Court Orders Barnett to Lay Off Meredith

U. S. Judges Prohibit Mississippi Officials Stopping Registration

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals issued a sweeping restraining order today prohibiting Gov. Ross Barnett and a large number of county, city and other Mississippi officials from interfering with the registration of Negro James H. Meredith at the University of Mississippi.

In addition to Barnett, the order names Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson, Commissioner of Public Safety T. B. Birdsong, and district attorneys, police chiefs and sheriffs whom the court described as representative of their authority throughout the entire state.

The order was signed by three judges of the appellate court. They set a hearing for Friday in New Orleans.

The order was issued on the request of the U.S. Justice Department, which only Monday pressed a contempt charge against university officials, leading to the promise by officials that Meredith would be registered.

The promise of the officials, however, came in the face of countermoves at Jackson by Gov. Barnett, who has sworn he will go to jail rather than see Meredith enrolled at Ole Miss.

Among other things, Barnett issued an executive order calling for the arrest of any federal official attempting to arrest any Mississippi official for action in the Meredith case — an order which now stands head on against the U.S. Appeals Court.

Liston 25 Pounds Heavier

Floyd Puts Title on Line

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavyweight champ Floyd Patterson weighed 189 pounds today and challenger Sonny Liston 214 for their 15 round title match in Comiskey Park tonight.

The spread of 25 pounds was just under the most weight given in a Patterson defense, the 25½ pounds he spotted Brian London when he knocked out the Briton in Indianapolis May 1, 1959.

Patterson scaled 182½ to London's 208.

The bout, scheduled for 9:30 p.m. Pontiac time, is the first for both the champion from New York and the challenger from Philadelphia since they fought in different cities as part of a closed circuit TV doubleheader last Dec. 4.

It will be broadcast nationally on radio and shown on closed circuit television. Fair weather, in the upper 50s, was forecast.

Patterson weighed 188½ when he stopped Tom McNeely in the fourth round at Toronto, Liston weighed 212½ when he stopped Germany's Albert Westphal in the first round at Philadelphia.

The most Patterson ever has weighed was 195½, for his third fight with Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, who weighed 206½, at Miami Beach, Fla., March 13, 1961. Patterson knocked out Johansson in the sixth round.

Liston's heaviest weight was 219½ against Howard King at Miami Beach March 8, 1961. Liston flattened King in the third round.

JFK Gets His OK on Reserve Call-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved and sent to President Kennedy a measure authorizing him to muster 150,000 Reserves if he thinks they are needed as Cold War troubleshooters.

The House shouted down several amendments and passed it by a 342-13 roll call vote Monday after several Republicans questioned the measure's worth.

"This legislation will have as much impact on Mr. Khrushchev as a single leaf falling in a mighty forest," protested Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich.

He urged that the President be allowed to call up a million men, which he said would "give him a fist that he could really shake" at Mr. Khrushchev.

Rep. Bruce Alger, R-Tex., noted that Kennedy has admonished against rash talk over Cuba, but he said "the grave danger is not rash talk but indecisiveness and lack of policy. All we need is some guts and a firm leader."

On the final tally 131 Republicans joined 21 Democrats in support of the bill. Against it were 2 Democrats and 11 Republicans.

The Senate approved the Reserve Authority bill unanimously on Sept. 13.

In opening debate, Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, told the House that Cuba and Berlin, plus dangerous situations in Laos and South Vietnam and along the coast of China justified giving Kennedy the power he requested to call up the Reserves.

Varner Heads Health Group

Swainson Appoints MSUO Chief Chairman of Advisory Board

D. B. Varner, chancellor of Michigan State University Oakland today was named chairman of a 25-man advisory commission on health care by Gov. John B. Swainson.

The commission was appointed to develop a plan of action based on last year's extensive study report by another commission on prepaid hospital and health care.

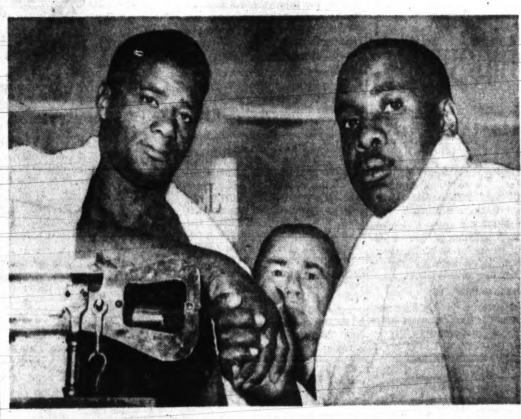

The advisory commission was one of the recommendations of the initial study and will be operated as a permanent unit, the governor said.

Swainson said the commission will review the findings of the vast three-part study conducted by the earlier commission and the University of Michigan.

Other members of the commission include Dr. Albert Heustis, state health commissioner, and State Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Culbert.

Survivors of Ditching Tell Stories of Courage

SHANNON, Ireland (UPI) — The British Air Ministry announced tonight that the air search has been abandoned for survivors of the Flying Tiger airliner that ditched in the Atlantic Sunday night.

"This was believed to have been given by the navigator of the aircraft whose position reporting, in running commentary were given to the passengers during those last few hideous moments before impact," a radio report from the Bonaventure said.

LONDON (AP) — American servicemen and their dependents calmly went through a "ditching drill" as their Flying Tiger airliner plunged into the stormy Atlantic.

The heroic story of courage in the last fateful moments before the crash landing of the Super Constellation in darkness Sunday night was told today by some of the 48 survivors—44 men and four women.

Twelve of the 76 persons aboard the four-engine chartered airliner are known dead. Bodies of 10 men and two women were recovered.

Sixteen, including two children, are missing.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman said at noon: "There is little hope that any more survivors will be found unless a raft is remaining afloat somewhere."

The captain of the plane—described as a hero by others—said his crew of eight and the 68 passengers were brave and magnificent when he told them he had to ditch.

There was no panic and this averted a greater loss of life.

Survivors aboard the Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure and the tiny Swiss freighter Celerina told of the last minutes as the plane dropped toward the tossing waves 500 miles west of Ireland.

"Ditching drill, advice and a sense of obligation and responsibility to our country and to the work which joins us."

"Basic to the defense and preservation of America is a free and responsible press; and under press I include radio and television."

"Our job is to gather and disseminate truthful news, to background and illuminate it for better understanding, and to comment on it with independence and candor. . . . There can be no better contribution to a republic."

We urge the seven members of the City Commission and the city attorney to read and reread Mr. Miller's words. He epitomizes the thoughts of 180-million Americans—plus our forefathers. We urge the Pontiac City Commission and the city attorney to step in line with the rest of the nation and rescind the current resolution which denies taxpayers, the public and The Press free access to police records.

The whole thing's completely un-American.

Russia Doesn't . . . We Must Treasure Press Freedom

Paul Miller, president of the big Gannett newspaper group and first vice president of the Associated Press, is one of the top newspapermen in the world. The Gannett Co. includes 20 important publications plus some radio stations.

Mr. Miller recently returned from a trip to Russia, and he just delivered a stirring talk to Gannett newspapermen in Rochester. He opened his cogent and thought-provoking speech with the following words:

"This summer I saw at first hand what it means to live and work where freedom of the press and freedom of speech are unknown; where the people for the most part, are permitted to know only what their rulers wish them to know, to see only what their rulers wish them to see, to go only where their rulers wish them to go, to live only where their rulers wish them to live. I returned with a deeper appreciation of America and all that America stands for—and with a renewed

Living Costs Stay at Record Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs remained unchanged in August at the record level set in July.

Prices for food, housing, medical care and personal care all averaged unchanged for the month.

Higher costs for used cars and gasoline and for reading and recreation items were balanced out by the usual late summer drop in clothing prices due to end of season sales.

ON MISSION — It's a long walk from Los Angeles, says Peace Pilgrim as she pauses to look at the Courthouse being razed in Pontiac. This is her third time around the country. Gray-haired Miss Pilgrim has devoted her life to "walking for peace." It was in 1953 when she first set out.

She Stumps the Land on Peace Quest

By DICK HANSON

Peace Pilgrim is a marathon walker who isn't out to break any records although she already has covered 20,700 miles since she started.

She has a mission — one she gave herself.

Miss Pilgrim, age "past 50," walks for peace.

Hands thrust, people stared as the little figure dressed in a navy blue sweat shirt, blue slacks and blue canvas shoes strode through downtown Pontiac yesterday.

"Peace Pilgrim" was emblazoned in white letters across the shirt front, and the back bore the message "Walking 25,000 Miles for World Peace" in equally large letters.

Only her gray hair bespoke Miss Pilgrim's age. She wouldn't have revealed her years to those she passed even if they'd had the effrontery to ask.

Nor would she reveal her former name or many facts about her former life.

"I have no dependents and have a legal right to use my present name," she said.

What Miss Pilgrim wants to talk about is peace; and she is willing to talk with anyone on the subject.

"Walking is a form of prayer for me," she explained, "and is intended to inspire others to work for peace in their own way."

West Says Soviets Want Tense Berlin

WASHINGTON (U)—The Western powers accused the Soviet Union today of showing a "desire to maintain tension in Berlin" and "to divert attention from the brutal activities of the East German regime."

Notes replying to a Soviet communication of Sept. 5 were delivered in Moscow today. The State Department said those from Britain and France were identical to that of the United States.

Bearing particularly on the points of the Soviet rejection of four-power talks on Berlin and Kremlin accusations of western provocations in the German city, the U.S. note said it is "manifestly unreasonable" for the Soviet government to accuse the United States of fomenting trouble in Berlin and to turn down western appeals for a four-power conference.

"In opposing such a discussion of the situation in Berlin, the Soviet government must bear a heavy responsibility and evidence thereby its desire to maintain tension in Berlin," the note went on.

In New York Secretary of State Dean Rusk said he expected the Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko today that shipment of Soviet arms and technicians to Cuba is causing a serious concern in the United States.

The two diplomats were meeting at a luncheon in Rusk's hotel suite for their first private talks since last July, when they conferred in Geneva during the conference on Laos.

The Berlin problem was high on their agenda along with the Cuban crisis, in which the Russians have been taking an active role in recent weeks.

The meeting is one of a series being held by Rusk with foreign ministers and other diplomats in New York for the U.N. General Assembly.

British Urge Shipowners to Halt Cuba Arms Traffic

From Our News Wire—The British government today urged shipowners to avoid carrying arms to Fidel Castro's Cuba. The plea was made by Transport Minister Ernest Marples in a letter to the 80 members of the British Association of Shipping.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has appealed to North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies to shut off the use of their ships to transport Communist goods to Cuba.

U.S. shipping interests, meanwhile, with the support of water-level unions and some commercial firms, are pressing for a free-world boycott of Russian cargoes bound for Communist-infiltrated Cuba.

The American Shipowners' Association and the National Maritime Union spearheaded the drive with appeals to international organizations in their fields to cooperate in such a boycott.

The NMU also ordered its members and affiliates to "keep hands off all cargo for Cuba." In some harbors, picket lines are already backing up the union's stand.

CARRYING CARGO

In Ottawa, a reliable informant said eight Canadian-owned ships have been carrying cargo between the Soviet Union and Cuba in the past 12 months.

Some of the ships have been operating a regular shuttle service between ports in the Soviet Union and Cuba, the source added. The ships are owned by Canadians but registered under the British flag.

Britain's Marples acted after consultation with the Foreign Office. His action was urged only, government sources explained.

A Foreign Office spokesman told newsmen that British arms and military equipment had not been sent to Cuba for the past two years.

As far as the British government is concerned, the ships are required to carry contraband from Communist countries to Cuba have also avoided transporting arms.

Britain, with a big financial stake in sea trading, is not willing to participate in a general trade blockade of Cuba, however.

The U.S. government is cool to the campaign in this country for a boycott. But some key legislators have proclaimed their support.

Some warranties have protected only the original purchaser, but GM says its new one will cover subsequent owners within the time and mileage limits.

3 Officers Shot in Mob Action

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A shotgun blast from the darkness early today wounded three St. Louis County police officers who were trying to disperse an unruly crowd of some 300 persons in suburban Kinloch.

A civilian, Anthony Williams, 24, a Negro who was sitting in a parked car near the mob scene, received superficial wounds.

The crowd was protesting the killing Sunday of a man by a Kinloch policeman.

Firearms of violence have been occurring ever since the Sunday shooting in the Negro community of 8,500. Both the man killed and the policeman were Negroes.

Shotgun Blast Hits Police Trying to Quiet Crowd Near St. Louis

Firemen went Monday night and early today in several vacant buildings, a school, and a new home being built by the Kinloch chief of police as the mob got out of hand.

Police questioned more than 70 persons and gave three lie detector tests following the shooting. All were released.

A blaze in the home of Kinloch police officer Thomas was extinguished before it caused serious damage.

SCHOOL BURNED OUT

But a five-room frame wing of Dunbar grade school burned out and there was no school today for 1,000 children.

None of the three wounded officers, patrolmen Billy Rushing, 33, Hugh Hodges, 28, and Kenneth Armstrong, 29, were critically injured. Rushing returned to duty. The others remained in County Hospital under observation. All are white.

Kinloch Mayor Clarence Lee said "brevity never even hinders" because of the killing of Darnell Dorch, 20, by a Kinloch patrolman, Israel Mason, 74, touched off the violence.

Mason, suspended pending a coroner's investigation, said he was trying to subdue Dorch and his gun went off accidentally. The officer said Dorch had refused to accept a cardless driving warrant.

The officers who were wounded were among the 85 summoned to the seven-man Kinloch force in dispersing a mob that gathered at a drive-in cafe near the Kinloch police station.

At times the mob chanted: "We want Mason!"

Throughout the night, Kinloch volunteer firemen answered fire calls and put each blaze out, even saving the main brick building of the grade school.

The fire, authorities said, were the work of arsonists.

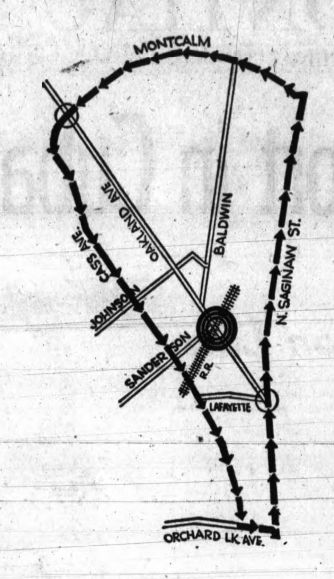

The shooting ended the mob scene. Officers separated groups of persons, mostly young Negro men, into groups of 10 and 25, questioned them and then let them go in twos and threes to their homes.

This morning, the town was silent. A few people looked out windows and stood in doorways, but the streets were clear.

Mayor Lee and Chief Hoskins are Negroes as are all police, firemen and city officials. The city clerk said she knew of no white families living in Kinloch at present.

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP
Will Pay $73.59 Per Assessed $1,000

Waterford Township taxpayers will pay a total tax of $73.59 per $1,000 as assessed in 1962, the same as the 1961 rate.

Members of the Waterford Township Board last night voted a millage levy of 1.42 for 1963 which amounts to $3.17 per $1,000 as assessed. It represents an increase of 32 mills over the 1962 rate of $2.85 per $1,000 as assessed.

This increase balances out the decrease of 22 mills in the county and school tax rates.

Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson presented preliminary 1963 budget figures to the board for study last week based on 1963 budget requests of the various township departments.

A proposed budget must be prepared by Oct. 22. A public hearing on it is scheduled for Oct. 23.

Preliminary figures indicate a balance of $12,288.12 at the end of 1963. This compares to an anticipated Dec. 31, 1962 balance of $61,567.25.

"The year-end 1963 balance is lower than desired," Johnson said, "but we didn't want the total tax rate over the present rate."

Johnson indicated that when he and board members review the various department requests during the next two weeks, some curtailments will likely be made.

Both the police and fire departments are requesting additional men as well as increases in pay.

The police department seeks a budget of $185,790 in 1963 compared to its present budget of $114,826. The fire department is asking for an increase from $98,100 to $133,400.

Total 1963 budget requests of all departments amount to $114,286 over the present budget requirements.

NY Negro Attended U. of Mississippi

NEW YORK (U)—A fair-complected Negro who passes for white has disclosed he spent nine months as a student at the all-white University of Mississippi in 1945-46.

"Right now," he said today, "they're fighting a battle they don't know they lost years ago."

Harry S. Murphy Jr., 35, was referring to the current battle over admitting James H. Meredith, 29, a Negro, to Ole Miss.

Murphy, a native of Atlanta, where his father is in the printing business, is doing similar work in New York where he has lived the past nine years.

The New York Times said University of Mississippi file showed that Murphy had been a student there in 1945-46.

Murphy said his race was never questioned when he entered Ole Miss and lived on the Oxford campus as a Navy V-12 student.

The officials specifically named in the order were selected only as representatives of the numerous individuals who hold such posts throughout the state.

Specifically, the order prohibits the officials from "interfering with or obstructing by any means or in any manner" the registration of Meredith.

It also bars the state officials from "obstructing, by force, threat, arrest or otherwise, any officer or agent of the United States in the performance of duties in connection with" the enrollment of Meredith.

The order, under an earlier appeals court directive that the state of Mississippi must not bring prosecution against Meredith "under any statute, ordinance, rule or regulation whatever," stemmed from his attempts to enroll at the university.

The Day in Birmingham

Superintendent of Parks Named to Post in Oregon

BIRMINGHAM — The superintendent of Birmingham's Parks and Forestry Department, Charles W. Gale, yesterday was appointed director of a three-county parks system in Oregon.

Gale, 37, of 1094 Stephen Ave., Clawson, has served as parks and forestry superintendent here since September, 1955. He will take over his new position Nov. 1.

As director of Salem Area Regional Parks, Gale will be in charge of park development in Salem, Marion and Polk counties.

He succeeds Harold Schick, who recently was named Oregon State Parks director.

The City Commission last night approved recommendations of City Manager L. R. Gare and City Engineer William T. Killen on three relief sewer projects in Birmingham.

A proposed budget must be scheduled a week at its meeting next date for a public hearing on construction of the proposed Ruffner relief sewer.

The engineering department was directed by the commission to review existing plans for the Cummings relief sewer and to make a preliminary survey of residential areas in the area to determine the need for a new relief sewer.

Peace, Progress Called Great Aims by Nehru

LAGOS, Nigeria (U)—Prime Minister Nehru of India said yesterday the two great problems of this age are preservation of peace and development of the world's less advanced countries.

Nehru made a 35-minute address to a joint sitting of both houses of the Nigerian parliament.

"My friends thought I was crazy, but I've never been happier than when the highway is my home," he said.

He said he hasn't been obliged to sleep out-of-doors since arriving in Michigan in late August.

"I've been lucky," she said. "Although I never ask for anything, people have given me a bed and food to eat."

Elsewhere, the living hasn't always been so good, Miss Pilgrim admitted.

"I crawled into a packing box under a bridge one night to sleep out of the rain," she said.

"When it gets cold, I stuff newspapers under my shirt for added warmth... I'm healthier now than when I was 20."

Asked if she's stop walking when she reaches 25,000 miles, Miss Pilgrim replied, "If there is peace in the world."

Chevrolet Features Angular Lines

Sharply cut, angular lines distinguish the Chevrolet passenger car lines for 1963.

While these styling changes are apparent in the large-size, medium and compact classes, the Corvette sports car presents two entirely new bodies and new chassis.

Thirty-three models in all four categories will go on sale in Chevrolet dealerships on Friday.

Dealers in this area include Matthews-Hargrave, Inc., of 633 Oakland Ave.; Homer Hight Motor Sales of 101 S. Washington St.; Oxford; and Haskins Chevrolet, Inc. at M-15, Clarkston.

CHEVROLETS

In the regular Chevrolet line, the 13 models in the Impala, Bel Air and Biscayne series show a sleek, longer look with all-new styling.

The Impala sport sedan has a sleek, new roofline and an optional vinyl top is available for the Impala sport coupe.

Fifteen solid colors and eleven two-tone combinations are available in the regular Chevrolets. Interiors of the cars are entirely new and more luxurious.

A new, six-cylinder 160-horsepower engine, higher in horsepower and yet 25 per cent lighter than its 1962 counterpart, teams with a revised 238 cubic inch V-8 engine for engines ranging from 140 to 425 horsepower.

CHEVY II

In its second year on the market, Chevy II continues the basic styling with a new grille and wide hood and deck lid emblems to give a more massive look to the car. There are new body side moldings for the 300 and Nova 400 series.

Chevy II offers Super Sport options on its Nova 400 sport coupe and convertible, featuring bucket seats and all-vinyl interiors. Fifteen solid colors and 11 two-tone combinations are available on ten models in three series.

CORVAIR

Chevrolet's distinctive small car, the Corvair, enters its fourth year on the market with an ever-growing following among those who want a sports car feel in a less-expensive car.

Styling changes are confined to ornamentation and molding details.

There are eight models, ranging from the Monza Spyder convertible to two models of the popular Corvair Greenbrier sports wagon. Fifteen solid colors plus two-tone combinations are offered.

CORVETTE

In its tenth year on the market, the Corvette is redesigned and engineered for the first time. In addition to the convertible (with optional hardtop) model offered in the past, there is a new "fast-back" sport coupe.

For the first time, Corvette offers optional power steering, power brakes and air-conditioning for the customer who wants a sports car but also wishes to retain conveniences.

Shelby OKs Bond Issue for Hospital Expansion

SHELBY (U)—A $90,000 bond issue to finance construction of a 20-bed addition to Shelby Hospital here was approved yesterday by a 55-to-04 vote.

The State Health Department ruled last year that the present hospital in this Oceana County town was too small and ordered it closed unless its facilities were expanded.

Ex-Alcoholics to Meet for 'Sober Talk'

LANSING — A legion of once-lost souls will convene here this weekend.

They will talk about having "found themselves" and of "climbing out of the pit," about "the new life" and "being born again."

But they'll flare up ready to argue if someone calls them "religious."

These are Michigan's members of Alcoholics Anonymous, a curious (to many) conglomeration of bums and socialites, ex-convicts and clergymen, bankers and barbers, beauticians and brokers, housewives and laborers.

They will come from every county in the state, each willing to testify and ready to listen to "sober talk" and they will drink coffee by the carload.

They will marvel that it was only 23 years ago that the broken, mentally tortured son of a once-wealthy Grosse Pointe family,

Spanish Prisoners

Commemorate Feast

MADRID — The Feast of Our Lady of Mercy, patroness of Spanish prisoners, was commemorated in all of Spain's prisons yesterday by allowing children of the prisoners to spend the day with them.

Some prisoners serving minor sentences were released.

Archie T., returned to Detroit after a stay in the first AA "home" in Akron, Ohio, and began to try to help other drunks to sober up while peddling shirts for a meager living. He died more than a year ago — sober for all the 23 years.

And they will rub elbows with one of the first Michigan men to listen to Archie — Mike E., of Detroit, now a well-to-do business man who has not had a drink in the 23 years since he teamed up with Archie.

And with a quiet fervor, they will reaffirm to each other that "the program" which has sobered up some 4,000 drunks in Michigan and more than 200,000 in the world is the "way of life."

They will talk about "slips" and how to avoid them, of how they first heard of AA and how it has "changed everything," and they will tell fantastic stories of tortuous nights in jail cells and mental institutions and alcoholic hospitals that will make Edgar Allen Poe's output sound like nursery tales.

The occasion will be the 10th annual conference of AA in Michigan.

OPEN TO PUBLIC

Unlike most AA meetings, closed to all except those with drinking problems in search of a solution, the conference sessions will be open to the public.

Relatives of alcoholics, most of them affiliated with Alcoholics Anonymous, will attend the meetings and hear, among others, the stories of a recovered alcoholic, his Alano wife and his Alano daughter from New York City.

Also scheduled to speak are such recovered alcoholics as a doctor from Detroit who has guided hundreds to sobriety, a judge from Des Moines, Iowa, and a housewife from Lexington, Ky.

They will hear a message from

Japan, Red China Improve Relations

HONG KONG (AP)—Efforts to bring about normal diplomatic relations between Japan and Red China are being pursued by the Japanese Parliament said Monday after a 10-day visit to mainland China.

Kenzo Matsumura, who is also an adviser to the Japanese Liberal Democratic party, said he was very satisfied with the outcome of his visit and that it had helped to clear some misunderstandings between the two countries in connection with trade.

Gov. Swainson, heralding their movement as "among the miracles of our time," and Lansing's mayor Willard L. Bowerman Jr. will personally extend greetings (all then he has proclaimed an "AA Week in Lansing.")

Unlike the situation at most conferences, there will be no resolutions to argue about, no positions on political issues, no quests for new legislation, no appeals for social action.

Meetings will begin with a short prayer, an affirmation that "our primary purpose is to stay sober and to help the alcoholic who still suffers to achieve sobriety" and will be closed with the Lord's Prayer.

'PERSONAL INVENTORY'

There will be repetition of the phrase "being honest with ourselves," repeated references to "a higher power," talk of "personal inventory" and "carrying the message."

Almost unbroken in conversations will be the mysterious, often misunderstood tradition of anonymity. To the average on-looker, it might seem that these AA's don't want their last names used because they are ashamed.

AA members find it a little hard to explain to newcomers, and especially to outsiders, that they feel obligated to maintain their anonymity "at the level of press, radio and television" because as individuals, they can claim no credit for their sobriety.

Rather, they will say they found sobriety only after they admitted that as individuals trying to handle matters without help they were powerless over alcohol and their lives had become unmanageable and they "came to believe" a power greater than themselves could restore us."

Now for 1963... GENERAL MOTORS WARRANTY covers the entire new car or truck for 24 months or 24,000 miles!

Except for tires and tubes and those adjustments or part replacements recognized as normal maintenance items, every part manufactured or supplied by General Motors in every new 1963 Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick and Cadillac passenger car and in every new 1963 Chevrolet and GMC truck is covered by the General Motors NEW VEHICLE WARRANTY—for 24 months or 24,000 miles from original retail purchase, whichever comes first—whether owned by the original purchaser or a subsequent owner.

Here in big print is the complete warranty for Chevrolet. It is the same for the other 1963 General Motors cars and trucks. The liberal features of this warranty have been made possible by General Motors leadership in the field of automotive research, engineering and production. You are invited to read it in full.

NEW VEHICLE WARRANTY

Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors Corporation, as Manufacturer, warrants each new motor vehicle and chassis including all equipment and accessories thereon (except tires and tubes), manufactured or supplied by Chevrolet Motor Division and delivered to the original retail purchaser by an authorized Chevrolet Dealer, to be free from defects in material and workmanship under normal use and service; Chevrolet Motor Division's obligation under this warranty being limited to repairing or replacing at its option any part or parts thereof which shall, within twenty-four (24) months after delivery of such vehicle or chassis to the original retail purchaser or before such vehicle or chassis has been driven twenty-four thousand (24,000) miles, whichever event shall first occur, be returned to an authorized Chevrolet Dealer at such Dealer's place of business and which examination shall disclose to Manufacturer's satisfaction to have been thus defective. The repair or replacement of defective parts under this warranty will be made by such Dealer without charge for parts, and if made at such Dealer's place of business, without charge for labor.

The provisions of this warranty shall not apply to any Chevrolet motor vehicle or chassis which has been subject to misuse, negligence or accident, or which shall have been repaired or altered outside of an authorized Chevrolet dealership in any way so as, in the judgment of Manufacturer, to affect adversely its performance and reliability, nor to normal maintenance services (such as engine tune up, fuel system cleaning and wheel, brake and clutch adjustments) and the replacement of service items (such as spark plugs, ignition points, filters and brake and clutch lining) made in connection with such services, nor to normal deterioration of soft trim and appearance items due to wear and exposure.

This warranty is expressly in lieu of any other warranties, express or implied, including any implied warranty of merchantability or fitness for a particular purpose, and of any other obligations or liability on the part of the Manufacturer, and Chevrolet Motor Division neither assumes nor authorizes any other person to assume for it any other liability in connection with such motor vehicle or chassis.

Virile Bernstein's the Perry Como of the Longhair Set

(Editor's Note — Music, Leonard Bernstein discovered, has charms to soothe more than the savage beast. How he has introduced sex appeal to serious music is described in this second article of a series.)

By PHYLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK — Leonard Bernstein has a genius for more than making music. He has a formidable genius for attracting women—women of all ages, sizes and occupations.

Houseswives, lured into watching his facile face and agile physique on his television concerts, write adoring letters. Matrons and little girls alike sardine themselves around stage doors through which Bernstein is likely to emerge after a concert. "He exudes sex appeal," wrote a news magazine some years ago, "like a lecher."

was followed by a more specific account: "When he decides to give somebody the full charge of charm, the eyes glow like roals that have been blown on the educated nostrils (are just the least little bit, and the rich low cello voice begins to murmur intelligently."

And then, add to his intelligence and sensitivity, his muscles. Talulah Bankhead was the first, on record, to admire his physique. When Bernstein was only a talented student conductor at Tanglewood, in his early 20s, Talulah watched him lead a final afternoon rehearsal for an evening concert. "Dahling," she is said to have told him, "I have gone mad over your back muscles. You must come and have dinner with me."

Protesting that he had a strenuous performance coming up in a very few hours, Bernstein allowed himself to be swept off in her car to a nearby restaurant. They talked, ate and drank. Until, at 8 o'clock, according to a Bernstein biography, the concerned genius discovered he "was having trouble focusing his eyes."

He raced back, dressed, and arrived at the Tanglewood grounds just in time to take the podium.

Proving that females can fall for, but never floor, him — young Bernstein gave, as always, a masterful performance.

— Since that precarious episode in a quarter-century career of diligent, fervent work, there is no record of any escapade, however harmless, with the adoring sex. He is a devoted husband to his wife of 11 years, beautiful ex-TV actress Felicia Montealegre, who, incidentally, reacted as all the other women have when, to their dismay, they were attracted to him instantly — without reasoning why.

he is almost constantly in a high fever of activity. Lemmy, like the fictional Sammy, runs — happily, to be sure, because he enjoys almost every moment of his personal and professional duties — but it is nonetheless swift, tiring running.

Even those who disapprove of Bernstein's multiple activities seem to agree he is not running for the sheer pursuit of more power or fame or money; the usual goals that spur the adrenal glands. But rather because there is so much he wants to do, knows he CAN do, in the world of the arts he devours by loves. And there's so little time.

FIERCE ENERGY

And he has a fierce energy, pushing him. Wife Felicia said once that he even "plays too hard." With their three children, he is running. He "drowns them too high, squeezes them too tight."

Lemmy, himself, hinted some time ago that perhaps he was spreading his talents too thin. "In the next year or two, when I grow up," he is quoted, "I'll have to decide what to do. It used to come so easy. Now I get tired."

On another occasion, after a hectic day of business accomplishment and a night of continuing followed by a party, he found himself in his bedroom at 3 a.m. After looking at the next day's schedule, he cried, "My God! Who do I think I am — everybody?"

There are a number of people who think that "everybody" who can do "everything" is exactly what Bernstein is. He is constantly surrounded by a cordon of assistants, relatives, friends, agents and musicians, humble and undisciplined or successful.

Hostesses beseech him to come to parties, and he accepts because he loves parties. He loves people. He apparently loves publicity (at a Philharmonic rehearsal this week, he saw his picture on the cover of a magazine and grinned with obvious self-enchantment). And he loves being just what he is — the gregarious, admired, revered, in-demand man of talent who has struck it big because he deserved to.

"Lemmy is voracious in every way," wife Felicia said. "He has an enormous capacity for enjoyment. It's very alive-making."

The millions of men, women, and adoring (even possessive) children who have seen him feel that alive, and it makes them, and the music, and the man a very real single entity. They love him. And this is how Bernstein has said he and deeply moving experience. Love and art are two ways of communicating. That's why art is so close to love. . . . (Tomorrow: How it all began.)

Bernstein uses words a man can get hold of. "She is," he said, describing Bizet's Carmen, "a true beauty."

He may be "talking down" to the apprentice music-lover, but the apprentice doesn't realize it.

Other attractions of the versatile Bernstein—a quietly brash charm, a not-overly handsome face, a taut athlete's physique and, most important, an ability to communicate in a genial, friendly manner giving the false impression that he's your nonchalant buddy — the Perry Como of the longhair set.

Actually, Bernstein is not nonchalant. Because he is devoted to everything musical, and because he has so much talent and so many things he still wants to do,

Convict W. German of Treason, Spying

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—Peter Fuhrmann, 47, West German defense official, was convicted yesterday of treason and spying for the Soviet Union and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

The court gave Fuhrmann the full sentence demanded by the prosecution. Time spent in prison since his arrest in November 1961, is to be deducted.

Ghana's Chief Losing Popularity

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst

President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana has a number of distinctions, including at least one he is not proud of.

It is the name "Ganyefo" by which he likes to be known and which means "the redeemer."

But there are at least some who disagree with this benevolent title for the first Negro prime minister of a British colony and first president of the first colonial territory in tropical Africa to achieve independence, has become increasingly evident in recent days.

TO SEARCH HOMES

Over the weekend in Accra, Ghana's capital, Nkrumah's government proclaimed a state of emergency which just about ended what privacy Ghanaians had left in Nkrumah's drive to establish himself as an absolute ruler.

The proclamation permitting search of private homes "in the public interest" was attributed to a bomb explosion, of which there have been several in recent weeks.

A-Energy Agency Rejects Red China

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) today again turned down an East bloc bid to win membership for Communist China to the 72-member organization.

The agency's credentials committee adopted with majority vote a U. S.-sponsored motion to take no action on proposals to change the representation of China during the sixth general conference.

The committee also adopted a U. S. motion to make no decision on the credentials submitted by Communist Hungary.

Hungary has been denied full membership in the agency ever since IAEA was set up in 1957, although the Hungarian delegate has a right to vote and in 1961-62 was a member of the policy making board of governors and one of its vice chairmen.

Walter Reed Hospital Using Nuclear Reactor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Reed Hospital announced Monday it has started operating a nuclear research reactor that will be used in studying the biological effects of radiation.

The hospital's Institute of Research said the 50,000-watt unit is one of the largest in operation in a medical scientific installation.

Harlem, slept on Philadelphia park benches but at the same time managed to get himself a master's degree at the University of Pennsylvania.

Back at home on the African Gold Coast he went to jail for stirring up independence riots.

In his foreign policy he has managed to live, off the best of two worlds.

He has declared himself a Marxist-Socialist but has warned against bracketing anti-communism with communism.

In his foreign policy he has managed to live, off the best of two worlds.

On Aug. 1, a bomb exploded close to Nkrumah's car while he was traveling through northern Ghana.

Last week, two bomb explosions injured a number of persons on the eve of Nkrumah's 53rd birthday. As a result, birthday celebrations were canceled.

DISLIKES CRITICISM

Nkrumah is a man who does not like to be criticized.

The record is filled with deportation orders against his opponents, ranging from opposition political leaders to tribal chieftains. Ghanaians may be imprisoned for periods up to five years without trial if their actions are considered prejudicial to the defense of Ghana, to relations with other countries or to Ghana's security.

Special courts can order the death penalty for unlawful assembly. Criticism of Nkrumah can draw heavy fines and prison terms.

As the leader of the first of the Black African countries to achieve independence after World War II, Nkrumah has been able to wield an influence far out of proportion to his country's size or importance.

His ambitions extend far beyond Ghana to leadership of an African union to prevent what he calls the "Balkanization" of Africa.

Nkrumah spent 10 lean years in the United States from 1935 to 1945 during which he sold fish in MUNICH (AP) — An under-estimated amount of mail was destroyed Monday by fire which razed the combination post office-library in the Village of Forest Lake in Alger County.

Sen. Roberts Hopeful of Romney's Election

State Senator FARRELL ROBERTS sees bright clouds on the horizon with GEORGE ROMNEY's campaign for Governor.

ROBERTS feels a ground swell of public feeling for the Bloomfield Hills candidate in an upsurge of enthusiasm spreading throughout the State.

Following a tour of the State, which took him to all corners and all political camps, Roberts dismissed his earlier pessimism about the GOP chances in November.

As he is an insider and a man possessed of considerable political acumen, we respect ROBERTS' estimation of the situation and we heartily concur.

More and more in the campaign which surrounds us daily, we note the divergence of previously Democratic-committed groups and individuals.

Also noted in ROBERTS' evaluation is the important role of Mrs. ROMNEY, who is almost as busy on the trail of votes and voters as her husband is. The GOP got two good ambassadors when it nominated GEORGE ROMNEY. LENORE was the bonus.

ROBERTS looks beyond capturing the top position in the State. He envisions a Republican-controlled legislature which will support ROMNEY's program for pulling the State out of the SWAINSON-WILLIAMS hole and back up to its rightful position.

If the die-hard Republicans who failed to support Paul Bagwell will pitch in sincerely, the GOP in Michigan will truly have a long overdue resurgence.

Ordinance Protects Waterford Diners

After a good deal of consideration, the Waterford Township Board has adopted a food handlers ordinance which may protect the eating public from a few internal pains.

It's another step in the development of the township and the protection of those who live and dine there. Waterford is currently studying the pros and cons of becoming a city, having already moved up a notch to the charter township status at the September 1961 election.

The aim of the ordinance is greater sanitation in the eating establishments of that area. This is commendable.

Other townships which have taken these measures to protect their residents are Farmington and Independence. Officials there are also interested in taking the precautions which insure the public of good food and little or no indigestion.

Waterford is a growing community and consideration of the man behind the dinner plate is just one indication of this growth.

Russians Don't Bother to Tell of Failures

To have factual records the truth must be made known, and we are reasonably certain this is not the case with Russia. Scientific devices show that she errs like everyone else.

One of the disturbing things about the rocket race has been the regularity with which the Russians put their hardware in orbit seemingly without difficulty.

The American familiarity with batting averages made the Soviet record seem a bit spooky.

Some recent space detective work, however, seems to prove that the Russians strike out, just like our team. The only difference is they don't admit it.

There is every evidence that the Reds tried to get off a Venus shot July 26. It was watched on radar until it suddenly blew into four parts.

The spacecraft probably was headed for Venus, to beat our attempt, and got nowhere.

Football Contest Mixes Gloom Along With Hope

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

When the avalanche of entries for the Football Contest, reminder of a winter blizzard raging in from the West, had been sorted, counted and checked, U. D. was a lopsided favorite to take the first of the 15-game Press schedule. A sizeable number, however, called a tie.

Unhappily for Mich'ganders, the Titans were unable to translate their pre-game voter dominance into a gridiron performance matching it. They lost, 27 to 0.

As the huge pile of entry-bearing mail was opened, there were several bits of relief from routine. Many enclosed warm notes of thanks to The Press for conducting these annual contests, which the MAT gratefully acknowledges.

One entrant suggests that since the men have been such consistent losers, a consolation prize should be provided for the unlucky sex. We agree, and suggest that a racoon coat, pretty de rigueur for football circa 1920, be de-mothed and accordingly presented.

And one envelope contained a curl of blonde hair, into which the MAT was smugly inclined to read a bit of romantic significance—at which Mrs. M. emitted a dainty sniff. (A sniff, you know, is a woman's way of saying NUTS!)

So, we now reorganize the weekly count down for next Saturday's meeting between Minnesota and Missouri. Contestants left in the running now stand:

"10 GUARANTEED WAYS TO RAISE A BRAT"

EIGHT SIMPLE RULES

1. Don't let him "suffer" the way you did. Give him everything he wants.

2. Don't force him to do anything he doesn't "feel like" doing—you'll frustrate him. This is known as Shnoek's Law.

3. Let him pick his own menu and be sure to serve him first. Daddy can wait—after all he's only a relative by marriage.

4. Always defend him against teachers, policemen, and other children. They don't understand him. (They can't even STAND him.)

5. Give up all your own interests in favor of his. There's nothing a kid needs more than a 40-year-old pal.

6. Keep him out of school at the slightest pretext. (And don't forget to teach him to sign your name to a phony excuse. It's good practice for forgery later on.)

7. Shower him with presents to prove you love him. All a kid needs is love and securities.

8. Don't "exploit" him by making him run errands or help around the house. After all he didn't bring you into the world to work for YOU.

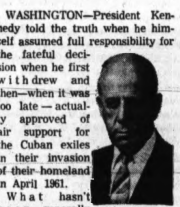

(This gem came without even the senders name, therefore we can't give credit.)

David Lawrence 'Answers':

Why Did Cuban Invasion Fail?

LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy told the truth when he himself assumed full responsibility for the fateful decision when he first with drew and then—when it was too late—actually approved of air support for the Cuban exiles in their invasion of their homeland in April 1961.

What hasn't been generally known, however, is how he came to make the mistake he did.

Certain Administration officials have conceded the accuracy of an article in U.S. News and World Report. It reads in part as follows:

"A fateful decision, made by President Kennedy on Sunday, April 16, 1961, is rising now to plague the U.S. On that Sunday evening, an armed force of Cuban refugees, trained by the United States, was at sea, sailing secretly to invade Fidel Castro's Cuba. The American President, a few hours earlier, had given final approval to that invasion."

"Only the day before, on April 15, a surprise attack by B26 bombing planes belonging to the invaders had knocked out all but seven planes of Castro's tiny air force."

"A second air strike was scheduled for Monday morning, April 17. It was to coincide with the landing of the invaders. It was supposed to finish the job of wiping out Castro's planes and to provide air support for the invasion."

"Secure in the assurance of air support, the invaders went ashore in the early-morning darkness of Monday, April 17. Their landing was successful: 1,600 armed men reached the beaches of a place called the Bay of Pigs."

"In the battle that followed, Castro's troops suffered heavy casualties. Castro's tanks, coming up to the battle, were sitting ducks for an attack by air. Confidently, the little invading force waited for its air support to arrive. Its leaders had assurance of that support. It was provided in the preinvasion planning."

SMALL, POTENT FORCE

"Hours before, on Sunday evening, a small but potent force of B26s was sitting in readiness on an airfield 500 miles away (in a Latin-American country), waiting to take off for the Bay of Pigs. Those were planes of the invasion force, with Cuban pilots. But those planes didn't take off. The reason: President Kennedy forbade their use."

"When the invasion began, in the pre-dawn hours of Monday, the need of air support became apparent. Worried, the nonmilitary officials in Washington who were running the invasion went to President Kennedy for a new decision. They suggested that U.S. Navy planes from a U.S. aircraft carrier be used to fly air support for the invaders....

"In the planning of the invasion—planning begun under the Eisenhower administration—the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff had recommended the use of U.S. air support. President Kennedy vetoed the idea. He insisted that there was to be no direct American participation. Now, with the outcome possibly hanging in the balance, military and nonmilitary men joined in renewing the plea."

"Once again, in the early-morning hours of Monday, April 17, President Kennedy made a fateful decision. He said 'No' to the use of U.S. planes....

"With no air support, the invasion soon began to run into trouble.... In the face of this situation, President Kennedy took the wraps off the Cuban fliers. On Monday noon he said they could go into action. But bad weather interfered at first. Finally, an air strike was set up for early Wednesday."

"On Tuesday, however, the situation continued to deteriorate.... By Tuesday night, April 18, a crisis was clearly at hand. Once again there was an appeal to President Kennedy."

JUST LONG ENOUGH

"This time the President relented slightly. He consented to using one carrier's planes for just one hour on Wednesday morning—just long enough to provide cover for the invaders to land some supplies and for their planes to make a quick strike. U.S. planes, still, were not to attack land targets. "Even this limited plan for U.S."

Area Citizens Continue to Write About Resolution

When I read the announcement about the commission, I felt I could no longer sit in my safe little corner and let the world go by. This action is the first toward a Communist state. Great men created a government "of the people, by the people and for the people" and established a Constitution granting freedoms, one of which is the freedom of speech. If we are denied freedoms then we lose and we dare not risk it.

Rev. Parker's incident is not of great importance. Sometimes the man who shouts the loudest about his innocence is creating a smoke screen. If this man can cause such action—what could be done by someone in public office in charge of our schools and our government?

We have a true and unbiased account from the press. The press is our eyes and from it we feel the pulse of our nation. If our press can only print a half-truth then we are blind. Let not sit by and watch this direct defiance of our Constitution. It requires action. Let us act.

A big "hip-hip-hurrah" to The Press for stating its views and the views of the general public and taxpayer.

We, the people, do have a right to know what is going on in our community and I'm glad we have a newspaper which is not afraid to print the news regardless of its nature.

If one man on the City Commission can run things as much as Milton Henry, what would happen if there were many more "Henry's" in the city, county and state government?

Mr. Henry is doing all people a disservice.

Keep up the good work, Pontiac Press and print everything and we will read it.

Thank you so much for your firm stand regarding the resolution of the City Commission to limit access to public records.

How do we citizens overcome this new threat to the management of our city? I never fail to vote, but feel useless and many of our Pontiac citizens feel the same.

What can one little person do? As long as you help by printing such announcements, let's all pray we can overcome this one-man rule.

The solution to the city hall mess is very simple. Mr. Henry just changes his mind, all his necktie lambs and sheep will follow him blindly and take their orders as usual.

Used Brain Weighs More, Scientists Say

By PHYLLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK — After a hard day's work at the office, or a few hours' strained reading over a difficult book, does your head begin to sag?

It figures. You've picked up some tidbits of information — and they're weighing down your brain.

This, of course, may be an exaggeration. But there ARE scientific indications today that the human brain actually gets heavier as a result of learning.

For many years, most scientists have thought that the brain remained the same, structurally, during the process of learning. Chemically, too, it was thought to stay status quo, even as intelligence seeped into it.

However, a group of biochemists at the University of California have made studies which indicate the brain is transformed remarkably as it becomes educated.

Of course, the studies were made on rats rather than humans — but anybody who thinks his brain structure differs markedly from a rat's is a snob.

The scientists divided rodents into two groups. One category was placed in an enriched environment, with companions, toys and mazes to learn to run through.

The second group was put in a restricted environment, without friends, fun or learning opportunities.

HEAVIER BRAINS
The animals' brains were analyzed after 80 days. And it was found that the first group had heavier cerebral cortices (outer covering of the brain).

It also was found that the lucky rats had more of an enzyme called cholinesterase flowing through the brain (a compound believed to be vital in the conduction of nerve impulses from nerve cell to nerve cell) than the deprived rats.

So if your head is heavy after a big day over a hot brainwave, remember the new saying: The old gray matter ain't what it used to be.

Speaking of educational processes, a British psychiatrist speaking over the BBC warned listeners that there is too much talk these days of "immaturity" among adults.

He said — and it's certainly just as true in American social circles as in Britain — that we tend to use the adjective "immature" as a derisive phrase for all forms of adult human "misbehavior," from refusal to conform to a neighborhood social code, to downright crime.

It is a correct word to use in some instances. But it is loosely used, and loses its validity, when you consider that "such a paragon as a completely mature individual has never existed" — and just as well.

WHY MATURITY?
"I am not certain, as most people conceive it, maturity is a very satisfactory ideal at which to aim," the doctor went on. "When one describes this condition of maturity, life itself, escapes."

With total maturity, all development and curiosity would stop.

"Although we may present an adult mask to the world, in us there is a child who never quite grows up. We may deplore our childishness — but we need it to keep us alive.

"Just as a child can never grow up properly unless it is accepted for what it is, so no one of us can live happily unless we can accept ourselves for what we are; and this must include the child within us which is always developing but which never completes its development."

Of course, some people are more "mature" than others — in the sense that, by middle age, they reach a kind of stability. And then become impervious to new experiences, inflexible. They have reached a kind of goal, and there's nowhere further to go. "It is better to be immature than immobile."

Actress Divorces Real Estate Man

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Mala Powers won a divorce from real estate man Monte Vanton after she testified he was so touchy she had to meet her mother at a service station.

Miss Powers, 30, said in Superior Court that Vanton, 41, "would come home with a chip on his shoulder" and run his finger over the furniture as if looking for dust.

Miss Powers was awarded the family home in Encino, $30,000 in assets and $1 a month token alimony. Vanton agreed to pay $125 a month support for his son Toren, 5.

Actually, it is used by various blocs to promote their special interests and upset the balance of world power in favor of the Soviet Union.

There is talk of using economic sanctions or force against Tashkent to make him submit, but the U.N. policy seems to be dominated more by the African-Asian extremists. If Williams did a lot of damage in Michigan, it is nothing to what he and Adlai Stevenson will do with reference to the Congo. If they continue to cater to Nkrumah and his pro-Soviet advisors by supporting the wrong leaders.

For President Kennedy to want to turn over so much authority to the U.N. is abominable and shows he is as blind as his present advisors.

Triple-Engine Failure Extremely Rare

Bad Fuel May Be Behind Ditching

By ROBERT J. SERLING

Junior Editors Quiz on COLORS

QUESTION: Why are some colors considered "cold" and others "hot"?

ANSWER: The different colors travel toward our eyes in vibrations of light called "lightwaves." Some waves are longer, others shorter; each color has a different "wave length."

The longer wave length colors are the very strong bright ones like scarlet, orange and yellow. Flame is orange and yellow; we step away when we see it; it seems close and of course is extremely hot.

So, it is quite natural for artists to speak of the long wave length colors as "warm" or "hot" colors. These are the ones on the right side of our color scale.

The colors on the other side are the shorter wave colors. Air always seems distant and cool; we think of our planet being cooled by its blanket of atmosphere.

Since the short rays of blue scatter more widely than the longer "hot" rays, the sky and distance has a bluish tone, and the distance gives it a cool feeling. In the picture, an art instructor is explaining to a student that to make the mountain look far away, enough cool colors should be used.

As you see by the color wheel, he means violet, blue and blue green.

FOR YOU TO DO: Paint a color picture with warm colors close up and cool colors far away. Green leaves or trees close up could be a warm yellow-green; but as they go further back in distance they become lighter and show the cool colors, such as blue green.

Nasser Sets Up Council for Administrative Help

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser has tapped his long time political aide, Aly Sabry, to head a new collective leadership as prime minister. Nasser will retain over-all power as chief of state in the United Arab Republic.

In a radio-television address to the nation Monday night, Nasser said he wanted to lay aside his administrative duties to devote more time to building what he calls an Arab brand of socialism.

The speech was billed in advance as filling in details of the national charter he announced last May. In that charter he promised to broaden his regime through collective leadership, free elections and an equitable distribution of wealth.

It was the broadest overhaul of government machinery since Nasser and his band of young officers sent King Farouk from the throne into exile with the coup of 1952.

Sabry was appointed head of a new Executive Council which collectively will assume executive power, Nasser said. In effect, this makes Sabry prime minister and chief of government.

Also created, however, was a presidency council headed by Nasser to have responsibility for policy and over-all planning.

The ditching resulted in the first fatalities ever to occur in a "controlled" water landing in the Atlantic by a U.S. scheduled airline since the carriers began flying landbased transports over the route 16 years ago.

There have been several ditchings in the Pacific, including one that cost the lives of all 56 passengers and a seven-man crew.

Involved was a Pan American World Airways Stratocruiser which disappeared Nov. 8, 1957, on a flight from San Francisco to Honolulu.

Only a few bodies and very little wreckage were found. But the victims were wearing lifejackets, indicating there had been advance warning of trouble and a likely ditching attempt.

The two most successful airliner ditchings also occurred in the Pacific.

The first was on Oct. 16, 1956, when Capt. Richard Ogg of Pan Am landed a crippled Stratocruiser in smooth water with not one of the 24 passengers and seven crewmembers even getting his feet wet.

A Northwest Orient Airlines DC-7C with 58 passengers and crew of seven ditched off Luzon in the Philippines July 14, 1960. There was only one fatality — an elderly woman passenger who died of shock and exposure.

Ditching a large aircraft is regarded as one of the most difficult maneuvers in aviation.

A plane hitting the water is exposed to greater shock forces than if it crashed on a cement runway. Most successful ditchings have taken place in relatively smooth water. Landing in choppy seas calls for the utmost skill.

Weep for Survivors, Victims of Crash

By The Associated Press

There were tears of joy and tears of sorrow. Prayers of thanks and even some mingling. And through it all was the waiting. That's how it was throughout the nation today as relatives of the 76 persons aboard a ditched Flying Tiger airliner received the news of how their next-of-kin had fared in the Atlantic crash off Ireland Sunday.

Some died. Some were rescued, and for their relatives the agonizing waiting continues. The minutes and hours tick by slowly, too, for families who know their loved ones were saved—but don't know if they were injured or how badly.

Robert Elander of Seattle, Wash., whose son, Maj. Carl R. Elander, survived the crash, heard that doctors were helping the injured. "That was the straw I kept hanging to," said the father.

In Fort Walton Beach, Fla., the mother and three brothers of Pvt. Larry Neville stayed at home Monday, waiting, praying and hoping. Then a daughter in Pittsburgh got word from a radio station that Larry was saved. "That part of our waiting was over," said Larry's mother, Mrs. Harold Neville. "We still don't know if he's hurt or anything, but at least he's alive."

In another part of Florida, at Cottage Hill, Ernest McGlothlen said he and his wife had "gone to pieces" when a telegram first came informing them that their son, Pvt. William McGlothlen, was on the downed plane. The tension was relieved when an Army chaplain phoned to report that William had survived.

For Mrs. Ernest L. Wilson of New Orleans "it was such an awful strain" all day while awaiting news on the fate of her youngest husband. One of their daughters, expecting a child, was kept from the fact that her father was aboard the crashed airliner. Then came the moment of relief: he had lived to tell about it.

In Russellville, Ark., too, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Thornberry "waited for word all day." Then it came, that their son, Gordon, an Army private, was rescued. "My wife and I believe something greater than human beings took part in this," said the elder Thornberry. But the wait was not over. "I'd give anything to know how he's doing, if he's injured," the father said.

"It's a terribly long day," Elander E. Davidson of Manchester, Md., echoed. "We're just waiting and listening." His son, Pvt. Larry Davidson, was among the plane survivors. "Thank God, that's the best news we've ever had," Mrs. George Hawkins of Birmingham, Ala., told a reporter who informed her that her Army private son, Robert, was alive.

In Chicago, emphatic emotions also greeted word that Pvt. Frank A. Ruffolo was safe. "We were all crying and overjoyed," said his sister, Connie. "We couldn't believe, at first, but then we just thanked God." "Oh, you're kidding!" exclaimed a sister of Pvt. Paul Stewart of Ardmore, Okla., when told her brother was picked up by rescue craft. Then she burst into tears. "Praise the Lord!" shouted Raymond Dawkins in Cowpens, S.C. His son, Pvt. Bobby Dawkins, also was rescued.

A note of irony tinged the news that James E. Garrett Jr., flight engineer on the stricken plane, perished. In South Norfolk, Va., his father recalled that Garrett had gone to work only temporarily for the Flying Tiger line when he and other flight engineers for Eastern Air Lines went on strike. Still more irony: a stewardess on the stricken, Ruth Mudd, 24, of Browns Mills, N.J., had received a notice of furlough from Flying Tiger a few days ago, her roommate said. Miss Mudd was making her last flight, having decided to quit flying when the furlough became effective. Now she is missing in the storm-tossed Atlantic. Another flight attendant on the ill-fated plane, Carol Ann Gould, 22, of Lyndhurst, N.J., wasn't supposed to be making the trip at all. She had a day off Sunday when the flight was scheduled.

When the airline called Carol's home prior to the flight, in need of another stewardess, her mother, Mrs. Edward Ziegler, "told them where she could be reached—at a girl friend's house. I was so sorry later," Mrs. Ziegler added. The self-reproachment ended when word came that Carol was saved. "I thank God my prayers were answered," her mother said. For the family of Pvt. Edward L. Apenel Jr., Palisades Park, N.J., "chances looked so slim that he could be rescued that we had given up hope." Now that the 19-year-old paratrooper has been found safe, "pandemonium has broken out here," Laden reported. "Everybody's so happy."

DUELS WITH INTRUDER — Discovering an intruder in their New York apartment, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Winston sprung into action. Mrs. Winston grabbed an 18th century Austrian cavalry saber from the wall and handed it to her husband. For 10 minutes he duelled the interloper who was armed with a dagger. The duel ended when the intruder tired of the old-world tussle and cooked Winston on the head with a hammer. Here they tell officers John O'Sullivan (left) and Roy Hayes about the incident.

'59 Army Study Still a Secret

Document Concerning Man on Moon by '65 Reviewed: Many Times

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 1959 Army study on putting men on the moon by 1965 has had 10 security reviews by three agencies, been scissored in half by censors and is still under security wraps.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of a House Government Information Subcommittee, wants to know why. It was learned Monday that Moss has asked Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to explain why the document, a report on "Project Horizon," still is closed to the public.

Moss said that on Aug. 3, 1961, the House Science and Astronautics Committee asked McNamara for a classified version of the Project Horizon study after the Army itself recommended it be declassified.

LOTS OF CHECKING

Since then, Moss wrote McNamara, his subcommittee staff has been informed the report has gone through a mill of security reviews by the Army, the Office of Defense Research and Engineering, and the State Department.

"The subcommittee was informed that on Sept. 12, 1962, the State Department finally recommended against release of a revised version of the report," Moss said.

The Associated Press obtained access to the study last week and reported that the Army contended more than three years ago that anything short of being first on the moon "would be catastrophic."

The burglar tried to cook one of the hamburger patties on the restaurant grille, but it was found burned to a crisp when restaurant owners opened the place Sunday.

Mixes Business, Pleasure

Ayub Khan Sets Talks Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ayub Khan of Pakistan mixed business with pleasure today, arranging talks with U. S. defense officials and a horseback ride with the First Lady.

Ayub arrived yesterday from Newport, R. I. where he conferred for three hours with President Kennedy. He planned to go to New York tomorrow to address the U. N. General Assembly.

His schedule today called for breakfast with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and then meetings with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Foreign Aid Administrator Foster Hamilton.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, who became good friends with Ayub when she visited Pakistan last spring invited him to ride this afternoon at her Glen Ora, Va., estate. Ayub accepted.

JOINT STATEMENT

At the end of their meeting yesterday, Ayub and Kennedy issued a joint communique stating that since they had last met a year ago "the threat to world peace has remained grave and that the free nations must continue to cooperate."

Details of the talks were not disclosed.

It was learned, however, that the discussion included a review of the world situation in general, including Southeast Asia, India-Pakistan relations, the Kashmir problem, and the Common Market.

The question of more U. S. defense aid to Pakistan was not discussed, but was likely to come up in today's talks with McNamara.

Sitting in on the defense talks were Phillips Talbot, assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern and South Asian affairs; U. S. ambassador to Pakistan Walter P. McCauley, and Asst. Defense Secretary William Bundy.

Despite the action, the bill appears dead for this session. It is unlikely to be scheduled for a vote in the adjournment rush.

The mass transit program has been approved by the Senate Banking Committee. It was shunted to the Commerce Committee Sept. 14 on a motion by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, its chief critic.

The Commerce Committee concluded four days of hearings on the measure last week during which Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., the bill's sponsor, again urged quick action.

He will speak to the student senate at the university.

Second Cave-In Fatal to Man Hurt in June

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Thomas Snyder, 21, of Heliertown, Pa., was buried up to his waist in a cave-in while working on a sewer project near here last June. He suffered only minor injuries.

Monday Snyder was killed when a large mound of dirt caved in on him while he was standing in a 12-foot trench at another part of the same project.

Kennedy to See Benefit Preview

WASHINGTON (AP)—President and Mrs. Kennedy have box seats tonight to see a benefit preview of the new musical "Mr. President," depicting the life of a fictional chief executive and his family.

The benefit will raise more than $70,000 for a favorite Kennedy family charity—two centers that provide care and research for mentally retarded children.

A glittering audience of more than 1,500 from Washington and New York, including diplomats, socialites and politicians, will see the new show which brought songwriter Irving Berlin out of retirement.

Kennedy, his wife and mother, Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, will share their box with soon-to-retire Colombian Ambassador Carlos Sanz de Santamaría and his wife; Alice Longworth, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt and Washington artist William Walton, a longtime friend of the Kennedys.

15 HOSTESSES
The 600 persons who bought $100 tickets to the benefit got special invitations to benefit supper being given before the show by 15 prominent Washington hostesses, among them Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, wife of the vice president, and Cabinet wives.

Along with the Kennedys, they will be guests at a champagne supper dance at the British Embassy.

Dockers Turn Down Plan to Avoid Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—A government proposal to avert a dock workers' strike which threatens to paralyze shipping operations at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports was rejected yesterday by the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA).

The union has announced plans to call a walkout when its present contract with the New York Shipping Association (NYSA) expires at midnight Saturday. A strike would idle 50,000 dock workers.

Federal mediators, headed by Robert H. Moore, yesterday urged both sides to accept a one-year extension of the contract to give all parties concerned more time to study the dispute.

The federal proposal was accepted by the shipowners, but Thomas W. Gleason, chief negotiator for the ILA, turned it down.

104-Year-Old Patient Fine After Gall Bladder Operation

NEW YORK (AP)—The gall bladder surgery was the first operation the patient had ever had. It was successful. The healing was normal. Recovery was according to schedule.

The operation routine in all respects but one—the patient was 104 years old.

Doctors at the Brooklyn Hebrew Home and Hospital for the Aged said Monday the patient, Sarah Perler, is "doing fine" and that her recovery from the operation was "even faster than in some younger patients."

NO SIMILAR CASES

The physicians said they have found no reports in recent American medical literature of a patient of such an advanced age.

Mrs. Perler was born in Eastern Europe three years before the start of the American Civil War and emigrated to the United States in 1920. Twice married and widowed, she has two surviving sons, both in their 70s, three grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild.

The woman, described by a spokesman as "lively, alert and extremely interested in things," entered the home in 1957, joining about 1,000 other folk whose average age is 83.

Recently, Mrs. Perler developed symptoms of acute abdominal distress, and doctors recommended emergency surgery. It was performed Aug. 27, and an acutely inflamed gall bladder, containing numerous stones, was incised and drained.

WAS HUNGRY
The patient was kept under supervision for only two weeks, after which she was returned to her regular room.

A spokesman for the home said, "The day after the operation, her only complaint was that she wasn't getting enough to eat."

"Since returning to her room she has been walking around and talking with great animation to her nurses and her roommate—who is only in her 80s."

"After 104 years," the spokesman commented, "Mrs. Perler finally has an operation to talk about."

Roaming Maverick Prefers Hollywood to West Germany

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Hollywood would have no runaway-production problems if all stars were like James (stay at home) Garner.

That's his self-administered title after shooting "The Great Escape," in Munich for three months.

"I've been in worse places. I was in Korea," said the former infantryman.

Garner's opinions aren't likely to cement friendship with our West German allies, but then he has a knack of living up to his original character of Maverick.

"I'm part German myself—the part that isn't English, Irish, Scotch or Cherokee," said the actor. "My name was Bumgarner, so you can see that I'm pretty German."

"But I found the Germans don't like Americans. Oh, they're civil all right, but they're never really friendly."

"The Great Escape" is the story of a mass escape from a German prison camp, and Garner quickly concedes that the scenery was necessary for the story.

WEATHER'S TERRIBLE
"The scenery was marvelous," he admitted. "But if anyone goes to Europe merely to make a picture on outdoor sets they're nuts. The weather is so much more over there than in California that you lose whatever savings you make in production costs."

"Our picture was budgeted at $3 million and went $3½, largely because of the lousy weather. I guess we should have known how it would be after it snowed on our first day of production—June 21."

Garner snorted over a newspaper story classing him as one of the "brats of Hollywood" because he demanded "an ornate villa" on the Munich location. According to the report, the studio even built him a marble hall "like the one he has at home so he won't be homesick."

QUITE A POOL
"Ornate villa!" he exclaimed. "I wish you could have seen my three-room joint. Marble hall! All I've got at home is an alabaster vase."

"The place did have a swimming pool. That is, it was either a swimming or a diving pool; you couldn't do both. Matter of fact, you couldn't do either, because it was empty."

The new rules, Saxon said, will range from a requirement that the banks provide more financial information to stockholders to one setting up a new method of judging the capital adequacy of the banks.

A number of the regulations will mirror recommendations made last week by Saxon's advisory committee on banking which called for wholesale changes in the regulation of the banking industry.

Saxon announced his first moves to carry out the committee's suggestions in an address prepared for the convention here by the American Bankers Association.

The comptroller, who regulates national banks, said there is widespread dissatisfaction with financial information now supplied to stockholders of banks.

He said he will require all national banks to observe uniform reporting regulations to be announced shortly.

The aim will be to supply shareholders with sufficient information to evaluate their securities and, in the case of proxy solicitations, to arm them for intelligent voting.

Saxon said all the new regulations will be published in the federal register in proposed form. All national banks and others interested will be invited to submit comments before any are made effective.

At Last...a Baby!

After nearly 23 years of marriage, it would seem that the arrival of the first baby might cause no end of confusion, but, not so in the Howard R. Carson household in Waterford Township.

Mrs. Della Carson gave birth to a healthy 8 lb. 12 oz. boy Sept. 4 at St. Joseph Hospital. Mother, baby and even dad are doing fine. Everything is under control.

How does a woman who spoke her wedding vows in December 1939 manage to handle her new bundle of joy with such calm efficiency? The answer is simple—experience.

When she was 15 years old and living in Providence, Ky., Mrs. Carson helped out when her older sister gave birth to twins.

She has gained added experience over the years helping friends and relatives with their little ones.

Mrs. Carson has been somewhat of a second mother to the three daughters of her next-door neighbor, Mrs. J. D. Flowers, who range in age from 6 to 10. Mrs. Flowers, incidentally, waited 18 years for the arrival of her first child.

The Silvercrest Baptist Church. "We didn't care whether we had a boy or girl," Mrs. Carson explained. "We were just happy to become parents after such a long wait."

Like most new fathers, Carson a carpenter, was a little nervous about handling the baby at first. He's over that now and has become a good helper.

Though the first few days home from the hospital had their hectic moments, little Randolph Lynn is on a good feeding and sleeping schedule at present writing. Everything is under control at 2910 Marlinton St.

He Has Plenty of Dollars but You Need More Sense

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was a widow for 15 years, then I met a man who had wealth and social position. After going together for a year we were married.

Every one "oohed" and "aahed" over how lucky I was to get him. He promised me everything.

No more going to the office (I was a secretary) and we would just travel, have a lovely apartment and enjoy life.

Well, instead, he moved into MY home and I haven't missed a day's work in six years. I come home every evening and make supper. I spend Saturday and Sunday doing the laundry and marketing. I have not seen one cent of his money, and he has plenty of it.

Whenever I hear about women marrying millionaires, I laugh to myself. I married one and life hasn't changed for me. I tell people I work just to keep busy. Huh!

DEAR STUCK: It's a man's obligation to support his wife.

After six years, don't you think you ought to review the bidding? Could it be that he felt you married him for his dollars? Otherwise, it doesn't make sense.

DEAR ABBY: All I can find in the stores today are snippy, sour-passed clerks who try to rush you into buying something.

Whatever happened to all those nice old sales ladies who invited the customers to take their time and look over all the merchandise?

SHOPPER

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

DEAR SHOPPER: They all died of overwork trying to get their stock back in order.

DEAR ABBY: I have gone with this young man about five months. I have only one thing against him, he sleeps too much. Whenever we go to a movie, he falls asleep right away.

He even sleeps through church services. It is very embarrassing to see a young man sleeping all over the girl he's with. I have never known a person who could fall asleep so fast.

When we are at my home in the evening, I can't even hold a conversation with him because he goes to sleep right in.

Announce 'New Look' for Camp Fire Girls

Pontiac Council of Camp Fire Girls announces its Pontiac area membership drive with a new, more appealing program, according to Council President Richard Jarvis.

"The traditional basic values remain," Jarvis said. "Age levels, however, have been changed to better serve the needs and interests of the faster, maturing girls of today."

The national organization of leisure-time activities for girls, 7-to-18 years of age.

A special new Junior Hi Camp Fire group has been added for the 12- and 13-year-old group with focus on group-centered activities. A new uniform and pin have been designed especially for them.

The Blue Bird creative play program is available for the 7- and 8-year-old set. The 9-year-olds will "fly up" a year earlier to join the 10- and 11-year-old groups of campfire girls with ranks and seven crafts program.

The Horizon Club program of educational activities is still available to girls of high school level.

The local council, a member agency of the Pontiac Area United Fund has offices in the Community Services Building on Franklin Boulevard. The three-woman staff, headed by Executive Director Doris Beck, will serve requests for groups and train new leaders and assistants.

Parents interested in helping organize groups for their daughters are asked to call Field Director Pamela Harrison at the Camp Fire office. Pontiac group organization chairman is Mrs. Vern Rollison.

Visit OK If Maid Is There

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: I would very much appreciate your answering the following question for me: I am a single woman in the mid-thirties. Recently I met a bachelor who is several years older than I. He lives in his own apartment and has a maid come in every day to cook and serve his meals.

He has asked me to have dinner with him several times (just the two of us), but I have always made some excuse because I am not sure whether it would be proper for me to go. Would the presence of the maid make my going proper?

A: If you leave as soon as the dinner is over to go to the theater or some other place, there would be no impropriety in your dining in your friend's apartment, as long as the maid is present.

But to stay on with him alone after the maid goes home would be improper and an unwise thing to do.

Q: Should it happen on occasion that I cannot see a woman friend home and I put her in a taxi, is it up to me to pay the cab fare, and if so, how is this handled?

A: I hand her a sum of money which she can pay the driver, or do I let her pay it and reimburse her the next time I see her?

Q: You should, of course, see her home if you can. But if for some reason you cannot take her home, you should ask the driver approximately what the fare will be and give him enough to cover it plus a tip.

Q: I am a young married woman and neither my husband nor I smoke. Most of our friends do. I invite them to our house, am I supposed to provide cigarettes for them, or is it all right to take for granted that they will smoke their own cigarettes since they are all regular smokers?

A: If you are giving a party, you should include cigarettes in your provisions. But if people merely stop in to see you, it is not necessary to provide cigarettes since, as you say, all smokers carry their own.

The clothes of the bride and groom's parents as well as those of the wedding guests are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Correct Dress for a Wedding Reception." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

'Don't Worry' Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE N-432: Lola G., aged 18, is the college freshman who feared she would flunk out of school.
"Dr. Crane," she protested, "how can I absorb more of the facts from my textbooks while I am reading them?"
"For I can read the chapter twice, and still be lucky to rate a C grade next day when the professor gives us a quiz over that very same material! What's the answer to my problem?"DR. CRANE reads the chapter twice, and still be lucky to rate a C grade next day when the professor gives us a quiz over that very same material! What's the answer to my problem?"

QUIZ YOURSELF

The secret of efficient studying consists of developing a self-quiz on your textbook assignment, even as you read. It is better, however, to do a swift reading of the entire chapter first, to get a wider perspective.

To prod yourself in doing this, get a watch with a second hand and lay it on one page while you read the other. Enter into a race with that second hand! Allot just one minute per page.

Even if you aren't through with the page, move on at the end of that one minute and repeat the process till you finish the chapter.

BE ALERT

This racing with time will help speed up your reading rate—and also keep you awake and alert while you read. Then, after completing this speed reading of the chapter, go back and focus on the "streaks of lean in the bacon."

For most books, including textbooks, may have half a page or more that is "fat" or just words that don't contain specific facts suitable for inclusion in an exam.

On this second reading of the chapter, keep pencil and paper at hand and compile a true-false quiz.

Suppose you are assigned Chapter III in my college textbook "Psychology Applied." It deals with "Efficiency Engineering." Make your own quiz like this:

T F (a) Dr. Hoke showed that the left hand carries more load than the right on the present typewriter (p. 80, 92).

T F (b) The depth of sleep is greatest at the end of the third hour. (p. 117).

Going South?

The "recipe" for a safe-and-sane sunbath, as outlined by the American Medical Association, is:

First day, 15 to 20 minutes each side; second day, little less than half hour; third day, 40 minutes. By the fourth day, a new pigment should begin to darken the skin and within a week the skin should have enough thickening and pigmentation to give considerable protection against burning.

And when you are through with the daily class, add any of his different true-false items that you can recall to expand your own quiz to 30 or 40.

Then you will have an ideal quick exam over that chapter. At the end of the term, you can test quiz yourself over a thick textbook in a single hour.

Just cover the letters "T" and "F" in front of your statements, as you try to decide the right answer. Then pull your covering card down one notch and check on yourself. Your school marks will zoom by this efficient plan.

Send for my booklet "How to Improve Memory and Study More Efficiently," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. It can help you parents, too.

Always write to: George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Watch-Type of Bra

Exercise Can Aid Curve

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

As I said once before in this column, women either have too much bust or too little bust or they are famous! Few women are satisfied with the size of their bust. Many also dislike the way they have.

Special exercises which build up the chest muscles are the answer if you wish to increase your bust measurement and diminish the sag. Remember, also, that the type bra you wear and the way it fits, has a great influence in preserving the lovely curve.

TRY WEIGHTS

Try the following motions for increasing your bust measurement. Take a weight or book in each hand. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor overhead.

Keep the books in your hands as you raise the arms overhead and slowly lower them to the floor at your sides. Raise the arms upward and slowly lower them to the floor in the overhead position. Continue, slowly, with the weights in your hands throughout the exercise.

This is also a good one. Stand tall. Raise your arms out at your sides, shoulder height, palms facing forward. Swing the arms toward one another, and past, crossing the arms with the right arm over the left. Swing the arms back to the side position.

Again cross the arms, this time with the left arm over the right. Continue. Concentrate on the forward swing. Do not pull back hard on the backward return. It is the contraction of the muscle which builds, not the stretch.

When weights are used, the muscles must work harder. Therefore, these are an aid to development. Few women are informed about what type bra to select, what to watch for when buying, and how to determine the size they should wear. The right brassiere is one of the most important factors in preserving a youthful bustline.

If you would like to have my booklet, "Your Bust," which tells you about bras, exercises, and gives you lots more information concerning getting or preserving a beautiful bustline, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

May you be planned by Patricia Barbara Mazur, daughter of the Leonard Mazurs of Gene Court, to Richard Geiger, son of Mrs. Greta Geiger of Clarkson and Maj. Manuel Geiger, Kansas City, Mo.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Even the friendliest baby may suddenly turn shy at the sight of a relative or friend. Let baby study visitors from the "protective custody" of your arms. A favorite hold-toy will provide added security.

Petitions for Recall Move at Mid-Point in Avondale

The Avondale School District Improvement Association has passed the half-way point in its collection of signatures on petitions to recall four school board members.

Over half of the 1,500 signatures sought have been collected. It was reported at a meeting of the organization's central committee last night.

The school board officers the ASDIA is seeking to remove from office are Floyd Cobb, president; David W. Hackett, vice president; Raymond N. Baker, secretary, and Mrs. Genevieve Porter, treasurer.

The target date for collection of the signatures has been extended from Oct. 1 to Oct. 10. Thus far only 1/4 of the area involved has been canvassed, according to Thomas B. Rocker, 1254 Ashover Dr., ASDIA president.

This means the petitions will be submitted to the board of education on Oct. 20, according to Rocker. He said 10 days would be needed to make duplicate copies, which the ASDIA would keep.

The board of education has a maximum of 30 days in which to verify the authenticity of the signatures on the petitions.

A special election will be conducted within 35 days after verification of the signatures unless a regular election is scheduled within 90 days.

In other business Rocker expressed dissatisfaction that the school board had "ignored the citizens' feelings."

"The school board has still not sat down in open session to discuss the citizens' report," he said. This report was submitted prior to the bond issue in June.

The central committee of the ASDIA also discussed the curriculum of study offered by the schools. Plans were made to look into a gradeless school system for the first three years of elementary education.

It was also decided to have representatives of the organization look into the workings of other area school systems in an attempt to learn how to better their own.

The committee decided to investigate the possibility of a public library in the area, which would be supported by Bloomfield, Pontiac and Avondale townships and the City of Troy. Rocker said the school library was far from adequate.

He said representatives of the ASDIA would be sent to meetings of the neighboring townships and Troy to determine the feasibility of a public library and to ascertain how much financial support could be secured.

Rocker also spoke of the disadvantages of the arbitrary school district boundaries. "We've become second-class citizens," he said.

He was referring to the divisions of Michigan and other municipalities when school districts are consolidated.

Michigan Bar to Hear Romney

Proposed New State Constitution Also on Assembly Agenda

LANSING — Republican gubernatorial candidate George Romney and the proposed new state constitution headed the list of speakers and subjects today at the State Bar of Michigan convened its 27th annual general assembly.

Plunging into a tight four-day schedule of speeches, panel discussions and debate, the bar group was to hear also from Gov. John S. Swainson and some 50 other speakers.

Romney was to address the young lawyers section of the bar group at a luncheon today with Swainson appearing before another luncheon tomorrow.

Some 1,600 of the state bar's 9,300 members were expected to be present for the annual gathering to hear committee reports on some 61 recommendations covering virtually every aspect of the law.

The assembly will approve or reject the committee recommendations, with its decisions subject to review by the 22-man board of commissioners at a later date.

Also on today's agenda was the annual election of officers, with Maxwell F. Badgley of Jackson slated to replace Ronald M. Ryan of Battle Creek as president.

Badgley, moving up from first vice president, will be replaced in turn by Nathan B. Goodnow of Detroit. Other officers to be named today were:

Christian F. Matthews, Mount Clemens, second vice president; William J. McBrearty of Detroit, re-elected as secretary; and John G. Star of Grand Rapids, treasurer.

Gathering to Explore Adult Film Program

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The organization of an adult film program at the township library will be discussed there at a public meeting at 8 o'clock tonight.

Library officials said volunteers will be needed to work on a committee to develop the program.

School Vote's on Thursday

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Officials of the Clarenceville School District are in the final stage of a campaign to get voter approval on a $1.5-million bond issue in a special election Thursday.

School Supt. Louis E. Schmidt said today the funds are needed to provide facilities for the rapidly growing population in the district, which covers Livonia and the townships of Farmington and Redford.

School enrollment there has grown by 150 per cent since 1950, said Schmidt.

Based on a census of preschool-age children now living in the district, he explained, enrollment from kindergarten through fifth grade is expected to increase at least 20 per cent during the next four years.

This does not cover any enrollment increases caused by more families moving into the district, added the superintendent.

MAJOR ADDITIONS

Major additions financed by the proposed bond issue include a minimum of seven new classrooms and a library at Botsford Elementary School, eight classrooms at Clarenceville Junior High School and two new classrooms and a multipurpose room at Westbrook Elementary School.

Also included in plans by the board of education are new physical education facilities at Clarenceville Senior High School and new administrative offices.

The administration offices will be housed in either a new building or in the old Central Elementary School, depending on which can be accomplished at less cost, said Schmidt.

Central School presently is used as a storage facility by the district. No tax increase will be needed if the bond issue is approved Thursday, Schmidt promised.

The bond proposal is $250,000

TRAFFIC STOPPER — Cute little Julie Cotter, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cotter of 241 Littlefield St., West Bloomfield Township, is shown with a new carrying case designed to alert motorists to drive safely in school zones.

It is manufactured by a Birmingham firm.

Red 'STOP' Case New Safety Gadget

A Birmingham firm has introduced a new safety device designed to protect children from traffic accidents while they are walking to and from school.

The new product, a bright red "STOP" emblazoned on its side in large, luminous letters is being sold by dairies in Oakland County.

The case, designed to hold lunches, books, sports equipment or extra clothing, is manufactured by Bopp-Decker Plastics, Inc., 677 S. Eton Road.

It is available at special prices from milk truck salesmen from several dairies.

Cave-In Traps Three Workers

One Suffers Fractures in Both His Legs in Southfield Accident

SOUTHFIELD — Three men were trapped for an hour yesterday in a cave-in at a sewer construction project at Nine Mile and Southfield roads.

One of the men, Cleo Garner, 42, of Detroit, suffered compound fractures of both legs in the mishap. He is in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

The others, Clayton Anderson, 41, of Highland Park, and James E. Smith, 35, of Detroit, were treated and released at the same hospital.

Southfield Police said they were working in a trench when the accident occurred. Dirt which had been digging out was piled high around the opening, police said.

Suddenly, the dirt fell on top of the men. Fellow workers for the Frank J. Knight Construction Co. dug them out.

Police said heavy beams and debris formed air pockets in the trench, protecting the men until they could be rescued.

University Women to Meet at Rochester

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Branch of the American Association of University Women met at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the high school.

Guest speaker Dr. John Dempsey, associate professor of political science at the University of Michigan, will discuss "The Role of the Underdeveloped Countries."

Hostesses of the meeting will include Mrs. Donald Smith and Mrs. Gaylord Snyder, both of Ulica. All women college graduates have been invited to attend.

Plan Roast Beef Dinner

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Women's Society of Christian Service of Howarth Methodist Church on Silver Bell Road will serve a roast beef dinner tomorrow at the church. Serving will start at 5 p.m.

County PTA Meetings Planned for Thursday

Avondale High School Parent-Teacher-Student Association will sponsor get-acquainted night at 8 p.m. Thursday in the school cafeteria.

Teachers will be introduced to those attending by School Supt. George E. Shackelford.

A special invitation has been issued to parents of the new ninth grade students. Courses of study for the freshmen will be explained.

All those interested are invited to attend. Refreshments will follow the meeting.

Freeman for Closer Farm Ties

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Parents will go back to school — for one night only — when the Clifford H. Smart Junior High School Parent-Teachers Association holds its first fall meeting Thursday.

Starting at 7:30 p.m., parents will follow their children's regular school day schedule in order to meet the teachers and acquaint themselves with the curriculum. Refreshments will be served.

WALLED LAKE — A "Back to School" program for parents will be held at the Wallied Lake Junior High School Thursday by the parent-teacher association.

The 7:30 p.m. meeting will give parents an opportunity to follow their child's daily schedule. Ten minutes will be spent in each class where teachers will discuss their respective subjects.

In a prepared speech at the annual meeting of the National Association, State Departments of Agriculture, here he said:

"If we can establish a greater bond; I believe we can look back to this day as the beginning of a new era in federal-state relations."

Freeman noted that Congress earlier this year passed legislation which the association initiated, to provide that the administration and enforcement of laws relating to food and agriculture should be shared more fully between federal and state agencies.

A nine-man task force is being set up to study the matter. Freeman said that in order to serve the farmer, processor, distributor and consumer, both federal and state governments must do an adequate job in their respective fields.

Southfield to Seek Aid on Civic Center

SOUTHFIELD — Mayor S. James Clarkson and City Councilmen agreed last night to apply to the federal government for matching funds for a proposed $7-million civic center here.

Clarkson's agreement came after a short dispute with council members.

When the matter first came up at last night's meeting, Clarkson vetoed the council's resolution which requested the matching funds.

The mayor explained that he would not approve the resolution because an architectural contract for the center had not been approved by City Attorney James M. Ginn after being passed by council.

However, Council President C.

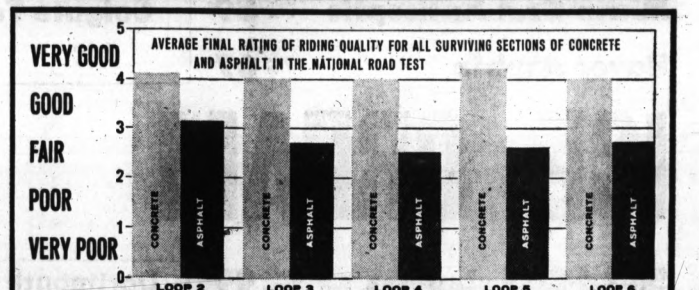

Hugh Doherty told the mayor that the architectural contract with Pirschner and Garrett of Farmington had been submitted to the city attorney last weekend.

Clarkson then agreed to sign.

The agreement will pave the way for the city to submit its request for the federal government's share of drawings and specifications of some $11-million worth of construction work.

The action was ordered by the council last week after members agreed to apply for matching funds now available since the recent passage of the Public Works Acceleration Act.

Concrete gives taxpayers riding quality that lasts... the National Road Test confirms it

Out of the recent 27-million dollar National Road Test comes significant new information on the performance of concrete and asphalt pavements.

Sponsored by the American Association of State Highway Officials, this road test was the most scientific ever conducted. Side by side on 5 loops near Ottawa, Illinois, concrete and asphalt test sections carried the same truck traffic for two years. Each loop carried light, medium or heavy vehicles.

To determine how well test pavements kept their riding quality, a special rating system called the serviceability index was used. Pavement surfaces were rated on a scale from "0" (very poor) to "5" (very good). After two years of traffic and the impact of more than 1,100,000 loads, the surviving concrete still averaged "very good," while most of the surviving asphalt averaged "fair."

Here is further evidence that concrete performs better and gives taxpayers long-range riding comfort for streets, roads and Interstate highways.

Vows Exchanged

Pair on East Coast

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — Honey-mooning in the New England states are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harold Baldwin, who exchanged their nuptial vows Saturday evening in the Oxford Methodist Church.

Rev. Frederick Clark performed the candlelight ceremony in the presence of 200 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Gilling, 2800 Melmore Road. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baldwin, 3432 Bessner Road, Hadley Township.

A floor-length gown of lace featuring a sweetheart neckline accented with sequins and pearls was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The bouffant skirt was styled with felt inserts appliqued in a lace design.

Her single strand pearl necklace was a gift from the bridegroom. A sequin crown held her finger veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of Stephanotis centered with a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Mrs. David Kirby of Oxford attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. David Strong of Melmore, sister of the bridegroom, and Janet Bass of Oxford.

Janis Caudell of Lansing, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl with Richard Kirby, nephew of the bride, serving as ring bearer.

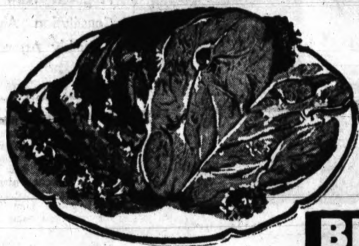

Assisting his brother as best man was Carr Baldwin of Oxford. The guests were seated by Fred Gilling of Oxford, brother of the bride, and Ron Deman of Lapeer.

A reception was held in the Thomas Community Hall immediately following the ceremony. The newlyweds will reside in Oxford.

Ex-Spartan Aide Ees Upset Over Michigan

LINCOLN, Neb., 24 — Michigan, native Bob Devaney shows off one of his football creations to the "home folks" this week, but his ex-neighbors are advised to expect no polite and yielding defense from the new Nebraska coach.

Although Devaney has scarcely gotten his first Nebraska football team unveiled, Cornhusker partisans have pegged him as a coach with a passion for winning. And there's a sneaking suspicion here, about that Michigan ranks high on the list of teams Devaney would most like to subdue this year.

Few in Nebraska really look for the 47-year-old Devaney and his backers to humiliate Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday.

For purposes of drawing a laugh, Bob goes along with the David-Goliath concept.

"I'm in charge of the team this year," he quipped while reading his team for last Saturday's warm-up opener against an out-of-state South Dakota crew. "Next week (against Michigan) my assistants are taking over."

Nebraska whipped the Dakotans 35-0, the largest victory margin since the Huskers racked up an identical score over the same team 17 years ago.

FANS HAPPY

Although it proved mostly that Nebraska can beat a team short on size and depth, the game pepped win-starved Nebraska fans. An upset over Michigan could be expected to throw Nebraska partisans into gleeful convulsion.

Intent on ending a six-year state-of-losing season, Nebraska's last year released coach Bill Jennings and tapped Devaney as the big hope for a new era.

Devaney had just finished six years at Wyoming where his 35-10 record added up to four Skyline Conference championships.

He was speaking of Washington's stunning 17-15 upset of Cleveland Sunday that left the Redskins basking in unaccustomed glory on top of the Eastern Conference of the National Football League.

McPeak probably had half-spoken Bobby Mitchell in mind in speaking of effort.

Twice the Browns had first downs inside the Redskins five yard line. Once Cleveland had to settle for a 12-yard field goal and the second time the Browns were stopped cold on a fourth-down plunge.

With only a few seconds remaining, the defense crashed in and blocked a try for a field goal by Lou Groza from the 33. When the Browns recovered the ball and got a second chance from the 50, the Redskins blocked it again.

PLAYERS OUT

One encouraging factor for McPeak was that Washington won with several key players injured.

Halfback Billy Barnes and defensive halfbacks Bobby Freeman and Claude Crabbs saw no action at all. This meant rookie Doug Elmore had to fill in at defensive wingback and Dick James had to be shifted from offense to defense.

All are expected to be ready for action next Sunday against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rookie Leroy Jackson started in Barnes' spot at left halfback. He was so nervous he missed signals several times and dropped an easy pass, said McPeak. "I probably shouldn't have started him. He'll come along fine when he has a little more playing time."

TOUCH FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Waterford Township's first men's touch football league will begin this week Wednesday and Thursday under the lights at the Drayton Plains Softball Park.

Nine teams, made up of men and boys out of high school, form the league, which will play an eight-week schedule. They will play seven-man touch football on an 80x35-yard field.

This week's schedule (coaches in parentheses):

Wednesday, 7:30, The Elites (Bill Holcomb) vs. Goliath (Gregory M. Chevalier); 8:30, The Duffers (Bill Duffer) vs. The Bandits (Jim Sparks); 9:30, The Raiders (Dick Reed) vs. The River Ship (Tim Oliver).

Thursday, 7:30, The Thrashers (Jerry Bernhardt) vs. Highland Eagles (Jim Sparks); 8:30, Senior Bombers (Jerry Duffer) vs. El Sharrad (vs. The Elites).

Friday, 7:30, The Thrashers (Jerry Bernhardt) vs. Highland Eagles (Jim Sparks); 8:30, Senior Bombers (Jerry Duffer) vs. El Sharrad (vs. The Elites).

Saturday, 7:30, The Thrashers (Jerry Bernhardt) vs. Highland Eagles (Jim Sparks); 8:30, Senior Bombers (Jerry Duffer) vs. El Sharrad (vs. The Elites).

Sunday, 7:30, The Thrashers (Jerry Bernhardt) vs. Highland Eagles (Jim Sparks); 8:30, Senior Bombers (Jerry Duffer) vs. El Sharrad (vs. The Elites).

Monday, 7:30, The Thrashers (Jerry Bernhardt) vs. Highland Eagles (Jim Sparks); 8:30, Senior Bombers (Jerry Duffer) vs. El Sharrad (vs. The Elites).

Tigers Begin Closing Week

Start Last Home Stand Still Carrying Hopes for 3rd or 4th

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers open their last home stand of the season today against the Los Angeles Angels.

There's only the battle for fourth, and possibly third in the American League standings to make the last five games of the year more than passing interest.

The Angels, current denizens of third place, have been sagging badly and now stand only one and one-half games ahead of the Chicago White Sox. The White Sox, in turn, are only one and one-half games in front of the Tigers.

While the Tigers entertain the Angels, Chicago hosts the Boston Red Sox.

For the Bengals third is remote but still a possibility, if all the combinations work their way. They would have to pick up three full games on the Angels and it's doubtful if the West Coast boys would cooperate.

Bo Belinsky, the eccentric early-season pitching flash, was scheduled to pitch for Los Angeles. Belinsky has won nine and lost 11. Phil Regan is slated to pitch for the Bengals. He has won 11 and lost nine.

Millford 'Skins' Scalp Vikings

21-35, for 3-0

The Millford thincads weren't gracious guests last night at Walled Lake. They chalked up their third consecutive victory defeating Walled Lake, 21-35.

Viking speedster Bill Nelson took first place for Walled Lake in 10:48.

Millford's John Heurtebise placed second.

Friday the Vikings host Southfield in a duel under the lights between halves of the Walled Lake-Southfield football game.

The winning Millford team travels to the Napoleon Invitational Saturday for their next competition.

Tonight Pontiac Northern meets Rochester on the Northern course.

Finishing order in the Walled Lake-Millford contest were: B. J. Nelson (M), Rick Speck (W), Harold Fought (M), Charles Goss (W), Tom Needham (M) and Richard Strait (W).

Wings Romp, 13-3

CALGARY, Alta. (UPI) — The Detroit Red Wings swamped the Calgary Stampeders of the Western Hockey League in an exhibition game last night, 13-3.

Lions Line Improved?

Plum's 3-Second Pass Is the Secret

DETROIT (UPI) — It takes about three seconds to read this paragraph and understand its meaning. And in pro football, that's all the time a top-flight passer needs to take the easy from center and get the ball airborne.

"Not many of them can do it," Aldo Forte, the Lions' offensive line coach, said yesterday. "Bill Plum can and that's why our offensive line has been improved this year."

A porous line had been one of the reasons cited for the Lions' inability to move on offense in recent years. Only one newcomer is in the line this year and in the game the Lions have amassed 10 points. Bob Whitlow has taken over at center with Bob Scholtz moving to tackle.

"The quarterback is the reason why the line is better," Forte said.

Plum gets the ball and passes in three seconds. He gets the ball away quickly, so the linemen don't have to hold their blocks as long.

Three seconds — the only other quarterback in the league who can do it is Johnny Unitas. Norm Van Brocklin could do it, too, when he was a player.

NO COINCIDENCE

Forte feels it's no coincidence that Unitas led the Baltimore Colts and Van Brocklin carried the Philadelphia Eagles to National Football League championships in the past few years.

"Most quarterbacks need four seconds to get the ball away," Forte said. "At least that long."

With the linemen's redoubled effort and shoving the gap the way they do nowadays, the quarterback is in trouble if he doesn't get the ball off fast.

Because of Plum's quick trigger, linemen charging through the line have dumped him for losses only five times in two games. He has connected with his target on 27 of his 32 passes.

"This is the advantage of a good short passer like Plum," Forte said. "The receiver gets out and the ball is at him before the defense can get set."

"I don't say Plum gets the ball off in three seconds every time. But he does it enough to take advantage of his blockers, who know he can do it."

Sunday, when the Lions play the Colts in Baltimore, Plum will be matched against Unitas for only the second time in league play. Plum outshined Unitas in the other meeting. He passed his old team, the Cleveland Browns, to a 38-31 victory in an offensive show.

STANDOUT — Nebraska's offense against Michigan Saturday at Ann Arbor will revolve around quarterback Dennis Clardy.

'Skin Coach Credits 'Effort' for Victory

WASHINGTON (AP)—"We won that one on effort," said Coach Bill McPeak today. "We still have a lot of improvement to come on our execution."

He was speaking of Washington's stunning 17-15 upset of Cleveland Sunday that left the Redskins basking in unaccustomed glory on top of the Eastern Conference of the National Football League.

McPeak probably had half-spoken Bobby Mitchell in mind in speaking of effort.

Twice the Browns had first downs inside the Redskins five yard line. Once Cleveland had to settle for a 12-yard field goal and the second time the Browns were stopped cold on a fourth-down plunge.

With only a few seconds remaining, the defense crashed in and blocked a try for a field goal by Lou Groza from the 33. When the Browns recovered the ball and got a second chance from the 50, the Redskins blocked it again.

PLAYERS OUT

One encouraging factor for McPeak was that Washington won with several key players injured.

Halfback Billy Barnes and defensive halfbacks Bobby Freeman and Claude Crabbs saw no action at all. This meant rookie Doug Elmore had to fill in at defensive wingback and Dick James had to be shifted from offense to defense.

All are expected to be ready for action next Sunday against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rookie Leroy Jackson started in Barnes' spot at left halfback. He was so nervous he missed signals several times and dropped an easy pass, said McPeak. "I probably shouldn't have started him. He'll come along fine when he has a little more playing time."

New Coaches Still Eye 1st Win

By The Associated Press

If at first you don't succeed... and eight of college football's new coaches didn't in their first efforts last Saturday — there's always next week.

Fourteen new coaches had their first licks last weekend, and only five emerged victorious, with Kentucky's Charley Brannan getting off with a scoreless tie against Florida State.

For the eight losers, it is back to the practice field today for full-scale preparations for this weekend, and an attempt to rectify last week's mistakes. For the five winners, it's also back to the practice field and added intensity on avoiding the losing pattern.

STAYS NO. 1

Colorado — Coach Bud Davis, whose Buffaloes were beaten by Utah 37-21, has moved Leon Maury into the flanker back position, injured Ted Somerville as he preps for Kansas State. Davis kept sophomore quarterback Larry Ehridge at the No. 1 post, after he completed 11 of 18 passes for a replacement for the injured Frank Cesari.

But Southern Methodist, under Hayden Fry, emerged from a 7-0 defeat by Maryland without any injuries as it readied for Southern California. Colgate Coach Hal Lahar, a 6-2 loser to Harvard, got back quarterback Dan Keating, and his top reserve Carmine DiAdamo. Keating was stunned in the second period last Saturday and couldn't finish the game while DiAdamo had been out since suffering an ankle fracture on the first day of practice.

Miller moved fullback Harry Crump to the No. 1 spot at Boston College after the Eagles' 27-0 win over Detroit. Coach by Miller's 1981 assistant John Lick, BC place-kicker Joe Hutchinson is a doubtful participant this week against Villanova because of a twisted right knee.

OTHER LOSERS

The other coaches who lost in their first try were Texas A&M's Hank Fobberg, to LSU and new coach Charlie McClelland, 21-0; Tom O'Boyle, at Tulane, to Stanford 6-3; Mississippi State's Paul Davis, to Florida 19-7; and Mike Lude, at Colorado State University, to Air Force 34-0.

The other two winners were Houston's Bill Yoeman, 19-0, and Baylor and Army's Paul Dietzel, 40-14 against Wake Forest.

Jack Thomas, who replaced Howard McChesney at Hardin Simmons still can't break his team's losing string, which has now reached 24 in a row after two 1962 losses, the longest among major colleges.

WINGMAN READY

Minnesota's end dilemma cleared a bit as the Gophers got back Bob Prawditz, No. 1 left end who had been out two weeks with a knee injury. He is expected to be ready for the opener against Missouri.

Wingback Jerry Candler will be the only letterman to start for Rice against LSU on Saturday after injuries have sidelined Wayne McCelland, plus quarterback Bill Cox, for the season, and halfback Randy Korbow.

End Don Wainwright, detained in California after suffering a concussion in a 21-10 Missouri victory over the Bears, and guard Tom Hertz were declared out of the Minnesota game this week, with John Sevcik replacing Wainwright and Gene Oliver taking over for Hertz.

Tackle Dave Humenik and end Clay Stephens were back at starting posts for Notre Dame, which meets Oklahoma in the nationally televised game. But Northwestern lost end George Burman for at least three weeks with a fractured left shoulder.

Ron Smith was moved to No. 1 left halfback and Lee Berne to tackle at Wisconsin, which meets New Mexico State. Fullback Ray Paige and tackle Scott Appleton were not expected to see much action for Texas' Longhorns against Texas Tech because of injuries.

Junior Varsity Tie in Recent Grid Battle

The Pontiac Northern varsity overcame a third quarter, 20-6 deficit last Thursday and tied a stubborn Kettering JV, 27-27.

The halftime score of 14-6 saw the Waterford juniors successfully holding onto a slim margin as the determined Huskies battled to inside the one-yard line as time ran out.

The Huskies bounced back early in the third quarter however and Kettering also added one more. It was not until late in the fourth quarter that PNH tied the score.

It Might Be Year for Medical Christmas

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Here it is nearly the end of September, which means that another Christmas season is almost at hand, or under foot.

And that means it's time for me to get going with my annual early bird shopping service. Most shopping services wait until November to start making gift suggestions, but I like to beat everyone to the punch, particularly if it's spilled.

What I do is winnow the gift mid-summer, keeping on the lookout for trends and items that I think will be of interest to the clientele of this column.

TIME TO FORGET

My findings are then passed along to my readers so that they will have plenty of time to forget them before they actually have to start shopping.

This year, if I read the signs right, we are in for a medical Christmas. The mail order houses are offering a wide range of gifts that reflect our preoccupation with our health.

I spotted several items that should be ideal for the hypochondriac who has everything. Fancy, jewel-encrusted pill boxes are, of course, perennial favorites. In recent years, these have been compartmentalized to accom-moderate those of us who carry around an assortment of capsules.

The latest thing in this line is a "pill purse" made of "guy colored rayon" and containing five plastic bottles and a spoon. It should delight your wife or sweetheart and is a steal at $1.98.

As an extra touch, you can stop in at your friendly neighborhood apothecary and have the bottles filled with pharmaceuticals before you wrap it.

NOTHING LIKE IT

Another item that should spread joy on Christmas morning is a "scientifically-designed, medically-approved tube for use in mouth-to-mouth breathing."

"It could save the life of a loved one in case of an arrested heart," says the catalog.

An even more appropriate gift would be something to prevent heart attacks and I think a "prone position TV viewer" is just the thing.

It enables a person to watch television while flat on his back without the exertion of holding up his head, which could bring on a coronary.

Persons on your gift list who are worried about smoking too much undoubtedly would appreciate a new type of cigarette case that a Texas doctor designed to help his patients cut down. It only holds 10 cigarettes.

Now all that we need to make Christmas complete is music—"Deck the Halls With Balm and Nostrums" or some similar carol.

I recommend that some record company bring out a new Xmas album called "Sing Along With Dr. Kildare," with words and melody by Ben Casey.

It Was Bloody Awful

Surgical Knife Wanders

LONDON (UPI)—Britain's Medical Defense Union said yesterday surgeons and hospital workers caused a series of blunders in the nation's operating rooms.

Chases cited included:

A 4-year-old boy was admitted

for the removal of a cyst on his knee. He was mistakenly operated on for a hernia.

The medical defense union represents and insures members of the medical profession in legal actions.

In its annual report it said these and other blunders had cost the union 79,000 pounds ($211,200) in compensation to victims last year.

The bidding in the box occurred when America held the East-West cards during the World Championship match. West's pass of his partner's strong, but nonforcing three diamond bid was done thoughtfully. He did not want to bid three no-trump with nothing in hearts and he suspected five diamonds would go down one.

He was right on the latter count and also would have been right about three no-trump except that since North held both ace and king of hearts, three no-trump was unbeatable. Anyway, East played three diamonds and made four odd.

At the other table Italy climbed to five diamonds, South opened the ten of clubs and all East had to do to make his contract was to call for the jack of clubs, but he called dummy's ace. Then he

Curfew Law Wins Praise

Week-Old Ordinance Already Shows Results by City's Teens

The city's new curfew law, in effect for only a week, already is showing results, a Pontiac police official said today.

Lt. Clayton Randall, head of the crime prevention bureau which handles juvenile offenses, said a check of business places frequented by teen-agers shows a marked improvement.

"So far we have had no instance to issue a violation," he said. A violation can carry a fine of up to $100 and 30 days in jail for parents or guardians of the minors.

"I believe we are generally receiving the cooperation of all persons involved."

The City Commission last Tuesday rescinded a 47-year-old curfew law and replaced it with a more stringent ordinance "more in line with state curfew laws."

The new ordinance defines regulations for specific age groups whereas the former only stated that persons under 18 years of age had to be off the street by 9 p.m. during the summer and 8 p.m. in the winter months.

Under the new curfew law, children 11 years old and younger must be off the street from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. and are not permitted in a "place of amusement" after 7 p.m.

For those between the ages of 12 and 17 the curfew allows them on the street until midnight. On Fridays, however, they are given an extra hour.

Those in the older age group also are allowed to remain in a theater or place of amusement until 11 p.m.

All of the restrictions of the new ordinance apply only when the juveniles are not accompanied by an adult.

Randolph said that store owners contacted last night report they have not been troubled with teen-agers after the hours set down by the new ordinance.

Doctor Refused Title on Driver's License

Dr. Joan M. Simmons is still a member of the Pontiac Medical Society, but she refused to be named as the doctor on her driver's license.

The 38-year-old osteopath's petition to force the secretary of state to put the title "Dr." before her name on the license was dismissed in Circuit Court yesterday.

Judge William J. Neer held that the title was not part of her legal name and that state law stipulates that only legal names be placed on driver's licenses.

Dr. Simmons of 505 Montclair St., a staff member at Pontiac Ochsenschlager Hospital, argued she is known in Pontiac as "Dr. Simmons" and should have her identity as a doctor on the license in case of emergency.

Her petition also claimed she was entitled to the title and regulations against it violated the state and national constitutions.

The secretary of state's manual allows only the name of a religious order to use their title, sister, on driver's licenses.

Dr. Simmons was twice previously issued a license with the "Dr." on it, but was turned down on her third appeal.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, who decided to set a policy of sticking strictly to the regulations.

Permitting titles on licenses might upset the state's system of coding them according to the number of letters in a person's name, Hare ruled.

A man's title is considered an integral part of his name.

Dr. Simmons said Dr. Simmons could use the hospital's address as her own on her license if she wished, pointed out that if a doctor's title was added, he would be an engineer's, a P.D., a greengrocer, a judge's and anyone else's.

He later pulled out his own license to show that it didn't contain his title, judge.

Three City Men Stand Mute in Vasiliou Slaying

Three Pontiac men charged with first-degree murder in the July 31 slaying of market owner Efthymios Vasiliou stood mute on arraignment yesterday before Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland.

Joseph Page, 36, of 240 Orchard Lake Ave., Benly L. Spels, 23, and R. G. Stroman, both of 235 S. Anderson St., were taken to Oakland County Jail to await trial after Judge Holland entered pleas of innocence for them.

The three appeared before Judge Holland for arraignment on Aug. 27, but were remanded to Pontiac Municipal Court for examination because they had not been represented by attorneys when they earlier waived examination.

John S. Coleman, Democratic candidate for state representative from the first district, last night blamed "Republican indifference" for the state's school problems.

Speaking before the Waterford Education Association, Coleman accused his opponent, Republican incumbent Lloyd L. Anderson, of a "sorry performance" and an "unsympathetic attitude" in educational matters.

He charged Anderson had voted to give school superintendents unlimited authority to employ teachers regardless of training or certification.

"This could set the teaching profession back 50 years if it's passed," Coleman added.

He said Republican indifference was responsible for the failure of the state's educational system, increasing state college tuition, crowded classrooms in primary and secondary schools, and Michigan State University Oakland's struggle for operating funds.

Coleman is a teacher at Waterford Township's Kettering H.I. School.

Officials in Kent County Will Get No Pay Raises

Israeli Girls Captured

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Lebanese army has captured 14 Israeli girls, wearing uniforms and carrying rifles and a submachine gun, in a village near the frontier, the government reported today.

Waterford Board Action Delayed Due to Flyer

Action by the Waterford Township Board concerning a $10.30 special assessment district in Watkins Hills subdivision was postponed yesterday because a flyer had been circulated yesterday stating that the hearing had been postponed.

Even though all 20 residents present favored the lighting project, board members felt there might be repercussions if action were taken when the majority were taken under the impression the meeting had been postponed as indicated on the sheet of paper delivered door to door.

Supervisor Elmer Johnson explained that he had talked to W. L. Lobb, the flyer circulator, Monday morning when Lobb asked if the hearing could be postponed.

Johnson said he merely stated that he would have no objection if the people wanted to postpone it. He added that he didn't realize Lobb, a former subdivision association officer, was going to distribute flyers.

The project includes 77 assessments. If ornamental poles are decided upon, residents will pay $10.30 annually. The cost will be about $3.50 for regular poles.

The hearing will continue Oct. 8.

PLUMBING ACTION

In other business the board voted to amend the plumbing ordinance by adding a provision dealing with relief valves.

The board also voted that two constables be selected on the April 1963 election for township duties which deal mainly with process serving.

There had been four constables. Board members agreed that there was insufficient work to warrant having more than two.

A request from the police department for a change in police uniform colors was approved. It calls for gray slacks and charcoal gray shirts, a reverse of the present color combination.

A report from the Incorporation Study Committee on why it advocated action toward incorporation was not submitted to the board last night as had been scheduled.

Dem Candidate Raps Opponent's Indifference on School Problems Hit in Waterford

Thieves Take Trailer, Tools, Leave Vehicle

Tools valued at $2,000 were stolen yesterday from a construction site at Perry and Kenilworth streets.

The Utilities Construction Co., 1705 Austin Road, Troy, reported to Pontiac Police that a seven-foot trailer containing the tools disappeared from their base office building 11 a.m. and noon.

Police found the empty trailer abandoned several blocks away.

The most costly piece of equipment stolen was a $1,500 earth tamper, according to office manager Arvo Kuisisto.

The firm is in the area installing gas lines for the Commercial Power Co.

High-Risk Plan Considered

Doctors Vote Today on Health Coverage Insurance Proposal

DETROIT (UPI) — Doctors vote today on a plan to pool health insurance for high-risk subscribers such as automobile liability companies pool high-risk drivers.

The plan, known as the "High-Risk Pool," was introduced by the House of Delegates of the Michigan State Medical Society.

The group will vote today on the plan which calls for the pooling of high-risk subscribers into making it possible to pool insurance risks between Blue Shield, a nonprofit organization, and private health insurance companies.

Wenmer's proposal calls for Blue Shield and the private firms to set up a new insurance organization to handle high-risk patients.

These eligible would be persons over 65 and younger persons with frequent medical expenses.

Wenmer's resolution said the plan would "make possible the offering of coverage of greater adequacy at less cost to subscribers in such high-risk insurance group."

The society is holding its 97th annual meeting in a downtown hotel.

Governors to Mull Censure of Barnett

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson's demand that Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi be officially censured by his fellow governors will be taken up at an Oct. 4 meeting of the group's executive committee.

Swainson seeks to have Barnett censured for leading the fight against attempts by James H. Rouse, a 70-year-old veteran, to become the first Negro student to enroll at the University of Mississippi.

The censure demand was made in a telegram last week to Gov. Albert D. Rosellini of Washington, chairman of the governors' conference.

In a return telegram, Warren A. Bishop, administrative assistant to Rosellini, told Swainson his demand will be discussed at the Oct. 4 meeting.

Agent Has Short Life

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — "Who's Who in the U.S.S.R.," a volume compiled by the Munich Institute of Soviet Research, says the life expectancy of a Soviet Security agent is 46 years.

A contract agreement with Harry M. Dwyer, Associates, Inc., for plans and general architectural services for a new community recreation center will be up for approval at tonight's City Commission meeting.

The contract names the firm of McAdams, Everly & Associates, Inc., of Winnetka, Ill., as special consultants to the local architect.

Commissioners have tentatively agreed to spend up to $200,000 on the center, to be located on Wesson Street near the Rotary Park and Pontiac Water Department facilities.

Also on tonight's agenda, the loan and grant contract and a resolution authorizing issuance of temporary loan notes for Pontiac's urban renewal project, R-44, will be up for approval for the third consecutive week.

POSTPONED TWICE

Final approval and authorization to sign the contract forms has been postponed twice to work out legal difficulties in scheduling of the Riverfront improvements as specified in the contract.

City administrators today said there still remains a possibility of another postponement if the city cannot reach an agreement with the city of Pontiac.

Red China Charges Indian Troop Attack

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China said today Indian troops killed three of its frontier sentries and wounded two officers in an attack on a Chinese guard post in Tibet yesterday.

"The Chinese frontier guards were forced to take resolute measures for self-defense and return the fire," the New China News Agency reported in a broadcast from Peking.

It said fighting continued this afternoon.

The agency said the latest report from the region indicated that Indian troops had crossed into the Chongqing area—which is claimed by both sides—and attacked the guard post west of the Che-Jao Bridge.

Deports for Moscow

TOKYO (AP)—Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the left-wing Path Lao and vice premier of the coalition government in Laos, left Peking today for Moscow, the New China News Agency reported. It said Souphanouvong is visiting the Soviet Union for medical treatment.

George Jessel Blasts Madison Avenue, TV

By EARL WILSON

ROME—I packed away my fed in Italy but wished I hadn't when I saw George Jessel parading in the Excelsior lobby for he wore a khaki officer's uniform... bare knees... high socks... an officer's cap with a military insignia—and looked like a Hollywood version of Gen. Montgomery.

"Where are you going?" I asked.

"To the Colosseum with my troops... I mean my tourists," replied "General" Jessel, a tour conductor now, the m.c. of the only tour where you also get personal recollections of Al Jolson's and Jessel's ex-wives.

"Jolson wouldn't let me deliver his eulogy," Jessel said as we sat at Capriccio's for dinner. "Jolie said, 'I'll be damned if anybody's going to steal my funeral!'"

"How would you advise young people to go into show business?" I asked him.

"I'd advise them not to. It's got as much future as the razor strop business."

"But television..."

"Television isn't show business. It's the advertising business. It's Madison Avenue." The General chomped his cigar and looked a pretty Italian waitress up and also down. "It has ruined America."

U.S. Defector 'an Intellectual'

U. of Miami Scientist Says Man Who Fleed to Cuba Is 'Clever'

MIAMI (UPI)—Richard Bourret, an American who reportedly defected to Cuba, was described last night as a well-built intellectual who was "rather clever" in one field of research.

A Cuban government newspaper identified Bourret as an American who became fed up with "war mongering" elements in the United States and defected to Communist Cuba.

Dr. Fritz Kocay, oceanographer at the University of Miami's Marine Laboratory, said Bourret worked as his assistant in 1958 and 1959.

He did theoretical research in diffusion in the water through such experiments as putting dye in the water and studying its spread, Kocay said.

"In that one field, which is a narrow one, he was rather clever," said Kocay.

He said Bourret was "definitely the intellectual type."

At Vero Beach, Fla., an aunt of Bourret, Mrs. Hortense Jewett, called him a "very fine man and very much loved by his family."

"He is a wonderful boy and a wonderful family man," she said.

She said she had not heard about his trip to Cuba and had not heard from him in three months. Mrs. Jewett said she had been worried about her nephew.

If Cotton King, Rice Is Queen

WASHINGTON—Cotton reigns as king, but rice was queen mother of the South's magnolia-and-moonlight era.

Though historians disagree on the exact date, South Carolina tradition holds that pioneer settler Henry Woodward bought a sea captain of Madagascar rice from a sea captain in 1686.

In 1686 time Woodward harvested an excellent crop. The alien grain grew so well in the damp soil of the tidewater that he gave surplus seed to friends.

These crops marked the founding of the plantation system which flourished for almost 200 years, the National Geographic Society says.

The golden time of rice civilization produced antebellum life with its stately balls, barbecues, duels, hunts and horse races.

Today, South Carolina grows only a small portion of the United States crop, which has increased in the past two decades to the present level of about 5.4-billion pounds a year. California, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas are the major producers.

New Technique Saving Tobacco Industry Millions

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—The tobacco industry in the United States is in a "technological revolution" that is saving about $100 million annually in the manufacturing costs of cigarettes and cigars, according to W. P. Cadogan, of the American Machine and Foundry Co., Springfield, Conn.

Cadogan told a symposium at a recent meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers that the revolution involves mostly the use of "sheet" tobacco. This was described as grinding dried tobacco to 60 to 80 mesh size and bonding it together with an adhesive derived from tobacco stems. These stems formerly were discarded as waste.

Release 9 Caribou on Island for Study

GANDER, Nfld. (AP)—Nine adult caribou have been released on uninhabited Brunette Island, off Newfoundland's south coast, as part of a unique caribou transplanting program conducted by the Wildlife Branch of the Provincial Resources Department.

The caribou were captured in the interior of Newfoundland with the help of a drug-injecting dart. The department hopes they will provide scientific information about caribou breeding potential, migrating instincts, behavior, growth and survival.

Unit on Aging Seeking State's Oldest Couple

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Commission on aging would like to find out who the oldest couple is in Michigan, and which couple has been married the longest.

Gary D. Hansen, commission director, says that when those couples are identified, they will become honorary members of the Senior Service Corps, a new branch of the commission.

School Bond Issue OK'd

Nikita Stewing, U.S. Simmering as Berlin Comes to Boil

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Just because Premier Khrushchev is a frustrated man, Berlin may become an American crisis before year's end.

That city is high in the consciousness of the Kennedy administration, particularly Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who recently warned that the next few months may be dangerous ones.

"I would say that the crisis to day in terms of military requirements and potential military operations is more severe than at any time since the actual combat operations of the Korean War," McNamara said.

Khrushchev's frustration comes from four years of demanding a peace settlement with Communist East Germany—Berlin lies 110 miles inside it—and four years of being stiff-armed by the West.

KEEPS DEMAND
Twice in that time Khrushchev set a six-months' deadline for a settlement and twice abandoned it. But he has never abandoned his basic demand.

And, because he hasn't, there's a limit to how long he can go through this performance without looking like a straw man instead of the strong man he talks of being.

Earlier this month the Russians hinted they would accept still a further postponement—until after the American elections in November.

The reason, they suggested, was that the United States would be too occupied with its domestic problem until then to negotiate.

The kind of settlement Khrushchev had in mind would require:

1. Acknowledgment by the Western Allies of the legitimacy of the East German Communist regime, a Russian puppet.

2. Agreement that henceforth the East Germans would control the access routes—land and air—by which the West send men and supplies into Berlin.

That's the part of the Khrush-

Equally deadly underwater was this:

1. For the West to acknowledge that the East German Communists were the legitimate rulers of East Germany would mean, for the West, abandoning the idea of West and East Germany might one day be unified.

The idea that they could be united is strictly a Western political myth anyway. It may please this country's West German allies to think the now divided Germany may be pulled together again. But it's only realistic to understand that, since the Communists hold East Germany, they are never going to surrender it or take a chance on losing it.

2. Khrushchev and the East Germans want the Allies out of Berlin and, by turning full control of the access routes over to the at least, the attempt would be made.

The West doesn't want to give up the myth of a united Germany and it reacts against any move toward letting the East German control the Berlin access position in Berlin.

There the two sides stand with a settlement no nearer now than it was four years ago or at any other time since World War II.

Khrushchev has to consider his relations with the East German Communists. They want recognition. He has promised it to them. He hasn't delivered. The more time passes, the more the pressure is on him to deliver.

So—he says if the West won't make a settlement with East Germany, he will sign a peace treaty with it, turning over control of the access routes to East Germany.

But here again there is some frustration for him. If he turned over the access routes and the East Germans tried to shut out the West from Berlin, it might mean war.

But neither Khrushchev nor the rest of the Russians can win war over the German city. They've had enough grief from Germany for generations.

Therefore, if he signed a peace treaty with the East Germans, he'd either have to put restraints on them or chance a war with the West by restraints on Western access to Berlin.

It's an unhappy position for him and it has been for a long time. But he has to do something eventually.

Don't Cling to Those Daydreams; Change 'Em

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions:

Uicars are one price of foolish dreams held too long. Anybody who retains at 40 the same ambitions he had at 20 probably hasn't taken the trouble to grow up.

People should change their ambitions periodically just as they do the oil in their motor cars—if they are seeking the best performance in life.

A man who never is satisfied with the weather usually has something else that is secretly bothering him more.

JUCIEST SCANDAL

You always hear the juiciest scandal from those who begin by saying, "I don't like to gossip."

The Good Lord gives pimples to adolescents to teach them humility; without pimples they'd be really insufferable.

If caviar sold for a dime a shovelful, half the people who now say they adore it would rather die than be caught eating it in public.

It isn't common sense that put a crimp in the popularity of night clubs. People just don't have the stamina to make the long trip home to the suburbs after a night out on the town.

Nothing surprises a blind beggar more than a patron who takes a pencil from him after dropping a coin in his cup.

The most poetic utterance I ever heard by a child was made by a Welsh lad on a Sunday morning in London during wartime: "Oh, Mother, I saw my own true love in church today. And never saw her again."

Maxim for career women: Men rarely marry an office gal they borrow money from between pay days—but they sure do appreciate having her handy.

Anyone under 50 who won't eat corn on the cob in a restaurant is either a snob or suffers from an inferiority complex. If over 50, he may just lack confidence in his false teeth.

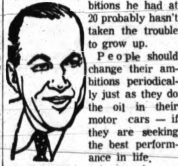

The stingiest men are often those who carry their money in a billfold inside their coat. The most generous are those who carry it wadded up in their right hand pants pocket—where they can get at it faster.

Whenever I hear a wife brag that her husband brings her breakfast in bed before leaving for his job, I instinctively feel sorry for her—not for him. He's beyond pity.

Being good-humored in this life is something you have to learn as you go along. The proof: No body was ever born laughing.

40 Years Experience!

LONDON (UPI) — Registrar Kathleen Busby retired today after 40 years of conducting civil marriages. She is a spinster.

British Urge Halt in Cuban Arms Traffic

Shipowners Advised to Avoid Action After Rusk's NATO Appeal

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro announced today the Soviet Union plans to build a major port in Cuba as a base for its Atlantic fishing fleet.

From Our News Wires
The British government today advised shipowners to avoid carrying arms to Fidel Castro's Cuba.

The plea was made by Transport Minister Ernest Marples in a letter to the 800 members of the British Chamber of Shipping.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has appealed to North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies to shut off the use of their ships to transport Communist goods to Cuba.

U.S. shipping interests, meanwhile, with the support of waterfront unions and some congressmen, are pressing for a free world boycott of Russian cargoes bound for Communist-infiltrated Cuba.

The American Shipowners' Association and the National Maritime Union spearheaded the drive with appeals to international organizations in their fields to cooperate in such a boycott.

The NMU also ordered its members and affiliates to "keep hands off all cargo for Cuba." In some harbors, picket lines are already backing the union's stand.

CARRYING CARGO
In Ottawa, a reliable informant said eight Canadian-owned ships have been carrying cargo between the Soviet Union and Cuba in the past 12 months.

Some of the ships have been operating a regular shuttle service between ports in the Soviet Union and Cuba, the source added. The ships are owned by (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Passed for White

Negro Attended Ole Miss

NEW YORK (AP)—A fair-complexioned Negro who passed for white has disclosed he spent nine months as a student at the all-white University of Mississippi in 1945-46.

"Right now," he said today, "they're fighting a battle they don't know they lost years ago." Harry S. Murphy Jr., 35, was referring to the current battle over admitting James H. Meredith, a Negro, to Ole Miss.

Murphy, a native of Atlanta, where his father is in the printing business, is doing similar work in New York where he has lived the past nine years.

The New York Times said University of Mississippi files showed that Murphy had been a student there in 1945-46.

Murphy said his race was never questioned when he entered Ole Miss and lived on the Oxford campus as a Navy V-12 student.

LEFT OLE MISS
When the Navy in May 1946 disbanded its V-12 program—a combination academic and officer-training course—Murphy said he returned to Atlanta and later enrolled there at Morehouse College, a Negro school for men.

The Times said a check of Morehouse records substantiated this.

Murphy said he graduated from Morehouse in 1951 with a degree in business administration.

He said it was quite possible that when a transcript of his records was sent there—from Ole Miss, the latter's officials were still unaware he was a Negro.

JFK Gets His OK on Reserve Call-Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has approved and sent to President Kennedy a measure authorizing him to muster 150,000 Reserves if he thinks they are needed as Cold War troubleshooters.

The House shouted down several amendments and passed it by a 342-13 roll call vote Monday after several Republicans questioned the measure's worth.

Strong Wind Eases Before Race Starts

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)—Gretel and Weatherly sailed out on another sunny day today for the fifth—and possibly last—race for the America's Cup.

The wind had been blowing at about 12 knots but two hours before the scheduled start of the race it dropped off sharply.

It was not good news for the Australians because their boat moves far better in a stiff breeze.

There was considerable haze over the water and visibility was about three to four miles.

That put additional importance on the job of navigation in finding and turning the navy tug which is the turning mark.

D. B. Varner, chancellor of Michigan State University Oakland today was named chairman of a 25-man advisory commission on health care by Gov. John B. Swainson.

The commission was appointed on last year's extensive study report by another commission on prepaid hospital and health care.

The advisory commission was one of the recommendations of the earlier study and will be operated as a permanent unit, the governor said.

Swainson said the commission will review the findings of the past three-part study conducted by the earlier commission and the University of Michigan.

Other members of the commission include Dr. Albert Heustis, state health commissioner, and Sherwood Colburn.

She Stumps the Land on Peace Quest

By DICK HANSON
Peace Pilgrim is a marathon walker who isn't out to break any records although she already has covered 20,700 miles by shank's mare.

She has a mission—one she gave herself.
Miss Pilgrim, age "past 50," walks for peace.

Heads turned, people stared as the little figure dressed in a navy blue sweat shirt, blue slacks and blue canvas shoes strode through downtown Pontiac yesterday.

"Peace Pilgrim" was emblazoned in white letters across the shirt front, and the back bore the message "Walking 25,000 Miles for World Peace" in equally large letters.

Only her gray hair bespoke Miss Pilgrim's age. She wouldn't have revealed her years to those she passed even if they had the effrontery to ask.

What Miss Pilgrim wants to talk about is peace; and she is willing to talk with anyone on the subject.

"Walking is a form of prayer for me," she explained, "and is intended to inspire others to work for peace in their own way."

ACROSS CONTINENT

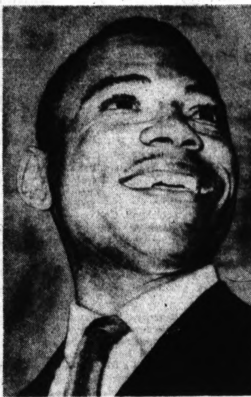

Miss Pilgrim gets to talk with many people as she hoofts it across the continent. She has walked from the West Coast to New England's shore three times since first setting out in 1953, she said. Her travels afoot have included Canada, and Mexico as well.

She passed through Pontiac once before in 1956.

Survivors of Ditching Tell Stories of Courage

LONDON (AP)—American survivors and their dependents calmly went through a "ditching drill" as their Flying Tiger aircraft plunged into the stormy Atlantic.

The heroic story of courage in the last fateful moments before the crash landing of the Super Constellation in darkness Sunday night was told today by some of the 48 survivors—44 men and four women.

Twelve of the 36 persons aboard the four-engine chartered airliner are known dead. Bodies of 10 men and two women were recovered.

Sixteen, including two children, are missing.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman said at noon: "There is little hope that any more survivors will be found unless a raft is remaining aloft somewhere."

The captain of the plane—described as a hero by others—said his crew of eight and the 68 passengers were brave and magnificent when he told them he had to ditch.

There was no panic and this averted a greater loss of life.

Survivors aboard the Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure and the tiny Swiss freighter Celerina told of the last minutes as the plane dropped toward the tossing waves 500 miles west of Ireland.

"Ditching drill, advice and a running commentary were given to the passengers during those last few hideous moments before impact," a radio report from the Bonaventure said.

"This was believed to have been given by the navigator of the aircraft whose position reporting, incidentally, was proved excellent. As a result of this briefing, survivors and those bodies recovered were all wearing life jackets."

SEAMEN RISK LIVES

The crew of the Celerina risked death to rescue the survivors from rafts in the storm-tossed Atlantic. One crewman was reported injured.

A helicopter from the Canadian aircraft carrier made 13 trips to Bonaventure said.

Monday "under the most difficult conditions"—a radio message said—to land medical supplies, clothing and cigarettes on the Celerina.

"There is a doctor on board the Celerina, thought to be one of the survivors, and he has sufficient supplies to tend the injured until their arrival in Antwerp," the Bonaventure said.

GM's 1963 Cars, Trucks to Have 2-Year Warranty

DETROIT (AP)—If the other automakers follow the lead of General Motors Corp., you'll find a two-year or 24,000-mile warranty comes along with your 1963 model car or truck.

GM announced its extended warranty last night. There was no immediate public reaction from other automakers beyond "no comment."

The currently prevailing warranty of 12 months or 12,000 miles was started by Ford Motor Co. with introduction of 1961 models. GM and the others matched that.

Only the Lincoln, Ford's luxury car, currently carries a warranty of two years or 24,000 miles, which ever comes sooner.

Chrysler Corp. announced a month ago a conditional five-year or 50,000-mile warranty for major parts of the power train, including engine and transmission in 1962 models.

Russia Doesn't . . .

We Must Treasure Press Freedom

Paul Miller, president of the big Gannett newspaper group and first vice president of the Associated Press, is one of the top newspapermen in the world. The Gannett Co. includes 20 important publications and some radio stations.

Mr. Miller recently returned from a trip to Russia, and he just delivered a stirring talk to Gannett newspapermen in Rochester. He opened his cogent and thought-provoking speech with the following words:

"This summer I saw at first hand what it means to live and work where freedom of the press and freedom of speech are unknown; where the people for the most part are permitted to know only what their rulers wish them to know, to see only what their rulers wish them to see, to go only where their rulers wish them to go, to live only where their rulers wish them to live. I returned with a deeper appreciation of America and all that America stands for—and with a renewed sense of obligation and responsibility to our country and to the work which joins us.

"Basic to the defense and preservation of America is a free and responsible press; and under press I include radio and television.

"Our job is to gather and disseminate truthful news, to background and illuminate it for better understanding, and to comment on it with independence and candor. . . . There can be no better contribution to a republic."

We urge the seven members of the City Commission and the city attorney to read and reread Mr. Miller's words. He epitomizes the thoughts of 180-million Americans—plus our forefathers. We urge the Pontiac City Commission and the city attorney to step in line with the rest of the nation and rescind the current resolution which denies taxpayers, the public and The Press free access to police records.

The whole thing's completely un-American.

Court Orders Miss. Officials Not to Interfere

Ruling Prohibits All
From Trying to Halt
Registration Action

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals issued a sweeping restraining order today prohibiting Gov. Ross Barnett and a large number of county, city and other Mississippi officials from interfering with the registration of Negro James H. Meredith at the University of Mississippi.

In addition to Barnett, the order names Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson, Commissioner of Public Safety T. B. Birdsong, and district attorneys, police chiefs and sheriffs whom the court described as representatives of their authority throughout the entire state.

The order was signed by three judges of the appellate court. They set a hearing for Friday in New Orleans.

The order was issued on the request of the U.S. Justice Department, which only Monday pressed a contempt charge against university officials, leading to the promise by officials that Meredith would be registered.

VOYS ACTION

The promise of the officials, however, came in the face of countermoves at Jackson by Gov. Barnett, who has sworn he will go to jail rather than see Meredith enrolled at Ole Miss.

Among other things, Barnett issued an executive order calling for the arrest of any federal official attempting to arrest any Mississippi official for action in the Meredith case—an order that now stands head on against the U.S. Supreme Court.

A Justice Department appeal said that under the wording of the order, any district attorney, sheriff, or police chief in the state of Mississippi could be served and made a party of the case.

The officials specifically named in the order were selected only as representatives of the numerous individuals who hold such posts throughout the state.

Specifically, the order prohibits the officials from "interfering with or obstructing by any means or in any manner" the registration of Meredith.

It also bars the state officials from "obstructing, by force, threat, arrest or otherwise, any officer or agent of the United States in the performance of duties in connection with" the enrollment of Meredith.

The order underscores an earlier appeals court directive that the state of Mississippi must not bring prosecution against Meredith "under any statute, ordinance, rule or regulation whatever," stemming from his attempts to enroll at the university.

Estes' Attorney Moves for 'Fair' Delayed Trial

ESTES ATTORNEY—J. 42 ERB TYLER, Tex. (UPI) — President Kennedy and every other citizen of the United States has pronounced Billie Joe Estes guilty of theft, defense attorney John D. Coker said today in a motion for postponement of the case.

His motion was pending as Estes' trial moved into its second day. Dunagan was expected to grant the delay.

GM Will Start 2-Year Warranty

Industry for more than 25 years has been 90 days or 4,000 miles, whichever came first.

Some warranties have protected only the original purchaser, but GM says its new one will cover subsequent owners within the time and mileage limits.

In addition, GM said its new policy will cover the entire vehicle, "including all equipment and accessories manufactured or supplied by GM divisions, except tires and tubes, and delivered to the original retail GM dealer."

The warranty applies to all GM-made passenger cars and trucks, but the company said that, as in the past, it will not cover deterioration of soft trim and appearance items due to wear and exposure, normal maintenance services (such as tune-ups and brake adjustments) and the replacement of service items (sparkplugs and filters) made in connection with such services.

Skybolt Missile Falls Short of 'Total' Success

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP) — The Skybolt air-launched ballistic missile recorded today the most successful flight in its young test program, but fell short of total success.

Trouble in the second stage caused the engine to burn out sooner than intended and the rocket fell short of its planned 900-mile range.

The missile was launched from an F4H bomber streaking more than five miles high just off the Florida coast.

Nevertheless, officials said they were pleased with test results.

3 Officers Shot in Mob Action

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A shotgun blast fired from the darkness early today wounded three St. Louis County police officers who were trying to disperse an unruly crowd of some 300 persons in suburban Kinloch. A civilian was wounded.

The crowd was protesting the killing Sunday of a man by a Kinloch policeman.

Flareups of violence have been occurring ever since the Sunday shooting in the predominantly Negro community of 8,500. Both the man killed and the policeman were Negroes.

Five were shot Monday night and early today in several violent incidents, a school, and a new home being built by the Kinloch chief of police as the mob got out of hand.

Police questioned more than 70 persons and gave them the 30-minute tests following the shooting. All were released.

A blaze in the home of Kinloch Chief Roosevelt Hinkins was extinguished before it caused serious damage.

SCHOOL BURNED OUT

But a five-room frame wing of Dumbear grade school burned out and there was no school today for 1,600 children.

None of the three wounded officers, patrolmen Billy Rushing, 33, Hugh Rodgers, 26, and Kenneth Armstrong, 25, was critically injured. Rushing returned to duty. The others remained in County Hospital under observation. All are white.

Kinloch Mayor Clarence Lee said "browbeaten and even harrassed" because of the killing of Darnell Dorth, 28, by a Kinloch patrolman, Israel Mason, 74, touched off the violence.

Mason, suspended pending a coroner's investigation, said he was trying to subdue Dorth and his gun went off accidentally. The officer said Dorth had refused to accept a curfew driving warrant.

The officers who were wounded had been summoned to aid the seven-man Kinloch force in dispersing a mob that gathered at a drive-in cafe near the Kinloch police station.

At times a mob chanted: "We want Mason!"

Throughout the night, Kinloch volunteer firemen answered fire calls and put each blaze out, even saving the main brick building of the grade school. The three authorities said, were the work of arsonists.

The three wounded officers were among some 85 sent to the mob scene. Armstrong is a canine corps officer and his dog, the, was slightly wounded by the shotgun pellets.

But that ended the mob scene. Officers separated groups of persons, mostly young Negro men, into groups of 10 and 25, questioned them and then let them go in twos and threes to their homes.

This morning, the town was silent. A few people looked out windows and some stood in doorways, but the streets were clear.

Guido, AF on Guard as Admirals Resign

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Mass President Jose Maria Guido with resignations from the powerful council of admirals confronted a new crisis today. The air force, pledged to his support, ordered an alert of all units for new trouble in Argentina.

There were reports of pockets of discontent in all the services over the new military leadership that kicked out the army command in last week's uprising. The rebels accused the army command of holding Guido a virtual prisoner while plotting a military dictatorship.

Brig. Gen. Cayo Antonio Alsina, air force commander, announced the alert at midnight, asserting: "There are other armed forces which at this time have not defined their allegiance."

Apparently this meant chiefly the navy, although the former was secretary, Gen. Jose Cornejo Saravia, remained a latter holdout against the new direction of the Guido government.

Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, now Guido's army commander in chief, had let the revolt, agreed with Alsina.

Ongania declared, "It is hoped that all armed forces, within a few hours, will announce to all the people that they truly support the national government."

While Guido denounced and got a pledge of support from the navy, Ongania and Alsina showed concern over the action of 25 members of the navy council of admirals in offering their resignations Monday night. The admirals said they wanted to give Guido a new navy secretary, Rear Adm. Carlos Kolundia, freedom of action, Guido named Kolundia to replace Rear Adm. Gaston G. Clemet.

Another Blaze Levels Georgia Negro Church

MACON, Ga. (UPI) — An early morning fire leveled a Negro church here today but the church's pastor said he had no reason to believe it was set by racial terrorists.

"All I know is that I just don't understand how it could have started," said the Rev. C. J. Andrews, pastor of the burned-out St. Matthew Baptist Church.

Fire department officials said they were attempting to find the origin of the blaze but a spokesman said the cause had not been determined several hours after the fire.

It was the fifth Negro church burned in Georgia during recent weeks.

Virile Bernstein's the Perry Como of the Longhair Set

(Editor's Note — Music, Leonard Bernstein discovered, has charms to soothe more than the savage beast. How he has introduced sex appeal to serious music is described in this second article of a series.)

By PHYLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — Leonard Bernstein has a genius for more than making music. He has a formidable genius for attracting women—women of all ages, sizes and occupations.

Housewives, lured into watching his facile face and agile physique on his televised concerts, write adoring letters. Matrons and little girls alike sardine themselves around stage doors through which Bernstein is likely to emerge after a concert. "He exudes sex appeal," wrote a news magazine some years ago, "like a leeky cat."

This flattering, far-out phrase

was followed by a more specific account: "When he decides to give somebody the full charge of charm, the eyes glow like coals that have been blown on, the educated nostrils flare just the least little bit, and the rich low cello voice begins to murmur intelligently."

And then, add to his intelligence and sensitivity, his muscles. Tallish, Bakhshid was the first, on record, to admit his physique. When Bernstein was only a talented student-conductor at Juilliard, in his early 20s, Talliahu watched him lead a final afternoon rehearsal for an evening concert. "Duhling," she said to have told him, "I have gone mad over your back muscles. You must come and have dinner with me."

Protesting that he had a strenuous performance coming up in a very few hours, Bernstein allowed himself to be swept off in her car to a nearby restaurant. They talked, ate and drank. Until, at 9 o'clock, according to a Bernstein biography, the concerned genius discovered he "was having trouble focusing his eyes."

He raced back, dressed, and arrived at the Tanglewood grounds just in time to take the podium.

Proving that females can fall for, but never floor, him — young Bernstein gave, as always, a masterful performance. Since that precarious episode, in a quarter-century career of diligent, fervent work, there is no record of any escapade, however harmless, with the adoring sex. He is a devoted husband to his wife of 11 years, beautiful ex-TV actress Felicia Montealegre, who, incidentally, rooted as to their dismay, they were attracted to him instantly — without reason why.

Felicia admits she fell in love with him at first sight.

She also has said that "Every now and then he just makes you love me. Oh, thank you for loving me!"

From a long-term wife, this is glowing praise, if just a bit hard to take at full value.

But the female sex does not have total hold on "the love Lenny" market. (There is also a distinct "I hate Lenny" club too — a disorganized group of students, almost all of whom claim that Bernstein is a freak — no man can have that many talents, and be legitimate at all of them, is their sour-grapean contention.)

Many men, too, are delighted to watch the Boston-bred, Harvard graduate in action. There are several assets that make the average man admire Bernstein. First, he is the only "high-brow" musician who doesn't make them feel inferior; he talks straight English, even slang. On TV, when explaining opera, he is informative without being stuffy.

"Here, in a nutshell — is a phrase he uses, to introduce a commentary on an operatic libretto.

Bernstein uses words a man can get hold of. "She is," he said, describing Bizet's Carmen, "a true beatnik."

He may be "talking down" to the apprentice music-lover, but the apprentice doesn't realize it.

Other attractions of the versatile Bernstein—a quietly brash charm, a not-overly handsome face, a suit athlete's physique and, most important, an ability to communicate in a genial, friendly manner giving the false impression that he's your nonchalant buddy — the Perry Como of the longhair set.

Actually, Bernstein is not nonchalant. Because he is devoted to everything musical, and because he has so much talent and so many things he still wants to do.

Convict W. German of Treason, Spying

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—Peter Fuhrmann, 47, West German defense official, was convicted yesterday of treason and spying for the Soviet Union and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

The court gave Fuhrmann the full sentence demanded by the prosecution. Time spent in prison since his arrest in November 1961, is to be deducted.

In his trial, Fuhrmann testified that blackmail resulting from a love affair, rather than money, was the reason for his spying.

Reward Hiked to Peak $200,000 in Mail Robbery

CINCINNATI (AP)—The reward offered for solution of the $1.5-million mail truck robbery Aug. 14 near Plymouth, Mass., was raised from $50,000 to $200,000 yesterday. Postal officials said they believe the $200,000 is a record reward offered in the history of American law enforcement.

Postmaster Gen. J. Edward Day announced the increased amount at a news conference here.

He said the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston had authorized him to offer a reward amounting to 10 per cent of the missing currency recovered.

he is almost constantly in a high fever of activity. Lenny, like the fictional Sammy, runs — happily, to be sure, because he enjoys almost every moment of his personal and professional duties — but it is nonetheless swift, tiring running.

Even those who disapprove of Bernstein's multiple activities seem to agree he is not running for the sheer pursuit of more power or fame or money, the usual goals that spur the adrenal glands. But rather because there is so much he wants to do, knows he CAN do, in the world of the arts he devotes his loves. And there's so little time.

FIERCE ENERGY

And he has a fierce energy, pushing him. Wife Felicia said once that he even "plays too hard." With their three children, he is running. He "throws them too high, squeezes them too tight."

Lenny, himself, hinted some time ago that perhaps he was spreading his talents too thin.

"In the next year or two, when I grow up," he is quoted, "I'll have to decide what to do. It used to come so easy. Now I get tired."

On another occasion, after a hectic day of business accomplishment and a night of celebrating followed by a party, he found himself in his bedroom at 3 a.m. After looking at the next day's schedule, he cried, "My God! Who do I think I am — everybody?"

There are a number of people who think that "everybody" who can do "everything" is exactly what Bernstein is. He is constantly surrounded by a cordon of assistants, relatives, friends, agents and musicians, humble and undisciplined or successful.

Hustlers beseech him to come to parties, and he accepts because he loves parties. He loves people. He apparently loves publicity (at a Philharmonic rehearsal this week, he saw his picture on the cover of a magazine and grimaced with obvious self-entanglement). And he loves being just what he is — the gregarious, admired, revered, in-demand man of talent who has struck it big because he deserved it.

"Lenny is voracious in every way," wife Felicia said. "He has an enormous capacity for enjoyment. It's very alive-making."

The millions of men, women, and adoring (even possessive) children who have seen him feel that alive, and it makes them, and the music, and the man a very real single entity. They love him. And this is how Bernstein has said he and deeply moving experience.

Triple-Engine Failure Extremely Rare Bad Fuel May Be Behind Ditching

By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON — Civil Aeronautics Board investigators will check the possibility of fuel contamination in the ditching of a Flying Tiger super constellation in the Atlantic, it was learned yesterday.

A CAB spokesman said failure of even two engines on a four-engine airliner is a rarity and the triple malfunction reported by the Flying Tiger crew was considered a one-in-10-million shot.

He said trouble with the fuel system or the fuel itself would be the most likely target of investigation.

The ditching resulted in the first fatalities ever to occur in a "controlled" water landing in the Atlantic by a U.S. scheduled airline since the carriers began flying land-based transports over the route 16 years ago.

There have been several ditchings in the Pacific, including one that cost the lives of all 36 passengers and a seven-man crew.

Involved was a Pan American World Airways Stratocruiser which disappeared Nov. 8, 1957, on a flight from San Francisco to Honolulu.

Only a few bodies and very little wreckage were found. But the victims were wearing life jackets, indicating there had been advance warning of trouble and a likely ditching attempt.

The two most successful airline ditchings also occurred in the Pacific.

The first was on Oct. 16, 1956, when Capt. Richard Ogg of Pan Am landed a crippled Stratocruiser in smooth water with not one of the 34 passengers and seven crewmembers even getting his feet wet.

A Northwest Orient Airlines DC-7C with 58 passengers and crew of seven ditched off Luzon in the Philippines July 14, 1950. There was only one fatality — an elderly woman passenger who died of shock and exposure.

Ditching a large aircraft is regarded as one of the most difficult maneuvers in aviation.

A plane hitting the water is exposed to greater shock forces than if it crashed on a cement runway. Most successful ditchings have taken place in relatively smooth water. Landing in choppy seas calls for the utmost skill.

CAB Would Keep 'No Show' Penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) yesterday told the airlines that their "no show" penalty plan should be continued.

Alan Boyd, CAB chairman, said in a letter to the airlines that the plan—involving a penalty of up to $40 for passengers who fail to cancel reservations they do not use—"has thus far been beneficial."

Junior Editors Quiz on COLORS

QUESTION: Why are some colors considered "cold" and others "hot"?

ANSWER: The different colors travel toward our eyes in vibrations of light called "lightwaves." Some waves are longer, others shorter; each color has a different "wave length."

The longer wave length colors are the very strong bright ones like scarlet, orange and yellow. Flame is orange and yellow; we step away when we see it; it seems close and of course is extremely hot.

So, it is quite natural for artists to speak of the long wave length colors as "warm" or "hot" colors. These are the ones on the right side of our color scale.

The colors on the other side are the shorter wave colors. Air always seems distant and cool; we think of our planet being cooled by its blanket of atmosphere.

Since the short rays of blue scatter more widely than the longer "hot" rays, the sky and distance has a bluish tone, and the distance gives it a cool feeling. In the picture, an art instructor is explaining to a student that to make the mountain look far away, enough cool colors should be used.

As you see by the color wheel, he means violet, blue and blue green.

Nasser Sets Up Council for Administrative Help

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser has tapped his long time political aide, Aly Sabry, to head a new collective leadership as prime minister. Nasser will retain overall power, as chief of state in the United Arab Republic.

In a radio-television address to the nation Monday night, Nasser said he wanted to lay aside his administrative duties to devote more time to building what he calls an Arab brand of socialism.

The speech was billed in advance as filling in details of the national charter he announced last May. In that charter he promised to broaden his regime through collective leadership, free elections and an equitable distribution of wealth.

It was the broadest overhaul of government machinery since Nasser and his band of young officers sent King Farouk from the throne into exile with the coup of 1952. Sabry was appointed head of a new Executive Council which collectively will assume executive power, Nasser said. In effect, this makes Sabry prime minister and chief of government.

Also created, however, was a presidency council headed by Nasser to have responsibility for policy and over-all planning.

ALY SABRY

The Executive Council decisions will be collective and Sabry will be unable to act on his sole authority, Nasser emphasized.

In the one-party, Socialist government, a woman will be named for the first time to high office in this country of Moslems, who by tradition keep their women in the background.

Nasser said she will be made a member of the Cabinet and will hold the portfolio of minister of social affairs. Nasser named no names beyond disclosing that Sabry, long his secretary of state for presidential affairs and his diplomatic troubleshooter, would be prime minister.

Women Status Group Set to Hear Swainson

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Swainson will be luncheon host today to the first meeting of his own governor's commission on the status of women.

The 25-member group, first state-wide group of its kind in the United States, was created by the governor last month to study and make recommendations concerning discrimination against women in public and private employment.

Guest speaker at this first meeting will be Marguerite Gilmore, midwest regional director of the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Dept. of Labor.

She will report on the work of President Kennedy's committee on the status of women, a national group engaged in similar studies.

Actor Banned From Car

Watch Type of Bra

Exercise Can Aid Curve

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

As I said once before in this column, women either have too much bust or too little bust or they are famous! Few women are satisfied with the size of the bust. Many also dislike the sag they have.

Special exercises which build up the chest muscles are the answer if you wish to increase your bust measurement and diminish the sag. Remember, also, that the type bra you wear and the way it fits, has a great influence in preserving the lovely curves.

TRY WEIGHTS

Try the following motions for increasing your bust measurement. Take a weight or book in each hand. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor overhead.

Keep the books in your hands as you raise the arms overhead and slowly lower them to the floor at your sides. Raise the arms upward and slowly lower them to the floor in the overhead position. Continue, slowly, with the weights in your hands throughout the exercise.

This is also a good one. Stand tall. Raise your arms out at your sides, shoulder height, palms facing forward. Swing the arms to ward one another, and past, crossing the arms with the right arm over the left. Swing the arms back to the side position.

Again cross the arms, this time with the left arm over the right. Continue. Concentrate on the forward swing. Do not pull back hard on the backward return. It is the contraction of the muscle which builds, not the stretch.

When weights are used, the muscles must work harder. Therefore, these are an aid to development. Few women are informed about what type bra to select, what to watch for when buying, and how to determine the size they should wear. The right brassiere is one of the most important factors in preserving a youthful bustline.

If you would like to have my booklet, "Your Bust," which tells you about bras, exercises, and gives you lots more information concerning getting or preserving a beautiful bustline, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Petitions for Recall Move at Mid-Point in Avondale

The Avondale School District Improvement Association has passed the half-way point in its collection of signatures on petitions to recall four school board members.

Over half of the 1,500 signatures sought have been collected. It was reported at a meeting of the organization's central committee last night.

The school board officers the ASDA is seeking to remove from office are Floyd Cobb, president; David W. Hackett, vice president; Raymond N. Baker, secretary, and Mrs. Genevieve Porter, treasurer.

The target date for collection of the signatures has been extended from Oct. 1 to Oct. 10. Thus far only 1/2 of the area involved has been canvassed, according to Thomas B. Rocker, 1254 Ashover Dr., ASDA president.

This means the petitions will be submitted to the board of education on Oct. 20, according to Rocker. He said 10 days would be needed to make duplicate copies, which the ASDA would keep.

The board of education has a maximum of 30 days in which to verify the authenticity of the signatures on the petitions.

A special election will be conducted within 35 days after verification of the signatures unless a regular election is scheduled within 90 days.

In other business Rocker expressed dissatisfaction that the school board had "ignored the citizens' feelings."

The school board has still not set down in open session to discuss the citizens' report," he said. This report was submitted prior to the board issue in June.

The central committee of the ASDA also discussed the curriculum of study offered by the schools. Plans were made to look into a gradeless school system for the first three years of elementary education.

It was also decided to have representatives of the organization look into the workings of other area school systems in an attempt to learn how to better their own.

The committee decided to investigate the possibility of a public library in the area, which would be supported by Bloomfield, Pontiac and Avon townships.

He said representatives of the ASDA would be sent to meetings of the neighboring townships and Troy to determine the feasibility of a public library and to ascertain how much financial support could be secured.

Rocker also spoke of the dissatisfaction of the arbitrary school district boundaries. "We've become second-class citizens," he said. He was referring to the divisions made in townships and other municipalities when school districts are constituted.

School Vote's on Thursday

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — as a storage facility by the district.

No tax increase will be needed if the bond issue is approved Thursday, Schmidt promised. The bond proposal is $250,000.

School Supt. Louis E. Schmidt said today the funds are needed to provide facilities for the rapidly growing population in the district, which covers Livonia and the townships of Farmington and Redford.

School enrollment there has grown by 150 per cent since 1950, said Schmidt.

Based on a census of preschool-age children now living in the district, he explained, enrollment from kindergarten through the fifth grade is expected to increase at least 30 per cent during the next four years.

This does not cover any enrollment increases caused by more families moving into the district, added the superintendent.

MAJOR ADDITIONS

Major additions financed by the proposed bond issue include a minimum of seven new classrooms and a library at Botsford Elementary School, eight classrooms at Clarenceville Junior High School and two new classrooms and a multipurpose room at Westbrook Elementary School.

Also included in plans by the board of education are new physical education facilities at Clarenceville Senior High School and new administrative offices.

The administration offices will be housed in either a new building or in the old Central Elementary School, depending on which can be accomplished at less cost, said Schmidt.

Red 'STOP' Case New Safety Gadget

A Birmingham firm has introduced a new safety device designed to protect children from traffic accidents while they are walking to and from school.

The new product, a bright red "STOP" emblazoned on its side in large luminous letters, is being sold by dairies in Oakland County.

The case, designed to hold lunches, books, sports equipment or extra clothing, is manufactured by Bop-Decker Plastics, Inc., 671 S. Elm Road.

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — Honey-mooning in the New England states are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harold Baldwin, who exchanged their nuptial vows Saturday evening in the Oxford Methodist Church.

Rev. Frederick Clark performed the candlelight ceremony in the presence of 200 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Gilling, 3980 Metamora Road. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baldwin, 3455 Brauer Road, Hadley Township.

A floor-length gown of lace featuring a sweetheart neckline accented with sequins and pearls was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The bouquet skirt was styled with net inserts applied in a lace design.

Her single strand pearl necklace was a gift from the bridegroom. A sequin crown held her finger-tips veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of Stephanotis centered with a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Mrs. David Kirby of Oxford attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. David Strong of Metamora, sister of the bridegroom, and Janet Bass of Oxford.

Janis Caudell of Lansing, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl with Richard Kirby, nephew of the bride, serving as ring bearer.

Assisting his brother as best man was Carr Baldwin of Oxford. The guests were seated by Fred Gilling of Oxford, brother of the bride, and Ron Duncan of Lapeer. A reception was held in the Thomas Community Hall immediately following the ceremony. The newlyweds will reside in Oxford.

Cave-In Traps Three Workers

One Suffers Fractures in Both His Legs in Southfield Accident

SOUTHFIELD — Three men were trapped for an hour yesterday in a cave-in at a sewer construction project at Nine Mile and Southfield roads.

One of the men, Cleo Garner, 42, of Detroit, suffered compound fractures of both legs in the mishap. He is in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

The others, Clayton Anderson, 42, of Highland Park, and James E. Smith, 38, of Detroit, were treated and released at the same hospital.

Southfield Police said they were working in a trench when the accident occurred. Dirt which they had been digging out was piled high around the opening, police said.

Suddenly, the dirt fell on top of the men. Fellow workers for the Frank J. Knight Construction Co. dug them out.

Police said heavy beams and debris formed air pockets in the trench, protecting the men until they could be rescued.

Michigan Bar to Hear Romney

Proposed New State Constitution Also on Assembly Agenda

LANSING — Republican gubernatorial candidate George Romney and the proposed new state constitution headed the list of speakers and subjects today at the State Bar of Michigan convened its 27th annual general assembly.

Plunging into a tight four-day schedule of speeches, panel discussions and debate, the bar group was to hear also from Gov. John B. Swainson and some 50 other speakers.

Romney was to address the young lawyers section of the bar group at a luncheon today with Swainson appearing before another luncheon tomorrow.

Some 1,000 of the state bar's 9,300 members were expected to be present for the annual gathering to hear committee reports on some 61 recommendations covering virtually every aspect of the law.

The assembly will approve or reject the committee recommendations, with its decisions subject to review by the 22-man board of commissioners at a later date.

Also on today's agenda was the annual election of officers, with Maxwell F. Badgley of Jackson slated to replace Ronald M. Ryan of Battle Creek as president.

Badgley, moving up from first vice president, will be replaced in turn by Nathan B. Goodnow of Detroit. Other officers to be named today were:

Christian F. Matthews, Mount Clemens, second vice president; William J. McBrearty of Detroit, re-elected as secretary, and John G. Starr of Grand Rapids, treasurer.

Southfield to Seek Aid on Civic Center

SOUTHFIELD — Mayor S. James Clarkson and City Councilmen agreed last night to apply to the federal government for matching funds for a proposed $7-million civic center here.

Clarkson's agreement came after a short dispute with council members.

When the matter first came up at last night's meeting, Clarkson vetoed the council's resolution which requested the matching funds.

The mayor explained that he would not approve the resolution because an architectural contract for the center had not been approved by City Attorney James M. Ginn after being passed by council.

However, Council President C.

Hugh Dohany told the mayor that the architectural contract with Pirschner and Garrett of Ferndale had been submitted to the city attorney last weekend.

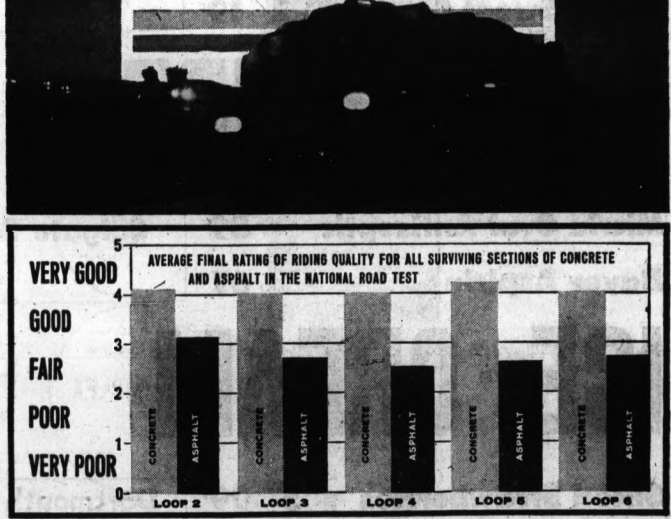

OK'D CHANGES

Dohany said the council had agreed to a few minor changes suggested by Ginn.

The agreement will pave the way for the city to submit its request for the federal government's share of drawings and specifications of some $2-million worth of construction work.

The action was ordered by the council last week after members agreed to apply for matching funds now available since the recent passage of the Public Works Acceleration Act.

Concrete gives taxpayers riding quality that lasts... the National Road Test confirms it

Out of the recent 27-million dollar National Road Test comes significant new information on the performance of concrete and asphalt pavements.

Sponsored by the American Association of State Highway Officials, this road test was the most scientific ever conducted. Side by side on 3 loops near Ottawa, Illinois, concrete and asphalt test sections carried the same truck traffic for two years. Each loop carried light, medium or heavy vehicles.

To determine how well test pavements kept their riding quality, a special rating system called the serviceability index was used. Pavement surfaces were rated on a scale from "0" (very poor) to "5" (very good).

After two years of traffic and the impact of more than 1,100,000 loads, the surviving concrete still averaged "very good," while most of the surviving asphalt averaged "fair."

Here is further evidence that concrete performs better and gives taxpayers long-range riding comfort for streets, roads and Interstate highways.

Motors Holding Ground

Mart Mixed but Trades Active

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed signs of steadying early today after three days of sharp decline. Trading was moderately active.

After resuming the retreat at the opening, prices began to improve in scattered sections of the list and the pattern began to look mixed.

Despite reports that steel orders are still sluggish and the year's output may be the lowest since strikebound 1959, the steels held their ground, most of the leaders trading unchanged.

Motors also held quite well. Ford dipping a fraction while the others showed scant change.

Some of the "growth" stocks, chemicals, and selected issues elsewhere staged recoveries. DuPont came back about 2 points.

IBM recouped about 4 points of recent stiff losses. Polaroid rebounded more than 2 and Litton Industries a point.

Houston Lighting & Power and Homestake declined well over a point. Public Service Electric & Gas dropped another point in a continued slide.

Aerospac issues and electronics were narrowly mixed at worst. Oils and rails also displayed a mixed trend.

American Telephone dipped a fraction after a steady early show.

The latest decline in the market was regarded chiefly as technical, following the summer rally and in the face of state business news.

Prices dipped fractionally on the American Stock Exchange. Issues included Anken Chemical, Edo Corp., "A" Louisiana Land, Polaroid Electronics, Syntex, Tech-Incolor, and Reliance Insurance.

Surveys show they have accepted advertising as a business tool but remain suspicious because its results cannot be worked out on a slide rule.

Jones cited the following three comparisons to show the important position advertising occupies in the corporate financial picture:

1. Profit after taxes have shown little gain in the last 10 years while the advertising expenditure has doubled.

2. Advertising ($12 billion) in 1961 was 52 per cent as large as corporate net profit ($23.3 billion).

3. In nearly half of the companies spending over $5 million annually advertising, the advertising outlay exceeded net profit after taxes.

"All of us in advertising are going to have to justify and measure our efforts far better than we have been doing," Jones said.

Jones advised the adoption of the advertising technique called "Dual Dollars," making each advertising dollar contribute to corporate reputation in addition to selling specific products.

Pressure Weakens Soybean Futures

CHICAGO (AP) — Heavy selling weakened soybean futures during the first several minutes of activity today on the board of trade despite a crushings report that some brokers called bullish.

Soybeans amounted to about a profit on the day, but ended as profit crushing and hedge selling. The grains showed only minor changes in rather quiet dealing.

Soybean crushings during August totaled 34.3 million bushels compared with 34.8 million for July. But the figure was understood to have been considerably less of a decline than expected.
