Farmboy Tells 'How He Killed'

Says He Shot Father in Cornfield Because He Mistreated Family

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—A 12-year-old farmboy was held in the Vigo County Jail today on an open charge after telling police a startling story of how he killed his father yesterday in a cornfield on his mother's 33rd birthday.

Jerry Fulk told the story to Edgar County (Ill.) sheriff's deputies after he was picked up near Paris, Ill., driving the family car.

BODY IN FIELD

The father, Clifford W. Fulk, 38, was found in a field about 250 feet from the home, riddled with bullets.

Police quoted the boy as saying he shot his father because he "drank too much, left his mother and seven children without food, beat him and refused to buy his school supplies."

Jerry, a seventh grade pupil, said: "I never made good grades in school because he wouldn't buy my notebooks."

LURED FATHER

The youngster said he lured his father into the cornfield after lunch to "look at the corn" and shot at Fulk with a .32 caliber revolver stolen from his uncle. Police said they found five bullets in the body.

The boy gave this account: "I first shot him in the back. He turned around screaming, and I shot him again—this time in the stomach. He took off running toward the house and I shot at him again—three more times. I know I hit him, because he screamed again."

"He tried to hide, and I took off running to get more shells. When I came back with the gun loaded, he was standing up. I fired again and he fell. He said, 'Why? Why?' Then I shot him in the top of the head."

Vigo County deputies said the family knew nothing about the shooting until they went to the home to investigate.

The boy's mother, Dollie, expecting her eighth child in October, commented but briefly on Jerry's story about the father mistreating the family. She said: "It must have been an accident."

Claim Hoffa Support Rigged

Teamster Body Maps Changes in Constitution

Powers of President Would Be Cut Under Proposed Revisions

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A 15-member committee which has been at work for months today was putting finishing touches on proposed revisions of the constitution of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The revisions will be submitted to the international convention that starts here Sept. 30.

They would, if ratified, curtail the powers of the international president of the gigantic organization of transportation workers.

The committee suggestions will propose that the General Executive Board comprising 11 vice presidents elected at large, the general president and the secretary-treasurer have a much greater voice in control of the union, which numbers nearly 1½ million members.

The Constitution Committee, appointed by retiring President Dave Beck, has been holding day and night sessions at the convention headquarters here.

Meanwhile, the vast union, whose leaders have been assailed on charges of misconduct, snubbed a New York session of the AFL-CIO Executive Council tomorrow and Wednesday, at which charges against the Teamsters are to be aired.

In a letter to AFL-CIO President George Meany, Beck denied charges of misconduct, in effect rejecting an invitation to appear at the hearing and said Teamsters Union membership would decide whether or not the officials have been guilty of misconduct.

Beck and his heir-apparent, James R. Hoffa of Detroit, Midwest Teamsters boss, said they would not attend the New York meeting and that the Teamsters Union would not be officially represented.

John English of Washington, Teamsters secretary-treasurer, will be at the meeting, but only in his capacity as an individual member of the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

Parents Protest at Garage

WATERFORD PARENTS PICKET — Three Waterford Township fathers picket this morning at the entrance to the school district bus maintenance building on Pontiac Lake Road. They are protesting the safety hazard they claim their children are confronted with when they walk to school because of lack of sidewalks. Left to right are Russell Elkins Jr., of 7188 Wedworth Rd.; Ralph W. Blair, of 6527 Elizabeth Lake Rd., leader of the group and George Chakroff, of 7480 Elizabeth Lake Rd.

Quiet Moment at Center of Controversy

A PEACEFUL MOMENT — The Little Rock, Ark. Central High School was peaceful yesterday morning, when this picture was taken. Today Negro students were admitted for the first time, in another development of the controversial segregation problem facing the city. Little Rock police and state troopers have replaced National Guardsmen at the school.

Parents Picket in Waterford

Demand School Board Furnish Rides on Buses for All Students

Waterford Township parents took another step in their fight to have school bus transportation for all of their children this morning when they began to picket at the Waterford school bus terminal and the school board office.

More than 100 under the leadership of Ralph Blair, of 6527 Elizabeth Lake Rd., met at the William Beaumont elementary school yesterday afternoon to plan an organized protest.

BUSES FOR ALL

The parents want bus transportation for all children in Waterford Township "until safe walking facilities are available," Blair said.

This morning, 50 parents and their children were escorted by a Michigan State Police car, as they marched to the Hudson Covert elementary school, 1150 Scott Lake Rd.

The group met at 8:30 a.m. at Scott Lake and Wanamaker roads to take their children to school.

The speed limit along this highway leading to the school is 40 miles per hour. Traffic was blocked this morning as the parents marched with their children to school. They will pick them up en masse at 3:30 this afternoon.

Children attending the William Beaumont elementary school on Hospital Road were escorted to school by their parents individually today.

Blair reports parents will picket the bus terminal and board of

Mob Violent as Negroes Enter Little Rock School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Eight Negro students slipped into a side door at Central High School today while a diversionary group of Negro adults fought with an angry crowd of whites to divert their attention.

Fights broke out immediately and State Police joined city patrolmen to battle the surging whites.

Reporters who caught just a glimpse of the students as they were rushed into the building through a side door said nine had entered but the school office said the number was eight.

DIVERTS CROWD

The well-executed plan of diversion held the crowd's attention long enough for the Negro students to be driven onto the campus and whisked through the side door.

One of the Negro adults was knocked down, beaten and kicked. Women screamed and men cursed.

Dixie Governors Call for Unity

Southern State Heads Argue Race Squabble Difference of Degree

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (INS)—Southern governors called today for an end to the servitude of party labels and for national unity, rather than extreme sectionalism.

Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida—himself mentioned prominently in Dixie as a presidential hopeful—told fellow chief executives at the Southern Governors' Conference that the nation is in the midst of a political evolution, with the issues and decisions national, rather than regional in scope.

Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina advanced the argument that attitudes of people, north and south, are basically the same, on the race question—the difference being merely one of degree.

Only Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland in the Republican minority, disagreed.

Chiding the South for "clinging to the past," he said the region cannot achieve parity economically or politically with the rest of the nation until "the South exorcises from its house the lingering ghosts of an era that is gone, ceases the self-torturing of a century, and accepts a full voting membership in the two-party system of the sisterhood of states."

The bid for national recognition for the "New South," politically and economically, came with the issue of segregation, pinpointed by Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus' struggle for power with the Federal Government, superseding the normally academic interest in industrialization and improvement of educational facilities.

Bark Presumed Lost in Storm

Four-Masted Sailing Vessel With 86 Aboard Vanishes in Atlantic

LONDON (AP)—The Hamburg owners of the German sailing ship Pamir said today they presumed the four-masted bark had been lost in the storm-lashed Atlantic.

The owners held out hope, however, that some survivors of 86 aboard might still be found.

SHIP VANISHES

The sailing vessel vanished Saturday after radioing that she had lost all her sails about 550 miles southwest of the Azores.

The owners said 62 cadets, of whom 25 were on their first trip, were aboard the vessel. There were 17 regular crew men and 7 officers. This made a total of 86 persons aboard.

The finding of two empty lifeboats and a raft previously had raised fears the vessel had gone down.

Rescue planes and ships crisscrossed the mid-Atlantic without finding a trace of the four-masted bark that had weathered many a storm in her 52 years at sea.

In New York, the Coast Guard reported last night that its cutter Absecon, a Canadian destroyer escort and three merchant ships had reached the Pamir's last reported position. Other ships were on the way there.

City Teamsters Join Up With Protest Group

Say Delegates Picked Without Knowledge of Rank and File

A group of Pontiac Teamsters has supported charges that delegations to the Teamsters' convention next week in Miami have been "rigged" to assure the election of James R. Hoffa to the throne of the 1,500,000-member union.

A spokesman, who asked that his name be withheld, said 50 signed affidavits had been mailed to a New York group charging officials of Pontiac Local 614 had not complied with the constitution in picking a delegate or delegates to the convention.

"We don't even know who the delegate or delegates are, and were never informed as rank-and-file members when and how they were chosen," the spokesman said.

A group of rank-and-file Teamsters from the New York area last week filed a suit charging that delegations to the Sept. 30 convention were "rigged."

This Friday Hoffa and 11 other Teamsters Union leaders have been directed to appear before U. S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts to show cause why the union election should not be delayed.

Meanwhile, Hoffa, heir-apparent to the $50,000 presidency of the giant union, was expected to be absent Tuesday when the Senate Labor Rackets Committee resumes its probe of the Teamsters' vice president.

15 WITNESSES
Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said he had 15 witnesses, mostly from the Detroit area, lined up for the new inquiry and would proceed with the hearings whether or not Hoffa was present.

The continuation of the hearings is expected to stem from visits to Detroit and Pontiac of Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy and a handful of investigators.

But investigators remained silent on whether the committee will touch on the activities of the Pontiac local. And it was not immediately known whether local officials were among the 15 to be called tomorrow.

Oakland, Macomb Pipeline to Lake Huron Goes Ahead

By PETE LOCHBILER

The Southeastern Michigan Water Authority is going ahead with its own plans for a Lake Huron pipeline to Oakland and Macomb Counties despite the Detroit Water Board's interest in a similar project.

In fact, said authority chairman Howard K. Kelley of Royal Oak, "If Detroit residents need water when our pipeline is finished, we'd be glad to pump some to them."

COMPLETE STUDY

A four-month $118,000 study of the engineering and financial feasibility of the authority's proposal should be completed at the end of next month, said Kelley, mayor of Royal Oak.

"We are farther along than Detroit in making a pipeline a reality and are fully determined to continue, if it's feasible, no matter what Detroit does."

The authority was set up by Oakland and Macomb Counties, each putting up $38,000 for the study after a group of consulting engineers conducted a preliminary survey and announced the project's prospects looked good.

DUAL PIPELINES

The venture being studied calls for dual pipelines, each eight feet in diameter, running from an intake north of Port Huron to a pumping station near Auburn Heights.

From Auburn Heights, water could be fanned out through smaller lines to Pontiac and other north Oakland County communities, Macomb County and possibly to the south Oakland County communities that have been using Detroit water for many years, said Kelley.

The project would cost an estimated $70 million and when the authority has paid off the total cost, the pipeline would revert to ownership by the people of both counties, Kelley said.

"The people who would be serviced by the pipeline are getting more and more desperate for more water," said Kelley. "They would (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Board to Meet in Waterford

Will Hear Presentation of 90-Day Extension on Sewer Service

A 90-day extension of sewer service for the Pontiac Shopping Center, at Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph Roads, will be presented at tonight's regular Waterford Township meeting.

Further discussion on the rezoning of Walton Boulevard property from residential to commercial will also be on the agenda. Attorneys for the Township and owner have been negotiating and a report will be presented tonight.

The court case against the Ward gravel pit, at Maceday Lake, which was started by the former Township board, will be discussed and a conclusion should be reached, according to James Seterlin, Township clerk.

Petitions against the Elizabeth Lake Pharmacy, Elizabeth Lake Road and Winding Drive, prohibiting sale of liquor will be presented for board action.

The State Liquor Control Commission has approved the liquor license for owners William Hight and John Zoch.

The local board tentatively approved the license some time ago, but has the authority to reverse its decision in case there are objections in the immediate area.

The board will appoint a new constable to replace John Coleman, who has been appointed Township trustee.

Special assessment districts for street lighting in various parts of the Township will also be on the agenda, according to Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

Two Milford Boys Struck on Bicycles

Two Milford youths were injured, one slightly, as they were struck by a passing car while riding their bicycles in front of 1343 Wixom Rd., near Milford Sunday, report Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

William R. Elmore, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Elmore, 531 Union St., was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with multiple lacerations. He was listed in satisfactory condition today.

His friend, Robert Robinson, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carol Robinson, 322 Union St., was treated at the scene and sent home. Witnesses said the boys rode directly in front of a car driven by Charles J. Newell, 59, of 214 East St., Milford.

What are hurricane winds? How strong do such winds get? Why do they always last so long? Hurricane winds are those with a velocity of 75 m.p.h. or better. The velocity of the wind gusts in hurricanes is usually around a hundred miles an hour or greater in an average hurricane.

But they have been measured beyond 150 m.p.h. and have been known to do almost unbelievable things, such as drive a straw through a telephone pole. Recording instruments usually fail when winds reach such strengths.

Hurricane winds build up a crescendo and last a long time because a hurricane moves forward only slowly. The average speed is ten to twenty miles an hour. And since these storms cover an area of several hundred miles, winds usually last many hours, or into the second day.

24 Injured, One Seriously as Train Derails in Kansas

PEABODY, Kan. (AP)—The Rock Island Railroad's Twin-Star Rocket, headed from Minneapolis to Houston, derailed off the rails at the south edge of Peabody early today. Twenty-four were treated at hospitals for injuries.

Initial examination of the injured showed only one in serious condition. Wallace Hutchinson, 63, Wichita, Kan., had a possible skull fracture.

There was no indication of the cause of the wreck.

The Rocket ran into trouble about 100 yards north of the point where the Rock Island and the Santa Fe cross on the south edge of Peabody.

Most of the injured were in two passenger coaches which landed astirward the crossover, and on their sides. Both rail lines were blocked.

Mrs. Earl Bray, Enid, Okla., said she was half asleep in the first passenger coach and her 12-year-old son Allen was asleep beside her.

"There was a terrific bang, bang, bang," she said. "The car toppled over. I was riding about five seats back and landed in a corner. I got up but was too weak to stand and they carried me out of the car. I thought for a time it was the end of the world. My son landed across the aisle."

John Watson, Sunday editor of the Topeka (Kan.) Capital, also was riding in the first coach, along with his wife.

"It started jumping along, apparently hitting the ties," he said. "You knew you were going to turn over. Then it did turn over on its side. It felt like you were falling."

Another white woman, screaming and crying, had to be dragged to a patrol car. Apparently she was not arrested, but ordered to go home.

An Arkansas Democrat photographer returning to his office said he witnessed an "extremely brutal" beating of a Negro man.

He said the man had accompanied a Negro youth—apparently a student who possibly was the ninth student, who did not enter.

The youth managed to flee, but the white men began beating the Negro man with their fists and kicking him. He got up several times and was again knocked and kicked down.

Finally, someone shouted: "Don't kill him, give him three minutes."

At this, the mauling of the Negro was stopped and he hurried away.

About 200 spectators and 50 newsmen were on the scene at 7:30 a.m., but 50 state troopers, scheduled to assist city police in maintaining order, had not appeared.

The crowd seemed orderly and officers appeared to have the situation well in hand. The crowd was split into two groups, one on each end of the street before the school.

Northern Lights Herald Arrival of Autumn in State

A seven-hour display of northern lights last week heralded the coming of Autumn in Michigan. The spectacular show reported by U.S. Weather Bureau stations from coast-to-coast and as far south as Alabama.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Detroit said the lights could be seen in all sections of Michigan where the sky was clear.

Viewers in the southeastern part of the state first reported the shifting streamers of blue-green light about 8 p.m. The phenomenon reached a peak of brilliance about midnight, then slowly dimmed. It disappeared shortly after Autumn officially arrived at 2:27 a.m.

The diesel locomotive dragged one mail and baggage car about 33 yards beyond the crossing. The locomotive remained on the rails. The mail and baggage car skewed crosswise but was upright atop the roadbed.

Another mail and baggage car flipped over on its side and skidded down a 15-foot embankment.

One other coach turned over on its side along the right-of-way north of the crossover. The remaining cars ran off the rails but remained upright.

The Rocket was due at Wichita at 1:33 a.m., having left Minneapolis at noon. It derailed about 1:15 a.m.

Officials of the local could not be reached today to answer charges they violated the international constitution in picking convention delegates.

"These delegates were picked by Hoffa or by people under his command to vote just the way Hoffa says," the group spokesman charged.

He said the affidavits were signed by both paid-up Local 614 members and others who had dropped out of the local because "their representation in the local was not according to the constitution."

A top opponent of Hoffa's in the contest for the presidency, Thomas J. Haggerty of Chicago, declared yesterday he had 800 of 922 delegate votes needed to win.

Today Hoffa was scheduled to appear in Federal court in New York on wiretapping charges. However, his attorneys were expected to seek a postponement.

Hoffa was indicted May 14 along with Owen B. Brennan, president of Detroit Local 337, and professional wiretapper Bernard B. Spindel of Holmes, N. Y.

If convicted, they face a maximum of one year in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Three members of a Rochester family and a Lake Orion man were injured in a head-on collision on Gunn Rd. about one mile east of Orion Rd. in Oakland Township, Sunday, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

The driver of one car, James H. Hunt, 38, of 4190 Orion Rd., Lake Orion, was injured, as was the other driver, George H. Bouwens, 46, his wife, Marjorie, 46, and their son, David, 12, all of 1212 Gunn Rd., Rochester.

All were treated at Pontiac General Hospital for minor injuries, and released, according to a hospital spokesman. The two drivers told deputies they were blinded by each other's headlights.

Owosso (INS) — A small tornado struck Owosso and Flushing Saturday, felling trees and causing minor property damage. No one was injured.

Pontiac Residents Must Be on Rolls for Hospital Vote

If you are not on the election rolls one week from today, you will be disqualified from voting Oct. 28 in the $950,000 election to equip and furnish Pontiac General Hospital.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans reiterated today that only property owners in the city will be eligible to cast ballots. This is under state law which says only such persons can say whether a city may issue general obligation bonds.

Registrations to date has been very slight, Mrs. Evans said. The deadline will be 8 p.m. Sept. 30. The clerk's office in the City Hall is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. On the 30th it will remain open until 8 p.m. The clerk also instructed those voters who have a new address from the one appearing on the election rolls to report same to her office.

Rescue Teams Seek 11 Trapped

Explosion in Mine Shaft Near Pittsburgh Pens Supervisory Employees

CENTREVILLE, Pa. (INS) — Rescue teams are seeking ways to reach 11 supervisory employees who were trapped today by an explosion in a shaft of a coal mine at Ten Mile, Pa., some 30 miles south of Pittsburgh.

State Police Capt. Frank Garnow said four of the 11 men trapped underground had been contacted by a telephone dropped to them at the 300 foot level of the Longstreth shaft of the Marianna coal mine.

There was no word from the other trapped men.

The mine, owned by Bethlehem Mines Corp., a division of Bethlehem Steel, was not operating today because a ventilating fan had been disabled. It was believed that gas accumulated and exploded because the fan was not working.

The force of the blast blew the elevator cage out of the shaft, which is a new one opened last July, and scattered debris over a wide area.

Capt. Garnow said rescue crews thought the best chance of reaching the trapped men was through another entrance.

T. J. Crocker, mining manager at Johnstown, Pa., said: "We know there are 11 men at the bottom of the shaft. We know something happened, but don't know what yet."

Oakland, Macomb Plan on Pipeline

do better to own their own pipeline than be forced to turn to Detroit for water at higher rates."

A big stumbling block, which may be removed by the study, has been the fear that there are not enough customers in the area to be serviced to make the pipeline financially feasible.

The preliminary survey indicated that water could be brought from Lake Huron at a customer rate of $1.10 to $1.20 a thousand gallons only if 200 million gallons are sold every day.

That is the reason that water might profitably be pumped to Detroit if Detroiters need it, said Kelley.

Would the water authority attempt to make inroads in established Detroit markets north of Eight Mile road if enough customers were not found elsewhere?

Kelley, whose home town of Royal Oak gets its water from Detroit, said he didn't think so.

"We're not trying to compete with Detroit, but are willing to cooperate with her as far as we can," he said.

Kelley said this will be his attitude when he meets in Detroit Thursday with a water board representative and David V. Addy, Detroit auditor general.

The Water Board has agreed to seek City Council approval to spend $100,000 for the engineering design of a second intake and water-treatment plant to bring Lake Huron water to Detroit users. The Detroit project has been estimated at $79 million.

Legislation was passed last spring that would allow Detroit to extend its water services still farther beyond the city limits.

It is now allowed to sell water anywhere it wishes and at rates exceeding twice the amount paid by Detroiters, if necessary in order to make outside service profitable.

Extension of Detroit's water service to suburban communities has been strongly advocated by the late Mayor Cobo.

Pontiac is the biggest city interested in contracting for Detroit water on the new terms. The city, however, has held off committing itself until the water authority study is completed.

Warns World of Rising Prices

International Bankers Told Inflation Is Most Serious Problem

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower said today that inflation is "a world-wide phenomenon" and called on financial experts of the free nations to give it their most serious consideration. The President made the subject a major part of his welcome address to finance ministers and bank officials of 64 nations attending the annual World Bank Conference.

Mr. Eisenhower said that none of the problems on the agenda of the week-long meeting is more pressing than the tendency to rising prices.

He said: "Particular aspects may differ among countries but throughout men everywhere recognize inflation and the threat to sound economic growth."

After a quarter of a century of depression and war, the President said, the nations of the world are now engaged in a great effort to win for their peoples sustained prosperity in peacetime.

He declared: "In our age, for the first time in history, dreams of a better material life have become everyday hopes among millions accustomed to abject poverty."

"And for the first time in history, the aim of fostering high living standards has become a central concern of governments everywhere, and of the international community."

Looking at what he called the "common sense aspect" of inflation, Mr. Eisenhower said that economic resources can meet only so many demands and rising prices which follow must be offset by increased productivity.

"In most places there aren't any sidewalks or even shoulders to walk along. It's unsafe for our children to walk to school," Blair said.

The parents took their problem to the school board Thursday at the regular meeting but no action was taken.

William Shunk, superintendent of Waterford schools, said: "The problem here is the lack of sidewalks, not the walking distance."

Flu Threatens to Shut Schools in Port Huron

PORT HURON (INS)—Public schools in Port Huron may be closed if absences due to a virus infection rise.

School Supt. Howard D. Crull said yesterday:

"If absences Monday are above 20 per cent, we will seriously consider closing the schools."

Dr. F. S. Leeder, director of disease control for the Michigan Department of Health, has requested throat washings be taken from sick children to determine if the virus is Asian flu.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — An outbreak of flu has reached epidemic proportions at the University of Alabama.

Dr. James B. McLeister, director of the Student Health Service, yesterday said tests are being conducted to determine whether it is Asian flu.

McLeister said 36 patients were admitted to the university hospital at the peak last week. Many more students were treated.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — At least 600 of Texas A&M's 7,400 students had influenza today.

Dr. C. R. Lyons, superintendent of the school hospital, said specimens have been sent to the State Health Department for tests, but no positive reports of Asian flu were reported.

At Fort Worth, a Texas Christian University said the virus epidemic which struck 400 students last week as about over.

City Fathers to Honor Late Mayor Tonight

BIRMINGHAM — A memorial tribute to the late Harry Allen, last president of the Village of Birmingham, and first mayor of the city, will be issued by commissioners tonight.

Mr. Allen, who died Sept. 16, had spent most of his life in Birmingham and from 1914, when he became village attorney, to his resignation last May from the Library Board, had devoted much of his time and effort in behalf of his community.

Also to come before commissioners will be the public hearing on the vacation of that section of Dorchester avenue lying between the Grand Trunk Railroad and Eaton Rd.

L. R. Gare, city manager, said his office concurs with the Planning Board recommendation that the street be vacated.

The commission also will consider the request for the paving of Elm street, south of Webster Ave. The request was made in behalf of E. R. White of the Pontiac Laundry, who proposes to erect a business building at that site.

Birmingham police tonight will receive the "No-Death Award" from the American Automobile Assn., in behalf of its Pedestrian Protection Division.

The trial of James D. Shepherd, 26, which was to have opened Tuesday morning by Judge Clark J. Adams, has been postponed to Oct. 8.

Shepherd is charged with the fatal stabbing, on May 27, of his wife, Betty Hutton Shepherd, at their home on Pierce St.

Monroe Grider Dies in Hospital

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A 17-year-old Monroe high school football player, injured in his team's first game of the season last Friday, died today in University Hospital.

Colin MacFarlane, a senior who had won two football letters, never regained consciousness after collapsing on the bench in the final game.

He underwent three hours of surgery for a severe brain concussion Friday night.

Coach Jerry Planutis, a former Michigan State University star fullback making his debut as a coach, said no one knew how the boy was hurt.

MacFarlane, a 6-foot-2, 180-pound center, was removed from the game with a leg injury. He collapsed while sitting on the side-quarter of the Monroe-Adrian lines.

The youth is survived by his father, Colin A. MacFarlane, a half-brother, Judson Joyce, and a half-sister, Mrs. Russell Mann. His mother died about a year ago.

Last Summer Weekend Takes 10 Lives in Traffic

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Summer's last weekend, a dreary, rainy one, took ten lives in Michigan traffic accidents.

Autumn arrived early this morning and cooling, wet weather cut down the steady stream of traffic that jammed Michigan highways during the hot summer months.

One accident took the lives of three suburban Detroiters.

Judy Carney, 16, Detroit, died early today of injuries suffered Saturday night when struck by a car at a Detroit intersection.

William Erie, 32, Ray Township, was fatally injured Saturday night when struck by a car in the township.

Robert Switzer, 20, Taylor ship; his 29-year-old wife Margaret and their son Billy, 9, were killed Saturday night in a three-car collision in Dearborn Township.

John P. Zabrowski, 69, Jackson, was fatally injured Sunday when struck by a car while attempting to cross a Jackson street. Police said the driver, Chalmers H. Ross of Michigan Center was released pending further questioning.

Three-week-old James Edward Gilling was fatally injured Saturday night in a two-car collision in Montcalm County.

George E. Stanton, 25, Marne, was found dead Saturday in a field south of Grand Rapids. Police said Stanton apparently lost control of the car and flipped over after hitting a tree.

Douglas A. Allison, 15, Anchorville was injured fatally Sunday. Police said he rode his bike out of a driveway into the path of a car in front of his home.

Side Ensign, 30, Coopersville, was killed Sunday while attempting to cross U.S. 16 about 3½ miles northwest of Coopersville. Ottawa county deputies said Ensign was struck by a car driven by Walter J. Charles of Lansing.

Person With Zest for Living Remains Youthful

Lack of Interest in the World Causes Aging

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This little playlet took place in a restaurant. Similar ones no doubt occur many places every single day. At the table next to mine two women were talking. I judged from the conversation that they had been in school together but had not seen one another for years.

First woman (poorly groomed, poor posture, a defeated look and too many pounds):

"I just can't get over running into you like this! I have thought of you many times during the years since we were in college together . . . but you know how it is."

Second woman (well-groomed, alert, lovely figure):

"Yes, indeed. I don't know where the time goes! I never am able to do half the things I want to do. But I did want us to keep in better touch."

First woman: "You know, you haven't changed one bit. You don't look a day older. I don't know how you keep your figure and find time to do all of those things you do. But I guess you have a maid. That makes a big difference."

Second woman: "It still isn't too late. Our children are school age now and the classes are in the morning. They are starting some beginning courses next week."

First woman: "You know, you haven't changed one bit. You don't look a day older. I don't know how you keep your figure and find time to do all of those things you do. But I guess you have a maid. That makes a big difference."

Second woman: "I haven't had a maid for years. We can't afford one."

First woman: "How did you get along with your painting? You used to love that but I suppose you have dropped it, what with the children and all."

Second woman: "Nope! I don't have any real talent but my technique has improved and I have exhibited a few of my pictures."

First woman: "That's great! Honestly, I cannot get over you. You look so young and I have aged so much."

Second woman: "Oh, stop it! All you have to do is to lose a few pounds and get out of the house once in a while and you will bloom."

First woman: "I'd really like to but I just don't see how I can find the time."

At this point they left the table and left me newly impressed with the moral—when women lack a keen interest in the world about them, if they fail to develop old interests and add new ones, they almost always age rapidly.

I am awfully afraid this lady stayed in her rut. Why? I don't know! Perhaps because of discouragement, or timidity, or habit, or maybe because of lack of energy due to a poor state of health. BUT boredom can make one feel ill!

LUXURY RETURNING TO BATHING ROUTINE

In ancient Rome and Greece bathing was quite a ritual. The luxurious baths were times of conviviality as well as cleanliness. It seems that the longer one stayed in the baths the more prominent he or she was socially. No doubt some social climbers became water-logged! People literally spent hours at the bath.

Some became so enthusiastic that they had their backs scraped with a crude sort of implement. This doesn't sound so good to me. I think I will stick to my long-handled bath brush. Beautiful part of your back. There are water softeners and sprays. You can have pillows for the tub so that you can really relax.

We have finally caught onto the idea that a clean complexion is likely to be a clear one: that soap and a bath brush keep the skin free of blemishes; that frequent shampooing puts more gloss and life into our hair than any preparation yet devised.

Why not take a tip from the Romans and Greeks and make your bath a time for relaxation. Make it leisurely. Even read in the tub when you have time, while your cold cream soaks in and your hair is rolled up in pin curls.

This will improve your disposition and personality because it is practically impossible to step out of a lazy bath feeling irritable. Your nerves, as well as your skin, get a rub-down.

Tomorrow: Health Values of Bathing.

Success Achieved Haphazardly

By ANNE HEYWOOD

When you see or hear about successful people, the picture always looks so neat, so logical, so very much planned that way.

But when you get to know them well, you see that the chain of events which led to their good fortune was just as haphazard and unplanned as it could be.

What happens is they do the best they can as they go along. When the going gets rough, they take a deep breath, try the first solution they can think of—and it proves to be successful.

WONDERFUL JOB

I think of Mrs. L. as an example.

Mrs. L. has a wonderful job with a landscape architect. In fact, she's just recently been made a partner.

Her husband and grown children are very proud of her. She is attractive, happy and makes a large income. She is as competent on her job as she is in running a beautiful house. You'd just naturally assume that Mrs. L. studied hard and long, was always destined to be in the landscaping field and that she planned every inch of her career. But you'd be completely wrong.

Mrs. L. married before she even finished high school. She never took a course in horticulture in her life and doesn't even have a green thumb.

LOVES FLOWERS

"But," she told me the other day, "I do love flowers, shrubs and plants and I have always thought a house looks positively naked without them. So, when the children were in school, I decided to get a good landscape architect to help me with our grounds."

"I had a little nest egg set aside and my husband agreed landscaping would add to the value of the house. So we went ahead."

"The man I hired—Aaron, now my partner—was marvelous. He did the best job and very reasonably, too."

"I was delighted with the results, but I couldn't understand why he didn't have more customers and a bigger place."

"Then I realized he was such an artist, that he had no time or inclination for the selling end. So I asked for a part-time job, selling his services. COMMISSION BASIS he let me do it on a commission basis.

"The first thing that happened was—I broke my leg! But somehow that gave me an added stimulus. I just did my job by phone from the wheelchair."

"Everybody adored Aaron's work and, what with my sales talks, the business began to grow."

"Later, when the kids went to high school, I took the job as a full-time employee. And now we're partners!"

This case is just further proof that behind most success stories there is a weird series of events, not a logically planned campaign.

If selling products or services by phone is of interest to you, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you my pamphlet on the subject.

Put On Atoms-for-Peace Group

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS
Robert McKinney, the nation's top atoms-for-peace representative, brings to his new post the talents of a very successful newspaper publisher, cattle breeder — and poet.

But the mysteries of the atom won't faze McKinney despite his non-scientific background. In 1955 he headed a citizen's panel on the peaceful uses of atomic energy which reported to Congress after a 10-month study.

NAMED BY IKE
The 47-year-old Santa Fe, N. M., Democrat has been appointed by President Eisenhower as the U. S. representative to the new International Atomic Energy Agency. Eisenhower overrode vigorous GOP protests to name McKinney, who supported Adlai E. Stevenson in the 1956 presidential campaign.

A stiff fight is expected in the Senate next January over the recess appointment. But the publisher is strongly backed by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM), a force in the joint House-Senate Committee on Atomic Energy. McKinney also is a long-time friend of Adm. Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

McKinney is both editor and publisher of the Santa Fe New Mexican, but he finds time to breed Aberdeen-Angus cattle at Tucuman, N. M., and serve as director of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad.

In addition, he is a director and a member of the executive committee of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., and holds several educational posts.

Born in Shattuck, Okla., Aug. 28, 1910, McKinney spent his boyhood in the Texas Panhandle. He worked his way through the University of Oklahoma, getting his bachelor's degree in 1932 and making Phi Beta Kappa in the process.

After graduation, he worked on an Amarillo, Tex., newspaper and then went on to a research firm in Wall Street. In World War II McKinney served in the Navy where he rose to the rank of lieutenant.

With the end of hostilities, McKinney returned to Wall Street as a partner in Scheffmeyer and McKinney, members of the New York Stock Exchange.

In 1947 he published a book of poems, "Hymn to Wreckage: A Picaresque Interpretation of History." Critics gave it a good reception.

McKinney purchased the Santa Fe New Mexican in 1948. The next year he was chosen to head the New Mexico Economic Development Commission and Water Resources Development Board. In 1951, McKinney was appointed assistant secretary of the interior, a post he held for two years. He is married to the former Louise Trigg. They have one daughter.

Student Drivers Solo as Teacher Watches by Ear

TRAVERSE CITY (M) — Driver trainees at Traverse City Central High School may solo on the practice course and still remain within conversation range of their instructors.

Instructors Edward Schuknecht and Allen Lockman believe it is Michigan's only driver training course using two-way radios in the cars.

Each of its five cars is equipped with the devices, which make it possible for one instructor to stay in the control booth and keep track of a full course of students.

The radios have a control distance of about seven miles. Advanced students can stay in contact with the instructors although out of sight.

Failure to maintain a "C" average means taking the course again. The training course is open evenings for adults.

Prize Money
Now at $300
in Pot-O-Gold

Another new puzzle adds another $100 to the Pot-O-Gold prize, bringing it back to the $300 mark. If no one has found the answers to last week's puzzle, a perfect solution for this puzzle will empty the pot. Read all rules and clues carefully.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

Orders Steady
Wheat Futures

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures held about steady in a light mixed trade on the Board of Trade today.

Business was slow in the bread grain, with very little commercial demand in early dealings. Prices eased at the opening but later steadied as resting orders absorbed offerings.

Corn showed some early strength helped by forecasts for frost tonight in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

Soybeans were off more than a cent a bushel at times, influenced by the largest weekend arrivals of cash beans at Chicago terminals in some time. Receipts included 12,000 bushels by truck, 62,000 by barge and 145 rail cars.

Some speculative buying of wheat was reported, based on the fact the December future was down nine cents a bushel compared with two weeks ago.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, Dec. $2.17 1/2, corn was unchanged to 1/4 higher, Dec. $1.22 1/2; oats were unchanged to 1/4 lower, Dec. 68 1/2; rye was unchanged to 1/4 higher, Dec. $1.21 1/2; soybeans were 1/2 to 1 cent lower, Nov. $2.31 1/2; and land was 20 cents lower to 2 cents higher a hundred pounds, Oct. $11.80.

Pacific Islanders
Learn of Fisheries

NOUMEA, New Caledonia—The first 25 Pacific Islanders to complete the new 13-week fisheries course at Noumea, New Caledonia, have returned to their own islands to put to practical use what they have learned. Main object of the South Pacific Commission's course was to get more protein into island diets.

Another aim was to capitalize on their native skill, and thus assure regular fish supplies. The course covered boat-building and maintenance, navigation, fish breeding, oyster culture, fish preservation, fisheries management, the shell industry and protection of marine resources. The islanders always have known how to catch fish but hadn't the know-how on replacements.

Tribal Beauty Queen
Represents Ghana

LONDON — A coffee-colored, complexioned beauty queen in colorful national dress recently boarded an airliner in Accra, bound for London. She was Miss Monica Amekou, selected from five finalists to become "Miss Ghana," glamour girl of the new independent West African state.

Monica won the trip to Britain after competing in a charm and personality contest with scores of girls from African tribes. She is a member of the Ewe tribe from Southern Togoland and had never left home before. Her program in London included a visit to a beauty parlor where she planned to experiment with a new hair-do.

Car Passes on Right,
Two Persons Injured

Two persons were injured in an accident Saturday at 9 p.m., caused when one car passed another on the right side.

John A. Body, 34, of Detroit, passed the car of Milton O. Amann, 61, of Toledo, on Telegraph near Voorheis road, police said.

Amann swung right and hit the passing car, then bounced into a utility pole. Injured were Amann and his wife, Beulah Amann, 46. They were treated for lacerations at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

One Navy Airman Killed, Two Injured

Search Plane Crashes

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—One crewman was killed and two others injured yesterday when a Navy twin-engine patrol bomber, searching for a downed jet plane, crashed near the top of 9,777-foot Mt. Desatoya in central Nevada.

The P2V bomber with nine men aboard was looking for Lt. Richard Lee Clement of Atlanta, Ga., who vanished Thursday in the same area in an F2H Banshee jet fighter.

The Navy said the bomber pilot thought he saw a cloth on a bush near U. S. Highway 50—perhaps a parachute—and dropped low to leave a flare so 70 other planes could locate the spot. He pulled over the nearest ridge only to be confronted with a still higher crest.

The Navy said he made a skid-crash landing just short of the brink of a 300-foot cliff. The eight survivors climbed out and discovered one man missing. They were dashing back to the crumpled plane when it exploded and burned.

The cloth on the bush turned out to be just an old rag, the Navy said.

The names of the crewmen were withheld.

Sag Harbor Sees
250th BirthdayFrom Busy Whaling Port
to City of Light Industry,
Popular Summer Resort

WASHINGTON — Sag Harbor one of America's busiest whaling ports a hundred years ago and currently one of its most picturesque seaside towns, is celebrating its 250th birthday this year.

Heyday of the village, now a popular summer resort and home of light industry, was the mid-1800s. Then the Harbor, a hundred miles east of New York City on Gardiners Bay and the "flashed" of Long Island, was alive with activity, says the National Geographic Society.

Whalemen thronged the village streets. The waterfront was crowded with high-masted ships returning with whale oil and bone or waiting to be outfitted for voyages that sometimes lasted four years.

As far back as 1707, His Britannic Majesty was constrained to appoint a "preventative" officer "to stop running of illicit cargoes into Sag Harbor, the principal port of Long Island."

FIRST BANK
Moreover, after the American Revolution, President George Washington signed into law an Act of Congress creating two U.S. ports of entry, Sag Harbor and New York City. Sag Harbor was first because it was of more importance and cleared more tonnage!

With whaling extinct, village artisans turned their skills to related enterprises. Makers of chronometers and compasses became watchmakers. The tradition persists. The Bulova Watch Company maintains a busy factory in Sag Harbor. Another shop, owned by former Governor Charles Edison of New Jersey, produces electrical coils. The Agawam Aircraft Company turns out parts for airplanes right on the old wharf.

Rowe Industries Inc., the Harbor's newest and biggest factory, was started in an old livery stable by a young Navy lieutenant, Robert L. Rowe, soon after World War II. It is now the world's largest producer of miniature electric motors, powering such things as signal-seeking automobile radios.

Pre-Revolutionary and whaling prosperity also left Sag Harbor a legacy of beautiful old homes and churches on elm-shaded streets and lanes. They have been protected and restored by the villagers themselves, some 3,000 strong; and by artists, writers, and vacationers from the New York City area.

Losses Strike
at Key Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined in fairly active early trading today.

Key stocks declined from fractions to around two points or more. Prices were lower in a moderate active opening. Losses widened in later dealings.

There was nothing in the week-end news to change the mood of last week when the market dropped sharply. News of layoffs, furloughs in heavy industry and continued concern over the money situation dampened confidence.

The drop affected most major divisions. Caterpillar fell more than two points, Goodyear and Goodrich around two, Douglas Aircraft more than a point.

Leading steels and motors were down fractionally, with U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler and General Motors among the losers.

Rails continued to give ground as Santa Fe, New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio took fractional losses.

Anacosta, American Smelting and other nonferrous metals took small losses, but Phelps Dodge managed a fractional rise.

Opening blocks included: Standard Oil (New Jersey) off 1/2 at 60 on 4,000 shares; American Cyanamid off 1/2 at 40 on 2,000; and U.S. Steel off 1/2 at 61 on 3,000.

Higher Prices on '58 Cars
Challenge to Salesmen

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—The higher price tags that will go on 1958 model automobiles undoubtedly will create some sales resistance. Whether it can be broken down obviously is giving the car makers something to think about as they approach the new model year.

Ever since the auto industry caught up with its unfilled demand following World War II the car dealers have been competing in price concessions. New car buyers have become price-conscious largely because they know they can bargain with the car retailers.

WANTS TO BUY
If this sounds somewhat paradoxical it can be explained on the ground that the average car buyer always wants to buy into a higher price class. Usually he gets there by stretching his budget slightly and driving the best possible bargain with the car retailer handling the slightly higher priced car.

Recent trade surveys indicate most car dealers expect to sell a lot of new cars during the remainder of the year. They are counting on a large volume of 1958 models in that expectation. But many of them are anything but optimistic about the profit possibilities for the remainder of the 1957 model period and the early part of the new model year.

No car maker yet has hinted at how much 1958 model car prices will be advanced. Generally the answer to all questions along that line is that "our prices will be competitive."

SLIGHT VARIATION
A slight variation came from Ernest R. Breech, board chairman of Ford Motor Co. He said, "There is no doubt there will be some price increases," but added the prices will be kept "as low as possible in the public interest," keeping in mind the financial stability of the company.

New car sales may be a little below the industry's hopes so far this year, but they have averaged approximately half a million units a month. The chances are good they will maintain that average through the calendar year.

Regardless of how that volume is analyzed it represents a healthy demand for new automobiles. But it has been attained through considerable price trimming or high trade-in allowance on used cars.

Obviously forthcoming price advances are partly responsible for the sustained demand for outgoing model cars. This is the time of the model period when retailers generally capitalize on impending price advances.

Jurors Out 7th Day in Confidential Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jurors in the Confidential Magazine libel trial return to deliberations today after a restful Sunday of relaxation under the watchful eyes of a court bailiff.

The six men and six women of the jury were given the case last Monday and began deliberations Tuesday. They have returned to court for further instructions several times. Each night they have been locked up at the Mayfair Hotel.

Yesterday they lounged around the hotel swimming pool with bailiff Don Emmer on guard. He accompanied them to a Chinese restaurant for dinner.

The complex case they are to decide, after a six-week trial, involves charges of conspiracy to commit criminal libel and to publish obscene material against Confidential and Whisper Magazines, Publishers Distributing Corp., Fred and Marjorie Meade, and their story material gathering agency, Hollywood Research, Inc.

Five persons were treated for prison injuries at Pontiac General Hospital Sunday evening and released after being involved in a two-car collision on M24 at Oakwood Rd., in Oxford Township, according to State Police at the Pontiac post.

The injured were: Eldora Guest, 24, and Charles Guest, 26, both of 65 Pearl St., Oxford; Ardis Woodward, 15, and her parents, Pearl St. They were all in the car driven by Mrs. Guest.

Police said the Guest car had stopped to make a left turn when hit from the rear by a car driven by Vernon M. Spencer, 34, of 180 Parkway St., Lake Orion.

Ike Flies Back to White House

Interrupts His Vacation to Address World Bank, Related Agencies

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower, interrupting his vacation for a few hours, flies back to Washington today for conferences on international and domestic problems.

The President also has two speeches scheduled in the capital — one at the annual meeting of the World Bank and related agencies, the other at a meeting he called to deal with the special needs of small business firms.

This is the eve of the second anniversary of the President's heart attack—suffered at Denver Sept. 24, 1955—and outwardly he appears in fine health after nearly three weeks of rest combined with work at his vacation headquarters. The White House announced he would confer today with Crown Prince Faisal of Saudi Arabia. There seemed to be no doubt the session would deal with the situation in Syria and the rest of the Middle East, particularly as it relates to Saudi Arabia.

Also on the presidential agenda is a White House meeting with Atty. Gen. Brownell, who planned to give Eisenhower a report on the school integration program at Little Rock, Ark.

In a statement Saturday, Eisenhower expressed confidence the people of Little Rock will "vigorously oppose any violence by extremists" in the integration program.

Eisenhower attended church services yesterday at the chapel of the U.S. naval base hospital. Then he waited a couple of hours for a light rain to halt and went to the Newport Country Club for 18 holes of golf.

English Women Squirting Pistols at Bold Wolves

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — The wolves on Birmingham's dark roads had better beware while the bawling's good.

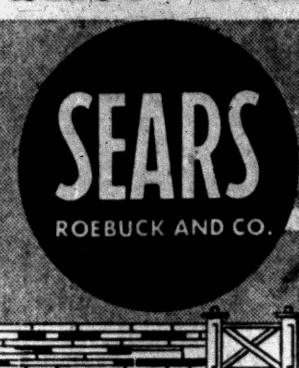

Female vigilantes are after them.

Mrs. Kelly Osborne, organizer of the unofficial female protective association, says she and her friends got tired of being accosted by ardent male motorists at night. Here's how she fixes 'em:

"I bought a water pistol last week and have already used it once. One motorist stopped me three times so I whipped out the pistol and let him have it. He shot off like a startled rabbit."

No wonder. The gals' pistols are loaded with a harmless but powerful smelling disinfectant.
