Homes Flooded Along Lake Erie

By the Associated Press

Hundreds of homes along Lake Erie in Michigan and Ohio were flooded today when high winds drove water over breakwaters.

Civil Defense and Red Cross units were called out in both states to help evacuate hundreds of residents in low-lying areas bordering the lake.

Lakeside areas from Monroe to Port Clinton, Ohio, 30 miles east of Toledo, were hit by the flooding.

The floodwaters washed four feet deep and spread a half-mile inland, submerging entire towns and isolating residents.

The Navy sent small boats to held in the rescue work.

AMPHIBIOUS VEHICLE

An Army amphibious vehicle was pressed into service, picking up persons from their flooded houses.

Over one hundred families were evacuated from their beach area homes in the Monroe area.

Strong winds, blowing in gusts of 35 miles an hour, have swept the lake since last night.

Robert Gildersleeve, Civil Defense director of Monroe County, reported the 100 family evacuations shortly before noon and said evacuations were continuing.

No injuries were reported.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

Already, the Mason School District, with 1,900 pupils had closed all its schools because of a lack of school bus drivers.

The drivers, mostly Luna Pier residents, were busy at home. Luna Pier was hard hit.

The Monroe County Sheriff's Department and the county's Civil Defense units cooperated in removal of families.

The sheriff's office said a highway a half-mile inland was threatened. Police began evacuating the residents of the Point Place area of Toledo. People fled their homes in at least four towns in Ohio and a half-dozen towns and villages in Michigan.

The River Raisin backed up, flooding an east side street in Monroe.

Kausler's Island three miles south of Monroe, was inundated. Trappers and farmers were evacuated.

1952 FLOOD

The flooding was remindful of the 1952 calamitous spring flood.

Hardest hit in the Toledo area were the Point Place and Lost Peninsula sections battered by Palm Sunday tornados in 1965.

These areas jut into Maumee Bay, an arm of the lake.

There was no immediate estimate of the number of families forced out of their homes, but the Toledo Blade said hundreds were involved in the two-state area.

Meanwhile, northern Lower Michigan's snowstorm had blown itself out after leaving up to four inches of snow in some areas.

The snowstorm swept an area from south of Cadillac to the Straits of Mackinac.

VICTIMS OF BLAST — The body of one of the victims of a Viet Cong mine explosion in Saigon today is being loaded on a stretcher as other victims lie in background. The powerful mine killed 11 persons and injured 40 at a bus stop crowded with Korean and other workers.

B52s Pound North Viet Again

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force B52s pounded North Viet Nam for the second time in the war today and again attacked the Mu Gia Pass on the supply route to the south.

In their first raid on the Communist north 15 days ago, the Strategic Air Command's eight-engine planes dropped 700 tons of bombs which set off landslides that reportedly closed the pass.

But a week later, U.S. spokesmen said North Vietnamese workers had reopened the mountain roadway and men and supplies for the Viet Cong were again able to get through.

The U.S. spokesman said no assessment had been made yet of the damage inflicted today by the raid on the mountain gateway on the Laotian frontier 230 miles south of Hanoi.

While the long-range American bombers from Guam struck the north, Viet Cong terrorists singled out a new target in a month-long wave of violence in Saigon.

A powerful mine exploded in the midst of civilian construction workers, killing eight South Koreans and three Vietnamese and injuring more than 40 persons, including some children.

most of the U.S. Defense Department's building projects in South Viet Nam.

The men were gathered in a narrow street waiting for a truck to take them to work when a claymore mine exploded across the road, cutting them down with a hail of pellets.

Some of the Koreans had arrived in South Viet Nam only yesterday.

Communist-Led Students Seize Mexico Campus

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — The modernistic campus of Mexico University was in the hands today of Communist-led students who vowed they would fight to the death against any attempt to dislodge them.

Stolen buses had been used as the foundation for barricades to meet any attack by police or troops. Coeds armed with bicycle chains helped to stand guard.

It was not certain whether police and army authorities would honor the medieval tradition of "university autonomy."

A mob of 2,000 to 3,000 law students stormed the university administration building yesterday and forced Rector (president) Ignacio Chavez to resign under the threat of death.

The Mexican television network reported that at least 35 other members of the university staff were forced to resign.

The only casualty reported yesterday was a student who strike leaders said had been pistol-hipped by a campus security official.

In the past, such claims of injury have often proved false.

They said the student was in

UAW Local at City Plant Elects Veep

Albert Lighthall, 1153 Coshocton, Waterford Township, was elected today as vice president of UAW Local 596 at Fisher Body Division's Pontiac plant.

Lighthall defeated Carl Sexton with a vote of 392 to 311 in a runoff election.

The runoff was required because none of the candidates for the post in the general election April 13 received a majority of all the votes cast.

Rail Merger OK'd; Biggest in U.S. History

ICC Nixes 2nd Plan That Would Have Created Longest Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission unanimously approved today the merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads — the biggest merger in U. S. history.

But it rejected by a 6-5 vote another merger plan that would have created the nation's longest railroad.

The ICC ordered the new Eastern rail giant to take over all operations—passenger and freight—of the bankrupt New Haven Railroad.

The decision was made April 6 but not disclosed until today.

By handing down one of its rare merger vetoes in an age of continuing rail consolidation, the ICC turned aside the bid of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy to merge, taking over two smaller railroads, into a 25,000-mile system stretching from Chicago to the West Coast.

BARRAGE OF DISSENTS

Over a barrage of dissents, charging the majority with abdicating its duty under national transportation policy, the ICC ruled that the drastic loss of competition and harmful effects to employes in a northern lines merger far outweigh the financial advantages of such a consolidation.

There was no immediate comment from the lines involved, pending study of the ICC order.

The Penn-Central merger — which may take effect in the first week of June — will create a system of some 20,000 rail miles, extending from Montreal and Norfolk, Va., west in an

HEDY LAMARR

Actress Wins Acquittal in Shoplift Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The real-life drama docketed as "the people versus Hedy Lamarr" ended happily for the onetime film siren.

The dark-haired beauty's starring role as witness in her own defense swayed a jury of seven men and five women to acquit her yesterday of charges of shoplifting $86 in merchandise from a department store.

The prosecution had told the jurors the lines Miss Lamarr spoke from the witness chair constituted a "grade B scenario that backfired."

Fifty courtroom spectators applauded the verdict. Miss Lamarr thanked the jury, kissed her attorney and spent an extra 30 minutes in court signing autographs.

IN JANUARY

Miss Lamarr, 52, was arrested Jan. 27 at the May Co. Department Store and was accused of taking 18 items ranging from bikini panties to hair bands and cosmetics.

After her acquittal, the actress shook the hands of the jurors and said to each: "Thank you very much" or "I knew I would get fair treatment."

OCC Campus Bids Are High

Far Over Estimates; Board Delays Action

Bids opened yesterday on the second phase of construction for Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus ranged from nearly $1 million to $1.3 million over the $8.3 million estimated cost.

The board will decide May 5 whether to enter a contract on the Farmington Township campus project or reject all bids.

Low bidder among the three general contractors submitting proposals was the R. E. Dailey Co. based in New York. Its bid was $9,227,700.

Barton-Malow Co. entered a proposal of $9,463,000 and the J. A. Utley Co. bid $9,586,000. Both are metropolitan area firms.

The Utley Co. was awarded the contract last fall for the first phase of construction on Orchard Ridge which is a $5,641,000 project.

College administrators will analyze the bids and prepare a

Wilson: Talks on Rhodesia Have Started

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson announced today that informal talks have begun with Rhodesia in search for a solution to its rebellion.

The announcement came as Wilson's private secretary, Oliver Wright, was in Salisbury, Rhodesia.

Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia told his Parliament in Salisbury yesterday that his minority white government was willing to enter into talks with Britain without preconditions. His tone seemed conciliatory.

Wilson told the House of Commons today the informal talks began Friday.

Wilson said the talks are "directed only to see whether a basis for negotiations genuinely exists and are without commitment on either side."

Wilson said he sent Wright, who is one of his closest advisers on overseas affairs, to Salisbury last week.

Forecast for Area: More of the Same

Windy, cool, and occasional rain is the forecast for the Pontiac area tonight and much of tomorrow. Partly cloudy and continued cool is the outlook for Friday.

Temperatures registering lows of 35 to 42 tonight will edge up to 42 to 50 tomorrow.

Morning winds northeast to east at 15 to 35 miles per hour will shift to east to southeast tonight, and become westerly late tomorrow.

A low of 34 was the recording at 6 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The 2 p.m. reading was 34.

Rebel Students to Confer With Detroit School Chief

DETROIT (AP) — Facing a student threat to resume a boycott unless a high school principal is ousted, Detroit Schools Supt. Samuel M. Brownell planned to meet today with leaders of the rebellious teenagers.

Brownell said he and principal Arthur T. Carty of Northern High School would meet with Northern pupils Charles Colding, Michael Batchelor and Judy Walker.

The youngsters — hundreds boycotted the school — ended a four-day walkout Tuesday, but Batchelor said "If he (Carty) comes back, we will come back out."

Carty was not at his desk in the school Tuesday. Brownell said Carty's absence was "only for the duration" of a meeting during the day. A school spokesman said Carty still was principal.

STUDENT THOUGHT

But the students apparently were under the impression Carty was out permanently.

In urging the dissident pupils to return to classes, Batchelor had told them: "We're getting everything we wanted. Carty is gone as principal of Northern."

Most of Northern's 2,300 pupils left their classes last Wednesday in a protest against Carty and what they said was a substandard education. The school's enrollment is predominantly Negro.

The decision to return to classes Tuesday averted a planned massive walkout at 11 more of Detroit's 24 high schools in sympathy with complaints of the Northern students. Attendance rose to 1,562 at Northern Tuesday.

BOYCOTT ENDS

The students ended the boycott after meeting Monday night with Brownell, Dr. Remus G. Robinson, president of the Board of Education, and a number of others.

Robinson reportedly promised the pupils then that Carty would not be at his desk Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Marcellus Ivory, a Northern graduate who is a representative of the United Auto Workers Union, scheduled a meeting for Thursday night to establish a Northern Alumni Association to further education at the school.

During the boycott, the pupils attended classes in three "freedom schools" set up to allow them to continue their education while staying away from Northern. The schools were staffed primarily by Wayne State University teachers.

The walkout originated in a demonstration last April 7 when students protested suppression of an editorial in the school newspaper. The editorial contended Northern students were not getting an adequate education, and some students said Carty suppressed the article.

recommendation for consideration of the board of trustees.

The board could accept a bid as submitted, order some cutbacks to reduce cost or reject all bids.

If the board accepts a bid May 5, construction probably would get under way by June.

The timetable calls for completion of the first phase of construction of the campus by August of next year; completion of the second stage by early 1968.

Sale of $9 million in bonds to underwrite the second phase of construction was approved by the college board in February.

Approval of the sale by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission still is pending but expected soon.

An ultimate enrollment of 5,000 students is projected for the Orchard Ridge Campus.

Launch Hunt for Balloonist

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — An air search was launched today for Tracy Barnes and his hot-air balloon which authorities believed came down in rugged mountain-desert country about 85 miles east of here.

The sheriff's office said the last naval radar fix on the balloon had it descending about 3 a.m. near Thing Mountain, just west of the desolate Anza Desert.

Barnes, 27, of Chester, S.C., was alone in the balloon's gondola when he resumed the planned transcontinental flight at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday from a field near La Presa, 10 miles east of here.

Air in the mountains was reported turbulent with strong gusts in the desert which would make a landing hazardous.

The last radio report from Barnes was received at 2:43 a.m. by the San Diego Flight Service.

Ford Citizen Award to Avon Twp. Man

Donald J. Campbell of 2745 Tallahassee, Avon Township, was named "Ford Citizen of the Year" in Oakland County for 1966.

A product design engineer at Ford Tractor Division in Birmingham, Campbell received the Town Crier Bell, symbolic of the award.

Three other Ford Tractor Division employes and wives of two division employes also were honored at the Ford Motor Company's community service awards luncheon held at the Kingsley Inn.

They were Louis R. Turf, 1567 E. Maple, Birmingham; Mrs. Wilbur D. Sexauer, 4541 Ottawa Lane, Bloomfield Township; Mrs. James R. Patterson, 967 Southfield, Birmingham; Margaret (Peggy) A. Allen, Berkley, and Raymond W. Wilson, 13280 28 Mile, Washington.

The six recipients were selected by a committee of Birmingham civic leaders from a list of 32 nominees.

FORD OFFICIAL

Awards were presented by Robert J. Hampson, Ford vice president and general manager of Ford Tractor Division.

A member of the Avon Township Board the past three years, Campbell is chairman of the township road committee and serves on the liquor, industrial, business and fire committees.

He is also a member of the township's zoning board of appeals.

Campbell has served in many Boy Scout volunteer jobs and holds the distinction of having organized and being present leader of the only active Sea Explorer Scout Ship in the Clinton Valley Council.

ACTIVITIES

Campbell also is active in church and civic association activities.

Turf, a product training and merchandising specialist for Ford Overseas Tractor Operations, gained his award for volunteer service as Birmingham Community Boy Scout Commissioner, and service as a director of Birmingham Estates Subdivision Association, a director of the Tractor and Implement Division Credit Union and a church worker.

Mrs. Sexauer, whose husband is a manager in the divisional controller's office, was honored largely for her efforts in organizing a campaign to beautify and make safer the area adjacent to the Bloomfield Plaza Shopping Center at Maple and Telepraph.

Mrs. Patterson is active in Red Cross, United Foundation and Girl Scouts.

Her husband is a supervisor in the administrative department for tractor and implement operations.

Miss Allen, marketing department secretary for Ford Overseas Tractor Operations, was cited for voluntarily serving as an undercover agent for the Michigan State Police and helping to smash a gambling operation at the Steren Assembly Club in Madison Heights.

Community service in school, park development, club and church activities earned an award for Wilson, assistant chief engineer in the product evaluation and test operations department.

Favors Full Coverage Bill

Wants Trucks Placed Under Federal Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union president James R. Hoffa called today for mandatory safety standards covering "all phases of transportation" including trucks.

The Teamsters head told the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee that while he endorses the objectives of the administration's auto safety bill, "I must express serious reservations regarding some of the means proposed.

"I favor a bill with mandatory safety standards — not merely the authorization in the secretary (of commerce) to promulgate standards two years from now if he thinks voluntary action has failed," Hoffa said in a statement to the committee.

Hoffa also said the secretary should be required to do this within one year. The administration bill would give him two years plus another two years after that before the standards would take effect.

'ALL PHASES'

"I favor a bill which covers all phases of transportation and does not exclude from its scope trucks presumably covered by safety regulations under the Interstate Commerce Act," Hoffa said.

He noted that ICC officials told Senate committees "that the ICC did not have any program or funds for the purpose of research — an area covered in great detail by the proposed legislation.

"The ICC concedes its inability to conduct more than a token inspection with its limited force of 99 inspectors covering a minimum of two million for hire carriers and a substantial portion of 12 million others registered in the United States."

Hoffa said "inspections by the ICC are sporadic, and it is estimated that ICC inspectors will not catch up with safety violators in less than five years."

He also recommended that the problems of "unsafe trucking equipment, the unsafe truck driver, and unsafe highways" should be dealt with by one office.

Hoffa urged that the administrator be directed and empowered to require dealers in used trucks to comply with mandatory standards before resale is permitted. He said any truck 10 years or older should be presumed to be unsafe, and the burden shifted on the owner to prove the equipment is safe, by complying with the requirements of annual inspection.

Hoffa gave similar testimony to Senate committees earlier.

The auto industry has declared that it favors the federal government having the final say in setting safety standards but the declaration met with skepticism from some congressmen.

This became apparent Tuesday as industry spokesman John S. Bugas outlined the industry's position to an all-day hearing by the House Commerce Committee.

Bloomfield Twp. Budget OK'd

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The township board Monday night approved the proposed 1966-67 budget with expenditures totaling $878,100 and revenue amounting to $857,450.

The deficit of $20,650 is to be made up in miscellaneous funds.

Township Supervisor Homer C. Case emphasized the need for passage of 2.8 mills in the Aug. 2 primary to finance public safety. The current supporting levy expires in December.

The new levy will be needed to retain and maintain the police and fire departments and road maintenance, Case said.

The board also accepted a petition for construction of water lines in Meadowlake Farms.

In other business, the board asked the township attorney and Case to seek expert advice on the structural soundness of a masonry wall at the Bloomfield Commons Shopping Center, which the township board believes to be unsound.

The board also requested that action be initiated to have the wall properly constructed and maintained according to the dictates of a court order.

Shopping center and township officials have disputed in court the zoning of the southeast Lahser and Maple corner. The area was originally zoned residential, but shopping center representatives requested that it be zoned commercial.

The court ruled in favor of the shopping center, providing a masonry wall was constructed separating the shopping center from the surrounding land.

The township now maintains that the wall was not completed or extended as far as the court ordered.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Cranbrook Institute of Science will sponsor a lecture by Frederic A. Webster on how the bat can give lessons to engineering scientists at 8:15 tonight.

The lecture entitled, "The Bat and the Worm Gun," will be held in the auditorium of Cranbrook School.

Webster is affiliated with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Admission for the illustrated lecture is free to Institute members.

"very serious" condition in the university hospital.

The mob seized control of the university radio station and broadcast appeals for support.

The rioters also cut off the campus's electric power supply, forcing cancellation of a scheduled Mexico-Paraguay soccer game in the university stadium.

Riot police on the alert surrounded the university grounds today.

"If President (Gustav) Diaz Ordaz orders in federal troops, we will fight until every student backing this movement is dead," one student leader said.

University authorities have been quoted as saying Communist agitators are encouraging the student mobs. Three persons were arrested by federal agents yesterday on charges of activities "tending toward subversion . . . including the agitation of strikes at the national university."

The three have Argentine passports. They were carrying leftist propaganda literature and over $30,000 in cash when picked up, the office of the federal attorney general said.

Strike leaders have appealed for support "in the name of Comrade (V. I.) Lenin."

The university crisis began six weeks ago when a group of law students declared a "strike" and set up barbed-wire barricades around their school.

The students demanded the dismissal of the law school dean and the reinstatement of two students expelled for passing out Communist literature.

House-Size Law in City Challenged

A recently adopted city zoning ordinance amendment stipulating the minimum size of a single-family home was challenged last night by a Detroit builder.

Louis Geer, vice president of Belaire Home Builders of Detroit, questioned the ordinance requirement that set the minimum house size at "at least 1,000 square feet."

He said the footage requirement did not take into account the difference between a house with a full basement and a slab floor house with a utility room.

Geer's complaint was heard by the City Commission, but was referred to the City Planning Commission, which had recommended the ordinance amendment.

Geer claimed that adding the required number of feet to the house he builds would hike the cost of the house $1,000.

PLUS BASEMENT

The builder said his house has 872 square feet of floor space plus a basement.

Geer, who objected to turning the matter back to the planning commission because of the estimated six to eight weeks time involved, also claimed that private builders should have been consulted in drafting the housing standards.

Asked if the city planning staff had consulted private builders, Planning Director James L. Bates commented, "I thought we had, but I guess not."

Geer claimed he was one of only three main builders putting up most of the new homes in Pontiac. He said he had constructed 500 to 600 homes in 12 years of doing business here.

He opposed the delay in considering any change to the ordinance because he had applications for 18 homes pending.

Geer said adding $1,000 to the cost of his house, priced from $12,0000 to $12,500, would make a difference in getting mortgage clearances.

hourglass pattern to Chicago and St. Louis.

The corporate giant will have combined assets exceeding $5.3 billion.

The new system, the ICC said in a report by Commissioner Kenneth H. Tuggle, will be in a better position to compete with the east's two other great rail systems — the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Norfolk & Western.

Those two lines are currently seeking to merge.

"There is no question but that the transaction will permit more economical and efficient use of the applicants' transportation facilities," the ICC said.

reans, two Filipinos and several children.

No Americans were hurt, although the blast tore through the first floor of a nearby house where four U.S. Air Force men lived.

The latest wave of terrorism in the Saigon area began April 1 with an attack on the Victoria Hotel, a U.S. officers' billet, which killed six persons and wounded 143.

Since then about two dozen grenades have been thrown, most of them at U.S. military personnel.

In the ground war, the U.S. 1st Infantry Division and the Marines continued two major searches for the Viet Cong, but so far reported only meager results.

SEARCH JUNGLES

After four days of scouring the jungles north of Tay Ninh City, 50 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian frontier, the "Big Red One" reported killing 15 Viet Cong and capturing 570 tons of rice in Operation Birmingham.

The Marines said they had killed 31 Viet Cong since they started Operation Georgia seven days ago in Quang Nam Province south of Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon.

Fight for Life Goes On

CONSTANTINE (AP) — Larry Rink and Harry Griffith had similar forms of cancer of the bone. Both fought for life last month in similar experimental operations.

Rink learned yesterday that Griffith was dead.

"It sort of shocked me at first," said Rink, 23, of the southwest Michigan community of Centreville. But, he added, he's still optimistic, and is even shopping for an artificial leg.

Afraid? he was asked. "No, not really. Not any more."

Doctors removed Rink's leg last May, hoping to check the progress of his tumor. It didn't work.

NEW HOPE?

"Everybody knew except my wife and I that I had six chances out of seven it would come back," Rink said. "They never said anything to me about it."

But when Griffith, 63, of suburban Philadelphia, and Robert F. Allen, 29, of Tuscon, Ariz., took part in a cancer-transplant experiment, Rink's doctor thought there was new hope.

Rink flew to Buffalo, N. Y., where doctors at Roswell Park Memorial Institute paired him with Thomas E. Welker, 21, of Conrad, Mont., and repeated the prospective cure.

Cancerous tissue was removed from each victim and transplanted in the other.

MUST BE WATCHED

It was hoped each man's body would build up antibodies to fight the foreign matter—and the victim's own cancer, as well.

Griffith died despite the experiment.

Doctors say Rink, Allen and Welker must be watched for some time before it will be known whether the new treatment helped them.

Rink said X rays taken two weeks ago showed his tumor was 50 per cent better.

EFFECT OF YOUTH

He added he thinks his youth will help him through.

"Mr. Griffith was getting up in years," Rink said. "He didn't have much fight left. But I'm still young and I've still got some left."

Rink is staying here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Rink. He said they share his optimism.

"They were scared at first," he said, "but I guess they've got confidence in it now. I suppose they're worried about it a little bit."

Local 594 Sets Vote on Accord

The membership of UAW Local 594, GMC Truck & Coach Division, will vote Sunday to either accept or reject an agreement resolving 184 grievances about working conditions.

Union President Robert White said today that a tentative settlement on the issues was reached yesterday between the bargaining committee of the local and the company.

The settlement, however, is subject to the approval of the general membership.

Early this month members of the local had given authorization to a strike if the grievances were not settled.

The ratification vote will be taken about 3 p.m. following the local's regular meeting at 525 East Blvd.

RUINS IN RUSSIA — This is a view of street in Tashkent, a city of more than one million inhabitants in south central Russia, after the city's worst earthquake in 98 years. Early reports indicated that the death and injury toll was relatively small while damage was huge.

Quake Survivors Hunted in Russian City

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — Rescue workers today dug in the debris of homes and buildings for survivors of a predawn killer earthquake that almost flattened the "old city" area of this ancient Asian crossroads.

At least four persons were reported killed and 150 others hospitalized by the quake yesterday that exploded directly beneath this city of 1,127,000, destroying many homes, several hospitals, buildings and empty schoolhouses.

But observers feared that the casualty toll might rise today as emergency workers searched the rubble of primitive one-story homes which collapsed on their sleeping occupants in the city's old quarter.

Survivors said the modern part of Tashkent — most of it built under Soviet rule — was barely touched by the seven quakes.

Other tremors were reported later in the day, but the Kremlin made no announcements of additional damage or casualties.

TOP-LEVEL COMMISSION

However, the seriousness of the disaster — the first quake to hit Tashkent in nearly 100 years — was emphasized when a top-level Soviet commission, headed by party boss Leonid Brezhnev and government chief Alexei Kosygin, flew here.

The quake was centered between three and six miles directly below the city where Genghis Khan and Emperor Tamerlane once held sway.

It also appeared to be the worst earthquake disaster to hit central Asia since the Soviet city of Ashkhabad was leveled and hundreds killed in 1948. The Kremlin shrouded that disaster in secrecy.

Witnesses said the old quarter of the city with its squat, mud-walled, one-story houses was virtually destroyed.

'CITY OF STONE'

Tashkent, which means "city of stone," is actually two cities — the modern, Soviet-built quarter and the old Moslem section dating back hundreds of years.

The most violent tremor registered 7.5 on the 12-point international scale — equivalent to about a magnitude of 6 on the 9-point Richter Scale used in the West.

Tashkent was the site last autumn of the peace conference between Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri and Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan arranged by Kosygin.

Shastri died of a heart attack there at the end of the negotiations.

MAKES BIG SPLASH — What looks like an auto sailing off the aircraft carrier Shangri-La isn't an auto but a wheeled vehicle with a load of water that can be increased up to 45 tons. The launching from the carrier's catapults at the Philadelphia Navy Yard yesterday is part of the tests during the refitting of the famed carrier. In the bottom photo, one of the loads splashes down in the Delaware River, where it is retrieved and taken back to the Navy yard.

Tour Shows Discontent to De Gaulle

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle's three-day trip through industrial areas of northern France has revealed considerable opposition to his domestic policies, particularly wage policies, informed sources said today.

De Gaulle returned to Paris late last night. During his tour, the president encountered sparse crowds and some hostility — in sharp contrast to previous visits to other areas of France.

Political observers said much of the hostility and indifference stemmed from his determination to hold wage increases this year to 4.5 per cent.

The unions want at least six per cent, and a rash of strikes has plagued French industry for the past two months as the unions struggled to force the government to abandon the wage line.

De Gaulle's reception was not always cool, however, and he was reported to be satisfied with his visit.

'Viet War Curbs Plans of Interior Department'

LAS NEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall says the war in Viet Nam has caused the first "hold-the-line" budget in his department since he took over six years ago.

"It has caused problems," he said, "but it's only temporary."

Owners Find Dog Gone 10 Months

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A Chihuahua dog named Tubby that disappeared during the severe floods here 10 months ago has been reunited with its owners.

The dog wandered off when Mr. and Mrs. James Balkema returned to their home the day after the flood last June to pick up some clothing.

The dog turned up in a suburban bank parking lot and was traced by its rabies tag to the Balkemas.

Y Needs a Home

ROCHESTER — The YMCA is looking for a home.

The organization has outgrown its present facilities at 423 Helen and needs a new building to house its numerous activities.

Before it can have a new building, however, it must have the land to put it on and this is where the problems begin.

"So far we haven't been able to find anything at the price we can pay," said Carl Johnson, executive director.

"We'd like about three acres centrally located, but we can't afford to pay the prices people are asking."

DRIVE TO START

Once the site is located, a drive will be started to raise funds to pay for it, and for a building. Directors estimate that the building will cost at least $125,000.

They now have about $4,202 in donations from several local organizations. The rest will have to be made up in contributions.

The new building will need an all-purpose room, a game room, improved office facilities, a place for individual counseling, an indoor rifle range and a kitchenette.

"We have to consider a substantial facility," said Johnson, "one that can be expanded."

PRESENT METHOD

Most of the activities are now held in schools or churches.

"Many times we feel we lose our identity this way," said Johnson.

The Y has been promised use of the new swimming pool when it is built at Rochester High School.

"We'll use that as long as we can," said Johnson "but it is conceivable that as our program grows we'll eventually have to have our own facility."

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The Y recently completed a membership drive in which it received pledges worth $11,800, well over its goal of $10,500.

In addition to membership fees, the Y is supported by the Avon Community Chest, the Oakland Community Chest and program fees.

The 1965 budget totaled $27,217. Of this, $7,000 came from the Avon Community Chest, $600 from the Oakland Community Chest, $11,000 in membership fees and $8,617 in program fees.

Y MEMBERSHIP

As of last year, Y membership totaled 2,020. Of this number, 522 were boys, 418 girls, 583 men and 463 women.

The Y now employs a full-time director, part-time office help and leaders and instructors on a volunteer or part-time paid basis.

"We don't have the leadership we need," said Johnson. "It is essentially a one-person operation and there is more than enough to keep one person busy.

"If we went to a larger program we would need professional help at first, but then we could operate with volunteers."

CLASSES CANCELLED

The lack of leadership forced the Y to cancel gymnastics classes this year and so far there are no sailing instructors for the summer program.

Among the programs offered by the Y are Indian Guides, swimming, camping, ski club, model building, gymnastics, bowling, tennis, archery, crafts, ballet, tap and ballroom dancing and tumbling.

Pontiac Press Photo

OUTGROWN ITS USEFULNESS — The old building which has served as a YMCA since 1959 has become too small for the large number of activities conducted by the Y, so a new site and building are being sought. Before becoming a Y, the building served as a stable and later a school.

Proposals Drawn Up for School Election

FARMINGTON — The draft of bonding and millage proposals for swimming pool and auditorium construction has been approved by the board of education.

Voters will decide June 13 whether to equip the district's two existing high schools and the new senior high school under construction with a swimming pool and auditorium costing $3 million.

A proposal to increase the tax limitation in the district by one mill for a period of 10 years to support operation of the pools and auditorium will also appear on the annual school election ballot.

Some 3,100 voters signed petitions circulated by the Farmington Jaycees to have the proposed improvements added to the ballot.

Preliminary plans for a new elementary school to be constructed in the northwest section of the township were also presented to the board Monday.

SCHOOL LAYOUT

The architects, Ralls-Hamill-Becker of Livonia, showed a rough draft of the location of buildings, playground and parking lot on the site. A more detailed interior plan will follow. The building is scheduled for completion in Sept. 1967.

The board was also told that the new Fairview School under construction will be completed one month ahead of schedule. Completion date is now August 15 instead of September as originally planned.

The board approved the appointments of three persons for new administrative posts in the school district.

James L. Leary, 32, of 23181 Violet, will be the director of secondary curriculum; Richard T. Tyler, 31, of 32007 Valleyview, director of summer school and adult education; and Earl Baumunk, 35, of 41082 S. McMahon, Novi, director of vocational education.

* * *

Richard A. Close, 30, of 14509 Fairway, Livonia, was appointed elementary principal by the board.

Bond Issue Vote Set on Site Buying

TROY — School district voters will be asked on June 13 to approve a $2.5-million bond issue for the purchase of 25 new school sites.

The board of education last night adopted the Citizens School Advisory Committee's recommendation on the proposal.

Schools Supt. Dr. Rex B. Smith said the proposal will not increase the tax rate. He said the current 7-mill levy would remain in effect a few years longer than it otherwise would.

The district can borrow funds for interest and principal payments from the state if necessary as long as it levies 7 mills for debt retirement.

The $2.5 million proposal is higher than that recommended originally by Dr. Smith. Committee members said they felt his $2 million estimate was "too low."

FOR PURCHASES

The money would be used to purchase 17 new elementary school sites, three new high school sites and five new junior high sites. It would also be used for site development.

Dr. Smith said the sites should "take care of practically all our site needs for the future."

The proposition is the second bond issue presented to voters in a year. A $4 million issue was approved last June.

That bond issue provided money for a junior high, four elementary schools, school additions, a central warehouse and bus maintenance garage, tennis course, blacktopping and several other items.

MAY DEADLINE

The deadline to register to vote on the referendum is May 16.

In other action last night, the board awarded contracts on a junior high, two elementary schools and the bus garage warehouse, all of which were part of the last bond issue.

The general contract for the junior high went to low bidder Leslie Construction Co., Ferndale, for $826,140. The mechanical contract went to Kodidek and Scott, Inc., Troy, for $270,978.

The electrical contract was awarded to Jones-Sherman Inc., of Detroit for $166,850.

CONTRACTS

The general contract for the two elementary schools and the bus garage warehouse was awarded to Matthew Lalewicz Inc., Centerline, for $638,076.

The mechanical contract went to Kodidek and Scott for $185,929 and the electrical contract to Jones-Sherman for $101,175.

The junior high is expected to be ready by the fall of 1967. School officials hope the elementary schools will be ready by February, 1967.

The board was also informed last night that its tentative assessed valuation for 1966-67 has increased by $21 million — from $50 million to about $71 million.

Dr. Smith said the school's actual profit from the increase can't be determined until the state aid figure is set and until the county allocation board meets.

He did say, however, that the increase will be substantial and should help the district wipe out a cash deficit, make improvements in the program and meet rising costs.

Board Approves School Annexation

SOUTH LYON — The board of education has approved the annexation of Wash-Oak School in Salem Township. The request for annexation now must be sent to the State Department of Education for an election date to determine final action.

Wash-Oak is a rural school with grades kindergarten through sixth.

The board also noted that the district next fall will participate in the federal government's Title I program which aids children whose parents are in the $2,000 or less income bracket.

Holly School Board Approves Sixth Grade Camping Program

HOLLY — The board of education has approved a pilot camping program for sixth graders at Davisburg Elementary School for next November.

The children will raise the money for the week-long camping session to be held at Island Lake Camp, Brighton, by selling candy and conducting other fund-raising projects.

Meetings with parents, teachers and the principal will be scheduled to familiarize the parents with the program.

The board acted on the belief that outdoor education is essential to a better understanding of nature and gives the students an idea of teamwork.

In other business Monday, the board approved a request by Rev. Cyril J. Rancourt, pastor of St. Rita's Catholic Church, for use of classrooms for religious education.

Bills Approved in State Senate

Only 7 Items Are Left Before Adjournment

LANSING (AP) — The Senate approved Tuesday a legal Columbus Day holiday, regulation of amusement rides, mandatory immunizations and tuberculosis tests for youngsters, and an appeals procedure for persons whose auto insurance is canceled.

It left itself only seven items to consider Wednesday before adjourning for a vacation until May 3.

The Columbus Day measure sets aside the Saturday nearest Oct. 12 as the legal holiday, but Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, said this might be only a temporary situation pending federal designation of a Columbus Day holiday.

Oct. 12 is now only a public holiday in Michigan — meaning that business goes on as usual. The legal designation forces banks, courts and other public bodies to close, but on a Saturday, only some banks will actually be affected.

EXTRA BENEFITS

Employers — including the State Civil Service Commission —also would have to designate the day as a holiday for employes to get any extra benefits.

The tuberculosis bill stemmed from a recent outbreak of the disease at a Garden City nursery school.

The bill would require any person or facility providing for education, camping, residence or care of children to have on file a record of test, request for test or statement of religious objection.

Immunizations against smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio also would be required.

MAIN DEBATE

Main debate centered around the religious exemption.

Backers of the religious exemption prevailed 23-11.

The amusement ride bills would require ride operators to be licensed by the State Department of Labor. They would also have to be insured for as much as $300,000, depending on the capacity of the ride.

The measure stemmed from two carnival ride accidents in the Detroit area last year.

Medicine in Michigan—1

Some Areas Seriously Lack Doctors

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Demand for doctors and how to train them is a growing problem in Michigan. Entwined with it is the controversy of whether medical doctors and osteopaths should compete or combine. Phil Brown examines the situation in a three-part series. Today: the doctor shortage.)

By PHIL BROWN
Associated Press Writer

If you can't quickly find a doctor when you want one—or think you want one—that's a doctor shortage.

Michigan has a shortage. In some areas it's described as serious.

The Michigan Health Council lists 154 communities needing general practitioners and 86 needing specialists. A number of communities list their needs as urgent.

"A certain segment of the population is not getting the treatment is would like to, and is entitled to," said Dr. Leon Fill, a Detroit physician and a member of the State Board of Education.

With demands expanding, it is hard to estimate how many physicians Michigan might need in the years ahead.

Authorities say there also is a tremendous need for additional "hands for the doctor"—nurses, technicians and others.

Frederick A. Traill, assistant executive director of the Michigan Hospital Association, said a 1965 survey showed 625 vacant registered nurse positions in 155 reporting hospitals out of the state's 242.

"It is conservatively estimated that there are 50,000 unfilled positions in the health field in Michigan," said John A. Doherty, executive director of the Michigan Health Council.

Probably there is no way to avoid an occasional case in which someone, somewhere is unable to find a doctor when he wants one.

FINAL QUESTION

"The final question is: what is the health of the people," said Dr. William Hubbard, dean of the University of Michigan medical school.

"The answer is: pretty good —should be better," he added. "We're not faced with some great crisis. We're faced with some serious problems," Dr. Hubbard said. "We're not going downhill as far as we can see."

Michigan Health Council figures indicate Michigan has about 100 medical doctors for every 100,000 people. That compares with about 285 in the District of Columbia and 75 in New Mexico.

OSTEOPATHS

Adding osteopaths brings the total to about 125.

"The ratio of physicians to population in Michigan hasn't changed significantly in 50 years," Dr. Hubbard said.

Pointing to the ratios in other states, he added: "Apparently there is no precise relationship between the physician-population ratio and the health of the people. But once the ratio is established, the system depends on that."

Michigan, though, is a debtor state when it comes to producing doctors.

Medical schools at U. of M. and Wayne State University turn out about 300 doctors a year, "but more than 300 new doctors are coming into Michigan each year," said Hugh Brenneman, executive director of the Michigan State Medical Society.

Early in the 1970s, U. of M. and Wayne State, supported by a new medical college at Michigan State University, should be turning out about 450 physicians a year.

A 1963 study committee estimated that just to keep up with its population growth, Michigan should be taking about 500 students a year into its medical colleges by 1971.

But there is more to the problem than that. Medicare and other welfare programs mean the existing population will ask for more health services.

INSURED HOSPITALIZATION

Medicare, starting July 1, will provide insured hospitalization for up to 18 million citizens 65 or over nationwide, about 700,000 of them in Michigan.

Other welfare programs are bringing health services within the reach of millions of poor people.

For middle-income families, prepaid insurance plans result in policy holders seeking a doctor's aid more often.

Federal figures indicate about 76 per cent of doctors are in private practice. The study committee noted that the other 24 per cent "make a vital contribution to the provision of health services," but added that as far as the community is concerned, local demand is unmet.

MORE EFFICIENT

The 1963 study committee said the doctor is becoming more efficient, making it "possible for him to deal with many health problems in a shorter time than has heretofore been possible."

Health workers other than doctors will play an important role in helping doctors become more effective, it added.

Michigan's needs vary from locality to locality.

Records of the State Board of Registration in Medicine in March showed 67 of Michigan's 83 counties with fewer than one medical doctor for every 1,000 persons.

Michigan Health Council figures show the Upper Peninsula has one M.D. for every 1,345 persons, while the populous southeastern region of the state has one for every 807.

8,307 DOCTORS

Of 8,307 M.D.s registered in Michigan in 166, 5,216 were in four counties — Wayne, Oakland, Washtenaw and Kent.

Michigan also had 1,838 osteopaths — more than any other state, according to 1964 figures of the American Osteopathic Association.

PIN-WORMS
1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small, easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults.

Dissent Gives I-696 Hard Way to Go

Ten southern communities in Oakland County seem bent on proving that you CAN have your progressive cake and eat it too.

The controversial portion of pastry is a segment of the alternate route for the proposed 17-mile east-west freeway across the lower stretch of Oakland and Macomb counties, termed by able State Highway Department Director HOWARD HILL the most badly needed addition to Michigan's superb pattern of highways.

Five affected cities initially blocked the $138-million facility, designated I-696, several months ago, after the highway department had spent $1 million and much time-consuming effort determining the over-all feasibility of the route — a route approved by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

At issue now is modification, aimed at dispelling original opposition, of the route from Eleven-Mile to Ten-Mile. Apparently this has but increased municipal opposition, with the impasse now reaching to the governor's office.

True to human nature in the aggregate, each community is avid for the development of the highway — so long as it is in no degree inconvenienced or disrupted. Disregarded is the age-old dictum that progress has inevitably been accompanied by necessary adjustment by the few for the benefit of the many.

Ironically, it is the very fact that so many thousands of people and so many small cities are affected that make the traffic artery so essential.

Obviously, there would be no disposition to construct a freeway across the relatively unpopulated land of, say, the Upper Peninsula.

But time is running out on the Oakland-Macomb project. September is the deadline for qualifying the route under the Federal highway act whereby the government would pay 90 per cent of its cost. If quick and decisive action is not soon taken, the State will be stuck for the entire cost of I-696, when and if it is ever constructed.

Out of the many negative exchanges emanating from the sucession of community meetings on the highway route, this positive comment by the mayor of Royal Oak shines forth: "When a facility affects as many people and communities as this one does, consideration should be given to its over-all importance as opposed to local objections."

To which we add a fervent Amen.

The Boy Grew Older

Voice of the People:

Readers Present Views on Safety of Automobiles

Mr. Sutt's letter "Auto Safety Committee Is Waste of Our Money" was very informative. Apparently this gentleman is in the designing and engineering field and has a great deal of knowledge on this subject. However, as a citizen I feel this committee is focusing interest on a particular problem that is very close to all of us—"automotive safety," or how we can make our cars more safe to protect our loved ones.

Every day our families travel to work or on vacation. Are we sending them in a means of transportation that will return them home safely? If there is any way possible to keep the doors closed upon impact of collision and keep the occupants from being thrown into the street, causing death or injury, I wholeheartedly support it. If there is some way to make a safer steering wheel or dashboard, rather than have death or injury to facial or chest area as a result of unsafe structure, this I also support.

Mr. Sutt compares automobiles and space capsules. They are completely opposites. In one field we are experimenting with a new and fascinating means of exploration with men who are in a certain age bracket and have knowledge and many hours of instruction on the operation of the capsule. They realize the risk involved and the possible conclusion of the experiment when they get into the capsule. With automobiles, we have thousands of drivers of all ages, depending upon established and reliable firms to provide safety in the automobile.

I believe the people realize how important it is to have a corporation like General Motors in this area to provide employment and security for our families. We do not want to interfere with their operation and place undue hardships on this corporation. However, I'm sure that everyone is interested in a solution to the tragic traffic accidents.

I agree on some of the points he discusses in regards to our foreign problems and useless spending. Auto safety is so important to all of us that we should stay on this topic, and if there is any way to provide more safety without interfering with the auto makers, let's do it. Only in a country so wonderful as ours, where there is freedom of the press and speech, do we have an opportunity to express our beliefs on any given subject.

FRED A. STORMER
WATERFORD TOWNSHIP

Regarding Senator Ribicoff's committee on auto safety, the point is to put the blame where it belongs — on the drivers, not the auto makers. In the case of a person making an improper left turn and causing a serious accident, he would put the blame on the car. A thorough investigation of every accident will show better than 90 per cent are due to careless drivers. Better law enforcement and stiffer penalties would reduce the high accident rate which he claims is due to faulty cars. Senator Ribicoff, who has brainwashed you?

CONCERNED

A letter suggests getting rid of old (junk) cars and we will be free from accidents. How many old cars have you seen smashed up? It's always the brand new ones that you see wrecked beyond fixing. If it weren't for old cars, a lot of us couldn't own one. Any car, old or new, is as safe as the person driving it. If he drinks or is reckless or immature in action, he will cause accidents with a new car as well as an old car.

DRIVER OF OLD CAR

Is there a place a 22-year-old boy can take his 15-year-old girlfriend dancing? It's always, "Sorry, she's too young" or "He's too old."

15-YEAR-OLD

REPLY

What's wrong with your school dances? Northern High requires students to register names of guests, but there's no age limit. That's about the size of it until you're older or find a younger beau, because public dance halls that sell liquor are illegal for anyone under 17. City Recreation dances are limited to those of school age (as are most dances sponsored for teens), and adult programs usually have a minimum age limit.

State Legislature Would Slug Drinking Drivers

Since statistics show that 50 per cent of drivers responsible for highway accidents have been drinking, action by the State Legislature in beefing up the penalties for drinking drivers is a step in the right direction.

The bill, originally aimed at juvenile drinking and driving, was amended in many particulars by both House and Senate.

But the proposed legislation regrettably stops short of an "implied consent" provision whereby every holder of a driver's license automatically agrees to a physical test if suspected of intoxication, which under present laws he may refuse.

Without such scientific determination, proving legal intoxication is often extremely difficult and the "impaired driving" condition on which the new law would be grounded offers little improvement.

We commend the Legislature on the much-needed legislation to curb drivers whose drinking makes them a highway hazard but again stress the necessity for legal measure that makes acceptance of a driver's license implicit consent to a sobriety test.

Specter of Deficit Threatens U.S. Grain Surplus

Probably few of us ever thought we'd live to see the day, but according to official word, U. S. stockpiles of grain are fast dropping to "below the reasonable level of security."

RICHARD W. REUTER, special assistant to Secretary of State DEAN RUSK, warns that reserves in this country and Canada are getting so low that a single year of drought could result in widespread starvation throughout the world.

His word to developing countries: Place more emphasis on increasing food production and rely less on America's far from limitless bounty.

Similar cultivation of self-reliance, incidentally, could well be extended to other economic areas of dependent nations.

David Lawrence Says:

Rights Acts Ignore Basic Tenet

WASHINGTON — For many centuries, the rule of law has been that an accused person is innocent until proved guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

LAWRENCE

This principle has been almost universally accepted in democracies as a symbol of freedom and as the essence of individual rights.

But the American people today are experiencing some of the tragic effects caused by a deliberate disregard of that same concept in a law passed by Congress and signed by the President of the United States in August 1964.

This statute provides that the states, counties and cities of America may be found guilty by suspicion and the citizens thereof — even though innocent of any wrongdoing themselves — may be punished by being deprived of the benefits of federal funds such as are furnished to other localities "under any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance."

There may be individual officers or supervisors who are guilty of racial discrimination, for instance, in the assignment of pupils to public schools. Instead, however, of bringing them to court and establishing their guilt or innocence, the federal government now is to impose punishment on an entire community.

It's the "law of the land" that no official or any other person acting under the color of law can refuse admission to a pupil by reason of race or religion, and there are proper steps to be taken to enforce this by court action and to punish anybody who transgresses.

But there is no sanction anywhere in the field of jurisprudence for penalizing a community in which the vast majority of persons are themselves innocent of any wrongdoing.

The doctrine of "government by suspicion" is carried even further in the Voting Rights Act passed by Congress and signed by the President on Aug. 6, 1965.

By this law, the rule is established that if in any state, city, county or district the number of persons of voting age who were registered or who voted in the November 1964 election was less than 50 per cent of the census figures, then the locality shall be punished by being deprived of its own right to register voters.

In fact, the law sets up the attorney general as a judge, although historically no prosecuting officer has been given such power.

Thus "government by suspicion" is established as a rule of law where local officers may have violated civil rights.

Hilton Hotel Reverses Recent Trend in France

PARIS—Reversing a recent American trend which proposes that France can go to hell if de Gaulle continues to act that way, Conrad Hilton has opened a hotel within a blown kiss of the Eiffel Tower.

CONSIDINE

He and his associates have walked in where angels, both mystical and financial, might fear to tread.

De Gaulle is in the process of kicking U. S. and other allied military forces out of here, wants to turn NATO into a TV center and make a supermarket out of SHAPE, once commanded by a superior who did him a good turn or two, Gen. Eisenhower.

But in marches Connie, bigger than life and five times as American as madam president of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

"I have waited almost half a century for this day," he told a luncheon meeting after the ribbon-cutting.

FIRST TIME

"The first time I saw Paris, I was a young man, a boy in uniform. It was April 1918, and I was an American soldier. I was billeted with three other officers at 11 Rue de Bassano and worked out of offices in the Hotel Elysee Palace on the Champs Elysees.

"Someday, I dreamed, perhaps I would have a hotel like that in New Mexico—or even Texas . . . I am back today to dedicate one of the great hotels of the world in the most beautiful city of the world."

A crowded ballroom of Frenchmen, all sur le cuff, gave Connie a fine ovation.

If de Gaulle was tuned in, he must surely have second thoughts about his brusque dismissal of all things American when Connie exclaimed, "I am amazed at the number of cities of America you men of France established.

"I could not count them all: Detroit, Niagara, Sault Ste. Marie, Dubuque, Joliet, Des Moines, Duluth, St. Joseph, St. Paul, Racine, La Crosse, St. Louis, Louisville.

"Should I mention the Louisiana Purchase, the biggest and best real estate deal in recorded human history?

"It was in 1803 when we bought from Napoleon 800,000 square miles of property, four times the size of France, for $15 million. It is a blow to me to realize that our hotel in which we are lunching today with its 500 rooms and a few acres, cost exactly that same amount."

Morse Stirs LBJ, and Vice Versa

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — If criticism stimulates, Sen. Wayne Morse must keep the President bubbling. The Oregon Democrat can't stand Lyndon B. Johnson's Viet Nam policy. Johnson seems to be doing Morse good, too.

MARLOW

The senator tells about a recent conservation with the President:

Johnson: "Wayne, I've never seen you look so healthy. What's your secret?"

Morse: "Mr. President, you're the secret. Your foreign policy so agitates my adrenal glands that they wash out my blood stream two or three times a day. There's nothing better than that for your health."

Morse has said tougher things to and about Johnson but they get along. And politician Johnson never lets the criticism get in the way of his using Morse when he thinks Morse can help him.

Morse was rough on President John F. Kennedy, too, probably never rougher than in the 1960 presidential primaries when he called Kennedy a "phraseological liberal who doesn't vote the way he talks" and suggested his voting record was so nonliberal he should have been in the opposition party.

Kennedy, like Johnson, rolled with the punches, and was even good-natured about them. In his book about Kennedy's presidency, "A Thousand Days," Arthur Schlesinger Jr., describes Kennedy's reaction in the primary days:

HAS TWO FRONTS

"Half the time Wayne claps me on the shoulder and congratulates me; the other half he denounces me as a traitor to liberalism and an enemy of the working class."

In 1964 Johnson called on Morse to help settle a longshoremen's dispute, in 1965 to help avert a steel strike, in 1965 to seek ideas to use when he addressed the United Nations.

Nevertheless, Morse bangs away and only recently said Johnson had "out-Goldwatered" Barry Goldwater on Viet Nam. And last week Johnson called on Morse to help avert an airline strike.

NOT THE SAME THING

Why isn't there the same kind of relationship between Johnson and Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee and also a constant critic of the President's foreign policy?

The Johnson-Fulbright relationship seems frigid.

One Ticket Each

The Knoxville News-Sentinel

A candidate in Alabama has come up with a unique way to finance his campaign.

As he goes about the state "politicking," he tows a motorboat behind his car. Anyone who contributes gets a raffle ticket on the boat — the drawing to be held after the election.

Maybe the best thing is to carry the idea just a little further and raffle off the job itself. Considering some of the lemons we've helped put in office by our vote, we couldn't have done worse if we had just "drawn straws."

Federal Trough

The Hillsdale Daily News

Michigan was one of 18 states that last year paid more in federal taxes to finance federal aid programs than they received in grants from those programs, according to Tax Foundation, Inc., of New York.

The research organization estimated that Michigan paid $1.36 to finance aid programs for every $1 it obtained in grants in 1965. This ratio applies only to grant-in-aid programs. It does not include other government spending in any particular state.

Of the $10.6 billion paid in 1965 . . . aid financed from federal government funds and from the regular budget . . . Michigan obtained $354.6 millions. But Michigan paid an estimated $481.3 million in taxes to finance the aid programs.

The total of federal grants to states and localities has more than tripled in the 10-year period. The federal budget for fiscal 1967 estimated spending for aid at $14.6 billion. In fiscal 1957, it was $4.1 billion.

The cost to Michigan does not include any "matching" amount the state must put up to get the federal grant, nor does it include any administrative funds.

The 32 states that got back more in grant money than they paid to finance the programs were headed by Alaska which paid 15 cents in taxes for each $1 of federal aid the state received.

Justice Dept. 'Model' Aims at Dixie School Integration

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A uniform school desegregation plan has been proposed by the Justice Department, which wants it adopted as a model for federal courts in the South.

The proposal was submitted Tuesday night by Asst. Atty. Gen. John P. Doar to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, the Deep South's highest federal tribunal and the last stop for Southern civil rights litigation before it reaches the U.S. Supreme Court.

The desegregation plan written by Doar — the department's top man on racial matters — generally follows the new and tougher guidelines which the U.S. Office of Education has set as a criteria for school districts to receive federal aid.

It calls for total desegregation of all grades by the fall of 1967 under the "freedom of choice" plan.

CLAIM 'FOUL'

Many school boards in the South which voluntarily desegregated have been claiming foul over the new Office of Education rules for compliance with the Civil Rights Act.

The boards say that even though they agreed to lift racial barriers, the regulations make it tougher for them than for other boards which were forced by court order to desegregate.

The new Justice Department move was viewed by some school officials as an attempt to take the pressure off the Office of Education, an agency of the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

Doar said a standard plan was necessary since 99 plans approved by U.S. District Courts in the past 10 years fall below requirements of the Civil Rights Act.

7 DISTRICTS

Specifically, Doar wants the Court of Appeals to apply his order to seven school districts in Alabama and Louisiana where desegregation plans are before the court.

Then, Doar says, the court should tell all U.S. District Courts within its jurisdiction — Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas — to use the order as a guide to future cases.

Although the Supreme Court's historic school desegregation ruling came more than 14 years ago, fewer than one per cent of the Negro pupils in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana attended classes with whites, the Southern Education Reporting Service said early this year.

'State Negro Discontent Is Growing'

LANSING (AP) — A Wayne State University sociology professor said Tuesday Negro discontent over racial discrimination in Michigan is growing, even as problems are being settled.

The observation was made by Dr. Alvin Rose at a conference sponsored by the State Civil Rights Commission on "the unfinished business in civil rights in Michigan."

"We in Michigan must understand that the impatience and bitterness and anger of Michigan Negroes will increase, the closer they come to true equality," Rose told some 200 community leaders from around the state.

Such a reaction, Rose said, is not a quirk of Negro character but a characteristic of human nature.

REVOLUTIONS

"Revolutions stem from hope, not from despair—from dynamic progress, not from the sterility of stalemate," he declared. "It is usually the case that the nearer to triumph a revolution develops, the tougher its participants usually become."

In the coming few years, Rose added, the American race problem will be found not in the South but in the North.

Widespread mass discontent is developing within the Negro community over Detroit's school system where only token desegregation has been noted, he said, and where the quality of education in the Negro inner-city schools is believed to be inferior.

Rose said other causes of Negro discontent include discrimination in housing, employment and law enforcement.

it's smart to
have at least one
2-trouser suit in your summer

it's smarter still
when you can get fine
Dacron®-wool and Van Carr styling and pay
just $65

You probably wear your trousers more often than your suit coat when the weather gets really warm. That's when it's particularly advantageous to have an extra pair of suit trousers freshly pressed and ready to switch to. And if you're buying a two-trouser suit, we'd like to call your attention to a particularly good value. In fact — comparing it fabric for fabric, detail for detail, quality for quality with similarly priced suits — it's probably the best value you'll find. It's our own Van Carr — a suit made to our precise specifications. The fabric is the most popular of all summer fabrics: a lightweight, crisp, wrinkle-resistant blend of 55% Dacron® and 45% wool, in a subtly textured tropical weave. It's tailored — and very well indeed — in two- and three-button models with plain-front trousers. In fact, it's such a good looking, well-tailored suit you'd probably happily pay $65 for it even if it came with one pair of trousers. Take a look at it; try one on. And if it's exactly the summer suit you're looking for — just think of the extra pair of trousers as a pleasant plus.

50 Heart Attacks Fail to Stop Wife

(EDITOR'S NOTE — How many times have you heard someone say, in jest, "I died a thousand deaths." An Ypsilanti housewife could say she died 50 deaths and she wouldn't be joking. This story relates the tale of a woman who suffered 50 heart attacks over a three-day period and is back behind her stove.)

YPSILANTI (AP) — "I remember once hearing the doctor say I was dead," Mrs. Mark Wilson said as she paused in her light housekeeping tasks to tell how her heart recently stopped beating more than 50 times.

"But then someone else said, 'No, she's still breathing,' " and Mrs. Wilson, 56, kept on getting better until she was discharged from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in nearby Ann Arbor and allowed to return to her home here.

Mrs. Wilson, whose heart has a valve defect because of rheumatic fever suffered in her childhood, entered the hospital in February with what doctors described as mild symptoms of a heart disturbance.

Six days after her admission the slight, blue - eyed woman had her first cardiac arrest. During the next three days her arhythmic heart — caused by ventricular fibrillation—stopped beating more than 50 times. Each time resuscitation was necessary to revive her.

Mrs. Wilson grinned and said, "I guess the devil didn't want me, the Lord wouldn't take me, so my family has to put up with me."

TWO SONS

She has two sons, Mark of Ypsilanti and Edward of Anchorage, Alaska, and a daughter, Mrs. Kathy Conley of Ypsilanti. Her husband is a tuberculosis patient.

"They're a wonderful family," she said, "and someone was with me all the time I was in the hospital. My son from Anchorage even came down.

"I'm afraid I got a little nasty a few times while I was in the hospital. I guess when you die about 50 times, you might get a little nasty."

For cases such as Mrs. Wilson's, the hospital keeps a resuscitation team on call 24 hours.

'CRASH CART'

The team and its "crash cart," a vehicle that carries all types of emergency equipment such as a cardiac monitor that acts as an alarm system when the patient's heart beat grows irregular or stops, are summoned on a special "hot line" when aides observe a patient having difficulty.

The team consists of nurses, doctors, anesthetists and inhalation therapists.

Mrs. Wilson is a happy woman these days.

"Just think, just a few years ago had this happened, I would not even be here," she says. "I surely hope my experience will give hope and encouragement to other heart patients."

Shift Is Found in Earth's Crust

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — A tremendous, possibly cataclysmic, shift in the earth's crust — equivalent to moving Baltimore to New York when they were once side by side — has been discovered in the Pacific Ocean.

The historic "crack" is not just the motion of a few feet in the earth's crust, the usual picture of an earthquake, but nearly 200 miles wide.

Whether it resulted from an "incredible displacement that took place in a short time" or was caused by small shifts occuring during millions of years is not known.

The discovery was reported to the American Geophysical Union meeting here by George Peter of the Institute for Oceanography, part of the Environmental Science Services Administration

He found the hugh crack recently while studying information collected by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey ship, Pioneer, last summer from the watery area between the Hawaiian and Aleutian Islands.

"KEY PIECE'

Peter noted that the variations in the earth's magnetic field shown by the 1965 survey fitted neatly into a pattern that had been partly established by previous ocean soundings.

This was equivalent to finding "the key piece of a jigsaw puzzle when most of the pieces are missing," Dr. Harris B. Stewart Jr., director of the Institute for Oceanography, said.

The puzzle is how the earth's crust moves around, as well as when and why.

Junior Editors Quiz on GOLD

QUESTION: Where did gold come from? Why is it so precious?

ANSWER: Liquids and gases, bubbling up from the earth's interior, are believed to deposit gold in cracks and fissures.

It is a beautiful metal with a most attractive sheen and color.

It can be easily worked, resists chemicals, does not rust or tarnish. Yet there is something about gold which makes it desirable beyond its physical qualities.

In search of this something, men have dreamed of gold, have fought their way over deadly deserts and crossed bitter oceans and have given their lives to gain it.

This something is the general agreement among men that gold is the most precious substance, that it should stand as a standard of value by which other things are valued. Gold stands for that which is most precious.

Egyptian Pharoahs had their portraits made of it, to insure that the highest respect would be paid to them in the afterlife.

And one of the proudest moments in a young person's life is when he first slips on his gold class ring, gold because it symbolizes the precious quality of the knowledge he has worked so very hard to attain.

Study Made on Imaginary Illness Cases

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The old question of whether or not people can learn to make themselves sick may be close to an answer. And the answer is probably yes.

If some Yale University experiments with dogs, cats and rats are any indication of human response, then the way is clear to understanding why one person always seems to faint before a test and another gets sick to his stomach.

Until now scientists have doubted that such "involuntary" activities as heart beat, blood vessel constriction and glandular secretion could be controlled by learning.

They are, of course, influenced by intense emotions—fear, shock or sudden anger. But could someone unconsciously "learn" to constrict his blood vessels and bring on a faint spell simply to avoid something unpleasant?

Dr. Neal E. Miller, eminent psychologist and a 1964 winner of the National Medal of Science, reported to the National Academy of Sciences that such learning is possible in animals.

THEORY OPEN

Applying the research to humans, Dr. Miller said that the door is open to developing a theory for psychosomatic illness.

Though hypochondriacs have long been suspected of being somehow able to make themselves ill, no one had known how this could be done.

The first habitation sites of the Folsom Man to be discovered were recenty identified in New Mexico. This man who lived 10,000 years ago has been traced by the stone implements he used from New Mexico and Texas up into Canada and Alaska.

One-Fourth of Mankind

(9) The Great Society

by Don Oakley and John Lane

The Day of the Mandarin

I have conquered the empire on horseback, and on horseback I propose to hold it.— Liu Pang.

The man who won the Dragon Throne in 207 B.C. after the fall of the Ch'in, the dynasty that had united China, was an exfarmer and man of action who had little use for intellectual concerns.

But neither Liu Pang nor his successors found they could govern long without the support of the respected scholar class.

It was during the Han dynasty which, with one interruption, ruled China for the next 400 years, that the basic and enduring features of the Chinese way of government were established.

Centuries before, the philosophers had taught that all mankind ought to belong to the same nation, the same "Great Society." Now that the totalitarian Legalist school was deposed, Confucianism began to revive

Following the Confucian ideal that the most able men should govern, and early form of civil service examinations was begun. Those who passed were called mandarins and became officials in the state bureaucracy

OFFICIAL CULT

During the 53-year reign of the greatest of the Ham emperors, Wu Ti (140-87 B. C), Confucianism was proclaimed the official cult of the state.

Under Wu Ti, and after him, Chinese arms penetrated in all directons, from Korea to modern Viet Nam to deep into central Asia

On one occasion, in 36 B.C., Chinese soldiers are believed to have actually encountered Roman legionaries somewhere east of the Caspian Sea.

According to Ssu-ma Ch'ien, called the father of Chinese history, the early days of Han were prosperous. The granaries overflowed and the government had so much surplus cash that the strings tying it rotted.

The wars of Wu Ti, waged both for glory and to push back the barbarians who were ever ready to pounce on China, took care of this Wu Ti also extended the Great Wall and founded Central University at the capital, Ch'angan. Near the end of the dynasty, it boasted more than 30,000 students.

He decreed that prices were to be regulated by the state by buying grain and other staples when they were plentiful and cheap and selling them when prices began to rise. Salt and iron were made government monopolies.

The reign of Wu Ti saw the first of three famous attempts to apply socialistic principles to the building of the Great Society The next experiment came about a century after him.

Firms Asked to Hire Teens During Summer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary John T. Connor is asking the nation's employers to help provide more than 1 million summer jobs for teen-agers.

In a letter to more than 815,000 employers, Connor said yesterday that nearly 2 million youngsters will be looking for work. Last year employers helped find more than 1 million jobs and "that effort spelled the difference between success and failure for many of them," he said.

Polish University Is Eying Aid From U.S. for English Course

WROCLAW, Poland (AP) — A new Polish university built on the ruins of an old German university may get U.S. aid to start an English course.

American Ambassador John A. Gronouski raised the possibility of financial support during a recent visit with Prof. Alfred Jahn, rector of the Boleslaw Bierut University in Wroclaw, the former German city of Breslau.

Gronouski asked if it would be helpful to set up English instruction, using part of America's huge surplus of Polish currency accumulated from the sale of wheat to Poland from 1958 through 1964. The United States holds zlotys officially valued at more than half a billion dollars, spendable only in Poland.

Since becoming ambassador last November, Gromoski has been looking for worthwhile ways to use the money. Jahn, a noted geographer who visited the United States in 1960 and 1964, was interested.

8,000 STUDENTS

The 8,000-student university is named for Poland's Stalin-era Communist party chief, the late Boleslaw Bierut, but most Poles call it Wroclaw University. It is strong in law, mathematics and Polish, German and Russian languages and literature.

The university occupies buildings rebuilt after World War II on ruins of the German Friedrich Wilhelm University, which was destroyed in the siege of Breslau in World War II.

Making his first visit to the regions transferred from Germany to Poland at the end of the war, Gronouski also visited Mayor Boleslaw Iwaszkiewicz and Provincial Gov. Bronislaw Ostapczuk.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Lang of Bloomfield Hills (center couple) will be host and hostess Friday evening at a dinner dance for members of the PEO Sisterhood at the Statler-Hilton Hotel, Detroit. Six hundred guests are expected for the main social event of the PEO state convention, scheduled Thursday through Saturday. The other couple in the picture are the Walter Andersons, also of Bloomfield Hills.

Diamonds Still Considered Girl's Best Friend

By JEANNE NELSON

While diamonds have long been the symbol of love, never underestimate their healing powers in times of romantic disillusionment. Either way, this precious stone can play an important role in a girl's life.

Diamonds and other gem stones have long been used as bargaining, borrowing and collateral agents throughout the world. Napoleon pawned the French Crown jewels time and again to build and equip his armies.

Norman Pattison, owner of the three area Connolly Jewelry stores, describes what happened in Cuba.

Wealthy Cubans, forseeing the eventual take-over of Castro, had transferred every bit of cash, real estate and other holdings into diamonds and gem stones.

These could easily be slipped out of the country and later used as common value bargaining units anywhere in Europe and the United States.

In a more romantic mood, Pattison talked about engagement and wedding rings young people are buying now.

White gold or platinum is the favorite metal with the engaged couples.

The solitare set high in prongs (similar to the old fashioned Tiffany) tops the list of present-day settings.

He mentions that young people in search of an engagement ring would do well to investigate the loose stone assortment of diamonds along with the ready-set ones. There are times when the first method of buying can be more profitable then the latter.

Of course the loose diamond must then go into a mounting but, even with that added cost, it is often less expensive.

Of course diamond sales are not limited (even in this area) to engagement rings. Pins, bracelets and necklaces get their share of attention. Most of these pieces are custom designed by the jeweler or purchaser and enhanced with one or more color gems such as rubies or emeralds.

With the popularity of the wide wedding band, we wondered aloud to the jeweler on the effect this has had on the engagement ring business. His answer was, "little at all."

It seems that many engagement rings are purchased to be worn on the right hand with the plain wide band on the left. Then too, a great many of the wide wedding bands contain a number of diamonds in the design.

We brought up the subject of diamond chips and without a moment's hesitation Pattison produced a leather pouch from which he poured what looked like a few hundred chips. But chips they weren't. Each was a perfectly cut and polished diamond less than the size of a pin head 40 facets to it.

Laughingly he explained, "there is practically no such thing as a chip."

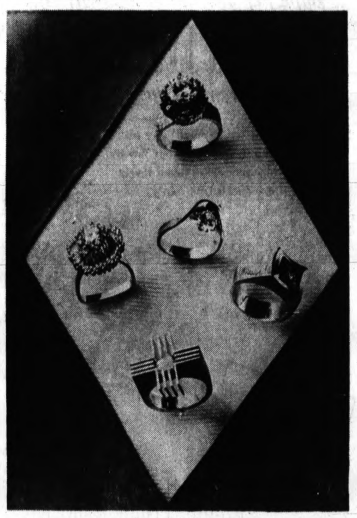
The cut or faceting of the stone is one of the most important elements in determining its worth.

The other elements in determining a diamond's value are color, clarity and carat weight.

Few crystal clear gems exist. Most are yellow in tone and as the yellow deepens, the less value the stone has.

Clarity refers to the degree to which a stone is free of interior or exterior blemish.

Weight is important, but remember, it is the color, clarity and cut that place the value on diamonds.



These diamond engagement rings won design prizes in competition held in London this month—April, the diamond month. On exhibition at Goldsmith's Hall, they are representative of contemporary British fashion for that all-important betrothal ring.

Omega Watches of New York and Bienne (Switzerland) created lace of diamond and pearls for the bracelet of this delicate watch.

PEO State Convention Attracts Local Women

Approximately 300 members of the PEO Sisterhood are expected to attend the 47th annual state convention in Detroit's Statler Hilton Hotel Thursday through Saturday.

Mrs. J. S. Busch of Williamsville, N. Y. corresponding secretary of Supreme chapter, will be guest of honor.

Dr. Ted McCarrel, president of Cottey College, Nevada, Mo. will address the general assembly on Friday afternoon.

Founded in 1884, the fully accredited junior college has been owned and supported by the PEO Sisterhood since 1927.

Highlighting the convention will be the past presidents' dinner on Thursday when 19 from the Michigan chapter will be honored. Musical entertainment will be provided by the Handbell Ringers of the First Methodist Church, Birmingham.

The Samuel J. Langs of Bloomfield Hills will be host and hostess at the Friday evening dinner dance for members and their husbands.

The speaker that evening will be C. Lane Breidenstein, general manager of the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Detroit. His talk will be "PEO a' Go-Go."

Mrs. Stanley M. Brandt is general chairman of the convention and hostess chapters are AK, AL, CD, and CC. Local members assisting are Mrs. Lang, Mrs. Walter Anderson and Mrs. Howard Raymond.

Teen Dates Questioned by Mother

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going steady and we have been arguing about two things: First, do you think 15 is too young to tie yourself to one person? Second, how many nights a week should she be allowed to see him?

We would both appreciate your answers. — Ruth.

Dear Ruth: Fifteen is definitely too young! The teen years are the time when young people should be meeting all sorts of people and broadening their experience.

Lots of different dates and a variety of entertainments are part of getting the experience they need before they choose someone they want to spend the rest of their lives with. Aside from that it's fun! But since she is going steady, I firmly believe that dates should be restricted to weekends and holidays.

If she doesn't go to school with him they can meet after school, before homework hours start, but at that age they need time to work and time without distractions.

PIN

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know on which side of a dress, or suit, a pin should be worn. Some say the left and others say the right. Is there any rule? — Susan.

Dear Susan: There is no rule. It may be worn on whichever side it looks best.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that we receive each week, we'll send a free copy of Emily Post's "Etiquette," revised by Elizabeth L. Post.

Volunteers to Dance in Hunt Club

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital believe that all work and no play makes Jill a dull girl.

As an antidote to working 16,000 hours in the hospital this year they are having another gala party Friday night.

The dinner dance at Bloomfield Open Hunt will be a repeat of last summer's shore dinner. The social hour begins at 7 p.m. Don Djerkiss will furnish the music.

Proceeds will go to the building fund of the hospital to help the auxiliary's pledge of $27,000.

Childhood Ideas Remain

Wife Is Living a Lie

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for nearly 25 years, have six children and have lived a "lie" all my married life. I detest sex! I am sure if I had had sex relations before matrimony, I never would have married. My husband is a very fine person — considerate and not demanding — I do love him, but submitting to sex has always been degrading and disgusting to me. I am sure my husband has no idea how I feel. Don't suggest psychiatry. I don't want to change.

ABBY

I am convinced that there must be other women like me, who were born with a nature that is repulsed by this kind of intimacy. Am I right?

"LIVING A LIE"

DEAR LIVNG: Yes, there are other women like you, but they were not "born" with their attitudes about sex. They were developed during their childhood.

Many women (and men) carry into marriage faulty ideas about sex that make it degrading and disgusting. Unfortunately you are such a victim. The physical side of marriage can be immensely rewarding and beautiful.

Psychotherapy might help you—but only if you wanted to be helped.

Give Care to Lizzie in the Spring Too

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

I was talking to a State Trooper the other day about how much sloppy driving costs the average American family.

Sloppy driving is what can put both you and your car into the financial junkyard in short order.

With the springtime mood upon us, MARY FEELEY and lots of car travel ahead, we ought to keep in mind that our cautious attitude toward hazardous winter driving shouldn't be shed like a winter coat. There are plenty of hazards involved in spring driving

As this veteran trooper pointed out: "Motorists think they can take a vacation from the care they gave to their cars and their driving during the rugged winter months. But a little road trouble can prove to be a big expense."

A "little road trouble," due to the go-go mood of a new car and balmy weather, can cost you a minimum of $6 to be towed off a throughway between the hours of 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. And night charges for a 14-mile tow are higher.

DON'T BE POKEY

Be aware, too, of the statistics proving that a lot of accidents on the road happen on sunny days — when you're lulled into a sense of way out there. Also, remember that you can skid on rain-swept blacktop just as you can on ice. The garageman says:

It's cheaper to have the clutch adjusted from time to time than having to replace it. This could be something like $3 as compared to $30-$40.

The cost of having a flat tire on the road, due to neglect of tire inspection can cost $4.50 minimum, to $6.50 maximum.

Then there's the hazard of pokey driving. If you daydream as you drive, you can get hit and hurt. Both are expensive. The guys behind you run into you because they thought you were going somewhere. Also—and this is a horrifying regulation to read on the books — a traffic ticket for pokey driving can cost you as much as a $50 fine.

This, of course, is rarely invoked. But nevertheless it's still within the province of the law to smack you with it.

WHERE'S THAT KEY?

Another thing that can make or break that budget item called Car Operation is: Who's responsible for the family car? Who's responsible for keeping the gas tank full so you don't run out of gas 15 miles from a gas station? Who keeps the extra key and where?

If you think that's an idle question, I know a responsible citizen who had to call the village garage — to get his own car out of his own garage with that third key the garageman always kept.

Now you parents know, of course, that I'm really talking to your teen-age drivers. You sane adults would never dream of committing the sloppy driving faults I've barely touched on here. So there's no need to mention that excessive speed on the highway is pure idiocy.

You don't speed, you do have seat belts and fasten them, you do keep your car maintenance up to the mark. Any by doing these things, you influence your children by your example. I hope, I hope.

Guild Hears of Workshop

Reports of the recent piano workshop at Oakland University were given to the Pontiac Music Guild at Tuesday's meeting by Amy Hogle.

The Rochester home of Mrs. Clarence Shepard was opened for this meeting.

Other reports were given by Mrs. Lester Snell and Mrs. Don Derragon on the Michigan Music Teachers' Association spring convention held recently in Lansing.

The Guild will present a student recital in the First Congregational Church on May 22.

PTAs

Riverside School, 8 p.m., Charles Welsh, principal on "Reporting to Parents" in round table seating meeting. Election of officers. Report on school fair June 4 from 2 to 7 p.m. by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Petack, fair chairmen.

Pretty-Up Talk

A cosmetic demonstration is planned when the TOPS Club meets at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Members will gather in the Unity Church at West Huron Street and Genesee Avenue. Interested persons will be welcome.

Plan Gifts for Shower

If you're organizing a kitchen shower, before they shop for cookware, get the guests together for a shopping plan. If everyone cooperates on a matched set of cookware, or at least buys the same kind, the bride will be grateful.

Different kinds of cookware have markedly different heat distribution characteristics, beginning with aluminum which has the best heat conductivity of any metal commonly used for cookware. If the bride knows her biggest saucepot will perform the same as her smallest one, her cooking time and temperature guesswork will be at a minimum.

WCTU Institute

The 19th District, Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold its spring institute Thursday at 9:30 a.m. in the Christian Temple on Auburn Road. A cooperative dinner will follow at noon.

Brief Engagement

SYDNEY (AP) — An advertisement was published here for an engagement ring, "lost between Divorce Courts and Imperial Arcade."

Shirley Mae Rogan, daughter of the Harry F. Rogans, Alsup Street, and Leo Jesse Baker, South Telegraph Road, son of the E. D. Bakers, Leachville, Ark., were wed recently in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Her gown was Alencon lace and net over white satin. Attendants were Carol Rogan, Janice Palmer, Gloria Isaacson and Cherie Rogan; Lonnie Baker, Melvin Phytila, Richard Palmer and Richard Rogan. After a reception in Wayne Ford Civic League Hall, Wayne, the couple left for a honeymoon in Tennessee.

The Robert G. Beckmans (Sandra Sue Forbes) left for a Niagara honeymoon after recent vows in Kingdom Hall, Lake Orion and a reception in Gingellville Community Club. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Forbes, South Conklin Road, and the Robert N. Beckmans, East Clarkston Road. Their attendants were Mrs. Earl Bauroth; James Beckman, Gordon Bocksch, Roger John and Roger Reich. An illusion veil complemented the bride's gown of white satin.

Bride-Elect Is Honored With Parties

Carol Kay Trilck of Conklin, fiancee of Donald Kay Banks, was honored at a Sunday buffet and trousseau shower in the South Cass Lake Road home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Banks. Their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Kenneth Banks was hostess.

Coming from Conklin were Mrs. Elmer Trick and daughter Faye, mother and sister of the May 21 bride-elect.

The Southwest Food Service of Ferris State College, where Mr. Banks is a student, gave a recent shower for his fiancee in the Blue Flame Room, Big Rapids.

His mother and sister-in-law, Mrs. Triick and Faye, along with Mrs. Ellen Eubanks of Conklin attended the affair.

Club Given Its Charter

It was announced at Monday's meeting that members of the Waterford Child Study Club II had received their charter at the spring planning conference held this month in Port Huron.

Mrs. Raymond Wilhelm of Irwindale Court was hostess for the meeting with cohostess, Mrs. Charles Murphy.

Mrs. William Crisp Jr. and Mrs. Gordon Keller presented a program on "A Study on Senior Citizens."

Mrs. Donald Plummer was a guest.

Amvets Auxiliary Holds an Evening Party

The second annual "Re-Get Acquainted Party" of Bemis-Olsen Amvets Auxiliary, Post 113, was Tuesday evening in the group's post home.

Honor guests were Mrs. Jack Olsen and Mrs. Dennis Hetchler, the only mother-daughter members of the auxiliary.

Program for the evening "Madame President — This is Your Life" featured skits honoring past auxiliary president.

Mrs. Earl Holling, toastmistress, introduced guests, including Mrs. Harold Willis, state department president of Amvets Auxiliary; Mrs. Ada Bemis, mother namesake of the local post; Mrs. James Houck, district three president, Amvets Auxiliary; and Mrs. Edwin Proctor, president of Amvets Auxiliary 113.

Come Up North

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott of Charleston, S. C. and their children, Robert Jr., Cheryl and Randolph, are visiting their parents, Mrs. James O. Fink of Cornell Avenue and the Robert Bradishes of Canterbury Drive. Scott is newly discharged from the Navy.

Polly's Pointers

She Clips Coupons

DEAR POLLY—Can you or a reader tell me how to remove chewing gum from inlaid linoleum?—MRS. R. F.

DEAR POLLY — I am an avid coupon user. From my past clipping of various money savers from the newspaper I now can tell which companies make it a policy to grant refunds on their items.

Since I am a loyal user of these products throughout the year, I automatically remove the labels from empty containers. I save these labels in a box. When an offer comes up I check through those saved and nearly always have a label.

I immediately send in my entry and coupon. If a label is not used in about six months I discard it. When any are mailed in I have the quarter, or whatever the amount is, mailed to one of my little daughters who are delighted to receive mail and some change for their banks — MRS. J. J. H.

DEAR POLLY — Reading about the bride who had to spend so much on the small things needed to start housekeeping reminded me of something I have been doing for years.

My friends' sons and daughters are now getting married so I try to think of something to give them that is different from the usual dishes, blankets, and so on. I went through my kitchen and listed the things I COULD NOT do without, such as measuring spoons, bowl scraper, peeler, egg whisk and so on.

This gives me a diversified list of helpers from which to choose gifts. In addition, there is always a small rolling pin for the bridegroom, with his name attached to the box. —M. .D .B.

Anyone submitting a Polly's Problem, a solution to a problem or a favorite homemaking idea will receive a dollar if Polly uses the item in Polly's Pointers.

MOTOWN SOUND — Youthful audiences find that the Motown sound, best exemplified by the Supremes (above), has what is known in the trade as "soul." Its beauty lies in the fact that it captures a bit of the traditional Negro blues. All of the Supremes—(from left) Florence Ballard, Diana Ross and Mary Wilson—began singing in their church choir.

Key to Today's Music—2

Political Overtones Mark New Sound

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second in a four-part "definitive guide" through the world of teen-age popular music.)

By PHILIP WERDELL

NEW YORK (NEA) — A few months ago a violent political debate came to a head when the prophet of doom met the proclaimer of the new world.

The confrontation was not on a university debating platform, a television news special or even the Senate floor.

The audience was all of teen-age America and the forum was every major pop music station in the nation.

Day after day, time after time, the airways carried the battle between "The Eve of Destruction" and "The Dawn of Redemption."

For decades, the cocktail party rule, "Don't talk about personal income, religion or politics," had been rigidly supported by the mass media chatter makers. But suddenly controversy was legitimate, and pop music will never again be the same.

SUGAR-COATED

The new themes of social and political criticism make the Kingston Trio and Peter, Paul and Mary seem ridiculously sugar-coated.

Now the liberal chants that he's liberal but he "wouldn't let his daughter marry Barry Goldwater."

The conservative sings back that "I spy for the FBI" ("Just because you have your shade down low, I know when you're up, I know when you're down, I know when you're in").

Armchair analysis of pop music used to look for the sexual connotation. Now they must also hunt for the political meanings.

NOT WITHOUT CAUSE

The trend is not without cause.

This has been a year in which a new student dance fad goes almost unnoticed (except by the adult discotheque crowd).

On the other hand, thousands of students are marching in peace demonstrations, collecting blood for the soldiers in Viet Nam and circulating petition after petition for and against President Johnson's policy.

The most conservative student organization, Young Americans for Freedom, has grown from 5,000 to 25,000 members in three years, and a substantial proportion of the new chapters are being organized in high schools.

NO WONDER

Political activity on the left has also begun to convert high school students.

No wonder pop music is turning political.

Bob Dylan remains the leader of political pop. For several years, Dylan songs and sounds attracted devoted cults on college campuses.

Then, without warning, he exchanged his blues guitar and harmonica for an electronic amplifier and rock 'n' roll band.

MOURNED DEATH

Old fans mourned the death of the "authentic" Dylan, but millions of new listeners praised the birth of "folk rock."

The new pop sound might better be called Dylan rock, for there is little resemblance to the popular folk music of the late '50s.

The Kingston Trio's ballad of "Tom Dooley" is in the 19th century compared to Dylan's "Subterranean Homesick Blues."

Belafonte sang of his love for little "Mary Ann" (who was "down by the seashore sifting sand"), but Dylan preaches "Love Minus Zero, No Limit."

SHOOTS POOL

While the Kingston Trio rode the "MTA" and looked with selfpity at its "Scotch and Soda," Dylan shoots pool with some of the folks and wonders if he can find a picket sign to join a demonstration.

Even more revolutionary than Dylan and his dozen or so come-lately imitators is a new trend of behavior in the pop music industry itself.

Language expert S. I. Hayakawa wrote, "The words of popular songs are largely (but not altogether) the product of white song writers for predominantly white audiences."

Every big city had a Negro radio station with a Negro audience — and several white stations with white audiences. All this ended with the Motown sound (Motor Town, for Detroit).

BEHIND SOUND

The man behind the Motown sound is Gordy Parks, a $35-a-week garage mechanic living in a Negro area of Detroit. Then he discovered the Supremes and he was on his way.

The beauty of the Motown sound is that it begins to capture a bit of the traditional Negro blues which pop music sterilized when it first diluted jazz for the mass audience.

It is not the original blues of Southern cotton fields, nor even authentic jazz blues, but there is an element of the spirituals of the Negro church services.

HAS 'SOUL'

Appropriately, the youthful audiences find that the Motown sound has "soul."

The Supremes began singing in their church choir, and their all - time best seller, "Stop in the Name of Love," still has the exciting flavor of an easy musical exchange between a minister and his congregation.

It is probably more than coincidence that Gordy Parks and the Motown sound arrive just after the passage of the 1965 Civil Rights Act.

There are still Negro radio stations. There are still what must be called white radio stations.

The Motown sound is a sometimes unhappy blend of the two, and an integrated pop musical group is still a rarity.

Teachers Picket in Highland Park

HIGHLAND PARK (AP)—More than 150 teachers, vowing to strike if contract agreement is not reached by Thursday, picketed the Highland Park Board of Education offices Tuesday night.

But the teachers, members of Highland Park Federation of Teachers Local 684, missed a scheduled session of the school board.

The board met at an undisclosed location after announcing it would close its meeting to the public while it discussed teachers' contract demands.

'Arrest That Car and Put It Behind Bars'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Why not put automobiles in jail?

A former national president of the Trial Lawyers Association suggested doing that in a safety talk Tuesday night.

William Colson told the fifth annual Executive Safety Conference that automobiles of traffic violators ought to be impounded, and the operator charged storage costs.

"If the automobile has become the great American status symbol let's take it away from him when he misuses it," Colson said. "We ought to put the automobile in jail."

Man Arrested in Girl's Attack

Ex-Mental Patient; Victim, 14, Critical

MUSKEGON (AP) — Muskegon County authorities said they would charge a 23-year-old Norton Township man today with assault with intent to commit murder in the beating of a 14-year-old girl who was found nude and unconscious.

Sheriff Marion J. Calkins said Thomas Sutherland, factory worker and former mental patient, would be charged in a warrant authorized Tuesday night by Muskegon County Prosecutor Paul Ladis.

Sutherland, who is married, lives about a mile from the girl's home in neighboring Fruitport Township. Sheriff's men arrested Sutherland Tuesday night.

The girl, who was in critical condition at Hackley Hospital, was found in a woods near her home Monday night. She had suffered a fractured skull, various head injuries, a cut neck and cuts and scratches on her body.

TREE BRANCH

Her clothing was found a half mile from the wooded area where the girl was located. A blood-stained tree branch 15 inches long was lying near the girl.

Calkins said Sutherland was hospitalized for a time this year at Traverse City State Hospital and has been under care of a psychiatrist.

Officers said the girl apparently was picked up while walking home from a girlfriend's house. She was found in woods about three miles southeast of her home, some 10 miles southeast of Muskegon.

Twenty - five sheriff's men searched for her assailant, Calkins said.

Cargo Airlift to Viet Called 'a Godsend'

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 8,000 tons of spare parts and other vital military cargo has been flown to South Viet Nam so far under the Pentagon's "Red Ball Express" system for meeting urgent needs with maximum speed.

Military transportation officials, disclosing this yesterday, said the system has proved to be a "godsend" since it was put into effect late last year on orders from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Little public attention has been given to the system, which draws its name from the fabled emergency supply shuttle used as U.S. armies raced across France in World War II.

Then, the Red Ball Express was a stream of trucks which raced from supply ports to the advancing columns.

AN AIRLIFT

The Viet Nam version of the Red Ball Express is an airlift.

McNamara ordered the system into being late last November when he was in Viet Nam and the supply bottleneck was at its worst. The first plane carrying "Red Ball" cargo arrived in Viet Nam Dec. 8.

Under the system, space for priority cargo is set aside on all transport flights leaving Travis Air Force Base in California for Viet Nam.

This space is at the specific disposal of Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, who messages his urgent requests.

N-Arms Talk Set by Defense Leaders

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German Defense Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel is flying to London to talk with U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and three other leaders of the Atlantic alliance Thursday and Friday about nuclear weapons, the Defense Ministry announced today.

The defense ministers of Britain, Italy and Turkey also will take part in the talks, the ministry said. A spokesman said they would concern the use of tactical nuclear weapons now under command of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Legislators to Finish Work on Social Welfare Program

By AL SANDNER
Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP) — The House was to complete work today on a social welfare program that backers say will raise every Michigan resident to a guaranteed minimum daily food budget of 89 cents.

Opponents said the broad changes in the program and the Legislature's apparent unwillingness to raise new taxes will contribute to a $250 million state debt by June, 1968.

Tuesday the House passed Medicare implementation bills with an estimated price tag of $15 million for the coming fiscal year.

Due for action today is the social welfare bill, including the Medicare costs and estimated at $134 million, $20 million more than that recommended in Gov. George Romney's $944.9 million budget and some $31 million more than is spent this year.

'VOTING NO'

Minority leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, said he was "voting 'no' on this Medicare bill as a protest.

"We now have pending before the Legislature appropriations bills that would plunge the state into a $50 million deficit by the end of the next fiscal year (June, 1967), and a quarter of a billion dollars into debt by June of 1968, if these programs continue and no new taxes are raised."

The social welfare bill — a one-third increase over the current year's program — removes ceilings from aid programs to the blind, disabled and dependent children, at an estimated cost of $12 million.

The removal is accomplished by giving the State Social Services Department enough money to see that all aid recipients receive what the U. S. Department of Agriculture calls "minimum basic needs."

Present limits of $90 to $240 (depending on number of children) per month usually mean "that when other costs are fixed or rise, the only give in the budget is in the category of groceries," said Rep. William Ryan, D-Detroit, chairman of the Ways and Means Social Welfare Subcommittee and chief draftsman of the social welfare bills.

'SHORT-CHANGING'

"It means they usually fall below the 89 cents a day the Agriculture Department considers basic to their minimum needs," he added. "And it means we've been short-changing these people to the tune of $12 million a year."

Most of the $31 million the state will spend in new or expanded programs will be matched by equal amounts of federal money, Ryan added.

Seven Supervisors Get New Role

All seven members of the former salaries committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday were appointed to the newly established personnel policies committee of the board.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the board of supervisors, appointed the committee members with approval of the board.

He designated Curtis H. Hall, supervisor from Farmington Township, as chairman of the committee. Hall had been chairman of the salaries committee.

Replacement of the salaries committee by a personnel policies committee with broader duties was specified in the merit system proposal adopted earlier this month by the board of supervisors.

The personnel policies committee will administer the county merit system, or civil service program.

COMMITTEE DUTIES

Its duties will include advising the County Board of Auditors on classification and reclassification of employes, preparing and enforcing regulations in connection with the merit system and recommending employe fringe benefit program provisions to the board of supervisors.

Serving on the committee with Hall are Marvin M. Alward, supervisor from Pontiac; Clarence A. Durbin, supervisor from Southfield; and Wallace B. Hudson, supervisor from Troy.

Others are Virgil C. Knowles, supervisor from Oak Park; A. Taylor Menzies, supervisor from Clawson; and William L. Mainland, supervisor from Milford Township.

In other appointments, Hamlin named Mainland chairman of the cooperative extension service committee to replace Louis A. Demute who resigned from the board.

Hadley J. Bachert, supervisor from Novi Township, was named chairman of the markets committee, replacing Mainland who will remain a committee member.

Willis M. Brewer, supervisor from Sylvan Lake, and Gordon R. Bryant, supervisor from Huntington Woods, were named to fill vacancies on the intercounty committee.

Brewer replaces Demute and Bryant succeeds Samuel L. Travis of Huntington Woods who was not reappointed to the board by his municipality.

County Board Approves Final Health Center Plans

Final plans of the proposed $971,000 South Oakland Health Center yesterday were approved by the County Board of Supervisors.

A federal grant for one third of the total cost is pending. The county has budgeted funds for the balance.

In other business yesterday, the supervisors granted a five-year extension on the lease of the county-owned Allen Airport to Wilfred E. McGran on the same terms as specified in a previous two-year lease extension.

In recommending the lease extension to the full board, the board's aviation committee stated that the county had no immediate plans for development of the property in the next five years.

Also, yesterday, the board authorized sale by the county of a 1.8 acre parcel of land in Springfield Township which is no longer needed for welfare purposes.

PROCEEDS OF SALE

The land was released for disposition by the welfare committee of the board of supervisors.

College Institute Is On

DETROIT (AP) — Some 25 community college presidents and administrators from the Midwest are attending the 6th annual Community College Presidents Institute at Wayne State University this week.

Kidnaped Teen's Parents Are Still 'Very Hopeful'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Daniel Goldman's parents still do not despair of getting their 18-year-old son back alive, although it has been nearly a month since they started a telephone vigil to await a kidnaper's call.

Contractor Aaron Goldman reported no developments but said Tuesday night "we are still very hopeful."

Mr. and Mrs. Goldman have offered by radio and other media to turn over $25,000 in exchange for Daniel's safe return. That is the amount which Goldman said a husky, armed intruder demanded before tying up the parents and forcing Daniel to leave their surfside home early March 28.

Police have withdrawn and given Goldman a free hand to ransom his son if a kidnaper makes contact.

OU Will Host College Kiwanians

The Michigan District of Circle K, the Kiwanis organization for college men, will hold its 11th annual convention Friday through Sunday at Oakland University.

An OU student, R. James Girardot of 402 Second, Rochester, is the organization's district governor.

Some 150 members from 16 Michigan college campuses are expected to attend the three-day meeting.

Assisting the Circle K Club of Oakland University as hosts will be members of the Rochester Kiwanis Club.

Rev. Lloyd D. Buss, pastor of Abiding Presence Lutheran Church in Avon Township, will deliver the keynote address Saturday.

Rev. Buss was a member of the first Circle K Club, chartered at Carthage College in 1947.

PLAN CIRCLE K CONFAB—Ready to welcome the some 150 college men who will attend the 11th annual convention of the Michigan District of Circle K this weekend are three of the participants planning the event at Oakland University. They are (from left) R. James Girardot of Rochester, district governor; Rev. Lloyd D. Buss, an Avon Township minister who will deliver the keynote address; and Carl Queek, president of the Rochester Kiwanis Club.

29 R20-Area Lots Sold

The sale of 29 scattered lots in the city's R20 urban renewal area was approved last night by the City Commission.

The sale was to the Detroit Construction Co. for $750 per lot or a total of $21,750.

One lot was deleted from the original 30-lot package so that the parcel could be used for expected later development.

Planning and Urban Renewal Director James L. Bates said homes are to be constructed on the vacant lots in the $14,000 to $18,000 price range.

The lots are to be sold on "staged take-down" basis with four lots being sold immediately, the balance acquired according to terms of the agreement with the construction firm.

MODEL HOMES

He said the initial four lots would be at Judson and Center. Model homes are to be erected there.

The sale of the 29 lots completes the sale of R20 lots zoned to accommodate all single family dwelling units, according to Bates.

In other business last night, the commission received an offer to purchase vacant land on the southeast corner of Auburn and Center for a credit union building.

The Pontiac Teachers Credit Union offered to buy the land.

LAND APPRAISAL

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. directed that an updated appraisal be made of the land.

Also last night, the commission received deeds to three tax - delinquent properties along the Clinton River at Highbard, Thomas and Irene.

An offer to lease two lots at 51-53 Hibbard was referred to city administrators study and recommendation.

An offer to purchase a city-owned lot at Fremont and Josephine in Waterford Township was received.

PUBLIC SALE

The lot is to be offered for public sale.

A public hearing was set for May 10 on construction of a sanitary sewer on the northeast side of Stanley from Lounsbury to the alley next to Montcalm.

Estimated cost of the sewer is $5,960 with the assessed cost totaling $1,640 and the city's share $4,319.

Representation Fight Brewing

A hassle may be developing over who is to represent various Pontiac city employe groups.

Metropolitan Council No. 23, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, AFL-CIO, last night asked the City Commission to pass a resolution designating Local 100, a council affiliate, as exclusive bargaining agent for all city employes, except police and firemen.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren reported that the Pontiac Municipal Employes Association has already petitioned to be recognized as the bargaining agent for salaried municipal employes.

Warren said Local 100 has represented hourly-paid employes in the past.

Warren asked and the commission agreed that the matter be tabled two weeks pending notification from the State Labor Mediation Board on the petition filed by the association.

Loose Dogs Get Dugan's Dander Up

"The dogs are running wild. They're everywhere," charged City Commissioner John A. Dugan last night.

Dugan's comment sparked a commission discussion of dogs, dog pens and the city's dog control ordinance — a topic of past controversy.

Dugan, who claimed dogs were on the loose everywhere in his Distrcit 5, asked for a review of the ordinance or a report on what could be done to control the problem.

District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson suggested that the review include consideration of a proposal to provide a setback to keep "stinking dog pens" away from abutting property.

Hudson explained that most dog pens seemed to be located at the farthest point on the dog owner's lot. This puts the pen next to a neighbor and he has to put up with the "stink and the howling," according to Hudson.

PEOPLE RELUCTANT

The District 4 commissioner added that the neighbor might not be a dog lover.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. suggested that one of the problems is that people are reluctant to sign a complaint when they know who owns the dog.

OEO to Aid Job Corps Recruitment

Oakland County's Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCEO) will assist the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) with an accelerated recruitment program for Job Corps enrollees from northern Oakland County.

New enrollees will be sent to Job Corps centers immediately after applications are processed by MESC due to existing vacancies.

Previously a waiting period of three to four months was normal.

James M. McNeely, executive director of OCCEO, said the commission's North Oakland Opportunity staff will conduct an information and enrollment meeting Tuesday with MESC officials.

The 8 p.m. meeting will be held at the North Oakland Opportunity Center, 7 W. Lawrence.

NATIONAL SCOPE

The accelerated recruitment program is of national scope, according to Merrill F. Walls, employment services manager of the Pontiac MESC office.

Walls said that the recruiting campaign has no specific numerical goals, but rather is aimed at advising the public of the Job Corps program's existence and the mechanics of application.

OCCEO field workers will assist in the recruiting campaign by taking the Job Corps message to the public.

Walls said that youths who enroll in the Job Corps, which is financed by the national Office of Economic Opportunity, are paid $30 monthly.

ADDITIONAL $50

An additional $50 monthly is set aside and given to them when the term of service ends.

Pontiac youths may be sent to any Job Corps camp in the country, Walls said.

Boys 16 to 21 who are out of school are eligible for the Job Corps.

During the accelerated recruitment drive next month, the normal waiting period for Job Corps induction will be waived.

Sidewalk Plan Gets Approval

The city's annual sidewalk resolution, directing repair of specified city sidewalks, was passed last night by the City Commission.

Passage of the resolution is necessary each year to set up a program of inspection of local sidewalks. Those walks needing repair or replacement are so "marked" and the property owner must see that they are done.

District 5 Commissioner John A. Dugan complained last night that some people comply with the ordinance, while others go for 'a couple of years' without making repairs.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling said the city from 1961-63 had a high percentage of compliance, but the program was not very well organized in 1964.

He said no sidewalk repair program was carried out last year, but that personnel would be available this year.

Minority Group Housing Panel Adds Two Men

Two men have been added to the city's minority group housing committee, it was disclosed last night.

Robert Norberg, 182 W. Chicago, and Alfredo Aleman, 217 Going, have been appointed to the housing study group, a subcommittee of the Citizens Improvement Advisory Committee.

Expansion of the six-member committee was urged by federal government officials in reviewing the city's 1966 Workable Program for Community Improvement.

Still a third addition is to be made to the group.

TYPE OF JET DOWNED — A high-performance Russian-built MIG21 of the type shown was knocked from the sky over North Viet Nam yesterday by an American F4C supersonic jet fighter, a U. S. spokesman said in Saigon. The MIG21, newest and fastest of the jets used by the Communists in Asia, was hit by Sidewinder missiles in a dogfight near Hanoi.

American Airmen Assume N. Viets Are Piloting Jets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American airmen in Saigon assume that the MIG jets they are encountering over North Viet Nam are flown by North Vietnamese pilots trained by the Soviet Union.

U.S. officials here also assume that the MIGs are operating from bases in North Viet Nam, not in Red China.

"The assumption is that the pilots are North Vietnamese," said one qualified U.S. officer who has access to intelligence reports. "We have no reason to believe they are Chinese, or even Russians."

He added that he had no information on whether the Chinese possessed any of the Delta-wing MIG21s.

THREE CLASHES

American fliers have clashed three times with the late-model MIGs over North Viet Nam since Saturday. One encounter occurred 35 miles from the Red Chinese frontier, giving rise to speculation that the Soviet designed jets could be operating from China.

Official American spokesmen here say they have no information to suggest that the MIGs came from China. U.S. officials say the North Vietnamese have about 15 of the MIG21s and about 45 more of the older model MIG17s, which also tangled with American jets over the weekend.

Officials say most of the MIGs are based at the Phuc Yen military airfield at Hanoi, which so far has not been bombed by American planes. The airfield reportedly is protected by a concentration of missile sites equipped with surface-to-air missiles supplied by the Soviet Union.

U.S. spokesmen said the American fliers who clashed in supersonic dogfights with the MIG21s were not able to get a good look at the enemy pilots to detect their nationality nor did they see any markings on the Communist planes.

Official spokesmen also insist they have no information on monitored radio conversations between MIG pilots which might give a clue to their nationality.

CHALK UP ONE MIG — An F4C Phantom supersonic jet fighter with Sidewinder missiles mounted on its wings is serviced aboard the aircraft carrier Independence during operations of Viet Nam in July 1965. Yesterday a jet of the same type shot down a MIG21 over North Viet Nam, a U.S. spokesman announced in Saigon.

Airfields Are Tantalizing Targets

Sending Up MIGs Is Risky for Hanoi

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Viet Nam may be risking its key military airfields in the Hanoi-Haiphong area by sending its MIG jets to duel with U.S. raiders.

So far the United States has refrained from hitting three air bases which are home to about 75 North Vietnamese MIG jet fighters and IL28 bombers.

The U.S. Air Force has wanted to strike at these bases and the planes on them.

But decision-making officials have been reluctant to approve any such operation until and unless the Communist jets become troublesome.

RASH OF DOGFIGHTS

A rash of dogfights since late last week suggest that point may be approaching, although U.S. officials are not yet certain whether the pattern will continue. They are watching to see if the Communist jets come up again.

High military authorities have said they are confident that the MIG fields can be taken out by U.S. bombers over a short period of assault.

This could be a job for B52 bombers which so far have been committed only twice in North Viet Nam.

The jet fields fall clearly in the realm of military targets.

NOTHING ACCIDENTAL

Officials are convinced there was nothing accidental about the MIG sorties in the vicinity of U.S. raiding planes over the past several days.

"They're coming out," said one officer.

But there is only speculation as to why the North Vietnamese would choose to risk their few warplanes, especially MIG21s.

North Viet Nam has only 10 to 15 MIG21s, fastest and best in its air force. One was shot down Tuesday by a U.S. Air Force F4C Phantom which killed the MIG with a heat-seeking Sidewinder missile.

LARGE NUMBERS

Air Force officers said that, as good as the MIG21 is acknowledged to be, it could be overwhelmed if the United States chose to go after the MIGs with large numbers of high-performance American jets.

Hundreds of Air Force and Navy jets are available in the Viet Nam theater. Most of the North Vietnamese MIGs are older models which, it is believed, would have difficulty standing up to the best American planes.

One officer suggested the MIG forays occurred because the North Vietnamese were stung by a recent series of air attacks which came close to Hanoi and Haiphong, and by the mounting intensity of U.S. air operations in the north.

Sources familiar with the planning said that the bombing operations around Hanoi and Haiphong did not represent any special effort to throw a noose around these vital cities.

Officials said a main objective of the U.S. air strikes in the north has been to sever and interrupt the flow of goods and war gear from Red China to Hanoi via important rail lines and from Hanoi southward along the infiltration routes to South Viet Nam.

Another aim, they said, has been to harass and interdict the flow of materiel out of Haiphong.

It Seems He's Stuck With Bad Luck Truck

ODESSA, Tex. (UPI)—When Johnny Cromer's truck hit a car yesterday, police refused to let him drive it away because the vehicle did not have a safety inspection sticker.

So Cromer got a tow vehicle to cart the truck away. Then the tow chain broke, and the driverless truck jumped a curb, struck three vehicles and hit a gasoline pump, starting a fire.

Sailors Aid Heart Victim

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With the help of 88 Navy sailors, Theresa Seibel has undergone open heart surgery, a Presbyterian Hospital spokesman said.

The girl, 4, was operated on Tuesday to correct a congenital heart defect. She is from Sacramento, Calif.

Blood donations were made by Navy staff members and trainees at the Command Damage Control School at the Navy's Treasure Island base in San Francisco Bay.

More Use of Artificial Heart Seen

HOUSTON (UPI) — The surgeon who implanted an artifical heart in the chest of Marcel L. DeRudder, said the device worked well and he foresaw today the possibility of using it "possibly many more" times to save lives.

Dr. Michael E. DeBakey said DeRudder, a 65-year-old Illinois coal miner, died yesterday as a result of a ruptured lung —not failure of the artificial heart.

His death came after 111 hours in which he lived with the artificial heart doing much of the work normally performed by his own heart.

No other person ever has lived so long with a mechanical device performing the function of the human heart.

"I think we have gained considerable knowledge," said Dr. DeBakey after announcing the "grevious" death of DeRudder "We have clearly demonstrated the pump's (artificial heart) successful application."

NO CONTROL

"He (DeRudder) developed complications over which we had no control," DeBakey said. "These were not due to the left ventricular bypass pump . . . or, if you will, the artificial heart."

DeBakey said an autopsy on DeRudder showed "no evidence of other injury to the heart.

"The pump did the job we wanted it to do."

The heart pump will be redesigned "as rapidly as possible," DeBakey said. He said it would be "several weeks" before the new pump will be ready for another human plant.

He said the revised pump would have "the basic design" of the one used on DeRudder, who was selected for the pioneering implant after it was determined he otherwise was doomed.

DeBakey said he would be willing to use such a device on a patient in better health than DeRudder. But he said the next patient to get the benefit of the artificial heart "and possibly many more" might be just as sick as DeRudder.

"Our purpose is to save life and if we think we can save a life, then that is what to do," he said.

DeBakey said when DeRudder's lung ruptured, air from a respirator filled his chest cavity around his lungs and made it impossible for him to breathe.

MATTER OF MOMENTS

"If air goes into the chest wall," DeBakey said, "it compresses the lungs — they can't expand any more. It was only a matter of moments between the time the rupture was first noticed and DeRudder's death."

DeRudder lived 111 hours and 44 minutes after the operation for installation of the artificial heart last Thursday. He died yesterday at 3:04 a.m. EST in Methodist Hospital.

"The implant of the left ventricular bypass had been working and was working normally up to the moment of Mr. DeRudder's death," a report on the autopsy said.

Mrs. Edna DeRudder, 60, who supported herself and her sick husband by working as a checker in a grocery, returned to Westville, Ill.

Hospital officials awakened her at a nearby hotel to tell her of her husband's death.

"I know I shouldn't have left him," Mrs. DeRudder said. "I should have stayed there at the hospital all night. I don't think I'll ever get over it."

CROSSED PACIFIC SOLO — Alex Carozzo, 34-year-old Italian, was safe in San Francisco harbor yesterday after a solo voyage across the Pacific Ocean in his hand-made 33-foot sloop. He left Japan Oct. 22, landed at Midway Island, then took 53 days to sail to the U.S. He lived on vegetables and canned spaghetti.

Florida Chief Sees UFO

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Haydon Burns saw a funny thing on his way to the capital—a UFO.

The governor ordered his airplane pilots to give chase, but the unidentified flying object's lights winked out and it disappeared — upward bound—almost at once after Burns' Convair bore down on it.

So say Burns, his assistant, a Florida Highway Patrol captain and four newspapermen who were flying with the governor to Tallahassee from a reelection campaign session at Orlando.

"I told you," Burns quipped to reporters on board, "that my campaign would be out of this world."

Later on the ground he said he preferred that reporters expand on the encounter by moonlight Monday night 6,000 feet over Ocala.

VIVID ACCOUNTS

"I much prefer to let the newspaper representatives be quoted," he said Tuesday. "I will confirm that I saw the same unidentified flying object they have alluded to in their writings."

The reporters, covering Burns' campaign for the Miami Herald, Tampa Tribune, St. Petersburg Times and the Perry Newspapers, gave vivid accounts of the sighting and Burns' reaction.

Don Meiklejohn of the Times placed the sighting at 8:52 p.m. and said, "I first became aware of something when Gov. Burns shouted 'It's a UFO!'

"I looked out the window and saw two round lights. It would be impossible to judge the size or distance. But the lights stayed in the same relative positions.

"Gov. Burns ordered the pilots to 'turn into it.' The plane turned to the right and as it did, the light pulled ahead quickly and began to rise steeply. It disappeared, as one of the pilots said, 'like someone turned off the juice'."

Dearborn Heights Fire Is Fatal to Woman, 57

DEARBORN (AP) — Miss Helen M. Burdeno, 57, died Tuesday in a fire at her home in Dearborn Heights. A companion, Betty Ritzenhein, 45, was injured critically. Firemen said the blaze apparently began in a living room couch and spread through the six-room house.

Reuther Urges U. S. Allocation for World Woes

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, suggested Tuesday that the United States allocate 2 per cent of its gross national product to a worldwide fight against poverty and disease.

He told an Earlham College convocation that the United States will be judged "not by what we have but by what we do with what we have.

"The nations of the world will spend $200 billion for armaments this year in a search for security," Reuther said, "but after it is spent we will only be more insecure."

The audience included his daughter, Elizabeth, an Earlham freshman.

'Insults Subcommittee'

McNamara Riles Unit Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a House Armed Services subcommittee says Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has insulted the subcommittee and impugned its integrity.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., challenged McNamara to disclose the present position of the Joint Chiefs of Staff on the need for a new advanced bomber.

Sunday night, Hebert's subcommittee released a report criticizing the decision to phase out B58 bombers and cut back the number of B52 bombers. Monday, McNamara charged the report was a "shocking distortion of the true picture."

RAPS SECRETARY

Tuesday, Hebert issued a statement accusing McNamara of an "insulting Indictment" and "impugning the integrity of a congressional subcommittee."

Hebert also said McNamara used a "semantic ploy" when he claimed the joint chiefs "did not oppose the decision to eliminate 80 B58 bombers."

"Neither did the joint chiefs support the decision. They deferred their decision," Hebert said.

"I think the secretary should explain to the American people why it was necessary for him to make a judgment to eliminate this major weapons system when the Joint Chiefs of Staff felt that a judgment was not necessary at this time."

Concerning Hebert's statement, the Pentagon commented: "Mr. Hebert appears to be rewriting his report."

Pupils Should Be Taught Basics of Business Earlier

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

Should economics be introduced into the school curriculum at all levels?

That question, presently being asked in school circles, may startle those who think of the study of economics in terms of the college courses with which they may be familiar.

DR. NASON

But, obviously, the proponents of early introduction of the vocabulary and mechanics of economics are not recommending the introduction of college courses at the primary school level.

They do, however, have a justifiable concern, since many high school graduates, for example, do not know the difference between stocks and bonds. It is time that the vocabulary and processes involved in the operation of business, both personal and corporate, become a part of the school curriculum.

I agree with those who say that some of this material should be introduced early in a child's school life. He should see and handle facsimiles of stocks, bonds and even time-payment contracts. He should gradually become familiar with the workings of our complex business world.

It is entirely possible for third-grade pupils to understand the need for borrowed capital for the organization of a new company or for the expansion of an established one.

As an example of the need, let me point to the problem of teaching mathematics of finance at a college level.

Since the turn of the century, every problem presented to pupils in elementary school could be solved by means of averages. Problems concerned with time-payment contracts and the evaluation of bonds do not respond to this approach. They must be solved either directly or by some formula which depends upon a geometric progression.

Confronted with this different kind of problem for the first time in his school career, the college freshman lacks the mathematical training for the solution of problems in finance.

Add to this his lack of understanding of the vocabulary and processes of business itself, and the student's difficulty in grasping the course is easily explained.

OPERATION OF BUSINESS

The lack of experience and understanding of the operation of business is even greater among the general group of students.

The majority of them will be involved with time-payments at one time or another. They need to know more about the actual rates of interest they may be charged and about the different systems in use.

Mathematics concerned with finance affect the lives of everyone in this nation. If we need a new math, this is it.

Legislature Hit on Road Safety

LANSING (UPI) — Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken has declared the Democratic-controlled Michigan Legislature is "failing miserably" to provide vitally important traffic safety measures in this session."

Speaking at a state safety conference, Milliken said the legislative "foot-dragging" has killed drunken driving legislation and bills to tighten the driver point system, provide formal periodic motor vehicle safety inspection, and offer new support to driver education.

"If the Michigan Legislature is waiting for the federal government to take action," he said, "or is waiting for the automotive industry to put its own house in order, then the Legislature is breaking faith with the peoples of this state.

"Traffic safety is primarily a state and local responsibility. It's our job and we've got to do it.

"This does not mean," Milliken added, "that the federal government and the industries do not have responsibilities, because the do.

FUSS AND FEATHERS — Eight-year-old Susan Broad of Hampton, Va., didn't realize what a flap she would cause by showing up in Lafayette Square, across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House, with a bag of popcorn. Although not everyone appreciates Washington's pigeon population, the birds do have a way of making tourists feel welcome.

The fossils of more than 4,000 animals and 4,000 birds have been removed from the La Brea Tar Pits in Los Angeles.

De Gaulle Cool to LBJ Talks

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle does not want to try to settle his NATO dispute with the United States in a face-to-face confrontation with President Johnson, informed sources said today.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said in a Senate speech in Washington Monday the two leaders should not hesitate to meet personally in an effort to prevent an "estrangement" between the United States and France over deGaulle's decision to pull French military forces out of NATO and to kick foreign troops out of France.

But the sources said de Gaulle considers that the question can be handled through normal diplomatic channels. De Gaulle would be unlikely to accept a face-to-face meeting with Johnson, they said.

Johnson and de Gaulle have not met since the funeral of President John F. Kennedy.

When a possible Johnson trip to Europe was being discussed last year, the French let it be known that the American President would be welcome in Paris if Paris were the only capital he visited. But if the French city was but one of a half a dozen European capitals, he would not be so welcome.

CALLED OFF

That problem was solved when Johnson decided to call off the projected trip.

Mansfield also suggested that perhaps de Gaulle's NATO policy was being misinterpreted in Washington.

This is exactly what French diplomats have been saying since the transatlantic debate began.

In the French Senate last night, Foreign Secretary Jean de Broglie said France not only wants to remain a political member of the Atlantic alliance, but wants the alliance's competence extended to Asian and African problems.

ANSWERING CRITICS

De Broglie was answering criticism on de Gaulle's policy from opposition members of the upper house.

"The alliance must be broadened," he said. "It must become not only a more efficient military tool but a center where political positions can be harmonized on problems of Asia and Africa where the general interests of peace — thus Europe — are at stake."

'Down With Building'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The 20-story federal building was picketed yesterday. Not by the now-familiar civil rights and antiwar demonstrators, but by John Hausmann, a contractor who carried a sigh which said "This building is ugly."

A GOOD STRIKE — T. S. Lemons Jr., (left) 40, and T. S. Lemons Sr., 65, inspect gold ore from a 3,300-acre tract near Bend, Texas. The pair belong to a group of eight who believe the strike is the long lost San Saba mine—legendary bonanza of the Spanish two centuries ago.

8 Believe They've Found Fabled Spanish Gold Mine

BEND, Tex. (AP) —Fifty miles north of President Johnson's ranch, on a rock-choked hill overlooking the Colorado River, eight men think they have found the lost San Saba mine—legendary bonanza of two centuries ago.

The Spaniards abandoned the mine in 1758, so the story goes, when 2,000 Comanche Indians overran their mission.

Men have searched for the mine ever since.

Now eight men report they have found the ore.

The geologist who spurred the hunt says they found it where Don Bernardo de Miranda said it was: on the Cerro del Almagre— loosely, the Red Hill.

RICH MINE

Miranda, discoverer of the mine, was a lieutenant general of the Spanish Province of Texas in the 18th century. He said the hill was so rich "I guarantee to give to every settler of the Province of Texas a full claim."

Arville Cummins, 45, the geologist, says Miranda was right. The mine may be worth as much as $200 million, he says.

Red Hill is about seven miles south of Bend, population 200. To the southwest is a community called Baby Head. Legend says Indians cut off a baby's head there.

Five dark red boulders once stood where the men think the mine is today. They contrasted sharply with the dull gray dolomite limestone.

"I was curious about them from the very first," says rancher T.S. Lemons Sr., 65, who in 1944 bought 3,300 acres of this rough, remote country, including Red Hill.

Lemons said he knew the red boulders had to mean something. "So I brought in some geologists— some of those smart boys—to look at it.

"They'd look at it and run their hands over it and then go off.

"They said something like that just couldn't be in this part of the world."

YEARS PASSED

Then in August 1964, Lemons' son, T.S. Lemons Jr., 40, was fishing in the Colorado—almost in the shadow of Red Hill—when he noticed a glint in a rock under water.

He chipped off the shiny part of the rock and put it in his pocket. Some months later he took it to Cummins in Lampasas.

Cummins said the Lemons' rock had gold and sent it to the Colorado Assaying Co. in Denver for an official test.

"It assayed out at $25.90 a ton," he said. "Not really big but worth looking into more."

"If ore brings $10 or $12 a ton," he said, big mining companies can break even on it.

Cummins and the younger Lemons hunted the source of the ore from the river.

FOUND MARKINGS

Less than a mile from Red Hill, just beyond dead man canyon, they found some old, undecipherable markings on a hackberry tree.

The bark showed a semicircle cupped over a "V." Under the "V" was a nearly horizontal line.

Is the semicircle a half moon, universal map symbol for treasure?

Before they got around to that, however, they found three holes drilled in the limestone wall of a gullly on Red Hill.

Evidence of an old smelter was found about a mile from Red Hill.

Finally they came to the dark red boulders on Red Hill. They blasted all but one of them—preserved by the Lemons as a memento—and dug where they had been.

The first ore sample assayed at $3.15 a ton in gold—almost worthless.

WENT DEEPER

At 21 feet it jumped to $29.25 a ton, slightly better than what Lemons found in the river.

The two men decided to form a partnership with two other men and lease the land from Lemons' father, who would get royalties.

The other two men are Cummins' father, Aaron, Cummins, 69, a retired grocer; and R. R. McCoy, 64, Lampasas dirt contractor who had worked with the younger Cummins before.

Two weeks later, Cummins hit darker ore that assayed at $43.5 a ton.

At 35 feet they hit ore that looked even richer. Cummins ran tests on it in his garage.

"Boys," he said, "It runs $350 a ton." They couldn't believe him. The ore was sent to the assaying firm.

Cummins was wrong. It was $467.60 a ton.

Tibetans Make New Life in India

DARJEELING, India (AP) — From Darjeeling mountainsides, Tibetan refugees have a magnificent view of their homeland trailing away to the far northern horizon. All they can do is look.

The Chinese Communists are firmly in control of Tibet. The Tibetans who escaped the Reds seven years ago have little prospect of going home again.

Of the estimated 50,000 Tibetans in India, about 6,000 are scattered over the hill farms and tea plantations of Darjeeling District.

Their problem is how to stay alive in a foreign country — and with typical mountain industriousness, the Tibetans are getting on with the job.

FARM COOPERATIVES

Farm cooperatives have been established by some. Others have jobs on road construction projects or tea plantations. But the real success story is the "self-help center."

Six refugees started the center in a dilapidated cowshed on four acres of abandoned land. Now 300 workers make the export Tibetan handicrafts, especially carpets, to 16 foreign countries.

Total sales run about $25,000 annually — not bad for these mountain people who fled Tibet with nothing more than the few personal possessions they could carry.

Most of the center's sales are in the United States, France, West Germany, Denmark, Switzerland and Japan.

Jakartans Force Red Exhibit to Close

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Soviet Cultural Center in Jakarta closed its doors today in the face of student pressure protesting a Lenin exhibit.

Armed students who had been blockading the two-story building since Tuesday were withdrawn. About 30 youths from Kami, the university students' action front, had surrounded the building to keep Indonesians from seeing the exhibit honoring Lenin, the father of Soviet communism.

The government withdrew troops who had been sent to guard the building after irate students had threatened to attack the center.

A student delegation told Soviet officials at the center Monday that movies and displays on Lenin must be stopped within 12 hours or they would attack the center. Students said they had no objection to the center holding technological or scientific displays, but they would not permit displays on communism.

REFUSED TO YIELD

The director of the center refused to yield to the student ultimatum. The next day the youths said they would respect the diplomatic immunity of the center and blockade it rather than sack the place.

The closing of the center was agreed on after long talks between Soviet officials and representatives of the student's front. The student action appeared to be a manifestation of the general anticommunism that has been rampant since the attempted Communist coup last October rather than a demonstration of anti-Soviet feeling.

In another demonstration of anti-Communist feeling, Indonesians of Chinese descent seized the Red Chinese consulate in Surabaja, East Java's chief port, the official Antara news agency reported. Indonesian Chinese sacked the Red Chinese Embassy in Jakarta April 15, and student sources said university students may take over the embassy and make it their headquarters. They already have occupied the Chinese consulate here which had been deserted since a student mob sacked it some weeks ago.

Antara said Indonesian Chinese also have staged an anti-Peking demonstrations in Bali. Similar demonstrations have been held elsewhere in an attempt to deflect the wave of anti- Peking feeling from the Indonesian Chinese.

Achmad Sjaichu, secretary general of the National Front, told a student rally in Jakarta today that Communist China has set up an Indonesian government-in-exile.

Soviets to Aid Cuba in Ocean Exploration

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana radio says the Soviet Union will underwrite two years of intensive exploration of the ocean by the Cuban government.

Long-term credit will be used to bring Soviet equipment to Cuba, the broadcast, monitored here, said.

Firemen in Lansing Threaten a Recall

LANSING (UPI) — City firemen today threatened to petition for a recall election of the mayor and city council if their demands for higher wages are not met.

More than 100 firemen picketed City Hall yesterday while city officials prepared another proposal. The picketing has been going on for more than a week.

The Firefighters Association asked the City Council Monday night for a 40-hour week instead of the current 56 hours.

The city personnel director said he was considering the demand and would shortly present a new proposal for a wage package built around a 40-hour week.

Waffles Start the Day, Climax a Meal, Serve as Snack

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

If you visited the New York World's Fair, you will probably remember the waffles sold in the Belgian Village. Even if you didn't buy any, you could smell them baking as you walked along the sidewalk.

You can produce a similar waffle or 'gaufre' at home and serve them as dessert. Unlike the usual breakfast waffle, this one is made with yeast.

GAUFRES

1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
½ cup warm water (105-115 degrees)
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
2½ cups, unsifted flour
2 eggs, separated

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine; cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast, stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture. Stir in flour, beat until smooth. Beat in egg yolks.

Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Stir down, add a little more liquid if necessary to make a soft batter. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into batter.

Bake as needed in hot waffle iron. Serve for dessert with powdered sugar or whipped cream, if desired. Makes 6-8 waffles.

Old-fashioned waffle irons that were used on top of a stove now are to be found in antique shops. Today's waffle iron is completely automatic. A few even come with different designs on some of the grids. You might look for such a one if you're replacing your waffle iron.

Sometimes at our house we 'waffle' the French toast or make baking powder biscuits in the waffle iron. We've even experimented with cheese sandwiches, but the cheese is apt to burn on the grids unless the sandwich is watched closely.

Chocolate waffles are also good for dessert. The ones in the following recipe are not too sweet and take nicely to a topping of ice cream and chocolate sauce.

CHOCOLATE WAFFLES

1½ cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
½ cup butter or margarine
2 eggs, separated
¾ cup milk
¼ teaspoon each vanilla and almond extract

Sift together into a mixing bowl the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Melt chocolate in top of double boiler over hot water; add butter; stir to melt and blend; cool.

Beat egg yolks with milk to blend; add to dry ingredients, beating until smooth. Blend in chocolate mixture, vanilla and almond extract. Beat egg whites until they stand in soft peaks; fold gently but thoroughly into batter.

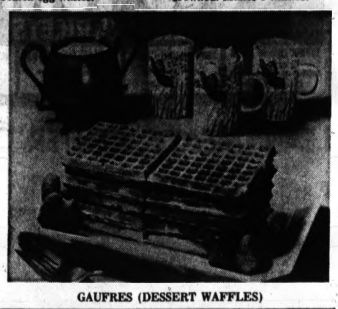
Bake in pre-heated waffle iron, following manufacturer's directions. Serve hot with ice cream and chocolate sauce.

If you have a cup of cooked rice that you're wondering how to use, add it to waffle batter for an interesting treat.

RICE WAFFLES

1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
3 eggs, separated
⅓ cup melted shortening
1½ cups buttermilk
1 cup cooked rice

Sift dry ingredients together. Beat egg whites and yolks separately. Combine shortening, beaten yolks and buttermilk. Add to dry ingredients, mixing well. Fold in rice and stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron until browned. Makes 8 waffles.



GAUFRES (DESSERT WAFFLES)

CHOCOLATE WAFFLES

Sandwich Is Full of Beans, Tuna Too

Every family has its food favorites. And following the American tradition, these foods no doubt include tuna, beans, cheese, pickles.

During the Lenten season, when menu ideas seem not to be easily forthcoming, these food "friends" can be counted on to add variety and interest to meals.

And they can be used in recipes typical of foreign countries as well as American dishes.

Hot Cross Beanwiches, a recipe from the down under country, Australia, is a delightful sandwich suggestion that's nutritious as well as tasty.

Hot Cross Beanwiches

1 can (1 pound) vegetarian beans in tomato sauce
2 tablespoons sweet relish
3 tablespoons minced onion
1 can (6½-7 ounces) tuna, drained, flaked
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
4 sandwich buns, split, toasted
16 thin strips process sharp cheese (3"x½")

Combine first 6 ingredients. Spoon a generous ¼ cup bean mixture on each bun half. Broil 6 to 8 inches from heat source 3 minutes. Top with 2 strips of cheese, crosswise; broil an additional minute or until cheese melts. Serve immediately.

Good Bean Salad

Prepare this vegetable dish several hours before mealtime. Combine a pound can of drained wax beans with some thinly sliced onion rings and a couple tablespoons diced pimiento. Pour ¼ cup bottled Italian dressing over the vegetables and chill. Four servings.

Soup and Salad Is Always Good Luncheon Combination

There is no time like the present to start making plans for those busy day meals that pop up so unexpectedly during the spring and summer months. You'll find that few menus are as suited to "race-with-the-clock" preparation and service as hearty soup and salad combinations.

This Cheese Ringed Salmon is an ideal main course salad choice for luncheon or dinner. Serve it with cups or bowls of Dilled Tomato Soup.

One nice thing about this meal is that the salad can wait in the refrigerator, if serving time is delayed, and the soup will heat in a jiffy.

To complete the menu you'll need only bread, an iced beverage and a dessert such as strawberry shortcake.

Dilled Tomato Soup

1 soup can milk
1 can condensed tomato soup
1 teaspoon dried dill weed
Fresh dill weed (optional)

Stir milk into tomato soup as directed on can. Add dill weed; heat. Garnish with fresh dill weed, if desired. Two to three servings.

Cheese Ringed Salmon

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
1½ teaspoons seasoned salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
¾ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ cup finely chopped green onion
1 can or jar (2-oz.) pimiento
3 cups creamed cottage cheese
Salad greens
2 cans (1-lb. each) salmon

Sprinkle gelatin over water in a saucepan to soften. Heat slowly until gelatin is dissolved, stirring. Add remaining ingredients except salad greens and salmon, mixing well.

Pour into an oiled ring mold; chill until firm. Unmold on crisp greens on a serving platter.

Drain salmon and break it into chunks. Serve salmon with thinly sliced onion rings in the center of the cheese mold. Garnish with lemon twists, if desired. Ten servings.

Fill Peppers With Corn for Oven Grilling

Give Sunday or party dinners an extra fillip. These corn-stuffed green peppers stuffed with Mexican corn is another fillip the family will enjoy Sunday or any day.

Corn-stuffed Green Peppers

3 medium green peppers
1 (10-oz.) package frozen corn, partially thawed
Salt
Pepper
Margarine
Dark corn syrup

Cut each green pepper in half crosswise; remove seeds and membrane. Place each half on double thickness of aluminum foil large enough to wrap around it. Fill each half with 1/6 of the corn. Season with salt and pepper. Dot with margarine.

Pour 1 to 2 tablespoons corn syrup over each. Wrap, sealing foil with double fold. Grill or broil 4 to 5 inches from source of heat until tender, about 45 minutes.

Mexican corn-stuffed peppers: Follow recipe for corn-stuffed peppers, adding ¼-cup chopped green pepper and 2 tablespoons chopped pimento to corn before filling pepper halves.

Unbaked Cookies

Butterscotch snacks are easy to make. In a double boiler, melt 1 cup (a six-ounce package) of butterscotch pieces, 16 large marshmallow and ½ cup of butter or margarine, stirring often.

Remove from heat and stir in 1 cup each of quick-cooking rolled oats and chopped pecans. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto waxed paper. Makes 2½ dozen.

To Crisp Potatoes

Allow potatoes for French frying to stand in cold water for 30 minutes before frying. It makes them more crisp.

SOUP AND SALAD — Try this soup and salad menu. Any age group will enjoy the delicious entree . . . it molds cottage cheese with just the right seasonings to go so well with chunks of canned salmon. Steaming Dilled Tomato Soup makes a perfect accompaniment. To complete the menu you'll need only a bread, beverage and dessert.

The Jacobys may sound a trifle cynical today. Oswald was describing the play of a hand.

JACOBY

Oswald: "East won the club lead with his ace and returned the five of hearts. South played the six. West won with the jack and led a second club to put South in dummy. The nine of spades was led from dummy.

"East played the four and South the three. A second spade lead pulled the East-West trumps and South led the jack of diamonds. He played low from dummy. East won with the queen and returned the three of hearts.

"South had already lost three tricks and was sure that West held the heart king. Therefore South rose with the ace, led his nine of diamonds and covered with dummy's ten.

"If West had held the diamond king South would have been able to discard his queen of hearts on the diamond ace but instead South went down two tricks. He complained bitterly about four cards being wrong but somehow or other no one at the table seemed to sympathize with him."

Jim: "I can almost imagine North telling him that he could find 'sympathy' in the dictionary just a few pages in back of 'simple'."

Oswald: "Tell our readers how South misplayed the hand!"

Jim: "If you check Dad's account of the play you will see that South played his three of spades under dummy's nine. He should have played the seven spot. Then when a second spade lead pulled both adverse trumps South would have had an extra entry to dummy.

"He could then have won the second diamond with dummy's ace, ruffed out East's king, got back with the six of spades, discarded his queen of hearts on a good diamond and won the rubber instead of going down."

What do you do now?

A—If your partner is the sort who might just raise from one club to two with two aces and the king of trumps, bid five no-trump to ask for kings. Otherwise settle for six clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of raising to two clubs, your partner responds one no-trump. What do you do now?

'Great Red Spot' of Jupiter May Be Gas Column

WASHINGTON (AP) — A British scientist thinks the puzzling "great red spot" on the planet Jupiter may be the top of a huge column of gas swirling from a crater on the planet's surface.

Prof. S. K. Runcorn of the University of Newcastle-upon-Tyne said the oval-shaped "spot" — which has been measured at 30,000 miles in length — may have been born only several thousand years ago.

In a report prepared for a meeting of the American Physical Society, Runcorn theorized a giant meteor crashed onto the planet's ice-like surface, carving out a crater several thousand miles in diameter.

Gas in the planet's atmosphere flowed into the deep crater, the scientist suggested, and then was forced upward in a waterspout-like column nearly 200 miles high, the top of which forms the "spot" seen through telescopes from earth.

Firm, Governments Due at Pollution Talk

LANSING (UPI) — Wayne County, the cities of Detroit and Trenton and the Scott Paper Co., who have balked thus far at joining a voluntary water pollution abatement program, are scheduled to attend statutory hearings tomorrow and Friday in Detroit

The Michigan Water Resources Commission, which has succeeded in enrolling 32 of 36 industries and governmental units in the program, called the hearings to determine what, if any, action should be taken to force compliance with the Detroit River-Lake Erie cleanup plan.

Poll Is Ordered on State Worker Overtime Wages

LANSING (AP) — Major department heads will be polled by State Civil Service on their attitude toward paying time-and-one-half for overtime to state workers.

The Civil Service Commission ordered the poll of the 19 major state departments Tuesday.

State workers presently are paid straight time for overtime.

It was estimated time-and-one-half would cost the state an extra $4 million a year.

The commission said the turnover among state workers, which has averaged 10 per cent, has reached 16 per cent and is still going higher.

Men Who Pour Drinks to Help Out Alcoholics

DETROIT (AP) — The men who pour the drinks are going to try to help the men who can't handle them.

John Marra, a business agent for Detroit Bartenders Union Local 562, was elected Tuesday to the Sobriety House Board of Directors.

"I'm a drinking man on the board" Marra said. "We're not dries. I drink myself. We want to help these people who for one reason or another can't handle liquor. I expect a lot of people in our industry will want to help."

Sobriety House is a nondenominational facility to provide a home-like haven for the homeless alcoholic, who has lost money, friends, food, shelter, and often is no longer self-supporting. The alcoholics who seek shelter there are fed, given a clean bed and respectable, donated clothing. Medical treatment is arranged if needed, and they are encouraged to join Alcoholics Anonymous.

'400 HELPED'

The facility can accommodate 15 men at a time.

A spokesman for the two-year-old home said "about 400 men have been helped. We know that 200 of them have not had a drink since, have gone back to their homes and families, and returned to work."

The facility is supported by donations and fund-raising activities.

"We want to triple the facilities. We need at least $50,000 to get rolling," said Marra.

The union agent, who spent 20 years himself as a bartender, said "bartenders are sympathetic. They are among the first to recognize the symptoms of the alocholic.

"Bartenders have seen top executives — and other bartenders, for that matter—drink themselves out of jobs. Drinking can be fun and offers relaxation if it is handled right. However, alcoholics can't handle even a single drink. . .They often need help and we want to help them," Marra said.

IMPRESSED

Marra said he attended a fund-raising affair on invitation a while back and was impressed by the work Sobriety House was doing. When approached to serve on the board of directors, he accepted.

"There is a kind of wrong impression about our industry," Marra said. "But I expect a lot of help from the industry, from bars, lounges, bartenders, distilleries, that sort of thing."

SINGING STAR—British vocalist Petula Clark digs the new musical beat of the younger generation, and her hit recording of "Downtown" is a favorite with the youthful crowd, but she's quick to point out she's not a rock 'n' roller.

Free-Data Bill OK Due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Government Operations Committee today was ready to approve the Senate-passed bill that would give every American the right to examine his government's records.

The long-sought "freedom of information" bill — the subject of a 10-year fight — would establish the legal principle that most federal records are open to public examination.

Specific exemptions would be made for security matters and other categories of information such as personnel files trade secrets and investigative dossiers of law enforcement agencies.

If a dispute arose over whether particular information was exempt, the citizen could go to court. The burden of proof in these cases would be on the government.

The administration does not support the bill. The Justice Department has called it unconstitutional on grounds that it would violate the traditional separation of powers.

TOO COMPLICATED

The department also claims that while the legislation's motives are noble, the subject is too complicated to be resolved by a set of rules written into law.

A Justice Department witness told the House Government Information subcommittee last year that there were times when the improper disclosure of information was not in the public interest.

There had been indications that President Johnson might veto the measure.

But Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the Information subcommittee and one of the chief congressional sponsors of the bill, said he did not believe there would be a veto.

Moss said opposition to the bill was more a reflection of the views of career lawyers in the Justice Department than of the White House.

Bands Playing the Blues

COALVILLE, Utah (AP) — Two musical combos and students at two northern Utah high schools were playing the blues today after learning they could have helped each other solve the same problem.

Shorty Ross' band was southbound to play at the junior prom in Coalville. Van Wagoner's band was northbound to play at an annual hop at Morgan.

The bands found their paths blocked, on opposite sides of a huge landslide on the highway. The dances were held with recorded music while the musicians cooled their heels. "If we'd known we'd have switched assignments," said Wagoner.

House Ignores LBJ on Lunch, Milk Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has ignored White House opposition and sent to the Senate a $6.9-billion Agriculture Department appropriation bill that includes an extra $123 million for school lunch and free milk programs.

The roll call vote Tuesday was 366 to 23. The extra money was to keep the lunch and milk programs operating at current levels instead of curbing them as President Johnson requested.

House members wrote into the bill a provision that would cut off surplus American food to nations that trade with North Viet Nam. The amendment was offered by Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill. Despite opposition by the Democratic leadership, it was approved by a 290-98 vote.

The amendment would ban sales, gifts or bartering of American food to any nation that sells goods to North Viet Nam or allows its ships or planes to transport such goods for other nations.

An Agriculture Department spokesman said departmental regulations now in effect restrict shipment of American food to nations that trade with North Viet Nam.

The money bill's total is $500 million more than was appropriated for the Agriculture Department for the fiscal year ending June 30, but $146 million less than the President requested for the year starting July 1. That cut was more than offset by the transfer to farm programs of customs collections that normally would have reverted to the Treasury.

Soviet Aide, Pope Confer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko held a historic meeting today and agreed to work together for world peace.

The Pope received Gromyko in a private audience and talked with him for 45 minutes.

It was the first Papal audience ever given a minister of a Communist government.

Gromyko told a news conference they "agreed on the need to work together for peace independently of ideologies."

A brief Vatican communique said the meeting was "in continuation of the talk" the Pontiff and Gromyko had at United Nations headquarters in New York during the Pope's visit there last October. They had exchanged remarks in a receiving line.

Petula Says She's No Rock 'n' Roller

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Petite Petula Clark has exploded her singing talent on the Hollywood scene, startling those who thought of her as a rock 'n' roll singer.

THOMAS

The fresh-faced, snub-nosed British singer sold a stellar audience at the Cocoanut Grove on her varied repertoire of something old and much that is new. Her performance was a revelation to those who came expecting a teen-type rocker.

The reason for that reputation was her first American record, "Downtown," which was such a favorite with the youthful crowd that her talent as a song-belter was virtually obscured.

"But 'Downtown' is not a rock 'n' roll song; it is really a very beautiful piece of music," she opined in her Ambassador Hotel suite as one of her two young daughters crawled over her. "I have certainly never considered myself a rock 'n' roll singer.

NOTED INSCRIPTION

"Last year at the Grammy Awards, I accepted my statuette for 'Downtown,' then I noticed the inscription. I commented, 'I didn't know I was a rock 'n' roll singer.' The emcee hemmed and hawed over that.

"I was glad to see that when I won this year for 'I Know a Place,' the category had been changed."

"Downtown" brought many changes to her life.

"Actually, this was the time when I expected to be slowing down my career," she remarked, adding with no false modesty: "I had enjoyed a career as the most successful female performer in England and on the Continent. Having had the best of it, I thought I would be settling down to the house we are building in Switzerland — we also have places in Paris and on the Cote d'Azur — as my daughters would soon be starting school.

DOUBLE TRAVEL TIME

"And then 'Downtown' was released in this country. Now we have doubled our travel time, and who knows when it will end?"

Petula, who is married to and managed by Frenchman Claud Wolff, is a veteran of British show business despite her gamin appearance. She began by performing before soldiers in the war, along with another noted star.

"Julie Andrews and I were actually very good friends in those days," she remarked. "We both had the same problems — we were child stars with show-business parents. We saw a lot of each other then, but not in recent years. I would like to see her again."

Petula appeared in 25 English films, none of any vast importance, and then returned to her beginnings as a singer. She rode the crest of the British tidal wave in popular music. She digs the new beat; it communicates to the current generation, says she.

GOOD MUSIC

But is it good music? Petula thinks so. I hazarded the opinion that while the tunes are stimulating, the lyrics aren't exactly Noel Coward.

"But Noel Coward couldn't write a hit song today," she replied. "He isn't part of the new scene."

LBJ to Attend Texas Democrat Fund Banquet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says President Johnson will attend a Democratic party fund-raising banquet tomorrow night in Houston, Tex. Similar trips will follow.

Press aide Robert Fleming said yesterday that Johnson plans to attend another banquet May 17 in Chicago and a third event sometime in June in New York.

Because tomorrow's trip will be political, Fleming said, the Democratic National Committee will pay for the cost of flying the big presidential jet to Houston.

CONTROVERSIAL LOCKS—Alan T. Miller, 18, of Unionville, Pa., has been suspended from Unionville High School, where he is an honor student, for refusing to have his hair cut. Alan says he needs long hair for his job as guitar player in a rock 'n' roll band.

Warren Man Drowns in Fishing Accident

PORT HURON (UPI) — Paul E. Howes, 36, Warren, drowned yesterday in Anchor Bay in what police said was an apparent fishing accident.

His body was recovered 400 feet off shore. The Ira Township rescue squad said Howes apparently stood up in his boat and fell into the water. A companion, David Bonkowski, 29, Warren, was rescued.

'I'm Not Drunk, Judge, Just Getting Some Air'

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Noel W. Tucker, 45, arrested for drunkenness, told the judge he had trouble breathing and "drinking helps me breathe."

Judge William S. Mathews released him with advice to "Find another physician who'll give you a different prescription." The judge added, "Don't come back, or you'll have difficulty breathing for 30 days."

Little Homesteading Land Left

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Even though there is still plenty of land in the public domain and the Homestead Act of 1862 is still in effect, you'd better think twice before you pull stakes and rush out to claim your acres.

No less an authority than the Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management (BLM) has quietly been trying to "de-emphasize" homesteading for the last year or so.

The reason is simple: although there is roughly 460 million acres of land — about one fifth of the total area of the United States — in the public domain, practically none of it is suitable for homesteading.

"Bluntly, you've little chance of homesteading," warns a recent BLM pamphlet. "This is true even in Alaska, the 'last frontier.'"

Better than half of the 460 million acres are in Alaska; less than one-thousandth of them are east of Montana and New Mexico.

NOT SUITABLE

And just about every one of them is too dry, too rocky or too remotely located for anybody to convert to a farm.

And under strict interpretation of the Homestead Act, that's precisely what you have to do with your 160 acres of public land to keep them.

Any land claimed must be classified by BLM as suitable for agricultural purposes. The anticipated return from farming must be enough to support the residents.

In Alaska, where as recently as six years ago the Homestead Act was "liberally" interpreted so that a prospective landowner could keep 160 acres by merely planting grass on 20 acres of it and building a shack, most of the prime land is now owned by the state.

'HARD' INTERPRETATION

There's still plenty of public land in the state but the "hard" interpretation of the Homestead Act applies.

And despite the fact that most Alaskans consider themselves "pioneers," today's farmer needs quite a bit more than an ax, a plow and an ox.

BLM estimates the cost of clearing a 160-acre homestead, erecting buildings and equipping a farm in Alaska may run from $40,000 to $60,000.

So far, only 22,000 acres of commercial croplands have been developed in all Alaska.

STATE-OWNED

You can, however, homestead up to 640 acres of state-owned land, which is sold at public auction to the highest bidder.

You can buy it outright or homestead on public contract, paying 10 per cent down and spreading the balance over the next nine years.

Improvements — such as clearing part of it, building fences or buildings, digging a well or constructing an access road can be applied against the annual payments.

What will happen to the 460 million acres of public land? Although for all practical purposes you can't homestead it, you can still use it.

BIG PLANS

BLM actually has big plans for it. Well aware that the present U.S. population is pushing 200 million and is expected to hit 300 million by the turn of the century, the bureau is embarking on its own "wilderness" program to preserve these vast open spaces in their pristine purity for nature-loving Americans.

BLM is now beginning to build a few rustic campsites and similar accommodations on the land.

But to bureau planners, the charm of the public domain lies in its primitive or near-primitive condition.

They don't actually forsee the day when thousands of American families will spend their vacations camping out on the sagebrush-covered Nevada desert.

IDEA REVOLTING

Indeed, to the bureau's "purists," this idea is about as revolting as the thought of a 40-foot billboard on their front lawn.

But they do argue that many Americans want to see and explore the vast open spaces for what they are.

In the neamtime, they will go about their quiet job of discouraging America's pioneer spirits from homesteading. Says one BLM official:

"If you're interested in becoming a landowner quickly and cheaply for God's sake don't come to us. Do it the easy way. Just look up your friendly real estate agent."

Divorce Italian Style Fizzles

PALERMO, Sicily (UPI) — Sicilian Francesco Cangemi rushed into the police station with tears in his eyes and cried out:

"I shot and killed my wife. I fired three shots. She was five months pregnant, and our four children now are orphans."

Police went to his home and found Mrs. Cangemi unharmed. She told police her husband had drunk too much wine.

All he did, she said, was point his finger at her and shout: "Bang, bang, bang." He apparently convinced himself that he had done the real thing.

Baker Asks Dismissal of Indictment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bobby Baker has asked a federal court in Washington to dismiss an indictment charging him with tax evasion, theft and conspiracy. He contended that the grand jury was biased by the extensive publicity and illegal procedures were used to gather evidence.

Baker, former secretary of the Senate Democrats, was indicted Jan. 4 on the nine counts of grand larceny, attempted income tax evasion and conspiracy.

In a petition filed Tuesday, Baker also said FBI agents used illegal electronic eavesdropping devices to gather information pertaining to his indictment. He asked the court to bar use of that evidence.

At least six Las Vegas, Nev., gambling casinos and hotels were "bugged," Baker alleged, during 1962 and 1963 visits by him and some associates.

Greek Shipper Linked to U.S. Tax Fraud

NEW YORK (UPI) — Six American shipping companies owned and controlled by Greek shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos used two phony Panamanian companies to siphon off profits, the federal government charged yesterday.

U.S. Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau obtained federal court judgments of more than $16.5 million against the companies, claiming that the two Panamanian companies enabled the American corporations to avoid at least that much in U.S. taxes over the past 16 years.

The American companies were the North American Shipping and Trading Co., Inc.; American Pacific Steamship Co.; Transoceanic Marine, Inc.; American Overseas Tanker Corp.; Ventura Steamship Corp., and Plymouth Tanker Corp.

The Panamanian companies which allegedly siphoned off the profits were the Companie internacional de Vapores, Ltd., and the Greenwich Marine Corp., both owned by Niarchos.

Niarchos, 56, owns an estimated 70 vessels and is one of the largest ship owners in the world.

Seek to Rid S. Africa of Animal Traps

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Animal lovers in Durban, on South Africa's east coast, planned to buy the city out of animal traps and throw them in the sea.

They wanted 1,500 people each to give 10 shillings ($1.40) so they could buy all the animal traps for sale in the city.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals persuaded two of the major importers of traps not to bring any more into the country and to sell all they had on hand to the SPCA at cost price.

"We want to clear our house of these foul instruments," said SPCA chairman C. R. Stuart.

Animals caught in traps had torn their legs off in their efforts to free themselves, he said angrily.

Flees TV Dinners

LONDON (UPI) — Harry, a dog who stars in television commercials, ran away yesterday. His sponsor, offering a $140 reward, said: "We must have him back. He is a big part of our dog food campaign."

Missouri Senator Faces Tonsillectomy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., will undergo a tonsillectomy at Walter Reed Medical Center tomorrow.

"My doctors tell me the operation will leave me speechless for a couple of weeks, which is a poor position for a senator to be in, but I will be back in good form soon," the 57-year-old senator said yesterday as he entered the hospital.

Last December, he married Charlotte. McDonnell Ford, 24-year-old daughter of auto magnate Henry Ford II.

need an auto loan?

borrow from yourself and save money . . . . at your C.U.

When you borrow money to buy a car, are you confused by interest rates? Do you know for sure how much your loan costs you?

Remember this: Most people who lend money are in business to make a profit. But a credit union is in business to help its members. It is owned by its members. That's why a loan from a credit union usually costs less.

There's no point in charging yourself high interest rates. In fact, many credit unions give borrowers an interest rebate at the end of the year. And they're the only ones who do.

Credit unions offer advantages you find nowhere else. For example, loans to all qualified members are insured as an extra benefit at no extra cost. If you die or are totally and permanently disabled, your loan is paid up in full.

So buy your car the low-cost way. Visit your credit union office before you walk into the dealer's showroom. You'll probably save money. Borrow from yourself!

If you're not now a credit union member, contact the CU where you work, or the one in your parish or neighborhood. Or write Michigan Credit Union League, 13235 Woodrow Wilson, Detroit, Michigan 48238.

Trading Is Moderate

Losses Widen on Stock Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market widened its losses late this afternoon. Trading continued at a moderate pace.

Early strength by selected issues faded to a great extent as the list showed no disposition to rally.

Special weakness was shown by copper shares as prices for copper in the commodity futures market dropped by the daily trading limit for the third consecutive day.

All Big Three autos were losers. Aerospace issues, airlines, tobaccos, office equipments and electronics were losers.

RAIL MERGERS

Rails were scrambled in advance of the ruling on rail mergers by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Trading in certain of the stock issues involved was halted by the New York Stock Exchange while the Street awaited the news.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .9 at 349.0 with industrials off 1.9, rails off .6 and utilities up .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 3.90 at 343.31.

The approval by the ICC of the long-planned New York Central-Pennsylvania Railroad merger came with both stocks fractionally higher but with trading halted pending circulation of the news.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Treasury bonds mostly unchanged.

Seek to Restore Rent Aid Funds

Senate Unit Rejection Stings Dem Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces plan an all-out push on the Senate floor today to restore funds for a controversial rent subsidy program.

Democratic leaders were stung by a surprise 15-12 appropriations committee vote Monday to eliminate the $12 million rent allotment from a supplemental money bill. They worked feverishly in advance of the floor showdown to nail down the needed votes.

And they had substantial help from the White House. President Johnson repeatedly has endorsed the rent supplement plan as a key weapon in the battle to provide decent housing for low income families.

Under the plan, the federal government would pay the difference between 25 per cent of a family's income and the rent for adequate housing in projects built and operated by nonprofit organizations. None of the subsidies would go to individual, private landlords.

DEFEATED MOVE

In passing the omnibus 1965 housing bill, the Senate defeated 47 to 40 a Republican move to kill the rent subsidy authorization. Later senators voted 45 to 37 to keep in an appropriations bill a $12 million item for the rent subsidies. But the House balked and the funds were dropped at that time.

This year, in acting on the measure before the Senate today, the House supported the new program. It turned down, 198 to 190, a GOP move to kill the subsidies.

As approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee, the bill contains $2.8 billion in dozens of allotments to tide various government agencies over for the rest of the fiscal year ending June 30.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said he hopes action on the bill could be completed today.

Johnson sought the $30 million authorized by the 1965 housing bill and some big city senators wanted to try to restore the entire $30 million today. But it appeared likely administration strategy would be to settle for the House figure of $12 million.

News in Brief

Trade Tide Turns, Sailing Still Rough

DAWSON

NEW YORK—The battle for trade has turned in the United States' favor for the first time this year but the war is far from won.

At stake in the struggle to boost exports still higher above imports are such things as the good name of the American dollar, the supplying of sufficient funds to lubricate world trade in general, and even the degree of inflation on the home front.

In January and February, imports were zooming ahead faster than exports were gaining.

Now the Commerce Department has good news—even if it proves to be only a temporary respite.

EXPORTS UP

In March this country exported 9 per cent more dollar volume of goods and services than in February. Imports also rose over the previous month, but only by 4 per cent.

At a seasonally adjusted $2,594,400,000, exports topped imports by $521.7 million.

But that is just about as far as the department's good news goes.

The gap between exports and imports will have to be much more than that, if the drain of dollars overseas is to be stanched. That is because the U.S. favorable balance of trade for several years now has been too small to offset all the other forms of dollar outflow. These spending, U.S. military outlays include foreign aid, tourist abroad, and private investment in foreign securities, loans and business expansion.

LOSS OF GOLD

Results of this long-standing deficit in the total balance of payments have been loss of U.S. gold reserves as other nations turn in their surplus dollars for the metal; occasional—but so far unsuccessful—runs on the U.S. dollar in world money markets; and the steady buildup of gold and dollar reserves in many of the leading industrial countries, while U.S. reserves have dwindled.

The story on exports and imports for the entire first quarter is much less pleasant than for March alone. In the first three months of 1966, exports advanced 8 per cent above the like period of 1965. But imports were running 12 per cent above the previous year.

At an annual rate of $28.6 billion, exports topped imports by $4.7 billion. But the disturbing thing is that this gap is smaller than for the entire year of 1965, when exports were running $5.2 billion above imports, to give the United States a big boost in its fight to trim the balance of payments deficit.

All hands, both domestic and foreign, agree that the international payments deficit must be cut deeply if the dollar is to be kept as good as gold in the eyes of the world. And if the dollar wobbles, that would only add to the difficulties at home of curbing further inflation.

MANY PROGRAMS

The U.S. government has been relying on many programs to combat the deficit. It has urged business firms to hold down their spending overseas for new plants, banks to curb loans to foreign enterprises, tourists to see America first, and above all for U.S. business to boost exports.

The export gain in March is heartening. But it falls far short of government goals.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I want your opinion on Safeway Stores. I bought 200 at 54 and got 200 more on a 100 per cent stock dividend in 1964. Should I hold this stock or get out with a small loss?" P.W.

A. Your cost price on Safeway — adjusted for the 100 per cent stock dividend — is 27 and you could currently get out at a small profit I like Safeway, but have not advised purchase since last fall, when it became apparent that due to intense competition, 1965 earnings were going to decline for the first time in over a decade. They did so moderately, which accounts for the relatively poor action of the shares.

Whether you should sell or not depends on your temperament and your objective. If bought at its high in 1955, your invested capital would have tripled. If you are patient and can sit out a period while the food chains adjust themselves to competitive pressure I would hold Safeway, the second-largest chain and excellently managed.

If you are prepared for greater risk and want quicker action, you will find both by switching to RCA, a leader in all phases of electronics, including color TV.

Q. "I am a 51-year-old widow and my need now is good income stocks. Would you please recommend some that yield five per cent, with good growth prospects? What do you think of Maytag?" H. P.

A. Since the yield on a stock is in inverse proportion to its growth prospects I'm afraid you can't have both in the same issue. I like Maytag very much for your purpose. The company trend in earnings has been generally upward in the strongly competitive appliance field. The yield, with extras, is 5.2 per cent.

I also like Libby-Owens-Ford Glass, yielding five per cent — also including extras — and I would suggest one bond, American Telephone 5⅛s of 2001, which offers a five per cent return.

Contract Okay Predicted in Coal Miner Vote Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mine workers' representatives vote today on a contract agreement aimed at ending a strike involving more than half the nation's 100,000 soft coal miners. Sources predict approval.

The contract reportedly gives all miners a raise of $1 or more in daily pay, retroactive to April 1. This would be slightly in excess of the administration's 3.2 per cent wage guidelines.

An estimated 23,000 miners were awaiting approval of the contract by the 200-member national policy committee of the United Mine Workers before returning to work.

As many as 60,000 miners were off the job during the two-week walkout, the industry's largest in 15 years. Thousands of them heeded a back-to-work plea from union officials and returned to the pits pending a final agreement.

WORKED OUT

Contract terms were worked out last weekend by union President W. A. (Tony) Boyle and Edward G. Fox, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

Directors of the association ratified the agreement Monday. Tuesday, the Southern Coal Producers Association took similar action. Companies belonging to the two associations employ about 80,000 miners.

The strike began April 11, three days after the union and three major independent producers signed a contract calling for an immediate wage hike of $1.32 a day for top-rated miners, increasing their daily rate to $30.

The top-rated workers — operators of continuous mining machines and inside electricians and mechanics — make up about 10 per cent of the industry's work force.

GRANTS INCREASE

The contract with the three independent producers also gave the top-rated miners another $1 per day wage increase next April 1. And it gave the estimated 90,000 miners not in the top-rated category a $1 per day raise effective next April 1. This would place the basic daily salary of the 90,000 miners at $27.25.

The major difference between this contract and the one accepted this week by the two associations reportedly is the clause giving all miners an increase of at least $1 per day retroactive to April 1.

It was reported the contract up for a vote today also retains the eight paid holidays and the revised vacation pay schedule included in the pact with the independent operators.

And it reportedly contains one key revision sought by miners — a clause saying a helper must remain within sight or hearing of an operator of a continuous mining machine. Previous contracts said the helper must remain "within the working place."

Wire Service Has Election of Officers

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Miller, president of the Gannett Newspapers, has been reelected president of the Associated Press.

The board of directors of the worldwide news cooperative, meeting Tuesday at AP headquarters, also elected Franklin D. Schurz of the South Bend (Ind.) Tribune as first vice president. Bernard H. Ridder Jr. of the St. Paul Dispatch and the Pioneer Press was elected second vice president.

Harry T. Montgomery, deputy general manager of the Associated Press, was reelected secretary and Robert Booth was reelected treasurer.

Appointed to the executive committee, of which Miller is chairman, were Schurz, Robert McLean of the Philadelphia Evening and Sunday Bulletin; Benjamin M. McKelway of the Washington (D.C.) Sunday Star; Eugene C. Pulliam of the Phoenix (Ariz.) Gazette; Richard L. Jones Jr. of the Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune; and Henry D. Bradley of the St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette and Sunday News-Press.

Reappointed to the finance committee were Schurz, McLean, Pulliam, William Dwight of the Holyoke (Mass.) Transcript-Telegram and Max E. Nussbaum of the Moultrie (Ga.) Observer. Miller is an ex-officio member of the committee.

Youths' Prank Floods City

ARGONIA, Kan. (AP) — Gene York's prank cost the town 50,000 gallons of water and York 30 days.

York, 18, and two juveniles were arrested after someone opened three fire hydrants in Argonia and drained the city water tower.

York drew the 30-day sentence in Justice of Peace Court on a charge of "delivering the water upon the streets of the city."

Munich, Sapporo Named

Olympic Losers Upset

ROME (AP) — Detroit's Olympic boosters were perplexed, the Salt Lake City delegation distressed and the Canadians from Banff hopping mad today after their cities' failure to win the 1972 summer and winter Games.

The International Olympic Committee named the West German city of Munich as the 1972 summer site Tuesday and awarded the Winter Games to Sapporo, Japan, later in the day.

The nominations were announced after a closed session at the IOC's 64th meeting. Avery Brundage of Chicago, 78-year-old president of the committee, refused to divulge the official votes.

By unofficial count, Munich won on the second ballot with 31 votes, followed by Madrid with 15 and Montreal with 14. Detroit, it was believed, dropped out of the running on the first ballot. Sapporo reportedly captured the winter nomination with 32 votes, to 16 for Banff — while Salt Lake City and Lahti, Finland, received little consideration.

EIGHT REJECTIONS

"We're very, very disappointed," said Fred Matthaei Jr., chairman of the Detroit group. "We had hoped for some sentiment, at least, for our bid."

Matthaei added that Detroit, which has been rejected eight times, would try again.

While elated at Munich's selection, Walter Troeger, secretary of the West German Olympic Committee, was puzzled by the lack of support for the American city. "I don't know and can't understand why Detroit keeps on losing," he said. "I just cannot imagine what is against them."

Salt Lake City's chances were damaged by the opposition of ski areas in neighboring western states while Banff, rated the favorite in its third bid for the winter Games, apparently was hurt by eleventh-hour protests from wild life and conservation societies in Canada.

The conservationists claimed that the staging of the games would upset wild life in the Banff National Park. The Canadian Olympic people denied that would be the case.

"One day the Detroit bid will be the winning bid," said Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh.

"We have gained further recognition as an international city of sportsmanship," he said. "Detroit's presentation was acclaimed here in Rome."

Cavanagh, however, described "Detroit's disappointment as "very heavy" and "frustrating."

PNH Edges Vikings in I-L Loop Opener

A four-run seventh-inning rally saved Pontiac Northern's unbeaten baseball record and gave the Huskies a 7-6 opening Inter-Lakes League victory over Walled Lake's Vikings Tuesday.

Farmington also opened its loop slate with a 1-0 defeat of Livonia Stevenson as Dan Wolfman scattered six hits and seven walks while fanning 14 for the mound decision.

Waterford made up a previous postponement with a 3-2 win at Southfield, the Blue Jays' first defeat. The Skippers are 4-0-1 and will visit Farmington Friday in their I-L opener.

PNH had five of six batters reach base in the bottom of the seventh. Keith Deaton's one-out single plated the tying and winning runs.

Rick King had a double and single to account for three Walled Lake runs.

TENSE DUEL

After Kirk Hamilton singled home winning hurler Ron Moore with a second-inning run, Waterford scored the deciding two in the third without a hit.

Chris Norton singled, stole two bases and came home with the only run on Doug LeFebre's two-out infield single in the second at Farmington (2-2).

Settlement Nearer in Track Dispute

DETROIT (AP) — State Racing Commissioner Berry Beaman said Tuesday the five-week strike of horsemen against Wolverine Harness Raceway appeared headed for settlement.

Beaman said track officials and a committee of the Michigan Harness Horsemen's Association reached tentative agreement following a day-long meeting. He said the committee agreed to recommend approval.

Details were not disclosed, but Beaman said the track's offer was "better than anything yet proposed by Wolverine Raceway."

* * *

Horsemen were to vote on the proposal Wednesday. The track said it expected to start racing by Saturday night if the strike is settled.

Coach Takes Added Duties

MARQUETTE (UPI)—Northern Michigan University Coach Stan Albeck has been appointed assistant athletic director at the school, it was announced today.

The school said Albeck will retain his head coaching duties in addition to the new post. Albeck has been at Northern for nine years.

His teams have won five Michigan NAIA championships while posting a 148-59 record. He was named Michigan coach of the year by his fellow small college coaches in 1961 and 1963.

Arrows' Grid Card Listed

Five regular season and two exhibition football games are listed on the home schedule of the Pontiac Arrows this fall.

The Arrows, champions of the Midwest Football League in their first franchise year in Pontiac in 1965, will have home exhibition dates at Wisner Stadium against the Flint Blue Devils, Aug. 13, and the Dayton Colts, Aug. 20.

The regular season will begin Saturday night September 3 against the Ypsilanti Vikings followed by a home engagement against the Detroit-Rouge Steelers, the newest franchise in the MFL.

The Arrows' Football Company is now mailing out its season ticket order blank which has a 6-game package for $10. Student and family season ticket plans are also available this year.

FINAL TALLY — Detroit Red Wings' Dean Prentice (20) (at left) turns after flipping the puck past Montreal goalie Lorne (Gump) Worsley in the third period of the second game of Stanley Cup finals last night in Montreal. Prentice took the puck on a pass from Wings' captain Alex Devecchio (behind net) and fired it into the net from about 12 feet out. The score capped a four-goal third period for the Wings who won, 5-2, to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series. Canadiens watching the play are Noel Price (23) and Dick Duff.

2 State Golfers Stay Unbeaten

Draper Falls in North-South Amateur Play

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — Michigan's contingent was all but wiped out in the second round of the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament Tuesday.

Only survivors were R. Hunter McDonald of Royal Oak and Peter Green of Orchard Lake Country Club. Twelve Michigan golfers had started play Monday.

McDonald defeated Reid Towler, of Raleigh, N. C., 3 and 2. Green eliminated Richard Todd, of Rye, N. Y., 4 and 2.

Defending champion Tom Draper, of Birmingham, was knocked out on the 20th hole by Edgar Wholey, of North Providence, R. I.

SMITH OUT

Ben Smith, of Birmingham, went down, 6 and 5, to Bob Gardner, of Essex Falls, N. J.

Melvin Stevens of Livonia was defeated by John Birmingham, of Pittsburgh, 2 and 1.

Dr. R. W. Corley, of Jackson, lost to Pat Foy Brandy, of Reidville, N. C., 3 and 1.

John Jennings, of Birmingham, was ousted by David Boyd, of Atlanta, 1-up.

Six men with Walker Cup team experience and a host of ambitious players with less impressive credentials moved into today's third round.

Survivors met for fourth round play after lunch.

Bill Campbell, 1964 U. S. amateur champion from Huntington, W.Va.; Dale Morey of High Point, N.C., and Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., all played on last year's U. S. team against the British.

Charlie Smith of Gastonia, N.C., Dick Chapman of Palm Beach, Fla., and Bob Gardner of Essex Fells, N.J., were Cup players previously.

Ranger Star Said OK

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York Rangers scoring star Jean Ratelle underwent a successful spinal fusion operation at St. Clare's Hospital Tuesday.

Tribe Leaves Indian Sign in Records With 9th Win

By the Associated Press

Cleveland's streaking Indians have earned themselves a spot in baseball's record book right alongside the extinct St. Louis Browns. Now if they would just follow suit and go away too, Baltimore would be sitting pretty.

The Indians' ninth straight victory—a 4-0 shutout against Kansas City by Luis Tiant Tuesday night—equalled the American League mark for consecutive victories at the start of the season set by the Browns in 1944. St. Louis won the pennant that year.

Meanwhile, second place Baltimore kept pace with a power display that beat California 7-3. It was the Orioles' ninth victory in 10 starts, a .900 pace that would be good enough for first place most of the time but not in the American League right now.

Dave Johnson, Brooks Robinson, Curt Blefary and Andy Etchebarren provided the muscle for the Orioles with home runs that accounted for six runs.

YANKS WIN

Elsewhere in the American League, New York snapped a seven-game losing streak with a three-run ninth inning rally that beat Boston 7-6, and Chicago downed Washington 4-1.

Tiant's second straight shutout gave the Cuban right-hander a perfect 0.00 earned run average. He blanked Boston in his first start 10 days ago.

Against Kansas City, Tiant allowed just three hits and struck out 12. He got all the runs he needed on homers by Larry Brown and Duke Sims.

The Yankees, who had lost 10 of their first 11 games, took a 4-2 lead into the ninth inning against the Red Sox, but Boston rallied for four runs against Whitey Ford and three relievers.

LINE SINGLE

New York came back, however, tying it on a walk, three singles, a sacrifice and an infield out. Then Joe Pepitone's line single brought Roger Repoz home with the winning run.

Floyd Robinson rapped a two-run homer in the first inning and then Joel Horlen and Eddie Fisher combined on a seven-hitter that beat the Senators.

Robinson, who has hit in all 11 games Chicago has played, connected after Tommie Agee's leadoff single in the opening inning. He added a double later.

Hogan in Lineup of '66 U.S. Open

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ben Hogan, a four-time winner of the U.S. Open golf championship, will participate in the 1966 classic by special invitation.

Hogan had refused to participate in the tourney in recent years since he would have been obliged to undergo sectional qualifying rounds before being eligible for the event.

In this year's competition to be held June 16-19 at San Francisco's Olympic Country Club, Hogan will be an extra entry. The normal 150 places remain available with Hogan's 151st spot in the "special" category.

* * *

Hogan, 53, is the only one of the three four-time winners of the Open still active. Other four-time winners were Bobby Jones and Willie Anderson.

Unbeaten U.S., Yugoslavia 5s Tourney Foes

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—The United States, recipient of an unexpected gift from Brazil, takes on a tall Yugoslavia team tonight in the world amateur basket ball championships.

The Yanks, with a 3-0 record, moved into undisputed possession of first place although they were idle Tuesday night when Brazil upset the Soviet Union 60-58. The loss was the first after three successes for Russia.

The U. S. is the only unbeaten team left in the seven-country, round-robin competition. Following Yugoslavia, it takes on Brazil Thursday night and finishes against Russia Saturday night.

Avon Runners Triumph

Avondale trimmed Madison Monday in an Oakland A League track meet, 68½-40½. The Yellow Jackets took 10 first place finishes led by Ken Hebel who took both hurdle races and helped the 880 relay team win. Dennis Jacobs was on both winning relays and won the shot put.

DALLAS (AP) — Roberto de Vicenzo, called the International Sam Snead because he wins so many golf tournaments in so many countries, departs today for Casa Blanca on another of his globe-trotting jaunts. He'll play a televised match there with Tom Weiskopf.

He won his fifth tournament in the United States—in a 10-year period—Tuesday when he came from four strokes back, shot a four-under-par 67 and took down the $15,000 first money in the Dallas Open with a 72-hole score of 276.

* * *

It was, he revealed, the 120th tournament victory in an international golfing career that began in 1945 when he won the Argentine Open.

LONG CAREER

He has won the National Open in 13 countries—Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Chile, Peru, Colombia, Panama, Jamaica and Mexico.

Pistons Do a 'Flip' for Wolverine Ace

DETROIT (UPI) — Representatives of the Detroit Pistons and New York Knickerbockers met here today for a formal coin-flipping ceremony which probably will decide where All-America Player of the Year Cazzie Russell will play his pro basketball.

J. Walter Kennedy, the commissioner of the National Basketball Association will flip the coin to determine which of the bottom teams — New York in the Eastern division and Detroit in the Western — will get first pick in the NBA player draft May 11.

Pistons owner Fred Zollner and his staff, along with Knicks' president Ned Irish, heading a four-man delegation, will be on hand for the flip of the coin.

Late Outburst Carries Detroit to 5-2 Victory

Abel Praises Roger; Series Now Shifting to Motor City Ice

MONTREAL (AP) — Roger Crozier has been such a standout in the nets for the Detroit Red Wings during the Stanley Cup playoffs that Manager-Coach Sid Abel is running out of words to describe his play.

Crozier was the big man again Tuesday night as the high-flying Red Wings trimmed the Montreal Canadiens 5-2 to take a commanding 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series.

* * *

Sparked by a pair of game-saving saves by Crozier in the first minute of play in the third period, the Red Wings scored four goals and put the game out of reach before the period was three minutes old.

"Crozier was just terrific. He saved us again. What more can I say?" Abel said.

Crozier kicked up his right leg and used his glove, too, to rob Gilles Tremblay on the first Montreal rush of the third period.

STABBED SHOT

Seconds later, the Canadiens had a 3-on-1 break and Crozier stabbed Jean Beliveau's shot from the right side.

"I came to Montreal hoping to win one game," Abel said. "Winning two was more than I ever expected. This Montreal crowd has a great effect on the Canadiens. But we weren't bothered by it tonight."

"I think the whole difference here has been our skating," Abel continued. "And our older guys are really coming through."

Abel praised Gordie Howe, Bill Gadsby and Alex Delvecchio.

100 POINTS

Delvecchio kept the puck in the Montreal end almost singlehandedly after the Red Wings took a 4-2 lead and assisted on Dean Prentice's goal.

It gave him 100 points in the playoffs. Only four other players in National Hockey League history have done it before.

Bruce MacGregor started the third period barrage when he beat Montreal goalie Gump Worsley from a pileup in front of the net at 1:55.

Ab McDonald put the Red Wings two goals up 50 seconds later and they were off and running.

Montreal came back and closed the gap at the 12-minute mark when Yvan Cournoyer stabbed the puck past Crozier.

But whatever incentive Montreal got from the goal was dashed 12 seconds later when Floyd Smith scored for the Red Wings after a nifty bit of puck stealing in back of the net by Andy Bathgate.

POWER GOALS

Each team scored a power play goal in the first period, then couldn't do a thing with the man advantage after that.

Bathgate notched the goal for Detroit, his sixth power play marker of the series, and Jean-Claude Tremblay scored for Montreal.

The series now moves to Detroit where games will be played Thursday night and Sunday afternoon.

Christian High Schools Adding Football Teams

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Christian High Schools in Grand Rapids will for the first time field football teams as a major sport in 1967.

The two schools, Central Christian and East Christian, have received approval by the Christian Board of Trustees to institute the sport. The two schools probably will become members of the City League by the fall of 1969.

Local Track Powers Near Showdown

Kettering and Oxford moved toward a face-to-face Tri-County League showdown with track victories Tuesday in loop action.

Kettering trimmed Lapeer, 66-43, in a dual meet as Bill Penoza and Vince Griffin each won two events for the Captains. The winners also had teammates tie for first in two events.

Oxford (72) easily outscored L'Anse Creuse (39) and Romeo (25) in a triangular. The Wildcats are unbeaten in five meets. WKHS is 4-2, but has beaten all league rivals except Oxford.

The two will meet May 10th in another triangular at Oxford. However, the league title won't be decided until the Tri-County meet later next month at Oxford.

Mike Lantry and Tom Hoard had four of the six Wildcat first places in yesterday meet. Oxford placed two men in eight events, and scored in both relays.

Lakers Edge Celts; Series Evened, 3-3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was an angry Red Auerbach who faced a return trip to Boston today, after the Los Angeles Lakers closed a 3-1 gap and forced Auerbach's world champion Celtics into a seventh game in the 1966 National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Lakers, inspired by rookie Gail Goodrich, defeated the Celtics, 123-115, Tuesday night in the sixth game of the best-of-seven playoff match before 15,069 fans in Los Angeles' glistening Sports Arena.

The deciding game will be played Thursday night in Boston.

Many fans had counted the Lakers down and out last Friday, when they trailed 3-1 in games. But Los Angeles defeated Boston, 122-117, Sunday in Boston Garden and then returned home to tie the series.

Auerbach, visibly angry after Tuesday night's loss, spoke to only one newsman after the game and then left quickly. "So we lost," he said. "So what? Are we supposed to be invincible?"

The loss was a bitter disappointment to Auerbach, who retires this season after 21 years as a coach and after seven straight NBA titles. He's still hoping the Celtics give him his 1,037th victory — and eighth NBA trophy.

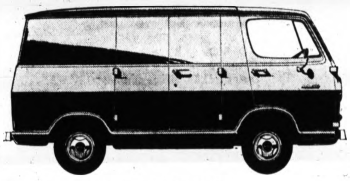
THE GMC LIGHT-HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP
THE SALES EVENT OF THE CENTURY



Our champion gives a lot of credit to smart handling.

Why it can swing inside a 38-foot circle with just a turn of a steering wheel. If that isn't smart handling, what is? Of course, Handi-Van became the champion because of other reasons, too. Its breeding is an example. Made, sold and serviced by truck people. It's so proud of this fact that it carries the three letters "GMC" wherever it goes. If this isn't enough proof that Handi-Van is the sole owner of the Light-Heavyweight Championship title, your GMC Truck dealer has the convincer. A one-two k.o. punch—price and trade-in. But don't worry. He's a nice guy. You never take it on the chin in his place. See him soon.

Small Fry League to Meet in Orion

A Detroit Tigers' film will highlight the registration program of the Lake Orion Small Fry League Saturday.

The program will be in the gymnasium of the intermediate school in Lake Orion. Registrations for boys and girls 7 to 18 years old will begin at 7 p.m. and be followed by the film.

Additional information is available from Toby Aldrich, 737 Lakefield, Clarkston.

Walled Lake's Golfers Maintain Win Streak

Walled Lake's golf team remained unbeaten by nudging Livonia Bentley at Idlewyld Golf Course, 164-166. Russ Herron of the Vikings and the losers' Steve Kazmer each had 38s.

Birmingham Brother Rice dropped its first in three outings by losing to University of Detroit HS, 168-173. The Warriors' top man was Bob Marsh with 41.

Area Athletes on Sport Teams at Ferris State

Two participants in Pontiac's summer men's baseball league, a city tennis player and a Wixom trackman are candidates for Ferris State College spring sports teams.

Freshman Ed Sparkman from Milford, a left-handed pitcher and outfielder for Pontiac Business Institute last season, and catcher Chuck Gramlich, former M. G. Collision player, are the baseball candidates.

Gramlich, a senior from Royal Oak, was an National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics All-America selection last spring.

Berkley's Walt Wisniewski is a sophomore mound hopeful.

Rick Huges of Wixom, former Walled Lake High School athlete, is a freshman sprinter on the track roster. Sophomore Ron Toroni of Pontiac is the tennis team condiate.

Mikemen Atop League

St. Michael stayed atop the Macomb Catholic League baseball race with a 4-1 conquest of Marine City Holy Cross yesterday.

St. Frederick suffered a no-hit defeat by Utica St. Lawrence, 8-0, and Richmond St. Augustine opened its campaign impressively, bombing New Baltimore St. Mary, 11-0.

Steve Kraft drove in three runs with a single and double to back Pat Thornberry's two-hit mound work as St. Mike won its third straight.

St. Lawrence's Richetta whiffed 17 St. Fred (1-2) batters and had a six-run second inning to make his work easier.

In a Northwest Catholic League contest, Orchard Lake St. Mary dropped a 2-1 verdict to St. Andrew. Steve Schwagle singled home the winning run, after Ken Megge tied it for St. Mary (0-2) with a single.

Birmingham Brother Rice raised its mark to 2-3, scoring seven runs in the third inning en route to a 12-2 conquest of University of Detroit High School.

Carl Gromek went three-for-four. He doubled in a run and scored, and teammate Mike Bowen tripled home two and scored in the big outburst. Kenvin O'Conner allowed only a lead-off single in the seventh, one walk, two unearned runs and he fanned 11.

Kettering Squad Takes Triangular Golfing Decision

Kettering and Waterford's golf teams played triangular matches with teams from other leagues Tuesday. The WKHS Captains proved better in cold weather.

Kettering (7-2) posted a 210 in a five-man match at Bald Mountain Golf Club. Lake Orion and Avondale, both Oakland A League members, had 219 and 248, respectively.

Despite the high total, Avondale had the medalist in Gary Balliet, 40. Five other golfers had 41s: Rick Hurd, Dave Mollanen and Ed Rafalko of WKHS, and Gene Harry and Tim Daigle of Lake Orion.

Bloomfield Hills won the triangular at Forest Lake CC. The Barons had 166 led by medalist Bill Scott (37). Clarkston, like Hills a Wayne-Oakland entrant, posted 171. Waterford had 176 and saw its mark dropped to 6-2.

Handy Tips for Boaters

Some handy tips for those who plan to travel through locks this coming summer have been put together by the Army Corps of Engineers:

Know the rules and regulations governing the use of navigation locks.

Have at least 50 feet of mooring line.

Make sure there is a mooring ring or similar device on your boat.

Require passengers to remain seated during lockage.

Wear a life jacket when handling lines on deck.

Obey all instructions given by lockmaster. (He has the same authority over your boat as a traffic policeman has over your car.)

Travel at reduced speed entering and leaving locks.

Have fenders to save damage to your boat.

BOWLING

The second-half championship of the North Hill Lanes Classic will be at stake tonight as the tightly bunched leaders vie in the final night's bowling.

Hazelton Lettering maintained its one-point lead last week led by Arnie Reah (256-206—647); but runner-up Potere Funeral Home kept the pressure on by matching Hazelton point for point.

National Twist Drill picked up one point with a sweep and climbed into third place, two points off the pace. Fourth-place North Hill Lanes is three and a half back, but has an outside chance for the title in tonight's position round.

Last week's high game laurels went to Art Pearson who had 279, while Ed Jostock's 674 was the top total.

Most of the leagues have crowned their champions. A few of the top recent reports include:

300 BOWL

'700' Member Collects New Bowling Mark

Shirley Pointer underlined her recent charter membership in the new Pontiac chapter of the 700 Clubs of America with a career-high 704 Monday night at Detroit's Motor Lanes.

Mrs. Pointer

Mrs. Pointer, the only woman in the 700 club chapter, had 24 strikes while rolling 207-259-238 games for the Huron Bowl team in the All-Star Bowlerettes League final night.

Her performance sparked the team (2907) to a sweep, knocking Modern Bowler out of the championship and leaving Huron only one-half point from first place.

Mrs. Pointer, a veteran Pontiac area bowler, was the first local woman to break 700 two years ago with a 702 at Huron Bowl. She also had a 702 in Detroit in 1961.

Wednesday Golf League Forming

A new golf league aimed at business and professional men is being formed by the Pontiac Shrine Club.

Bob Keathley, 995 N. Cass Lake, president of the club, said the league will play Wednesdays at 1 p.m. at Morey's beginning May 4, and the membership is open to non-Shriners and non-Masons.

An organizational meeting will be Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Morey's. Keathley requests that those interested attend the meeting or contact him.

Detroit Loses to Weather

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers lost one to the weatherman.

The Tigers' game with the Minnesota Twins set for Tuesday night was postponed because of cold weather until June 24 when the two clubs will meet in a twi-night doubleheader.

So the Tigers slipped in the standings — and without so much as losing a game.

In fact, they are currently on their second best of the young (13 games) season and they are five games above .500, winning nine and losing four.

While standing idle in the cold weather Tuesday the Tigers fell to two games off the pace of Cleveland, which maintained its perfect record.

The Tigers will begin a two-game series with Kansas City here tonight.

Brotherly Love Missing as Braves Crush Giants

By MURRAY CHASS
By the Associated Press

Felipe Alou felt at home — and acted like it — but he still couldn't talk to his brother.

Alou, a Giant for six years, did as he pleased at Candlestick Park Tuesday night — but only after the game started. When that time came, he lashed five hits, including two homers and two doubles, as Atlanta crushed San Francisco 11-3.

But before the game, Alou had to stay away from his younger brother, Jesus, because of the enforcement of the National League's rule against fraternization among opposing players. A number of players have been fined $25 each for violating the edict.

On the first pitch from Bob Bolin in Tuesday night's game, Alou hit his fourth homer of the season over the left field fence.

The 30-year-old Brave then triggered a three-run third inning with a double, led off the fourth with another homer — his fourth in the last three games — singled in the five-run sixth and doubled in the seventh.

In one respect, Giants' Manager Herman Franks gave Jesus Alou a break by benching him for weak hitting — he had one hit in his last 17 at bats.

In other National League games, Los Angeles defeated St. Louis 4-2 and New York outslugged Chicago 14-1.

Sandy Koufax allowed 13 hits — tying the most hits he's ever given in a game — but a four-run Dodger first inning brought the left-hander his third victory of the season, the last two on complete games.

The Mets insured their victory over the Cubs with a six-run outburst in the eighth inning. Ed Kranepool, who followed Ken Boyer's three-run homer in the third with a homer of his own, singled in two of the eighth-inning runs, and Cleon Jones drove in another pair with a triple.

All-Star Bouts Planned May 7

An All-Star boxing show, sponsored by the West Bloomfield Optimist Club, will be held Saturday, May 7 at 8:00 p.m. at Pontiac Central gym.

Harold Dugan of Pontiac, recently elected chairman of the Detroit Boxing Association chapter, expects to have 12 bouts for program, featuring recent Golden Gloves champions from Michigan.

Training for the fights is being conducted in the gym on Perry Street, under the All-Star Lanes.

Tickets for the fight are available at Triple XXX on West Huron and at two Don Frayer's stores.

Adrian Takes Nightcap After Losing Opener

ADRIAN (AP) — Adrian and Defiance of Ohio split a baseball doubleheader Tuesday, Adrian winning the second game 2-1 after Defiance took the first 4-0.

Pitcher Lyn Maugherman, who lost the first game, scored Adrian's first run in the nightcap on Tom Smith's single. Steve Adair singled home Ron Hoag for the winning run in the second inning.

Hunters Picket State Capitol

Protest Doe, Fawn Shooting in Michigan

LANSING (AP) — A group of Michigan deer hunters put aside guns in favor of signs to picket the State Capitol yesterday in opposition to the shooting of does and fawns.

About two dozen pickets marched in chilly, 40-degree weather, buttonholing legislators arriving for the 10 a.m. start of sessions.

They carried hand-lettered signs with such slogans as "Stop Killing Does" . . . "Save Does and Fawns" . . . "Not even Batman Can Find a Deer in My County."

An original proposal for a two-year moratorium on the shooting of does and fawns has been approved by the Senate, while the House has rejected any such change in voting its own conservation bill.

The moratorium was first proposed after a poor deer kill last shooting season. Many hunters complained the State Conservation Department was allowing too many antlerless deer to be shot.

PETITIONS

Paul Harvey of Oscoda, president of the Michigan Deer Hunters Association, said his group organized the protest with the help of the Antidoe Association.

Harvey said he had some 200,000 signaturés on petitions asking for the ban on shooting does and fawns.

The pickets pitched a tent in front of the Capitol and said at least one hardy hunter was prepared to sleep there overnight to dramatize the protest.

Toad Really Works

E. V. Harrelson of Ellinwood, Kan., dropped in a troutline baited with a toad at Kanopolis Reservoir Oct. 1 and pulled out a 29-pound, 14-ounce buffalo fish. The Kansas Forestry, Fish and Game Commission certified the catch as a species record — exceeding by one pound, 14-ounces the previous record catch made by James Webster of Topeka.

Sounds of Nature Become Statistics

LANSING (AP) — Eavesdropping on bird calls is a popular occupation among a dedicated group of specialists these spring days.

State Conservation Department Game Division experts go out in the early morning or evening for their bird-spotting efforts.

The bird call count, as it varies from year to year in the same locality, gives a fairly accurate estimate of variations in the game bird population.

The experts go over the same ground every year. Some birds are easy to detect by their call.

"Prairie chickens, for instance, can be heard as far as four miles away," said Don Douglass of the Game Division. "They make a noise that sounds something like a man blowing across the mouth of a jug."

SHARP COOING

Sharptail grouse make a sharp cooing and cackling noise. They can be heard as far as a half mile away.

The best time to check on woodcock is around dusk. The spotter drives a route as long as 10 miles, stopping every half mile or so to count the number of birds that can be heard within two minutes.

Each male bird stakes out his territory. The number heard gives a pretty good estimate of the number of breeding males.

No ruffed grouse counts are planned this year—except on an experimental basis. The ruffed grouse is easy to spot, however. He will make a drumming noise on a log.

Later on, the bird spotters will be listening for mourning doves. They make a long, drawn out cooing noise familiar to many people, even near cities.

The spotter has to be a specialist on bird calls.

"He has to have good ears and know what he's listening for," said Douglass.

Fishing for Put-and-Take Trout Nears End

Season Opens on Saturday

Expect Best Catches From Area Lakes

Along the Outdoor Trail

with DON VOGEL—Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

The put-and-take era of trout fishing in Oakland County is about at an end.

Under a new policy, the Conservation department is stocking lakes and streams with sub-legal trout in the fall. The trout will be the legal seven inches by spring, but will be much wilder than trout stocked a week before opening day.

This means that the limit catches taken in a short length of time on opening day are becoming a thing of the past. A major drop in trout catches took place opening weekend in 1965.

A greater decrease can be expected when the 1966 season opens Saturday.

The expert trout fishermen still will be able to take a lot of trout, but the novices and once-a-year anglers will have their problems.

The only two spots where fishing will be "easy" Saturday will be the Fenton and Davisburg special trout ponds. They were restocked this spring after being drawn down for drag-line operations during the winter.

Lake fishermen probably will catch the most trout.

SHALLOW WATER

Rainbows will be in shallow water and casting or trolling with nightcrawlers and spoons should produce some good catches. Top area lakes are Pine, Elizabeth, Maceday, Deer and Union.

Stream fishing will be the most difficult. There are eight designated trout streams, or portions of streams in the county designated as trout waters.

Except for the Clinton and Huron, these streams fall into the sneak creek class. Without a fresh plant of unwary trout, limits are going to be hard to come by.

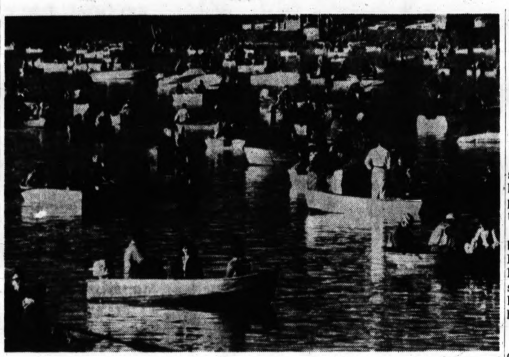
A new single specie lake will be open for fishing this spring.

Teeple Lake in the Highland recreation area was poisoned last year and restocked with rainbows. A list of single specie lakes and designated trout streams for Oakland County is found elsewhere on this page.

The splake season also opens Saturday. These trout are a cross between brookies and lakers and are found only in Cass Lake in Oakland County.

Dodge Park No. 4 will open at 6:30 a.m. Saturday only to accommodate splake anglers.

Stream levels in the northern Lower Peninsula are near normal. Stone flies are hatching on the Au Sable and Manistee systems. All lakes are clear of ice.



REELY BIG ATTRACTION — Anglers are only a rod's length apart on this lake near Tacoma, Wash., recently as they open the fishing season. The Washington State Conservation Department reported that 3,000 fishermen took more than 25,000 rainbows from the lake. Anglers had to park up to a mile away after placing their boats in the water.

Trout Pond Water May Run Deeper

Trout fishermen opening the season Saturday on two of Oakland County's special trout ponds may find themselves getting in over their heads.

Actually, the situation won't be quite that dangerous at the Fenton and Davisburg ponds. But the footing won't be the same as last year and a careless angler could get in over his waders or take a dunking.

The Conservation Department drained and drag-lined both ponds last fall.

Muck and silt that drew complaints from fishermen who were tired of sinking to their knees while wading has been removed. There are still some soft spots, however, and the department fisheries men warn anglers to be careful.

The small, upper pond at Fenton will not be fishable this year. It was drained along with the big pond, but drag-line operations won't be completed until later this year.

Both ponds at Fenton were poisoned out to remove an excess of goldfish.

New regulations are in effect this year at three of the four ponds.

Lures may now be used at Fenton, Davisburg and Bald Mountain. The flies only rule remains on the books for Pettibone. No live bait may be used at the four ponds.

Townsend Creek in Macomb County from No Name Lake to Hough Road and the Middle Rouge River (Johnson drain) in Wayne County from west of County Line to Northville Road are designated trout waters.

Splake become legal on Cass Lake April 30.

Poodle Gains Top Honors in Obedience

A miniature poodle stole the show at last Sunday's Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club's annual spring fun trial at Bloomfield Hills.

Owned by Ted Keibler of Clinton, the poodle scored 199 in each of three events — open B, utility and versatility — and was the highest scoring dog among the 165 entered.

Other winners were Robert McMurtery, Romulus, 196½ with a keeshond; in novice A; June Parker, Royal Oak, 198½ in novice B; Barbara Collin, Southfield, 197½ with a poodle, in open A.

Miss Collin also was the high junior handler.

Sub-novice was won by Marsha Fishman, Oak Par, 198; brace went to Pat Solderg, Toledo, 197½ with shetland sheepdogs; graduate novice was won by Fannie Pate, Detroit, 197.

Pat Armstrong of Pontiac was the top 4-H handler with a golden retriever, 192½.

Baseball Teams Huddle

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 20 major league clubs will meet jointly in New York, May 3, Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert said Tuesday.

In addition to his four no-hit, no-run games, the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax has also pitched a major leagues.

Crackdown Starts in State Rec Areas

"We're trying to nip illegal motorcycling in the bud," said Paul Wigg, manager of the Pontiac Lake recreation area, in reiterating the Conservation Department's earlier announced position.

The department has stepped up efforts to crack-down on the use of motor vehicles in unauthorized areas of state parks and recreation lands.

"Motorcycles are the biggest offenders and if we start now, maybe we will stop the problem before it starts," said Wigg.

Two men, recently apprehended by park personnel while riding motorcycles along bridle trails of the Pontiac Lake recreation area, were assessed fines and costs in justice court, according to Wigg.

TROUT ROYALTY — Art Hutchings (right) of Dexter, king of the annual National Trout Festival, and Queen Bonnie Kaye Omland of East Jordan give Sen. Raymond Dzendzel some tips on fishing. The festival will be this weekend at Kalkaska. Hutchings, who moved recently from Rochester, was also the 1965 king.

Adequate Finances Sought for Section

More adequate financing for the new recreation services section of the Conservation Department has been urged by the state agency's 15-member recreation advisory committee recently appointed by Gov. Romney.

The action took place last week at the Haven Hill Lodge near Pontiac during the committee's first meeting.

Although the committee did not come up with an exact budget request, it emphasized that the proposed appropriation of $42,000 is not enough to meet the section's plan for boosting the broadest field of recreation projects at Michigan's local levels.

The section, yet to be made operational, is an arm of the Department's recreation resource planning division.

TIRE TALK

For months we've been objecting to the ridiculous stream of misleading tire ads that have belabored the American public—the ½ off deal, the second tire "free", the buy the first tire at a fictitiously high price and the second at an unbelievably low figure, etc.

JOHN CARTER

The Federal Trade Commission has recently proposed new advertising guides which will shortly send most tire manufacturers and chain stores scurrying for the storm cellars. Such gimmick-ridden ads as the examples mentioned above will disappear. The FTC is actually going to insist on straightforward ads that the consumer can read and understand. We're all for it, but we predict the tire industry will be at the biggest loss for words you've ever seen when it goes "straight."

There'll be no speech problem at Carter's, however—we've been giving straight advice on tires for years. So if you're looking for unconfusion—drop in.

O-A Leader Madison Wins; Avondale Nine Drops 2-0 Verdict

Unbeaten Madison nipped Clawson with a last-inning rally to stay atop the Oakland A League standings Tuesday.

The Eagles scored three times, the final run coming in on Bill Pietroski's one - out safety, to hand Clawson a 5-4 defeat. Avondale's hopes suffered a 2-0 setback at Warren Fitzgerald.

Bill Kinnie's three - hitter stopped the Yellow Jackets (2-2), leaving them tied with Clawson. Madison is 3-0.

In a Southern Thumb contest, Dryden ripped Brown City, 11-0, behind George Couzen's two-hit hurling. South Lyon dropped a 3-2 verdict to Dundee.

In a Saginaw Valley Conference twin bill Monday, Pontiac Central split with Saginaw Arthur Hill. Cecil Martin pitched the Chiefs to a 1-0 opening win, but Arthur Hill rebounded with a 2-0 nightcap victory.

Avondale's Dave Renshaw fanned 10 but suffered his second loss when Kinnie tripled home a run, then scored on a squeeze play in the fourth inning. The losers twice left the bases loaded as Kinnie's strike-out pitch (13 whiffs) stymied them.

South Lyon had the early lead on Dundee thanks to Don Jones' three hits, two walks and a costly error for three in the fourth.

Couzens accounted for three runs with two singles at Dryden. The Cardinals led, 7-0, after two innings.

U.S. May Curb Pension Plans

Congress Panel Eyes Private Trust Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress ultimately may have to set standards for private pension plans covering millions employes in U. S. industry, it was suggested at the opening of a study Tuesday.

A Senate-House Economic subcommittee conducting the exploratory hearings, called trustees of the Western Conference of Teamsters Pension Trust Fund as the first witnesses. However, Chairman Martha Griffiths, D-Mich., told the management and union representatives "I want to make it plain we have received no complaint about your pension trust."

Mrs. Griffiths said, however, she has received many letters complaining about other pension plans, which she did not name.

SO DIFFICULT

"Some protest that requirements for qualifying are so difficult that only a few ever will receive pensions," she said. "Some letters are from retired people who say they were denied pensions on the flimsiest of excuses."

Mrs. Griffiths commented that private pension plans "enjoy considerable tax support," which can be justified if they perform a valuable social function.

Unless the pension plans satisfy high standards," she said, "they should not receive preferential tax treatment."

The Teamster Pension Fund trustees — Chairman Henry Ivers, a management representative, and John Marshall, a union appointee—gave most technical testimony about the fund. It was established exactly 11 years ago and last year had an income of almost $88.5 million, covering some 300,000 employes of 18,000 managements in 13 western states.

SMOOCHES FOR SENATOR — Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., the eloquent Senate minority leader, is speechless as he receives kisses from Mrs. K. Bartley (left) and her daughter, Mrs. David Barany, both of Lansville, Ill., at a dinner honoring the senator last night in Chicago.

'Russia Would Peril a Divided Europe'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dean Acheson warned Congress today of a heightened Soviet hazard to the West if French nationalism splits Western Europe into "a number of small to medium-sized and weak states."

In testimony prepared for the opening of Senate hearings on problems of the Atlantic Alliance, the former secretary of state endorsed the "empty chair" policy in dealing with President Charles de Gaulle's assault on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"We should do nothing on our part to prolong France's absence," Acheson said.

"We should keep her place ready and work for her return."

NEW PROBINGS

But he noted tartly that "the recent development of French policy has not drawn a picture of France as a dependable or an effective ally." He suggested that a weakened Western coalition might tempt the Soviet Union into new probings of the West's resolution.

Acheson helped draft the North Atlantic Treaty and signed it in 1949 for the United States. As lead-off witness at the series of public hearings of the Senate National Security subcommittee, he was called "Mr. NATO" by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman.

The 73-year-old statesman said the Soviet Union's ambition to dominate Europe has never lessened but "it takes two to tangle and they have not wanted to tangle with NATO."

"Germany is still divided; Berlin remains an island;...it is clear that the Russians do not accept the notion that military technology has reached a platau and that the present military balance is fixed for the future, Acheson said.

BIG GAMBLE

"They are gambling enormous resources on the chance that they may score a decisive advance in weapons systems.

"If the Western coalition now weakens and instead of a strong united front we find a divided one, with Western Europe itself split into a number of small to medium-sized and weak states, the result will be a Russia not more, but less cooperative.' '.

He said "the need for a strong Western coalition has not diminished. It remains fundamental to the achievement of the positive goals.

Acheson said France's challenge to NATO is an attack upon "the great European effort toward unity of the past 15 years. A more unified Europe strongly linked with North America could be a central powerhouse for the free world made up of 500 million skilled people producing a thousand billion dollars of goods and services annually. The potentialities of such a society are enormous."

OPPOSITE RESULTS

Instead, Acheson went on, this has happened: France has raised the banner of nationalism, proclaimed herself the "natural leader of Europe," given notice that she disapproves NATO policy, and called for removal from France of the NATO commands and American forces headquarters which were once urged to locate in France.

In promising her allies that she will help any of them which is subjected to "unprovoked attack," Acheson said, France reserves the right to decide when an attack is unprovoked.

"If, for instance, a stand taken by the allies upon demands of the Soviet Union is disapproved in France, would one be surprised if France regarded threat of force as 'provoked?' " he asked.

2nd Meningitis Death Reported at Marine Base

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — An autopsy has confirmed that meningitis has caused a second death at the Camp Pendleton Marine Base.

The post-mortem report Tuesday listed meningitis as the cause of death monday of Marine Pvt. Charles Pierson, 24, of Frankston, Tex.

Pvt. Michael Grove, 17, of Kansas City, Mo., died here Jan. 7 of meningitis.

A training unit in which meningitis is found is isolated for 10 days but continues maneuvers.

Tornadoes Hit Across Mississippi

By The Associated Pres

Tornadoes, spawned from torrential thunderstorms, dipped and darted across Mississippi during the night. At least one fatality was reported from a twister which struck in a rural area 40 miles southwest of Jackson, Miss.

The thunderstorms, which brought death and flooding to Texas over the weekend, continued to push eastward early today.

Portions of southeastern Mississippi, southeastern Alabama, most of the Florida Panhandle and extreme southwest Georgia were under tornado alert until 6:30 a.m.

A winter-like storm with snow and sub-freezing temperatures, lashed at Wyoming, Montana, Colorado, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

HOMES DEMOLISHED

The Mississippi Highway Patrol said Bertha Jones, about 60, was killed when a tornado demolished two or three small frame homes about three miles east of Goodman, Miss.

At Weathersby, Miss., a tornado flipped over a house trailer. An occupant, Mrs. Lou W. Craft, about 60, was severely injured.

Near Pascagoula, Miss., James Alvin Powe, 40, was struck and killed during a heavy rainstorm by a truck.

Other twisters were sighted in Mississippi during the night, and earlier Tuesday in Louisiana.

The Weather Bureau reported nearly 1½ inches of rain fell at Hopkinsville, in southwest Kentucky, in a six-hour period during the night and slightly more than an inch during the same time span was recorded at Tuscaloosa, Ala.

WINTRY WEATHER

Wintry weather continued across wide areas from the northern Rockies to Minnesota, with wet snow, strong winds and freezing temperatures. The Weather Bureau issued alerts to stockmen and warnings of hazardous driving from Wyoming and eastern Montana to northern and central Minnesota.

Freezing weather also was expected in northern Utah and southern Idaho as cold air spread from behind the storm in Colorado.

Wood Thick but Choppers Prove Scarce

WESTVILLE, Okla. (AP) — Woodchoppers are the most limiting factor in the production of charcoal at the company of Raymond Buzzard, full-blooded Cherokee Indian.

Buzzard uses 250 to 300 woodchoppers through the Oklahoma area.

"The wood is plentiful but it's hard to find people to chop it," he says. "It takes a special kind of person to cut wood."

He pays $7-$8 per cord for wood and says that a chopper willing to "hit it heavy" can make a pile of money with a chain saw.

Most of the choppers use this as a winter occupation; something they do between crops.

SEVEN KILNS

The need for choppers can be understood when Buzzard explains that he operates seven kilns and that it takes 240 cords of wood to fill one kiln.

Most of his employes and choppers are Indians — so he uses as a slogan for his product, "Made by Oklahoma Indians."

Avon Twp. Woman Is Hurt in Crash

A two-car collision in Avon Township at Walton and Arizona, Avon Township, is rehospitalization of a 46-year-old woman.

Dorothy Coulton of 2301 Arizona, Avon Township, is reported in satisfactory condition in Pontiac General Hospital.

The other driver was Othel Risner, 37, of 20 E. Newport, Pontiac, according to sheriff's deputies.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

The 12-year marriage of architect Edward Durell Stone and his wife Maria, 38, has ended on a sentimental note in New York.

A Supreme Court justice yesterday granted a separation to Mrs. Stone on the ground of abandonment.

As the couple parted in court, Stone shook her hand and said: "Goodby, Maria. Good luck. All the leaves have fallen finally."

The reference was to the song "Autumn Leaves," a hit during their courtship.

Mrs. Stone was awarded custody of their two children and undisclosed alimony.

Stone, 64, designed the proposed John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington and the Museum of Modern Art in New York.

New American Adviser to U. N. Named

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg has a new senior adviser at the United Nations in New York.

He is Richard F. Pedersen of Stockton, Calif., who was elevated to the personal rank of ambassador yesterday by President Johnson.

Pedersen, 41, a counsellor in the U.S. delegation at the United Nations, has been a State Department foreign affairs officer since 1950.

Mouse Has Rich Nest

Somewhere in Offerie, Kan., there's a mouse with a $73 nest egg.

Filling station operator Gary Herbert knows because he's looking for the nest.

Three $20 bills, a 10 and three singles have disappeared from his cash register in the past two months.

Monday, Herbert opened the drawer and caught the culprit — a mouse crouching among some shredded currency.

"I'm still hoping to find the 20s in good enough condition to turn them in for replacement," Herbert said.

Mental Patient Cash Hunted

State Seeks Sources for Pocket Money

LANSING (AP)—Pocket money to buy the little things which many persons would sorely miss—cigarettes, candy, cosmetics—doesn't come easy for a person confined to a mental institution.

Major expenses — dentures, hearing aids, wheelchairs—can seem out of the question.

That is why Michigan's Department of Mental Health reported proudly Tuesday on the activities of its special financial detectives—its 20 Patient Affairs Officers.

If there is a potential source of money for Michigan's mental health patients, their job is to find it. This could range from filing a Social Security claim to finding a relative.

SHARE BENEFITS

In 1965, the department said, these officers enabled more than 5,400 patients to share benefits totaling $2,743,06.

"Patients who have money in their accounts for the first time often gain a whole new outlook on life," said Dr. Robert Kimmich, department director.

The officers are based at 16 locations throughout the state. Their staffs have been bolstered recently to help file claims under the new Medicare programs.

The 1965 benefits total was nearly $500,000 above the 1964 total, Kimmich said, and the department anticipates another substantial increase this year.

PERSONAL NEEDS

Herbert L. Bodwin, the department's chief of patient affairs, said of the 1965 total, $1,489,442 was used directly for patients' personal needs — for items ranging from cigarettes to clothing to special prosthetic devices for handicapped persons.

Another $600,000 was carried over in patients' individual accounts for the new year, he added.

Once a patient's balance is enough to provide for immediately upcoming personal needs, some of the money sometimes is used to pay his back bills at the institution where he lives, Bodwin said.

Between Jan. 1, 1965, and March 1, 1966, Bodwin said, officers filed 7,177 Social Security claims on behalf of patients and nearly 1,400 Veterans Administration claims. He estimated about 6,000 Michigan patients will be eligible for Medicare.

Dentist Taking No Chances

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Smokey, a German shepherd who works for the Norfolk police, is sporting an inch-long shiny new white gold tooth which replaced one he broke while undergoing his periodical retraining course.

Patrolman G. R. Griffith, the dog's handler, took the 94-pound animal to Dr. Norman P. Moore's dental office to see if a crown could be made.

Dr. Moore agreed to do the work on one condition: "We'll have to give Smokey an anaesthetic," he said.

"I am not about to stick my hand in there until he is asleep. Sound asleep."

Dr. William Tolbert, who serves as an official veterinarian for the police department, administered a long-acting anaesthetic.

Motorcyclist Hospitalized

A 22-year-old Highland Township man was injured last night when he lost control of his motorcycle on West Road in Novi.

Listed in satisfactory condition in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital is James H. Hudson of 3995 Woodland.

According to sheriff's deputies, Hudson lost control of his vehicle at a railroad crossing.

Hearings Slated in Airline Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the special presidential emergency board convened to avert a strike of airline machinists has announced that hearings will begin May 6 in the complicated dispute.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who was named by President Johnson to chair the board, also set hearings for May 7, 12, 13 and other dates as may be needed.

Johnson convened the board last Thursday, and thus delayed for at least 60 days a strike which the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists had scheduled for last weekend.

Airlines involved are Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United.

Heavy Explosion Hits Indiana Powder Plant

CHARLESTOWN, Ind. (AP) — A heavy explosion rocked the Indiana Arsenal powder plant near Charlestown today, but no deaths or serious injuries were reported.

Forty persons were taken to Clark County Memorial Hospital in Jeffersonville, 13 miles away, but only one was admitted as a patient. His condition was listed as satisfactory.

Firemen Disappear at Magician Show

But it wasn't done with mirrors. They got a call that a house was on fire and had to leave.

Gas Sellers Are Bandits

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI)—Jack Brown drove into a service station and went to a telephone as two young attendants stepped up to pump gas in his car.

While on the phone, he felt someone nudge him. "Don't bother me, I'm on long distance," he said.

Finally, he turned to find that the man who had nudged him was bound and gagged. He had been robbed of $83 by the youths who serviced Brown's car. By the time Brown freed the attendant, the robbers had fled.

UAW Loses White-Collar Vote at Ford

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union was defeated Tuesday in the first attempt in its national organizing drive among Ford Motor Co.'s 30,000 white-collar workers.

The vote conducted by the National Labor Relations Board was 74-62 as the UAW tried to organize and represent 143 clerical workers at the Ford Motor Co. stamping plant in Walton Hills. Seven votes were challenged and not counted.

The results "clearly reinforce the company's belief that its salaried men and women neither want nor need the union to represent them," said Plant Manager Irving Kaufman.

UAW organizer Larry Klaver said the election was lost because 25 college students on a co-operative program probably voted against the union. "They think they are going to grow up to become Ford management," Klaver said.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ADrienna F. Stephens who passed away April 27, 1964. Never a day shall pass without loving memories of you. Sadly missed by children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF RALPH Welberg who passed away one year ago April 27, 1965:
The rolling stream of life rolls on.
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice the smile
Of the one who once sat there.
Sadly missed by wife Bernice, daughters Maxine, Lois and their families, Sons Earl, Martin and their families.

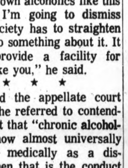
TV Patness of Tots' Names Makes Moms 'Heir' Minded

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — So many expectant mothers are worrying about what to name their babies that I've compiled an up-to-date list of swing, ring-a-ding names that you won't find in the back of dictionaries.



WILSON

I'm sorry that Mary and Jack — as in Mary and Jack Benny — aren't zingy enough if you want your youngster to get on the "Tonight" show.

"Soupy" of course is ideal for today's world, but I think somebody already has that.

You have to name your offspring Skitch, Toots, Bobo, Boo, Swifty, Lead Belly, Ringo, Muddy Waters, Zero or Gabby — something colorful like that — before Merv Griffin or Mike Douglas would even consider putting you on the air.

"Killer Joe" Piro, over at Shepheard's now, opened up a whole field of violence in names. You might call your baby Slicer Charlie or Mayhem Maxine. Of course we've already got Bing, Biff, Slugger, Wingy, Slapsie, Schnozzola, Rock, Rocky, Shipwreck, Choo-Choo, Slats, Rip Torn, Pancake Charlie, Ferlin Husky — and I think the world is about ready for another Conway Twitty.

Tuesday Weld, now, is a pretty name, and why not a Sunday Malone or a Miss Thursday Katzenberg?

The names of Toni 7, Bob Six, Auril Olrich, Happy Goday, Pedro Teitelbaum and Feibush Finkle show some of the imagination that we're looking for.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Roger Smith was stopped here by a woman who told him, "I know you and Ann-Margret will be very happy — you've been going together longer than some Hollywood people have been married!" . . . Trini Lopez has had singing added to his acting chose in "Dirty Dozen" . . . Stella Stevens told Fred (ABC-radio) Robbins that Playboy wants her to do another nude photo layout (and she's willing).

Lainie Kazan (Barbra Streisand's first "Funny Girl" understudy) may star on Broadway in "Never on Sunday" . . . Comic Pat Henry'll join Anthony Quinn in "Mr. Innocent" . . . The Il Mio discotheque introduced a new policy: live music . . . Aaron Spelling's engagement gift to fiancee Leticia Roman: a $127,000 honeymoon house . . . At El Morocco: Mrs. Anne Ford and Gen. John Coulter (who was married to the late Constance Bennett).

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Don Rickles' wife is attending a cooking school, but says she hasn't begun cooking yet: "I'm only up to thawing."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The only thing keeping some families close is having just one TV set in the house.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "A new father never realizes how deeply indebted he is to society until he gets the obstetrician's bill."—O. A. Battista.

EARL'S PEARLS: The difference between "She's good-looking" and "She's looking good" is about 20 years and 30 pounds.—Pic Larmour.

With the vice president getting a $750,000 home, Washington wags have already given it a name: The Humphrey Hilton . . . That's earl, brother.

New Wave of Wage Strikes Hits Italy

ROME (AP) — A new wave of strikes for higher pay hit Italy today, involving 1.5 million workers.

Union representing 1.2 million metal workers set a program of scattered local strikes.

Employes in various food industries, including milk, bread and beverages, stopped work for one day.

Unions of concrete and cement workers began a two-day strike.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Malaysia, Thailand and the Philippines are expected to discuss the establishment of joint air and shipping lines at a conference of the Association of Southeast Asia which opened here today.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indian government told Parliament today that it intends to keep in effect the much criticized emergency law known as the "defense of India rules," but legislation will be introduced to restrict its application.

The law was adopted in 1962 during India's border war with Communist China. The government uses it to arrest grain hoarders and opposition politicians as well as persons suspected of subversion.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Premier Thanom Kittikachorn today dedicated Thailand's longest all-weather highway, a 400-mile road built with U.S. aid. The highway runs from Bangkok to Nongkai, on the Laotian border.

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Laotian King Savang Vatthana is scheduled to pay an official visit to the Soviet Union in mid-May, government sources said today.

After the Soviet visit, he will rest in France and then make an official visit during the July 14th celebrations in Paris.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Hsu Jen-shou, director of the railway administration, has been suspended after the indictment of 11 railway officials accused of involvement in the theft of $2.5 million worth of agricultural products from railway warehouses.

The governor of Formosa said that although Hsu was not implicated, he had been guilty of dereliction of duty.

Judge Won't Try 'Chronic Alcoholics'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — All chronic alcholic cases before Municipal Judge Henry W. Shatford will be dismissed, he says, "until society can provide some suitable place for the victims."

Judge Shatford dismissed charges Tuesday against what he called "chronic alcoholics" and said his decision was based on a ruling earlier this year by the 4th Circuit Court of appeals in Richmond, Va.

As the first defendant appeared before the bench, Judge Shatford said: "I have noted that you have had about 50 arrests for intoxication dating back to 1947. More important is the fact that your drunkenness has increased in the past six months.

"I am convinced from your record that you are an alcoholic and I am going to dismiss your case.

"Henceforth I'm going to handle all known alcoholics like this case — I'm going to dismiss them. Society has to straighten up and do something about it. It should provide a facility for people like you," he said.

He said the appellate court decision he referred to contended in part that "chronic alcoholism is now almost universally accepted medically as a disease. When that is the conduct for which he is criminally accused there can be no judgment or criminal conviction passed on it."

Air Force Plane Detained in Sudan

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — A U.S. Air Force Globemaster was being detained today after landing here unexpectedly Monday night.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the plane had been given permission to land. This was denied by airport officials.

The plane, with a crew of 10, was en route from Libya to Aden with a new engine for a defective aircraft.

No Food for 23 Days

Man, 66, to Walk 600 Miles

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—"I'm as young as ever, in fine condition," says 66-year-old Marion Pearson who starts today to walk 600 miles in 23 days without eating a bit of food.

Pearson, known as a "super walker" because of long hikes he has taken since 1920, and four other men were scheduled to stride off toward Richmond, Ind., early today.

Point of departure for the the hikers—whose ages range from 45 to 68—was the center of the International Bridge between Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and its sister city, Sault Ste. Marie, Canada.

"Man can walk long distances without eating," said Pearson, president of Grand Rapids Spring Service Co.

ONLY WATER

He planned to take only water during the jaunt. The others figured it would be enough just to walk the 600 miles.

Pearson said he has found his desire for food wanes after about the third day of walking. He predicted he will lose about one pound a day on the trip.

He intends to provide the Air Force with documentation on effects of walking the great distance without eating. He said his documentation will be used in medical studies.

Stepping along with Pearson are fellow Grand Rapids businessman Fred LaVene, 68; City Commissioner Earl Robson, 66, of Wyoming, a Grand Rapids suburb; Wyoming Lions Club president Duane Smith, 54, and Conrad Van Hoven, 45, a Zeeland mail carrier.

NEW RECORD

Smith said if Pearson lasts the full 600 miles it will surpass a 1927 trek by a Chicago man who walked 567 miles without food to Bald Knob, Pa.

$2.5 Billion to Be Spent on Research in 1966

BEVERLY SHORES, Ind. (AP) — American colleges and universities will spend an estimated $2.5 billion in research and development in 1966. Almost 80 per cent will be financed by the federal government.

The estimate was made by Industrial Research magazine in its April issue.

Cadillac Appoints New City Manager

CADILLAC (AP)—Donald L. Mason, 34, now an administrative officer with the city of Trenton, was named city manager at Cadillac Tuesday. His appointment to the $12,000 post is effective immediately, but the City Commission granted him a leave of absence to complete his separation from duties at Trenton. Mason succeeds Emil Meyer, who was dismissed Feb. 21.

Rail Merger Rulings Due

HEDY LAMARR

Actress Wins Acquittal in Shoplift Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The real-life drama docketed as "the people versus Hedy Lamarr" ended happily for the onetime film siren.

The dark-haired beauty's starring role as witness in her own defense swayed a jury of seven men and five women to acquit her yesterday of charges of shoplifting $86 in merchandise from a department store.

The prosecution had told the jurors the lines Miss Lamarr spoke from the witness chair constituted a "grade B scenario that backfired."

Fifty courtroom spectators applauded the verdict. Miss Lamarr thanked the jury, kissed her attorney and spent an extra 30 minutes in court signing autographs.

She obviously was relieved to see the curtain drawn on months of personal anguish.

IN JANUARY

Miss Lamarr, 52, was arrested Jan. 27 at the May Co. Department Store and was accused of taking 18 items ranging from bikini panties to hair bands and cosmetics.

After her acquittal, the actress shook the hands of the jurors and said to each: "Thank you very much" or "I knew I would get fair treatment."

Red-Inspired Students Seize Latin Campus

Vow Ouster Try Will Bring Fight to Death at Mexico University

MEXICO CITY (UPI)— The modernistic campus of Mexico University was in the hands today of Communist-led students who vowed they would fight to the death against any attempt to dislodge them.

Stolen buses had been used as the foundation for barricades to meet any attack by police or troops. Coeds armed with bicycle chains helped to stand guard.

It was not certain whether police and army authorities would honor the medieval tradition of "university autonomy."

A mob of 2,000 to 3,000 law students stormed the university administration building yesterday and forced Rector (president) Ignacio Chavez to resign under the threat of death. The Mexican television network reported that at least 35 other members of the university staff were forced to resign.

The only casualty reported yesterday was a student who strike leaders said had been pistol-whipped by a campus security official.

'VERY SERIOUS'

They said the student was in "very serious" condition in the university hospital.

In the past, such claims of injury have often proved false.

The mob seized control of the university radio station and broadcast appeals for support.

The rioters also cut off the campus's electric power supply, forcing cancellation of a scheduled Mexico-Paraguay soccer game in the university stadium.

Riot police on the alert surrounded the university grounds today.

OCC Campus Bids Over Cost Estimates

Bids opened yesterday on the second phase of construction for Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus ranged from nearly $1 million to $1.3 million over the $8.3 million estimated cost.

The board will decide May 5 whether to enter a contract on the Farmington Township campus project or reject all bids.

Low bidder among the three general contractors submitting proposals was the R. E. Dailey Co. based in New York. Its bid was $9,227,700.

Barton-Malow Co. entered a proposal of $9,463,000 and the J. A. Utley Co. bid $9,586,000. Both are metropolitan area firms.

The Utley Co. was awarded the contract last fall for the first phase of construction on Orchard Ridge which is a $5,641,000 project.

College administrators will analyze the bids and prepare a recommendation for consideration of the board of trustees.

The board could accept a bid as submitted, order some cutbacks to reduce cost or reject all bids.

POSSIBLE DATE

If the board accepts a bid May 5, construction probably would get underway by June.

The timetable calls for completion of the firt phase of construction of the campus by August of next year; completion of the second stage by early 1968.

Sale of $9 million in bonds to underwrite the second phase of construction was approved by the college board in February.

Approval of the sale by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission still is pending but expected soon.

An ultimate enrollment of 5,000 students is projected for the Orchard Ridge Campus.

Rhodesia Talks Start--Wilson

Search for Solution to Rebellion Sought

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson announced today that informal talks have begun with Rhodesia in search for a solution to its rebellion.

The announcement came as Wilson's private secretary, Oliver Wright, was in Salisbury, Rhodesia.

Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia told his Parliament in Salisbury yesterday that his minority white government was willing to enter into talks with Britain without preconditions. His tone seemed conciliatory.

Wilson told the House of Commons today the informal talks began Friday.

Wilson said the talks are "directed only to see whether a basis for negotiations genuinely exists and are without commitment on either side."

Wilson said he sent Wright, who is one of his closest advisers on overseas affairs, to Salisbury last week.

On Friday, Wright and John Hennings, chief of Britain's diplomatic mission in the Rhodesian capital, conferred with Prime Minister Ian Smith.

VICTIMS OF BLAST — The body of one of the victims of a Viet Cong mine explosion in Saigon today is being loaded on a stretcher as other victims lie in background. The powerful mine killed 11 persons and injured 40 at a bus stop crowded with Korean and other workers.

B52s Pound North Viet Again

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force B52s pounded North Viet Nam for the second time in the war today and again attacked the Mu Gia Pass on the supply route to the south.

In their first raid on the Communist north 15 days ago, the Strategic Air Command's eight-engine planes dropped 700 tons of bombs which set off landslides that reportedly closed the pass.

But a week later, U.S. spokesmen said North Vietnamese workers had reopened the mountain roadway and men and supplies for the Viet Cong were again able to get through.

The U.S. spokesman said no assessment had been made yet of the damage inflicted today by the raid on the mountain gateway on the Laotian frontier 230 miles south of Hanoi.

While the long-range American bombers from Guam struck the north, Viet Cong terrorists

Some of the Koreans had arrived in South Viet Nam only yesterday.

2 of History's Biggest Plans Before the ICC

Approval Will Mean Giant Corporations in East and West

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission unanimously approved today the merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads —the biggest merger in U.S. history.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission may redraw the nation's railroad map today with long-awaited decisions on two of the biggest merger proposals in business annals.

Today the ICC was to announce:

- Whether the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads may merge into a $5.3-billion corporation spanning nearly 20,000 railroad miles east of the Mississippi.
- Whether five Western railroads — chiefly the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy — may combine to form the nation's longest railroad, a 25,000-mile giant extending from Chicago to the Pacific.
- Whether the New Haven Railroad may drop its passenger service in the New England-New York City area, or whether a merged Penn-Central system should take New Haven's passengers under its wing.

The Penn-Central case has been before the commission since March 9, 1962; the Great Northern case since Feb. 17, 1961.

Twelve merger cases are

Flooding Hits Monroe Area

Breakwaters Can't Halt Windy Lake Erie

By the Associated Press

High winds drove the waters of Lake Erie over breakwaters in the Monroe area today, forcing families to evacuate beach homes.

Monroe County Civil Defense units stood by with boats and other rescue equipment in event conditions worsened.

Five families fled their homes at Grand Beach, six miles north of Monroe, after a night-long blow that spilled lake waters over 10-foot breakwaters.

A northeast wind of 20 to 25 miles an hour caused the trouble. Water surged over the tops of the breakwaters flooding roads of the beach area.

Shoreline beach communities along a 20-mile strip from Luna Pier on the south to Astro Beach on the north were affected.

COTTAGES, HOMES

Residents occupy both cottages and permanent homes.

Meanwhile, northern Lower Michigan's snowstorm had blown itself out after leaving up to four inches of snow in some areas.

The snowstorm swept an area from south of Cadillac to the Straits of Mackinac.

All roads were reported clear today. Warming temperatures melted the snow.

The Press Surveys the 'Developments'

Here in one of the fastest-growing areas in the country, it's only natural that a lot of news is made about zoning, renewal, subdivision development and property deals.

And the impressive Pontiac Press is well - grounded on these land transactions. You can plan on it. Don't miss tomorrow's "plots."

Area Forecast More of Same

Windy, cool, and occasional rain is the forecast for the Pontiac area tonight and much of tomorrow. Partly cloudy and continued cool is the outlook for Friday.

Temperatures registering lows of 35 to 42 tonight will edge up to 42 to 50 tomorrow.

Morning winds northeast to east at 15 to 35 miles per hour will shift to east to southeast tonight, and become westerly late tomorrow.

A low of 34 was the recording at 6 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The 1 p.m. reading was 33.

Hoffa: Regulate Safety Standards

Favors Full Coverage Bill

Wants Trucks Placed Under Federal Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union president James R. Hoffa called today for mandatory safety standards covering "all phases of transportation" including trucks.

The Teamsters head told the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee that while he endorses the objectives of the administration's auto safety bill, "I must express serious reservations regarding some of the means proposed.

"I favor a bill with mandatory safety standards — not merely the authorization in the secretary (of commerce) to promulgate standards two years from now if he thinks voluntary action has failed," Hoffa said in a statement to the committee.

Hoffa also said the secretary should be required to do this within one year. The administration bill would give him two years plus another two years after that before the standards would take effect.

'ALL PHASES'

"I favor a bill which covers all phases of transportation and does not exclude from its scope trucks presumably covered by safety regulations under the Interstate Commerce Act," Hoffa said.

He noted that ICC officials told Senate committees "that the ICC did not have any program or funds for the purpose of research — an area covered in great detail by the proposed legislation.

"The ICC concedes its inability to conduct more than a token inspection with its limited force of 99 inspectors covering a minimum of two million for hire carriers and a substantial portion of 12 million others registered in the United States."

Hoffa said "inspections by the ICC are sporadic, and it is estimated that ICC inspectors will not catch up with safety violators in less than five years."

He also recommended that the problems of "unsafe trucking equipment, the unsafe truck driver, and unsafe highways" should be dealt with by one office.

Hoffa urged that the administrator be directed and empowered to require dealers in used trucks to comply with mandatory standards before resale is permitted. He said any truck 10 years or older should be presumed to be unsafe, and the burden shifted on the owner to prove the equipment is safe, by complying with the requirements of annual inspection.

Hoffa gave similar testimony to Senate committees earlier.

The auto industry has declared that it favors the federal government having the final say in setting safety standards but the declaration met with skepticism from some congressmen.

This became apparent Tuesday as industry spokesman John S. Bugas outlined the industry's position to an all-day hearing by the House Commerce Committee.

Rebel Students to Confer With Detroit School Chief

DETROIT (AP) — Facing a student threat to resume a boycott unless a high school principal is ousted, Detroit Schools Supt. Samuel M. Brownell planned to meet today with leaders of the rebellious teenagers.

Brownell said he and principal Arthur T. Carty of Northern High School would meet with Northern pupils Charles Colding, Michael Batchelor and Judy Walker.

The youngsters — hundreds boycotted the school — ended a four-day walkout Tuesday, but Batchelor said "If he (Carty) comes back, we will come back out."

Carty was not at his desk in the school Tuesday. Brownell said Carty's absence was "only for the duration" of a meeting during the day. A school spokesman said Carty still was principal.

STUDENT THOUGHT

But the students apparently were under the impression Carty was out permanently.

In urging the dissident pupils to return to classes, Batchelor had told them: "We're getting everything we wanted. Carty is gone as principal of Northern."

Most of Northern's 2,300 pupils left their classes last Wednesday in a protest against Carty and what they said was a substandard education. The school's enrollment is predominantly Negro.

The decision to return to classes Tuesday averted a planned massive walkout at 11 more of Detroit's 24 high schools in sympathy with complaints of the Northern students. Attendance rose to 1,562 at Northern Tuesday.

BOYCOTT ENDS

The students ended the boycott after meeting Monday night with Brownell, Dr. Remus G. Robinson, president of the Board of Education, and a number of others.

Robinson reportedly promised the pupils then that Carty would not be at his desk Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Marcellus Ivory, a Northern graduate who is a representative of the United Auto Workers Union, scheduled a meeting for Thursday night to establish a Northern Alumni Association to further education at the school.

During the boycott, the pupils attended classes in three "freedom schools" set up to allow them to continue their education while staying away from Northern. The schools were staffed primarily by Wayne State University teachers.

SCHOOL EDITORIAL

The walkout originated in a demonstration last April 7 when students protested suppression of an editorial in the school newspaper. The editorial contended Northern students were not getting an adequate education, and some students said Carty suppressed the article.

ICC to Decide on Two Huge Rail Mergers

pending before the commission, including the recently proposed merger of the Chesapeake & Ohio and Norfolk & Western systems.

Approval of the mergers by the commission on the same day would represent a high-water mark in a relentless railroad merger trend of the past decade.

26 OF 48

Until today, the commission had approved 26 of 48 unification proposals since 1955, denying but four. Others were withdrawn or deferred by the railroads involved, leaving only the 12 pending.

It has been 13 months since ICC examiners Jerome K. Lyle and Henry C. Darmstadter recommended approval of the Penn-Central merger to the full commission.

Twenty months have elapsed since examiner Robert H. Murphy endorsed the Northern lines case and passed it on to the commission.

While other big merger cases remain before the ICC — such as the C&O-N&W proposal, or the fight between the Chicago & North Western and the Union Pacific for the Rock Island — few have generated the intense business world excitement of the Penn-Central proposal.

BIGGEST MERGER

Billed as the biggest corporate merger in U.S. business history, the system was envisioned as the third leg in an Eastern railroad "triangle" composed of the C&O and the N&W systems — themselves the products of mergers of smaller roads.

Missing in Atlantic

NEW YORK (AP) — A B57 Canberra reconnaissance bomber, with two persons aboard is missing today in the Atlantic somewhere between Massachusetts and Maryland, the Coast Guard reported.

MAN OF YEAR—Robert J. Hampson (right), Ford Motor Co. vice president and general manager of the Ford Tractor Division, presents the Town Crier Bell to Donald J. Campbell, 2745 Tallahassee, Avon Township. Campbell was honored yesterday as "Ford Man of the Year" in Oakland County.

Ford Citizen Award to Avon Twp. Man

Donald J. Campbell of 2745 Tallahassee, Avon Township, was named "Ford Citizen of the Year" in Oakland County for 1966.

A product design engineer at Ford Tractor Division in Birmingham, Campbell received the Town Crier Bell, symbolic of the award.

Three other Ford Tractor Division employes and wives of two division employes also were honored at the Ford Motor Company's community service awards luncheon held at the Kingsley Inn.

The six recipients were selected by a committee of Birmingham civic leaders from a list of 32 nominees.

FORD OFFICIAL

Awards were presented by Robert J. Hampson, Ford vice president and general manager of Ford Tractor Division.

A member of the Avon Township Board the past three years, Campbell is chairman of the township road committee and serves on the liquor, industrial, business and fire committees.

He is also a member of the township's zoning board of appeals.

Campbell has served in many Boy Scout volunteer jobs and holds the distinction of having organized and being present leader of the only active Sea Explorer Scout Ship in the Clinton Valley Council.

ACTIVITIES

Campbell also is active in church and civic association activities.

Turf, a product training and merchandising specialist for Ford Overseas Tractor Operations, gained his award for volunteer service as Birmingham Community Boy Scout Commissioner, and service as a director of Birmingham Estates Subdivision Association, a director of the Tractor and Implement Division Credit Union and a church worker.

Mrs. Sexauer, whose husband is a manager in the divisional controller's office, was honored largely for her efforts in organizing a campaign to beautify and make safer the area adjacent to the Bloomfield Plaza Shopping Center at Maple and Telegraph.

Mrs. Patterson is active in Red Cross, United Foundation and Girl Scouts.

Her husband is a supervisor in the administrative department for tractor and implement operations.

Miss Allen, marketing department secretary for Ford Overseas Tractor Operations, was cited for voluntarily serving as an undercover agent for the Michigan State Police and helping to smash a gambling operation at the Steren Assembly Club in Madison Heights.

Community service in school, park development, club and church activities earned an award for Wilson, assistant chief engineer in the product evaluation and test operations department.

The latest wave of terrorism in the Saigon area began April 1 with an attack on the Victoria Hotel, a U.S. officers' billet, which killed six persons and wounded 143.

Since then about two dozen grenades have been thrown, most of them at U.S. military personnel.

In the ground war, the U.S. 1st Infantry Division and the Marines continued two major searches for the Viet Cong, but so far reported only meager results.

SEARCH JUNGLES

After four days of scouring the jungles north of Tay Ninh City, 50 miles northwest of Saigon near the Cambodian frontier, the "Big Red One" reported killing 15 Viet Cong and capturing 570 tons of rice in Operation Birmingham.

The Marines said they had killed 31 Viet Cong since they started Operation Georgia seven days ago in Quang Nam Province south of Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon.

Fight for Life Goes On

CONSTANTINE (AP) — Larry Rink and Harry Griffith had similar forms of cancer of the bone. Both fought for life last month in similar experimental operations.

Rink learned yesterday that Griffith was dead.

"It sort of shocked me at first," said Rink, 23, of the southwest Michigan community of Centreville. But, he added, he's still optimistic, and is even shopping for an artificial leg.

Afraid? he was asked. "No, not really. Not any more."

Doctors removed Rink's leg last May, hoping to check the progress of his tumor. It didn't work.

NEW HOPE?

"Everybody knew except my wife and I that I had six chances out of seven it would come back," Rink said. "They never said anything to me about it."

But when Griffith, 63, of suburban Philadelphia, and Robert F. Allen, 29, of Tuscon, Ariz., took part in a cancer-transplant experiment, Rink's doctor thought there was new hope.

Rink flew to Buffalo, N. Y., where doctors at Roswell Park Memorial Institute paired him with Thomas E. Welker, 21, of Conrad, Mont., and repeated the prospective cure.

Cancerous tissue was removed from each victim and transplanted in the other.

MUST BE WATCHED

It was hoped each man's body would build up antibodies to fight the foreign matter—and the victim's own cancer, as well.

Griffith died despite the experiment.

Doctors say Rink, Allen and Welker must be watched for some time before it will be known whether the new treatment helped them.

Rink said X rays taken two weeks ago showed his tumor was 50 per cent better.

EFFECT OF YOUTH

He added he thinks his youth will help him through.

"Mr. Griffith was getting up in years," Rink said. "He didn't have much fight left. But I'm still young and I've still got some left."

Rink is staying here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Rink. He said they share his optimism.

"They were scared at first," he said, "but I guess they've got confidence in it now. I suppose they're worried about it a little bit."

Waterford Man Wins VP Post for UAW Local

Albert Lighthall, 1153 Coshocton, Waterford Township, was elected today as vice president of UAW Local 596 at Fisher Body Division's Pontiac plant.

Lighthall defeated Carl Sexton with a vote of 392 to 311 in a runoff election. The runoff was required because none of the candidates for the post in the general election April 13 received a majority of all the votes cast.

As vice president, Lighthall succeeds Lyman Cowley, who ran for president and was defeated by incumbent Donald Johnson.

Local 594 Sets Vote on Accord

The membership of UAW Local 594, GMC Truck & Coach Division, will vote Sunday to either accept or reject an agreement resolving 184 grievances about working conditions.

Union President Robert White said today that a tentative settlement on the issues was reached yesterday between the bargaining committee of the local and the company.

The settlement, however, is subject to the approval of the general membership.

Early this month members of the local had given authorization to a strike if the grievances were not settled.

The ratification vote will be taken about 3 p.m. following the local's regular meeting at 525 East Blvd.

Bloomfield Twp. Budget OK'd

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The township board Monday night approved the proposed 1966-67 budget with expenditures totaling $878,100 and revenue amounting to $857,450.

The deficit of $20,650 is to be made up in miscellaneous funds.

Township Supervisor Homer C. Case emphasized the need for passage of 2.8 mills in the Aug. 2 primary to finance public safety. The current supporting levy expires in December.

The new levy will be needed to retain and maintain the police and fire departments and road maintenance, Case said.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, the board asked the township attorney and Case to seek expert advice on the structural soundness of a masonry wall at the Bloomfield Commons Shopping Center, which the township board believes to be unsound.

The board also requested that action be initiated to have the wall properly constructed and maintained according to the dictates of a court order.

Shopping center and township officials have disputed in court the zoning of the southeast Lahser and Maple corner. The area was originally zoned residential, but shopping center representatives requested that it be zoned commercial.

The court ruled in favor of the shopping center, providing a masonry wall was constructed separating the shopping center from the surrounding land.

The township now maintains that the wall was not completed or extended as far as the court ordered.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Cranbrook Institute of Science will sponsor a lecture by Frederic A. Webster on how the bat can give lessons to engineering scientists at 8:15 tonight.

The lecture entitled, "The Bat and the Worm Gun," will be held in the auditorium of Cranbrook School.

Webster is affiliated with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Admission for the illustrated lecture is free to Institute members.

Students Seize Mexico Campus

Ordaz orders in federal troops, we will fight until every student backing this movement is dead," one student leader said.

University authorities have been quoted as saying Communist agitators are encouraging the student mobs. Three persons were arrested by federal agents yesterday on charges of activities "tending toward subversion . . . including the agitation of strikes at the national university."

The three have Argentine passports. They were carrying leftist propaganda literature and over $30,000 in cash when picked up, the office of the federal attorney general said.

ASK SUPPORT

Strike leaders have appealed for support "in the name of Comrade (V. I.) Lenin."

The university crisis began six weeks ago when a group of law students declared a "strike" and set up barbed-wire barricades around their school.

The students demanded the dismissal of the law school dean and the reinstatement of two students expelled for passing out Communist literature.

Chavez became their target when he refused to give in to their demands. Strike leaders charged he sent "hired goons" to lead attacks by antistrike students.

More than 130 students have been injured in clashes between the two factions in the past week.

House-Size Law in City Challenged

A recently adopted city zoning ordinance amendment stipulating the minimum size of a single-family home was challenged last night by a Detroit builder.

Louis Geer, vice president of Belaire Home Builders of Detroit, questioned the ordinance requirement that set the minimum house size at "at least 1,000 square feet."

He said the footage requirement did not take into account the difference between a house with a full basement and a slab floor house with a utility room.

Geer's complaint was heard by the City Commission, but was referred to the City Planning Commission, which had recommended the ordinance amendment.

Geer claimed that adding the required number of feet to the house he builds would hike the cost of the house $1,000.

PLUS BASEMENT

The builder said his house has 872 square feet of floor space plus a basement.

Geer, who objected to turning the matter back to the planning commission because of the estimated six to eight weeks time involved, also claimed that private builders should have been consulted in drafting the housing standards.

Asked if the city planning staff had consulted private builders, Planning Director James L. Bates commented, "I thought we had, but I guess not."

Geer claimed he was one of only three main builders putting up most of the new homes in Pontiac. He said he had constructed 500 to 600 homes in 12 years of doing business here.

OPPOSES DELAY

He opposed the delay in considering any change to the ordinance because he had applications for 18 homes pending.

Geer said adding $1,000 to the cost of his house, priced from $12,0000 to $12,500, would make a difference in getting mortgage clearances.

RUINS IN RUSSIA — This is a view of street in Tashkent, a city of more than one million inhabitants in south central Russia, after the city's worst earthquake in 98 years.

Quake Survivors Hunted in Russian City

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — Rescue workers today dug in the debris of homes and buildings for survivors of a predawn killer earthquake that almost flattened the "old city" area of this ancient Asian crossroads.

At least four persons were reported killed and 150 others hospitalized by the quake yesterday that exploded directly beneath this city of 1,127,000, destroying many homes, several hospitals, buildings and empty schoolhouses.

But observers feared that the casualty toll might rise today as emergency workers searched the rubble of primitive one-story homes which collapsed on their sleeping occupants in the city's old quarter.

Survivors said the modern part of Tashkent — most of it built under Soviet rule — was barely touched by the seven quakes.

Other tremors were reported later in the day, but the Kremlin made no announcements of additional damage or casualties.

TOP-LEVEL COMMISSION

However, the seriousness of the disaster — the first quake to hit Tashkent in nearly 100 years — was emphasized when a top-level Soviet commission, headed by party boss Leonid Brezhnev and government chief Alexei Kosygin, flew here.

The quake was centered between three and six miles directly below the city where Genghis Khan and Emperor Tamerlane once held sway.

It also appeared to be the worst earthquake disaster to hit central Asia since the Soviet city of Ashkhabad was leveled and hundreds killed in 1948. The Kremlin shrouded that disaster in secrecy.

* * *

Witnesses said the old quarter of the city with its squat, mud-walled, one-story houses was virtually destroyed.

'CITY OF STONE'

Tashkent, which means "city of stone," is actually two cities — the modern, Soviet-built quarter and the old Moslem section dating back hundreds of years.

The most violent tremor registered 7.5 on the 12-point international scale — equivalent to about a magnitude of 6 on the 9-point Richter Scale used in the West.

Tashkent was the site last autumn of the peace conference between Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri and Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan arranged by Kosygin.

Shastri died of a heart attack there at the end of the negotiations.

Early reports indicated that the death and injury toll was relatively small while damage was huge.

Tour Shows Discontent to De Gaulle

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle's three-day trip through industrial areas of northern France has revealed considerable opposition to his domestic policies, particularly wage policies, informed sources said today.

De Gaulle returned to Paris late last night. During his tour, the president encountered sparse crowds and some hostility — in sharp contrast to previous visits to other areas of France.

Political observers said much of the hostility and indifference stemmed from his determination to hold wage increases this year to 4.5 per cent.

The unions want at least six per cent, and a rash of strikes has plagued French industry for the past two months as the unions struggled to force the government to abandon the wage line.

De Gaulle's reception was not always cool, however, and he was reported to be satisfied with his visit.

'Viet War Curbs Plans of Interior Department'

LAS NEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall says the war in Viet Nam has caused the first "hold-the-line" budget in his department since he took over six years ago.

"It has caused problems," he said, "but it's only temporary."

Owners Find Dog Gone 10 Months

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A Chihuahua dog named Tubby that disappeared during the severe floods here 10 months ago has been reunited with its owners.

The dog wandered off when Mr. and Mrs. James Balkema returned to their home the day after the flood last June to pick up some clothing.

The dog turned up in a suburban bank parking lot and was traced by its rabies tag to the Balkemas.

it's smart to
have at least one
2-trouser suit in your summer
wardrobe

it's smarter still
when you can get fine
Dacron®-wool and Van Carr
just $65

You probably wear your trousers more often than your suit coat when the weather gets really warm. That's when it's particularly advantageous to have an extra pair of suit trousers freshly pressed and ready to switch to. And if you're buying a two-trouser suit, we'd like to call your attention to a particularly good value. In fact — comparing it fabric for fabric, detail for detail, quality for quality with similarly priced suits — it's probably the best value you'll find. It's our own Van Carr — a suit made to our precise specifications. The fabric is the most popular of all summer fabrics: a lightweight, crisp, wrinkle-resistant blend of 55% Dacron® and 45% wool, in a subtly textured tropical weave. It's tailored — and very well indeed — in two- and three-button models with plain-front trousers. In fact, it's such a good looking, well-tailored suit you'd probably happily pay $65 for it even if it came with one pair of trousers. Take a look at it; try one on. And if it's exactly the summer suit you're looking for — just think of the extra pair of trousers as a pleasant plus.

Little Homesteading Land Left

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Even though there is still plenty of land in the public domain and the Homestead Act of 1862 is still in effect, you'd better think twice before you pull stakes and rush out to claim your acres.

No less an authority than the Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management (BLM) has quietly been trying to "de-emphasize" homesteading for the last year or so.

The reason is simple: although there is roughly 460 million acres of land — about one fifth of the total area of the United States — in the public domain, practically none of it is suitable for homesteading.

"Bluntly, you've little chance of homesteading," warns a recent BLM pamphlet. "This is true even in Alaska, the 'last frontier.'"

Better than half of the 460 million acres are in Alaska; less than one-thousandth of them are east of Montana and New Mexico.

NOT SUITABLE

And just about every one of them is too dry, too rocky or too remotely located for anybody to convert to a farm.

And under strict interpretation of the Homestead Act, that's precisely what you have to do with your 160 acres of public land to keep them.

Any land claimed must be classified by BLM as suitable for agricultural purposes. The anticipated return from farming must be enough to support the residents.

In Alaska, where as recently as six years ago the Homestead Act was "liberally" interpreted so that a prospective landowner could keep 160 acres by merely planting grass on 20 acres of it and building a shack, most of the prime land is now owned by the state.

'HARD' INTERPRETATION

There's still plenty of public land in the state but the "hard" interpretation of the Homestead Act applies.

And despite the fact that most Alaskans consider themselves "pioneers," today's farmer needs quite a bit more than an ax, a plow and an ox.

BLM estimates the cost of clearing a 160-acre homestead, erecting buildings and equipping a farm in Alaska may run from $40,000 to $60,000.

STATE-OWNED

You can, however, homestead up to 640 acres of state-owned land, which is sold at public auction to the highest bidder.

You can buy it outright or homestead on public contract, paying 10 per cent down and spreading the balance over the next nine years.

Improvements — such as clearing part of it, building fences or buildings, digging a well or constructing an access road can be applied against the annual payments.

What will happen to the 460 million acres of public land? Although for all practical purposes you can't homestead it, you can still use it.

BIG PLANS

BLM actually has big plans for it. Well aware that the present U.S. population is pushing 200 million and is expected to hit 300 million by the turn of the century, the bureau is embarking on its own "wilderness" program to preserve these vast open spaces in their pristine purity for nature-loving Americans.

BLM is now beginning to build a few rustic campsites and similar accommodations on the land.

But to bureau planners, the charm of the public domain lies in its primitive or near-primitive condition.

They don't actually forsee the day when thousands of American families will spend their vacations camping out on the sagebrush-covered Nevada desert.

IDEA REVOLTING

Indeed, to the bureau's "purists," this idea is about as revolting as the thought of a 40-foot billboard on their front lawn.

But they do argue that many Americans want to see and explore the vast open spaces for what they are.

In the neamtime, they will go about their quiet job of discouraging America's pioneer spirits from homesteading. Says one BLM official:

"If you're interested in becoming a landowner quickly and cheaply for God's sake don't come to us. Do it the easy way. Just look up your friendly real estate agent."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Pfc. David W. Terwillinger of Dearborn, Mich., was identified by the Defense Department Tuesday as killed in action in Viet Nam. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Terwillinger of Dearborn.

Divorce Italian Style Fizzles

PALERMO, Sicily (UPI) — Sicilian Francesco Cangemi rushed into the police station with tears in his eyes and cried out:

"I shot and killed my wife. I fired three shots. She was five months pregnant, and our four children now are orphans."

Police went to his home and found Mrs. Cangemi unharmed. She told police her husband had drunk too much wine.

All he did, she said, was point his finger at her and shout: "Bang, bang, bang." He apparently convinced himself that he had done the real thing.

FREEDOM FIGHTER—Dr. Bela Kalman Kiraly, 54, former major general in the Hungarian army and commander of the Freedom Fighters who led the 1956 uprising against Communist oppression, will receive a Ph.D. in June at Columbia University, New York.

Baker Asks Dismissal of Indictment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bobby Baker has asked a federal court in Washington to dismiss an indictment charging him with tax evasion, theft and conspiracy. He contended that the grand jury was biased by the extensive publicity and illegal procedures were used to gather evidence.

* * *

Baker, former secretary of the Senate Democrats, was indicted Jan. 4 on the nine counts of grand larceny, attempted income tax evasion and conspiracy.

In a petition filed Tuesday, Baker also said FBI agents used illegal electronic eavesdropping devices to gather information pertaining to his indictment. He asked the court to bar use of that evidence.

At least six Las Vegas, Nev., gambling casinos and hotels were "bugged," Baker alleged, during 1962 and 1963 visits by him and some associates.

Greek Shipper Linked to U.S. Tax Fraud

NEW YORK (UPI) — Six American shipping companies owned and controlled by Greek shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos used two phony Panamanian companies to siphon off profits, the federal government charged yesterday.

U.S. Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau obtained federal court judgments of more than $16.5 million against the companies, claiming that the two Panamanian companies enabled the American corporations to avoid at least that much in U.S. taxes over the past 16 years.

The American companies were the North American Shipping and Trading Co., Inc.; American Pacific Steamship Co.; Transoceanic Marine, Inc.; American Overseas Tanker Corp.; Ventura Steamship Corp., and Plymouth Tanker Corp.

The Panamanian companies which allegedly siphoned off the profits were the Companie Internacional de Vapores, Ltd., and the Greenwich Marine Corp., both owned by Niarchos.

Niarchos, 56, owns an estimated 70 vessels and is one of the largest ship owners in the world.

Seek to Rid S. Africa of Animal Traps

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Animal lovers in Durban, on South Africa's east coast, planned to buy the city out of animal traps and throw them in the sea.

They wanted 1,500 people each to give 10 shillings ($1.40) so they could buy all the animal traps for sale in the city.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals persuaded two of the major importers of traps not to bring any more into the country and to sell all they had on hand to the SPCA at cost price.

"We want to clear our house of these foul instruments," said SPCA chairman C. R. Stuart.

Animals caught in traps had torn their legs off in their efforts to free themselves, he said angrily.

Flees TV Dinners

LONDON (UPI) — Harry, a dog who stars in television commercials, ran away yesterday. His sponsor, offering a $140 reward, said: "We must have him back. He is a big part of our dog food campaign."

Missouri Senator Faces Tonsillectomy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., will undergo a tonsillectomy at Walter Reed Medical Center tomorrow.

"My doctors tell me the operation will leave me speechless for a couple of weeks, which is a poor position for a senator to be in, but I will be back in good form soon," the 57-year-old senator said yesterday as he entered the hospital.

Last December, he married Charlotte McDonnell Ford, 24-year-old daughter of auto magnate Henry Ford II.

need an auto loan?

borrow from yourself and save money . . . . at your C.U.

When you borrow money to buy a car, are you confused by interest rates? Do you know for sure how much your loan costs you?

Remember this: Most people who lend money are in business to make a profit. But a credit union is in business to help its members. It is owned by its members. That's why a loan from a credit union usually costs less.

There's no point in charging yourself high interest rates. In fact, many credit unions give borrowers an interest rebate at the end of the year. And they're the only ones who do.

Credit unions offer advantages you find nowhere else. For example, loans to all qualified members are insured as an extra benefit at no extra cost. If you die or are totally and permanently disabled, your loan is paid up in full.

So buy your car the low-cost way. Visit your credit union office before you walk into the dealer's showroom. You'll probably save money. Borrow from yourself!

If you're not now a credit union member, contact the CU where you work, or the one in your parish or neighborhood. Or write Michigan Credit Union League, 13235 Woodrow Wilson, Detroit, Michigan 48238.

Picture Brightens

Mart Continues Irregular Dip

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued to move irregularly lower today although the picture was brightened by islands of selective strength. Trading was moderately active.

Gains of about 2 points by du Pont and Boeing and a rise of slightly more than that by high-priced IBM helped relieve the dull picture.

In addition, SCM resumed its latest rallying phase, adding another 1½ or so. Goodrich, Zenith and U.S. Smelting tacked on a point each.

General Motors resumed its slide, losing nearly a point more. Chrysler fell more than a point. Eastman Kodak skidded nearly 2 points.

Following their report of lower earnings, U.S. Steel declined by another fraction while Bethlehem steadied.

Anaconda opened with a 3-point loss at 93 on 3,500 shares but halved the decline in later dealings. American Smelting showed a loss exceeding a point.

Sperry Rand, off a fraction, still seemed under profit taking from its latest upsurge.

Biggest transactions in early dealings was an exchange distribution of 143,500 shares of General Telephone & Electronics, unchanged at 45⅜.

Tuesday the Associated Press Average of 60 Stocks fell 1.6 to 349.9.

Prices were narrowly mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Seek to Restore Rent Aid Funds

Senate Unit Rejection Stings Dem Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces plan an all-out push on the Senate floor today to restore funds for a controversial rent subsidy program.

Democratic leaders were stung by a surprise 15-12 appropriations committee vote Monday to eliminate the $12 million rent allotment from a supplemental money bill. They worked feverishly in advance of the floor showdown to nail down the needed votes.

And they had substantial help from the White House. President Johnson repeatedly has endorsed the rent supplement plan as a key weapon in the battle to provide decent housing for low income families.

Under the plan, the federal government would pay the difference between 25 per cent of a family's income and the rent for adequate housing in projects built and operated by nonprofit organizations. None of the subsidies would go to individual, private landlords.

DEFEATED MOVE

In passing the omnibus 1965 housing bill, the Senate defeated 47 to 40 a Republican move to kill the rent subsidy authorization. Later senators voted 45 to 37 to keep in an appropriations bill a $12 million item for the rent subsidies. But the House balked and the funds were dropped at that time.

This year, in acting on the measure before the Senate today, the House supported the new program. It turned down, 198 to 190, a GOP move to kill the subsidies.

As approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee, the bill contains $2.8 billion in dozens of allotments to tide various government agencies over for the rest of the fiscal year ending June 30.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said he hopes action on the bill could be completed today.

Johnson sought the $30 million authorized by the 1965 housing bill and some big city senators wanted to try to restore the entire $30 million today. But it appeared likely administration strategy would be to settle for the House figure of $12 million.

Trade Tide Turns, Sailing Still Rough

NEW YORK—The battle for trade has turned in the United States' favor for the first time this year, but the war is far from won.

DAWSON

At stake in the struggle to boost exports still higher above imports are such things as the good name of the American dollar, the supplying of sufficient funds to lubricate world trade in general, and even the degree of inflation on the home front.

In January and February, imports were zooming ahead faster than exports were gaining.

Now the Commerce Department has good news—even if it proves to be only a temporary respite.

EXPORTS UP

In March this country exported 9 per cent more dollar volume of goods and services than in February. Imports also rose over the previous month, but only by 4 per cent.

At a seasonally adjusted $2,594,400,000, exports topped imports by $521.7 million.

But that is just about as far as the department's good news goes.

The gap between exports and imports will have to be much more than that, if the drain of dollars overseas is to be stanched. That is because the U.S. favorable balance of trade for several years now has been too small to offset all the other forms of dollar outflow. These spending, U.S. military outlays include foreign aid, tourist abroad, and private investment in foreign securities, loans and business expansion.

LOSS OF GOLD

Results of this long-standing deficit in the total balance of payments have been loss of U.S. gold reserves as other nations turn in their surplus dollars for the metal; occasional—but so far unsuccessful—runs on the U.S. dollar in world money markets; and the steady buildup of gold and dollar reserves in many of the leading industrial countries, while U.S. reserves have dwindled.

The story on exports and imports for the entire first quarter is much less pleasant than for March alone. In the first three months of 1966, exports advanced 8 per cent above the like period of 1965. But imports were running 12 per cent above the previous year.

At an annual rate of $28.6 billion, exports topped the import annual rate by $4.7 billion. But the disturbing thing is that this gap is smaller than for the entire year of 1965, when exports were running $5.2 billion above imports, to give the United States a big boost in its fight to trim the balance of payments deficit.

All hands, both domestic and foreign, agree that the international payments deficit must be cut deeply if the dollar is to be kept as good as gold in the eyes of the world. And if the dollar wobbles, that would only add to the difficulties at home of curbing further inflation.

MANY PROGRAMS

The U.S. government has been relying on many programs to combat the deficit. It has urged business firms to hold down their spending overseas for new plants, banks to curb loans to foreign enterprises, tourists to see America first, and above all for U.S. business to boost exports.

The export gain in March is heartening. But it falls far short of government goals.

Q. "I want your opinion on Safeway Stores. I bought 200 at 54 and got 200 more on a 100 per cent stock dividend in 1964. Should I hold this stock or get out with a small loss?" P.W.

A. Your cost price on Safeway — adjusted for the 100 per cent stock dividend — is 27 and you could currently get out at a small profit I like Safeway, but have not advised purchase since last fall, when it became apparent that due to intense competition, 1965 earnings were going to decline for the first time in over a decade. They did so moderately, which accounts for the relatively poor action of the shares.

Whether you should sell or not depends on your temperament and your objective. If bought at its high in 1955, your invested capital would have tripled. If you are patient and can sit out a period while the food chains adjust themselves to competitive pressure I would hold Safeway, the second-largest chain and excellently managed.

If you are prepared for greater risk and want quicker action, you will find both by switching to RCA, a leader in all phases of electronics, including color TV.

Q. "I am a 51-year-old widow and my need now is good income stocks. Would you please recommend some that yield five per cent, with good growth prospects? What do you think of Maytag?" H. P.

A. Since the yield on a stock is in inverse proportion to its growth prospects I'm afraid you can't have both in the same issue. I like Maytag very much for your purpose. The company' trend in earnings has been generally upward in the strongly competitive appliance field. The yield, with extras, is 5.2 per cent.

I also like Libby-Owens-Ford Glass, yielding five per cent — also including extras — and I would suggest one bond, American Telephone 5⅛s of 2001, which offers a five per cent return.

Contract Okay Predicted in Coal Miner Vote Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mine workers' representatives vote today on a contract agreement aimed at ending a strike involving more than half the nation's 100,000 soft coal miners. Sources predict approval.

The contract reportedly gives all miners a raise of $1 or more in daily pay, retroactive to April 1. This would be slightly in excess of the administration's 3.2 per cent wage guidelines.

An estimated 23,000 miners were awaiting approval of the contract by the 200-member national policy committee of the United Mine Workers before retrning to work.

As many as 60,000 miners were off the job during the two-week walkout, the industry's largest in 15 years. Thousands of them heeded a back-to-work plea from union officials and returned to the pits pending a final agreement.

WORKED OUT

Contract terms were worked out last weekend by union President W. A. (Tony) Boyle and Edward G. Fox, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

Directors of the association ratified the agreement Monday. Tuesday, the Southern Coal Producers Association took similar action. Companies belonging to the two associations employ about 80,000 miners.

The strike began April 11, three days after the union and three major independent producers signed a contract calling for an immediate wage hike of $1.32 a day for top-rated miners, increasing their daily rate to $30.

The top-rated workers — operators of continuous mining machines and inside electricians and mechanics — make up about 10 per cent of the industry's work force.

GRANTS INCREASE

The contract with the three independent producers also gave the top-rated miners another $1 per day wage increase next April 1. And it gave the estimated 90,000 miners not in the top-rated category a $1 per day raise effective next April 1. This would place the basic daily salary of the 90,000 miners at $27.25.

The major difference between this contract and the one accepted this week by the two associations reportedly is the clause giving all miners an increase of at least $1 per day retroactive to April 1.

It was reported the contract up for a vote today also retains the eight paid holidays and the revised vacation pay schedule included in the pact with the independent operators.

And it reportedly contains one key revision sought by miners — a clause saying a helper must remain within sight or hearing of an operator of a continuous mining machine. Previous contracts said the helper must remain "within the working place."

County Board OKs Valuation

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved the $2.6-billion 1966 county equalized valuation recommended Friday by the board's equalization committee.

This figure represents a 10 per cent increase over the county's 1965 equalized valuation of $2.44 billion, and is the highest one-year dollar increase ever recorded in the county.

The equalized valuation figures for all cities and townships of the county will be referred to Lansing for review by the State Tax Commission.

Final approval of the equalized valuation figures is the responsibility of the State Board of Equalization.

Equalized valuations of townships totaled $954,930,440 and the valuation of cities was $1,734,140,298.

Wire Service Has Election of Officers

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Miller, president of the Gannett Newspapers, has been reelected president of the Associated Press.

The board of directors of the worldwide news cooperative, meeting Tuesday at AP headquarters, also elected Franklin D. Schurz of the South Bend (Ind.) Tribune as first vice president. Bernard H. Ridder Jr. of the St. Paul Dispatch and the Pioneer Press was elected second vice president.

Harry T. Montgomery, deputy general manager of the Associated Press, was reelected secretary and Robert Booth was reelected treasurer.

Appointed to the executive committee, of which Miller is chairman, were Schurz, Robert McLean of the Philadelphia Evening and Sunday Bulletin; Benjamin M. McKelway of the Washington (D.C.) Sunday Star; Eugene C. Pulliam of the Phoenix (Ariz.) Gazette; Richard L. Jones Jr. of the Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune; and Henry D. Bradley of the St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette and Sunday News-Press.

Reappointed to the finance committee were Schurz, McLean, Pulliam, William Dwight of the Holyoke (Mass.) Transcript-Telegram and Max E. Nussbaum of the Moultrie (Ga.) Observer. Miller is an ex-officio member of the committee.

BOWLING

The second-half championship of the North Hill Lanes Classic will be at stake tonight as the tightly bunched leaders vie in the final night's bowling.

Hazelton Lettering maintained its one-point lead last week led by Arnie Reah (256-206—647); but runner-up Potere Funeral Home kept the pressure on by matching Hazelton point for point.

National Twist Drill picked up one point with a sweep and climbed into third place, two points off the pace. Fourth-place North Hill Lanes is three and a half back, but has an outside chance for the title in tonight's position round.

Last week's high game laurels went to Art Pearson who had 279, while Ed Jostock's 674 was the top total.

Most of the leagues have crowned their champions. A few of the top recent reports include:

'700' Member Collects New Bowling Mark

Shirley Pointer underlined her recent charter membership in the new Pontiac chapter of the 700 Clubs of America with a career-high 704 Monday night at Detroit's Motor Lanes.

Mrs. Pointer

Mrs. Pointer, the only woman in the 700 club chapter, had 24 strikes while rolling 207-259-238 games for the Huron Bowl team in the All-Star Bowlerettes League final night.

Her performance sparked the team (2907) to a sweep, knocking Modern Bowler out of the championship and leaving Huron only one-half point from first place.

* * *

Mrs. Pointer, a veteran Pontiac area bowler, was the first local woman to break 700 two years ago with a 702 at Huron Bowl. She also had a 702 in Detroit in 1961.

Wednesday Golf League Forming

A new golf league aimed at business and professional men is being formed by the Pontiac Shrine Club.

Bob Keathley, 995 N. Cass Lake, president of the club, said the league will play Wednesdays at 1 p.m. at Morey's beginning May 4, and the membership is open to non-Shriners and non-Masons.

An organizational meeting will be Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Morey's. Keathley requests that those interested attend the meeting or contact him.

Detroit Loses to Weather

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers lost one to the weatherman.

The Tigers' game with the Minnesota Twins set for Tuesday night was postponed because of cold weather until June 24 when the two clubs will meet in a twi-night doubleheader.

So the Tigers slipped in the standings — and without so much as losing a game.

In fact, they are currently on their second best of the young (13 games) season and they are five games above .500, winning nine and losing four.

While standing idle in the cold weather Tuesday the Tigers fell to two games off the pace of Cleveland, which maintained its perfect record.

The Tigers will begin a two-game series with Kansas City here tonight.

Brotherly Love Missing as Braves Crush Giants

By MURRAY CHASS
By the Associated Press

Felipe Alou felt at home — and acted like it — but he still couldn't talk to his brother.

Alou, a Giant for six years, did as he pleased at Candlestick Park Tuesday night — but only after the game started. When that time came, he lashed five hits, including two homers and two doubles, as Atlanta crushed San Francisco 11-3.

But before the game, Alou had to stay away from his younger brother, Jesus, because of the enforcement of the National League's rule against fraternization among opposing players. A number of players have been fined $25 each for violating the edict.

On the first pitch from Bob Bolin in Tuesday night's game, Alou hit his fourth homer of the season over the left field fence.

The 30-year-old Brave then triggered a three-run third inning with a double, led off the fourth with another homer — his fourth in the last three games — singled in the five-run sixth and doubled in the seventh.

In one respect, Giants' Manager Herman Franks gave Jesus Alou a break by benching him for weak hitting — he had one hit in his last 17 at bats.

In other National League games, Los Angeles defeated St. Louis 4-2 and New York outslugged Chicago 14-11.

Sandy Koufax allowed 13 hits — tying the most hits he's ever given in a game — but a four-run Dodger first inning brought the left-hander his third victory of the season, the last two on complete games.

The Mets insured their victory over the Cubs with a six-run outburst in the eighth inning. Ed Kranepool, who followed Ken Boyer's three-run homer in the third with a homer of his own, singled in two of the eighth-inning runs, and Cleon Jones drove in another pair with a triple.

All-Star Bouts Planned May 7

An All-Star boxing show, sponsored by the West Bloomfield Optimist Club, will be held Saturday, May 7 at 8:00 p.m. at Pontiac Central gym.

Harold Dugan of Pontiac, recently elected chairman of the Detroit Boxing Association chapter, expects to have 12 bouts for program, featuring recent Golden Gloves champions from Michigan.

Training for the fights is being conducted in the gym on Perry Street, under the All-Star Lanes.

Tickets for the fight are available at Triple XXX on West Huron and at two Don Frayer's stores.

Adrian Takes Nightcap After Losing Opener

ADRIAN (AP) — Adrian and Defiance of Ohio split a baseball doubleheader Tuesday, Adrian winning the second game 2-1 after Defiance took the first 4-0.

Pitcher Lyn Maugherman, who lost the first game, scored Adrian's first run in the nightcap on Tom Smith's single. Steve Adair singled home Ron Hoag for the winning run in the second inning.
