

Report Rips Baker; GOP Charges Cover-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee accused Bobby Baker today of "many gross improprieties," saying he used his position as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority to feather his own nest.

A report submitted to the Senate by the committee's Democratic majority said the manner in which the 36-year-old Baker concealed his business and financial dealings provided convincing proof that he himself was fully aware of their impropriety.

MINORITY REPORT

The committee's three Republican members filed a minority report accusing the Democrats of a "cover-up," protesting among other things that White House Aide Walter Jenkins had been protected, as they put it, from being called as a witness.

But while the GOP members said they could not concur in the majority report because "the investigation has never been completed," they said the evidence did reveal "gross wrong-doing, gross improprieties, and conduct which we believe to be unlawful."

The Senate inquiry into

Baker's outside business dealings was touched off by a $200,000 damage suit brought against him, and others last year by a local vending machine company.

Baker resigned his $19,600-a-year Senate job Oct. 7 and invoked the fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination when called before the rules committee as a witness.

The report filed by the committee's Democratic majority described Baker as "first of all an opportunist," who was available to his friends and acquaintances and they to him.

"In general," the report said, "he relied upon every opportunity, and there were many, to further his wealth-seeking ambitions."

Union, AMC Start Discussing Contract

DETROIT (AP) — A United Auto Workers bargaining team headed by Union President Walter P. Reuther opened contract talks today with American Motors Corp. (AMC) — the firm which provided a dramatic breakthrough in 1961 negotiations.

Talks with the big three car makers — Ford Motor Co., General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. — began last week. AMC is the smallest of the major car producers.

Company spokesmen would give no advance hints of the position AMC Vice President Edward L. Cushman will take in today's opening round.

Last time around, Cushman and Michigan's Republican Gov. George W. Romney, then president of the company, authored the auto industry's first profit-sharing plan.

Under the profit-sharing arrangement, a percentage of AMC's pre-tax adjusted earnings is put into a fund. Some of the money is used to finance insurance and pension improvements and some amount of supplemental unemployment benefits.

Some of the fund is used to purchase company stock, which is distributed to workers on a formula based on years of service. The stock has to be held for three years, except in cases of personal emergency.

PREFER CASH

Some AMC workers have indicated they would rather have cash. This may be discussed at the bargaining table.

Goldwater is understood to have told friends he considers Miller and himself to be "politically compatible." Except for the new civil rights bill, which Goldwater opposed and Miller supported, their congressional voting records are relatively alike.

GUT FIGHTER

Beyond this, the Goldwater forces regard Miller to be "a real gut fighter" who would wage an effective, hard-hitting campaign.

As the party's chairman, Miller is widely known through national, state and local GOP levels.

One Goldwater aide was quoted as saying that Miller is "99 per cent sure" of getting the vice presidential nomination if Goldwater heads the slate.

Barry to Tap GOP's Miller?

Republican Chairman
Called VP Choice

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Republican National Chairman William F. Buckley, Jr., said today that Sen. Barry Goldwater's current first choice for a vice presidential running mate.

This was affirmed today by Goldwater spokesmen, who made no secret of the Arizona senator's present intention to tap Miller if — as seems virtually certain — Goldwater wins the GOP presidential nomination next week.

These aides conceded the situation could be changed only by some dramatic insistence by the convention or perhaps by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower that Gov. William Scranton be drafted for second place.

But Goldwater associates considered this unlikely.

Aim 'Can't-Win' Jab at Barry

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton's backers hammered at Sen. Barry Goldwater's lowering claim on the GOP presidential nomination with a "can't-win" assault today, as prospects for a civil rights fight dwindled.

Goldwater's declaration in an interview published in a German news magazine that "as of

"Gov. Scranton believes that he can beat President Johnson. He has won before against odds, and he'll win again."

ANOTHER HORSE RACE

Goldwater said in the interview that, as of today, no other Republican had a chance of defeating Johnson in the South.

He added that while he wasn't saying that he could do so at the moment, "in one election day there is going to be another horse race."

He made it clear in this respect that he was speaking not only of the South but the nation at large.

Scranton, scheduled to arrive here for a mid-afternoon airport rally and news conference, said before he left Chicago that Goldwater's people are using "every conceivable kind of pressure and threat" to keep the nomination away from him.

Shoots 1st Round 76;
Wind Hampers Play

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Jack Nicklaus sank a 30-foot putt on the 18th green for a birdie but still finished with a four-over-par 76 today, five strokes behind the leader in the first round of the British Open Golf Tournament played in gale winds.

Deane Beaman, former British and current U.S. Amateur champion, had an 82.

Other scores soared in the gale that was so strong that Nicklaus, said, "It kept blowing me over."

Beaman said he found it hard to stand up in the wind.

Nicklaus three putted the ninth, 12th and 14th, and had to make a beautiful shot out of the bunker at the 17th to save his par there.

Trouble's Bubbles

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Water, water everywhere but only seltzer to drink.

That's the situation in one apartment house here. Residents of the two-story building — the adults at least — would like to get water when they turn on their kitchen taps.

Instead, they've been getting seltzer since Saturday.

The gush of soda from water taps in the building came about when two cylinders of carbonic gas were installed in the cellar of the building.

The gas was ordered by Morris Brandes, who operates the Osborne Sweet Shop, a candy store on the ground floor.

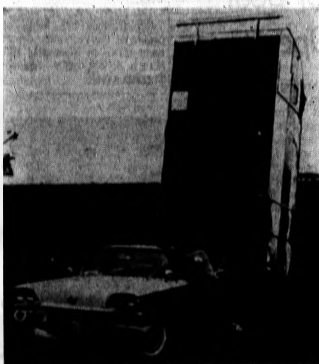

But in installing the tanks, the gas supplier hooked them up to the wrong pipes and the building's water system became a seltzer system.

This has made things a bit upside-down in the sweet shop. When Brandes wants to prepare an ice cream soda for a customer, he has to use the water tap.

UPRY-DABSY — A house trailer is supposed to follow docilely behind, and Lawrence E. Major, 34, of 710 Monticello didn't plan for his to be different. But the 14-foot mobile home stood on end yesterday when Major lost control of his car while driving on US10 outside Bay City. His wife, Louise, was admitted to Mercy Hospital there with fractured ribs and severe bruises following the accident.

U.S., Russia Eying Talks on New U.N. Military Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union appear to be moving into a major new negotiation on the future makeup, organization and financing of U.N. military forces employed over the world to deal with threats to peace.

The two powers differ sharply on the extent of control which should be vested as a practical matter in the Security Council rather than the General Assembly and on some other issues.

But State Department officials said today they are encouraged by the latest Soviet move and believe that the Soviet government may be ready to open serious negotiations on these questions and to cooperate with the United Nations to a degree unknown in the past.

These officials are trying to assess the Soviet Union's intentions in the light of its split with Red China and the fact that it is facing a loss of its role in the United Nations because of refusal to pay assessments for past U.N. peace-keeping operations.

Disclosure of the Soviet move came Monday night with the release in Tokyo of a Soviet note to Japan calling for the formation of the U.N. military force under the Security Council.

Green Plans Race for 2nd Spot in State

KINGSTON (AP) — Allison Green, Kingston Republican who spearheaded Gov. George W. Romney's legislative programs as speaker of the Michigan House, announced candidacy today for Republican nomination as lieutenant governor.

Green, 53, opposes Sen. William Milliken, R-Traverse City, who announced candidacy earlier. Republicans will choose the lieutenant governor nominee at the party's state convention this September.

"In order to assure a broad Republican victory," Green said today, "we need above all, well-qualified and experienced candidates at the top of our ticket. We need leadership that can work well both with the legislature and the governor."

Asked if Romney endorsed his candidacy, Green replied: "The governor is aware of my intentions."

Pontiac Hospital Offering Outpatient Mental Clinic

Pontiac General Hospital this week quietly became the first general hospital in the county to set up an outpatient mental health clinic.

Recommended by the hospital's psychiatric staff, the clinic opened Monday, accepting walk-in and referral patients.

Donald Carro, assistant to the administrator, said that the clinic will meet each Monday from 1:30 p.m. and from 7-10 p.m.

Designed to expand of contact with the need demands, the clinic is available primarily to adults.

'Boost City as Home of Pontiac Car'

Taking his cue from his 15-year-old daughter, Kaye, City Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson proposed last night that the city be promoted more as the home of the Pontiac automobile.

"It's time people thought of Pontiac as the home of the automobile rather than as the location for Pontiac State Hospital," said Hudson.

The District 4 commissioner suggested that the city follow up last week's designation of the perimeter road as Wide Track Drive with further civic promotion.

Hudson suggested:

- Main street lamps be fitted with reflectors in the shape of automobiles.
- Side street lamps be equipped with decals in the form of Pontiac cars.

A central location be set up to coordinate tours of local auto plants.

"Advertising is a continuing thing," added the commissioner. "And it's time we capitalized on our assets."

JUST BEGINNING

He said that the naming of Wide Track Drive should be just the beginning.

Hudson explained that his daughter spurred on his ideas for civic promotion after a trip to Hershey, Pa., where street lights are shaped like a chocolate drops and some streets are named after the Hershey candy company.

"I have no fears of our town being known as the home of General Motors," Hudson said.

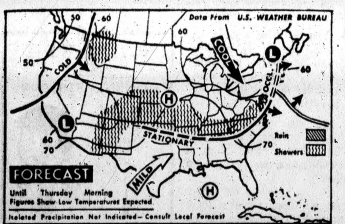

He said that the auto firm might stand the cost of furnishing appropriate reflectors and decals, but that the city would have to pay for their installation.

ists and rejects their effort to infiltrate or attach themselves to our party or its candidates."

Romney shares the platform spotlight today with former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who is supporter of Scrantom's effort to overcome the long lead Goldwater has toward the Republican presidential nomination.

Romney spoke of a strong federal effort in behalf of consumers.

"The effort in this field, Romney said, should be "an immediate and complete review of excessive concentration of power in the collective bargaining field, and of the conflict between our antitrust laws and on labor laws," undertaken either by a presidential commission or a joint committee of Congress.

"Today the customer is the forgotten man," Romney said.

However, Carro said that the clinical facilities meet the prerequisites of the mental health board.

Carro said that the new clinic was the first of its kind for this area that he knew of.

R. E. McPHERSON

Dem to Oppose County Sheriff

A 27-year-old Hazel Park lonstable today announced he is a Democratic candidate to oppose Republican five-term incumbent Frank W. Irons for the office of Oakland County sheriff.

Rud E. McPherson, 1729 E. Goulson, is presently the only challenger to run for sheriff in the fall election.

He stated he would concentrate on improved physical fitness standards in the sheriff's department, if elected.

An amateur wrestler, McPherson will be competing next month in Olympic finals at the New York World's Fair for a spot on the team going to the Olympic games in Japan.

Organizer and coach of the Hazel Park Wrestling Club, McPherson was named to the 1962 All-America Wrestling Team.

He is presently serving his fifth elective term as Hazel Park constable, is a member of the Michigan Constables Association, Jaycees and Kiwanis.

McPherson attended Macomb Junior College and formerly was employed by Consumers Power Co.

Tells of Ordeal at Death Scene

COLDWATER (AP)—A blind, invalid woman told police today how she lay helplessly bedridden for six days, unaware that in the same house three relatives lay dead — Victims of a double murder-suicide.

Branch County sheriff's deputies said Mary A. Horr, about 60, was suffering from malnutrition when she was found Tuesday.

She was taken to a Coldwater hospital, where she was reported in fair condition. The body of her uncle, Abraham Dodson, 71, was found on the back porch of his farmhouse just north of here. He had been shot in the head, deputies said.

A 12-gauge shotgun and a long-handled, double-edged bay beside the body.

In upstairs bedrooms, deputies found the bodies of Dodson's wife, Margaret, 72, and his sister-in-law, Helen Ross, 58, of Warren. Mrs. Dodson had been shot in the shoulder, according to morticians at the funeral home where the body was taken.

CUT AND SLASHED They said Mrs. Ross' body bore no apparent evidence of gunshot wounds, but had been cut and slashed.

Branch County Coroner Van Rogers said the three died last Thursday. He theorized Dodson killed the two women, then went onto the porch and shot himself.

Sgt. Lewis Griffin said the Dodsons had a long history of "family trouble." Deputies have been called to the Dodson home several times in the past three years, he said.

The bodies were discovered after a neighbor, Mrs. Roy Tompkins, who called the sheriff's office to report she had noticed no activity around the Dodson home for several days.

Fidel's Sister Says Cuba Holds 74,000 MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Juanita Castro was reported today as placing the number of political prisoners held by her brother Fidel, Cuba's prime minister, at 74,588 including 5,282 women.

John Martino, an American released two years ago after serving three years in Castro's prisons, said he got the figure by telephone from Mexico City, where Miss Castro is in exile.

Martino said a spokesman for Miss Castro, who defected from her brother's regime after reportedly helping free hundreds of prisoners, gave him an itemized count by telephone.

Interested parties were urged to contact the Chamber of Commerce offices in the Riker Building.

View Sidewalk Bids Monday

BIRMINGHAM — A contract for this year's sidewalk improvement program is expected to be awarded by the City Commission at its meeting Monday.

Bids on the project were opened yesterday, and according to City Engineer William Killeen, he will probably recommend that the construction be done by the same firm that did the work last year.

The firm, the lowest of three bidders, is Century Cement Co. of Treston.

It submitted a bid of $39,803.

Once the contract is awarded, the replacement of old sidewalk and installation of new sidewalk in some areas is expected to begin almost immediately, with the program completed by mid-October.

TOTAL AREA

In all 68,000 square feet of sidewalk will be replaced while 23,000 square feet of new sidewalk will be added.

A savings of nearly $2,000 has been realized by Birmingham in the construction of the new recreation building at 14 Mile and Cranbrook.

A change in the type of roofing was responsible for the savings, according to City Manager L. R. Gare.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The recreation department will be at its second period of junior and senior summer day camps Monday.

Eastover and Conant Elementary schools will be the sites of the senior camp, for boys and girls who have just completed third, fourth, fifth or sixth grade.

The three-week program includes an overnight camp-out, swimming lessons three afternoons a week, field trips, sports, games and crafts. The camp is held from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. weekdays.

The junior camp at Booth, Conant, Eastover and Hickory Grove elementary schools is for youngsters who have just completed kindergarten, first or second grade.

Activities planned for the 9:30-a.m. camp include games, sports, snacks, trips and swimming lessons 'two mornings a week.

Registrations are being accepted at the recreation department office in Bloomfield Hills High School, 4200 Andover. There is a fee.

A hearing will be held in Juvenile Court Friday in a negligent homicide complaint against a 16-year-old motorboat operator who, police say, was responsible for the death of a fisherman.

L. Donald Kraft, director of the Oakland County Sheriff's office water safety division, signed the complaint yesterday.

The juvenile is Timothy Kestler of 1288 Omega, Walled Lake.

At the same time a precedent was set in the county when a charge of recklessly operating a water skis was leveled against an 18-year-old Wyandotte youth who was being towed by Kestler in Upper Strains Lake, West Bloomfield Township, Monday.

Senior Assistant Prosecutor Robert Templin authorized the warrant against Robert B. Deters Jr. of 1484 23rd Street following the drowning of William H. Hickmott, 68, of 3209 Trumbull, Detroit.

According to Kraft and Templin, the wake created by the boat and skier caused Hickmott to fall from his craft.

Templin said that there is no state law under which a water skier can be charged with negligent homicide.

Deters was to be arraigned today on the misdemeanor charge before West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieter.

Kestler's hearing will be held at 10 a.m. before Probate Judge Norman Barnard.

Templin said he will make a decision about asking the court to waive jurisdiction of the juvenile after hearing the testimony of witnesses at the hearing.

Will Probe Incident in Holly Area The state police said today they would investigate any allegation of misconduct on the part of a trooper involved in a July 4 racial incident in the Holly Recreation Area.

"We will look into it like we do all complaints," Supt. Howard Seiler of the state police headquarters in East Lansing said today.

Attorney Bruce A. Miller, chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's redress committee, described the incident in a letter to State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

"If the letter has been written, it hasn't gotten here yet," Seiler said this afternoon.

James A. Beard of Detroit told the redress committee he, his wife and their 14-year-old daughter were fishing at Crystal Lake when a man wielding a rifle told them to get out of the area.

FIRE A SHOT Beard said the man fired one shot into the air.

A trooper from the state police post in Flint was called and confiscated the gun but did not arrest the man, Miller said.

The attorney said it is a felony for a person to go armed with a firearm with intent to use that weapon unlawfully against another person."

Hearing Set for Boat Operator

Order Limits Pile Driver Use Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondos yesterday issued a restraining order against use of a pile driver to the extent that it causes damage to nearby houses in Waterford Township.

The order, requested by the attorney for residents of Lake Oakland and Heights subdivision, was issued following a meeting in the judge's chambers.

Residents submitted affidavits stating that the vibration of the machine had caused instances of plaster cracking, fixture breakage and nails popping out of dry wall.

The machine was operating today at the site of a 750,000-gallon water tower.

HEARING POSTPONED A show cause hearing on the injunction scheduled this morning was postponed at the request of Waterford Township attorney Paul Mandel and Assistant Oakland County Corporation Counsel Charles Long.

The attorneys for the township and county, which are joint defendants in the litigation, said that written pleadings be submitted by the plaintiffs.

Paul Valentino, attorney for the subdivision group, said they would present the written pleadings this afternoon and request an immediate hearing.

Find Uranium in Auto Trunk Oakland County Civil Defense authorities today were attempting to learn how flakes of dangerous uranium got in the trunk of a car in Southfield.

The particles were discovered shortly after noon by the car's owner, who told CD director Wallace Crane he recognized the flakes because he had seen them in a place he had worked once.

Ervin Schreiber, chief radiologist, said the flakes, which appeared to be the type found on uranium ore, gave off strong beta readings on a geiger counter. These are not as dangerous as gamma rays, he said.

Crane said all the flakes and dust in the trunk of the car were collected in a bottle to be shipped to Lansing for analysis.

Crane said today the trooper could not have arrested the man with the rifle because he did not see the violation.

"But the man is well-known in the area—he lives in Holly," Seiler noted.

Louisiana Official Battles Legislature

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—In two hectic years in office, Dist. Atty. J. M. Garrison has locked horns with French Quarter vice, the New Orleans police and all night of the city's criminal district judges.

Now Garrison has taken on the entire Louisiana Legislature.

The legislature—in a multi-lashed back at Garrison Tuesday night, censuring him for "deliberately maligning all of the members."

"I am greatly honored," commented Garrison after learning of the 88-0 Senate vote and 99-0 House vote.

LATENT VIOLENCE

The latest uproar involving the 81-and-a-half prosecutor started last weekend when Garrison called for an investigation by grand juries over the state into legislative approval of a bill which would allow bondsmen six months to recover fugitives before bail bonds are forfeited.

The present law calls for forfeiture in 30 days.

Garrison, 42, hinted at bribery in connection with the passage of the bill, saying eight New Orleans bail bondsmen were approached to contribute $1,000 each toward passage of the bill.

In the Capitol at Baton Rouge, 60 miles up the winding Mississippi River, state lawmakers, stung by Garrison's charges, reacted promptly.

There was talk of voting to remove Garrison from office. Both chambers held several closed sessions Tuesday to discuss the situation.

COMMITTEE CONFERS

A committee of senators and representatives conferred with Gov. John McKeithen, who had credited Garrison with helping him get elected earlier this year.

Garrison asked the governor to veto the controversial bill. McKeithen declined public comment.

Then came the embargo vote. Garrison said he got even men's votes than the bail bondsmen's bill.

CAME SWINGING

Garrison came into office swinging two years ago. His first target was his predecessor, Richard A. Dowling, whom Garrison accused of dismissing too many cases.

Garrison next aimed at the French Quarter, the police department and the criminal district judges.

Garrison and his investigators swooped down on strip palaces and bistros, arresting 12 girls, prostitutes and gamblers.

He made accusations of police corruption, brutality and "solid resistance to investigation of organized vice."

THEN JUDGES

Then he took on the judges, claiming his crusade was hampered by the courts and that there was a racketeering influence on our vacation-minded judges."

The judges charged Garrison with defamation. He was convicted and fined $1,000. The case is now on appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

What's ahead for Garrison? He has been considered a potential candidate to run in 1966 for the U.S. Senate and now held by Allen J. Ellender, D-La.

To such talk, Garrison says only: "The report is very flat tery."

$2.6 Million Record Total

OK Rochester School Budget

ROCHESTER — The Rochester school board will attempt to guide the district through the 1964-65 academic year on a record budget of $2,600,400.

The financial guide changed slightly from the preliminary budget, was adopted by the board at Monday's meeting.

Next year's figure is up 7.1 per cent over the past year's.

AREA NEWS

spendings, in dollars, the hike comes to $178,784.

Points to be accounting during the year about total $2,600,400.

The school board anticipates spending $2,600,400 during 1964-65, finishing with a balance of $123,047.

Under terms of the new budget, 74.7 per cent of the funds, or $1,950,528, will be used for instructional purposes.

Included in this category is money for additional teachers necessitated by an expected 300-student enrollment jump, as well as cost of more sick-leave days for teachers.

Also contributing to the overall expenditure hike are increases in overtime pay and travel allowance for custodial help, and a new shared-insurance program for all full-time employees.

Administrative costs during the next year will take up 3.6 per cent of the total expenditures, or $93,150.

Plant operation funds are budgeted some $100,000 to $277,750. Included in this category, which takes up 10.6 per cent of the budget, are the costs of heating, lighting and other utilities.

The final figure was adopted following a public hearing at which few questions were raised.

Several audience members praised the board's prudence.

Based on the present tax rate of $28.80 per $1,000 of assessed state equalized valuation here, the anticipated spendings are in part possible because of the May 4 renewal of a 2-mill levy which expired this year.

Area Youth OK in Quake

Not Hurt in Tremor That Shook Mexico

WOOD CREEK FARMS—The family of Terry Oenike has learned that the 18-year-old student missionary in Mexico was not injured in the severe earthquake there Monday.

The youth is among 12 Michigan State University students who have been working out of Toluca, Mex. since June 29. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Oenike of 2903 Millbrook.

Rev. Robert Kavanaugh, pastor of St. John's student parish in East Lansing, has contacted the family to assure them of their son's safety.

He had been in direct touch with the group and reported the students were "perfectly all right."

They are doing social work, working with native volunteer teams distributing food and medicines and teaching beginning reading and writing," Rev. Kavanaugh said.

MSU students at St. John's began their voluntary missionary work two years ago. This summer they are working in Argentina, Brazil, Texas, New Mexico and Chicago as well as Mexico.

New Report Pushes 4th Traffic Toll to 39

DETROIT (AP) — A belated report of a traffic death brought to 39 the number killed on Michigan highways during the Fourth of July holiday weekend, State Police said today.

The latest victim was Kathryn McQueen, 78, of Sterling Township, Macomb County, who died Sunday in a Rochester hospital of injuries she suffered Saturday when she was struck by a car while crossing a street near her home.

John Gafer, state property manager, meanwhile, has to decide on the best cleaning process.

Just outside his office, in the lower capitol floor, are various sections of stone where different cleaning processes have been demonstrated.

NEW PROCESS

Gafer said a new steam-chemical process was ahead right now in rate of performance.

Gafer said he has numerous queries on why the State Capitol dome looks so strikingly white, especially at night with floodlights on it, and the rest of the building seems so grimy.

The dome, he explained, is made of steel and can be hand-painted every few years.

Avondale Pair Will Attend Future Homemaker Confab

Two Avondale High School girls will be in the delegation of 64 Michigan Future Homemakers of America (FHA) attending the National FHA meeting in Chicago next week.

The pair are Jean Kirsch, state FHA secretary, and Sue Yagiela, regional secretary. Both are 16.

Jean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Kirsch, 3171 Auburn, Avon Township. She will be a junior at Avondale High next fall.

Sue, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Yagiela, 2572 South Blvd., Avon Township, will be a senior.

Parliamentarian of the local chapter last year, Sue represents 10 area high schools as regional secretary. The schools are Rochester, Clarkston, Farmington, West Bloomfield, Clawsonville, South Lyon, Holly, Lake Orion, Milford and Avondale.

GO TO LANSING

The two girls will go to Lansing Sunday to join the other Michigan delegates bound for Chicago. The delegates will be accompanied by adult advisers who are home economics teachers and a state adviser from the Michigan Department of Public Instruction.

Converging in Chicago, the delegates will come from all

50 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands to represent the 600,000 members of this high school organization for students studying home economics.

The theme chosen for this year's meeting, which runs Monday through Thursday, is "Education — An Endless Challenge."

During the session several outstanding speakers will give talks. They include Dr. Herbert W. Schuchling, dean of the college of education, University of Missouri, who will deliver the keynote address on the theme of the meeting.

TO-PRESENT PROJECTS

Several national projects will be presented dealing with "Marriage Calls for Preparation" and "Getting to Know Your Community Citizens."

During the week Michigan delegates will be actively engaged in leading discussions, and gaining a better understanding of the national program of work.

Ideas gained from the meeting will be shared in local chapters and with the state association.

Future Homemakers of America, organized in 1945, is a national, non-profit youth organization cosponsored by the Home Economics Association.

STATE SPONSOR

In Michigan it is sponsored by the State Department of Public Instruction. Mrs. Rex Todd Wilbers, chief of home economics and family life education, serves as state adviser.

"I like Lansing very much but there is one thing wrong with it. The capitol building where you work is dirty."

CRANBROOK AGAINST

The Cranbrook Academy of Art, in Bloomfield Hills, was against cleaning, advising:

"Aging is a basic trend in nature and it mellows the architecture. The old monuments of Italy, for example, are never cleaned and that's what brings a venerable aging spirit to them. Please let your venerable State Capitol remain as it is."

City officials in Paris have had a different idea, working now on cleaning up their many historic buildings and monuments.

Gov. George W. Romney put the item for a cleaning up of the capitol in his budget. It was approved by the legislature, enabling the bids this year.

FAIRLY SCOUT — Leon Irish III recently received his eagle badge in a Westagapra Troop No. 36 court of honor.

The 16-year-old youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon F. Irish of 6273 N. Shore, West Bloomfield Township, is junior assistant scoutmaster of the troop.

O'Neil Wins in GOP Poll

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit News poll indicated Tuesday that James O'Neil, a member of the State Board of Education, is preferred over two other Republican candidates seeking the Republican nomination for U. S. senate.

If the primary election were held immediately, the poll showed, O'Neil would take 30 per cent of the party primary vote. Mr. Elly Peterson of Charlotte, GOP national vice-chairman, would get 24 per cent and Edward Meany of Grand Haven, 11 per cent.

However, the remaining 35 per cent of the Republican vote was sampled were undecided about their choice of a candidate or oppose incumbent Democratic Sen. Philip A. Hart this fall.

ROAD WORK CONTRACT

GOES TO UTICA FIRM

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A Utica firm has been awarded the contract to construct almost one mile of grading, culverts and four-lane paving on 23 Mile near Van Dyke.

Peake Asphalt Paving Co., Inc. submitted a low bid of $166,633 for the project, financed by the State Highway Department.

Process Server Is on Way Out

FARMINGTON — The City Council has changed its method of selecting a constable, at the same time setting an Aug. 1 termination date for the services of Arthur Forgette.

Forgette has been the city's chief process server for seven years.

The council acted in conformance with a City Charter provision that the constable be a member of the department of public safety.

The recommendation from City Manager John Dinean noted that the charter section had been discovered during a study of the constable's activities by the public safety department.

Dinean said constable fees last year amounted to $9,000.

FOURTEEN SAVING

"We could have at least $1,000 a year by having one of our own officers serve as constable," he said. "It will give us more control over the serving of papers, and we can have another man to ride in a patrol car."

After Aug. 1 the assignment will be made within the public safety department.

In other action, the council increased benefits to municipal employees. Three-week vacations will be granted to those who have worked 10 years.

The workweek for public works and water and sewer personnel has been decreased from 44 to 40 hours and overtime pay boosted from $2 to $2.50 an hour.

The council also authorized Dinean to obtain an appraisal on three and a half acres of property adjacent to the city park.

Being sought for extension of the park, the property on Powers north of Grand River is bounded on two sides by the Rouge River.

Councilmen last winter decided that the property be retained for multiple residences.

Still Seeking Traffic Light

FARMINGTON — Powers Road statistically missed getting a light at Grand River, so city officials are taking another tack.

They plan to meet later this week with S. J. Levine, district traffic engineer for the State Highway Department.

The department this spring ruled the intersection did not qualify for a traffic control light.

The decision was based on a traffic count which determined usage at peak hours was 130 vehicles.

A 150-vehicle peak was needed to qualify the intersection for a light.

WANT LIGHT

But the city wants the light to slow down Grand River traffic between Orchard Lake and Farmington roads.

Rain Eases Fire Threat to Guard Test

CAMP GRAYLING (AP) — Overnight rain brought a break in fire hazards which have plagued Michigan National Guard troops in the early days of the 4th Infantry Division's annual summer encampment.

Some 1,500 guardsmen went into the third day of special tank training exercises today.

An additional 1,500 guardsmen are scheduled to arrive Saturday for two weeks of regular training.

But, dry weather before Tuesday's rain had increased fears among guard leaders and conserving workers for a heavy incidence of brush and grass fires during range practice.

Several units including troops from Alpena, Bay City, Cadillac and Muskegon, were scheduled to fire on the range today.

Maj. Gen. Lloyd Moses, deputy commanding general of the 5th Army, was scheduled to inspect Camp Grayling today.

Gen. Moses is the first of a number of National Guard and Army officers expected to inspect Michigan guardsmen during the two-week encampment.

Drag River for Woman; Suicide Try?

DETROIT (UPI) — Dragging operations were to resume this morning in the Detroit River for the body of a young blonde woman who drove her car into the water yesterday in an apparent pre-dawn suicide.

Dragging near the docks at the foot of West Jefferson and West Grand Boulevard was discontinued at dark yesterday.

Police still were not sure who the victim was. An unidentified man, who told police he thought it might have been his wife, anxiously surveyed the river-front scene late last night.

Witnesses who were fishing off the docks could give police only sketchy descriptions of the woman and her car.

State Capitol to Get Face-Lifting

LANSING (AP)—The venerable old State Capitol at Lansing is going to be cleaned up with a scraping off of some 80 years of encrusted dirt and grime.

A lot of people don't like the idea.

It is almost as controversial as asking: "Would you like to have your wife get her face lifted?"

Like it or not, the State Administrative Board Tuesday approved a work order authorizing spending of $300,000 for cleaning, repairing and sealing the stone facing on the building.

BIDS REQUESTED

Bids now are being asked for the clean-up job of the grimy old building, dedicated in 1879, and made of soft Ohio sandstone.

Views on the cleanup-proposal have ranged from one extreme to another.

A Detroit school child once wrote former Gov. G. Mennen Williams:

"I like Lansing very much but there is one thing wrong with it. The capitol building where you work is dirty."

CRANBROOK AGAINST

The Cranbrook Academy of Art, in Bloomfield Hills, was against cleaning, advising:

"Aging is a basic trend in nature and it mellows the architecture. The old monuments of Italy, for example, are never cleaned and that's what brings a venerable aging spirit to them. Please let your venerable State Capitol remain as it is."

City officials in Paris have had a different idea, working now on cleaning up their many historic buildings and monuments.

Gov. George W. Romney put the item for a cleaning up of the capitol in his budget. It was approved by the legislature, enabling the bids this year.

FREE OFFER

One legislator in the sand-blasting business—Rep. Richard A. H. J. Guzowski, D-Detroit—suggested nearly two years ago that he be allowed to "clean the building," for free, if necessary.

The proposal was discouraged by fellow lawmakers who felt it wouldn't be proper for him to do the job.

John Gafer, state property manager, meanwhile, has to decide on the best cleaning process.

Just outside his office, in the lower capitol floor, are various sections of stone where different cleaning processes have been demonstrated.

NEW PROCESS

Gafer said a new steam-chemical process was ahead right now in rate of performance.

Gafer said he has numerous queries on why the State Capitol dome looks so strikingly white, especially at night with floodlights on it, and the rest of the building seems so grimy.

The dome, he explained, is made of steel and can be hand-painted every few years.

Report U.S. Force Observes Soviet Subs in Mediterranean

WASHINGTON (AP)—A force of Soviet submarines and supporting ships reportedly cruised through the Mediterranean recently, under close scrutiny of a U.S. hunter-killer task force. The U.S. ships, including one carrier and six destroyers, followed the Soviet subs, took pictures of them and tried to get them to respond to radio signals, it was learned Tuesday night.

Some of the Soviet force entered the Mediterranean through Gibraltar and others from the Black Sea. All are now understood to have returned whence they came.

Asked about the report, a Defense Department spokesman said "we do not comment on movements of fleet units." Officials noted that U.S. and Soviet vessels from time to time encounter each other in international waters.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has received a report that nearly 20 million workers are now covered by federal efforts to achieve equality in all areas of employment.

He told members of the Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity, which he headed when he was vice president, that their report shows "we mean business" in government efforts to wipe out bias in employment.

The President added that despite the large strides made so far, much remains to be done.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air National Guard hopes to send about 30 jets, piloted by "weekend warriors," across the Atlantic next month to demonstrate its ability to reinforce the regular Air Force in Europe within hours.

If the Air Force approves, the guard for the first time will fly abroad nonstop, using its own tanker planes for aerial refueling.

In Europe the guard planes would fly operational missions for about four days for the U.S. 7th Army.

Picked for the mission were 18 F100 fighter bombers from the District of Columbia Air Guard and 12 F4U Corsairs.

hence with the new civil rights law.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Hubert H. Kennedy says President Johnson's leadership is responsible for what he described as nationwide compliant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey predicts Congress will act up a health care plan under Social Security before it quits work this year—probably by Aug. 23.

Humphrey said in an interview that the health care plan would be added to a bill expanding Social Security benefits already approved by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Freeways Attract Outstate Tourists

Cutting the ribbon on a new 14 mile stretch of freeway between Muskegon and Montague (I-19) eliminates one of the worst traffic bottlenecks in the State. Highway Commissioner JOHN C. MACKIE forecasts Michigan's first $1-billion tourist season.

Pointing to the State's 1,200 miles of freeways, the roadbuilder declared that many people in other regions who have heard about Michigan's superb complex of toll-free superhighways are coming to the area this summer because of the ease of traveling.

Mackie said that the opening of the freeway extension moved Western Michigan closer to its top tourist market in Illinois and Indiana, providing a 125-mile length of divided highway from the Hoosier state line to its Wolverine limit.

The highway department, added the commissioner, has made every effort to preserve the natural scenic beauty of the areas through which new freeways are routed.

We reiterate the commendation frequently expressed for the outstanding job JOHN MACKIE and his able department have done in lifting Michigan to the leading position it holds nationally in the area of highway development.

Picking U. S. Flower Poses Posie Puzzle

Wouldn't you think that a country in the grip of crises stemming from such sources as Southeast Asia, Berlin, Red China, de GAULLE, a shortage of nickels, falling baseball attendance and Beatie visits had about all it could stomach in the crisis department?

If you do, you aren't hep to the crisis capacity of the American people.

A floral squabble has again sprouted in Congress over selection of a national flower.

Backers of the rose, the carnation, the marigold, the poinsettia, the cornflower and even the dandelion, grow apoplectic as they fight fiercely to plant their favorite posies on the national escutcheon.

While disavowing any hint of partiality, we can report that this battle of the Blooms promises to be a daisy — a regular forget-me-not — unless the summer heat wiles the ardor of the petal pushers.

But there is reassurance in this thorny legislative perennial. Fighting over a flower shows that some pretty down-to-earth qualities have taken root in the national consciousness.

Production Industries Show Injury Decline

At a time when the prevalence of accidents generally is increasing, it is encouraging to find an area in which injury rates are declining.

In the manufacturing industry the rates have dropped almost 50 per cent — from a level of 20 injuries per million man-hours worked in 1943 to 11.4 in 1962, the latest year for which complete figures are available.

At the President's Conference on Occupational Safety in Washington recently, representatives of management, labor and government met to discuss ways to make even greater progress in eliminating accidents.

Industry, it was brought out at the conference, is spending millions annually to help cut the toll of accidents. It constantly develops new safety equipment, conducts training programs, and promotes campaigns to make employers safety-minded.

This work is paying off, as the records of the last twenty years demonstrate, and the average factory worker today can truthfully say, "I have a safe place to work."

Adenauer Fights Erhard's Policy

By CARL HARTMAN
BONN, Germany (AP) — Former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is starting a new political career at the age of 88 — leader of the opposition to his successor's foreign policy.

It's a low key opposition, but opposition nonetheless.

Adenauer believes Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's government should work more closely with French President Charles de Gaulle, Erhard, with the American attitude in mind, is wary of de Gaulle.

France and West Germany, Adenauer told this correspondent in an interview Monday, are not significant separately but together they can form a dike against Soviet penetration into Europe.

He quoted de Gaulle as saying, "I am for German reunification because I don't want to wake up one morning and hear that the Russians are on the banks of the Rhine."

A STRONGER DIKE

France and West Germany would form a stronger dike, Adenauer said, if other European nations, including Britain, could be brought to join them.

But he has little trust in Britain — especially since he is convinced that Britain is soon going to have a Labor government. It's not that he considers the Labor party to be Communist. He feels that even the British Conservatives lean too much toward Moscow.

Adenauer insists that his friendship for de Gaulle is not directed against the United States, but he feels the need to remind Washington repeatedly of the dangers he sees in trusting Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

He appears to share de Gaulle's idea that the United States is turning too much of its attention toward Red China.

HAD A LONG TALK

De Gaulle and Adenauer had a long talk on Friday that made de Gaulle 10 minutes late for a joint French-West German Cabinet meeting. Adenauer said he accepted de Gaulle's invitation to visit Paris in the fall.

It was generally thought last October, when he relinquished the chancellorship to Erhard, that Adenauer had faded quietly into political oblivion. He had no such intention.

He got a small but well appointed office in the Bundeshaus, West Germany's Capitol, and insisted on remaining chairman of the Christian Democratic party. He writes and speaks with the energy and clarity of a man 30 years younger.

He keeps his opposition on a careful, polite plane. Though he opposed Erhard as his successor, he maintains outwardly friendly relations with him so as not to endanger the precarious unity of his party or its chances in the 1965 election.

FEW, SIMPLE, CLEAR IDEAS

Adenauer is known as a man of few, simple and clear ideas. One is unalterable opposition to communism. Another is the conviction that the Communists are thinking more about taking over Germany than anything else.

He tests every turn in foreign affairs against those ideas.

David Lawrence Says:

Rights Law Clauses Permit Bias

WASHINGTON — If the platform committee of either national party convention derides to state flatly that the new civil rights law is completely constitutional, this is one way to invite a lot of criticism — not only from opponents of the measure but also from some Negro leaders.

For the new statute contains clauses which amount to permissive discrimination, and these sections are certainly going to be challenged on constitutional grounds by Negro organizations.

As a matter of fact, the basic principle that there should be no discrimination and that every citizen is entitled to "equal protection of the laws" is not really fulfilled by the new civil rights act.

There are many exceptions and exemptions which ignore the fundamental principle of equality.

Thus, for example, discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion or national origin is prohibited in hotels, motels or rooming houses with more than five rooms to rent, but discrimination is permissible in buildings with five rooms or less to rent if the proprietor himself happens to live in the rooming house.

LOCAL CUSTOMERS
Discrimination is likewise permitted in any restaurant or luncheon if a substantial portion of the food which is served does not move in interstate commerce but is actually grown in the same state and if all the customers are local residents.

The new law also permits what is termed "racial imbalance" and specifically says that "desegregation" does not mean "the assignment of students to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance."

In the case of equal employment opportunities, the new law states that during the first year there must be no discrimination in hiring in any business which has 100 or more employees.

But, it will be asked, what happens to the principle of "equal protection of the laws" for those individuals who are discriminated against in companies with less than 100 employees?

PERMISSIVE BIAS
In another section of the law there is permissive discrimination in the hiring of employees in any business or enterprise "on or near an Indian reservation."

And here again the challenge may be made on the ground that the doctrine of equal protection of the laws does not permit of any such exception.

The question of constitutional-ity is thus open to further arguments by both the proponents and opponents of the new law, and it isn't going to be settled by any national political party convention.

Hitler Name Eradicated in His Old Home Town

MUNICH — One of the photographic displays in Munich's current exhibition of the memorabilia of Richard Strauss is missing.

It was a composite study of the chancellors who served Germany during the composer's 85 years.

The city fathers quietly ordered it stricken.

One of the chancellors was Adolf Hitler.

Russia's de-Stalinization program had been a bust compared to West Germany's eradication of the image and the very memory of Hitler.

It is particularly pointed in this city where, perhaps to his surprise, he discovered he could mesmerize men and make them believe, with him, that the Versailles Treaty was a shameful document that deprived a master race of its true destiny.

You can't find a picture of him here today in a town that once bristled with millions of them. The banners are gone, with the swastika and stiff-armed salute.

The bands have forgotten how to play the Horst Wessel hymn. At Berchtesgaden, his Eagle's Nest is empty. Even the echoes have faded.

At nearby Dachau there remains a monument to the man's depravity. A few ovens, pathetically adorned with flowers; the building where it is known that Jews and others were killed by hunger-maddened dogs, while SS officers and sometimes their wives watched with relish; the "shower room," which the abandoned entered, by the promise of a bath, only to meet death when poison gas, not water, gushed from the nozzles as the spigots were turned on.

Each day a class of school-children, shepherded by a nun, passes through the place with wide-eyed wonder. The children are told, without dramatization, that this is what man is capable of.

Nobody much is left who knew him, and those who are still around deny him with the ringing conviction of Peter or language behind bars.

THREE AIDES

They are mad Rudolph Hess, his deputy who incredibly flew a Messerschmitt to England in the belief he could persuade the British to give up fighting Germany and combine with it to crush Russia; Baldur von Schirach, Hitler's last Youth Leader; and Albert Speer, his last minister of armaments and thus the overlord of V-2 and the jets that might have won the air war.

They are imprisoned in ugly old Spandau, near Berlin.

They are the only occupants of the prison and, as such, the world's costliest prisoners to maintain.

They are guarded each month by Russian, British, French and American military turnkeys in consecutive order.

This is the last and only four-power collaboration remaining from the cooperative crushing of the little man with the mustache.

The little man... whose bile, spilled in a foggy Munich beer hall, nourished a vile mushroom that caused the deaths of countless millions and leveled cities a thousand years in the building.

Today, in his old home town, you can't find a picture of him.

I have been reading so much on civil rights that I wonder if God was really in step. I don't think the color of the skin should enter the picture, if Negroes come as sheep into the fold and not as mobs.

Civil rights are not for a certain few who don't care how they get them. I think, if the Rev. Martin Luther King would get down on his knees and pray in God to lead him in this struggle it would be much better for him and his people.

I was approached by some legal extremist group and was offered $20 a day plus expenses if I would go to Birmingham. Alas I refused!

'Two Issues Add to Goldwater's Power'

Goldwater's secret power emerges on the American scene from two great psychological spearheads. The first: his open, honest objection to American participation in the war in Viet Nam. The second: his frank refusal to have any part in civil rights.

This is his greatest power as this debacle sprang from an attempt to corner the Negro vote. Because all the rights of equality are already contained in the Constitution's Bill of Rights, this legislation amounted to begging the question which was an open invitation for the racial demonstrations. These demonstrations have created an emotional reaction and you cannot legislate emotions.

In reply to Gov. George Romney's statement that what this country needs is more religion, I say: one of the most troublesome social problems in this land is too many, and too much religion, and not enough Christianity. You cannot legislate Christianity, either.

Since I didn't buy the magazines the cutlery offer was hastily withdrawn. The salesgirl said she wasn't selling magazines, only knives.

Warren Vs. Warren

The Chicago Tribune

Reverend Justice Earl Warren reversed himself in the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court that both Houses of state legislatures must be apportioned according to population.

Sixteen years ago, when he was governor of California, a proposal was made to reapportion the state senate seats, reducing representation of the 50 agricultural counties. Mr. Warren attacked the proposal in the following statement:

"Many California counties are far more important in the life of the state than their population bears to the entire population. It is for this reason that I have never been in favor of restricting their representation in the senate to a strictly population basis."

"It is for the same reason that the Founding Fathers of our country gave balanced representation to the states in equal representation in one house and proportionate representation in the other. Moves have been made to upset the balanced representation of our state, even though it has served us well and is strictly in accord with American tradition and the pattern of our national government."

"There was a time when California was completely dominated by boss rule. The liberal election laws and legislative reapportionment of the system have liberated us from such domination. Any weakening of the laws would invite a return of boss rule. We are now happily rid of our state has made almost unbelievable progress under our present system of legislative representation. I believe we should keep it."

Chief Justice Warren has now overruled the opinion of former Gov. Warren. In the recent majority opinion of the Supreme Court, which he wrote, he specifically rejected the concept that states ought to be able to follow the federal pattern of basing one house based on population and the other on geographical considerations.

"We... find the federal analogy inapposite and irrelevant to state legislative districting schemes," said the chief justice. "...the Founding Fathers clearly had no intention of establishing a pattern or model for the apportionment of seats in state legislatures when the system of representation in the federal Congress was adopted."

Wonder what the Founding Fathers would think about the conflicting opinions attributed to them by the same man? Wonder if they had in mind the creation of a court which could overturn the legislative system of most of the states? It is interesting to note that in his 1943 opinion Mr. Warren saw the danger of a return to boss rule in California if a reapportionment gave control of both houses of the legislature to the metropolitan counties of the state. Now he evidently sees no such danger. A good many people in California and other populous states may think his 1943 opinion came closer to common sense.

'A Meat Grinder'

By J. KIRVIN DAANE

Old Henry Taylor could squeeze a nickel so hard the Indian on one side wound up riding the buffalo on the other. His good wife Emily had been embarrassed at the annual Christmas party, where the women proudly displayed their gifts of wristwatches and earrings, to have to state that she had received a meat grinder.

In the silence that followed the forced admission, it is I, Dean Hittered, "Oh, you mean one of those new electric ones. Aren't they wonderful?"

Everyone in the room, including Ruth, knew Henry had never purchased anything electric that was available in a manual model.

Electricity cost four cents per kilowatt hour, whereas a kid in the south were the devil's helpers, as Emily well knew, having been informed of the fact several million times.

EMILY (SIGHED): Emily sighed and answered Ruth by agreeing that yes, electric meat grinders were wonderful, and someone then mercifully changed the subject.

In the past few years the men in their circle of friends had stopped giving their wives clothes dryers and electric frying pans and now, presumably because their children were grown, had shifted to jewelry, perfumes and even small fur pieces.

Emily had not been so unrealistic as to hope for a small fur piece. What she had hoped for was a big sewing machine.

Her treadle model was old when Henry bought it at auction and lately she found using it extremely tiring. She made her own clothes and didn't mind, but what a joy it would be, she often thought, to be able to zip right along with no worries about knotting or skipping.

BEFORE CHRISTMAS Just before Christmas when she and Henry went to town for the weekly grocery-buying, she paused with him in front of the sewing machine shop and admired the sleek cabinet models. But her dream ended when Henry did not take the hint.

Emily naturally continued to do her needlework on the old model without complaining.

Now that it was all over, somehow Emily couldn't even bring herself to care. She was too old for caring — and too tired for sewing.

The children were grown and why did she need pretty clothes? She hadn't felt well enough to attend the New Year's party at the neighbors'.

EMILY PERVADEED Henry had gone alone at her insistence. He was easily persuaded because he could eat a piece of cheese and a cracker instead of supper and wait for the sumptuous feed later on.

In the following weeks, Emily felt worse instead of better, as she had a friend take her to see Dr. Miller. He didn't tell Henry.

Henry wouldn't mind if it turned out she had some rare, fatal disease. But if Dr. Miller prescribed one of his usual iron tonics, Emily knew Henry would grumble that he could just as well have bought her a patent medicine remedy.

Dr. Miller's examination was thorough and when it was over he assured her all she needed was a few days in the hospital and some shots to build her up. So Emily went home to pack and then right to the hospital while Henry was plowing the north 40.

WHISPERED SCREAMS In the quiet, dignified atmosphere of the hospital room Henry was forced to do his screaming in whispers.

"How long does that old sawbones plan on keeping you here?" he cried. "You don't look terrible sick to me!"

He peered at her more closely as if to confirm the truth of his statement, then added, "Well, I guess you do look a mite peaked. Guess I'll go see the Doc tomorrow and find out what the old quack is up to."

The next day a subdued Henry presented himself beside her bed with a large gift-wrapped box.

WHAT'S IN IT?

"What's in it?" she asked weakly. What she was thinking was, what can it be since I already have a meat grinder and it's too small for a sewing machine and too heavy for a cabbage shredder.

Henry shifted uncomfortably as the ribbons and wrappings fell away to reveal a huge box of the most expensive chocolates Emily had ever seen.

"Oh Henry," she gasped, "you could have used the money for a down payment on a sewing machine."

Then the significance of Henry's extravagance hit her. Tears filled her eyes and she turned her face bleakly toward the wall.

Chocolates were for the moment, she realized, and sewing machines were for the future and apparently there was no future for Emily.

Solon Protests State Rail Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — A plan to cut the only railroad connection between Michigan's Upper and Lower Peninsulas was protested today by Rep. John B. Bennett, R-Mich.

The Mackinac Transportation Co. has petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to abandon its railroad car ferry, Chief Wawatam, across the Straits of Mackinac.

These railroads are seeking authority to stop hauling freight on 346 miles of northern Michigan track if the car ferry is abandoned.

Bennett voiced his protest in a telegram to Hyman Bland, an ICC examiner, who opens a hearing today in Cheboygan, Mich., on the "abandonment plan."

"It seems needless to point out the almost certain and extensive damage to the present economy of the area and its ability to expand and prosper in the future that must result from a complete termination of rail service to the area and at the same time breaking the link between the Upper and Lower Peninsulas," Bennett said in his telegram.

ADVERSE EFFECT

As senior Republican on the House Commerce Committee, Bennett said he is aware of the adverse economic effect of further curtailment in rail transportation, particularly in areas such as northern Michigan.

Bennett said he has also sent letters of protest to the presidents of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads urging them to continue their present service in northern Michigan.

The New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads and the Soo Line own the car ferry. Bennett's telegram said all areas affected by the proposed abandonment are in the new 11th Congressional District where Bennett is a candidate for election.

CONVENTIONS AND CRISES/The Republicans

by Don Oakley and Ed Kudlaty

In 1940, the Republicans had real hopes of ending their eight-year drought and electing Franklin D. Roosevelt and his whole New Deal crew out of Washington.

First, the Depression had staged a comeback in 1937 and still wasn't licked.

The midterm elections in 1938 had shown a definite swing toward the Republicans.

The "phony war" in Europe had turned very real and deadly, and millions of Americans were encouraged to look upon the GOP as the "peace party."

Then there were all those who would simply vote against any man with gall enough to run for a third term.

LIKELY CANDIDATE

The nominee who would emerge from the convention in Philadelphia that June would probably be Thomas E. Dewey, the young, gangbusting D.A. from New York who was going into the convention with over 300 votes in his pocket.

Other strong contenders were Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

There was also a fellow named Wendell Willkie, Indiana lawyer and Wall Street corporation president.

He was called a dark horse, but as convention time neared, his complexion had lightened considerably.

The old-line conservatives didn't want him, however.

REGISTERED DEMOCRAT

He was a glad-handing liberal who had been, until recently, a registered Democrat. But as the delegates assembled, signs of a real grassroots movement for the Indiana amateur became evident.

Tens of thousands of telegrams and letters poured into Philadelphia from the folks back home in support of Willkie.

Dewey shot his 300 votes on the first ballot (501 were needed to win) and thereafter receded.

HELD BACK STRENGTH

Harold Stassen, governor of Minnesota, managed Willkie's campaign on the floor and wisely held back Willkie's full strength.

As second, third, fourth and fifth ballots were taken, punctuated by constantly erupting chants from the galleries of "We want Willkie! We want Willkie!" the tally for Willkie steadily swelled.

On the sixth ballot, he had the nomination with 659 votes, which was quickly made unanimous.

Sen. Charles McNary of Oregon, who was against everything Willkie was for, was chosen as his running mate.

BITTER CAMPAIGN

from Wall Street" vs. Roosevelt, the Old Pro.

At the end of a campaign that started blandly and turned bitter, Roosevelt won 38 states to Willkie's 10. Willkie could hardly believe it.

It wasn't the same kind of landslide that had liberated Alf Landon in 1936, but it was bad enough.

Tois March in Protest on Candy Store

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After a show of force, a dozen kids have converted a candy store owner to their way of thinking.

Their way of thinking is that when you are at a candy counter trying to make up your mind, you don't have to be rushed.

They considered that Antoinette Mutareh was rushing them in her Noh Noh market. So they marched on the store and protested.

Mrs. Mutareh agreed they should not be rushed at such a critical time. She went further. Would they like to come to her house for some free candy?

They would.

And afterward "She's a very nice lady," said 4-year-old Kevin Fregal, savoring a mint.

"She sure is," said Becky Houston, 5, contemplating her lollipop.

The Conestoga wagons used were pulled by four to six by American pioneers usually horses.

Russian Public Pressing for Changes in Criminal Law System

By The Associated Press
Russian lawyers are discussing an idea which could revolutionize Soviet criminal law. Cautious public approval of an old Anglo-Saxon concept seems to reflect the growing pressure of Soviet popular opinion on the Communist leadership.

A recent article in the Moscow newspaper Literary Gazette suggests that Soviet courts adopt the principle that an accused person must be presumed innocent until he is proved guilty.

It even cautiously suggests that a defense lawyer be permitted to oppose the prosecution in a trial — really to defend his client.

Up to now, by and large, Soviet courts have operated on the Stalinist idea that the prisoner in the dock is automatically guilty as charged until proved innocent.

ENTITLED TO DEFENSE

While the law says every accused is entitled to a defense, counsel assumes that state interests come before those of the individual.

Defense lawyers who have tried too conscientiously to defend their clients often have been condemned in the party press and subjected to party discipline.

The notion of presumed innocence of a defendant has been officially regarded by the party as a capitalist idea.

The Literary Gazette article now purports to say that the original intent of the Bolshevik founding fathers was that a defendant should have rights and that Stalin distorted this. UNFOUNDED CHARGES

Even today, the article points out, too many are sentenced by criminal courts on the basis of slander and unfounded charges.

Says the article: "The spell of a false theory must be destroyed."

The article proposes that Soviet prosecutors expose evidence and proofs in open court so that nobody will be judged criminal before a crime is proved.

The writer takes issue with a recent judicial opinion holding that counsel's obligation is simply to help the court classify the crime and pass a correct sentence.

In the light of what has been going on in the Khrushchev era, this sort of debate illuminates the dilemma of a leadership torn between a need for strict discipline and the pressures of an increasingly demanding public.

The Khrushchev regime, after years of effort, came up a few years ago with a new criminal code purporting to liberalize Soviet laws. There was little real liberalization.

Indeed, the range of crimes punishable by death has been greatly broadened over the years.

The new code also did little to enhance the rights of defendants.

MOST PLAGUING

There seemed also to be an effort on the part of the party and government to make all economic crimes political offenses — crimes against the state — which are the most serious in the Soviet book.

Economic crime is the most plaguing problem facing the Soviet courts.

Sanctioned discussions of a shift to an Anglo-Saxon principle

Sly Spies Eye Subs

P.O.T. CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Reports of unauthorized divers around two nuclear Polaris submarines set off a portwide search yesterday.

Two Navy frogmen spotted what they thought was another diver while inspecting underwater electronic attachments on the hulls of the submarines Daniel Boone and John Adams.

Civilian divers and an FBI agent joined in the search.

After several hours, they agreed the intruders were not spies. Just some large sea turtles.

Report Israeli Dies in Gunfire

Shooting Occurs at Middle East Borders

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — An Israeli border patrolman was reported killed by Arab gunfire yesterday in the tense Middle Eastern area where the frontiers of Israel, Syria and Jordan converge.

The shooting was the latest in a recent series of border incidents which some observers considered increasingly serious.

It was reported in an Israeli military communique which also said that a civilian tractor worker was wounded.

The communique said the shooting occurred near a water pumping station south of the Israeli settlement of Shaar-Hagolan, west of the Yarmuk River.

In Cairo, the semi-official Middle East News Agency (MENA) described the incident as an attack against a Jordanian military patrol by Israeli troops.

ISRAELI FORCE

MENA said an "aggressive Israeli force" started the shooting and Jordanian troops returned the fire.

Jordan lodged a complaint with the armistice commission about the incident, according to MENA.

The flare-up was the second in two days.

USED WEAPONS

Israel said Syrian soldiers used tanks, heavy machine guns and recoilless rifles to attack Israeli positions Monday in the Hula Valley.

Israeli sources said Syrian troops dug into positions overlooking 3½ miles of the valley and started shooting at an Israeli half-track patrolling north from the village of Ashmora.

In Damascus, Foreign Minister Haasun Mrawed of Syria summoned envoys from the Arab countries to brief them on what he described as "a series of Israeli aggressive attacks on the Syrian border."

He said his government had gotten in touch with the Arab League, the United Arab military command in Cairo and the United Nations Security Council about the incidents.

Dog Captains Drifting Boat

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three Coast Guardsmen wrestled command of a drifting cabin cruiser from a protesting dog yesterday.

Police said the dog's owner, Don R. Hammett, had gone ashore at the ferry building and forgot to tie up the boat, which drifted out onto San Francisco Bay. Both Hammett and the dog, Keoki, were pinched.

Hammett, charged with drunkenness and mischief, went free on $68 bail. The erstwhile canine skipper was sprung for $3.50, the standard fee for impounded animals.

Over 56 million men and 29 million women will be in the U.S. Labor Force by 1970, it is calculated.

Discriminating Mailman

Delivered Best, Kept Rest

WATER MILL, N.Y. (AP) — After delivering mail for 30 years, postman Lorin F. Shipper apparently decided to deliver only the important looking letters and let the rest pile up.

Authorities found two tons of unopened mail, mostly periodicals, circulars and advertising matter, in Shipper's garage and in some ancient automobiles parked on his lawn. The mail was postmarked 1963 and 1964. About 10 per cent was first-class mail.

Roy Peterson, Southampton postmaster, said there were no complaints of missed mail.

"The carrier must have delivered all the mail he thought important and just put the rest away," Peterson said yesterday.

Shipper, 75, who retired in 1966, told postal officials he couldn't recall how the leftover mail got there.

Peterson said that since the 5-year statute of limitations had expired there would be no prosecution.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Skin Blisters Can Only Be Covered

Q—How can I fade dark blisters on my skin? How can I whiten my skin?

A—To whiten the skin you must avoid the direct rays of the sun. If dark blisters remain, I know of no drug that can be used to remove them. This leaves you the option BRANDSTADT of applying masking creams if you consider the blisters unsightly. When such creams are skillfully applied the results can be very good. A white base should be applied first over the area to be covered. After this a mixture of red and yellow toning cream should be rubbed in to make the covered area blend with the surrounding skin and give it a flesh color.

Q—My husband is allergic to ant bites. What can he do for it?

A—Although the so-called biting ants use their jaws to hold onto a victim's skin, they inflict their wounds by inserting a stinger and discharging a venom.

This has been found not to be formic acid as was once supposed.

Using his head as a pivot, an ant may make two or three stings in the same area.

For an allergic reaction, epinephrine or any of a number of antihistamine drugs may be used, but they will not prevent the formation of blisters or pustules at the site of the sting.

BITE TREATMENT
These can be treated with antiseptics or the local application of antibiotics or steroid hormones.

There are several species of stinging ants, the worst of which are the fire ants. Because in an allergic person a sting sometimes results in a very severe reaction, every effort should be made to avoid these stings.

Q—I have had trouble swallowing for a long time, but in the last two months I have hardly been able to eat anything. My doctor thinks it is psychosomatic. What do you think?

A—There may be many causes for your condition. If you have injured your esophagus by swallowing live, you will have a constricting scar that would make swallowing difficult.

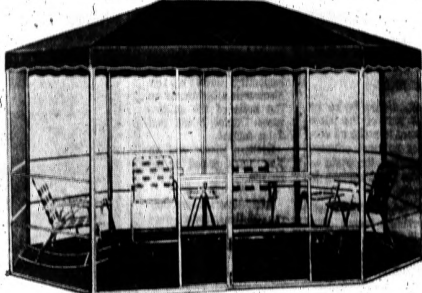

A tumor of the esophagus itself or a tumor pressing on it from the outside could be a cause. In some persons the cause is an esophageal outpouching which, when it becomes filled with food, blocks the passage. Some forms of paralysis involving the muscles of the throat interfere with the act of swallowing. SEVERAL CAUSES

Such a paralysis may be due to myasthenia gravis, poliomyelitis, lead poisoning, botulism, brain fever and diphtheria.

Sometimes swallowing is avoided because it is so painful. Emotional or psychosomatic disturbances must also be considered but not without a careful X-ray examination to show whether there is any obstruction. (Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

State Airman, Girl Murdered

OCEAN SPRINGS, Miss. (AP)—A Livonia airman and his teen-aged Mississippi sweetheart were found murdered near this Gulf Coast town early Tuesday. Police said Joseph L. Zahra, 21, who was stationed at Keesler Air Force Base at nearby Biloxi, was shot in the head and Miss Darnell F. Eleuterius, 18, of Biloxi, apparently was beaten to death.

The bodies were in a car in a roadside park. The girl's blouse was torn. Roy Toole, acting Ocean Springs police chief, said the bodies were discovered when police made a routine check of the car. Zahra's mother said the two had planned to announce their engagement soon.

Tiny Grocery to Stay Despite Construction

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—O. T. Norton, owner of a tiny wood and canvas grocery store, says he has 15 months to go on his lease and he won't move to make way for a 25-story building.

Constructors said Tuesday that was all right, they would just build around him. The store will be in the center of the new structure's plaza.

Nearly 20 per cent of the nation's energy needs is provided by some form of electricity, according to Joseph C. Swidler, chairman of the Federal Power Commission. By 1980 an estimated 30 per cent of the power will come from electrical sources.

Remember Good Old Days?

When the Kaiser Was Foiled

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Memory, not clothes, makes the man.

Memories mold us to what we are. Take away a man's memories and you take away his personality, his character, infact his very identity. He becomes a vegetable without individuality.

Memory gives man his sense of continuity and makes him feel

neighbor to immortality.

You've had quite a feast yourself at life's banquet if you can look back and remember when—

Women were veils to give them a look of both modesty and mystery.

MEN COUNTER

Men countered by growing handicap mustaches which gave them an air of strength and self-confidence.

Children roamed the sidewalks collecting tin cans from discarded cigarette packs to

War I.

EVERYBODY

Everybody in the neighborhood kind of looked down on a man who let his wife go to work.

If you really wanted to insult someone, you called him a rube or a boob. To call him a cad made him sound classier than

CITY LAIR

City lads learned about sex by cranking a machine in the pen-in town.

John L. Sullivan, Adm. Dewey, and Teddy Roosevelt.

The goal of most middle-age widows was to marry a retired railroad man with good habits inured while their houses were set on fire.

In a move to curb the growing terrorism campaign between British Guiana's Negro and East Indian residents,

Governor Sir Richard Lys

yesterday launched emergency measures calling for flogging and heavy jail terms for persons possessing illegal weapons.

The move came a day after a mysterious explosion ripped a passenger launch on the Dem-ara River, 50 miles from here, killing an estimated 25 persons.

The vessel was en route from Georgetown to Wismar.

In London, a spokesman for the defense ministry said 100 additional soldiers would be towed to British Guiana within the next 24 hours at Lys's request.

The spokesman said the reinforcements would bring to about 10,000 the number of British troops stationed in British Gu-

Platform Fight Doesn't Worry Barry

SCANTON IN ILLINOIS—Shaking hands with a parade of supporters yesterday is Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania in Decatur.

Ill. Scranton is on a whistle-stop tour of the state in the hopes of changing the minds of delegates to the GOP convention.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater isn't worried about the Republican party platform, his campaign director said today.

Sen. Mitchell said in an interview he doesn't think the forces opposing the senator in his front-running bid for the GOP presidential nomination have enough delegate strength to win adoption of platform planks aimed at embarrassing the Artisan.

Goldwater takes his conservative case to the resolutions committee Friday morning. He will fly to San Francisco Thursday.

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton has denounced platform planks repudiating "extremist groups of both the left and the right" with a specific condemnation of the John Birch Society, and declaring the constitutionality of the new Civil Rights Act.

SECONDIS PROPOSALS—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller seconded those pro-

Photographers Fail to 'Shoot' Prince Philip

LONDON (AP)—Prince Philip came home from the Malawi Independence celebration today and paused at the airport for the usual photographs. Nine photographers were on hand, but not one raised a camera. The ministry of aviation had put them behind a security barrier 50 yards from the prince.

"If we had photographed him," said one, "he would have looked about as big as a match head."

etic condemnation of the Birch Society.

Goldwater has said he disagreed with the leaders of the Birch Society, but declared in San Francisco March 15, "I will take the support of any American who is not a Communist."

He voted against the civil rights bill on constitutional grounds.

Kitchel said a plank affirming constitutionality of the new law would be ridiculous because that is a judicial question, not a political one.

He said the suggestion that extremist groups be denounced would turn the platform into a long list of organizations.

"If they start it they ought to list them all," he said. "Any of those groups that won't fight or won't pray or won't do this, that and the other."

Kitchel said the two proposals "don't have enough substance" to win adoption.

The Goldwater campaign chief said he expects the platform plank on civil rights to offer a broad expression of the party's stand on equality, then mention the present law and declare it will be entered.

"That's the most reasonable and appropriate thing," he said. Goldwater is known to hold that view. Aides said he planned to spend the day working and relaxing at his Washington apartment.

Wash-and-Wear Clothing Is Practical

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor

Aren't you glad that people dress more sensibly than they did in Victorian days? No, this isn't support for the topless swimsuit. It's being glad that we're in a wash-and-wear era. Wash-and-wear clothing saves you money, time and energy—but only if you play by the rules.

As an inexperienced homemaker, we made the mistake of washing two beautiful wool blankets in hot water. Needless to say, they both shrank and came out harsh to the touch.

We're still using those blankets, but our mistake taught us a valuable lesson. You have to follow the rules.

CHECK TAGS

When you buy clothing that is wash-and-wear, look for hang tags attached that might give you washing hints.

Many of the better manufacturers give you definite directions for washing, including water temperature, drying time and whether a chlorine bleach should be used.

Wash-and-wear fabrics often carry such tags too. Read and follow them or you may rue the day you didn't.

Lacking such specific information, there are certain general rules you can follow. It's surprising how many things you can wash with good results.

First, as in all laundering, separate whites, colors and non-fusibles. Remember that rayon and dacron and blends of these absorb color from other materials, so keep the white things in a separate batch.

SPOTS

Spots on wash-and-wear garments are a nuisance. But one laundry expert says to use glycerine (from your drug-gist). Lubricate the spot with glycerine and wash as usual.

Wash garments frequently to prevent their becoming too soiled. Avoid overcrowding in the washer. This causes wrinkles.

About half a normal load is right. One man's summer suit is enough for a load.

Don't use hot water unless there is heavy soil. Warm water is best and reduces the ironing (yes, there is some pressing to do with even the best wash-and-wear).

EASY DOES IT

A short gentle wash will reduce wrinkling as will a slow or short spin. Cold water rinsing helps minimize wrinkling too.

We have found that Ban-lon shirts come out without a wrinkle. If we wash them in cold or tepid water. But if we forget and use hot water, the wrinkles are numerous.

Some articles have a tag saying to drip-dry them. But most clothes can be dried in your dryer.

Keep the loads light and use the special or low setting. The man-made fibers in wash-and-wear fabrics are heat sensitive, laundry experts tell us.

This means that as soon as the tumbling stops, you must take the garments out of the dryer. There should still be a trace of moisture in them. If they are allowed to lie in a heap at the bottom of the dryer, they pick up new wrinkles.

PAD HANGERS

In the summer, clothes may be drip-dried out of doors. If you don't have special hangers, pad a wire one with latex foam rubber. This will prevent wire and rust marks.

Whether you iron or not depends a little on your own standards of perfection and how the garment is to be used. Use a lower iron setting or a steam iron.

Just a word about bleaching.

Perhaps you have had the shocking experience a number of our readers report. A white blouse or dress comes out of the wash almost bright yellow. "What do I do now?", they wail.

What they have done is to use a chlorine bleach on a fabric that won't take it. Many of the wash-and-wear clothes fall into this category; they have a resin finish on them.

OXYGEN BLEACH

What they should have used and what you should remember to use is an oxygen bleach. Read your garment labels to see which is recommended and then read the labels on the box or bottle of bleach to see what you're buying.

If you do make a mistake, go to the nearest variety of drug store and buy some color remover, the kind you use when you're doing a dyeing job. This usually takes out the yellow stain.

A new oxygen bleach has just been introduced. It is safe for resin finished fabrics, equally effective in all water temperatures and for hand or machine washing with any kind of soap or detergent.

Pretty doubles by Claire Brooke Originals. A linen-rayon overdress, side slit and beautifully embroidered, covers a gayly dotted high waisted sleeveless cotton dress. The polka dots peek out provocatively from the sides and the top. It's all washable, too. In green or pink, sizes 3-6x and 7-12, $9 and $11.

Summer Is Time for Parties, Visitors

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Prior to the wedding on Saturday at Christ Church Cranbrook, Deborah Hovey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Hovey and her fiancé James Frederick Menzel of Midland, Michigan are being honored by Mr. and Mrs. John Blanchard with a brunch.

Guests will include the wedding party as well as Mrs. O. Rippe of Durand who is Mr. Menzel's godmother, his sister Marlene Menzel and her fiancé, Kenneth Block, also Robert Everett of Midland.

On Friday evening the rehearsal dinner will take place at the Village Women's Club.

Others who have honored the bride party recently are Mr. and Mrs. Carlston P. McLean and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crawford.

HOUSE GUESTS

House guests of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard R. Andress last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker of Miami, Florida. The Bakers are taking a long motor trip seeing many places in U.S.A.

Karen Andress is home from Northwestern University. In the fall she will enter Katherine Gibbs school in Boston.

Adriane Andress and Jane Carlson returned Thursday after a few days in New York City and a visit to the World's Fair.

YOUNG RIDER

People are talking about 10-year-old Karen Sheppard who for the first time participated in the Open Working Hunters exhibited by Juniors at Groesse Pointe Hunt Club. She won the John L. Booth memorial "Sail-away" from the Laughing Place stables.

Her own horse "Unexpected" was indisposed. However, the next day he won the Junior Working Hunters under saddle first place.

Mrs. Carl Moe has returned from the East, accompanied by her sister Mrs. Lars Tharaldsen of Baltimore who is spending a week visiting friends here before returning to her home in Norway.

Concert Thursday

The King's Quartet from LeTourneau Tech College Longview, Texas, will present a concert Thursday, 7:30 p.m. at Calvary Baptist Church on Pontiac Lake Road. The concert is open to the public.

For the fanciest look on the beach... an above the knee water-baby dress. Rows of crocheted lace and tiny pin-tucks put on a fancy front. Tiny white buttons, down the center-front, accent the pin-dot background. Bobbie Brooks' "Dots 'n Dainty" cover-up is a beach-time companion for a matching cotton swimsuit. About $14. Line available locally.

Here's a water color print shift that's gay as summer and fresh as new paint. The silhouette is an "easy" one that finds the waist high, low or naturally fitted—depending on where you choose to tie the matching cord belt. The fabric, Dacron's whipped cream, is light and airy, dries in a breeze and says "no" to wrinkling. Bobbie Brooks designs this shift in a bouquet of summer colors on a background of white. About $13.

Little men can laugh happily when mother chooses these spunk overalls. Thomas styles them in pastel shades for the Sanforized Plus blend fabric washes easily, needs little or no ironing and keeps its wrinkles to a minimum in action. Line available locally for about $3.

Mr. and Mrs. shirts are fun! These, tailored by Gunmin, in 50 per cent Avril rayon/50 per cent cotton blend come in blue, burgundy or olive green on off-white. Sanforized Plus on the label promises easy machine washing through a whole season and only touch-up ironing. About $4 each. Line available locally.

1964 Convention Uses Party's Best Women

Tipacon Unit Discusses TB Patients

Sixty-two members were present at the July meeting of the Tipacon Chapter of the American Business Women's Association recently.

Main speaker was Ronald J. Clair, executive director of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Association.

Mr. Clair explained the goals and objectives of the local association. The association is in its 50th year of service. It was organized in 1914.

He pointed out that Michigan ranked as the second largest state for active TB patients, with the county having 81 per cent of all the cases in Michigan.

A vocational talk was also given by Audrey Allison, who explained her duties as a food service employee at Oakland University.

Guests were Mrs. Carl Rehm, former member now living in Tulsa, Okla.; and Pat Sinclair, Mrs. June Dennis, Mrs. Louis Payne, Gloria Brame, and Mrs. Leo McDonald.

Available Locally

Both the Le-Z-Boy chair and the new nylon-wed upholstery material mentioned in a recent story are available locally.

Another top woman at the convention is a longtime party worker and a member of Congress since 1946. Katharine St. George of New York.

The pert, peppery Congresswoman is rumored that after a dozen years she is getting around that she's parliamentarian of the GOP convention.

"This year people keep coming up to me and saying 'Congratulations.'"

"Well, it isn't very new. This is my third time. But the first two times no one seemed interested."

Mrs. St. George, who serves on the House Rules Committee where she is the second ranking member on the minority side, points out that the convention "operates under rules of the House: Cannon's rules of procedure and the old Jefferson rule book."

"Mr. Cannon always presided at the Democratic Convention, and we follow practically the same rules."

Admitting she has to bone up on the rules before each convention, Mrs. St. George says the last two conventions were easy work for her, and she makes it sound simple:

"If there's any doubt as to procedure, the chairman turns to you and asks what the rule is on this and you have to give him an answer."

"I like it," she goes on. "It gets you on the platform for the entire convention."

"You don't miss a thing, you see all the wheels turning around, which is fun."

She attended her first convention in Chicago in '44 as a delegate.

A reception Sunday in the Calvary Baptist Church from 2 to 5 p.m. will honor Mr. and Mrs. James I. Russell of Christy Street. The couple were wed July 4, 1914 in Sault Ste. Marie. They have a son Norman and four grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Russell will host the reception.

Ran Away With Boyfriend

Doubts Daughter Wed

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 15. She ran off with her boyfriend, who is 18.

They called us the next day from another state and said they were married. They stayed away 10 days and then wired me for money to get their car fixed so they could come home.

I sent them the money and they came home. When I questioned them about their marriage their answers were very vague, so I became suspicious and asked to see their marriage certificate.

They said they lost it. I told them they were not going to share a bedroom in my home unless they could prove they were man and wife.

The boy's mother let them stay at her house, and said she trusted them.

The boy quit school, can't hold a job and he talked my daughter into quitting school to run off with him.

I don't think they ever got married, and it wouldn't surprise me if my daughter were in a family way.

We are good Christian people, and this is a disgrace. What should I do?

DEAR MOTHER: Ask your clergyman to talk to the young people. And the boy's mother, too.

If they are not married, perhaps it would be better if they stayed that way until the boy grew up.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine said her car last year, and now when she needs transportation, she never calls a cab, she calls me.

I know for a fact that I have saved her over $100 in cab fares.

She has never once offered to pay for gasoline or parking. She just hops out of the car and says, "Thanks a lot."

Last week I got news that some house guests were coming. I was pressed for time so I asked this friend of mine if she would bake me a cake. (She is a very good baker.)

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. William Shuck of Longworth Street are entertaining houseguests from Duitama, Colombia.

A party this evening of the International Living Group will honor Mr. and Mrs. Gustavo Alarcon and their son Juan and Gustavo, Jr., who have been touring the United States. Juan lived with the Shucks last summer while he attended college. Both boys are now attending colleges in the United States.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

If you want to be the talk of the beach, make and wear a walking cabana. This clever and useful item is the first new idea I've seen for a long time. It can be made for an hour's time and the cost of three yards of fabric, ready-made it sells for around $10.

1. Cut two strips of fabric about 1 1/2 yards long for each strip. The fabric should be denim, sail cloth, or any firm type cotton about a yard wide.
2. Sew the two long edges together at each side, leaving an opening for your arms 12 inches from the top. The opening should be about 8 inches.
3. Turn under 1 1/2 inch for a casing at the neckline and machine stitch.
4. Insert a 22-inch zipper down the center front, beginning just below the casing.
5. Make a tie by folding the material over to, about 1 inch width, 1 1/2 yards long.
6. Pull the tie through the casing tie to fit neckline, finish the hem and you're done.

This makes a great gift for anyone who swims because you can change your clothes anywhere and no one is the wiser. Try it!

"For those of us who still do lots of square dancing, here's a trick we girls have learned to do to let our bodacious slips retain their fullness. Sew 40-pound test, nylon fish line in the bottom of the slips.
"Zip-zag over the fish line with a narrow setting on the machine. This works beautifully for little girls slips too."
Marian Earnest, Portland, Ore., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix Pressing Board.

Dear Eunice:

I have tried buying millinery-type glue as you suggested for covering the shoes with fabric and no one seems to know just what I mean. Perhaps other readers are having the same problem (can you tell us where this is available)?

Mrs. K.B.H.

Sorry, I keep forgetting that unless you live in a large city, some of these items might not be available. You may use any of the milky household glues. Before you begin working with your shoes, may I suggest you try the glue on your fabric to be sure it doesn't spot.

Another reader sent in a good idea about covering shoes. She says, instead of using a lining fabric, if you are using very sheer fabric, simply paint the shoes with the new shoe paint first, any color you desire and it's much easier. She also says that she uses a waterproof spray after she is finished and the fabric stays like new.

Dear Eunice:

Everytime I make a belt for myself, or have one made, they always come out too tight, even though I use my waist measurement. How do you measure for belts?

Mrs. R.R.E.

Dear Mrs. R.R.E.:

Your original waist measurement was probably taken with nothing but your slip on, and the dress you will be wearing will add to the measurement. I would suggest you measure yourself with the dress on, and use that as a guide for the size of the belt.

Certainly you have many questions about sewing. I have a small booklet which has answers to 20 common questions. To obtain your copy send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Sew Simple in care of The Pontiac Press.

Church of Christ Rite

Virginia Martency chose a white wedding dress for her recent marriage to Randall Preston DeHaan in the Church of Christ. Rev. Boyd Glover officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Jack Pierce. They are the daughters of Mrs. Jean Martency of Melrose Street and Charles Martency of Young Street.

Serving his brother as best man was David DeHaan. Ushers were Charles Martency Jr. and James DeHaan.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony.

True Sleeve Length

Know how to measure your sleeve length? It actually isn't the length of the sleeve, but the tape line distance from the middle of the back of the collar, over the shoulder and down to the edge of the shirt cuff. That gives the correct length in inches.

Jobs Daughters Attend Session in Grand Rapids

Jobs Daughters members of Bethel No. 3 took part in the recent state session in Grand Rapids. Those participating were Edna and Linda Jantzen, Dale Ann and Rusty Caswell, Carol McFarland, Wendy Hordaux and Sarah Ebert. Others were Penny Stewart.

Chaperones for the group were Mrs. Kenneth Tibbitts, the Russell Kneales, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hordaux, Mrs. Josiah Tilton, Mrs. Robert Jackson and Mrs. Arthur Chambers.

Prizes awarded for costumes went to Dick Newell, most historic; Patricia Gottschalk, most unusual; Donald Bradford, funniest; Bonnie Brown, best dressed vehicle; and John Rhoads, best dressed jet.

Janet Kneale was awarded the "Triangle of Honor," the highest award, any Jobs Daughter can receive.

Not Wrong to Leave During Talk

By The Emily Post Institute

Q. A business friend of my husband's, a man I had never met, dropped in last evening to see him. He ushered him into the living room where I was seated and introduced me to him.

The conversation was mostly about business matters and people I did not know, so after about 15 minutes I excused myself, said good night and went to my room to read. Afterward, my husband told me that he thought I was very rude to walk out on the visitor. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

A. As they talked mostly about business matters and you had no part in the conversation, it was not wrong to excuse yourself and leave the room.

It would have been polite before leaving, to ask if you could bring him some coffee.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Retirement Income Could Swing Project

By MARY FEELY

Dear Miss Feely: My husband plans to retire soon and move to Florida. We have purchased a lot for $3,500 and plan to build a house for about $15,000, including furnishings. His pension is $4,000 a year and we have $5,000 in savings.

How much mortgage do you think we can afford for how long a term. My husband is 50 years old.

G.D., Bronx, N.Y.
Dear G.D.: I think you'd be wise to keep that $5,000 in savings if you can. Allow about $1,500 for furnishings. Look into the possibility of assigning the property to the builder as the down payment.

You can arrange for a mortgage through a local bank or lending institution in which you have confidence.

Your monthly payments would cost $60.78 for a mortgage for $10,000 at 5 1/2 per cent for 20 years or $71.65 for the same amount at 6 per cent for 20 years, depending on the terms you arrange.

Since you'll have little expense for heating and low taxation, you should be able to swing the project for around $100 of the $200 monthly retirement income.

Dear Miss Feely: Would like some advice on clothing allowance for children, in cover coats, shoes, everything.

My son is 16, and I was thinking of getting aside $15 monthly for his clothing. He'll be a high school junior next year, has a $3 weekly allowance, but cannot work till he is actually 16 next month.

My daughter will be 20 in August and is now a sophomore in an eastern university. Her summer job money will go mostly toward her education and summer expenses. It seems to me that $25 monthly for her clothing would be realistic.

My husband nets (after taxes and everything) $25,000 yearly. We live well but not luxuriously. For myself, would $35 to $40 monthly be realistic? I also think these sums should be reassessed after perhaps a six-month trial.

Both children are quite level-headed and I think this experiment would be an invaluable lesson in managing.

Mrs. S. Z. Dayton

Dear Mrs. Z.: I commend you for trying to pin down the family clothing allowances because this category to control especially when the children are at a college-concious age.

However, I think you're cutting the figures too fine. On a $25,000 yearly income, the clothing allowance can logically range from $170 to $312.50 a month for the entire family.

This includes upkeep, which is an item you can't ignore.

I believe a more realistic monthly spending plan would work out this way:

For your son, $25; your daughter, $50; yourself, $50; your husband, $45.

As you say, this plan should be reassessed after a fair trial.

(You can get Mary Feely's handy leaflet on Building Financial Stability by writing to her in care of The Pontiac Press. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

The engagement of Bonnie Banners of Birmingham to Ronald Kidd is announced by her parents, the Ralph C. Banners of Toledo, Ohio. The prospective bridegroom, who attends the Lawrence Institute of Technology, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Kidd of Orchard Lake. An October 3 wedding date has been set.

A Slicing Knife Is So Very Easy

Built-in uniformity for meat comes in the form of a slicing knife with a patented control guide that turns out slices from paper-thin to half an inch thick.

Set the dial on the knife handle and it works equally well in slicing, carving and shredding cheese, bread, fruit and vegetables.

Romanians Challenging Russia Land Annexation

LONDON (UPI) — Romania, a new maverick in the Communist camp, was authoritatively reported today to have challenged Russia's postwar annexation of its former province of Bessarabia.

Romanian leaders, striving for more independence from Moscow, made the surprising challenge as a warning signal in their mounting quarrel with the Kremlin, East European diplomats said.

The Romanian move was the first known case of one of Russia's Communist allies challenging the Stalinist annexation of East European territory now behind the Iron Curtain.

The Russians annexed the formerly Romanian-owned province of Bessarabia after Romania's liberation from German occupation by the Red Army in 1945.

Bessarabia once extended from prewar Poland in the north to the Black Sea and was divided by the Dniester River from the Soviet Ukrainian and Moldavian republics.

MAJOR GRAB

Its absorption into the Soviet Union was one of the major Stalinist postwar grabs which the newly established Communist regime in Bucharest subsequently endorsed.

The original province of Bessarabia had an area of 17,146 square miles — about the size of the states of New Jersey and New Mexico combined — and a population of some 3 million.

The sources said the Romanians have not — at least so far — asked outright for the return of their province. But they were said to have raised the territorial issues in general terms as well as the fate of about 1 million Romanians still living there under Soviet rule, without any minority rights.

ALL NOT WELL

Broaching of the delicate territorial and minority issues, considered taboo so far within the Red camp, was judged by Eastern European experts as an explosive reminder to Moscow that all is not well in the Kremlin's empire.

Top Romanian leaders are currently in Moscow for talks with Kremlin leaders.

According to the informants, the Romanians raised the issue guardedly amidst growing nationalist tendencies appearing in the Bucharest regime's apparent determination to stand fast against Soviet economic pressures.

The Romanians have been growing impatient with Moscow's attempts to stampee them into a new economic alignment in the Soviet Bloc economic system.

SUPPLY CENTER

This alignment would make Romania basically a supply center for raw materials and block its ambitious plans to develop the country into a partly industrialized nation.

Bucharest is apparently going ahead with development of its ample natural resources according to domestic requirements.

U.N. Team Probing Problems Along Viet-Cambodia Border

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — A U.N. investigating team flew in an unarmed helicopter today to a Vietnamese border village allegedly razed by Cambodian terrorists.

Maj. General Nguyen Khanh, South Viet Nam's premier, accompanied the three-man team to Vinh Lac, only 1,000 yards from the Cambodian border in An Giang Province.

Vietnamese authorities claim 52 Vietnamese villagers were killed in a raid on Vinh Lac by Cambodian terrorists in April 1962.

However, General Khanh did not press charges of Cambodian atrocities to the U.N. team that arrived here Sunday to look into border problems.

Khanh said he felt the Cambodian government was not to blame for the incident, and that it was the work of "irresponsible elements."

BORDER DELINEATION

Viet Nam is trying to have the 450-mile border with Cambodia properly delineated on the ground.

Cambodia has rejected plans for this.

Cambodia reluctantly accepted the present U.N. mission.

The U.N. team visited the same vicinity of Vinh Lac, but on the Cambodian side, during their 10-day visit to Cambodia prior to coming to Viet Nam, a U.N. aide said.

TALK TO CROWD

The U.N. team spent about 15 minutes in Vinh Lac, talking to a crowd of about 80 villagers who waved banners reading "we strongly condemn robbery from across the border."

Vietnamese Foreign Minister Phan Huy Quat accompanied the U.N. mission headed by Morocco's deputy U.N. representative Day Ould Abdallah.

Baba told a group of government officials at Long Xuyen "We are here not to pin down blame in these border matters but only to explore the situation."

Viet Nam has offered the visiting team four different border areas to visit to back up charges that the Communist Viet Cong are using Cambodia as a sanctuary for raids on the Vietnamese territory.

TWO HITEN

The U.N. team is believed to have chosen two sites including Vinh Lac.

Lawfords Find an Apartment

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Peter Lawford and his wife, Patricia, a sister of the late President Kennedy, have bought a $140,000 cooperative apartment in New York City.

They had been blackballed five months ago by an owner-tenant in another apartment building.

It was disclosed yesterday that the Lawfords bought the 14-room duplex apartment at 890 Fifth Ave. from Mrs. Marshall Field III, widow of the newspaper publisher.

Maintenance costs are $1,500 a month. The Lawfords had been rejected by an owner-tenant who reportedly did not want to share the building with people in show business and Democrats.

State Guard Airmen Aided Traffic Police

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan National Guard headquarters in Lansing reports its airmen were on duty and trying hard to curtail the 30-death slaughter on state highways over the Fourth of July weekend.

The guard furnished nine conventional aircraft and four helicopters to aid police, and in addition put more than 100 men into road patrols.

Foreign News Commentary

Italy Center-Left Coalition Still Felt Useful

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
When the left-wing Italian Socialists of Pietro Nenni joined the Christian Democrats in a center-left government last December, the important thing about it was that an important segment of Italian political life was returning to government after being out of it for 15 years.

NEWSOM
It lent hope that the cooperation between two previously irreconcilable forces might at least give stability to Italian governments which since World War II had undergone 24 separate crises.

Further, it represented a break in the close ties between the Nenni Socialists and the Communists whose control of labor frequently had led to crippling strikes and whose voting strength remained a constant threat to Italy's links with the West.

From the beginning, it was recognized that the danger to the new government would come from the sharply divergent interests within the coalition—the Christian Democrats on the one hand fearful of mounting inflation and seeking to curb wages and imports, and the Socialists on the other pressing for new wage increases and costly government reforms which only would add to inflation.

The issue which finally brought about the downfall of Premier Aldo Moro's government was a comparatively minor one, but behind it were the boiling antagonisms building up on both right and left, and, for Moro, six months of frustration.

LOST ON BILL
With the Socialists abstaining and some of his own Christian Democrats deserting him, Moro lost on a bill which would have provided $238,000 in additional aid to private schools, most of them Roman Catholic.

The opposition brought together strange political bed-fellows, and neo-Fascists on the right joined Communists on the left in bellowing demands for Moro's resignation.

Moro surprised them by doing just that.

HAD ENOUGH

Some said that Moro simply had had enough.

Others held that his action was a political maneuver through which he intended to emerge stronger than ever.

For both Nenni, the veteran Socialist who had spent most of his political life in the opposition, and Moro, who for years preferred the role of kingmaker behind the Christian Democratic scenes to public office, there were special ironies.

To lead his party into the government, Nenni suffered the loss of the extreme left wing.

LOSS OF POPULARITY

For cooperating with the Socialists, Moro suffered a loss of popularity with the right wing of his own party.

Both leaders continue to believe in the value of their coalition.

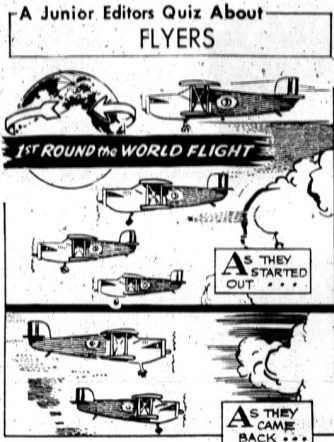

Neither seeks the alternative which would be a national election possibly expensive to both.

The question now is not whether Italy is to continue its experiment with the center-left but to what extent opposing economic forces can be compromised.

ECONOMIC MIRACLE

Both seek to preserve the "miracle" of the Italian economy which is giving thousands of Italians their first taste of prosperity.

But if Italy is to have stability, it must be through a greater sense of responsibility than shown thus far by either the political right or left.

QUESTION: Who first flew around the world?
ANSWER: On April 16, 1924, 4 U.S. Army Douglas biplanes took off from Seattle, Washington, to attempt the first globe-circling flight, a feat which many people thought to be impossible.

With the help of the Navy, pontoons were rigged on the planes while flying over oceans, while wheels were used when overland. This trip was not continuous; it was a set of 73 separate flights, the longest hop being 830 miles.

While flying over Alaska, the "Seattle," flagship of Major Fred L. Martin, flight commander, smashed into a mountain. While the Major and his mechanic were unhurt, the flight was over for them, and Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, in the "Chicago," became the new flight commander.

The 3 planes safely reached Japan and flew over Asia and Europe, but in flying toward Iceland, one of them had to be abandoned because of a faulty air pump.

Finally, after flying 26,845 miles, the two surviving planes reached Seattle September 28, 1924, having circled the earth in less than 6 months.

When the planes started, there were a major, two sergeants and five lieutenants in the expedition. Six lieutenants returned. Can you figure out how this was possible?

FOR YOU TO DO: Check your answer to our question with these facts: The major and one of the sergeants dropped out because of the crash. That left five lieutenants and one sergeant, a mechanic. Two other mechanics were lieutenants, which seemed unfair to the sergeant; so the commander wired Washington, and Sergeant Ogden was promoted to lieutenant while the planes were on the way.

Chevrolet has brought a whole new kind of excitement to everyday driving this year. It's a fifty-yard-line, ten-rows-up kind of excitement. And whether you're cushioned in the bucket seat of a luxurious Chevrolet Impala Super Sport or behind the wheel of the surprisingly roomy Chevelle, you'll feel it. Whether you're gobbling up a hill in a thrifty Chevy II or making tracks on a sandy beach with the rear-engine Corvair, you'll feel it. Whether you're just looking at a Corvette or kicking up some dust on the desert with one, you'll feel it.

Altogether you've got five different kinds of cars and up to 45 different models to choose from. And each one is looking even more attractive as the '64 car-year closes out. You couldn't pick a better time to build on the model you like either, for behind each one is a list of special Chevrolet options and accessories as long as your arm. So why not stop in at your Chevrolet dealer's now and see what all the excitement is about. Get behind the wheel of America's most popular car. Or all five wheels. And don't be surprised if you see your neighbor doing the same thing.

Retired U.S. Pacific Commander Discusses Southeast Asia

HONOLULU (AP)—Don Felt, off-shore islands during Felt's first weeks on the Pacific job. The Viet Nam crises were among his more recent worries.

AS CIVILIAN

Felt, in his first interview as a civilian, was asked what a Communist victory in Viet Nam would mean.

"I can't visualize us losing," he replied.

But, he said, "Psychologically we'd lose all our Asian friends, and you could hardly blame them. They have their own interests to look out for. They'd have some hard decisions to make."

Felt is heartened by the Soviet split. "It's always good if enemies fall out between themselves. Now, if only Mao Tse-tung and the North Vietnamese leaders got to falling out."

HOW DEEP?

But he wondered how deep the Soviet-Chinese dispute runs. "If things heat up in Southeast Asia with the chips on the line, would Russia support the Chinese?" he asked.

Red China could become the world's No. 1 power. "If it got control of the breadbasket of Southeast Asia," Felt said. This is the food and mineral rich area of Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia and Thailand.

He believes a major obstacle in the fight against Communism aggression in South Viet Nam is lack of leadership outside Saigon. "A big problem is to get people to go into the villages and administer these areas honestly," he said.

Looking farther north, Felt discussed the problems of Korea. He made two points:

• The economic situation in Korea is not good. Yet the country is maintaining a large military force that costs the Koreans and the United States a lot of money.

• North Korea has built up a modern jet air force, making South Korea vulnerable to air attack.

CIVILIAN ADVISORS

The admiral thinks the U.S. military effort should be followed up by civilian advisors to help rural populations.

"But all this takes time," he said. "The programs are all there but they have to be implemented."

He looks on Thailand as a showpiece of how Communism subversion can be beaten by a methodical and sensible "people to people" program.

"The people up-country (rural dwellers) realize that their government in Bangkok is willing to do something for them," Felt said.

"They have a preventive program which looks good to me," the admiral said. "Hell, the people up there have even got television and radio now."

Virginia Apartment Fire Kills 4 Adults, Boy

VIENNA, Va. (AP) — Three men, a woman and her 10-year-old son died today in a fire that swept through their apartment over a swap shop.

Police tentatively identified the victims as Chester Turner, Harvey Herndon, Joe Frenzeli, Mrs. Elizabeth Worell and her son, Joseph.

Zoo Artist Starts

His 4,000th Painting

NEW YORK (AP)—Lloyd Sandford, the staff artist of the New York Zoological Society at the Bronx Zoo recently started his 4,000th painting of zoo animals, fish, and birds, many of which are used on signs outside the cages. He also has illustrated 15 nature books.

Police Can't Stop

Gambling in Athens

ATHENS (AP) — Police here estimate there are 140 illegal gambling houses operating in Athens and its port city of Piraeus. But they can do nothing about it.

The clubs are private houses and the courts have ruled police have no right to violate private domicile by entering.

Mother's Day Gift

Given Sympathetically

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Young Kim Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Martin, is aware that being the mother of a 10-year-old son is something of a trial.

The youngster sent his mother a sympathy card for Mother's Day this year.

MANILA (AP) — The Philippines must be a hell of a place for Americans to shoot movies, recently.

Beauty Contest Waste

Prompts Piggy Plan

There was "Surrender, Hell," then "The Walls of Hell," and now a new one called "Backdoor in Hell."

MANILA (AP) — The mayor of a town in central Luzon island proposes a moratorium on beauty contests in favor of awards for poultry and piggy projects.

Mayor Emerita de Jesus of Bacolor, Pampanga province, contends "the beauty contests waste energy and money."

New Floating Books

for Bathing Reading

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Latest books for small children put out by a local publishing house here are made of plastic.

They're filled with soft, buoyant polyester and printed in bright, indelible colors — especially designed for small tots to read in their baths because the books float.

Zoo Animals Dying

While Keepers Feast?

MANILA (AP) — Acting Mayor Hermjino Anzaga charged that the animals of the city zoo were underfed but their keepers over-fed. "Somebody must be eating somebody else's rations," he said.

Tshombe Picks 12 for New Congolese Cabinet

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—Moule Tshombe says he has lined up a new government for the Congo made up of 13 men who have never held Cabinet posts. It was not known whether President Joseph Kasavubu would accept Tshombe's lineup.

The former president of Katanga, who led his province in a breakaway attempt that United Nations troops ended, announced Tuesday night he would hold four key posts.

Tshombe was named premier-designate by Kasavubu on Monday, 10 days after returning from a year of voluntary exile in Spain. In addition to premier, Tshombe said he would be foreign minister, information minister and minister of planning and coordination.

Ex-Premier Cyrille Adoula and his cabinet, who resigned on the Congo's fourth independence day June 30, continue in a caretaker status until a new government is formed.

WILL PACIFY

Tshombe said his government of 12 "new and dynamic men" will concentrate on pacifying the big central African nation torn by tribal rivalries and revulls, some aided by Communists.

After feverish consultations since his return, Tshombe, 44, has claimed support from all major political groups including nationalist allies of the discredited "National Liberation Committee."

But leaders of this latter group in Brazzaville, capital of the former French Congo across the Congo River, have indicated strong reservations or opposition to Tshombe.

The ebullient Tshombe said his government would rely on persuasion and conciliation rather than force of arms to resolve the Congo's warring political factions.

MAXIMUM RULE

The Tshombe government would rule for a maximum of nine months, until elections are held after a new constitution is approved in a referendum now in progress.

Observers said that followers of the late Patrice Lumumba, the Congo's extremist first premier, were likely to spell trouble for Tshombe.

Lumumba's political heir, Antoine Gizenga, has been imprisoned for 2½ years on an island in the Congo River estuary. Tshombe has promised to release him, but Lumumbists have claimed that they alone should form the new government.

Bank Prexy Is Indicted in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—A former Minden, Mich., bank president will be arraigned today on a 16-count Federal Grand Jury indictment charging him with misappropriating $63,434 and of making false bank record entries.

The grand jury, Tuesday, returned the multi-count indictment against Archibald I. Van Wansleele, 41, of Detroit. Van Wansleele is a former president, cashier and director of the State Savings Bank of Minden.

Minden is located in the thumb area about 52 miles north of Port Huron.

Conviction on all counts of the indictment could result in a jail term of 95 years and fines totaling $65,000.

BANK LIQUIDATION

The State Savings Bank of Minden now is under federal liquidation.

Van Wansleele, the father of five, is accused of misappropriating the $63,434 and making false entries in bank records totaling $90,894 between August 1963 and last March 9 when the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. took over the Minden bank and began liquidation.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert Grace said Van Wansleele made false entries of fictitious loans, in some cases using the names of relatives and in others the names of non-existent persons.

Sinatra 'Bugged' by Photographers

PARIS (AP)—Frank Sinatra says he can't have a quiet dinner in a Paris restaurant because of hordes of photographers who follow him around. He denied a published report he had fought with a photographer.

The singer said yesterday he went to "Chez Moustache," a favorite hangout for the movie crowd, Monday night, but then had to change restaurants three times "because of all the photographers around us."

He said their cars forced him to a halt and one of the photographers hit one of his friends "Nobody hit back," he said.

12 Reported Killed in India Fireworks Blast

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Twelve persons were reported killed today by an explosion in a fireworks factory in the ancient town of Aurangabad, 230 miles northeast of Bombay.

Reports said the explosion destroyed 10 houses and damaged many others. The state government could not immediately confirm the reports.

The word "linoleum" was coined by the British inventor of the popular floor covering. Frederick Walton developed the flooring in the early 1860s from oxidized linseed oil combined with resin and cork flour.

Mother of Quints Pregnant

Fischers Awaiting No. 11

ABERDEEN, S. D.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer will need another crib in their new 20-room home being built southwest of Aberdeen.

The parents of America's only quintuplets are expecting another child, reportedly around the time of the quint's first birthday, Sept. 14.

Mrs. Fischer told the Aberdeen American-News she would make no formal announcement of the long-rumored pregnancy. "Everyone knows it anyway."

The quint's—four girls and a boy—were born nearly 10 months ago. The Fischers have five other children. They live in a rented home in Aberdeen while their new farm dwelling is under construction. Fischer expects to enter the cattle business on their 800-acre tract but is still working at a wholesale grocery firm.

Crow Discourages Education

PORT WASHINGTON, N.Y. (AP)—A talking crow with either a sense of humor or the intent to undermine the local education system likes to sit on the overhang above the main entrance to John Philip Sousa Junior High School and watch the buses unload school children.

As the students go into the school, the crow squawks raucously: "No school, Joe! Heh, heh! No school! C'mon girls, no school! Heh, heh!"

Said to be the pet of a chief in a nearby reservation, the crow, whose name is Calvin, spends much of his time at the school and occasionally pecks at the office windows in time with the typewriters.

News Briefs From Around the World

French Press Official Sentenced to Life as Spy for Soviets

PARIS (AP)—George Paques, 50, a former French press officer for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, has been convicted of spying for the Soviet Union and sentenced to life in prison.

In rejecting the prosecution's demand for the death penalty, the French State Security Court apparently accepted defense arguments that Paques was motivated by misguided patriotism during the recent visit of Soviet First Deputy Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev. He said he also hoped to discuss new economic projects with Soviet officials.

Mikoyan during his visit expressed support for Indonesia's campaign to smother the British-backed federation of Malaysia but did not specify just how far the Russians would go.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Communists instigated seizures of land by peasants were reported today to have caused bloodshed in central and east Java.

Peasants have been reported seizing lands in what the Communist call "arbitrary action" to protect the slow pace of the government's land reform program.

MADRAS, India (AP)—India's Communist party, long plagued by internal bickering, has split in two with the birth of a Peaking oriented party.

Diehard extremists formed the new party at a five-day convention that opened Tuesday in Tuttil, in Andhra State. In attendance were 13 delegates from West Bengal, Karelina, Madras and Andhra.

The move came after two weeks of violence between the two communist factions in Andhra during which 2,000 houses were burned. Police arrested 82 people from both factions on arson charges.

BERLIN (AP)—East German guards failed an attempted escape across the Berlin wall by three men during the night.

West Berlin police reported to the Western police said they heard cries for help from the eastern side about a mile from checkpoint Charlie, the Berlin wall crossing point in the American sector.

The East German border guards fired 24 flares and searched the area with powerful searchlights. The western police said they saw two civilians and a uniformed border guard being taken away under arrest.

MOSCOW (AP)—The head of the Soviet Union's Aeroflot airline says Russian designers are working on a supersonic airliner and hope to have it flying before the United States gets one aloft.

Yevgeny Lagin told a news conference Tuesday he could not predict the speed of the Soviet plane, but it would be faster than the 1,400-mile-an-hour Concorde airliner on which Britain and France are collaborating.

The Concorde is scheduled to enter service in 1970. The American plane, expected to be bigger and faster, will not be ready then.

The Concorde is scheduled to enter service in 1970. The American plane, expected to be bigger and faster, will not be ready then.

PAQUES was arrested last August. He admitted passing documents to Soviet agents but said he hoped to prevent Soviet misunderstanding of the Western allies' true intentions.

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The Laotian Air Force announced today that one of its T28 fighter-bombers made a forced landing due to mechanical trouble on Monday at Phou Khao Khouay, 50 miles northwest of Vientiane.

A communication said the bomber plane, one of a small force of T28s supplied by the United States, was returning from a bombing mission against Communist military targets.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Air Force said today it would continue reconnaissance flights over Communist China despite the loss of another U2 plane, the third claimed by the Communists.

Peking radio said the high-altitude U2 was shot down at noon Tuesday. There was unofficial speculation in Taipei that the plane had been downed by a ground-to-air missile, but the Nationalist air force would say only that it "met with an accident."

LONDON (AP)—The channel ferry Arranmarch gave 677 French schoolchildren an unexpected thrill today. It ran aground off the south coast of Britain.

The rising tide refloated the 2,404-ton ship and the children were landed at Newhaven Pier. There were no casualties.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Foreign Minister Subandrio and a delegation of military leaders and economic experts left for Moscow today to seek more Soviet aid for Indonesia.

Subandrio said he would help implement agreements reached

Actor Is Mugged After Queen's Party

LONDON (AP)—Veteran actor Basil Sydney was attacked and robbed by two youths as he returned home from Queen Elizabeth's party for the theatrical profession at Buckingham Palace yesterday.

"I was just putting my key in the door when these chaps grabbed me from behind and started to beat me up," said the 70-year-old actor.

Sydney was treated at Croydon General Hospital with face and head injuries and released. The thieves stole four pounds ($11.20) — all he had on him — and his watch.

More than 15,000 organizations in the United States are engaged in some form of industrial development activity, General Electric Vice President Virgil P. Day disclosed in a recent speech.

Russian Agriculture Still Failing to Blossom

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Soviet Premier Khrushchev is depending on great advances in agriculture in his battle to complete with the United States. In the following second of two articles, Pontiac Press reports on Soviet agriculture as seen during five years as Associated Press chief of bureau in Moscow.)

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—There is as much of real beauty in the Russian countryside that it baffles foreigners who it produces crops so badly—until they see how the farming is done.

The land is hungry for the care of good farmers for the deft machines, and the enriching chemicals used everywhere in the West.

Western farm experts believe that the Soviet planners, after years of an unexplained switching from one scheme to another, may have hit on the best program that their political system will allow.

That is the present plan which calls for intensive mass farming of the best lands, with full use of machinery, irrigation where possible, and scientific fertilization.

STILL WEAK

All that was decided upon last winter and is being implemented with apparent vigor, at least at the top. At the bottom, the level of the dirt farmer, lies the weakness.

The new plan calls for building more fertilizer plants than the country has ever dreamed of until now—enough to increase production from 20 million tons a year to 80 million tons, all in the next seven years. These plants are complicated, however, and don't grow up overnight.

Part of the problem, one of the major factors, is that there is a "brain drain" from the farms into the cities where life is better.

Here is a sample of what is happening, as reported in the Soviet official magazine for young people, Molodoy Kommunist:

"In a letter, Matrena Ivanovna Gorshikova of Smolensk region writes with bitterness that her daughter Evdokya did not want to remain in the village. On the collective farm there are not enough hands—we are up to our necks in work, and she is selling ice cream. She says this work is easier and more profitable. To think that her grandfather helped to establish the collective."

"Unfortunately," the magazine continues, "we still have many people who are fond of an easy life, who are looking for jobs which are not dirty but lucrative. One became a bank clerk, another is selling lemons, a third sorts out potatoes at the vegetable reception point. They are deserters. They have abandoned one of the most important sectors of the light for communism—agriculture."

Every year the same complaint goes up, that there are not enough people on the farms to operate them. Yet every big farm I have seen is monstrously overmanned. Often a Soviet state farm will have a hundred times more workers than a corresponding American farm, despite a considerable amount of available machinery.

Nearly 40 per cent of the population is engaged in agriculture compared with 7 or 8 per cent in the United States. American crop production greatly exceeds Soviet production, despite the repeated declaration of Premier Khrushchev that Russia soon will overtake and surpass the United States.

The flight of the brighter young people from the farms tends to make improving farm technique more difficult.

KHRUSHCHEV COMPLAINT

Khrushchev often has complained that as he travels around the country he sees great piles of chemical fertilizer along railroad sidings, while nobody bothers to put it on the land. Soviet peasant farmers rarely know how to use it, while trained agricultural technologists try to get white collar jobs in the cities. An added factor, specialists have reported, is that Soviet-manufactured fertilizer often has barely half the nutritive value of chemical fertilizer used in Western Europe and America.

Numbers of Western observers insist that the Soviet farm problem never will be solved under communism. First of all, the farmer doesn't own the land he is expected to cultivate. Many still are allowed to farm a little plot of an acre or so, and off these tiny fragments they are producing an astonishingly disproportionate share of the Soviet food supply.

If the big collective farm where a family works happens to have a bad manager or a bad year, the only revenue the farm worker gets may be what he can squeeze out of his tiny little plot. He farms that with loving care, tending the one cow he is allowed, fattening his limited number of pigs and his pen of chickens. Farm managers come screaming to the party meetings that if the farmers would devote half as much enthusiasm to the big collective farms as they do to their own little tracts, the big farms would succeed better. They don't.

Now Khrushchev, having discovered that money makes the more go, is pressing for more pay for the traditionally low-paid farm workers.

IN A SPEECH

In a long speech, he put it this way: "for us who are building a Communist society, communism is naturally a powerful moral stimulant. But to create that society, to speed up the advance, we must use also the great force of material stimulant, pay more for those who work more."

He openly agreed that for the moment, at least, the great Communist aim of everybody sharing everything, giving what he can, getting what he needs, has got to be revised. There is going to be no leveling out, he said, for the good workers are going to get more than the others.

But such a program sets off a chain reaction of other problems. The more money the farmer gets, the more he can spend in the village store, and the more consumer goods there must be in the store for him to buy. That means more money spent on factories producing consumer goods. And the more money spent on producing consumer goods, the less money there is for fertilizing plants.

From a slow and backward start, there has been improvement, but to Westerners who have watched the changing agricultural economy in West Europe and the United States, the impressive inevitably grows that somehow, somewhere, it is being done better than it is here.

Beef Is Bargain in Good Eating

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Beef is still one of your best meat buys. There are large quantities available, and prices are tempting. It's the time to take advantage of a favorable situation for consumers.

At this time of year there is heavier demand for steaks to cook on the outdoor grill. But you do not want to eat steak all the time, anyway.

Here are other ways of preparing this favorite of all meats.

When you're entertaining a large group, the most economical main dish is a casserole. Ground beef is the base for this interesting meat ball dish served with rice or noodles.

Meat Ball Casserole

2 pounds beef, ground
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped pimiento stuffed olives
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1/2 cup (1/2 stick) butter
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup water
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Mix together beef, salt, pepper, onion, olives and eggs; shape into 24 balls. In a skillet melt butter; brown meat balls and place in casserole.

Pour off excess fat reserving 2 tablespoons; blend in flour. Add water, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, paprika and salt; cook until thick. Remove from heat; blend in sour cream; pour over meat balls; bake 10-15 minutes at 350 degrees.

Garnish with chopped parsley. Makes 8 servings.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has put out a couple of pamphlets with beef recipes in them. Here are samples of their suggestions.

Barbecued Beef Bids

Cut a 1/2-inch thick slice of beef arm, blade or round steak into 3x4-inch pieces. Sprinkle top sides with salt and thyme. Roll up each piece and fasten with skewer. Brown slowly in heated fat.

Prepare a smooth paste using 2 tablespoons each flour and prepared mustard. Stir 1 cup catsup into paste, and then add 1/2 cup chopped onion, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon each ground cloves and black pepper and 1 cup juice from canned peaches or crabapples, bread-and-butter or sweet pickles.

Stir to blend and pour over browned beef rolls. Cover pan tightly and cook slowly on top of range, or in a 300-degree oven. Allow about 1 1/2 hours for cooking. Yields 4 to 5 servings.

Barbecued Cubed Beef Steaks

Salt
Pepper
Flour
1 tablespoon fat
1 chopped onion
1/2 cup prepared spicy barbecue sauce

Dredge steaks in salt and pepper seasoned flour while fat is melting in fry pan. Slowly brown steaks on both sides.

Add onion and continue cooking until onion is lightly browned. Pour barbecue sauce over steaks. Cover pan and cook slowly until meat is tender as desired (about 35 minutes). Serves 4.

Finally, since hamburgers still rate high in popularity, here is a new version of them. Aloha to you too.

Hawaiian Hamburgers

1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
6 slices canned pineapple (1 8-oz.) can tomato sauce
2 teaspoons brown sugar
2 teaspoons vinegar

Mix beef, soy sauce, salt,

Scoop Hamburger

To shape hamburger meat into patties of uniform size, use this trick of famous Howard Johnson master chef, Pierre Franey: Fill an ice cream scoop with chopped meat for each patty, turn out onto grill, and then pat with flat side of knife into desired shape.

Pecans Add Crunch

To Stuffed Eggs

Picnic baskets need a new look every now and then. Fill yours with these stuffed eggs next time a beach party is planned.

Slice hard-cooked eggs in half and remove yolks. Mash yolks and combine with finely chopped pecans, onion and lemon juice. Add enough salt to season. Refill whites and put two halves together; they travel better that way.

Chill It First

Chill pie crust dough before rolling to prevent stretching. Fit the dough loosely over the pie pan and it won't take away from the edge.

To Cut Calories

For a low calorie buttermilk salad dressing, blend Caesar dressing mix with 1 1/2 cups buttermilk, 2 tablespoons vinegar and 2 tablespoons salad dressing. Serve cold with mixed greens.

It's all right to keep pancakes warm in the oven, but have the heat very low.

Baypoint Beachhouse Features Concrete 'Trees'

Nature Center Expected To Be Mecca For Students, Adults

Some Facilities Uncompleted

Stony Creek Park Now Open

Stony Creek Metropolitan Park, located between Rochester and Romeo, is now open with limited facilities.

Announcement of the opening was made today by Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, which is developing the 3,500-acre park.

"Because of the demands of the public for swimming facilities, we're going to open this new park even though food service and picnic areas are not yet completed," said Hallenbeck.

The temporary entrance to the park is at the junction of Mt. Vernon and Snell Roads, just south of 28 Mile Rd. It will permit access from the Van Dyke (M-53) Highway about six miles north of Utica.

At the present time persons coming through the Rochester

NEAR ENTRANCE

Near the entrance site are the park office and the recently completed Baypoint Beachhouse. More than 800 feet of swimming area, is provided at Stony Creek Lake which has 500 acres of man-made waters, stretching from 26 Mile to 28 Mile.

Swimming will be permitted at Baypoint Beach only, with lifeguards on duty from 9 a. m. to dusk daily.

Dressing rooms and showers are open without charge and 144 coin-operated lockers for clothes checking are available at a nominal cost.

There are no picnic tables or stoves at the beach area.

TWO READY

Two picnic areas are now in semi-readiness with lavatories and water facilities. About 75 picnic tables and stoves are scattered throughout the Oakgrove and Winter Cove picnic areas.

The White Pine picnic area will not be developed until later this summer.

Limited boat launching will be permitted at the southeast end of Stony Creek Lake, with a maximum of 2 launchings simultaneously.

Launching permits, good for the entire year, must be secured in advance from the park office or from the attendants on duty at the launching ramps on weekends and holidays.

The ramp is open daily 7 a. m. to dusk.

SPEED LIMIT

There is a speed limit of 10 miles per hour and no water skiing is permitted on Stony Creek Lake. The park does not rent boats, nor sell bait, tackle or gasoline.

Boats are not permitted to remain in the park overnight.

Perch, bluegills and bass are in the lake, but since the impoundment is newly created, fish are undoubtedly small in size at this time.

No fishing, swimming or boating will be permitted in the 100-acre lake in the northeast section of the park.

William L. Tait, park superintendent, has 50 persons on his staff at present, including 27 seasonal employees as lifeguards, attendants, patrol officers, maintenance and operations personnel.

About 10 miles of scenic interior road circles the 3,500-acre park offering many surprise views of wooded areas, hilly terrain, colorful countryside and sparkling waters.

Two large dams, one at the south and one at the north, combine a bridge and parkway which permit visitors excellent views of the lakes. From the south dam, persons can see Stony Creek as it again becomes a small stream meandering toward the Village of Rochester.

A wooded area at the northeast section of the park provides a perfect environment for the Nature Center and surrounding trails.

This area cannot be entered from the park proper and visitors must travel across 28 Mile Road until they reach Mound Road and then drive north about 1 1/2 miles to Inwood Road, then turn west one mile to the entrance.

3 TRAILS

The three trails are called "Landscape," "Habitat" and "Reflection" and vary in length from 1/2 to 2 1/2 miles in length.

Labels on all trails explain the constantly changing landscape and the plant and animal life of the area and persons are encouraged to take self guided hikes.

One trail borders Stony Creek, the small stream which flows through the area and for which the park is named.

The nature center is a former country estate of colonial design and a few natural science exhibits are now on display. The nature center and trails will be open daily from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., but closed Mondays. No picnicking is permitted in the area. For information concerning the nature program persons can contact the center.

8TH SITE

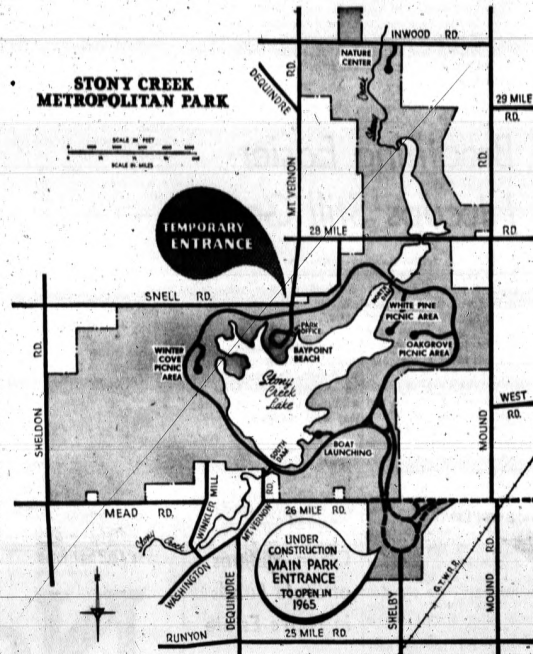

Stony Creek Metropolitan Park, the eighth site to be developed by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, was selected because of the rolling terrain, the presence of Stony Creek which could be impounded for lake use, and the increase in population trends in north and east Detroit as well as Macomb and Oakland Counties.

Purchase of land began in 1956 and the first contract was awarded by the Board of Commissioners of the Authority in November of 1960 for the construction of the North Dam.

The Authority's best known parks include Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, Metropolitan Beach near Mount Clemens, Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville and Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park northwest of Ann Arbor.

Oakland County's new representative on the Authority is James Clarkson, president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland.

Clarkson of 3111 St. Jude, Waterford Township, succeeds retired Pontiac Supervisor R. Clare Cummings, who helped develop the commission's eight parks.

Bat-Swinging Whites Attack Negroes at Snack Bar

By United Press International
A group of white men, swinging baseball bats, attacked about nine Negroes at an integrated lunch counter in Bessemer, Ala., yesterday. At least one Negro was severely beaten.

At Tuscaloosa, Ala., white men forcibly escorted six Negroes from a snack bar that was prepared to lower racial barriers.

Most other restaurants and lunch counters, and a theater, in the city peacefully accepted Negro customers.

Eight Negroes were arrested at Bessemer, for picketing in connection with a voter registration drive. Negro leader Tom Brown said more pickets would return today and keep police "quite busy."

Police at Bessemer, a suburb of Birmingham, said none of the white men who attacked the Negroes could be identified. Police Chief George Barron said three or four men carried out the attack, wounding children's-size baseball bats about two feet long.

BLOODY FLOOR
Blood spattered over the floor and fixtures of the store (McTellan's) but manager Herbert Givern said there was little damage.

The store closed immediately, but Givern said it would reopen today — with out counter service.

The City Commission at Calhounville, Ga., scene of a riot between about 500 whites and Negroes Monday night following an attempt to integrate a poolroom, imposed an 8 p.m. street curfew yesterday on all persons under 21 years of age.

Police patrols were strengthened and a curfew threatened at Tallahassee, Fla., where 200 whites stoned Negroes seeking service at a drive-in restaurant Monday night, and a carload of Negroes fired a shotgun at white youths.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS
Elsewhere in the nation: ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. — Negroes quietly registered at three previously segregated motels last night, including the Monson Motor Lodge where wild demonstrations were staged during a bitter integration drive.

MORGAN POINT, Miss. — Under heavy police guard, a group of officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People addressed a rally of 300 Negroes last night. The group earlier had integrated a restaurant at Laurel, Miss.

CAMBRIDGE, Md. — National guardsmen began leaving this fishing village yesterday after

Gov. Millard Tawes ordered an end to militia law and placed the community back into the hands of civil authorities.

Guardsmen were dispatched here last summer to put down racial disorders.

JACKSON, Miss. — A federal court order requiring three Mississippi school systems to desegregate in September brought moves yesterday to break a deadlock over legislative efforts to finance private education.

Colonialism Is Issue at Confab

LONDON (AP) — The 18-nation Conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers opened today with the big issue being African demands to wipe out remnants of British colonialism.

Britain's hopes of strengthening the union of her former colonies through a program of economic cooperation were dimmed by African determination to force a showdown on colonialism and other explosive issues.

Prime ministers of the seven African members served notice in advance that they would demand that the British government impose a "one-man-one-vote" constitution on Southern Rhodesia, which would give power to the black majority.

African and Caribbean leaders were expected to demand independence for British Guyana and protest Britain's recent measures that allow citizens to be expelled and jailed for life for illegal possession of weapons.

The British government also was under increasing pressure to join in a Commonwealth economic boycott against the white supremacist government of South Africa.

BRITISH HOPES
Prime Minister Douglas-Home called the 12th postwar parley in hopes of uniting the Commonwealth in a sweeping program of economic cooperation pegged to increased aid for the poorer members.

His idea is to transform the family of nations into a mutual aid society that would pool funds, personnel and know-how and develop a network of nonofficial bodies in education, science and administration through a central Commonwealth foundation. This would give a new impetus to the union of 750 million people on five continents.

PROGRAM SUPPORT
Australia, Canada and New Zealand are supporting Britain's stand that the conference should give less emphasis to the divisive question and concentrate on those on which the members can agree.

But the leaders of six African member-states, led by Ghana's President Kwame Nkrumah, made it clear they would insist that the issue of Southern Rhodesia get priority over Douglas-Home's economic plan.

The new state of Malawi, whose Prime Minister Hastings Banda arrives tomorrow, was expected to follow suit.

The Africans want a Commonwealth declaration calling for freedom of "our brothers still in bondage," as Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya expressed it.

HAVE NEEDED VOTES
With the support of India and the two Caribbean members, Jamaica and Trinidad-Tobago, they have the votes to put through such a declaration.

The African members insist that Britain has a constitutional duty to force Southern Rhodesia's white minority to relinquish political power to the nearly 4 million blacks.

The Southern Rhodesian whites are demanding complete independence while they still have control.

Douglas-Home reportedly plans to tell the Africans his government will not sanction a white Rhodesian grab for independence, but also that British

Job Retraining to Take Place at Tank Center

DETROIT (AP) — The former Army Tank Automotive Center here will become one of the nation's first job-retraining centers following the transfer Tuesday of the $15-million facility to the Detroit Board of Education.

The board plans to develop the center into a school for unskilled, unemployed workers. Classes to be offered will depend on the types of jobs available in the Detroit area, as determined by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

The structure was a gift from the federal government, which will pay for instructors, equipment and upkeep of the building under the job retraining program.

soldiers will not take up arms against the settlers of British descent.

HOPEFUL DEVELOPMENT
On the conference sidelines there was one hopeful development between India and Pakistan, at odds for 16 years over Kashmir. President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan invited the Indian delegates. Information Minister Indira Gandhi and Finance Minister T. T. Krishnamachari, in dinner.

Mrs. Gandhi and Krishnamachari accepted and said they would ask Ayub Khan to visit New Delhi in September to meet Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, who had to miss the Commonwealth conference because of a heart attack.

At California Laboratory

Salk Will Command New Fortress Against Disease

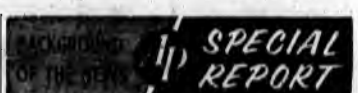

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—Rising on a hill overlooking the Pacific is a multistoried fortress soon to be filled with man's newest weapons against his oldest foe: disease.

Commander of this forbidding battlement is Jonas Salk—already the conqueror of one scourge, polio, and now engaged in a three-front war against all the miseries of body and mind.

As his generals, he has summoned eight of the world's outstanding research scientists and given them free hand to map their own battle plans for a radical and revolutionary assault to break down the mysterious processes of living: for in these processes, he believes, lie hidden the keys to mental and physical health.

To gain a better understanding of these processes the National Foundation, formerly the March of Dimes, has provided $18 million toward a laboratory—called the Salk Institute for Biological Studies—estimated to cost an eventual $30 million, on a 27-acre site donated by the City of San Diego adjacent to the new San Diego campus of the University of California.

The laboratory is a grim, utilitarian, steel and concrete mass—never to be painted—which has the angular austerity of a prison but it is designed to give its scientists the greatest freedom yet in arrangement of equipment.

All the equipment and human genius as well will be channeled into three basic fields of research: immunology, virology and genetics.

As Salk puts it, "we want to go into some rather basic questions—the nature of living material, what goes wrong with it and what we can do about it so that we can conquer disease."

"We are not going to try any spectacular end runs, we will simply be trying to understand."

"If we could understand how a cell becomes cancerous under the influence of a virus—"

"If we could understand why some animals are intolerant of disease, in other words, immune—"

"If we could understand the connection between the genetic system, heredity, and the antibodies which fight disease—"

"If in time we could understand the relationship between immunology and brain mechanism, how the cell remembers what to attack—"

"Then we would have some very powerful tools against disease."

Pending completion and equipment of the laboratory next year, the institute's scientists labor in temporary buildings, incidentally testing a Salk theory that close daily contact between specialists will result in better work from each than each could achieve in isolation.

What has been produced so far?

"Marvelous ideas that are being turned into experiments," says Salk. "I am not ready to say yet what they are, but they are very good ideas."

SALK THEORY

Salk believes that a revolution is taking place in science, and that the great discoveries of the next 10 years will be in biology rather than the physical sciences.

New advances in technology have shown the interrelationship between all sciences. And Salk has called in authorities from fields which once had little to do with biology as taught in schools: mathematicians, to help in understanding the computer-like mechanisms of the brain; theoretical physicists, those men who evaded the atom bomb, to probe the tiniest recesses of nature in an attempt to learn how the dead atoms of the world can carry the secret of life; chemists, because the body is a chemical machine.

These researchers are classed as residents or nonresident fellows.

In addition to Salk, now working on viruses and the possibility of control through immunological means, the resident faculty includes:

Dr. Seymour Benzer, once a physicist who helped develop the transistor, now working as a geneticist studying the mechanism of heredity. Such work today has two goals: improvement of human heredity, and damaging the heredity of disease-producing organisms.

TO BRIDGE THE GAP

Dr. Jacob Bronowski, a mathematician turned humanist, who will be concerned with bridging the gap in communications between scientists and laymen. He is also spokesman for the institute.

Dr. Melvin Cohn, longtime bacteriologist now concerned less with bacteria than with the antibodies which animals develop to fight bacteria and other hostile invaders.

Dr. Renato Dulbecco, bacteriologist, virologist, physicist and geneticist, recently given a million-dollar grant by the National Institutes of Health to investigate how viruses convert normal cells into malignant cells.

Dr. Edwin Lemons, a theoretical physicist who worked on the atom bomb project, now collaborating with Cohn on the processes of antibody formation.

NONRESIDENT FELLOWS

Nonresident fellows include: Dr. Francis H. C. Crick, Nobel Prize-winner in 1962 for his part in the discovery of the molecular structure of the basic genetic material, deoxyribonucleic acid-DNA. This laid the basis for understanding how genes are passed on during cell division. Crick now is studying brain mechanisms.

Dr. Jacques Monod, chief of the cellular biochemistry service at the Pasteur Institute, first to show in detail how cells manufacture proteins, the building blocks of living matter.

Dr. Warren Weaver, chairman of the institute's board of trustees, a mathematician and educator from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation.

Simone Signoret Shunned Profits

Oscar Cost Actress $450,000

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The French actress is supposed to be sharp with a hawk, but Simone Signoret owns an Oscar that cost her some $450,000.

The French actress is back in Hollywood for the first time since she won the Academy Award in 1959 for "Lionel at the Top."

Jimmy Woolf, the producer, offered her a healthy percentage of the picture or $50,000 cash. I took the cash.

As of now, the percentage would have netted me $300,000.

GOOD SCRIPT

"We knew we had a good script but when we made the picture in England, there was no one in the cast who dreamed that it ever would be the success it has become."

"The movie recently was sold to television and that best actress Oscar may cost her even more."

Simone is here playing a jaded contessa in Stanley Kramer's "Ship of Fools."

NEW YORK (AP) — Night-riding bus guides have been asked not to call attention to the hotel in which Mrs. John F. Kennedy will live when she moves here this fall.

City License Commissioner Joseph C. DiCarlo made the request yesterday. "The wife of the late president is entitled to the full dignity she deserves," he said.

Crowds of tourists outside her Washington, D.C., home apparently was one of the reasons Mrs. Kennedy decided to move to New York City.

DiCarlo said his request applies to her hotel, the Carlyle, "or any other place she decides to live in this city."

Phillies' Star Senior Circuit Ace

Johnny Callison's Bat Victory Wand for Managers

NEW YORK (UPI) — "When he hits we win."

That's Philadelphia Phillies Manager Gene Mauch's analysis of Johnny Callison and his going double today for the whole National League.

After 31 years the Nationals are "even" with the Americans in the All-Star series and the man who did it is the 25-year-old Chicago White Sox' cutoff whose three-run ninth-inning home provided them with Tuesday's 7-4 victory.

"It was the greatest thrill of my life," said the buoyant Callison in the National League clubhouse.

"But it's only the beginning — this has got to be a Phillies' year."

Callison is typical of the under-published, young and eager players who have the Phillies leading the National League at the halfway point of the pennant race. He was picked for the All-Star team by Manager Walt Alton in a move that caused considerable eyebrow raising in baseball circles.

"I chose him, first, because he's a great all-around player," explained Alton. "He can do it all. Then he's a left-hander and our squad needed more lefties. Not to mention what he's done against us."

Alton referred to a two-run home which Callison hit to beat the Dodgers only a week ago as well as other key hits the native of Qualla, Okla., has made against Los Angeles and other National League teams.

Alton also had high praise for Willie Mays, who exerted rallying-pressure on Boston relief ace Dick Radatz by stealing second base after starting the ninth inning with a walk.

"Willie got us even and Callison applied the clincher," said Alton. "About time they did something for me. But he's beaten the Dodgers more than I like to think."

No one asked American League manager Al Lopez if he'd like to have Callison back. No one had the nerve.

Lopez had just gone down to his fourth consecutive managerial defeat in All-Star competition and was talking about the young outfielder.

"He was always a good low ball hitter," Lopez said of the 25-year-old Callison who was dealt to the Phillies in December, 1959, and is exactly what he now needs to nourish his power-starved White Sox.

DIFFERENT PITCH

Dick Radatz, who spends his time pitching seventh, eighth and ninth innings for the Boston

Red Sox and was called upon by Lopez to perform his specialty, never had seen Callison before and as far as he's concerned the next time will be too soon.

"I pitched him low when he came up in the seventh," the big right-hander recalled, "and he got pretty good used to that one, so I decided to get the ball higher the second time."

thought I'd try something different, but it didn't work too good."

Nothing went right for the junior leaguer once Willie Mays reached base in the ninth. Mays eventually came around to score the tying run on Orlando Cepeda's first All-Star home hit after 20 non-productive at-bats.

Mays moved to third on the hit and tied the score when Joe Pepitone's relay to the plate bounced off Elston Howard's glove.

HERO ARRIVES HOME—Johnny Callison of the Phillies is joyfully greeted at home plate by National League teammates yesterday after hitting a three-run homer in the last of the ninth to defeat the American League, 7-4. Manager Walt Alton (24) is among the delegation.

Rough Wind Greets British Open Field

Ex-American Leaguer Evens Series for NL

NEW YORK (AP) — It took the National League 31 years to draw even with the American in All-Star warfare Tuesday and in the end it was an ex-American Leaguer who did it.

Wondrous Willie Mays, as usual, starred in the field and on the bases. Billy Williams and Ken Boyer smashed home runs. Jim Bunning and Juan Marichal pitched superbly. But the hero of the National's 7-4 triumph was Johnny Callison, who was not even voted on the All-Star team.

Callison, a personal pick by Manager Walter Alton, came up in the bottom of the ninth inning with two out, on and the score tied at 4-4. He walloped Dick Radatz' first pitch into the second deck over the right field bullpen to square the All-Star series at 17 victories apiece.

After the 1949 game, the AL led 12-4. The NL has won 15, just 5 and tied one of the last 19.

PINCH HIT

The 25-year-old Philadelphia Phillies' outfielder, selected by Alton as the 25th man because of the National League's need for left-handed pinch hitting strength, had entered the game in the fifth inning, hitting for pitcher Jim Bunning.

Next to Radatz, the most charged man on the American League squad was Manager Al Lopez, who has yet to be on a winning All-Star squad. He lost four times as a manager, twice as a player and three times as a coach.

"And to think that before the game I shook hands with Johnny and wished him luck," said Lopez.

It was Lopez who traded Callison, then a 20-year-old Chicago White Sox hopeful, to the Phillies in the winter of 1959 for third baseman Gene Freese.

"No, I don't regret it at all," said Al. "I was aware that Callison had great potential, but he was just a green kid then with a beautiful swing. We had won the pennant in 1959 and we were out to win again in 1960. I needed more experienced players."

FANNED FOUR

Radatz, Boston's brilliant relief pitcher, was invincible in the seventh and eighth innings when he struck out four of the six batters he faced.

The giant right-hander, who has been dubbed "The Monster" by opposing hitters, was nursing a 4-3 lead when Willie Mays opened the ninth by drawing a ball, fired it to the plate. The ball skidded past the catcher in the screen and Willie did across the plate with the tying run. Cepeda took second on the throw.

Radatz bore down and disposed of the dangerous Ken Boyer on a pop-up. He walked John Edwards intentionally before fanning pinch hitter Henry Aaron. Then came the fateful pitch to Callison.

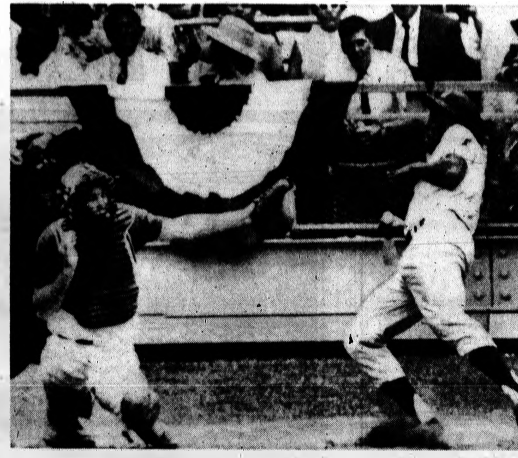

Until the final pitch Radatz, Baltimore's Brooks Robinson and Kansas City's Rocky Colavito had been the heroes. Robinson, who also contributed a fine fielding play at third base, had put the American Leaguers back in the ball game in the sixth inning. With Philadelphia's Chris Short on the mound, Robinson tripped to right center, driving in two runs to tie the score at 3-3.

REPLACEMENT

Colavito, a last hour replacement for the injured Al Kaline, doubted as a pinch hitter in the seventh, moving Elston Howard to third. Howard scored the lead run on Jim Fregosi's sacrifice fly.

The victory went to San Francisco's Juan Marichal, fifth NL pitcher, who hurled a scoreless ninth. Don Drysdale, starting an All-Star game for the fourth time, allowed one run in three innings. After Bunning, only pitcher ever to hurl for both leagues in All-Star competition, turned in two runless innings Short yielded two runs in one inning's work and Houston's Dick Farrell yielded one run in two innings.

HIT BATTER — Elston Howard of the Yankees is hit by Dick Farrell's pitch in the seventh inning of yesterday's All-Star game.

Johnny Edwards of Cincinnati is the catcher and the umpire is Ed Sudol. Howard eventually scored a run that tied the game 3-3.

Forest Lake Invitational

Golfers Bidding for Team Crown

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

A new championship team is certain in the 2nd annual Forest Lake Invitational golf tournament which gets under way Friday morning.

Qualifying will be completed for positions in eight flights Thursday with only one of the defending champions Cal Cooke of Grosse Ile in the field.

Ray Palmer, his teammate in the 1963 tournament when they defeated Bob Babbish and Al Conner, 2 and 2 in the finals, is not entered in the tournament, and Cooke will be teamed with Ted Panaretos, a 3-handicap player from Western Golf and Country Club.

A field of 124 teams is entered and after Thursday's flights are determined, tie offs Friday will be at 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. in shotgun starts under the Chapman system of play.

NEW PARTNER

Babbish, who last year was the member of the winning team at Pine Lake and who was beaten in the finals by Cooke-Palmer with Conner as his partner, will pair with John Grace of Detroit Golf and Country Club.

Among the other leading teams after berths in the championship flight are Baline Eynon and Ray West; Gene Eyster of Oakland Hills and Harry Nedelander of Forest Lake; Paul and Pete Jackson of Red Run; Dr. Len Latos and Dr. Harry Latos of Red Run; Pete Green and his father Ed Green of Orchard Lake; and former GAM champion Gene Woodward and Patton Nolan of Lochmoor.

Single rounds will be played Friday and Saturday and a double round of match play will take place Sunday.

Last year there were six flights in the tournament including championship flight.

The addition of two more flights because of entries has brought many outstanding teams into the field.

"We should have a close race for spots in the championship flight because of the fine teams entered," commented Forest Lake pro Bob Gajda.

One of the early favorites could be the Eyster-Nedelander combination. They were beaten in the quarterfinals, 1 up in 19 holes last year by Gary Mow and Ty Porter who were the sharpshooters of the tournament by medal score before losing to eventual winners Cooke-Palmer in the semifinals.

WEST COAST GOLFER

Wins Medal Honor

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Ron Cerrudo of San Francisco, stroked his second straight 58 over the Broadmoor course Tuesday to capture medalist honors in the Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament with a six-under-par 126.

He completed the two qualifying rounds two strokes ahead of Fletcher Jones of Los Angeles, the runner-up at 68-70-128 over the 7,112-yard par 36-35-71 course.

The entry list of 164 in the championship bracket was trimmed to 64 for match play starting Wednesday. The qualifying cutoff was 154.

The only sub-par shooters in qualifying play were Ted Adair of Phoenix, Ariz., 70-69-139; Jerry Potter of Miami, Fla., 73-69-141; and Jim Wichers of Menlo Park, Calif., 69-72-141.

Halts Cranbrook, 2-0

Hurier Keeps Talbott in 'A' Race

Young right-handed pitcher John Augusten personally captured Talbott Lumber's bid for a share of fourth place in the city's Class A baseball league last night.

The hard-throwing ex-Bloomfield Hills standout fanned 15 and squeezed in the only run he needed as the lumbermen topped Cranbrook, 2-0.

The victory by Talbott left the two teams tied for fourth place with 44 marks.

Augusten equaled the season high for strikeouts set by Cranbrook hurlers twice, Larry Demrick and Luckless Tom Walters, who lost to Talbott last night.

Second sacker Tom Charlton worked Walters for two leadoff walks last night and scored both runs for the winners.

Augusten bunted him across in the third inning and a two-base throwing error on the pitcher's fifth inning grounder let Charlton score the final tally.

Walters held Talbott to three hits but dropped his fourth straight decision. The southpaw has yielded four earned runs (two last night) in 22 innings, but had only two runs scored or him.

Augusten left eight Cranbrook runners stranded as he retired the side in order only twice. They reached third base in the first and third innings.

Tonight's men's league action at Jaycee Park will find CIO No. 584 opposing M. G. Collision at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Jean Looney fired an actual 44 yesterday to lead the Women's Silver Lake Golf League and her net 36 was low among first-flight competitors.

Mrs. Margaret Lally paced the second flight with a net 37, and Mrs. Mary Turner led the third flight with a net 32.

Favorite Nicklaus Among Late Starters at 72-Hole Tourney

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UPI) — Champagne Tony Lema, second choice in the betting although he has never played in Britain before, shot a one-over-par 37 on the front nine Wednesday in the first round of the British Open Golf Championship.

Lema had all pars except on the fourth hole.

Doug Ford, former Masters and PGA champion, took 36 for the same nine over the Old Course at historic St. Andrews.

BAID PUTTING

Johnny Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz., the 35-year-old veteran who finished second way back in 1939 and again in 1946, pulled a good round with some bad putting, and finished with a 78.

Play was under really rough conditions. Huge gusts of wind blew in from the North Sea and the greens were dried out and lightning fast.

Bulla conquered the wind, and might have had a respectable 72 except for his putting. "I three-putted one," he said.

Veterans such as Ireland's Harry Bradshaw with 41 on the front nine and Dai Rees with 39 were visibly shaken by the weather, which made it hard for the golfers even to stand up.

Jack Nicklaus, the favorite, was among the late starters. He was quoted at 7-2 before play started.

One-Hit Gem in 'D' Action

Franklin's Pete Ruhl held Cranbrook to one hit and faced only 22 batters as he recorded a 2-1 Class D League victory last night.

All the scoring in the game came in the second inning when Chuck Mitchell and Bill Tucker drove in the winners' two markers. They had only three hits off Steve Hanway.

Auburn Heights Boys' Club continued its winning ways in "D" action with a 5-4 verdict over Rochester, stemming a last inning rally that had the tying and go-ahead runs on base after two men had scored.

The other "D" tilt also close with the Pontiac Boys' Club winning 4-3 over Bloomfield Hills on an unearned run in the last inning.

Arro Spurs to Stay in Lead

A five-run uprising in the top of the seventh inning carried Arro Realty to a 6-1 triumph over UAW No. 56 and kept the squad on top in the American League softball race.

In a second American game Sam Reeves (4-6) nipped Bob Nicks (2-3), 3-2. In International League action, Local No. 653 trimmed Motorcar Transport, 9-6, to maintain its slim lead over Pontiac Merchants, an 11-6 winner over Lytell-Colegrove.

Arro (3-2) banged out four hits and used a pair of UAW (6-5) errors in the seventh-inning rally. A three-run triple by left fielder Ed Shipp was the big blow of the inning.

Sam Reeves picked up its winning run in the sixth inning on a walk to Bob Vincent, a sacrifice and a single by second baseman Chuck Reynolds.

Local No. 653 (7-2) pushed its winning percentage to .777, with the Merchants (8-3) moving along at a .727 clip.

The union nine tripped Motorcar with a three-run rally in the final frame on two singles and three errors. Winning pitcher Jerry Altas collected two singles to aid his own cause.

The Merchants raked two Lytell-Colegrove hurlers for 12 hits, including two each by Ed Backes, Jim Patrick, Jim Turner and Eric Danielson.

The winners, down 6-4 at the end of the third frame, came up with five in the fourth to put the game away.

TOWNSHIP PLAY

In Waterford Township action, Huron Bowl snapped a 13-game losing streak with a 4-3 victory over Plink Poodle, and Lakeland Pharmacy moved into the lead in the C League with a 4-3 triumph over Haskins Chevrolet.

Lakeland, moving a half-game ahead of Haskins, picked up the winning run in the fifth when Vern Cork's single chased John Strong across the plate.

Cranbrook Names Football Coach

Delvin H. Walden, 26, has been promoted to the varsity coaching position at Cranbrook, predecessor Peter Slater has announced.

Slater, who made the announcement in his capacity as athletic director, will concentrate on those duties while also serving as Walden's assistant.

Walden moves up from the reserve coaching position after only one year at the Bloomfield Hills preparatory school.

A native of Cairo, Ga., Walden was a two-time captain, most valuable player and all-conference lineman while at Olivet, a Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association member.

He received his BA degree from Olivet in 1961, and a master's degree in August 1962 from Central Michigan. He coached the Marshall High School freshman team that fall, before moving to Cranbrook Schools last year.

OTHER DUTIES

In addition to his football duties, Walden is also a mathematics instructor at the school and works with the wrestling and track teams as an assistant coach.

Cranbrook competes in the Interstate Prep League and also meets county schools Waterford Kettering and Birmingham Groves on the gridiron Slater had an 11-13 mark in three seasons.

Walden is married and has one daughter, age five. He resides on the Cranbrook campus.

Another recent coaching change at the school has Dave Barney, who took over the baseball job this spring replacing the Rev. Walter Young as its hockey mentor.

The latter will become assistant headmaster at Stowe Academy in Vermont after a long, successful tenure at Cranbrook.

Slater also expects to announce a new wrestling coach in the near future, replacing John Laskarides who is moving

Donkey Game Slated

The Avondale Volunteer Fire Department will battle Avondale senior high school teachers in a donkey football game tomorrow at Avondale High School. The game will start at 8 p.m.

Proceeds will be used to purchase equipment for Little League baseball teams.

Department Policy Calls for 'Progress'

With the promise that "we're going to move ahead fast now," Director Ralph A. MacMullan recently previewed the Conservation Department's new platform for progress.

MacMullan hit upon to major "planks" as the framework for meeting the state's steadily changing needs in resource management.

Leading off with the department's reorganization, he explained, "We have moved from a more cumbersome structure to one designed to make possible more rapid shifts into new programs, more integrated planning, and a more concentrated use of the talents of our employees."

MacMullan noted a serious lack of "new blood" in the department's ranks and added that recruiting efforts will be stepped up to seek out young men and women, with emphasis on filling field positions.

The department's third "plank" involves a look at all plans and programs now in motion to see if and how they measure up to modern-day demands.

From this, policy statements will be drawn up to chart the course of future action. The director pointed out that some conservation goals can only be reached by way of new legislation. To this end, the department will arm each legislator with more information about its needs.

Steps must also be taken to overhaul Michigan's existing conservation laws which have grown in a somewhat disorderly way, according to MacMullan.

FEDERAL AID
With the state's conservation program bogged down by money problems in recent years, MacMullan reported the department is going to make every effort to see that Michigan receives its fair share of federal aid which is available for resource management.

Also, to avoid duplication of efforts and overcome short-comings in coordination, the department is going to take a lead role in helping shape other federal programs before they are put into effect.

In another area of finances, MacMullan said the hunter and fisherman have borne the burden of many conservation programs too long.

"We are going to push activity in the months and years ahead to find new sources of funds for conservation work," he vowed. "One of these will be a system of cost-sharing with local communities."

The department's new platform will place high priority on new things upon collecting additional items which can be rapidly growing water problems.

"We are losing the battle to

Artifacts Sought for Hartwig Park

Efforts are being continued by the Conservation Department to seek out photographs, tools, and artifacts which date back to Michigan's logging era from the mid-1800's to the early 1900's.

The department's souvenir hunt comes under an interpretive program taking shape at Hartwig Pine State Park to tell in pictures and displays the story of the state's forest, from past to present.

Already, a number of logging memorabilia have been rounded up for exhibit in the park's newly-opened visitor center. Hopes are high upon collecting additional items which can be displayed in the park's logging camp.

Persons with anything to contribute in preserving this colorful chapter of Michigan's history are urged to contact naturalist John Roedel at the department's regional headquarters in Rosecon.

save our inland shorelines from uncontrolled dredging and filling," he reported. "With so much at stake, you can be sure the department will not give an inch in this fight."

"However, we can't hope to bring order out of confusion until a set of legal tools is provided which will regulate shoreline changes."

RANGING STUDIES

Instead of meeting recreational needs as they arise, efforts will be increased to develop big, ranging studies and programs to place Michigan ahead of its mushrooming leisure-time demands.

The department will probe into "a ranging variety of social studies, the use of computers, new methods of communication, deep analysis of pesticide problems, and many other fields."

The department's entire platform will be bolted to an accelerated effort of "selling" such of these "planks" in the people of Michigan, MacMullan explained.

He went on to say, "We are going to place much greater emphasis on our information and education programs . . . on getting down to pay dirt . . . to the grass roots opinions which ultimately make or break our resource programs throughout the state."

Women Nimrods on Increase

The number of licensed women hunters in the United States climbed above the million mark in 1963, according to estimates published by the National Shooting Sports Foundation, Inc.

Furthermore, the 100 million members of the gentler sex have been joining the ranks of hunters at a much faster rate than men, and their impact on the sport is becoming increasingly evident.

Of the nearly 15 million licensed hunters in the nation, the NSSF estimates that about 1,180,000 are women.

The world of fashion has become aware of the prominence of women in sports and for good reason. Women, the NSSF said, pay close attention to what they wear while hunting.

The bright colors that are necessary to proper hunting apparel are a pleasure to the fashion-minded sportswomen of America. Hunters' fashions permit the fairer sex a wardrobe that is entirely different from anything they now possess and allow them an "expression of fashion" not to be duplicated by other occasions or activities. A few of the items available for women are shoulder recoil padding on coats and blouses and "paratroop" pockets for shotgun shells in slacks and skirts.

There are also kilts with a sporran-type cartridge holder, special jackets with strong and roomy pockets, and a parka with fur-lined hood for colder climates and seasons.

"Mother and daughter now share in the enthusiasm that the male members of the family have for the shooting sports," according to Ed Hilliard, president of NSSF.

FAMILY ACTIVITY

"Participation by women has made hunting and shooting a real family activity. Sports-women are entering all phases of recreational shooting. Women are to be seen in increasing numbers at shooting preserves, target ranges and hunting areas," Mr. Hilliard said.

In 1963 it was estimated that about 418,000 women hunted

Bear Hunting in State Causes Some Concern

LANSING (UPI) — The black bear in Michigan's Lower Peninsula is a gradually vanishing species.

A Conservation Department report scheduled to be made by game chief Harry Ruhl to the Conservation Commission meeting this week highlights the fact that Southern Michigan's brutes are falling prey to the mechanization of modern America.

As superhighways slash through remote areas and ever expanding, extending population seeks privacy in secluded backwoods cottages, there is a gradual reduction in suitable bear habitat.

The consensus of field personnel in northern Lower Michigan is the bears are declining in numbers, but the biologists differ as to what action should be taken to halt the decline, Ruhl said.

AN ALTERNATIVE

"One proposal would eliminate bear hunting under a deer license or, as an alternative, limit the deer hunter to one deer or one bear by requiring the seal to be used on a bear," Ruhl reported.

This type of proposal would require legislation, Ruhl said.

"Various other restrictions have been discussed in the field and game section; the majority feeling is to recommend no change," Ruhl said.

"An alternative suggestion would reduce the early season, to one three-day weekend, probably Saturday, Oct. 5, through Monday, Oct. 5," he said.

The Michigan Bear Hunters Association has passed a resolution which calls for bears to be protected from all hunting in the Zone Two portion of northern Lower Michigan for the next two years.

LICENSE LATER

This should reduce the number of cases in which a hunter shoots his bear first and buys his license later.

While the bear numbers are declining the interest in the sport of hunting them is on the increase.

Bear stamp sales hit 4,850 in 1963, increasing 41 per cent over the 1962 figure and 25 per cent over the previous high in 1959.

During 1963, 455 bears were killed in Zones One and Two during the deer season. Another 630 were killed during the early bear season, according to department totals.

Season recommendations for the 1964 year are not significantly different from past years, Ruhl said.

In Zone One, except Keweenaw County in the Upper Peninsula, the season will run from Sept. 1-15, with the use of dogs permitted and again from Oct. 1 to Nov. 5.

In Zone Two the season will run from Oct. 1-7 and in Zone Three the bear season will be from the opening date of the upland game or waterfowl season, whichever starts earlier, to Nov. 5.

But He Goes Elsewhere

Cass Lake Fishing Praised

Don Hale calls Cass Lake "one of the most underrated fishing waters in the area."

He should know. His home at 1199 Coshocton fronts on the lake.

"I've fished it for years," said the veteran angler. "But there are only about a dozen of us living on the lake that fish it anymore. And I usually go elsewhere."

There has to be a reason for calling Cass "one of the best" and then going to some other lake to fish. Hale has an answer.

"There's too many big power boats and water skiers," he complained.

"Last weekend, for example, I was on the lake at 6 a.m. Ten minutes later two boats pulling water skiers went racing on either side of me."

"It's pretty bad when you can't go on a lake that early and not be bothered by skiers." Hale doesn't object to the boaters and skiers using any lake.

EARLY MORNING

"I recognize that they have a right to be there, and I also feel that they should have the opportunity. But I wish someone would write a law, or enforce one if it exists, giving the fishermen some early morning and evening time without being bothered."

"That's why no one fishes Cass. Too many boats all the time."

"The lake has excellent small-mouth bass fishing. There are lake trout, walleyes and big rainbows. The largemouth fishing is often overlooked, but it is very good."

"I used to catch lake trout up to 11 pounds regularly. But the boaters put a skid on course on the spot where I fished and the lakers moved. I haven't found them since — two or three years."

Hale spends most of his fishing time on other waters.

Monday evening he was fishing Kent Lake with Harold Woodcock when Hale boated a 5½-pound largemouth on a nightcrawler harness.

"It took me 10 minutes to land him on the light rig I was using," said Hale. His terminal tackle was a fly rod with spinning reel and four-pound test line.

Woodcock took a three-pound

James Conahan was fishing for bass at Upper Silver Lake Sunday. He caught an average largemouth and then a one-pound bluegill grabbed his nightcrawler harness.

The bluegill now leads its division in The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby.

Cohan lives at 144 State.

Other leaders remain the same. Black bass — 5 pounds; rainbow trout — 4 pounds. The Derby continues until Sept. 7.

Fire Hazard Reaches Peak in State Area

Fire-fighting forces of the Conservation Department have been put on the alert in the northern Lower Peninsula where packed forest lands are boxed in by a smoldering threat of trouble.

With much of the region dangerously drier than usual for this early stage of summer, outdoor users are urged to backstop the department's readiness by making doubly sure their campfires and cigarettes are out.

Motorists are warned that a carelessly tossed cigarette could send hundreds of acres up in smoke. They are asked to use ashtrays.

Temporary Position

Marston J. DeBoer, a 49-year veteran of fisheries work in Michigan, has been appointed acting chief of the Conservation Department's fish section by Director Ralph A. MacMullan.

Prices Generally Sluggish

Stock Market Advance Stalls

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market retreated somewhat early this afternoon from its historic peak. Prices were generally sluggish in moderately active trading. Wall Street wasn't worried about the stalling of the advance that sent the averages to successive highs. Brackets left that a breaching spell was in order.

Some specialty issues showed good gains in a list that was generally mixed. Tobacco, utilities and drugs were the only groups able to stay in the plus column. Bulls were hit by profit taking. Pennsylvania Railroad lost nearly a point while most of the other carriers were off fractions. Steels were weak with only Bethlehem managing a small gain.

Hearing Eyes Funeral Ads

Cost-of-Dying Probe Listens to Both Sides

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate investigation into the funeral business heard both sides of the argument on advertising prices today. Arguing against such a practice were witnesses from the National Funeral Directors Association. On the other side was a Washington mortician, W. W. Chambers, who believes in advertising and said he survives on a volume trade. Without advertising, Chambers said, there is a tendency to "let the undertaker charge what he wants."

Area Facing New Strike in Construction

The construction industry in the Detroit area faced a new labor flare-up today with a strike called by Millmen Local 1452. The 1,500-man local is considered the shop unit of the carpenter's trade. Its members build cabinets, doors and window frames and wood and metal items for retail installation in residential and commercial buildings.

Man Satisfactory After Car Accident

William Raney Jr., 22 of 5591 Berkley, Waterford Township, is in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with injuries suffered when his car hit a road sign and utility pole 1:25 a.m. today. Police said Raney's car was traveling southeast on Walton when it went out of control near Silverhill, Waterford Township. Raney told police he remembered only that his car left the road.

City Fire Officials Without Clues in GTW Blaze

Fire officials said today they were without a clue in determining the cause of the blaze that destroyed the Grand Truck Western Road freight warehouse Saturday. "It seems hopeless at the moment," said assistant Fire Marshal Allen Turner. Since the fire, five teenagers have been questioned but all were released. Fire Chief James R. White estimated the loss to the 62-year-old building near Orchard Lake and Cass at $150,000. No value was placed on the contents, because many firms had merchandise stored in the building. In addition to the warehouse being leveled, an attached two-story brick office was gutted, and five freight cars and several private automobiles burned.

Death Notices

WILLIAM H. MAHAFFY, 71, died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Waterford, Mich., July 6, 1964. Burial will follow in Oxford Cemetery. Mr. Mahaffy, a retired carpenter, died Monday after a brief illness. Surviving is a son, Floyd of Romeo.

PLENTY OF PETITIONS — U. S. Representative Neil Staebler, Michigan Democratic candidate for governor, yesterday, filed 2,200 nominating petitions for the November election. Staebler had some 40,000 signatures, at least 100 from each of the 83 counties.

No-Man's-Land in Cyprus

U.N. Forces to Control Zone

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—United Nations troops, bolstered by new "get tough" orders, prepared today to take control of a "free zone" in Nicosia designed to disengage the warring Cypriot factions.

U.N. sources said the U.N. peacekeeping force soon would begin patrolling a demilitarized no-man's-land cutting through the capital.

Galo Plaza, the senior civilian official on Cyprus, said the move was "our first major breakthrough" in ending the U.N. mandate to stop the fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

"Plaza said last night that U.N. Secretary-General Thant had approved a plan permitting U.N. troops to search, arrest and disarm Cypriots in the 'free zone'."

The zone will extend 100 yards on either side of the so-called "green line," a narrow truce zone established weeks ago to divide the rival communities in Nicosia.

YARDS APART

Fortifications manned by both sides are only yards apart at various points along the line.

"Units of the U.N. force have patrolled along the green line in the past, but their powers were limited and ineffective compared to the Greek Cypriot irregulars who have patrolled throughout the city."

U.N. soldiers could intervene only after fighting broke out.

In addition to enlarging the demilitarized area, the new order would give the U.N. troops exclusive and stronger powers in the free zone.

DESTROYS AUTHORITY

It would destroy the authority of the Greek irregulars in the zone.

Thant's order, Plaza said, gave the blue-belted international force "exclusive rights to patrol, search, arrest, detain and disarm" persons in the zone.

U.N. officials believe these powers are necessary if the U.N. force is to prevent violence between armed elements of the rival communities which continually operate in the city.

Both sides have maintained gun positions and roadblocks in Nicosia since the fighting began last December.

RESIST CHANGES

The Turkish Cypriots, who are outnumbered 4 to 1, are resisting constitutional changes by the Greek Cypriot government which they claim would deprive them of their rights.

President Makarios said last night that Greek Cypriot troops soon would begin withdrawing 100 yards from the green line and would not erect new fortifications.

Plaza said the Turkish Cypriots were expected to pull back soon, also, now that Thant has given the U.N. troops authority to control the free zone.

Coin Shortage Has Some Odd Side Effects

EDITOR'S NOTE — A growing coin shortage has prompted headlines in the government across the nation. The following story, written as part of the Michigan Associated Press weekly membership exchange program, outlines one possible solution.

By HEINRICH P. FINK
Flint Journal Staff Writer

FLINT (AP) — A $2 bill for $1.95 in change? Sounds like a steal. But that's exactly what a Grand Rapids, Mich., bank has offered.

The Treasury Department recently ruled against a company which sought to issue its own paper currency in place of metal change.

Many banks are urging customers to bring in cookie jar collections of change for conversion into crisp bills.

The reason behind it all is a shortage of coins which, in the view of many banking, business and governmental leaders, has reached the critical stage.

PAPER NOTES

In the opinion of a Flint numismatist (money expert), the day could come when the government will resort to issuing paper notes for small change.

Although few persons are aware of it, that very thing happened 100 years ago.

"During and after the Civil War, small change virtually disappeared from circulation," said Edwin J. Brunsten, a numismatic historian.

During the period there was great hoarding of hard money, because of a lack of confidence in paper money.

BECAME DESPERATE

By 1862 the situation had become desperate.

"Legend has it that Secretary of the Treasury Salmon P. Chase stepped out of a Cabinet meeting with President Lincoln to buy an apple from a vendor on Pennsylvania Avenue," Brunsten said.

"He became so incensed when he couldn't sell him the apple for lack of change that he went back into the meeting and made the proposal which led to the issuance of paper notes for denominations under $1."

From 1862 until 1878, the "coin of the realm" in the United States was paper. The government printed and distributed six denominations of what was called "fractional currency."

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

Fractional currency was issued in notes of 3.5, 10, 15, 25 and 50 cents.

The notes ranged in length from 4 inches for the 50-center to 2 1/4 inches for the three-cent variety. The three-cent bill is the smallest — both in size and denomination — ever issued by the U.S.

The notes still are acceptable for face value at any bank, but Brunsten doubts anyone would want to cash them that way. Collectors value the three-cent bill at up to $35, and notes in some issues of fractional currency are worth more than $100 in new condition.

A total of $300 million in fractional currency was printed, but the treasury says only about $1.6 million still is in the hands of the public.

According to Brunsten, the fractional currency notes were a satisfactory substitute for small change, although the small pieces of paper were out rapidly.

"The three-cent bill never was popular, but the rest circulated quite freely," he added.

The U.S. was not alone in issuing fractional notes. Canada issued a 25-cent bill from 1870 until 1903.

By 1870, with the issuance of large stacks of metal change in this country, public confidence returned and the need for fractional currency gradually disappeared.

TOKENS ISSUED

Along with the government's notes, many privately minted tokens were issued during the period and circulated in place of change.

These usually were metal "business cards," Brunsten said. They bore advertising for merchants.

The tokens were redeemable in merchandise, but were readily accepted as money, he said.

Similar to the tokens were "excused postage stamps." These were U.S. postage stamps enclosed in metal cases with transparent mica faces. They, too, bore advertising and were used as change.

FORBIDDEN TODAY

Brunsten said private issuance of money is forbidden today, but he said a revival of fractional currency is possible if the present coin shortage continues.

Brunsten blames the shortage, in part, on hoarding of uncirculated rolls and bags of coins by collectors and speculators hoping to make a profit.

Also contributing to the situation are vending machine and parking meters.

"The coins used in them are not collected for a period, and they are lost in circulation during that time," he explained.

Reports on Baker Deals to Be Final Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—A politically divided Senate Rules Committee files Democratic and Republican reports today on Bobby Baker's money-making dealings.

Baker resigned under fire last Oct. 7 as secretary of the Senate's Democratic majority after a $350,000 damage suit against him and others by a local vending machine company spotlighted his outside business dealings.

In Omaha, the World Herald said it had learned that Baker, a Republican, charged in their report that the Democratic majority used its votes "to frustrate and beat down every effort on the part of the majority to call witnesses and complete the investigation."

The paper also said the Republicans said the investigation showed "gross wrongdoing, gross improprieties and conduct which we believe to be unlawful."

The majority report, the World Herald said, calls Baker an "opportunist" who used "his public office in the Capitol as if it were a private business office."

CANT STATE GUILTY

The paper added that the committee majority also said that it did "not have the legal right to determine his guilt or innocence under the federal criminal statutes governing conflicts of interest."

The Rules Committee's investigation of whether his activities conflicted with his official duties or involved other improprieties reached a climax when Baker invoked his 5th Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination and refused to answer questions.

Testimony received by the committee showed that Baker, a one-time Senate page boy from Pickens, S.C., claimed to have acquired a fortune of more than $2 million before he resigned his $19,000-a-year post.

President Johnson's name was injected into the probe by Dan B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent with whom Baker was associated and who said

Barry Foes Say He's Resigned to LBJ Victory

Mount Big Assault on Alleged Defeatism in Goldwater Ranks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton's backers hampered at Sen. Barry Goldwater's towering claim on the GOP presidential nomination with a can't-win assault today, as prospects for a civil rights fight dwindled.

Goldwater's declaration in an interview published in a German news magazine that "as of now" no Republican could defeat President Johnson was described by Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., as an admission that the Arizona senator is resigned to losing in November if he becomes the GOP presidential nominee at next week's convention.

Scott, campaign director for the Pennsylvania governor, told a news conference yesterday that "I'm afraid that the Goldwater backers don't really believe they can win."

"You can't give up before the campaign starts," Scott said.

ANOTHER HORSE RACE

Goldwater said in the interview that, as of today, no other Republican had a chance of defeating Johnson in the South.

He added that while he was saying that he could do so at the moment, "one election day there is going to be another horse race."

He made it clear in this respect that he was speaking not only of the South but the nation at large.

Scranton, scheduled to arrive here for a mid-afternoon airport rally and news conference, said before he left Chicago that Goldwater's people are using "every conceivable kind of pressure and threat" to keep the nomination away from him.

Blasts Hit Dixie Rights Crew Home

MCCOMB, Miss. (AP)—Three explosions "like gunshots, only much louder" damaged a civil rights "freedom house" in this southwest Mississippi city before dawn today.

Two civil rights workers—one of them a white summer volunteer—were slightly injured. Eight others were asleep in the house.

The McComb Police Department sent suits to the scene, and a fire truck stood by until it was determined there was no blaze.

"We are making a full investigation," said an FBI spokesman in the agency's New Orleans office, which covers southern Mississippi.

The spokesman said agents had not determined what type of explosives were used.

CONTAINERS FOUND

Ed Rudd, a spokesman for the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, said three one-quart oil cans "which we believe contained an explosive of some sort" were found outside the frame house located in the Negro section of McComb.

George Green, 21, a Greenwood SNCC staff worker who was in the house, said he heard "three rapid explosions in succession like gunshots, only much louder."

Curtis Hays, 21, a McComb SNCC staff worker, received cuts on the face and body.

Green said the living room and a bedroom in the house were damaged and a gaping hole was left in the wall of the bedroom where Hays was sleeping.

VOLUNTEER HURT

Also in the room was Dennis Sweeney, 21, a Stanford University student from Portland, Ore. who received cuts. Sweeney is one of 500 college students, mostly white persons, who volunteered for civil rights work in Mississippi for the summer,

Union, AMC Start Discussing Contract

DETROIT (AP)—A United Auto Workers bargaining team headed by Union President Walter P. Reuther opened contract talks today with American Motors Corp. (AMC)—the firm which provided a dramatic breakthrough in 1961 negotiations.

Talks with the big three car makers—Ford Motor Co., General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp.—began last week. AMC is the smallest of the major car producers.

Company spokesmen would give no advance hints of the position AMC Vice President Edward L. Cushman will take in today's opening round.

Last time around Cushman and Michigan Republican Gov. George W. Romney, then president of the company, authored the auto industry's first profit-sharing plan.

Under the profit-sharing arrangement, a percentage of AMC's pre-tax adjusted earnings is put into a fund. Some of the money is used to finance insurance and pension improvements and some phases of supplemental unemployment benefits.

Some of the fund is used to purchase company stock, which is distributed to workers on a formula based on years of service. The stock has to be held for three years, except in cases of personal emergency.

PREFER CASH

Some AMC workers have indicated they would rather have cash. This may be discussed at the bargaining table.

Reuther has noted AMC's production and sales this year are falling below 1963 levels. He said the company will not get "favored treatment" in the talks, but he recalled concessions the union made to Chrysler.

The UAW yesterday asked Chrysler to more than double the relief time allowed assembly plant workers holding jobs when "the machine controls the man."

Douglas Fraser, director of the UAW's Chrysler department, called additional rest time "the No. 1 issue as far as our membership goes."

Union proposals to other big three carmakers are expected to follow a similar pattern.

Cong Shifts Center of War

Viets and Americans Speculate on Move

SAIGON (South Viet Nam) (AP)—The Communists have shifted the center of their war effort in South Viet Nam from the swampy Mekong Delta to the central highlands in the past 10 days.

Senior Vietnamese officers believe the Reds have moved troops in from North Viet Nam to get the war momentum moving in the highlands, a region that has been relatively quiet in the past 18 months.

In the past week, three battalion-sized Communist assaults have erupted out of the central mountains.

Two isolated Special Forces camps were hit. One of them crumbled after nearly half its defenders deserted to the Viet Cong.

An ammunition convoy was almost overrun near a winding mountain pass in broad daylight.

NORTHERN TROOPS

"Newsmen in the central Viet Nam capital of Hue were told yesterday that the Communist battalion that hit the Special Forces outpost of Nam Dong Monday had just moved in from North Viet Nam."

The Communist unit was beaten off, but with severe government losses.

Two other Viet Cong attacks were launched in the region Monday. Vietnamese officers say one of the attacking battalions moved into Viet Nam recently from Laos.

Another battalion had come in to Viet Nam from the Cambodia-Laos area late last year.

LATIN VISITORS — Nine Boy Scouts from Asuncion, Paraguay, last night were greeted by Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. He presented them with keys to the city and models of Pontiac cars. The youths, who paid their own expenses to Pontiac, will join 111 scouts from the Clinton Valley Council when they go to the National Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, July 17-23. The boys are (from left) Mario Schussmiller, Hugo Merz, Augusto F. Moreno, Ricardo Kiliana, Joel M. Flores, Pascando Recalde, Guillermo Fernandez, Marcelo G. Carvalho and Juan J. Ricart.

U.S., Soviets Eye U.N. Military Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union appear to be moving into a major new negotiation on the future makeup, organization and financing of U.N. military forces employed over the world to deal with threats to peace.

The two powers differ sharply on the extent of control which should be vested as a practical matter in the Security Council rather than the General Assembly and on some other issues.

But State Department authorities said today they are encouraged by the latest Soviet move and believe that the Soviet government may be ready to open serious negotiations on these questions and to cooperate with the United Nations to a degree unknown in the past.

These officials are trying to assess the Soviet Union's intentions in the light of its split with Red China and the fact that it is facing a loss of its vote in the United Nations because of refusal to pay assessments for past U.N. peace-keeping operations.

Disclosure of the Soviet move came Monday night with the release in Tokyo of a Soviet note to Japan calling for the formation of the U.N. military force under the Security Council, the troops to be supplied by the smaller U.N. members, including Communist countries.

The five veto powers of the council would provide funds but no troops.

U.S. officials are still puzzled by the fact that the note was presented first to Japan and made public there by the Foreign Office.

The United States and Great Britain were not given official Soviet outlines of the proposal until last night.

'Castro Holds Over 74,000'

Sister Tells Number of Political Prisoners

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Juanita Castro was reported today as placing the number of political prisoners held by her brother Fidel, Cuba's prime minister, at 74,588 including 3,382 women.

John Martino, an American released two years ago after serving three years in Castro's prisons, said he got the figure by telephone from Mexico City, where Mrs. Castro is exiled.

Martino said a spokesman for Miss Castro, who defected from her brother's regime after reportedly helping free hundreds of prisoners, gave him an itemized count by telephone.

Fidel Castro estimated there were "fewer than 15,000" political prisoners in Cuba according to a Havana interview published this week.

Star Witnesses Before GOP Platform Unit

Ex-Envoy's Presence Likely to Start Debate on Foreign Policy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two prominent Republicans who once figured in speculation for the 1964 presidential nomination tell platform writers today what pledges they think the party should make in the coming campaign.

Michigan's Gov. Romney and Henry Cabot Lodge, who say they are not available, were the scheduled star witnesses as the GOP platform committee reached midpoint in its pre-convention week of hearings.

Tomorrow and Friday the avowed candidates, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, take the stand.

Lodge's appearance underlined foreign policy in the platform debate after two days of emphasis on civil rights left that issue still unresolved.

The 1960 Republican vice presidential nominee and ambassador to the United Nations during the Eisenhower administration, Lodge resigned as ambassador to South Viet Nam last month after nearly a year in the job under the Johnson-Kennedy administrations.

He said he was returning to boost Scranton for president.

So far foreign policy has not been the bone of much contention among the string of GOP platform witnesses.

In general, the Republican speakers have attacked what they label as President Johnson's vacillation and expediency in handling foreign affairs.

Lodge, however, has maintained that the campaign against Red guerrillas in South Viet Nam is on the right track and can be won by the Washington and Saigon governments keep at it.

Pontiac Hospital Offering Outpatient Mental Clinic

Pontiac General Hospital this week quietly became the first general hospital in the county to set up an outpatient mental health clinic.

Recommended by the hospital's psychiatric staff, the clinic opened Monday, accepting walk-in and referral patients.

Donald Carros, assistant to the administrator, said that the clinic will meet each Monday from 1:30 p.m. and from 7:10 p.m.

Designed to "expand or contract as the need demands," the clinic is available primarily to adults.

The pilot facilities are aimed at residents in the city and surrounding area who might need psychiatric services and can afford regular medical fees, but cannot pay the $25 per hour charged by most private psychiatrists.

These were established in 1961 and recently have grown to the point where there is frequently a slight waiting list, he explained.

Pontiac General has a 24-bed inpatient mental health unit.

Carros, who said there was yet no estimated cost available pointed to two unique aspects of the new services:

EVENING HOURS

First, he said that the evening hours were designed to give a time when mothers with small children might come and also to permit those who work during the day to attend.

Second, the hospital official expected that the location of the clinic in a general hospital might help remove some of the stigma attached to mental illness.

Carros thought that Pontiac General's new facilities would attract a different kind of patient than perhaps would attend Pontiac State Hospital's outpatient center. All patients come voluntarily.

Two beds have been allotted to the new clinic, enabling some patients who require such care to be admitted to the hospital for mental health treatment.

CLINIC CHIEF

The clinic will be headed by Dr. Theodore Saterstrom, who has been appointed psychiatrist-in-charge.

In addition to psychiatric treatment, the services of medical social workers and psychologists will be available by referral, according to Carros.

Carros said that the new clinic represented part of a strong move toward mental health facilities at the community level.

Although some members of the county's new mental health board were aware of Pontiac General's plan for the outpatient clinic, the board did not officially work on it, according to the hospital spokesman.

MEET REQUIREMENTS

However, Carros said that the clinical facilities meet the prerequisites of the mental health board.

Carros said that the new clinic was the first of its kind for this area that he knew of.

'Boost City as Home of Pontiac Car'

Taking his cue from his 16-year-old daughter, Kaye, City Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson proposed last night that the city be promoted more as the home of the Pontiac automobile.

"It's time people thought of Pontiac as the home of the automobile rather than as the location for Pontiac State Hospital," said Hudson.

The District 4 commissioner suggested that the city follow up last week's designation of the perimeter road as Wide Track Drive with further civic promotion.

Hudson suggested:

- Main street lamps be fitted with reflectors in the shape of automobiles.
- Side street lamps be equipped with decals in the form of Pontiac cars.
- A central location be set up to coordinate tours of local auto plants.

"Advertising is a continuing thing," added the commissioner, "and it's time we capitalized on our assets."

JUST BEGINNING

He said that the naming of Wide Track Drive should be just the beginning.

Hudson explained that his daughter agreed on his ideas for civic promotion after a trip to Hershey, Pa., where street lights are shaped like chocolate drops and some streets are named after the Hershey candy company.

"I have no fears of our town being known as the home of General Motors," Hudson said. He said that the auto firm might stand the cost of furnishing appropriate reflectors and decals, but that the city would have to pay for their installation.

Hudson said that the new clinic represented part of a strong move toward mental health facilities at the community level.

Although some members of the county's new mental health board were aware of Pontiac General's plan for the outpatient clinic, the board did not officially work on it, according to the hospital spokesman.

OK Rochester School Budget

ROCHESTER — The Rochester school board will attempt to guide the district through the 1964-65 academic year on a record budget of $2,881,403.

The financial guide, changed slightly from the preliminary budget, was adopted by the board at Monday's meeting.

Next year's figure is up 7.1 per cent over the past year's.

including a balance carried over from the past year.

The school board anticipates spending $2,881,403 during 1964-65, finishing with a balance of $123,047.

Under terms of the new budget, 74.7 per cent of the funds, or $1,950,328, will be used for instructional purposes.

Included in this category is money for additional teachers necessitated by an expected 200 student enrollment jump, as well as cost of more leave days for teachers.

Also contributing to the overall expenditure hike are increases in overtime pay and travel allowance for custodial help, and a new shared-insurance program for all full-time employees.

Administrative costs during the next year will take up 3.6 per cent of the total expenditures, or $103,150.

Plant operation funds are hiked some $3,000 to $277,750. Included in this category, which takes up 10.6 per cent of the budget, are the costs of heating, lighting and other utilities.

The final figure was adopted following a public hearing at which few questions were raised.

Several audience members praised the board's product.

Based on the present tax rate of $28.86 per $1,000 of assessed state equalized valuation here, the anticipated expenditures are in part possible because of the May 4 renewal of a 2-mill levy which expired this year.

PACK FOR TRIP — Two future homemakers from Avondale High School, Sue Yagiela (left) and Jean Kirsch, pack one of their suitcases in preparation for their trip to the National FHA meeting in Chicago next week. The two 16-year-olds will be in Michigan's 64-member delegation to the four-day session.

Avondale Pair Will Attend Future Homemaker Confab

Two Avondale High School girls will be in the delegation of 64 Michigan Future Homemakers of America (FHA) attending the National FHA meeting in Chicago next week.

The pair are Jean Kirsch, state FHA secretary, and Sue Yagiela, regional secretary. Both are 16.

Jean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Kirsch, 8171 Auburn, Avon Township. She will be a junior at Avondale High next fall.

Sue, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Yagiela, 3072 South Blvd., Avon Township, will be a senior.

Parliamentarian of the local chapter last year. Sue represents 10 area high schools as regional secretary. The schools are Rochester, Clarkston, Farmington, West Bloomfield, Clawenceville, South Lyon, Holly, Lake Orion, Milford and Avondale.

GO TO LANSING

The two girls will go to Lansing Sunday to join the other Michigan delegates bound for Chicago. The delegates will be accompanied by adult advisers who are home economics teachers and a state adviser from the Michigan Department of Public Instruction.

Converging on Chicago, the delegates will come from all

16 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands to represent the 64,000 members of this high school organization for students studying home economics.

The theme chosen for this year's meeting, which runs Monday through Thursday, is "Education — An Endless Challenge."

During the session several outstanding speakers will give talks. They include Dr. Herbert W. Schooling, dean of the college of education, University of Missouri, who will deliver the keynote address on the theme of the meeting.

TO PRESENT PROJECTS

Several national projects will be presented dealing with "Marriage Calls for Preparation" and "Getting to Know Your Community Citizens."

During the week Michigan delegates will be actively engaged in leading discussions, and gaining a better understanding of the national program of work.

Ideas gained from the meeting will be shared in local chapters and with the state association.

CLARKSTON — The Clarkston Board of Education has confirmed the name of Bailey Lake Elementary School for the school under construction at Pine Knob north of Clarkston-Orion Road.

The name is derived from the former Bailey Lake school district, now incorporated in the Clarkston school district.

Slated for completion by class opening in September, the new school is situated on a 20-acre site. It contains 14 classrooms and two kindergarten rooms.

State Capitol to Get Face-Lifting

LANSING (AP)—The venerable old State Capitol at Lansing is going to be cleaned up with a scraping off of some 80 years of encrusted dirt and grime.

A lot of people don't like the idea.

It is almost as controversial as asking: "Would you like to have your wife get her face lifted?"

Like it or not, the State Administrative Board Tuesday approved a work order authorizing spending of $200,000 for cleaning, repainting and sealing the stone facing on the building.

BIDS REQUESTED

Bids now are being asked for the cleanup job of the grimy old building, dedicated in 1879, and made of soft Ohio sandstone.

Views on the cleanup proposal have ranged from one extreme to another.

A Detroit school child, once wrote former Gov. G. Mennen Williams:

"I like Lansing very much but there is one thing wrong with it. The capitol building where you work is dirty."

CRANBROOK AGAINST

The Cranbrook Academy of Art, in Bloomfield Hills, was against cleaning, advising:

"Aging is a basic trend in nature and it mellows the architecture. The old monuments of Italy, for example, are never cleaned and that's what brings a venerable aging spirit to them. Please let your venerable State Capitol remain as it is."

City officials in Paris have had a different idea, working now on cleaning up their many historic buildings and monuments.

Gov. George W. Romney put the item for a cleanup of the capitol in his budget. It was approved by the legislature, enabling the bids this year.

FREE OFFER

One legislator in the sandblasting business—Rep. Richard A. H. J. Guzowski, D-Detroit—

suggested nearly two years ago that he be allowed to clean the building, for free, if necessary.

The proposal was discouraged by fellow lawmakers who felt it wouldn't be proper for him to do the job.

John Gafner, state property manager, meanwhile, has to decide on the best cleaning process.

Just outside his office, in the lower capitol floor, are various sections of stone where different cleaning processes have been demonstrated.

NEW PROCESS

Gafner said a new steam-chemical process was ahead right now in rate of performance.

Gafner said he has numerous queries on why the State Capitol dome looks so strikingly white, especially at night with floodlights on it, and the rest of the building seems so grimy.

The dome, he explained, is made of steel and can be hand-painted every few years.

WOOD CREEK FARMS—The family of Terry Oenke has learned that the 18-year-old student missionary in Mexico was not injured in the severe earthquake there Monday.

The youth is among 12 Michigan State University students who have been working out of Tuxco, Mex. since June 29. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Oenke of 29030 Millbrook.

Rev. Robert Kavanagh, pastor of St. John's student parish in East Lansing, has contacted the family to assure them of their son's safety.

He had been in direct touch with the group and reported the students were "perfectly all right."

"They are doing social work, working with native volunteer teams distributing food and medicines and teaching beginning reading and writing," Rev. Kavanagh said.

MSU students at St. John's began their voluntary missionary work two years ago. This summer they are working in Argentina, Brazil, Texas, New Mexico and Chicago as well as Mexico.

FARMINGTON — The City Council has changed its method of selecting a constable, at the same time setting an Aug. 1 termination date for the services of Arthur Forgette.

Forgette has been the city's chief process server for seven years.

The council acted in conformance with a City Charter provision that the constable be a member of the department of public safety.

The recommendation from City Manager John Dinan noted that the charter section had been discovered during a study of the constable's activities by the public safety department.

Dinan said constable fees last year amounted to $9,800.

O'Neil Wins in GOP Poll

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit News poll indicated Tuesday that James O'Neil, a member of the State Board of Education, is preferred over two other Republican candidates seeking the Republican nomination for U. S. Senate.

If the primary election were held immediately, the poll showed, O'Neil would take 30 per cent of the party primary vote. Mrs. Elly Peterson of Charlotte, GOP national vice-chairman, would get 24 per cent and Edward Meany of Grand Haven, 11 per cent.

However, the remaining 35 per cent of the Republican voters sampled were undecided about their choice of a candidate to oppose incumbent Democrat Sen. Philip A. Hart this fall.

Not Hurt in Tremor That Shook Mexico

WOOD CREEK FARMS—The family of Terry Oenke has learned that the 18-year-old student missionary in Mexico was not injured in the severe earthquake there Monday.

The youth is among 12 Michigan State University students who have been working out of Tuxco, Mex. since June 29. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Oenke of 29030 Millbrook.

Rev. Robert Kavanagh, pastor of St. John's student parish in East Lansing, has contacted the family to assure them of their son's safety.

He had been in direct touch with the group and reported the students were "perfectly all right."

"They are doing social work, working with native volunteer teams distributing food and medicines and teaching beginning reading and writing," Rev. Kavanagh said.

MSU students at St. John's began their voluntary missionary work two years ago. This summer they are working in Argentina, Brazil, Texas, New Mexico and Chicago as well as Mexico.

FARMINGTON — The City Council has changed its method of selecting a constable, at the same time setting an Aug. 1 termination date for the services of Arthur Forgette.

Forgette has been the city's chief process server for seven years.

The council acted in conformance with a City Charter provision that the constable be a member of the department of public safety.

The recommendation from City Manager John Dinan noted that the charter section had been discovered during a study of the constable's activities by the public safety department.

Dinan said constable fees last year amounted to $9,800.

Remember Good Old Days?

When the Kaiser Was Foiled

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Memory, not clothes, makes the man.

Memories mold us to what we are. Take away a man's memories and you take away his personality, his character, in fact his very identity. He becomes a vegetable without individuality.

Memory gives man his sense of continuity and makes him feel a kinship to eternity, and a neighbor to immortality.

Refuge Set Up in Guiana Strife

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (UPI)—A group of East Indian men, women and children who fled their homes at Wimar and adjoining Christiansburg to avoid attack were brought to Georgetown today for protection.

Another man who was beaten up in a disturbance at Wimar Monday night died yesterday, bringing the number of victims to five. Sixteen others were injured while their houses were set on fire.

In a move to curb the growing terrorism campaign between British Guiana's Negro and East Indian residents, Governor Sir Richard Luyt yesterday invoked emergency measures calling for flogging and heavy jail terms for persons possessing illegal weapons.

The move came a day after a mysterious explosion ripped a passenger launch on the Demerara River, 50 miles from here, killing an estimated 25 persons. The vessel was en route from Georgetown to Wimar.

In London, a spokesman for the defense ministry said 100 additional soldiers would be flown to British Guiana within the next 24 hours at Luyt's request. The spokesman said the reinforcements would bring to about 1,000 the number of British troops stationed in British Guiana.

Men countered by growing handlebar mustaches which gave them an air of strength and self-confidence.

Children roamed the sidewalks collecting tinfoil from discarded cigarette packs to help bent the Kaiser in World War I.

Everybody in the neighborhood kind of looked down on a man who let his wife go to work.

If you really wanted to insult someone, you called him a rube or a boob. To call him a cad made him sound classier than he deserved.

21 County Boys Going to Alaska

Twenty-one boys, 18 from Oakland County, will leave tomorrow for Alaska under the leadership of a Pontiac man.

The $800 mile round trip for boys is the eighth conducted by Edward J. Kuhn, 2206 N. Lake Angelus, and is a revival of the journeys started by the late George W. Buchanan in 1923.

Kuhn was one of more than 800 boys that made the trip with Buchanan, a Detroit coal and lumber dealer, before his death in 1939.

Kuhn, a social studies teacher at Hazel Park High School, said the purpose of the trip is to teach boys to save for things worthwhile in life.

He said all the boys saved or earned at least one-third of the cost of the trip, a prerequisite is be eligible to go, with the balance paid by the parents.

The group will cross Canada by train to Vancouver where they will board a ship to Alaska. They will be gone three weeks.

Platform Fight Doesn't Worry Barry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater isn't worried about the Republican party platform, his campaign director said today.

Denison Kitchel said in an interview he doesn't think the forces opposing the senator in his front-running bid for the GOP presidential nomination have enough delegate strength to win adoption of platform planks aimed at embarrassing the Arizona.

Goldwater takes his conservative case to the resolutions committee Friday morning. He will fly to San Francisco Thursday.

Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton has demanded platform planks repudiating "extremist groups of both the left and the right" with a specific condemnation of the John Birch Society; and declaring the constitutionality of the new Civil Rights Act.

SECONDS PROPOSALS New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller seconded those proposals before the committee in San Francisco Tuesday but stopped short of calling for ap-

Photographers Fail to 'Shoo' Prince Philip

LONDON (AP) — Prince Philip came home from the Ma-haw independence celebration today and paused at the airport for the usual photographs.

Nine photographers were on hand, but not one raised a camera. The ministry of aviation had put them behind a security barrier 50 yards from the prince.

"If we had photographed him," said one, "he would have looked about as big as a match head."

The queen's husband finally walked to a car to be driven to Buckingham Palace. An airport spokesman told the cameramen it wouldn't happen again.

chic condemnation of the Birch Society.

Goldwater has said he disagrees with the leaders of the Birch Society, but declared in San Francisco March 15, "I will take the support of any American who is not a Communist."

He voiced against the civil rights bill on constitutional grounds.

Kitchel said a plank affirming constitutionality of the new law would be ridiculous because that is a judicial question, not a political one.

He said the suggestion that extremist groups be denounced would turn the platform into a long list of organizations.

"If they start it they ought to let them all," he said. "Any of these groups that won't fight or won't pray or won't do this, that and the other."

Kitchel said the two proposals "don't have enough substance" to win adoption.

The Goldwater campaign chief said he expects the platform plank on civil rights to offer a broad expression of the party's stand on equality, then mention the present law and declare it will be enforced.

"That's the most reasonable and appropriate thing," he said. Goldwater is known to hold that view. Aides said he planned to spend the day working and relaxing at his Washington apartment.

SCRANTON IN ILLINOIS—Shaking hands with a parade of supporters yesterday is Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania in Decatur, Ill. Scranton is on a whistle-stop tour of the state in the hopes of changing the minds of delegates to the GOP convention.

Waterford Officials Term Recall Charges 'Ludicrous'

Charges outlined in a recall campaign aimed at two Waterford Township officials today were labeled "baseless and ludicrous" by John S. Coleman.

Coleman, a trustee on the Waterford Township Board and Township Supervisor James E. Seeterlin are the objects of the recall movement launched by residents of Lake Oakland Heights subdivision.

Seeterlin viewed the charges as a complaint against progress in the community.

The recall petitions now being circulated charge that Coleman and Seeterlin ignored the wishes of voters by their parts in the promotion of plans and the eventual construction of a township library.

Further charges against the pair are that they violated the trust of the people by their part in the transfer of title to the Lake Oakland Heights water system to be included in a central water system.

ANOTHER CHARGE

The petition also charges that Seeterlin and Coleman refused to consider individual rights of citizens in making decisions regarding construction of the township water system.

It calls this action arbitrary, capricious, without justification and without regard for the welfare of the citizens.

A fourth complaint was included in the petition to recall Coleman. It says:

"He has destroyed the confidence of the people of Waterford Township by his derogatory manner and absolute indifference to the welfare of certain minority groups."

Coleman said his performance as a member of the township board and zoning board of appeals over the past seven years will be judged by the more than 50,000 township residents who make reasoned, thoughtful judgments.

POLITICAL BLACKMAIL

"These petition charges stem from a fearful and neurotic minority whose real purpose is political blackmail," Coleman said.

"Unfortunately, this tiny group is aided and abetted by a township board trustee (Loren Anderson) who lacks the slightest semblance of courage and conviction in public policy matters."

Both Coleman and Seeterlin took issue with what they called undue criticism of efforts to prepare for the township's future in an orderly, progressive manner.

"If those of us who work toward progress in our community are destined for political oblivion, then I must choose this fate," Seeterlin said, "rather than hinder its growth by inertia and stagnation."

POSITIVE PROGRAM

Seeterlin said he campaigned for supervisor last year on the basis that he would offer some positive programming if elected.

"Every time I have sought public office in Waterford Township, I have expressed my concern for early action on water and sewer systems," he added.

Seeterlin questioned the timing of the recall action when three suits filed by Lake Oakland residents because of the water program still are pending in Circuit Court.

"As we must wait for the court to decide on this litigation, it is unfortunate that my accusers of wrongdoing initiate recall action now. In our way of life, no one is guilty unless proven so in court."

Seeterlin said the real issue in his recall seems to be the fact that he failed to retract

JAMES E. SEETERLIN

JOHN S. COLEMAN

Nine sites were considered and this one was chosen because it was the least expensive, he said.

The seven-member board voted unanimously on the Main-Walton site last year. Recently Trustee Loren Anderson said he would be willing to reevaluate the site. Other board members have stood firm on their decision.

"My decisions as a board member are made in the best interests of the community as a whole," Seeterlin said. "No single interest or special interest will influence my vote."

A MISUNDERSTANDING

Seeterlin said that the petition charge regarding board action on the library creates misunderstanding because the library polls in 1959 and the one adopted by the board last year are widely varied in scope.

"In 1959 the local tax cost including interest would have been $100,000. I voted against this proposal myself."

"Our 1963 board action involves about $10,000 in local money for construction of a library building. Sales tax revenue and a federal grant of $30,000 make up the balance of an approximate $60,000 total cost."

Maynard Peters, who is spearheading the recall campaign, said approximately 4,200 signatures are required to force a recall election on an official.

VOTE NEEDED

This is based on 25 per cent of the total vote cast in the last gubernatorial election of about 17,000 votes.

Peters said several volunteers are participating in the townshipwide petition drive. "We hope to get many more than the required number of signatures," he added.

If sufficient signatures are obtained and an election takes place, a majority vote would determine the recall.

The cost of such an election would be borne by the township.

Peters said that his group had planned to include Trustee Kenneth Preston in the recall movement but decided against this because Preston is expected to resign from the board soon. He is now employed with the Saginaw Education Association and probably will move to Saginaw in September.

Seeterlin, Coleman and Preston were considered the leaders among the board in advancing plans for the central water system and library building, the subdivision group indicated.

Steels Show Weakness

Market Drifts Slightly Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market drifted slightly lower today.

There were indications the advance which has carried to successive historic heights had lost some steam.

Trading was moderately active.

Steels were weak with U. S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin showing fractional losses.

SMALL GAIN

Chrysler alone among the motors was able to manage a small gain while the others were unchanged.

REARS ROEBUCK advanced about a point.

Tuesday the Associated Press 60-stock average was unchanged at 317.3.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Small gains were made by Data Control, Massey-Ferguson and General Plywood.

Hearing Eyes Funeral Ads

Cost-of-Dying Probe Listens to Both Sides

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate investigation into the funeral business heard both sides of the argument on advertising prices today.

Arguing against such a practice were witnesses from the National Funeral Directors Association. On the other side was a Washington mortician, W. W. Chambers, who believes in advertising and said he survives on volume trade.

Without advertising, Chambers said, there is a tendency to "let the undertaker charge whatever the traffic would bear."

But Harry J. Gilligan, past president of the funeral directors association, told the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee that he saw no point in it.

PURPOSE OF ADS

After all, he argued, the primary purpose of advertising is to expand the market, and he added in his statement:

"There isn't anything anyone can do to create a new market, or expand the existing market for funeral directors. A given number of people will die each year and there isn't anything funeral services can do to make more people ready for their services."

Gilligan also contended that price advertising was misleading, usually nothing more than "bait advertising," and said it was not in the public interest.

Chambers, on the other hand, argued that only constant publicity and advertising would eliminate all deceit in the business.

EDUCATES PUBLIC

Price advertising "educates the public to what a funeral should cost," Chambers said. "Everyone cannot afford a high price funeral. For those who cannot afford it, then give them information at a price they can afford."

Glenn H. Griffin of Pontiac, owner of Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home and a first vice president of the association, told the subcommittee that the average funeral director's fee for a "regular adult funeral" in 1962 was $763.

He gave this breakdown: 21 per cent under $200 was mostly for children and indigents; 13 per cent was between $200 and $400; 20 per cent was between $400 and $600; 11 per cent was between $600 and $800; and 11 per cent exceeded $1,000.

The subcommittee, in the second day of its hearings into possible restraint of trade and antitrust violations in the funeral industry, heard Tuesday that the casket is the key to the funeral price.
