Intangibles Exemption Proposed

Hospital Project Given Priority by City Manager

By PETE LOCHBILER

Completion of the Pontiac General Hospital addition holds the city's top construction priority this year, City Manager Walter K. Willman said yesterday.

But looking to the future during his annual "state of the city" address before the Pontiac Rotary Club, Willman prophesied that:

Construction of a new public library may be placed second on the priority list;

Pontiac may expand to the east due to the "tremendous effect" that the new Michigan State University branch college will have;

The chances for a new civic auditorium by 1961, when the city observes its centennial, are "poor"; and

The first steps should be taken soon on the $8 million job of straightening out the Clinton River to provide adequate storm drainage.

Also looking to the future, Willman suggested the possibility of a new trend toward deficit financing of city projects.

Willman had these comments about improvements for the city:

New Construction — "Last year we completed the $950,000 Public Safety Building and the $100,000 new westside fire station. Both were financed out of capital improvement funds and are debt free.

"Future building is going to take second place to completion of the hospital addition. When that is ready, at the end of this year or early in 1959, I think the library should receive our next attention. It could be finished by the 1961 centennial and would be a new source of pride for the city.

"Also on the list is a new headquarters fire station, which like the library, could be financed through capital improvement funds. There has to be a parking lot at the hospital, and this could be financed through revenue bonds paid off by revenues from parking meters."

Water—"The city now is in an ideal position. We have to find a new source of water and presently have two very attractive offers. One is from Detroit, which has offered to pipe water out here, and the other is from the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority, which proposes to build a pipeline here from Lake Huron.

"Both offers are good and each is getting careful consideration from our engineering consultants. Before a decision is reached, industry, which is the city's biggest water consumer, will be asked its opinion.

"Whichever offer is accepted, however, it probably means a boost in water rates. How large a boost depends to some extent on how successful the two ventures are in other communities."

Drains—"The city is pretty close to its limit in absorbing storm water. Every new street and building means the drains have to carry that much more. If we're going to have an efficient drain system, we will have to take the bends out of the Clinton River and shorten

CAA Approves $105,000 Grant for City Airport

Fund Should Provide for Land Acquisition, New Taxi Strips

Pontiac Municipal Airport's bid for more federal funds to continue improvements that will attract commercial airline service came through today, with an announcement by the Civil Aeronautics Administration (CAA) that a $105,000 grant has been approved.

Coupled with state and city matching funds, this should mean that more than $200,000 will be available shortly to begin construction of two more taxiways and a lighting system on the east-west runway early this spring, Homer Hoskins, airport manager said.

The money also will be used for the important acquisition of about 20 acres of land on which a new terminal building and tower could be built, Hoskins added.

It should also cover cost of about 3½ miles of new fencing and the further acquisition of about 14 acres west of Williams Lake road plus easement on other property to the west to guarantee clear air approach to the airport, he said.

"Actually, we had planned to begin these improvements last fall, but our request was held up by the CAA until the easement problem was solved," Hoskins explained.

Therefore, he said, the airport is continuing to hope for another grant this year in order to get started on the new terminal.

MSU Teachers 'Getting Tough' With Students

EAST LANSING (AP) — Professors at Michigan State University are adopting a "get tough" policy when it comes to passing out grades and flunking students.

Dr. Thomas H. Hamilton, vice president for academic affairs, reported on the trend yesterday to the State Board of Agriculture, MSU governing body.

This was around 200 more than the previous term and compared with some 600 students failing to pass during the fall term a year ago, he reported.

Hamilton also noted that there were only 180 students at the recent "All A" banquet compared to 240 a year ago.

"There was no policy change, no edict, no discussion or no decision," Hamilton said. "It seems to be an individual matter with the faculty members. They are getting more demanding."

Hamilton said he was convinced the trend stemmed from the recent world situation and the concern about Russian advances in science and education.

"It strikes me as a good thing," he added.

Wouldn't Touch Bank Accounts Under $1,000

Governor Feels Firms Should Pay Levies on Such Deposits

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams last night bid for broader support of his intangibles tax proposal by pledging it will propose a guarantee of tax exemption for all depositors with bank accounts of under $1,000.

However, banks which absorb the intangibles levy on deposits would have to pay on most such accounts, and at the rate of 13 cents per $100 instead of 4 cents per $100 as at present.

An aide of the governor said all but five banks now absorb tax liability on deposits. They have the option of doing this or billing their individual customers, in many cases for a few cents apiece.

Williams has called for a 21 million dollar a year increase for both this year and next in the state tax on stocks, bonds and other forms of "paper" wealth. The tax yielded $23,700,000 last year.

The governor's recommendation is part of a plan for staving off what he has described as threatened state bankruptcy.

In a statement handed newsmen after he had left on a trip to Cadillac, Williams apparently sought to allay fears that bank depositors would have to bear the brunt of the tax increase.

BILL NOT READY

But for his disclosure of the rate he will ask on bank deposits, the governor has not specified exactly what he will propose. His bill will not be ready until next week.

In first discussions, he spoke of raising the Michigan tax to the level of the corresponding levy in Ohio. On bank deposits, this would have meant a 20 cents a $100 rate, or an increase of fivefold.

Ferndale Official Dies of Injuries

Three Others Hurt as Car Strikes Pole in Farmington

Ferndale Health Inspector George W. Martin, 68, of 370 Vester St., died at William Beaumont Hospital this morning after being injured in an accident in Farmington Township, according to Farmington Township Police.

Martin was a passenger in a car driven by Herman Stephens, 34, of 1210 W. 11 Mile Rd., Berkley, who was treated for minor injuries and released.

Two other passengers, Stuart A. Morley, 43, of 460 W. Chesterfield St., Ferndale, and Clark H. Hagestrom, 40, of 1292 E. Maple Rd., Birmingham, were also injured. Hagestrom was treated and released while Morley was admitted with a broken leg and is in fair condition.

Martin, slated to retire in a year, was admitted to the hospital at 1 a.m. and died at 4:35 a.m. suffering from multiple fractures and shock.

According to police, the accident occurred on Nine Mile road near Tuck road, when the right wheels of the eastbound vehicle got caught in a rut on the road shoulder. Stephens said he lost control of the car and hit a utility pole.

Would Lower Speed Limit on County Roads

LANSING (AP) — Speed limits on Michigan's county roads would be set at 55 miles an hour under a bill that came into the Legislature today.

Rep. Harry A. DeMaso (R-Battle Creek), the sponsor, also proposed to set a night-time limit of 45 miles an hour on the county roads.

Top speeds on State and Federal highways, set for the first time at a special Legislative session in 1955, would remain at 65 miles per hour during the day and 55 miles per hour at night.

The Michigan Sheriff's Association already has counseled against a county road speed limit, largely because of an enforcement problem.

Another proposed change in the motor vehicle code would raise from 14 to 16 the minimum age for operation of a motor scooter submitted by Rep. James Boyd (D-Ecorse).

Polaris Test Vehicle Flashes Over Ocean

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Navy launched a Polaris test vehicle today, and for the first time identified it as such.

The rocket took off vertically and streaked away to an undisclosed target down the Air Force missile test range.

Watchers in the chill morning air saw it whoosh upward with a considerably greater rate of acceleration than that of other big ballistic missiles launched here recently. The Polaris is noted for its fantastic speed.

Polaris, named after the North Star, is the Navy's 1,500-mile intermediate-range ballistic missile.

To Cancel Reds' Lead?

CHICAGO (INS) — The chief of naval operations predicted today the Navy's submarine missile will be "invulnerable" and will cancel Russia's missile lead. Adm. Arleigh Burke said the Polaris solid-fuel rocket will be mobile, easily concealed and ready for instant firing.

Angered Motorist Hops on Train, Socks Conductor

MASON CITY, Iowa (AP) — An irate motorist, who apparently thought 10 minutes much too long to be held uppby a train at a crossing here last night, climbed aboard and punched the conductor.

After waiting about 10 minutes at the 15th St. crossing, the unidentified motorist drove to the 19th St. crossing, parked his car and climbed aboard the train.

He argued with the Minneapolis and St. Louis train conductor, R. E. Perry of Marshalltown, then knocked Perry down, bruising his face, police said.

★ ★ ★

The motorist then got back in his car and drove away with the train still blocking the crossing.

Missile Project Seen Lacking

Calls for 'More Guts —Less Gobbledegook' From Pentagon

WASHINGTON (INS) — A top weapons manufacturer said today that lack of funds has held up the anti-missile missile project and called for "more guts and less gobbledegook" from the Pentagon.

Donald W. Douglas, chairman of the board of Douglas Aircraft Co., told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee his firm has felt for nearly two years that the Zenus anti-missile project which it is developing, "was sufficiently feasible to warrant a full go-ahead signal."

He said: "But so far only a small fraction of the necessary funds has been made available. I do not think I need to dwell upon the importance of such a defensive weapon, which might well be the difference between survival or disaster for this Nation."

Douglas charged that "delay and indecision" in the Defense Department "can be as damaging to us in the long run as any action by a potential aggressor." He said that people who have authority must also have the courage to make the "proper decisions at the right time." He added:

"In other words, what we need most is more guts and less gobbledegook."

However, Douglas said that he does not "share the gloomy opinion of so many that the race for weapons supremacy has been lost forever and that we are permanently doomed to the role of a secondary power." He said he was "quite optimistic about our progress" in many fields of national defense.

He reported that his firm has brought the Thor intermediate ballistic missile from the development stage into an operating production line in less than two years.

Douglas contended that all his firm needs now is a "go-ahead signal" to bring the important anti-missile missile "to the same status that we have brought the IRBM."

Hospital Staff Files Reply to Suit of Ousted Surgeon

The Pontiac General Hospital medical staff and two of its committees today filed in Circuit Court their answer to a $250,000 damage suit brought by ousted staff surgeon Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger.

While not referring specifically to 25 detailed charges of violation of professional standards which the hospital director, Carl I. Flath, had listed in his answer to the same suit, today's litigation did allege that:

"The records of Pontiac General Hospital reflect numerous incidents wherein (Dr. Sullenberger) has failed to practice medicine and surgery in accordance with accepted standards."

An attorney for the hospital staff said he interpreted this to mean that the staff is "standing squarely" behind the charges made by Flath. "The evidence referred to in both answers is based on the same set of hospital records," he elaborated.

PROMISES EVIDENCE

The staff and its executive and credentials committees further alleged in their answer that Dr. Sullenberger has been "guilty of objectionable personal and professional conduct," has "repeatedly violated the rules and regulations," and "evidence of such incidents will be produced at the trial."

The staff as a whole, both committees and Flath all passed on the suspension last Nov. 13. The city and hospital board of trustees also are named as defendants in the suit.

Today's answer meant that the second round in the suit had been completed, with all defendants having filed answers to Dr. Sullenberger's bill of complaint that

Wintry Days Near: Flurries Expected

Wintry days are ahead for Pontiac area residents.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reports tonight and tomorrow will be mostly cloudy and continued cold with a few snow flurries.

The low tonight will be near 23 and the high tomorrow will be 30-34.

The Weather Bureau predicts the next 30 days will be dry and cold in the Pontiac area. Temperatures will be below average and precipitation sub-normal.

Twenty was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. At 2 p.m. the reading was 30.

Introduced in State Senate

Bill Asks Car Inspections

LANSING (AP)—Compulsory semi-annual inspection of motor vehicles for safety was proposed today in the senate by Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson).

Similar proposals have failed in previous legislative sessions.

Under the Nichols Bill, inspections would be made of wheels, wheel alignment, horns, brakes, lights and other equipment by garages and similar establishments licensed by the state police as inspection stations.

The maximum inspection fee would be $1.50.

Coal Mine Cave-In Traps Four Workers

SPRING CANYON, Utah (AP)—A cave-in trapped four men in the depths of a coal mine early today, and rescuers said there was no way to tell whether they were dead or alive.

The cave-in was believed caused by an earth tremor three miles deep in the Spring Canyon Coal Co. mine. Spring Canyon is 14 miles northwest of Price in central Utah.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Semken identified them as Keith Anderson, about 30, Bob William Daniels, about 50, Dean Neilson, about 27, all of Spring Canyon, and Cecelio Garcia, about 25, of Helper.

Families of the men stood vigil outside the mine as 100 rescue workers tried to get to them.

Dems Lash Benson on 'False Data'

WASHINGTON (INS) — The big farm battle of 1958 began today with Democratic senators accusing Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson to his face of using "false figures" to substantiate his call for reduced price supports.

Benson had barely launched his defense of the administration's new farm bill before the Senate Agriculture Committee when accusations began spiraling through the crowded committee chamber.

Chairman Allen J. Elender (D-La) first charged that Benson was attempting to pawn erroneous data off on Congress and the public by stating that farm prices rose three per cent in the last year.

The Louisiana Democrat said that agricultural income in 1957 actually was 200 milion dollars less than in 1956 because of a substantial rise in farm operating costs.

The controversial farm secretary faces what observers believe is a "tremendous" fight for his new program in the election-year Congress.

He urged members of the Senate Agriculture Committee to approve the President's plan, submitted in a special message from the White House yesterday, to lower price support floors, expand acreage allotment and improve conservation.

Benson told the committee: "Our farm programs—no matter how desirable in objective — have failed to get the job done. And that is why our energies are now devoted to the search for better measures to assure the sound future of agriculture."

He warned, however, that "we will never attain satisfactory farm prosperity by increasing gross income if rising costs are allowed to siphon off all gain."

Benson centered his attack on the current price support program, charging that rigid props have "continued to generate surpluses which must be disposed of at heavy loss and which continue to depress farm prices and incomes."

SECY. BENSON

He asked for authority to set supports on basic crops anywhere between 60 and 90 per cent of parity, the yardstick for "fair" farm prices. The present floor is 75 per cent of parity and rates are determined by an "escalator" formula that boosts supports when commodity supplies decline.

Benson asked for permission to increase acreage allotments for cotton, wheat, rice, peanuts and tobacco up to 50 per cent above current levels and warned:

"Allotments for certain crops may have to be reduced even further under present law, despite growing evidence that acreage restrictions have not brought about needed adjustments."

He suggested an end to corn acreage allotments. He said only 14 per cent of the 1957 corn crop was raised under allotments.

Judge Upholds Firing of Officer

Rules Commission Had Justification in Finding Romeos Insubordinate

The firing of Louis Romeos from the Pontiac police force by the Civil Service Commission last July has been upheld by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

Judge Adams said in an opinion filed Thursday that the commission had "reason and justification" in finding the 28-year-old officer guilty of insubordination and dismissing him from the department.

The patrolman appealed his July 9 firing by the the three-man commission on the grounds that his legal counsel believed there were four errors in Romeos' dismissal hearing procedure.

Judge Adams disagreed there were such errors.

"The commission was fortified in its finding," he stated, "because of the admission of the officer himself that he did not go back to work when he was ordered to do so by his superior officers."

He said further that he could see no wrong in City Manager Walter K. Willman's dismissal order in the commission calling the officer before a post-hearing, private conference, in the hearing procedure, or in the public testimony being grounds for removal.

Three-Day Snow Over Northeast Reported Easing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A three-day storm that stifled the Northeast under a snow blanket eased today although there was light snow overnight and rain or drizzle along coastal regions.

Heavy snowfall, measuring up to 28 inches in some spots, impeded highway and air travel.

The storm center moved slowly up the coast and the Weather Bureau said that rain in the warmer coastal areas would change to heavy snow as colder air waves in behind the storm center.

Most of the area from the northern Plains eastward to the Great Lakes and southward into the Ohio Valley and Tennessee was under a vast cloud cover. Snow flurries were scattered throughout the area but the fall was slight.

Auto Pioneer Dies in Detroit

Wilfred Leland Helped Start Cadillac and Lincoln Companies

DETROIT (INS) — Wilfred C. Leland, one of the pioneers of the automobile industry, died today in Detroit. He was 88.

Leland and his father, the late Henry Leland, founded the Cadillac and Lincoln Motor Car companies.

Leland also teamed up with "Boss" Kettering, famed auto inventor and engineer, and introduced the electrical starting system for cars.

He came to Detroit in 1890. In 190 2he and his father formed the Cadillac Motor Car Co. When General Motors Corp. absorbed Cadillac, the father and son team founded Lincoln.

The firm was purchased for $8 million by Ford at a receiver' sale which was followed by a lengthy legal wrangle.

Leland charged in 1927 Ford failed to keep an agreement to reimburse him and 1 800 stockholders for losses sufferd in the sale. Leland is survived by his wife, Ottilie and a son, Wilfred, Jr.

Pontiac Debaters Tie for First

Pontiac Central High School debaters tied for first place in the Saginaw Valley Conference debate season which ended here yesterday.

The local high school debaters, under the coaching of Walter R. Smith, racked up a total of 40 points to tie with Flint Central High School for the conference championship. Pontiac had entered yesterday's fourth and final round in second place, two points below Flint Central.

TIE IN TOURNAMENT

The 12 debaters from PCH also tied for first place with Flint Northern High School yesterday in the fourth tournament.

In second place was Flint Northern with 39 points. The other conference schools include Bay City, 30; Saginaw Arthur Hill, 22, and Saginaw, 21.

Last year, Pontiac finished in second place in the conference. For the past six years, PHS has never placed below third.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday's first place tie entitles the local debaters to enter the state debates to be held in February.

The debate topic of the tournament was: "Direct U.S. Economic Aid to Individual Countries Should be Limited to Technical Assistance and Disaster Relief."

The local debaters included: Pat DeKay and Jeff Siegel, Mike Strang and Gail Sedrick, first teams; Clark Davis and Sadie Whiters, Jack Schatzley and Edwina Palmer, second teams, and George Rendziperis and Sally Kizer, Stanley Walker and Paul Tremper, third teams.

Search Little Rock School Following Bomb Threat

The federalized troops found "no indication of any evidence" of a bombing, a spokesman for the Arkansas Military Dist. said. Other Army officers insisted that the surprise maneuver was merely "a practice alert."

★ ★ ★

About an hour before the soldiers arrived at the four-square-block campus, military authorities, Little Rock police headquarters and a newspaper had received anonymous telephone calls that "something was going to happen to Central High School."

"They're from out of town; they're going to blow up the school," a woman caller shouted almost hysterically into a newsman's ear.

At 9 p. m. two jeeps and a bus carrying an estimated 36 guardsmen reached the campus. The rumors that "something was going on" brought hundreds of onlookers to the school in automobiles.

The troops, under the command of an unidentified colonel, dashed into the dark building and flashlights were seen moving from room to room.

The colonel was asked about the presence of the troops. He replied sharply, "No statement," and ordered news photographers to take no pictures.

City police patrolling the area stopped Ed Martin of The Associated Press and Ken Johnson of the Memphis Commercial Appeal and warned: "You'd better stay out of here the rest of the night."

Yesterday, despite a reported lunch hour incident, was the first day since Sept. 25 that the federal soldiers ordered here by President Eisenhower to enforce a court order for integration were not stationed outside the school building.

An Army spokesman explained that the new policy did not mean a reduction of force. He said guardsmen would continue to patrol the halls.

The normal troop strength at Central recently has been about 12.

An official at military district headquarters said it probably would not be necessary for "the alert platoon" to remain at the school . . . because it is not believed that anybody would perform an act of that nature (bombing) in this community."

Classes were dismissed for the weekend to allow teachers additional time to grade final examinations.

Mrs. Thomas Sontag said that her 16-year-old ward, a student at Central High, had spilled soup on a Negro girl in the cafeteria.

She said David Sontag, her brother-in-law, told her that he threw the soup on Minnie Jean Brown because the Negro girl had called him "white trash" the day before.

School Supt. Virgil Blossom said Central High officials were investigating the incident.

Hospital Staff Files Answers

he should be reinstated and awarded damages.

Dr. Sullenberger already has filed a reply to Flath's answer and now has an opportunity to reply to the other defendants. They in turn have a right to file comments on which attorneys for both sides say they hope will take place "as soon as possible."

A delay occurred today, however, as a nationally-known surgeon in Ann Arbor postponed a deposition he was scheduled to give for the staff on his opinion, based on an examination of hospital records, whether professional standards had been violated by Dr Sullenberger.

The surgeon, Dr. Frederick A. Coller, a past president of the American College of Surgeons and a retired professor of surgery at the University of Michigan Hospital, said he had not had enough time to give the records sufficient examination.

Dr. Coller probably will be ready to give the deposition "within the next two weeks," said the medical staff attorney.

Meantime, "because of the law suit and its resultant publicity for the hospital," the hospital board chairman, Willis M. Brewer, hesitated on his previously-announced decision to retire from the board this month.

At last night's board meeting, Brewer said he didn't want his retirement to appear "as if I'm deserting the board when the going gets tough."

Brewer, who is serving a second four-year term which expires this summer, had publicly announced last November that he would have to retire because of the added duties of the new job he had taken with the county road commission as road co-ordinator. His announcement came about two weeks before Dr. Sullenberger's suit was filed.

Urged by other board members to stay on until summer, Brewer said he would make up his mind by the end of the month.

The board authorized its joint committee of board and staff members to study the possibility of getting extra help in the litigation from a legal-medical jurisprudence expert.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Where does most of the rainfall in the United States come from?

The water which falls upon the United States as rain originally comes from three large bodies of water—the Pacific Ocean, the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico.

Of the three, the Gulf supplies us, by far, with the largest volume of water. It is estimated that 55 per cent of the rainfall in the country comes from the Gulf of Mexico.

The Pacific Ocean provides some 30 per cent and the Atlantic Ocean 15 per cent. The area around the Great Lakes, contrary to what one might think, is not an area of great humidity—although rapid wind and temperature changes are experienced.

Branch College Development Leader Named

Durward B. Varner, Michigan State University vice president for off-campus affairs, has been named to head development of the Oakland County branch college, near Rochester.

The action was taken yesterday at a meeting of the State Board of Agriculture in East Lansing. The branch is to be constructed on the former Meadow Brook estate of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson which MSU received as a gift

Varner disclosed that a $2 million building will go under construction at Meadow Brook by April. Funds for the building were donated by the Wilsons along with the property.

Varner said MSU has discovered intense interest in Pontiac, Rochester and other areas of Oakland and Macomb counties in the four-year branch college.

He cited a recent meeting of Pontiac service clubs to hear progress on the branch which was attended by some 700 persons, and an open meeting in Rochester which more than 1,200 attended.

it by 3,300 feet in order to increase its carrying capacity. We're going to have to get at this job pretty quick."

Pontiac City Airport—"How soon we get a real terminal building with a tower built out there depends on how much state and federal aid we can attract.

"With the building, commercial passenger service would start booming. Plans to get more money are under way."

Urban Renewal — "Our application for a $98,000 advance has been filed with the Urban Renewal Administration; it may get preliminary approval in a short time."

When the, MSU branch opens in the fall of 1959, Willman said, it will only be two miles away from Pontiac's city limits. "The school very definitely is going to shape the city's future growth," he said.

"There's going to be a greatly increased demand for the city's municipal services to be extended out there and it's possible that the city itself will move towards the east."

The city has many studies under way, Willman said, all of which are important since they will help chart Pontiac's course 20 and 30 years from now.

Of the studies, Willman singled out a transportation survey being conducted by George Barton & Associates through a $17,000 gift from the Downtown Pontiac Association.

"It will deal with all kinds of transportation, but especially highways. We're going to have to start saving up money to carry out its recommendations for improving Pontiac's street system."

"Our tax-rate is down, our present debts are small and we're in the black as far as old debts are concerned." He gave these figures:

With a $20,320,000 debt limitation last year, the city owed only $2,800,000 on general obligation bonds voted for the hospital addition. This left a potential $17,520,000 untapped.

"We are considering going more into debt in future years, since we can borrow up to eight per cent of the city's assessed valuation," he said.

The debt on older general obligation bond issues, some dating back to depression days, amounted to $512,000. But the city had $578,000 in various funds to pay these off, Willman said, and is buying the bonds back as fast as it can get them.

Defense Costs Gaining Leeway

Predict House Passage of Measure to Allow Bigger U.S. Debt

WASHINGTON (AP)—House passage next week was forecast today for a measure to let the government go deeper in debt for missiles and other defense needs.

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson goes before the House Ways and Means Committee to support the administration's request for a temporary rise from 275 to 280 billion dollars in the present legal limit on the national debt. The change would be effective until July 1, 1959.

Anderson had asked the increase by letter three days ago, saying he needs "sufficient flexibility that will allow us the capacity to do as good a job as we can in the management of the debt."

House leaders, anticipating no concerted opposition, already have scheduled debt increase legislation for a vote Tuesday.

The increase would permit new government borrowing to finance maturing obligations before the bulk of tax receipts flow in during the next several months.

In an earlier report to the Ways and Means Committee Anderson "regretfully" ruled out general tax reduction under present conditions. But he clearly left the way open for a tax cut in the future if the economy fails to make an expected rebound and requires stimulation.

The government's debt now exceeds 274 billion dollars, less than a billion below the present ceiling. The all-time high was about $280,800,000,000, reached in December 1955 when the legal limit was temporarily 281 billion.

Prior to the war in 1941 the debt was around 49 billion dollars. By the end of the war, it had risen to around 270 billion.

Its lowest postwar level was reached in 1947-48, when it dropped to 252 billion dollars due chiefly to wartime tax surpluses.

★ ★ ★

Polaris reportedly will be the biggest and most complex missile the Navy ever has attempted to build. It will be smaller and lighter than the other IRBMs — the Air Force Thor and the Army Jupiter — in the nation's arsenal.

★ ★ ★

The operational Polaris probably will be about 50 feet tall — 10 feet shorter than the Air Force and Army IRBMs — and 100 inches in diameter, and may be capable of carrying an atomic warhead of up to 1,000 pounds. There was no indication of the size or weight of the test vehicle fired today.

The Defense Department announced plans for Polaris only a year ago. Now it says, the missile is well along in development. The program is high on the Navy's weapon priority list.

Secretary of Defense McElroy told the House Armed Services Committee this week that the Navy wants to invest 296 million dollars in development of three atomic-powered missile launching submarines.

McElroy and other Defense Department spokesmen said the combination of the Polaris and of the atom-powered submarine, capable of cruising under water at high speeds almost indefinitely, would give the Navy the power of inflicting atomic retaliation upon almost any potential enemy target curacy than could be achieved by — and with perhaps greater accuracy than could be achieved by a missile of greater range.

★ ★ ★

The Navy said the Polaris-armed submarines will use an advanced type of reactor, such as that which is being put in the new submarine Skipjack, scheduled for launching this spring.

Special School Election Set for Bloomfield Hills

BIRMINGHAM — Voters of Bloomfield Hills School District will be asked to decide two property questions at a special election Monday.

★ ★ ★

The first involves the proposed sale of the old Hickory Grove School building and site. Since the construction of a new school and the annexation of the Hickory Grove District last June, the building has been vacated and boarded. It is used now only for storage.

★ ★ ★

The second proposition is whether a portion of the Eastover School site, approximately 150 square feet, shall be sold. Bloomfield Township is seeking this portion of the westerly edge for the construction of an additional fire station.

Supervisor Arno Hulet said there is a need for additional fire fighting facilities in the rapidly growing township area and pointed out that this location is ideal.

The annual nursery school session of the Birmingham High School child study class opens Monday and will continue throughout the week.

The class is conducted in an apartment in the high school from 9 to 11:15 a.m. each day.

Miss Dixie Johnson, instructor, said the majority of the class members are planning to enter teaching.

Birmingham Rotary Anns will meet for a 1 p.m. luncheon Monday at the home of Mrs. John Maynard, 919 Mohegan St. Marit Maaren of Norway and Yukey Nomura of Japan, in this country on the American Field Service student exchange program, will speak.

Both are attending Birmingham High School.

Serving on the committee will be Mrs. Dwight Ireland, Mrs. Elmer Haack, Mrs. Robert Tohm, Mrs. Fred Rollins and Mrs. William Knight.

Mrs. Leo Golcar

Requiem Mass will be sung at 9:15 a.m. Monday at Holy Name Church for Mrs. Leo Golcar, 45, of 3315 Bradway Blvd., Birmingham, who died yesterday in New Grace Hospital, Detroit, after a short illness.

The Rosary will be said at 8:30 p.m. Sunday at the Vasu Funeral Home, Royal Oak.

Burial will be in Grand Lawn Cemetery, Detroit.

A resident of Birmingham for 20 years, she was active in Oakland County Red Cross for 12 years. Mrs. Golcar was a member of the Coral Ridge Yacht Club, St. Anthony Catholic Women's Club and a charter member of the Holy Cross Hospital Women's Club, all in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Marilynn; her father, Anton Anxick of Detroit; a brother, Anthony J. of Bloomfield Hills and a sister, Mrs. Charlotte Benedict of Royal Oak.

The family suggests memorial tributes be made to the Michigan Nephrosis Foundation, Penobscot Building, Detroit.

Governor Suggests Tax Exemptions

said that this would add 12 million dollars a year to the total bite on deposits and that they might decide to pass it along.

YIELD LESS

The governor said the added yield from his forthcoming proposal as it affected deposits would be $6,750,000, or $5,250,000 less that heretofore had been assumed.

There was no indication where he intended to attempt to pick up this amount so as to maintain the proposed gross increase in intangible tax yield at 21 million dollars.

One obvious possibility was from securities, which are now taxed at the rate of 3½ per cent on income they produce. The Ohio rate is 5 per cent. But if this was the case, he indicated he had in mind some sort of tax credit or exemption plan.

"The formula I recommended also will take care of the people whose income is a small amount from securities, and who have been needlessly alarmed by irresponsible statements," he said.

Of the proposed hike in the rate on deposits, the governor said it would amount to 43 cents per $1,000 of deposits for any bank with earnings in excess of $25,000 a year, and that he was "confident" it would continue to be absorbed.

"In view of the fact that the bank can make from $50 to $60 a year interest on $1,000 of deposited money, it is ridiculous to suppose they will pay the bookkeeping costs of putting the tax back on the depositor," he said.

One provision of the bill, he said, will require any bank which attempts to charge the depositor to exempt from the tax the first $1,000 in all accounts.

"The intangibles tax is and always has been a tax on the banks," he said. "They pay no business activities tax and no corporation franchise tax.

"The only reason the tax is technically levied against the depositors is because the assets of national banks cannot be directly taxed by the state.

"The law was written this way years ago in the full knowledge and certainty that the banks would have to absorb the tax or incur bookkeeping costs in excess of the tax costs.

★ ★ ★

"Threats that the banks will sock depositors are just encouraging the people to put their money in United States savings bonds and other tax-exempt securities."

Fights to Hold Back Tears in Court

Sarah Churchill Admits Being Drunk

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — Actress Sarah Churchill, head high and fighting to hold back the tears, pleaded guilty to a drunk charge, but explained: "I was more ill than drunk."

Her gloved hands gripped the back of a chair as she faced Judge Charles H. Woodmansee and answered, "I plead guilty to the charge." Given permission to make a statement, she continued: "I was more ill than drunk. I was alone in the beach house where I had gone to learn my lines for a television show.

"I have been under some strain these last months. I fully realize that anyone might have misunderstood the situation.

"I deeply regret any inconvenience I may have caused. . . The pain to myself and those I love is self-evident."

★ ★ ★

Judge Woodmansee said her attitude was commendable, but added: "You are the daughter of the world's greatest living statesman, but we must place the case in its proper perspective."

★ ★ ★

He said he would treat her the same as anyone else who came before him on the same charge. He then fined her $50 or 10 days in jail.

★ ★ ★

Miss Churchill was accompanied by her attorney, personal manager, several friends and Basil Bleck, representing the British consul general in Los Angeles.

She posed willingly for photographers, but a fine film of perspiration on her forehead showed her nervousness. She refused to answer newsmen's questions after the short hearing and was whisked away in a limousine.

★ ★ ★

Miss Churchill was arrested last Monday by sheriff's deputies who went to her rented beach cottage in response to complaints that she had been using profanity over the telephone.

Deputies said they tried to calm her, but that she jumped into their car and refused to get out. She spent five hours in county jail before her release.

Friends say she has been upset over the suicide of her husband, society photographer Anthony Beauchamp, in London last August. They had been estranged.

Army of Technical Experts Gains Friends Among Arabs

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
Third in Series

The Russians served clear notice of their intentions.

"The capitalist countries no longer have a monopoly on supplying machinery and equipment, granting credits and imparting know-how," Soviet delegate A. A. Arzumanyan told the Afro-Asian Conference in Cairo last month.

The Russians thus repeated their war declaration in the political-economic field in underdeveloped countries. Despite Sputniks and missiles, the political-economic arena is the place where the decisive battles of the cold war are likely to be fought.

An important, and often unnoticed, part in this battle is played by America's small army of technical experts under the International Cooperation Administration program to help other nations help themselves. How are the Americans doing? Are there too many of them in the Middle East and North Africa?

Compared with the rest of the world, the Middle East, probably the most sensitive cold war front, receives a relatively small share of the U. S. technical aid program, which Arabs still call Point Four.

Once, under President Truman's Point Four program, Americans were welcomed in Egypt. Their work inspired some of the ambitious projects of the Egyptian revolution. But American-Egyptian relations soured in 1956. Today the program in Egypt is insignificant.

Altogether there are 862 Americans working on technical aid programs in Middle East countries, distributed as follows: Iran, 315; Iraq, 101; Jordan, 81; Lebanon, 63; Libya, 134; Ethiopia, 157; and Egypt, only 1. Syria was offered Point Four aid and rejected it on political grounds. Saudi Arabia first accepted, then rejected such help. There is no program in the Sudan.

In North Africa, Tunisia has only eight American technicians. U. S. prestige is high there. Tunisia wants more Americans.

Morocco has a staff of 21 Americans. There is no significant anti-American feeling, but since there is a military installation of 15,000 Americans, it is one of the countries which might complain of "too many Americans."

In the Arab East, the once common complaint of "too many Americans" seems to be lessening. Perhaps this is because Soviet offers of technicians made Arabs suspicious. They do not know Russians. They know Americans and generally like them—although the U. S. government has been losing friends swiftly through the area.

★ ★ ★

An American official of the ICA concedes there are a few "bad Americans who give all of us a black eye."

But an American diplomat said: "Instead of personnel cutbacks, perhaps our agencies in Washington should give a little more thought to personnel selectivity."

On the whole, Arabs agree most of the projects have been worthwhile. Said one Arab official: "Point Four has given employment to thousands in the Middle East who otherwise would not have jobs. Even Americans are spending their money here, which means employment for still more."

The Lebanese government had been spending $16,000 a year trying to keep coastal highways clear of drifting sand. It was a losing fight. But "in three days, a Point Four technician did the job for all time," a Lebanese officia said. He found a wild grass which would thrive in the and, and had the Army plant shoots along the highways.

The Middle East has many examples of so-called "trivial" jobs which paid off. There are dozens of big projects too, like the Litani River program in Lebanon which has proved an irrigation-hydro-electric project feasible and induced the World Bank to lend 26 million dollars for it.

In Iraq, ICA technicians cooperate with the Iraq Development Board on a huge economic program paid for by the nation's oil revenues. Similar work goes on in Jordan, Libya and other Arab areas.

Hal Boyle Says:

Psychoanalysis Brings Out Rebel in Me

NEW YORK (AP)—A man can go to a lawyer and return home without feeling he himself has become another Clarence Darrow.

A man can go to a physician and emerge without feeling that the visit has turned him into another Hippocrates or Dr. Paul Dudley White.

Then why, pray tell me, can't a person go to a psychiatrist and leave without the conviction that he is now the reincarnation of Sigmund Freud?

I am not one to mock the benefits of psychoanalysis, real or fancied. If a fellow takes an hour off in the middle of the day to lie down on a couch and tell his troubles, he at least is taking a load off his feet—as well as his chest.

It may do a lot for his mind as well as rest his feet. But why does he feel that one trip to a psychiatrist's couch makes him, when he arises, an authority on my mind?

Your Amateur Psychoanalyst sees an incipient neurosis or budding psychosis in everything you do. The one thing he can't stand is the thought that you are well adjusted, and he is not.

If you meet one of these pests at a party and sneeze and murmur, "I must be catching a cold," he has a better answer:

"No, it may be a sign of frustration. You feel neglected and overlooked. The sneeze is a subconscious attempt to gain attention and recognition, such as your mother gave you when you were an infant."

If you mull aloud over which of two restaurants to go to for lunch, you're coming down with schizophrenia. If it's raining and you question whether you'll be able to get a taxi, that's a sure sign you've got an inferiority complex, and he asks accusingly, "What are you really afraid of?"

If you worry because you've got a lot of bills to pay, you're a manic-depressive in the depressive phase. On the other hand, if you get a raise in pay and celebrate it, you're a manic-depressive in the manic, or exhilarated phase.

Maybe these mumbo - jumbo characters who've read page one of Freud and feel they know the whole book are entirely right. Maybe all the rest of us who haven't gone to a psychiatrist and got the word are sick, sick, sick, and don't know it.

But I feel I know what's really wrong with most of them, too. Their ailment isn't so much in their minds as their mouths. Their mouths are simply too big for the brains they wag.

Farmers Interested in Acreage Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmer interest in the acreage reserve part of the soil bank — which is headed for the ash can — is turning out to be greater than federal officials had expected.

★ ★ ★

The Agriculture Department reports that so many cotton farmers in the Southwest rushed to participate this week that limitations may have to be imposed on participation.

★ ★ ★

Secretary Benson disclosed last week that the administration proposed to abandon the acreage reserve next year and to strengthen the longer-term conservation reserve.

★ ★ ★

In his special message on agriculture sent to Congress yesterday, President Eisenhower called for termination of the acreage reserve because, he said, the number of farmers participating this year is likely to be small.

★ ★ ★

Officials were checking other areas yesterday to determine the extent of interest in the program. They said it may be necessary to allocate the funds among states.

13,942 Beds in State Available to Aged

LANSING (AP) — Michigan now has 603 licensed nursing homes and homes for the aged with a combined capacity of 13,942 beds, the State Health Department said today.

★ ★ ★

The figure represents an increase of 32 homes and 1,277 beds since August, 1956, when the legislature gave the health department the responsibility for licensing the homes.

★ ★ ★

Nursing homes differ from homes for the aged by making medical and nursing services available to patients.

Celebration to Mark Seaway Completion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has invited all the states of the union and foreign countries to take part in Chicago programs which will mark completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway in 1959.

★ ★ ★

In a proclamation, the President noted Wednesday that Congress last year called on him to extend such invitations for participation in the St. Lawrence Seaway celebration. It will be held in Chicago throughout next year.

The celebration, Eisenhower said, will mark inauguration of a new era of direct transoceanic waterborne commerce between inland Great Lakes ports and the far-flung ports of the world.

Eisenhower also noted that the celebration at Chicago will include the Pan American Games of 1959, as well as a Festival of the Americas and an international fair and exposition.

REDUCE WITHOUT DIETING

PROVED SAFER AND MORE EFFECTIVE BY DOCTORS IN CLINICAL TESTS... NOW... SOLD WITHOUT PRESCRIPTION

■ Wonderful News! The amazingly safe, tested way to reduce, you've heard spoken about in whispers, at last approved for sale without prescription!

■ Yes, the same kind of safe, effective, reducing agent used successfully by thousands of doctors . . . tested successfully on thousands of patients . . . yours at last in Prescription 812. Weight losses recorded show pounds the first week, pounds and pounds more the first month, actually up to 25 pounds or more in a reasonable length of time, without exercise, without doing a single unpleasant thing!

■ Imagine! Many overweight people have lost as much weight as they wanted to lose, safely, easily, without dieting, without consciously making an effort to restrict their food.

■ You'll still eat luscious steaks and chops, fried chicken, potatoes, desserts and pastries, but with Prescription 812, in place of iron will power, you'll actually be eating less, and you won't overeat as you did before, and gone will be those ugly, stubborn clinging pounds of fat!

■ YOU'LL HARDLY BELIEVE YOUR SCALE: You'll look better, feel better, have so much more pep and energy as ugly pounds disappear! What a wonderful feeling! Your friends will be amazed as pound after pound of ugly fat vanishes. It's all so easy . . . all so delightfully simple, you'll bless the day you first tried this marvelous reducing tablet!

■ HOW PRESCRIPTION 812 WORKS TWO WAYS AT ONCE! Before each meal, simply take one tiny tablet, hardly larger than an aspirin. You eat, sleep, work, play just like any of your thin friends. And all the while, the amazing ingredients in new Prescription 812 go to work for you. Prescription 812 is not an old-fashioned expanding pill that fills your stomach, not a sickening-sweet wafer! The tested, proven ingredients in Prescription 812 work two ways at once to help rid you of ugly fat.

■ 1. Prescription 812 appeases your appetite more effectively than anything sold direct to the public. You still enjoy your food, but automatically you eat less and down comes ugly overweight.

■ 2. Prescription 812 helps overcome gnawing hunger-pangs. Food stays in your stomach longer, thus helping to eliminate the major cause of those empty-stomach blues that make you overeat.

■ You lose ugly pounds and inches, safely, quickly, easily and you feel well, too, while those pounds are coming off!

■ The amazing principal ingredient in Prescription 812 has been tested in hospitals and clinics all over the United States. It has been used successfully on vast numbers of overweight patients, and now for the first time ever, it is available to you without prescription!

■ SO IF YOU SINCERELY WANT TO REDUCE, HERE IS OUR OFFER!

No Lake Ever Is Completely Safe

But they are tragedy breeders in winter, just as they are in summer, if somebody gets careless.

Most of the smaller ones now are safe for skating, ice fishing and other sports—if they do not have a stream flowing through them.

None of the larger lakes have yet accumulated an ice covering that makes them safe. More near zero weather is necessary to make them so.

★ ★ ★

Like the smaller ones, no matter how cold it gets, due caution is quite necessary at all times on the ice over the course of any stream through them.

And no lake, regardless of its size ever is safe in the vicinity of the point where a stream enters or leaves it.

Also due caution must be exercised at all times when near the shore of any lake. The action of the winds and rise and fall of the water often causes shore ice to break up and become dangerous.

There is no river, creek or other stream in this area on which the ice ever becomes safe. They may skim over in places where the current is slow, but are not safe, even in continued zero temperatures.

★ ★ ★

Among our larger lakes that have no stream flowing through them are: Orchard, Pine, Elizabeth, the Straits, Union, White, Green, Square, Upper and Lower Long, Hammond, Angelus, Walnut, Walled, Tipsico, Bush, Fagan, Duck, Bald Eagle, Walters, Cooley, Crescent, Watkins, Scott, Island, Williams, Maceday, Eagle, Grass and Dunham.

★ ★ ★

Larger lakes in the course of some stream include Cass, Sylvan, Kent, Pontiac, Ox Bow, Oakland, Woodhull, Silver, Loon, Deer, Bridge, Dixie, Cedar Island, Brendel, Commerce, Proud, Wolverine, Bevins, Big, Pettibone, Orion, Lakeville, Buckhorn, Deer, Cemetery and Sugden.

Talks With Moscow Urged by Macmillan

With a political storm brewing in Britain because the Conservative Government agreed to establishment of missile bases there, Prime Minister MACMILLAN is urging talks on a non-aggression pact between East and West as well as suspension of bomb tests.

★ ★ ★

The recent NATO conference called for resumption of disarmament negotiations with the Soviets but, perhaps due to political pressure at home, the Prime Minister has gone a step further. However, every member of the United Nations already is bound by solemn covenant not to resort to military aggression.

In a recent speech in Paris, President Eisenhower said that "we should leave no stone unturned in our search for an agreement that would end this appalling armaments race and at the same time assure the security of the world."

★ ★ ★

No summit conference is in sight. First should come private talks by diplomats to see if Moscow would negotiate on anything other than its own terms, which so far have been entirely unacceptable and even dangerous to the West. Former U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union, GEORGE F. KENNAN, is of the opinion that all foreign troops should be withdrawn from Europe, Germany then could be reunited and neutral as part of a buffer zone in Central Europe.

★ ★ ★

Some means of halting the arms race between Russia and NATO powers must be found. Although weary of so far fruitless negotiations, every reasonable proposal should be examined by the West.

The Man About Town

They Traded Jobs

And Found that Grass Was Greener on Their Own Side

Grass: What we're apt to think is greener on the other side of the fence.

The best proof of the above old adage that I've seen in a long time comes from

R. W. Emerick,
Director of Public Relations at Pontiac Motor Division,

in his story of the captain and chief engineer of a ship. Each thought he could do the other's work better than it was being done. After numerous heated arguments, they decided to settle matters by changing jobs.

Fussing around with the engine for two hours and getting no results, the captain gave up and started back to his compass and wheel. On the way up he met the chief engineer coming down, and told him he couldn't get anywhere, and received the following reply: "Don't let that worry you: we've been aground, for two hours."

David Lawrence Says:

Dulles Truly Favors Summit Talks

WASHINGTON—If the newspaper writers of Europe could have been present at the National Press Club on Thursday when Secretary of State John Foster Dulles answered a barrage of questions from a big gathering of reporters here, they would have learned more about the foreign policy of the United States than ever before. They would have had to revise their oft-repeated charges that Mr. Dulles is rigid and inflexible and unwilling really to see a "summit" conference held.

LAWRENCE

For Mr. Dulles said flatly that the United States wants such a conference but doesn't want it to end in disaster or illusion and hence that it seeks to make sure that the Soviet leaders seriously intend to negotiate instead of just playing a propaganda game.

The secretary told of the years and years of diplomatic conferences that have been held—and some still going on—with the Soviet representatives and of the broken pledges.

He insisted that there could be a "summit" conference to "sanctify" agreements previously made by the foreign ministers. He pointed out, however, that, when the foreign ministers or ambassadors negotiate, they do so by direction of the president or the head of state in every case. He added:

"President Eisenhower's letter to Chairman Bulganin should dissipate once and for all any impression that the United States does not want to negotiate, or is afraid to negotiate with the Soviet rulers. The truth is quite the contrary. We do want a 'summit' meeting, provided the proper conditions are obtained.

"We do not, however, want a 'summit' meeting which merely represents another episode in the 'cold war,' and which would be held under circumstances that would carry great peril to the free world.

"There are, I know, many who feel that the 'cold war' could be ended and the need for sacrificial effort removed by a stroke of a pen at the 'summit.' This is the kind of illusion that has plagued mankind for a long time.

"Actually, peace is never achieved in that way, and nothing could be more folly for us than to act on the belief that all our danger would be ended by peaceful platitudes proclaimed from the 'summit' by heads of government."

Yet this is precisely the point of view being emphasized in many European newspapers which have been attacking Mr. Dulles as unwilling to negotiate.

The American Secretary of State is eager to negotiate, but he doesn't see any sense in bringing the heads of state together to give an appearance of peace which would discourage the taking of the defense measures deemed necessary against Communist imperialism.

Mr. Dulles said it would be "the greatest triumph" of Khrushchev's career if he could bring about the relaxation of military effort by the West merely by pronouncing platitudes of friendship and goodwill without any corresponding acts to assure such a purpose.

Mr. Dulles did not hesitate to answer explicitly the questions that were asked him about the policy he followed in the Suez dispute and his attitude about non-recognition of Red China.

★ ★ ★

He declared, for instance, that America concurred in the British and French position about the Egyptian seizure of the Suez Canal but, with respect to America's protest against the military steps taken then, he believed he would recommend the same policy again if it occurred.

He said it was a tragic affair and it was with a heavy heart that he took the steps he did. He said nothing would be gained now by reopening old wounds which have been healing.

As for Red China, Mr. Dulles said that in theory there was no reason why some day recognition shouldn't be extended, but that the conditions America feels must prevail do not prevail today. He emphasized Red China's persistent hostility to American policy in the Far East.

The Country Parson

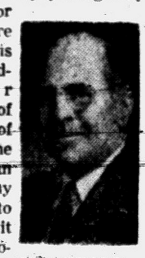

"Maybe it's not important that we become great—a gentle breeze is not improved by becoming a great wind."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Some Women Older at 30 Than Others Are at 40

Records show that a woman who expects her first child when she is 40 may expect a normal delivery, if she has kept fairly fit by regular general exercise. And the best general exercise for any woman, 20, 40 or 60, is a daily walk of from one to six miles. In fact, this is the best way for any expectant mother to train for a normal delivery.

Some women are physiologically as old at 30 or 33 as others are at 40 or 43. This is putting it mildly. Dr. Osler made no bones of saying a man of 29 may have the arteries of a man of 60. In any case it is well to remember that it is one's physiological age, not anatomical nor chronological age, that matters.

DR. BRADY

A person who enjoys good health, naturally, doesn't want to be deprived of his enjoyment by a narcotic, even for a little while. That's what alcohol is, a narcotic.

If you "need" or crave a drink, it is of course only to make you forget for a while how miserable, guilty, wretched, dishonest, cowardly, shameful, weak, unfaithful, inferior or unfit you are. I suppose it is possible that a person who enjoys excellent health may deliberately indulge in morphine, cocaine, heroin or alcohol "just for the kick" or something equally irrational — but it is hard to conceive of an individual in perfect health being such an imbecile.

★ ★ ★

Millions of women around 40, whether married or unmarried, are far more conscious than they should be that the "melancholy days" are come. They drift into a melancholic state which, to their friends, is so different from their former cheerful disposition.

Any woman with the brains God gives a goose should know by now that "change of life" is for the birds.

If you still moon about it, send me in care of this paper a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet The Menopause. It can do you no harm to know more about yourself and it may do good.

But the melancholic tendency we're talking about here does not depend particularly on sex (indeed men sometimes have it) nor an age. It is merely a manifestation of iodin deficiency.

In the pamphlet The Iodin Ration I mention other manifestations that usually occur with the melancholic tinge. I'd rather not mention them here, for this is a health colmun. For this pamphlet send stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of this paper. If you want both pamphlets, ask for them by name and inclose 25c with stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Answers Bride's Questions

Marsha's criticism of her college course on "Marriage Problems" is common. For the most critical phase of marriage is often glossed over quickly. That's why many modern doctors are prescribing the booklet below for newlyweds, as well as maladjusted older couples. For most divorces start in the bedroom.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case X-305: Marsha M., aged 21, is a college graduate who is soon to be married.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I took a course at the university on 'Marriage Problems,' but it skimmed over the sexual side of matrimony very lightly.

"So I am very ignorant on such matters, despite the fact I have an A. B. degree.

"And if I am uninformed, then what about the millions of young women who never have had a chance to attend college for even one year?

"Please give us some specific advice so we can keep our marriages permanently happy.

"I don't want to be guilty of those 'sins of omission' that you often mention in your daily column."

ADVICE TO BRIDES

During the honeymoon and for some months thereafter, brides are very pleased with the physical devotion of their mates.

For it inflates their ego to find that their husbands desire them. But this is largely a psychological tonic.

And it wanes somewhat as the novelty of marriage wears off. After a year or two, and especially if a baby arrives meanwhile, the average wife is likely to become more maternal than sweetheart.

And that is quite normal, for women were created to be about 75 per cent mother and only 25 per cent siren or sweetheart.

This fact explains why so many marriages end in divorce. For the average male has erroneously been lead to believe that women have the same sexual ardor as men.

So when the typical wife shows comparative indifference to the erotic hunger of her more passionate husband, that husband grows moody, jealous, caustic, and often afraid.

"Does she carry the torch for a former suitor?" is a common secret worry which such husbands confess to us doctors.

★ ★ ★

"Or maybe she is having an affair while I am away from home at the factory or office. This would dissipate her passion and thus leave her indifferent to me when I get home?"

"Maybe, too, I am sexually inferior and thus unable to arouse her ardor properly."

Because of these three common reactions of a husband, the green-eyed serpent called jealousy may slither into the home.

And the innocent wife may not even realize anything is wrong, at least until her husband grows snarlish and suspicious.

Or he may sarcastically tell her she is "No good" and "No man could ever arouse you," as thousands of wives have reported to me in confidence as they tearfully quoted their irate mates.

Actually, the adult male and female are not created anatomically so that the wife will equal the ardor of the husband.

And the two sexes also are not designed so that the wife can attain the satisfaction that the husband does, until modern medico-psychological techniques are added.

Throughout history, therefore, men and women blundered along the road to marital happiness. Some found it. Others didn't.

And the fortunate couples still didn't know the facts. Even today, this vital aspect of marriage is glossed over, as Marsha says of her "Marriage Course" at the university.

★ ★ ★

So send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

This is the booklet many physicians are prescribing for newlyweds and maladjusted older couples.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

'All City Rinks Could Have Separate Hockey Areas'

This is the first year I've had a child old enough to go ice skating by herself, and I would like to express my appreciation to the Department of Parks and Recreation for putting up a special hockey rink at Washington Junior High.

★ ★ ★

It certainly eliminates the fear of a child being struck by a puck. Now I have no fear of sending my child over there to skate.

★ ★ ★

It's a wonderful idea to have the two separate skating rinks. I don't know about other rinks in the city, but it would certainly be a good idea to do this sort of thing all over the city.

'What if It Should Happen to You?'

This morning I was awakened by a phone call, telling me that one of my friends had been killed and his wife badly injured in a terrible accident.

This isn't such big news until it happens to you. I asked myself which way did he go? Now I can only hope and wait until such time my Father calls me home to find out.

Think for a while that you may die in the next few hours. Would pride, selfishness, greed, the love of worldly pleasures or the feeling of not being good enough keep you in the hands of the devil?

H. M.

'One Street Walks, the Next One Rides'

Some of us taxpayers in Drayton Plains cannot see, when we pay taxes the same as people on the next street and the school bus stops three houses from us, why our children aren't allowed to ride the bus to school. They must walk in all kinds of weather. Children on the next street have to walk over to our street to get on the bus, and ours must walk. Even the kindergarten children walk and one little boy froze his hands already this winter, but he still must walk.

Army's Research Chief Cautious—but Demanding

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

The announcement that Lt. Gen. Arthur Gilbert Trudeau will succeed Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin as the Army's research chief prompted this comment from a Pentagon cynic:

"The gentleman's foremost qualification (to the Army) is that he keeps his mouth shut."

But the personable New Englander (Middlebury, Vt.), belied this assessment when, upon learning he was to be the new research chief, he candidly announced he intends to "reduce and destroy the complacency that exists in many places" in the missile program.

For skeptics of military ways, there is something sweetly predictable in the replacement of blunt, irrepressible "Slim Jim" Gavin by the cautious engineer remembered in Washington as the man called in to supplant an Army intelligence chief who had locked horns with the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

But to Trudeau's West Point contemporaries, men with two and three stars on their shoulders, the 55-year-old Korean corps commander is a deceivingly and brilliantly adaptable regular.

"When the point can be made in silence," said a fellow member of the "Thundering Herd" (class of 1924), "Art keeps his peace. When you have to butt, he'll butt."

As deputy commandant of the Army War College, this intimate recalled, the bitter opposition of many superiors did not deter him from outspoken advocacy of integration in the armed services.

Nor did the jibes of West Point teammates (he played hockey, ran the mile and was part of a "melody banjo squad") keep him from his violin—and later, organization of a symphony orchestra at his first duty station.

Such resistance to intimidation has marked Trudeau for many varied and off-beat assignments. And his varied competence was evident early in the general's career.

He was assigned during the depression as an assistant administrator in the Works Progress Administration (WPA). He was chiefly an amphibious warfare expert in the European, North American and Southwest Pacific theaters in World War II, commanded the 1st Cavalry Division and later the 7th Infantry Division in the Korean War and conducted a study of Communist brain-washing afterwards.

For the past 34 years, however, there has been only one woman in his life—his wife, Helene—and she complains of inattention. He works so hard, she says, that "I demand an introduction" whenever they see each other at an official function.

The Trudeaus have two married children and five grandchildren.

Urges Regular Force to Halt Small Wars

NEW YORK (INS) — Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson said yesterday that the "atomic deterrent" will not stop wars such as the Korean conflict.

★ ★ ★

Acheson, who was secretary of state under President Truman said:

"To use the idea of the atomic deterrent as the way of stopping such wars as in Korea is quite foolish. Neither the Russians nor anyone else will believe that we are going to launch an atomic deterrent upon Moscow if that means New York, Chicago and Pittsburgh are all going to be destroyed, too.

"Therefore, in addition to the atomic shield, what we must have, in my judgment, in the military arsenal of the United States, are strong regular forces — I mean, Army, Navy and Air Forces — which can be transported quickly to parts of the world where there may be threats of war against us which will not warrant the use of the atomic attack."

Army Renames Rocket Jupiter C—Now Juno I

IOWA CITY, Ia. (INS) — The name of rocket "Jupiter C," which may eventually carry the United States' first earth satellite into outer space, has been changed to "Juno I."

Van Allen explained the committee made the change in Washington last week to "avoid confusion" in the names of the satellite-launching rocket with the Army missile Jupiter.

Alfred Nobel, inventor of nitroglycerine and donor of the prizes that bear his name, died in 1896 on the Italian Riviera.

Security for You

3 Rules Govern Earnings Under SS

By RAY HENRY

One of the least understood provisions of the Social Security law is the one covering how much a person may earn and still collect monthly payments.

★ ★ ★

Take the 78-year-old woman who has been working in a five and ten cent store for more than 30 years. Her wages have never been high. But she's felt she couldn't quit because she needed the money to live and she has been determined not to be a burden on her children.

Yet, until recently, she didn't go to her Social Security office to find out whether she might be entitled to monthly payments. She just assumed that as long as she worked she wasn't.

Now, after visiting the local office, she knows the bitter truth: She could have been drawing monthly payments of about $74 since January 1955, even though she continued to work full-time.

★ ★ ★

This is due to a special rule added to the Social Security law in 1954 which says

A person who has reached 72 may collect full payments without regard to earnings on a job.

Fortunately, the woman won't lose all the payments she might have collected. The Social Security law also says a person may draw up to 12 months in back payments due to not applying on time.

But, there's nothing she can do to recover the $1,776 she could have collected in 1955 and 1956 had she known more about her Social Security rights.

In addition to the rule covering working people who've reached 72, there are three rules on how much a working person may earn who's drawing payments and who's under 72:

RULE 1: For each $80 or fraction of $80 you earn over $1,200 a year, you will lose one monthly check, if you work in all 12 months of the year.

Yearly Earnings	Number of Checks
$1,200 or less	12
$1,200.01 to $1,280	11
$1,280.01 to $1,360	10
$1,360.01 to $1,440	9
$1,440.01 to $1,520	8
$1,520.01 to $1,600	7
$1,600.01 to $1,680	6
$1,680.01 to $1,760	5
$1,760.01 to $1,840	4
$1,840.01 to $1,920	3
$1,920.01 to $2,000	2
$2,000.01 to $2,080	1
$2,080.01 or more	0

RULE 2: Even if you earn more than $1,200, you're entitled to a check for any month in which you don't earn wages of more than $80.

For example: Suppose you earn $400 a month January through May—a total of $2,000—and then you have no further earnings for the rest of the year. Even though you've earned $2,000 which under the rule above would only entitle you to two monthly payments, you're entitled to seven monthly payments —June through December — because you didn't have wages of $80 in those months.

RULE 3: Even if you earn more than $1,200 a year working for yourself, you're entitled to a check for any month in which you don't give substantial services to your trade or business.

For example: Suppose you run a root beer stand in your town between June 1 and September 30, for a net profit of $1,800 and during the rest of the year you have no earnings. Under Rule 1 above, you'd only be entitled to four monthly payments. However, because your business didn't demand service for eight months of the year, you're actually entitled to eight Social Security checks.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Quetions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

4 Men Missing After Explosion

Blast in Cold Storage Building Fatal to Three; One Critically Injured

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Four men were reported missing today after an explosion in a downtown cold storage building that killed three and critically injured another. Firemen planned a renewed search of the rubble.

★ ★ ★

They also sought the cause of the mysterious blast, which ripped off two massive walls of the three-story Merchants Ice and Cold Storage Co. refrigeration building, sent a tremor through the city's nearby business district and shattered windows seven blocks away.

Police, revising downward from nine to eight the number of men believed in the building, listed the missing as Charles William Gary, a plant foreman; James A. Gillespie and Franklin Jackson, plant employes; and John Morris, helper of one of the known victims.

★ ★ ★

Rescue workers recovered the bodies of Charles Reddick Gray, 39, a plant foreman; and Robert Lester House, 34, and Carl Jackson, 41, drivers of school trucks which were loading food at the plant.

The injured man, dragged from the building by firemen, was Moses L. Williams, 42, a plant employe. He was in critical condition.

★ ★ ★

Rescue operations were hampered by the choking ammonia fumes from refrigeration pipes. There was no fire.

Americans Can Stay Extra Week in China

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China has granted three American mothers permission to stay another week in Shanghai and Piping visiting their sons imprisoned on spy charges.

★ ★ ★

There was no indication whether the extension might foreshadow clemency for the Americans. Two are serving 20-year sentences and the other a life term.

Mrs. Ruth Redmond, Yonkers, N. Y., said she has formally asked Premier Chou En-lai to release her 38-year-old son Hugh. "I'm still hoping but have no answer yet," she said by telephone from Shanghai.

The one-week extension was first announced for Mrs. Mary Downey, New Britain, Conn., visiting her son John, and Mrs. Jessie Fecteau, Lynn, Mass., visiting her son Richard. The extension also applied to Mrs. Downey's son William, 25, who accompanied his mother to China.

Mrs. Redmond later reported she also had received permission to stay. All three mothers entered Communist China last week and had planned to leave the country tomorrow after seeing their sons four times.

Double-Crossed in Gambling Try by 'the Devil'

NETTLEHAM, England (AP) — The nettled vicar of Nettleham reported today he has been duped by the devil.

The vicar, the Rev. George Herrington, is strongly opposed to gambling. He protested recently when a parishioner donated one pound—$2.80—to the church restoration fund, specifying that it must be used to buy a chance in a government bond lottery.

The vicar finally relented, feeling sure the number wouldn't come up anyway. But it did, and the church restoration fund is 50 pounds—$140—richer.

★ ★ ★

"I think the Devil must have been at work and confounded me," complained the vicar. "But naturally I'll take the money—we need it for repairs to our 13th century church."

Millionaire's Child Awarded $200,000

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — A high school girl put out for adoption by her millionaire father when she was a baby will receive about $200,000 under a court approved settlement of his estate.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Testimony quoted Emmick, who died a year ago at the age of 78, as saying he put Marilyn out for adoption because he felt he was "too old to have a child around the house."

Sues for Separation

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Mary Castle, 29, who has starred in the "Stories of the Century" filmed television series, has sued her husband, William, 32, for separate maintenance. She charges grievous mental cruelty.

Teetotaling Clergyman 'Angel' for Angel Saloon

FLAX BURTON, England (AP)—The Rev. Percival Demuth, himself a teetotaler, was revealed today as the angel who saved the local saloon, called the Angel.

★ ★ ★

The village has only 300 residents and the pub, which is right across the street from the Rev. Mr. Demuth's church, hasn't been making much money. The brewers who own the Angel were about to give up when the 70-year-old Anglican rector intervened.

"The inn is our social center," he told the brewing company. "We all meet there so please keep it open."

A spokesman for the brewing firm said the plea will be granted.

Pearson Heads Liberal Party

Seeks Canadian Election

OTTAWA (AP)—Lester B. Pearson, newly elected leader of Canada's Liberal party, is expected to begin consultations immediately with other top Liberals on the question of when and how to force a new election.

The opposition party's national convention chose the 60-year-old career diplomat as its new leader last night in a resounding victory over former Health Minister Paul Martin. Pearson succeeds former Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, quitting because of his 75 years. He will become prime minister if the Liberals win the next election.

The result of the party ballot was never in doubt. The vote was 1,074-305.

In his acceptance speech Pearson, former foreign secretary and Nobel Peace Prize winner this year, pledged himself to lead a "renewed and strengthened" Liberal party back into office soon. But he gave no hint of when a general election might be expected.

Possibility of an election stems from the inconclusive result of the last nationwide vote. The Conservatives led by John Diefenbaker won the largest group of seats in the 265-member House of Commons but got only 113 seats, missing a majority by 20.

He formed a government with the support of the Socialist CCF and the Social Credit parties, who have 44 votes. The Liberals, with only 106 seats, must pick up considerable support from the minor parties to bring down the government by a vote in Commons.

After the Liberal convention adjourned, Pearson told a news conference that a caucus of Liberal members of Parliament will be called soon to discuss election tactics.

Working on Deadlier Anti-Sub Torpedo

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy disclosed today it is working on a deadlier replacement for one of two torpedoes described only this week as the "new and latest" among its antisubmarine weapons.

★ ★ ★

Confronted by reports of growing Russian undersea might, the Navy has been pushing development of a new family of antisub devices featuring better guidance, speed and range.

The naval ordnance plant at Forest Park, Ill., is taking the lead in this work, particularly in developing a replacement for the Mark 32 acoustichoming torpedo which has the capability of being released from a surface vessel without complex and bulky launching gear.

The Navy said a sufficient number of Mark 32s have been produced for training and combat use and it is no longer in production.

The Mark 43 torpedo, which can be launched from aircraft as well as surface vessels, is still in production. Both the Mark 32 and Mark 43 are already included in fleet armaments.

There are nearly 200 islands in the Sulu group lying to the south of the Philippines and together they comprise an area of about 1,600 square miles, according to current surveys.

Now comes the greatest sales and money-saving events in our 25 years in business. Here is your chance to buy our fine quality merchandise at unbelievable low, low prices!

HERE ARE REAL BARGAINS!

It's Quality . . . as well as low prices, that make a good value.

It is well to consider just what comprises a good value and a bargain. We believe a bargain to be an unusual offering caused by an unusual event, or condition that actually forces a reduction in price, but not a reduction in quality. Because we want to dispose of our winter merchandise stock during the next 15 days, one will be able to buy quality at a sacrifice.

QUALITY STORE OF NATIONAL BRANDS — WHERE YOU GET RED STAMPS
74 North Saginaw St. — Between Huron and Mt. Clemens

HERE'S THE REASON FOR THIS SALE!

We must buy goods anticipating your needs. This fall, winter and Christmas was no different. We bought the finest nationally advertised goods for you . . . but unforseen record warm weather (December recorded a high of 58 degrees) did not allow us to move sufficient amounts of warm clothing for winter needs. The New York Transit Strike further complicated our delivery on Christmas goods. This created an overloading of goods; our policy is not to carry goods over to next season. We have decided to clear our store in the next 15 days to make room for Easter goods (Easter comes earlier this year). Our loss is your gain.

EVEN AT THESE LOW PRICES YOU CAN "CHARGE IT." TAKE 6 MONTHS TO PAY.

To Evaluate Candidates for County Offices

Area Citizens League Swings Into Action

By PETE LOCHBILER

This year is an election year and once again the Oakland Citizens League will swing into action.

Founded 21 years ago, the league is a non-partisan group established for the promotion of better understanding of problems of citizenship and their solution.

One undertaking league members are most proud of is their annual appraisal of candidates for county offices.

Committees do the work and the results are available in bulletin form to all league members. Perhaps more importantly, the recommendations are picked up by area newspapers and widely circulated.

And whatever their own political leanings, league members hope and believe the results of their candidate recommendations are truly non-partisan.

STORY TOLD

Perhaps the best person to tell the citizens league story is Henry S. Booth, its president. Booth is executive director of Cranbrook Foundation and one of the league's organizers back in 1937.

"A group of us discovered then that we were woefully ignorant about government," Booth recalled recently. "We felt we should do something about it and thought others might want to do the same thing.

"We figured we weren't automatically good citizens because we had citizenship rights. We sensed that each person had a duty to educate himself as a citizen, to discover what was going on in the world of government and evaluate the issues involved. And to help solve the problems, too, if possible."

BUSY TIME

That's how the league came to be incorporated, and it's had a busy time since then.

It started right out in 1939 by saving the Oakland County Road Commission about $11,500. It seems one of the league members knew a lot about bonds, enough to advise the commission to sell some highway improvement bonds in the spring of that year instead of the fall.

Acting on this advice, the road commission sold in the spring and by fall the interest rates had risen more than one full per cent. Since more than $700,000 in bonds were involved, the saving to the taxpayer was considerable.

Three of the league's biggest accomplishments:

HENRY S. BOOTH

Instigation of the 1946 Oakland County grand jury that resulted in the conviction of several numbers racketeers;

Promotion of a county planning commission, an idea that the Board of Supervisors finally adopted in 1949; and Forcing of legal action in a nominating petition scandal in 1952. Many names on Pontiac precinct-delegate petitions were those of persons dead or moved away.

CITATIONS MADE

In addition, the league has made two citations for distinguished public service. In 1950 the award went to John A. MacDonald, who has guided social welfare work in Oakland County many years. In 1956, it was presented to Davy Gilpin, former head of the Pontiac Police Vice Squad.

And over the years, the league has raised many vital issues in its bulletins, probing the pros and cons of such controversial subjects as:

Reapportionment, state financing, school district boundaries, water supply, welfare services, garbage and refuse disposal, incorporation of fast-growing rural areas, education of the handicapped, adult probation, public defenders, a new courthouse and more highways.

ISSUES REMAIN

Some of these issues — water, sewage and refuse disposal, more highways — are still items of interest to the league as it begins a new year.

A couple of new questions—facilities for temporary care of the mentally ill and the possibility of a state constitutional convention—are also getting the attention of league members now.

The past has proved that their thought may very well result in concrete action by the county or state someday.

Another problem — a perennial one — comes up at this time. The league continually wants to expand its membership, Booth says, and just as continually has run into apathy.

And yet Booth hopes that continued efforts will arouse interest. "Citizenship is just about our most cherished possession," he pointed out. "We have to exercise it intelligently in order to deserve it."

Booth thinks that a good way for any Oakland County citizen to do this is through the league. A bigger membership would benefit the league, too, he said.

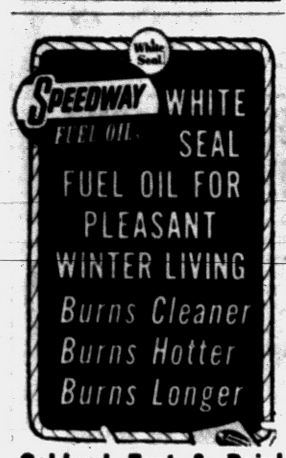

"The more members we have, the more efficient job we can do. No matter how conscientious a citizen is, there are some jobs he can't do alone. He has to have help, and it has been with the help of all our members in the past that we've been able to bring improvements and changes."

In case you're interested, membership applications costing as little as $5-a-year are available at the organization's headquarters, 503 Community National Bank Building.

French Car Output Up

PARIS — French automobile production in the first half of 1957 totaled 473,100 vehicles compared with 432,300 for the same 1956 period. This manufacturing rate is double the pace of 1952 and four times that of 1938.

'57 Record Year for County Road Building

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

A record year for road construction, costing $1,210,000, was reported by the Oakland County Road Commission for 1957.

This money was spent on 24 projects covering 39 miles of the county's primary and local roads, the commission said.

★ ★ ★

Although road construction represented a record, not all the wishes of the taxpayers could be fulfilled, Road Commissioners Sol D. Lomerson, Robert O. Felt and Lee O. Brooks said.

★ ★ ★

"The road commission does not receive enough funds for the county's local road system to provide all the services the public would like or that the commission would like to give," was their consensus.

★ ★ ★

"Any work over and above necessary maintenance is usually dependent on the willingness of the interested parties, or in some cases the townships, to pay the cost," Lomerson remarked.

RECALL EVENT

Looking back at the past year's accomplishments, commissioners recall one most memorable event — and not involving road construction and maintenance.

That was moving into their new building at 2420 Pontiac Lake Rd.

They also recall the retirement of Leon V. Belknap as engineer-manager, and the appointment of his successor, Paul Van Roekel.

It cost the commission an average of $1,885 per mile for maintenance of some 700 miles of major roads last year. This amounted to $1,320,000 for this work during the 12 months.

Costing nearly $880,000 in 1957 was the maintenance — at an average of about $463 a mile — of 1,900 miles of local roads. Of this expense, $100,000 was paid for by individuals wanting calcium chloride on their streets or new driveway culverts installed.

ROAD SALT USED

More than 2,800,000 gallons of this salt were used by the road commission for dust laying purposes last year.

Among the major construction jobs was the widening and recapping of sections of Dequindre and John R roads, covering a total distance of 12 miles.

★ ★ ★

"These widening projects were done in cooperation with the cities in which they are located," explained Van Roekel. "The road commission pays roughly half the cost, and the cities must maintain them after construction."

The State Highway Dept. reimbursed the road commission with $439,000 for maintaining 183 miles of state trunklines in Oakland County.

Generous Community Assures Tot's Surgery

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—The generous citizens of LaSalle County have doubled their goal in a campaign to raise funds for surgery on a 3-year-old girl's heart.

★ ★ ★

Janice Kiest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kiest of Marseilles, suffers from a congenital heart condition. Her father, a truck driver, spent the family's savings for two previous operations on the girl.

★ ★ ★

A campaign for funds to finance another operation, this one at the University of Minnesota, was begun last week by the Ottawa Daily Republican Times. The goal was $2,500. Contributions already total $4,937.

After Bloody Battle in Cuba

Castro's Rebels Retreat Into Mountain Hideouts

HAVANA (AP)—Rebels reportedly led by Fidel Castro himself swept into the farm town of Veguitas yesterday, fought a bloody battle with government forces and retreated to their mountain hideouts.

It was the second bold rebel raid in three days in Eastern Cuba. Castro's forces blockaded the sugar shipping city of Manzanillo, 20 miles west of Veguitas, all day Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

The rebels also have been burning sugar cane fields and farm buildings in an effort to cripple President Fulgencio Batista's economic program.

★ ★ ★

Residents of Veguitas said Castro himself led the raid there. Many rebels were reported killed and wounded and about 20 to 30 government troops were slain. The rebels reportedly held the town of 8,000 residents for two hours.

★ ★ ★

An estimated 200 rebels moved into Veguitas from the Sierra Maestra before dawn, spraying buildings with machine-gun and rifle fire. No civilian casualties were reported.

As civilians hid, the rebels killed or wounded most of the dozen army guards in the town.

When government reinforcements rushed to Veguitas from nearby Bayamo, rebels ambushed a number of armored cars at a bridge. Most of the government casualties were said to have occurred there.

★ ★ ★

With government troops in pursuit, Castro's men divided into three or four groups and dashd back to their mountain hiding places.

Cost of Living Drops, Australia Announces

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Inflation may be riding rampant over much of the world but not in Australia.

The government announced today that the weekly cost of living fell a shilling — about 10 cents — during the last quarter of 1957.

'Eyewitness to Death' . . . by Agatha Christie

Copyright 1957

THE STORY SO FAR: A blind in a train passing hers snaps up and respectable Mrs. McGillicuddy, on a prosaic trip to visit her friend, Miss Marple, fluttery old woman with a shrewd brain and a gift for solving crimes, sees a man strangling a woman. When she tells the conductor he puts it down to her imagination. Miss Marple obtains a large scale map and makes several trips over Mrs. McGillicuddy's route. Too old for physical effort, she writes to Lucy Eyelesbarrow, brilliant young woman who has made for herself a unique profession—taking temporary charge of households and running them like magic. Miss Marple figures the body must have been thrown out as the train passed the neglected park of Rutherford Hall, built by Mr. Crackenthorpe, a rich manufacturer. Lucy gets herself employed at Rutherford Hall by Emma Crackenthorpe's daughter, and Miss Marple is installed in the neighborhood, posing as Lucy's aunt. On pretense of playing golf Lucy searches for the body. She finds a piece of fur on a bush below the railroad tracks. Alexander Eastley, Emma's nephew, and his friend, James Stoddart-West, visit the Crackenthorpes and show Lucy a barn that houses a sarcophagus. Lucy pries it open and finds the body of a murdered woman, evidently a foreigner. Inspector Craddock believes the woman traveled down from London and that she had recently come from abroad. He questions Mrs. Wimborne, Crackenthorpe's attorney, about the Crackenthorpe family.

CHAPTER 14

"Burn yourself?" Lucy asked.

"Just a bit. It doesn't matter. What a dangerous game cooking is!"

"I suppose you never do your own cooking?"

BOIL EGG

"As a matter of fact I do — quite often. But not this sort of thing. I can boil an egg — if I don't forget to look at the clock. And I can do eggs and bacon. And I can put a steak under the grill or open a tin of soup. I've got one of those little electric whatnots in my flat."

"You live in London?"

"If you call it living — yes."

His tone was despondent. He watched Lucy shoot in the dish with the Yorkshire pudding mixture.

"This is awfully jolly," he said and sighed.

"What is — this kitchen?"

"Yes — reminds me of our kitchen at home — when I was a boy."

It struck Lucy that there was something strangely forlorn about Bryan Eastley. Looking closely at him, she realized that he was older thn she had at first thought. He must be close on forty. It seemed difficult to think of him as Alexander's father. He reminded her of innumerable young pilots she had known during the war when she had been at the impressionable age of fourteen. She had gone on and grown up into a post war world — but she felt as though Bryan had not gone on, but had been passed by in the passage of years. His next words confirmed this. He had subsided on to the kitchen table again.

★ ★ ★

"It's a difficult sort of world," he said, "isn't it? To get your bearings in, I mean. You see, one hasn't been trained for it."

Lucy recalled what she had heard from Emma.

"You were a fighter pilot, weren't you?" she said. "You've got a D.F.C."

"That's the sort of thing that puts you wrong. You've got a gong and so people try to make it easy for you. Give you a job and all that. Very decent of them. But they're all Admin jobs and one simply isn't any good at that sort of thing. Sitting at a desk getting tangled up in figures. I've had ideas of my own, you know, tried out a wheeze or two. But you can't get the backing. Can't get the chaps to come in and put down the money. If I had a bit of capital—"

He brooded.

"You didn't know Edie, did you? My wife. No, of course you didn't. She was quite different from all this lot. Younger, for one thing. She was in the W.A.A.F. She always said her old man was crackers. He is, you know. Mean as Hell over money. And it's not as though he could take it with him. It's got to be divided up when he dies. Edie's share will go to Alexander, of course. He won't be able to touch the capital until he's twenty-one though."

"I'm sorry, but will you get off the table again. I want to dish up and make gavy."

At that moment Alexander and Stoddart-West arrived with rosy faces and very much out of breath.

"Hullo, Bryan," said Alexander kindly to his father. "So this is where you've got to. I say, what a smashing piece of beef. Is there Yorkshire pudding?"

"Yes, there is."

"We have awful Yorkshire pudding at school — all damp and limp."

★ ★ ★

"Get out of my way," said Lucy. "I want to make the gravy."

"Make lots of gravy. Can we have two sauce boats full?"

"Yes."

"Goodoh!" said Stoddart-West, pronouncing the word carefully.

"I don't like it pale," said Alexander anxiously.

★ ★ ★

"She's a smashing cook," said Alexander to his father.

Lucy had a momentary impression that their roles were reversed. Alexander spoke like a kindly father to his son.

"Can we help you, Miss Eyelesbarrow?" asked Stoddart-West politely.

"Yes, you can. Alexander, go and sound the gong. James, will you carry this tray into the dining room? And will you take the joint in, Mr. Eastley? I'll bring the potatoes and the Yorkshire pudding."

"There's a Scotland Yard man here," said Alexander. "Do you think he will have lunch with us?"

"That depends on what your aunt arranges."

"I don't suppose Aunt Emma would mind . . . She's very hospitable. But I suppose Uncle Harold wouldn't like it. He's being very sticky over this murder." Alexander went out through the door with the tray adding a little additional information over his shoulder. "Mr. Wimborne's in the library with the Scotland Yard man now. But he isn't staying to lunch. He said he had to get back to London. Come on, Stodders. Oh, he's gone to do the gong."

★ ★ ★

At that moment the gong took charge, Stoddart - West was an artist. He gave everything he had, and all further conversation was inhibited.

Bryan carried in the joint, Lucy followed with the vegetables — returned to the kitchen to get the two brimming sauceboats of gravy.

Mr. Wimborne was standing in the hall putting on his gloves — as Emma came quickly down the stairs.

"Are you really sure you won't stop for lunch, Mr. Wimborne? It's all ready."

★ ★ ★

"No. I've an important appointment in London. There is a Restaurant Car on the train."

"It was very good of you to come down," said Emma gratefully.

Mr. Wimborne took Emma's hand in his.

"There's nothing to worry about, my dear," he said. "This is Detective Inspector Craddock from New Scotland Yard who has come down to take charge of the case. He is coming back at 2:15 to ask you for any facts that may assist him in his inquiry. But as I say, you have nothing to worry about." He looked towards Craddock — "I may repeat to Miss Crackenthorpe what you have told me?"

"Certainly, sir."

"Inspector Craddock has just told me that this almost certainly was not a local crime. The murdered woman is thought to have come from London and was probably a foreigner."

Emma Crackenthorpe said sharply.

"A foreigner. Was she French?"

Mr. Wimborne had clearly meant his statement to be consoling. He looked slightly taken aback. Dermot Craddock's glance went quickly from him to Emma's face.

He wondered why she had leaped to the conclusion that the murdered woman was French, and why that thought disturbed her so much?

The only people who really did justice to Lucy's excellent lunch were the two boys and Cedric Crackenthorpe, who appeared completely unaffected by the circumstances which had caused him to return to England. He seemed, indeed, to regard the whole thing as a rather good joke of a macabre nature.

This attitude, Lucy noted, was most unpalatable to his brother Harold. Harold seemed to take the murder as a kind of personal insult to the Crackenthorpe family and so great was his sense of outrage that he ate hardly any lunch. Emma looked worried and unhappy and also ate very little. Alfred seemed lost in a train of thought of his own and spoke very little. He was rather a good looking man with a thin dark face and eyes set rather too close together.

★ ★ ★

After lunch the police officers returned and politely asked if they could have a few words with Mr. Cedric Crackenthorpe.

Dies in Gas Chamber Claiming Innocence

PARCHMAN, Miss. (AP)—William Alvin Wetzel, New York mobster who boasted he never would be executed, died in the gas chamber at the state penitentiary today.

The 33-year-old native of Seneca Falls, N.Y., maintained to the last that he was innocent of the fatal throat slashing of Edgar McGraw.

As the pajama-clad Wetzel stepped into the eight-sided gas chamber in the maximum security unit, he told the Rev. Kermit Canterbury of Indianola, "Just tell the world I'm innocent."

Wetzel shook hands with C. W. Watson of Jackson, the state executioner, and assured him, "I hold no hard feelings for you."

★ ★ ★

Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin refused to grant clemency. Later, Justice Lee Hall of the State Supreme Court denied a petition for a writ of habeas corpus and a stay of execution.

Soviets Design New Airplane

Use Ancient Tradition of Bird-Type Flight by Flapping Wings

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio announced today that Soviet aircraft designers "have created" ornithopters — aircraft which fly like birds by flapping their wings.

★ ★ ★

The broadcast, quoting the Soviet news agency Tass, did not make clear whether the Russians actually have such machines flying or have only reached an advanced designing stage.

Moscow radio said the wing flappers "can be used conveniently for flights over short distances. They can take off from any place, hover in the air and land anywhere."

The ornithopter's lifting power was described as being "about three or four times that of an ordinary aircraft" using the same engine power. The broadcast claimed that an ornithopter capable of carrying 15 people would operate on the same power as a conventional training plane carrying only two persons.

If the Russians have made ornithopters fly, they have mastered mechanical difficulties that balked men for centuries in their efforts to get into the air.

Even by pushing ornithopter research they have reopened a field of aircraft design thought to have died forever when the Wright brothers made their historic 1903 flight at Kitty Hawk, on the windy North Carolina coast.

Museums in various parts of the world, including London's Aeronatical Museum, still contain old ornithopters — some designed as long as a century ago — which failed to get off the ground. These relics have always been regarded as representing a dead end in research.

★ ★ ★

Soviet designers have created ornithopters with two distinct wing shapes, Moscow radio said, adding: "Pavel Smirnov designed a machine with wings resembling those of a bird, while (the) German Rybnikov designed wings resembling those of insects."

Stuffed Closet Ruins Request for $600 Monthly

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Pearl Balos didn't exactly say she had nothing to wear. But in her divorce suit she asked $600 a month for clothing.

Her husband, wealthy real estate man Benjamin Balos, 63, objected to her request for $2,465 monthly alimony, including the clothing allowance.

Eight fur pieces, 153 dresses, 108 pairs of shoes, 68 skirts, 72 pairs of stockings, 85 purses, 32 girdles, 36 house robes.

The court ruled that Mrs. Balos, 53, will have to get along on $1,400 temporary alimony.

Heavily Taxed Britons Recount Low Earnings

LONDON (AP)—Only 600 persons in Britain had incomes of 6,000 pounds ($16,800) or more last year after paying this country's stiff income taxes, the government reported today.

The basic income tax in Britain is 42½ per cent, and the take rises steeply along with income.

★ ★ ★

The report did not include capital gains, which are not taxed in Britain.

Minnie Richardson Came to City in 1881

Walled Lake Lady, 95, Recalls 'Old Days' Here

By MARGARET BROWN

How many of us can recall the days when Pontiac's First Baptist Church was located at the corner of Huron and Saginaw streets where Kresge's Five and Ten now stands? When E. P. Kelly operated his funeral parlors here in the city, Losee Brothers were selling fine shoes and rubber goods, and Mrs. A. B. Lewis was handling folk's purchases of cut flowers?

That was way back in the last century, and chances are most of us never even have heard of those old establishments.

PLAYED CHURCH ORGAN

On Newton road in Walled Lake, however, lives a grand lady who would be more than happy to tell us all about Pontiac's "good old days." Mrs. Minnie J. Cannons Richardson, who will be 96 next Veterans' Day, first came to the city at the age of 18 to play the organ at the old First Baptist Church.

Having received her musical training at Flint's Conservatory of Music, Mrs. Richardson, then Minnie J. Lumby, began to teach a group of piano and guitar students. Seeing that the church was extremely low on funds at that time, Mrs. Richardson and several friends put to use their musical ability at various social and church functions until they were able to purchase carpeting and a new organ for the struggling congregation.

★ ★ ★

Of English and Welsh descent, Minnie was the only one of her parents' four children to be born in the United States — Detroit, to be exact. The others — Dr. L. R. Lumby, whom old-timers will remember as Pontiac's city doctor for many years; Wesley Lumby of Saginaw, who worked for the Pere-Marquette Railroad as a yardmaster; and a sister, Alice Mann, who lived in Clio — all were born in Canada.

In Canada, her father owned and operated a lumber yard which was destroyed by fire resulting in the family's move to Detroit where Mr. Lumby worked as a mill engineer.

When Minnie was 16 the family moved to Flint where her father had purchased a farm, and there she stayed until coming to Pontiac in 1881.

Mrs. Richardson said that in those days there was no electricity. Bracket lamps were attached to walls for gas lighting.

She laughingly recalls how, while playing the organ at church, her musical selections frequently were interrupted when the young man whose duty it was to pump the bellows would fall asleep, leaving her fingering the keys with no sounds coming forth.

MET AT CHURCH

It was in the church choir that Mrs. Richardson met her first husband, Garret W. Cannons, who then was teaching at Union Lake School. Following their marriage Mr. Cannon operated G. W. Cannon's Confectionary here in the city, being the first one to introduce grapefruit to Pontiac. (Our own Joe Haas already has highlighted that item in his Man About Town column.)

Born to the couple were three children, Lucinda, Homer, and George. Lucinda, now Mrs. Joseph A. Buddenborg of Walled Lake, with whom Mrs. Richardson resides, is the only surviving child.

Fond memories of buggy rides to the church and Sunday evening song sessions at the piano with father singing were recalled by Mrs. Richardson and her daughter during our interview.

Prior to his death in 1916 Mr. Cannons was president of the Rural Mail Carriers. In fact, what is now Pontiac's Virginia avenue formerly was named Cannons street in his honor.

Perhaps some folks may recall this area's tragic flu epidemic in 1918. At that time entire families were succumbing to the disease which developed into pneumonia.

BEGAN NURSING

At this period Mrs. Richardson began studying practical nursing to serve as an assistant to her brother, Dr. Lumby. In the ensuing years Mrs. Richardson utilized her training by practicing home nursing in Oakland County.

In 1938 she married William Richardson in Palm Beach, Fla. Mr. Richardson, who died in 1948, was superintendent of the DUR, the old street car company which traveled from Pontiac to Detroit.

A gracious and active lady, Mrs. Richardson enjoys crochet work which she still does, creating neat and intricately designed doilies and tablecloths. Piano playing, at which she also excels, and gardening are other favorite activities. "I have a real green thumb," she says.

Mrs. Richardson's staunch Christian convictions were evident throughout her conversation. "God is so good," she stressed, "and we all should love Him so."

★ ★ ★

As our photographer was leaving her home following the visit, loaded with cumbersome photographic paraphernalia, Mrs. Richardson commented: "It seems almost everyone has a 'Kodak' these days."

Voter Club to Support Convention

League Speakers Will Explain State Ballot Proposal

A speakers bureau to inform local voters on the need for a state constitutional convention is planned by the Pontiac League of Women Voters.

The Pontiac chapter has studied the constitution as its state item for the past two years. It will work with other leagues in the state, to create public interest on the convention issue which will be on the November ballot.

Planning the educational drive in Pontiac are Mrs. John Borsvold, Laura Belz, Betty Halsey, Mrs. Floyd Smith, Mrs. Fred Steinbaugh, and Amy Krueger.

The group met Wednesday evening in the Krueger home to plan ways and means of getting out the November vote. According to Michigan law a majority of those voting for governor in the election must vote favorably on the convention proposal, in order to have it pass.

McConnell PTA Views Film on Alcoholism

Mrs. Frances W. Kessler, director of the Pontiac Alcoholism Information Center, was guest speaker when members of the McConnell School PTA met in the school auditorium Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Kessler presented a film and explained the work of the center, pointing out that the service of this organization is free.

Mrs. John Lutzkiw and Mrs. Ira Irwin presided at the tea table.

Malkim PTA Hears Panel

"The Exceptional Child" was discussed by a panel consisting of William Wright, chairman; Mrs. Wilson B. Roback, speech correctionist; Mrs. Gerald Flessland, teacher of deaf and hard of hearing, and Ann Lundblad, occupational therapist.

Occasion for the discussion was the Thursday afternoon meeting of Malkim School PTA.

Lifesaving, Languages, Crafts Offered

YWCA Slates Courses for New Term

Winter term classes offered by the YWCA will include a 20-hour senior life saving course, taught by Mrs. John Streit.

Additional courses, which begin Wednesday, will include conversational French, to be taught by the Rev. Francois Jochmans, father of musician and teacher Robert Jochmans, who has been in this country for only one year.

Methods of making varieties of homemade and hand-dipped candies will be demonstrated in the candy making class to be conducted by Mrs. Harry Ambler.

Included in the varied crafts interest group class, conducted by Mrs. Raymond Ellsworth, will be a millinery workshop.

Other classes offered this term will include bridge, both morning and evening, taught by Mrs. Ericson Lewis; sewing, both morning and evening, Mrs. Otto Gabert; copper and enamel jewelry, taught Wednesday mornings by Mrs. Clarence Kluesner; cake decorating with Mrs. Robert Hines on Thursday morning; ceramics on Wednesday morning by Mrs. Daniel Sipley; wood fiber flower craft taught Thursday mornings by Mrs. Lewis Carpenter.

The more active set may prefer to take swimming and "slimnastics" on Wednesdays under the guidance of Mrs. Leonard Buzz, or to bowl on Thursdays at the Motor Inn. The YWCA's health education classes are held in the pool and gym of the YMCA.

A coffee hour precedes both the Wednesday and Thursday morning classes at YWCA. Noon programs of a varied nature are scheduled frequently, according to Mrs. William A. Crisp Jr., chairman of the Young Adult Committee.

NURSERY SERVICE

Nursery service for members' children between the ages of two and one-half to five years is available at the YWCA on Franklin boulevard both Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. for a nominal fee. Nursery teachers include Mrs. Hazel Beutler, supervisor; Mrs. Leslie Pickup and Mrs. Leo Vaillancourt.

A dessert luncheon for instructors was given by Mrs. Crisp and her committee this week as a prelude to the 10-week term.

MR. and MRS. HERBERT LAWSON

Open house celebrating 50 years of married life will be held in the Elizabeth Lake road home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lawson Sunday from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. Among their seven children are Mrs. Louise Hayhurst of Terre Haute, Ind., Clarence Lawson of Clarkston, Mrs. Laura Tinnin, Robert Lawson, Mrs. Florence Schroeder, Mrs. Betty Shaw and Richard Lawson, all of Pontiac. The couple has 10 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Holy Land Gardens Discussed

Following a short business meeting, the program was turned over to the co-chairmen of the day, Mrs. William H. Mustard and Mrs. Harry Winkley, who were assisted by Mrs. John Armstrong, Mrs. Lulu Luby and Mrs. A. D. Stimer.

Guest speaker for the day, Mrs. John P. Carritte Jr., discussed "Gardens and Flowers of the Holy Land." Highlighted in her talk were the Cedars of Lebanon, the gardens in the Atlas Mountains, desert flowers, and the Holy Land's four different climates.

She quoted scripture references for each flower and tree mentioned, among which were the sycamore, cypress, olive, date and fig trees.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Carritte, who lives in Pleasant Ridge, has traveled extensively through Iran, Italy, Switzerland, Germany and France.

Don't Be Hasty in Banishing Them

Dimpled Knees May Be an Asset

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "What can I do to get rid of fat knees. I am not overweight but my knees are fat."

A. Don't be too quick to try to banish them. Most folks think that dimples are prettier than bones. As a matter of fact, it is most difficult to reduce the knees. Vigorous massage or kneading the fat on the knees between the fingers and heels of the hands may be helpful.

Q. "I am 15½ years old, 5 feet 2½ inches tall and weigh 99 pounds. Should I lose or gain?"

A. You are a lot underweight and should gain.

Vigorous massage or kneading the fat on the knees between the fingers and the heels of the hands may be helpful.

Q. "I am 5 feet 8½ inches tall and weigh 151 pounds. My bust measures 35, waist 27 and hips 40 inches. Please tell me what is wrong with my measurements and how I can improve them."

A. You are not much overweight for your height. I would guess that you should lose about 5 pounds. Take hip and waist-slimming exercises while watching your diet a bit. Your hips are most out of proportion.

Q. "Please tell me what is wrong with my friend's measurements. She is smallboned. Height, 5 feet 5 inches; weight, 108 pounds; bust, 32 inches; waist 24 inches."

A. Your friend is about 15 pounds underweight. Her measurements are good ratio. She should gain all over.

Q. "Can you tell me how late in the fall one can wear patent leather slippers? Can you wear them through the winter?"

A. Patent leather shoes usually are thought of as shoes for spring. In other words, they usually are worn with lightweight clothes through the spring, summer and very early fall.

Q. "I have such large hands that I am self-conscious. I try not to be but just can't help it. What could I do to make them look smaller"

A. You are certain to make them more noticeable if you are self-conscious about them, because in trying to hide them you will assume awkward positions. Do forget them except to see that they are well-groomed. It also would be best to avoid bright nail polish.

Mama and Papa Reveal Their Identity by the Viewpoints They Voice

By RUTH MILLETT

Can you guess whether it's Mama or Papa speaking?

"I'm not being hard on the boy. He simply has to learn to take responsibility."

"You expect too much of him. After all, he's only a child."

"What do you mean she has to have a new formal? What's the matter with the one she has?"

"Quit worrying about that boy. He's old enough to take care of himself."

"You can go to bed if you want to, but I'm going to wait up for Junior."

"That boy friend of Dorothy's must think he lives here. Doesn't he have a home of his own?"

"Shssh . . . Do you want him to hear you? You'll embarrass Dorothy to death!"

★ ★ ★

"A 14-year-old boy having to send a corsage to a girl for a high school dance! That's the silliest thing I ever heard of."

"Girls expect corsages. Of course, he has to send her one."

"That's the laziest kid I ever saw. All he does around this house is eat and sleep. When I was his age . . ."

"You forget he's a growing boy. Besides, I'll bet you were just as lazy as he is when you were his age."

Madison PTSA Hears Panel at Meeting

"What I Expect From My Parents—What Parents Expect From Their Children" was the topic of a panel discussion presented when the Madison Junior High PTSA met in the school's "little theater" Thursday evening.

Parents on the panel were Mrs. William Simpson and Denzil Lougheed. Penny Pritchard and Don Maxim were student participants. Mrs. Clark Balch of Madison Junior High School was panel moderator.

★ ★ ★

During the business meeting, the group voted to support a revision of the existing curfew law. A recommendation was made by the scholarship committee that members support another student in the near future.

Mrs. Sidney Olson, finance chairman, announced plans for the Feb. 14 "Valentine Festival."

Entertainment was presented by the Ninth grade chorus under the direction of David Stimac, with Mrs. William Coffing accompanying at the piano. Refreshments were served by the eighth grade mothers in the cafeteria.

Farewell Party Held

Mrs. Peterson Feted

Fourteen guests attended a pink and blue shower honoring Mrs. Carl Peterson, given Wednesday evening. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Edna Brown, in whose Pontiac road home the event was held, and Mrs. Ralph Weir.

First Christian Units Hold Joint Meeting

Mrs. James Vaughn was in charge of a program on the theme "For Better or for Worse," which was presented by Mrs. B r a d y Adams and Mr. and Mrs. John Appleton.

Occasion for the program was C h r i s t i a n Woman's Fellowship meeting of First Christian Church. The group was hostess to members of Christian Men's Fellowship Tuesday evening.

Participating in the program were Mrs. W. F. Tompkins and Mrs. Paul Colton. Officers of CWF served refreshments.

Two New Members for Rebekah Circle

Mrs. James Nood and Mrs. Leonard Templeton were received as new members of Rebekah Circle of Oakland Park Methodist Church Wednesday evening in the Breaker street home of Mrs. Templeton.

Mrs. Clayton Gillis and Mrs. John Fuller took part in the program. Mrs. Albert Barker and Mrs. G i l b e r t Tschabrun were guests. The 14 members present worked on cancer pads.

Club Plans Party

January birthdays were honored when Dames of Malta 184 met Wednesday evening in Malta Temple. Mrs. Don Bussard, ways and means chairman, announced a Feb. 14 card party.

The dressy two-piece with cowl-draped back and curved hipline suits many sizes and is new for afternoon and cocktail wear.

We are used to the two-piece in sports and general day-wear types. Now comes the dressier type and it may appeal to the conservative more than the one-piece chemise. In supple crepe, it flatters and hides the not-so-perfect proportions.

Dear Abby . . . .

Give Consideration to Her Reputation

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a man, 38 years old, am divorced from my wife and have three children who live with her. I recently met a wonderful girl, who is 20, through renting a room in the home of her parents.

ABBY

I am in no hurry to get married again, but if I ever do it will be to this girl. Her friends say it is wrong of me to take up her time without marrying her, and also that it looks bad that we are living in the same house.

Now don't you think a man has a perfect right to live the way he wants to without interference from others?

KARL

DEAR KARL: A fellow's "right" to swing his arms ends where the other fellow's nose begins. Consider the girl's reputation.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of an old grouch who sits on his porch and just prays that the ball we are playing with lands in his yard because he said he would keep any ball that fell on his property?

He kept one ball but my father made him give it back. Please print this, Abby, it might do him some good.

BUTCH, BOB, ROD AND JEFF

DEAR BOYS: I think this old fossil should leave himself to the Smithsonian Institution. He obviously never was a boy.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have been madly in love with my dentist for six years. He was single, but got married right in the middle of my treatments. It broke my heart but I didn't say anything.

His marriage blew up and now he is in the process of getting over it. I still go to him for my teeth and he hugs me after every appointment.

I finally asked him if there was any future in me hanging around waiting for him and he said I had better find someone else. What should I do?

MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED: You had better find yourself another molar mechanic . . . and take his advice . . . find another boy friend.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What is to be done about a man who will not do any repairing in his own home but will break his neck to help everyone else?

He is always helping his brothers (and neighbors who mean nothing to us), but just let him need some help in putting up screens or painting the garage and they all disappear like we have the smallpox. Any suggestions you offer will be appreciated as this place is falling apart.

DISGUSTED WIFE

DEAR DISGUSTED: Give your husband f a i r warning. Tell him if he doesn't buckle down and keep his own home in good repair, you will call in professionals — and send him the bill.

★ ★ ★

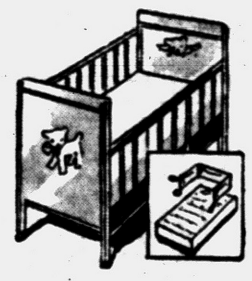

CONFIDENTIAL TO C. C.: If she is "physically repulsive" to you, don't consider marrying her. She may have a beautiful mind, but you have to marry the whole girl.

★ ★ ★

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Don't Expect Children to Respond Alike

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

* * *

His two older daughters expressed themselves enthusiastically; the youngest showed reserve. The king was pained and outraged by the third child's refusal to duplicate their sisters' response to him. Maddened by disappointment, he set loose forces which destroyed him, his kingdom, his children and his friends.

He was King Lear—and William Shakespeare's idea of tops in parental foolishness.

But we do not learn from poets.

Today Mrs. Jones will bring home new sweaters to her two boys. Tom, 8, will say enthusiastically, "Gee, Mom it's cool! It's just what I wanted!"

* * *

But Harry, 11, will show reserve. Exactly like King Lear, his mother will press him to duplicate his brother's enthusiasm.

SHE'LL COMPLAIN

When, like Cordelia, he insists on being himself, she will complain angrily to his father, "Why isn't Harry an outgoing child like Tom? There is never any satisfaction in doing anything for him."

* * *

However, we are sometimes willing to learn from psychiatrists.

Dr. Alexander Wolf is one. A specialist in group psychotherapy, he said to me the other night:

"Group treatment is especially useful to people who expect everyone to respond to them in the same say. They learn to alter this expectation. They learn to question the childishness in themselves that is made uncomfortable by anything different or unexpected in others' reactions to them."

King Lear's demand for sameness in his children produced his tragedy. Shakespeare makes a daughter say of him, "He hath ever but slenderly known himself."

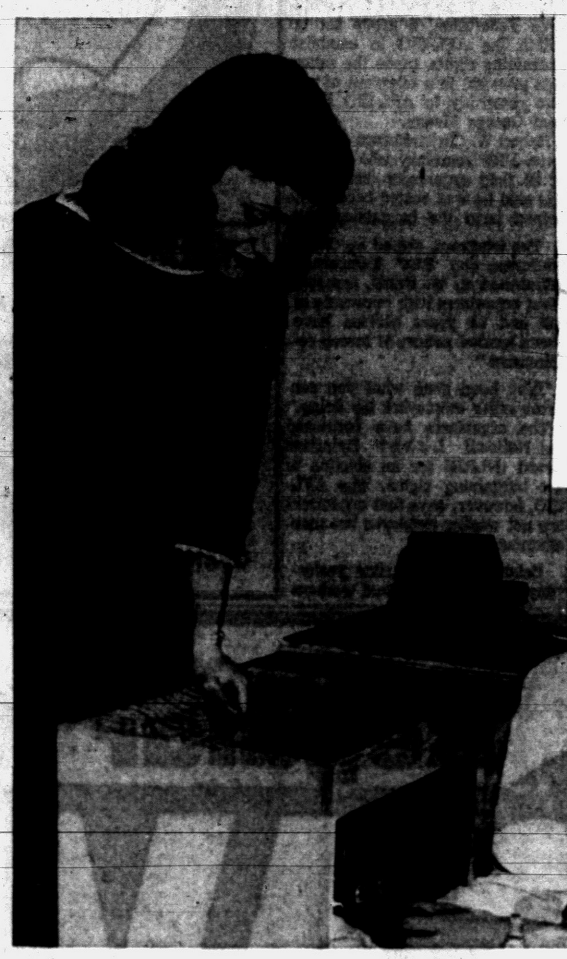

* * *

If we feel hurt when one child fails to respond to us like his brother, we may find other relationships constantly disappointing, too.

UNCONSCIOUS FEAR

We may cling to a friend who sends us birthday cards and withdraw from one who doesn't. If our new butcher fails to crack jokes with us, we may go out of our way to take our business to the old butcher who does.

Like Lear' our actions are based not on the worth of the friend or the meat we purchase but in our unconscious fear of anything new in human response.

Besides preaching and serving as the new pastor of Bethel Evangelical and Reformed Church, Auburn Ave. at Mariva Ave., the Rev. Donald R. Gabler likes building, sports and photography. With Mrs. Gabler, he is making a combination cabinet for a radio and record player. They reside on Mark avenue.

Group Told About Miss Earhart

Mrs. John Hammond of Grosse Pointe told members of the Zonta Club of her acquaintanceship with Amelia Earhart at the Thursday meeting held at Hotel Waldron.

Mrs. Hammond who has been a licensed pilot for 27 years, and is a member of the Civil Air Patrol, established the first all-woman flying squadron, and has been active in the Powder Puff Derby.

A member of the Ninety-Niners which Miss Earhart founded, Mrs. Hammond said that this organization, like the Zonta organization, gives scholarships to deserving girls, in memory of Miss Earhart.

* * *

The speaker told of the courage of the famous aviatrix, her foresight and her willingness to work for her fellowman. Studying pre-medicine at Columbia University, Miss Earhart decided upon social work, later going to Boston as a worker at Denison House.

Having a poetic attitude toward flight, Mrs. Hammond said the aviatrix enjoyed most her solo flights.

Mrs. Chadd Mellinger announced the Inter-City dinner Feb. 13 at Devon Gables. Introduced as a new member was Mrs. Mildred Bennett, executive director of the American Red Cross.

Officers Are Installed

Officers were installed when nineteen members of Guild Seven met at All Saints' Episcopal Church Wednesday evening.

Mrs. William Wolfram will serve as president. Others taking office are Mrs. Philip Long, vice president; Mrs. Harold Steinbaugh, secretary; and Mrs. Frank Coad, treasurer.

Mrs. Wolfram named the following committees: devotions, Mrs. Bert F. E. Ede; ways and means, Mrs. Maurice Whitfield and Mrs. Belle Newman; publicity, Clarabelle Amidon; membership, Mrs. Margaret Long; Christian social relations, Mrs. Standish Sibley; United Thank Offering, Mrs. Roy Annett; Christian education, Mrs. Zar Crittenden; hostesses, Mrs. Joseph Flynn; telephone, Mrs. Maud Chambers; and coffee hour, Mrs. Larry Fraser.

* * *

Mrs. Ede, Mrs. Sibley, Mrs. Wolfram, and Mrs. Robert Niensteadt will attend the Convocation at Christ Church Cranbrook, Jan. 20.

Mrs. Ede and Mrs. Wolfram will represent the guild as delegates at the Convention of the Women of the Diocese to be held at the Masonic Temple, Detroit, February 4th and 5th.

* * *

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Elmer Quine and Mrs. L. B. Callely. The next meeting will be held February 12.

Suggestion Resented by Hostess

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: We have a married couple to dinner occasionally—sometimes alone and sometimes with other guests. Regardless of who is here this man will say, 'How about some bridge?' as soon as we leave the dinner table.

"I feel he is very much out of order and that it is up to the host or hostess to plan the entertainment. We enjoy playing bridge but we also like to converse with our friends. Don't you think it is rude for a guest to suggest what to do unless he has been asked?"

Answer: I agree with you that it is the hostess and not a guest who should suggest playing cards.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would appreciate it if you would settle a disagreement my boy friend and I have been having. He says that he read an article by you in which you said that it was improper and not in good taste to say "excuse me" after burping because it only draws attention to the person.

"He says you stated that it is better to say nothing and act as if it hadn't occurred. I think he is mistaken about this and can't believe that you have said any such thing. I think it very ill-bred not to say 'excuse me' after committing this offense."

Answer: One should make every effort not to burp, or at least to stifle the sound. But, if in spite of all, one does occur, it is best not to call further attention to it by saying "excuse me."

"Dear Mrs. Post: When dining in a restaurant where bread and butter plates are put at each place, is it proper to dip the edge of a cracker into the butter instead of using the butter knife?

Answer: While this is not strictly proper, it is not a habit for which one should be criticized.

Pennsylvania Club Will Meet Weekly

Members of the club have voted to hold meetings in the club room, 128 West Pike St., every weekend for the benefit of members and their wives.

Deborah Circle Has 2 Guests

Mrs. J. W. Deeg and Mrs. A. C. Kempf were guests of Deborah Circle of WSCS of Oakland Park Methodist Church. Mrs. J. L. Wagley of Hammond street was hostess with Mrs. Rowley Chase in charge of the program.

Mrs. Emerson Brown conducted the business meeting and announced the February meeting will be held in the East Kennett road home of Mrs. V. W. Gibbons.

PATRICIA E. FISHER

Mr. and Mrs. Fredolph Fisher of Lake Orion announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia E. Fisher, to Bert Stricklin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stricklin of Hillside drive. No date has been set for the wedding.

Sorority Sees Film, 'The Key'

Mrs. Ralph Wilson, program chairman, assisted by Mrs. Frank Jalosky, Mrs. Rudy Mazza, Betty Lou DeGroot, Mrs. Marvin Jones and Mrs. L. L. Schieffler presented a skit for the group following the business meeting.

Hostess for the evening was Mrs. Mazza of Avondale drive.

Sylvan Shores Group Meets

Mrs. Roger Webster was received as a new member of Sylvan Shores Women's Club when that group met Wednesday evening in the Sylvan Shores drive home of Mrs. James Nye.

Mrs. Donald Bradford, Mrs. George Newton, Mrs. Bert Denham and Mrs. Merle Moll served refreshments to the 30 members present.

Plymouth Unit Meets

The East Huron street home of Ethelyn Peterson was opened to members of the Plymouth Group of First Congregational Church Wednesday. Speaker for the evening was the Rev. Malcolm K. Burton. Vivian Thurman was cohostess for the affair.

Baptist Unit Meets

Mary Morton Union was in charge of a musical program for Anna Gordon WCTU when that group met at First Baptist Church. Mrs. R. E. Cole spoke on legislative matters at the Thursday meeting.

Can Reach Paris 'Regardless' of Weather

Reveals New Unmanned Plane

CHESHIRE, Conn. (AP)—A General Motors executive says the United States has a missile guidance mechanism which, if installed in an unmanned plane, could guide it from this country to Paris "regardless" of weather conditions.

Sherrod E. Skinner, executive head of GM's 13 accessories divisions, said yesterday:

"It is not a foregone conclusion that the Russians have a substantial lead in missilry and rocketry, not to mention the sciences generally, simply because they were successful in launching two earth satellites."

Skinner spoke at a dinner marking the 50th anniversary of the founding of General Motors which has a number of subsidiaries in this state.

Skinner described the mechanism as an "inertial guidance system" and said it was completely automatic, "capable of taking the place of a man" in either aircraft or ballistic missile.

"It is entirely independent of impulses or radiation from the ground or stars, and impervious to jamming or other unfriendly interference," he said.

The system has been thoroughly proved, including testing in actual flight, and has been processed, tooled and is ready for quantity production at GM's AC sparkplug division in Milwaukee, he added.

Psychologist Urges

Don't Stint Junior's Style

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)— By giving junior a little more leeway as a nonconformist, parents might be able to indirectly assist this country's scientific advancement.

The conclusion of a study by Dr. John Drevdahl, Oklahoma State University psychologist, was that creative ability stems from nonconformity in thinking and from an attitude of skepticism.

★ ★ ★

"Realization of the vital role environment plays in the development of the creative personality is of paramount importance to the U.S.," Drevdahl asserted. "It is only through continued scientific advancement, necessarily by creative persons, that this country can regain or maintain its position of leadership."

★ ★ ★

The psychologist has been conducting research on personality traits for the past four years, collecting data from questionnaires sent to 300 scientists and 150 artists and writers. They were promised anonymity in answering the questions.

In persons with intellectual levels of 120 IQ or higher, he found creativity depended upon personality traits. About one in five has an IQ of 120 or more.

Drevdahl said personality and not superior intelligence alone is the main factor in creativity.

By forcing the potential genius to confirm for the sake of conformity is a good way to bury his creative ability, he warned.

Goldwater Address in Detroit 'Delights'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan's two senators, Republican Potter and Democrat McNamara, expressed pleasure today that Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) will speak in Detroit—but for different reasons.

★ ★ ★

Some eyebrows were raised in Michigan Republican circles here when the Republican National Committee announced Wednesday Detroit "Salute to Eisenhower" that Goldwater will address the fund-raising dinner Jan. 20.

Goldwater has introduced a federal "right to work" or anti-union shop bill bitterly opposed by organized labor. Detroit's population is one of the most heavily unionized in the nation.

But Potter said he was not apprehensive about Goldwater's coming speech.

★ ★ ★

"I am delighted," Potter told a reporter, adding that Goldwater is a good speaker and that the selection was cleared through him.

A grinning, tongue-in-cheek McNamara said in a separate interview he shared Potter's opinion.

"I hope Barry (Goldwater) bears down on explaining his position on the federal right-to-work bill to my friends back home in Detroit," McNamara said. "I hope he plugs for it while he's there as a representative of the national Republican Party."

Assails AFL-CIO for Job Dropping

5 to 10 Per Cent Cuts in Staff Salary Asked to Help Save 100 Posts

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — The AFL-CIO, charged with failing to practice its preachings on labor organizing and job terminations, has been asked to consider staff salary cuts of 5 to 10 per cent so it can rehire 100 organizers who lost their jobs this week.

Leaders of the Field Representatives Federation, a group set up within the AFL-CIO to establish bargaining rights, made the salary cuts proposal in a telegram of protest yesterday to AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Robert W. Christofferson of Charlotte, FRF secretary who was one of 56 field organizers discharged, has said he was ousted because he helped form the bargaining unit.

The telegram, signed by Christofferson and FRF Temporary Chairman A. W. Bradt, asserted that organizers with "upwards of 30 and 35 years service have been handed notices of forced retirement."

"You have done what you condemn other employers for doing."

The organizers have petitioned the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) for an election to get bargaining rights. The AFL-CIO, however, says that organizers are not worker employes but management.

Schnitzler said earlier yesterday that of the 100 field workers relieved of their duties, 12 will be pensioned, 30 transferred to other staff positions and 56 discharged.

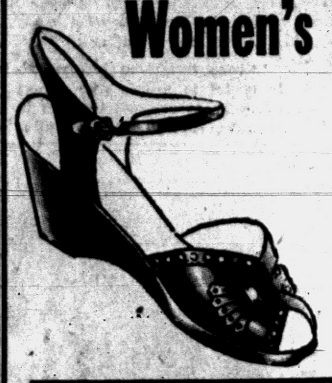

Schnitzler said the action was taken because of reduced finances and "the need for streamlining the staff to the current programs of the AFL-CIO." He added that efforts were being made to place "as many of these organizers as possible on the staffs of (AFL-CIO) unions."

The Clarkston High School Varsity Club will sponsor a dance tonight following the basketball game between Clarkston and Holly.

★ ★ ★

The Future Teachers' Club is going to begin its cadet teaching at the Clarkston Elementary School in two weeks. This program is designed to give members practical experience in working with children and also give them an idea as to some of the problems which face a teacher.

★ ★ ★

Each member will choose the grade, kingergarten through sixth, that he is most interested in teaching.

★ ★ ★

The FTA members will go to the elementary school one hour a week. This will continue through the second semester under the direction of Ruth Purslow.

Eastern Students Construct Weather-Forecasting Devices

Eighth grade students in science classes at Eastern Junior High School have been forecasting the weather this week with the aid of milk cartons, human hair, paper cups and pennies.

According to Maurice Levine, science instructor, the students in three of his classes have competed with the Pontiac Press weather predictions and with good results.

The students learned the basic fundamentals of forecasting during their study of the weather recently. From there, projects were started to make inexpensive weather instruments. The students have constructed hygrometers with human hair to determine the humidity and wind speed indicators with paper cups called anemometers.

They test their instruments on the roof of the school and according to Levine, have only been several temperature degrees or one mile in wind speed off from the actual readings.

One of the newest clubs at Eastern is the Archery Club. It was organized in September with thirty members. The boys are divided into three groups each with its own leader or captain. The groups are named William Tell, Robin Hood, and the Locksley. Archers advance by a point system.

FROM NOVICE TO HUNTER

A boy is called a novice until he has acquired 200 points. When he gets 200 points, he is called an archer. If he gets 300 points he is classed as an advanced archer. A hunter means he has 500 points.

Each boy furnishes his own equipment with the exception of the targets which are furnished by the club.

Sharon Drew, editor of The Arrow, Eastern student newspaper, has been chosen as girl of the month for January. Bob Sherman, who is the Teen Age Dance Committee chairman, is boy of the month. Students are selected for this recognition by The Arrow staff on the basis of popularity, activities and service to the school.

West Bloomfield Juniors Sponsor Two Dances

The junior class of West Bloomfield is making final preparations for a dance January 25. The dance is scheduled to be a "girl ask boy" sock hop.

It will feature music by local disc jockey, Chuck Lewis. Tonight's after-game dance will also be sponsored by the junior class.

Lake Orion Forms Weightlifting Club

The Lake Orion Community High School is starting to plan again since mid-semester exams ended yesterday.

Monday has been set as the date for tryouts for the student exchange assemblies. A committee of six faculty and student judges has been chosen by Thomas Sura, vice president of the student council.

The plans for a student administration day are under way with student council and national honor club members.

Nineteen members of Roselea Frances' 10th grade home economics class went to Stouffers Restaurant at the Northland Center for dinner Monday night. The purpose of the trip was to acquaint students with the manner in which food is served and the tables are set as well as an opportunity to apply the table manners learned in class.

Rochester Sophs Slate Carnival, Dance Saturday

More than 17 booths will be erected in the senior high gym for the carnival, which will be conducted from 1 to 5 p.m.

Saturday night, from 9 to 12, a dance will be held in the school cafeteria. The cafeteria will have a night club atmosphere, with top hats and canes.

Midway through the dance, there will be a floor show. Headlining the show will be Paul Lennon, comic, impressionist and singer. Nan Caronne, pop singer and Ron Gagnon, tap dancer, will also be featured.

★ ★ ★

The band will be the Jonny Johnson Quintet.

Co-Chairmen for the dance are John Chandler, president of the Sophomore class, and Carolyn Adler, treasurer of the class.

PCH Seniors to Attend Prom Together Tomorrow

By WILLIAM BANK

Pontiac Central High School January graduates are busy today preparing for the senior prom to be held tomorrow night.

Theme of the dance is "Mystic Interlude." It will be held in the girls' gymnasium from 9 to 12.

The co-chairmen of this event are Richard Elsholz and Marva Lowe. Assisting them are Marie Dworin, publicity and programs; Charles Law, tickets; Judith Hutchinson, decorations; Joanne Burkhart, patrons; Wilhemina Brown, refreshments; Fredrick Milton, post dance and Joyce Rose, music.

Sunday is another important day for the seniors. At 7:30 p.m. Baccalaureate services will be held in Central Methodist Church. The approximately 130 graduating seniors will hear Dr. Milton H. Marbach, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, speak on "Give Me This Mountain."

There are ten student teachers from Michigan State University at PCH this winter. Those who arrived last week include Dorthy Bell, Joseph Carruthers, Richard Casello, Kenneth Kaestner, Raymond Lawson, Patricia Napora, John Nellenvach, Virginia Monnett, Arlene Nichols and Jack Jourdain.

The teachers they assist are Helen Lapisch, Donald McMillen, Garth Errington, Arthur Van Ryzin, Leo Kawiecki, Ann Morrow and Geraldine Korody, Thomas Atkinson, Herbert Sanford, Orra Muter and Robert Rickard, respectively.

The courses they are practice-teaching in vary from English, social studies, speech and physical education to business education, speech correction and journalism.

Last week the Future Teachers Club elected new officers. They are Ronald Miller, president; Jackie Presby, vice president; Eunice King, secretary; Fannie Johnson, treasurer, and Jeanne Andrews, historian.

BIOLOGY OFFICERS

The recently elected Biology Club officers include Ronald Hoekman and Donald Mann as president and vice president, respectively. Other officers are Patricia Kline, secretary; Sue Smith, treasurer; Gregory Uligan, reporter; John Blamey III, historian.

Two of the $100 scholarships of the "Y" service clubs of the high school have recently been awarded. The Hi-Y scholarship was given to Mike Hardiman, 423 Highland Ave., while the Y-Teen scholarship was given to Merrie Cantarella, 684 Auburn Ave.

83 Honored at Assembly Today

Henry Named Washington Council Head

Gary Henry has been named president of the Washington Junior High School Student Council.

Other officers elected recently include: Alan Buchman, vice president and Linda Olds, secretary-treasurer. These new officers will preside during second semester.

At the semi-annual honors and awards assembly today presentations were made to 83 boys and girls. The gold "W" went to four girls; Kathy Calhoun, Loretta Nosanchuk, Mary Shadley, and Sue Ann Terry. Silver "W's" were awarded to thirty others. The certificate award was bestowed to 49 youngsters.

All students are getting ready for next week, the last week of the first semester. School will be dismissed for the students Thursday noon. Classes will be resumed on January 27.

AT MADISON

The main activity at Madison Junior High School this week is "Share the Clothing Week." All students are urged to bring clothes to school which they no longer use, so that they may be shared with needy children in the community.

Madison's gymnasium was again the scene of the weekly Teen Club on Thursday night. The program offers dancing and recreation activities on alternate Thursdays.

During this week's program recreational games were featured. These included table tennis, basketball, badminton, volley ball. The high point of the evening was the unveiling of the school's new trampoline which was earned during the recent magazine drive.

AT LINCOLN

Lincoln Junior High School students are designing and creating ceramic pieces in their art classes. The new kiln is being used by Margaret Burrette, art instructor, who completes the firing of the objects produced in her classes.

Artistic pieces made by Nancy Salvador, Jackie Vess, Marilyn Van Buskirk, Judy Hoyt and Carmen Weber have been displayed in the exhibition cases in the lobby of the school.

The Boys' Glee Club have elected officers for the new semester. They are Art Keen, president; John Pence, secretary; J. B. Springer, vice-president and Daniel Tyson, treasurer.

Solicit Funds for Polio Victims Today, Tomorrow

By PAT FOSTER

Teens Against Polio (TAP) is now well underway locally with a membership of more than 300 students including those from St. Frederick High School.

The annual blue crutch sale will be held today and tomorrow in the downtown area, to solicit funds for polio victims.

A newcomer to the school this week when they notice people running up and down the stairs with no apparent destination may have arrived at the conclusion that track practice was beginning rather early this year.

The varsity club is sponsoring a sock-hop January 25 in the school hall. Refreshments will be provided and a disc-jockey will spin the records.

Students will be engrossed in their studies during the next few days since mid-term exams are scheduled for the coming week. A semester holiday will be the reward for their efforts January 24.

Also next Friday the first annual sodality institute will be held at Girl's Catholic Central in Detroit.

At this time sodalists from St. Fred's and Catholic schools throughout the diocese will be given a deeper insight into the sodality as a way of life. It is hoped they will be able to realize more fully how sodality helps them to live a better life socially, scholastically, and spiritually.

St. Mike's Sells 'Slaves' to Raise Polio Funds

By MICHAEL BUCHANAN

The Student Council of St. Michael High School tried something different this week.

A total of $60 was collcted during the auction. The "masters," the members of the class, had control of the slaves to carry books or anything within reason, throughout the day.

Tonight and tomorrow, St. Mike's will join area schools and participate in a downtown street corner donation collection for Blue Crutches for the March of Dimes.

Final exams are being taken this week and next in preparation for report card markings. All students seem to be studying a little harder this week.

Opposes Calling of Convention

State Townships Assn. Says Constitution Can Be Changed Gradually

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Townships Assn. has gone on record as opposed to the calling of a state convention to revise the state constitution.

Association members, winding up their annual convention here yesterday, declared that any changes in the constitution should come about through gradual amendment as in the past.

This way, the resolution declared, individual amendments can receive more careful study and consideration than if many amendments were submitted under a general revision.

The group also voted to plan for a conference with the governor, similar to the recent mayor's conference, to discuss township problems.

Township officials, in other resolutions:

Called for abolishment of the Michigan Turnpike Authority.

Proposed an increase in the deductible millage feature of the school aid formula from 2¾ mills to four mills.

Opposed any move to abolish the office of justice of the peace.

Favored an increase in the forest lands tax from five cents to 10 cents an acre.

Protested an "across the board" increase in state equalized valuations by the State Board of Equalization.

Opposed any diversion of highway funds for State Police patrol purposes.

Declared townships should be allowed to vote extra millage for the purchase of fire fighting equipment.

Opposed any change in the law permitting a farmer to shoot an unaccompanied dog.

Victor Eckhardt of Lake Odessa was named association president. Elected vice presidents were Francis Drake of Crystal Falls, Milford Mellon of Ashland and Clark Most of Mendon Township. Roy R. Lindsay of Plymouth Township was named treasurer and Zae Robinson of Union City was reelected secretary.

For Financing Evergreen-Farmington Sewer Project

To Ask Supervisors' OK on Bond Issue

Approval of the bond issue to finance the Evergreen-Farmington sewer project will probably be asked of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors within the next two months, Harold K. Schone, acting director of the Department of Public Works, said today.

Plans for the two-section, $8.6 million-plus project are now awaiting State Health Dept. approval.

CONTRACTS SIGNED

Schone said contracts with the communities in the Farmington project ($4,383,000) are signed. Being readied are similar contracts with municipalities in the Evergreen job ($4,308,621).

Realizing the difficulty being encountered with Twelve Town drain project, Schone expressed confidence that no such snag would hit the Evergreen-Farmington plans.

"Since the need for these interceptor sewer systems is there," he said, "and since the plans have been underway for nearly five years, I don't forsee any such difficulty."

MUST GIVE OK

Supervisors must give three-fifths approval of the general obligation (full faith and credit) bond measure. If approved, permission to issue the bonds would go before the State Municipal Finance Commission.

Depending on these two approvals, construction work on the entire two systems should start mid-summer, the county official believed.

Although the project has beeen planned two-fold, he said work would be done concurrently on both sections.

To benefit from the Farmington system will be the city of Farmington, Keego Harbor, parts of West Bloomfield, Farmington and Southfield Townships.

Clubs, Organizations List Officers

Hold January Elections

Clubs and organizations in a number of Oakland County and area communities have announced their new officers, following January election meetings.

Almont

Almont Volunteer Firemen elected Willard Abraham as assistant chief; Robert Voss, secretary-treasurer; and Kenneth Stine, rescue leader.

At the same meeting, citations were awarded to two retiring firemen by Fire Chief Jack Nelson. Cleo Keller was cited for 34 years' service, and Robert Crowell for 33 years with the department. Three new members, Leonard Robinson, Jerry Wright and Robert Edwards, were welcomed into the department.

Imlay City

First Baptist Church Ladies Aid has elected Mrs. Grant Fritch as its president; Mrs. Neil Taylor, vice president; Mrs. Chauncey Baer, secretary; and Mrs. T. K. Buchanan, treasurer.

Lapeer County Bowmen named Robert Shoemaker of Hadley as the group's new president. Ronald Reamer of Lapeer was elected vice president; Mrs. Harold Bray of Imlay City, secretary-treasurer; and Brian Seaman of Lapeer, captain.

Marlette

Marlette Township United Community Chest has announced new directors and officers.

Mrs. Baron Benoit and Mrs. Norman Smith will serve three-year terms on the board of directors. They replace retiring directors Robert Hager and Jim James.

Mrs. Stanley Herron was elected president; Lionel Gibb, vice president; Mrs. Leonard Smith, secretary; and Roy Weigert, treasurer.

The directors voted at the annual meeting to apportion $500 of the $1,000 raised for cancer to Marlette Community Hospital for cancer detection, and the other $500 to University of Michigan Hospital and Wayne State Medical School for cancer research. A $50 donation to the Watertown School for Mentally Retarded Children also was approved.

Metamora

At its annual meeting this week, Pilgrim Congregational Church re-elected Lee Whiteman as superintendent of the Sunday school and Richard Rose as his assistant. Mrs. Bill Skellenger was named treasurer and Mrs. Ronald Walker, secretary for the school unit.

Trustees elected were Richard Rose, Mrs. John Klutz, A. D. Francis and Mrs. Don Hardwick. William Selleck was given the position of deacon; Mrs. Lloyd Jakubos, deaconess.

Re-elected were Mrs. Fern Brower, clerk; and Miss Maude Martin, treasurer.

Senior Young People's group also chose officers at its recent meeting. Elected were Norman Brower, president; Dick Whiteman vice president; Marian Dudley, secretary; Barbara Klutz, treasurer; and Connie Phile, song leader.

South Lyon Rebekah Lodge 485 installed officers as follows: Mrs. Gertrude Duncan, noble grand; Mrs. Dora Schuster, vice grand; Mrs. Myrtle Morrow, recording secretary; Mrs. Dolores Oakley, financial secretary; Mrs. Alice Herald, treasurer; Mrs. Elsie Oakley, right supporter noble grand; Mrs. Alice Browne, left supporter noble grand; Mrs. Grace VanBuren right supporter vice grand; Mrs. Hazel Kluck, left supporter vice grand; Mrs. Alma Stead, chaplain; Mrs. Iris Ressler, conductor; Mrs. Edna O'Dell, warden; Mrs. Editha Dean, inside guardian; Mrs. Thelma Musolf, outside guardian; and Mrs. Gladyce Viles, musician.

Auburn Heights

Other officers are H.C. Newingham, vice president; Carl Pike, secretary; Dave Andrews, treasurer. Steve NaVarre will continue as a board member.

The club's goal for 1958 is to erect a building on the property donated to the club by Wendell Crisp, Robert Mutter and Kenneth Crisp.

Avon Memorial Library Posts Saturday Hours

ROCHESTER — The Avon Township Memorial Library on W. Fifth street will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturdays, beginning tomorrow, it has been announced.

The Saturday morning "Story Hour," conducted by Miss Lynn Tolhurst from 10 to 11 a.m., will be discontinued as of this week. It will be resumed April 5.

The library also is open week days from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. It is closed on Sundays.

Order Season's Labor Now Local Area Farmers Invited

Growers in the Oakland County area have been invited to order their farm labor for the next season this winter through the "Annual Work Plan for Migratory Workers," conducted by the Employment Service Division of Employment Security Commission.

The work plan, which has undergone two successful seasons of testing, last year placed some 1,500 migrant workers on more than 250 farms in and near Oakland County, the commission reported. On a state basis, more than 24,000 short-time jobs on Michigan farms were filled through this prearranged program.

"The program offers farmers a logical way of assuring adequate workers and also gives the migrant worker a full schedule of employment before leaving his home for the season," said Earl White, farm placement supervisor for this area, whose headquarters is at the State Employment Security Commission office, 142 Wayne St., Pontiac.

White has invited growers in this area to visit or call his office, FE 2-0191, as soon as possible to discuss their work needs for the coming season.

TIME SAVER

Under the work plan, employment officials line up a whole series of jobs and prepare a full schedule of employment before the migrant worker leaves his home for the season. Thus, the migrant family or crew can move quickly from one job to the next without losing time in search of work.

The schedule also enables growers to get in touch with workers after they have left their home base, lending flexibility to the program and making it easier for growers to be assured of a sufficient numbers of workers when they are needed.

MAY SPECIFY

"The plan is simple," White said. It works this way:

The grower specifies how many workers he expects to need, for what crop activity and the approximate dates they will be required. If he wishes to hire a certain family or crew, to get help from a certain state, he may specify that in his order.

The grower's order is sent to various employment services offices of the labor supply states having labor available. Employment representatives call the specified family or crew leader and offer them jobs. If they accept, the preparation of the schedule of work is started. If no particular groups are requested, employment representatives attempt to fill the order from among the applicants who apply for such work.

White emphasized that the work plan does not commit the growers or workers to any more responsibilities than the usual informal offer and acceptance of a job. The grower may cancel his order, if he finds out later that he has no need for the workers, or he may raise or lower the number of workers required or alter dates of need if necessary.

It is much easier to make necessary changes after a work schedule has been prepared, because the whereabouts of the groups throughout the season are known. The grower should, however, notify the office where the order for workers was placed so that if necessary, jobs may be found with other employers before the workers arrive.

White admitted that the system is not foolproof, but said that a much higher percentage of scheduled workers keep their commitments than those who follow the old informal job acceptance plan. He also stated that growers should report immediately to the office where the order was placed if the scheduled crew or group fails to show up on the date requested so that the office may take steps to trace the group or find other workers in time.

ALL SERVICE FREE

All employment services offered by Michigan Employment Security Commission are free.

In addition to the Pontiac office, other farm labor representatives are located at 118 W. Church St. in Adrian and 11 W. Vine St. in Monroe.

MELISSA ANN WATTS

Mr. and Mrs. Doyce Watts, of 2858 Buick St., Waterford Township, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Melissa Ann, to Gordon K. Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Bailey, of 8782 Sashabaw Rd., Clarkston. The wedding date hasn't been set.

ALMA—The Alma College Chapel was the scene of the marriage of Lois Marie Hammar of Alma and Ensign Clifford R. Wood Jr. The rite was performed by the Rev. D. E. Engstrom of Salem Lutheran Church, Flint.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert G. Hammar of Alma. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Wood, of 2740 Grandview Dr., Drayton Plains.

Harold Wood of Drayton Plains, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Stanley Laarkin and Donald Dryden, both of Drayton Plains, were ushers.

★ ★ ★

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall of First Presbyterian Church following the service.

Board Will Consider Assistant to Assessor

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The Farmington Township Board will meet in a special session Saturday to decide on an appropriation for an assistant tax assessor.

★ ★ ★

At the board's regular meeting earlier this week, the board refused to make such an appropriation basing its refusal on grounds that Supervisor Frank J. Stephenson had appointed an assistant before consulting the board about money. Some board members also objected to a proposed $5,500 annual salary for the assistant.

★ ★ ★

These problems will be worked out Saturday, Stephenson said.

The board also will consider a request of St. Paul's Lutheran Church for the annexation to the city of 5½ acres of church property on Gill road.

The appointing three members to the planning board will be left over until the next regular meeting.

Time to Register in Orion Primaries

LAKE ORION—The village office at 37 E. Flint St. will remain open until 8 p.m. Monday in order to register voters for the primary election Feb. 17.

This is the last day citizens who have not voted in the past four years, or who are new to the community can register.

Regular office hours are from 9 a.m. to noon, and from 1:15 p.m. until 4:15.

★ ★ ★

The election promises to be a lively one, with W. C. Leipprandt, incumbent, and Clarence Braidwood, former police chief, running for the presidency.

Seeking seats on the Village Council are William O'Brien, Gilbert Woodcock and Grover Shimmons and incumbents Gordon Hazelton, Hugh Galloway and William Shoup.

Rosemary Avery Speaks Vows in Candlelight Rite

SOUTH LYON—Before an altar decorated with white stock, carnations and chrysanthemums, Rosemary Avery became the bride of Philip Elkow Saturday in the White Lake Methodist Church. The Rev. Asa Compton performed the candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Avery, of 450 W. Liberty St. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Cornell M. Elkow, of 5777 11 Mile Rd.

For her wedding, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of white satin and a lace jacket. Her fingertip veil was held by a rhinestone and pearl headpiece, and her corsage was of roses and scattered carnations centered with white rosees.

The bride's sister, Vera, was maid of honor. Walter Carlson of of Madison Heights served as his brother-in-law's best man. Ushers were Ronald Sweet of South Lyon and Neil Chalvin of Lansing, both cousins of the bridegroom.

Romeo Man Sees Unknown Object

ROMEO — Local police received a call last night from a Romeo man who had sighted an unknown object in the sky and said "It ain't no star."

Arthur Boulley, of 15860 E. 31-Mile Rd., reported seeing a strange phenomenom in the southeastern sky between 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. which flickered and changed color as it traveled.

Boulley, 31, an employe of Avon Tubing Co., Rochester, said he and his wife, Cecile, 30, had watched the unidentified moving object for more than an hour. He told how it was predominantly green with "flashes of yellow and red."

No other reports of the object were received by local or Romeo State Police.

Holly Votes March 10 on Government Change

HOLLY — At the annual village election March 10, the proposition to change to a city form of municipal government will be submitted. At the same time the members of a proposed charter committee are to be chosen.

This is being done in recognition of petitions bearing far more than the required number of signatures. This would mark the first change since the present village charter was granted by the legislature nearly a century ago.

Report Cattle Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan this month showed a 5 per cent decline from a year ago in the number of cattle and calves on feed for the quality slaughter market, says the Agriculture Department. This compared with a 3 per cent decline for the nation as a whole.

Bob Considine Says:

All U.S. Wars to 1918 Cost Under 74 Billion

NEW YORK (INS) — How much is $74,000,000,000, the sum this country will spend during the coming fiscal year? Lots of people must have yawned at the figure as they wondered, during a dinner of hot dog or a malted milk, whether to leave the counterman a dime or no tip at all. Astronomical figures have lost their meaning elsewhere, too.

Well, it has been written before and will be again, to little avail, but we could have made 4,833 Louisiana Purchases for the amount of money we'll spend this year. We could have bought 9,666 Alaskas. It is more than we spent on all U.S. wars from the war of Independence beyond World War I.

If you were born the day Christ was, and were still alive, and had been called upon to spend $74,000,000,000, you would have had to spend nearly $1.20 a second (24 hours a day), let's say $74 a minute, about $425 a hour, $10,440 a day, $73,080 a week, $292,320 a month and $3,507,840 a year. Give or take a few zillion.

We speak of billions today as casually as we speak of a bottle of aspirin. Yet there have been considerably fewer than three quarters of a million, not billion, days since the Nativity, only 17,000,000, not billion, hours, and just little over one billion minutes.

Our dog, a French poodle named Mimi, also known as Man's Worst Friend, is looking around for an English translator to express her indignation over Postmaster General Summerfield's arrogance.

"Alors!" she exclaimed only last night, after chasing a grocery boy, "how can this government stand? My country's governments fall at the drop of a, how you say, hat? Your government manages somehow to survive M. Summerville's heresy. He makes so bold as to say if a dog bites the postman, mail no longer will be delivered to the house of that dog.

"What is a dog to do for exercise, if he, or, in my case, she, cannot bite postmen? What fun will there be left in life? I can see only a dreary prospect. Henceforth, if this becomes law, I will lead not a dog's lift but, even more depressing, a man's. It is to weep."

For years, Bennett Cerf has been collecting arresting book titles for a certain room in his house. But for specialization we like Joe Williams' classic about the angry reader who returned Hemingway's "Across the River and Into the Trees" and demanded his money back. "I bought it thinking it was a book about golf," he thundered.

Junior Editors Quiz on GYPSIES

QUESTION: Where did Gypsies get their name?

ANSWER: The original Gypsies were groups of people who wandered over India about 1300 A. D. They called themselves "Romanies," but when some of them migrated to Egypt about 1400, they were called Gypsies—from the word Egypt. The name stuck, even as they spread through Europe and eventually came to the New World.

Early Gypsies were carefree people who wore bright clothes and enjoyed dancing and music. They made a living as metalworkers, blacksmiths, horse traders and fortune tellers.

In modern times, gypsy life is anything but gay. Most of the estimated one million Gypsies in the world—the majority of them in Hungary, Russia and Spain—have to beg for a living. A few small bands still roam over the United States.

Screen Stars Not to Blame

Los Angeles County Tops U. S. in Divorces

LOS ANGELES (AP)—This county leads the U.S. divorce parade, a sociologist says. But Hollywood's celebrated splitups aren't the reason why.

As for the national divorce rate, it's gradually declining, says Dr. Martin H. Neumeyer, head of the sociology department at the University of Southern California.

In Los Angeles County almost as many divorce, separate maintenance and annulment suits were filed last year—32,563—as there were marriage licenses issued—38,333.

To the total of divorces, screen notables contributed only 26 last year. The year before they accounted for 23.

★ ★ ★

Great mobility of the population is one factor, Dr. Neumeyer told an interviewer. Mobility tends toward more disorganization in family life, he said. He listed two other probable factors:

1. People come to Los Angeles County from other states where divorce laws and procedures are more rigid.

★ ★ ★

2. "We're not controlled by the traditions and customs (surrounding the breakup of a home) that they have in the East."

In other words, he said, public opinion here generally accepts, somewhat resignedly, the necessity for divorce.

Wings Push Hawks Deeper Into Cellar

Delvecchio Hits for Two Goals in 3-2 Victory

Triumph Is 5th Straight for Detroit to Keep Second Place

The Wings, paced by Alex Delvecchio's two goals on stolen pucks, dropped the Chicago Blackhawks deeper into the National Hockey League cellar with a 3-2 victory. The triumph was the fifth straight for the Wings.

Delvecchio set up his own goals both times by stealing the puck from the Hawks in their own zone and then beating Goalie Glenn Hall.

The Wings counted three times against the New York Rangers and the Hawks last week on similar plays. The goals were the payoff for scrappy forechecking.

Perhaps it is no coincidence that the Wings' forechecking stepped up when Abel assumed direction. In the early part of his NHL career, Abel was rated one of the top forecheckers in the game.

Delvecchio got his first goal last night while Detroit was shorthanded. He took a pass away from Pierre Pilote and beat the surprised Hall with a 30-footer. His second goal came after he stole a puck from Eddie Kachur and whipped a 10-foot shot past Hall.

Pilote collected Chicago's first goal and Ron Murphy picked up the second in a scramble at 9:31 of the final period.

Chicago pressured to get back in contention after Delvecchio's second goal gave the Wings a 3-1 lead, but Murphy's goal was the only successful shot.

Hall was pulled for the final 14 seconds and Gordie Howe, back in the lineup after a one-game absence, hit the open net. The goal was nullified, however, by an offside ruling.

★ ★ ★

Five Hit Double Figures in Victory

Pistons Finally Get Balance

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

The Pistons defeated the Philadelphia Warriors 113-108 last night as Yardley continued his high scoring efforts. Yardley collected 25 points and four other Detroit players broke into double figures.

It was one of the few occasions when Yardley was not alone in collecting points for Detroit.

Yardley broke numerous records Wednesday night when he scored 51 points but the Pistons had a "let George do it" night and lost to Boston 131-113.

Last night, Detroit spurted in the last three minutes for its victory after allowing Philadelphia to wipe out a 16-point edge.

The Warriors trailed 63-51 at halftime and Detroit increased its bulge to 67-51 before Philadelphia rebounded into contention. The Warriors evened it up at 82-82 shortly before the end of the third period.

"New" Coach Johnny Kundla took charge of Minneapolis in the National Basketball Assn. last night, but it was the same old story for the Lakers.

They were tagged with their 31st defeat in 40 games, 124-108 at Cincinnati, as the rolling Royals won their fifth straight. It also was Cincinnati's 10th success in 11 starts and pushed the Royals within 6½ games of the St. Louis Hawks, Western Division leaders, who were whipped 112-96 by Syracuse.

The Lakers, 17½ games behind in the Western, had a lot of glory days a few years ago under Kundla, who replaced the dismissed George Mikan Wednesday, and for a while it looked as though they were going to get a quick payoff from his return.

They led by 10 in the first period, but with Clyde Lovellette hitting from outside and Maurice Stokes doing the damage inside, the Royals had surged to a 60-48 lead at the half. Lovellette was high with 30 points while Stokes counted 23. Larry Foust and Vern Mikkelsen each scored 27 for the Lakers, whose third period try for a rally was stopped cold by a 10-0 Royal spurt.

Cincinnati's Robertson Hailed Best Cage Soph

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—Temple basketball coach Harry Litwack praised Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson today as "the best sophomore I've ever seen" and said the Bearcats were the finest team the Owls have faced.

★ ★ ★

But while Litwack's Holiday Festival champions were soundly beaten by Cincinnati in the third game of the season, the coach of the nation's eighth-ranked team said he thought "we might be able to beat them today."

★ ★ ★

Litwack, who has coached Temple to ten straight victories for an 11-2 record since the Owls' 23-point loss to Cincinnati, may get another chance in either the NCAA or NIT post-season tournaments.

★ ★ ★

Cincinnati is currently the nation's top offensive unit with an 86.8 per game average, and Robertson leads all scorers with a 32.7 average.

He has a total of 425 points in 13 games. Close behind is Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas with 32.2 point average.

Among the top 20, Ed Blair of Western Michigan, 6-4 junior who transferred from the U. of D. is hitting 21.8 per game.

As usual, San Francisco and Oklahoma State again top list of defensive teams with 49.2 and 49.5 points allowed respectively.

Area Ski Resorts Report Weekend Prospects Good

Ski enthusiasts of the Pontiac area are promised some excellent sport over the weekend, if there is no change in weather for the worse.

★ ★ ★

Reports today from Grampian Mountain resort, Mt. Holly, Summit Club at Fenton and Bald Mt. and Highland area's Teeple Hill, indicate that skiing will be available only at those areas where "machine" snow has amplified earlier natural cover. There is very limited, if any skiing at Teeple, Bald Mt., and Kensington Park. It's like Art Kollin of Pontiac Ski Club (Teeple Hill) says, "If it should snow tonight and Saturday, we'd have skiing."

Grampian Mt. reports 6 to 8 inches base with two inches fresh snow. All facilities are operating until 11 p.m. each night. Skiing is good.

Mt. Holly has 12-16 inches base, with two inches new snow. All tows and runs are in operation and skiing is excellent.

Similar conditions are reported for Summit Club, with good skiing, tobogganing and skating.

Skating at Kensington Park is also very good, a condition that holds for most Oakland County lakes.

Another "Murderers' Row" for Bombers?

New Muscle Power for Yanks

NEW YORK (INS) — Is Yogi Berra over the hill? Will the careers of Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron be ended prematurely by injuries?

Only the future can answer those questions about the "muscle" of the New York Yankee batting order, but if American League opponents are banking on such developments to cut the Yankees down to size, they probably will be disappointed.

The Bronx Bombers are carefully nurturing three young men in their Minor League system who are expected to form a "murderer's row" to maintain Yankee supremacy for years to come.

They are first baseman Marv Throneberry, catcher John Blanchard and outfielder Deron Johnson. The trio hit a combined total of 84 homers and drove in 312 runs in the minors last season.

Not one of the three is expected to make the team this season although they all will be examined either in the club's "rookie camp" or in spring training proper.

The one hole that the parent Yankees want to fill—left field—is expected to be plugged admirably by Norm Siebern, who had a previous trial in the Majors but was hampered by a leg injury.

Siebern, like Throneberry and Blanchard just 24 years old and a star with Denver of the American Association last season, was voted the "Minor League Player-of-the-Year" by Sporting News.

The lefthanded swinger led his league in hitting wtih .349 average, drove in 118 runs and connected for 338 total bases.

Manager Casey Stengel has said he is counting on Siebern to be a starter and Casey isn't often wrong.

Blanchard is expected to replace Berra behind the plate eventually. Like the 32-year-old Yogi, he was converted from an outfielder into a catcher by Bill Dickey, the Hall-of-Famie backstop.

Blanchard started slowly last season but nevertheless finished with a .310 average, 18 homers and 86 RBI's and was named to the all-star team.

If Skowron's back acts up again, Throneberry very likely will be the man called on to keep the run production line moving.

★ ★ ★

Of all the rookies, the one the Yankee varsity is awaiting most eagerly is the 19-year-old Johnson, who has had just one-and-a-half seasons of professional experience.

Daffy Fight Fans All Get Into Act

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The scheduled main attraction was relegated to virtual obscurity at Olympic auditorium last night when 4,200 fans went daffy over the 10-round semi-main event.

1. One fighter was decked between rounds.

2. At one point, both combatants were on the floor simultaneously.

3. The referee was attacked in the ring by a spectator.

4. The matchmaker eventually got into the ring himself—to protect the referee.

5. The fight ended when one of the participants fell off his stool.

It started out like a fair scrap. Morgan, 140, and Gutierrez, 144½, exchanged some nice deliveries, and the only irregular incident in the early going occurred when Morgan hit Gutierrez low by accident in the first round. He was docked a point.

The first hint that this was no ordinary affair came in the fourth when Morgan delivered a right that left Gutierrez in a horizonal posture. As Morgan stepped back to admire his work, he tripped over his own feet and fell backward to the deck.

Seconds after the fourth round ended, Morgan stumbled across the ring and let Gutierrez have it with a right to the chin. Gutierrez didn't go down. But the exhausted Morgan did, and had to be carried to his corner.

Morgan came back and managed to score two knockdowns in the fifth, but he was badly spent when it was over.

The many Mexican fans in the crowd were enraged at what he'd done to their hero before the fifth round started. As the sound and fury mounted, a burly Latin, unidentified, charged into the ring and started hammering on referee John Thomas. Several ringsiders hopped to the officials defense, and matchmaker George Parnassus joined them.

Debris was flying through the arena when the bell for round six sounded.

But it was all over. Morgan tried to get off his stool, but collapsed before he could take a step. It was a technical knockout for Gutierrez.

Thomas ruled that Morgan had not answered the bell for the sixth round. When this happens, under California rules, the decision reverts to the previous round.

Lopez Envisions Chisox as AL's 1958 Champions

CHICAGO (AP)—While the White Sox family is airing its soiled linen in a court feud over the club's stock, Manager Al Lopez is planning some whitewashing in the 1958 pennant race.

"With the club I have now, I think the White Sox will win the pennant," said the affable Senor.

★ ★ ★

He told newsmen at a White Sox party yesterday of his eagerness to shuck the bridesmaid mantle. Lopez finished second with the Sox last season, and previously his Cleveland Indians were runnersup five times.

Lopez guided the Tribe to the 1954 American League title. And he let it be known he is hungry for another.

★ ★ ★

Lopez said that the White Sox would have the best pitching staff in the league. He said the team jelled into champion caliber with two December deals that brought outfielder Al Smith and pitcher Early Wynn from Cleveland and pitcher Ray Moore, infielder Billy Goodman and outfielder Tito Francona from the Baltimore Orioles.

Lions' Gordy Coach Prospect

Rookie Lineman May Join Nebraska Staff as Assistant

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—John Gordy, former Tennessee football captain and a member of the Detroit Lions, today continued discussions with University of Nebraska officials about joining the Cornhusker staff as an assistant coach.

Nebraska coach Bill Jennings said he met with Gordy yesterday and would meet him again today.

"But nothing definite has been decided. We've just been talking," he said.

Montreal, NY NHL Winners

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Long-slumping Detroit suddenly has become the hottest club around in the National Hockey League under new coach Sid Abel, who as a player ended a lean six years for the Red Wings by triggering their drive to the Stanley Cup title in 1950.

★ ★ ★

Even Montreal hasn't been able to match the Red Wings pace under the onetime all-star center. But the Canadiens had no trouble retaining their 18 points first place bulge last night, clobbering Toronto 6-1 for their third victory in the last four games.

★ ★ ★

The New York Rangers, with goalie Lorne Worsley back from exile, stayed a point back of Detroit with a 3-2 decision over Boston — their first victory in nine games.

Fight for Survival in SVC Cage Race

The fight to stay in the Saginaw Valley Conferenee basketball race takes place at Wildanger fieldhouse in Flint where Pontiac Central and Northern tangle tonight.

The trip to Flint has often been disastrous for the Chiefs. The latest jaunt north on Dixie took place a few days before Christmas and the trip back for the Chiefs was one which had a bitter taste of defeat at the hands of Flint Central.

Northern, after a bad start, has now hit a hot streak of three straight victories, the latest being a last second 46-45 win over Flint Central. The loss knocked Central out of the Saginaw Valley lead and elevated the state's 4th ranked class A team, Saginaw, to the top of the heap by itself.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Coach Art Van Ryzin is not certain who will start for PCH, but he indicated he may go along with his veterans, Jim Skinner and Dick Whitmer at the forwards.

Skinner has not been in peak condition the last three games. A back ailment has hampered him and cut his efficiency in the scoring column and on the boards.

Roosevelt Alexander or Harrison Munson will start at center. Munson played an outstanding game against Waterford Tuesday. He hit for 16 points and took over the rebounding in the second half to scuttle the Skippers.

★ ★ ★

Charley Barge, who also enjoyed his best night against Waterford with 17 points, and John Bandy will probably get the nod at the guard posts. Bandy sat out most of the game Tuesday, but coach Van Ryzin held him out purposely to keep him rested.

Flint Northern has three big scorers in Reggie Gilliard, Maurice Woodson and Phil Gaines.

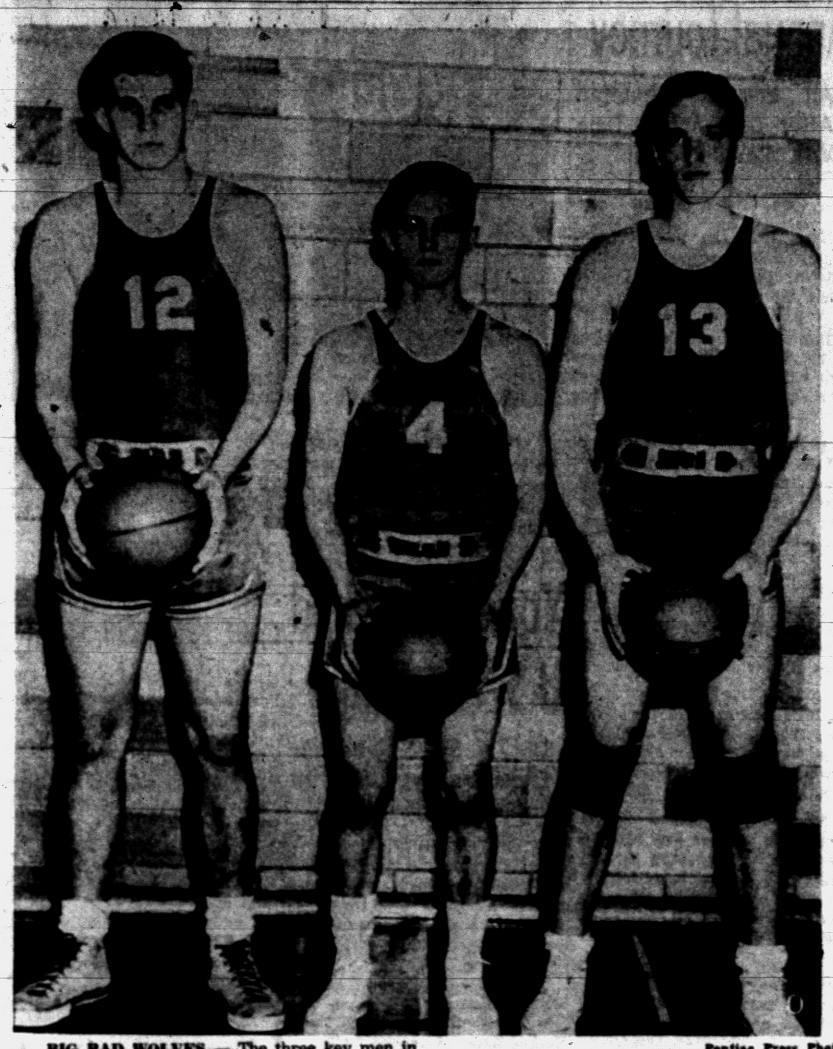

All three are hitting in the double figures, and Woodson is one of the best free throw shooters in the league.

He and Felix Miller of Flint Central have the best shooting mark from the charity line with 30 and 28 points respectively.

Pontiac, on other hand as a team, will have to sharpen its eye from foul line. The Chiefs have made only 74 of 124 free throw attempts, not exactly a good percentage.

Game time at Flint is 8:00 p.m. tonight.

Clarkston-Holly Feature in Wayne-Oakland

Four Key Prep Tilts on Tap

Four big games, each one in a different league, headline tonight's crowded high school basketball schedule in the Oakland County area.

Holly at Clarkston in the Wayne-Oakland, Lake Orion at Fitzgerald in the Oakland B, Southfield's Inter-Lakes battle at Van Dyke and East Detroit's visit to Ferndale in the Eastern Michigan feature a 34-game card.

All eight area conferences are operating at full capacity tonight and the outcome of the four top attractions could have great bearing on their respective title races.

The pressure is strictly on Holly in its Wayne - Oakland encounter with the undefeated Wolves. Holly suffered its 1st setback last week at Northville and another loss would seriously cripple the Broncos' chances for the crown.

Clarkston, which shared the W-O title with Northville last season, is riding the crest of a seven-game winning streak, five in league play. The league-leading Wolves have been firing baskets at a wicked clip of late and draw the favorite's role.

Northville, tied with Holly for 2nd place, is expected to have little trouble with visiting Milford. Other W-O contests are Brighton at West Bloomfield and Bloomfield Hills at Clarenceville.

Fitzgerald is bound to be keyed up for the invading Dragons. Rated a top contender for the Oakland B crown when the season started, the Spartans have stumbled twice in league action and cannot afford to slip again.

Orion, with Jim Drake and Nick Niera piling up points at a sizzling pace, is gaining momentum after a shaky start. The Dragons, tied with Avondale for 2nd spot, must be wary of a pitfall this evening.

Front-running Troy, undefeated and now firmly established as the team to beat, should make visiting Clawson victim No. 8. Avondale, badly mauled by Troy a week ago, hopes to bounce back against Madison on the Avon court.

★ ★ ★

Southfield, moving fast after an uncertain beginning, runs into surprising Van Dyke, which is tied with Berkley for the Inter-Lakes lead with a 3-0 record.

It's the defending champion Shamrocks against the unbeaten Railsplitters at Ferndale for what should be a "battle royal." The Eastern Michigan race is still very young, but this game matches the two pre-season favorites.

St. Michael plays host to St. Clement in the Madison Junior High gym, St. Frederick invades St. James, Royal Oak St. Mary entertains St. Benedict and St. Rita comes to Orchard Lake St. Mary for Suburban Catholic League tussles.

The Southern Thumb schedule lists Brown City at Armada, Dryden at New Haven and Almont at Capac. South Central activity finds Oxford at North Branch and Ortonville at Millington.

Rochester's trek to Roseville, Lapeer's invasion of Romeo and Cranbrook's engagement at Hamtramck are tonight's non-conference headliners.

Vikings, Skippers Bow

Walled Lake went down to its 1st defeat in three starts as one of the newest schools taking part in wrestling and Waterford dropped its 3rd straight in Inter-Lakes league action last night.

Waterford was the more impressive of the two turning in a strong showing in a 53-15 setback to a veteran Berkley contingent.

The Skippers held an early 5-0 edge and trailed only 20-15 after seven matches before faltering. Dave Sherman, 95, 140-pounder Mike Ewer and Mike Hubbell, 129, had Waterford pins. The only non-pin event of the match saw Mel Farrar bow to Bear ace Dan Oldham.

Dennis Van Sicklen's decision victory in the 175-pound class accounted for Walled Lake's only points in a 51-3 loss at Farmington.

Expect Half Million Gate for Basilio, Sugar Battle

CHICAGO (AP)—It could be with considerable wariness that Carmen Basilio puts his middleweight title on the line in a rematch with Sugar Ray Robinson set for March 25 at Chicago Stadium.

The big arena, which will be scaled for an indoor record gate of $300,000 based on a 22,000 attendance, is the scene of some of Robinson's most dramatic triumphs.

The two will sign fight contracts Thursday in Chicago.

Jim Norris, Internationa Boxing Club president, said that "We were guaranteed $275,000 from theater-TV and we expect it to go much higher than that."

★ ★ ★

The fighters each will receive 30 per cent of the proceeds from the gate, television, radio and motion picture rights. In their last meeting, Robinson took 45 per cent and Basilio 20. The proceeds totaled $739,000.

★ ★ ★

There will be no theater-TV in Chicago but the fight will be broadcast.

Robinson still hasn't collected the bulk of his September purse because of income tax problems. He says he has about $400,000 coming.

Heavyweights in TV Brawl

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Tonight's 10-round performance will be televised and broadcast over NBC TV-radio, beginning at 10 p.m. EST.

Day of Decision for LA Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With any kind of luck—and any kind would be a novelty — the Los Angeles Dodgers should know by late today whether they're going to play in cavernous Memorial Coliseum or dinky Wrigley Field.

The decision was awaited from the Coliseum Commission, which in turn awaited a decision from its finance committee.

★ ★ ★

The committee met yesterday with the Coliseum's three longtime football tenants, the University of Southern California, UCLA and the Los Angeles Rams. The idea was to work out a plan that would get the Dodgers into the 101,000-seat Coliseum without slighting the two universities and the professional football team.

★ ★ ★

The committee planned to submit a report to the full commission, meeting today on this basis, the commission could take a final vote.

Defense Senior Title

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Ken Bartholomew of Minneapolis, the Otto Graham of the ice, will defend his senior men's crown in the 11th annual Great Lakes Speed Skating championships at nearby West Allis tomorrow and Sunday.

NO DELAY IN '58 — There will be nothing to stop Mrs. Charles E. James of Rochester from entering the 1958 Bowlerama. Last year Mrs. James had to withdraw from the tournament because a week later little Diane, now eight months old, arrived. "No stork to stop me this year," said Mrs. James on entering the tournament.

Men's Deadline February 2 for Annual Tourney

All Entries Submitted After Designated Time Will Be Rejected

By CHUCK ABAIR

Hurry, hurry, hurry. The time is growing shorter (only 16 days) for entering the 2nd annual Pontiac Press Bowlerama.

★ ★ ★

There are a long list of prizes to be awarded several lucky keglers following the four-day event starting with 1st place cash awards of $450 and $250.

Of course, the biggest winner of the tourney would be someone hot enough to roll a 300 game. A $1,000 bonus has been set aside to be awarded if such a feat should occur.

★ ★ ★

There is no time to waste in getting those entries in. Time is rolling by rapidly and the Feb. 2 (men) and Feb. 10 (women) deadlines are not too far off now.

★ ★ ★

Bowlers are warned they must have entered by midnight on those dates to participate in the singles handicap tournament. No post entries will be accepted.

Many keglers missed out on competing a year ago because they let the time drag by and wound up mailing in or turning in their entry blanks after the set deadline. So all interested bowlers should heed the warning.

It is easy enough to obtain the blanks. They are available at every bowling alley in Oakland County and also at the Press Sports Department.

★ ★ ★

The blanks, together with the $6 entry fee, may be left at any alley or the Press or mailed to the Press Sports Department.

Blanks printed in the paper from time to time are acceptable as official entries. They may be clipped out and mailed or left at The Press. There's no problem to entering for either men or women.

One out of every 10 entries will share in the cash prizes with the top three in each division guaranteed a total of $1,250. A long list of 18 gift awards are also featured. These include top qualifier trophies, bowling balls, table-clock trophies, a bowling pin lamp and bowling bags to name a few.

★ ★ ★

A 70 per cent handicap, 200 scratch scoring system will be used for the tournament which is open to all sanctioned bowlers who are Oakland County residents.

★ ★ ★

Qualifying action starts the weekend of Feb. 8-9 when the men shoot for berths in the finals in competition at Montcalm Centre and Howe's Lanes. All women qualify Feb. 15 at Motor Inn. Finals are Feb. 22 at Huron Bowl.

★ ★ ★

The finalists will be made up of those men and women who finish among the top 10 per cent of the qualifiers in their division. Scores at Montcalm and Howe's will be combined to select the eligible to bowl in the finals.

★ ★ ★

It is possible to share in some of the prizes without getting by the qualifying round.

Everyone starts off all even in this wide open type of tourney with even the average bowler capable of breaking the race wide open with some luck and a good handicap.

TWIN TERRORS — Twins Jan and Jack Nichols, 17, are now trying to outdo each other on their respective basketball teams at Grove High School in Paris, Tenn. They are both captains of the girls and boys varsity teams and the leading scorers. Jack is 15 minutes older than his sister.

Youngsters Hold U.S. Net Future

USLTA Sees Need for Encouraging 'Kids' to Take Up Game

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The kid around the corner — and thousands like him across the nation — holds the long range answer to America's return to international tennis supremacy.

★ ★ ★

That is the opinion of two of the top bosses of U.S. tennis who are here for the annual U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. convention.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Although the United Sates lost to Australia in the Davis Cup Challenge Round last month for the third straight year, McMann and Denny expressed optimism for the future.

Mexican Might Get Title Shot

★ ★ ★

Parnassus said:

"Nobody is signed yet, but it looks good."

If he gets Moreno's name on the line, the matchmaker will go to London to dicker with Bassey's manager.

Rochester Woman Enters

Stork Will Not Prevent Her Entering Bowlerama

A Rochester woman who had to drop out of the 1957 Pontiac Press Bowlerama just a week before it started due to the arrival of the stork has decided she will try again next month to compete in the tournament.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Euphemia James is hoping nothing will stop her this time with so many big prizes at stake.

She and her husband, Charles, are planning to bowl in the tourney with handsome bowling pin table lamp one of their goals. The award goes to the outstanding husband-wife team in the finals.

Charles, who bowls in two Rochester leagues and in another at the Royal Oak Elks, took part in the event last season with his wife cheering on the sidelines but failed to survive the qualifying round.

The attractive Mrs. James was disappointed at withdrawing last year and vowed then she would be back when able again. She'll keep her word.

Now the proud mother of eight-month old Diane, the brunette woman has been bowling more than ever this year taking part in two leagues at Rochester's Hill-top alleys but she says she is not hitting the pins as well now as she did before she was pregnant.

Royals Begin to Pull Away in 'A' League

The city's defending "A" champions rolled to a 62-48 victory over the K. of C. quintet for their 6th straight win. John Jackson's 14 points paced the Royals' well-balanced offense while the Knights' John Keller captured scoring honors with 16.

In Class B action yesterday, Fred Baker poured 34 points through the hoop to lead Booth Homes to a 77-73 triumph over Walled Lake. Bill Stafford scored 25 for the losers.

Final Minute Rally Wins League Contest

A scoring splurge that produced five points and broke a tied score of 52-all last night gave Drayton Drugs a 57-54 win over Hutchins Mobile team of the Waterford Basketball League. The game highlighted a twin-bill played in Isaac Crary School gymnasium, with Rysons retaining the loop lead with a 63-43 victory over Johnson and Anderson.

Lead changed hands several times in the Hutchins-Drug battle. Hutchins led at halftime, but lost out in the 3rd when Drugs bagged 24 points, led by Ed McNamara with 10. Ed got seven more in the finals, including a free throw to break the tie, and go along with buckets by Bob Pickett and himself. In the final second Dick Hall of Drugs, who shared game total of 21 with McNamara made a basket for the final count.

Rysen's, paced by Ron Seats with 21, led all the way.

Former Pontiac Man Proves Good Angler

When Jack Shastal (987 Canterbury) saw his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shastal of Van Ettan Lake, Oscoda, arrive for a brief visit he didn't know his dad was bringing along a pair of husky fish for the local man's larder. The elder Shastal, for 32½ years a GMC worker here, brought a 19-pound northern pike and an 8-pound walleye, both taken from the same hole on Van Ettan Lake's ice, Wednesday. Jack took a 17½-pounder from that fishing hole a week ago.

Fred Shastal retired two years ago, spends a lot of time fishing, having landed 197 pounds of pike in this winter's ice fishing, Mrs. Shastal reports.

STRIKES AND SPARES

By Joe Wilman

I've watched many bowlers with the habit of crossing over and going into the 1-2 pocket time after time. Some of them are even afraid to make the changes necessary for keeping their ball on the right side of the headpin so it will hit the 1-3 pocket instead.

★ ★ ★

A ball hitting the 1-2 pocket is moving away from the 5-pin and will not consistently carry this important pin. A 1-2 hit usually means you'll leave the 5 and the 9.

If you're a straight ball bowler with crossover trouble, your angle is probably too sharp. Picture an imaginary line from the 1-3 pocket straight back to where you release the ball. Try to have your ball follow that line.

★ ★ ★

It's possible to get the same result by speeding up your ball a bit, too. This will cut down on its hooking action. I don't recommend this method for any but the experienced bowler, though.

Detroiter Rolls Back-to-Back 900 Series

Lubanski Has Hot Time in Tourney

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — It was Eddie Lubanksi of Detroit all the way in the first day of the All-Star Bowling Tournament finals.

The hefty 28-year-old beer salesman set a record Thursday and then proceeded to break it a few hours later. Lubanski's record consisted of three straight four-game series of 900 or more in the first three squads of the day.

As if that weren't enough, he came up with a 910 performance in the fourth and final performance to increase his average for 16 games to 230-plus in the fourth and final round of the day.

Four other bowlers previously rolled four 900 sets in the finals, but none in the 17-year history of this event put them back to back before Lubanski.

Lubanski led with a Petersen point total of 84-38. Under this complex, but equitable system of scoring, a bowler gets one point for each game he wins and one point for every 50 pins he has upended. A half point is granted for a tie game or for outpinning an opponent while losing a majority of games.

Don Carter, the defending champion from St. Louis, catapulted into second place late in the day after cracking out a tremendous 286 - 213 - 256 - 213 — 968 series, the best set Thursday.

Carter's hapless victim was Joe Joseph of Lansing, Mich., who won only one game although he posted a respectable 812 series.

Marion Turash, from Brooklyn, N.Y., led the women through Thursday's four squads and was on top at day's end with 37-13 points. She dumped 1563 pins for a 194-plus average while winning six of her eight games.

Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia, who won this tournament three seasons ago, was in second place at the eight-game point with 35-17 points. Miss Wene has the second lowest pinfall in the 16-girl field, 1417, but her 7-1 record puts her in good stead with the point system.

Third place Merle Matthews of Long Beach, Calif., has the biggest pin total, 1594, but she has won only three games. She has 34-44 points.

The finals will be held Sunday night.

Curtice Named Stanford Coach

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Stanford fans who have grown accustomed to hearing their football coach predict victory, probaby won't have to change the habit.

★ ★ ★

Cactus Jack Curtice, who moves from the University of Utah to Stanford March 1, is just as likely as not to pick his own team to win, contrary to coaching custom.

Curtice, 50, and Stanford came to agreemnt formally yesterday, as expected, that he would be the head football coach for five years.

Salary terms weren't divulged but sources in Salt Lake City placed them at $17,000 annually for coaching football and $2,000 for leadership at a summer boys' camp. That's $95,000 for the five years.

Michigan Swim Ace Receives Top Honors

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Freestyle speedster Dick Hanley of Michigan's NCAA championship swimming squad will receive the "swimmer of the year" award tonight in Columbus, Ohio, at the Columbus Touchdown Club's all-sports award dinner.

Hanley will be honored again Thursday when he receives the Sportsguild award at the 11th annual Sportsguild banquet in Detroit.

The All-America from Evanston, Ill., holds the world record in the 220-yard and 200-meter free style and was a member of the 1956 American Olympic swimming team.

FIRES AWAY—Ed Lubanski of Detroit set a meet record at the 17th annual All-Star tournament in Minneapolis yesterday when he fired four straight 900-plus series to lead the tourney with 3688 pins.

West Side Keglers Sizzling

Top single of the evening was Paul Karas' 289 which featured 10 straight strikes. Lou Koprince followed with a 275 and the best series of 707. B. Marohn had three successive 200 games highlighted by a 246.

★ ★ ★

Other outstanding scores were: D. Bentley 268, Walt Rennhack 255, M. Figa 253, O. Jewett 244, W. Johnson 260, R. Dugger 238, N. Keeley 234, E. Avadenka 232 and Bill Leigh 231.

8 Sites Selected for 'A' District

Most County Quintets to Begin Action at Southfield, Ferndale

By BILL CORNWELL

Michigan's Class A high schools —all 78 of them—are going to be pioneers this year.

For the 1st time in the history of the state basketball tournament, the "big boys" will compete in district tourneys. The dates are March 4-8 and eight locations have been chosen as playing centers.

Until now the Class A schools always waited until the regionals to swing into action. Once the state's smallest representative body, the "A" ranks have swollen to the point where districts are a necessity under the current "free-for-all" rules.

The Class A districts will differ from the other three classes in one unique respect.

As drawn up by the Michigan High School Athletic Association, four teams will survive each district and qualify for regional play the following week. Only one team comes out of each district in the B, C and D classes.

The "A" district sites will be Allen Park, Ypsilanti, Kalamazoo, Ferndale, Southfield, East Detroit, Grand Rapids and Bay City.

With just three exceptions, the regional tournaments March 11-15 will be held at the same sites. The Bay City district winners move to the Flint IMA, the Ferndale survivors switch over to Birmingham and the Southfield winners go to Livonia Bentley.

★ ★ ★

Six of the eight hosts have been designated as 10 - team districts while the remaining two centers have nine schools apiece.

Here's how the four survivors are decided.

In a 10-team district, A plays B with the winner going to the regional; C faces D with the same result; E meets F with the victor playing G which had a bye and that winner is a regional qualifier, and teams H, I and J follow the same procedure in the bottom bracket.

A 9-team district works this way: Teams A and B fight for one regional berth; C and D battle for another spot and that winner goes to the regional.

Tournament positions are determined by an open draw with the exception of the host school, which cannot have a bye and must play on opening night. Dates for the drawing have not been announced.

YPSILANTI (10)—Adrian, Ann Arbor, Belleville, Detroit Thurston, Inkster, Garden City, Plymouth, Romulus, Wayne and Ypsilanti.

EAST DETROIT (10)—Detroit Austin Catholic, Detroit DeLaSalle, Detroit St. Joseph, Detroit Salesian, Grosse Pointe, Harper Woods, Notre Dame, Mt. Clemens, Port Huron, Roseville and East Detroit.

FERNDALE (9) — Berkley, Birmingham, Hamtramck, Hazel Park, Highland Park, Royal Oak Dondero, Royal Oak Kimball, Warren and Ferndale.

Busy Week Ahead for Shamrocks

Two Hot Tilts Loom

by H. GUY MOATS

One of the season's busiest weeks of basketball is on the books for Pontiac St. Michael's club, starting tonight, with a home game, against Center Line St. Clements.

Game will take place in the Madison Junior High gymnasium, on Perry street. It was originally scheduled for Pontiac Central High, but other committments there necissitated a change. Shamrocks' next SCL test, an important one, too, will also be played at Madison.

Coach Bob Mineweaser's club opposes the league leading, unbeaten St. Benedict, five from Highland Park, next Tuesday night. Game time will be 8 p.m. as set also for tonight's tilt.

Then, on Friday night, in the St. Frederick gymnasium, comes the "big one." Mikes tangle that night with Gene Wright's Rams, smarting from a 46-21 defeat at the hands of St. Benedict. It will be interesting to see just how well Shamrocks do Tuesday against the same club. And the outcome of the Tuesday battle might offer some basis for speculation over the Friday scrap.

However, these St. Frederick-St. Michael battles can never be figured ahead of time. Most anything can happen in the way of upsets, and this clash may not be an exception.

Other important SCL games include Bens at RO St. Mary, St. Rita at St. Mary of Orchard Lake. Eaglets will play Monday, too, against St. Stanislaus in Detroit, a non-loop test, then entertain RO St. Mary next Friday.

Parkers Double Count Over Mt. Clemens Team

Hazel Park's EML swimming team ran its season's league mark to 4-1 yesterday with a 65-31 count against Mt. Clemens' Bathers. Parkers are only one mark back of the leading Birmingham squad, which is unbeaten and which administered the Hazel Park single defeat.

One record fell, Bill Dyker doing 1:06.8 for the 100-yard breaststroke (old mark 1:09.5) while leading his team to 8 firsts. Bathers won only the 120-yard individual medley. (John Bucholtz, 1:21.4), and 160-yard medley relay.

Ladies' Night Coming

Annual Ladies' Night banquet will be held at Oakland County Sportsmen's Club in February, snack bar committee announces.

Sooner Gridder Signs Pro Pact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Clendon Thomas, best ground gainer the University of Oklahoma ever had, has signed a contract with the Los Angeles Rams, General Manager Pete Rozelle said today.

Thomas, a halfback, was the second-round draft choice of the Rams. They picked Kentucky tackle Lou Michaels and Auburn end Jim Phillips in the first.

Kid Scientists Said Dangerous

Rocket Launching Needs Close Supervision, Sites Experts Agree

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some youngsters now experimenting with rockets may one day pioneer major scientific achievements. But their activities now are worrying some safety-minded people.

The National Fire Protection Assn. and the American Rocket Society are calling for a national program of proper supervision and safe launching sites for young experimenters in what they call an "extremely dangerous" field.

Nobody denies the kids are getting valuable science know-how out of building rockets. But amateur launching efforts have been responsible for numerous accidents and even some deaths in recent months.

★ ★ ★

Just yesterday an 11-year-old boy was killed in Samson, Ala., in the explosion of a homemade rocket he and his brother were trying to launch. The brother was hurt.

Neither the American Red Cross nor the National Safety Council has any program yet.

The military services have been making available their firing ranges and even some expert help. In fact, the facilities of the Army's Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., one of the nation's major missile test centers, have been offered.

One of the best friends the young rocketeers have is Lt. Col. Charles M. Parkin, Army guided missile coordinator for the Corps of Engineers Research and Development Laboratory at Ft. Belvoir, Va. He also is vice president of the Washington section of the American Rocket Society, a professional organization.

Through the rocket society, he has made a plea to the secretary of defense for a nationwide program to direct the activities of amateur rocket enthusiasts with proper supervision and a set of safety rules.

Not Age, Just Caution

LITTLE FALLS, N.J. (AP)— Fred Poulson, 87 - year - old salesman who has driven a total of 300,000 accident-free miles since 1910, has declined a renewal of his driver's license. He said in a letter to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles he would rather not "spoil my record with all those crazy drivers on the road."

Met Glamor Boy Wants Girls -- but No Wife

By OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS) — Cesare Siepi, the glamor boy of the Metropolitan Opera, is 35, handsome, six feet tall, rich, famous and unmarried.

He's having too much fun being a bachelor-about-town, only the way he travels you'd have to call it wolf-about-the-world.

"Who's lonely?" the Italian basso protests when somebody tells him he ought to get married. "There are lots of bachelors around—why pick on me?"

He also has an answer to the argument that it's time he started raising a family.

"I was born when my father was 44," says Siepi. "I can wait, too."

The truth of the matter, Siepi admitted calmly, is that he likes girls too much to marry—all kinds of girls, lots of girls, different girls. Preferably with "good shape and not too tall."

"Besides, no girl thinks of me seriously—they all know I travel eight months out of the year and probably will leave town the day after."

MUSIC RATES FIRST

Any girl who does think of Cesare seriously will have to break down his conviction that "a wife is an impediment to a musical life." The famous basso seriously believes a wife would interfere with his arias.

"I have been singing for 17 years," he explained. "I must be free. I must sing.

"If you have a girl friend you can see her when you want to—but a wife is around all the time."

"The bad day may come along," he acknowledged. "I could get hit with that stroke of madness—but I hope not until I'm 40, or maybe 48, or 52. I like the idea of marriage, you understand—but I'd hate to spoil it with facts."

Siepi thinks he'd be a very bad husband—although he rates as a dream bachelor date. The brown-eyed, brown-haired singer is the kind of escort who sends flowers, buys dinner, theater tickets and then takes a girl dancing besides. His mambo and samba are good and his tango is terrific.

"I like to sleep late, go to movies in the afternoon and have a beer after my concerts," Seipi noted. "No wife would ever permit that."

So Siepi will continue as a free-wheeling bachelor. And how many names does he list in his little black book?

Robinson, appearing in a stage production here, disclosed the marriage—his second—in a backstage interview last night. He gave his age as 64 and his bride's as 38.

The short, cigar-smoking actor, who frequently portrays the "tough guy," is starring in "Middle of the Night," a play dealing with the marriage of a man to a much younger woman. The play ran for 485 performances on Broadway before going on the road.

Says Fingerprint Can Be Changed

No Longer Positive Proof of Identification, Reports Physician

CHICAGO (AP) — Fingerprints — contrary to the general belief—can be changed permanently, a New Orleans physician reports in a medical publication.

Writing in the current Archives of Dermatology of the American Medical Assn., Dr. James W. Burks described two medical cases where fingerprints were obliterated.

"The potential inconsistency of fingerprints renders positive identification by this means uncertain and thus has legal implications which will undoubtedly affect certain judicial decisions," Burks said.

Burks, of Tulane University School of Medicine, noted that law enforcement agencies and other workers in the field of identification long have considered fingerprints unalterable.

In the cases described by Burks, revolving wire brushes of a type used to remove acne or smallpox scars were used in a technique called skin planing.

Finger skin in these cases grew back over the denuded area and generally were smooth except for minute, thin, criss cross and parallel lines.

Identification experts who examined the healed skin considered it "worthless in establishing identity of the subject or even in their general classifications," Burks said.

In such cases, Burks said, dermatologists can aid law enforcement officials by determining what medical reasons, if any, a person may have for removing prints.

India Gives Gen. Taylor 265-Year-Old Sword

★ ★ ★

Gen. K. S. Thimayya presented the silver-sheathed sword as "a token of our great regard and felicitations to you and the U.S. Army."

★ ★ ★

Taylor, en route to next week's Baghdad Pact meeting in Ankara, held informal talks with Thimmayya and his staff. He was to fly to Pakistan later today.

Bob Hope Anxious to Get Jayne Mansfield in Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—To anyone laboring under the impression that all the whoopla of Jayne Mansfield's marriage may have hurt her, hear this:

Bob Hope is offering 20th Century-Fox plenty of money to get Jayne as his co-star in "The Jesse James Story" (yes, we're due to get it again on the screen) which he'll make under the United Artists banner with Frank Tashlin directing.

As you know, Bob, Jayne and her bridegroom, along with others, recently played Christmas shows in the Pacific area where our GI's are stationed. They struck up such a friendship that Bob was practically the only celebrity at the Mansfield-Hargitay wedding.

Lew Schreiber, of 20th, says: "The picture won't start until July, and we'd like to see the script before loaning Jayne. But believe me, we'll make every effort to let her do it if the part is right."

So high are Irving Rapper's hopes that Greta Garbo will listen to Jack Warner's offer to her to play the Madonna in "The Miracle," that he has an engagement to meet her when she comes to the West Coast in 10 days.

Says Irving, "There are two great legends among actors in motion pictures. One is Valentino, and the other Garbo. I know that if Garbo had any realization of the way she is adored all over the country, she would make at least one more picture."

Irving, who is just back from Spain, Rome, France, etc., found a 900-year-old monastery, the Santa Cruces, outside of Barcelona. It is now being used as a museum, and Irving was able to get it for "The Miracle," which will be made there.

Those of us who know Sarah Churchill feel very sorry about her unpleasant publicity. She said the thing that depressed her most is that people might think she doesn't like America.

"I've stayed here a long time, as you know, and turned down offers in London," she said, "because I do love this country."

She proved the stuff she's made of when she went on Matinee Theater and gave the performance of her life in "The Makropolous Secret" the day after the catastrophe. She said she hopes everything will come out all right, and so does everyone who likes her and believes in her.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Mrs. John Wayne, whos' living in a Beverly Hills Hotel, had a visit from Mrs. John Ford, who brought her a a mink stole and two pairs of pajamas. Pilar lost every stitch of clothes she owned in the fire.

Ran into Louis Prima and Keely Smith looking very happy at La Rue. They told me they, with Frank Sinatra, are singing "I Can't Believe That You're In Love With Me" on Frankie's show tomorrow night. This I want to hear.

Venetia Stevenson, who has had great success in various horse shows, is looking at race horses with her trainer, Clyde Kennedy. She wants to buy one.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

28 Patients Transferred to New Howell Hospital

HOWELL (INS) — Five ambulances Wednesday transported 28 patients from Howell's old McPherson Memorial Hospital to the city's new $1.5 million Community Health Center.

Among the patients transferred were twin boys born yesterday morning. The move took three hours.

Approve Colored Prints for Passport Pictures

WILMINGTON, Del. (INS) — Frances G. Knight, director of the U.S. Passport Office in Washington, said that tourists will be permitted to use colored prints for their official pictures effective Feb. 1 because of numerous complaints that "they look ugly on passport photographs."

And in case you're interested, Miss Knight said in a speech at a travel forum that she has already received several passport applications for the first trip to outer space.

FIRST SHOWING — On display in Pontiac Motor Division's new car exhibit at the Detroit Automobile show, opening tomorrow and running through Jan. 26, at the Detroit Artillery Armory will be this Cresta, exported from England by General Motors' Vauxhall operations. It will be offered in this country by Pontiac dealers next March. Only 57 inches in height, the four-door Cresta seats six passengers comfortably and combines small car economy, smooth operation, high performance, and several luxury features. It is built on a 105-inch wheelbase and utilizes a six-cylinder engine capable of developing 82.5 horsepower. Included in Pontiac's special exhibit will be a Vauxhall Victor Super, now being sold by Pontiac dealers.

Gives Go-Ahead to Plan School

Waterford Board Tells Architect to Draw Up Building Specifications

Final instructions to complete plans and specifications of the new Cooley Elementary School, Waterford Township, were given to architect George D. Mason and Associates of Detroit at last night's regular board of education meeting.

★ ★ ★

Costing some $325,000, the 12-room school will be located on a 10-acre site of Forest avenue south of Cass-Elizabeth Lake road and should be ready for operation by September.

★ ★ ★

Bids for construction work on the school will be taken in mid-March, according to James Den Herder, assistant superintendent, who was in charge of the meeting. Superintendent William Shunck is attending a winter conference of school superintendents in Grand Rapids.

★ ★ ★

Board members approved contracts for nine new teachers for replacements and four additional teachers for the new children's home program at the tuberculosis sanitorium.

Labor Leaders, Tax Collectors Watch Trends

Profit Sleighride Coming to End

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The profit sleighride is coming to an end for many business firms after a long period of always zooming faster than the year before.

In today's troubled economy this is watched as closely by labor leaders and tax collectors as it is by the stockholders.

Such so-called needles to the economy as changing the rules on margins in stock market deals can scarcely affect the trend on the broader front.

Few business firms are operating at a loss. But the earnings statements now starting to pour in show that for an increasing number profits after taxes are running behind the previous year. For many of the others, the gains over a year ago are getting even thinner. Most blame rising operating costs that higher prices can't offset.

The trend interests labor because this will be a year of hard bargaining and the unions always use profits as a talking point in asking for higher wages. For several years they have argued that increased wage scales obviously hadn't halted the climb in profits.

The tax collector is interested on three counts: (1) the corporate income tax brings in billions of dollars; (2) the dividends that firms pay out bring in still more revenue from personal income tax payments; and (3) if the profit squeeze gets worse, it could mean still further cutbacks in production and employment, with the tax collector a partner in such losses in earnings and personal income.

The first 100 corporations to report on their operations in the last 12-month period show 35 falling behind their previous year's performance. Five of them operated at a net loss, the same number as a year ago. Four of these were in the red both years.

Combined, the 100 show net profits of $1,223,384,233, a gain of 5.7 per cent over the previous year's total of $1,156,531,366. The list is weighted heavily on the upside by gains in the service industries.

Most of the 100 have fiscal years that end before the calendar year, and this may make them look better, since their statements don't cover the last month or so of 1957 when the going was getting tougher for many, but do include the final weeks of 1956, a period of general good times.

Yesterday's Rise Flash-in-the-Pan

Losses of fractions to a point or so were taken by key stocks.

The opening was active as leading issues resumed their downtrend of late yesterday. As trading progressed, prices eased and turnover slackened.

It was obvious that yesterday's early boom on news of a cut in margin requirements to 50 per cent from 70 per cent was a flash-in-the-pan.

Aircrafts, steels, rails, nonferrous metals and oils were lower. There were some slight gains among airlines and building materials. Motors were mixed.

★ ★ ★

General Dynamics, North American Aviation and Boeing were all down about a point while Douglas Aircraft dropped a fraction. Lukens Steel dropped well over a point and U. S. Steel a major fraction.

★ ★ ★

Extend Tax Paying in West Bloomfield

WEST BLOOMFIELD—The West Bloomfield Township Board has extended the date for paying taxes without penalty from Jan. 20 to Feb. 28. After Feb. 28, there will be a 4 per cent penalty, plus interest. Personal property tax is due now, however, the board said.

★ ★ ★

Collection of taxes is running 5½ per cent over last year at this time, according to Lillian Warner, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

The township building report showed a considerable decline last month. Seven residential permits were issued for construction with an estimated valuation of $143,000, and four miscellaneous permits for an estimated $4,750 in building.

★ ★ ★

The board accepted a petition for blacktopping all streets in the Westwood Village subdivision. A hearing date was set for Feb. 11.

German Court to Try 3 Nazis for Killing Reds

BONN (INS) — Three former SS guards in one of Hitler's wartime concentration camps will be tried by a German court next May for the murder of 12,000 Soviet commissars and political functionaries.

The German news agency DPA said that the Bonn public prosecutor's office disclosed today that the three to be tried are Gustav Sorge, known as "Iron Gustav" by victims in his Sachsenhausen camp, Wilhelm Schubert, or "Pistol Schubert," and Martin Knittler.

Approximately 150 witnesses—all former inmates of the camp, will be called, many of them coming from the United States, Israel, and Soviet bloc countries.

Grains Stalled at Dead-Center

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices were stalled on or near dead-center in early dealings on the board of trade today.

Several contracts failed to budge from yesterday's closes in a very light trade at the start. Dealers said the market lacked any incentive to give it much direction and that most of the transactions were on order through commission houses.

One elevator concern which was a fairly heavy buyer of corn yesterday was in on the selling side today following word that cash receipts of the grain in Chicago amounted to 249 cars, a heavy offering for a Friday.

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was ¼ cent lower to ⅝ higher, March $2.17⅜; corn ⅛ to ½ lower, March $1.11⅜; oats ⅛ lower, March $.64⅞; rye unchanged to ½ higher, March $1.27½, and soybeans unchanged to ¼ lower, January $2.23¼.

Suffers Minor Injuries in Local Car Accident

Jack W. Oddy Jr., 25, of 3120 Squirrel Rd., Bloomfield Township, was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released Thursday evening after being injured in a two-car collision at Crooks Rd. and South Blvd., Avon Township, report Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

Oddy's car collided with one driven by William D. Pretts, 45, of Detroit, deputies said. Pretts was uninjured. Oddy suffered minor knee injuries.

State Senate Preparing to Cut Excise Auto Tax

LANSING (AP) — Nearly the entire Michigan Senate is preparing to demand that Congress repeal the excise tax on automobiles to alleviate unemployment and stall the nationwide business recession.

Sen. Robert E. Faulkner (R-Coloma) said that removal of the Federal excises of 10 per cent of the manufacturer's price on cars themselves and eight per cent on accessories would amount to $200 or so on a car retailing at $3,000. It would make possible corresponding price cuts, he said, and thereby stimulate sales.

Bohn Acquires Plastray

DETROIT (AP) — Bohn Aluminum & Brass Corp. has acquired all of the outstanding stock of Plastray Corp., manufacturer of plastic houseware, S. D. Den Uyl, Bohn president, said acquisition of Plastray was another step in the company's program of diversification.

Handicapped Lacking Space

Group in Waterford Would Use Classrooms in Schools

A request from the Association of Handicapped Children, Inc., for the use of the Newberry Elementary School on Clintonville road, Waterford Township, was discussed at length at last night's Board of Education meeting.

At the present time, 24 children are using a room at Emerson Elementary School, Pontiac, and according to Betty Hansen, president of the organization, the children are only on a two-day-weekly schedule.

The Newberry building is not in use at the present time. However, because of the rapid increase in enrollment of the Jay-no Adams Elementary School (from 400 to 455 this year), board members felt there is a strong likelihood that the older Newberry school may have to be used before the end of the current year.

It is almost a certainty that the regular school system will need the Newberry building next fall, they said.

Mrs. Hansen stated that if the association could have use of two additional classrooms, it would give the children a full week's session, and the Emerson School room would be used for emotionally disturbed children exclusively.

The group claims that it will maintain the building, supplying the fuel, electricity and custodian. There are four Waterford Township children attending the free school at the present time.

Pontiac, Waterford Toastmasters Vie

The Pontiac Y Toastmasters met with the Waterford Toastmasters Club last night at the CAI Building in Waterford Township, in an inter-club speech contest.

This was the second match between the two clubs this season. Toastmaster for the evening was Frank Strubler of the Waterford Club.

First place winner among the speakers was George Crabtree, of the Pontiac club, who spoke on "Correcting Our Preconceived Notions."

Second place went to Ed Kuhn of Waterford, who spoke on "How to Help Your Child in School."

Other speakers were Gale Eaton and Arnold Gibson of Waterford, and George Freeman and John Rallis of Pontiac.

Aviation Study Group Created

Hamlin Heads 6-County Unit Formed to Probe Regional Air Problems

The Supervisors Inter-County Committee yesterday created an aviation committee to study any regional aviation problems as they might pertain to Oakland, Macomb Monroe, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne Counties.

★ ★ ★

Heading the committee will be Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

★ ★ ★

The establishment of the study group, which will be composed of members from the SICC, stemmed from a talk by Harold Garrison, Michigan Department of Aeronautics official. He stressed that the coming jet-air age will not be a local problem, but a regional one.

Supervisors from the six counties also unanimously asked that the National Sanitation Foundation finish a metropolitan area sewage and drainage study. Boards of Supervisors from the counties will be asked for similar backing.

★ ★ ★

The president of the study, Dr. Henry F. Vaughan, said last week completion has been stymied by certain political opposition.

Accident Kills One, Hurts 9 in Families

SAGINAW (AP) — Leo C. Miller, 30, of Midland, was injured fatally and nine persons were hurt in a two-car collision on a county road west of here last night.

Saginaw County sheriff's deputies said Miller was the driver of one of the two cars involved in the accident.

The driver of the second car was identified as Rosemary Wade, 21, of Hemlock. Her 3-year-old daughter Diana was injured seriously. Three other children, Mark, 2, Larry, 3, and Barbara, 5, and Mrs. Wade were hurt less seriously.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Township Man Hurt in Truck Accident

A Pontiac Township man was injured Thursday when the pickup truck in which he was riding ran off Joslyn Rd. near Vinewood St., in Pontiac Township, said Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

★ ★ ★

Johnie E. Damon, 37, of 795 Brown Rd., was taken to Pontiac General Hospital for treatment of severe head and face cuts.

★ ★ ★

Sees $3 Billion Deficit Possible for Government

ANN ARBOR (AP)—University of Michigan economist Richard Musgrave says the federal government may run up a three billion dollar deficit during the 1959 fiscal year.

Prof. Musgrave said the government possibly overestimated its revenue for the year and Congress probably will provide for a sharper increase in defense spending than President Eisenhower recommended in his budget message.

The overestimate in revenue could reach one or two million dollars, he said. This figure coupled with the greater spending for defense would produce the three billion dollar gap, Musgrave said.

More Than 4 Million Buicks in Operation

FLINT — Latest registration figures show a total of 4,311,402 Buicks in operation in the United States, Edward T. Ragsdale, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors reported today. Of this total, 539,359 were built prior to 1950.

★ ★ ★

The biggest concentrations of Buicks are in Los Angeles, New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and Detroit, in that order, Ragsdale said.

There are more 1955 model Buicks registered, 696,419, than any other single model year.

Ex-City Man Involved in Fatal Car Accident

A former Pontiac resident, who moved to Bay City two days ago, was involved in an accident yesterday near Saginaw in which a 16-year-old hitchhiker was killed.

★ ★ ★

Police said Harold Snover, formerly of 378 S. Marshall St., was the driver of a car that struck and killed Rex McGinnis, of Alpena, while he was hitchhiking on M 15, near Saginaw. Snover was not held.

Fewer Cars Sold in '57, Report Says

DETROIT (AP) — Ward's Automotive Reports says 5,828,700 new automobiles were sold in 1957 against 5,850,900 in 1956.

It also reports that Ford Division topped Chevrolet in retail deliveries by 25,000 units. Deliveries of Ford cars, the agency says, numbered 1,485,000 compared with 1,460,000 Chevrolet units.

Ward's used round figures in its presentation of retail deliveries. Tabulation of new car registrations, compiled from the records of the licensing agencies of the various states, has not yet been completed.

Ward's said the wholesale value of 1957 motor vehicle factory sales is estimated at $16,575,000,000, up nearly two billion from 1956. The 1957 total included 11½ billion dollars for passenger cars; the remainder covered trucks and coaches.

Motor vehicle exports for 1957 were placed at 155,000 cars and 195,000 trucks and coaches. The total was down about 48,000 units from 1956.

Says Arms Aid Often Wasted

House Unit Thinks Help Sometimes Granted for Political Reasons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Government Operations Committee has suggested billions of dollars worth of U.S. arms aid has been wasted. It called for a complete review by Congress and the executive branch.

★ ★ ★

It reported military assistance often is granted for political rather than strictly military reasons, with a resulting financial loss such as "planes without anybody to fly them, vehicles without gasoline to run them."

It listed cases as the United States being charged for rental of 112 million dollars worth of machine tools given Britain; stockpiling of an 84 years' supply of linseed oil at a U.S. base in Germany; and construction of an airbase at Torrejon, Spain, so close to a civilian field that flights are hampered.

The committee report was the first issued by a congressional investigative group this session and pointed to what may be in store when President Eisenhower's request for nearly four billion dollars in new aid funds comes before Congress.

★ ★ ★

Contending that distribution of arms aid often is based on other than purely military factors, the committee said this means one country may receive arms funds even though it may not be able to furnish one soldier or jet pilot should the free world get into trouble. The result, it said, is that the country's strength in mutual security plans is only on paper.

★ ★ ★

While not saying that aid for political reasons is unnecessary, the committee contended that Congress should be told which are political and which are true military programs so it will know how to vote on funds.

TV Center Gets Award

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Educational Television and Radio Center, which provides a national program service in the field of education, Thursday night was presented an award in New York City by Sylvania Electric Products, Inc. It was accepted by Robert B. Hudson, head of the center's program department.

The Nobel prizes are currently worth about $40,000.

Soprano Callas Flying to U.S. Full of Smiles

PARIS (AP)—Soprano Maria Callas, her famous temper held tightly in check, was flying to the United States today with nothing but smiles for her public.

The stormy prima donna will stop first in Chicago. After singing there, she will go to the Metropolitan Opera in New York.

★ ★ ★

She will be singing in the United States for the first time since she caused an uproar in Rome by walking out in the middle of Bellini's "Norma" on opening night. She said she had lost her voice, but some critics said heckling had caused her to lose her temper.

★ ★ ★

Stopping over at Paris' Orly Airport, the singer told a noisy, jampacked press conference: "I hope to sing well in America. You know I like it there. The atmosphere is warm and the climate is good."

"Oh, she's going to expode—she can't stand this much longer" a nervous publicity agent groaned as the singer was shoved against a wall by a radio reporter. But Callas continued to smile. "Incredible," said the publicity agent.

Dems Won't Change Policies at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — Democrats have no plans to upset the academic applecart at Michigan State University.

★ ★ ★

The Democrats took control yesterday of the State Board of Agriculture, governing body of Michigan State. They now have a 4-2 voting majority on the board.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Connor D. Smith, Pinconning veterinarian and the Democrat with the most seniority on the board, was elected chairman. He succeeded Clark L. Brody of East Lansing, a Republican and board member since 1921.

Brody was board chairman from 1932 to 1938 and from 1948 until the present time. The last time the Democrats had a majority was in 1938 and 1939.

Asked if any policy changes were contemplated, Smith replied:

"This wouldn't be the time. In the first place, we wouldn't want it. We hope to continue to make this a great university and have every confidence in the administration."

Verdi's opera, "Otello," was first performed in Milan in 1887. It is an adaptation of Shakespeare's tragedy.

'Kingfish' May Squeak Out of Real-Life Jam

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Kingfish of the Amos 'n' Andy television show has been ordered held for trial on his wife's complaint of assault with a deadly weapon.

But just as "Kingfish" Harry R. (Tim) Moore, 70, squeaks out of one scrape after another on the program, it looks as if he'll avoid this real-life one too. His wife Vivian has told the court she doesn't want to prosecute.

★ ★ ★

The couple sat together, arm in arm and smiling, at his Municipal Court preliminary hearing yesterday.

Mrs. Moore had told police that during an argument in their home over a missing roast beef Jan. 7 he fired a pistol shot that landed in a china closet and hurt nobody.

★ ★ ★

The couple went out in midafternoon and dined on turkey. They returned about 10 p.m. to find her son Paul V. Hubbard, 23, and her son-in-law and daughter, Earl and Eve Brown, watching television in the living room.

The Kingfish headed for the kitchen for a cut of the beef. A moment later he charged into the living room yelling: "Where's the rest of that blankety-blank pot roast?"

He ran upstairs, came back brandishing a pistol, announced he was "tired of this family mooching off me" and fired.

"We all ran," Mrs. Moore testified.

★ ★ ★

Moore remains at liberty without bail pending Superior Court arraignment Jan. 30. Prosecution and defense attorneys plan a conference meantime, however, on his wife's request that the matter be dropped.

Kinross Pilot Jumps From Stricken Plane

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A Kinross Air Force Base pilot parachuted to safety yesterday from a F102A supersonic fighter intercepter before it crashed near Tahquamenon Falls in upper Michigan.

Air Force spokesmen said an automatic pilot ejection seat freed Lt. Paul F. Sauter of Bowling Green, Ohio, at 4,500 feet when trouble developed. Sauter parachuted into a wooded area and was spotted by a Coast Guard helicopter an hour and a half later.

2 Young Spaniards 'Without a Country'

IPSWICH, England (AP) — Two young Spaniards put to sea again last night on a voyage which could last indefinitely.

Antonio Zuniga, 24, and Jose Legarra, 19, stowed away on the 500-ton British motor ship Helemar at Barcelona last week.

When the Helemar reached Ipswich, British immigration authorities refused to let the pair land and suggested the shipping company take them back to Spain.

It developed, however, that neither had a passport or any other valid travel or identification paper. A police spokesman said it was unlikely they would be permitted to land in Spain.

Houghton's Old Timers Find Snow Shortage

HOUGHTON (AP) — Houghton has had ony a little more than five feet of snow this winter and long-time residents say that isn't right.

Normally Houghton, which sticks out into Lake Superior, reigns as the snow capital of the North. Normal snowfall to this date is 75 inches. Total so far is only 63 inches.

State Police Hold Poison Antidotes for Emergencies

LANSING (AP) — If someone in your family swallows poison accidentally and you can't reach a doctor, try the nearest state police post.

Every post in the state yesterday got an emergency poison antidote kit for use on an emergency basis. They were the gift of the Michigan State Medical Society.

"It's incredible how frequently youngsters manage to swallow something they shouldn't often because parents have carelessly left medicine bottles, paints, cleansers, insecticides and the like within easy reach," said Dr. Robert H. Trimby, official of the medical organization.

★ ★ ★

"Now, pending arrival of a doctor," he said, "State Police will be able to administer first aid in such cases, thanks to these kits which carry emergency antidotes for almost every kind of poison.

"Immediate treatment can well be the difference between life and death."

Yale university has about 4,000 undergraduate students.

SELF-SERVICE
TOY ROUTE BUSINESS

We are highly respected toy brokers, rated by Dun & Bradstreet, selling toys nationally. Now expanding in your area.

Our distributors' toy reorders are pouring in because our toys are not "average rack merchandise." We have the largest assortment, widest price range best packaging.

Since there are some choice territories available in this general area, a few sincere individuals will acquire a profitable self-service "TOY SHOP" route in grocery, drug stores, etc., WHICH WE WILL ESTABLISH FOR YOU. Cheap toy racks are rapidly being replaced, in thousands of stores, by the sensational "TOY SHOP" merchandising displays. The stores make money. So do you, but this is

NOT A GET-RICH-QUICK SCHEME

This may be your chance to get into a profitable year-around business of your own. Simply replace toys on regular schedule and collect your money. Start in spare time and still leave room for full time expansion.

AVAILABLE SOON

Our representative will arrange appointments soon in your vicinity to present complete details. Must have car and $4497 cash for toys, displays and store accounts. Write fully about yourself, give address, phone number to:

Appeals to Students to Halt Outbreaks

★ ★ ★

The speech by Dr. Humberto Fernandez Moran over a nationwide radio hookup last night was taken as an indication of the government's concern over the student outbreaks.

The demonstrations have continued for four days.

(Reports in New York said the police fired on 250 students demonstrating in a Caracas schoolyard Wednesday and wounded two. The government continued its tight censorship. Communications with the outside world improved last night.)

Says Unplowed Streets Caused Mental Anguish

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A self-styled "dissatisfied taxpayer," Dante A. Mollo, went before the City Council with a complaint about last week's snowstorm.

He said he left his home the morning of Jan. 10 "in the best of spirits—but within a few minutes my good spirits had changed to despair."

The street had not been plowed and it took him an hour to get out, he said.

Mollo filed a claim for $52.06 — of which $2.06 was an hour's lost pay and $50 for "mental anguish."

From All Indications, the Beard's the Thing

By EARL WILSON

Such TV celebrities as Peter Ustinov, Skitch Henderson, Jim Moran and Mitch Miller—as well as Ernest Hemingway, Rex Stout and Lena Horne's husband, Lennie Hayton—probably helped bring shrubbery back.

I asked Hume Cronyn why he joined the bush brigade.

"Sixty per cent laziness, 30 per cent affectation and 10 per cent 'The Bridge of San Luis Rey.'" He referred to the TV show he's doing.

And Nona Van Tosh, the model, told me of a bearded photographer who chases models. She once threatened to set fire to his beard. Poor fellow couldn't kick it and was last heard of asking Lloyd's of London for beard fire insurance.

Taxed Smokes in 1921

DES MOINES — The first state cigarette tax in the nation was levied by Iowa in 1921. Today cigarette smoking brings in more than two billion dollars in federal, State, and local taxes.

PRACTICAL APPROACH — Raymond Burr has adopted a businesslike attitude in playing the role of lawyer-detective Perry Mason. The television series, based on Erle Stanley Gardner's famous mystery stories, is presented by CBS on Saturdays at 7:30 p. m. Burr's co-star is Barbara Hale, who portrays Mason's secretary, Della Street.

No Arty Acting for Mason Role

Method Proves Worth as Detective Program Gains in Ratings

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — When towering, glowering Raymond Burr decided to go straight for television, his backers told him politely but firmly to bring along his business suit, but no torn T-shirts.

★ ★ ★

"They told me," he recalls today with a sly smile of satisfaction, "that this was big business and to hell with the art. So I've approached it as a businessman."

Contrary to the philosophy of the dramatic purists, the approach has paid off handsomely in gratification as well as currency for Burr, the infallible Perry Mason of CBS-TV.

Of course, it has also burdened the ample shoulders with as much work per month as many actors are called upon to do in an entire year.

Robust Ray has been up to his ears in the hour-long who-done-it without a letup since last April, except for a few days out to make a handshaking tour on behalf of the show in certain Eastern cities.

He started the current season with 17 shows already on film, but he will have to work like an oversize beaver to finish in almost a dead heat with the viewers at the end of the TV year.

VACATION NEEDED

"So next season we simply won't be able to make 39 shows," Burr says with a resigned shrug. "We have to have some time out this summer. Somebody has to take a vacation, notably me.

★ ★ ★

"It's just impossible for one man to shoot an hour-long show week after week. Next season I'm hoping we'll only make 26."

For as the leader of television's only single-star, hour-a-week dramatic show, Burr has found that a businesslike approach requires much more than simply stalking evildoers before the cameras.

It's a six-day-per-show job requiring, among other things, that he spend most of his week nights in a dressing room on the 20th Century-Fox TV lot instead of battling 50 miles of traffic up the coast to his seaside home.

"I find that I have to budget my time more carefully than ever before," he explains seriously. "After all, there are only 24 hours in a day, and if anything is important now, it's time."

MEETS THE CRITICS

Part and parcel of the burly Mr. Burr's business approach was the handshaking tour and his reasons for making it. He wanted to meet face to face with the men whose job it is to appraise his show in the public prints.

"I feel it's important to know critics and to make an in-person evaluation of them," he says. "Quite frankly, I can name 20 critics whose opinions mean nothing to me. I have my own evaluation of their evaluations, and I don't care a hoot what they say about me or the show.

"On the other hand, I can name 18 or 20 others whose opinions are very important to me. Whatever they say, I pay attention. If they say a show is good, I go along with them. If they say it isn't, I start checking into the show to see what's wrong."

Apparently Burr has his confidence well placed. The Perry Mason show opened the season as the nation's 64th ranking show and has climbed steadily upward against stiff competition—Perry Como—to the upper echelon of the popularity polls.

★ ★ ★

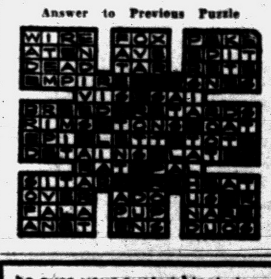

Of equal importance to Burr is the fact that the show has made him a readily identifiable personality, something which 90 motion picture roles, most of them darkly villainous, failed to do.

He says with obvious pleasure:

"Television has given me that identification and also identification as a leading man.

"And that's very important over a whole career. Let's face it, there are only so many ways to be bad and only so many ways to kill or be killed."

Annual Traffic Report Shows Spotty Improvement

Deaths Down, Accidents Increase

Despite a decrease of fatalities and injuries, 1957 was not a definitely improved year for traffic safety in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The annual report by the Police Traffic and Safety Bureau shows that while only four persons died on Pontiac streets from accidents, compared with six in 1956, there were still 1,286 accidents, up from 1,149 in '56.

Total number of persons injured, however, did decline from the 577 in 1956, to 468 in the past year.

The report shows that four times as many men were in traffic accidents as women, 1,679 versus 409, while drivers in the 25-34 year age group were involved in more accidents than any other group.

The report shows that more accidents occurred at 3 to 4 p.m. than any other time, more on Saturdays than any other day, and more in residential or shopping districts than other parts of the city.

The report further shows that some violation of traffic laws was committed in nearly every accident.

VIOLATIONS DROP

A check of the annual report of the police violations bureau disclosed that the number of drivers ticketed or arrested dropped slightly in 1957, as compared with 1956. The figures are 36,221 and 38,443.

The number of motorists cited for speeding dropped almost in half, from 4,352 to 2,533, but more tickets were issued for illegal parking, and improper license plates.

Police nabbed 52 reckless drivers, 3,747 running lights or stop signs, 302 driving against traffic and 1,281 for driving without an operators license, with a revoked or expired license.

The conviction record on traffic violators averaged 85 per cent, the reports show, up from the 82 per cent in '56.

The violation bureau during 1957 also issued 17,225 drivers licenses (and turned down 689 applicants). It served 878 warrants, compared with 1,598 in 1956, and cleared 2,621 warrants by letter, compared with 2,846 the previous year.

Stone Walls Fireproof

Cut stone is classified as fireproof material and meets the restrictions of the most rigid building code. Under many codes, stone walls need not meet the thickness requirements specified for other materials.

Waterford Group Studies Problem

Seek Funds for Culture Center

During the past months, several informative meetings have been held by the Waterford Township Steere study group in an effort to determine how to go about raising funds for a cultural center.

Frank Steere of 4230 S. Shore Rd., donated some 17 acres of land to the township last September providing a $250,000 library and cultural center is built and maintained on the property.

Discussion by the 11-member study group is centered on plans for only one of three units to be built during the first stage, leaving two additional wings for future expansion.

How to finance such a project has been the biggest problem facing the group. Two alternatives are being considered.

Either the funds can be obtained by public subscription, with the township assuming the maintenance, or the project may be financed by taxation.

When the study group convenes again on Feb. 4, at the home of chairman Rev. Walter Teeuwissen, priority will be given to the consideration of this basic financing problem, Rev. Teeuwissen said.
