Nikita Predicts German Treaty at End of Year

Most Specific Date He Has Set; Dillon Sees Continuing Cold War

MOSCOW (U) — Premier Khrushchev told a cheering rally in the Kremlin today that a peace treaty with Germany will be signed at the end of this year.

It was the most specific date he has given during the current crisis brought about by Soviet determination to force the Western Allies out of West Berlin.

The rally was held to mark Thursday's 20th Anniversary of the Nazi attack on the Soviet Union.

"The Soviet Union proposes to sign a peace treaty with Germany," Khrushchev declared "and a peace treaty with Germany will be signed at the end of this year."

Washington, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said his optimistic forecast for the American economy "did not take into account that we might be at war with the Soviet over Berlin in six months."

Under questioning by the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Dillon explained that his views on the economy, given at the National Press Club Tuesday, were "based on a continuation of the cold war," rather than on the development of a major crisis.

TAX CUT POSSIBLE
His view, as stated in the address, is that there is hope for a boom by the end of 1962 that would justify a cut in tax rates.

Dillon got involved in the Berlin situation during questioning by Reps. Robert H. Cliverfield, R-Ill., and Wayne L. Hayes, D-Ohio.

Hayes questioned whether Khrushchev "would think we are going to do anything serious about Berlin" after reading questioning by Senate Democratic Leader Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana to make Berlin a free city.

Hayes said Mansfield "is apparently unaware of Soviet semantics and does not understand that the Russians mean something different when they talk about a 'free city.'"

Hayes said it is unlikely Khrushchev will take American (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Jurors Find Draker Guilty

Youth to Be Sentenced July 17 for Stabbing Friend to Death

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.
Robert Louis Draker, 16, will be sentenced July 17 after a Circuit Court jury today took only 30 minutes to find him guilty of the fatal stabbing of his boyfriend pal over a torn playing card.

Jury foreman Lewis F. Gordon, 107 Clarence St., Holly a retired Pontiac Motor Division worker, stood in the jury box at noon today to announce that the jury of 19 women and another man found the bespectacled Draker, guilty of manslaughter, as charged.

The untimely grocery store stockboy, who was described by his schoolteacher mother as a "very good boy," was convicted of the Feb. 25 stabbing of his friend Gerald A. Chestnut, 15, of 893 Melrose Ave.

Juniors to Join Centennial

It's Youth's Turn to March

By DICK SAUNDERS

A junior edition of Saturday's fabulous Centennial parade will march up Saginaw Street tomorrow.

Thursday's parade will be "junior" only in the age and size of its participants. Tomorrow is centennial Youth Day.

Some 50 units have already been lined up for the gigantic youth parade which is slated to begin at 10:30 a.m.

In addition to scheduled units and floats, any youngsters are welcome to march in the parade without prior registration.

The marchers will assemble at Auburn Avenue and S. Park St. at 9:30 a.m. and parade north on Saginaw.

Children with Centennially decorated bikes and pets in Centennial dress are invited to join in. Among those already slated is

Others registered are Girl Scout units, Campfire Girls, Land 'O Lakes Majorettes, the Miss Centennial float, bands from Pontiac Northern Junior High School and Washington Junior High and Jim Forman's Dixielanders.

Cressy Larson, executive director of the Boys Club, is parade marshal and chairman of the parade committee. On the committee are Frank Cashman, James Skinner, George Mayes, Gordon Monts, Jack Cole and Lloyd Heimbecker.

"It's shaping up into a great parade," said Larson today.

"The kids have put together some wonderful units and we hope there will be a large crowd on hand."

During the day, youngsters from five area high schools will be filling 73 positions in city and county government.

From 2 to 4 p.m., there'll be athletic contests for boys and girls, ages 6 through 15, at Oakland Murphy, Beaudette and Joyce parks with hundreds of ribbons for the winners.

Mayor Crowns Queen Veachel Bilyeu

By FETE LOCHBILER

The giant Centennial Spectacle opened with a bang last night — about the biggest bang ever heard in Pontiac.

After the shattering explosion of a simulated atomic bomb, some 6,000 opening nighters were treated to the most colorful history lesson of their lives.

VAST PANORAMA
Pontiac's 150 years as a community and 100 as a city unfolded chapter by chapter in a vast panorama highlighted by the talent and enthusiasm of 1,082 Pontiac area citizens in the volunteer cast.

Centennial headquarters, deluged with messages of congratulations, predicted large crowds during the forthcoming five performances of "The Pontiac Story," tonight through Sunday in Warner Stadium at 8:15.

Preperformance activities begin each night at 8:15.

The opening of the big Centennial year feature was preceded last night by pomp and pageantry in the coronation of 21-year-old Veachel Bilyeu as Pontiac's Miss Centennial.

BEAUTY CROWNED

The Brandon Township beauty, accompanied by her 10 other princesses in dazzling gowns, received her crown from Mayor Philip E. Rowston and the acclaim of Pontiac from the enthusiastic crowd.

Semon E. Knudsen, General Motors Corp. vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division, presented Veachel with the keys to a 1961 Tempest, her prize as Miss Centennial. The crowd sighed with envy.

The queen offered her cheek for a kiss by Rowston, first and then by Robert W. Emerick, publicity director for Pontiac Motor Division and chairman of the Spectacle.

Wet-eyed, she murmured, "It's a very big pleasure to be your Centennial queen."

NOT A HITCH
The Spectacle was played without a hitch, although the hundreds of participants had only a month of rehearsals and only one dress rehearsal. That was Friday.

Then Monday night the opening was canceled because of rain.

Gigantic in its scope, sprawling sometimes over the entire football field, concentrated at other times in brilliant tableaux, moving quickly from laughter to poignancy, the Spectacle is an entertainment medium unto itself.

It isn't like television, it isn't like the stage, it isn't like the movies — not even wide-screen movies.

It's just what the title implies — a breath-taking spectacle like Niagara Falls or the Grand Canyon, something unique that must be seen to be believed.

ALL LOCAL TALENT
Adding significance to the performance is the fact that the widely diversified talent in the show has all been recruited locally, with each performer volunteering their skills, hard work and time to help make Pontiac's Centennial a memorable one for their friends, neighbors, and townspeople.

Director Harry Miller of the John B. Rogers Producing Co., producers of Pontiac's Centennial celebration, has welded his huge cast into a troop that moves with professional finesse and smoothness.

Youngsters, teen-agers, adults, oldsters — all make their contribution on the field with the agility of veteran showmen.

CLOTHING, FOOD GONE
The fire and explosion destroyed all of the food except two cans of beans. All clothing was destroyed except the summer work clothing the Coast Guardsmen wore.

The men pitched a makeshift camp on the pier because deadly fumes from the smoldering coal made it impossible for them to take shelter in the wrecked hulk of the lighthouse.

The men were rescued by a Coast Guard cutter which went out to learn why the men had been (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

CENTENNIAL INDUSTRIAL EXHIBIT—Hundreds of men, women and children flocked to the corner of Pike and Park streets yesterday for the opening of the city's industrial might on parade. Beside new and old Pontiac and GMC trucks and coaches, there were special exhibits and a show of the technological advances now and in the future. The show runs today and tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Oh, It's Summertime and Living Is Freezy

The good old summertime has come to town. She arrived officially at 10:30 this morning, bringing Pontiac residents sunny skies and a 67 degree temperature.

Associate Prof. Hazel M. Lash of the University of Michigan said today daylight will last about 15 hours.

The weatherman said temperatures will continue cool tonight, the low about 51. Fair and a little warmer and a high of 76 is Thursday's forecast. The outlook for Friday is fair and a little warmer.

Morning northeasterly winds at 5 to 15 miles per hour will diminish tonight and become variable Thursday.

Fifty-five was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac recording 8 a.m. The reading at 2 p.m. was 72.

Seven in Competition

To Name Miss Romeo Saturday Evening at 8

ROMEO — Final arrangements are being made for the Miss Romeo contest to be staged at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Junior high school auditorium.

Seven girls have entered the competition thus far, according to contest chairman, Mrs. Lester W. Voach.

They are Marjorie Payne, Mary Jean Millick, Jean Watterson, Julie Kost, Diane Murphy, Marietta Seifert and Karen Strider.

A panel of three out-of-town judges will pick a winner and two maidens of honor. The trio will ride on a publicity train in a parade through the city.

The winner will be crowned Miss Romeo and will represent her village in the Peach Queen contest Aug. 5 in which she will hold the title of Peach Queen.

Talent has been eliminated as a judging requirement in Saturday night's competition, Mrs. Poosch said, in order to attract more girls to enter.

Now the candidates will appear on stage tips, once in street dress for informal interviews and later in formal gowns to draw questions from a howl to answer extemporaneously.

Acting as master of ceremonies will be Francis A. "Castellucci" Judges will be Mrs. Pat McGrath, owner of the Alicia Balon Salon, Pontiac; Allen E. Valentine, Oxford Village president; and Don Fermoyle of Detroit, county reporter for The Pontiac Press.

Between the two main portions of the program, a girls' singing group from the junior high school will entertain, led by junior school music director Melvin Keranen.

"As Miss Romeo, the girl selected Saturday night will act as official hostess during the Peach Festival. The rest of the girls in the Peach Queen contest, including the queen and her two maidens of honor, will go to the Romeo homes during the three-day celebration Sept. 24-26."

The production of peaches in America has been at a rate of about 22 pounds per capita each year for the past 30 or more years.

Detroit on Bond in Larceny Charge

Charged with grand larceny in the theft of an outboard motor from a boat, Earl J. Orsle, 37, of Detroit, will be arraigned in Oakland County Circuit Court Monday.

He was released on $500 bond after a preliminary examination of charges before Commerce Township Justice of the Peace John C. Weick.

Orsle is accused of stealing the 35-horse power motor from a boat moored on Mauds Lake May 26, according to sheriff's detective Sgt. Harry Maur, who recovered the motor.

Orsle surrendered at the sheriff's department upon learning that he was an accomplice; Daniel Giesmer, 17, of 12 Ramona Terrace, was being held by Waterford Township police, facing prosecution.

Flint Pipeline Contract Goes to Chicago Firm

FLINT—A $1,671,000 hydraulic engineering contract for Flint's $50-million Lake Huron water supply project has been awarded to Conner-Townsend and Associates of Chicago.

City Manager Robert Carter said the Chicago firm would take about one year's engineering time and two years for construction of plants.

Flint will build a pipeline extending from Lake Huron here to remedy a water shortage.

Allied Barrett Doubles Capacity at Troy Plant

A major expansion, designed to more than double productive capacity, has been completed at the Royal Oak paving materials plant of Allied Chemical's Barrett Division, located at 290 Barrett in Troy.

The installation of new equipment has enabled the plant to produce a variety of bituminous concrete mixes at a rate of 250 per cent above its former capacity, according to B. C. Cowart, director of sales.

The new increase marks the second expansion in the plant since its installation here in 1959.

Union's Efforts Fail — Detroit to Lose Firm

DETROIT—Union efforts to persuade an automotive supply firm to remain here apparently failed Monday when officials of Lyon, Inc., said a planned transfer to Grenada, Miss., will be carried out within the next two weeks.

United Auto Workers Local 171 had asked Lyon to keep its hubcap manufacturing operations in Detroit. Harry Southwell, president of the local, said the union offered to take a pay cut and to improve production methods to save money. Company President George A. Lyon Jr. said in a letter to Detroit employees that the company has no choice in the matter because "most of our competitors are located in lower tax, lower labor-cost areas."

Navy Does Tests in Largest Pretend-Ocean

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy today began what it claims is the largest simulated ocean in the world.

Enclosed in a five-acre building, the basin is intended for testing ship models under realistic rough sea conditions. Such tests help the Navy predict the performance of full-scale vessels.

JFK's Mother Delayed Making Party Entrance

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy went to a party Tuesday night at an ancient villa outside Florence. The throngs outside were so great that President Kennedy's mother spent 35 minutes working her way inside.

The lavish affair for 400 guests was given by Ernest Boissevain, a New York banker, and his wife, Jane, to celebrate their purchase of the 18th-century mansion—Villa Delle Rose, two miles south of Florence.

Kennedy's button was in Washington. The machinery was in the nation's first salt water conversion plant at the little Texas Gulf

Natalie Wood Lives Apart From Wagner

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Natalie Wood and Robert Wagner, who embarked 3 1/2 years ago on a marriage their fans considered perfect, are living apart.

The announcement Tuesday caught the movie colony by surprise. A spokesman said it would be a trial separation; the couple has no immediate plans for divorce.

Wagner, 31, and sometime child star Natalie, now 27, were married Dec. 28, 1957, in Scottsdale, Ariz.

The abalone, a snail with a clam-like shell, may kill a man by slamming its shell down on his fingers and holding him prisoner to drown as the rising tide comes in.

President's Back Injury Causes Great Concern

The President's back injury is a matter of deep concern and has created a great deal of apprehension all across the country.

We do not have any inside information, but apparently President Kennedy's difficulty is akin to "sacroiliac" or a "slipped disc." Reports indicate that the ailment is the result of a severe strain and that he has suffered a great deal from it.

We would like to offer our personal sympathy and also express hope that the President's back condition returns to normalcy as soon as possible.

It is entirely reasonable to believe that Mr. Kennedy will have to ease up on his vigorous schedule. His 14-hour work day may be retarded some, but it should be anyway.

It's within the realm of possibility that he may even take longer vacations, as Mr. Eisenhower did. And should this occur, the public should regard them as valuable for his well-being.

Our main wish, Mr. President, and we are speaking for thousands of Pontiac area residents, is that you recover quickly and completely.

Is Government Seeking Control of Schools?

All indications are that before June is over the House of Representatives will vote on school aid bills totaling about $5 billion.

It might be interesting to note that the Federal Government doesn't have a penny on hand for such aid, and further, not one of the Nation's 50,000 state and local school boards ever has testified that such aid is needed.

Except in some limited areas where the school crisis is acute, generally speaking, the emergency has passed. Classrooms have been built at an unprecedented rate and many teachers' salaries have been raised.

The logical question now is asked if the Federal Government doesn't have the money to spend, and the school boards responsible for supporting the schools are not seeking help, why Federal Aid to schools at all?

Reports from Washington now show that plenty of activity can be seen in the Federal Office of Education. Provisions have been drafted for a Federal Education Agency, to shape education standards in the national interest.

This all means just one thing, Federal control of local schools. Until recently this possibility had been stoutly denied by the Federal Aid advocates.

Congressmen are now aware of this and the bill is no lead pipe cinch to pass. Power would be taken from the local school boards and parents would lose their influence over the educations of their children.

Just imagine the Elm Grove PTA, concerned that their children weren't learning to read or writing trying to make themselves heard in Washington's marble halls, far away.

Blames Traffic Tieups on Incomplete Freeways

Answering critics that say all our highways are inadequate, Rex Whitton, U. S. highway administrator, says the reason some city's freeways are congested is that no metropolitan area has a completed freeway system.

When these networks are completed, he adds, things will flow nicely. This we are inclined to doubt and suggest Mr. Whitton ask the citizens of Los Angeles what they think about it.

They have a pretty elaborate freeway system in being right now, and yet at rush hours you could almost walk to work on the tops of the jammed in cars.

Admittedly, no other U.S. communities have quite the cars to people ratio that Los Angeles has. But many places including our own area look for similar crushing traffic by the time their freeway webs are ready.

Anyway, Mr. Whitton has given us a nice warm weather dream.

Old Courthouse Gate Takes Over Last Century Position

Television: Peddling photograph records at the expense of sucker sponsors.

The iron gate in the fence in front of the old brick courthouse when it was torn down 58 years ago is back in its old place. During the Centennial celebration it occupies an honored spot on the present courthouse lawn.

When the fence was removed at that time, the gate was saved by Herbert Crisp, who did the major job in clearing the premises. It was passed down by him to his son.

Kenneth Crisp of Auburn Heights, who has kindly loaned it to Monroe M. Osmon, whose place of business is next door. That old brick courthouse was erected 104 years ago, so the gate without doubt also is in the Centennial class. The county officers who held forth in the building during the day closed and locked the gate when leaving to keep out the horses, cows, sheep, pigs and goats which frequently roamed the streets at night.

The miniature cocker spaniel dog of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bantlin of 421 East Beverly St., celebrated Centennial week by delivering a litter of puppies.

A Centennial radish is reported by Mrs. George L. Clutchee of Keego Harbor, having grown in the shape of a perfect "C."

Many pictures and souvenirs are prized by Mrs. Florence Bjork of 93 South Marshall St., in connection with the celebration of 1916, when Pontiac observed the Centennial of the coming of the first white men.

Telephone directories are famous for their scarcity of errors, but the new issue at Langer has a real one. The name of Gamie Warden

Charles Voss was omitted, so the violators are having a field day in our neighborhood county. If you live in that area, and are bothered by the trigger-happy boys, his number is MO-4353.

"Better than any Detroit paper," phones Graham Suby of Birmingham, about this paper's coverage of the golf National Open.

Retiring as custodian engineer at the McVittie School, Kirby L. Miller was tendered a surprise dinner by the teachers, with a "This is your life" program.

"Give my regards to the old gang around Griff's Restaurant," writes Warren Dumanoff from his home in Peoria, Ill. He states that poor health keeps him from coming to the Centennial.

Over the Threshold

Supreme Court Misused Power

WASHINGTON — No more flagrant example of the confusion that arises from the arbitrary misuse of the judicial power could be cited than what is set forth in the 35,000 words of conflicting views expressed by the Supreme Court of the United States in deciding this week the case of six minors, known as the J.F. Franke case, who had appealed for protection of their constitutional rights. They were being forced to contribute dues to a labor union which used the money for partisan political purposes contrary to the wishes and views of these members.

The did Supreme Court decide that such a disregard of the rights of the individual to freedom of association or freedom of political belief was a violation of the Constitution? It did not.

Did the court decide to safeguard the rights of those alien workers who did not dare to protest for fear of being dismissed from the union and their jobs? It did not.

Five out of the nine justices did decide that perhaps the six workers were entitled to refund of that part of their dues which could have been used to finance political activity disapproved of by those workers.

But it was only to provide the necessary five-vote majority that Justice Douglas—after frankly disapproving of much of the majority opinion as written by Justice Brennan—decided to go along with this decision.

He said he recognized the strength of the arguments advanced in the opinion of Justices Black and Whitaker against giving a "proportional" refund to the six railroad workers, but pointed out that "there is the practical problem of summing five justices for a judgment in this case."

Douglas then added: "So I have concluded (dubiously) to agree to the one suggested by Mr. Justice Brennan, on the understanding that all relief granted will be confined to the six protesting employees."

For the benefit of those who may have forgotten their Latin, this means that Justice Douglas concurred in order to make a majority of five, but retained grave doubts as to whether the majority opinion was really correct.

No such doubts were expressed by the dissenters—Justices Frankfurter and Harlan, who filed an opinion, and Justice Black, who wrote another. Justice Whitaker "concurred in part and dissented in part."

The Country Parson

On the other hand if one is physically tired or weary from hours of manual labor or active play, rest is the equalizer one needs, rest sitting or lying down and maybe napping awhile before dinner.

Highballs and cocktails, beer or wine have no place in relieving tension or promoting relaxation or refreshment.

Anyone who offers such an excuse for indulging a narcotic (alcohol) deceives himself or maybe hopes to deceive others.

Voice of the People: 'Why Must People Show Mistrust in Government?'

I have heard people complaining about a strong federal government for a long time. The way these people talk one would think that the federal government was run by the devil himself. These advocates of "states rights" will support a man for governor, but if he ever gets to Washington, they mistrust him.

The men in Washington, representatives, senators, and the president are of a higher degree of capabilities than those in local government. In order for a man to be elected to the federal government he must display his qualifications to more people than the men running for local office. These men elected to Washington have not lost any concern for the people. They still are trying to benefit the people in the best way they can.

Library Card Fee Has Increased

Every summer our children and I look forward to going to the library. We have no television in our home by our own choice, but prefer that our children develop their minds through good literature.

This year, I found that to renew my library card would cost $5.00 instead of the usual $2.00 for out of city limits residents.

The children came away empty-handed because I just didn't have $5.00. How many others are there who have been laid off work and don't have the money?

Don't deny children good literature that would help them to be good children and better adults.

"Disappointed"

'Why Didn't Writer Help With Bull?'

If "Disgraced" knows so much about handling bulls, why wasn't he there to help with his expert advice? Some of the cow pokes he ridiculed were there to help. When hemp ropes were used to hold the bull and a nylon rope was used he should have been there to cut it. He's also an expert on ox roasts and I'm sure the old cow pokes must all the animals which must with unfortunate accidents.

Oh, by the way, he's an expert on the value of ropes also. All on the basis of the safety of his living room.

To Talk Indian Policy

CHICAGO, (AP)—The first national conference of American Indians has called upon the United States to give Indians a greater voice in determining government policy toward them.

Such a change would be a part of the Constitution which would give the government in a declaration of Indian priorities.

The declaration, approved Tuesday, was the product of an eight-day conference of 700 Indians representing 200 tribes from the Bering Sea to the Florida Keys, and Canada and Mexico.

The conference was organized by Sol Tax, a University of Chicago anthropologist, and followed a series of regional Indian conferences.

Abandonment of the so-called termination policy of the previous administration was one of the prime recommendations of the declaration.

MAY REORGANIZE BUREAU The policy was adopted by the 3rd Congress and removes the federal government from the administration of Indian affairs, returning the responsibility to the tribes. Chiefs sometimes have resulted in the few cases in which this has been brought about, and Indians generally oppose the policy.

Reorganization of the Bureau of Indian Affairs also is among the major recommendations. The declaration calls for abolition of the bureau's area offices, with the responsibilities of these offices to be turned over to reservation superintendents.

Federal economic assistance to establish industries and develop the reservation economy is high among the needs listed. This is

BUST DEVELOPMENT

There are three ways by which a girl can expand her bust line after she is grown.

First, if she is slender, the addition of 15 to 25 pounds more weight will often enlarge the busts, for that is one of the spots where excess fat is deposited.

Second, if a married woman gets pregnant, her bust will enlarge.

Third, exercise of the underlying muscles will make them swell and thus push the fatty breast tissue outward.

Beware, however, about fanning of the breast itself, for the breast is primarily fatty tissue, with a few fibers to hold the breast in the underlying chest wall.

Massage will thus tend to stretch the fibers that anchor the fat and thus produce flabby breasts.

But if you swim, play tennis or do go on push-ups to expend the pectoral muscles underlying the breasts, you can enlarge those muscles until they will push the breasts outward.

It's Now or Never in Cuba: Smathers

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP)—The time is near for the United States either to take Cuba away from Castro by force or to abandon it to the Communists, says Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla. He said decisive action in the Cuban situation is the only thing that would win back their respect and friendship.

Kennedy Irked at Cuban Import

Orders Staff to Probe Molasses Accepted at New Orleans Port

WASHINGTON (AP) — Apparently irked, President Kennedy has ordered his staff to investigate a big shipment of blackstrap molasses sent from Cuba to New Orleans.

The molasses, 2,018,424 gallons, arrived from Cuba last Friday aboard a Norwegian tanker. It was unloaded Tuesday at the Publicker Chemical Corp. docks at Westwego, across the Mississippi River from New Orleans.

Assistant news secretary Andrew T. Hatcher implied that Kennedy was unhappy about the shipment. He recalled that Kennedy said at a news conference in February that he hoped the deal would not be completed.

A spokesman for Publicker, which processes industrial alcohol from molasses at its New Orleans plant, said the Cuban molasses was destined for shipment outside New Orleans and said further comment would have to come from the parent company, Publicker Industries in Philadelphia. Officials there declined to comment.

The corporation and its subsidiaries produce cattle feed in addition to alcohol. Louisiana members of Congress fired off telegrams to Kennedy protesting the shipment and asking him to invoke the Trading with the Enemy Act to halt any further shipments.

They said other importers had heeded Kennedy's suggestion to buy blackstrap molasses from other sources. They added that they understood Publicker contracted for the Cuban molasses while no shipment for purchase of surplus molasses from the Agriculture Dept. grain at reduced prices.

State's College Problem Is Simple: Too Many Youngsters

By STUART GROSS
Education Writer, Saginaw News
SAGINAW (AP) — The problem in higher education is not difficult to state: More youngsters want to go to college than ever before.

From 1957 to 1960 enrollments in the nine state-supported colleges rose over 15 per cent — from 83,544 to 96,511 — a 12.87 per cent increase. Population projections show this is only the beginning. The big bunch starts arriving in 1965 and 15,000 more students may be seeking college seats than will seek them in 1964.

Educators say these children are here, the vanguard will be ninth graders next fall, and by 1970 they will more than double the present college enrollment.

But there are those who dispute the figures.
Says State Sen. Lynn O. Francis (R-Midland): "I disregard to some extent the idea of population explosion. I don't quite agree."
Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state school superintendent, says college classrooms must be doubled to handle the approaching flood, and the nine state colleges estimate they will require $384,268,027 to build classrooms and laboratories for these students.

However, State Rep. James Warner (R-Ypsilanti) says a major building program isn't needed. He maintains there is room on the campuses now for 10,000 to 15,000 more students. He says college classrooms must be used longer each day and more months each year.

to confuse the general public and cloud a situation that secondary school people realize is here: Colleges have become more selective in admissions, students who could have qualified for admission a year ago are not getting in this year.

The impact of college enrollment curtailment is almost impossible to gauge. It is spotty, and affects only a small percentage.

It is like trying to determine the size of a financial depression. The man with a job discounts it. The man out of a job knows it's here. So it is with the college crisis, those who didn't get in know there's a crisis.

Just how selective are colleges? Frankmunth High School says a senior with a 3.3 average, ranking in the 31st percentile in the rugged national merit test, was rejected by the University of Michigan because he had a D in second year algebra and two other C's on his high school record. He was accepted by another college. (By contrast, the highly sought athlete is not judged on the same standard. The Big Ten's code has a minimum of 1.7 in scholarship to qualify for an athletic scholarship and college admission.)

PRINCIPALS CAUTION
Surprisingly, the first cut off in college enrollments has been in the high schools. Principals, who know colleges rate (unofficially, of course) high schools by the way students perform in college, are more careful about whom they recommend for college.

They require better grades in the academic subjects of students they now give recommendations. Principal Irl M. Brock of Saginaw Arthur Hill and Principal Ward E. Tibbitt of Saginaw High both have said students they would have recommended last year were recommended this year because of higher standards by colleges.

A spot sampling of some other major state high schools shows all had more difficulty this year in placing seniors. Supt. Russell L. Isbister of Plymouth said seven seniors he considered qualified for college were rejected, three others are on waiting lists.

Supt. James C. Covert of Royal Oak said between 5 per cent and 10 per cent of seniors he considers qualified couldn't get in, and two are on waiting lists.
Supt. James W. Bushong of Grosse Pointe said while no qualified student from his high school was denied admission, some had to hunt for a college that would accept them. Some are on waiting lists, he said.

"There is no doubt the competition for admission will become much more tense with each passing year," Bushong said.

"There is no question that with the present physical facilities of our colleges, despite trimester plans and other devices, that the potential students which they (colleges) can accommodate will be less and less," said Covert. "I personally feel that the answer to the need for higher education rests largely with the community college."

'CATASTROPHE'

Supt. Ernest R. Britton of Midland said it will be a "state and national catastrophe" if college classroom space is not made available.

Dr. Bartlett said the enrollment curtailment this year not only affects freshmen but is denying some junior college transfers and graduate students the opportunity to continue their education.

(Tomorrow: Is there a solution?)

Dem Chairman Ginn Blasts Republicans for Rejection of Request

County Democratic Chairman James M. Ginn accused Republican legislators of "the biggest giveaway in the history of Michigan" with their rejection of Gov. John B. Swainson's request for extra federal welfare and highway assistance for the state.

"Because of the Republican-dominated legislature's action last week, Ginn said necessary welfare assistance to dependent children of unemployed workers will now have to be paid for by local taxpayers. He claimed that over $20 million for this purpose would have to be collected through local property taxes and sales taxes.

He said additional funds were given away by the legislature's refusal to bring Michigan in conformance with the Federal Highway Act, entitling the state to a federal bonus of $5 million. The U.S. Senate-approved highway bill establishes billboard regulations for scenic purposes on interstate roads.

"Over $25 million of the taxpayers' money went aglimmering so that the GOP could continue its program of political sabotage," he charged.

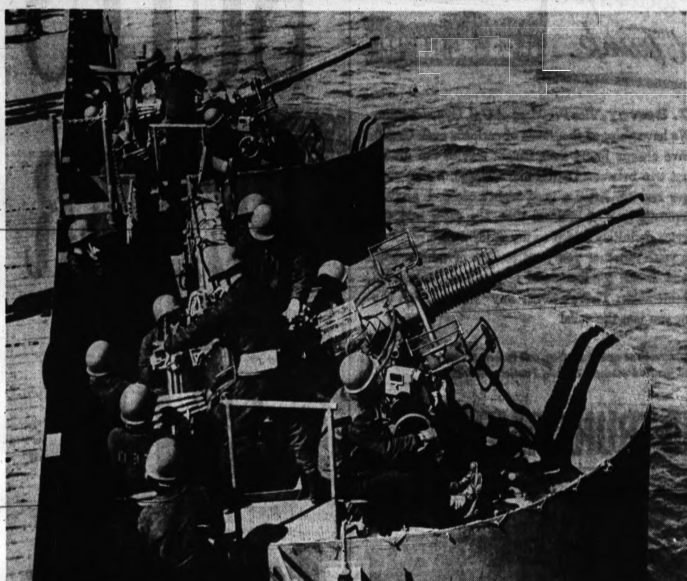

Letter Claims Group Will Try to Kill Castro

MONTEVIDEO (AP) — Police Tuesday received an anonymous letter saying that an organization is planning to assassinate Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro if he comes here for the Latin American economic meeting.

The letter, which enclosed a two-page detail of the organization, said an attempt would also be made on the life of Argentine-born Ernesto Guevara, the leftist economic czar of the island.

Brushes Fall Into 15 Classifications

To 'Judge Brothers' Beards Saturday

The day some 4,000 bearded members of the Brothers of the Brush are awaiting is Saturday. At 2 p.m. Saturday in Wisner Stadium, preliminary judging in the beard contest will begin. At 8 p.m., the finals will take place there and awards will be presented to the winners.

There'll be handsome brass plaques on walnut bases, donated by the 15 credit unions of Pontiac.

Here are the 15 types of beards that will be judged:

BEST ALL-AROUND BEARD—Length, fullness, luxuriance, appearance and complete growth. Must be a full beard with no shaven portion on face or beneath the chin.

FULLEST BEARD—The total quantity of hairy growth on temples, cheeks, jowls, upper and lower portions of the face will count. There should be no shaven portion of the face or beneath the chin.

FANCHEST BEARD—That type of beard which, because of its dressy, special trim, general appearance, waxing or luxuriance as combined features, best meets with the approval of the judges. Dye is permissible.

CURLIEST BEARD—As the name implies. Must be natural curl, however.

VAN DYKE—Chin whiskers tapering to definite point at the lower end.

MUTTON CHOPS—Continuous hair from temples, curving downward at jowls and continuing upward in a curve to connect with a full mustache. The chin is bare. There must be no gap at end of mustache.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN—Dark brown or black beard-most characteristic of the Civil War president. Costume or hat will not be considered.

GOATEE—A long chin whisker, extending from the top of the lower lip, long, rather narrow and continuing straight downward.

IMPERIAL—Full, nicely rounded chin whiskers with connection to full mustache. Whiskers extend from chin to midway toward the ears.

HALO—An oval shaped continuation of mustache and chin whiskers. This continuous hair forms an oval, somewhat like a letter "O" on its side.

MUSTACHE—Hair on the upper lip, curled or straight at ends. Longest, most luxuriant, best trimmed sample. May be waxed or dyed.

SIDEburns—Continuation of hair from temples—no break—and growing down the cheeks, either straight or curving. Fullness and fanciest.

BURNSIDES—Sideburns which curve continuously from temples downward to jowls and then to the chin, where they almost meet, but the chin is bare.

THE MOST PITIFUL BEARD—Not a freak cut or trim, but the poorest attempt to grow a beard naturally, regardless of any artificial treatment.

COLOR—Must be natural: Black, brown, blond, red, Auburn, white and gray. Additionally, any two-tone or three-tone combination of these natural colors.

In addition, Centennial Headquarters announced these further rules in the contest:

The contest is open only to those who are button-wearing members of The Brothers of the Brush. Anyone who is chosen in any one classification above cannot compete in another. Only those entrants selected as winners in the preliminaries can enter the finals.

In case of bad weather, the preliminaries will be held at Pontiac Northern High School auditorium. At this time, instructions as to the holding of the finals will be given to preliminary winners. In the preliminaries, three entrants will be selected in each of the above classifications to enter the finals. It must be understood that, while contestants may wear hats, costumes or other regalia, only the hair will be judged!

After the preliminaries are over, seven bearded men will be selected to compete in the speed "shave off" contest that night.

There'll be several electric razors as prizes.

State Traffic Creates Unrest

Police Head Advises Strengthening Means to Prevent Accidents

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's traffic problem is growing at a faster rate than the means to control or improve it, State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs said today.

"It looks like we are gradually fighting a losing battle unless the means to prevent accidents can be strengthened," Childs said in a letter to Gov. Swainson.

The governor praised the state police for their efforts to hold down traffic fatalities, and took an indirect slap at the legislature for failing to meet his appropriation requests for the department.

"In view of the increase in the number of drivers, vehicles and the mileage being traveled over our expanded highway system," he said, "it is most regrettable that budgetary restrictions will not permit an expansion of your traffic safety forces to meet the situation."

Childs said traffic deaths in Michigan totaled 1,178 through June 11, an increase of seven per cent above the same period last year when 577 deaths were reported.

Swainson Announces State Fair Appointees

LANSING (AP) — Three reappointments and two new appointments to the Michigan State Fair Commission were announced by Gov. Swainson today.

New members are Alfred Ullman, 43, of Hamtramck, a supervisor for the Wayne County Road Commission, and Leo Seide, 35, a Flint beer distributor.

Ullman will replace Joseph McCann of Detroit and Seide will succeed George Merriman of Manchester.

Swainson reappointed Frank Kinsora of St. Clair Shores, Edwin Lee Feller, Route 1, Coldwater, and Robert J. Noon of Jackson. The terms all expire April 14, 1965, and require senate confirmation.

Senators Shout OK to Biggest Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Without the formality of a record vote, Senators have shouted approval of the biggest annual farm-money bill in history.

The measure would provide slightly over $7 billion to carry on the wide variety of agricultural programs in the year which begins July 1.

Passed Tuesday by voice vote, the bill now goes back to the House, which had voted some $15 billion less. Both versions provide nearly $2 billion more than Congress supplied for the current year.

Acquits 2 Defendants in Ratterman Case

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—It was a happy, but apparently unsurprised pair of defendants who were acquitted Tuesday of charges they conspired to bring about the arrest of George Ratterman, a reform candidate for sheriff of Campbell County.

Tito Carinci and Thomas Paisley were acquitted after Campbell Circuit Court Judge Ray L. Murphy directed the jury to return a verdict of innocent because of lack of evidence.

After Ratterman's arrest in a hotel room May 9 with strip-tease dancer Juanita Jean Hodges, he claimed he had been drugged and framed. Charges against him were dismissed several weeks later.

Deaconesses are ordained but are not given full clergy rights. They serve as social workers, nurses, house mothers, Christian education directors and in similar capacities. Once numerous in the Methodist Church, these women's forces are dwindling.

City Commission OKs Rezoning

Approval of Proposal Makes Possible New City Trailer Park

Rezoning was approved by the City Commission last night which makes possible a new trailer park in the city.

The request was for rezoning from Commercial 1 to Residential 4, the new trailer park classification, of a plot of land on old Telegraph Road in the Beaudette Park area.

The site is on the east side of old Telegraph directly north of an already existing trailer park.

Action on the proposal had been deferred a week because the area is in Mayor Philip T. Rowton's district and he was not present at last week's meeting.

Rowton was also absent last night, taking part in the Centennial spectacular at Warner Stadium, but he had given commissioners his approval before the meeting.

In approving the rezoning, which had been opposed by the Planning Commission, commissioners expressed concern that the move might leave the door open to further trailer parks, which provide little in the way of tax base to the city.

Speed No Way to Fight Fires, Claims Expert

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Firemen should slow down their fire fighting operations, Robert F. Hamm, director of public relations for the department training with the Indiana rating bureau, said.

Opening the 33rd annual Michigan fire college at the University of Michigan, Hamm said:

"Much of the ineffectiveness of fire fighting can be traced to the mistake idea that speed is the chief goal of all fire department techniques and operations."

Aside from accident danger on congested streets and highways, speed in opening a building before hose lines are readied is often disastrous, Hamm charged.

Speed in throwing water before the fire is located may cause water damage greater than that from fire, and speed in placing ladders may cause rescue efforts to fail, Hamm added.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"A group of my neighbors have become addicts of yours and wouldn't miss your column for anything. We have varied degrees of knowledge when it comes to sewing and have formed a little club just for sewing. Besides sharing the same interests, we help fit each other, work out difficult problems, and have had lots of fun besides."

Mrs. H.M.

Most sewing clubs are just an excuse to get together and have nothing to do with actual sewing. I am printing your letter because I think it has so much merit and hope it will give women all over the country a similar idea. Fitting is a major problem in which you can give a great deal of help to each other.

FIT THEM TIGHT

"Dear Eunice,

"I have found some remnants of an elasticized type of knit that is used in commercial swimming suits. Since I have three girls and bathing suits are such an expense, I am hoping to make them. Any hints you can give me would be more than helpful."

Mrs. W.R.G.

This type of fabric will have to be fitted tighter than an ordinary cotton fabric. Sometimes it is better to use a pattern one size smaller than usual since this type of a bathing suit will get larger when wet.

I would suggest you use a heavy duty thread and a heavy duty zipper. Because of the elasticity of this knit-type fabric, pull your seams a little as you machine stitch to give the same elasticity to your seams and avoid threads breaking under any strain.

TRY SOME DARTS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"When I gather a border-print type of material, I find that if I use my usual four yards which my girls like, the skirt appears very bulky and stiff at the waistline. I usually end up just making pleats instead. Why should I find a noticeable difference in the gathering?"

Mrs. G.H.

The reason the border-print type of fabric doesn't gather as nicely as any other type fabric you are using, is because you are gathering the cross-grain of the fabric instead of the lengthwise grain.

Naturally, with the type of fabric you refer to, as well as a finished embroidered edge fabric, you can only cut your skirt in one long piece. There are two solutions which will help you.

1. Cut down on the width of your skirt, usually it will gather quite nicely with 2 1/2 or 3 yards of fabric.

2. Before you put your gathering threads in, make darts should be tapered to every 4 or 5 inches. These darts should be tapered to nothing 6 or 7 inches below the waistline. See illustration. This will eliminate some of the bulk from the waistline and still not affect the width at the lower edge.

Since you will be sewing over several thicknesses of fabric, your gathering stitch should be a longer machine stitch. Also, remember to use nylon thread in the bobbin of your machine.

In heavier type fabrics, such as velveteen, you will find that using the darts to eliminate extra fullness is a big help when trying to gather 3 or 4 yards into a small waist measurement.

Abby Says It's a Fish Story

Man Overplays His Act

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been gobbling his dinner every night so he can go fishing about 6:30. He doesn't get back until 2 or 3 the next morning. He always has a big catch. I've been having fresh wide-mouth for dinner every night, and putting some in our freezer.

ABBY: passing it around to all the neighbors.

Can you imagine how I felt when the butcher at the fish market asked me how I liked the fish my husband bought? I haven't spoken to my husband for two days. When I decide to talk — what should I say?

"FISHERMAN'S WIFE": DEAR WIFE: Tell him if the fish had kept their wide mouths shut they wouldn't have been caught. And the same goes for him and his big-mouthed butcher.

* * * DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, 24, has accepted a diamond ring from a handsome, married man and the father of three children. She claims she isn't breaking up his home as he now spends more time with her than she spends with his wife. She knows his wife, and says she is a dried-up clothes-horse.

Our daughter is willing to continue going with this man in the hope that one day he will get his freedom and marry her. We don't want to stand by and watch her throw her life away waiting for him. We want her to return the ring, along with the clothes and gifts he has given her, and break up with him for good. Or else I want her out of my house.

My husband says if she lives alone she will become more involved with this man. She has quit her job (at his request) so they can have more time together. Am I wrong to ask her to choose between us — her parents — and this man? Please help us to help our daughter.

HEARTSICK PARENTS: DEAR PARENTS: Your husband is right. If you turn her out of your home, her last lifeline to morality and decency will have been severed. Encourage her to go back to work. And pray that she comes to her senses soon and realizes that this man is a selfish, ruthless two-timer who, eventually, will give her the same treatment he is now giving his wife.

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and my steady boy friend is a little older, and much more experienced than I am. We are very fond of each other. You could say we are "in love." Like other young couples, we park after a date.

A while back you had a letter in your column signed "Never Did." It was from a mother who wanted more than anything in the world for her daughter to be married in a white wedding gown because she "never did." I cut out that letter and carry it in my wallet. I have reread it a hundred times. It has helped me, Dear Abby, more than you will ever know. Thank you for writing it. Sign me — "I WILL!"

Wilson-Frye Vows Told

A breakfast at Adrian Cotter's Tavern followed the Saturday morning vows of Ruthann Frye of Royal Oak to Donald R. Wilson in Our Lady of LaSalette Church, Berkley. Rev. J. Thomas MacNamara performed the ceremony.

The William M. Frye of Royal Oak, parents of the bride, were hosts at a family buffet dinner in their Royal Oak home. The bridegroom is the son of the Boyd Wilsons of Cross Street.

White organs over slipper seats for the bride was styled with scoop neckline and chapel train. Balerina-length veiling fell from a headpiece of pearls on lace. She carried white roses and French carnations.

The bridegroom's sisters Della and Dorcas Wilson, serving as bridesmaids, wore mint green chiffon with daisy wreaths. Martha Frye, her sister's junior attendant, wore lemon yellow. They held colonial bouquets of carnations, pompons and ivy.

Yellow roses centered the bouquet for maid of honor Jane DeRosia of Southfield, also in mint green.

Wifred Miroslaw served his cousin as best man. Ushers were the bride's brother James, her uncle, Paul Frye, and Joseph Krause.

Returning from a honeymoon in the Great Smoky Mountain area the couple will be at home in Royal Oak.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Frye selected pink embroidered batiste, white pillow box hat and pink rose corsage. The mother of the bridegroom pinned yellow shoulder corsage to her blue sheer.

MRS. DONALD R. WILSON

1, 2 or More Flowers Quite Okay

By the Equity Post Institute

Q: The head of our department had a birthday the other day and I and a few of the other girls, who work with her, bought her two long-stemmed American beauty roses. We were criticized for this and were told that anything less than a half dozen roses was not proper.

This caused quite a discussion in the office. Will you please give us your opinion on this matter?

A: There was nothing improper in your very thoughtful gift of two beautiful roses. Giving as many as, as few as you wish, or can afford, is always correct.

Q: I was invited to a shower and the wedding of a young lady but because of illness was unable to go to either function. I contacted a store, however, and ordered gifts to be sent to both the shower and the wedding. I have long since paid these bills.

More than two months have gone by and I still haven't received an acknowledgment of either gift. The bride comes from a very nice family and I am surprised at her actions. Is there a polite way to find out if these gifts were received? I am of the opinion that a bride who has time to address hundreds of invitations to her wedding, should take time to write thank-you notes to those who sent gifts.

A: Not having thanked you in all this time is really inexcusable. You may quite properly write to her and say that not having heard from her you are afraid the shower and wedding presents you sent her may have been sent to the wrong address or that your cards were not enclosed with them.

Describe the things you sent her and ask her to please let you know if she ever received them.

Q: Will you please tell me the correct way to address a letter to a lawyer? Is he addressed as attorney John Smith or Mr. John Smith?

A: He should be addressed as Mr. John Smith.

ALICIA HART

For some reason difficult to understand, mature women often feel that cosmetics are not for them. And similarly, teenagers who need very little make-up often have an intense interest in every cosmetic known to womanhood.

The truth is that every woman in the over-forty set has need of cosmetics. She also needs to know how to apply them skillfully. The modern trend is to make-up that is translucent, that enhances without creating a painted look.

To this end, there are cream foundations that create the lightest film, face powders that let the skin show through and lipsticks that are truly transparent.

CLEANLINESS COUNTS
But one thing has not changed: the need to apply make-up to a clean skin. Never, even in haste, apply make-up to skin that has not been cleaned. You'll be sealing in clogged pores that lead to blemishes and other skin imperfections.

To add a second or even third layer of cosmetics during the day is every bit as bad as using make-up on an unwashed face. A single application of make-up is enough. When this begins to look stale, remove it with warm, soapy water. Do a gentle, thorough job.

Splash your face with cold water as a finishing touch. This will close pores and tighten your skin in the same way that an astringent does. Many a woman with really lovely skin attributes it to the daily use of cold water.

Caroline Rosciewski Married in Lake Orion

St. Joseph Catholic Church, Lake Orion, was the Saturday morning setting for the marriage of Caroline Rosciewski and Robert William Mountain.

Rev. Charles Cushing of St. Michael Parish, Pontiac, officiated at the Nuptial High Mass with Pulpit blessing. Some 100 guests were present for the wedding of the daughter of Mrs. Nicholas Rosciewski and the late Nicholas M. Rosciewski, of Casemere Road, Lake Orion, and the son of Walter J. Mountain and the late Mrs. Mountain of Chamberlain Street.

The bride proceeded toward a white altar banked with bouquets of gladioli and carnations, wearing nylon tulle. The Chantilly lace bodice and rose-point sleeveless top was skirted with bouffant satin and Chantilly lace border.

A crystal crown secured her fingertip illusion veil, and a single strand of pearls and earrings were a gift of the bridegroom.

She carried a cascade of stephanotis, centered with white carnations, and carried her mother's silver rosary. The bride was given in marriage by her brother Charles Rosciewski of Oxford.

BRIDE'S ATTENDANTS
Attending were Janice Thibodeau of Union Lake as maid of honor, Mary Anne Doelle of Detroit, and Elizabeth Mountain of Pontiac, cousin of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids. Junior bridesmaid was Vivian Jarvis of Oxford, niece of the bride, and flower girl, Ann Marie DeBor.

All wore identical gowns of white nylon chiffon over taffeta with red cummerbunds and bouffant skirts. Their red picture hats with white satin streamers were designed and made by the bride's mother.

Serving as best man was Charles Mountain, and ushers, John and Donald Mountain, all brothers of the bridegroom, and Albert Bednarski, cousin of the bride, junior usher.

Breakfast for the immediate family following the ceremony was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall with some 100 guests present. A reception at 6 p.m. in the hall was attended by 300 from Chicago, Minnesota, Ann Arbor, Detroit, Plymouth, Oxford, Lake Orion and Pontiac.

The bride's mother wore beige silk sheath for the occasion with a corsage of green cypripedium orchids for the occasion.

The bride attended Mercy College, Detroit, and is a graduate of Mercy School of Nursing of Ann Arbor, while the bridegroom graduated from Lawrence Institute of Technology in engineering.

The new Mrs. Mountain chose a navy blue suit with white accessories and pink corsage for the two week trip to Lake Royale. The couple will reside in Chicago.

Couple Exchanges Wedding Vows

Mary Margaret Rucker became the bride of William Eugene Liechty Friday evening in a double-ring candlelight ceremony at Bethel United Church of Christ.

Rev. Donald P. Gahler performed the ceremony in the presence of some 200 guests.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mrs. Charles Rucker of Auburn Avenue and the late Mr. Rucker, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilford J. Liechty of Sheridan Avenue.

The bride's gown of chantilly lace featured a chapel train, tiered front and fitted bodice and pointed sleeves. Sequins and pearls accented the Sabrina neckline. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her heart-shaped cascade of carnations was varietal with a stephanotis and orchid corsage.

Attending as maid of honor was Gail Hawkins, wearing a ballerina-length dress of blue silk organza with a lace top and matching hat and shoes. Bridesmaid Thelma Liechty, sister of the bridegroom, chose a ballerina-length dress like the maid of honor's, in yellow, with matching accessories. They carried heart-shaped cascades of blue and yellow carnations, respectively.

Tumble Out Odors
(UPI) — When removing summer drapes and slipcovers from storage, use your automatic dryer to revive them. The tumbling procedure will aid in loosening wrinkles and removing musty odors.

According to a leading beauty authority, there are several ways you can make yourself feel better and, therefore, look better when you go out at night.

If you have time, the best means of recuperation is to take a brief nap. Even if you can't sleep, lie down and relax. In addition, a quick shower will do wonders to pep you up. However, if time does not permit—a nap or shower, follow this procedure: First remove all old make-up. Then, massage your entire scalp with fingertips, give your hair a brisk and thorough brushing, and follow this up by applying skin freshener to your face, neck and shoulders.

These three steps will give you an immediate pick-up. After employing these methods to banish fatigue, add a new application of make-up and you will look fresh and lovely for your evening date.

To add a second or even third layer of cosmetics during the day is every bit as bad as using make-up on an unwashed face. A single application of make-up is enough. When this begins to look stale, remove it with warm, soapy water. Do a gentle, thorough job.

Splash your face with cold water as a finishing touch. This will close pores and tighten your skin in the same way that an astringent does. Many a woman with really lovely skin attributes it to the daily use of cold water.

According to a leading beauty authority, there are several ways you can make yourself feel better and, therefore, look better when you go out at night.

If you have time, the best means of recuperation is to take a brief nap. Even if you can't sleep, lie down and relax. In addition, a quick shower will do wonders to pep you up. However, if time does not permit—a nap or shower, follow this procedure: First remove all old make-up. Then, massage your entire scalp with fingertips, give your hair a brisk and thorough brushing, and follow this up by applying skin freshener to your face, neck and shoulders.

Couple Exchanges Wedding Vows

Mary Margaret Rucker became the bride of William Eugene Liechty Friday evening in a double-ring candlelight ceremony at Bethel United Church of Christ.

Rev. Donald P. Gahler performed the ceremony in the presence of some 200 guests.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mrs. Charles Rucker of Auburn Avenue and the late Mr. Rucker, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilford J. Liechty of Sheridan Avenue.

The bride's gown of chantilly lace featured a chapel train, tiered front and fitted bodice and pointed sleeves. Sequins and pearls accented the Sabrina neckline. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her heart-shaped cascade of carnations was varietal with a stephanotis and orchid corsage.

Attending as maid of honor was Gail Hawkins, wearing a ballerina-length dress of blue silk organza with a lace top and matching hat and shoes. Bridesmaid Thelma Liechty, sister of the bridegroom, chose a ballerina-length dress like the maid of honor's, in yellow, with matching accessories. They carried heart-shaped cascades of blue and yellow carnations, respectively.

Red Blames Stalin for Retreat in WW II

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Marshal A. I. Yeremenko Tuesday blamed Stalin for the Red army's retreat before the Germans in the early days of World War II, Moscow radio reported.

The broadcast said Yeremenko wrote in the defense ministry's newspaper, Red Star, on the 20th anniversary of the Nazi invasion: "The Red army's retreat was a forced one, due to a number of perfectly concrete causes, and in particular to a wrong estimate by Stalin of the military and political situation, the mistakes and blunders of the supreme command."

During the war, Stalin generally took credit for the victories, but blamed his commanders for the defeats.

Frisco Unleashes New Dog Law—Without Chasers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 30,000 dogs in this city are supposed to go on leash July 22, or else—

But no one is sure just what else.

The police claim they shouldn't have to chase dogs, that it's a job for the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The SPCA agrees, but its professional catchers want to know if the Board of Supervisors meant what it said in the new ordinance. In other words, are all unleashed dogs to be impounded?

If so, the SPCA wants a "dog task force." And that will cost money.

Anyway, Mayor George Christopher has said he'll sign the ordinance.

Fight Faces Supporters of Kennedy School Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces began an uphill struggle today to rescue President Kennedy's school bill from the sea of controversy that has all but swamped it in the House.

Democratic leaders in the House looked to the President to do some personal pushing on the 2.5-billion measure.

Kennedy and House Speaker Sam Rayburn were dealt a setback Tuesday when the Rules Committee refused to send the bill to the floor as Rayburn wanted.

Instead it voted 9 to 6 to delay.

other bill—the National Defense Education Act — with loans for parochial schools included.

The success of the Rules Committee in blocking action illustrated, in capsule form, the potent forces allied against the administration bill.

The measure grants to the states for either public school construction or teachers' salaries, as the states desire.

Integration issue

The nine-man majority was composed of five Republicans, two Southern Democrats and two Northern Democrats—both Roman Catholics representing heavily Catholic districts.

Republicans in the House are nearly unanimously opposed to any school bill. The opposition of the conservative Southern Democrats is heightened by their concern that a federal education program would hasten integration in public schools. Many Catholic congressmen are under pressure from their constituents to withhold support from public school aid until they are assured parochial schools also will get some form of aid.

In addition, the bill faces heavy attack once it gets to the floor from members who oppose the provisions for teachers' salaries but favor the construction program, and those who object to the formula under which poorer states will receive a greater proportion of funds than richer states.

Such formidable opposition has kept the House from ever giving final approval to a general aid to education bill. Supporters of the current measure are now agreed that only vigorous action by the administration can change that pattern.

House and Senate Democratic leaders met at the White House Tuesday for talks that focused on the school bill.

SEES CHANGE

Rep. Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Education Committee, who Monday called for the administration to step up its backing, told a news conference he saw a change in the atmosphere shortly after the White House meeting.

Powell said Majority Leader John W. McCormack, D-Mass., who had shared the view of the Municipal Review Has Pontiac Report

The Michigan Municipal Review, official publication of the Michigan Municipal League, has chosen Pontiac's Centennial Week as a time to publish a comprehensive report on the city's pay-as-you-go capital improvement program.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Presidential Emergency Board recommended today a 5 per cent increase in gross earnings of flight engineers of Pan American World Airways.

Husband Held in Suicide Aid

Confesses He Helped Wife Take Pain Pills, Watched Her Die

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—An Air Force technician who said he told his wife she was "a cross for me to carry" and then watched her die from an overdose of drugs, was held today on a charge of aiding and abetting a suicide.

Robert J. Ducharme Jr., 21, a former La Crosse resident now stationed in Superior Court Tuesday to the charge, Judge Roy H. Proctor ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

Ducharme's wife, Kathleen, 18, died March 27. She was the mother of two boys, aged 1 and 2. An autopsy disclosed her body contained a fatal dose of drugs.

Dist. Atty. William D. Byrne said on the date of Kathleen's death, Ducharme returned to their trailer home and his wife told him she didn't feel like going to her part-time job as a store clerk and an argument ensued.

Ducharme then told his wife that he didn't love her any more and that she was "a cross for me to carry." Byrne said, and suggested that she take a bottle of "pain pills." The husband brought water to his wife and she took 80 pills while he remained at her side.

Byrne said Ducharme left the trailer when he believed his wife was dead. Then he locked the children in the trailer home with the body and returned to work. Later he telephoned police and reported his wife's death.

The four bases, which cost the United States $50 million to build, are: Alconbury Air Base, Bruntingthorpe, Chelveston, and Snetterton.

Municipal Judge Cecil McCullum ordered Pfc. Charles G. Gray, 20, of 617 Commerce Rd., Commerce Township, released pending the pretrial hearing.

Producer Says TV Hits All-Time Low

NEW YORK (AP)—Television's concept of a program or "you" producer David Susskind testified today that television programming reached an all-time low this year and that it will be worse next season.

"I tremble for next year," Susskind told the Federal Communications Commission at a hearing it is conducting into creative aspects of network programming.

Susskind said he spoke as a father, a citizen and as a person engaged in the TV industry.

"This year marked the nadir," he said. "Then he testified that next season's scheduling would 'make this year look like the golden age of television.'"

He said this was "the year of the Western and private eye" with the "stirring exception" of public affairs programs that constituted 10 per cent of the schedules.

The remaining 90 per cent, he said, was "a travesty, a waste, a gigantic comic strip, huge-bum."

Asked what brought about the current state, Susskind said the reasons were many, including the death-grip on programming by the networks where formerly it was possible to sell to a host of advertisers or agencies.

He testified that the three men who head the major networks make all programming decisions, served 17 years in his respected position—elected annually for 25 years and biennially for six terms.

"None of them were by smashing majorities," he said, "and you can be sure there was more nip and tuck affairs."

The "great gentleman" of a network government was first elected clerk of White Lake in 1920, serving five successive terms until Larry Luck stepped into the picture.

To Honor White Lake Ex-Official

By JIM LONG
WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The first time Bert A. McKeechie lost an election was on a toss of a coin.

His second and final defeat was by the narrow margin of 22 votes.

But before, between and after those losses the 70-year-old recently retired Bert A. McKeechie lost public affairs programs that constituted 10 per cent of the schedules.

He testified that the three men who head the major networks make all programming decisions, served 17 years in his respected position—elected annually for 25 years and biennially for six terms.

Canadian Dollar Dips to 97.5 Pct.

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada got a quick reaction today to its campaign to push the Canadian dollar to a "substantial" discount on the exchange market as part of a plan to boost economic growth.

The Canadian dollar dipped to 97½ cents in U.S. funds in foreign exchange trading in New York. It was the lowest level in comparison with the U.S. dollar since February 1952.

Canada's economic campaign was outlined by Finance Minister Donald M. Fleming in his budget speech Tuesday night. Simply stated, it would appear to mean less for Americans.

Those who want to spend money in Canada—for vacations or goods—may get a break. Their dollar is worth more than the Canadian dollar and soon may be more.

But those Americans who want to sell goods in Canada or who withdraw dividends from investments in that country may lose money. The dollar they bring out may not be worth a dollar in the U.S.

House OKs JFK Plan
WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has approved President Kennedy's plan to reorganize the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Federal Trade Commission.

—teaching—a profession he followed for 21½ years in White Lake Township's rural schools.

The site of the little frame White Lake school where he taught for many years can be seen from McKeechie's home at 3940 White Lake Road, where he lives with his wife Edith and where they raised their three sons and a daughter.

The couple's oldest son Wilbert is a professor of psychology at the University of Michigan; Joyce, who is now Mrs. William Peerner, lives in Wilmington, Delaware. Duane is in the mathematics department at the General Motors Institute in Flint, and Melvin, the youngest, is a newspaper reporter for the Ashland (Ohio) Times Gazette.

Early in the Forties McKeechie left his teaching career and became a tax accountant for the Oakland County Board of Education, retiring in 1957 but continuing his duties as township clerk.

Now for the second time his retirement from public life will be observed by old and new friends at the open house to be held at the White Lake Community Hall from 3 to 5 p.m.

County Clerk Daniel T. Murphy will present the long-time clerk with a gift, a slightly belated tribute from co-workers who comment "he was a perfect gentleman at all times" and an "invaluable asset when we needed advice the most."

And to all his McKeechie's reply is "I told them not to go to any fuss."

Sewage Project Starts Thursday

Ceremonies Following City's 2-Month Wait

Formal ground-breaking ceremonies for Pontiac's new sewage treatment facilities will take place Thursday at 4:30 p.m. It was announced last night.

City Manager Walter K. Willman reported at the City Commission meeting that the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission had approved the city's application to sell bonds to finance the needed facilities.

This clears the way for ground-breaking and the issuance of bonds. The city had applied for approval about two months ago.

Commissioners immediately authorized the taking of bids for the sale of bonds in the necessary amount for construction of the new plant.

Deadline on bids will be 8 p.m. July 11. The project is estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $3 million.

Included in the proposed improvement program will be a sewage treatment plant at a new site, improvements at the present sewage treatment plant, and a pipeline connecting the two facilities.

A tentative building schedule calls for the new facilities to be in operation by June, 1963.

Finance commission approval was granted Tuesday afternoon.

Southfield Ejects Drain-Savings Offer

SOUTHFIELD — The City Council here has rejected a savings offer of more than $200,000 offered by the State Highway Department if two storm drains were built immediately.

The highway department agreed to pay about 40 per cent of the costs of constructing drains under the proposed Southfield and Northwestern expressways if they were built now.

However, the council turned down the offer after a dispute over whether the drains should be paid for by benefited property owners or by the city at large.

Immediate construction of the drains would save Southfield expensive tunneling after the expressways are completed.

Opposing the highway department's offer were Councilmen John J. Hollywood, David Edwards and Robert G. Landers while the plan was favored by Council President C. Hugh Dobany and Councilman Clarence A. Durbin.

Durban said he would call another council meeting to show if any agreement could be reached. The highway department set July 1 as the deadline for agreement by the council.

ABSTAIN FROM VOTE
Philip B. Peterson and Thomas Rowley, two council members employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. abstained from voting because their employer would be one of the benefited property owners.

Durban said the cost would be prohibitive if benefited property owners had to finance it since they would have only 10 years to pay the costs. The city, however, could finance it over 30 years.

Edwards maintained that the project should not be financed with citywide taxes.

Masked Bandit Steals $59 From Service Station

SOUTHFIELD — An armed bandit wearing a rubber mask over his face held up Al's Service Station at 25025 Southfield Road early today and escaped with an unknown amount of money.

A masked man entered the station carrying a 45-caliber automatic pistol. The man, ordered Kaplan to hand over all the bills in the cash register.

Kaplan gave the thief $59 in cash. The bandit then took an envelope containing an undetermined amount of cash located on top of a desk.

Says He Was Just a Timetable Man

Eichmann Denies Blame for Deaths

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann asserted today that he was just a railroad timetable man who had nothing to do with killing Jews or ordering them to their deaths.

He told the Jewish court trying him for the murder of six million Jews during World War II that he had no responsibility in the deportation of Jews or in the theft of their property.

He took his orders from his Gestapo boss, Gen. Heinrich Mueller, enjoyed no special privileges, and his recommendations often were ignored by the Nazi foreign office, Eichmann told the court.

Eichmann testified for the second straight day. He spent nearly five hours answering questions by his German defense counsel Dr. Robert Servatius.

The objective of both questions and answers was to show Eichmann as a small-time Nazi official who obeyed orders and never took any action on his own initiative. The testimony was also designed to demolish the prosecution charges that Eichmann was the ruthless master killer who shipped millions of Jews to their deaths in the gas chambers, by shooting or by starvation.

Servatius' questions were based exclusively on documents already submitted by the prosecution or a few he introduced in evidence himself.

Eichmann spoke in a confident voice.

At times he appeared to be lecturing the court and was so carried away by his monologue that presiding judge Moshe Landau twice pulled him up short and told him to wait for the translation into Hebrew, the official language of the court.

Eichmann's voice was professional rather than monotonous. He kept his hands on the desk in front of him, where a stack of documents was piled.

Several times Eichmann quoted from the documents or lectured the court on them — particularly on a chart in color drawn up to his own specifications showing the organizational setup at secret police headquarters in Berlin, where he headed the Jewish Affairs Office number 4B from the end of 1939 onwards.

Eichmann and Servatius carried down testimony by Eichmann on an obviously well-drilled exchange of questions and answers of various types of Nazi officials with Servatius reading the questions in Polish, Judge Landau reading of a sheet in front of him marked with obvious amusement and Eichmann frequently reading "the defense counsel can't take the answers from a pile of notes in an argument with the accused himself."

At times Eichmann appeared to be taking over and conducting his own defense.

In reply to a question by Servatius he would say "so and so" and so would transcribe from documents to be submitted at a later stage or "later documents will make this clear."

However, once towards the end of the hearing Servatius appeared to be trying to contradict or water down testimony by Eichmann on an obviously well-drilled exchange of questions and answers of various types of Nazi officials with Servatius reading the questions in Polish, Judge Landau reading of a sheet in front of him marked with obvious amusement and Eichmann frequently reading "the defense counsel can't take the answers from a pile of notes in an argument with the accused himself."

ARRIVES FOR BOOKING—Frank Costello, New York Governor, steps from the police van outside Charles Street Police Station in New York for booking on a contempt warrant. Costello, who had just finished serving a sentence on income tax evasion conviction, was transferred from federal to state custody to serve a brief sentence for contempt of court. When he serves that, the 61-year-old underworld figure faces federal action to deport him to Italy.

Hits GOP Bid for Aged Vote

N.Y. Solon Says Party Overture Was 'Dismal Failure' in 1960

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Republican party's bid for the ever-growing aged vote was a dismal failure in the 1960 presidential campaign, a Republican New York state senator said today.

Walter J. Mahoney, Senate majority leader in New York, criticized his own party for what he said was its failure to present "a record of real achievement" to the aged in effective style.

Mahoney's criticism was contained in a paper read to the 14th annual conference on aging at the University of Michigan by Albert J. Abrams, executive assistant to Mahoney and a member of the board of directors of the National Council on Aging.

Mahoney said the GOP failed where the Democrats succeeded in offering an attractive party image to senior citizens even though the record favored the Republicans.

"The Eisenhower administration made unprecedented advances in such areas as housing for the aged, social security and enlarged job opportunities — but the Republican national campaign failed to use the contacts and resources built up

Two major companies Tuesday boosted the price of gasoline by 2.4 cents a gallon in the Pontiac area and other companies were expected to follow with the raise.

The boosts of Mobil Oil Co. and Standard Oil brought the price of regular for their stations in this area to 27.4 to 29.9 cents per gallon.

North Central Airlines Reports High Record

North Central Airlines again set a new daily passenger traffic record for the nation's 13 local airlines, boarding 4,286 travelers over its 10-state system Friday.

"This is nearly 300 more than the previous single-day high, also set by North Central May 25 when we carried 3,929 passengers," said Frank N. Buttner, vice president, traffic and sales.

Buttner said Friday's boardings marked a new record for the local airline industry — the first time any local has exceeded the 4,000-per-day figure.

"No doubt our frequent daily flights to the nation's vacation areas of Northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota contributed largely to this outstanding traffic achievement," he explained.

"We're equally proud that the airline has flown 510 million passenger miles since starting scheduled service without a single fatality or injury to a passenger or crew member. We expect to reach the billion mark by mid-September of this year."

Leaves Nuclear Talks to Confer With Kennedy

Although the State Department said in Washington Tuesday it was "an open question" whether he would return, Dean himself told newsmen he expects to come back to the three-nation Geneva talks.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service says 1,629,363 duck stamps were sold during the fiscal year of 1960. That was the smallest number since the 1944-45 season.

Hearing Planned July 7 for Two 'Revolutionaries'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A hearing to decide whether two self-styled revolutionaries should be prosecuted in Nevada on charges they blew up vital defense communications towers in the Utah-Nevada desert is scheduled July 7.

The hearing was demanded Tuesday by Bernard J. Brous, 51, who calls himself general and organizer of the "American Republican Army," and Dale Chris Jensen, 23, dubbed his lieutenant.

Brous, talkative and jovial, and Jensen, sullen and confused, were arraigned by U.S. Commissioner Betty Marshall Graydon on a complaint that they blew up a tower at Wendover, Nev., May 28.

Their bail was raised to $300,000 by the commissioner on a complaint filed by Salt Lake City authorities that they also destroyed American Telephone and Telegraph Co. towers at Cedar Mountain and Knoles, Utah. Arraignment was set for June 27.

Centennial Citizens

J. A. TILLSON

A resident of Pontiac since 1885, J. A. Tillson has been around long enough to know that each generation has pretty much the same problems to solve.

"Nowadays we seem to be facing a problem of a lack of parking space downtown. I had a parking problem downtown 35 years ago, so I moved out to 230 N. Saginaw St.," chuckled the 94-year-old attorney.

"In 1925, that was really moving out," he added. "I had a nice parking area at that location and still do."

Tillson watched the city of Pontiac grow around him.

"I tried one case in the old county courthouse. They were talking about a need for a bigger building then, too."

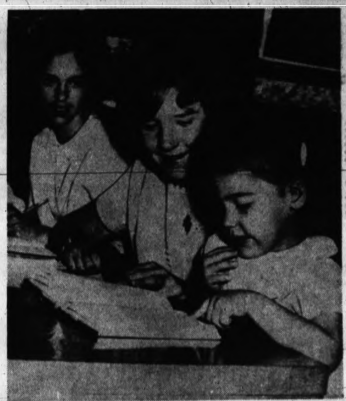

"Well, they built our present courthouse and now they're building another."

Tillson comes from an era when men were self-made in the purest sense. A native of Bear Lake, he attended grade and high school in Charlotte.

He first decided to be a pharmacist, so he "bought some books and started reading."

"When I figured I was ready, I took the state pharmacist exam and passed it." He was employed at the Eastern Michigan Asylum (now Pontiac State Hospital) in 1895 and it was there that he "started reading law books."

He passed the county bar exam in 1899 and opened his first law office in 1903 in the old Pontiac Savings Bank Building, located on Saginaw between Lawrence and Huron.

GETS LIBRARY CARD — Florence Jacobs reads to high school students as they study in the West New York, N. J., public library. Florence received her library card there Monday. Her request for the card had to go all the way to the mayor because the required minimum age is 7. Her mother says the tot has read 60 books through the seventh grade level.

PUSHINKA—FLUFFY New White House Resident

Pushinka Arrives From Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A dark-eyed platinum blonde temptress from Russia has invaded the White House.

A bunch of Soviet diplomats got her into the presidential mansion Tuesday. She had a blue leather passport with her picture and vital statistics in it.

Acting on orders from Nikita Khrushchev himself, the giggling, quivering siren immediately set about her mission. That her main mission appeared to be stealing the heart of Charley, the presidential Welsh terrier, surprised no one.

She has rather long ears and a cold nose but she boasts an historic family tree and an exotic name to make up for it.

She's Pushinka, the daughter of Soviet space dog Strelka. The exotic name loses some of its luster in translation, however, when it becomes plain old Fluffy.

Pushinka had Charley in a tizzy, but there was no immediate reaction from 3-year-old Caroline Kennedy's brace of hamsters. Pushinka's arrival pushes the livestock tally at the White House to four and puts the INDIAN HISTORIAN HERE—Posing at Centennial Headquarters with a copy of one of his latest pamphlets on American Indians is Irwin M. Peithmann, research assistant at University of Southern Illinois. Currently working on a long historical work titled "Broken Peacepipes," which contains a chapter of Chief Pontiac's conspiracy. Peithmann was in Pontiac yesterday for the salute to Chief Pontiac by the National Hall of Fame for Famous American Indians. Peithmann is contemplating a full book on Chief Pontiac in collaboration with George Maines of Flint, a retired newspaperman.

GUESS WHO? — No, it's not Abe Lincoln here for the Centennial but Lawrence E. Coakley Jr., 751 Stirling Ave., whose beard gives him such a resemblance to the famous president that they're calling him "Abe" down at the Pontiac Moose Lodge. Coakley has a part in the Spectacle, but not as Lincoln.

Edna's mother, Mrs. Charlie Pearson, made all the dresses.

CENTER OF INDUSTRY
Home of the Pontiac Tempest, this spacious layout has 7-million square feet under roof, and parking space for 8,000 workers' cars. Products of this plant have spread the fame of Pontiac, Mich. all over the world.

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was guest of honor at a stag dinner of some 300 industrial leaders of York County Tuesday night.

Although Eisenhower had accepted the invitation to attend with the provision there would be no speaking, he did urge the industrialists to take an active interest in politics.

He told the group it must "put business sense into the business of politics or we are going to wake up some day and be sorry."

Centennial Spectacle Sparkles in Premier

UP SHE GOES—A brief time exposure produced this photograph of the hustle and bustle on the central revolving stage as the cast quickly erected a structure symbolic of Pontiac's first log cabin in 1818. A colorful hoe down followed this clever scene.

CUTTING A RUG—Aaron Fox won the heart of the crowd with impromptu two-stepping to the Dixieland Band's jazz before the show.

THE INDIANS ARE ON THE WARPATH—In a vivid recreation of the historic conspiracy organized by Chief Pontiac against the white settlers, Wisner Stadium is filled with flaming torches, wailing Indian maidens and frenzied Indian chieftains wildly dancing to the pulsating throb of tom-toms. This scene is typical of the color, dash and drama of the massive pageantry in "The Pontiac Story."

TAPS—Silhouetted high over the field, a bugler renders a poignant tribute to Pontiac's war dead.

ADJUSTING HER COSTUME—Minutes before the show, Sharon Parvu, 16, of 3386 Theodore St., Wisom adjusts her feathered headdress before going on stage as one of the talented dancers in the moving episode about the legendary lovers of Apple Island in Orchard Lake.

...THE BOMBS BURSTING IN AIR...—A mighty blast from a heavy field piece stuns the audience with a cataclysmic introduction to World War II. Nine shattering blasts followed, each accompanied by flashing explosion.

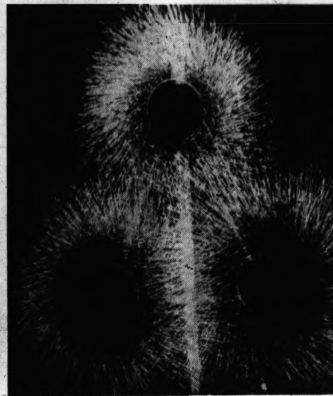

SWING YOUR PARTNER—One of the youngest of the hundreds of square dancers is brimful of excitement during her big moment on stage.

"DOO-WACKA-DOO-WACKA-DOO!"—It looked like a ball from the bleachers but up close the scores of Charleston dancers are working hard to convey "whoopie" atmosphere of the Roaring Twenties.

AWED SPECTATOR—Goggle-eyed over the shifting panorama, Mary Louise Menter, 3½, sits absorbed in the lap of her mother, Mrs. Myrtle Menter, in the midst of the fascinated crowd. Mother and daughter, like many others, wore Centennial dress.

WHIRLING COLOR—Flashing, flaring, popping, banging, glittering—the sizzling ground-fireworks had the crowd "ooching" and "aahing."

LIFE'S BIGGEST MOMENT—What more could a little girl ask for? It's dreams-come-true for Susie Lee Wottowa (left), 7, of Green Lake and Karen Lee King, 7, of Detroit, as they hold the train of their golden-gowned aunt, Venchel Bilyeu, at her coronation as Miss Centennial.

Peek Into Future Granted at Industrial Exhibit

Children, Adults Thrill at Automotive Wonders

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

By the time the kids who had a ball at yesterday's opening of the Centennial Industrial Exhibit get behind the wheel of a car the luxuries they tinkered with at the show will be outmoded.

So to give them a preview of what might go into their future mode of transportation, General Motors Corp. is presenting a fascinating "Previews of Progress" show under the big tent at Parke and Pike streets.

Bob Allen of the corporation's public relations staff pours a little catalyst into a bottle of acid, shakes it until it warms, and out pops a handful of synthetic rubber.

"If you get a flat in the future," Allen told his audience, "you may be able to shake yourself a new tire right on the spot."

Old and young alike thrilled to Allen's microwave rendition of Pee Wee Hunt's "12th Street Rag."

Then there was the "magic" suitcase, a demonstration of gyroscopic inertia, that wouldn't go straight for the young volunteer from the crowd.

When the boys and girls, some of whom brought along their parents, weren't sitting wide-eyed over the future, they were out in the converted parking lot pulling on handles of the 1961 Pontiacs and Tempests, or trying to reach the cabs on the mammoth GMC trucks.

The show, demonstrating the industrial might which is the heart and soul of the city, continues to

CONTRAST

ained when they looked at the 1936 Pontiac standing beside a blue custom Tempest coupe — the old and the new.

Baldwin Rubber Co. shows in an exhibit what it contributes to the automotive industry, and the Universal Oil Seal Co. shows how its new ring process keeps the oil streak off the middle of the road and your garage floor.

People stood two deep at the two exhibits which let you pick any style of GMC car and push a button to see many others.

Young model makers looked with envy on the six model cars of the future displayed by the Fisher Body Division Craftsman's Guild.

Nearby is a 1915 GMC truck with 25 horsepower and wooden wheels which started Lewiston, Mont., years ago when a grocer there made it the first vehicle in town.

He owned it until 1949 when the division purchased and restored it. Down the line there is a huge red semitrailer truck with a trailer which appears as long as a railroad car.

You're sure to come away from the exhibit knowing for sure that times have changed, and they're bound to change some more.

WHAT, NO POWER STEERING?—Little Mark Vann, 6, of Lancaster, Pa., realizes the value of today's powering steering on automobiles as he struggles to turn the wheel of a 1918 Army ambulance on display at the Centennial Industrial Exhibit. Sitting beside him are Michael Mower, 5, of 694 Livingston Ave., and Marks' sister Virginia, 9.

AN EYE CATCHER—Visitors like Ron Hall, 22, of 49 E. Burdick St., Oxford, a student at the General Motors Institute in Flint, gaze in amazement at the golden color of the 1961 Pontiac

Bonneville convertible, the focal point of the display at the industrial exhibit. Hall is peeking at its fur trim.

TOMORROW'S ENGINEER—Fisher Body Division's fascinating rolling bolster press seemed to have John Shafer, 9, of 24 Moreland Ave., hypnotized as the youngster stood glued for minutes in front of the exhibit. It is one of many displays offered by Fisher Body Division showing different processes that go into making the shiny bodies on General Motors cars.

WHAT MAKES TEMPEST TICK—Attorney Harcourt S. Patterson, 2015 N. Hammond Lake Drive, and Waterford Township High School students Denny Ritter, 215 Edgefield Blvd., and

Ed Sommer, 2852 Old Orchard Drive, give the shiny "Tempest 4" display engine the once over at the exhibit. Nearby is a cutaway model of the GMC V-6 engine.

MIKE AT THE WHEEL—Freckle-face and red-haired Michael Harding, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Harding, 436 S. East Blvd., gets a taste of the future at the exhibit as he takes over the wheel at the power steering exhibit. The exhibit demonstrates how the finger-tip control can lift the driver, in this case Mike, standing on a platform.

exhibit of the varied uses of rubber in the family automobile and home.

Tuna Russian Style Has Zippy Flavor

Tuna packed in delicate vegetable oil goes into a wide variety of dishes. One of the most delectable is Tuna Romanoff.

In this spectacular casserole, tuna combines with other complementary foods. Sour cream gives the dish its characteristic and its aristocratic Russian name for Russian cooks have long been aware that a dollop of sour cream lends a dish magical zip. Also present: cottage cheese, pimiento, noodles, ripe olives and seasonings.

The family will welcome Tuna Romanoff at the dinner table or lunch table. For variety, it can lend a festive air to Sunday brunch. It's perfect, too, for a bridge luncheon or buffet occasion. This versatile, economical dish makes itself at home for just about any occasion.

Tuna Romanoff
1 cup (16-ounce container) cottage cheese
1 cup (16-ounce container) commercial sour cream
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup hot cooked noodles
2 cups (16 oz. or 1 ounce each) tuna in vegetable oil
1/2 cup sliced ripe olives
Mix together cottage cheese, sour cream, onion, pimiento, Worcestershire sauce and Tabasco. Stir in noodles, tuna, and ripe olives. Turn into a greased 2-quart casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Almonds in Salad

Give tossed salads new flavor and crunch, to say nothing of elegance, by adding 1/4 cup toasted sliced almonds for each quart of salad.

Boneless Ham Good on Barbecue Grill

The new taste in barbecue is boneless hams made into Bar-B-Cuts. Bar-B-Cuts are a new idea in outdoor barbecuing, because they take inexpensive cuts of meat and make them into delicious, savory barbecue treats. Boneless hams (or deli rolls) are one of the favorites among homemakers because of their meaty goodness.

To make Bar-B-Cuts from Boneless hams, you simply slice the butt into 1/4 inch thick sections. Marinate the slices in your favorite barbecue sauce, or a prepared barbecue sauce for about one hour. Then, grill the slices on your backyard barbecue for about 15 minutes, turning often, and basting liberally with the remaining barbecue sauce.

When the Bar-B-Cuts are golden brown and sizzling, serve them up with a tossed salad, potato salad, or cole slaw.

SHISH KEBABS ADD GLAMOR — Easy to prepare, shish kebabs are made with lamb and pimiento, marinated in well seasoned French dressing, to which mushrooms, whole onions and green pepper are added just before cooking. Serve with chilled sweet-sour canned pears.

Rhode Island in 1766 enacted the law to keep the coastal oyster beds from being scraped bare.

Pimientos in Shish Kebabs Are Brilliant Addition

Here is an excellent version featuring lamb, whole pimientos, mushrooms and little onions. Directions call for the meat and pimientos to be marinated in a well seasoned French dressing.

Shish kebabs add glamor to outdoor cooking. They are easy on the hostess, also, as they are practically a meal-by-themselves.

Prepare the dish ahead of time as the flavors can blend. Then while the grill is heating, all you have to do is string the ingredients on the skewers and the shish kebabs are ready for cooking.

Chilled sweet-sour pears go well with this dish. Prepare these ahead of time, also, and leave to chill in the refrigerator until serving time.

Pimiento-Lamb Shish Kebabs
1 pound leg of lamb, about 6 pounds
3 (1-oz.) cans of jarred whole pimientos
1 large onion, chopped

1 clove garlic, chopped
1 teaspoon coarse ground black pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire
1 cup French dressing
Green Pepper, in chunks
Mushrooms, whole
Small white onion, peeled skald oil

The day before dish is to be served, cut lamb into 1 1/2 inch pieces. Remove all gristle and trim away most of fat. Place lamb and drained pimientos in a large bowl; add chopped onion, garlic, seasonings and French dressing. Mix gently so as not to crush or tear pimientos. Let stand in refrigerator overnight, or until ready to prepare dish.

While grill is heating, string green pepper squares, mushrooms, pimientos, lamb, onions, etc. on skewers, alternating vegetables and meat for good variety. Brush filled skewers with oil. Cook until meat is done. Slide cooked food off onto a bed of seasoned hot rice and serve. Makes 14 servings.

*If you don't like onions partially cooked, parboil them first or use canned ones.

If desired, the marinade used to flavor the meat can be strained, heated, slightly thickened with a tablespoon or two of thick meat sauce and served as a seasoned spoon-over.

Chilled Sweet-Sour Pears
1 large can pear halves
Whole cloves
Whole allspice
Lemon, thinly sliced
1/4 cup cold wine-vinegar

In a saucepan, combine pear halves and juice from can with a few whole cloves, a few whole allspice, the sliced lemon and vinegar. Simmer very gently for about 5 minutes, then cool. Chill in refrigerator overnight. Serve cold with meat and poultry dishes, curries, etc.

These are on the "fast" side. For a sweeter flavor, add 1/4 cup white or brown sugar with other ingredients before simmering.

Action Shows Cost Less Per Viewer

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — TV's critics are complaining about the overabundance of action-adventure programs and the paucity of educational, cultural and high-level dramatic shows. But so far during the current Senate hearings on television programming there has been silence about the reason such programs illuminate — if that's the word — the home screens so much of the time.

The reason is usually contained in three letters: CPM, which is broadcasting shorthand for "cost per thousand" (the M, of course, is the Roman numeral for thousand.)

Television is, first and foremost, a commercial medium. Advertisers pay millions of dollars a year to sponsor entertainment programs in exchange for the privilege of broadcasting their sales talk at frequent intervals. The only reason most advertisers invest this money is to reach as many potential buyers as possible.

QUITE A DIFFERENCE

Let us presume that the manufacturer of an inexpensive product used by consumers in all income brackets—soap, a headache remedy or a brand of cigarettes—decides to spend $100,000 on a single program. If that program reaches an audience of 20 million people, it will cost the advertiser $5 to reach every 1,000 people. If on the other hand, the program is tuned in by only half that number, the CPM zooms to an expensive $10.

The only way the advertiser can determine the size of the show's audience is from the educated guesses of one or another of the ratings services. That is the reason why a program's rating is watched so closely. The minute it starts to drop, it means that the sponsor's CPM is going up in proportion.

The high incidence of action-lights, "rumply, mayhem and murder—on television is largely the result of action's proven ability to attract large audiences. The reason so many of the so-called "good programs"—including "Playhouse 90" and other cherished dramatic programs—have quietly dried up and blown away is because they cost so much and the audience size was so small that advertisers were unwilling to pick up the tab.

A few geniuses have come along who have been able to produce comparatively low CPM for the sponsor—panel shows and audience participation programs in the days of the "950,000 Question" were among them. But until somebody comes up with a nice, quiet, morally healthy program that attracts the masses, advertisers will continue to be most interested in "The Untouchables."

"Rawhide," "Gunsmoke" and the rest of the fast-moving action shows.

State's Cherry Crop Down; Above Average

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's tart cherry crop is estimated at 76,000 tons this year, 5 per cent below last year.

The national tart cherry crop is estimated at 132,680 tons, 14 per cent above last year, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said.

The state's sweet cherry crop is expected to total 12,000 tons, down from the 14,000 tons last year. The national total is set at 95,000 tons, an increase from the 70,500 tons last year.

Michigan's crop still is above average, the service said, and the slight drop followed two years of unusually good crops.

Republican Asks Apology From Steve Allen

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Television star Steve Allen has been asked to apologize for allegedly branding an opponent of the proposed Cuban tractor exchange "a peasant."

H. Dale Brown, 11th District Republican chairman in Indiana, demanded the apology in a message to James C. Hagerly, vice-president of the American Broadcasting Co.

The demand was sent to ABC although the alleged remark was made following a Columbia Broadcasting System telecast on which Allen appeared with a spokesman for a "Citizens to Block Tractors for Castro" group.

Urges Next Astronaut Talk to U.S. on High

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mutual Radio network President Robert F. Hurleigh urges the government to give a "live" report to the American people from his space capsule.

In the network's monthly newsletter, Hurleigh said that a direct message from the astronaut to the American people in two suborbital flights scheduled for this year "would focus attention on America's free scientific developments."

Hurleigh said this would be in direct contrast to "the secrecy enshrouded, oft-quoted Soviet tactics."

Only one of eight Americans now lives on a farm.

Sees Families of Future Hitting Five Generations

ANN ARBOR 20—In the year 2,000, a child will climb on his great-great grandfather's knee at the annual family reunion.

Dr. Wilma Donahue, gerontologist at the University of Michigan, says the average child born today will see his great grandfather—and in another 40 years it will not be unusual for living members of a single family to span five generations.

"People not only are living longer but are marrying and having children earlier," says Dr. Donahue. "This means that some of us now living may survive to see our great-grandchildren."

Commission in 3-3 Deadlock; No Action on 'Center' Bonds

The City Commission split last night on the question of an immediate public vote on a bond issue for recreation facilities, after hearing a report from its Civic Improvement Advisory Committee rejecting the measure.

Due to the 3-3 deadlock, no action was taken on the matter, for which no specific plans have been formulated.

The Citizens Advisory Committee of 19 members, 10 from each of the city's seven districts, had voted 23-0 last week to tell the commission that any bond issue should be based solidly on plans developed by the Parks and Recreation Department.

The committee's vote against requesting a public vote was 16-8.

OPPOSED BY HENRY

Commissioner Milton R. Henry strongly opposed the committee's report, and proposed a vote on a $2.6-million bond issue to finance three recreation centers. It was the city's seven districts, had voted 23-0 last week to tell the commissioners Robert A. Landry and Winford E. Bottom sided with Henry. The idea had originally been referred to the advisory committee after an earlier proposal by Henry.

The entire question came up when David R. Ewalt, director of the Parks and Recreation Department, presented his report on the community's recreational needs.

Ewalt had proposed a five-year expansion plan last fall, calling for the expenditure of $2,565,000 beginning this year. Provisions of his plan are not included in City Manager Walter K. Williams' five-year capital improvement budget.

Commissioners also criticized the committee itself, pointing out that some districts had poor representation and showed a lack of interest.

Henry's district was one of these. Henry announced he was replacing five committee members from his district because they showed little active interest.

Attorneys Will Confer

LANSING (UPI)—Any further discussion over removal of Michigan's "suitable home" provision in laws governing aid to dependent children will be between state and federal attorneys, Social Welfare Director Willard J. Massey said today.

Hoffman of Michigan Teases, Goes Fishing

WASHINGTON (AP)—It took a lot of pleading and a little "crying" in the House Tuesday for Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, D-Mich., to get an okay for a weekend fishing trip.

The No. 1 congressional fisherman directed his entreaties to Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, who had objected to a request by the leaders to start debate today on a housing bill. The request required unanimous consent. Without its approval, the House faced the dire prospect of a Saturday session.

Gross and Hoffman, who almost always vote together and have a reputation for upsetting the well-laid plans of the Democratic and Republican leaders, call themselves "the only members of our party."

"We are the party of good government and economy," they explained.

Hoffman asked Gross not to object to the housing bill request. He said he is "an old man" and, "It's a question of health; I want to conserve my energy."

"You ought to have a little consideration for me. How about it?" Hoffman begged.

Gross wanted to know the reason behind Hoffman's plea.

Well, Hoffman said, Gross is a leading champion of economy and could save some money by not going fishing," Gross inquired.

"Yes, I want to go fishing," Hoffman conceded.

"Has it been wet enough for the night crawlers (fishing worms) to come to the surface?" Gross asked.

Hoffman keeps a supply of night crawlers in his office. Gross finally gave in and withdrew his objection "in view of the impassioned plea made by the Michigan from Michigan."

"You mean my crying," Hoffman said.

Mexico Embraces Foreign Newsmen

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The Mexican government threw open its doors to foreign correspondents today and announced the creation of a public relations office to handle press matters. The unprecedented action was announced by presidential secretary Humberto Romero. "If there has been any misinterpretation of events here, it is the fault of us officials," Romero said. "The weakness lies in a lack of communication with the correspondents." Romero said President Adolfo Lopez Mateos set up the public relations office, to be handled by several of Mexico's top newsmen, and ordered "full cooperation for the press."

Russian Recipes Easier to Make Than to Pronounce

Pontiac Press Home Editor
 Maybe you can't read Russian. You won't have to when you leaf through one of the newer cookbooks, "Kyra's Secrets of Russian Cooking," (Prentice-Hall, Inc., Englewood Cliffs, N. J. $3.95). The book is authored by Kyra Petrovskaya, a former actress in her native land.

These are authentic recipes. The author says they were collected by her mother and grandmother. She has tried to translate them into a form more usable by the American homemaker. Her thinking is that the recipes will be a welcome variation to ordinary daily menus.

Don't think that meat loaf is a strictly American food. Here is the Russian version, called ZRAZY.

1 1/2 pounds round steak
 1/2 pound pork or meat-cured ham
 2 onions sliced
 1 cup mushrooms sliced
 2 cups sour cream
 1 tablespoon flour
 Butter
 2 bay leaves
 Salt and pepper to taste

Put round steak and pork or ham through a coarse meat grinder. Season with salt and pepper and fry slightly in butter, stirring with a fork. In another pan, brown onions and mushrooms in butter, add capers and mix well.

Grease a baking dish and place in it a layer of meat, then a layer of cooked rice, then a layer of mushrooms and onions, then the remaining rice and finally a layer of meat again.

Make the following sauce: Mix flour and sour cream in the pan where the meat was fried, adding a little butter if necessary. Add bay leaves and pour sauce over meat loaf. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 30-40 minutes or until tender. Serve with cooked rice, cabbage or mashed potatoes. Serves 4-6.

Russians like home made baked goods. But the cakes and cookies labeled Russian are adaptations of those from other countries. Russians have their own pastries which needn't take a hack seat to any.

"No holiday is a real holiday unless there is a pirogi. No party is a real party unless there are dainty pirozhki."

"Pirozhki are small pastries with all kinds of fillings. . . Pirogi are large, oblong pastries, made of the same dough as pirozhki and with the same stuffings, only they are huge in size, about 12 by 18 inches."

Raised Dough for Pirozhki

1 cake or package of yeast
 1 cup lukewarm milk
 2 cups sifted flour
 2 eggs
 1/2 cup butter
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 extra egg yolk
 1 teaspoon salt

Dissolve yeast in the lukewarm milk. Stir in 1 cup of flour and let stand for 1 hour in a warm place. Beat eggs slightly and add salt and sugar. Add melted butter. Combine with yeast mixture. Add rest of flour and knead thoroughly.

Form the dough into a ball and put in a large bowl, slightly greased. Cover with a clean towel and let rise in a warm place for 3-4 hours.

For pirozhki pinch off a small amount of dough for each pirozhki (the singular of "pirozhki"). Roll into an oval or round shape, 1/4 inch thick. Put 1 tablespoon of filling in the center of the rolled dough and carefully seal the edges. Let pirozhki stand and rise some more for 12-15 minutes. Brush their tops with the egg yolk, diluted with a little water.

Slightly grease a heavy cookie sheet and sprinkle it with flour. Bake pirozhki in 400-degree oven for 12-15 minutes, then reduce heat and bake for another 15 minutes, or until done.

You may also fry these pirozhki in deep fat. Then watch them come up to the top of the pan, just like doughnuts.

Green Onion and Egg Filling
 2 cups green onions, chopped
 4 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
 4 tablespoons butter
 Salt and pepper

Saute green onions in butter until done, but not brown. Add salt and pepper. Cool. Combine with hard-boiled eggs. Use 1 tablespoon of filling for each pirozhki.

This is just one filling. You may use fresh or canned fruit, sweetened cottage cheese, raisins, nuts, etc.

Cream Squares Molded First Then Fried

It is difficult to imagine what the following dessert looks of tastes like. Perhaps some adventuresome cook in 1961 will try the recipe.

Fried Cream

1 pint of milk
 Yolk of 3 eggs
 1/4 of a nutmeg grated
 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 1 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 4 tablespoons flour

Put the milk on to boil in a fa-ovrina boiler, moisten the flour and cornstarch in a little cold milk, then add it to the boiling milk. Stir and boil 5 minutes.

Now add the sugar, nutmeg and beaten egg yolks. Let cook 1 minute. Take from fire and add flavoring.

Turn into a square mold and stand in a cold place for 4-5 hours. Then sprinkle some bread crumbs on a baking board, turn the cream out onto them and cut into squares. Dip them first in beaten egg, then in crumbs and fry in boiling fat. Serve with powdered sugar sifted

Coloring Food Red Was Laborious Job in 1800's

To color jelly red, boil 15 grains of cochineal in the finest powder with a drachm and a half of cream of tartar in 1/2 pint water, very slowly, 1/2 hour. Add in boiling a bit of alum—the size of a pea.

Cochineal is "a dyestuff consisting of the dried bodies of females of a scale insect . . . found on the cochineal cactus . . . It is used as a reddish or purple coloring, especially for foods." A drachm is probably a dram which is 1/4 of an ounce.

Better Bran Muffins With Fruit Flavoring

Like the tangy fruit drinks—lemonade, orangeade and a variety of favorite flavor combinations—which are such a pleasant part of summer, fruited breads also add a refreshing touch to warm weather repasts.

Quick to bake, for most muffins require less than half an hour in the oven, these simple breads enhance any meal while requiring a minimum of work in preparation.

Your favorite bran muffins with the addition of cinnamon, a few cut prunes and some grated lemon rind, for example, are a delightful complement for a fruit salad supper or luncheon.

Orange Bran Muffins, made with orange juice and rind, are a slightly accompaniment to a dinner which features a broiled center-cut ham slice or Canadian-style bacon. Transform any leftover muffins into a breakfast treat by splitting them and spreading with butter and cinnamon sugar, then broiling until the topping bubbles.

Make Blueberry Bran Muffins fresh for breakfast. Breakfast is just as important as your family in summer as during the rest of the year. Hot breads such as this will give added incentive for the un-enthusiastic attendance at a breakfast table each day.

Bran Lemon Muffins
 1 cup whole bran cereal
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup oil, cooked prunes
 1/2 cup orange juice
 1/2 cup soft shortening
 1/2 cup sifted flour
 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup cinnamon

Combine whole bran cereal and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Add prunes, oil, egg and shortening; beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, sugar and cinnamon. Add to first mixture, stirring only until combined. Fill greased muffin pans 2/3 full. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Serve hot.

Orange Bran Muffins
 1 cup whole bran cereal
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup orange juice
 1/2 cup soft shortening
 1/2 cup sifted flour
 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
 1/2 cup sugar

Combine whole bran cereal and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Add egg and shortening and beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar; mix in blueberries. Tradition Says to Serve With Lots of Apple Sauce
 One of the really delightful ways to serve potatoes is in the form of POTATO PANCAKES, prepared this way:
 Combine 1/2 cup each of evaporated milk and fine dry bread crumbs. Stir in 1 egg, 2 cups grated raw potato, minced onion and salt. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased griddle or frying pan, and brown on both sides. Serve with tangy sour cream. You'll have sufficient for 5 or 6 servings.

Venison Recipe Is Still Good

Venison Steaks are taken from the neck or haunch. Have your griddle well buttered and fire clear and hot. Lay the steaks on the bars and broil rapidly, turning often, not to lose a drop of juice. They will take 3 or 4 minutes longer to broil than beef-steaks.

Have ready in a hot chafing dish a piece of butter the size of an egg for each pound of venison, a pinch of salt, a little pepper, a tablespoonful currant jelly for each pound, and a glass of wine for every 4 pounds. This should be liquid and to flavor it.

Chocolate Cream

Summer a quart of milk with a quarter of a pound of lard sugar for a quarter of an hour, and then add some raw eggs beaten up and a sufficient quantity of chocolate to flavor it.

Warm the boiling water under the dish by the time the steaks are done to a turn. If you have no chafing dish, heat in a saucepan.

Lay each steak in the mixture singly and turn over twice. Cover closely and let all heat together with fresh hot water beneath—unless your lamp is burning—for 5 minutes before serving. If you serve in an ordinary dish, cover and set in the oven for the same time.

That's This! Kaline Playing Baseball

At an Infielder for First Time in His Career

Replaces Injured Boros, Does OK as Tigers Nip Washington, 5-4

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Maybe after they see me play third base for one game," said Al Kaline, "they won't want to see me there any more."

But it didn't turn out so badly Tuesday night for the veteran Detroit outfielder as he played in the infield for the first time in his professional career.

Manager Bob Scheffing made the shift because of injuries, a third baseman Steve Boros and shortstop Tom Fenneman both are expected to be back in the lineup in a day or two, then Kaline will go back to his old position.

Kaline scored a double and a single, each driving in a run, and scored once as the Tigers defeated Washington 5-4. Detroit stretched its lead over second place Cleveland to 1½ games. The Indians lost to Chicago and dropped into a tie with New York, which beat Kansas City.

Kaline was not very busy in his first game at third base after three years in the outfield. He had only two chances, retiring Billy Klau on a pop foul in the third and throwing out Gene Green in the seventh.

The Detroit manager said before the game he had no hesitation in tapping Kaline for the new job.

"He can play anywhere," said Scheffing. "He's a good ballplayer, as long as he can hit."

The use of Kaline at third also made room in the outfield for Charley Maxwell. "That gives us another good out there," said Scheffing.

Maxwell doubled in his first time at bat to drive in a run.

As for Kaline's fielding ability, Scheffing said, "I hope he'll throw them out." One consolation, Scheffing said, even if the shift didn't work out defensively, "I know he's going to be at least four times, and so is Maxwell."

For a change last night, Tiger bats rang out in support of Jim Bunning.

Detroit jumped on Dick Donovan for three runs in the first inning and added single runs in the fourth and fifth.

Norm Cash belted his 20th home run in the fourth and tripled in the big first. Kaline had a run-scoring double in the first and a run-producing single in the fifth.

Bunning had allowed only four hits when he tied the first. The Senators looked him over all night, but he held them off.

The big blow in the Washington rally was Willie Tasby's two-run home run.

Roger Clouts No. 26 as Yankees Thump Kansas City, 6-2

Maris Nears Homer Records

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees are still 1½ games shy of first place Detroit in the American League pennant chase, but Roger Maris, the Bombers' No. 1 batter of the moment, has edged a bit closer to a couple of sturdy home run records.

Maris, bustin' out all over in June, hit his 26th home run as the Yankees beat Kansas City 6-2 Tuesday night and moved back into second place. It was the 14th home run Roger has rified this season.

For the record, Maris is nine games ahead of Ruth's record-60 pace of 1927. Ruth, by the way, finished with 54 in 1928 and 49 in 1930. And York hit only 35 all season when he set the one month high in '37.

Maris, also four back of the league record for total home runs left through June 20, has nine games hit through June 20.

Three at Los Angeles and one at home against Washington—the 10th month in which to crack both.

Detroit retained, its 1½-game lead with a 4-1 victory at Washington, but Cleveland skidded to third, .004 percentage points behind the Yanks when the Chicago White Sox beat the Indians 5-3. Boston made it six in a row, winning 11-8 at Los Angeles, and Minnesota beat Baltimore 5-4.

The Yankees beat the A's with three-run bursts in the third and fifth innings. Mickey Mantle's single drove in the clincher in the third. Maris' homer, off loser Joe Nuxhall, and Bill Skowron's two-run double took care of the scoring in the fifth. Nuxhall (4-3) drove in both runs off winner Bill Skowron (5-3).

The White Sox, climbing into sixth place with their 11th victory in 12 games, beat the Indians with a five-run first inning. J. C. Martin's three-run homer capped the outburst that landed seven-game winner Mudcat Grant his first defeat, Turk Lown (5-2) won his fifth in a row with 4.1-1 innings of two-hit, shutout relief.

Rookie Karl Yastrzemski drove in five runs for the Red Sox with a home run and three singles in his first four trips. Bill Monahan (7-4) was the winner, but needed relief help after giving up home runs by Leon Wagner, Earl Averill and Steve Bilko. Eli Grubbs (5-7) lost it.

JOEY JAY'S 'MAGIC' RUNS OUT

By The Associated Press

Joey Jay's magic finally ran out, but the Cincinnati Reds still have a 1½-game lead in the three-way tussle for first place in the National League pennant race.

Pal Joey, the young right-hander who had won eight in a row for the Reds, was beaten 6-3 by St. Louis in the second game of a two-night doubleheader at Cincinnati Tuesday night. It was Jay's first defeat since April 29, and he came on the heels of a 4-3, 11-inning Cincinnati victory in the opener that gave the Reds a six-game winning streak.

Despite the split, the Reds retained their first place margin as Los Angeles replaced San Francisco in second place. Milwaukee spilled the Giants 2-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Warren Spahn, who now is just four shy of his 300th career victory. The Dodgers beat the Chicago Cubs 3-0 in an afternoon game as Sandy Koufax won his 10th with a two-hitter.

Pittsburgh rapped last place Philadelphia 6-2 in the other NL game.

The Cardinals, hanging on to fifth place by mere percentage points over Milwaukee, tagged Jay (8-4) for eight of their 12 hits in the nightcap. Charlie James drove in two runs, bringing in the clincher with a double in a two-run sixth inning. Right-hander Bob Gibson (5-3) won his third in a row for the Cards, blanking the Reds on two hits until the ninth. The Reds bounced back and tied it in the ninth on a pinch single by Jerry Lynch, then beat reliever Bob Miller (0-1) when he forced home a run with a bases-loaded walk in the 11th. Jim Brosnan (3-2) was the winner in

Chiefs Missed the 'Tee'

Pontiac Central High School has never won a state golf championship and perhaps the best links team ever assembled on West Huron Street missed a chance to win the title today.

The year was 1961 and the two leading members of the PCHS squad were Frank (Red) Wilson, now an assistant pro at Orchard Lake Country Club, and Gene Rose, currently the head pro at Warwick Hills. Other members of the 1948 team included Steve Condon and Jim Berg.

The Chiefs won the Saginaw Valley crown that year and rolled past everything in sight, including Midland, which annexed the state title. On the day of the state meet coach Ray Kenner reportedly was attending a wedding — his own — and team members were going their separate ways.

Fenske, Golfer-Caddy

Henry Fenske, one of Pontiac's most talented amateur golfers during the 1930s, was the favorite caddy of Clarence Gamber, Pine Lake Country Club professional in the '20s.

"Henry knew what club I should use to say."

Red Run Invitational Will Begin Thursday

Red Run Country Club's annual Invitational Best Ball Golf Championship begins a four-day stretch Thursday with 18-hole qualifying rounds.

At the end of tomorrow's qualifiers, the field will be grouped into flights for match play starting Friday. There will be 16 two-man teams in the championship flight. Single matches are scheduled Friday and Saturday with the semi-finals and finals set for Sunday. All matches are slated to go to 18 holes. George Linklater and Ramdell Ahern are the defending champions.

IOC Faces Big Problem in Picking '64 Sports

By EUGENE LEVIN

ATHENS (AP) — The International Olympic Committee today went into its last day of meetings still faced with the thorny problem of deciding the sports for the 1964 Summer Olympics in Tokyo.

The IOC, which has been holding its annual session here, is being asked to choose between judo, volleyball, canoeing and the modern pentathlon.

If it decides to have 20 sports on the Tokyo program, the decision will be easy. There will be room for all four. But if the IOC sticks to 18 sports, as there were at Rome last year, then two of the four disputed sports must be eliminated.

The Japanese organizers of the games want to drop canoeing and the modern pentathlon. European nations are fighting to retain these two sports. The IOC members want to hold the program to 18 sports. Discussion of the question took up most of the IOC sessions Tuesday, and the vote was put off until today.

Tuesday night the Japanese distributed the text of a speech before the IOC by Konigige Hirasawa, of the Tokyo Organizing Committee.

He argued that the pentathlon was too expensive to be popular in Asia and that canoeing required more leisure time than Asians could afford. Moreover, Hirasawa said, Japan lacked horses for the pentathlon.

After Hirasawa spoke, Hungary offered to give the Japanese 100 horses for use in the pentathlon.

The IOC also was expected to discuss proposed changes in the amateur rules.

Russia wants a rule that an athlete cannot be considered an amateur if his "only source of living" is sports. This apparently is aimed at athletes getting free board and lodging, if not actual pay in a straight professional manner.

West Germany has proposed that national committees or sports federations be allowed to reimburse athletes, within limits, for any wages they may lose while on leave from their jobs to train for the Olympics and to participate in the games.

The IOC Tuesday approved the program for the 1964 Winter Games in Innsbruck, Austria. It also set the dates for the Winter Games, from Jan. 8 to Feb. 9, and for the Tokyo Summer Games from Oct. 11-25.

An understandably nervous man these days is bowler Naz Malkasian of Pontiac. He is certain to stay that way until Sunday night.

The big Petersen Classic closes this week and Malkasian recently took over 1st place in one of the divisions. If his lead stands up, he will win $5,000.

His 1956 topped the previous leader by 18 pins in the 165-174 average bracket.

He may also win some added money on the regular prize list.

Bill remaining on the Petersen schedule are squads from Birmingham, Alabama and Muncie, Indiana Friday, Newburgh, Indiana and Canton, Ohio Saturday and Algonia, Iowa and Aurora, Illinois on Sunday. He will be sweating it out through that group.

Malkasian overshadowed several better known area bowlers with his big performance at the meet which has 12,788 entries this year.

Squad chairman Clark Balch told the Press local interest was down this year due to the competing clubs coming too far after the regular bowling season.

Several key persons in local bowler circles have expressed agreement with our comments about Pontiac needing an association for men bowlers. They are interested in looking into the matter further.

Some are starting to look further into the situation on their own. That is fine for a start but general meetings should be held in the near future if anything is to be accomplished.

The formation and operation of such a unit by a person or small group would mean only trouble in time. A dominating power is ruining the Greater Detroit Bowling Association. That should be a fair warning here before anything is started.

SKIPPING AROUND

Detroit: Stroh's will have a complete new team next season due to its former stars moving on to the National Bowling League. John Ruggiero, Pat Iannucci, Roger Helle, Bill Gaume, Dave Soutar and Dale Seavoy will be the members. . . It took 26 days to set up the terrific tournament layout at Cobo Hall but only five days to take it down.

Roger Butler, a 150 average man, fired 641 at Sylvan Lanes. Art Heba is carrying a big 207 average there. . . The WIBC hits seven 300s by women this season. . . Haron Bowl is sponsoring a team in city baseball loop for boys.

Hope to have some definite answers soon for insurers trying to find out about the proposed Blue Sky Lanes and the plans of the Koprince brothers. Place called Devon Lanes may be built on or near Telegraph Road in Bloomfield Township. . . The pro bowling tour across the country is scheduled to end this week with the Las Vegas, Nev. Invitational. It started today.

Arizona State Golf Final Is Looming at 'M'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The possibility of an Arizona State University final loomed today as eight first round survivors clashed in quarter-finals matches of the 17th annual women's collegiate golf tournament at the University of Michigan.

Paired in opposition divisions were Joann Gunderson, the defending champion, and tournament medalist Sherry Wheeler, both of Arizona State.

Miss Gunderson eliminated Purdue's Julie Hull 1-up in the first round and today faced a stiff test against Mary Mills, distance-hitting coed from Millsaps (Miss.) College.

Miss Wheeler advanced by ousting Barbara Fay White of Texas Christian, 4 and 2.

The luck of the draw put both top favorites—Miss Gunderson fellow Curtis Cup player, Judy Eller of Miami (Fla.), into the same championship division. Bearing losses today, Misses Gunderson and Eller will meet in the semifinals.

Death Takes Ex-Boxer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Albert A. Graybar, a Pittsburgh detective and former middleweight boxer, collapsed and died of a heart attack while walking to work Tuesday. Graybar, 69, was found unconscious on a street near his home. He was dead on arrival at Ohio Valley Hospital.

PONTIAC JAYCEE LEADERS — These four boys will represent the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Michigan Jaycee state golf tournament July 31-Aug. 2 at Hillcrest Country Club after pacing the city chapter's annual junior

Men's Best Ball Saturday

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's annual city men's best ball golf tournament is scheduled Saturday afternoon over an 18-hole route at Municipal golf course.

This will be the first of four Parks and Recreation-sponsored tournaments at the city links during the summer.

The Mixed Two-Ball (Scotch) Foursome tourney is slated July 8, followed by the women's City Medal Play tourney July 22.

Eighteen-hole qualifying rounds for the men's City Medal Play tournament are scheduled Aug. 5 with the 36-hole championship battle slated Aug. 12-13.

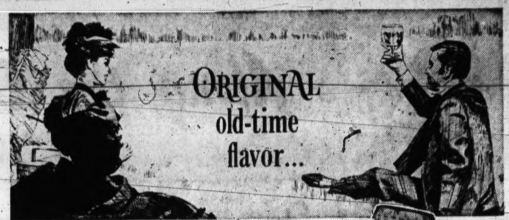

Defending city best ball champions Saturday will be Joe Petrot and Jim Anderson, who last year defeated Columbus and A. K. Burton in a sudden-death playoff to win the crown.

Nina First to Finish in Ocean Yawl Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Nina, seasoned veteran of countless sailing contests, was first to finish in the 465-mile Annapolis-Newport ocean race.

Decourcy Pales' 57-foot yawl was clocked at the finish line at shortly before 11 p.m. Tuesday night.

Close in her wake was the Naval Academy's 57-foot yawl Romya-64, about a mile astern of Nina in a faltering breeze.

Laos Fighters
May Be Unified
Factions Get Together With Only Minor Points to Be Settled

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—The military strongman of Laos' pro-Western government announced today that virtual agreement had been reached on unifying the fighting forces of his nation's three rival factions.

"Some points remain to be discussed, but they are minor ones," said Gen. Phoumi Nosavan after a working session of key advisers to the politician princes who are holding a summit meeting in this Swiss city.

Nosavan said the three sides had agreed on most problems connected with integrating the country's armies.

This indicated that one of the most important obstacles to agreement among the three sides had been virtually overcome.

But it appeared to leave unsettled the problem of adminis-trating provinces now under military control by the pro-Communist forces.

Phoumi's statement was echoed by Quinlan Phonsoua who represents Prince Souvanna Phouma's neutralist faction. "There are more reasons to be optimistic today," he said.

Phoumi Vongvichit of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels acknowledged that there had been a "certain rapprochement." But he declined to assess the chances for success of the meeting.

Georgia Suit First One Seeking Desegregation for Polling Places

By The Associated Press
Five Negroes have filed what a Georgia state official says is probably the first federal court suit in the nation against segregated polling places.

The suit, filed Tuesday in U.S.
District Court at Albany, Ga., seeks desegregation of polling places and voting lists in Albany and Dougherty County.

A deputy assistant state attorney general who specializes in segregation suits, Freeman Lev-erett of Elberton, said he knew of no such action filed in the past.

The suit, brought on behalf of the five and "all other Negroes in Dougherty County similarly situated," asked for permanent injunctions against the segregation practices and requested immediate action by the court.

Named as defendants were the city of Albany, the county Democratic executive committee, and various city and county officials.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

not allowed to enter the Greyhound Bus depot where officers were investigating an anonymous bomb threat.

A spokesman said the biracial group would spend the night in Negro homes in the Alabama capital and continue to Jackson, Miss., by bus some time today.

New Orleans by train to complete their trip from Berkeley, Calif., to Jackson, vowing to integrate the Mississippi capital's train terminal or be jailed. When they reached Jackson the 11 white persons and 3 Negroes were arrested on breach of peace charges and convicted, bringing to 131 the number convicted since anti-segregation attempts began May 24.

Sheriff J. R. Gilfoyle said Freedom Riders at Mississippi's State Penitentiary were not treated like felons as charged by an official of the Congress of Racial Equality.

Break for Freedom

into a Bulgarian road block near Kaplukle in an attempt to cross the border into Turkey.

His vehicle smashed through the road block but sputtered to a

Eichmann Denies Blame for Deaths

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann asserted today that he was just a railroad timetable man who had nothing to do with killing Jews or ordering them to their deaths.

He told the Jewish court trying him for the murder of six million Jews during World War II that he had no responsibility in the depor-

He took his orders from his Gestapo boss, Gen. Heinrich Mueller, enjoyed no special privileges, and his recommendations often were ignored by the Nazi foreign office, Eichmann told the court.

Eichmann testified for the second straight day. He spent nearly five hours answering questions by his German defense counsel Dr. Robert Servatius.

The objective of both questions and answers was to show Eichmann as a small-time Nazi official who obeyed orders and never took any action on his own initiative.

The testimony was also designed to demolish the prosecution charges that Eichmann was the ruthless master killer who shipped millions of Jews to their deaths in the gas chambers, by shooting or by starvation.

Servatius' questions were based exclusively on documents already submitted by the prosecution or a few he introduced in evidence himself.

Eichmann spoke in a confident voice.

At times he appeared to be lecturing the court and was so carried away by his monologue that presiding judge Moshe Landau twice pulled him up short and told him to wait for the translation into Hebrew, the official language of the court.

LECTURES COURT

Eichmann's voice was professional rather than monotonous.

He kept his hands on the desk in front of him, where a stack of documents was piled.

Several times Eichmann quoted from the documents or lectured the court on them — particularly on a chart in colors drawn up to his own specifications showing the organizational setup at secret police headquarters in Berlin, where he headed the Jewish Affairs Office, number 481 from the end of 1939 onward.

Eichmann and Servatius carried on an obviously well-drilled exchange of questions and answers with Servatius reading the questions off a sheet in front of him and Eichmann frequently reading the answers from a pile of notes in front of him.

At times Eichmann appeared to be taking over and conducting his own defense.

In reply to a question by Servatius he would say "so-and-so will transpire from documents to be submitted at a later stage" or "later documents will make this clear."

Sewage Project Starts Thursday

Slate Ground-Breaking Ceremonies Following City's 2-Month Wait

Formal ground-breaking ceremonies for Pontiac's new sewage treatment facilities will take place Thursday at 4:30 p.m., it was announced last night.

City Manager Walter K. Willman reported at the City Commission meeting that the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission had approved the city's application for seed money to finance the needed facilities.

This clears the way for ground-breaking and the issuance of bonds. The city had applied for approval about two months ago.

Commissioners immediately authorized the taking of bids for the sale of bonds to the necessary amount for construction of the new plant.

Deadline on bids will be 8 p.m. July 11. The project is estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $3 million.

Included in the proposed improvement program will be a new sewage treatment plant at a new site, improvements at the present sewage treatment plant, and a pipeline connecting the two facilities.

A tentative building schedule calls for the new facilities to be in operation by June, 1963. Finance commission approval was granted Tuesday afternoon.

1,082 in Cost at Wisne — Queen Veatch Gets Crown From Mayor

By PETE LOCHBILER

The giant Centennial Spectacle opened with a bang last night—about the biggest bang ever heard in Pontiac.

After the shattering explosion of a simulated atomic bomb, some 6,000 opening nighters were treated to the most colorful history lesson of their lives.

Pontiac's 150 years as a community and 100 as a city unfolded chapter by chapter in a vast panorama highlighting by the talent and enthusiasm of 1,082 Pontiac area citizens in the volunteer cast.

Centennial headquarters, deluged with messages of congratulations, predicted large crowds during the forthcoming five performances of "The Pontiac Story," tonight through Sunday in Wm. Stadium at 8:45.

Performance activities begin each night at 8:15.

The opening of the big Centennial-year feature was preceded last night by pomp and pageantry in the coronation of 21-year-old Veatch Bilyeu as Pontiac's Miss Centennial.

BEAUTY CROWNED
The Brandon Township beauty, accompanied by her 10 Centennial princesses in dazzling gowns, received her crown from Mayor Philip E. Bowden and the acclaim of Pontiac from the enthusiastic crowd.

Servatius E. Knudsen, General Motors Corp. vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division, presented Veatch with the keys to a 1961 Tempest, her prize as Miss Centennial. The crowd sighed with envy.

The queen offered her check for a kiss by Bowden, first and then by Robert W. Emerick, publicity director for Pontiac Motor Division and chairman of the Spectacle.

NOT A HITCH

The Spectacle was played without a hitch, although the hundreds of participants had only a month of rehearsals and only one dress performance. That was Friday. Then Monday night the opening was canceled because of rain.

Gigantic in its scope, sprawling sometimes over the entire football field, concentrated at other times.

Nations Would Confer on Joint Problems—Talks in Second Day

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Japan have agreed to establish a joint economic committee at Cabinet level. U.S. officials disclosed today.

The agreement appeared to be a major outgrowth of talks between Japanese Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and President Kennedy which entered their second day today.

The high level committee would function in much the same manner as the present U.S.-Canada Trade Committee which meets annually on trade problems.

American officials considered the proposed committee a symbol of the trade partnership between the United States and Japan and an answer to critics who contend that military security forms the only real tie between the two nations.

TWO-NATION THOUGHTS

The Canadian-American group brings together the top military and trade authorities of both governments to consider the most acute problems between the two nations.

The Japanese-American committee would perform a similar role.

The United States is Japan's top trading partner and the United States ranks Japan second only to Canada as the largest outlet for American goods and commodities.

The Ikeda-Kennedy talks were scheduled to resume in a brief private meeting between the two leaders preceding a state luncheon at the White House.

2 Companies Hike Prices of Gasoline

Jury Finds Draker Guilty in Stabbing Death of Friend

After 30-minute deliberation, a Circuit Court jury today found Robert L. Draker guilty of manslaughter, as charged, a conviction carrying a maximum of 15 years imprisonment. Draker is to be sentenced July 17.

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

A 35-year-old Pontiac boy with horn-rimmed glasses, described by his mother as "a very good boy," testified in his own defense today that he "didn't want to hurt" the boyhood chum he killed.

"I was just going to scare him," said Robert L. Draker, who stabbed his 15-year-old friend Jerry A. Chestnut, of 883 Melrose Ave., on Feb. 25 with a "skinning" knife he said he had purchased five days earlier for hunting.

Draker, who said he had a maximum of four shots of whiskey earlier in the evening, said he

Mexican Workers To Lose Their Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is planning to close the Mexican border at Laredo and El Paso, Tex., to commuting Mexicans holding American jobs wanted by unemployed U.S. citizens.

The Immigration Service is expected to cancel the daily commuting passes of 12,000 to 14,000 Mexicans working in the two U.S. communities but living in Mexico.

Authority for the move, to be made in about two weeks, is contained in the immigration laws. They permit the Labor Department to bar such back-and-forth commuting when it endangers job opportunities and work standards of U.S. citizens. Laredo and El Paso have a high unemployment rate.

May Shut Out Canadian Labor

Plan Under Study to Close Detroit-Windsor Border to Add Jobs

DETROIT (AP)—The possibility of closing the Detroit-Windsor border to 4,028 Canadians who commute daily to jobs in the United States is under consideration in Washington.

But the U.S. Government says no action is imminent, and a Canadian labor spokesman says such a closing would be idiotic.

The U.S. Immigration Service conceded in Washington Tuesday a Detroit-Windsor border closing to Canadian job commuters is under study as a means of increasing Detroit job opportunities for Americans.

The motor city's unemployment rate is 10-plus per cent of its labor force.

The U.S. Labor Department has disclosed plans to at least partially close the United States-Mexico border at El Paso and Laredo where 12,000 Mexicans cross to U.S. jobs.

Woman Leader Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Julia Dean, 75, Prominent in Religious, Civic Affairs Is Dead

Mrs. William B. (Julia) Dean, one of Pontiac's well-known leaders in religious and civic activities, died unexpectedly of a heart attack Tuesday noon at her home, 233 Judson St.

Mrs. Dean, 75, was in the midst of preparing organizational reports when stricken.

Known widely in Catholic circles, she had devoted 56 years of service to St. Vincent de Paul parish as well as county, archdiocesan and state groups.

At the time of her death she was president of the parish general guilds; recording secretary of Michigan Council, League of Catholic Women, and membership chairman of the Pontiac League of Catholic Women.

Other groups in which she was active include the Pontiac Urban League, Pontiac Federation of Women's Clubs, auxiliaries of both St. Joseph Mercy General Hospital, and the Pontiac USO in which she continued on the project of "seeing off" local young men entering the service.

Hearing Planned July 7 for Two 'Revolutionaries'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A hearing to decide whether two self-styled revolutionaries should be prosecuted in Nevada on charges they blew up vital defense communications towers in the Utah, Nevada desert is scheduled July 7.

The hearing was demanded Tuesday by Bernard J. Bros, St. Louis, who calls himself general and organizer of the "American Republic," and Dale Chris Jensen, 23, dubbed his lieutenant.

Bros, talkative and jovial, and Jensen, sullen and confined, were arraigned by U.S. Commissioner Betty Marshall Graydon on a complaint that they blew up a tower at Wendover, Nev. May 28.

Their bail was raised to $300,000 by the commissioner on a complaint filed by Salt Lake City authorities that they also destroyed American Telephone and Telegraph Co. towers at Cedar Mountain and Knoles, Utah. Arraignment was set for June 27.

The township hall at 4000 Telegraph Road has been undergoing a complete renovation for nearly a year at a cost of $103,000.

Township employees moved into the 15-story west wing addition in April, and the remodeling of the old building was just recently completed.

The addition has a large auditorium which is used for weekly board meetings, and office space for the building, water and sewer departments.

The auditorium also will be used for community meetings.

Township officials and employees will be on hand Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. to greet visitors.

Doctors Say Trouble With Back Is Better, Can Walk Normally

JFK to Discard His Crutches

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's medical advisers said today he would discard his crutches and walk normally.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Ray Conley and Mrs. Alton O'Connell, both of Birmingham, Mrs. Goldie Smith of Dearborn, and Mrs. Fred Hogen of St. Petersburg, Fla.; three sons, Herbert and Wesley, both of Birmingham, and Ivan of Shenandoah, Penn.; a sister, Mrs. John Hill of Auburn Hills; 13 grandchildren; 10 great-grandchildren; and three great-great-grandchildren.

Kennedy's medical advisers said he would discard his crutches and walk normally.

Afterward, assistant press secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said that in their combined opinion Kennedy's progress is satisfactory. Hatcher added: "He will be able to conduct his daily schedule without the aid of crutches in two days."

That would mean some time Thursday, although Hatcher declined to be more definite. Kennedy has been walking with them since June 9.

Hatcher described the checkup as "the sort of consultation you have when you discharge a patient."

The specialists were Dr. Pres-ident of New York and California, J. H. Cheffey of the Naval Medical Center in Bethesda, Md.

New approach to the Berlin problem," Cooper said.

He said he planned a Senate speech on the subject today.

U.S. British and French officials are conferring again on possible military moves to crack the Berlin blockade if Russia gives East Germany a veto of the access routes to the Red-encircled city.

American officials cannot understand why Khrushchev has committed himself so deeply on Berlin and Germany.

They feel he simply does not realize that the issue is so vital to the United States and its allies that Kennedy cannot retreat.

'A-Blast Opens Spectacle'

In brilliant tableaux, moving quickly from laughter to poignancy, the Spectacle is an entertainment medium in its own right.

It isn't like television, it isn't like the stage, it isn't like the movies — not even wide-screen movies.

It's just what the title implies—a breaking spectacle like Niagara Falls or the Grand Canyon, something unique that must be seen to be believed.

ALL LOCAL TALENT

Adding significance to the performance is the fact that the wide variety of talent in the show has all been recruited locally, with cast members volunteering their skills, hard work and time to help make Pontiac's Centennial a reality for the friends, neighbors, and townpeople.

Director Harry Mader of the J. Edgar Hoover Producing Co., producers of Pontiac's Centennial celebration, has welded his huge cast into a troop that moves with professional finesse and smoothness.

Prancing hordes, vintage automobiles, booming cannon, a simulated rocket, massed guitar dancers.

GENEVA (AP)—Arthur H. Dean, chief American negotiator in the deadlocked nuclear test talks, left today for consultations with President Kennedy.

Although the State Department said in Washington Tuesday it was "an open question" whether he would return, Dean himself said he expects to come back to the three-nation Geneva talks.

PUSHINKA—FLUFFY New White House Resident

Pushinka Arrives From Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A dark-eyed, platinum blonde temptress, Russia, has invaded the White House.

A bunch of Soviet diplomats got her into the presidential mansion Tuesday. She had a blue leotard passage with her picture and vital statistics in it.

Acting on orders from Nikita Khrushchev himself, the wiggle, quivering, slim, blonde, her main mission appeared to be stealing the heart of Charley, the presidential Welsh terrier, surprised no one.

She has rather long ears and a cold nose but she boasts an historic family tree and an exotic name to make up for it.

She's Pushinka, the daughter of Soviet space dog Belka.

Wins Education, Good Job Despite Bad Handicap

LANSING (AP) — George E. Mason didn't let confinement to a wheelchair stand in the way of an ambition to become an attorney.

Since birth he has suffered from cerebral palsy. But he was a good student with a quick mind.

He entered the University of Michigan and established himself as an honor prelaw student. He was elected to several student offices.

Two months ago he was one of 79 successful applicants in the Michigan bar examination, winning the right to hang out his "shingle" as an attorney at law.

Today, Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams announced appointment of Mason as an assistant attorney general. He will deal legal research in the solicitor general's office.

Senators Shout OK to Biggest Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Without the formality of a record vote, Senators have shouted approval of the biggest annual farm-income bill in history.

Passed Tuesday by voice vote, the bill now goes back to the House, which had voted some $15 million less. Both versions provide nearly $2 billion more than Congress supplied for the current year.

Acquits 2 Defendants in Ratterman Case

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—It was a happy, but apparently unsurprised pair of defendants who were acquitted Tuesday of charges they conspired to bring about the arrest of George Ratterman, a reform candidate for sheriff of Campbell County.

Tito Carinci and Thomas Paisley were acquitted after Campbell Circuit Court Judge Ray L. Murphy directed the jury to return a verdict of innocent because of lack of evidence.

After Ratterman's arrest in a hotel room May 9 with strip-tease dancer Juanita Jean Hodges, he claimed he had been drugged and robbed. Charges against him were dismissed several weeks later.

City Commission
OKs RezoningApproval of Proposal
Makes Possible New City Trailer Park

Rezoning was approved by the City Commission last night which makes possible a new trailer park in the city.

The request was for rezoning from Commercial 1 to Residential 4, of a plot of land on old Telegraph Road in the Beaudette Park area.

The site is on the east side of old Telegraph directly north of an already existing trailer park.

Action on the proposal had been deferred a week because the area is in Mayor Philip T. Rowston's district and he was not present at last week's meeting.

Rowston was also absent last night, taking part in the Centennial spectacular at Wiener Stadium, but he had given commissioners his approval before the meeting.

In approving the rezoning, which had been okayed by the Planning Commission, commissioners expressed concern that the move might leave the door open to further trailer parks, which provide little in the way of tax base to the city.

Speed No Way to Fight Fires, Claims Expert

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Firemen should slow down their fire fighting operations, Robert F. Hamm, director of public relations-fire department training with the Indiana rating bureau, said.

Opening the 23rd annual Michigan fire college at the University of Michigan, Hamm said:

"Much of the ineffectiveness of fire fighting can be charged to the mistake idea that speed is the chief goal of all fire department techniques and operation."

Aside from accident danger on congested streets and highways, speed in opening a building before hose lines are readied is often disastrous, Hamm charged.

Flint Goes All Out on Progressive Education Ideas

By ROBERT G. FIALKA
Staff Writer, Flint Journal
Written for the AP

FLINT — In school they used to shout at us to get off the gym floor because we were scratching the varnish.

Today in Flint, children and adults roller skate in school gyms. It's part of a new philosophy affecting education.

Traditional education has changed during the last 30 or so years under the impact of a movement called progressive education.

The new challenger is the community-school philosophy. Flint is a laboratory and model for it.

How the philosophy works in Flint has been explained and demonstrated by school officials here to more than 14,500 visitors during the last five years.

VISITORS OBSERVE

The visitors—parents, educators, businessmen, social workers, governmental officials—have come to Flint from cities throughout the country and many foreign nations. Many have been here by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction and the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

All visitors are given tours of the Flint schools, administrative officials of the Flint public schools have explained operations to them.

Students from the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and other colleges have been here to see in operation educational ideas they have been studying.

Traditional education put the emphasis on subject matter, according to community-school proponents. Progressive education was developed to teach children to live and work together, they say.

In the community school is added an emphasis on teaching students to use information which traditional methods define and which progressive methods teach children to comprehend.

One part of the philosophy is that the schools do not exist in isolation—that their activities are related to all aspects of the community and vice versa.

The philosophy involves Flint schools in a myriad of activities affecting curriculum, recreation, homes and civic matters.

Here, school buildings are used evenings, Saturdays and during the summer by adults as well as children.

Flint school officials point out that the public is saved the cost of building more social centers by using the school buildings for which they have paid. The officials also note that school buildings are not torn down without the public's having received its full money's worth in use.

Management experts spoke to owners and managers of small businesses in a course for them. There is a program offering classes to help unemployed persons learn academic and other skills for new occupations and the system is ready to expand such offerings.

Programs in the buildings cover adult education in a wide range of subjects. Last winter's term of 1,000 classes included courses in speech, drama, parent education, music, sewing, foods, other home arts, mechanical skills, arts and crafts, high school and pre-high school academic subjects, business education, trades and special interests such as astronomy, stock-market techniques and Latin American affairs.

gest to visitors that every city has resources for supporting activities which fall into a category called "Community School."

Courses in community-school direction are conducted here in cooperation with Eastern Michigan University.

Flint has 40 "community-school directors," men who teach some classes and direct after-school use of the buildings. Roseville, a city near Detroit, has started night use of school buildings and is scheduled to have four such directors on its staff next school year.

In schools of the City of Detroit, there are six "community agents," persons who hold positions similar to that of Flint's community-school directors.

FLINT EXPERIMENTS

The community-school philosophy, which has been supported by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction, extends to academic areas. Flint experiments with new ideas in education. Elementary students here are in reading classes by "reading levels" instead of the traditional first, second and third grades.

School officials here say the philosophy includes recognition that individual children have different needs and that school systems need to help try to meet those needs in matters outside the classroom as well as inside.

Statewide and national "clinics" on the community schools have been conducted here. Cosponsoring the third national community school clinic, which took place here in the spring, were the Mott program division of Flint Board of Education; the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation; and the American Association of Public School Administrators.

Centennial Citizens

Mahoney's criticism was contained in a paper read to the 14th annual conference on aging at the University of Michigan by Albert J. Abrams, executive assistant to Mahoney and a member of the board of directors of the National Council on Aging.

Mahoney said the GOP failed where the Democrats succeeded in offering at attractive price to senior citizens even though the record favored the Republicans.

"The Eisenhower administration made unprecedented advances in such areas housing for the aged, social security and enlarged job opportunities—but the Republican national campaign failed to use the contacts and resources built up during the eight years," he said.

J. A. TILSON

A resident of Pontiac since 1955, J. A. Tilson has been around long enough to know that each generation has pretty much the same problems to solve.

"Nowadays we seem to be facing a problem of a lack of parking space downtown. I had a parking problem downtown 35 years ago, so I moved out to 230 N. Saginaw St.," chuckled the 68-year-old attorney.

Tilson watched the city of Pontiac grow around him. "I tried one case in the old county courthouse. They were talking about a need for a bigger building then, too."

"Well, they built our present courthouse and now they're building another."

Tilson comes from an era when men were self-made in the purest sense. A native of Bear Lake, he attended grade and high school in Charlotte.

He first decided to be a pharmacist, so he "bought some books and started reading."

"When I figured I was ready, I took the state pharmacist exam and passed it." He was employed at the Eastern Michigan Asylum (now Pontiac State Hospital) in 1925 and it was there that he "started reading law books."

He passed the county bar exam in 1929 and opened his first law office in 1930 in the old Pontiac Savings Bank Building, located on Saginaw between Lawrence and Huron.

GETS LIBRARY CARD — Florence Jacobs reads to high school students as they study in the West New York, N. J., public library. Florence received her library card there Monday. Her request for the card had to go all the way to the mayor because the required minimum age is 7. Her mother says the tot has read 60 books through the seventh grade level.

ARRIVES FOR BOOKING—Frank Costello, New York gambling figure, steps from the police van outside Charles Street Police Station in New York for booking on a contempt warrant. Costello, who had just finished serving a sentence on income tax evasion conviction, was transferred from federal to state custody to serve a brief sentence for contempt of court. When he serves that, the 67-year-old underworld figure faces federal action to deport him to Italy.

Hits GOP Bid for Aged Vote

N.Y. Solon Says Party Overture Was 'Dismal Failure' in 1960

ANN ARBOR — The Republican party's bid for the ever-growing aged vote was a dismal failure in the 1960 presidential campaign, a Republican New York state senator said today.

Walter J. Mahoney, Senate majority leader in New York, criticized his own party for what he said was its failure to present "a record of real achievement" to the aged in effective style.

Mahoney's criticism was contained in a paper read to the 14th annual conference on aging at the University of Michigan by Albert J. Abrams, executive assistant to Mahoney and a member of the board of directors of the National Council on Aging.

Mahoney said the GOP failed where the Democrats succeeded in offering at attractive price to senior citizens even though the record favored the Republicans.

"The Eisenhower administration made unprecedented advances in such areas housing for the aged, social security and enlarged job opportunities—but the Republican national campaign failed to use the contacts and resources built up during the eight years," he said.

CHUMS CELEBRATION — Four girlfriends wear Centennial outfits and big smiles. From left are Rose Ann LaVerdure, 8, of 556 Linda Vista Drive; Sue Hoffman, 8, of 567 Linda Vista; Edna Pearson, 9, of 562 Linda Vista; and Pamela Hamlin, 10, of 544 Linda Vista. Edna's mother, Mrs. Charlie Pearson, made all the dresses.

OLD-FASHIONED FASHIONETTES — The Fashionette Club, a weight-control group sponsored by the Department of Parks and Recreation, has visited the City Commission meetings in outfits like these. From left in Centennial costume are Mrs. John Reichert, Mrs. Wana Forker, Mrs. Edna Mertz, Mrs. Jesse Villere, and Mrs. Matthew Forthingham.

INDIAN HISTORIAN HERE—Posing at Centennial Headquarters with a copy of one of his latest pamphlets on American Indians is Irwin M. Peithmann, research assistant at University of Southern Illinois. Currently working on a long historical work entitled "Broken Peacemakers," which contains a chapter of Chief Pontiac's conspiracy, Peithmann was in Pontiac yesterday for the salute to Chief Pontiac by the National Hall of Fame for Famous American Indians. Peithmann is contemplating a full book on Chief Pontiac in collaboration with George Maines of Flint, a retired newsmen.

GUESS WHO? — No, it's not Abe Lincoln here for the Centennial but Lawrence E. Oakley Jr., 751 Stirling Ave., whose board gives him such a resemblance to the famous president that they're calling him "Abe" down at the Pontiac Moose Lodge. Oakley has a part in the Spectacle, but not as Lincoln.

CENTER OF INDUSTRY — Home of the Pontiac Tempest, this spacious layout has 7 million square feet under roof, and parking space for 1,000 workers' cars. At the right is Fisher Body, with a connecting link over the railroad tracks to deliver the bodies to the Pontiac Plant. Products of this plant have spread the fame of Pontiac, Mich. all over the world.

YORK, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was guest of honor at a stag dinner of some 300 industrial leaders of York County Tuesday night.

Although Eisenhower had accepted the invitation to attend with the provision there would be no speedmaking, he did urge the industrialists to take an active interest in politics.

He told the group it must "put business sense into the business of politics or we are going to wake up some day and be sorry."

Peak Into Future Granted at Industrial Exhibit

Children, Adults Thrill at Automotive Wonders

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

By the time the kids who had a ball at yesterday's opening of the Centennial Industrial Exhibit get behind the wheel of a car the luxuries they tinkered with at the show will be outmoded.

So to give them a preview of what might go into their future mode of transportation, General Motors Corp. is presenting a fascinating "Previews of Progress" show under the big tent at Parke and Pike streets.

Bob Allen of the corporation's public relations staff pours a little catalyst into a bottle of acid, shakes it until it warms, and out pops a handful of synthetic rubber.

"If you get a flat in the future," Allen told his audience, "you may be able to shake yourself a new tire right on the spot."

Old and young alike thrilled to Allen's microwave rendition of Pee Wee Hunt's "12th Street Rag."

Then there was the "magic" suitcase, a demonstration of gyroscopic inertia, that wouldn't go straight for the young volunteer from the crowd.

When the boys and girls, some of whom brought along their parents, weren't sitting wide-eyed over the future, they were out in the converted parking lot pulling on handles of the 1961 Pontiac and Tempests, or trying to reach the cabs on the mammoth GMC trucks.

The show, demonstrating the industrial might which is the heart and soul of the city, continues to day and tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Admission is free.

For those with a yearning for the military, the local Navy Recruiting and Naval Reserve offers a menacing looking surface-to-air Terrier guided missile.

CONTRAST

nised when they looked at the 1906 Pontiac standing beside a blue custom Tempest coupe — the old and the new.

Baldwin Rubber Co. shows in an exhibit what it contributes to the automotive industry, and the Universal Oil Seal Co. shows how its new ring processes keeps the oil streak off the middle of the road and your garage floor.

People stood two deep at the two exhibits which let you pick any style of GMC car and push a button to see many others.

OLD AMBULANCE
Because of its uniqueness and drab color, attention is immediately drawn in the truck exhibit to a 1918 Army ambulance, successor to the type Gen. John Pershing used in his pursuit of Pancho Villa.

Nearly is a 1918 GMC truck with 25 horsepower and wooden wheels, which started Lewis-ton, Mont., years ago when a grocer there made it the first vehicle in town.

He owned it until 1949 when the division purchased and restored it. Down the line there is a huge red semitrailer truck with a trailer which appears as long as a railroad car.

You're sure to come away from the exhibit knowing for sure that times have changed, and they're bound to change some more.

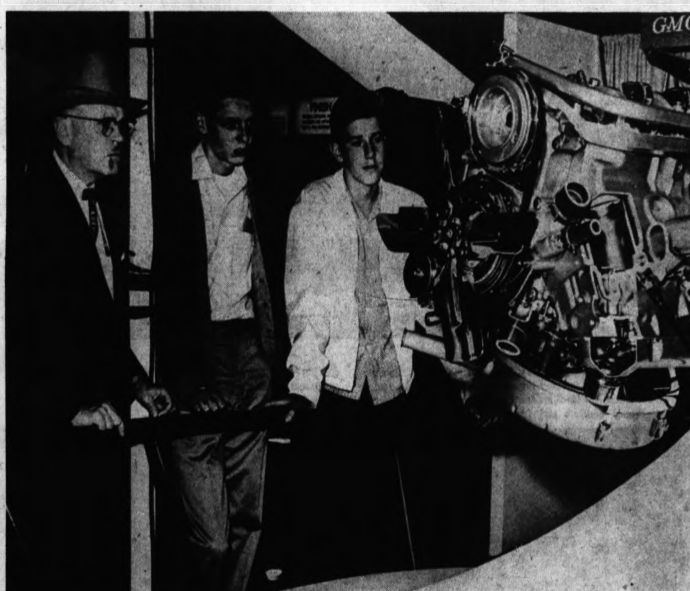

WHAT, NO POWER STEERING?—Little Mark Vann, 6, of Lancaster, Pa., realizes the value of today's power steering on automobiles as he struggles to turn the wheel of a 1918 Army ambulance on display at the Centennial Industrial Exhibit. Sitting beside him are Michael Mower, 5, of 694 Livingston Ave., and Marks' sister Virginia, 9.

AN EYE CATCHER—Visitors like Ron Hall, 22, of 49 E. Burdick St., Oxford, a student at the General Motors Institute in Flint, gaze in amazement at the golden color of the 1961 Pontiac Bonneville convertible, the focal point of the display at the industrial exhibit. Hall is peeking at its fur trim.

TOMORROW'S ENGINEER—Fisher Body Division's fascinating rolling bolster press seemed to have John Shafer, 9, of 24 Moreland Ave., hypnotized as the youngster stood glued for minutes in front of the exhibit. It is one of many displays offered by Fisher Body Division showing different processes that go into making the shiny bodies on General Motors cars.

WHAT MAKES TEMPEST TICK—Attorney Harcourt S. Patterson, 2015 N. Hammond Lake Drive, and Waterford Township High School students Denny Ritter, 2915 Edgelfeld Blvd., and Ed Sommer, 2852 Old Orchard Drive, give the shiny "Tempest 4" display engine the once over at the exhibit. Nearby is a cutaway model of the GMC V-6 engine.

MIKE AT THE WHEEL—Freckle-faced and red-haired Michael Harding, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Harding, 336 S. East Blvd., gets a taste of the future at the exhibit as he takes over the wheel at the power steering exhibit. The exhibit demonstrates how the finger-tip control can lift the driver, in this case Mike, standing on a platform.

PLAYS A BIG PART—In one corner of the display tent at the Centennial Industrial Exhibit, part of the 5,000 that toured the show the first day examined Baldwin Rubber Company's exhibit of the varied uses of rubber in the family automobile and home.

Redlegs Lose, 6-3; Still Lead NL

By The Associated Press

Joey Jay's magic finally ran out, but the Cincinnati Reds still have a 15-game lead in the three-way tussle for first place in the National League pennant race.

Pal Joey, the young right-hander who had won eight in a row for the Reds, was beaten 6-3 by St. Louis in the second game of a

twilight doubleheader at Cincinnati Tuesday night. It was Jay's first defeat since April 29, and it came on the heels of a 4-3, 15-inning Cincinnati victory in the opener that gave the Reds a six-game winning streak.

Despite the split, the Reds retained their first place margin as Los Angeles replaced San Francisco in second place. Milwaukee apilled the Giants 2-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Warren Spahn, who now is just four shy of his 300th career victory. The Dodgers beat the Chicago Cubs 3-0 in an afternoon game as Sandy Koufax won his 10th with a two-hitter.

Pittsburgh rapped last place Philadelphia 6-2 in the other NL game.

The Cardinals, hanging on to fifth place by mere percentage points over Milwaukee, tagged Jay (8-4) for eight of their 12 hits in the nightcap. Charlie James drove in two runs, bringing in the clincher with a double in a two-run sixth inning. Right-hander Bob Gibson (5-3) won his third in a row for the Cards, blanking the Reds on two hits until the ninth, and finishing with a five-hitter.

Cincinnati blew a 2-0 lead in the opener when Carl Sawatski hit a leadoff single home off Jay Hook in the seventh inning. But the Reds bounced back and tied it in the ninth on a pinch single by Jerry Lynch, then beat reliever Bob Miller (1-1) when he forced home a run with a bases-loaded walk in the 11th. Jim Brosnan (3-2) was the winner in relief; his sixth in a row over the Cards since May 1959.

The Braves backed Spahn with homers by Hank Aaron (5-3) in the sixth inning, and Frank Bolling in the eighth, while coming from behind against Mike McCormick (7-4). It was Milwaukee's third victory in nine games with the Giants this season and all three were behind Spahn (5-7). The southpaw veteran, who had won only one of his last four decisions, walked one and struck out three, holding the Giants hitless after Willie McCovey and Ed Bailey paired singles for San Francisco's run in the fifth.

Dick Stuart and Don Hook belted two-run homers for the Pirates, handing right-hander Art Mahaffey (6-7) his fourth straight defeat. Lefty Harker Haddix (5-3) was the winner, after losing two in a row. He shut out the Pirates on four hits for eight innings, then needed relief help from Elroy Face in the ninth.

Three singles by John Roseboro, Maury Wills and Charlie Neal, and an error gave the Dodgers all three runs in the seventh and beat Glen Hobbie (4-8). Koufax (10-3), the first pitcher to win 10 in the NL this season, didn't allow a hit until Ernie Banks singled with two out in the seventh. The young lefty walked two and struck out 14, giving up the other hit when Don Zimmer singled in the ninth.

Chiefs Missed the 'Tee'

Pontiac Central High School has never won a state golf championship and perhaps the best shot ever assembled on West Huron Street snuffed a chance to win the title because of a monumental "goof."

The year was 1948 and the two leading members of the PCHS squad were Frank (Reddy) Wilson, now an assistant pro at Orchard Lake Country Club, and Gene Boase, then head coach at Warwick Hills. Other members of the 1948 team included Steve Cronan and Jim Berg.

The Chiefs won the Saginaw Valley crown that year and rolled past everything in sight, including Midland which annexed the state title. On the day of the state meet each Ray Boase reportedly was attending a wedding — his own — and team members were going their separate ways.

It seems that the Chiefs thought the state tournament was not scheduled until the following week at Ann Arbor's U. of M. golf course. By the time the error was discovered, it was much too late to do anything about it and the unheeded Chiefs had lost a golden opportunity for a state crown.

IOC Faces Big Problem in Picking '64 Sports

By EUGENE LEVIN

ATHENS (AP) — The International Olympic Committee today went into its last day of meetings still faced with the thorny problem of deciding the sports for the 1964 Summer Olympics in Tokyo.

The IOC, which has been holding its annual session here, is being asked to choose between judo, volleyball, canoeing and the modern pentathlon.

If it decides to have 20 sports on the Tokyo program, the decision will be easy. There will be room for all four. But if the IOC sticks to 18 sports, as there were at Rome last year, then two of the four disputed sports must be eliminated.

The Japanese organizers of the games want to drop canoeing and the modern pentathlon. European countries and some South American nations are fighting to retain these two sports. Most IOC members want to hold the program to 18 sports. Discussion of the question took up most of the IOC sessions Tuesday, and the vote was put off until today.

Tuesday night the Japanese distributed the text of a speech before the IOC by Kazuhide Hirasawa, of the Tokyo Organizing Committee.

He argued that the pentathlon was too expensive to be popular in Asia and that canoeing required more leisure time than Asians could afford. Moreover, Hirasawa said, Japan lacked horses for the pentathlon.

After Hirasawa spoke, Hungary offered to give the Japanese 100 horses for use in the pentathlon.

The IOC also was expected to discuss proposed changes in the amateur rules.

Russia wants a rule that an athlete cannot be considered an amateur if his "only source of living" is sports. This apparently is aimed at athletes getting free board and lodging, if not actual pay in a straight professional manner.

West Germany has proposed that national committees or sports federations be allowed to reimburse athletes, within limits, for any wages they may lose while on leave from their jobs to train for the Olympics and to participate in the games.

The IOC Tuesday approved the program for the 1964 Winter Games in Innsbruck, Austria. It also set the dates for the Winter Games, from Jan. 29 to Feb. 9, and for the Tokyo Summer Games from Oct. 11-25.

An understandably nervous man these days is bowler Naz Malkasian of Pontiac. He is certain to stay that way until Sunday night.

The big Petersen Classic closes this week and Malkasian recently took over 1st place in one of the divisions. If his lead stands up, he will win $5,000.

His 1956 topped the previous leader by 18 pins in the 165-174 average bracket. He may also win some added money on the regular prize list.

Still remaining on the Petersen schedule are squads from Birmingham, Alabama and Muncie, Indiana Friday, Newburgh, Indiana and Canton, Ohio Saturday and Algona, Iowa and Aurora, Illinois on Sunday. He will be sweating it out through that group.

Malkasian overhauled several better known area kegglers with his big performance at the meet which has 12,000 entries this year.

Squad chairman Clark Balch told the Press local interest was down this year due to the competing date coming too far after the regular bowling season.

Several key persons in local keg circles have expressed agreement with our comments about Pontiac needing an association for bowlers. They are interested in looking into the matter further.

Some are starting to look into the situation on their own. That is fine for a start but general meetings should be held in the near future if anything is to be accomplished.

The formation and operation of such a unit by a person of small group would mean only trouble in time. A dominating power is ruining the Greater Detroit Bowling Association. That should be a fair warning here before anything is started.

SKIPPING AROUND

Detroit's Skiff will have a complete new team next season due to its former stars moving on to the National Bowling League. John Ruggiero, Pat Lannucci, Roger Helle, Bill Gause, Dave Soutar and Dale Seavoy will be the members. . . It took 26 days to set up the terrific tournament layout at Cobo Hall but only five days to take it down.

Roger Butler, a 150 average man, fired 641 at Sylvan Lanes. Art Hebbia is carrying a big 302 average here. . . The WIBC kids serve 200 by women this season. . . Huron Bowl is sponsoring a team in city baseball hoop for boys.

Hope to have some definite answers soon for inquirers trying to find out about the proposed Blue Sky Lanes and the plans of the Koprince brothers. Place called Devon Lanes may be built on or near Telegraph Road in Bloomfield Township. . . The pro bowling tour across the country is scheduled to end this week with the Las Vegas, Nev. Invitational. It started today.

Arizona State Golf Final Is Looming at 'M'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The possibility of an Arizona State University final loomed today as eight first round survivors clashed in quarter-finals matches of the 17th annual women's collegiate golf tournament at the University of Michigan.

Paired in opposition divisions were Joann Gunderson, the defending champion, and tournament medalist Sherry Wheeler, both of Arizona State.

Miss Wheeler advanced by outting Barbara Fay White of Texas Christian, 4 and 2.

The luck of the draw put both top favorites—Miss Gunderson and fellow Curtis Cup player, Judy Eller of Miami (Fla.)—into the same championship division. Barring losses today, Misses Gunderson and Eller will meet in the semifinals.

Nina First to Finish in Ocean Yawl Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Nina, seasoned veteran of countless sailing contests, was first to finish in the 46-mile Annapolis-Newport ocean race.

Decoursey Fales' 57-foot yawl was clocked at the finish line at shortly before 11 p.m. Tuesday night.
