Foreign Aid Bill Passes Senate With No Change

Okayed on 57-25 Count as Dem-Led Opposition Is Smothered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's $3,637,000,000 foreign aid bill moved on to the House today, propelled by a 57-25 Senate vote.

Every effort by bands of Democratic-led opponents to trim its totals and limit its authority to one year was smothered in a series of roll calls that kept the Senate in session almost until last midnight.

On final passage, 26 Democrats and 31 Republicans voted for the bill; 17 Democrats and 8 Republicans opposed it.

It was a rare demonstration of Republican unity on a foreign policy matter, with Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, supporting Eisenhower on every issue. He sometimes has differed with the administration on foreign policy matters.

It also was an exhibition of generalship by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the majority leader, in keeping many reluctant Democrats in line.

LATER CUTS POSSIBLE

Both held out the possibility of cuts in a later appropriations bill to provide funds for the aid program. They reminded their colleagues that the foreign aid bill is an authorization measure, setting only ceilings and terms.

With Johnson and Knowland working in close harmony behind 89-year-old Chairman Green (D-RI) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the bill survived every test despite charges the program is loaded with "giveaways," and "waste and extravagance."

Supporters of the bill said that in arming allies and bolstering their economies, this country is protecting its own national security.

The opposition was led by Democratic Sens. Long and Ellender of Louisiana, Morse of Oregon and O'Mahoney of Wyoming. All voted "no" on final passage.

Couple Killed; 3 Taken Alive From Wreckage

Polish Liner Downed in Storm Near Moscow; 6 Bodies Counted

MOSCOW (AP) — A twin-engined Polish airliner carrying eight passengers — five of them Americans — crashed in a storm last night while coming into Moscow. Three Americans were taken from the wreckage alive.

The two others were listed as missing and reported dead by an American correspondent.

The three American survivors were identified as Mrs. Margaret Tremper; her daughter, Michelle, 14, and Richard Cheverton, all of Grand Rapids, Mich.

They were on a tour of the Soviet Union sponsored by television station WOOD-TV in Grand Rapids. Cheverton is news director for the station.

Irving R. Levine, National Broadcasting Co. correspondent in Moscow, told a WOOD-TV staff member by telephone that Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Beuker, listed as missing, were dead. Beuker was a Grand Rapids insurance and real estate man.

Three American newsmen stationed in Moscow—Harold Milks and Roy Essoyan of The Associated Press and Levine — helped rescue the survivors.

They heard a woman's voice calling "I'm cold, I'm cold, help. My legs hurt." They found Mrs. Tremper pinned in the wreckage and pulled her out and carried her to an ambulance on a stretcher.

Mrs. Tremper's young daughter Michelle and Cheverton, who were rescued later, were both badly

423 Pontiac High Seniors Told Spirit Makes a Town

"It's spirit that makes a town, not just the chamber of commerce," 423 Pontiac High School graduates heard the commencement speaker state yesterday.

"That spirit," Charles Forsythe, director of athletics for the Michigan High School Athletic Assn., said, "is in the schools."

"Graduates," he told the audience of more than 1,000, "are the dividends on the time and money spent by the community."

He cautioned the graduates that their diplomas were but the beginning, like the first marking period, of their careers.

★ ★ ★

He decried talk that there is less opportunity for young people in the United States now than in the past.

IN DEMAND

"Think of the hundreds of thousands of people the automobile industry demands, or the aircraft industry, or radio and television, or atomic projects or plastics," he stated.

★ ★ ★

He advised the grads to put forth their best efforts in whatever occupation they chose. "When you choose something to follow, make sure you can do that something better than most people," he said.

Forsythe quoted a statement by Abraham Lincoln, " 'I will prepare myself, and some day my chance will come.' "

The speaker was introduced by Louis H. Schimmel, president of the Pontiac Board of Education.

Francis Staley, principal, introduced the class to Superintendent Dana P. Whitmer, who presented the diplomas.

Army Denies 'Brainwashing'

Pentagon Lawyer Says GI Not Pressured Into Trial by Japanese

TOKYO (INS) — A top Pentagon Army lawyer today termed "utter folly" charges by William Girard's U.S. lawyers that the Army is "brainwashing" the young GI into accepting a Japanese trial.

One of the Japanese involved was later identified as Hiteji Onozeki, a prospective prosecution witness against Girard.

Meanwhile, an Army spokesman disclosed that a GI was hospitalized last weekend following a "spur of the moment fight" involving three U.S. soldiers and two Japanese.

None of the participants in what one of the GIs involved called a "drunken brawl" was arrested. The injuries of PFC. Wilber R. Smith, who was clubbed by one of the Japanese, were not regarded as serious.

The spokesman said:

"This was a spur of the moment fight and there was no connection with the Girard incident."

Tornado Rakes Illinois Capital

Report Heavy Damage, 3 Deaths in Springfield After Storms

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (INS) — Springfield counted two dead amid untold wreckage in the wake of a tornado which last night came roaring through the dark heart of a thunderstorm.

★ ★ ★

A third person was killed when struck by lightning in an earlier storm.

★ ★ ★

Before the tornado hit Springfield, the state capital, it passed through Jacksonville, Ill., injuring five persons and causing considerable property damage.

The Springfield dead were Mrs. Dorothy Farley, 60, crushed in a vain attempt to reach a storm cellar; Mrs. Annabel Larson, 37, struck by a live power line as she rode a bicycle and Carl R. Applegate, killed by lightning.

The 106-mile-an-hour wind funnel, shrouded by the heavy rain which flooded much of the city, injured at least 40 persons, destroyed 20 homes, three industrial plants, a large warehouse, knocked down power lines and uprooted hundreds of trees.

★ ★ ★

Thirty other homes were damaged along with numerous garages and business structures.

Much of the city was without electricity during the night as firemen and linesmen sought to minimize the hazzard created by live lines knocked onto pools of water which formed throughout Springfield.

The hardest hit section was in the southeast part of the city where the twister apparently touched ground and destroyed a row of nine homes.

Emergency aid forces and auxiliary police worked to clear the debris and aid stricken families. The National Guard was called out to guard against possible looting.

State Turncoat in Hong Kong

Former Ionia Soldier Says He Left Red China Out of 'Homesickness'

HONG KONG (AP) — American turncoat Andrew Fortuna arrived in Hong Kong today and said it was "just plain homesickness" that made him decide to leave Red China after 3½ years. He will board ship for the United States tonight.

★ ★ ★

The 31-year-old former GI from Ionia, Mich., was the eighth to come home of the 21 American prisoners of war who refused repatriation after the Korean War. One died in China.

Fortuna strolled casually across the border smoking a cigarette. He handed newsmen a written statement saying, "having had a pleasant and interesting stay I am now going home for personal and family reasons."

But after he was processed by American officials here he told a news conference about his homesickness.

★ ★ ★

"I haven't been home for nine years," Fortuna said. "I was homesick. I guess you can say it was just plain homesickness that is making me go back."

★ ★ ★

Fortuna said he earned the equivalent of 40 dollars a month as a mechanic at a government motor pool at Hankow, a major industrial city some 400 miles west of Shanghai.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. consulate booked passage for Fortuna on the liner President Wilson scheduled to dock in San Francisco July 3.

Dulles Marks 50 Years

His career in foreign affairs began on June 15, 1907, when he attended the second Hague peace conference as a member of the Chinese delegation.

Aides said the 69-year-old Dulles was celebrating the occasion by working as usual.

As is his Saturday custom, he planned to remain at home—preparing a speech to be delivered in San Francisco, June 28, and getting ready for a congressional committee meeting next week.

Dulles has not spent all these past 50 years in diplomatic work. He also has had a career as an international lawyer.

Mayer's Lead Dwindles; Snead Back in Contention

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Pontiac Press Sports Editor

TOLEDO—Final rounds of the National Open started at 8 a.m. this morning at Inverness Country Club here and after the first nine holes 34-year-old Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., lost one stroke of his lead by going out in a one over par 35.

After 36 holes yesterday, Mayer and amateur Billy Joe Patton were tied for the lead with identical scores of 70-68—138.

Patton started off this morning by bogeying the 1st hole and parring the next two. Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills, who had 74-73-147 for 36 holes, started in good fashion by hitting a par four on the 1st hole and then getting birdies on the next two holes.

Bob Gajda of Forest Lake, who just made the cut-off point with 150, fired a 39 for the front nine and then ran into trouble.

Trying to pull back into closer running after shooting 74-74-148 was Sam Snead who shot a par-34 for the 1st nine.

Jackie Burke with 71-75-146 for the 1st two rounds withdrew from the tournament this morning because of an injured tendon in his right hand. The 1st 54-hole score reported was that of Furman Hayes, who shot a 70 this morning for a 219 total.

54-HOLE FINALS

Howie Johnson 148-77—226
Furman Hayes—149-70—219

45-Hole Totals: Lew Worsham 150-39; Donald Whitt 148-39; HarvieWard 147-36; Bob Gajda 150-39; Julius Boros 144-35; Jimmy Demaret 141-35; Al Brosch 148-34; Sam Snead 148-34; Dick Mayer 138-35; Bo Wininger 141-37; Jerry Kesselring 145-37.

'Thanks for Welcome on Every Mat'

Visiting Newsman Bids Farewell

Dear Pontiac:

I have had a wonderful three months as your guest, but unfortunately time passes all too quickly. I find myself within a day or two of leaving this city for a tour of other parts of the United States and a long eastward round-trip home to Australia.

HAWKER

The purpose of my visit to the United States — to read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest America and the American way of life—could not have been achieved but for your friendliness and hospitality.

My stay could not have been as instructive and pleasurable but for the welcome on every mat.

★ ★ ★

This visit would not have been possible at all but for the part The Pontiac Press has chosen to play in the U.S.-State Department's exchange program by being my host during my stay in Pontiac.

CHANCE TO LEARN

Not only have I had an outstanding opportunity to learn about the American way of life, but I feel that Pontiac area knows a lot more than it did about my country through talks—totaling 50—I have given at luncheon clubs, women's groups, schools, university classes and churches.

I hope that my contribution to knowledge about my own fast developing Australia has helped put that country more in focus.

I have visited many countries in Europe, Africa and Asia, but nowhere have I been able to identify myself with a community in so short a time. I feel that, living and working in Pontiac, I have come to share its hopes and fears—even to becoming an ardent Tiger baseball fan (and I had never seen the game before) and becoming downcast when the Red Wings were defeated in the Stanley Cup series.

I have made many firm friends, I have learned a lot, and I have enjoyed myself thoroughly during my time as a Michigander.

I wish I could stay longer, but that is not possible. I like to think that some day I will be back.

Yours very sincerely,
Denis N. Hawker

Wishes Tribe Could See It

Ex-Head-Hunter Watches Billy Graham Hunt Souls

NEW YORK (AP)—A befeathered jungle chief who used to hunt heads in the wilds of Peru listened to Billy Graham preach, then nodded his head vigorously.

★ ★ ★

"Great teacher," he said in his deep basso. "Much authority."

Chief Tariri, head of the Shapra tribe in the north-central Peruvian jungles, was among 16,000 listeners to Graham last night at Madison Square Garden.

"I wish my tribe could see it," he said in his native Candoshi tongue, referring to the hundreds who streamed down the aisle at the end of the service to "accept Christ."

★ ★ ★

The chief added: "I wish everyone would receive the Lord." That's what he did four years ago, and ordered his tribe to quit head hunting.

The chief was brought here by a television program, and because his tribe had been praying for Graham's New York crusade, he wanted to take in the services himself, to report back how it was doing.

"Many warriors learning God's word here," he said. "Women, too. But they talk too much."

Graham, in his sermon asked, "what is a Christian?"

★ ★ ★

Being reared in a Christian country, or by Christian parents, or being born in a Christian home doesn't make you a Christian, he said. "You don't inherit Christianity . . . I can be born in a garage but that doesn't make me an automobile."

Going to church, or conforming to external forms, or being virtuous, he said, still doesn't make you a Christian — because no matter how good you are you still fall short of God's standards.

To be a Christian he added, you must have a "spiritual rebirth. You must be born again as a child of God. Jesus didn't say you ought to be born again. He didn't say it was a good thing to be born again. He said you must be born again!"

When that happens, Graham added, Christ enters you — you become a Christian.

Last night's 509 "decisions for Christ" brought the total to 18,194.

Wednesday Set for Hoffa Trial

Judge Grants Delay in Conspiracy - Bribery Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge today granted a delay from Monday until Wednesday in the conspiracy-bribery trial of James R. Hoffa, teamsters union vice president.

★ ★ ★

District Judge Burnita S. Matthews also held that Hoffa and Hyman I. Fishbach of Miami are entitled to examine FBI records concerning information furnished that agency by John Cye Cheasty, New York lawyer.

She based the ruling on a recent Supreme Court decision that defendants in criminal cases are entitled to such documents in order to map their defenses.

Hoffa and Fishbach are accused of conspiring to place Cheasty on the staff of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee and of bribing him to furnish them with information on the committee's operations.

★ ★ ★

Officials said Cheasty cooperated fully in disclosing the plan, giving details to the FBI.

New Scot Father Joins 4-Minute Mile Group

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — Derek Ibbotson, British Olympic runner, today became the father of a baby girl and soon after receiving the news ran a mile in 3 minutes, 58.4 seconds.

★ ★ ★

It was Ibbotson's second four-minute mile. His first one was on Aug. 6, 1956, when he covered the distance in London in 3:59.4. He is one of 12 four-minute milers.

Ibbotson's clocking today was just four-tenths of a second short of the world record of 3:58 held since June 21, 1954, by Australia's John Landy.

Police Question Murder Suspect

Plan Lie Detector Test for Wyandotte Man, 34, in Child Sex Slaying

DETROIT (INS)—Police said a 34-year-old Wyandotte photographer who has solicited waitresses to pose in the nude will undergo a lie detector test today in the Mary de Caussin sex murder investigation.

A waitress at a drive-in restaurant told the manager the photographer threatened her. Police picked him up for investigation of taking indecent liberties.

Ecorse Township Police Chief Bently Galloway said the man gave several "tips" to police himself and took pictures of the spot where the six-year-old girl's assaulted and mutilated body was found.

He also took pictures recently of classes at St. Pius Church where Mary was in the first grade.

Chief Galloway said the man admitted being in the neighborhood about the time Mary was believed picked up by the killer. The photographer's changing stories as to his activities prompted the police to schedule the lie detector test.

Funeral services for Mary will be held at 11 a.m. Monday in St. Pius Church. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. She is lying in state at a funeral home at 2157 Oak, Wyandotte.

Rules Self-Defense in Husband Shooting

No criminal charge will be made against Mrs. Kathryn O'Neil, 27, Waterford Township woman who slew her husband in a gun duel, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem announced yesterday.

All evidence shows that Mrs. O'Neil, recuperating in Pontiac General Hospital from a pistol wound, shot and killed her estranged husband, Willis, 42, in self-defense, Ziem said.

The shooting took place last Saturday night at Mrs. O'Neil's home, 1260 Eason Rd. She and O'Neil, a real estate agent of 3636 Shaddick Ave., had been separated 15 months.

bruised and suffering from shock.

Mrs. Tremper was believed the more seriously hurt but the extent of her injuries could not be determined immediately.

The Polish airliner was carrying 12 persons—eight passengers and a crew of four—from Warsaw.

The only known survivor other than the three Americans was the Polish stewardess. Six bodies were counted at the scene.

The 28-day tour was sponsored by WOOD-TV as a tour of both sides of the Iron Curtain. Travel arrangements were made by the Wagenaar Travel Bureau of Grand Rapids.

A WOOD-TV spokesman said the group had planned to stay in Moscow several days before moving on to Switzerland and Austria. The group left Grand Rapids about two weeks ago. The group had visited England, the Low Countries and Germany.

In Grand Rapids, Mrs. Tremper's husband, an osteopath, said he was "relieved" when newsmen informed him his wife and daughter had survived the crash.

Dr. Tremper said he was trying to make arrangements to go to Moscow.

Park Admission Proposal Killed

Gov. Williams' Veto Sets State Bill Aside for This Year

LANSING (AP)—A much-publicized plan to charge admission to Michigan's 59 state parks and recreation areas is dead, for this year at least.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams yesterday vetoed a bill which would have set up machinery for collecting park admission fees which Conservation Dept. authorities estimated would amount to between one- and two-million dollars a year.

WINDSHIELD STICKERS

As approved by the state Legislature, the bill would authorize sale of $2 windshield stickers which would admit a car and its occupants to all state parks for a year.

The measure also provided for daily admission fees of up to 50 cents and free admission for church and school groups.

Since the state park system was set up 38 years ago, parks always have been open to the public without charge.

Park attendance, however, has risen from eight million to more than 16 million in the last decade and conservation department officials have sent up a cry for more money to keep peace with the demand for park facilities.

When the Legislature balked at coming up with the needed revenue in the face of money demands from other sources, conservation authorities submitted the park fee plan, proposing to use the funds for park improvement and expansion.

The Legislature, however, stipulated that none of the money go for expansion purposes and it was this feature that drew the governor's sharpest criticism.

★ ★ ★

Though not opposed to the fee plan, he told the lawmakers last February the revenue from parks admission must be used both for improvement and expansion if it was to gain his approval.

Ouster of President in Haiti Protested

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — The Army's ouster of provisional President Daniel Fignole has brought sullen protests from the street crowds he championed.

But thus far these groups, made up of workers from the capital's poorest districts, have refrained from violence in the face of the tight rein placed on Port Au Prince by the military junta that booted Fignole out of office and into exile yesterday.

Fignole, one of 10 candidates for president in elections that have been twice postponed, was the favorite of the worker groups. They demonstrated for his return yesterday under the guns of the Army, but went home at 8 p.m. when a curfew went into effect.

The three-man junta which threw out Fignole and assumed power pending elections was the sixth new government in Haiti since December. Fignole was in power only 19 days.

MSU to Limit Its Enrollments

Hannah Makes Move as Result of Shortage in Operating Funds

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University, abandoning long tradition, is embarking on a policy of limiting enrollments.

★ ★ ★

John A. Hannah, institution president, announced yesterday to the state board of agriculture, MSU governing body, that the decision was made with the "greatest reluctance."

But Hannah said in the light of operating funds for 1957-58 made available by the legislature there was no alternative save that of reducing education standards.

When the problem is either doing a good job with a smaller number of students, or doing a mediocre job with a larger number, he said, "there really is no choice in terms of institutional integrity and responsibility to the people of Michigan."

★ ★ ★

Hannah told the board he is premising the school budget for the coming fiscal year on a maximum of 20,500 students.

★ ★ ★

The budget, originally scheduled for presentation yesterday, will be submitted when the board holds its next meeting July 19 at Meadowbrook Farms in Oakland County, he said.

Anyone Ever See a Balding Mink?

By ELMER WHEELER

Raising fur-bearing animals is big business.

So is raising hair on a baldy.

Why, then, shouldn't a study of how raisers breed animals for thick pelts be of value to a guy losing his head pelt?

I read up on the subject.

It seems fur raising specialists long ago discovered that proper feeding of the animal puts thicker and finer hair on it, and it brings more money on the market.

A real good mink brings some $35,000. I'd perhaps get 10 cents for my head pelt at the dime store. Davey Crockett fur pieces get $1.50.

I didn't even get a glance from an Oklahoma Indian the time I went to Tulsa to speak for the sales club there. I was insulted.

Animals, I found out, are fed scientific food. I've seen chickens fed various colors that made the eggs repeat the colors of green, yellow, red.

"A good mink brings $35,000. I'd get 10 cents for my head pelt."

FOOD CAN DO IT

So what goes in you — affects you.

Animals are fed clean, wholesome foods packed with wheat germs, rolled oats, ground apples. None are fed dried bread made entirely of unfortified white flour. Ask Peter J. Michael.

They are fed raw meat, fish, ground bone, tomatoes, carrots and milk. No wonder mink costs so much. They are fed well.

It seems the raisers don't cook foods. Too much loss in vitamins and minerals, they say.

It is a well-known fact that children in the South who ate overly cooked foods, while the servants' children got the "pot liquor," had more ailments than the servants' children who lopped up the vitamins and minerals cooked out of the foods the rich kids got.

I instructed my wife to cook faster. Use those fancy fast pressure cookers that kept the juices (the wines of life) inside the foods so they'd get inside me.

I wasn't planning on selling my head pelt. Just to get it back if possible by proper inside nourishment, not outside rubbing.

One raiser told me that if he left out just one vitamin or mineral, the fur was abnormal.

★ ★ ★

So I made sure of getting a full daily round of vitamins and minerals by purchasing a food supplement that contained my minimum requirement.

I realized, of course, from the raisers' statements that nothing can replace nature's own food direct from the ground, but like a guy carries insurance, it was okay to insure yourself of not missing anything by eating supplements.

Heck, if I took such great care in buying my sheep dog his dog food, why not take as much care in my own foods?

Even a monkey gets scientific food fed to him at the zoo.

You ever saw a bald-headed Eskimo, did you? He doesn't eat our highly refined foods.

On the other hand, look at the bald-headed Asiatics. They diet on polished rice. No Marine ever could grab one by the hair and pull him out of a foxhole.

CIVILIZATION'S EFFECTS

A Dr. Weston Price found in his trip around the world to study tooth decay of various peoples, that natives with no tooth decay got holes in their teeth the year they strayed into a white man's settlement and began to consume his refined foods.

On analyzing the diet of these natives, the doctor found their foods were loaded with vitamins and minerals, often 10 times in excess of their daily needs.

Good hair men, I'm advised, look at your teeth and gums, and if their condition is bad, they know the same causes are affecting your hair and it needs immediate nutritional correction.

Circulation to the scalp, that tightly drawn skin, is needed and my doc told me, too, that bleeding gums and teeth can steal the blood from the head and cause the hair to be lacking in needed blood.

How rare is a bald-headed Indian in our own country? He needed hair for scalping purposes!

★ ★ ★

They tell the story of a Crow Indian named Chief Long Hair who had 25 feet of the lush stuff.

When a bald-headed white man greeted the chief with, "How," he'd reply:

"Me wearum feathers on my head to keep my wig warm."

NEXT: Exercise your hair.

NOAH'S ARK

QUESTION: Could Noah's Ark have sailed the Suez Canal?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Since the Ark was so heavily loaded, the Canal might not have been deep enough, although of course it did not exist in Biblical days. It can handle ships with a depth of 35 feet in normal times.

The Ark was about 450 feet long and 75 feet wide. The canal has a channel width of 200 feet.

The Suez is the longest canal in the world — some 100 miles in length. It took about 10 years to build and cost less than the Panama Canal, since it has no locks. When the Canal was opened in 1869, Verdi was commissioned to write his opera "Aida" for the celebration. Nations sent 68 ships to parade down the waterway that cut the distance from London to Bombay by more than 5,000 miles.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Draw a small picture of the Ark. Paste it on cardboard and cut it out. Make sure the picture is a small one, about three inches long. Ask your parents to cut a slit in a cork and fit the picture into it. Then you'll have a sailing Ark of your own. You may also color the picture above.

Blind Boy Writes Top Composition on State's Beauty

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — A 9-year-old blind boy has written a prize-winning essay on the beauties of Michigan.

He is Melvin Miller, who since birth has had to depend on the eyes of others to "see" the world around him.

The boy's composition on "It's Great to Live in Michigan" describes the forests, hills, valleys and lakes which "we who live in Michigan are lucky enough to see every day."

Melvin wrote it in braille, then transcribed it on a typewriter. It won over 63 other entries in the Battle Creek Chamber of Commerce contest for fourth grade pupils. The prize was a $25 savings bond.

★ ★ ★

Melvin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max A. Miller who live near Marshall, said they have helped the boy appreciate the beauties of nature as he worked with them on their farm.

O'Rourke Asks Backing

FLINT (AP) — Genesee County Prosecutor Jerome F. O'Rourke has asked the Flint CIO Council to support his bid to succeed Atty. Gen. Thomas Kavanagh, who moves up to the State Supreme Court Jan. 1.

Dad weathered storms of adversity, brought light and sunshine into our lives. He pioneered the way to the goal of better things for his family. When we were confused it was Dad who brought order again. With adroitness worthy of a diplomat he maneuvered us to the center of the spotlight; happy to see his family win the praise. I can't remember my father ever planning something for his individual enjoyment; most fathers fall in the same category.

Father's Day, June 16th, is a special time for us to make him happy, bring to realization that one objective he has tried to hide. If I am not mistaken his greatest desire is your thoughtfulness and affection. These attributes are easily demonstrated. Maneuver Dad into the spotlight on his day.

SS Tax Due to Go Up on Jan. 1, 1960

BY RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

From T. F. of New York City: "When is the Social Security tax scheduled to go up again and how much will the increase be?"

★ ★ ★

The next scheduled raise will be Jan. 1, 1960. The tax for an employe will be 2¾ per cent of the first $4,200 a year in wages. The employe's boss will have to match this. The tax for a self-employed person will be 4⅛ per cent of the first $4,200 a year in net earnings.

From D.H.D. of Alhambra, Calif.: "I've been a railroad worker for more than 11 years. Before that, I worked for a private company. I worked for the private company and paid Social Security tax from the day it started. When I reach retirement age will it be possible for me to collect retirement payments under Railroad Retirement and Social Security?"

★ ★ ★

You will if you have worked long enough under both retirement systems to qualify for payments. Your 11 years work for the railroad qualifies you for railroad retirement. From the facts in your letter it also appears that you worked under Social Security long enough to qualify for payments. I suggest you talk the details over with your Social Security office.

★ ★ ★

From R.L.S. of Baltimore, Md.: "I've been reading your columns and have seen a couple that told about how any income I earn after I retire will affect my Social Security payments. Could you tell me where I can get any printed information about this?"

★ ★ ★

Your nearest Social Security office can send you a short booklet on this subject. Just phone or go in and ask for the booklet, "How Earnings Affect Benefits" (OASI-23).

From Mrs. A.H.P. of Annapolis, Md.: "My husband will be 65 next September and he plans to retire at that time. I have never worked. I'm already 65. My husband will be eligible for Social Security retirement payments and I'll be eligible on his Social Security record. How much will my payments be? If my husband should die, how much will my payments as a widow be?"

★ ★ ★

As a wife, your payments will be one-half the amount of your husband's payments rounded off to the nearest 10 cents. For example: If your husband will be eligible for the highest possible Social Security payment — $108.50 a month — your payments will be $54.30.

As a widow, your payments will be three-fourths of the amount your husband was receiving when he died.

From Mrs. H.S. of Washington, D.C.: "I recently was divorced from my husband. Can I receive payments based on his Social Security record?"

★ ★ ★

It depends. You can't get payments under any circumstances while he's alive. You may get survivors payments after he dies — if you are caring for a child of his who is under 18 or who is over 18, but was disabled before reaching 18, and if you were receiving at least half your support from him by court order.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Awaits Examination

Harmon Crider, 52, of 362 Oakland Ave., demanded examination on a charge of taking indecent liberties with a 10-year-old girl and was returned to the Oakland County Jail after he failed to furnish a $1,000 bond.

Crider was arraigned before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum. Examination was set for June 19.

CHAPTER 18

I reached Canon City in late afternoon, left my horse in a livery stable, and went directly to Ben Sawhill's office. He seemed genuinely pleased to see me.

He held out his hand. "What brings you to town, Will?"

★ ★ ★

"I need some advice," I said. "Not legal advice. Just that of a friend." I added, "At least, you're Sarah's friend."

"Yours too, Will.' He got his pipe out and filled it, frowning. "I'll give you all the advice you want, but if it's got anything to do with Sarah it won't be worth a hoot. You know I asked her to marry me at Christmas and she turned me down. But I'll always be in love with her. Like the faithful dog who gets kicked off the porch."

I waited until he had his pipe going, then I said, "Let's get supper at the hotel, Ben."

"Suits me," he said. "I didn't get out for dinner. I've got a case coming up tomorrow and I've had my nose in lawbooks all day."

We turned down the stairs and angled across the street to the hotel. We didn't talk until we gave our orders, then he leaned back in his chair, nodded at me, and said, "Let's have it."

★ ★ ★

Because we were alone in one corner of the room, there was no danger we would be overheard. When I asked him if he'd heard what was going on, he shook his head.

"No. Just that there was some shooting, but it didn't stop John Mathers."

I started in, back early in the winter, and even before that, when Sarah had given me half the ranch and told me she was the senior partner. The waitress brought oyster soup, and I went on talking. Ben listened while he ate. When the girl brought out steaks and side dishes, my soup had not been touched.

★ ★ ★

Sawhill picked up his fork and looked at me. "That the story?"

"That's it," I said, and began to eat.

★ ★ ★

"What do you want advice about?"

I felt foolish. "I don't know," I said. "I mean, what's done is done and we can't back up. Since you're Sarah's lawyer, I figured you ought to know what's going on." I put my spoon down.

"Ben, it's simple enough, I guess I want you to tell me I did the right thing."

"You did the only thing you could," he said.

★ ★ ★

"Well, what should I do now?" I asked. "Sometimes I think I'll go crazy, trying not to hurt Sarah and still doing what I think I've got to do."

He nodded. "Let me think it over."

★ ★ ★

After we finished eating and stepped into the street, he said: "Will, if you get into a shooting scrape trying to keep the colonists off Box P range, you can make an outlaw out of yourself mighty fast. Thought about that?"

"Ben, have you any influence with the sheriff?"

"A little, I guess. Why?"

"We need a law man in the valley. I sure don't want it to be one of the settlers, so I figured you might talk the sheriff into appointing me."

"You're thinking off the top of your head," Sawhill said. "I can get the sheriff to give you the star, but you'd better be darned sure you want it. Are you?"

"Well, I thought I was."

★ ★ ★

"Take a good look first," he said. "You had no legal right to put that No Trespassing sign where it is. If some of Mathers' bunch settle on what you claim is Box P range, the law is on their side. If you attack them, you're breaking the law. On the other hand, if you go back toting a star you're obliged to take the settlers' side if they settle on your range."

★ ★ ★

We walked in silence for a long time. I could see nothing wrong with his reasoning. "I guess I don't want the star," I said finally. "I might just as well have stayed home."

★ ★ ★

"No, I'm glad I know all you've told me," he said. "Another thing, I can understand Sarah's feelings about John Mathers. He comes from a different world. Like she said, he stands for culture and good will. Could be she's in love with him."

"She says she'll never marry again until she can leave her wheel chair."

"Maybe she won't be bound to a wheel chair all her life. Her doctor says there's no physical reason she can't walk. She will someday if she wants to bad enough."

"Hogwash," I said. "Think she likes that wheel chair?"

★ ★ ★

"No, she doesn't like it." Sawhill said. "The trouble is, she doesn't think she can walk and the doctor hasn't been able to make her believe she can. It's got something to do with the shock when Pardee made her ride that horse and she got thrown."

"You know about that?"

"She told me at Christmas, and I had another talk with Doc when I got back. He dan't explain it, but he says he's read about cases like hers."

I said gloomily, "Looks to me like I'll be in jail by fall."

"You'd better take a good long look," he said. "Personally, I'm on your side, not Sarah's. If she has her way, she'll end up by losing everything she's got. I hated Joe Pardee, but he was as practical as the gun he used. Law is one thing. Practical justice in a particular situation is often entirely different. I grant that Mathers may be honest in what he's trying to do. On the other hand, you're right in saying he'll bring misery to a lot of people. Now then," Sawhill put a hand on my shoulder. "Don't get carried away by your beliefs, Will. Are you willing to risk going to jail to save the Box P?"

"I've backed up as far as I can," I said. "And there's the chance that Mathers will keep his word."

Sawhill dropped his hand. "You know better."

We stopped in front of the hotel. Ben said, "I've got to get back to my case." He held out his hand. "All I've got to say is, I'm glad you're rodding the Box P, not Dillingham."

"So am I," I said, and shook hands.

★ ★ ★

"Watch your back," Sawhill said, and turning, crossed the street to his office.

I did not return to the Box P until the next evening. Sarah was gone. When I asked, Maria, she said laconically, "She take ride with Dogbone." I walked around the yard, smoking and wondering if I should start looking for them.

Just as Maria beat the triangle for supper, I saw the buggy coming up the road. I brought Sarah's wheel chair from the house and waited beside it under the cottonwoods.

When the buggy stopped, I lifted Sarah from the seat and placed her in the chair. Sarah knew where I had been, but she didn't ask what I had done or if I had seen Ben Sawhill.

★ ★ ★

"I've been to see John Mathers," she said as if there was nothing unusual about such a visit. "They're making wonderful progress, Will. They have a few cabins up and some land plowed."

My blood began to pound in my head. I wanted to scold her, to say we were going to have a hard enough time without her making it harder. But she was the senior partner. I had no business telling her where she could go and whom she could see.

"Will." Sarah turned her head to look at me. "Nela invited both of us for Sunday dinner, but she said she didn't think you'd come because you're afraid of her."

"So she thinks I'm afraid of her," I said hotly. "Well, I'll show her. I'll go."

I spent the next week wondering why I had fallen into as simple a trap as that. But maybe I hadn't fallen. Maybe I just wanted an excuse to see her again.

"Let's get another thing straight. Are you courting Sarah just to make it easy for your people to get more land?" is a question with which Will is going to confront John Mathers. Continue "Gunlock" here Monday.

State's Largest Since 1940

Strawberry Crop Booms

LANSING (AP) — A bumper crop of strawberries, the biggest since 1940, is in store for Michigan this year, the state-federal crop reporting service said today.

★ ★ ★

Total production is estimated at 40,600,000 pounds, equal to 1,692,000 crates of 16 quarts each.

If good weather holds up, the agency said, peak production should come this week or next.

Major reasons listed for the big crop were a 4 per cent increase in strawberry acreage (now about 11,600 acres), an absence of damaging frost during the blossom period and generally favorable weather otherwise.

UP SLIGHTLY

Production of several commercial vegetables is slightly above or sightly below last year, the agency reported.

Cool damp weather during May brought downward revision in the estimated asparagus yield from 577,000 to 540,000 crates. Indicated acreage is 10,800 acres.

Yields are at the same level as last year, the report said, and quality is "excellent."

Michigan's early summer celery acreage is at 1,000 acres, or 100 acres less than last year. A drop in the yield from 625 to 575 crates per acre also is predicted.

Planting was earlier than usual this year, and cool, wet weather has delayed growth of the crop. Volume movement is not expected until the first week in July.

Head lettuce acreage is estimated at 1,500 acres, an increase of 100 acres over 1956. Unfavorable growing conditions in May cut the estimated yield to 143 crates per acre.

The first forecast of the summer lettuce production is placed by the crop reporting service at 12,251,000 crates, a two per cent boost over last year and 21 per cent above average.

Chinese scientists in Peking have invented a rice-planting machine to replace the hand planting which has employed millions of Chinese for thousands of years.

Dad Is Coming Into His Own

Sunday is Father's Day, really a youngster as time goes in our celebration of days. But it is having a healthy growth—especially in a commercial way.

★ ★ ★

'Twas not until comparatively recent years that anybody discovered that Dad is entitled to a day of his own. In many homes he really was the forgotten man.

They called him the bread winner, and thought that was recognition enough.

★ ★ ★

Yes, we recollect homes in which he was considered only as a necessary evil. Also homes in which he really was such — and didn't seem to care to have it otherwise.

Too often he passed the entire buck to mother in properly raising the children. Too often they held him in fear, rather than reverence. Too often he spent more of his spare time in the beer garden or blind pig than in his home. Too often his children spoke of him as "that man," and avoided him.

★ ★ ★

But times have changed, and perhaps the creation of Father's Day had something to do with it. Perhaps he felt this gave him an attention to which he honestly felt he was not entitled, and which he now would make an extra effort to merit.

Fathers now pal around more with their children than in former years. If the rise in juvenile delinquency frightened them into it, then it has done some good.

Most of them now realize that raising a family is more than bringing in a pay check, that it is not wholly a mother's job, but a 50-50 proposition.

★ ★ ★

Given a big boost by the organization of the National Father's Day Committee, which numbers the pick of a Who's Who on its roster, the third Sunday in June is gaining the prominence it deserves.

The theme for the day this year is "Integrity Starts in the Home," and it is pointed out that father is the head of that home, and that its integrity largely is up to him and the example he sets.

★ ★ ★

The principal plank in this year's Father's Day program is dedicated to building a permanently free democracy through wise parental influence of the young.

★ ★ ★

The official menu for the day starts with his favorite soup, followed by chicken, cranberry sauce, cake and all of the trimmings that the family knows father likes.

★ ★ ★

The Day's official flower is the red rose for the living and white rose for the deceased, and the official color is blue.

Anyway, let's give Dad a real holiday, whether he's entitled to it or not. If he isn't, it may be the stimulus to make a better man of him — and a better father.

Split in Arab World

Although Premier Nasser didn't plan it that way, the pro-Western countries of Saudi Arabia, Jordan and Iraq are emerging as the dominant group in the Arab world.

Differences between Nasser and King Hussein of Jordan have erupted into an open feud with Saudi Arabia and Iraq supporting Hussein. Premier Nasser's ambition abetted by Syria was to bring all Arab nations under Egyptian control.

★ ★ ★

Jordan's government claims that Egypt and Syria plotted to overthrow all the Arab kings as well as the pro-Western Lebanese government. King Hussein personally accused Russia of bribing Jordanian ministers to bring their country under Communist domination.

Fortunately Nasser has not succeeded in any of these things and now is discovering the price of playing around with the Kremlin. His much advertised trade agreements with the Soviet bloc are not working out as he had expected.

★ ★ ★

Reports from Cairo indicate that Russia's contracted wheat shipments, paid for in cash by Egypt, were late in arriving and of poor quality; shipments of crude oil contained so much sulphur that Egyptian refineries were damaged; on various industrial projects the Communist bloc had underbid all Western nations but now that it has the contracts, the price has been raised by as much as 40 per cent.

★ ★ ★

For these and other reasons Nasser's enthusiasm for Russia is cooling. He is showing signs of wanting to restore ties with the West. Britain already has unblocked a small part of Cairo's funds. But the bulk of its $300 million in London and $40 million in New York still is frozen.

The outlook is a lot better than it was six months ago but real peace is a long way off.

Court Philosophy

Decision Points Up Dem Interpretation of Law

By ROGER LANE

LANSING — Remember the campaign debate early this year when three Republican nominees and three Democrats were competing for as many State Supreme Court seats?

Quite a bit was said about the philosophy of the law as it would be applied by the opposing candidates, depending on who won.

This week, the Supreme Court handed down a decision that clearly exemplifies what this abstract talk was all about—reduced it to brass tacks terms in one area.

Involved was the Workmen's Compensation Law, which provides state-guaranteed awards to men and women who suffer injuries on the job.

★ ★ ★

A woman business machine operator had hurt her back while attempting to lift a heavy tray of cards.

NO QUESTION

If a crane had toppled on her, there would have been no question about eligibility for compensation.

★ ★ ★

In this case, however, eligibility turned on the question of whether her injury was an "accident."

In thousands of words, the justices disputed this seemingly simple proposition. By a 5 to 2 majority, they decided yes, it was an accident. They reasoned she didn't expect to have her back injured.

The three justices elected last April, all Democrats, were on the majority side. One of them did not actually take part in the decision, but a colleague told where he stood.

A couple of years ago, Justice Talbot Smith, who wrote the controlling opinion, wrote a similar one in another case, but he was outvoted and his position did not then prevail.

LOSS LIKELY

In other words, if the injured woman's case had come up for decision at that time she probably would have lost, instead of winning as she actually did.

★ ★ ★

Now all this is not to say that the three defeated Republican candidates would have taken the contrary view. No one can be sure.

Nor does it mean indisputably that the decision was a correct one. That depends on one's philosophy of the law. When told of the decision, a Republican attorney attending court on another matter scoffed, "Compulsory health insurance."

Nevertheless, the case illustrates what the campaign talk was about. And no doubt future illustrations are in store.

Days of All Faiths:

Feast of Trinity Hard to Explain

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday in the western part of Christendom is the Feast of the Trinity, a day in honor of a purely theological concept that has never been acceptably defined. There is no reason to suppose that we could explain the doctrine of the Trinity, when no one else in Christian history has ever been able to do more than come fairly close, but we can say that it is man's attempt to deal with the three ways in which he has encountered God. God, in His love, has revealed Himself as the Creator of mankind, the Redeemer and the Sanctifier—or, to put it in other but equally conventional terms, as the Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

What this means is that man sees God in the fact that the universe exists, in the person of Jesus of Nazareth, and in the daily presence of God in human affairs. This statement fails to explain the Trinity, just as all others have failed—but it does say that man has experienced God in three ways and needs some triple form of expression to talk about him.

It was late in Christian history—the tenth century—before it occurred to anyone to set up a festival in honor of so abstract a concept, and even then it took several more centuries for the feast to get into the Church's calendar. Started by Stephen, Bishop of Liege (Belgium), around 910, Trinity Sunday was quickly taken up in the Low Countries, Germany and England, but it was not until 1334 that it became a universal observance.

The Church now begins its longest season, the Trinity season, which continues until Advent—around December 1. The symbolism of this lengthy season refers to the long period of the Church's life under the guidance of the Holy Spirit until the final Advent of Christ, when time shall be no more.

Thursday, June 20 — When the Christian Church was very young, it almost had the festival of Corpus Christi (celebrated Thursday), but then it almost lost it. "Corpus Christi" is, of course, Latin for "the body of Christ" and the feast today is in honor of the Last Supper, in which the faithful receive the Lord's Body at the altar.

The logical time for a commemoration of this sacrament is the Thursday of Holy Week, the day on which it was instituted, and that was the day on which it was originally honored—away back in the early years. But the great drama and sorrow of the whole week gradually obscured this one feature, and it faded away in the general Holy Week observances.

INCREASE MATHER

The famous Mathers, Increase and Cotton—father and son—are in most American minds the symbols of fanatical, bluenosed Massachusetts Puritanism. No one will deny that they and their contemporaries held themselves under a stern self-discipline that would not appeal to 20th-century Americans, but old Increase, born June 21, 1639, must not have been as formidable as we picture him.

President of Harvard in 1685, he was sent as a sort of goodwill ambassador for the Massachusetts colony to England a few years later, and it is on record that he exerted so much charm there that he got everything he went after, mainly a new charter for the colony. So great was his friendship with the king that the monarch allowed Mather to choose the colony's next governor.

Acclaimed the most powerful man of his time in Massachusetts, Mather had many devoted followers and many equally devoted enemies. Social reformer, advocate of mass innoculation for smallpox, writer of more than 130 books, introducer of scientific courses at Harvard, Increase Mather was by no means the narrow-minded bigot an inaccurate history has portrayed him to be.

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Get With It! Don't Rock—Just Roll!

"Do you mean to tell me a person 60 or 65 years old can put his head on the floor and turn a somersault like a kid, without breaking his neck or something?' (Mrs. C. R. A.)

DR. BRADY

Answer — I roll six every morning and haven't broken anything yet. Mind you, I do not guarantee that you won't break your neck. I merely say everybody should roll 'em; and if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope, I'll send you the Somersaultauqua pamphlet which tells how and why.

"I lost six pounds the first week I tried your diet, but my wife borrowed your booklet and mislaid it. Please send me another. Also, have you anything on pruritus?" (J. M.)

Answer — I don't know which booklet or which diet. I have the following:

Booklet, Rules for Reducing.
Booklet, The 7 Keys to Vite.
Pamphlet, How to Lose Weight.
Pamphlet, Pruritus

For either booklet, send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Have never discontinued the belly breathing exercise since first reading your column many years ago. I think that is the reason I'm still alive." (M. B. G.)

★ ★ ★

Answer — Thank you, ma'am. Any textbook of physiology will tell you belly breathing boosts circulation. I believe it tends to prevent constriction of the coronary arterioles and so ward off impending angina. It helps if you know what and where the diaphram is and how it works; but anyway, send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for Little Lesson 21, How to Breathe.

"Thank you for the advice to apply castor oil every night to plantar's warts. It worked like magic." (L. DeB).

Answer — Plantar warts are warts on the sole of the foot. Application of a drop or two of castor oil every evening for a month may prove satisfactory for warts in any situation. If plantar warts persist, low dosage X-ray, radium, or surgical diathermy may be required.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Here's How to Hold Your Husband

Read my answer below to Mona's angry charges, for if you wives would spend half the time satisfying your husband's desire for erotic calories, that you no devote to the gastric variety, you'd rarely hear of divorces! Even though on the brink of a break-up, you can still nip divorce in the bud with the booklet below, for the odds favor wives who play their cards seductively!

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-312: Mona M., aged 32, is the irate wife mentioned yesterday who thinks I always pick on the wives.

★ ★ ★

If you have followed this clinical column in practical psychology for at least a full year, you will recall that I do not exempt the men from all blame. True enough, my emphasis is usually on the part the aggrieved wife can play to regain her husband's devotion.

CRANE

But that's because I usually must work through the wife, since the husband may refuse to apply for advice.

Besides, there are about 5,000,000 more unmarried adult women than men, so there aren't enough husbands to go around.

Women must thus fight harder to retain claim to their husbands.

Women are generally more self-sacrificial in trying to hold their home together so they can thus furnish a happier place for their children to live.

★ ★ ★

Like most marriage counsellors, I admit that wives are more open-minded in seeking expert outside advice, and they are more diligent in trying to make a success of their marriage, when they have the full facts.

Alas, those full facts have been concealed far too long, which is why your progressive editor offers you this frank educational column on social relations.

As a trained psychologist and psychiatrist, I try to make available to every reader, the proved facts for establishing happy marriages.

And I live what I write herein, for I am a very happily married man and father of five children. I'm no "braintruster" adviser or old bachelor who theorizes.

But I have outlined many faults of husbands such as the following:

FAULTS OF HUSBANDS

Many husbands are still tied to mamma's apron strings, so I have advised prospective brides to visit their future in-laws and be sure to get the fullest possible picture of their mate's background.

★ ★ ★

Some husbands are also excessively stingy with money. This may stem from their deep inferiority complex which makes them believe they cannot hold the undying devotion of a wife against the bidding of other men.

So such husbands hang on to the purse strings as a means of trying to keep wives in a suppliant position, thereby reassuring their wounded male ego.

Other men, after marriage, succumb to a belief they are sexually below par, so they also employ wealth as a symbol of male dominance.

Smart wives reassure such frightened mates in the erotic realm, after which those husbands may become quite generous with money.

★ ★ ★

Husbands also are chronic buck-passers. They tend to blame their wives for everything that goes wrong. Adam started this fad by passing the buck to Eve regarding the forbidden fruit in the Garden of Eden.

Men crave far more gastric calories than do women. But there is an even greater disparity in the erotic realm, yet many old fashioned wives refuse to admit this fact.

So they try to ration their mates in the erotic realm and thus cause the men to become sarcastic, fault-finding and cruel even to the innocent children.

Feed your mate plenty of gastric and erotic calories. Then he'll purr like a housecat and be far more gentle with the children, as well as yourself.

★ ★ ★

After the age of 45, men often get panicky about their masculine vigor and demonstrate what I have long termed the Ponce de Leon Complex.

They start chasing around after younger, more seductive females, largely to reinflate their waning vigor. Smart wives can stop this rapidly.

Just send for the booklet "How to Prevent Impotence in Men," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. It's cheap insurance against divorce.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Asks About Organization to Help Wayward Girls

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I read an interesting article about "Big Brothers." This is an organization to help boys, and it's a fine thing. But I'd like to know if there is a similar organization for girls. I've never heard of one, but girls need sisters as much as boys need brothers.

Maybe some of the girls who get into trouble could have avoided it if they had had someone who was understanding, who would teach them sewing and cooking, who would just talk to them. Sometimes mothers are too busy or too close to the problem to be understanding.

Don't you think a group like this for girls would be a good thing?

'What's Solution to Saucer Topic?'

The British have a "flying saucer" organization that is sizeable and consequential. They call it "U. F. O." (Unidentified Flying Objects).

These same mysterious "saucers" have been seen there often. The government officially denies their existence, but some things stand unexplained. Why can't this matter be solved for once and all?

'Graham Must Make Money'

Why begrudge Billy Graham whatever he gets? He has to compete in the open market like the rest of us. The public can go or stay away. If he has what they want, more power to him. It's a lot better to see a man of the cloth "packing them in" than an extra muscled home run hitter.

I've read different opinions on Billy Graham. Every Christian understands it takes money to build and maintain a church, regardless of its size.

'Expenses Are Too High Now'

Why did Rochester have to buy more land to build the high school? We're already paying high taxes, and the children have to pay for lockers, examination papers and books after seventh grade. Why send them to public school? Avondale is in Avon Township, too, but they don't have these extra expenses.

Rochester Mother

Reader Discusses Several Topics

So Oakland County politicians want another judge. Where is he going to hide? Anyone spending much time around the courthouse knows the great majority of time two court rooms can barely keep busy.

As for shortage of classrooms in schools, what benefit are cooking and sewing and manual training classes? My girls cooked only twice the whole semester—once they boiled eggs and I can't even remember what the other was. My boy made a bird house in manual training. Think of the money wasted on these teachers, plus the extra students these large rooms would accommodate without taxing us millions more.

The hospital is the same. Many people don't need to go to the hospital and wouldn't if they didn't have hospitalization.

I don't object to Maestro Presley or seeing his name in print, but I wish someone would bring Liberace to Pontiac instead of Ted Williams. Taking the pigeons out of Pontiac would be like taking the word Zoo out of the Bronx.

Vacation Bible Classes Offer 'Good' Time for Youth

Close to a score of churches will open two-week sessions of daily vacation Bible classes early Monday morning. But the educational emphasis will be on the fourth "R" — religion — served to the young people in the palatable form of recreation.

Crafts, artwork, games and stories — all aimed at grounding the students in the basic tenets of Christianity, increasing their faith and widening their spiritual horizons — will spark the classes.

The sessions are open to all children, with a special invitation extended to youngsters who have made no church affiliations. Some of those scheduled follow:

More than 100 boys and girls dressed in costumes of the 1800's paraded in pony carts, hay wagons, old cars, on horseback and bicycles this morning in the annual Vacation Daily Bible School Parade of Five Points Community Church.

The procession of youngsters marched or rode in the gay procession from the church at 3411 Walton Blvd up one street and down another in the neighborhood area led by the Oakland County Sheriff's car.

Baptists Call for Probe of 'Spiritual Enigmas'

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Baptist publication, Missions, has called on 55 denominations to join in an intensive investigation of "spiritual enigmas" of the age — similar to the work of scientists of 55 nations on natural enigmas during the International Geophysical Year.

"We might find that the basic concerns of man are not physical, but spiritual, and that his future on this planet depends not so much on his knowledge of science as on his understanding of himself and his fellow-men," says the Rev. Dr. John C. Slemp, editor of the Baptist organ.

Anglican Bishop Will Visit U. S.

Rt. Rev. Richard Reeves Opposes Segregation of South Africa

NEW YORK — The Rt. Rev. Richard Ambrose Reeves, Anglican Bishop of Johannesburg, South Africa, will visit the United States from June 25 to July 30.

The announcement was made here by the Rev. Canon Albert J. du Bois, executive director of the Episcopal American Church Union, who will be hosts to the Anglican Bishop.

Dr. Reeves has vigorously opposed the racial segregation policy of the South African government.

In denouncing a proposed law that would ban interracial worship, he recently stated that in conscience he would be obliged to disregard it should it be enacted.

Last February, he initiated a "Campaign for Justice" against th implementation of the Group Areas Act which provides for the segregation of South Africa's racial groups in separate zones.

He declared that implementation of the act constituted "nothing less than a process of despoilation and dispossession by proclamation."

Local Girl to Speak at Macedonia Baptist

Gloria Williams of the youth group will speak at the 8 o'clock service Sunday evening in Macedonia Baptist Church.

For 15 years, she has served on the Wolverine State Congress Youth Planning Commission. A former president of the Metropolitan District Youth, she is now a director of the comission.

Miss Williams works with her pastor, the Rev. L. R. Miner, also assisting on the welcoming and courtesy committee.

Fellowships for Clergy

A grant of $10,000 to provide fellowships for theological students and clergymen who wish to become chaplains in mental hospitals has been made by the Smith, Kline National Academy of Religion and Mental Health. The Academy, founded in 1954, serves as consultant to hospitals, medical schools and mental health groups.

Program Slated Sunday

At 7:30 p.m. Sunday, the Lemon Gospel Singers will present a musical program in St. John Methodist Church. The Rev. Martin L. Billinger is the pastor.

Confident Living

Five Minutes of Exercise, Then Same for Prayer

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

If you own a piano, you know that from time to time you must have the piano tuner in. He twangs the strings, finds some lifeless because of the loss of tension, and so has to adjust them to bring them back to pitch or tone.

I was reminded of this when I was riding on a plane recently next to a man who is in charge of the physical education of thousands of young men in our Navy. He told me about a conversation he'd had with the crew coach of one of our big universities. The coach was complaining about the material available to his crews now as compared to thirty years ago.

DR. PEALE

"They just haven't got the legs," he said. "Years ago, boys had to walk to school, and ran errands, and did some hard muscle-forming work. Now their mothers drive them back and forth, or they go on a school bus, and they are shielded from work as much as possible. As a result, they don't have as much muscle tone, for muscle tone is developed only by constant use of the muscles."

MENTAL TONE, TOO

But muscle tone is only one kind of tone. We need mental tone as well. Our reading today is too often limited to pictures and digests; we get too much of our news sitting indolently in front of a television set. We need some really tough mental exercise to develop mental tone.

The other day I attended a meeting of ministers where we actually spent six hours exploring some very difficult questions. The man who drove me back to my hotel explained, "My but I'm tired! We've been doing nothing but thinking for six hours!"

And I must admit that I too was so tired I had to lie down for half an hour when I got to my room. But, after that thirty minutes' rest, I felt positively exhilerated; I had put tone back into my mind.

And, last but not least, there is spiritual tone. You must have spiritual tone to achieve the best in mental and physical tone.

JUST 5 MINUTES—

My good friend, Dr. Z. Taylor Bercovitz, a well known doctor in New York City, says, "In order to have good tone, you must get in tune." And how does he recommend that you go about this? This doctor advises: "Five minutes on the rowing machine — and five minutes on your knees. The two together will tune you up and give you improved tone for vital living."

★ ★ ★

There is a technique of spiritual toning up suggested in the New Testament. Jesus told a man born blind to go wash in the pool of Siloam. The man did and came out seeing. I can't send you to any specific pool, but a spiritual mind washing will do much toward toning up your whole being.

Conceive of yourself as being washed in the spiritual force which cleanses you of everything that takes the lift out of life.

Think of this force as flushing through your physical system, through your mind and through your soul to cleanse you of these physical, mental and spiritual flaws which destroy your tone — such enervating enemies of vitality as worry, resentment, and super self-emphasis. Then life is really good. To have lasting personality tone, we must be in tune spiritually.

★ ★ ★

Actually, do you realize what you are? You are literally the temple of God. That is to say that God actually resides in you. He has given your body, an incomparable instrument which houses its physical, mental and spiritual tone and vibrancy, you can use your remarkable mind and your undying soul. And, if you maintain it well all the days of your life.

And those days are likely to be "long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

Ex-Headhunters Using Hospital

New Station Founded by Methodist Medics Has Treated Over 800

More than 800 patients have been treated at the new Christ Hospital in Sarawak, Borneo, since February, when it was opened by an international, interracial Methodist medical team.

The 24-bed hospital, now housed in a temporary building, is to be the center of a traveling medical ministry to the ex-headhunting Ibans who live along the banks of the Rajang River.

★ ★ ★

It will be the first medical program intended primarily for the Ibans, who are becoming Christians in increasing numbers.

Dr. Harold Brewster, Montclair, N.J., one of three Methodist doctors pioneering in the new program, reported recently that more than 2,000 visits have been made to the new out-patient clinic and that major surgery has been performed in an improvised operating room.

He reports that "a number of people have been restored to their families who would have died had we not been here to give thm the care which they needed."

★ ★ ★

Working with Dr. Brewster are his wife who is a trained nurse, two Chinese doctors, an American pharmacist and nurses from Malaya and Sumatra.

Latest additions to the international team are two nurses from the Philippines, one of them a graduate of the Mary Johnston Hospital (Methodist) in Manila with special training in the United States.

Concert Scheduled Sunday Evening

Elizabeth Warrilow, a member of the Central Methodist Choir, will be heard in a concert of sacred music at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, Prospect and South Paddock streets.

She is a graduate of Pontiac High School and received her musical training in Naperville, Ill.

Following the program, a tea will follow. The concert is sponsored by the Women's Society of World Service with Mrs. Harvey Farr, chairman. Mrs. Emil Greenwald is president of the group.

Louisville Unit Offers Aid to Rebellious Children

Confused, rebellious children who think kindness is a "gimmick" will have trained sponsors and friends in Louisville, Ky., from now on.

Through a new program set up by the recently-formed Committee on Institutions in the Louisville Area Council of Churches, sponsors selected by its Youth Sponsorship Committee have joined in a "movement of love to help youth," Edgar C. Price declared. Mr. Price is chairman of the Council's Juvenile Court Committee.

Objectives of the program, Mr. Price said, include leading youths in a Christian way of life, aiding the Juvenile Court with "problem children," encouraging the constructive use of leisure time and helping young people prepare for and find jobs.

At the committee's first workshop for sponsors in April, twelve church laymen received instruction and advice from city parole and probation officers.

★ ★ ★

"The screening and training of sponsors can't be too strongly stressed," Mr. Price said, in announcing that similar workshops are being scheduled for future sponsors selected by the Youth Sponsorship Committees of their local churches.

Another of the committee's projects is a Cottage Sponsorship plan for the Ormsby Children's Village near Louisville "where most of the children have never known adults who care a thing about what they do."

Five Louisville churches are now sponsoring six cottages at the village. Committee members organize activities, hold birthday parties and make personal friends with the 16 to 20 children in each sponsored cottage.

"Our long-range goal," declared Mr. Price, "is to keep these kids out of prison and help them make a contribution in life."

★ ★ ★

At the meeting of the Presbytery of Detroit on Tuesday, the pastor and William Duckwitz, an elder, will represent the Orchard Lake Church.

The Rev. Mr. Auchard will attend and lead a seminar on "Basic Presbyterian Beliefs" at the annual meeting of the Michigan Synodical Society at Alma College Thursday.

Women of the 250 churches of the Synod of Michigan attend these sessions.

All departments of the church will be represented at an All Church Planning Conference from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The first hour will be devoted to evaluation of the total church program and the second hour will be spent in outlining the church calendar for the period from September 1957 to June 1958.

Waterford Township Pastor at Assembly

Pastor W. J. Teeuwissen Jr., of the United Presbyterian Church in Waterford Township, left Wednesday to attend the 99th meeting of the General Assembly, which is being held through Monday on the campus of Muskingum College, New Concord, Ohio.

Whether or not to confirm the denomination's vote on the proposed plan of union with the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., will be of primary importance on the agenda.

In the absence of the Rev. Mr. Teeuwissen, the guest preacher will be Rev. H. B. Eller, associate pastor of the Wallace Memorial United Presbyterian Church, Washington, D. C.

During the same week, Mrs. W. J. Teeuwissen will be attending the national meeting of the Women's General Missionary Society of the church at Indianapolis, Indiana. Mrs. Teeuwissen is second vice president of this group.

Bolivian Envoy Lauds American Mission Schools

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ambassador from Bolivia to the United States has praised American mission schools in his country for producing democratic leaders.

The Hon. Victor Andrade told a recent meeting of Protestant mission leaders gathered at the annual dinner of the Committee on Cooperation in Latin America:

★ ★ ★

"Against an often turbulent political background, the steady influence of the American mission schools in my country has served to awaken the social consciousness of the people."

He said the American Institute in La Paz, Bolivia, has been the main source of his country's democratic leaders. Their Christian training, he said, was largely responsible for many of the reforms undertaken in the "new Bolivia."

Indian Heads Seminary

Leonard Theological College, Jubbulpore, India, the only Methodist seminary in India, Pakistan and Nepal, has its first Indian principal. He is the Rev. Dr. George S. Sahai, former pastor of the Central Methodist Church, Lucknow, and succeeds the Rev. Marvin H. Harper, missionary from Atlanta, Ga.

Mission Priests Sought

ST. LOUIS (AP) — South America will be lost to the Roman Catholic Church unless more priests are made available for mission work there, says Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter of St. Louis.

Archbishop Ritter, who made a nine-day flying trip to South America, said "it has now been demonstrated that it is practical for U.S. diocesan priests to serve as missionaries in South America" —and he hopes more dioceses will send priests there.

Flat Iron Can Become Creative Tool

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I'm not a creative type," I heard a woman say the other day. "If I could only write or paint or something . . . "

★ ★ ★

Her remark reminded me of something Emerson once said:

"Anything man can do can be done creatively." I couldn't help wondering why she, and so many of us, put a gulf between creative work and ordinary work which does not exist.

Take, for example, this letter from a woman in Michigan:

"I have been urged by many of my friends to write to you about my 'job.'

"As the mother of two small girls, I thought I was kept pretty busy, until I was offered a job when my youngest was 4 years old.

GIRLS SCHOOL

"We live near an exclusive girls' school that has an enrollment of several hundred. Less than a hundred live in. Their laundry had always been done at the school, but the directors were very eager to try something new.

★ ★ ★

"I was offered the job of laundering the girls' blouses.

"Since I had never worked before. I was a little hesitant at first; but, because of my reputation for ironing beautifully—I've had dozens of little girls' dresses to practice on — I decided to try it. My husband invested in an electric dryer and I was in business.

"The blouses are picked up on Monday night and delivered on Friday. I usually work on them about five or six hours a day, and when I get weary, I rest.

★ ★ ★

"I start work about the middle of September and am through by the first of June. During this time I have three vacations: Thanksgiving, Christmas and spring.

NICHE IN LIFE

"I have friends who say they would rather dig ditches than stand at an ironing board all day. However, it has been said that everyone has his niche in life and I guess mine is at an ironing board. I seem to relax completely when I iron.

"I'm every bit as proud of a beautifully ironed blouse as a secretary is of a well-typed letter."

★ ★ ★

She goes on to say that her husband has a good job and she doesn't need the money — although, of course, it comes in handy.

She is busy with Girl Scouts and other community affairs and still has time to play with her daughters.

Incidentally, her letter is well-typed, so she could probably have an office job if she wanted it. But to her, ironing is a beautifully creative job!

★ ★ ★

Her letter ends with this remark.:

"I hope my letter will be an incentive to other young mothers who would like to earn extra money but who don't want to leave home to do it. I have found my work very rewarding and highly recommend it."

Why Not Join in Fun of Bicycling?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Recently I called your attention to the value and fun of bicycle riding. The bicycle has had such a turbulent and interesting history that I think you might like to hear about it.

★ ★ ★

Did you know that May 19 was the anniversary of the first bicycle built in the United States and that there are more than 24 million cyclists in this country, with the number on the upgrade?

In the gay 90s the bicycle was a terrific fad. In spite of the fact that they were very expensive at that time, the streets were filled with bicyclists going to and from work, and on holidays and weekends the country roads and parks were cluttered with them. Policemen mounted on their cycles chased speeders who were going more than 10 miles an hour!

These preceded the modern hot-rodders just as several bicycle-mounted units in the Army were forerunners of mechanized troops. Most cities had their cycle clubs.

★ ★ ★

Then the automobile appeared on the scene and the bicycle industry took an awful beating. Later cycles became cheaper and there was a boom in the children's market.

Every girl, and especially every boy, awaited with impatience the day when the first bicycle would appear under the Christmas tree or as a birthday gift. During this period the number of adult riders decreased dramatically.

HEALTH MEASURE

During the later 30s the pendulum began to swing the other way. Riding was recommended as a good health measure and figure improver and parents began to borrow their children's cycles or bought one of their own. Pedal-pushing family excursions became very popular.

★ ★ ★

When World War II arrived production was cut back and the "Victory" models went to war workers. Because of gas rationing these became an important means of transportation. At some plants one could see literally thousands of bicycles parked outside.

Now, as you know, the bicycle is here to stay. It is interesting to note that this is one of the very few articles manufactured in the United States which is less expensive today than it was 60 years ago.

So, put on your pedal pushers and enjoy the outdoors this hot season!

The bicycle is here to stay. AND it's less expensive than it was 60 years ago. So, put on your pedal pushers and enjoy the outdoors this hot season!

Stepstools New

New designing in stepstools makes for working comfort, with seats set somewhat lower than in older models. And vinyl plastic upholstery provides both color and quick cleanliness. The entire stool can be swabbed with a sudsy cloth or sponge as often as need be.

School Groups Hold Luncheon at Hawthorne

The executive board and school staff of Weaver and Hawthorne schools had a luncheon Thursday at Hawthorne School in the multi-purpose room.

★ ★ ★

Four teachers leaving Hawthorne School and the Pontiac area were presented with farewell gifts. Those honored were Mrs. W. C. Rix, Mrs. Carol Sharp, Mrs. Charles Baty, and Mrs. Douglas Davidson.

Mrs. Rix delivered a farewell speech, Mrs. John Guenther and Mrs. Melvin Norberg received past presidents' pins. Mrs. John Talbot received a president's pin.

★ ★ ★

The luncheon was prepared and served by Mrs. Marshall Vallad, Mrs. Martin Butler, Mrs. Burtil Benson, Mrs. Rita Silvis, Mrs. William Lawrence, Mrs. Melvin Norberg, and Mrs. Elmer Miller.

Manning-McGuire Nuptials Solemnized

Jane Ellen McGuire chose a pure silk gown accented with Alencon lace for her wedding this morning to Gerald Riordan Manning.

Two hundred guests attended the 11 o'clock ceremony at St. Vincent de Paul Church. The Rev. Fabian K. Weber officiated.

Jane is the daughter of Mrs. James H. McGuire of Golf drive and the late James H. McGuire of Golf drive. Gerald's parents are Adm. and Mrs. John J. Manning (U.S.N. Ret.) of Washington, D. C.

The V neckline of the fitted bodice was accented with Alencon lace edging which was repeated in the skirt. The bouffant skirt extended into a chapel sweep, and was fashioned with a semi-bustle.

A headpiece of Alencon lace studded with seed pearls secured the bride's veil of scalloped illusion, and her jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried an arrangement of Amazon lilies and stephanotis.

SISTER TAKES PART

Anne M. Manning of Washington, D. C., sister of the bridegroom, served as honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Mary Jo Kitson of Detroit, Mrs. Jerome E. Martin and Mrs. Harry E. Watts of Monroe.

They wore identical gowns of white nylon with fitted bodice and ballerina-length skirts, accordion pleated. Nile green cummerbunds with back streamers extending to the hemline were features of their gowns.

The bridal attendants carried arrangements of yellow daisies and ivy.

Hollywood Headlines

Jean Seberg Undecided About Merits of Filmland

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jean Seberg, 18, already a star in her first movie, has taken her first look at Hollywood, but there's still no decision on how she likes the town.

★ ★ ★

"I'm only here for two days," commented the Marshalltown, Iowa, beauty over breakfast at her hotel.

"About my only impression of Hollywood has been from the inside of a cocktail party. And I'd hate to judge a town from a cocktail party."

If she did, the decision might be negative. The party was a reception in her honor and she had to receive hundreds of guests with poise and charm for over three hours. It's a tough job for a teenager.

But she carried it off well. Much better than some of her guests, in fact. One asked her a question to deliberately shock her (he did).

Another asked her a mundane question and snapped at her reply: "That's a cliche, and I hate cliches; I like people to be natural."

AN IOWA ANNA

Commented Jean: "I guess he was expecting me to explode, like an Iowa Anna Magnani. I did snap back at him, and I guess he liked it."

★ ★ ★

I asked Jean if she would like to settle here, and her answer will be a blow to the smogbound Chamber of Commerce.

"I don't know," she said. "I did fall in love with San Francisco, and it wouldn't be bad living here, knowing that San Francisco was so near."

Otto Preminger gave her the best kind of backing after choosing her from the ranks of unknowns to play the lead in "Saint Joan."

From here she leaves for New York, London and then France, where she'll star for Preminger in "Bonjour Tristesse" with Deborah Kerr and David Niven.

Blind Law Student to Graduate U. of M.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Nothing is noticeably different about John L. Wilson of Hartville, Ohio, who will graduate from the University of Michigan law school today.

For three years, Wilson has attended classes and some of his professors did not even know that Wilson is totally blind.

"I didn't even realize he was blind until he came up at the end of the course, told me so and asked if he could take his final examination on a typewriter," said one professor.

★ ★ ★

Wilson took the regular work load and will graduate in the upper fifth of his class.

He studied with the aid of readers who read his assignments to him. In class, Wilson took notes in Braille.

New Top Executive

NEW YORK (AP)—Reform Judaism in America has a new top executive.

For the first time in its 84-year history, the Union of American Hebrew Congregations has added a second-in-command to its administrative leadership.

The union, central body of the reform branch of Judaism, named Rabbi Jay Kaufman as vice president, to serve along with Dr. Maurice N. Eisendrath, president of the body.

"Reform Judaism's continuing step urgently necessary," said Judge Solomon Elsner, of Hartford, Conn., chairman of the union's board, "and now gives this great religious movement another man of unusual vision and skill to share in its executive and spiritual leadership."

Jack's Out of the Firing Pan Into Choice Spots

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"You're very big now with the quiz shows, Jack— it must be quite a satisfaction considering that you got fired from 'The Big Surprise'."

A producer said I didn't have the right personality for quiz shows. Naturally, I dislike him very much. But I guess if he hadn't fired me I'd never have done '21'."

JACK BARRY

★ ★ ★

"How did it happen?"

JACK: "I read in the papers I'd been fired and three hours later I got my notice! Mike Wallace took it over and then it went off. It never was a sound show—they were blaming me for its inadequacies."

"What about next year now?"

JACK: "We'll have four shows—with a new daytime show, five. Listen, if you know any smart women, send them over to try out to be contestants. Getting women contestants is tough."

"Aren't quiz shows about finished?"

JACK: "Not at all! The money race is over—the amount is relatively insignificant because whether you get $50,000 or $300,000, it's all the same after taxes. What's important is the game."

★ ★ ★

"Can you put your finger on the turning point in your life?"

JACK: "Yes, I was on the road lugging a line of handkerchiefs put out by my father's company. I read where NBC was giving a radio course. That was 1943 and I was in Columbus. I said to hell with the handkerchief business, went to Northwestern to take the six-week course, and my first job was in Trenton. The first guy I saw had a big cigar—Ernie Kovacs."

"Was he off-beat then, too?"

JACK: "Off-beat! We had the late-night disc jockey show. One night he said, 'Ladies and gentlemen, there'll be 15 minutes of silence while we go out for coffee.' We did, too. He was fired many times."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

When Eddie Bracken fluffed on "Masquerade Party" and called Adm. Bull Halsey "General," Pres. Eisenhower wrote: "Dear Bull, I'm interested in hearing about your new rank" . . . Joe DiMaggio's off to Rome; he has an audience with the Pope.

★ ★ ★

Orson Welles is peeved about Peter Ustinov (of "Romanoff and Juliet") being tabbed "the British Orson Welles"; doesn't like him . . . Calypso's waning; some top acts are being offered to cafes for half the salary they got two months ago.

Tackle Problem of Teaching Local Government

Pontiac Schools Create Own Texts

By HAROLD S. COHEN

COHEN

What do you do when you want to teach a subject on which there are no adequate textbooks and the teachers themselves are not too well versed in the details?

That is a problem confronting many school districts in curriculum planning when it comes to local government.

One answer, pioneered by the Pontiac school system, is to create your own texts. But doing this requires more time than any teacher can give on top of a teaching load.

So in Pontiac, two teachers were pulled off their classroom assignments in January and given the current semester to come up with a uniform curriculum for social studies in the junior high schools, with the necessary texts and references to make the teaching as uniform and comprehensive as possible.

Mrs. Helen Jessie, of Eastern, and Sydney Jones, of Lincoln, drew the assignments and are now winding up their project.

The pair in consultation with other teachers, divided their task into four problems and came up with an answer to each.

FLEXIBLE OUTLINE

They have produced a flexible outline of how American history and civics should be taught in the eighth and ninth grades.

Under a recently-installed system, students study history through the eighth grade and the first 13 weeks of the 9-B. The balance of the ninth grade is spent on government (civics).

The two researchers came up with a recommended list of books to be placed in each social studies classroom, with references to the pages on which certain topics appear.

★ ★ ★

They were especially concerned with modern American history, from 1920 through the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

"There is very little text material available in any one book on this period," Jones commented, "so we have had to refer the teachers to a number of works."

"And when we came to county and city government," Mrs. Jessie added, "we found there was nothing available, so we wrote our own."

PAMPHLETS PREPARED

Taking a step often associated only with large universities, the pair have prepared pamphlets on Oakland County and the city of Pontiac's government and history which will be printed by the Board of Education for use by students and teachers.

They point out that many local teachers are not from this county and have received no special training at the universities on either the county or Pontiac.

To secure the necessary material, they personally contacted all the county officials and queried them on the nature of their jobs.

They also saw the city manager, who asked each department head to write an article on his work and his department.

These were checked for accuracy and put into simple form to make it understandable for the youngsters. Both booklets will be in use next fall in the Pontiac schools.

The actual drafting of the county booklet was done by a visiting teacher, Mary Green, descendent of a pioneer Oakland family.

★ ★ ★

Sketches, charts and maps enliven the texts.

SURVEYED OTHER DISTRICTS

"Before we got started," Mrs. Jessie noted, "we wrote to other school districts to see what they were doing and we surveyed all published material.

"We found that only in Denver, Colo., was any really outstanding effort being made to prepare local material of this nature."

As far as Mrs. Jessie and Jones know, Pontiac is Michigan's pioneer in teaching local government from authentic and original sources.

Red Plays Straight Man

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

The "straight man" in the amazing deplomatic act being put on these days by Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev is a goateed "Old Bolshevik" whose career has ranged from secret police agent to businessman and from banker to general.

★ ★ ★

He is Nikolai Alexandrovich Bulganin, who holds the lofty title of Russia's premier but whose real job seems to be to provide Khrushchev with some amiable companionship during his journeys in and out of the Soviet Union.

Bulganin undoubtedly wields power inside the Kremlin, but it is obviously of a limited nature and subject to Khrushchev's will.

This arrangement seems to be quite satisfactory to Bulganin, who has long evidenced three characteristics which apparently are standing him in good stead these days.

First, he has great administrative ability, which he is getting a chance to exercise. Second, he is quite ruthless, which never hindered any Communist leader. And third, he has the life-saving knack of getting along with the "right" people, which definitely means Khrushchev.

Bulganin joined the Bolshevik movement in 1917 and served his apprenticeship as a Communist with the ill-famed cheka, the predecessor to Stalin's M.V.D.

★ ★ ★

By 1927, he had become director of the Moscow electricity station, and a decade later was firmly entrenched among Soviet leaders. He was assigned to the army during World War II, but was a political rather than a military general.

★ ★ ★

His job was to make sure that the Red troops remained loyal to the Communist Party and to see to it that military operations jibed with political policy.

Rapid Transit Group Eyes Traffic Congestion

DETROIT (AP)—A plan aimed at easing Detroit's traffic congestion problem is under study by the Rapid Transit Commission.

It calls for a 54-mile monorail network on six main streets to be constructed at a cost of $173,000,000.

John L. Perentesis, commission director, revealed the plan yesterday but said it was subject to change before being reported to Mayor Albert E. Cobo and the City Council. He said the plan envisioned integration with the present bus lines; 20 parking lots to hold 10,000 autos and 50 passenger stations along the lines.

To the Folks at Home

Perhaps one of the best ways to make an easy dollar is to insert two or three lines in the classified section of any newspaper throughout the country offering housewives an easy chance to make money at home.

Housewives, shut-ins and others who have some extra time and are receptive to possibilities of part time work that they can do in their own homes are the most often fooled by these phony advertisements which read: "Earn money at home, our instructions will tell you how, send for free details." After sending the required money, prospective homeworkers learn that all they get for their money is a set of instructions, materials and equipment.

Few homework offers ever provide any real employment with pay. Some are rough on people who can least afford it; the widow, the shut-ins, the handicapped grasping after a means of self support.

Remember, don't be too fast to send money to unknown firms or individuals without making a reasonable investigation on the firm or project.

GUEST ROOM — Rose and brown are combined prettily in the guest room. The bedspread is brown quilted taffeta with a striped taffeta dust ruffle below. This room has corner windows which allow guests a delightful view. Walls are painted pink. All bedrooms have natural finished oak floors.

HUGE KITCHEN — Mrs. Dunn has ample space in which to cook. One end of this huge room is the dining room, while this end is the kitchen. Look at all her cupboard space! She has used black iron trivets as wall decorations around the window instead of curtains. Then she filled the window sills with green plants. In the far corner of the work counter at the right is the antique jar used to store flour. Walls here are pink. The floor has a lined pattern of grays and beiges.

Your Neighbor's House

Gerald Dunns Build Frame House on Hilltop in Lakeville

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

It was our first trip to Lakeville and we got thoroughly lost. But Mrs. Gerald Dunn was waiting for us in her hilltop home. From most of the windows there is a glorious view of hills and valleys and just a glimpse of two lakes in the distance. When the trees are leafless, the lakes are more evident.

The Dunns have been Lakeville residents for fifteen or twenty years. Until their new home was built, they lived down in the valley. Finally, they bought forty acres of land, found a stock plan that suited them and had Louis Hauxwell of Oxford build the house. Mr. Dunn did some of the work and both husband and wife did the painting.

The house is a one story white frame one. On the Drahner road side there is an attached two-car garage. At the front of the house there is a short yard with a silver gazing ball. The rest of the land slopes downward to the highway.

The Dunns wanted a house with a front hall and access to all the rooms without going through one to get to another. They have three outside entrances; one "in back"; the front door and a third one into the garage. The house has a full basement with stairs going down from the garage.

Everything in the living room is subordinated to the view from the picture windows. Beige floor length draperies with coral and black design can be drawn across the windows, but are usually pulled far to each side.

The floor is covered with a taupe rug. Walls are green; the ceiling is white. All woodwork is birch, finished in natural shade.

Greens and reds are the dominant colors in the furniture upholstery. The lamp tables and the coffee table are blonde wood with brass-bound edges and black legs. Lamps are brass. Two of the chairs are platform rockers. Anyone who has ever relaxed in one of these chairs knows how comfortable it is.

On the short wall next to the dining room there is a small spinet piano with a mirror above it. This reflects not only the room but also the out-of-doors. Another mirror over the red sofa also repeats the outside scene.

The dining room and kitchen are a room together, running the entire depth of the house. Only the dining room end is visible from the living room. Here a plastic topped table is set in front of three large windows.

Instead of curtains, Mrs. Dunn has fastened an assortment of small black trivets around the window frame. The floor is covered with linoleum in a squared design combining grays and beiges.

Next to the table a birch china cupboard is built into the wall. This was Mr. Dunn's idea, to have the cupboard flush with the wall and extend out over the basement stairway. Glass sliding doors protect the top part. The bottom part has closed cupboards and drawers.

On the wall there are two interesting aerial photos of Lakeville and the surrounding territory. More trivets help decorate the windows above the double sink.

Mrs. Dunn's kitchen cupboards are built in an L-shaped unit around two walls. All are painted white. Counter tops and splash boards are gray marbleized plastic. Walls in the whole room are pink.

On top of the refrigerator Mrs. Dunn has an antique pitcher collection. Matching several of these pitchers is a large covered jar which she uses for flour. (No, it never was what you are thinking — the top edge is scalloped!) Anyway, it has a pretty pattern of violet bouquets with a pink border.

There are three bedrooms in the Dunn house, one of which is used as a den. All the bedrooms have polished oak floors. In the den draperies are gold against sandalwood walls.

This is the TV room too. There is a bed-sofa covered in gold, beige and brown upholstery. Waiting for the grandchildren to come are two tiny Mexican chairs.

The master bedroom has pale blue walls. Scatter rugs are blue; curtains are off-white draw draperies. With the exception of a small four-drawer walnut chest the furniture is all modern limed oak.

On the bed there is a white taffeta spread with a painted rose design. The top is quilted. Above the bed is an interesting series of pictures. The Dunns' only children are twin daughters. The bedroom pictures show the girls at various stages of their life, from babyhood through adolescence.

In the guest room there is walnut furniture. Walls are pink. Draperies are rosy beige. An iridescent brown quilted spread repeats the brown and rose combination. The dust ruffle is multicolored striped taffeta.

The bathroom is yellow, black and white. The floor is a yellow spattered linoleum. Black tile and yellow paint are on the walls. Fixtures are white. Towels are white with a footprint design in black.

Instead of a clothes chute which would have taken away some needed closet space, there is a trap door for laundry. The bottom drawer lifts up to allow clothes to be pushed through the floor opening. This is a trick any handy man could copy.

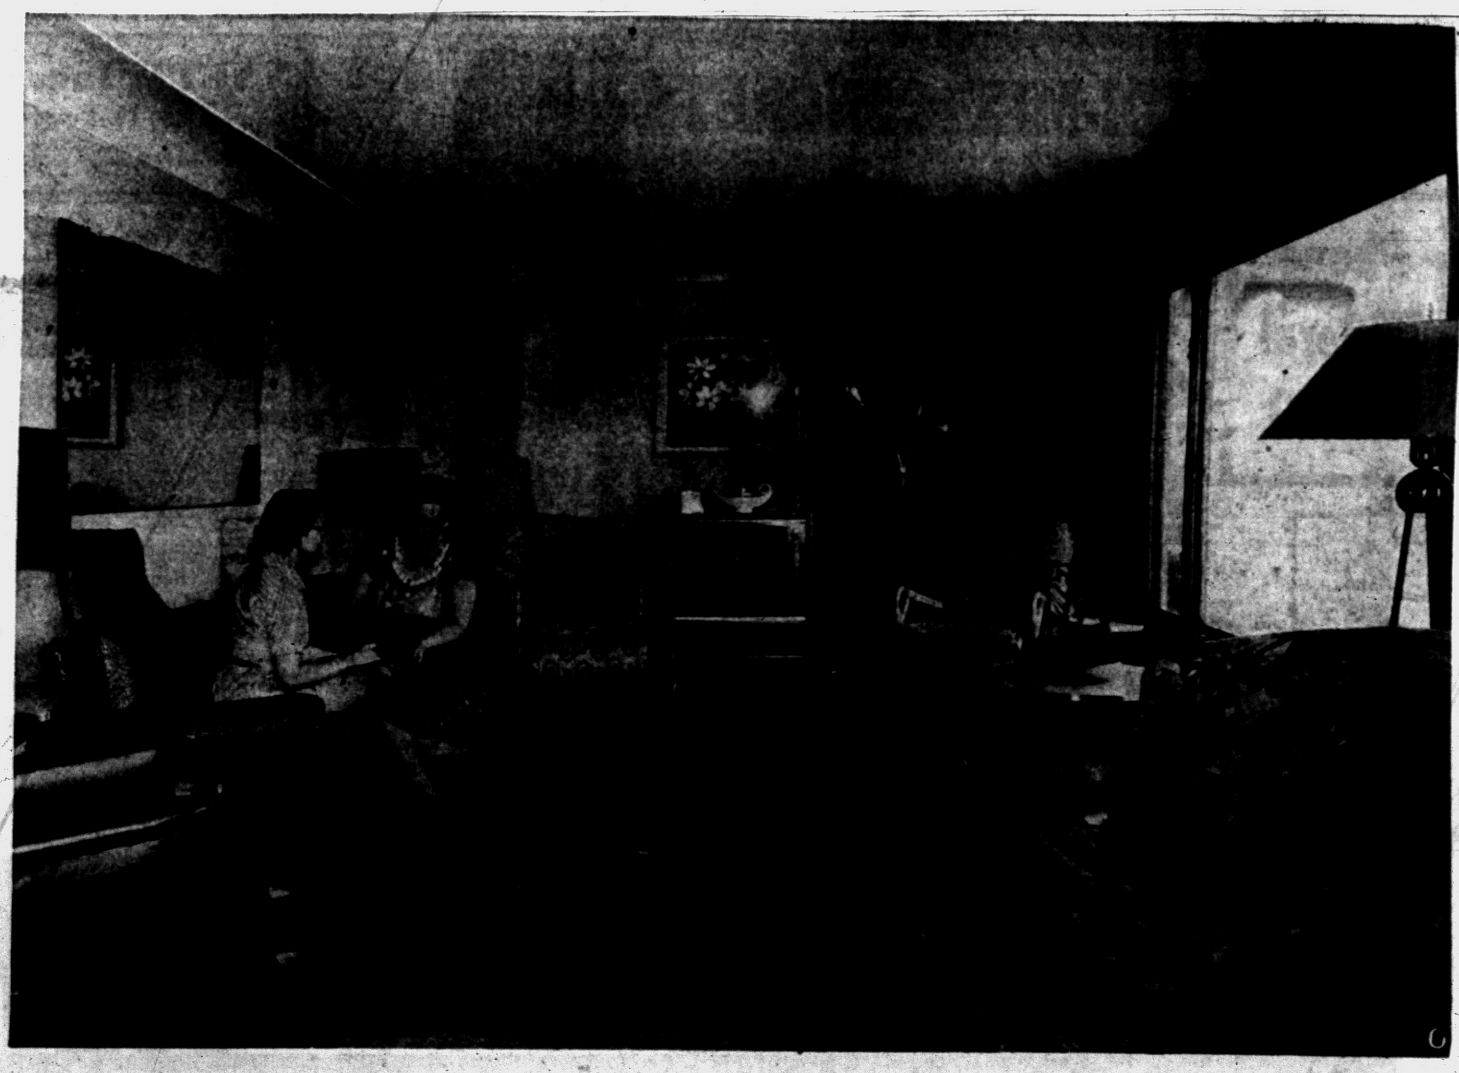

The Dunn home is a pleasant house to live in and an easy one to maintain. It exactly suits the Dunns' way of life.

More Air Conditioning

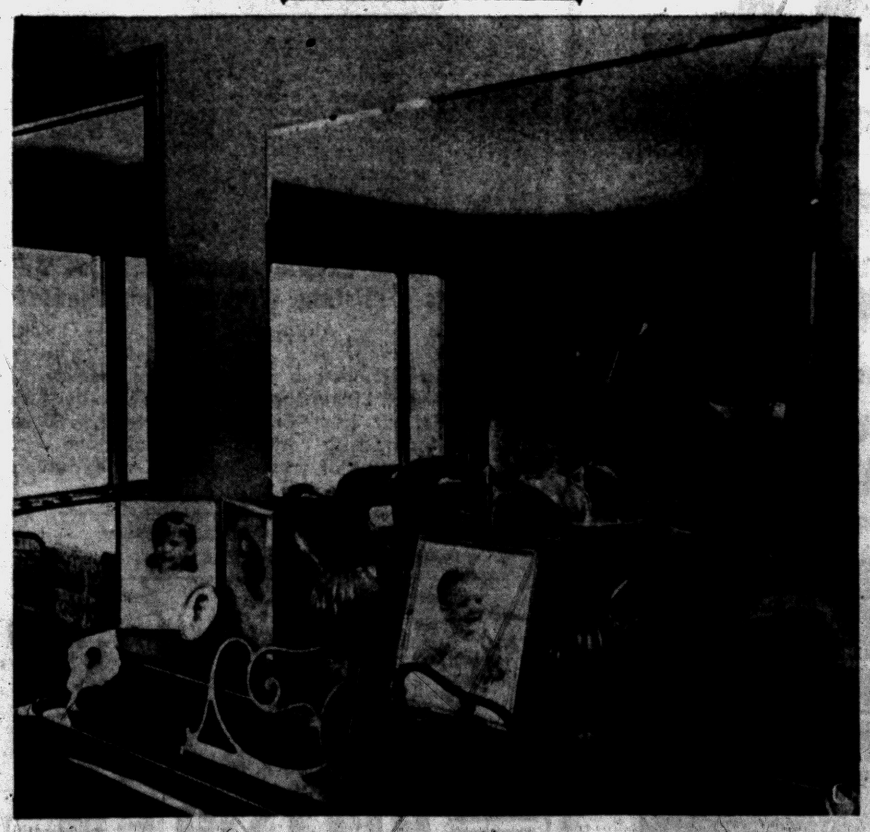

This year another 250,000 families are expected to equip their homes with year-round air conditioning and relax in 72-to-74-degree comfort no matter what the temperature is outside. These people are also seeking the further luxury afforded by the greater use in the home of such durable materials as ceramic tile, glass and steel. Quality and quantity is the 1957 slogan of builders.

Prefab Patios for Sale

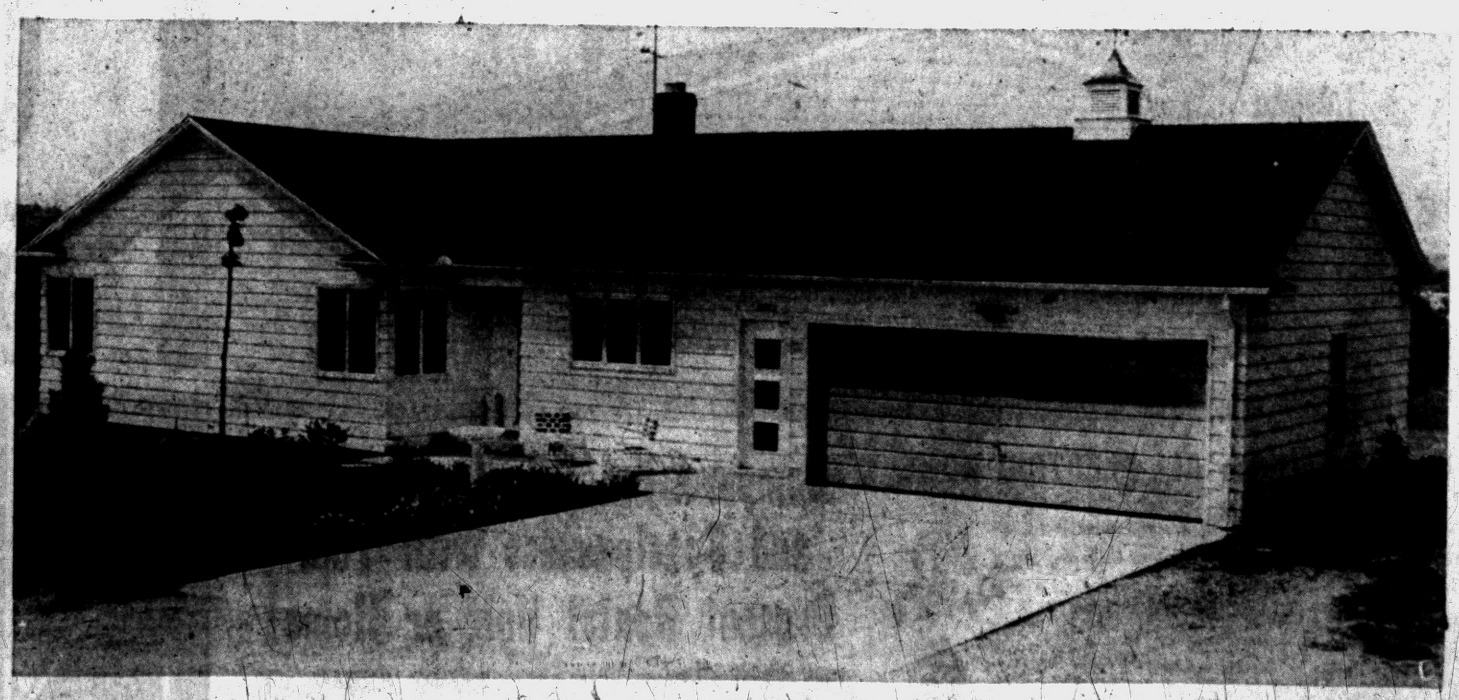

Two new screened patios, predrilled and precision cut for easy assembly, are announced by Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., Toledo, Ohio. Framing is of rustproof aluminum. The screening is fiberglas and the roofs are of translucent fiberglas reinforced plastic.

"THIS IS A NEW PATTERN" — Mrs. Dunn likes to crochet. She displayed one afghan she had already made and the beginning of a new one to the Press Home Editor. The Dunn living room is a combination of taupe (the rug), greens and reds. The leather armchair at the left is red. At the far end of the room there are two upholstered platform rockers. Mrs. Dunn has a green thumb for cactus; a huge bowl of it is on the round coffee table near the window. A peaceful rural scene is visible from the big front window.

DOUBLING THE VIEW — Above the spinet piano there is a large plate glass mirror. This reflects part of the living room as well as the view out the front windows. At the left, the windows in the dining room are visible. The portraits on the piano are of the Dunns' twin daughters and their families.

IN LAKEVILLE — The Gerald Dunns live on Drahner road in Lakeville. Their one-story white frame house has a large living room, dining room-kitchen combination and three bedrooms. This view is from the road. On the opposite side of the house there is a short lawn, then a long slope down to the road. The Dunns own forty acres of land around their house. Louis Hauxwell of Oxford was the builder.

Plastic Bubble Skylight Means Better Insulation

NEW YORK (AP) — An all-plastic, double-dome skylight based on the thermos bottle idea, aimed at better insulation, is among new products this week.

It's a kind of twin plastic bubble, reinforced with fiberglas. While it transmits light, the sealed dead air between the inner and outer domes doesn't transmit much heat. Called the consolite double dome skylight, it's introduced by the Resolite Corp., Zelienople, Pa.

Fireplace Wall Needs Interest

Panel Adjacent Area or Hang Pictures to Vary Decoration

The simple, clean lines of modern-style fireplaces offer a strong visual interest, but the general effect usually is enhanced by giving the fireplace wall some special pattern, line and color, decorators point out.

★ ★ ★

Wood grain paneling can serve such purposes on all counts. Each type of wood grain has its distinctive appeal. Tongue-and-groove planks add the interest of neat vertical joint lines. And wood coloration affords its own kind of richness.

For a fireplace wall that combines the decorative characteristics of wood grains with unusual practical advantages, many home owners cover the area with planks of predecorated hardboard.

Available in authentic reproductions of selected wood grains, these planks are a 'smooth grainless wood-fiber product with a baked plastic finish that defies soil, moisture, wear and other abuse. They need on finishing or waxing. And they can be wiped clean with a damp cloth.

★ ★ ★

The modern fireplace setting can profit also from other decorative touches. The tendency toward smaller fireplace openings results in a larger wall expanse above, and often there is no mantel on which to display art objects.

These factors make it especially effective to hang an impressive picture or group of pictures over the fireplace.

One can also capitalize in a decorative sense from the tendency to place the hearth above the floor so that everyone can get a good view of the blazing logs. A raised hearth can be expanded into a built-in bench that extends along the fireplace wall. This gives an extra visual interest in itself, and also serves for display of fireplace accessories and for seating.

Designs Table With Cowhide and Plywood

"Come up and see my coffee table" is the invitation of one San Francisco bachelor.

He issues it to other do-it-yourself enthusiasts who are seeking something novel in an occasional table for living room or family room.

The designer and builder, Don Albright, started with a piece of unfinished brown and white cowhide "roughly the shape of a squashed grand piano," 55 inches at the longest point and 33 inches at the widest.

He cut a free-form base of three-quarter inch plywood and tacked on the cowhide with big brass studs to outline the unusual shape.

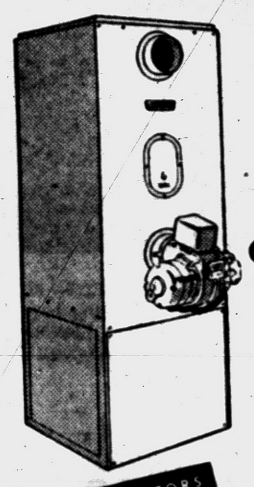

One-inch leather belting made an edging. One-fourth inch used plate glass was cut to order to cover the cowhide. The belting extended above the three-quarter inch plywood enough for a rim to hold the glass in place.

Three tapered legs, 16 inches high, were set at an angle. The unfinished wooden legs, complete with metal plates and screws for simple installation, can be purchased as a unit. Rubbed with walnut wax for a slight stain, they completed the handsome table.

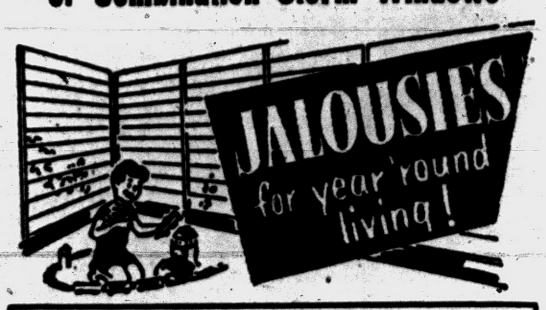

A thin coat of shellac makes parchment lamp shades spot proof, readily cleaned and durable.

"Despite the heat of the mid-day sun," New Delhi reported, "citizens turned out in hundreds of thousnads to welcome Chinese Prime Minister Chou En-lai on his recent arrival in India for a visit."

ON BALDWIN AVENUE — Half a block away from the original store the new Coles Drug store has been built. A 40x50 cement block building, it has brick trim and wood frame windows. Plywood panels above the doors are painted in bright colors. The door at the extreme left opens directly into the prescription department. Frericks Brothers of Pontiac did the construction work. Schley and Ward of Detroit were the architects.

Pontiac Press Photo

END OF THE LINE — Alfred H. Coles, druggist, takes a prescription out of a freight car of the model electric train that runs in his new drug store. The tracks connect the prescription room with the main part of the store. After delivering medicine to sometimes wide-eyed youngsters, the train backs into its original "round house" in the prescription room. This room can be completely shut off with sliding glass windows and a door. It has a separate entrance to the outside.

New Store Has Train Service

Something new has been added to the drug store business. Alfred H. Coles of Coles Drug store on Baldwin avenue delivers prescriptions via train — that is a model electric train.

Not only does this method of delivery intrigue youngsters who come into the store, but it allows Mr. Coles to play with the little train every day. This he couldn't do before he installed the tracks to run from the prescription department out to the main part of his new store.

"Children should take the medicine more readily, Mr. Coles says, when they see it delivered by train."

There are other innovations in this new drug store. The entire prescription department can be shut off from the main part of the store and operated as a separate unit. Yet the pharmacist working behind the drug counter can keep an eye on the rest of the store.

A separate entrance allows customers who are calling for medicine to enter only the smaller unit and receive service through an opening in the wall. A plate glass wall slides back to make the two areas into one when desired.

Build half a block from the original store, this new building was put up by Frericks Brothers of Pontiac from plans drawn by Schley and Ward of Detroit.

Difference in Cost and Price Goes Up

Contractors and builders are quick to point out that there is a difference between "cost" and "price." Price is what a contractor says he will charge to build a structure, having added his overhead and profit to "cost" and such other things as fees for architectural design and layout for engineering services, etc.,—and is always in excess of cost.

★ ★ ★

Other matters also contribute to the building investor's bill than is sometimes disclosed by an analysis of changes in building material prices and hourly wages for building trades craftsmen. This accounts, in a measure, for the discrepancies and excesses which competitive bidding often brings into the spotlight, sometimes placing in doubt the value of preliminary budget estimates, or at least making them embarrassing to explain.

★ ★ ★

Field observers believe that the difference between "cost" and "price" is being most prominently demonstrated in bids submitted for schools, which are being "priced" up to as much as 15 to 30 per cent above estimated "cost" — A condition which, they say, seems to have become nationwide.

Follow These Hints for Easy Roller Painting

Line the paint tray with heavy foil or paper before starting. This makes cleaning or changing colors easier. Long-handled rollers or extension handles make ceiling and floor painting simpler to do. Sometimes telescopic handles can be attached to conventional rollers.

Always start roller painting with an upward stroke or, on a horizontal surface, away from you. Work from the unpainted area into the painted section. Be sure first coast is thoroughly dry before applying second coat, if needed.

Sliding Glass Doors Cut Building Costs

Widespread acceptance of glass sliding doors in home construction is helping to lower some building costs, one of the country's largest manufacturers of glass sliding doors said today.

"Entire walls can be eliminated now," Charles Silvers, president of Adams Engineering Co., Inc., said, "and in heavy Northern construction, that's quite a saving. Constant research and mass production have brought the cost down to where glass sliding doors are feasible even in the low cost home brackets."

Plan to Install Own Mirrors

CHICAGO (INS) — If you have been hankering for a full length mirror in the bedroom, install it yourself on a door.

June Cabot, home furnishings consultant for a mirror and glass manufacturing firm, says installation of mirrors has been made easy by the use of plastic clips available through dealers.

Many dealers carry mirrors in stock which are already sized to standard door measurements, she said.

To hang a mirror, Miss Cabot says, first measure the closet or bedroom door on the inside margin of the frame where it meets the panel molding.

It is easier to remove the door from its jamb and lay it on the floor, using two clips at the top and bottom and two on each side.

If you happen to have two bedroom doors with a narrow wall in between, you have the makings for a professional three-way mirror. Panel the outside surfaces of the two doors and the wall in between and you have a store-type dressing mirror when the doors are opened toward each other.

For a bedroom too small for a dressing table, panel the top half of the inside of the closet door with a mirror. Hang a half-moon shaped shelf, slightly narrower than the door width, below it. You can hang floor-length ruffles from the shelf to add a note of color or hide a shoe rack for a dressing table which disappears with the closing of the closet door.

Before painting porous types of pressed wall or plaster board, treat the surface thoroughly with size or primer-sealer.

Clean Rugs, Then Store

If you have rugs that you are putting away for the summer, first clean them thoroughly. Place the rug on a clean surface. Vacuum the "top" side of the rug. Then turn it over and run the vacuum cleaner on the other side, too. If there are soiled spots, remove them with a reliable cleaning fluid. Use your vacuum cleaner to spray a good moth preventive, roll and wrap securely in heavy paper, seal it thoroughly.

It Takes a Century to Grow This Lumber

A 5,000-year-old cypress tree at Rio del Tulle, Mexico, is believed to be the earth's oldest living thing. Some redwood trees in California are believed to have germinated about the time Christ was born.

★ ★ ★

But, the nation's most widely used commercial tree, the Douglas fir, noted for its strength as well as beauty, sometimes grows to 1,000 years in the rain-drenched forests of western Oregon and Washington. The tree reaches maturity at age 100 to 150 years when it is ideal for making high grade lumber.

Remodel With Package Deal

The new idea in remodeling is to buy a complete new room — not the individual component parts.

You buy a complete new bathroom, a kitchen, a powder room, a basement recreation room — just the way you buy a completely equipped new automobile.

"Package" modernization is the latest development to make it as easy and painless as possible for the homeowner. Even the financing, by means of easy credit terms, has been made painless.

To the householder there are many advantages in the one-stop modernization plan. Chief of these is the fact that one expert takes over the full responsibility for the over-all design, execution, and results. The householder does not have to act as his own contractor, trying to coordinate the work of the different craftsmen, so that there will be no waste motion or lost time.

The owner gets one price for the entire job, he knows in advance exactly how much the entire room will cost, and when the work is completed, he gets one bill and one installment-payment plan.

Putty Is Important

Putty is used to glaze wood or metal sash, or to fill nail holes and cracks in wood. High grade putty for wood sash is a stiff mixture of pure chalk whiting and linseed oil to which small amounts of thinner and dryer are sometimes added. Some craftsmen add 5 or 10 per cent of paste white lead to putty to obtain a harder composition.

NEWS VIEWS

In the early days pioneers cooked outdoors . . . because, like motorists on a one-way street, they had no choice. And in recent years folks have been going back to the old-fashioned days of burning up their dinner.

This summer the smoke from glowing charcoal and the aroma of broiling steaks will come from more American backyards than ever before. The barbecue business seems to be the burning issue of the day. Everybody's getting into the act . . . and every chef has his own ideas about how to handle the hot groceries in an outdoor setting. Big town stores report some of their best selling barbecues are in the $300 class. Yep, barbecues are just about the hottest items on the summer menu.

Just saw a report about a new perfume that sells for $100 an ounce. Guess that comes under the classification of the High Cost of Lovin' . . . Well, costs are high in 'most any classification these days, I guess — including real estate. But we keep an eye out for high values, too . . . so you'll find the right-priced listing you're looking for, in residential or commercial properties.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Off one game, the Cleveland Indians got the better of the Baltimore Orioles in the deal in which Jim Busby and Dick Williams swapped uniforms.

★ ★ ★

Busby, making his first appearance in a Baltimore uniform last night, failed to get a hit in five trips to the plate. Williams connected with three hits, including a homer, in four times at bat for Cleveland as the Indians beat the Orioles 7-2.

And Busby flied to Williams for the final Baltimore out.

5 Area Players in Open Final Round

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Pontiac Press Sports Editor

TOLEDO—This is a day of decision for 53 remaining players in the U. S. National Open at Toledo's Inverness Country Club.

The 36-hole finals scheduled for today are expected to force a showdown between the "old pros" who led the first round and a pair of youngsters who surged into the lead in yesterday's second round.

Amateur Billy Joe Patton, 30-year-old lumberman from North Carolina, and Dick Mayer, 34-year-old pro from St. Petersburg, Fla., each came through with rounds of 68 yesterday adding to their 70's of Thursday to share the lead at mid-point with 138.

★ ★ ★

This equals the 36-hole record for the Open. Sam Snead fired a 69-69-138 in 1948 and Ben Hogan had an identical score in 1952.

Jimmy Demaret and Northville's Chick Harbert both faltered yesterday after sharing the first round lead with 68's.

Demaret, 46-year-old grandfather from Lake Kiamesha, N. Y., shot a 37 for the first nine yesterday after going out in 32 the day before. He double-bogeyed the rugged 4th hole and bogeyed the 9th hole for a 37 and then came in with a par-36 for the back nine for a 73.

Harbert, who is 42, scored to a 79 yesterday and reached the halfway mark with 147.

Doug Ford, who threatened to take over the lead after the 15th hole, ran into trouble on 16 and 18, both for bogeys, and he finished with 71 to add to his 69.

Ford and Ken Venturi of San Francisco were tied at 140 behind the leaders, and it is Ford, current leading money winner of the PGA with $28,931.55, who is rated the strongest choice to capture the open.

★ ★ ★

Probably the happiest player on the course yesterday, however, was Patton, the bespectacled amateur who fired par on each of the first nine holes and then had three birdies and a bogey on the back nine for his 68.

"These two rounds in the Open have been the best I've ever played and I especially had a lot of good shots yesterday." Patton said gleefully as he came off the 18th green where he dropped a 12-inch putt for the birdie.

The cut-off point for today's finals included players with scores of 150 or lower.

This eliminated six Michigan players from the field. Lou Powers, Harvey Woodard, Bill Nary, Joe Zakarian, Reggie Myles and Harold Brink.

Bob Gajda with 75-75, and Chuck Kocsis with 76-74, made the finals with the 13-player tie for 50th place.

Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills and Jack Fleck of Rochester ran into putting troubles yesterday, but still managed to get into the final rounds with 147 and 148 respectively.

Fleck missed an eight-foot putt on the 6th hole and on the 7th a 3-footer rimmed and rolled a few inches away. This gave him a bogey on the 6th and prevented him from getting a birdie on the 7th.

Peter Thomson, three-time British Open winner from Melbourne, Australia, was still in close running with a 71-72-143. Thomson sunk a beautiful 18-footer downhill on the 7th hole for a birdie and he was 1-under after 15 holes. He then bogeyed 16 and 18 and finished 1-over.

The morning round today started at 8 a.m. and the final 18-holes was scheduled for noon. In event of a tie, the playoff will be held Sunday.

These were the hole-by-hole scores for the Michigan players who remain in today's final rounds.

City Best-Ball Tourney Opens

31 2-Man Teams Seek Crown Today in Annual Event at Municipal

A field of 31 two-man teams began teeing off at 12 o'clock noon today at Pontiac Municipal Golf Course in search of the City Best-Ball golf title.

★ ★ ★

Several of the Pontiac area's top amateur golfers were among the players taking aim at Municipal's par 34-35—69 layout in the annual men's event.

Heading the parade of talent were Bill (Buster) Pembroke and Jim Pettiford, who annexed last year's best-ball championship with a sizzling 62.

Their most dangerous challenges were expected to come from Paul Bada and Mike Andonian, the Ron Rothbarth-Ed Wasik team, and Stan Savage and Butler Cooper.

Pembroke, Pettiford, Bada and Andonian, all scheduled to start at 1:52 p.m., formed the top foursome from a spectator standpoint.

A few other outstanding teams in the 18-hole tourney were Chuck Barker and Dick Robertson, Dick DeWitt and Tom Thumb, brothers Joe and Bob Gaines, and the Glenn Harding entry.

Northwestern Senior Wins College Title

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (INS) — Meriam Bailey, a Northwestern University senior, has won the Women's National Intercollegiate golf crown, edging out Judy Bell of the University of Arizona.

Miss Bailey took three of the last five holes yesterday in Champaign for a two-up margin over Miss Bell, of Wichita, Kan.

Ace for Milford Man

William Paul of Milford, a fine area golfer despite the fact he has no fingers on his right hand, fired the 1st hole-in-one of the season recently at the Davisburg Golf Course. He made the ace on the 147-yard 7th hole using a six-iron. Paul was playing with Lloyd Kirby and Hillis Kushman. There have been six aces at Davisburg in the last seven years.

Bold Ruler, Gallant Man Favored

Triple Crown Final Today at Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Bold Ruler and Gallant Man, not to forget five other colts of lesser stature, matched strides today in one of the most talked-about horses races of the season — the 89th running of the Belmont Stakes.

★ ★ ★

This was the finale of the famed Triple Crown series for 3-year-old thoroughbreds, and it apparently settled down to a question of whether a good little horse like Gallant Man can handle a good big horse like Bold Ruler.

★ ★ ★

It also was a battle of wits and skill between two old Belmont veterans, trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons and Eddie Arcaro with Bold Ruler, and a combination taking their first crack at the great mile and one-half classic. Gallant Man's trainer, 44-year-old John Nerud, and his 26-year-old Jockey, the brilliant Willie Shoemaker, pitted against Sunny Jim, at 82 the dean of American trainers, and the 41-year-old Arcaro, Premier stakes jockey. Both will be seeking their seventh Belmont. It is the 20th for Mr. Fitz, the 19th for Arcaro.

★ ★ ★

This didn't necessarily rule out five other fine colts who managed to survive the rigors of racing and show enough that their owners would put up a final $1,000 starting fee to try for the coveted prize. When nominations closed Feb. 15, 147 horses were named, and only seven were to start.

★ ★ ★

The Greentree Stable of John Hay Whitney, U.S. ambassador to Britain, and his sister, Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson, entered a pair in Cohoes and Pop Corn. Ralph Lowe, the Texas Oilman, decided to enter Bold Nero to accompany Gallant Man. The field was rounded out by French-bred Lucky Dip from the Cain Hoy Stable of millionaire New York sportsman, Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim, and the D. & M. Stable's Inside Tract, owned by Ray De Brino, Valatie, N. Y., caulking contractor, and Joe Martino, Hudson, N. Y., fruit grower.

★ ★ ★

The Belmont was to be televised and broadcast nationally, CBS, from 3:30-4 p.m., EST, and with seven starters the purse would gross $114,350 with the winner netting $78,300.

Logan, Drysdale Draw Fines for Thursday Brawl

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Johnny Logan, the Milwaukee Braves' shortstop, has been fined $100 for his part in a fight Thursday at Brooklyn with the Dodgers' Don Drysdale who was assessed $40.

The fight developed in a general brawl involving players on both teams. Logan came out of it with a cut over his eye, while Drysdale, the Dodgers' starting pitcher, showed a collection of welts on his chest.

An eight-week tennis clinic for boys and girls ranging in age from eight through 16 years will begin the week of June 24, it was announced today by the Pontiac Parks & Recreation Department.

Different classes will be held mornings for beginners and advanced players. All phases of tennis will be covered in the clinic with a tournament for all participants planned for the closing week.

Local youngsters can take part in the program free of charge but must bring tennis shoes and rackets.

★ ★ ★

Three different parks will be used for the children's classes. Mondays and Wednesdays the clinic will be at Murphy Park, Tuesdays and Thursdays it will be at Oakland Park and Fridays at Beaudette.

Macias 8-5 Choice to Remain Champion

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Mexico City's clever Raul Macias, the NBA world bantamweight boxing champion, tests his craftsmanship tonight against the challenge of slugging Dommy Ursua of the Philippines.

The 15-round Cow Palace bout, with Macias' title at stake, starts at 9 p.m. with no telecast or broadcast.

Odds still favor the 22-year-old former office boy who won the NBA crown two years ago, but while they opened at about 3-1, by last night about 8-5 was being quoted.

Local Angler Caught 15 Trout Too Many

One of the first "casualties" of the bass season which opened today was Hugh D. Hammond, 37, of 620 Luther St., Pontiac.

He was arrested by Romeo Post State Police with 17 trout in his possession. The limit is two. He was fishing in the Bald Mountain Recreation Area.

Labine Turns Up Lame

BROOKLYN (AP)—Clem Labine, Brooklyn's ace relief pitcher, turned up with a sore left shoulder and arm and a stiff neck last night.

"I don't know how it happened," said the righthander, "but I can hardly raise my left arm."

He will undergo an X-ray examination today.

Top Southpaws

NEW YORK—The only southpaws to win 200 or more games in the major leagues through 1956 have been Eddie Plank, Bob Grove, Eppa Rixey, Carl Hubbell, Herb Pennock, Earl Whitehill, Wilbur Cooper, Hal Newhouser and Warren Spahn.

Trapped by 'Monster'

Open's Toughest? No. 4

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

TOLEDO — Ask most any player in the National Open which is the toughest hole at Inverness Country Club and he'll probably answer by saying, "that monster."

Even the best of the pros agree this is the right nickname for the rugged fourth hole.

Yesterday, 158 players went over the par-4, 466-yard hole and only 41 were able to par it.

Of the 117 who bogeyed "the monster," 15 were double bogeys, four had sevens and two made it in eight strokes.

The lone birdies on the hole in yesterday's second round were credited to Julius Boros of Southern Pines, North Carolina, and Bill Collins of Ferndale, New York.

What makes the hole so tough? The slightest hook will send the ball into a very heavy rough, and facing the shooter on the right side of the fairway are sand traps and out-of-bounds markers. Most shots on the left side of the fairway will be sidehill lies and just ahead of the green there is a deep ravine and water ditch.

Most important shot on this hole is the second shot and it almost has to be perfect. Too short to the left and the ball goes in the ravine; too short on the right and it will land in the water ditch; too wide to the right and there are two traps to catch it; too long a shot and it will be caught in the rough.

This is "the monster," of the National Open.

Grace - Neilson Also Bow at Pine Lake

Harding-Robertson Ousted

BY BILL CORNWELL

The 1956 champions and the qualifying medalists enjoyed only a brief stay in this year's Pine Lake Invitational golf tournament.

Both were eliminated Friday as the 8th annual selective drive-alternate shot event completed the 1st round of match play at Pine Lake Country Club.

Joe Grace of Detroit Golf Club and Howie Neilson of Pine Lake, the defending champions, were pushed through the exit by the Plum Hollow twosome of Jim Funston and Bill Krall.

It took 19 holes to do it, but Funston and Krall scored a 1-up victory over Neilson and his youthful partner, who stars as a varsity golfer for Notre Dame.

Glenn Harding and Dick Robertson, Pontiac Country Club golfers who captured medalist honors in Thursday's 18-hole qualifiers with a two-under-par 70, didn't have it yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Meadowbrook's Randall Ahern and 16-year-old Tommy played steady golf to oust Harding and Robertson, 3-2. The father-son combination gained a 2-up lead on the 12th hole and never relinquished the advantage.

Harding and Robertson rallied to win the 13th, but dropped back to a 2-hole deficit by losing the 14th. The match ended on the 16th hole when both Harding and Robertson rifled wood shots out of bounds.

Perry Byard of Red Run and Dearborn's Ralph Ellstrom began shaping up as the team to beat after two impressive triumphs. They sidelined Plum Hollow's Mason Brown and Jack Walsh, 3-2; then conquered Jerry and Jim Krause of Pine Lake, 4-3, in their quarter-final match.

Byard and Ellstrom were not scheduled to play the Krause brothers until today, but they wanted to see the finals of the U. S. Open at Toledo and sought permission to hold the match yesterday.

The Birmingham twins agreed to go ahead. How they probably wish they hadn't. Jerry and Jim opened with a 3-2 verdict over Indianwood's Ervin Richards and Leo Daigle.

Bill Pettibone and Bill Nettle, runners-up last year, stayed in the running with a 1-up victory over Dave McHarg and Blaine Eynon. The Bob Babbish-Bill O'Brien team, Edgewood's Dick Vershure and Ned Begle, and the Bill Adams-L. D. Yager tandem were other 1st round winners.

★ ★ ★

Three 18-hole quarter-final matches were scheduled today. The tourney ends Sunday with semis and the championship finals.

FRIDAY'S RESULTS
Randall and Tommy Ahern, Meadowbrook, defeated Glenn Harding and Dick Robertson, Pontiac CC, 3-2.
Jim Funston and Bill Krall, Plum Hollow, defeated Joe Grace Jr., Detroit GC, and Howie Neilson, Pine Lake, 1-up, 19 holes.
Dick Vershure and Ned Begle, Edgewood, defeated Jack Childe, Meadowbrook, and Harry Hellmann Jr., Grosse Ile, 3-2.

Maas Hurls, Bats Way to 5-4 Win

DETROIT (AP) — Duke Maas rates as something of an expert on the difference a year can make.

At this time last year he was stumbling along with four losses and no victories with the Detroit Tigers, having given up 51 hits in 39 innings. In a month he was back in the minors.

Now, one year later, he is tied with workhorse Paul Foytack as the winningest pitcher on the Detroit team—each has seven—and is firmly entrenched in a major league job.

He got his seventh victory last night when the Tigers nipped the Boston Red Sox 5-4. Maas helped his own cause with a home run into the lower leftfield stands in the fifth inning. There was one Tiger aboard, Reno Bertoia, who had doubled, and the two runs that scored on Maas' homer put Detroit ahead to stay, 4-3.

Harvey Kuenn's homer, also to the lower left field stands, made it 5-3 in the seventh and gave the Tigers the cushion they needed to absorb a one-run Boston outburst in the eighth.

Maas' batting average—he went into the game with a scrawny .118 average—doesn't say much for him as a slugging pitcher. His only extra base hit was a double. He also got three singles in his 34 trips to the plate.

★ ★ ★

It was the first major league homer for Maas, a young right-hander who is in his third season as a Tiger.

A walk to Ted Williams, a double off the rightfield wall by Mickey Vernon and a single to center by Frank Malzone gave the Red Sox a three-run lead before the fans had settled in their seats.

Tiger manager Jack Tighe had the bull pen crew busy but Maas recovered to set the Sox down with only one run and only four hits the rest of the way. After the discouraging first inning, only four runners got to second base, including Mickey Vernon, who pounded out his second double of the night in the eighth inning and rode home on Malzone's single to center.

For the Tigers, it was an uphill climb.

★ ★ ★

They started moving up in the second inning, accepting a run as a gift from the Red Sox. Two errors and two fielder's choices did the job and J. W. Porter crossed the plate with the first Detroit run.

In the third inning the Tigers got another, reducing the Boston lead to 3-2. Consecutive singles by Charley Maxwell, Ray Boone and Al Kaline got in one run.

Then in the fourth, with one out, Reno Bertoia slammed a liner to left field and kept running. He scooted into second with nothing to spare for a double. Maas followed him to the plate and socked the ball into the stands, putting the Tigers ahead to stay.

THROUGH HIS GUARD — Tony Anthony, a slick-boxing, power-hitting New Yorker (left), takes a left to the chin from Yvon Durelle, the Canadian light heavyweight champion in the 5th round of their 10-rounder at Olympia last night. Durelle was a handful for the favored Anthony to handle and the fight went the limit to a draw.

BIG MAN'S BACK — Big Ted Kluszewski was all smiles last night as he mopped his brow after the Cincy Redlegs' 5-4 win over the Giants. It was Klu's 2nd game since returning from the disabled list, and it was like old times as he smashed out four hits in five trips, including a 2-run homer.

After Trailing Murchison

Morrow Sets 100 Record

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Morrow, the purple streak from the Texas plains, who said he never ran for records — he just ran to win — finally has broken into the world's record class in spite of himself.

★ ★ ★

He can credit Ira Murchison, the chunky Negro from Western Michigan. Murchison got a start like a jack rabbit last night in preliminaries of the 100-yard dash in the NCAA meet and led Morrow, Abilene Christian's double spring champion of the Olympic Games, for 80 yards.

It was all Bobby could do to nip Murchison by less than a foot in the time of 9.3—which tied the world's record set back in 1948 by Mel Patton of Southern California and since tied by four runners.

★ ★ ★

The blazing 100, in which Murchison also was clocked with 9.3, featured the afternoon and night-long trials of the NCAA yesterday. But there were some great marks in other events, two of them within a whisker of world's records.

Greg Bell, the lithe Negro from Indiana who was the Olympic broad jump champion, leaped 26 feet, 7 inches to come within 1¼ inches of the storied record set by the great Jesse Owens at Ohio State in 1935. And Ancel Robinson, tall Negro from Fresno State, sped the 220-yard low hurdles in 22.4, which is only two-tenths over the record set by Dave Sime of Duke last year.

★ ★ ★

Morrow's time undoubtedly will be recognized because there was only a mild three miles per hour wind at his back against an allowable of 4.473.

Indiana led in the qualifying, landing eight places in tonight's finals but the team to beat still was Villanova.

No preliminaries were held in the mile, 2-mile, pole vault and high jump.

★ ★ ★

While there were some world-record approaching performances in the prelims only two NCAA records actually were bettered. Morrow cracked the 100-yard mark of 9.4 set by George Simpson of Ohio State in 1929 and tied by three other sprinters since then, and Bell's broad jump eased out the NCAA record of 26 feet, 6 inches set in 1947 by Willie Steele of San Diego State.

Durelle Forces Fight

DETROIT (AP)—Three different matches were mentioned in the wake of the startling 10-round draw between Yvon Durelle and top-ranked Tony Anthony, but the one with the slimmest chance of coming off was the one pitting Anthony against light heavyweight champion Archie Moore.

Anthony and his manager, Ernie Braca, said before last night's nationally televised slugfest that the 22-year-old New Yorker needed an "impresssive" win over the muscular French Canadian to assure a title fight with the elusive Archie.

★ ★ ★

It was the concensus opinion that Anthony, the No. 1 contender who retreated and counterpunched all the way, was fortunate to get out with a draw. Though he was credited with a sixth-round knockdown that Durelle's handlers said came from a low punch, Anthony could not flick off all the looping swings that the 27-year-old Durelle brought up from his half-crouch.

There was talk of a rematch in Detroit. Another possibility is that Detroit's Chuck Spieser, who lost to Anthony two months ago on a third-round knockout, would be matched against Durelle.

★ ★ ★

Durelle, who weighed 176½ to Anthony's 174½, started slowly but had most of the crowd of 2,973 with him after his bull-like rushes at his taller opponent began paying off. Though he often was wild, Durelle had Anthony groggy in the second and tenth rounds from a series of looping head shots.

Several in the Making

Final Day for Trades

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The witching hour for major league trading is midnight tonight and most of the contenders in both leagues still are hoping to swing a deal that might strengthen them.

★ ★ ★

The one exception is the Chicago White Sox who apparently have decided to go for broke with what they have.

The most desperate teams are the Milwaukee Braves and the Cincinnati Redlegs, who fear they won't be able to fight off the Brooklyn Dodgers, St. Louis Cardinals or Philadelphia's latest bunch of whiz kids for the National League pennant.

★ ★ ★

The Braves — whose fans are getting impatient waiting for a winner — still hope to get Red Schoendienst, the New York Giants' talented second baseman.

The Redlegs, meanwhile, have found that they can't depend on their pitching staff, and have been tapering off after a hot start. Their big need is a pitcher, and they, too, are wooing the lowly Giants.

Ruben Gomez is the pawn. The Redlegs find themselves in the same position as the Braves where the Giants are concerned.

★ ★ ★

The Yanks have been after a power hitter and reputedly have their eyes on Harry Simpson of Kansas City. They probably would be willing to give up Billy Martin for him.

Most of yesterday's activity concerned the Baltimore Orioles, who are desperately trying to pull themselves up. Only two weeks ago, Manager Paul Richards termed them a "bunch of clowns."

The Orioles:

1. Sent Pitcher Mike Fornieles (2-6) to Boston for handyman Billy Goodman, 31 years old and riding the bench despite a lifetime .300 batting average.

★ ★ ★

2. Dealt outfielder Dick Williams (.234) to the Cleveland Indians for outfielder Jim Busby (.189) and riding the bench).

3. Bought pitcher Ken Lehman from the Brooklyn Dodgers on waivers, probably more than the $10,000 price. Lehman has no record this year.

Has Eight Homers

Dropo Off to Fast Start

CHICAGO (AP)—Walt Dropo, the amiable first baseman who is turning into a tiger, is heading for a big season with Chicago's league-leading White Sox.

★ ★ ★

One of the main figures in Thursday's brawl between the Sox and New York Yankees, Dropo fumed for hours after being tossed out of the game and in his first appearance last night he banged out a 425-foot homer in a 10-4 victory over Washington.

The homer was his eighth of the season, equalling his 1956 production, and earned him the regular first base job.

★ ★ ★

"I'm hot right now," snapped Dropo after the game "and I plan to stay that way. It's a lot easier to hit when you play every day."

The season started with Dropo on the bench and Jim Rivera, an outfielder, playing first base. Walt did a good job pinch hitting for the Sox and came off the bench one time and belted a grand slammer homer which carried the Sox to an early season triumph.

★ ★ ★

In 92 official at bats this season, Dropo has knocked in 24 runs and has a .272 average.

Shaw's Kebler Flips 1-Hitter

Showing the kind of stuff that has made Shaw's softball pitching invincible in local circles, Jeweler baseball hurler Steve Kebler flipped a one-hit, 5-0 shutout over Thomas Die & Stamping in a City League contest last night.

Kebler allowed a 1st inning single to B. Vhan, the 2nd man to face him, and then shut the door the rest of the way. The only other Thomas baserunner reached on a walk in the 5th.

He had nine strikeouts and allowed only two balls to be hit to the outfield, one of them the only hit.

★ ★ ★

Loser R. Forton allowed only five safeties but three combined with an error and two walks in the 1st frame produced three Shaw's runs. Kebler's double featured a two-run 6th inning.

After Two Bogeys

Temperamental Bolt Quits Open Tourney

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

TOLEDO—Temperamental Tommy Bolt is taking his tantrums again. The 39-year-old pro of Knollwood Country Club in Los Angeles, known for ball throwing, club smashing and other wild antics on the golf course, quit the U. S. National Open tournament after a series of incidents saturated his temper.

Thursday, Bolt was forced to delay his first round on the 17th tee because of darkness. When he reported to the tee at 9 a.m. yesterday morning his caddy failed to show up so he carried his own clubs and finished the last two holes with a par-4 and a bogey.

At 11:04 a.m. Bolt went to the first tee to start the second round and he picked one of the young boys in the gallery to be his caddie.

After he bogeyed the first hole and the second hole, he then picked up his ball disgustedly and withdrew from the tournament.

The drafted caddie, Bon la-Breche of Menominee, Mich., said Bolt was angry over his playing and just quit.

The ironic part of the entire thing is that Bolt was earlier this year head of a committee which drafted the rules of conduct for the PGA, and his own recommendations were more harsh than any of the other committee members.

In January, he picked up his ball in the Bing Crosby Invitational and in February he withdrew because of a shoulder injury from the Phoenix Open after a first round 77.

In the Open at Inverness, Bolt fired a first round 77 before he steamed off the second green in in the second round.

One-Run Shutout for Weldon Club

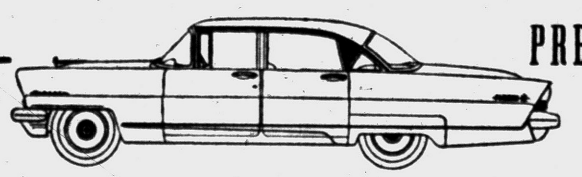

Although getting about half the hitting that the Emmanuel Baptists collected off Wayne Janks, Weldon Thrifty shut out the Church softball club 1-0 in a fine game last night at Drayton Plains park.

★ ★ ★

Weldons' won in the 7th when Hubbell tripled, went all the way on a throwing error. Wimpy Johnson, Baptist hurler, fanned 11, gave up three hits, and came close to knotting the game with a triple. Hit mates left him stranded in the top of the 4th.

Game was the only action Friday in the Waterford Recreation League.

Fine Violator of Ordinance

White Lake Township to Enforce Regulations on Trailer Parks

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Judge Howard Bloem, recently assessed a fine against Elaine Daugherty of $25 for violation of the township ordinance regarding trailer parks and $10 in costs. He also gave the violator five days for the removal of the trailers.

★ ★ ★

Supervisor, Forest Brendel, sent letters to the violator but they were ignored. The complaint was signed by Richard Paschke, building inspector, here.

This is the first time that court action has been taken but township officers now say their ordinances will be strictly enforced in the future and no occupied trailers will be permitted except in a licensed trailer park.

Miss Daughterty failed to comply with the sanitation requirements of the ordinance as well as having no license. If the court's decision is not followed, she will be subject to a maximum fine of $100 or 90 days.

Judge Bloem said he has been trying to cope with this problem for over a year.

Poles Flock to See American Exhibit

POZNAN, Poland (INS)—Heavy police reserves were rushed to the Poznan fair grounds yesterday to control a shoving throng of 60,000 Poles who rushed the entrance of the American exhibit when it opened in the afternoon.

A near riot developed among the milling crowd before the police managed to restore order.

★ ★ ★

Many in the throng complained angrily that the police were trying to keep them from seeing the U. S. exhibit, the most popular in the huge international fair.

But actually the authorities appeared to be merely attempting to keep order and to prevent a dangerous rush on the U. S. pavilion.

The exhibit was closed during the morning while a reception was held for visiting officials.

Thousands of Poles lined up early in the morning to see the American bungalow and other showpieces of the U. S. exhibit. Many more thousands arrived later in the morning. The crowd began jockeying for position and police were called out when the heaving throng caused serious damage to the pavilion's reception counter.

2 Minors Plead Guilty to Possessing Beer

Two Orion Township minors changed their pleas to guilty before their trial on a charge of possessing beer.

Wesley T. Johnstone, 19, of 4960 Estes Dr. and Clarence J. Coker, 20, of 4095 Morgan Rd. each paid a $20 fine when they appeared before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

JULIA MEADE

Appearing at the Botsford Inn, Grand River at 8 Mile road, beginning Tuesday, in the Music Circle presentation of "Plain and Fancy" will be Julia Meade of Television fame. She was named "best young Broadway actress of 1955" as well as being considered TV's most successful "sales-lady."

Latest Video Ratings List Puts Como Show on Top

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — American Research Bureau's latest list of U. S. TV shows puts Perry Como on top, ahead of Lucy, This Is Your Life, $64,000 Question, Playhouse 90, Groucho, Skelton, December Bride, I've Got a Secret, and the George M. Cohan spec, starring Mickey Rooney . . .

★ ★ ★

Out of the ARB's top 10 since a year ago are What's My Line, Ed Sullivan (off to 14th), $64,000 Challenge, Lux Theater, George Gobel . . .

Dick Stark, one of radio-TV's finest announcers (What's My Line, Gunsmoke, Comedy Time, etc.), who quietly has been studying seven hours a day, five days a week to be an architect for 5½ years, last week got his bachelor of architecture degree at Brooklyn's Pratt Institute . . .

With so many shows airing "June Is Bustin' Out All Over," maybe July should get equal time . . .

"Bride and Groom" is having trouble finding couples willing to be wed on NBC-TV.

LOPS OFF LUXURY

Jackie Gleason's retrenching: His gaudy Fifth avenue apartment has been taken by the newlywed Cecil (financier Lou's brother) Wolfsons . . . That's the flat with the fat one's bathroom (including built-in scale) in "port wine and gold." . . .

Mrs. Julius La Rosa flew off to Wisconsin to see her brother graduate from the seminary where he's headed for the priesthood . . .

Julie's first starring show tonight (replacing Perry Como for the summer) will have as guests Count Basie and Joe Williams, which should shake down a rating.

Not only did Phil Silvers celebrate his TV success by buying his wife a mink stole, but most of his Bilko case did ditto . . .

We asked how dare Goodman Ace attack TV when he gets $9,000 a week writing the Como smiles. Goodie replied: "I'm not worth $9,000 a week."

No Way to Halt World Course of Flu Epidemic

GENEVA (AP) — The Asian influenza epidemic has reached Europe and North America, and cannot be prevented from spreading through most of the world, the U.N. World Health Organization reported today.

The newly identified type of virus A, cause of the epidemic which struck nearly every country in Asia the past two months, has been definitely identified in the Netherlands. It is assumed now to be spreading throughout Europe and the United States with the large numbers of travelers arriving daily from Asia.

WHO experts said the new virus will probably penetrate at great speed, though without necessarily causing serious epidemics everywhere. In some countries the virus might lie low for months and emerge in the cold season when it would do the most damage, the experts said.

Bible School to Open

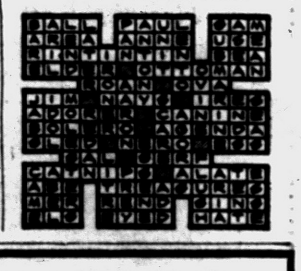

NEW HUDSON — Bible School will open Monday at 9 a.m. in the New Hudson Methodist Church for two weeks. Mrs. Stan Potts and Mrs. Clifford Chenowith will be in charge.

THE HURRICANE TESTED ROOF

What would you say of a roof that has come through several hurricanes without losing so much as one shingle? You'd say—at least—that here was a roof that had stood up to the toughest possible test.

Well, Barrett Everlox Shingles have come through some of the worst hurricanes in memory without damage. Their unique locking device really holds them down—they can't become loose or blow away.

Have you had your roof checked lately? Why not call on us for a free inspection—and no obligation, either. In case you do need a new roof, ask to see these Barrett Everlox Shingles.
