LBJ Asks Surtax as 'War Levy' in Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked for "sacrifice and hard choices" today in a budget message calling for record outlays of $186.1 billion and a $10.2 billion income tax surcharge —in effect, he said, a war levy.

"It is not the rise in regular budget outlays which requires a tax increase, but the war in Vietnam," Johnson told the Congress.

The presidential message gave priority to government attacks on poverty, crime and pollution on the home front, and to a $76.7 billion outlay for the Defense Department—almost one-third of it to be spent on Vietnam.

But he pounded again and again, in a 556-page message drafted in a new-style "unified" format, on the need for a 10 per cent tax boost starting April 1 for individuals and retroactive to Jan. 1 for corporations.

★ ★ ★

With the tax hike, he warned, the federal deficit "would be near $20 billion for the second year in a row." With it, the fiscal 1969 deficit will be $8 billion, he said.

TOP 'PEACETIME' DEFICIT

The message disclosed that fiscal 1968, the government year now half over, will show the biggest "peacetime" deficit in history, $19.8 billion.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said it appears "we're going to have to do some pretty extensive cutting." Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, a GOP member of the House Appropriations Committee said the budget continues a deficit spending trend "both clear and shocking."

Related Stories, Pages A-3, B-8, B-9

Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the appropriations committee called both budget cuts and the tax boost inevitable.

The budget makes no provision for a jump in military spending arising from North Korea's seizure of the Navy ship Pueblo and the resulting call-up of 14,800 reservists, Budget Director Charles L. Schultze said.

The new-look budget shows outlays about $47 billion higher than they would have looked under the old-fashioned "administrative budget" because it adds to regular federal spending the outlays for highways, Social Security and medicare. Payments into those funds are for the first time treated just like regular tax collections.

Highlights:

War—Vietnam costs add up to $25.8 billion in the new budget, up $1.3 billion.

Excises—The 10 per cent telephone tax and 7 per cent auto excise should be extended beyond April 1, instead of dropping then to 1 per cent and 2 per cent respectively.

Construction cutbacks will reduce 1969 federal building programs about $1.6 billion below appropriated levels of 1968.

Federal debt—the national debt is to total $387.2 billion on June 30, 1968.

Credit — Federal National Mortgage Association purchases—which funnel money into hands of mortgage lenders — would be cut from this year's $2.3 billion to less that $1 billion in fiscal 1969.

Michigan's Junior Miss Of 1968, Pamela Smith Of Northville

Northville Girl Wins Title of Junior Miss

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

Pretty blonde Pamela Smith of Northville last night earned the title of Michigan's Junior Miss of 1968.

A Fenton girl, Kathy O'Connell, was second runner-up in the annual state pageant sponsored by the Pontiac Jaycees.

Pontiac's Junior Miss, Beth Vershure, won third place in the Scott Junior Miss Hostess awards. Clarkston's Junior Miss Nancy Weiss, won second place in the Scott awards.

Other finalists include first runner-up Linda Baillif of Twin Cities, (Benton Harbor-St. Joseph) third runner-up Kathleen Bader of Midland and fourth runner-up Carol Hildebrand of Lansing.

Pamela 17, is a student at Northville High School. She is a member of the National Honor Society, the choir, Thespians, and the debating team. She is an accomplished piano player and ballet dancer and has been studying drama at the Will-O-Way Apprentice Theatre in Bloomfield Township.

SONG-AND-DANCE

Her talent performance was a song-and-dance routine around "One of Those Songs."

Kathy O'Connell, 17, does convalescent and hospital work, sews and sings and is president of the Future Nurses Club at Fenton High School where she is also a member of the National Honor Society.

She gave an original declamation, Time Will Tell, in which she spoke of racial discrimination and the Negro's place as an American.

★ ★ ★

The 47 contestants were judged after three days of rehearsals, preliminary talent performances and judges' interviews. Judging is based on scholastic achievement, poise and personality, youth fitness and talent performance.

The new Junior Miss received $1,100 in scholarships $525 in saving bonds, several merchandise awards and a trip to compete for the title of America's Junior Miss in Mobile, Ala., in March.

Special individual awards were also given last night.

The scholastic achievement award went to Sheryl Silver, Detroit's Junior Miss, from Cass Technical High School. The performing arts award went to Linda Baillif and the creative arts award was given to Jean Cato, Grand Ledge's Junior Miss.

The Scott Junior Miss Hostess top award went to Micki Janssen of Zeeland.

The Breck award was won by Barbara Budjac of Southgate. The award is based on the girl's hair style and how she named it. Barbara's was named the Michigan Mover.

The six judges were from the fields of education, business, and the arts, including America's Junior Miss of 1965, Patrice Gaunder of Stevensville.

Kathy Fliss, Michigan's Junior Miss of 1967, handed the new Junior Miss her crown after a farewell speech in which she thanked everyone for the past year. She was a semifinalist in last year's national competition.

The program was given before an overflow crowd in Pontiac Northern High School auditorium. About 100 people had to be turned away at the door because of lack of room.

Blockade of N. Korea Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Democratic senators say such military action as a blockade of North Korea or sinking its gunboats are possible if she refuses to return the USS Pueblo and its crew of 83.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen also said yesterday that if diplomatic means fail, "We are going to have to put our foot down."

But Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield continued to urge caution, saying avoidance of another Asian war must be a paramount goal.

The congressional reaction to the Pueblo crisis came as the Pentagon announced that U.S. air power in the Far East is being beefed up as a precautionary move. Details were kept secret.

★ ★ ★

Other Washington developments in the aftermath of the Pueblo's seizure:

● The Navy froze most requests for discharge by members of Naval Reserve units. There are more than 133,000 Naval Reservists in drill-pay status.

★ ★ ★

● Sources said that while the U.N. Security Council continued, this country was asking several countries for backstage help in resolving the crisis.

BLOCKADE MENTIONED

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate preparedness subcommittee mentioned a possible blockade if the North Koreans don't return the ship and crew.

Stennis did not advocate any specific military action, mentioning the blockade-possibility during an interview. But he said he wouldn't "rule out anything," including the use of nuclear weapons.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., suggested the United States might start sinking North Korean gunboats or holding that country's merchant ships hostage if peaceful means fail.

But Mansfield, who has maintained any "rash act" must be averted, said: "If it would bring about the release of the ship and the crew, I would admit that it was taken in territorial waters, even though that is not the truth.

"I am satisfied that the Pueblo was in international waters where it had a right to be," he continued. "But if we could avoid a new war by a concession of this kind on the record, I would do it."

Dirksen said he supports President Johnson's diplomatic efforts to get the ship and crew back, adding he had talked over the matter with the Chief Executive.

But, Dirksen added, "There is a great deal more here than just this ship and its crewmen. National morale and prestige is involved.

WHAT OF FUTURE?

"If we let these fourth, fifth and sixth rate Communist countries kick us around, what can we expect in the future?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said today the United States would be willing to stop bombing North Vietnam and talk peace while permitting Hanoi to continue infiltration and supply of its forces at the present level.

Gunman Gives Up; Hostages Are Safe

A mental patient held a woman and her children hostage at gunpoint for nearly an hour last night in Waterford Township before surrendering to police.

Frederick Ody, 32, of 66 S. Midland, Pontiac, volunteered to return to Pontiac State Hospital where he was discharged in November. He had been there on three occasions for a total of about 11 weeks.

Mrs. Charles Pouch of 1043 Myrtle and her children were not harmed at 1012 La Salle where they were held, according to police.

Waterford police were alerted that Ody was walking around Downing Court with a derringer pistol. Then, Charles Pouch notified police his wife and children were being held at 9:10 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Ody had been helping the Pouches move into the house. The gun was reported stolen from a truck.

NO ANSWER TO POLICE

Pouch told police he knew his wife and children were in the house with Ody. When he called, no one answered the telephone. When police went to the door, house lights went out.

Three small children looked out of a second floor window, according to Sgt. Richard Finkbeiner, but could not indicate to police whether their mother was unhurt.

Police used a loudspeaker system to coax Ody out of the house. He finally gave up himself.

Mrs. Pouch said he pointed the gun at her, threatened to rape her and kill the children and shoot himself.

Ody has suicidal tendencies and once poured gasoline on himself and ignited it, Pontiac State Hospital authorities said.

He was released from the mental hospital Nov. 15 after a short stay.

GOP in County to Hear Griffin

U.S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Michigan, will be the principal speaker at the 79th annual Lincoln Day Banquet Feb. 14 at the Raleigh House restaurant in Southfield.

The event is sponsored by the Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club.

Club President Anton J. Guyer said that other guest speakers will include the county's two congressmen, Republicans William Broomfield of the 18th District and Jack McDonald of the 19th District.

A highlight of the 6:30 p.m. program will be the presentation of awards to three high school students for the best essays on Lincoln.

★ ★ ★

The contest is open to all county high school students. The theme of the essay is "How Would Abraham Lincoln Have Reacted to Any Civil Disobedience?"

500 WORD MAXIMUM

Entries must be not more than 500 words. They are to be submitted to essay chairman Barry M. Grant, 509 Northland Towers West, Southfield, by Jan 31.

Ticket chairman Russell Thompson of Ferndale said that some 900 persons are expected to attend the banquet. The restaurant is at 25300 Telegraph, north of 10 Mile Road.

★ ★ ★

Tickets can be obtained from the Oakland County Republican Headquarters, 245 S. Woodward, Birmingham, or by contacting Mrs. Paul Gorman, 144 N. Genesee, Pontiac; William Addis, 406 E. Maple, Holly; Elmer Johnson, 3220 Seebaldt, Waterford Township; Robert Shipper, 5101 Rochester, Rochester; or Mrs. Robert Eoff, 5860 E. Millerway, Birmingham.

Fog, Showers Haze Travelers

Fog crept across the Midwest, settling early Saturday evening on the Oakland County area in drifts of light haze. By yesterday morning, airports were socked in and traffic slowed to a snail's pace, forcing travelers to make their way carefully over area roads.

The moist blanket lifted to a haze by yesterday afternoon, easing traffic conditions somewhat, only to return by nightfall.

This morning, dense fog and showers continued to complicate transportation, causing commuters to leave early and bused schoolchildren to arrive late.

Rain and continued mild temperatures will keep visibility befogged until southeast to south winds at 8 to 16 miles swing to the northwest at 15 to 25 miles by tonight.

A drop in temperature, as the winds pick up speed, will change the drizzle to light snow or snow flurries.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are today, 100; tonight, 50 and tomorrow, 30.

Low mercury reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 36. By 2 p.m. the thermometer had warmed to 41.

Bandits in Denver Take 5 Hostages

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — At least five persons, including a police sergeant, were taken hostage when officers interrupted a supermarket holdup here this morning.

The three bandits, reportedly armed with shotguns and other weapons, commandeered Sgt. Lawrence P. Morahan's cruiser and forced him to drive — red light and siren going — first west of Denver, then back east through the southeast part of town.

★ ★ ★

About 45 minutes after the holdup, the men commandeered another car, taking more hostages. Ten minutes later, they switched vehicles again, this time taking a station wagon.

The holdup occurred shortly before 8 a.m.

Tet Truce Canceled in Five Provinces

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces began observing a 36-hour cease-fire across much of South Vietnam tonight in honor of the Lunar New Year, but the truce was canceled at the last minute in the country's five northernmost provinces.

In justification of the truce modification, South Vietnamese and U.S. officials cited a menacing North Vietnamese buildup in the area. They reported four or five divisions along the demilitarized zone and just over the frontier in Laos, including a new division, the 320th.

U.S. sources said four Red divisions have been positively identified, and possibly there is a fifth in the area. This would be about 40,000 to 50,000 Communist troops, not counting support units.

As gunfire gave way to the crackle of fireworks in many of South Vietnam's cities and hamlets, the South Vietnamese government at the urging of the United States announced that the cease-fire which began at 6 p.m. —5 a.m. EST—would not apply to the 1st Corps area because of the massive Communist buildup in the area.

The announcement added that U.S. planes would continue to bomb North Vietnam south of Vinh, the port city 125 miles north of the demilitarized zone, while suspending their attacks on targets north of there. It is through the southern area that supplies and reinforcements move south to feed the Red buildup around the DMZ.

U.S. officers expect the North Vietnamese to launch their biggest offensive of the war in the northern part of the country, probably in the northwest corner around the U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh, after Tet, the Vietnamese festival in honor of the Lunar New Year Tuesday.

"The threat is serious up there," said a senior U.S. military spokesman. "Why should we give the enemy 36 hours to get in to position when they've got three to four divisions there ready to whack us."

An allied announcement said in the past few days there have been "increasing evidence and visible military actions which establish conclusively that North Vietnamese forces are engaged in a major offensive against the northern areas of South Vietnam."

N. VIET BUILDUP

The statement cited an "extensive buildup" of North Vietnamese forces around Khe Sanh, "including large numbers of troops in neighboring areas of Laos," and "supply activity on a large scale in the southern areas of North Vietnam obviously designed to support this offensive."

The Vietcong proclaimed a seven-day cease-fire beginning last Saturday in honor of Tet, the most important of all Vietnamese holidays. The Saigon government and its allies refused to go along with this extended truce, and hours after the Red truce period started, U.S. Marines on Saturday battled a North Vietnamese force 15 miles east of Khe Sanh. The Marines reported 151 North Vietnamese and 19 Marines killed and 90 Leathernecks wounded.

Sub Hunt Intensifies as Signals Picked Up

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The sea and air search for the missing Israeli submarine Dakar was increased today after an Israeli ship intercepted signals that could have come from one of the sub's radio indicator buoys.

At the other end of the Mediterranean, more than 600 miles away, another rescue task force made underwater soundings as it groped for the French submarine Minerve, which disappeared early Saturday. A total of 121 men are aboard the missing vessels.

About 30 ships and aircraft scoured an area between Cyprus and Haifa trying to locate the Dakar's indicator buoys, which should have risen to the surface automatically if the submarine was in distress. They quickly pressed their search after the Israeli ship Yaffa said it had monitored signals on the same frequency as buoys.

The submarine, carrying a 69-man crew, vanished Thursday about 120 miles off Cyprus and Israeli officials had said earlier there seemed little hope for her safe return.

SOUNDS PICKED UP

The search for the Minerve was concentrated off Toulon, headquarters of the French Mediterranean fleet Electronic gear picked up a series of underwater sounds, but officials would not confirm that contact had been made.

The submarine Ariane and the light destroyer Kersaint both reported to the aircraft carrier Clemenceau that they were checking sounds registering on their sonar equipment.

Although officers said the Minerve had enough oxygen reserves for her 52-man crew to stay submerged "for several days," high navy sources said they viewed the situation with "great anxiety."

Their concern was heightened as the search task force failed to find a buoy the submarine should have sent to the surface in case of emergency. The Minerve was thought to be missing in water nearly 6,000 feet deep.

The French submarine is 190 feet long, weighs 800 tons and has a top speed of 18 knots.

Boats and aircraft from the Israeli, Turkish, Greek, U.S. and British navys hunted for the Dakar, Hebrew swordfish, but the search was hampered Sunday by high seas and strong winds.

Fire Damages City Building

A one-story block building housing two businesses at 695 Auburn near East Boulevard was extensively damaged by fire late last night. No one was hurt.

The cause of the fire has not been determined, according to Pontiac Fire Marshal Charles Metz. His investigation was continuing today.

Fire Chief Charles Marion said the blaze is believed to have started in the portion of the building used for a car wash. It then spread to an adjoining section used for the rebuilding of car engines, and then to an unoccupied store.

Metz said the owner of the building, William DiNardi of Madison Heights, said the vacant portion was to have been converted into a pizzeria.

An inventory of the damage will be needed before a estimate on the fire loss can be made, according to Metz.

BLAZE FOUGHT

Firemen had the blaze under control by 12:20 a.m. today, an hour and a half after responding to the alarm.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Rain is forecast tonight for part of New England and the central and southern Appalachian states. California is also expected to receive showers. Snow is forecast for part of the Midwest and for the Pacific Northwest.

UAW Strikers Returning to Two of GM Foundries

DETROIT (AP)—The first of 117,900 United Auto Workers began returning to their jobs today at General Motors, following the settlement Sunday of two of the firm's three crippling foundry strikes.

Company spokesmen, however, declined to predict when all workers, including 105,700 idled by parts shortages resulting from the walkouts, could resume normal work schedules.

In Detroit, meanwhile, negotiations continued until 1030 this morning in efforts to reach settlement on the third strike at the firm's Chevrolet foundry at Tonawanda, N. Y.

Local agreements to supplement the union's national contract with the giant auto maker were overwhelmingly ratified by workers at GM's key Central Division foundry in Defiance, Ohio, and Chevrolet Grey Iron foundry in Saginaw, Mich.

The UAW said 90 per cent of the production workers and 78 per cent of the skilled workers approved the contract at Defiance, where some 2,000 had been on strike for 12 days.

★ ★ ★

The vote at Saginaw, where 6,900 workers walked out 11 days ago, was 95 per cent of the production workers and 88 per cent of the skilled tradesmen, the union said.

Under the Defiance pact, workers will get three minutes of paid washup time before lunch periods, three minutes less than they had been demanding.

Contents of the Saginaw settlement were not immediately available, but it was believed to contain similar language. Washup time was the key issue at all three foundries.

Negotiators were to resume talks at 1 p.m. this afternoon in the Tonawanda strike, which began 10 days ago and has idled 2,300 workers since Jan. 19.

The settlements at the Saginaw and Defiance foundries, which produce cast metal parts, primarily engine castings, affected production for all lines of the company's cars, a spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Workers there will gradually begin returning to work today and Tuesday, and other workers laid off as a result of the parts shortage "will be called back as fast as we can get to refill the parts pipeline," a spokesman said.

He declined to say how long this might be, and added more GM assembly plant workers might be laid off as further parts shortages temporarily occur.

In addition, similar local contracts remain unsettled at foundries in Massena, N.Y., and Pontiac, Mich. GM said the union was demanding 20 minutes wash-up time at Massena and 30 minutes at Pontiac.

Three other Central Division foundries, GM said, earlier settled local contracts without the six-minute wash-up time demanded by the struck foundries.

Elsewhere on the auto labor scene, a strike by 10,000 UAW members continues against Chrysler Canada Ltd. over terms of a new national contract expected to set the pattern for contracts also with GM and Ford of Canada.

Some 4,000 Chrysler workers, additionally, are striking at St. Louis, Mo., over local issues. The company said lack of parts from the St. Louis plant has caused the layoff of 600 workers at a key stamping plant at Twinsburg, Ohio.

Settlements Mean 6,000 to Be Called Back in City

Some 6,000 workers were idled at General Motors plants in Pontiac this morning, but GM spokesmen said they would start calling them all back soon.

★ ★ ★

Settlements were announced at two of the large GM foundries — Saginaw and Defiance, Ohio — where walkouts had been tying up the supply of parts.

At Pontiac Motor Division, about 5,000 workers were off the job today with the engine plant, foundry and sheet metal plant shut down, according to a company spokesman. However, the final assembly line was still in operation and cars were being turned out, he said.

"All employes of department 975 in the engine plant of Pontiac Motor Division should report to work tomorrow at regular starting time," the company announced this morning. All other employes will be notified of recall times tomorrow, it was announced.

★ ★ ★

The men will be called back "as soon as possible," and most are expected to be on the job by the end of the week, a spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

At General Motors Truck and Coach Division, some 1,000 were idled. A company spokesman said he did not think the number would rise and that call-backs would start soon.

COMPENSATION PAY

The company has maintained the layoffs were the result of a "labor dispute," which would have meant the men may not have been eligible for compensation pay. Officials at both unions said Saturday they would contest this and attempt to get their men compensation pay, going to court if necessary.

The UAW planned to send help to the area from the international union if the situation continued.

However, with settlement at the foundries, it appears doubtful many men would be off an entire week — necessary before payments could begin.

★ ★ ★

Local and national contract agreements have been settled at all Pontiac GM plants except at Pontiac Motor Div. Negotiations continued over the weekend.

Gun, Gambler Sign-Up Curbed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the government cannot force individuals to register their sawed-off shotguns, machine guns and certain other firearms, because to do so may unconstitutionally require them to incriminate themselves.

★ ★ ★

The ruling was handled as a companion case to one in which the court ruled that federal gambling tax registration provisions also impermissibly require self-incrimination.

The court also rejected another appeal by Teamster President James R. Hoffa for a new trial in Chattanooga, Tenn., on jury tampering charges.

Hoffa was convicted in 1964 and is now serving a prison sentence. He claimed newly discovered evidence in the form of improper conduct by jurors during his trial and also by U.S. marshals supervising the jurors.

By a 7-1 decision, the court barred prosecution of gamblers who refuse to register on the ground of possible self-incrimination.

Similarly, it barred prosecution of gamblers who refuse to pay a special yearly tax of $50 and to pay 10 per cent excise on wagers received by them.

Spock, 4 Others Plead Innocent

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Benjamin Spock and four other men indicted on charges of counseling young men to avoid the draft all pleaded innocent when arraigned today in U.S. District Court.

★ ★ ★

All five were released in $1,000 bail each.

★ ★ ★

Under indictment with the 64-year-old pediatrician are the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43, chaplain at Yale University; Michael Farber, 23, of Boston, a Harvard University graduate student; Mitchell Goodman, 44, an author of New York City and Temple, Maine; and Marcus Raskin, 33, of Washington, D.C., co-director of the Institute for Policy Studies.

Copper Strike Impact Grows

NEW YORK (AP) — Western miners and their families are eking out a harsh existence on union benefits, food stamps and credit as efforts to settle the six-month-old copper industry strike are being intensified.

The strike, called last July 15 by the United Steelworkers of America and 25 other unions, has idled nearly 60,000 workers and cut off more than 90 per cent of the nation's copper production and 35 per cent of the lead and zinc output.

★ ★ ★

The impact has been heavy, too, on businesses and governments of the big copper producing states—Arizona, Utah, New Mexico, Montana and Nevada.

"Food stamps have saved the day," said Mayor Tom Powers of Butte, Mont. "If it wasn't for the stamps, I'd have been dead along with a lot of other small grocers."

FELT IN EAST

The impact has been hardest in small towns of the West, where copper is their only industry. But it has been felt in some Eastern areas, where copper fabricating is concentrated.

"You know a man is hurting when he comes in and spends his collection of silver dollars on food," said a supermarket manager in Perth Amboy, N.J., where 3,700 refinery workers are on strike.

★ ★ ★

In nearby Carteret, N.J., small grocery stores reported a 50 per cent drop in sales.

But despite the hardships, many strikers say, "We're doing all right."

Most of the strikers have used up their savings by now. They are getting up to $30 a week in union benefits and are receiving foods stamps from the government.

RENTS DEFERRED

Phelps Dodge Corp., Arizona's biggest copper producer, has deferred collection of rents on company-owned houses and company stores have extended up to $35 a week in credit.

The strike has shut down mines producing copper, silver, molybdenum, zinc and lead and smelters, refineries and fabricating plants in 23 states.

The economies of the five Western mining states have been damaged and tax collections have fallen.

The Arizona Tax Commission estimates the state is losing $500,000 a month in taxes on the sale of copper and another $500,000 in general sales taxes. It predicts the state income tax loss for 1967 will be $5.5 million.

STRIKE ISSUES

The issues in the strike are wages and fringe benefits and union demands for company-wide bargaining.

In its latest offer, Phelps Dodge proposed to increase the current pay scale to a range of $2.89 to $4.09 an hour over three years, a boost of 27 cents for the lowest job classification and 35 cents for the highest. The offer is being considered during recessed negotiations.

City Slated to Consider Vacating of Abbey Road

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission is slated to consider the proposed vacating of Abbey Road at its regular meeting tonight at 8.

The requested vacating, involving the portion of Abbey south of Wimbleton, was referred to the administration for study in February 1966.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning has recommended that the proposal be denied on the grounds that access to Poppleton Park, a 17-acre parcel of city property south of Wimbleton and east of Hunter, would be constricted.

"There are no firm plans for expansion of recreational facilities in the park, but the potential is very great," Kenning commented.

★ ★ ★

Possible access, the city manager added, could be established from Hunter, Oxford Road (west of the park) and Abbey. Of these, he said, Abbey offers the best possibilities.

GOLF COURSE REPORT

Also on tonight's agenda is a report from Parks and Recreation Supt. Darrel C. Middlewood on projected golf course fees and expenditures for 1968.

Middlewood's report requested by the commission Jan. 15, considers projected use, expense and revenue from several different plans of operation.

The commission will also receive a report from the traffic engineering consulting firm of Reid and Cool on proposed traffic changes in the central business district.

★ ★ ★

The changes, suggested by the city's urban design consultants, Johnson, Johnson and Roy, Inc., would convert several streets in the downtown area to one-way.

OTHER CHANGES

Tonight's report will deal with other changes which would be made necessary, involving right-of-ways, intersection widening and other problems.

25 Are Injured in Train Wreck

Twelve Cars Derailed in Kentucky Mishap

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Twelve cars of a northbound Louisville & Nashville Railroad passenger train were derailed early today about two miles south of Hopkinsville. At least 25 persons among the 150 aboard were injured.

Twelve of the injured were admitted to Jennie Stuart Hospital in Hopkinsville. State Police said three suffered apparent serious injuries and one patient was expected to be transferred to a Nashville hospital. A dozen or more were treated and released. Four hours after the wreck, others were coming to the hospital for examination.

The train was "The Georgian," northbound from Atlanta to Chicago with some of its coaches due to be switched for St. Louis.

"We were just about ready to slow down for a stop at Hopkinsville. I felt my car shaking," said baggagemaster Paul Luster of Evansville.

'A MIRACLE'

All of a sudden it threw me forward and then back again. Baggage people flew through the air. It was a miracle nobody was killed."

State Police said two coaches, a diner, and baggage and a mail car were damaged extensively. Only the engine and three cars remained on the rails.

Police said the derailment occurred on a stretch of straight track about 2:30 a.m. EST. Light rain fell in the area earlier. Hopkinsville is in Southcentral Kentucky, about 150 miles southwest of Louisville and 75 miles northwest of Nashville.

The uninjured were taken by school bus to Hopkinsville to await transportation on commercial vehicles sent from Louisville.

Manhunt On for Suspect in 2 Slayings

MILAN (AP)—Armed with a kidnapping warrant, federal agents pushed a search today for a Columbus, Ohio, man also wanted for questioning in the shooting death of a Michigan man.

Sought is Troy D. Martin, 40, believed to be somewhere in southern Ohio. He was described as "a drifter" by authorities.

The manhunt began late Saturday after the body of Edward J. Spivey, 58, of nearby Tecumseh was found under an abandoned pickup truck at the farm home of Thomas E. Cyr, 23, of rural Milan, a southeastern Lower Michigan community.

Cyr told authorities a man carrying a gun pulled the pickup truck into his farm yard Saturday night, where Cyr was working in the barn. The man pulled a gun, Cyr said, and ordered him to drive to Toledo.

Cyr said the man sat in the passenger seat of the car all the way to Toledo, cocking and uncocking a revolver.

Cyr described the gunman as calm and methodical. He said he became lost in Toledo and the man got out of the car, called a cab and left.

Before departing, the gunman shook Cyr's hand and "wished me luck," Cyr told police.

Toledo police traced the gunman to a bus station where he purchased a ticket for Dayton, Ohio, 100 miles to the south.

Authorities said Martin was last seen with Spivey drinking in a Tecumseh tavern.

Spivey died of a gunshot wound inflicted by a .22-caliber bullet, said Dr. James McLaughlin of Wyandotte, who performed the autopsy. Spivey lived in a trailer court in Tecumseh, police said.

Spivey's body was found by Cyr's wife, Kathleen, after Cyr telephoned her from Toledo police headquarters.

Cuban Reds to Try 9 for 'Intrigues'

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban Communist party, in a new show of divergence from Moscow, is putting on trial nine Old Bolsheviks who opposed Prime Minister Fidel Castro's policy of exporting guerrilla revolutions to the rest of Latin America.

★ ★ ★

The purge, announced Sunday after a three-day meeting of the party's central committee, also caught two members of the committee but there was no indication they would be put on trial. They were Jose Matar, former chief of the two-million-member network of informers and local vigilantes known as the Committee for the Defense of the Revolution, and Ramon Calcines, head of the fruit industry.

★ ★ ★

The nine men who will be tried by a revolutionary tribunal were headed by Anibal Escalante, one of the party's three top leaders before Castro took it over. Escalante lost out in a power struggle six years ago.

★ ★ ★

Informed sources said Escalante was certain to be accused of treason when he was put on trial.

CHARGES LISTED

A communique charged Escalante's group with "intrigues," distributing propaganda against the party, giving false information to foreign officials to damage Cuban foreign relations and possessing secret documents of the committee of Basic Industries.

The group's position aided the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, the committee said, and "pseudo-revolutionaries of Latin America"—the regime's phrase for Communists who have turned their backs on Castro's policy of open insurrection.

★ ★ ★

Escalante, who traveled to Russia and Poland after falling out with Castro in 1962, was reported arrested several months ago for plotting against the government. Castro himself outlined Escalante's "activities against the party and the revolution" to the central committee, its announcement said.

Congressmen Chorusing Demands for Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, skeptical about increasing spending while the Vietnam war goes on, greeted President Johnson's $186.1 billion budget today with a bipartisan chorus of demands for cutbacks at home.

The President's acknowledgment that the proposed 10 per cent income surtax was made necessary by war costs did not generate any immediate new support for raising taxes—at least until some efforts are made to reduce expenditures.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said Johnson "can be assured that the Congress will do its part by carefully scrutinizing all the individual requests and by reducing the budget still further. "I'm sure ti will meet with his approval wherever we can bring about legitimate reductions."

★ ★ ★

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said, "If the gold imbalance is as bad as the President said it is on New Year's day, we're going to have to do some pretty extensive cutting."

As for the proposed tax increase, Dirksen said, "We're not even going to talk about that until we cut spending."

Johnson put what he called "selective increases" into the budget for spending on manpower training, model cities, crime control, family planning and health care for mothers and infants, air and water pollution and for educational research.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., said he will vote for a tax increase of at least $7 billion—the President asked $10.2 billion—but he urged Johnson to consider raising half the lower amount by reimposing some luxury taxes.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., a colleague of Monroney's on the Senate Appropriations Committee, said "Congress will certainly want to make substantial reductions in the nonmilitary portions of this budget before it will give serious consideration to passing the tax bill the President is relying on to avoid an astronomical deficit."

Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, said Congress will undoubtedly make cuts in the budget. "We have no alternative," he said.

★ ★ ★ ★

But unlike last year, when he refused to support Johnson's request for a tax increase, he said he is now "committed completely" to the proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

★ ★ ★

"We have to move on both fronts," he said, "increasing revenues and decreasing spending. We can't wait any longer."

Training for 1.3 Million Sought

Hard-Core-Jobless Aid Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today for $2.1 billion in manpower funds to train 1.3 million hard-core jobless—his top-priority home-front program in the 1969 federal budget.

"The opportunity to work in a meaningful job is a fundamental right in our society," Johnson said in his budget message.

★ ★ ★

"This opportunity is denied those who are ill-equipped through lack of education and job skills and those who are handicapped by the effects of discrimination and a slum environment," Johnson said.

The money requests for various types of classroom and on-the-job training total $311 million more than fiscal 1968 manpower programs.

MONEY REQUESTS

The manpower money requests include $1.1 billion under the Office of Economic Opportunity budget, $790 million under the Labor Department, $135 million under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, $44 million under the Veterans Administration and $25 million under the Interior Department, a Budget Bureau spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Johnson listed manpower training at the top of his domestic priority list, ahead of the model cities program, crime control, air and water pollution control and education research.

★ ★ ★

He said the manpower funds would enable the government to train 1.3 million persons for jobs, up more than 300,000 trainees over fiscal 1968, which ends June 30.

ON-THE-JOB TRAINING

He said 281,000 persons would get on-the-job training under the Labor Department's Manpower Development and Training program, the Work Incentive program for welfare recipients, veterans programs and certain programs being transferred from the Office of Economic Opportunity.

★ ★ ★

Classroom training in job skills and basic education would be available to about 268,000 more people through the Manpower Development and Training program, Opportunities Industrialization centers, the Job Corps and the Work Incentive program under the budget requests.

★ ★ ★

Some 459,000 youths would be given jobs in public employment during the summer or during the school year to help them finance their continued education, the budget message said.

Another 63,000 persons would benefit from skill upgrading and short-term employability training under the Manpower Development and Training program.

AID FOR INDIANS

About 121,000 persons handicapped by age or local economic conditions would get jobs in community services, Johnson said.

The Interior Department manpower funds are for the Bureau of Indian Affairs to aid some 14,000 Indians in getting jobs.

★ ★ ★

The Labor Department's total proposed 1969 spending of $3.9 billion includes $3.2 billion from trust funds, largely for unemployment compensation. Trust funds, not included in prior years, were figured in this year under a new budgeting system.

Of the $711.5 million in other outlays proposed for 1969, the department's Manpower Administration is alloted $576.8 for various job-training programs.

Debt Interest Higher as Cost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interest on the federal debt would climb to $14.4 billion—third highest outlay category in the budget—under the spending program sent to Congress today by President Johnson.

★ ★ ★

This would mean an increase of $900 million over interest charges for the current fiscal year which ends June 30.

Interest payments make the Treasury Department the third highest spender among government departments—behind Defense with $76.7 billion in military outlays and Health, Education and Welfare with $45.8 billion in expenditures.

School Millage Needs Cause Clash in Troy

TROY—How many mills does this school district need?

Six mills for two years?

Yes, say Supt. of Schools Dr. Rex B. Smith and the board of education, which lowered the request Feb. 19 for operating funds to six (previously it had voted to ask for seven) mills last week because of the district's increased valuation.

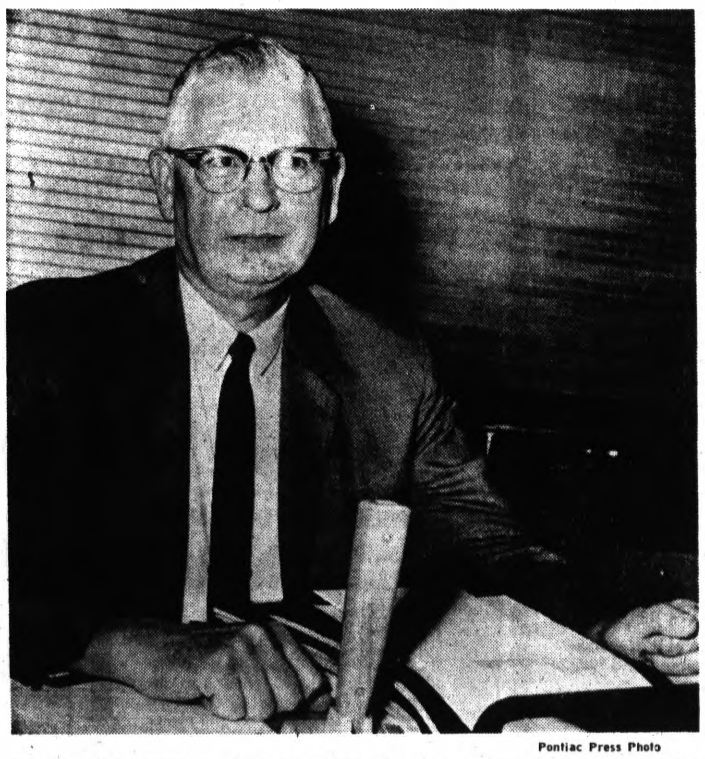
No, says a member of the board, Harold Janes. Janes amplified, "Anyone who votes for six mills is crazy."

Janes, an accountant, was elected to the board last June for the first time, and has been a frequent critic of the district administration. Prior to his election, he served on a citizens' committee to study millage needs.

In an independent study presented to the board Jan. 9, Janes claimed that several estimates both of present and projected needs were too high. Three mills for two years, he said, would be sufficient.

Smith's study presented to the board in December and revised Jan. 18 to allow for legislation increasing equalized valuation, pegs the district's deficit at the end of this school year at $600,887.

The district has been running a deficit since the end of the 1964-65 school year. Two millage elections, in June and September of last year, failed. In each, the board asked a seven-mill increase for one year.



Pontiac Press Photo

DISTRICT CHIEF — Dr. Rex Smith is superintendent of the Troy School District, which for more than a year has experienced a running debate on fiscal matters. The next chapter will be another millage election Feb. 19.

Before the June loss, Smith said, the board made public a list of some 30 cuts which would be necessary if the millage request was not approved.

'DIDN'T MAKE SENSE'

Following the election, he continued, the board made nearly all the cuts, but found that "some situations didn't make sense."

For example, Smith said, the district had a band director with tenure, and band was one of the cuts proposed. "We would have had to have the students sit in the band room with a band director and study, instead of having band," he explained.

Smith's study predicts an enrollment increase of 350-plus students for next year. This, accompanied with a projected boost in operating cost per pupil of $120 (making the total cost per pupil $898), would make projected total expenses about $4.8 million — $1.3 million more than this year.

The study estimates total income from taxes, state aid and other sources at $4.2 million, leaving an added deficit of $600,000 and putting the district a total of $1.2 million in the red.

DEFICIT AVERAGE

The increased deficit averages out to 6.15 to 6.2 additional mills per year, the study concludes.

Janes' study, in the meantime not previously made public, estimates the district's deficit at the end of this year at $450,000. The difference, Janes said, is that the board figures the deficit on a cash basis (cash in hand), while he uses a "semiaccrual" basis, which takes into account monies yet to be received or spent, such as delinquent taxes.

"By utilizing the cash basis," Janes added, "I could make any district look good or bad at a given point in time."

★ ★ ★

Janes' study figures on an increase of 30 students, and adds that the cost of educating additional pupils is less than the present cost per pupil.

COST PER PUPIL

With a smaller increase in enrollment, less money alloted per new pupil, and a reduced figure for restored cuts and added programs (as compared with Smith's study), Janes' study estimates cost per pupil next year at approximately $820 and total expenses at $4.3 million.

The $800,000 for new expenses (above this year's budget of $3.5 million) and $450,000 deficit, Janes says, comprise total needed monies of $1.25 million.

The district's increased valuation of $30 million, he continues, will result in $678,000 new income.

★ ★ ★

The $570,000 difference, Janes says, is what millage needs should be figured on — 4.8 mills for one year, or three mills for two.

Janes also said it was likely that the increase in valuation would be well above $30 million — $43 million to $48 million — making even less money necessary.

Asked for comment on Janes's study, Smith responded, "I can't really say too much about it until I've had a chance to see it." He explained that Janes had not distributed copies to board members after presenting the study.

However, the superintendent added, "The semiaccrual basis isn't much help in paying payrolls. You have to meet them with cash."

Farmington Study Set to Go as Jaycees Complete Fee

FARMINGTON — The long-awaited study on the future of this area is about ready to go.

The Farmington Jaycees have agreed to contribute $1,200, the remainder of the $5,000 fee by the Michigan State Development and Services for doing the study.

Others sharing the tab are Farmington Township, paying $2,500; Farmington city, $1,100; Quakertown, $100; and Woodcreek Farms, $100.

The Jaycees weren't included in the original financing plan for the study.

Their participation came after the township board decided to support a $2,500 study for itself and not pay its allotted share of $3,700 for the MSU study.

BASIS OF SHARE

Each municipality's share was figured on an assessed valuation basis by the Future Farmington Area Study Committee (FFASC) which initiated the MSU study.

The Donald M. Oakes public management firm of Grand Rapids was hired by the township. This study is planned to focus on the economic effects of boundary changes on the townhip, according to Township Supervisor Curtis Hall.

The aim of the study by the MSU staff "is to estimate and project future needs for government services . . . and too evaluate alternate organizational ways of meeting such needs," according to the staff's proposal.

An executive committee or "task force" has been organized to draw up the contract with the MSU staff and assist in collecting data.

The committee, selected by the FFASC includes:

Thomas Zoedes, representing the Farmington Board of Commerce; Richard Tupper, Jaycees; Mrs. William Smith, League of Women Voters; Thomas Nolan, Farmington Township; John Allen; Farmington City; William Cogadill, Quakertown; Al Albertaan, Woodcreek Farms; and Dr. John Richardson, head of the FFASC.

This group will meet with the MSU staff in several weeks, said Richardson. Then it will cut off contact with the study staff until the project is done this fall, he added.

Although the FFASC didn't count on the township hiring its own firm, Richardson says he is "grateful the township decided to support the MSU study.

Academy Blaze; Arson Believed

HOLLY TOWNSHIP — The third Adelphian Academy fire believed set by arsonists since last July claimed a storage barn at 871 Academy last night.

Holly Township Fire Department answered the call at 12:20 a.m. The sound of an explosion before the fire caused officials to suspect arson.

The barn contained some farm machinery and a motorcycle. No estimate of loss was available this morning.

Last Nov. 21 a blaze at the Academy destroyed another barn filled with finished goods produced by the Adelphian Mill.

★ ★ ★

A fire last July destroyed a number of storage trailers filled with lumber which were parked at the Academy.

NO ARRESTS

Arson was suspected in both instances, according to Academy officials, but no arrests were made.

The school, located west of Holly, accommodates 300 students.

The two weeks of testing are being made at the Stevens Point, Wis., municipal airport as part of the winter driving hazards tests by the National Safety Council.

30 in W. Bloomfield Twp. Protest 2 Rezoning Bids

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Opposition to rezoning requests for a funeral home and an apartment building here drew about 30 residents to a recent township planning commission meeting.

Most opposition was against rezoning of the northeast corner of Walnut Lake and Orchard Lake roads for the establishment of the C. J. Godhardt Funeral Home, which the commission unanimously denied. Godhardt now has a funeral home in Keego Harbor.

The parcel is zoned residential, and the request was for the least restrictive category in the business zonings.

Residents fear that the property could later be used for a motel or a bowling alley, which are legal under the zoning requested, reported Mrs. Margaret Evans, commission secretary.

★ ★ ★

Discontent was also expressed on the rezoning from single family residential to multiple of several acres on the northwest corner of Orchard Lake and Seminary roads.

PUBLIC HEARING

The commission has set a public hearing on the request for Feb. 27 at 8 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Couzens, residents of the property at 3590 Orchard Lake Road, have agreed that the apartment dwellers wouldn't be allowed to keep boats on the property's lake frontage.

Also on the agenda Feb. 27 is a rezoning request for a small shopping center and apartments on 8.5 acres on the southwest corner of Willow and Hiller roads.

The petitioner, Louis Bodek of Birmingham, plans to develop the area, now a gravel pit.

In other business the commission gave final plat approval for 87 lots in Bloomfield on the Lake West No. 1 and 2 and for 77 lots in Pine Hill Village No. 1 and 2.

DEVELOPERS

The subdivisions are being developed by the local Suburban Communities and the Smokler Co. of Southfield.

Approval also went to the site plan for the Detroit Bank and Trust Co. building near the northeast corner of Maple and Orchard Lake roads. A temporary building is now on the parcel.

The commission also recommended that the township board form a committee to consider acquisition of park sites here.

The commission action followed reading of a letter from the West Bloomfield League of Women Voters, urging such a committee.

Wixom Gets New Constable

WIXOM—Howard Croft, a dairy farmer who resides at 50172 Pontiac Trail, is the city's new constable.

★ ★ ★

He was appointed by the council to fill the vacancy left by Stanley Clark, who resigned several months ago.

The council has asked for another estimate of the cost of hiring a night dispatcher—this time for the fire and public works as well as the police departments.

Police Chief D'Arcy Young had reported to the council that a 24-hour police dispatcher costs from $11,000 to $22,000 annually in nearby areas.

★ ★ ★

The council first requested the chief to check into the costs after receiving petitions from the Wixom Chamber of Commerce.

ASK POLICE DISPATCHER

The petitions, signed by 21 of the city's 38 businesses, call for the employment of a police dispatcher for nights and weekends when the county sheriff's department usually takes calls.

★ ★ ★

A dispatcher during these times would mean better protection and better service, said Chief Young. He added that he has been in favor of hiring a night and weekend deispatcher for several years.

Based on the number of candidates, there will be no primaries in any of the four.

Oxford

Since there will be no primary election here, a vote March 11 will determine three Village Council positions, two for two-year terms and one for a one-year term.

The nominating petition deadline arrived Saturday with two of three incumbents and three newcomers filing for the seats. Councilman Ray Forman did not seek reelection.

Filing were incumbents Edward J. Bossardet, 49, of 48 W. Burdick and Jay L. Allen, 28, of 124 S. Washington. Newcomers seeking election are Robert McMeans, 39, of 42 Glaspie; Harold J. Phipps, 32, of 90 Pontiac; and Benjamin Swanson, 40, of 39 Pontiac.

Lake Orion

Seven candidates have filed for four seats on the Village Council in the March 11 election. There will be no primary vote, according to Clerk Mrs. Mary Parkinson.

Nominating petitions have been filed by incumbents Wallace C. Crane, Fred C. Cole, Lawrence J. Giddings and Robert D. Stokes. Seeking to displace them are Arthur J. Pagel Sr., 28 Highland; Clarence B. Rossman, a former village president, of 543 Atwater; and Mrs. Irene Armstrong, 630 Detroit.

The three obtaining the highest number of votes will be elected for two years and one for one year.

This is the first election to be conducted under the village's new charter. All candidates have filed as nonpartisan.

Franklin

Fourteen residents filed Saturday to run in the general election March 11.

To run for the village presidency are George M. Howard of 30442 S. Greenbriar and Paul F. Schoeffel of 32440 Franklin.

Filing for treasurer were incumbent A. Dale Leighton of 30119 Cheviot Hills and Brooks Marchall Jr. of 32965 Franklin Court.

The ten persons who filed for the three trustee positions are incumbent William S. Dickey, 31059 McKinney; incumbent Robert W. DeBenham, 26980 Wellington; incumbent J. Robert Mitchell, 25300 Frankin Park; Fred Hirshmann, 31050 Briarcliff; C.W. Goudie, 32500 Haverford; D.L. Westcott, 30811 Cheviot Hills; D.R. Courtney Jr., 25600 River; Richard C. Wozniak, 26985 Crestwood; Edward Crane, 26128 German Mill; and Eugene Sherwood, 26065 Carol.

★ ★ ★

All positions are for two-year terms.

Milford

This village will have no primary as only three residents filed petitions for two trustee positions.

★ ★ ★

Those who filed are incumbent R.C. Wakefield, 605 S. Main; incumbent Norton Caswell, 946 Duke; and Dale E. Barr, 767 Friar.

★ ★ ★

The three will run for three-year terms in the general election March 11.

Council to Vote on Annexation

CLARKSTON — A public meeting tonight is expected to determine whether the village will seek to annex land which could approximately triple its current size.

The Village Council has called a special meeting for 8 p.m. at the junior high school auditorium for purposes of voting on the issue.

★ ★ ★

Because Clarkston is a general law village, no vote of the people is required to annex. Only approval by the County Board of Supervisors is necessary.

People in the affected area, estimated at about 250 families, have signed two sets of petitions objecting to the proposal.

It Seems to Me . . .

The Pueblo Debacle Breeds Many Unanswered Questions

Happenings, assertions and denials are falling over each other with increasing rapidity in this Pueblo affair. Anything written can be outdated before it's printed, but from the welter of developments, one thing is apparent: the United States hasn't covered herself with any glory during a single phase of this calamity.

★ ★ ★

The happening seems to have been mismanaged at the very outset right on the decks of the Pueblo. Why this ship submitted so easily to complete capture is still a mystery.

★ ★ ★

At the moment, far and away the most important matter is the fate of the 83 men. Rumors say they may have to "stand trial." Then this is denied. Then it's reaffirmed. What are the facts? If the Koreans take any punitive action against these Americans, an unpredictable eruption could blow Southeastern Asia apart.

★ ★ ★

One U.S. element urges immediate military movement. Another counsels caution. It's up to the President to decide. He's the only one with all the facts and he must move immediately. Otherwise the whole area may flare into a violence everyone will regret. This is no time for inaction. The decisions rest squarely in the White House where all the known facts rest.

But action of some sort is indicated immediately.

Role of George C. Wallace . . . .

GEORGE C. WALLACE, Alabama, isn't going to be elected President of the United States.

That's for sure!

But he can play a greater part in the election than his personal role as a contestant. If Wallace pries away a considerable part of the Republican party's ballots, he would lay the election in President Johnson's lap. Wallace's own personal cause is hopeless. But his potential in the race could be fatal to whomever the GOP selects as a candidate.

The Republicans picked Miami as the scene of their convention to woo the South which has begun to defect from the solid Democratic tradition of many decades. It now has Southern GOP representatives in the Senate, the House and as Governors.

★ ★ ★

For a century this was unthinkable. If Wallace gobbles up GOP votes in his own cause, he will deserve a diamond-studded medal from the Democrats. Theodore Roosevelt once contributed mightily to the defeat of Taft and helped elect Woodrow Wilson by just such an ill-timed maneuver.

Lesson From U.S. . . . .

Russia is finding that the hated U.S. "profit motive" can't be ducked forever. In the last several years they have slowly inched in that direction in several ways.

★ ★ ★

Now they're adding another by running training schools for "managers." When a business is "run" by someone with no managerial ability, the costs creep up and up. In Russia this means the government must underwrite the losses.

★ ★ ★

Now they want a better showing and that horrible "economic imperialism" creeps into the picture. When a good manager does appear, almost immediately you see a few convenient "mergers" with him running the whole show.

This is humiliating for them —but true.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Republicans are confident they can pick up 31 House seats which would give them control. They can't get enough seats in the Upper Chamber to dislodge the Dem rule in the Senate, but they predict ten more seats. . . . . Overheard: "The reason you don't hear much about Twiggy anymore is because when they devaluated the pound, she disappeared." . . . . . ED CARMEL, circus giant, has now reached nine feet. He's unhappy because TV won't give him a tumble. How about basketball?

★ ★ ★

PATRICIA

Trusted scouts advise me Patricia Brosenne deserves mention as one of the attractive young ladies in the area. . . . . Obituary in a small town paper: "He crawled through a fence with his shotgun cocked. He is survived by his wife, two children and a ring-necked pheasant." . . . . . ABC-TV will have more people covering the winter Olympics than the U.S. will have contesting athletes (250 for ABC). . . . . These were voted the sweetest phrases in the English language: 1—I love you; 2—Dinner is served; 3—All is forgiven; 4—Sleep 'til noon; 5—Keep the change.

★ ★ ★

Overheard: "If postal rates get any higher, it will be cheaper to go yourself." . . . . . They claim this is a record: ROBERTA PETERS will be on the ED SULLIVAN Show February 11th and it will be her 53rd appearance. She deserves it. . . . . I'm encouraged. Publishers Central Bureau used to send me 16 of their book offerings and they've finally cut to six. This time they used two different colored pamphlets. . . . . Overheard: "Judging from what I've seen on TV this year, the reruns next summer can't be too hot." . . . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—the way Pontiac has handled the snow this year; the J's—Judge THEODORE F. HUGHES and his $2,000 bond.

David Lawrence Asks:

Rights Proposal Discriminatory?

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has submitted to congress a "message on civil rights" which recommends the passage of a federal law to protect individuals who encounter violence or force when they attempt to exercise certain of their civil rights.

LAWRENCE

It is important, of course, to eliminate discrimination in employment, in the use of public facilities, in education and in voting. But the President's proposed law covers federal punishment only for crimes of a particular type growing out of racial friction or discrimination.

A vast number of citizens, irrespective of color, who are the victims of crime of all kinds, are apparently not to be given the benefit of federal protection. This raises the question of whether the President's proposal itself constitutes a form of discrimination.

The Fifth Amendment to the Constitution says that no person shall "be deprived of life, liberty, or property," except by proper legal means.

★ ★ ★

The federal government is empowered — under this doctrine of "due process" — to assure the protection of the civil rights of all citizens, and Chief Justice Warren so ruled in 1954 in behalf of a unanimous Supreme Court.

REPONSIBILITY

President Johnson, however, makes it clear in his message that he is asking for a federal statute which would safeguard only some civil rights.

He prefers to relieve the national government of its responsibility to protect all other civil rights such as are threatened by incitements to violence or criminal acts. After listing various types of discrimination, the President said to Congress:

"This bill will strengthen the hand of federal law enforcement to protect our citizens wherever they encounter — because of their race, color or religion — violence or force in their attempt to enjoy established civil rights. Beyond this limited area, law enforcement is left where it belongs — in the hands of the states and local communities."

★ ★ ★

If a law is to be passed giving equal protection to citizens against violations of one set of civil rights, why shouldn't the same measure apply to all other civil rights, too?

'LIMITED AREA'

Thus, the citizen who walks down the street in his neighborhood where a race riot has been incited and vandalism has occurred is as much entitled to federal protection as the citizen who is being discriminated against only because of race in the exercise of his civil rights.

Why should the federal government confine itself to a "limited area" in these operations?

Why should it concern itself with crime or violence affecting merely one group of citizens while denying "equal protection" to other citizens who, without any legal process, are being deprived of life or liberty or property?

★ ★ ★

If the principle is right that the states and cities are primarily responsible for preserving order in the communities, then why should the federal government intervene at all?

Bob Considine Says:

Oh, If Teddy Were Here to See the Pueblo Crisis

NEW YORK — James Berryman, the snow-capped cartoonist of the Washington Star who invented the Teddy Bear, a truculent little figure that appeared in an obscure corner of Berryman's regular cartoon and generally asked an imttinently pertinent question, would have found the case of the seizure of the navy communications ship Pueblo and its crew of 83 his easiet day's work.

CONSIDINE

He would have brought to swift-penned life the plight of an American military vessel being captured in international waters by a bunch of perhaps misled and probably slaphappy North Koreans.

Teddy Bear, who reformed from a kind of Spanish-American War hawk into the world's most beloved furry doll, would have commented dourly, "Wonder what Teddy would have done?"

He would have meant Teddy Roosevelt, of course, Teddy Roosevelt who was and could afford to be at that nonnuclear time the nation's leading hawk.

Roosevelt advocated and pursued policies toward Spain, Colombia and assorted robber barons here and abroad which could draw all the blood from the face of, let's say, Lyndon Johnson — considered by many here and abroad as an irresponsible hawk.

WHAT TEDDY?

Today, if Berryman's little bear appeared in the corner of a cartoon, the under-30 mob would scratch and ask in bewilderment, "What's Teddy Kennedy getting in this mess for?"

He's the only Teddy around today — except in Jerusalem, where there is one of the free world's great mayors, Teddy Kollek.

The case history of the seizure of Pueblo is not completely available at this writing. But the picture of Adm. John V. Smith, USN, presenting his formal protest over the ship's capture to Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Kuk of North Korea at Panmunjom, shook dust off unnerving memories.

Whether we wish to face it or not, this country has undergone certain wrenching changes in its demeanor toward its foes in the past decade-and-a-half.

Voice of the People:

Readers Submit Views on Commission's Action

I was proud of the Pontiac City Commissioners when I witnessed the passage of the Open Housing Ordinance. To me this is the first step forward in the recognition of the black man as an individual entitled to all the rights and benefits that this country has denied him for too long.

★ ★ ★

We must truly begin to love our neighbors as ourselves and not just give lip service to this often-quoted statement. I am a resident of Waterford Township and would hope that my community will take similar action without any delay. We must all try to erase the prejudice that we have inherited toward the black man so that this country can truly go on to greatness.

MRS. JOSEPH SZEREMET
758 OTTER

Not all statesmen are mentioned in the history books. Some just make the front page of The Pontiac Press—statesmen like Mayor Taylor and Commissioners Fowler, Hudson and Marshall. ". . . one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." These glorious ideals were courageously honored by these duly elected representatives in their favorable vote for Pontiac's fair housing law.

★ ★ ★

What about the rest of us? Do we truly mean it when we give our solemn pledge of allegiance to the flag? What about patriots in the suburbs? When are we going to honor our sacred pledge and follow the example of Pontiac?

WINIFRED BRINKMAN
1062 ABSEQUAMI, LAKE ORION

I was at the City Commission meeting when they passed the housing bill. Why did a couple of our Commissioners vote for forced housing and then say they knew it would come to a vote of the people and the people would turn it down? Are Commissioners supposed to represent the people? I believe there will be some new faces in the City Commission next time around — faces that will represent the people.

ALEX DISTEL JR.
1108 HOLBROOK

Speeches given by the Commissioners who were for open housing were quite surprising. I was under the impression that Commissioners were to represent those people who elected them, but it was stated that a yes vote was given because it was personally felt open housing should be a law, even knowing the people of Pontiac would put the law to a referendum vote and turn it down.

★ ★ ★

I had wondered if our government had forgotten about the average man and his interests and Tuesday night proved it. The referendum on open housing plus the next election of Commissioners will show them how the average people feel. These politicians, organized group leaders and ministers with the loud voices are still only one vote at election time.

Question and Answer

In our apartment building we have a dark basement, no lights on at night, no outside lights at any of our four exits, and it is neither safe to enter nor leave after dark. What is a landlord's responsibility to his tenants?

REPLY

Usage of buildings would determine the landlord's responsibilities. Complaints can be made either to the Building Inspection Department or the City Health Department (both 333-7131) and they will be examined on an individual basis to determine what corrections should be made.

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Speculation . . .

The Holland Evening Sentinel

In spite of talk in 1964 of making campaigns shorter, the one for 1968 appears already to have begun

The speech of President Johnson at the recent AFL-CIO convention was so openly political that all TV networks granted equal time for reply to the Republican leaders in the Senate and House.

Too many unforeseen events affecting the outcome in 1968 can occur in the ensuing 11 months to warrant a prediction Nevertheless, since political speculation at least is in the air it is interesting in a non-partisan spirit, to assess the chances of the two major political parties for winning the presidency in 1968.

Today we list some reasons why the Republicans are hopeful.

★ ★ ★

The tremendous gains in the 1966 off-year elections first raised their hopes. As an example, they gained 47 U.S. House seats, needing only 13 more in the next election to gain control.

The organizing genius of national chairman Ray Bliss must also be recognized. He has built an organization at the grass roots and has recognized the importance of concentrating on winning big city votes, where heretofore Republicans have been notably weak.

Statements by equally reputable authorities can be produced on either side of any debatable issue.

But when a political statement comes from the opposition as in the case of Richard Goodwin, a former aide to both Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, it buoys Republican hopes when he says: "People are getting tired of the Democrats. Republican chances look awfully good."

Problem Gap

London Economist

The problem of Mr. Johnson's credibility is really a problem of the gap between the man's buccaneering manner and the real substance of the ideas that lie beneath.

The Americans themselves have been slow to realize this. Mr. Johnson came to the presidency in the worst of all circumstances. He took over in the role of the second husband. The Americans were disposed to be suspicious. They were bound to resent Mr. Johnson more than anybody else. He came from a state that fits into none of the American regions. Texas is not a part of the south, or the west, and much less of the north.

★ ★ ★

In the recent opinion polls Mr. Johnson has been doing worst of all in the south. His frontier background is alien to the majority of modern, urban, middle-class Americans.

His accent is queer; a visitor to the United States is struck by the number of Americans who mimic his accent like Englishmen mimicking a Pakistani. Mr. Johnson has been the victim of a bad case of straight prejudice.

There are signs in the opinion polls and the way the press is treating him, that the worst may be over. The Americans have become a little more accustomed to the man and his ways.

They are starting to make allowances for his background and his style of politics is a reflection of his background. But the most he can hope for is that they will make allowances generously. The last of the frontier presidents cannot turn himself into a megalopolis American of 1968. It is going to be a problem for him right up to November.

DOWNTOWN AND DRAYTON PLAINS

U.S. Flier Leaving Viet Wiser, Richer, Sadder

YANKEE STATION, Off Vietnam (AP) —Fritz Schroeder is going home—wiser by an awesome 208 bombing missions over North Vietnam, richer by a little pay put aside, but sad over lost squadron mates not so fortunate.

Relaxed in the squadron ready room as the big carrier Oriskany left Yankee Station and headed stateside, the 28-year-old pilot from Eau Claire, Wis., was looking forward to leave in San Francisco.

This had been his second wartime cruise on the Oriskany. First time out he flew his bomb-laden A4 Skyhawk on 97 missions. This time he had flown 111 and there was to be a ceremony on the hangar deck, with the ship's band and the commander of the 7th Fleet, Vice Adm. William Bringle, to give certificates to the handful of fliers exceeding 20 missions into "Indian country."

"The first cruise I thought every gun was fatal," Schroeder said with a smile, easing his husky frame into the leather ready room seats. "It's the fear of the guns, the fear of the unknown. You don't know what it is until you are there. Then you find out it's not all that fatal. On the second cruise fear sort of fell by the wayside."

He thought a moment and added: "I've lost two roommates this cruise. It's such a dammed helpless feeling. If he's lost and you can't get to him, what can you do? You've just got to keep flying. The memories continue but not much is said about it."

Schroeder's squadron, VA163, known as "The Saints," lost eight men. One pilot is known dead, three are war prisoners and four are simply listed as missing in action. Schroeder, who joined as Lt. j.g. John F. Schroeder fresh out of flight school almost two years ago, is fiercely proud of the squadron and its blue checkerboard insignia.

★ ★ ★

He almost didn't get the chance to join them. When he left the University of Wisconsin, he flunked the physical for both the Air Force and Navy before he squeezed by on his third effort to get airborne.

For $662.06 per month, the Navy got its money's worth from Schroeder's 362 hours in combat.

SMOKED OUT

He was smoked out of his cabin in the Oriskany fire that killed 44 of his shipmates during his first cruise in 1966. Over two cruises Schroeder has brought his A4 Skyhawk jet back three times with jagged holes from antiaircraft fire.

Last year, coming back from a night raid, the controls went haywire. He was headed toward the Tonkin Gulf at around 400 miles an hour when he parachuted into the darkness, landing in the inky sea with eight-foot waves dragging at his shroud lines.

★ ★ ★

Hours later, floating in his tiny rubber boat, he saw search planes and fired pencil flares from his survival kit. A destroyer picked him up.

He was recommended for the Distinguished Flying Cross for his part in the first strike against Hanoi's downtown power plant. It was one of the deadliest days of the war—North Vietnam's gunners mixed flak with 138 of the big SAM missiles the pilots call flying telephone poles. The lead plane in Schroeder's flight came back afire, with 125 flak holes. He was untouched, but won't forget the thumping jolt his Skyhawk received from the sonic wave of a SAM missile whistling past his cockpit.

HITS HANGAR

A few weeks later he flew in the first raid on the heavily defended Phuc Yen airfield west of Hanoi, putting a television-guided Walleye missile right inside the biggest hanger and zooming back to take a color picture to prove it.

FRITZ SCHROEDER

The picture was no simple hobby. He started a program in his squadron, with half a dozen pilots carrying cameras aloft. The low-level photos turned up a wealth of intelligence and the squadron now has some 3,000 photos which demonstrate for new pilots the grimness of North Vietnam's defenses.

All this is now behind Schroeder. He is getting out of the Navy in a few months and thinks of making a life in Alaska, where perhaps he can utilize both his flight experience and the civil engineer's degree he earned at Wisconsin.

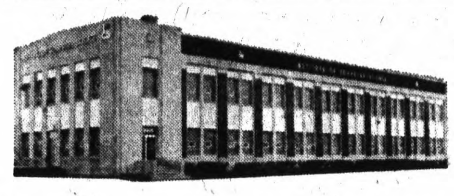
"You know," Schroeder said, I've made more than 300 landings on this old ship. Not many pilots get that many on one carrier. Will I miss it? I sure will.

"But I had made up my mind to get out. That thing about Alaska. It's more than just dreaming now. There are so many opportunities for a man he just doesn't know what to do."

'Great Society' Fades as Label

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's budget message book last year used the words "Great Society"—once the catchword for his domestic programs—just two times.

This year the words don't appear at all.



Men and women with logical minds are earning big money in the booming computer field. 175,000 jobs are open now—500,000 more trained people will be needed in the next few years.

GOP Leaders: Rocky Top Vote-Getter

By The Associated Press

A key group of Republican leaders concludes Nelson A. Rockefeller would be their best vote-getter in the presidential race but that Richard M. Nixon is first choice among party professionals. In New Hampshire, supporters of George Romney express worry about a Rockefeller write-in campaign.

As for the man the Republicans are expected to run against, the Gallup Poll reported President Johnson's popularity has gone up 10 per cent since October.

★ ★ ★

The only announced Democratic candidate, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, proposed a Latin-American program that would include "the return of Cuba into the family of nations."

Republican chairmen from 11 states of the heavily populated Northeast plus Washington, D.C., agreed at a Saturday meeting in New York on Rockefeller's strength as a potential presidential nominee and Nixon's popularity with party professionals.

NO CONCLUSIONS

The leaders' conclusions were presented to newsmen without details. It was reported they reached no formal decision.

A spokesman said there didn't seem to be much enthusiasm for Romney at the two-day closed meeting.

★ ★ ★

Rockefeller has maintained he isn't a candidate and supports Romney for the nomination.

But Romney men traveling with their candidate in New Hampshire expressed fear of a Rockefeller write-in vote in the March 12 primary there. Such a development, they said, could cut into Romney's support.

LBJ'S POPULARITY

The Gallup Poll said Johnson's popularity rating, which now stands at 48 per cent of the public approving the way he's doing his job, is his highest figure since his June meetings with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in Glassboro, N.J. After Glassboro, his figure was 52 per cent.

In the new poll, 39 per cent of those interviewed expressed disapproval and 13 per cent were undecided.

★ ★ ★

Dr. George Gallup said factors involved in the rise in Johnson's popularity are:

- Many people apparently think he has shown more aggressiveness in dealing with problems;
- There is more optimism concerning Vietnam;
- Democrats seem to be rallying around him as the probable candidate.

McCARTHY'S PROGRAM

McCarthy, who's running in six presidential primaries in opposition to Johnson's Vietnam policies, said in proposing a political-economic reform program for Latin America:

"We ought to see if things couldn't be opened to Cuba. We deal with Tito (of Yugoslavia). No point in letting this Cuban situation stand forever."

★ ★ ★

McCarthy told the International American Forum of the United States Catholic Council, meeting in St. Louis, that Cuba's Latin neighbors could help the Communist country "move toward a fuller life for its people, unshackle the chains in which she is caught . . . free its political prisoners and begin to move toward freedom."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., appeared on CBS' "Face the Nation" and predicted Johnson would defeat McCarthy in the April 30 Massachusetts primary. Kennedy said he wouldn't take part in the primary but would speak out on Vietnam.

S. VIET POLICIES

Kennedy also said South Vietnamese soldiers take three-hour lunch breaks in the field, Saigon refuses to draft 18 and 19-year-olds and there is widespread corruption, with "outright thievery" of refugee funds. He said the U.S. fight "is going to be rather hopeless" unless South Vietnam does more in the war effort.

Current Books

ALEXIS LICHINE'S ENCYCLOPEDIA OF WINES & SPIRITS (Knopf $15.00).

WINE by Hugh Johnson (Simon and Schuster $10.00).

WINES OF THE WORLD, edited by Andre L. Simon McGraw-Hill $14.95):

A reader and wine lover faced with a choice among these books has a real problem.

While there is, inevitably, some duplication of basic information, each of the trio is different enough in over-all content to warrant the inclusion of all in a well-rounded library.

Lichine's is a definitive reference work on wines and spirits, but a reference book that is both easy and interesting to read. The author is a winegrower and wine merchant, author and lecturer.

Johnson's book also is readable, informative and immensely practical — particularly for the inexperienced wine buyer.

Johnson, who is travel editor of the London Times and former secretary-general of the International Wine and Food Society, explains with reportorial lucidity the difficulties inherent in describing the tastes of wine — then goes on to describe them in easily understandable terms.

The book edited by the venerable Andre L. Simon, at 90 the dean of wine experts and gastronomes, is an anthology of works on wine by himself and seven other acknowledged experts.

Some of the material has appeared in England and the United States, and the literary styles of some of the writers are slightly more formal than that of the other two books — but nonetheless readable.

San Quentin Paper Is Best

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — For the second year in a row, the San Quentin News has been judged the best-printed prison newspaper in the United States.

★ ★ ★

The News, issued biweekly, has a circulation of about 9,000, says Associate Warden J. W. L. Park.

★ ★ ★

The award to the News was made in a contest among newspapers of 50 prisons sponsored by the Department of Journalism at Southern Illinois University.

Illegal Lab Yields $1 Million in Drugs

DETROIT (UPI) — A fancy basement hideaway, a fellow with a more-than-average interest in chemistry and enough potential "trips" to make a travel bureau cringe were the ingredients in a wholesale drug raid over the weekend.

Federal agents estimated that about $1 million worth of a drug more powerful than LSD was carted away from a basement laboratory in suburban Lincoln Park.

William Stephenson, 29, who lived at the raided home with his parents, was arraigned in Federal Court yesterday and charged with illegal manufacture of a drug.

An agent of the Federal Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, Don Schnettler, described the drug as Dietyl Tryptamine (DET). He called it a hallucinogenic drug more powerful than LSD.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, there had been some confusion whether the drug was DET or Diemethyl Tryptamine (DMT). However, Stephenson was charged with the manufacture of DET.

3 KILOS OF DET

Federal agents, from the drug abuse and narcotics offices, together with Michigan State Police and three local police forces seized about three kilograms of DET and one kilo of marijuana from Stephenson's basement, Schnettler said.

He said the DET was valued "between $800,000 and $1 million."

The raid climaxed nearly six months of investigation, Schnettler said. A state policeman posed as a buyer last August and purchased DET from Stephenson, he said.

★ ★ ★

Equipment in the laboratory cost around $300,000, he said, and included flasks and fans to draw out fumes.

COMPONENTS AVAILABLE

He added the components of the drug can be bought legitimately, "but the average high school student wouldn't be able to produce it."

DET is a hallucinogen which acts more quickly and powerfully than LSD, Schnettler said. He said the drug induces a one-hour "trip" with reactions far more grave than those of LSD, which can cause a trip of more than eight hours.

Stephenson was released on $100,000 personal bond and his court examination was set for March 7.

★ ★ ★

Authorities said the charge of making an illegal drug is a misdemeanor and the maximum penalty is one year in jail—or a $1,000 fine on each count.

Stephenson's attorney, William Segesta, charged the comments made by the Federal Drug Abuse Bureau were "incorrect, prejudicial and insupportable."

The comments "might already have jeopardized his (Stephenson's) right to a fair trial," Segesta said.

BEATRICE DAVENPORT

Today's Woman

Mother Rises to Challenge

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

Exactly how many single parent homes there are in this country can only be estimated; maybe the next census will turn up that information.

But as a single parent, coping with a family and a job, Beatrice Davenport of Central Street is a successful example. She is the supervisor of the typists' pool in the Oakland County Department of Social Services.

Off the job, she takes on an even more demanding one of mothering five girls and a boy. The girls are 15, 14, 10, 9 and 5 and the boy almost three.

★ ★ ★

A little over two years ago, Beatrice Stewart Davenport was at a low point in her life.

Divorced, responsible for six children and still not completely recovered from the birth of her last child, she heard about the first Manpower Development Training stenographer program run by the School District of the City of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Participants were to be selected by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

She had taken a commercial course at Pontiac Central High School, but she had no confidence in herself at this point. She had discovered that few employers were interested in hiring a woman with six children. And the thought of interviews frightened her.

APTITUDE TEST

However, she took the aptitude test and qualified. For some reason, she did not have to have a special interview before she was accepted in October, 1964.

The stenographic course was not only a marvelous opportunity, Mrs. Davenport now says, it was a challenge.

"I was able to prove that I could function with six children.

For 10 months, six days a week, six hours a day, the classes went on. She missed just 12 hours — once for the dentist, once for a child's Christmas program and once because she had the flu.

★ ★ ★

A helpful neighbor took care of the children and some one else gave her a ride to Pontiac Northern High School where the classes met.

"By the end of the course I was terribly tired. I was mentally not there."

"But my children did suffer. Carol, the oldest, had too much responsibility."

★ ★ ★

Before the course ended, Beatrice Davenport was hired by the social service office. She took a three-week vacation, then went to work. She continued to upgrade her skills by taking a shorthand course at Oakland University.

★ ★ ★

Life has settled down now and the family is closer than it has ever been. Carol still does the cooking and Mrs. Davenport says she is spoiled by the rest of the children too.

She loves her job, her boss and the people with whom whe works. She thinks Civil Service is ideal for her because of its many benefits.

★ ★ ★

Looking back to her struggles with the Manpower Development course, she thinks it gave her a better understanding of her children's school problems.

★ ★ ★

A pat on the back for Mrs. Davenport came from another source: those who work with her on the Pontiac PTA Council consider her one of its most reliable members.

Rude to Talk Before Others in This Way

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it is proper to speak a foreign language in front of others who do not understand the language.—Jim Tully

★ ★ ★

Dear Mr. Tully: Speaking a foreign language in front of those who do not understand it is exactly like whispering a secret to someone when others are present. Those who do not know what you are saying feel left out, and are apt to think you are making remarks about them.

In short, it is not proper. Occasionally it is necessary to explain a remark in one's native tongue to one who does not speak English well. In that case, you should turn to others and briefly explain what you are saying.

DISPOSING OF RINGS

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct for a gentleman marrying for the second time to give his fiancee a diamond engagement ring? If so, and she has been married before, what does she do with her first wedding and engagement rings?—Phyllis

★ ★ ★

Dear Phyllis: A gentleman certainly may give his fiancee a diamond ring, whether she be first, second, or third. At the time he gives it to her, she removes her first engagement ring. She removes the wedding ring at the time of her remarriage.

She either keeps them for a son or daughter of her first marriage, or has the engagement ring reset into a different piece of jewelry. The wedding ring she may put away or discard according to how she feels about her first husband.

Rock of Reason Pulled It Under

That Boat Was Shipwrecked

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the mother whose adopted son broke her heart interested me because I have known many such cases. She wrote in part:

ABBY

"We adopted that boy when he was a week old, and loved him more than own flesh and blood. We prayed for him constantly. Yet between the ages of 15 and 19, he went from skipping school to robbery to rape! Our hearts are broken. Our son was raised in a good Christian home. We went to church every Sunday and never had tobacco or liquor in the house. Where have our prayers gone?"

★ ★ ★

And you replied: "You speak of your prayer as though it were the premiums you paid for insurance against all ills and evils. It is not. Prayer is simply a talk with one's God. No amount of prayer will protect another from the consequences of his own behavior.

Each man must do his own praying, just as each man must accept the consequences of his own acts."

★ ★ ★

That was fine, as far as you went, Abby, but you could have given that mother real consolation by pointing out that since the boy was adopted, he could have inherited bad blood. Haven't you ever heard of that, Abby? What do parents of adopted children really know about the child's bloodlines?

It is apparent that if an adopted child goes wrong with good Christian upbringing, the reason must lie in heredity. You missed the boat. DISAPPOINTED

★ ★ ★

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: That "boat" you speak of was wrecked against the rocks of reason years ago.

There is no such thing as "bad blood." Neither is there "good blood." Character, integrity, honesty, and fair play are not inherited through the bloodstream—they are TAUGHT. And not all who have been exposed to the good, moral, and ethical, "learn" it.

When an adopted child goes "wrong," to lay the blame on "bad blood" is an unjust and ignorant rationalization.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I read your verse about being thankful for dirty dishes. I cut it out and keep it over my sink as a reminder when I am tempted to complain about doing dishes.

★ ★ ★

Next to dishes, I think ironing is the hardest of all housekeeping chores, so I paraphrased your "dirty dishes" verse and wrote the following:

"Thank God for clothes to iron, They have a tale to tell; While other folks are poorly clad, We're dressing very well. With Home and Health and Happiness We shouldn't fret or fuss, for by this stack of evidence God's very good to us,"

MRS. D. E. WILSON, JR.
Borger, Texas

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have been providing two co-workers with transportation to and from work every day, five days a week, roughly 10 months a year. One has been riding with me for three years, the other for two, and would you believe neither one has ever offered to put in a gallon of gas?

★ ★ ★

For Christmas I got one card from the two of them, with a sweet verse "to someone nice." If they had to take a bus to work and back every day it would cost them each 50 cents, yet I would be satisfied with only a dime. I drive anyway. My husband says I should either tell them to kick in or quit beefing about it. What do you say? THE DRIVER

DEAR DRIVER: I can't give you any better advice than your husband.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: In answer to "WAITING," the girl who took her engagement ring to a jeweler to find out how much it was worth, then felt "hurt" when he told her it was a fake diamond: I think that girl showed her true colors. It showed she cared more about the worth of the ring than the worth of the man she was getting. So why didn't you tell her that?

LET DOWN

DEAR LET: Perhaps she took the ring to the jeweler to have it appraised in order to insure it.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Bingel of Andersonville Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Gail Anne, to Ralph M. McCoy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo McCoy of Houghton Lake. The betrothed couple, alumni of the University of Michigan, are planning to be wed in the summer.

MSU 'Farmers' Week' for the Women Also

EAST LANSING, Mich. — While men observe the latest developments in farming and agri-business at Michigan State University's Farmers' Week, women can explore new trends in family living.

Farmers' Week, an annual event at MSU, includes a special program for homemakers and young people. This year it offers everything from physical fitness to the influence of American Indian and Japanese art on Michigan landscapes.

An added feature this year is a rural art exhibit. According th Anne Wolford, general chairman of the homemakers' program at Farmers' Week, over 100 paintings will be included in the exhibit, all done by rural Michigan artists.

The homemakers' program is scheduled from today through Friday. All events, except the art exhibit, will be held in Shaw Hall.

Program headliners include Michael Church, assistant director of cultural activities in the University of Michigan Extension Service. Church will speak on "Living in the Fourth Dimension." He is a artist who believes that everyone has the urge to create some work of art, and he encourages everyone to try.

TEEN MORALITY

Teenage morality provides the basis for a discussion by Robert Anderson, professor of religion at MSU. Anderson will tackle the ethical issues and how they can be resolved. A film study of the problems of early marriage will follow Anderson's talk.

★ ★ ★

Other programs will explore the culture of the American Indian to show how design is integrated in man's needs, and an explanation of Japanese art principles in Michigan landscapes. Mrs. Carl S. Cook, vice-president of the Landscapes Council of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, will illustrate her points with examples from trips to Japan.

Carlton Edwards, housing specialist with MSU's Cooperative Extension Service, tackles the question, "Buy, Build or Rent?" Edwards believes most people really don't know how much it really costs to own a house.

Margaret Byrnes, an East Lansing high school teacher, and Mrs. Anita Dean, MSU Cooperative Extension Service specialist in foods and nutrition, will team up to give pointers in balanced eating and improved physical fitness and appearance for young people.

Stark White is teamed with a red, white and blue turtle neck at Sunday's Junior House fashion show in connection with the Greater Michigan Dealers' Boat Show at the Detroit Armory. The magic of Kodel will keep this slack ensemble white throughout its easy-care life.

Aboard ship (in this case a Thompson cruiser) or on land, coordinated skirt and skipper's jacket from the "Regatta Coodinate" collection of Junior House, boasts a seaworthy look.

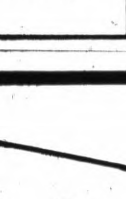
Dreams Come True For Brides-To-Be



C. R. Haskill

Thanks to a new and unique photographic registry service initiated this week by C. R. Haskill Studios, many brides and brides-to-be will now be able to have their complete wedding photographed and albums given to them as wedding presents.

How often it has been said, "I'm not having wedding photos taken, it's beyond us right now." Yet, the very thing the young bride forsakes in the beginning is the one thing that remains forever, bringing memories of that wonderful day each time photographs are viewed.

Now through "Wedding Photography Registry" a prospective bride can call C. R. Haskill Studios on University Drive in Pontiac and engage a photographer to cover the wedding day festivities. At the same time, she can select the style of wedding photography she prefers — Natural color; the album; wall-hung paintings; frames, etc.

The bride-to-be then can tell her relatives and friends about the photo registry, just as she would about her sterling, china and crystal. Her friends will do the rest for her.

Of course, an appropriate gift card will be sent announcing each gift and the name of the sender.

As a gift C. R. Haskill provides each of his brides her choice of Wedding Guest books; her portrait for the newspaper free and even rice conveniently packaged for the guests to throw at the happy couple when leaving the church.

Mr. Haskill has also available at special discount prices, invitations and napkins and often quips, "We supply everything but the Bridegroom!"

Why not call C. R. Haskill Studio now at 334-0553 and reserve your wedding date, or stop in at 1 University Drive, Pontiac.

Needs Tip on Long Term Gains, Losses

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Mary Feeley:

We have two stocks which we'd like to sell and are wondering how to arrange for the most favorable tax break. One involves a long term loss of $1,000 and one a long term gain of $1,000.

What would you suggest?

M.M., Hackensack, N.J.

Dear M.M.:

MARY FEELEY

Generally speaking, it is best to take capital losses up to $1,000 in a taxable year different from the year in which you realize long term capital gains. This is due to the fact that losses up to $1,000 are deductible against ordinary income, while only 50 per cent of long term capital gains is added to ordinary income.

The best way to illustrate how this works is to take the example of a single person with $1,000 long term capital gain and $1,000 long term capital loss. This illustration is for two taxable years in order to see how it works out.

1968 — Taxable Income

$8,000—before $1,000 capital loss deduction
$1,000—long term capital loss

$7,000—taxable income for year 1968
Tax on $7,000 is $1,380.

1969 — Taxable Income

$8,000—before $1,000 long term capital gain
$ 500—50% of $1,000 long term capital gain

$8,500—taxable income
Tax on $8,500 is $1,770

Total tax paid for two years $3,150.

If long term capital gains and losses had been taken in the same year the total tax paid for the same two year period would be $3,260. In this instance it can readily be seen that a tax savings amounting to $110 over the two year period was realized, but I cannot emphasize strongly enough the fact that each tax situation should be analyzed individually and the principles of tax planning should be employed. This means that situations such as the one stated above should be worked out well in advance of the end of the taxable year.

Dear Miss Feeley:

When can I figure I'm "out of the woods" on a possible audit of my income tax return?

Westcoast Reader

Dear W.R.:

The statute of limitations is normally three years after the date on which the return is filed. But there are a couple of hookers: If the Tax Commissioner feel that gross income has been understated by 25 per cent or more, he has the authority to extend the period to six years. And if there appears to be intent to defraud there's no time limit at all.

Dear Mary Feeley:

My husband was 65 this past year and I am 61. We intended to sell our home but my husband died suddenly. Now that the house is in my name only, does that tax-free advantage on profit from the sale still apply to me if I do sell?

Mrs. B.W.C., Bound Brook, N.J.

Dear Mrs. C.:

No, not until you're 65. You're thinking of the ruling that applies to a couple who own a house and one of whom is 65. If you decide to keep your home for another four years, then you may sell or exchange it at a profit and avoid the tax on the profit attributed to the first $20,000 of the adjusted sales price. That is, provided you have owned and used the house as your principal residence for at least five of the eight years preceding the day of sale.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I am a widow and not working. My son lives with me and pays expenses so I don't have to file an income tax return. But do I have to file because the money I have in the bank earns about $300 interest a year?

T.A.C., Chicago

Dear Mrs. C.:

No, under the circumstances you don't have to report the $300.

Dear Miss Feeley:

My wife and I obtained a legal separation last December 15th. Since I supported her throughout 1967, am I entitled to claim her as an exemption on my income tax return?

J.G., Birmingham, Ala.

Dear J.G.:

The book says No. You and your wife must file separate returns (if she had enough income of her own to report), and are each entitled to one exemption, since you were legally separated at the close of the tax year.

Antique Satin Is Chosen by Miss Mercer

A reception at the Meadowleigh Lane home of the Howard A. Mercers followed the wedding of their daughter, Sandra May, to Gary Dwane Shrum Saturday in Church of the Atonement.

For the evening vows, the bride chose a candlelight antique satin ensemble highlighted at the bodice and cuffs with reembroidered Allencon lace.

★ ★ ★

Matching satin rosettes capped her veil. She carried white miniature carnations with red rosebuds.

Honor attendants for the ceremony were the Allen C. Mercers. Bridesmaids were Velda Shrum and Gayle L. Mercer with ushers Lonny D. Carper and James Spence.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Vera Shrum of Mott Street and Norman Shrum of Newport Street.

OCC Grads Are Certified as LPN's

Thirty-eight students received certification as practical nurses at graduation exercises held, Sunday at the Oakland County Supervisors' Auditorium.

Dr. John E. Tirrell, President, Oakland Community College, addressed the class which is the first to be graduated since the College assumed the program in September, 1967.

Dr. Donald Martin, Medical Superintendent-Pontiac State Hospital, presented diplomas to the graduates who obtained their clinical experience at Pontiac General and St. Joseph's Mercy Hospitals.

Walter J. Fightmaster, OCC Director of Community Services, presided at the program. Other participants included Rev. Forrest A. Pierce, Pastor, Trinity Methodist Church, Keego Harbor: John Wangler, OCC Asst. Director of Community Sevices; Mrs. Minton J. Gray, LPN, President, Oakland District Michigan Licensed Practical Nurses Assoc.; and Mrs. Eugene Thompson, Consultant, Michigan Board of Nursing.

Mrs. Ralph J. Sherrod is coordinator of the OCC Practical Nurse Center which administers the one-year, state-approved program founded by the Manpower Development and Training Act (MDTA).

Pen Friends Finally Meet

WEST HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — "It's like being with old friends," said an Australian visitor as she chatted with her pen pal of 30 years whom she had never before met.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Jean Dyett of Bendigo, Australia, and her husband spent several days at the home of Robert Lattmann here while on an around-the-world tour. She and her host had been corresponding since 1938, when Lattmann responded to a request in a local newspapee for a pen pal.

Dust Fall-Out Over 50 Tons

Did you know that in metropolitan areas the average dust "fall out" is well over 50 tons per square mile? Every day your skin is exposed unmercifully to all kinds of soils. Add to this, cosmetics of every description. All must be removed if your complexion is to be clear and radiant.

★ ★ ★

Now, Toni has come up with a facial washing cream appropriately called Happy Face. The new water-soluble cream cleans like a soap and softens like a cream. You just apply the pale pink cream, water-rinse thoroughly and towel dry. Every trace of dust and make-up disappears and your skin is clean, soft and smooth.

Furniture Design Album Is Offered

What was the Shaker influence in home decor? What is the difference between William and Mary and Queen Anne designs? How can one tell whether a piece of furniture is Duncan Phyfe or Hepplewhite? What London cabinetmaker is famous for furniture bearing his name?

The answers to these and other questions on furniture design can be found in a free 68-page booklet, "The Johnson Wax Album of American Furniture Classics."

The album is intended to help the homemaker in her understanding of the distinguishing characteristics of time-proved American styles.

Dozens of photographs illustrate each period in American craftsmanship. They range from the Brewster chair, made in 1650 for Elder Brewster of the Plymouth Colony, to the Morris chair, named after a turn-of-the-century designer who worked in a simple, forthright style.

They have been selected from a broad variety of styles that have flourished, and include the elegant efforts of Colonial craftsman contrasted with the plain, functional work of nineteenth century rural workers, like the Shakers. Attention is focused on those key elements of design that should be kept in mind when one is considering reproductions. There is a great variety in American furniture styles. There is something to appeal to almost every taste.

The Pilgrim style dating from the 17th Century includes functional design tracing back to the Middle Ages and reflecting the Renaissance style.

BAROQUE

William and Mary furniture which followed in the early 18th Century relates to Baroque fashions. It is recognizable because of finely inlaid details and legs of elaborate columnar shapes.

Queen Anne designs, popular later in the 17th Century, are lighter in scale than William and Mary. The leg forms changed from columnar to curving animal or bird form, called cabriole legs.

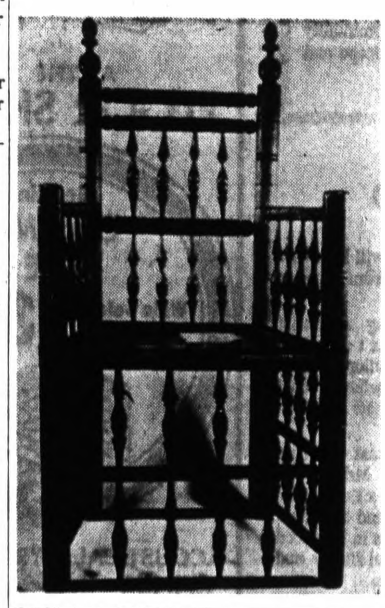
The most famous American cabinetmaker was Duncan Phyfe. He created furniture with Greco-Roman influence in the early 19th Century.

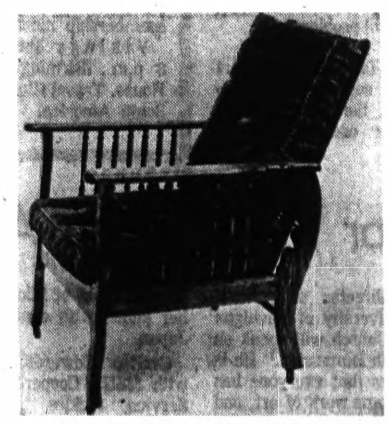
★ ★ ★

Victorian furniture designed between 1840 and 1900 was known as Rococo Revival, inspired by the 18th Century French Rococo, Renaissance Revival, inspired by 16th Century French Renaissance, and Eclectic, a style created when designers made new forms based on combinations of earlier styles, flourished until the early years of the 20th Century.

★ ★ ★

The album was compiled by Johnson Wax in consultation with Marvin D. Schwartz, curator of decorative arts at the Brooklyn Museum and antiques columnist for the New York Times. It can be obtained, free of charge, by writing Department AF, Johnson Wax, Racine, Wis.





The Brewster chair (left) was made about 1650 for Elder Brewster of the Plymouth Colony. Chairs of this type, known as "great chayers," were reserved for important guests. The Morris Chair (above) was designed by William Morris about the turn of the century.

'Going Down' Says Beene

The latest word on the ups and downs of the hemline comes from Geoffrey Beene, the New Yorker who designed the wedding gown for Lynda Bird Johnson and the dresses for her attendants.

★ ★ ★

Beene says that by next fall, hemlines will start lowering. "I cannot say to what extent," he adds. "But over a period of years now, we designers have been working in one proportion (keyed to above knee hemlines). We're tired of it. I think we'll also see loosely belted clothes. Not the cinched waistline, though."

Empire Gown Is Chosen

Carrying a cascade of miniature white orchids, Mary Spencer Heitman was escorted to the altar of Kirk in the Hills Saturday where she repeated vows with Donald Loren Davis.

The daughter of the Charles Edwin Heitmans of Covington Road was attired in an Empire sheath fashioned from peau de soie with peau d'ange lace. A detachable Watteau train, framed with matching lace, complemented her ensemble.

A lace halo headpiece, frosted with seed pearls, capped the bride's shoulder length tiered veil.

ATTENDANTS

Honor attendants for the ceremony were Mrs. Arthur C. Omberg Jr. of Rome, N.Y. and Roy Wilson of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Also attending the bride were Gail Groff of South Bend, Ind., Jacque Hench of Pittsburgh, Pa., Mrs. Harold B. Todd of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Joseph Carlson of Detroit.

Assisting as ushers were Robert May of Detroit, Arthur C. Omberg Jr. of Rome, N.Y., Harold B. Todd of Cleveland, Joseph Carlson, Thomas Clark and Richard Pobst, all of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Prior to their departure for a wedding trip to the Poconos, the newlyweds were honored with a reception at the Kingsley Inn.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Davis of Madison Heights.

Water Sets Stains

Don't wash ballpoint pen stains with water. The National Institute of Drycleaning's Institute of Drycleaning says washing only sets the stain. The drycleaner usually can remove the stain, though, if it has not been wetted with water.

Use Plastic Duster

DEAR POLLY—To dust my records, I loosely crumple up a length of transparent plastic wrap and, as the record plays, I keep crinkling it above the record. The dust is attracted to the plastic. No scratches are on the records.—11-YEAR-OLD LAURA

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is for Katherine, who had trouble with her glass bookends. I solved a similar problem by buying steel desk-top bookends that are very inexpensive. I placed one between the last two books on each end. Now the pressure on my glass bookends is just from one book on either end. The steel ones are very sturdy but not thick enough to cause a gap between the books.—JEAN

DEAR POLLY — My son had a lovely pair of ceramic bookends which were not heavy enough to support books. I peeled back the felt bases and filled each with a bag of marbles, then replaced the felt.

This gave just the weight needed to make them serve their purpose.—MRS. H. H. S.

DEAR POLLY—I read your column regularly. I hope my Pointer will help others who may have the problem I solved. As I was trying to hold a ruler straight and the paper still while making a sign, I taped the ends of the ruler to the table. It worked quite well, as the paper could be moved underneath the ruler when required. I used one hand to hold the paper in place and the other writing.—MARY

You will receive a dollar if Polly uses your favorite homemaking idea, Polly's Problem or solution to a problem. Write Polly in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

DEAR POLLY—I do hope someone can tell me how to soften a stiff leather jacket.—G. L.

R. J. Pences Repeat Vows on Saturday

In the early evening setting of Five Points Community Church Saturday, Barbara Ann Davis repeated vows with Robert Jack Pence.

★ ★ ★

Attended by Mrs. George Davis, she wore a fitted sheath with an overlay of Chantilly lace. A matching lace train fell from her shoulders.

To complement her attire, the bride chose a pearled crown securing an elbow length bouffant veil. She carried white gardenias with pink sweetheart roses.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Robert Given was bridesmaid with Debra Davis as junior bridesmaid and Cheri Davis, flower girl.

Best man honors were performed by George E. Davis with Robert N. Given and William and Steven Davis as ushers. Timothy Davis was ring bearer.

★ ★ ★

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds received guests in the church parlors. They then departed for a honeymoon in Miami, Fla.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Davis of Walnut Road. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Pence of Romeo.

Featuring Fur

It should be a big year for men's coats and outerwear with fur or fur-like trims and linings. So reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, Inc. Many of them come with detachable linings for the not-so-cold days.

June 8 vows are planned by Georgienne Biltz and Ralph Edward Lane. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Biltz of Ledyard Street and Mrs. Richard H. Lane of Silver Circle Drive and the late Mr. Lane.

Local Girls Runners-Up

The finals in the Michigan Junior Miss Pageant Saturday found Nancy Weiss of Clarkston and Beth Vershure of Pontiac in the first and second runners-up spots in the Scott Paper Company hostess division.

★ ★ ★

Nancy planned a patio party based on a mock election theme while Beth submitted a post-football game dinner.

★ ★ ★

Each of the runners-up recieved a silver bowl as her reward.

Winner of the Breck Hair Stylist final was Barbara Budjac from Southgate.

Unlicensed to Dance

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) —A pretty go-go dancer was arrested while working in a Wichita club and was booked for working without an "essential part of her equipment." The equipment? A city license required of all go-go dancers.

This Chauffeur Deserves a Medal

By BETTY CANARY

Last Thursday I got trapped into — I mean, I agreed to transport part of the sixth-grade basketball team to a game. Saying "yes" gave me a glow of self-satisfaction. This, I thought, will surely qualify me for the Bravest Woman of the Month Club.

Actually, the drive wasn't a problem at all. I did have one bad moment. When the team's best player jumped into the car, I went stone blind. But after Jerry unwrapped his raincoat from around my head, I rendered a brief Rules of Riding, including a terse description of the black snake whip I keep coiled behind the spare tire, and we went on our way without further ado.

We have seat belts for nine, but I have found that even strapped-in children can rock a station wagon. Also, I don't know why the state, which requires a chauffeur's license for truck and bus drivers, does nothing about special licenses for mothers.

I could help them devise tests, including driving in heavy traffic while eight kids beat 16 feet in unison, pound the seats with old tennis shoes and render school cheers.

I can't say I really saw the game. Most of the activity was in the fan section and I found it more exciting. And, this brings up something else I don't know.

Why do schools provide a firm set of rules for the players on the floor and none for the spectators? There should be at least, I think, some regard to how many times a player's mother can scream at the referee.

Then a time limit for fathers quarreling with coaches could be set.

MRS. GILBERT M. HAAS JR.

Haas-McKim Ceremonies Followed by Reception

A wedding trip to Tampa, Fla., followed vows Saturday in Central Methodist Church for Sharon Kay KcKim and Gilbert Matthew Haas Jr.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Clarence McKim of Sheryl Drive and the late Mr. McKim. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert M. Haas of Grand Rapids.

For the ceremony, Miss McKim chose a chiffon velvet ensemble. The A-line sheath was fashioned with a bateau neckline and fitted bodice trimmed in crystal beading.

A double jeweled bow capped her shoulder length veil.

Sandra Nicholson served as maid of honor with Judy cameron, Sharon Vitale, Sandra Haas and Judith Jansma as bridesmaids.

Best man honors were performed by Robert Carpenter with ushers George Haas, Douglas Olin, Roy Maxwell and Richard Hicks.

'Be Practical' Is Advice for Prospective Brides

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Be sensible about wedding gifts, even though you are having a speedy wedding and plan to live in a furnished "meanwhile" house because your finance expects to be drafted.

That advice comes from a bride who was too busy to worry about wedding gifts, and discourage offers. She could use them now, she says, and offers these tips to other brides-to-be:

. . . Make a decision when someone asks what you would like as a gift. If you don't get it now, you may never get it. People forget.

. . . Money isn't the bargain wedding gift you would think. A few hundred dollars doesn't last long. Friends are inclined spend more on a gift if they know what you want. Tell them if they ask.

BE PRACTICAL

. . . Every bride dreams of silver, porcelain and crystal, but you won't need them in a meanwhile home, so wait until you settle down to get the glamor gifts. Ask for the necessities.

★ ★ ★

. . . Exchange duplicate wedding gifts or those you can't use now and don't be embarrassed about it. The giver expects you to make that decision.

★ ★ ★

. . . Make a list of absolute essentials need in your meanwhile home and be prepared to pass it on to those who request it.

★ ★ ★

Consider: sheets, pillow cases (doubles for laundry purposes) spread, pillows, blankets, washcloths, facetowels, bath towels, kitchen towels, sauce pans, large and small frying pans, coffee pot, casserole dish, sugar bowl, pitcher, butter dish, knives, forks, spoons, plates, soup bowls, dessert dishes, cups, saucers, glasses, alarm clock, cleaning and cooking aids, mop, pail, broom. (A vacuum cleaner is a big chunk out of the budget, but it is a necessity, particularly if one is a working wife.)

LUXURIES LAST

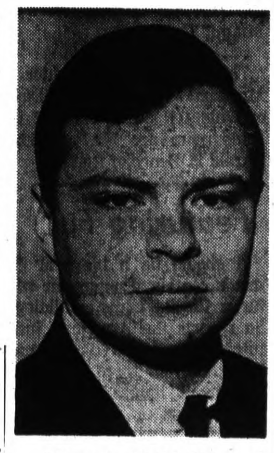
. . . If you have all the necessities or the wherewithall to buy them, your family and friends may fill out silver, glass and china patterns.

★ ★ ★

. . . Don't let pride stand in the way of common sense. Everything you can beg or borrow for the transient home is like money in the bank. Ask your parents and other relatives for fill-ins — things like blankets, sheets and towels they may not be using.

The upper oven of the new General Electric Americana Range has liner panels that can be removed quickly and easily, as shown in above photograph, and cleaned electrically in the self-cleaning P-7 lower oven. The racks in the upper oven also may be cleaned in this fashion as well as the reflector pans under the Calrod surface units. Heretofore, the upper oven in the Americana had to be cleaned by hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Pohl of Oakford Street, White Lake Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol Sue, to Antonio Sambrano. He is the son of the Arturo Sambranos of Banks Road. July vows are planned.



Nevario B. Masters of Charles Lane was awarded a BS degree recently from Eastern Michigan University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Masters of Pontiac Road.

Feminine Look

The news in hair fashion is that girl's hairstyles are feminine again. Going, going and almost gone are the short and long straight hairdos. The trend is towards the short, terribly curly look, say hair watchers from the Lisa wig company.

Cut Own Taxes—7

Some Income Exempt

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the seventh article in a 14-part series by Ray De Crane, a tax expert and veteran newsman. The author, business editor of the Cleveland Press, has aimed his advice at people with average incomes, not big business or stock market tycoons.)

By RAY DE CRAME
NEA Publications

A common saying in inccome tax law is that all money that flows to you is taxable unless it is specifically exempt by law.

The law exempts a great deal of income from such tax, perhaps more than most people realize.

Check this list carefully to make sure that income from none of these sources is listed on your income tax return.

Income from all these sources is nontaxable.

- Accident and health indurance proceeds.

Bequests.

- Disability and death benefits paid by an insurance company.

The first $5,000 paid by or for an employer to a deceased employe's benefacicaries or estate because of the employe's death.

- Gifts and inheritances.
- Interest on tax-free securities, such as municipal bonds.
- Life insurance proceeds paid on the death of the insured.
- Military allowances, such as allowances for uniforms, subsistance and quarters.
- Mustering-out pay.
- Payments to dependents of military personnel.
- Railroad Retirement Act allowances furnished a pensions.
- Rental or housing clergyman.
- Scholarship and fellowship grants.
- Sick pay under certain circumstances. (See a later installment in this series for a complete discussion of the sick pay rules.)
- Social Security benefits.
- Unemployment compensation paid by states.
- Veterans' bonuses.
- Workmen's compensation benefits.

U.S. Fund to Aid Plays

NEW YORK (AP) — The nonprofit Theater Development Fund says it has received a $200,000 federal grant for an experimental program designed to give poorly attended Broadway plays more time to catch on with the general public.

Fund officials said that one basic plan calls for the purchase of large blocks of tickets, at box office prices, for shows considered by a panel of directors to have merit but in need of time have merit but in need of time to find their audiences.

The fund would then resell the tickets at discount prices—some as low as $2—to selected groups, such as students, teachers and professional people. The subsidy would continue up to five weeks.

John E. Booth, president of the recently incorporated fund, said Sunday the $200,000 grant had been received from the National Endowment for the Arts for the first year of a three-year experimental program.

★ ★ ★

Rockefeller and 20th Century Funds each giving an unrestricted donation of $50,000 to the National Endowment, a federal agency.

The two funds also pledged $50,000 each a year for the second and third years, on condition that $100,000 is obtained from other sources.

Zolton Says Bobby Mulling '68 Race

DETROIT (AP)— Former Michigan Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency told the Associated Press Sunday night he has learned U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y. is "seriously reconsidering" an earlier decision not to seek the Democratic presidential nomination.

Ferency said he got the information from sources close to the senator, but declined to say who they were.

★ ★ ★

Ferency resigned late last year in the wake of an uproar which followed his suggestion that President Lyndon B. Johnson might not be the best man to head the party's ticket in 1968.

Ferency said his sources informed him Kennedy will make up his mind wihin two weeks and "firmly declare one way or the other" a decision on seeking the nomination.

The New York senator's decision will be based, Ferency said, on how many influential Democrats around the nation urge him to seek the nomination.

"A significant number of leading Democrats have not yet committed themselves to either President Johnson or Sen. Eugene McCarthy, but time is running out and Sen. Robert Kennedy is being pressured to make a firm declaration of candidacy," Ferency said.

McCarthy, D-Minn., has announced his intention to seek the Democratic nomination as an alternative to Johnson.

Kennedy "will have to make a final decision within the next couple of weeks or else run the risk of losing considerable political support which is still looking for a place to go," Ferency said.

PLANNING COMEBACK — American movie actress Patricia Neal sits on a swing in front of her Buckinghamshire County, England, home. She plans to leave tomorrow for New York City to begin filming "The Subject Was Roses." Miss Neal, who has spent the last three years recovering from three strokes, lives at Great Missendon, north of London, with her British writer-husband, Roald Dahl.

Father and Son Drown in River

SAULT STE. MARIE (UPI) — A snow mobile was dragged from the frozen St. Mary's River yesterday, and searchers abandoned efforts to find a lost father and son.

Chippewa County Sheriff's deputies said Cliffton Bunker Jr., 37, and his son, Cliffton III, 10, apparently drowned when their mobile broke through the river over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

The pair were attempting to reach nearby Sugar Island. The machine's tracks were traced to a hole in the ice, authorities said.

The current of the St. Mary is swift, and skin diving experts feared the bodies might be washed farther down the river or ledged in some ice drifts. Weather permitting, they said, search operations would be resumed today.

LBJ Weekend Spiced Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson seasoned his weekend of briefings on the Pueblo crisis by attending a traditional Catholic Mass for the legal profession and a newsmen's gathering where his joking won laughter.

★ ★ ★

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, attended Sunday the annual "Red Mass" honoring the legal profession at St. Matthew's Cathedral. Also attending were Lynda Johnson Robb and her husband, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb.

★ ★ ★

As Msgr. John Cartwright, the pastor, accompanied the Johnsons inside, several hundred spectators at the church entrance applauded.

Chief Justice Earl Warren and House Speaker John W. McCormack also attended the Votive Mass of the Holy Spirit, called by the more familiar name Red Mass because of the color of the vestments worn by the celebrant.

★ ★ ★

On Saturday night, Johnson made a surprise appearance at the National Press Club for the swearing in of President Alan W. Cromley, correspondent for the Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman.

Johnson said he had "an uneasy feeling to see somebody else being sworn in as president."

Partial Text of LBJ Budget Message to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is a partial text of President Johnson's budget message to Congress today:

The budget I send you today reflects a series of difficult choices. They are choices we cannot avoid. How we make the choices will affect our future as a strong, responsible, and compassionate people.

★ ★ ★

We now possess the strongest military capability that any nation has ever had. Domestically, we have enjoyed an unparalleled period of economic advance. Nevertheless, we are confronted by a number of problems which demand our energies and determination.

Abroad we face the challenge of an obstinate foe, who is testing our resolve and the worth of our commitment. While we maintain our unremitting search for a just and reasonable peace, we must also continue a determined defense against aggression. This budget provides the funds needed for that defense, and for the maintenance and improvement of our total defense forces. The costs of that defense—even after a thorough review and screening—remain very large.

DOMESTIC PROBLEMS

At home we face equally stubborn foes—poverty, slums and substandard housing, urban blight, polluted air and water, excessively high infant mortality, rising crime rates, and inferior education for too many of our citizens. In recent years, we have come to recognize that these are conquerable ills . . . . We would be derelict in our responsibilities as a great nation if we shrank from pressing forward toward solutions to these problems.

But faced with a costly war abroad and urgent requirements at home, we have had to set priorities.

★ ★ ★

After carefully weighing priorities, I am proposing three kinds of actions:

- First, I have carefully examined the broad range of defense and civilian needs, and am proposing the selective expansion of existing programs or the inauguration of new programs only as necessary to meet those urgent requirements whose fulfillment we cannot delay.
- Second, I am proposing delays and deferments in existing programs, wherever this can be done without sacrificing vital national objectives.
- Third, I am proposing basic changes, reforms, or reductions designed to lower the budgetary cost of a number of Federal programs which, in their present form, no longer effectively meet the needs of today.

Even after a rigorous screening of priorities, however, the cost of meeting our most pressing defense and civilian requirements cannot be responsibly financed without a temporary tax increase.

One way or the other we will be taxed. We can choose to accept the arbitrary and capricious tax levied by inflation, and high interest rates, and the likelihood of a deteriorating balance of payments and the threat of an economic bust at the end of the boom.

Or, we can choose the path of responsibility.

Budget Summary

I am presenting my 1969 budget under the new unified budget concept unanimously recommended by the bipartisan Commission on Budget Concepts I appointed last year. Among the many changes recommended by the Commission and incorporated in this year's budget presentation, two stand out:

- First, the total budget includes the receipts and expenditures of the trust funds, which were excluded from the traditional "administrative budget" concept. Because some $47 billion of trust funds are included in the new budget concept, its totals are much larger than those in the old administrative budget.

★ ★ ★

- Second, when the Federal Government makes a repayable loan, the effect on the economy is very different than when it spends money for a missile, a dam or a grant program. Consequently, the Commission on Budget Concepts recommended that the budget identify and distinguish "expenditures" from "lending," and, for purposes of evaluating economic impact, show a separate calculation of the surplus or deficit based on expenditure totals alone.

The 1969 budget proposes outlays of $186.1 billion, of which:

- $182.8 billion is spending.
- $3.3 billion is net lending.

REVENUES

Including the effects of the tax increase I am proposing, revenues in fiscal year 1969 are estimated at $178.1 billion.

On the new budget basis, the overall deficit of $8.0 billion anticipated in 1969 compares with an estimated deficit of $19.8 billion in 1968. Thus, the reduction in the defit is estimated to be $11.8 billion.

★ ★ ★

A better measure of the direct impact of the Federal budget on the nation's income and output is given by the expenditure account (which excludes the lending programs of the Federal Government). The expenditure deficit in fiscal year 1969 is estimated at $4.7 billion, a reduction of $9.3 billion from 1968.

Between 1968 and 1969 the normal growth in revenues—associated with rising incomes and business activity—is expected to be $11.5 billion. This more than covers the rise in budget outlays between the two years—estimated at $10.4 billion. Consequently, all of the revenues from the proposed surcharge and the speedup in corporate tax payments will be applied towards reducing the budget deficit.

★ ★ ★

To carry forward the proposals in the budget, I am requesting new budget authority of $201.7 billion for 1969, of which $141.5 billion will have to be provided through appropriation bills or similar action during the current session of Congress.

Fiscal Program for 1969

Economic background.—The over-all fiscal policy for 1969 has been designed to achieve four major goals:

- Continuation of sustained growth in jobs and real income for the American people.
- Improvement in the U.S. balance of payments.
- Reduction in Federal borrowing, aimed at reducing the upward pressure on interest rates.

In March, the American economy will achieve a new milestone as it enters its eighth year of sustained expansion.

★ ★ ★

During the past four years, the continued expansion has resulted in:

- The creation of 7½ million new jobs:
- An increase of 21 per cent in national output:
- Rise of 18.8 per cent in per capita income after taxes and after adjustment for price change;
- A rise of 12 per cent in output per man-hour in the private sector of the economy;
- A decline of 6½ million in the number of people living in poverty; and

★ ★ ★

- A rate of unemployment which, for the past two years, has averaged less than 4 per cent of the labor force and now stands at 3.7 per cent.

PRICE STABILTY

Between calendar years 1961 and 1965, economic growth was accompanied by a remarkable degree of price stability. Wholesale industrial prices rose by about one-half of 1 per cent per year. The annual increase in consumer prices was about 1⅓ per cent.

Since 1965, however, our economic achievements have been marred by an accelerated rate of price increases. Although these increases have not been as great as those in many other industrial countries, the consumer price index in the past two years has risen at an annual rate of 2.9 per cent, and whlesale industrial prices at an annual rate of 1.8 per cent.

INTEREST INCREASES

Interest rates on loans and securities of all types have advanced sharply, first in 1966, and then after a short period of decline, again in 1967. Our balance of payments deficit—which had been reduced from $3.9 billion in 1960 to $1.4 billion in 1966—took a sharp turn for the worse in 1967.

The problems of rising prices and interest rates, and a worsening balance of payments, arise from many causes. And their correction will require a variety of measures. But central to any attack upon them is a fiscal policy which—through a combination of expenditure control and tax increase—sharply reduces the inappropriate stimulus of a large Federal budget deficit in today's vigorous economy.

★ ★ ★

We are now spending approximately $25 billion annually to support our efforts in Vietnam—in the four fiscal years, 1966 through 1969 combined, we will have spent more than $75 billion. Our annual expenditure for this purpose amounts to about 3 per cent of gross national product. Other outlays, exclusive of strongly upward, such a deficit in 1969 would clearly add sharply to inflationary pressures.

REVENUES

Revenues—The $178.1 billion in estimated revenues for fiscal year 1969 includes $12.9 billion from the tax measures I am proposing—the temporary income tax surcharge, the extension of present excise tax rates, and the speedup in corporation tax payments.

As I have repeatedly noted, the temporary surcharge represents a modest addition to our current tax bills. It would not be haphazard and capricious like the tax of inflation. In terms of the income of individuals subject to the surcharge, the tax increase would average about one additional penny on the dollar.

★ ★ ★

I am also recommending a number of new and increased user charges for programs in which the services provided by the Federal Government yield direct benefits to specific individuals and businesses.

Outlays—The $186.1 billion in total budget outlays for 1969 represents an increase of $10.4 billion from the current fiscal year. Almost all of this increase is accounted for by rising outlays for defense and for relatively fixed charges under present laws.

BUDGET OUTLAYS

Of the total $10.4 billion increase:

- 3.3 billion is for national defense;
- $4.2 billion is for the Federal Government's social insurance programs (chiefly social security and Medicare);
- $1.6 billion is for the second step of the civilian and military pay increase enacted last year; and
- 1.3 billion is for other relatively fixed charges (interest, public assistance, veterans pensions, etc.).

Controllability of Budget Outlays

Outlays in relatively controllable civilian programs are estimated to rise by $0.5 billion from 1968 to 1969. This rise is more than accounted for by an increase of $1½ to $2 billion in payments on prior contracts and obligations. On the other hand, budget outlays by the Federal National Mortgage Association trust fund are scheduled to decline. All other outlays in relatively controllable civilian programs will be essentially unchanged from 1968 to 1969.

Budget authority—Before federal agencies can spend or lend funds, the Congress must enact authority for them to incur financial obligations and make the payments required to meet these obligations. Most of this authority is provided in the form of appropriations.

★ ★ ★

For fiscal year 1969, a total of $201.7 billion of such authority is proposed.

Of the total budget authority recommended for 1969, the Congress would have to act on $141.5 billion during the current session.

BUDGET INCREASE

The authority for 1969 which the Congress is being asked to enact is $13.1 billion greater than the current estimate for 1968, but only $6.1 billion higher than the amount enacted 2 years ago.

Of the $15.2 billion increase in total budget authority in 1969, $6.2 billion is for the Department of Defense and military assistance program, $3.9 billion is available for trust funds, $0.9 billion is for interest on the public debt, and $1.6 billion for the military and civilian pay raises effective July 1, 1968.

The remaining increase in budget authority totals $2.6 billion.

Federal Debt

One the basis of all revenues and outlays included in the new unified budget, the federal debt held by the public will increase to an estimated $298 billion on June 30, 1969, from $290 billion at the end of fiscal year 1968. A substantial amount of federal debt is not held by the public but by government agencies and trust funds. Federal gross debt—which is the sum of the amount held by the public and within the government—is estimated at $387.2 billion at the end of fiscal year 1969.

On the basis of the present fiscal outlook, and assuming enactment of the new tax measures which I have proposed, it should not be necessary to seek revision of the limit during this session of the Congress.

Budget Outlays

National defense—In a world of shrinking distances, our own peace and security is bound up with the destiny of other nations. The defense budget for 1969 reflects our resolve to preserve the independence of Vietnam and to provide the forces essential for safeguarding our national security and international obligations.

Since 1961, excluding those forces added because of operations in Vietnam, we have increased our military capability in every essential category. Our accomplishments include:

- A 45 per cent incerase in the number of combat-assigned Army divisions—from 11 to 16;

★ ★ ★

- A 62 per cent increase in the funds for general ship construction and conversion to modernize the fleet;
- A 200 per cent increase in the number of guided-missile surface ships;

★ ★ ★

- A 20 per cent increase in the number of Air Force tactical fighter and attack aircraft, and a 100 per cent increase in the total payload capability of all fighter and attack aircraft—Air Force, Navy, and Marine Corps;
- A 400 per cent increase in our fixed-wing airlift capability—an increase which will reach 1,000 per cent in the 1970's with the introduction of the mamoth C-5A transport; and
- A 185 per cent increase in the number of nuclear weapons in the strategic alert forces.

DEFENSE SPENDING

While we stand ready to enter meaningful discussions with the Soviet Union on the limitation of strategic forces, it is necessary to assure that our defense capabilities remain equal to any challenge or threat. I am therefore recommending funds in this budget which will:

Maintain our decisive strategic deterrent by: continuing to convert our strategic missile force to the more effective Minuteman III and Poseidon; equipping those missiles with multiple, independently targeted warheads and aids to help them penetrate enemy defenses; and modernizing our manned bomber force with additional FB-111 aircraft and improved short range attack missiles.

★ ★ ★

- Proceed with procurement of the Sentinel missile defense system to meet the threat posed by the emerging Chinese nuclear capability. In addition, we will begin a revamping of our air defenses.
- Augment the firepower, mobility, and readiness of our general purpose forces by improving their air defenses, buying new fixed-wing aircraft and helicopters, and procuring other new weapon systems. We will also replenish munitions, supplies, and equipment consumed in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

- Improve further our airlift-sealift capability by additional purchases of the giant C5A aircraft and initial procurement of the fast deployment logistics ship.
- Continue the vigorous research and development effort which constitutes the nation's investment in our future national security.

To accomplish these improvements, to meet all of our requirements in Vietnam, and to meet the full year's cost of the October 1967 civilian and military pay raise will require an increase of $3.3 billion in outlays for national defense in 1969.

Space research and technology — This Nation's leadership in advanced technology was challenged 10 years ago by Sputnik and again seven years ago by the first Soviet manned flight. We responded to these challenges with energy and imagination.

To meet our most urgent national needs in some areas requires us to reduce spending in authority requested for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in this budget is about $220 million below the 1968 amount. Expenditures will be $230 million below 1968, $850 million below 1967, and over $1.3 billion less than in 1966. This reduction reflects our progress beyond the costly research and development phases of the manned lunar mission, as well as the immediate need to postpone spening for new projects wherever possible.

Based on a careful examination of priorities, the 1969 budget provides increases in some areas to prepare for important advances in future years, while deferring other less urgent, new projects.

We will not abandon the field of planetary exploration. I am recommending development of a new spacecraft for launch in 1973 to orbit and land on Mars.

AGRICULTURE

Agriculture and agricultural resources — In recent years, federal agricultural commodity programs have succeeded in adjusting farm production to domestic and export needs. Wheat acreage was increased in 1967 to permit additional food aid for developing countries faced with low crop production. Cotton acreage will be increased in 1968 since surplus cotton stocks have been eliminated.

The commodity programs have helped raise incomes for many of our farmers. However, many poorer families living in rural areas benefit little from these programs. The combination of rapidly rising farm productivity and more slowly growing demand for farm products has left many rural people with low incomes. The result has been a massive migration to the cities, limited job opportunities for people remaining in rural areas, and widespread rural poverty.

Rising farm income plays a major role in improving economic conditions in rural areas. But other measures are needed.

HOUSING

Housing and community development — Most Americans lead a comfortable life, in comfortable homes and comfortable surroundings. But millions of families are still crowded into housing unfit to live in, located in squalid surroundings, and burdened with wornout facilities and inadequate services. Without some assistance and the development of new techniques, our private economy cannot now provide good housing at costs these families can afford. Our cities cannot afford all the essential facilities and services. The federal government must continue and expand its assistance.

I propose to the Congress that we launch a program, in cooperation with private industry and labor, to build six million new housing units for low- and middle-income families over the next 10 years.

Under existing legislation and the new measures I will propose, we can begin this program in fiscal year 1969 with 300,000 housing units.

Federal aids for state and local services, especially those for education, health, manpower training, and basic income support are, to a large extent, directed at needy families. In addition, housing and community development programs are aimed more specifically at improving their surroundings. This budget provides:

- $1 billion for the 63 Model Cities now planning their programs to concentrate assistance to some 3.7 million people living in the most blighted areas of these cities, and for approximately up cities expected to start their planning in the late spring.
- $1.4 billion of advance funding for the urban renewal program for 1970, allowing the communities to start planning their action programs now.

To provide decent housing for all Americans, the housing industry must be able to compete on equal terms with other sectors for needed resources. However, in the past two years, housing has been at a disadvantage in competing for investment funds. The tax increase I have proposed will help solve his problem. In addition, specific steps to overcome the competitive disadvantage are being proposed to the Congress, including:

- Authority to lift the ceiling on interest rates for FHA and VA mortgages, which currently encourages savers from investing in mortgages.
- An orderly transfer of ownership of the Government's activities in the secondary mortgage market to private hands, so that private capital can be raised and mortgages purchased as required by market conditions.

HEALTH, LABOR, WELFARE

Health, labor, and welfare — Programs that help develop our most valuable resource—our people—are essential to the long-run growth and vitaly of the Nation. No society can flourish unless its people have opportunities for jobs and the skills to perform them receive adequate health care, and are free from the fear of basic economic insecurity. The 1969 budget will permit us to further these objectives.

Outlays for these programs are estimated at $51.4 billion, of which over 75 per cent will be provided through trust funds which are largely self-financed. Health — Since 1963, federal outlays for health have increased six-fold—from $1.7 billion to $10.7 billion. But our job is far from complete.

LABOR

Labor and manpower—The 1969 budget provides for a wide range of manpower programs which will enable 1.3 million Americans to start on the road to economic self-sufficiency and individual dignity. Another 230,000 disabled Americans will be restored to productive employment through the vocational rehabilitation program.

★ ★ ★

General government—Rising crime rates are a major concern of the American people.

I am determined that the federal government do everything properly within its power to assist our states and localities in controlling crime. I have directed federal agencies to intensify their efforts to destroy organized crime. The budget reflects expansions in both direct federal action and federal assistance to state and local governments.

Conclusion

This is a critical and challenging time in our history. It requires sacrifices and hard choices along with the enjoyment of the highest standard of living in the world. No nation has remained great by shedding its resolve or shirking its responsibilities. We have the capacity to meet those responsibilities. The question before us is whether or not our will and determination match that capacity.

In the past four years, this nation has faced formidable challenges. We have confronted them with imagination, courage, and resolution. By acting them with imagination, courboldly, we have forced a number of age-old concerns—ignorance, poverty, and disease—to yield stubborn ground.

★ ★ ★

The roll call of accomplishments is long. But so is our agenda of unfinished business. Our heritage impels us to steadfast action on those problems of mankind which both gnaw at our conscience and challenge our imagination.

As your President, I have done all in my power to devise a program to meet our responsibilities compassionately and sensibly. The program is embodied in this budget for 1969. I urge active support for its principles and programs.

Highlights of Fiscal Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are highlights from President Johnson's budget message:

The budget I send you today reflects a series of difficult choices. They are choices we cannot avoid. How we make the choices will affect our future as a strong, responsible and compassionate people.

Abroad we face the challenge of an obstinate foe . . . At home we face equally stubborn foes — poverty, slums and substandard housing, urban blight, polluted air and water, excessively high infant mortality, rising crime rates and inferior education for too many of our citizens.

Even after a rigorous screening of priorities . . . the cost of meeting our most pressing defense and civilian requirements cannot be responsibly financed without a temporary tax increase.

It is not the cost in regular budget outlays which requires a tax increase, but the cost of Vietnam.

With enactment of the tax measures proposed in this budget—the surcharge, extension of excises, and the acceleration of corporate tax collections—the total budget deficit can be cut by more than half between 1968 and 1969. Without the tax measures, the deficit in 1969 would remain close to $20 billion for the second year in a row. In an economy already moving

In a world of shrinking distances, our own peace and security is bound up with the destiny of other nations. The defense budget for 1969 reflects our resolve . . .

We will not abandon the field of planetary exploration. I am recommending development of a new spacecraft for launch in 1973 to orbit and land on Mars.

Rising crime rates are a major concern of the American people. I am determined that the federal government do everything properly within its power to assist our states and localities in controlling crime.

This is a critical and challenging time in our history. It requires sacrifices and hard choices along with the enjoyment of the highest standard of living in the world . . . As your President I have done all in my power to devise a program to meet our responsibilities compassionately and sensibly.

Definitions for New and Old Terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Budget readers will find some slightly different language in the new-style "unified" budget sent to Congress today by President Johnson. Here some new and old terms are defined:

Budget outlay—A new term, replacing "expenditure" in some cases. It means the estimated or actual spending of funds in the fiscal year, plus some other disbursements. It includes benefits and similar payments made out of Social Security and other trust funds, as well as the "net lending" of government agencies.

Net lending—The total in loans by an agency less the amount collected in repayments.

★ ★ ★

Appropriation—An act of Congress permitting the spending of specified funds. The spending may take place over three or more years, whereas "outlay" usually means the amount expended in a given fiscal year.

BROAD TERMS

Authorization and obligational authority—Both are broad terms which mean legislation empowering an agency to spend appropriated money, or to borrow from the Treasury and spend that money pending a later appropriation, or to make contracts to spend money in anticipation of later appropriations.

Budget authority — A new and even broader term. It covers not only appropriations, contract authorizations and obligational authority, but also "loan authority," which permits agencies to make loans or commit themselves to make loans.

Table of Income, Outgo

WASHINGTON (AP) — This table from the fiscal 1969 budget sent to Congress by President Johnson Monday shows where government funds will come from and how they will be spent, with comparisons for this fiscal year (1968) and fiscal 1967 (in billions of dollars):

Defense to Take 43 Cents From Each Tax Dollar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-three cents of every dollar spent by the government in the next fiscal year will go for defense, including 14 cents for Vietnam.

And the government will collect 43 cents of every dollar it receives from the individual income tax.

★ ★ ★

Here's where the rest of each government dollar will go: 6 cents for interest on the federal debt, 20 cents for social insurance trust funds, 11 cents for education and other major social programs, 4 cents for veterans, 3 cents for international affairs and 13 cents for all other.

Here's how the government will get its dollar: 43 cents from individual income taxes, 18 cents from corporate income taxes, 22 cents from social insurance and retirement, 9 cents from excise taxes, 4 cents from borrowing and 4 cents from all other sources.

Government Outlay Per Person: $876.81

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's new budget estimates the federal government is spending $876.81 for every man, woman and child in the nation this year.

But it's receiving, in revenues, the equivalent of only $777.79 from each American. The figures are based on an estimated population of 200,271,000 on Jan. 1—midpoint of the current fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

In the fiscal year starting July 1, with the population expected to reach an estimated 202,534,000 by next Jan. 1, the budget estimates government spending at $918.81 for each citizen, and revenue at $879.03.

Outlays Are Compared

WASHINGTON (AP) — This table summarizes the fiscal 1969 outlays of departments and agencies under the $186.1-billion budget proposed by President Johnson today, including loans. The outlays are compared with this fiscal year (1968) and fiscal 1967 (in millions of dollars):

$13.2 Billion More if Tax Hikes OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The higher income and excise taxes and user charges President Johnson recommended to Congress in his budget message today would raise $13.2 billion in the next fiscal year.

By far the largest total would come from the 10 per cent tax surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes—$9.8 billion in the next fiscal year.

But the program also calls for the postponement of scheduled cuts in the telephone and automobile manufacturers' excise taxes, a speedup in collections of corporate income taxes and user charges in aviation and on the nation's highways and waterways.

The surcharge, as proposed y Johnson, would take effect April 1 for individuals but be retroactive to Jan. 1 for corporations.

BREAKDOWN

Here is a breakdown of the revenues expected from each type of tax for fiscal 1968, which ends Juen 30:

Surcharge on individual income taxes—$930 million.

Surcharge on corporate income taxes—$970 million.

Speedup in corporate tax collections—$800 million.

Extension of excise taxes—$300 million.

★ ★ ★

For fiscal 1969 which begins July 1, the breakdown is:

Surcharge on individual income taxes—$6.92 billion.

Surcharge on corporate income taxes—$2.88 billion.

Speedup in corporate tax collections—$400 million.

Extension of excise taxes—$2.66 billion.

USER CHARGE

User charge—$297 million including $239 million for increased diesel fuel tax and gradauted use tax on heavy trucks; $40 million in aviation services; $7 million on fuel used by vessels navigating inland waterways, and $11 million in user charges outside the transportation field.

★ ★ ★

The 7 per cent auto excise would bec ontinued until July 1, 1969, as would the 10 per cent telephone service tax. Under present law, the telephone tax is scehduled to drop to 1 per cent April 1 and to zero on Jan. 1, 1969. The auto tax is scheduled to drop to 2 per cent on April 1 and to 1 per cent on Jan. 1, 1969.

INCOME AND OUTGO — The chart shows the federal government's expected revenues and projected outlays for fiscal year 1969. The major revenue producer is individual income taxes, and the major expenditure is national defense.

Defense Figures No Surprise

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson handed Congress today a $76.7-billion defense budget reflecting "our resolve to preserve the independence of Vietnam" and provide the nuclear and conventional forces essential to national security.

His military spending proposals for the 1969 fiscal year are nearly $3 billion bigger than this year. Vietnam accounts for one-third of the entire military budget.

★ ★ ★

But except for Vietnam war costs, it is essentially a holddown budget with few surprises.

Johnson said the money he is asking for the 12 months beginning July 1 "will cover all currently anticipated defense requirements for the fiscal year, including the possibility of continuation of combat in Vietnam beyond this period."

DONE BEFORE CRISIS

The new defense budget was completed before the crisis developed last week over North Korea's seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo.

Nobody knows how long that crisis will last, or whether North Korea's new challenge will trigger a major expansion in U.S. military strength.

★ ★ ★

Nearly 14,800 air reservists already have been mustered for indefinite active duty. More reservists, possibly ground troops, may be called.

Assuming the Pueblo crisis can be solved before the new fiscal year opens five months from now, Johnson is planning a 13,000-man cut in the total of men under arms to 3,477,000 by June 30, 1969.

PRESENT INTENTIONS

At the same time, present intentions are to reach 525,000 men in Vietnam and to stay at about that level throughout the 1969 fiscal year. About 517,000 U.S. troops will be in place by June 30, the end of the 1968 fiscal year.

Whether Johnson can carry out this plan depends on the course of the war. He and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said a year ago they felt they could hold the force level in Vietnam to about 480,000.

★ ★ ★

The military cost of the Vietnam war will rise to $25.8 billion in fiscal 1969, according to Johnson's projections. This would be $1.3 billion higher than this year.

The fiscal 1968 military outlay for the Vietnam war is outstripping last January's forecast by about $2.6 billion.

ANTIMISSILE SYSTEM

Johnson's new defense budget provides money to start building the Sentinel antimissile system designed to protect the United States from any Red Chinese atomic missile threat starting in the early 1970s.

The administration feels it would be a waste of money to buy much more expensive antimissile defense proposed by military leaders to guard against possible Soviet attack.

★ ★ ★

Instead, it is concentrating on strengthening the missile force that hopefully deters the Soviets from launching an attack lest they be pulverized in return.

The total missile force will remain the same in the coming year, at 1,710 land-based and submarine-launched weapons. But the missiles will be improved, with more sophisticated penetration aids for getting past enemy defenses and multiple warheads capable of being directed to separate targets.

Increase Is Sought for Foreign Affairs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked today for an $82-million increase in foreign-affairs expenditures, to $5.68 billion in fiscal 1969 despite Congress' heavy slash in his aid program last year.

Johnson said in his budget message that "We must not shrink from the work of peace. We must continue because we do not wish our children to inherit a world in which two-thirds of the people are underfed, diseased and poorly educated."

Johnson budgeted $5.15 billion for nonmilitary spending on international affairs and finance, $107 million above fiscal 1968, including aid programs and costs of agencies such as the State Department.

Housing-Cities Funds Would Double

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal spending for housing and community development would double to $1.4 billion under the fiscal 1969 budget proposed today by President Johnson.

Much of the increase would go for the first big outlays for the model cities program and for an expanded lower-income housing effort to produce six million units in the next 10 years.

Although concentrating on big-city problems, the programs also would provide aid for the nation's suburbs and small towns.

The rent supplement program, which Congress chopped in half at the last session, would get an increase from the current $10-million-a-year contract authority to $65 million. The program pays one-fourth of the rent of needy people to help them get housing.

For the model cities program to rebuild blighted neighborhoods, the President asked Congress for the remaining $350 million of the 1-billion authorization he sought last year. Spending for fiscal 1969 would jump from $25 million to $250 million.

And the urban renewal program, a basic tool for the model cities work, would go up $567 million to $1.4 billion.

Public housing funds would increase $53 million to $350 million. To spend production, much of the new housing is to be built by private developers on their own sites.

To attract more buyers for mortgages backed by the Veterans Administration and Federal Housing Administration the President proposes lifting the current 6 per cent interest ceiling. The administration hopes to attract more money into the FHA's new program to support housing for lower income people in blighted and central-city areas.

Crime Cost: $63.2 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's budget earmarks nearly $63.2 million to pay for new and beefed up crime-fighting programs in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

All but about $10 million would go for grants to improve local law enforcement.

★ ★ ★

The administration estimates $53.2 million would be spent during the fiscal year under the so-called safe streets legislation, pending in Congress.

Most of the remaining $10 million would go toward new agents to strengthen federal narcotics enforcement programs.

NEW AID PROGRAM

The safe streets legislation would authorize a new program of federal financial and technical assistance to state and local governments.

This is intended to encourage planning and new efforts to improve law enforcement and criminal justice systems at the state and local levels.

★ ★ ★

The $10 million to intensify federal anticrime efforts would include:

- Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, $1.2 million to increase the number of agents from 325 to 428, mainly to control traffic in LSD and other hallucinogenic drugs.
- Bureau of Narcotics, $1.3 million to increase the number of agents from 314 to 430.
- U.S. Attorneys, $2.3 million to hire another 100 assistant United States attorneys.

EXPENDITURES IN LBJ YEARS — These are the budget outlays for five key items in the federal budget during five years of President Johnson's administration, from 1965 to the projected budget for 1969.

Most of Rise in Total Reflects New Format

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you wince at the $186-billion total of President Johnson's new budget, remember that most of the rise from a year ago reflects a new budget format, not a spending splurge.

Roughly one-fourth of the outlays—about $47 billion—in the new "unified" fiscal blueprint sent to Congress today represents outlays of the government-held trust funds, included for the first time.

The reform was recommended in October by a 16-member presidential comission. It is designed to show the full impact of federal taxing, spending and lending by including the highway, pension and social insurance funds previously regarded as "outside the budget."

Under the old "administrative" budget, spending and revenues would have been lower and the deficit bigger. The fiscal 1969 outlays, at $147.4 billion, would be $10.2 billion higher than spending in this fiscal year. The red ink would total $11.8 billion.

$8-BILLION DEFICIT

By adding in the income and outgo of Social Security, medicare and other funds, the "unified" receipts total 178.1 billion, the outlays $186.1 billion and the deficit $8 billion.

One aim is to show more fully the economic impact of all the federal dollars fed into the nation's spending stream and all the dollars pad in by taxes.

★ ★ ★

A second aim is to avoid confusion like that surrounding last year's budget message—a triple-headed bookkeeping monster which told the fiscal story in three different ways.

★ ★ ★

Finally, it's hoped the simpler format might forestall the perennial charges of "budget gimmickry" always made by political foes of whichever party holds office. In this it did not quite succeed. Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican conference, charged that parts of the big anticipated deficit in the government's general funds is being offset and concealed by a $6-billion "surplus" in the trust funds.

CALLED IMPROVEMENT

But almost all economists call the new format an improvement over the administrative budget. They expect it also will replace, to a considerable extent the other two major budget concepts—the "cash consolidated budget" and the "National Income Accounts budget," both devised as tools of the economic analyst.

★ ★ ★

The cash and NIA budgets both include the trust funds, but they differ in many other respects, In fact, if Johnson had chosen to use the NIA budget for fiscal 1969, the deficit would be only $2 billion instead of the $8 billion in the unified budget.

Last year's message presented all three budget concepts, with chaotic results.

Some news media used the administrative budget in telling the fiscal 1968 budget story, with spending at $135 billion. Some used the cash budget, at $172.4 billion. Others used the NIA budget, at $169.2 billion. All three showed different deficits.

NEW DEVICE

Among other new features, the unified budget includes—A new method of reporting "participation certificates." Under this much-favored new device, the government sells to private investors shares in the earnings of pools of government-held loans. The certificates are now shown as simply another method of financing the federal deficit.

★ ★ ★

In the past they have been listed as a deduction from expenditures—a method of reducing the deficit which Republicans have attacked as another "budget gimmick."

BUDGET INCREASES — This chart shows the increases in billions of dollars in various items provided for in the federal government's budget for fiscal year 1969, compared to outlays for 1968. Undistributed intragovernmental payments include government contributions for employe retirement and interest received by trust funds.

Civilian Space Share Lowest in Five Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration proposed today to spend $4.57 billion on civilian space programs in the next fiscal year—the lowest amount in five years—and will place astronauts on the moon by 1970.

In his budget message to Congress, President Johnson requested for space research and technology some $230 million less than planned for this fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

The request also is $850 million less than spent in the year ending last June 30 and more than $1.3 billion less than spent in the peak year ending June 30, 1966.

"This reduction reflects our progress beyond the costly research and development phases of the manned lunar mission, as well as the immediate need to postpone spending for new projects wherever possible," the budget message said.

PRIORITIES EXAMINED

"Based on a careful examination of priorities, the 1969 budget provides increases in some areas to prepare for important advances in future years, while deferring other less urgent, new projects," it added.

Johnson said the proposed budget would permit:

- Continued production of large Saturn-class space boosters, but at a reduced rate.

- Development of a nuclear rocket engine to increase the capability of the Saturn 5 moon rocket, but smaller in size and thrust than originally planned.
- Development of a new spacecraft for launching in 1973 to orbit and land on Mars, costing "much less than half" the Voyager program included in last year's budget.

STILL VALUABLE

"Although the scientific result of this new mission will be less than that of Voyager, it will still provide extremely valuable data and serve as a building block for planetary exploration systems of the future," Johnson said.

The program calls for the first manned Apollo flight—an earth orbital mission launched by a Saturn 1B—and the first manned Saturn 5 flights this year.

★ ★ ★

In calendar year 1969 the program calls for five manned Apollo flights of the Saturn 5 rocket, "one of which may well be the first manned landing on the moon," he said.

Expenditures for the Apollo program would decline by more than $450 million in the fiscal year as the primary effort moves past the costly development phase.

LIMITED EFFORT

Funds are proposed for only a limited effort to prepare for additional exploratory flights to the moon after 1969.

However, the program calls for a Saturn 1B-launched manned oribital workshop in 1970, with the spacecraft to be revisited that year and in 1971 and used as a platform for a large man-operated solar telescope.

There will be a Mariner flight to Mars in 1969 to measure the planet's atmosphere and identify its components and to provide mapping data.

In 1971 the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will launch a spacecraft to orbit Mars and probe its atmosphere.

Rising School-Aid Curve to Continue to Level Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rising curve of federal aid to education would continue to level off slightly under the budget proposed today by President Johnson.

The President called for an increase of $200 million to $4.7 billion in educational spending in fiscal 1969. That would follow the pattern of a gradual rise this fiscal year after large jumps in spending between fiscal years 1965 and 1967.

As expected, the budget for the fiscal year starting in July calls for sizable cutbacks in outlays for college and university buildings and other facilities, down $83 million to a 213-million total.

But it would increase funds for loans and grants to college and graduate students from $597 million to $673 million.

For elementary and secondary schools, the budget proposes to reduce aid for schoolbooks, equipment and guidance services from $237 million to $155 million. It asks more money, however, to train teachers and help poor children. And it proposes a new $30-million program to prevent school dropouts.

Impact aid for areas with large numbers of children of federal personnel would be increased.

Research, Science Due for $17.3 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration called today for spending $17.3 billion in fiscal 1969 for the far-flung scientific and medical research and development activities of the federal government — $800 million above the current level.

The requestd increases reflect plans for stepped-up programs in fields ranging from missle warheads to aritifcial hearts and other organs, from deep-sea exploration for both defense and peaceful purposes to birth-control pills.

★ ★ ★

It further reflects, the administration said in presenting its budget to Congress, "the growing concern for applying research to national 'civilian' problems" such as crime prevention, urban development and the educational needs of the disadvantaged and the poor.

PROVIDES DETAIL

The White House's Office of Science and Technology, which keeps tabs on research and development activities conducted or supported by more than 15 government agencies, provided most of the detail in a special analysis of the President's budget.

The division of requested funds for all agencies includes more than $10.9 billion for development, compared with $10.6 billion this fiscal year, and $5.7 billion for research, up $500 million.

The budget calls for a 13 per cent boost in funds to support research in colleges and universities. Some scientists have expressed fears that costs of the Vietnam war might cut sharply into their government grants.

BUDGET HIKE

The administration said $1.6 billion would go for such contracts in fiscal 1969, compared with $1.4 billion estimated for fiscal 1968.

Major dollar increases for research in 1969 are in the programs of the departments of to $1.5 billion — and Health, Education and Welfare, from $1 billion to $1.6 billion.

Over-all requested federal spending for medical and health-related research is $1.5 billion, compared with $1.4 billion last year, with the National Institutes of Health and the National Institute of Mental Health together ticketed for the lion's share.

Federal Jobs Seen Going to 2.68 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson estimated in his budget message that federal civilian full-time employment will rise by 45,600 to 2.68 million in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1969.

The President, who has been urging payroll frugality on department and agency heads almost since he entered the White House, missed the mark widely on federal jobholders for the current fiscal year.

He estimated an increase of 68,500 to 2.6 million as of next June. The new guess on employment as of that date is up to 2.64 million.

The statisticians estimate more than 39 per cent of next year's increase will be in the post office, to handle a 3.8 per cent rise in mail volume and a swelling number of mailing addresses. Another 6 per cent, or 3,000, is for the Defense Department to support Vietnam operations.

N-Plants Will Be Expanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration disclosed today plans for further major expansion of eight nuclear weapons plants to produce the hydrogen warheads for the recently approved Sentinel antiballistic missile system "and other advanced weapons systems."

One of the latter is the submarine-launched Poseidon missile —an improved Polaris. Its multiple warheads allow one missile to rain death on a number of targets.

The Sentinel system is the planned $5-billion defense system geared primarily to provide the nation with a light shield against missiles which might be launched against the United States by Red China in the 1970s.

The word came out in the Johnson administration's budget request for $2.5 billion spending by the Atomic Energy Commission in fiscal 1969. That's $213 million higher than last year and includes "a substantial increase in expenditures for the design, testing and production of nuclear weapons."

In his budget message, President Johnson pointed to "the threat posed by the emerging Chinese nuclear capability" against which the Spartan and Sprint missiles of the Sentinel system will be deployed.

The new expansion of the weapons plants will bring to $285 million the estimated cost of constructing the needed facilities.

★ ★ ★

That's $184.5 million more than the $100.5 million the AEC had planned on, and obtained, last March when it disclosed plans for some expansion of six of the eight plants involved in the new step-up. At that time, the expansion was pegged largely to Poseidon missiles, not Sentinels.

The administration is asking for the difference in the 1969 budget.

The weapons plants involved in what the administration termed "the heightened tempo" of the Sentinel system development are:

- The "Y-12 plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., where construction costs will total $177.9 million.
- Rocky Flats Plant, Colo., $55.7 million.
- Bendix Plant, Kansas City, Mo., $25 million.
- Mound Laboratory, Miamisburg, Ohio, $6.8 million.
- Burlington Plant, Amarillo, Tex., $5.4 million.
- Savannah River Plant, near Aiken, S. C., $3.9 million.
- Panellas Plant, Clearwater, Fla., $4.8 million.

Families Asked to Aid Fallout Protection Study

With the home fallout protection survey drawing to a close, the Office of Civil Defense today requested that families overlooked by the census bureau send for a questionnaire.

Col. Frederick E. Davids, State Police and Michigan Civil Defense director, said that those who have not participated can easily do so by requesting a copy of the form.

The questionnaire can be obtained by writing the Jeffersonville Census Operations Office, 1201 E. 10th, Jeffersonville, Ind., 47130.

The same office processes the returned completed questionnaire by computer and then advises the householder of the fallout protection rating of his home and how to improve it.

Davids said that more than 65 per cent of almost 1.5 million mail questionnaires in the survey of Michigan have been returned by occupants of one-, two- and three-family residences.

GOOD RESPONSE

He termed this a good response but expressed hope that Michigan might reach a percentage of 80 or better on mail returns as did Minnesota and Wisconsin.

In communitites under 10,000 population and in rural areas, the survey was conducted in person by census bureau interviews. This was completed earlier in the program with 908,947 households surveyed.

By contrast, the not-yet-completed mail survey has had returns from more than 970,000 homes, Davids said.

'16 Job Corps Centers to Be Closed Down'

NEW YORK (AP) — The government plans to close 16 of the 124 Job Corps centers because of congressional budget cuts in the antipoverty program, the New York Times said Sunday. The newspaper said the Job Corps cutback and other antipoverty economies have been worked out by the Office of Economic Opportunity, subject to approval by President Johnson. An announcement is expected Monday, the Times said.

★ ★ ★

It listed the urban Job Corps centers to be closed, and the companies operating them under government contract as: Custer, Battle Creek, Mich., U.S. Industries, Inc.; Lincoln, Neb., Northern Systems, Inc.; McCoy, Sparta, Wis., RCA Service Co.; Rodman, New Bedford, Mass., and Science Research Associates, a subsidiary of IBM.

Centers operated by the Agriculture and Interior departments marked for closing were identified as: Chippewa Ranch, Mahnomen County, Minn.; Isabella, Lake County, Minn.; Ripton, Addison County, Vt.

Fort Vannoy, Josephine County, Ore.; Iroquois, Orleans County, N.Y.; Lewiston, Trinity County, Calif.; Liberty Park, Hudson County, N.J.; McCook, Red Willow County, Neb.; Mexican Springs, McKinley County, N.M., and Poston, Yuma County, Ariz.

Lewis and Clark, operated by the North Dakota Park Service, also is scheduled to close. Another on the list, Swiftbird, South Dakota, has never been opened.

Towns Blasted

PALERMO, Sicily (UPI) — Demolition teams today dynamited towns and villages ravaged by earthquakes in western Sicily to minimize the danger to cleanup workers from weakened buildings. At least 250 persons were killed by the quakes in the last two weeks, and bodies are still buried in the rubble.

New Haven Man Beaten to Death

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Police were investigating the death of a New Haven man today. His body, badly beaten about the head and face, was found behind a department store Sunday.

Authorities said the victim, George Wise, 43, of New Haven, had been dead three or four hours when it was discovered by a passing motorist about noon.

Medical examiner's office said the cause of death was a blow to the head.

New Zealander Challenges S. Africa Surgical Claim

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — A spokesman for Auckland's Greenlane Hospital today challenged a claim by South African surgeons that they had performed the world's first double heart valve transplant using human valves.

The Johannesburg General Hospital said the operation, believed to be the world's first, was performed on a woman last Tuesday. She was in satisfactory condition.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Greenlane Hospital's cardiothoracic surgical team said surgeons at Greenlane performed the first double valve transplant using human valves three months ago and have done seven more such operations since then.

★ ★ ★

Six of the patients are still alive, the spokesman said, changing an earlier statement that all eight operations had been successful. He declined to give details of the patients.

He said all had been very successful.

The spokesman added that surgeons at Greenlane had performed double and even triple replacements using metal or plastic valves since 1965.

★ ★ ★

Single valve transplants have been performed in South Africa, the United States, Britain and New Zealand.

In Cape Town, South Africa, meanwhile, doctors told the wife of the world's only living full heart transplant patient, Philip Blaiberg, that he should be fit enough to be discharged from Groote Schuur Hospital by Feb 7.

Wood After Olympic Medal

Skater Packs Extra Uniform

By JERE CRAIG

United States' Olympic Team officials shouldn't look too harshly at Tim Wood, 19-year-old National men's figure skating champion from Bloomfield Hills, if he wears his monogrammed John Carroll University sweater sometimes in deference to his especially tailored team uniform.

After all, Tim is the only known U.S. collegian to win his varisty letter in figure skating.

He currently is with U.S. figure skaters at the Olympic Village in Grenoble, France, site of the Winter Olympics which will begin early next week.

GOLD LETTER FOR GOLD MEDALIST — Vincent DeCain (left), the president of the New York chapter of the John Carroll University Alumni, helps the newest honorary member of the school's Monogram Club, Tim Wood of Bloomfield Hills, try on his navy blue sweater with gold letter. Wood, the U.S. national figure skating men's singles champion, received the sweater in New York City last week before leaving with the U.S. team for the Olympic Village at Grenoble, France.

Moreover, the slender political science sophomore was presented his varsity monogram while cutting classes rather than figures on the ice.

It all was done without repercussion from the Cleveland campus.

PRESENTATION MADE

Young Tim received his letter last Monday at the Roosevelt Hotel in New York City two days after surprising figure skating followers by capturing the men's singles title at Philadelphia.

Third-ranked going into the competition, he grabbed the lead over defending champ Gary Visconti of Detroit and New Jersey's Scott Allen with a strong exhibition in the compulsory figures.

Then, while Montanan John (Misha) Petkovich wowed the Spectrum spectators with a brilliant free-style display to jump from fourth to second, Tim methodically carved out sufficient free-skating points to retain his hold on first place in the Saturday finals.

The 1966 Bloomfield Hills graduate felt confident of realizing his first-place dreams before reaching Philadelphia.

"I matured a great deal in the past few months," he noted, "and I think this was reflected in my training program. I concentrated a lot more on compulsory figures this time than free skating."

PRACTICE

This grew out of his daily five-hours-a-morning practice sessions with his professional coach Ronnie Baker in Cleveland.

"Ron is responsible for getting me to where I am," Tim emphasizes.

His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wood of Mayflower Court, will fly to France Sunday to watch him bid for an Olympic medal.

"I think I've got a good chance at a silver medal," he states. "But a gold medal demands a great deal. It will be extremely difficult with all the competition."

His reservation could stem from the fact that Austria's Emmerich Danzer, the defending men's world champion, could get the nod of the European judges at Grenoble.

HIGH POINT

The first-place finish at Philadelphia is the high point of a competitive career that began nine years ago for the Detroit Skating Club member.

His improvement was apparent and his optimism enhanced by an impressive second place finish Thanksgiving week on the ice at Grenoble in a World's Invitational Meet.

A French skater won the event. Petkovich was ninth while neither Allen nor Visconti were able to compete.

While he has been on several teams representing the U.S., this was his first national men's title. Following his championship, Tim went to New York City where he was outfitted with an attractive complete cold-weather U.S. team outfit for his 5-10, 145-pound frame.

But when the plane embarked last Tuesday for France, his team luggage also included a blue sweater with a gold C.

CLIPPING WINGS — Minnesota North Star goalie Cesare Maniago falls backward as he kicks away a shot by the Detroit Red Wings in the first period of their National Hockey League in Minnesota yesterday afternoon. Coming in from behind to try for the rebound is Wings' Floyd Smith. Maniago turned in a sparkling performance in the nets as Minnesota won, 2-1.

Wildcats' Rupp Seeking Record Cage Triumph

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Adolph Rupp, the legendary "Man in the Brown Suit," goes after a record-breaking victory tonight, voicing unconcern over the record but the same old fierce desire to win.

"To win, that's the name of the game," the 67-year-old Rupp said after his ninth-ranked Kentucky Wildcats had topped Louisiana State 121-95 at Baton Rouge Saturday.

The victory was the 771st for Rupp — all in a 38-year career at Kentucky — and tied him for No. 1 on the all-time list with Phog Allen, his former coach at Kansas. Allen retired 12 years ago.

"Bless his bones," Allen said in Lawrence, Kan. "I'm glad he's tied it."

Rupp, who seeks the recordbreaker tonight against Mississippi at Oxford, Miss., was much less enthusiastic.

CREDITS PLAYERS

"The record? I really hadn't thought much about it," he said. "The boys get the wins, not me."

Wings Split Weekend Series

Detroiters Beat Flyers; Lose to Minnesota

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, back home after splitting a pair of weekend games with expansion clubs, have three days to regroup their forces before resuming National Hockey League action Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The Wings, beaten 2-1 Sunday by the Minnesota North Stars, play the Los Angeles Kings Thursday in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

In other NHL games, New York defeated Oakland 4-2, Pittsburgh blanked Boston 1-0, Toronto upended Chicago 3-1 and Los Angeles shutout Philadelphia 2-0.

The Wings outshot the North Stars 35-24 in a nationally-televised Sunday game, but managed only one fluke goal off Minnesota netminder Cesare Maniago.

Maniago played a sensational game, halting the Wings at most every turn. The only Detroit goal was scored by Norm Ullman in the seoond period on a shot stopped by Maniago, who lost the puck, which dropped behind him into the net.

★ ★ ★

Ullman scored two goals Saturday in Detroit's 3-2 victory over Philadelphia, but Sunday's loss snapped a three-game unbeaten string for Detroit.

KNOCKED OVER

Minnesota's Roy Cullen opened the scoring by beating Roger Crozier with Detroit a man short at 11:36 of the first period. Ullman's goal tied the score in the second period. But the North Stars got the deciding tally 35 seconds later when Wayne Connelly's flat shot from 25 feet knocked Crozier backward. As he fell the puck skipped off him into the net.

Sunday's results left Montreal on top of the East Division, one point ahead of Toronto, Boston and Chicago, all tied for second and three points ahead of New York.

Minnesota moved into second place in the West Division race, four points back of Philadelphia.

★ ★ ★

Pete Stemkowski scored a pair of unassisted goals in Toronto's victory over Chicago and Les Binkley's spectacular goaltending and a second period goal by rookie George Konik carried Pittsburgh to its narrow shutout victory over Boston.

★ ★ ★

Rod Gilbert scored two goals in New York's victory over Oakland, the Ranger's 11th straight home ice victory on a Sunday, and Terry Sawchuk recorded his first shutout of the year in Los Angeles' triumph over Philadelphia.

Lions Deal Hilgenberg for Steeler Defender

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers announced Sunday they have traded veteran defensive end John Baker to the Detroit Lions for linebacker Wally Hilgenberg in a straight player deal.

Hilgenberg, 26, was the Lions' fourth draft choice in 1964. The 235-pound linebacker played at the University of Iowa.

Baker, 33, is a 10-year-veteran of the National Football League. The Steelers picked him up as a free agent from the Philadelphia Eagles in 1963.

★ ★ ★

Steelers coach Bill Austin said Hilgenberg would be used as a middle and corner linebacker.

Talented Collegian Waiting, Watching

NEW YORK (AP) — Ken Stabler's multiple talents have caught the slick Alabama southpaw in heavy traffic — at the crossroads between professional football and major league baseball.

But the Snake is in no hurry to slither out of the tie-up.

"I'll just wait and see how things go in the football draft before deciding what to do," the 22-year-old pitcher-quarterback said following his selection by the Houston Astros in baseball's winter free-agent draft last Saturday.

Stabler, who earned the nickname "snake" with a lightning-quick release as Alabama's passing master in 1966 and 1967, won't have long to wait. He figures to be an early selection Tuesday when the American and National Football leagues conduct their second combined college draft.

Pro scouts rate Stabler just behind UCLA's Gary Beban and on a par with Kim Hammond of Florida State, Billy Stevens of Texas-El Paso and Greg Landry of Massachusetts, the other outstanding pro quarterback prospects available next fall.

The New York Mets drafted Stabler a year ago, but he decided to stay in school and retain his football eligibility. He was Houston's second round pick Saturday and the 24th of 128 players selected in the regular phase of the draft session.

REGULAR DRAFT

Another 162 players, who were drafted previously but did not sign contracts, were picked off by the 20 major league clubs in a special phase. Stabler was eligible in the regular phase because he was drafted by the Mets last winter, then passed over in the summer selection.

Two other prominent gridders who doubled as pitching aces— right-handers Bruce Matte of Miami, Ohio, and Ed Mantie of Syracuse—were plucked in the baseball draft. Matte, all-star quarterback in the Mid-America Conference two years ago, was picked by the Mets. Mantie, standout defensive back for Syracuse last season, was selected by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The No. 1 choice in the regular phase was George Hendrick, an 18-year-old outfielder from Los Angeles, who was selected by the Oakland Athletics. The Minnesota Twins tabbed shortstop Eric Soderholm, 19, of Miami Beach, Fla., to open the special phase. Soderholm previously had been drafted by the Athletics, who failed to sign him.

Ten AFL teams and 16 NFL clubs will select a total of 462 players who have completed their college eligibility in pro football's monster draft Tuesday.

Celtics Trying to Prove 76ers Not Best NBA Team

By the Associated Press

The Boston Celtics insist this is the year to regain the National Basketball Association title from Philadelphia, but Coach Alex Hannum of the 76ers is outwardly calm about the situation.

The Celtics, dethroned a year ago by the 76ers, posted their fourth victory in five meetings with their arch rivals this season by defeating Philadelphia 115-103 Sunday.

★ ★ ★

In other NBA games, New York nipped San Francisco 133-130. Los Angeles walloped St. Louis 128-113 in Miami Beach and Seattle thumped Baltimore 135-126 in Tacoma Wash.

In ABA action, Dallas upended Anaheim 118-115, Pittsburgh edged New Jersey 123-122 and Oakland turned back Kentucky 108-98.

FELL BEHIND

The Celtics led by as much as eight points in the first half and were in front 65-61 at the intermission, but fell behind 84-78 in the first 10½ minutes of the third period.

Suddenly Boston broke loose, outscoring the 76ers 15-1 in a surge which carried to a 93-85 lead early in the finale. Howell helped as he scored 12 points in the fourth period.

Sam Jones matched Howell's output with 29 points, including 22 in the first half.

Wilt Chamberlian topped Philadelphia with 19 points.

★ ★ ★

In New York, Walt Frazier tossed in two free throws with 37 seconds remaining to play, breaking a 127-127 tie and sending the Knicks in front to stay.

Cazzie Russell, who scored all of his 26 points in the second half, then added the clinching basket. Frazier finished with 23 points, 10 assists and 15 rebounds while Rudy LaRusso topped the Warriors with 31 points

The Lakers, behind Elgin Baylor's 29 points and 15 rebounds and Jerry West's 22 points, streaked for 10 straight points early in the third period to break open a close contest. West, returning after missing two games with a broken nose, chipped in with 22 points. Lou Hudson had 23.

STREAK ENDS

Seattle snapped a three-game losing streak while halting Baltimore's winning skein at four. Bob Weiss collected 10 points in the final period in triggering the Super Sonics. Earl Monroe of the bullets topped the scorers with 36 points while Al Tucker was high for the Sonics with 25.

In Saturday's games, St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 120-111, Detroit topped Los Angeles 125-119 and Baltimore nipped San Diego 123-122.

Goslin, Cuyler Honored

Clutch Hitters Join Hall of Fame Lineup

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's Hall of Fame has been further enriched by the enrollment of two clutch-hitting outfielders who bowed out of the game 30 long years ago—Leon "Goose" Goslin and the late Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler.

Goslin, who played 18 American League seasons, most of them with Washington, and Cuyler, an 18-year standout for Pittsburgh and three other National League clubs, were elected to the Hall Sunday by a unanimous vote of the Veterans Committee headed by former commissioner Ford C. Frick.

The committee considers former stars whole playing careers ended more than 20 years ago.

Goslin compiled a .316 lifetime batting average and swatted 248 home runs from 1921 to 1938. He began and ended his career with the Senators and also played for Detroit and the St. Louis Browns.

Among his many accomplishments was the World Series winning base hit for the Detroit Tigers against the Chicago Cubs in 1935.

"I also got six straight hits with Washington in the World Series in 1924," he recalled, "and nobody ever has come close to that."

Cuyler, who died 18 years ago at the age of 50, batted .321 over a career that also started in 1921 and wound up in 1968. The Harrisville, Mich., product once collected 16 straight hits and had six in a row three times.

He matched Goslin's World Series feat with the deciding hit —a bases-loaded eighth inning double of Walter Johnson—in the seventh game of the Pirates' 1925 Series triumph over Washington.

Cuyler's game-winning blow overshadowed the three homers and six RBI produced in the Series by the Senators' top hitter — "Goose" Goslin.

Michigan Skaters Post Two Wins

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Michigan skaters captured two first places, one second and three third places in the National Outdoor Speed Skating Championships over the weekend in St. Paul.

Sheila Young of Detroit took first place in the intermediate girls 880-yard race and Ed Taveirne of Detroit won the junior boys one-sixth mile race.

Linda Michaelski of Detroit took second in the senior women's one-sixth mile race.

Taveirne took third in the intermediate boys two-mile race, Barbara Best of Midland came in third in the intermediate girls one-sixth mile contest and Taveirne finished third in the junior boys 880.

Miss Michaelski ranked fourth out of eight in the senior women's class with 5 points. Miss Young ranked second with 13 points and Miss Best third with seven points out of a field of six in the intermediate girls class.

Taveirne ranked for a twoway tie for eighth in a field of 11 in the intermediate boys class with two points and third out of eight with 9 points in the junior boys class.

Chandler Harper 1st in Senior Golf Test, Four Ahead of Snead

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., overcame the sand traps Sunday to hold most of his seven-stroke third-round lead and win the PGA Seniors Gold Championship and $4,000 with 279.

Second was Sam Snead, four strokes off the pace.

Harper had a par 72 Sunday but coupled with his sizzling third-round 64, that was eaily enough to win. Harper exploded his ball out of the traps to within putting distance on several occasions.

On the 18th hole he muffed a four-foot putt when a spectator fainted, causing a disturbance.

Casper Hits Mark as Golfing Prophet

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Billy Casper is a world renowned golfer. He is also something of a prophet.

Last week the two-time U. S. Open champion was asked what score he thought would win the $100,000 Los Angeles open tournament.

"I'll take 274," said Casper. It turned out to be the exact figure—and Casper had it Sunday.

This was Casper's 13th appearance in the 42nd annual Los Angeles Event, and No. 13 proved lucky. Casper took a one-stroke lead into Sunday's final round over Brookside Park's 7,021-yard, par 36-35—71 test and when it was all over, he was three strokes in front of that man, Arnold Palmer.

Pontiac Catholic Takes on Powerful PNH Quintet

Down Battle Creek, 140-125

T-Hawks Impressing Loop Foes

Those Pontiac Tomahawks are beginning to make an impression around the North American Basketball League.

The first-year pros trimmed weary Battle Creek, 140-125, Sunday evening at Northern High School for their second straight victory, leaving themselves one game behind the slumping third-place Braves in the Eastern Division.

Battle Creek lost four games last week, including a 126-115 decision to Columbus Saturday night. Columbus moved into first place in the Eastern Division as Lansing lost at Grand Rapids, 124-112. Holland defeated Chicago, 125-120.

Yesterday's win marked the second strong performance by the Tomahawks and was their highest point total of the campaign.

They showed vastly improved team play at both ends of the court, getting excellent scoring balance. Player-coach Bob Duffy led the scoring with 29 points.

Right behind him were Ed Burton and Joe Johnson with 28 each. Burton pulled down 20 rebounds, Ken Nevels had 16 points and 10 assists, while Duffy hit 12 of 16 shots and added seven assists.

BIG PERIODS

John Watson came off the Tomahawks' bench to play a strong second quarter around the backboards (seven rebounds), Paul Long made six straight shots and 15 points in the third period, and Johnson had 10 points (5 of 7) and five rebounds in the last quarter.

The game was close until the closing four minutes. The Braves, who only led in the first period, cut the lead to 115-111 before wilting.

Charley Bowerman notched 15 of 29 shots (including two three-point field goals) to top all the scorers with 38 points. Teammate Bob Coen added 13 of 26 for 35.

But Art Crump, who scored 59 in the Braves' first visit to Pontiac, and ace pivotman Ajec Triplett both missed the game reportedly due to tournament coaching assignments in Indiana.

Former Troy High School All-County star Bud Acton pulled down 16 rebounds for the Braves. Both teams made 24 free throws, but Pontiac had a 58-49 edge from the field while making 49 per cent of its shots.

★ ★ ★

The Tomahawks' 34 assists were a season high for them, too. Battle Creek's diminutive Bowerman complemented his hot shooting with nine assists and eight rebounds.

Huskies Romp to 95-59 Win Over Ann Arbor

Traylor Scores 22; Improving WOLL Plays at Brandon

Pontiac Catholic's Titans may regret their timing but tomorrow night they will inaugurate athletic competition with Northern High School on the Huskies' basketball court.

★ ★ ★

This is the first year for PCHS and, while still a Class C school in enrollment, Titan officials are anticipating developing strong, popular rivalries with the two city public high schools.

However, Pontiac Catholic will be encountering a red-hot PNH quintet Tuesday. The Huskies downed Ann Arbor, 95-59, Saturday night for two back-to-back impressive triumphs.

The win supplanted Friday night's 89-57 victory over Livonia Stevenson as the Huskies' second best scoring total of the campaign. They are now 7-2 and have four wins in a row.

★ ★ ★

High-jumping center Bob Traylor pumped in a varsity high of 22 points and pulled down 17 rebounds. He also led the PNH scoring (16) and rebounding (25) Friday night.

HOT SHOOTING

Guard Craig Deaton keyed a torrid shooting night for the Huskies by making seven of nine shots and 16 of his 22 points in the first half.

★ ★ ★

PNH had 38 field goals — its second highest total of the year — while making better than 60 per cent of its shots. Don Hayward and Traylor dominated the backboards and the Huskies veteran frontliner hit all 11 of his points in the opening half.

Still, the spirited Pioneers made a game of it for one period. The score was tied, 18-18, at the end of one period. Then PNH hit for 29 markers in the second period and the rout was on.

Northern's 38-20 field goal advantage was the difference. Both teams made 19 charity tosses.

Pontiac Catholic, meanwhile, will enter tomorrow's tilt with a 4-6 mark and three losses in its last four tries. The Titans have been having defensive problems.

CONSISTENCY

They have also shown a lack of consistent scoring touch outside of the efforts of senior guard Butch Finnegan.

★ ★ ★

Sophomore Sam Brady, potentially the team's best shooter and rebounder, has progressed well with 62 points in the last three games after being set back by an ailment.

Waterford Our Lady of Lakes, winner of its last four starts and 6-4 over-all, will visit slumping Ortonville Brandon (2-8) in another Tuesday contest.

Bloomfield Hills Lahser will journey to Southfield Lathrup in a battle of new schools, East Detroit will visit Ferndale, Berkley will invade Oak Park, Royal Oak Shrine will entertain St. Ambrose and Utica Stevenson will be at Harper Woods.

Three makeup games in the Southern Thumb circuit have Dryden at Richmond, Anchor Bay at Almont and Armada at New Haven.

Starter Quits UCLA Quintet

Rift Between Coach, Lacey Climaxes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Edgar Lacey, a 6-foot-6 forward starter on the UCLA basketball team, quit the Bruins late Sunday, and in doing so, leveled harsh criticism at UCLA Coach John Wooden.

The senior forward said he "never enjoyed playing for that man," and added he was getting off the team "while I still have some of my pride, my sanity and my self-esteem left."

★ ★ ★

The rift between Lacey and Wooden became public last week when Lacey didn't show up for practice. He indicated his anger over remarks by Wooden that Lacey wasn't effective in UCLA's loss to Houston, 71-69 the week before.

Wooden said he thought Lacey was making a mistake by leaving the team.

"I wish he'd think it over. Regardless of how he feels about me, I do care about him," the 20-yearcoach at UCLA said.

★ ★ ★

After missing two days' practice, Lacey wasn't permitted to make the trip east as UCLA met and defeated Holy Cross and Boston College.

Lacey said he had been misused in the UCLA offense. He said he was angry about being pulled out of the Houston game after only nine minutes and not going back in.

"I have no one to blame but myself for staying this long," Lacey said. "I have nothing to reconsider."

Laker Skiers Fail to Win at Timberlee

Special to The Press

TRAVERSE CITY — West Bloomfield's ski teams ran into formidable tests Saturday at Timberlee Ski Resort and failed to post any victories.

The Lakers placed third in the boys' team results and fourth among the girls. Individually, West Bloomfield's top efforts were a second by Tom Carter and a fifth by Betsy Shuler.

Carter failed to lead the boys' combined time totals by one-tenth of a second, being the runner-up to Cadillac's Bob Marsh.

Cadillac topped the boys' field and Traverse City Central was second. TC Central's girls edged out TC St. Francis' coeds for the top spot in their division.

SCRAPPING TOMAHAWK — John Watson (55) of the Pontiac Tomahawks outduels Battle Creek's Bob Coen for an offensive rebound last night in their North American Basketball League contest on the Northern High School floor. It was one of four offensive rebounds the 6-5 ex-University of Detroit guard picked off in a strong second-quarter performance. Roman Jones (41) and Bud Acton (33) of the Braves, and the Tomahawks' Joe Johnson (behind Acton) watch the battle.

State Golfer 9th

FREEPORT, Bahamas (AP) —Tom Draper of Detroit finished ninth in a field of 12 among the leaders in the Grand Bahama Amateur Golf Championship. Draper shot a 71, 86, 87 and 73 for a final score of 307. The leader was Jimmy Day of Laurel, Miss., who shot a 73, 74, 76 and 72 for a final tally of 295.

Cold Spell by Milford Aids Barons

Milford's Redskins, who rose to the occasion Friday night in stopping league-leading Northville, ran into a cold spell and defensive-minded Bloomfield Hills Andover Saturday and suffered a 46-35 setback.

In other games, Royal Oak Kimball held off Mount Clemens for a 64-62 victory, and Algonac handed Detroit Country Day its second loss of the season, 63-58.

Nine players had a hand in the scoring for Andover (5-4) with Steve Jones' 9 points setting the pace. Mark Geigler topped Milford (2-7) with 18.

Two baskets and a pair of free throws in the final 1:05 by Jay Brown helped Kimball stop Mount Clemens. Brown finished with 23 points to pace all scorers. Paul Duda collected 15 for Mount Clemens.

★ ★ ★

Failure at the free throw line led to defeat for Country Day. The Yellow Jackets (8-2) made only 8 of 26 shots.

Country Day, down 17-2 early in the contest, came on strong and pulled within three points late in the game but couldn't overcome that early cold spell. Jack Zwemer tossed in 32 markers for the Jackets.

Midwestern Alumni Nip Varsity, 83-81

The alumni celebrated Homecoming at Midwestern Baptist College Saturday afternoon by registering an 83-81 victory over the varsity basketball team after falling 10 points behind in the second half.

Down 41-39 at the intermission, the Alumni slipped further back in the first five minutes of the last half; then Fraser Vipond, coach of the Falcon varsity that now owns a 2-6 record, and Charles Whitfield led the grads back into the lead by seven points and they held a desperate closing surge by the losers.

Vipond finished with 26 points and Whitfield 19. Ralph Wingate, who guided the Midwestern varsity, tallied 33 and his freshman brother Dan notched 21.

Midwestern's next game will be Saturday night at Avondale High School against arch-rival Michigan Christian Junior College. Both teams are battling for a berth in the Michigan Christian College AA postseason playoffs.

Bowler Hits 275 in State Tourney to Tie for Lead

JACKSON (AP)—Earl Arendsen of Holland bowled a 275 for the high game during the third weekend of action in the Michigan Men's State Bowling Tournament in Jackson.

Arendsen ended the weekend with a 717 score and a tie for the lead in the handicap singles with Larry Oiler of Flint. The tournament continues through the third weekend in May.

★ ★ ★

Robert Walker and Mitchell Bereznoff, both of Flint, took over the actual doubles lead with a score of 1238.

Jack Aldred of Detroit moved out front in the actual all-events category with a 1821, while Jerry Berens of Holland took the lead in the handicap all-events game with a 2002.

Bowlorama Lanes of Jackson and Frankenmuth Universal Engineering kept their edge in the actual and handicap teams events, respectively.

Western Michigan Sharing Top Spot

KALAMAZOO (AP)— Western Michigan's Broncos returned home today, the surprise team of the Mid-American Conference basketball race.

The Broncos upended Marshall's Thundering Herd 96-92 Saturday night to up their MAC record to 5-1, good enough to tie them for the league with Bowling Green.

Invitational Continues

Keglers Find Range in Tourney

The leaders changed in all but one Division Saturday and Sunday and Hillsdale bowlers recorded two near-record efforts in the 11th annual Pontiac Elks Ladies National Invitational Bowling Tournament.

Pontiac entries Millie Anderson and Mary Foster took the lead with a 662 handicap singles series and an actual 1686 all events effort, respectively, yesterday.

Meanwhile, the Hillsdale Culligan Soft Water team rolled a 3036 handicap series Saturday—only the second 3000 series in the last 10 years of the tournament and 54 pins shy of the tournament record—to take a commanding team-event lead.

The five women had a 1047 team game enroute to its big total.

Team captain Mary Ann Chappell missed the tournament all-events handicap record by 21 pins as she took the lead in that category with a 1918 total, and she teamed with Elizabeth Peters for fifth place in the doubles (1220).

Mary Johnson and Carol Arnold of Pontiac grabbed fourth place with 1225, and Mrs. Foster is fourth in the singles with 643.

The tournament will reach its halfway point next weekend at the Pontiac Lodge No. 810 lanes.

Sophomore, Vet Spark MSU to 68-56 Triumph

EAST LANSING (AP) —Take away sophomore sparkplug Jim Gibbons and veteran Lee Lafayette and the Michigan State basketball team probably couldn't keep its head above water this season.

The two 6-foot-standouts gave the Spartans the thrust to whip Southern Illinois, last year's National Invitational Tourney champs, 69-56 in a tripleheader at Chicago Saturday night.

The victory evened MSU's record at 7-7.

★ ★ ★

In the other games on the program at Chicago Stadium, Loyola of Chicago edged Brigham Young 67-65 and Illinois nipped Notre Dame 68-67.

Lafayette, junior forward from Grand Rapids, paced the Spartans with 23 points.

Gibbons, a center from Blissfield, poured in 15 points, including three crucial straight baskets and a free throw. The latter came after the Salkis had fought within a point of the Spartans, 46-45. Southern Illinois trailed 38-34 at halftime.

JUMP SHOTS

Lafayette connected on two jumpers in the late MSU scoring spurt to help Gibbons give his team a commanding lead.

Beside senior guard John Bailey, who scored nine points, no other Spartans came close to tallying in double figures.

Crowning Touch by U.S. Skiers

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — For most of week-long Winter World Student Games U.S. competitors usually were also-rans, but on the final two days the skiers took over and the U.S. showing turned from dismal to brilliant.

★ ★ ★

Scott Pyles, a 20-year-old Western State College, Colo. student, put the crowning touch on the U.S. achievement on the final day Sunday by winning the downhill race.

★ ★ ★

Pyles flashed down the 1 3,100-meter course in 2 minutes, 15.90 seconds, 1.26 faster than silver medalist Guenther Scheuerl of West Germany.

★ ★ ★

Loris Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., picked up the bronze by finishing just .06 of a second behind Scheuerl. Jim Morning of Santa Monica, Calif., finished fifth in 2:18.34.

FOURTH MEDAL

Pyles not only picked up the fourth gold medal of the Games for the United States, he became the male counterpart of Cathy Nagel of Enumclaw, Wash., by getting a third-place bronze in the Alpine combined.

★ ★ ★

The 19-year-old Miss Nagel, whose sister, Judy, is an Olympic team member, was the brightest light for the U.S. team early in the Games, when she won the women's giant slalom.

Saturday she started the U.S. surge by winning the slalom and combined gold medals. Vicki Jones of Tahoe City, Calif., was second to Miss Nagel all three times.

★ ★ ★

Russia won the most medals, eight golds, five silvers and five bronzes. The United States was second with 4-3-3 and Japan third with 3-4-4.

Cautious Miler Misses His Goal

BOSTON (AP) — Sam Bair's coach says the bony little miler can break four minutes right now and he knows it. Sam Bair says so too.

The only thing that kept Bair from turning the trick Saturday night in the Boston A.A. Games, said Kent State Coach Doug Raymond, was overcautiousness.

"He didn't go out early enough," Raymond said. "He likes to lay back and rely upon his kick too much. He's beginning to realize he has to get out there. He could have done it tonight."

As it was, Bair, who at 21 stands a wispy 5-6 and weighs 126 pounds, ran the fastest mile of the 1968 indoor season, winning over a strong field in 4:01.9.

Bob Seagren set a Boston record in the pole vault at 17-0¾, but failed on three attempts to raise his world indoor record an inch from 17-4¼. Still, it was the 12th time he has cleared 17 feet indoors, though he is no longer alone in that department.

Saturday night in Portland, Ore., Finland's Altti Alarotu, a student at Brigham Young, cleared 17 feet.

Alarotu's pole vault and a dead heat in the 60 yard dash were the highlights of the Oregon Invitational at Portland, while veteran Mel Pender's triumph in the 60 was the surprise of the Albuquerque Invitational, the other two major Saturday meets.

Charles Green, formerly of Nebraska, and Canada's Harry Jerome tied in the 60 at Portland, each in 6 seconds flat, while Pender, a 30-year-old Army lieutenant, shocked a sparkling field in Albuquerque, also in 6 flat.

Bob Beamon, University of Texas-El Paso, remained unbeaten in the broad jump, going 25-8½ at Albuquerque, while George Woods, Long Beach, Calif., had a 66-11¼ shot put, best of the season.

Seaholm Wins

Six Seaholm wrestlers bagged titles Saturday in leading the team to a slim victory in a quadrangular match at Lincoln Park.

Seaholm posted 45 points, Melvindale 44, Lincoln Park 18 and Ann Arbor 17.

Claiming crowns for the Maples were Dave Forester (95), Kevin Wilson (112), Jeff Montieth (145), Ron Brodie (154), Jim Winston (165) and Mike Hermoyian (heavyweight).

Second Half Hurts MCJC

Urbana College of Ohio pulled away from Michigan Christian Junior College with a 52-point second half for a 93-75 conquest Saturday.

The Warriors trailed, 41-36, at the Intermission, but the Ohioans (7-6) used a balanced attack to outdistance their host (6-8). Four players were in double figures for Urbana.

★ ★ ★

Nick Mescher's 18 points and Gale Trees' 17 led the winners. Garth Pleasant of MCJC and Tim Harris hit 23 and 21, respectively.

ANN ARBOR (AP) —Come next Saturday, it will have been exactly a year since Michigan last won a Big Ten basketball game.

But it is unlikely that the Wolverines, who won only two of 14 conference games last year, will win at East Lansing Saturday. Michigan State is the defending conference co-champion and in the thick of the race again this year.

Michigan dropped its fourth straight conference game Saturday, falling to Ohio State 95-92 at Ann Arbor.

The Wolverines, defeated 103-70 at Columbus the week before, led throughout most of the game trailing briefly 45-44 at the half, and falling behind 88-87 in the final two minutes of play.

After, that, an OSU press held Michigan at bay as the Buckeyes, now 3-1 in the conference, slowly edged ahead to victory.

"We missed a couple of shots and a couple of one-on-ones," said Strack. "That killed us right there. It was a hard fought, jaw-to-jaw game. Our press gave them all they could handle."

Ohio State Coach Fred Taylor agreed with the assessment, saying Michigan's ful-court, man-to-man press hurt the Buckeyes, especially in the backcourt.

But Taylor said OSU's failure to hit the foul line was a big factor in the game.

"When you get things going poorly they seem to pyramid," said Taylor. "We either didn't make the free throws or we didn't make the shots."

★ ★ ★

Ohio State outshot Michigan from the floor, hitting 36 of 64 field goal attempts for 56 per cent, but the Buckeyes managed only 23 of 41 foul shots.

Michigan hit 32 of 72 field goals for 44 per cent and 28 of 45 from the foul line. The Wolverines outrebounded the Buckeyes 53-49.

★ ★ ★

The game was a slam-bang affair, with officials calling 66 fouls and waving five players, three from Michigan, from the court with five personals.

A near fight broke out late in the game when Michigan's Dennis Stewart, who had fouled out after scoring 32 points waved a towel at the referee after a foul was called against Michigan.

★ ★ ★

The play occurred in front of the Michigan bench and teammates had to restrain reserve Michigan center Willie Edwards who exchanged sharp words with an Ohio State player.

Three technical fouls were called against the Wolverines, including one against the home crowd for littering the court with paper cups and programs.

Senior Bill Hoskett led Ohio State with 26 points. Michigan's Rudy Tomjanovich, who had been averaging 19 points a game, fouled out with 16 minutes to play in the second half and was held to six points.

The loss left Michigan with a 5-9 over-all mark. Ohio State now stands 10-4 on the season.

Oakland U. Dean's Book Is Pirated by Cubans

An Oakland University dean has been placed in the select company of Truman Capote and Edward Albee by the the Cuban government.

Books by Dr. John E. Gibson, dean of OU's School of Engineering, and well-known authors Capote and Albee have been pirated by the Cubans without respect for copyright.

The Cuban government's National Book Institute is publishing any United States work that it feels is of interest to the "new Socialist man"

American authors will probably never see a penny of profits from the sales.

Gibson's 1958 textbook, "Control System Components," was recently issued in Havana along with Capote's "In Cold Blood" and Albee's Broadway hit, "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

Albee's play is being performed in Havana by an officially sponsored company.

The dean wrote the text on industrial automation, which he says is now outdated, with Franz B. Tuteur of Yale. Gibson was then at Purdue University.

Gibson, 41, heads the university's new $5-million school of engineering building which is scheduled to open in September.

He came to OU in 1965 from Purdue, where he was a professor of electrical engineering and director of the control and information systems laboratory of the School of Electrictrical Engineering.

In addition to his 1958 book, he has edited one book, written articles for five others and has had more than three dozen technical articles and two dozen technical reports published.

Cubans are now publishing eight million copies a year of U.S. works, particularly in the educational and technical fields.

The International Culture Congress has strongly denounced the "cultural penetration" by the U.S. in the underdeveloped countries.

* * *

In defense of their literary piracy and disregard for copyrights, Cubans assert that the developing countries should have free access to cultural and technical advances of industrialized countries.

* * *

Technical committees of the institute study all works on sale in the U.S. and elsewhere and select books which they feel are best suited to Cuba's educational program or political preferences.

* * *

"In Cold Blood" and "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf" are said to have been chosen to illustrate the "contradictions of the capitalist world."

Whistle Plan Said Unsound

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The whistle of the Queen Mary won't be sold to students of the University of Washington.

One reason, says Harry Fulton of the city manager's office: It's too loud.

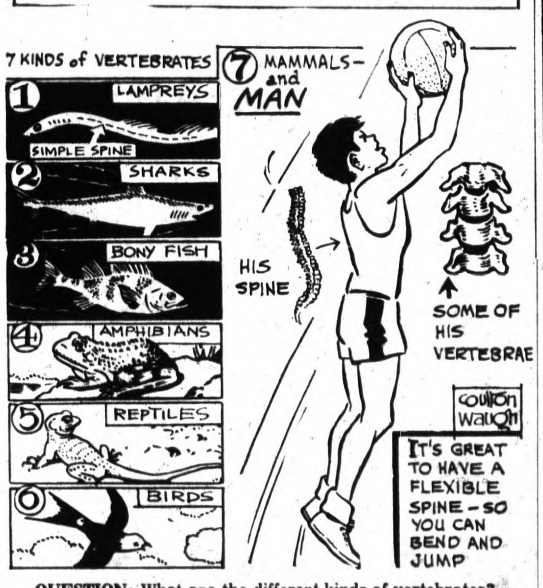
* * *

The city, owner of the vessel, told the student Saturday the whistle is seven feet long, weighs more than a ton and can be heard more than 15 miles away.

The students had proposed sounding the whistle at athletic events.

"It is one of the most far-carrying sounds ever devised by man," wrote Fulton to the students. "If you sounded this in a football stadium, the players might never again hear the signals called."

Junior Editors Quiz on VERTEBRATES



QUESTION: What are the different kinds of vertebrates?

ANSWER: Your vertebrae are a group of segments making up your spine, which is a kind of jointed rod inside your body. It allows you to run, leap and bend, like our basketball player. The vertebrates — which include certain animals and man — all have some kind of central column or spine inside.

Lampreys—which look like eels — are the simplest vertebrates, their spines being made made of cartilage rather than bone. Sharks are more developed, but their skeletons are also of cartilage. With the true fish, we find a real backbone and other bones attached to it.

Amphibians, a step above fish, have well developed legs, allowing them to crawl and hop around on land. The reptiles mark another advance, since they lay eggs enclosed in shells, making it possible for them to live away from the water.

Birds developed from reptiles, but are warm-blooded and thus much more lively and intelligent. The highest vertebrates are the mammals, which suckle their young.

Man belongs in this group, although the marvelous workings of his mind set him apart from all other living things on the earth.

Suspect in Slaying Routed by Tear Gas

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Police, using an armored tank for protection and firing tear gas, routed a slaying suspect from a house Sunday.

Officers charged Loyd Dale Ready, 28, with murder in the fatal shooting of Jim Arnold Field, 23, on a night club parking lot.

Ready was traced to a three-bedroom house where he lived with a woman and three young children. During an eight-hour siege of the dwelling, 20 canisters of tear gas were fired. Officers said Ready fired shots at them from a rifle and shotgun. There were no injuries.

Woman Plunges off SF Bridge, Lives 7 Hours

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A young woman who leaped off the Golden Gate Bridge lived seven hours before she died at Letterman General Hospital.

She was identified as Virginia A. Hunt, 23 of Palo Alto.

A motorist Saturday night reported a young woman had climbed over the rail at midspan, and a Coast Guard cutter reached her only a few moments after she hit the water, the Highway Patrol reported.

She was the fourth person known to have made the leap and lived, even briefly. There have been 332 recorded suicides off the bridge.

The Guns of Judgment Day

Cliff Farrell's new Western thriller

From the Doubleday & Co. novel; Copyright © 1967, by Cliff Farrell. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

Chapter 17

A horseman came across the irrigation bridge at that moment, his mount at a gallop.

The arrival was the tall, impulsive Alex Emmons. He was in the working garb of a cowhand. His jaw was still swollen from the blow Dan Briscoe had delivered, but he evidently had escaped any lasting damage.

He eyed Dan frowningly. "Who are you?" he demanded, halting his horse so as to block the path of Dan Briscoe's mount.

Dan realized he was still a complete stranger to Alex Emmons. Evidently Kathleen Royal had not told Emmons exactly what had happened to him that night in Flag.

"I'm leaving," Dan said, and tried to move his horse ahead.

DID A FAVOR

"Just a minute!" Emmons snapped. "Katey, who—?

"It's all right, Alex," Kathleen Royal spoke sharply. "Mr. Driscoll went to considerable trouble to do me a favor. He's on his way back to town, if you'll get out of his path."

"Favor? What kind of a favor?"

★ ★ ★

"He returned a piece of jewelry I had lost," she said. "I apologize for Alex, Mr. Driscoll. He's doing what he thinks is best."

LOOKS BACK

"I'm sure he is," Dan said.

"All right," Alex Emmons said angrily, and moved his horse aside. "But, after this, I do my own apologizin', Katey."

Dan looked back as he rode across the irrigation bridge. Emmons had dismounted and evidently was demanding information from Kathleen Royal.

★ ★ ★

It was evident that Emmons was in love with Kathleen Royal and was quick to be jealous.

The sun was blazing hot on Dan's shoulders and he was grateful when his mount carried him into the shade of a stretch of scattered pines.

HORSE APPEARS

His horse suddenly halted, its ears pricked. Off the trail, another horse had appeared in the timber. The animal was caked with lather and dust.

It bore a saddle that had slipped. It moved at a crabwise walk, for it had the weight of a man, dragging from a stirrup.

The man's right foot was caught. He was bloody and moaning. He wore the chaps, leather cuffs and chin strap of a brush rider.

★ ★ ★

His face was discolored and gashed. Not all of that damage had been caused by being dragged.

BADLY BEATEN

Dan realized the man must have been brutally beaten with fists or perhaps boots.

Dan removed the man's hat. He was bald-pated, with a fringe of graying hair. He must be pushing 60, Dan decided. He freed the foot from the stirrup and carried him to the shade of a tree.

The man's eyes opened. He looked up at Dan, terror returning. "You're all right now," Dan said soothingly. "What happened?"

The man could not answer. His horse bore the Spanish Bell brand.

RIDES FOR HELP

"Easy, old-timer," Dan said. "You're from Spanish Bell, I take it. You lie here while I hustle to the ranch and have a wagon sent out for you while someone goes to fetch a doctor. Do you understand?"

The man mumbled incoherently.

Dan rode away. The pound of the horse's hoofs on the bridge brought Kathleen Royal hurrying to the gallery, followed by her father in the wheel chair.

Alex Emmons came from the corral, his saddle over his shoulder. Emmons dropped the saddle and came at a run.

"Man hurt!" Dan explained. "A mile or so down the road. Looks like he was beat up by someone, and then was dragged when he fainted and fell from the saddle. He was riding a Spanish Bell horse. Old-timer. Bald. About 60, I'd say."

Alex Emmons smashed a first savagely into his palm. "That'll be poor old Baldy. The dirty, filthy, yellow cowards. Picking on an old man."

"It's my fault!", Kathleen Royal sobbed. "Who'll be next? I never should have let Baldy go back to riding range again. Is he hurt very bad, Mr. Driscoll?"

★ ★ ★

"No telling," Dan said. "You'll need a wagon to carry him in. Somebody ought to ride for a doctor, if there's one in Flat Butte."

RIDE AHEAD

"Saddle my horse, Alex, Kathleen called. "I'll get the medical kit together."

Blocky-shouldered Mexican Vaquero appeared, and began helping Emmons harness a team to a weathered stake wagon.

Dan rode to the corral. Alex Emmons pointed out a horse to be cut for Kathleen, and told him where to find her saddle.

★ ★ ★

She and Dan rode ahead, with Emmons and the Mexican following in the wagon. They found the beaten man sitting where Dan had left him.

FIGHTS TEARS

Kathleen fought back tears as she knelt beside him. "How did it happen, Baldy?" she choked as she began dabbing away blood and dust from his face.

Baldy had to try a time or two before he could form words. "It was them two roughs thet Livvy Shannon hired. Tom Smith an' Jim Martin.

"Somebody cut thet wire fence along the river, an' some o' our stock crossed over an' got onto the claims o' them squatters. I was roundin' 'em up when them two showed up.

★ ★ ★

"They said I'd cut the fence an' shoved the cattle onto the boomers' land. They dragged me off'n my horse an' mauled me 'til I thought I was done fer.

"I managed to git back in the saddle after they'd gone. That's all I can recollect."

Dan and the vaquero, who said his name was Emilio Sandez, brought more water. Kathleen Royal doctored Baldy's injuries. He had deep cuts on his face and body. His assailants had put the boots to him, and the chances were he had a broken rib or two.

"Alex, head for town and fetch Doc Anderson," Kathleen said. "Baldy, you're going to be all right, but you'll need some expert stitching, and you may have a broken left wrist."

★ ★ ★

"I been sewed together before," Baldy droaked. "An' I lost count o' busted arms an' laigs years ago." His spunk was returning. "I been worked over by bad horses more'n once, but this is the first time I let human devils git away with it."

ANGRY WITH KATE

He eyed Kathleen accusingly. "If'n only I hadn't listened to you an' had packed Old Cedar with me, like I wanted, it'd have been a different story. From now on, I pack a gun when I ride range, an' I ain't lettin' no calico talk me out'n it."

Kathleen shook as she and Emilio helped Blady into the wagon. Alex Emmons mounted his horse and rode away toward Flat Butte.

Emilio handled the wagon and held the team to a walk as he headed for the ranch. Kathleen mounted, rode alongside the wagon and said something to Emilio in Spanish. Whatever it was, Emilio was startled.

★ ★ ★

"Where are you going, querida mia?" he spoke, protesting.

RIDES OFF

"I'll be back soon," she said. "Josefa can take care of Baldy until the doctor comes."

"Please, please, senorita!" Emilio pleaded. "Come home weeth me I do not like the look in your face. You weel get into very, very bad trouble if you—"

Kathleen wheeled her horse, and was riding away.

★ ★ ★

Emilio appealed to Dan. "Stop her, senior! She has gone loco!"

Dan, too, had not liked the expression on Kathleen's face. He had seen that some fixed glare in the eyes of men who were about to start on a rampage.

He swung his horse, and rode in pursuit.

GI in Viet Ships Python to Zoo

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Portland Zoo has a present from the jungles of Vietnam. It's a 16-foot, 100-pound python.

The snake is the gift of Army Lt. William A. Willey, the husband of a Portland woman.

★ ★ ★

Willey captured the python while on patrol in December.

TO U.S. BY JET

The snake was taken to Saigon by helicopter and shipped to Portland by jet airplane. The zoo paid the freight bill.

Willey named the snake Willie. The zoo put him in a cage with Portland's only other python, Bettina. It turned out that Willie is a female. Bettina is a male.

State-Bound Plane Loses Wheel, Lands

CHICAGO (UPI) — A north Central Airlines twin-engined turboprop plane bound for Michigan with 35 passengers aboard landed safely without a nose wheel last night at O'Hare International Airport.

Flight 847, a Convair 440, was bound for Benton Harbor from O'Hare. All 35 passengers and three crew members escaped injury.

Airline officials said the pilot, Capt. Peter Heintz of Orland Park, Ill., had received clearance to land at Ross Field in Benton Harbor when he noticed a malfunction in the landing gear.

The main wheels operated properly, but the nose wheel remained in a sideways position when it was lowered, the officials said.

★ ★ ★

Heintz turned his plane around and headed back to O'Hare because the Chicago airport has better emergency facilities, George Wallace, vice president in charge of flight operations for North Central, said.

★ ★ ★

When the plane touched down at O'Hare, the nose wheel collapsed, Wallace said, and the propellers struck the ground, stopping the plane abruptly. The passengers were evacuated by firemen stationed at O'Hare.

SLAYING VICTIM — Police have arrested a suspect in the daylight rape-slaying of Carol Mavis Heath, 16, of Droxford, England, whose nude body was found with a heavy rope coiled around the neck 90 minutes after a truck driver agreed to take her, unconscious from a traffic accident, to a hospital. Police said she was walking her dog on a quiet lane in the Hampshire County village Saturday when hit by a car. Her body was found stripped and strangled on a lonely lane near her home.

One Prosecutor of Ruby Is Dead

DALLAS (AP) — District Judge A. D. Bowie, one of the chief prosecutors in the Jack Ruby murder trial, is dead.

He was a member of the staff of Dist. Atty. Henry Wade at the time Ruby went on trial for the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, whom the Warren Commission said assassinated President John F. Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

Bowie became a criminal district judge in 1965 after 12 years on Wade's staff.

★ ★ ★

He died of cancer Saturday night at M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston.

Services will be Tuesday in Dallas.

$261,000 Is Slated for Great Lakes Unit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Upper Great Lakes Commission is to get $261,000 as the federal share of operating the regional commission for over-all economic development in the region.

★ ★ ★

The Upper Great Lakes Commission, set up in 1965 and approved last year by Congress, was designed to help spur economic development in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, Minnesota and Wisconsin. The states would have to put up an equal amount.

★ ★ ★

The amount was asked for today by President Johnson in his budget message to Congress.

By The Associated Press

The Kennedy family has pledged $1 million to aid Cardinal Cushing in reducing Boston archdiocesan indebtedness before he retires in 1970.

The cardinal said yesterday that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., made the pledge in behalf of the family. Members of the family have pooled their resources to give him $200,000 a year for five years, the cardinal said.

CUSHING

The cardinal also said the campaign to raise $50 million would be extended to March 24 in order to solicit $14 million to reach the goal.

"In my opinion," he said, "there are still about 175,000 people who have not even been contacted as yet."

The cardinal will be 73 years old Aug. 24.

University Bans Prince's Car

CHARLES

Prince Charles will not be able to drive his new $3,120 sports car in Cambridge, a spokesman for the university said yesterday.

The heir to the British throne, a freshman at Trinity College, is 19. The rules state that students must be at least 22 before being allowed to drive a car within a 25-mile radius of the city.

Charles may apply for special permission. But Alexis Brookes, in charge of regulating motor vehicles at the university, said, "On the face of it, I cannot see a case for him."

Troubled Sailor Heading for New Zealand

Alex Rose, 59, sailing around the world in a 26-foot ketch, radioed yesterday he is heading for a New Zealand port after being battered by gales in the Tasman Sea.

The British grocer, in a message to London's Sunday Mirror, reported: "I'm in trouble. I'm heading for Bluff Harbor at the southern end of New Zealand."

"The stainless steel fitting that goes between the forestays and stop the mast from falling back has broken," he said.

Rose said he was determined that his ketch, the Lively Lady, and he "will come home together via Cape Horn — but we can't delay too long." Rose left Melbourne two weeks ago on the return leg of his voyage from England.

Jordan's King Visits Pakistani President

HUSSEIN

King Hussein of Jordan said today he had "extremely useful talks" on the Middle East crisis with Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan in Rawalpindi.

Hussein talked to newsmen at Chaklala Airport before flying to Lahore, 180 miles east of Rawalpindi.

A formal round of discussion was held Saturday besides other talks between the visiting king and Ayub Khan.

Hussein said he "informed President Ayub on the current situation in my area." Jordan-Pakistan relations were also discussed and these are "extremely good," Hussein added.

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Oswald: "Ely Culbertson once said 'Show me all 52 cards and the Culbertson system will get to the right final contract.' What he meant was that in the framework there are enough spots for choice to enable you to bid perfectly when you see all the cards."

JACOBY

Jim: It is a different proposition at the table. Today's hand is from the 1967 World's championship. Both teams played at four spades. As anyone can see, there are 12 easy tricks for declarer.

"Even a 4-0 trump break wouldn't bother him in the slightest although the combination of a singleton club opposite six clubs to the ace and a club opening would allow the defense to get in a club ruff and beat a slam contract."

Oswald: "The bidding in the box is Jacoby bidding. North's two no-trump which actually is wo no-trump which actually is a strong spade raise and forces to four spades or higher. South's three spade rebid shows a good hand with no singleton. North's raise to four spades is a sign-off and shows no slam interest at all."

★ ★ ★

Jim: "We have inserted a question mark for South's next bid. The reason for this is that North's bid of four spades showed complete lack of interest in a slam, and while we see that the slam is there for the bidding we can't really say that South should see it at the table."

Oswald: "It is a cinch to get to the slam at this point if South takes the bull by the horns and bids it via the Blackwood route. If he just invites it by bidding five in a suit the chances are that North will sign off again at five spades."

Jim: "In any event there are only 29 high card points in the combined hands and no one holds a singleton. We can't find fault with anyone for missing this slam."

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	2 ♥	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ A K 7 6 ♥ 2 ♦ K Q 6 5 4 ♣ 7 5 4
What do you bid?

A—Bid three diamonds. You are going to bid again and want to make sure that your partner will know that you hold more diamonds than spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid three diamonds and your partner jumps to four hearts. What do you do now?

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Tuesday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Friends who report on financial affairs may be victims of self-deception. Realize this and play waiting game. Means don't rush in where wise men fear to tread. Hold tight to cash.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Stress versatile approach. What appears as opposition lacks real substance. Be realistic. Realize those who have real authority are in your corner. Act accordingly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Strengthen communication lines with associates, coworkers. One who performs service for you deserves extra consideration. Give it. Show others you are appreciative.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Day features opportunity for change, travel. Much mental stimulation indicated. Be sure of yourself where romance enters picture. Desire could conflict with reality.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): The more anxious you appear, the less you are likely to achieve. Means relaxed attitude attracts success. Message becomes clear before day is finished. Legal affairs require attention.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Important to be perceptive. Analyze—draw conclusions based on facts. Element of deception exists. Know this and be on guard. Take nothing for granted. Double check.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Good lunar aspect today coincides with creative interests. Be an innovator. Don't be satisfied with status quo. Respect your own abilities—others will follow your example.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You may find yourself in situation which appears to lack solid base. Spread sphere of activity. Battle tendency to be restricted. You have much to offer—others know it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Stress originality of thought, action. Take the lead. Obtain hint from LIBRA message. Accent today on ideas, journeys. Follow through — tie loose ends. Get program under way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Highlight imagination. You gain in material way if alert to opportunity. Accent on income potential. Many may make promises. But few are in position to fulfill them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Cycle high. Chance for advancement is clearly present. Key is to utilize alternative methods. Don't feel tied down to losing proposition. Permit logical actions to dominate.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Excellent for dining out, participate in group activity. Build on solid base by checking routine procedures. Study VIRGO message. Set example of persistence, determination.

★ ★ ★

IF TOMORROW IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have remarkable ability to react during crisis. Your sense of humor attracts friends—you will be making new contacts and could succeed in pioneering project.

'Murph the Surf' Held After Robbery, Gun Battle

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Jack "Murph the Surf" Murphy, the beach boy jewel thief and former stunt man, dived through the glass door of a mansion Sunday into a gunfight with police.

The blond surfing champion, diver, ladies man and amateur violinist, whose suave good looks were his trademark, was no longer handsome when he arrived at police headquarters for a lineup in bare feet, bloody bandages, handcuffs and a backless yellow hospital gown.

Murphy and three other men were charged with the pistol-point robbery of a wealthy widow, her young housemaid and her 8-year-old niece in a millionaire's row mansion.

Murphy, 32, who stole the Star of India and the DeLong ruby; Paul Gagnon, 26; Bobby Greenwood, 32; and Salvatore Grech, 26, were charged with armed robbery and assault with intent to kill. Bond was set on each at $75,000, then boosted to $100,000 and then canceled.

All were arrested after a wild gunfight with more than a dozen officers on quiet Pine Tree Drive, just across Indian Creek Canal from the Fontainebleau Hotel, about noon Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Police Chief Rocky Pomerance said the four came to the home of hotel owner Olive Wofford in a rented panel truck. One, without a mask, said he had a package for Mrs. Wofford. Then the other three crashed in masked with pieces of knitted sweater tied over their faces.

The young woman, Judy Pheil, and Mrs. Wofford's niece, Jill Henderson, were bound with wire. The four charged to the second floor bedroom where Mrs. Wofford was resting, Pomerance said.

"Money and jewelry, where are they?" one barked.

At the point of .45 automatics and under threats to "scald the kid with boiling water," Mrs. Wofford said, she opened her safe and allowed the bandits to rummage through her 19-room home.

But a silent alarm alerted police who rushed to the Wofford mansion.

Pomerance said Murphy fired two shots at the lock of a French door but missed. Then the former stunt man—who once scaled to the fourth floor of the Museum of Natural History in New York to sack the jewel room—crashed through the glass, cutting his cheek and chin.

TRACKING DOGS

Murphy, Gagnon and Greenwood were rounded up quickly. Grech was tracked by a police dog to the gatehouse of another mansion.

A chrome-plated .45 which Pomerance said belonged to Murphy was found on the roof of the house next door. Other weapons, ropes, gloves and masks were fished from the canal by divers.

Murphy was bandaged at a hospital and taken to police headquarters. As he entered in the hospital gown he socked a newsmen.

Then, dressed in jail clothes, Murphy stood in a lineup with five other men whom police had bandaged to match. Murphy's lawyer, Jack Nageley, said the witnesses made no identification.

For his part in engineering the theft of the 563-carat Star of India Oct. 29, 1964, with Allan Kuhn and Roger Clark, Murphy served about two years of a three-year sentence on New York's Rikers Island.

ESCORTED FROM HOSPITAL — Jack "Murph the Surf" Murphy is escorted to the Miami Beach Police Station by detectives yesterday after he was arrested with three other men following a robbery. Murphy cut his face while trying to escape through a glass door.

Crash Kills 2 Men, Michigan Woman

HURLEY, Wis (UPI) — A Michigan woman and two Illinois men were killed late Saturday night in a two-car crash on U.S. 51 about 11 miles south of here in Iron County.

Killed were Mrs. Ruby K. Koch, 51, Ironwood, and Joseph S. Abrahamson, 23, and Michael C. Lebaron, 22, both of Waukegan, Ill.

Mrs. Koch's husband, the Rev. John F. Koch, was hospitalized at St. Mary's Hospital in Duluth, Minn., in critical condition.

Great Train Robber Gets Royal British Welcome

LONDON (UPI) — England has a way with royalty, and everything was just so for yesterday's welcome home for that king of crime, great train robber Charles Wilson.

★ ★ ★

The crowd murmured and swarms of bobbies jiggled their walkie-talkies at Heathrow Airport when the big jet airliner set down after the flight from Canada and out stepped beaming Thomas Butler.

Butler is past Scotland Yard retirement age but had been given another year on the force to get his man, Wilson.

Wilson, convicted and imprisoned for 30 years for the October 1963, $7.3-million robbery of a mail train, broke jail in 1964.

Butler tracked him down to Rigaud, Que., a month ago. For four weeks he watched Wilson, hoping to be led to some of the loot and to Bruce Reynolds, the only other great train robber still loose.

FLIGHT 'A ROMP'

But Butler appeared pleased enought to escort Wilson through what British police described as the kind of security welcome usually given only visiting kings and presidents. Wilson clearly enjoyed it — up to a point.

The flight apparently was quite a romp. Butler had pocketed the handcuffs. Wilson dined — first-class style — on smoked salmon and steak.

Fellow travellers reported he was "calm and collected" from Montreal to London. He joked with Butler. He laughed. The king of crime signed autographs for stewardesses. He chatted with fellow passengers. "Very jovial," said one passenger.

"Just before he left he kissed the stewardess," said another. But at the door Wilson showed that bid of modesty for which some royalty is noted.

COVERS FACE

He covered his face with his coat, being shy of photographers.

Butler escorted Wilson into a car. The king of crime was whisked to a maximum security prison on the Isle of Wight. But there was one of those accidents that sometimes mars the best of pomp and circumstance.

Butler's car sped from the airport and into a five-vehicle traffic accident. Police said they transferred Wilson to another car and whisked him away.

BENEFIT DANCES

Satruday, Feb. 10 – VFW Hall, Holly; Eagles Lodge, Royal Oak

Contributions to the March of Dimes are now dedicated to the fight against birth defects in support of scientific programs that proved their worth by eliminating polio as a public health problem in the U.S. With birth defects striking down more of our children than polio ever did, public support of the March of Dimes is needed now as never before.

Special Thanks to:

Early Trading Active

Stock Market Shows Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was higher early this afternoon but trimmed its best gain made in the morning.

Prices moved ahead briskly at the start as Wall Street showed relief that nothing drastic had developed over the weekend in regard to the Pueblo incident.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, sentiment was buoyed by favorable economic news, including a vigorous steel market, a recovery in machine tool orders, a gain in construction awards and easing conditions in the money market.

Gains held an advantage of nearly 200 issues over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .98 at 866.04.

This cut its best early gain of 4.22.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.6 at 316.8 with industrials up 2.6, rails up .7 and utilities up .5.

United Engineering an Foundry was boosted to the top of the most active list by a single block of 171,000 shares, traded at 30, up ¾. In later dealings it erased the gain and eased into minus territery.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Ecxhange. Magellan Petroleum paced the list on activity, rising a fraction. Signal Oil "A" gained about 2 points, Rusco Industries and Dixilyn a point or so, all in active trading.

News in Brief

Household furnishings, jewelry and two guns — total value of $1,200 — were stolen in a break-in at the home of Alex Walker, 36, of 197 Nebraska, he reported to Pontiac police early this morning.

2 Are Charged in Auto Chase

DETROIT (AP) — Two Detroiters who apparently don't appreciate parking tickets were freed on $5,000 bond each Sunday after allegedly trying to run down a police officer and leading three police departments an the Wayne County Sheriff's Department on a 16-mile chase.

Sheriff's Department Patrolman Russell Gregory suffered a cut hand as he was sideswiped by the outside mirror of the speeding auto, police reported.

The incident started, police said, when a parking violation summons was issued to a car at Detroit's Metro Airport. When the car's driver and four passengers returned, police said, officers approached the auto to order the driver to move it.

Instead, according to police, the driver—identified as Helen Sampson, 22, of Detroit—locked herself in the car and rolled the windows up. The passengers did the same, police said, and one —James Easley, 30, of Detroit—reportedly was overheard to tell the driver to "run the cop down."

Gregory reportedly was injured when he held up his hand in an attempt to get the escaping auto to stop.

Cars from the Airport Division of the Sheriff's Department pursued the auto and three nearby police departments—Allen Park, Melvindale and Taylor were called. A total of five shots were fired as the auto ran two police roadblocks. The fleeing car finally was stopped when a police car pulled in front of it and boxed it in on I-94 near Southfield.

Miss Samson was charged with felonious driving and Easley was charged with felonious assault with an auto and attempting to elude a police officer. The three remaining passengers were freed following questioning.

Deficit Biggest for Peacetime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Any way you figure it, President Johnson has achieved history's biggest peacetime deficit.

His budget message today estimated that red ink will total $19.8 billion in fiscal 1968, the government year now half over.

★ ★ ★

That tops a Republican record. The previous high was the 12.4-billion deficit of President Dwight D. Eisenhower in fiscal 1959.

The Johnson gap is in terms of the new "unified" budget, but it would have been almost as big—$18.6 billion—under the old "administrative" budget which Eisenhower used.

★ ★ ★

The most towering deficit of all came in the war year of 1943—$57.4 billion.

Eisenhower blamed his deficit on a recession. Johnson, if he chose, could blame his on the fact this particular peacetime year isn't very peaceable—defense is costing $75 billion.

Parade Dragon a Fire-Breather

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The St. Paul Winter Carnival parade got some realistic excitement when a parade-float dragon supposedly spewing smoke out its nostrils caught fire.

The blaze started in the hidden fogging machine used to create the smoke effect. It knocked the award-winning float out of the parade Saturday.

A Look at TV

'Flesh-Blood': Misery

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — NBC-TV paid William Hanley $112,500 for his two-hour play, "Flesh and Blood," which arrived during the weekend. It is reported to be the highest amount video has paid a writer for a single work. It comes out to about $1,000 a minute. I hope the sum gives Hanley cause to smile, even for just a moment, in his next play.

I guess the first thing to say about this drama of a contemporary New York family whose members find out how little they really know each other is that it had powerful moments, was acted well and — as previously described — was "bold and daring" by television standards in its frankness.

And I guess the second thing to say about it is that, in two hours, there was not the slightest opportunity to summon a flicker of a smile about the human predicament, the human comedy that even tragedy can bring. It was two hours of sheer, unadulterated misery.

The producer and director was Arthur Penn, and the strong cast was composed of Edmond O'Brien, Kim Stanley, E. G. Marshall, Kim Darby, Suzanne Pleshette and Robert Duvall. The setting was an apartment in a condemned building where a family was gathering for New Year's Eve.

O'Brien is an aging ironworker, uncertain of himself at great heights, tortured because he couldn't save a young colleague who fell to his death. Miss Stanley portrayed O'Brien's stoical wife. Her secret is that after he was believed killed in wartime, she and his brother (Marshall) sought to comfort each other, and the result was a child (Miss Darby), who is shattered when she finds out as a grown girl in the play. The fact is that O'Brien has known all along, and borne the pain.

PLAGUE OF DISASTER

Marshall is a former ironworker, an ex-alcoholic who wanted to be a priest, and who now is dying. Everybody knows it. Miss Pleshette is O'Brien's shallow, sharp-talking daughter whose marriage is breaking up partly because her husband wants to engage in a wife-swapping experiment with another couple.

And Duvall, a son wounded severely in war, is a vegetable in a wheelchair, not hearing, saying or understanding anything.

Hanley showed a moving compassion in his treatment of his characters as their secrets and destroyed memories came out in conversations. The high point was O'Brien's poetic recollection of a daredevil contest he engaged in with the young ironworker on high before the boy plunged to his death.

But how much more genuine the whole play would have seemed if it had only offered more dimensions than its single note of misery and despair.

Trend to 90-Minute Shows

Producer Hits TV 'Long Form'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "The Long Form" is the popular phrase in television programming circles these days, and here's one veteran producer who opposes it—Sheldon Leonard talks for shows that last 90 minutes or longer. Network programming chiefs are thinking more and more in such terms, because of the dominance of feature films in the ratings this season.

THOMAS

★ ★ ★

"It's a natural progression for TV to go in the direction of the Long Form," said one network boss. "The audience is demanding more quality and that usually—though not always—means a longer format: feature movies, and 90-minute or even two-hour dramas that allow room for character and plot development."

The move toward lengthier entertainment has placed in jeopardy one of television's prestige shows, "I Spy." Sheldon Leonard, creator and producer of the Robert Culp, Bill Cosby series, admitted that the show's future hangs in the balance. This season it has been whomped in the ratings by Carol Burnett and "Big Valley."

FEATURE MOVIES

NBC has already announced that the Monday night spot will be occupied next season by feature movies. That will be the third night of feature films for NBC, and thus viewers will be able to see network movies every night of the week.

"If 'I Spy' is renewed, it will mean NBC will have to find another time slot for us," observed Leonard. "That won't be easy, with three nights of movies. And much of the network's talk about new series is in terms of 90 minutes or more. If such shows get into next season's schedule, there won't be much room left for an hour show."

Leonard deplores the trend. He was one of the pioneers of the half-hour situation comedy, partnering with Danny Thomas on the Thomas show, "The Real McCoys," Andy Griffith and Dick Van Dyke.

"I think the networks are making a mistake in going overboard for the Long Form," said the producer. "That's not the real essence of television entertainment. People still want to tune in and see their favorites week after week. It was a comfort to them to know that Dick Van Dyke or Andy Griffith would be in the same spot.

CONFUSED LOYALTY

"Now the audience is confused in its loyalties. The viewers are asked to root for Kirk Douglas one week and Elvis Presley the next. There is no continuity to movies."

Even if 90-minute or two-hour shows took the form of series with continuing characters, the sense of loyalty would not be maintained. Production exigencies require multiple leads in such shows. No single star can carry such a lead.

Leonard, who once played gangster types in movies, is an adaptable chap, having switched from comedies to adventure with "I Spy." Why then doesn't he join the trend to the Long Form?

"I probably will—but not for television," he said. "Why knock yourself out making the equivalent of a feature film for television when you can get more satisfaction—and greater returns—from making theatrical films? That's the route I intend to take."

Hydrant Vandals Leave Town Dry

HALTOM CITY, Tex. (AP) — This Fort Worth suburb was left high and dry for a time Sunday when vandals turned on 14 fire hydrants and drained all the city's water tanks.

When the situation was discovered at daylight, water department crews pumped additional water into the pressure tanks and returned the water supply to normal.

Gathering of 'the Insulted' Insults the 'Great Insulter'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Great Insulter Don Rickles got insulted right back by the people he'd insulted, during a Friars' stag luncheon the other day. Then he turned back on the mouths that had bitten him and bit them back again.

Bald Jack E. Leonard, the m.c. who also insults for a living, looked at the hairless guest of "honor" and said:

"Not only has he been doing my act for 12 years but he also stole my head."

WILSON

Jack E. hoped that Rickles' appearances on the Johnny Carson show "will be a stepping stone for you — like it was for Skitch Henderson" and claimed that Rickles' manager "taught bookkeeping to ex-Commissioner Marcus."

"I've seen Don entertain 50 times and I've always enjoyed his joke," Johnny Carson said, emphasizing the singular.

Jackie Vernon recited how kindly Rickles had been to him when he attended his performance in Las Vegas.

"He said 'We have a baby hippo here, let's give the little slob a hand.' "

And he added, "I never thought I'd see the day the Friars would honor a lounge act."

★ ★ ★

It was the biggest turn-out for a Friars stag in memory and most of the material was too sophisticated for publication. Ed Sullivan, Norm Crosby, William B. Williams, Flip Wilson, Bernie Allen, Pat Paulsen and Buddy Howe had their say.

The climax came when they presented Rickles with a portable TV set.

"I want to thank you for my 10th portable TV set," Rickles said. "These things don't work and they blow up. This is definitely a cheap gift."

State Schools Facing Increasingly Serious Financial Difficulties

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's schools, caught between sky-rocketing costs and vanishing local and state tax resources, face a cash shortage that threatens the quality of education for two million children.

Clifford Cook, assistant director of the Michigan Association of School Boards, estimates two-thirds of the state's 738 school districts "are in serious financial difficulty at the moment."

The State Department of Education has identified 62 districts that already are running in the red, a practice that is technically illegal. The number of school systems that finish the year with deficits is expected to exceed 100 for the first time.

The department says Bedford, Ravenna, Hart, Memphis, Carsonville, Taylor and Inkster are in "serious trouble."

★ ★ ★

Michigan's nonpublic schools — 84 per cent of them are Catholic, 7 per cent Calvinist and 7 per cent Lutheran — are experiencing parallel money problems that directly contribute to the problems of the public schools.

EXTRA BURDEN

Some 27,000 students were pulled out of parochial schools and placed in public schools during the last four years. This extra burden, previously shouldered by the parents and the churches, is costing taxpayers $18 million this year.

While non-public school enrollment has dropped nearly 10 per cent since 1964, the cost of running nonpublic schools for 330,000 children has soared 147 per cent.

Non-public school officials warn that without state help more students will transfer and some of their schools may close. They reminded state officials that they save the taxpayers more than $200 million a year by running their schools.

★ ★ ★

By no means are all public school districts on the verge of bankruptcy. But the gap between the rich and poor districts is widening and the poor are multiplying.

FEEBLE ATTEMPTS

Money for schools is raised through a complicated system of local property taxation based on property valuation and state aid granted on a formula that feebly attempts to equalize the differences between the rich and poor.

For example, a school district with state equalized valuation (SEV) of $5,000 can raise $100 for each child by a 20-mill tax. Because of he low SEV, the state contributes $349.12 per child to give the district $449.12 to finance the educaton of each child.

On the other hand, a district with a SEV of $30,000 can raise $600 per child by taxing 20 mills. Because of the high SEV, the state contributes only $126.12 for each child, but the combined total gives the district 726.12 for each student.

★ ★ ★

If educators wanted to dramatize the disparity between the rich and poor districts by focusing on one they could not have done better than by threatening to close Inkster's schools.

IMPOVERISHED AREA

Carved out of an impoverished area with a large Negro populaton, the Inkster district is surrounded by wealthy districts with large white populations.

Despite what one school official called a "fantastic effort down there," Inktser is running deep in the red and officials say they will meet their last payrool Friday. This year, Inkster property owners are paying 32.9 mills against an SEV of $5,252, the lowest in Wayne County.

Right next door is the nearly all-white district of Dearborn with an SEV of 32,365 and not far away is River Rouge with a SEV of $51,518. River Rouge's millage is 14.9 and Dearborn's is 19.7.

★ ★ ★

As Dr. Edward F. Fort, superintendent of Inkster, notes, it does not take a "mathematical genius" to discern that while Inkster citizens are paying out a greater portion of their wealth for schools than their more affluent neighbors, they are able to raise far less.

TEACHER MARKET

Inkster and other "poor" districts compete within the same market for teachers as do their wealthier neighbors and are exposed to the same pressures for higher salaries. School boards sometimes are faced with the choice of signing wage contracts they can't afford or lose teachers and cut programs.

★ ★ ★

Politicians and school boards sometimes blame the new law that gives teachers collective baragining rights for the financial crisis. But George Brown, public relatons director for the Michigan Educaton Associaton, says collective bargaining has rather "exposed years of underfinancing of schools."

Possible Strike 'Fails to Panic Steel Buyers'

CLEVELAND (UPI) —The possibility of a steelworkers' strike later in the year is not catapulting steel users into panic buying, according to Steel Magazine.

The order trend is upward but shows restraint and caution. The metalworking weekly said many steel users feel one month's inventory is sufficient as a strike hedge.

Contributing to their belief is the fact that steel supplies have never been larger.

With U.S. mills possessing a bigger capacity to produce the leading finished products and the entrenchment of imported steels on the market, buyers reason there will be time to place orders if a strike appears likely.

★ ★ ★

Steel pointed out that even if there were a strike, the flow of steel from U.S. mills would not cease. Some of the smaller mills are not tied to steelworkers' contracts that would continue until after a new contract has been signed by the larger producers.

LBJ Budgets Surtax as 'War Levy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked for "sacrifice and hard choices" today in a budget message calling for record outlays of $186.1 billion and a $10.2 billion income tax surcharge —in effect, he said, a war levy.

"It is not the rise in regular budget outlays which requires a tax increase, but the war in Vietnam," Johnson told the Congress.

The presidential message gave priority to government attacks on poverty, crime and pollution on the home front, and to a $76.7 billion outlay for the Defense Department—almost one-third of it to be spent on Vietnam.

But he pounded again and again, in a 556-page message drafted in a new-style "unified format, on the need for a 10 per cent tax boost starting April 1 for individuals and retroactive to Jan. 1 for corporations.

★ ★ ★

With the tax hike, he warned, the federal deficit "would be near $20 billion for the second year in a row." With it, the fiscal 1969 deficit will be $8 billion, he said.

TOP 'PEACETIME' DEFICIT

The message disclosed that fiscal 1968, the government year now half over, will show the biggest "peacetime" deficit in history, $19.8 billion.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said it appears "we're going to have to do some pretty extensive cutting." Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, a GOP member of the House Appropriations Committee said the budget continues a deficit spending trend "both clear and shocking."

Related Stories, Pages A-3, D-8, D-9

Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the Appropriations Committee called both budget cuts and the tax boost inevitable.

The budget makes no provision for a jump in military spending arising from North Korea's seizure of the Navy ship Pueblo and the resulting call-up of 14,800 reservists, Budget Director Charles L. Schultze said.

The new-look budget shows outlays about $47 billion higher than they would have looked under the old-fashioned "administrative budget" because it adds to regular federal spending the outlays for highways, Social Security and medicare. Payments into those funds are for the first time treated just like regular tax collections.

War—Vietnam costs add up to $25.8 billion in the new budget, up $1.3 billion.

Excises—The 10 per cent telephone tax and 7 per cent auto excise should be extended beyond April 1, instead of dropping then to 1 per cent and 2 per cent respectively.

★ ★ ★

Construction cutbacks will reduce 1969 federal building programs about $1.6 billion below appropriated levels of 1968.

Federal debt—the national debt is to total $387.2 billion on June 30, 1968.

Credit — Federal National Mortgage Association purchases—which funnel money into hands of mortgage lenders — would be cut from this year's $2.3 billion to less that $1 billion in fiscal 1969.

Michigan's Junior Miss Of 1968, Pamela Smith Of Northville

Northville Girl Wins Title of Junior Miss

By LOIS FRIEDLAND

Pretty blonde Pamela Smith of Northville last night earned the title of Michigan's Junior Miss of 1968.

A Fenton girl, Kathy O'Connell, was second runner-up in the annual state pagenat sponsored by the Pontiac Jaycees.

Pontiac's Junior Miss, Beth Vershure, won third place in the Scott Junior Miss Hostess aawrds. Clarkston's Junior Miss, Nancy Weiss, won second place in the Scott awards.

Other finalists include first runner-up Linda Baillif of Twin Cities, (Benton Harbor-St. Joseph) third runner-up Kathleen Bader of Midland and fourth runner-up Carol Hildebrand of Lansing.

Pamela 17, is a student at Northville High School. She is a member of the National Honor Society, the choir, Thespians, and the debating team. She is an accomplished piano player and ballet dancer and has been studying drama at the Will-O-Way Apprentice Theatre in Bloomfield Township.

SONG-AND-DANCE

Her talent performance was a son-and-dance routine around "One of Those Songs."

Kathy O'Connell, 17, does convalescent and hospital work, sews and sings and is president o fthe Future Nurses Club at Fenton High School where she is also a member of the National Honor Society..

She gave an original declamation, Time Will Tell, in which she spoke of racial discrimination and the Negro's place as an American.

★ ★ ★

The 47 contestants were judged after three days of rehearsals, preliminary talent performances and judges' interviews. Judging is based scholastic achievement, poise and personality, youth fitness and talent performance.

The new Junior Miss received $1,100 in scholarships $525 in saving bonds, several merchandise awards and a trip to compete for the title of America's Junior Miss in Mobile, Ala., in March.

Special individual awards were also given last night.

The scholastic achievement award went to Sheryl Silver, Detroit's Junior Miss, from Cass Technical High School. The performing arts award went to Linda Baillif and the creative arts award was given to Jean Cato, Grand Lege's Junior Miss.

The Scott Junior Miss Hostess top award went to Micki Janssen of Zeeland.

The Breck award was won by Barbara Budjac of Southgate. Tee award is based on the girl's hair style and how whe named it. Barbara's was named the Michigan Mover.

The six judges were fromthe fields of education, business, and the arts, including America's Junior Miss of 1965, Patrice Gaunder of Stevensville.

Kathy Fliss, Michigan's Junior Miss of 1967, handed the new Junior Miss her crown after a farewell speech in which she thanked everyone for the past year. She was a semifinalist in last year's national competition.

The program was given before an overflow crowd in Pontiac Northern High School auditorium. About 100 people had to be turned away at the door because of lack of room.

Blockade of N. Korea Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Democratic senators say such military action as a blockade of North Korea or sinking its gunboats are possible if she refuses to return the USS Pueblo and its crew of 83.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen also said yesterday that if diplomatic means fail, "We are going to have to put our foot down."

But Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield continued to urge caution, saying avoidance of another Asian war must be a paramount goal.

The congressional reaction to the Pueblo crisis came as the Pentagon announced that U.S. air power in the Far East is being beefed up as a precautionary move. Details were kept secret.

★ ★ ★

Other Washington developments in the aftermath of the Pueblo's seizure:

● The Navy froze most requests for discharge by members of Naval Reserve units. There are more than 133,000 Naval Reservists in drill-pay status.

★ ★ ★

● Sources said that while the U.N. Security Council continued, this country was asking several countries for backstage help in resolving the crisis.

BLOCKADE MENTIONED

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate preparedness subcommittee mentioned a possible blockade if the North Koreans don't return the ship and crew.

Stennis did not advocate any specific military action, mentioning the blockage-possibility during an interview. But he said he wouldn't "rule out anything," including the use of nuclear weapons.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., suggested the United States might start sinking North Korean gunboats or holding that country's merchant ships hostage if peaceful means fail.

But Mansfield, who has maintained any "rash act" must be averted, said: "If it would bring about the release of the ship and the crew, I would admit that it was taken in territorial waters, even though that is not the ruth.

"I am satisfied that the Pueblo was in international waters where it had a right to be," he continued. "But if we could avoid a new war by a concession of this kind on the record, I would do it."

Dirksen said he supports President Johnson's diplomatic efforts to get the ship and crew back, adding he had talked over the matter with the Chief Executive.

But, Dirksen added, "There is a great deal more here than just this ship and its crewmen. National morale and prestige is involved.

WHAT OF FUTURE?

"If we let these fourth, fifth and sixth rate Communist countries kick us around, what can we expect in the future?

"We must make it plain, and not in weaselly words, that there will be no answer except the return of the ship and its crewmen because they were clearly in international waters when they were seized," Dirksen added.

Gunman Gives Up; Hostages Are Safe

A mental patient held a woman and her children hostage at gunpoint for nearly an hour last night in Waterford Township before surrendering to police.

Frederick Ody, 32, of 66 S. Midland, Pontiac, volunteered to return to Pontiac State Hospital where he was discharged in November. He had been there on three occasions for a total of about 11 weeks.

Mrs. Charles Pouch of 1043 Myrtle and her children were not harmed at 1012 La Salle where they were held, according to police.

Waterford police were alerted that Ody was walking around Downing Court with a derringer pistol. Then, Charles Pouch notified police his wife and children were being held at 9:10 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Ody had been helping the Pouches move into the house. The gun, a derringer, was reported stolen from a truck.

NO ANSWER TO POLICE

Pouch told police he knew his wife and children were in the house with Ody. When he called, no one answered the telephone. When police went to the door, house lights went out.

Three small children looked out of a second floor window, according to Sgt. Richard Finkbeiner, but could not indicate to police whether their mother was unhurt.

Police used a loudspeaker system to coax Ody out of the house. He finally gave up himself. Police could not say how long he held the woman and children hostage.

Mrs. Pouch said he pointed the gun at her, threatened to rape her and kill the children and shoot himself.

Ody has suicidal tendencies and once poured gasoline on himself and ignited it, Pontiac State Hospital authorities said.

He was released from the mental hospital Nov. 15 after a short stay.

Fog, Showers Haze Travelers

Fog crept across the Midwest, settling early Saturday evening on the Oakland County area in drifts of light haze. By yesterday morning, airports were socked in and traffic slowed to a snail's pace, forcing travelers to make their way carefully over area roads.

★ ★ ★

The moist blanket lifted to a haze by yesterday afternoon, easing traffic conditions somewhat, only to return by nightfall.

This morning, dense fog and showers continued to complicate transportation, causing commuters to leave early and bused schoolchildren to arrive late.

Rain and continued mild temperatures will keep visibility befogged until southeast to south winds at 8 to 16 miles swing to the northwest at 15 to 25 miles by tonight.

A drop in temperature, as the winds pick up speed, will change the drizzle to light snow or snow flurries.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are today, 100; tonight, 50 and tomorrow, 30.

Low mercury reading indowntown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 36. By 1 p.m., the termometer had warmed to 43.

Romeo District Voting on Millage

Romeo voters will go to the polls today in the area's first school operating millage election.

Up for approval is a proposal requesting eight mills—five new and three renewable—for five years.

Increased operating costs and a sharp upswing in salaries brought about by collective bargaining between boards of education and employes have led many districts to call for millage this spring.

Residents of Precinct 1 (Bruce Township) will vote at the vocational building o Romeo Junior High School, on Chandler Street Precinct 2 (Washington Township) residents will vote at Washington Elementary School, 58230 Van Dyke.

GOP in County to Hear Griffin

U.S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Michigan, will be the principal speaker at the 79th annual Lincoln Day Banquet Feb. 14 at the Raleigh House restaurant in Southfield.

The event is sponsored by the Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club.

Club President Anton J. Guyer said that other guest speakers will include the county's two congressmen, Republicans William Broomfield of the 18th District and Jack McDonald of the 19th District.

A highlight of the 6:30 p.m. program will be the presentation of awards to three high school students for the best essays on Lincoln.

★ ★ ★

The contest is open to all county high school students. The theme of the essay is "How Would Abraham Lincoln Have Reacted to Any Civil Disobedience?"

500 WORD MAXIMUM

Entries must be not more than 500 words. They are to be submitted to essay chairman Barry M. Grant, 509 Northland Towers West, Southfield, by Jan 31.

Ticket chairman Russell Thompson of Ferndale said that some 900 persons are expected to attend the banquet. The restaurant is at 25300 Telegraph, north of 10 Mile Road.

★ ★ ★

Tickets can be obtained from the Oakland County Republican Headquarters, 245 S. Woodward, Birmingham, or by contacting Mrs. Paul Gorman, 144 N. Genesee, Pontiac; William Addis, 406 E. Maple, Holly; Elmer Johnson, 3220 Seebaldt, Waterford Township; Robert Shipper, 5101 Rochester, Rochester; or Mrs. Robert Eoff, 5860 E. Millerway, Birmingham.

Tet Truce Canceled in Five Provinces

SAIGON (AP(— Allied forces began observing a 36-hour cease-fire across much of South Vietnam tonight in honor of the Lunar New Year, but the truce was canceled at the last minute in the country's five northernmost provinces.

In justification of the truce modification, South Vietnamese and U.S. officials cited a menacing North Vietnamese buildup in the area. They reported four or five divisions along the demilitarized zone and just over the rontier in Laos, including a new division, the 320th.

U.S. sources said four Red divisions have been positively identified, and possibly there is a fifth in the area. This would be about 40,000 to 50,000 Communist troops, not counting support units.

As gunfire gave way to the crackle of fireworks in many of South Vietnam's cities and hamlets, the South Vietnamese government at the urging of the United States announced that the cease-fire which began at 6 p.m. —5 a.m. EST—would not apply to the 1st Corps area because of the massive Communist buildup in the area.

The announcement added that U.S. planes would continue to bomb North Vietnam south of Vinh, the port city 125 miles north of the demilitarized zone, while suspending their attacks on targets north of there. It is through the southern area that supplies and reinforcemsn move south to feed the Red buildup around the DMZ.

U.S. officers expect the North Vietnamese to launch their biggest offensive of the war in the northern part of the country, probably in the northwest corner around the U.S. Marine base at Khe Sanh, after Tet, the Vietnamese festival in honor of the Lunar New Year Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

"The threat is serious up there," said a senior U.S. military spokesman. "Why should we give the enemy 36 hours to get in to poistion when they've got three to four divisions there ready to whack us."

An allied announcement said in the past few days there have been "increasing evidence and visible Smilitary actions which establish conclusively that North Vietnamese forces are engaged in a major offensive against the northern areas of South Vietnam."

N. VIET BUILDUP

The statement cited an "extensive buildup" of North Vienamese forces around Khe Sanh, "including large numbers of troops in neighboring areas of Laos," and "supply activity on a large scale in the southern areas of North Vietnam obviously designed to support this offensive."

The Vietcong proclaimed a seven-day cease-fire beginning last Saturday in honor of Tet, the most important of all Vietnamese holidays. The Saigon government and its allies refused to go along with this extended truce, and hours after the Red truce period started, U.S. Marines on Saturday battled a North Vietnamese force 15 miles east of Khe Sanh. The Marines reported 151 North Vietnamese and 19 Marines killed and 90 Leathernecks wounded.

Sub Hunt Intensifies as Signals Picked Up

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The sea and air search for the missing Israeli submarine Dakar was increased today after an Israeli ship interecepted signals that could have come from one of the sub's radio indicator buoys.

At the other end of the Mediterranean, more than 600 miles away, another rescue task force made underwater soundings as it groped for the French submarine Minerve, which disappeared early Saturday. A total of 121 men are aboard the missing vessels.

About 30 ships and aircraft scoured an area between Cyprus and Haifa trying to locate the Dakar's indicator buoys, which should have risen to the surface automatically if the submarine was in distress. They quickly pressed their search after the Israeli ship Yaffa said it had monitored signals on the same frequency as buoys.

The submarine, carrying a 69-man crew, vanished Thursday about 120 miles off Cyprus and Israeli officials had said earlier there seemed little hope for her safe return.

SOUNDS PICKED UP

The search for the Minerve was concentrated off Toulon, headquarters of the French Mediterranean fleet Electronic gear picked up a series of underwater sounds, but officials would not confirm that contact had been made.

The submarine Ariane and the light destroyer Kersaint both reported to the aircraft carrier Clemenceau that they were checking sounds registering on their sonar equipment.

Although officers said the Minerve had enough oxygen reserves for her 52-man crew to stay submerged "for several days," high navy sources said they viewed the situation with "great anxiety."

Their concern was heightened as the search task force failed to find a buoy the submarine should have sent to the surface in case of emergency. The Minerve was thought to be missing in water nearly 6,000 feet deep.

The French submarine is 190 feet long, weighs 800 tons and has a top speed of 18 knots.

Boats and aircraft from the Israeli, Turkish, Greek, U.S. and British navys hunted for the Dakar, Hebrew swordfish, but the search was hampered Sunday by high seas and strong winds.

Fire Damages City Building

A one-story block building housing two businesses at 695 Auburn near East Boulevard was extensively damaged by fire late last night. No one was hurt.

The cause of the fire has not been determined, according to Pontiac Fire Marshal Charles Metz. His investigation was continuing today.

Fire Chief Charles Marion said the blaze is believed to have started in the portion of the building used for a car wash. It then spread to an adjoining section used for the rebuilding of car engines, and then to an unoccupied store.

Metz said the owner of the building, William DiNardi of Madison Heights, said the vacant portion was to have been converted into a pizzeria.

An inventory of the damage will be needed before a estimate on the fire loss can be made, according to Metz.

BLAZE FOUGHT

Firemen had the blaze under control by 12:20 a.m. today, an hour and a half after responding to the alarm.

UAW Strikers Returning to Two of GM Foundries

DETROIT (AP)—The first of 117,900 United Auto Workers began returning to their jobs today at General Motors, following the settlement Sunday of two of the firm's three crippling foundry strikes.

Company spokesmen, however, declined to predict when all workers, including 106,700 idled by parts shortages resulting from the walkouts, could resume normal work schedules.

In Detroit, meanwhile, negotiations continued unitl 1?30 this morning in efforts to reach settlemenet on the third strike at the firm's Chevrolet foundry at Tonawanda, N. Y.

Local agreements to supplement the union's national contract with the giant automaker were overwhelmingly ratified by workers at GM's key Central Division foundry in Defiance, Ohio, and Chevrolet Grey Iron foundry in Saginaw, Mich.

The UAW said 90 per cent of the production workers and 78 per cent of the skilled workers approved the contract at Defiance, where some 2,000 had been on strike for 12 days.

★ ★ ★

The vote at Saginaw, where 6,900 workers walked out 11 days ago, was 95 per cent of the production workers and 88 per cent of the skilled tradesmen, the union said.

Under the Defiance pact, w ers will get three minutes of paid washup time before lunch periods, three minutes less than they had been demanding.

KO DES OF THE Saginaw settlement were immediately available, but it was believed to contain similar language. Washup time was the key issue at all three foundries.

Negotiators were to resume talks at 1 p.m. this afternoon in the Tonawanda strike, which began 10 days ago and has idled 2,300 workers since Jan. 19.

The settlements at the Saginaw and Defiance foundries, which produce cast metal parts, primarily engine castings, affected production for all lines of the company's cars, a spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Workers there will gradually begin returning to work today and Tuesday, and other workers laid off as a result of theuparts shortage "will be called back as fast as we can get to refill the parts pipeline," a spokesman said.

He declined to say how long this might be, and added more GM assembly plant workers might be laid off as further parts shortages temporarily occur.

In addition, similar local contracts remain unsettled at foundries in Massena, N.Y., and Pontiac, Mich. GM said the union was demanding 20 minutes washup time at Massena and 30 minutes at Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Three other Central Division foundries, GM said, earlier settled local contracts without the six-minute washup time demanded by the struck foundries.

Elsewhere on the auto labor scene, a strike by 10,000 UAW members continues against Chrysler Canada Ltd. over terms of a new national contract expected to set the pattern for contracts also with GM and Ford of Canada.

Some 4,000 Chrysler workers, additionally, are striking at St. Louis, Mo., over local issues. The company said lack of parts from the St. Louis plant has caused the layoff of 600 workers at a key stamping plant at Twinsburg, Ohio.

GM Foundry Strikes End; 6,000 Due Back in City

Some 6,000 workers were idled at General Motors plants in Pontiac this morning, but GM spokesman said they would start calling them all back soon.

Settlements were announced at two of the large GM foundries — Saginaw and Defiance, Ohio — where walkouts had been tying up the supply of parts.

At Pontiac Motor Division, about 5,000 workers were off the job today with the engine plant, foundry and sheet metal plant shut down, according to a company spokesman. However, the final assembly line was still in operation and cars were being turned out, he said.

"All employes of department 975 in the engine plant of Pontiac Motor Division should report to work tomorrow at regular starting time," the company announced this morning. All other employes will be notified of recall times tomorrow, it was announced.

★ ★ ★

The men will be called back "as soon as possible," and most are expected to be on the job by the end of the week, a pokesman said.

★ ★ ★

At General Motors Truck and Coach Division, some 1,000 were idled. A company spokesman said he did not think the number would rise and that call-backs would start soon.

COMPENSATION PAY

The company has maintained the layoffs were the result of a "labor dispute," which would have meant the men may not have been eligible for compensation pay. Officials at both unions said Saturday they would contest this and attempt to get their men compensation pay, going to court if necessary.

The UAW planned to send help to the area from the international union if the situation continued.

However, with settlement at the foundries, it appears doubtful many men would be off an entire week — necessary before payments could begin.

★ ★ ★

Local and national contract agreements have been settled at all Pontiac GM plants except at Pontiac Motor Div. Negotiations continued over the weekend.

Yanks Drive Back Infiltrators in Korea

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — U.S. troops drove back North Korean infiltrators along the Korean armistice line again early today as the diplomatic drive to avert war over North Korea's seizure of the U.S. spy ship Pueblo focused on the United Nations.

Shooting occurred along the dmilitarized zone for the eighth straight day. And with the North Koreans giving no ground in the crisis over the Pueblo, the Pentaogn said it was strengthening U.S. air power in the Far East with an unspecified number of planes.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman in Washington brushed aside questions on the type of aircraft and units involved, saying only that their deployment was one of a series of "precautionary measures" taken since North Korea captured the Pueblo and her 83-man crew last Monday.

Copper Strike Impact Grows

NEW YORK (AP) — Western miners and their families are eking out a harsh existence on union benefits, food stamps and credit as efforts to settle the six-month-old copper industry strike are being intensified.

The strike, called last July 15 by the United Steelworkers of America and 25 other unions, has idled nearly 60,000 workers and cut off more than 90 per cent of the nation's copper production and 35 per cent of the lead and zinc output.

★ ★ ★

The impact has been heavy, too, on businesses and governments of the big copper producing states—Arizona, Utah, New Mexico, Montana and Nevada.

"Food stamps have saved the day," said Mayor Tom Powers of Butte, Mont. "If it wasn't for the stamps, I'd have been dead along with a lot of other small grocers."

FELT IN EAST

The impact has been hardest in small towns of the West, where copper is their only industry. But it has been felt in some Eastern areas, where copper fabricating is concentrated.

"You know a man is hurting when he comes in and spends his collection of silver dollars on food," said a supermarket manager in Perth Amboy, N.J.? where 3,700 refinery workers are on strike.

★ ★ ★

In nearby Carteret, N.J., small grocery stores reported a 50 per cent drop in sales.

But despite the hardships, many strikers say, "We're doing all right."

Most of the strikers have used up their savings by now. They are getting up to $30 a week in union benefits and are receiving foods stamps from the government.

RENTS DEFERRED

Phelps Dodge Corp., Arizona's biggest copper producer, has deferred collection of rents on company-owned houses and company stores have extended up to $35 a week in credit.

The strike has shut down mines producing copper, silver, molybdenum, zinc and lead and smelters, refineries and fabricating plants in 23 states.

The economies of the five Western mining states have been damaged and tax collections have fallen.

The Arizona Tax Commission estimates the state is losing $500,000 a month in taxes on the sale of copper and another $500,000 in general sales taxes. It predicts the state income tax loss for 1967 will be $5.5 million.

STRIKE ISSUES

The issues in the strike are wages and fringe benefits and union demands for company-wide bargaining.

In its latest offer, Phelps Dodge proposed to increase the current pay scale to a range of $2.89 to $4.09 an hour over three years, a boost of 27 cents for the lowest job classification and 35 cents for the highest. The offer is being considered during recessed negotiations.

City Slated to Consider Vacating of Abbey Road

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission is slated to consider the proposed vacating of Abbey Road at its rebular meeting tonight at 8.

The requested vacating, involving the portion of Abbey south of Wimbleton, was referred to the administration for study in February 1966.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning has recommended that the proposal be denied on the grounds that access to Poppleton Park, a 17-acre parcel of city property south of Wimbleton and east of Hunter, would be constricted.

"There are no firm plans for expansion of recreational facilities in the park, but the potential is very great," Kenning said.

★ ★ ★

Possible access, the city manager added, could be established from Hunter, Oxford Road (west of the park) and Abbey. Of these, he said, Abbey offers the best possibilities.

GOLF COURSE REPORT

Also on tonight's agenda is a report from Parks and Recreation Supt. Darrel C. Middlewood on projected golf course fees and expenditures for 1968.

Middlewood's report requested by the commission Jan. 15, considers projected use, expense and revenue from several different plans of operation.

The commission will also receive a report from the traffic engineering consulting firm of Reid and Cool on proposed traffic changes in the central business district.

★ ★ ★

The changes, suggested by the city's urban design consultants, Johnson, Johnson and Roy, Inc., would convert several streets in the downtown area to one-way.

OTHER CHANGES

Tonight's report will deal with other changes which would be made necessary, involving right-of-ways, intersection widening and other problems.

25 Are Injured in Train Wreck

Twelve Cars Derailed in Kentucky Mishap

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Twelve cars of a northbound Louisville & Nashville Railroad passenger train were derailed early today about two miles south of Hopkinsville. At least 25 persons among the 150 aboard were injured.

Twelve of the injured were admitted to Jennie Stuart Hospital in Hopkinsville. State Police said three suffered apparent serious injuries and one patient was expected to be transferred to a Nashville hospital. A dozen or more were treated and released. Four hours after the wreck, others were coming to the hospital for examination.

The train was "The Georgian," northbound from Atlanta to Chicago with some of its coaches due to be switched for St. Louis.

"We were just about ready to slow down for a stop at Hopkinsville. I felt my car shaking," said baggagemaster Paul Luster of Evansville.

'A MIRACLE'

All of a sudden it threw me forward and then back again. Baggage people flew through the air. It was a miracle nobody was killed."

State Police said two coaches, a diner, and baggage and a mail car were damaged extensively. Only the engine and three cars remained on the rails.

Police said the derailment occurred on a stretch of straight track about 2:30 a.m. EST. Light rain fell in the area earlier. Hopkinsville is in Southcentral Kentucky, about 150 miles southwest of Louisville and 75 miles northwest of Nashville.

The uninjured were taken by school bus to Hopkinsville to await transportation on commercial vehicles sent from Louisville.

Manhunt On for Suspect in 2 Slayings

MILAN (AP)—Armed with a kidnapping warrant, federal agents pushed a search today for a Columbus, Ohio, man also wanted for questioning in the shooting death of a Michigan man.

Sought is Troy D. Martin, 40, believed to be somewhere in southern Ohio. He was described as "a drifter" by authorities.

The manhunt began late Saturday after the body of Edward J. Spivey, 58, of nearby Tecumseh was found under an abandoned pickup truck at the farm home of Thomas E. Cyr, 23, of rural Milan, a southeastern Lower Michigan community.

Cyr told authorities a man carrying a gun pulled the pickup truck into his farm yard Saturday night, where Cyr was working in the barn. The man pulled a gun, Cyrs aid, and ordered him to drive to Toledo.

Cyr said the man sat in the passenger seat of the car all the way to Toledo, cocking and uncocking a revolver.

Cyr described the gunman as calm and methodical. He said he became lost in Toledo and the man got out of the car, called a cab and left.

Before departing, the gunman shook Cyr's hand and "wished me luck," Cyr told police.

Toledo police traced the gunman to a bus station where he purchased a ticket for Dayton, Ohio, 100 miles to the south.

Authorities said Martin was last seen with Spivey drinking in a Tecumseh tavern.

Spivey died of a gunshot wound inflicted by a .22-caliber bullet, said Dr. James McLaughlin of Wyandotte, who performed the autopsy. Spivey lived in a trailer court in Tecumseh, police said.

Spivey's body was found by Cyr's wife, Kathleen, after Cyr telephoned her from Toledo police headquarters.

Cuban Reds to Try 9 for 'Intrigues'

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban Communist party, in a new show of divergence from Moscow, is putting on trial nine Old Bolsheviks who opposed Prime Minister Fidel Castro's policy of exporting guerrilla revolutions to the rest of Latin America.

The purge, announced Sunday after a three-day meeting of the party's central committee, also caught two members of the committee but there was no indication they would be put on trial. They were Jose Matar, former chief of the two-million-member network of informers and local vigilantes known as the Committee for the Defense of the Revolution, and Ramon Calcines, head of the fruit industry.

★ ★ ★

The nine men who will be tried by a revolutionary tribunal were headed by Anibal Escalante, one of the party's three top leaders before Castro took it over. Escalante lost out in a power struggle six years ago.

Informed sources said Escalante was certain to be accused of treason when he was put on trial.

CHARGES LISTED

A communique charged Escalante's group with "intrigues," distributing propaganda against the party, giving false information to foreign officials to damage Cuban foreign relations and possessing secret documents of the committee of Basic Industries.

The group's position aided the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, the committee said, and "pseudo-revolutionaries of Latin America"—the regime's phrase for Communists who have turned their backs on Castro's policy of open insurrection.

★ ★ ★

Escalante, who traveled to Russia and Poland after falling out with Castro in 1962, was reported arrested several months ago for plotting against the government. Castro himself outlined Escalante's "activities against the party and the revolution" to the central committee, its announcement said.

Congressmen Chorusing Demands for Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, skeptical about increasing spending while the Vietnam war goes on, greeted President Johnson's $186.1 billion budget today with a bipartisan chorus of demands for cutbacks at home.

The President's acknowledgment that the proposed 10 per cent income surtax was made necessary by war costs did not generate any immediate new support for raising taxes—at least until some efforts are made to reduce expenditures.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said Johnson "can be assured that the Congress will do its part by carefully scrutinizing all the individual requests and by reducing the budget still further. "I'm sure ti will meet with his approval wherever we can bring about legitimate reductions."

★ ★ ★

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said, "If the gold imbalance is as bad as the President said it is on New Year's day, we're going to have to do some pretty extensive cutting."

As for the proposed tax increase, Dirksen said, "We're not even going to talk about that until we cut spending."

Johnson put what he called "selective increases" into the budget for spending on manpower training, model cities, crime control, family planning and health care for mothers and infants, air and water pollution and for educational research.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., said he will vote for a tax increase of at least $7 billion—the President asked $10.2 billion—but he urged Johnson to consider raising half the lower amount by reimposing some luxury taxes.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., a colleague of Monroney's on the Senate Appropriations Committee, said "Congress will certainly want to make substantial reductions in the nonmilitary portions of this budget before it will give serious consideration to passing the tax bill the President is relying on to avoid an astronomical deficit."

Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, said Congress will undoubtedly make cuts in the budget. "We have no alternative," he said.

★ ★ ★

But unlike last year, when he refused to support Johnson's request for a tax increase, he said he is now "committed completely" to the proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

★ ★ ★

"We have to move on both fronts," he said, "increasing revenues and decreasing spending. We can't wait any longer."

Training for 1.3 Million Sought

Hard-Core-Jobless Aid Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today for $2.1 billion in manpower funds to train 1.3 million hard-core jobless—his top-priority home-front program in the 1969 federal budget.

"The opportunity to work in a meaningful job is a fundamental right in our society," Johnson said in his budget message.

★ ★ ★

"This opportunity is denied those who are ill-equipped through lack of education and job skills and those who are handicapped by the effects of discrimination and a slum environment," Johnson said.

The money requests for various types of classroom and on-the-job training total $311 million more than fiscal 1968 manpower programs.

MONEY REQUESTS

The manpower money requests include $1.1 billion under the Office of Economic Opportunity budget, $790 million under the Labor Department, $135 million under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, $44 million under the Veterans Administration and $25 million under the Interior Department, a Budget Bureau spokesman said.

Johnson listed manpower training at the top of his domestic priority list, ahead of the model cities program, crime control, air and water pollution control and education research.

He said the manpower funds would enable the government to train 1.3 million persons for jobs, up more than 300,000 trainees over fiscal 1968, which ends June 30.

ON-THE-JOB TRAINING

He said 281,000 persons would get on-the-job training under the Labor Department's Manpower Development and Training program, the Work Incentive program for welfare recipients, veterans programs and certain programs being transferred from the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Classroom training in job skills and basic education would be available to about 268,000 more people through the Manpower Development and Training program, Opportunities Industrialization centers, the Job Corps and the Work Incentive program under the budget requests.

★ ★ ★

Some 459,000 youths would be given jobs in public employment during the summer or during the school year to help them finance their continued education, the budget message said.

Another 63,000 persons would benefit from skill upgrading and short-term employability training under the Manpower Development and Training program.

AID FOR INDIANS

About 121,000 persons handicapped by age or local economic conditions would get jobs in community services, Johnson said.

The Interior Department manpower funds are for the Bureau of Indian Affairs to aid some 14,000 Indians in getting jobs.

★ ★ ★

The Labor Department's total proposed 1969 spending of $3.9 billion includes $3.2 billion from trust funds, largely for unemployment compensation. Trust funds, not included in prior years, were figured in this year under a new budgeting system. Of the $711.5 million in other outlays proposed for 1969, the department's Manpower Administration is alloted $576.8 for various job-training programs.

Debt Interest Higher as Cost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interest on the federal debt would climb to $14.4 billion—third highest outlay category in the budget—under the spending program sent to Congress today by President Johnson.

★ ★ ★

This would mean an increase of $900 million over interest charges for the current fiscal year which ends June 30.

Interest payments make the Treasury Department the third highest spender among government departments—behind Defense with $76.7 billion in military outlays and Health, Education and Welfare with $45.8 billion in expenditures.

School Millage Needs Cause Clash in Troy

MARK OVER FOR PAGES

TROY—How many mills does this school district need?

Six mills for two years?

Yes, say Supt. of Schools Dr. Rex B. Smith and the board of education, which lowered the request Feb. 19 for operating funds to six (previously it had voted to ask for seven) mills last week because of the district's increased valuation.

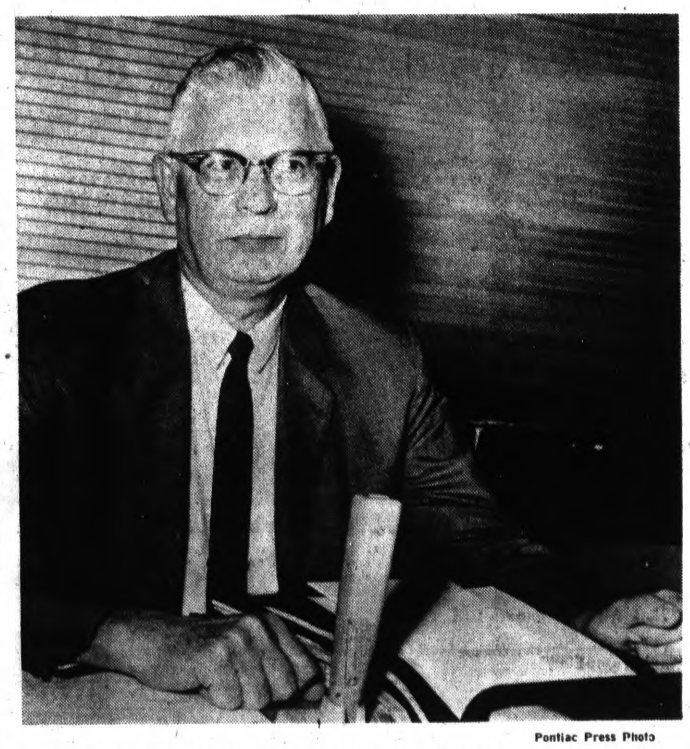
No, says a member of the board, Harold Janes. Janes amplified, "Anyone who votes for six mills is crazy."

Janes, an accountant, was elected to the board last June for the first time, and has been a frequent critic of the district administration. Prior to his election, he served on a citizens' committee to study millage needs.

In an independent study presented to the board Jan. 9, Janes claimed that several estimates both of present and projected needs were too high. Three mills for two years, he said, would be sufficient.

Smith's study presented to the board in December and revised Jan. 18 to allow for legislation increasing equalized valuation, pegs the district's deficit at the end of this school year at $600,887.

The district has been running a deficit since the end of the 1964-65 school year. Two millage elections, in June and September of last year, failed. In each, the board asked a seven-mill increase for one year.



Pontiac Press Photo

DISTRICT CHIEF — Dr. Rex Smith is superintendent of the Troy School District, which for more than a year has experienced a running debate on fiscal matters. The next chapter will be another millage election Feb. 19.

Before the June loss, Smith said, the board made public a list of some 30 cuts which would be necessary if the millage request was not approved.

'DIDN'T MAKE SENSE'

Following the election, he continued, the board made nearly all the cuts, but found that "some situations didn't make sense."

For example, Smith said, the district had a band director with tenure, and band was one of the cuts proposed. "We would have had to have the students sit in the band room with a band director and study, instead of having band," he explained.

Smith's study predicts an enrollment increase of 350-plus students for next year. This, accompanied with a projected boost in operating cost per pupil of $120 (making the total cost per pupil $898), would make projected total expenses about $4.8 million — $1.3 million more than this year.

The study estimates total income from taxes, state aid and other sources at $4.2 million, leaving an added deficit of $600,000 and putting the district a total of $1.2 million in the red.

DEFICIT AVERAGE

The increased deficit averages out to 6.15 to 6.2 additional mills per year, the study concludes.

Janes' study, in the meantime not previously made public, estimates the district's deficit at the end of this year at $450,000. The difference, Janes said, is that the board figures the deficit on a cash basis (cash in hand), while he uses a "semiaccrual" basis, which takes into account monies yet to be received or spent, such as delinquent taxes.

"By utilizing the cash basis," Janes added, "I could make any district look good or bad at a given point in time."

★ ★ ★

Janes' study figures on an increase of 30 students, and adds that the cost of educating additional pupils is less than the present cost per pupil.

COST PER PUPIL

With a smaller increase in enrollment, less money alloted per new pupil, and a reduced figure for restored cuts and added programs (as compared with Smith's study), Janes' study estimates cost per pupil next year at approximately $820 and total expenses at $4.3 million.

The $800,000 for new expenses (above this year's budget of $3.5 million) and $450,000 deficit, Janes says, comprise total needed monies of $1.25 million.

The district's increased valuation of $30 million, he continues, will result in $678,000 new income.

★ ★ ★

The $570,000 difference, Janes says, is what millage needs should be figured on — 4.8 mills for one year, or three mills for two.

Janes also said it was likely that the increase in valuation would be well above $30 million — $43 million to $48 million — making even less money necessary.

Asked for comment on Janes's study, Smith responded, "I can't really say too much about it until I've had a chance to see it." He explained that Janes had not distributed copies to board members after presenting the study.

However, the superintendent added, "The semiaccrual basis isn't much help in paying payrolls. You have to meet them with cash."

State Weekend Traffic Toll 10

Woman Dies as Snowmobile Rolls Over

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Petoskey woman became the first Michigan traffic fatality caused by a snowmobile accident this year as the death toll on the state's highways climbed to 10 over the weekend.

State Police said Juanita Bauman, 49, died last night when the snowmobile she was riding in rolled over on Larks Lake Road in Pleasant View Township in Emmet County.

The Associated Press count of traffic fatalities began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended midnight yesterday.

The victims:

Frank Niedzielski, 27, of Detroit, a passenger in a car that struck a bridge abutment yesterday on a Detroit expressway.

Farmington Study Set to Go as Jaycess Complete Fee

FARMINGTON — The long-awaited study on the future of this area is about ready to go.

The Farmington Jaycees have agreed to contribute $1,200, the remainder of the $5,000 fee by the Michigan State Development and Services for doing the study.

Others sharing the tab are Farmington Township, paying $2,500; Farmington city, $1,100; Quakertown, $100; and Woodcreek Farms, $100.

The Jaycees weren't included in the original financing plan for the study.

Their participation came after the township board decided to support a $2,500 study for itself and not pay its allotted share of $3,700 for the MSU study.

BASIS OF SHARE

Each municipality's share was figured on an assessed valuation basis by the Future Farmington Area Study Committee (FFASC) which initiated the MSU study.

The Donald M. Oakes public management firm of Grand Rapids was hired by the township. This study is planned to focus on the economic effects of boundary changes on the townhip, according to Township Supervisor Curtis Hall.

The aim of the study by the MSU staff "is to estimate and project future needs for government services . . . and too evaluate alternate organizational ways of meeting such needs," according to the staff's proposal.

An executive committee or "task force" has been organized to draw up the contract with the MSU staff and assist in collecting data.

The committee, selected by the FFASC includes:

Thomas Zoedes, representing the Farmington Board of Commerce; Richard Tupper, Jaycees; Mrs. William Smith, League of Women Voters; Thomas Nolan, Farmington Township; John Allen; Farmington City; William Cogadill, Quakertown; Al Albertaan, Woodcreek Farms; and Dr. John Richardson, head of the FFASC.

This group will meet with the MSU staff in several weeks, said Richardson. Then it will cut off contact with the study staff until the project is done this fall, he added.

Althought the FFASC didn't count on the township hiring its own firm, Richardson says he is "grateful the township decided to support the MSU

30 in W. Bloomfield Twp. Protest 2 Rezoning Bids

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Opposition to rezoning requests for a funeral home and an apartment building here drew about 30 residents to a recent township planning commission meeting.

Most opposition was against rezoning of the northeast corner of Walnut Lake and Orchard Lake roads for the establishment of the C. J. Godhardt Funeral Home, which the commission unanimously denied. Godhardt now has a funeral home in Keego Harbor.

The parcel is zoned residential, and the request was for the least restrictive category in the business zonings.

Residents fear that the property could later be used for a motel or a bowling alley, which are legal under the zoning requested, reported Mrs. Margaret Evans, commission secretary.

★ ★ ★

Discontent was also expressed on the rezoning from single family residential to multiple of several acres on the northwest corner of Orchard Lake and Seminary roads.

PUBLIC HEARING

The commission has set a public hearing on the request for Feb. 27 at 8 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Couzens, residents of the property at 3590 Orchard Lake Road, have agreed that the apartment dwellers wouldn't be allowed to keep boats on the property's lake frontage.

Also on the agenda Feb. 27 is a rezoning request for a small shopping center and apartments on 8.5 acres on the southwest corner of Willow and Hiller roads.

The petitioner, Louis Bodek of Birmingham, plans to develop the area, now a gravel pit.

In other business the commission gave final plat approval for 87 lots in Bloomfield on the Lake West No. 1 and 2 and for 77 lots in Pine Hill Village No. 1 and 2.

DEVELOPERS

The subdivisions are being developed by the local Suburban Communities and the Smokler Co. of Southfield.

Approval also went to the site plan for the Detroit Bank and Trust Co. building near the northeast corner of Maple and Orchard Lake roads. A temporary building is now on the parcel.

The commission also recommended that the township board form a committee to consider acquisition of park sites here.

The commission action followed reading of a letter from the West Bloomfield League of Women Voters, urging such a committee.

Wixom Gets New Constable

WIXOM—Howard Croft, a dairy farmer who resides at 50172 Pontiac Trail, is the city's new constable.

★ ★ ★

He was appointed by the council to fill the vacancy left by Stanley Clark, who resigned several months ago.

The council has asked for another estimate of the cost of hiring a night dispatcher—this time for the fire and public works as well as the police departments.

Police Chief D'Arcy Young had reported to the council that a 24-hour police dispatcher costs from $11,000 to $22,000 annually in nearby areas.

★ ★ ★

The council first requested the chief to check into the costs after receiving petitions from the Wixom Chamber of Commerce.

ASK POLICE DISPATCHER

The petitions, signed by 21 of the city's 38 businesses, call for the employment of a police dispatcher for nights and weekends when the county sheriff's department usually takes calls.

★ ★ ★

A dispatcher during these times would mean better protection and better service, said Chief Young. He added that he has been in favor of hiring a night and weekend deispatcher for several years.

Academy Blaze; Arson Believed

HOLLY TOWNSHIP — The third Adelphian Academy fire believed set by arsonists since last July claimed a storage barn at 871 Academy last night.

Holly Township Fire Department answered the call at 12:20 a.m. The sound of an explosion before the fire caused officials to suspect arson.

The barn contained some farm machinery and a motorcycle. No estimate of loss was available this morning.

Last Nov. 21 a blaze at the Academy destroyed another barn filled with finished goods produced by the Adelphian Mill.

A fire last July destroyed a number of storage trailers filled with lumber which were parked at the Academy.

NO ARRESTS

Arson was suspected in both instances, according to Academy officials, but no arrests were made.

The school, located west of Holly, accommodates 300 students.

Filings Spell No Primaries in 4 Villages

Saturday was the deadline for candidates to file in four area villages.

Based on the number of candidates, there will be no primaries in any of the four.

Oxford

Since there will be no primary election here, a vote March 11 will determine three Village Council positions, two for two-year terms and one for a one-year term.

The nominating petition deadline arrived Saturday with two of three incumbents and three newcomers filing for the seats. Councilman Ray Forman did not seek reelection.

Filing were incumbents Edward J. Bossardet, 49, of 48 W. Burdick and Jay L. Allen, 28, of 124 S. Washington. Newcomers seeking election are Robert McMeans, 39, of 42 Glaspie; Harold J. Phipps, 32, of 90 Pontiac; and Benjamin Swanson, 40, of 39 Pontiac.

Lake Orion

Seven candidates have filed for four seats on the Village Council in the March 11 election. There will be no primary vote, according to Clerk Mrs. Mary Parkinson.

Nominating petitions have been filed by incumbents Wallace C. Crane, Fred C. Cole, Lawrence J. Giddings and Robert D. Stokes. Seeking to displace them are Arthur J. Pagel Sr., 28 Highland; Clarence B. Rossman, a former village president, of 543 Atwater; and Mrs. Irene Armstrong, 630 Detroit.

The three obtaining the highest number of votes will be elected for two years and one for one year.

This is the first election to be conducted under the village's new charter. All candidates have filed as nonpartisan.

Franklin

Fourteen residents filed Saturday to run in the general election March 11.

To run fo the village presidency are George M. Howard of 30442 S. Greenbriar and Paul F. Schoeffel of 32440 Franklin.

Filing for treasurer were incumbent A. Dale Leighton of 30119 Cheviot Hills and Brooks Marchall Jr. of 32965 Franklin Court.

The ten persons who filed for the three trustee positions are incumbent William S. Dickey, 31059 McKinney; incumbent Robert W. DeBenham, 26980 Wellington; incumbent J robert Mitchell, 25300 Frankin Park; Fred Hirshmann, 31050 Briaircliff; C.W. Goudie, 32500 Haverford; D.L. Westcott, 30811 Cheviot Hills; D.R. Courtney Jr., 25600 River; Richard C. Wozniak, 26985 Crestwood; Edward Crane, 26128 German Mill; and Eugene Sherwood, 26065 Carol.

★ ★ ★

All positions are for two-year terms.

Milford

Thie village will have no primary as only three residents filed petitions for two trustee positions.

★ ★ ★

Those who filed are incumbent R.C. Wakefield, 605 S. Main; incumbent Norton Caswell, 946 Duke; and Dale E. Barr, 767 Friar.

★ ★ ★

The three will run for three-yaar terms in the general election March 11.

Council to Vote on Annexation

CLARKSTON — A public meeting tonight is expected to determine whether the village will seek to annex land which could approximately triple its current size.

The Village Council has called a special meeting for 8 p.m. at the junior high school auditorium for purposes of voting on the issue.

★ ★ ★

Because Clarkston is a general law village, no vote of the people is required to annex. Only approval by the County Board of Supervisors is necessary.

People in the affected area, estimated at about 250 families, have signed two sets of petitions objecting to the proposal.

It Seems to Me . . .

The Pueblo Debacle Breeds Many Unanswered Questions

Happenings, assertions and denials are falling over each other with increasing rapidity in this Pueblo affair. Anything written can be outdated before it's printed, but from the welter of developments, one thing is apparent: the United States hasn't covered herself with any glory during a single phase of this calamity.

★ ★ ★

The happening seems to have been mismanaged at the very outset right on the decks of the Pueblo. Why this ship submitted so easily to complete capture is still a mystery.

★ ★ ★

At the moment, far and away the most important matter is the fate of the 83 men. Rumors say they may have to "stand trial." Then this is denied. Then it's reaffirmed. What are the facts? If the Koreans take any punitive action against these Americans, an unpredictable eruption could blow Southeastern Asia apart.

★ ★ ★

One U.S. element urges immediate military movement. Another counsels caution. It's up to the President to decide. He's the only one with all the facts and he must move immediately. Otherwise the whole area may flare into a violence everyone will regret. This is no time for inaction. The decisions rest squarely in the White House where all the know facts rest.

But action of some sort is indicated immediately.

Role of George C. Wallace . . . .

GEORGE C. WALLACE, Alabama, isn't going to be elected President of the United States.

That's for sure!

★ ★ ★

But he can play a greater part in the election than his personal role as a contestant. If Wallace pries away a considerable part of the Republican party's ballots, he would lay the election in President Johnson's lap. Wallace's own personal cause is hopeless. But his potential in the race could be fatal to whomever the GOP selects as a candidate.

The Republicans picked Miami as the scene of their convention to woo the South which has begun to defect from the solid Democratic tradition of many decades. It now has Southern GOP representatives in the Senate, the House and as Governors.

★ ★ ★

For a century this was unthinkable. If Wallace gobbles up GOP votes in his own cause, he will deserve a diamond-studded medal from the Democrats. Theodore Roosevelt once contributed mightily to the defeat of Taft and helped elect Woodrow Wilson by just such an ill-timed maneuver.

Lesson From U.S. . . . .

Russia is finding that the hated U.S. "profit motive" can't be ducked forever. In the last several years they have slowly inched in that direction in several ways.

★ ★ ★

Now they're adding another by running training schools for "managers." When a business is "run" by someone with no managerial ability, the costs creep up and up. In Russia this means the government must underwrite the losses.

★ ★ ★

Now they want a better showing and that horrible "economic imperialism" creeps into the picture. When a good manager does appear, almost immediately you see a few convenient "mergers" with him running the whole show.

This is humiliating for them —but true.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Republicans are confident they can pick up 31 House seats which would give them control. They can't get enough seats in the Upper Chamber to dislodge the Dem rule in the Senate, but they predict ten more seats. . . . . Overheard: "The reason you don't hear much about Twiggy anymore is because when they devaluated the pound, she disappeared." . . . . . ED CARMEL, circus giant, has now reached nine feet. He's unhappy because TV won't give him a tumble. How about basketball?

★ ★ ★

PATRICIA

Trusted scouts advise me Patricia Brosenne deserves mention as one of the attractive young ladies in the area. . . . . Obituary in a small town paper: "He crawled through a fence with his shotgun cocked. He is survived by his wife, two children and a ring-necked pheasant." . . . . . ABC-TV will have more people covering the winter Olympics than the U.S. will have contesting athletes (250 for ABC). . . . . These were voted the sweetest phrases in the English language: 1—I love you; 2—Dinner is served; 3—All is forgiven; 4—Sleep 'til noon; 5—Keep the change.

★ ★ ★

Overheard: "If postal rates get any higher, it will be cheaper to go yourself." . . . . . They claim this is a record: ROBERTA PETERS will be on the ED SULLIVAN Show February 11th and it will be her 53rd appearance. She deserves it. . . . . I'm encouraged. Publishers Central Bureau used to send me 16 of their book offerings and they've finally cut to six. This time they used two different colored pamphlets. . . . . David Lawrence Asks:

Rights Proposal Discriminatory?

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has submitted to congress a "message on civil rights" which recommends the passage of a federal law to protect individuals who encounter violence or force when they attempt to exercise certain of their civil rights.

LAWRENCE

It is important, of course, to eliminate discrimination in employment, in the use of public facilities, in education and in voting. But the President's proposed law covers federal punishment only for crimes of a particular type growing out of racial friction or discrimination.

A vast number of citizens, irrespective of color, who are the victims of crime of all kinds, are apparently not to be given the benefit of federal protection. This raises the question of whether the President's proposal itself constitutes a form of discrimination.

The Fifth Amendment to the Constitution says that no person shall "be deprived of life, liberty, or property," except by proper legal means.

★ ★ ★

The federal government is empowered — under this doctrine of "due process" — to assure the protection of the civil rights of all citizens, and Chief Justice Warren so ruled in 1954 in behalf of a unanimous Supreme Court.

REPONSIBILITY

President Johnson, however, makes it clear in his message that he is asking for a federal statute which would safeguard only some civil rights.

He prefers to relieve the national government of its responsibility to protect all other civil rights such as are threatened by incitements to violence or criminal acts. After listing various types of discrimination, the President said to Congress:

"This bill will strengthen the hand of federal law enforcement to protect our citizens wherever they encounter — because of their race, color or religion — violence or force in their attempt to enjoy established civil rights. Beyond this limited area, law enforcement is left where it belongs — in the hands of the states and local communities."

★ ★ ★

If a law is to be passed giving equal protection to citizens against violations of one set of civil rights, why shouldn't the same measure apply to all other civil rights, too?

'LIMITED AREA'

Thus, the citizen who walks down the street in his neighborhood where a race riot has been incited and vandalism has occurred is as much entitled to federal protection as the citizen who is being discriminated against only because of race in the exercise of his civil rights.

Why should the federal government confine itself to a "limited area" in these operations?

Why should it concern itself with crime or violence affecting merely one group of citizens while denying "equal protection" to other citizens who, without any legal process, are being deprived of life or liberty or property?

Bob Considine Says:

Oh, If Teddy Were Here to See the Pueblo Crisis

NEW YORK — James Berryman, the snow-capped cartoonist of the Washington Star who invented the Teddy Bear, a truculent little figure that appeared in an obscure corner of Berryman's regular cartoon and generally asked an impertinently pertinent question, would have found the case of the seizure of the navy communications ship Pueblo and its crew of 83 his easiest day's work.

CONSIDINE

He would have brought to swift-penned life the plight of an American military vessel being captured in international waters by a bunch of perhaps misled and probably slaphappy North Koreans.

Teddy Bear, who reformed from a kind of Spanish-American War hawk into the world's most beloved furry doll, would have commented dourly, "Wonder what Teddy would have done?"

He would have meant Teddy Roosevelt, of course, Teddy Roosevelt who was and could afford to be at that nonnuclear time the nation's leading hawk.

Roosevelt advocated and pursued policies toward Spain, Colombia and assorted robber barons here and abroad which could draw all the blood from the face of, let's say, Lyndon Johnson — considered by many here and abroad as an irresponsible hawk.

WHAT TEDDY?

Today, if Berryman's little bear appeared in the corner of a cartoon, the under-30 mob would scratch and ask in bewilderment, "What's Teddy Kennedy getting in this mess for?"

He's the only Teddy around today — except in Jerusalem, where there is one of the free world's great mayors, Teddy Kollek.

The case history of the seizure of Pueblo is not completely available at this writing. But the picture of Adm. John V. Smith, USN, presenting his formal protest over the ship's capture to Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Kuk of North Korea at Panmunjom, shook dust off unnerving memories.

Whether we wish to face it or not, this country has undergone certain wrenching changes in its demeanor toward its foes in the past decade-and-a-half.

Like Notre Dame in its game against Michigan State two seasons ago, the U.S. was content to settle in Korea for a tie.

If the principle is right that the states and cities are primarily responsible for preserving order in the communities, then why should the federal government intervene at all?

Speculation . . .

The Holland Evening Sentinel

In spite of talk in 1964 of making campaigns shorter, the one for 1968 appears already to have begun

The speech of President Johnson at the recent AFL-CIO convention was so openly political that all TV networks granted equal time for reply to the Republican leaders in the Senate and House.

Too many unforeseen events affecting the outcome in 1968 can occur in the ensuing 11 months to warrant a prediction Nevertheless, since political speculation at least is in the air it is interesting in a non-partisan spirit, to assess the chances of the two major political parties for winning the presidency in 1968.

Today we list some reasons why the Republicans are hopeful.

★ ★ ★

The tremendous gains in the 1966 off-year elections first raised their hopes. As an example, they gained 47 U.S. House seats, needing only 13 more in the next election to gain control.

The organizing genius of national chairman Ray Bliss must also be recognized. He has built an organization at the grass roots and has recognized the importance of concentrating on winning big city votes, where heretofore Republicans have been notably weak.

Statements by equally reputable authorities can be produced on either side of any debatable issue.

But when a political statement comes from the opposition as in the case of Richard Goodwin, a former aide to both Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, it buoys Republican hopes when he says: "People are getting tired of the Democrats. Republican chances look awfully good."

Problem Gap

London Economist

The problem of Mr. Johnson's credibility is really a problem of the gap between the man's buccaneering manner and the real substance of the ideas that lie beneath.

The Americans themselves have been slow to realize this. Mr. Johnson came to the presidency in the worst of all circumstances. He took over in the role of the second husband. The Americans were disposed to be suspicious. They were bound to resent Mr. Johnson more than anybody else. He came from a state that fits into none of the American regions. Texas is not a part of the south, or the west, and much less of the north.

★ ★ ★

In the recent opinion polls Mr. Johnson has been doing worst of all in the south. His frontier background is alien to the majority of modern, urban, middle-class Americans.

His accent is queer; a visitor to the United States is struck by the number of Americans who mimic his accent like Englishmen mimicking a Pakistani. Mr. Johnson has been the victim of a bad case of straight prejudice.

Part of the European suspicion of Mr. Johnson springs from the fact that he comes from Texas and talks like a Texan. The sheer unfamiliarity of a man like Mr. Johnson is one of his main impediments.

★ ★ ★

There are signs in the opinion polls and the way the press is treating him, that the worst may be over. The Americans have become a little more accustomed to the man and his ways.

They are starting to make allowances for his background and his style of politics is a reflection of his background. But the most he can hope for is that they will make allowances generously. The last of the frontier presidents cannot turn himself into a megalopolis American of 1968. It is going to be a problem for him right up to November.

Voice of the People:

Readers Submit Views on Commission's Action

I was proud of the Pontiac City Commissioners when I witnessed the passage of the Open Housing Ordinance. To me this is the first step forward in the recognition of the black man as an individual entitled to all the rights and benefits that this country has denied him for too long.

★ ★ ★

We must truly begin to love our neighbors as ourselves and not just give lip service to this often-quoted statement. I am a resident of Waterford Township and would hope that my community will take similar action without any delay. We must all try to erase the prejudice that we have inherited toward the black man so that this country can truly go on to greatness.

MRS. JOSEPH SZEREMET
758 OTTER

Not all statesmen are mentioned in the history books. Some just make the front page of The Pontiac Press—statesmen like Mayor Taylor and Commissioners Fowler, Hudson and Marshall. ". . . one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." These glorious ideals were courageously honored by these duly elected representatives in their favorable vote for Pontiac's fair housing law.

★ ★ ★

What about the rest of us? Do we truly mean it when we give our solemn pledge of allegiance to the flag? What about patriots in the suburbs? When are we going to honor our sacred pledge and follow the example of Pontiac?

WINIFRED BRINKMAN
1062 ABSEQUAMI, LAKE ORION

I was at the City Commission meeting when they passed the housing bill. Why did a couple of our Commissioners vote for forced housing and then say they knew it would come to a vote of the people and the people would turn it down? Are Commissioners supposed to represent the people? I believe there will be some new faces in the City Commission next time around — faces that will represent the people.

ALEX DISTEL JR.
1108 HOLBROOK

Speeches given by the Commissioners who were for open housing were quite surprising. I was under the impression that Commissioners were to represent those people who elected them, but it was stated that a yes vote was given because it was personally felt open housing should be a law, even knowing the people of Pontiac would put the law to a referendum vote and turn it down.

★ ★ ★

I had wondered if our government had forgotten about the average man and his interests and Tuesday night proved it. The referendum on open housing plus the next election of Commissioners will show them how the average people feel. These politicians, organized group leaders and ministers with the loud voices are still only one vote at election time.

Question and Answer

In our apartment building we have a dark basement, no lights on at night, no outside lights at any of our four exits, and it is neither safe to enter nor leave after dark. What is a landlord's responsibility to his tenants?

REPLY

Usage of buildings would determine the landlord's responsibilities. Complaints can be made either to the Building Inspection Department or the City Health Department (both 333-7131) and they will be examined on an individual basis to determine what corrections should be made.

Empire Gown Is Chosen

Carrying a cascade of miniature white orchids, Mary Spencer Heitman was escorted to the altar of Kirk in the Hills Saturday where she repeated vows with Donald Loren Davis.

The daughter of the Charles Edwin Heitmans of Covington Road was attired in an Empire sheath fashioned from peau de soie with peau d'ange lace. A detachable Watteau train, framed with matching lace, complemented her ensemble.

A lace halo headpiece, frosted with seed pearls, capped the bride's shoulder length tiered veil.

ATTENDANTS

Honor attendants for the ceremony were Mrs. Arthur C. Omberg Jr. of Rome, N.Y. and Roy Wilson of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Also attending the bride were Gail Groff of South Bend, Ind., Jacque Hench of Pittsburgh, Pa., Mrs. Harold B. Todd of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Joseph Carlson of Detroit.

Assisting as ushers were Robert May of Detroit, Arthur C. Omberg Jr. of Rome, N.Y., Harold B. Todd of Cleveland, Joseph Carlson, Thomas Clark and Richard Pobst, all of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Prior to their departure for a wedding trip to the Poconos, the newlyweds were honored with a reception at the Kingsley Inn.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Davis of Madison Heights.

Polly's Pointers

Use Plastic Duster

DEAR POLLY—To dust my records, I loosely crumple up a length of transparent plastic wrap and, as the record plays, I keep crinkling it above the record. The dust is attracted to the plastic. No scratches are on the records.—11-YEAR-OLD LAURA

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is for Katherine, who had trouble with her glass bookends. I solved a similar problem by buying steel desk-top bookends that are very inexpensive. I placed one between the last two books on each end. Now the pressure on my glass bookends is just from one book on either end. The steel ones are very sturdy but not thick enough to cause a gap between the books.—JEAN

DEAR POLLY — My son had a lovely pair of ceramic bookends which were not heavy enough to support books. I peeled back the felt bases and filled each with a bag of marbles, then replaced the felt. This gave just the weight needed to make them serve their purpose.—MRS. H. H. S.

DEAR POLLY—I read your column regularly. I hope my Pointer will help others who may have the problem I solved. As I was trying to hold a ruler straight and the paper still while making a sign, I taped the ends of the ruler to the table. It worked quite well, as the paper could be moved underneath the ruler when required. I used one hand to hold the paper in place and the other writing.—MARY

In the early evening setting of Five Points Community Church Saturday, Barbara Ann Davis repeated vows with Robert Jack Pence.

★ ★ ★

Attended by Mrs. George Davis, she wore a fitted sheath with an overlay of Chantilly lace. A matching lace train fell from her shoulders.

To complement her attire, the bride chose a pearled crown securing an elbow length bouffant veil. She carried white gardenias with pink sweetheart roses.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Robert Given was bridesmaid with Debra Davis as junior bridesmaid and Cheri Davis, flower girl.

Best man honors were performed by George E. Davis with Robert N. Given and William and Steven Davis as ushers. Timothy Davis was ring bearer.

★ ★ ★

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds received guests in the church parlors. They then departed for a honeymoon in Miami, Fla.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Davis of Walnut Road. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Pence of Romeo.

Featuring Fur

It should be a big year for men's coats and outerwear with fur or fur-like trims and linings. So reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, Inc. Many of them come with detachable linings for the not-so-cold days.

June 8 vows are planned by Georgienne Biltz and Ralph Edward Lane. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Biltz of Ledyard Street and Mrs. Richard H. Lane of Silver Circle Drive and the late Mr. Lane.

Local Girls Runners-Up

The finals in the Michigan Junior Miss Pageant Saturday found Nancy Weiss of Clarkston and Beth Vershure of Pontiac in the first and second runners-up spots in the Scott Paper Company hostess division.

★ ★ ★

Nancy planned a patio party based on a mock election theme while Beth submitted a post-football game dinner.

★ ★ ★

Each of the runners-up recieved a silver bowl as her reward.

Winner of the Breck Hair Stylist final was Barbara Budjac from Southgate.

This Chauffeur Deserves a Medal

By BETTY CANARY

Last Thursday I got trapped into — I mean, I agreed to transport part of the sixth-grade basketball team to a game. Saying "yes" gave me a glow of self-satisfaction. This, I thought, will surely qualify me for the Bravest Woman of the Month Club.

Actually, the drive wasn't a problem at all. I did have one bad moment. When the team's best player jumped into the car, I went stone blind. But after Jerry unwrapped his raincoat from around my head, I rendered a brief Rules of Riding, including a terse description of the black snake whip I keep coiled behind the spare tire, and we went on our way without further ado.

We have seat belts for nine, but I have found that even strapped-in children can rock a station wagon. Also, I don't know why the state, which requires a chauffeur's license for truck and bus drivers, does nothing about special licenses for mothers.

I could help them devise tests, including driving in heavy traffic while eight kids beat 16 feet in unison, pound the seats with old tennis shoes and render school cheers.

I can't say I really saw the game. Most of the activity was in the fan section and I found it more exciting. And, this brings up something else I don't know.

Why do schools provide a firm set of rules for the players on the floor and none for the spectators? There should be at least, I think, some regard to how many times a player's mother can scream at the referee.

Then a time limit for fathers quarreling with coaches could be set.

Zolton Says Bobby Mulling '68 Race

DETROIT (AP)— Former Michigan Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency told the Associated Press Sunday night he has learned U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y. is "seriously reconsidering" an earlier decision not to seek the Democratic presidential nomination.

Ferency said he got the information from sources close to the senator, but declined to say who they were.

★ ★ ★

Ferency resigned late last year in the wake of an uproar which followed his suggestion that President Lyndon B. Johnson might not be the best man to head the party's ticket in 1968.

Ferency said his sources informed him Kennedy will make up his mind wihin two weeks and "firmly declare one way or the other" a decision on seeking the nomination.

The New York senator's decision will be based, Ferency said, on how many influential Democrats around the nation urge him to seek the nomination.

"A significant number of leading Democrats have not yet committed themselves to either President Johnson or Sen. Eugene McCarthy, but time is running out and Sen. Robert Kennedy is being pressured to make a firm declaration of candidacy," Ferency said.

McCarthy, D-Minn., has announced his intention to seek the Democratic nomination as an alternative to Johnson.

Kennedy "will have to make a final decision within the next couple of weeks or else run the risk of losing considerable political support which is still looking for a place to go," Ferency said.

Father and Son Drown in River

SAULT STE. MARIE (UPI) — A snow mobile was dragged from the frozen St. Mary's River yesterday, and searchers abandoned efforts to find a lost father and son.

Chippewa County Sheriff's deputies said Cliffton Bunker Jr., 37, and his son, Cliffton III, 10, apparently drowned when their mobile broke through the river over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

The pair were attempting to reach nearby Sugar Island. The machine's tracks were traced to a hole in the ice, authorities said.

The current of the St. Mary is swift, and skin diving experts feared the bodies might be washed farther down the river or ledged in some ice drifts. Weather permitting, they said, search operations would be resumed today.

$13.2 Billion More if Tax Hikes OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The higher income and excise taxes and user charges President Johnson recommended to Congress in his budget message today would raise $13.2 billion in the next fiscal year.

By far the largest total would come from the 10 per cent tax surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes—$9.8 billion in the next fiscal year.

But the program also calls for the postponement of scheduled cuts in the telephone and automobile manufacturers' excise taxes, a speedup in collections of corporate income taxes and user charges in aviation and on the nation's highways and waterways.

The surcharge, as proposed y Johnson, would take effect April 1 for individuals but be retroactive to Jan. 1 for corporations.

BREAKDOWN

Here is a breakdown of the revenues expected from each type of tax for fiscal 1968, which ends Juen 30:

Surcharge on individual income taxes—$930 million.

Surcharge on corporate income taxes—$970 million.

Speedup in corporate tax collections—$800 million.

Extension of excise taxes—$300 million.

★ ★ ★

For fiscal 1969 which begins July 1, the breakdown is:

Surcharge on individual income taxes—$6.92 billion.

Surcharge on corporate income taxes—$2.88 billion.

Speedup in corporate tax collections—$400 million.

Extension of excise taxes—$2.66 billion.

USER CHARGE

User charge—$297 million including $239 million for increased diesel fuel tax and gradauted use tax on heavy trucks; $40 million in aviation services; $7 million on fuel used by vessels navigating inland waterways, and $11 million in user charges outside the transportation field.

★ ★ ★

The 7 per cent auto excise would bec ontinued until July 1, 1969, as would the 10 per cent telephone service tax. Under present law, the telephone tax is scehduled to drop to 1 per cent April 1 and to zero on Jan. 1, 1969. The auto tax is scheduled to drop to 2 per cent on April 1 and to 1 per cent on Jan. 1, 1969.

Increase Is Sought for Foreign Affairs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked today for an $82-million increase in foreign-affairs expenditures, to $5.68 billion in fiscal 1969 despite Congress' heavy slash in his aid program last year.

Johnson said in his budget message that "We must not shrink from the work of peace. We must continue because we do not wish our children to inherit a world in which two-thirds of the people are underfed, diseased and poorly educated."

Johnson budgeted $5.15 billion for nonmilitary spending on international affairs and finance, $107 million above fiscal 1968, including aid programs and costs of agencies such as the State Department.

INCOME AND OUTGO — The chart shows the federal government's expected revenues and projected outlays for fiscal year 1969. The major revenue producer is individual income taxes, and the major expenditure is national defense.

Housing-Cities Funds Would Double

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal spending for housing and community development would double to $1.4 billion under the fiscal 1969 budget proposed today by President Johnson.

Much of the increase would go for the first big outlays for the model cities program and for an expanded lower-income housing effort to produce six million units in the next 10 years.

Although concentrating on big-city problems, the programs also would provide aid for the nation's suburbs and small towns.

The rent supplement program, which Congress chopped in half at the last session, would get an increase from the current $10-million-a-year contract authority to $65 million. The program pays one-fourth of the rent of needy people to help them get housing.

For the model cities program to rebuild blighted neighborhoods, the President asked Congress for the remaining $350 million of the 1-billion authorization he sought last year. Spending for fiscal 1969 would jump from $25 million to $250 million.

And the urban renewal program, a basic tool for the model cities work, would go up $567 million to $1.4 billion.

Public housing funds would increase $53 million to $350 million. To spend production, much of the new housing is to be built by private developers on their own sites.

To attract more buyers for mortgages backed by the Veterans Administration and Federal Housing Administration the President proposes lifting the current 6 per cent interest ceiling. The administration hopes to attract more money into the FHA's new program to support housing for lower income people in blighted and central-city areas.

Defense Figures No Surprise

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson handed Congress today a $76.7-billion defense budget reflecting "our resolve to preserve the independence of Vietnam" and provide the nuclear and conventional forces essential to national security.

His military spending proposals for the 1969 fiscal year are nearly $3 billion bigger than this year. Vietnam accounts for one-third of the entire military budget.

★ ★ ★

But except for Vietnam war costs, it is essentially a hold-down budget with few surprises.

Johnson said the money he is asking for the 12 months beginning July 1 "will cover all currently anticipated defense requirements for the fiscal year, including the possibility of continuation of combat in Vietnam beyond this period."

DONE BEFORE CRISIS

The new defense budget was completed before the crisis developed last week over North Korea's seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo.

Nobody knows how long that crisis will last, or whether North Korea's new challenge will trigger a major expansion in U.S. military strength.

★ ★ ★

Nearly 14,800 air reservists already have been mustered for indefinite active duty. More reservists, possibly ground troops, may be called.

Assuming the Pueblo crisis can be solved before the new fiscal year opens five months from now, Johnson is planning a 13,000-man cut in the total of men under arms to 3,477,000 by June 30, 1969.

PRESENT INTENTIONS

At the same time, present intentions are to reach 525,000 men in Vietnam and to stay at about that level throughout the 1969 fiscal year. About 517,000 U.S. troops will be in place by June 30, the end of the 1968 fiscal year.

Whether Johnson can carry out this plan depends on the course of the war. He and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said a year ago they felt they could hold the force level in Vietnam to about 480,000.

★ ★ ★

The military cost of the Vietnam war will rise to $25.8 billion in fiscal 1969, according to Johnson's projections. This would be $1.3 billion higher than this year.

The fiscal 1968 military outlay for the Vietnam war is outstripping last January's forecast by about $2.6 billion.

ANTIMISSILE SYSTEM

Johnson's new defense budget provides money to start building the Sentinel antimissile system designed to protect the United States from any Red Chinese atomic missile threat starting in the early 1970s.

The administration feels it would be a waste of money to buy much more expensive anti-missile defense proposed by military leaders to guard against possible Soviet attack.

★ ★ ★

Instead, it is concentrating on strengthening the missile force that hopefully deters the Soviets from launching an attack lest they be pulverized in return.

The total missile force will remain the same in the coming year, at 1,710 land-based and submarine-launched weapons. But the missiles will be improved, with more sophisticated penetration aids for getting past enemy defenses and multiple warheads capable of being directed to separate targets.

Crime Cost: $63.2 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's budget earmarks nearly $63.2 million to pay for new and beefed up crime-fighting programs in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

All but about $10 million would go for grants to improve local law enforcement.

★ ★ ★

The administration estimates $53.2 million would be spent during the fiscal year under the so-called safe streets legislation, pending in Congress.

Most of the remaining $10 million would go toward new agents to strengthen federal narcotics enforcement programs.

NEW AID PROGRAM

The safe streets legislation would authorize a new program of federal financial and technical assistance to state and local governments.

This is intended to encourage planning and new efforts to improve law enforcement and criminal justice systems at the state and local levels.

★ ★ ★

The $10 million to intensify federal anticrime efforts would include:

- Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, $1.2 million to increase the number of agents from 325 to 428, mainly to control traffic in LSD and other hallucinogenic drugs.
- Bureau of Narcotics, $1.3 million to increase the number of agents from 314 to 430.
- U.S. Attorneys, $2.3 million to hire another 100 assistant United States attorneys.

EXPENDITURES IN LBJ YEARS — These are the budget outlays for five key items in the federal budget during five years of President Johnson's administration, from 1965 to the projected budget for 1969.

Most of Rise in Total Reflects New Format

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you wince at the $186-billion total of President Johnson's new budget, remember that most of the rise from a year ago reflects a new budget format, not a spending splurge.

Roughly one-fourth of the outlays—about $47 billion—in the new "unified" fiscal blueprint sent to Congress today represents outlays of the government-held trust funds, included for the first time.

The reform was recommended in October by a 16-member presidential comission. It is designed to show the full impact of federal taxing, spending and lending by including the highway, pension and social insurance funds previously regarded as "outside the budget."

Under the old "administrative" budget, spending and revenues would have been lower and the deficit bigger. The fiscal 1969 outlays, at $147.4 billion, would be $10.2 billion higher than spending in this fiscal year. The red ink would total $11.8 billion.

$8-BILLION DEFICIT

By adding in the income and outgo of Social Security, medicare and other funds, the "unified" receipts total 178.1 billion, the outlays $186.1 billion and the deficit $8 billion.

One aim is to show more fully the economic impact of all the federal dollars fed into the nation's spending stream and all the dollars pad in by taxes.

★ ★ ★

A second aim is to avoid confusion like that surrounding last year's budget message—a triple-headed bookkeeping monster which told the fiscal story in three different ways.

★ ★ ★

Finally, it's hoped the simpler format might forestall the perennial charges of "budget gimmickry" always made by political foes of whichever party holds office. In this it did not quite succeed. Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican conference, charged that parts of the big anticipated deficit in the government's general funds is being offset and concealed by a $6-billion "surplus" in the trust funds.

CALLED IMPROVEMENT

But almost all economists call the new format an improvement over the administrative budget. They expect it also will replace, to a considerable extent the other two major budget concepts—the "cash consolidated budget" and the "National Income Accounts budget," both devised as tools of the economic analyst.

★ ★ ★

The cash and NIA budgets both include the trust funds, but they differ in many other respects, In fact, if Johnson had chosen to use the NIA budget for fiscal 1969, the deficit would be only $2 billion instead of the $8 billion in the unified budget.

Last year's message presented all three budget concepts, with chaotic results.

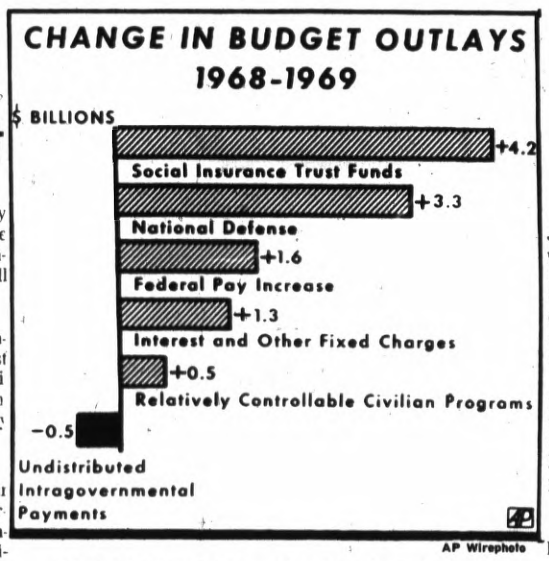
Some news media used the administrative budget in telling the fiscal 1968 budget story, with spending at $135 billion. Some used the cash budget, at $172.4 billion. Others used the NIA budget, at $169.2 billion. All three showed different deficits.

NEW DEVICE

Among other new features, the unified budget includes—A new method of reporting "participation certificates." Under this much-favored new device, the government sells to private investors shares in the earnings of pools of government-held loans. The certificates are now shown as simply another method of financing the federal deficit.

★ ★ ★

In the past they have been listed as a deduction from expenditures—a method of reducing the deficit which Republicans have attacked as another "budget gimmick."



AP Wirephoto

BUDGET INCREASES — This chart shows the increases in billions of dollars in various items provided for in the federal government's budget for fiscal year 1969, compared to outlays for 1968. Undistributed intragovernmental payments include government contributions for employe retirement and interest received by trust funds.

Civilian Space Share Lowest in Five Yaers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration proposed today to spend $4.57 billion on civilian space programs in the next fiscal year—the lowest amount in five years—and still place astronauts on the moon by 1970.

In his budget message to Congress, President Johnson requested for space research and technology some $230 million less than planned for this fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

The request also is $850 million less than spent in the year ending last June 30 and more than $1.3 billion less than spent in the peak year ending June 30, 1966.

"This reduction reflects our progress beyond the costly research and development phases of the manned lunar mission, as well as the immediate need to postpone spending for new projects wherever possible," the budget message said.

PRIORITIES EXAMINED

"Based on a careful examination of priorities, the 1969 budget provides increases in some areas to prepare for important advances in future years, while deferring other less urgent, new projects," it added.

Johnson said the proposed budget would permit:

- Continued production of large Saturn-class space boosters, but at a reduced rate.

★ ★ ★

- Development of a nuclear rocket engine to increase the capability of the Saturn 5 moon rocket, but smaller in size and thrust than originally planned.
- Development of a new spacecraft for launching in 1973 to orbit and land on Mars, costing "much less than half" the Voyager program included in last year's budget.

STILL VALUABLE

"Although the scientific result of this new mission will be less than that of Voyager, it will still provide extremely valuable data and serve as a building block for planetary exploration systems of the future," Johnson said.

The program calls for the first manned Apollo flight—an earth orbital mission launched by a Saturn 1B—and the first manned Saturn 5 flights this year.

★ ★ ★

In calendar year 1969 the program calls for five manned Apollo flights of the Saturn 5 rocket, "one of which may well be the first manned landing on the moon," he said.

Expenditures for the Apollo program would decline by more than $450 million in the fiscal year as the primary effort moves past the costly development phase.

LIMITED EFFORT

Funds are proposed for only a limited effort to prepare for additional exploratory flights to the moon after 1969.

However, the program calls for a Saturn 1B-launched manned oribital workshop in 1970, with the spacecraft to be revisited that year and in 1971 and used as a platform for a large man-operated solar telescope.

There will be a Mariner flight to Mars in 1969 to measure the planet's atmosphere and identify its components and to provide mapping data.

In 1971 the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will launch a spacecraft to orbit Mars and probe its atmosphere.

Research, Science Due for $17.3 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration called today for spending $17.3 billion in fiscal 1969 for the far-flung scientific and medical research and development activities of the federal government — $800 million above the current level.

The requestd increases reflect plans for stepped-up programs in fields ranging from missle warheads to aritifcial hearts and other organs, from deep-sea exploration for both defense and peaceful purposes to birth-control pills.

★ ★ ★

It further reflects, the administration said in presenting its budget to Congress, "the growing concern for applying research to national 'civilian' problems" such as crime prevention, urban development and the educational needs of the disadvantaged and the poor.

PROVIDES DETAIL

The White House's Office of Science and Technology, which keeps tabs on research and development activities conducted or supported by more than 15 government agencies, provided most of the detail in a special analysis of the President's budget.

The division of requested funds for all agencies includes more than $10.9 billion for development, compared with $10.6 billion this fiscal year, and $5.7 billion for research, up $500 million.

The budget calls for a 13 per cent boost in funds to support research in colleges and universities. Some scientists have expressed fears that costs of the Vietnam war might cut sharply into their government grants.

BUDGET HIKE

The administration said $1.6 billion would go for such contracts in fiscal 1969, compared with $1.4 billion estimated for fiscal 1968.

Major dollar increases for research in 1969 are in the programs of the departments of to $1.5 billion — and Health, Education and Welfare, from $1 billion to $1.6 billion.

Over-all requested federal spending for medical and health-related research is $1.5 billion, compared with $1.4 billion last year, with the National Institutes of Health and the National Institute of Mental Health together ticketed for the lion's share.

Federal Jobs Seen Going to 2.68 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson estimated in his budget message that federal civilian full-time employment will rise by 45,600 to 2.68 million in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1969.

The President, who has been urging payroll frugality on department and agency heads almost since he entered the White House, missed the mark widely on federal jobholders for the current fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

He estimated an increase of 68,500 to 2.6 million as of next June. The new guess on employment as of that date is up to 2.64 million.

The statisticians estimate more than 39 per cent of next year's increase will be in the post office, to handle a 3.8 per cent rise in mail volume and a swelling number of mailing addresses. Another 6 per cent, or 3,000, is for the Defense Department to support Vietnam operations.

Rising School-Aid Curve to Continue to Level Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rising curve of federal aid to education would continue to level off slightly under the budget proposed today by President Johnson.

The President called for an increase of $200 million to $4.7 billion in educational spending in fiscal 1969. That would follow the pattern of a gradual rise this fiscal year after large jumps in spending between fiscal years 1965 and 1967.

As expected, the budget for the fiscal year starting in July calls for sizable cutbacks in outlays for college and university buildings and other facilities, down $83 million to a 213-million total.

But it would increase funds for loans and grants to college and graduate students from $597 million to $673 million.

For elementary and secondary schools, the budget proposes to reduce aid for schoolbooks, equipment and guidance services from $237 million to $155 million. It asks more money, however, to train teachers and help poor children. And it proposes a new $30-million program to prevent school dropouts.

Impact aid for areas with large numbers of children of federal personnel would be increased.

N-Plants Will Be Expanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration disclosed today plans for further major expansion of eight nuclear weapons plants to produce the hydrogen warheads for the recently approved Sentinel antiballistic missile system "and other advanced weapons systems."

One of the latter is the submarine-launched Poseidon missile —an improved Polaris. Its multiple warheads allow one missile to rain death on a number of targets.

The Sentinel system is the planned $5-billion defense system geared primarily to provide the nation with a light shield against missiles which might be launched against the United States by Red China in the 1970s.

The word came out in the Johnson administration's budget request for $2.5 billion spending by the Atomic Energy Commission in fiscal 1969. That's $213 million higher than last year and includes "a substantial increase in expenditures for the design, testing and production of nuclear weapons."

In his budget message, President Johnson pointed to "the threat posed by the emerging Chinese nuclear capability" against which the Spartan and Sprint missiles of the Sentinel system will be deployed.

The new expansion of the weapons plants will bring to $285 million the estimated cost of constructing the needed facilities.

★ ★ ★

That's $184.5 million more than the $100.5 million the AEC had planned on, and obtained, last March when it disclosed plans for some expansion of six of the eight plants involved in the new step-up. At that time, the expansion was pegged largely to Poseidon missiles, not Sentinels.

The administration is asking for the difference in the 1969 budget.

The weapons plants involved in what the administration termed "the heightened tempo" of the Sentinel system development are:

- The "Y-12 plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., where construction costs will total $177.9 million.
- Rocky Flats Plant, Colo., $55.7 million.
- Bendix Plant, Kansas City, Mo., $25 million.
- Mound Laboratory, Miamisburg, Ohio, $6.8 million.
- Burlington Plant, Amarillo, Tex., $5.4 million.
- Savannah River Plant, near Aiken, S.C., $3.9 million.
- Panellas Plant, Clearwater, Fla., $4.6 million.

Families Asked to Aid Fallout Protection Study

With the home fallout protection survey drawing to a close, the Office of Civil Defense today requested that families overlooked by the census bureau send for a questionnaire.

Col. Frederick E. Davids, State Police and Michigan Civil Defense director, said that those who have not participated can easily do so by requesting a copy of the form.

The questionnaire can be obtained by writing the Jeffersonville Census Operations Office, 1201 E. 10th, Jeffersonville, Ind., 47130.

The same office processes the returned completed questionnaire by computer and then advises the householder of the fallout protection rating of his home and how to improve it.

Davids said that more than 65 per cent of almost 1.5 million mail questionnaires in the survey of Michigan have been returned by occupants of one-, two- and three-family residences.

GOOD RESPONSE

He termed this a good response but expressed hope that Michigan might reach a percentage of 80 or better on mail returns as did Minnesota and Wisconsin.

In communitites under 10,000 population and in rural areas, the survey was conducted in person by census bureau interviews. This was completed earlier in the program with 908,947 households surveyed.

By contrast, the not-yet-completed mail survey has had returns from more than 970,000 homes, Davids said.

'16 Job Corps Centers to Be Closed Down'

NEW YORK (AP) — The government plans to close 16 of the 124 Job Corps centers because of congressional budget cuts in the antipoverty program, the New York Times said Sunday.

The newspaper said the Job Corps cutback and other anti-poverty economies have been worked out by the Office of Economic Opportunity, subject to approval by President Johnson. An announcement is expected Monday, the Times said.

★ ★ ★

It listed the urban Job Corps centers to be closed, and the companies operating them under government contract as: Custer, Battle Creek, Mich., U.S. Industries, Inc.; Lincoln, Neb., Northern Systems, Inc.; McCoy, Sparta, Wis., RCA Service Co.; Rodman, New Bedford, Mass., and Science Research Associates, a subsidiary of IBM.

Centers operated by the Agriculture and Interior departments marked for closing were identified as: Chippewa Ranch, Mahnomen County, Minn.; Isabella, Lake County, Minn.; Ripton, Addison County, Vt.

★ ★ ★

Fort Vannoy, Josephine County, Ore.; Iroquois, Orleans County, N.Y.; Lewiston, Trinity County, Calif.; Liberty Park, Hudson County, N.J.; McCook, Red Willow County, Neb.; Mexican Springs, McKinley County, N.M., and Poston, Yuma County, Ariz.

Lewis and Clark, operated by the North Dakota Park Service, also is scheduled to close. Another on the list, Swiftbird, South Dakota, has never been opened.

New Haven Man Beaten to Death

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Police were investigating the death of a New Haven man today. His body, badly beaten about the head and face, was found behind a department store Sunday.

Authorities said the victim, George Wise, 43, of New Haven, had been dead three or four hours when it was discovered by a passing motorist about noon.

Medical examiner's office said the cause of death was a blow to the head.

Towns Blasted

PALERMO, Sicily (UPI) — Demolition teams today dynamited towns and villages ravaged by earthquakes in western Sicily to minimize the danger of cleanup workers from weakened buildings. At least 250 persons were killed by the quakes in the last two weeks, and bodies are still buried in the rubble.

S. Africa Surgical Claim New Zealander Challenges

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — A spokesman for Auckland's Greenlane Hospital today challenged a claim by South African surgeons that they had performed the world's first double heart valve transplant using human valves.

The Johannesburg General Hospital said the operation, believed to be the world's first, was performed on a woman last Tuesday. She was in satisfactory condition.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Greenlane Hospital's cardiothoracic surgical team said surgeons at Greenlane performed the first double valve transplant using human valves three months ago and have done seven more such operations since then.

★ ★ ★

Six of the patients are still alive, the spokesman said, changing an earlier statement that all eight operations had been successful. He declined to give details of the patients.

He said all had been very successful.

The spokesman added that surgeons at Greenlane had performed double and even triple replacements using metal or plastic valves since 1965.

★ ★ ★

Single valve transplants have been performed in South Africa, the United States, Britain and New Zealand.

In Cape Town, South Africa, meanwhile, doctors told the wife of the world's only living full heart transplant patient, Philip Blaiberg, that he should be fit enough to be discharged from Groote Schuur Hospital by Feb 7.

Wood After Olympic Medal

Skater Packs Extra Uniform

By JERE CRAIG

United States' Olympic Team officials shouldn't look too harshly at Tim Wood, 19-year-old National men's figure skating champion from Bloomfield Hills, if he wears his monogrammed John Carroll University sweater sometimes in deference to his especially tailored team uniform.

After all, Tim is the only known U.S. collegian to win his varisty letter in figure skating.

He currently is with U.S. figure skaters at the Olympic Village in Grenoble, France, site of the Winter Olympics which will begin early next week.

Moreover, the slender political science sophomore was presented his varsity monogram while cutting classes rather than figures on the ice.

It all was done without repercussion from the Cleveland campus.

PRESENTATION MADE

Young Tim received his letter last Monday at the Roosevelt Hotel in New York City two days after surprising figure skating followers by capturing the men's singles title at Philadelphia.

Third-ranked going into the competition, he grabbed the lead over defending champ Gary Visconti of Detroit and New Jersey's Scott Allen with a strong exhibition in the compulsory figures.

Then, while Montanan John (Misha) Petkovich wowed the Spectrum spectators with a brilliant free-style display to jump from fourth to second, Tim methodically carved out sufficient free-skating points to retain his hold on first place in the Saturday finals.

The 1966 Bloomfield Hills graduate felt confident of realizing his first-place dreams before reaching Philadelphia.

"I matured a great deal in the past few months," he noted, "and I think this was reflected in my training program. I concentrated a lot more on compulsory figures this time than free skating."

PRACTICE

This grew out of his daily five-hours-a-morning practice sessions with his professional coach Ronnie Baker in Cleveland.

"Ron is responsible for getting me to where I am," Tim emphasizes.

His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wood of Mayflower Court, will fly to France Sunday to watch him bid for an Olympic medal.

"I think I've got a good chance at a silver medal," he states. "But a gold medal demands a great deal. It will be extremely difficult with all the competition."

His reservation could stem from the fact that Austria's Emmerich Danzer, the defending men's world champion, could get the nod of the European judges at Grenoble.

HIGH POINT

The first-place finish at Philadelphia is the high point of a competitive career that began nine years ago for the Detroit Skating Club member.

His improvement was apparent and his optimism enhanced by an impressive second place finish Thanksgiving week on the ice at Grenoble in a World's Invitational Meet.

A French skater won the event. Petkovich was ninth while neither Allen nor Visconti were able to compete.

While he has been on several teams representing the U.S., this was his first national men's title. Following his championship, Tim went to New York City where he was outfitted with an attractive complete cold-weather U.S. team outfit for his 5-10, 145-pound frame.

But when the plane embarked last Tuesday for France, his team luggage also included a blue sweater with a gold C.

CLIPPING WINGS — Minnesota North Star goalie Cesare Maniago falls backward as he kicks away a shot by the Detroit Red Wings in the first period of their National Hockey League in Minnesota yesterday afternoon. Coming in from behind to try for the rebound is Wings' Floyd Smith. Maniago turned in a sparkling performance in the nets as Minnesota won, 2-1.

Wildcats' Rupp Seeking Record Cage Triumph

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Adolph Rupp, the legendary "Man in the Brown Suit," goes after a record-breaking victory tonight, voicing unconcern over the record but the same old fierce desire to win.

"To win, that's the name of the game," the 67-year-old Rupp said after his ninth-ranked Kentucky Wildcats had topped Louisiana State 121-95 at Baton Rouge Saturday.

The victory was the 771st for Rupp — all in a 38-year career at Kentucky — and tied him for No. 1 on the all-time list with Phog Allen, his former coach at Kansas. Allen retired 12 years ago.

"Bless his bones," Allen said in Lawrence, Kan. "I'm glad he's tied it."

Rupp, who seeks the recordbreaker tonight against Mississippi at Oxford, Miss., was much less enthusiastic.

Detroiters Beat Flyers; Lose to Minnesota

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, back home after splitting a pair of weekend games with expansion clubs, have three days to regroup their forces before resuming National Hockey League action Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The Wings, beaten 2-1 Sunday by the Minnesota North Stars, play the Los Angeles Kings Thursday in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

In other NHL games, New York defeated Oakland 4-2, Pittsburgh blanked Boston 1-0, Toronto upended Chicago 3-1 and Los Angeles shutout Philadelphia 2-0.

The Wings outshot the North Stars 35-24 in a nationally-televised Sunday game, but managed only one fluke goal off Minnesota netminder Cesare Maniago.

Maniago played a sensational game, halting the Wings at most every turn. The only Detroit goal was scored by Norm Ullman in the seoond period on a shot stopped by Maniago, who lost the puck, which dropped behind him into the net.

★ ★ ★

Ullman scored two goals Saturday in Detroit's 3-2 victory over Philadelphia, but Sunday's loss snapped a three-game unbeaten string for Detroit.

KNOCKED OVER

Minnesota's Roy Cullen opened the scoring by beating Roger Crozier with Detroit a man short at 11:36 of the first period. Ullman's goal tied the score in the second period. But the North Stars got the deciding tally 35 seconds later when Wayne Connelly's flat shot from 25 feet knocked Crozier backward. As he fell the puck skipped off him into the net.

Sunday's results left Montreal on top of the East Division, one point ahead of Toronto, Boston and Chicago, all tied for second and three points ahead of New York.

Minnesota moved into second place in the West Division race, four points back of Philadelphia.

★ ★ ★

Pete Stemkowski scored a pair of unassisted goals in Toronto's victory over Chicago and Les Binkley's spectacular goaltending and a second period goal by rookie George Konik carried Pittsburgh to its narrow shutout victory over Boston.

★ ★ ★

Rod Gilbert scored two goals in New York's victory over Oakland, the Ranger's 11th straight home ice victory on a Sunday, and Terry Sawchuk recorded his first shutout of the year in Los Angeles' triumph over Philadelphia.

Talented Collegian Waiting, Watching

NEW YORK (AP) — Ken Stabler's multiple talents have caught the slick Alabama southpaw in heavy traffic — at the crossroads between professional football and major league baseball.

But the Snake is in no hurry to slither out of the tie-up.

"I'll just wait and see how things go in the football draft before deciding what to do," the 22-year-old pitcher-quarterback said following his selection by the Houston Astros in baseball's winter free-agent draft last Saturday.

Stabler, who earned the nickname "snake" with a lightning-quick release as Alabama's passing master in 1966 and 1967, won't have long to wait. He figures to be an early selection Tuesday when the American and National Football leagues conduct their second combined college draft.

Pro scouts rate Stabler just behind UCLA's Gary Beban and on a par with Kim Hammond of Florida State, Billy Stevens of Texas-El Paso and Greg Landry of Massachusetts, the other outstanding pro quarterback prospects available next fall.

The New York Mets drafted Stabler a year ago, but he decided to stay in school and retain his football eligibility. He was Houston's second round pick Saturday and the 24th of 128 players selected in the regular phase of the draft session.

REGULAR DRAFT

Another 162 players, who were drafted previously but did not sign contracts, were picked off by the 20 major league clubs in a special phase. Stabler was eligible in the regular phase because he was drafted by the Mets last winter, then passed over in the summer selection.

Two other prominent gridders who doubled as pitching aces— right-handers Bruce Matte of Miami, Ohio, and Ed Mantie of Syracuse—were plucked in the baseball draft. Matte, all-star quarterback in the Mid-America Conference two years ago, was picked by the Mets. Mantie, standout defensive back for Syracuse last season, was selected by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The No. 1 choice in the regular phase was George Hendrick, an 18-year-old outfielder from Los Angeles, who was selected by the Oakland Athletics. The Minnesota Twins tabbed shortstop Eric Soderholm, 19, of Miami Beach, Fla., to open the special phase. Soderholm previously had been drafted by the Athletics, who failed to sign him.

Ten AFL teams and 16 NFL clubs will select a total of 462 players who have completed their college eligibility in pro football's monster draft Tuesday.

Celtics Trying to Prove 76ers Not Best NBA Team

By the Associated Press

The Boston Celtics insist this is the year to regain the National Basketball Association title from Philadelphia, but Coach Alex Hannum of the 76ers is outwardly calm about the situation.

The Celtics, dethroned a year ago by the 76ers, posted their fourth victory in five meetings with their arch rivals this season by defeating Philadelphia 115-103 Sunday.

★ ★ ★

In other NBA games, New York nipped San Francisco 133-130, Los Angeles walloped St. Louis 128-113 in Miami Beach and Seattle thumped Baltimore 135-126 in Tacoma Wash.

In ABA action, Dallas upended Anaheim 118-115, Pittsburgh edged New Jersey 123-122 and Oakland turned back Kentucky 108-98.

FELL BEHIND

The Celtics led by as much as eight points in the first half and were in front 65-61 at the intermission, but fell behind 84-78 in the first 10½ minutes of the third period.

Suddenly Boston broke loose, outscoring the 76ers 15-1 in a surge which carried to a 93-85 lead early in the finale. Howell helped as he scored 12 points in the fourth period.

Sam Jones matched Howell's output with 29 points, including 22 in the first half.

Wilt Chamberlian topped Philadelphia with 19 points.

★ ★ ★

In New York, Walt Frazier tossed in two free throws with 37 seconds remaining to play, breaking a 127-127 tie and sending the Knicks in front to stay.

Cazzie Russell, who scored all of his 26 points in the second half, then added the clinching basket. Frazier finished with 23 points, 10 assists and 15 rebounds while Rudy LaRusso topped the Warriors with 31 points.

The Lakers, behind Elgin Baylor's 29 points and 15 rebounds and Jerry West's 22 points, streaked for 10 straight points early in the third period to break open a close contest. West, returning after missing two games with a broken nose, chipped in with 22 points. Lou Hudson had 23.

STREAK ENDS

Seattle snapped a three-game losing streak while halting Baltimore's winning skein at four. Bob Weiss collected 10 points in the final period in triggering the Super Sonics. Earl Monroe of the bullets topped the scorers with 36 points while Al Tucker was high for the Sonics with 25.

In Saturday's games, St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 120-111, Detroit topped Los Angeles 125-119 and Baltimore nipped San Diego 123-122.

Goslin, Cuyler Honored

Clutch Hitters Join Hall of Fame Lineup

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's Hall of Fame has been further enriched by the enrollment of two clutch-hitting outfielders who bowed out of the game 30 long years ago—Leon "Goose" Goslin and the late Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler.

Goslin, who played 18 American League seasons, most of them with Washington, and Cuyler, an 18-year standout for Pittsburgh and three other National League clubs, were elected to the Hall Sunday by a unanimous vote of the Veterans Committee headed by former commissioner Ford C. Frick.

The committee considers former stars whole playing careers ended more than 20 years ago.

Goslin compiled a .316 lifetime batting average and swatted 248 home runs from 1921 to 1938. He began and ended his career with the Senators and also played for Detroit and the St. Louis Browns.

Among his many accomplishments was the World Series winning base hit for the Detroit Tigers against the Chicago Cubs in 1935.

"I also got six straight hits with Washington in the World Series in 1924," he recalled, "and nobody ever has come close to that."

Cuyler, who died 18 years ago at the age of 50, batted .321 over a career that also started in 1921 and wound up in 1938. The Harrisville, Mich., product once collected 16 straight hits and had six in a row three times.

He matched Goslin's World Series feat with the deciding hit —a bases-loaded eighth inning double of Walter Johnson—in the seventh game of the Pirates' 1925 Series triumph over Washington.

Cuyler's game-winning blow overshadowed the three homers and six RBI produced in the Series by the Senators' top hitter — "Goose" Goslin.

Michigan Skaters Post Two Wins

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Michigan skaters captured two first places, one second and three third places in the National Outdoor Speed Skating Championships over the weekend in St. Paul.

Sheila Young of Detroit took first place in the intermediate girls 880-yard race and Ed Taveirne of Detroit won the junior boys one-sixth mile race.

Linda Michaelski of Detroit took second in the senior women's one-sixth mile race.

Taveirne took third in the intermediate boys two-mile race, Barbara Best of Midland came in third in the intermediate girls one-sixth mile contest and Taveirne finished third in the junior boys 880.

Miss Michaelski ranked fourth out of eight in the senior women's class with 5 points. Miss Young ranked second with 13 points and Miss Best third with seven points out of a field of six in the intermediate girls class.

Taveirne ranked for a twoway tie for eighth in a field of 11 in the intermediate boys class with two points and third out of eight with 9 points in the junior boys class.

Chandler Harper 1st in Senior Golf Test, Four Ahead of Snead

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., overcame the sand traps Sunday to hold most of his seven-stroke third-round lead and win the PGA Seniors Gold Championship and $4,000 with 279.

Second was Sam Snead, four strokes off the pace.

Harper had a par 72 Sunday but coupled with his sizzling third-round 64, that was eaily enough to win. Harper exploded his ball out of the traps to within putting distance on several occasions.

On the 18th hole he muffed a four-foot putt when a spectator fainted, causing a disturbance.

Casper Hits Mark as Golfing Prophet

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Billy Casper is a world renowned golfer. He is also something of a prophet.

Last week the two-time U.S. Open champion was asked what score he thought would win the $100,000 Los Angeles open tournament.

"I'll take 274," said Casper. It turned out to be the exact figure—and Casper had it Sunday.

This was Casper's 13th appearance in the 42nd annual Los Angeles Event, and No. 13 proved lucky. Casper took a one-stroke lead into Sunday's final round over Brookside Park's 7,021-yard, par 36-35—71 test and when it was all over, he was three strokes in front of that man, Arnold Palmer.

Lions Deal Hilgenberg for Steeler Defender

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers announced Sunday they have traded veteran defensive end John Baker to the Detroit Lions for linebacker Wally Hilgenberg in a straight player deal.

Hilgenberg, 26, was the Lions' fourth draft choice in 1964. The 235-pound linebacker played at the University of Iowa.

Baker, 33, is a 10-year-veteran of the National Football League. The Steelers picked him up as a free agent from the Philadelphia Eagles in 1963.

★ ★ ★

Steelers coach Bill Austin said Hilgenberg would be used as a middle and corner linebacker.

LOSING EFFORT — Ralph Brisker (10) of University of Detroit makes a diving try for a rebound against Marquette in their game in Detroit Saturday night, but the visitors' Biran Brunkhorst (40) came up with the ball. Marquette's Pat Smith (11) moved in at left. Marquette won, 80-70.

Crowning Touch by U.S. Skiers

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) — For most of week-long Winter World Student Games U.S. competitors usually were also-rans, but on the final two days the skiers took over and the U.S. showing turned from dismal to brilliant.

★ ★ ★

Scott Pyles, a 20-year-old Western State College, Colo. student, put the crowning touch on the U.S. achievement on the final day Sunday by winning the downhill race.

★ ★ ★

Pyles flashed down the 1 3,100-meter course in 2 minutes, 15.90 seconds, 1.26 faster than silver medalist Guenther Scheuerl of West Germany.

★ ★ ★

Loris Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., picked up the bronze by finishing just .06 of a second behind Scheuerl. Jim Morning of Santa Monica, Calif., finished fifth in 2:18.34.

FOURTH MEDAL

Pyles not only picked up the fourth gold medal of the Games for the United States, he became the male counterpart of Cathy Nagel of Enumclaw, Wash., by getting a third-place bronze in the Alpine combined.

★ ★ ★

The 19-year-old Miss Nagel, whose sister, Judy, is an Olympic team member, was the brightest light for the U.S. team early in the Games, when she won the women's giant slalom.

Saturday she started the U.S. surge by winning the slalom and combined gold medals. Vicki Jones of Tahoe City, Calif., was second to Miss Nagel all three times.

★ ★ ★

Russia won the most medals, eight golds, five silvers and five bronzes. The United States was second with 4-3-3 and Japan third with 3-4-4.

Cautious Miler Misses His Goal

BOSTON (AP) — Sam Bair's coach says the bony little miler can break four minutes right now and he knows it. Sam Bair says so too.

The only thing that kept Bair from turning the trick Saturday night in the Boston A.A. Games, said Kent State Coach Doug Raymond, was overcautiousness.

"He didn't go out early enough," Raymond said. "He likes to lay back and rely upon his kick too much. He's beginning to realize he has to get out there. He could have done it tonight."

As it was, Bair, who at 21 stands a wispy 5-6 and weighs 126 pounds, ran the fastest mile of the 1968 indoor season, winning over a strong field in 4:01.9.

Bob Seagren set a Boston record in the pole vault at 17-0¾, but failed on three attempts to raise his world indoor record an inch from 17-4¼. Still, it was the 12th time he has cleared 17 feet indoors, though he is no longer alone in that department.

Saturday night in Portland, Ore., Finland's Altti Alarotu, a student at Brigham Young, cleared 17 feet.

Alarotu's pole vault and a dead heat in the 60 yard dash were the highlights of the Oregon Invitational at Portland, while veteran Mel Pender's triumph in the 60 was the surprise of the Albuquerque Invitational, the other two major Saturday meets.

Charles Green, formerly of Nebraska, and Canada's Harry Jerome tied in the 60 at Portland, each in 6 seconds flat, while Pender, a 30-year-old Army lieutenant, shocked a sparkling field in Albuquerque, also in 6 flat.

Bob Beamon, University of Texas-El Paso, remained unbeaten in the broad jump, going 25-8½ at Albuquerque, while George Woods, Long Beach, Calif., had a 66-11¼ shot put, best of the season.

Seaholm Wins

Six Seaholm wrestlers bagged titles Saturday in leading the team to a slim victory in a quadrangular match at Lincoln Park.

Seaholm posted 45 points, Melvindale 44, Lincoln Park 18 and Ann Arbor 17.

Claiming crowns for the Maples were Dave Forester (95), Kevin Wilson (112), Jeff Montieth (145), Ron Brodie (154), Jim Winston (165) and Mike Hermoyian (heavyweight).

Second Half Hurts MCJC

Urbana College of Ohio pulled away from Michigan Christian Junior College with a 52-point second half for a 93-75 conquest Saturday.

The Warriors trailed, 41-36, at the Intermission, but the Ohioans (7-6) used a balanced attack to outdistance their host (6-8). Four players were in double figures for Urbana.

★ ★ ★

Nick Mescher's 18 points and Gale Trees' 17 led the winners. Garth Pleasant of MCJC and Tim Harris hit 23 and 21, respectively.

The Guns of Judgment Day

Cliff Farrell's new Western thriller

From the Doubleday & Co. novel; Copyright © 1967, by Cliff Farrell. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

Chapter 17

A horseman came across the irrigation bridge at that moment, his mount at a gallop.

The arrival was the tall, impulsive Alex Emmons. He was in the working garb of a cowhand. His jaw was still wollen from the blow Dan Briscoe had delivered, but he evidently had escaped any lasting damage.

He eyed Dan frowningly. "Who are you?" he demanded, halting his horse so as to block the path of Dan Briscoe's mount. . .

Dan realized he was still a complete stranger to Alex Emmons. Evidently Kathleen Royal had not told Emmons exactly what had happened to him that night in Flag.

"I'm leaving," Dan said, and tried to move his horse ahead.

DID A FAVOR

"Just a minute!" Emmons snapped. "Katey, who—?

"It's all right, Alex," Kathleen Royal spoke sharply. "Mr. Driscoll went to considerable trouble to do me a favor. He's on his way back to town, if you'll get out of his path."

"Favor? What kind of a favor?"

"He returned a piece of jewelry I had lost," she eaid. "I apologize for Alex, Mr. Driscoll. He's doing what he thinks is best."

LOOKS BACK

"I'm sure he is," Dan said.

"All right," Alex Emmons said angrily, and moved his horse aside,. 'But, after this, I do my own apologizin', Katey."

Dan looked back as he rode across the irrigation bridge. Emmons had dismounted and evidently was demanding information from Kathleen Royal.

★ ★ ★

It was evident that Emmons was in love with Kathleen Royal and was quick to be jealous.

The sun was blazing hot on Dan's shoulders and he was grateful when his mount carried him into the shade of a stretch of scattered pines.

HORSE APPEARS

His horse suddenly halted, its ears pricked. Off the trail, another horse had appeared in the timber. The animal was caked with lather and dust.

It bore a saddle that had slipped. It moved at a crabwise walk, for it had the weight of a man, dragging from a stirrup.

The man's right foot was caught. He was bloody and moaning. He wore the chaps, leather cuffs and chin strap of a brush rider.

His face was discolored and gashed. Not all of that damage had been caused by being dragged.

BADLY BEATEN

Dan realized the man must have been brutally beaten with fists or perhaps boots.

Can removed the man's hat. He was bald-pated, with a fringe of graying hair. He must be pushing 60, Dan decided. He freed the foot from the stirrup and carried him to the shade of a tree. . .

The man's eyes opened. He looked up at Dan, terror returning. "You're all right now," Dan said soothingly. "What happened?"

The man could not answer. His horse bore the Spanish Bell brand.

RIDES FOR HELP

"Easy, old-timer," Dan said. "You're from Spanish Bell, I take it. You lie here while I hustle to the ranch and have a wagon sent out for you while someone goes to getch a doctor. Do you understand?"

The man mumbled incoherently.

Dan rode away. The pound of the horse's hoofs on the bridge brought Kathleen Royal hurrying to the gallery, followed by her father in the wheel chair.

Alex Emmons came from the corral, his saddle over his shoulder. Emmons dropped the saddle and came at a run.

"Man hurt!" Dan explained. "A mile or so down the road. Looks like he was beat up by someone, and then was dragged when he fainted and fell from the saddle. He was riding a Spanish Bell horse. Old-timer. Bald. About 60, I'd say."

Alex Emmons smashed a first savagely into his palm. "That'll be poor old Baldy. The dirty, filthy, yellow cowards. Picking on an old man."

"It's my fault!", Kathleen Royal sobbed. "Who'll be next? I never should have let Baldy go back to riding range again. Is he hurt very bad, Mr. Driscoll?"

★ ★ ★

"No telling," Dan said. "You'll need a wagon to carry him in. Somebody ought to ride for a doctor, if there's one in Flat Butte."

RIDE AHEAD

"Saddle my horse, Alex," Kathleen called. "I'll get the medical kit together."

Blocky-shouldered Mexican Vaquero appeared, and began helping Emmons harness a team to a weathered stake wagon.

Dan rode to the corral. Alex Emmons pointed out a horse to be cut for Kathleen, and told him where to find her saddle.

★ ★ ★

She and Dan rode ahead, with Emmons and the Mexican following in the wagon. They found the beaten man sitting where Dan had left him.

FIGHTS TEARS

Kathleen fought back tears as she knelt beside him. "How did it happen, Baldy?" she choked as she began dabbing away blood and dust from his face.

Baldy had to try a time or two before he could form words. "It was them two roughs thet Livvy Shannon hired. Tom Smith an' Jim Martin.

"Somebody cut thet wire fence along the river, an' some o' our stock crossed over an' got onto the claims o' them squatters. I was roundin' 'em up when them two showed up.

★ ★ ★

"They said I'd cut the fence an' shoved the cattle onto the boomers' land. They dragged me off'n my horse an' mauled me 'til I thought I was done fer.

"I managed to git back in the saddle after they'd gone. That's all I can recollect."

Dan and the vaquero, who said his name was Emilio Sandez, brought more water. Kathleen Royal doctored Baldy's injuries. He had deep cuts on his face and body. His assailants had put the boots to him, and the chances were he had a broken rib or two.

"Alex, head for town and fetch Doc Anderson," Kathleen said. "Baldy, you're going to be all right, but you'll need some expert stitching, and you may have a broken left wrist."

★ ★ ★

"I been sewed together before," Baldy droaked. "An' I lost count o' busted arms an' laigs years ago." His spunk was returning. "I been worked over by bad horses more'n once, but this is the first time I let human devils git away with it."

ANGRY WITH KATE

He eyed Kathleen accusingly. "If'n only I hadn't listened to you an' had packed Old Cedar with me, like I wanted, it'd have been a different story. From now on, I pack a gun when I ride range, an' I ain't lettin' no calico talk me out'n it."

Kathleen shook as she and Emilio helped Blady into the wagon. Alex Emmons mounted his horse and rode away toward Flat Butte.

Emilio handled the wagon and held the team to a walk as he headed for the ranch. Kathleen mounted, rode alongside the wagon and said something to Emilio in Spanish. Whatever it was, Emilio was startled.

★ ★ ★

"Where are you going, querida mia?" he spoke, protesting.

RIDES OFF

"I'll be back soon," she said. "Josefa can take care of Baldy until the doctor comes."

"Please, please, senorita!" Emilio pleaded. "Come home weeth me. I do not like the look in your face. You weel get into very, very bad trouble if you—"

Kathleen wheeled her horse, and was riding away.

★ ★ ★

Emilio appealed to Dan. "Stop her, senior! She has gone loco!"

Dan, too, had not liked the expression on Kathleen's face. He had seen that some fixed glare in the eyes of men who were about to start on a rampage.

He swung his horse, and rode in pursuit.

GI in Viet Ships Python to Zoo

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Portland Zoo has a present from the jungles of Vietnam. It's a 16-foot, 100-pound python.

The snake is the gift of Army Lt. William A. Willey, the husband of a Portland woman.

★ ★ ★

Willey captured the python while on patrol in December.

TO U.S. BY JET

The snake was taken to Saigon by helicopter and shipped to Portland by jet airplane. The zoo paid the freight bill.

Willey named the snake Willie. The zoo put him in a cage with Portland's only other python, Bettina. It turned out that Willie is a female. Bettina is a male.

Oswald: "Ely Culbertson once said 'Show me all 52 cards and the Culbertson system will get to the right final contract.' What he meant was that in the framework there are enough spots for choice to enable you to bid perfectly when you see all the cards."

JACOBY

Jim: It is a different proposition at the table. Today's hand is from the 1967 World's championship. Both teams played at four spades. As anyone can see, there are 12 easy tricks for declarer.

"Even a 4-0 trump break wouldn't bother him in the slightest although the combination of a singleton club opposite six clubs to the ace and a club opening would allow the defense to get in a club ruff and beat a slam contract."

Oswald: "The bidding in the box is Jacoby bidding. North's two no-trump which actually is wo no-trump which actually is a strong spade raise and forces to four spades or higher. South's three spade rebid shows a good hand with no singleton. North's raise to four spades is a sign-off and shows no slam interest at all."

★ ★ ★

Jim: "We have inserted a question mark for South's next bid. The reason for this is that North's bid of four spades showed complete lack of interest in a slam, and while we see that the slam is there for the bidding we can't really say that South should see it at the table."

Oswald: "It is a cinch to get to the slam at this point if South takes the bull by the horns and bids it via the Blackwood route. If he just invites it by bidding five in a suit the chances are that North will sign off again at five spades."

Jim: "In any event there are only 29 high card points in the combined hands and no one holds a singleton. We can't find fault with anyone for missing this slam."

For Tuesday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Friends who report on financial affairs may be victims of self-deception. Realize this and play waiting game. Means don't rush in where wise men fear to tread. Hold tight to cash.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Stress versatile approach. What appears as opposition lacks real substance. Be realistic. Realize those who have real authority are in your corner. Act accordingly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Strengthen communication lines with associates, coworkers. One who performs service for you deserves extra consideration. Give it. Show others you are appreciative.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Day features opportunity for change, travel. Much mental stimulation indicated. Be sure of yourself where romance enters picture. Desire could conflict with reality.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): The more anxious you appear, the less you are likely to achieve. Means relaxed attitude attracts success. Message becomes clear before day is finished. Legal affairs require attention.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Important to be perceptive. Analyze—draw conclusions based on facts. Element of deception exists. Know this and be on guard. Take nothing for granted. Double check.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Good lunar aspect today coincides with creative interests. Be an innovator. Don't be satisfied with status quo. Respect your own abilities—others will follow your example.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You may find yourself in situation which appears to lack solid base. Spread sphere of activity. Battle tendency to be restricted. You have much to offer—others know it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Stress originality of thought, action. Take the lead. Obtain hint from LIBRA message. Accent today on ideas, journeys. Follow through — tie loose ends. Get program under way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Highlight imagination. You gain in material way if alert to opportunity. Accent on income potential. Many may make promises. But few are in position to fulfill them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Cycle high. Chance for advancement is clearly present. Key is to utilize alternative methods. Don't feel tied down to losing proposition. Permit logical actions to dominate.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Excellent for dining out, participate in group activity. Build on solid base by checking routine procedures. Study VIRGO message. Set example of persistence, determination.

'Murph the Surf' Held After Robbery, Gun Battle

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Jack "Murph the Surf" Murphy, the beachboy jewel thief and former stunt man, dived through the glass door of a mansion Sunday into a gunfight with police.

The blond surfing champion, diver, ladies man and amateur violinist, whose suave good looks were his trademark, was no longer handsome when he arrived at police headquarters for a lineup in bare feet, bloody bandages, handcuffs and a backless yellow hospital gown.

Murphy and three other men were charged with the pistol-point robbery of a wealthy widow, her young housemaid and her 8-year-old niece in a millionaire's row mansion.

Murphy, 32, who stole the Star of India and the DeLong ruby; Paul Gagnon, 26; Bobby Greenwood, 32; and Salvatore Grech, 26, were charged with armed robbery and assault with intent to kill. Bond was set on each at $75,000, then boosted to $100,000 and then canceled.

Il were arrested after a wil gunfight with more than a dozen offlcers on quiet Pine Tree Drive, just across Indian Creek Canal from the Fontainebleau Hotel, about noon Sunday.

Police Chief Rocky Pomerance said the four came to the home of hotel owner Olive Wofford in a rented panel truck. One, without a mask, said he had a package for Mrs. Wofford masked with pieces of knitted sweater tied over their faces.

The young woman, Judy Pheil, and Mrs. Wofford's niece, Jill Henderson, were bound with wire. The four charged to the second floor bedroom where Mrs. Wofford was resting, Pomerance said.

"Money and jewelry, where are they?" one barked.

THREATS

At the point of .45 automatics and under threats to "scald the kid with boiling water," Mrs. Wofford said, she opened her safe and allowed the bandits to rummage through her 19-room home.

But a silent alarm alerted police who rushed to the Wofford mansion.

Pomerance said Murphy fired two shots at the lock of a French door but missed. Then the former stunt man—who once scaled to the fourth floor of the Museum of Natural History in New York to sack the jewel room—crashed through the glass, cutting his cheek and chin.

Murphy, Gagnon and Greenwood were rounded up quickly.

TRACKING DOGS

Grech was tracked by a police dog to the gatehouse of another mansion.

★ ★ ★

A chrome-plated .45 which Pomerance said belonged to Murphy was found on the roof of the house next door. Other weapons, ropes, gloves and masks were fished from the canal by divers.

Murphy was bandaged at a hospital and taken to police headquarters. As he entered in the hospital gown he socked a

Then, dressed in jail clothes, Murphy stood in alineup with five other men who mpolice had bandaged to match. Murphy's lawyer, Jack Nageley, said the witnesses made no identification.

For his part in engineering the theft of the 563-carat Star of India Oct. 29, 1964, with Allan Kuhn and Roger Clark, Murphy served about two years of a three-year sentence on New York's Rikers Island.

ESCORTED FROM HOSPITAL — Jack "Murph the Surf" Murphy is escorted to the Miami Beach Police Station by detectives yesterday after he was arrested with three other men following a robbery. Murphy cut his face while trying to escape through a glass door.

Crash Kills 2 Men, Michigan Woman

HURLEY, Wis (UPI) — A Michigan woman and two Illinois men were killed late Saturday night in a two-car crash on U.S. 51 about 11 miles south of here in Iron County.

★ ★ ★

Killed were Mrs. Ruby K. Koch, 51, Ironwood, and Joseph S. Abrahamson, 23, and Michael C. Lebaron, 22, both of Waukegan, Ill.

Mrs. Koch's husband, the Rev. John F. Koch, was hospitalized at St. Mary's Hospital in Duluth, Minn., in critical condition.

Great Train Robber Gets Royal British Welcome

LONDON (UPI) — England has a way with royalty, and everything was just so for yesterday's welcome home for that king of crime, great train robber Charles Wilson.

★ ★ ★

The crowd murmured and swarms of bobbies jiggled their walkie-talkies at Heathrow Airport when the big jet airliner set down after the flight from Canada and out stepped beaming Thomas Butler.

Butler is past Scotland Yard retirement age but had been given another year on the force to get his man, Wilson.

Wilson, convicted and imprisoned for 30 years for the October 1963, $7.3-million robbery of a mail train, broke jail in 1964.

Butler tracked him down to Rigaud, Que., a month ago. For four weeks he watched Wilson, hoping to be led to some of the loot and to Bruce Reynolds, the only other great train robber still loose.

FLIGHT 'A ROMP'

But Butler appeared pleased enought to escort Wilson through what British police described as the kind of security welcome usually given only visiting kings and presidents. Wilson clearly enjoyed it — up to a point.

The flight apparently was quite a romp. Butler had pocketed the handcuffs. Wilson dined — first-class style — on smoked salmon and steak.

Fellow travellers reported he was "calm and collected" from Montreal to London. He joked with Butler. He laughed. The king of crime signed autographs for stewardesses. He chatted with fellow passengers. "Very jovial," said one passenger.

"Just before he left he kissed the stewardess," said another. But at the door Wilson showed that bid of modesty for which some royalty is noted.

COVERS FACE

He covered his face with his coat, being shy of photographers.

Butler escorted Wilson into a car. The king of crime was whisked to a maximum security prison on the Isle of Wight. But there was one of those accidents that sometimes mars the best of pomp and circumstance.

Butlet's car sped from the airport and into a five-vehicle traffic accident. Police said they transferred Wilson to another car and whisked him away.

Early Trading Active

Stock Market Shows Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced early Monday, reassured that the Pueblo crisis got no worse over the weekend. Trading was active.

★ ★ ★

Gains outnumbered losses by about 5 to 3.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 4.22 to 869.28.

Gains of fractions to a point or so peppered the list of key stocks.

Freeport Sulphur and Westinghouse Electric advanced nearly 2 points each.

Up a point or so were Sun Chemical, General Dynamics, Raytheon, American Smelting, Kennecot, du Pont, Owens-Illinois and Schering.

United Air Lines dropped a point.

The aerospace defense stocks were mostly higher but showed no unusual strength.

STRING OF GAINS

A string of fractional gains was displayed by the leading steels, motors, rubbers and farm implements.

A fairly bright business outlook plus a need for a technical recovery after a long decline provided incentive for the market to overcome uncertainties on the international scene, brokers said.

Opening blocks included:

Mcdonnell-Douglas, up ½ at 56½ on 10,900 shares; Benguet, up ¼ at 10¾ on 18,000; American Telephone, off ¼ at 51¼ on 14,300; Pennsylvania Railroad, up ¼ at 57 on 6,300; and Standard Oil (New Jersey), off ⅜ at 70¼ on 6,000.

On Friday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .9 to 315.2.

★ ★ ★

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Fractional gains were made by Barnes Engineering, Interphoto, Pyle National, CCI and Reliance Insurance.

2 Are Charged in Auto Chase

DETROIT (AP) — Two Detroiters who apparently don't appreciate parking tickets were freed on $5,000 bond each Sunday after allegedly trying to run down a police officer and leading three police departments an the Wayne County Sheriff's Department on a 16-mile chase.

Sheriff's Department Patrolman Russell Gregory suffered a cut hand as he was sideswiped by the outside mirror of the speeding auto, police reported.

The incident started, police said, when a parking violation summons was issued to a car at Detroit's Metro Airport. When the car's driver and four passengers returned, police said, officers approached the auto to order the driver to move it.

Instead, according to police, the driver—identified as Helen Sampson, 22, of Detroit—locked herself in the car and rolled the windows up. The passengers did the same, police said, and one —James Easley, 30, of Detroit—reportedly was overheard to tell the driver to "run the cop down."

Gregory reportedly was injured when he held up his hand in an attempt to get the escaping auto to stop.

Cars from the Airport Division of the Sheriff's Department pursued the auto and three nearby police departments—Allen Park, Melvindale and Taylor were called. A total of five shots were fired as the auto ran two police roadblocks. The fleeing car finally was stopped when a police car pulled in front of it and boxed it in on I-94 near Southfield.

Miss Samson was charged with felonious driving and Easley was charged with felonious assault with an auto and attempting to elude a police officer. The three remaining passengers were freed following questioning.

Dificit Biggest for Peacetime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Any way you figure it, President Johnson has achieved history's biggest peacetime deficit.

His budget message today estimated that red ink will total $19.8 billion in fiscal 1968, the government year now half over.

★ ★ ★

That tops a Republican record. The previous high was the 12.4-billion deficit of President Dwight D. Eisenhower in fiscal 1959.

The Johnson gap is in terms of the new "unified" budget, but it would have been almost as big—$18.6 billion—under the old "administrative" budget which Eisenhower used.

★ ★ ★

The most towering deficit of all came in the war year of 1943—$57.4 billion.

Eisenhower blamed his deficit on a recession. Johnson, if he chose, could blame his on the fact this particular peacetime year isn't very peaceable—defense is costing $75 billion.

Parade Dragon a Fire-Breather

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The St. Paul Winter Carnival parade got some realistic excitement when a parade-float dragon supposedly spewing smoke out its nostrils caught fire.

The blaze started in the hidden fogging machine used to create the smoke effect. It knocked the award-winning float out of the parade Saturday.

Gathering of 'the Insulted' Insults the 'Great Insulter'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Great Insulter Don Rickles got insulted right back by the people he'd insulted, during a Friars' stag luncheon the other day. Then he turned back on the mouths that had bitten him and bit them back again.

Bald Jack E. Leonard, the m.c. who also insults for a living, looked at the hairless guest of "honor" and said:

"Not only has he been doing my act for 12 years but he also stole my head."

WILSON

Jack E. hoped that Rickles' appearances on the Johnny Carson show "will be a stepping stone for you — like it was for Skitch Henderson" and claimed that Rickles' manager "taught bookkeeping to ex-Commissioner Marcus."

"I've seen Don entertain 50 times and I've always enjoyed his joke," Johnny Carson said, emphasizing the singular.

Jackie Vernon recited how kindly Rickles had been to him when he attended his performance in Las Vegas.

"He said 'We have a baby hippo here, let's give the little slob a hand.' "

And he added, "I never thought I'd see the day the Friars would honor a lounge act."

★ ★ ★

It was the biggest turn-out for a Friars stag in memory and most of the material was too sophisticated for publication. Ed Sullivan, Norm Crosby, William B. Williams, Flip Wilson, Bernie Allen, Pat Paulsen and Buddy Howe had their say.

The climax came when they presented Rickles with a portable TV set.

"I want to thank you for my 10th portable TV set," Rickles said. "These things don't work and they blow up. This is definitely a cheap gift."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

A jesting acquaintance of Mia Farrow said after she left with the Maharishi for India, "He's her new boy friend." (Frank Sinatra was at Jilly's, being attentive to a young person, a brunette) . . . Little Anne Ford and husband Johnny Uzielli have been tiffin'.

Albert Finney has a local fan who claims she's a Princess . . . London says Camilla Sparv, the beauty in "The High Commissioner," is being visited by Herbert Hoover 3d of N.Y. . . . Anne Miller was the prettiest gal at El Morocco (with ex-husband Bill Moss . . . The Rex Harrisons caught a preview of "Darling of the Day."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A comic went to Alaska and in six months became a hit. Now he boasts he was an overnight success.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Inflation is a matter of paying $8 for your wife's miniskirt — and $10 to have it altered.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Old age is when you find yourself using one bendover to pick up two items."

EARL'S PEARLS: The Late Late Show is handy. It gives parents something to watch while waiting for the kids to come home.

The Nevele Hotel names its ski slopes after celebrities. The staggered run is "the Dean Martin," and the curved one is "the Sophia Loren." The one for beginners — a straight line — is "the Twiggy." That's earl, brother.

A Look at TV

'Flesh-Blood': Misery

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — NBC-TV paid William Hanley $112,500 for his two-hour play, "Flesh and Blood," which arrived during the weekend. It is reported to be the highest amount video has paid a writer for a single work. It comes out to about $1,000 a minute. I hope the sum gives Hanley cause to smile, even for just a moment, in his next play.

I guess the first thing to say about this drama of a contemporary New York family whose members find out how little they really know each other is that it had powerful moments, was acted well and — as previously described — was "bold and daring" by television standards in its frankness.

And I guess the second thing to say about it is that, in two hours, there was not the slightest opportunity to summon a flicker of a smile about the human predicament, the human comedy that even tragedy can bring. It was two hours of sheer, unadulterated misery.

The producer and director was Arthur Penn, and the strong cast was composed of Edmond O'Brien, Kim Stanley, E. G. Marshall, Kim Darby, Suzanne Pleshette and Robert Duvall. The setting was an apartment in a condemned building where a family was gathering for New Year's Eve.

O'Brien is an aging ironworker, uncertain of himself at great heights, tortured because he couldn't save a young colleague who fell to his death. Miss Stanley portrayed O'Brien's stoical wife. Her secret is that after he was believed killed in wartime, she and his brother (Marshall) sought to comfort each other, and the result was a child (Miss Darby), who is shattered when she finds out as a grown girl in the play. The fact is that O'Brien has known all along, and borne the pain.

PLAGUE OF DISASTER

Marshall is a former ironworker, an ex-alcoholic who wanted to be a priest, and who now is dying. Everybody knows it. Miss Pleshette is O'Brien's shallow, sharp-talking daughter whose marriage is breaking up partly because her husband wants to engage in a wife-swapping experiment with another couple.

And Duvall, a son wounded severely in war, is a vegetable in a wheelchair, not hearing, saying or understanding anything.

Hanley showed a moving compassion in his treatment of his characters as their secrets and destroyed memories came out in conversations. The high point was O'Brien's poetic recollection of a daredevil contest he engaged in with the young ironworker on high before the boy plunged to his death.

But how much more genuine the whole play would have seemed if it had only offered more dimensions than its single note of misery and despair.

Trend to 90-Minute Shows

Producer Hits TV 'Long Form'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "The Long Form" is the popular phrase in television programming circles these days, and here's one veteran producer who opposes it—Sheldon Leonard talks for shows that last 90 minutes or longer. Network programming chiefs are thinking more and more in such terms, because of the dominance of feature films in the ratings this season.

★ ★ ★

"It's a natural progression for TV to go in the direction of the Long Form," said one network boss. "The audience is demanding more quality and that usually—though not always—means a longer format: feature movies, and 90-minute or even two-hour dramas that allow room for character and plot development."

The move toward lengthier entertainment has placed in jeopardy one of television's prestige shows, "I Spy." Sheldon Leonard, creator and producer of the Robert Culp, Bill Cosby series, admitted that the show's future hangs in the balance. This season it has been whomped in the ratings by Carol Burnett and "Big Valley."

FEATURE MOVIES

NBC has already announced that the Monday night spot will be occupied next season by feature movies. That will be the third night of feature films for NBC, and thus viewers will be able to see network movies every night of the week.

"If 'I Spy' is renewed, it will mean NBC will have to find another time slot for us," observed Leonard. "That won't be easy, with three nights of movies. And much of the network's talk about new series is in terms of 90 minutes or more. If such shows get into next season's schedule, there won't be much room left for an hour show."

Leonard deplores the trend. He was one of the pioneers of the half-hour situation comedy, partnering with Danny Thomas on the Thomas show, "The Real McCoys," Andy Griffith and Dick Van Dyke.

"I think the networks are making a mistake in going overboard for the Long Form," said the producer. "That's not the real essence of television entertainment. People still want to tune in and see their favorites week after week. It was a comfort to them to know that Dick Van Dyke or Andy Griffith would be in the same spot.

CONFUSED LOYALTY

"Now the audience is confused in its loyalties. The viewers are asked to root for Kirk Douglas one week and Elvis Presley the next. There is no continuity to movies."

Even if 90-minute or two-hour shows took the form of series with continuing characters, the sense of loyalty would not be maintained. Production exigencies require multiple leads in such shows. No single star can carry such a lead.

Leonard, who once played gangster types in movies, is an adaptable chap, having switched from comedies to adventure with "I Spy." Why then doesn't he join the trend to the Long Form?

"I probably will—but not for television," he said. "Why knock yourself out making the equivalent of a feature film for television when you can get more satisfaction—and greater returns—from making theatrical films? That's the route I intend to take."

Hydrant Vandals Leave Town Dry

HALTOM CITY, Tex. (AP) — This Fort Worth suburb was left high and dry for a time Sunday when vandals turned on 14 fire hydrants and drained all the city's water tanks.

When the situation was discovered at daylight, water department crews pumped additional water into the pressure tanks and returned the water supply to normal.

State Schools Facing Increasingly Serious Financial Difficulties

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's schools, caught between sky-rocketing costs and vanishing local and state tax esources, face a cash shortage that threatens the quality of education for two million hildren.

director of the Michigan Association of School Boards, estimates that two-thirds of the state's 738 school districts "are n serious financial difficulty at the moment."

The State Department of Education has identified 62 districts that already are running in the red, a practice that is technically illeagl.

The department says Bedford, Ravenna, Hart, Memphis, Carsonville, Taylor and Inkster are in "serious trouble."

Michigan's nonpublic schools — 84 per cent of them are Catholic, 7 per cent Calvinist and 7 per cent Lutheran — are experiencing parallel money problems that directly contribute to the problems of the public schools.

EXTRA BURDEN

Some 27,000 students were pulled out of parochial schools and placed in public schools during the last four years. This extra burden, previously shouldered by the parents and the churches, is costing taxpayers $18 million this year.

While non-public school enrollment has dropped nearly 10 per cent since 1964, the cost of running nonpublic schools for 330,000 children has soared 147 per cent.

Non-public school officials warn that without state help more students will transfer and some of their schools mayclose. They reminded state officials that they save the taxpayers more than $200 million a year by running their schools.

By no means are all public school districts on the verge of bankruuptcy. But the gap between the rich and poor districts is widening and the poor are multiplying.

FEEBLE ATTEMPTS

Money for schools is raised through a complicated system of local property taxation based on property valuation and state aid garnted on a formula that feebly attempts to equalize the differences between the rich and poor.

For example, a school district with state equalized valuation (SEV) of $5,000 can raise $100 for each child by a 20-mill tax. Because of he low SEV, the state contributes $349.12 per child to give the district $449.12 to finance the educaton of each child.

On the other hand, a district with a SEV of $30,000 can raise $600 per child by taxing 20 mills. Because of the high SEV, the state contributes only $126.12 for each child, but the combined total gives the district 726.12 for each student.

★ ★ ★

If educators wanted to dramatize the disparity between the rich and poor districts by focusing on one they could not have done better than by threatening to close Inkster's schools.

IMPOVERISHED AREA

Carved out of an impoverished area with a large Negro populaton, the Inkster district is surrounded by wealthy districts with large white populations.

Despite what one school official called a "fantastic effort down there," Inktser is running deep in the red and officials say they will meet their last payrool Friday. This year, Inkster property owners are paying 32.9 mills against an SEV of $5,252, the lowest in Wayne County.

Right next door is the nearly all-white district of Dearborn with an SEV of 32,365 and not far away is River Rouge with a SEV of $51,518. River Rouge's millage is 14.9 and Dearborn's is 19.7.

★ ★ ★

As Dr. Edward F. Fort, superintendent of Inkster, notes, it does not take a "mathematical genius" to discern that while Inkster citizens are paying out a greater portion of their wealth for schools than their more affluent neighbors, they are able to raise far less.

TEACHER MARKET

Inkster and other "poor" districts compete within the same market for teachers as do their wealthier neighbors and are exposed to the same pressures for higher salaries. School boards sometimes are faced with the choice of signing wage contracts they can't afford or lose teachers and cut programs.

Politicians and school boards sometimes blame the new law that gives teachers collective baragaining rights for the financial crisis. But George Brown, public relatons director for the Michigan Educaton Associaton, says collective bargaining has rather "exposed years of underfinancing of schools."

During the 1967 fiscal year the U.S. paid 23 commercial airliners $684.9 million to fly military personnel and cargo under contract, an increase of 74 per cent over such payments in 1966.

Possible Strike 'Fails to Panic Steel Buyers'

CLEVELAND (UPI) —The possibility of a steelworkers' strike later in the year is not catapulting steel users into panic buying, according to Steel Magazine.

The order trend is upward but shows restraint and caution. The metalworking weekly said many steel users feel one month's inventory is sufficient as a strike hedge.

Contributing to their belief is the fact that steel supplies have never been larger.

With U.S. mills possessing a bigger capacity to produce the leading finished products and the entrenchment of imported steels on the market, buyers reason there will be time to place orders if a strike appears likely.

Steel pointed out that even if there were a strike, the flow of steel from U.S. mills would not cease. Some of the smaller mills are not tied to steelworkers' contracts that would continue until after a new contract has been signed by the larger producers.
