ROCHESTER, MICHIGAN

Lecture Series features 7 speakers

Garrett Hardin, an internationally known expert on human ecology, will present two lectures here September 29 and 30 to open the 1977-78 President's Club Lecture Series.

Hardin has been a champion of legalized abortion and an advocate of effective wide-scale birth control programs. His September 29 lecture on "The Limits of Altruism" will be given at 1 p.m. in Varner Recital Hall. The September 30 talk will be at 1 p.m. in the Gold Room of the Oakland Center. A topic will be announced.

The speaker is the first of seven distinguished lecturers who will appear during the year to speak on various aspects of the general theme "Human Values and the Environment."

A professor of human ecology at the University of California, Santa Barbara, Hardin has studied widely in the fields of genetics, evolution, pollution, and population growth. He predicts that people must practice birth control or face the consequences of social disorder, disease, and starvation.

The speaker's many books on the subject include Nature and Man's Fate, Exploring New Ethics for Survival, Stalking the Wild Taboo, and the forthcoming The Limits of Altruism.

The 1977-78 lecture series is supported by the Oakland University President's Club, a group of approximately 100 local citizens dedicated to the advancement of the university. Supplemental support for the Lecture Series has been provided by Dr. Frederick W. Obear, Vice-President for Academic Affairs and Provost, the Student Life area of the University, and the University Concert-Lecture Board.

This series was designed and brought to reality by a committee chaired by Lewis N. Pino, Director of Research and Instructional Services. The other members of the Committee are: Maurice Brown, James Dow, Robbin Hough, Vincent Maxwell, Paul Tomboulion, Richard Tucker, and Robert Wargo.

The other speakers are: Gary Snyder, Pulitzer Prize winner for poetry in 1975, November 7 & 8;

O'Leary, Harrison, and Hansen contribute work at conventions

Virginia O'Leary, psychology, read a paper entitled, "Androgynous Men: The Best of Both Worlds?" at the American Psychological Association's (APA) 85th annual convention in San Francisco, CA in August.

She was also elected to the status of Fellow of the APA at that meeting. The status of Fellow is conferred on members of the APA in recognition of their unusual and outstanding contributions to psychology. O'Leary was nominated for Fellow by the Division of the Psychology of Women of the APA.

She also chaired a symposium entitled, "Subject versus Stimulus Sex Differences in Casual Attributions." As part of the symposium, Randal Hansen, psychology, read a paper entitled, "Sex-Determined Attributions: Women's Dispositions versus Men's Environment," co-authored by Hansen and O'Leary.

O'Leary's book, Toward Understanding Women, was published last month by Brooks/Cole Publishing Company, Monterey, CA. O'Leary is currently under contract for a second book, Toward Understanding Men, co-authored with Arnold S. Kahn of Iowa State University.

Algea Harrison, also of the psychology department, read a paper entitled, "Interrole Conflict, Coping Strategies, and Role Satisfaction Among Black Working Wives" at the 10th Annual National Convention of the Association of Black Psychologists, held in August in Los Angeles, CA. The paper was co-authored by Jo-Ann H. Minor, education.

Discover Oakland this September

"Discover OU '77" is the title of a new program planned for the entire month of September to acquaint all members in the university community, through various activities, with the many opportunities available on campus for involvement, participation, knowledge and interest.

Included among the scheduled events are Sunday tours of Meadow Brook Hall at reduced student rates, jazz concerts in the Abstemion, a pancake breakfast, fall varsity athletic events, workshops, a kite demonstration, films, lectures, and a concert featuring Freddie Hubbard.

"Discover OU '77", a joint effort of many student groups and university departments, was coordinated through the Campus Information, Programs, and Organizations Office (CIPO). "Discover OU '77" calendars are available at CIPO, 49 OC, 377-2020.

Euculano will audit student funds, advise and regulate student organizations, and manage the ticket office.

The CIPO office is now open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday

Campus hotline

For a daily update on campus activities, people can now call the Oakland University hotline. The hotline phone number is 377-4650.

The list of events is changed daily. Events on the hotline are taken from the weekly calendar prepared by Campus Information, Programs, and Organizations, 7-2020.

Bowlers needed

New members are being sought for the Oakland University mixed bowling league. The league bowls every Monday night at 6:30 p.m. at the Classic Lanes, M-59 and Crooks. Anyone interested should call Bill Connellan, public relations, this week, 377-3183.

Next Board meeting

The September 27 meeting of the Oakland University Board of Trustees has been cancelled and rescheduled for October 4 at 7:30 p.m. in Lounge II of Oakland Center.
