Pennsylvania Hears Kennedy Blister GOP

Says Republicans
Foes of Progress
Since Roosevelt Era

WITH KENNEDY IN PENNSYLVANIA (AP)—President Kennedy drove into western Pennsylvania's steel and coal country region today with a scorching attack on Republicans. He said the GOP has opposed progress since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Before a crowd that jammed an asphalt-coated lot in front of McKeesport's City Hall, Kennedy said that "in the administration of Harry Truman in 1947, in the administration of Franklin Roosevelt

NEW YORK (UPI)—A telephone threat against President Kennedy put police and Secret Service agents on special alert yesterday near the entrance to the Lincoln Tunnel. When the President reached the tunnel, he ordered his car stopped near the entrance to talk with a group of Roman Catholic nuns. It was not known whether sides had told him of the threat.

In the 1930s, in my administration, they are still against progress."

Kennedy's voice was growing hoarse from his steady grind of politicking for Democratic congressional and gubernatorial candidates.

RECALLS NIXON CLASH
He recalled at McKeesport that he and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon had met in their first debate in this steel community in 1947.

At that time they clashed on the Taft-Hartley Law, Nixon for it—Kennedy against it.

"He was that one," Kennedy said with a grin. "And then we went on to other things."

Kennedy declared he is still debating Nixon and other Republicans on issues which he said distinguish progress from negative opposition.

France Pressures Monaco

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP)—France put a gentle economic squeeze on this tiny Mediterranean principality today to show it means business in a tax fight between the two countries.

Three customs agents were posted on one road crossing the western frontier of Monaco. They put up a discreet little sign saying "douane" (customs) and stopped cars going into France.

"Anything to declare?" the agents asked the motorists.

Most of the travelers were tourists passing through Monaco and they continued on without any apparent trouble. As far as could be determined, no cars were being searched by the customs agents.

President Charles de Gaulle's government is irritated because many French corporations and

CORRIDOR LOUNGE — One of the complaints of the state fire marshal about the county's medical care facility operated by the social welfare department is the use of hallways for lounging areas. The fire marshal has directed that furniture be removed from patient-occupied floors and that a day room be provided for patients. The welfare department faces this and other directives concerning the building under threat of losing some $800,000 in annual state aid.

U.S. Aid Request Cut Urged

By DICK HANSON
The ways and means committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday recommended that the county cut back its request for federal grants under the new Public Works Acceleration Act from $8 million to less than $1 million.

The lesser amount would be sought as matching funds for three county projects instead of for 22 as was originally intended.

Dropped from the list of proposed projects, for which the county had already filed an intent to apply for federal grants, were the children's village, an additional wing to the court-house, renovation of the county infirmary, a civic auditorium and nine additional sewage systems.

The remaining projects include approximately $600,000 worth of improved and expanded utilities

Long Delay Possible for World Series

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—The sixth game of the World Series was postponed again today because of a steady rain and soaked grounds.

Commissioner Ford Frick said the game will be made it can be played well when "on a day-to-day basis."

Frick announced the postponement at 2:30 a.m., after a tour of Candlestick Park, home of the San Francisco Giants.

The commissioner said he would decide again tomorrow morning if the game would be played tomorrow, or from day to day thereafter.

SERIOUS PROBLEM

"We have a very serious problem," Frick said. The real trouble is with the field. Some wind might help dry it off, if it stops raining."

Frick said there was "no possibility" that the remainder of the series between the Giants and the New York Yankees might be shifted elsewhere.

Reds Demand Guards at Wall

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko demanded Saturday that a guard be established by the Western powers to end the "dangerous and provocative actions" along the Western side of the Berlin wall.

The Soviet leader did not spell out the proposal in detail but he told a news conference such steps were necessary to ease the tension over the Berlin problem.

It appeared he was suggesting that the Western powers should establish a military zone along the Western side of the wall to keep Western German demonstrators at a distance.

NO FINANCING METHOD

Also, the county has no way to finance the local share of the proposed village's cost, committee member John Carey noted.

He suggested that voter approval of a bond issue to finance the initial $1 million cost be sought in the spring election.

County juvenile authorities have stated that this amount is needed to cope with the county's present needs in handling underprivileged children.

They visualize a $3-million village complex to meet the county's future needs in the juvenile field. Plans are being prepared now by Harry Denyes and Associates, Pontiac architectural firm.

Acting County Welfare Director George Williams withdrew the proposed $500,000 infirmary renovation for a similar reason.

He told the committee that, until a current survey of the county's entire health aid program has been completed by the United Community Services, there is no way of determining exactly what the infirmary's needs will be.

Wind Reaches 100 M.P.H. in Many Areas

Oregon, Washington,
California, Canada
Battered

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A howling storm with wind gusting more than 100 miles an hour ripped into the West Coast from the Pacific Ocean, killed at least 26 persons and devastated a wide area Friday.

That made a two-day toll of 35 killed by successive storms. There were 13 dead in Oregon, 11 in California, 8 in Washington and 3 in British Columbia.

Portland was virtually paralyzed. Most power and telephone lines were broken by winds that sent signposts sailing, knocked down thousands of trees, tore the roofs off scores of buildings, and blew in countless windows.

The city sprawled in darkness Friday night, and residents holed up in their homes, fearful of flying debris outside.

SAME ALONG COAST

It was the same along the Oregon coast and in a number of Oregon communities up the Willamette Valley in western Oregon.

The storm swept in from northern California to British Columbia, but Oregon caught the worst of it.

"It was probably the biggest disaster that Oregon ever had," said Gov. Mark Hatfield, who declared a state of emergency and alerted the National Guard. Some guard units went on active duty in the Willamette Valley.

Hatfield said he had telegraphed Kennedy alerting him to the possibility Oregon may ask for federal disaster aid. Hatfield said the decision would be made later today, after the damage could be assessed.

A fire broke out in Junction City, Ore., about 100 miles south of Portland, and two square blocks were leveled. Damage was estimated at $400,000.

In Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia River—where the storm apparently centered—a fish canner was flattened.

PEAK NOT MEASURED

The peak force of the wind at Portland was not measured. Forerunners were knocked out at the Weather Bureau before the height of the storm.

Wind-measuring equipment registered 50 miles an hour before going out of operation. Experienced weather observers estimated the gusts at well over 100 mph.

They were measured at 120 mph at a station on the northern Oregon coast. Mt. Tamalpais in California, just north of San Francisco, registered 121 mph.

Hundreds of streets were blocked by toppled trees. U.S. 101, a major north-south highway, was blocked by downed redwood trees.

WIND TOPPLES STEEPLE — The steeple of Campbell Hall at Oregon College of Education falls in the high wind that swept the West Coast, toppling buildings, towers, trees, signs and disrupting communications. No one was in the college building at Monmouth, Ore., as the steeple went down before 90-mile-an-hour gusts.

Final Court Decision on Barnett Is Delayed

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A net faces possible arrest and a $10,000 daily fine.

Final action in contempt proceedings against Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett in the University of Mississippi desegregation case has been delayed until next week by a federal appeals court. Barnett faces possible arrest and a $10,000 daily fine.

An attorney for Barnett started the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Friday when he said he had not been authorized to say 10 days ago that Barnett would comply absolutely with all orders of the court.

Attorney Charles Clark said Barnett would comply "insofar as he is physically able." He said Barnett would decide himself when he could comply with the order.

Clark contended the court had misinterpreted his language. Judge Richard T. Rives of Montgomery, Ala., who had been present at the previous hearing, commented:

"We have indeed entered Alice in Wonderland where language doesn't mean what it says."

The court delayed action in the contempt case pending a decision on legal questions raised by the Justice Department's request for an injunction to prevent Mississippi officials from interfering with the position of James H. Meredith, a Negro, as an Ole Miss student.

It ordered written briefs be submitted by Monday.

A temporary restraining order, now in effect against the state official, is the basis for the contempt action against Barnett and other U.S. officials.

Schroeder arrives tonight. Adenauer is due Nov. 7 for several days of talks with President Kennedy and other U.S. officials.

Plans for Adenauer's visit were announced today by White House press secretary Pierre Salinger in Pittsburgh, where Kennedy was campaigning for Democratic candidates in the November election.

Salinger said Kennedy had invited Adenauer "to meet with him to discuss problems of mutual interest between the United States and the Federal Republic of Germany."

It was understood Adenauer would remain for two or three days.

Kennedy reportedly feels the time is opportune for a personal discussion with the West German leader of the problems facing the Western alliance.

Several of the seven judges who sat indicated they were uneasy with the apparent reversal.

Tuttle called several statements by Patterson that Barnett was in full compliance. "I'm not sure," Judge John R. Brown of Houston, Tex., said. "I don't see much escape now from a finding that he has not purged himself."

The court indicated it would not be able to sit indefinitely in the case. It indicated that the case might be turned over to a three-judge panel.

Will Confer on Possible New Crisis Germans to Visit JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the possibility of a new Berlin crisis increasing, both Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder of West Germany are coming to Washington for consultations.

Schroeder arrives tonight. Adenauer is due Nov. 7 for several days of talks with President Kennedy and other U.S. officials.

Plans for Adenauer's visit were announced today by White House press secretary Pierre Salinger in Pittsburgh, where Kennedy was campaigning for Democratic candidates in the November election.

MSU Stadium Crowded for Tilt

EAST LANSING (U)—A record Spartan Stadium crowd is due here today for the 55th annual rivalry of the Michigan-Michigan State football rivalry.

Folding chairs will be set up to accommodate the crush of students and the crowd is expected to top the previous high of 76,520 set in the Ohio State game of 1960.

Couch Duffy Daugherty has kept his team Midean all week and has turned this a make or break game for the Spartans.

Michigan coach Bump Elliott made no unusual preparations.

Michigan is expected to use a quartet of quarterbacks to try and pass against Michigan State, which has shown a weakness in chasing down receivers.

Michigan State is weak on passing but has a powerful set of backs that has racked up 949 yards rushing.

The Wolverines have not won since 1955 although they managed a 12-ell tie in 1958.

Kickoff is at 1:30 p.m. The game will be shown on Midwest television.

Council Delays Poll

VATICAN CITY (AP) — European Cardinals brought the first working session of the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council to an abrupt close today with a swift move to head off what one informant called automatic election to the council's commissions.

The meeting of the 2,700 council fathers in St. Peter's Basilica lasted only an hour, half of it taken up by Mass. The fathers were supposed to have started voting for 100 members of 10 working commissions which will debate the far-ranging issues Pope John XXIII has listed to be studied.

But a communique issued after the meeting said the council fathers, without starting to vote, agreed to a motion to adjourn until Tuesday in order to give council participants a chance to acquire "a better knowledge of the candidates."

The council fathers are cardi-

Can't Find Guns Used in Killings at Ole Miss

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI laboratory tests of scores of weapons have not yet turned up the guns which killed two persons in the University of Mississippi riots, the Justice Department says.

"But more guns are coming in all the time, and the investigation is continuing," a department official said Friday.

The probe is under way in an attempt to track down the killers. Paul Guillard, 30, a French reporter, and Ray Gunter, 23, an electrical equipment repairman from Oxford, Miss.

They were slain on the night of Sept. 30-Oct. 1 during rioting over the admission of James H. Meredith, a Negro, to the previously all-white university.

Intersection Lights Reduce Accidents

The Intersection of Highland and Airport roads in Waterford Township has been cited by the State Highway Department as one of three intersections in the state where modernization of traffic signals has caused a 90 per cent reduction in accidents and injuries.

A study covering a year before and after the signal changes showed total accidents at the three intersections dropped from 29 to 11, injuries from 49 to 14 and deaths from three to none.

Right turn lanes to help prevent rear-end collisions and a second traffic light were added to the Highland-Airport corner. A study had shown the single traffic light often was hidden behind large trucks.

The HWY and M46 intersection west of Saginaw and the M24 and M46 crossing near Mayville were the other two intersections concerned.

Approval of Projects Means Area Progress

Announcement of two projects important to the Pontiac area has been welcomed by many—widening of M59 out to the airport and a six-county study of future sewage and drainage systems.

These two problems have hindered the growth of Oakland County too long, and their correction is overdue.

Highway M59 is the main entrance to the Pontiac area from the west, and its single-lane traffic each way is unbearable at peak volume hours. Sunday nights in the summer, cresting with a flood tide of lake visitors, traffic backs up for miles.

Greater volume than a road is designed for brings the congestion which leads to impatience, a reckless moment and another statistic in the County's highway toll.

The widening plan, as revealed by Pontiac and State Highway Department officials, would extend from the end of the four-lane width at Elizabeth Lake Road out to the Pontiac Airport.

This at least would lick a good share of the problem by extending the wider road into the heart of Waterford Township. From the airport west to U.S. 23 is another needed project, but the traffic volume seems less, further from the highly built-up area of west Pontiac and east Waterford Township.

The other noteworthy project, the survey of future drainage problems, is not a new idea, but it has been bogged down in Wayne County politics, according to Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Besides Oakland and Wayne, the participating units would be Macomb, Washtenaw, St. Clair and Monroe counties.

The study will lead to a master plan for sewer and water development in the six county area and will help individual communities plan their growth in these vital service areas.

Lack of sewer and water facilities has hamstrung development of many areas of the County. The road situation is improving, and access to the areas is being made more swift and pleasant. Now the essential conditions to new residential, business and industrial developments need a lift.

The survey should give a boost to the solution of these problems.

Interested in Learning About U.S. Marshals?

In connection with the Mississippi mess, there have been frequent references to United States marshals—personified by Chief United States Marshal James McShane.

Many citizens have wondered about the status of such officers and their duties.

Knowledge is generally lacking as to whether they are employees of a branch of the nation's armed forces, what type of men are recruited and what are acceptance prerequisites.

The office was established in 1789 and today numbers under 700 deputy and chief deputy marshals. The deputies are, of course, subordinate to the United States marshals.

In the 50 states of the Union, there are 51 judicial districts, each district headed by a United States marshal appointed by the President. Within his district, the marshal selects his deputies. Applicants are mostly military veterans or those with previous law experience.

Marshals are essentially Federal "men-of-all-work," except where violence erupts and police units, short of Army detachments, are required to keep order. Mainly their duties are related to census taking, supervising Federal jails, preserving order in the courts, serving summonses and transporting prisoners.

They were originally responsible to Federal courts, the secretary of the treasury, secretary of the interior and secretary of the Navy. In 1870, with the creation of the Department of Justice, marshals fell under its sole supervision.

Two Showers Each Day Seen as New Milky Way

BY HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Automation has again invaded the ruminate lives of cows. For long, they have been milked by mechanical hands, but motivated by the milk of human kindness.

Tony Cardona of Corona, Calif., now showers his herd of 480 before milking. In batches of 40, the entire job takes but 15 minutes... Holy Tolo! When the MAT showers, it takes him longer than that just to get up later.

Actually, from the showerer's standpoint, it is a do-it-yourself project. Entering the bathroom, she starts tripping a series of Rube Goldberg-like gadgets activating a series of cleaning processes that turn her out fresh as a daisy, relaxed, and ready for the separation of her milk... "Welcome the old advertising slogan—"MILK FROM CONTENTED COWS!"

So much for the serious side. Your columnist can't help wondering whether

(a) The cows, like humans, slug in the shower—maybe "Moo-o-o Miami!"

(b) Taking so many showers wouldn't tend to water the milk.

(Editor's note: Don't you think you've milked this one enough?)

The POWER of FAITH

by WOODY ISHMAEL

The Very Rev. John J. Weaver, dean of St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral in Detroit, is demonstrating to an unusual degree today's ever expanding spirit of cooperation among religious groups.

Early this year Dean Weaver chanced to read, in a Protestant publication, an account of how 21 members of a Catholic missionary order, the Holy Ghost Fathers, were massacred by soldiers at Kongo in the Congo.

He decided to ask his flock for contributions to help train replacements for the priests, and his parishioners have responded generously. The goal of the Ecumenical Charity Fund, as it is termed, is $100,000.

"The inspiration," said Dean Weaver, "came from God. It may take three or four years, but we won't stop. We feel it is worthwhile if it helps in making us all one."

Days of All Faiths:

Penn Had Effect on Religion

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

On Oct. 14, 1644, William Penn was born in London. Penn had an immeasurable effect on the religious life of America.

Everyone knows what he did here. He set up, in 1682, the colony of Pennsylvania (Penn's Woods) where settlers lived in peace with the Indians and all lived under complete religious toleration. The colony became a haven for devout Europeans seeking refuge from the intolerance of their own countries.

It is interesting to see how God combined politics, religion, and a personal family inheritance to produce this man Penn.

First, the political situation. England had for half a century been in a struggle between those who wanted and supported the monarchy and those who wanted a more popular form of government. For twenty odd years the anti-monarchists, under Cromwell, had had the upper hand. Penn came along during this period. Then Charles II and the monarchists returned to power, but the nation remained badly split. Second, as to religion, there were the Roman Catholics, the Anglicans, and the Protestants—each element fighting the other two.

Third, as to personal fortune, here was the young lawyer, William Penn, a member of the gentle Society of Friends, troubled to his heart's depths about all this turmoil, and holding a large financial claim against the king, which he had inherited from his father. The king paid him off by giving him a tremendous tract of land in America.

Put these three elements together and you have the possibility of a big new colony organized on the principle of free government and freedom of religion. And God did put the three together.

HISTORY ROUNDS A CYCLE

History may not repeat itself, but it certainly has a way of resembling itself. For nineteen centuries, from the year 70 to the 1940's, there was no practical reason why the Jews should pray for rain to fall in Palestine.

They themselves were not there; they were scattered all over the face of the globe. And the roving tribes that were there, even if the Jews were generously asking God to send rain for them, were not agricultural people and not much interested in whether it rained or not.

But every year all through those nineteen hundred years the Jews on the eighth day of Sushoth (called Shmini Atzereth, "the eighth day of Solemn Assembly") went on praying that God would send an adequate rainy season on the beloved homeland of their ancestors.

And now the reason has come back. With the nation of Israel once more in existence, firmly planted in its ancient place, and dependent largely on farming, there is every reason for Jews everywhere (and the rest of us, too, for that matter) to pray that God will bless the land and make it fruitful.

This day of prayer for rain started, of course, back in the times when the Jews as well as the Christians (called Shmini Atzereth, "the eighth day of Solemn Assembly") went on praying that God would send an adequate rainy season on the beloved homeland of their ancestors.

And now the reason has come back. With the nation of Israel once more in existence, firmly planted in its ancient place, and dependent largely on farming, there is every reason for Jews everywhere (and the rest of us, too, for that matter) to pray that God will bless the land and make it fruitful.

Former President Harry Truman hit the campaign circuits recently to "help" Democratic candidates running for office. In Idaho he opened his visit by informing one and all that Nevada was the only black spot on the continent and that legalized gambling was "the worst thing in the world." But he did take them "go ahead and do what you damn please."

Democratic candidate for governor, Vernon K. Smith, running on a wide-open gambling platform—became so miffed over Truman's blast that he refused Harry's breakfast invitation.

After a few heated verbal exchanges, Truman pronounced candidate Smith a "damn fool" summer, it could mean famine and disaster. God's help was desperately needed. And so they stayed and prayed on Shmini Atzereth.

And they kept these same prayers all through the years after they had stopped being farmers in Palestine and had become merchants and industrialists in strange countries all over the world.

When Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg gave a farewell party for his Labor Department associates before taking the oath as an Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, he served the good kosher delicacy of bagels and lox.

Probably the latest official cocktail party ever held in Washington was the reception which the Latin American foreign ministers gave in honor of U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk. It was supposed to be a 7:45 p.m. affair. But it didn't get going till 11 p.m.

Reason for the delay was that the foreign ministers couldn't agree on what to say in their official communications after two days of deliberating what to do about Cuba. They didn't finish the drafting job till 11:30. Then they all went to the party.

Comments Continue on Racial Problems

How do we let the government use arms against us in Mississippi? We, the American people, should be allowed to vote on whether Negroes should go to white schools.

Factory Worker

I live near a white funeral home. On the day of services for a man with whom I was acquainted, a taxi took some colored people out who came to pay respect and I thought what a nice gesture it was. The Bible says we will be judged equal.

Another White Reader

It is a mistake to set up standards of our own concerning what we think is right or wrong. Who are we to think our race is superior? Each prejudice invites intolerance. Intolerance breeds hate, contempt, rejection, malice and distrust. It is for God to make laws regarding what is right and wrong. These laws concern all of mankind.

Homer McCarthy

Question Legality of Federal Action

The Chicago Tribune has Gen. Walker's own version in a news story, and an editorial calls his arrest a dangerous precedent. According to his lawyers he is completely sane. Is this a government conspiracy to discredit him? A similar thing happened to a woman in an apparent attempt to "cover up" in the Willie Sol Estes' case. She, too, was placed in a mental ward in a government hospital until cleared by a commission.

I am not a member of the Birch Society but it is apparently conservative who want constitutional government. I deplored Earl Warren's appointment for U.S. Supreme Court Justice as he was a well-known radical, left winger and very unqualified.

The use of Federal troops in Arkansas and Mississippi was unjustified and unconstitutional. Integration is enforced regardless of the wishes of our citizens.

Conservative

at one unnamed commissioner but it will obviously reflect upon all seven. Hence, you would face seven court actions immediately.)

'Road Commission Needs Improving'

It is high time that something was done about the Oakland County Road Commission. Mr. Lomerson talks about serving the people but our road commission is appointed by the supervisors instead of being elected—therefore, becoming a small bureaucracy.

An example is seen in the failure to install a light at Five Points, but they buy thousands of dollars' worth of land to build a eleven-lane. Another example is the case light in front of Miranda Mills where there should be two.

Bataan Drive has two long curves and taxpayers paid to gravel it but it has been scraped only once this summer. Something should be done to make the road commission responsible to the people.

YOUR LOVE

Oh, how wonderful it is knowing of your love for me... And that evermore on earth. At your side I now can be... Knowing that you love me so... Fills my heart with happiness... And it truly makes me feel... In this life I've won success... Nothing that could happen... half so grand... As the love you gave to me... With your tender smile and hand... And I only hope, my dear... That the love we hold today... Longer than the glowing stars... In your heart and mine will stay... Oh, how wonderful it is... That I have your love, my dear... And to know with certainty... You will constantly be near.

Adult recreation programs, sponsored annually by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, will begin next week at locations throughout the city.

All programs run for eight weeks and registration fee is $1 per person for each eight-week program.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday programs are from 7 to 9 p.m., while Thursday classes run from 7:30-9:30 p.m.

At Bethune School on Mondays there will be classes in bridge, sewing and physical conditioning.

On Tuesday evenings at Jefferson Junior High School there will be classes in cake decorating, sewing, physical conditioning and bridge for adults and at Herrington School there will be a men's physical conditioning program with a women's sewing class.

WEDNESDAY PLANS

Wednesday evenings at LeBaron Elementary School the adults will have an opportunity to participate in a cake decorating program, sewing and flower arranging.

Thursday at Emerson Elementary School the department is offering cake decorating, sewing, and flower arranging. In addition to this program at Emerson, they are adding a new program this year for women called "Swedish Gymnastics."

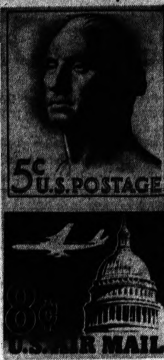

Swedish Gymnastics are body movements performed to music or rhythmic beat which are much more flowing, feminine, graceful and have a more aesthetic beauty and appeal than the usual warm up exercises. The Swedish gym program helps all-around coordination, balance, poise, gracefulness, flexibility and physical fitness for women.

Interested adults may participate in any of the programs by registering at the first or second class meeting. Participants must purchase any equipment to be used.

In addition to the above activities, the department has been conducting a Wednesday adult recreation program at the Lakeside Homes Community Center (Building from 7 to 10 p.m.). As part of this program, a regular social nite activity with sewing, table tennis, bridge and other general activities of interest to adults will be offered.

Future programs are being planned for the adults at the Alcott and Mark Twain community schools.

IRS Center
Decision Is Delayed

PORT HURON (AP) — Officials of the Port Huron Industrial Development Corporation said yesterday they had been told the selection of a Midwest data processing center by the Internal Revenue Service was delayed because of the necessity in selecting the most suitable site in Detroit.

The competition for the new center has been narrowed down to Detroit and Port Huron.

IDC officials said they received a letter from Mortimer Caplan, director of the IRS, that stated IRS officials had to select the most suitable Detroit site in order to make a legitimate comparison.

Caplan said the General Services Administration in Detroit was checking sites for the plant. The GSA was called in to assist IRS in developing criteria needed for a decision.

SEE ANSWER SOON

The decision was hoped to be announced within the next few weeks, Caplan said.

His letter was in answer to a letter sent by the IDC to President Kennedy and IRS officials asked if a decision would be forthcoming in the near future.

Caplan said in his reply that "some factors outweigh the building in which the data processing center would be located."

St. Clair County voters approved in the August primary a bond proposal that would allow construction of a $2.2 million building for the center. Local officials have offered to lease the building to the IRS for $1 a year.

Caplan said the decision would be made as soon as all the facts were available.

Bus Hassle
Will Be Aired*Service Discontinued to 20 in Waterford

A dispute over school bus policy in Waterford Township erupted this week when bus service to 20 Pierce Junior High School students was discontinued. The situation will be aired before the Board of Education Thursday.

George Brown, 4482 Lucile St., Waterford Township, spokesman for the parents of the children, said the disagreement involves both a distance and safety factor.

Brown contends that the youngsters all live "just on the borderline" of the mile and a half limitation for bus service.

NO SIDEWALKS

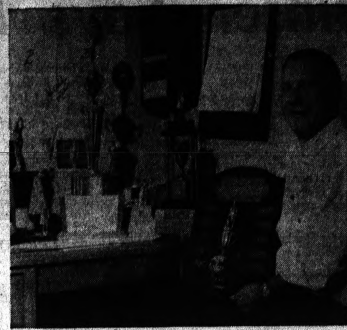

He further argued that children who must walk to school from the area in Drayton Plains face a traffic hazard as there are no sidewalks along Fremont Street.

Acting Superintendent of Schools James DenHerder said the decision to take the children off Bus No. 54 was made because of an overcrowded situation.

The bus has a 60-passenger capacity and between 85 and 90 children had been riding it, he pointed out.

DenHerder said board of education policy permits children living within a mile and a half of the school to ride buses providing the bus is not overloaded.

Swainson Says Time's Biggest Obstacle

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. John B. Swainson had just finished a 20-minute conference with Ira Polley, controller of the state department of administration.

Before that there had been a news conference and earlier in the day he had been in Charlotte at the ground-breaking ceremonies of a new factory.

Dinner was waiting for him in Ann Arbor and later there was a reply he had to attend in Howell.

Now a reporter from a wire service was seated in the governor's office waiting to fire questions for a private interview, while outside another reporter from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch waited his turn.

TIME'S PROBLEM

And when the question, what's the major difficulty of campaigning as an incumbent, was stated, Swainson's nutshell answer was, "time."

Swainson, who had just hurriedly shuffled through a pile of papers and scrawled his approval on several, said, "time — time to do things that should be done; time to respond to the invitations so graciously extended; time to be a candidate and be governor — that's the main problem."

"I've got a dual function — I'm not only governor but also a candidate for governor," said the 37-year-old chief executive who is locked with Republican George Romney in one of the most heated gubernatorial battles ever fought in Michigan.

"As governor there are jobs that must continue to be performed. The administrative board meets here every other week, and then there are ad board committee meetings at other times," he said.

"All this," said Swainson, "has to be preceded by detail work — lots of it. Some of it I do but a lot of it I take with me on the road — I've always got a 'hot' briefcase in the campaign bus."

IT'S NOT EASY

For Swainson, who lost his legs in combat in World War II, the job of campaigning, which frequently begins at 5 a.m. and runs into the late evening hours, is not an easy one.

Although the governor doesn't talk about his handicap a great deal his aides concede the long hours of standing and walking cause Swainson pain. But he does not admit the campaign is damaging to his health. "My physical condition is excellent," he said flatly.

Thus far, as in his previous election battles for state senate, lieutenant governor and governor, Democrats have made relatively little use of Swainson's status as a disabled veteran.

Swainson himself said this week, "It's well known I am a veteran of World War II; that I was severely disabled; and that I have been active in veteran activities. But there's no reason I has to be brought up every place I go."

Still there are indications that some in the party, realizing the current gubernatorial race may be one of the closest since G. Mennen Williams defeated Harry F. Kelly by 1,154 votes in 1950. Want to capitalize in the closing weeks of the campaign on Swainson's war record.

POSSIBLE TREND

An example of the possible trend was seen in Flint last week when Otis M. Smith, former auditor general whom Swainson appointed to the State Supreme Court bench this year, spent nearly five minutes introducing the governor, who was to in turn present President Kennedy.

Much of Smith's oration dealt with Swainson's war record. And this week in Detroit a "committee of 1,000 for Swainson" was formed.

In literature handed out with membership applications the committee asked:

"Can we stand by and permit Gov. Swainson to suffer because he has a physical handicap, especially when we consider he lost his legs in the service of his country."

Swainson, while admitting he appreciated the support of the group, said, "I certainly did not authorize that," in referring to the statement the committee issued.

Field Crop Output in State to Drop

LANSING (UPI) — Total output of 17 major field crops in Michigan is expected to be about 9.8 million tons, the federal-state crop reporting service said yesterday.

Investigating officials found they like to eat at Tony's Cafe, where a plate of eggs, chips and tomatoes sells for 3 shillings—42 cents.

"I'd rather get stuck in any traffic jam than miss a good fry-up at Tony's," said John Welsh. "Most of the lads think the same."

The authorities have persuaded Tony to move his cafe to a site on the highway.

This is 10 per cent below last year, but 3 per cent above the 10-year average.

The production of grain for corn is estimated at 90.1 million bushels, down 12 per cent from last year's record high. The soybean yield is estimated at 7.9 million bushels, up 7 per cent from last year. The sugar beet crop is expected to hit one million tons, 10 per cent down from a year ago.

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to stand guard for freedom in 1962

Some men of Concord in old Massachusetts once got themselves called "Minute Men" because it took them just 60 seconds to come to the defense of freedom, day or night.

In the years since, the Minute Man has become a symbol of our determination to stay strong and to stay free. Other symbols of that determination are U.S. Savings Bonds.

When you buy a Bond today you do more than invest money for your own future. You also show your own personal determination to keep America strong and free right now—because the same dollars you save for tomorrow help the government defend freedom today.

That's why buying U.S. Savings Bonds is a way to be a "Minute Man" in 1962. And Bonds work for you and your country around the clock.

Why not join the ranks of America's modern Minute Men? All it takes is $18.75 and a visit to the Bond window at the bank.

Keep freedom in your future with
U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

Antia, Douglas and Teri. Mr. Riddering, former supervisor of Turner Dodge School in Merido, Mexico, comes to First Presbyterian Church as director of Christian Education.

Christian Education Director Arrives

Coming to First Presbyterian Church as director of Christian education is Albert A. Riddering, former supervisor of Turner Dodge School in Merido, Mexico.

A graduate of Michigan State Normal College, he did graduate work at the University of Michigan. From 1948-1961 he was a teacher in Holly, then served in Panama for five years stationed with the U.S. Army.

After completing his army service he returned to Panama to become principal of the Institute Pan American. There he met and married Charice Lane, also a contract teacher at the institute.

The Ridderings returned to the United States where for the next two years he served as principal of the high school in Brighton. In 1959 they were appointed by the Board of Missions of the Presbyterian Church U.S.A. to serve in Merido.

"Learn What Mercy Means" will be the topic of Rev. Galen E. Hershey's sermon for both services in First Presbyterian tomorrow.

During the worship infants and children will be presented for the Sacrament of Christian Baptism. The Youth Choir directed by Mrs. Charles Buck will sing "Hallelujah, Amen" by Bortniansky and "Give Me This Day" by Peery. Lyndon Salathiel will direct the Chancel Choir in the anthem, "In the Night Christ Came Walking" by Noble Cain.

St. Luke Methodist Services in Church

Although the building of St. Luke Methodist Church has been sold to the Malta Temple Association, the congregation continues to lease the property for Sunday morning use.

A program scaled to meet the needs of the congregation has been inaugurated by the official board and the educational leadership of the church.

Morning worship is now being held at 10 a.m.

A special children's service, led by capable adults is held at the same time in another section of the building.

This provides children in the lower grades with a program geared specifically to their interests.

Nursery service is also provided during this hour.

At 11:15 a.m. classes of all ages meet for the church school. A program of leadership training is being promoted.

As a result the entire staff of teachers are enrolled in courses now being taught at the First Methodist Church in Pontiac.

Jews Celebrate Sukkot Feast

Jewish people throughout the world are celebrating the Feast of Sukkot for seven days. It started at sunset Friday.

During this period the Bible enjoins the Jewish people to dwell in booths, as did their forefathers on the journey from Egypt to the promised land.

In addition to commemorating this historical event, this observance acknowledges the autumn Harvest Thanksgiving.

Thus the Sukkah (booth) is decorated with fruits and vegetables, symbols of field and orchard.

In the synagogue service a festive bouquet combining the plants of four different species is carried in procession.

Service at Temple Beth Jacob was conducted last night with Rabbi Ernst J. Conrad presiding a sermon on "Insecurity As a Virtue."

Students of the Religious School will bring bags of goodies to the temple for distribution to needy children in the community.

Church Honors Organist

Elda Sutter, organist and minister of music at Bethany Baptist Church for more than a quarter of a century, was honored with a reception and program at Bethany Church Friday evening, Sept. 21. Robert Martin of the Senior Choir directed the program which took the form of a "This Is Your Bethany Life." Former choir members and pupils provided a variety of musical selections. Former pastors with whom Miss Sutter served were heard via recording. These included Dr. Fred R. Tiffany, Dr. Joseph I. Chapman and Rev. Percy M. Walley.

READ TESTIMONIAL
Ivan M. Long, church moderator and choir member, read an official testimonial letter from the church.

Sharing in the festivities were Dr. Emil Kontz, her pastor, and Rev. Chalmers Mastin, minister of education.

Following the program a reception was held in the lower auditorium.

Miss Sutter came to the church in March 1933 when members met in the initial educational unit on Mark Street. Since that time she has served in the capacity of church organist and choir director.

"Across the years Miss Sutter displayed not only her gifted musical skill but also a gracious and winsome spirit, winning many friends among young and old alike," Dr. Kontz said.

"In addition to her church duties, she is a teacher in piano, voice and organ with a large number of pupils of varied ages. She has been active in musical circles of Pontiac serving as an officer of many groups," said Dr. Kontz.

Representing the Tuesday Musicales Friday evening were Mrs. Everett C. Russell; Mrs. Carl Clifford was present for the Pontiac Music Guild; and Mrs. W. Henry Sink, the Organ Guild.

TO ESTABLISH FUND

One of the special ways in which the church will pay tribute to their beloved organist is the establishing of the "Elda Sutter Music Scholarship Loan Fund."

The fund will be used to aid promising young people seeking training in music for Christian service. While this scholarship is being promoted within the church, interested friends of the community are welcome to participate, the pastor said.

Among those arranging the affair were Mrs. William Mansie, general chairman; Mrs. Robert Sickels, program; Mrs. Turris McCulley, decorations; and Mrs. Omer Lewis, refreshments.

Others participating were Robert Martin, Mrs. Martin Wolfe, Maynard Johnson, Mrs. Walter Willson, Mrs. George Zannoth, Mrs. Forrest Brown and Mrs. Clifford Starkweather.

who reported the children's misbehavior to father at the end of the day so that he could do the punishing.

My mother did that, and half the time we didn't know what we were being punished for. We grew to fear our father, and instead of running to get him, we'd hide.

Then father passed away when we were in our teens. Our mother had no control over us because she had no one to do the disciplining for her. All she could say was, "If your father were only alive!"

She was fortunate because we never got into any real trouble. So, I want to agree with you, Abby. Tell parents again that disciplining children is a joint effort, and should take place the moment a child needs it and not "when daddy comes home."

Club Gathers for Masquerade
Mrs. John Irwin of Clifford Street opened her home Wednesday evening for the Neb's Social Club's annual masquerade party.

The Nov. 14 meeting will be in the Vernon Drive home of Mrs. John Sallisky with Mrs. Donald Menard as hostess.

Not Rude to Keep Aisle Seat

Q: At a wedding, is it rude for one who has arrived at the church early and is given an aisle seat not to move in for others who arrive later?

A: At a recent wedding, I kept the aisle seat and made later arrivals pass in front of me to take the other seats.

They seemed very annoyed at this and one of them even remarked that I was very rude. Was I?

A: The aisle seat at a wedding is the most desirable one and if a guest arrives early in order to get this seat, she has every right to keep it. To expect anyone to give up this seat would be very unfair.

Q: I have been asked to be a bridesmaid at a friend's wedding. There will be three other bridesmaids beside myself and a maid of honor.

The bride's aunt, who is an excellent seamstress, is going to make our dresses. The bride has selected the pattern and also the material for the dresses.

Who is supposed to pay for the material—the bride or the attendants?

A: The attendants should pay for the material just as they would ordinarily pay the whole cost of the dresses if they were bought in a store.

Q: Would it be proper to have our house telephone listed in my wife's name instead of my name as she uses it almost exclusively?

Friends tell me that it would be wrong to do this and will imply that she is either a widow or that she is head of the house and paying the bills. I would very much like to have your opinion on this matter.

A: It should be listed in your name unless you have another telephone, presumably that of your office in your name which could properly be followed by the listing of your home telephone in the name of your wife as Mrs. John Smith.

Who pays for what at the wedding? The new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Wedding Expenses," answers this question in detail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin, and in self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press. The Emily Post Institute is sorry it cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Hannah Watt and Roderick Lovell, British husband and wife acting team, will appear Wednesday morning, at the Huron Theater in "The Kreutzer Sonata." Their adaptation of Tolstoy's famous story with a musical background of Beethoven's music by the same name, is the first presentation of the Pontiac Oakland Town Hall 1962-63 series.

Town Hall Program Set

Pontiac area women will be entertained Wednesday morning at the first of the 1962-63 Town Hall programs by a famed British husband and wife team, Roderick Lovell and Hannah Watt. The program will be presented at the Huron Theater.

The Pontiac Oakland Town Hall series, now in its fourth season, is presenting a different program for its first offering.

Tolstoy's "Kreutzer Sonata" was adapted by the actors themselves after a research visit to Russia in 1960. Inspired by Beethoven's music of the same name, the "Kreutzer Sonata" is the story of the gradual deterioration of a marriage.

The music is used to build an emotional background. The two-actor play has been performed in London, Dublin, New York, Paris, Rome and Athens, each time receiving enthusiastic notices. Following the 10:30 a.m. production, Town Hall members may attend a celebrity luncheon at Kingsley Inn.

Mrs. Clyde Dearing, Ottawa Drive, is taking reservations. Tickets for the Town Hall series are still available and may be obtained from Mrs. B. B. Roush, West Ingham Road.

No Women Will Attend at Vatican

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—It is a man's world behind the bronze doors of St. Peter's.

No women's voices — not even those of the mother superior or nuns — will be heard in the Ecumenical Council.

Although the council's deliberations will cover topics ranging from marriage and ecumenism to Christian unity and women, no woman is eligible to take part in the historic church assembly.

The Vatican is a solid bastion of masculinity and is apparently determined to stay that way.

"Equal but different" is the way experts sum up the Roman Catholic Church's attitude towards the feminine half of the world.

The council is a uniquely male stronghold in an era when women are taking a larger part in making the world's decisions.

No woman can be a delegate to the Ecumenical Council since a woman cannot become a Roman Catholic priest. Canon law limits the priesthood to baptized males.

Nuns are not eligible to participate in councils, according to canon law.

In theory, some of the non-Catholic churches sending observers to the council might have appointed a woman representative. But none did.

In the Vatican they quote St. Paul:

"Let women keep silence in the churches for it is not permitted them to speak, but let them be submissive as the law also says."

If they wish to learn anything let them ask their husbands at home, for it is unseemly for a woman to speak in church."

Pope John XXIII said last year that men and women were equal but that failure to distinguish "between their respective functions" would result in debating womanhood and destroying the true foundation of her dignity.

Ten Rules for Parents

An author and psychologist, Dr. R. F. Hertz, recently asked children in 24 countries to make a list of rules of behavior for parents. The 10 rules most often quoted were:

Do not quarrel in front of your children; treat all of your children with equal affection; never lie to a child; have a mutual tolerance between parents; have comradeship between parents and children; treat your children's friends as welcome visitors in the house; always answer your children's questions; don't blame or punish your child in front of other children; concentrate on your child's good points and don't overemphasize his failures; be constant in your affections and moods.

Institute Gets Jackie's Gown

Mrs. Kennedy's Inaugural Ball gown will be placed in the historic First Lady's hall at the Smithsonian Institute in late November.

Like those of her predecessors, Mrs. Kennedy's gorgeous white ball gown with beaded filmy overblouse will be displayed on a manikin.

The manikin's face is that of King Lear's daughter, Cordelia, but the hair-do will be the same as Mrs. Kennedy's on the night of the Inaugural Ball, Jan. 20, 1961.

There are 11 other ball gowns in the First Lady collection. Eventually the entire First Lady collection will be moved into an elaborate hall in the new Smithsonian Institution building, expected to be completed by the spring of 1964. The gowns will be arranged in encasements in a replica of the White House East Room.

1st Sunday School in 1780

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case N-44: Robert Raikes was a British newspaper publisher back in the year 1780. In those days there were no free public schools, so most of the children of England (and their parents too) could neither read nor write.

And the children were forced to work 10 to 12 hours per day, six days per week. Some were sent down chimneys to sweep out the heavy soot from the inferior brick coal that was used. These often developed cancers from the soot.

Others crawled on hands and knees in the coal mines to help their poor parents eke out a meager living.

But the Biblical rule about visiting on the Sabbath gave the children a break.

So on a Sunday morning, when Robert Raikes walked down to the city square, he saw a crowd of ragged urchins playing games. Mr. Raikes surveyed them critically; then stopped their game and asked them if they

APPLE SLUMP

By Mrs. Ethel Pettibone

½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups flour

2 cups milk
1 cup butter or margarine
4 cups sliced apples.

Mix together sugar, salt and flour and gradually stir in milk until a smooth batter is formed. Into a shallow pan pour half the melted butter or margarine, allowing it to spread over the entire bottom and sides of pan.

Add the remaining butter or margarine and apple to batter. Mix well and pour into greased pan not more than ¾ inch deep.

Bake in 300-degree oven 30-40 minutes until nicely browned. Serve warm. Serves 4-6.

Q. "Whenever my sister and I go to a party, my father takes us to a good show, all he says is, 'Huh, who would take you any place?' Please print this because I would like to have all teen-agers see this."

A. I get a clairvoyant picture of Dad peering out from behind a newspaper when he says that. This is good practice for you.

Learn WHEN to ask a man to do something — not when he is reading the paper or when he has just arrived home or is hurrying to leave in the morning — or when he is tired — or when you know the chances are slim anyway because it is a school night.

Catch him in a relaxed mood. Actually, you are probably taking him too seriously. He sounds like he is teasing to me, AND getting away with it.

Q. "I am as flat busted as my wallet. Due to an accident I cannot do exercises. Is there any way I can increase the size of my bustline?"

A. I hope that both you and your wallet will just naturally grow fatter. A gain in weight is the only other way I know. Remember, though, that good posture and brazenness which lift can make your bust appear larger.

Q. "I am 5 feet, 6 inches tall, 14 years old, and weigh 120 pounds.

I know I am horribly fat and am braced for the bad news. How much do I need to lose?"

A. You are very little/overweight if any. You surely should not lose more than 4 or 5 pounds. Just watch that you do not become fat.

Q. "What do you think of the liquid formulas which give one 300 calories a day?"

CAN EAT FOOD

A. I think they are all right to use for short periods (a few days) or for one meal a day. However, they become very boring to most women. You can eat quite well with regular foods and stay as low as 300 calories a day.

Q. "Is there danger of a heart attack if one leads a lot of weight?"

A. To the contrary, most physicians want their heart patients to lose weight and those who are overweight are much more likely to have a heart attack than those who are of normal weight. There is no danger in reducing if you follow a scientific diet and reduce gradually.

UAW Local Chief to Back Romney

DETROIT (U)—The president of a United Auto Workers Detroit-area local yesterday he will back Republican George Romney's campaign for the Michigan governorship.

Warren Creemore, president of UAW Local 200 at Continental Motors Corp., was believed to be the first UAW local president to announce his support for Romney. The United Auto Workers Union has endorsed Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson.

Creemore, in announcing his shift to Romney, said he "anticipated strong reaction" from top UAW officials.

He said he was prepared "to take the consequences" of working against Swainson.

"If I am defeated for any further office in the union because of this, then so be it," Creemore said.

"But I think other local leaders will follow suit," he added, "I hope so."

DEFENDS STAND
Creemore said he is something I can do to make the union more Democratic and improve our economy through better leadership, then let them fire me," Creemore said.

The local official said his decision, in part, to back Romney was based on the union's circulation of two handbills which put him strongly on Swainson's side. Creemore said the handbills were circulated without his authorization.

The handbills, he said, were circulated by the union's Committee on Political Education (COPE).

One said all 500 members of his local were Democrats and were supporting Swainson.

Creemore said the second stated that Romney would support legislation to bar unemployment compensation for employees laid off by a strike in a supplier plant. The second also carried his name, Creemore said.

"I don't believe that the UAW international officers have any right to tell a member how to vote," he said, "People should have a right to think and vote for themselves."

Creemore said he has conferred with Romney several times.

"I was satisfied that his position would be good for labor," Creemore said.

The local official said he estimated 40 to 45 per cent of his members would vote for Romney.

Creemore's endorsement of Romney followed a breakthrough in the GOP candidate's efforts to speak to UAW local meetings.

Romney said yesterday he believed he has cracked what he calls "a political curtain" barring him from some union halls. The GOP candidate said that as of yesterday he has invitations to address four UAW local meetings. However, Gus Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO has denied there is any political curtain.

"It is sheer nonsense when anybody says that union leaders dictate who shall or shall not speak at union meetings."

Titan 2 Missile Succeeds Again

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (U)—A powerful Titan 2 missile scored its fourth success in six test flights yesterday on a 5,000-mile trip down the Atlantic tracking range.

The two-stage weapon, with total thrust of 530,000 pounds, plunked its nose cone in a target area near Ascension Island in the south Atlantic after a flight of less than 30 minutes. The Air Force reported all test goals were achieved.

When operational, Titan 2 will be capable of delivering nuclear warheads more than halfway around the world. The rocket also has been tapped as the booster for the two-man Gemini space capsule and for the Air Force's manned X-30 space glider.

Scholarships to Be Given by Hupp Corp.

ALLEDALE (U)—Hupp Corp. has established a program offering Grand Valley State College full scholarships to children of employees at its Gibson Refrigerator Division in Greenville.

Announced yesterday, the four-year grants provide $20 for tuition and fees each academic year plus $50 a year for book purchases.

The program starts with the enrollment of GVSC's first freshman class next September. One scholarship winner will be selected each succeeding year with each scholarship renewable for the full four years. John O. Ekblom, Hupp board chairman whose name the scholarships bear, commented:

"The future of industry, of free enterprise and of the country itself is in direct ratio to the ability of our children to learn and advance those principles which have made this such a great nation. We at Hupp . . . and Gibson . . . are happy to be a part of the community's new higher education program . . ."

The college is being located near the Ottawa-Kent County line and is designed to serve commuter students from a surrounding 8-county region.

Sheriff Hits Refusal

Two Area Families Enjoy Gadgets

SOME GADGET — Robert Howland is shown at the console of the mighty theater pipe organ that he played 33 years ago at the opening night of Flint's Michigan Theater. He and his pipe-organ minded friends dismantled, repaired, replaced and hauled the parts from the now-defunct theater, and Howland had his house designed and built to fit the enormous "gadget."

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Gadgets! That's what today's story of two area homes are chock full of. One, for more stream-lined living and the other — for the sheer joy of it.

When showman Robert Howland sat down at the mighty four-manual pipe organ at the opening night of the Michigan Theater in Flint 33 years ago, he never dreamed that someday this "gadget" would be his.

Nor did he for one minute have any idea that he would design and build a big house especially for that pipe organ. However, that's exactly what has happened.

After pipe organs went out, so did Howland's theater-playing days. He now heads the Romeo branch of Community National Bank and lives with his mother and sister in his unique house at 440 Morton Ave., Romeo.

One day Howland and a pipe organ-owner friend Roger Munbrue went back to take a look at the old organ in Flint's now deserted theater. What a sorry sight the two found. The roof had caved in and water had thoroughly soaked the once-majestic instrument. The paint was gone off the console, leather and wood were rotted and pipes rusted.

However, Howland was convinced it could be restored, paid $1,000 to the owner and then began the long, hard job of bringing the old Page organ to life. An engineer friend measured every single part and recorded it to scale, then helped design the house around the organ.

A special room 12 feet down below the lower level of the bi-level house was incorporated into the plan. Howland wanted the 1,200 metal pipes to stand vertically. Most pipe organ enthusiasts install them horizontally for lack of space.

After the 17 by 32 foot room was finished it took two big lumber truck loads and innumerable station wagon trips to transport the 16 chests, 12 reservoirs and huge pipes from the theater. Everything was dismantled and hauled to Romeo by the banker's friends with the exception of the 3,000 pound console. Professional movers had this job.

Foam rubber padding between the steeple and a special door opening in the organ-mechanics room completely controls the "noise." Even the big 10-horse power motor is only a soft hum out in the ground level room where the organ is located. A special thermostat keeps the temperature at an even 70 degrees in summer and winter.

Today, Howland relaxes by setting off screaming sirens, sleighbells, tamborines, base and snare drums, or by simply playing beautiful music with a whole orchestra-full keyboard. He can make that enormous gadget roar like a lion or whisper like a lamb at the slightest touch of a fingertip. Some gadget!

Over on the other side of the county, the Bud Wheelers are slowly coming to a halt in their long haul to build a house that is "different."

This house at 3229 Adele Terrace in Commerce Township is jam packed with unusual gadgets, from the vertical pull-out spice cabinet in the kitchen to the drop down scales in the bathroom. Snap — open cabinets, (Continued on Page 16, Col. 3)

COOKING'S FUN — Especially in a gadget-controlled kitchen such as Mrs. Wheeler's. Adjustable lucite shelves, bright copper stove unit and accessories blend harmoniously with the wood walls hand-finished by Mrs. Wheeler. The other end of the kitchen wall is papered and wainscoted. A maple dining set completes the picture.

NEAT, NOT GAUDY — Thick nylon carpeting with a pinkish tone fills Howland's living room. Everything is spacious in his Romeo home where he lives with his mother and sister.

Lamps, printed chairs and sofa and tables are all man-sized. However, the genial bank manager has a private apartment downstairs — close to his beloved theater pipe organ.

UNCLUTTERED — That describes the Wheelers' house from attic to basement. One entire wall is a picture window in this living room, facing Lower Straits Lake. The yard has two huge weeping willow trees making it a real picture. The Wheelers have mixed Early American with modern decor with artistic success.

HOUSE PIPE ORGAN — One of the problems of getting a huge pipe organ into a house was solved by Howland. He had special take-out windows installed, and the big 3,000-pound console was moved right in on the ground floor. At this time of year Howland's back yard and hillside rock garden are ablaze with color.

NEAT DEN — A dark red print cafe curtain is set off by a big brass rod over the room-length cupboard-desk in the Wheelers' den. Wheeler designed and built all of the cupboards which have automatic lights. The inter-com equipment is built into this room, and music is heard in every room both upstairs and down.

GADGETEER — Flipping down the scales in his stream-lined bathroom is nothing new to Bud Wheeler of Commerce Township. His house is full of different ideas in homebuilding as this has been his hobby for the last ten years. Mrs. Wheeler has helped by hand-finishing all the woodwork in the kitchen cupboards and walls.

drawers and doors startle visitors and every inch of space in the comfortable hi-level house is utilized.

Almost all of the work was done by Wheeler, who is superintendent of buildings and grounds at the Detroit Army Arsenal. "I wanted certain things that would have been too expensive to have built in—so there was only one thing to do. Do it myself," he said.

In case of an atomic attack, the Wheelers can simply go down to the first level under the garage and relax. Twelve inches of solid concrete overhead are supported by double cement blocks in the spacious room. At the present time it is used as a second kitchen with an adjoining lavatory for party-time guests.

Music is everywhere. An intricate inter-com system plays hi-fidelity music in every room in the house and on the side patio. Snap a button and you talk into each unit. Let go, and you hear what is being answered. Wheeler learned a trick for getting rid of excess smoke in the recreation room, from the Koreans when he was in World War II. He installed three feet under the cement floor was tapped into the furnace then connected to the cold air returns. The blower sucks the smoke out on up through the flue.

In the laundry room, soiled clothing from upstairs shoots into a basket attached to a big undercabinet door which swings out within arm's reach of the automatic washer and dryer area. Over these two units there is an 8-foot neon light covered with an ordinary easelport turned upside down for a no-glare effect.

The glare from long neon lights in the bathroom and over the vanity area, is softened by a roof of frosted glass. Tissue dispensers are flush with the walls and snap open for quick use. A light overhead is also a heater that blows hot or cold air.

Every closet, cupboard and pullout shelves have an automatic light. All the under cabinet kitchen shelves pull out for easier access. Consequently there is no clutter. In one little section for dishwashers, there is a warm air vent on the floor for faster drying. This area also serves as a warming oven for dinner plates.

Magnetic catches grab the cupboard doors and all the drawers roll in and out on ball bearings. The dish cupboards have see-through lucite adjustable shelves thereby eliminating the need for shelf paper.

All this and more, too, has been completed by the energetic in 55-year-old Wheeler. Future plans include an automatic garage door opener, a ceiling-hidden closet for a movie screen that will open at the touch of a button and a motor-driven drape puller for the living room picture window.

Wheeler claims that he is slowing down somewhat. But nearby neighbors watching him build a 100-foot concrete breakwater in front of his lake home don't seem to think so.

Function of Garage Growing

American home owners want bigger garages in their next homes, and many of those with car ports desire some kind of a garage in their future building plans.

In addition, these new garages are expected to be multifunctional: to serve as car shelters, storage space, and "convertible" rooms.

These are some of the facts revealed in a survey of more than 1,000 homeowners in 11 major cities: Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Denver, Detroit, Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Rochester (N.Y.), St. Louis and Seattle.

NEWER HOMES INVOLVED
The survey was made by the U.S. Interviewing Corp.

Families interviewed owned homes less than three years old, in the 14,000 to 18,000 class, and the size of the average family was four—two adults and two children.

Home owners with car ports were asked their garage preferences for the future. Almost half said they wanted a garage of some kind and about one-third of the total expressed a desire for a double garage.

Some of these car port owners said they wanted a single car garage, and a few wanted an oversize garage.

A question that brought a great deal of discussion was: "Do you think your family would like a double garage that could be converted into a summer patio area by use of upward-acting doors, both front and rear, or front and side? Or don't you think you'd like such a garage?"

Interest in this "Convertible Garage" idea was expressed by more than 50 per cent of those interviewed.

When asked how much such a convertible room would be worth to them, about 20 per cent said they thought about $500, while a few thought it would be worth even more.

Necessary to Vent Attic

In 1½-story homes, where insulation is placed in the attic floor, adequate venting louvers are necessary to prevent a build-up of stagnant hot air, reports the October issue of The American Home Magazine. There should be one square foot of venting area for each 300 square feet of floor area, and louvers must be screened.

By noting variations between predicted low and the actual low temperature, an amateur can arrive at a correction factor that permits forecasting weather for his own backyard.

Solves Housing Problem

To stay put and remodel, or to move to a larger home?

That problem is faced by a growing number of home owners whose ranks are being increased by new additions to the family.

Singer Dennis Day and his wife Peggy who have eight children, decided to stay put in their four-bedroom house, reports Jim Liston in the October issue of The American Home Magazine.

To get the room they needed, they demolished a one-story wing between the house and garage and replaced it with a two-story addition which gave them a larger kitchen and laundry, three new bedrooms, a playroom and two additional baths.

Of great importance to Mrs. Day, is a new 16-by-30-foot kitchen which contains a 14-foot island counter, two dishwashers, a three-bowl sink, double built-in ovens, two refrigerators and two freezers.

The kitchen was designed to prepare meals for 10 and twice that many on weekends.

Russ to Extend Maneuvers in Siberia a Month

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians announced yesterday they are extending for another month military maneuvers in Siberia that have coincided with nuclear testing in the same region.

Foreign ships and planes were warned to steer clear of the Barents and Kara seas with the warning: The area "will remain dangerous . . . until Nov. 10."

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia and the official Army organ Krasnaya Svetsda (Red Star) jointly printed the announcement but made no direct mention that further nuclear explosions were planned.

The announcement spoke only of a "joint exercise of the Soviet northern fleet, rocket troops and the air force."

THE MAN...

"One wonders why a 73 year old man, incarcerated since 1909 for two murders, of which time more than 43 years were spent in solitary confinement, has not been paroled by federal authorities, including the Attorney General?"
—A. H. WELER, NEW YORK TIMES

"I'm no bleeding heart where men and women who have been convicted of crimes are concerned, but the story of Robert Stroud seems to be a blot on an otherwise humane nation!"
—HAZEL FLYNN, THE LOS ANGELES CITIZEN NEWS

"Such is the appeal of the picture that one leaves it strongly inclined to question the justice of the authorities who continue to keep this aged genius in prison...American justice can be severely questioned in the Robert Stroud case!"
—ARCHER WINSTEN, NEW YORK POST

"Lancaster's Stroud is neither a model human nor a model prisoner. He is self-righteous about his murderous past, without regret for his crimes. In many ways he invites the solitary confinement in which he spent more than four decades."
—JAY CARMOODY, WASHINGTON EVENING STAR

THE MOTION PICTURE...

"A powerful portrait...stirs the emotions and remains in memory! Stark drama...both moving and persuasive! Lancaster contributes an outstanding performance that makes it one of his best!"

—JOHN SCOTT, LOS ANGELES TIMES

Junior Editors Quiz on - SEA SERPENTS

QUESTION: Do sea serpents still exist?

ANSWER: Question: did they ever exist? In prehistoric days, there were huge, savage sea monsters and we show two of them. But these had paddlelike legs and were lizards rather than "serpents." It was in the brave old days of discovery that the sea serpent idea came into glory.

Map makers drew purely imaginary monsters, like the one we show, to give the idea of the danger of unknown seas. Of course, many reported having seen sea serpents, and the reports still come in. But it always turns out there is some explanation, such as in (3).

There are many strange sea animals, such as the giant squid, which could pass for sea serpents under certain conditions. But, although no true sea serpents of large size have been proved to exist, there are true serpents in the sea: the sea snakes (4).

Sea snakes eat fish and are very poisonous. Most live in Eastern waters, but one species is found off the west coast of Mexico and South America.

Still, these are not what we are after, being small, about three feet long. Let's face it, the huge sea serpents of the map makers do not seem to have existed at all.

FOR YOU TO DO: The great thing about a sea serpent is that he's so much fun to draw. To make him really good, you must use all the imagination you have. What could you add to our sea serpent - pair of dragon wings? Why not? Our artist says it would be a fine idea.

Mail your question on a post card to Junior Editors in care of The Pontiac Press.

Weekly Income Nears Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—September brought longer hours of work, record overtime, and near-record weekly earnings in the nation's factories, the Labor Department reported yesterday.

Those figures showed the unemployment rate still at 5.8 per cent, despite a drop of 400,000 in the number of job-hunters.

Today's analysis showed a rise of two-tenths of an hour in the factory work week to 40.6 hours. The work week has been edging downward since April, and normally shows little if any change in September.

This improvement was matched by a gain in hours worked at overtime pay. Factory workers averaged three hours of overtime last month, equal to the best rate since 1956.

The average weekly earnings rose by $1.28 from August to $97.03, only 24 cents below the all-time high of last June. Weekly pay averaged about 4.5 per cent higher than a year ago.

Niles Extends UF Drive

NILES (H) — This community's United Fund drive is being extended to Oct. 16 in an effort to reach or exceed the $125,000 goal at Niles this year. A report meeting Thursday night found the drive $6,000 off the pace. Fund leaders believed it possibly the result of complacency after three successive years of over-the-top efforts.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

As I look back on a long bridge career I can recall all my triumphs, but most of my misadventures are long forgotten.

However, no series of articles on third hand low plays would be complete unless I recounted one unhappy result.

The game was rubber bridge.

The late Ely Culbertson sat South, the late P. Hal Sims North and I was West. East also was a well known player, but I will withhold his name for reasons that will soon become apparent.

The time was the early thirties but the bidding might well go the same way today. Hal and Ely were just about the best of the early contract experts.

I realized that our only chance to beat the hand would be with two club tricks. It also seemed certain that Sims would hold the king of clubs. Otherwise he would have let the hand play at five spades.

I dropped the three of clubs on the table as soon as the bidding was over.

Ely played the four from dummy just as quickly and my partner had a problem. After a lot of thought he solved it the wrong way. He played the eight were-

The engines and spare parts for the tanks will be produced under a $61,813,807 contract to Continental Motors, Muskegon.

Troy Topples Clawson; Hills, Lakers Keep Winning

'Tough' Colts Start Moving in 13-7 Win

Late Pass Interception Sets Up Winning TD; Lead Oakland A

By JERRY CRAIG
When members of Bob McElreath's Troy football squad wrote on the locker room blackboard: "When the going gets tough, the tough get going," they could not have imagined how prophetic it would be.

The going got tough, very tough at the Troy field Friday night when the two top teams of the Oakland A conference, Clawson and Troy, tangled. When it was over, Troy was up, 13-7.

It was a game in which neither team was disgraced. Both coaches heaped praise on the two squads. There were stars on both sides and it was an even contest until the final four minutes of play.

But with the tension emanating from the stand for only one crowd that surrounded the field, and the fierce competitiveness evident on the field, it was obvious that this was a game that couldn't end in a tie.

Clawson had one advantage over the home team. The Trojans connected on four of nine passes while Troy could not complete one. But it was this advantage that actually turned the contest away from the Trojans.

Showalter, alert defensive back for Troy, cut in front of a Clawson pass receiver at the 40-yard-line of the Trojans to intercept Paul Kendrick's pass and was finally tackled at the three-yard marker. One play later, quarterback Don Armstrong rammed off of his right tackle and carried a desperate Clawson defender into the end zone on him for the winning six points, with only 3:27 showing on the clock.

PENALTY HURT
The Trojans took the kickoff marched down the field, aided by a 15-yard illegal use of hands penalty against the Colts, to the Troy 30-yard line. But again, Lady Luck turned the back of head-to-head to the visitors.

Troy quarterback Bud Trexler was called for intentionally grounding the ball and was penalized for the football all the way back to the Clawson 40. On the next play, Trexler floated a pass upfield where Squire of Troy intercepted at the 50. He ran the intercepted pass all the way to the Troy 18 after which the Colts were content to run out the clock for their fifth consecutive win.

In addition to putting Troy in the driver's seat in the Oakland A race, the victory will probably drop Clawson out of its third place rating in the weekly State AP Class B poll. The Trojans are now 4-1.

Troy drew first blood in the annual battle when it drove 65 yards in 12 plays at the beginning of the second quarter. Armstrong scored the touchdown on a one-yard quarterback sneak. John Denison kicked the PAT and the Colts led 7-0 at halftime.

Coach Bob Acton and his staff fired up the spattering Clawson offense during the intermission break, and his squad took the opening kickoff in the second half to drive 60 yards in eight plays to tie the score.

Kedrow's pass to Brodie Burton for 27 yards put the ball on the Troy eight-yard line. Burton then carried the ball three consecutive plays, giving the final two yards for the six points with 7:52 remaining in the third quarter. Bob Birch dove into the end zone for the important extra point.

Milford Pushes Northville Before Losing Broncos Defeat Clarkston, 13-7

By DICK POINTON
Holly moved a notch up in the Wayne-Oakland League last night and succeeded in putting the damper on a homecoming inspired Clarkston eleven, 13-7.

It was a tragic night for the Wolves. Besides losing their homecoming game a porous defensive line couldn't stop a rampaging Broncos backfield.

Holly amassed 297 yards on the ground and a large percentage of this was through the tackle slots. At the half the red and white speedsters had already accounted for 154 yards and despite an all out Clarkston effort to plug up the holes the Broncos busted through again in the second half with 143.

Clarkston coach Ralph Kenyon expected a close game but a fumble on the opening kickoff spotted the visitors a touchdown that they couldn't make up.

After losing the ball on their 25-yard line the Wolves experienced two lightning jabs by the swift opposing backs that netted 27 yards in the first two minutes.

SNEAKY PLAY
With 10:32 showing on the clock

Larry Bradasher, who personally accounted for 127 yards in the Holly victory, planned three yards 11 plays after the half-time kickoff to score the other Bronco tally.

The eleven plays covered 50 yards. Bradasher carried the ball four of the eleven times for 20 yards capping the drive.

Bronco guard Dave Beadley took defensive honors.

NORTHVILLE WINS
The Milford Redskins lost No. 1 to a strong Northville, 20-6.

Northville scored twice in the first quarter and once in the third after being behind at the half, 6-0.

Jim Conzemius was first to pay dirt on a second quarter 31-yard pass play from Jerry Newcomb scoring the lone Milford tally.

Ron Rice scored for the Mustangs on a 15-yard end run.

Joe Hay followed up with the extra point kick giving Northville a one-point lead entering the final quarter.

The lead was expanded to 13 when Dave Cummings, a guard, recovered a fumble and rambled 7 yards and Jim Higgins scored on a 10-yard plunge.

Hay repeated the PAT effort.

Lake Orion Wins, 13-0; Avondale Is Defeated

Madison and Lake Orion posted their initial Oakland A League wins this season with impressive showings before the home fans last night.

Madison jumped on an injury-riddled Avondale squad for three last quarter touchdowns and a 27-13 triumph. Halfback John Chisrotti scored all three Eagle touchdowns in the big fourth quarter, one on a four-yard plunge and two on 15-yard passes from quarterback Bob Barrett.

Lake Orion, meanwhile grabbed a 6-0 halftime advantage over Oak Park when tackle Danny Calhoun picked off a pass by the visitors and ran 70 yards for a touchdown.

The Dragons added an insurance touchdown in the final seconds of play when quarterback Jim Cuckey scored on a sneak of one yard. Cuckey added the extra point for a 13-0 triumph.

In the Avondale-Madison game, the visiting Yellow-Jackets took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter when Mike Ball ran 15 yards to score.

Madison quarterback Barrett, a passing wizard with 11 completions in 13 tosses, ran five yards around end to register for the first six-point play for the home team.

Barrett then ran the ball over for the PAT and the Eagles led 7-0.

FIRST TD
After Chisrotti scored his first touchdown in the final stanza, Ball and quarterback Lynn Thorpe collaborated on a 50-yard pass play to even the game 13-13.

The Yellow Jackets, who have lost four starters with injuries this season, could not cope with the Barrett-Chisrotti duo and the Eagles claimed the victory with two final scores by Chisrotti. PATs for Madison were added, also, by the Knoche brothers, Louis and Gary.

North Farmington Rips Past Hoston
North Farmington, with its feet barely wet in prep football, lambasted hapless Dearborn Hoston, 39-6, last night.

Bill Hall scored on a 56-yard punt return, a 1 yard sneak and a 58-yard pass to Jim Accitelli for half of Farmington's points.

Lee Martinelli helped by going 3 yards, and throwing TD passes to Accitelli and Van Ameyde for 17 and 10 yards respectively.

Hoston entered the scoring column when Gary Holman plunged 3 yards for pay dirt.

Wildcats Claw U-D, 27-8

Oxford clinched a tie for the South Central Conference football championship by crushing Milington 45-0 last night on the losers' field.

This set the stage for next week's long awaited match with Imley City at Oxford.

A victory for the Wildcats would mean the outright championship in the final season for the conference. Oxford has never won the league grid championship.

And the Wildcats have never beaten Imley. The Spartans (1-1) took the night off.

Barry Wheeler scored three touchdowns as the Wildcats upped their overall mark to 3-2. He crossed the goal line twice on end runs from the seven and once on a five-yard jump.

Oxford rolled to a 36-0 half-time lead and kept going in the second half.

TWO MORE
Buzz Cork produced two TDs. The first was on an interception.

Mike Harris got the Wildcats first touchdown on a seven-yard run over tackle. VanVleet passed five yards to Bob Chapman for the other touchdown.

VanVleet kicked two extra points and ran for the third. He also hit 13 of 16 passes.

Millington, 0-2 in league play, could do nothing against the Oxford defense. The Cardinals netted only 47 yards and rushing and 48 passing.

and quarter back pass and Ira Monroe intercepted a game-winning 15 yards for the game's only touchdown as North Branch posted a nonleague decision.

Dondero Upsets Highland Park by 25-0 Score

Royal Oak Dondero scored big last night, upsetting Highland Park, 25-0.

In the first quarter Gary McKee capped a 68-yard drive driving from 3-yard line to start the Dondero campaign. Tom Schultz ran the PAT.

Ken Burke passed to McKee for an 18-yard touchdown early in the second period and Mike Novick clicked for a 14-yard pass to Mike Halsig in the third period to give Dondero a 14-0 lead before the last quarter.

A 25-yard pass interception by Will Fiege completed the Royal Oak scoring late in the last period. The Colts capitalized on five pass interceptions and held Highland Park to 23 yards rushing, while amassing 207.

Fiege was the defensive stand-out for Dondero.

Fitzgerald Routed by Kimball, 31-7
Royal Oak Kimball romped to their third win of the season Friday night, a 31-7 decision over Fitzgerald.

Reserve halfback Tom Bekemeier paced the win by scoring two touchdowns on runs of 46 and 61 yards. Bekemeier carried the ball four times in the game and gained 121 yards.

Other scorers for the winners were Sonny McDonald on a 15-yard run, Lloyd Harper on a pass from Ted James good for a 22-yard score, Keith Kirk on a one yard plunge and Bob Williams kicked an extra point.

Joe Stampalis culminated a 51-yard-drive by the losers with a two-yard touchdown plunge and a Glenn Cherup kicked the extra point.

The loss was Fitzgerald's fourth in five starts.

Lippy Leo Is Blasted
SAN FRANCISCO (U-P) — Emil Buzsaki, Bavai, charged Coach Leo Duercher Friday with being disloyal to Manager Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers and said there was no longer room for both on the same club.

Bavai, Dodger vice president, based his claim on a quote attributed to Duercher at a Dodgers party in which Leo purportedly said: "We would have won the pennant if I had been managing."

Several members of the Dodger staff carried the remark to Leo's wife who is in San Francisco for the World Series.

"Leo's crack was inexcusable and cannot be ignored," said Bavai.

Barons Rout Trojans by 41-6 Score, WB Handles Brighton

"Five down and three to go" rang the cry in a happy Bloomfield Hills locker room Friday afternoon after the Barons had rolled to an impressive 41-6 win over Clarencville.

Baron coach Don Hoff now has the task of keeping his unbeaten squad from looking past its next two foes to the big homecoming clash Nov. 3, with West Bloomfield, also unbeaten. With each passing game, it appears that the season finale will decide the championship of the Wayne-Oakland League.

West Bloomfield's Lakers continued their relentless march over all Wayne-Oakland League contenders to the season's finale with Bloomfield Hills by stopping Brightons 34-0 last night.

It was the fourth straight league win for Art Paddy's unbeaten eleven and kept it tied for first place with Bloomfield Hills. Quarterback Dan Greig passed for three touchdowns and Dave Helmreich scored two six-pointers and kicked four PAT's to pace the Lakers triumph.

Phil Starr ran for two Brighton scores and Mac Pearnall caught a pass for the other touchdown by the home team. The losers are now 3-3 for the season, and 3-2 in the loop race.

Hoff saw his Bloomfield Hills reserves turn in several outstanding performances yesterday as he was able to substitute freely. Star quarterback Roger Stewart scored two touchdowns and two PAT's in the first half as the home team built a 21-6 halftime margin. Jim Allen ran for the other Barons six pointer in the first quarter. Quarterback Bill Barnes carried the extra point over the goal.

MORE TOUCHDOWNS

Second, stringing halfback Dick Jan ran 20 yards and 11 yards for touchdowns in the second half and Stewart passed 23 yards to end Bill Calhoun for a third six pointer. PAT's were added by Barnes and Jim Miller on runs.

Clarencville's second quarter touchdown was the game's most beautifully executed play. Quarterback Danny French passed 25 yards over the middle to halfback Jim Woodhouse who made a diving catch in the end zone just beyond two Bloomfield Hills defenders. Only three seconds remained before the half when he scored.

The winners amassed 355 yards passing and running to only 129 for Clarencville, which now has an 8-0 season log. The Barons did not punt the football during the game. Bill Woodhouse who made a diving catch in the end zone just beyond two Bloomfield Hills defenders. Only three seconds remained before the half when he scored.

PATRIOT GAINER — Larry Garrison (40) of the Boston Patriots gains five yards with a block from Billy Neighbors (79) against the Dallas Texans last night in an American Football League game. The Texans' Duane Wood (4) and Dick Davis (88) move in on the play. Dallas defeated the Patriots, 27-7 in Boston last night.

Big Game for PNH, Vikings

Walled Lake and Pontiac North-ern square off tonight at Winer Stadium with the winner destined to challenge Waterford for supremacy of Inter-Lakes football.

The defending champion Vikings are 1-1 in league play and will be trying to keep their record intact of never having lost to Northern.

The Huskies, 1-4-1, must win or start worrying about that tie. It could make or break any PNH title hopes before the season is completed.

This will be Northern's homecoming game. The kickoff is at 8 p. m.

Couch Ed Heikinen will send his charges into action minus three key regulars.

HOSPITAL LIST

Fullback Jack Daniels is still recovering from a clipped bone in his ankle and center Larry Creek is out with a badly bruised foot.

All-County linebacker Mike Marcum may see some action, but it is doubtful. He injured a knee against Southfield last week.

At first it was feared that Marcum would be out three weeks. But the knee has responded to treatment and he is expected to be ready for all home duty next week.

There has never been a shut-out in the Inter-Lakes series and there never has been a tie.

The two teams have met 33 times in regular season since 1946 and the Rams hold an 18-15 advantage in the series.

To show the offensive display which normally takes place between them, in only four of the losses the losing team has scored only one touchdown. In the 29 other games, the loser has scored seven or more points.

FORMER RAMS TOUGH

The Rams walloped the Lions in two high scoring affairs, 30-28 and 66-24 in 1959. On 12 other occasions, the winning team has gone over 30 points.

The Rams, who have lost four games, this season still have the explosive running game led by Dick Bass, Joe Arnet, Ollie Matson, Art Perkins and Pervis Atkins. Perkins and Atkins are first year and second year players as is the bulk of the Los Angeles squad.

The problem appears to be with veteran quarterback Zeke Bratkowski who has not been at his best this year, however, the Rams have added future stars in Roman Gabriel and Ron Miller, two great ex-collegiate All-Americans.

Arnett, who has been out of action since the season opener, with injuries, is expected to see limited action Sunday and the Rams, who feel their defensive backfield is as good as any, led by Ed Meador, will be daring Detroit's Milt Plum to throw excessively.

A sellout is expected for the game with 7,000 bleacher seats going on sale at 11:00 a. m. Sunday.

Americans Win World Amateur Links Tourney

KAWANA, Japan (AP) — American amateur golfers, putting on the pressure in the final 18 holes, retained the Eisenhower Cup Saturday by whipping a surprising strong Canadian team by eight strokes over-all in the third world amateur golf team championship.

Deane Beman, already a veteran at international golf at 24, led the four-man U.S. team in thwarting a Canadian challenge with a brilliant 66 on the difficult par-70, ocean-rimmed Fuji course.

Dick Sikes, America's public links champion, finished with a 69 and National Amateur champion Labron Harris Jr., had a 70, giving the Americans a 208 Saturday total and a 72-hole team total of 864 strokes.

Canada's four-round total was 882. The combined British-Ireland team placed third with 874.

Dryden Clobbers Arch-Rival Almont

It doesn't matter whether Dryden was another football game this fall. The Cardinals' season became an overwhelming success last night on the strength of a 35-0 pasting of arch-rival Almont.

The game was played on Almont's field, which made the victory all the more lustrous. It was Dryden's home game because the Cardinals have been renting the Raiders' gridiron this fall.

The victory boosted Dryden's overall record to two wins and three losses and left Almont defeated to occupy the Southern Thumb Conference cellar.

The Raiders now have a 6-5 record and their only six points this season were scored in the first game.

Dryden wasted no time getting into the scoring column. Tom Sterner picked up a bobbed Almont punt and rambled 40 yards for the touchdown.

EIGHT POINTS

Roger Vandenberg gave the Cardinals a 13-0 halftime lead by racing 30 yards for a TD and tacking a Baker hall carrier in the end zone for a safety.

Dryden recovered a fumble on the Almont 20 to set up the third quarter TD. Paul Grandin capped the short march by going over from the five.

Almont continued to play give away in the last period. Dryden's Mike Place fell on a fumbled punt attempt in the end zone for six points. Ron Herbert went eight yards for the final TD.

Hilliker kicked three conversions.

The defensive standout for the Cardinals was 300-pound middle guard Fred York.

Lions Hold Wild Memories of LA Rams

Past Battles Often Showed Spree of TD's

Detroit-Los Angeles Series Never Showed Shutout or Tie

The Detroit Lions will be playing a "team of the future" with some scoring brawls among the memories of the past when they tackle the Los Angeles Rams Sunday at Tiger Stadium.

Unlike the Baltimore series which has been known for its cliff hangers, many of the games in the Detroit-Los Angeles past have been wild scoring affairs. Even the close games often were a battle of touchdowns.

There has never been a shut-out in the Inter-Lakes series and there never has been a tie.

The two teams have met 33 times in regular season since 1946 and the Rams hold an 18-15 advantage in the series.

To show the offensive display which normally takes place between them, in only four of the losses the losing team has scored only one touchdown. In the 29 other games, the loser has scored seven or more points.

FORMER RAMS TOUGH

The Rams walloped the Lions in two high scoring affairs, 30-28 and 66-24 in 1959. On 12 other occasions, the winning team has gone over 30 points.

The Rams, who have lost four games, this season still have the explosive running game led by Dick Bass, Joe Arnet, Ollie Matson, Art Perkins and Pervis Atkins. Perkins and Atkins are first year and second year players as is the bulk of the Los Angeles squad.

The problem appears to be with veteran quarterback Zeke Bratkowski who has not been at his best this year, however, the Rams have added future stars in Roman Gabriel and Ron Miller, two great ex-collegiate All-Americans.

Arnett, who has been out of action since the season opener, with injuries, is expected to see limited action Sunday and the Rams, who feel their defensive backfield is as good as any, led by Ed Meador, will be daring Detroit's Milt Plum to throw excessively.

Yankees-Giants Grow Impatient

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An all-night rain imperiled the already delayed sixth game of the World Series between the San Francisco Giants and New York Yankees today.

Even before the downpour began yesterday, the weather bureau announced there was a "60 to 70 per cent" chance of rain today with one to two inches expected to fall on already drenched Candlestick Park before scheduled game time.

"It will take four or five days for the field to become perfectly dry even if we had no more rain," said Matty Schwabe Jr., head of the grounds crew.

MORE RAIN

The sixth game originally was scheduled for yesterday but baseball commissioner Ford Frick called it off at 8:45 a. m.

The rain, which lasted all day Thursday and through most of Thursday night, had let up but Frick examined the sodden and soggy field and pronounced it "unplayable."

The rain not only dampened the spirits of the players of both teams, who have become bored sitting around in their rooms or hotel lobbies, but even the rival managers were becoming irritated.

Yankee manager, Ralph Houk, concerned that his hitters might become rusty, was seeking an indoor fieldhouse where his athletes would be able to limber up should today's game be officially postponed until Sunday.

"We haven't been doing much hitting in the series as it is," said Houk, "but this layoff is bound to hurt their timing even more."

Despite their lack of hitting, the Yankees have won three of the five games played so far and need one more victory to clinch their 26th world championship in the last 40 years.

Alvin Dark, bedded by a heavy cold, didn't like the postponement either, but saw one ray of sunshine through the heavy clouds.

"I kept hoping we would be able to play," said the Giant skipper between sniffs.

"The postponement has provided us with one advantage.

3 Parochials Play Home Encounters

Orchard Lake St. Mary will be fighting to stay alive in the Northwest Parochial League race when it plays host to Detroit St. Agatha in the feature contest of Sunday's three-game schedule.

Winer Stadium will be the scene of a homecoming double header that day as St. Frederic will entertain Royal Oak St. Mary and St. Michael will play Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes.

St. Fred's will take to the gridiron at 2:30 p. m. hoping to make its homecoming a happy affair with a victory after 10 straight losses.

St. Michael's eleven will tackle the WOLL's Lakers beginning at 8 p. m. The two squads have identical 2-3 season records and 1-3 league marks. Dave Ottman will attempt to boost his season's point total from 38 to the top of the county scoring list for the Lakers.

The OLSM clash with St. Agatha will afford the visiting Detroiters the opportunity to take sole possession of first place in the seven-team conference. Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows, currently tied with the Irish of Dave Brazil at 3-1, is idle this weekend.

The Red-and-White coached by Rev. John Rakoczy have their backs to the wall because the league record of 2-1 is marred, also, by a tie early in the season.

"We'll be pretty well set for them," Fr. Rakoczy said confidently Thursday. "Our team has had its bad game and I only allow the fellows one a season."

"I'm much more satisfied with our defense than earlier," he added, discussing the improvement his club has shown. "We'll mix our offense against St. Agatha depending on the game situation and the weather, he concluded.

One major problem facing the Eagles coach, however, is the flu bug. Several players missed practice this week due to the flu, one of whom is Frankie Rempel, the starting left halfback.

Rempel may be ready by Sunday, but if not, Sophomore Bernard Stac will start. Others in the starting backfield are Larry Janiszewski at quarterback, halfback Don Figiel who scored the only six points in the 7-0 upset over Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows last weekend, and fullback John Stoick.

The impetus of homecoming weekend may be the spark needed by St. Fred's, yet to score this season, against ROSM which has had its ups and downs. The Irish of Major Carl Wells certainly were "up" last Sunday when they upset Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes 21-7 to square its record at 1-1-1.

Wells, son Don, who paced the upset triumph, could be the difference in this week's contest. Chuck Lewis' Rams have dropped their last two starts after an opening game tie last season with the visitors.

Change Made in Program for Swimming

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department has announced a change in its swimming program.

In addition to the change in the original schedule, the department today said it was still taking registrations for an advanced swimming class where there are openings.

The schedule is being changed to add an open swim period for youths each Monday from 8-9 p. m. at the Pontiac Central High School pool. All other swim classes will remain the same as previously announced.

Due to a low registration for the advanced swim class for youths at Pontiac Northern, Thursday evenings from 8-9, the department will accept registrations for that class until 5 p. m. Oct. 14.

Bowling News, Results Must Use Press Forms

League secretaries are urged to note that Press bowling report sheets have been placed in the hands of all establishments in the area.

League members who wish to submit their bowling news to the Press sports department must use these forms and have them reported within three days of league night.

No bowling results will be taken over the phone. The great number of leagues makes this impossible.

The American Bowling Congress announced that the regular division champions of the 1962 tournament at Buffalo, starting Feb. 16, would represent the U.S. in the world tourney late in '63 at Mexico City.

From The PRESS BOX

The Gene Fullmer-Dick Tiger fight was delayed to October 23 instead of next Tuesday because of the heavy rains which were delaying the use of Candlestick Park by the World Series.

Upper Peninsula's oldest prep rivalry, begun in 1894, will be continued tonight when Negaunee plays Marquette for the 66th time. Negaunee leads the series, 41-34-10.

Improved Automobile Warranty Attributed to Quality

By BEN FIELEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT—If you bought a 1960 model domestic car, you paid your money, got a pat on the back from the dealer and some obscure fine print from the manufacturer assuring you the car would last at least 90 days provided you didn't drive more than 4,000 miles in that time.

If you bought a 1961 or 1962 model, this warranty from the manufacturer was set in a little larger type and it said the car would be free from defects for 12 months or 12,000 miles.

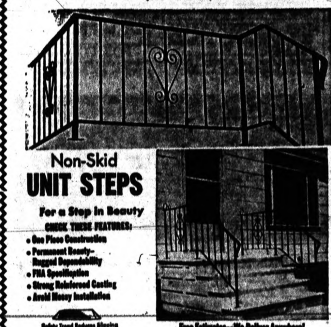

And if you buy a 1963 model you will find the manufacturer's almost overpowering you with claims of quality.

In nice black type four of the five companies tell you their cars will prove defect-free for 24 months, or 24,000 miles. The fifth company says the

DON'T WAIT! GO NOW!

Procrastination creates as many heartaches as it does a headache. Two very dear friends were to have had a thorough medical examination. They procrastinated. It slipped in his chair. Too often two people plan a vacation, avoid ship, ride high in a plane, thrill at the scene of historical lore, or visit old friends and family save themselves for that important event. Procrastination is a wrecking bar. Avoid it. When it's time to go to the doctor, go. When you want to go into business, needed capital to make his fortune (etc). He talked and that vacation went with him.

The Japanese have a proverb: "When you're thirty it's too late to die a well." By all means anticipate. Plan. Know what you want, how you'll achieve your goal, then do NOT DEViate FROM THAT SCHEDULE. A big part of ourselves is wrapped up in anticipation of greeting old friends, enjoying new ones. Procrastination is a wrecking bar. Avoid it. When it's time to go to the doctor, go. When you want to go into business, needed capital to make his fortune (etc). He talked and that vacation went with him.

move. So did American Motors and Studebaker.

Chrysler has chosen the long term plan on the power train, sticking with the 12-month policy on the rest of the car.

Chrysler announced an outline of its new plan in August, saying it believed other companies might try to beat it to the punch.

Other companies said they were considering it, but nobody followed. Harry Cheselhorst, Chrysler's vice president for quality control, admitted this puzzled him.

GM HELD OFF

General Motors held off until the week the first of its 1963 models went on sale. Myrie E. St. Aubyn, director of the service section of GM's distribution staff, said General Motors evaluated the Chrysler plan and discarded it.

"We had been considering a warranty extension for months," St. Aubyn said. "And if we were, I feel sure the other companies were, too. We preferred to cover the entire car. We thought it strange Chrysler didn't go to the lesser charge.

General Motors was the first to apply the 24-month warranty to its entire line of cars. Ford, which went to 24 months for its Lincoln Continental two years ago, quickly followed the GM

Man Pleads Guilty to Disorderliness

A 20-year-old Pontiac man pleaded guilty to a drunk and disorderly charge Thursday as his trial on a burglary charge was about to begin before Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams.

The burglary charge was dropped when James W. White, 588 S. East Blvd., pleaded guilty to the lesser charge.

Police apprehended him as he was driving away from Law's Market at 200 Earlmoor Blvd. April 9.

Nor C. Gamble, 25, 221 Rockwell St., who was caught inside the market, pleaded guilty to the lesser charge.

Judge Adams fined White $50.

Woman Injured in Collision in Highland Twp.

A Southfield woman was injured last night when the truck she was riding in was hit by a car in Highland Township.

Mrs. Joyce M. Beauchene, 32, 23200 Alameda St., is in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital with lacerations to the side of her head.

Her husband, Ernest, 35, was driving south on Duck Lake Road at 11:30 p.m. when a car traveling in the opposite direction failed to negotiate a curve, slid on the gravel shoulder and back into the path of the truck, according to sheriff's deputies.

The driver of the other car, Arthur W. Kraft, 25, of Detroit, was treated for minor injuries and was released from the hospital. Mr. Beauchene was not injured.

Gold Medal Is Won by South Lyon FFA

A gold medal rating has been awarded the South Lyon Chapter of Future Farmers of America (FFA) at the National FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo.

The high award was for a South Lyon entry in the poultry division. It is the highest award given at the FFA convention.

Winner of the gold medal was the team of David Cain, Harry Colestock and Dennis Gibson.

A hearing on a labor dispute at Bloomfield Hospital, Bloomfield Township, is being postponed until 2 p.m. Oct. 22, because union representatives did not show up for the session this week.

State Labor Mediation Board representative Hyman Parker said yesterday the original session was scheduled at the board's Detroit offices last Thursday.

However the only parties to appear were the members of a specially appointed governing panel and representatives of the hospital which is located at 1200 Woodward Avenue, Parker said.

The committee was called into being after Parker told Gov. John B. Swainson that a labor dispute at the hospital could not be settled by ordinary means of mediation.

The special committee will hold fact-finding hearing and make recommendations.

The dispute at the hospital arose when the Hospital and Sanitarium Employees Guild, Chapter No. 5, sought recognition from the hospital as representing nonprofessional employees.

Staley and St. Aubyn were asked if they were surprised GM was first into the 24-month plan.

"No," said Staley, "but I imagine we would have gone right ahead, if some company had announced first, just as they followed us."

St. Aubyn admitted Ford caught GM by surprise with its 12-month, and 12,000 mile plan in the fall of 1960.

AMA Blasts Cholesterol Diet Fads

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Association says the "antifatt, anticholesterol fad" is foolish and futile and involves some risk to health.

The organization has issued a statement about cholesterol—a fatty substance that can get into arteries and diets to control it.

"Scientific reports linking cholesterol and diet to control it have touched off a new food fad among do-it-yourself Americans," the AMA said.

"But dieters who believe they can cut down their blood cholesterol without medical supervision are in for a rude awakening. It can't be done. It could be even dangerous to try."

The statement also set forth: Elimination of certain foods of proved nutritional value could be detrimental to health.

DOES LITTLE

It has not been determined whether a significant change in cholesterol levels can be brought about by dietary means.

Substitution of a few food items without over-all control of the diet accomplishes little, if anything, in reducing cholesterol.

The AMA said its council on food and nutrition has not recognized the need modification of dietary fat for the general public.

The council recommends a well balanced diet chosen from the four basic food groups.

The listing includes milk, cheese, ice cream, beef, veal, lamb, pork, poultry, eggs and fish, fruits and vegetables that are rich in vitamins A to C; bread-cereals of the whole grain or enriched type.

It adds that butter, margarine, fats or oils also are needed.

Osteopath Asks Costs Control

A leading Pontiac osteopath is urging colleagues to keep health costs down to avoid greater government control. The appeal appears in a letter circulated by the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

The letter was prepared by B. F. Dickinson, D.O., and signed over his title as chairman of the association's committee on medical economics.

It is being circulated to all association members in the state.

"Many people," the letter states, "believe that much of the increased costs come from misuse of health care facilities."

"We believe this is very minor and really affects the overall cost of health care only very slightly, but this is difficult to prove."

To the extent that the public believes cost hikes stem from abuses, the public will press for increased governmental and lay controls, the letter warned.

The way to avoid such controls, it added, is for every osteopath to make certain "that we are doing our very best to exercise our internal professional controls."

Man's Estate Will Benefit State Students

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Certain future Rockford High School graduates will become beneficiaries of a Courtland Township farm, according to his will filed yesterday in Probate Court.

Glenn F. Rounds, who died Wednesday, left an estate estimated at $75,000.

All but $1,000 was left in a trust stipulating that it establish the Glenn F. Rounds scholarship fund for Rockford High School graduates who intend to pursue higher education.

The will specifies that the awards be made for scholastic ability—eligible students must be among the top 15 in the class—and financial need. It further requires that the post-high school students be graduates of colleges in Michigan.

Rounds leaves no immediate family.

Selection of eligible students will be made by a special committee of the high school superintendent, the Rockford mayor and the managers of Rockford Union Bank & Trust Co. branch.

Killer Storm Batters West Coast—35 Dead

Pennsylvania Hears Kennedy Blister GOP

Says Republicans Foes of Progress Since Roosevelt Era

WITH KENNEDY IN PENNSYLVANIA (AP)—President Kennedy drove into western Pennsylvania's steel and coal country today with a scorching attack on Republicans.

He said the GOP has opposed progress since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Before a crowd that jammed an asphalt-coated lot in front of McKeesport's City Hall, Kennedy said that "In the administration of Harry Truman in 1947, in the administration of Franklin Roosevelt in the 1930s, in my administration, they are still against progress."

NEW YORK (UPI)—A telephone threat against President Kennedy put police and Secret Service agents on special alert yesterday near the entrance to the Lincoln tunnel. When the President reached the tunnel, he ordered his car stopped near the entrance to talk with a group of Roman Catholic nuns. It was not known whether aides had told him of the threat.

Kennedy's voice was growing hoarse from his steady grind of politicking for Democratic congressional and gubernatorial candidates.

The President started his western Pennsylvania invasion last night with a jab at the conservative Democrats as well as an onslaught against Republicans.

RECALLS NIXON CLASH
He recalled at McKeesport that he and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon had met in their first debate in this steel community in 1947.

At that time they clashed on the Taft-Hartley Law, Nixon for it—Kennedy against it.

"He won that one," Kennedy said with a grin. "And then we went on to other things."

Kennedy declared he is still debating Nixon and other Republicans on issues which he said distinguish progress from negative opposition.

France Pressures Monaco

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP)—France put a gentle economic squeeze on this tiny Mediterranean principality today to show it means business in a tax fight between the two countries.

Three customs agents were posted on one road crossing the western frontier of Monaco. They put up a discreet little sign saying "douane" (customs) and stopped cars going into France.

"Anything to declare?" the agents asked the motorists.

Most of the travelers were tourists passing through Monaco and they continued on without any apparent trouble. As far as could be determined, no cars were being searched by the customs agents.

President Charles de Gaulle's government is irritated because many French corporations and 7,000 French citizens have found a tax haven in Monaco, which has no income tax.

NO DUTIES
Furthermore, under an economic agreement between France and Monaco, French corporations in Monaco could ship their tax-free goods to France without having to pay customs duties.

Now France insists that all (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Wind Reaches 100 M.P.H. in Many Areas

Oregon, Washington, California, Canada Battered

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A howling storm with wind gusting more than 100 miles an hour ripped into the West Coast from the Pacific Ocean, killed at least 26 persons and devastated a wide area Friday.

That made a two-day toll of 35 killed by successive storms. There were 13 dead in Oregon, 11 in California, 8 in Washington and 3 in British Columbia.

Portland was virtually paralyzed. Most power and telephone lines were broken by winds that sent signboards sailing, knocked down thousands of trees, tore the roofs off scores of buildings, and blew in countless windows.

The city sprawled in darkness Friday night, and residents holed up in their homes, fearful of flying debris outside.

SAME ALONG COAST
It was the same along the Oregon coast and in a number of Oregon communities up the Willamette Valley in western Oregon.

The storm was felt from northern California to British Columbia, but Oregon caught the worst of it.

"It was probably the biggest disaster that Oregon ever had," said Gov. Mark Hatfield, who declared a state of emergency and alerted the National Guard. Some guard units went on active duty in the Willamette Valley.

Hatfield said he had telegraphed Kennedy alerting him to the possibility Oregon may ask for federal disaster aid. Hatfield said the decision would be made later today, after the damage could be assessed.

A fire broke out in Junction City, Ore., about 100 miles south of Portland, and two square blocks were leveled. Damage was estimated at $400,000.

In Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia River—where the storm apparently centered—a fish cannery was flattened.

PEAK NOT MEASURED
The peak force of the wind at Portland was not measured. Power lines were knocked out at the Weather Bureau before the height of the storm.

Wind-measuring equipment registered 88 mph an hour before going out of operation. Experienced weather observers estimated the gusts at well over 100 mph.

They were measured at 120 mph at a station on the northern Oregon coast. Mt. Tamalpais in California, just 121 mph.

Hundreds of streets were blocked by toppled trees. U.S. 101, a major north-south highway, was blocked by downed redwood trees. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

WIND TOPPLES STEEPLE — The steeple of Campbell Hall at Oregon College of Education falls in the high wind that swept the West Coast, toppling buildings, towers, trees, signs and disrupting communications. No one was in the college building at Monmouth, Ore., as the steeple went down before 90-mile-an-hour gusts.

Final Court Decision on Barnett Is Delayed

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—not been authorized to say 10 days ago that Barnett would comply absolutely with all orders of the court.

Attorney Charles Clark said Barnett would comply "insofar as he is physically able." He said Barnett would decide himself when he could comply with the orders.

Clark contended the court had misinterpreted his language.

Judge Richard T. Rives of Montgomery, Ala., who had been present at the previous hearing, commented:

"We have indeed entered Alice in Wonderland where language doesn't mean what it says."

The court delayed action in the contempt case pending a decision on legal questions raised by the Justice Department's request for an injunction to prevent Mississippi officials from interfering with the position of James H. Meredith, a Negro, as an Ole Miss student.

It ordered written briefs be submitted by Monday.

A temporary restraining order, now in effect against the state official, is the basis for the contempt action against Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson Jr.

The New Orleans court hearing was the second at which Barnett and Johnson were to show they had purged themselves of contempt.

Clark said he was unable to promise that Barnett would comply with all future dates. Marshall pointed out that the critical time would come when federal troops leave Oxford. He gave no date when this might occur.

Sleepy Wen May Lose

TAIPEI (UPI)—Reports that a sleepy Nationalist Chinese delegate unwittingly applauded a speech by Algerian Premier Ben Bella urging admission of Red China to the United Nations brought angry criticism here today.

There was a demand in parliament that the delegate, Wen Yuan-ning, be fired "to show the world that Wen might have fallen asleep but China has not."

Wang Kai-hua, a member of the legislative Yuan Parliament, voiced the demand for Wen's dismissal.

He said the 61-year-old delegate had caused great embarrassment to the Nationalist Chinese government, and that the incident was reported by a New York newspaper.

AWAKENED BY CHEERS
Wang said that according to the report, Wen, who concurrently has been Nationalist China's ambassador to Greece for the last 15 years, fell asleep on Oct. 9 when Ben Bella was addressing the assembly.

Awakened by cheers at the conclusion of the Algerian's speech, the Chinese delegate, apparently not knowing what had been said, clapped his hands to join Communist and neutralist nations in cheering for Ben Bella.

The Foreign Office has ordered the U.N. delegation to make a full report, but denied that Wen already has been dismissed.

Michigan coach Bump Elliott that has racked up 649 yards rushing.

Michigan is expected to use a quartet of quarterbacks to try and pass against Michigan State, which has shown a weakness in chasing down receivers.

The Michigan State is weak on passing but has a powerful set of backs television.

Kickoff is at 1:30 p.m. The game will be shown on Midwest television.

Rain to Follow Warm, Bright Weekend

An almost cloudless sky is predicted for the area tomorrow. A high of 74 is expected following a dip to 52 tonight.

Today's easterly winds, at five to 15 miles per hour, will become southeasterly this evening.

Scattered showers and slightly cooler temperatures are forecast for Monday, with the rain possibly beginning Sunday night.

Before 9 a. m. this morning, 46 was the lowest temperature. At 1 p. m. the thermometer read 60.

CORRIDOR LOUNGE — One of the complaints of the state fire marshal about the county's medical care facility operated by the social welfare department is the use of hallways for lounging areas. The fire marshal has directed that furniture be removed from patient-occupied floors and that a day room be provided for patients. The welfare department faces this and other directives concerning the building under threat of losing some $800,000 in annual state aid.

$8 Million to Under $1 Million for County

U.S. Aid Request Cut Urged

By DICK HANSON

The ways and means committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday recommended that the county cut back its request for federal grants under the new Public Works Acceleration Act from $8 million to less than $1 million.

The lesser amount would be sought as matching funds for three county projects instead of for 22 as was originally intended.

Dropped from the list of proposed projects, for which the county had already filed an intent to apply for federal grants, were the children's village, an additional wing to the court-infirmary, a civic auditorium and nine additional sewage systems.

The remaining projects include approximately $650,000 worth of improved and expanded utilities and parking lots at the County Service Center on Telegraph Road and a $500,000 sewage system in Farmington Township.

$600,000 MATCHING FUNDS
If approved by the federal government, the matching funds would amount to $600,000, or half the total cost of the three projects.

According to County Public Works Director R. J. Alexander, applications for federal grants toward the nine sewer projects are being resubmitted by the municipalities which stand to benefit by their completion.

The reason given for dropping the children's village, a proposed consolidation and expansion of the county's juvenile facilities, was that plans haven't been sufficiently developed to date.

NO FINANCING METHOD
Also, the county has no way to finance the local share of the proposed village's cost, committee member John Carey noted.

He suggested that a vote of approval of a bond issue to finance the initial $1 million cost be sought in the spring election.

County juvenile authorities have stated that this amount is needed to cope with the county's present needs in handling underprivileged children.

They visualize a $3-million village complex to meet the county's future needs in the juvenile field. Plans are being prepared now by Harry Denyes and Associates, Pontiac architectural firm.

Acting County Welfare Director George Williams withdrew the proposed $500,000 infirmary renovation for a similar reason.

He told the committee that, until a current survey of the county's entire health aid program has been completed by the United Community Services, there is no way of determining exactly what the infirmary's needs will be.

SEEK WRAP-UP SOLUTION — House Speaker John McCormack (left) of Massachusetts and Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana meet in Mansfield's office for a conference as Congress struggles toward adjournment. A conclusion of the long congressional session late this afternoon now is being mentioned.

Weary Congress Eyes Finis Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 87th Congress—firing off SOS signals for truant members to hustle back—tried to reach final adjournment today through a maze of parliamentary tangles.

Both Senate and House had been in recess most of Friday night and quitted because it fell 14 short of the 218 members needed to provide a quorum.

This was the first time such a thing had happened in that body since 1945.

Council Delays Poll

VATICAN CITY, (AP)—European Cardinals brought the first working session of the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council to an abrupt close today with a swift move to head off what one informant called an ecclesiastical election to the council's commissions.

The meeting of the 2,700 council fathers in St. Peter's Basilica lasted only an hour, half of it taken up by Mass. The fathers were supposed to have started voting for 160 members of 10 working commissions which will debate the far-ranging issues Pope John XXIII has listed to be studied.

But a communique issued after the meeting said the council fathers, without starting to vote, agreed to a motion to adjourn until Tuesday in order to give council participants a chance to acquire "a better knowledge of the candidates."

The council fathers are cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops and bishops who come from the far corners of the earth.

MADE MOTION

Achille Cardinal Lienart, bishop of Lille, France, made the motion, the communique said. Joseph Cardinal Frings, archbishop of Cologne, seconded it.

Cardinal Frings, an informant reported, said he also was seconding the motion on behalf of Bernard Jan Alfrink, archbishop of Utrecht, Holland; Julius Döpfner, archbishop of Munich; and Franziskus Koenig, archbishop of Vienna.

The source said the council secretariat had distributed lists of suggested candidates to the council fathers. This informant added that Cardinal Lienart declared not all the suggested candidates were well known to all bishops.

The Rev. Richard H. Feucht has been called by the Michigan District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod to organize and serve a new Lutheran mission in the Waterford Township area.

Community survey and canvassing are currently being carried on in preparation for the first service of worship to be held Nov. 11, at the Waterford Township High School, Highland and Crescent Lake Roads. Sunday School and Bible classes are scheduled to begin on Nov. 25.

A site for a permanent location for the church is being investigated at the present time. It

In 1962 he received his master's degree in Christian Education from Presbyterian School of Christian Education and Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Va.

Mr. Feucht served his year of internship at St. John's Lutheran Church, Seward, Neb. He also assisted at St. Paul Lutheran Church, Flint, during the summer of 1960. During the past year he served a vacant parish at Lynchburg, Va. A Pastor Feucht is residing at 5141 Joangay Blvd., Waterford Twp.

St. Luke Methodist Services in Church

Although the building of St. Luke Methodist Church has been sold to the Malta Temple Association, the congregation continues to lease the property for Sunday morning use.

A program scaled to meet the needs of the congregation has been inaugurated by the official board and the educational leadership of the church.

Morning worship is now being held at 10 a.m. A special children's service, led by capable adults is held at the same time in another section of the building.

This provides children in the lower grades with a program geared specifically to their interests.

Nursery service is also provided during this hour.

At 11:15 a.m. classes of all ages meet for the church school. A program of leadership training is being promoted.

As a result the entire staff of teachers are enrolled in courses now being taught at the First Methodist Church in Pontiac.

Jews Celebrate Sukkat Feast

Jewish people throughout the world are celebrating the Feast of Sukkot for seven days. It started at sunset Friday.

During this period the Bible enjoins the Jewish people to dwell in booths, as did their forefathers on the journey from Egypt to the promised land.

In addition to commemorating this historical event, this observance acknowledges the autumn Harvest Thanksgiving.

Thus the Sukkah (booth) is decorated with fruits and vegetables, symbols of field and orchard.

In the synagogue service a festive bouquet combining the plants of four different species is carried in procession.

Service at Temple Beth Jacob was conducted last night with Rabbi Ernst J. Conrad preaching a sermon on "Insecurity As a Virtue."

The rabbi's sermonette for the 10:50 a.m. Sabbath service is entitled "Four Plants—One People." The religious school committee under the direction of Mrs. Bernard Horowitz will provide special Sukkot refreshments after the service.

Students of the Religious School will bring bags of goodies to the temple for distribution to needy children in the community.

Dr. James Laird Festival Speaker

The Pontiac Pastor's Association announced this week that plans are being completed for the Fourth Annual Protestant Reformation Festival to be held on Oct. 28 in First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. James Laird, minister of Central Methodist Church, Detroit will be the speaker. According to Rev. Jack H. C. Clark of First Christian Church, many pastors are urging their congregations to join in this service rather than to hold their own service that particular evening.
