Wait Israel Reply to New U.S. Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States sought today a quick answer from Israel to an American compromise proposal for breaking the deadlock over withdrawal of remaining Israeli troops from Egypt.

The plan was presented to Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban yesterday by Secretary of State Dulles, reportedly with a request for a prompt reply which could come today or tomorrow.

The compromise would provide for an immediate United States declaration of support for free navigation of the Gulf of Aqaba by Israeli and all other ships, and for American backing of United Nations action to secure Israel against any future Egyptian attack from the Gaza Strip.

Israel had announced it would not withdraw from the two areas until it had assurances that (1) Egypt would not block Israeli ships from using the Gulf of Aqaba avenue to the Red Sea and (2) there would be no more Egyptian raids on Israel from the Gaza Strip.

The United States reportedly feels there is no prospect of getting such commitments from either Egypt or the United Nations.

DELAY DEBATE

The alternative to Israeli agreement to a compromise plan is regarded here as being a showdown over Arab-Asian demands for U.N. sanctions against Israel. Debate on those demands had been scheduled in the U. N. today, but the United States reportedly got agreement for a two-day delay.

Israeli troops occupied the Gaza Strip and the Sharm el Sheikh region on the Gulf of Aqaba during military operations against Egypt last October and November. Six U. N. resolutions have called for Israeli withdrawal.

The two-point U. S. formula was worked out by Dulles and his principal State Department advisers last weekend. Dulles was in touch during that period with President Eisenhower, who is at Thomasville, Ga.

The United States has not taken the proposal up directly with Egypt, but has informed U. N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjold. There appears to be no doubt that Hammarskjold has talked with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi about it.

Dems to Choose Big Delegation

Meet Tomorrow to Pick 114 to Represent County at State Convention

A record Oakland County delegation will be formed at the Democratic convention at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St.

There will be 114 delegates picked to attend the state spring convention, 28 more than allowed last year, Chairman Carlos G. Richardson said. The increase is due, he said, to the increase in Oakland County's Democratic vote last fall.

A convention chairman will be chosen and two county candidates will be considered for endorsement, Richardson said.

They are William Harvie of Lathrup and Mrs. Irene Murphy of Birmingham.

Harvie, a road contractor and former member of the State Highway Commission, is running for state highway commissioner.

Mrs. Murphy, a social welfare administrator who served seven years in the Philippine Islands, is running for University of Michigan regent.

The state convention in Grand Rapids Feb. 23 will nominate 10 candidates to run on the party's spring ticket. Posts include: State highway commissioner, superintendent of public instruction, member of the State Board of Education, two regents, and two members of the State Board of Agriculture.

Three supreme court justices will be nominated on the non-partisan ballot.

Kindness for the Kindliest of Men

Abraham Lincoln's kindly life was climaxed, at the very end, with one final, touching act of kindness snown him in return.

A young assistant surgeon from the army, by merest chance, was snatched into the center of the drama surrounding Lincoln's last hours.

Charles A. Leale, because he was first to respond to the call for a doctor in Ford's Theater, became the doctor in charge of the case.

Dr. Leale's memoirs give a terse story of the humble gesture of friendship which was a final symbol of human compassion.

Lincoln was a hero to Dr. Leale. Earlier in the evening the doctor had joined a crowd outside the White House to hear the President say a few words about the conclusion of the war.

"I was profoundly impressed with his divine appearance as he stood in the rays of the light which penetrated the windows of the White House," the doctor wrote later.

"The influence thus produced gave me an intense desire again to behold his face and study the characteristics of the 'Savior of his Country.' I changed into civilian dress and hurried to Ford's Theater."

Dr. Leale was the first person to enter the box after Booth's shot reverberated. He gave first aid but knew immediately that the assassin's blow was mortal.

He directed the distraught knot of men who carried Lincoln across the street through sobbing crowds. Then in the small room where they laid him, he sat in attendance at the shadowy bedside during the remaining hours.

It was Dr. Leale who offered the fallen hero mankind's final, gentle gesture of farewell.

These are his words:

"Knowing that frequently, just before departure, recognition and reason return to those who have been unconscious, caused me for several hours to hold his hand firmly within my grasp to let him in his blindness know, if possible, that he was in touch with humanity and had a friend."

Face It, Pop —This, too, Will Pass

DALLAS (AP) — "Honey, run down to the drugstore and get me some light green hair rinse. I'm out and I want to wear my new green dress tonight."

That's one of things husbands will face if the Texas Assn. of American Beauty Culturists has its way.

Just by way of demonstration, pretty Peg Murphy of Dallas had her hair changed from lavender to bright copper yesterday.

"A lady's hair color is as important a part of her makeup as rouge, or lipstick or any clothing accessories," said Duane Slater, Minneapolis stylist. "If her hair is not the right color, she simply is not beautifully dressed."

Colors, he said, will be selected to accent a woman's eyes and skin tones, and often to go especially with her fanciest outfits.

The 1957 look, Slater said, will accent wide swirls of curls from the ears up, with the hair falling close to the cheeks on the sides, and brushed up in the back.

Girl Drowns, Pushed in River

12-Year-Old Shoved by Young Schoolmate Into Ice-Filled Rouge

DETROIT (AP) — A 12-year-old girl drowned in a narrow rapid stretch of the icy Rouge River yesterday.

Police said a schoolmate told them he pushed her in and failed in his efforts to rescue her.

Dragging operations continue for the body of Geraldine Gatt, a seventh grader at the Ann Arbor Elementary School in Dearborn Township. Geraldine drowned in six feet of water.

Detective Robert Garton quoted an 11-year-old boy as saying he pushed the girl in the water "after she said my brother was stupid."

The boy, whose name is withheld, tried to rescue Geraldine by extending a stick, Garton said, but was unable to reach her. He then went home and told his parents who called police.

Garton quoted the boy as saying:

"We were down by the river trying to catch mice. We were on a little island, like, of ice. My brother tried to jump back (to shore) about four feet away. He missed and got his feet wet. Geraldine said he was stupid.

"I said, 'Well, he's smarter than you are;' then she tried to push me into the river. We walked farther and then I pushed her in."

Garton said the girl apparently went under ice and couldn't get back above the surface.

The child was held by juvenile authorities, pending completion of the police investigation.

Congressman Talks to 500 at County Affair

Asks for All-Out Effort to Retain GOP Position When Ike Leaves

By PETE LOCHBILER

The political challenge of 1960 was posed last night before an estimated 500 Oakland County Republicans at their annual Lincoln dinner.

Congressman Patrick J. Hillings (R-Calif) called for an all-out effort to retain national leadership when President Eisenhower no longer can top the ticket.

After censuring Gov. Williams, Hillings put forward a four-pronged program to put Republicans in office.

With a rap at what he called "coat-tail" campaigns — "We can't use Ike as a crutch," he said — Hillings made these suggestions:

1. Good candidates.
2. Party unity.
3. Enlistment of middle-of-the-road Democrats.
4. Precinct level compaigning.

This last point Hillings stressed by saying: "We should beat the opposition at their own game. In 1956 we were beaten, in many cases, by a better organization."

The 33-year-old congressman, once the youngest member of Congress and now serving his fourth term, sparked the 67th annual banquet sponsored by the Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club at Northwood Inn. There was a capacity crowd.

HILLINGS INTRODUCED

Hillings was introduced by Congressman William S. Broomfield, of Royal Oak. Former Congressman George A. Dondero, of Royal Oak was toastmaster.

Listing accomplishments of the first four years of Eisenhower Republicanism, Hillings called attacks on the President and his top aides "sniping."

He criticized Gov. Williams' charge the Republicans are losing support. "The Democrats are made up of two extreme

Ann Arbor Voters Facing Bus Bonds

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Ann Arbor City Council last night agreed to ask the voters for authorization and a $150,000 bond issue to purchase a city-owned bus line.

The Great Lakes Greyhound Corp. earlier notified the city it will suspend its intracity service here on March 5.

The city will request the general obligation bond issue at the spring election on April 1. Voters also will be asked to approve a ¼-mill tax levy to finance operation of the buses.

Elect President of USW Today

First Time Leadership of Steelmen Challenged —Dues Raise Is Issue

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Members of the United Steelworkers elect a president today. For the first time in the union's 20-year history, the leadership is challenged.

The issue: dues.

Running against the 54-year-old President David J. McDonald is a Pittsburgh district steelworker opposed to a hike in dues from $3 to $5 monthly. He is Donald C. Rarick, 37, who works at the nearby Irwin works of the U.S. Steel Corp.

USW members also are voting for other top officers, including district directors. In only a few instances are there any opponents for the slate led by McDonald, who succeeded to the presidency after the death in 1952 of Philip Murray.

The committee was formed after a USW convention last fall hiked the dues. Rarick claimed there was no roll call vote. McDonald said the vote was fair and the raise stood.

The same convention hiked McDonald's pay $10,000 a year to its present level of $50,000. Salaries of the vice president and secretary-treasurer went from $25,000 to $35,000 annually.

Rarick says he wants those salary increases rescinded, along with lowering the dues.

Plan Mental Testing of Accused Sniper

Request for a mental examination of Gary A. Taylor, accused as Oakland County's phantom sniper, was granted yesterday at the arraignment of the 20-year-old factory worker from Southfield Township.

A Feb. 27 date was set for an examination to determine whether there is enough evidence to bind Taylor over to circuit court for trial.

He was arraigned on a charge of assault with intent to murder, in the wounding Thursday of Shirley Eland, 19, of 200 Hickory Grove Rd., Bloomfield Hills.

Oakland County Prosecutor Fred C. Ziem said, "We hope to have psychiatrists examine Taylor within a week. If it is their decision that there is no need for a sanity hearing, Taylor will be processed through the normal criminal procedure."

"If psychiatrists say he is mentally ill, there will be a probate or circuit court hearing to determine sanity or insanity," Ziem said.

Bond of $50,000 cash or $100,000 in two bonds was set by Justice Richardson. Taylor's attorney, Gilbert Davis of Royal Oak protested, but Richardson refused to lower it.

Taylor returned to Oakland County Jail, where he has been since Saturday.

GM Keeps Auto Race Lead as Big 3 Output Picks Up

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Ed.

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors continues to hold to its somewhat reduced share of the auto industry's total passenger car output.

Of last week's assemblies, put at 144,091 by Automotive News, the GM divisions accounted for 68,980; Ford Motor 42,709 and Chrysler 28,600. The week's total compared with 140,411 cars built by all makers in the preceding week. Of these, General Motors accounted for 68,914, Ford, 41,352 and Chrysler, 28,652.

So far this year the industry has built 814,013 cars compared with 836,017 in the like 1956 period.

Most industry analysts expect total volume to top last year's assemblies within the next few weeks. There is no indication, however, that General Motors is planning an immediate upsurge in its overall total.

Ford and Chrysler, on the other hand, are expected to continue their efforts to add to their percentage of the industry's over-all volume.

On the basis of current output, General Motors is taking about 48.5 percent of the factory volume; Ford about 29 and Chrysler close to 20.

Authoritative production figures for the first three months of last year showed General Motors ac-

U.S. Reds to Vote on Policy; Kremlin Tells Mideast Plan

NEW YORK (AP)— The American Communist party decides today whether it will do its own interpreting of Marxist-Leninist principles or take Moscow's version.

The party, meanwhile, voted at its convention to move its headquarters from New York to Chicago within a year. It said this would place the leadership nearer farm and industrial areas and help link labor and Negro movements.

In the same session, it adopted a resolution accusing its leaders of having committed "left-sectarian" mistakes that led to isolation of the party.

"Left-sectarianism" is a Communist term identified with bureaucratic and rigid adherence to the Moscow line.

During the party today was another resolution calling for self-determination by the American Communists in interpreting the principles to guide them.

MOSCOW PROPOSAL

Meanwhile, in Moscow, Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov today proposed a mutual hands-off program in the Middle East, provided the Western Big Three abandons its military bases.

Shepilov told the Supreme Soviet, Russia's Parliament, that the Kremlin government had transmitted such a six-point proposal in notes handed last night to the ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France.

He said in effect that the Soviet Union is ready to stop sending arms to the Middle East if the Western powers will do likewise.

BACK EGYPT

He said the most urgent Middle East question now was "the complete withdrawal of Israeli troops from Egyptian territory." He said his government also supports Egypt's "just demand for full compensation of the damage caused" by the British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt.

Shepilov also lined his government up again with Cairo's demand that Egypt alone control and operate the Suez Canal. He said "law and justice are wholly on Egypt's side."

by Miss Eland led to the arrest by Royal Oak police Thursday night, after some 10 persons were shot at, and two wounded.

Ballistics tests showed, according to Ziem, that the slug that struck Miss Eland was fired from the .22 Winchester found in Taylor's car at the time of his arrest.

Protesting the high bond, attorney Davis said, "It was set so that it would be impossible for Taylor to furnish. He should be given the opportunity to gain his freedom to prepare his defense . . . if he has any," Davis said.

Taylor remained calm through the proceedings. He was dressed in the same black and white jacket and blue trousers that he wore at the time of his arrest.

TELLS OF DESIRE

In a statement Thursday to Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang, Taylor said he had a desire to shoot women, and told of preparations to fire on women skiers at local ski areas.

Meanwhile, other law enforcement agencies from various states are seeking information on Taylor in connection with similar incidents in their areas.

Maryland police today asked Oakland County authorities for a report on Taylor to be checked against the fatal shootings on June 15, 1955 of two young girls in Maryland. Nancy Shomette, 16, and Michel Ryan, 15, were shot from a distance with .22 caliber bullets as they walked to school.

Maryland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said that the police chief of the Maryland suburb in which the girls were shot has sent him a letter requesting information on Taylor. It is not known as yet whether Maryland investigators intend to come to Pontiac to question Taylor personally.

Niles Police Chief Arthur N. Pears said he too wants to question Taylor in connection with the slaying of a Chicago woman last spring. Pears said he will arrive in Pontiac Friday morning.

Mrs. Marian Davenjay, 27, was shot to death as she stood outside a Niles tavern. Pears said she had been shot with a .22 caliber rifle, "apparently by someone passing in a car."

Taylor, who reportedly admitted sniping at more than a dozen women with a .22 caliber rifle in Oakland County since December, said he shot at two women waiting for a bus on Woodward at 14 Mile Road as he passed them in his car Thursday night.

Dulles Would Speed Israeli Withdrawal

for hope that Egypt will go along with the position which the United States will take publicly and formally if Israel agrees.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, in a special report to the U.N. yesterday, cautioned that imposition of sanctions on Israel might add new conflicts instead of bringing peace to the Middle East.

The United States view is that American leadership on the Aqaba issue would win support of many other nations and the hope here is that Egypt would go along. If it did not do so, the issue could then be taken to the United Nations or some other action adopted, it was said.

In the case of the Gaza Strip, the United States believes that the area could be occupied by United Nations emergency forces, which are now in the Sinai Peninsula or, alternatively, could be watched over by United Nations truce observers who have operated in Israel and the Arab states for years. The United States would use its influence in the U. N. to see that the strip was policed.

Convicted in Holdup, Man Sent to Prison

The fourth member of a gang named in the Nov. 30, 1953 holdup of the Fox & Hounds Inn in Bloomfield Hills yesterday was sentenced to 20-40 years in State Prison of Southern Michigan.

He is Andrew Thompson, 34, sentenced by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams after conviction by a jury that heard testimony of another alleged gang member, Ted Sullivan, 32.

Sullivan is serving a 5-20 year term in Marquette State Prison for his part in the $5,600 robbery. Two others convicted on the basis of Sullivan's testimony, are serving long prison terms.

Thompson was extradited from Illinois. He was charged with taking the weekend receipts from the Inn safe after the bookkeeper and two waitresses were tied up.

He found his brother hanging in a bedroom closet with a leather belt tied around his neck. It was reported that Swindel had been despondent.

Cold Makes Hospital Lag

Although work on the new Pontiac General Hospital wing is three weeks behind, architect Leo J. Heenan today predicted that the project would be concluded before its expected 1958 completion date.

"The zero temperatures we had in January put the work three weeks behind," Heenan said. "But I believe we will more than make up this time when decent weather arrives."

Heenan said concrete forms are now being placed ready to pour for the sixth floor. The flooring in the boiler room is expected to be poured this weekend, he said.

"The mechanical work in the basement is 85 per cent completed," the designer of the addition said.

COUNTING IT UP—A happy grin lights the features of usually-grim Charles Van Doren who uses blackboard and fingers to tally the $138,000 he won last night on NBC's "21" show.

Defeats Kieran Jr., Dr. Griffith

Van Doren Tops 2 More; Winnings Now $138,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles Van Doren, Columbia University instructor who celebrates his 31st birthday today, has boosted his television quiz show winnings to $138,000.

Van Doren picked up another $16,000 last night on NBC's "21" show by defeating two opponents, John Kieran Jr., son of the former Information Please expert, and Dr. Hall Griffith, author and political speech writer.

The $138,000 figure made Van Doren TV's top single-show money winner but second to 11-year-old Lennie Ross of Tujunga, Calif., as television's top quiz show winner. Young Ross has won $64,000 on CBS' The $64,000 Challenge and $100,000 on NBC's The Big Surprise.

Van Doren scored a 21-0 victory over Kieran by correctly answering questions on George Washington and show music. It won him $10,500. He added another $5,500 on questions relating to bodies of water and queens. Points are determined by the difficulty of the questions.

He returns next week to announce whether he'll continue. The show has no limit, its producers said.

Van Doren, son of Pulitzer Prize-winning poet Mark Van Doren, receives $4,400 annually as a university instructor.

Here are the questions Van Doren answered correctly:

GOP Nominees Draw Dem Fire

Staebler Raps Choice of Foster for Road Job, Dean for School Post

LANSING (AP) — Two Democrats today jumped on Republicans for their weekend convention actions relating to highways, and for some other things, too.

Neil Staebler, Democratic state chairman, had this to say about the GOP convention selection of George M. Foster to run for the state highway commissioner job of retiring Charles M. Ziegler:

"They nominated Ziegler's deputy to carry on the same, old, tired highway building policies which have characterized the Republican administration of our highway department for the last 14 years."

"They changed the name on the ballot but they didn't change public disgust at Republican mishandling of highway matters," he added.

John C. Mackie, seeking the Democratic nomination to run against Foster, said a Republican highway program espoused by the convention "embraces an economic policy diametrically opposed to all modern highway financing opinion."

SEES DEBT BURDEN

"The burden of long-term debt implied in the Republican plan would impose an intolerable burden on the state and its local units of government," Mackie said.

Staebler said "the new leadership mask the Republican Party put on over the weekend will not fool voters at all on April 1."

Referring to the nomination of George Dean of Lansing, president of the Michigan Federation of Labor, for the state board of education, Staebler called him "a man who is commonly known in labor circles as an errand boy for James Hoffa."

groups," he said, "the Reuther party and the Dixiecrat party.

"The Republicans, however, are basically the party of the center — we get things done because we do not have extreme factions always at loggerheads." He continued:

'STOP SNIPING'

"The Democrats should stop sniping and state what they offer. But all they can suggest is to go back to Truman policies that led to the mess the Eisenhower administration inherited."

Hillings linked the Eisenhower political ideology with Lincoln's, saying it stood for a "maximum amount of individuality and limited government spending and interference."

He listed among major accomplishments the halt to Communist world expansion and the administration's "refusal to accept the status quo" in satellite countries.

VISITED REDS

Hillings, who recently visited behind the Iron Curtain, said, "Ninety-five per cent of the people in the satellites want freedom. Eisenhower's policy helped stimulate their hopes."

He also praised Eisenhower's stand during the Suez crisis, saying because of the President's calm, forceful action, "the immediate danger is now passed."

After the banquet, Hillings left for Grand Rapids where he made another Lincoln Day speech today.

Other speakers last night included Mrs. Kenneth Nichols, of Lathrup, president of the Republican Women's Federation of Oakland County, who called for unity and work among county Republican women.

She introduced Mrs. Peter Gibson, of Monroe, national president of the Republican Women's Federation.

George F. Taylor, club president, read telegrams from President Eisenhower and from Sen. Charles E. Potter.

A message to the banquet also was sent by Robert Todd Lincoln Beckwith, of Washington, D. C., a descendent of Abraham Lincoln.

Read by Dondero, the message called for Republican majorities in the next Congress.

Who Needs Mistletoe?

The Day in Birmingham

Highland View Rezoning Postponed Once Again

BIRMINGHAM — Once again the question of rezoning a parcel of land in the Highland View addition has come before city commissioners, and once again, no decision has been made.

George Cram, attorney for petitioners, Mrs. Harry Barton and Mr. and Mrs. James P. Cummiskey Jr., asked a three-week postponement since he is ill and was unable to be present.

Commissioners, however, asked those attending if they cared to be heard. The general opinion of the objecters was that they would like to see the area without business and an additional parkway provided as a buffer between their homes and Hunter boulevard. They admitted that the cost of buying the lots in question to develop as a park was more than they care to handle and suggested city participation.

Clark Hallock, owner of nearby property, said that he saw no reason why business should not be permitted in the area. He pointed out that with Birmingham's strict zoning any business admitted there would be under rigid control.

"With proper supervision we can get a business in there which will in no way be detrimental to the area. Businesses, such as professional buildings, which have zoning regulations that make them comparable in appearance to residences certainly cannot harm propety values," Hallock said.

Cram's request for adjournment was granted and the topic subject will come before commissioners again in three weeks time.

Plans will be made to incorporate new dumping grounds for snow removed from city streets in the 1957-58 budget, commissioners decided last night.

Residents in the Linden Park area asked that something be done to remove an unsightly condition from their vicinity and to eliminate the racket and noise in the early morning hours.

City manager, Harold E. Schone, said that the city had already acted to relive the noise situation by discontinuing dumping at this site until sometime after 7 a.m.

He told commissioners that an additional three or four thousand dollars would be needed because of extra time taken on longer hauls. He advised consideration of the sewage disposal site for the coming year where a large embankment will provide a good dumping spot and adequate runoff.

GM Maintains Lead in '57 Auto Output

counting for more than 55 per cent of the industry total; Ford slightly more than 25 per cent and Chrysler more than 14.5 per cent.

Nobody close to General Motors will comment on the deficit in the corporation's over-all output as compared with last year's total for the same period. Most of that deficit is represented in Buick and Chevrolet output.

Buick's total this year to date comes to 68,672 cars against 91,718 at this time last year. Chevrolet's aggregate this year is 191,716, compared with 211,540 at this point last year.

The figures leave Chevrolet trailing Ford division by 1,766 cars so far this year, while Buick is some 11,355 units behind Plymouth.

The suggestion that GM is holding back its production volume because of some attacks upon its "bigness" is not taken very seriously by sources close to the auto industry. Many are disposed to believe there is an undisclosed merchandising strategy involved in the closer gearing of output to actual demand.

These sources suggest GM production will surge sharply upward coincident with the coming of the insudstry's normally peak marketing period around mid-March.

In its survey of truck output, Automotive News credits Chevrolet with 7,300 assemblies last week against 7,806 the preceding week; Dodge 1,850 against 1,862; Ford 5,650 against 7,939; GMC 1,425 against 1,391; International 1,275 against 1,254; Studebaker 239 against 236; and Willys 1,725 against 1,847.

Oldest State Chiropractor Will Be Honored Tonight

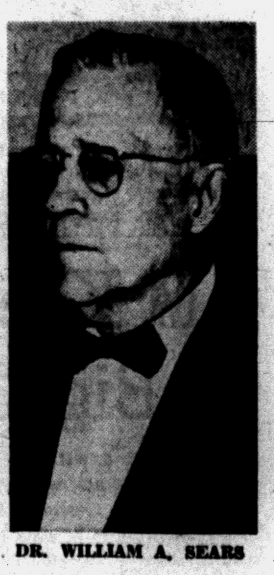

A spry, vigorous gentleman, who freely admits to 82 years of age, will be honored tonight as the oldest practicing chiropractor in Michigan.

Dr. William A. Sears, of 161 W. Howard St., has been in practice 44 years, the past 30 in Pontiac. His fellow Pontiac chiropractors will pay tribute to him at a dinner at Ted's restaurant.

Sears, a native of Chickopee, Mass., was graduated from the Palmer School of Chiropractic, Davenport, Ia., April 23, 1913. He worked his way through school while supporting his wife and four children.

He practiced in Clinton, Ia., before coming to Pontiac where for many years his office was a 101½ N. Saginaw St. Last year he moved his office to his home.

With no thought of retiring, Dr. Sears says he plans to retain enough of a practice to keep a man of his age "going strong."

Your Income Tax

This is one of a series of articles prepared by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service to help you prepare your Income Tax Return.

THE SIMPLE FORM

Use of form 1040A is the easy way. If your income is less than $5,000 and consisted of wages as shown on a Form W-2, subject to withholding tax, (and not more than $100 from other wages, interest or dividends), the 1040A card should be used for filing a tax return.

A husband and wife may file a joint return on the card form if the combined incomes do not exceed the above limits.

The Internal Revenue Service will compute the tax for you and on joint returns the tax will be computed on combined or separate incomes, which ever results in the greater tax benefit to you. If single and you had tax withheld on a total income of less than $600 — the card form is the proper way to get your refund. Form 1040A cannot be used if you want to itemize your deductions, claim exclusion for "Sick Pay," claim a deduction for travel or salesmen's expenses — or had income from sources other than those mentioned above.

(Further information on income tax problems is available without charge at the Internal Revenue Service office, 53½ W. Huron St. Phone FE 2-0208.)

Security for You

May Save Time by Just Phoning SS Office

The local Social Security offices are swamped with work these days due to changes Congress made in the Social Security law a few months ago.

In many offices people have to wait in line to talk to Security representatives.

The Social Security people don't like this any better than the people who have to wait in line. They are doing everything they can to relieve it. Many are working overtime and some offices are adding extra help.

But, there are limits to what the Social Security people can do. They've learned from experience that it's impractical to hire and train large numbers of people to work temporarily during situations like the present. And, the funds to do so are limited.

However, there are some things you can do to try to avoid a long wait in line if you're planning to go to a Social Security office soon.

Rather than visiting the office, you can phone to se if the trip is necessary.

For example: Suppose you're in doubt as to whether you're now eligible for Social Security retirement payments.

The social Security people can give you an answer on the phone just as easy as they can in person. Perhaps, it'll be easier and faster for them.

Further, in many cases when you file an application, you'll have to bring along certain affidavits or documents to back up your application. This could include a marriage license, death certificate, birth certificate, etc. The Social Security people can tell you by phone what to bring in and save you a second trip.

Another way to try to avoid a wait in line is to put your problem in a letter to the nearest Social Security office. You probably can get the address from your phone book. It'll be listed under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Social Security Administration, Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance. Or, you can get the address from the nearest post office if there's no office listed in the phone book.

WRITE CLEAR LETTER

Because of the present rush of business, you may not get an answer to your letter immediately. But, a letter can generally start the ball rolling toward Social Security payments almost as fast as a personal visit.

When you write the letter, if your desire is to file for payments because you think you're eligible, you should clearly state it. Then, your payments probably will be effective on the day the letter is received.

Most of the increase in work at your local office results from 1) the lower age at which women may now receive Social Security payments, 2) the right of certain disabled persons to Social Security payments on July 1, and 3) the extension of coverage to farmers and farm workers.

Congress lowered the age of eligibility for widows, wives and dependent mothers from 65 to 62. The starting date for payments under the new lower age was Nov. 1, but applications have been flooding in since early in August.

Payments to eligible disabled persons won't start until July 1. The Social Security Administration began accepting applications Oct. 1 and has received tens of thousands of applications.

(You may write Ray Henry in care of this newspaper about your Social Security or retirement problem. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin.)

Man Hurt in Crash

Stress Busy Outdoor Activities as Leading Part of Scouting

From the very beginning of the career of a Boy Scout of America, stress is given to an active, clean and healthful outdoor adventure.

Last Friday, the day of the 47th anniversary of the organization, one of the newest of Pontiac's 22 troops headed for woods, wildlife and water on a weekend camping expedition. The troop is sponsored by the McConnell School Parent-Teacher Association.

Since this troop is only four months old, most of the scouts had never camped out all night. Many of them began working on their second class badge and some even tried to complete requirements for conservation badges.

In these few months of scouting, probably one of the most useful scouting experiences they have had is reading and studying the "Handbook for Boys."

Boy Scout Week this year sees the production of the fifteen millioneth copy of the book. It is specially bound and will be presented to President Eisenhower, Honorary President of the BSA.

A limited number of handbooks in this printing have a four-page inset commemorating the publishing of a book which has been second in sales to the Holy Bible. This is in the years since 1910 when it first appeared.

It is this volume that introduced millions of boys to their first knowledge of nature lore, first aid, proper honors for the United States Flag and a wide range of "know how" supplementing school courses.

Camping, hiking, nature and the love of outdoors are automatically connected to the life and character of a Boy Scout.

Printed in their handbook is the scout's Outdoor Code:

"As an American, I will do my best to:

"Be clean in My Outdoor Manners — I will treat the outdoors as a heritage to be improved for our greater enjoyment. I will keep my trash and garbage out of America's waters, fields, wood and roadways.

"Be Careful in the Outdoors —I will prevent wild fire. I will build my fire in a safe place and be sure it is out before I leave.

"Be Considerate in the Outdoors —I will treat public and private property with respect. I will remember that use of the outdoors is a privilege I can lose by abuse.

"Be Conservation-Minded — I will learn how to practice good conservation of soil, waters, forest, minerals, grasslands, and wildlife; and I will urge others to do the same. I will use sportsmanlike methods in all my outdoor activities."

Southern Interest in Lincoln Rises

By TOM UYEMURA

CHICAGO (INS) — Abraham Lincoln, who led the North in the bitter war between the States, today is being "readopted" by the South.

At least, that's the belief of Ralph G. Newman, owner of the Abraham Lincoln bookstore in Chicago, and one of the leading scholars of the Civil War period.

Many scholars below the Mason-Dixon line are proudly pointing out that Lincoln, whose birthday is being marked Tuesday, was born in Kentucky of parents who were Virginians.

Newman said with a smile that these scholars claim the 16th president delivered the Gettysburg Address in a Southern accent.

"They're claiming he's a Southern boy who made good," Newman added during an interview.

As evidence of the mounting regard for Lincoln in the South, Newman said one of the leading young writers on Lincoln is a young Georgian who bears a striking physical resemblance to the great president. He added:

"Recently I had a candidate for governor of Texas come in. He bought a number of books on Lincoln which he sent to friends down South."

The bookseller reported that he is corresponding more and more with Southern scholars and cited the Lincoln Memorial University in Cumberland Gap, Va., as another example of Dixie reverence for the former president.

Newman believes newspapermen are partly responsible for creating the Southern and world-wide revival in Lincoln.

He said the boom began in 1926 when former newsman Carl Sandburg published his biography of Lincoln. The boom was maintained by other books written by Lloyd Lewis, Bruce Catton and Douglas Freeman—all ex-newspapermen.

"Early historians buried Lincoln," Newman explained. "These writers dug him up and made him into a real, believable, great individual."

According to Newman, there also has been a deluge of Lincoln literature since the end of World War II in foreign countries, notably Japan, Israel, West Germany, Indochina and the Arab nations.

Significantly, Newman said, there has not been a single book on Lincoln published in Russia since the war.

"BE IT EVER SO HUMBLE . . ." — Joseph Porcos, 48, poses in the wooden box that has been his "home" for the past two years. Police had been called to investigate an abandoned safe in the junk-littered yard of a Chicago apartment house and cheerful, clean-shaven Porcos strolled in. When questioned, he told the cops he lived in the wooden box. Porcos does odd jobs around the city. Says he likes his odd dwelling — it's tiny, it's cold, but it's home!

U.S. Owns 3,235,904 Acres of Michigan Land

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government owns $374,775,000 worth of real property—including more than 3 million acres of land—in the State of Michigan, a Senate Committee reported.

The exact figure on acreage is 3,325,904.9, the committee report showed. In Wisconsin, the government owns $245,902,000 worth of real property, including 1,781,858.9 acres.

President's School Bill to Face Same Hurdles

When Federal aid to education comes up in Congress this session, it will meet much the same obstacles that brought defeat to President Eisenhower's earlier education programs.

The four year $1.3 billion program of Federal grants to states outlined by Mr. Eisenhower on January 28 is much the same as last year's proposal. Under the new plan, it would be reduced from five to four years and grants would be increased by $50 million.

Included are requests for the Federal Government to purchase up to $750 million of local school bonds if these cannot be sold at reasonable interest rates, and for $150 million to help support bonds floated by state-school financing agencies. About $20 million is asked in grants to help states plan school construction programs.

Last year when school aid came before Congress it was killed in the House because Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York found support for his amendment barring aid to segregated schools. This did not help integration and it killed Federal aid to education. Another objection is the fear that Federal aid might mean control at the expense of home rule.

The President proposes that aid be based on school-age population, relative financial ability to meet school needs and the total effort within the states to provide funds for public schools. The formula for Federal-state funds matching would be based on relative state income per school-age child.

A bill sponsored by Rep. A. B. Kelly of Pennsylvania, calls for a six year $3.6 billion school construction program. That bill would base allotments on relative school-age population and state funds would be matched uniformly on a per pupil basis. This is the major difference between the two bills.

The tentative annual allotment for Michigan would be $25,588,000 under the Kelley bill and $12,102,000 under the Administration's bill, says Congressional Quarterly. To get the full Administration allotment, Michigan would have to put up $16,233,000.

President Eisenhower emphasizes that his program is an emergency measure designed only to stimulate state and local efforts and not to deprive them of their responsibility for control of education.

Bigness Penalized

Many bills presented to Congress are designed to apply graduated tax rates to corporate income, hitting big companies proportionately harder than small ones.

These measures propose that a small firm should be allowed to keep 95 per cent of its net profits before taxes but a larger firm only 45 per cent.

Industrialist Henry du Pont in a recent speech pointed out that such a policy "would put a penalty on people simply because a large number of them joined together in a co-operative enterprise. It would be like saying that individuals who live in a large state should pay Federal taxes at a higher rate than those who live in a small state."

Big business is the source of vast production without which neither the nation nor the individual could achieve a high standard of living. It should keep pace with our national growth. Tax experts believe that corporate profits after taxes should be in proportion to the capital invested and the size of the operation.

Good Advice for Area "Teenagers" to Follow

Three cheers for the seventh and eighth grade students in Cedar Grove, N. J., for their recent adoption of a "teenage code of behavior."

The youngsters' ban includes: Dungarees, except on gym dates; end of dances at 10:30 p. m. and a limit on phone calls to a "reasonable" 15 to 20 minutes.

Showing this type of self restraint, the teenager stands to make a big hit with the old folks at home. Continual annoyances, such as a monopoly on the phone for the entire evening, do not get mother and dad in the right frame of mind to grant the many favors constantly requested.

A little diplomacy between the teenager and his parents will do wonders when it comes to setting the stage for some special activity.

From first hand experience this writer can attest that the one universal gripe that parents have is the telephone-itis.

Okay, teenagers! How about following your brethren from Cedar Grove?

Barrett enjoys the waterfalls, salmon runs, lack of gales and beautiful landscapes. He says that federal funds supply the pay for 70 per cent of all work being done in the territory which he does not think is ready for statehood.

David Lawrence Says:

Democrats Hedge on Ike's Doctrine

WASHINGTON — The steady drive to weaken President Eisenhower's influence in world affairs continues among a group of Democrats in the Senate.

Although the Senate served notice on the world by a vote of 85 to 3 in January 1955 that the President could use military force in Formosa and related areas in the Far East without further delegation by Congress, there is a disposition now on the part of a few Democratic senators to refuse to vote for similar authority to be used in the Middle East.

Thus grave doubt is cast on whether the President can depend on congressional support even in the Formosa area — a circumstance that doubtless will not be overlooked by Red China and might even be the basis for an overt act to test out whether the executive now will venture to use force.

LAWRENCE

It is a mystery why the same Democrats who voted to delegate power to the President in a contingent sense in Formosa—without spelling out in detail the steps that would lead to such a decision—now are insisting that something unprecedented is being requested for the Middle East.

RETRACING STEPS

The only explanation is that some of the Democrats are really backtracking and do not care if the world knows they are hedging on the position they took on the Formosa resolution. Red China and the Soviet Union couldn't be happier over the attempts in the Senate to sabotage the Middle East resolution.

The action taken by both houses of Congress with respect to Formosa in 1955 was overwhelming. The resolution was not "advisory." It has the force and authorization of law. It said:

"The President of the United States be and he hereby is authorized to employ the armed forces of the United States as he deems necessary for the specific purpose of securing and protecting Formosa and the Pescadores against armed attack, this authority to include the securing and protection of such related positions and territories of that area now in friendly hands and the taking of such other measures as he judges to be required or appropriate in assuring the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores."

PASSED BY HOUSE

The Middle East resolution—which passed the House by a vote of 355 to 61 last month and now is pending in the Senate—says:

"The President is authorized to undertake, in the general area the Middle East, military assistance programs with any nation or group of nations or that area desiring such assistance.

"Furthermore, he is authorized to employ the armed forces of the United States as he deems necessary to secure and protect the territorial integrity and political independence of any such nation or group of nations requesting such aid against overt armed aggression from any nation controlled by international communism; provided, that the authority herein granted shall be carried out to the greatest extent deemed practicable by the President through the United Nations, and that such employment shall be consonant with the treaty obligations of the United States and with the charter of the United Nations . . ."

The danger of war, due to miscalculation of America's attitude by the enemy, is increased when the impression is conveyed of a lack of confidence by the national legislature in the policies being pursued by the executive in his efforts to prevent World War III.

LI'L ONES

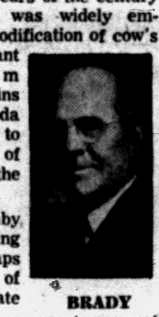

"Which side of the family got me into this mess?"

Dr. William Brady Says:

Now Claim It's Unsafe but They Fed It to Babes

In the early years of the century sodium citrate was widely employed in the modification of cow's milk for infant feeding. From one to two grains of citrate of soda was added to each ounce of milk used in the mixture.

BRADY

Thus the baby on bottle feeding received perhaps twenty grains of sodium citrate daily. The purpose was to prevent formation of large hard curds.

Sodium citrate has been used and praised by many good physicians in the treatment of pneumonia, for preventing coagulation (curdling) of blood in transfusion, and Wright's solution for application to boils.

(Wright's solution consists of 2 grains of sodium citrate and 20 grains of table salt in 1 fluidounce of water. Saturate absorbent cotton with it, place over the boil and cover with waxed paper. Change the dressing three or four times a day.)

Sodium citrate like potassium citrate, is an excellent alkaline diuretic, overcoming excessive acidity of the urine.

Either citrate of soda or citrate makes an efficient, soothing cough medicine, for infant, child, or adult.

USED FOR YEARS

For years sodium citrate (citrate of soda) has been an essential ingredient of the foolproof homemade cough medicine I describe in Little Lesson No. 5. Call it CRI, for which send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

So many customers began whipping up a batch of this homely medicine whenever they needed it, that the "interests" became alarmed. They went into a huddle with federal or state authorities.

First thing we knew, customers asking for an ounce or a pound of sodium citrate were being informed by drug clerks that sodium citrate is "dangerous" and they'd have to get a physician's prescription.

If they protested that they had always bought it over the counter, the clerk smugly showed them the tin or jar of citrate of soda plainly labeled "To be sold only on prescription."

For three years I have been studying potassium citrate with a view to designating it for use in place of the hard-to-get sodium citrate. Now I am convinced that it will serve nearly if not quite as well as sodium citrate for making the foolproof cough medicine.

No, I shall not attempt to print the recipe and instructions here—I have more important things than typographical errors to worry about.

To those who have Lesson No. 5, let me say that the same amount of potassium citrate may be used in place of sodium citrate to prepare a batch of cough medicine. Other than this forced alteration, I recommend no variation from recipe and directions in the booklet.

The homemade foolproof cough medicine eases coughing not by benumbing or dulling sense but by increasing the secretion of the mucuous glands in lining of windpipe and bronchial tubes, and thus indirectly exercising a sedative action upon the inflamed mucous membrane. It helps coughing instead of suppressing it.

I repeat it is foolproof—as safe as any good medicine can be.

Press Editorial Pleases Editors of Union Paper

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

It was really heart warming to us as union members to see that The Pontiac Press recognizes the spirit of the trade union movement, after reading last Thursday's Press editorial page.

For years "trade unionists" have always been men of good will and have fostered all civic agencies that promote good relationship between labor and business. This marks the first time in many years that the Press and other editions have fully realized the real intent of CIO and its affiliates.

As editors of Local Union 653, UAWA's official publication, we feel that all of our members have confidence in their leadership, both in the community and our union to live above corruption and filth, and to oust those who have evil intentions.

Gives Requisites for Happy Life

Perhaps there are many different requisites for living a full and happy life. Here are a few to gauge yours by. If we are healthy, then work is a pleasure. We would like enough material wealth to satisfy our needs, not luxuries that we do not need. (Keeping up with the Joneses is an example.)

When difficulties and problems arise, we would like to have enough strength to battle and overcome them. Patience enough to keep at our job until good is accomplished is desired.

The greatest of all are these: faith, hope and charity; enough charity to be able to see good in our neighbor; faith enough to make real the things of God; hope, so that we may remove all the fears concerning our future. No material wealth—Cadillacs, brick mansions, millions of dollars—can ever replace a happy, healthy and contented who cherishes the better, "no-price-tag" merchandise and who uses the material things of the world only as a necessity, not a must.

Reader Praises Press Features

Thank you for the article about township voting. Maybe it will jolt a few people out to vote. We sure need a good turnout at the primary.

I also want to express my enthusiasm over Josephine Lowman's article, "A Christmas Prayer," which was very inspiring. I also like Anne Heywood's articles. I also hope you continue James Metcalfe's poems.

There are so many things I like in the paper, it would be too numerous to put down. It's the only paper that I have ever read or was interested in besides the TV guide, which is the reason I originally took it. I thought by expressing my feelings, it would let a lot of people who work for The Pontiac Press feel their work is surely appreciated. (When I've worked especially hard to cook a meal, it sure gives me a lift for my family to say so.)

I've only lived in Independence Township two years, so I wouldn't know too much about your paper, but a relative mentioned the other day that this paper has won quite a few awards.

Immigration Is Reid's Freedom

The 20th year is here of the signing of the contract between General Motors and the United Auto Workers. I went to Flint during the first sitdown strike in General Motors. As Abraham Lincoln said, "As I would not be a slave, so I would not be a master. Anything that differentiates from that is no Democracy."

I was asked by those inside Fisher Body to join them. I had left my press in Plant 7 of Pontiac Motor Division to go to Flint. I did not have the right nor authority to enter any plant except where I was employed.

My little card of authority reads as follows:

"This is to certify that William Reid was admitted to the United States as an immigrant on 12-20-'56 and has been duly registered according to law. Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, United States Department of Justice."

I am free. I do hope the people of Pontiac understand what freedom means.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Relates Own Tragic Experience

The greatest shock that ever struck our family is described below. Maybe it will serve as solace to many of you readers who likewise have suffered such losses, so I am recounting in detail the reactions of Mrs. Crane, Philip, Judy, Danny and David. You might scrapbook this week's series for use on somebody else who is bereaved.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-302: The day of July 7, 1956, will always stand out in the minds of our immediate family.

It was Saturday. I had lain down about 2 p.m. to take a nap, for I had a headache and hoped to shake it off so I could write my Case Records for the week.

About 3:30 p.m. Danny rushed into the bedroom and shook me awake.

"Dad, George's jet just crashed and he is dead!" Danny exclaimed with an anguished expression, for George IV had been the idolized older brother of our other four children.

"Oh, no, it can't be!" I cried, as I sprang to my feet.

"Yes, it is," Danny added. "A neighbor from across the street just came over to tell us he just heard it announced on the radio.

"And Mom is crying so she needs you."

Before I reached Mrs. Crane, Glenview Naval Air Station was on the phone and Colonel Nicolay gave me the official confirmation.

We were stunned. We couldn't believe it. We had invested so much special training and preparation for George's useful career in life, that we were dazed.

We thought it must be a false report. That we would waken from a bad dream to realize it was just a nightmare and not grim reality.

For George was such a meticulous, safe pilot. After his four years in the Marine Air Corps, where he had been stationed in Korea and Japan, as well as an instructor at Pensacola, we had become fairly well adjusted to his flying.

He always doubly checked his jets before he ever ascended in them. I had personally watched him give his plane a thorough going-over at Glenview.

He would shake the rudders and even remove the gas cap to make sure the tank was full.

So we figured he would not be likely to have any mishap due to carelessness. And he never drank or was guilty of other bad habits that might jeopardize his safety.

He literally loved flying and showed the typical confident morale of our U. S. Marine Corps.

On June 3rd he had called us long distance to announce that he was "supersonic" which had been one of his dreams.

Flying high above Madison, Wisconsin, that afternoon, he saw that he was at 42,000 feet altitude, so he figured he might as well take advantage of that height.

So he headed out over Lake Michigan; then turned the nose of his jet straight down toward the water.

With full power turned on and aided by the pull of gravity, he passed through the sound barrier. Then he eased back and again experienced the shudder as he crossed that threshold.

Between 42,000 and 35,000 he had accomplished his dream and then leveled off at 28,000.

On July 7th, he led a diamond formation of jets across Lake Michigan and was bringing them back to Glenview. A large crowd was gathered to witness the Air Show scheduled for that weekend.

As leader of the group, George peeled off his plane but the man behind him inadvertently sheared off the tail of George's jet.

It careened madly and he apparently stayed too long with the jet in trying to steer it into a vacant lot, for when his ejector seat was catapulted out into space, his parachute didn't open in time.

So he plummeted to earth and his battered wrist watch stopped at 2:59.

David and Danny went out to Glenview that evening to pick up George's automobile and his personal effects, including the smashed wrist watch.

See tomorrow's follow-up for this series may help console other bereaved families.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Bob Considine Says:

Wooing of Coaches Arouses Wrath

NEW YORK (INS) — In response to a recent letter of good cheer to an American who has served his country for better than half a century — and in some cases better than the country has served him — he writes:

"I appreciate your letter with its implications that I am still 'newsworthy,' but feel there is little I could give you of any real news value."

"I am devoting all my time to my business venture which is doing splendidly in every way. Much of my work is done away from New York and I only keep in general touch with world developments.

"The confusion and bewilderment do not seem to abate. Perhaps if more stress were laid on the simpler and sounder basic policies and less on experiences, more real progress might result."

Sheppard Miers of Tusla, Okla., writes a letter which sounds like the voice of conscience itself:

"Am wondering why you haven't spoken a piece about these zany offers some of the Texas and California schools have made to football coaches such as Bud Wilkinson, Bowden Wyatt, Bobby Dodd, etc.

"Schools have offered yachts, oil wells, life annuities and what have you. It would seem to me that the country has gone completely daft on muscle instead of higher learning.

"Why in hell doesn't someone come up with the unique idea of offering some of this important scratch to professors who could possibly train scientists for future wars or industry?"

NO TIME FOR ILLNESS

For one, I refuse to believe that Caswell Adams of the New York Journal-American is sick. Cas has no time to be ill. Illness, he has often said, is for the birds.

Cas is the one man of our curious set who rose above sickness. He walked too many of us home to deserve being flattened. Built like a praying mantis, Cas had (and will again) the strength of Jimmy Foxx.

When men of muscle turned ashen faces to the wall in the clammy light of morning, after a big fight at the stadium or Madison Square Garden, Cas was always up with the larks looking for and apprehending a second-day angle.

The only time I ever saw my friend stop for a quick reply was one morning at our place when a young child named Debbie, noticing a strange figure in the guest room, tapped Cas on the shoulder, awakened him, introduced herself and learned his name.

She was about to leave on an early train for Allenhurst, N.J., she told our halfawakened boarder.

"Can you swim?" Cas asked, successfully negotiating the small talk.

"Yes, with my water wings," the girl said.

"In the ocean?"

"Goodness, no," she said. "It isn't open yet."

GIFT FOR GRACE

Ed Pool, the Kireby Hotel executive, asked his friend Jack Kelly what he might conceivably send to the royal family of Monaco on the occasion of the increase in its family. Pool's dilemma was that the Grimaldis have everything.

"No they don't," Philadelphia Jack said. "You can't get a good steak in Monaco or anywhere else in Europe."

So Pool iced and air-mailed a sirloin to her serene highness, a Chateaubriand to his serene highness and a tender little filet mignon to Princess Caroline Louise.

Announcing OLDSMOBILE'S NEW 88 ROCKET!

DOUBLE-BARRELED ECONOMY!

Progressive carburetion is the original Oldsmobile answer to economy when you want it . . . power when you need it! A centrally located dual-jet carburetor fuels your engine through ¾ of its power range. But should you ever need extra power and torque . . .

TRIPLE-ACTION RESERVE POWER!

Simply nudge the accelerator beyond the ¾ mark and you "call out the reserves"! The J-2 Rocket then operates on three dual carburetors! J-2 is highly efficient . . . fully proved. It's available now at a very modest extra cost. Try it!

The most exciting engine development since the first Rocket was launched!

Engineers have dreamed for years of an engine that combined exceptional horsepower and torque potential with outstanding fuel economy in normal operation. The first big step towards this goal came from Oldsmobile when the first Rocket Engine ushered in the modern high-compression era.

And today, Olds is ready with an equally significant advance—the new J-2 Rocket.* You'll find that in operation, it's like two engines under the hood!

In your day-to-day driving, you enjoy the smooth, alert action of the Rocket—with the fuel economy of dual-jet carburetion and a 10-to-1 compression ratio. But beyond all this there's a "second stage" in J-2 operation to meet the exceptional driving situation. Just open the accelerator beyond the ¾ point and two additional carburetors automatically jet into action. There's an instant boost in torque and power. And you'll appreciate the immediate response as another Olds contribution to your safety at the wheel.

We invite you now to join us for a J-2 Rocket test. Come in—be our guest!

*277-h.p. Rocket T-400 Engine standard on all models.
J-2 Rocket Engine, with 300 h.p., and special Rocket Engine, with up to 312 h.p., optional at extra cost.

Collect $5,700 for Wilsons

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

MILFORD — Residents in the Milford-Highland and White Lake area have collected over $5,700 for the John Wilson Fund.

John Wilson lost his wife, Sally Ann, in a fire that destroyed their 5-room frame home, on 2421 W. Highland Rd., two weeks ago. Their children, Dana Susan, 5, John, 3, and baby Robin Marie were rescued.

Four-year-old Crissie is still in the Ford Hospital where skin-grafting operations will begin some time this week. Wilson was released only recently from the hospital after undergoing treatments for severe cuts and burns.

Archie Noon and Tom Bohr, Main street businessmen, started the ball rolling in one of the most intensive and successful fund-raising campaigns ever to be held in the area.

Organizations, businessmen, boy scouts, firemen, policemen along with hundreds of sympathetic residents have gone all out to help this grief-stricken family.

A check for $5,700 was presented to Wilson today at his place of business, the Huron Valley Motor Sales, on M59 and Milford roads by a committee of businessmen. A Trust Fund will remain open in the Community National Bank, Milford branch, in the event that other individuals care to donate to the fund, Bohr said.

Waterford Township Gets Bids on $100,000 Sewer Bond Issue

Two bids for the $100,000 Sylvan Shores subdivision sewer bond issue were opened at last night's regular meeting of the Waterford Township board

Kenower, McArthur Investment Securities Co. of Detroit was the winner, presenting a low bid of 3.97 per cent rates of interest.

The other bid, submitted by First of Michigan Corp., of Detroit, was for 4.16 per cent. The bond issue will run for a 10 year period.

Louis A. Schimmel, financial expert handling the transaction for the board, was enthusiastic in obtaining the low bid, and said, "This is one of the best bids that any township has had this year."

He was authorized by the board to work out the details of drawing up the final resolution of the bond issue.

The sewer is in the process of being installed on Sylvan Shores Road, Woodbine, Shore Drive, and Elainor. Contractor is Joe Mancinelli. Deadline for completion of the project is May 1. Work began last fall.

Supervisor's plat No. 67 was approved by board members. The plat is on Sashabaw Road, bounded by Seeden Avenue on the north, and Seebaldt Avenue on the east.

A water system for Oakland Heights subdivision was approved by the board, and the Cherokee Hill subdivision No. 2 plat on Scott Lake and Elizabeth Lake Roads was approved.

Police Chief Frank Van Atta was authorized to represent the board at the Feb. 20 meeting of the newly-organized Oakland County Safety Council at the county building annex.

Man Dies of Injury in Struggle Over Gun

DETROIT (AP)—James Hayward, 21, of suburban Warren, died last night in Detroit's Receiving Hospital of a shotgun wound suffered during a struggle with his bride of two months.

Hayward was shot Sunday night. His wife, Constance, 22, is held for investigation in the Macomb county jail.

Prosecutor Cecil A. Byers quoted Mrs. Hayward as saying she and her husband quarreled over his threat to leave her. She said she had told her husband she would kill herself if their marriage went on the rocks, Byers said.

Byers said Mrs. Hayward told him she picked up a shotgun and was about to take her own life when her husband grabbed the weapon. The gun went off and the charge struck Hayward, the prosecutor said.

Troy Residents Reject Zoning

500 Persons Down All Proposals; Lawmakers Discouraged

TROY—A discouraged and bewildered city commission saw its zoning ordinance subjected to wholesale rejection when about 500 people gathered for a public hearing at the high school.

City Clerk J. Lawson Lockhart said this morning "We don't know what was the matter but they objected to everything. Commissioners are of the opinion that the people of Troy just don't want zoning."

Lockhart went on to say that the meeting adjourned from the commission room to the high school was one of the most discouraging experiences city officials have yet gone through.

Not one faction of the proposal gained any acceptance.

City Seeks to Speed Action on Army Reserve Center

Action is expected to be taken by the Pontiac City Commission tonight which will speed up the proposed construction of a new Army Reserve Training Center in the city.

City Manager Walter K. Willman will recommend to the commission the approval of an option for a five-acre parcel on Orchard Lake avenue.

This action was necessary after Army and city officials learned that a previously-signed 50-year lease for the land was made void by a 1956 Supreme Court ruling. It said a political subdivision could not donate land to the United States "unless the city retains control of the purposes for which the land is conveyed."

Willman said the government planned to file a "friendly condemnation suit" which would eliminate the necessity of advertising the land for sale.

Commissioners are also expected to hear a report from City Clerk Ada R. Evans that sufficient signatures have been certified to call for a vote April 1 on the Police Officers Assn.'s move to replace the Trial Board with Civil Service. Commissioners are slated to approve the form of the ballot.

Pontiac General Hospital's 1957 budget, calling for an expenditure of $3,896,477, or $870,473 more than last year, is up for commission approval tonight.

Commissioners will convene at 8 to act on a 35-point agenda. Twenty-four items are public hearings on proposed public improvement projects to be carried out this year.

Portions of Pontiac's Municipal Civil Defense and Disaster Plan will be discussed, followed by possible approval.

The City Planning Commission has submitted a recommendation that the city purchase the triangular piece of land bounded by Oakland and Saginaw, and the First Baptist Church.

A deed for 10 acres for use in the city's proposed auxiliary sewage treatment plant, is scheduled to be accepted by the commission.

The plan group has recommended the rezoning to Commercial 1 of lots 159 to 163 on the west side of Franklin road between Nevada and Nebraska.

Man Tries to Sell Baby in Detroit Market Area

DETROIT (INS) — Police are looking for a man who reportedly tried to sell a baby in the Western Market area yesterday.

Michael Kamen, a 17-year-old high school student, said he was unloading merchandise in front of a cigar company when a man drove up and asked him if he wanted to buy a baby.

Mrs. Ethel Barron, 39, happened on the scene then and she told police the man also made the offer to her.

A candy salesman parked next to the man's car said he saw a baby about five months old wrapped in a white blanket in the auto.

Slate Farmington Political Rally

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — A giant political rally, sponsored jointly by the Farmington Township Civic Assn. and the Farmington Chapter of the American Assn. of University Women, is scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday, at the high school gymnasium on Shiawassee Street.

All candidates from both political parties seeking nomination in the Feb. 18 primary election have been invited to participate in the program.

The rally is intended to give residents of the township an opportunity to see and hear the candidates.

All of the candidates will be invited to express their views in short campaign speeches. This will be followed by a participation period, at which time the audience may direct questions to the candidates.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the rally, and a program of entertainment has been planned.

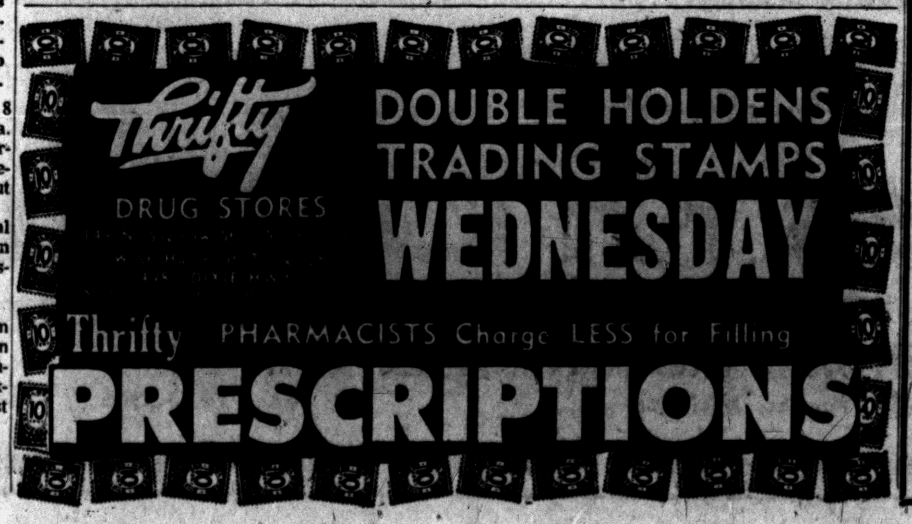

Mrs. Douglas Hammial, president of the AAUW and George Steinberger, president of the Civic Assn. have expressed confidence that the rally will attract a large and interested audience. They have requested that only persons of voting age attend the program in order to assure adequate seating space.

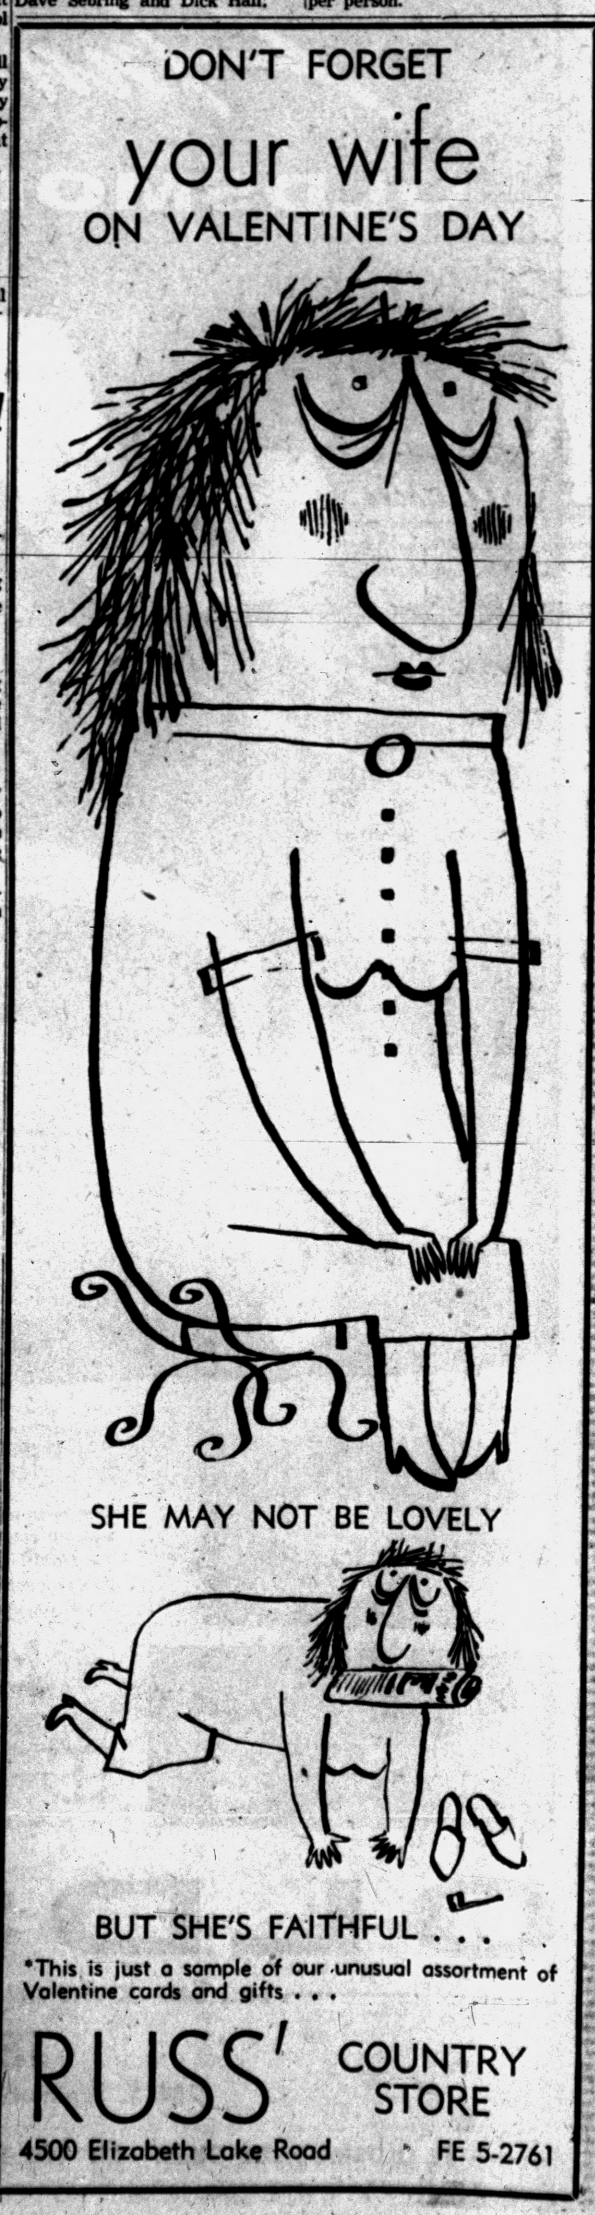

Order Stays Dismissal of Hazel Park Director

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. George R. Robinson, superintendent of Hazel Park Schools, was at his desk as usual yesterday—his job at least temporarily saved by a court order.

The 36-year-old administrator, ordered dismissed by a 3-2 vote of the school board a week ago, filed suit in Oakland County Circuit Court, claiming he was dismissed without written charges or a hearing as required in the state tenure law.

A hearings is set for Feb. 25 before Judge Frank L. Doty. Until then, the court order forbids the school board from interfering with his duties, seizing the office or making any statement about the situation.

Don't Cut Out Food — Just Cut Down That's Big Secret of Coping With Fat

Editor's Note: The following is the second in a six-part series on a new concept in weight control — re-education of eating habits instead of tricky diets. Co-operating with Writer Maddox for this article is Dr. Frederick J. Stare, organizer and chairman of Harvard University's Department of Nutrition.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEW YORK (NEA) — A healthy man or woman does not become overweight between Christmas and New Year's Day, but rather between New Year's and Christmas.

That's the judgment of Dr. Frederick J. Stare, one of the country's top authorities on scientific weight control. He states that excess body weight is usually gained slowly.

DR. STARE

No faddist, this world - famous physician - nutritionist warns that the best menus for losing weight must follow the same pattern one is accustomed to.

For dieting to be effective, menus must be made up of foods you enjoy, foods readily available, those you can afford.

The secret: Don't cut out, cut down.

Dr. Stare is chairman of Harvard University's Department of Nutrition, the first such autonomous department in a great medical and health center.

Its staff, headed by Stare who organized the department in 1942, consists of physicians, surgeons and other experts who deal directly with problems of human nutrition.

LIFETIME PROPOSITION

"Weight control is pretty much a lifetime proposition and therefore one must stick to it," he said.

"Fad diets are definitely not the answer. They trap you in a vicious circle of losing and gaining that is hopeless and quite likely to be dangerous.

"No one is going to live either happily or unhappily for any length of time on just black coffee and eggs, bananas and skim milk, or some supposedly 'fabulous formula'."

There is no single food that must be banned in a reducing diet. Include a wide variety of foods in your daily menus to assure a balanced diet essential to body health.

Potatoes, sugar and bread, often accused of making a person "fat," are important foods and need not be passed up entirely.

With them, as with all other wholesome foods you enjoy, if you want to lose weight the trick is this simple, according to Stare:

Small servings and no second helpings.

We talked in the red brick ivy-covered building at 1 Shattuck St., one of the oldest in Harvard's great medical and health center. The slender, clear-eyed, tireless Stare, who looks 25 but is 47, suddenly stood up, saying, 'Let's eat."

SO WE ATE

We ate in a small restaurant on Huntington Ave., crowded with doctors, biochemists and nutritionists.

"I am allowing myself very few calories for lunch because my wife is giving a faculty dinner party tonight," Stare said.

"Weight control demands that you stick to your calorie total every day.

"But that doesn't mean you can't spend them where you get the most pleasure."

Then we walked a mile along the avenue.

"Weight watching is helped by exercise," he explained. "Using up calories by physical exertion is the only way for a well person to get rid of excess calories.

"Mild to moderate exercise, particularly if taken regularly, is important. Strenuous exercise stimulates the appetite and is therefore self-defeating so far as weight control goes.

"Persons overweight must obviously consume less calories and burn up more until they have brought their weight down to where it should have been in the first place—and where it once was, perhaps long ago," he continued.

His plan for losing a pound a week:

For the average adult to lose one pound requires a loss of 3500 calories. If this loss is spread over one week, it means a loss of 500 calories a day.

This loss can be obtained by eating 500 calories a day less than usual, or by expending 500 calories more. Better yet, it can be obtained by eating 250-350 calories less and exercising off 150-250 calories more.

USED 65 CALORIES

We return to his office after a 30-minute walk at the rate of 2½ miles per hour. Each of us had burned up about 65 calories — the equivalent in calories of a slice of Boston brown bread.

"Those 65 calories may seem very small," he said, "but take such a walk once or twice a day, in addition to your usual activity, and you will build up extra expenditures that often are all that is needed to handle the usual excess of calories from eating."

The following shows approximately how many calories can be expended in 30 minutes of these normal activities:

Walking slowly (2½ mph)	65- 75
Walking rapidly (4 mph)	150-200
Climbing stairs	100-125
Dancing	100-150
Typical garden work	100-200
Golf	100-150
Swimming	150-200

For wiser weight control, watch your fats, he pointed out.

Fats as the most concentrated source of calories contribute largely to our total caloric intake.

But even on what would be called low calorie diets, fats frequently contribute 45 to 50 per cent of the total calories. Twenty-five per cent would be a safer figure.

Before I left Dr. Stare, he suggested two model menu patterns, both on the low calorie side, one for adult men, the other for adult women. He pointed out how they may be planned so that only 25 per cent of the calories come from fat.

(Next: You need less food after 25.)

Ask State to Aid Traffic Victims

Cover Injury Caused by Uninsured Driver; Set Fee on Licenses

LANSING (AP) — The Legislature was asked today to provide some compensation for victims of traffic accidents in which the responsible motorist carried no insurance.

The payments, limited to $1,000 in any case involving injury or the death of one person, would be financed from a 25 cent charge levied on each licensed driver or chauffeur at the time of licensing.

The plan, proposed by Sen. Charles C. Blondy (D-Detroit), amounts to an alternative to a system of compulsary insurance.

The extra levy on motorists at the time of licensing would go into an unsatisfied judgment fund. Payments out of the fund would be by court order after a showing that the driver at fault was uninsured or failed to settle with the aggrieved party.

In a case where the proposed new law applied, the driver at fault would lose driving privileges — at least until he repaid, with interest, the amount drawn from the fund as the result of an accident.

The plan would be effective July 1, 1958.

Sentenced in Dope Sale

DETROIT (AP)—Andrew Garcia of Detroit was sentenced Monday to 20 to 30 years in Southern Michigan Prison for sale and possession of narcotics. Garcia was convicted of selling five pounds of marijuana to a narcotics bureau detective on Dec. 15.

Wayne to Waive Fees for Sons of Dead Vets

LANSING (AP)—Children of dead war veterans are eligible for admission to Wayne State University tuition free, Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh said today.

Kavanagh's opinion said state law waives tuition at state supported schools for all such students between 16 and 22 who have resided in the state at least 12 months and who meet entrance requirements.

However, aides in the state Department of Public Instruction said neither Michigan State University nor the University of Michigan adheres to the law. A 1930 Attorney General's opinion held that the legislature could not compel those two schools to follow any policy regarding tuition since both are controlled by bodies set up by the constitution.

An employe in the State Board of Education said there now are 477 students getting the benefit of the law at other state supported colleges.

Applies by Postcard; Follow-Up Consistent

NEW PORT, Ky. (AP)—A Louisville man not only sends in the briefest possible application for a job — but he apparently does a lot of traveling too.

William Wurth sent a postcard applying for the job of city manager here when the post became vacant.

Later he sent a formal application and followed that with another postcard —this one from Kingsport, Tenn.

City commissioners heard from him again — by telegram from Washington reminding he's still interested.

Legislator's Wife Finds Free Time

Mrs. C. D. Kearns Completes Stint as GOP Executive

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—After 10 years of devoting her full attention to volunteer work for the Republican Party, Mrs. Carroll D. Kearns is happy now to find time for some of her private interests.

The energetic wife of the congressman from Pennsylvania recently completed her second consecutive two-year term as president of the National Federation of Republican Women.

She was awaiting the arrival of a new piano in her hotel apartment when I called. It was ordered by her husband, who before he came to Congress in 1948, was baritone soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and well known as a concert artist and conductor.

"When he first came to Washington he still sought to keep up his musical interests," Mrs. Kearns told me, "but it was difficult. He had so much talking to do, he had little time to train his voice for singing.

'He has always been interested in music, as has his whole family. He was related to the great tenor, John McCormack."

LOVES THEATER

Mrs. Kearns, who says her first great love is the theater, is also interested in music but adds she does not play the piano well enough to be her husband's accompanist.

Experienced though she is in politics, she adopts somewhat the same attitude when it comes campaign time in her husband's district.

"He carries on his own campaign," she explained. "I never campaign directly for him. The only one reference I make to him is that in my opinion he's the best congressman in Washington but that I may be a little prejudiced!"

Mrs. Kearns, as president of the National Federation of Republican Women, chalked up an impressive total of air mileage in her travels across the country.

A couple of years ago she received the insignia of a member of the 100,000-Mile Air Club.

TRIP ABROAD

She made her first trip abroad last summer, accompanying her husband, who was on special assignment to England, France, Germany and Italy.

Kearns, a member of the House Education and Labor Committee, conferred abroad with school heads and labor leaders. He also visited the Hungarian border.

Mrs. Kearns went everywhere with her husband and kept a detailed record of the trip.

While she expects to spend more time on her church, civic and charity interests, she says she will continue to work for the GOP in some capacity.

Ex-Ingenue Now Plays Mother Role

Career in Movies Being Resumed by Janet Gaynor

By LEE BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Thirty years ago, Janet Gaynor made film history as a sweet sad-eyed young waif in a sentimental film called "Seventh Heaven."

This month she returns to the screen as a mature, silver-haired matron in her first motion picture in nearly two decades.

"I'm kind of dizzy if you really want to know," she confessed. "I can hardly believe it's true."

The petite ex-star, who won the heart of the nation as Charlie Farrell's great romance in one of the screen's most famous love stories, added:

"It's been a long time. But I've been so busy I've hardly noticed. The time has gone so fast."

Miss Gaynor's film comeback will be as the mother of a 17-year-old boy in the 20th Century-Fox film, "Bernardine."

QUITE UNEXPECTED

"I wish I could say I saw the handwriting on the wall," she said with a smile. "But this is the way it happened:

"Sam Engle — the producer — rang me up on the phone one day and said, 'Janet, I want you to do something for me. I have a script I want you to read.'

"Well," she went on, "I read it. I liked it and I told him I'd do it.

"I think the real reason I agreed is that I have a teenage boy of my own plus the fact that the story is amusing and gay.

"This story," she added, "is about a bunch of young boys. But they aren't delinquents. I hate those grim pictures they're making nowadays about warped children."

Janet, whose son Robin is 16, will be playing a mother role for the first time in her life.

PLAYING HERSELF

"Always, I was the ingenue," she laughed, "this will be new but I am enjoying it all so much because I'll be practically playing myself."

The one-time red-haired actress who is married to Adrian, the designer, ended her screen career in 1938 as Richard Carlson's girl friend in "The Young in Heart."

"That was Richard's first picture," she recalled. "He's really gone places since then."

"I haven't the slightest idea. This one came as a complete surprise. I guess it could happen again!"

Elizabeth and Philip Must Steal Moments to Enjoy Private Life

(The reports, officially denied, of strained relations between Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip have focused new worldwide attention on their marriage, now in its 10th year. Here in the second of three articles, a veteran palace correspondent goes behind the scenes to give a vivid, detailed account of the "private" life of the Queen and her consort.)

By FRED DOERFLINGER

LONDON (INS)—The handsome husband is 35. His charming, attractive wife is 30. They have been married nearly 10 years. They have two beautiful children, both happy, both healthy.

It is idyllic—except that the wife is Queen of England.

From the moment the maid knocks on Queen Elizabeth's bedroom door with the morning tea, the "big show" of British royalty begins.

The ponderous, sprawling "machine" of constitutional monarchy roars into high gear, sweeping the Queen and her husband along a precisely charted course at a breathless pace.

There is the mail that must be read, the papers that must be seen, the documents that must be signed, the callers to be greeted, the outside engagements to be kept.

There are secretaries with messages and officials with advice. There are decisions to be made and endless routine duties to be done. There are special assignments for today and extra-special assignments for tomorrow.

SHACKLES OF ROYALTY

Elizabeth and her consort, the Duke of Edinburgh, have tried—and sometimes succeeded—in shaking loose from the shackles that royalty clamps on them.

They have spent as much time with their children, 8-year-old Charles and 6-year-old Anne, as they possibly could. The fact that the time has been so sharply limited has not subtracted a bit from the pleasure they derive from the youngsters.

They have managed to get away together for vacations and cruises. They have been able to bask in the knowledge that they are deeply loved by their subjects.

But, constantly, there is the pressure of being "royalty."

The very clothing Elizabeth dons is an affair of state decreed by the function she is due to attend rather than personal, feminine whim or preference.

The job her hairdresser does takes on international importance, for if the Queen is seen looking anything less than perfectly groomed, the world will read of her "dowdy" appearance—with a subsequent loss in prestige for the British crown and nation.

RELIGIOUS DUTY

There is no luxurious lazing in bed on a rainy Sunday morning for Elizabeth and Philip. Their failure to turn up at church surrounded by the usual crowd of sightseers without an official announcement that they are "indisposed" would start a national outcry against "defenders of the faith" who do not perform their religious duties.

Elizabeth and Philip like nothing better than to dine tete-a-tete and spend an evening in casual clothing, alone or with their children, watching television or listening to records or the radio. But the opportunities for such evenings—accepted so casually and matter of factly by other husbands and wives—are few.

Even at official functions, when they might at least enjoy each other's company while working, they never sit together and rarely get a chance to exchange a private word.

The Queen and her duke are far too busy with their non-stop jobs to see much of each other in the normal run of things, or to be with personal friends.

They manage only a few weekends a year with their own friends, and only a handful of private theater visits, dinners and parties or dances. Wherever they go they are in the spotlight, living their goldfish-bowl lives.

NOT STINGINESS

It is neither stinginess nor thrift—and even these accusations have been made—that makes Queen Elizabeth entertain less, officially and privately, than any British sovereign in history. It is simply her desire to seize whatever opportunity she can to be with her husband and family.

This same wifely desire explains Elizabeth's insistence upon regular royal family vacations at Balmoral or Sandringham which, nevertheless, always are punctuated by dispatch cases, other work and, occasionally, some national crisis.

She was at Sandringham for a "holiday," for example, when the resignation of Sir Anthony Eden and the appointment of Harold Macmillan as his successor in the premiership called her to London recently.

Events have shown that service with the royal family can wreck marriages because of the long separations such service frequently demands of husbands and wives. It would be all the more remarkable if the much more pressing strain on Elizabeth and Philip did not place their marriage under immense test.

And, like ordinary couples, Elizabeth and Philip have their ordinary differences. Philip is keen on soccer, which the Queen just can't see. He is a sailing enthusiast. She gets queasy even on large vessels.

In the matter of personality, her serious nature is not always consonant with Philip's hail-fellow-well-met attitude. A precious evening for the Queen comes when she can take time to fiddle with her stamps. This isn't the duke's cup of tea. He likes practical jokes, the Queen does not. He is a tinkerer with gadgets—which bore the Queen.

GREATER COMPULSION

In all strata of society, husbands and wives must compromise such small differences, and usually do. So do Elizabeth and Philip. But the compulsion upon them to do so is greater than any known to Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Main street.

Private life for the Queen and her consort is something they must reach for and seize in pathetic dribs and drabs.

(Tomorrow: In the final article, Mr. Doerflinger tells of "The Consort Problem.")

Patricia, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Kucera of Oliver street, chose a gown of taffeta with a bouffant train. The bodice of Brussells lace was fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves.

Her fingertip veil of handclipped lace was secured by a tiara headpiece trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. She carried an orchid on a mother-of-pearl prayerbook.

Light blue crystalette over taffeta was worn by Barbara Kucera, sister of the bride, for her duties as maid of honor. Her flowers were Talisman roses.

Gowned similarly but in a shade of ascot blue were her other attendants, Janet Fenlon, Carole Glynn, Margaret Bateman and Marlene Cook.

Should Workers Lie About Age?

By ANNE HEWYOOD

To tell the truth or not to tell the truth?

That problem besets more job-hunters than any other I know.

Should they put down their true age and be eliminated in the beginning, or tell a lie and get found out when the eager-beavers from the pension plan ask for their birth certificates?

The truth is the safest, there's no doubt about that. But many times it does eliminate you in advance.

I know one woman, a well-preserved 47 (!) who applied for a job in a firm which had a policy of hiring nobody over 40. She gave her age as 39, got hired, did a wonderful job.

SHE CONFESSED

Three months later, she was asked for her birth certificate. She finally confessed the truth to her employer.

He was so pleased with the work she had done in the three months that he went to bat for her and got a special dispensation.

"Nobody would know," said he, "that you were a day over 40."

The moral of that story is clear.

Most bosses, most companies in fact, are not up to date in their thinking about age. They picture 40 as if it were 70.

They think of anyone over 40 in the way that they used to be, several hundred years ago.

Nowadays 40 is a healthy, energetic and young age. When you lie about your age you are only, as one friend of mine puts it "protecting the employer from his own close-mindedness."

GUILTY CONSCIENCE

But not all people can do that. Some people would have such a guilty conscience, such a fear of being found out, they would be nervous, would do a terrible job and get fired.

The best answer for the older worker is to go to small or medium-sized companies, where the pension plan is cutom-made and flexible.

Over 73 per cent of the people over 40 whom I have placed in jobs have gone into the smaller firms.

The other answer for the older worker is to have so saleable a skill—like shorthand, typing bookkeeping, filing—that he or she can get a temporary job, thus overcoming the pension problem.

Temporary workers are not in the pension plan. However, these "temporary" jobs have been known to last for decades!

ACT YOUTHFUL

Third—the older worker has to be especially sure to put his best foot forward in job-hunting and to behave in a young and flexible manner.

If you need help in this area, send for my list of good books in the job-hunting field. A stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of The Pontiac Press, will bring it to you.

White Cake Recipe Is Foolproof

Mrs. Walter Fills Basic Loaf With Lemon Custard

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Today's recipe is for a never-fail white cake. Mrs. Ronald Walter of Clarkston says she has made it for years and considers it one of her choice recipes.

For mothers who have to feed the baby an egg yolk every day this will be a solution for using the whites. Others can just use three eggs for cake, filling and icing.

Mrs. Walter stays active and busy, just keeping up with her three children, she says. They live on the mill pond in Clarkston so engage in many water sports. Gardening and outdoor living are things she enjoys. So is a good game of bridge.

WHITE CAKE
By Mrs. Ronald Walter

3 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons double acting baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups sugar
½ cup milk
½ cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon almond extract
3 egg whites, beaten stiff

Sift dry ingredients together three times. Cream butter, add sugar gradually and beat until light. Add flour alternately with liquids. Beat smooth and add flavorings. Carefully fold in beaten whites.

Pour into two greased 9-inch cake pans. Bake 20 minutes at 375 degrees. Put lemon filling between layers and seven-minute icing on top.

Lemon Custard Filling

3 tablespoons flour
⅓ cup sugar
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice (more, if desired)

Add flour, sugar and salt to slightly beaten yolks. Stir in milk. Cook in double boiler until thick. Add lemon juice. Let cool before spreading on cake.

Don't Ease Up on Marathon Now

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This is the sixth week of your eight-week self-improvement Marathon for you who began on the sixth of Jauary. Even those of you who started later are now well on your way toward success.

How does it feel to find your waistbands looser, those bulges melting away and your pep and self-confidence increasing? I know the answer to those questions! However, I hope that many of you will write to me at the end of your eight weeks and tell me about your results.

Improvements in physical appearance, and how these affect readers' lives, are always very exciting and gratifying to me. I like to hear about them! Also, in August I print a few of these letters in this column because nothing is so stimulating to others.

If you are a Marathon winner let other women know about it so that they, too, will indulge in self-improvement. I do not use your names when I print these epistles in my column.

Let me remind you again not to be disouraged if you have come to a standstill in weight loss. This is perfectly natural. Just keep on counting your calories and the pounds soon will begin to drop away again.

This is a dangerous time psychologically because those of you who already have lost 10 or 12 pounds may become carless and fail to reach the goal you set out for. Don't lose the game in the last five minutes of play.

It is hoped that all of you on the Marathon have learned the value of exercise during the past few weeks and will continue with it as a lifetime part of your daily routine.

I hope that you will have learned the value of exercise during the past few weeks and will continue with it as a lifetime part of your daily routine. Next week I will tell you how to keep that new figure you have discovered for yourself.

It still is not too late to join the Marathon and improve your appearance. If you would like to do so send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Boring Woman Chatters About Just Three Topics

Limits Her Conversation to Herself, Her Husband and Her Children

By RUTH MILLETT

She is a complete and utter bore. She has managed to become one the easy way — by never talking about anything except herself, her husband and her children.

Whether she is with one other person or in a crowd, she sticks to her three topics of conversation.

She can give out with more unimportant facts about herself in a few minutes than most women reveal in a dozen conversations.

She goes into great detail about everything concerning her, her husband and her children, and there is no sidetracking her or getting her to make a story brief and to the point.

If someone else does manage to take over the converation and change the subject, she waits for a chance to break in. Whatever is being told, it invariably reminds her of something that happened to her, to her husband or to one of the children.

She is a nice woman. She has an intelligent husband. She has four fine children. But she makes the unpardonable mistake of thinking that every detail of their lives is as important to others as it is to her.

A woman doesn't need to become a bore simply because she hasn't time for many outside activities and spends most of her time being a housewife and mother.

She can read. She can open her eyes to the world about her. She can cultivate an interest in others that makes her willing to listen as much as talk.

So there is really no excuse for any woman, however "tied down" she may be, to turn into a bore because she has only three topics of conversation.

Just adding a fourth topic—the person she is talking to or his interests—will keep a woman from being a bore.

'Petal Look' Blossoms for Spring

Pastel Hues Appear; Floating Panels Top Slim Sheath Skirts

CHICAGO (INS) — The latest styles for 1957 have a spring-like, flower-petal look.

A survey of fashions for the year finds some of the nation's top designers voting for floral pastels and floating petal panels over slim sheath skirts. The designers in question include Larry Aldrich, Harvey Berin, Oleg Cassini, Mr. John and Schiaparelli.

Aldrich explained that black, which made a comeback in 1956, still will be stylish but the emphasis will on on coordinated costumes of pinks, blues and other flattering pastels—particularly for afternoon and evening.

Mr. John forsees hats more oversized than ever and in sunset colors of pink, mauve, violet, lavender and raspberry.

The pastel trend is so favored that designers for a leading manufacturer of foundation garments said new ranges of pale, flowery hues will be available so women can feel feminine inside and out.

Busy Clubwoman Directs Antique Show and Sale

The saying, "If you want something well done ask a busy person to do it," finds a good illustration in Mrs. Maxwell Shadley.

Dr. and Mrs. Shadley, their three children, Barbara, Mary and David, and "Jinx", the family's pet dachshund, form a lively group in their home on Ottawa drive.

The library houses not only books and Dr. Shadley's aquariums for tropical fish, but doubles as Mrs. Shadley's office, with files, notebooks, desk and telephone.

The file now most in use is the one marked "Antique Show and Sale" as Mrs. Shadley enters the final week of planning as general chairman of Pontiac's fifth annual antique show.

Sponsored by Guild 11 of All Saints Episcopal Church, the show will present 18 exhibitors Feb. 19, 20, 21 in the church building.

TO INTEREST MEN

Just today the chairman announces the signing of a numismatist from Lima, Ohio, who will bring rare coins, stamps and Indian relics to round out a show offering something of interest to men as well as women.

Mrs. Shadley, a former school teacher, oversees the housekeeping, shops and cooks, acts as chauffeur for the three youngsters, and somehow finds time to bowl and to play an occasional game of bridge. She owns a loom, does some weaving, and hopes to do more.

The Antique Show is only one of her civic activities as she serves on the board of directors of three organizations of the city and county.

After three years experience as publicity chairman of the Pontiac Symphony Association, she helped organize the Women's Association to help promote the orchestra. She was elected the second president of this organization and in that capacity is a member of the symphony's board of directors.

She serves on the board of directors of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and is a member of the building committee.

HOSPITAL GROUP

She serves on the board of directors of the Oakland County Hospital Association, a member of the purchasing committee.

David's Boy Scout Den 9 claims Mrs. Shadley as den mother. The girls, Barbara and Mary, have their inning when mother acts as treasurer for the Girl Scout Cookie sale.

MRS. MAXWELL SHADLEY

The list of her activities also includes Daughters of the American Revolution, AAUW, PTA, Child Study Group Three and Women's Auxiliary to the Oakland County Medical Society, with a five-year term on the board of the Women's Auxiliary to the State Medical Society.

But curfently the most active file in the library-office is marked "Antique Show and Sale," and when the telephone rings it is likely to be a committee chairman or antique dealer for a conference.

Central WSCS Hears Address on Youth Work

Mrs. M. R. Little of Mount Clemens spoke at the luncheon meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Central Methodist Church held in the church parlors Thursday.

Choosing as her theme, "Whom Shall I Send?" Mrs. Little told of the need for youth to enter Christian service work.

Mrs. Milton H. Bank used as her topic for devotions, "To Give, To Give, and Give Again." Group singing was led by Mrs. Harold Sibley accompanied by Mrs. John Hall.

Mrs. Richard Balmer presided at the meeting and announced the annual Thank Offering service to be held Feb. 17.

Members of the Ada Duhigg Circle served the luncheon with Mrs. Roger Brummitt, Mrs. Bert Stowell and Mrs. George Dietrich acting as cochairmen. Mrs. Harry Stowell, Mrs. Viola Hopp and Mrs. H. T. Rombough served on the hospitality committee.

Dinner Date Canceled Due to Ice

By EMILY POST

A letter in this morning's mail tells me: "Last week my husband and I were invited out to dinner at the house of a friend in the suburbs. That particular evening the weather was very stormy and the roads quite dangerous because of ice.

"I telephoned my friend and said we would not be able to come because the weather was too bad, and apologized. I understand she was very much put out about this and thinks we should have kept the appointment fair weather or foul. Was I wrong to cancel this dinner engagement or should we have gone regardless of the weather?"

Answer: It depends entirely upon how great was the risk. If the streets were really all ice and you could hardly have gotten there without an accident, then I think you were right, and your hostess should have understood. But the storm would have had to be really bad and the roads dangerous to excuse your staying away.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is to be married soon and she insists that the number of guests should be equal on both sides. The wedding is to be limited to the immediate families and there are more relatives on the girl's side than the boy's.

"She thinks it is only fair that the boy's parents invite friends to make up the difference. I disagree with her. Will you please settle this?"

Answer: It is very unusual when the guests on both sides are even anywhere near the same number, and it is not at all necessary that the bridegroom's family be asked to invite friends to make up the difference in guests.

"Dear Mrs. Post: May a girl keep a man's fraternity pin after their romance has cooled off? A fraternity pin is not exactly the same as an engagement ring, or is it?"

Answer: The sentiment of a fraternity pin is very much the same as an engagement ring. She most certainly should return it.

Members of the North Suburban Chi Omega Alumnae will meet Thursday for a luncheon and tour of Cranbrook Art Museum. Lois Harwood of Cranbrook will hostess the group. Mrs. Kenneth Thornton of Royal Oak and Mrs. Thomas Ammer of Birmingham are handling reservaions.

Kenneth Anthony presented devotions and Mrs. Lloyd Reynolds read the Mother's Prayer.

Use 'Blind Method' to Hang

Keep Wire Out of Picture

MADISON, Wis. (INS) — When hanging a heavy picture or mirror, try the "blind method" using hooks so no wire shows.

A home furnishings specialist says the blind method is best because it doesn't detract from the picture.

To ready the picture for hanging this way, stretch a wire tightly across the back of the picture well above the center. Secure the ends of the wire to eyes screwed into the frame. Having the wire taut is important — it prevents the picture from tilting forward.

Two hooks and a couple of three-inch finishing nails are needed to hang a heavy picture or mirror.

Be sure the nails go into the two-by- four studs in the wall. Locate the studs by tapping the wall, or by finding the nails in the baseboard and lining up with them.

Before you nail, put adhesive tape over the spots where the nails will go in. Mark the exact spot for each nail, on the tape, and then drive the nail through it. This reduces plaster chipping.

If the object is too heavy for hooks, hang it from the molding using two parallel cords so it hangs evenly. If the cord is the same color as the wall, it will be pretty much inconspicuous.

One Mink in Wardrobe Equals 10 Jaded Jackets

Luckless Male Must Toe Convention and Dress With Sobriety for Propriety

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA) — This may come as a shock to most men, but the mink coat in the wardrobes of some women is actually a money-saving device. It seems a mink is the only coat a woman needs — if she has one, she really doesn't require any other coat.

But men aren't that lucky. There's no one coat that does all the different things a man's coat should do.

And so the well-dressed man should have three coats — one for dress, one for business, one for casual wear.

Michael Daroff, president of H. Daroff & Sons, makers of Botany 500 coats, details these three basic coat needs like so:

FOR DRESS WEAR

For dress wear, best bet is a box coat or a semi-fitted coat with set-in sleeves. These are available in rich, deep colors — navy, gray or brown — that accentuate the dressy qualities of the cut.

For business wear, the coat should be more comfortable, and a raglan sleeve seems to be most popular. Here a man can go in for more distinctive fabrics — plaids, quiet stripes, softer colors.

For casual wear, the old-standby, tweed, is best. Emphasizing the casual look of tweed are the new leather buttons and the newer bal collar.

PICK DARK MODEL

If you can't afford three coats in your wardrobe — or if you prefer one coat to do the work of three — better stick to a semi-dressy model. A dark color is best, with perhaps a shadow plaid to take it out of the realm of exclusively dress coats.

Of course, you can always buy your wife a mink and skip the problem of a coat for yourself.

The slim look — call it the Ivy Look if you want to — has gotten so popular that even wallet makers are jumping on the narrow bandwagon.

Rolfs has just introduced the Narrofold, a slim-look wallet. It's thinner, slimmer and lined in a variety of rep stripes. Despite its narrowness, it still accommodates the old fat dollar bills.

The company also has an entire assortment of rep-lined merchandise — regular wallets, pocket secretaries, even eye glass cases. And they figure if the idea catches on, they'll work with a tie manufacturer and bring out a line of matching tie-and-wallet sets.

Doubled sewing thread is less likely to twist and tangle if you knot each end separately, instead of tying them together.

Benny Finds It Easier to Swing Than to Chat

Goodman Prefers Music to Words

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Talking with Benny Goodman is, roughly, like reciting a monologue to a warm but shy kid. He can pull off the most intricate musical maneuvers by putting his tongue to a clarinet. But somehow his tongue doesn't curve very comfortably around words.

So the conversation is likely to go something like this:

You — when you formed another band, much like the great band you had in the 1930s, it immediately caused a sensation anywhere you played. Do you think that's because people felt nostalgic about your music, or would you say it's just plain better music than the popular stuff that we hear today?

Benny — "I don't know, that's hard to say. What do you think?"

You — I'd think nostalgia is a small part of it, but that yours is basically better, almost timeless.

Benny — "Well, I guess it is kind of more or less classic, you might say. I like to think that, anyway."

DEPENDS ON SONG

He grins. "Popular music depends on the song that's written. You take a score like 'My Fair Lady,' and there you are. It makes its own rhythm, at least I think so.

"Basically, if music is good it doesn't take too much changing, but somebody else comes along with a good thing and that gets popular too."

Benny Goodman is not always an easy man to comprehend.

It's when he's directing the 1957 version of his band of two decades ago that you can't miss interpreting him correctly. This is "swing," the bounce of perfection that he is king of; and when he returns to the ordinary stand "Empire Room" of the Waldorf-Astoria on Feb. 25, there once again will be headlines to the effect that good, precise, danceable "swing" will replace rock 'n' roll.

Already the big news in the fashion world is the 1930s styles are coming back for spring. So why not, also, the 1930s special music?

Benny grimaced. "I don't like to be lumped in with fashions, as a rule. But I get a kick out of hearing our band again for sure."

He might also get a kick out of booting out rock 'n' roll, a form of music-or-something about which he says: "Frankly, I don't understand it."

There's something to understand, you inquire?

PRESLEY FAN

"Well," he shrugs, "my daughter of 13 plays piano quite nicely and yet she's a big Elvis Presley fan, for instance. I presume my daughter is rational, and yet she likes rock 'n' roll.

"That's what defeats me — whether she's lost her discrimination or I have."

In semi-retirement for several years, Goodman still practices on his clarinet about two hours each morning, either in his New York apartment or his Stamford, Conn., home where he lives with his wife and two daughters.

That's so he can keep in form to play the classics which, as every Goodman fan knows, are his first love. "You've got to like classics more deeply, I guess, to start with," he says, "and then you get to like jazz."

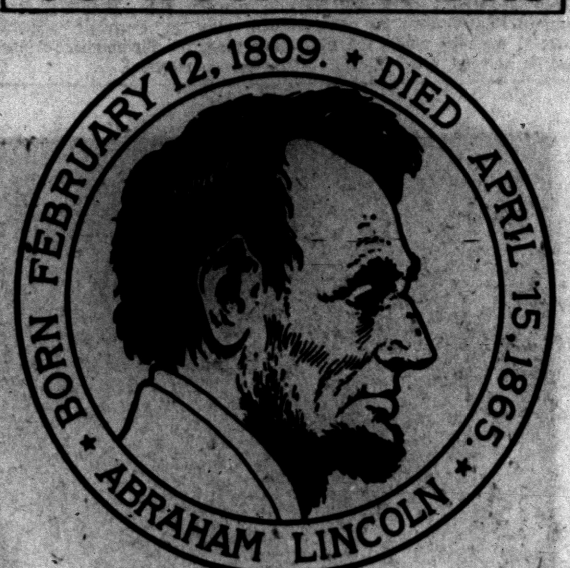

This being about as long a dissertation as Benny goes into, he appeared mildly winded, and therefore the next question, "Is there any difference between jazz and swing?", brought exactly the response it deserves.

"I don't know," he said thoughtfully. "Guess it depends who's swinging what."

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

Lincoln the Man

Abraham Lincoln, a poor boy who was born in a Kentucky log cabin, was elected President of the United States in 1860.

Only a month after his inauguration, the country was divided by civil war and Lincoln had the difficult task of guiding his country through this crisis.

During the four long years of war, he showed wisdom, patience and moral courage that have been an inspiration ever since.

On April 14, 1865, he was shot by John Wilkes Booth as he attended a theater. He died the next morning, only six days after the war had ended.

Many paintings, statues and medals have been made of the strong, rugged face of Abraham Lincoln. Here is a medal you can cut out and color.

Paste this picture on cardboard and color with crayons. To make it look like a bronze medal, color it yellow with brown on the coat and the border.

News Travels Far by Balloon Airmail

BENTON HARBOR (UP) — Good News not only travels fast. It travels far.

When Bill Machemer opened a service station on Jan. 31, his grand opening was a big affair. He and some helpers even sent up 300 helium-filled balloons with registration slips attached. The finders could qualify for some of the 16 prizes Bill was offering.

Irvin Mittan found one of the balloons in Tucson, Ariz. Looking over the prize list, he decided he'd take the No. 4 prize — a wheel balancing job. And he wrote Machemer, telling of his decision and adding that he'd expect the Benton Harbor man in Tucson shortly.

Machemer announced with not too much disappointment that Mittan's coupon arrived in Benton Harbor too late for the contest.

A California jury has practically signed a death warrant for high school athletics by issuing a verdict which has startled school boards and coaches across the country.

You may have read the wire service stories yesterday telling of a $325,000 law suit which was awarded to a high school football player, Anthony Welch, after a football injury resulted in his being paralyzed from the waist down.

These were the facts given in the story. The boy stayed with his father, who was divorced. The father gave permission for the boy to play football. In a scrimmage session with another school the boy was injured September 10, 1955.

The mother of the boy who lived in another city filed suit claiming negligence on the part of the coach. She charged that the boy was not moved to the sidelines soon enough after he was injured.

The jury returned a verdict favoring the mother's suit, although the figure was not for the $672,000 she had asked.

Principal Delwin Poe of Dunsmuir High School contended the jury "failed to consider any assumption of personal risk on the part of the boy." He also said the school would have to discontinue high school athletics, and the school district would be forced to close because the $130,000, which it was to pay of the total, was what it cost to operate the school for one year.

Liability insurance for $200,000 was carried, which made up the remainder of the total awarded.

COACHES EXPRESS OPINIONS

Several football coaches in the area commented on the matter, which has grown to nation-wide interest.

Ed Graybiel, retiring coach at PHS said, "I was shocked to hear that the jury would return such a verdict. When a boy participates in anything from football to ping pong he has to assume some personal risk. By getting permission of his parent or legal guardian to play football he is assuming risk just as much as if he were driving a car. I think the verdict was wrong."

Birmingham High coach Carl Lemle said, "Such a decision should go to the Supreme Court where precedent could be set. The verdict will hurt every sport. We must feel sorry for the boy, but any boy in competitive athletics is susceptible to injury. That is why parental consent is given. He is apt to be injured just walking or riding a bike. I can't go along with the verdict."

Another coach in agreement was Dave Freeman at Waterford. "I do not believe the jury was justified in its verdict. If it stands it will carry into the classrooms and other situations. You can't make the state liable if you crash on the highway, I can't see how the school can be made liable for the injury, especially where every individual assumes personal risk. What good then are parent signatures."

You can be sure the case will be watched by school officials, coaches and athletes nationwide.

It is unfortunate for the boy. No coach would subject his boy to such injury, and often a player himself gives no indication of an injury until several plays later.

In this case it is also unfortunate that the coach has to be subjected to the inference that he deliberately played an injured boy, and if any decision made favors the verdict, it will be truly unfortunate for athletics everywhere.

Honest Wrestling Doesn't Pay Off, Promoter Claims

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Promoter Johnny Heim affirms what many suspected: Honest wrestling just won't pay off at the box office.

The admission came yesterday as portly Heim commented on a proposal by the state athletic commission to regulate the grunt and groan industry and pick up a few bucks from gate receipts.

Heim didn't like the idea at all.

"It would be no good," he said firmly. "They would have to run it like college wrestling — honest — and that wouldn't work.

Pontiac (10-0) Meets Parkers (10-0)

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

There will be one less unbeaten class A basketball team after tonight when 2nd ranked Pontiac and 3rd ranked Highland Park match their 10-0 records in what should be a scrappy battle on the PHS hardwood.

From all angles the game shapes up as an evenly matched contest. The home court and slightly better height is Pontiac's advantage. Better balanced scoring and greater speed is on the side of Highland Park.

The Parkers under coach Jim Wink lead the Border Cities league with a 7-0 mark, the same as Pontiac's record in the Saginaw Valley Conference.

Each team has lost a key player. Highland Park lost the services of captain John McMeekins, its fine floor man, through graduation. The Chiefs' loss was 6-feet-2 forward Jim Skinner who is out with an ankle injury.

In scoring, each team has two leading pointmakers. Eugene Lawson, 6-feet-2 center paces the Parker attack with a 16.5 average. He will be matched by Pontiac's Dave Diehm who is hitting at a 17.2 clip.

Right behind are Mike Fitzgerald of Highland Park and big Hud Ray. Fitzgerald is a 14.5 per game scorer while Ray boasts a 15 point average.

Except for Dick Whitmer, however, Pontiac's remaining scoring balance does not match that of Highland Park. Whitmer is at nine points a game, whereas John Bradley, Hubbie Heath and Leonard Oliver, the other Parker starters, go about 10, 8 and 7 points per average respectively.

Highland Park will be bolstered by the return of 6-foot-4 reserve center Richard Turner who has been out for several games with a sprained ankle. Another player who will see plenty of action is Tom Darin, 6-1 junior forward.

Harrison Munson, 6-feet-2 sophomore will start again for Pontiac in place of Skinner. Munson got a taste of varsity action last week against Flint Central. He collected four of the nine points the Chiefs got in the 1st quarter.

"He did well," says Van Ryzin, "but Central started off strong and I didn't want him to stay in with too much pressure on him."

Dave Simmons, a speedy forward, will substitute with Munson.

The game is the top attraction in the state. It could be a sneak preview of what may come about in tourney play. Highland Park will play in Ferndale regional and meet the Birmingham winner in the quarterfinal.

In their relatively new series, Highland Park has won three of four regular season games. The schools met in the quarter-finals in 1954 which Highland Park won 53-31. In the regionals of 1949 Pontiac won 35-32.

Last year at HP, the Chiefs lost a 60-53 decision.

Game time tonight is 8:00 p.m.

Probable Starting Lineups
Witmer, 6-2	F	Bradley, 6-0
Munson, 6-2	F	Heath, 5-11
Ray, 6-0	C	Lawson, 6-2
Diehm, 5-9	G	Fitzgerald, 5-9
Post, 5-8	G	Oliver, 5-9

Beliveau Leads Scoring Again

MONTREAL (AP) — Big Jean Beliveau, Montreal's classy center, has regained the lead in the National Hockey League's individual scoring scramble.

League statistics disclosed today Beliveau picked up four points—all on assists—last week to displace Detroit's Ted Lindsay as the pace-setter. Beliveau, who won the scoring championship last season, heads the pack with 66 points on 26 goals and 40 assists.

Lindsay and teammate Gordie Howe, a four-time winner of the scoring title, are tied for second with 64 points each.

Kansas Runs Away From MSU, 88-53

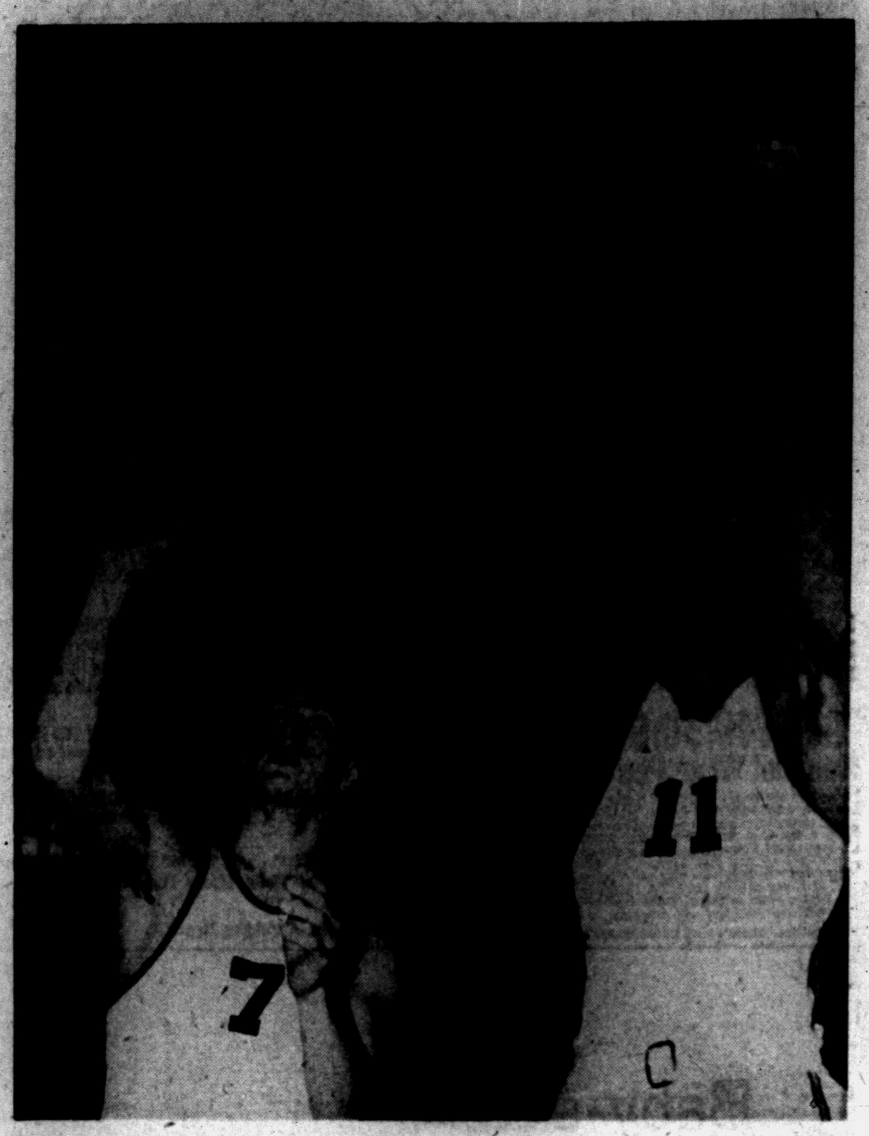

EAST LANSING (AP) — University of Kansas runners showed their heels to Michigan State last night, winning 11 of 15 events for an 88-53 dual meet victory.

The Kansans, Big Seven indoor and outdoor champs last year and NCAA runnersup, broke two field house records during the evening.

Jerry McNeal ran the two mile in 9:06.1 to shatter the old field house time of 9:11.7. Lowell Janzen did the 1,000 yard run in 2:13.9.

Both teams had double winners. Kent Flourke won the broad jump in 22 feet, 4¼ inches and the high jump in 6-feet, 1⅜ inches. Dave Lean, Michigan State's speedy middle distance man, took the 440-yard run in :48.4 and the 880 in 1:53.9.

AIMING HIGH — Pontiac's hope for continuing its unbeaten streak to 11 games against Highland Park, which is also 10-0, will rest heavily on the team's leading scorers Dave Diehm (7) and Hudson Ray (11). The game tonight at PHS is the top attraction in state prep basketball ranks. The Parkers have a well balanced scoring team and are regarded as one of the fastest teams in the state.

High-Ranked Cage Powers Fall Hard

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There wasn't a dry eye in the house today in college basketball camps at Kentucky, Bradley and Iowa State.

The cold breath of defeat that chilled the three high-ranked powers last night was wafted on its way by Mississippi State, Drake and Colorado, in that order.

Hard luck, playing the favorites also beset conference leaders Hardin-Simmons, Western Kentucky and Bradley.

Set against this dismal backdrop of defeat was top-rated North Carolina's 68-59 Atlantic Coast Conference triumph over Virginia for the Tar Heels' 19th straight victory. Indiana, topping the Big Ten, was the only other conference leader to survive the night's drumfire of defeat, beating Minnesota 91-72.

The carnage was awful to behold. Kentucky, third-ranked in the latest Associated Press poll, fell to Mississippi State 89-81. Bradley, No. 5, was squeezed by Drake, 86-85, Iowa State, No. 9, drooped before Colorado 59-53.

Arizon State of Tempe toppled Hardin-Simmons, Border Conference leaders, 67-56, and 13th-ranked Oklahoma City ran away with Western Kentucky of the Ohio Valley Conference, 96-67.

The Big Ten saw last-place Wisconsin win its first loop game of the season, leading all the way to upset Michigan 70-65. Michigan State's Jack Quiggle dumped the deciding basket as the Spartans beat Purdue in the last four seconds of play, 68-66.

In a high-scoring thriller Illinois rattled Northwestern 104-97 to gain a third-place tie with Michigan State, one game behind Indiana.

Houston 'Stops' Ebben With 21

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Houston threw a first-half cordon around dangerous Bill Ebben, raced to a 49-35 halftime lead and went on to an easy 82-72 Missouri Valley Conference basketball decision over Detroit last night.

Andy McElveen, with help from Dean Evans, shackled Ebben, the nation's eighth-ranked scorer, with three field goals and as many free tosses the opening 20 minutes. The Titans, deprived of their top gun, couldn't cope with the Cougars' first-half shooting percentage of 47.

Ebben was to go on to score 21 points for the night but Detroit, with a 30.9 shooting percentage for the game compared to Houston's 42.3, couldn't match UH firepower. Evans, playing one of his finest games of the season, had 23 points, Danny Dotson 24, Russ Boone 14 and McElveen 12 — 10 of them during his first half's work on Ebben.

Lindsay Heads NHL 'Union'

NEW YORK (INS) — The National Hockey League Players' Association was formed quietly in New York yesterday with an assurance by the group's officers that they did not wish to create "trouble"

Ted Lindsay, fiery forward of the Detroit Red Wings and newly-elected president of the association, said flatly of the players, "we are very happy and do not want to cause any ill feeling."

He said the purpose of the association was to "promote, foster and protect the best interests of National Hockey League players."

The high-scoring forward said the group as yet had set no definite goals but that in general it hoped to improve pension benefits and make hockey "more appealing and inviting to the youth of America and Canada as a career."

NHL players currently have a minimum salary of $6,500, $500 more than major league baseball players, and pension benefits which they can start collecting at the age of 45 with just two years in the big time behind them.

Lindsay said the association has retained Milton Mound and J. Norman Lewis as attorneys for a two-year term. Lewis is the same man who helped baseball players set up their organization.

The Detroit star said all but one player in the league was a member of the association. Each member contributed $100 to get the group started.

The other officers of the association are 1st vice president, Doug Harvey of Montreal; 2nd vice president, Fern Flaman of Boston; 3rd vice president, Gus Mortson of Chicago; secretary, Jim Thomson of Toronto, and treasurer, Bill Gadsby of New York.

Sooner Quarterbacks Go

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — For the first time in his career, Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma football coach, says he will have to dip into his third and fourth string quarterbacks for a split-T general.

The 1956 national champions lost 16 seniors through graduation, including Jimmy Harris and his understudy Jay O'Neal. Neither played in a losing college grid game as the Sooners built their undefeated string to 40 straight.

Harris, of Breckenridge, Tex., took over in 1954 from another outstanding signal caller, Gene Calame. Ahead of Calame it was Eddie Crowder, Claude Arnold, Darrell Royal and Jack Mitchell.

Despite the rebuilding job facing Wilkinson in the quarterback department, he declared, "We hope to do as well as we did last year."

Drayton Regains Waterford Lead

Drayton Drug regained undisputed possession of 1st place in the Waterford League basketball race with a 71-66 triumph over Davis Machinery of Ortonville last night at Isaac Crary Junior High.

Mike Hanes tallied 19 points and Bill York added 16 to spark the Drug five to its 9th win in 11 games. Pete Palshan made 17 for Davis Machinery, which fell into 3rd position with an 8-3 record. Drayton led all the way, with the difference in the final score coming at the foul line.

In yesterday's remaining game, Boyle-Stone Front of Milford overtook Johnson & Anderson early in the 3rd quarter and went on to a 51-48 victory. Stone Front's Howard Chenoweth and Walter Coombe of J & A each scored 14 points.

The Lakeside Royals moved back into contention for 2nd place in the adult City Basketball League's American division with a 72-65 victory over CIO Local 594 last night at the Pontiac High School gym.

Jim Pembroke scored 22 points for Lakeside and teammates Willie DeWalt and Levi Pilgrim tallied 19 and 17 respectively as the Royals gained their 8th triumph in 12 games. John James paced the Union club with 15 points.

Harold Hatherly rang up 14 points to lead Booth Homes to a 53-47 verdict over Stadium Inn in their battle for 5th spot. Stadium's Maurice Stack took scoring honors with 19 markers.

Bussey's Whirlwinds and the Boys Club both came out on the long end of the count to remain deadlocked for 1st place in the Class D American League. Each team has a 6-1 record after last night's action at Lincoln Junior High.

The Boys Club swamped the winless State Spartans, 55-26, behind a 23-point splurge by Terry Houston. The Whirlwinds trounced Booth Homes, 53-35, as Perry Williams scored 13 points to spark a well-balanced attack.

Pietz Market pulled into a tie for 2nd place with a 39-34 decision over the Wolverines in the other 'D' game. Bill and Bud Hayward led the winners with 12 and 11 counters respectively.

TEST YOUR BASEBALL KNOW-HOW...

YOU'RE THE MANAGER

By BEN OLAN

The St. Louis Cardinals took a big step forward in 1956. In Freddie Hutchinson's first year as manager in the National League, the Cards finished in fourth place, three notches higher than they did in 1955.

The Cardinals had the highest team batting average in the senior circuit, .268. Had Hutchinson had better pitching his club undoubtedly would have made more trouble for Brooklyn, Milwaukee and Cincinnati.

Here's an opportunity to match wits with the St. Louis manager. In an early season game against Philadelphia, his strategy paid off. What would you have done in the same situation? ....

(Key: (R) righthanded; (L) lefthanded.)

Robin Roberts (R) is on the mound for Philadelphia. The Phillies and Cards are tied 1-1 in the last of the seventh at St. Louis. Rip Repulski leads off for St. Louis and draws a base on balls. Bill Sarni (R) is the next batter with Bobby Del Gerco (R), pitcher Murry Dickson (R) and Bon Blasingame (L) to follow.

Would you:

a. Order Sarni to sacrifice?
b. Save Sarni try a hit-and-run (hitting behind runner)?
c. Let Sarni swing away?
d. Have Repulski try a steal of second?

Result: B — Sarni successfully works the hit and run, sending Repulski to third base. Del Greco and Dickson are easily retired. But Blasingame beats out an infield hit, scoring Repulski. Cards win 2-1 (Juno 4).

Spartans Loom as Contender

Quiggle's Shot as Time Fades Defeats Purdue

Monday's 68-66 Win at Lafayette Gives MSU 5-3 Mark

LAFAYETTE, IND. (AP) — Michigan State ranked itself as a Big Ten basketball contender last night by blasting Purdue's chances on Jack Quiggle's final seconds set shot from 25 feet out.

It gave the Spartans a 68-66 victory, their fifth against just three losses in league play. Purdue absorbed its fourth league defeat, against five victories — dropping the Boilermakers from third to fifth place.

The Spartans are tied for third with Illinois.

Spartans trailed most of the game and were behind 39-34 at the half. With less than 11 minutes left the Boilermakers led 59-49.

Then successive field goals by Michigan State's George Ferguson, Dave Scott, Bob Anderegg and Larry Hedden narrowed the margin before Lamar Lundy and Ed McCormack countered for Purdue.

Minutes later Scott stole the ball to tie the score at 63-63, thanks to some earlier marksmanship by sophomore Johnny Green.

Green and Quiggle put State ahead briefly, then Lundy tied it up, with 21 seconds left. Finally Quiggle ended it with his long shot with four seconds left.

Badgers Spoil UM Title Hopes With 70-65 Win

Wolverines Are Unable to Make Up Deficit Early in Game

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Michigan's hopes for the Big Ten basketball crown were lost in the dust of Wisconsin's first conference victory last night. The Badgers led all the way to win, 70-65.

For Wisconsin, it was the first victory in seven league starts, For Michigan, it was the third conference loss in four games, leaving an even 4-4 Big Ten record.

The Wolverines let the underdog Badgers get off to a big 30-19 lead just five minutes before the first half ended. Then the Michigan squad put on the steam to end up on the short side of a 32-29 intermission score.

But Wisconsin mastered the Wolverine fast break recovery in the second period, holding a four to seven point advantage throughout the stanza. Wisconsin's Bob Litzow took scoring honors with 20 points.

Michigan's high man was Pete Tillotson with only 17 points. Ron Kramer, Michigan's star center, was held to 13 points by a pair of Wisconsin reserves, Steve Radke and Dave Kocourek. The closely guarded Kramer fouled out with seven minutes left in the game.

Reschedule City Games

The City League basketball games of Jan. 24, postponed because of mid-year graduation exercises at Pontiac High School, have been rescheduled Feb. 28 at the PHS gymnasium. Shaw's Jewelers face the Boys Club at 7 p.m. and the Clarkston Merchants meet Booth Homes at 8:30.

Man, 80, Bags a Deer

KINGSTON, Ont. (AP)—F. G. Porter, 80, bagged an eight-point, 200-pound deer on Gore mountain 80 miles north of here. He says he has been hunting 50 years.

Prep Cage Menu Light, but Tasty

A full schedule of games in the Oakland B and Wayne-Oakland conferences and the revival of the Lake Orion-Oxford feud take the spotlight in tonight's limited high school basketball program in the Oakland County area.

Avondale, which had a seven-game winning streak snapped by Rochester last Friday in non-conference play, tries to keep its Oakland B League title hopes alive by turning back visiting Roseville.

The Jackets, trailing league-leading Troy by one full game, will attempt to dispose of the dangerous Wildcats and hope for improving Fitzgerald to topple the Colts in the Fitzgerald gym. Clawson goes to Madison for the other loop tilt.

A Milford quintet which has gone from the top to the bottom of the Wayne-Oakland Conference ladder in two seasons plays host to runner-up Clarkston in tonight's best W-O attraction.

Clarkston has little or no hope left of winning the crown, but the Wolves are determined to finish 2nd best. Reinforced by the addition of 6-foot-2 Bill Noles, a transfer from Oxford, they strengthened their grip on the position last Friday by beating Brighton.

West Bloomfield visits Brighton and Holly has the unenviable task of invading Northville to meet the pace-setting Mustangs in other W-O contests.

Unpredictable Lake Orion and an equally erratic Oxford club resume their neighborhood rivalry on the Oxford court.

The Dragons, who blow hot and cold from one game to the next, handed Oxford a severe trouncing in their 1st meeting at Orion. The Wildcats have won only twice so far this season.

Berkley, the Class A power which derailed Walled Lake's express last week, invades Ferndale to face the strong Railsplitters. Ferndale edged the Bears by three points in their 1st encounter.

Utica, rocked by two successive defeats after winning its 1st seven, seeks to get back on the victory trail against Lakeview in a Bi-County League tussle at Utica.

Additional area games tonight are Bloomfield Hills at Oak Park and Romeo at New Haven. Cranbrook plays Patterson Collegiate Wednesday in Windsor.

Kramer Studies Canadian, Packer Pro Grid Offers

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Ron Kramer, Michigan's All-America end, said yesterday he's thinking about security as he weighs a Canadian opportunity against the Green Bay Packers' offer of a pro football career.

"Money isn't the only problem," said Kramer. "I want security after my playing days are over. Therefore, I'm going to seriously think over both offers before deciding which to take."

Kramer, the Packers' No. 1 draft choice in the last National Football League college player draft, was here as Michigan's starting center in the Big Ten Basketball game with Wisconsin last night.

Although he said he prefers football to basketball, he revealed the Globetrotters had talked talked about the possibility of him joining the collegiate basketball All-Stars in the Trotters-collegians annual tour.

Maryland Track Opens Earliest in East History

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — Bowie race course, which only a few years ago didn't unlock its gates until April, welcomed the customers to its winterized premises today in a move that will be watched closely by thoroughbred racing people everywhere.

The 41-day meeting marks the earliest date the horses have been taken out of winter mothballs in the history of a major Eastern track.

A crowd of upwards of 13,000 was expected to turr out, as the weather - man promised fair weather with the mercury around 42 degrees. The inaugural running of the Abraham Lincoln Handicap, with 11 older horses going to the post, was the holiday feature on an eight-race card.

Beagles Run Sunday

Sunday's activity in the Metamora hunt area includes a run by the North Country Beagles, starting at the James Blackwood place. Hounds will move out at 2:30 p.m. and those unfamiliar with the area have been invited to meet with the staff at the kennels on Casey road, Metamora township, a quarter-mile west of Horner at 2 p.m. They will follow the hound track to the meet. Charles K. Backus is master of hounds.

Group Urges Bill for Schools

ADA Would Set Aside $1 Billion to Construct New Classrooms

WASHINGON (AP) — Americans for Democratic Action today urged enactment of a federal school construction bill providing a billion dollars annually for new classrooms.

Edward D. Hollander, national director of ADA, said in testimony prepared for a House Education subcommittee:

"We are sure the federal government can 'afford' such a program. We see no reason why public education has to yield priority in the federal budget to, say, public roads; or priority in labor and materials to supermarkets or office buildings."

Hollander said the Eisenhower administation's proposal, which calls for an outlay of $1,300,000,000 for school building over the next four years, indicates a "decision to spare the budget and spoil the child."

He added:

"It is a penny-pinching, half-starved bill, with the marks of the budget wringer still fresh upon it.

ADA describes itself as a non-partisan organization. It generally as espoused policies of the New Deal and the "Fair Deal."

Private Parking for Real

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—Where to park was Gwen Love's daily problem when she went to work in a downtown law office. Then she noticed a 12-foot-ide vacant lot about a block away. It turned out the lot was owned by the city and was for sale. Miss Love bought it for $75, put a fence and gate around it and now parks leisurely.

California Man Gives Gunmen Cold Shoulder

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Police have reported, without recommendation, Clyde Burk's method of frustrating robbers: Ignore 'em.

Burk, 51, was walking along the street when two young men approached him. One, he said, had a bulge in his coat pocket.

"Hey, mister," said this one, "this is a holdup."

Burk kept right on walking.

"Pay attention, dad," the gunman said, falling into step. "I'll kill ya."

Burk walked on.

"Go ahead," he said. "I have no money anyway."

The holdup pair stared open-mouthed, then turned and ran.

Sinatra Cancels Tour —Costs Him $75,000

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The tour he didn't make will cost Frank Sinatra "in excess of $75,000."

That's the estimate of promoter Lee Gordon, who booked Sinatra and a troupe of 12 entertainers and musicians for what was to be a three-week tour of Australia and the Philippine Islands.

Gordon said that he and the singer's business manager, Hank Sanicola, reached an agreement whereby Sinatra will pay for all expenses incurred.

He said Sinatra has agreed to make the tour later this year, possibly in October. Sinatra cancelled his scheduled appearance after a dispute in Honolulu over airline tickets to Australia.

Ann Blyth Plays Opposite in 'Helen Morgan Story'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A lot of eyebrows were raised when it was announced that Ann Blyth would star in the life of Helen Morgan.

"Impossible!" exclaimed the brow-lifters. After all, Helen Morgan was a symbol of the '20s, a hard-drinking, fast-living party gal. And Ann—well, Ann is just about the epitome of sweetness.

But these unbelievers forget Ann's first grown-up role. That was in "Mildred Pierce." She played a cold-blooded murderess, the daughter of Joan Crawford.

Michael Curtiz remembered. He directed "Mildred Pierce" and he's now doing "The Helen Morgan Story." He knew Ann could handle it.

I discovered proof on the movie set. Ann was dolled up in a form-fitting showgirl costume and sang a jazzy number with two other girls in a Chicago dive. Then she was instructed by the joint's owner to circulate among the customers to drum up drinks.

After the take, Ann returned to her serene self and discussed the role in her dressing room.

"It's really exciting," she enthused. "It's so stimulating to be doing a role that really offers you some challenges."

She admitted she has had few chances at meaty roles since "Mildred Pierce," which was 12 years ago. She did that one on loanout from Universal.

"I had some strong roles at Universal, but they didn't attract much notice," she said. "One of them was 'Another Part of the Forest,' which I thought was a fine picture. But nobody saw it."

Then she went to MGM, where she became queen of musicals like "Rose Marie" and "Kismet."

"I thought it would be fun to sing,' she smiled. "And I did. Oh, how I did!"

Helen Morgan, born in Danville, Ill., in 1900, started as a dancer in a Chicago joint, moved on to New York and the Ziegfeld chorus, then began singing in speakeasies. Made the paddy wagon when the places were raided. She graduated to Broadway shows and starred for Ziegfeld as the first Julie in "Show Boat."

She had two brief marriages, but during most of her career she sought unsuccessfully for real love. She became one of show biz's most famous boozers and gave most of her money away. She died in Chicago in 1941.

Shortage of Work Haunts Spook-Renting Business

By HAL BOYLE

ANDROS TOWN, Bahamas (AP)—The bottom has fallen out of the ghost rental industry here.

At the moment every ghost in the stable of Constable Boyd, who has built up a monopoly in the spook-renting field, is unemployed.

"Mon, nobody seems to want to pay a fair price for one," cheerfully grumbled the venerable constable. "They expect a ghost to work for nothing but rice and pigeon peas."

Dealing in the renting and selling of guaranteed, grade-A haunting ghosts — just the thing for "the man who has everything" — is actually merely a sideline with Constable Boyd.

POWER OVER SPIRITS

But his reported power over spectral spirits — no one knows just when he set up his ghostly employment agency—may explain why for 40 years Constable Boyd has had little trouble carrying out his official duties as a peace officer on this largest island of the Bahamas, where remnants of "black magic" still flourish.

The slender, grizzly-moustached constable, who looks like he could be either 62 or 162, has been known to fly to Nassau with natives under arrest, even for murder, without bothering to handcuff them. The prisoners realize it would be easy to overpower him. But who could whip his stable of ghosts?

A gentle, kindly old man whose mind is a reservoir of superstitious folklore handed down from the slave days, Constable Boyd plays many roles. Any tourist who tries to make a joke of the constable usually finds the laugh is turned on him.

Constable Boyd is a big man in Coakley Town, the native village that lies across Fresh Creek from Andros Town, the multimillion-dollar resort colony being built here by Dr. Axel Wenner-Gren, the Swedish industrialist.

POSTMAN, PASTOR

He helps keep peace among its 350 live souls—and, of course, keeps its innumerable ghosts in line, too. He also is the postman. And on Sunday, as a lay pastor in the native Anglican Church, he puts on his ministerial robes and preaches.

Now, about those ghosts—.

"My price for renting a ghost is $28 a week, sight unseen," says Constable Boyd, "and I'll sell you a ghost outright for $1,400. But it's only fair to warn you that you can't take him with you. If you leave Andros, he will remain. He can only haunt where he's lived."

So far no one has bought a $1,400 ghost, not even an angry tourist's wife anxious to haunt her husband. Few also seem willing to pay out $28 for a full week.

But the constable resolutely refuses to lower prices or rent his ghosts for part-time work. He feels that no conscientious ghost can do a thorough job of haunting in less than a full week. A ghost on a hurryup one-night assignment hardly has time to gear up his ectoplasm and get into the spirit of the thing. He'd rather let 'em float around and loaf.

CHEAP TO KEEP

"It doesn't cost much to keep them, mon, whether they're rented or not," he points out.

What a customer does with a ghost after he rents it—or who he has it haunt—is none of Constable Boyd's business. All he asks is that it be returned on time and in good condition.

Generally, he says, a ghost that was mean in its lifetime can be counted on to do the meanest kind of haunting.

The constable has an all-male stable of four ghosts at present. He has never had a call for a lady ghost; presumably living ladies already are doing all the feminine haunting required. The names of his ghosts are Murray, Gooney, Spence, and Richard Crotch.

"I can really give you good references for the job Crotch will do," says Constable Boyd gravely, his eyes twinkling. "He was a relative."

Weisberger Heads Pacific Sailors Union

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Morris Weisberger is the new head of the powerful Sailors Union of the Pacific, replacing the late Harry Lundeberg.

Weisberger, 49, the union's agent for the port of New York since 1939, was elected by unanimous vote of 1,500 members crowded into the union's headquarters here.

Lundeberg, long-time foe of West Coast longshore leader Harry Bridges, died Jan. 28.

Must Pay Support for Son of Actress

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Superior court has ordered Dr. Peter L. Hoffman to make $80 monthly payments for support of actress Claire James' son, although he maintains the child is not his.

Miss James was granted a $20 increase from the $60 payments Hoffman has been making.

The actress and Hoffman were divorced in 1952. At that time he was declared the father of the child, Blake, now 5.

But in a hearing room yesterday he testified that he didn't know the boy's age and had never seen him.

"He's not my child," the doctor insisted.

Stocks Rallying After Sharp Dip

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market began to rally in heavy early trading today.

The high-speed ticker tape was late in reporting transactions as prices grew firmer following yesterday's decline, the sharpest since Oct. 1955.

Gains of leading stocks ran from fractions to around 2 points.

The market opened irregularly lower and the ticker tape was a minute behind during four minutes of trading but then more plus signs appeared. The tape cleared.

As the trend reversed and began to climb, the pace of trading again increased and the ticker tape ran as much as 3 minutes late as buyers rushed into pick up stocks at drastically lower prices.

Wall Street observers said it had all the ear-marks of a temporary selling climax and the start of a technical rally. But most analysts believed that the market, having penetrated the 1956 lows yesterday, would head eventually for a lower support level.

Gulf Oil, Kennecott Copper and Baltimore & Ohio advanced around 2 points. Gains of a point or so were made by Chrysler, Youngstown, Boeing, United Aircraft and Eastern Air Lines.

Among gains were U. S. Steel Anaconda, New York Central and Johns-Manville.

Urge GI Loan Interest on Homes Be Kept Static

LANSING (AP) — Two Democrats called on the legislature last night to urge congress not to increase the allowable rate of interest on G.I housing loans.

The resolution, presented by Sen. John B. Swainson and Basil Brown, both of Detroit, said an increase in the rate would operate to "deprive veterans of their rights," and that it would not stimulate the flow of credit for housing construction.

The resolution went to the senate business committee.

London Press Urges Duke to Rush Home

LONDON (INS) — London morning newspapers continued crying out today for the Duke of Edinburgh to return to London to "kill the rumor" of his rift with the Queen "stone dead."

The papers all were vitriolic about the way the palace handled the whole situation.

The Daily Herald cried that the whole matter had been handled with "ineptitude" and said that "it is time some realization of the modern world percolated to those who advise the palace on public relations" to "prevent false rumors running wild."

The Mirror blazingly said that "in any barroom in the world yesterday you could hear the gossip — now embroidered beyond any recognition — about the Queen and Duke."

Elizabeth publicly ignored the rumors about her marital troubles with aplomb worthy of a Queen.

Saturday she will see her husband for the first time since Oct. 15 when he set off on a world voyage. They will meet at Montijo Airport at Lisbon and spend the weekend aboard the Britannia before Elizabeth begins a state visit to Portugal on Monday.

Two Grains Take Spurt Up

CHICAGO (AP) — A possibility the scheduled strike of longshoremen may be averted helped to spur buying in wheat and soybeans on the board of trade today.

Wheat scored gains running to around a cent, while soybeans were up more than a cent before buying power subsided, and a slight reaction set in. Rye also moved ahead.

Feed grains opened lower, reflecting continued large sales of government corn to exporters, but then inched higher in sympathy with the rest of the market.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅜ to ¾ higher, March $2.30¾, corn unchanged to ⅛ higher, March $1.28, oats unchanged to ¼ higher, March 74, rye ¾ to 1¾ higher, March $1.32¾, soybeans ⅛ to 1¾ higher, March $2.41¼, and lard unchanged to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $14.72.

News dispatches said some real progress was being made toward averting the scheduled strike of longshoremen at Atlantic coast ports. This inspired demand for wheat and soybeans as exports are important in maintaining prices for these grains.

Standard Car Models Test Speed in Florida

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Standard production passenger cars, convertibles and station wagons took over Daytona Beach today to see how fast this year's models can go.

No souping up was permitted under rules of the National Assn. for Stock Car Auto Racing, sponsor of the speed trials here. The cars traveling the measured mile are exactly as they would come from a dealer's showroom.

The drivers will be shooting at the record of 139.373 miles an hour set last year by Tim Flock of Atlanta in a 1956 Chrysler 300B. Records for smaller engine cars also are at stake.

A rough beach caused postponement yesterday of flying mile runs for "big three" class family sedans — Fords, Chevrolets and Plymouths. This event will be held Monday.

Too Lenient With Youth?

WOONSOCKET, R. I. (AP) — A YMCA official says leniency by educators and police only make today's youth grow increasingly callow and less respective to authority. Speaking at the Woonsocket YMCA's annual meeting, Victor H. Berger, its general secretary, suggested that legislation be sought to permit corporal punishment by educators and law enforcers as a possible cure for juvenile delinquency.

Push Atheistic Program

LONDON (AP)—Soviet youth organizations were ordered today to step up atheistic propaganda among young people. The Communist youth paper Komsomolskaya Pravda published a decree "recommending" that youth organizations "improve scientific-atheistic propaganda."

Liner Uganda Gives Britannia Very Close Call

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP)—The master of the British-India liner Uganda thought it would be nice to let his passengers have a good view of the royal yacht Britannia when their paths crossed near the Canary Islands Feb. 1.

So he reduced speed and altered course in order to parallel the course of the Britannia. The commander of the royal yacht was not expecting the move, and as a result the Uganda's bow cleared the stern of the Britannia by only 200 yards.

Came a message from the Duke of Edinburgh, aboard the Britannia, to the Uganda:

"Damn glad you missed us."

The Uganda arrived here today and passengers told the story to the newspaper Cape Argus.

Theodore Kappel was in line to get his shots and checkup when an officer noticed a .38 caliber revolver sticking out of his pocket.

Instead of going to Ft. Dix, Kappel was sent to jail on a charge of carrying a dangerous weapon.

Singer to Star in TV Program

Vocalist Guy Mitchell Also Gets Own Show on ABC Network

NEW YORK (INS)—Pat Boone's ABC-TV contract guarantees him a minimum $1,000,000 for five years but he'll make lots more than that.

He'll have his own Thursday evening half hour for Chevrolet—sold on a firm 52-week deal—39 weeks "live" and a 13-week vacation fill-in also to be owned by 22-year-old Pat, who may make up to $400,000 per year from TV alone.

This does not include the fortune spinning off his Dot record hits—he's had five revolving hot cakes to date—nor his personal appearances for which he'll be getting $10,000 to $15,000 a week when he can take them. He's off any moment for his first Hollywood film.

Meanwhile this very fine young lad, father of three, a junior at Columbia University with what seems to be a firm clutch on a Phi Beta Kappa pin, will not depend on "gimmicks" for his new TBC-TV show . . . Pat will have the program draped around his own considerable talents and personality with ambitions toward the style of writing and production values which make the Dinah Shore and Perry Como shows so sprightly—and high-rated.

MITCHELL SHOW

Pat's agency (General Artists Corp.) also has sold a new Guy Mitchell show to ABC-TV . . . This one's a firm 39-week contract with options for an extension, also a fancy six-figure foolscap . . .

Considering Sinatra's ABC-TV deal, this might mean after all these seasons of comic domination of TV channels that singers will have their day again in the Crosby-Vallee fashion of early radio.

The drawing power of singers can be illustrated by what TV star (Monday, NBC-TV, 7:30 p.m.) Nat King Cole did in the way of delighting the internal revenue during one week at the Paramount Theater on Times Square . . .

Nat, who owned the Paramount stage "package," took a long chance and guaranteed the theater $50,000 for the week, spent another $22,288 for a stage show—Count Basie's orchestra ($12,500), Ella Fitzgerald ($5,000), comics Allen and DeWood ($1,250) and several lesser salaries.

After paying all expenses, Nat wound up with more than $50,000 as his own personal take-home (probably an all-time record).

The Mills Brothers and Eileen Barton appeared and refused payment for helping out a stricken friend . . . Wonder what Nat's tax will be on that $50,000-plus?

Lady's Only Solace: Her Car's Insured

MEMPHIS (AP)— When Mrs. Frankie Young stopped her car in heavy traffic it was astraddle a railroad track.

First thing you know, along came a train.

Well, said Mrs. Young, the cars in front couldn't move. The cars in back couldn't move. So she and the five young children in the car made a run for it.

The train smashed into the car, sending it tumbling along the tracks for 60 feet. About that time, said Mrs. Young, the school bus and the car that had blocked her way drove off.

No one was hurt. Mrs. Young said the only bright note in the whole affair was "I had insurance."

Turkish Bath Becomes Scene for Interview

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—George Gobel and I met in a Turkish bath. Three other guys came along, making it the best covered—and uncovered—Turkish bath in history.

"I'l just watch," I said, as George was depositing his money at the desk in the Biltmore Baths and heading for the dressing room to get in shape for TV.

"That's pretty shifty," George muttered. "You'll come along and get boiled out like all the rest of us."

GOBEL

"How am I supposed to wear this towel?" I asked George as we entered the steam room.

"Either single or double breasted." George, accustomed to the blasts of steam that hit us in the face, seemed to be enjoying it. "How hot is it in here?" George asked the attendant.

"Only about 170 degrees," the man answered. "The other little room up there is 20 degrees hotter."

"Is this really supposed to be good for a hangover?" I asked George, who shrugged his towel.

"Not as good as the best treatment," answered George.

"What's that?"

"The best treatment for a hangover," George said "is not to drink."

No Flood Insurance Yet!

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government-sponsored flood insurance, on the lawbooks for six months, still is not available to aid in the latest flood disasters.

And it may be late spring or early summer — past some of the peak flood seasons in many areas —before any policies are written.

Holding things up at the moment is a 100-million-dollar appropriation awaiting congressional action.

"When we get the money, we'll be in operation," says Commissioner Frank J. Meistrell, in charge of the Federal Flood Indemnity Administration.

The government took on the experiment of underwriting flood insurance after disastrous 1955-56 floods in the Northeast because no private insurance companies were willing to take the risk.

The biggest problem in launching the program has been to determine a schedule of rates for the 37 states classed as flood areas.

The rates are ready now though still a secret.

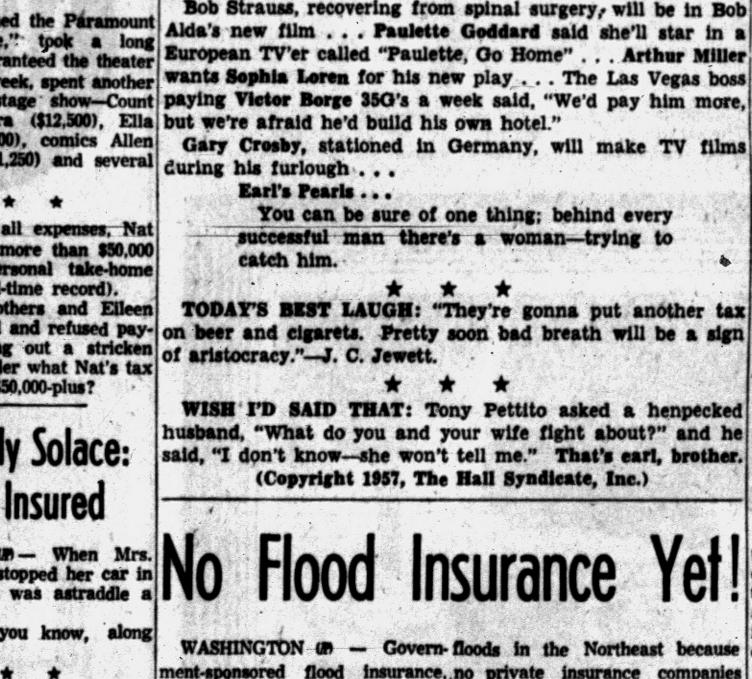

Flood policies will be handled through 150,000 private insurance agents and brokers. Between 1,500 and 4,000 insurance companies will act for the government on a "set-fee" or cost reimbursement basis.

The government will pay the agents' fees and also absorb 40 per cent of the cost of the policy. The rates will vary according to the risk of flood damage.

The government is authorized to write five billion dollars worth of insurance, with a maximum of $250,000 for any one person and a top of $10,000 for any private dwelling. The law is geared primarily to aid the small businessman and small home owner and also provides for loan contracts to help cover flood losses.

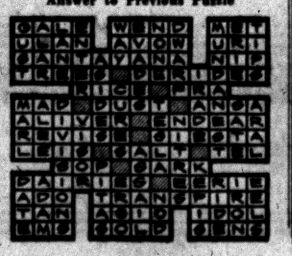

Early in 1949, a prospector discovered radioactive minerals while examining some old mines at Marysvale, Utah, about 160 miles south of Salt Lake City, and gave the United States its first important source of primary uranium.

Believe Woman Fell Into Sea

Discovered Gone From Yacht in Rough Waters off North Carolina

OCRACOKE, N. C. (AP)—A physician whose pretty nurse disappeared from his anchored yacht waited anxiously today while Coast Guardsmen searched sea and shore for some trace of her.

Dr. James T. Dodge, 45, general practitioner of Trenton, N.J., said he thought high waves might have thrown her off the yacht's deck while he was asleep below decks.

Dr. Dodge and Mrs. Mary Ann Scales, 33, of Bordertown, N. J., his nurse for 12 years, had been on a Southern cruise for about a week "to get away from his practice." He said the 34-foot craft Mary N. II ran aground near here about 6:30 p.m. Saturday and after they refloated it they anchored in a channel because of poor visibility.

The doctor said he went below to sleep at about 8 p.m. but "Mrs. Scales said she wasn't sleepy and was going to sit up for awhile," he related. When he awoke the next morning, he added, she was gone. Her shoes were under the yacht's steering wheel.

"She might have looked at the anchor chain in the wind and been pitched off," Dodge suggested.

The Weather Bureau and Coast Guard reports noted that seas were choppy that night, it was foggy and the wind was 20 miles an hour.

Meanwhile, spouses of both the physician and nurse said their marriages were breaking up. At Mercersville, N. J., Mrs. Dodge said she left her husband last May because of the nurse.

The nurse's husband Eugene, a Trenton, N. J., automobile brake shop employe, said he had filed suit for divorce on grounds of desertion. He has been caring for their two daughters, Janice Marie, 6, and Phyllis Jean, 14.

The Dodgers also have two daughters, Barbara, 9, and Judy, 17.

Can You Bake Best Cherry Pie? —64-Girl Question

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—It's a good bet that the best cherry pies in Michigan will be found in Grand Rapids this week when 64 future homemakers try for top honors in the 1957 Michigan cherry pie baking contest.

The girls, selected in county bakeoffs, are scheduled to take turns at the ovens in four shifts Thursday at Civic auditorium.

The winner, receiving a $200 scholarship and the chance to represent Michigan in the national contest Feb. 21 at Chicago, will be announced at the awards luncheon Friday noon.

Reed M. Roberts, secretary of the Michigan Canners and Freezers Assn. and manager of the contest—25th in the series—estimated about 4,000 girls had taken part in the preliminary tests throughout the state.

He said leading home economists and educators comprise the judging group at the finals with candidates judged on personal qualifications as well as baking ability.

The contest is sponsored by the Michigan Cherry Producers Assn., The Canners and Freezers group and the Michigan Cherry Commission.

Camille Lambert, who courted Mrs. Anna Beck 52 years ago in the little French village of Herbeuval, has had second thoughts about marrying her and going off to America to live.

Mrs. Beck, who arrived yesterday from her home in Marshalltown, Iowa, to marry Lambert, explained:

"He is a respected citizen of Herbeuval. He has many friends there with whom he plays belotte (a card game). He doesn't want to leave them."

Mrs. Beck insists on returning to America "where there is color and song and laughter." She said:

"I am sure Camille will be persuaded. It will be good to settle down and have my own life again."

Mrs. Beck, a native of Luxembourg, went to the United States as a young woman, leaving Lambert in Herbeuval. Both married.

"Then my husband died. His wife died. Last year," Mrs. Beck related, "I went to Herbeuval and saw Camille. We decided to marry."

Mrs. Beck, spry and alert, has 7 children, 25 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren.

Sen. Langer Improves, but Still Listed Critical

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Langer (R-ND), hospitalized last week with pleurisy and pneumonia, has shown some improvement.

But Langer, 70, is "still considered critically ill," a Bethesda Naval Hospital report said last night.

The medical report said Langer had been "in an emergency oxygen tent and has had three blood transfusions."

Lindemer Must Steer Party Through April 1 Election

State GOP Chairman Hardly Gets In to Find He Must Keep Democrats Out

DETROIT (AP)—Lawrence B. Lindemer, the new top strategist of the Republican Party in Michigan, will hardly get settled in his new post as state chairman before he faces his first big test.

April 1, the day of the spring election, Republicans will try to prevent Democrats from taking over what top state offices are still in their hands, notably the jobs of highway commissioner and superintendent of public instruction.

Republicans are in for a tough assignment in battling the proven effectiveness of a Democratic powerhouse led by Gov. Williams, but Lindemer says he is convinded that his plan to inject a new look into the Michigan GOP will win if anything can.

Central to his strategy is adoption of the concept of Eisenhower republicanism on a state and county level.

"It's a working theory of government which ties in the rights of the individual with the responsibilities of the individual," he said after his election Saturday at the Republican state convention.

GOT TO GET OUT

"It isn't enough just to belong to the party, to vote Republican or to like Eisenhower," he added. "You've got to get out and prove it."

Lindemer, at 35, has a ready grin and a boyish look that gives him the deceptive appearance of a political neophyte not long out of college. He proved his mettle, though, in defeating a coalition of three opponents that threw support to Verny J. Reynolds, 59-year-old retired auto dealer from Allegan.

J. Addington Wagner of Battle Creek, former national commander of the American Legion and the pre-convention favorite, withdrew from the race four hours before the convention got under way. A. Matt Buder, Genesee County chairman, had only token support and also backed out early.

POLITICAL EXPERIENCE

Lindemer, a Stockbridge and Lansing attorney, already has had political experience on a local, state and national level.

A graduate of the University of Michigan law school and a World War II veteran, he was a state representative in 1951-52. The next year he served as an administrative aid to the second Hoover commission on governmental reorganization. He also has been an Ingham County Republican chairman and assistant Ingham County prosecutor.

Lindemer has summoned the newly elected state central committee to its first meeting Saturday in Lansing. It's expected they'll elect officers and start laying plans for the spring election.

Also to be decided is Lindemer's salary. Convention delegates adopted a platform proposing a full time GOP staff and director, but declined to recommend a specific salary for the chairman.

Retiring Chairman John Feikens was paid $75 for each working day. Some party leaders have proposed the chairman get $20,000 and work full time.

Wayne Singers to Tour Europe

1st College Glee Club to Visit Army Bases; USO Sponsors Plans

DETROIT (INS)—Twenty members of Wayne State University's Men's Glee Club will make a six-to-eight week European concert tour of Army bases this summer.

The Defense Department's coordinating agency, USO Camp Shows, Inc., will pay the expenses of the tour.

The Wayne singers reportedly are the first collegiate group to make such a trip.

The touring group of 13 will be picked from the glee club's 60 members in the next two months. Standards for selection set up by glee club officers and glee club director Harry Langsford are: Musical ability, general attitude, extra-musical abilities, personality, responsibility and seniority.

Each tour member will be allowed $9 a day for food and lodging in addition to transportation. This living expense will be reimbursed after the trip by the government.

In approving the tour, Dean of students Harold E. Stewart said:

"We hope to be able to assist tour members by using student activity funds for their living expenses. Although they would be reimbursed after the trip, it might be difficult for students to scrape together $300 or $400."

The group will fly to New York July 1 by commercial airlines and then be flown overseas from McGuire Air Force Base, New Jersey, by the Military Air Transport Service.

Jarred Skunk Doesn't Even Raise a Stink

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Violet has been freed from her curiosity-imposed prison, so the Kirby King household can look forward to a night's sleep.

Violet is a skunk who got too close a look at the bottom of a pickle jar. The jar stuck, and for nine days and nights, every where that Violent went, the jar was sure to go

Mostly, Violet went under the King house, clanking the jar against the plumbing and playing hob with the family's sleep. They tried to drive Violet away. Instead, she reacted the way most normal skunks do when they are disturbed

Last night Rudy Crawford, a friend of King's, caught violet under the house. Luckily, she was asleep.

Crawford put a gunny sack over her head, removed her, and then jerked away the jar. Violet promptly departed for a nearby wooded area.

And this time she never raised a stink in the entire operation.

The same program also will be offered Wednesday in Saginaw and Thursday in Lapeer.

Going from Oakland will be Mrs. Mary Hixon and Mrs. Frieda Bennett, home demonstration agents; Lyle Abel, Jay Poffenberger and Wayne Seifert, agricultural agents; and Sue Sturgis and Jack Worthington, 4-H agents.
