

Will Miss S. Florida

Storm Turns Toward North

MIAMI, Fla. (U) — With wind bordering on hurricane intensity, tropical storm Ella resumed a more northerly course today and forecasters said the Florida east coast from Cape Canaveral south was free of storm danger.

At 11 a.m. (Pontiac time) the storm set a north-northwesterly course at 6 miles per hour, but because of the influence of pressure ridges along the northern border of the United States, forecasters would not say if, or where, Ella would move inland. A weather reconnaissance plane penetrated the storm this morning and found maximum winds of 70 m.p.h. near the center, at latitude 23.8 north, longitude 75.6 west, or 300 miles east of Cape Canaveral.

Space agency officials at the big missile base took their cue as the storm resumed its northerly course and tentatively rescheduled a launching of the Ranger 3 moon shot for tomorrow.

SHOULD BE CLEAR
Gordon Dunn, chief forecaster, said weather should be clear for the shot.

Dunn said Ella, which could reach hurricane status (74 m.p.h.) today, was expected to continue north-northwest a little faster during the next 12 hours, but still under 10 m.p.h.

Though the lower east coast of Florida was put in the clear, the weather bureau warned all small craft from Cape Hatteras, N.C., southward to Palm Beach to remain in port because of slowly increasing tides and seas along the South Atlantic coast.

Dunn said the storm's erratic movement was due to a high pressure ridge to the north, which has blocked northward movement. He said a series of weak low pressure troughs have pulled the storm to the north, but as they disappear, the storm bends to the west.

Another westerly jog was predicted for tomorrow.

Dunn refused to predict what the storm's eventual path would be. He said, "There's a fair chance it could be picked up by one of the troughs and clear the coast entirely. But it will certainly come close enough to affect the coast to some extent."

man of GM plant-city committee; Haggard; E. M. Estes, general manager of the Pontiac Motor Division, and Calvin J. Werner, general manager of the GMC Truck & Coach Division.

United Fund Torch Lit

Following speeches, band music and young voices raised in song, a 7-year-old girl last night kindled the torch that represents the Pontiac area United Fund drive.

The generosity of the community, entering its 14th annual UP campaign, was symbolized by a few hours earlier by a $133,000 donation from General Motors Corp.

This leaves $173,125 to be contributed if this year's UP goal of $706,125 is to be reached, General Campaign Chairman Fred V. Haggard noted.

He urged fellow citizens to contribute generously from their hearts as well as their pockets "in the true spirit of this campaign."

Money contributed will provide operating funds for 54 state and local health, recreation, family and child-care agencies.

NO HITCHES
Unlike last year, the torch-lighting ceremony in downtown

Pontiac went off without a hitch. The flame shot faithfully into the night as little Diane Lynn Bails pushed the triggering button below.

The Salvation Army Band broke forth with the lilting notes of "America." A simple blessing on the campaign was invoked by L. A. Gary B. Crowell.

The anti-climax to an otherwise successful evening came as the crowd began to disperse.

A gleaming fire truck arrived with sirens wailing.

Some crank had reported a fire at the location as a practical joke.

GM's donation check was presented at a kick-off banquet in the City Club of the Waldron

Hotel, preceding the torch-lighting. Presentation was made by Thomas F. Wiethorn, chairman of the GM plant-city committee and plant manager of Fisher Body Division.

The banquet was attended by some 50 UP campaign leaders.

Toastmaster and main speaker James Dickerson, associate director of continuing education at Michigan State University, Oakland, commended them for their sense of responsibility and compassion.

"These are the reasons you are here tonight voluntarily," he said, "demonstrating your compassion for the common good of the community and the responsibility that is entailed in the freedom of our people."

IT IS PEOPLE
"United Fund is not just a goal of $706,000; it is people, volunteers like yourselves who express their freedom and compassion."

Haggard introduced guests at the head table, including E. M. Estes, general manager of Pontiac Motor Division and a member.

Bottom Says Doors Closed at Noon Hour

A full discussion over leaving a rear guard during City Hall employees' noon hour was asked last night by City Commissioner Winford E. Bottom.

An inquiry, launched by The Pontiac Press this morning, has already resulted in keeping the City Violations Bureau open during noon hours.

Speaking at the commission's regular meeting, Bottom asked a look into other agencies be put on the agenda for the next informal meeting of the commission.

Bottom started his inquiry into noon-hour service by asking Acting City Manager Dave Teel: "Do we leave adequate City Hall personnel to take care of business during the noon lunch hour?"

STAGGER HOUR
Teel replied that those city

Landry Hails Public Service of The Press

'Principal of Freedom Never Disputed by City Government'

Pontiac Mayor Robert A. Landry last night issued a statement praising the public service rendered by The Pontiac Press.

The mayor took the occasion of National Newspaper Week to read the statement before the City Commission.

He said The Press and city government might question each other "in the broad field of interpretation" but not "in matters of principle or freedom."

The Press wondered whether the City Commission had limited its access to police information following a recent commission resolution.

The mayor said that, "Differences of opinion, which have arisen between this local government agency and our local newspaper, will invariably be resolved, to the satisfaction of all concerned."

The reason for such solutions, he said, lies in the fact that such differences are not based on matters of principle but on interpretation.

TEXT OF STATEMENT

As read to an audience of citizens and commissioners in the commission chambers last night, the statement said:

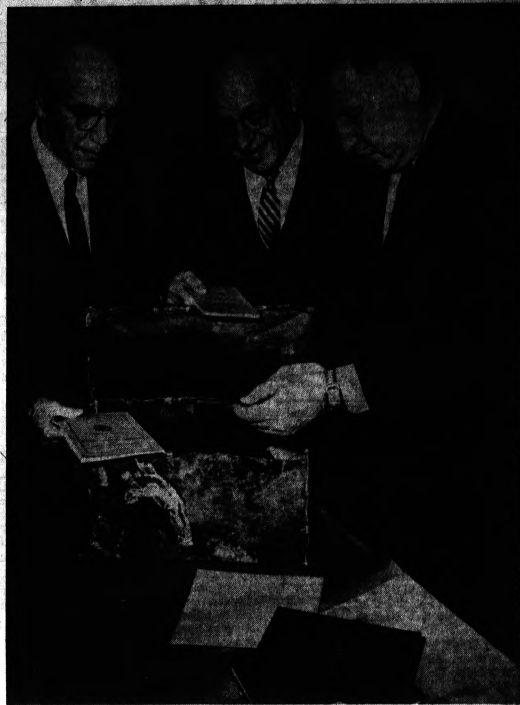

"Honorable Commissioners, Ladies and Gentlemen:
"This week, all of us observe National Newspaper Week. I am pleased to extend congratulations to the owner, the editor and the entire staff of our Pontiac Press."

"I would like to express the city's appreciation, for their past efforts in fostering and promoting the common good and welfare of our people."

"Our local newspaper has played in the past — and I am positive, will continue in the future, to play — a major role in the development and future progress of Pontiac."

"Good press relations are a priceless commodity to all governments."

No Surprises Are Contained in Courthouse Mystery Box

By DICK HANSON

Plenty of documents but no surprises popped out when the old courthouse cornerstone box and an accompanying mystery packet were officially opened today.

With an austerity budget facing the county next year, county supervisors were somewhat dismayed at the small amount of cash contained in the box.

A solitary penny was found at the very bottom.

The mystery packet was found to contain nothing more important than an announcement and a newspaper clipping concerning Pontiac schools in 1904-05.

County officials were unaware of the small packet's existence until they broke apart the cornerstone to get at the larger box known to be inside.

FIND MEMENTOS

A foot-high stack of mementos were uncovered in the box when it was opened at the beginning of the board of supervisors meeting in Pontiac today.

Included were an abstract title on the property, which county officials said they would have to research, numerous editions on newspapers published at the time the old courthouse was dedicated in 1905 and several bound reports on the Eastern Michigan

Asylum for years 1900 through 1902.

Also in the pile was a key to the old wood storage room of the previous courthouse on the site, which obviously turned cordwood as a source of heat, and a Michigan State Fair poster for 1904 when the fair was held in Pontiac.

Old photographs depicted the crowd that gathered for the courthouse dedication ceremony 57 years ago.

Bank statements told how much money was in numerous accounts of the day. Lists of old time city and county officials also were included.

Among the early day newspapers were editions of The Pontiac Gazette and The Pontiac Daily Press.

State Politics on TV Tonight

By The Associated Press
Michigan's political show takes to the air waves again tonight.

Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson, trying for a second term, and his Republican challenger, former auto maker George Romney, will clash for the second time in a televised one-half hour debate.

Their first TV debate Oct. 6 was described by some observers as a draw.

The format tonight will be revised to have Romney making the opening and closing statements instead of Swainson.

The candidates will open the program with four-minute statements and then will answer questions for 14 minutes. Each will be allowed two minutes to summarize.

All three Detroit stations will carry the program, starting at 7 p.m.

The third and final debate of the campaign has been scheduled for Oct. 26 — 11 days before the Nov. 6 election.

Romney spent Tuesday getting ready for the debate.

Swainson used a conference of Baptist ministers in Detroit as a forum to test off on Republicans.

Reach Agreement on Berlin

WASHINGTON (U) — West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder discussed the question of Berlin with President Kennedy today and reported they reached "very good and complete agreement."

Leaving a 90-minute conference with Kennedy, he told newsmen that as a result of three days of talks with U.S. officials, "We find ourselves in agreement on the assessment of the Berlin situation and on the methods to be applied to meet the situation."

His talk with Kennedy, he said, "completes my conversations in Washington."

Schroeder would not predict what effect a possible meeting to the White House lobby, then, seeing the unusually large crowd of reporters, withdrew with a smile.

Schroeder, who appeared relaxed, said his visit served "to prepare the visit that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will make here upon the invitation of your President." Adenauer is due Nov. 7. Schroeder will be with him.

Schroeder was asked whether he foresaw any new initiative the West might take as a result of his visit.

EYES NO CHANGES

"Everything that has been done up to now will go on," Schroeder replied, indicating he sees no need for new initiative.

In Moscow diplomatic sources indicated that they could detect no changes in the Soviet positions on major East-West disputes.

This opinion was voiced following the three-hour interview which U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler had yesterday with Premier Khrushchev. The speculation is based on an interpretation of the communique agreed upon by both sides after the talk.

The communique said the meeting was held in an atmosphere of "frankness and mutual understanding."

The Russians are still disposed to talk over major differences rather than embark on a program of immediate action, observers said.

Highway Department Appoints Appraisers

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department yesterday appointed Howard B. Wood Jr., Flint, as chief appraiser for eastern Michigan and named Bernard E. Jarvis, assistant chief of acquisition.

Howard Ewing, of Okemos, was appointed chief appraiser for western Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

As of this writing, the portents indicate that President Kennedy could win easy re-election, but that the elephant party is on the march at the state levels. Three weeks will tell the story.

More Students at Waterford

An enrollment gain of 780 pupils since last fall will be reported to the Waterford Township Board of Education tomorrow night by James DenHerd, acting superintendent of schools.

A year ago the schools were populated by 13,410 youngsters. The figure now stands at 14,190, exceeding preliminary enrollment estimates by more than 100 students.

Also slated for the regular monthly meeting of the board is a report from Dr. Chando Reid, assistant to the superintendent, on the reading program in the schools and a report from the school board personnel committee.

The board will also review a dispute over school bus policy that erupted last week when bus service to 20 Pierce Junior High School students was discontinued.

According to DenHerd the students were removed from Bus No. 54 because it was overcrowded.

Parents of the children contend that they face a traffic hazard in walking to school as there are no sidewalks along Fremble Road.

Supreme Court's Former Clerk Dies

LANSING (AP) — Hugh Carpenter, 72, a retired clerk of the Michigan Supreme Court, died here unexpectedly on Monday.

Carpenter retired as clerk of the Supreme Court in 1957 after 44 years of employment by the state, most of it on the staff of the Supreme Court.

A World War I veteran, Carpenter served as deputy clerk under the late Jay Mertz from 1920 to 1952 and succeeded Mertz to the clerk post. He was honored by a special session of the Supreme Court on Oct. 17, 1957, to mark his retirement.

Men Learn to Say 'Oui' Faster; Women Say It Better

By PHYLIS BATTELLE that kids can pick up a foreign language more quickly than their elders.

"COLE-BLOODED SLAWTER" — "Traffic fatalities" rose abruptly in Glen Burnie, Md., yesterday as heads rolled in the street. The truck rolled driverless down the street striking two cars and a utility pole before overturning and spilling its 8½-ton load. No one was injured.

capable than daddy's? Further, it gives adults an inferiorly complex and a parent with an inferiorly complex is dead, I tell you, dead.

A child can spot such a complex immediately, leap to the advantage and become a miniature Mussolini.

So I am happy to report that no less an authority than Mr. Charles Berlitz (of you-know-what school of languages) says the theory is not true.

"Men usually learn a foreign language faster than women or children do," said Mr. Berlitz. "Women, however, can speak a new language with a better accent."

"And, contrary to the popular belief, children are slower at picking up a foreign tongue than adults are."

According to Mr. Berlitz, children do find it EASIER to learn a new language, but they don't learn it as fast as an adult who is motivated to study a foreign tongue.

"For one thing, children just don't have the powers of concentration that adults have. For another, they are not as aware of the value of any money that is being spent on their learning."

When adults take up the study of a foreign tongue, they spend money for the lessons, and therefore they value the course. "When one spends his own money to do something," he points out, "one does it swifter and better."

MOTIVATED Motivation is also at the root of men's superiority over women in the new-language field. Men learn faster—not because they are smarter or have better memories—but because they generally are motivated to learn swiftly for business reasons.

Once again money is behind the process; and the greater the motivation, the faster the assimilation.

On the other hand, women are more "daring and courageous and perhaps, too, more hammy. They are much more eager to pronounce new words in new tongues, and they do it without embarrassment—whereas many men hesitate to try pronunciations in fear of making fools of themselves."

Berlitz added that most languages can be learned with reasonable fluency (by adults) in 100 hours of classroom work. (Exceptions—Russian, which requires roughly 150 hours for the average student, and Oriental tongues often take 200 hours.)

For the sake of persons who have neither time, money nor the inclination to take courses in a foreign tongue—yet want to travel to an area where little English is spoken—I asked Berlitz what he considered the most important words to memorize in the country's language.

Lesinski Talks in Their Terms

LANSING (AP)—There was no language barrier for 12 Gov. T. John Lesinski last night when he wooed Democratic voters at the Federated Polish Home.

To make sure his audience understood his message, Lesinski, the son of European immigrants, went through his speech twice, first in Polish and then in English.

In both languages the Democratic officeholder said the administration of Gov. John B. Swainson deserved re-election because of its accomplishments in the past two years.

"Gov. Swainson has both a positive record and a good defensive record against the irresponsible element in the legislature," Lesinski said.

Detroit Torch Lighted

DETROIT (AP)—A gas flame atop a 54-foot torch signalled the opening of metropolitan Detroit's 14th annual United Fund drive last night, this one with a goal of $19.5 million.

Vatican Council to Discuss Use of Vernacular at Mass

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The use of modern languages instead of Latin in the Mass is one of the major topics the 2,700 Roman Catholic prelates of the Vatican Ecumenical Council will discuss in daily sessions that start next week.

The question of the language of the Mass is one that has repercussions throughout the world, particularly in the church's missionary efforts.

Many missionary bishops attending the council favor Mass in the vernacular of the people. Such missionaries argue, for example, that while a Mass in Latin might be incomprehensible to a former headhunter in New Guinea he could find it full of meaning if it were said in his native Papuan dialect.

Traditionalists consider Latin a factor for unity that stands above differences of nationality and local language, a cement that has helped hold the church together for 20 centuries.

Neither view is expected to prevail at the council. Church specialists in liturgy express the view that the best advantages of each—Latin and local languages—may eventually be combined.

Arcadio Cardinal Larraona, whom Pope John XXIII has picked to head the council's commission on liturgy, predicted last June that local languages eventually would replace Latin in the first third of the Mass.

No council session was scheduled today as tabulation continued of votes cast by the 2,700 prelates for members of the council's 10 drafting commissions.

The council fathers voted Tuesday for 16 members of each of the 10 commissions, and all of the prelates attending the council were eligible for election. Results of the voting were not expected until Saturday.

Boy's Troubles Multiply With Police Visits

at the police station for questioning when he stole Doherty's unguarded handcuffs.

Later, he snatched them onto his ankle and damaged them in an unsuccessful attempt at getting them off.

The boy finally went back to the police station for help. In a juvenile court session, he and his parents were ordered to make restitution of $17 and the boy was placed on probation.

2 Radio Hams Communicate by Way of Moon

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — The American Radio Relay League says amateur radio and ultra-high-frequency radio history was made one night this summer. That happened, the league says, when two amateur radio men—Sam Harris of Medfield, Mass., and Ralph Thomas of Kahului, Hawaii—established a two-way communication, using the moon as a passive reflector on a frequency of 1296 megacycles.

The league says the moon bounce "opens up long-dreamed-of opportunities on this frequency, which was once thought to be effective only over line-of-sight distance."

Transistorized Radios Keeping Campers Safe

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tuck-in-the-pocket transistorized radios have become one of the biggest little safety items added to campers' gear this summer.

Robert Mayer, manager of special products for a major watch company, said a study by his firm shows wider use this summer of portable transistorized radios not only for entertainment around the evening campfire but also to alert hikers, hunters and fishermen of such dangers as storms or fires in their area.

Almost all of the commercially important rice producing in the United States is grown in four major crop states which are Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and California.

World Problems Take Back Seat to Election

Ironically, with Nov. 6 drawing near, many of the world crises which have been plaguing this country steadily for the last few months, seem to have suddenly disappeared.

Actually, the exciting and perilous times we are experiencing a few weeks ago remain about the same, but our lawmakers seem to have more important tasks on their minds. Namely, politics.

This goes for the great majority now holding office. The House and Senate were practically at a standstill last week because they could not muster a quorum.

President KENNEDY has been equally busy the past few weeks campaigning across the country for fellow Democrats. Under the circumstances, we shouldn't be too critical. Just write it off as political maneuvering that is part of the job.

Yet, in the case of the President, if these many crises which he has so often referred to, are at all crucial, how can he spare the time for mere political oratory?

The situation in the Congo has not appreciably changed, nor has Berlin, Cuba, Viet Nam or the MEXICAN de-segregation case.

We puzzle over the fact that all these issues suddenly are at rest. The President is now working less than full time for the taxpayers. True, he is running a big telephone bill keeping in touch with Washington.

Yet, we sort of feel that the U.S. has gone into quasi-isolation. Congress is seeking votes and the Chief Executive is on a speaking tour. Last week he hit the Indianapolis and Pittsburgh areas, including the steel mill towns.

This week he is off to seven more states, and he'll wind up the month hitting Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Oregon and California.

If our paid government leaders are this unconcerned, perhaps we should simmer down and enjoy the fall weather.

States Seek to Change N.Y. Liquor Laws

States bordering on New York are bringing pressure to bear for changes in the liberal liquor laws of the Empire State.

New York allows the sale of beer and whisky to anyone 18 years of age, compared to restrictions on persons under 21 in most states.

Neighboring states complain that their youths are making trips to New York to get alcohol, and the resultant toll in trouble and accidents is high.

New York officials defend the lower age limit with the argument that if youths are really intent on drinking, they'll get liquor in spite of restrictions, one way or another.

Defenders also say that discriminating use of such stimulants brings at home, and parents are to blame for the drinking problems of the young.

Pontiac has seen several examples of underage drinking and the resultant problems. The liquor was purchased for teen-agers by some unscrupulous adult.

We'll agree that many parents fail in their duties when it comes to explaining the hazards of liquor.

Our final argument rests with the complaints of New York's neighboring states—the easier it is for youngsters to get beer and whisky at an early age, the greater the chance that they will underestimate its danger.

Bridge Will Strengthen Ties With Canada

Another valuable tie with our good Canadian neighbors will be effected at the end of this month when the new bridge connects Sault Ste. Marie with its counterpart across the border.

The new $20-million International Bridge over the Soo Locks and the St. Mary's River will replace ferry service running since 1888. When it is completed, the 9,230-foot span will connect I-75 with Canada's 5,000-mile transcontinental highway.

Businessmen of the area see hopes of increased industrial and business growth with the easier connection of the two cities. Certainly it will aid the tourist business, just as the Mackinac Bridge did.

Motorists will be able to get on I-75 at Tampa, Fla., and drive 1,500 miles to the Soo, where they can switch over to the Canadian highway which goes from coast to coast in that nation.

Joining the Blue Water Bridge at Port Huron and the Ambassador Bridge and Detroit tunnel, this new addition is a further evidence of the great friendship and long-standing ties with our northern neighbor.

The Man About Town

Area Aroused Seek Government Action to Hold Medical Man

BY HOWARD HELDENBRAND
Along with the Congressional Record, our own newspaper is read in official Washington. It wouldn't surprise us at the moment it is required reading in the offices of the U. S. Attorney General and State Department.

A recent feature by Press staffer Ralph P. Hammel publicized the plight of Dr. Constantine Cerkz, resident physician at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, engaged in breakthrough research on the cause of multiple sclerosis. But his five-year Turkish exchange visa expires in a month, and unless official action is taken, the brilliant scientist will be lost to the U.S.

Our able and energetic Congressman William S. Broomfield moved by The Press story he had read and many letters from constituents citing it, introduced a Congressional bill to stay the imminent departure of the doctor.

The bill, however, got pigeon-holed in the rush of adjournment. Now, the matter rests in the lap of the gods—and with the Departments named above.

Another civic institution deserving acclaim and support of all is the Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall Series which began its fourth season this morning.

Mrs. J. C. Walker of 442 W. Iroquois Road, it offers a diversity of appeal with a series of five events. The Town Hall, besides providing cultural stimulation for the area, has substantially supported other community bodies.

This has consisted of financial assistance of some $4,000 to the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, $600 to Wisner Memorial Home, and the establishment of two MSUO scholarships.

Membership attendance quota is 700, in past years fully attained. . . . MAT's best wishes for a most successful 1963 season.

In Pontiac General Hospital with an affair of the heart is Clifford E. Inman of 2319 Garland. He is coming along fine, just about at the nurse-chasing stage . . . said that he would like to pass the time of day with any visitors with a little time on their hands.

The President Makes a Phone Call

David Lawrence Says:

JFK's Cuban Policy Lambasted

WASHINGTON — What really is the policy of the Kennedy administration in relation to the Communist occupation of Cuba?

The President has not made it clear on the stump. Nor has the Department of State made it clear in its public statements.

But the Soviet government on its part has made very clear LAWRENCE what has happened to America's historic policy known as the Monroe Doctrine. Here is a news dispatch by UPI a few days ago from Moscow:

"The Kremlin Sunday listed Premier Fidel Castro's Cuba among the Communist nations for the first time and gave it precedence over Yugoslavia and Communist China in listing the traditional slogans for the 46th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution on Nov. 7."

For all practical purposes, the Soviet government has set up its system in Cuba and transformed that country into a Communist colony.

President Kennedy has made no public protest to Moscow. Nor has Congress done so. The Resolution adopted by both Houses merely cautions the Communists not to carry out any armed attack or military offensive against any other nation in this hemisphere.

It's apparently all right for them to keep on doing what they have been doing in Cuba.

Thus has the Monroe Doctrine been scuttled. Communist activity — and even the Communist takeover of any other Latin American country — is, in effect, sanctioned today by U.S. policy. As late as April 1961, the Kennedy administration was willing to help by military means the Cubans who tried to liberate their homeland. But after the expedition was bungled and the President at a crucial moment withheld military air support, the administration retreated still further by declaring publicly it will intervene only if Cuba attacks some other country.

OPPOSITION

There is, of course, an appeasement faction in this country which has a considerable influence with President Kennedy. This school of thought insists that the Monroe Doctrine isn't "international law," or that it has become outmoded because the United States has from time to time stationed troops in South-east Asia and in Western Europe and in Korea.

Another reason is the fact that we now have better statistics. The U.S. Public Health Service says in spite of the increase in the number of persons with heart disease the death rate per unit of population from this cause has shown a decrease in the last 20 years.

Q—When I lie down at night my heart seems to beat very well for a minute or two then it gives one whopping big beat then it skips a beat or two. It will do this several times and it may keep me awake. After I go to sleep it never seems to wake me. I had to take a physical examination a few weeks ago. The doctor said my heart was OK. Could you please advise me what to do?

A—From your description I would guess that you have extra-

But in each case the United States had taken the measures of military defense at the request of the existing governments or by an agreement of Allies. The Soviet Union can contend that it is doing the same thing in Cuba.

Oddly enough, the joint resolution adopted recently by Congress says in its preamble:

"Whereas President James Monroe, announcing the Monroe Doctrine in 1823, declared that the United States would consider any attempt on the part of European powers 'to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety.'"

This is a reaffirmation of the words of the doctrine, but actually the main part of the resolution itself doesn't go on to implement that declaration.

U.S. RETREATED
What has actually happened is that the United States government has retreated before the world and given up that section of the Monroe Doctrine which commits this country to resist any attempt by European powers "to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere."

This means that, in the face of the Soviet occupation of a country only 90 miles away from our shores, the United States government acquiesces in such an encroachment on the Monroe Doctrine by the Soviet government.

Thus, as Winston Churchill once said, surrender or unwillingness to fight for what is right when the military odds are in one's favor leads eventually to a big war in which the risks are greater and the involvement is far more dangerous.

The Cuban policy of the administration is properly an issue for speakers in the current congressional campaign.

Dr. Wayne Brandstadt Says:

Antibiotics Suppress Undulant Fever Germs

Q—I have had undulant fever for many years. I feel weak and tired all the time. Is there any cure?

A—Although treatment with a combination of antibiotics can bring about rapid improvement in a person with undulant fever and may even save life, these drugs suppress rather than kill the causative germs.

When the vague feelings of general debility that follow an attack of this disease in some people are not improved by a course of antibiotics, it is of no use to continue them.

You should BRANDSTADT consult your doctor for ways to build up your strength both physically and emotionally.

Q—What has caused the great increase in diseases of the heart and arteries and different kinds of cancer in the last 50 years?

A—With an increase in the population and especially in the number of persons living past the half century mark, there was bound to be an increase in the diseases that are more common in persons over 50.

Another reason is the fact that we now have better statistics. The U.S. Public Health Service says in spite of the increase in the number of persons with heart disease the death rate per unit of population from this cause has shown a decrease in the last 20 years.

Q—When I lie down at night my heart seems to beat very well for a minute or two then it gives one whopping big beat then it skips a beat or two. It will do this several times and it may keep me awake. After I go to sleep it never seems to wake me. I had to take a physical examination a few weeks ago. The doctor said my heart was OK. Could you please advise me what to do?

A—From your description I would guess that you have extra-astoyles. This is a very common condition and in no way related to organic heart disease.

The fact that your doctor found nothing wrong with your heart would confirm this. Skipped beats can be a nuisance but thousands of persons live with them.

Smoking may aggravate this condition. If you can train yourself not to worry about these skipped beats you will have less difficulty getting to sleep.

Jimmy will be nine years old this fall. Three years ago doctors said he would never walk again. Polio had twisted his young muscles and left him with useless legs. No one told Jimmy and he keeps trying. When you're almost ten, you don't understand a whole life of wheel chairs and crutches.

Jimmy had therapy in a good hospital. His world was white walls and ceilings, whirlpool baths, and other people trying to walk—some just trying to move.

Peter was born with muscular dystrophy. Sometimes Peter went to the doctor. His father made him crutches out of shipping crates. He had a lot of spirit: his brothers and sisters would sometimes pick him up when he fell. Other times they would laugh as he tried to talk and call him mumbler mouth.

But Peter always got up. He always finished what he was saying, even if people didn't understand him. He couldn't go to school though. So his world was the television set. Not much of an education for a little boy.

The difference is not great. Both are the same age. Both want to walk more than any-

Has Praise for The Press During 'Newspaper Week'

In saluting newspaper week, I'd like to shake hands with our own Pontiac Press. We are lucky to have such an outstanding publication in our area — one that has won a large number of trophies and prizes over the years in national contests for excellence in covering a variety of times.

Also, I am always glad The Press speaks out on important happenings. The big news of the world is published every day. Your photographs are good and I think the paper is much better printed than those I see as I travel about.

'U.S. Simply Ignores Invasion of Cuba'

The Soviet Union has conquered Cuba. It has moved its troops, MIGs and missiles across the Atlantic in a spectacular extension of its military frontier.

It is, nevertheless, becoming clear that we will do nothing in return because our leaders do not consider this extraordinary invasion to be an offensive move. They are waiting for a "significant offensive" before acting.

A glance over the situation in Latin America reveals a massive Soviet political warfare offensive against virtually every country. It has its goal the subjugation of every country in the hemisphere and in some countries it is succeeding.

Railroads

Chicago's American

The final and binding decision on the Chicago and North Western railway strike did a great deal more than just settle the strike. In effect, it upheld the basic right of management to manage a company's own business.

With this decision as a precedent, it will be very hard for the railroad unions to demand guaranteed lifetime tenure for useless jobs.

What the union lost is something that couldn't reasonably be asked by a union—the right to veto management's decision on matters that concerned the company's survival.

Quotes Faulkner on Race Prejudice

The late William Faulkner was asked if race prejudice was economic. He replied: "Absolutely. To produce cotton we have a peonage. That's at the bottom of the situation." Asked, "Are the psychological rationalizations for prejudice, something grafted on the economic root?" He answered: "Yes, I would say that a planter who has a thousand acres wants to keep the Negro in a position of debt peonage."

Tells of Misuse of Picnic Tables

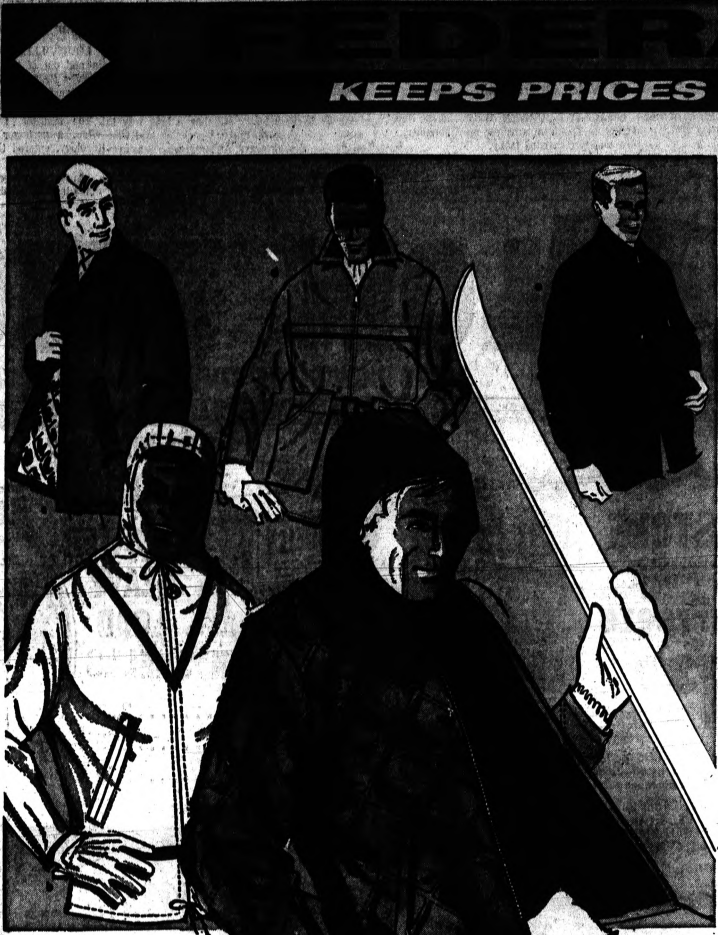

Why are some people so thoughtless and destructive with public property? In Beauclaire Park they are using picnic tables in the water as a dock to fish from. I'm sure the tables weren't meant to be used this way. Not only is this ruining the tables but it hardly improves the looks of the river. Can something be done?

Goldwater Hits JFK's 'Trips'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, critical of President Kennedy's cross-country campaign trips on behalf of Democratic candidates, says Kennedy should spend more time "minding the store."

Goldwater, who addressed a $100-a-plate GOP fund-raising dinner Tuesday, charged that the President has spent more time out of the White House than any chief executive in United States history. Furthermore, said Goldwater, the President's absences have been during a period when the country has been in more trouble than ever before.

BACKS NIXON
The senator urged the election of Richard M. Nixon as California governor and the re-election of Republican Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel. More than 1,000 persons attended the banquet in the Pan Pacific Auditorium, enriching campaign funds for state and national Republican candidates by approximately $150,000.

Goldwater also said of Kennedy: "He wants 'yes, yes' Congress. But we need men who will say no. The President just can't get through his head that people just don't want his program."

FBI to Check Guns Carried by Marshals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Guns carried by federal marshals in Oxford, Miss., will be checked by the FBI for possible clues to the slaying of two men, the Justice Department said today.

A department spokesman said the ballistic tests had been ordered in an attempt to "put to rest irresponsible statements."

The check was being made in French newsmen Paul Gauthier and Ray Gunter, an Oxford electronics repairman.

Both were shot to death during the Sept. 30 outbreak of violence over the admission of Negro James H. Meredith to the previously all-white University of Mississippi at Oxford.

In a preliminary report to Justice Department officials last week, the FBI said it had checked scores of confiscated guns but had not found the death weapons. It said the check was continuing.

Ranger 5 Delayed by Storm

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The gusty winds of tropical storm Ella have forced a four-week postponement of the attempt to launch the Ranger 5 spacecraft to the moon.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration had planned to launch the spacecraft today, but called off the effort Tuesday night when weather bureau reports indicated there was a good chance the storm would cause unfavorable weather at Cape Canaveral the next several days.

Preparations were made to remove Ranger 5 and its Atlas-Agena B rocket from the launch pad and move them to the safety of a hangar.

The space agency had only a four-day period ending Friday when the moon was in a favorable position for the Ranger 5 launch. The next optimum period begins about Nov. 15.

Ranger 5's mission is to streak a quarter million miles to the moon, take closeup television pictures and land a capsule to register moonquakes and meteor hits.

Students Plan to Debate

ANN ARBOR (U)—The 16th annual High School Debate Assembly at the University of Michigan Oct. 20 is expected to draw more than 600 high school students and teachers from across the state. The day-long event is sponsored by the U of M department of speech.

Snubs Hurt Young African U.N. Diplomat

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The loneliness of the big city no longer bothers the young delegate from Chad, but the snubs still hurt.

"I've made some good friends during my two years at the U.N. General Assembly," said 34-year-old Hissene Guigoussou, "but as a Negro I've run into my share of prejudice."

Guigoussou's experience typifies the problems encountered by hundreds of new delegates from 31 black African nations as they try to fit into a strange and sometimes hostile land.

DIES IN ROME — Bishop Joseph A. Burke, of Buffalo's Roman Catholic Diocese, died yesterday in Rome while attending the second Vatican Council.

Rare Disease Fatal to 2-Year-Old Girl

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (U)—A rare malady known as Schiller's disease has taken the life of a 2-year-old Suzanne Marie Johnson. The same disease previously killed three infant sons of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Johnson. One child survives, Barbara, 8. Suzanne Marie died Monday of the disease which attacks the nerves.

The American Medical Association says cause of the disease is unknown. It occurs sporadically but sometimes runs in families. It is not known to be either contagious or infectious.

for African diplomats, especially those in the lower ranks. Most African missions refuse to let their delegates live in New York's Harlem, which they regard as segregated. New delegates usually avoid the suburbs because they can't afford cars.

As a result, most seek quarters near their job. This means living in the high rent, color-conscious area of New York's East Side.

There is a popular myth that a dark-skinned person can go where he likes in America—if he wears a foreign headress. Guigoussou, a Moslem who wears a turban, found otherwise.

"When I first came to New York last year," he said, "I telephoned a rental agent about apartments, and he said he had just what I wanted."

HAVE AN EXCUSE — "But when I went there in person, he acted embarrassed and told me everything was booked."

New York landlords rarely admit they turn down delegates on color grounds.

The usual excuse is that delegates move too often and use diplomatic immunity to protect themselves from suits for rent default or sudden departure.

The State Department has tried to stop discrimination against colored envoys. New York's Commission on Intergroup Relations and several agencies of the United Nations also have intervened on behalf of the Africans.

Guigoussou's housing problem was solved when the U.N. hospital service got him an apartment on the East Side.

CLOTHES EXPENSIVE — A diplomat is expected to dress the part, and Guigoussou, who looks slightly uncomfortable in the Western clothes, has found his tailor bill a big item.

Guigoussou sometimes lunches in the U.N. delegates' dining room because he feels it is expected of him. The tab runs high, however, and he usually goes home to lunch.

Occasionally he has dinner at a restaurant, but there's always a chance the color issue will crop up.

Guigoussou feels the friendships he has made in America offset the humiliations.

"I'll always remember a wonderful family I met in Westport, Conn.," he said. "I went there on a get-acquainted tour the United Nations arranged for new African diplomats."

INVITED BACK — "We got along so well that months later they invited me back for Thanksgiving dinner. It was the first time I really felt I was seeing America."

Another segment of Americana that intrigues Guigoussou is the stage show at Radio City Music Hall. Movies bore him.

Guigoussou speaks French, Arabic and English. He has received homesickness with a powerful short-wave radio.

"I can pick up stations all the way to Brazzaville where I went to the university," he observed. "It makes home seem a little closer."

So far, Guigoussou's contacts with America have been limited to New York, Westport and Washington where he works at the Chad embassy when the assembly is recessed. But he plans to buy a car soon and take his family around the country.

"I only hope the natives are friendly," he said.

Liverpool U. Law Dean — To Speak at Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR — The dean of the law faculty at the University of Liverpool, D. Seaborn Davies, will deliver the Thomas M. Cooley lectures at the University of Michigan law school Oct. 23, 24, 25, 26 and 31.

Davies, a former member of parliament, will speak on criminal law reform in England.

AP Photos

OF THE NEWS

DOES DOUBLE DUTY

Guigoussou has attempted to shut out the hostility by spending most of his time at the U.N.'s big river-front headquarters.

During the day, he does double duty in the assembly's economic and legal committees. Until his wife and infant son joined him recently, he devoted most evenings to the endless round of U.N. parties.

For a serious-minded intellectual the chatter of the cocktail circuit sometimes palls, but Guigoussou still goes to many receptions. Contacts are essential to a career diplomat and the free food and drink are welcome to anyone on a junior diplomat's pay.

"It costs me nearly $50 a day just to live in New York," said Guigoussou, "and that doesn't leave much for entertainment."

Housing poses a major problem

Driver's Car Really Runs Over Traffic Light

ERIE, Pa. (UPI) — Police were a bit dubious last night when James Olds reported he ran over a traffic light and then they checked.

Olds was driving along a downtown street when a stiff wind snapped guy wires supporting a traffic light which dropped in the path of his car.

Rockets Have Deadly Effect

U.S. 'Copters Attack Viet Cong

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Four U.S. Army escort helicopters poured rocket and machine gun fire into a concentration of Communist guerrillas Tuesday, apparently with deadly effect.

The helicopters, recently sent from the United States, are designed to help neutralize the increasing Viet Cong guerrilla ground fire that has downed at least two planes in two days with the loss of three Americans.

GUARDING TROOPS
The four heavily armed HU-1 helicopters were accompanying lightly armed helicopters bringing a battalion of Vietnamese soldiers 55 miles northwest of Saigon.

The Vietnamese had been landed to protect a U.S. helicopter forced down by mechanical trouble. It was necessary to destroy the helicopter, and lurking Viet Cong opened fire as the helicopters began lifting out the Vietnamese.

The late-model helicopters swooped into action, their 16 powerful rockets and two .50 caliber machine guns blazing.

Reports said the helicopter fire hit a column of about 75 guerrillas. Farther north, a civilian spotter plane crashed Tuesday in the central highlands where increasing guerrilla ground fire had shot down two other planes.

Officials were tight-lipped about the nature of the plane or the identification of the pilot injured in the crash.

The craft was one of a fleet of unmarked planes performing intelligence work in South Viet Nam. They include a variety of light planes and L28s, DC4s and DC8s.

Reports recently have told of better fire from the jungles and hills in central Viet Nam, and a Viet Cong guerrilla anti-aircraft team was said to have arrived in the area.

Why Try to Fight the Grapevine? -- It's Here to Stay

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Does the company president wear a half-price?

Is the executive vice president dating his secretary on the side? Will the firm give a Christmas bonus this year?

Are there plans to move the company to a new city?

Such rumors and reports constantly circulate on the office grapevine, that unofficial escalator of truth, gossip and wild misinformation which operates in every business organization having more than three employees.

The office grapevine has somewhat the stature of astrology. Most people deny they believe in it, but they are more than willing to hear what it has to say—particularly if it affects them.

LIKE POISON IVY
For years industrial leaders have regarded the office grapevine as a disturbing nuisance, and some have sought ways to stamp it out—only to find it has more roots than a poison ivy plant.

Now a social scientist arises to say that "it is the most disastrous mistake an executive can make."

Defending the office grapevine as more of a boon than a bane is Dr. Hideya Kumata, Michigan State University sociologist.

"Productivity is greater when there is no grapevine, but it is worth it to sacrifice the employees' identification with the company's aims," he told a recent leadership conference.

MORALE SUFFERS
"By attempting to stamp out the office grapevine, you destroy morale."

Dr. Kumata then gave this helpful hint to executives: Make positive use of the existing grapevine by passing on their own ideas to "opinion leaders" within the office.

The grapevine isn't restricted to business firms. It is a characteristic of all social organizations. You will find it in every army, fraternal lodge, monastery, Boy Scout camp, classroom or PTA.

You will even find the grapevine working in a large family.

Dem Handling of Cuba Called Tragic by GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Republican congressional leaders have attacked the Kennedy administration for "tragic irresolution" in handling the Cuba situation, declaring it to be the dominant issue in congressional elections.

The three are Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the national party chairman, and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Rep. Bob Wilson of California, the chairman of the Senate and House campaign committees.

They said in a statement Tuesday:

"If we were asked to state the issue in the Nov. 6 election in one word that word would be Cuba—symbol of the tragic irresolution of the administration."

John M. Bailey, national chairman of the Democrats, shot back a reply in which he accused the Republicans of "lack of memory" and failure to put forth any alternatives to administration policies.

He said communism took over in Cuba in 1958 during the Eisenhower administration and added: "It ill behooves them now to criticize the firm measures taken by the President to improve a situation they themselves permitted to occur."

The three Republicans' statement said the Kennedy administration has shown "little evidence of willingness to recognize the developing danger and to move resolutely to cope with it."

The statement said, "The administration now mouths soothing assurances that the Soviet troops (in Cuba) are only technicians; that their arms are only defensive rather than military purposes, that their 'fishing base' is being established for economic, rather than military purposes, that Guantanamo and Canaveral are not in danger, and that Castro is being isolated."

The Republicans said they did not regard "sarcastic references to 'self-appointed generals and admirals' or other unlicensed disparagement of the Eisenhower foreign policy as constituting forthright discussion."

This was in reference to President Kennedy's campaign speech in Indianapolis last Saturday night when he accused Sen. Homer Capheart, R-Ind., of indulging in "rash and irresponsible talk" for suggesting an embargo and possible invasion of Cuba.

Kennedy referred to Capheart as one of "those self-appointed generals and admirals who want to send someone else's son to war and who consistently voted against the instruments of peace."

Pontiac City Affairs

Delay Bus Contract OK

Approval of a new contract for Pontiac bus service was postponed by the City Commission last night.

The annual contract with Pontiac Transit Co. had been scheduled for action last night. However Commissioner Winford E. Bottom asked for a week's postponement. He was seconded by Commissioner Dick M. Kirby.

Bottom gave no reason for his request.

Commission meetings will be held in their entirety over local radio, Mayor Robert A. Landry announced.

The extension of the previous one-hour limit began last night, he said.

The move had been repeatedly requested by a number of city commissioners.

POSTPONE ACTION
In other business, commissioners decided to postpone action on a number of rezoning requests. No maps of the areas involved were available, and a number of commissioners refused to act until the maps were procured.

One of the land use items which did receive action was a request to rezone, from Residential to Commercial, a six-acre parcel on the north side of Perry Street between Madison Junior High School and the nearby railroad tracks. Commissioners denied the request.

Denial was recommended by the City Planning Commission which held that such rezoning was undesirable as would set a precedent for a 30-acre site which should be considered as a whole.

Commissioner Charles Harmon added he did not believe the property was usable for commercial purposes at present because of the lack of sewer facilities.

The owner, Felix J. Vitastik, had planned to build a 40-by-30-foot auto repair shop on the site.

The commission approved vacating part of Wolfe Street between the south property line of E. Montcalm Street and the westerly property line of Edison Street. The land is needed to provide acreage for the city's new 2-million-gallon-water tower.

Community National Bank will be able to establish an extra drive-in window, rearage parked facilities and exits and entrances at its Perry Street branch with last night's approval of vacating an alley between Gage Street and an alley paralleling Gage Street.

APPROVE REQUEST
Commissioners also approved by 4-to-2 vote a new SDD liquor license requested by Thomas C. and Geneva Holland for 425 S. Jessie St. The license will be added to an existing SDD license.

Commissioners Harmon and William H. Taylor opposed the move without comment.

A public hearing was held on intention to construct sidewalk on the south side of Columbia Avenue from the west line, Lot 658, Buena Vista Heights Subdivision, to Carlisle Avenue, and on Carlisle Avenue to the south line of Lot 658 of the same subdivision.

The assessor was authorized to present an assessment roll to the commission on Oct. 23.

Special assessment rolls were confirmed for recapping of Sanford Street from Rauburn Street to South Boulevard; Pike Street from Sanford Street to East Boulevard; Voorhees Road from Orchard Lake Avenue to Telegraph Road; Branch Street from Wessen Street to the railroad tracks; and Wessen Street from Walnut Street to Branch Street.

Two Congressmen Indicted on Interest-Conflict Charges

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two congressmen, indicted by a federal grand jury on conspiracy and conflict-of-interest charges have expressed assurance they will be vindicated.

Rep. Thomas F. Johnson, D-Md., and Frank W. Boykin, D-Ala., said they were shocked at the indictments handed down Tuesday, and expressed their desire for a speedy trial.

The jury charged they received compensation for trying to persuade the Department of Justice to postpone the mail fraud trial of J. Kenneth Edlin, 44, of Miami, Fla., and attempting ultimately to have the charges dropped.

Edlin pleaded no contest to the charges, made in connection with the operation of the First Colony Savings and Loan Association in Maryland, and was sentenced April to 15 months in jail. He also was fined $5,000. Edlin was released last Wednesday from federal prison.

Johnson issued a statement Tuesday night.

"I was deeply shocked and amazed by the charges made against me and I am positive that I will be completely vindicated," he said.

"I believe every fair-minded person will certainly regard it as a strange coincidence that such baseless charges should be brought immediately upon the adjournment of Congress and just three weeks before election."

In the November election Johnson faces Rogers C. B. Morton, a Republican and the brother of Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky. Morton refused comment on the indictments, though other members of the Maryland Republican Party expressed confidence he will be re-elected.

He failed to win the Democratic nomination May 29 after 14 terms in the House.

"I'm anxious for the trial to come real quick," he said. "I have never had a nickel's worth of business with the savings and loans in my life."

Postmaster General J. Edward Day, speaking at a rally in Salisbury, Md., Friday, lauded Johnson for his work in Congress and called for his re-election.

President Kennedy mentioned Johnson by name and called for his re-election when he spoke at a huge Democratic rally in Baltimore Oct. 10.

RECEIVED $24,918

The special grand jury charged that Johnson, seeking a third term from Maryland's 1st District, had received $24,918 for his efforts in Edlin's behalf, and that both congressmen realized profits on real estate transactions totaling at least $3.2 million in which Edlin also was involved.

The congressmen, Edlin and William L. Robinson, 37, a Miami attorney, were charged in one count with conspiring to obstruct impartial operation of the Department of Justice and right of the government to service of the congressmen without corruption, dishonesty and fraud.

Johnson, 53, also was charged in seven other counts of receiving specific payments of $17,550 in violation of a criminal conflict of interest. The others were named as aiding and abetting him in the transactions.

The jury said the payments were made either by First Continental Savings and Loan Association of Maryland or Robinson, and said the payments were for Johnson's intercession with the Justice Department in Edlin's behalf. The indictment said Edlin controlled First Continental and First Colony.

Boykin's inducement to intercede in Edlin's behalf, the jury said, was purchase by Edlin of property the Alabama Democrat owned in Maryland.

Bail of $10,000 was set by Dist. Judge Edward S. Nordrup for each of the four defendants.

Each of the four defendants could receive maximum sentences of 15 years and fines totaling $80,000 in addition to being barred from federal office.

NAACP Sues for Job Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has launched legal action it said are aimed at getting equal hiring, promotion and other job rights for Negroes.

Robert L. Carter, NAACP general counsel, announced Tuesday that proceedings filed in San Francisco, Atlanta and St. Louis seek to eliminate alleged job discrimination in unions of seamen, steel workers and railroad trainmen.

Carter said the NAACP will file more court actions and proceedings before the National Labor Relations Board "in the very near future."

He said the breaking of racial barriers in jobs and in schools "will go a long way toward eliminating racial discrimination in the United States."

In New York, a spokesman for the Seafarers Union said the NAACP charges are "false and ridiculous."

The spokesman said that on Oct. 4 the union received an award from the NAACP's Brooklyn, N.Y. branch for "valued service in promotion of civil rights and better race relations."

Musical Diplomacy Hits Rock 'n' Red' Snag

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiations between Nikita Khrushchev and Irv Lichtenstein are on the brink. It is not clear, however, what they are on the brink of.

All that can be said with certainty is that Lichtenstein feels he has gone as far as he can go. The next move is up to Khrushchev, who may have gone farther than he can go.

Lichtenstein, I should explain for those of you who came in late, is a local radio station executive and dedicated self-diplomat. I assume you know who Khrushchev is.

Last month, by-passing such traditional diplomatic channels as the United Nations, the State Department and David Susskind, Lichtenstein wrote a letter to Khrushchev proposing a cultural exchange.

He said he would have his disc jockeys at station WDCD broadcast Russia's 10 most popular songs if Radio Moscow would, in turn, broadcast America's 10 top tunes.

'NEEDED AIRING'

Subsequently, Lichtenstein received 10 recordings from Moscow, which were duly aired. I heard some of them and they sounded like they needed airing.

Meanwhile, in keeping with established international precautionary principles, Lichtenstein had his engineers monitor Radio Moscow to see if Khrushchev was carrying out the other end of the exchange.

This week, having received no evidence that the U.S. tunes were being played in the Soviet capital, Lichtenstein suspended broadcasting of the Russian records.

He was careful, however, to leave the door open for future negotiations. He offered to accept at face value a certification from Khrushchev that the Soviets had been playing our songs.

"We don't think that 'on-site inspection' poses any problem in this case," Lichtenstein said.

In other words, he waived the right to send a team of disc jockeys to Moscow to make certain the Russians were complying with the exchange arrangement.

Lichtenstein may be criticized in some quarters for having made such a concession, but I think the latest scientific information will show that on-the-spot inspection no longer is necessary to detect popular music.

If "Limbo Rock," the No. 3 U.S. tune, were played anywhere in the Soviet Union, the shock waves would be recorded on seismographs throughout the Western Hemisphere.

'Borrowed' Kidneys Keep People Alive

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—relatives or friends or fraternal no-look-alike twins.

Except among identical twins, spare kidneys, whether from the living or dead, have usually lasted only a few weeks or months. The reason is, the borrowed organ is "foreign" tissue and is destroyed by antibodies much as any person produces protective antibodies to destroy invading germs or viruses.

But surgeons are becoming confident they can leap this natural hurdle.

There is no question but that this problem is going to be solved," declared Dr. David H. Hume of the Medical College of Virginia, in Richmond.

A test section of highway has been surfaced with small ridges and coated with reflecting paint. Since the paint is left on only one side of each ridge, the driver sees his own lane illuminated but not the other.

He is one of 13 persons who have received kidneys from living donors. One, getting a kidney from his identical twin brother, is perfectly healthy eight years later. That was expected to succeed.

Another 82 men and women have received kidneys from living donors. One, getting a kidney from his identical twin brother, is perfectly healthy eight years later. That was expected to succeed.

GIFTS FROM KIN

Since few of us have identical twins, the more spectacular news is that two men have lived—one for two years, and two for about a year—on gifts of kidneys from not the other.

Preserves Schooling for GIs in Call-Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed a bill Tuesday preserving the educational rights of Korean war veterans who were called to active duty in the Berlin crisis buildup of last year.

The measure would extend the time in which GI training or educational programs may be completed if a veteran was recalled to active duty or had his period of service involuntarily extended.

Religion Persists Behind 'Curtain'

By PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst

At the Roman Catholic Church's Ecumenical Council in Rome are some men who daily have suffered persecution for their faith, and sometimes imprisonment.

These men are representatives of the "church of silence" behind the Iron Curtain. That they are there at all is proof both of their own determination and of Communist failure to stamp out religion, even after 45 years.

Two high officers of the church are missing from the Rome convocation. They are Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary, now in refuge at the U. S. legation in Budapest and Archbishop Josef Beran of Czechoslovakia, confined since 1949 for his refusal to take the Communist oath of allegiance.

A survey of the state of religion in the European Iron Curtain countries just has been published by Radio Free Europe.

The survey points out that the churches remain the only organized bodies in Eastern areas which are not directly controlled by the Communist parties, and as such promote the only rival ideology to communism.

They remain remarkably strong despite an unrelenting campaign by Communist governments, ranging from a spider web of legal restrictions and arrests of priests to the scientific teaching of atheism.

Here is a sampling of the SOVIET UNION — The Communist party newspaper Pravda recently admitted "atheist education" has had no impact on the "hard core of believers."

Estimates which may be too high place the number of persons belonging to various religious faiths in the Soviet Union at 89 million — roughly 43 per cent of the Soviet population.

BULGARIA — Bulgarians traditionally are stubborn adherents to the Eastern Orthodox Church, and Christmas and Easter find churches and nearby streets and squares crowded.

Almost all rural marriages are concluded in church and it is a standard complaint that Communists still have their children baptized or go to the grave in the presence of a priest.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA — The anti-religious campaign has had considerable success among young people. But Ostrava newspaper Nova Svoboda has complained that more and more church members are ready to turn 10 per cent of their income over to the church.

EAST GERMANY — After erection of the Berlin Wall in August, 1961, the Communists redoubled their efforts to split the German Evangelical Church into East and West. The effort so far has failed.

A Protestant official estimated that 40 per cent of the young people in East Germany attend church.

HUNGARY — The regime recognizes the strong religious feeling of the majority and has hesitated to clamp down too hard. Efforts to substitute atheist forms for weddings, christenings and funerals have had little success.

POLAND — Church situation has worsened steadily in past few years but still is best of all Communist bloc countries.

ROMANIA — Older persons appear to be immune to atheist propaganda, although it is showing some effects among teenagers. Results obtained nowhere in proportion to expense and efforts invested by the regime.

Girl Withdraws From School After One Day

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — The University of Virginia announced yesterday that a Negro girl who enrolled in its Patrick Henry branch at Martinsville last week has withdrawn.

The official statement said: "Hazel Ruth Adams withdrew Monday from Patrick Henry branch of the University of Virginia School of General Studies after one day of classes. She told Dr. Sherman Dutton, director of the branch, that she wanted to return to Virginia State College, which she had entered in September before transferring to the Patrick Henry branch last Friday."

LETTER ACCEPTED

Miss Adams' letter of withdrawal was received and accepted Tuesday by university officials in Charlottesville.

"Her letter said that after enrolling in classes at the branch, she found that the classes she had been taking at Virginia State were better for her intended course of study. Her letter said she planned to return to Virginia State Tuesday."

Miss Adams had been the first of her race to sit in a classroom with white students in Virginia's staunchly segregationist south.

She had registered Friday and attended her first classes Monday at Patrick Henry.

No incidents were reported and the Negro girl had reported "everything was fine."

New Law Helps Small Airlines

Measure Allows CAB to Guarantee Loans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy yesterday signed legislation which will help small airlines finance purchases of new aircraft.

The bill gives the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) authority to guarantee loans of up to $10 million for each of the 13 local service airlines and three helicopter airlines over the next five years.

The figure is double the loan guarantee provided by Congress under the original plane purchase program approved in 1957.

In the past five years, the CAB has guaranteed loans to the small carriers totaling more than $37 million for the purchase of 48 transports and six helicopters.

SEEK NEW PLANE

Congress, in renewing the program for another five years, hoped it would encourage development of a replacement for the venerable DC3.

That was the purpose of the original legislation, but only one new airliner — the F27 project — made its appearance on the local service routes and that only in relatively limited numbers.

Only about 50 F27's are in service on scheduled local service airlines, while the DC3 fleet still totals more than 200.

Most of the smaller airlines have purchased used piston-engine Convairs and Martins from major airlines as DC3 replacements because they carried a much smaller price tag than the $750,000 cost of a new F27.

CAB officials and several key congressmen have called for development of a new short-range airliner costing not more than $500,000, with a passenger capacity of 25 to 30.

No such plane is on any drawing board, however. And some local service airlines already have announced plans to purchase short-range jets like the British-built BAC 111.

Grand Rapids Firm Gets English Pact

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A link was announced yesterday between Grand Rapids and Europe in an agreement involving overseas manufacture and sales of giant furnaces for aluminum billet (BAR) extrusion.

Granco, Inc., a sheet metal works whose special furnaces and allied equipment units sell for about $150,000 each, has entered a transaction with Ael Birbeck Ltd., furnace builders, of Birmingham, England.

Granco spokesman John W. Nelson said Birbeck will manufacture and sell Granco furnaces in Europe. The sales operation is to be known as Grano-Birbeck Ltd.

600 to Attend Baptist Parley

LANSING (AP) — Dr. Arthur Farrell, executive-secretary of the Michigan Baptist Convention, yesterday, predicted more than 600 delegates will attend the convention's 126th annual meeting this week at Cadillac.

Dr. Farrell said the delegates will represent 230 American Baptist churches affiliated with the convention, which is Michigan's oldest Baptist Church grouping.

A pre-convention prayer meeting is scheduled for tomorrow night. The board of managers meets Thursday and the first session open to the public will be Thursday night. The convention ends Saturday.

36 Plead Innocent in Rubbish Case

DETROIT (AP) — All 36 defendants in the Detroit public works rubbish conspiracy case pleaded innocent at pretrial arraignment yesterday.

Recorder's Judge Elvin Davenport continued personal bonds of $1,000 each. He set Nov. 8 for a hearing with the 11 defense lawyers.

Defendants include 29 present and past DPW employees and seven private trucking contractors. They are charged with accepting or offering bribes to permit privileged dumping of rubbish at city incinerators.

But He May Approach the Pace

Kennedy's Stumping Is Far Cry From '60

BY ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House: The election campaign of Sen. John F. Kennedy in 1960 was a two-month marathon which felt to those concerned like a century-full of 25-hour days. There is only small resemblance to this in the campaigning President Kennedy is doing this year.

The President remains one of the most vigorous barnstormers in at least the recent history of political observers. And it is possible that he may approach his 1960 pace in a 1964 re-election campaign.

But something new has been added — something old has been subtracted — in his current fall campaigning on behalf of Democratic congressional and statewide candidates through various areas of the nation.

There are obvious reasons for the change — Kennedy's stature as President, the press of other duties upon him even while he campaigns, public awe for the man and his office, and the efficiency of secret service agents and other staff aides as compared with the relative amateurs who handle details of other political tours.

The President is maintaining speedy, busy schedules on his extended weekend campaign trips, which began two Fridays ago and will continue each weekend until the Nov. 6 elections.

But he is not covering by any means as many places, on the average, as he did in his 1960 trips, which began two Fridays ago and will continue each weekend until the Nov. 6 elections.

RAN LATE

As one aide put it, Kennedy's 1960 politicking carried "built-in lateness." He ran late, took his entourage through early morning departures from hotels with luggage in the lobbies at 5 or 6 a.m., wound up his days sometimes at 2 or 3 a.m., or even later in terms of moving from the East to West Coast and adding several hours to the day.

There is a taste of that planned next Saturday, in a day that starts at Chicago, then proceeds to Milwaukee, St. Louis, Albuquerque, Las Vegas and then Seattle.

A newsmen jokingly suggested to press secretary Pierre Salinger that they keep going to the Aleutians, for perhaps one more hour of speaking time.

But now Kennedy's campaigning day starts at a respectable 9 or 10 a.m., runs on efficient tracks and generally arrives in time, or even a bit early. The President's final engagements end at about 8:30 or 10 p.m., and he retires for a restful evening.

Last weekend, Kennedy went through a 100-mile motorcycle through a stretch of western Pennsylvania. But where those were common in 1960, they are relatively rare this year — especially with Kennedy's access to military helicopters for part of his travel.

The crowds are different, too. Where in 1960 they mobbed the candidate and groped for a touch of his hand, it is infrequent now for people to burst through police lines to try for a close look or a personal contact with Kennedy.

PARTLY RESPECT

Respect for the presidency is part of it. Advance precautions by police, working with secret service agents, is a larger aspect.

One vestige of 1960 remains — Kennedy's appeal to the masses of women along his route, who have come to be known among newsmen as "hempers" and "squealers" and "leapers" to denote their elation at seeing Kennedy pass by.

And one element has been added. A researcher would be hard put to find a photograph of the candidate in 1960 with a Catholic nun, though his motorcycles passed hundreds or even thousands of them through the two months of his campaign.

It was a campaign marked by controversy over Kennedy's being a member of the Catholic faith — a status he bore with pride but with the difficulty of assuring Protestant leaders they had no need to doubt his belief in the separation of church and state.

This issue having been laid to rest, Kennedy several times in the last two weekends has halted his motorcycle at sight of some groups of nuns, called them over, and shaken their hands while cameramen snapped away.

Name 9 to Conduct Study of County Health Care

Nine members have been appointed to a committee to study health and medical care programs in Oakland County, Rich and Hugel, managing director of the Oakland County Medical Society and John L. Dennen of 2577 Covington Place, Birmingham.

The UCS was retained by the County Board of Supervisors to conduct the study at a cost of $15,000.

The purpose of the study, as outlined by the board, is to resolve the county's difficulties in administering health and medical care in the face of increased population, rising costs, increased complexity of operations in the field and recent developments in state and federal administration.

One of the difficulties entailed is the county's rising cost in caring for mental patients. These are patients deemed by the courts here to require emergency treatment while waiting for beds in crowded state hospitals.

The county currently is paying for their treatment in a private hospital in East Detroit. The cost so far this year amounts to nearly $100,000.

Dr. Clare Gates has been appointed UCS director of the countywide study. He is responsible for the committee's field investigation and will report his findings to the committee for its recommendation to the County Board of Supervisors.

The study is scheduled for completion sometime between April 1 and June 1 next year. Then it will be up to the board to decide on a course of action.

NAMED CHAIRMAN

Appointed chairman of the committee was Rogers I. Marquis, vice president of Federal Mogul Power Bearings Co. in Detroit. He lives at 1563 Island Lane, Bloomfield Hills, and has been active in United Fund activities.

Other committee members appointed by Hugel include Franklin Pricker of 481 Pleasant St., Birmingham; Mrs. Harvey B. Greene, 1049 County Club Drive, Bloomfield Hills; Marjorie Hemphill, 1026 Planchurst St., Royal Oak; and Carleton M. Higbie Jr., president of Higbie Manufacturing Co. in Rochester.

Thalidomide Heroine One of Long Line

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal bureaucracy, butt of many a joke and gibe, can boast that in this year 1962 it produced an authentic heroine, a female knight in shining armor.

Frances Oldham Kelsey, M.D., Ph.D., doesn't look much like a knight. She's a plain Jane in flat-heeled shoes, with no lipstick, and she has the seemingly unromantic job of physician and pharmacist for the Food and Drug Administration.

BLOCKED THALIDOMIDE

But, by now, most everybody knows how, in one of the most notable acts of female obstinacy in history, she blocked the marketing of the sedative thalidomide in this country.

When word came that this drug was being blamed for the deforming of thousands of babies born in Europe, President Kennedy hastened to hang a gold medal around Dr. Kelsey's neck. Other honors have showered on her.

The thalidomide incident put new strength into a drive for a stronger drug safety bill. The Senate hastily replaced some of the teeth that had been extracted from the bill and it breezed through Congress.

Dr. Kelsey was among the honored guests looking on when Kennedy signed the measure Oct. 10. PLAYED BIG ROLE

Thus, Dr. Kelsey has taken her place on the roster of notable warriors for safe, effective drugs and wholesome food—a roster including such men as:

Upton Sinclair, Socialist uplifter who couldn't make much of a deal with his Socialist propaganda but did play a mighty role in the passage of a meat inspection act and the nation's first pure food and drug law, in 1906.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, an M.D. with an evangelical fervor for adulterated food. As chief chemist for the Agriculture Department (1883-1912) he conducted his fight by "poison squad" tactics and other means, and was the first administrator of the pure food law.

ALSO AIDED

Samuel Hopkins Adams, free-lance reporter and muckraker extraordinary. Nothing, not even attempted blackmail, could deter him from pursuing the quacks and nostrums of his day. His series "The Great American Fraud" began appearing in Collier's Oct. 7, 1905, and had great impact. It was accompanied by charming illustrations, such as a grinning skull with patent medicine bottles for teeth.

In 1906 Sinclair published a novel "The Jungle." It was about the Chicago stockyards and was designed to forward socialism by enlisting sympathy for downtrodden stockyard workers. It didn't do that, but it did turn the stomach of America by its descriptions of the unwholesome conditions under which meat was being produced.

"POISON SQUAD"

Dr. Wiley, in 1902, established the "poison squad" department. In a basement dining room in his bureau, knowledge of the possible side effects.)

The public interest was so intense that "my poison squad laboratory became the most highly advertised boarding-house in the world," Wiley wrote in his autobiography.

Wiley's conclusion was flat: "Preservatives used in foods are harmful to health." Modern scientists would take some exceptions to this; some preservatives now are pronounced all right.

DEPARTMENT GREW

When Wiley became chief chemist of the Agriculture Department in 1883, he began with two or three laboratory assistants and a secretary. The Food and Drug Administration, now part of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, has 2,684 employees today.

It is thus still a midget agency, as federal bureaus go, but it is not a midget in brainpower. On its rolls are physicians, physicists, pharmacists, veterinarians, pathologists, pharmacologists, bacteriologists, biologists, chemists, microscopists.

George P. Larrick, FDA commissioner, emphasizes that the great majority of food, drug and cosmetic makers are honest. (No one alleges any fraud on the part of the men who tried to market thalidomide; they had imperfect

Shippers Hit Cuba Blockade

LONDON (UPI) — European shippers expressed concern today over the prospect of drastic U.S. action to limit or halt the Russian military build-up in Cuba.

Reports reaching here indicate the United States will close its ports to all ships of any line or nation whose freighters are caught carrying Communist arms to the Red-infiltrated nation.

U.S. cargoes may be denied to ships of any line doing any kind of business with Cuba, and American ports may be closed to individual ships engaged in the Cuba trade.

The standing committee of the International Chamber of Shipping, which rejected a U.S. request that it voluntarily embargo trade with Cuba, expressed "utmost concern" last night over the prospective American action.

Norwegian shippers expressed similar alarm.

"A U.S. blacklist of ships sailing to Cuba would be the same as (Egyptian President Gamal) Nasser's restrictions on ships sailing to Israel," one Norse shipping source said. "It is a contradiction of the principle of freedom of the sea."

"Unilateral U.S. government action against Norwegian shipping could break down the respect the allied nations have for the free-dom-loving United States of America."

41.6 Million Members of Red Parties

MOSCOW (AP) — The paper Soviet Russia said today there are 41.6 million members.

Seventy-five of these parties are in non-Communist countries, the paper said. They have a membership of more than 5.2 million.

"About half of the Communist parties in these countries work under illegal conditions," said the report, "and many of the Communist parties work under semi-legal conditions."

19 RED PARTIES

"In the underdeveloped countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America there function 49 Marxist-Leninist parties, uniting in their ranks about 2.7 million Communists," it said.

"The majority of the Latin-American Communist parties function underground, but nevertheless the Communists of Latin America are carrying on a hard fight against the dominance of the American imperialists in their countries, and are rallying the national masses in defense of heroic Cuba," the paper said.

"In Latin America the biggest Communist parties are those in Argentina, Venezuela, Chile, Brazil, Uruguay and Colombia."

Social Security Grant Given U. of M. Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security Administration yesterday awarded the University of Michigan Population Studies Center a grant of $19,803 to study economic status, unemployment and family growth.

The grant is aimed at finding more effective ways to deal with dependency and poverty, Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Ball said.

SuperX Drugs Operates, Awaiting Court Decision

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Pharmacy today was under Michigan Supreme Court orders not to interfere with operations of a Battle Creek pharmacy by SuperX Drugs Corp. until the issue of whether it should be granted a new license is settled in court.

The high court yesterday ordered the board of pharmacy to file an answer by Nov. 1 to a demand by SuperX, a subsidiary of the Kroger Co., for a court order to force issuance of the license.

SuperX seeks to establish drug stores in three other cities — Mount Clemens, Plymouth and Ypsilanti — under the license held by the Battle Creek store.

The state board refused several weeks ago to renew the license of the Battle Creek store, the former Owl Drug Co., which was purchased by SuperX earlier this year.

BRIEFS FOR BOTH

The Supreme Court, in yesterday's order granting temporary relief to SuperX, instructed both parties to file briefs in the case by Nov. 12.

The board denied the license renewal to SuperX after some 600 druggists complained that the firm was attempting to circumvent a state law requiring that 20 per cent of pharmacy stockholders be registered pharmacists.

They objected to plans by SuperX to set up a total of four stores under the single license. Because of the so-called "grandfather clause" of the law, the Battle Creek store — established before the 20 per cent stipulation — is not required to comply.

The board did not rule on this issue but withheld issuance of the license on grounds that SuperX was selling barbiturates without a written prescription.

Circuit Judge Alphonse Magnot, of Calhoun County last Friday denied a board of pharmacy request for an order to close the store, ruling that no action should be taken while the case is pending before the Supreme Court.

Guilty of Assault in Welfare Office

A 26-year-old Pontiac woman was found guilty of attacking workers at the county's social welfare department and ordered to pay a $50 fine plus $20 costs yesterday. The decision was made by Waterford Township Justice John E. McGrath.

Mrs. Esther Morganfield stood mute at her arraignment Oct. 3. She was accused of beating Mrs. Mary Harroun, a welfare case-worker, and hitting and kicking other women employees Oct. 2 at the welfare office in the County Service Center.

Mrs. Hart Morris (left), Ottawa Drive, was one of the Needlework Guild members checking in at the annual coffee Tuesday morning. At the right is Mrs. William Brace, Voorheis Road, secretary of the organization. Waiting her turn in the center is Mrs. Forest R. Wood, South Tilden Avenue.

Mrs. John Riley, Illinois Avenue, presided over the coffee pot Tuesday morning. Waiting to be served are Mrs. Donald M. Jacobs, South Shore Drive (center), and Mrs. Walter Galbraith, Miami Road.

Area Students to Join U. of M. Choir Concert

Several area students will join 106 selected from all over the state in an All-State High School Choir concert to be presented Sunday at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

The students will arrive in Ann Arbor Saturday to rehearse for their appearance at 2:30 p. m. the next day in Hill Auditorium.

There they will join the U. of M. Choir, conducted by Maynard Klein, and the U. of M. Men's Glee Club led by Philip Dwyer, for the concert. The All-State group of boys and girls will be directed by Weston Noble, chairman of the music department of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa. Of this group of talented voice students, 100 received scholarship aid from musical, school and civic organizations in their local communities.

The Choir will sing during the second half of Sunday's concert, joining with the University Choir to conclude the program.

A weekend rich in musical and campus activities has been planned for the high school boys and girls. Upon arrival they will rehearse with their director, following which they will tour the U. of M. campus.

Saturday night they will attend a specially planned faculty concert of vocal and piano music in Hill Auditorium. Sunday morning they are free to attend the churches of their choice. Dinner will be served in the Michigan Union.

HOSTS, HOSTESSES

The high school students will be assigned hosts and hostesses from a group of music majors and will be housed in dormitories, sorority or fraternity houses, and League houses.

The concert will be re-broadcast by University Radio Station WUOM November 20 at 8 p. m.

Area students participating include Marilyn Mitchell, Birmingham; Marcella Neal, Farmington; Kathryn Lane, Lake Orion; Mary Jane Holsington, Kathy Jackson, Paul Marinen, Cheryl Montgomery, David Orser, Bill Raynes, Nancy Steward and Philip Weber, all of Pontiac.

Unit Directors Hold Meeting

Directors of the Grace Branch of Pontiac Needlework Guild met with Mrs. Lester Snell on Auburn Road for the annual meeting.

Directors include Mrs. Edwin Brooks, Mrs. George Granger, Mrs. W. A. Lewis, Mrs. L. C. Naugle, Mrs. C. F. Denison, Mrs. Maurice Landry, Mrs. Walter Mehlberg and Mrs. William Porter.

Mrs. Snell is president of the branch and Mrs. Ernest Howell, vice president.

ful for the many articles provided by Needlework Guild."

I. C. Prevette, supervisor of the adoption and investigating department of Juvenile Court, spoke of the clothing received.

"There are 108 boarding homes in Oakland County. The money for each child, which the county provides, takes care of the basic needs. Needlework Guild articles are used to augment these, especially at Christmas," said Mr. Prevette.

HOW TO JOIN

What is Needlework Guild, and what do you do to become a member?

Anyone may join; men, women, even children. Members annually contribute two new garments, similar in size "One to wash and one to wear."

Instead of garments, two new articles of household linen such as bath towels, wash cloths, blankets, sheets and pillow cases or a contribution of money for the purchase of garments may be given.

There are no dues, on paid workers, no overhead.

Following the Ingathering garments are distributed to local welfare agencies and institutions, which in turn give them out to the needy in their care.

Among these are Pontiac Area Day Nursery, Family Service of Oakland County, Camp Oakland, Boy's Ranch, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Michigan Children's Aid Society and Girl's Ranch.

OTHER AGENCIES

Other agencies are the Salvation Army, Pontiac General Hospital, Oakland County Children's Home, Visiting Nurse Association, American Red Cross, Oakland County Health Department, Catholic Family Service and Oakland County Juvenile Court.

Why does Needlework Guild give only new items of clothing?

The Guild believes new clothing gives the recipient a lift of spirit, hope and courage.

Pouring at the golden anniversary table, centered with fruit and flowers sprayed in gold, were Mrs. John A. Riley, president of Carol Brooks Section, and Mrs. Galbraith.

Assisting Mrs. William S. Isgrigg with the coffee were Mrs. Edmund S. Rogers, Mrs. Donald F. Stearns and Mrs. Robert G. Isgrigg.

INTRODUCES NURSE

Mrs. Rogers introduced Mrs. Ann Hecoy of the Visiting Nurse Association, one of the social agencies benefitting from the Ingathering, who said:

"We are now serving the older-age group living on a fixed income. In past years a great many infant clothes were used. We are most grate-

NOW AVAILABLE FOR DEAFENED NEW TYPE HEARING DEVICE

Write for Free Booklet

PERKINS, H. (Special) — A tiny new hearing aid device has just been developed using a new type silicon transistor, according to Paul R. H. Smith, head of Transmender Laboratories.

Heretofore seated in glass, the pinhead sized transducer made possible a more powerful hearing aid assembly larger than a paper clip. Worn on the ear itself, the hearing device brings in sound right at the ear level. The instrument has been especially effective for nerve cases and for persons who normally are troubled by background noise. It is one of the quietest hearing aids ever made.

Full details plus a booklet written especially for the hard-hearing and their families may be obtained by writing to: Dept. JR 474, Transmender Labs., 1010 W. Pioneer Parkway, Peoria, Ill. The material will be mailed without obligation.

Don't Snub Cabbage!

By Josephine Lowman

Often we do not recognize a celebrity when we see one! I am thinking today of some of the distinguished foods we take for granted.

For instance, we have long known that cabbage is a valuable food because of its rich vitamin C content and also because it gives us thiamine, iron, folic acid and essential roughage. However, how many of you know about the famous history of this vegetable? I didn't until I read about it recently.

Cabbage has been eaten for thousands of years. It probably originated in the eastern Mediterranean. It was such a favorite dish of the Egyptians that they even built altars to it. The Greeks and Romans not only liked it but believed that it prevented drunkenness.

The Roman statesman Cato was an enthusiastic advocate of cabbage. In a book about agriculture he spent five whole pages extolling its benefits. It is not known just how this vegetable found its way to northern Europe. It may have been brought back by raiding parties or the Romans may have taken the seeds with them to the north countries. Anyway, today it is eaten in practically every country in the world.

So, today when you buy a head of cabbage, have respect not only because of its nutritional value but of its background. After the citrus fruits, tomatoes and cabbage are highest in vitamin C content.

I think we are likely to look down our noses at some of the seemingly homey, taken-for-granted food items. Carrots are always available and inexpensive but they are loaded with health values. They also are delicious when lightly cooked and seasoned with butter, margarine or herbs, or eaten raw. They also are low in calorie count.

A cup of cabbage gives you only 25 calories and one carrot only about 20 calories. Invest in these two friends!

If you would like to have my calorie chart, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 36 to Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.

Hear Talk on Cadaver Transfusion

Dr. Jack Kervorkian spoke on "The Future of Cadaver Blood Transfusions" before the Oakland District Nurses Association Tuesday at William Beaumont Hospital.

This work, started as early as 1929 in Russia and done on a large scale there, is still in the research stage in the United States.

Dr. Kervorkian, who has been studying the subject for the past three years, believes that the use of cadaver blood transfusions can be a life-saving factor in the event of national disaster. Articles describing his work have been published in major pathology journals.

Dr. Kervorkian states that at the present time this work is being inhibited because of the emotional factors surrounding the use of cadaver blood.

Josephine Lowman praises the lowly cabbage head as a fine food—and points out its historical fame.

Abby Told of 'Symbol'

Wedding Ring a Chain?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In regard to men wearing wedding rings, may I comment on the double-ring ceremony, which I know you will not print because it disagrees with your "marriage is a 50-50 proposition" philosophy?

The whole business of men wearing wedding rings is silly and has no historical justification whatever.

The wedding ring is the symbol of bondage of females in marriage. It is the last relic of the collar and shackles, with which captive and purchased brides were (and still are in some parts of the world) bound by their male masters. Let me quote from an old German wedding prayer book, (1888): "The wedding ring is for the bride only, and is a symbol of her bondage, subjection to, and obedience to her master; a sign that she is now no longer free and independent, but that she is bound and chained under the mastery of her husband."

Yours truly,
T. C. E.

DEAR T. C. E.: Thank you for reminding us how much progress civilization has made since 1888.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been showing up late from work half drunk every night. Do you know why?

ELLEN
DEAR ELLEN: He probably ran out of money.

DEAR ABBY: I can't forget "HARRY," who preferred his mule to his wife because the mule brought in $635 a year. Harry asked, "What does the wife bring in?"

Sometimes, even as his own mother did, she brings into the world a son. So far, neither man nor mule has been able to do that.

If a man paid by the hour (union wages, plus tips) for all the services rendered by the average wife, he would consider himself lucky to have a combination cook, baker, laundress, cleaning-woman, seamstress, governess, chauffeur, nurse, plumber, painter, gardener, referee, tutor, bookkeeper and financial wizard — and one who performs duties for which some lesser women are paid in diamonds and mink.

The National Association of Claimants' Counsel reports that the cost of replacing a 25-year-old mother of two is $6000 per year. Harry had better get a little more work out of that mule.

KENTUCKIAN

DEAR ABBY: Like "stealing" a base in baseball, cheating at mah jong is perfectly legitimate. If you are CAUGHT taking an extra tile, it must be returned. If you can get away with it—it's all in the game.

Try Homemaking First Married Year

BY RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. "I'll probably get a job and work the first year or two. There's not much point in my just sitting around a little apartment all day."

So says today's prospective bride. And nobody, not even experienced housewives, ever seem to point out to her that a young wife might spend the first year or two of marriage to better advantage by learning how to be a homemaker than by holding down an outside job.

A young and inexperienced homemaker can learn a lot in a year about cooking, running a household, budgeting, decorating, entertaining, sewing and keeping a husband happy if that is her one and only job and major interest.

But if a bride begins her married life trying to do two jobs at once she is sure to slight the job of homemaking.

She can easily justify the sketchy meals she puts together in a few minutes, the haphazard housekeeping, her why-worry-if-it-costs-more-if-it-saves-me-time attitude toward shopping on the grounds that she works the same hours as her husband at a paid job and she hasn't the time or the energy to keep house any other way.

Then when a baby comes along and the wife has to stop working, things get really tough. For the young wife has to learn to care for a baby and to be a real homemaker all at once.

After depending on two pay checks for two the family now must stretch one to take care of three.

And the young wife who has escaped from the house each day to go to a job is now faced with the fact that she is completely tied down.

If she starts feeling sorry for herself, it's no wonder. Wouldn't she have been better off to have started out as a full time homemaker and earned the job of homemaking before she had to learn how to be a mother.

That is how women used to begin marriage and no one thought they were lazy or no-account because they thought homemaking was a full-time job even before children came along.

SUSAN CLARK

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice: "I always fit my dresses by turning them inside out and haven't had too much trouble. Now my neighbor is learning to sew and she was told to fit the dress right side out. Which of us is right—and how can I mark the side seams if she is right?"

A dress, or any garment for that matter, should be fitted with the RIGHT side out. It is there is any variation in one side of your body from the other, you would be fitting the opposite side by trying it on wrong side out.

Place your pins in a vertical position, with the raw edges of both seams extending. This makes it easier to get a smooth fit if you must fit yourself. After you are satisfied with the way it fits, spread the seam and rub a piece of marking chalk against the pin. When you take the garment off, you will notice the marks will show up on the wrong side of your fabric, just right for machine stitching.

Mrs. E. M. says, "Sewing stiff fabrics becomes easier if you stick your needle in a bar of soap occasionally. The soap lubricates the needle and makes the going smoother."

SOAK AFTER CUTTING

"Dear Eunice: "I want to make my son some wool shirts this winter and I would like to be able to wash them. If the material is marked preshrunk, does this mean washable?" Mrs. N. R. E. Fabric marked preshrunk often does not mean that you can safely wash it without shrinkage. I would suggest you wet the wool thoroughly, allow to dry and then cut your shirts.

Special care must be used in washing any wool garment. Use cool water, soak instead of rubbing, and use a good cold-water soap. Squeeze excess water out by wrapping the material in a towel, and dry it at room temperature. Usually, pressing with a steam iron is sufficient.

"A perfect way to use little girl's torn, worn, or too small 'leo-tights' (also one pantie with long stockings and feet) is to cut the leo-tights about 3 inches shorter than her skirts. Machine stitch a 1/2-inch hem, stretching as you sew to allow extra width for the leg. Add lace edging and a couple of bows and you will have the cutest pair of 'petti-pants' you have ever wanted. Your girls will prefer wearing these to slips. The feet can be used, too, with house slippers—or just to lounge around the house."

This Tailor Trix award winning idea of the week was submitted by Betty Swatow, Cleveland, Ohio.

"Dear Eunice: "I am trying to let down the hems in my children's clothes and can't remember what you said about getting the crease marks out. I'm sure that many mothers are faced with this problem at this time of year and would also like to know."

Mrs. R. D. Crease marks in cottons and wools usually can be eliminated by carefully rubbing the crease with white vinegar or carbonated water before pressing. If the crease has been pressed in very deeply, it will be almost impossible to remove. Often the hem-line actually has been worn or faded, and of course this can't be removed.

Married in Coast Ceremony

Sue Ann Nelschke of San Bernardino, Calif., became Mrs. John C. Keiningham Saturday during a double ring ceremony in that city.

Rev. Peter Mimmagh officiated at the afternoon vows in Our Lady of Assumption Catholic Church.

The bride's sisters, Mrs. J. N. Konzen and Mrs. J. N. Williams, were attendants. Kathy Nelschke was maid of honor, carrying a cascade of white Stephanotis and carnations with a white orchid.

She wore lavender satin.

The attendants wore ballerina-length satin in deep rose and turquoise shades and carried carnation cascades, tipped in lavender.

For her wedding, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Nelschke of Chest Drive, selected a ballerina-length tiered skirt of Chantilly lace, featuring a sabrina neckline, long sleeves and a basque bodice.

After a Palm Springs wedding trip, the couple will live in San Bernardino. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. L. S. Wetmore of Waco, Tex., and the late John C. Keiningham.

Area PTAs Are Meeting Thursday

Dr. Chandos Reid, assistant to the superintendent of Waterford Township Schools, will speak at a panel discussion on children Thursday's meeting of the Donelson Elementary School PTA on the topic, "TV in the Schools."

Members also will hold a discussion to determine how available funds will be used. The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Charles Baker, local chairman of the Clinton Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, will speak and show slides on the cub scouting program at Thursday's meeting of the Jayne Adams Elementary School PTA.

The 8 p.m. meeting will also feature the introduction of new teachers and PTA officers by principal Charles Welsh.

John Montholt School Parent-Teacher-Association will hold their first meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. Mrs. M. J. Root, art coordinator for Waterford Township schools, will conduct an art workshop.

A talk on the legislative and educational changes resulting from the constitutional convention by Pontiac attorney, Richard Kuhn, will highlight the Lambert Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association program Thursday at 8 p.m.

Thursday at 8 p.m. will mark the first meeting of the Schoolcraft

Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association which will feature a panel discussion on children's television with three optometrists participating.

This year's PTA officers are president, Mrs. Harold Trexler; vice presidents, Mrs. Richard Gorman; William Dostman and William Wood; recording secretary, Mrs. Milton Schutt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Vaccaro; treasurer, Mrs. Roy Hinson; historian, Mrs. John Foggiano; parliamentarian, Mrs. Janet Bergmann; and county council delegate, Mrs. James Cocking.

Thursday's 8 p.m. meeting of the Four Towns Elementary School PTA will feature the showing of a 30-minute film on Camp Oakland followed by a question and answer period.

Dr. Robert E. James, Pontiac pediatrician, will speak at Thursday's meeting of the Waterford Center Elementary School PTA on "Your Child's Growth and Development." A question and answer period and refreshments will conclude the 8 p.m. meeting.

Hudson Covert Elementary School PTA will hold a panel-type program on reading Thursday with elementary coordinator Mrs. Carrie Hubbell and Covert teachers, Judy Nelson, Mrs. Ruth Cook and Mrs. Eloise Schultz participating.

A 7:30 business session will precede the featured event and an open house will follow.

After being introduced to the teaching staff at Douglas Houghton School at 8 p.m. Thursday, PTA members will visit their children's rooms for a discussion on discipline.

Robert Scrivens, who is in charge of mathematics in the Waterford Township schools will speak.

The Pontiac Lake School PTA will convene Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Open house in each of the rooms is scheduled to follow the business meeting.

Officers for the year will be introduced: president, Mrs. Melvin Miller; vice president, Mrs. Stanley Nivelt, Mrs. Sid Sankovic and Mr. and Mrs. Nova Popovich; treasurer, Mrs. Harold Collom; secretary, Mrs. John Selling; historian, Mrs. Dennis R. Burling.

Bazaar Friday at Church

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will stage an old-fashioned church bazaar Friday, 1 to 3:30 p.m. in the church recreation hall. Women of the church will be dressed in centennial costumes. They will man the "Hearty New Booth" with its many bargains; the "Green Thumb Booth" for plant lovers; and the baked goods display.

In addition, early Christmas shoppers will have a wide selection from aprons, baby quilts, booties, children's dresses and shirts—Santa Claus, toys and homemade candies, jams, jellies and pickles.

There will also be guided tours of the new North Woodward Avenue church building, just north of Birmingham. Church members will entertain during the event and there is ample parking.

Gypsy Truckers Using Our Highways Dangerously

Special to The Pontiac Press
NORTH BRUNSWICK, N.J. The most dangerous killer on our highways doesn't have a gun, he has a truck, and he's driving it illegally.

These drivers are known to the trucking industry as "gypsies" or, more formally, "gray area operators." Unlike legitimate truckers, "gypsies" have no planned maintenance program for their equipment, seldom keep service records and usually do their bookkeeping in their hats.

They pick up work wherever they can get it and push themselves and their trucks beyond the limits of safe endurance.

A spot check of truck accident records in the Middle West revealed that 20 out of 25 trucks involved in mishaps on a particular highly dangerous stretch of road had been driven by "gypsies." It was a "gypsy" trucker who was responsible for the deaths of 12 college coeds and their professor in a flaming bus-truck collision in New Jersey two years ago.

An investigation disclosed that the driver's schedule had allowed him only two hours sleep in the 36 hours before the tragedy. The braking system was in extremely dangerous condition and the truck had been driven 63,000 miles without adequate maintenance.

71 VIOLATIONS

In all, the Interstate Commerce Commission charged the owner and operator of the truck with 71 violations. Some months later, on another Jersey highway, a "gypsy" coal truck operator from Pennsylvania rammed the rear of a jammed commuter bus, injuring 29 passengers.

In court, he testified that he had dozed off behind the wheel after nearly three days without adequate sleep. He added that he had tried to keep awake by taking "good balls," a very powerful stimulant.

Such practices are not only unsafe for the public and unhealthy for the driver but also strictly illegal. Interstate Commerce Commission regulations state clearly that it's against federal law for a trucker to drive more than 10 hours without an eight-hour rest. Yet "gypsies" keep pushing themselves for a couple of extra dollars, endangering life and property.

FROM FLORIDA

The worst violators are produce haulers from Florida, according to one ICC spokesman. "They have to make New York in 36 hours. They won't stop for sleep, relying on "good balls" to keep awake."

There are no accurate figures on how many "gypsies" operate in the United States. Anyone able to rent, borrow or scrape together enough for a down payment on an old truck, can go into the independent curate hauling business.

Since the "gypsy" has a smaller overhead than the legitimate trucker, he can offer his services much more cheaply. And, he has little trouble finding work. According to rough estimates, between 1,000 and 20,000 "gypsies" haul every day.

Manufacturers, seeking to cut their costs, throw millions of dollars of business a year to illegal truckers. Many have found out, however, that this kind of cost-cutting can be very expensive. Breakdowns, delays, unreliability and sometimes downright fraud are not uncommon when dealing with "gray-area operators."

Legitimate truckers are feeling the bite. Estimates of pirated business range anywhere from $500 million to $5 billion a year.

One grim figure that legitimate transportation men know for certain is that their business dropped 27 per cent from 1958 to 1960. Many companies operate light profit margins with huge capital investments.

They pay top union wages. Now they find themselves running at full throttle just to keep out of the red.

As public awareness grows, sharp criticism of "gray-area" trucking practices is beginning to arrive in legislative and law enforcement mailboxes in increasing quantity. An organ of frequent criticism is "The Hermann Cab," the monthly publication of the Hermann Forwarding Company of North Brunswick, N.J.

The company, which is a leader in improving safety standards and tightening up loopholes in trucking regulations, contends that "gypsies" reap profits from our expensive, complex network of highways without sharing the responsibilities for their safe use and maintenance.

The owner of another trucking company put it this way: "I don't mind tough competition... that's how I got where I am... but how can we compete with the 'gypsies.' We have to obey the state and federal laws to the letter, and they don't even want to read them. They're killing us."

Although the states and the ICC have regulations limiting certain "gypsy" practices, there is little machinery to enforce the laws. For every one illegal trucker caught, a thousand or more continue to roll merrily along.

Latest ICC reports show that the federal government has only 124

Interstate Commerce law enforcement officers in the 50 states. It would require a federal posse of as few as 2,500 men working 24 hours a day to nab enough "gypsies" to even get an idea of the magnitude of the problem.

The Committee Against Unlawful Transportation, an organization of legitimate truckers, has urged greater enforcement on the state level.

Tighter state controls on licensing, inspection and insurance coverage would go a long way toward breaking the backs of "gray-area operators."

Closer cooperation between state and federal transportation agencies and simplified but more effective laws, which would not conflict from state to state, are needed if we are to stamp out illegal trucking and ban potential killers from our highways.

RED CARPET SERVICE

We Must Realize Latins Fear Castroites

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Sooner or later we're going to have to face up to the fact that most of the Latin American nations refuse to go along with us in regard to Castro.

If some major aggression is made against one or more of them, by Castro, that country or countries will be most happy to have the United States intervene, particularly if we shed our own blood and money.

But short of actual invasion, most Latin American countries are ready and willing to sit by and watch the Soviet Union pump steam into Castro's muscles.

The average Latin American leader, particularly those who head any of the quasi-democracies below the border, already lives under Castro's domination.

The latest figures imply that 80 per cent of the Cuban people are now opposed to Castro's administration and Soviet ties.

RULE THE LAND

But the remaining 20 per cent rule the land without question or open censure. By the same token there is a pro-Castro cell, equally efficient and potentially terrorist, in just about every Latin American country.

No Latin ruler is at ease, thinking of what his home-grown Castroites could do to his government.

The situation is aggravated by the Kennedy administration's dilemma. If it "does something" about the Soviet buildup in Cuba it encourages Khrushchev to "do something" about putting his nutty East German stooges in charge of the accesses to Berlin.

It encourages the Kremlin dictator to "do something" about blockading our supply lines to our vital bases in Turkey and on other edges of the Soviet Union.

It would be a relief to every government in Latin America if something happened at Guantanamo or Key West that would compel the U.S. to go in and clobber Castro and set up a friendlier government. But hardly one of them dares say so out loud.

Best sign of that was the "declaration" agreed on at the recent meeting in Washington of the foreign ministers of the lands seeking to pick up charge at a U.S. port after a Cuban stop.

But Mexico, Brazil, Chile, Bolivia and Uruguay plan to continue, or step up, their trade with Cuba.

Ships carrying arms and goods to Castro may now reload at any of those South American ports for the voyage home.

The president could have used a good ringing statement from our faint-hearted Latin allies at this time. Over the past weekend of campaigning in five states he has had an opportunity to feel the anger of the people over the Cuban situation.

A united front, to repeat, would have helped him. But apparently that's not easily obtainable even within his own administration.

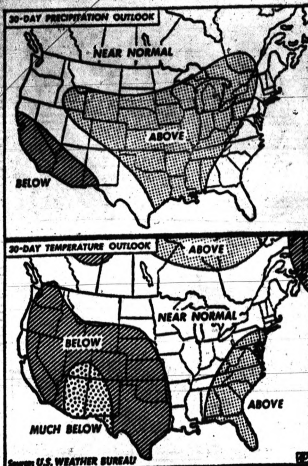

The State Department's dream of a Latin America NATO, for example, was nixed by the Department.

The extent of the spread of Fidelism was noted last week in Venezuela, where President Romulo Betancourt, who tried communism once and didn't like it, runs perhaps the most honest and democratic government in the whole Latin-speaking realm.

Pro-Castro terrorists were able to attack several American-owned or partly-owned enterprises, including Caracas's top-flight Tamanico Hotel, shoot up a Caracas suburb, attack units of the republic's army — and force Betancourt to suspend the constitutional privileges of habeas corpus, free speech, travel and assembly.

We're in a real fix. Castro is winning his war.

67 Credits Unions, Mark 'Their' Week

Oakland County's 67 credit unions will climax their observance of International Credit Union Week on Saturday with a dinner meeting at the Northwood Inn in Berkley.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Charles Smith from the communications department at Western Michigan University.

In the Pontiac Area, 29 credit unions have established an information booth at the Pontiac Mall to answer questions this week about credit unions.

The larger credit unions in this area have planned open houses at their offices on Credit Union Day, GMFC Employees' Federal Credit Union is observing the week by playing host to several of the city's service clubs who will hold their regular luncheon meeting in the meeting room of the new credit union building on Woodward Avenue.

Vote, Check Driving Right Before Trip

LANSING (UP) — Secretary of State James M. Hare said yesterday two important "business items" should be checked and completed by Michigan motorists planning to "migrate" for the winter to sunnier points.

Hare said the residents should check the validity of their driver's licenses and be sure they have cast their ballot for the Nov. 6

Curry and Almonds Take Beans Out of the Ordinary

Is there anything more closely associated with India than the Tuj... Mahal! To the devotees of epicurean arts, curry stands on the same par.

This mysterious blend of many flavors has a pungency and exotic flavor more and more home-makers are finding has unlimited use. It gives a new flavor to mince, lettuce, to peas, meat, even tomatoes.

It is this famous spice which imparts an air of the mysterious East to canned pork and beans with tomato sauce. Spiced with curry and a bit of chili, Curried Pork and Beans will add another easy dish to your party menu for entertaining. Silvered almonds and toasted coconut add the final note of splendor. And, perhaps the most wonderful characteristic of this recipe, is that it can be done in a saucepan on the top of your stove.

A tart molded salad of pineapple chunks and mandarin oranges complements the tang of the curry in your meal. Slices of brown and serve French rolls add a contrasting crispness.

Curried Pork and Beans
3 to 4 tablespoons silvered blanched almonds
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
1 can (1 pound) pork and beans with tomato sauce
1 tablespoon chopped chutney
1 tablespoon orange juice
Toasted shredded coconut, if desired

In saucepan, lightly brown almonds in butter. Stir in curry powder. Add beans, chutney, and orange juice. Heat, stirring now and then. Top each serving with coconut. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Van Camp Invented Beans, Plus Can

NEW YORK (UPI) — The man who invented canned pork and beans made his own containers for them.

Gilbert Van Camp, a former tinsmith, produced the first can of this staple vegetable and meat combination in 1861 in the back of his small green grocer's shop in Indianapolis. Two years later, he began canning the combination under government contract for the Union armies during the Civil War.

By 1902, the output had reached six million cases a year. Today the company he founded produces that many cans in four days, and the canning industry, about 800-million containers a year.

After you've put that cake batter into its pan, do you remember to tap the pan sharply on the table once or twice to get rid of air and avoid an uneven texture?

Devilicious Dip Served in Fruit

A spicy party dip that has all the "flavor" of the South Pacific can be served simply by combining savory deviled ham with smooth sour cream and crunchy nuts. Half of a scooped-out pineapple shell, cut lengthwise, serves as an exotic "dish" with fresh cubes of pineapple, skewered, for dunking.

You'll love the fresh fruit taste of pineapple with lively-flavored deviled ham. In fact, you'll probably find it one of the most different and "devilicious" dips you ever tasted!

"HAPPY TALK" PARTY DIP
2 1/4 ounce cans deviled ham
1 cup sour cream
1/2 cup chopped nuts (walnuts or macadamias)
1 fresh pineapple

Combine deviled ham, sour cream and nuts, chill. Cut fresh pineapple in half lengthwise. Remove core and cut fruit into chunks. Fill shells with deviled ham mix. Serve with pineapple chunks on picks for dunking. About 2 1/2 cups sauce.

Beef Marinates Overnight, Cooks to Rare Stage

An economical cut of beef makes a delicious roast when prepared this New Orleans way.

Roast Beef A La Lacle
2 1/2 pounds rolled larded eye-round beef
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

2 tablespoons wine vinegar
1 scallion (green onion), chopped
1 tiny clove garlic, minced
Mix together the salt, pepper, mustard, Worcestershire, vinegar, onion and garlic. Place meat in mixture, spreading it over surface. Allow to stand several hours or overnight; baste as often as you like with the small amount of marinade.

Let meat come to room temperature if it has been in refrigerator; remove from marinade; roast on a rack in a shallow pan in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour.

Allow to stand in a warm place about 10 minutes; cut away strings; slice the ends of beef should be slightly pink, center quite rare.

Arthur Sanford, Press Advertising Representative, Fred V. Haggard, United Fund General Campaign Chairman, Ralph P. Mummel, Pontiac Press Reporter

Newspapers are always campaigners for worthwhile community projects, providing manpower and editorial support to help accomplish the goals set.

When United Fund time comes, The Pontiac Press, like all good citizens, takes on its task to help raise the funds we need for this great humanitarian organization.

Fred V. Haggard, Campaign Chairman this year, has the full support of a team of dedicated, civic-minded newspapermen to tell the United Fund story. They seek out and print the story of the work being done by the Fund agencies so that everyone will more fully know the extent of help being given our people. Programs of donated advertising are coordinated carefully to give the volunteer campaigners the support needed to reach prospective contributors.

The Pontiac Press has, since the United Fund's inception, made available its news columns and its personnel to help this area-wide cause. It is the only daily newspaper that can give such county-wide support to this project.

It is the only daily newspaper, too, that gives you so much news in such detail about your own community and also includes all the news of the state, county and world. It is the newspaper with your interests. Read The Pontiac Press everyday . . . you will enjoy it.

HOT ASPARAGUS SANDWICH—California white asparagus, strips of ham and cheese-water cream sauce are a hearty, delicious sandwich combination. Serve dill pickle slices, scallions and tomatoes with the sandwiches.

Corn 'n' Cod Fritters Novel New Appetizers

Corn 'n' cod fritters date back to Colonial times and are a special favorite of New Englanders. The New England states, with their rich bounty of fish, find many uses for cod. Corn was first discovered in North America in the New England region. The explorer Karlafne found corn almost 1,000 years ago in the vicinity of Taunton River, Massachusetts.

You don't have to be a New Englander to enjoy these delectable fritters. Codfish cakes are the base for the fritters and the second ingredient is corn. Golden kernels of corn, canned with bright bits of sweet red and green peppers, add color, texture, and flavor variety to corn 'n' fritters. Quite a change from the corn that Columbus knew!

These corn 'n' cod fritters are simple to prepare. You will want to use canned codfish cakes for convenience. Just crumble the cakes, blend in egg, cracker meal, salt and corn with sweet peppers. Shape the mixture into balls, roll in a breeding mixture and fry in deep fat to a crisp, golden brown.

You'll want to serve these savory corn 'n' cod fritters as an appetizer at your next party.

Corn 'n' Cod Fritters

Drain and crumble one 10½-oz. can codfish cakes. Blend in 1 slightly-beaten egg, ¼ cup cracker meal and ¼ teaspoon salt. Gently stir in one well-drained 12-oz. can yellow whole kernel corn with sweet peppers. Shape mixture into balls the size of small meat balls. Roll lightly in flour; dip in beaten egg and then roll in cracker meal or fine dry bread crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat (375 degrees) about 3 minutes or until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper; serve hot as an hors d'oeuvre. Yield: About 2 dozen fritters.

EAST LANSING (U) — Former Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams will deliver the main address Oct. 21 at a community observance of United Nations week here.

Many southern cooks like to use a shallow baking dish for spoon bread.

Lunchbox Soup Pleases Kids

As every mother knows, the rule of thumb for school box lunches is a thermos of hot soup, a hearty sandwich, a shining piece of fresh fruit, several crunchy cookies and a beverage.

For instance, adding diversity to the soup course each day is a simple matter with the numerous varieties of packaged soup mixes: green pea, beef noodle, country-style potato, tomato, cream style chicken, chicken rice, mushroom, and tomato vegetable. And, of course, there is the chicken noodle soup that is a particular favorite of the small fry.

Lunch-box planning mothers will be delighted to hear that there is a delicious new chicken soup. It is Chicken and Noodle Soup Mix with Diced Chicken Meat. Chunks of all white meat and fine noodles are combined together in a rich tasty chicken broth.

To go with it, here is a recipe for a delicious Deviled Ham and Olive Rollwich. Cream cheese and deviled ham are spread on a hard roll and then garnished with olive slices.

Deviled Ham and Olive Rollwiches
1 3-ounce package cream cheese
1 4½ ounce can deviled ham
4 to 6 hard rolls, split in half lengthwise
Sliced stuffed olives
Combine and thoroughly blend cream cheese and deviled ham. Spread on bottom halves of the rolls. Garnish with olive slices. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Try Peach Sauce for Pancakes

Ever try a fresh fruit sauce with always-popular pancakes?

Pancakes With Peach Sauce
4 teaspoons cornstarch
½ cup sugar
1 cup cold water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 cups sliced peeled fresh peaches
Pancakes

In a medium saucepan stir together the cornstarch and sugar; gradually stir in water, keeping smooth; add lemon juice and peaches. Cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until clear and thickened; serve warm over pancakes. For pancakes mix 1 cup pancake mix, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon salad oil and 1 teaspoon ginger until fairly smooth; bake 8 pancakes on a hot lightly greased griddle.

Quick Mixing Is Secret of Light Tender Muffins

Make up the dough for these yeast-raised muffins on Saturday; bake them on Sunday! They're delicious hot from the oven.

Bran Muffins

1 envelope active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
¼ cup ready-to-eat bran cereal
½ cup shortening
½ cup boiling water
1½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg (well beaten)
3 to 3½ cups sifted flour
Dissolve yeast in warm water; mix together the bran, shortening, the last amount of flour, boiling water, sugar and salt; cool to lukewarm. Stir in dissolved yeast.

Add beaten egg; add enough flour to make a firm dough, beating in with mixer. When necessary mix a spoon. Cover bowl; refrigerate overnight.

Using ice cream scoop (No. 24, about 3 tablespoons), put a scoop of the dough into 16 muffin-pan cups (each ½ cup size). Or use two spoons to add dough to cups. Cover; let rise until doubled in bulk — 1½ to 2 hours. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven for 20 minutes.

Add With Flour

If you have trouble in getting an even distribution of nuts or fruits, (or both) in a cake, try folding in the nuts or fruits with the last amount of flour.

Never a Worry With Baked Rice

No need to worry about late arrivals when you serve baked rice for dinner. It will hold in a warming oven for long periods.

In a greased 1½ quart casserole, mix well together 1 cup of raw long grain rice, 1½ cups of boiling water, 2 tablespoons of butter, 2 teaspoons of salt and 2 tablespoons of minced onion. Cover tightly. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven 45 minutes, or until rice is tender; and the water absorbed.

To hold at serving temperature, reduce oven thermostat to temperature recommended by range manufacturer. Serves 6.

Mix Sugar and Starch

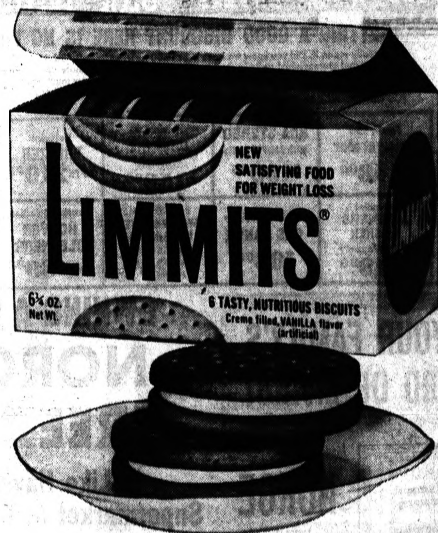

When you are making a dessert, be sure to mix the starch with the sugar before adding the liquid. Gradually to keep smooth.

TUNA STEW — Tonight the peal of the dinner bell is quickly lost in the chorus of "ohs and ahs," as everyone looks longingly at this Tuna Dumping Stew... a wonderful dish for a cool night.

Casseroles Satisfy Heightened Appetites

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Time and again our readers have asked for more recipes for casserole dishes. Fall and winter seem to be the proper time for such recipes.

Most casseroles have the same type ingredients. Protein is supplied by meat and/or cheese. Starch is some form of pasta or potatoes. Anything else adds tastiness.

Corn chips put a crunchy topping on this first casserole.

Olive Crunch Casserole

2 tablespoons poly - unsaturated oil
1 large onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 pound lean ground beef
1 pound lean ground pork
2 cans (8-oz.) tomato sauce
2 cans water
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 package (8-oz.) noodles
1 can (7-oz.) pitted ripe olives, drained and sliced
12 ounces Monterey Jack or other mild cheese, cubed
1 package (6-oz.) corn chips

In hot oil, cook onion and garlic until tender. Add ground meat and cook while stirring constantly until crumbly. Pour on sauce and water, sprinkle on salt and pepper. Mix well; cover and simmer for 20 minutes.

Cook noodles according to package directions. In a 3-quart oval baking dish, layer noodles, olive rings, meat sauce and half of cheese cubes; then repeat noodles, olives, meat sauce. Top with corn chips and sprinkle on remaining cheese. Bake at 350 degrees (moderate) for 30 minutes. Serves 8-10.

Pork sausage has long been a convenient form of meat to have on hand. It is delicious for any meal of the day. Below it is one of the main ingredients in a casserole.

Pork Sausage - Potato Casserole

1 pound skinless pure pork sausage link
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cans (1 pound each) potatoes, sliced thin
4 slices pasteurized process cheese

Pan-fry sausage in skillet until just brown. Remove Sausage links. Drain off fat leaving 3 tablespoons of drippings in skillet. Add onion and green pepper and cook until tender. Remove from heat. Blend in flour. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Add salt and cook over low heat, stirring until thickened. Stir the potatoes into the thickened gravy.

Pour half the potatoes into a buttered 2-quart casserole dish. Place slices of cheese over potatoes. Add remaining potatoes and gravy. Top with browned sausage. Bake uncovered in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Serves 5-6.

Do you know that the handsome skin of the eggplant has even more flavor than the white insides? That's what our latest information says. We never did like peeling eggplants. From now on, we won't.

Tomatoes do a wonderful job complementing eggplant. Here the pair of capabilities is put into a vegetarian casserole dish with grated cheese.

Spanish Eggplant Casserole

1 medium-sized eggplant (1 1/4 lbs.)
1/4 to 1 cup olive oil
2 large tomatoes, peeled and chopped
1 or 2 garlic cloves, minced
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
2 tablespoons water
1/2 cup fine dry crumbs
1/4 cup grated cheese
1/2 teaspoon salt

Cut the unpeeled eggplant in thin slices. Sauté in about 1/4 cup olive oil until lightly browned on each side, removing the browned slices to drain on paper towel. Add more olive oil as needed.

Combine the chopped tomatoes, minced garlic, parsley, crumbs, salt, and the instant onion softened in water. Toss to blend well.

Arrange the sautéed eggplant slices in layers (sprinkling each eggplant layer lightly with salt from shaker) alternately with the tomato-crumbs mixture, sprinkling grated cheese over the crumbs layers. The top layer should be of crumbs; add additional crumbs over the top. If needed, Bake uncovered at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Serves 5 or 6.

It's Economical to Make Your Own Pudding Mix

When there's a box on your kitchen shelf labeled non-fat dry milk, you are never without a dessert to serve. What's more with non-fat dry milk you can make your own pudding mix in large quantities that are economical as well as easy on the cook.

The pudding mix can be made in any quantity, but this basic recipe is for 24. Use 1 1/2 cups sugar, 2 1/2 cups non-fat dry milk, 1 1/4 cups flour and 1 teaspoon salt. Stir these ingredients together until well mixed. Store them in a covered container in a cool place.

Then when the gang calls for dessert, you're ready for them.

Six servings require 1 1/4 cups of the mix and 2 1/2 cups of warm water. Mix these in the top of a double boiler and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Cover and cook 10 minutes more. Then add 1 tablespoon butter or margarine.

Remove from the heat and beat half the hot mixture into one beaten egg. Blend slowly into the remaining hot mixture. Cook over hot water 3 minutes more. Remove from the heat and stir in 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

To make your pudding even more glorious top it with whipped non-fat dry milk. It's the crowning touch that will win added applause because it is low in calories.

Dumplings Cook Atop Stew

Bubbling merrily along the range is a perfect dish for a chilly night... an interesting stew made with canned tuna and a variety of vegetables as colorful as the light fluffy dumplings, this is a stew requiring only one ring of the dinner bell to call everyone together.

Watch the children eat it up and call for seconds. Certainly this tuna stew will be a "repeat-er" on your weekly menus.

We owe much to the Japanese fishing fleets, in conjunction with the American fishing fleets, for providing us with one of the most popular foods on the cupboard shelf. In fact, about 40 per cent of the tuna packed by American canners is caught by these Japanese fishermen.

Tuna Dumping Stew
1 medium green pepper, diced

1 medium onion, sliced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) beef bouillon
1 cup sliced carrots
1 cup apple juice
1/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/16 teaspoon pepper
Dash nutmeg
2 teaspoons molasses
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
3 cans (6 1/2 to 7 ounces each) tuna, drained
1 can (1 pound) lima beans, drained
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 cups prepared biscuit mix
1/4 cup milk

In large skillet, sauté green pepper and onion in butter until tender. Add bouillon and carrots; cover and cook 15 minutes, or until carrots are tender. Gradually stir apple juice into flour; add salt, pepper, nutmeg, molasses and Worcestershire sauce.

Stir flour mixture into skillet; add chunks of tuna, lima beans and 1 tablespoon parsley. Heat stew until bubbling.

Meanwhile, combine biscuit mix, remaining 1 tablespoon parsley and milk; mix well with fork; spoon 6 large dumplings onto bubbling stew. Cook, over low heat 10 minutes; cover and cook 15 minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

Gourmet rare: chopped smoked oysters (they come canned) added to an omelet.

Present Fruit Before Dinner

Add Cheese-Nut Dip Serve With 'Petit Cafe'

Fruit and coffee and just a touch of cheese — there's no more delicious medley of flavors. Particularly appealing is the relaxing pre-dinner hour in the form of fruit hors d'oeuvres with a delectable cream cheese accompaniment.

Coffee before dinner is a continental custom known as Petit Cafe, or quite literally, "small coffee." The coffee is rich, fragrant demi-tasse. The fruit hors d'oeuvres are dainty bite-size pieces of assorted fresh fruits — each a perfect complement to the cheese dip and coffee.

- Fruit Hors d'Oeuvres
- 1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese
 - 3 tablespoons light cream
 - 1 tablespoon grated orange peel
 - 1 tablespoon crushed salted peanuts
 - 1 tablespoon finely chopped candied ginger
 - Assorted fresh fruits in bite-size pieces
- Soften cream cheese. Add cream. Beat until well-blended. Beat in orange peel, peanuts and ginger. Serve as a dip with fruits, such as grapes, mandarin orange sections, and chunks of pineapple, fluted banana and unpiced red apple. Serves 6.

Prepare Eggs, Tomato for Hearty Salad

Tomatoes, eggs and sardines make a really hearty salad. This way of combining these ingredients may be new to you.

- Three Flavor Salad
- 4 medium-large tomatoes (1½ pounds)
 - 2 eggs (hard-cooked)
 - 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
 - ¼ or ½ teaspoon minced onion
 - 1 can (3½ ounces) bristling sardines
- Salt and pepper to taste. Lettuce and cucumber. Wash and dry tomatoes; cut a thin slice from stem ends; cut out centers in plug shape. Cut a thin slice from bottoms if necessary to have tomatoes stand straight. Remove any seeds from cavities; turn upside down to drain.

Mash eggs with mayonnaise and onion. Lift out half the sardines from their oil and cut into pieces; fold into egg mixture. Sprinkle drained tomato cavities with salt and pepper; stuff with egg mixture.

Arrange stuffed tomatoes on lettuce with remaining sardines. Garnish with thinly sliced fluted cucumber. Pass extra mayonnaise. Makes 4 servings.

Detective Promoted

EAST LANSING (AP) — State Police have announced the promotion of detective Douglas A. Sherwood, of the fire marshal's division, to detective sergeant. Sherwood is assigned to the Detroit post and is a 23-year veteran of the State Police.

Retired Circus Buff Owns His Own Lion

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (U) — A retired Charleston druggist, long a circus buff, has realized a life-long ambition to own a lion.

Garland Potterfield received as a gift from an animal-trainer friend a 3-week-old cub born in the Los Angeles zoo.

Ever since he was 6 years old and saw his first circus, Potterfield has wanted a lion and now he intends to keep the pet for a year or so.

"When she decides she likes me better than hamburger," he said, "I'll send her to the zoo."

Room With View on the Way Out for Laying Hens

WASHINGTON D. C. (U) — Laying hens, when there is no difference in temperature or humidity, perform the same in windowless pens as in pens with windows, according to research paper read before the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

Prof. John E. Dixon of the University of Idaho, who did the research, added that windowless poultry houses cost less to build and can be kept at a more even temperature.

Looks as if some hens just lost their room with a view.

Two of 5 Migrants Ask Citizenship

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Of every five European migrants who could become naturalized Australians, two have applied for citizenship.

Immigration Department figures show that at the beginning of the year, there were 246,649 eligible migrants who had not sought naturalization.

They represent about 40 per cent of the migrants, who became eligible for Australian citizenship after five years residence.

They are mainly Italian and German, to a lesser extent Greek and Polish.

Headaches Force Checks on Vision

NEW YORK (U) — Blinding headaches eventually help many people to see better.

The Better Vision Institute points out that headaches frequently help people with faulty vision to take eye examinations.

Many persons become aware of seeing defects only when they have some secondary effect, such as headaches.

The institute says surveys show some 23 million people who do not wear glasses need them. Annual professional eye examinations are recommended for most adults, whether they wear glasses or not.

SAVANNAH, Ga. (P) — A northern reporter fascinated by southerners' ability to get three syllables into two-syllable words was invited by the Savannah Evening Press to come "down around these parts."

After interviewing a woman who specializes in teaching southern accents to non-southerners, the reporter had commented "Ah may never speak English a geyan."

"This is nothing," advised the Press in an editorial. "We have heard it stated that Savannah is the only place where English is so spoken that the word fish gets two syllables. You know, fi-yush. It's what a sportsman wi-yush-es for when he goes out in a bo-ut."

Family Reunion Real Convention
—430 Attend

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (P) — When the descendants of the seven Meiners who came to Kansas City from Germany get together it's a convention.

Latest family reunion was attended by 430 of the 756 descendants of the five Meiners boys and two Meiners girls who settled here in the 1800s.

The sole survivor of the original group, Mrs. Annie Meiners Hodes, 92, attended.

To help the family keep better informed about their relatives a family newspaper was started in 1961.

Netherlands, New Guinea, is about the size of California. Its population is estimated at around 700,000.

Teen-Aid Program Successful in East

PHILADELPHIA (P) — In two years the 300 women volunteers in an organization known as Teen Aid have extended helping hands to about 175 girl delinquents in Philadelphia.

"Many of the girls feel this is the first time anyone, has taken a real interest in them," comments a judge.

With only a couple of exceptions, the program has proved tremendously successful in overcoming the girls' suspicions and resentments and putting them on the right track.

Gabon's population is estimated to be 420,000 comprising 40 distinct ethnic groups. There are about 3,700 Europeans, two-thirds of whom are in the non agricultural centers.

Tells Supreme Court of Beer Capacity

DARWIN, Australia (P) — Local bartender Alf D'Ambrasio told the Supreme Court he often drank 30 five-ounce glasses of beer a day, and had never been drunk in his life.

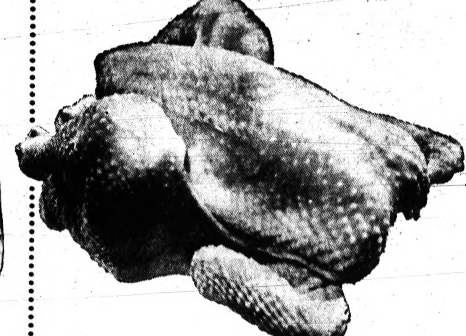

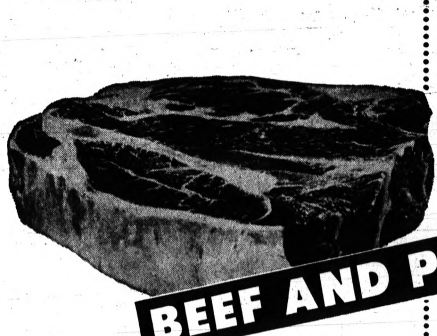

He told of his 20-pint-a-day capacity when giving evidence in a case in which he accused a customer of assault.

People of Australia's Northern Territory are possibly the world's champion beer drinkers. Consumption is 56 imperial gallons a head a year, for every one of the 28,000 white men, women and children.

The civet, or civet cat, a mammal of the family Viverridae related to cats, has a scent pouch that yields a fatty secretion used in the Orient as a perfume base.

Put Meat Stuffing in Plentiful Peppers

Pick a pepper, plump and brilliantly green, filled with a bread and meat stuffing and enjoy this abundant vegetable.

From 6 large peppers, remove stems and seeds. Cut "bellies" in half, lengthwise. For stuffing, combine 1½ pounds ground beef, 2 cups bread crumbs, 2 eggs, 1 cup tomato juice, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, salt and pepper. Blend in 3 tablespoons melted shortening or vegetable oil.

Fill pepper shells with meat mixture. Bake in a (350 degrees) oven for 45 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce.

Unusual Wheat Foods Coming in Near Future

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) — Wheat chips, wheat candies and a quick-cooking wheat for make dishes are some of the more promising candidates among new food stuffs made of wheat.

Food scientists at Sanford Research Institute have been investigating such new uses for the nation's mounting wheat surplus. The wheat chips are similar to potato chips. The candy, a toffee, was well received by institute tasters. They were less favorably impressed by wheat brittle candy and wheat caramel balls.

Free Picnic Table Sign Is Believed Literally

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP) — "Free Picnic Table," read the roadside sign beside U. S. 29 near here. Somebody took it literally, Gaston County Rural Police reported, and hauled off the table during the night.

Late English King Advises on Wine

NEW YORK (UPI) — Forget the expert lingo and enjoy tasting until you find wines that, indeed, satisfies you, advises J. Wechsberg in a report in the "Canadian Food Journal."

The advice — try, and decide for yourself — stems from more experts than vineyarders. If you need a benchmark, the author suggests you consider the words of the late King Edward VII of England, a connoisseur.

"Not only does one drink wine, but one inhales it, one swallows it, and one talks about it," he said.

As a rule, steamed pudding molds should be filled about two-thirds full. The molds should have light-drying covers and the inside of the covers should be greased before they are put in place.

Stamp Out More Coins but No Silver Dollars

DENVER 10 — The U. S. Mint in Denver stamped out more coins in the fiscal year ending June 30 than ever before—2,446,634,142 of them.

This was 436 million more than in the 1960-61 fiscal year. Pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and half dollars were minted during the year. But no silver dollars.

Early Morning Fire Ruins Romeo Millworks Building

By LEE WINBORN

ROME — A spectacular three-alarm fire early this morning destroyed the main building of one of Romeo's leading industries, The George F. Robertson Co. millworks, four blocks east of the heart of town.

Only because the wind was blowing in the right direction were firemen able to save Church and Church Lumber Co. next door.

Discovered about 2 a.m. by local druggist Frank Donahue who was driving by, the fire already had gained considerable headway at the rear of the custom woodworking shop.

Upon arrival the Romeo fire department immediately summoned the Washington and Shelby townships departments to assist in battling the blaze which was visible for several miles.

There were 10 pieces of fire-fighting equipment and about 50 firemen at the scene.

SECTION STANDS

The front section of the millworks, the exterior of which is covered with metal siding, remains standing although the second floor was gutted and the first floor damaged extensively by fire and water.

The fire apparently started in the back section which was leveled by the blaze, according to Romeo Fire Chief Walter Werth.

Built about 60 years ago, the millworks is now owned by Voyle D. Robertson, 45, of 209 Church St., son of the original owner. He took over as president of the concern about 15 years ago.

The company employs about a dozen people and serves the entire Thumb area.

Also burned to the ground was the lumber storage building at the rear of the one-story brick office which was unharmed.

Firemen brought the fire under control in about two hours. No one was injured.

Cause of the blaze is still being investigated and no estimate of damage was immediately available.

The millworks was destroyed by fire once before — in 1915 — after which it was rebuilt.

When asked if he planned to rebuild again now, Robertson said he had a lot of work in the shop, but it was too early to decide today.

The damage is covered by insurance.

FIGHT BLAZE — Firemen from three departments; Romeo and Washington and Shelby townships, brought a raging fire at The George F. Robertson Co. mill in Romeo under control in about two hours early this morning. The second floor of the main building, shown here, was gutted and the first floor damaged by smoke and water. Metal siding which allowed the walls and roof to remain standing covers the exterior. A nearby lumber storage building was leveled.

Flares Go on Sale by Brooklands Club

BROOKLANDS — Members of the Brooklands Exchange Club will sell flares this week and next to finance their forthcoming Halloween activities for a school children.

Proceeds from the flare sales will also be used for emergency welfare aid, an emergency shop fund and other projects of that nature, according to a club spokesman.

Purchasers are expected to light the flares on Halloween, when the fire siren sounds at 7 p.m. to signal the start of trick or treating.

'Farmers Still Needed'

FREMONT — Doing away with farmers won't solve any problems but merely shuffle them around, State Grange Master William J. Brake said today.

His sharp comments on a controversial farm plan by the National Committee on Economic Development were contained in an address before delegates to the Michigan Grange annual convention. The organization is convened at Fremont through Saturday.

The 200-member CED, embracing business and economic leaders, advocates reducing the number of farmers in the United States by two million in the next five years.

"Agriculture is the major supplier of jobs, a major purchaser of a major investor, a major taxpayer," said Brake.

He claimed he could not see much strength for the national economy by reducing the number of employers, investors, purchasers and taxpayers.

Brake also played the CED program of land use which, he said, talks of idling land to get it out of agricultural production but provides no avenue for use in recreation or conservation.

"Production management, rather than price support, should be the goal of a farm program," he said. "Conservation of natural resources should be our objective, rather than idleness and wasting away. Adequate credit, industrial development, technical aid, electrification, educational services, marketing opportunities—all these must be tools used to revitalize rural America."

More than 350 delegates were expected to attend the convention, reportedly the largest ever held in Newaygo County.

Books Seized; Company Sues

HIGHLAND PARK — Seizure by Highland Park police of 425 nudist magazines was challenged in U.S. District Court in Detroit yesterday.

Highland Park Police Chief Dewey Schultz, City Attorney Colin J. McRae and Assistant City Attorney George W. Moore were used by Royal News, an Ohio corporation, on behalf of a book store known as the House of Books.

Police seized the magazines Sept. 13 and arrested the store's manager, Nasif Soof, under an ordinance prohibiting sale and distribution of obscene materials.

The court was asked to declare the Highland Park ordinance unconstitutional on the ground it deprives the bookellers of their rights under the 1st and 14th amendments.

The court also was asked to declare the confiscated publications are not obscene and may freely circulate in the Detroit suburb; enjoin police from interfering with the operation of the House of Books and determine what damages the book store suffered.

Royal Oak Twp. Man Acquitted of Murder

A Circuit Court jury has acquitted a 32-year-old Royal Oak Township man charged with manslaughter in the death of a neighbor.

Smith Bush, 20791 Parkside St., was arrested after he and Harvey Dunlap, 46, of 21322 Parkside St., allegedly fought over a woman March 30. Dunlap died of head injuries two weeks later.

Juilliard Grad to Stage Show for Youngsters

ROCHESTER — A specialist in folk-love, music and the literature of music, Mrs. Josephine Love, will present a program at 10 a.m. Saturday in the meeting room of Woodward Memorial Library.

The music and story-telling event is being staged by the Friends of the Library for children in elementary grades 1-3.

Daughter of a poetess and a concert violinist, Mrs. Love is a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music, New York City. At present, she is working on her doctorate in musicology at the University of Michigan's School of Music.

Mrs. Love's collection of books, toys, puppets and memorabilia related to the arts numbers close to 5,000 items.

Eight 4-H'ers Go to 'School'

County Group to Take Leadership Training

Eight Oakland County 4-H'ers will be delegates to a leadership school tomorrow through Saturday at Greenfield Village.

Those attending will be Marilyn Palahan, Cheryl Leese and Tim Stayton from the Orionville Club; Douglas Norland, Linda Jacobson, Kristine Simonson and Eric Woodward from the Bloomfield Club and Janet Lesletter from the East Orion Club.

Three other county 4-H members who participated in similar training sessions during the past two years are working on the planning committee to assure delegates of getting maximum value for the time invested, according to county 4-H agent Ruth Montney.

The former delegates are Martha Halsey of the Flying Fingers Club and Marvin McLachlan and Ardis Storm of the East Orion Club.

They will be attending the session again this year along with Mrs. Montney. The other county 4-H agent Jack Worthington, also will help in training the junior leaders at the school.

Rochester Unit to Put on Play for Children

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Tuesday Musicals will sponsor two performances of a children's play, "The Invisible Indian Chief," at 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the high school auditorium.

The play will be produced and acted by members of the Millan Children's Theater Co. The company is made up of professional adult actors who specialize in plays for children.

Youngsters from preschool age to 12 will be entertained by the play and senior students of drama, music and art will also enjoy it, according to a spokesman for the group.

Tickets can be purchased from any member of the Tuesday Musicals or at the door.

Proceeds from the play will be used to provide scholarships to the Interlochen Music Camp and the Michigan Chorus.

Service Guild Plans Smorgasbord Dinner

OKLAHOMA TOWNSHIP — The Wesleyan Service Guild of Paint Creek Methodist Church will sponsor a smorgasbord dinner at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow in the church annex.

Tickets can be purchased at the door. The church is on Colvin's Road, off Orion Road.

Promote Fire Marshal

DETROIT — Glenn E. Thom, 46, Detroit fire marshal, yesterday was promoted to chief of the department by the Detroit Board of Fire Commissioners effective Nov. 23. He will succeed Laurence E. Daly, resigned.

LAUNCH UP DRIVE — Discussing final plans for their part in the Pontiac Area United Fund drive to raise a combined township quota of $19,741 are (from left) E. M. Estes, trustee of the United Fund board; Dr. Ernest F. Denne, campaign chairman for Independence Township, and Edward J. Bossardt Jr., campaign chairman for Oxford Township. The men met at a kickoff dinner at the Waldron Hotel, Pontiac, last night prior to the torch-lighting ceremony.

To Discuss Sewer System

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake City Council is expected to meet next week with officials of Novi village and township to discuss plans for a sewer system to serve the three communities.

Councilmen here last night agreed to schedule the meeting after learning that the sewer plans have received favorable comment from the State Health Department.

The council also was encouraged by word that the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Chicago would consider the project under the federal government's new Public Works Acceleration Act.

The federal government would pay half the cost of the project if it qualified for PWA matching funds.

In response to a letter of intent recently submitted, the Housing and Home Finance Agency has sent letters of application for PWA funds to Walled Lake, Novi Village and Novi Township.

City Clerk Mrs. Shirley J. Ryden said today the State Health Department's letter to engineering consultants indicated that it would approve the sewer plans if certain revisions were made.

Novi City Manager Harold N. Ackley, who also is a Walled Lake city councilman, said he interpreted the letter as meaning the health department "would give its blessing" to the sewer plans subject to changes in several specifications.

The plans were revealed at the Play to Demonstrate Child-Rearing Ways

ORCHARD LAKE — A short play, demonstrating the various types of child rearing commonly practiced by parents, will be presented tomorrow by the Lake-Land Cooperative Nursery mothers.

Entitled "Scattered Showers," the skit will be held at 8 p.m. in the Orchard Lake Community Church, 5171 Commerce Road. It is open to the public.

AREA NEWS

system as a means to drawing more business, industry and home building developments here.

The tentative plans call for a sewer system which would serve about 6,000 persons in the city, village and township.

The joint meeting between officials of the three municipalities is tentatively scheduled for next Tuesday.

$885 United Fund Goal for Addison Township

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — Volunteers for the Addison Township United Foundation Torch Drive will work toward a $885 quota set for the township this year.

Chosen for area chairmen of the drive are Mrs. Clinton Barrett, Mrs. Kenneth Mapletoft, Mrs. James Newton, Mrs. Bruce Sanderson, Mrs. Ray Terry, Donald Hickmott and Robert McCallum.

Discussion Will Feature Elmwood PTA Meeting

AUBURN HEIGHTS — The Elmwood School Parent-Teacher Association will feature a panel discussion at its 7:30 p.m. meeting tomorrow.

"Parents and Teachers as Partners in the Educational Process" will be the evening's topic. A brief question and answer period will follow the discussion.

Put Out Hotel Fire at Oxford Landmark

OXFORD — Despite a brief wait for a 150-car freight train en route to a fire in the old Union House Hotel at Powell and Depot streets, firemen from Oxford and Lake Orion confined the major damage to the basement.

One pumper made it across the tracks before the train reached the crossing.

When the freight cars passed the waiting trucks joined the pumper and the fire fighters were able to extinguish the fire in about half an hour.

Much of the damage resulted from the loss of over 75 per cent of the 100 new car and truck tires stored in the hotel basement, where the fire apparently started.

Hotel owner William Cramer, 40, and his son, Johnny, 17, had left the building about noon, and the fire was discovered shortly after 2 p.m.

A familiar landmark for several generations, the hotel is now unoccupied except for occasional nights when Cramer and his two sons sleep there.

Assistant Fire Chief Ralph Van Wagoner said the fire could have started from spontaneous combustion or careless smoking. There is no electrical wiring and no connected heating unit in the building.

Albert Curtis, traveling agent for the New York Central Railroad, which has a depot across the tracks, first reported the fire after spotting smoke billowing out under the eaves.

In years past, the two-story brick hotel was a stopover place for train passengers and railroad men.

Study Dog Ordinance

The Township Board last night voted to explore the feasibility of establishing an ordinance regulating dogs in the township. The action resulted from a mounting number of complaints regarding stray dogs.

Miss Potere Weds

ROCHESTER — Carolyn Dorothy Potere carried an arrangement of white orchids and ivory on an heirloom wedding fan when she repeated her vows to John Stanley Toepel Saturday morning in St. Andrew's Catholic Church here.

Rev. Thomas Sauter performed the rites.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

William R. Potere, 329 Walnut Blvd., the bride, wore a floor-length gown of silk mist tulle with Gulpure lace outlining the Sabrina neckline, three-quarter-length sleeves and overskirt that swept into a chapel train.

A crown of crystals and pearls held her three-layer, shoulder-length veil.

Mary Anne Potere was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Gretchen A. Everhard and Janice A. BeBaene, both of Rochester, and E. Janet Toepel, Grosse Pointe Woods, sister of the bridegroom.

Best man for the bridegroom who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Toepel of Grosse Pointe Woods, was Michael D. Schrock of Birmingham.

The guests were seated by William R. Potere Jr., brother of the bride, and Jon G. Struthers and Robert Tapert, both of Grosse Pointe.

A buffet brunch was held at the Elks Club here immediately following the 11 a.m. ceremony. Upon their return from a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and the East, the newlyweds will reside in Oak Park.

'Air Theater to Be Built for '64 World's Fair

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 1964 New York World's Fair will have a 600-seat theater suspended in air, it was announced yesterday. The theater, containing a 90-foot golden disk, will be sustained by six steel cables 80 feet high. Plans for the construction of the theater — a part of the Johnson Wax exhibit at the fair — were announced by Howard M. Packard, president of S. C. Johnson & Son, Inc. of Racine, Wis., at ground-breaking ceremonies for the building. More than 125 business firms, have designated sites for their exhibits at the fair. Others include General Motors, Du Pont, American Telephone & Telegraph, Eastman Kodak and General Electric.

Negro Employment by Government Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government reported Tuesday it has sharply increased its employment of Negroes, particularly in middle- and upper-better jobs. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson released figures comparing employment in 33 agencies in June 1962 with a year earlier. They showed employment increased 29,240 to 2,226,607 — an over-all increase of 1.3 per cent — while Negro employment alone increased 10,720 or 3.6 per cent. Johnson said Negroes have not been given special job privileges. Rather, he said, their job gains represent insistence by the present administration that employees be hired, promoted and upgraded on the basis of merit.

Likes Foreign Songs

LONDON (UPI) — The British Songwriters Guild complained today that all of the songs the British Broadcasting Corp. played over the past four years only 32 per cent were written here.

FRISKY'S NOT SO NUTTY — Frisky was a skinny squirrel when Ragan Hall of Nashville, Tenn., found him on a hunting trip two months ago. Hall brought him home, nursed him back to health and took him to the country to turn him loose in his native habitat. But Frisky was waiting for Hall when he returned home. Dawn Elizabeth Hall, 2, doesn't appear too delighted with having him as a constant dinner companion.

Hospital Staff Rejects Union

The first attempt to unionize 594 nonprofessional employees at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital was defeated yesterday by a 381-to-184 vote. The vote was conducted by the Michigan Labor Mediation Board on the hospital premises.

Rejected was an organizing attempt by Public Employees Council No. 77, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO. A spokesman for the hospital called the decision "a statement of trust in the hospital administration."

Local 100 President Sam Baker commented: "We feel the employees have made their decision. "Pay raises, which were granted Oct. 5, quite possibly had something to do with the election. "We'll be back. According to law, Baker said, the union has to wait a year before attempting another recognition vote.

Dem Asks Romney Debate GOP Heads

BAY CITY (UPI) — A public television debate between Republican gubernatorial candidate George Romney and Senate GOP leaders was proposed last night by Democratic Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley. "The debates between Gov. (John B.) Swanson and Romney have been very helpful," Kelley said, "but more should be done to clarify the issues. "The voters of Michigan would, I think, benefit from a face to face public TV debate between Mr. Romney and those who have said 'no' to every program for progress he is now adopting," Kelley said at a Bay County Democratic party dinner.

LONDON (UPI) — The British Songwriters Guild complained today that all of the songs the British Broadcasting Corp. played over the past four years only 32 per cent were written here.

Headly Affair Winds Up a Psychomess

LONDON (AP) — Psychiatrist Robert Lev Moody fell in love with psychiatrist Virginia Wilson in 1951. They married in 1952. Then psychiatrist Moody met psychiatrist Louise Dymond. He fell in love with Louise and deserted Virginia.

Virginia was anxious to help her husband with his problem and promised to give him a divorce. Instead she went to see a psychoanalyst. The analyst said he to change her mind. Dr. Moody filed for divorce and accused his wife of adultery with Eric Francis, who was not a psychiatrist. Mrs. Moody countered with a suit charging unprofessional relations between her husband and psychiatrist Dymond.

Rejecting Moody's petition yesterday, Justice Sir Joseph Buxby Hewson said: "I have little doubt that (Mrs. Moody's) mind was in a very unsettled state. She was deserted by her husband and hoped he might fit of the other woman. "It was her husband's selfishness that broke up the marriage and it was not until two years later that she indulged in any matrimonial offense. She was bewildered. "He granted Mrs. Moody a divorce on grounds of her husband's misconduct."

Vote for JFK, Urges Ike

WARWICK, R. I. (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has endorsed John F. Kennedy. During a brief stopover here yesterday Eisenhower supported Rhode Island's John F. Kennedy. A Republican candidate for Congress from the 2nd District and not related to the President, Eisenhower said "this John F. Kennedy is one Kennedy I would vote for."

Japanese Leader Against U. S. Ties

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese left-wing labor leader said today Japan's wage levels are far below those in Europe because of what he called his country's excessive economic and military dependence on the United States. Akira Iwai, secretary-general of Japan's 3.5-million member Sohyo Labor Federation, made the statement in welcoming delegates from 11 Asian countries to a regional meeting of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions (ICTFU).

Iwai advocated closer Japanese ties with African, Asian and Communist countries. Scientist Succumbs OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Dr. Arvid E. Hansen, 63, pediatrician and research scientist, died Tuesday. He had taught at the University of Minnesota in the 1920s and 1930s and became director of research at the Bruce Lyon Memorial Research Laboratory, Children's Hospital of the East Bay in Oakland, in 1959.

Man Sentenced in Holdup Case

Witness Gets 3 Years Probation for Part

Chief prosecution witness in the trial of four men in the Jan. 4 holdup of a Waterford Township gas station was sentenced yesterday to three-years' probation for his part in the robbery.

Robert Murphy, 23, of Rochester, had pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy to commit armed robbery. He was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams.

Assistant Prosecutor Robert Temples said Murphy may be permitted to serve his probation in another state because he has been threatened.

Murphy's testimony comprised the bulk of the state's case against Jack V. Young, 31, formerly of Pontiac, and Charles R. Thomas, 26, Marion Duplissey, 38, and Robert Sharron, 37, all of Flint, who were convicted Oct. 6 in the $3,750 robbery of the Cavalier Gas Station, 4900 Dixie Highway.

Young, Thomas and Duplissey were found guilty of armed robbery and conspiracy. Sharron was convicted of conspiracy. They will be sentenced next Tuesday.

Murphy testified that Young planned the robbery and drove the getaway car. He said Sharron procured Thomas and Duplissey to commit the holdup.

Murphy said he, serving as a lookout, went into a bar and gave Young a signal to go out and drive the getaway car after Thomas Duplissey climbed into the car's trunk with the loot.

Old Player Piano Sounds Pretty Terrific to Us

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — A piano tuner checking an old up-right player piano Tuesday for rebuilding found nearly $10,000 hidden in it. The discovery was by Wilford Tull of Kokomo, Ind., a tuner for the Ramseyer Piano Co.

The old piano had been taken in trade last week by the store. The cache contained 99,950 in $5, $10, $20 and $100 bills, plus old coins, silver dollars and jewelry. The company notified the piano's former owner, then sent the treasure to a bank for safekeeping.

Ribicoff Foresees Negro President

CHICAGO (UPI) — Abraham Ribicoff, former health, education and welfare secretary, has said he believes "a Negro can be president of the United States." In an interview published in Jet, a national Negro news magazine, Ribicoff said "as Kennedy broke the traditional barrier against a Catholic becoming president, the day could come when a Negro could occupy the White House."

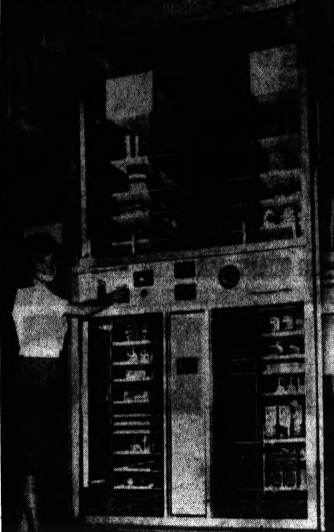

Ribicoff, who left Kennedy's cabinet to run for the U.S. Senate in Connecticut, said he did so because he felt he could do more for civil rights as a senator.

To Join Race of Elephants

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Six members of the University of Washington "Elephant Racing Club" will compete in an elephant derby here Oct. 26. The University of Michigan homecoming committee says. Washington, the University of Illinois and Adams State College of Alamosa, Colo., are the out-of-state entries in the U. of M. race homecoming weekend. The competitors will ride rented elephants.

4,001 Suits Seen New Record for Navy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sean Edward C. Jolly, 21, of Prosser, Neb., a crewman aboard the submarine Roquell, may be the fastest sailor in the whole U.S. Navy. During his quarterly fitness test, Jolly did 4,001 situps in three hours and one minute. The Navy is checking whether he can officially claim the all-Navy record for consecutive situps.

AUTOMATIC STORE IS HERE — This miniature grocery store that provides after-hours delivery of staple groceries and refrigerated foods in exchange for coins is displayed for the first time in the United States at the Automatic Merchandising Convention in San Francisco. The nine-foot high machine, which dispenses up to 374 items, is under production in Frankfurt, West Germany. Electronically controlled elevators bring the purchase to a single delivery window.

Report Imam Still Living

Said Leading Fight; Yemen Confusion Up

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Broadcasts reporting that de-throned Imam Mohammad Al-Badr is still alive and carrying on the fight multiplied the confusion today over the future of Yemen.

The pro-royalist Amman radio in Jordan said Badr is "leading" the "last traces" of royalist resistance to the republic. It claimed Sept. 26, Rebel leaders had said Badr was killed in a shelling of his palace, but they never produced the body.

Meanwhile, the revolutionary regime claimed to have wiped out the "last traces" of royalist resistance to the republic. It claimed Sept. 26, Rebel leaders had said Badr was killed in a shelling of his palace, but they never produced the body.

Dispatch Messages Mecca radio, controlled by the pro-royalist Saudi Arabian government, said Badr had dispatched messages proclaiming himself still ruler and had called for an emergency session of the Arab League Council to "study the dangerous results of this insurrection."

Amman radio said Badr sent telegrams to all Yemeni legations abroad informing them he had set up his headquarters near Hajjah, a town 70 miles northwest of Sanaa. The broadcast said he had taken over command from his uncle, Prince Safi al-Islam al-Hassani, chief Yemeni delegate to the United Nations, who had rushed back to claim the title after the revolution.

Belief That Badr Had Survived Mounted after even the Cairo radio broadcast a report Tuesday night that he is alive.

The Sanaa radio said revolutionary troops captured Sada, the chief town in northern Yemen, and forced royalists to flee into Saudi Arabian territory. The revolutionaries also claimed the capture of Marib fortress about 120 miles east of Sanaa.

David Lancashire of The Associated Press reported from Sanaa that the city was jammed with sheikhs and tribesmen, daggers in their belts and rifles in hand, who had arrived to acclaim the new republic.

Mrs. FDR Reported in 'Good Condition'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was reported in "good condition" today at Columbia — Presbyterian Medical Center, where she has been hospitalized since Sept. 26 with a lung infection. The former first lady, 78, was "cheerful and active" yesterday, reading some of the messages of encouragement she has received.

Lay Blame for Turmoil in Dixie

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two Pulitzer Prize-winning southern journalists have blamed various groups and public leaders for much of the racial desegregation problem in Dixie.

Ralph McGill, publisher of the Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution, and Harry Ashmore, former executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette, Little Rock, spoke last night to the Chicago Headline Club.

"The real crime against Mississippi has been the White Citizens' Council," McGill said. McGill said the council, through "thought control and economic coercion," helped stir up the crisis over Negro James Meredith's enrollment at the University of Mississippi.

He compared the group's activities in influencing faculty members and persons in small rural towns to those of the Nazi Gestapo.

"The spotlight is irrevocably focused on Alabama and South Carolina," he said.

McGill said citizens in Alabama may have to decide by January, and in South Carolina by next September, whether to back pledges made by their state governments to defy federal authority.

"What will the clergy, the businessmen, the newspapers in those two states do now?" he asked.

Ashmore, now editor-in-chief of the Encyclopedia Britannica, said, "The South doesn't think anymore. It just feels."

"I think you have to look upon the participants in Mississippi with compassion," he said. "They've been betrayed by public men who incited them and other public leaders who stayed silent or even ran away." Ashmore said he thought Oxford, Miss., near the university, "is the last organized gas of resistance to federal authority."

Posies Smell a Bit Fishy

NEW YORK (AP) — A rose by any other name would still smell as sweet to longshoremen here unless it was a "Red" rose. Such was the case Tuesday when a shipment of artificial flowers arrived in port aboard the S. S. American Merchant, and longshoremen learned the flowers had been manufactured in Communist East Germany.

The dock workers refused to unload the eight crates.

Italian Happy at News as Wife Wins $150,000

NEW YORK (AP) — The Italian liner Leonardo da Vinci left for Naples Tuesday with 1,000 passengers and one of the happiest seamen who ever sailed the seas. The seaman, 40-year-old Giovanni Sequino, had just been informed by transatlantic telephone that his wife won $150,000 in an Italian government soccer pool.

World's Fair to Display the Dead Sea Scrolls

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Dead Sea scrolls will be exhibited at the Jordanian pavilion of the 1964-65 New York World's Fair, it was announced yesterday.

The scrolls, to be drawn from museums in Jordan, are writings on parchment and copper of an ancient sect known as the Essenes.

Communists Chipping Away at Freedom in West Berlin

BERLIN (U) — The United States and its allies will do all they can to keep road, rail and air routes open to West Berlin — but getting through the wall into Red-ruled East Berlin is a different matter. West Berlin, 110 miles inside Communist territory, must get its supplies from the West. People living here want the right to move in and out freely. That is what is meant by the catchwords of "viability" and "free access."

On the other hand, the Allies claim the freedom to move into East Berlin as a matter of right but it's a freedom that's full of holes already, and may disappear any day.

The United States sent in tanks to back up its rights. The Soviets brought in tanks of their own. That was hailed as a victory for the West because it showed the Soviets were still responsible for Berlin, but the Communists won the point about identification.

The U.S. command simply ordered American civilians not to drive over in official cars.

The right disappeared for Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, the U.S. commandant in Berlin, 1st March. The Communists barred him after he had barred the Soviet commandant from the U.S. sector.

For western military vehicles the freedom began to disappear Oct. 4 — the day border guards blocked a British ambulance from going to aid a West Berliner shot on the Communist side of the wall. The West protested, but that was all.

MANY CROSS OVER

Other U.S., British and French military cars still drive through West Berlin. Soldiers in uniform still stroll freely across the line.

Busloads of tourists make regular circuits every day. Visitors from West Germany go in on foot, by car, in subway and elevated trains, to rendezvous with friends and relatives on the East.

But all this is on Communist territory. The only way you can reach East Berlin from the West is through West Berlin. To emphasize their control of East Berlin, East German border guards make close checks of all civilians.

They insist on inspecting passports, search cars and make visitors sign a statement of all money and valuables they bring in.

The western nations feel they can do nothing about this. They have had no real power in East Berlin since 1949.

Some people wonder why the Communists don't take a few more slices off the Berlin cake. They could bar western military traffic entirely from East Berlin, or require foreign visitors to get visas in advance. These developments are often predicted.

The Soviets may be holding back because they fear western reprisals. The West could prevent the Soviets from coming to West Berlin to guard their war memorial or the Nazi war criminals in Spandau Prison.

The Soviets could counter by pulling their representative out of the Berlin Air Safety Center (BASC), which is also in West Berlin. The West does not want that to happen.

Any change at air center would affect what the West considers the truly vital point — free access to West Berlin, with the accent of the "West."

Oriental's Wife Arrives in America After 42 Years

FLINT (U) — Forty-two years ago, Ning Yee left his ancestral home near Canton, China, and came to the United States, seeking opportunity and wealth.

When he had established himself, he planned to send for his wife of two years, Sen Koon Wong Yee.

Last month she came.

As part of the emergency program for relief of Chinese refugees, which went into effect last May, she was flown here from Hong Kong to live with her husband and son.

Two things frustrated Yee's efforts to bring his wife and children to this country. The first was the immigration quota law of 1924, which limited annual immigration of Chinese to a total of 100.

The second, and more formidable, obstacle was lack of funds.

Yee established a laundry in Cincinnati shortly after his arrival. He soon accumulated enough money to bring his wife over, but decided to wait until his two children also could come.

He lost his business in the depression, however, and returned to China with the money he had left. He found it hard to readjust to the old ways and decided to return to America and try again.

When he left China for the second time his wife was pregnant with their second daughter.

Yee bought a laundry in Detroit. After World War II he was joined by his son, Kim Heng Yee, and the two came to Flint and opened a laundry.

In 1962 his wife and family fled the Communists and escaped to Hong Kong. Still unable to bring them here, he again returned across the Pacific.

He stayed there two-and-a-half years. But prices were high and jobs scarce so he returned to the United States, still confident that somehow his family would sometime be united.

LONG WAIT ENDS

Last May the 42 years of waiting ended and President Kennedy announced the United States would temporarily suspend its immigration laws for Chinese refugees to ease the Hong Kong refugee problem.

Mrs. Yee was chosen for the program but not her two daughters, daughter-in-law or grandchildren.

Now, three of the Yees are together again. But on a small board near Yee's desk are six photographs of members of his family remaining in Hong Kong.

Yee doesn't know for sure when they will come but he is confident that they will in due time.

Mound Staff Carried Yankees to World Series Championship

Sue Welch Is World Champion

Sue Welch of Union Lake is winning home two International Figure Skating Championships with her from Australia.

The pretty 18-year-old Michigan State University Oakland sophomore won the women's singles figures championship and teamed with Pontiac Rolladum teammate Dave Schafer and a pair from Texas to win the four crown this week at Brisbane.

Miss Welch and Schafer, from Detroit, placed second in pairs competition and fourth in dance. They placed second in the National pairs championship this year to earn the Australian trip.

Sue has won state and national honors in the five competitive classes in the International meet—figures, fours, pairs, dance and singles freestyle.

"This is one of the reasons she was selected for the United States team," said her mother, Mrs. Elsie Welch. "In order to compete in the International skater must have all-around ability."

Miss Welch placed fourth in freestyle. Schafer was second in men's freestyle. Schafer was second in men's freestyle and figures. Before returning home, the U.S. team will join other International competitors on a tour of the South Pacific and Far East.

Berne Pentathlon Site

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Berne, Switzerland, has been chosen as the site for the next world modern pentathlon championship to be held in September and October of 1963.

WORLD CHAMPION — Sue Welch of Union Lake is held aloft by Dave Schafer of Detroit after winning the World's Figures Roller Skating Championship this week in Australia. The Pontiac-Rolladum pair then teamed with a pair from Texas to win the World's Fours Championship.

New York Sluggers Checked by Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The New York Yankees, famed for their slugging heroics from the days of Babe Ruth to Mickey Vernon, Roger Maris and Co., won the 1962 World Series on pitching—and pitching alone.

While the hitters, for the most part, played dead, the pitchers—all who toiled in the seven-game series with the San Francisco Giants—were magnificent. So were those of the Giants, who put up a valiant struggle, grudgingly going down to defeat but not until they had the tying run on third and the winning run on second with two out in the ninth inning of the seventh game.

The most magnificent pitcher of all was Ralph Terry, who had been living under a cloud ever since he became the "goat" of the 1960 World Series when he threw a series winning home run to Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski in the ninth inning of the final game.

SAME FOE

Terry started three games. He pitched strongly in the second, losing 2-8. He pitched a shutout in the fifth game, winning 5-3. Tuesday, the 26-year-old right-hander was superb, limiting the Giants to four hits and winning 1-0. Jack Sanford, Terry's mound opponent in all three games, was the victim of the heart-breaking defeat. "This has to be the best game Terry has ever pitched," said Yankee Manager Ralph Houk, who set some kind of a record by leading a team to a world championship in each of his first two years as a major league pilot.

Terry Reaches Top of Road

Yankee Ace Trying to Forget 'Goat'

SAN FRANCISCO (U) — Big Cablin, Okla., is down the road from Chelsea, and they are both a long way from the top of the baseball world.

Along the road, as Ralph Terry, the New York Yankee right-hander has traveled it, there have been some bumps, including a serious auto accident, some heights and one terrible depression.

The high point of the road was reached in Candlestick Park yesterday as a line drive off the bat of Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants rocketed into the glove of Yankee second baseman Bobby Richardson for the final out in the seventh game of the 1962 World Series.

A foot not a foot, and . . . but it was not a foot either way, and the Yankees won the game 1-0, and the World Series 4-3.

"He hit a good pitch good," Terry said. "The rest was in somebody else's hands."

"I was lucky."

Terry is 26. He is a shy, almost frail man. His looks belie his listed 6-foot-3 inches and 180 pounds. He has wavy brown hair, a thin, handsome face and a jutting chin.

DAZZED SMILE

He sat in his dressing cubicle in the Yankee dressing room, tilted back against the wall, his head thrown back, a dazed smile on his face.

In 1959, Terry was traded to the Yankees after two losing seasons with Kansas City. In 1960, he compiled a 10-8 record, but wound up with a "goat" label when Bill Mazeroski's homer beat the Yankees in the series.

Working in relief Terry threw two pitches in the bottom of the ninth inning of the seventh game of that series, and mazzeroski hit the second one for a home run that won for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Terry snapped back from that terrible moment, and went on to win 23 games, high in the league, for the Yankees this season.

"I have never seen him with better control. He didn't walk a single batter and he had three balls on only one hitter. I don't think he made more than three or four bad pitches all day."

Terry agreed that he had never pitched better in his life.

'GREATEST GAME'

"I had a one-hitter against the Yankees when I was with Kansas City," the 6-3, 180-pound Oklahoma man recalled. "And I once beat Camillo Pascual 2-0 in 13 innings in Washington, but this is the greatest game I have ever pitched."

Terry, relying mainly on a fast ball and slider, plus near perfect control, easily disposed of the first 17 batters he faced. Memories of Don Larsen's perfect game in the 1956 World Series for the Yankees must have been in the minds of the 42,948 Candlestick Park spectators at that time.

Terry thought of it, too, but his dream was shattered when Sanford lined a single to right center with two out in the sixth inning. The Yankees, in the meantime, had taken a 1-0 lead and it took double play to bring the run home. The all-important score came in the fifth. Singles by Bill Skowron and Cleve Boyer put runners on first and third with none out. Sanford, pitching carefully to Terry, walked the pitcher on four balls, filling the bases.

WINNING RUN

Sanford, who had blanked the Yankees on three hits in the second game and yielded only six hits while losing the fifth game, almost pitched himself out of the jam. He induced Tony Kubek to bounce into a double and the run home. Sanford crossed the plate and relayed Bobby Richardson on a foul pop to Orlando Cepeda.

Terry made the run stand up, never permitting the Giants to put two men on base in any inning. He induced Maris and a line relay from Maris to Richardson to the plate held Alou on third. McCovey's line drive to Richardson ended the game and gave Terry his second series victory.

Sanford and Billy O'Dell, who hurled the last three innings, held the Yankees to seven hits, all singles. Mickey Mantle, who had gone hitless 13 straight times, got one of these hits, only his third in 25 official times at bat.

The Yankees had a team batting average of .199 and hit only three home runs. The Giants batted .226 with five home runs. Obviously, it was a pitchers' series.

It was the Yankees' 20th championship in 27 World Series since they won their first pennant in 1921. It also marked their fifth World Series triumph over the Giants, who haven't beaten them since 1922. The Giants also won from the Yankees in 1921, their first defeat.

No Wrestling Friday

There will be no wrestling at the Pontiac Armory this Friday according to promoter Paul Parks.

Parks said wrestling would be resumed next Friday, October 26th.

Plenty of Money Prizes to Be Awarded

Big Features in Bowlerama

There will be plenty of chances for bowlers in all average categories to walk off with one or more of the hundreds of prizes which will be featured in this year's Pontiac Press Bowlerama, running for four weeks in December.

The Bowlerama, which will be the largest in its 6-year history, has been received with keen interest in all parts of the county, because of the many opportunities for handicap and top money prizes to share in the big prize list.

These are some of the features of the 1962 Bowlerama:

- Qualifying will be held in six establishments. The top qualifiers in each house, with handicap score, will be awarded a trophy and $10. Ten dollars will also go to the high actual game and high actual series in each qualifying house, and 12 1/2% of each house will enter the finals. Everyone entering the finals is awarded at least $15 and should the entry list go over 2,000, each bowler going into the finals is certain of getting at least $20.
- Each bowling establishment will be permitted to name five bowlers who will represent them for the big "house trophy." The bowlers named DO NOT bowl as a team. They bowl at any qualifying house they want and the first actual series score in the qualifying rounds will be counted. The five actual scores of the house they represent will be totaled and the best house total is the winner. Each member of the team will receive a cash award, plus the big trophy for their house.

- The Actual's Invitational will draw the top bowlers without an additional entry fee. Those invited will be on the basis of average, actual series score in the qualifying, plus the Bowlerama champion and runner up. The Actual's bowlers will pay only their bowling cost and expense fee. They will bowl three games, after which the top 15 will go on another three games. Each one of these 15 is assured of a prize, plus a crack at $100 and a trophy.

- Upon completion of the Bowlerama handicap and the Actual's tournament, the champion of each will be pitted against each other in three more games in a featured singles match for an additional monetary prize.

- Any bowler who rolls a triplicate will receive $5 for each score in the triplicate. This means $15. If he does it in qualifying and then goes to the finals, he will receive $5 more for each same score as his triplicate.
- Following the tournament, the evening of the final December 23rd at Airway Lanes, the top listed bowlers in the Bowlerama Handicap and Actuals, will be guests of The Press at an awards banquet. All other checks will be mailed to the bowlers. Each top winner will also receive a large 11 X14 championship photo from The Press.

Bowling forms have been distributed to all alleys in Oakland County. All bowlers residing in the county, or those outside the county who bowl in an Oakland establishment are eligible.

Top Punt Return Man in NFL

Lions' Studstill Leads

NEW YORK (UPI) — Detroit's Pat Studstill took over the No. 1 spot as the National Football League's top punt returner in statistics released by the NFL today.

Studstill has returned eight punts for 117 yards and a 14.5-yard average.

The only other Detroit Lions' player leading an individual category was Yale Lary who remained on top as the NFL's top kicker. Lary has booted 17 times for a 48.9-yard average.

Several other Detroit players were among the leaders in offensive statistics.

Milt Plum, the league's leading passer most of the season, was in third place behind Dallas' Eddie LeBaron and Green Bay's Bart Starr in the NFL's complicated rating system. Plum has completed 81 passes in 135 attempts for a 60 per cent average and 1,048 yards. His record includes nine touchdown throws. LeBaron has 68.2 per cent average and Starr 64.2.

The league's leading scorers were:

'Played Great All Year'

Proud Dark Sees No Big Changes

SAN FRANCISCO (U) — One day after the World Series ended and Manager Alvin Dark of the San Francisco Giants already is looking ahead to 1963.

"I'm as proud as I can be of the Giants, they played great all year," the skipper declared of his crew that wasn't beaten until the final out in the ninth inning of the seventh World Series game. "They played great."

"If a ball club is good enough to win the pennant, I don't see need for any major changes."

Alvin also wouldn't use any different strategy if he had Tuesday's 1-0 game to replay, explaining, "You'd go crazy if you second-guess yourself in baseball."

TWO FEET

Yet a matter of a couple feet in two instances meant the difference between victory and defeat in the finale.

In the seventh inning, the Yankees' Tom Tresh just grabbed a Willie Mays liner to left tickled for a double before Willie McCovey slammed a triple to center. And in the ninth with runners on second and third and two out, McCovey's line drive went right at second baseman Bobby Richardson.

"That's as hard a line drive as a guy can hit," Dark commented in the quiet Giant clubhouse.

KEY PLAY IN SERIES — This is the key play that might have changed the complexion of the seventh and final World Series game yesterday in Candlestick Park. Giants' Willie Mays doubled to right where Roger Maris of the Yankees fielded it and made a perfect throw to second baseman Bobby Richardson behind first base, who relayed the ball to catcher Elston Howard. Matty Alou, who was on first, was flagged down at third by coach Whitey Lockman because of the perfect New York fielding. The Yanks won, 1-0.

"You can't hit one harder than that."

ROLLED FOUL

As the "ifs" were recounted, there was the bunt by Chuck Hillier in the ninth that rolled foul. If it had stayed fair, the Giants would have had Matty Alou on second when Mays doubled. Or if losing pitcher Jack Sanford hadn't walked opposing pitcher Ralph Terry in the fifth, the Yankees might not have had their run. Sanford had struck out Terry six of the seven times he faced him this series, but threw four straight balls this time.

Sanford and Billy O'Dell, who hurled the last three innings, held the Yankees to seven hits, all singles. Mickey Mantle, who had gone hitless 13 straight times, got one of these hits, only his third in 25 official times at bat.

The Yankees had a team batting average of .199 and hit only three home runs. The Giants batted .226 with five home runs. Obviously, it was a pitchers' series.

It was the Yankees' 20th championship in 27 World Series since they won their first pennant in 1921. It also marked their fifth World Series triumph over the Giants, who haven't beaten them since 1922. The Giants also won from the Yankees in 1921, their first defeat.

Milford, Cranes Win in Clarenceville Meet

Milford tied with Thurston last night in the Clarenceville Invitational for first place honors with 63 points.

Bloomfield Hills star thincad, Bob Richard, set the pace for two-mile course finishing first in 10.43.

John Heurbeise of Milford was second in 10:43 to lead the Milford aggregation which took 6th, 7th, 18th and 20th respectively.

The Redskin runners were Harold Fought, Bill Nelson, Ron Hardy and Tom Needham in finishing order.

It was Nelson's first meet after being sidelined for eight days with a concussion.

CRANES WIN

In the Class B runoffs Cranbrook took home the trophy with 29 points and Howell placed second with 42.

Craig Woodstock of the runners won the race in 10:53. Milford, unbeaten in dual meet competition for two seasons will be the top contender in the Wayne-Oakland League meet next Wednesday to be held on the Milford course.

Clarenceville and Bloomfield Hills will also be top contenders. The performance of Hills' runners Richards and Tom Hoopengardner may well mean the difference.

Richards and Hoopengardner have turned in outstanding individual races all season but lack the necessary team backing.

The performances turned in by these two boys and Milford's Heurbeise may well mean a win or loss for the schools.

Eleven teams competed in the Clarenceville meet with a total of 77 runners.

Pistons Lose to LA Lakers

NEW YORK (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers grabbed an early lead and led the rest of the way as they trounced the Detroit Pistons last night in the opener of the National Basketball association.

Los Angeles, NBA defending western division champion, was led by Elgin Baylor and Jerry West who combined their talents for 65 points. Baylor got 30 of them.

Detroit, trailing 91-80 after third period, tried for a fourth quarter rally but Baylor dropped in 19 of his points in this period to settle the issue.

Ray Scott led Detroit with 37 points for high scoring honors. Pistons Bailey Howell missed the game because of flu.

GETTING LOWDOWN — Youngsters registering for the Punt, Pass and Kick contest get the lowdown from veteran Detroit Lions' punter Yale Lary a visitor to the McAuliffe Auto dealership on Oakland recently.

Olympic Bid Faced With Several Ifs

CHICAGO (UPI) — For the third time since 1956 Detroit has been designated as the U.S. Olympic Committee's choice as the site for the summer Olympic games—this time for the year 1968.

But before the Motor City can get the right stage the games it must overcome a lot of "ifs."

—If it can overcome a tradition whereby two out of every three games are held in Europe.

—If it can provide facilities necessary for the staging of the games.

—And if it can persuade the International Olympic Committee meeting at Nairobi, Kenya, on Oct. 13, 1963, to pick Detroit.

Detroit has been bidding for the Olympics since 1939 and only twice previously has it been named as the U.S. choice.

The last Olympics held in the United States were in 1932 at Los Angeles.

Detroit nearly got the nod for 1964 when it dazzled the Olympic Committee with an offer to pay the fares of all the participants to the games providing the games were staged in the Motor City.

PREWAR CHOICE

But Tokyo, which had been picked as the site prior to the outbreak of World War II, was named as the committee's choice for 1964.

The Olympics were cancelled during the war years and Tokyo subsequently lost its right to stage the games for the first time in Japan.

Among the contenders for the 1968 Olympics are Russia, Switzerland, Austria, France and Argentina.

In yesterday's balloting for the U.S. city to carry the colors to the international meeting, Detroit was the choice of the 42-man board by a 2-1 margin.

Frederick C. Matthea, head of Detroit's five-man Olympic committee, made the plea for the Motor City.

—He pointed out that Detroit could use the 146-acre Michigan state fair grounds and its planned 100,000-seat stadium for the Olympics.

He cited Detroit's new civic center with Cobo Hall and the Convention Arena, Olympia Stadium, Tiger Stadium, the University of Detroit stadium and fieldhouse, and Rouge Park's Brennan Pool, built to Olympic standards and frequent site of U.S. Olympic trials.

Matthea listed Detroit's centrally located position, the city's accessibility by land, sea and air routes, the abundance of open water and the founding of new expressways.

Housing of the athletes would be provided through Wayne State University's new university city development—with a planned housing capacity of 10,000.

MAY HELP

It was hoped that the city's many facilities could overcome the two-for-one tradition favoring Europe. Three of the last five Olympics (including the 1960 Olympics at Tokyo) have been held in Europe.

Lake Placid, N. Y., site of the 1932 winter Olympic games, was the U.S. committee's choice for 1968.

Tide Meets Tennessee

Alabama Faces Grid Jinx

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant brings his Alabama football team here Saturday with high hopes of overcoming an old jinx—beating Tennessee on its home field.

Bryant has brought six teams to Knoxville and he's still seeking his first victory. During his Kentucky tenure he made four trips and emerged with two losses and two ties. Since going to Alabama in 1958 he has been here twice and lost both times.

In fact, Tennessee's 20-7 victory in 1960 was the last setback for Alabama, the nation's No. 2 team in the Associated Press poll.

Since that time, Alabama has won 2 regular season games, captured the 1961 national championship, tied Texas 3-3 in the 1960 Bluebonnet Bowl, and whipped Arkansas, 1-3, in the Sugar Bowl last January.

FAVORABLE SIGNS

All signs augur well for Bryant to end the jinx.

Tennessee is off to its poorest start in 53 years with successive losses to Auburn, 21-22; Mississippi State, 6-7; and Georgia Tech, 0-17. The Volunteers dropped six in a row in 1960.

Despite its loss to Tech, Tennessee showed signs of jelling as a team and should be able to put up quite a battle against the Crimson Tide. Alabama is rated a two-touchdown favorite.

Tennessee has been plagued by a leaky pass defense and lack of a scoring punch. Three opponents have completed 3 of 63 tosses against the Vols for 508 yards and three touchdowns.

"Our pass defense looked better against Tech," said Coach Bowen Wyatt. "We hope it will continue to improve."

The game will be televised regionally by CBS.

The Little Gridmen

By DICK POINTON

The long term carry over value gained by the kids who participate in such activities as little league baseball and competitive swimming has proven essential in providing a stockpile of good athletes on the high school level.

The young athlete who has participated in the little league programs has a definite advantage over the non-participant.

By the time he reaches the ripe old age of 14 or 15 and competes in such activities as football he already is an old pro, sometimes having as many as five years of competitive experience behind him.

Football for the younger set is also following this trend.

Originally, participants on the gridiron were found at the very youngest as high school freshmen.

A serious lack of depth and interest, however, opened the doors to a whole new group of enthusiasts of junior high age.

This move proved successful in giving the high schools their needed boost and a full scale exploitation of the younger set for their athletic abilities and energies began.

It was discovered that when working with the young players, coaches should teach him the motor skills and molding a sportsmanlike attitude was easier.

In this way a dual purpose was being fulfilled, the participants were getting a healthful moral and physical foundation.

'68 PONTIAC'S LIST

Organized in 1946 a grid football Pontiac dates back to 1946 but it was not until 1949 at Wisner Stadium that the first formal Midland football exhibition took place.

The early program was sponsored by the City Recreation Department and promoted by several Detroit athletes and coaches from the Red Wings and Lions.

Present Lion mentor George Wilson, then an end coach, was among the visiting coaching staff.

ALL-STAR NIGHT

This coming Wednesday, Oct. 24, at 6 p.m. Wisner Stadium will host an All-Star night similar to this first exhibition.

It is co-sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department. Tickets for the spectacle are 25 cents per student and 50 cents for adults. Profits will go into the Pontiac Youth Activity fund.

PUNT, PASS AND KICK

Encouraged by such contests as the Punt, Pass and Kick competitions sponsored annually by the NFL and Ford Motor Company, the idea of having an eight-year-old son don a football uniform for daily practice is catching on the length and breadth of the nation.

This national contest stresses the fundamentals of handling the pigskin.

The competition is locally sponsored by John McAuliffe and the Optimist Club.

Clinics are being held for the contestants Oct. 26, at 1 p.m. on the Eastern Junior High School football field and Oct. 27, at 10 a.m. at Jaycee Field.

Waterford and Clarkston will be the scene of other area clinics held on the 20th.

ALL-AMERICAN ACTION

In the All-American Little Football League last weekend The Suburban Boy's Club Little League with an additional 91 points for a two-day total of 198.

His son, Billy, moved into second place with 66 points for a total of 128. Joe Kreiger Jr., Tulsa, last year's champion, dropped to third with 128. Points are awarded on the number, size and species of fish caught.

The 56 men and 12 women in the contest caught 472 fish from Lake Eucha for a two-day total of 1,191—more than were caught during the six days of competition last year.

Others and their scores were Glen Andrews, Lampe, Mo., 116; Jim Rogers, Lamar, Mo., 83; J. P. Gregory, Tulsa, 78; Doug Falconer, Vinita, Okla., 77; Dale Probst, Hickory, N.C., 67; and Dick Ahlers, Ramsey, N.J., and Roy Martin, Panama City, Fla., both 66.

The contest moves Wednesday to Lake Tenkiller near Tahlequah, Okla.

to the Royal Oak Yankee Warriors at the Yankee Field.

The Beavers took Highland Park North Sunday at 1 p.m.

WATERFORD LEAGUE

In the Waterford Township Recreation Department Boys' League sixth grader Steve Golt scored his fifth TD of the season pacing Waterford Center over the defending champion Copley Blue Devils, 28-6.

Burt Lutes' 91 runnerup Rams and the Waterford Village Wildcats won their second straight to match Waterford Center's mark.

The Vikings copped a pair of triumphs to boost their record to 3-0-1. Jeff Ballard topped scorers for the day with a 4-TD barrage in the Haviland Hornets' 34-0 whitewashing of the Waterford Village Panthers.

PONTIAC PEE WEE

In an exciting Pontiac Pee Wee League game Saturday the Bobcats won their fourth consecutive grid skirmish defeating the Lakers, 26-13.

Mike Sheldon put on quite a show for the 150 spectators, chalking up three 6-pointers, two on runs of 30 and 40 yards. Steve Lohf scored the 4th.

Other League game results saw the Packers down the 58ers 34-7, and the Colts emerge 23-0 over the Hornets.

October 20th the 3rd place Lakers meet the 2nd place Bobcats, the 58ers engage the 1st place Hornets and the league leading Bobcats with 4 wins and no losses will try for No. 5 against the Colts.

Yank Steals Gun Glory From Reds

CAIRO (AP)—With only five votes to go, Russia today had won three times as many gold medals as its nearest competitor in the World Shooting championships but the experts were buzzing about the fine performance of a young American.

It is co-sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department. Tickets for the spectacle are 25 cents per student and 50 cents for adults. Profits will go into the Pontiac Youth Activity fund.

"I hope to compete for the United States in the 1964 Olympics," the unassuming Anderson said, pointing out that he has been breaking world records regularly in practice.

"You can't hope to break world records in competition if you can't do it in practice," he shrugged.

He is entered in three three-revolver, large bore rifle events and has high hopes of winning and adding to the United States' bag of four gold medals.

The United States is second to the Russians, who have a harvest of 12 gold medals, seven silver and two bronze. In addition to their four gold medals, Anderson and his teammates have won seven silver and five bronze medals.

The Soviets won two individual and two team titles Tuesday with the United States second in all four events.

Father, Son Lead Fishing

JAY, Okla. (AP)—Virgil Ward of Amsterdam, Mo., retained his hold on first place in the World Series of Sport Fishing Tuesday with an additional 91 points for a two-day total of 198.

His son, Billy, moved into second place with 66 points for a total of 128. Joe Kreiger Jr., Tulsa, last year's champion, dropped to third with 128. Points are awarded on the number, size and species of fish caught.

Tresh Receives Houk's Praise on Big Catch

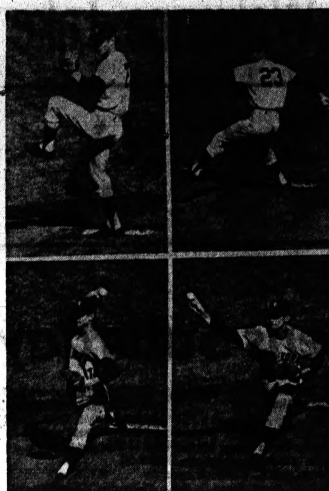

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Virtually overlooked in the final Yankee dressing room after the New Yorkers had won the World Series Tuesday by beating the Giants 4-3 was rookie outfielder Tom Tresh.

But while pitcher Ralph Terry was spotted by reporters Ralph Houk, Yankee manager, gave credit to his star rookie.

"His catch on Willie Mays in the seventh inning saved the game," Houk said.

The catch probably will go down as one of the best in series history. Tresh raced into the left field corner to snare Willie's drive and turned into an out what appeared to be a sure two-bagger. Willie McCovey followed with a triple, but he was left stranded.

AMOROS, TOO
Tresh's catch was somewhat similar to Sandy Amoros' in the left field corner at Yankee Stadium in the seventh game of the 1955 World Series and helped bring the Dodgers their first World Series triumph. They won the game 3-0 behind southpaw Johnny Podres.

Extra Points Help Laker End Reach First Place

Helmreich Gains County Scoring Lead

Everyone in the top five positions in the West Bloomfield end Dave Helmreich this week as he advanced from 5th place to command the lead in the Oakland County Individual scoring race.

His 58 points put him 4 ahead of Royal Oak Shrine quarterback Chuck Lowther who has led the pack twice so far.

Helmreich's extra point kicking has proved deadly to Laker opponents. He has made 18 PATs so far in five games.

The Bloomfield ace sent the penguins flying between the goal post four times against Brighton Friday in a scoring rampage that netted him 18 points and shot him into this week's No. 1 spot.

It's Lowther's third time in second place.

Clayton back Brodie Burton is controlling the third position for the second straight time with an 8 touchdown, two PAT, 50 point total.

Helmreich's advancement sent

Romeo ace John Hanley has jumped well into the area lead with 55 points.

The closest competition for honors is coming from Capex Ken Adamaki who is three TDs behind.

John Thomas, Wallied Lake star, has moved into 8th place leading a new group into the top 21 including Mike Ball of Avondale, Rochester's Carl Stefanek, Dondro back Gary McKee, Waterford's Tom Grille and Oxford's Barry Wheeler.

They follow the Viking scorer in the 12th, 14th, 15th, and 17th places respectively.

After a scoreless weekend Bob Werner of Ferndale St. James has fallen from 9th to 21st.

Dodgers to Make Announcement

Alston May Know Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Disclosure that the Dodgers plan "an announcement of importance" today had many of their fans in the post-season posture of sitting on the edge of their chairs.

When plans for the press season were made known the immediate speculation was that it would deal with the future of Manager Walter Alston and/or coach Leo Durocher.

Alston has been under somewhat of a cloud since the Dodgers lost the National League playoff series to San Francisco. Durocher drew the ire of General Manager E. J. Bavasi recently as a result of a report that he second-guessed Alston after the final playoff game.

Queries to Alston's home in Darrown, Ohio, developed that Alston doesn't plan to be on hand for the news conference and apparently didn't know of it in advance.

But Alston, who has piloted the Dodgers the past nine years, noted in a telephone conversation with one sports writer that he had been relieved several times before without being present when the news was made public.

Some observers then were inclined to broaden their speculation to include the possibilities that the conference might involve either a significant trade or a front office change.

Bavasi indicated earlier that he would like to see Alston retained. Walter F. O'Malley, Dodger president, has been noncommittal.

WTAPS FROM CHAMPS RAY BLUTH

5-PLAYING LANE
I start with my right foot on the center dot.

My line of approach has the 11th board, the one inside the second arrow from the right, as the target. If I find the lane hooks and the ball goes in high, I try to compensate with the two-to-one ratio. I move two boards to the left and set the target one board to the left. This can be worked in reverse.

Unless a mistake has been made in delivery, four or 10 pin leaves indicate the lane must be played differently from the ordinary. Four-pin leaves mean the lane is moving.

A 10-pin leave indicates the opposite. Compensate by moving to the right.

Hunters Will Take to Fields at 10 a.m. on First Day

Pheasant Contest Opens Saturday

The Pontiac Press Pheasant Contest gets under way with the opening of the season at 10 a.m. Saturday.

As in the past, a $50 savings bond will be awarded the Oakland County hunter entering the heaviest ringneck. The longest bird will earn a $25 bond.

field, Farmington, Southfield and Waterford Townships in Oakland County and in Kensington Park and other Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority lands.

One warning for hunters. Just because privately owned lands are not posted against hunting or trespassing doesn't give anyone the right to go on the land without permission of the owner.

Another reminder is that all hunting is prohibited Saturday until 10 a.m.

Other small game becoming legal Saturday in Southern Michigan include rabbits, squirrels, grouse and woodcock.

Hunters working in or near woodlots and heavy swamps from Pontiac to Lapeer will find grouse in increasing numbers as they go north. Woodcock are found in many places in the county.

Good bets for grouse are the Lapeer, Metamora and Ortonville recreation areas. Holly area has shown an increase and the north unit of Bald Mountain has a fair number.

The squirrel count is up and cottontails are holding their own.

PHEASANT UNDER GLASS — Miss Beverly J. Lester, employee in the city-county building in Port Huron, got a pheasant early, and under glass yesterday. The bird crashed through an office window and landed dead on her desk. The season opens Saturday!

Overcomes Heavy Hunting Pressure Each Fall

Handsome Import Is Adaptable, Wily Target

In 1790 a handsomely different type of bird was brought from England to the United States on the last leg of its roundabout journey which started in far off Asia hundreds of years before.

For many years after its arrival, chances appeared slim that this colorful immigrant, faced with a new environment, would become a permanent resident of this country. Nearly a century passed before it was firmly established anywhere in the U.S.

This happened in Oregon in 1881 when 26 ring-necked pheasants were imported from Asia and released in the western state. The birds flourished and only 11 years later were hunted for the first time in America.

News of Oregon's success spread throughout the country and by 1898 a few birds were set free near Holland, Mich., by Mr. Arthur G. Baumgartel.

Some scattered plantings were made later by other individuals and clubs, but the birds apparently did not take hold in the state until after 1917 when the Conservation Department started raising thousands of them for release in the wild each year.

Thus, a new game bird was established in Michigan; a new sport was born. In eight short years after the department launched this program, Michigan had its first pheasant hunting season.

DIFFICULT BIRD

The cagey, gaudy, adaptable, fast-flying ringneck has stayed on the state's legal hunting list ever since that first season in 1925.

It has weathered population ups and downs, increased gun pressure, changing land practices and other challenges to become Michigan's No. 1 game bird—at least in terms of numbers taken by hunters each fall.

It has captured the shooting fancy of some 500,000 hunters each fall. And earned their respect, too, for its wily ways.

In recent years, this state's hunters have taken about one million ringnecks annually. It looks as though they'll approach that figure again during this fall's Oct. 20-Nov. 10 season in the Lower Peninsula.

Why the ringneck is more plentiful in some areas of Michigan than in others has been a subject of much discussion.

Essentially, pheasants are a farm birds and in this state they seldom live out of flight or sight of a corn field. Michigan's most fertile lands and its best pheasant range are virtually one and the same. About 86 per cent of its pheasants are below the Muskegon-Bay City line.

But not all farm lands has pheasants. The number of pheasants in any county seems to depend mostly on the fertility of the soil. An area that produces rich crops is likely to yield good pheasant shooting; if the crops include a high percentage of corn, so much the better.

Some say mineral deposits in the soil, left by glacial action, are another reason for differences in pheasant distribution.

Aid for Seney Area Sought by Candidate

MEMONINEE (N) — Warren P. Cleary, Democratic candidate for Congress in Michigan's 11th district, has asked President Kennedy for aid for the Seney national wildlife refuge in the district.

He said he had written the President suggesting picnic and camp facilities be built, brush be cut, and the road system improved under the recently-passed accelerated public works program. He said this would have long-range tourism benefits and would create jobs immediately.

Little Discomfort

Because of its poorly developed nervous system, a fish probably experiences discomfort rather than actual pain when hooked.

Deprieved of its food, a mole will die in about a day.

Solunar Tables

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times. If you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

ADVISORY GROUP

A national inshore advisory committee, made up of representatives of the state and local communities, would take part in planning the area's development.

Land ownership in the larger area where sustained-yield timber production would be allowed to continue under programs approved by the U.S. Forest Service would be:

Cleveland Cliffs, 13,636 acres; Cliffs Dow Chemical Co., 1,800 acres; other private owners, 5,765 acres; State of Michigan, 16,270 acres, and the U.S. government, 1,650 acres.

Under the tentative plan, 80 per cent of the 65,000-acre park would remain open to sustained-yield timber production, with some 26,000 acres developed for camping and other public uses by the National Park Service.

All of the park would be open to public hunting and fishing.

Sen. Hart said the plan included provisions for preventing any concessions to operate in competition with private enterprise in nearby communities, hunting and fishing to be regulated by state law, and for home and cottage owners selling to the federal government to have use of their property for life.

Scattered colonies of birds live here and there in the northern lower peninsula, offering some limited shooting. And a small colony of pheasants has anchored itself in a pocket of farms on relatively fertile soil in the lower half of Menominee county, a southern tip of Delta county.

RICH CROPS

But not all farm lands has pheasants. The number of pheasants in any county seems to depend mostly on the fertility of the soil. An area that produces rich crops is likely to yield good pheasant shooting; if the crops include a high percentage of corn, so much the better.

Some say mineral deposits in the soil, left by glacial action, are another reason for differences in pheasant distribution.

Restraint Order Still in Force in Lake Suit

A local couple and three advertising firms charged with the illegal use of state-owned bottomlands in the Squaw Bay area south of Alpena failed to appear and show cause last week why a temporary restraining order should not be continued against them until their case is decided in Alpena Circuit Court.

As a result, Circuit Court Judge Philip J. Glennie ruled that the restraining order remain in effect during the course of a lawsuit initiated last month by the Conservation Department through State Attorney General Frank J. Kelley.

HEAVY BARRAGE

Teal and woodies started filtering back in to ponds and sloughs they had evacuated during the first barrage. Smart hunters picked a pond and waited. Many collected their two-duck limit without too much physical effort.

The mallard and blacks, however, started heading for Lake St. Clair after the first hour.

Other areas experienced the same results. There was good shooting the first day and it began to taper off to almost nothing by Monday.

Four College Crews Enter Wayne Races

Rowing Meet Changed From Detroit River to Area Water

Inter-Collegiate rowing comes to the Pontiac area Saturday afternoon with four colleges scheduled to compete in the annual fall Wayne State Invitational regatta on Wolverine Lake.

Rowing, which has primarily been confined to the Detroit River, since 1839, moved into Oakland County's inland waters for the first time in 125 years.

BETTER CONDITIONS

Wayne State coach Judson Ross said the regatta was moved because the rough conditions each year made it almost impossible to hold the meet.

"It got so that we couldn't get the entries because the choppy waters of the Detroit river made it impossible," said Ross. "We checked the conditions at Wolverine and we think it would make an ideal site because it is highly sheltered," he added.

Last year the water of the Detroit river got so bad, the competing schools put their shells on their trailers and moved out to Walled Lake. But before the varsity competition could get started it got dark and the meet was never completed.

8 MAN SHELLS

First heats of the regatta will start at 2:30 p.m. with Wayne State, Purdue, McMaster of Canada and Western Ontario competing.

About 75 rowers in 8-man shells will compete in varsity and junior varsity competition.

Wayne State surveyors checked the layout and announced that a regulation 2,000 meter Olympic course with a slight dogleg will adequately handle the shells.

The regatta will start at the fishing site on Wolverine Lake. Two local rowers are on the Wayne State squad, Paul Carle and Vince Reale, both of Walled Lake. Reale is the coxswain.

Mary Mairs, 18, Competing at Harrisburg

Youngest U. S. Rider Eyes Olympics

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—At 18, pretty Mary Mairs is the youngest rider ever to compete on a United States equestrian team.

Now, she's setting her sights on the 1964 Olympics and she won't have any compa she makes.

"The what I want more than anything else in the world," the smiling, green-eyed California miss said.

"But I guess that's the big hope of all young riders."

Miss Mairs is one of four Americans taking part this week in international jumping competition at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show at the State Farm Show Arena here.

Ever since opening night last Saturday, she and the only other girl rider in the competition, Gail Ross of Canada, have been the sentimental favorites.

PRECISION RIDER

A slow, deliberate rider who prefers precision to speed, Miss Mairs has competed in three of the four international events so far, clearing a total of 22 jumps BACK DOOR GOOSE — Dr. Ernest F. Denne heard shooting on Wahmeagau Lake near his home, 8425 Ellis Road, Clarkston, just after the duck season opened at noon last Friday. The Clarkston optometrist saw a flight of geese heading toward his house. He grabbed a shotgun, stepped out on the back porch, and dropped the goose shown in the picture. The Canada honker tipped the scales at 14 pounds.

Ducks Keep Flying Right Out of Range

The ducks went flying last week — all the way out of the area.

Shooters opening the season at noon Friday had a field day jumping ducks off small ponds, lakes and streams. It didn't take the mallards and blacks long to decide there must be safer territory.

The wood ducks and teal took a little longer to get educated — about 48 hours — but they too scurried to quieter feeding and resting places.

As expected, the cut in the season and bag limit on mallards and blacks also cut the number of gunners in half.

The Hadley Hills are a good illustration.

One shotgun after another roared from the potholes nestled in the hills for the first hour. The shooting tailed off to only an occasional volley by 2 p.m. and an hour later it was almost as quiet as an hour before the legal shooting.

The situation won't get any better until the flight ducks begin arriving out of Canada. The local woodies and teal will be heading south any day. And the blacks and mallards become more difficult to lure into range over decoys or find on potholes as the season progresses.

St. Clair Flat gunners have another problem. The ducks not only raft in the middle of the lake on calm days, they also head for the "club" marshes on the Canadian side when too much pressure is applied.

Big water hunters — particularly those on Saginaw Bay — will need strong wind to break up the rafted ducks and head them toward the quieter marshes.

Hearing Set for Tuesday in County

State Rep. Riemer Van Til said today that the legislative study committee on state parks and lands he heads will hold a hearing next Tuesday at the Bloomfield Township hall.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. and is open to the public. The hall is located at 4300 Telegraph Road.

Van Til's committee was established to study the use, management and operations of the present state park system. It also is reviewing the potentials of increasing state and private outdoor recreational facilities and systems.

Local officials and businessmen are expected to attend the Oakland County hearing to give their views on how the increase in use of recreational facilities can best be handled in Southeastern Michigan.

"This past camping and vacation season has brought a six per cent increase in recreation pressures in spite of the cool summer," Van Til (R-Holland) pointed out.

PRIVATE PARKS

"It is becoming quite evident that state parks and state forests will not be able to accommodate the projected increase in camping demand. Therefore, private operators must be encouraged in the development of private parks."

Oakland County has more than 20,000 acres of land open to public use. Several of the recreation areas have camp sites. Managers of these areas report they have been filled during summer weekends and many campers have been turned away.

Van Til's committee has held hearings on the west side of the state and in the Upper Peninsula.

Other committee members are Russell H. Strange (R-Clare), William H. Goodland (D-Wyandotte), Joseph S. Mack (D-Ironwood) and Edson V. Root Jr. (R-Bangor).

Foreign Trade Commission Is Appointed by Swainson

LANSING UP — A 22-member Foreign Trade Expansion Commission, charged with finding ways to bolster Michigan's export business — chiefly through the St. Lawrence Seaway — was appointed yesterday by Gov. Swainson.

The governor named Secretary of State James M. Haro as chairman of the commission, which includes educators and leaders in business, industry and labor.

He also named two consultants — Hickman Price, of Ann Arbor, assistant U.S. secretary of commerce for domestic affairs, and Joseph McCann, director of the St. Lawrence Development Corp.

Gov. Swainson said the commission will consider various aspects of Michigan's foreign trade prospects but specifically will be charged with developing programs to exploit opportunities provided by the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Urges Full Use

He said the objective will be put Michigan on a competitive basis with states having open ports.

"It is in the interest of our industry and all our people to make full use of this resource," he said. "We can attain a position of leadership in making the best possible use of the opportunity which is offered by the seaway."

The governor said Michigan has many ideal port sites along its 3,212 miles of Great Lakes shoreline. "Some are developed in an exceptional manner and some have permitted their potential to go unrealized," he said.

The commission, the governor said, will return recommendations on present transportation schedules and rates to port communities, water projects necessary to port development, financial and commercial aspects of foreign trade and — if needed — development of research in the field.

The commission will be asked to coordinate its work with that of local studies now being made in several places.

He also named two consultants — Hickman Price, of Ann Arbor, assistant U.S. secretary of commerce for domestic affairs, and Joseph McCann, director of the St. Lawrence Development Corp.

He's Ushered Out of Duty After Prank on Bride

MINNEAPOLIS UP — A week-end prank in which a bride was whisked away from her wedding reception and held briefly at police headquarters brought suspensions without pay yesterday to two police officers.

Mrs. Donald Corvill, 29, was whisked away from her wedding in suburban Columbia Heights and taken to the roll call room at the central police station.

Chief of Police E. I. Walling said the prank was dreamed up by patrolman Robert Martinson, 25, who joined the force in January and was an usher at the wedding.

Martinson was suspended for a week along with Robert Welbaum, superintendent of the identification bureau. Chief Walling said Welbaum acquiesced in the prank.

Union Head Claims Pilots Are Cheats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ron Brown of the Flight Engineers Union charged yesterday that Eastern Air Lines pilots are cheating on government tests to qualify as flight engineers.

Brown said the rival Air Line Pilots Association has given Eastern pilots "crib sheets complete with answers."

School Tax Passes

ALLEN PARK UP — A seven-mill tax for school operations and transfer of two mills from debt retirement to general operating expenses were approved by Allen Park voters yesterday by 1,913 to 1,370.

Landed Gentry to Land

LONDON (UPI) — Eighty-six British landowners will leave Friday for a 15-day tour of the eastern seaboard of the United States.

The most irritating man at the reunion of the class of 1932 (reports the Wall St. Journal) is the one who has both hair and money.

The worst thing about living in a trailer is that there's no place to put anything, except where it belongs. . . . When women have curves, men have angles. (Earl Wilson.)

Wins Cambridgeshire

NEWMARKET, England (AP) — Hidden Meaning was the 12th running of the Cambridgeshire handicap from a record field of 45 other runners today.

Hasty check came, second and bestwinner as third.

The Cambridgeshire is the final race of the British flat racing season and is the last of the year to be used as the basis for the Irish Sweepstakes.

A Communist union leader indicated the "chorus" in this country would like to have its say as well as the "stars" — Princess Grace, Prince Rainier and French President Charles de Gaulle.

"Monaco is not just a pretty postcard with a garden, talent and beautiful princesses," said Jules Socal, head of the union of Monaco trade unionists. "It is a meeting place for the workers who will be informed of what the crisis means to them."

Socal, a short fellow with a mustache but no necktie, will do all the informing at the meeting in the town's harbor near the harbor filled with sleek yachts from many nations.

Socal is a Communist party member.

But he said his meeting is not for or against communism, Prince Rainier, France, the Soviet Union or anything else.

He said "we are interested in beefsteaks, housing and our lives." He estimated pea-sized Monaco has a laboring class of 16,500. All were invited to the meeting.

This number includes approximately 3,000 Italian residents, 4,000 Italians, and 9,500 French who travel across the border to work every day.

Find Weapons at Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong police have found a quantity of arms on an uninhabited island in British waters near the coast of Communist China, local press reports said today.

The reports said the cache included submachine guns, automatic pistols, hand grenades, several hundred rounds of ammunition and uniforms similar to those worn by Red China's army.

A government spokesman would only confirm that "a quantity of arms was found on an island."

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Eighty-seven countries yesterday pledged $126,072,000 for the U.N. expanded technical assistance program and special fund at an all-day pledging conference at the General Assembly.

Surgery Fails to Save Twins

LONDON (AP)—Siamese twin girls died Tuesday night after a desperate 8½-hour operation to separate them.

A team of four top London surgeons began operating after the condition of one, Myrtle Hardy, deteriorated suddenly, endangering the life of her sister Caroline. The twins were born eight days ago to a 34-year-old London housewife, Mrs. Joyce Hardy.

No Federal Position, Says Rocky's Brother

MORRILLTON, Ark. (UPI)—Winthrop Rockefeller, a brother of New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, indicated last night he does not expect a federal job should his brother be elected president.

"It's never been an aspiration of the Rockefellers to outnumber the Kennedys," said Rockefeller at a GOP rally on his farm near here.

So...Yak It Up With Jack; Kennedy Is a Funny Word

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—We have been investigating the current humor situation for you, just in case you want to be very hilarious at cocktail parties, and the word that you can be a riot if you say practically anything about the three or four Kennedys—but just one Kennedy isn't funny any more.

Sample: Reporter: "I understand JFK has solved the unemployment problem."
Pierre Salinger: "Yes—especially in his own family."

That was by Marty Allen and Steve Rossi, cutting a new "Hello Dear" album—there was this one by Esther Piorelli of Burlingame, Calif., who remarked that the way the Kennedys were taking over, "it won't be long before Jack, Bobby and Teddy will be running against each other for President."

What else is funny nowadays? Jimmy Hoffa fighting for a living wage for underprivileged union leaders. Airline pilots serving sandwiches while stewardesses fly the planes. New York cops masquerading in women's clothes which they find "quite a drag."

It's getting so the Kennedys are funnier than Brooklyn and Texas used to be. A gag writer can remember when a phony feud between a Betty Davis and a Joan Crawford could be hilarious. "You look better since you had your face ironed," got a nice response. But now you just say "Caroline" and everybody collapses. But it's better, of course, if you mention a couple of other Kennedys; then it becomes a real scream.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Noel Coward's in a Swiss hospital for surgery... Caster plans to reopen the shuttered Havana cafes, with European entertainers... Singer Kitty Kallen'll record a rock 'n' roll number with son Jonathan, 13... Remember Christine Jorgensen? Well, Chris—a blonde now—ordered two brunettes away from a local shop.

EARL'S PEARLS: The thing that gives a government employee the cold chills these days is to have someone say he's gifted. TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A Broadway dame became a father for the seventh time, but didn't pass out the customary cigars: "When you have the seventh child, you don't pass out cigars—you mooch cigarettes."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: About the only thing you can put aside for a rainy day now is a cold tablet. A local figure he had a shrewd move. He bought his wife such fine china that she no longer trusts him to wipe the dishes. That's early, huh?

U.S. Tries to Lift N-Prestige Quickly

HONOLULU (AP)—The United States is wasting no time trying to redeem its shuffling nuclear prestige by scheduling another high-altitude shot in the Pacific this weekend—just four days after the latest flop.

A low-yield nuclear device with a punch of less than 20,000 tons of TNT is set to be touched off at an expected height of 20 to 30 miles near Johnston Island.

As in previous tests, it will be carried aloft by a missile. But this time the vehicle probably won't be a Thor, the cause of four previous failures in the trouble-plagued 1962 Pacific nuclear series.

MAY USE BOOSTER Indications were a specially constructed booster utilizing the motor from a surface-to-surface Sergeant missile would lift the payload to its firing altitude.

The detonation planned for firing during a five-hour period starting at 9:30 a.m. EST Friday (2:30 a.m. EST Saturday). It will be the smallest attempted at high altitudes thus far.

Only one high-altitude test succeeded, a thermonuclear explosion last July 8 which hit up Pacific skies and disrupted the Allen radiation belts in outer space.

The latest fizzle occurred Monday night. The Thor rocket lifted off its concrete launch pad at Johnston on schedule and was heading on a predetermined trajectory to the detonation point. Halfway there the rocket developed a malfunction and a range safety officer pushed a button, destroying the rocket and its nuclear payload without detonation.

DEBRIS DROPS It was the first reported case of radioactive debris dropping back on the island, although Johnston was peppered with fragments after a June 19 failure. Officials said nothing about radioactivity at that time.

"Most of the fragments showed some alpha contamination," an official announcement said of Monday's debris. "Because of the rigid safety rules, no hazard to test personnel is anticipated."

Alpha is the least dangerous of radiation materials. It can be harmful if breathed or otherwise taken into the system as by eating. It will not penetrate the skin except through a cut or wound.

State Agriculture Body to Decide on Fund Use

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Agriculture Commission will meet here tomorrow to decide whether to use some $18,000 in current funds for emergency warfare on Japanese beetles in Monroe and Lenawee counties.

The funds from current appropriations of the Department of Agriculture were freed for use in the anti-beetle campaign yesterday in a joint decision of the House Ways and Means and Senate Appropriations committees.

The final decision, however, was left to the Agriculture Commission.

George S. McIntyre, director of agriculture, said the meeting was set for tomorrow because that is the earliest all seven commission members can be present.

"We felt they all ought to be here," said McIntyre.

One commissioner, Mrs. K. E. Y. Stelm, must come all the way from Iron Mountain and another, Archie Murphy, will travel here from East Jordan.

The funds were freed by the two legislative committees with an understanding that they will be reimbursed to the Department of Agriculture during the next legislative session beginning in January.

With a new legislature coming in January, there could be no absolute assurances that the department would be reimbursed.

Rep. Arnell Engstrom, R-Traverse City, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said lawmakers present promised to do everything they could to restore the funds to the Department of Agriculture during the coming session.

The money will be used to match federal funds already promised for a total of $368,000 to combat the spreading beetle menace to crops in the two southern counties.

State officials have said extensive crop damage and quarantine of crops not damaged will result if insecticide is not used to halt the pest.

"Turning the Devil's Boulder" is the big autumn event at the Devonshire village of Shobdon. The entire village turns out the night of Nov. 5 to roll over a one-ton red boulder in the churchyard. Everyone lifts or shouts. This is supposed to ensure prosperity for the coming year.

Ike Rips Kennedy Theorists

BOSTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower ended two days of politicking in New England on the same note which he started—criticism of Democrats and the Kennedy administration.

At Manchester, N.H., yesterday the former president charged that the Kennedy administration was comprised of "masters of theory who can plot our frontier which we plain people cannot find for ourselves."

During his four-state New England tour, Eisenhower blasted Democrats while attempting to transfer some of his magical popularity to Republican hopefuls.

The airplane, helicopter and automobile trip took Eisenhower to Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

He apparently failed to heal a painful wound in New Hampshire opened up when state Rep. John Pillsbury of Manchester defeated Gov. Wesley Powell in the September primary for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Powell refused to attend yesterday's rally in Manchester although he earlier telegraphed a message to Eisenhower welcoming him to the state.

Finns Planning to Make It Hot for Kennedy

HELSINKI, Finland (P)—Finnish master carpenters are building a sauna for President Kennedy. It will be better than Premier Khrushchev's.

A sauna is a Finnish steam bath, a small room heated electrically or with hot stones and fitted with bunks on which the bather can relax in temperatures up to 200 degrees Fahrenheit.

Last year Finnish President Urho Kekkonen presented one to Khrushchev. Then the carpenters of the northern village of Alajärvi thought Kennedy should get one too.

With official approval they have started building the bath from materials donated by the villagers. The design is a new one, based on drawings by Finnish architect Alvar Aalto. The completed sauna will be the most modern available.

Collegiates Told to Be Fair About JFK Abroad

WASHINGTON (P)—Three hundred Midwest college students heading for a two-month tour of Europe as "student ambassadors" under the People-to-People program, got some advice from Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

If you can't agree with policies of the present administration, Kennedy told the students, don't hesitate to say so. But at least give its point of view as well as your own.

"We need articulate young people of intelligence... to stand up for this country and to answer tough questions that those in other countries may raise," he went on.

"Young Americans talking informally with other people of other nations can help a great deal to present a clear image of our country."

The students will meet, work with and live with students in 19 European countries.

Set Aside Forest Area for Primitive Weapons

FRANKFORT, Ky. (P)—Robin Hood and Daniel Boone would feel at home in Kentucky hunting seasons this year.

For the first time, a section will be set aside for use of primitive weapons in hunting deer, grouse and squirrel, the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources said. A 7,000-acre tract in Cumberland National Forest will be marked off in which hunters may use crossbows, longbows, muzzle-loading rifles and muzzle-loading shotguns.

It WOULD Be Quite a Bargain at a Buck-Fifty

CLEARWATER, Fla. (P)—It sounded like an intriguing bargain.

The Pinellas County Commission said it had a surplus tetrahedron, slightly rusted, but in good condition otherwise and it wished to get rid of it. It asked for bids.

Fascinated, two reporters entered bids of 50 cents and $1. Then they asked what they were bidding on.

Commissioners explained that a tetrahedron is a triangular pyramid, and this particular tetrahedron is a wind direction indicator that is no longer used at St. Petersburg-Clearwater International Airport. The commission is holding it out for a better bid from a public agency.

A gold cube just over 14 inches each dimension would weigh a ton.

Foundation Establishes Pastor Education Plan

DENVER (UPI)—A scholarship plan for the education of Lutheran parish pastors in psychology has been established by the Wheat Ridge Foundation.

The long-term venture, aimed at increasing the "mental health resources" of the Lutheran community, calls for issuance of scholarships to selected pastors for study toward doctorates in psychology and additional theological training.

JFK, W. German Talk Berlin Moves

Documents Disclose Nothing Mysterious

Plenty of documents but nothing mysterious came out of the water-tight tin packet and a large tin box found in the cornerstones of the old county courthouse last week.

The containers were opened this morning at the beginning of the board of supervisors' 10 a.m. meeting.

The thin packet contained an announcement and a newspaper clipping concerning Pontiac schools for the year 1964-65.

Barely legible, the documents included the year's school schedule, the names of board of education members and school principals, notices of meetings and general information.

In the larger container were several bound reports on the Eastern Michigan Asylum for the years 1959 through 1962, a key to the second floor "Old Wood Room" of the courthouse prior to the one immediately previous to the one now being demolished and a Pontiac city director for 1962.

There also was a Michigan State Fair folder for 1964 (held in Pontiac that year), photographs of the previous court-house, bank statements, and several copies of newspapers including two of the Pontiac Daily Press.

Flashes

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The space agency changed signals today and tentatively rescheduled the Ranger 5 moon shot for tomorrow, depending on the progress of tropical storm Ella.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves today announced the signing of former major league player, manager and coach Bobby Bragan as manager.

Storm's Course Uncertain

Florida Braces for Ella

From Our News Wires

MIAMI — Tropical storm Ella steered an uncertain course perilously close to the Florida peninsula today and weathermen said it likely would soon attain full hurricane force winds of 75 m.p.h.

An 8 a.m. (Pontiac time) weather bulletin placed the center of the storm near latitude 27.3 north, longitude 75.0 west, or about 310 miles east of Fort Pierce, Florida. Ft. Pierce is about 75 miles south of the nation's missile center at Cape Canaveral.

U.S. scientists at the cape last night called off an attempt to launch a spacecraft to the moon because of the storm.

The launching had been scheduled for this morning but was postponed until next month.

The storm, fifth of the season, was blowing 70 miles an hour near the center with gales reaching into 350 miles to the north and 65 miles to the south.

Northerly winds of 40 m.p.h. were recorded during the night over the Bahamas.

The Weather Bureau forecast winds and seas would increase over the South Atlantic coast today.

Small craft throughout the Bahamas and from Miami to Savannah, Ga., were warned to remain in port. Small craft along the Carolinas were cautioned to remain close to shore.

Forecasters said the storm remained almost stationary during the night and "may even have begun a northward movement."

Forecaster Raymond Craft said it still was too soon to say whether it would hit the mainland.

"If it doesn't, it's going to come pretty close," he added.

It appeared yesterday that the storm's most likely target might be south Florida, but the storm's late movements lessened this possibility.

"If the expected trend to a more northwesterly direction of motion develops, the possible threat to the area from Palm Beach to Daytona Beach will be lessened," the Weather Bureau said.

Ten-foot waves rolled northward from Ella's center and Nassau, Great Abaco Island and Eleuthera Island in the Bahamas reported wind gusts of 35 to 40 miles an hour yesterday.

Landry Hails Public Service of The Press

'Principal of Freedom Never Disputed by City Government'

Pontiac Mayor Robert A. Landry last night issued a statement praising the public service rendered by The Pontiac Press.

The mayor took the occasion of National Newspaper Week to read the statement before the City Commission.

He said The Press and city government might question each other "in the broad field of interpretation" but not "in matters of principle or freedom."

The Press wondered whether the City Commission had limited its access to police information following a recent commission resolution.

The mayor said that, "Differences of opinion, which have arisen between this local government agency and our local newspaper, will invariably be resolved, to the satisfaction of all concerned."

No Snow, No Rain, on Bright Horizon

October's bright blue skies will remain in the Pontiac area for the next few days. No rainfall is predicted until Sunday or Monday.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecasts temperatures will average near to slightly below the normal high of 60 and normal low of 42 for the period.

Thursday will be slightly warmer with the high reaching near 65.

Morning winds westerly at 8 miles per hour will become 10 to 15 m.p.h. late today.

From 10 a.m. yesterday until the same hour today .3 of an inch in showers fell in the downtown area.

The low recording this morning was 42 degrees. At 1 p.m. the thermometer registered 62.

Bottom Says Doors Closed at Noon Hour

A full discussion over leaving a rear guard during City Hall employees' noon hour was asked last night by City Commissioner Whitford E. Bottom.

An inquiry, launched by The Pontiac Press this summer, has already resulted in keeping the City Violations Bureau open during noon hours.

Speaking at the commission's regular meeting, Bottom asked a look into other agencies be put on the agenda for the next informal meeting of the commission.

Bottom started his inquiry into noon-hour service by asking Acting City Manager Dave Teel: "Do we leave adequate City Hall personnel to take care of business during the noon lunch hour?"

United Fund Torch Lit

Following speeches, band music and young voices raised in song, a 7-year-old girl last night kindled the torch that represents the Pontiac Area United Fund drive.

The generosity of the community, entering its 14th annual UF campaign, was symbolized a few hours earlier by a $133,000 donation from General Motors Corp.

This leaves $272,125 to be contributed if this year's UF goal of $706,125 is to be reached, General Campaign Chairman Fred V. Haggard noted.

He urged fellow citizens to contribute generously from their hearts as well as their pocketbooks "in the true spirit of the campaign."

Money contributed will provide operating funds for 54 state and local health, recreation, family and child-care agencies.

NO HITCHES

Unlike last year, the torch-lighting ceremony in downtown Pontiac went off without a hitch. The flame shot faithfully into the night as little Diane Lynn Balis pushed the triggering button below.

The Salvation Army Band broke forth with the lilting notes of "America." A simple blessing on the campaign was invoked by Lt. Gary B. Crowell.

The anti-climax to an otherwise successful evening came as the crowd began to disperse.

The banquet was attended by some 50 UF campaign leaders.

Toastsmaster and main speaker James Dickerson, associate director of continuing education at Michigan State University, Oakland, commended them for their sense of responsibility and compassion.

"These are the reasons you are here tonight voluntarily," he said, "demonstrating your compassion for the common good of the community and the responsibility (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

State Politics on TV Tonight

By The Associated Press

Michigan's political show takes to the air waves again tonight.

Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson, trying for a second term, and his Republican challenger, former auto maker George Romney, will clash for the second time in a televised one-half hour debate.

Their first TV debate Oct. 9 was described by some observers as a draw.

The format tonight will be revised to have Romney making the opening and closing statements instead of Swainson.

The candidates will open the program with four-minute statements and then will answer questions for 14 minutes. Each will be allowed two minutes to summarize.

All three Detroit stations will carry the debate, starting at 7 p.m.

The third and final debate of the campaign has been scheduled for Oct. 26 — 11 days before the Nov. 6 election.

Romney spent Tuesday getting ready for the debate.

Swainson used a conference of Baptist ministers in Detroit as a forum to tee off on Republicans.

Yankee Arrival Unnoticed

NEW YORK (AP) — Eleven members of the Yankees baseball team came home today—happy, tired and practically unnoticed.

There was no welcoming crowd at Idlewild Airport to meet the pre-dawn arrival of the airliner that brought them from San Francisco where they beat the Giants in the World Series clincher yesterday.

Pitcher Jim Coates led the players out of the United Airlines jetliner.

"Woo!" he said, blinking. "It's good to be back."

Then, as the players piled around him and he surveyed the long airline terminal corridor, he did a doubletake and said: "What a mob!" He pushed out his arms at the nonchalant throng, adding in mock panic: "Get them off me! Get them off me!"

Completing his act, Coates then inquired plaintively: "Where did everyone go?"

Manager Ralph Houk, referring to the early morning darkness, said: "We didn't really expect a crowd here. They would have to be crazy to come out so early."

Standing by quietly but tired was the star of the series, pitcher Ralph Terry.

Terry remarked that his day of triumph was much different from the windup of the 1960 series with Pittsburgh when his last inning pitch blew up the ball game.

"Yes," he repeated with relief. "It was a lot different from 1960."

Coates also recalled the 1960 debacle. "That was a nightmare," he said. "I still can't forget it."

The triumphant group included wives of some players and Roy Hagen, Yankee general manager.

"We got a little sleep on the plane, but not much," said Yogi Berra.

There were 26 in the group. Two buses took them to Yankee Stadium. Most of them went there to pick up their cars and head for home, as did the other Yankee players in San Francisco.

Among those in the group were Whitey Ford, Bill Skowron, Hector Lopez, Dale Long and Phil Linz.

Attempt to Kill U.N. 'System'

Nigeria Makes Bid for Security Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Backed by 20 other nations of Black Africa, Nigeria makes a bid in the U.N. General Assembly today to kill the 16-year-old "gentleman's agreement" allocating Security Council seats.

Nigeria is contesting with Morocco for the council seat heretofore held by a Middle East—Arab—nation. But most delegates expected Morocco to muster the two-thirds majority needed for election in the voting this afternoon.

The voting follows a week of bitter wrangling that has split the 83-nation African group and ranged the Arabs against the black Africans.

Stigma center of the fight has been Nigerian Foreign Minister Jaja Wachuku, outspoken critic of the gentleman's agreement reached in London in 1946. It gave two of the nonpermanent seats on the 11-nation council to Latin America and one each to East Europe, West Europe, the Middle East and the British Commonwealth.

Wachuku told the assembly in his policy speech Monday that the black African states would put up a last ditch fight "to test the sincerity or insincerity of this gentleman's agreement."

Nigeria originally insisted it should get the West European seat India vacates at the end of the year. But when it became apparent Norway would get that spot, the group of 21 African countries announced it would back Nigeria for the Middle East seat now held by the United Arab Republic.

Election to the council had been set for last Wednesday, but Nigeria obtained a postponement to gain time for lobbying.

Many Western nations favor enlarging the council to ensure a seat for Africa. However, they would require an amendment to the U.N. Charter, and the Russians have warned they will veto any such amendment until Communist China is given a seat in the United Nations.

Soviet Union Orbits Scientific Satellite

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today announced the launching of another Sputnik—Cosmos X.

The Soviet news agency, Tass said, the satellite was packed with scientific instruments and everything was functioning normally.

The purpose of the Sputnik is to measure radiation and other factors bearing on manned space flights, Tass said.

The satellite made its first orbit of the earth in 92 minutes, on a path ranging from 126 miles to 208 miles from the earth and at an angle of 65 degrees from the equator, Tass said.

Followed Law, Says Barnett

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi says his actions in the University of Mississippi desegregation case are based on "what I believe to be the law" and that he is not in contempt of any court.

His statement, issued Tuesday in Jackson, Miss., came as the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals considered whether to imprison or fine him. Earlier, it had found him guilty of civil contempt for his refusal to permit Negro James H. Meredith to enroll at Ole Miss.

There was no indication when the court would rule.

The Justice Department has asked the court to fine Barnett $100,000 for failing to attend court hearings Oct. 2 and 12 to take positive action to purge himself of contempt. It also asked an additional fine of $10,000 a day starting Oct. 12 until he does so.

TELLS COURT

Barnett's attorney, Charles Clark, told the court the governor did not consider himself in contempt, because Meredith was attending the university.

"I have never taken the position that I have purged myself," Barnett said Tuesday. "Nor have I authorized anyone to take such a position on my behalf."

He added, "My position is that I have upheld the law and am not in contempt of any court."

Barnett also said: "My position is based upon the Constitution of the United States and the constitution and laws of Mississippi. My every action in this matter has been formed after careful and deliberate consideration of what I believe to be the law."

Charging that "Mississippi has not yet had her day in court," Barnett said that if anyone felt "that I have violated his rights, the courts are open to challenge my action in a proper court proceeding."

FAILED TO APPEAR

Barnett failed to appear, and did not send his attorneys, to the Sept. 28 hearing at which he was convicted of contempt.

Father of 3 Dies in Crash

A 24-year-old father of three was killed early today when his car slammed into a telephone pole just inside the Lake Orion Village limits.

Dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital was Thomas A. Crawford, 400 Long Point Drive, Lake Orion.

Police said Crawford apparently was driving from Rochester to his home on Bellevue Island when the accident occurred about 2:30 a.m. today.

He was alone in his car. Crawford, according to police, was traveling westbound on East Flint Street when his car crashed sideways into the telephone pole at Miller Road. There were skid marks about 100 feet long on the curve, police said.

The eldest Crawford child is 3½ years old. The youngest child was born to the victim's wife only a month ago.

Showers Hit Some Areas of Country

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers splashed across scattered sections of the nation from the Far West into the Appalachians today but fair to partly cloudy weather prevailed in most areas.

It was chilly this morning from the northern and central Rockies into the Upper Mississippi Valley, with temperatures dropping into the 30s. Snow in higher elevations of the mountain sections of Colorado measured from ½ to 1 inch. The cool air was expected to spread from the Ohio Valley northeastward into northern New England.

Light rain during the night sprinkled areas in the north and central Appalachians, the lower Mississippi Valley and in the central plains. Thunderstorms rumbled across southern Texas and in the southern Rockies and the southern plateau region.

Move Students at Waterford

An enrollment gain of 700 pupils since last fall will be reported to the Waterford Township Board of Education tomorrow night by James Denfelder, acting superintendent of schools.

A year ago the schools were populated by 13,410 youngsters. The figure now stands at 14,100, exceeding preliminary enrollment estimates by more than 100 students.

Also slated for the regular monthly meeting of the board is a report from Dr. Chaudes Reid, assistant to the superintendent, on the reading program in the schools and a report from the school board personnel committee.

The board will also review a dispute over school bus policy that erupted last week when bus service to 20 Pierce Junior High School students was discontinued.

According to Denfelder the students were removed from Bus No. 44 because it was overcrowded.

Parents of the children contend that they face a traffic hazard in walking to school as there are no sidewalks along Fremont Road.

Supreme Court's Former Clerk Dies

LANSING (AP) — Hugh Carpenter, 72, a retired clerk of the Michigan Supreme Court, died here unexpectedly on Monday.

Carpenter retired as clerk of the Supreme Court in 1957 after 44 years of employment by the state, most of it on the staff of the Supreme Court.

A World War I veteran, Carpenter served as deputy clerk under the late Jay Mertz from 1920 to 1952 and succeeded Mertz to the clerk post. He was honored by a special session of the Supreme Court on Oct. 17, 1957, to mark his retirement.

Men Learn to Say 'Oui' Faster; Women Say It Better

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Most adults have been given the impression that kids can pick up a foreign language more quickly than their parents.

That kids can pick up a foreign language more quickly than their parents.

This theory doesn't seem to make sense — that tiny tongue and apprentice brain are more capable than daddy's? Furthermore, it gives adults an inferiority complex — and a parent with an inferiority complex is dead, I tell you, dead.

money to do something," he pointed out, "one does it swifter and better."

MOTIVATED

Motivation is also at the root of men's superiority over women in the new-language field. Men learn faster—not because they are smarter or have better memories—but because they generally are motivated to learn swiftly for business reasons.

Once again money is behind the process; and the greater the motivation, the faster the assimilation.

On the other hand, women are more "daring and courageous and perhaps, too, more hammy. They are much more eager to pronounce new words in new tongues, and they do it without embarrassment — whereas many men hesitate to try pronunciations in fear of making fools of themselves.

Berlitz added that most languages can be learned with reasonable fluency (by adults) in 100 hours of classroom work. (Exceptions—Russian, which requires roughly 150 hours for the average student, and Oriental tongues often take 200 hours.)

For the sake of persons who have neither time, money nor the inclination to take courses in a foreign tongue—yet want to travel to an area where little English is spoken—I asked Berlitz what he considered the most important words to memorize in the country's language.

He hesitated a moment, then smiled.

"I'd say first learn the word for 'look out,'" said the expert. "And after that — 'No.'"

Lesinski Talks in Their Terms

LANSING (AP)—There was no language barrier for Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski last night when he wooed Democratic voters at the Federated Polish Home.

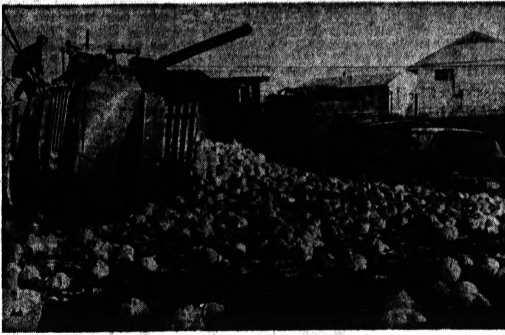

To make sure his audience understood his message, Lesinski, the son of European immigrants, went through his speech twice, first in Polish and then in English.

In both languages the Democratic officeholder said the administration of Gov. John B. Swainson deserved re-election because of its accomplishments in the past two years.

"Gov. Swainson has both a good positive record and a good defensive record against the irresponsible element in the legislature," Lesinski said.

Detroit Torch Lighted

DETROIT (AP)—A gas flame atop a 54-foot torch signalled the opening of metropolitan Detroit's 14th annual United Fund drive last night, this one with a goal of $19.5 million.

"COLE-BLOODED SLAWTER" — "Traffic fatalities" rose abruptly in Glen Burnie, Md., yesterday as heads rolled in the street. The truck rolled driverless down the street striking two cars and a utility pole before overturning and spilling its 8½-ton load. No one was injured.

Vatican Council to Discuss Use of Vernacular at Mass

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The use of modern languages instead of Latin in the Mass is one of the major topics the 2,700 Roman Catholic prelates of the Vatican Ecumenical Council will discuss in daily sessions that start next week.

The question of the language of the Mass is one that has repercussions throughout the world, particularly in the church's missionary efforts.

Many missionary bishops attending the council favor Mass in the vernacular of the people. Such missionaries argue, for example, that while a Mass in Latin might be incomprehensible to a former headhunter in New Guinea he could find it full of meaning if it were said in his native Papuan dialect.

Traditionalists consider Latin a factor for unity that stands above differences of nationality and local language, a cement that has helped hold the church together for 20 centuries.

Arcadio Cardinal Larraona, whom Pope John XXIII has picked to head the council's commission on liturgy, predicted last June that local languages eventually would replace Latin in the first third of the Mass.

No council session was scheduled today as tabulation continued of votes cast by the 2,700 prelates for members of the council's 10 drafting commissions.

The council fathers voted Tuesday for 16 members of each of the 10 commissions, and all of the prelates attending the council were eligible for election. Results of the voting were not expected until Saturday.

World Problems Take Back Seat to Election

Ironically, with Nov. 6 drawing near, many of the world crises which have been plaguing this country steadily for the last few months, seem to have suddenly disappeared.

Actually the exciting and perilous times we were experiencing a few weeks ago remain about the same, but our lawmakers seem to have more important tasks on their minds. Namely politics.

This goes for the great majority now holding office. The House and Senate were practically at a standstill last week because they could not muster a quorum.

President Kennedy has been equally busy the past few weeks campaigning across the country for fellow Democrats. Under the circumstances, we shouldn't be too critical. Just write it off as political maneuvering that is part of the job.

Yet, in the case of the President, if these many crises which he has so often referred to, are at all crucial, how can he spare the time for mere political oratory?

The situation in the Congo has not appreciably changed, nor has Berlin, Cuba, Viet Nam or the MEXICAN segregation case.

We puzzle over the fact that all these issues suddenly are at rest. The President is now working less than full time for the taxpayers. True, he is running a big telephone bill keeping in touch with Washington.

Yet, we sort of feel that the U.S. has gone into quasi-isolation. Congress is seeking votes and the Chief Executive is on a speaking tour. Last week he hit the Indianapolis and Pittsburgh areas, including the steel mill towns.

This week he is off to seven more states, and he'll wind up the month hitting Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Oregon and California.

States Seek to Change N.Y. Liquor Laws

States bordering on New York are bringing pressure to bear for changes in the liberal liquor laws of the Empire State.

New York allows the sale of beer and whisky to anyone 18 years of age, compared to restrictions on persons under 21 in most states.

Neighboring states complain that their youths are making trips to New York to get alcohol, and the resultant toll in trouble and accidents is high.

New York officials defend the lower age limit with the argument that if youths are really intent on drinking, they'll get liquor in spite of restrictions, one way or another.

Defenders also say that discriminating use of such stimulants brings at home, and parents are to blame for the drinking problems of the young.

Pontiac has seen several examples of underage drinking and the resultant problems. The liquor was purchased for teen-agers by some unscrupulous adult.

We'll agree that many parents fail in their duties when it comes to explaining the hazards of liquor.

Our final argument rests with the complaints of New York's neighboring states—the easier it is for youngsters to get beer and whisky at an early age, the greater the chance that they will underestimate its danger.

Bridge Will Strengthen Ties With Canada

Another valuable tie with our good Canadian neighbors will be effected at the end of this month when the new bridge connects Sault Ste. Marie with its counterpart across the border.

The new $20-million International Bridge over the Soo Locks and the St. Mary's River will replace ferry service running since 1888. When it is completed, the 9,230-foot span will connect 1-75 with Canada's 5,000-mile transcontinental highway. Businessmen of the area see hopes of increased industrial and business growth with the easier connection of the two cities. Certainly it will aid the tourist business, just as the Mackinac Bridge did.

Motorists will be able to get on 1-75 at Tampa, Fla., and drive 1,500 miles to the Soo, where they can switch over to the Canadian highway which goes from coast to coast in that nation.

Joining the Blue Water Bridge at Port Huron and the Ambassador Bridge and Detroit tunnel, this new addition is a further evidence of the great friendship and long-standing ties with our northern neighbor.

The Man About Town Area Aroused Seek Government Action to Hold Medical Man

BY HOWARD HELDENBRAND
Along with the Congressional Record, our own newspaper is read in official Washington. It wouldn't surprise us if at the moment it is required reading in the offices of the U. S. Attorney General and State Department.

A recent feature by Press staffer Ralph P. Hummel publicized the plight of Dr. Constantine Cerkez, resident physician at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, engaged in breakthrough research on the cause of multiple sclerosis.

But his five-year Turkish exchange visa expires in a month, and unless official action is taken, the brilliant scientist will be lost to the U.S.

Our able and energetic Congressman William S. Broomfield moved by The Press story he had read and many letters from constituents citing it, introduced a Congressional bill to stay the imminent departure of Dr. Cerkez.

The bill, however, got pigeon-holed in the rush of adjournment. Now, the matter rests in the lap of the gods—and with the Departments named above.

Another civic institution deserving acclaim and support of all is the Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall Series which began its fourth season this morning. Under the presidency of

Mrs. J. C. Walker of 442 W. Iroquois Road, it offers a diversity of appeal with a series of five events. The Town Hall, besides providing cultural stimulation for the area, has substantially supported other community bodies.

This has consisted of financial assistance of some $4,000 to the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, $600 to Warner Memorial Home, and the establishment of two MSUO scholarships.

Membership attendance quota is 200, in past years fully attained. . . . MATT's best wishes for a most successful 1962-63 season.

In Pontiac General Hospital with an affair of the heart is Clifford E. Inman of 2319 Garland. He is coming along fine, just about at the nurse-chasing stage . . . said that he would like to pass the time of day with any visitors with a little time on their hands.

David Lawrence Says:

JFK's Cuban Policy Lambasted

By DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — What really is the policy of the Kennedy administration in relation to the Communist occupation of Cuba?

The President has not made it clear on the stump. Nor has the Department of State made it clear in its public statements.

But the Soviet government on its part has made very clear LAWRENCE what has happened to America's historic policy known as the Monroe Doctrine. Here is a news dispatch by UPI a few days ago from Moscow:

"The Kremlin Sunday listed Premier Fidel Castro's Cuba among the Communist nations for the first time and gave it precedence over Yugoslavia and Communist China in listing the traditional slogans for the 45th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution on Nov. 7."

For all practical purposes, the Soviet government has set up its system in Cuba and transformed that country into a Communist colony.

President Kennedy has made no public protest to Moscow. Nor has Congress done so. The Resolution adopted by both Houses merely cautions the Communists not to carry out any armed attack or military offensive against any other nation in this hemisphere.

It's apparently all right for them to keep on doing what they have been doing in Cuba.

Thus has the Monroe Doctrine been scuttled. Communist takeover of any other Latin American country is, in effect, sanctioned today by U.S. policy.

As late as April 1961, the Kennedy administration was willing to help by military means the Cubans who tried to liberate their homeland. But after the expedition was bungled and the President at a crucial moment withheld military air support, the administration retreated still further by declaring publicly it would intervene only if Cuba attacks some other country.

OPPOSITION

There is, of course, an appeasement faction in this country which has a considerable influence with President Kennedy.

This school of thought insists that the Monroe Doctrine isn't "international law," or that it has become outmoded because the United States has from time to time stationed troops in Southeast Asia and in Western Europe and in Korea.

The Country Parson

"One of the difficulties of modern life is that we are busier trying to find customers than friends."

But in each case the United States had taken the measures of military defense at the request of the existing governments or by an agreement of Allies. The Soviet Union can contend that it is doing the same thing in Cuba.

Oddly enough, the joint resolutions adopted recently by Congress says in its preamble:

"Whereas President James Monroe, announcing the Monroe Doctrine in 1823, declared that the United States would consider any attempt on the part of European powers to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety."

This is a reaffirmation of the words of the doctrine, but actually the main part of the resolution itself doesn't go on to implement that declaration.

What has actually happened is that the United States govern-

Dr. Wayne Brandstadt Says:

Antibiotics Suppress Undulant Fever Germs

Q—I have had undulant fever for many years. I feel weak and tired all the time. Is there any cure?

A—Although treatment with a combination of antibiotics can bring about rapid improvement in a person with undulant fever and may even save life, these drugs suppress rather than kill the causative germs.

When the vague feelings of general debility that follow an attack of this disease in some people are not improved by a course of antibiotics, it is of no use to continue them.

You should BRANDSTADT consult your doctor for ways to build up your strength both physically and emotionally.

Q—What has caused the great increase in diseases of the heart and arteries and different kinds of cancer in the last 50 years?

A—With an increase in the population and especially in the number of persons living past the half century mark, there was bound to be an increase in the diseases that are more common in persons over 50.

Another reason is the fact that we now have better statistics. The U.S. Public Health Service says in spite of the increase in the number of persons with heart disease the death rate per unit of population from this cause has shown a decrease in the last 20 years.

Q—When I lie down at night my heart seems to beat very fast for a minute or two then it gives one whopping big beat then it skips a beat or two. It will do this several times a night and it may keep me awake. After I go to sleep it never seems to wake me. I had to take a physical examination a few weeks ago. The doctor said my heart was OK. Could you please advise me what to do?

A—From your description I would guess that you have extra-ment has retreated before the word and given up that section of the Monroe Doctrine which commits this country to resist any attempt by European powers "to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere."

This means that, in the face of the Soviet occupation of a country only 90 miles away from our shores, the United States government acquiesces in such an encroachment on the Monroe Doctrine by the Soviet government.

Thus, as Winston Churchill once said, surrender or unwillingness to fight for what is right when the military odds are in one's favor leads eventually to a big war in which the risks are greater and the involvement is far more dangerous.

The Cuban policy of the administration is properly an issue for speakers in the current congressional campaign. (Copyright, 1962) systems. This is a very common condition and in no way related to organic heart disease.

The fact that your doctor found nothing wrong with your heart would confirm this. Skipped beats can be a nuisance but thousands of persons live with them.

Smoking may aggravate this condition. If you can train yourself not to worry about these skipped beats you will have less difficulty getting to sleep.

Jimmy will be nine years old this fall. Three years ago doctors said he would never walk again. Polio had twisted his young muscles and left him with useless legs. No one told Jimmy and he keeps trying. When you're almost ten, you don't understand a whole lot of wheel chairs and crutches.

Jimmy had therapy in a good hospital. His world was white walls and ceilings, whirlpool baths, and sober people trying to walk—some just trying to move.

Peter was born with muscular dystrophy. Sometimes Peter went to the doctor. His father made him crutches out of shipping crates. He had a lot of spirit; his brothers and sisters would sometimes pick him up when he fell. Other times they would laugh as he tried to talk and call him mumbles mouth.

In saluting newspaper week, I'd like to shake hands with our own Pontiac Press. We are lucky to have such an outstanding publication in our area — one that has won a large number of trophies and prizes over the years in national contests for excellence in covering a variety of things.

Also, I am always glad The Press speaks out on important happenings. The big news of the world is published every day. Your photographs are good and I think the paper is much better printed than those I see as I travel about.

'U.S. Simply Ignores Invasion of Cuba'

The Soviet Union has conquered Cuba. It has moved its troops, MIGs and missiles across the Atlantic in a spectacular extension of its military frontier.

It is, nevertheless, becoming clear that we will do nothing in return because our leaders do not consider this extracontinental invasion to be an offensive move. They are waiting for a "significant offensive" before acting.

A glance over the situation in Latin America reveals a massive Soviet political warfare offensive against virtually every country. It has as its goal the subjugation of every country in the hemisphere and in some countries it is succeeding.

Quotes Faulkner on Race Prejudice

The late William Faulkner was asked if race prejudice was economic. He replied: "Absolutely. To produce cotton we have a peonage. That's at the bottom of the situation." Asked, "Are the psychological rationalizations for prejudice something grafted on the economic root?" He answered: "Yes, I would say that a planter who has a thousand acres wants to keep the Negro in a position of debt peonage."

Tells of Misuse of Picnic Tables

Why are some people so thoughtless and destructive with public property? In Beaudette Park they are using picnic tables in the water as a dock to fish from. I'm sure the tables weren't meant to be used this way. Not only is this ruining the tables but it hardly improves the looks of the river. Can something be done?

Write for Free Booklet

PEORIA, Ill. (Special) — A tiny new hearing aid device has just been developed using a new type silicon transistors, according to Paul R. H. Smith, head of Transmaster Laboratories.

Hermetically sealed in glass, the pinhead sized transistors make possible a more powerful hearing aid scarcely larger than a paper clip. Worn on the ear itself, the hearing device brings in sound right at ear level. The instrument has been especially effective for nerve cases and for persons who normally are troubled by background noise. It is one of the quietest hearing aids ever made.

Full details plus a booklet written especially for the hard-of-hearing and their families may be obtained by writing to: Dept. JK 424, Transmaster Labs, 1810 W. Flower Parkway, Peoria, Ill. The material will be mailed without obligation.

Don't Snub Cabbage!

By Josephine Lowman

Often we do not recognize a celebrity when we see one! I am thinking today of some of the distinguished foods we take for granted.

For instance, we have long known that cabbage is a valuable food because of its rich vitamin C content and also because it gives us thiamine, iron, folic acid and essential roughage. However, how many of you know about the famous history of this vegetable? I didn't until I read about it recently.

Cabbage has been eaten for thousands of years. It probably originated in the eastern Mediterranean. It was such a favorite dish of the Egyptians that they even built altars to it. The Greeks and Romans not only liked it but believed that it prevented drunkenness.

The Roman statesman Cato was an enthusiastic advocate of cabbage. In a book about agriculture he spent five whole pages extolling its benefits. It is not known just how this vegetable found its way to northern Europe. It may have been brought back by raiding parties or the Romans may have taken the seeds with them to the north countries. Anyway, today it is eaten in practically every country in the world.

So, today when you buy a head of cabbage, have respect not only because of its nutritional value but of its background. After the citrus fruits, tomatoes and cabbage are highest in vitamin C content.

I think we are likely to look down our noses at some of the seemingly homely, taken-for-granted food items. Carrots are always available and inexpensive but they are loaded with health values. They also are delicious when lightly cooked and seasoned with butter, margarine or herbs, or eaten raw. They also are low in calorie count.

A cup of cabbage gives you only 25 calories and one carrot only about 20 calories. Invest in these two friends!

If you would like to have my calorie chart, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 36 to Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.
