department, will constitute a committee who will go before the local fire and police civil service commission and Pontiac City Commission, according to Herbert C. Cooley, president of the Pontiac Police Officer's Association.

June 19, the committee will present their demands to the civil service commission during the regular monthly meeting between the commission and police. They will probably ask for action from the city commission before then, Cooley added.

The fight to remove Straley as chief came to a climax Friday morning when the association vowed to oust Straley. If either of the commissions does not heed their requests to investigate the department, they intend to circulate petitions to demand action, Cooley said.

Hudson to Vie With Broomfield for House Seat

Pontiac's State Rep. Leslie H. Hudson, a Democrat, yesterday announced that he would be a candidate next year for Michigan's 18th congressional seat now held by Republican William S. Broomfield.

Hudson, 35, a Pontiac hardware dealer, is presently serving his second two-year term in the state legislature after being re-elected last year.

He formerly served as clerk of Waterford Township from 1947 to 1951, and was a Pontiac representative on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

By E. H. SIMS

What is the air we breathe composed of? Why do pilots have to use oxygen when above 10,000 feet? Does the supply of oxygen in the air diminish as one ascends?

The air that surrounds the earth contains enough oxygen for all of us. But the gas layer we call "air" contains much more nitrogen than oxygen — 78 per cent to only 21 per cent oxygen. Nevertheless, it is the oxygen that we must have.

A pilot, or a passenger, climbing aboard an aircraft, begins to exhibit the effects of a deficiency of oxygen at 10,000 to 14,000 feet — usually at 11,000 or 12,000 feet, sometimes lower. He is often unaware of his difficulty, and tests during the war — in the oxygen chamber — revealed that pilot-trainees passed out before they recognized the fact that they were in grave danger.

Therefore, oxygen tanks are carried in fighter planes and supplemental oxygen is released in the passenger compartments of passenger or bomber planes.

The supply of oxygen does not run out at 10,000 or 11,000 feet, but it becomes less because the air is thinning out. This thinning of the air has been the limiting factor in flying to great altitudes in the past, because the air became so thin at high altitudes that aircraft control surfaces had little effect. Jet propulsion, and rockets, have greatly lessened this problem.

Bullet Sting Interrupts Golf Game

The sting on his arm which golfer John Killoran of 163 N. Birkshire St. thought was caused by a wasp turned out to be a .22 caliber spent bullet Sunday.

Pontiac Police report Killoran was just about to swing at a golf ball on the eighth tee of Pontiac City Golf Course when he felt the sting and saw the bullet drop to his feet.

Killoran brought the bullet to the station, made out the necessary reports, refused medical treatment and rushed back to the course to finish his game.

Police said the bullet could have traveled a mile before it landed.

Civic Auditorium Model to Be Shown planned from a functional standpoint," Norvell said.

The hexagonal auditorium will be for such events as graduation exercises, conventions, concerts, theatrical performances, lectures banquets, builders, automobile, and ice shows, and sports such as basketball, hockey, boxing, and tennis.

Maximum planned capacity for the auditorium is 6,760 persons. It will have 100,000 square feet of floor space, and 38,000 square feet available for exhibits.

The main floor is approximately 80 by 175 feet, with a stage 60 by 120 feet. There will be a mezzanine floor also.

The pie-shaped multi-purpose section is so designed as to be divided by flexible draw curtains permitting as many as 10 groups, ranging in size from 60 to 400 persons, to meet at one time.

Both the auditorium and this section will have catering facilities. The auditorium will be able to serve 1,000 for a banquet.

MEMBERS TRAVEL

Last year, members of the Chamber journeyed to several Michigan cities to inspect auditoriums.

Then in February of this year, business, civic, fraternal, industrial and educational organizations were mailed questionnaires seeking answers on what a proposed civic auditorium here should include.

"At least one thing was unanimous," Norvell said. "Of all 70 that were returned, all expressed a definite need for an auditorium."

Explaining the contemporary or modern design of the building, Norvell stressed that "it was designed with an eye to the future."

He added that there were "no special frills incorporated in it."

For instance, he pointed out, the arch over the auditorium is not ornamental, but is structurally supporting the roof.

TILTING FLOOR

One unique feature of the auditorium is a tilting ground floor providing better vision for all spectators during stage plays and other theatrical performances.

There will be dressing rooms for actors and locker rooms for athleges.

Present plans will call for two additional phases aimed at the construction of the building, Norvell said. "One will be educational, explaining all features of the project, while the third will deal with financing it."

Parts of Texas Flooded Again

Rivers, Streams Rise Following Heavy Rains; Tornadoes Reported

DALLAS (AP)—Wide sections of Texas took another beating from the weather over the weekend and flooding continued today in many parts of the water-logged state.

Rivers and streams were on the rise from the Oklahoma border to the Rio Grande after torrential weekend rains in both Oklahoma and Texas. Several tornadoes were reported but caused little or no damage.

At least seven Texas deaths were linked to the weather yesterday. Five persons were killed in a two-car collision in a rainstorm. Two unidentified airmen from Randolph Air Force Base were swept down a raging creek at San Antonio and were presumed drowned.

The continuous turbulent weather was taking a heavy toll in crops. Cotton and grains were severely damaged, particularly in north Texas.

Cloudbursts along the upper Red River in Oklahoma sent torrents downstream toward Lake Texoma on the Texas-Oklahoma border. The river was on one of its greatest rises in history.

A railroad bridge across Shawnee creek below Lake Texoma's spillway was virtually washed away after the discharge over the spillway reached a level of two feet.

A tornado last night tore the roof off a building and garage on the outskirts of Texas City, but the twister passed on without further damage. No injuries were reported.

Browder Likens Communist Boss to Charlie Wilson

NEW YORK (INS)—Earl Browder, who once bossed 100,000 American Communists, said last night that although the U. S. might become socialistic, it would still be "essentially democratic."

The 66-year-old former Communist made his prediction on a television show, "The Mike Wallace Interview," when asked about a statement of Soviet Party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev.

He said later, with a grin, that Khrushchev reminded him of a "tough" and "very able" but "limited" American corporation executive who had "come up from the bottom," and added, "He made me think of Charlie Wilson."

Charles E. Wilson is secretary of defense and former head of General Motors.

When interviewer Wallace said that Wilson might not appreciate the comparison, Browder answered "I'm speaking of the general type of character."

Browder was for 25 years a member of the Communist Party, and for 15 years its head in the United States. He was kicked out of the party in the mid-1940's for trying to continue the organization as a political association—as it had been during the war—rather than reconstituting it as a party.

6 Ballplayers Fined for Fracas, Says Paper

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Journal-American said today it had learned that the six New York Yankees involved in the May 16 night club brawl had been fined $1,000 each.

The story, written by Til Ferdenzi, said the Yankees fined were Hank Bauer, Mickey Mantle, Billy Martin, Yogi Berra, Whitey Ford and Johnny Kucks.

'Friends' Ask Ike to Lunch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower pays a social call today on his fellow Republicans in Congress, where he hasn't been doing too well in the battle of the budget.

GOP leaders hoped this personal contact with Eisenhower would win back party strays.

Eisenhower was invited to the Capitol by House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts for a buffet luncheon. Martin said frankly the goal was "bringing the White House and Congress closer together."

That goal of GOP unity did not appear to be shared wholly by all House Republicans, many of whom are openly out of sympathy with Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 spending requests.

Stein Sentenced in Building Deals

One Indicted in Area GI Loan Racket Gets $1,000 Fine, Probation

A Detroit building company engineer, indicted in April on charges of irregularities involving government insured GI home loans in Waterford Township, today was sentenced in Detroit by Federal Judge Theodore Levin.

Leroy Stein, 42, was fined $1,000 and placed on two years' probation for his part in the alleged racket. He pleaded "nolo contendere" (no contest) to conspiracy charges when arraigned April 3.

Stein and three others, including a former Pontiac Teamsters official, were indicted for allegedly conspiring to secure rights from veterans for homes in the Walton Ranch Homes, Inc., in the township.

The official, Louis C. Linteau, 42, of 615 E. Tennyson Ave., is under a separate indictment on charges of making a false statement in 1953 to the Veterans Administration. A tentative trial date of June 18 has been set.

No trial has been set for William N. Gilmore, 40, of 32035 Waltham St., Southfield Township, or for Joe Pollina, 46, of 3540 Oakshire St., Waterford Township, the other two indicted in the case.

Linteau, Gilmore and Pollina had not guilty pleas entered for them when they stood mute before Judge Levin in April.

Linteau is charged with being the "middle man" in the scheme by attempting to interest union members with offers of $100 and better jobs for making the applications.

Stein, Gilmore and Pollina were charged with conspiracy in the scheme.

vited him to go for a ride in the rented boat.

Herdegen was questioned for three and a half hours by St. Clair Shores police, the prosecutor's office and state police, but refused to answer questions or confirm earlier statements.

Macomb County Prosecutor Cecil A. Byers said:

"We have established that Herdegen was the last man to see Hyde on a 27-foot fishing boat Friday night."

Herdegen and Hyde were known to have taken the cruiser, Judy Kay, without the owner's permission.

Byers quoted the suspect as saying, before he knew the body had been found:

"Hyde made overtures to me which I rejected."

The prosecutor continued, "Herdegen denied he struck Hyde. He admitted he made a motion with the back of his hand, stopped the blow and then pushed Hyde away."

Everyone Helps to Keep County Free of Fatalities

An all out publicity campaign, the weatherman and a dogged effort by law enforcement officials determined to keep traffic deaths down were credited by state police and sheriff's officials for Oakland County's clean record in the past 4-day weekend.

Police, sheriff's deputies, and the National Guard dug in last Wednesday evening, ready to bear the brunt of the dreaded Memorial Day traffic tolls.

It is now evident that all concerned, including the vacationing motorists, did their job well—there were no deaths in Oakland County.

State trooper Stanley Sitkowski of the Pontiac post said, "There were no deaths mainly because all roads were patrolled heavily, and thanks to the wonderful newspaper and radio publicity we got, the people knew this and observed laws more carefully."

COMMENDS OFFICERS

Elmer L. McQuern, Oakland County Undersheriff, also commended the county law enforcement officers for their massive effort and praised the press and radio "for their cooperation, acting as spokesmen to the people." He definitely thought the cold weather helped also.

Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, gave a large part of the credit to the public. "The police did a fine job, but so did the motorists. Evidently those who were driving over the weekend really made a conscientious effort to observe safety laws."

Chief Frank Van Atta, of the Waterford Township Police Department, stressed the importance of good publicity with a vivid example. He stated that "the weekend before Memorial Day was one of the worst this year, since the public had not been reminded constantly to drive carefully. Six Oakland County residents died from Friday to Monday, four in local accidents."

"The three-day publicity campaign prior to Memorial Day had marked results. No one was killed in the county during a longer period, when far more cars were on the road."

The Day in Birmingham

Public Hearing on Budget Tops Commission Agenda

BIRMINGHAM — The weeks which have gone into the preparation and further study on the 1957-58 budget for the city of Birmingham will come to a close this evening when the public hearing on the budget is held.

Many hours and special sessions have gone into examinations of every phase of the budget. Cuts have been made in practically every division of city management.

Other items slated for the agenda tonight are the question of an access drive for commercial buildings at 14 Mile and Pierce streets, a time signal system on traffic lights on US 10, and request for an easement to construct a private driveway across one corner of Eton Park.

Bids will be received for the purchase of one police car and one administrative staff automobile.

Future disposition of the well site property at Derby and Eton roads also will be taken up. The well has been closed and all mechanical equipment removed. City action is requested concerning what use will be made of the land.

The Birmingham area came through the holiday weekend with but one accident report.

Bloomfield township said that four persons were injured in an accident at 12:05 this morning at the Quarton-Woodward intersection. Witness said that William John Guay, 29, of 999 W. Harsdale, Bloomfield Township failed to stop at the intersection of Big Beaver road and Woodward avenue.

Traveling west he drove across the north bound Woodward lane and was in the southbound lane when struck by two other cars. The hospitalized are Eugene J. Croteau, 45, of 2324 Harris St., Ferndale, his wife Nora, 41 and Jean Marie English 3 years old.

Guay was released from the hospital after treatment. Driver of the third car, Frank N. Maneini, 132 LaBelle, Highland Park, escaped injury.

Red Cross Blood Bank sponsored by the Birmingham Junior League is scheduled for June 5 from 3 to 9 p.m. at the Community House. Leaguers report that 250 donors are needed to fill the day's quota.

HERMAN J. KIENLE

Service was held from Holy Name Church this morning for Herman J. Kienle, 72, of 6621 Park St., with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. Arrangements were in charge of Manley Bailey Funeral Home. He died in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, Saturday.

Mr. Kienle retired in 1951 as chief stamping engineer for Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Co. where he had worked for 42 years.

He is survived by his wife Rose, three daughters Marian and Gertrude at home and Mrs. Joseph Longe of Royal Oak, four sons George of East Detroit, Lawrence of Detroit, William of Indiana and Herman Jr. of California, a sister and two brothers.

News Flashes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today asked Congress for a supplemental appropriation of $149,500,000 for the Post Office Department. He said it is needed to avert a substantial cut back in mail service July 1.

LAURIUM (AP) — A Republican state representative has urged Gov. Williams to veto the state park admission fee bill. In a telegram yesterday, Rep. D. J. Massoglia (R-Laurium) told Williams "the installation and cost of collection plus the nuisance created will overshadow the gross receipts involved." The bill provides for an annual charge of two dollars per vehicle.

Educator Keeps Busy

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP)—High school commencement time means a busy round of speechmaking for Dr. Charles L. Anspach, president of Central Michigan college. He had six addresses scheduled in 10 days, including talks at Elsie, Ithaca, Stockbridge, Frankenmuth, Traverse City and Comstock. He'll also be on hand for his own school's exercises June 9.

Du Pont Holds Too Much Stock

Supreme Court Rules Company Violates Laws With GM Interests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled 4-2 today that the Du Pont Co. violates the anti-trust laws by controlling General Motors Corp. through 23 per cent stock ownership.

Justice Brennan delivered the court's decision, to which justices Burton and Frankruter dissented. Justices Clark and Harlan disqualified themselves. Justice Whittaker took no part.

Today's action came eight years after the government first filed its antitrust complaint against Du Pont in Chicago.

The government contended the power of Du Pont — "based on its GM stock holdings, interlocking directorate, and historic relationship" — to influence business judgments of GM amounted to a combination in restraint of trade.

U. S. Dist. Judge Walter J. LaBuy in Chicago dismissed the case after a seven-month trial with a finding that the government had "failed to prove conspiracy, monopolization, a restraint of trade, or any reasonable probability of a restraint."

The government then appealed directly to the Supreme Court, the Justice Department insisted LaBuy's decision was erroneous "because it ignored the realities of intercorporate relations."

The appeal asked the Supreme Court to reverse LaBuy and order him to grant "appropriate relief." It did not say how much GM stock Du Pont should be ordered to sell or give any indication of what the government would consider full relief.

Cutback Ordered in Defense Spending

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army, Navy and Air Force are under orders to cut back their contracting during this final month of the 1957 fiscal year.

It was disclosed over the weekend that Secretary of Defense Wilson has directed a cut of about 500 million dollars, with the Air Force to bear half the load. The order means this amount of contracting will be delayed. First word of the directive came in a copyrighted story in the Washington Sunday Star. The Pentagon later confirmed it.

A Defense Department spokesman said the Air Force would cut 150 millions in buying of aircraft and missiles, and another 100 millions in construction.

The Navy was ordered to make a 150-million-dollar cut in its contracting, and the Army a reduction of 100 millions.

Grand Rapids to Vote

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)— City Clerk R. Stanton Kilpatrick estimates a total of 32,000 votes will be cast in the Tuesday special Grand Rapids election on proposals to form a metropolitan water authority for a $23,000,000 pipeline to Lake Michigan and for $26,500,000 in proposed city improvements.

Blue Army Sees Worship as Way to World Peace

Catholics Pray to Bring Communist Russia Back to Religion

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

NEW YORK (INS)—A Roman Catholic organization is engaged in a growing prayer movement to bring Communist Russia back to religion as a means of attaining world peace.

The organization, the Blue Army of Our Lady of Fatima, already has 15,000,000 members in 57 countries, 5,300,000 of them in the U.S.

PRAYER CRUSADE

"It's a crusade of prayer and sacrifice for the conversion of Russia," says John M. Haffert, the Blue Army's national director.

"We believe communism is militant atheism and that the only way to stop it is by changing it. The only way to change it is by prayer. Where there is atheistic darkness there may come the light of God's grace."

The Blue Army is now sponsoring thirteen weekly telecasts of a new, dramatic series—"Zero 1960"—shown on Saturday nights over WATV in Newark, N. J. The programs are kinescoped for showings throughout the United States and Canada. Ultimately, the organization hopes to have a regular nation-wide program.

Famous singer and entertainer Hildegarde, who is a member of the Blue Army, is acting as interviewer on four of the current shows which give an insight into the methods of Communists.

The Blue Army was founded ten years ago by the Right Rev. Monsignor Harold Colgan, pastor of St. Mary's parish in Plainfield, N. J. It has since grown into a world-wide movement.

National Director Haffert explained that the movement was born "by the message of Fatima." This message, he said, was "a vision from heaven," which occurred in the same period as the Russian Revolution, May 13, 1917.

RISE OF ATHEISM

"The vision," said Haffert, "foretold the rise of atheism in Russia and that it would spread to the whole world, fomenting wars, and that it would go on until the annihilation of several entire nations.

"But if enough people would pray and make reparations, the atheists of Russia would be converted and a great era of peace would come to the world."

All members of the Blue Army are asked to pledge to fulfill the conditions specified in this vision.

CARDINAL A MEMBER

Cardinal Tisserant, head of the Oriental Congregation of the Catholic Church and secretary of the College of Cardinals, is a member of the Blue Army crusaders. The great majority of Catholics behind the Iron Curtain are under his jurisdiction.

Haffert said the vision about Russia came to three children at Fatima in Portugal, about 90 miles north of Lisbon. He added:

"The vision said that to prove to the world that these prophecies of the vision were genuine, Our Lady of Fatima said there would be a miracle on Oct. 13, 1917. On that date tens of thousands of people saw a strange light whirling in the sky for twelve minutes.

"Thirteen years later the Catholic Church in Portugal declared the phenomenon miraculous and the vision authentic."

Msgr. Colgan, who founded the Blue Army crusade, said in an interview:

"I am amazed at the way the movement is growing. Something that was designed to be a parish movement is now like a shot heard around the world.

"Religion won't be conquered in Russia or anywhere else. You can't conquer the longings of the heart.

"The Lord has placed in the hearts of men the longing and the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. These can never be conquered by a dictator.

University of Michigan Slates Commencement

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan will hold its commencement exercises in Michigan Stadium June 15.

About 3,500 students are expected to be graduated. Excercises will begin at 5:30 p.m. In the event of rain ceremonies will be moved to Yost Field House.

Commencement speaker will be Dr. J. Roscoe Miller, president of Northwestern University.

British Bomb 'Cooks' Isle; No Danger From Radiation

CHRISTMAS ISLAND (AP) — Britain's second H-bomb blast generated heat nearly 2,000 times that of the sun's surface and set an island ablaze.

William Cook, chief scientist for the British nuclear tests in the Pacific, said Friday's explosion was a "complete success in every way."

The heat generated, Cook told reporters yesterday, was rated at 10 million degrees centigrade (16,666, 666 degrees Fahrenheit). The average heat of the sun's surface is figured at 10,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

The bomb, reportedly equal to five million tons of TNT, was dropped by a Valient jet bomber and exploded about two miles high, near the small Pacific atoll of Malden, 400 miles south of Island.

The British bomb was believed to be about half the size of the H-bomb the Americans tested at Bikini last year.

Cook said the blast set timber afire over Malden's five-mile length. Four hours later fires still raged, he added.

"Even pieces of wood washed up on the shore appeared to be blazing," Cook said.

The explosion, recorded by scientific instruments placed on Malden, caused no radiation contamination on the island, he said.

This finding led to speculation the British may have perfected a "clean" bomb that could be used for land or sea warfare.

British nuclear scientists taking part in the operation said such a bomb could be used as a field weapon. It would provide a high degree of safety for nonenemy troops moving into the blast area once direct fall-out had cleared—probably within a few days.

They stressed, however, that for such use the bomb would have to be touched off at least two miles high. At lower levels, fall-out would imperil troops on both sides.

Pilots flying over Malden after Friday's blast saw no sign of Percy, the wild pig, only living thing left on Malden among a complex of barometers and radiation measuring instruments.

Percy came through apparently unscathed after Britain's first nuclear blast May 15.

Friends Fined in Court for Ancient Argument

WARWICK, R.I.—An argument over something that happened 20 years ago has cost two friends a $10 fine each.

Ernest A. Beaudoin, 44, Warwick, and Raymond A. Potter, 43, Providence, paid the fines in district court yesterday on charges of reveling.

Police said Potter told them the fight broke out over an argument of 20 years' standing, but refused to go into detail.

Man to Be Arraigned on Statutory Rape Count

Wilbur B. Watson, 21, of 9491 Wise Rd., Milford, will be arraigned in Circuit Court June 10 on a charge of statutory rape.

Watson waived examination when he appeared before Municipal Judge Maurice B. Finnegan, who bound Watson over to the higher court. He was freed on a personal bond until the arraignment.

Congress Overlooking Another Tax Loophole

Another special tax privilege which is costing the taxpayers a lot of money is to be found in the oil depletion allowance.

In theory it is intended to give oil companies incentive to find new reserves. Last year reserves of crude oil and natural gas were at a record high with 150 new superwells. But the 27½ per cent depletion allowance still offers special incentives for the discovery of more.

During the last 21 years in which income taxes for most corporations have risen from 14 to 52 per cent, income taxes for some oil companies have gone down to less than nothing.

For instance, in 1953 the Superior Oil Co. earned $10 million and had a tax credit of $100,000 from the U.S. Treasury. In 1954 the company earned $12.5 million, paid no income taxes and collected $500,000 in tax credits. The Arabian-American oil companies earned $272 million in Saudi Arabia in 1955 without paying any U.S. taxes.

A proposal by Senator Williams, Delaware Republican, would lower the depletion allowance to 20 per cent. He estimates this would bring in $250 million a year in income taxes. Senator Douglas, Illinois Democrat, thinks that the present depletion should be allowed to stand for companies earning less than one million dollars a year with a reduction to 15 per cent for those with $5 million or more taxable income.

The only Senators to support Mr. Williams' proposal were Potter of Michigan, Aiken of Vermont, Lausche of Ohio, Javits of New York and Neuberger of Oregon. Two years ago Senators Williams, Douglas and Aiken had tried, with similar results, to have individual Senators take sides. When the question came up a month ago, the lawmakers shouted down the proposals.

This tax bonanza, says a Washington correspondent, is protected by two Texans who direct the Democratic party in Congress — Speaker Rayburn and Senate Leader Johnson. Both have been doing a lot of talking about cutting the budget but a tax reduction for the ordinary taxpayer would appear possible if the depletion allowance was scaled down.

A limited depletion allowance no doubt is justified to compensate for the risks the oil industry takes in exploring new reserves. However, the present amount appears to be excessive and discriminatory.

Army to Be Allowed to Close 2 Hospitals

For the past three years Congress has been told that the Army wants to close two military hospitals, one at Waltham, Mass. and the other at Hot Springs National Park, Ark.

The Army says that there aren't enough patients to justify keeping the hospitals open. It would like to turn the Waltham installation into an Army engineer headquarters.

Fortunately, the House Appropriations Committee has lost its fight to force the Army to keep these two military hospitals operating. Reps. McCormack, Democrat, and Martin, Republican, both of Massachusetts and House floor leaders of their respective parties, joined Rep. Norell, Arkansas Democrat, to write into the appropriation bill a requirement that the hospitals be kept open.

Rep. Gerald Ford, Michigan Republican, filed a minority report pointing out the situation. Chairman Keoch, New York Democrat, agreed with Rep. Ford and ordered the provision deleted. The total savings, according to Rep. Ford, will be $746,000 the first year and $1,043,000 annually thereafter.

It is difficult to understand how Congressmen can complain of the high defense budget and on the other hand vote against economies recommended by the services themselves.

Adlai's 'Statesmanship' Seems to Be Slipping

Adlai Stevenson isn't adding particularly to his stature as a "statesman" during his sojourn in England.

At a recent conference, he announced that "it would not have been necessary for Britain to attack Egypt" if he had been President. Asked what he would have done to prevent the action, Adlai came up with this little jewel:

"That's a hypothetical question about a hypothetical situation."

That's the bottom of the barrel. There's diplomacy at its worst.

A sharp criticism of President Eisenhower is followed by a perfectly silly and meaningless mouthing when asked for details.

We're of the opinion that two runs at the job of U.S. President are plenty for this chap. What in the world do you think the budget would have been if Mr. Stevenson were currently in the White House?

Horrors.

Although He'd Expected Somebody Else to Do It

June: The month of weddings, roses and their thorns.

We've hardly seen a healthier looking person than the

of Drayton Plains, whose heart operation at Pontiac General Hospital a few weeks ago was duly chronicled in these columns. He states that one of his last acts before entering the hospital was for his family to buy a cemetery lot. On Memorial Day he put some flowers upon it.

First homegrown strawberries of the 1957 season are reported by

Mrs. Ambrosia Brownlee

of Drayton Plains, 20 of them filling a quart box.

Under the very appropriate heading of

"Gone But Not Forgotten,"

a letter just received from

Hiram Holliday,

now of Detroit, states that 63 members of the Grand Army of the Republic marched in the Memorial Day parade in Pontiac on May 30, 1898.

Members of the Pontiac

urges this column to call attention to the fact that this is

"Paint Up, Clean Up, Fix Up"

week, and to overload their garbage cans.

This also is another "week," according to Postmaster LeRoy Dean, officially designated as

"Mail Box Improvement Week,"

when rural route patrons are requested to get things in order, both around their boxes and the approach to them.

Several of our readers have reported that mosquitoes are scarcer than usual this spring (so far), and

David Lawrence Says:

Ike Should Talk to Soviet People

WASHINGTON — Nikita Khrushchev—head of the evil group in the Kremlin which holds hundreds of millions of people in bondage in the name of "Socialism" and "Communism"—had an unparalleled opportunity to put over his propaganda to the American people through a nationwide television program on Sunday afternoon and a radio rebroadcast Sunday night.

LAWRENCE

It was a smart thing to let the Communist dictator sound off over an American network because it certainly challenges the Soviet rulers now to give an equal opportunity for a spokesman of the American government to tell the people of Soviet Russia some plain truths.

MAN TO DO IT

Obviously the man to do it is President Eisenhower. Whether the Soviet government does or does not give the necessary permission, it would be effective if the President sought to address the Soviet people and failing this, recorded the address, anyhow, for broadcast throughout the world.

It could be sent by radio across the "Iron Curtain" from Western European stations. This is not as satisfactory as the opportunity to talk directly to the people of Soviet Russia such as Khrushchev had to talk to the American people. But it would be the beginning of a debate that could be carried on for a long time.

It isn't necessary to engage in an argument over the meaning of the euphemistic words and phrases used by Khrushchev as he portrayed the supposed state of happiness and prosperity and contentment of the peoples of Soviet Russia and the satellite countries. It is necessary for an American spokesman only to tell the people behind the "Iron Curtain" how a free country like America really lives.

AFFORD CONTRAST

The mere recital of what is happening here would afford a contrast with what the people behind the "Iron Curtain" are experiencing. Here in Ameriea, for example, there is discussion of all sides of public issues. Here a man can be free from the operations of a secret police which suddenly descends on the Russian home and whisks the occupants away to Siberia without a trial.

If the President were to describe in his address the freedom that America enjoys—what it is now and how it functions—he would be creating in the minds of the Soviet people a craving to realize such freedom themselves someday. This is moral force at its best.

What the Communist dictator said over the Columbia Broadcasting System networks on Sunday was the same old line he and other officials have uttered time and time again. It is a brazen attempt to erase from the memory of the peoples of the free world the crimes of the past and to argue that the Communist system of government is best for "mankind."

WONDER MORE

There may be persons in America who will wonder more and more about what this curious thing called "communism" really is, after hearing Khrushchev extol it so emphatically. But the American press and radio and television fortunately can present the truth to the American people. They can tell the story of the crimes being committed every day in Eastern Europe and wherever a Communist regime holds sway. Evil is evil no matter how much it is glossed over by such phrases as "peaceful co-existence."

Internal strength is possible for the Soviet Union only if the government gradually improves the economic lot of the people there. This cannot be done while a threat of war hangs over the country and there is need for money and labor to build armament. What Khrushchev is really after is a breathing spell. He preaches "co-existence" as a sort of armistice proposal.

But the "Cold War" will go on because the Communists never keep their word. They are violating the armistice in Korea, for instance, every day of the year. Certainly the Kremlin would prefer not to fight any big war, believing indeed that it can obtain its supremacy throughout the world by infiltration and intrigue inside weaker countries.

But it wants disarmament as a means of assuring that it will not be interfered with in a military way while it seeks to obtain its objectives through operations in the free countries. This is the big "Cold War" operation on which the Communists are spending billions of dollars in propaganda.

Does the Kremlin really dare to let the truth penetrate the "Iron Curtain" through an address by an American spokesman who would present the anti-Communist side of the argument directly to the Soviet people?

Dr. William Brady Says:

Fear of 'Auto-Intoxication' Can Start Problem Habit

Many correspondents tell me they have derived great benefit from my teachings. When I get discouraged, someone hastens to tell me how much better his or her health and looks are since he or she overcame the physic habit. For instance:

DR. BRADY

"Following instructions in Little Lesson 25, I have succeeded in breaking the physic habit which I had for over 30 years. I never knew until now how it feels to be perfectly well. May the good Lord give you many years of happy life..." (W. L. H.)

It is largely the fear of "auto-intoxication," "toxemia," and the innumerable evils conjured up by charlatans that keeps so many persons in the habit of using one or another "aid" and believing that such "aid" is indispensable to maintain health or prevent illness.

And so, when I receive a report, such as W. L. H.'s, I feel reassured that it is worthwhile to keep pounding away at it.

Little Lesson 25 is a booklet you can carry in pocket or purse to read at odd moments. It is titled The Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene. For a copy send me 35 cents and stamped envelope bearing your address.

People who depend on any kind of artificial "aid" to maintain "regularity" belong in the same category with those poor geeks who think they must have "a dose of digitalis every day lest . . .", and with the delinquents who, for a while, keep going on aspirin, acetanilid and other pain-killers; and with the degenerates who deliberately resort to dexedrine, amphetamine, benzedrine, tranquilizers, barbiturate, heroin, alcohol or other drug to benumb their inferiority feelings for a while.

While under the effects of their favorite dope these subnormal people feel equal to, if not better than everybody else.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan.

(Copyright 1957)

Couple Praises Addition of Multi-Purpose Room

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

A new multi-purpose room is nearing completion at Hawthorne School. This is a long awaited necessity. It means our children will no longer have to use halls for eating, gymnastics and viewing educational movies. It means the cafeteria staff will no longer have to use a room intended for storage. Nor will they have to prepare meals for approximately 200 children on one 36" range. School functions such as plays, banquets, PTA meetings etc., will not have to be held in halls or at other schools. We wish to give hearty thanks to Mr. Schimmel and others who had part in making ours a better school.

Labor, Business Bring Comment

The State of Michigan should be grateful for a fine governor like Williams. Under his leadership this state has become one of the nation's leaders.

As for industry moving out, Ohio has lower taxes, but they have poorer schools and lower wages. The less a man makes, the less he can buy. Industry wants trained, skilled workers, but it doesn't want to support schools to produce them. It's up to industry as well as the public.

I differ with Reader. Williams is very popular outside the state. He is not childlike, and even if he were like FDR, there's nothing wrong with that. Look what Roosevelt did for America. He started social security, WPA, CCC, to say nothing of the decent wages he helped obtain. There isn't a Jap flag flying here either. The March of Dimes was another achievement.

Edward W. Keehn

Evidently some weren't born soon enough to "enjoy" freedom from union dues. I had that "privilege." I started work at 16 for $2.50 a week. Men with families got $28 to $32 a month. Section labor got 90 cents a day, no limit to hours per day. Those were the good old days of no union dues.

Along came Henry Ford who said people could not live nor industry prosper without money to buy, and he started a $5 work day. Business condemned him, cursed him and wanted to hang him. Later unions came to benefit labor in other plants. Neither unions nor our governor is against big business. They just want a fair tax so business shares costs of administering the state.

You don't have to pay union dues. Just move to the South. Thousands of poverty-stricken people come from the South to Michigan where we have union wages and conditions. Thank God we have a governor with the common people at heart. I've paid union dues for 55 years and proud of the opportunity.

H. A. Matthews
Williams Lake

No one can overlook the good unions have done to ease working conditions and raise the working man's standard of living. But it remains that a man should have the prerogative to belong or not. When an organization gets strong enough to dictate to a man concerning personal rights, it's overstepping everything a democratic government stands for.

I have no quarrel with organized labor, but in recent years some of the organizational methods have included everything from threats to actual bodily harm. If it's as good as it's touted to be, why are men forced to join? I should think they'd be jumping at the chance. The U.S. government exempts union dues on income tax, so even they must figure it a total loss.

'Pay Ted Williams but Not for Birds'

You'd do better paying Ted Williams to go to Detroit and give those "sluggers" a refresher course. Then when our Tigers win the Pennant, the noise will drive the pigeons right into Yankee Stadium. Better yet, give that money for the hospital. You'll end up wishing you had.

I loved you, dear, completely from . . . The moment that we met . . . Because the way you gazed at me . . . I never could forget . . . Perhaps you did not really mean . . . That love-light in your eyes . . . And maybe I mistakingly . . . Interpreted your sighs . . . But, oh, you gave my heart the hope . . . And I am waiting patiently . . . To knock upon your door . . . Please let me know sincerely now . . . The way you truly feel . . . And whether your affection, dear . . . Is really, really real . . . Please tell me that you love me, and . . . Your love is ever true . . . And with my heart for evermore . . . I will belong to you.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Explains Psychology of Bachelor

Hank is typical of the confirmed bachelor. Where does he fail in the five-point scale of emotional maturity described below? Scrapbook this case record, for it contains some technical facts that you may wish to consult in future months when analyzing your sweethearts.

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-301: Hank T., aged 37, is a bachelor but a very successful attorney.

"Dr. Crane, how do you explain Hank's failure to marry?" One of his legal associates asked me.

"He is handsome and the girls fall for him. He has dated a lot of them. But he never seems able to make up his mind.

CRANE

"Several times in the past 15 years I have felt that he was at last ready to make the plunge. But he always sidestepped at the crucial moment.

"I suppose the fact he lives with his widowed mother has a bearing on the case. But just how?"

EMOTIONAL STAGES

We psychologists describe five emotional stages from birth to full maturity.

First, there is the egocentric, meaning that we are intensely selfish so our entire universe revolves around our own ego.

Babies thus have no concern for their parents but will waken their weary mother several times at night for a bottle of milk or a dry diaper.

All that counts to the egocentric, are his own selfish wishes. If such a person reaches adulthood without having moved through the higher stages of emotional growth, he is labelled a psychopathic personality.

Second, there is the parental stage, which typifies Hank. At the kindergarten age or even earlier, we begin to realize that Dad and Mother are rather prominent planets revolving around our ego.

We find that we depend upon them and must cater to their whims if we want to get the maximum in privileges and favors.

If, however, we remain permanently tied to mamma's apron strings, we let them continue to make our decisions for us.

In adulthood, therefore, an old bachelor or spinster may still fall back upon mama to decide even trivial things such as when to buy new clothes or where to go on a vacation, etc.

HOMOSEXUAL STAGE

Third, is the true homosexual stage where we are fond of our own gang and abhor the opposite sex as "sissy."

Little boys of 9 to 12 thus ridicule their pals and employ that term "sissy" as the height of their disapproval. And little girls also view boys as simply necessary evils on the face of the earth.

If they retain this stage of emotional outlook into adulthood, then we call them "pansies" or "fairies" or adult homosexuals.

The fourth stage is the heterosexual, coming at the mid-teens when we begin to turn our romantic thoughts toward the opposite sex.

This is the time when boys begin to read etiquette columns and comb their hair without parental prodding. Girls, too, begin to crave cosmetics and become smitten by TV idols like Elvis Presley.

Finally, we are supposed to attain the top or altruistic level when we have a worldwide perspective and begin to see our obligations to our fellowmen, even in ages far ahead.

Missionaries and scientists who sacrificed their lives in medical experiments to learn facts about yellow fever or typhus and cancer, belong in this exalted category.

So do the brave men and women who laid down their lives in time of war that the rest of us might enjoy the freedom and happiness guaranteed by our wonderful American Constitution.

Hank is a brilliant attorney with an adult body but is still so tied to mamma's apron strings that he can't make up his mind.

Like Hamlet, he engages in daily futile debates on whether "to be or not to be" married.

He is as much a victim of procrastination as the chronic drunk is a victim of whisky.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Evangelist Eyes 7th Commandment

Billy Graham Sermonizes on Adultery in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham says his subject for tonight at Madison Square Garden is "somewhat delicate for a mixed audience," but he's going to discuss it anyway.

The subject is "The Seventh Commandment—The Moral Problem."

The Seventh Commandant forbids adultery.

And his topic for next Sunday will be "The Great Judgment Day" or "The Last Roundup."

Last night he told an audience of 17,000—1,500 short of the Garden's seating capacity, "You can't run up to Jesus any time and say, 'Lord, here I am' " and expect to be saved.

"No one will meet Christ who hasn't come by way of the cross . . . . You must receive Christ," he said.

His subject was "The Second Coming of Christ," the text Acts 1:9-11—" . . . This same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven."

"Even a casual reading of the Bible would seem to indicate to anybody that Christ is coming again," the evangelist said.

"The second coming of Christ is mentioned 380 times in the New Testament . . . The Old Testament is full of it—that some day messiah, Christ the anointed one, is coming," said Graham.

There were 464 "decisions for Christ" last night. This brought to 11,635 the number for the 19 days his New York crusade has been going on.

Last night's attendance pushed Graham's total cumulative audience at the Garden to 335,300.

Resident to Face Charge of Passing Bad Check

Willie Reed, 34, of 281 Rockwell St., will appear in Circuit Court June 10 to face a charge of passing a $106 bogus check in a local drug store.

Reed was bound over to the higher court after he waived examination before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum. He was freed on a $100 bond.

Lightning Kills Girl, 13

Livelihood for 300 Japanese

Villagers Scavenge Range Where Woman Was Killed

SOMAGAHAR, Japan (AP)—Every day 300 scavengers climb a barbed wire fence and collect shell casings off the U. S. military range where a Japanese woman was killed.

Villagers—including many women and children — armed with small burlap sacks, a hand trowel or pick and a one-foot iron rod, dig for shells and other scrap metal.

All wear small tags which identify them as members of the Somagahara Scrap Collectors Union. The scrap metal they collect means a daily livelihood.

"We make as much as 50 cents to a dollar a day," a high school student sid, "enough to buy school supplies and leave something over for the family."

"We don't enter the range when the soldiers are firing," an old man explained. "As soon as it's over they notify us, then we rush in and begin digging."

Villagers have dug a small hole, since no gravestone can be erected on the firing range, to mark the spot where Mrs. Naka Sakai fell last Jan. 30.

A U. S. Army man, Specialist 3.C. William S. Girard, is held in connection with that killing. The case has stirred a controversy over whether Japan or the United States has the right to try him. Girard says the killing was an accident.

"It has been safe and there hasn't been a single incident since Jan. 30," a village elder said, "and the soldiers have been good to us.

"We wish all these buttinskis would leave us alone. "If the accident isn't handled properly, we'll find ourselves without an income. We're praying that we'll be permitted to continue scavenging for shells and cartridges as long as the U. S. Army remains in Japan."

North Carolina has about one million acres of improved pasture land.

Chinatown to Celebrate Without Firecrackers

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)— San Francisco's Chinatown will have to celebrate the Chinese New Year without firecrackers next year.

The State Assembly rejected legislation yesterday to exempt the Chinese New Year celebration from the ban against firecrackers.

Vigilantes Fight Bandits

RANGOON (AP)—Vigilantes are being organized in Burma's Hsipaw State to fight dacoits (bandits). This means any one capable of bearing arms may get a license for a gun and join the batple tolice have been unable to wage successfully. Hsipaw is a northern Shan state southwest of Lashio on the old Burma Road to China.

Underground Nuclear Reactor Gets Approval

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Atomic Energy Commission has authorized contruction of an underground nuclear reactor—protected on three sides by earth—near San Diego, Calif.

The permit was granted to General Dynamics Corp. on the condition that the test reactor will not be a menace to health. It will be set 15 feet below the surface in the Torrey Pines Mesa and the unprotected side will face an open canyon.

Completion is expected before next January 15.

Cadillac

Greatness Is Never Achieved Suddenly!

It has long been true, in the affairs of men, that only time can confirm the gift of greatness.

Artist, writer, craftsman—each must await the years for the maturity of his talent and for the verdict of his judges.

And as it is in the affairs of men, so it is in the world of commerce. Nothing great was ever created suddenly—whether the product be that of an individual or of an organization.

Here, most certainly, is the very genesis of Cadillac's unique position in the hearts and minds of the world's motorists.

Since the first Cadillac car made its appearance more than fifty-five years ago, it has always been created to a single objective: to make it as fine a motor car as it is possible to produce.

And, without question, the mission and the accomplishment have been one and the same.

The goodness of Cadillac has, in fact, been so apparent over that lengthy span that the Cadillac name stands today as an accepted synonym for quality wherever highways exist.

The pretenders have come—and they have gone. For time is an exacting taskmaster—and only the principles that have created the great Cadillac car and only the devotion that has given it being have been equal to the challenge.

Never has this fact been more deeply etched in the public consciousness than it is during the present automotive year.

The magnificent motor car that now represents Cadillac on the highways of the world has advanced the Cadillac tradition to an extraordinary degree.

If you have yet to discover this fact for yourself, you should hesitate no longer to visit your authorized Cadillac dealer.

Waiting for you in his showroom is proof beyond doubt that Cadillac is—in fact as in reputation—the Standard of the World!

Hal Boyle Says:

Filmland Triple Threat Likes Risks

NEW YORK (AP)—"The greatest hazard in creative work is success," said Robert Rossen, one of Hollywood's few top triple threat men.

"Once a man wins success he wants to hold on to it too much. He becomes afraid to take chances and do risky things. He becomes cautious and repetitious.

"I believe there's a lot of sense in the old dice table saying: 'Get a hunch — bet a bunch.'

"I don't feel so afraid of success, or afraid of losing it, I've had a couple of failures and learned to bounce back from them."

Rossen, who recently directed Darryl F. Zanuk's production of "Island in the Sun," is a chunky former East Side kid who first punched his way to the top with his typewriter.

Now he ranks with a few other film colony all-around stars (such as John Huston, Billy Wilder and Nunnally Johnson) who can write, direct, or produce a picture.

Two films in which Rossen performed all three chores were his Academy Award winning "All the King's Men" and "Alexander the Great."

Acting simultaneously as writer-director-producer, he feels, has both defects and advantages.

"The biggest advantage is that you get a unified look, an individual interpretation," he said. "When you're right, you're very very right.

"But the disadvantage is that sometimes, in doing three jobs on a film, you lose objectivity, because you don't have time to reflect. You lack the corrective benefit of varying points of view — and when you're wrong then, you can be awfully far wrong."

Perhaps because of his own rugged Lower East Side upbringing, Rossen's favorite film theme is the individual's own struggle within himself and against his environment, a theme dramatically presented in one of his finest pictures, "The Brave Bulls."

"I think environment plays a more important place in our lives than most of us realize," he remarked.

At this point in his career Rossen says he no longer would let one of his own screen plays be directed by another man.

"It would be a schizophrenic thing to do," he said. "I feel now I could develop the script's film values better myself, rather than have them filtered through another mind."

Then he added, smiling, "but don't get the idea I think of myself as a genius, or want anybody else to. Being a genius is too much trouble."

Rossen prefers, whenever possible, to shoot a film in its natural location, feeling it stimulates him as well as the actors to do better work.

"I don't go to many movies, particularly if I have one in the works myself," he said. "I'm afraid it might make me unconsciously imitative."

A perfectionist himself, Bob is a frank admirer of the camera wizardry of fellow directory George Stevens. He rates Jimmy Cagney as one of the finest actors he has ever known.

It is always interesting to an outsider to discover which pictures a really creative writer and director such as Rossen regards as a great film fare.

"Offhand," he said, "the first five that come to my mind are 'The Informer,' 'Grand Illusion,' 'Greed,' 'Scarface' — some of those early gangster movies were really memorable — and 'All Quiet on the Western Front.'

"Some people told Lewis Milestone they didn't like the way 'All Quiet' ended, and he replied, 'Okay, how would you change it —let the Germans win?'"

GOP Officers Resign

BENTON HARBOR (AP)—Four top officers of the Berrien County Republican committee have resigned. And lack of money in the treasury has meant loss of the committee's only fulltime salaried employe. Commenting on the resignations, Chairman Montgomery Shepherd said after the GOP's spring election defeat it was felt "a change in faces on the local committee might be best all around."

Bob Considine Says:

Tentless Circus Is Doing Very Well

NEW YORK (INS)—The tentless Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus is doing quite well, thank you, according to a man who should know — John Ringling North.

Accosted at Sun Luck's, where he was trying his luck with one of racing official Dennis McAvoy's 80-course Chinese dinners, North said the perilous experiment of getting rid of the big tent has worked fine and he'll never deal in canvas again.

"We did $2,000,000 at Madison Square Garden this year in five weeks, for starters," North reported. "We were off slightly in the Boston Garden, but playing indoors in Providence for the first time we did $80,000 in 10 days—our best there in years.

"We'll do more than that indoors, in Rochester. We've got a $45,000 advance in Hershey, Pa.

"We'll be outdoors, under the sky and Navy auspices, at Norfolk, and in ballparks in Washington, Philadelphia and Baltimore. We're allowing for one washout a week.

"We're playing the two biggest fairs in the hemisphere, Toronto and Pomona. We'll play at Los Angeles ballpark, the Cow Palace in San Francisco and auditoriums in Oakland, San Diego, Phoenix, Odessa, and Lubbock in Texas, and Mexico City.

"We'll carry on into the winter —for the first time—indoors in Chicago at the Stockyards Arena, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Cincinnati.

"Who needs a tent?" he asked. "Besides, getting rid of it lopped 850 people off that payroll I had so much trouble meeting."

Budd Schulberg had it real good in Hollywood during the shooting of "A Face in the Crown," his story of a scoundrel who becomes the nation's television darling.

He demanded and received complete control over how his script was to be shot by Elia Kazan. If Budd didn't like the way a scene played he threw it out. Not a word could be changed or a sentence deleted without his permission. It was all done on a handshake with Kazan.

"This is unique," a friend marveled. "Out here, normally, you need a contract to shake hands."

Schulberg, here to boost his explosive baby, which stars the remarkable Andy Griffith, says of the usual writer-director relations:

"I honestly feel that screenwriting in its present form is for the birds. It must be done as I did it with Elia. I had every right to contest how the picture was being shot. I'm not anti-Hollywood, but I believe the best results are available in the manner.

"The writer is involved in all facets, including the aspects of commercialism and entertainment. If the property is good it is going to be a financial success. That deeply involves him.

"I also believe that nothing should appear under an author's name that he hasn't done. He must stand on his own brand and name."

EXPERIMENT WORKS

Columbia University's School of General Studies is an experiment in academic rehabilitation which is turning out dramatically well. It is enabling an astonishing variety of students who never finished high school to receive a college education.

It all started in 1950 under the sensitive wing of Prof. Louis M. Hacker, a man who strongly shared the resentment that normal college requirements often cannot be surmounted by education-hungry people whose learning was largely derived in the school of hard knocks.

It was a great day in June 1954 when the first class graduated. Among the 12 who received degrees were a TWA flight purser with six children, a housewife, a retired chief torpedoman of the Navy, and a hotel clerk.

The following year's graduation class included a former GI who had never finished high school but who graduated from Columbia with a Phi Beta Kappa key.

The General Studies School now has 7,000 students. Sixty-eight per cent of graduates now go on to professional schools.

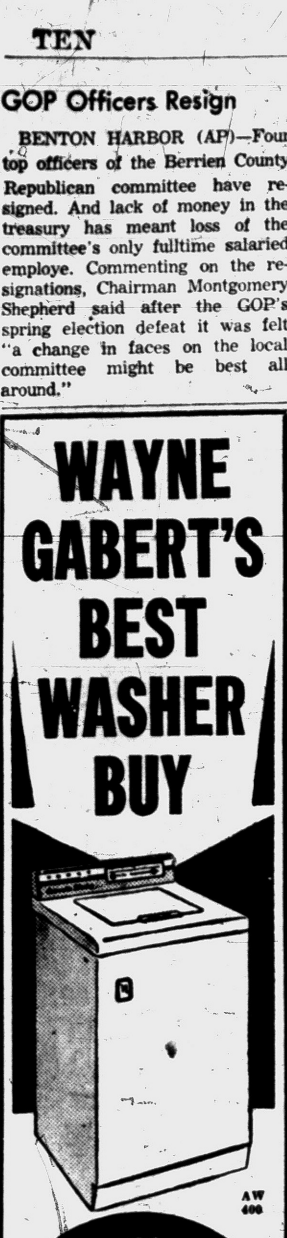

The average age of the students is 29, though one undergrad is coming up 80. Pat Boone, who'll make a million this year, is an English major.

Bolivia's seat of government, La Paz, is the world's highest capital. The city is situated in a sheltered valley at 11,900 feet.

It's Getting Hard to Buy Off Police, Violators Groan

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Traffic violators complain that city police are now demanding 5 pesos to let them off instead of the 2 pesos they used to ask.

Highway police demand up to 50 pesos for major violations on federal highways. A peso is 8 cents.

Such payoffs are common and are known as "mordidas," or bites.

Arrests for traffic violations are rare in the capital. But when they are made, they are a lot more trouble than in the United States.

Officers do not give tickets to the unlucky violators. They take them and their cars to the nearest police station. There is usually a long wait, a lot of argument and generally a stiff fine.

Paying the mordidas is cheaper and quicker — and the underpaid police need the money.

Police Say Dynamite Planted by Hoodlums

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Police say they think young hoodlums planted a charge of dynamite yesterday that was found minutes before a freight train would have rolled over it, causing an explosion.

The two sticks of dynamite, wired to detonating caps placed on the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad, were found beneath a freight car in a routine check by a conductor before starting the train. The cars were ready to be switched from the Reading Co. System to the PRR when the dynamite was found in the Belmont Junction in west Philadelphia.

Negro Congressman Stricken in Church

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-NY) was stricken with exhaustion and a possible heart attack yesterday while preaching a sermon to 1,700 worshippers in a Harlem church.

The 48-year-old Negro congressman-pastor was taken to a New York hospital, where his condition was described as "not serious." He will receive a general medical checkup.

Powell became ill near the end of his sermon at the noon service in the Abyssinian Baptist Church, of which he is pastor.

An assistant took over and Powell retired from the pulpit.

Powell is serving his sixth term in Congress. Although a Democrat, he supported the re-election of President Eisenhower last year. He said the Republicans advocated a more liberal civil rights program than the Democrats.

In the palm of your hand

—a way to keep prices from going higher

Living costs don't HAVE to keep on rising! You can help hold them down by saving an extra nickel out of every dollar.

One of the main causes of rising prices is overspending. If each of us will save only an extra nickel out of every dollar we earn we will put a strong brake on inflation.

For this will produce billions of dollars in savings—money which is urgently needed to finance more factories, homes and schools.

And, of course, you get a personal bonus from your extra savings—the feeling of independence and security that a growing nest egg brings . . . the feeling that your house is in order.

As a second step to fight inflation, all of us should support every reasonable move to reduce government spending—federal, state and local.

Sure, all this means a sacrifice. But isn't it worth it, if this means continuing our prosperity—and keeping it sound?

From Master's Degree to 'Ramshackle Daddy'

Bill Hayes Offers Startling Contrasts

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—It seemed incredible, even if the man said it with a dead pan look on his face.

"Did you know," he said, "that the guy who wrote 'Ramshackle Daddy' and sang that new, hot recording of 'Wringle-Wrangle' is a nice guy and the deacon of his church?"

Highly improbable, we replied.

"Also — 'Wringle-Wrangle' and 'Ramshackle Daddy' notwithstanding—he has a master's degree in music from Northwestern University. Would you believe it?" inquired the press agent.

No, I continued.

"Well, this you really won't believe then. This nice, sharp guy, this deacon with a degree, is outside the door at this very second, ready to be interviewed. He also has with him the score of 'The Ballad of Davy Crockett,' if you'd like to see it."

And so in this manner, before the door or anybody could bolt, in walked Bill Hayes. He looked, due to overhearing, bilious. Which immediately proved he is an artist of modesty, youth and integrity.

FIT THE COSTUME

Cringing modestly, he indicated that the Broadway-type buildup has never, in his case, helped to spell out (better, spiel out) success.

"I got my first professional job because I fit the costume of the role I was auditioning for," Bill Hayes said quietly, "and things have been dropping in my favor ever since. I've picked up jobs one by one, and everything seems fine."

The first position, the one where he applied for a job in a road show company of "Carousel" and fit immaculately into the costume designed for it, was achieved in 1947.

This was nine years before the birth of "The Ballad of Davy Crockett," which made him so famous that even his own five kids, aged 1 through 8, now and then address him as "Dave."

In the interim, before he got famous—or infamous depending on how you look at the 2,000,000 record—he has composed dozens of songs, sung opera, starred in "Me and Juliet," soloed with symphony orchestras, danced and acted on TV spectaculars and the Sid Caesar show, written plays and became an artist with the brush. In an age of specialization, this might seem to be diffusing the talent.

JACK OF ALL ARTS

"I suppose so," he says when accused of being a jack of all arts. "Most people seem to get in a field and feel more comfortable just staying there, because it's what they know best. Trouble with me is, they gave me a liberal arts education—and I got literal about the liberal stuff."

Hayes surely is one of the most well-rounded musicians, as well as well-rounded persons, in his field—his field being, for want of a more apt name, "active arts."

Besides owning a master's in music, he has studied at the choral schools of both Fred Waring and Christiansen, and yearns someday to conduct as well as arrange choral and orchestral interpretations of some of his home-composed works, from the gimmicky "Ramshackle Daddy" to some exciting classics. (He calls them "hard-to-listen-to" music, because they don't sell.)

For 18 years, he has been a church choir singer, and is a deacon at the Garden City, L. I., Community Church, which he and his high school sweetheart-turned-wife attend weekly.

The object: "I want my children to have a knowledge of religious education and thoughts. The best way to be sure of that is for me to give them a good example."

3,000 to Join in All-City Elementary School Festival

Jacqueline Powell Wed to John R. Harrington

At a candlelight service at Grace Lutheran Church Saturday evening Jacqueline Powell became the bride of John R. Harrington. The 7:30 o'clock ceremony was witnessed by 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Geneva Powell of Beverly avenue and Roy Powell of Kennett road. Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Harrington of South Telegraph road are John's parents.

For the service, the bride choose a ballerina-length gown of peau de soie with lace appliques at the neckline and waistline. A single strand of pearls with pearl earrings were her only jewelry.

A headpiece of lace and seed pearls secured her fingertip veil of illusion, and she carried an orchid surrounded by lilies of the valley.

2 ASSIST BRIDE

Marijane Vollmar was maid of honor wearing a hyacinth colored ballerina-length dress. Her bouquet was of shades of pink carnations.

Delores Powell, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Her gown was identical to the maid of honor's and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Kurt Lauckner served as best man, and ushers for the ceremony were Larry Harrington, brother of the bridegroom, Roy McAnnally Jr., Joseph Mills and Robert Ferguson.

The reception was held at the home of the bridegroom on South Telegraph road immediately following the ceremony.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Powell wore powder blue silk organza with a corsage of red roses and white carnations. Mrs. Harrington chose an ivory colored gown and a corsage of pink roses and white carnations.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in Northern Michigan and Wisconsin.

For traveling, the bride changed to a black and white dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

They will make their home in Midland.

MRS. JOHN R. HARRINGTON

Jacqueline Powell and John R. Harrington were married Saturday at Grace Lutheran Church. Jacqueline is the daughter of Mrs. Geneva Powell of Beverly avenue and Roy Powell of Kennett road. John's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Harrington of S. Telegraph road.

Joan Howlett Announces Bridal Party

Names Attendants at Shower in Home of Mrs. E. Christian

Joan Howlett, bride-elect of Richard B. Jones, announced her bridal attendants at a luncheon and shower Saturday at Devon Gables. Mrs. Earl Christian of Flint was hostess for the affair.

Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Howlett of East Iroquois, will become the bride of Richard June 28, in a ceremony at First Presbyterian Church. Richard is the son of Mrs. Helen B. Jones of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and John T. Jones of Birmingham.

Mrs. Christian will serve as matron of honor. Her bridesmaids will include Eleanor Johnson of include Eleanor Johnson of Grosse Pointe, and Barbara Barker and Patsy Hoey, both of Bloomfield Hills.

Richard has asked James Howlett, brother of the bride-elect, to perform the duties of best man. Ushers will be Carl Luckenbach of Birmingham, Charles Cunningham of Bloomfield Hills, David Hubbard of Birmingham and Jamey Taylor of Birmingham.

Shades of pink and lavender were carried out in the decorations of the luncheon tables at the Saturday luncheon.

Guests attending included Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Howlett, Mrs. Paul B. Pike, Mrs. Martha Currie Sanford, Mrs. William Miller, Ellie Johnson, Jackie Touscany and Eugenie Reagan.

Completing the guest list were Janet Snader, Mrs. Harry Jones, Mrs. Joseph Thomas, Mrs. James Hogan, Nancy Herkenhoff of Minster, Ohio; Nancy Walser and Susan Wesley.

'Mrs. McThing' Opens Tonight at Will-O-Way

Opening tonight for its 17th season, the Will-O-Way Theater presents "Mrs. McThing," which will run nightly for two weeks.

At present rehearsals for the Mary Chase comedy are going on with Lillian Hicks starring in the role of the doting dowager, Mrs. Howard V. LaRue III. Billy Merrill co-stars as the spoiled son, and Marcee Merrill is his playmate.

Paul Caplan, disc jockey Joe Van, and Robert Bryson, all Detroiters, are the triumvirate of 'bad guys' who lead Billy Merrill astray. Other supporting roles are played by the husband and wife team, Danny and Janet Simpson. Danny plays the role of the bodyguard, Nelson.

"Mrs. McThing" does not have an imaginary character like Mrs. Chase's other two comedies, "Harvey" and "Bernadine," but it is the same kind of delightful spoof, this time on mother's apron strings.

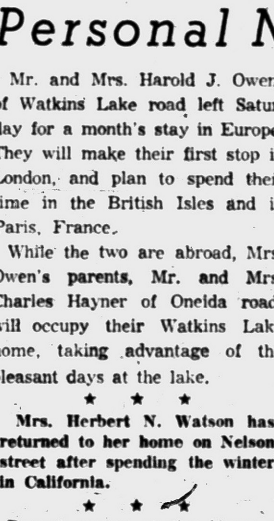

Local Couple Exchange Vows

John Zeunen and Mrs. Isabel Farrell were united in marriage on May 25 in the Chapel of Central Methodist Church. The Rev. Milton H. Bank performed the 4 p.m. ceremony in the presence of immediate families.

Mrs. Farrell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra T. Nicholson of Milford.

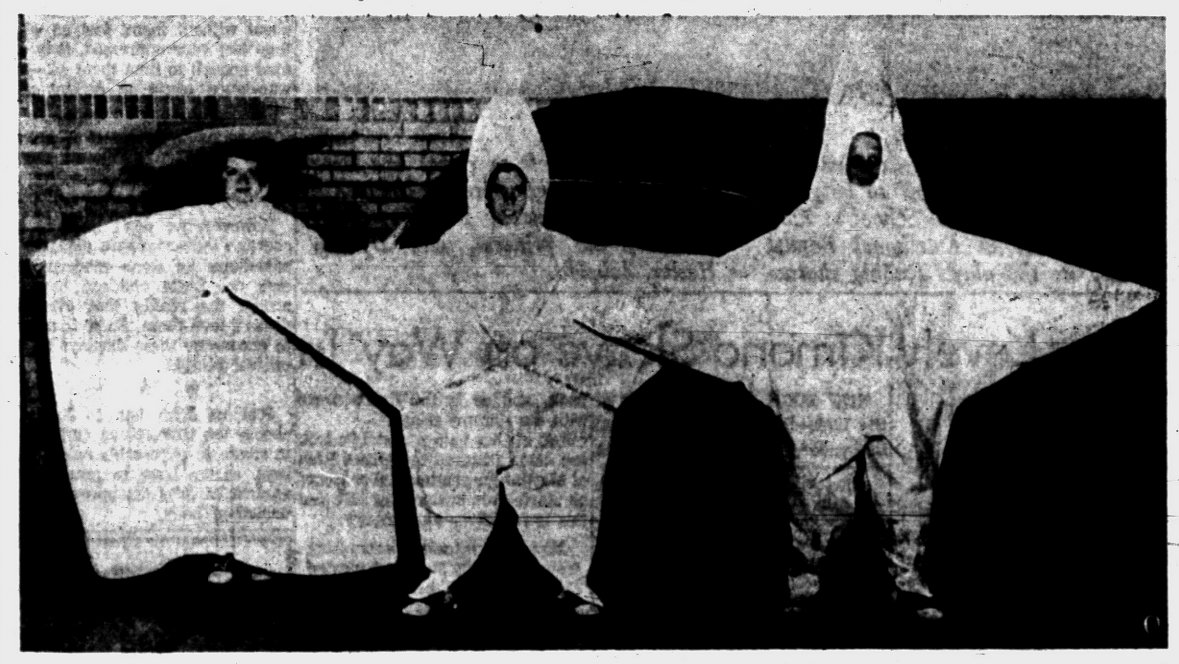

Attending the couple were Lois Farrell and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Huber.

The couple are residing in their home on Devonshire road following a brief honeymoon.

PATRICIA DONALDSON

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Donaldson of Circle drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia, to Arthur Kroeger. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kroeger of Northville. Patricia attended Michigan State University where Arthur is a student in police administration.

Personal News of Interest in Area

Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Owens of Watkins Lake road left Saturday for a month's stay in Europe. They will make their first stop in London, and plan to spend their time in the British Isles and in Paris, France.

While the two are abroad, Mrs. Owen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayner of Oneida road, will occupy their Watkins Lake home, taking advantage of the pleasant days at the lake.

Mrs. Herbert N. Watson has returned to her home on Nelson street after spending the winter in California.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kent of Ferry avenue were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Holmes of Flint.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny B. Collins of Indianapolis, Ind., announce the angegement of their daughter, Dorothy Deborah, to Raymond C. Cunningham Jr. of Birmingham.

The son of Mrs. Raymond C. Cunningham of Birmingham and the late Mr. Cunningham, Raymond is a graduate of Northwestern University where he was affiliated with Sigma Chi fraternity.

Miss Collins was graduated from Colby College where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. The couple plans an Oct. 5 wedding.

Wisner Stadium Is Scene for Program Wednesday

Three thousand fifth and sixth grade students of Pontiac schools will participate in the All-City Elementary School Festival set for Wednesday at Wisner Stadium.

Sponsored by the physical education and vocal music departments, the festival will begin at 7:30 p.m. It is the sixth in a series of such events presented every other year.

"What's Happening in Children's America" is the theme.

The program revolves around the activities of a child in his waking hours, beginning with early morning scenes and songs, school and family life. Participating students were taught dances and scenes in physical education classes. Vocal music students will present the songs.

Radio workshops will carry the program over the public address system.

GROUPS TO TAKE PART

Youth groups, such as the Boy Scouts, will take part, and several parents are assisting with the production.

Robert Lawson will accompany the singers at the organ.

Each school taking part will do one dramatization or scene, and each group is making costumes for its own scene.

The public is invited free of charge, although parents will be admitted to the stadium by ticket earlier.

Paid Babysitters Receive Better Deal Than Granny

Parents Neglect to Be Gracious and Considerate With Family Member

By RUTH MILLETT

Most young parents whose evenings out depend on whether they can get hold of a paid babysitter treat the sitter with the utmost courtesy and consideration. After all, they want to be sure she will come the next time they call.

But a lot of young parents who depend on "Grandma" as a sitter aren't nearly as thoughtful.

They figure they can call "Grandma" at the last minute and expect her to be happy to rush right over and take care of their little darlings.

When she arrives, they don't bother to word their instructions tactfully and graciously.

"Now, Mother," they may say with more than a trace of irritation, "see that Johnny gets to bed by 8 o'clock. Last time you let him sit up so late he was cross all the next day. And don't stuff him with cookies again."

AREN'T AFRAID

Nor do young couples always bother to get home at a reasonable hour when "Grandma" is doing the sitting. They aren't paying her by the hour. And, furthermore, they aren't afraid of losing her services if they don't get home when they said they would.

It doesn't even occur to a lot of young parents that they should pay for "Grandma sitting" in some kind of coin.

They could offer to do something that would be as big a help to her as her sitting is to them, give her a gift now and then, or even have her as a special guest at least as often as she is asked to babysit.

And don't think "grandmother sitters" don't resent being taken for granted and imposed upon. This column was prompted by a stack of letters from disgruntled grandmas whose children have turned them into unpaid and unappreciated babysitters.

Children Equate Nakedness, Truth

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

John's parents had guests—his childless aunt and uncle.

As his bedtime neared, he sensed the visitors' growing impatience with his continuing presence. Finally, his uncle said, "Don't kids ever go to bed any more?"

Installed in bed, John resented dismissal from the fascinating events he was sure were in progress downstairs. So he took off his pajamas and ran downstairs. There he yelled and dashed about in defiant nakedness.

This was his way of saying: "This is me as I really am! Behold me divested of my pajamas and the obligation to pretend I like sharing my parents' attention. I am very, very mad—as bare of polite feeling toward these intruders as I am of my nightclothes!"

His mother understood this. Instead of condemning or encouraging his nakedness, she just said, "It's too cold to run about like that"—and bore him back to bed. As she picked up his discarded pajamas, she added, "It's silly to take off your clothes before people who don't know and love you."

John himself knew he had aroused more disapproval in his aunt and uncle, so he accepted the truth in his mother's statement and fell peacefully to sleep.

FEELINGS CLOAKED

If we remember how often little children are required to clothe their real feelings in the garments of submissiveness, we can readily appreciate their delight in physical nakedness. Their view is, "all right, make me appear to feel what I don't—but my body is still my own to make appear as it really is."

So when they feel very happly, they are confident enough to fling off constraining clothes and prance about without them, just as when they feel very oppressed, they are mad enough to fling them off—and war-dance about in defiant self-assertion.

If we make them feel ashamed of their naked bodies at these times, we make them ashamed of exposing their naked feelings.

However, we don't have to encourage indiscriminate displays of nakedness as some modern parents do. Little children have to accept the reality that everyone doesn't love them. So it is unwise to encourage these displays before critical people.

Just as John has to learn to choose the time, place and people to whom to expose his naked feelings, so we have to protect him against harmful disapproval of his unclothed body.

Cotton to Get Nylon Finish

Now comes still another use for that blessed product, nylon.

A solution derived from nylon flake is being used as a finish for cotton cloth. And why? So that it will give cotton fabrics a silkier finish, more strength, better wrinkle-recovery — and provide that wash-and-wear feature every woman shops for.

Do read labels carefully; look for the ones that offer this new nylon finish.

Beauty Hint

Keep a lemon handy. It is good for removing stains from hands. Rub stained area with the cut surface of a lemon. Follow with a soapy wash in warm water and use a hand brush.

Peggy Levely Is Honored at Shower

Peggy Levely, bride-elect of David Richards, was honoree at a miscellaneous shower given Friday by Mrs. Dave Gilpin in her home on Neome drive.

Peggy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Levely of Elizabeth Lake avenue, will exchange vows with David on June 15 at Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Richards of Chicago avenue.

Attending the shower were Mrs. Levely, Mrs. Waldomar Roeser, Mrs. Ronald Hodge, Mrs. Jack Caverly, Mrs. Edward Ladd, Mrs. William Cousins, Mrs. Alex Avram and Mrs. Meta McIlroy.

Mrs. Omar MacNutt, Virginia Levely, Mrs. Minto Wallace, Mrs. Paul Hagle, Mrs. Maude Wagner, Mrs. Paul Gorman, Mrs. Telton Rogg, Mrs. Walter Giddings and Mrs. Frederick Ziem also attended.

Rayon Linen Is Suit-able for Active Boy

Little boys will be lucky if their summer suits are made of rayon linen.

This adaptable fabric has a "Sunday suit" look, but won't be damaged even if things get a bit rough. All the evidence can be washed away with soap or detergent suds.

To be stylish, the very-junior gentlemen will wear contrasting pants and jackets.

Rayon linen lends itself to tweedy checks, smooth pinstripes, and solid colors, all of which can be made up into matched or mixed wardrobes.

Nearly 2,000 species of shrimp exist. The young pass through 10 larval stages. Most adults apparently spawn only once and have a life span of one year.

Kimono Sleeve on Way In

NEW YORK (INS) — Shades of the 1930s—the kimono sleeve and the padded shoulder are coming back, and so is the dance dress with the shimmy fringe.

Fall clothes with a nostalgic look are being featured by Sylvan Rich of Martini for sentimental reasons; he started his business in 1932 and this is his silver anniversary.

Rich is offering everything from the middy look over pleated skirts to clutch coats with fox cuffs or long fox collars.

He makes a neat compromise, though—most of his 1930s effects are in the jackets over 1957 tight sheath dresses.

There's definitely more shoulder to his suits and wide kimono sleeves are usually cuffed in fur. Most of the suits and costumes have belted wide tops over slim skirts.

The most eye-catching revival by Rich is the shimmy fringe dress. This is a little black sheath with short rows of fringe from hipbone to hem—all of it shaking like Gilda Gray with every step you take.

WITH THE NEW PATT-O-RAMA

Every well rounded wardrobe has a variety of smart skirts to team with blouses and brief toppers. This one is an all-season star.

No. 8494 with Patt-O-Rama included is in waist sizes 24, 25, 26, 28, 30, 32. Size 25, 1½ yards of 45-inch.

For this pattern, send 35 cents in coins, your name, address, size desired, and the pattern number to Sue Burnett, Pontiac Press, 372 W. Quincy street, Chicago 6, Ill.

Include 25 cents more with your pattern order for the Spring and Summer '57 issue of our pattern book Basic Fashion. It contains dozens of smart new styles for all ages; gift pattern printed inside the book.

Plan No-Iron Tablecloths

Looks like a cooler summer for homemakers with even more no-iron fabrics coming up.

This time it's the tablecloth manufacturers who are campaigning for easier laundering materials. They're aiming at a finish that will eliminate ironing cotton, rayon, or linen table covers.

Of course, we already have tablecloths that require little or no ironing—but it's that definite no-iron we really want.

It's no labor to put a tablecloth into the washing machine, or into the dryer. If we can just skip the ironing board!

No Trick to Iron Puffed Sleeves

After sudsing and rinsing the "picture book type" of summer clothes, it's quick and easy to iron puffed sleeves with a special press form.

It clamps onto the ironing board and has a padded round top that screws on. In fact, it has two interchangeable tops one for adult-size sleeves, the other for children's clothes.

Exercises Will Improve Muscle Tone

Swimsuits, Play Garb Put Legs in Spotlight

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

In this day of swimsuits and play clothes which leave little to the imagination concerning the contour of a woman's leg, the figure is more important than it ever was.

There are all sorts of defects which worry women, such as large ankles or calves, knock knees and bow legs and a flabby inner leg line.

When correction depends on bone structure rather than muscles and fatty deposits, of course that poses a problem. Bow legs are that way mainly because of the shape of the leg bones but muscles also play a part.

The habit of pulling the legs close together and trying to make them touch whenever you are standing is as good an exercise as you can do. The beauty of this one is that nobody knows you are indulging in it.

ANKLE REDUCTION

Many women wish to reduce the ankles. There are many exercises given for this but the old one of making circles with your toes is as good as any.

You sit on a chair and cross the right knee over the left. Make circles with the right toe. Circle first in one direction and then in the other. After a while cross the left knee over the right and make circles with the toe.

Often thick ankles are due to bone structure, too. There is little you can do to improve this situation. Sometimes exercise helps some but you cannot exercise your bones away.

HERE'S SOLUTION TO BUST PROBLEMS

Today I am going to throw you a curve you will like. It seems to me that more women are dissatisfied with their bustline than with almost any other part of the figure. Many wish to increase this measurement. Others want to decrease it and still more would like to firm the bust.

The size of the bust seems to depend on the individual glandular setup. Many women write to know if shots will increase the size of the bust. So far as I know physicians do not feel that this can be done with safety.

However, the natural bustline can be preserved and improved. Many elements enter into this therapy. Good nutrition and exercise just naturally give more tone to the entire body.

Then there are special exercises. The bust has no muscles in it but the chest muscles lie just underneath. If you increase these with exercise your bust measurement will also increase.

As I have said before, it is like wearing falsies under the bust rather than on top of it. These falsies are natural however; they are made of muscle.

Swimming is a wonderful exercise for bust building, especially the crawl stroke. Indulge in that a lot this summer if you long for a larger bust.

Posture can have a great effect on the appearance of your silhouette. If you slump and allow your bust to rest on your ribs, naturally it will be less prominent. On the other hand if you hold yourself correctly, your straightened spine will lift the breasts and make them look larger.

The following exercises are also helpful because they increase the size of the chest muscles:

1. Bend the elbows and place the palms of the hands together in a prayer-like position. Press the palms toward one another HARD and hold while you count to six slowly. Release pressure. Continue. The arms should be about bust level.

2. Lie on the floor with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor, extending straight out from your armpits at right angles to the body, palms facing the ceiling. Hold a weight in each hand. You can use two books. Slowly raise the arms upward until the hands are close together.

Keep the elbows straight. With stiff elbows slowly return the arms to starting position. Continue. As your muscles become stronger you can increase the heaviness of the weights.

If you would like my routine for bust development, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 7. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Pregnant, Nursing Women Should Wear Special Bra."

2 Weddings Scheduled Same Day

Bridesmaid at One Would Also Like to Attend the Other

By EMILY POST

A young woman writes me as follows: "Several months ago I was asked by a friend to be an attendant at her wedding. I accepted, unaware at the time that my fiance would be usher on the same day at the wedding of a friend of his.

"For an hour or so I'd like to leave the wedding in which I am to be an attendant and make an appearance at the other wedding. There is to be a sit-down luncheon for the bridal party and members of both families at 1 o'clock and at about 6 there is to be a dance and reception for friends and acquaintances.

"I thought I might slip away after lunch for awhile and return before 6 to the reception. When I mentioned this to the bride-to-be she was quite taken back that I would even think of such a thing.

"There are to be other attendants and I feel I wouldn't even be missed if I slipped away for a very short time. Will you please tell me if this would be possible?"

Answer: Your statement that the bride-to-be was "quite taken back" when you mentioned this to her is definite proof that you should not "slip away."

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it would be proper to have a wedding reception with dinner and dancing seven months after the death of the bride-to-be's father?"

Answer: It would be entirely proper to have a dinner, but dancing before a year has passed might well be criticized.

"Dear Mrs. Poht: I have two diamond rings. One is my engagement ring and the other is a ring which I inherited from my mother. I wear one on each hand.

"A friend of mine has told me that two diamond rings at the same time is ostentatious and therefore in bad taste. Will you please tell me if this is true?"

Answer: Nonsense! A ring on each hand is perfectly good taste.

MRS. GAVIN C. MORRISON

Margaret Cunningham and Gavin C. Morrison were married Saturday at All Saints Episcopal Church. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cunningham of West Lawrence street. Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison of Detroit are Gavin's parents.

Margaret Cunningham Wed to Gavin Morrison

A gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin was worn by Margaret Cunningham for her marriage Saturday to Gavin Campbell Morrison at All Saints Episcapal Church. A round scalloped neckline and long sleeves extending to points at the wrists were features of the fitted bodice.

The gown's skirt was bouffant. Securing her veil of illusion was a cap accented with pearls and iridescent sequins. The bridal bouquet was of white roses centered with pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cunningham of West Lawrence street, had Lois E. Hahn of Waterford as her honor attendant. Lois' gown was of Nile green nylon chiffon with a matching green satin cummerbund. She carried a bobquet of yellow carnations.

The bride's other attendant, Mrs. Guy E. Bennett, was gowned similarly in an orchid dress with a cascade bouquet of pink carnations.

BROTHERS ASSIST

Gavin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison of Detroit. His brother, James Morrison of Ferndale, was his best man. Ushers were John Morrison Jr., another brother of the bridegroom, and Ivin Robinson Jr. of Detroit.

The bridal recital was sung by Mrs. Michael Siano.

For the reception, held at Knights of Pythias Hall, Mrs. Cunningham chose powder blue lace with pink and navy accessories and a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Morrison wore gray lace over pink taffeta with a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

When the couple left on a honeymoon through the eastern states, the bride had changed to a navy and white dress with matching accessories and the corsage of sweetheart roses from her bridal bouquet.

The newlyweds will make their home in Madison Heights.

Couple Wed in Home Ceremony

Marjorie May Hinkley became the bride of Joseph E. Beeson in a double-ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Alex J. Newell of St. John Episcopal Church of Royal Oak.

The service was read in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Hinkley on Illinois avenue.

The bride's attendant was her sister, Mrs. Charles A. Dayton. Jack V. Pond, served his brother-in-law as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Hinkley of Clarkston were hosts at the reception immediately following the May 25 ceremony. A wedding dinner followed at Devon Gables.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hinkley of Evart. Joseph is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Beeson of Fremont, Neb.

Receive Bad News

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thomas of Yale street were called to Mt. Clemens Friday, on the death of Mrs. Thomas' mother, Mrs. Edna Beer.

Cream Soup Adds Flavor to Beef

Mrs. Edward's Recipe Is Good to Serve on Buns

By JANET ODELL

There is no end — fortunately — to the ways in which ground beef can be fixed. Mrs. Robert Edward suggests using undiluted cream of chicken soup to make a mixture that is good served on hamburger buns.

With three little girls, Mrs. Edward naturally is interested in an organization like the Campfire Girls. She works with a Bluebird group. She is also a member of the Eastern Star.

CREAMY HAMBURGER
By Mrs. Robert Edward

2 pounds ground beef
2 cans cream of chicken soup
2 tablespoons flour

Cook ground beef in butter or margarine until meat is no longer red. Mix in flour. Add undiluted soup. If mixture is too thick, dilute with milk. Serve on heated hamburger buns. Serves 12-16.

Circle Players Plan June Production

Announcement of its summer play production was given by the Circle Players at a meeting Wednesday night. The play selected is entitled "Adam's Evening," which is to be presented on June 27, 28, and 29.

For play tryouts a meeting will be held at the home of Robert Morse on Kendry avenue Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Spring months are cooler than the corresponding months of autumn becuase it takes hot summer sun to warm the earth's crust and the seas and icy wildernesses of the Far North.

THE PONTIAC PRESS

MONDAY, JUNE 3, 1957 PONTIAC, MICHIGAN SEVENTEEN

Lake Angelus Observatory to Focus on Sun

Solar Flares to Be Studied

U. of M. Astronomers May Find Out Why TV Screens Go Crazy

Solar high jinks that can momentarily scramble your television picture will get special scrutiny from Pontiac's back yard by University of Michigan astronomers taking part in the International Geophysical Year (IGY).

The U. of M. astronomers will make their observations from the McMath-Hulbert Observatory, world-renowned solar research center on Lake Angelus.

As part of a global team, the U. of M. scientists seek better understanding of solar flares, those great tongues of fire that are believed to have a marked effect on radio communications and who knows what other facets of our earthly existence.

IGY, which begins July 1, is an 18-month cooperative venture between 5,000 scientists — engineers, astronomers, physicists, geologists, meteorologists — from 56 nations to study the earth and its environment more closely than ever before.

SUNSPOT CLUES

Are there observable clues to origins of sunspots? Why the 11-year cycle? Can we find anything on a spot to predict when a flare may occur? Why do some flares give off radio emissions? Is there some way to tell if a flare has a radio emission?

To try to get at the answers to these and other questions, a global chain of 30 or 40 observatories, including McMath-Hulbert, will keep a 24-hour watch on the sun during IG.

McMath-Hulbert expects to receive from the IGY national committee an automatic patrol camera-telescope that will take two pictures a minute of the entire solar disk, showing where and when flares occur, how bright they are, and how fast they fade. Dr. Orren C. Mohler, the center's assistant director, says data will be forwarded monthly or weekly to international evaluation centers in Stockholm and Paris.

The observatory will also continue its daily reporting to the Central Radio Propagation Laboratory in Boulder, Colo., which attempts to put together a radio weather map — a forecast of probable transmission conditions in various frequencies for different paths. Right now these predictions are about as accurate as weather forecasts.

McMath-Hulbert receives shortwave signals bounced off the ionosphere from Washington, D. C. Hour-by-hour records of interruptions indicate ionospheric conditions and the occurrence of solar disturbances.

For a worldwide picture, governments cooperate in maintaining a network of stations for observing such conditions. For the first time, Russia and the United States are now exchanging information on the sun and radio sending-receiving conditions.

BROADCAST WEEKLY

Such information as appearance of sunspots is being broadcast one week out of every month between Washington and Moscow as a dry run for IGY, when exchanges will be made daily. This is the second hole in the scientific Iron Curtain. Weather information broadcasts have been exchanged daily for the past 20 years.

In addition, McMath-Hulbert will be one of half a dozen observatories studying solar flares spectrographically for IGY. Next to a telescope, the astronomer's most valuable instrument is his spectroscope.

It is similar to a prism, spreading the sunlight out into its spectrum — a long band colored like a crosssection of the rainbow. The sun's spectrum is like a fingerprint; dark lines in the spectrum give indisputable evidence that certain chemical elements exist in the sun.

Hydrogen, for example, produces several lines which are in exactly the same positions throughout the spectrum at which hydrogen gas in the laboratory will produce lines. Nothing but hydrogen will make these lines — hydrogen always does.

A refinement of the spectroscope is the spectroheliosccope, which is used as a filter to permit viewing the sun in the light of one element. This shows the element's disfribution in the solar atmosphere. Because solar flares are mainly hydrogen, they are most easily observed in the red light of that element.

Hydrogen lines in a normal solar spectrum are dark, but when a flare occurs, the lines brighten. By studying photograph.; or spectrum and by utilizing photo-electric cells to make delicate measurements of increased light intensity, astronomers find clues to flare temperature and density, and possibly something about electric or magnetic fields from the shape of a spectrum line.

The motion of a flare can also be measured by hydrogen lines. If a line lies to the red of its normal position, the flare is receding from the observer; if it lies to the violet, it is approaching him.

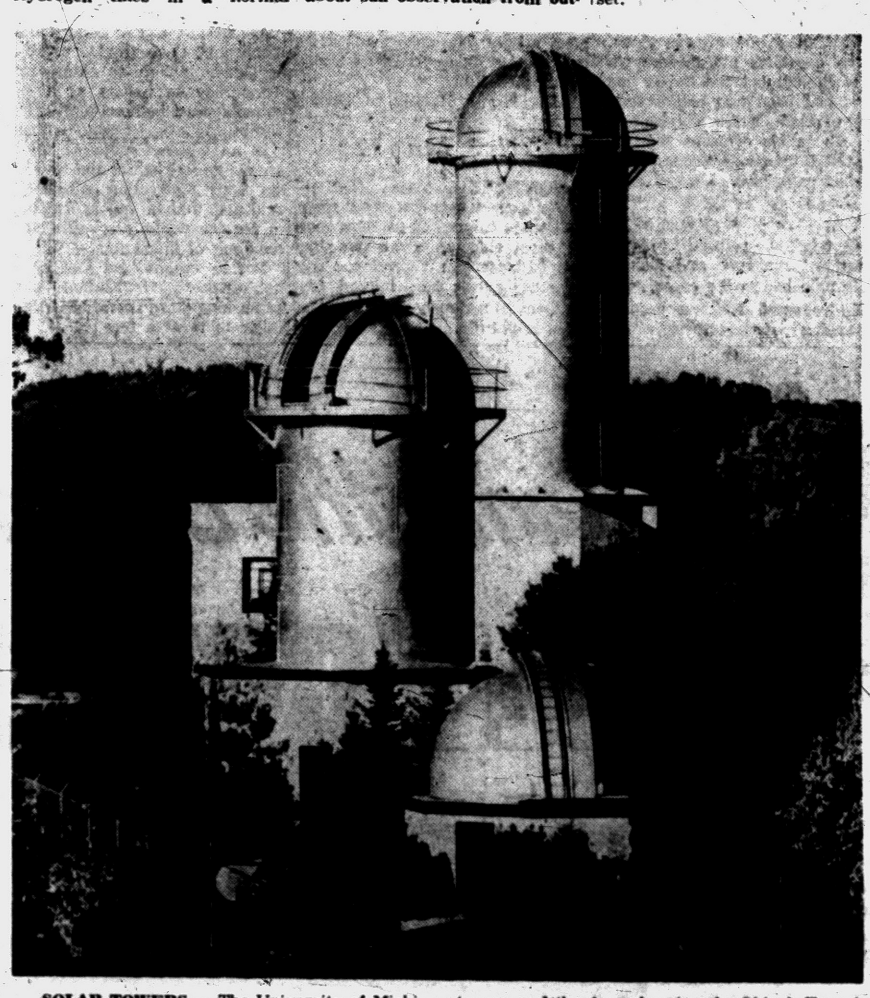

"We want to record with all possible precision how flares take place," says Dr. Mohler, who is anticipating development of an earth satellite to bring about sun observation from outside the earth's hazy atmosphere.

Heading the McMath-Hulbert staff of 16 are Dr. Robert R. McMath, director and one of the observatory founders; Dr. Mohler, Dr. Helen Dodson Prince, and Dr. Keith Pierce.

Dr. McMath is an advisor to the U. S. National Committee for IGY, and Dr. Prince is the representative for solar activity on the ad hoc Continental Advisory Committee.

Since its inception in 1931, the observatory has pioneered in solar research techniques. It was, for example, the first to take motion pictures of solar flares.

But the cosmic challenge is still growing. The immediate scientific stakes are solar flares and their connections to sunspots, the ionosphere, northern light, weather, radio, and, incidentally, your TV set.

Arraign Milford Man on Car Theft Charge

Jorome H. Johnson, 29, of 430 Hillside Dr., Milford, accused of breaking into a business garage and stealing an auto which had been repossessed from him will be arraigned in Circuit Court today.

He was arrested May 25 by Pontiac police sgt. Albert Foster and Oakland County Undersheriff Elmer McQuern at his home at Reed Lake.

The 1953 auto was taken from the Associates Discount Corp. garage, 125 N. Saginaw St., during the night of May 24.

End Air Service Study

MENOMINEE (AP) — A detailed study of Upper Peninsula air service needs has been completed by the Upper Peninsula air service committee. It will be presented at a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing in Lansing June 11, one of two scheduled for midwestern states on existing air services.

Question Keeps Writer Awake

What if Machines Worked at Night

By DENIS N. HAWKER
Visiting Australian Journalist

Worry has kept me awake nights since I toured the plant at Pontiac Motor.

I am concerned that one of these nights somebody is going to forget to press the button to stop the plant when employes go home. If this happens I can see all those electronic brains, precision machines on the assembly line, and conveyors going right on workings.

HAWKER

And I can imagine just what a pileup of new cars there would be at the end of the line to greet the early shift next morning.

With a vehicle, which was only a heap of raw material a short time previousiy, coming off the line in road condition for testing every minute or so the possible stack of cars at the disposal point just doesn't bear thinking about.

EFFECT OF PLANT

That is the effect the plant has had on me.

The machines on that assembly line seem to be able to do everything but smoke cigarettes, drink coffee, and play cards. And there seems no doubt they could be taught to do these things if it contributed to the building of a better automobile.

The impressiveness of Pontiac Motor does not stop at automotive efficiency.

Progress is in the air. Throughout the plant I saw techniques being used that were not employed a few months ago. New buildings, equipped for better production and designed for more comfortable working conditions for employes, are going up, adding to the sprawling maze of the plant.

NEW EQUIPMENT

In the foundry, new equipment and techniques are speeding and improving the conversion of raw metal to engine blocks and other car parts.

Across the way machines are stamping seemingly endless rolls of sheet steel into the sleek car bodies which within a day or two will be ready to grace the nation's roads.

There always seems to be something new at Pontiac Motor.

But machines are far from the only work force. Thousands of employes work as a co-ordinated team to produce several hundred thousand cars each a year.

Pontiac meant something to me long before I ever thought of visiting the United States.

When I was a very small boy, my family's car was an Oakland, the predecessor of Pontiac.

PROUDEST BOY

A few year's later in the early 1930's, I was just about the proudest boy in our street when my father drove home a new car with Chief Pontiac, complete with headdress, setting on the hood as a cap for the radiator.

Other cars came and went in the family through the years but we still had that Pontiac — an irridescent blue tourer — in 1945.

It had been driven 200,000 trouble-free miles.

So Pontiac meant a lot to me before I arrived in this part of the world.

It means a lot more to me now that I have seen where Chief Pontiac's namesake is produced in the hundreds of thousands a year.

'Haunted' Skulls, Mammoth Tusks--All Get Dated at U. of M.

ANN ARBOR—Week in and week out, relics from man's ancient past flow through a small laboratory on the University of Michigan campus.

The room is the Phoenix Radiocarbon Dating Laboratory, a facility that determines the ages of organic samples as much as 30,000 years old by the traces of natural radioactivity they contain.

Considered one of the most reliable and productive of the seven dating laboratories in this country, the U. of M. installation receives from archeologists and anthropologists around the world a wide range of materials from past civilizations.

Almost daily the carefully-packaged samples arrive: 8,200-year-old vegetable scraps from a Mexican cave, thought to be the first evidence of man as a farmer; bits of charcoal gathered on a Pacific isle by Thor Heyerdahl, author of "Kon Tiki;" fragments of a 25,000-year-old mammoth tusk found in association with evidence of human habitation in New Mexico; remnants of a fire that burned in Utah 80 centuries before Christ; human skulls from a recently discovered "Haunted Lake" in the high Himalayas.

400 SAMPLES

Since it was established in 1950 by the U. of M.'s Memorial-Phoenix Project on the peaceful uses of atomic energy, the dating laboratory has fixed the ages of about 400 samples, reports Prof. H. R. Crane, who designed the laboratory's equipment and supervises its operation.

Today, the facility is working at full capacity, dating half a dozen samples a week. And on hand are 200 to 300 more — a backlog of years.

"We have two machines running 24 hours a day, and it is all we can do to keep one jump ahead of the incoming material," Professor Crane says.

How are these samples dated, and how accurate is the method?

Professor Crane explains it this way: Since history began, the earth has been constantly showered by flying particles called cosmic rays. Some of these strike nitrogen atoms in the earth's atmosphere, creating a radioactive material called carbon-14, which is then naturally absorbed by all living things.

After a plant or animal dies, however, it ceases to take in carbon-14, and that present begins to diminish very slowly. By measuring the amount of carbon-14 left in a sample, therefore, Professor Crane and his associates can tell how long ago it lived.

They can do this with samples up to about 30,000 years old, but the level of radioactivity is so low in older ones that it cannot be detected in the natural "background" radiation always present on the earth.

RISE AND FALL

The past 30,000 years have seen the rise and fall of man's first civilizations, however, so the carbon-14 yardstick has become an invaluable tool in gaining an understanding of those cultures.

GET NUMBERS

Incoming samples first arrive at the Museum of Anthropology, where they are assigned numbers and cataloged. Prof. James B. Griffith, director of the museum, heads a six-man committee which negotiates for samples, determines relative priorities for dating them, records the samples and reports information on them.

At the Dating Laboratory, chemist Patricia Dahlstrom, formerly of Iron Mountain, burns each sample, then separates the carbon dioxide gas from the resulting mixture.

This gas is piped into the "counter," a seamless cylinder surrounded by steel plating and a pile of lead blocks. Inside the cylinder, a Gieger counter detects the radiation given off over a period of time.

The count from a modern piece of wood, for example, will be eight per minute over the "background" radiation; a 20,000-year-old sample will give off less than one more count per minute than the background.

Before 1954, the laboratory reduced the samples to carbon black for processing. Then Professor Crane found that increased radioactive dust or "fall-out" after atomic bomb tests contaminated the samples and forced him to suspend operations for weeks at a time. So he devised a method of using a gaseous sample in a closed system, a procedure that has also been adopted by almost all other dating laboratories.

"This eliminated the trouble from atomic bombs," he notes, "but of course there remains the background from cosmic rays, which must be compensated for."

Among the most exciting relics dated so far are the Mexican vegetable scraps and the tusk fragments from Sandia Cave in New Mexico.

EARLY DATA

The scraps were found by archeologists from Canada's National Museum, and are the earliest indication that man domesticated crops. They include a lima bean pod, a squash, and the rind of a gourd. Apparently they were "garbage" thrown away by Indians 4,000 years before the pyramids were built. Botanists have been able to prove through the genetic make-up of the vegetables that they were domesticated, not wild.

The tusk fragments have caused a stir in archeological circles because they were found in the same level of Sandia Cave as fireplace hearths, evidence of human occupation. If the tusk is from an animal that men killed and used for food, then the 25,000-year figure represents a surprisingly early date at which men lived in what is now New Mexico.

Professor Crane and others raise the question, however, of whether the two were really contemporaries, or whether men who later occupied the cave collected and brought home tusks from earlier times.

"The collecting habit in man is not recently acquired," Professor Crane points out, "and we can guess that an ancient occupant of Sandia Cave would have picked up and carried home a piece of fossil ivory with as much interest as we ourselves would."

The "Haunted Lake" skulls were sent to the U. of M. after they were found on the shore of that body of water in India. How they got there, and when, is not known.

Most of the relics dated are in the form of charcoal or wood, Miss Dahlstrom says. She finds charcoal the best material for processing because it is nearly pure carbon. Fortunately, wherever men lived, they built fires and left charcoal, which outlasts bones and most other remains.

DATING IS THEIR BUSINESS — Professor H. R. Crane of the University of Michigan's Radiocarbon Dating Laboratory looks on as chemist Patricia Dahlstrom stirs a solution made up of dissolved bones found on the shores of the state "Haunted Lake" in India. This is one of the first steps in determining the age of the bones by the traces of natural radioactivity they contain.

Popular Move Among Britons

British Cabinet Member Asked Trade With Peiping

By International News Service

Britain's decision to relax its ban on trade with Communist China may have driven a wedge between Washington and London, but it also placed another feather in the well-plumed cap of Sir David McAdams Eccles.

Eccles is the 52-year-old, strikingly handsome president of the Board of Trade, a cabinet post which is roughly equivalent to America's secretary of commerce. As such, Eccles played a prominent role in the decision on selling goods to Peiping.

POPULAR MOVE

It was a popular move among Britons, who feel their economic health depends on doing business anywhere a market is open, and Eccles has never been one to shy away from public approval.

His gift for getting in good with John Bull was never shown to better advantage than in 1953, when, as minister of works, Eccles was in charge of building the stands and otherwise setting the stage for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth.

In fact, while the people were beginning to look upon Eccles as an impressario of amazing ability, court attaches grew a bit irritated and asked whether it was Elizabeth or Sir David who was being crowned.

ELIZABETH PLEASED

But Elizabeth herself was so pleased with his work that she named Eccles a knight commander of the Victorian order.

The father of two sons and one daughter, Eccles is an economist and politician by trade. But he also is active in the financial community, his interests including mining properties.

Building New Methodist Church

Cornerstone-Laying Witnessed by 375

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — A crowd of about 375 persons witnessed a cornerstone-laying ceremony held yesterday at the Commerce Methodist Church now under construction.

The church is being built on a site just west of the village of Commerce.

A large number of church members and three church choirs joined a procession in a march from the old church to the new church. Eric Beaupre, bearing a Christian flag, led the procession.

Participating in the ceremony were Rev. Perry A. Thomas, pastor of the Commerce church; Bishop Marshall Reed and William Moulton, superintendent of the Methodist church's Flint District.

The ceremony included the placing of a copper box inside the hollow cornerstone. The box contained such items as a list of current church members, a list of trustees who founded the church in 1841, a master plan of the new church, a picture of the cornerstone-laying, a list of building fund committee members, the names of the architect and builder of the new church, along with the names of Reverend Thomas, Bishop Reed and Superintendent Moulton.

The cornerstone was laid in the northeast corner of a basement which will be underneath the old Commerce church when it is moved to the new location.

As a part of the program, Mrs. Wilbert Horton presented Bishop Reed with a check for $1,000 to build a church in India.

Waterford Jaycees Slate Installation of Officers

Installation of newly elected officers of the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce will take place at 7 p.m. Tuesday, at the Golden Drumstick restaurant.

Donald Arsen, a teacher at Waterford Township High School, was elected president, with George Scantland, first vice president.

Second vice president is Frank Richardson, and treasurer will be W. C. Robertson. Art Salley will be recording secretary and Charles Elliott, corresponding secretary.

Main speaker of the evening is state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Richard Meyerson. Wives of JC members have been invited to attend the dinner.

Winners of the three projects of the JC's will be honored guests. Diana Erickson, winner of the Miss Waterford Township beauty contest; Barbara Hutchings, who received a $500 scholarship, and James Mickle, Road-E-O contest winner, will be among the honored guests present.

The sixth-grade boys a capella choir, under the direction of Mrs. Lois Tiffany, will entertain the group.

The Waterford Township JC's will continue activity throughout the summer months for the first time, according to Arsen.

DONALD ARSEN

LILA M. BAILEY

The engagement of Lila M. Bailey to John L. Marshall is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bailey of Traverse City. The bridegroom-elect is the son of Fred Marshall of Drayton Plains and Mrs. Thelma Turnbull of Pontiac. An Aug. 17 wedding is being planned.

Former County Man Honored in Arizona

Herbert Earl Hackett, former Rochester resident, now of Tempe, Ariz., recently graduated from Arizona State College, receiving a BA degree in Education, with high distinction.

Hackett recently was elected to Phi Kappa Phi, national scholarship honor society. While at Arizona State, he was President of Kappa Delta Pi, national education honor society; vice president of Phi Eta Signa, national psychology honor society, and a member of the Future Teachers of America.

Cub Scout Pack Formed in Waterford

A new Cub Scout pack is being organized in Waterford Township, under the direction of Charles Walters.

Under the sponsorship of the Silver Crest Baptist Church, all boys under 12 years of age living in the area have been urged to attend the first meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the church.

Walters was instrumental in organizing the Waterford Village School pack No. 131 and is being replaced by Douglas Reik.

Doctor Questions Current Fads for Non-Fat Diets

DEARBORN (INS)—A Dearborn heart specialist says that persons who follow the current fad for non-fat diets run the risk of doing irreparable harm to their liver and kidneys.

Dr. Lesem J. Baer said:

"There is still much to be learned about the harmfulness of fat in the diet."

He advised the public to "pay no attention to the cry about unsatured fatty acids, unless under the direct advice of a physician." He added that a diet composed of no more than 25 per cent fat is restricted to a level that is safe.

Dr. Baer, chief of the cardiology section at the Veterans Administration hospital in Dearborn, criticized the "mass hysteria" which has followed attempts to link consumption of fatty foods with atherosclerosis, a disease in which fatty deposits settle in the blood vessels, often causing heart attacks.

He indicated this may be caused by a combination of factors, including make-up of the blood, blood vessel walls and mental capacity, particularly the reaction of the individual to stress and strain.

He advised that people throw away any "corn oil" diet they may have adopted to avoid fat, since the body needs a certain amount of fatty acids. He concluded that it is not worth the effort to follow a trend and possibly damage the liver and kidneys.

Urges Open Records

BETHANY, W. Va. (INS) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon stated: "The administration's policy is that it would be to the advantage of both the public and the labor movement to publish the financial records of all labor unions."

Senators' Views Differ on Trade With China

WASHINGTON (AP)—The question of resuming limited U.S. trade with Red China brought disagreement among senators today.

Senators Ellender (D-La) and Humphrey (D-Minn) said in separate television appearances yesterday this country should consider lifting its total embargo. Senators Sparkman (D-Ala) and Cooper (R-Ky) contended in a joint interview the embargo should be continued.

Their comments followed Britain's announcement last week that it will permit shipment to Red China of nonstrategic goods her merchants now are free to sell to Russia. She thus broke with other countries which since the Korean War have imposed much harsher restrictions on trade with Red China.

Duke Happy in Choice

PARIS (INS)—The Duke of Windsor, commenting on his marriage and abdication, said: "If 20 years were to be erased and I were to be presented with the same choice again under the same circumstances I would act precisely as I did then."

PAULA M. CROWLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Crowley of 7341 Deer Lake Rd., Clarkston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Paula Marie, to Edward Joseph Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Bishop of L'Anse. The wedding will take place in August.

Janet Baker Wed

Methodist Service Read

NORTH BRANCH — Janet Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Baker of North Branch, and Charles Frostic of Peck pledged their marriage vows at a ceremony at the Methodist Church here at 3 p.m. Saturday. The pastor, Rev. Karl Patow, read the serivce.

The bride, who was dressed in a floor-length gown of net over white satin, with a finger-tip veil, was attended by Mrs. Herman Gershowitz of Savannah, Ga., as Matron of Honor.

Her bridesmaids were Gloria Ankley of Imlay City, Margaret Lutes of Detroit and a cousin, Barbara Baker, of North Branch.

Misses Joan Stanton of North and Leslie Sutcliffe of Connecticut, carried flowers to the altar, while Gregory Baker, the bride's brother, carried the rings.

Palmer Henshaw of Sandusky served as best man for the groom. Other attendants were Forrest Farr and Walter Pathic of Peck and Edwin Baker, the bride's brother.

A dinner for the wedding party and family will held at 5 o'clock at the North Branch American Legion hall, where a reception for 300 guests took place at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Frostic are residing in Peck.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H. suppositories or Preparation H. ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

2 Detroit Women Die in Car-Train Crash

BELLE RIVER, Ont. (AP)—Two Detroit women, on their way to church, were killed yesterday when their car and a Canadian National Railway Train collided at a crossing near Belle River, on the southern Ontario shore of Lake St. Clair.

Provincial police Cpl. Ted Craig identified those killed as Alyce Newman, 28, and Dolores Sullivan, 31. Their car apparently stalled on the crossing.

The women had been spending the holiday weekend at a cottage near Belle River. They borrowed the car from another member of the party to attend church services.

Craig said the train hit the car at some 60 mph and carried it nearly a mile down the track.

The engineer of the Windsor-to-Toronto passenger train, Richard Richardson, 51, of London, Ont., said he did not see the car before the crash.

Private Plane Crash Kills Family of Four

SOMERSET, Pa. (INS)—A vacation trip in their own plane has ended in death for a Pennsylvania family of four.

Killed yesterday when their light plane crashed into a ridge near Somerset, Pa., were Robert Long, 26, of New Castle, Pa., his wife, Jessie, and their sons, four-year-old Jeffrey and two-year-old Bobby.

Authorities said the family was returning from a vacation at Winterhaven, Fla., when they ran into dense fog.

But Khrushchev Says Nothing New

Soviet Boss Speaks to U.S. on TV

NEW YORK (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev, top Soviet Communist, entered millions of American living rooms yesterday by television. He exuded confidence in ultimate world victory of the Soviet system and predicted even the grandchildren of his American viewers would live under such a system.

But, said the reigning world Communist boss, the Soviet Union does not want to go to war to impose its way. Instead, he said, the U.S.S.R. wants to compete with the United States economically and ideologically.

Khrushchev's appearance, history making in itself, added little to the world's knowledge of Soviet aims.

Khrushchev chatted amiably, grinning at his own humorous sallies. The Soviet interpreter, translating Khrushchev's words as he spoke, talked in a monotone. But although his own voice was inaudible, Khrushevs' gestures and facial expression emphasized his points as he grew serious.

The questions put to him were unrehearsed, but the Soviet party chief had been told beforehand of the general subjects. He was smooth in his evasions when unexpected questions came up. He always gave some kind of an answer.

Khrushchev refused to wear theatrical makeup, and looked a little pale before the cameras.

He repeated Russian proposals regarding disarmament, troop withdrawals and other international questions. At one point he indicated the Soviet Union has gone just about as far as it intends to go in the matter of concessions in the current disarmament negotiations. Khrushchev now is waiting for counter-proposals, he said.

"Our most radical steps have been proposed," he said. "We have made proposals on disarmament. We suggest that restrictions on trade be discarded. We suggest that the United States lower the Iron Curtain and start a widespread cultural exchange. I find it difficult to add anything else to that now. If the United States were to reciprocate in kind, we would have great progress."

"Let's have a test," said Khrushchev. "Why don't you withdraw your troops from Germany and France and we will withdraw ours from East Germany, Poland and Hungary, and you will see that the Kadar regime, which is the people's regime in Hungary, will flourish for ages to come."

Dryden Couple Married

DRYDEN — Patricia Glassford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bonsteel of Dryden, became the bride of Bernard L. Foot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foot, also of Dryden, on Saturday.

The double ring service was read by Bishop Ralph M. Johnson of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints of Pontiac at 4 p.m., in the new home of the couple, 5431 W. Main St. Members of the immediate families were present.

For the ceremony the bride wore a blue and white cotton print dress with a light blue duster and white accessories. She carried an orchid on a white Bible.

Mrs. Monte Hansen of Detroit was her sister's matron of honor with Kathleen Glassford, daughter of the bride, as junior bridesmaid.

Attending the bridegroom were his two brothers, Leslie and Dayton Foot.

A reception was held at 8 p.m. in the Dryden Methodist Church after which Mr. and Mrs. Foot left for a trip through northern Michigan and to Niagara Falls.

Fire Kills 3, Burns 12

WORCESTER, Mass., (INS) — Three guests perished early today as flames trapped 60 persons, most of them elderly, in the five-story Hotel Pleasant in Worcester. A dozen other guests were burned, four of them so seriously doctors feared they would die.

Labor Leaders Urged to Assure More Liberty

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) urged labor leaders today to assure more democracy in unions as a safeguard against both corruption from within and attacks from without.

In an address prepared for the annual convention of the New Jersey State Federation of Labor, he said also that he favors legislation to require public disclosure of the handling of union funds.

But he emphasized that he was not advocating legislation "aimed at burning down the whole home of labor to roast a few pigs."

What Is Happening

Will Beeson is telling the story. His home has been the Box P ranch in Easter Valley in frontier Colorado ever since Joe and Sarah Pardee took him in, a homeless hungry kid, seven years back. Will, having the deepest affection for the Pardees, was distressed by the bitterness between Joe and his wife, Sarah, who has lived in a wheel chair since an accident.

One morning Will rode with Joe Pardee and Gene Dillingham, another of Joe's cowhands, to meet Al Beam, who had challenged Pardee's domination of Easter Valley. When Joe cornered Beam, he was the loser in the duel. Dillingham killed Beam in a rage of grief. Dying of his wounds, Joe told Beeson: "Take care of Kathy Morgan," referring to a young woman who had attracted Joe's interest.

Sarah, taking charge of the ranch, names Beeson as foreman. This makes an enemy for Will, for Gene Dillingham has counted on getting the job. Sarah's next step is to name Beeson as 49% owner of the Box P, to make him eligible to be a member and assert authority in the Easter Valley Cattlemen's association. Will wants to maintain Joe Pardee's iron-fisted policy of keeping the valley free of homesteaders, but Sarah opposes violence "to protect grass we don't own." Will knows that a showdown with intruders in the valley is inevitable soon. When John Mathers and Al Romig come to Box P to inquire about land in the valley, her new ranch partner's hostility to them angers Sarah.

Chapter 7

Because I had business with Alec Dodson, I left the Box P before sunup. There were about three inches of snow on the ground, and the wind that howled across the valley was cold and penetrating. Maybe Mathers and Romig would decide the climate was too severe for them. In a steer's eye, I thought—probably Sarah had told them Easter Valley was just over the ridge from Paradise.

Mathers' presence in the valley bothered me more than it should have, and I wasn't sure why. There was something about the man I couldn't quite put my finger on.

Sarah would probably welcome him if he settled in the valley, but what would she do if he began to threaten Box P range? Perhaps things would come to the point where I'd have to defy her.

Then all of a sudden it came to me. Back of everything was the memory of Joe Pardee. He'd have killed anyone who tried to settle between Anchor and Carlton. If I didn't take the same stand, the ghost of Joe Pardee would haunt me for the rest of my life.

No, I didn't believe in ghosts, but that was what it amounted to. I was always conscious that everything I did as foreman of the Box P, every decision I made, would have been weighed in Joe Pardee's mind.

By the time I reached Anchor, I was in a turmoil. When I walked into Dodson's living room and stood in front of his fireplace to get warm, I knew I had to have this out with him, to find out how much I could expect from the association.

I'd come to buy a bull. As soon as we finished the dicker, I asked, "Have you met this man Mathers?"

Dodson nodded. "He spent a night here, him and another gent named Al Romig." He lighted his pipe, grinning at me as if he were enjoying a secret joke; then he said: "He wanted to know what the land was like along the creek between Carlton and the Box P. Fine for farming, I told him."

"It isn't funny, Alec," I said. "They were at our place last night, and Mathers was asking about the land between Anchor and Carlton."

My words wiped the grin off his face. He said, "You're bulling me, Will."

"No, I'm not. What's he after, Alec?"

Dodson was staring at me as if he didn't hear what I'd just asked. "My hay meadows are on the creek between here and Carlton. And my winter range. He'd ruin me if he settled there. You know what Joe always said: 'If one of 'em stays, more will come.' ". He began walking around the room, then wheeled to face me. "But maybe he decided he liked your side of the valley better. Maybe he'll go south of town and not touch either one of us. Or he might buy a ranch."

"What's the association going to do?" I demanded.

He wiped a hand across his forehead. "Let's face the truth, Will. When Joe was alive, we were more afraid of him than the sodbusters were. It ain't like that now. I won't fight for the Box P and you won't fight for Anchor."

I put on my sheepskin and walked out of the room without a word. I mounted and headed down the creek toward Carlton. Dodson had said exactly what I'd expected him to. Still, I was surprised and shaken when I actually heard it. Everything that Joe had built in the valley had fallen in ruins the instant he died. Much of his strength had been due to the fact that he spoke for the valley. Dodson wouldn't speak at all.

Suppose I spoke up now? I was Sarah's partner. I could belong to the association. I could demand a meeting. I could lay it on the line. If Dodson wouldn't take the lead, we needed a new president.

Then I realized that wasn't the way. I was too young, too inexperienced. Joe Pardee could do it, but not Will Beeson.

Well, I could start with Mathers and Romig. I could tell them that if they ever returned to the valley, I'd kill them.

I was in front of Kathy Morgan's house when she stepped outside and called to me: "Put your horse in the shed, Will. Come in and eat. You're not going home yet."

I put the gelding in the shed and went into the house. The kitchen was warm and filled with the smell of frying ham and coffee. Kathy motioned for me to sit at the little kitchen table.

"You came by at the right time," she said. "I was hoping you would. I saw you ride past early this morning."

I took a chair, probably the same chair in which Joe had sat many times. During the last six months of his life he had made a habit of eating with Kathy every Saturday night.

Finally she sat down and handed a platter of fried ham to me. She asked, "You know these two pilgrims who are in the valley?"

"Mathers and Romig?"

She nodded. "Mathers is the head of a colony of settlers. Next spring he's bringing fifty families to live in the valley."

That was the way she let me have it! Both barrels!

"How do you know?" I asked.

"Go on and eat," she said irritably. "I'll tell you while you're eating."

So I ate, forcing the food down while she talked. Mathers and Romig had ridden past Kathy's house toward town not long after I'd gone by on my way to Anchor. Mathers had been around town for several days, staying at the hotel when he wasn't visiting at one of the ranches. Because Kathy had heard enough about him to be curious, she had walked to the store. Mathers was talking to Art Delaney, and although she hadn't caught all of it she had heard enough to be sure she had it straight.

"Fifty families, Will," she said. "Joe never had more than six or seven to buck at a time."

"He'd have figured out a way to stop them," I said. "Trouble is, it's different now in more ways than one," and I told her about Dodson. "I knew all the time there wasn't any use, but I had to ask him."

"Sure, I knew too," she said. "What you do you'll have to do by yourself."

I drank the rest of my coffee and got up. I said, "I didn't see Mathers' rig when I came through town."

"He's finished," she said. "Satisfied himself that this is the place, so he left. You'll probably find him somewhere between Carlton and Alton's Trading Post"

She knew what I'd do. She'd been one jump ahead of me right down the line. I said, "What's it to you?"

"Joe Pardee," she answered. "I can tell you to forget him, but I can't do it myself. That's why I've got to do everything I can to help you keep this bunch out. And there's another thing I haven't told you: Merle Turner is one of Mathers' colonists."

I had walked to the door. Now I turned and looked at Kathy, stunned by what she had just said. Merle Turner was the last man I wanted to see in Easter Valley.

"I Was Born In Paradise"

Pound Recalls Early Residents

By ARTHUR POUND

(Continuing an account of early days in Pontiac, reprinted from the current issue of the University of Michigan Alumnus Quarterly.)

However, there were some prominent men of mystery around that a boy couldn't really admire or even figure out. The richest man in town was David Ward, who might be seen wearing a straw hat in winter and a felt hat in summer, because he couldn't be bothered with more than one hat at a time.

Of course, he had a fine country house on a really choice location right between Orchard and Pine Lakes, and another grand house on West Huron Street.

Having read David Ward's own story of his life, published long after his death, I understand him better and, understanding, no longer resent his oddities.

David Ward had been a desperately ambitious but poor boy, physically frail. He wanted to be a doctor, came to Ann Arbor for training and was graduated in the first class, 1851, to be granted medical degrees; but never entered medical practice because of his own bad health.

Courageously he took to the woods as a timber looker, lived hard, proved to be sharper, shrewder, and tougher than some others, took what he could in a day when the taking was good, and hung on to it.

He says in his little book that the reason he always got up in the morning to keep his own accounts was that he figured a man couldn't cheat himself. A bit of worldly wisdom worthy of Ben Franklin and his Poor Richard.

Another character you couldn't miss in Old Pontiac was Clare Palmer. The Palmers' house, carriages, and horses surpassed all others, and Clare Palmer was the biggest man in town, physically, that is. In a day when a distended abdomen was hailed as a "corporation" and proudly worn as a badge of the owner's prosperity and high standing in the community, Clare Palmer surpassed all others in bulk and bulge.

When he was in the family phaeton for his morning drive downtown for the groceries, that handsome vehicle sagged to one side under his four hundred pounds plus.

This kindly giant always attacted public attention as he sat in his carriage before the grocery store eating his morning between-meals snack of crackers and cheese out of a big bag, topped off with peppermint candy. He didn't mind onlookers in the least, smiled at everyone, and would hand out lozenges to very small boys.

That easy-going sort of rich man has vanished from the scene along with the once-common beard, giant mustachios, hirsute burnsides and muttonchops, bustles, sunbonnets, whalebone corsets, and other fashions for male and female. Some far more solid things also have come and gone in my day—such as trolleys and electric interurbans.

I recall the wild night when an aroused citizenry fought all night with trackdayers of the Detroit interurban to keep them from laying a third track on Saginaw Street. Up and down Saginaw Street I and other newsboys shouted "Extra—all about the sinking of the Maine," and then a little later, "Extra — war declared against Spain."

The shouting newsboy is now as extinct as the town crier who one filled the streets of Pontiac with resounding news.

Gone, too, are the tramps that used to trudge everywhere looking for jobs and begging handouts. Not only did I survive the blizzard of 1888, but likewise the hard times of the '90's when public authority did little to alleviate distress, when there was no NRA or WPA or PWA, and only an occasional soup kitchen or public potato-patch such as were set up by Mayor Pingree in Detroit.

In the meantime, society has found more humane and expensive ways of coping with unemployment, for which let us also thank the Lord, each according to his own prejudices.

Launch Research on State Industry in Future Years

LANSING (AP) — Will Michigan have more or less industry 25 years from now, and what kind? Where will it be located?

To answer these and other questions, the Michigan Economic Development Department is launching a major research project.

Services of four of the state's larger universities and of the Upjohn Foundation of Kalamazoo will be utilized.

The schools are the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Wayne State University and the University of Detroit.

The project is expected to take several years, the department said.

A pilot study to determine the techniques and practicability of rious approaches will be begun this various approaches will be begun this summer, with Dr. Wilbur Thompson, Wayne professor of economics, in charge.

Funds for the pilot work is being supplied, the announcement said, by the Detroit Edison Co., Michigan Bell Telephone Co., and Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

Mounting Prize in Pot-O-Gold Now at $1,100

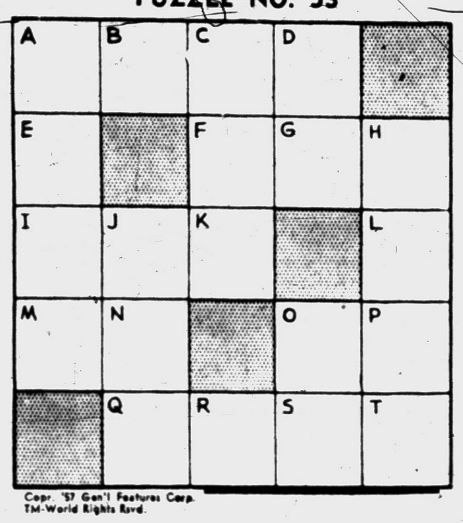

Think what you could do with $1,100. It's not a bad thought, is it? Well, your thoughts could become a reality if you're the one who picks the right numbers to form a correct solution for this week's Pot-O-Gold contest. Read the rules and clues carefully and see what you can come up with — besides having fun, you just might win the money.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his answers in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securly to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 53 must bear a Tuesday, June 11, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each week's POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be awarded equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Cyclist Dies in Ionia Race

IONIA (AP)—One motorcycle pilot was killed and four others injured, one critically, in separate accidents yesterday at the Ionia free fairgrounds in a day of racing of ficials described as the most haz ardous in the 18-year history of racing there.

George Kaler, 19, of Grand Rapids, was fatally injured when he piled into a retaining wall after developing throttle trouble during the running of the 10-mile state championship.

Ernie Beckman of Battle Creek won the event, open only to Michigan entries, with a time of 10:59.57. The race was held up 45 minutes by Kaler's accident.

While turning up for the championship event, Robert H. Turner, 30, of Detroit, was critically hurt when he also slammed into a wall.

State Golfers Tee Off for Open Berths

By BILL CORNWELL

One hundred professional and 66 amateur golfers teed off this morning at Oakland Hills and Franklin Hills in the Michigan section of the National Open qualifying rounds.

Headed by Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills and Meadowbrook's Chick Harbert, two former National PGA champions, the mammoth field started firing at 6:30 in the dawn-to-dusk marathon to determine 12 berths in the U.S. Open June 13-15 at Toledo's Inverness Club.

Burkemo, last year's qualifying medalist at Orchard Lake and Pine Lake, was generally favored to win the honor again, although no one was overlooking the longhitting Harbert, always a dangerous threat.

Wally's 10-under-par 134 a year ago was the best effort nationally as well as locally. His favored status today stemmed from the fact that he often plays his finest golf over the Oakland and Franklin layouts, especially the latter, his home course.

In early scores reported for nine holes, Rudy Horvath of Windsor fired a 2-under par 34.

Other scores showed Wally Burkeno with a 3 over par 39, Tom Talkington of Ypsilanti with 35, Herby Marcussen of Lansing with 40.

Chuck Kocsis had a 35, Mike Dietz had a rough start with 41 and Willie Mosley of Royal Oak had a 41. Gene Bone also fired a 41.

Other standout pros in today's field were Frank Stranahan, the Toledo millionaire who was an amateur for many years; Bill Nary, the vagabond from Wayne; veteran Horton Smith, Indianwood's Mike Dietz and Gene Bone of Pontiac, to mention a few.

Chuck Kocsis, runner-up in the 1956 U.S. Amateur tourney, led a star-studded array of simon-pures. Some others included Lloyd Syron of Pontiac, three-time state champion Glenn Johnson, Bob Babbish, Tom Draper and Sam Kocsis.

There were two notable absences in the professional field. Oakland Hills' Al Watrous, a '56 qualifier, is leaving for Scotland shortly to compete in the International Seniors tournament. Jack Fleck of Rochester Golf and Country Club was National Open champ in '55 and is therefore exempt from qualifying.

Today's trials were being conducted simultaneously over the Oakland and Franklin courses with each of the two sections playing 18 holes at each layout. All playoffs were scheduled at Oakland Hills, headquarters for the meet.

Olympic Group Opens Confab

IOC Executive Board Studies Problems in Conduct of Games

EVIAN, France (AP)—The executive board of the International Olympic Committee today opened a week-long discussion of general policy and touchy little technical points involved in the organization of the world's greatest sports carnival.

The 10-man executive board first consults with itself for two days over problems that have arisen since the last meeting of the full committee in Melbourne last November. Then it holds two days of meetings with representatives of the various international sports federations that compete in the games, followed by two days of talks with the delegates of national Olympics committees.

These meetings can only be to discussion groups. Any decision must await the annual meeting of the full Internation Olympic Committee scheduled for Sophia, Bulgaria, in September. But the discussions can give the vital cooperative groups a chance to air their complaints and suggestions with the hope that the full committee will take action.

Ken Wilson, Bald Mountain golf course manager, complaining about the weather, Saturday reported the first ace of the season for his layout. Charles Little of Royal Oak, playing with Charley Knox and Les Miss of Warren, holed out his No. 5 iron tee shot on the 172-yard No. 6 hole. The ace helped give Little a 70 for the round. "The ball made a couple hops, rolled in," Ken reported.

Pine Lake's 8th annual Invitational Golf Tournament will be played June 14-16 with qualifying round set for June 13th.

Old Formula Pays Off for Phils

The Associated Press

Mayo Smith's slightly startling Philadelphia Phillies, who have displaced Milwaukee and Brooklyn as Cincinnati's foremost rival for first place honors, have hit upon an old but over-effective winning formula.

They simply are getting strong front line pitching, excellent relief hurling, clutch hitting and airtight defense. Does a team need any more?

The second place Phillies got all of that yesterday as they made it three in a row over Brooklyn with a 5-3 victory which boosted them to within two games of the National League leading Cincinnati Redlegs. The triumph was Philadelphia's ninth in its last 12 games, during which time the Phils picked up 4½ games on the Redlegs.

It took a grand slam homer by Bob Thurman to give Cincinnati a split in its doubleheader with Chicago. The Cubs came back to win the second game 4-2 after a 6-4 defeat. Milwaukee climbed past Brooklyn into third place with a 3-1 victory over St. Louis and Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from the New York Giants 3-2 and 2-0.

Now for the Philadelphia story. The Phillies collected only seven hits against Don Newcombe but used six of them in scoring their five runs. Richie Ashburn tripled to score Bob Miller who had singled in the third. Rip Repulski's single, Harry Anderson's double and Stan Lopata's home run produced three runs in the fourth. A home run by relief pitcher Dick Farrell in the eighth closed out the Phils' scoring.

Miller, the starter, allowed Brooklyn only one run until he was relieved by Farrell with two on and nobody out in the fifth. Farrell stopped the Dodger threat and went on to yield three hits in five innings. He registered his third relief win against one defeat. Although the Philadelphia starter failed to go the route, Philly pitchers have completed 17 games, the most in the league.

LL Fights Player Raids

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Little League baseball leaders have called a special meeting here tonight to combat alleged recruiting raids by outside leagues on the group's roster of 270 players between the ages of 8 and 12.

Non-Little League groups were reported offering three-day trips to New York City, free taxi rides to and from practice sessions, and promises of gifts for outstanding performances to lure boys away from the Little League.

The nationally known Little League locally is represented solely by the Mountainville Memorial Assn. There are some half a dozen other leagues in Allentown, where baseball competition among youngsters is taken seriously. The leagues are sponsored by men's clubs and other groups.

Golfing Lesson Pays Off for 'Tam' Member

Meyer Katz, member of Tam O'Shanter Country Club, is a pretty good golfer, with an average round between 82-85, but the other day he figured he needed a lesson to smooth out some kinks. So he worked with Tam's assistant pro, genial Gene Bone.

That the lesson paid off was evident Sunday morning when Meyer aced the 205-yard No. 11 hole with his brassie tee shot, his 3rd hole-in-one. Katz once won a Detroit hole-in-one contest. He told Bone, after reporting his ace, "you're responsible for that one."

Playing with Katz were Ed Shonberg, Joe Jacobson, and Herb Greenstone, all of Detroit. Meyer carded 43-41-84 for the round. The ball hit in front of the cup, bounced once, then rolled in.

Archie KO's Belgian, Then Asks for 'Sugar'

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — Archie Moore knocked out Belgian heavyweight champion Alain Cherville last night and then declared once again he would like a title fight with Sugar Ray Robinson whom he called "the greatest living boxer."

Last night's knockout came at the end of the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Exhibition Hall Arena before some 8,000 fans, including many American soldiers.

The light heavyweight champion said he had an offer from promoter Jack Hurley of Seattle, proposing to match him against Sugar Ray this summer in Los Angeles.

Hurley offered him $200,000 for the fight, Moore reported.

A's, Orioles Stubborn Foes for Tribe, Yanks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kansas City dropped Cleveland into third place, a half game behind New York, defeating the Indians 8-2 and Boston came from behind to overcome Washington 5-3. The Yankees defeated Baltimore 4-0 after the Orioles had made it three in a row over the world champions with a first game 3-2 triumph.

Veteran Bill Wight of Baltimore, and Yankees' rookie Ralph Terry, won their first games in the Oriole-Yankee split. Wight hurled a three-hitter in the opener and Terry duplicated the feat in the nightcap.

Billy Gardner, who won Saturday's game with a home run, singled in the fifth inning of the first game and scored the winning run on George Kell's infield out.

Three home runs in the first inning off starter Hec Brown, accounted for all the Yankee runs in the nightcap. Mickey Mantle hit his 11th with one on and Yogi Berra and Elston Howard followed with solo smashes. Terry now has pitched 16⅓ innings without giving up a run.

Bob Cerv climaxed a six-run explosion off Cleveland's relief ace Ray Narleski in the eighth to break a 2-2 tie and give Kansas City the rubber of the three-game series. Micky McDermott won his first in relief.

Ted Williams' 12th homer, a three-run blast in the eighth, ended Pedro Ramos' mastery over the Red Sox. Ramos had beaten Boston eight times in 10 lifetime starts and had won seven in a row from the Red Sox since last season. Ike Delock, in relief of George Susce, won his third of the season.

Thomson Sets New 100 Mile World Record

LANGHORNE, Pa. (AP) — Billy Garrett of Detroit finished seventh yesterday as Johnny Thomson, of nearby Boyertown, set a new world and American record of 100.194 m.p.h. in winning the 100-mile National Championship Auto Race at Langhorne Speedway.

Thomson, who finished 12th in the Memorial Day 500-mile classic last week, was the first driver to better one hour for the distance. He was timed in 59:53.74 The old mark, also set here in 1954, was 97.56 m.p.h. It was set by Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix.

SUNDAY'S HOME RUNS

Detroit Skating Star Hurt Fighting Blaze

DETROIT (AP) — Terry Browne, Detroit's speed skating fireman, was reported in good condition at Receiving Hospital today after he slashed a tendon in his hand while fighting a fire Sunday.

Browne and his fellow firemen were battling a blaze in a cocktail lounge at 20450 Livernois. Browne fell into a show case and cut the tendon while blinded by heavy smoke. The interior of the building was badly damaged.

Browne has been a state champion speed skater and barrel jumper many times in his 20-year skating career.

Tigers Ink Coast Star

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Pete Walski, 22-year-old third baseman for the University of California, was signed by the Detroit Tigers to a minor league contract yesterday. He is to report to the Idaho Falls club in the Pioneer League.

Walski, of Winona, Minn., hit .341 for California.

Unbeaten German Boxer Faces Ippolito Tonight

Stefan Redl, a Hungarian-born German who is entering the United States Army within a week, takes on Frankie Ippolito of New York in a welterweight battle tonight at St. Nicholas Arena. Unbeaten in 14 starts with 11 knockouts, Redl is a lopsided favorite over Ippolito who hasn't fought since Oct. 22 when he lost a decision to Frankie Ryff. The fight will be seen on DuMont TV in some sections at 9:30 p.m., EST.

Jones Paces NAIA Field

MT. PLEASANT — The tournament held at Central Michigan College over the weekend was called the first annual Michigan NAIA track meet. But it could be described as "Hayes Jones day."

The freshman speedster from Pontiac now at Eastern Michigan staged a one man show, winning three events and taking second in two others, while leading his team to a lopsided victory.

Jones won the 100-yard dash in :9.8. He captured the 120-yard high hurdles and the 220-yard lows in fine fashion, then wound up his efforts with a second in both broad jump and high jump.

No records were broken, due partly to gusty winds and a rain-soaked track.

The winners qualified for the national meet to be held at San Diego, Calif., next weekend.

Eastern won eight of the 15 events on the program for 104 points to 67½ for runnerup Central Michigan. Northern Michigan was third with 12½. Then came Hope with 11, Ferris Institute 9 and Hillsdale 5.

W. Michigan Defeats Notre Dame in Final

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Western Michigan, which lost its bid for the NCAA district 4 baseball crown to Notre Dame last week, whipped the Irish 4-2 in the closing game of the regular season here Saturday.

Three walks, a double by Bob Mason and a sacrifice fly gave the Broncos three runs in the first inning.

Angler Takes Big Trout on 1st Trip to Lake

One of Pontiac area's most ardent fishermen, Nelson Matthews, 134 West Walton Blvd., paid his first visit to Maceday Lake the other day in search of lake trout. Matthews has fished for most all other Michigan species, but never before had visited Maceday, only producing lake trout waters in the area.

That the visit was successful is evident in the fact that he took a 39-inch 9-pounder. A "cow bell" rig, while trolling in deep water turned the trick. The big fish took out nearly all Matthews' line before being boated. Matthews also landed two other trout, both rainbows.

The fisherman is assistant superintendent of Plant 8, at Pontiac Motor Company (Car assembly).

Pontiac Press Photo

BIG LAKER—Biggest lake trout to come out of Oakland county's only producing lake trout waters (Maceday Lake), this year, was taken the other day by Nelson Matthews, 134 West Walton, Pontiac. Matthews' laker was a 9-pound plus specimen, 39 inches long and fat, as the photograph shows.

Pitching Major Tiger Problem

DETROIT (AP) — Manager Jack Tighe took his Tigers to Chicago over the weekend for a crucial four-game series with the White Sox, hoping that a thin pitching staff could make up in quality what it lacked in quantity.

Tighe knew today that pitching still is a major problem with the Detroit team.

The Tigers dropped the first two games before splitting yesterday's doubleheader. They won the opener 3-1 for their first victory over league-leading Chicago in six games this season, but dropped the nightcap 4-1.

The cases of Billy Hoeft and Frank Lary provide a large slice of the problem Tighe must solve to strengthen his eight-man hurling staff — the smallest in the league.

The team's two 20-game winners last year were shelled by Chicago in the opening game of the series.

Hoeft, who won an even 20 games last year, now is 1-2 and has an earned run average of 4.19 in 45 innings.

Lary, the majors' top winner with 21 victories last season, has started off this year about as dismally as he did the last. On July 1, 1956, the Alabama righthander had won only four games against 10 losses. He is 2-7 to date.

Duke Maas, Jim Bunning and Paul Foytack have been called upon to bear the pitching load. Maas is the leading Detroit hurler with a 6-2 mark. Bunning is 4-1 and Foytack, 5-4.

Bunning halted Chicago, albeit briefly, in yesterday's opener, although he needed help from Maas in the ninth when the Sox put two men on with one out.

Maas, however, retired pinch hitters Fred Hatfield and Walt Dropo with ease to preserve the victory for Bunning, who gave up three walks and struck out six, fanning Jim Rivera four times.

Al Kaline, who was four-for-four in the first game, and Frank House paced the Tigers' 12-hit attack against rookie Bill Fischer.

Kaline scored all three Detroit runs while House, who had three hits, drove him home twice. Reno Bertoia singled in Kaline for an insurance run in the eighth.

But the White Sox bounced back in the second game on Jack Harshman's fancy four-hitter. He limited the Tigers to only two hits in the last eight innings.

Meanwhile, Chicago belted Paul Foytack for eight hits, including Dropo's sixth home run of the year. The hard-throwing righthander made the start for Detroit with only two days rest.

The Tigers have today off, but Tighe will have to do some juggling for a starting pitcher tomorrow night when Detroit opens a 13-game home stand. It could be Maas, Lary or Hoeft against the Washington Senators.

Sam's Year to Win Open?

Snead Round Robin Victor

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — Sam Snead a firm believer in signs figures this finally may be his year to win the elusive National Open golf championship. He documents his reasons.

"Things go in cycles," mused the homespun Virginia philosopher following a dramatic comeback victory yesterday in the Wykagyl Round Robin Tournament. "I've been having a cycle of bad luck. Now I'm having a cycle of good luck.

"It's one thing to get your rear end up over the tail board of a wagon. It's another thing to get inside. You need a push. Or incentive. I figure I got my push here this week."

Eight points behind Masters final round and twenty points back champion Doug Ford starting the through the first four holes, Snead put on a tremendous spurt to win by eight points. He shot a 66 in the same foursome with Ford, who scrambled to a par 71: his old rival, Ben Hogan and young Ken Venturi, each of whom had 70.

At the end of the 90-hole, four-day tournament, in which each player matches his score with others in the 16-man field in foursome play, Snead was $3,000 richer with plus 41 points. Ford, hottest man in the event for two days, was second with plus 33 after losing six points. Then came Hogan, steady and sure, tied with temperamental Tommy Bolt, plus 14.

It was the fifth round robin crown for Snead, who won his first one in 1938—th year before he blew the first of many opens with a horrendous finishing eighth at the Philadelphia Country Club.

Snead, although conceded to be one of the greatest golfers alive, must qualify for the Open today at the Knollwood and Metropolis Country Clubs in Westchester County. It would be one of the great cruelties of the sport if he failed to make the grade.

This is the second time in 20 years Snead hasn't been automatically qualified for the blue ribbon event of golf, which is slated at the Inverness Club in Toledo, Ohio, June 13-15. The other time was 1939.

Cranbrook Star State Net King

Bob Klein won the state singles championship and the doubles duo of Gary Smith and Pete King finished 2nd as Cranbrook missed winning the Class B crown by one point at Kalamazoo Saturday. Kalamazoo State held the final margin, 9-8½.

Klein took 7-5, 6-4 triumphs over Kalamazoo ace Dick Colby before State clinched the doubles. In Class A, Hamtramck took its 9th straight with Grosse Point University School Class C-D victors.

Team scores:

Class A—Hamtramck, 7½, Bay City Central 4½, Dearborn 4½, Mount Clemens 4½, Kalamazoo Central 4, Jackson 3, Holland 2½, Saginaw Arthur Hill 2, Owosso 1½, Grand Rapids Union 1, Grand Rapids Ottawa 1.

Class B—Kalamazoo State 8, Cranbrook 7½, Andran 4, Grand Haven 3½, East Grand Rapids 3, Trenton 2½, Plainwell 1½, Vicksburg 1½, East Lansing 1, Three Rivers.

Class C-D—Grosse Pointe University School 5½, Ypsilanti Roosevelt 4½, Muskegon Christian 3, Cedar Springs 3, Galesburg-Augusta 1½.

Maples, Waterford 2nd and 3rd at UD

Birmingham finished 2nd with 18 points followed by Waterford at 14½ as Oakland County schools turned in impressive showings in the 22-team Class A part of the University of Detroit Relays Saturday. Detroit Pershing won the crown with 22 points.

A combined pole vault total of 36 feet for a 1st place and 2nds in the four mile and medley relays paced the Maples. Bill McFarlen led the vaulters at 12 feet, six inches and helped the shot put team gain a 5th place. The high jump group ranked 3rd and the 440 relay unit tied for 4th.

Victories in the shuttle hurdle relay and broad jump featured the Waterford performance. Bill Cole, Stan Jones, Leroy Vogl and Cecil Dumbrigue made up the relay group. Dumbrigue also took part in the broad jump.

Holiday Races Mark Beginning of WLYA Season

Watkins Lake Yachting Association got its 1957 racing season under way Memorial day and Sunday, with a series of class event, a lawn party on Sunday, plus a launching affair.

Winners of yesterday's races, sailed in fine weather, were Guy Duffield in his snipe "Gee-Whiz," Bruce Brede in his lightning "Dizzy Bees" and Don Zannoth in "Seaweed, a thistle class craft.

Memorial Day winners were Frank Fleck in "Byads" (snipe), John Noble in "Golden Dragon" (lightning), Karl Kreitz in his thistle. Crews were Chuck Morris (Fleck), Mrs. Bee Noble, daughter Sharon (Noble) and Sue Bates (Kreitz).

Next race for WLYA is set for Friday at 9 p.m., an unlighted handicap event for all classes.

Crane Nine Loses Final

Cranbrook's baseball team finished on the short end of a 5-0 score against Flint Central Saturday to conclude season play with a 9-8 record. Dave Campbell was the losing hurler as the Cranes could garner only two hits off winner Ken Martin.

Pontiac, Detroit Share in State's Skate Lead

It was a neck-and-neck finish for Pontiac and Detroit roller skaters in the race for winner totals in the state roller championships concluded Sunday at Rolladium Rink here. Each city captured 12 events, with Flint taking three and Mt. Clemens and Dearborn each winning one event.

Nearly 500 skaters took part in the championships, sanctioned by the North American association.

Detroit skaters dominated the speed events, Pontiac the figure, dance and specialty events. Flint scored only in the races.

Final results (champions only):

Races: Senior ladies—Mary J. Kirk, Detroit; Inter. men—Donald Munos, Detroit; Inter. ladies—Donna Waters, Detroit; Junior boys—Gerald Keely, Flint; Ladies relay—Sally Richardson, Donna Waters, Michele Seger, Suzanne Richardson, Detroit; Mixed relay—Fred Vanderhagen, Edward Leinke, Michele Seger, Donna Water, Detroit; Diaper division—Roland Lund, Pontiac, and Lorraine Fournier, Flint; Juvenile "C" girls—Patty Blazak, Pontiac; Juvenile "C" boys—David Marchewke, Pontiac; Juv. Reuther Pleads for Contract

Asks Wilson to Review Decision to Manufacture Tanks in Delaware

DETROIT (AP)—Pleading acute unemployment in the Detroit area, Walter Reuther wants Defense Secretary Wilson to review the Army's awarding of a 119-million-dollar tank contract to the Chrysler Corp. plant at Newark, Del.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, also joined with Gov. G. Mennen Williams in disputing the Army's statement that the job would cost the Army $1,878,000 more in Michigan than it would in Delaware.

If Wilson would review the Army's order, Reuther said, it would "give our union the opportunity to present to him all the reasons why the contract should be placed in the Detroit area."

Reuther also asked Labor Secretary Mitchell to declare Detroit an area of substantial labor surplus. Such a designation helps win defense contracts. The UAW chief said Detroit has had unemployment of six per cent for three months.

The Army's decision to let Chrysler make the tanks in Delaware instead of Michigan poured new fuel on the controversy over Michigan's tax structure.

Hollywood Headlines

'Townsend Harris Story' to Feature John Wayne

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — John Wayne, who has been having his troubles with "Legend of the Lost" getting it properly edited and cut in Rome, has agreed to star in "The Townsend Harris Story."

Duke talked with John Huston and liked the idea so much about the United States first consul to Japan that he said he would make it in September, even though it takes him to Tokyo on location.

I don't know anyone who has a more colorful life than Greer Garson. She telephoned from New York after she agreed to do "Auntie Mame" on Broadway, replacing Roz Russell in early 1958, that she and her mother were headed for Dallas. Her husband, Buddy Fogelson's son, graduates from Southern Methodist University there.

Later Greer and her mother head back for Hollywood where she has two TV shows awaiting her. She'll play herself in Robert Young's "Father Knows Best," and she's also agreed to go on a panel show, "The Last Word."

Greer said she loved the "Auntie Mame" story from the time she first read the book and when she saw Roz on the stage she was completely sold.

TRAGEDY FOR MARILYN

Immediately after the verdict finding her husband, Arthur Miller, guilty on two counts, Marilyn Monroe and Miller went to the country. Marilyn refused to see or talk to anyone.

The verdict, which can mean a year in prison and a fine of $1,000, is a tragic blow to Marilyn, who had been holding up her answer to 20th Century-Fox on whether or not she would do "The Life of Jean Harlow" until her husband's case was decided.

We who love Marilyn can only be sorry that she is so unlucky in love.

Portie Mason almost didn't make "Circle of the Day" on Playhouse 90. She had felt ill all during rehearsals Wednesday, and Natalie Wood's little sister, Lana, was called in to pinch-hit, just in case.

However, Portie rallied and was able to make the show—very fortunately, too, because Lana came down with chicken pox!

Then, while she was emoting, Portie started feeling sick again—and you guessed it—she, too, had chicken pox!

MARRIAGE LIKELY

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Don't be surprised if Jeffrey Hunter gets married this week in Cedar Rapids. He is flying there to meet Dusty Bartlett's family.

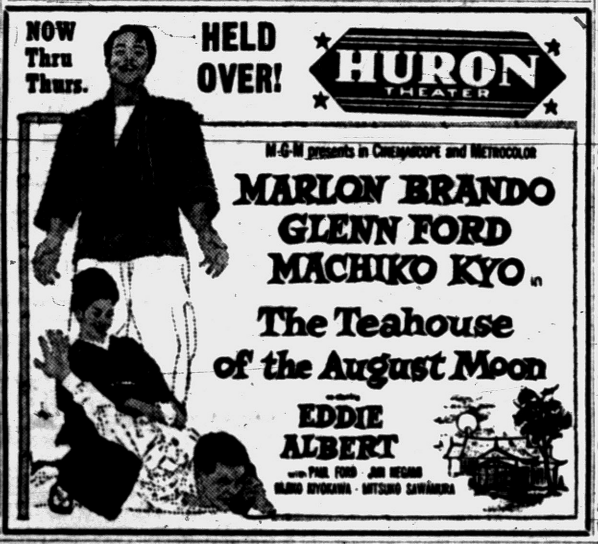

While Joan Marshall was in the final scene of a screen test at MGM a telephone call came for her that her 2-year-old daughter Sherry had swallowed 16 sleeping pills. Joan got home in nothing flat, took the little girl to the Children's Hospital and took a raincheck on the rest of the test.

Cal Bill Gargan "Grandpa" and pretty Mary Gargan "Grandma. Their daughter presented them with Bill III at the UCLA Medical Center.

Jorge Guinle is here to invite one of our stars to the Jockey Club race in Rio in August. Susan Hayward was the guest of honor last year and had a wonderful time.

Leonard Goldenson of ABC-TV has issued an invitation to luncheon on Wednesday, saying he has a big story to disclose. Wonder if it isn't pay TV?

Man Falls From Ladder Trying to Free Pigeon

DALLAS (AP)—Tom W. Harrington, 65, saw a pigeon with its foot caught in the roof of his house. He climbed up a ladder to set it free, but slipped and fell 12 feet to the ground.

He was treated at Parkland Hospital for head injuries while others in the neighborhood liberated the pigeon.

Deadline to Cut Weeds July 1

Crew of City Will Clear Lots, Charging Violators of Ordinance

The warning has gone out again from the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. that all lots in the city must be cleared of weeds by July 1.

And after this date, if you have not complied with the city's weed cutting ordinance, it will cost you 20 cents a front foot when the city department sends in a crew to do the cutting.

"This will cost the owner of a 50-foot lot $10," explained David R. Ewalt, department director, who termed last year's project "a big headache."

In addition to notices published in The Press every Saturday during June, Ewalt will mail out warnings to some 3,000 violators of last year.

"We hope this advance warning will pay off and get everybody to cut their weeds," Ewalt said. "It is for the benefit of the whole city if they do."

Last year the city collected about $4,500 out of $9,000 owed it for cutting of privately-owned lots. The balance was placed on special assessment rolls.

The charge last summer was only 12 cents a front foot, the director said.

He warned residents that lots must be free of weeds not only by July 1, "but remain so during the growing season."

13 States Study Auto Injuries

Michigan to Participate in Project to Improve Traffic Safety Design

LANSING (AP)—Michigan has announced participation in a 13-state study of auto crash injuries expected to take more than two years.

State police, physicians and hospitals and the State Health Department all will play roles in the project, which it is hoped will lead the way to tighter control of traffic accident injuries, partly through improved auto safety design.

The final review and analysis of data collected will be entrusted to the Cornell University Medical College.

Results will be made available to organizations supporting the work, including automobile makers, the military, insurance companies, public health departments and safety groups.

Photographers and medical and hospital injury data will be collected.

The state police announced that when an accident occurs a crash injury research report form furnished by the medical college will be filled out provided a 1956, 1957 or 1958 model car is involved.

Reports also will be made on all cars, including older makes, involved in injury-producing accidents in limited full study areas.

A parallel medical follow up report will be obtained through cooperating physicians and hospitals.

State police participation will be rotated by district over six month periods, with the Fifth and Sixth District at Paw Paw and Rockford leading off.

Voracious Ants Invade Colorado, Eat Vegetation

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (INS)—The "reds" have invaded Elbert and El Paso counties of Colorado and are eating up every piece of green vegetation in their sight.

The reds are ants—voracious vegetarians whose sand-hill homes dot the countryside.

Two agents of the U.S. Agricultural Department, alerted to the menace by a Colorado Springs lumberman, inspected the advancing mounds of the crimson foe and agreed something must be done.

The lumberman, Ed Abrahamson, said:

"They (the farm agents) agreed with me that unless something was done quickly there would be a chance that Elbert County, and later many other counties, would become worse than a desert."

The ants eat tender grass leaves whole, but merely suck the sap of tougher varieties after cutting the stems near the roots.

Robin Family Leaves

STRATFORD, Ontario (AP) — A robin family that nested high in the girders of the new Stratford Shakespeare Festival Theater has left for quieter quarters. Workmen discovered the nest in the 1½ million dollar theater about two week ago, just as the conical roof was being closed in.

Leftist Students Protest British Nuclear Tests

TOKYO (AP)—Thirty leftist Japanese students milled about the British Embassy for six hours today, demonstrating to protest continuance of Britain's nuclear test explosions.

Some 200 police stood by but there was no repetition of the May 17 demonstration, when 10,000 students mobbed the embassy. Instead the students chanted "Suibaku hantai (We oppose H-bombs)" and waved a big flag carrying the Communist peace dove.

Several times groups of representatives were allowed inside the embassy compound to present petitions demanding that the nuclear blasts be stopped.

Pontiac Group to Discuss Aid to Handicapped

The Assn. for Handicapped Children, recently formed in Pontiac, will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Cook-Nelson American Legion Post, Auburn at Paddock streets.

Featured speaker will be Hal Abrams, special education consultant for Oakland County, whose subject will be "Opportunity House."

The group, which was formed to aid handicapped children in Oakland County, is in the process of setting up a free day nursery for these children.

Another project under discussion is a scholarship for a teacher who is interested in becoming a special education instructor.

The Boy Scouts will supply baby sitters for children brought by parents who attend this meeting.

Grain Futures Dip Slightly

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices retreated somewhat on the board of trade today although losses were not particularly heavy.

Corn was off around a cent at times on liquidation influenced by the favorable planting weather. Soybeans dipped, partly for the same reason.

Wheat started firm but prices soon slumped. The winter wheat weather generally was clear today although there were some more heavy rains in Texas and Kansas during the weekend.

Near the end of the first hour old style wheat was ½ to ¾ lower, July $2.02⅞, new style wheat was ⅝ to 1⅛ lower, July $2.03⅜, corn was ⅝ to 1 cent lower, July $1.29¼, oats were unchanged to ⅜ lower, July 65½, rye was ½ to ¾ lower, July $1.13¼, soybeans were ½ to ⅝ lower, July $2.34½, and lard was 10 to 15 cents a hundred pounds lower, July $12.75.

Expects Action to Rezone Area

Change Five Township Sections to Commercial, Supervisor Says

Definite action on the rezoning of five Waterford Township areas from residential to commercial is expected by the township board tonight, Supervisor Elmer Johnson said.

Areas involved have been approved by the township zoning board and the Oakland County Planning Commission.

The local board personally investigated the proposed rezoning areas last week.

An amendment to the building code regarding rat walls for new garages will also be approved, Johnson said.

A monthly report by Treasurer Dorothy Olson is scheduled for tonight.

Red Tape Ties Harvard

WASHINGTON (INS) — Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif), claiming that the Pentagon forced Harvard University to hold 7,000 square feet of World War II records, charged: "Harvard finds itself in a situation where it is burdened with the costs of storing and protecting secret material which no one at Harvard can look at and which Harvard can't get declassified, can't return to the government, can't give away and can't burn."

Elks Temple Employe Robbed in Parking Lot

A woman was robbed by an unidentified man about 11:20 p.m. Saturday as she was attempting to enter her car parked in the lot of the Elk's Temple, 114 Orchard Lake Ave.

Myrtle Rust, who is employed in the Elk's kitchen and lives at 94 W. Beverly St., told police a man came from behind her, put his hands over her eyes and then ran off with her purse, which had $15 in it.

Plans More Courses

OWOSSO (AP) — The Owosso Bible College, which now offers a degree only in the religion of the Pilgrim Holiness Church, will become a liberal arts college next fall. The board of trustees said the change, offering more courses in general education and teacher training, was made to attract students of other denominations to the school.

Market Mixed in Early Deals

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was narrowly mixed in early trading today.

Key stocks showed plus or minus signs ranging from fractions to around a point.

The opening was active but after the weekend accumulation of orders was taken care of trading simmered down to a quiet rate.

There wasn't much in the news over Saturday and Sunday to cause any radical change in market attitude, brokers said. While consumer debt in April was reported at the highest rate of the year, this reflected seasonal influences and the rise was less than during April in 1956 and 1955.

Du Pont was off more than a point. Losses of around a point were taken by Olin Mathieon, Union Carbide and Boeing. Atlantic Coast Line gained a point.

Gets Honorary Degree

DETROIT (AP) — James C. Zeder, vice president and special adviser of Chrysler Corp., will be the main speaker and will receive an honorary doctor of engineering degree Sunday at commencement exercises at Lawrence Institute of Technology. Dr. George Lawrence, LIT president, will confer degrees on 182 members of the 1957 class.

Ike Asks New Building

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower and a special study commission today recommended demolishing the old State Department Building and erecting a modern structure on its site to provide White House office space. The project would cost $32,350,000.

Urge Stopping Nuclear Tests

2,000 U.S. Scientists Appeal for Agreement Among Governments

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Two thousand American scientists have signed an appeal urging international agreement now to stop the testing of nuclear bombs, a Nobel Prize-winning biochemist announced today.

Dr. Linus Pauling called it "an appeal by American scientists to the governments and to the people of the world."

The statement says, "Each added amount of radiation causes damage to the health of human beings all over the world." It warns of "an increase in the number of seriously defective children . . . in future generations" and adds: "As scientists we have knowledge of the dangers involved and therefore a special responsibility to make those dangers known."

Pauling, head of the Division of Chemistry and Chemical Engineering at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena, said the statement was prepared by him "as an individual scientist and was signed by other scientists as individuals."

The 2,000 signatures were received in four days—last Wednesday through Saturday. Signers included two other Nobel Prizewinners—Dr. H. J. Muller, Indiana University, who received the prize in 1946 for discovering that penetrating radiation produces mutations in plants and animals, and Dr. Joseph Erlanger, Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., 1944 winner in physiology and medicine.

"About half of the scientists who signed the appeal are biologists, and many of the others are biochemists, chemists and medical scientists," Pauling said.

Dr. Pauling won the Nobel award in 1954 for research in chemistry.

In a written statement accompanying announcement of the appeal, Pauling said: "No organization was involved in the formulation of the appeal or the collection of signatures."

He said the appeal resulted from an address he gave last May 15 to students and faculty at Washington University. He said he emphasized there is essentially unanimous agreement among scientists experienced in biological effects of radiation as to magnitude of the effects.

He said he expressed conviction that to stop the testing through international agreement would be an effective first step toward averting a cataclysmic nuclear war.

Father, Stepson Hurt in Mishap at Local Lake

A father and his step-son were injured Sunday morning on Lower Straits Lake in a water-skiing accident as the father tried desperately to save the boy from serious injury.

According to Oakland County Sheriff's reports, John S. Naso was standing on the boat dock at the rear of his home at 8459 Arlis St., in Commerce Township, watching his step-son, Victor Lindstrom, 11, water skiing nearby.

Naso told police that the boat pulling the boy came too close to the dock, placing it directly in the youth's path.

Naso said he threw his body between the boy and dock, but the impact was so great that they were both thrown against the dock. The boy was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with a fractured right leg, multiple cuts and bruises and lacerations to the scalp.

He was reported in satisfactory condition today by a hospital spokesman. Naso was treated and released yesterday for knee bruises.

To Be Examined in Rape

Salvador A. Fred, 25, of 37 S. Paddock St., will be examined in Municipal Court Wednesday on chargeds of statutory rape. Fred appeared before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan, demanded examination and was ordered committed to the Oakland County Jail after he failed to furnish a $,000 bond until then.

Our New Builder's Exchange Program

Saved a recent customer $2160 on his new home built under this program.

We have coupled this program with our tremendous buying power and directed it through NEW STREAMLINED BUYING SOURCES to bring you unbelievable savings in your custom built home.

To serve you better we have enlarged & redesigned the area's only authorized HOME PLANNERS CENTER.

1. We have added a new KING SIZE magnetic HOME PLANNER AND VISUALIZER. It will enable you to see how furnishings, cabinets and other arrangements will be in the plan of your choice or help you re-arrange one plan to meet your requirements.

2. To help you we have vastly increased the number of our working blue prints & material lists to 600 in our 20 ft. long filing cases. These plans are by the world famous designer, Richard B. Pollman, with architects Palmquist & Wright, A. I. A. We will price any of these or your own special plan.

IF YOU ARE THINKING OF TRADING YOUR OLD HOUSE IN ON A NEW HOME

NATURALLY you would like to get as much as you can for your old house. There are several ways this can be done. Let's see which way is best suited to you and the old house you wish to convert to a new home. If needed, we'll help you with financing arrangements and a lot too.

Phone for an appointment today so that we may explain our new "BUILDER'S EXCHANGE" program and save you $$$ too.

ARE YOU A NATURE LOVER?
Do you like to look out your windows and watch squirrels & birds frolicking up & down stately maple & oak trees? Would you like to own a piece of land that has a running stream, a small spring-fed pond? All this and a spacious new modern 3 bedroom home with breezeway and attached garage? (Needs some completing). Seems unbelievable that all this could be wrapped up in one piece of property. Has the seclusion of Northern Michigan and yet it fronts on a paved road near Pontiac. Call us—we will be glad to show this beautiful property. Priced at only $19,500 with reasonable terms.

U.S. Students Held by Reds?

Note Asks Hungarians About Disappearance of South Carolina Youths

BUDAPEST (AP) — The had of th U. S. diplomatic mission asked the Foreign Ministry today for permission to see two University of South Carolina students believed under arrest in Communist Hungary.

N. Spencer Barnes inquired about Mike A. Gilbert of Waterboro and Warren Hair of North Augusta, S. C. They disappeared across the Hungarian frontier last Wednesday. They had been staying in an Austrian youth hostel. A girl there quoted the two 20-year-old Americans as saying they were going into Hungary "for excitement."

Hungarian Interior Minister Bela Buszku and Foreign Minister Imre Horvath disclaimed any knowledge of the Americans' whereabouts. The ministers were questioned this morning by Western reporters in the corridors of Parliament.

Biszku commented that it was "strange" that the pair should have come to Hungary without proper papers and asked when they were believed to have crossed the frontier. Told it was on May 26, Biszku replied only that he had no knowledge of the case and referred questioners to the Foreign Ministry and the U. S. legation.

The legation's note to the foreign Ministry reported details of the case and asked information about the two students. This is routine procedure when an American disappears in a foreign country. Usually a reply comes within a few days, though in Communist countries it may be delayed and noncommital. In previous similar cases here Westerners have been held incommunicado for weeks, then released.

Austrian frontier police at the Eisenstadt border station said today they had not heard or seen anything of the American students since their disappearance.

Earl Wilson Has a Go at Dining a la Gourmet

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I've been messing around with these Eastern gourmets. "A gourmet," claims Variety Editor Abel Green, "is a glutton in a homburg."

By lighting cigarets during vittles, Mrs. Dave Garroway, the wife and I scandalized the first feast of "Les Copains de Careme" (the Pals of Careme—he was a famous chef).

Smoking's permitted by some California gourmet groups even butter was barred here. You used salt behind your program lest Chef Lucian Toucas attack you with a cleaver. It was never like that down at the diner in Piqua, Ohio.

"I wish I had the guts to ask for water," muttered Gourmet Lucius Beebe, who made do with eight kinds of wine. He'd come all the way from Virginia City, Nev., and called himself a "hired eater."

"We're sure living high off the baby lamb tonight," Dave Garroway said about an hour after we'd squatted down to the gold service.

Little speeches were made about each course by Paul Spitler. When he eulogized the hors d'oeuvre, to loud cheering, somebody remarked: "It's the first time I heard anybody applaud meatballs!"

After dessert — ice ceram topped with candied violets—came cigars. Lucius Beebe dipped the tip of his in chartreuse. Me, too!

The B.W. and I waddled home. "No ice box-raiding tonight," I warned her—but was there myself later for just a little salami sandwich with mustard. If that chef could have seen me at the kitchen table he'd made me turn in my stomach.

EARL'S PEARLS: A prejudiced person is someone too darn stubborn to admit I am right.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Don't worry about any of those gals you see at loose ends . . . they are more than willing to get tied up."—L. S. McCandless.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A teenager sent his girl her first orchid with the note: "With all my love—and most of my allowance." That's earl, brother.

Says Kids Want Elvis in Person

Son of Ozzie, Harriet Branches Out as Solo Rock 'n' Roll Singer

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Teenager Rickey Nelson, who does a mean imitiation of Elvis Presley, said today the rock and roll king has fallen off in popularity because he's been "too busy making motion pictures."

"Kids like to see Presley in auditoriums or on TV," Nelson added, "but lately, he's been so tied up in films they haven't had a chance to see him anywhere."

Rickey, 17-year-old son of Ozzie and Harriet, wowed TV audiences recently with an imitation of Elvis—sideburns, guitar and all. He admires The Pelvis, but he thinks his movie, "Love Me Tender," was "a little corny."

"I think he's a good showman," Rickey declared, "and he has a pretty good voice. He's exciting to watch and he's different in his overall appearance."

Fan or not, if Elvis doesn't watch out, Rickey may grab off a few of his devotees. For the first time since he began appearing on his mom and pop's air show at the age of 7, Rickey is branching out as a solo entertainer.

WITH THE STARS

He was up there with such veterans as Patti Page, Gordon MacRae, and Nat "King" Cole when he appeared last week on the NBC-TV "Five Stars for Springtime" show, the first summer replacement for the Sid Caesar Hour.

"I was scared to death," Rickey admitted. He sang a number he's already recorded called "I'm Walking" and a couple of other rock and roll tunes.

Young Nelson had a taste of what Elvis goes through recently when he accepted an invitation to sing at a Los Angeles high school.

"Gee, it was great," Rickey said shyly. "Nothing like that ever happened to me before."

Rickey's older brother, David, 20, also lately branched into solo singing, but he's scarcely the bopsters' breed. He prefers such tunes as "I Want a Girl Just Like the Girl Who Married Dear Old Dad!"

MIDLAND (AP) — Salaried workers at the Dow Corning Corp. will go on summer hours effective June 10, reporting a half hour earlier at 7:30 a.m. Lunch hours will be set by individual departments to determine quitting times.

4 Die as Auto, Train Collide

Wisconsin Youths Out for Ride in New Car as Mishap Occurs

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP) — Four young persons out riding died last night when their new car and a Milwaukee road passenger train collided at a rural crossing three miles south of here in north central Wisconsin.

The victims were James Katczka, 22, the owner and believed to be the driver of the car; William Schaetzl, 22; Nancy Draxler, 19, and Mary Carol Warren, 19, all of Wausau. Miss Warren died at a hospital soon after the crash. The others were killed in the wreck.

The two young women were natives of Wakefield, Mich., but came to Wausau to work at the same firm that employed Katczka. Schaetzl had recently been discharged from the Army.

Police said the northbound train was traveling at between 40 and 45 miles per hour at the time of the crash. The auto was dragged 135 feet, and then rolled another 90 feet.

Ignited Gasoline Badly Burns Farmer

BAY CITY (AP) — A 50-year-old farmer, severely burned when a cigarette ignited spilled gasoline, while rescuers tried to free him from an overturned tractor, is in fairly good condition at a hospital here.

Fred Gobrogge of Pinconning was trapped for eight hours after the tractor overturned on him in a ditch.

Relatives, alarmed when he did not arrive for supper, went out and found him. They were unable to move the tractor and sent for a tow truck. While waiting for the truck, one of the rescuers lit a cigarette for Gobrogge. It ignited the gasoline. Rescuers beat out the flames.

Gobrogge suffered internal injuries and first, second and third degree burns on the legs.

Wayne Professor Quits, on Staff 36 Years

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. John Wilcox, 69, retired yesterday as an English professor at Wayne State University after serving the school for 36 years.

"I haven't got one lecture note worth a damn," the professor said. "I always taught spontaneously. Just took a memo or so into class."

Teacher Gets New Job

LAINGSBURG (AP) — Teacher Donald Fockler, whose attempted dismissal by the Laingsburg school board set off a community controversy, has accepted a teaching post at Houghton Lake high school. Fockler subsequently received a vote of confidence from a newly-constituted school board.

Indonesians Coming

JAKARTA (AP)—A 12-man Indonesian parliamentary delegation, led by the chairman of Parliament, R. M. Sartono, is leaving for the United States June 6. It will make a three-week study of developments in education, culture, farming and fisheries.

Rail Service to End in North Michigan?

DETROIT (AP)—The day of passenger train service in northern Michigan is coming to an end, says the Detroit Board of Commerce.

In its weekly publication, The Detroiter, the board predicted that "at the present rate of railroad passenger abandonment, five years from now there will be no service north of Grand Rapids."

Hugh D. Campbell, Manager of the board's transportation bureau, wrote that the automobile has made it unprofitable for airlines, buses and railroads to operate in smaller cities and towns.

Bundy Tubing to Move Operations to Kentucky

DETROIT (AP)—Bundy Tubing Co. is planning to move all its general fabricating operations from the Detroit area to a new plant at Winchester, Ky., in September.

W. W. Anderson, vice president and general manager who made the announcement Saturday, said the move would result in the indefinite layoff of about 500 employes.

The firm manufactures small metal tubing and auto parts.

Anderson said Bundy would continue production of its Bundywe base tube, serpentine coils and push rods at Detroit plants.

Junior Editors Quiz on A QUEER BEAN

QUESTION: What makes a Mexican jumping bean jump?

ANSWER: Perhaps you have seen Mexican jumping beans. They are little seeds that look something like ordinary beans and that frequently move or jump as if something were alive inside them. Something actually is alive inside them.

The seeds aren't real beans but are produced by a shrub in Mexico. In many of them a little moth lays an egg. The egg hatches into a worm-like larva, which eats out a home for itself inside the seed pod. Then it weaves a tiny cocoon in which it lives until it in turn becomes a moth. The movements it makes causes the bean to move.

FOR YOU TO DO: If your father can obtain some jumping beans for you, it will be fun to watch them. But ordinary beans can be fun too. Your mother probably has some uncooked ones in the kitchen. Plant two or three in a flower pot or in the garden and see how long it takes for them to send up shoots.

Fence to Bar Killer Dogs

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—A wire mesh fence 3,500 miles long is being built in Queensland to keep out wild dogs.

The fence, now nearing completion, will hold back the hordes of dingoes, or wild dogs, that cost the state about 6¾ million dollars a year in dead sheep and cattle.

Inside the barrier will be about 300,000 of Queensland's 670,500 square miles. It will enclose some 18 million sheep and more than 640,000 cattle.

The giant project will cost over a million dollars—pin money compared with the state's estimated annual loss of almost 500,000 sheep and uncounted thousands of cattle.

Next to droughts, dingoes are the greatest menace to sheep and cattle raising in Australia. One dingo can create losses of thousands of pounds.

Australia's present dingo population is estimated at tens of thousands. This animal infests all states except Tasmania. He does not kill just for food—he kills for the sake of killing.

He may attack a flock of sheep at night, killing one to eat and tearing down 20 or 30 others that eventually die of blood poisoning.

Dingoes will combine and muster sheep with the ability of well-trained sheep dogs. A pack has been known to drive a flock to some spot where escape is impossible, then turn on a wholesale slaughter.

Some archaeologists believe the dingo is the original ancestor of dogs.

Regarded by scientists as the world's most perfect dog, the dingo is about two feet tall and five feet long from muzzle to tail. He varies in color from fawn and black to brindle.

The new, monster cage is taking shape in Queensland. Starting six inches below the ground, it rises 6 feet 3 inches high.

A similar dog-proof fence is proposed for western New South Wales, paralleling the Queensland and south Australian border fences at a distance of 20 to 30 miles.

These "iron curtains" will confine howling, hungry wild dogs to arid central Australia.

But first, the task will be to bring the dingo numbers down inside the barriers. And that won't be easy.

Soviets Build Oil Link

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda reports the Soviet Union is building its second oil link between European Russia and Siberia. The existing line pumps petroleum from the refining center of Tuimazy, just west of the Urals, to Omsk—about 800 miles. The twin line being built will be between the same two points. Most of Siberia lacks oil.

About three-eighths of Montana's land is owned by the federal government.

Japan Asks for Airport

TOKYO (AP)—The Japan Aviation Assn. has petitioned the Japan procurement board to ask the U. S. Air Force for return of Tokyo's International Airport, the newspaper Yomiuri reports. The big airfield is at Haneda, near the heart of Tokyo. It is still largely occupied by the U. S. military forces.

About one-half of the total area of New Jersey is devoted to agriculture, according to recent estimates.

Bridge Suspension Section Work Starts

ST. IGNACE (AP)—The first suspension section of the Straits of Mackinac bridge is scheduled to go into place this week.

The gigantic trusses, which will support the roadway, will be floated out into the straits on barges and lifted into place by derricks. They are prefabricated ashore.

While held by derricks the trusses will be tied to the suspension cables and to each other. Each is 85 feet long, 68 feet wide and 38 feet deep.

A. B. Drilling, American Bridge Co. construction superintendent, said only bad weather would prevent the first one going into place next week.

Bridge workers over the last few weeks have concentrated on erection of stiffening trusses at the towers of the bridge.
