Martin Strahan Taken on 1st Day of Land Action

Tells Newsmen of March to Seoul, Pyongyang Following Capture

A Pontiac soldier, released by the Reds last night, believes he was the first American military man captured in the Korean war

He is M. Sgt. Martin A. Strahan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Larson of 566 Lenox Ave.

A veteran of major battles in World War II, Strahan was captured the afternoon of July 5, 1950, just four days after the first ground forces landed in Korea. This was just 10 hours after the first clash between American and North Korean ground troops near Osan.

He was a member of Co. B, 21st Regiment, 24th Division, and has been held at Red prison camp No. 3 in Northern Korea.

As Martin climbed down from a Russian truck at Panmunjom last night, according to news wire reports, he told newsmen at Freedom Gate he believed he was the first American taken prisoner by the North Koreans.

He said the North Koreans took the first group of captives to Seoul and then marched them north to Pyongyan where more prisoners were picked up.

"We had GIs and civilians by then," Strahan said, "there were Russian, American, French, British, Turkish, German and Irish civilians with us. We even had four French nuns along."

Strahan said the prisoners were turned over on Oct. 31, 1950 to the "Korean Gestapo", headed by the notorious North Korean sadist known as "The Tiger."

Strahan told the now familiar

Volunteer Workers Swarm to Flint Disaster Project

FLINT (UP) — More than 800 professional building tradesmen and 2,800 volunteers turned out today for the "world's biggest building bee" as this city of 275,000 started rebuilding a tornado-devastated suburb.

The workers swarmed through the Beecher metropolitan district at 8 a. m. (EST) for the start of the two-day home-building marathon.

The first home to take shape was that of the Fetchik family. Within an hour after three aerial bombs sounded the work call, the frame of the one-story home was up, rafters were in place, and 14 men were nailing on the siding.

The goal was 111 new houses for those left homeless when a tornado swept through the Beecher district last June 8, killing 116 persons.

Mayor Donald Reigle called for 5,000 volunteers, saying "we need anyone who can swing a hammer or carry a brick."

Some of the homes flattened by the twister were rebuilt shortly afterward but many families still are living with relatives or in makeshift shelters.

Reigle said "at least 50,000 manhours of work will be needed today and Sunday" to repair the devastation.

"We have nearly 300,000 people living in Flint," he said. "We could put every one of them to work if they'd just show up — but of course we can't expect a miracle like that."

Volunteers came from as far away as Ohio and Indiana. The Mennonites of Indiana had a

Second Ship of PWs Is Docking Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The second shipload of U. S. veterans of Communist prison camps homedocks here this afternoon.

The transport Gen. William F. Hase is expected to dock at 3:30 p.m. (5:30 p.m. EST) with 437 Americans freed by the Communists in the Korean War prisoner exchange at Panmunjom.

Their trip from Korea has taken about two weeks.

All 437 are expected to be free to return to their homes across the nation within a few hours after landing.

Senator Charges Printing Office Has Game Ring

McCarthy Claims Books Are Being Operated by Government Employes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) charged today an organized gambling ring is operating in the government printing office (GPO) and poses a grave threat to national security.

The head of the GPO, public printer Raymond C. Blattenberger, promptly agreed that gambling activities "have a lot to do with the security of our department."

Blattenberger then announced that any printing office employe who "hides behind the Fifth Amendment" will be suspended.

His announcement drew a round of applause from the audience at a hearing conducted by the Senate's permanent investigations committee headed by McCarthy.

A number of witnesses at other hearings by the subcommittee have refused to answer questions on the ground that answers might tend to incriminate them.

The Fifth Amendment to the Constitution gives a witness the right to refuse to answer such questions.

Blattenberger made his statement after a surprise witness, Carl J. Lundmark, refused to tell McCarthy whether he operates a gambling book at the huge government printing plant or whether he netted $25,000 from this operation last year.

The subcommittee has been investigating charges that some employes of the printing office are Communists and may have carried off confidential documents.

McCarthy, sitting as a one-man subcommittee, headed off or a different track today, however, contending that gambling in the GPO could cause employes to get so deeply into debt that they might be easy prey for foreign agents.

The change sidetracked for a time the scheduled appearance as a witness of Philip L. Cole, deputy

FBI Seeks 7th Red Conspirator

Car at Mountain Cabin of Arrested Fugitives Now Being Traced

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—FBI agents said they expect to make at least one more arrest in the wake of Thursday night's dramatic capture of two fugitive leaders in a remote mountain cabin.

The two—Robert George Thompson, 38, and Sidney Steinberg, 38—fled New York in the summer of 1951.

Three other persons were arrested at the cabin near Yosemite Park and a fourth was arrested Friday after tracing a car found at the hideaway.

A second car was discovered at the cabin and the owner of this car is now being sought by authorities, said William Whelan, FBI agent in charge here.

Thompson has been sent to Alcatraz Prison in San Francisco Bay to begin serving a three-year prison term to which he originally was sentenced July 2, 1951.

He was one of 11 top Communist leaders convicted in New York of conspiring to advocate the violent overthrow of the U.S. government.

He now faces the additional charge of unlawful flight to avoid imprisonment — punishable by as much as five additional years.

'WAC' Turns Out Blond, Not Blonde

INCHON, Korea (AP)—The exciting rumor swept through this reception center that an American WAC was coming back from Communist imprisonment.

True enough, the blond hair of a returned prisoner stepping off an ambulance today came down to the shoulders.

But the freed prisoner turned out to be Pfc. Wayne Johnson of Beaver Dam, Ohio.

He went at once to a barber shop, got his hair cut and kept the shorn locks.

"I'm saving this hair," he explained, "because my father told me I'd be bald by the time I was 21."

Husband Killed; Wife Questioned

Police Report Woman Admits Firing Shot; Jealousy Motive

Scarborough Cartrette, 32, of 259 Judson St., was shot to death shortly before noon today.

His wife, Lucy, 33, admitted shooting at her husband with a .32 automatic, but said she didn't know he was dead, according to Capt. Clark M. Wheaton, chief of Pontiac detectives.

Capt. Wheaton said the wife indicated jealousy was the motive for the shooting.

The shooting took place at 105 Judson, home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Wright. The Wrights and Allen Locke, of 99 Judson, were in the kitchen when Mrs. Cartrette arrived looking for her husband. He was asleep in a first floor bedroom. The three men were friends, according to police.

Mrs. Cartrette is reported to have asked her husband for his keys and check. He gave them to her and she departed. She returned a few minutes later and went into the bedroom. One shot was heard by the trio in the kitchen. Cartrette staggered into the living room and a second shot struck him in the chest.

Mrs. Cartrette will make a statement before Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem today, said Wheaton.

Quiz Suspect in Slaying of New York Union Chief

NEW YORK (AP)—Detectives investigating the slaying of a Bronx union leader today picked up for questioning a former $2,000-a-month Yonkers Raceway "trouble shooter."

Bronx District Attorney George B. De Luca said the man, Lawrence (Lar) Lynch, was taken into custody at his Hopewell Junction, N. Y., home.

He was brought to the Bronx for questioning in the fatal shooting yesterday of Thomas F. Lewis, 35, president of Local 32-E, AFL Building Service Employes Union.

The killer, former convict Edward (Snakes) Ryan, 46, was shot dead in a running gunfight with a policeman a few minutes after Lewis was slain. Police expressed belief Ryan was a hired gunman.

The Bronx district attorney's office announced that Lynch, also a former convict, lost his raceway job last spring at the insistence of Lewis.

Assistant District Attorney George Tilzer said that an automobile with license plates traced to Lynch had been seen at about the time of the shooting near the apartment house where Lewis was shot.

A mystery car, which crept along near Ryan as he shot it out with patrolman Vincent Langan, also figured in the probe. After starting and stopping at frequent intervals during the gun battle, the automobile raced away when Ryan was killed.

The car registration was traced to Mrs. Margaret Howell of Ridgefield, N. J.

Three New York detectives and two from Ridgefield kept an all-night vigil at Mrs. Howell's home, watching for the car. Mrs. Howell said her husband, William, was an unemployed dock worker and went to New York in the car yesterday to get an assistance check. Neither Howell nor the car had turned up by morning.

Tilzer said "Lar" Lynch was a friend of Mrs. Howell's husband William, who had been employed at the Yonkers Raceway. Lewis had organized about 1,200 of the Yonkers track employes some three years ago.

Motion for New Trial for Mahoney Filed

Motion seeking a new trial for Pete Mahoney, now serving a prison term at Jackson in the 1944 Aristicrat Club holdup here, was filed in Oakland County Circuit Court today. The motion is scheduled to come before Judge George B. Hartrick Sept. 11.

Mahoney's attorney, Howard Bond, points out that only two witnesses positively linked Mahoney with the crime. These were Henry Luks and Sam Abromovitz, both out of prison on parole at the time. The defense questions the creditability of their testimony. Mahoney also was under investigation in the Senator Warren G. Hooper murder at the time, although his conspiracy conviction in this case was later erased by a State Supreme Court decision.

Reds to Return 'Criminal' PWs

Germ Warfare Charge Won't Halt Repatriation of Prisoners

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Communists said today they would return all Allied prisoners wanting repatriation, including all those the Reds sentenced to jail for offenses allegedly committed during captivity.

The Reds also told the joint prisoner of war Repatriation Commission that "more than 300 Koreans and more than 20 non-Koreans" are refusing to be repatriated.

"Owing to the fact that the operation of repatriation is still going on, our side shall continue to persuade them to be repatriated.

"Therefore, there still will be changes in this number."

At the port of Inchon, a repatiated Brooklyn, N. Y., man Pfc. John J. McNeill, said he had been told that 22 Americans and one British soldier were among those either refusing or reluctant to be released.

McNeill said he understood that the 23 are expected soon at Kaesong, Red assembly point near Panmunjom, to be turned over to the neutral nations Repatriation Commission. This is the group organized to handle the machinery of deciding custody of such men.

The Red promise to repatriate all prisoners asking to be returned was in reply to a question from United Nations officials on that point.

Numerous prisoners had been sentenced at the time of the truce signing to prison for such alleged crimes as "instigating against the peace" and "waging germ warfar ."At first, reports were the Reds insisted on the men serving their terms before being freed.

19,900 Persons See GM Show

Science and Research Display Ends Sunday After 4-Day Stay

General Motors Parade of Progress started the second half of its four-day stay in Pontiac as it opened today's shows at 2 p.m.

The big collection of scientific exhibits, films and stage demonstrations will close Sunday night with a final stage show starting at 9 p.m. at the Washington Junior High School show site.

Parade officials say some 19,900 local persons already have turned out to view the GM show, which points up the role that science, engineering and research have played in the nation's development.

Oakland County 4-H Club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Pontiac YMCA and Oakland County Children's Home.

Saturday's schedule includes six performances of the 40-minute stage show at 2, 3, 4, 7, 8 and 9 p.m., leaving a two-hour intermission between 5 and 7 p.m. for dinner.

A full eight shows will be given Sunday, however, running once each hour starting at 2 p.m.

Blistering heat coupled with a 22-day drouth brought an urgent appeal to Pontiac residents today to prevent "dangerous grass fires" by guarding rubbish fires closely.

The plea came as the mercury reached a record 96 degrees today and sent temperatures over the 90 mark for the fifth consecutive day. Today's 96 is two degrees higher than the old record for this day established in 1872.

And the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted no letup in the furnace-like heat in the Midwest and East for several more days.

A high of 97 degrees is forecast for the Pontiac area Sunday, two degrees above yesterday's 95. No rain is in sight.

As Pontiac sweltered under the heat wave, Philadelphia counted a toll of 13 deaths in yesterday's scorching weather.

Another hot-spot, Chicago, reported a record 97 Friday.

The appeal to use "extreme caution" when burning rubbish came from Capt. Sydney Owen of the Pontiac Fire Department.

He said the fire department has been summoned to about 50 grass fires in the past three weeks, some of which would have caused property damage had they not been checked immediately.

Capt. Owen urged residents to call the fire department before burning off weeds, leaves or rubbish.

"If the areas where the fires are planned threaten property," said Capt. Owen, "the resident will be urged not to start the fires without proper supervision.

"The grass is tinder-dry and is a potential hazard. Careless rubbish and trash fires could start a general grass fire which would endanger property."

Meanwhile, Pontiac Police report that most residents are observing the sprinkling ban between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. and that few warnings against illegal springling were issued yesterday.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said sprinkling will be permitted Sunday, but the restrictions will go back into effect Monday.

A record water pumpage for August was recorded yesterday when 17 city wells pumped 20,003,060 gallons, only about 2,000,000 gallons below peak capacity.

Joseph Gable, acting city water superintendent, said pressure was about 65 pounds today, only about five pounds below normal.

Beaches and recreation area in Oakland County prepared for record crowds over the weekend.

ROKs Ask American Site for Conference on Peace

UNITED NATION, N. Y. (AP)—South Korea was reported today advocating San Francisco or Honolulu as the site of the Korean peace conference.

An alternate choice would be a city in Latin America, perhaps Rio de Janeiro.

This development came as U. N. delegates waited for Communist reaction to the General Assembly decision yesterday that its side would be made up of U. N. countries which sent troops to Korea, plus South Korea.

The Soviet Union is to be invited if the Communist side desires it.

The U. N. hopes that Red China, North Korea and the Soviet Union will be the Communist representatives. Some sources here pointed out, however, that the Reds have the right to invite other countries besides the Soviet Union. These sources speculated they might undertake to enlarge their side to meet the U. N. representatives nation for nation.

As the special Korean session of the Assembly adjourned yesterday, U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold sent its decisions regarding the peace parley to Red China and North Korea.

The U. N. agreement to limit its representation to nations that fought under its flag in Korea represented a triumph for the United States which had pushed this plan. Many U. N. members had urged the inclusion of India but the New Delhi government bowed out at the last moment and the American proposal won approval 43-5.

No date has been set yet for the conference but under terms of the Korean armistice it should convene before Oct. 28. The United States, which bore chief responsibility for the unified command in the Korean fighting, was asked to consult the interested nations as to the time and place for the meeting.

Reds to Evict Berliners Seeking American Food

BERLIN (UP)—The Communists threatened today to evict from their homes any resident of the Soviet sector of the city who accepts an "Eisenhower package" of free American food.

The Communist Party newspaper, Neues Deutschland, reported that "house committees" on East Berlin's Stalin Allee had recommended eviction of apartment-dwellers who collect American food in West Berlin. Stalin Allee is a large Red housing project.

Neues Deutschland also reported that a meeting of East Berlin electrical workers demanded that a w-- er who accepted a food parcel be evicted.

"The provocateur was handed over to the state police," the newspaper said.

Red guards along Stalin Allee, where the violent June 17 anti-Communist riots began, were doubled today.

The action was taken when reports circulated that construction workers on the project planned a "hunger march" into West Berlin over the weekend to obtain American food parcels.

Reports reaching West Berlin said heavy guards of People's Police remained on duty in the project throughout the night.

Party officials circulated among the workmen today warning them against any attempt to cross into the American, British or French sectors of the city.

The Communist Party paper revealed that 500 building workers on the big project had been arrested by Communist leaders.

Birmingham Plan Chief Suggests Neighbor Units Help Shape Board Ideas

(From Our Birmingham Bureau)

Planning Director Robert S. Boatman said yesterday he would propose to the Plan Board establishment of a system of neighborhood councils to work with the board in shaping Birmingham's future development.

Research was started in July 1952, he explained, on a series of studies to obtain material for use by city officials and the public in solving problems posed by Southeastern Oakland County's rapid expansion.

"People make or break planning," he said. "If projects aren't understood by persons carrying them out their value is hurt considerably.

"A neighborhood council could explain proposals to its own unit, then pass back reactions to the Plan Board, thus coordinating the whole system."

A report has been written on the city's major street systems, Boatman said, which could tie in with the council idea by indicating main traffic arteries for use as local unit boundaries.

A study into the influence of surrounding areas on Birmingham shows such things as growth of an industrial corridor east of the city which should create demand for more housing here.

A relative value study outlining areas costing more to maintain than they return in taxes would aid in marking limits of neighborhood units and shed light on possible corrective measures.

The completed reports and others being done should help in making decisions on the many current rezoning requests, the plan director pointed out.

The current zoning ordinance was passed in 1937, Boatman explained, saying revisions of the ordinance might result after all data is complete and officials have considered it.

An official-looking "summons" attached to a car asking the owner to appear at a local car agency to trade in her car for a new one, prompted a Romeo resident to write city commissioners this week, expressing the opinion that ". . . use of such a form is in very poor taste and a discredit to your community."

Police Chief Ralph Moxley said the firm had been contacted once before and had discontinued use of the "summons" notice.

Commissioners directed him to speak to the agency again. They added that Moxley should show the dealer the complaint, to point out that the notices might be doing more harm than good.

"Builders of Good Citizenship" is the theme of Civitan International, well known men's service club. A new club has been formed in Birmingham.

Application for a charter was made this week by over 25 business men attending the initial meeting. Sponsored by the Pontiac club, Western Grizzard, one of the international representatives has helped in the organization.

Hugh McGuckin, of Harold Turner, Inc., was elected president protem and Bernard Bogue will serve as temporary secretary-treasurer.

McGuckin said Civitan plans to participate in worthy community projects, as all the service clubs do.

Another meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday at the American Legion Hall and McGuckin asked those interested in joining to contact him. Charter night, he said, will be the last week in September, and the International president will make the presentation.

A further report will be made by City Engineer L. R. Gare, commissioners decided this week, before final action is taken on grading two stagnant water-filled lots in Sheffield Estates and Pembrook Manor Association.

Owners had not complied with a city request to fill the lots, but the commission asked Gare to talk to owners again.

The city manager had recommended that the city do the job, billing the property owners, but commissioners felt that an estimated cost should be given before this is done.

Robert Kenning, DPW superintendent, said this week that completion of the city's road oiling program is anticipated by the end of September.

Both light oiling programs have been completed, and of the numbers 1 and 2 two-year program, only nine streets remain to be done.

Rework of the 1952 two-year guaranteed streets is approximately 70 per cent complete, Kenning stated, and 85 per cent of the 1949 five-year guaranteed streets are finished.

One more case this week of a Dutch Elm diseased tree brings the city's total to 14, compared to one case last year.

The latest one was found at 1724 Yorkshire, City Forester William Lebold said yesterday, and added that there are two more just outside the city. Twelve more samples are being analyzed at the Michigan State laboratories.

All diseased trees have been removed, he said, without the city resorting to its new ordinance, permitting removal of Dutch Elm diseased trees on private property and bill the owner, if the resident does not comply with state law which requires removal within 10 days.

In asking that residents clean out and burn any cut elm in their wood piles, since the bark beetle which spreads the disease breeds in cut or decaying elm wood, Lebold said he didn't think some people realized the seriousness of keeping cut branches cleaned up.

"That is one of the very important phases of a control program," he said, "and one the people can help us out on."

He asked that his office be notified if any resident notices a collection of elm branches someone has left.

Sept. 5 Date Set for Bond Signing

$1.8 Million to Finance Construction of Oakland Garbage Incinerator

BIRMINGHAM — Signing of $1,800,000 in bonds issued to finance construction of the Southeastern Oakland County Garbage and Rubbish Authority's incinerator is expected to occur Sept. 5, in Chicago, according to Authority Secretary Ashton J. Berst.

The bonds were purchased at par and four and one-quarter per cent interest by a syndicate of 15 Chicago brokers, Berst explained.

Troy Township's entrance into the 11-member group will not be acted on, he said, until the bond sale is completed and present contract negotiations with the other members settled.

A 40-acre site near John R and 12½ Mile Road has been designated for the incinerator, which is scheduled for completion by Jan. 1955.

Swarms of Helpers Build Flint Houses crew here early this week and another returned today. About 30 towns in Michigan were represented.

The Red Cross, women's organizations and those who didn't feel they could handle a tool circulated among the workmen with a donated supply of 20,000 cups of coffee and 100 dozen doughnuts. Eight-hundred gallons of orangeade kept throats from getting parched.

Women in coveralls and blue jeans helped out, most of them taking on the lighter jobs of painting and trimming. But among them were seven professional carpenters and two plumbers.

The foundations for new homes in the Beecher district were completed before the building bee started and some houses needed only paint or other finishing touches to make them ready for occupancy.

Homeowners calling for help will provide all the materials necessary and several Flint lumber and building supply firms have offered them discounts.

Restaurants and bakeries in Flint offered 10,000 free box lunches for the workers, complete with a refrigerator truck to keep the food fresh.

General Motors Corp., the area's largest employer, urged its workers to donate their spare time during the weekend to the building bee. GM opened a relief fund with a $100,000 donation the day after the twister struck.

Driver Pleads Guilty

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Pleading guilty when he appeared before Judge A. J. Richardson on a reckless driving charge yesterday, David R. Rojas, 26, of 775 Portland, Pontiac, was fined $60 or 25 days in jail.

He failed to pay the fine.

JOHN C. JAMIESON

Pontiac Motor Picks Assistant Sales Head

The promotion of John C. Jamieson to assistant general sales manager of Pontiac Motor Division was announced today by H. E. Crawford, general sales manager.

Jamieson, who joined Pontiac in 1934 after 11 years in retail dealerships, will take charge of sales operations in the western half of the nation.

He was a district manager and assistant zone manager in Denver for Pontiac; business management manager in Chicago and assistant zone manager in Dallas before becoming Dallas zone manager in 1945. In 1950 he became Midwest regional manager and held that post until last November when he was named Pacific regional manager.

Jamieson, a native of Edinburg, N. D., succeeds Dan O'Madigan Jr. who resigned to head O'Madigan Pontiac, Inc., in St. Louis Mo.

Warning Is Issued on City Grass Fires

Traffic already was reported slightly higher than normal on some highways leading to lakes and resorts.

The forecast for continued hot weather lisited a low of from 67 to 71 degrees tonight. Yesterday's low was 67.

No relief from the sizzling weather is expected until Tuesday or Wednesday.

Temperatures were above normal almost everywhere east of the Continental Divide. But in the lower Rio Grande Valley, gripped by a drouth a month ago, flooding streams drove almost 500 persons from their homes.

In the northern states cloudiness, accompanied by showers and a few thunderstorms, stretched from the Great Lakes westward. But the rains failed to move into the sweltering states further south.

public printer and GPO security officer.

The Wisconsin senator has been contending that GPO failed to fire several employes after receiving reports from the FBI identifying them as Reds.

He has called the security setup at the government's big printing plant "fantastic" and said his subcommittee has obtained testimony under oath that a person identified as a Red had access in the GPO to "secret material having to do with the A-bomb and the H-bomb."

Cole told a news conference last week he believes there has been no leakage of secrets from the printing office and nothing lax about the handling of loyalty cases.

10,218 Allied Prisoners Now Returned by Reds

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Communists have returned 10,218 Allied prisoners, including 2,567 Americans, as of today—the 25th day of the great Korean War prisoner exchange.

The Reds originally promised to return 12,763 Allied soldiers — 3,313 of them Americans—but last week they said the figure would be increased because it did not list soldiers captured in the last days of the war.

Mayfield's No-Hit Job Gives GM Tourney Win

LANSING (AP)—Bob Mayfield, a young Korean War veteran, hurled a no-hitter last night, as Pontiac's GM Truck and Coach division, defeated Flint Herrlick's, 6-0, in the opening round of the state major softball tournament.

In another first round game, Midland Dow defeated Hazel Park Merchants, 6-1.

Frances Dawson Gets Post at Hudson Covert School in Township

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Mrs. Frances Dawson of 171 Ascot Rd., Elizabeth Lake Estates, has been named principal of Hudson Covert School, according to William Schunck, Waterford Township school superintendent.

Prior to her appointment, Mrs. Dawson had been an English instructor at Waterford Township High School.

She received her bachelor of arts degree from Eastern State Teachers College, Oklahoma, and did graduate work at Oklahoma A. and M. College.

She taught in elementary and high schools in Oklahoma and Kentucky before entering the Waterford Township school system seven years ago.

Mrs. Dawson succeeds Roy A. Larmee, recently named principal of Waterford Township High School.

Telephone Strike Tension Eases

1-Day Walkouts End in East but Southwest, Midwest Hold Out

WASHINGTON (AP)— Tension eased today in Washington, D. C., Maryland and West Virginia as telephone workers ended a one-day walkout, but some 60,000 Bell system employes in the Midwest and Sounthwest remained on strike.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and its striking workers in Missouri were admonished by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly to get together at once to end what he called an "intolerable" situation. The walkout of about 53,000 employes in Southwestern's six-state area is now in its tenth day.

In Indiana, where some 7,000 phone workers were off the job, there were reports of five more cable cutting incidents in three cities. An Indianapolis judge ordered picketing restricted there as an aftermath to a picket-line fracas Thursday night.

Strikers in Washington-Maryland West Virginia and the Midwest states were all members of the Communications Workers of America, CIO. The union is negotiating with Bell system firms covering a total of about 130,000 workers, with the union asking boosts of $2 to $3 and the companies reportedly offering raises from $1.50 to $2.50.

Pontiac PW Believed First War Prisoner

story of "The Tiger" killing a lieutenant because some of the men on the "death march" were sick.

Sgt. Strahan said he saw the 'Tiger' kill the lieutenant.

"One of the men in the lieutenant's group was too weak to keep up with the march," he said. "The 'Tiger' put his gun to the lieutenant's head and pulled the trigger. Through interpreters 'The Tiger' said he had shot the lieutenant as an example and that 'next time I will shoot 10.'"

Stranhan, a section sergeant for one of the 13 sections in the march, said he managed to talk to sergeants of eight other sections and confirmed these deaths on the march:

Twenty-four shot to death by "The Tiger" or his underlings.

Forty-nine dead of exposure, starvation, or lack of medical care.

Several more were put in a Korean hut and left to die there of freezing and starvation.

"These men were too sick or badly wounded to do anything but lie there after the North Koreans nailed them inside," he said.

Some of the sergeants estimated that up to 90 men were shot in cold blood during the march.

Stranham's mother and stepfather heard the welcome news of his release last night as press wire services rushed names of the latest freed prisoners to this country.

The announcement was doubly welcome as the 33-year-old soldier had been reported killed in action soon after his disappearance.

Later a revised communication from the Defense Department placed him on the missing list. Not until recently was his name found on a Red prisoner of war list. His first letter was dated June 7, 1952. Only three letters were received during the long period of his imprisonment.

In one letter he said of his physical condition: "My general health is as good as can be expected under existing circumstances."

A brother, Ray, 23, is with the United States forces in Korea and had written his parents that he would try to meet Martin at Freedom Village.

When the pair met, theyshook hands and patted shoulders.

Sgt. Strahan enlisted in the army in 1942 and went overseas, serving in France and Germany, and survived the hectic Battle of the Bulge He was home at Christmas time in 1945 and worked at Fisher Body Division for three months before re-enlisting. He served with occupation forces in Japan before being assigned to duty in Korea.

Mrs. Larson said she never fully accepted the early report of her son's death. "I'm a doubting Thomas," she said last night, "but of course did not dare holdout too much hope over the long months."

Doubts and anxiety for sons in the service are well known to this mother of five boys and two girls. Four of her sons (including Martin) served in World War II and the fifth is still in Korea.

Her other sons are Patrick, 30, Edwin, 28 and Ralph, 26.

The Communists released their 10,000th prisoner last night.

In addition to the Americans, the Reds turned loose 250 South Koreans, three turks and two Australians in the 25th day of "Operation Big Switch."

The Allies, in turn, repatriated 2,400 Communist prisoners.

If the Communists continue releasing prisoners at the present rate, the last man will walk through freedom gate next Friday.

He probably will be Major Gen. William F. Dean, their highest-ranking captive.

Prisoners returning to freedom Friday reported that Dean was being held at nearby Kaesong. It was believed that Dean asked to be repatriated last in a gesture toward prisoners of lesser rank.

Gen. Van Fleet, who flew to Hong Kong at the end of a two-day visit, added, however, "I'd be very pleased to have them better equipped."

Suggest Petition for Bingo Vote

Attorneys Explain Law Must Be Changed for Legal Gambling

DRAYTON PLAINS — Two attorneys told the Charitable Bingo and Raffle Association Thursday that the first step in restoring such games is to change Michigan's law to legalize games of chance.

The association, which seeks to give charitable organizations the right legally to sponsor bingo games and raffles, met at Waterford Township Community Activities Building.

Attorneys Harvey Lodge and Anthony Renne suggested the association raise funds to print referendum petitions urging the repeal of the law banning games of chance and push their circulation throughout Michigan.

Association chairman Robert White said he would contact the city of Jackson, which, he said, reportedly has had petitions printed, and report at the association's meeting next Thursday at 8 p. m. at the Community Activities Building.

Derailed Freight Train Injures 4 Workmen

FLINT (AP) — Three diesel engine units and 10 cars were derailed as an 80-car Chesapeake & Ohio freight train hit an open switch in the northern outskirts of Flint yesterday. Four men loading a car with scrap on a sidetrack were injured, but none seriously.

Jesse M. Dean of Saginaw was the engineer, but neither he nor any trainmen were hurt.

Reflections

BE CHEERFUL

by J. Lee Voorheis

J. L. VOORHEES

James 'Cheerful Jim' Snow was a photographer whom children loved for his bubbling cheerfulness and adults reflected his contagiously happy smile. His work was pure artistry and his business burst its seams. It burned. He wagged his iron grey head, came up smiling. "Only material; we'll do it again." A crippling disease immobilized him; his son was killed in action; his wife ran away with a competitor. "Sure," he lied, "she's going to study photography," and squeezed out a smile. "She'll come back," he said hopefully, certainly. No word of self-pity. No word of recrimination.

M. E. SIPLE

The pain subsided, his cheerful smile returned; he sat up, walked. "I'll do it again," he said with the old lilt in his voice. He reopened his studio; business came in a trickle, then a flood. Faith in his God and himself was a living, swelling torrent; taught a Sunday School class and lead a Scout troop. One of his Scouts on vacation saw and talked to his wife. Jim brought her home, happier than a man has a right to be. She had developed a new technique and while Jim works for expression she trips the shutter. A great and cheerful team.

Report Urges Freer Trade

Top news on the politico-economic front is the receipt by President Eisenhower of the Douglas report.

In it Lewis W. Douglas, former Ambassador to Great Britain, outlines his conclusions after a study of U. S. trade relations with the free world, made at the request of the President.

Outstanding among those conclusions is Douglas' belief that U. S. trade "will remain precarious and fragile" unless our foreign trade policy is liberalized. This led him to urge the President to announce promptly that this country is determined to work "toward a progressive, vigorous and consistent relaxation of our restrictive foreign trade legislation."

At one point the report stressed what we frequently have argued in these columns. The United States long ago became the world's greatest creditor Nation. It no longer can pursue the protectionist policies of a debtor Nation and hope to escape discrimination against American products in international markets.

President Eisenhower has turned the report over for study by the new commission on U. S. foreign economic policy. In a letter to Chairman Clarence E. Randall he commended it as a real contribution to thinking in the field of dollar-sterling relationships.

It is no secret that how the commission reacts to the report is all important to the Eisenhower trade-not-aid policy. If it backs Mr. Douglas' conclusions, the Administration will have a much better chance of persuading GOP protectionists to go along with a more liberal trade policy.

This we believe essential to free world economic stability and our own national self-interest.

Cut in VA Costs Sought

An encouraging sign is the Eisenhower Administration's decision that the time has come to stop building veterans' hospitals.

As a result Congress will be asked to re-examine the whole question of veterans care in the next session. Special attention will be called to the problem of free hospitalization for veterans with non-service connected ailments.

According to Budget Director Dodge the 130,000 beds in veterans' hospitals now built or building are all that can be run efficiently under one management. He added that 30,000 more beds would be needed if present benefits are continued.

Our 20,000,000 veterans constitute 40 per cent of our adult male population. The present cost of these unrestricted benefits now runs to $500,000,000 a year. To guarantee the growing army of veterans the same benefits, $700,000,000 a year would be needed by 1975.

Under laws going back to 1924 veterans with non-service connected ailments can get free care providing hospital beds are available and if they say they cannot afford private treatment.

That this so called pauper's oath has been abused by veterans well able to pay is common knowledge. The result is that two-thirds of all VA hospital beds are occupied by patients suffering from ailments in no way connected with their military service.

The prospect is that the percentage of veterans in the population will continue to grow. Without corrective action the country would be forced into socialized medicine through the back door.

The Administration won't be able to win reforms without a hard fight. Last year the House Appropriations Committee wrote new restrictions on free hospital care into the VA appropriations bill. But some veteran groups protested loudly and the restrictions were eliminated on the House floor.

No one wants to reduce the care given veterans whose ailments are due to their service. They should get the best available treatment as a matter of right. But the time is long past when Congress is justified in permitting "freeloaders" to monopolize two-thirds of VA hospital facilities.

Women are highly valued by the men of a certain African tribe who have established the exchange rate of eight cows for one woman.

Controller Quits

Legislators, Steadman Both Happy at Departure

By JAMES O. A. CROWE

LANSING (AP)—Deep sighs of relief were heard in all quarters, with the possible exception of the executive office, when Robert F. Steadman resigned this week as state controller.

One of the biggest sighs came from Steadman himself.

He has wanted out from under almost since the day he left his professorship at Wayne University on Jan. 1, 1949.

A very nice guy personally, a devoted family man, and unquestionably an authority of international reputation on governmental finance, Steadman just wasn't fitted for the rough and tumble of Michigan politics.

He has been reinstated as professor of public education at the University and has already begun some of his duties on a part time basis. He will officially wind up his $12,000 a year state job Sept. 30.

Gov. Williams has always been devoted to Steadman, and the feeling is mutual. So, the governor and his staff generally are sorry to see Steadman go. They credit him with much hard work and a dogged admiration of Williams and his policies.

Williams made public a letter accepting Steadman's resignation in which he said Steadman had welded the Department of Administration into "a strong right arm." The governor added that Steadman's share in forming administration policy "has been a strong point."

But this adulation was totally lacking in legislative circles.

The sighs of relief from that quarter were deafening.

Steadman just didn't have what it takes to get along with legislators and the ubiquitous "practical politician."

His deficiency in this connection is hard to pin down, but it might be summed up in that Steadman acted too much like a teacher.

His long pedagogical career had worked on him as it does on many another teacher. Many years of having students sitting open-mouthed, accepting every statement as gospel is bound to make a person think he is unalterably right in everything.

But the legislators instantly bristled to this attitude when Steadman first stepped on the scene. And ever since, Steadman has irritated the lawmakers further on an average of once a week.

Of course, he started out with a whopping disadvantage. He was an appointee of Democratic Williams, and automatically in the minds of the Republican legislators, a jerk.

But many other of Williams appointees have either overcome this disadvantage to get along well with the legislature or at least have not lost ground in the legislative esteem.

Steadman, on the other hand has been steadily getting himself even more disliked than ever, impossible as that might have seemed at first.

It even reached the point in the last session that some of the Democratic legislators were grumbling at Steadman's sometimes haughty, sometimes patronizing and sometimes antagonistic attitude.

The legislators took all kinds of counter measures against Steadman. Among these was the famous resolution of last spring rejecting the governor's budgets Steadman was responsible for, it called for more expenditures than the state expected to collect.

The resolution was based on an attorney general's opinion that such a budget was illegal. The resolution had no practical effect except as a public slap at Steadman.

The lawmakers took away Steadman's power to allocate space to state agencies in the new Stevens T. Mason building, they forced him to submit the most meticulous details of the budget ever demanded and they forced him to put his capital outlay budgets on a long-term basis instead of yearly.

Finally, apparently, Steadman has had enough. He wanted to pull out two and a half years ago at the end of Williams' first term, but Williams talked him out of it.

Now he has made it. He is returning to the sheltered classroom, and he gives every evidence of being relieved and deeply grateful to be doing so.

The legislators, relieved as they are in the first few days, will probably mellow toward Steadman as they begin to look back dispassionately.

They are going to realize that there has been no breath of scandal in the purchasing division and salvage divisions, at one time a constant source of trouble. And they are also going to wake up to the fact that the building, budget and accounting divisions, always well-run and unquestionably honest, have maintained a high standard of efficiency, even under sometimes severe legislative harrassment.

'A Mother Who Knows' Says Speed Is the Cause of Many Deaths, Useless Heartaches

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

Somehow I seem to have missed the letter written by Cannon Ball, but I have read several quotes from it. One of them was that speed does not harm anyone.

Several years ago our son and his girl friend were killed by a driver who thought the same thing!

They were asked to go for a drive by a boy who thought more of speed than he did the safety of the young people in his car. If you have to speed, do it alone!

Don't ever tell me speed doesn't kill, for I know it does. The driver was going fast and when he put on the brakes he skidded into a truck parked on the opposite side of the road.

Don't let it be you, Mr. Cannon Ball, who causes the heartaches of useless deaths. Until it happens to one of your loved ones you cannot know the heartache.

A Mother Who Knows

Says We Don't Need Our U. S. State Department

The American people voted last November for a complete change, but what is happening in Washington and what impends there makes it more imperative than ever to ask whether the country has a Republican administration in anything but name.

There is slight hope that Americans will get a break, as Senator McCarthy cannot do the housecleaning all by himself.

The U.S. Treasury needs more money. Look what we could save by doing away with the U.S. State Department. We don't need it; England takes good care of those things for us.

Will not the defeat of Chancellor Adenauer in the German elections of Sept. 6 mean that the U. S. State Department has lost the last remnant of prestige in Europe and that the American people have lost all the billions they have dished out for that Truman-Acheson-Marshall conceived, non-existing "European" NATO Army?

Boston Clergy Banished Anne Hutchinson From State When She Criticized Them

By Canon Howard V. Harper, D.D.

Those who fight tyranny often turn out to be tyrants themselves.

Something like that was the case in the Massachusetts Colony where the Puritans, who had left Europe in order to be free, soon developed the most strait-laced dictatorship this country has ever seen.

Aug. 30 is the anniversary of the banishment from Massachusetts of Anne Hutchinson, who had the reckless courage to speak out against the despotic authority of the Boston clergy.

At 34 Anne had come from England to the new Colony, and she did not like what she found there. Not being able to get a hearing from the church leaders, she organized weekly meetings of the women of Boston.

She commented with intelligence and insight on the previous Sunday's sermons, missing no chance to point out that the clergy were autocrats.

She was a brilliant woman, with a mind that perceived the difference between real Christianity and petty, legalistic regulations of the Puritans.

Although her campaign divided the populace into factions, the clerical party won out easily.

In 1637, Anne was tried by the opposition and expelled from Massachusetts. The charge against her was "traducing the clergy."

She went to Long Island where, in 1643, she was killed by Indians.

In the eastern section of London there is a church called St. Giles Cripplesgate. When it was built it was at the edge of town, beside a special city gate for cripples.

It was the custom in those days to build any church dedicated to St. Giles where lame people might reach it without having to struggle through congested streets.

St. Giles is the patron saint of cripples, and there is a legend that tells how he came to have this relationship with the physically handicapped.

He lived alone in a cave in France. His one companion was a doe, which came daily to the cave and allowed the hermit to milk her. This milk was his only food.

One day the doe came dashing frantically into the cave, hotly pursued by a hunter. An arrow, intended for the animal, struck Giles in the thigh. The hunter turned out to be the king, who was distressed by what he had done and offered him medical attention.

Giles declined to be healed because, he said, his lameness would help him understand others who were afflicted.

The famous legend of the Wandering Jew, condemned to live and roam the earth until the Day of Judgment, does not have its origin in the Bible.

It comes from a pamphlet of unknown authorship circulated in Germany early in the 17th Century. It stated that there had been in Hamburg 50 years before a Jew named Ahasuerus, who had stated that he was "eternal."

The story was that because of an insult to Jesus this man was under a sentence of perpetual wandering.

From this purely imaginative writing have come many stories poems and even paintings. They represent in a symbolic way the homeless wanderings of the Jewish nation, even though it is not literally true.

The most popular version of the legend tells that Jesus, on His way to the Crucifixion, stopped for a moment to rest before the shop of Ahasuerus. The frightened shopkeeper said to Him, "Go! Why dost thou tarry?" and the Lord is said to have replied "I go, but thou shalt tarry till I come."

It is a story that fits neither the character of the hospitable Jewish people nor of the gentle, understanding Nazarene.

In some accounts Ahasuerus constantly puts himself in danger, hoping for death to release him from his sentence. In others he goes about doing good, in an effort to expiate his guilt.

Contests Can Increase Attendance in Church

When the teen-age attendance at all churches in your town can be boosted from 38.5 per cent to 72 per cent, that is news! Notice Supt. Alexander's unique challenge to youth. Then see if you can't inject some of this same wholesome, competitive spirit into your own church activities. Contests do for churches what advertising does for department stores.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case H-372: Gerald Alexander is the very ingenious Superintendent of Schools at Greensburg, Indiana.

Last fall he asked 40 of his teachers to take inventory on Monday morning as to how many of their children had attended Sunday school the day before.

Then they also inquired how many had attended their Catholic Mass or Protestant preaching services on that Sunday.

The following Monday, the teachers made a second analysis, and then Supt. Alexander averaged these two.

He found that 35.1 per cent of the boys and 41.8 per cent of the girls had gone to church services in their Catholic or Protestant denominations. The combined average was 38.5 per cent.

Incidentally, the corresponding figures for Sunday school were 55.4 per cent for boys and 66.3 per cent for girls.

Then Supt. Alexander announced to his high schoolers that a memorial electric organ had been offered by the John F. Goddard prize fund, if the students would either maintain an average church attendance of 75 per cent for four consecutive Sundays, or at least 70 per cent for five straight Sundays.

The student council accepted the challenge and picked the month of November for their contest. Sunday school attendance could not be substituted for church attendance in winning the prize.

Remembering that their average church attendance had been 38.5 per cent on the preliminary October survey, now notice how this contest zoomed their presence in church.

Nov. 9	65.05 per cent
Nov. 16	72.96 per cent
Nov. 23	71.54 per cent
Nov. 30	71.02 per cent
Dec. 7	80.00 per cent

So the students won the $2,600 Hammond electric organ for their high school by a 5-week average of 72.9 per cent, which is marvelous!

"Dr. Crane," said Supt. Alexander, "I am a consistent reader of your newspaper column, and fully appreciate its wonderful influence for good.

"So I am passing along these data to you. We called the project 'A Challenge to Youth.'

"I had also tried the same idea at Crawfordsville and Washington, Indiana, schools while located there."

Well, Supt. Alexander, I salute you for this stimulating experiment. It shows how the public schools can help the churches.

It also proves how contests will "pep up" churches! (Vary the nature of contests, but keep them going permanently.)

It suggests, too, that the clergymen will be encouraged to "pep up" their brand of oratory, and make dramatic, narrative sermons to hold the attention of teen-agers.

For even though you teachers have delivered a ready-made audience to the clerics, they can't expect to keep them coming after the end of the contest unless their platform addresses prove so interesting that the teen-agers want to attend thereafter.

And that Goddard prize for the schools, deserves emulation elsewhere. It has not only furnished this beautiful organ, but has made possible prizes of $50 for oratory and essay writing and other commendable school activities.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover printing and typing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.)

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(International News Service)

We'll say one thing about the controlled national debt. It's fluctuating between incredible and astonishing.

We never thought there was so much money in the world. There isn't.

The economic engineers say there is no more to fear than being on a wharf with the tide out. We are borrowing from ourselves. So is everyone else.

For the nucleus of a mental nudge let's ask one question. When a man owes money to himself has he got it?

Let's reduce it to the least uncommon denominator. If a hen lays an egg on a sloping roof does it raise the omelet-power of the incubator?

Or even more simple. When you send a cabbage leaf by a rabbit — what price nibbles?

They gossip me that only Barney Baruch understands it. Are we betting Fort Knox against a park bench?

In 1939 the blanket limit was $45,000,000,000 of the realm. Before that Franklin Delano had held it down by making dollar bills smaller.

'Finger Nails as Ridged as Washboard' So Brady Advises Calcium, Vitamin D

THE MAIL BOX

Finger Nails

My finger nails are as ridged as the washboard I used in the dim past. I asked my family doctor and he just shrugged. (V. P.)

Answer—One cause is hypochromic anemia (iron deficiency anemia). Another is lifelong calcium, vitamin D and riboflavin deficiency. Send stamped self-addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet on The Gray Sickness (hypochromic anemia) and pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks.

Snow Water

Municipal water here is 99.6 pure snow water, very soft, fine to drink, but, as I understand it, too pure—that is, it doesn't supply the minerals needed for good health . . . (Mrs. B. H.)

Answer — If the water has a satisfactory taste and is not polluted (by health department standard) it makes no difference whether it contains little or much mineral matter. You get the minerals from food, not from water, particularly milk, cheese, eggs, greens, beans, peas, nuts, peanuts, wheat, lean meat.

Egg White

Friends eat only the yolk and throw away the white of egg, claiming the white has no food value. (J. W. McW.)

Answer—The protein (albumen) of egg white is complete, that is, contains all of the amino-acids required for human nutrition. It is fully equal to any lean meat, fowl, fish or other nitrogenous (protein) food in that respect. It is the richest food source of pure riboflavin (vitamin B2).

Cream of Tartar

Friend takes cream of tartar daily, thinks it is a cure for arthritis. Is there any basis for this? I enjoy excellent health, thanks to following your teachings. (A. F. L.)

Answer—Cream of tartar (potassium bitartrate) is a mild diuretic (increases flow of urine). No basis for your friend's idea.

Algebra

One who intends to study medicine should have two years of algebra in high school for the same reason that one should have two years of Latin in high school to become a scholar. (C. H.)

Answer—I still don't see why a prospective physician should waste any time on algebra. But then, there's the barber who used to cut my hair—long ago, of course—and boast of his skill at his trade although he couldn't read. He insisted that no barber who could read had anything on him.

Rash

Husband has rash on his leg which the doctors can't seem to heal. They say it is a fungus. What about your pamphlet on dermatophytosis (foot itch)? (Mrs. S. H.)

Answer—Any reader who asks for it in writing (no clipping, please) and provides stamped, self-addressed envelope may have the pamphlet on Dermaphytosis (otherwise called athlete's foot, foot itch, ringworm, fungus infection). Such fungus in fection may affect any part of the skin. Characteristic signs are itching, cracking, maceration. It is contagious.

Stage Fright

Your help for stage fright and examination jitters was a complete success and amazed me . . . incidentally it occurs to me that your teachings allay a great many fears and worries . . . (J. V. D.)

Unfortunately the cure you advocate for examination jitters does not help my problem . . . (R. S.)

Answer—I do not advocate a cure for anything. On written request, if you inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope. I'll send a pamphlet on Stage Fright and Examination Jitters which tells how many poor geeks have beaten them.

Rheumatis Helped

Writing to tell you what a wonderful relief I got from chronic arthritis in knees and back. I had been disabled for over five years. In two months I was practically cured, and now I do all my own housework again . . . (Mrs. R. P. L.)

Answer—Thank you. On written request any reader who provides stamped, self-addressed envelope may have the pamphlet which put Mrs. R. P. L. in fine fettle. It is called Calcium and Rheumatiz.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self addressed envelope is enclosed.

Reds Return Hard Noncoms

Sergeants Isolated to Allow Agents to Work on Their Men

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Tough American sergeants who were separated from their men in North Korean prison camps because of their outspoken resistance to communism began coming home today.

Among the 145 Americans freed today at Panmunjom were 36 noncommissioned officers from the sergeants' compound at Camp 3, Chongsong, North Korea.

M.Sgt. James C. Goelzer, 37, of New Albany, Ind., who was captured six days after U. S. ground troops went into action in Korea in July, 1950, said:

"As long as the sergeants were allowed to stay with their men, the Communists had no success preaching their propaganda."

The Reds promised to return 110 more Americans Sunday, as well as 250 South Koreans, 25 British, 4 Turks, 5 Filipinos, 3 French and 3 South Africans, a total of 400 men.

Returning prisoners said almost all the American captives except sergeants from Camp 4 — a special sergeants' camp — and officers from Camp 2 have been repatriated.

They said the Camp 4 sergeants and the officers were waiting at Kaesong, last stop on the way to freedom.

No one has seen Maj. Gen. William Dean along the route to freedom. The commander of the U. S. 24th Division was captured in July, 1950.

Library Bequest Doubles Since Man's 1896 Will

NEW YORK (AP) — A 19th century merchant's wish to save youth from bad influences will result in erection of a 2½ million dollar public library in midtown Manhattan.

The merchant, Ezekiel J. Donnell, died in 1896. An Irish immigrant, he made a fortune in the cotton business. He left a trust fund for his wife and daughter and on their death the residual estate was to go to the New York Public Library.

Mrs. Donnell died in 1899 and her daughter in 1924. Relatives contested the daughter's will and, after a legal battle, $1,691,759 was stipulated for the library.

* * *

Subsequent litigation and liquidation of assets took many more years. Now, with interest, the library fund amounts to $2,427,000.

Library officials signed a building fund contract yesterday, calling for a four-story building.

Get an Electric Air Drier
(Dehumidifier)

It's no joke—the way rust can wreck a furnace and other costly metal equipment found in a basement. But there is a modern answer to this old problem. Dry out basement air with an electric dehumidifier and you stop moisture damage.

A dehumidifier's thirst is enormous. It removes as much as 3 gallons of water from damp air every 24 hours.

Electric dehumidifiers are compact—easily moved from one trouble spot to another. They plug in, just like a floor lamp.

Most air driers are under 25" high; weigh under 80 pounds.

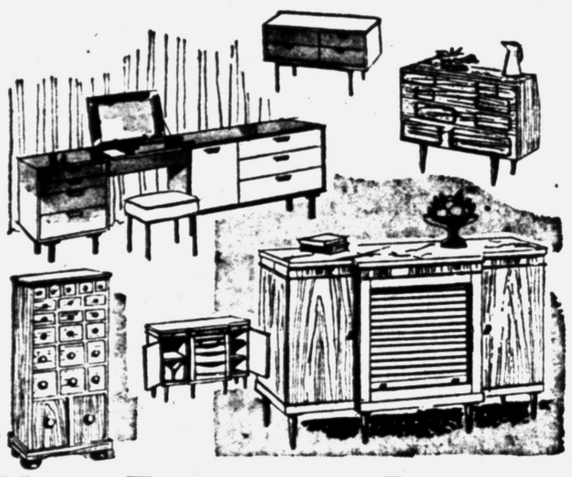
Part-Time Job Suggestion: Running Beauty Care Service for Shut-ins



New Furniture Designed for Storage in High Style

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

If the storage furniture in the house is just what it was five years ago, it's time for a checkup. Could be that's why the housekeeping chores seem heavier now —not enough places to put things.

Think of every piece of storage furniture as a labor-saving device.

If it's the right size and spaced for what it's to hold—and the full quota in the house adds up to enough room—clutter is banished, there's little picking up and straightening to do and it's so easy to find things, articles are kept safe and in order and thus need less care.

Even ironing time is shortened for clothing and table linen stay unwrinkled in space especially planned for them, instead of in the scramble of drawers that are too wide and too deep.

One of the best things designers have done in the past several years is to provide well-organized storage space so that small living quarters become roomy.

And this well-organized storage space comes in handsome packages, as the latest furniture coming up for fall again proves.

Enormous variety of pieces and the ways they are engineered drawer and compartment - wise make it possible to fit any room and all kinds of possessions—and all this efficiency is housed in beautiful furniture, not only in contemporary straight-lined style, but also in traditional adaptations that lose nothing in line as they gain in usefulness.

The distinguished cherry credenza at lower right has the elegance of a marble top and brass legs and hardware, but its interior shows exact planning of every inch with three sliding trays and a leaf behind the tambour section, three top drawers and adjustable shelves.

Two silver files are part of its equipment. The credenza was designed by J. Stuart Clingman.

Contomporary chests and cabinets in every size and a variety of finishes are designed by Harvey Probber.

Sketched is a new grouping in mahogany, some pieces with greige lacquer fronts. The dressing table unit suspends between cabinets with brass cleat and can be lifted out, has jewelry trays and a compartment resistant to cosmetic stain.

The small cabinet at top center points out the new importance of small pieces, to fit narrow wall areas, space under windows, etc.

Milo Baughman gives many of his cabinets colored drawer or door fronts and wrought iron legs.

The drawer chest at upper right is the increasingly popular type which can be used anywhere, in the living room, dining room or bedroom.

In walnut, designed by Gio Ponti, it is an example of the distinguished furniture designed in Italy and now made in this country, and has raised panels to form a design and also to serve as drawer pulls.

Crippled Woman Offers Idea to Benefit All Parties

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Most women know that the part-time job is the perfect answer to many dilemmas, financial, social and emotional, and it is wonderful to see the way women will help each other in finding these part-time jobs.

My readers, for instance, have been very helpful in suggesting part-time activities which might interest other women.

One woman writes from Baltimore to inquire why someone doesn't start a beauty service for shut-ins.

She says that she herself has to use crutches and cannot go anywhere alone. It is difficult for her to get out to her hairdresser, though she likes to be well-groomed.

Because it is easy to care for, she wears her hair short, which means that it is necessary to have it trimmed rather often.

She says that she and many other shut-ins she knows would welcome a service that had a well-trained hair-dresser and manicurist who would make regular appointments for a regular number of shut-in customers.

This, I think, is an excellent idea, and one which any beauty operator might consider. It could become a full-time job if you wanted that.

On the other hand, if the beauty operator were married and had children, she could still keep up her experience, on a part-time basis, and make excellent pin money by starting this kind of service.

My grateful thanks to the thoughtful reader who sent me this good suggestion.

If any of you see in your own life things which might give another woman an idea for a part-time service, won't you please let me know?

Pick Styles to Flatter Your Figure
Hair and Makeup Can Also Minimize Budges, Thinness

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — If you are "pleasing plump" or "as thin as a rail" you can still look and feel good.

For your own well being the first step is to start doing something about your face and figure instead of just fretting about your too-many or too-few pounds.

Consult with your physician before taking any drastic steps to gain or lose weight. However, if your plumpness is caused by nothing more than passion for cake, cream pies or chocolate bon bons, try cutting down on eating these extras.

On the other hand, if you are such a fussy eater that you aren't getting enough food, try to acquire a taste for weight-building menus.

Choosing flattering styles of clothes is one of the most significant factors in distracting from your figure faults. A woman or girl with too many pounds should never wear bunchy clothes, such as full blouses and gathered skirts.

These only exaggerate plumpness. Tailored clothes are better because they are cut to give an appearance of neatness, which is so important to a heavy person.

Also to be avoided are designs in cut, fabric or color that add width, such as horizontal stripes, contrasting belts, or contrasting blouse or skirt colors.

Thin women, of course, should avoid skin-tight clothes and add fullness to their figures by wearing gathered or pleated skirts and full, "blousy" tops. Bright colored belts or colorful horizontal trim also can help to add to the illusion of more poundage.

The most important means of all plumpness or thinness is to make your face as attractive as possible. This means acquiring a becoming hair style and making-up your face to perfection.

A round, full face should not have hair combed in fussy curls close to the face. Hair that is combed back slickly or in soft waves helps create the all-important neat appearance for a full figure.

This neatness should be carried down to your face with a smooth complexion finish, neatly arched eyebrows, and lips that have been made up with a lip brush so that the lip line is smooth and not at all feathery.

A thin face should have soft waves combed around the face, which help make it appear fuller. Eyebrows can be extended beyond the outer corner of the eyes to add facial width, and eyelashes should be made up carefully.

A smooth, almost negligible application of rouge, applied over the cheek bones and diminished into the hair line, can help give fullness to a thin face.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've broken up (because he wanted to) and made up again (because I wanted to) so often that I'm exhausted! This upping and downing, offing and onning has me almost worn out.

"But he keeps telling me that I'm the nicest girl he's ever gone with — and I keep telling myself I shouldn't want to bother with him any more.

"But there it is, I like him. I can't forget him.

"This other boy I've been dating lately is so nice and I'd like to like him — but I can't while my first love is still on my mind. I'm plenty mixed up — but can you help me?"

In any dilemma you're torn between two courses of action. There are pros and cons for both sides, equally strong and weighty. You're in the middle, between two boys. You feel you must make a decisive choice of one or the other. I don't.

Your tempestuous love sounds exciting and fun. It's here one week and gone the next. Full of surprise and wonder. Why not be around when it lights at your door?

The other love sounds placid and reliable, exciting in a comfortable, peaceful sort of way. Steady, satisfyingly, constant.

Must you choose between them, when you can have them both? Sparks fly often in your temperamental love affair because you aren't really mentally congenial — just physically attracted to each other.

All is calm and serene with your other boy friend because you can be friends without being violently disturbed when you're together.

You needn't choose one or the other. You can have both — you'll just see to it that you aren't tied down to either in a going-steady, exclusive dating arrangement.

Like both of your boy friends at the same time. Quiver over one, and calm down with the other. The variety and change of pace will do you good!

"Dear Miss Woodward: My brother's best friend is now in service and he wants to write to me. I've seen him many times and he has asked me to go on dates with him, but I'm rather shy where boys are concerned, so I refused even though I really wanted to go.

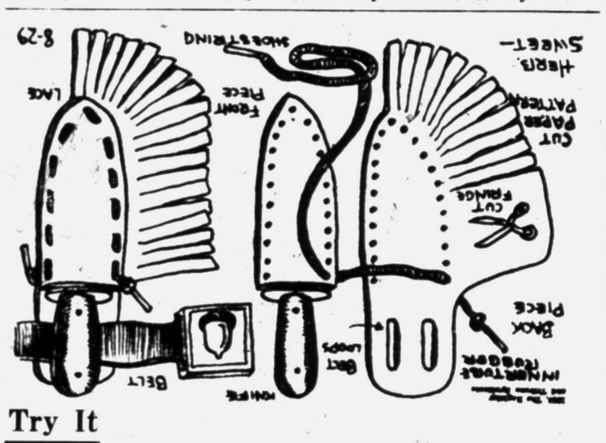
"Would it be all right if I wrote to him? Somehow I have the impression that writing to boys just isn't very nice. Should he write first or should I?"

He should write first — but the way you turned down his dates might have made him feel you just weren't interested at all. So why not pour out your shyness to your brother — with whom you aren't a bit shy — and get him to put in a good word for you?

Tell him you really did want to date his friend, but you were scared. Confess that you would like to write to him, but you don't want to write first. Ask him please to pass along that news to his best friend, and see if it wangles a letter out of him.

Since this is a dilemma, there's another way out. That is to make use of the address you have and write a letter to your brother's friend.

He's the one who is away — who craves mail. He made it clear he liked you, wanted to date you, wanted to write to you, so heave ho! If you aren't too shy.



Try It

Cover Knife With Sheath

It seems that all boys want to own a knife. Here at camp we have a rule that a boy must be 9 before he can carry a knife, and this must be a pocket knife.

There are times when it almost seems necessary to use a hunting knife, but talk this over with your parents and do what they think is best. There is a rule that all good woodsmen use — all knives must be covered.

If you use a pocket knife your problem is solved, but here is a sheath for your hunting knife.

You can use old inner tube for the material. Lay your knife down on some paper and draw around it to make a pattern. Allow a half inch or more for lacing.

After you have made the front piece, lay it down and make an extra piece at the top for the belt loops, and also include enough material for fringe along one side.

Make your pattern in rubber and punch holes along the sides with a paper punch. Be sure that these holes match, so that the shoestring lacing will go in and out evenly. Cut your fringe and belt loops, and hang it on your belt.

IF smooth neck, outsize arm—

Shoulders visible, upper arms invisible makes the most of a good throat and is the big hit for fall cocktail and dinner dress. Avoid strapless.

Mrs. O. A.—The strapless bodice has not always been kind to many who wore it. The reappearance of sleeves, anywhere from little caps or extended shoulders or full length, is flattering and gives a more "dressed" (not dressed-up) look.

Send Bids to Everyone in Family
All Relatives Ought to Receive Nuptial Invitations

By EMILY POST

A letter says: "I understand you say it is a compliment to send distant relatives and friends wedding invitations, both to church and the reception, even though they could not be present.

"I'm still puzzled about this and reluctant to follow your advice for my daughter's wedding. Won't this sending of an invitation put them in the position of having to send gifts, whereas an announcement would not?"

Answer: It is a requirement of relationship to send wedding invitations to all members of both his and her families. An invitation to a distant relative or friend means "We want you to be with us if possible!"

An announcement means "A wedding has taken place to which you were not invited." It is more your relationship than the result of an invitation that requires the sending of a wedding gift, anyway.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am leaving soon on my vacation which I plan to spend traveling. I would like to send postcards to some of my office associates, most of them men and some of them married.

Because I'm an unmarried woman, do you think I should send these to Mr. and Mrs. even though I don't know the wives?

Answer: Sending cards to your office associates alone and addressing them to the office will be best. The messages on them should, of course, be very impersonal.

Dear Mrs. Post: What happens to the lemon in my teacup? If I leave it in the tea, it becomes too strongly flavored with the lemon and I don't care for too much lemon.

I do like a little. But I've been told once the lemon is in the cup there is no chance to remove it to the side of the saucer. Why not?

Answer: Because it is a rather sloppy maneuver to fish it out and lay it on the saucer.

Furthermore, it is not as a rule necessary. If you don't press out any of the juice with your teaspoon, there cannot be very much lemon flavor.

All Children Spill Food; Be Prepared

Just because your little child spills at the table is no reason he should be a social outcast.

In the interest of keeping small youngsters in the family group, it is wise not to feed them separately. But how to reconcile the inevitable spilling with the niceties of adult dining? Here are some mealtime suggestions.

1. Be realistic about upset glasses and missed mouths by having the table for informal family dinners in the kitchen surfaced with material that is easily wiped and will not stain.

This will save laundry bills and temper, and Junior will become a member in good standing in the family unit early in life.

2. You will have patience to help your youngest learn to feed himself if the meals you plan do not require constant jumping up to watch the range or refill plates. Cultivate the simple but nourishing meal.

3. Have the child's chair at a suitable height so that he can reach both his plate and the table easily. This will save those "extra" spillings.

4. A linoleum or tiled kitchen floor wipes up in seconds with a damp mop, so that if the milk or mashed prunes go tumbling down, no harm is done. By no means have a rug in the room where youngsters eat.

5. If a meal is too long, children become restless, and begin to roughhouse. Arrange it so that youngsters may be excused while adults linger over coffee.

6. Too hurried a meal is not good, either. Be sure that dinner has a leisurely air, no matter how brief the time at the table. This encourages happiness in the group and good digestion, and also helps to insure juvenile cooperation.

PETUNIA!

It's kinder to
My tired feet
And helps to keep
My temper sweet!

Good thought, Petunia! Several soft scatter rugs or pads in the places where you stand makes housework easier.

Wedding Bells Peal Out in Pontiac Area Churches

MRS. JAMES R. OSBORN

A wedding trip to Portage Point is planned by Nancy Ann Wells and James Robert Osborn, who were married this afternoon in Kirk in the Hills. The Dale Wells of Orchard Lake and the R. D. Barnes of Lansing are their parents.

Nancy A. Wells Becomes Bride of James R. Osborn

After a honeymoon trip to Portage Point on Lake Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Osborn plan to make their home in Marinette, Wis.

The former Nancy Ann Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wells of Lakeview avenue, Orchard Lake and James Robert Osborn, were married this afternoon at Kirk in the Hills. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Osborn of Lansing.

Dr. William P. Lemon officiated at the 2 o'clock ceremony, before 200 guests.

As she came down the aisle on her father's arm, the bride was wearing a gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. The dress was styled with a lace bodice, long sleeves, and illusion neckline.

The floor-length tulle skirt was trimmed with panels of lace, and a pearl-trimmed lace cap held her fingertip veil. She wore the bridegroom's gift of pearls and carried a cascade of white orchids and stephanotis.

Linda Wells was her sister's maid of honor in a ballerina-length dress of aqua shantung with shrug jacket and beaded bodice. A cascade of garnet roses and ivy formed her bouquet.

Bridesmaids, Marie Riley of Grand Rapids, Helen Osborn of Lansing, the bridegroom's sister; and Mrs. Donn McGuigan of Detroit, wore pale yellow dresses similar to the honor maids, and they carried similar bouquets.

Robert Osterberg came from Lansing to be best man at the wedding. Arthur Zill of Lansing, Eugene Bonofiglo, also of Lansing, William Kish of Princeton, Minn. and Walker Mayhew of Cleveland, O. seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wells wore a dress of gray silk organza with ruby accessories and a ruby glamellia corsage. Mrs. Osborn chose mauve silk organza with ruby accessories and a purple-tipped white orchid.

After a reception at Rotunda Inn, the bride changed to her traveling costume, a dress of beige faille and velvet with black accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

James and his bride are graduates of Michigan State College, where she was a membe rof Sigma Kappa sorority, and he was affiliated with Kappa Sigma fraternity.

SARA MAE BROWN

The Gerald N. Browns of Peach street are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Sara Mae, to Ralph Wilcox. Ralph is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wilcox of West End avenue.

Mary Cloonan Weds William J. Dean Jr. Today at St. Vincent de Paul Church

An imported white Chantilly lace gown designed with an off-shoulder yoke was worn by Mary Sue Cloonan when she spoke her vows with William J. Dean Jr. this morning at St. Vincent de Paul Church.

The yoke of the gown was distinguished with matching lace appliqued with sequins, and the long fitted sleeves ended at points over the wrists.

The bride's voluminous skirt, accented by a self-lace ruffle, formed the hemline which extended into a cathedral-length train. An imported finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a lace Juliet cap which was outlined with seed pearls and sequins.

Mary Sue carried a graceful lace fan which had been bought in Rome by a family friend. The fan formed the background for a bouquet of white roses, swainsonia, ivy and a white orchid.

A necklace of a tiny diamond and drop pearls, an heirloom in the Cloonan family, completed the bridal ensemble.

Parents of the bride and bridegroom are the S. J. Cloonan Jrs. of Cherokee road and the William J. Deans of Ottawa drive.

The 300 guests heard the nuptial mass sung by the Rev. Maurice Veryser. Bishop A. M. Zaleski read the 10 o'clock marriage service.

Preceding Mary Sue to the altar were Delores Geisler as maid of honor and Mary Jo Pauli as junior bridesmaid. Bridesmaids were Sue McDougall, Mary Andary of Sault Ste. Marie, Ann Perkins and Patricia Dean, a cousin of the bridegroom.

The bridesmaids' iridescent gowns in gray, beige, mauve and pink respectively were designed identically to the honor maid's blue dress.

Shrug jackets were worn over the strapless taffeta gowns of ballerina-length which featured jeweled necklines, fitted bodices and bouffant skirts. Their headpieces were composed of ivy and a rubrum lily and they carried cascades of lilies and ivy.

The junior bridesmaid's costume was a white floor-length nylon dot dress worn over white taffeta. It was accented with a crushed blue velvet sash. Her headpiece was of ivy and feathered delphinium.

Charles R. Dean performed the duties of best man for his nephew while S. James Cloonan, the bride's brother; Hugh DeMartino of Canfield, N. J.; Robert O'Laughlin of Toledo, Ohio, and Emil Bouckaert seated the guests.

Jackie Cuyler sang the bridal recital.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Cloonan chose a gray-blue taffeta dress with which she wore a rose hat and a glamelia corsage. Mrs. Dean's choice was a rose taffeta dress with navy accessories and a glamelia corsage.

A breakfast was held immediately after the ceremony at Rotunda Inn where the reception also was held.

The new Mrs. Dean changed to a navy shantung costume dress with matching jacket and navy accessories. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Following a Northern Michigan honeymoon, the couple will live at Watkins Lake.

Mary Sue attended Marygrove College and her husband is attending the University of Detroit.

MRS. WILLIAM J. DEAN JR.

Pontiac Man Claims Bride at Ceremony in Florida

The First Baptist Church of Lakeland, Fla. was the setting Friday evening when Jack A. McCurry claimed Linwood Coker for his bride. Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. McCurry of Marquette street, and the Fred M. Cokers of Lakeland are the bride's parents.

Linwood was dressed in a gown of organdy over white satin. Embroidery edged the neckline and sleeves of the fitted bodice and the back flounce which extended into a train.

Hand clipped embroidery appliqued with pearls trimmed the bodice, skirt and train. A tiara of pearls held her silk illusion veil, and she carried valley lilies surrounding a white orchid on a fan of tulle and lace.

Louree Coker attended her sister as maid of honor in a dress of pink embroidered organdy over satin, with a draped bodice and matching stole. Freda Walton and Jean Puritt, both of Lakeland, and the bridegroom's sister, Janet McCurry and Mrs. Nunnally Murphy of Auburn, Ala. a cousin of the bride, were the other attendants.

Their dresses were pink lilac organdy over lilac taffeta. The honor maid's bouquet was a fan of purple lilac net with deep rose colored rainbow asters. Pink lilac fans with purple rainbow asters were carried by the bridesmaids.

Patricia Barton of Sylacuga, Ala. was flower girl in a dress similar to the bride's in pink. Lynn Douthit of Rome, Ga. was the ring bearer for his cousin.

William McCurry attended his brother as best man, and another brother, Robert McCurry, seated the guests with Phillip Clements of Auburndale, Fla., Coker Barton of Sylacuga, Ala., and Huel White of Columbus, Ga.

Mrs. Coker wore sage green net over satin, trimmed with iridescent bugle beads and pearls, and a corsage of talisman roses and miniature orchids, for her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. McCurry chose beige lace with a corsage of pink roses and bronze miniature orchids.

After a reception in the church parlors, Linwood changed to a dark gold suit with brown accessories and the orchid from her bouquet for the wedding trip to Miami and the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia. They will live in Pontiac.

Joan Louise Dennis Wed in First Presbyterian Rite

Exchanging vows this afternoon in First Presbyterian Church were Joan Louise Dennis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Branton E. Dennis of East Kennett road, and Donald A. Deeter.

The Rev. Andrew Creswell of the United Presbyterian Church read the 3 o'clock rite.

The bridal gown with its scalloped neckline, fitted bodice and bouffant skirt was fashioned of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin.

A headpiece of shirred nylon and seed pearls held a two-tiered veil and the bride wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried white rose bouquet centered with a white orchid.

Bettie Bergsrtom as maid of honor wore a pastil pink nylon tulle gown in ballerina length with a pink nylon jacket. Her bouquet was composed of Bermuda red gladioli and carnations. She wore a headpiece of pink nylon net covered with white forget-me-nots.

Donald, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Deeter of Chippewa road asked his brother, Howard of Omaha, Neb. to attend him as best man. Seating the guests were James G. Aldrich and John H. Gibson of East Lansing.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dennis chose a toast colored lace cocktail-length dress. Her flowers of pink gardenias set off the brown accessories.

Mrs. Deeter wore a champagne colored embroidered satin cocktail dress with black velvet accessories and pink rose buds.

A pink shantung suit with brown velvet accessories was chosen by the bride for the wedding trip to Canada. The reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony.

Donald is graduate of Michigan State College where he is a member of Theta Chi fraternity. The newlyweds will live on Oneida road.

Churches Rush Relief to Greece

Shipments of Supplies Reach Quake Victims 24 Hours After Disaster

Relief supplies for victims of Greek earthquakes have been speeded to the disaster area by Church World Service, the first shipments arriving at the scene within 24 hours after news of the castrophe was received.

The shocks leveled entire towns and cities in the Ionian Islands, leaving an estimated 118,000 persons homeless with 600 others listed as dead and some 10,000 injured.

Regardless of ancestry, the American people are reported to be donating generously to the current need.

REV. IVOL I. CURTIS

Former Pastor to Give Sermon at All Saints

Former minister at All Saints Episcopal Church, the Rev. Ivol I. Curtis, will preach at the 11 a.m. service Sunday.

The Rev. Mr. Curtis, who resigned from the local church in December, 1952, to accept a call to a Los Angeles church, is on vacation here.

A coffee hour will follow the service so that friends may greet the Curtises.

Three Clerics Beaten by Communist Mobs in Yugoslavia

(By Religious News Service)

BELGRADE — One Roman Catholic and two Serbian Orthodox prelates fled from their dioceses in Bosnia after having been threatened by Communist mobs.

One was reported badly beaten and another was pelted with eggs and tomatoes.

Borba, Belgrade Communist organ, said the 75-year-old Metropolitan Nektarije Krulj of Sarajevo, a high Serbian Orthodox official, had been rescued unharmed by police from a mob of 1,000 persons who demonstrated against him near Tuzla.

But Church sources said the Metropolitan had been dragged from a parish house and beaten with clubs and fists. He was reported suffering from serious bruises and his right ankle was said to be so swollen he could not walk.

Metropolitan Krulj fled to Belgrade.

The Belgrade press also said that Bishop Carlo Celik, Apostolic Administrator of Banja Luka, and Orthodox Bishop Vasili Kostic of Banja Luka had been driven out of their dioceses.

Mobs demonstrated against Bishop Celik at Ljubija and Prijedor, two small town in his diocese, it was said. At Prijedor, said Borba, "only the intervention of police saved him from being assaulted."

Church Groups Prepare for Partial Federation

ANDOVER, Mass. (AP)— A council of 18 ministers and laymen prepared Tuesday to administer a partial federation of the Universalist Church of America and the American Unitarian Society.

Meeting in the first joint conference of the churches the 800 delegates voted recently in separate denominational meetings to unite the departments of religious educations, publications and public relations.

The 18-member joint council was given the name "Council of Liberal Churches (Universal-Unitarian)."

BISHOP AND PLANE—The Rt. Rev. William J. Gordon Jr., Bishop of Alaska, stands beside his airplane, "The Blue Box," contributed by the women of the Episcopal Church through their United Thank Offering. Year round Bishop Gordon travels to the 47 Episcopal mission and parish stations, holding regular services in the smaller missions which have no residing minister, and confirming and baptizing in the larger missions and parishes. Each station is visited at least once a year. Seven months out of the year the plane travels on skis, as pictured above. During the warm weather when the snow thaws, wheels are substituted for the skis.

The Week in Religion

Several worldwide church bodies have been making plans to hold their next international meetings in the United States.

The decision to hold the 1957 plenary assembly of the Lutheran World Federation in the U. S. was made at Trondheim, Norway, by the organization's executive committee.

The committee also approved a recommendation by the federation's department of theology that Lutheran delegates to the World Council's second assembly next year gather for a short briefing session in or near Chicago prior to the opening of that meeting.

When the World Evangelical Fellowship closed its international conference at Clarens, Switzerland, delegates decided to hold the next worldwide session in the U. S. in 1956.

No specific date or city was set. But the W. E. F. will sponsor three regional conferences, in Asia, South America and Europe, before the 1956 meeting.

The W. E. F. was formed in August, 1951, at an international convention of Evangelicals at Woudschoten, Holland.

A highlight of the World Council's second assembly next year will be an outdoor worship service that is expected to attract more than 60,000 persons.

Although virtually all assembly sessions will be held on the campus of Northwestern University at Evanston, the outdoor service at the opening of the conference will be held in Soldier Field, Chicago.

Officials of the United States Conference for the World Council, the American affiliate, expect 600 delegates from the World Council's 160 communions in 46 countries to attend the Assembly.

In addtion, there will be 150 consultants, 120 youth consultants, and 600 accredited visitors, as well as fraternal delegates, observers and members of the press.

Theme of the 1954 assembly will be "Christ—the Hope of the World." Sub-themes will deal with Faith and Order— 'Our Oneness in Christ and Our Disunity as Churches"; Evangelism — "The Mission of the Church to Those Outside Her Life"; Social Problems—"The Responsible Society in a World Perspective"; International Affairs — "Christians in the Struggle for World Community"; Inter-group Relations — "The Church amid Racial and Ethnic Tensions," and the laity — "The Christian and His Vocation."

Air-Cooled Church to Open in Chicago

(By Religious News Service)

CHICAGO — A new $3,600,000 air-conditioned Roman Catholic church in the heart of Chicago's famous Loop will be dedicated to the service of travelers and the business district's workers on Labor Day (Sept. 7) by Samuel Cardinal Stritch.

The first church building erected in the Loop in nearly 30 years, it will replace St. Peter's church, several blocks south of the Loop, built in 1865. The old church, which has had no regular resident congregation for a number of years, had become familiarly known to Chicagoans as "the Old Dutch Cleanser" for the number of confessions heard in it.

New St. Peter's is on the site of the old La Salle Theater, a Chicago landmark purchased in 1951 by the Franciscan Fathers. Its cornerstone was laid the same year by the Very Rev. Eligius Weir, O. F. M., of St. Louis, the order's provincial.

8 State Priests Named Prelates by Pope Pius

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Eight Western Michigan Catholic priests have been elevated to the rank of domestic prelate and two have been named papal chamberlain by Pope Pius XII, the Most Rev. Francis J. Haas, bishop of the Grand Rapids Diocese announced today.

Domestic prelate rank carries with it the title of Right Rev. Monsignor. Those so designated are Monsignors Anthony P. Arsulowicz, James A. Bryant, Arthur F. Bukowski, John A. Maksymowski, William J. Murphy, Joseph E. Shaw, Raymond J. Sweeney, all of Grand Rapids, and William E. Fraser, Muskegon.

Priests named papal chamberlain are Very Rev. Monsignors Louis J. Verreau and Joseph C. Walen, both of Grand Rapids.

The late Rep. Joseph R. Bryson (D., S.C.) made a hobby of collecting Bibles and other spiritual books. His collection numbered more than 12,000 volumes.

Church Offers Economic Aid

Will Advise Members on Business Problems; May Loan Money

(By Religious News Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Laurel Heights Methodist Church here now has a committee designed to help solve for its members problems in the realm of business and industry.

Believed to be an innovation in religious cooperation, the new committee is ready to offer counsel or arrange other assistance—possibly even financial where economic conditions might threaten disaster.

H. B. Zachry, head of a construction concern, is chairman of the business advisory committee. Mr. Zachry, recalling depression times when "the turn of a hand could have meant the difference between survival or failure for some one," cited the possibility that lean days may have to be faced again.

The idea is that any one with a business or professional problem with economic aspects, can seek, in confidence if desired, the advice of a business and professional group.

After some one requests the committee's counsel and a preliminary conference is held, Mr. Zachry said, the individual problem will be referred to a specially selected panel to evaluate the situation in more detail and plan further steps.

Such procedure in the past might have helped despondent or distressed persons over difficulties and even averted personal tragedy, the chairman added.

Mr. Zachry pointed out that the group plausibly might be helpful to persons who normally would hesitate to seek aid. Yet, he added, the program might insure jobs and buying power that could keep many others off charity rolls.

Jewish Council Criticizes Byrnes' U.N. Appointment

(By Religious News Service)

ST. PAUL, Minn. — The Minnesota Jewish Council has wired a protest to President Eisenhower against his appointment of Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina to the United Nations delegation.

"In these days of struggle for the minds of people all over the world, we hope that you will not make us vulnerable to Communist attack by appointing a man of Gov. Byrnes' attitude on human rights to such an important position," the wire said.

Rural Church Leaders Meet in Switzerland

(By Religious News Service)

NEW YORK—Twenty-one American Protestant leaders in rural church work joined leaders in that field from three other continents at a world seminar in Bossey, near Geneva, Switzerland, Aug. 24-28 on problems of the Church and rural life.

The seminar was sponsored jointly by the World Council of Churches' Ecumenical Institute and the National (U.S.A.) Council of Churches department of town and country church.

Major topics considered by the gathering were: The rural setting of today as a human problem; the responsibility of the church towards rural life, and a critical review of the various approaches in meeting the present rural situation.

Mobile Chapel to Serve Kentucky Communities

(By Religious News Service)

NEW YORK — A chapel-on-wheels will be activated early in September by the Presbyterian (U. S. A.) Board of National Missions. The unit will serve the religious needs of mushrooming defense communities near Paducah, Ky., the board announced here.

The trailer will seat a congregation of 40 adults or nearly 60 children. It will be equipped with a lectern, portable organ, sound motion picture and film strip projector, loudspeaker, record player, Bibles, hymnals, and folding chairs and tables.

People's Spirit Firm, Says Polish Captain

(By Religious News Service)

LONDON — A Polish sea captain who left his ship to seek asylum in England, said here that the Communists had failed to break the religious spirit of the Polish people.

Churches are "constantly crowded" on Sundays, said Capt. Jan Cwiklinski.

Capt. Cwiklinski sought refuge here when his ship, the Batory, arrived on its last trip to Britain. The ship left for Poland under command of a subordinate officer.

The captain said Stalin's death had not changed the situation in Poland. "Peril, intolerance and suspicion" still prevail, he added.

131 Catholic Prelates Persecuted in Red Zones

(By Religious News Service)

ROME—One hundred and thirty-one Roman Catholic cardinals, archbishops and bishops in Iron Curtain countries have been imprisoned or otherwise prevented from carrying out their ecclesiastical functions, the Vatican Press Office announced here.

Of the prelates listed, 39 are in prison, 41 are "impeded" in their worship, 38 expelled, five exiled, four detained in unknown places, three deported and one "confined."

Communist China headed the list, with 74 prelates imprisoned, expelled or "impeded." It was followed by Romania with 13, Czechoclovakia, 9; Russia, 8; Poland, 7, Lithuania, 6, Yugoslavia, 5; Hungary, 3; Latvia and Korea, 2 each, and Bulgaria and Danzig, 1 each.

Catholics to Give Lutherans Lift

Denied Public Rides, Parochial Students to Share New Bus

(By Religious News Service)

CLEVELAND, O. — Roman Catholic and Lutheran parochial pupils in East Carlisle, O., will ride together to school this fall in a bus purchased by St. Mary Parish, Elyria, it was disclosed here by the Catholic Universe Bulletin.

The parochial school pupils were barred from public buses by an East Carlisle School Board decision last June.

Affected by the decision were 122 St. Mary pupils and five pupils who attend St. John Lutheran school in Elyria.

"The only thing we could do after the school board decision was to buy a bus," said Msgr. William L. Newton, St. Mary pastor and dean of the Lorain Deanery. "We decided to carry the Lutheran children, too, because there are only five of them and because their school is just a half-block from ours."

The Rev. P. M. Schroeter, St. John principal, said the Lutheran parish was leaving it up to East Carlisle Lutheran families to work out transportation arrangements with St. Mary.

The East Carlisle school-bus controversy saw the school board change its mind on the issue three times in 13 months.

With the merging in July of the East Carlisle school district with three others to form a new district, the issue became pretty much a dead one. The other three districts now merged with East Carlisle are not next to Elyria and its parochial schools.

For that reason the new district board has not been asked to provide public bus transportation for Catholic or Lutheran pupils.

DR. ANDREW S. CRESWELL

REV. HUBERT STEWART

Minister to Return After Long Illness

After many months of ill health, Dr. Andrew S. Creswell, pastor of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church, is sufficiently recovered to take complete charge of the church and its services starting Sept. 1.

The Rev. Hubert Stewart, who has been in charge of the church during the interim, will enter Westminster Theological Seminary in Philadelphia this fall to complete his preparation for the ministry.

He studied previously at Bob Jones University.

Alma College Head to Speak Here Sunday

Dr. Stanley J. Harker, president of Alma College, will speak at First Presbyterian Church Sunday.

200,000 Attend 1953 Conferences at Winona Lake

(By Religious News Service)

WINONA LAKE, Ind. — More than 200,000 persons attended conferences this season on the grounds of the Winona Lake Christian Assembly here, it was reported at the annual meeting of the assembly's board of directors.

The report said $75,000 had been spent during the past year to improve the grounds and erect new buildings. The latter include a 21-unit model which the board voted to name McKee Courts in memory of Arthur W. McKee, assembly executive manager for the past 11 years who died in June.

The directors also announced that a 150-seat chapel will be put up on the conference grounds at a cost of $10,000 by the Trinity Brothers of Chicago, and presented to the assembly.

Afternoon Program Features Missionary

Guest speaker at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in Trinity Baptist Church will be Miss Claudia Knight of Detroit. This program is a part of the special services planned for Sunday, which is Annual Missionary Day at the church.

Miss Knight has done extensive study and travel in the missionary field and is a graduate of the National Baptist Training School at Nashville, Tenn.

"Keeper of the Spring" is the missionary topic to which the Rev. Richard H. Dixon Jr. will address himself and the Missionary Chorus will furnish special music.

At 7:30 p.m. the Missionary Youth Department will present a pageant under the direction of Mrs. Verda Billings.

Knights Ask Change in U. S. Allegiance Oath

(By Religious News Service)

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Addition of the words "under God" in the oath of allegiance to the flag was urged here by the Knights of Columbus in a resolution adopted at closing sessions of its national convention.

Here's how the pledge would read with the proposed change:

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Such a change, the Knights said, would recognize that all authority comes from God and that all rights extend from a Divine source.

Sunday Sermonette

THE RESTAURANT

The cashier's corner of any restaurant reveals the American concern for the sick, the underprivileged and the young.

You have finished your lunch, and as you pay the cashier you notice a sign fastened to the cash register urging you to give a pint of blood to the Red Cross. The cashier hands you your change, and a container on the counter invites you to drop some in to help a children's fresh air fund. You go to the cigarette-vending machine and your eye is caught by a sign saying the machine is not to be used by anyone under twenty-one years of age.

The simple act of paying for a meal and buying a smoke has revealed our society's conviction that the underage, the weak, and the afflicted are to be protected and helped.

This conviction originates in our religion. Religion affirms that the strong are to bear the burdens of the weak, the needy are to be helped, and the feeble are to be defended, and the downtrodden are to e raised up. And taking hold of the popular imagination, this religious idea has become woven into our institutions and laws— as the restaurant cashier's desk bears witness.

Protestant Study Asked by Peron

Commission to Decide Whether Missionaries Endanger Defense

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Peron's government Wednesday named a commission to investigate the question of whether Protestant missionaries in Argentina endanger national defense along the frontiers and in special security zones.

Roman Catholicism is the official state religion in Argentina, but the government has created few obstacles to major Protestant missions in the past. The latest published census showed fewer than 311,000 Protestants among the country's 17 million inhabitants.

Religious circles here believe the decree creating the investigating commission is aimed particularly at missions of smaller non-Catholic groups, such as the Mormons, Seventh Day Adventists and Jehovah's Witnesses. It was apparently not aimed at the larger Protestant groups.

The investigation will be directed by the Foreign Ministry, which is also in charge of culture and religion in the country. The National Defense Ministry will have a representative on the commission, which must submit a report within 120 days.

Under the authorizing decree, the commission may recommend outright suppression of any missions it considers undesirable. It also may suggest means for keeping complete control of all missionary activities along the borders with other countries and in areas considered important to national security. The investigating body also may recommend converting some Protestant mission schools to rural or agricultural schools.

The commission is directed to study the best means of increasing Roman Catholic missions, especially among the Argentine Indians.

A. D. STIMER

Church Speaker to Tell of Gideon's Efforts

Guest speaker at Oakland Park Methodist Church Sunday will be A. D. Stimer. He will tell of the work of the Gideons in this country and in 62 countries outside of the United States and Canada.

Stimer has been associated with the work of this Christian business men's organization for many years.

Three Religions Have Fair Booth and Joint Display

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish women of this area are sponsoring, for the third successive year, an intercreedal religious exhibit at the New York State Fair to be held here Aug. 31 to Sept. 7.

The success of the exhibit in the past two years has brought inquiries from all over the country, including letters from church women in at least five states expressing a wish to initiate a similar project at their own state fairs.

At the fair here, a Protestant, a Catholic and a Jewish woman will be in constant attendance at each of two tables in the booth to distribute literature on their respective faiths.

St. Benedict Totals $150,167 for Project

A total of $150,167.00 was reported in the St. Benedict Parish Expansion Fund Campaign of the west Pontiac parish last week. The goal has been successfully oversubscribed with many gifts still outstanding.

The Rev. Richard W. Themas, pastor, expressed his thanks to all the workers.

The campaign was organized to finance a new 12 room school plus a 10 cell convent which will be constructed on the property adjacent to the present church. The ground will be broken late this fall.

Rev. Johnson Will Represent Region

The Rev. Grover C. Johnson, 10 East Blvd., is one of 95 regional representatives of the Church of God who will meet at the national offices of the church in Anderson, Ind., Sept. 8-10.

The group will chart plans for raising $1,100,000 for the World Service fund of the church.

The amount is to be raised by June 30, 1954, and will be used principally for home and foreign missions, Christian education, and ministers' aid and pensions.

When regional representatives return from Anderson they will call upon all the pastors of the church in their area and personally discuss the fund with them.

Mr. Johnson is pastor of the First Church of God here.

Godless Soviet Society Reaffirms Opposition

LONDON — The Communist Party has "always been irreconcilably opposed to religion, always fought it in a decisive manner and will continue to do so," a spokesman for the Soviet Atheist Society said in a Moscow Radio domestic broadcast heard here.

He charged that the opinions of "some" Communists, who hold that religion "does no harm," are "entirely and utterly false."

"Religion propagates the principles of the bourgeois moral code which is alien to Communist morals and the Soviet community," the speaker said. "Religion diverts men from the struggle against the enemies of Communism, and the performance of religious rites diverts people from their Communist tasks."

HOWARD SHORT

Plans to Enter Divinity School

Local Insurance Official Starts Harvard Course This Fall

Leaving his position as personnel manager of Hardware Mutual Insurance Co., Howard Short of 1358 Linville, Watkins Lake, will enter Harvard Divinity School this fall.

Mr. Short, who has been a local pastor at Central Methodist Church here, has served on the official board and been superintendent of the Sunday School for the past two years.

The Rev. Chester R. Allen, superintendent of the Worcester District of the Methodist Church in Massachusetts, has announced the appointment of Mr. Short as supply pastor of First Methodist Church in Westboro as of Sept. 15.

Mr. Short is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Short of Flint and a graduate of Michigan State College. He is married and has two children.

Say Churches Fail to Interest Worker

(By Religious News Service)

CHICAGO — Churches in Chicago are not geared to the needs and interests of the working man, it was reported by a majority of 43 seminarians who concluded a summer of unannounced visits to Protestant services here.

The theological students from 10 seminaries, 13 denominations, and five nations, were enrolled in the 1953 Ministers-in-Industry project of the Presbyterian Institute of Industrial Relations.

The men worked in factories and steel mills for several months without being identified as "preachers." They visited various churches on Sundays to see how services appealed to the average wage-earner. Three nights a week they attended classes in McCormick Theological Seminary.

In making final oral reports to Dr. Marshall L. Scott, program director, most of the students said Chicago churches were missing the boat.

"If I were a working man I would rather have stayed home and read the papers than listen to those sermons," said one student.

Loneliness Seen as Big Problem

Priest Says Churches Should Act to Combat Tavern Meetings

CHICAGO (UP) — America has a "terrible need for lonely hearts bureaus," according to a Roman Catholic priest.

The priest, the Rev. Edward Dowling of St. Louis, added it's up to the churches to do something about it.

"Probably the major social problem of the country is the meeting of a man and woman," he said at a summer school for Catholic action.

The problem is resolved by taverns right now, he said.

Church organizations could give the meeting "a moral safety and degree of dignity that no other agency can provide."

He suggested that church "dating bureaus" screen applicants through questionnaires, interviews and references.

A clergyman should provide the moral references, the Rev. Dowling said, and a mature woman should judge the "social qualities and looks" of the candidate.

He added that church societies have done good work helping lonely persons to meet in London, Dublin and Brussels.

Methodist bishop Donald H. Tippett of San Francisco has been made a chief of the Bambuli and Balanga clans in a remote part of the pygmy country of Africa's Belgian Congo.

Army OKs Film 'Here to Eternity,' Navy Bans It

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army thinks it's all right for its soliers to see the movie "From Here to Eternity," a hard-boiled account of barracks life.

But the Navy has banned it from the screens it controls as "derogatory to a sister service"—the Army.

The Air Force, which works with the Army in reviewing pictures, also has approved the film for showing on its screens.

All services have banned another movie, "The Moon is Blue," which the Roman Catholic Legion of Decency put on its condemned list.

In this connection service spokesmen said it was standing policy to reject any movie that offended a racial or religious group.

Haymes Digs Up Argentina Treaty

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A copy of an 1855 treaty between the United States and crooner Dick Haymes' native Argentina, injected into his deportation proceedings, may get him an indefinite postponement of the case.

The government is trying to deport the singer on the ground that he became ineligible for citizenship by claiming exemption from military service as an alien during World War II.

His lawyers quoted the 1855 treaty as guaranteeing the rights of citizens of Argentina and the United States in each others' country. They said it exempted citizens of the two nations from all compulsory military service in the other.

Hard Rain in Texas Halts Drought Relief

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A reporter of the Kingsville Record yesterday called the Kleberg County Farm Cooperative at Ricardo, south of here, to ask if there was any rain in the area.

A voice on the other end of the line sputtered and replied:

"It's raining so blankety-blank hard right now we can't unload the government drought relief feed that just came in."

Railway Conductors Plan Strike Action

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP)—The Order of Railway Conductors, seeking more pay for its 35,000 members, has announced it will begin a strike on some railroads at 6 (local standard time) Sept. 10.

The strike action was announced in Chicago yesterday by an aide of T. O. Hughes, ORC president, and confirmed by an ORC spokesman here.

In Washington, a spokesman for the National Mediation Board said the present dispute is an unsettled demand dating back to 1949 for the graduated pay rate.

Gunman Turns Snooty at $50 and Walks Off

DETROIT (AP)—Sam Ruffin and police are still puzzled today. Here's why.

A man walked into Ruffin's real estate office yesterday, dragged a pistol from a brief case and stalked up to Ruffin. Thinking it a holdup, Ruffin took $50 from the cash drawer and laid it on his desk. The gunman didn't take it. He squinted at Ruffin and said: "You're not the man I want."

Then the gunman tucked his gun back in the brief case, ran out and jumped in a waiting car.

Two Detroit Youths in Auto Accident

Blinded by oncoming headlights while driving on Middlebelt road at Lone Pine road in West Bloomfield Township Thursday night, a Detroit youth lost control of his auto and overturned, seriously injuring a passenger.

Barant Van Emery, 17, of 8917 Petosky St., told Oakland County sheriff's deputies he lost control of his car after running onto the shoulder of the road and then veering across the highway into a ditch.

He was treated at Pontiac General Hospital where his passenger, William G. Elliot, 18, of 161 California St., Highland Park, was admitted with a concussion, fractured collarbone and chest bruises. Elliot is reported in "good" condition today.

New Pilot Discouraged After Second Crash

LUKE AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz. (AP)—Second Lt. Don A. McMillian, a student pilot from Ketchikan, Alaska, crash-landed his F84 Thunderjet in a cotton field.

Minutes later, an Air Force helicopter arrived to pick him up.

The helicopter developed mechanical trouble in takeoff. It crashed from five feet in the air.

Legit Theater Snatches Cue From 3D Ear

By BOB THOMAS

The living theater is the original 3D, of course, but it is also borrowing some film innovations. One of these is stereophonic sound. That's the gimmick of having loudspeakers placed at several places behind the big screens and throughout the theaters, so the sound seems to come from all directions.

Producer Edwin Lester adapted this technique for his new show "Kismet." In the opening scene, a chanter of Bagdad calls the faithful to prayer. Other voices carry the call to both sides of the theater and even in the balcony. It's highly effective.

A current magazine article mentions that the movie industry is the nation's third largest. This is a myth that has been preserved through the years, although the listing is usually given as fourth.

The motion picture almanac reports 219,000 full-time workers in the film industry in 1951. The department of commerce listed motion pictures' share of the national income of 1949 as 40 cents of every $100.

Does that sound like an industry that is the country's third largest?

This is the tourist season in Hollywood, and the studios are swamped with requests to see the sets. Most of the hopefuls are turned away in disappointment. Only those with exceptional pull are allowed to get beyond the studio gates.

Warners seems to be going all-out in discouraging visitors. The reception room is equipped with a booth of darkened glass. A scarcely visible studio policeman sits behind the glass and receives requests via a two-way microphone. It's something like visiting day at San Quentin.

This may be testimony of the state of the union. Folks predicted that Jane Powell's career would dive after she broke up her marriage and started dating Gene Nelson, with whom she costarred in a movie.

Apparently her career isn't suffering. The latest popularity poll of motion picture magazine shows that Jane has zoomed to No. 1 position.

Advocates Highways Built Over Rail Lines

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UP) — A Ford Motor Co. executive said the cost of modern highway construction might be sharply reduced by building expressways over or alongside existing railroads.

The proposal was laid before the National Project Adequate Roads Committee, a group working for better highways, by George J. Crimmins, director of dealer relations and business management for the Ford Co.

He noted that big cities are now encountering "fantastic costs"—running up to $8,000,000 per mile — in constructing expressways to ease traffic congestion.

Building expressways above railroad tracks, he said, would have "numerous advantages" both in cutting costs and from the standpoint of good city planning.

Gets 5-15 Years Term for Nighttime Entry

A 5 to 15-year prison sentence was imposed on Kenneth Deneen, 28, of a local hotel, by Oakland County Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick Friday on a charge of breaking and entering in the night time.

Deneen pleaded guilty Aug. 25 to breaking into Jones Hardware at 2520 Airport Rd., Waterford Township.

Astrologer Wrong on Either Grimm or Dressen

By BEN PHLEGAR

..Associated Press Sports Writer..

Charlie Grimm better check with Charlie Dressen on which astrologer he reads.

If he doesn't, the stars may get the National League pennant race all confused.

Milwaukee Charlie celebrated his 55th birthday yesterday and his horoscope, as compiled by one New York stargazer, claims his present frustration is only temporary and that everything will be okay in two weeks.

Grimm, who hasn't conceded anything to the Brooklyn Charlie even though his club trails Dressen's club by 9½ games, might interpret this prediction as meaning the Braves are still alive and the Dodgers are due for a fall.

The big hitch is that Dressen has a birthday coming up Sept. 20, soon enough that his horoscope at the moment is the same as Grimm's. And Brooklyn Charlie's "slight frustration" presently is the fact his Dodgers are so close and yet so far from clinching their second straight pennant. If everything clears up for him, too, in the next two weeks, as the astrologer suggests, it could only mean the Dodgers would be in.

Both clubs won last night.

The Braves beat the New York Giants 3-1 with Warren Spahn winning his 19th game. Brooklyn banged four home runs for the second game in succession, whipping Cincinnati 9-7. Pee Wee Reese hit two, Carl Furillo one and Roy Campanella one.

Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies blanked the Chicago Cubs on four singles 5-0 and St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 10-9.

In the American League the New York Yankees dropped their second straight to Cleveland 3-2 but didn't lose any ground to the Chicago White Sox who also bowed 4-3 to Boston. St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 8-3 and Washington thumped Detroit 7-4. The Yanks lead by 9½.

The Cardinals rallied after Pittsburgh exploded for seven runs in the fifth inning. A pinch hit single by Red Schoendienst with the bases loaded in the seventh provided the winning run.

Steady Eddie Lopat of the Yankees lost his third game of the season in bowing to Cleveland. Al Rosen's 34th homer tied the count in the sixth and the Tribe got the winning tally in the seventh when Bobby Avila singled, stole second and scored on a double by Bill Glynn.

Boston's victory over Chicago was only the fifth for the Red Sox in 18 games this season. Jim Piersall drove home the winning run with a triple in the seventh.

Mickey Vernon, Washington's 35-year-old first baseman, increased his league leading batting average to .329 with two singles and a home run against the Tigers. He scored two runs and drove in two.

Lions Convert Breaks, Giant Mistakes Into a 38-7 Rout

Brilliant Defensive Play Highlights Exhibition Contest, Played Friday in Dallas, Before 37,000 Fans

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Detroit Lions scored in every period while romping to an easy 38-7 victory over the New York Giants before the eyes of 37,000 Texans last night.

The defending champions of the National Football League converted breaks and Giant mistakes into a rout. The victory was the second straight exhibition game triumph for the Detroit powerhouse.

Defensively speaking, the 1952 pro champs held the Giants in check in a brilliant display of pass interceptions and hard tackling. It wasn't until the final quarter that the New York team managed to squeeze out a touchdown. This came as a result of a fumble by Doak Walker.

The defensive unit held the Giants in their own half of the field practically all night. The New Yorkers reached the Detroit 11 on one drive, but the big Lion line centered around Bingaman, McGraw and Prchlik stopped the proceedings right there.

Coach Buddy Parker relied on Jim Hardy and Tom Dublinski to quarterback the Lion attack. They each flipped a touchdown pass to end Cloyce Box.

Ollie Cline, Gene Gedman and Byron Bailey accounted for three more Detroit TDs. And Walker added a field goal for good measure.

Lions converted a Giant fumble on the first exchange of downs into a 7-pointer. Lew Carpenter recovered for Detroit on the Giant 23. Bobby Hoernschemeyer carried three times to the six. Then Hardy lateraled to Cline, who scampered across for the tally.

Pat Harder converted for the first of five successful tries for the extra point.

A few minutes later the Detroit squad counted again after Jack Christiansen intercepted a pass. On the next play Hardy threw to Box for a touchdown that covered 50 yards.

Giants' defense stiffened in the second quarter and the Lions were forced to settle for Walker's 3-pointer.

However, two more interceptions by Don Doll and Yale Lary set the stage for Gedman and Bailey in the third period.

After Walker's fumble in the fourth quarter, Giants scored on an 8-yard pass from Don Gottlob to Dick Christiansen. But the Lions came right back to score their final TD after Christiansen grabbed off another Giant pass. Dublinski hit Leon Hart and Box for a pair of 20-yard strikes and the touchdown.

FLYING TACKLE STOPS ROTE—Kyle Rote, New York Giants' halfback, tries to go around his right end in the third period of Friday night's game with the Detroit Lions at Dallas, Tex., only to be stopped after picking up a yard on a flying tackle by Lion rookie linebacker Lewis Carpenter. Missing on the tackle and under the tackler is Joe Schmidt, also of the Lions. Lions trampled the Giants, 38-7.

LaStarza Sees Title Bout Going Full Distance

Cocky Challenger Says He'll Try to KO Rocky in Sept. 24 Battle

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y. (UP) —Will the Rocky Marciano-Roland La Starza heavyweight title fight go the distance?

Challenger La Starza said today their Sept. 24th bout would last its full 15 rounds "if Marciano can keep from getting knocked out."

He declared, "I won't get belted out. But I hope to put him away. I would have knocked him out when we fought in 1950 if the bout had been scheduled for 12 or 15 rounds instead of 10. Rocky was weakening fast in the 10th. Two more rounds, and I would have stopped him."

Despite LaStarza's confidence, the odds are 4½ to 1 that 29-year-old Marciano beats the 26-year-old challenger.

Did Roland consider that price an over-lay?

The ex-collegian in the white sports shirt, tan slacks and white beebop cap, replied, "the odds mean nothing to me. I've been chasing him for three years for a return bout because I thought I beat him the first time. And now I've finally got the fight. That's what is important."

Broad-shouldered Roland added emphatically: "it's only natural the world champion should be favored, even though we were at even money for our first fight. But I know I'm a better all-around man than Rocky is. I got more speed, agility, skill and probably stamina. He's superior only in punch."

State Archery Shoot Slated for Sunday

State Archery championships will be held Sunday at the Pontiac Lake Recreation Area range. Morning rounds start at 9:30 a.m. and afternoon session at 1:30 p.m.

Registration is at 8 a.m. Contestants, which include several national title-holders, will shoot 28 targets both in the morning and afternoon. Three 28-target ranges will be in operation.

Dinner and business meeting is set for 6 p.m. at the Community Activities building in Waterford.

Mrs. T. F. Neal of Birmingham won her first women's club championship at Orchard Lake Country Club Friday morning by defeating defending champion Mrs. R. E. Leahy of Detroit, 3 and 1, in the final round. Finals were played over an 18-hole route.

Bishop to Hurl First Qualifier

Opens Ortonville Bid in ABC Tourney Today, at Royal Oak

Manager Herman Bishop of Ortonville, ace of a fine six-man pitching staff, will open the American Baseball Congress tournament bid by the Pontiac city champions tonight at Royal Oak Memorial Park at 8 p.m.

Ortonville meets Mt. Clemens, runnerup in the Southern Oakland County league, in the first of a best-of-three series for the right to compete in the ABC test at Battle Creek.

Teams play Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at Wisner Field in Pontiac. A third game, if necessary, will be Monday night at Royal Oak.

Bishop has announced that he'll stick to his regular lineup which includes Bob Studt, ss; Fletcher Davis, 2b; Lee Swindell, 3b; Ernie Zubalick, lf; Walt Honchell, 1b; Al Barkeley, rf; Gene Cox, cf; Jim Berg, c, and himself.

Rams Butt Way to 27-9 Victory

Coast Pros' Running Attack Too Much for Cleveland Eleven

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles Rams whipped the Cleveland Browns, 27-9, tonight, chalking up their second straight exhibition football victory over a National League team.

The Rams, displaying an eye-catching running attack starring fullback Tank Younger and rookie halfback Brad Myers, scored three touchdowns. Ben Agajanian picked two field goals.

A crowd of 56,517 saw the game.

Los Angeles' defense held Cleveland punchless until Otto Graham led his mates 57 yards in nine plays to score late in the third period. Harry Jagade scored from the 1-yard mark.

Norman Van Brocklin's 5-yard pass to end Tommy Fears started Ram scoring in the first five minutes of the game. Rams marched 80 yards in six plays, Elroy Hirsch scoring the second touchdown.

Rookie Myers, from Bucknell, ran 40 yards for the 3rd Ram touchdown. Cleveland trapped Ram V. T. Smith for a safety in the final quarter.

Lands Only One Fish, but It's a Husky One

Ray Thompson, Hazel Park resident, vacationing at Cranberry Lake, Friday morning landed only one fish in an early trip on the lake. But the one he did get was a husky large-mouth bass that weighed 5 pounds 5 ounces. It was taken on a crazy-crawler plug.

EVANSTON, Ill—Five of Northwestern's seven-man football coaching staff are former Wildcat stars—Bob Voigts, John Kovatch, Don Heap, Waldo Fisher and Alex Sarkisian.

Stumbling Tigers Again on Brink of 8th Place Abyss

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Tigers, apparently dizzy from the giddy heights of seventh place, are on the verge of toppling back into the cellar.

Only a game and a half separates them from last-place St. Louis Browns. And the Tigers have nobody but themselves to blame for the situation.

Detroiters have dropped six straight games. Washington whipped them, 7-4, Friday night.

A week ago this time the Tigers didn't give the Brownies a second thought. They had other things on their minds—catching the sixth-place Athletics.

But now it looks as though they're going to have the fight of their lives holding off the Browns, who just swept a three-game series from the A's.

Tigers, oddly enough, may have a chance to not only shake the Browns, but pass the A's. They'll entertain the Philadelphians in a crucial, if you'll pardon the expression, five-game series starting Sunday. A sweep could put Detroit in good position.

Friday night they submitted, rather meekly, to Walt Masterson's eight-hitter.

Bob Nieman and Ray Boone were the only Tigers to solve the Washington righthander. Each whacked him for a two-run homer but it wasn't nearly enough to offset the Senators' 14-hit attack, led by Mickey Vernon. Vernon had 2 singles and a homer.

Aussie Netters Seek Revenge in U. S. Singles

Rosewall Has Toughest Match; Meets Bartzen in First Round

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Australia's young tennis stars, who were thwarted at Wimbledon, open their assault on the United States national tennis championship today.

Ken Rosewall, a slender, black-haired strategist, runs headlong into what looks as the toughest match on the first day of the 10-day tournament on the grass courts of the West Side Tennis Club.

He faces Bernard Bartzen of San Angelo, Texas, a dangerous left-hander, back on the tournament trail after an Army hitch. Bartzen's game has shown signs of regaining the form it had when he was a junior star.

Rosewall's 18-year-old buddy, Lewis Hoad, will be able to give vocal support since he isn't slated until Sunday.

Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the man who turned back the Aussies at Wimbledon in June, is top-seeded among the Americans. He meets Morton Stern of Philadelphia today.

Americans seeded behind Seixas in order are Tony Trabert, Gardnar Mulloy, Art Larsen, Hamilton Richardson, Straight Clark, Budge Patty and Tom Brown.

Defending champion Maureen Connolly dominates the women's entry. She's won it twice in a row and is aiming to become the first girl ever to hold four major world titles in the same year. She already has the Australian, British and French.

Russians Lead Weightlifting

Soviet Team Holds 16-5 Margin in World Trials at Stockholm

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Russians have scored 16 points to five for the United States in the world weightlifting championships.

Middleweight and light heavyweight contests were on tonight's agenda with three Americans and the same number of Russians taking the floor.

Thomas Kono of Oakland, Calif., and Dave Sheppard of Los Angeles are the U.S. entries in the middleweight division against Russia's J. V. Duganov.

Stanley Stancyzk of Miami, Fla., who saw Pete George of Akron, O., better his world record in the lightweight class last night, matches his strength against two Russians in the light heavyweight competition.

Russians jumped out in front by winning the bantamweight and featherweight classes, in which no Americans were entered.

Invaluable Help!

Lou Says Ted Would Have Put Sox on Top

CHICAGO (AP)—Where would the Boston Red Sox be if they'd had Ted Williams in the lineup all season?

That's obviously anybody's guess but the guess of the Red Sox manager, Lou Boudreau, is that they'd be "right at the top."

"If you'd asked me that in April or May, I'd have said Ted would have guaranteed us the first division, — third of fourth place" said Lou.

"Now, when you ask me, I'd have to say that we'd be right at the top. I don't mean the pennant necessarily. But I do mean we'd be giving the Yankees a much closer fight than the White Sox are right now."

Second-place Sox are 9½ games back of the leading Yanks.

Boudreau made the observation last night after the Red Sox recorded one of their rare victories over Chicago — winning 4-3 for their fifth triumph in 18 games with the White Sox.

Why would he say now that Williams could mean a Red Sox spot "at the top" if he wouldn't have said it last spring?

"Simply because I never expected our kids to do as well as they have. They've surprised me. All those youngsters—Tom Umphlett, Jim Piersall, Sam White, Milt Bolling — simply have come through much better than anyone could expect."

Boudreau, whose Red Sox are in fourth place 15 games off the Yankee pace, said "the runs Williams would have batted in" would have been the difference.

Leahy Blasts New Grid Rules

Says College Football Is Playing Into Hands of Professionals

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UP) — The college football controversy which was "straightened" out last winter may be stirred anew today by Coach Frank Leahy's denunciation of the "old days type of football" in store for the coming season.

The Notre Dame coach, speaking at a luncheon held Friday in connection with the Little League baseball championship, said, "We are playing directly into the hands of the professionals and we had better do something about it."

"Under the old rule, we gave more boys opportunity to play for a longer period of time," he said. "It looks now like we are going back to the old days when the coach would empty the bench in the last few minutes just to give some of the boys a chance to make their letters."

Obviously nettled at the change in the rules which bans the wholesale substitution of players, Leahy said, "When deterioration sets in on college playing standards, the people are going to spend their money to see the pros play instead."

Memorial Event Named in Honor of Jock Inkster

Pine Lake Country Club members will engage in a new golf event that will become an annual affair, starting in 1954. The new test is the Jock Inkster Memorial Best Ball Medal Play Tourney, Sept. 11-12-13.

Inkster, veteran Pine Lake pro, died a year ago. He was succeeded by Henry Ransom.

Already 80 members are entered (40 teams). A fine big trophy has been given by Fred Zoellin. The affair is on a handicap basis, and is over a 36-hole route.

A "stag" banquet is planned for the night of the first day's competition, and takes place in the clubhouse.

Ex-Tiger Is Speaker at Softball Banquet

Former Detroit Tiger outfield star Gerald (Gee) Walker will be the principal speaker at the Waterford Township Recreation department's men's softball banquet, Thursday, Sept. 3, at 7 p.m. in the Community Activities building.

Tickets are on sale at Drayton Drug and at the CAI. Playoff doubleheader is slated Monday night with Drug meeting Dixie Recreation at 7 p. m. Survivor plays Dick & Wes Sports at 8: 30. Extra game, if necessary, will be Tuesday at 8:30 p. m.

Hopes of Miss Faulk Rest on Borrowed Clubs

Georgia Star and Polly Riley Move Into Finals of Women's Tourney

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)— If Mary Lena Faulk only had her own golf clubs, she might have made a shambles of the 1953 U. S. Women's Amateur championship.

As it is, she's rated no worse than a toss-up against Polly Riley in today's 36-hole final for the starts at 8:30 a. m. (EST).

All through this tournament, the lean, jut-jawed Thomasville, Ga., girl has been playing with a set of irons borrowed from pro Peggy Kirk, and a once-discarded set of woods and putter. And through the five rounds she scored better than anyone in the tournament.

After losing to Philomena Garvey in the semi-finals of the British Amateur championship last June, Mary Lena shipped her clubs home by boat.

She's still waiting for them.

The new ones almost failed her Friday in her semi-final match against 16-year-old Margaret (Wiffi) Smith of Mexico.

Against Miss Riley, a muscular five-footer whom she has met on three other occasions, Miss Faulk won't be able to afford a letdown.

Polly, who has come through the hardest quarter of the draw, had another rough match Friday against Mrs. Philip J. Cudone of Montclair, N. J., but pulled it out on the 19th green after watching up at the 16th.

Seeks Top Ring Spot

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Ordinarily one must accept with great reserve any bold new plan to transfer the seat of the boxing industry from the big population centers of the East and Midwest out to the wide open spaces, but here comes a man who sounds as though he means business.

His name is Herman (Turk) Prujan, and he says he intends to turn Las Vegas into this nation's boxing capital, adding to its established fame as a gambling and cultural center. We have not had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Prujan, but the fact that he has signed Barney Ross as his matchmaker counts heavily in his favor.

We admired Barney as a very fine fighter and champion from the day he came out of Chicago until the night at Madison Square Garden Bowl when Henry Armstrong gave him a final terrible beating for the welterweight title. We, along with many others, admired him much more later on when he fought and conquered an even tougher foe. So if Barney's in on it we'll have to string along.

"We are planning," wires Prujan "to stage two world's championships in Las Vegas this winter. We are endeavoring to arrange either a lightweight or welterweight title bout for November. For a January date we have just wired Al Weill, manager of Rocky Marciano, an offer of $250,000 with the usual champion's percentage plus television rights for Rocky to defend against an outstanding opponent, providing of course that he beats Roland LaStarza.

"The fabulous city of Las Vegas will support such attractions as well, if not better, than any other spot in the country."

To which Ross adds:

"He, (Prujan), is a tremendous person and capable of putting over anything. He has unlimited financial support and will be a great addition to the boxing game, a throwback to the days of Tex Rickard."

Bennie Eyes Baldacci

Locating Quarterback Appears UM's Biggest Job as Opening of Drills Nears

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan will start playing "find the quarterback" Wednesday, with the opening of fall football drills.

And that will be the main job confronting Coach Bennie Oosterbaan for 21 practice days leading up to the start of the 1953 campaign against University of Washington here Sept. 26.

Michigan coach has 73 varsity candidates in a group that contains 23 lettermen. But there isn't a proven quarterback in the bunch. Duncan McDonald, Flint, Mich., junior, is the only letterman quarterback. And despite a keen passing ability, he has seen little actual game action.

It appears Oosterbaan has put his chief hope in Louis Baldacci, 205-pound sophomore. Baldacci has shown up well in spring drills and will be given every chance at signal-calling.

Elsewhere, Michigan is pretty well fixed with Ted Kress, Detroit senior, and Tony Branoff, Flint sophomore, bringing proven experience to both halfbacks, and Dick Balzhiser at fullback.

With emphasis on players who can handle offense and defense, such experienced performers as ends Gene Knutson and Tad Stanford are expected to make a good showing.

A pair of fine tackles, Art Walker and Ron Geyer, will bulwark a line that includes guards Ron Williams and converted center, Dick O'Shaughnessy.

Dean Ludwig, veteran, is slated for first crack at the center job vacated by O'Shaughnessy.

Michigan's coach has reserved Tuesday for photographers and newsmen. But the next day, the squad will jump into the thick of practice with two-a-day drills the order for 21 gruelling days.

To Meet Expansion:

County-Wide School Building Under Way

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

Several million dollars worth of school building is now under construction and on the draft boards for Oakland county school districts.

To meet the ever increasing student enrollments from kindergarten through 12th grade, districts are approving bond issues to provide their children with adequate educational facilities.

Birmingham, with a $3,400,000 school building program under way, will have additions to many of its present buildings and two new elementary schools this year.

Torry school, on the east side of Birmingham, has an addition now under construction which includes 10 classrooms, a library, activity room and multi-purpose room.

Self-contained classrooms are featured in this building which was designed by Swanson Associates of Bloomfield Hills and awarded a blue ribbon for excellence of school design two years ago. This was presented by the American Association of Architects.

Swansons have also drawn the plans for the addition. Pontiac's new Hawthorne School will be ready for September opening.

Bids were awarded for this 12 classroom modern building on Oct. 23, 1952 to Ward W. Ross of Pontiac. Architects were Schley and Ward. This building cost $404,609.

Waterford Township school district has completed $2,100,000 worth of school building in the past few years. Bids for a new junior high school will be opened Sept. 8 and this structure is to be located on Cass Lake road overlooking M-59. It will be financed by a recently approved $1,350,000 bond issue. Two junior high school sites were also purchased with this sum.

Waterford's Stringham school has a new two-room addition ready for next month's school opening.

Using interior wainscoting of cement-enameled cinder block and directional glass block on one uppper wall, asphalt tile floors have been installed. Another feature of these rooms is the complete wall expanses of storage and cabinet areas. Bundy Construction Co. of Pontiac did the building.

The Holly school district has been carrying on a new building program with a new elementary school, an elementary addition and a high school addition underway.

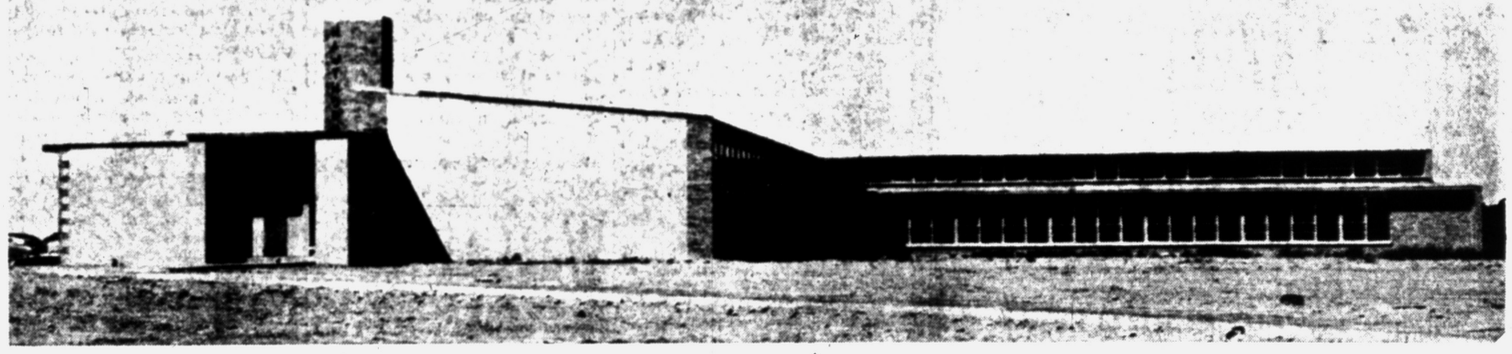
The new Holly elementary has 13 self-contained classrooms with each room being entered from a covered porch running along the entire building.

Designed by Walter T. Anicka of Ann Arbor, this building cost $232,000 and besides classrooms has a multi-purpose room, kitchen, office, teachers room and also a health facility.

Inside doors running from room to room allow for passing of classes when weather prohibits using the exterior porch.

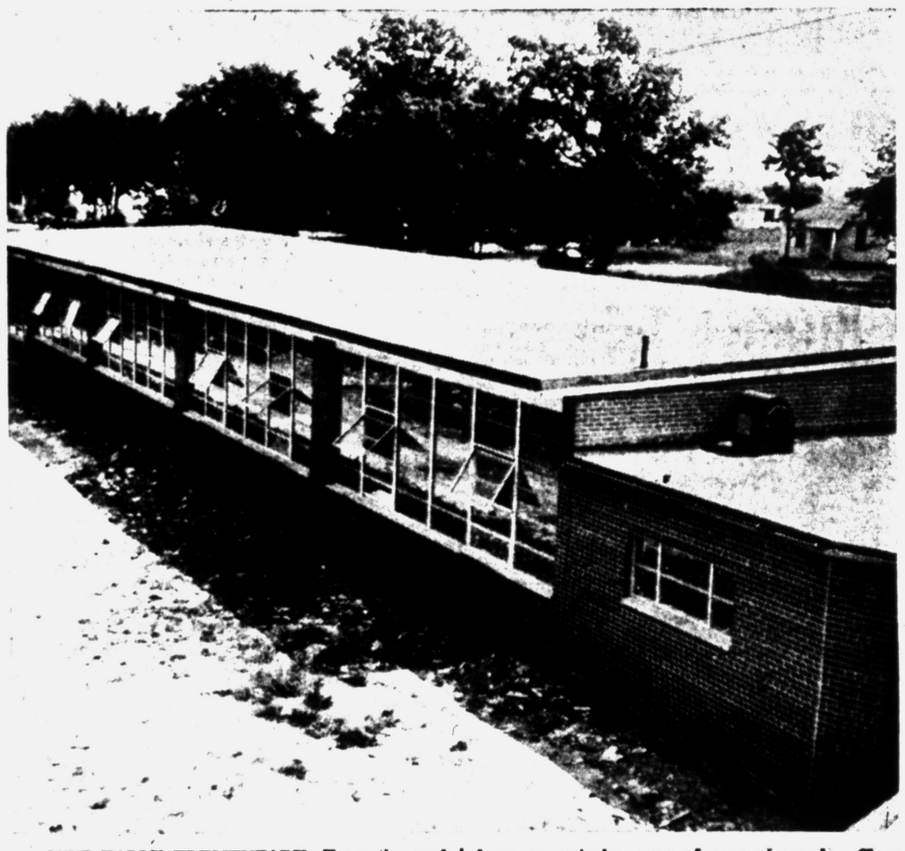
At Davisburg, also part of the Holly district, nine new classrooms have been added. a multi-purpose room and offices were included and they follow the design of the Holly elementary. This cost $211,000.

A new shop facility has been constructed on the high school site which also provides rooms for music, biology and agriculture. This cost $92,000.

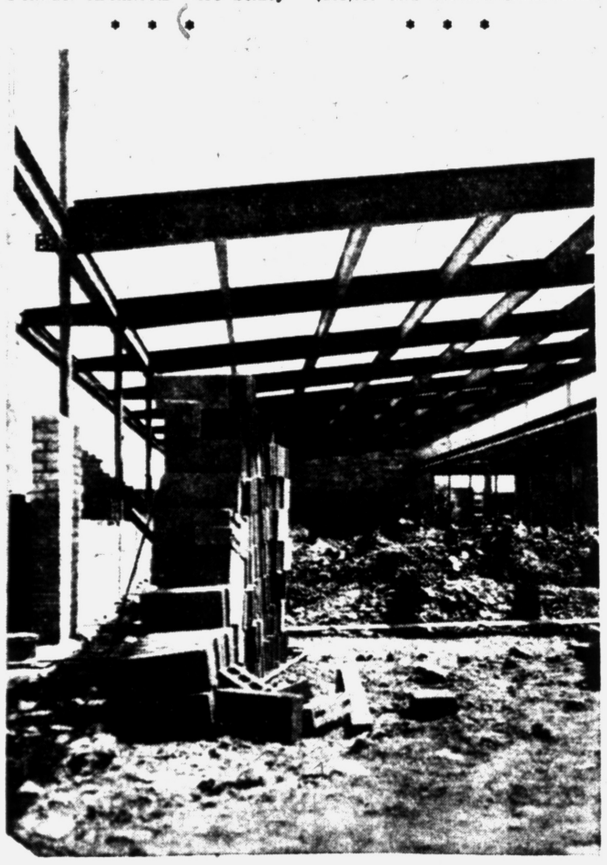


PONTIAC'S HAWTHORNE — Ready for September school opening is Pontiac's new Hawthorne school. Leser Stanley wiill serve as principal of this school which has 12 classrooms and will serve about 384 children. Built at a cost of $404,609, Hawthorne is a modern designed building of brick and cinder block. Schley and Ward of Pontiac were the architects and it was constructed by Ward W. Ross. Entrance to this school is from Walton Boulevard.

SELF-CONTAINED CLASSROOMS—Designed by Walter T. Anicka of Ann Arbor, this one-story contemporary school building will provide 13 classrooms, a multi-purpose room, kitchen, office space as well as teachers and health rooms. Gas heat with the split system employing radiant heat in the floors and supplemental heat in a window system is installed in this new school unit. Ellis Construction Co. of Detroit is doing the building which will be completed some time this fall.



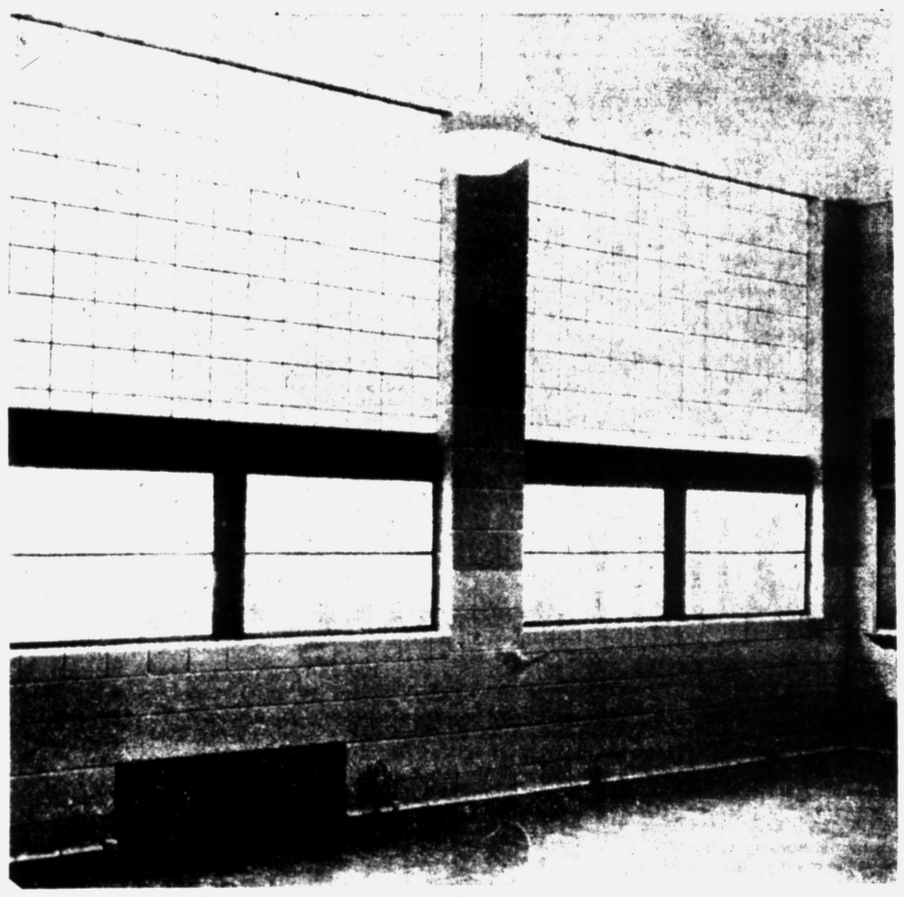
NEW HOLLY ELEMENTARY—From the roof of the new Holly elementary school in Holly, individual entrance doors to each classroom are visible. A self-contained school classroom designed building, this new school will have each grade enter from an exterior covered cement porch. Classrooms have their own corridor area before entering the classroom proper. This serves as a work area and gives additional educational possibilities for a school program.



TORRY'S STEEL GIRDERS—Etched against the sky, steel girders of the new addition to Torry School, Birmingham, are ready for the rest of school construction process. Ten classrooms, a library, activity room and a multi-purpose room plus a west end kindergarten are being added to this school which won a blue ribbon for excellence of design two years ago. Swanson Associates of Bloomfield Hills are the architects.

WATERFORD'S BUS GARAGE — Transporting 6,000 students per day during the regular school year, Waterford Township school district recently added a bus garage to its building facilities. Located on M-59, this building provides garage space for bus maintentance, and storage area for the school district. By handling their own maintenance, school districts report considerable savings in annual budgets.

NEW ROOMS GO UP—Torry school, located in the center of a rapidly expanding residential area on the east side of Birmingham is in the process of getting a ten-room addition. Self-contained classroom designs feature a brick exterior with some brick interior used. To cost $412,265, this school will have a multi-purpose room to serve the surrounding community as well as the regular school program.



STRINGHAM ADDITION—A two room addition to Stringham school in Waterford Township provides more classroom for this growing school district. Featuring directional glass block on the upper portion of the window walls, the wainscoting is in the new cement-enameled cinder block. Reported to be about one-third the cost of glazed tile, this finish on cinder block is smooth with a marble effect in green and white. Asphalt tile floors are used throughout this building.

Birmingham High School Building Design Praised

Birmingham's high school was singled out as one of the nation's outstanding examples of contemporary building design this week by Progressive Architecture, a national architectural magazine.

Devoting ten pages to pictures and text, the secondary school is reviewed from the standpoint of the school's user — the principal, the teachers, the students and the all-important custodian.

SWANSON

Designed by Swanson Associates of Bloomfield Hills, the Birmingham High school is applauded by this select group of architectural authorities as an "excellent example of school-building design allowing for economical future expansion." Their selection of materials was also commended. J. Robert F. Swanson heads this firm.

Ross A. Wagner, principal of the high school, endorses the school after over a year's operation, as "more conducive to pleasant school experiences than that of most schools," and adds "that it is a building which has achieved beauty and function without expenditure of unnecessary sums of money."

Teachers praise the roomy and light classrooms; students find its simplicity and the designer's use of color in their favor and also acclaim the sound-proofing, lighting and the modern furniture.

Custodians, performing a vital personnel role in the operation of a school, report that it is easy to heat and clean.

At the corner of Cranbrook and Lincoln roads in Birmingham, this building is rapidly becoming the center of a growing residential area.

Built to accommodate 1,200, a student body of 1,500 is anticipated, and, when plans are completed, the school will house 1,800 students.

Flexibility of this campus-type school plan provides expansion possibilities without depriving the original plan of any of its utility or beauty.

Clarkston School Lobby Is Library

School systems have so increased their extra-curricular activities in recent years that space to house them has become a paramount problem.

Newer building designs point to the fact that architects are keeping this in mind when planning the interiors and providing areas that will do just that.

Clarkston Elementary school has achieved this by using the lobby of its new grade school for a library. It is used, too, as a meeting place for community activities.

Lobbies, only in use during coming and going periods of the day, can be used for the extracurricular activities that require more than classroom space.

The obvious answer, and an economic necessity—is the multi-purpose area.

A list of activities must be taken into consideration when designing such an area. When space distribution and sound control are planned, a workable setup is possible. It is also necessary to make such an area attractive. Color does this.

Adjustability is another factor to be considered. Most changes must be made with a minimum of labor and time. Movable partitions and furnishings that can be easily stored when not in use are the simplest answer.

In 1953, New Mexico is producing about 199,000 barrels of oil a day.

Glass Bricks or Blocks Give Light but Protection

Glass bricks or blocks make up partitions that admit light and protect privacy.

They can be put together with special wooden strips and wedges made for the purpose and the partition can be taken down and rebuilt at will.

Bathroom tile work can be kept clean by wiping with a soft cloth dipped in kerosene, then washed with warm water and rubbed dry with soft cloths.

Home Incinerators Rise in Popularity

Higher living standards bringing higher labor costs and higher taxes are making garbage removal a problem for householders as well as for municipalities. In several places the scavenger and the town dump sem to be going the way of the grind organ man and his monkey.

Pigs may solve the problem of kitchen leavings for the farmer, but in residential areas where pig pens do not jibe with the zoning laws, home incinerators are becoming more popular.

Stain Removal Easy

Grease stains can be removed from wallpaper by making a paste of a good quality spot remover and French chalk. Let the paste dry on the grease spot, then brush off with a clean cloth.

In 1950, the U.S. government held some rural land in 1,796 of the 3,096 counties of the country.

These graceful birds in natural size and coloring add an interesting feature to the border of any garden. The bodies are cut out of solid stock or outdoor plywood. The legs are dowels available at your local lumber yard. Or curtain rods may be used.

If you do not have a power jig saw, your neighborhood woodworking hobbyist can saw out the figures while you wait. Then just follow the painting guide on the pattern which will give a strikingly realistic effect against the green of turf or shrubbery.

Price of flamingo Pattern 394 is 25 cents. Patterns available in packets at $1 each are lawn and garden figures, homestead improvements, lawn and garden furniture.

Wax Coat Acts to Protect Top

But Self-Polishing One Has Too Much Water for Hardwood

The rings left on a wood table top by moist glasses are an example of what water will do in a short time to any wood surface. That is why it is so important to avoid the use of water in any form on wood floors.

If water is spilled on a wood floor the water should be wiped up immediately and the floor dried.

If allowed to remain it will produce an unsightly white spot which is almost impossible to remove without sanding and refinishing.

Soap and water scrubbing ruins the finish and will eventually make the surface splintery and cause warping and buckling of the wood.

Floors can be kept really clean and the finish like new with a waterless cleaner with a heavy wax base.

This cleaning and waxing at the same time not only cuts floor care time in half, but protects the floor's original beauty better than any other method.

The wax deposit keeps dust and dirt on the surface where it can be removed easily and quickly by a cloth or cotton dust mop.

Although self-polishing waxes are wonderful time savers in the kitchen and bath, they should never be used on hardwood because they are about 80 per cent water and this water is just as injurious to wood as water from any other source.

Nutshells, Fruit Pits Used in Furniture

WASHINGTON — The furniture you buy may be made with nut shells and fruit pits.

Shells and pits are not the latest decorating item.

But the Department of Agriculture says finely ground nut shells and fruit pies make excellent filler material for use in the manufacture of molded plastics. In addition, fine grit from nut shells or fruit pits can carry the dry pigments used to color wood furniture.

Installment Maximum Should Be 25 Per Cent of Income

CHICAGO (INS)—Buying home furnishings can take a big bite out of the average family income unless the budget is planned ahead of time to handle installment payments.

According to Dr. Thomas W. Rogers, executive vice-president of the American Finance Conference, a few "safety rules" for buying on time payments can save financial confusion and prevent unexpected strain on future income.

Twenty-five per cent of income for installment buying is maximum for the average family, but this figure includes only future payments.

Before payments are considered, safety rules include a one-third down payment on any expensive item. Payments should not extend more than 24 months.

These safety rules apply to the average family of every age bracket, research shows, since young childless families face heavier debts for initial furnishings and appliances; families with children buy replacement items and new furnishings for addtional rooms.

U. S. May Unload Mortgage Loans to Lower Debt

The federal government is in the mortgage business, too.

The Federal National Mortgage Association holds 2½ billion dollars worth of government guaranteed mortgages—and may want to get rid of them to help the U. S. treasury out of its cash-shortage debt-limit dilemma. That might upset the market for new mortgages.

Some three million World War II veterans have taken out home loans. Most of the Korean Veterns are yet to be heard from.

Around 500 million dollars worth of mortgages on apartment houses have been insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

It's been seven fat years—for the builders and for the lenders, with the help of the government.

The continental atmosphere of this authentic Mediterranean home is repeated lavishly in its interior. It's a large place, nestled in the complete privacy of its own acreage and the approximately thousand-foot frontage on the lake.
From the Italian tile baths to the eight hundred square foot living room, all the appointments were selected with generous disregard for economy. The main house has ample accommodations for the larger than average family; bedrooms, or bedroom suites, with connecting baths, are well proportioned and roomy. Servants' quarters include three bedrooms, bath and dining room.
Lake Angelus is one of Oakland County's most attractive and exclusive residential areas and just a few minutes beyond Bloomfield. This home is one of the finest on this lake of fine homes. Priced at $37,500, it's a lot easier to own than its description indicates.

Attic Flats

Rents Are UP
Costs Are DOWN

Just $25 per mo.

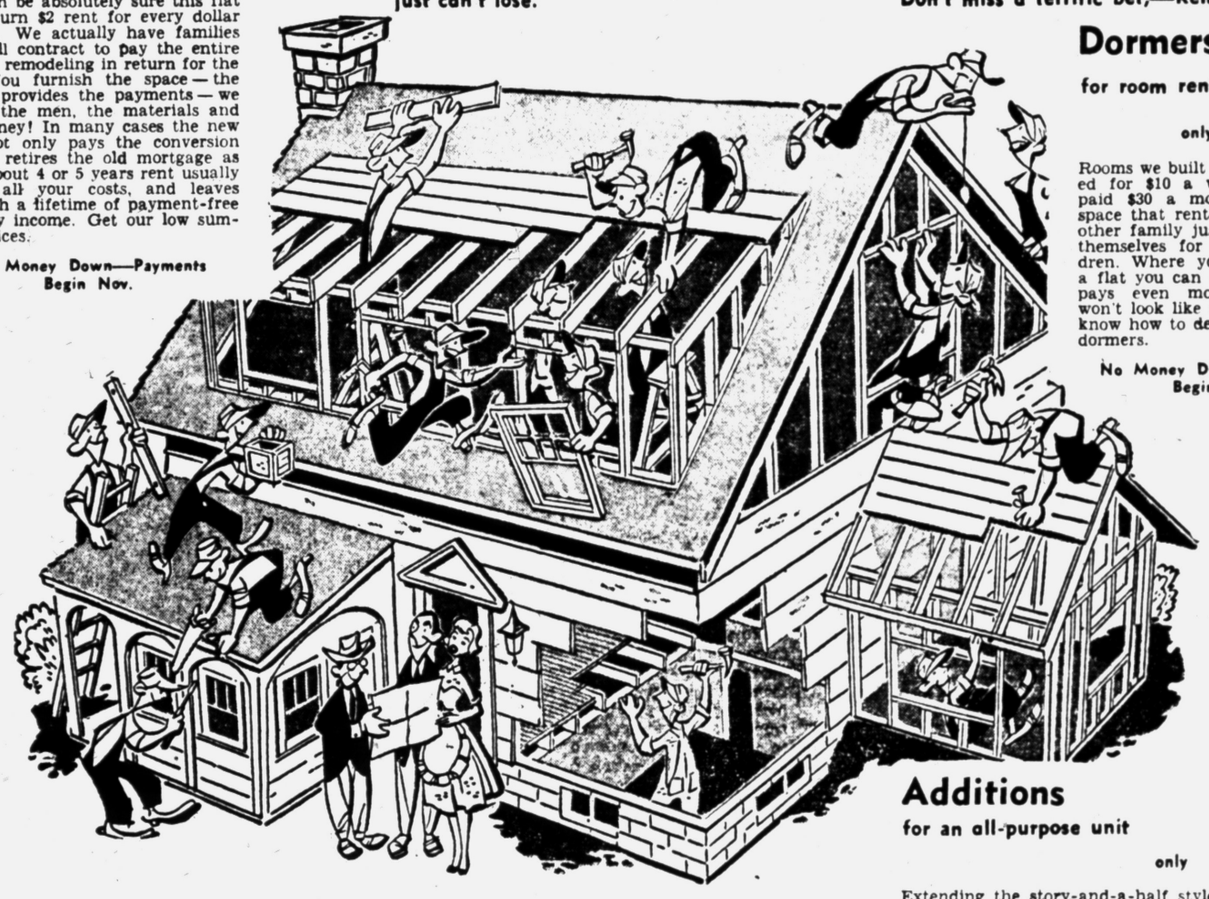
You can be absolutely sure this flat will return $2 rent for every dollar of cost. We actually have families who will contract to pay the entire price of remodeling in return for the flat. You furnish the space — the tenant provides the payments — we supply the men, the materials and the money! In many cases the new rent not only pays the conversion cost, it retires the old mortgage as well. About 4 or 5 years rent usually covers all your costs, and leaves you with a lifetime of payment-free monthly income. Get our low summer prices.

No Money Down—Payments Begin Nov.

● Looking for a winner? Look upstairs, downstairs, all around the house. Look for Rent Remodeling, — then bet your bottom dollar. It's today's biggest money winner. It's timely, —it's smart. Five will get you ten and you just can't lose.

Look what's happened to rents and renters. How can you leave your attic empty,—your basement idle or those extra rooms unused. Some deserving family would gladly pay you far more than you realize for a homey flat. Don't miss a terrific bet,—Rent Remodeling!



Dormers Pay

only $8 per mo.

Rooms we built in one attic rented for $10 a week. The owner paid $30 a month to remodel space that rented for $120! Another family just used the space themselves for newly wed children. Where you cannot install a flat you can rent rooms. This pays even more. Your house won't look like a flat because we know how to design good looking dormers.

No Money Down—Payments Begin Nov.

Additions

for an all-purpose unit

only $30 per mo.

Extending the story-and-a-half style of house is entirely practical because it is so easy to make the new addition seem part of the original construction. Clever planning provides space for a bath-room and wardrobe-type closet in this new bedroom unit. Most every home can have an extra Flat by adding an extra bedroom and bath. You'll love the extra income.

No Money Down—Payments start Nov.

SPLIT APARTMENTS—A "DAILY DOUBLE." Many homes and apartments are ideally arranged for conversion. In most cases, it is very economical to provide a combination living-dining room, two bedrooms, bathroom and kitchenette. Porches become bedrooms, halls become kitchenettes, new bays provide more light and space, closets become baths. It's easy to make 2 or 3 small flats out of one big apartment or several unused rooms.

No money down $18 per mo. Payments start Nov.

Enclosed Porch

Profit or Pleasure

only $20 per mo.

For living or sleeping space, why not use your porch all year round instead of just the few summer months? Usually, enclosing an open porch proves a valuable, low-cost investment because you cn atake full advntaage of existing construction. You can make it part of a small Flat or even rent it separately. The income will sure come in handy.

No Money Down—Payments start Nov.

Bargain Basement

only $30 per mo.

Whether it's a Flat or just sleeping rooms—there's no place like your basement. You'll never get a better bargain because the cheapest part of your house to convert is your basement. We do a wonderful job of planning and financing as well as building. What's more we'll even do your renting.

Communities Are Urged to Concentrate on Industry

Local zoning boards and subdivision developers who confine their attention to protecting residential areas may be doing a disservice to their communities, according to Walter S. Schmidt of the Urban Land Institute, Washington, D. C.

Schmidt is chairman of the Institute's industrial council.

"Even those residential areas designed exclusively for high-income families require convenient shopping districts and every community, regardless of the average income level, needs appropriate commercial and industrial establishments to help share the tax burden and provide convenient places of employment," he said.

"Industry need not be an objectionable land use. It is a desirable and necessary use. Communities should zone for industry, not against it.

"In many communities where any kind of manufacturing establishment has been excluded by zoning regulations, home owners are finding the tax burden rising beyond their means.

"After making a study of San Mateo County, Calif., a fine residential community south of San Francisco, the industrial council advised civic leaders to zone a considerable acreage of available land for commercial and industrial use so as to protect it from residential encroachment which might deprive the area of any hope of diversified land use.

"There is no reason why properly selected and regulated light manufacturing and commercial establishments can not exist side by side with attractive housing developments, provided they are carefully designed.

Nuisances such as objectionable odors, smoke, noise, congestion and unsightliness can be avoided with proper planning and supervision.

"In view of the high cost of providing needed municipal services, any residential community which does not receive a substantial percentage of its tax revenues from non-residential uses either must tax its home owners at a prohibitive rate or else fail to maintain proper standards of education and public safety."

Basement Play Room Exciting

One's Imagination Can Run Riot in Decor Plan for Fun Space

If ever anything presented a challenge to one's abiilty as a decorator, it is a basement recreation room.

Given several drab walls, tiny and too-high windows, and a general air of gloom, what's a woman to do to create a charming room?

It's wise to start with an idea. Sit in the middle of the floor on a nail keg and let your imagination go to work.

Will the room be nautical? Rustic? Spanish? Rancho? Gay Nineties? F. Scott Fitzgerald era, or befitting the John Held Jr. period?

Anything goes, so long as you like it and it won't be a burden to keep in trim.

There are several basic principles to follow: Give the room color; make it easy to keep clean; let there be light; and be sure the furnishings can "take it."

One sure way to serve both the color and cleanliness rules is to use material like tile wherever it naturally fits in, such as on the floor, benches, snack table or bar, and the little adjoining bath. We can't urge an extra bath too strongly. Just a bowl, toilet, a tiled shower stall will do, and what a boon to games-happy youngsters!

There is a wide variety of natural and man-made materials for both upholstery and draperies, and these both wear well and clean well with little effort.

If the windows are, as we hinted, 'way up there, let the draperies extend at either side and below to give the illusion of greater size and depth.

Install fluorescent lighting. It's easy on the pocketbook and really illuminates the room.

Remember, there is nothing wrong with natural woods in furniture, nor with versatile wrought iron. Both require very little upkeep.

One way to dispose of attic-cluttering heirlooms is to drag them down to the basement recreation room for decorative effects.

Camphor, Lime Help Combat Dampness

Dampness in closets often can be combatted with a cheesecloth bag of camphor hung in the closet. For dampness in a basement a large open box of fresh lime often does the job. The lime is changed as soon as it becomes air-slaked.

An attractive well-built fence is again becoming a popular feature of the modern home. Just as we all want our house to be different from all the others in the neighborhood so do we like to have an individual style of fence.

The pattern sketched above contains 18 different styles with gates to match. They not only vary in design but also in cost of material and labor. Send for the pattern and select the fence and gate that harmonizes with your home and its surroundings.

Cutting diagrams are given on the pattern for each design with directions for erecting. Ask for Pattern 386. The price is 25 cents postpaid. Add 2 cents for first class mail or 5 cents for air mail which saves several days. All orders mailed the day received.

Write to Workshop, Pontiac Daily Press.

Floor Covering Usually Stays; Watch Choice

Select your flooring with care. Slip covers and draperies can be changed easily and without major expense, but your flooring will be around for a long time.

With the current emphasis on polishing floors, it's a good idea to examine closely the wide range of hard-surface flooring available.

In addition to the many beautiful woods, you'll find a variety of lovely colors and patterns in rubber and asphalt tile, linoleum brick, concrete, cork and vinyl plastic.

The luster of such surfaces can be accentuated by scatter rugs strategically placed throughout the house Select patterns that reflect your personality.

Hard-surfaced floors also make housekeeping easier. An occasional, waxing and a daily dusting with an untreated mop will keep them gleaming and well protected.

Plywood Is Useful in Home Carpentry

Thinking of doing some remodeling inside your home? If so, don't overlook the advantage found in plywood which is strong, lightweight, economical and attractive.

Plywood wall paneling, faced with an attractive hardwood veneer, will add warmth and beauty to any room. It can be selected from a variety of woods to blend tastefully with your furnishings.

The veneer is tough and resistant to ordinary damage. It's easy to maintain, too. An occasional waxing will bring out the beauty of the grain and impart a mellow sheen to the entire room.

Ink Spots Disappear With Skimmed Milk

Ink stains often can be removed from carpets with skimmed milk. Ink removers used for writing paper are bleaches.

Ink stains on wallpaper often respond to a half-and-half mixture of hydrogen peroxide and household ammonia.

Windows can be kept sliding easily in freezing weather by rubbing the grooves with a cloth dipped in paraffin.

Wooden Cellar Partitions Save

Ordinary Pine Lumber Suitable for Separating Coal Bin, Furnace

Ordinary lumber is usually used for basement partitions at considerable savings in cost.

For partitioning off a coal bin or furnace room No. 4 common pine boards are acceptable for walls.

A laundry or workroom may look better with No. 3 Common pine boards run to pattern and finished with shellac, varnish or lacquer.

For a recreation room or party room, you'll want a better finish. Retail lumber dealers usually have wide selection available in paneling stock.

Roughen Concrete Before Repairing

To patch concrete or to repair cracks, roughen the old surface and clean off all loose particles.

Use a cold chisel to open a crack sufficiently so the new mortar can be packed in. The under part of the crack should be cut at least as wide as the opening in the surface to allow the patch to lock.

Moisten the old concrete to prevent it from absorbing water from the patch. Keep the patch damp for several days to cure it well and prevent crumbling.

Good Roofing Mixture Fixes Up Old Shingles

A wood shingle roof that has too many leaks for individual patching can be made to last several years longer by coating it with a good roofing compound of asphalt and asbestos fibers.

Nail down all loose shingles first and split, flatten and nail curled shingles.

Home Driers Cut Wash-Day Minutes

The sale of clothes dryers is booming.

New owners are the best "boosters" of this modern boon to housewives, as they find that it is at least fifteen times as fast as the clothesline and that it eliminates all the drudgery associated with outdoor drying, besides.

Saves money too, as fewer washable clothes and household white goods are required, with a clothes dryer to restore everything to use quickly. It takes only 15 minutes to damp-dry and 30 minutes to fluff-dry clothes, cutting down "wash-day" to little more than an hour, from start to finish.

ALL-WOMEN REALTOR'S OFFICE—Mrs. Thelma Elwood of 5143 Cass Elizabeth road provides the woman's touch from her main office on down through her entire staff. Employing only women sales personnel, Mrs. Elwood has just opened her new homelike offices. As part of a five-room home plan that can be converted if no longer needed as an office, this reception room is a large contemporary living room in turquoise and chartreuse with a brick fireplace.

All-Woman Team Is Basis for Successful Realty Firm

A woman is a "natural" for selling real estate says Thelma Elwood of 5143 Cass Elizabeth Rd., Waterford Township.

Reportedly the only all-woman firm in the state of Michigan, Mrs. Elwood's staff of eight full-time and three part-time sales persons are all homemakers.

"Who should know any more about a house than a woman who operates it?" queries Mrs. Elwood when people question the absence of the male on her staff.

The real estate business beckoned Mrs. Elwood for the first time in 1941.

"I was appalled to find that families with children were having so much difficulty finding a place to live. We started the Cass Elizabeth apartments four miles west of Pontiac in that year to help provide this type of country living for family groups and thus began my interest in real estate," she recalls.

Today Mrs. Elwood trains her own saleswomen. She has enrolled in several of the real estate science courses herself and takes the knowhow back to her own staff.

Believing that a firm's first contact with the potential customer is most often the office, Mrs. Elwood has just completed a colorful and homelike business headquarters on Cass Elizabeth.

The exterior not only boasts of a contemporary home design, but the reception room is a large turquoise and chartreuse living room with brick fireplace.

Bright chintz draperies and comfortable leather-upholstered furnishings provide the customer with an atmosphere conducive to buying.

Even the love bird in his sparkling white cage adds a friendly and homelike touch.

Handling all types of listings from lake homes to farm property, Mrs. Elwood frankly admits that farms are a little more difficult for the woman to sell with questions on soil tests and land contours.

Specialization is each saleswoman's goal on Mrs. Elwood's staff.

"One woman wants to learn all she can about lake property; another studies the suburban home and still another has gone into all phases of business property," she said.

Mrs. Elwood is a member of the Pontiac Real Estate Association, the Michigan and the National Associations.

Loose Mortar Joints Can Admit Moisture

Inspect exterior walls for signs of weather wear and tear. If your outer walls are masonry check for cracks, loose mortar joints, or broken bricks and blocks that can admit moisture.

Look for efflorescence, the whitish blotches that indicate moisture in the wall.

If yours is a frame house, check the siding for split, loose or decayed boards. Paint blisters usually mean moisture in the wood.

The value of fibrous insulation can be destroyed by moisture in walls, nails can rust and structural timbers can rot.

Insect Damage Checks Save Home Repairs

Subterranean termites make millions of dollars of home repairs necessary every year.

Check foundation walls regularly to see that no wood is in contact with the ground and that no twig-like clay tubes have been built up from the ground either on the inside or outside of foundations. Keep all cracks in foundations repaired.

The subterranean termite needs a constant supply of moisture from the ground. Breaking that connection is a big step in preventing termite damage.

Carson City was made the capital city of Nevada in 1861, and today is the nation's smallest capital in population.

Heating Plants Major Utility

Many Old Furnaces Are Replaced in Homes More Antiquated

Don't feel that you are an exception if you need a new heating plant.

Far more heating plants are installed every year in older houses than are ordered in the biggest building booms for new houses.

Aside from natural wear and tear, antiquated heating plants become economic liabilities.

So many improvements have been made in this field, increasing efficiency and lower fuel consumption, that older heating plants eventually become expensive luxuries to maintain.

Of all the oil burners manufactured and sold last year, 62.7 per cent went into older houses as replacements. The proportion of gas burners for central heating that went into older houses was 67.9 per cent.

And still it was a year in which the building industry set a record with more than 1,300,000 new homes built.

This is natural, when you realize that your home is just one among 45,875,000 single family, fully detached dwellings, counted by the Census Bureau.

The Coleman Heating Institute of Wichita, Kans., figures that 28,535,000 of those homes are 20 years or more old and are heated with equipment that is equally as old.

This takes into account annual installations of new heating plants and allows for one per cent of all dwellings becoming uninhabitable or demolished each year.

Nothing seems to last forever.

Expensive, but Nice

For its size, a bathroom is one of the most expensive rooms in a house. That's why, nationally, one out of every three houses has no bathroom. Yet money spent on a bathroom is the most rewarding of all in long-term satisfaction.

Expanded Metal 'Right' at Home

Lacework Designs Now Protects and Beautifies Screens, Table Tops

Expanded metal, a prime factor in the reinforcing of highways and building construction a half-century ago, has moved into the home to provide unhackneyed "high-style" notes.

The lacy-patterned mesh-effect currently employed for screens, for tops of coffee tables — even for trays — traces its origin to John F. Golding, American manufacturer in England 50 years ago.

Brought to this contry, the metal attained decorative beauty through the use of specialized machinery and has been given a multiplicity of uses far beyond and away from its original employment in construction.

The current interest in expanded metal in the home, manufacturers point out, is part of the trend toward lightness and airiness indoors.

Painted Wall Cleaning Done in 3 Easy Steps

Painted walls can be cleaned by dusting with soft cloths, soft hair wall brush, or lambs wool brush. Wash with heavy suds of mild soap flakes, from top down. Rinse with fresh supplies of clean warm water and sponge. Wipe dry.

Chimney Climb Requires Safety

Scaffold Can Be Built If Repairs Necessary on All Sides

Attaching a television mast to a chimney, or making any repairs around a chimney, calls for extra safety precautions.

If the work is confined to one side of the chimney, safety hooks attached to a ladder to secure it over the ridge of the roof may suffice.

If masonry work is required on all sides of the chimney, a simple safety scaffold can be built.

A quick way to adapt a ladder to roof use is to screw or bolt pieces of 2x4s near the top end of the ladder at right angles, or at the angle of the roof pitch.

These should be attached far enough from the end of the ladder to allow space for braces.

A working scaffold can be built out of 1x8 lumber hook over the ridge with braces similar to those used on the ladder.

One board extends down the roof on each side of the chimney and they are joined by cross members serving as steps above and below the chimney.

TILE DOES IT — Too many colors give a "busy" effect in a bathroom. In this bath, the decorator achieved dramatic effect by limiting the colors to two and by using the same shade and pattern of waterproof tile both for the floor and for the wall and counter top-dressing table above it. Second color comes from the tile of the other three walls.

Tile Comes in 200 Shades but Keep Scheme Simple

Don't overlook the bathroom in your fall decorating plans.

No decorating scheme is complete unless that room has received the same careful attention as the living room, dining room or the bedrooms.

Peeling paint, a poorly chosen assortment of towels or just general shabbiness in a bathroom can destroy in a minute the favorable impression created by other parts of the home.

Check bathroom walls and floors first of all. It is long-range economy to replace worn or water-damaged finishes with a permanent material such as tile, which is moisture-proof and colorfast.

Tile comes in more than 200 shades of basic colors, so that a wide choice of color schemes can be made.

Use only one or two colors in the tilework if your bathroom is small. And insist that the caps and trim pieces be the same shade, rather than black, for black trim introduces an additional color unnecessarily.

Gray and white are two of the most popular tile colors today, since towels and shower curtains of practically any hue will go with them.

Avoid banal shower curtain designs, and too much pattern. Often a plain colored curtain that matches the shade of the wall tile is the best selection.

Too much design in the shower curtain will make a small bath seem busy.

In a bathroom with pastel tile, towels of different colors for each color make an excellent contrast. Conversely, if the tile is a strong color, try towels in pastel shades with it.

Don't feel that you must have towels of different colors for each member of the family — just be sure that each has his own towel rack.

Extra racks can be attached to the door, to the side of the wash basin, over the tiled wainscot, or if need be over the tile itself.

If your bathroom already has too many colors in its finishes, repeat one shade for walls over the tilework and the ceiling. Then use a second as the shade for towels and accessories.

Absorb Paint Odor With Ice in Dishpan

Odor of fresh paint in a room can be absorbed with a cake of ice in a dishpan or a pail of cold water in the room, changing the water hourly.

An old method of killing the odor in freshly papered rooms is to place red hot coals in an iron container and strew juniper berries on the coals. The room is closed for 12 hours, then ventilated.

Chromium plating is usually very thin. Never use scouring powder on it. Warm water and mild soap will keep it clean. Polish with soft flannel.

Sandpaper With Grain of Wood

Working Across Piece Will Only Tear Fibers, Leaves Job Rough

By HUBBARD COBB

We never realized just how bad things really were. Last week a man sat down and told us that most people don't know how to breathe. Yesterday another guy told us that most people don't know how to use sandpaper.

We don't agree with the first guy about breathing but we do feel that the character and his sandpaper do have a few good points.

This boy tells us the sandpaper is just like any other cutting tool such as a chisel or saw and like these tools it does a lot better when worked with the grain of the wood than against it.

Most people, it seems, don't seem to understand this point. They take a piece of sandpaper and use it like a dishcloth working in 10 different directions all at the same time. This can produce a good many results but none of them will particularly smooth.

When you sandpaper in the direction of the wood grain you will not only find it more easy but the sandpaper will do a quicker and smoother job.

When you sandpaper across the wood grain the sandpaper just makes the surface more rough by tearing up the wood fibers. This is particularly true of the final sanding operation.

Another thing our boy told us is to be sure to wrap the sandpaper around a block of wood or a patented sandpaper holder to unsure getting nice square edges. If you just hold the sandpaper in your hand the edges of the work are almost sure to come out slightly rounded.

Synthetic Cloth Requires Care in Laundering

The new synthetic fibers from which pratically everything is being manufactured today require extra care in laundering, the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association cautions.

GAMA's water heater manufacturers, who conduct exhaustive experiments on all new "wonder" fabrics as fast as they appear on the market, suggest that you use lukewarm water and mild soap and avoid rubbing, wringing and artificial heat, for best results.

To make sure that the water is just right, set the temperature adjustment dial found on all modern gas water heaters at 90 to 105 degrees, GAMA advises. With so many mixed fibers in use, the most important laundering rule is to look for the label and follow the manufacturer's instructions.

In the absence of any label, "go easy" and treat any "strange" washable fabric as you would the most delicate and fragile bit of fine lace.

Paint Your Awnings With Thin Solution .

Awnings can be painted when they fade.

Ordinary house paint is thinned with one quart of turpentine to the gallon. Paint should go through the cloth.

Another method: dissolve a fourth-pound of beeswax and one pound of zinc oxide in turpentine, adding a teaspoon of soft soap solution. Rub into the fabric, scrape off surplus dry and then paint.

TEENAGERS—One of the simplest ways to keep track to teenagers is to provide them with a place to entertain. A backyard patio with plenty of room for jitterbugging is an ideal solution, especially if it is floodlighted like the one pictured above. Notice how light from indoors supplements the floodlighting under the eaves. Outdoor lighting specialists point out that a pair of 150-watt projector spotlights in out-door-type sockets will generously light an average size patio. For party effects try a pair of color reflector lamps in pink and blue white. Be sure these bulbs are used in protected areas, however.

Early Colonial Furniture Made for Small Rooms

Perhaps you think the problem of small rooms is a new one! Despite the fact that many new homes have small rooms with compact floor plans, this is not a new problem.

If you have ever looked at some of the original Colonial houses in New England or browsed through some of the old homes of Philadelphia or any other city for that matter, you will find that these homemakers faced the same problems.

There may not have been picture windows, or compact L shaped living room - dining room arrangements to tax the ingenuity, but the small square rooms presented similar problems in room arrangement for the Colonial homemaker.

That is why Early American furniture fits so perfectly into today's homes, combining the charm of the past with the practicality of the present.

To make American Traditional even more adaptable to present day needs, there have been added modern adaptations of the old designs that should fill the homemaker's every need for informal living.

Imagine the warm knotty pine wood, the informal styling of the Woodbury panel headboard with its carved poster, combined with the modern idea of a convertible sofa-bed.

There you have the American Traditional sleep sofa, designed to preserve the Early American styling and still add that extra guest bed when needed. Deep soft bolsters make the sleep sofa a comfortable seat. Bolsters remove to form a single bed 32 inches wide and 76 inches long.

In bedroom furniture, there has been added a utility headboard bed that provides storage space. This headboard has an open gallery with two spacious shelves and two shallow drawers. The gallery across the headboard is boldly carved in keeping with Early American styling.

Most of the other designs in the collection come from another period, from another day, to grace the modern home. The pleasing captain's chair, originally used on shipboard with a wide angle leg spread and rugged construction, is as suitable to today's home as it was suited for its original use.

The butterfly drop-leaf table, a Colonial adaptation of the English styled gateleg table, is also an adaptable piece of furniture for modern living.

Wood Windows Offer Variety

With Modern Design, They Fit Functionally Into All Homes

The old fashioned window with its lace curtain was mighty good for peeking out of—better than today's picture window. But otherwise its functional design has been greatly improved.

Modern wood windows offer all the sturdy durability of those of yesteryear but they also have the advantage of modern design and engineering feature.

Windows are styled and placed today to admit more sunlight and air, to give better space planning and provide for good arrangement of furniture. Their function may be to give privacy in some rooms or to "go all outdoors" in the other rooms.

If they are of wood, there are still other performance features. Wood sash is a natural insulator and assists in keeping the house warm in winter and cool in summer. Associated with this property—the slowness with which wood transmits house heat to the outside in winter—is the fact that wood sash and frames are relatively free from sweating and condensation which deface paint and trim and can damage draperies, wall covering and floor.

Today's wood windows have simplified operation and effective weather stripping, representing many new types of product design. Yet, builders and home owners feel especially friendly to wood sash because of one of the oldest recognized advantages of the material—its workability.

Eye Loose Hinges If Doors Sticking

Examine all doors and windows, screens and storm sash. Loose hinges can cause doors to bind. Sticking doors can loosen woodwork and cause accidents.

Windows that stick often result in broken panes when force is applied to open or close them. Broken putty around window panes can allow beating rains to leak through or cause sash to rot.

Inspect the paint on frames and sash especially where exposed to the weather. Keep spaces around window and door frames tightly calked to exclude dampnes and cold. Paint prolongs the life of screens.

House Centipede Lonely Creature

The hundred-legger, or house centipede, feeds on other insects and therefore can be beneficial. Only their appearance is obnoxious, especially to women.

These insects breed in dark places, so that a thorough cleaning of cellar corners often is enough to get rid of them.

Men's Tie Rack Simple to Build

Ensemble, Attractively Painted, Fits on Door of Clothes Closet

A home craftsman finds it easy to make the handy necktie rack sketched here for the back of a closet door. He can exercise ingenuity by adding branches to the four necktie ladders illustrated and by painting them to correspond with the color of ties.

For the average size panel door, four of the ladders can be spaced evenly. Each is 3" wide. The ladders are simply pieces of hardboard, 3/16" or ¼" tempered pressed wood, into which are sawn ⅛" kerfs.

The kerfs may be made with a dado saw or by cutting two close kerfs with a small-bladed keyhole saw and then chipping out the one end with a small chisel.

Screw the ladders, after the front edges have been "eased" with a sandblock or file, to two wooden crosspieces extending across the door from stile to stile.

Immediately above the top crosspiece, fasten a small wooden shelf fronted by a narrow strip of hardboard so that bow ties won't fall off when the door is shut.

A dime store mirror may be mounted on one side of the door to suit the height of the man with all the neckties.

The ensemble may be painted or enameled attractively, using a primer and then one or two finish coats. It would be simple to add an additional tie ladder on each side.

Crumpled newspapers polish windows, mirrors, nickel plating.

Builders Race to Pace Stork

America Has Near 50 Million Houses; Sales to Continue Good

NEW YORK (AP)— Seven fat years for home builders have seen about eight million housing units added to the nation's total. Some in the real estate building are now openly talking of slower days to come.

But others refuse to believe that the seven fat years, since the big boom started in 1941, will be followed by seven lean — as in the biblical tale of Joseph in Egypt.

They say that around 700,000 new homes will be needed each year to take care of new family formations. That perhaps another 300,000 will be needed to replace old houses beyond renovation.

If the mortgage market holds up, the next few years shouldn't be too lean.

The highly active stork is the home builder's best friend. The National Association of Home builders notes today that the population of the United States has just rounded out the 160 million figure. Next month it expects the eighth millionth new house to be started.

That will give the nation some 50 million housing units, or about one for each three persons.

Back in 1940 the nation's 131 million persons were housed in 35 million units, or almost 4 to a unit.

And then more than half were renters. Now more than half are owners — if you wink at the mortgages on some 10 million homes.

The mortgage market may hold the key to which wins the race in the next year of so, the home builders or the stork.

"Banks have become very tight when it comes to credits for builders," complains David Picket, president of the Gotham Construction Corp. of New York. He fears a building recession the last quarter of this year and into next, if the money market doesn't ease.

The market is tight because mortgages must compete with a big supply of government and private securities in getting money from investors.

Total savings are catching up, however. Last year savings were officially placed at 12½ billion dollars. This year the mutual savings banks, savings and loan association commercial banks and life insurance companies all report gains.

Floors should be cleaned with soft dust mops. A stiff brush may scratch a polished surface. Strong soap can damage floor finish and stain the wood. Too much wax or oil dulls a finish.

Sleek Furniture Fabrics Develop Small Patterns

What's happened to the shape of furniture dictates what's gone on in upholstery fabrics.

As furniture became more sleek and lighter scaled it became evident that the rough, shaggy textures — once so popular — were too overpowering for this type of furniture.

Result: today's upholstery fabrics are hard and flat; their crispness enhances rather than detracts from the furniture. Patterns, too, are veering towards the smaller scale although there is a sudden revival of the over-scaled plaids. Checks, polka dots and stripes are seen frequently in the smaller scaled versions.

The big story in upholstery fabrics is color. Caution has been thrown to the winds as daring, electric tones make their debut on every type of furniture. High decorator sources started it but it took less time than it does o say "watermelon pink" for the more commercial houses to embrace this new swing to brilliant tones and startling combinations.

Pink and its many varieties is high on the list. Bright turquoise is taking the place of many greens. Black warp threads tone down sharp whites and crisp yellow greens. What were once thought of as wild color combines are now accepted: flaming red with burnt orange; brigh grape, black, lemon and red; nasturtium, henna and a bright turquoise.

Other upholstery fabric highlights: jacquard friezes going more modern . . . dimensioned quality, achieved through weave, in pile fabrics. . . tweeds going much flatter . . . more white grounds make the head colors bounce out . . . new silk look in many fabrics influenced by the Orient . . . leather more popular, especially the new sheepskins. Wide variety of colors here with charcoal, magenta, mauve and turquoise the new notes.

Plumber's Friend Will Clear Most Sluggish Drains

Most sluggish drains can be cleared by using a plumber's friend. This is a common tool consisting of a rubber suction cup at the end of a short handle.

If this fails, place a bucket under the trap, remove the clean-out plug and fish out the obstruction with a wire. Kitchen sink traps clog through the hardening of grease.

Boiling water often will clear it. More persistent clogging calls for opening the trap, or the use of chemicals.

Caustic potash, or potash lye in boiling water will dissolve grease to a soft soap and wash it away. Patent drain chemicals are sold in grocery stores.

Use care, however, since they can cause severe burns and destroy clothing.

Never use caustic soda. It solidifies the grease.

Many Coats of Wax Combat Tile Whitening

Only repeated applications of wax will insulate some types of asphalt tile against whitening as they age.

The most marked color deviations in such tiles are noted in the lighter shades, particularly light blues and greens. Only pure synthetic detergents should be used in cleaning such floors.

Ancient Pictures Grace Tables in Modern Room

ATLANTA (INS)—Atlanta decorators are finding a place for the "old look" in modern decor.

Bowls and pitchers from pre-plumbing days find their way into modern living rooms, being used as planters or wired for lamps.

Miniatures, daguerreotypes of Grandmother, her friends and her family, are being prominently grouped on the living room table.

Delicate silhouettes and flower prints from the "Ladies' Books" of a few years back are also fitted into the 1953 decor.

This is particularly easy when the decor theme is Early American. But even in more modern schemes, grandmother's bone china can be prominently displayed on the coffee table.

Modern Kitchen Means Top Rent

Up-to-Date Room Will Bring Extra Dividends on Leased Property

Better kitchens mean better income from rental properties.

The person who cinches the lease — and usually is willing to pay a little more if the space is up to date — is the homemaker. And the first room to impress her favorably or unfavorably is the place where she spends so many hours a week — the kitchen.

The Tile Council of America advises that kitchen remodeling is not prohibitive in cost, especially if the existing walls lend themselves to the adhesive method of clay tile installation. With this recently approved procedure clay tile, so attractive to housewives because it requires no upkeep and cleans easily, may be set directly on the walls as they are, in a great majority of cases. This eliminates the services of a plasterer and reconstruction work, effecting savings in time and money.

Here are some further tips on modernizing older kitchens so that they will bring in larger rentals:

Install as many automatic appliances as possible, including a dishwasher if possible.

Be sure the architect specifies plenty of work counters and drainboards in material like clay tile that resists water and staining.

If the existing kitchen is exceptionally large, use the extra space for storage.

If the kitchen is unusually small, install cupboards in every area possible, remembering that the space beneath the sink is ideal for many uses.

If the view is attractive, install a large window over the sink. Women "go for" this feature.

Cut down kitchen footwork for the tenant by installing appliances in a U-shaped pattern when possible, with the sink at the base of the U.

Clean Sediment From Boiler Before Winter

If a steam or hot water boiler needs draining because of an accumulation of sediment, the best time to do it is in the fall at the beginning of the heating season. This will minimize rust.

Fresh water causes rust because of the air it contains. Water that has been heated repeatedly is freed of air and thereby loses it corrosive effect on iron.

Therefore, it's a good policy never to drain a boiler unless a real sediment problem develops. In the spring only enough fresh water should be added to fill the boiler.

When water is added to make up for losses, the drain valve at the bottom of the boiler may be opened a few times to flush out any sediment. Then the value is closed as soon as the water runs clear.

Outdoor Furniture Needs Fall Cleaning

Clean the outdoor furniture before you bring it back into the house this fall. But do the cleaning outside.

All pillows, pads, chair seats should be washed if at all possible. Duck or canvas can be scrubbed with a brush, foam rubber can be sudsed, and plastic cushions and webbing need wiping with a damp cloth.

The furniture itself, whether wrought iron, rattan or redwood, should be wiped clean.

Rattan can be washed, and it should get a coat of liquid wax after washing. A coat of shellac will spruce up rattan also; redwood takes a special stain, and wrought iron and steel should be painted.

Consumers' Earnings Up for 12-Month Period

Earnings of Consumers Power for the 12 months ended July 31, 1953, were $2.80 per share on 6,794,362 shares of common stock outstanding at the end of the period earnings of $2.70 on 6,176,693 shares outstanding July 31, 1952.

Net income after preferred dividends for the 12 months ended July 31, 1953 was $19,049,931 as compared with $16,703,042 for the 12 months ended July 31, 1952.

Nuclear Defense Slash Proposed

Sen. Flanders Urges Cut in Future Spending, Balanced Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) proposed today that President Eisenhower and other top government policy makers consider cutting billions of dollars from future programs for hydrogen-atomic weapons, defense and foreign aid.

Flanders, a member of the Armed Services Committee, suggested that the United States may before long have on hand such a supply of nuclear weapons that further production might pass the "point of diminishing returns."

But savings from a cutback, he said, might make it possible to carry out Republican campaign pledges of a balanced budget and even tax reductions.

The budget bureau Thursday, in a new revenue and spending estimate, said outlays for foreign aid and atomic energy are still rising, but should reach their peak during the current fiscal year, and then decline.

Flanders' proposal contrasted with views expressed by some other members of Congress of both parties, especially since Russia published a claim to have mastered the technical basis for the H-bomb.

Rep. Paterson (R-Conn), a member of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said Thursday the United States should make an all-out effort to discover a possible weapon mightier than the hydrogen bomb.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP)—Hogs declined sharply this week after advancing the week before to the highest August levels in five years. The cattle market was highly irregular and sheep were lower.

Butcher hogs steadied after sharp early declines and after Wednesday showed little change. Sows showed some late strength but barrows and gilts sold lower every trading session.

Butchers were $1.00 to $2.50 lower and sows 50 cents to $1.25 lower.

Cattle receipts were up nearly 10 per cent and were nearly as great as the week ended April 25 when 50,000 head were offered—the heaviest receipts since August, 1946. Choice and prime heavier steers and heifers were strong to $1.00 higher, lighter weights steady to $1.00 lower.

Live lamb trade on heavy receipts pushed prices down. Losses ranged to $2.00.

Salable hogs 200, total 2,000; compared week ago: Barrows and gilts extremely uneven, butchers around 210 lbs and heavier 1.00-1.50 lower, weights around 200 lbs and under 1.75-2.50 lower; sows .50 to 1.25 lower, most decline on weights under 360 lbs.

On the close 210-260 lb butchers sold mainly at 25.00-25.35, while 180-200 lb weights brought 23.00-24.75 and 160-180 lbs 21.00-23.50. Choice sows 400 lbs and lighter closed at 21.50-23.25, a few under 300 lbs bringing slightly more, while 400-550 lbs brought 19.75-21.50.

Salable cattle 200, total not given; compared week ago: Choice and prime steers and heifers weighing 950 lbs and heavier still strong to 1.00 higher than late last week after being as much as 2.00 higher early. Choice lighter weights steady to 1.00 lower; steers and heifers grading good and below mostly 1.00-2.00 down; cows mostly 1.00-1.50 lower and the general market at a new low since at least 1946; bulls 1.00-1.50 lower; vealers steady to 1.00 lower, slaughter calves 1.00-3.00 lower; stockers and feeders fully 1.00 lower and outlet very narrow at the decline; five loads high prime 1225-1275 lb fed steers 29.00-29.50; bulk choice and prime fed steers and yearlings weighing 950 lbs up 25.00-28.50; several loads prime 1489-1620 lb beeves 26.25-27.50, feedlot mates of prime 1569 lb beeves on Tuesday at 27.50 weighted 1577 lbs on Wednesday and brought 26.75; several loads choice to prime 1500-1600 lb beeves 24.50-25.50, many loads choice 950-1150 lb steers fed grain on grass 25.00-26.00, however, good to average choice steers and yearlings closed at 18.00-25.50; choice and prime heifers 21.50-27.00, several loads prime around 1000 lb heifers 26.50-27.00 but choice 875 lb weights late as low as 21.50; utility and commercial cows closed at 8.50-12.00 with very little above 11.50, late sales canners and cutters 6.50-9.00, mostly 7.00-8.50; late sales utility and commercial bulls 10.50-14.50, few head early reached 16.00; few prime vealers 22.00, commercial to choice 14.00-21.00, cull and utility largely 8.00-13.00, medium to choice 250-425 lb slaughter calves late 11.00-14.00.

No New Evidence Halts Perkins Case

After sifting over 3,000 tips reported to Pontiac Police in the slaying of Mrs. Hallie Perkins, 55, and the attack on a teenager Aug. 15, Captain Clark M. Wheaton, chief of detectives, said today the investigation has practically come to a standstill "because of lack of evidence."

Although Pontiac and State Police are still assigned to the slaying case, Wheaton said, "we are unable to progress at a satisfactory pace."

"After questioning 47 persons," said Detective John DePauw, coordinating the investigation, "we're right back from where we started."

So far 21 persons appeared in show-ups and were released after the 16-year-old girl failed to identify any of them as the attacker.

Treated for Injuries as Auto Rams Car

Marian Verville, 18, of 96 Auburn Ave., was treated for arm and neck injuries at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital early today following a two-car accident at W. South Blvd. and Motor St.

Melbourne D. Griffin, 21, of 19 Hovey St., with whom Miss Verville was a passenger, told Pontiac Police he made a sudden stop to avoid crashing into another car making a left turn in front of him.

Walter E. Moore, 31, of 74 Florida St., driving an auto behind the Griffin car, told police he was unable to stop in time to avoid the acccident.

Continue Probe on McCarthy

Investigate Finances but Drop Senator's Charge of Shakedown

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Justice Department pursued its investigation of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's finances today but dropped an inquiry into his charges of a $150,000 diplomatic shakedown.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., said the statute of limitations barred any legal action on McCarthy's charge that some State Department employes shook down a friendly foreign power during the Truman administration.

But the State Department announced that it was launching an investigation of its own and would make its findings public as soon as possible. The diplomats allegedly took the money in 1947 for services which McCarthy said the country was "entitled to anyway."

Meanwhile, Brownell said the department is continuing its study of the report of a Senate election subcommittee which last year made a long investigation of McCarthy's finances.

The report made no recommendations, but raised questions about McCarthy's handling of funds contributed "for his fight against Communism."

Nations Plan to Save Falls

Will Cut Erosion Rate by Upstream Diversion of Water at Night

WASHINGTON — The United States and Canadian governments plan new aid for Niagara Falls in its fight for survival with nature.

Increased diversion of water upstream from the Falls and installation of a control structure in the Niagara River a mile above the Canadian Horseshoe Falls are the latest engineering schemes devised by the two nations to prevent the spectacle from gradually crumbling away.

In the last 100 years Niagara's twin cataracts have receded 300 feet and the retreat continues at the rate of one to four feet annually, says the National Geographic Society.

If the erosion continued unchecked, American Falls would be a bone-dry cliff in 2,000 years, and in another 20,000 years there would be nothing but 35-mile rapids from Buffalo to Fort Niagara.

With more water diverted to hydroelectric use, the Falls will be slowed down at night and in the off-season to 50,000 cubic feet per second, only a fourth of their normal flow. During spring and summer months, the daytime flow will be maintained at 100,000 cubic feet for the benefit of the 3,000,000 annual visitors.

The lip over which the water tumbles is a hard limestone ledge 12 feet thick. Beneath it are layers of shale, limestone, red medina and sandstone. The churning waters from the upper river wear away the soft strata and produce the overhanging lip of hard limestone, from which huge pieces break at intervals.

On June 25, 1850, a slice of famous Table Rock on the Canadian side broke away and tumbled into the gorge. There were breaks in 1853, 1877, 1889, and half a dozen since. Some 900 feet of the Canadian Horseshoe Falls have worn away since a French missionary, Father Louis Hennepin, first came upon the Falls on the morning of December 6, 1678.

Abraham Lincoln was nearly 40 years old when the first known picture of him was taken.

Hal Boyle Says:

Strange Creature . . . Man! Kills Others, Then Weeps

NEW YORK (AP)—Nothing brings out the best in men like trouble.

That is what is wrong with mankind—these curious, upright creatures who so often find death while seeking peace by fighting wars.

When times are worse, they are at their best. It's been like that since gentlemen first adjusted their differences with stone hammers against each others skulls.

And now entire civilizations are able to destroy each other at a blow, as individual did to individual long ago. How progress does improve the breed!

As one of the world's eldest teenagers—'teen 40 and the grave—I am accustomed to the fact that life sometimes deals the bottom card you don't want from the top of the deck.

It doesn't fit in your hand. Worse, it doesn't fit in your dreams. But you have to play it or get out of the game.

To me, and I don't criticize those who have a different idea or even choose a midnight exit, it has always been more fun to stay in the game and trade an old disappointment for a new card.

But why do we as a species of life have to stack the deck against ourselves so often?

We never get more true joy than we do from one another, and one destroyed in anger is one less to share a pleasure with.

When Cain killed Abel he not only lost a brother. He set a precedent that diminished a small world, a world no larger yet for all the growth and passions of the centuries.

All the money and all the land on earth cannot give you the fun that people give you. Can a bought acre make you laugh? Can a $100 bill?

At 42 I would mortgage myself to a bank for many years if by that way I could rent back for even a moment the companionship alive again of a few flesh-vanished-spirit-remembered friends who died, for one reason or other, in this deadly business of living.

Who has known loss, and doesn't feel that way?

Well, yearning may carpenter many an impossible dream—what castles it does build in our minds! —But in the winter of our heart it does not change the weather we endure or that predicted by the U. S. Weather Bureau, even by a long range forecast.

But as toil exercises the muscles of our bodies so does trouble stretch our minds. We grow by loss as well as by gain.

Sometimes we become higher as life erodes the altitude of our ego away.

So many people can look at the human race—priests, philosophers, businessmen and scientists, social or otherwise—and come up with a ready answer.

And the world still reels through wrong toward what, we hope, is right. But the only pattern humankind has achieved is that of father and mother and child—the trinity of existence that rules both mouse and man. And wolves.

What a thing man is — depth without height, height without depth! One foot in the hell he makes himself, and does little to change, and the other foot unhappy except on Mt. Everest.

You give a fellow a fair place of peace and he'll go to war to get more, be he lover, businessman or warrior, male or female.

He has always been willing to gamble the safety of the Garden of Eden to try to grab a rocky pasture outside, or buy an apple just to see what kind of worm is in it.

Master speculator, universal dunce, laughter of animals, pitiful prisoner of himself, time, space, and that fourth dimension — God what a restless thing man is!

He can change everything on earth except himself, make rivers run backward, tear down mountains with a molehill mind. But he cannot call back one of his kind who is gone.

Man mouths a cry for eternal peace and is never more industrious than he is while destroying his own kind, then weeps for what he has lost, and those he has lost.

Some one of these days the insects may get together and spray the human race with DDT. Certainly it is their moral turn.

Mitchell to Head Dem Banquet

Kelly Quits as Leader of $100-a-Plate Party to Raise Funds

CHICAGO (AP)—The main job of directing plans for the Democratic fund raising dinner in Chicago on Sept. 14 has been taken over by Stephen A. Mitchell, the party's national chairman.

Mitchell took charge of arrangements for the $100-a-plate dinner after John J. Kelly, a Chicago attorney, quit yesterday as chairman. He said his ideas "conflicted" with those of Mitchell.

Party leaders said Kelly's resignation could not be termed a party rift but rather a personal matter. Kelly reportedly was miffed because he was not named toastmaster at the dinner at which it is hoped to raise $250,000 to pay off national committee debts. Mitchell earlier had announced that Sen. Guy M. Gillette of Iowa would be toastmaster.

Former President Truman and Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate and former Illinois Governor, are to be speakers at the dinner. Party leaders from across the country are expected for the dinner and a two-day conference, Sept. 14-15.

* * *

Stevenson is to appear on a nation-wide television and radio program the night of Sept. 15 to report on his recent 5½ month world tour. Four major radio networks and the National Broadcasting Co. television will carry the talk from 9:30 to 10 p.m. EST.

GMAC Plans to Expand Consumer Credit Size

WASHINGTON (UP) — General Motors Acceptance Corp. plans to borrow $150,000,000 soon and may have to borrow more later to keep up with the current heavy demand for consumer credit, according to a statement filed today with the securities and exchange commission.

The $150,000,000 borrowing will be done by selling debentures, which will be paid off in 1961. The interest rate and the price of the debentures will be announced later, when GMAC amends the registration statement it filed with the SEC today.

Chicago Hot Town

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago, sizzling in a current heat wave, has been a rather hot spot all summer long.

Weather Bureau records show that yesterday was the 31st day this summer that the mercury had soared to 90 degrees or higher. The normal number of 90 degree days in Chicago is 12 a year.

Monroe POW Gets Welcomed but Isn't There

MONROE (AP)—Cpl. Leo Freelon isn't home yet, but he already has been welcomed.

Monroe's only Korean prisoner of war failed to arrive and didn't make yesterday's civic reception for him, which went off just as if he'd been there.

Mayor Albert J. Davis said some mighty laudatory things, so did a couple of other speakers. A guard of honor stood rigidly. A dozen Civil Air Patrol planes flew overhead.

Monroe didn't know Freelon couldn't get plane space until he failed to arrive at Willow Run at 9:30 a.m.

Mayor Davis and others decided to hold the welcoming ceremony, anyway, with Freelon's relatives sitting in his stead to receive the tributes.

Veterans groups which took part in the ceremony announced they'd give Cpl. Freelon a wing-ding at the American Legion Hall after he gets home, let him read the speeches, stuff him with sandwiches and throw in plenty of his favorite beverage.

Freelon told a sister by telephone he hoped to make it home by sometime today.

Justice Department Stenographer Quits

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Justice Department stenographer has been suspended and then allowed to resign following refusal of her father to testify as to whether Communist meetings were held at his home.

The stenographer, Miss Gayle V. Gift, 33, had been with the department since 1945. Her father, Charles Gift, formerly was employed as a machinist at the Naval gun factory here.

Miss Gift told newmen she knew nothing of her father's political activities and had not lived with him since 1935, except for a short time in 1945.

She said she had been cleared in a 1949 loyalty investigation; had never been told why she was suspended; and would not say why she had resigned.

Blind Cartoonist's Wife Undergoes Eye Surgery

NEW YORK (AP)—The wife of author-cartoonist James Thurber yesterday underwent an operation for a detached retina of the left eye. The surgery was described as successful.

Thurber, who is nearly totally blind himself, said his wife, Helen, was resting comfortably and would remain about two weeks at the hospital, the Eye Institute of the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

Legion Flows Into St. Louis

Meetings Start Monday; Selective Service Chief Reports Today

ST. LOUIS (AP)— The welcome mat is out for some 35,000 American Legionnaires already streaming into St. Louis for sessions prior to the formal opening of the Legion's national convention.

Official convention activities don't begin until Monday but a fast pace of talks before committees already has been set with more on tap for today.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the country's selective service system, is one of the high ranking military officers scheduled to report to the legion today. Other reports will deal with the four branches of the armed forces.

Hotel and motor reservations are a thing of the past as the legionnaires beat a steady path to their convention quarters by bus, car, train and plane.

In a speech yesterday, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) told legionnaires he plans to continue his government investigations even if they embarrass the Eisenhower administration.

He attacked Robert Ryan, chief of the division of personnel operations in the State Department, saying Ryan's appointment was "extremely unfortunate."

* * *

McCarthy said Ryan testified under cross examination before a congressional committee that when officers of the department came up for promotion "derogatory material" was removed from their files. He explained, McCarthy said, that the officials who passed on the promotions might be "prejudiced" if they saw such information.

Strike Idleness Down From '52 Steel Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP)—Idleness from labor strikes declined to three million man-days in July as compared with 3¾ million in June.

The Labor Department, in reporting this today, said that idleness in both June and July was considerably below the same months last year when the nationwide steel strike was in effect.

There were 700 strikes in July involving 410,000 workers.

TV Director's Girl Friday Puts In 55 to 60-Hour Week

NEW YORK — Pretty, 24-year-old Eleanor Pechulis is the answer to a television producer's prayer for a model Girl Friday. The fortunate producer, in this case, is Martin Manulis of television's "Suspense." Eleanor doesn't appear on his cameras—though this may happen any week — but her handiwork does in many little ingenious touches which are a constant wonder to the 40-man production staff.

Eleanor, whose cryptic title is "production assistant," noted, for instance, that the script of "Her Last Adventure," called for a hairbrush strewn with blonde strands. Without bothering the prop department, she collected the nightly brushed remnants of her own honeyed locks.

At rehearsals of "All Hallow's Eve," Manulis was worried about three straying moppet actors. Eleanor took over promptly as babysitter and taught them as well a tune Hank Sylvern had composed for the show.

She gave English lessons on the set to the French actress Nicole Stephane so her TV debut would come off okay. She slipped out of the studio and bought a bottle of champagne after Peter Lorre, exhausted from a dress rehearsal, let it be known he craved a nip of the sparkling wine.

When Gaby Rodgers needed a special French skirt for a role, Eleanor took her shopping and picked it out for her.

Unlike many nine-to-five Girl Fridays, Eleanor, a slim curvaceous, 124-pound beauty with long blonde locks and blue eyes, works 55 hours a week, sometines over 60.

Largely through her own iniative, she has a finger, directly or indirectly, in every phase of the production from the first day of planning a show till broadcast time.

She's the joint shadow of both Manulis and director Robert Mulligan.

She's the program's contact for more than 20 different departments and dozens of individuals.

Eleanor was born in Baltimore and was graduated from Notre Dame College of Maryland, majoring in chemistry.

She took private lessons in voice, dancing and operating techniques, hoping to emote instead of tinkering with test tubes.

Meanwhile, she became an analytical chemist at Calvert's in Baltimore. But she wanted to get in show business.

As a start, she danced, acted and sang in glee clubs, choirs, groups in colleges, high schools and musical comedy troupes, and in radio stations.

After exhausting her opportunities in Baltimore, she came to New York and landed a job at CBS-TV as editorial researcher and assistant to the producer on "We Take Your Word."

Then she held the same position on the radio show, "The Nation's Nightmare," which won a Peabody Award.

"My advice to newcomers is don't be afraid to start at the bottom.

"If you really want to work in TV take the job that is offered to you and learn everything that you can. The experience that you gain — patience and knowledge — all adds up in the end. It's important not to waste time."

Juvenile Delinquency Probe Set for Nov. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Hendrickson (R-NJ) said today a Senate judiciary subcommittee will probably start its nationwide investigation of juvenile delinquency with hearings on some big city, but is not overlooking small town problems.

Hendrickson said in an interview he expects the committee to launch public hearings about Nov. 1 into all phases of juvenile delinquency.

The New Jersey senator said that FBI records show 13.3 per cent of 1,100,000 arrests reported from cities with more than 25,000 population were boys and girls under 21 years old.

Divers Search Carlsen's Ship

Object of Underwater Hunt Inside 'Enterprise' Is Big Secret

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UP) — Italian divers, sworn to secrecy, resumed mysterious salvage operations today on the hulk of the American freighter Flying Enterprise off the southwest England coast.

Officials in the guarded underground vaults of the Bank of Brussels here spent the day drying out and carefully separating sodden American dollar and British pound sterling notes already recovered from the ship.

Just what the salvage men are after is a deep secret.

But vice president Joseph Sevrain of the Bank of Brussels said the money recovered was in the cabin safe of Capt. Kurt Carlsen, whose heroic one-man "stay-put" stand aboard the Flying Enterprise made history.

The hulk of the ship now lies 250 feet under water.

Sevrain pointed out that the salvage operations are being made by direction of the insurance underwriters who had issued policies on the Flying Enterprise.

The Italian salvage ship Rostro steamed out of Ostend today, back to the hulk about 40 miles off Falmouth, England, where it sank under Carlsen in Januray, 1952.

Italy Confers Over Trieste

Pella Is Worried That Tito May Try to Settle Issue by Force

ROME (AP) — Premier Giuseppe Pella called his defense minister and army chief of staff into urgent conference today as a result of open Italian alarm that Yugoslavia's President Tito may try to settle the hot Trieste issue by force.

The move came as the government officially warned Yugoslavia and the Atlantic Pact nations against any Yugoslav move to annex permanently the Trieste zone she now occupies.

Pella conferred for almost two hours with Defense Minister Emilio Paviani and Gen. Efisio Marras and immediately afterward called the American, British and French ambassadors into conference, one after another. He also sent a warning note to Belgrade.

There was no immediate announcement of what went on in these talks.

The concern over Yugoslavia's intentions developed here after news reports from Belgrade were interpreted as threatening annexation of the Yugoslav-occupied zone in the disputed territory.

Yugopress, the semi-official Yugoslav news agency, said last night that President Tito's government was seriously reconsidering its policy of Trieste. It declared he would outline the new attitude in a major speech Sept. 6.

Babson Tells Hopes for Gravity Deflector

NEW BOSTON, N. H. (AP)—Roger W. Babson said today he still hopes a gravity deflector will be developed that will make superaircraft possible—but not enable people to whoosh through the air by themselves, as some do in comic books.

The 78-year-old statistician and one-time Prohibition party presidential candidate told his Gravity Research Foundation one practical use for a gravity insulator would be lightening the packs soldiers have to carry.

"The ultimate goal would be totally enclosed pressurized airplanes. The partial reduction of the weight of these would revolutionize their use both in war and peace."

Babson established the research foundation here several years ago to further scientific studies of the earth's gravitational pull.

Although clumsy in appearance, an armadillo can run with astonishing speed when frightened.

COMFORT, STYLE
LK. FRONT COLONIAL
After a hard day there couldn't be a nicer place to come to than this lovely home that actually has 2 wonderful living rooms. And if you have children or entertain a lot, you'll favor the unique guest house that has even another big living room with a fireplace. This very attractive home is so well built and has so many good things about it that you'll want to stay at home all the time. There's over an acre on this close in lake with a sandy beach, a garden, picturesque trees and a location you'll say is the handiest of all. The children will attend the Webster and Washington Jr. High in the city. Priced at only $22,500 with $7,500 down. We believe this price to be about half of today's reproduction cost. Noted Bishop Dies at Age 64

Most Rev. Haas Was Well Known for Work in Sociology

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — The Most Rev. Francis J. Haas, 64-year-old bishop of the Grand Rapids Catholic diocese, died early today of a heart attack.

The bishop, nationally known as a sociologist, author and labor conciliator, had suffered from a heart condition for some time and was hospitalized in May and July.

The spiritual leader for West Michigan Catholics since November 1943 died at his home about 1 a.m., Msgr. Raymond H. Baker, vicar general of the diocese reported.

Bishop Haas was President Roosevelt's first chairman of the fair employment practices committee; a special commissioner of the Labor Department, and a member of a special conciliation board of the U.S. Labor Department during war years.

He was born in Racine, Wis., studied at St. Francis Seminary in Milwaukee and was ordained in 1913. After that he taught at St. Francis Seminary; was professor of sociology at Marquette University in Milwaukee and professor and dean of the school of social science of Catholic University in Washington, D. C., before he was consecrated bishop of the Grand Rapids diocese in 1934.

For his work in fighting intolerance, he was cited by the Jewish workman's circle of Detroit in 1950; by the Michigan CIO council in 1952 "for distinguished service in the cause of human rights," and by the fraternal order of Eagles national monthly magazine in 1949, among others. Among his books, his best known was "Man and Society," first printed in 1930 and rewritten in 1951.

5,000 Frenchmen Tell Opinions on America

PARIS (AP)—Maybe 5,000 Frenchmen don't speak for 50 million Frenchmen, but two-thirds of 5,000 asked in a recent poll said they like Americans. The other third wished the Yanks would stay home.

While professing to like Americans, 54 per cent didn't like American jazz, 43 per cent didn't like U. S. movies, 70 per cent didn't like chewing gum, 61 per cent didn't like coca cola and 36 per cent didn't like American cigarettes.

According to 32 per cent, the United States should pull her troops out of France and all the rest of western Europe.

Reds Hunt for 'Panthers'; or Maybe Human Rebels

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG (AP) — Broadcasts speaking of "wild beast hunts" for tigers and panthers in Communist China have listeners in this crown colony—and possibly even on the Red mainland—wondering what's going on behind the Bamboo Curtain.

Suddenly the Red radio broadcasts are full of talk of "hunting the beasts in the mountains and saving the crops"—all this in a land where few predatory animals exist.

'When we hunt beasts we must respect tribal habits and customs. When the beasts hide in graveyards or temples we must obey tribal custom on whether to shoot them or not."

Radio Sian in Shensi province has spilled out hundreds of words aimed at organizing hunting parties to kill "the beasts in the mountains and save the crops."

This double talk may point to one thing: some sort of trouble, possibly even uprisings, is brewing in Red China.

The radios, however, give no clue who the rebels are. They never depart from "beast" talk—and never mention any animals other than tigers or panthers.

Possibly the Reds are recruiting hunters without teling them what they will hunt. But it must be big game, as Radio Yunnan indicated in this broadcast:

"If hunters are killed pensions will be supplied . . . peasants or hunters who have died while hunting or who have been wounded when seized by the beasts will be helped by the government . . .

"When a hunter hunts beasts, his neighbors must help him take care of his farm . . . Hunters with extra guns must lend them to other hunters . . .

"Poison arrows must not be used . . . The government will supply hunters with money for ammunition and guns but those who can should make their own ammunition . . .

* * *

"We must protect the people, cattle and farm plants from beast calamities."

It may sound like a mystery thriller—or is it trouble behind the Bamboo Curtain?

Police Recover $950 Which Man Refuses

NEW YORK (AP) — Police, informed that James Ferraras and his wife had thrown $950 in the Hudson River at 181st St. yesterday dragged the river with rakes and found it.

The money, in a cloth bag, consisted of five $100 bills and nine $50 bills.

They returned the money to Ferraras, a building superintendent, but he refused to accept it. The couple told puzzled police that they kept having "dreams of bad luck."

A son of the Ferraras told police he had learned of his parents' dreams. The son, James, then decided to see officials.

Censors, Movie Studio Scrap Over Dope Film

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Board of Censors says a picture entitled "She Shouda Said No" is not the kind to be shown in Keystone State theaters.

Specifically, it called the film "immoral, indecent, not proper and tends to corrupt and debase morals."

Hallmark Productions, Inc., which produced the film which is a story about a chorus girl drug addict, asked the Common Pleas Court here to overrule the censor board. The motion picture studio charged the board's action was unconstitutional and deprived it of the right of "freedom of expression."

The female hornbill, an African bird, walls herself up with mud inside a hollow tree at nesting time, but leaves a small hole through which her mate feeds her and the young.

Five Youths Fined on Larceny Charges

Five youths each were fined $10 and placed on 90 days probation Thursday when they appeared before Municial Judge Maurice E. Finnegan on a simple larceny charge.

Pleading guilty were Frederick L. Allen, 18, of 769 Bloomer Rd., Rochester; Wilfred Pineau, 17, of 2284 Livernois Rd., Rochester; Frank E. Dieskowski, 21, of 18737 Twenty-Three Mile Rd., Mt. Clemens; Eugene B. Osborne, 17, of 7560 Twenty-four Mile Rd. and Wesley W. Dexter, 24, of 2578 Emmons St., both of Disco.

Birmingham Police said they turned over the five youths to Pontiac Police early yesterday when they learned that an estimated $90 worth of auto equipment had been stolen in Pontiac.

Detectives Sgt. Albert W. Foster Sr. and Charles Hewitt quoted the youths as saying they have been operating in Pontiac for several months.

Will Try Prospector for Hunter's Murder

PERCE, Quebec (AP)—A burly 39-year-old prospector-woodsman today faced trial on a charge of murdering one of three Pennsylvania hunters whose bear-gnawed remains were found last month in the Gaspe wilderness bush.

A provincial magistrate's court last night ordered Wilbert Coffin, the last man known to have seen the three Americans alive, to stand trial in the death of 17-year-old Richard Lindsey, of Hollidaysburg, Pa.

Young Lindsey's remains were found in the bush 65 miles west of Gaspe along with those of his father, Eugene H. Lindsey, 47, and a chum, Fred Claar, 20, of East Freedom, Pa.

Alabama Labor Heads Urging No Walkouts

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—Alabama labor leaders today urged union members to avoid mass walkouts in protest against the newly-enacted "right to work" law.

The "right to work" law prohibits compulsory union membership contracts, but also protects employes from being fired because they do become union members.

Tire, Bird House Hiding Places for Boy Robbers

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — A policeman climbed a ladder placed against a tall pole Friday and took $300 from a bird house.

Another slit open a bicycle tire. He took $600 from it.

Two policemen with shovels dug into the ground along the Woonasquatucket River. They turned up $300 more.

At a house in the west end of the city, investigators discovered $300 stuffed up among the floor joists in the cellar.

They found nine $200 bills, torn into little pieces, buried in a back yard.

From several other hiding places police got enough bills to make up a bundle totaling $1,800.

Police Capt. Edward H. Kelly said the money was part of $3,000 stolen yesterday by nine boys from the attic of Mrs. Alice Barrows.

They are being held for further questioning.

More than $2,000,000 was spent on Boldt Castle, a fantastic structure on an island in the St. Lawrence River. But the projected summer residence was abandoned in 1903 and has never been completed.

Woman Twice Wed as 'Dead' PW Freed

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—An attractive young wife of a soldier she believed dead but who was released from a Korean prison camp this week prepared today to meet a marital mixup.

Mrs. Avis Meier married Harold Kapsch of Mitchell, S. D., last March, believing that her first husband, Cpl. Ralph W. Meier, had been killed in the Korean War. Her marriage to Kapsch, however, was annulled in June when Kapsch said he learned that Meier was still alive.

Mrs. Meier, who said she had no plans for meeting Meier, said she thought she was doing right in marrying Kapsch because "I heard from a boy in Korea last fall that my husband was dead."
