GM Check Boosts UF Total

WELCOME GIFT — S. E. Knudsen, right, general manager of Pontiac Motors Division, gives a check for $115,000 to Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, chairman of the 1957 Pontiac Area United Fund campaign. The check represents the gift of General Motors itself, with its local employes giving separately. The gift boosted the drive over the 30 per cent mark. The goal is $612,000 with two weeks to go.

To Break Ground Tuesday

Acting Postmaster Leslie H. Dean Sr. will turn the sod during the groundbreaking ceremony set for 3 p.m.

Retired Congressman George A. Dondero (R-Royal Oak) and the present representative, William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) will witness the occasion. They both worked in Washington to secure a new post office for Pontiac.

The ceremonies will be held at the site of the proposed single story modern building on West Huron between Genesee avenue and Chippewa road.

Master of ceremonies will be Mayor William W. Donaldson and the Rev. Theodore R. Allebach, Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church, will deliver the invocation.

The building, estimated to cost $850,000, is to be constructed by the A&A Construction Co., 2024 National Bank Building, Detroit. The owners of the company now own the site and will lease the property to the government for 20 years as well as finance the building.

The post office's annual cost during the original lease term for the property and building will be $87,500 according to Dean.

The building is expected to be ready for business by April 1, Dean said. He explained that since the present main post office is located in the Federal Building on East Huron, the new building will actually be Pontiac's first main post office.

2 Escape Death as Wall Topples

Ditch Weakens Section of South Lyon City Hall; None Seriously Hurt

No one was seriously injured.

The workmen, John Briggs and Jess Winters, said they were working in a ditch alongside the south wall of the building at 214 N. LaFayette St. when it began to collapse.

Briggs, unable to escape the avalanche of bricks, was pinned against a city pickup truck for a moment as debris fell on his legs, shoulders, and back. He was pulled from the wreckage by a bystander.

NARROWLY ESCAPES

Winters scurried under a tractor and barely missed being buried by falling mortar, he said.

Briggs, suffering a few cuts and bruises, then ran into the fire department, housed in the same building, and sounded the alarm.

Volunteers arrived on the scene and helped the structure's lone occupant out of a rear window. Arthur Digby, 75 city clerk, was on the second floor of the two-story brick building when the cave-in occurred. The only stairway was blocked by debris.

Two new fire trucks were driven from the northwest side of the building and another was pushed out, it was reported. None were damaged.

The building houses the fire and police departments and serves as a meeting place of the city council.

Suspect in Murder Returned to Chicago

BALDWIN (AP)—Lt. James McMahon, director of the Chicago Police Homicide Division, today returned 35-year-old Elijah White to Chicago for investigation of murder in the slaying of a police officer.

Sheriff Jess MacDougall said White signed a waiver of extradition and was taken from Lake County Jail by McMahon and two other Chicago officers.

MacDougall said White gave a statement to the three, admitting his identity and a Friday night scuffle which resulted in the gunshot death of one Chicago Police officer and wounding of another.

MacDougall said White claimed he was unable to remember what happened to the gun.

White was arrested while hitchhiking south of this western Michigan community last night. MacDougall said White offered no resistance and was not armed.

Two Chicago officers were dispatched to Baldwin immediately following the arrest.

A search covering western Michigan was ordered Saturday when relatives of White said he showed up at the home of a brother in Muskegon, but left when the brother was not home.

Willie Green, a companion of White's was captured earlier last night at a road block about a mile north of South Haven. Police said he was driving a panel truck that fitted the description of one White was believed to have driven to Muskegon.

Police said Green had denied knowing White's whereabouts although state trooper Charles Hinman said Green's mother, Mrs. Sarah Mae Guy of Branch, told them White and her son had been to her home and left in the truck shortly before police arrived yesterday. A check with White's relatives in Muskegon led police to Mrs. Guy's home.

Sheriff MacDougall said White at first gave his name as James Lee, but later admitted his identity.

Muskegon County Sheriff Arthur W. Davis said White's brother, Vaul, said White visited his home Saturday and that Vaul White telephoned police.

The dead Chicago policeman was Bernie Poe, 33. Wounded was William McDonagh, 52.

McDonagh was shot after he arrested White on a bad check charge and was waiting for a patrol wagon. Poe was shot when he ran to McDonagh's aid from a nearby traffic post.

Rush Beginning for Big $1,000 in Pot-O-Gold

Now the fun begins. Pot-O-Gold is worth $1,000 starting today, and that means the rush is on.

From now on, more and more people will send entries, and everyone will be trying harder than usual to get at the prize money before someone else walks off with it.

If you'd like to be among the contestants, turn to page 29 and see what you can do with the words and clues.

Be sure to read the rules carefully, too, because what could be worse than to turn in a winning entry, only to have it disqualified because of a rule infraction?

UF Workers to Get Reports at Luncheon

They will be the guests of Pontiac firms Consumers Power Co., Detroit Edison Co., S. S. Kresge, Michigan Bell Telephone Co., Sears, Roebuck and Co., Simm's Brothers and WKC, Inc.

Between reports on how the current PAUF drive is progressing, a variety of entertainment will be provided.

The luncheon marks the halfway point in the campaign which ends Nov. 26 with a victory luncheon.

3 Die in Crash North of Lapeer

Three teenagers were dead and three others remained in critical condition today following a puzzling two-car collision occurring as they drove to a dance in North Branch, north of Lapeer, Saturday night.

Dead are 17-year-old twins Marilyn and Marilee Phelps of Mayville and Jens P. Eriksen, 18, of Imlay City.

At Lapeer County General Hospital are Earl H. Greenwald, 16, of Imlay City, Delores Smith, 17, of Mayville and the driver, Charles D'Arcy, 16, of Silverwood.

Lapeer deputies said they would try to question D'Arcy and the other driver, Carlo Fantin, 22, of Silverwood, about the accident today. Fantin is listed in fair condition at the hospital.

All told, Michigan counted 25 accidental deaths over the weekend, 14 of them on the highway and six in house fires.

The teenagers were headed east on M90 (North Branch road), deputies believed, en route to an 8 p.m. disc jockey dance when the accident occurred.

TOP SHEARED OFF

Deputies found D'Arcy's car, in which the other teenagers were riding, in a ditch with the top sheared off and the body all but cut in two. Fantin's car was still on the road, they said.

Deputies said they had been unable to talk to the drivers because of the seriousness of their injuries.

The Phelps twins were the only children of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Phelps. The girls were seniors at Mayville High School where they played in the school band. Marilyn also was a drum majorette.

Double funeral services for them were scheduled for 2 p.m. tomorrow in Mayville Baptist Church, with burial to follow in Rich Township Cemetery.

Services for Eriksen, a senior at North Branch High School, will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Marsh Funeral Home, Marlette. Burial will be in Marlette Cemetery.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

In other accidents, Kenneth L. Hatt, 20-year-old Fenton construction worker, was killed yesterday when a bulldozer he was operating overturned on him. He was driving

Dinner Will Be Climax of Veterans' Day; Auto Heads Give Welcome

DETROIT (INS)—Auto industry and civic leaders joined today in welcoming former Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson upon his return to Detroit.

Wilson will be feted at a testimonial dinner tonight in the Statler Hotel, climaxing Veterans' Day observances.

Ford Motor Co. President, Henry Ford II, will be master of ceremonies. Speakers tonight will include L. L. Colbert, head of Chrysler Corp., and Harlow Curtice, president of General Motors. Wilson was boss of GM before joining President Eisenhower's cabinet.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, former chief of staff of the armed services, will be a special guest at the event. Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker will present a certificate of appreciation of service to Wilson.

Attending the function from the Pontiac area will be three GM vice presidents and their wives, Semon E. Knudsen, Philip J. Monaghan, and Roger M. Kyes, and Ralph O. Moore, administrative assistant to the general sales manager of GM Truck & Coach, and Mrs. Moore.

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — U. S. forces in Germany quietly observed today the 39th anniversary of Germany's World War I surrender.

'Dental Cripples' Predominate in U. S.

Fluoridation Urged

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

CLEVELAND (AP)—A large proportion of the nation's people are "dental cripples" despite enormous expenditures for dental care, a New York state dental official said today.

"This is the extent of the dental caries decay problem," Dr. David B. Ast, director of the Bureau of Dental Health, New York, State Department of Health, told the opening session of the the American Public Health Assn.'s 85th annual meeting.

He said the American public spent $1,600,000,000 in 1955 for dental care.

Advocating fluoridation of public drinking water supplies, he said studies of this technique in the United States and Canada have demonstrated its capabilities of reducing tooth decay by 60 per cent.

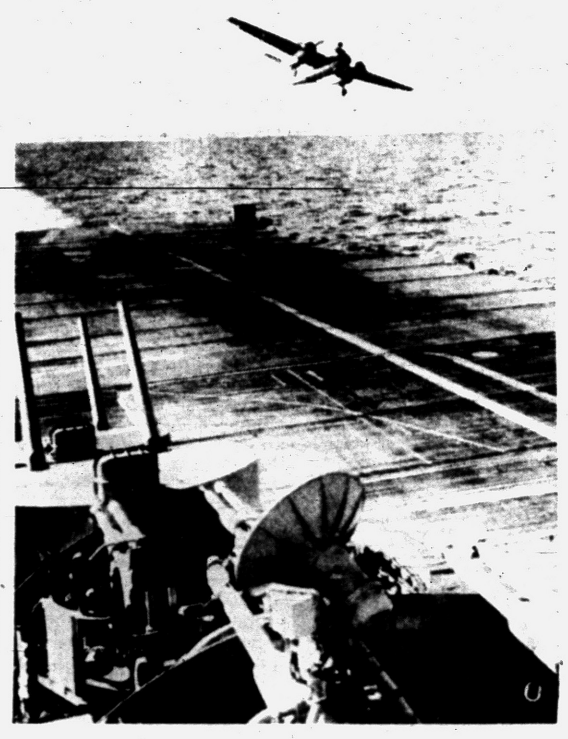

Tooth decay, he said, "affects practically the entire population, starting early in life, and the annual increments of defects occur at a faster rate than the corrections which can be made by dentists."

He said tooth decay could be reduced materially by cutting down on sweets and by brushing the teeth immediately after eating or drinking any food at any time.

"Regular and periodic care by the family dentist will not necessarily prevent the incidence of dental caries," he said, "but it could very well prevent the gross destruction of tooth structure and loss of teeth with their concomitant dental problems.

JOINING SEARCH — A Navy patrol plane heads away from the carrier Philippine Sea and toward the vast expanse of the Pacific where a search continues for a Pan American stratocruiser missing since Friday with 44 persons aboard. Hope of finding any trace of the plane or its occupants was dimming today.

Night Parade to Highlight Veterans Day in Detroit

DETROIT (INS)— A giant parade down Woodward avenue tonight will highlight Detroit's participation in the Veterans Day celebration.

On the quiet side of the observance, thousands will pay their tribute in churches and in visits to military cemeteries.

The parade is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. at Kirby. Marchers will proceed south on Woodward to Congress, then west to the release point at Griswold. Many veterans' organizations, military reserve units and other civic and patriotic groups will take part.

The nation's military dead from all wars are honored today at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Washington where next year three unknowns from as many conflicts will lie.

Gov. Joe Foss of South Dakota, a Marine flying ace in World War II and an Air Force officer during the Korean conflict, was the principal speaker for Veterans Day ceremonies timed to mark the anniversary of the armistice which ended World War I.

When next Veterans Day comes there will be three Unknown Soldiers—symbols of all the unknowns who died in two world wars and Korea. The unknowns of World War II and Korea will be placed in crypts at the tomb on Memorial Day, May 30, 1958.

Ocean Scoured After Sighting of Three Flares

Gigantic Air-Sea Hunt Fails to Trace Airliner Down Since Friday

HONOLULU (AP)—Hope of rescuing any of the 44 persons missings since Friday night on a vanished Pan American stratocruiser in the Pacific virtually flickered out today.

Three flares sighted last night were probably "shooting stars or from other search aircraft" a Coast Guard spokesman said.

"They were flight flares and that's always kind of doubtful" as a distress signal.

Investigation of the flares continued after daybreak as part of a gigantic search operation covering 172,440 square miles of the ocean.

But no trace of the missing plane, "Romance of the Skies," had been found at daylight today, more than 2½ days after last word from the huge Flying Clipper.

Additional search aircraft flew out from Oahu Island at daylight to join the Pacific's greatest air-sea rescue mission, planes, helicopters, submarines, the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea and a small fleet of Coast Guard vessels searched the ocean's swells for traces of the plane after a series of possible clues faded out.

The destroyer escort Epperson had been ordered to investigate the flares sighted last night.

Earlier, hope had flickered and faded with a report of the sighting of a yellow dye marker, "a flare and something red" at a spot 425 miles west of the airliner's last position.

Hours elapsed before two ships reported that nothing could be found at that spot.

The airliner—Romance of the Skies—carried 36 passengers and a crew of eight from San Francisco toward Honolulu. At 5:04 a.m. Friday it routinely radioed its position 1,028 miles east of Honolulu. The pilot was supposed to make another routine report at 6 p. m.

He didn't. The plane abruptly, and silently, disappeared.

That set off the biggest peacetime search in the Pacific. And it prompted speculation—but described as "pure speculation"—that something sudden and terrifying had happened. Pan American officials refused to speculate. They said emphatically that nobody knew or could guess what had happened to the four-engine, luxuriously equipped plane.

A Pan American spokesman said the search now included 25 aircraft, 3 submarines, 8 Coast Guard vessels and the carrier Philippine Sea with 13 Gruman radar-tracking planes and sub-hunting helicopters.

Reports Uncertain Little Space Pioneer Put to Sleep

Could We Mourn Dog's Death? Maybe Laika's

MOSCOW (INS) — It's not often that a dog gets an obituary — especially when her official death notice hasn't even been published.

But in case the worst has happened to the plucky canine space pioneer Laika, following are some meager facts that would make up her obituary.

An Italian Communist newspaper said today space dog Laika was poisoned by her last morsel of food in Sputnik II — but then quickly backed down from the story.

A photograph of Laika, or another of her breed, filled almost a quarter of the front page, and the accompanying story said she "was poisoned with the last mouthful" of food so she "would not have to suffer slow agony."

The story grew a bit melancholy, noting that "everyone in Moscow is a little sad because of it. But it was essential to gather all necessary scientific data to establish how a living creature reacts in space and accumulate necessary knowledge so man too may one day move about the cosmos."

LAIKA—?

Laika weighed only 12½ pounds. Her pretty, dark, sad-looking eyes gave her the appearance of having instinctive foreknowledge of her fate.

Her character was placid and resigned. When she went aloft — it was her first trip into space — the Sputnik carried a special menu. Since her stomach probably wouldn't function normally under space conditions, she was given a particular, but not described type of food.

The feeding may have included an arrangement for intravenous drip-feeding of a glucose and vitamin solution.

The Russians didn't identify the dog by name until several days after she became headlines around the world.

That indicates Laika went up anonymously, probably bearing only a laboratory control letter, and the official name was given her later in a hurry when it was realized what impact the little dog had made on world opinion.

The last "word" received from Laika in the form of a radioed electrocardiogram showed she faced the unknown future with philosophic resignation and her little heart was beating steadily and calmly.

Whatever her fate, the name Laika is in history.

Station Operator Shot Five Times

Muskegon Authorities Block Roads in Search for Teenager

MUSKEGON (UP) — Police road blocks in Muskegon County sought a teen-age youth today in connection with the shooting of a garage mechanic, who apparently thwarted a service station robbery.

Mechanic Abe Carruthers, 38-year-old father of three daughters, was shot five times in the attack and reported in critical condition at Hackley Hospital.

Heights Chief Alex J. Bell said Carruthers reportedly walked several blocks from the station to his home, seeking help after he was shot.

Walter Kelley, 34, owner of the Muskegon Heights Service Station, said he was in the station when the youth, "about 18 or 19," drove up in a 1954 green Chevrolet.

"I left him talking with Carruthers while I went home to get my children off to school," Kelley said.

"I got a call about 8:15 a.m. at home that there had been a shooting," he added.

Kelley said the station's cash register had not been disturbed.

Hospital attendants said Carruthers had been wounded three times in the stomach, once in back of the head and once in the wrist. They believed the bullets were from a .22 caliber weapon.

Bell said the road blocks were manned by city police, sheriff's men and state police.

Urban Renewal to Be Reviewed This Evening

Pontiac's urban renewal and transportation studies will be reviewed tonight at a joint meeting of members of the Downtown Pontiac Assn. and city commissioners and officials.

Officials of Geer Associates of Birmingham and George Barton Associates of Chicago will present progress reports on rehabilitation of certain areas in the city and studies of the city's future transportation needs.

The DPA is financing the Barton study as part of its overall aim of revitalizing the downtown area. It is expected to be completed early next year.

Geer announced that the start of the city's first land rehabilitation program will center around a 155-acre parcel in the vicinity of the City Hall.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Why is it that the days are now becoming relatively longer in the southern part of the United States?

This is because the southern part of the United States is in position to receive the sun's rays, as the sun moves southward and the Winter Solstice (December 21st) approaches.

The days are getting shorter, and will continue to do so, in all the states, until December 21st. However they are growing shorter faster in the states in the northern areas. By December 21st, the sun will rise at 7:26 and set at 4:31 in New England, New York, Michigan, Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Washington and Oregon.

In the southern part of the country, from Charleston to Southern California, the sun will rise at 6:58 and set at 4:58 — about an hour's difference.

Refuses to Discuss Break With Rossellini

Bergman Starts New Film

LONDON (UP) — Ingrid Bergman arrived in London last night to work on a new film and refused to discuss her break with her husband, Roberto Rossellini.

Her eyes filling with tears at a question about her legal separation last week from the Italian director, the actress said:

"There has been too much reaction to our decision."

The reaction, she added, was "not much more considerate than it had been before," apparently a reference to the publicity which accompanied her affair with Rossellini nearly eight years ago while she was still married to Dr. Peter Lindstrom.

Miss Bergman said her three children by Rossellini would remain in Rome until she finds an apartment in London. She said she expected to remain in the British capital at least six months but "I'll go back to Italy now and then . . . on and off." She added she has no plans to go to Hollywood. Miss Bergman also denied a Stockholm report that she plans to marry Lars Schmidt, a wealthy Swedish impresario. The actress was met at the airport by Cary Grant, her costar in the coming film comedy "Kind Sir."

In Stockholm, the newspaper Expressen said Schmidt declined to deny reports of a romance with Miss Bergman.

"I feel flattered at being mentioned in connection with one of the world's most beautiful women and a great actress like Ingrid Bergman," the paper quoted Schmidt as saying when asked about reports linking his name romantically with that of the actress.

It also quoted Miss Bergman as saying: "The allegations that we should marry are absolutely ridiculous."

Tieup of Shipping on Lakes Possible

MONTREAL (UP) — A wholesale tie-up of Great Lakes shipping was threatened last night by President Guy Chartier of a striking St. Lawrence River Pilots Union.

Chartier said longshoremen and pilots in the United States would back up the strike of 52 members of the St. Lawrence-Kingston-Ottawa Pilots Corp. for job security and better working conditions.

Shipping so far has been moving fairly regularly with experienced ocean skippers piloting their own way while talks go on between the corporation, the Canadian government and the Canadian Shipping Federation.

The Canadian pilots struck last Tuesday demanding compulsory use of pilots when the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway makes inland navigation easier, and more pilots in the pool to avoid seasonal overwork.

Straits Bridge Passes Test of High Winds

ST. IGNACE (UP) — The new Mackinac Straits Bridge has weathered its first storm with flying colors.

Gusts of winds up to 70 miles per hour that buffeted the span over Friday night had "no effect at all" on the structure, the Mackinac Bridge Authority reported.

The storm, with winds within eight miles an hour of the highest ever recorded over the Straits, caused no noticeable sway in the bridge's 7,400-foot suspension span, an authority spokesman added.

New Toot in Whitehall

Freezer Traps 2 Little Sisters

Family in Mississippi Finds the Children Dead From Suffocation

VICKSBURG, Miss. (UP)—Double funeral services are planned tomorrow for two school-age sisters who suffocated yesterday inside a large home freezer on the back porch of their home.

The victims were Janice Louise, 7, and Anita Marie, 6, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver O. Vandevender.

The girls were gathering pecans in the yard and their older brother, 14, was watching television when the parents left to visit relatives.

Unable to find the girls when they returned, the parents called police. Almost before the searching party was well under way, officer Ed Reed saw the freezer, walked over, and opened it.

Anita Marie was dead. Janice Louise was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

The freezer had been emptied, defrosted, and left open and disconnected to air. The lid cannot be opened from the inside.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of "accidental suffocation" in the freezer.

Besides the parents, survivors include two brothers and two sisters.

President Gets Doctors' Report on Health Today

The President—who has called it a year of constant dealing with crises—entered Walter Reed Army Hospital yesterday afternoon for his first head-to-toe physical examination in a bit more than 12 months.

The White House called the examination routine, an annual precaution. Eisenhower arranged to check out of his third-floor hospital suite before nightfall. The substance of the report he receives from his physicians probably will be made public.

This is the first time since the President's heart attack in September 1955 that anywhere near as much as a year has elapsed between his full-scale medical checkups. He had three last year, and his last complete examination was Oct. 27-28, 1956. The doctors reported then he gave "every appearance of being in excellent health."

This latest examination comes as he faces a new speedup in a working pace already at a more taxing clip than at any time since his heart attack.

New York State Ploughs Through 15 Inches of Snow

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—Clearing skies and warmer temperatures returned to New York state today after a pre-winter storm dumped up to 15 inches of snow in Western New York.

Thermometers slid to as low as 15 in parts of the state early this morning in one of the coldest nights this fall. Temperatures in the 30s and 40s were expected today.

Weekend motorists found slippery going in Central and Western New York. Roads were open, but icy. Traffic on the thruway moved normally late yesterday after the speed limit between Amsterdam and Buffalo was cut to 35 m.p.h. for 18 hours.

Driving was hazardous throughout Western New York Saturday and Sunday and icy conditions produced several traffic snarls and minor accidents in Buffalo suburbs.

Todd Answers Guilty to Kissing Wife in Public

The newspapers reported that the couple had "necked" during an official luncheon in Sydney while sitting next to New South Wales Premier Joseph Cahill.

Todd declared:

Two Stranded Hunters Rescued From Island

BAD AXE (UP) — Two duck hunters were treated for exposure and frostbite Saturday after being stranded on a small island in Saginaw Bay all the previous night.

Russell Knight, 58, of Plymouth, and Louis Naples, 48, of Detroit, made their way to the body of land after their boat capsized near the Bay's east shore Friday evening.

They were rescued by other hunters early Saturday morning and taken to the Community Hospital at Pigeon for treatment.

"Italian Interlude"
Colored Motion Picture

The beginning portion of "Italian Interlude" has a rather humorous slant on how the ex-dentist and his wife contracted for this particular travelogue. This gives patrons some really exciting shots of Paris. It also presages Hooper's forte, the ability to shoot fresh film sequences no matter where he sets his tripod.

Then we are off to the key cities of Italy, Rome, Naples and Venice. Instead of the usual oft-viewed scenes of imposing historical monuments, Hooper's camera pokes a curious and penetrating eye down narrow streets and into the breath-taking beauty of private gardens. His lens — accompanied by a surprisingly intelligent commentary — show enough contrasts in the stratified economy of Italy to account for part of the political chaos of that country.

Zoning Ordinance to Get Fourth Informal Hearing

BIRMINGHAM — Birmingham's proposed zoning ordinance will come up for its fourth informal hearing tonight.

Under discussion will be those areas devoted to parking, business and industrial districts, defined as P, B-4 and I.

Residents whose property falls under these jurisdictions are being notified so they may attend session.

Commissioners are seeking public opinion in these informal hearings so that applicable changes may be made before the legal adoption of the ordinance.

At next week's hearing the balance of the business district, B-1, B-2 and B-3, will be considered. City Planner Herbert Herzberg will again lead the discussion.

Mrs. F. P. Harrington will be hostess at an 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow of the Birmingham Alumnae Chapter of Delta Gamma. She will be assisted by Mrs. David A. Taylor, Mrs. Stuart T. Ross and Mrs. Lowell Sutton.

After the regular monthly business meeting, Mrs. Harrington will show films of her vacation in Australia.

The meeting will be at her home, 3768 Lincoln Ave.

CHI OMEGAS MEET

Chi Omegas of the north suburban area will see Maurice R. Hooper demonstrate Christmas gift wrappings at their Nov. 14 meeting.

Mr. Hooper is coming through the courtesy of LaBelle's Gift Shop.

Mrs. Adoph Neeme, 32215 Auburn Rd., will be hostess at the 12:30 p.m. luncheon. Reservations may be made through Mrs. Eugene Hannum or Mrs. Clinton Newman, both of Birmingham.

Mrs. Elizabeth Baumann

Rosary service for Mrs. Elizabeth Baumann, 89, will be at 8:15 tonight from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Funeral service will be a 9 a.m. tomorrow from St. Colomban Church, with burial in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

A native of Hungary, Mrs. Baumann died suddenly Sunday at the home of her great-niece, Mrs. Stephen Wist, 1540 Cole St. She came to Birmingham seven years ago from Detroit. She was an honorary member of the Landwehr Frauen Society of Detroit.

Her only other survivors are two neices, Mrs. Henry Aubermann and Mrs. Anthony Koch, both of Detroit.

James V. Skelley

Rosary service for James Vincent Skelley, 11, of 1175 Shipman Blvd. will be at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home.

Service will be at 9 a.m. Wednesday from Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Church, with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

A student at Valley Woods School, James collapsed and died yesterday while riding his bicycle on Woodward avenue.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Skelley; a brother, John; two sisters, Catherine and Sister James Ellen of Monroe, and his grandmother, Mrs. John Meyer of Williamsport, Pa.

Duane Tibbits

Service for Duane Tibbits, 66, of 1674 Webster, will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday from the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Interment will be in the Franklin Cemetery.

Mr. Tibbits was dead on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital yesterday after a heart attack.

He was born in Southfield Township and lived in the Birmingham area all his life. He was the owner and operator of Duane Tibbits, Contractor of Birmingham.

He attended Farmington High School and was a Mason in the Farmington Lodge, F&AM and he belonged to the Birmingham Country Club.

Surviving are his wife Lelia M.; one son, Duane Jr. of Birmingham; a daughter Kay R., at home; a sister, Mrs. Ray Nelson of East Lansing; two brothers, Artemus Tibbits of Southfield and Norwood of Cheboygan and four grandchildren.

No Report on Shots Fired in East Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin police reported that shooting broke out last night around an East German government office building in East Berlin.

West Berlin border guards counted 26 shots around midnight and two more an hour later.

East Berlin police reinforcements were rushed to the West Berlin sector border but were withdrawn 45 minutes after the last shots were fired.

West Berlin police said they had no information as to the reason for the shooting.

The West Berlin tabloid Nacht Depesche said reports were circulating in East Berlin that police opened fire when they discovered an attempt being made to remove files from an office.

Bus Falls, Six Killed

ATHENS (AP)—Six people were killed and 12 injured when a bus plunged into the sea from a cliff in the island of Euboea yesterday.

Michigan Bell, Union Agree on Wage Boost

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators for Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and Communications Workers of America today agreed on a new contract providing wage increases of $2.50 to $5 a week for the firm's 19,300 union employes.

The agreement, still to be ratified by the union, was announced by th company after an all-night negotiating session that began at noon yesterday.

Gunman Releases Singer Unharmed

LONDON (AP)—A gunman, apparently crazed, held a 20-year-old stage and radio singer prisoner in a hotel room for two hours early today.

The man fired five shots from a pistol without hitting anything but one of his own feet. He finally surrendered after a lengthy siege by 30 police officers.

The girl, Shirley Bassey, suffered from shock but was otherwise unhurt. Peter Quinton, a friend who was with her when the gunman rushed in, was slugged on the head and cut badly.

Quinton and two costumers who were fitting Miss Bassey with gowns were hustled out of the room by the gunman, who then locked the door.

The young singer said the man kept saying "I love you. I won't harm you." After two hours he pushed her out into the hall unharmed, but it was another hour before he responded to police pleas to give himself up.

The man, whose name was not disclosed, was taken to a hospital.

Cryolite has been used in the manufacture of glass, enamel ware and also some of the insecticide products.

Exclusive Interview With Red Stone Arsenal Director

Top Missiles Expert Views Space Race

International Copyright 1957, By The Associated Press

In the opinion of Dr. Wernher von Braun, neither a project like the Manhattan, which developed the A-bomb during World War II, nor the release of great sums of money would help much at this stage.

But science could use a great deal more money in basic research and in some allied fields where there is no current need of a crash program, Dr. von Braun said in an exclusive question and answer article for The Associated Press.

The scientist headed up development of the German V2 rocket which battered London during the war. In recent years, he has been in charge of Army research which has led to the Jupiter-C, designated last wek to carry an American satellite into space.

Army scientists have said unofficially that the Jupiter could have launched a satellite into its orbit before the Russians shot off their first one early in October, had the administration given it permission.

Until last week, getting a satellite aloft has been solely in the sphere of the Navy's Vanguard project.

Answering a question as to whether a Manhattan-type crash program would help overcome Russia's lead, Dr. von Braun said:

"In the missile field . . . we have practically all the facilities we can intelligently use. Severa we can intelligently use. Several teams, each of which is in a different geographical location. Any attempt to dislocate or combine these teams must necessarily lead to immediate interruption of the work, with resultant delays."

About more money:

"I believe that, by and large, our five key ballistic missile programs (Jupiter, Thor, Polaris, Atlas and Titan) could not be speeded up appreciably by increases in funds. . . .

"This statement does not apply to many badly neglected fringe areas of our ballistic missile and satellite programs. First and foremost, there is a crying need for more money for basic and applied research in these areas.

"Secondly, while adequate funds are available for the clearly defined missile weapons systems, there is never enough to 'advance the art.' A typical example is that we don't have a real powerful rocket engine today simply because none of our present crash missile programs needs it. But in order to beat the Russians in the race for outer space we absolutely need it—and the development of such an engine requires several years."

Dr. von Braun made it clear that if the U. S. is to overtake Russia in the satellite and missile fields, there are several things which must be done:

". . . In the ballistic missile field the United States, about two years ago, embarked into an all-out crash program which will be difficult to substantially accelerate beyond its present pace. In the satellite field, we need a well-planned, long-range national space flight program which makes maximum use of rocket hardware (propulsion systems, guidance systems and airframes) emerging from our ballistic missile programs.

"This program must be backed up by a firm budget which permits its steady prosecution over a period of several years. Even with no holds barred, I think it would still be well over five years before we could catch up with the Soviets again, because they are not likely to idly sit by in the meantime."

Dr. von Braun was asked about the training programs for scientists in Russia and the United States, and said:

"I believe that the professional quality of a young American physicist or engineer, fresh from the university, is at least as high as that of his Russian counterpart. But we do not provide sufficient opportunity for these young scientists and engineers to accrue a sufficient number of consecutive years in missile development to adequately enhance their practical experience."

He said he is "convinced that the Sputniks will give Russia's science education program an additional, most powerful boost. I can only hope that it will give the United States' science education program an even greater boost, because we need such a boost bady."

"And I also hope," he said, "it will enhance the recognition of science and scientists in the eyes of the U. S. public. Unless we manage to make careers in the sciences more attractive to the young generation, we cannot hope to win the long range struggle with the Soviets for scientific and technological superiority."

Dr. von Braun pointed out that development of "a suitable heat-protecting envelope . . . for the re-entry into the atmosphere of warheads of ballistic long range missiles" has importance in future military thinking.

He explained that this envelope —President Eisenhower displayed a nose cone in a televised address Thursday night which he said had been into space and back and is still intact—makes it possible "to restore the satellite with sufficient accuracy to land within an area the size of European Russia." Then he went on:

"Mastery of this recovery technique in itself does not constitute a threat to the United States. It should rather be considered as an important detail achievement within the framework of an obvious all-out effort by the Soviets to establish themselves as masters of the space around us. Herein lies the real threat to our security, and only the immediate action of a well-planned, determined U. S. space flight program can neutralize it."

Explaining why the U. S. trails Russia, Dr. von Braun said:

"There was no ballistic missile development program in the United States between 1945 and 1951 because there was no obvious need for it, no interest for it, and no money for it. And it will be hard to catch up now on those lost six years."

Von Braun worked on U. S. missile research from 1945 on. He and 400 colleagues had fled to Bavaria to escape from Russian capture and had given themselves up to American forces.

Von Braun said he thought it would be possible for the United States to launch a satellite with the military rocket power now available, but that it would be two to three years before a U. S. missile would hit the moon.

Speculating further, he said it would be four to five years before there was a U. S. manned flight to an orbit in space and back to earth again. Construction of a manned space station, he said, would be tackled after manned orbital flight became routine.

It appears, von Braun said, that the Russians have more powerful engines than we do, but that "there are some very large engines under development in the United States." Work on these larger engines, he said, has been supported on a shoestring because it was not considered part of the high-priority missile program.

As to whether Russia had scored a breakthrough in the development of a super fuel, von Braun said: "We have several rather powerful propellant combinations in this country also. But we prefer not to use them in our ballistic missiles because of poor handling characteristics. In military weapons systems propellant handling problems are a major consideration. . . .

"It is entirely possible that the Russians decided to use such a super-fuel in order to step up the otherwise lower payload-carrying capacity of their satellite rocket."

It's Your Job to Know Our Education Problems

This week marks the 37th annual observance of American Education Week. It is estimated that about 20 million visitors to American school rooms will get a first hand look at our educational programs.

In many cases the parents will be flocking into Johnny's classroom in one of our brand new schools. This is an opportunity for the mothers and fathers to view our school facilities.

On Tuesday evening a special educational conference, "Know Your Pontiac Schools," is being held at Washington Junior High. This program is sponsored by Pontiac Council of PTA.

The purpose of this conference as part of AEW is to acquaint citizens with requirements necessary to meet the needs of the school enrollment and to focus attention on educational programs offered in public schools.

With our rapidly growing population all citizens and organizations should be aware of our school problems. This is part of our job as citizens — to be informed of all conditions concerned with education. Take a few hours off this week and check up on our local schools.

The Iron Horse Still Stays a While

The whistle of the steam locomotive, heard in Pontiac for the past 113 years, will linger with us at least two years more.

Diesel motor power is driving from the rails what for many generations has been known as the iron horse. The coal burner is passing out

It is being driven out just as it drove out the wood burner with the passing of the days when that kind of fuel was plentiful. It is the inevitable victim of invention and progress.

Some railroads already are completely Dieselized. Others are rapidly approaching that modernized condition.

Advices from headquarters are to the effect that the Grand Trunk will keep steam on its tracks in a continually decreasing manner until early in 1960. In the meantime we can hear their whistles every day—and night.

There's a reason for all this. In fact, there are three good reasons.

Steam locomotives were manufactured to deliver a definite lifetime mileage. Some yet in use still have thousands of miles of undelivered mileage in their systems. Their owners wanted to extract it.

From a financial standpoint, as well as from service, it is better to use up that mileage than consign its bearer to the junk pile, the inevitable end and ultimate reward of such power creators.

Then there's the fuel supply. As long as a railroad can buy coal along its lines at a price to make it cheaper, per mile of operation than Diesel fuel, they'll favor the coal burner.

Also, we must admit there's a sentimental reason about being the last to lay the old aside. In the overall picture, the dwindling coal supply is an important factor.

The Diesel requires no stoking. It operates with less man power and almost indefinitely without overhaul.

It can run the whole length of a railroad system with little attention aside from refueling—and immediately be ready for the return trip.

A steam locomotive must be eased off and "wiped up" after every run of 200 miles or so.

Its whistle has been a warning to keep out of its way in building a better life for us, in which it has had a major part.

Here's hoping these columns will be enabled to chronicle in an advance notice the final steam locomotive blast in Pontiac.

Our city will be waiting for the nostalgia it will create.

IN RECENT months the Russians have become more unreliable than ever. Heretofore we could depend upon their lying under virtually all circumstances, but here of late they've been crossing us up now and then by telling the truth, especially about the progress they are making in the missile field.

Girl Wins Contest

Member of Fair Sex Again Is Best in Predictions

1958: When the other 3,813 good sports who did not win this time are also urged to make entries again in our football contest.

When Florida defeated Georgia, 22-0, Saturday, our football contest ended, with

of 3200 Judah Road the winner. She had picked Florida to win, and as the only other contestant who had survived for this game had predicted that Georgia would win, Mary Ann gets the prize of $300 in U.S. Savings Bonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Clair R. Baer

and a pupil in the seventh grade in Lake Orion Junior High School.

The contest, which had 3,814 entries when the time for receiving them closed on Sept. 27, covered predictions on 14 games. But the first game in it resulted in a tie, and only 59 had predicted such a result. So 3,755 were eliminated in the first round. Succeeding games have weeded those 59 down to the winner in the contest's eighth game.

At one of the most hectic times in his term of office,

President Dwight D. Eisenhower was not too busy last week to send a birthday card to

quietly gave a talk to a Pontiac women's club only a few hours after he became the father of a daughter.

Funeral services were held Saturday for

Mrs. M. Belle Vliet

of Clarkston. Her father, the late

Dell Maxam,

for many years conducted the store on Waterford's main corner, which was purchased by the late

and moved to Greenfield Village. Incidentally, she also was teacher of the old Belford school on the hill, five miles north of Holly, when the architect of this column was one of her pupils.

Formerly a resident of Pontiac for a half century,

Mrs. Margaret Howard,

Mrs. Lelin Smith,

at Rochester.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

"It's His Puddle"

David Lawrence Says:

World Today Much Like 1914, 1939

WASHINGTON — This is a fateful anniversary—just 39 years ago World War I ended. People everywhere breathed a sigh of relief on Nov. 11, 1918. They thought war had ended for all time.

LAWRENCE

Day by day the casualties at the battlefronts had been recorded in the tens of thousands. Passenger ships had been torpedoed without warning. Never again, everybody said, would this happen.

Indeed, as President Woodrow Wilson toured the country in September 1919 in behalf of the League of Nations, he made a speech outlining the inventions and new weapons which were being designed and which would make "the next war" so terrifying as to be unthinkable.

He described how tons of bombs could be dropped on cities. It was frightening news.

But 20 years later the second world war broke out. Mr. Wilson had urged American entry into the League of Nations, and many of us who had supported this concept in 1919 found ourselves in a minority by the year 1932, when Franklin Roosevelt, Democrat, deserted us and persuaded the Democratic Party to join with the Republican Party in an era of American isolation.

By 1937 Roosevelt had changed his mind, and by 1939 the awful truth was beginning to percolate that the sacrifices of World War I had been in vain and that the Wilson slogan of the war—"to make the world safe for democracy"—had not been fulfilled.

Today the world isn't safe for democratic government. Again—as in 1914 and in 1939—a totalitarian government reigns in the land of a powerful military rival. Instead of the Kaiser or Hitler, today it is the unscrupulous Khrushchev, successor to the unscrupulous Stalin.

One-man rule can suddenly plunge the whole world into war. The people of Germany in 1914 or the people of Germany in 1939 would not have voted for war in any national referendum. The will of the people was not consulted before, and it is not being consulted in Soviet Russia today.

Today the Communist regime carries on its "peaceful co-existence" propaganda, and this gains considerable acceptance in the Western world as the Soviets penetrate country after country, raising periodically a war threat as they did recently in Syria and previously in Indochina and before that in Korea.

The pattern is the same even to the repetition of "disarmament conferences" like those empty gestures of bygone days.

What is the answer? Man has invented ways of spinning iron balls around the world but not a single device as yet that enables peoples to talk to peoples. Scientific research in this field is needed far more than instruments which will reach the moon.

The radio does some broadcasting now across international boundaries in Europe, but radio waves can be jammed to impair listening and, besides, relatively few persons behind the iron curtain have radio sets.

Some day when a "loud speaker" is invented that cannot be jammed and that doesn't need a receiving set, thereby achieving effective communication constantly with the peoples of other countries, the greatest step toward peace will have been taken.

For when peoples know all the facts without censorship, they can be persuaded to get rid of those rulers who have misled them and who can plunge them into war against their will. Free governments can thereupon be established.

Then—when it is really safe for democracy to live without huge armaments—there will be world peace.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, if any man shall add unto these things. God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book. — Rev. 22:18.

The Bible is a book of faith and a book of doctrine, and a book of morals, and a book of religion, of special revelation from God. — Daniel Webster.

The Country Parson

Dr. William Brady Says:

Mail Postcard to Receive England's Gargle Recipe

Elegant means that the remedy or preparation is of agreeable odor and taste and not unpleasant to use or take.

England was the name of the pharmacist who originated the formula for the gargle, Joseph W. England.

Well, now that we arrive at the question of the formula for the gargle, I regret to confess I'm afraid to print it. Not because there is anything dangerous in it; but just because, what with all the buffetings I have to take from people or potential friends by typographical error.

WATER, WATER!

Once, in an expansive mood, I put caution aside and printed instructions for whipping up a batch of my Fool Proof Cough Medicine. It seemed to go all right everywhere—except in Louisville. One Louisville reader—I have always imagined him a colonel, an amiable old gentleman in ordinary circumstances, who had now blown his top—declared he had subscribed to the paper in good faith and we had just played games with him.

He had followed to the letter the directions we had given for the fool proof cough medicine. But the paper omitted one item from the recipe—a pint of water.

Maybe some big advertiser didn't approve of water. Or maybe the typographer took his straight. Anyway I didn't care after that. I don't know whether the man sued. All I know is that I lost hours of sleep, one delightful day on the bowling green, and one good Kentucky reader.

If any one suspects I'm leading up to the suggestion that you send me 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for the booklet "Call it C R I," which contains detailed directions for preparing and using the Fool Proof Medicine, he is wrong.

I have had the complete directions printed on postcards. If you want one, just give me your name and address on a postcard or in a letter.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Rebukes Woman's Accusations

Beulah says she reads this column every day but she apparently hates me. Sometimes the shoe fits so tightly that the wearer squeals in protest. Could this be the answer? Debaters should relish her example of the Don Quixote technique.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-349: Beulah A., aged 34, has a bias against me which you readers can diagnose.

"But how can you justify Dr. Crane's column? For he belittles women by saying they are inferior in their minds.

"He also insults people of other races than the white race.

DR. CRANE

"He is a terrible woman hater.

"But his worst fault is the fact he offers propaganda for the 'adoption racket.'

"The government should investigate him to see how much cash he gets for each adoption he promotes."

Don't you readers remember the story of Don Quixote? He construed ordinary windmills as terrible dragons or monsters.

Then he would lower his lance and ride boldly into the fray to destroy those imaginary foes.

Well, a great many people attribute statements to me, as well as to their editor and other newspaper writers, which we have never uttered.

Such a critic as Beulah apparently has an emotional gripe against me, so she fabricates imaginary charges and then imputes them to me.

"Dr. Crane says so-and-so," she charges, though I have NEVER uttered such a statement in all my years of writing this educational column.

But she ascribes her false idea to me, and then boldly tries to demolish it, thereby hoping to create the idea she has shown me up.

DEBATER'S DELIGHT

You high school and college debaters can scrapbook this case today as a beautiful example of fallacious reasoning.

In my college textbook "Psychology Applied," as well as in this column, I have often stated that women are just as smart in I. Q. as men.

Beulah can't find even ONE bit of evidence to support her charge that I have said women "are inferior in their minds."

So why do you suppose she makes such a false accusation? You readers can probably diagnose her case.

Again, she says I insult people of different races. Yet I have often said that the color of our skin is simply comparable to the color of the wrapping paper around merchandise we buy at the department store, and it offers no cue as to the quality of the goods within the package.

Why do you suppose Beulah is thus trying to raise the race problem and thus incite race hostility toward me?

She says I am a woman hater. But she offers no evidence and couldn't do so if she tried.

Finally, she accuses me of promoting an "adoption racket" just because I have urged childless married couples to adopt children.

ADOPTION RACKET

In that connection, I have told you to allay the adopted child's tendency to feel insecure by showing him that his Daddy "adopted" his mother and vice versa, though they were not of blood kin.

So explain that the same evidence of love and voluntary affection permits them to adopt him as their son.

Adoptions promote greater happiness of the child, as well as its foster parents, so naturally I urge them.

When Beulah's astute editor received her caustic letter, he gave her a polite answer, and included this final comment:

"I have carried Dr. Crane's column for many years. Readership surveys show it to be one of our most popular features.

"You say you read it constantly. So I wonder why you abuse your mind by following it every day."

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Car Owner Complains of New License Ruling

Effective with issuing 1958 auto license plates in Michigan, plates remain with the owner and not the car. If no plates are available in his name, the purchaser of a used car has to purchase a set of plates formerly going with the car. If plates removed from a former car are to be turned in to the State, how about receiving a reimbursement for the unused period of the plate year? Taxes go only one way — to the State — but not in reverse.

Parents Discuss Nude Pictures

Nude pictures of girls should be abolished by law. The Lord doesn't approve of placing them before eyes of our teenagers whose young minds are developing. No wonder our country must go to the expense of building more and more institutions for mentally afflicted each year.

Young minds of some children ponder over such trash day and night, and not just that, but comic books, too.

Sure enough, the Lord gave us beautiful bodies, but I think he gave us all sense enough to know when and where to expose them. It's high time something is done about this matter.

Mother of Two

I'm sure glad our boys don't seem to want to look at or read trashy pictures or magazines. Maybe it's because their dad has always set a good example and I used to read to them often. They still like comics and buy them occasionally, but they switch off TV and ask for The Press. I gladly give it to them and get to work myself.

Long waits in doctors' offices are bad planning and uncalled for. This was proved to me recently when I had an eight o'clock appointment to see my doctor. Other businesses don't do that.

Today we honor everyone . . . With prayer and praises warm . . . Who served in time of battle in . . . A U.S. uniform . . . Especially each hero great . . . Who sleeps beneath a cross . . . Who helped to bring us victory . . . But who became our loss . . . We pray for them and praise them, and . . . Our hearts go out today . . . To all the living veterans . . . Who served in any way . . . No valuables upon this earth . . . Could ever pay the price . . . Of their true patriotism and . . . Their noble sacrifice . . . We thank them and salute them, and . . . May God forever bless . . . Each one who wore in any war . . . Our military dress.

It's Armistice Day for about everything that can be postponed. There are no memorials for things that haven't happened yet.

It's about time we put that ounce of prevention up in bigger packages.

Suppose we could look further ahead than a crow in January? There would be no way to reach tomorrow except via today's bridge.

Back in 1923 this stack of typographical relapses said Herbert Hoover was fattening Europe up for the next war. Sixteen years later it burned loose like corroded plumbing. How could it have been prevented? Certainly not by making a grab-bag out of a portfolio.

Heroin Dreams Demand Steep Price

Dope Addict Faces Bitter Life of Crime

He began his journey into this special world at the age of 16.

"I tried pot," he said. "Most of the guys in my class smoked it."

A year later, in 1951, he graduated in one big step from marijuana to taking heroin. That's like switching from milk to wood alcohol.

"There was no more bump in pot," he explained, "so I tried horse."

Once he was hooked, Joseph became a full-fledged member of the narcotic addict's world.

In that world, he found that cold turkey wasn't something left over from a Thanksgiving dinner, but meant undergoing the horrible illness suffered when suddenly cut off from dope supply.

He found that as well as being preyed upon, he must prey. Heroin dreams don't come cheaply, and peddlers must be paid. So like many another addict, Joseph sank into crime. He used to steal between 15 and 20 automobile batteries each day, selling them for $3 or $4 each.

To get $10 cash a man must steal $40 worth of goods. That's the usual rate of payment in underworld trade. Caught on this grim treadmill to satisfy their craving, addicts cause a staggering amount of crime—mostly larceny. In the case of women, they frequently resort to prostitution.

LEARNS BITTER TRUTH

And having realized the bitter price of addiction, Joseph X discovered an equally bitter truth—being hooked, he was hooked for life.

"Man, you're a dope fiend, you ain't got nothin'. Never. If I ever come off it now, I'd die."

During an interview Joseph was offered a cigarette and turned it down, saying, "What, and get cancer?" He wasn't joking.

Another addict, discussing cigarette smoking and dope addiction, complained:

"All this jazz about helping the addict from himself is nothing but jazz. If the medics are right about cigarettee smoking — you know, all that stuff about lung cancer — then why doesn't the government clamp down on cigarette smoking? Then a lot of people would get some idea, a real small one of what it's like for a junkie. How many people have tried to stop smoking and can't even do that?"

Such words could come from the mouth of any addict. Multiply them by 50,000 and you have the number of addicts in the nation. Chicago, one of the main wholesale centers, has more than 7,000.

ADDICTS FROM CHOICE

These are addicts from choice. They did not begin using narcotics to ease the pain of illness and thus become a medical addict. Barney Ross, three-time world welterweight boxing champion, was a medical addict. He became addicted to morphine as a result of treatment for wounds suffered while a combat Marine in Guadalcanal in World War II.

The after-effect is pleasant. This is true of the effect from heroin, morphine or any of the derivatives of opium, as well as the opium synthetics. What happens basically is that all the body processes go through a slow-down.

Cocaine, on the other hand, is a stimulant and while it produces an immediate feeling of well-being there is an unpleasant after-effect of extreme anxiety.

The major traffic in narcotics is in heroin. Some cocaine is used by addicts who like to mix it with heroin.

The going price for heroin in Chicago is $3 a deck or bag. This is the adulterated product which in bulk comes to about three grains.

Because of extensive cutting with milk sugar and quinine all along the line from the importer to the pusher, the actual heroin content of one grain is about 1.5 milligrams. By medical standards, the proper dosage for analgesic action (pain-killer) is from 2 to 5 milligrams. So the addict really doesn't get much heroin.

Solons Criticize New Tax Ruling

Object to Lateness of Demand for Itemization of Expense Accounts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service faces some congressional disapproval over a new ruling calling for an itemized listing of expense account payments on 1957 income tax forms.

Top congressional tax draftsmen criticized the ruling mainly on grounds it was announced with only two months remaining in the 1957 tax year.

A law requiring itemization of expense accounts has been on the books since 1921, but it has not been enforced stringently. The enforcement drive announced Thursday, while applying to all, is aimed at persons receiving large expense accounts.

Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn), chairman of the Senate-House committee on internal revenue taxation, criticized the lateness of the announcement.

"They should have given some advance notice, so taxpayers could have been keeping their records from week to week," Cooper said.

The revenue service said its ruling was in response to a suggestion by the joint committee, but Cooper said he knew of no such suggestion. Committee staff workers also said there had been no committee recommendation on the subject.

Roseville Planning

DETROIT (AP) — Suburban Roseville Friday received a proposal for a $2,600,000 civic center from City Manager Olaf Pearson as a long-term development to go along with the village's growth. Roseville expects its population to grow from its present 41,400 to 90,000 within a decade or so.

Firedog Was Either Hero or an Arsonist

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A Lincoln woman awoke from a nap to find her boxer puppy running around the house with a flaming rug in its mouth.

Mrs. J. R. Ashleman said she had put the rug on the kitchen stove to dry. She vainly tried to catch the dog, then telephoned the fire department. Service was fast because a fire truck happened to be right across the street on an inspection mission. Rug and floor were damaged by the flames.

Mrs. Ashleman wasn't sure whether the dog was trying to be a hero or an arsonist.

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—King Hussein is striking back personally at Cairo propaganda broadcasts. The young monarch is charging that Egyptian leaders are treacherous and "have sold themselves to communism."

Jordan and Egypt have been waging propaganda warfare against each other since the young King last April put down resistance at home which he attributed to Communists and pro-Egyptians.

Hussein himself has spoken sharply during the past few days. He said yesterday that Egyptian leaders "have sold themselves to communism and exploit Arab nationalism to divert Egyptian public opinion away from the deteriorating situation at home."

The King made the charges in a reply to an offer by religious leaders in Iraq to mediate between Jordan and Egypt. The Iraqis said the propaganda duel is worrying other Arab countries.

"It is painful for Jordan to be forced to adopt this unhappy attitude in order to defend herself against malicious lies by this treacherous clique," Hussein said.

The King declared in a nationwide broadcast Saturday that he appreciated his people's resentment of "lies fabricated recently by the hired trumpets of propaganda in Egypt against Jordan with the intention of stirring mutiny."

Fires Cause Deaths of 5 Children Sunday

DETROIT (INS) — Eighteen-months-old twin sisters and three brothers died in separate home fires in Michigan yesterday.

Three other Presley children, Beverly, 6, Harold, 4, and Caroline, 3, escaped with minor injuries.

The mother, Mrs. Alvin Presley, was not at home when the fire broke out. She told police she had gone to a nearby barbershop to pick up her husband.

Harold Quick, 14, and his brothers, Martin, 7, and Larry, 5, died when fire trapped them in a second-floor bedroom of their frame home two miles north of Monroe.

Masons' Faces Red as Brick Doesn't Fit

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Bricklayers' faces were as red as the brick in their new union hall.

Members of Local 13 of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union gathered yesterday to lay the cornerstone and dedicate the building.

Secretary John J. Murphy of Washington, D.C., laid the mortar in the hole prepared to receive the granite stone.

Brother bricklayers hoisted up the stone. It was too big for the hole.

So they carted it back to the old union hall and rescheduled the ceremonies for Nov. 20, by which time the hole will be enlarged.

Billy Graham Preparing for Crusade on Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham will begin today preparing California for his San Francisco crusade scheduled for next April.

Graham, who arrived yesterday, will meet today with 1,000 northern California ministers. Wednesday he will go to Hollywood for a meeting with some 600 stars and producers.

The six-week crusade will be held in San Francisco's Cow Palace.

Southerly Wind Warms Midwest

Eastern Part of U.S. Still Cold With Snow Flurries

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southerly winds warmed wide areas of the Midwest today after the season's coldest weather but it was cool again in most of the eastern quarter of the country.

Temperatures dropped to near freezing into northern Georgia as the cold air mass spread across the Atlantic Coast states. Only southern Florida escaped the chilly blasts. Generally fair weather prevailed in most areas.

Snow which fell yesterday in sections of Pennsylvania, New York and northern New England diminished except for flurries. Snow was reported from Syracuse, N. Y., to the Great Lakes region, with falls ranging up to 15 inches at Little Valley and 6 inches at Jamestown, in southwestern New York. Falls across northwestern Pennsylvania ranged from 2 to 8 inches and from 6 to 8 inches in Erie and Warren counties, near the Lake Erie shore.

Oklahomans Celebrate 50th Birthday Week

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahomans could pop their vest buttons with official sanction today, the first day of "Pride in Oklahoma Week."

St. Lawrence Fees Pose Problem

Which First—Toll or Cargo?

MONTREAL (AP) — Like the chicken and the egg, the problem of tolls and traffic on the St. Lawrence Seaway is a question of which comes first.

The size of the toll depends largely on how much cargo moves through the multimillion dollar waterway due to open in 18 months. But shippers say they can't commit cargo until they know the toll.

The difficulty will be eased early next year when an experimental toll schedule is expected to be announced jointly by Canada and the United States, partners in building the 115-mile waterway from Montreal to Lake Ontario.

Even then, and perhaps for many years, the rates likely will be only tentative. Both U.S. and Canadian seaway agencies are committed to paying off the $425,000,000 cost of building the seaway, plus annual operating charges, over a 50-year period.

Potential traffic, on which any toll system must be based, has been variously estimated—from 20,000,000 cargo tons at first from the Dominion Marine Assn. to 35,500,000 tons suggested by the toll committee of the United States St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp.

Most of the seaway's potential customers—iron ore shippers, oil companies, shipping lines, pulp and paper manufacturers — say the whole problem could be easily eliminated. Just don't impose tolls at all, they say.

If substantial tolls are imposed, says the Canadian Pulp and Paper Assn., then present pulp-paper shipments by the old 14-foot canal route "will be compelled to resort to rail or truck movements."

The Aluminum Co. of Canada says a toll "would place us at a competitive disadvantage with United States primary aluminum producers."

". . . any charges which tend to increase basic transportation costs are not in the national interest," says the Shipping Federation of Canada.

Since seaway-induced prosperity will benefit all Canada, why not spread the costs across the nation by paying for the waterway with public funds? This argument is advanced by the Dominion Marine Assn., spokesman for Canada's inland shippers.

In the United States, toll views have leaned in the opposite direction. Atlantic and southern ports, railways and other groups have vigorously protested any move to keep tolls at "bargain rates" to induce heavy cargo tonnage in early years of the seaway operation.

Both Canadian and U.S. toll committees are pledged to create a toll structure based on the ship's size and the weight of the cargo. They are aiming at a system low enough to attract business, yet high enough to meet costs.

Bulk cargoes, chiefly Labrador iron ore moving westward to Great Lakes steel mills, are expected to account for about 70 per cent of seaway traffic in early years of operation.

Western grain, now moved in giant lake ships from lakehead storage elevators to transfer points near the St. Lawrence entrance to Lake Ontario, will be able to travel all the way to Montreal without transshipment.

Experts believe that the low-cost laker operation over the 1,200-mile lakehead-Montreal route could mean a saving of five cents a bushel in transportation costs. Any toll would reduce the full saving, however.

Until tolls are established, observers steer clear of estimating seaway savings in precise terms. They say an English automobile transported all the way from Britain to Toronto in one vessel should be cheaper in the car lot, but they won't predict what the saving will be.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.® Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Typhoon Called Aid to Philippine Politics

The big storm, carrying winds of up to 120 mies an hour, was expected to cut completely across Luzon, north of Manila, through sections considered strong for major opposition candidates Jose Yulo of the Liberal party and Manuel P. Manahan of the Progressive party.

Since typhoons usually bring heavy wind and flood damage, it was considered likely many voters in the rural areas would not be able to reach the polls. Garcia's administration and his Nacionalista party's machine also are in a better position than others to provide transportation to the voting booths.

The Proxy Murder

By ERLE STANLEY GARDNER

Copyright 1957

THE STORY SO FAR: Jerry Conway is alarmed by an advertising campaign Gifford Farrell, a discharged employe is conducting to obtain proxies and oust Conway at a stockholders' meeting. In a mysterious telephone call, a woman calling herself Rosalind offers to supply Conway with a list of the proxies Farrell has acquired. Though he suspects a trap, Conway agrees to follow directions and obtains a key to an hotel room for the meeting, but instad of finding Rosalind, there's a young woman scantily attired. She points a gun at him, which he takes from her. Since the gun has been fired recently, Conway suspects a frame up and calls Perry Mason, attorney, Mason and Paul Drake, detective, go to the hotel room and find a woman murdered. Mason traps Evangeline Farrell into admitting she is Rosalind. She's divorcing Farrell and wants to help Conway. Farrell is having an affair with Rose Calvert, a secretary. Mrs. Farrell obtains carbons of the proxy list. Mason identified the body as Rose Calvert. The proxy list planted in Conway's car doesn't compare with the list Mason has. The gun Conway gave to the District Attorney is not the murder weapon. Mason believes there's been a frame-up over the proxy battle and Farrell should be considered suspect. Farrell is trapped when Mason asks him about the Bikini bathing suit he bought for Rose Calvert, in which he took her picture.

Chapter 25

"There has been a lot of talk about frame-up, and I guess perhaps I have been unusually naive," Farrell said. "I don't know who is trying to frame something on me, but if this question is going to hinge upon some Bikini bathing suit which I purchased as a joke and some accusations in regard to pictures, I guess I had better get an attorney of my own."

"Do you deny that you took such a picture?" Mason asked.

Farrell faced him and said evenly, "Go to hell."

Mason grinned at Hamilton Burger. "The canary seems to have quit singing and started chirping."

Sgt. Holcomb said, "I've had a long talk with Farrell, Mr. Burger, and I'm convinced that he's all right. Perry Mason is just trying to use this business as a red herring."

Hamilton Burger said abruptly, "I see no reason for letting this interview degenerate into a brawl. Conway has appeared and has told his story. The gun which he has handed us and which he insists he took from the Redfern Hotel is quite obviously not the fatal gun."

'NOT THE GUN?'

"Not the fatal gun!" Farrell exclaimed.

Burger shook his head.

"Then he's switched guns!" Farrell said.

"You don't need to point out the obvious to this office," Hamilton Burger said with dignity. "Mr. Mason's legal ingenuity is too well known to need any comment from anyone.

"I desire to interrogate Mr. Farrell further.

"Mr. Mason and Mr. Conway are excused. Just go on out and I will send for you again if there are any further developments."

Mason took Conway's arm. "Come on, Jerry."

Mason opened the door. Conway and Mason walked out together down the long corridor and out through the folding doors into the district attorney's waiting room. The office was jammed with newspaper reporters. Flash bulbs popped in a dazzling array of blinding light flashes.

Reporters crowded around asking questions.

PART OF A SCHEME

"Take it easy, Jerry," Mason said. And then to the reporters, "We'll make a statement to you, gentlemen. An attempt was made to frame a murder on my client, Gerald Conway. I don't know whether the murder was committed and then the murderer, in desperation, tried to involve Mr. Conway, or whether the whole thing was part of a scheme to discredit Conway in connection with this battle for proxies in this Global Company.

"I can only tell you gentlemen what happened, and assure you of our desire to cooperate in every way possible in cleaning up this case."

"Well, what happened?" one of the reporters asked.

Mason turned to Conway and said, "Tell them your story, Jerry."

Conway frowned and hesitated.

"It's a damn sight better to let the newspaper have your version," Mason said, "than to get a second-hand, garbled version from someone who was present in the district attorney's office—Gifford Farrell, for instance."

Conway again related his story, while reporters crowded around making notes and asking questions.

Conway, driving Mason back toward the Gladedell Motel so the lawyer could pick up his car, said, "That wasn't so bad! How did I do, Perry?"

"You did all right," Mason told him. "I think you made a good impression on the newspaper boys and that's going to mean a lot. Fortunately, you had a chance to tell the reporters your story first. By the time the district attorney gets done questioning Gifford Farrell and he has a chance to talk with the reporters, the story of your interview will have been written up."

"It was worth a lot watching Giff Farrell's face when you sprung that on him about the Bikini bathing suit," Conway said.

Mason nodded. "Of course, Jerry, the fact that a man has been buying a Bikini bathing suit for a girl doesn't mean that he murdered her."

"Well, he could have murdered her all right."

"And," Mason went on, "you have to remember that we don't know it was murder. She might have committed suicide. The thing I can't understand is about that gun."

"What about it?"

"It wasn't the murder weapon."

"Boy ,oh boy! Wasn't it a grand and glorious feeling when that expert spoke up," Conway said. "That let me right off the hook!"

"I'm not so certain." Mason told him. "It's a complicatioi that I can't understand and I don't like it."

"Why?"

"Why?"

Mason said, "That woman wanted you to take that gun from her. She didn't intend to shoot you. She came out of the bedroom attired in scanties in order to put you at a disadvantage.

"All she had to do was to start screaming and you would have been at a terrific disadvantage. You realized that and wanted out of there the worst way. She drew that gun and then kept advancing toward you. Her hands was shaking. There's no question about it; she wanted you to take that gun!"

Conway said, "Thinking back on it, I'm not so sure it wasn't just plain panic on her part."

"She walked out of a room where there was a corpse," Mason pointed out. "She pulled a gun out of the desk and kept advancing on you, holding out the gun so that it was an invitation for you to grab it."

SHE WAS NERVOUS

Conway, feeling expansive with relief, said, "She may have been nervous. Perhaps she got blood on her clothes in shooting her roommate and wanted to change her clothes and get rid of the blood-spattered garments. She was in the process of doing that when I walked into the room. Naturally, she was in a terrific panic."

"So she pulled a gun on you?"

"That's right."

"And what did she want when she pulled the gun?"

"She was afraid I was going to. . . . Well, perhaps she was afraid I was going to take her into custody."

"She didn't tell you to get out," Mason said. "She told you to hold up your hands. The thing just doesn't make sense."

"Well, we're out of it now," Conway said.

Mason remained silent.

Conway drove for a while in silence, then said, "Well, here's your car."

"Wait a minute," Mason said, "that's a police car parked up there in the next block. Let's see what they're doing. Drive slowly, Jerry."

Conway drove up to the next block.

"Oh-oh," Mason said, "they're searching the motel grounds with mine detectors."

"What the idea of that" Conway asked.

"The idea of that," Mason told him dryly, "is they think you substituted weapons and disposed of the murder gun while you were down here at the Gladedell Motel . . . Look over there to the left. Quick!"

One of the searchers had thrown down the mine detector and was calling frantically to the others.

A group of people from two police cars converged around him. For a moment, as Conway drove by, Mason had a brief glimpse of a man holding a revolver out at arm's length.

Comrade Beria Offers 'Choice'

Secret Police Give Soble Spy Orders

(A confessed Soviet spy, and now serving a seven-year federal prison term, Jack Soble is revealing for the first time the innermost secrets of a Russian espionage network in the U.S. of which he was a leader for 15 years. This is the second of 12 articles in his dramatic, true chronicle.)

By JACK SOBLE
(Written with Jack Lotto)

"Comrade Beria would like to see you. Come with us please."

The words of the secret policemen terrified me.

I felt no consolation in the fact that I was friendly with, and held in high esteem by, important members of the Central Committee of the Communist Party, and the Secret Police.

As we rode toward Moscow's dreaded Lubyanka Prison hidden behind the brownstone interior ministry, I felt a sense of impending doom that June day in 1940.

REMEMBERS FAMILY

I thought of my wife, Myra, and the adorable eleven-month-old son, Leonid (Larry), we had adopted only two months before.

Four men were in the room when I was admitted. Beria, wearing a dark blue business suit, sat at his desk studying some papers through his rimless, pince-nez glasses.

Fedotov, an old friend, greeted me warmly, as did his assistants, Matusow and Swerdlov, putting me at ease.

"Ah, Comrade Sobolevicius (my real name), I am so glad you could come."

He invited me to sit down and came briskly to the purpose of his summons.

"I have heard of the good and loyal work you have done for the party. Comrade Stalin remembers your name and the services you performed regarding that dastardly enemy of the state, Trotsky."

Rubbing his bald head and pinching his long nose as he spoke, Stalin's police boss informed me he had decided I should leave the journalistic work I had pursued since 1933.

"We have decided," he droned on with his Georgian accent, "on some new and more important work. You will go abroad to the United States where you will perform vital informational-type activities in behalf of the motherland.

"Provided you pledge to work faithfully for us, you may take your wife child, parents and certain of your relatives in Lithuania."

He paused for a second, then went on:

"Otherwise, your whole family, according to Russian law, must be exiled to Siberia. They are capitalists and exploiters of the working classes."

Beria was referring to the fact that my father was a well-to-do bristle manufacturer with two factories in Lithuania, the Baltic country the Russians had taken over.

His bristles were sold to brush manufacturers throughout the world under the well-known trade mark "M.S."

I had no choice. It was either return to espionage work or see my family exiled—or worse.

"We shall drink a toast to your new career in the service of the motherland, comrade," Beria told me. "But first things first," he said briskly. "Get your relatives and bring them here so the necessary papers can be prepared for these poor refugees."

He laughed as he dismissed me.

Two days later I was in Vilkaviskis, Lithuania, a town of 8,000 where I had been born in 1903, with a list of 12 members of my family who would be permitted to leave.

We made a deal, which melted his objections. I told him he could take possession of the factories and other properties, liquidate them, and keep the proceeds for himself.

We got transit visas from the Japanese.

The night before our departure for Vladivostok, Fedotov called at my Moscow apartment.

"Comrade Beria hasn't forgotten his promise. He has prepared a little farewell party for you," he said, slapping me on the back.

A short time later we were at the swank Aragvi Restaurant on City Hall Square, just up the street from the Kremlin.

When I arrived with Fedotov, a dozen of Russia's top-ranking Secret police stood and toasted me with raised glasses.

At the height of the festivities Fedotov took me aside to a corner of the room.

"Comrade Sobolevicius," he declared with a grimness that sounded strange at such a gay affair, "I want to remind you of your mission as you prepare to leave us.

"We rely upon you. Comrade Beria wanted me to remind you that should you fail us or try to doublecross us, you and your dear ones will never be safe from us. Our arm—the long arm of the motherland — is everywhere, it reaches everywhere."

He stepped back a pace, saluted me and commanded:

"Come, let us have a drink, my friend."

Five IRA Members Killed in Explosion

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) —The bodies of five men believed to be members of the illegal Irish Republican Army were found today in the wreckage of a lonely cottage blown up in a violent explosion.

Police believed the men were killed in an accidental explosion while making bombs and assembling weapons for the IRA.

A spokesman said it was possible a sixth man also died in the blast.

The cottage is about six miles from the seaport of Newry, in County Down. Officers found sub machineguns, hand grenades and electrical wiring in the tangle of debris.

Japanese Girl Awaits Fiance on Downed Plane

Last week, the Japanese girl got the happy word from her American fiance that he was flying back to Japan.

"Meet me at Kyoto station, 6:30 a.m. Monday," William Deck, 24, of Radford, Va., cabled.

Deck is one of 44 persons missing on a Pan American airliner lost somewhere in the Pacific.

He had planned to stay three weeks in Japan, just long enough to marry Masako.

"I don't know what to do," she sobbed over the telephone. "I received a wonderful letter from Bill's mother just today, and now Bill isn't here. I'm so worried."

Masako said the couple met two years ago when Bill was stationed in Japan, "but I haven't seen him since last October when he was discharged."

Man Attacks Automobile

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — Magistrate Edward Moore figured John Lee, 68, was a little drastic in his action to move a fellow roomer's car that blocked his doorway. He found Lee guilty and sentenced him to 15 days in jail for attempting to set the car on fire and trying to attack it with an ax.

Mother Rolls Up Car Window, Strangles Child

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Lucinda Lynn Howell, 22 months old, was strangled last night when her mother rolled up the window of an automobile without looking.

Sheriff's officers said Mrs. Vega M. Howell, 25, told them she was sitting in the front seat of the car with a neighbor and chatting with relatives standing alongside. Three children were playing in the back seat.

There was a draft through a rear window so she reached back and rolled up the glass without looking. She did not see Lucinda Lynn had stuck her head out the window.

A few moments later one of the children said: "Oh look, little Lynn is asleep."

The little girl was dead on arrival at a hospital. Doctors said the top of the glass caught her windpipe and vocal chords. She could neither breathe nor cry out.

Restaurant Is Frank

MEXICO CITY (AP) — One restaurant in this capital is refreshingly frank. It advertises in a tourist magazine that it caters exclusively to "traditional Mexican food, service and atmosphere" and then adds:

"Very expensive. Reservations advisable."

Irene adapts the classic Balmacaan as a muted combination of fawn and white silk and wool. The afternoon dress is of printed silk in shades correlated to the coat.

Howard Greer calls this suit of white silk linen "Mirage." With its melon-sleeved jacket, it is perfect for luncheons or afternoon weddings. Without the jacket, the sheer marquisette top, spattered with rhinestones and pearls, gives a formality worthy of any evening.

Designers Greer, Irene Shun the Chemise Look

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

PALM SPRINGS — We're winding up California Press Week here at the Desert Inn in Palm Springs where we are guests of the Men's Apparel Guild. (We'll have the men's story for you Tuesday.)

MRS. CLEMENCE

In the final showing of spring and resort fashions, we found two of California's top designers, Irene and Howard Greer, not inspired by the chemise.

Greer's clothes still define the figure, but he has raised hemlines at least one inch. Many dresses were bared in back and several had nude silk marquisette tops, Silk, linen, taffeta and lace are his choice in fabric for cocktail and evening dresses.

Designer Irene said she did not follow Paris dictates regarding the chemise, but she believes it is a good dress. Her adaptation has diagonal seaming and does not hang from the shoulders. Although loose at the shoulders, the waist is fully defined on all dresses.

The very deep plunging neckline was shown in a black crepe sheath with floating side panels. Her showing ended with the beautiful slim evening gowns for which she is famous. Some were of chiffon, others silks and taffetas.

Edith Small likes the chemise, but only if done properly. Her interpretation is a fitted front and loose back look. Miss Small said, "I think the chemise look is going to take over."

Skirts are one inch shorter and shoulders are broadened for a slimmer hip look. She believes in the all-one-color look, showing models with matching hats (which she designs), dresses, bags and shoes.

DEEPER AND DEEPER

Those plunging necklines just cannot be stopped. Both back and front, that is. They're in every collection and seem to go deeper and deeper.

Yards of material go into Miss Small's cocktail and ball gowns. One voluminous dress had a cluster of big pink roses at the hemline. Another we like had a petal hemline showing graduated shades of pink. The back was low and the skirt, very full.

Well, there's the California fashion story. Is it chemise or sheath? Some fashion editors have changed their minds and have gone all out for the chemise. We don't know whether it has grown on them or whether they're just too tired to fight it.

For the final party in Los Angeles, five of the editors showed up wearing potato sacks—really. They got them from the cellar of the hotel. We don't need to tell you what impression it made on the other dinner guests.

See you Tuesday.

This smart black and white checked silk dress with a wide collar has the new chemise look.

Don't Heed Everything Kids Tell

By MILDRED S. FENNER
(For Jane Eads)

Miss Pratt's shoes look too tight. Mrs. Kingsley talks too much. Mrs. Morrison smiles the nicest of anybody. And so on for 997 other items of similarly world-shaking importance.

From now until June, nearly 40 million school boys and girls will be bringing home accounts of their teachers and of what happened at school. News will be flowing in the opposite direction, too.

HOME HAPPENINGS

Teacher has probably already been told what daddy said about grandmother's visit, how mother says they can't afford the baby but they're getting it anyway, the reason the TV set is broken.

The more experience she's had with children, the less likely the teacher is to take literally these garbled scraps of fact and fiction which Johnny and Susie present in the belief they are reporting with strictest accuracy.

She only hopes that you will be as charitable in your interpretation of the revelations the children bring home to you.

When Johnny confides that "My daddy has gotten a raise and he's going to make $15 a month now," she understands that $15 (or perhaps $115) represents the raise and not the salary.

BENEFIT OF DOUBT

She hopes you'll give her the benefit of a doubt if, for example, your kindergartener reports that "Miss Blake says she's sick of our class."

One father did give Miss Blake the benefit of a doubt and was glad he had when he learned Miss Blake had actually said she was homesick for the class over the weekend.

Recently I asked 6-year-old Pamela down the street the inevitable "How do you like your teacher?".

"All right, but I like the other first-grade teacher better."

"Why?"

LIKES LOCATION

"Oh," said Pam. "The other teacher's room is next door to the girls' bathroom."

Pam unwittingly reminded me that children's interpretations can be startling.

PTA Plans Conference on Tuesday

Tuesday marks Pontiac Council of PTA's conference on education which has been named "Know Your Pontiac Schools."

Among the topics to be discussed in the course of the conference are: How PTA can be more effective, how we hire teachers and having adequate teachers, how Board of Education works, how school buildings are planned, special services to pupils and special education program.

MORE SUBJECTS

Other subjects which will be under discussion at the Washington Junior High School meeting are: How curriculum is planned, the school guidance program, the physical education program, how we teach reading, kindergarten through third grade; how we teach reading, fourth through sixth grade; reading improvement and audio visual program.

Concluding the list of topics are: Elementary school program, high school college preparatory curriculum, senior high vocational program, how we teach social studies, how we teach science, how we teach mathematics, financial pictures for schools, and driver education program.

Be There on Time

Making a habit of being late to parties is not a social asset, though some people seem to think it is. When a hostess schedules a party, you should make every effort to get there on time. "Better late than never" is not the way a hostess feels about guests.

Personal News of Interest

Mrs Frederick Ward of West Huron street has returned to her home following three weeks spent visiting her grandchildren in the East and her daughters in Evanston and Champaign, Ill.

Sweaters of Orlon Don't Lose Shape

A drawer full of lovely sweaters makes any schoolgirl the belle of the local sweet shop.

Fortunately fashion-hit orlon sweaters can be sudsed and drip-dried in a jiffy without losing their original contours. Even a teenage novice can just arrange them on a hanger, or over the edge of the bathtub, without the painstaking pinning or reblocking operations of old-time woolens!

Orlon sweaters should be washed after every couple of wearings to retain that soft luxuriant look

For Clean Hair

Clean hair is a good start toward pretty hair. To keep it clean, though, anything that comes in contact with it must be washed frequently. This includes scarves, hairbrushes and combs. Even hats need cleaning.

Don't Allow Anxiety to Become Chronic

Learn to Recognize Mental Distress Signs

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Did you know that mental illness hospitalizes more people than all other ills put together and that it often can be prevented?

It is impossible for any human being to live without tensions and anxieties. To do so we would have to be devoid of all interests and enthusiasms and involvements of the heart. Also many worries are protective to our health and happiness.

However, the way in which we manage our problems and the manner in which we react to our worries IS important. The average, healthy, well-adjusted individual can go through times of anxiety and crisis and then bounce back. He or she may feel the impact in fatigue or depression, but within a reasonable length of time natural resilience will return.

The time to begin adopting corrective measures is when you live in a constant state of unease when there is no reason for it. If you have had a prolonged time of strain and tension, you should be watchful for any harmful reactions in your personality as well as in your health. BUT, how do you recognize it when this is happening to you?

There is a very interesting booklet which gives you a questionnaire to help evaluate your own outlook, your own mental health. This booklet is called "How to Deal With Your Tensions."

It was a joint project of the National Advertising Council and the National Association for Mental Health. It was written by Dr. George S. Stevenson, consultant for the National Association for Mental Health, and psychologist Harry Milt.

It certainly seems that we should investigate any symptoms of mental distress just as we would any physical symptoms and seek aid when we need it. I think this questionnaire will be helpful to everyone. Here it is:

1. Do minor problems and disappointments throw you into a dither?
2. Do you find it difficult to get along with people, and are people having trouble getting along with you?

3. Do the small pleasures of life fail to satisfy you?
4. Are you unable to stop thinking of your anxieties?
5. Do you fear people or situations that never used to trouble you?
6. Are you suspicious of people, mistrustful of your friends?
7. Do you have the feeling of being trapped?
8. Do you feel inadequate, suffer the tortures of self-doubt?

The authors do not indicate that disaster is ahead of you if you answer a number of these questions in the affirmative, but rather that you need help and that the situation should not continue. Do not allow it to become chronic! Overcome it because it puts the dampers on living and it also endangers your future mental welfare.

Perhaps you can help yourself or maybe you need expert aid. One way you can help yourself if you feel you need it is to read this booklet. It gives you direction for self help and also tells you where to find more expert help if you require it.

The booklet will be sent to you Better Mental Health, Post Office Box 2500, New York City, New York.

SHE'S DETERMINED TO LOSE WEIGHT, BUT—

Perhaps you can project yourself into the situation of this woman. Presented below are her reassuring thoughts and a conversation in what is too often a typical day during one's reducing schedule. The poor woman is determined to lose 10 pounds, but—. Well, here goes:

"Got up this morning feeling wonderful. I'm starting my reducing diet to lose those 10 extra pounds. All one has to do is to make up one's mind. Food doesn't even appeal to me any more since I have this attitude.

"My attitude is reinforced not only by my vanity but by my budget and an uncomfortable girdle. I cannot zip up those good-looking clothes I bought last fall. There is nothing to it once you make up your mind!

"The telephone just rang and we are going out for dinner this evening. They always have wonderful food! Oh, well, I can just toy along with it."

"I have done pretty well so far; only one dry martini and one canape. Took a roll but didn't eat it. Ditto with the Potatoes Volcano, with cheese. I ate the lean meat, leaving the fat, and I ate the asparagus and green salad. The salad did have dressing on it but probably not much.

"Ye gods! It looks divine! What is it? I will take some in order not to be noticeable. I am really getting away with this. Only 1 teaspoonful in 10 minutes! The man on my right is easy to talk with and no one realizes that I am not eating my dessert.

'SIMPLY CAN'T'

"The hostess is looking straight at me. 'You have not touched your dessert,' she says.

"Oh, everything has been so wonderful and I have eaten so much that I simply CAN'T."

"I will have none of that. I brought this recipe back from Europe and it took two days to prepare."

"Nothing could be worse unless she had said that it is an old family recipe. I almost choke with every bite because I am trying to count the calories.

"Anything this good has GOT to have a lot of calories, but I cannot offend my hostess. Anyway, it is awfully good. Ho, hum! I will make up for it tomorrow."

She's getting off to a bad start isn't she? I will continue this story tomorrow.

In the meantime, if you would like to have my calorie chart, just in case it might help, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 36. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Criticized for Sending Steak Back

Husband of Guest Says She Behaved Very Rudely

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I, along with another couple, were invited to dinner in a restaurant as the guests of friends of ours. I ordered steak and told the waiter I wanted it medium rare.

"When I cut into the steak, I found it to be well done. I called the waiter over and asked him please to take it back as it was not what I ordered. My husband thinks that I was very rude to our hosts by doing this and that I should have eaten it and said nothing.

"I can't see how I was rude to our hosts as it certainly wasn't their fault that the waiter made a mistake, and I am sure they wouldn't want me to eat something that I didn't enjoy. I would very much like to have your opinion on this matter."

Answer: You as a guest should not have complained directly to the waiter. If your host did not notice that your steak was overcooked and failed to ask if you wanted it changed, you should have eaten it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter and her husband were recently married at a private ceremony. Since relatives and friends have not met her husband I would like to give an afternoon reception in their honor.

"Most likely guests will be arriving at different times since the time for the reception will be from 3 to 5 o'clock. Should there be a receiving line, and if so, who stands in it?"

Answer: Yes, there should be a receiving line. You, as hostess, stand first at the door of entrance, your daughter stands next and her husband next to her. Your daughter introduces each arriving guest to her husband.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A young woman in our town recently became engaged to a man who lives in another part of the state. Her parents went to visit his parents after the engagement was announced. I always thought that the man's parents were supposed to call first on the girl's family and welcome her into the family. Isn't this correct?"

Answer: You are right, but if her parents were on a trip and in or near the town in which his parents live there was nothing incorrect in their making the first call.

Talks to Sorority on Bible's Plants

Mrs. John P. Caritte Jr., of Pleasant Ridge discussed "Flowers, Trees, Herbs, Vegetables, Fruits and Grains of the Bible" when members of the Zeta Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa sorority met at the home of Mrs. Edward Leland on Middlebelt road. Mrs. George Robins acted as the cohostess.

Refreshments, with Cressie Young pouring, were followed by the business meeting.

JEANETTE FOY

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Foy of Lansing announce the engagement of their daughter, Jeanette, to Rodger Joseph Clifton, son of the Thomas Cliftons of Osceola drive. The bride-elect is a graduate of Michigan State University, and her fiance attends Ferris Institute. A Jan. 11 wedding is planned.

Teach Youngster to Rely on Himself for Popularity

What He Is, Not What He Has, Rates as the Most Important Factor

By RUTH MILLETT

The clerk in the dress shop was having a hard time with the mother and her teenage daughter. They were looking for a party dress and the mother's comments made it clear she shouldn't be buying it at all.

"She has a perfectly beautiful dress she hasn't worn but three times," the mother fumed. "But she says the other girls are getting new dresses for this party and if she can't have a new one she won't go.

"It's always something to spend money on," the mother went on. "I think I have her all set and then some dress isn't just what the other girls are going to be wearing. Or she wore it to the last party—or something is wrong."

Having spent her frustration on the clerk, the mother finally let the daughter buy a dress and the two left the shop. One was happy; the other probably wondered how she was going to face her husband when the bill for the dress came in.

Apparently it had never occurred to that mother—or to many of today's mothers—that it is possible to say to a demanding teenager, "You can't always have everything other people have, so you might as well get used to making the best of what you've got."

MORE REALISTIC

That attitude on the part of a parent is certainly more realistic than struggling to give the teenager everything he wants, all the while being resentful toward him for demanding so much.

It's no favor to a teenager to let him buy acceptance with a reputation for having the best clothes, or the most spending money, or a earn.

That's about as false a security as anyone could ever count on.

A child is never too young to learn that the important thing is what he is.

A girl who has been taught that lesson can have a good time in a dress that isn't new. And a boy who has been taught to depend on himself can get along without his dad buying him a car he can't afford.

"Angels of gold" to add a festive air to your holiday trim; and "angel wings" to delight your young "Christmas-play angel." You'll find the angels (16", 6" and favor-size) and the feather-like wings fascinating and inexpensive to make from crepe paper and cellophane tape.

Pattern No. 5831 contains directions and diagrams for making angels (in three sizes) and wings.

Camp Fire Candy Sale Is Planned

Leaders Briefed on Details of Event Set Nov. 25 to Dec. 14

Blue Bird and Camp Fire leaders and assistants met at Central Methodist Church Thursday for a briefing on new policies and prizes for the 1957 Camp Fire candy sale, to run Nov. 25 through Dec. 14.

Mrs. Neil Wasserberger, executive director of the Pontiac Council, explained rules for awarding prizes to top sellers. A $10 prize will be awarded the Blue Bird and Camp Fire group selling the most candy. Mrs. Donna Baldwin is in charge of the prizes.

Representative of the council's camp program committee, Mrs. Charles Rymal, outlined the three-fold purpose of the sale: to offer Blue Birds and Camp Fire girls a selling experience, to enlarge the group treasuries for program supplies and trips, and to support the council's Camp Oweki near Clarkston.

In addition to laying plans for next year's day camp, the committee is developing a primitive-type outdoor program for junior high girls. For one week next summer the youngsters will live in tents and shelters they build themselves, and will cook with home-made equipment.

A candy sale pep rally is scheduled for Nov. 16 at LeBaron School.

Put Crumbs Over Crust for Variety

By JANET ODELL

Several weeks ago we gave you prize-winning recipes from the apple pie contest. Today we want you to have an unusual apple pie recipe that was a runner-up.

Kathy McBroom is an eighth grade student at Walled Lake Junior High School. Because she wanted to enter the contest she had her mother teach her how to make pie.

Other interests of Kathy's include music (piano and a church choir) and painting. She also likes baseball.

KATHY'S APPLE PIE
By Kathy McBroom

Pie Crust:
- 1¾ cups sifted flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ¾ cup shortening
- 4 or 5 tablespoons water

Blend dry ingredients and shortening. Set aside 2 tablespoonfuls of these crumbs. Add water to rest of crumbs and mix until dough forms into a ball. Divide in two parts.

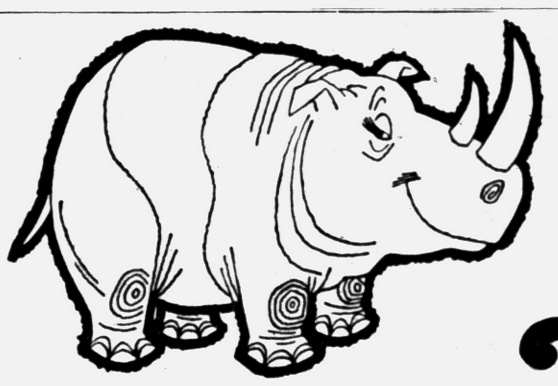

Flour pan and spread one ball of dough in the pan so that bottom and sides are completely covered. Flour large square of wax paper and spread second ball of dough on it. Pat dough out into a circle, then roll it from center out until circle is bigger than pie pan.

Fill pan with apple mixture. Place top crust on. Cut steam vents in top; seal and finish edges. Sprinkle the crumbs you set aside over the top.

Bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 40 minutes longer.

Filling:
- 5-6 large tart apples, peeled and sliced
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 tablespoon butter

Parents Invited to Open House

Romeo, Oxford Events at Schools to Mark Education Week

ROMEO — Parents will visit classrooms during tonight's annual open house being held at Romeo High School in recognition of American Education Week.

The session will open at 7:30 with a brief program in the auditorium. Vocal selections by the high school mixed chorus, led by C. Lynn Brown, will be featured.

Supt. of Schools T. C. Filppula will address the assembly and Principal Harold F. Barr will introduce the teachers.

Parents will visit classrooms between 8 and 9:15 and then return to the auditorium for a social hour and refreshments.

Oxford

American Education Week will be observed in Oxford by open houses at both the high school and Daniel Axford School.

At 7:30 p.m. Tuesday the high school teachers will be in their classrooms to confer with parents of their students.

Elementary school parents are invited to come between 7-9 p.m. on Wednesday to talk with teachers, watch art demonstrations, see the classroom displays, and to hear a short program by the Daniel Axford Glee Club which will be given in the all-purpose room at 8 o'clock.

CORN HUSKING BEE — Pictured above are but a few of the 50 Romeo area farmers who pooled their time and equipment Sunday to husk 65 acres of corn for Mrs. Minnie Falker and her sons, Carl and Stanley. In an old fashioned demonstration of neighborliness the farmers arrived at the Falker farm on Mound road with 13 corn husking machines, 13 tractors and 25-30 wagons. They stripped the fields in less than five hours. Reason for the cooperative venture was that both Mrs. Falker and Carl are confined in the same hospital — Mrs. Falker with a series of heart attacks and a broken ankle and her son with a broken leg.

Livestock Show Opens Nov. 29

International Exposition in Chicago to Highlight $100,000 in Prizes

CHICAGO — It will soon be show time in Chicago again with the curtain rising on new and exciting features at the 58th annual International Livestock Exposition, slated for Nov. 29 to Dec. 7 in the International Amphitheater of the Chicago Stockyards.

The exposition will distribute more than $100,000 in cash premiums to livestock and grain growers. In addition to the usual top quality exhibits of both breeding and fat stock in the arena, show rings and stockyards pens—the International Grain and Hay Show and the International Wool Show will have new locations on the ground-floor level in Donovan Hall, newest addition to the amphitheater. New features are planned to make them more interesting and attractive.

In line with new policy of providing entertainment headliners at the International, Arthur Godfrey, television and radio star, will appear at every horse show performance.

A cattleman and horseman on his own when he is away from television cameras, Godfrey will feature the day's livestock events on his morning TV and radio shows originating in the amphitheater. He will ride his famous Arabian at horse show performances.

Horse shows are scheduled for nine evening performances and six afternoons.

The stock show provides more than a week full of judging events and sales. Most dramatic is the selection of the grand champion steer on Dec. 3. Dr. A. D. Weber, dean of agriculture, Kansas State College, rounds out a decade of judging all steer classes.

Judging of steers, breeding cattle and sheep, wether lambs and barrows, as well as of grain, hay and wool, will bring an expected half million visitors to the stockyards.

Bigger yields of lean meat are the goals of the International Carcass Contest which last year reached high levels of interest for producer, packer and consumer alike. Animals are judged on hoof, slaughtered and judged again. Top prize winners get deluxe housing in a trailer show window in the amphitheater and are auctioned in the arena at the Dec. 3 horse show.

Seeks $5,500,000 for New High School

Berkley Holds Election

BERKLEY — Voters here will be asked to approve a $5,500,000 bond issue at Tuesday's special election. The money is to be used for a new high school.

The proposed issue has stirred up lively interest in the Berkley school district, which includes a large part of Huntington Woods and one square mile of Oak Park.

If approved, it will be the largest bond issue in the school district's history.

Fee System for Dump in Holly to Be Made

HOLLY — At Tuesday's meeting of the Village Council, a system of fees for the use of the local dump by outsiders will be adopted. It has been closed to non-residents the last few weeks.

The agenda suggests a license fee of $10 or $12 per year to merchants, the privilege to be confined to local residents only. It is proposed to have the dump open only on ednesdays and on Saturday forenoons.

Vice President Howland Plays Selections on Organ

Romeo Bank Again Offers Music Treat

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO — Those who enjoy organ music—expertly played—need only to visit the Romeo Savings Bank anytime between now and the first of the year for a rare musical treat.

Customers, upon opening the shiny glass doors leading into the beautifully remodeled interior of the bank, are very likely to be greeted by the strains of a Strauss waltz or a favorite theme from "Oklahoma."

Seated at the home model console is bank Vice President Robert M. Howland who, when he has a moment to spare, shares his talent with fellow employes and visitors.

Howland is by no means an amateur. He says, "I began playing the organ while still in grade school in Flint—often filling in at a theater there on Saturdays and Sundays."

"I later played professionally in theaters in Detroit, Saginaw, Flint and Ann Arbor. I was one of the last organists on the Butterfield circuit," he recalls. "My job in Ann Arbor led to my enrollment at the University of Michigan."

TRIES NEW EFFECTS

Howland, now 50, delights in experimenting with each "stop" or setting on the organ keyboard. He will try "vibra harp," "organ harp" or any number of tonal combinations to achieve the desired effect. The harmonious results are amplified by a speaker placed on the mezzanine balcony opposite the front entrance.

The youthful, white-haired executive works on the theory that "people will listen only to music which they can enjoy."

Proof of their enjoyment was evident last year when the same Detroit firm loaned an organ to the bank for the Christmas holidays. It was a common occurrence then to see several members of the Community Chorus gathered around the console, blending their voices in a familiar carol.

"We have been amazed at the reactions we get to our organ recitals. People we would least expect show tremendous interest in them," Howland said.

Customers often stop and even come up to the polished aluminum railing which rims the main banking floor to listen to the music. They spend several minutes in thoughtful reverie, then leave the building with a smile on their faces —often humming a tune.

Pontiac Press Photo

PLAYS A TUNE — Seated at the organ console in the Romeo Savings Bank is vice president Robert M. Howland, former professional organist, who entertains bank patrons with brief recitals during slack periods every day. He will continue to perform throughout November and December.

Newlyweds to Reside in Lake Orion

Lake Orion will be the home town of Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. Nelson when they return from their northern Michigan honeymoon.

Sandra Jean King and Norman J. Nelson exchanged nuptial vows Nov. 2 in Calvary Methodist Church, Flint, and guests from Detroit, Rochester, Oscoda, Laurium and Ohio attended the church reception immediately afterwards.

MRS. NORMAN J. NELSON

Matron of honor was Mrs. Gary King of Flint, and bridesmaids were Janice Coy of Flint and Eileen Titterington, sister of the bridegroom.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. King of Flint and Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Nelson of Rochester.

Open Lapeer Hospital Addition This Month

LAPEER — The $470,000 35-bed addition to Lapeer County General Hospital which will increase the hospital's capacity by two-thirds, will be in operation Wednesday Nov. 27.

The public may inspect the new wing, at open house Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 23 and 24.

Equipment is now being installed in the new wing and final clean-up work is in progress. The addition includes four 4-bed wards; nine 2-bed rooms and a private room.

Christmas Trees Will Be Featured at Flower Show

ROCHESTER—"Christmas, Old and New" is the theme chosen by the Rochester Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Assn. for their combined flower Show and Christmas Show.

Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 14-15, the show will be staged in the Avon Park Pavilion.

A special feature this year will be "Christmas Trees Through the Years." Floor trees up to three feet are allowed for decoration and the trees will be furnished by the Garden Club. This section will include pioneer trees, early American cookie trees, victorian tree and modern tree.

"Christmas Welcome at the Door" features wreaths and swags. Classifications in the "Holiday Splendor" section will include Christmas table arrangements.

Section G is an open class fo the public "Gift Baskets," with plant material used for decoration. Class 2 under this section is for children 8-18 years.

Mrs. George Akers is general chairman. Mrs. Verne Sutton, schedule; Mrs. F. A. Weihe, registration; Mrs. Arthur Weber, judging; Mrs. James Headlee, proprties; Mrs. John Plassey, clerks; Mrs. George Keragis, hospitality; Mrs. Charles Talley, publicity; Mrs. H. B. Littell, refreshment table, and 4-H Variety, conservation.

Scotch School Plants Trees

West Bloomfield Rite Attracts Boy and Girl Scouts and Donors

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Several trees were planted on the grounds of Scotch School yesterday afternoon in a special ceremony which attracted about 150 Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts of the area.

Among the donors of trees were Mrs. Harvey Finkle, an interested West Bloomfield resident; the Scotch School PTA Assn., local Boy and Girl Scouts.

In a brief address, Alfred Massena, conservation officer at Proud Lake Recreation Area, expressed the hope that the planting of trees would make children of the area conservation-minded.

Master of ceremonies was Otis Walton, an adviser for Explorers of Post 119, Green Lake. Other Scout units on hand included Troop 160 of Cass Lake, Troop 101 of Orchard Lake, Troop 119 of Green Lake, and Cub Scout Pack 36 of Green Lake.

6 Almont Men Join Deputies in Civil Defense

Lapeer County Sheriff's Department, in cooperation with the National Civil Defense organization, this week formed a county Sheriffs Posse, which included six men from the Almont area.

George Juhl, Ed D'Arcy Bill Dunbar, Ervin Brooks, Melvin D'Arcy and Albert Hall were sworn in with other county members as Deputy Sheriffs at a recent Lapeer meeting.

Election of officers followed the obligations with Ed D'Arcy being named president of the organization, Secretary-treasurer is Keith McGregor and Ab Hall was elected drill captain.

The fully-uniformed posse will be called out for action during cross-country search expeditions for lost persons as well as being trained to act in time of disaster or emergency.

FERNDALE — Edward O. Ungerman, 49, of 405 West Caratoga Ave, here has been named the nation's best school bus driver.

However, he won't be driving his bus this coming Tuesday. Instead, he will be in Washington, D.C., where he will receive a $1,000 savings bond from presidential assistant, Howard Pyle.

In 32 years of driving, seven-and-a-half of which has been behind the wheel of Ferndale's school bus, Ungerman has never had an accident.

In April, 1956, he was named Ferndale's safest citizen of the month.

Alice L. Avery Wed in Dryden Ceremony

DRYDEN — Alice Louise Avery wore an Empire gown of peau-de-sole, fashioned by her mother, for the recent ceremony which made her the bride of Harold J. Robson.

Ronald Robson attended his brother as best man, and ushers were Douglas and Kenneth Gould of Imlay City. Seating guests were Dick Avery and Dick Duckert of Dryden.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Avery of Dryden and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Robson of Brown City.

Council Will Meet Tuesday at Rochester

ROCHESTER — Because of Veterans Day the meeting of the Village Council will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. There will be awarding of contracts for watermain extensions on Romeo Road.

Bob Considine Says:

Russia Builds Impressive Passenger Jet

MOSCOW (INS) — There were not any "no shows" when the sputtering loudspeaker at Prague Airport announced the departure for Moscow of Flight 06. Seventy of us crowded to the gate in the dreary rain.

A lumpy Czech girl in uniform struggle with the group's names, which were printed on cards. "Delegation Cambodia," she called out, and there was a brief cry of joy and relief from the little brown-faced Communist group from that remote and lovely land.

"Delegation Sudanese," she said, and our ranks parted to make way for that group. "Delegation Hearst" sloshed to the rakish Russian jet.

Comrade Tupolev built himself a beaut when he turned out the TU104. It is a little smaller and slimmer than the Boeing 707 but has the same slight droop to the swept wing and the same raffish tail.

But the most impressive part of the Russian jet, which has been in regular airline operation for more than a year, is the power it generates from its two engines.

MUCH AIR NEEDED

The engines fit snugly against the cabin where the wing joins it. The nascelles which house each engine are conservatively 30 feet long and the power plant itself seems to fill most of that space. Judging from the vast size of the air intake these turbojets need a colossal amount of air to breathe.

The Russians won't say how much power this type of engine develops but common gossip in plane circles is that they are in the 20,000-pound thrust league. During a brief test of them an hour earlier they shook the airport terminal and ground around it with gruff and vehement exhausts.

The 70 of us went aboard via two sets of steps. There is a first-class front compartment of 20 roomy "siesta" type seats, then a rather extensive galley and finally a 50-seat section which is more like an American tourist-type arrangement: A narrowish aisle and seats arranged in rows of three and two.

Bill Hearst is a pilot and like all of them would, he instinctively looked at the sweep hand of his wristwatch as we started to roll down the strip.

To me it seemed an interminable run and even Bill made the little gesture of pulling back on an imaginary stick as the second hand went past the 40-second mark. But then we were off, inches only, but off.

"There wasn't much left of that runway," my pilot friend said.

THE CIGARETTE TEST

We had ridden together in the 707 the day it flew from Seattle to Baltimore in 3 hours, 48 minutes and everything the TU104 did this day was an item for comparison.

For example, when we leveled off at about 30,000 feet Bill tried to stand a cigarette on its edge to test the plane's lack of vibration. It worked briefly, but each time he tried thereafter the cigarette fell over on its side.

"Only Russian cigarettes stand up on the Tupolev," Frank Conniff said grimly.

The somewhat dowdy but efficient stewardesses served a meal of cold ham, a lukewarm slice of lamb with gravy, potatoes and something that resembled sauerkraut, and something that resembled coffee. Each tray held a small glass of red wine.

A French Communist leaped to his feet and offered a toast to the future of communism and people of a half dozen nationalities applauded. We felt impelled to drink to the President, after which Conniff offered a toast to the National Association of Manufacturers.

We came into Moscow Airport with a long, deep, turning let-down, slicing like an angular scythe through whipped cream overcast. The landing was a good one.

It's an odd feeling after a landing not to hear and feel the propellors being reversed, a feeling we first knew in a British Comet, then the 707. Like those two, the Tupolev must depend on its brakes, and they in turn must be enormous.

We passed over the burned-out remains of the plane in which the Romanian delegation crashed last Monday, just before we touched down. The hugh Moscow Airport was alive with planes, at least 100 of them, probably more. Among them were seven more Tupolev jets, whereas we get our first U.S. passenger jet into service a year from now.

The self-propelled steps whirred up to the planeside and the delegations stepped down to warm greetings from a Communist Grover Whalen.

We strolled to the front of the plane and were permitted into the roomy cockpit. A tennel leads to roomy cockpit. A tunnel leads to is glass. It is fitted with a seat a good deal like the one the bombardier used in our B29s.

How much more inflation can our country stand?

Right now, inflated prices are taking a bite out of every dollar you earn.

At the same time, taxes are taking at least one day's pay out of your weekly salary.

And rising prices can make a mockery of any raise in pay you get. Which leaves you right back where you started.

Can you, can any American, afford not to fight this threat to your family's present welfare and future security?

What ALL OF US can do to stop inflation

1. Let's look for value in everything we buy. And if it isn't a good value, let's not buy it. Now, more than ever before, it pays to be thrifty. This way, we'll be able to add to our savings and to our family security. More, our savings will help industry to finance urgently needed factories and better machines. And this, in turn, will result in more goods and better values – to help douse the flames of inflation.

2. Let's insist on value from our government, too. As taxpayers and voters, we can encourage our government to get good value from our tax dollars. Overspending by government – federal, state or local – sends prices soaring. Public spending of our money should be held to essentials.

This is little to do compared to the price we will pay if inflation is not stopped!

Why the life insurance companies are bringing you this message

106 million policyholders have made life insurance America's most widely used form of thrift. In the interest of these policyholders – in the interest of all of us – the life insurance companies feel that they have a duty to help preserve the purchasing power of the dollar.

UNESCO Ends 6th Conference

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The gaps between Asia and America remain wide, but America's largest conference on Asia detailed ways to close them.

Ahe sixth National Conference for UNESCO ended Saturday with a warning by India's First Lady, Mme. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, that "half the world cannot move around in oxcars while the other half rides in Cadillacs."

Closing the oxcart-Cadillac gap was only one small phase of the conference, where 1,500 Americans attacked the problem: "Asia and the United States—What the American citizens can do to promote mutual understanding and cooperation."

Greetings from President Eisenhower, Japanese Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi, Philippines President Carlos Garcia and other chiefs of state underlined the urgency of the conference.

Mme. Pandit, India's high commissioner to the United Kingdom, cited these reasons for lack of Asian-American understanding:

1. American ignorance of Asia. Asians also don't know what America is all about, she said.

2. Racial prejudice in the United States, which she conceded hits Asians with "disproportionate impact."

3. Resentment of Asian national experiments in socialism. "We in Asia . . . must develop our democracies according to our own conditioning and our own needs."

4. The oxcart-Cadillac gap which she called "an inbalance (of) . . . far greater danger to the world than the deadliest weapons of destruction."

One panel group suggested doubling U. S. aid to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization every two years for a decade.

Delegates agreed economic aid must continue and be expanded but with more attention to Asia's real needs than to what Americans think Asia needs.

Also that more and better news, both ways, is needed; so are more movies, books, art forms and personal contacts, they said.

Girl, 9, Smuggled From China Gets to Boston Home

BOSTON (AP)—A new life in a new freedom-loving country began today for a 9-year-old Chinese girl who was smuggled out of Red China to be reunited with her parents here after a separation of 8½ years.

Aurora Way flew in yesterday and was smothered in the arms of her mother Mrs. John Way.

The tot's beaming father presented his daughter with a toy poodle and a stack of comic books.

Aurora was left with her grandmother in Shanghai in 1949 because she was too ill at the time to accompany her parents when they came to Boston for a visit.

Shortly after the Ways departed, the city was captured by the Communists. They declined to allow the child to join her parents.

Last winter Aurora was smuggled out of the country in the hold of a Chinese Junk. She was taken to Hong Kong where immigration laws barred entrance to this country.

Later Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass) was able to persuade authorities to allow her to come to America.

Yesterday she flew from San Francisco to Boston's Logan International Airport for the reunion.on.

there's nothing newer in the world

There's bold, new styling—new Interceptor V-8 Power—new Cruise-O-Matic Drive—new power-controlled Ford-Aire Suspension! The 58 Ford is the only car ever to meet a world-wide test and win world-wide approval before its public premiere!

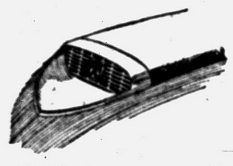

You could search the world over and never find a car to match this 58 Ford's new beauty . . . new power . . . new ride . . . all at the low Ford price. How do we know? We tried it!

In Paris . . . the most style-conscious fashion critics in the world had a deep, low bow for Ford's latest style creation. In the mighty Himalayas, Ford's new Interceptor V-8 engine with Precision Fuel Induction won the day! Its all-new system of carburetion, fuel feeding and combustion gives you top performance! And, there are no geographical limits to the savings and spirited versatility of Ford's new Cruise-O-Matic Drive. The gas-saving axle ratio used with Cruise-O-Matic means "built-in" overdrive economy!

Then there's nothing newer than the true air ride of Ford-Aire Suspension. It's like riding on a cloud because you literally ride on air! But, you don't have to go to foreign soil to drive the 58 Ford. We'll gladly save you the trip!

With all that's new for a world of difference

You'll ride in a new world of fashion with Ford's deep sculptured styling. From new Power-Flow hood to Safety-Twin taillights, Ford's worlds-ahead styling is a standout! There's a new Slipstream roof . . . a new Sculptured rear deck, too!

You'll be ahead with Ford's new Interceptor V-8 and Precision Fuel Induction. Gives you up to 300 hp. Smoother power . . . more power . . . from less gas! The secret is Precision Fuel Induction, a new carburetion and combustion system.

You'll get up to 15% more gas savings with new Cruise-O-Matic Drive teamed with the new Interceptor V-8. New D1 position is for all normal driving—from brisk, solid-feeling take-offs smoothly on up to highway cruising speeds.

You'll ride on a cloud instead of a spring with Ford-Aire Suspension. This is the way you've always dreamed of driving—floating on air! Four air pillows literally soak up any sign of a bump. Car relevels every time someone gets in.

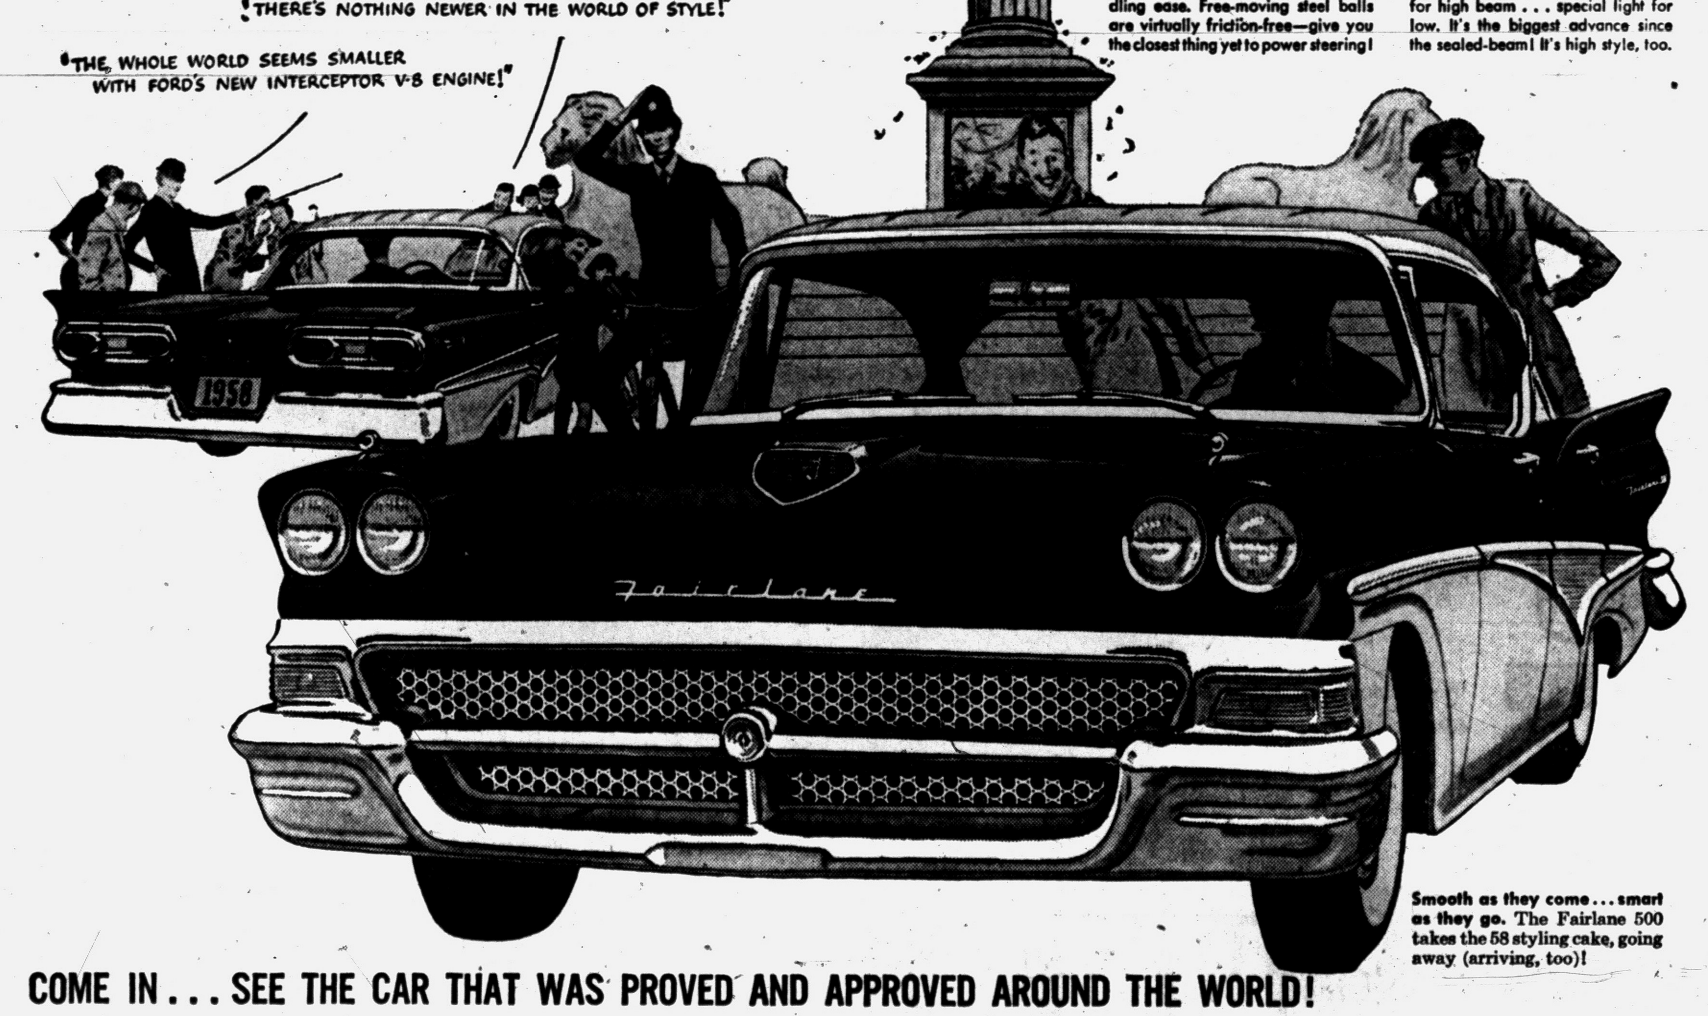

You'll steer with a feather touch with Ford's new Magic-Circle Steering. Nothing rolls like a ball, and that's the secret of Ford's handling ease. Free-moving steel balls are virtually friction-free—give you the closest thing yet to power steering!

Your night driving is safer with Ford's Safety-Twin Headlights. You get safety you simply can't get with single lights . . . special light for high beam . . . special light for low. It's the biggest advance since the sealed-beam! It's high style, too.

From London to Bangkok . . . the whole world loved it!

The 58 Ford stopped traffic in Trafalgar Square when it passed through on its history-making, round-the-world trip. And that was typical of the excitement this Ford caused in Paris . . . Rome . . . Athens . . . Istanbul . . . Calcutta . . . Bangkok and in all cities in between. For this Ford was proved and approved around the world in the toughest "shakedown" cruise in history. Down the rugged Yugoslavian coast line! Through the dust of Iran's Great Salt Desert! Afghanistan's Khyber Pass . . . over the mountains and through the jungles of India! The 58 Ford was proved and approved like no other car before.

Smooth as they come... smart as they go. The Fairlane 500 takes the 58 styling cake, going away (arriving, too)!

COME IN . . . SEE THE CAR THAT WAS PROVED AND APPROVED AROUND THE WORLD!

Marilyn Takes to Album Like Child With New Toy

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — I have always been intrigued by Marilyn Monroe's enthusiasm over any new project. Now she is working on an album of popular songs and is like a child with a new toy.

She dropped in on me at the Waldorf Towers one afternoon when it was pouring rain. She told me she is about to make a deal with one of the top recording companies and that she has been working with Lee Strasburg at the actor's studio, observing other actors and learning new plays.

If all goes as Marilyn expects, she'll be in Hollywood right after the first of the year to start "Blue Angel," the movie that started Marlene Dietrich on the road to fame. Marilyn will sing some old and some new songs in the picture.

INGRID SENSED SPLIT

I've no doubt in my mind that Ingrid Bergman knew, even before that posed meeting at the airport — that she and Rossellini couldn't possibly reconcile. Previously Ingrid has vowed that she would never come back to the U.S.A. to make a picture.

But consider this: over a month ago she made the deal with Buddy Adler to star in "The Inn of the Eighth Happiness," Alan Burgess' novel, and agreed to come here to discuss the details.

Mark Robson, who will direct "Inn" will meet Ingrid here and then go on to Formosa, where the picture will be made in its entirety. I prophesy Ingrid will now make work her solace—and she certainly can have her choice of American productions.

KARLOFF BIG GUNS

There is no voice in movies or T more cultured than that of our horror expert, Boris Karloff. He just returned from England, where he made "Stranglehold" for Amalgamated Film Co. in which he plays a schizophrenic—more dangerous than Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

Boris said that he and Mrs. Karloff came back on a French freighter, which gave them three wonderful weeks at sea.

He will be on the Gisele Mackenzie Nov. 16 TV show.

"Are you going to scare little children?" I asked.

"No indeed," he said. "I play a comedy sketch and of all things, I sing."

PRAYER ON TV

With the continuous—and undeserved—beating Hollywood receives as a sink of sin, it's a welcome thing to announce that the inspiration of putting one minute prayers on TV stations to start each morning originated here in Hollywood The idea was the worthy brain child of Lew Kerner, movie executive.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The Nicholas Schencks have given their blessing to the coming January marriage of their youngest daughter, Nikki, to Helmut Dantine.

Dolores and Bob Hope entertained the visiting TV editors at their Moorepark home with a cocktail party and dinner. Shameful that Bob's show didn't continue because of the withdrawal of the sponsor over something that was not his fault.

That new fabulous contract for Buddy Adler at 20th Century-Fox I wrote about weeks ago is in order. Buddy is in New York meeting with Spyros Skouras, his attorney, Arnold Grant, and his representative, Charles Feldman.

The Phil Reagans entertained former president and Mrs. Harry Truman at the Racquet Club in Palm Springs. Among the guests were former governor (State of Washington) and Mrs. Mon Walgren.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Junior Editors Quiz on WILLIAM TELL

ANSWER: The story is that William Tell was a Swiss peasant in 1307 when Switzerland was ruled by Austria. One day he walked into the village of Altdorf, where an Austrian bailiff named Gessler had set his cap on a tall pole and instructed the Swiss to bow to the cap.

Tell refused to humiliate himself that way. Gessler told him he would be executed, but that he could save himself by shooting an apple from the head of his young son with an arrow. Tell shot the apple from the boy's head, and was about to be freed when he confessed that he had a second arrow intended for Gessler if he had killed his son.

Gessler had Tell seized but he escaped and killed the bailiff. This story spread quickly through Switzerland and gave the Swiss people courage to revolt against the Austrian rulers.

Modern historians agree this is just a legend, but it has inspired generations of freedom loving people.

FOR YOU TO DO: Try shooting an arrow through an apple at a distance of 25 feet and see what a hard problem William Tell faced. (But never shoot an arrow at another person or at an apple on his head.)

(Douglas DeByle of Wausau, Wis., wins $10 for this question. If you have a good one, send a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper.)

Hopes Canal Firm, Egypt Will Agree

CAIRO (AP)—World Bank President Eugene Black said today he is hopeful Egypt and the old Suez Canal Co. will soon agree on compensation for stockholders of the company.

Black left by plane for Paris and London after two days of talks with Egyptian officials. He said he had—"found out both sides have a sincere wish to reach agreement."

He denied that the bank is preparing a compensation plan, saying he is only a mediator trying to get negotiations started and to help them along once they start.

The New York Times reported from Cairo that Black told Egyptian President Nasser the bank will consider helping finance the Aswan high dam if Egypt settles its dispute with the old Suez Canal Co.

Question 2 Newsmen About Red Affiliations

TAIPEI (AP) — Government sources today said two Taipei newsmen are being held for questioning about alleged Communist affiliations.

The pair are Ni Shih Tan, editorial writer of the independent Kung Lun Pao, and Lu Shih Kun of the Hsin Seheng Pao, an organ of the Formosa provincial government.

The all-state small college football team, now in the process of being selected by coaches and writers will be honored in Marshall on Tuesday, December 3rd. with certificates being awarded by the AP.

Guy Sparrow of Pontiac, averaging 10 points a game for the New York Knicks, will be in Detroit Tuesday night to meet the Pistons at the Olympia.

A big battle for all-state class A quarterback honors is expected next Monday when the AP writers pick the team. Jerry Gross of Bay City, Mike Westley of Midland and Stuart of Muskegon are the "big three."

A fall while running with the ball at Keego Harbor last week not only put Bloomfield Hills' halfback Chuck Mezey out of action for the final football games but he also will miss part of the basketball season. He has a torn knee cartilage and may not be able to run well until sometime in January.

The late Princeton coach Charley Caldwell accidentally started Lou Gehrig on his all-time playing streak in the big leagues. Charley was being given a mound tryout by the Yankees when he struck New York 1st sacker Wally Pipp on the head. The injury put Gehrig in the lineup and he stayed right there until flattened by the illness that caused his death.

Walled Lake's freshman football team finished a perfect season last week with a 14-12 victory over Berkley freshmen. The Viking frosh went unbeaten in six games.

O'Connell Pitches 2 TDs

Paces Browns Over Steelers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Otto Graham! Who is he?

The Cleveland Browns, who bristled with an aura of invincibility while Uncle Otto was lofting TD passes, were supposed to turn into the National Football League's patsies when he made his second "retirement" permanent at the close of the 1955 season.

But Coach Paul Brown went the prognosticators one better and installed the veteran George Ratterman at the helm. He filled in ably until a knee injury signaled an end to his career.

A dejected Brown put out a call for available talent and Tommy O'Connell, former Illinois star, answered.

It's been O'Connell in the quarterback slot since late 1956 and he's beginning to make them forget the fabulous Graham.

O'Connell tossed two touchdown passes yesterday as the Browns maintained their hold on the Eastern Division lead with a 24-0 victory over Pittsburgh's Steelers.

Despite their loss the 49ers continued to pace the Western Conference with a 5-2 record, one hop ahead of Baltimore and Detroit at 4-3.

The Colts remained in contention with a 21-17 victory over Washington and the Lions dropped Philadelphia 27-16. In the East, the Giants (5-2) stayed right behind the Browns by defeating Chicago's Cardinals, 27-14.

In the other game on the full program, Chicago's Bears beat Green Bay, 21-14.

Lou Groza opened the Cleveland scoring with a 34-yard field goal, his eighth this season. Then O'Connell took over. He completed 7 of 11 passes for 156 yards and touchdowns to Ray Renfro and Preston Carpenter. Don Paul picked up a fumble and sped 89 yards for the final score. Rookie Jim Brown led the running game with 75 yards in 14 tries.

The Rams halted the 49er winning streak at five games with Norm Van Brocklin pitching to Bob Boyd for two touchdowns. Tank Younger, Jon Arnett and Joe Arenas scored on short plunges for the Rams. Y. A. Tittle pitched for one TD, scored another but couldn't work any of his "miracles."

The Colts' Johnny Unitas hurled two scoring passes to bring his total to 17 for the season, and then with only 50 seconds to go charged three yards for the winning TD against the 'Skins. Ray Berry caught 12 passes, two for touchdowns, to net 224 yards. Rookies Jim Podoley and Don Bosseler tallied for the Redskins.

The Giants made good use of their veterans. Chuck Conerly, 36, passed for a pair of touchdowns and Ben Agajanian, 38, notched two field goals. Trailing 17-0 in the third quarter, the Cards came back with Ollie Matson going over twice to cut the lead to 17-14. But Agajanian booted one and Frank Gifford went 24 yards for a six-pointer to put the game out of reach.

PEAKS GAINS — Detroit defensive back Carl Karilivacz (21) moves in for the tackle of Philadelphia Eagles' back Clarence Peaks (26), formerly of Michigan State. Peaks however got five yards in yesterday's game on this run. On the ground is Abe Gibbon (64). Detroit won, 27-16.

Bobby Connects for 3 TD Passes Against Eagles

Veteran Signal-Caller Has Hand in All Points as Lions Bounce Back

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A blonde giant with a slingshot passing arm turned a raw, wintry day into the Fourth of July for the Detroit Lions yesterday as he ignored a painfully bruised side and sparked Detroit to a 27-16 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Veteran Bobby Layne, his injured ribs strapped with tape, came off the bench at the start of the second quarter to turn Detroit's stalled offense into a smoothly functioning unit with three touchdown passes and two field goals.

Layne completed 8 of 13 tosses for 147 yards. He completed six in a row in the second period, every other one good for a touchdown.

The victory left the Lions tied with the Baltimore Colts for second place in the National Football League's Western Conference. Both are within one game of the league-leading San Francisco 49ers.

Layne came off the bench to take over for Tobin Rote with the Eagles leading 3-0, early in the second period.

The Lions immediately moved 80 yards in 10 plays, ending their drive at the Philadelphia eight-yard line where Layne rifled a pass to Steve Junker in the end zone.

The Eagles regained the lead on a quarterback sneak by Al Dorow but fell behind minutes later when Layne capped a 29-yard run by John Henry Johnson with a 43-yard touchdown pass to Jim Doran, who made a sensational juggling catch in the end zone.

The Lions moved for their third score of the second quarter a short time later to make the score 21-9. This time it took Detroit three plays to go 44 yards. Layne passed to Howard (Hopalong) Cassady for 26. Johnson ran seven more yards, and Layne completed the march with an 11-yard pass play to Cassady for the score.

Layne made it 24-9 in the third quarter with the first of his two field goals. He propelled his second three-pointer through the uprights in the fourth quarter.

The Eagles completed their scoring in the fourth with a goal-line plunge that climaxed a 61-yard run by Jerry Norton on a fourth-down fake punt play.

Layne kicked all of the conversions for Detroit, thus figuring in all of the Lions' scoring.

The defeat was the fifth in seven games for the Eagles this season. Philadelphia is in a three-way tie for last place in the league's Eastern Conference.

STIFF ARM — Michigan's Stan Noskin (27) gives the stiff arm to Illinois center Gene Chernev as he goes for a seven yard gain in their game at Champaign, Ill., Saturday. Guard Dave Ash (62) helped with the tackle. Illinois won, 20-19.

OSU's Title, Bowl Hopes at Stake Against Hawks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State and Iowa will settle the Big Ten football championship at Columbus Saturday while Michigan State pits its flickering Rose Bowl hopes against Minnesota.

An Ohio State victory over Iowa would settle everything — title and Rose Bowl bid. Should the Buckeyes lose and Michigan State defeat Minnesota, Ohio State would then have to defeat Michigan in its final game to gain a trip to Pasadena.

Michigan State's only hope is to beat Minnesota and have Ohio State lose to both Iowa and Michigan. Iowa is in line only for the title since the Hawkeyes are ineligible for the Rose Bowl.

A full conference schedule is on tap this week. Aside from the Iowa at Ohio State game, Minnesota (3-3) is at Michigan State (4-1), Illinois (2-3) invades Wisconsin (2-3) Indiana (0-4) battles Michigan (2-2-1) at Ann Arbor and Northwestern (0-5) is at Purdue (2-3). In other games, Notre Dame is at Oklahoma and Marquette journeys to Boston College.

Ohio State has a perfect conference record of five victories and no defeats while Iowa has a 4-0-1 record which includes its 21-21 tie with Michigan.

The only blotch on the Ohio State record is an 18-14 opening loss to Texas Christian. Since then Ohio State has banged past Washington, 35-7, Illinois 21-7; Indiana 56-0; Wisconsin 16-13; Northwestern 47-6, and the 20-7 triumph over Purdue.

Iowa opened by swamping Utah State 70-14, clipped Washington State 20-13; Indiana 47-7; Wisconsin 21-7; Northwestern 6-0, tied Michigan and humiliated Minnesota last Saturday.

Both teams depend heavily on their front lines and the Buckeyes, who play possession ball and stay on the ground might have trouble picking up yardage against the tough Hawkeye forward wall.

However, Ohio State proved against Purdue that it also has a stout defense. The Boilermakers kept pounding at the Ohio State goal throughout the second half but were able to score only once.

Both teams will probably be in top physical condition. Ohio State halfback Don Clark, the Big Ten's leading ground gainer, was injured against Purdue but coach Woody Hayes said Clark will probably be ready for t he big game.

Pro Crowds Set Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pro football attendance reached an all-time high in the National Football League yesterday with an unofficial estimate for all six games of 312,131 persons.

This "undoubtedly" is an all-time high for the NFL, Commissioner Bert Bell said.

Another record also probably was set — paid attendance for a single game. The Los Angeles Rams-San Francisco '49ers game at Memorial Coliseum in Los Angeles drew an estimated total crowd of 102,368.

The paid attendance probably won't hit the 100,000 mark because 7,500 boys were guests of the management.

But the final audit "will show a new paid attendance record for a professional football game," a spokesman said.

Bell agreed and added that paid attendance for all six games will be a record somewhere in the vicinity of 300,000.

Actual paid attendance won't be known until later in the week after each club submits its box office totals to NFL headquarters here.

The total attendance figure for the previous week, Nov. 3, also was of record dimensions—284,755 with a paid attendance of 261,200.

"While I am naturally pleased at the increased interest in pro ball," Bell said, "I cannot honesty say it comes as a surprise."

The Rams are striving to become the first NFL club to draw one million fans in a single season. Their attendance for the last three games is 260,138 including yesterday's record breaker.

Coliseum manager Bill Nicholas said that 10,000 fans were turned away at the gates yesterday and 900 more got their money back after they passed the turnstiles because there were no seats for them.

St. Fred Romps, 19-0

The Rams of St. Frederick turned in one of their best all around performances of the season to blank Center Line St. Clement 19-0 yesterday. The victory snapped a two-game losing streak for the locals.

It was the 2nd win in five suburban Catholic games placing St. Fred behind Orchard Lake St. Mary for 6th place in the Suburban Catholic League. The Eaglets romped with ease blasting Royal Oak St. Mary 32-0

St. Rita finished unbeaten to wrap up the loop crown in the other contest besting St. Benedict 19-12 as quarterback Al Sleyter scored twice.

Steady Jack Lyon was again the big cog in the Ram attack. He tallied two touchdowns on runs of 36 and 6 yards and had another of 50 yards nullified by a penalty.

Tom Derocher garnered the other St. Frederick six-pointer when he went 80 yards. He also was the victim of a rule infraction which took away a 62-yard scamper.

It was one of the outstanding defensive showings of the season for the Rams over a team which had been scoring consistently.

St. Clement never got inside the St. Fred 20 as the winners dominated the play from the opening whistle to win its 3rd game in six starts.

Orchard Lake started early and kept pouring it on sparked by Terry Raymond's three touchdowns.

Ron Novak, St... Moniuszko and Frank Bartos also got TDs and Tony Chojnowski got the extra points for the winners.

Aggressive Style Still Marks Ron's Pro Action

The former Wolverine All-America plays the same brand of aggressive football. Employed strictly on offense, he retains his bone-jarring blocking ability and catches button-hook passes in the pattern he styled at Michigan.

He wears another jersey numeral because the number 87 he made famous at Michigan already belonged to a Green Bay veteran when he joined the National Football League team.

Kramer now is a 230-pound bundle of muscle, 14 more than his college playing weight.

"I need the added weight playing with hese guys," he said. "In this league everybody's a specialist."

"The players are better than in college. This is the cream of the college crop just like college football uses the cream of the high school football crop."

Kramer ranks in the top echelon of the NFL's pass receivers with 19 catches including the three he made yesterday as his Packers lost to the Chicago Bears 21-14. He was used at right end yesterday after playing slotback or right halfback in his earlier Packer games.

Pontiac Teams Finish High in Keg Tourney

Pontiac teams captured the 2nd, 5th and 8th places in competition with some of the state's best bowlers in the preliminary round for the state match game championship at Huron Bowl over the weekend.

Sullivan's Furniture of Grand Rapids copped the crown with a 8,958 total to earn the right to meet the Detroit champion in a home-and-home series for the Michigan title.

Johnston Leads Warriors' Win

Lanky Pivotman Hits 34 Points as Mates Edge Royals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As long as Neil Johnston retains his scoring touch, the Philadelphia Warriors will continue to make their presence felt in National Basketball Assn. circles.

The lanky 6-8 center, in his seventh year in the league, found the range for 34 points as the Warriors outlasted the Cincinnati Royals 106-101 last night in the only game played. It was Cincinnati's fourth straight setback.

Johnston, a three-time scoring champion, collected 22 points in the first half while Philadelphia forged ahead at intermission 59-46. The hook-shooting specialist wound up with 12 field goals in 20 tries and connected on 10-of-10 free throw attempts.

The Royals, who entered the final period trailing by 12 points, trimmed the deficit to three with less than two minutes remaining before the Warriors pulled safely away. Jack George's field goal and two free throws by Joe Graboski put Cincinnati out of reach.

Jack Twyman topped the Royals with 24 points and Clyde Lovellette chipped in with 22. Graboski contributed 20 to the Philadelphia attack.

Denby Rehearing Delayed

DETROIT (INS) — City League athletic director George M. Mean says he may not be able to meet today with the Denby High School Dads club, which has asked for a rehearing on the school's forfeiture of four football victories.

Mead has been away from his office since Friday and said he has not yet seen the letter of petition from the fathers.

The games were ordered forfeited because a Denby player who participated in them forged a doctor's name to a medical examination report.

Hawks Take 2 Over Weekend

Dump Leafs, Rangers to Take Over Third Spot in NHL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Black Hawks, perennial cellar-dwellers of the National Hockey League, are making the other clubs sit up and take notice.

For the past four seasons and seven of the last eight, the Hawks have finished in the basement. Only in 1952-53 did Chicago escape the cellar when the team wound up fourth.

Touted in the pre-season consensus as the league's most improved club, the Hawks certainly are making the dopesters look good. After a profitable weekend, Chicago holds down third place and is only four points behind the runnerup New York Rangers.

The Hawks whipped the Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1 last night. On Saturday afternoon before a national television audience the Windy City skaters blanked the Rangers 5-0.

In the Hawks' last seven games, they have won five, tied one and lost one. During that span goalie Glenn Hall has allowed just eight goals while producing three shutouts.

Final Chicago Race

CHICAGO (AP)—The ice-delayed closing of Chicago's racing season will take place today at Sportsman's Park with the $15,000 added Arch Ward Memorial Handicap.

Saturday's closing day program was postponed because of a frozen track.

Tuesday Noon Final Time for 'Derby' Entries

Hopeful hunters who closed the state's pheasant season on Sunday, have one more day in which to file entries for The Pontiac Press 1957 "Pheasant Derby." Last time to get those birds in is 12 o'clock noon, Tuesday at The Press Sports Department. None will be received after that hour.

There was no change today in last week's leaders. Heaviest entry, to date, is a 4-pound, 9½-ounce bird shot by Ellsworth Guerin of Auburn Heights. Longest bird is a 39¼-inch rooster downed by John D. Kelly of Union Lake, Pontiac.

Only full-time Oakland county residents are eligible for the $50 bond (for heaviest) and $25 (for longest) entries.

Fistic Prospects Bright for Belma

The fight was stopped after 24 seconds of the eighth round of their scheduled 10-round main event at Legion Stadium Saturday night. Dorando, of Hollywood, suffered a deep gash over his left eye. Under California rules, it was called a knockout.

Belma weighed 145 pounds, Dorando 146.

Belma now is undefeated in eight pro starts. Dorando has a 13-3-3 record.

TRAFFIC JAM — A field official suddenly found himself caught in the crush between Detroit and Philadelphia players yesterday as fullback John Henry Johnson (35) picks up 20 yards in the second period. Charlie Ane (50) and Steve Junker (88) get ready to tangle with Jimmy Harris (20) of the Eagles.

Lou Little Calls 'em

In these twice weekly articles, realizing that this is a big country and that the stories appear from coast to coast, we have purposely not stressed too much the Ivy League.

However, as things have developed in the last few weeks, culminating with last Saturday's great day of football, perhaps it's about time to devote a couple of paragraphs to this group of the nation's oldest institutions and the game they play.

The four contests in this group Saturday may not have produced the most powerful football in the country, but no section saw better competition, as underdogs came up to outscore or to press to the limit their favored foes.

A Penn team that has refused to quit under discouraging circumstances was stirred to an inspiring victory over Yale, helped by the return of a good back, Riepl.

Harvard scoring three touchdowns against a strong Princeton team that outmanned the Crimson, turned in an equally creditable showing.

Columbia did well against unbeaten Dartmouth in a one-touchdown defeat, while Cornell deserves great credit for upsetting Brown.

Nowhere in the country could you find better balanced, harder competition and conditions under which the game of college football is likely to drive in more healthy fashion in the future. Around the country there has been a disposition to see in the Ivy League what some have termed "de-emphasis."

Time, I think, will prove this is not true. If competitive desire, along with good coaching instruction and the all-around development of young men are the basis for college football, as I think they are, these schools—with, of course, a number of others—are doing a fine job for the game, though they may seldom land their entries in the nation's top ten.

In the Western Conference, the stage is set for the important game of the late-season when unbeaten but once tied Iowa meets Ohio State, unbeaten in Big Ten play. Iowa can't go to the Rose Bowl. Ohio State and Michigan State can.

The Spartans, favorites this week over Minnesota have lost one.

Ohio State, gaining its winning lead over Purdue in the first half on powerful running and smart, sparing use of the pass, was hobbled by Purdue's ball control in the last two periods as Iowa scouts watched to see how it was done.

The bowl incentive will be strong for the Buckeyes this week and they may need it if Clark, a valuable back who was hurt Saturday, cannot play.

In any event it appears likely either Ohio State or Michigan State will be too strong for the coast entry at Pasadena, a fact emphasized now by Oregon's defeat at the hands of Washington.

Boston Pushes Detroit to Tie for Last Place

Toppazzini and Mackell Combination Leads in 4-2 Victory

BOSTON (AP) — The win-thirsty Detroit Red Wings invaded Boston Bruins territory last night and came away still thirsty after absorbing a 4-2 defeat, their sixth straight.

The scoring and puck-stealing tactics of Jerry Toppazzini and Fleming Mackell were the main Bruin guns in a smooth attack before a sellout crowd of 13,909 at Boston Garden.

The loss put Detroit in a tie for last place with the Toronto Maple Leafs in National Hockey League standings. Boston is in in fourth place with a 6-8 record.

Toppazzini and Mackell each scored a goal and got two assists while Toppazzini twice stole pucks from Alex Delvecchio to set up scoring plays.

Mackell scored a goal early in the first period but the Wings' Bill Dineen tied it minutes later, putting the score at 11 midway in the stanza.

Toppazzini gave the Bruins another in the second period and Don McKenney added another for Boston, while Detroit was short-handed near the end of the period.

Rookie Wings forward Don Poile narrowed the margin to 3-2 at the start of the final period.

The Wings carried an edge of 38-35 in the shots at the net but ran into goalie Don Simmons who was having one of his best nights of the season. Simmons shut out Detroit, 4-0, just a week ago.

Ex-Michigan Net Star Eliminated

SYDNEY (AP)—Roy Emerson of Australia, defeated Barry Mackay, Dayton, Ohio, today in a postponed third round match of the New South Wales Tennis Championships. The score was 15-13, 6-8, 8-6, 4-6, 6-3.

MacKay, 22-year-old former University of Michigan student, increased his chances for a spot on the American Davis Cup team with a standout performance marked by a blazing service and brilliant returns.

After the match Bill Talbert, U.S. Davis Cup captain, said: "MacKay played the best tennis of our team so far, but we can't overlook the fact that Vic Seixas paces himself and is a great battler under pressure.

Ex-Marine Helps Titans Win

Tackle Sparks U-D

DETROIT (AP)—It's seldom that a shows up in the statistics column single lineman's performance like the University of Detroit's Emerson Dromgold did Saturday.

Dromgold, a sophomore tackle, and guard Dick Kennedy caught an opposing ball carrier behind the goal and scored a safety and Dromgold pouced on a fumble Dromgold pounced on a fumble that stopped an opposition drive on the Detroit four.

That, plus a 60 - yard scoring drive and a sensational pass play, netted a 16-7 victory for the Titans over Villanova.

It was Detroit's fifth victory against two losses. For Villanova the loss was the sixth in eight games and their most decisive defeat of the season.

The safety was Detroit's first score. Dromgold, a former Marine, and Kennedy grabbed Villanova quarterback Bill Magee back of the goal line in the second quarter.

Detroit stretched its lead to 9-0 later in the second quarter with a scoring drive that covered 60 yards in 13 plays. Vic Henning scored on a one-yard plunge.

Villanova got its only touchdown early in the fourth quarter on a 17-yard pass from Jim Grazione to Tony Varrichione.

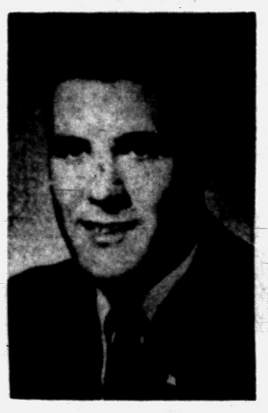

The Titans applied the clincher midway in the fourth quarter when quarterback Lou Faoro combined with Billy Russell on a 50-yard pass play for a touchdown. Faoro heaved the ball 20 yards to Russell near the sidelines and Russell eluded the only tackler blocking his path to the goal.

The teams were closer in statistics than they were in score. Villanova led in first downs 16-14 and in passing yardage 103-90. Detroit gained 179 yards rushing to 160 for Villanova.

Dromgold, a muscled 230-pounder, will have a homecoming celebration of his own this week when the Titans meet the Quantico Marines in Detroit Saturday afternoon.

The Pennsylvanian was one of the outstanding linemen for Quantico two years ago during his service stay. He was sought by many colleges before his discharge, but ex-Titan great Andy Farkas, who once was assistant coach at Quantico, assisted in bringing the big tackle to Detroit.

TOUGH — Former Marine Emerson Dromgold, a 230 pound tackle, was the line smasher for the Titans Saturday in the 16-7 win over Villanova for Detroit's 5th win in seven games.

Cranes Blank Gilmour, Plan for Homecoming

Gilmour Academy of Cleveland was no match for Cranbrook's Stu Clark and Tom Noteware, Saturday, when the Cranes rolled to their 3rd Inter-state league victory 21-0. Clark accounted for two TDs, on runs of 27 and 41 yards, while Noteware drove over from the nine to start scoring at Gilmour. Clark counted in the 2nd and 4th periods. Jack Fletcher kicked all conversions.

Cranes now have a 3-3 season's mark.

Gilmour's only invasion of Crane territory was in the 2nd period when they got to the 10.

Cranes threw the game's only aerial, a 2nd period, 20-yard, toss from Clark to Pete Turner.

Cranbrook will hold its "homecoming," and final game Saturday at 2 p.m. against Western Reserve of Cleveland.

In Team, Individual Play

U. S. Leading Horse Show

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States equestrian team finally looks like the ones to beat today after lagging through the first week of the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden.

The U.S. team moved into the lead for the team and individual championships yesterday as Hugh Wiley turned in near-perfect performances.

Wiley, the leading rider in the show with 50 points, starred in two events that thrust the home forces to the lead. In the afternoon event in the international jumping challenge trophy class competition, he teamed with Bill Steinkraus and Frank Chapot to win the three event test with only eight faults.

In the evening $1,000 international jumping stake he beat 11 opponents in a jump-off in which time was the deciding factor. He took his palomino Nautical over the seven-obstacle course in 25.5 seconds.

The U.S. team now has 91 points for a team total, to 84 for runner-up Britain. Steinkraus and Britain's Ted Williams trail for individual honors with 34 points apiece.

In the five-gaited saddle horse amateur championship, Miss Joan Robinson Hill's Belinda took top honors.

Rocky on Goodwill Trip to S. America

MIAMI, Fla. (INS) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Rocky Marciano takes off from Miami tomorrow for a 20-day goodwill visit to several South American countries.

Marciano, who now lives in Miami with his family, will fly to Quito, Ecuador, where he will tour a youth center for underpriviledged children.

The former Brockton, Mass., slugger next will go to Honduras as a guest of the government and then to Caracas, Venezuela for five days.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

If you're a once-a-week bowler, all your bowling is done in the same establishment. So, you get to know the alleys pretty well. On each alley, you know just about where your starting spot should be. Yet, when you roll a couple of balls that don't get up high enough into the pocket, you're tempted to change your starting spot.

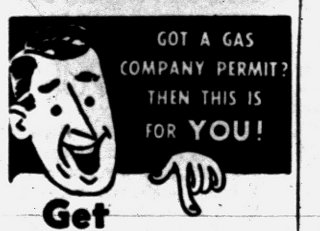

Take old Professor Wilman's advice and wait before changing your starting spot. That may not be the trouble at all! Perhaps your timing was off, and you didn't get enough stuff on the ball. Maybe your finger lift or wrist turn was faulty. It may have been your starting angle which was wrong, or perhaps the ball missed your spot out on the alley. Perhaps you're not warmed up enough.

At any rate, there are plenty of reasons for a poor delivery. Before you change your starting spot, make certain the error doesn't lie elsewhere. I'd suggest you change your starting position last; try some other adjustment first.

MSU 'Irish' Rejoice; 'M' Given 'Boot'

3rd String Back Scores Last TD, Becomes Father

EAST LANSING — Probably the proudest fellow on the field for Michigan State Saturday was 3rd string fullback Dick Barker of Lansing who scored the Spartans' last touchdown against Notre Dame in their 34-6 victory.

Barker became a father for the first time Saturday and the happy gridder was passing out cigars while bragging "I can tell my son I made a touchdown against Notre Dame on the day he was born."

The 21-year-old Barker was graduated from Lansing Eastern High School in 1955. He is a junior at MSU, stands 5 feet 11 and weights 196 pounds.

No Change for AA

CHICAGO (INS) — The American Association will operate next season with the same baseball clubs as in 1957.

Circuit president Ed Doherty made the announcement after a board of directors meeting in Chicago yesterday.

The teams will play a 154-game schedule beginning April 15 and ending Sept. 7.

2 Extra Point Failures Hand Illini Victory

Bobby Mitchell Stops Conversion Attempts; Wolverines Bow, 20-19

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The extra point, a Michigan specialty until Saturday, was a major cause for the Wolverines' lost weekend at Illinois. Michigan placekickers had added the bonus tally on 14 of 18 touchdowns in their first six games. But two blocked conversions gave the Illini a 20-19 squeaker over the team they call their favorite upset victims.

An old nemesis, Bobby Mitchell, cracked through Michigan's blocking vanguard twice to deflect quarterback Jim Van Pelt's conversion attempts. Mitchell's actions preserved the Illini's narrow victory, their sixth in the last eight years over the Wolverines.

The missed conversions of course, wouldn't have played so vital a role if Michigan had perked up earlier than the dying minutes of the fourth quarter.

The injured Van Pelt came off the bench when Stan Noskin was shaken up and sparked Michigan's belated flurry. He completed six of 12 passes.

The Wolverines scored twice on drives of 68 and 48 yards in the final four minutes. They had been a flat ball club for the first 52 minutes as Illinois' speedy backs ripped gaping holes in the Michigan line.

The almost total loss of Van Pelt with an injured leg severely hurt Michigan. His play had keyed the Wolverines to most of their spells of sporadic brilliance this in-and-out season.

Van Pelt didn't aggravate his injury during his brief appearance. He should be well for this week's game with tragic Indiana and the season's finale with Ohio State the following week.

The loss of left halfback Jim Pace, Michigan's top runner, likewise was a damaging blow to Michigan's chances. Pace was knocked unconscious midway in the first quarter. He was carried from the field but returned to watch the last half from the bench.

Fumbles squelched two Wolverine scoring opportunities. Pace bobbled on the Illinois two just before he was hurt. Right halfback Mike Shatusky lost the ball on the Illini 20 to stop another first half drive.

Again Wolverine tackling was poor. On L. T. Bonner's 59-yard dash for Illinois' second score, several Wolverines had a clear shot at him. But he managed to shake loose.

Pontiac Press Photos

ON HIS WAY — Art Johnson, speedy Michigan State halfback, is on his way into the end zone for the Spartans' 1st touchdown against Notre Dame at East Lansing Saturday. Johnson took a handoff from quarterback Mike Panitch and went 11 yards to score in the 2nd quarter. MSU triumphed, 34-6.

Thin Aggies Keep Rolling

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M, the nation's No. 1 team, sped through its eighth straight victory Saturday with 10 boys getting in 40 to 50 minutes apiece as usual.

You have to be tough to wear the moleskins of Aggieland. Never more than 28 players get into a game and 13 of those do about 90 per cent of the playing.

This may be the thinnest squad quantitatively speaking, to ever lead the nation.

"Are the boys tired and weary?" somebody asked Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant after the Aggies were "up" four weeks in a row for important Southwest Conference games.

"Tired?" snorted the coach. "They can't get tired with the little work we've been able to get in in view of the bad weather, injuries and illness."

Bryant might have said something about how he works his substitutions like a game of chess, making them at the time when there can be no ill effects from the loss of strength.

He also might have mentioned that the Aggies are noted for strong finishes. They seem tougher at the finish than at the start.

They're in mighty fine condition for boys who get to work so little. The fans call them "Bear-fearing players." They mean that the Aggies call on all their reserve strength when the going gets tough because they have pride—a pride that says they won't let down for their coach.

The 10 who usually play from 40 to 50 minutes each are ends Bobby Marks and John Tracey, tackles Charley Krueger and Ken Beck, center John Gilbert, guard Roddy Osborne, halfbacks John Crow and Loyd Taylor and fullback Dick Gay.

Duffy Swinging the Shillelagh After 34-6 Win

Pat Burke Given Game Ball Following MSU's Rout of Notre Dame

EAST LANSING — The "Irish" of Michigan State are still enjoying an off-season St. Patrick's Day celebration after their 34-6 beating of the Irish of Notre Dame.

And Daugherty retained possession of the shillelagh that is the personal trophy between the Spartans' smiling Irishman and not-so-happy Notre Dame coach Terry Patrick Brennan.

Brennan next Saturday faces high-riding Oklahoma a team that polished off Missouri 39-14 to run its victory string to 47 in a row.

"Michigan State is the best team we've met this year" Brennan said in a post mortem. "You just can't defense against speed but I still think we can get up against Okahoma. We weren't as bad as the score would indicate."

Michigan State ends conference play against Minnesota next Saturday and will watch Ohio State, hoping for two Buckeye losses or a loss and a tie that will send the Spartans to the Rose Bowl.

In handing out post-game credit, Daugherty practically ran through the entire roster of the 51 Spartan participants.

Michigan State was hurt by fumbles in the first half and had only a 7-0 intermission margin. But a three touchdown third-quarter flurry allowed coaches to give every player in uniform a chance to romp against the Irish.

Art Johnson, halfback with the so-called second team, scored two MSU touchdowns. Johnson made the first-half tally on an 11-yard spurt and broke for a 50-yard gallop, the longest run of the afternoon, in the second-half runaway period.

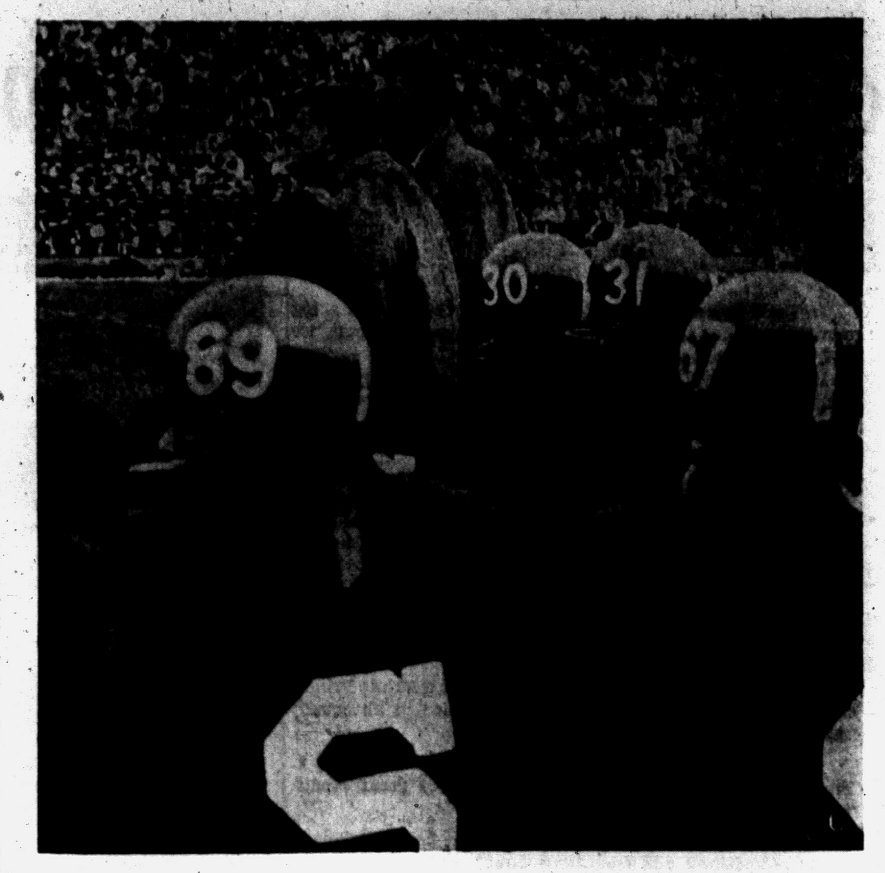

First stringers Walt Kowalczyk and Blanche Martin scored the other two Spartan touchdowns.

Kowalczyk, per usual, was the workhorse of the backfield. When Notre Dame tried to stop his attacks to the short side of the line, Martin hit the other side with Kowalczyk doing the key blocking for his running mate.

Bob Williams, the hard-working Notre Dame quarterback, saved his squad from a shutout by passing and carrying for all but two plays of an 82-yard touchdown drive and finally went over for the touchdown.

Probably the most significant statistic was the 333 yards rushing gained by Michigan State against 112 yards for Notre Dame. Both teams committed six fumbles but State lost only two of the bobbles while the Irish lost five.

MIGHTY TRY — End Monty Stickles of Notre Dame makes a high leap in try for a pass from quarterback Bob Williams as ball bounced away from the flying Irishman. Michigan State's pass defender is end Dave Kaiser (89). The Spartans won, 34-6.

Philly Golfer Wins Tourney

Sifford Long Beach Champ After Playoff Victory

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Philadelphia's Charlie Sifford won a "sudden death" palyoff for first money in the 11,500 Long Beach Open Golf Tournament, beating Eric Monti of Los Angeles.

The two had finished in a tie for first place yesterday with 54 hole scores of 203, 10 under par. Monti's putt for a half was an inch short in the third extra hole and Sifford became the first Negro to win a tournament in which many big name players participated. He won $1,200; Monti, $1,100.

Six finished in a tie for third place with 204; Dale Andreason, Pittsburgh; Al Besselink, Grossinger, N.Y.; Howie Johnson, Akron; Billy Casper, San Diego; Bill Parker, Tulsa, and Bill Johnston, Provo, Utah. They won $750 each.

Dales, Hurons Clinch Loop Titles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Michigan colleges sewed up football championships over the weekend.

To nobody's surprise Hillsdale smashed Adrian 53-6, taking its 33rd consecutive victory and clinching the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Assn., crown.

Playing in a snowstorm, the Dales scored on the first play from scrimmage and the issue never was in doubt, Quarterback Doug Maison passed for three touchdowns and scored one on a plunge.

Eastern Michigan rolled over Western Illinois 26-0 and captured the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference championship. The victory left Eastern Michigan 6-0 in conference standings and second-place Western Illinois with four victories and one loss. Kerry Keating and Dale Nicholas each scored twice.

Hope climbed into a tie for second place in the MIAA with a 47-7 victory over Albion. Both Hope and Albion now have 4-2 conference marks. Kalamazoo handed Olivet its 21st straight loss, 13-7. Halfback Bill Fouty scored both touchdowns for Kalamazoo in the battle of second-division teams in the MIAA.

Alma romped over Ohio Northern 40-12 with Dick Ayling passing for three touchdowns. Lovell Coleman scored one touchdown and passed for another in leading Western Michigan to a 20-0 triumph over Western Reserve.

The University of Wisconsin (Milwaukee branch) got the help of opponents' fumbles and trimmed Ferris Institute 14-7. Gerry Milatz passed 13 yards to Bill Parkman for the only Ferris touchdown.

The North Dakota - Northern Michigan game at Marquette was a non-conference game. Sophomore cancelled when the North Dakota team's bus was stranded by snow.

College Recruiting Now Called 'Science'

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

It's an established fact a collegiate athletic program is only as good as its recruiting. This was an interesting topic among writers and some coaches recently.

The word recruiting was at one time almost taboo to be used by a coach publicly. Today it has become a science, with a great portion of every school's athletic budget going toward recruiting.

How do boys from California, Pennsylvania, Washington, Louisiana get to Michigan State, Notre Dame or even a little school like Hillsdale or some other campus, hundreds of miles from his home?

Family ties, prep coaches, alumni and newspaper all-star team clippings are the wheels which sets forth the motion toward getting the best recruit to that school.

The coach and his assistants do the rest. When the season ends they go on a banquet circuit that carries them from one end of the country to the other. Between meals the handshaking takes place with that all-state end and his dad.

Most coaches don't dare go too much further than this, so the alumnus takes over again, and the next step is to visit the campus.

When football brochures come out of the colleges every year, a glance down the rosters tell an interesting story on the school's recruiting relations.

Some colleges grow into football powers by strictly home recruiting. Some do it by concentrating on certain sections of the country and others set up a nation wide plan.

In most instances where one major college controls the wealth of talent within its state and the nearby area, competitive colleges very often attempt to start building their programs with the nationwide scale.

In Michigan, the University of Michigan has always held the upper hand in getting the state's talent. Michigan State always got second best and the rest of the state colleges divided the leftovers.

Sometimes it happened that some of the leftovers proved to be better than the second best. This happened in the period between 1926 and 1936 when U. of D. grabbed off the best of the "leftovers". Such names as Lloyd Brazil, Andy Farkas, Tom Connell, Doug Nott and Vince Banonis led the Titans to their greatest years in football of which included a winning streak of 21 games plus several victories over State.

In the mid-forties, Michigan State laid its biggest plans for recruiting. The Spartans went prospecting to Pennsylvania, the state which has built many national grid powers outside its borders. Teams like Maryland and Miami (Fla.) started building their powers about the same time and they succeeded with a roster full of Pennsylvanians.

New Kensington, Pa., was Michigan State's favorite spot. Har-Brack area was true to Maryland and McKeesport was Miami's baby.

Michigan State continued to build its fortune in the East, especially in Western Pennsylvania. About 1952, MSU strength around Massachusetts started producing and this year eight of that state's best are listed on the Spartan roster. Illinois was MSU's Midwest center even today.

With strong drawing power in its ledger in Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Massachusetts, MSU made another outstate move. This time to Ohio, and much to the dismay of the rest of the state colleges, the Spartans have made probably one of the biggest hauls of Michigan prepsters in its history.

The best quarterback from Ohio plus another half dozen top players from the Buckeye state are now on the MSU freshman roster. Many great homegrown players have starred in recent years for Michigan State, but as it appears for the first time, the bigger portion of the most sought-after players in Michigan make up the Spartan freshman team. A glance at the 1956 prep all-state teams can be checked out at East Lansing.

Looking at 1957 brochure rosters of several schools, the breakdown of homegrown and outstate personnel is interesting.

Michigan still showing state recruiting strength, has only seven states represented on its squad. This includes 36 from Michigan, four from Indiana, nine from Ohio, 12 from Illinois, three from Pennsylvania, two from Arkansas and one from Missouri. The outstate total of 31.

Michigan State has 16 states represented. MSU has 34 from Michigan, 13 from Pennsylvania, nine from Illinois, eight from Massachusetts, two from New York and California and one each from Texas, West Virginia, Minnesota, Alabama, Arizona, Ohio, Indians, Florida, South Carolina, and Honolulu.

Since 1947 the outstate total has always been greater than the home state list, but the 1958 MSU squad may have the first Michigan majority in over 10 years. This year there were 45 from other 15 states.

U. of D., aiming at big time football, made the fatal mistake about four years ago of attempting to put all of its effort in state recruiting, but U. of M. held the aces and MSU the kings.

Two years ago, the Titans laid down their "scientific recruiting" plan like MSU did in 1947. The finger pointed outstate and in the direction of Pennsylvania.

This year, the first varsity team of that plan showed 13 states represented. Michigan has 26, Pennsylvania 10, Ohio five, New York and Illinois 4, Maryland two and Missouri, New Jersey, Indiana, Minnesota, California, Washington and Ontario one each. This gives 32 outstaters.

Realizing that its future hope does not lie in what is left after Michigan and Michigan State's haul, U. of D. has penetrated into 17 other states besides Michigan for its freshman squad.

Notre Dame and Oklahoma have entirely different recruiting layouts.

The Irish hardly draw from the state of Indiana, while the Sooners are strictly Oklahoma area products.

Notre Dame has 25 states represented on its 1957 roster. Pennsylvania leads with 12, Ohio has 11, Illinois eight, Michigan and Louisiana five. Only four Indiana boys are listed and the rest are one and two from 18 other states.

Oklahoma meanwhile has boys from only five states, of which 42 are Oklahomans and 19 are Texans. Wyoming, Kansas, and Colorado have only one each.

The grip and little competition within its own boundaries accounts for Oklahoma's recruiting success. Now Oklahoma State (formerly A&M) has into Michigan State's 1947 position. The Aggies are "Big Eight" brothers of the Sooners, and the recruiting here is also following the trend from the outstate outline, to the homegrown eventual punch. Tulsa is the other Oklahoma school hoping to make a move.

Illinois and Kansas have been favorite hunting grounds for A&M and Tulsa for a long time.

Recruiting is always an interesting topic, usually in football circles and one of the questions which always comes up is, "Could you imagine what would happen if all the Pennsylvania football players, played their college football in the state of Pennsylvania?

St. Michael parlayed two early touchdowns and some alert defensive play into a 13-6 victory over Ferndale St. James in a battle for 3rd place between the Suburban Catholic rivals at Wisner Stadium yesterday.

The victory, 4th straight for the Shamrocks, clinched at least a tie for 3rd for the locals.

A pair of short punts helped the Mikemen off to their early edge of 13-0 after only 14½ minutes of play. The defense did the rest intercepting four passes, including two in the final minutes.

St. Michael coach Bob Mineweaser is known for his outstanding defenses but his Shamrocks also came up with a strong offensive game piling up 189 yards on the ground to the Dales' 125.

Jim Fox and Chuck Steinhelper scored the St. Michael touchdowns after short drives. Fox went over from 18 yards out in the 1st quarter and Steinhelper plunged into the end zone from the two in the 2nd period. The drives covered only 22 and 24 yards but on both occasions the locals had to come up with a big play after being set back by a penalty.

SM SCORER — Chuck Steinhelper put the game on ice for St. Michael yesterday when he plunged over from the two-yard line for the 2nd Shamrock TD is a 13-6 triumph over St. James. It was St. Mike's 4th straight triumph.

Those pass interceptions ruined two early long drives towards paydirt in the 1st half and prevented any chances of any further threats in the late stages.

Bill Tunnicliff, 195-pound fullback, was the whole show for the visitors but he couldn't do it alone. He went over for his team's only TD on the opening play of the 4th quarter following a 73-yard march.

The senior star did the bulk of the Ferndale running, caught seven passes and did an excellent job on defense. His 46-yard punt return was the longest run of the day.

St. James drove from its own eight to the Shamrock 22 before a pass interception in the end zone. Another march ended at the 26 after a touchdown run by quarterback Jerry Grasel was nullified by a penalty.

The losers had the ball twice in the final four minutes but two of three passes were snared by the hustling St. Michael backs.

The triumph gave the Lewis Street school a 5-2 season record with the big clash with St. Frederick two weeks away.

Congressman Dies in Train-Car Crash

ROME, Ga. (AP)—Rep. Henderson Lanham (D-Ga), 69, a veteran of 11 years in Congress, was killed yesterday when his car and a train collided at a Rome crossing.

He was a member of the House Appropriations committee. Friends said he vigorously opposed reductions in the armed services and never hesitated to speak out when he thought it necessary.

Police said he was driving alone on the way to address a Parent-Teacher Assn. meeting at nearby Garden Lakes school.

County policeman Bill Hart said a Central of Georgia switch engine struck his car broadside, knocking it into a ditch. The congressman was found lying beside the vehicle and was pronounced dead at the scene.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. Entries must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his numbers in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent post card. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 76 must bear a Tuesday, Nov. 19 postmark (or before). No entries received after that time whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press Judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Arthur Hudson Named Chrysler Marine Head

Arthur S. Hudson, of 286 Pleasant St., Birmingham, has been appointed president of the Marine and Industrial Engine Division of Chrysler Corp., it was announced today.

Hudson, who joined the corporation in 1943, had been assistant comptroller since 1952.

Mercury Line Prices Increased 2.7 Per Cent

DEARBORN (INS) — An overall price increase of 2.7 per cent for the Mercury line was announced today by the Lincoln-Mercury division of Ford Motor Co.

Suggested 1958 factory list prices range from $2,422 for the Monterey two-door sedan to $3,788 for the convertible in the new upper-medium price Park Lane series.

Bell & Howell Sales Up

CHICAGO (AP) — October sales of Bell & Howell Co. were 20 per cent above the like month of last year and the highest for any month, the company reported. The company set October sales at about $6,200,000, up from $5,041,000 in October 1956.

On Sales Merits of Expensive Decanters

Distilling Industry Widely Split

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The distilling industry today is widely divided as to the sales merits of the decanters which cost them so much. Some say dealers dislike them and customers are bored.

This year some liquor companies are dropping them altogether. Others are offering the public a choice of either the flossy glassware or gaudy prewrapped regular bottles. And some are going in for fancier decanters than ever.

Liquor firms do nearly a third of their year's business between now and New Years. The Department of Commerce says sales in November and December last year came to one billion dollars, with the U.S. Treasury pocketing 100 million in excise taxes.

The average package store is estimated to have carried 60 different brands of whisky in decanters last year. B. C. Ohlandt, vice president of National Distillers Products Co., says dealers were left with 800,000 cases of unsold decanters, tying up 40 million dollars.

Last year gift sales accounted for three million cases of decanters and 500,000 cases of regular bottles in prewraps. Ohlandt says gift sales this year will rise to four million cases, evenly divided between the fancy glassware and the fancy wrappings.

His company is dropping decanters altogether and going in for prewraps, spending 3½ million dollars for materials.

Brown-Forman Distillers of Louisville, Ky., challenges National's view that customers are tiring of decanters. It says gift decanter sales rose from 29 per cent of total volume in 1955 to 32 per cent last year, and decanters bought for home use rose from 20 per cent of 26 per cent.

Hiram Walker is putting five brands into 46 package variations. Canadian Club is being offered in 22 different gift packages and Imperial is coming in a new hexagonal package and also in two or three bottle combinations.

The company bought 11,000 miles of multi-colored ribbon and 25 million square feet of aluminum foil.

Importers are taking up the prewrap idea for the American market.

Now it's up to the dealers to find display space and the customers to decide how generous to be.

Renda to Open $4½ Million Suit

UAW, Police Charged With False Prosecution in '48 Reuther Shooting

DETROIT (INS) — Port Huron Circuit Judge Edward T. Kane said he will arrive in Detroit Wednesday to start the politically explosive $4.5 million damage suit trial stemming from the 1948 Walter Reuther shooting.

Carl Renda, a scrap metal dealer, filed the suit in June, 1954, as an outgrowth of his arrest on a charge of conspiracy in the shooting. The charge was later dropped.

However, Renda alleges false arrest and malicious prosecution.

Defendants in the case are the United Auto workers Union of which Reuther is president, five of the UAW's officers and employes, and six members of the Detroit and State Police.

Circuit Judge Joseph G. Rashid is named as one of six co-conspirators.

Court observers said it was an especially interesting case because Judge Rashid will testify before a fellow judge. They also believe the case may take two or three months to be heard.

Renda was one of four men named in a 1954 warrant charging them with the conspiracy and attempted murder of Reuther.

Renda's father-in-law, Santo Perone, Clarence Jacobs and Peter Lombardo were also named.

Charges were dropped against the four when Donald Ritchie, a Canadian, whose first story led to the warrant, admitted he lied.

Renda's suit said the UAW deposited $25,000 with the Crown Trust Co. in Windsor to "be paid Ritchie for making accusations and charges against Renda."

Los Angeles to Open City-Owned Chapel

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles soon will be operating a municipally owned wedding chapel. Officials explained it this way:

The city acquired the three-acre Harbor View Cemetery in San Pedro when the latter community was annexed in 1909. Recently moved to the cemetery is the 73-year-old St. Peter's Memorial Church, first erected by Episcopalians and the first Protestant church in San Pedro.

The City Recreation and Park Department is rehabilitating the church as an historical monument. Thereafter it will be made available for meetings, funerals and weddings.

Still No Taverns Named After Prince Charles

LONDON (INS)—A good many years may pass before young Prince Charles achieves the distinction of having a tavern named after him.

A good many British "pubs" bear names such as "The King Charles" or "The Duke of York." But the Queen let it be known she would just as soon pass up this honor for her son, and at least one sign reading "The Prince Charles" was hastily repainted.

Transmission Strike Ends in Settlement

YPSILANTI (AP) — A 33-day strike at the General Motors Corp. transmission plant ended yesterday when members of United Auto Workers Local 735 ratified a settlement reached by negotiators Friday.

Dave Mann, Local 735 president, said the pact contained a new seniority agreement and provided for improved working conditions.

The strike began Oct. 7 when the local's 6,200 members walked out over accumulated grievances and a dispute over working conditions.

The vote yesterday showed 796 workers in favor of the settlement and 581 against.

Dance Step Rusty? Try City's Classes

Is your fox trot getting a little rusty? Are you tired of being a wallflower? Well, the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. has the answer for you.

It will conduct an eight-session ballroom dance class for adults beginning in January. Registrations (preferred to be made by couples, but not necessarily taken now at the department sarily married couples) are beoffice in the City Hall or by calling FEderal 3-7131.

Instructions will center on the waltz, two-step, fox trot and polkas. Some Cuban and Latin American steps will also be included.

There will be a $2 per couple charge for Pontiac residents and $4 charge for out-of-town residents.

Two Waterford Stores Report Break-In Losses

Entrance was gained Saturday night at the Clintonville Supermarket, 3385 Mann Rd., after breaking a rear window. Change amounting to $48 was taken from the cash register and an undetermined amount of beer, meat and cigarettes was stolen, police said.

Police are still investigating a breakin last night at the Kroger Store, Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph roads. A rear window was also broken at this store. The amount of goods stolen was not yet determined this morning.

$1,000 Damage Caused by City House Blaze

Pontiac firemen fought a $1,000 blaze at the home of Eli Cook, 120 Jackson St., Sunday night, for about 45 minutes before bringing the flames under control.

No one was injured. Damage to the two-story frame house was estimated at $800 with an additional $200 damage to the contents.

Firemen said the fire was believed caused by careless smoking.

Husband Suspect in Fatal Crash

Probe Auto Death Plunge

GLOBE, Ariz. (AP)—Police today checked the story told by Wilmer W. Evans, 36, of the death last week of his wife, Frances, 34, in a 200-foot plunge in a car into San Carlos Lake.

Gila County Sheriff Jack Jones said three acquaintances of the dead woman had heard her say she feared her husband was planning her death.

CLAIMS WIFE DROVE

But Jones said Evans offers no satisfactory explanation of how he escaped from the car.

Jones quoted Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harris, a couple living in nearby Claypool, as saying Mrs. Evans feared her husband was trying to kill her.

Mrs. Harris met Mr. Evans in a Globe hospital after a similar, earlier accident in which she plunged 300 feet into a canyon 30 miles northwest of Globe, and was hospitalized for six days.

Jones said Mrs. Evans insured for $50,000 at the time of the first accident and that Evans last Thursday had taken out $100,000 three-day accident policies on himself and his wife in Phoenix.

Sputnik No. 3 Expected Soon

London Paper Reports That Next Red Satellite May Weigh Ton

LONDON (INS) — The London Daily Express said tonight that the launching of Sputnik No. 3 was imminent.

In a dispatch from Moscow, the Express said Sputnik No. 3 was believed to weigh as much as 1 ton.

Sputnik II's transmitters are dead, and, presumably, so is Laika, the first living animal rocketed from earth into space.

Russia announced yesterday that the satellite's radios had stopped functioning as planned "because the program has been fulfilled."

But there was no official word on Laika, the sad-eyed little pooch which was fired into space inside the second Soviet earth satellite on Nov. 3.

LAST NOTED FRIDAY

The last time an official announcement mentioned Laika's condition was early Friday morning.

The cessation of radio contact means that to all intents and purposes Sputnik II has been abandoned to space. If it has, in all likelihood so has Laika, dead or yet to die.

The continued official silence increased belief the dog already has given her life in the cause of Soviet science.

The silence has prompted in some the theory that the sealed capsule housing the dog already has been catapulted from the satellite and has returned, or is still returning, to earth.

But even a successful ejection of the flying doghouse wouldn't mean its successful recovery. It could drop into the seas, which cover two-thirds of the earth, or even a Siberian snowbank.

Predicts Labor Strife

BOSTON (AP) — The United Business Service predicts that the labor situation durng 1958 will be more turbulent than this year. The service says major wage talks are coming up in the auto industry and suggests the teamsters situation threatens increased inter-union strife. The cost-profits squeeze will stiffen mangement resistance to new demands, the service says.

Panhandle Profits Less

DETROIT (AP) —Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. today said its net profit was $12,764,224, equal to $1.84 a share, during the nine-month period that ended Sept. 30. Net income during the corresponding period of 1956 was $13,297,220, or $1.91 a share.

Civic Employes One Up

DETROIT (INS) o— City and county employes in Detroit had a day off today—Veterans Day—while most everyone else worked. Veterans Day is one of eight legal holidays given city employes each year. County workers do even better—they get two additional holidays annually.

Powdered Milk Fatal

TEHRAN (AP)—Two children died today after drinking powdered milk which had deteriorated and 207 others were hospitalized. Several of the children are seriously ill. All the children attended a Jewish charity kindergarten.

Whatever Soviet State Needs

Red Schools Turning Out Workers

By HARLEY MURRAY

WASHINGTON (INS) — The U.S. Office of Education reported today that Russia's educational system has been made into "a machine intended to produce loyal and qualified workers in various fields and at various levels."

The government agency, reporting on a comprehensive two-year study of Soviet schools, concluded that the Reds are placing ever-increasing importance to its school system with emphasis on science and technology.

More than half of the Russian primary-secondary study courses were said to be in the physical and natural sciences, mathematics and mechanical drawing. Soviet leaders, the report added, "believe that these subjects contribute most directly to mastery and control of the material environment."

Commissioner of Education Lawrence G. Dethrick commented: "The report makes it clear that the Soviet government is giving increasing emphasis and support to education of all levels as an instrument to serve the political, military and economic goals of the Soviet state at home and abroad."

While the Russian schools technically are improving rapidly in quality, the study showed that the state decides what skills are needed and what proportion of students should prepare for them. The function of education, in the Soviet view is only one: "To serve the needs of the state.

DEVELOPS STUDENTS

In contrast, the American system aims at developing the individual and provides each student with freedom of choice on his curriculum.

Russia's semi-professional and higher educational institutions, as well as lower schools put emphasis on science and engineering, with 70 per cent of advance degrees conferred in the scientific and technological fields.

Secondary school graduates (comparable to U.S. high school graduates) in June 1955 had taken courses in physics for five years, astronomy for one, chemistry for four years, biology for five, and mathematics—including trigonometry and calculus—for 10.

In June 1955, less than one-third of U.S. high school graduates had taken even one year of chemistry, about one-fourth had studied a year of physics and less than one in seven had taken advanced mathematics.

The Russian student completes his secondary in 10 years—starting at seven years of age and going to school six days a week instead of five.

In the 10-year schooling, algebra and geometry begin in the sixth grade; trigonometry and introduction of calculus in the ninth and tenth.

Languages are also studied, with 40 per cent of secondary pupils in 1955-56 studying English and 40 per cent, German. About 65 per cent of those in higher educational institutions were studying English.

Political indoctrination is an important part of the Russian school program at all levels, and teachers and students are watched for any deviations from the Communist line.

The report said: "Of importance in the administration of Soviet education is the surveillance maintained by the secret police on the political reliability of administrative personnel, teachers, students and the others—the minister on down through the lowest rank."

Special schools and classes are set up both for handicapped and exceptionally bright students.

There are incentives, in the form of extra payments—practically all students in semi-professional and higher education institutions are paid—for those who enroll in subjects given priority. Above average grades bring extra money; those who fall below standard have their payments cut off.

From 1927 to 1956, enrollment in the primary-ecoondary schools jumped from 11½ million to million to more than 30 million. The number of secondary school graduates in 1956 was reported by the Soviets as one and one-half million, compared with 1,300,000 American high school graduates that same year.

Semi-professional schools—to train single-specialty technicians to help professional engineers, lawyers, physicians, research scientists and others—had nearly two million enrolled last year. Those schools offer courses of from one to three years beyond the secondary level.

Enrollment in Russian institutions of higher learning has jumped sharply, with between eight and 12 per cent of all college-age students enrolled full or part time.

Afraid His Wife Would Find Out

Father of 4 Admits Killing Two Teenage Sweethearts

DAYTON, Ohio (UP)—Police said a married man involved in a romantic quadrangle has admitted killing his two teen-age sweethearts because he was afraid his wife would find out about them.

The bodies of Miss Beverly Ann Eldred, 17, and Mrs. Deanna Jean Fouch, 16, both of Dayton, were found by a motorist alongside a county road about five miles south of here yesterday. They had been shot.

Detective Lt. R. C. Beckett of the sheriff's office said Robert Crites, 31-year-old father of four, admitted in a signed statement that he killed the girls.

In the statement, Crites was quoted as saying he didn't want the girls to do to others what they had done to him. He said he had spent much time and money on them.

Beckett said the statement also mentioned that Crites intended to take the girls' bodies to Colorado and, while there, kill his wife's sister because "she's just like the other two." But he abandoned that idea after the slaying.

Beckett said he will ask the prosecutor today to file first-degree murder charges against Crites.

Beckett said Crites told of taking both girls for a drive in his car yesterday. He stopped on some pretext, got out, then fired six bullets through a window one girl had opened, his statement related.

The girls' bodies fell out when Crites opened the door. He said he left them there and drove to his mother's home in suburban Kettering. From there he called Kettering authorities and gave up.

Beckett said Crites told of first meeting the girls in a beer and wine carryout store two months ago.

Crites said he fell in love with Deanna but had promised to marry Beverly. Deanna was separated or about to be separated from her husband, authorities said.

Caught in a predicament he apparently couldn't solve and afraid his wife would find out about it, Crites said he began making plans 11 days ago to kill his girl friends.

Crites, an ex-Navy man and Korea veteran, was admitted to the Veterans Administration hospital here in September. He stayed 10 days during which time he was treated for "anxiety," a hospital spokesman said.

Church Juniors Collect $200 for UNICEF Gift

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Mrs. Harold Welch reports that the Junior High Westmininster Fellowship of the Orchard Lake Presbyterian Church collected more than two hundred dollars for UNICEF.

The amount will supply 500 children with TB shots, protect 200 from malaria, supply 20 with milk for a year, and provide 166 penicillin shots.

For their second fund raising project of the year the young people are now selling fruit cakes in one, two and a half, and five pound tins.

Elect Michigan Man

CLEVELAND (UP) — The American Hotel Assn. concluded a two-day convention by electing Maillard Bennett of Tucson, Ariz. president yesterday. He succeeds Earl M. Johnson of Houghton Lake, Mich., who was elected to the board of directors.

The steel industry, companies report, has 657,600 employes in the United States.

Mackie Denies Martin Charges

Says Contractors Use Sealed Bids; Impossible to Apply Pressure

DETROIT (UP) — Michigan Democrats today denied a charge by Republican National Committeeway contractors were pressured man John B. Martin Jr., that high-into buying $50-a-plate tickets to a testimonial dinner for Gov. Williams Saturday night.

Some 1,000 persons, including the governor's mother, Mrs. Henry Williams, attended the dinner at Masonic Temple. It was billed by sponsors as a non-partisan affair.

Martin charged letters were sent to all contractors who had done business with the highway department. He said the letters were signed "contractors committee" and three $50 tickets were in each letter.

He said the letters concluded with a statement: "Officials of the State Highway Department will be looking forward to seeing you at the dinner."

Mackie said he was stunned by the charge and said, "To my knowledge all business with the State Highway Department is done through sealed bids which would, of course, make the charge ridiculous.

"I have no doubt there are some contractors here, but like the other guests they have come of their own desire. Because of sealed bids it is impossible to do favors."

Martin said, "The inference is plain—that 'you better kick in if you want state business."

On the island of Sardinia in the Mediterranean there grows a herb which is believed to make anyone who tastes it to laugh himself to death. Thus, the phrase, "sardonic laughter."

Turning Point Seen on Farm Policies

WASHINGTON (UP) — Administration farm officials are telling farmers that the years 1957 and 1958 may see what they call a turning point in government farm price policies.

They foresee a farm program struggle that may determine whether future policies lead in the direction of lower government price supports and less government control over farming operations or in the direction of higher supports and greater government control.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson himself is leading a fight for the lower supports.

But he faces strong opposition from farm leaders in both the Democratic and Republican parties.

Almont to Get U.S. Aid for Disposal Plant

ALMONT — The Village Council here has received a letter from the Water Resources Commission stating that the Commission had given Almont's Federal Aid application top priority in sending it on to the U.S. Public Health Service for final action.

Receipt of this standing culminates months of work by village officials toward the granting of some $44,000 in federal aid monies to be used for Almont's new sewage disposal plant, now under construction.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING OF OUR HUSBAND, father & grandfather, William Irons who passed away 1 year ago, Nov. 11.
Gone is the face we loved so dear
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech.
But not too far for thought to reach.
—His Wife, Children & Grandfather

385 Alpine Climbers Met Death This Year

ROME (AP) — Europe's rugged Alps, an eternal challenge to man's spirit of adventure, dealt out death to 385 climbers this year. It was the most tragic mountaineering season ever recorded.

An Associated Press survey, made as November snows ended the Alpine climbing season, showed this country-by-country toll: Germany 43, Switzerland 111, France 42, Austria 109 and Italy 80.

The total was almost 50 per cent greater than 1953 the worst previous year, when 269 perished in the Alps.

Veteran Alpinists said most of this year's dead were amateur climbers who ventured into the mountains without proper equipment or professional advice.

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Eleven persons were killed yesterday and 19 others injured when a bus missed a sharp turn and plunged over a precipice near Bolu, 140 miles southeast of Istanbul. Ten of the injured were in a serious condition.

Zenith Sales Soaring

CHICAGO (AP)— Dollar factory sales of Zenith Radio Corp. in October were 16 per cent higher than the company's previous record month in its 39-year history, Commander E. F. McDonald Jr., president, reports. McDonald said unit production and shipments of television sets established a new high despite the decline for the industry as a whole.

LOVABLE MATRON — Marion Lorne (right), who created the role of the scatterbrained Mrs. Gurney on "Mr. Peepers," has returned to television as Mrs. Banford, another fluttery but lovable character, in "Sally." Joan Caulfield (left) stars in "Sally," which is telecast by NBC Sundays at 7:30 p. m.

Marion Lorne Plays Herself

69-Year-Old Actress Is Slightly Vague Like Her Characters

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — It is a pleasure to report that Miss Marion Lorne bears a remarkable resemblance to Mrs. Gurney of television's dear, departed "Mr. Peepers" show and to Mrs. Banford of the new "Sally" series.

Miss Lorne in the flesh, of course, is far from a charming idiot. But those wonderful vague, fluttery ladies she portrays bear the likeness of a caricature to the original.

Miss Lorne laces her conversation liberally with "bless you." She wears a slightly harassed expressions. And she communicates magnificently by a combination of words not necessarily complete sentences, plus gestures and facial expressions.

The meaning is completely clear to the listener.

Life, however, has not been one long, joyous progression for the gentle, smiling little lady who, if the British "Who's Who in the Theater" may be trusted, passed her 69th birthday last Aug. 12.

A successful, well-established stage star in London for three decades, 1943 found Miss Lorne back in New York, newly widowed, financially wiped out and 54 years old.

TRAINED FOR THEATER

A native of Wilkes Barre, Pa., Marion attended the American Academy of Dramatic Art, was a member of a Hartford, Conn., stock company and had made her Broadway debut before she married Walter Hackett, a newspaperman and playwright.

One year she and her husband made a combined vacation and business trip to England, where one of his plays was being produced. They remained for 30 years.

As a husband-wife team they were a great success. Hackett wrote plays carefully tailored to his wife's comedy abilities.

After war started and the blitz came, Hackett and his wife returned to the United States for a three-month visit.

That was 15 years ago—and she still doesn't like to think about those days.

ROLE IN 'HARVEY'

In 1946 however, she won the Josephine Hull role in the national company of "Harvey"—a natural for her—and played it long enough to establish an American acting reputation.

Her "Mrs. Gurney" replaced the Helen Hoskinson lady as the typical matronly tearoom customer figuring the size of the tip. With all her silliness, she was still warm, generous and lovable.

They've changed her name now to Mrs. Banford, and she's impossibly rich in "Sally" (NBC-TV, Sundays, 7:30 p.m.), but it's still Marion Lorne, playing her favorite role.

She likes the "Sally" series, in which she co-stars with Joan Caulfield.

"They're sweet little things, I think. Of course, they're not designed to change the shape of the world, but they are good-humored and amusing—and I think the whole family can get together to watch them.

"I do think that's something—don't you."

She gestured and looked anxiously for the answer. When her interviewer nodded in agreement, Miss Lorne smiled.

"Bless you," she said.

Tire Weighing on Him

How to Fulfill Military Obligation

American Youths Face Army Career Problem

(This is the first of two articles giving expert advice on the ways in which young American men can fulfill their military service obligations.)

WASHINGTON (INS) — One of the toughest military problems in the country today isn't being fed into the Pentagon's electronic brains.

It's being handled by the nation's teenagers and their parents.

WHAT TO DO

The problem is what to do about the military service obligation that each young American male faces. Should he take advantage of the special training programs offered to 17 and 18 year olds, or should he do nothing and wait for the draft?

The balancing factors that go into the decisions have been made more complicated recently by the Pentagon's economy and force-reduction moves, which have created waiting lines in some of the more than 30 training and service programs a youth might enter.

At the same time, the youth's chances of escaping the draft altogether if he does nothing have considerably improved. Inductions have fallen off from 13,000 to 7,000 a month, and another force reduction is known to be under consideration.

POOL GROWS

The "draft pool" has grown so large that there are now 1,300,000 non-fathers in class 1-A. As a result, the Selective Service system isn't taking anyone under the age of 22 except those who volunteer for induction.

Nevertheless, the best judgment at the Pentagon is that at least the 17-18½-year-old can substantially improve his chances for success and happiness in later life by acting now to get his military service out of the way.

The defense manpower experts say that despite the surplus of eligibles at present, the odds are still 2 to 1 that the draft will catch a man sooner or later if he is physically and mentally fit.

DRAFT HANDICAP

Equally important to a young man planning his future is the fact that even the possibility of being drafted can be a handicap.

Employers will always be uneasy about hiring and advancing a man who may be tapped for two years of military service about the time he becomes competent in his job.

Prospective brides with an eye for the future also keep close track of the service situation, and are often reluctant to marry a man who may leave for a training camp before the first child arrives.

ASK QUESTIONS

A briefing officer who discussed the training subject before a mixed group recently said the girls asked him more questions than the boys.

Under the six months training program as it was revised this summer, a high school senior who is 17 years old and who acts now could complete his military service and be beyond reach of the draft except in case of war by the time he is a junior in college.

He can start weekly drills with his reserve unit before he begins his six months' training next summer. The only setback to his education would be a one-semester delay in his college entrance.

CALLED SUCKERS

The briefing officer said bluntly he thinks 17-year-olds and their parents are suckers for not taking advantage of that opportunity. Not many are doing so.

Young Dems Blast Any Discrimination

RENO, Nev. (AP)—The nation's Young Democrats ended their convention early yesterday with the election of Nelson Lancione of Columbus, Ohio, as the new president.

One of several resolutions adopted called for "vigorous enforcement" of laws governing civil rights, saying that racial discrimination is "a disgrace" whether in Little Rock, Ark., or Levittown, Pa.

Chicagoan Richard Crawford, first Negro ever to hold office in the organization, was elected vice president.

Rejected was a resolution calling for the recognition of Red China.

Others adopted called for: Endorsement of statehood for Hawaii and Alaska; opposition to "right-to-work" legislation; reinstatement of GI bill educational provisions; opposition to any income tax cut at the expense of "necessary national defense" a 100 per cent parity of income for farmers.

Truman Mum on Choice for '60 Dem Candidate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former president Harry S. Truman isn't saying who his personal choice is for the 1960 Democratic presidential cnadidate. But whoever it is, says Truman, 'I'll be in there fighting for him."

The former president, here during a two-hour layover between trains last night, said he could suggest several possible candidates. But right now, he added, "I'm not making any prophecies."

Truman was en route to Welch, W. Va., to deliver a Veterans Day address.

Asked at his press conference what he would have done on the missile and satellite programs if he were president, Truman declined comment, saying, 'I don't like these ideas of what might have been."

7 Drown as Auto Plunges Into Bayou

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — A car crashed through a bridge railing and plunged into Bayou St. Claire near here yesterday, drowning seven persons.

Sheriff Mayo Harson said the auto crashed through the wooden railing near the center of the bayou and dropped into 12 feet of water.

Three bodies were in the car when it was pulled out by a tractor. The others were recovered with grappling hooks.

Salt Lake Trestle Hit, Damaged by Barge

A cattle train headed west out of Ogden was halted before it reached the break, 30 miles west of here.

The cutoff, a 12-mile wooden trestle, carries the mainline Southern Pacific tracks across the Great Salt Lake.

Train crews hoped to have the cutoff back in service by tomorrow. Trains were being detoured around the lake in the meantime.

Tax Service Quiets Fears

Expense Account Items to Be Handled Mainly as in the Past

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Internal Revenue Servige says it will handle expense account items on the great bulk of 1957 income tax returns just as it has handled those in past years.

It didn't say that those who have neglected to list such items in the past can continue to ignore them safely. The law has required since 1921 that they be listed.

But the service and the Treasury Department said in a joint statement: "No more detailed records will be required for 1957 than have been needed in the past. In fact the instructions on expense accounts for 1957 are identical with those issued in 1954, 1955 and 1956."

The law requires anyone on expense account to list his reimbursement as income and to itemize the expenses for which he was paid, but for 36 years the fellow with a small expense account has paid little attention to the requirement. And the revenue service itself usually hasn't bothered to check.

But the word went out last week that closer scrutiny would be given to expense accounts this year, especially those which count up to sizable figures. That raised fears that thousands of little fellows might be called on for data they hadn't kept in detailed form during the year.

The joint weekend statement sought to play down that idea, saying: "In the examination of individual tax returns for 1957 the revenue service will concentrate on major abuses in the expense account area and no requirement of unreasonably detailed records is intended."

Missile Probe to Be Helpful

Irrelevant Issues Will Be Avoided in Senate Investigation

NEW YORK (AP)—The lawyer who will direct a Senate inquiry into the nation's missile and satellite programs says the probe will be "nonpartisan, constructive and patriotic."

Edwin L. Weisl, New York City lawyer, said the inquiry will avoid "irrelevant issues" and that scientists and others called to testify are all "persons whose ability and motives are beyond question."

Weisl was named last Friday as special counsel to direct the inquiry. It will be conducted by the Senate Preparedness subcommittee of the Armed Services Committee. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) is chairman of the subcommittee.

Weisl said he will begin his work in Washington today. He will lay the groundwork for a series of five public hearings, which are to begin Nov. 25.

His investigation, Weisl said, will have to be finished by the end of the year so that his report may be ready for recommendations to Congress, which convenes in January.

Woman Shot in Head While Sitting in Church

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A woman sitting in church was accidentally shot in the head last night.

Police said Mrs. Lula Glenn, 50, was wounded critically when Tommy Tophia, 36, discharged a pistol during an argument across the street from the church.

The bullet passed through the church's open door. Tophia was booked on suspicision of attempted murder.
