Views on Lake Patrol

City Dwellers Favor Water Safety Project

Lakeside residents of Oakland County for the most part have put their stamp of approval on the new lake patrol program in effect this summer.

But what about the city dwellers?

Six Pontiac residents, who occasionally steal away for some water sport, were interviewed by the Press last week.

Asked what their opinion of the 25-man force set up by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department to patrol area lakes, they too approved, in varying degrees.

Philip Sauer, of 59 Monroe St., had nothing but praise for the program. "It's a fine thing, especially with the boating interest growing as it is.

"Boating is a fine pastime but can be hazardous. The deputies should help weed out the careless ones. Classes in boating safety would also be a good idea."

SAUER

Gerald Williams of 35½ Taylor St., thought lake deputies were "a good idea" but added that "tickets should be handed out only when a warning isn't sufficient."

"Lake patrols will surely cut down on motor boats speeding. These pests who cut too close to boats or swimmers and turn sharply splashing water all over you are a nuisance. "We've needed the deputies on lakes for a long time."

WILLIAMS

The feminine side also reacted in favor of lake patrols.

Roberta Travis, of 121 N. Johnson St., said, "It's a good idea, not only to control speeding boats but for the aid it offers boaters and swimmers alike.

"It's wonderful to have someone on the lake to be able to depend upon for help in case of an emergency. The program should do a lot to cut down on drownings and boating accidents."

MISS TRAVIS

Mrs. Robert Nelson, of 70 Illinois. Ave., approached the question as a necessity rather than something to be approved or disapproved.

"I think we have to have deputies on area lakes," she asserted. "There is so much traffic on most lakes now that efficient on-the-scene law enforcement is a must.

MRS. NELSON

"If people feel there are responsible deputies there to enforce the law, they'll be more careful. The increased number of boats on area lakes has become a real problem and should be met with real enforcement."

Teenagers questioned the situations in which deputies should issue tickets, but agreed the program was sound.

Frank Zwicker, 17, of 18 Cherry Ct., a senior at St. Fredericks High School, thought deputies should "be on lakes mainly as a warning to would-be violators."

He looked at the problem from a fisherman's viewpoint. "Fishermen are always being fouled up by playboys with big motors, and water skiers.

ZWICKER

"These happy-go-lucky people are always cutting too close to boats, creating big waves or cutting into fishing lines. They should be warned or taken off the lakes, but tickets should be issued only when something really serious happens."

Bob Croasdell, 18, of 292 Russell St., recently graduated from St. Freds, agreed that "it's a good program but I think they can go too far with tickets."

"Warnings are fine but tickets are pretty harsh. It could even get like speed traps on highways.

CROASDELL

"However, I think the overall program of lake deputies is a good idea the way some people drive boats around. It surely should be an aid to swimmers and the boaters who respect others."

Veto by Russia Stymies Quick U.N. Action

Defeats U.S. Plan for Sending World Police Into Lebanon

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—A Soviet veto of an American proposal to replace the Marines in Lebanon with an international police force has effectively blocked any quick U.N. action in the Middle East crisis.

A Japanese compromise resolution to beef up the unarmed U.N. Observer Corps in Lebanon gave only faint hope that the 11-member Security Council would move to ease the Jordan-Iraq-Lebanon situation on Monday.

But most observers predicted that the United Nations' only chance of taking effective action now rests with the General Assembly which could not meet in emergency session before Wednesday at the earliest.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge called on the deadlocked Security Council last night to summon the Assembly into emergency session. But he agreed that a vote on his resolution should be postponed until Japan presents its compromise offer to the council Monday afternoon.

The Japanese have not yet made public their resolution but reliable sources said it would call for a strengthening of the 96-man observer group in Lebanon so that U.S. forces can be withdrawn from there.

Diplomats said the United States was unlikely to accept Japan's resolution unless it provided that the new unarmed border patrols be transformed into a much larger shooting police force.

RUSSIA VETOS MOVE

The United States proposed yesterday that the Security Council call up an international police force to take over from the Marines in guarding Lebanon against infiltration of men and arms across the

2,000 Airborne Gls Join Marines in Beirut

Indications Grow U.A.R. or Russia Preparing to Intervene in Mideast

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

BEIRUT, Lebanon—The U.S. Army flew 2,000 paratroopers into Beirut today to complete the American military buildup in the face of widespread indications Russia or the United Arab Republic was preparing to intervene in the Middle East.

The men of the First Airborne Group of the 24th Division joined 6,800 Marines already on duty. A rebel sniper bullet hit one of the big C130 Hercules transport planes as it flew low over Beirut on a flight from Adana, Turkey. The plane's navigator narrowly escaped injury.

The arrival coincided with diplomatic reports in Western capitals that Russia or the Syrian-Egyptian nation were preparing to send "volunteers" into Iraq to back the rebel government which overthrew King Faisal last Monday.

A Washington dispatch said intelligence officers were checking widespread rumors that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had promised U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser in their secret Moscow talks he would send Russian paratroops to Iraq.

Diplomatic sources in Jerusalem, Israel and in London added that Nasser apparently had been driven to desperation by the Anglo-American troop movements in Lebanon and Jordan which nipped an alleged Nasser plot to win control of Jordan and Lebanon, along with Iraq.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has publicly stated he believes there will be no Soviet intervention although he spoke of "this grave moment in history" and declared that powerful forces "will destroy us if we merely sit on the sidelines."

U. S. Pilot Dies in Crash

A U.S. fighter plane crashed in a mountainous area 10 miles east of Beirut today, killing the pilot.

It was the first U.S. loss since the Marines arrived in Lebanon Tuesday.

The pilot died instantly when the plane plunged into a deep gorge in the mountains behind the capital.

Nearby villagers said rebel Druze tribesmen had been firing in the area but they did not believe any rebel bullets had hit the fighter.

In downtown Beirut, a contingent of rebels invaded the American Presbyterian Mission School and opened a rifle and grenade assault on the government headquarters across the street.

Soviets Outnumber Allies

HAMBURG, Germany — Russia has massed troops and armor on the Turkish and Iranian borders far in excess of all the allied forces in the Middle East, authoritative West German intelligence reports said today.

The sources said there were 24 army divisions located on the strategic border areas, including many armored and mechanized divisions equipped with new T54 medium tanks. They were so close to the border they could be seen by the Turks and Iranians.

Russia announced it was holding maneuvers in the area but this was the first authoritative reports on how huge they were.

The size of the maneuvers—nearly half a million men—underscored the Russian warning that if the United States and Britain do not end what Moscow called "aggression", Russia "will not remain passive."

May Send Special Units

WASHINGTON—The growing Middle East crisis strengthened the possibility today the Army may be called on to send overseas some of its special forces.

The Army has organized four divisions — two airborne and

To Test Boy,14, by Lie Detector

He Confessed Killing Playmate, 11 at Pond Near Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The Washtenaw County Prosecutor's Office today planned a lie detector test for 14-year-old Frank Hogan Jr., who has confessed killing an 11-year-old playmate.

Assistant Prosecutor William F. Alger said Juvenile Court could not waive jurisdiction over Hogan, who won't be 15 until next week, and that the lie test will be asked to find out if a third person was at the scene when the boy killed John T. Winslow. Hogan has said he did it alone.

He confessed the Thursday killing early Friday morning to Ann Arbor Police Lt. Henry Murray after three and a half hours of questioning.

Judge Conlin said Hogan could be sent to Boys' Vocational School in Lansing for a maximum of five years if he was judged sane but could be committed to a mental institution indefinitely if found insane.

Supervisors Take Up Plan Monday

County Views Enlarging Southeast Sewage Area

Enlargement of a sewer district in the southeastern corner of the county, as a preliminary step toward correcting drainage in that area, tops the business to be transacted by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors Monday.

A resolution will be presented then to increase the boundaries of the Southeastern Sewage Disposal District to include most of Troy.

Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry says the move will be a step toward satisfying criticism by the State Health Dept. of inadequate drainage facilities in that area.

The new district will include the cities of Royal Oak, Clawson, Berkley, Huntington Woods, Pleasant Ridge, Ferndale, Oak Park, Madison Heights, Hazel Park, Royal Oak Township, and parts of Troy, Birmingham, Westwood Village, and Southfield.

The old boundaries were established back in 1942, Barry said.

The present interceptor (large trunkline) in the district will now be reinforced by the Dequindre Road Relief Interceptor, which is expected to relieve the overflow conditions caused in the past by having the one interceptor.

Besides this boundary-fixing proposal, a similar one will be presented to supervisors. This will be to fix the new boundaries of the Evergreen Interceptor District, the eastern line of which will be the western line of the Southeastern District.

A recommendation which would ask county municipalities to establish ordinances creating new setback laws for future building, has a place on Monday's agenda.

So has Royal Oak Township's request for the assignment of a driver's license examiner once a week in the township.

An award to the county for the control of brucellosis in cattle, and bids on certain renovations at the Tuberculosis Sanatorium, will round out the seven-point agenda.

Fire Destroys Pontiac Building

Damages to Structure Housing United Furnace Co. Near $45,000

A fire last night destroyed a building at 21 Judson St. which houses the United Furnace Co., doing an estimated $45,000 damages.

The blaze, of undetermined origin, was discovered at 10 p.m.

and was not brought under control until 2:30 a.m. today.

As firemen battled the conflagration, the roof collapsed followed later by one wall facing Judson. No one was injured.

The two-story cement block structure suffered $10,000 damages. The remaining walls are buckled and the building is considered nearly a total loss.

United Furnace, which rents the building from Frank Murray, the owner, had furnaces and parts stored there as well as machinery for forming sheet metal ducts and pipes. Their loss is fixed at $35,000.

Investigation of the premises is continuing today to determine the cause of the fire.

Vendors Greet Marines

Ice Cold Drinks!

By HERBERT G. SPENCER

WITH THE FIRST BATTALION, EIGHTH MARINES, NEAR BEIRUT, LEBANON (UPI) — The top sergeant of this beefed up battalion of 1,800 Leathernecks looked at the beach in amazement.

He had heard the previous Marine landings in Lebanon had met no resistance but he wasn't prepared for what he saw.

CROWDS ON BEACH

Crowds swarming on the beach to watch the landing six miles north of Beirut. Ice cream vendors waiting for the Marines to come ashore. Soft drink machines set up on the beach.

Then he gave his first order:

"All right, you guys, hit the beach . . . but watch out for those kids in swimming."

The Marines not only had witnesses on the beach but some of the kids were swimming out for a better look.

FLOTILLA OFFSHORE

The watchful guns of a flotilla of destroyers standing offshore seemed about as useless as the planes flying cover overhead. The only noise from shore was the applause of the crowd.

The landing went ahead as if the enemy were waiting. Baker and Charley companies fanned out to protect the right and left flanks and other Marines moved in towards high ground. The main objective was a ridge five miles inland which commands the beaches.

Young boys darted in and out of the Marine lines asking them in either English or French about life in America, how did they like Lebanon and how long did they plan to stay. The Marines didn't know.

When they pulled out of the beach area toward the ridge they munched field rations and washed them down with soft drinks sold by the vendors at 50 cents a bottle.

If Jordan Ruler Loses, So Do We

Hussein Free World's Last Chip in Mideast Pot

By TOM A. CULLEN

LONDON (NEA)—A boy king on the shaky throne of a poor nation that has no geographical reason for existence. This is the uneasy pivot on which balances the future of Western influence in the Middle East.

The king is 22-year-old Hussein; the nation, Jordan.

Should Hussein lose control of his land-locked desert realm, the last of the purely Arab nations would be lost to the West, and Israel would be virtually surrounded by the forces of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Both the West and Nasser appreciate Hussein's keystone role. British troops, at the king's request, flew into Jordan to help stabilize the situation.

Nasser reputedly has been behind the three assassination plots against the king uncovered within the past year.

Having weathered the conspiracies, Hussein is credited with a survival value that can be a major asset in the land of the long knife. His cousin, Faisal of Iraq, was not so lucky.

KING HUSSEIN

The two young kings came to their thrones because their grandfathers (who were brothers) had served Britain well in leading revolts against the Turks during World War I. The two men, members of the Hashemite family which traces its lineage back to the Prophet Mohammed, were rewarded with the nations to rule — in name if not in fact. Emir Faisal was given Iraq, and Emir Abdullah, Jordan.

Hussein came to the throne under tragic circumstances. In 1951, King Abdullah was murdered as he was entering a mosque in Jerusalem. His grandson, then 15, was at his side and a bullet ripped his tunic. The boy was the only member of the entourage who didn't throw himself to the ground. Hussein's father, Talal became king.

STUDENT AT HARROW

Hussein went off to Britain and spent a year at exclusive Harrow School whose alumni include Sir Winston Churchill and Jawaharlal Nehru. He is remembered there as a dashing prince who loved fast motor cars and Shakespeare. But to Hussein, Harrow spelled hardship.

"I had to clean out my room every day, make my bed, clean my shoes and press my clothes," he once ruefully recalled.

At the end of a year, Talal was removed from the throne because of a mental breakdown. Hussein stayed in England to take a special six-months course at Sandhurst the Royal Military Academy.

In April, 1953, he came home to take over his throne. But the nation over which he ruled had changed radically since Britain arbitrarily had carved it out of the desert wastes. The original population of 400,000 had been tripled almost overnight in 1948 by an influx of nearly a million Arab refugees from Palestine who fled the creation of the state of Israel.

The original population had been mostly peasants and Bedouin tribesmen, but the refugees included townspeople who are among the best educated and most politically articulate in the Middle East. Many of them still live in camps, subsisting on charity, and growing increasingly bitter with their frustrating plight, and with the Western nations whom they hold responsible for it.

SITUATION EXPLOSIVE

Hussein thus inherited an explosive situation. At 17, however, he was content to let his British advisors, chiefly Lt. Gen. John Glubb, commander of the Arab Legion, worry about it. He took himself a queen, Egyptian-born, English-educated Dina Abdel Hamid. She bore him a daughter, but left him, reportedly because of his taste for fast cars, planes, parties — and women.

But soon Hussein was sucked into the vortex of Arab nation-

Space Heating Request OK'd

State Gives Consumers Authorization to Hook Up 30,000 Applicants

The State Public Service Commission has granted Consumers Power Co. authorization to begin hooking up 30,000 space heating customers who have long been on a waiting list.

The commission's approval includes 17,700 applications in Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties, the largest area grant in the state.

The new customers in Pontiac and other areas are expected to be served by this fall, an official said.

Consumers was authorized to attach the new space heating customers in accord with a plan submitted for spreading the additional service among its 10 operating divisions.

It is expected that the applicants will be served in chronological order, connecting first those that have been on the waiting list longest.

Other allotments, besides the 17,700 in this area, were Battle Creek-Marshall 99, Bay City 1,284, Alma-St. Louis 237, Flint 3,504, Jackson 1,101, Kalamazoo 1,560, Lansing 2,838, Marion-McBain 9, and Saginaw 1,668.

GUTTED BY FIRE — The ruins of the United Furnace Co.'s building at 21 Judson St. shows the intensity of the blaze which burned from 10 p.m. last night to 2 a.m. Although the roof and one wall collapsed, firemen escaped without injury. Total loss is estimated at $45,000.

alist politics — and was forced into growing up.

In 1956, under nationalist, pro-Nasser pressure, Hussein dismissed Glubb and broke his financial and other military ties with Britain. Jordan then became financially dependent upon Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Syria.

The nationalists, however, were not satisfied and aimed at deposing Hussein himself. Last year, when he saw his throne threatened. Hussein took resolute action. He purged the army of leftist officers and dissolved parliament.

The U.S. stepped in with financial and moral support and Hussein once again moved into the small camp of friends of the West in the Arab world. Then he and Faisal allied their kingdoms in a federation to counter the formation of the Egyptian-Syrian United Arab Republic.

Today, Hussein has most of the army on his side together with the Bedouin tribesmen and most of the peasantry. He also has the blessings of the U.S. and Britain.

Against him are most of the urban population, the intellectuals, the Palestinians — and Nasser.

Flies Back to Moscow

Suggests Extra Safety at Nuclear Power Plants

By ROBERT D. NOVAK

WASHINTON (AP) — An explosion at a proposed Michigan nuclear power plant could send a destructive 175-ton missile breaking through the walls of the reactor, according to a government report.

The report, prepared by the Naval Ordinance Laboratory for the Atomic Energy Commission, was based wholly on theoretical mathematical computations.

It sought to determine the effects in event of a nuclear explosion with the violence of 1,000 tons of TNT exploding on a fast breeder reactor to be built near Monroe, Mich., by Power Reactor Development Co.

The report said a 12-foot, 175-ton rotating shield plug could break through the walls of the reactor with missile-like force in the event of an explosion.

The report suggested a large plastic-like balloon might be used as an outer covering to guard against missile-like effects.

It recommended construction of a strong shield to "destroy gun action on the rotating shield plug."

The Naval laboratory's report said the missile-effects represent the only possibilities of breaking the containing walls if an explosion occurs.

The report was prepared last October and submitted to the AEC in March. It became available to the public this week.

Over Attack on U.S. Embassy

Vigorous Protest Lodged

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr. lodged a vigorous protest with the Soviet Foreign Ministry today against attacks on the American Embassy yesterday.

British Minister Hillary Young delivered a formal protest earlier against a smaller demonstration yesterday against the British Embassy.

By midafternoon today there was no indication of further demonstrations at either embassy. A few curious passersby loitered outside the American Embassy looking at broken windows and ink stained walls.

The U.S. State Department ordered the protest after Ambassador Thompson had made a full report listing more than 275 windows broken in the embassy. Front offices and apartments on the first few floors were littered with debris.

No windows were broken at the British Embassy, but there were minor thefts of medicines and books.

Extra police kept onlookers moving in front of the U.S. Embassy today.

An embassy spokesman said he heard of no tourists among the hundreds of Americans now in the Soviet Union who have canceled their stay as a result of the anti-American demonstrations.

The demonstrations apparently were aimed at the embassy and no report of mistreatment or embarrassment of individuals was heard.

The ambassador's protest included demands for full compensation for damages plus assurances that the Soviet government take adequate measures to prevent recurrences of such attacks.

The extensive cultural-athletic exchange program — about the only survival from the period of closer relations between the Soviet Union and the United States — appeared hanging in the balance today.

Washington State's rowing team will participate in a match with five Soviet crews late today and the U.S. track and field team is scheduled to leave New York for Moscow tomorrow.

But American officials here intimated that a single case of violence or mistreatment of American visitors to the Soviet Union could be sufficient to call off the whole program.

Goldfine Leaves Conflict Behind

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Bernard Goldfine left Washington yesterday in the same manner in which he arrived — on a note of controversy.

And, as with his coming, it involved Presidential Aide Sherman Adams.

As the millionaire industrialist and his wife were taking off by plane for Boston, a reporter asked Mrs. Goldfine whether they had visited their old friends, the Adamses, on their final night in town.

"Certainly," Mrs. Goldfine replied.

Goldfine's press aide, Jack Lotto, said the Goldfines had been to the Adamses for dinner.

But at the White House, Press Secretary James Hagerty said there was some misunderstanding.

"Mr. Goldfine was not at Gov. Adams house last (Thursday) night," said Hagerty.

Hagerty said Adams had stopped by Goldfine's hotel to tell him goodbye yesterday morning. And he said Mrs. Goldfine had seen Mrs. Adams on several occasions during the Goldfine's stay in Washington for the congressional hearings.

Goldfine, on reaching Boston, was unavailable for comment by reporters seeking to clarify the conflicting statements.

Goldfine returned home after completing eight stormy days of testimony before a House commerce subcommittee seeking to determine whether Adams had pulled federal strings in behalf of the New England textile manufacturer.

Adams admitted he accepted gifts and favors from Goldfine but denied doing anything to influence federal agencies looking into Goldfine's business affairs. Goldfine also emphatically denied favored treatment.

In Sarasota, Fla. H. Maxwell Goldfine, son of the seavy-spending industralist, slashed himself "between 80 and 100 times" with a razor early today while suffering an "emotional upset."

Goldfine was taken from a motel room to Memorial Hospital where attendants said he had lost a lot of blood but was in good condition. They said all the self-inflicted wounds were superficial and none required stitching.

A policeman found Goldfine attired only in blood-spattered shorts at a motel on Dilido Beach where he and his wife checked in yesterday.

The officer, Patrolman Donald G. Elie, a personal friend of Goldfine, said Goldfine declined to give a reason for his action.

Showers Dampen East

Fair Climates Warming Western Parts of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms rumbled across the central Plains and showers dampened eastern sections of the country today while fair, summery weather warmed the upper Midwest and the far West.

Temperature changes were minor, and where they occurred the mercury generally moved upward.

Heaviest thunderstorms Friday night occurred in southern Nebraska where North Platte reported nearly 1½ inches of rain. One inch fell at both Grand Island and Burwell, Neb.

A tornado touched down into a farm area near Grant, Neb., damaging farm buildings and ripping down power and telephone lines. There were no reports of injuries. Hail also pelted the area.

Precipitation was on the light side elsewhere in the country. Showers and thunderstorms along the lower Great Lakes, Pennsylvania and upper New York State were both widely scattered and light. However, a half inch rainfall was reported at Rochester, N. Y.

In the West, a similar storm pattern dampened the length of the Rockies, but in nearly all cases rainfall amounts were under a tenth of an inch. A few thunderstorms cracked over the Dakotas, and Washington and Oregon received a few light sprinkles.

Fair and generally pleasant weather covered most of the Great Lakes area, where some sections had been soaked by heavy downpours during the week. A similarly pleasant day was on tap for the Pacific Coast and the Great Basin.

Nighttime temperatures were uncomfortably warm across the Southern half of the country, and high humidity produced muggy weather over most of the Southeast. The Southwestern desert area reported temperatures around 90 at midnight.

Slight warming occured in the Dakotas, Missouri and from the lower Great Lakes eastward to New England.

It was cooler in the central Rockies except for the fair sky pattern in the Midwest and Far West. Scattered showers and thunderstorms—mostly of the summer afternoon variety—were on tap for much of the rest of the country.

The expectation is that the other airborne battle group of the 24th would move to Turkey to take up the position held by the first group or to join it in Lebanon if needed there.

Soviet Veto Blocks U. N. on Middle East

Syrian border. Nine of the 11 council members voted for the proposal but it was killed by the Soviet Union's 84th U.N. veto. Sweden abstained.

The council also voted down, 8 to 1, with Sweden and Japan abstaining, a Russian demand that the United Nations order American and British forces out of Lebanon and Jordan immediately.

A Swedish proposal to "suspend until further notice" activities of the United Nation's fact-finding observer group in Lebanon was defeated by a 9-to-2 vote. Only Sweden and Russia favored the proposal, which would have been a backhanded slap at the U.S. Marine landings in Lebanon.

The council then adjourned until Monday afternoon when it will consider the Japanese proposal.

The voting yesterday was delayed by an argument over who should represent Iraq on the Security Council. The seat has been held by Abdul Majid Abbas, who was appointed by the late King Faisal and has been instructed to continue by the Arab Union's new foreign ministry in Amman, Jordan.

Capital Tension Grows

WASHINGTON—Increased tension gripped this capital today with Washington trading grim threats with Moscow and Cairo and troops shifting uneasily along the patchwork borders of the oil-rich Middle East.

The United States and Britain neared the end of a series of critical high-level talks here, determined to stick by their guns in Lebanon and Jordan, where crack elements of their military might are deployed to block the spread of anti-Western rebellion.

Western officials braced for possible Soviet moves to bolster the United Arab Republic and rebel-ruled Iraq in the wake of talks in Moscow between U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told congressmen late yesterday Russia might have promised Nasser more military equipment to strengthen his hand against the West.

President Eisenhower last night called in congressional leaders for a talk on foreign aid funds and the Mideast crisis and left them grim and tight-lipped with a serious picture of latest developments.

Cuban Rebels Free Last GIs

Michigan Serviceman, 13 Others Released by Orders From Castro

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP) — Fourteen U.S. servicemen, the last North Americans kidnaped by Cuban rebels, were free today on direct orders of Fidel Castro "so that you can go fight in Lebanon if your admiral so desires."

Robert R. Asfour of Dearborn, Mich., was one of the 14 American servicemen hostages released yesterday.

The 14 remaining men of the 50 U.S. and Canadian citizens were airlifted by helicopter to the U.S. Navy base on Guantanamo Bay yesterday. They were among 29 sailors and Marines on a picnic bus which Rebels seized June 27.

The men were clean shaven and apparently in good health. Observers here doubted that the men would in fact join the U. S. 6th Fleet. The Navy base here is on alert status because of the Middle Eastern crisis.

The wholesale liberation followed the arrival of a high ranking rebel officer at the jungle hideout of Raul Castro, the brother and lieutenant of the leader in the insurrection against President Fulgencio Batista. The officer bore an imperative order from Fidel that all captives were to be released immediately "because of the situation in Lebanon."

Thirty servicemen in all had been taken as Castro hostages. Another 20 American and Canadian businessmen, engineers and sugar company employes also were picked off during the wave of kidnapings that began late in June.

Ex-Pontiac Teacher Arraigned in Detroit

A former Pontiac school teacher was arraigned in Detroit yesterday on a charge of making a false statement.

William O. Mars, 28, of Detroit, a teacher of science at Jefferson Junior High School until last June, stood mute and will be examined July 31 in Recorder's Court.

Mars resigned June 13 to accept a teaching post with the Detroit school system. He had taught in Pontiac since 1955 and is working on a masters degree at Wayne State University.

Detectives testified that Mars bought a wrecked car from a junkyard last October and used the title to obtain plates for a car he stole.

The Day in Birmingham

Value of School Nurses Told by Education Head

BIRMINGHAM — The life of a school nurse is a busy one, according to the annual report just issued by Dr. Dwight B. Ireland, superintendent of the Birmingham school district.

The staff of four conducted nearly 5,000 interviews with teachers and pupils, in addition to 100 home calls, 110 meetings with teachers and 88 agency conferences. Health classes, kindergarten roundups and showing health films throughout the district accounted for another 325 group sessions.

Ireland said his study of nursing needs in a school district have convinced him that it should be handled by the school rather than through a county agency. He added, however, that the utmost cooperation with county and state health groups is necessary to a successful school program.

"It has made our street a speedway" is the cry from some 50 residents of East Lincoln avenue between Taunton and Eaton roads as they protest the removal of parking from their street.

With individual letters and a petition with 41 signatures, they have aired their grievance to city commissioners who will consider the issue Monday night at their regular meeting.

Residents cite speed as a hazard to the small children attending Terry Elementary School.

A curve in the street, considered dangerous by traffic authorities while parking was permitted, is labeled as worse now, by residents. They say cars and trucks including city vehicles take the inside of the curve now, greatly increasing the danger.

Police Chief Ralph Moxley supports the parking ban that went into effect last April. He is asking commissioners to keep it in operation.

John D. Forsyth, minister of parish activities at Bushnell Congregational Church, Detroit, will speak tomorrow morning at the Congregational Church of Birmingham. He is the first of seven guests who will occupy the local pulpit until the arrival of the interim minister, Dr. Alfred Gray, on September 1.

Senate Passes Defense Plan

Increases Hopes for Agreement Giving Ike Powers He Wants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unanimous Senate passage spurred administration hopes today for a congressional compromise that would give President Eisenhower most of the broad powers he wants to streamline the Pentagon.

With a surprising burst of speed and bipartisan backing, the Senate last night passed legislation requested by Eisenhower to authorize a reorganization of the Defense Department.

The vote was 80-0 and came after only four hours of debate on the bill regarded as one of the most controversial before this session of Congress.

The measure now returns to the House which earlier approved a version containing some features strongly objected to by the President. If the House balks, as expected, at some of the Senate changes, the bill will go to a Senate-House conference committee for attempts at compromise.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said changes made by his group go a long way toward overcoming the administration's objections.

At the same time, he said the changes attempt to quiet fears that the secretary of defense would be given power to abolish or reduce the Marine Corps, Naval Aviation or the National Guard.

The Senate bill specifies that all three are established by law and that advance congressional authority is needed for a major revision.

In Face of Mideast Crisis

Graham Urges Prayer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham urges the nation to pray for courage and faith to see it through the dangerous Middle East situation.

Graham told a standing-room-only crowd of 40,000 last night that the United States is more deeply involved in the Middle East than most people realize.

"The news tonight indicates this could be the hour of our showdown with the Communist world," he said.

"We are at a crucial and critical and grim moment in history. It is a moment that Mr. Nehru said a few days ago . . . could be the start of racial suicide.

"There are many people tonight who think we may be on the verge of a nuclear war."

But the chief problem of the world, he said, lies not in the world, he said, lies not in the Middle East, the H-bomb, racial tensions, or economic insecurity.

"These are only symptoms of something that is deeper," he said. "The heart of man is wrong. His nature is perverted and twisted by sin. This produces hatred, bigotry, intolerance and war.

"There is no possibility of permanent world peace until man has a change of nature that will make him love instead of hate."

Nab 4 Escapees, Still Seeking 3

Searchers Will Return Pair to Pontiac State Hospital Soon

Two Pontiac State Hospital patients were among four escapees from state institutions taken into custody today by searching officers while three others are still being sought.

Eaton County Sheriff's Deputies said Douglas Martin, 17, of Eaton Rapids and Terry Morgan, 15, of Pontiac, offered no resistance when taken into custody about eight miles east of Charlotte this morning.

The two youths who had escaped from Pontiac State Hospital Tuesday night, slipping out a window in the Children's Ward, were spotted fleeing from a county road into a wooded area by deputies.

Martin had been at the hospital since May of this year and Morgan since May, 1955.

A hospital spokesman, Dr. Theodore Saternmoen, said this morning, "We have no reason to believe that either boy is dangerous. Both had been doing well living in an open ward."

They will be returned to Pontiac, it was reported.

Herchel Howell, 19, of Clare, and Edward Shenosky, 23, of Mt. Pleasant, two of three Ionia Reformatory Escapees were captured about four miles south of Lowell by prison guards.

Donald McIntosh, 21, an inmate who escaped with them, is still being sought. Sought from the Camp Waterloo Prison Camp near Jackson are Bernard Ramey, 37, and Marshall Tillotson, 50. They were both last seen at 9 p.m. Friday and reported missing two and a half hours later.

Name Birmingham Man Information Staff Chief

CHICAGO (AP)—Ralph M. Moore of Birmingham was named to head a new department in the Shrine at the annual Imperial Council sessions here.

The department will be known as the Imperial Division of Information.

October Date Is Selected for Firemen's Field Day

Competition for the new Harvey M. Johns Trophy will highlight this year's Fireman's Field Day, sponsored annually by the Fire Prevention Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee.

Johns, chief of plant protection at GMC Truck & Coach Division, said the trophy will be ready for presentation Oct. 4, when the event is scheduled. Johns is 1958 chairman of the safety committee.

The trophy will go to the top all-around team competition in field day events, according to Sherwin N. Birnkrant, chairman of the fire prevention committee.

Fire departments in Pontiac and surrounding communities have been invited to participate.

Besides providing entertainment, Birnkrant said, the field day has two major purposes, planned especially for small, volunteer fire departments.

"It should stimulate inter-department interest," he said, "and at the same time provide an opportunity for further training."

The field day events require firemen to perform tasks similar to those employed at actual fires.

The committee plans to sponsor a Saginaw street parade before the field day program. The location of the field day has not been finally decided.

Bars of Lansing Jail to Fence In Animals

LANSING (AP)—Bars that caged angry humans for many years now will be used to fence in wild animals.

Instead of law-breakers, they will now pen in bears, timber wolves, coyotes and foxes.

Ike's Brother Gets Hearty Welcome

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI) — The Costa Rican government accorded Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower full honors on his arrival here yesterday on his "study mission" and good will tour of the Central American republics.

Foreign Minister Alfredo Vargas headed the official welcoming party at the airport. There was a guard of honor formed by three companies of the civil guard, a contingent of military cadets and a military band.

About 1,000 persons watched the welcoming ceremonies at the airport, an impressive turnout since it is more than 10 miles from town and yesterday was a work day.

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — The U. S. Troopships Randall and Gunspur, carrying dependents and cargo to the U. S. Army Command in Europe, were headed back to the United States today after being diverted in mid-Atlantic.

The ships, bound for Germany, were turned back yesterday. An official Army notice said the dependents will come to Europe some time in August "if possible." Alert precautions have been taken by American forces as a result of the Middle East crisis.

Ordering Troops Into Lebanon Was Right Move by Eisenhower

Ordering the United States Marines into Lebanon constitutes the most serious international step this country has taken in many years. The full significance will only be realized in the days ahead.

Repercussions can be world-wide and the action might conceivably precipitate a conflagration that no living person cares to visualize. Basically, these conditions are true because this globe is plagued by a band of soulless bandits who administer Soviet Russia with no recognition of God, or decency or of people's lives.

A revolution broke out in Iraq. CAMILLE CHAMOUN, President of nearby Lebanon asked us for help he desperately needed and Mr. EISENHOWER landed 5,000 U.S. Marines, pronto, as he said, "To protect our own nationals there and safeguard this tiny nation against the extension of revolutionary tactics across the border."

At the bottom of all this intertional furor is the main oil supply of the whole world. Oddly, this is concentrated in these areas and the pipe lines flow through the affected countries. A large part of the world depends upon this oil for existence itself. Hence, the intense agitation. The Russians want all this power FOR RUSSIA. This would mean WORLD DOMINATION, the Soviet's open dream.

President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER could have "passed"; or he could have temporized; or he could have turned the other cheek. At times, just plain indecision is action of the most positive sort. When an automobile bears down upon you at a high rate of speed, standing still is just as much a decision as leaping to the right or left.

Washington leaders in both parties are fairly unanimous in declaring that the President took the only course open. Ex-President HARRY S. TRUMAN stepped up promptly and said the President was doing the right thing.

Mr. Eisenhower will not escape all criticism, but the head shaking is nothing compared to the storm that would have descended had he ducked or picked up an umbrella and started talking appeasement. U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold is described as "cool" to the U.S. action. This amazes me. Also Sweden acts a little coy. However, the great mass of the understanding world is with us. Personally, I'm glad the greatest professional soldier alive is in the White House. Nations around the globe probably figure the same.

President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER said: "We must meet this situation, whatever be the consequences." This looks the facts right in the face and the United States can stand behind a President that faces reality head-on.

The Commies have massed troops for "maneuvers" that look squarely across an ephemeral border into Iran and Turkey.

Our nation believes the U.N. will assume the assignment of policing the world. However, Russia holds a veto power over the Security Council. Always keep that in mind. The Russians do. England has stepped to our side with paratroopers in nearby Jordan. Urged on by the Reds, NASSER is another time bomb in the international arsenal. Reportedly, he is in secret session right now with the top Russian poo-bahs. As the rebels in Iraq take control of the government, the West has lost a great and powerful ally. It's tragic.

★ ★ ★ •

The belief exists that our definite stand, plus England's troops in Jordan, plus the United Nations' will serve as official notice on Russia that her days of international arrogance are at an end. She must be told this SOMETIME. Otherwise she promises slowly to absorb everything in sight. Delay and hesitation are probably fatal. The President and his advisers and the leaders in both parties agree. It remains for the rest of us to go along, back them solidly, and let the opposition come from the Communists and the Communists' sympathizers here and elsewhere. Here's another one of those times when you must stand up and be counted.

And in Conclusion . . . . . .

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

A few days in New York reveal: A lot of choice TV time for fall goes a-begging. Sponsors are counting costs, checking results and then sitting on their hands. CBS plans a staff reduction and NBC just laid off 350 . . . . . It's startling, but that great N. Y. Central station may be closed if the r.r. doesn't get some tax relief . . . . . Big hotel operators have compiled a list of 400 people in show business who forget to settle their bills and now they pay in advance. "And" says my information, "a great show of indignation won't accomplish a thing."

They tell me an airplane manufacturer is developing a new motor that will whisk commercial planes from New York to Los Angeles in two hours by 1963 . . . . . Newspapermen expect official release of a new multi-million dollar hotel for the New York area . . . . . Both political parties are waging money raising campaigns against odds. The GOP is suffering more than the Dems. Sherman A. didn't help a bit. New York bigwigs agree that one of the top battles of the year will be the Potter-Hart senatorial contest in Michigan . . . . . If Sherman Adams ever is finally given the heave-ho, General Alfred Gruenther is the rumored replacement . . . . . New York headquarters for Arthur Murray says he has banned sack, chemise, trapeze and like garments for his feminine dance teachers.

Sports writers tell me JACK KRAMER offered ALTHEA GIBSON a fairish figure for his touring tennis squad but she thumbed him down . . . . . RICHARD NIXON will tour Europe in September . . . . . Sign glimpsed on Broadway: "Wife Has Gun; Must Travel" . . . . . Overheard in a theater lobby: "That sack dress over there should be worn by a pregnant woman—or one who doesn't want to be."

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

ST. LUKE: a physician, historian and painter from the city of Antioch, wrote the third gospel and the Acts of the Apostles, dealing with the early days of Christianity. Like Mark, he was not numbered among the 12 apostles, and, also like Mark, he accompanied Paul on many missionary journeys. When all others deserted Paul during his final imprisonment, Luke remained, a steadfast friend and in Paul's words a "beloved physician."

During my recent tour of religious sites in Europe and the Middle East, I visited this famous prison, the Mamertine, in Rome. The dungeon has only one entrance, a hole in the ceiling. The door in the wall leads to another cell.

Days of All Faiths

Sunday Is Day Marked for Elijah

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, July 20, is "a day for Elijah." Earlier we told how the Old Testament prophet Isaiah had been considered important enough to Christianity to be carried in the Christian calendar as a saint, even though he died centuries before the birth of Jesus. Here is another Old Testament saint.

What is known of Elijah's career is told in the books of Kings, 1 and 2, in the Old Testament. His most famous achievement was his victory over the pagan priests, as related in I Kings, chapter 18.

This miraculous performance has made him the patron saint (even though he lived and died 900 years before anyone ever heard of saints of the Carmelite Order in the Roman Catholic Church. Today is a big and important day in the calendar of the Carmelites.

ONE OF ST. JOAN'S ADVISORS

Also Sunday—One of the most popular of all saints is St. Margaret, who lived in the third century. She and St. Catherine were the two whose voices were heard by St. Joan of Arc, and who advised the famous French girl in her battles to liberate France from the domination of England.

Margaret's father was a pagan priest, and when she was converted to Christianity by her nurse the situation was really tense. A clergyman's daughter does not just go off and join another church without creating considerable embarrassment for the old man.

So her father, following his lights, put her out of the house. She had nowhere to go, but with the help of the Holy Spirit she found work as a shepherdess. Margaret was, so the story goes, exceptionally beautiful—a real knockout.

One day a very wealthy man came by and saw her looking after her sheep and said, "This is the girl I want to marry." When she refused, on the ground that she was already wedded to Christ, he reported to the authorities that she was a Christian, and as a result she was tortured and finally beheaded.

In the days after the Crusades there grew up a great and widespread cult of St. Margaret. The reason for this may be the tradition that at the time of her martrydom she prayed that whoever should tell or read about her works should be written in the Book of Life, and whoever should build a church in her name should not be punished for his wrongdoings.

In the Eastern churches Margaret is equally popular—under the name of Marina.

JEWS' SAD DAY

Everything terrible in Jewish history is gathered up and mourned on Saturday, July 26, which is called Tishah b'ab. And, in fact, the worst things all seem to have happened right around this time of year.

But because of the many other misfortunes that have, over the centuries, befallen the Jews on Ab 9, this day has been designated as a sort of catchall, on which all tragedies are mourned.

'City Architect Should Get Commission for Library'

A few days ago Mr. Willman stated a few architects are being considered for a commission to design our new Public Library.

I hope for the good of our local business and our City growth that Mr. Willman's considerations are contained by our City limits. It's obvious by some of our new public buildings and other private buildings in the area that we have qualified local talent which should not be overlooked.

Furthermore, it is hard for me to understand why our City Fathers should look to other areas for architectural capabilities. Local business, if distributed locally, benefits all.

'Why Don't Parents Watch Children?'

People wonder why children get hurt and killed by cars so often. I see one area near my home where children have yards but choose to play in the street.

When a car goes down the street they sometimes don't see it, and when they do, they make little attempt to move. Why don't parents do something about it before a tragedy occurs?

Agrees on Need for Boat Licnse

I agree with Jimmy Boyic about having licenses to operate a motorboat. While fishing the other day a boat came by and threw water all over us and almost ran us down. I rent a boat and would like to fish in peace. If those guys had boat licenses, I could have gotten the number and turned it in.

Crisis in the Middle East Gives Ike Renewed Pep

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — A significant change in the demeanor and bearing of President Eisenhower has been reported by a number of top officials who see him daily or weekly.

All commented — almost in amazement — at the renewed vigor and vitality which Ike has exhibited since the dispatch of U.S. Marines to Lebanon.

"The indecision and short temper seem miraculously gone," one high source told this correspondent. "Here is suddenly a man who exudes confidence. His spirits were never higher."

Several officials, in making similar comment, attributed the "new Eisenhower" to the fact that Ike is directing a delicate troop operation in the field of foreign relations that he "knows best."

Congressional leaders who attended the emergency meeting Monday and the regular legislative briefing later this week said the President dominated the situation to a greater extent than he had since his heart attack.

"Mr. Eisenhower did more talking than usual, he led in positive fashion, and he inspired confidence like a real leader should," one source declared.

Several officials commented on the sharpness of the contrast between the President this week and last. At that time, they said he seemed dispirited at the press, and although he did not directly mention the attacks on "assistant president" Sherman Adams in connection with the Bernard Goldfine investigation, they believed that it weighed heavily on his mind.

The President has held no press conference since the coup d'etat in Iraq last Monday, so newsmen have had no opportunity to assess the reported change.

"This is right down Ike's alley," one close associate observed pointedly.

"The President knows that this crisis has dwarfed the importance of the Adams-Goldfine investigation, and his mental attitude has taken a 360 degree turn since his depression of last week."

"He is so buoyant now," the informant grinned, "that he actually hopes for passage of Hawaiian statehood at this session.

"In fact, he won a unanimous pledge from all Republican leaders this week to give it the old school try."

Uncovered Secret Solves Problem

Sandra did a right-about face that would equal that of Scrooge. In fact, she developed stage fright when she was reborn as an attractive woman instead of a coarse wench with a twisted ego. Think of the added happiness to herself and society in generdl by this type of constructive personality change!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Y-366: Sandra K., aged 23, is the graduate student in chemistry who has adopted masculine habits and dress to such a point her very understanding chemistry professor decided she needed psychiatric advice.

At the start of our interview,

DR. CRANE

Sandra was hostile and tried to affect a superiority.

"Why are you wasting your time with me?" she demanded, as she lit a cigarette and spit flecks of tobacco out of her mouth with the first puff.

"Why are you so scared that men would regard you as nauseating?" I immediately challenged.

"What makes you think you can't compete with other girls for popularity?

"Are you a plain coward? Do you surrender without a fight? Why let these coeds intimidate you to such a point that you surrender the field to them and try to run away from them entirely?"

"Dr. Crane, I'm not running away," she protested.

"Yes, you are," I continued to ply my advantage. "You have a high I.Q. and an attractive chassis, if you'd just embellish it a bit.

"In fact, you could give the other girls a real run for their money if you had the courage to face the facts and make a battle of it.

"How did you ever get the false notion, anyway, that you couldn't hold your own in comparison with normal women?"

Sandra had opened her mouth to defend herself, but I didn't let her get a word out till I had finished my barrage.

Then her eyes opened wide and she looked like a frightened child, instead of the cynical, masculinized woman of a few moments before.

She slumped down in a chair. Then she put her hands over her face and began to cry. For I had hit the core of her complex as she got a mental "flash back" to her childhood.

SANDRA'S SECRET

Soon she told me about the drunken housekeeper whom her father had employed to supervise Sandra after his wife had died. Sandra was then only 8 years old.

When this housekeeper had rudely told Sandra she was an ugly brat and no man would ever be interested in her for a wife, Sandra believed the dire news.

She was a shy child, anyway, and lacking in friends. Thereafter she shrank within her shell and compensated by becoming a brilliant student.

Subconsciously, too, she decided to avoid unfavorable comparisons with normal girls by fleeing into the opposite sex.

So she picked a science course in high school and college. She adopted masculine clothes and habits, as well as coarse speech and vulgarity, hard liquor and even profanity.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Tire Prices Going Up, Following Wage Boost

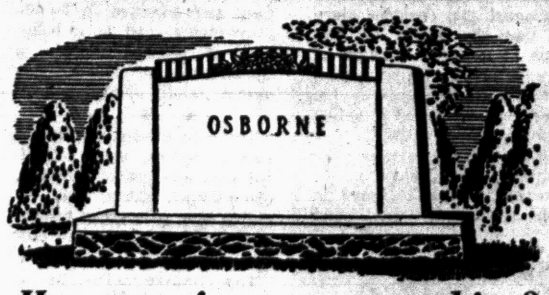

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Prices of all B. F. Godrich tires — passenger car, truck, farm equipment and industrial—go up Monday by 2½ per cent.

Officials of the B. F. Goodrich Tire Co. said the increase "resulted primarily from a recent eight-cent-an-hour wage settlement with the United Rubber Workers."

Other major tire producers — Godyear, Firestone and U. S. Rubber—are expected to follow the price pattern.

Rushing for Home, Gets Ride With Knife

Police are holding a 17-year-old boy who allegedly used a knife to get a ride home yesterday because he was late.

Carlene Helms, 23, of 350 S. Marshall St., told officers last night that as she was getting into her car in the City Hall parking lot, a youth came up to her, pulled a knife and demanded a ride home.

Miss Helms said she drove the boy to 3649 Gainsborough St., Orion Township, after he refused an offer of carfare. He gave her the knife before she took him home, she said.

Police later went to that address and arrested Arthur W. Stevens on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Officers said he later admitted the incident, saying he was afraid to go home late.

SET A GOAL:

Every living thing has a goal the degree of fulfillment is an accurate measure of his, or its, success in life.

Young married people set a goal — rear children to bring credit to themselves. Those children set a goal — if nothing more than win that ball game. Grandma and grandpa filled the goals of former years and now set goals that bring happiness to family and friends. Business men set goals that involve us; to fill them they win our confidence. Those goals are the backbone of our economy. Service Clubs set goals; to fulfill them requires cooperation and dedication of members to bring better social conditions for children and citizens. Even a Prison Warden sets a goal; to fill it he strives to return more men to useful lives. Highway Patrolmen are not ogres in uniform; their goal is make highways safe for everyone.

M. E. SIPLE

One goal to which all of us should strive to fill is the goal of being friendly; it brings happiness, to everyone concerned.

Travel Clothes Big Item for Fall

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP) — Today's women must be prepared to travel in clothes that are appropriate, comfortable and exotic.

Such is the credo of Tina Leser, a travel-happy designer. She delights in jaunting to far corners of the earth with her equally global-minded husband Jim Howley. She brings back fabulous silks, rich brocades and Oriental embroideries to be shaped to the needs and figures of American women.

Winding up a news-packed week of fall fashion showings for 200 visiting fashion editors, the resourceful and romantic Tina shows six major shapes of style for fall and winter, 1958. They are: the dust-ruffle, the Watteau, the trapeze, the harem skirt, the powder puff silhouette and the bifurcated line—the latter consisting of skinny pants and varied tops, in costumes designed for glamor at home or comfort in air travel.

As always, Miss Leser creates an Arabian Nights mood with her rich oriental fabrics, her Aladdin's lamp color magic, her subtle shaping of line to suggest the romance of ancient Persia. Authentic regional and traditional fashions have fascinated this designer since the time she opened her first salon in Honolulu a couple of decades ago and introduced international travelers to the color and excitement of native Hawaiian beach clothes.

Of major interest among her new shapes of fashion is the dust-ruffle silhouette, used in both dresses and coats and consisting of a straight, unfitted sheath ending in a ruffled flounce at the knee-high hemline. This is particularly effective in a simple gray flannel dress buttoned down the front and trimmed in lighter gray piping, and in a bulky coat of brushed mohair in muted tones of pink through orange, faintly plaided.

The Watteau dresses are for gala occasions, have semifitted tops and graceful flaring, dome-shaped skirts. One example is in pale green printed wool challis with a small brown flower motif.

The trapeze silhouette is done in a number of versions, one of the most striking of which is a short evening dress in white flannel embroidered in green and gold, shown with a matching sweater lined in 14-karat gold gauze.

Tina's powder puff silhouette has a puffed back panel floating from the shoulders and caught under at the hemline. Her harem skirts are shown in a number of outfits, including a plaid wool dress in russet tones, worn with a rosy toned and bulky coat of looped mohair.

But perhaps the most history will be made with Miss Leser's new outfit for airplane travel in the space age. It consists of a short jacket and narrow slacks in beautifully tailored checked tweed worn with a color coordinated coat in bulky but lightweight mohair with dashing collar.

Forget Tactless Words

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have a son who is just three years old, and who incidentally is the only grandchild on my husband's side of the family. Needless to say they are very proud of him. My husband's mother, however, has one habit that is most annoying to me.

"Everything the child does, or says, that shows ingelligence is just like her family, and his less admirable traits stem from my family. I tried overlooking it at first but there's a limit to my patience. This may sound trifling to you but I can hardly keep from 'blowing my top' at times. Don't you think this is very rude on her part? Also, have you any suggestions as to how to handle this situation tactfully?"

Answer: My suggestion, most earnestly given, is that you forget the entire situation since it is one that ninety-nine out of one hundred daughters-in-law have to learn to endure and the sooner you do it, the better.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning to go to Europe shortly and among other things bought a very pretty red dress which I had planned to take with me. I have been told that red is not properly worn abroad and that in many foreign countries a woman who wears red is considered a person of questionable character. Will you please tell me if such a thing is true?"

Answer: Nonsense! Red is worn by ladies everywhere in Europe—except of course to a funeral.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My cousin is going to be married soon. His bride-to-be is from another city. I have not met her. I would like to know where to send the wedding present. Would it be proper to send it to the bridegroom since I do not know the bride-to-be's address?"

Answer: If you can't find out where she lives, you will have to address it to the bride in care of the bridegroom.

Dear Abby....

Ladies and Gentlemen!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: You recently had a letter from a woman who complained that her husband picked up a strange woman on the street because she was carrying a lot of bundles.

ABBY

"He gave her a ride home and this started an affair between her husband and the lady with the bundles. You said, 'A gentleman does not pick up a lady, bundles or no bundles' and, furthermore, 'A lady does not accept a ride with a stranger.'

"I disagree with you. A true gentleman would not pass a woman on the street and allow her to carry a load of bundles when he could assist her. Just because the woman accepted the ride does not mean she was no lady."

A GENTLEMAN

DEAR GENTLEMAN: Obviously you are mistaken. The bundles were incidental. Every day men pass women who are carrying bundles and it never occurs to them to pick them up.

This woman evidently had more than just bundles, or else they were pretty neatly stacked. "Gentlemen" don't offer rides to strange women and "ladies" don't accept, if approached.

"DEAR ABBY: My best girlfriend likes to break people up for the thrill of it. She never wants the guys after she gets them. She started to chase my boyfriend to make her own boyfriend jealous, and without even half-trying, she got my boyfriend interested in her.

"He calls her up first and if she's busy he calls me. She is only playing him for a sucker but I love him very much. How can I get her to lay off?"

HURT

DEAR HURT: Your problem is your BOYFRIEND not your GIRLFRIEND (this is a friend?) If he is using you as a second fiddle—better find yourself another string section.

"DEAR ABBY: About 22 years ago there was a man who used to go around giving piano lessons. As far as anybody knew he was not married but he was quite a Romeo. He fathered four illegitimate children within a radius of twenty miles for certain, and Heaven only knows how many more, elsewhere.

"My sister was one of the girls he got into trouble so I know what I am talking about.

"My niece (the illegitimate one but she doesn't know it) is going with a boy who, I am sure, is her half-brother, and they are getting serious. Don't you think they should be told before it gets more serious? And who is to tell them?"

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: The facts should be carefully checked, and if what you say is true, the MOTHERS of the children should break the news.

DEAR ABBY: Do you suppose there is something the matter with me? I've got two fellows who want to marry me, but I don't care for either of them. My mother is having a fit. She says, "Name me one thing that is wrong with either of them!" And, Abby, I can't name one thing wrong with either of them but I don't want to marry them. I am 22 years old, have a good job and am not worried about being an old maid, but my mother is driving me crazy. Please tell me what to do?

NOT READY

DEAR NOT: Your mother had the privilege of picking out one husband in the family—hers. Tell her you'd like the same privilege and not to rush you.

DEAR ABBY: My 16-year-old daughter wants to be a model. She works at it literally hours every day brushing her hair, doing her nails, exercising and measuring herself. I haven't said much about it because I hoped she'd outgrow the idea. We are a respectable family, Abby, and I would like to know if you think respectable girls go in for modeling?

They sometimes are asked to model bathing suits and underwear. Her father is an elder in the church and if his daughter modeled underwear in front of men he would have a stroke. Also, what are her chances for staying good in this line of work.

DISTURBED

DEAR DISTURBED: Modeling is a very respectable profession. Mrs. Kelly's little girl Grace did it and she stayed "good" enough to marry a real live prince.

Be Good Sport

Sulking Never Gets You Anywhere

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I often hear women say that the sex to which they belong is sadly lacking in good sportsmanship. They were not speaking of athletic feats but of gallantry of the spirit. The consensus seems to be that women must fight the tendency toward pettiness, that they are more likely to be sensitive and to hold a grudge than men are, that men meet life in a more "high, wide and handsome" manner.

Be that as it may, there is no doubt that being a good sport is a key to popularity with both men and women. Everyone loves the person who is a good sport, the one who can laugh at a joke on himself or herself, who is just as good tempered when losing at golf or cards as when winning, who can meet hard luck without whining or real tragedy with gallantry. No other attribute makes a woman more popular with men or better liked by women.

If you can lose at cards and laugh, you are a good sport.

LOOK LUDICROUS

Have you ever noticed how absolutely ludicrous a grown man or woman appears when sulking? That attribute should belong to children if anywhere on the earth. Have you ever noticed how much older a woman looks when sulking or pouting? Years pile on magically.

Human nature as a whole seems to be pretty wonderful in times of crisis, but too often we allow life to heckle us in small ways and we then heckle it right back. Life is a pretty mundane thing unless we live it with spirit and gladness, and if we do this, there is no time for irritation, pettiness, sensitiveness or poor sportsmanship.

Fatigue is manufactured, happy moods are spoiled, faces aged and health injured by petty emotions. If we can all learn to be good sports in the real meaning of the word, most of our problems in human relations and happiness will solve themselves.

If you would like to have our leaflet "Eight Weeks to Popularity" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 70. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

'Togetherness' Works Only if Both Want It

By RUTH MILLETT

Memo to the girls who married in June:

Unless you have married a man who is at home in the kitchen, can handle the business end of a scrub mop and doesn't think washing dishes is beneath his dignity, you'd better respect the old-fashioned division of labor that has some work clearly marked "women's" and some "men's."

To put it bluntly, if your husband has no intention of sharing what he regards as "woman's work," then you had better think a long time before pitching in to help him earn a living, do the yard work, the do-it-yourself repair jobs and so on.

Many a bride, married to a man who thinks the house is solely his wife's responsibility, has jumped in with both feet to help with his jobs—and learned later to her disgust that "togetherness" works only when both husband and wife are willing to share each other's responsibilities.

If only the wife believes in "togetherness," she ends up by doing all of her own work and part of her husband's. And by the time there is a house full of young children, the wife has a far bigger load than she bargained for.

Then she writes to me to complain that the house, the yard and the children are all her responsibility, even though she is holding down a job to help pay for a home.

The way for a bride to avoid this eventual disillusionment is to determine right away just how her husband feels about the husband-wife partnership, and then act accordingly.

If he wants his wife just to take care of the home and to cater to his comfort, then she had better not try to assume any job that isn't clearly "woman's work."

But if he lies the idea of two working at home chores as well as earning a living—then she is safe in sharing his responsibilities, because she knows he expects to share hers.

The fashionwise tall size never brings the eye high on the bustline but wears the lightly bloused bodice with lengthened line to carry the eye down to cut height.

A very lightly-bloused bodice, with a slightly lengthened line, on black crepe with black velvet band curving down from the waist and repeated above a low flounce is endorsed for tall girls who want to cut that tall look.

Spadea's american designer pattern

From Herbert Sondheim comes one of the prettiest party dresses to come out this season, with loads of news in the flouncy, tiered skirt and with plenty of fit in the shaped bodice.

The skirt is made of bias cut double folds stitched to an underskirt to keep them full of bounce. The provocative sheer top, slit to the waist in back, is placed over a strapless, fitted and boned camisole.

Choose chiffon, voile, georgette, bemberg, silk or rayon crepe, (if you don't want the sheer top look), and in the fall make it again in thin taffeta, faille or other party fabrics. From this size chart select the one size best for you.

| Sizes | Bust | Waist | Hips Inches | Length From Nape of Neck to Waist |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 8 | 33 | 23 | 34 | 16½ |
| 10 | 34 | 24 | 35 | 16½ |
| 12 | 35 | 25 | 36 | 16¾ |
| 14 | 36½ | 26½ | 37½ | 17 |
| 16 | 38 | 28 | 39 | 17¼ |
| 18 | 40 | 30 | 41 | 17½ |

Size 12 requires 6¾ yards of 50 inch material for dress and 2½ yards of 39 inch material for lining. To order Pattern 1349, state size, send $1.00

For 196 Giant size combination Pattern Book 12-13X, send $1.00 — for Herbert Sondheim label, send 25c. If paid by check, bank requires 4c handling charge.

Confident Living

Wholehearted Approach Always Brings Results

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I was on a train trip recently during one of the many periods of gloomy, depressing, foggy, rainy weather we've had this year. Just looking out of the train window was enough to make anyone feel depressed and, when I went into the diner for breakfast and the waiter came for my order, I said to him, "This isn't much of a morning, is it?"

PEALE

"It sure ain't," he told me in glum agreement.

Just then the dining car steward led a man to my table and seated him across from me. He shook out his napkin vigorously, put it on his lap, leaned across the table and smiled at me, "It's a great morning, isn't it?"

"Well, it's raining," I answered.

"What's wrong with rain?" he asked and gave me quite a dissertation on the benefits of rain. Then he asked, "What's your line, friend?"

"I'm in kind of a religious line."

He assured me it was a fine line to be in and then I had to ask him what his line was. "You really want to know?" he said.

I told him I did, so he reached down into a briefcase he had carried in with him and pulled out, of all things, a fly swatter and put it on the table. "Know what that is," he asked.

FLY SWATTER DIFFERENT

I replied that it was a fly swatter.

"Ah, but this isn't an ordinary fly swatter," he pointed out. "You've never seen one like this before. It's bigger than most and so makes it easier to kill flies. But the great thing about it is this . . ." and he pointed to a place where there was a little tank. "This is filled withperfume and every time you swat flies, you fill the air with perfume." Then he went on to tell me how well he was doing making the world a sweeter-smelling place with fewer flies.

By the time he got through with me, I was all set to buy one myself. When he left, I thought to myself that here we had talked, a minister and a fly swatter salesman, and our subject had not been the greatness of God but the greatness of a new kind of fly swatter. And I asked myself what was wrong with me that rainy day that I hadn't been able to bear glorious witness to the power of God.

The answer was a simple one. The fly swatter salesman had practiced the art of enthusiasm — which I am always preaching and writing about — and I had failed to do so. The result was that he had sold me on his fly swatter and I had failed even to approach him on my much more important mission. But then I realized that he probably hadn't really needed me at all.

For this man had been able to take a simple, humble household object and, by his wholehearted approach to the problem of selling it, been able to fill it with glory. He had done this only by means of his enthusiasm.

As I have written many times before, the ancient derivation of the word "enthusiasm is, quite literally, "filled with God." And there is no better way than the art of enthusiasm to fill your own work with glory and to crown it with success.

The Rev. Mr. Baughey, pastor of the tabernacle, stated the congregation built the motel at a cost of $5,000 with most of the work done by the men and boys.

All meals are being served in the dining hall on the camp grounds.

Not Enough Ministers

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Methodist Church reports it isn't turning out enough new ministers to replace those who retire, die or otherwise leave active service. Over a 12-month period, said the Rev. Dr. Gerald O. McCulloh, theological education director, the church lost 1,324 ministers, and graduated only 825 new ones. This, he said, leaves a "precarious need."

Benny Tells Sure Way to Stop Gambling Loss

By EARL WILSON

LAS VEGAS — Jack Benny, on vacation here from television, gave me an exclusive explanation of his secret system of not losing at the dice tables. (He doesn't play.)

Actually, he doesn't play much. He'd been sitting in the coffee shop with George Burns about 5 p.m. when he yawned, and George said, "What are you going to do? Take a nap?"

"I think I might go lose $20," he said.

And so one of the richest men in show business, in shorts and sports shirt, was seen leaning over a hot dice table a few minutes later, risking a few silver dollars —while next to him several nonentities with much lesser fortunes were betting $50 chips.

"I limit myself to $100 a day," Jack told me earlier. "And if the $100 is gone by noon, that still my limit. If I didn't—being here a whole month—I could get killed."

In his night club act — a big sellout — he tells it somewhat differently.

"We all get about the same salary here but I take mine home," he says. "Oh, I may risk a few dollars. But by that time, the house has bought me four cigars and six drinks, and I'm ahead. I may become an alcoholic but never a gambler."

BENNY

Jack's fascinated by the high-rollers. We discussed a well-known figure who won $1,000,000 in a card game.

"That guy can't sit down to lunch without making a bet — such as how many seeds there are in his slice of watermelon," George Burns said.

"Or whether the waitress will serve you or me first," Jack said. "Those guys know how to gamble. I don't.

Jack asked me how I liked "The Music Man" and I told him about a man in it who drops a valise with a loud crash. When asked what he does, he says, "I'm an anvil salesman."

"Isn't that an old vaudeville bit?" I asked Jack and George Burns.

"I never saw it," both said.

"But I think it's very funny," Jack said. "If it were given to me, I'd do it."

George Burns sucked his cigar. "I'm going to do it!" he announced. "Not only that, I'm going to wire them and tell them to take it out of the show because I originated it and it's mine."

Jack laughed for two minutes. That's why they say he's the world's best audience and one of Show Business' nicest people.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Hugh O'Brian wants to own part of his "Wyatt Earp" series, and one TV exec says, "He's so unhappy that he's shooting to miss." Jerry Lewis wants to get started as a movie director soon . . . James ("South Pacific") Michener is writing another about the Pacific . . . Henry Fonda will probably play the lead in the film, "Anatomy of a Murder."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Larry Blyden tells of the Texan who wouldn't go to the dentist — he didn't want anybody drilling on his property. That's earl, brother.

4 to Be Arraigned in Death-Beating

PORT HURON (AP) — Four men charged with the robbery-murder of a St. Clair Shores father of two will be arraigned today before Ira Township Justice George Hart.

The defendants, all highway construction workers, are accused of fatally beating 39-year-old Leon J. Jasinski.

The victim died Wednesday in a Detroit hospital, but picked the four men from a police lineup before he succumbed to his injuries.

Jasinski, a Chrysler Corp. draftsman, told police he was beaten on the head by the men when he accepted their offer to drive him home from a bar last July 5.

Eddie Fisher Moves Up to Rim of Golden Circle

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Singers come and singers go, and only a few reach that golden circle of permanent stars.

Of the younger crop, Eddie Fisher seems most likely to join the Crosby - Sinatra - Como level. That's the impression you get when you see him perform on the Tropicana stage.

The guy is personable without being brash, modest without being phony. And how he sings! He is one of the few pop singers with enough voice to push aside the microphone and belt a song with no amplification. And he's got feeling, as when he sings "For My Friend," the title tune from "Around the World in 80 Days."

It's no wonder that Eddie was one of the few singers to survive the last TV season. And against large odds; He was faced with the opposition of two top Westerns, Cheyenne and Wyatt Earp. But as the season was closing, he and alternate George Gobel were holding their own and sometimes beating the cowpokes in the ratings.

"We'll be back next year in the same spot," said Eddie after his Tropicana show. "But it will be on a different basis. I'll do only 12 shows, not 16, and I'll be on George's show only three times instead of every week. And I won't be making so many guest appearances on other shows. I did about six last year."

Fisher admitted that the show got off to a slow start—"We made mistakes at first, and we'll make others too." But he profited from them, and his final shows were among the best of the season.

He has also admitted that the Fisher-Gobel chemistry did not come off too well. Both are the gentle type, and a comedy team usually requires one member to predominate. Next season they will mix only six times.

How does Fisher survive when other singers lose their sponsors? The answer is not in the ratings, but in sales. The sales pitch on Eddie's show was aimed at the sponsor's king-size cigarette. Sales went up sharply. Hence the renewal.

Never one to shun work, Eddie followed his strenuous season with a seven-week stint at this desert hotspot. But he plans to take the rest of the summer off in Hawaii with his wife Debbie Reynolds and their two children.

Nobel Winner to Head University of California

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, a Swedish immigrant's son who worked as a warehouse stevedore before turning to the science career that won him a Nobel Prize, will be the new chancellor of the University of California's Berkeley campus.

The regents last night unanimously chose Dr. Seaborg, 46, as successor to Dr. Clark Kerr, who stepped up July 1 to become president of the statewide university.

She's Given Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Carol Ohmart says her husband, TV Western star William Preston, resented it when she asked if he could spend more time at home. Instead of replying, she testified in a divorce action, he kicked in the television set, broke some dishes and broke a mirror. Miss Ohmart was awarded the divorce.

2 Children Rescued in Wilds

ORR, Minn. (AP) — Francine Crego, 10, and her brother, Michael, 8, were back on home-cooked rations at grandpa's house today after eating wild berries and drinking swamp water while lost for 52 hours in a tangled wilderness of trees, brush and bogs.

The youngsters walked safely out of the woods late yesterday while more than 300 men, aided by planes, a helicopter and two-way radios, were pushing the second day of a search for them.

"I wasn't scared, but I'll never go out picking berries again," said Francine. "We didn't see any bears but we wouldn't have been frightened if we did because Mike would have barked at them."

Mike, a small, black cocker spaniel nestled in the girl's lap as she talked.

The children left the home of their grandfather, Lyle Crego, at remote Ash Lake Wednesday afternoon to pick blueberries. It was 5:30 p.m. yesterday when Edward Cornell, Valparaiso, Ind., saw them trudging along a narrow road near Elephant Lake, where he and relatives were vacationing.

"We can't go for a ride, we've got to get to grandpa's house," Francine told Corneil. Upon his promise to take them there, they did get into his car — some 10 miles east of where they started.

Happy Bandit Caught

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A happy bxandit robbed a branch bank of $11,206. As he ran from the bank, he laughed over his shoulder: "Ha, ha, ha! I got all your money." William Harrison Coley, 30, was arrested three hours later and charged with the bank robbery and the $10,000 holdup June 2 of a food store here.

Sally Sharp Women's Champ; 2 Tied in PGA

Wins 2nd Title in Three Years at Plum Hollow

Birmingham Girl Defeats Ex-Champ Mrs. Marquardt

DETROIT (AP) — Power-hitting Sally Sharp, a classy young golfer who plans to make a career out of child psychology, has the Michigan Women's Amateur Golf championship for the second time in three years.

The 21-year-old blonde, who started playing golf when she was a child of five, was in command all the way yesterday and defeated Mrs. H. G. Marquardt of Mount Clemens 3 and 2 in the title match over 36 holes.

At the fourth hole of the morning round, the Michigan State senior from Pontiac's Forest Lake Club went one up—and she never let her opponent out of the jam. Mrs. Marquardt, the popular housewife who took the state crown in 1953, had won the second hole with a par.

She never won another one until the 12th, as Miss Sharp was roaring to a three-hole advantage after nine holes. She hiked the margin to four-up at the end of the first 18 holes. Though Mrs. Marquardt tried gamely to bang back into contention in the afternoon, Miss Sharp stayed comfortably ahead with longer drives off the tee, crisper iron shots and adequate putting.

Possibly the outstanding part of Miss Sharp's triumph was her uncanny ability to work out of difficult spots when her shots strayed. She won the eighth hole although her second shot was in a sand trap. She blasted out beautifully to within five feet, and got her birdie putt. Again at 16 she was trapped but came out nicely and halved the hole with a par.

Sally's drive strayed at the 380-yard, par-4 No. 13 hole but she used her caddy for direction coming out of a deep gulley and placed a nine-iron shot just short of the pin. She got down in two putts and won the hole with a par.

For the championship match at Plum Hollow Golf Club, Miss Sharp was three over par while Mrs. Marquardt was seven over. Ladies' par is 39-39—78 at the 6,347-yard layout.

3rd Ace for Graham, Bloomfield Hills Pro

Genial Bill Graham, veteran Bloomfield Hills Country Club golf professional, yesterday collected his 3rd links ace. Playing with Louis Colombo Jr., and Hanley Dawson Jr., Graham holed his tee shot on No. 17, a semi-blind 165-yard carry at his home layout.

Bill's 4-iron shot into the wind was "lost" on the green when the threesome arrived, but was found in the cup after a look around. Graham bagged his first hole-in one at Elie, Scotland in 1924, carded his 2nd at Bellaire, Fla., in 1954. He had a 32-35—67 for the Friday round.

Revelation Is Champ

Revelation, the fine black gelding owned and ridden by Sue Sauer of Bloomfield Hills, was the junior working hunter champion at the recent Metamora horse show. Steelstrike, Sue Foley's entry (of Birmingham), was reserve in the final compilations.

From The PRESS BOX

Billy O'Dell batted in six runs with a grand slam homer and two singles as Clawson whipped Rochester 9-3 Friday in a Legion make-up game. Clawson has a 7-3 loop record.

The Washington Redskins have signed halfback Sid Watson, who was recently released by Pittsburgh, and small college grads Buddy Bessent, a guard, and halfback Ken Lander. Arkansas U. mound star Dick Hughes was inked by the St. Louis Cards yesterday for a "substantial bonus."

UAW-CIO Golf Test August 2

The 10th annual UAW-CIO Region 1-B golf tournament will be held on Saturday, Aug. 2, at Pontiac Municipal golf course.

Championships will be decided over an 18-hole medal play route in three divisions—men's individual, women's individual and four-man team division for men.

All flights will have both gross and net winners. Flights will be divided according to established handicaps. Prizes go to all winners.

Any AFL-CIO member in good standing in Region 1-B of the UAW and all immediate relatives are eligible to enter the tourney, which is sponsored by the UAW Oakland County Recreation Council of Region 1-B.

Deadline for entries is Wednesday, July 23. Post-entries will be at the 1st tee until 11 a.m. on the day of the tourney.

Mackay, Kazoo Girl Defeated

CHICAGO (AP)—Sammy Giammalva reached the high point in his attempt for a tennis comeback yesterday when he whipped top-seeded Barry Mackay in the quarter-finals of the National Clay Courts tournament.

Susan Hodgman of Kalamazoo, Mich. bowed out in doubles play.

'Grand Slam' Beats Tigers 11-9

BOSTON (AP) — If the Detroit Tigers could keep Boston's Frank Malzone from hitting grand slam homers, they would be a lot happier.

Twice in his major league career Malzone has rattled off home runs when the bases were loaded. And twice the victim of his four-run blast has been Detroit.

Last night, it meant victory for the Red Sox, 11-9, although Boston's third baseman didn't do it alone. Sharing individual honors with Malzone was Pete Runnels, who collected three doubles and two singles off Detroit to take over the American League batting lead.

For Detroit, the loss meant the Tigers have no chance to climb into second place in league standings in their current four-game series with Boston. To do that, they would have to sweep all four contests.

As it stands now, Detroit is 14½ games out of first place, just half a game ahead of fourth-place Baltimore.

The Red Sox win moved them three and one-half games ahead of the Tigers.

Malzone slammed his four-run homer into the left field screen in the seventh inning, breaking up a 6-6 deadlock. The other grand slam of his career was hit off Detroit's Frank Lary last year.

Detroit was doing well after two and a half innings, leading 5-1, against rookie right-hander Bill Monbouquette, a young French-Canadian pitching his first Major League game. The runs were scored partly on sloppy fielding and two of them were unearned.

But by the fifth, the score was tied 5-5, and in the sixth Ted Williams put the Red Sox ahead by scoring on a wild pitch throw by Bill Fischer, one of five Detroit hurlers. Williams had doubled and taken third on a couple of walks.

Tiger second baseman Frank Bolling scored in the seventh to pull Detroit up even at 6-6. And then Malzone came to bat in the Red Sox half of the inning. The rest of the scoring was anti-climatic.

In all, it was a real slug-fest. The Red Sox got 18 hits, their high for the season, while the Tigers collected 15.

Fischer took the loss, his third in nine appearances this year. Credit for the win went to Murray Wall, who now has five victories against seven losses.

Billy Martin paced the Tigers with three hits and stole home in the 1st.

80 Great Lakes Yachts Sail in 333-Mile Race

CHICAGO (AP)—More than 80 sailing yachts from major ports on the Great Lakes will unfurl canvas today and start a 333-mile race to Mackinac, Mich.

The cruise from Chicago to Mackinac has been held for 51 years and with more than 80 boats weighing anchor the field is of record size.

Major defending champions in the fleet, which will set sail starting at 1 p.m., EST, and arrive some time Monday, include:

Meteor III, owned by Henry Burkhard of the Bay View, Mich., Yacht Club, and Dyna, owned by Clayton Ewing of the Green Bay, Wis., Yacht Club.

Bill Would Register Small Motorboats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation requiring the numbering of small motorboats as part of a marine safety program was passed Friday by the House and sent to the Senate.

The bill applies to all boats propelled by motors having more than 7½ horsepower, regardless of their length. Existing law requires registration of all motorboats over 16 feet in length.

Effective date of the proposed law would be April 1, 1960. Between now and then states are expected to adopt uniform safety laws for motorboating and to provide for registration of boats. They could fix the fees. Registration in states that don't adopt their own laws would be handled by the Coast Guard. All registrations would be valid for three years.

The San Francisco Giants regained 1st place in the National League last night when Willie Mays swatted a two-run triple to produce a 5-4 triumph over Pirates as Chicago was whipping Milwaukee 5-3, featuring homers by Ernie Banks and Walt Moryn, and John Briggs' 4th straight win.

The Cincinnati Redlegs beat St. Louis 8-3 and 2-1 with Don Newcombe and Bob Purkey the victors. Newcombe had three hits one a 420-foot homer. George Crowe and Frank Robinson helped Purkey to notch No. 11 with circuit clouts. Steve Bilko's three-run homer led the Dodgers to an 8-6 conquest of Philadelphia. Don Zimmer, Ed Bouchee and Chico Fernandez also homered.

Boston shaved the Yankee lead to 11 games in the American League by downing Detroit as Kansas City southpaw Dick Tomanek defeated Don Larsen and his mate 2-1.

Al Smith drove in five runs with a double and the 1st grand slam of his career as Chicago drubbed Washington 9-2 behind Early Wynn. Ex-Tiger Hal Woodeschick hurled seven-hit ball and Earl Averill socked a three-run home run to pace Cleveland over Baltimore, 5-1.

Geiss-Yager Team Paces Invitational

Birmingham CC's Invitational best-ball golf tourney today moves into the quarter-final round with the Jack Geiss—Duke Yager team the pace-setter, off yesterday's results. This pair hit a 4-under-par then coasted in for a 4 and 3 win over Herm Spierling and Fred Sparks.

Friday's round saw defending champions Rich Weyand and Roy Nelson bow out to Sammy Kocsis and Elmer Ellstrom, 1 up. Kocsis birdied the 15th to take the lead and the winners halved out the final three holes.

The club's amateur course mark was cracked by Tommy Sheehan's pair of 33s for a record 66.

FRIDAY'S FIGHTS
NEW YORK—Bobby Scanlon, 134½, San Francisco, outpointed Orie Kerwin, 135½, Valley Stream, N.Y., 10.

Finsterwald and Jay Hebert Even at 139

Three Others at 140; Fleck Quits, Demaret Disqualified

HAVERTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The Professional Golfers Assn. championship field moved past the halfway spot today as closely bunched as a field of maiden 2-year-olds dashing down the Widener chute at Belmont Park.

And the odds against any one player's winning the title were about as uncertain as in one of those celebrated racing scrambles.

Going into the third round at the Llanerch Country Club, Jay Hebert and Dow Finsterwald, two golfers with special reasons for wanting to win this title, had their noses in front. That is, they were one stroke ahead of three of golf's toughest tournament competitors—Sam Snead, Julius Boros and Billy Casper—by the margin of 139 to 140.

Jay Hebert, who birdied the last four holes in a fiery attack on the shortened 35-35—70 par of the 6,727 yard Llanerch course, is the older brother of last year's winner Lionel Hebert. For the past year Jay, who never has won a major championship, has had to live to a certain extent in his brother's shadow. Finsterwald was the player Lionel beat in last year's final.

In all, 13 players were clustered within four strokes of the lead at the start of the third round.

At 141, just two strokes off the lead, were the two outsiders. They were tiny Felice Torza of Aurora, Ill., who was runner-up in the 1953 PGA championship, and Bill Collins, an unemployed pro who has placed well occasionally during the winter tour.

As a substitute for the "black Fridays" of match play days, the PGA instituted a cutoff after the second round which eliminated all but 93 players who scored 154s or better. Another cut today will reduce the field to the low 60 and ties for Sunday's final.

Among those who failed to make the grade were 56-year-ld Gene Sarazen, past winner of three PGA and two U.S. Open titles; former PGA champs Jimmy Turnesa and Chandler Harper; former Open champion Jack Fleck and 47-year-old Jimmy Demaret, who still hasn't won a major national title.

Fleck withdrew after three bogey holes and a disagreement over playing rules yesterday. Demaret, who had started with a 69, shot what he called the worst golf of his career yesterday. Then he attested to a scorecard which Ted Kroll had added incorrectly, was disqualified and didn't have his 84 show on the board.

The leaders:

Your Neighbor's House

Robert Lewis' Remodel Farmhouse

background for LIVING

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Their living room was once a grocery store! Now it is a warm, friendly room with a big bay and a cheery fireplace. The old farmhouse, now owned and remodeled by the Robert C. Lewises, was built about 60 years ago. It took the Lewises eight years to complete their remodeling.

★ ★ ★ ★

To find the Lewis home you go west of Oxford on Drahner road. Their driveway is marked with a pair of gate posts made in Germany. In front of the house there's a little cast iron figure, holding a lamp. These figures are made in Oxford, but they look like something out of the deep south in the time of the Civil War.

The remodeling of the Lewis home was a do-it-yourself project. Their only outside help came from a neighboring carpenter. The only one of their three children still unmarried (and he just went into service) is 18 year old Mike.

Cobblestones forming the basement of the original house make it one with a firm foundation. The Lewises did little about changing interior walls. They knocked out the front wall to include part of the old porch in the present living room and to make the bay.

They had to knock out one wall in the kitchen area to give that room more light. All ceilings were lowered.

The main entrance of the house is at the side. A wrought iron railing trims the cedar paneled porch. This is a favorite resting spot for Lew, the red cocker.

Inside is the old keeping room, now the family room and study. The beamed ceiling and wainscoting are made of knotty cedar. Flooring, laid in a diagonal design, is fir. Paper above the wainscot is green figured.

An open hutch cupboard, painted black, stands in one corner. This is a room full of doors. Five of them leave limited wall space for furniture. Near one window is a desk. A wooden rocker stands on the green braided rug near the middle of the room. A small chest occupies the wall near the opened exterior door.

The bathroom is off the keeping room. The last room in the house to be remodeled, it's a glamorous modern room. Burl cedar was used to make the cupboard fronts and the vanity.

Vanity top and the floor are covered with pastel tile in a mottled design. As is the study, the walls are half covered with cedar wainscoting. Above is black and pink wallpaper.

At the window louvered shutters close off the lower part. Above are pink curtains. The wall around the tub is tiled, as is the planter at the end.

In the living room ceiling and floor are finished the same as in the study. The wall adjacent to the fireplace wall is papered with red brick paper. That is the only paper in the room. The other walls are paneled in cedar.

In the bay there are three large windows, reaching from floor to ceiling. Sandalwood draperies under wood cornices are drawn back at each side.

There are twin arm chairs in in this bay, slip covered in striped denim. Grandmother's walnut table stands between the chairs. Over at one side is a most interesting drum sewing table.

Made of birds eye maple, it has drawers at the top that slide right through from one side to the other. Below there is open space inside the paneled sides. The top is made of wedge shaped pieces with a star of olive wood in the center.

MAN-MADE RUGS

Two sofas, several arm chairs and a maple coffee table make the room a comfortable looking one. A large braided rug covers most of the center of the room, while small hooked ones are used elsewhere. These latter were made by Mrs. Lewis's father.

When the Lewis' bought the house, they said the kitchen had no window in it! By taking out walls and cutting through an exterior wall, they remedied that and ended with a large kitchen-laundry room and a breakfast room.

The floor is a large expanse of off white linoleum tiling. Walls and cupboards are knotty cedar. Behind the sink and the stove and on the counter tops green linoleum is used.

In the breakfast room there are three windows. The largest one where the Lewises eat is separated into small panes. The end windows are plain. All are draped with green material. The short window above the sink has black and white cafe curtains.

L-Shaped hinges on the cupboards and tiny trivets used for handles give the kitchen a quaint air. The maple drop leaf table and rush seated ladder back chairs contribute to the colonial look. By way of contrast, a modern washer and dryer take up the space on one wall, while a large freezer is located in the back hall.

Upstairs the Lewis' have done little, save to paper and paint. There are three bedrooms and a large hallway. All the rooms have wide floor boards. Their room is green with maple furniture. The guest room is yellow and white with Victorian furniture.

It is Mike's room that holds the interest. Anyone coming face to face with his closed door might be given a start. His nameplate and two flags are not too unusual, but the ceramic shrunken head is!

Inside it's a boy's room that tells the history of his varied interests. Walls are paneled in cedar and the floor is covered with rush matting. Draperies are green.

There are collections of model airplanes and of college pennants. There's a mixed display of guns, knives and Confederate money. There are books and sports equipment and a comfortable chair for reading. There's a picture of the team on which he played football. There's a picture of his girl.

The Lewises covered the exterior of the lower part of the house with Cast-o-Stone. The rest is insulated siding. As you come up to it from the road you are reminded at once that is it a blend of the old and the new. In the upstairs windows a ventilating fan is clearly visible. On the roof there are old fashioned lightning rods.

CEDAR WALLS — Knotty cedar is used to make both walls and ceiling in this living room. The floor is fir. Part of the new bay with its floor-to-ceiling windows can be seen at the left. The fireplace is made of field stone, has a raised hearth. That wall on the right isn't really brick, but a good facsimilie in paper. Furniture is large scale and comfortable. The coffee table is maple. There's a piano in the section of the room from which this picture was made.

BEFORE REMODELING — This is the way the Lewis house looked when they bought it in 1949. It was just an old farmhouse, similar to thousands of others in this country. At one time the former owners ran a grocery store in the front room, seen at the left in this picture. The door to that room and the small front windows were doomed when the Lewises took over. Otherwise, they did not change the exterior lines.

THE HOUSE TODAY — The house has a much more compact look now that the large porch has been eliminated. Incorporating it into the living room made that room more attractive. The windows on this side of the house now match in size and kind. Exterior walls are Cast-O-Stone and insulated siding. The little porch is paneled in cedar.

THE KEEPING ROOM — This is study, pass-through and family room, whichever desired. The diagonal pattern of the floor boards is very apparent here. Walls are partially paneled and partly papered. The rocker and desk are maple. The new bathroom can be seen through the door behind the rocking chair. This is a room of many doors.

Tape Will Prevent Splits

Cuts in plywood need not be a problem with your power outfit or a regular hand saw. Cellophane tape is a quick and tested answer, says the February issue of Home magazine. Apply it to the plywood, centering it over the cutoff line. It stops the veneer from splitting when the saw goes through.

COTTAGE-LIKE — A cottage-like appearance adds a friendly note to this exterior which makes use of different materials including adzed siding, brick, flush boards and vertical boards and battens. The entrance is recessed.

PRACTICAL PLAN — This floor plan shows the practical circulation arrangement of this week's home. Note the sliding wall at one end of the living-dining area. The bathroom is centrally located. From the garage the service entrance leads directly to the kitchen and to the basement stairs.

Small, Low Cost Ranch Carefully Designed

By JOHN O.B. WALLACE

A warm, home-like exterior puts this money-saving ranch house in a class by itself.

While many a home of modest size and cost seems coldly functional, we have one here in which appearances have meant a great deal to the designer, as they will to the owner.

The designer, Rudolph A. Matern, who specializes in small homes, set out deliberately to keep costs down by keeping the size moderate and putting all the space to work.

"My purpose," he says, "was to get a very small, low-cost home. At the same time, the house had to provide the number of bedrooms most needed by the majority of people. This number is three.

"The house also had to provide an interesting exterior and offer an entertainment-living area large enough to dispel any small-house, cramped feeling.

"Beyond that, my purpose was to provide an efficient and comfortable home."

A run-down of the plan shows: The habitable area is less than 1,000,000 square feet.

The three bedrooms all have at least five feet of closet space. Combined, they have 17 feet of closet space — nearly twice the amount required by the FHA.

All closet doors are louvered, and the larger ones are accordion and fold back on themselves. This allows a large closet to be opened fully without consuming room space.

The living and dining areas are end to end to give a "big look" to this one-room arrangement.

The third bedroom, which may be used instead as a den or study, is separated from the living-dining area by a floor-to-ceiling sliding wall. With the wall pushed back into its pocket, an expanse of more than 31 feet is thrown open.

The sliding wall pocket extends outside the house and encloses one side of a rear terrace.

The circulation arrangement of the plan creates marked efficiency.

Hall space is kept to a minimum, the bath is located at its most convenient point — and the service entrance leads directly to the kitchen and to the basement stairs.

In addition to the generous storage space of the living areas, extra space is built into the garage and is separated into three parts: a storage area for porch furniture just off the rear porch; a storage area for children's play articles, with a door of its own, and a storage area for tools next to the work bench.

The kitchen, nearly 19 by 10 feet in size, has a large breakfast area flooded by natural light entering through diamond-paned windows. The kitchen is linked to the dining area, and it shares a two-way brick fireplace which goes through to the living room.

Between the foyer and the living room are louvered doors. These may be left open for decorative purposes or they may be closed to give living room privacy.

The living room, beside the floor-to-ceiling sliding wall, includes a picturesque window seat extending along 13 feet of the rear wall. Aluminum and glass sliding doors open onto the rear terrace.

A warm, cottage-like exterior has been achieved through the use of different materials. Adzed siding is used in the front gable and flush boards are used on the rectangular bay window. Brick flanks the entrance.

Lattice work, board and batten shutters and thick, butt roof shingles complete the exterior.

STATISTICS

Folding Wall Is Practical, Easy

New designs in sliding and folding door hardware available today have "opened the door" for dozens of new ways to improve the home with room dividers and space-saving partitions.

These dividers can be both attractive and practical. Here's an example:

Eight narrow louver doors of ponderosa pine were hinged together like a screen and suspended from a sliding track attached to the ceiling.

In this case, two beds in a bedroom are separated without cutting off circulation of air, since the wood louvers let air pass through. When privacy isn't needed, the screen folds back against the wall.

A similar screen also would be ideal between a dining area and living room, to close off a laundry from a basement playroom, or for any number of uses throughout the house.

The louvers also add the distinction of neat texture to rooms, and the clear ponderosa pine is easy to paint or stain.

Sliding and folding louver doors are equally ideal for closets and doors between rooms — anywhere it is desirable to have free circulation of air.

Properly Used Latex Paints Are Excellent

DO . . . bear in mind that latex is made by mixing certain chemicals with water instead of turpentine or mineral spirits, so be certain you do not mix either of these solvents with it.

DO . . . remember that such terms as rubberized, butadiene-styrene, polyvinyl acetate and acrylic all apply to different types of latex paints.

DO . . . know that all latex pants dry quickly, are odor free and can be brushed, rolled or sprayed on.

DO . . . clean brushes, rollers and sprayers immediately after using them with latex paint, since it dries so quickly it will be extremely difficult to remove if you wait.

DON'T . . . try to tint a latex paint with oil paint or oil colors.

DON'T . . . use latex paints where they will come into contact with water or high humidity immediately after applying.

DON'T . . . use latex paint on metal surfaces from which rust has not been removed and which have not first been coated with a metal primer.

Redwood Off to Brussels

A California redwood log, 16 feet in diameter, three feet long and weighing 13 tons, will be placed on exhibit in the U.S. pavilion at the Brussels World's Fair this year. This is believed to be the largest cross-section of redwood ever sawed, according to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association.

STRONG-MAN STUNT—Five-year-old Mark Hall isn't really as strong as he would like Lisa Smith, 2, to believe. The concrete cylinder he is holding is a new building material which weighs only one-seventh as much as ordinary concrete. It can be sawed, nailed and floated on water. Called Betocel, the material is used for pre-cast wall panels, (shown in the background) for insulation, slab-on-ground construction, or roof decks, a sample of which supports the two Birmingham children. The new concrete is being sold in Michigan for the first time by Panel Engineering Corp., of Clawson, and can reduce construction costs by 10 per cent, according to Trevor Hall, vice president. It is being produced by Foamcrete, a recently established corporation.

Paint Camouflages Defects in Design

Your home is a reflection of YOU. While the interior decoration of your house proclaims your tastes to your intimates, the exterior color scheme reflects a character-picture for the whole world to read.

Are you an ultra-conservative who chooses white clapboard with green trim, or is your house pink-painted brick with red trim? The national trend is towards using more color in house exteriors, and one survey indicates that approximately three-quarters of new houses are painted with colors,

Light colors make a room, a house, or even a woman, appear larger. Dark colors accomplish the reverse. It is now common practice to paint trim the same color as the exterior walls—this is almost mandatory where the house is small and contrasting trim would cause a cut-up cluttered look.

Roofs are an important part of the over-all color scheme and must be considered when planning exterior painting. Light colored roofs are recommended, especially for sunny climes, as the pale hues reflect a maximum of sunlight received, thus making the house cooler.

Two-story houses frequently have different colors on each story. Sometimes this is planned for interesting color effect, but often this use of two colors is functional. A house that seems top-heavy will appear to be lower if a darker color is used on the upper than on the ground floor.

The reverse also holds that a house which appears too squat, which hugs the ground too closely, can be made to appear higher if a dark color is used on the lower portion and a lighter tint on the upper.

Screens and screen frames too frequently are in a dark color and look like "black eyes" on the house—whereas these should be the same color as the trim that surrounds them. The wire of the screens also can be coated to match the trim — ask your paint dealer for the type of paint to use and how to apply it. Light-tinted screens are more difficult for outsiders to peer through, but the view out is not obscured.

Don't forget chimneys—if yours is not a thing of beauty, if it sticks out like the proverbial sore thumb, paint it the same color as the house and it will be less obvious.

Louver Doors Help Circulation of Air

Many builders of air-conditioned houses today are installing louver doors between rooms to make heating and cooling more efficient.

The louvers permit the conditioned air to circulate freely even when the doors are closed. This helps provide a more uniform temperature throughout the house, doing away with complaints of some rooms being "too hot" or "too cold."

Louver doors of ponderosa pine are available in stock from building material dealers. They come in sizes to fit practically all interior door openings.

A further advantage of louver doors in the home is the texture the louvers offer, helping to dress up almost any decorating scheme, modern or traditional.

Copper and bronze screens should be painted with spar varnish.

Questions and Answers

Q—How high should the working surface of a home desk be?

A—The standard desk height is 30 inches. For a desk for a growing child, however, either pick a design with a working surface that can be adjusted up or down, or use an adjustable chair or stool.

Q—In coloring pine paneling, how can you tell in advance how the finished job will look?

A—Test your finish first on a piece of waste lumber. Keep in mind two principles as you experiment to find the effect that pleases you most—(1) the broad expanse of finished wall will always appear slightly darker than the same finish on a small sample, and (2) paneling will darken some with time. In other words, keep your test sample a bit on the light side of what you really want.

Q—How long does it take shellac to dry on a floor?

A—The first coat, which should be generously thinned with alcohol, generally is dry enough to walk on in about one hour. No less than three hours should elapse, however, between the first and second coats—and an overnight drying period is recommended before the third coat is applied. Shellac should never be used full strength. It should always be thinned with alcohol.

Q—How can I whiten yellow-stained piano keys?

A—Mix a paste of alcohol and powdered chalk. Rub the paste on the keys, then remove it with a clean, soft cloth.

Plastic Tile Is Ideal for Walls

Plastic tile offers an attractive, inexpensive, easy way to decorate walls. They are now offered in 140 colors and shades, and in many shape and sizes.

The squares, rectangles, triangles, L-shapes, feature strips and trim pieces are all modular. This means that you can mix all kinds of shapes and sizes on a wall, yet still have them fit together symmetrically.

For instance, you can cover an 8½-inch-square space with a single 8½-inch tile, four 4¼-inch tiles, sixteen or sixty-four tiles of still smaller size, eight 4¼-inch triangles or 4¼-inch L's, or any combination of these and other shapes.

Plastic tile can be used almost anywhere. It's especially useful on walls that will need to be washed frequently—in the kitchen, laundry room, children's room. But don't use it outdoors or near a source of heat such as a radiator, counter-top burner or lightbulb. In these hot spots, use stainless steel, copper or aluminum tile.

The price of plastic tile runs from about 15c to $1.25 a square foot. The best tile is made from virgin plastic and costs at least 25c a square foot.

You can apply plastic tile to any wall or ceiling that is smooth, dry and solidly built. If you're installing it on a wall that will be splashed frequently or exposed to steam—as in a laundry room or around a bathtub—first cover the wall with a waterproofing compound made for the purpose. Otherwise, moisture will get behind the tiles and eventually loosen them and rot the wall.

Water softeners can be bought outright like any other plumbing-connected appliance, or rented by the month from a water softening service organization.

For picnic or home use, a set of folding tray-top tables can be easily made.

Assemble the unit before fastening the dowels in place. Put one washer on each side of the inner legs. Then glue the dowels into the outer legs, and pin them with small finishing nails.

Glue and pin the upper rod in the inside legs. Use a finishing nail to hold the inner washers against the inner legs.

The table top is of 1 by 12-inch lumber edged with No. 2 lath, extending above the top to form a tray. Add tool-panel clips to fit over the upper dowels.

A storage rack may be made for a number of tables, as shown.

Take Time to Locate House Right on Lot

ANN ARBOR — "Proper location of your house on the property is one of the most important things you will have to decide, if you employ technical advice," says Harlow O. Whittemore, chairman of the Department of Landscape Architecture at the University of Michigan.

Three matters of prime importance which you will have to work out are: (1) the setback of the house from the street; (2) the relation to the side lines; and (3) the grade elevation above or below the street.

"The setting of the house as it appears from the street is determined primarily by depth of the lot. In general, your house should be as far from the street as its length and twice as far as its height so that the entire house can be seen in one glance. This makes it possible for the house to be a picture in its own right," says Professor Whittemore.

"Position of the house with respect to the side lines should be such as to provide room for the driveway, if necessary, and service yard on one side. On the other side there should be such distance from the neighboring homes as will promote privacy.

"If possible, the house on the side should be as far from the property line as is the thickness off the house. The minimum distance of the house from any property line is the fire department regulation of three feet but zoning laws and restrictions may require a minimum of as much as 10 feet.

"The elevation of house above and below the street is a matter often poorly worked out. Minimum slope from the house to the street should be about one foot in 100 to provide drainage even in a level sits. A maximum elevation of house above the street is determined by the ability of a person to walk up a certain grade.

"This is considered to be nine feet in a 100, or the maximum slope permitted without steps. Any higher elevation would require terracing, with steps near the street or near the home.

"If the ground rises rapidly back of the house, try cutting into the hill, making a sunken garden at house level and piling the dirt still higher at the back. The small hill thus created at the back of the garden might be planted with evergreens. This garden cut into the hill had advantages of wind break and sound break as well as splendid background possibilities."

Try Heated Tool to Remove Screw

If you have trouble removing a screw that has "frozen" in place, don't keep working on it with the screwdriver until you break down the slot, or break the screw off below the surface of the wood.

Instead, heat the screw by holding the tip of a soldering iron to its head. This will usually loosen the bond with the wood.

Easiest way to deal with a screw that does break off below the surface of the wood is to drive it in deeper, or all the way through, using a hammer and nail set. Fill the hole with plastic wood, pressing it in firmly with the end of a large kitchen match of some similar instrument.

Let the plastic wood harden overnight before setting a new screw in the same place.

If it isn't feasible to drive the broken-off screw deeper into or through the wood, the only thing you can do is grind it out with a high-speed drill. Again, fill hole with plastic wood.

Housing Cost Depends Upon Net Income

Most American families spend about a fifth of their annual income on housing, according to the Federal Housing Authority.

How much can a family afford to spend for a home? The typical buyer answers that question with "a little less than one-fifth of my income," but budgetary authorities generally agree that this share is somewhat under the amount that would be economically feasible.

A good rule of thumb is that most families can support payments for housing expense up to one-third of the first $3,000 of after-taxes income, plus one-fifth of its after-taxes income above $3,000. Reducing this to a hypothetical case, a family whose after-taxes income was $5,300 could generally support a mortgage of $12,000.

Last year the typical American buyer of a new home had an income of $6,632. He bought a three-bedroom home valued at $14,261.

The value of new homes has been on the rise since 1950. Demand on the part of buyers for larger houses with more quality features such as ceramic tile in bath and kitchen areas has been a major factor in this increase.

White Paint Protects House From Heat

A hint lumbermen offer for keeping your house cool in the summertime is—paint your wood siding white. The National Bureau of Standards has shown through tests that white paint gives more effective protection against the sun than aluminum, colored paints and other colored surfaces.

Wood windows, too, help to keep out heat in the summer and prevent frost formation in the winter. Metal sashes are excellent conductors of heat and cold; they are hot to the touch during summer and show condensation during winter. On the other hand, wood is free from frosting or condensation and does not feel hot in summer.

More Home Painters

In 71 per cent of the homes recently surveyed the interior painting was last done by one or more family members. The professional painter did 18 per cent of the jobs. When income was $7,500 or over, 43 per cent of the painting was done by contract painters. Rural folks do more of their own painting than city dwellers. This of course does not cover the office buildings, hotels, hospitals and other institutional type painting usually done by professional painters.

Glass Walls Are Aid to Health

The healthful combination of more windows and modern air conditioning in the nation's homes may help bring an end to the shortage of doctors and nurses, many medical authorities believe.

Dr. Leon Buchbinder, reporting in the American Medical Journal, declares that more sunlight coming into the home is a boon to health, and urges municipal planners to insist on maximum window space in new hospitals, schools and homes.

Sunlight, coming in through proper windows, Dr. Buchbinder declares, kills airborne bacteria that cause other respiratory diseases.

Dr. James Bender, director of the Institute of Human Relations, points out that big windows in homes help human beings to become "more human."

Generously-windowed, well-daylighted rooms enhance personal happiness, says Dr. Bender, and conduce contentment, plus a feeling of well being for all members of the family.

Modern air conditioning also contributes to health by constantly circulating clean, filtered air, keeping humidity down, and making members of the family more comfortable.

Colds, respiratory diseases, and allergies caused by dust are fewer, appetites are better, and dispositions are improved in an air-conditioned house.

Air conditioning also makes the use of more window area practical.

Windows of ponderosa pine are particularly valuable in an air-conditioned house, since wood is a natural insulator.

Heat from the outside does not readily radiate through the wood frames and sash, as it can through other materials.

Windows of ponderosa pine are available in stock from building material dealers in many styles and sizes that can provide the large glass areas recommended by the medical men.

Caution Is Necessary

Particular care should be exercised in handling quick - drying lacquers and spray paints. The solvents may be highly inflammable as well as disagreeable and should never be used anywhere near gas stoves or heaters with pilot lights. An explosion could easily result. In fact in handling anything containing turpentine, naptha, benzol, amyl acetate, alcohol and ethyl acetate, remember they are toxic and combustible in varying degrees. Provide adequate ventilation at all times.

American-standard has come out with a strikingly designed, wall-hung toilet which is clear of the floor and enables easy cleaning under and around. Even the seat cover and seat are readily removed from the bowl for easy cleaning.

HIDDEN ARMOR — The asphalt shingles you see on your roof aren't the only protection your house is getting from weather. As the photograph of this roof being applied in the San Francisco area shows, a properly applied roof of asphalt shingles always should have a layer of asphalt-saturated, waterproof felt beneath the shingles, providing additional protection against rain, snow, and melting ice.

Can Modernize Home Without Tearing It Apart

Transforming an ugly duckling entrance hall into a modern family room may be easier and less expensive than you think.

One such project was undertaken in an old brownstone home with an ornate, dust-catching staircase.

The job was completed without ripping out any structural parts of the home.

The key to the relatively inexpensive conversion was the so-called camouflage technique adopted by Designers Kim Hoffman and Stephen Heidrich.

The unsightly old staircase was given a smart, modern look by the simple expedient of encasing it in textured plywood paneling. The paneling then was painted in a beige color with a red trim.

An ornate doorway was similarly covered with plywood. The designers point out that their technique in using plywood paneling in this way can also be adopted by the home Craftsman in a variety of projects.

USED PLYWOOD

An important part of the ugly duckling-to-glamor transformation was achieved in the flooring. The old, worn wooden flooring was covered with rubber tiles.

Rubber tiles were chosen for the heavy-traffic family room, the designers say, because of its resiliency and its noise-muffling, long-wearing characteristics.

The old floor was prepared for the new covering first by thoroughly removing all dirt, wax and old paint. Loose boards were repaired, all protruding nails were countersunk with a nail punch—and cracks and holes were filled with patching material.

Uneven or rough spots were either planed or sanded. A felt base then went on top of the old flooring and the tiles were set in place on the felt with adhesive.

A radiating tile pattern was chosen as a decorative strategy to give the dimensions of the room an effect of extra spaciousness. In this job, the newel post of the staircase was used as the focal point for a sun-burst pattern in beige, soft red and gunmetal.

Textured grass cloth in an antique gold tone was selected for the wall covering which repeated the gold tone of the tile flooring, the curtains and the drop lights.

Fix-Up Receipts Help Sell House

It's a good idea to hold on to receipted bills for major home improvement jobs—they may help you if it comes time to sell.

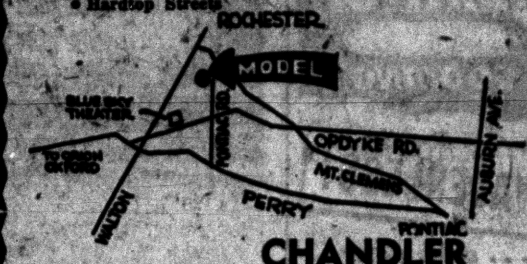

loss.

And even if you haven't the slightest intention of selling your home now, reminds the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, there's no predicting when that situation can arise, in a period when job transfers are frequent and population mobility great.

Of course, an appraiser has to take the over-all home picture into his evaluations, and doesn't just add up values of individual features. But, says GAMA, he can consider the value of improvements. And the receipted bills are a way of convincing him and the prospective buyer, and helping the real estate salesman.

TODAY'S 2-MINUTE MYSTERY

THE CASE OF

DEATH ON THE VIADUCT

Twelfth of a series

By DONALD J. SOBOL

Dr. Haledjian was driving toward the Metropolitan Golf Club and an early round of golf. He had reached the Tamis viaduct when he spied an empty patrol car parked to one side.

He stopped his station wagon immediately and descended 200 feet to the bottom of the gorge. There an officer stood beside the broken body of a young woman.

The policeman, recognizing the criminologist, accepted his offer of help, but added, "Not much mystery to this. She must have jumped, hit those bounders first, and bounced off. I found her left shoe six feet away, the contents of her pocketbook strewn around for yards."

Two sticks of lipstick, a black address book, a small amount of money, a handkerchief, and a packet of hair pins were collected neatly on top of the empty bag.

Examiniation of the body disclosed the spine broken and the skull smashed fearfully.

"She was a pretty girl," muttered the officer.

"You knew her?"

"Name's Alice Divine. I passed her regularly. She walked across the viaduct every morning on the way to the factory. She always had a smile. I can't understand why, but it's suicide plain enough."

Before you commit yourself in a report, would you hunt something for me?" inquired Haledjian.

The officer listened, and then climbed back to the viaduct. In a few minutes he returned.

"I guess you were right. It looks like murder now," he said, opening his palm to show the object for which Haladjian had asked him to search.

WHAT HAD THE OFFICER FOUND ON THE VIADUCT THAT POINTED TO MURDER?

A compact. It was not in the gorge with her other articles. Haledjian deduced she had removed it from her pocketbook on the viaduct. It seemed a safe conclusion that she had been pushed while powdering her nose, since a girl bent on suicide would not bother about her appearance.

Hopes to Fire 5 Baby Moons

Navy Plans to Send Up 50-Pound Satellite by End of 1958

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy, which has had trouble launching a second Vanguard satellite, hopes to put up five of the baby moons before the end of 1958.

It said yesterday the present program calls for the launching of four 20-inch satellites and then topping things off by sending up a 50-pounder. The 20-inchers weigh 21½ pounds.

The 6.4-inch Vanguard fired into orbit last March 17 weighs about 3¼ pounds.

The next Vanguard to be fired already is at the Air Force missile test center, Cape Canaveral, Fla., being prepared for launching, the Navy said. Dates for the next launching were not announced.

Meantime, technical troubles forced a new postponement at Cape Canaveral yesterday in an attempt to fire a fully powered Atlas ballistic missile. It was the third time that technicians had failed to follow through with a firing.

Tot Perches on Thin Ledge 4 Floors Up

CINCINNATI (AP)—It was an agonizing five minutes for onlookers in downtown Cincinnati yesterday, but Alma Lee Sanders, 17 months old, just thought it was fun.

The youngster stretched, waved her arms, looked around, sat down and dangled her feet, laughed and shouted: "Look at the doggy."

She was pointing at the dog in the street four floors below her apartment home. The girl had climbed out a window to a narrow ledge while her mother slept.

A workman in the street ran upstairs to hammer on the apartment door, wake Mrs. Lois Sanders and get her daughter inside.

State's Hay Crop Worst Since Drought of '34

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan hay crop this year will be the smallest since the drought of 1934, Milt Erdmann, extension farm crops specialist at Michigan State University, forecast a crop of 2,629,000 tons — about one fourth under last year's production.

He blamed dry weather in late April and May for the poor crop.

Erdmann said in order to stretch the hay crop over the coming months of winter feeding, many farmers are putting up more corn or sudan grass silage this year. The favorable grain price situation makes it more profitable to buy grain this year than to buy additional hya, he said.

The 1956-57 world agricultural production was estimated to be about 17 per cent greater than the average during the period 1948 to 1952.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Miss Universe hopefuls today buckle down to the unique chores of girls who want to be beauty queens.

First they'll pose in swimsuits for official photographs. Then, tonight, they'll parade before the public in ceremonies at Long Beach Veterans Memorial Stadium formally opening the pageant.

Each of the 79 contestants will be attired in costumes symbolic of the nations and states they represent.

She Ages at Hearing

BOSTON (AP)—No one apparently ever asked Mildred Paperman her age. When her name came into the news as secretary to industrialist Bernard Goldfine, records at Boston University indicated she was 45. Returning from Washington, she asked waiting newsmen, "What are you trying to do — bury me?" The blonde bookkeeper added, "It's bad enough to be 40."

New Car Models Promise More Sleekness Than Ever

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—Price trends for 1959 automobiles are still uncertain but car buyers will have opportunity to spend lavishly on optional items.

Extra cost items for an average automobile already number several score. They range from door edging, compasses and tissue dispensers to air conditioners, automatic transmissions and power steering.

One car maker will offer for 1959 a highly styled hard top for his regular series as an extra-cost option. The additional cost has not been indicated but the alternate top makes a sharp difference in appearance.

Also to be offered by a leading maker is a lower priced automatic transmission for cars in a lower priced series. Still another manufacturer has been working on a simplification of air conditioning that may make a price reduction possible.

The British Rootes Motors, Inc., has just announced a new compact air conditioning unit for its Hillman models and the Sunbeam Rapier. The unit will have a price tag of $375. Rootes says the Hillman will be the first small imported car selling below $2,000 to have air conditioning.

The term sleekness has been much overworked in the promotion of new American built cars. But it appears to be the word for many of the forthcoming new models. The producers generally have tried to avoid bulkiness.

This is true even of one 1959 car with wider tread. One manufacturer has added five inches to the tread without sacrificing the sharp look.

All makers are using more glass. In several instances windshields and rear windows curve farther into the roof. In these instances the metal tops are shorter and almost flat.

In several models windshield and rear window connect in an unbroken line with the roof. In some the roof extends two or three inches over the top edge of the front and rear glass.

With few exceptions lavish front and rear lighting installations have been sharply modified. One maker whose 1958 cars had horizontal dual lights in the rear has replaced them with large round red units at either side and white backup lights about 16 or 18 inches above, placed in redesigned tail fins.

Some makes that had dual headlamps under a heavy canopy at the extreme sides, will have them in the grille in 1959. One make, with a divided front grille, has both front and rear basic lights in horizontally - positioned, oblong-shaped recesses. They are covered with a single lens about 14 inches long and six inches wide.

Fins will be prominent. Some makers prefer to call them canted rear fenders. In most instances they are integral with the body rather than separate fenders. They slant at varying angles, ranging from vertical to almost horizontal in one instance.

One maker has provided a dual edge to his canted rear lines. The inner edge blends into the outer surface of the luggage compartment. The outer edge flows into the belt line trim of the body farther forward.

A round white backup light is placed at the rear extreme of the dual edge fin.

Another car maker has placed his backup lights below the bumper.

Leader of Dope Ring Murdered in Street

NEW YORK (UPI) — A reputed leader of an international dope-smuggling ring, scheduled to "sing" before a narcotics-probing Grand Jury next week, was shot to death last night on a Brooklyn sidewalk.

His brother-in-law, an admitted narcotics violator, was shot in the mouth and wounded, but not critically.

The victim was Cristoforo Rubino, 38, who was under indictment on a narcotics conspiracy charge. At the time of his arraignment last December, he was described as a leader of an international narcotics ring, a member of the notorious Mafia and an associate of exiled rackets chief Charles (Lucky) Luciano.

U.S. Attorney Joseph Soviero said Rubino was to have appeared before a Federal Grand Jury next Thursday at which time he was expected "to give us a full blueprint on the operations of the narcotics racket, including names and places."

Rubino's testimony, Soviero said, was expected to help build the government's case against reputed Mafia leader Vito Genovese, who was arrested last week on a narcotics conspiracy charge.

"Rubino was a courier for Luciano, and as such was in the high echelons of the dope racket, Soviero said. "We thought he was ready to give us all the information necessary to follow through on the investigation of the heroin ring operating in the U.S."

Rubino, who entered the United States from Italy in 1949, was at liberty on $10,000 bail, pending trial, when a gunman, said to be about 50 years old, approached him and his brother - in - law, Charles La Cascia, 43, outside a political club. The assailant fired four shots. Two struck Rubino, in the head and shoulder. A third hit La Cascia in the mouth. The fourth shot went wild.

There were no reported witnesses to the shooting.

Rubino, the father of three children, was indicted in 1955 on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Federal narcotics laws. However, he was a fugitive until his surrender last December.

A Federal Narcotics Bureau official described Rubino as a leader of a ring which sold one-eighth of the heroin illegally distributed in the United States. The ring was reported linked to Luciano, the erstwhile vice overlord, who was deported to Italy in 1946.

La Cascia was sentenced to a three-year prison term in 1955 after he pleaded guilty to a narcotics charge. He was subsequently freed however, on a technicality.

Building Destroyed in Commerce

Firemen Probing Cause of $15,000 Blaze in Area

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Firemen in Commerce Township today are investigating the cause of a $15,000 fire which destroyed a two-story frame building at Gregg's Motel and Boat Livery, 2261 Union Lake Rd., early this morning.

Thomas Charles Bell, 53, a boat maintenance employe, was in the building when the fire broke out about midnight. He escaped by jumping out of a second-story window and was later taken to Pontiac General Hospital to be treated for exposure to smoke and subsequently released.

According to Clarence Kuttkuhn, Commerce Township assistant fire chief, the building contained an office, snack bar and sleeping quarters for employes.

Owner of the building, Bob Gregg, was asleep in one of the several tourist cabins on the property at the time of the fire, Kuttkuhn said.

Three fire trucks answered the call, two from Commerce Township and one from Union Lake Village. Crews fought the blaze for two hours.

Troopers from the Pontiac State Police Post as well as deputies from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department also assisted.

Snorkel Sub Stranded Off Cape Cod

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — The U.S. Navy Submarine Base reported today that the fleet Snorkel submarine Piper had run aground on a sandbar about two miles southwest of Provincetown, Mass. None of the 82 members of the crew was injured, the Navy said.

The Piper was riding on the surface for calibration tests along a measured nautical mile course when it struck Wood End Bar. The accident occurred about 5 a.m.

The Navy said the extent of the damage had not been determined but that it was believed to be slight.

The submarine rescue vessel Skylark at Boston and the Sunbiard at New London were ordered to the scene to aid in refloating the Piper.

Capt. William H. Hazzard, commander of Submarine Group Z, is aboard the Sunbiard to direct operations.

The Navy said the Piper was expected to be pulled off the bar by the rescue vessels at high tide this afternoon.

It added the sub was expected to leave the scene under its own power.

Sees Mideast Cooling Down

Nixon Says Possibility of Shooting War Now 'Somewhat Remote'

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Vice President Nixon said today the possibility of a shooting war in the Middle East now appears "somewhat remote."

Nixon, arriving here by plane for a brief visit to the Aquatennial Minneapolis Summer Festival, told an airport news conference that if there was to have been reaction to the U.S. troop movement into Lebanon it would have occurred at the time the Marines were going into that country.

The vice president said the chance of a shooting war was one of many factors weighed when this country decided to send troops to aid Lebanon's government in its current crisis.

"While some of the opposition to President Chamoun of Lebanon, and King Hussein of Jordan was fanatical nationalism, it also was instigated and fomented by the Soviet Union," Nixon said.

"Had it not been for the Soviet Union giving militarily to Nasser and Syria, there would not have been the instanteous coup in Iraq and the unsettled situations in Jordan and Lebanon."

He said the quick overthrow of Iraq's monarchy was a clear indication that outside forces had been at work.

2 Sisters, Man Killed in Head-on Smashup

HARRISON (AP)—Two sisters and a man were killed last night in a head-on auto collision on U.S. 27, one mile north of this Clare County community.

The sheriff's office identified the victims as Mrs. Mary Carolyn Palmer, 50, and Mrs. Helen MacKenzie Perish, 49, both of Alma, and James R. Sharp, 31, of Harrison. Deputies said Mrs. Palmer was head of the Michigan Employment Security Commission Office at Alma. She was the mother of two daughters.

Deputies said it appeared Sharp's car was on the wrong side of the road.

Princess Meg Learns About the Wild West

KILOWNA, B.C. (AP)—Princess Margaret used a healthy helping of scrambled eggs and bacon — and seconds, if you please — to shake off the memory of a for-real Wild West experience yesterday.

Today she was settled down in this south-central British Columbia city for a four-day rest on her centennial tour of the province.

The Wild West experience came yesterday when she boarded an old stage coach at Williams Lake for a short ride down the main street of that cattle town.

After she had climbed in, the horses pulling the coach reared up several times and then bolted. The Princess clutched a brace tightly as driver Bill Hall fought the horses to a stop after five blocks.

Apparently unshaken by the experience, the Princess stepped easily from the coach and into a car which took her to watch the Williams Lake rodeo.

While at the rodeo grounds the Princess put away a large helping of scrambled eggs and bacon and then asked for a second helping, which quickly disappeared.

Joins Company in Southfield

Quimby Leaves State Post in Dispute Over Dem Party Connection

SOUTHFIELD — Thomas H. E. Quimby, whose resignation as chairman of the Michigan Workmen's Compensation Department became effective today has taken the job as vice president and Lansing manager of the Perry Land Company of Southfield.

Quimby, the Michigan Democratic National Committeeman, had been refused the appointment of his state post by the Republican-dominated Senate in the last legislative session.

He indicated indirectly that his new job pays more than $13,500 and added that he did not see any conflict between his new position and his party affiliation.

"I'll work it the same way," he said, "Do the job during working hours and play politics on evenings and the weekends."

He emphasized he would have no contact with state officials or would not be trying to buy state land in his new position with the dealer of large housing projects.

MSU Once Again Receiving Its Mail

EAST LANSING (AP) — Mail is being delivered again to Michigan State University after a quiet feud with East Lansing postmen was settled.

Campus police said the trouble started when mail truck drivers failed to observe campus parking regulations.

A postman finally was ticketed for parking his truck on a cross walk. Postmen have to pay such fines out of their own pockets.

The next day, mailmen refused to make campus deliveries and MSU went for the day without its mail.

Video's Culture Corner Still Sunday Afternoons

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's culture corner-Sunday afternoon will be returned to the thinkers, the intellectuals and the critics in the fall with some slight remodeling.

Omnibus, foo instance, will be back on NBC — but cut to an hour's length and presented on alternate Sundays. Wide, Wide World, which lost its sponsor, may be missing from the lineup. Ed Murrow's new Small World may be dropped into CBS' Sunday schedule.

Such programs as Conquest, Twentieth Century, Comment, Outlook and the news interview shows are expected to return.

The Sabbath's Snug Harbor is emerging as a unique period in television's programming. Large numbers of average citizens have found intelligent talk, stimulating drama and good music a welcome change from a steady diet of mayhem, audience participation shows and giveaways.

Historically, Sunday afternoon has attracted comparatively small audiences. Hence it has been difficult to sell to sponsors interested in reaching the masses with their toothpaste, cigarettes, lipsticks or some such product bought in all income brackets.

More recently, however, networks have been discovering that their Sunday afternoon viewers were folks to be proud of-substantial, smart, educated, bankrolled.

One result has been sponsor interest by companies who want to reach more affluent audiences.

But many of the Sunday afternoon shows have remained without sponsors. They have continutd partly because the shows give prestige to the networks.

As a matter of fact, when NBC or CBS are of a mind to boast about their programs or attempt to prove that not all programming consists of Westerns, who-dun-its and panels they are likely to use a Sunday afternoon show to point up the argument.

Still another reason for the networks' continued willingness to go on underwriting live Sunday afternoon shows is that they have proved a valuable workshop in which to develop and refine ideas and skills.

Held for Murder of Six Years Ago

MUSKEGON (AP) — A 27-year-old ex-convict was held today in Muskegon County Jail awaiting issuance of a warrant charging him with the murder-robbery of Paul K. James, 49, six years ago.

Muskegon County Sheriff Arthur Davis said Harold David, a former Lansing resident who served five years in Southern Michigan Prison for forgery and larceny, had signed a statement detailing the slaying of James in March 1952.

In his statement, David told of going for a ride with James, noticing a large roll of bills, and hitting the victim over the head with a jack handle when he fell asleep.
